

Profits by GM Hit Historic World High

DETROIT (AP) — The highest profits of any company in history were earned by General Motors Corp. in 1964 for the third straight year and despite strikes that idled United States auto production lines for nearly six weeks.

GM, the world's largest manufacturing firm, said yesterday it earned $1.735 billion, equal to $6.05 a share, compared with $1.592 billion, or $5.56 a share, in 1963.

The GM profits were some $34 million higher than the $1,700,967,000 earned in the 12 months ended last Nov. 30 by American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

GM, which said the figures were preliminary with final figures to be announced next month, reported it paid out $1.266 billion in dividends last year to its common shareholders. This represented $4.45 a share with $1.60 retained for reinvestment, compared to $4 a share with $1.56 retained in 1963.

Chairman Frederick G. Donner and President John F. Gordon also reported 1964 sales at $17 billion, a gain of 3 per cent over the previous record of $16.5 billion set in 1963.

WORLDWIDE PAYROLLS

They said GM worldwide payroll totaled $4.6 billion in 1964, compared with $4.3 billion in 1963, with employment averaging 661,000, 21,000 more than the previous high of 640,000 in 1963.

Republicans Are Advised to Discard Political Labels

Robert A. Forsythe, Minnesota GOP chairman, told Oakland County Republicans last night that political labels associated with the GOP must be removed if it is to become the party of the majority.

The former assistant secretary of health, education and welfare was the keynote speaker at the GOP County Convention held in the Southfield High School.

"The Republican party is not the party of Barry Goldwater, Scranton, Rockefeller or Mark Hatfield, but the party of the people.

"And it is our task to accomplish this. But to do the job we must strip away the labels of conservatism, liberalism and moderation. They are stumbling blocks."

He cited a survey that was taken in December that showed a 15 per cent decrease in Republicans over a similar poll 10 years earlier.

"We have a long way to go to recapture the imagination of the American people," said Forsythe.

GET HEADS OUT OF SAND

"Republicans have to get their heads out of the sand and find out what the people are thinking and then do something about it."

He said that Republicans should forget about the 1968 election now and concentrate on the 1966 campaign.

"This is our opportunity to gain back control of the House. And if we do not win any significant races then, we just might not have anyone who will want to run in 1968," Forsythe said.

Forsythe said that the Republican Party has the leadership "but we must have faith in the people, their judgment and the party itself. We must inspire this."

Over 250 persons attended the convention. Delegates were elected to attend the state convention in Lansing Feb. 19-20.

Khanh Sees Top Buddhists

on S. Viet Take-Over

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — South Vietnamese strongman Gen. Nguyen Khanh today met behind closed doors with the nation's powerful Buddhist leaders who have criticized his new regime.

Khanh visited the national Buddhist center, scene of agitation against the civilian government he swept out of office Wednesday.

The general, who entered the previously closed center in his army uniform, was accorded permission to pray at the center's pagoda.

The American Embassy, meanwhile, was reported today to be in possession of a violently anti-American statement alleged to have been published in the center's daily news bulletin five days ago, at the height of Buddhist agitation against former Prime Minister Tran Van Huong.

Disclosure of the statement by reliable sources came as one of the Buddhist leaders, Thich Tri Quang, in a published interview, claimed that there was no general anti-American feeling in Viet Nam.

SINGLED OUT

Tri Quang said the Buddhists had singled out U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor for criticism because he had unequivocally pledged American support for Huong.

Taylor, who has yet to make any personal comment on the ouster of Huong, spent more than an hour this morning talking to Khanh.

An official Buddhist spokesman, Thich Nhat Thien, today said, "We have never said anything against the Americans. We have just denounced Taylor, Taylor's policy in Viet Nam and his individual mistakes."

As for the reported interview, Thien said, "we have never issued any such thing."

An American Embassy spokesman said that in a meeting at Khanh's office, Taylor received from the general his first fill-in on recent developments. Taylor was absent from Viet Nam when Khanh staged his bloodless coup Wednesday.

The spokesman declined to predict when Taylor would make a statement about the coup.

Bitter Cold Strikes Much of Nation

Vast Crowds Hit 235,000 at Churchill Bier

U. S. Delegation in
at Westminster Hall

LONDON (AP) — The outpouring of crowds viewing Sir Winston Churchill's bier swelled past 235,000 today. Officials said that by the time of the funeral the number may exceed the 305,806 who paid homage to King George VI in 1952.

In the throng today was the official U. S. delegation.

At 6 a. m. tomorrow, the doors to old Westminster Hall will close and 142 sailors will tow the coffin on a gun carriage through London's streets for the funeral service at St. Paul's Cathedral.

Amid solemn pomp and pageantry, Dr. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury, will conduct a 30-minute service.

Then by barge and train, Sir Winston Churchill's body will be borne to the Village of Blandon. There he will be buried in a country churchyard within sight of Blenheim Castle, where he was born.

Braving bitter weather, thousands of shivering men and women bade goodbye to their beloved wartime leader in Westminster, the hall of kings, on this third day of lying-in-state.

Hundreds of school children, born years after Churchill rallied Britain to victory, joined the crowd that flowed like twin rivers through the hall.

The official U. S. delegation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Chief Justice Earl Warren, U. S. Ambassador David Bruce and Averell Harriman, former ambassador to London and a Churchill friend, stood in silence for five minutes.

Some reporters mistook Warren for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. This led to erroneous reports that Eisenhower had paid his respects. He is expected to visit the hall later in the day.

An official at the U. S. Embassy said Eisenhower did not go to Westminster Hall with the American delegation because he is a private guest of the Churchill family.

Proposed Tax for Pontiac Is Outlined in New Booklet

Preparing for the March 18 vote on the city's income tax ordinance, the City Commission has issued a brochure on the proposed tax.

The brochure, drafted with the aid of McManus, John & Adams, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills, cites the need for added revenue and outlines the cost to individual wage-earners.

Fourteen points are listed to

Baker Probe Calls Jenkins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee has subpoenaed former White House aide Walter H. Jenkins to testify in closed session next Thursday in its investigation of the Bobby Baker case.

Special counsel L. P. McLendon, telling a reporter this to day, declined to say whether Jenkins will ask to be excused on medical grounds.

It would be highly improper for me to make any statement on that," McLendon said.

illustrate the city's need for the tax. Included in the list are:

- Adequate salaries for city employees,
- Added police and fire protection,
- Annual increases in the cost of employee pensions,
- Adequate street lighting,
- Added library hours,
- Expanded and improved recreation facilities,
- Equipment replacement and improved municipal facilities.

The brochure includes a table showing the effect of the income tax on local residents.

FAMILY WILL PAY

For example, a family with four exemptions and an annual income of $6,000 will pay an average weekly payroll deduction of 70 cents, or about $36 a year.

If that same family had a home with an assessed valuation of $4,000, the promised 3-mill reduction on the property tax would cut the property tax by $12.

Thus, the family would be paying a net total of about $24 more per year.

The brochure, according to city officials, has been printed in large quantities and is available in most city offices — the library, City Hall and police station.

Fined $10,000 for Tax Evasion

Dr. John Marra Gets
Two Years Probation

Dr. John J. Marra, former medical director at Pontiac General Hospital, today was fined $10,000 for income tax evasion and placed on two years probation.

The maximum fine was ordered by Judge Wade McCree Jr. of the Federal District Court in Detroit. A five-year prison term was suspended.

Marra, 50, had pleaded guilty Nov. 19 to evading the full payment of his 1961 income tax. The U. S. District Attorney Office charged that Marra only paid $19,413 on reported earnings of $48,534. The tax payment should have been $26,142.

When his guilty plea was entered, two other counts of evasion for the years 1959-60 were dismissed against Marra.

Marra, of 1430 Nakomis, Orion Township, was removed earlier this month as pathologist and director of laboratories at Pontiac General because of his tax difficulties.

Prior to the cancellation of his contract by Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler, Marra had resigned as medical director of the hospital.

U. S. Denies Helping Exiles to Raid Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has denied any involvement in alleged plots to raid Communist Cuba from other points in the Caribbean.

The State Department branded as "false" yesterday the Cuban charges of U. S. "complicity" based on the alleged confession of an exile leader recently captured by the Castro forces.

7 Below: Coldest Hit Since 1885

7 a.m. —7 11 a.m. 2
8 a.m. —6 12 p.m. 2
9 a.m. —5 1 p.m. 3
10 a.m. —3 2 p.m. 4

This morning's low mercury reading of 7 below set one record and equaled another.

It beat the previous low for this season — 2 below on Jan. 17 — and matched the low for the day in 93 years, also 7 below, set in 1885.

By 2 p.m., however, the area had warmed up to 4 above zero.

The weatherman predicts continued cold weather at least through Sunday. A low of 2 above to 6 below is expected tonight, to be followed by a high tomorrow of 6 to 12.

Skies will be cloudy tonight with some light snow predicted for late tonight or tomorrow. Partly cloudy skies are predicted also for Sunday.

The winds today are from the west and northwest at 8 to 18 miles an hour. Becoming variable tonight, they will be east and northeast at 10 to 20 miles an hour tomorrow.

The five-day weather forecast calls for temperatures from 5 to 7 degrees below the normal high of 33 and low of 20. Temperatures should begin moderating Monday.

Precipitation is expected to total 1 to 2 of an inch in snow, mainly Wednesday, but with other periods of snow flurries.

Fierce Fire Hits Iowa Hospital; 110 Evacuated

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A fierce fire erupted in one wing of Des Moines General Hospital today as blowing snow and 5-below-zero cold hampered firemen.

The estimated 110 patients were evacuated. There were no reports by fire officials of deaths or injuries.

Patients were wrapped in blankets and carried on litters, or walked, from the old hospital. Firemen and policemen carried out babies in baskets.

Muffled swooshing sounds could be heard coming from the west wing. Thick gray smoke would nearly obliterate the wing at times.

Flames could be seen shooting out of the dense smoke.

Law to Boost Stadium

Democratic Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac said today that he will appear before the House Policy Committee on Wednesday to present in detail his proposal for an all-purpose sports stadium at the State Fairgrounds.

Law said that he has received favorable response from a number of constituents about his plan, introduced in the form of a House bill yesterday.

But it would be up to the House Policy Committee, formerly the rules and resolution committee, to make a recommendation to the representatives after hearing a full report.

The bill, according to Law, simply adds the word "stadium" to the facilities that the State Building Authority have the power to construct.

In the past, these powers have been restricted mostly to office buildings used for state needs.

WOULD SELL BONDS

The authority, he said, would sell bonds as it has in the past. Revenue derived from the use (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

27 States Have Temperatures Zero or Below

Arctic Air Sweeps In; Snow, Rain, Flooding
Plague Some Sections

By The Associated Press

A massive cold wave enveloped much of the nation today, sending the temperature to zero or below in at least 27 states. Snow, rain and flooding plagued some sections.

Bitter cold arctic air swept out of the North into the nation's midsection. Cold wave warnings stretched from the mid-Mississippi Valley to the northern Appalachians.

The temperature at International Falls dropped to 30 below zero, a little warmer than the 38 below yesterday at Ely, also in northern Minnesota.

The mercury hit 3 below in Chicago early today with lower readings in the suburbs.

A two-inch snow fell in the St. Louis area, causing at least two deaths. The temperature in Missouri ranged from -5 to 20.

BELOW ZERO

In Iowa the mercury failed to get above zero yesterday in some sections. Central Kentucky registered an 8-degree temperature after a two-inch snowfall. An inch of snow fell in Cleveland.

The temperature fell far below zero in parts of New England, swept by gusty northwesterly winds.

Snow squalls struck western New York State.

A fast-moving storm dumped up to four inches of snow in West Virginia.

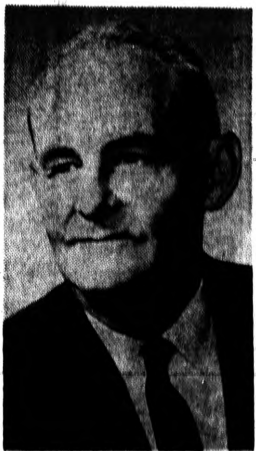

INTO SOUTHLAND

The cold moved into the Southland, where temperatures fell into the teens in Arkansas.

The Northwest was hit by more rain, aggravating the flooding situation in Washington and Oregon. Snow fell again in the Rocky Mountains.

Rivers surged over their banks in northwestern Oregon, waterlogged from December floods which killed 18 persons. An earth slide thundered onto Mapleton, a community of 800 west of Eugene. No injuries were reported.

A flooding creek north of Albany washed out the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

2,000th Hourly Pontiac Employee Retires

By ART SCHEIFLE

When Charles P. Wise, 66, of 31 Oak Hill, punches the time clock tomorrow, he will become the 2,000th hourly-rate employee to retire from Pontiac Motor Division.

He received a gift and good wishes today from E. M. Estes, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the Pontiac Division.

The first hourly-rate employee retired October 1950. One thousand had retired by April 1959 and Wise brings the total to 2,000 as of Feb. 1, 1965.

Wise joined the Pontiac Motor division on June 12, 1926.

Originally from Alpena, Wise had worked in Detroit for the Gemmer Manufacturing Co. for less than a year, when he heard that a press room was being built for producing the new Pontiac car.

He applied for a job and was hired as an electrician's helper.

Except for a short interruption, he has been with the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Hearing Set in West Case

Legislature in Slow Start; Bills Pile Up

LANSING (AP) — Organization, orientation, the start of an expected bill avalanche and virtually no substantive final action characterized this week in the legislature.

But progress in the Daniel West case — including possible testimony from West himself — and receipt of Gov. George Romney's budget could add spice next week.

The committee investigating whether West should be seated in the House has called a hearing for Tuesday at which West will be allowed to state his case.

West won election to his second term in November but since has been charged with a multitude of income tax irregularities and with assuming a false identity. The Detroit Democrat has refused public comment, and the House committee under Rep. Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, has declined specific comment on its progress.

With committees just getting organized and much office space yet to be acquired or allocated, the House and Senate were in session for a total of only about five hours this week. Both chambers took today off.

Work is piling up for the committees, however, as the 78th bill of the new session was introduced Thursday. Major measures introduced this week included another version of senior citizen property tax relief, two plans for mandatory vehicle inspection and a bill that would in effect exempt Amish schools from teacher certification requirements.

Romney sent to the legislature Wednesday a comprehensive traffic safety message calling for vehicle inspection, 200 more state troopers, implied consent of any drivers to alcohol tests and a raft of other changes.

The governor plans to submit his complete budget message next week. It has been set for Tuesday, but printing problems could delay it, Romney said Thursday.

The week's other developments included:

Democrat Calude Burton of Bellevue was seated in the House in place of Republican Carroll Newton of Charlotte, who lost in a recount.

The Senate Business Committee reversed itself and voted to give Lt. Gov. William Milliken a tie-breaking vote in all cases.

Bill Aimed at Uninsured Motorists

LANSING (AP) — Michigan motorists would be protected against the uninsured driver under terms of a bill sponsored by 11 House Democrats.

The bill calls for setting up an unsatisfied judgment fund — an idea opposed by the state insurance industry, but vigorously backed by Secretary of State James Hare.

The fund would be used to pay the claims of motorists who win judgments, but are unable to collect from uninsured, indigent motorists.

Financing of the fund would come from drivers and the insurance industry.

$50 FEE

Uninsured drivers would have to pay a $50 fee when registering their automobiles. Others would pay a fee of 25 cents. Each auto insurance company would pay an amount equal to one half of one per cent of its net premiums for the 1965 calendar year. The fund would be replenished periodically.

Rep. John Bennett, D-Detroit, and 10 other Democrats sponsored the measure.

Couldn't 'Foil' Bandits; Get $700 in Cold Cash

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Two gunmen, identifying themselves as detectives, invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Leary last night and escaped with $700 in cold cash.

They took the aluminum-foil wrapped money from the refrigerator where Leary had hidden it.

Probe Mystery of Poisoning

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ilene Sanford Costew, 41, was seen drinking a glass of water. Suddenly she screamed: "Oh, my God, I feel terrible!" She stumbled into a rear storeroom of the supermarket where she worked and the door swung shut and locked. By the time employees got the door open she was unconscious. In 15 minutes she was dead.

CYANIDE POISON

Her death last Nov. 21 was at first thought to be due to natural causes. But an autopsy proved otherwise: cyanide poison killed her.

Police have worked on the case for two months. They have questioned 70 friends, relatives and co-workers, and given 10 lie detector tests. Detectives say they are convinced it was an accident or murder not suicide.

Mrs. Costew was the mother of three children, including a married daughter. Her husband, John, 28, is a grocery checker. They made their home in an apartment in nearby Glendale.

Detectives said Mrs. Costew also worked part-time as a drugstore clerk, but detectives said they were convinced she could not have gotten the drug there.

MEDICINE TAKER

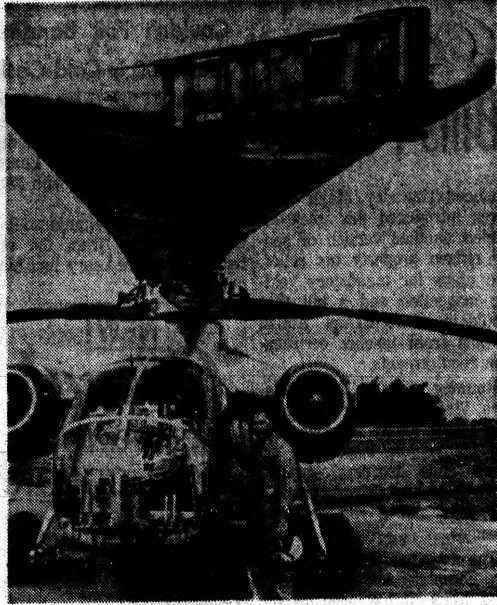

"She was an inveterate medicine taker," an officer said, but no poison was found in pills in her possession.

"She was apparently well liked by everyone," said Detective Sgt. Ken Beck, "and we found no one who had any animosity toward her. She left no great insurance."

Beck said Mrs. Costew may have swallowed the fatal dose with the water she was seen drinking.

"It's sure conjecture," said Beck, "but we feel that probably it was taken in a gelatin capsule. When cyanide is ingested without a protective coating, frequently the victim won't even get the glass back on the table before collapsing."

"We thought somebody might have altered some medication she was taking. All you need is what you could hold on the tip of a penknife."

'HOT CYCLE' — Hughes Aircraft yesterday showed newsmen the Army's XV9A "hot cycle" helicopter, which jets high-energy gases from rotor blades like this. The research copter is propelled by ducting gases from a turbojet engine to the rotor tips where they are exhausted. Hughes said the "hot cycle" gets rid of heavy drive shafts used in conventional helicopters.

Labor Crisis Points Up Racism

LONDON (AP) — Abdullah Khan, taught as a child to fire a long rifle in the Khyber Pass, punches bus tickets now in a British midland town.

He migrated to Britain years ago to try to find the things his own country couldn't give him — a house, a steady job, a decent living wage, nice clothes for his wife. And he has the vote.

There are now almost 850,000 persons in Britain who, like Khan, migrated here from the scattered colored Commonwealth. The number is growing by around 100,000 a year.

As well as bringing the problem of race relations, Britain's "dark million," as it is called, has added a new question mark to the orderly old ways of British social life — the colored vote and the white backlash.

ADDED URGENCY

The question took on added urgency as Britain's Labor government faced a new crisis of confidence — the defeat of its foreign secretary, Patrick Gordon Walker, in a special election last week. White supremacists labeled Gordon Walker a "nigger lover."

What effect does the nation's growing color question have on the springs of political power?

Leaders of the three main political parties — the Laborites, Conservatives and Liberals — say it must have no place. Racism is wrong, their party platforms unequivocally declare. But whether the politicians like it or not, racism has become a strong enough issue to help break the political career of Gordon Walker — or at least to have a big hand in it.

LITTLE JINGLE

In the October 1964 general election, which brought the Laborites to power, Gordon Walker campaigned for the seat in Smethwick, a Birmingham suburb where one person in 12 is an Indian, a Pakistani or a West Indian.

It was in Smethwick that the provocative little jingle was first shouted:

"If you want a nigger neighbor — vote for Labor."

"Smethwick rejects the idea of a multiracial society," the Conservative candidate, Peter Griffiths, was quoted as saying.

The political issues of the election became buried under the fury of racial charges and countercharges between Gordon Walker and Griffiths.

FASCIST GROUP

Griffiths denied having anything to do with the shower of "nigger neighbor" leaflets. It was agreed the pamphlets were the work of a small Fascist group, but Gordon Walker charged Griffiths with playing heavily on white prejudice against colored neighbors.

Gordon Walker lost Smethwick. Thursday he tried again for a seat in Parliament, this time in the Leyton District of London with a small colored population and hardly any record of race tension. He looked safe enough.

But in Leyton, the old racial charges blew up in the unhappy foreign secretary's face again. The "nigger neighbor" pamphlets appeared. Election meetings exploded into riots.

Whites called Gordon Walker "a disgusting racial traitor." Amid the tumult, Gordon Walker doggedly continued to insist that racial issues had no part of the fight.

BACKLASH VOTE

But he lost, and dignity alone demanded that he resign as foreign secretary.

How much were Gordon Walker's chances fouled by the "nigger-lover" label he carried through two disastrous and humiliating campaigns?

Smethwick was a white backlash vote, political quarters agree.

The Leyton? Gordon Walker and his victorious Conservative opponent, Ronald Buxton, said that racial rivalries played no part. It was basically a clean fight, they said.

EXPERTS AGREE

Political experts agreed. There weren't enough colored in Leyton, they said, to generate a white backlash. But still, if it hadn't been for Smethwick, Gordon Walker still would be foreign secretary.

There are potential "Smethwicks" in Britain. London has 120,000 West Indian Negroes alone. The nation's colored population is growing despite measures introduced by the Conservative government in 1962 to limit immigration.

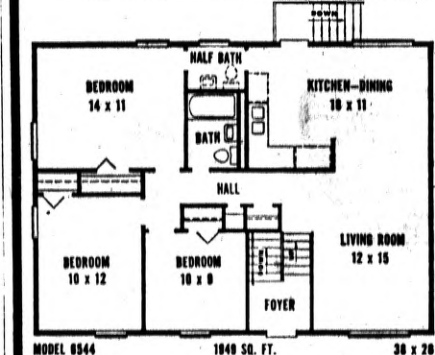

Crowding mostly into working class areas — principally in London and the industrial midlands — they have brought the emotional problem of black vs. white to Britons accustomed to living in a tight, all-white little island.

Until fairly recently the colored have tended to regard politics as "white man's business," but there have been signs that the attitude is changing.

Just how much influence the colored vote had in the 1964 general election no one knows. Equally indeterminable is the force of the white backlash in future polls.

But it is possible that as the colored population grows and the race problem becomes deeper, areas where the colored immigrants are concentrated will become strategic news areas in British politics.

Vietnamese Village Falling by Attrition

LUON GHOA, South Viet Nam (AP) —In the hard light of day under the Mekong River delta sun, the village children were gay and high-spirited.

At night they were scared. Three of them peered anxiously from their thatched house. They crept up behind a stone grotto, then scuttled across the courtyard and into the darkened church.

Others arrived, some alone and some with elder sisters. They genuflected hurriedly as they entered.

By 8 p.m. the high-ceilinged concrete church, built 35 years ago in this prosperous Roman Catholic village 15 miles southwest of Saigon was crowded with children.

STRANGE COMMUNION

It was a strange communion with God.

They were sleeping under the pews. Mosquito nets were strung all over, some attached to an altar rail, others to the font.

Candles burned in a dozen of the nets as the subdued chatter of the children continued for a while and then ceased. Only the quiet drone of an old woman's prayer could be heard.

The Rev. Paul Chieu, the stocky, animated protector of this flock, observed: "Today, they are the children of God. Tomorrow, they may be the children of the devil."

SAFE FOR TONIGHT

"But tonight they are at least safe. The Communists told me they would never harm the church. I believe them."

Father Chieu and his flock of 6,000 are fighting a personal battle with the Communists. They feel they are losing.

That is why they send their children into the church at night. That is why 4,000 people who used to live here have sold their property and moved up the canal to the relative safety of Saigon.

That Luong Hoa thinks it is losing is a sobering fact in this province of Long An. Saigon authorities have given Long An a top priority in the past 15 months. Millions of dollars have been spent on military and civilian programs to eliminate the Communists.

FEAR MEASURE

Luong Hoa's fear is the measure of success.

The palm-shaded village, among acres of pineapples on the banks of the Vaico Orientale River, has always been a model anti-Communist community. American advisers used to tell each other, "If everything else around here goes Red, we will still have Luong Hoa."

Most advisers would question that hope now.

The village itself does not appear to lack spirit to resist the Communists.

The enemy Luong Hoa faces is not just the shadowy guerrilla who strikes quickly in the night and vanishes. He is flesh and blood, and proved it in November and December by marching into the village 200 strong and staying for several days.

Father Chieu tells of the Communist occupation with a mixture of anger and perplexity.

REDS HUMAN

The Communists proved all too human in their arrogance and vanity. But they proved persuasive, too, saying they were nationalists, not Communists, and that they would protect Catholicism "when we have the Americans and their lackeys out of Saigon."

To the disbelieving Father Chieu, they chided in lengthy talks: "Don't you realize that you, too, are being used by the Americans? They want you to control the people for them. Join us and we will help you seek your salvation."

Father Chieu, recalling these sessions, said: "I have traveled and I know the Viet Cong and how they operate. But do my people? Only last week two of our teen-age girls joined them. I fear that some day all the Catholics will leave Luong Hoa and that only those who join the Communists will stay."

In their total of five days in Luong Hoa, the Viet Cong destroyed a home belonging to the richest man in the village, the owner of acres of pineapple land. They also took about $13,000 from his safe. But no one around Luong Hoa seems to mind, apparently feeling that any man who can afford to leave that much money in his safe can be deprived of it without too much hardship.

WELL-BEHAVED

With the rest of the village, the Communists were well-behaved. Some helped burp babies. Others talked about the best way to grow pineapples or the virtues of virginity in young girls.

Luong Hoa is one of the few villages in Long An Province where government troops are welcome and the Communists are not.

Father Chieu said the Communists knew this. They made no attempt to hide their weapons and said if they ever discovered any of the 100 militiamen who fled when they arrived they would kill them.

But they did say they would not harm the church. They also said they would return.

AMERICAN AID

They took away every item of U.S. economic aid they could lay their hands on.

The U.S. aid chief in Long An Province, Dave Shepherd, is going ahead with programs to help Luong Hoa. His people are bringing in pigs to widen the economy, now wholly dependent on pineapples. They are also teaching them how to grow corn.

U.S. aid of this kind won't save Luong Hoa.

NO ATTEMPTS

That rests with the military.

When the Viet Cong occupied the village no attempts were made to root them out. U.S. military advisers say no troops were available. That is scant reassurance for Luong Hoa.

Now a ranger battalion, an experienced unit, occupies Luong Hoa. But the understrength battalion can defend only two-thirds of the village. Father Chieu says the undefended portion is in Communist hands.

The opposite bank of the Vaico Orientale River is also in the hands of the Communists.

The rangers pay for their food just as the Communists did, and they play badminton on the same courts the Viet Cong used.

BIG DIFFERENCE

"The difference is we love the rangers," said Father Chieu. "We know why they are here, to protect us."

"This is not really our job, to stay on static defense," said a U.S. adviser to the unit, Lt. William R. Henson Jr. of Shelby, Ohio. "We are an offensive unit. Our job is to go out and get the Viet Cong."

But Henson and the other U.S. advisers feel that some unit has to stay in the village.

GRIP TIGHTENING

Luong Hoa's critical state is concrete evidence that the Viet Cong is tightening its grip over the countryside. The local village militia, once sufficient to handle the Viet Cong, now flees at the sound of bugles.

"We try to be brave," said Father Chieu.

Population Explosion Has Worldwide Impact

We are prone to look to interstellar space for dimensions that try the imagination, but we have some on our terrestrial globe that are in the breath-taking class.

They relate to all of us.

The population of the world in mid-1964 was an estimated 3.3 billion people.

Although no accurate information is available, mainland China is easily the country with the largest population, estimated at 690 million. India is next with 468.5 million. The United States ranks fourth with 192 million, behind the U. S. S. R.'s 229 million people.

Each year the world's inhabitants increase by some 65 million, enough to populate a new nation larger than West Germany or the United Kingdom.

In 1980, our planet is expected to have a population of 4.3 billion.

During all the millennia of human existence on earth prior to the 20th Century, world population grew at less than 1 per cent per year. At the time of Christ it was only about 250 million.

The first billion mark was reached after 1800. Today, world population is growing at a rate of 2 per cent.

At this rate, a population doubles in only 35 years. If today's growth trend continues unchanged, the number of people on earth will double to nearly 7 billion by the year 2000.

Yes, as the news media frequently remind us, people make news. They also make people.

Medicine Wins Again Over Health Threat

With the virtual elimination of polio foreseen in the near future, medical science can add another to a series of victories over mankind's dreaded afflictions, such as smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis.

Such a cheering outlook comes only ten years after Salk vaccine made the initial breakthrough in the war on poliomyelitis.

It was in 1952 that crippling polio reached a terrible peak in the United States. That year, 57,879 persons were attacked, of which 3,145 died and 20,000 were left with disabling effects.

Last year there were only 121 persons stricken in the entire nation. Fewer than 10 died and far less than 100 had paralytic after-effects.

Medicine thus found the key to a disease that had killed and maimed long before its cause was known—perhaps as long ago as 1400 B.C. Polio had been a vague, mysterious malady until 1840 when a German bone specialist accurately described its nature.

We are indeed indebted to the dedicated body of medical scientists and practitioners who have conquered one of the few remaining diseases that imperil mankind.

Russian Store Clerks Make Buyers See Red

"The U. S. housewife who comes home from a hard day's shopping complaining of salesclerks might sing a different tune if she had ever visited Russia." Such is the tenor of an article in a national newsweekly.

It seems that in Russia—where the state owns and runs practically everything—discourtesy and indifference have long been the order of the day in stores.

The government is now attempting to correct this, in order to spur the sale of goods. However, no one expects that much success will come from the effort. A disgruntled shopper is quoted as saying, "As long as we have party members and not real salesclerks behind the counters, we'll never get good service."

Here is one more of the innumerable examples of the difference between a totalitarian and a free system. In the former, there is no competition in any real meaning of the word. The customer is always in the position of having to like it or lump it.

But under the free, American system of retailing, from the biggest chain to the smallest independent, the customer is king. Competition sees to that. And, because of competition, the discourteous clerk is not long tolerated.

Management knows that competent, pleasant and helpful personnel are essential to obtaining and keeping customers.

Seeks to Change Electoral College

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson proposes knocking the electoral college, as used in American history, out the window. The reason: to prevent thwarting voters in their choice of president and vice president.

Under the present system, the electors who make up the electoral college are free to name anyone they please for president, no matter whom the voters cast the most ballots for.

Johnson suggested to Congress yesterday a constitutional amendment eliminating individual electors but retaining the electoral college.

Each state now is entitled to as many electors as it has representatives and senators in Congress. And, traditionally, the presidential candidate getting the most popular votes in a state gets all its electoral votes.

Johnson would retain the arrangement giving a state as many electoral votes as it has representatives and senators. But he'd add this to the Constitution:

A state would have to cast all its electoral votes — it would have no choice — for the candidate getting the most popular votes. In this way there would be no need for electors. And therefore no chance for them to cross up the voters.

HOUSE MUST ELECT

Under the Constitution now, no matter what the popular vote showed, if no presidential candidate gets a majority of the electoral vote, the House must elect a president from the three top runners.

And, if there is no majority of the electoral vote for a vice presidential candidate, the Senate does the electing from the top three.

Johnson suggests that if a case like either of these arises, then the House and Senate together do the electing.

Then suppose this happens: The electoral college formally elects a president and vice president but the president-to-be dies before taking office. What happens? Does the vice president automatically become president? No.

WANTS VICE PRESIDENT-ELECT

The electoral college is free to choose a president without regard for what the popular election showed. Johnson wants the vice president-elect in such circumstances to become president when the new term begins.

If, turning that same situation around, the vice president-elect died before taking office, Johnson wants the new president to pick a vice president to serve with him, provided, however, that Congress approves.

David Lawrence Says:

Action on Gold Significant Step

WASHINGTON — How long will the business boom last? While President Johnson, in his latest economic report to Congress, points to certain weaknesses, he nevertheless believes that these can be overcome and that prosperity will continue for a long time.

But an examination of the LAWRENCE President's words reveals that he is relying on unions to keep wages from rising too rapidly and on business not to increase prices too sharply.

Perhaps the most significant step taken by the President to attain a financial equilibrium is in the monetary field.

He has asked Congress to repeal the law which at present requires 25 per cent of Federal Reserve bank deposits to be backed by gold.

It is stated positively that no devaluation of the gold price is being planned.

FOREIGN FACTORS

If, however, devaluation should later be necessary, it will not be entirely because of the impact of foreign factors, especially if some important country like Great Britain should devalue its currency.

Mr. Johnson says that his request for removal of the restrictions "does not arise from any sudden emergency." But it is apparent the administration believes the constant outflow of gold is already causing apprehension and might later force the repeal anyhow of the 25 per cent gold reserve requirement.

Mr. Johnson meanwhile makes the flat statement that no devaluation of the gold content of the dollar is intended. He says:

"There can be no question of our capacity and determination to maintain the gold value of the dollar at $35 an ounce. The full resources of this nation are pledged to that end."

Devaluation nevertheless can be forced upon the United States by external developments, just as it was in the 1930s when the gold content of the dollar was cut by 59 per cent and the price of gold went up from $20.67 an ounce to $35 an ounce, an increase of nearly 70 per cent.

DEADENS PAIN

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, Democrat of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, says that removal of the gold reserve requirement "will be in the nature of an aspirin tablet to deaden pain rather than a permanent solution."

"I am sure the current boom will last throughout the coming year, especially in view of the stimulators the President is going to use in the event production slows down. But I'm afraid that the price to be paid for injecting so much borrowed money into the economy will be higher prices."

So the real story of what is going to happen to gold cannot be written as yet.

Everybody hopes that the President's announced policy will have a beneficial effect. But, unfortunately, there are so many complex factors in the international picture that it is difficult to foretell whether the outflow of gold from the United States will be halted, especially if the spending and lending programs abroad are continued.

Eventually, it may be necessary to restrict imports as well as investments abroad by Americans — all of which can hardly contribute to business stability, and might even weaken public confidence in the dollar.

Bob Considine Says:

FDR Statue in England Takes On Lonely Look

LONDON — The statue of Franklin Roosevelt in Grosvenor Square looks lonelier since the passing of his old friend Winston Churchill, who sometimes used to ride past to appraise it and to mull over the memories it stirred.

The weather was low over the square today. The gulls were gossiping on its wet lawns.

The figure of FDR, with full cloak and supporting cane protruding from under it, looked astonishingly life-like. And so young. He would have been 83 tomorrow, the day Churchill will be buried.

"The three," as Churchill often referred to Stalin, FDR and himself when they met to carve the destinies of millions, are all gone now. Churchill took poorer care of himself than the other two, but he outlived FDR by nearly 12 years and Stalin by nearly 12.

A lot of Americans will be returning to Grosvenor Square between now and the end of the week.

LIGHTS GLOWED

The big and almost fiercely modern United States Embassy now fronts on one entire side of the graceful old park. Its lights glowed tonight, readying arrangements for the dignitaries who will fly to London for the funeral.

No. 20 Grosvenor Square, where Eisenhower had his quarters, is a stately apartment house now.

But if you stand very still in the square and shut your eyes you can see again those endlessly exciting days when the sea swarmed with American officers and war correspondents, when FDR was a vibrant leader across the turbulent ocean and Churchill's voice boomed forth like Big Ben's.

Legal Blackmail?

The Indianapolis Star

In a country that, generally, prides itself on having a high regard for law and order, there are a rather surprising number of legal cases occurring every year in which a jury acquits a defendant for destroying someone who has been blackmailing him.

One might logically assume that the American public ranks blackmail as a more serious offense than murder. But, if this is so, why is it that American leadership so consistently assumes a stance that is completely contrary to this national revolution at blackmail?

Why, despite brave pre-election oratory about how resolute we were going to be in demanding that Russia pay her fair share of the peace-keeping operations in the Congo, has our representation at the United Nations steadily backed down in the face of the Soviet Union's blackmailing threats to walk out?

From one shabby device to another the United States has slithered over backward until, finally, we have at last produced an "alternate solution" that amounts to nothing in the world but complete and abject surrender.

Now, we have indicated that — instead of the cash "contribution" of 25 million dollars that Russia must pay before we agree not to block her voting privileges — we will settle for a worthless "pledge" of 17 million dollars which, of course, would never be paid anyway. In the face of such a cringing fear of the blackmailers' threats on the part of the United States, is there any wonder that Russia feels confident in rejecting even this nose-rubbing submission?

The administration seems perennially baffled by the fact that our prestige in the United Nations sinks a little lower, and that it becomes nothing but a sounding board for anti-United States propaganda.

Why the puzzlement? When a country announces to the world that its honor is highly negotiable... when it clearly demonstrates that it can be blackmailed with impunity... then it should hardly be surprised to find itself being bought, sold, and traded under the counter.

We need only to humble ourselves to a blackmail threat posed by Mall, Chad or Burundi to complete the illusion that we can be backed into a corner by literally anyone in the U.N.

No Relief...

The Grand Haven Tribune

While U.S. population was rising from 1954 to 1964 by a total of 18 per cent, the number on relief rose 42 per cent. These were the startling figures published in the Wall Street Journal. It would seem, with production at all-time highs, the relief load ought to be subsiding.

Such is not the case. The "new poor" are descending upon urban society with discouraging impact. In Chicago, declining railroad traffic and a shift of meat packing plants have left new relief loads. Country people continue to pour into the large cities seeking employment they do not find. Automation is a factor.

On top of this, many welfare workers are complaining that they are all but forgotten in the pressure for higher pay in other professions. Thousands in New York walked out when their pleas were ignored. This tends to blunt President Johnson's aim to reduce poverty.

Even as Congress talks about altering immigration laws, concentrated attention must be given to keeping U.S. population somewhat in line with its ability to put more people to work. Educators are going all-out to train the unskilled and to attract more skilled people into areas earnestly begging for them.

The relief system itself must be overhauled drastically. How much fraud is there? Relief agencies are asking this question with new emphasis. Birth control may be another answer.

Even the old leaf-raking projects of depression days would be more dignified than keeping able-bodied people on the dole. Undue coddling in some cases and misdirected relief theories in others have contributed to the welfare mess. Perhaps the greatest single lack today is the decline in many Americans' sense of responsibility.

Maybe leaving the problems that poverty and slums breed in the hands of the professionals is the biggest mistake. Each of us needs to develop more inward concern for our fellow man.

McCormack Was 'Acting Vice President'

Speaker Happy: No Longer Next in Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a man who has had many a happy moment in a long and fruitful life, one of the happiest for House Speaker John W. McCormack came last week when he moved out of the spot next in line to the presidency.

"It was a great relief; a great load was removed from me," McCormack said in an interview as he recalled the moment after he had administered the oath to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey shortly before noon Jan. 20.

At that moment McCormack ceased to wear two political hats, one as speaker and one as "acting vice president." He had worn them both since Nov. 22, 1963, when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated and Lyndon B. Johnson became president, leaving the vice presidency vacant.

NEXT IN LINE

The 1947 presidential succession law made the speaker of the House next in line for the presidency after the vice president. If for any reason, Johnson had been unable to carry on during the 14 months in which there was no vice president, McCormack would have taken over.

It was a possibility the 73-year-old McCormack would have taken over.

It was a possibility the 73-year-old McCormack did not like to think about but one he couldn't keep out of his mind.

"I tried to keep the thought out of my mind," he said, "but being human I just couldn't do it. I prayed that President Johnson would keep strong and well. Now that it's all over, I feel greatly relieved. A great load has been lifted. I am really happy again."

DIDN'T CHANGE

During the months when he was within a heartbeat of the presidency, McCormack's personal habits did not change. But persons close to him could sense the strain he was under. He wasn't his usually relaxed self although he obviously tried hard to be.

He had attained his goal in politics. He was speaker of the House and he had no higher aspirations.

Had fate decreed that McCormack take over the office of chief executive, even for a day, he would have been required to resign not only as speaker but as a member of the House. There is no provision in law that would have restored him to either position after a new president took office.

LONG LIFE

"It was a very happy moment when I administered the oath to the vice president," McCormack said. "I have lived a long and simple life and have had many happy moments, but that was one of the most memorable. Of course, my happiest moment was in 1920 when Harriet Joyce

(now Mrs. McCormack) said 'I do.'"

McCormack doesn't favor a return to the old law of succession which ranked members of the Cabinet next in line behind the vice president. He believes the President always should be someone elected by the people, not appointed by an individual, as are Cabinet members.

But he is pressing hard for prompt approval of a constitutional amendment to provide that there always will be a vice president except in the rarest of cases. President Johnson urged approval of such an amendment in a message to Congress late Thursday.

ORDEAL ENDED — Mrs. Julia Maestas feeds her 21-month-old daughter, Ramona, who regained consciousness yesterday after five days in a coma. The little girl, along with her 3-year-old brother, David, ate an unknown quantity of aspirin tablets. During the girl's coma, her blood was completely changed twice.

Swallowed Aspirins

Tots Out of Coma

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Little David talked and Ramona opened her eyes.

The five-day vigil for Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Maestas was broken with smiles and sleep as their 3-year-old son and 21-month-old daughter each came out of a coma Thursday at Clovis Memorial Hospital.

The youngsters still were on the critical list but were improved after an ordeal that began Saturday night after the youngsters and their 4-year-old sister, Irene, found a bottle of aspirin in a dresser drawer. The parents said that the three may have eaten as many as 80 aspirin.

STAYED NEAR

The mother, Julia, 23, stayed near the hospital room door as doctors twice made complete changes of Ramona's blood. David didn't need a blood change but remained in a coma. Irene was released after two days in the hospital.

"It's much better now," said the father, 26. "Little David talked, and Ramona looked at us like she wanted to talk."

Maestas, a $72-a-week laborer, kept watch at the hospital Thursday night when his wife went home for her first full night's rest since the ordeal began.

Maestas smiled but his face still showed the strain of the long wait in hospital corridors.

"Now it'll get better," he said.

Hospital administrator Monroe Owens said Ramona and David would remain on the critical list until doctors were certain the danger was past.

Fifth Successful Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest strategic missile, Minuteman 2, has registered its fifth successful test flight.

One of the pushbutton weapons darted out of an underground silo Thursday night and hurled its warhead to a target area 4,000 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy. It was the first short-range test for the missile, previously shot over 5,000-mile courses.

Key Members Polled on U.A.R. Aid

Many Senators Mum on Cut

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The House has voted to bar shipments of surplus food to Nasser's United Arab Republic. The administration is putting heat on the Senate to reverse the House. To gauge the prospects the Associated Press polled the members of the Senate Appropriations Committee. This is what the survey found.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only two members of the 27-member Senate Appropriations Committee are ready to say flatly they would support reversal of the ban the House has voted to put on shipment of surplus food to the United Arab Republic, an Associated Press survey showed today.

On the other hand, only four committee members say they agree with what the House did and only three others say publicly they are "inclined" to.

Thus, the jury is still out, with a majority — 15 of the 26 members reached, including Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana — refusing to disclose their positions at this point.

But the fact that the Johnson administration has mustered so little support thus far indicates it faces a tough, uphill battle in its efforts to have the Senate undo what the House has done — amend the agriculture appropriations bill to block shipment of $34 million worth of wheat, tobacco and vegetable oils to Cairo.

HALF A LOAF

It is possible the administration may have to settle for half a loaf — reversal of the amendment with substitution by the Senate of a stern warning to U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Some senators said privately they understand the State Department is working on non-binding language that would express "the sense of the Congress" that aid should be halted to Nasser or that would leave the President an "escape hatch" for continuing the shipments under certain specified conditions.

Nasser's fiery declaration last month that the U.A.R. does not need America's money and "anyone who does not like our attitude can drink from the sea" — roughly this means "go to hell" — was a prime factor in Tuesday's 204-177 House vote. Another was longstanding disapproval among some members of Nasser's combative stance toward Israel.

The administration takes the view that the House is meddling in an area which is properly that of the executive branch — the conduct of foreign policy. But the absence of a condemnation of Nasser's speech by President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk or other high administration officials apparently invoked in some members a feeling akin to "if they won't do it we will."

APPEALS FOR REVERSAL

Next week, possibly Monday, Rusk goes before the appropriations committee to appeal for reversal of the House action.

The two senators who will say for the record they would support reversal of the House are A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Gale W. McGee of Wyoming, both Democrats.

"Our handling of Nasser is a foreign policy matter over which the President and the secretary of state should have some discretion," Monroney asserted.

Agreeing, McGee said he thought it "unfortunate when we let our emotions regarding one man get away from us to the point we depart from a constructive policy of food for people."

"It is more important to feed hungry people than to spank Nasser."

The four members of the committee who say they favor the House amendment are A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., Norris Cotton, R-N.H., Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

The three who say publicly what others say privately — that they are "inclined" to go along with the House — are Lister Hill, D-Ala., Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

Said Case: "As a matter of policy, I think the time has come when we make it clear that the American people not only aren't going to be kicked around, but they are not going to be subject to blackmail."

ALL THE TESTIMONY

Said Hill: "My disposition frankly is to stay with the House amendment, but I want to hear all the testimony."

Said Byrd: "I'm inclined to support the House amendment, but I'm still open to argument."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said he would oppose "outright rejection" of the House amendment. That would be "tantamount to a vote of confidence in Nasser and a vote of approval for turning the other cheek to the Egyptian government and its policies," Mundt said.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said he refused to participate in polls in advance of voting.

CERTAINLY OPPOSED

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said he wants to determine this country's commitment but that he would "certainly be opposed to any renewal of this kind."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., was out of town when the poll was taken.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, said her practice is not to disclose her vote before hearing testimony.

But Robertson said he not only would vote to stop aid to Nasser but would vote to curtail aid to other countries because of the serious balance of payments problem resulting from "the lavish outpouring of our funds."

AID LIMIT

"I'm going to specifically vote to limit our aid to friendly countries and against any aid to unfriendly countries like Nasser's Egypt," he added.

Open Appalachia Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate opens debate today on the $1.09-billion Appalachia aid bill and hopes to take a final vote on it Monday.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had to abandon plans for action on the measure yesterday after the Senate had taken hours longer than expected to complete work on a water pollution control measure.

The two chief sponsors of the Appalachia bill, Sens. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., and John S. Cooper, R-Ky., planned to make their speeches on it today.

They said action might come today on some amendments but that key votes would be Monday.

An alternative bill introduced Thursday by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., chairman of the Public Works Committee, would authorize the President to set up regional commissions to work up development programs for other areas similar to that contained in the Appalachia bill.

PROMPT WORK

Randolph, No. 2 Democrat on the Public Works Committee, said assurances would be given that the committee would go to work promptly on this bill. He said that he believed, with these pledges, amendments seeking to add aid for the Upper Great Lakes region, for the Ozarks and for some other regions would not be attached to the Appalachia bill.

The Appalachia legislation would provide federal funds to build highways and inaugurate a variety of other projects for areas of an 11-state region which has been economically depressed for many years.

All of West Virginia and parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North and South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia would be covered by the aid program.

150 Families Evacuated

Oregon Rivers Boil Over Banks Again

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon's rivers boiled over their banks again today, less than a month after the most destructive flood in the state's history.

The waters washed out bridges, overran roads and homes, caused evacuation of about 150 families and caused many landslides, including one of great size at Mapleton, about 150 miles southwest of Portland.

Tons of earth peeled off Neely Mountain overlooking Mapleton Thursday. It crashed through the heart of the community of 800. But no one was seriously injured.

The post office was destroyed. The acting postmistress, Ida Mae Love, was swept out a side door into a deep ditch 25 yards away. Leslie Benscoter, a bystander, rescued her and she was taken to the hospital 15 miles away in Florence. Her injuries were believed not to be serious.

WINDOW ESCAPE

A postal clerk, Mrs. Vernon VanCurler, escaped by breaking the front window of the post office with a piece of wood that swirled in with the other debris.

About 25 cars were hurled across the street and into the show windows and store fronts of seven shops and restaurants. There was no official estimate of damage.

The Willamette River in Portland was expected to reach 19.5 feet today, 23.5 feet Saturday and 23.5 feet Sunday. The flood stage is 16 feet. The river reached 27.6 feet during the Christmas flood.

The Weather Bureau said the warm, moist air blowing in from the Pacific was expected to continue through tonight, and more rain seemed on the way.

MELTING SNOW

The flooding came when temperatures in the 40s melted the snowpack in the Cascade Mountains, helped by the rain. The earth, still saturated from the December floods, could not absorb more moisture.

Heaviest reported rainfall was nine inches during a 42-hour period at Toledo, 85 miles southwest of Portland.

Gov. Mark Hatfield said "the situation is dangerous and we are concerned, but it has not reached the major stage of the Christmas floods."

The state engineer, Chris Wheeler, said, "We are hopeful that additional rains will not raise the river crests, but only cause them to remain at a high level longer."

N. California Still Covered With Debris

EUREKA Calif. (AP) — A sea of mud and silt still covers miles of Northern California, one month after the devastating Christmas week floods.

The area looks as if a berserk giant from a scary fairy tale has stalked the land.

Wreckage and debris that once were homes, businesses, barns and schools lie in twisted, weird shapes like surrealist paintings.

Massive log jams, reaching 25 to 30 feet high, blanket the landscape. Sections of bridges and chunks of highways are scattered about fields.

TOWN B'RIED

Pepperwood, a community of 250 once famous for its vegetables, lies buried under the sticky silt as high as desert dunes.

Weott, a community of 30 and a frequent stop for tourists traveling the Redwood forest trails, is as silent as death.

The force and havoc of the holiday floods that roared across most of Northern California becomes more vivid as the waters recede. The death toll was 23; the damage estimate ranges from $300 million to $500 million.

John Erreca, public works director for the state of California, visited the stricken area recently and said, "This makes you cry inside."

The administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt covered seven sessions of Congress—the 73rd through the 79th.

Soapy Gets New Rank

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave assistant secretary of state G. Mennen Williams the rank of special ambassador today, and named him to head the U. S. delegation to independence celebrations in Gambia starting Feb. 16.

Williams is in charge of African affairs in the State Department. He will be accompanied to the independence ceremonies by Mercer Cook, American ambassador to Senegal, who also will represent the President as special ambassador.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Joan Barclay, 22, of St. Johns was killed Thursday when her car struck a utility pole in Oshtemo Township near here.

Rescue Work Brings Honors

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard station at St. Joseph, Mich., was among 21 individuals and 12 organizations honored Thursday night by the National Smoke Eaters Club for fire rescues during 1964.

Chief Petty Officer Royce Fulcher accepted the award for the Coast Guard unit cited for rescuing Phillip D. Armor of Chicago, his wife and daughter and three crewmen when their yacht burned on Lake Michigan off St. Joseph last June.

The Coast Guard crew reached the yacht, swept by a fuel fire, two minutes before the occupants would have been forced to go over the side.

2 Buildings Destroyed by Grand Rapids Fire

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Fire destroyed two buildings and heavily damaged a third near this city's downtown section Thursday night before it was brought under control by firemen. No one was injured.

Fire Chief Adrian Meyers estimated damages at between $150,000 and $175,000. He said the blaze was believed to have started in a vulcanizing shop.

The food consumed in the U.S. this year will have a total value of about $84 billion.

Alcohol and Youth—V

Takes More Than Laws to Curb Drinking

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last in a series of five dispatches on teen-age drinking.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—In Michigan, if a minor is convicted of transporting liquor in an automobile, the auto is impounded for not less than 15 days nor more than 30.

That's one way of curbing teen-age drinking. With a one-car family, the lesson sinks in—especially if dad must share in the punishment, walking to the store, taking the bus to work.

Other laws in other states aim to punish the minor who purchases or attempts to purchase liquor. Such a law, passed in Pennsylvania in 1963, imposes penalties — a fine of $25 to $100 or a jail sentence, 30 days, or both.

Members of the licensed beverage industries helped to put the laws on the books. The biggest thorn in their side — purchase by minors.

In many parts of the country, liquor licensees have initiated their own system of identification cards, with the support and approval of law enforcement authorities in many instances.

CARD PHOTOGRAPH

In Rockland County, N.Y., for example, identification cards include a photograph. The card isn't issued until the age of 18, based on a birth or baptismal certificate, has been certified by a notary public.

Rockland County Liquor Dealers Association members have agreed not to sell to anyone who cannot present this identification card.

But solving the problem of teen-age drinking isn't as simple as providing identification cards to keep them from illegally purchasing alcoholic beverages.

Alcohol education also must be improved and strengthened in the opinion of many authorities. The preferred time for this: In junior high school — before the children have had time to drink just because "all the kids are doing it."

EACH DECISION

Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, told United Press International:

"Every young person has ultimately to make his own decision whether to drink or not. It is the business of the schools to give him the data on which he will base the decision.

"He should receive sound, scientific information about the effects of drinking and the dangers of alcoholism. This information should be bolstered by good example.

"Safety factors should be stressed. Since most young people drive cars, they must be warned that alcohol slows reflexes and impairs judgment."

SHARE RESPONSIBILITY

Mrs. Moorhead, an educator from Eugene, Ore., maintains that parents must share the responsibility — and more.

"They must make sure their children know the facts, and they must make sensible rules for their children in the matter of drinking. Parental examples of sound attitudes and value are all-important."

It doesn't mean the parents must drink in secret.

"Thousands of American families are able to serve liquor in moderation to adults in their homes and yet protect their young people from the dangers involved in the misuse of alcohol."

"Some fathers think nothing of driving if they have had a drink but are horrified at the thought of their sons doing so," A. D. Buchmueller, executive director of the Child Study Association of America said.

On the matter of teen-age drinking, Buchmueller maintains that each family must work out the solution for itself.

"Families differ in their cultural patterns and teen-agers differ in their ability to handle social situations at a given age," he said.

"Some parents feel it is all right for the college age youngster to have a drink at home; they believe it is better for young adults to learn to make use of drinking socially, without abusing it, in their own homes rather than to indulge behind their parents' backs.

"On the other hand, there are families who believe that at no time should liquor be served to young people. Not the least of their considerations is the flouting of existing alcoholic beverage control laws."

Buchmueller believes it is better simply to avoid serving alcoholic beverages at young people's gatherings.

"Parents will do well to exert both common sense and self-control in their own social lives," he added.

Speaking for the schools, Carl A. Troester Jr., executive secretary of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a department of the National Education Association in Washington, said:

"Teen-agers want to be adults and they want to be treated like adults. This is part of the reason why something like half of all high school age youngsters take at least an occasional drink — and why this figure is increasing. They need help in learning the responsibilities of adulthood and we can help in many ways."

Troester said they need appealing, honest health education programs that help them understand the physical and psychological imbalances created by alcohol — and to understand their responsibilities for their own lives and the lives of others when they drive.

"They need help in understanding the actual physiological effects of drinking," he said. "This is one thing the ads don't tell them."

The motivational potentials of sports, he suggested, ought to be utilized fully in educating young people to refrain from drinking during the growing years.

TRAGEDIES UNNECESSARY

"Tragedies don't need to happen in order to teach a lesson," he said. "Boys and girls learn vicariously every day. School programs need not be moralistic but they should be convincing and relevant to the experience of teen-agers."

Clark W. Blackburn, director of the Family Service Association of America, said family life helps determine whether or not the adults or children have a problem with school.

The strong family has the best chance of dealing with the problem of teen-age drinking.

Marks of the strong family: It transmits a special way of life from one generation to another; it provides physical security and protection; it is the place where enduring and deep emotional satisfactions can be achieved; it is the place where adults and children are given full opportunities for emotional, intellectual, spiritual and social development.

The only American car that's anti antifreeze and pro-snow
(The difference is its air-cooled rear engine)

'65 Corvair

by Chevrolet

We have in our showroom the only American car that can take this stand.

Corvair's engine won't freeze. Or boil over.

It can't.

It's air-cooled. It has no radiator. So there's no place for water or antifreeze.

Corvair hasn't much use for snow tires either. The weight of its engine over its rear wheels gives it built-in traction.

Nor has it much use for power steering. The engine weight off its front wheels gives it built-in handling ease.

And Corvair is the only American car, besides the Corvette Sting Ray, that has 4-wheel independent suspension.

The Corvair Corsa is the only American car you can order with a six-cylinder engine as powerful as a lot of eights—a 180-hp.

In fact, it's the only car in the world available with a factory-installed supercharged engine.

And Corvair is not only different from other cars, it's different from any other Corvair ever built.

This year it's completely restyled. With soft vinyls. Thick carpeting. A roomier interior. A deep-recessed instrument panel. And a touch of the continent in its design.

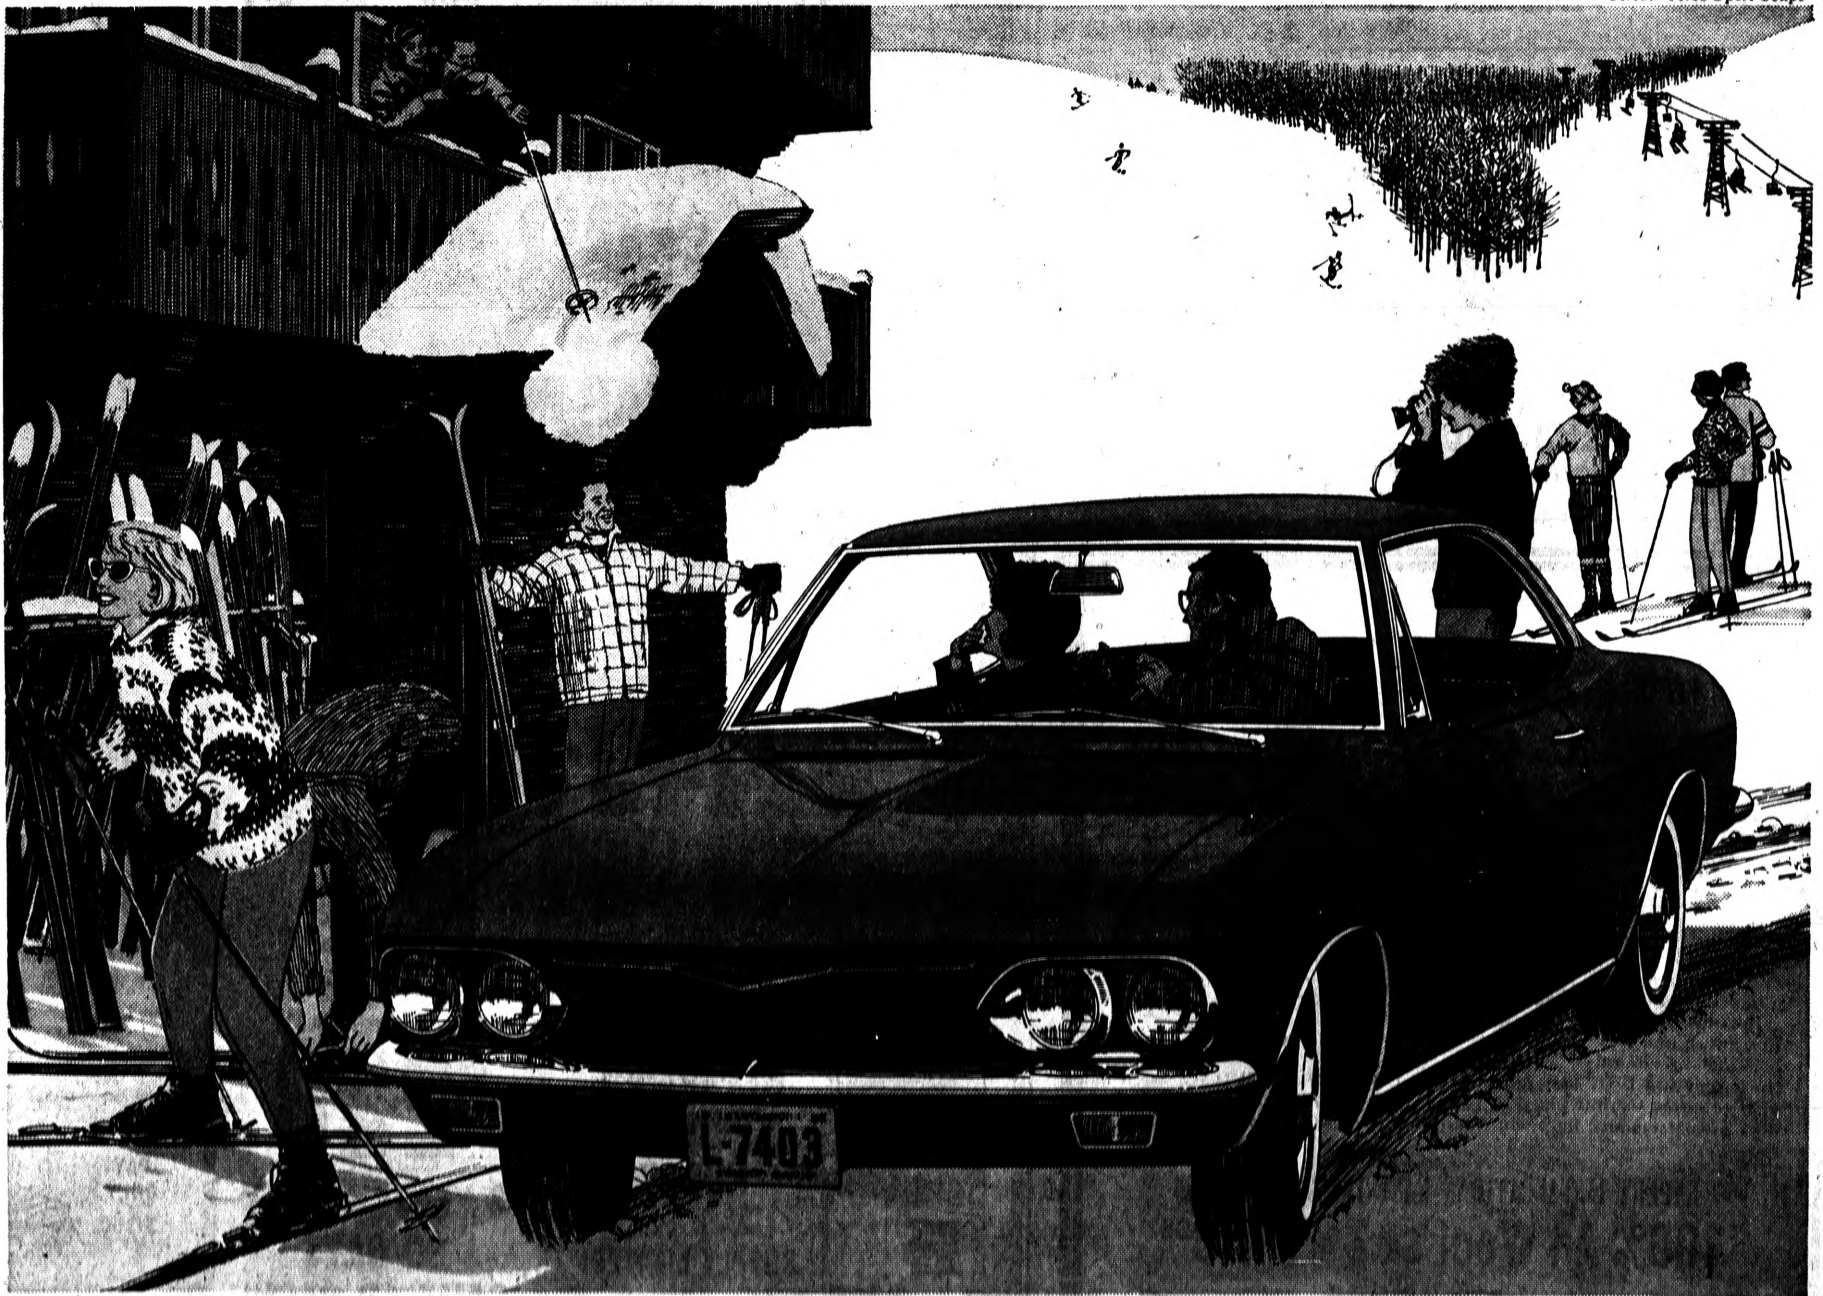

We're proud we can show you a car that stands out from the rest.

It makes us stand out a little, too.

Have Day Off at Lake Orion

By PATRICIA WARD
Lake Orion High School students had today off following two days of semester examinations.

Junior Connie Rowden was chosen 1965 basketball homecoming queen at halftime ceremonies last Friday. Her court included Martha Hord, Toni Trim, Phyllis Bird, Linda Leach, and Doreen Church.

By winning the yell-off in the year's most spirited pep assembly last Friday, the junior class was awarded possession of Norgard the Dragon.

After the pep assembly, the student council sold peanuts for the March of Dimes.

The seniors have rated the following classmates as who's who for 1965: most athletic, John Alban, Linda Shafer; class flirt, Robert Jones, Laura Felix; and best all-around, Herb Mattis, Darlene Bonning.

Others were: contributed most to the class, Barry Mach, Nancy Hodges; class romance, Steve Ranville, Phyllis Bird and most attractive, Roger John, Jill Kwasnica.

Winning in other categories were: most studious, Wayne Strandberg, Eileen Crane; most popular, Loren England, Nancy Johnson; most likely to succeed, Sam Chapin, Bonnie Ryckman; and class wit, Randy Bulla, Judy Brown.

Kettering to Hold Activity Night

2nd Semester Starts Monday

PCH Students Take Exams

By KAY COSMA

This week Pontiac Central High School students went through the routine of the bi-annual exams Tuesday and Wednesday. Students who were off yesterday are coming in this morning for the marking of cards. All will return Monday for the second semester.

This week, George H. Putnam, supervisor of secondary vocal and instrumental music, announced that Pontiac students will have the opportunity to attend "Overture to Opera" sponsored by the Detroit Grand Opera Association, March 17, 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., at Pontiac Northern High auditorium.

Classes which attend will have seats assigned and teachers will sit with their pupils. All schools that take part will be expected to do some background preparation for this experience.

Suggested studies that will make this operatic experience beneficial include the elements of opera, discussion of plots and similarities or patterns of operas. A misconception about opera is that it is "high-brow." The confusion being our lack of understanding of the foreign language in which the opera was originally written and is now sung.

Segments of three operas will be presented with outstanding vocalists. Two of the operas will be "Tosca" and "Rigoletto." The third will be announced later.

Seniors Robert Sullivan and William Chafets have been awarded the National Council of English Teachers award for outstanding achievement in English composition.

Benefit Dance at WTHS

By JEAN PERRY

Recreation night at Waterford Township High School was held Wednesday. Proceeds, along with contributions given in homerooms, were donated to the March of Dimes.

First semester exams were held this week in some classes at WTHS. Tradition was broken as exams took only one day, instead of the usual two. And teachers were not compelled to give exams except in one semester courses.

Teachers attended a Thursday workshop while the students enjoyed a two-day holiday.

Juniors may register now for the National Merit Scholarship test to be given this spring. All juniors qualify for this test.

Rehearsals are under way for the WTHS Playmasters' production, "Diary of Anne Frank"

Dramatics instructor, Miss Anne Hobart, will direct this third play of the year.

W. Bloomfield Wins TV Quiz

By MARY STACEY

West Bloomfield High School, represented by Larry Bok, Rick Strausz, Janet Miller and Gene Bowles, defeated Brother Rice High School on the television program "Quiz Em."

The second half found West Bloomfield answering all but one question to win the match, 730 to 170. It received a projector for winning.

Brother Rice was awarded a set of Shakespearean records. Each member of both teams received a set of 40 documents exhibited on the Freedom Train.

Uruguay Pupil Visiting Troy

By ANITA CAPRON

Rita Castro y Lombardi, Troy High School's foreign exchange student, comes from Uruguay. During her 9-month stay, she will live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Trost of 5352 Rochester, Troy.

She plans to become a teacher when she returns to her homeland.

The student council decided to pep up the assemblies with skits and presentations depicting Troy High's winning team. For council's first try, it presented a skit showing how the team would look defeating its opponents.

The team consisted of six girls dressed as talented regulars. The opposition also had an all-girl team. To add to the fun, there were four lovely gents dressed as shapely cheerleaders.

Our Lady High Pupils See 'Teahouse' Movie

By ANN LONGO

"Teahouse of the August Moon" with Glenn Ford was shown in the Our Lady of the Lakes High School gymnasium. It was shown on the cinema-scope projector donated to the school by the senior class last year's graduating class gave the school a cinema-scope screen.

There is no school Friday or Monday because of semester exams and teachers' meetings.

Seniors Rehearsing

By KATHY MORGAN

The senior class of Rochester High School began rehearsals this month for "Mr. Gallion's School." Written by Jesse Stuart, the play relates a year in a high school principal's career.

Mr. Gallion devotes his time to reviving interest in education and to redirecting morals of the students.

It will be presented Feb. 25 and 27 in the Central Junior High gym.

The junior class announces Feb. 13 as the date for the Junior Prom. The theme, "Heart of My Heart," will transform the cafeteria into a lovers' lane.

Couples will dance to the music of the "Jackpine Five" from 8 until 11:30 p.m. Tickets are $3 a couple. The entire school is invited to attend.

2-PARTY SYSTEM

The Student Council begins operating under a two-party system next week. Bill Williams, junior, heads the conservatives, and Barbara Mull, senior, leads the liberals. Several representatives chose to remain independent. The new system will provide a model government atmosphere.

Student council will host an activity night from 7-10 tonight in the Waterford Kettering gymnasium. The evening will feature basketball, volleyball, ping-pong and dancing in the cafeteria.

Admission price is 25 cents with an activity card and 35 cents without. Proper dress is sports wear for the gym activities and school clothes for those who wish to dance.

Seniors, juniors and sophomores are joining forces in an extensive citizenship campaign. Seniors will be in charge of the lavatories and the halls; juniors, class conduct and school spirit and

St. Michael Pupils Tour State Capitol

By HERVEY LAVOIE

The St. Michael High School chapter of the Detroit Inter-Student Seminar of Government-In-Action is journeying to the state capital in Lansing.

They have used today's change-of-semester free day to make the trip.

Accompanied by DISGA adviser, Sister Gertrude Ann, the group of 40 students will take a six-hour tour of the points of interest in the capital.

They plan to visit the offices of the secretary of state and the attorney general. They will visit the state police post, inspect the proceedings of the legislature in session and tour the Historical Museum in the Capitol Building.

Arrangements for the trip were made by DISGA through the local state congressmen. All students were invited to go.

Students in Lawrence Pic-kell's drafting class were recently given an exercise in creative designing.

The ski club, directed by Father David Beitz, is holding its second skiing date this afternoon. Planning today's session are the individual class representatives. They are Lynn Steinhilper, seniors; William Garcia, juniors; Roger Magerman, sophomores; and Donald Newton, freshmen.

Brandon Students Enjoy Term Break

By LYNDIA VITALIS

Students at Brandon High School breathe easier now that semester exams have ended.

This last week has been hectic for both teachers and students. Last-minute lectures, collecting, notes, and "cracking the book" every night until wee hours, makes the coming Monday holiday seem very deserving.

The senior parents committee and seniors are working together on a "Hard Times" party.

It will be Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Brandon High School cafeteria.

sophomores, cafeteria behavior.

Science Futurity Association, with the WKHS science department, is busy planning an assembly scheduled for March.

Homemaking students prepared and served a dinner for the Waterford Board of Education last week. Board members assembled in the WKHS homemaking room to consume a delicious standing-rib roast dinner. Served by third year homemaking students, the meal consisted of five courses.

COUNCIL ATTENDS

Student council was the attentive audience for a debate presented by debate students last Monday. Topic of the debate was, "Resolved that student council should be abolished."

Debate coach Patty Looman emphasized before the two teams tangled that nothing personal was intended.

Members of the swim club have been given the opportunity to take senior life saving weekly at the Oakland University pool.

Students are enjoying a two-day holiday as the semester ends. Report cards will be issued next Wednesday.

Fund-Raising Sale Is Held at Oxford

By SHIRLEY EVANS

Oxford High National Honor Society recently held a peanuts and baked goods sale to raise funds for the March of Dimes.

Dorothy Cook, a senior, was selected snow queen through popular vote.

Those in her court were Sue Peters, a junior; Kathy Hehner, a sophomore; and Debbie Waite, a freshman.

The ski club left late Wednesday on a long - sought trip to Nub's Knob in northern Michigan. The group will return tomorrow morning. William Gorton is sponsor.

A dance recently held by the sophomore class was named the "Bermuda Holiday." In charge were Terry Hallead, William Gorton and David Bauer.

Music Students at Walled Lake to Be on Radio

By VIVI METTALA

Over 200 Walled Lake High School students will be heard over station WUOM (91.7 F.M.), Ann Arbor radio, March 2 at 9:30 p.m.

Chosen as one of the outstanding high school music departments in the state by the University of Michigan, the concert band, orchestra, girls' glee club, boys' chorus, choir, and the Group contributed to the January recording.

The senior class has selected Silverbell Ski Lodge in Pontiac as the site for its prom June 11. The theme of the prom is "Le Jardin Des Fleurs." Handling the general student directorship is Jan Bales.

NEW OFFICERS — Making plans for the newly organized Oakland County Future Teachers Association are (from left) Laura Sears of 2254 Pontiac Trail, president; Ceryl Andrews of 1515 Grinshaw, president elect; both of Commerce Township and Jeanie Werther of 7361 Honeysuckle, West Bloomfield Township, secretary. All three girls attend Walled Lake High School.

Economic Pulse to Quicken

Auto Plant Expansion Will Be Felt in Every Michigan Town and Hamlet

Editor's Note—The auto industry has announced extensive expansion plans in Michigan. Associated Press auto writer Charles C. Cain has researched for specific details on how the industry's new building will affect Michigan. His story details this vast economic boost for Michigan.

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer
DETROIT—Every town and hamlet in Michigan is destined to feel the effects of the massive plant expansion and job addition program launched by the auto industry.

New plants are springing up in widely scattered areas of the state; numerous existing auto company facilities are being modernized and enlarged to meet growing demand.

Optimism is the keyword in every section of the industry. Most auto industry leaders feel an eight million car year is within reach in 1965 and they already talk of 10 million car years becoming commonplace in the early 1970's.

Michigan, birthplace of the U.S. auto industry as we know it today, is getting the lion's share of the multimillion dollar expansion program.

General Motors, intent on retaining its place as the biggest automaker in the world, is well under way on a two-year, $2-billion expansion program. Some $350 million was spent on new and expanded Michigan facilities last year with another $375 million to be spent in 1965.

CLOSE BEHIND

Ford is close behind with a $1.6 billion expansion program over three years. About $75 million was allocated to Michigan in 1964, $200 million more this year.

Chrysler is spending $1 billion over four years, with $200 million of that amount allocated to Michigan projects.

American Motors' production facilities are located outside of Michigan.

While the dollar amounts are impressive, they become even more important to Michigan's booming economy when they are translated into new jobs and new facilities.

IMPORTANCE OF FORD

The importance of Ford to Michigan's well-being is shown by the fact that the firm has over 19,500 supplier firms in Michigan alone. GM, which makes more of its own parts, has about 8,100 Michigan suppliers, while Chrysler buys from about 5,300 Michigan suppliers.

Supplier firms range from big fellows, doing millions of dollars of business, to small town firms whose billings are measured in hundreds of thousands or less.

The auto industry's prosperity is reflected in the expansion programs being carried out locally by many of the supplier units.

Some of the new plants being built by the Big Three—GM, Ford and Chrysler—are mammoth.

STAMPING PLANT

Ford, for example, picked out the little community of Woodhaven in the Detroit area as the site of a $90 million stamping plant, largest single unit in the Ford company. At full production, it will provide 4,000 new jobs. The huge 2½-million-square-foot plant will occupy a 319-acre site when it goes into operation on a limited basis at 1966 model time.

Chrysler's biggest single project in its expansion program is the 2.5 million-square-foot stamping plant under way in Sterling Township, in Macomb County, with an estimated construction cost of $40 million.

General Motors' expansion program is an ambitious one with the new Kalamazoo metal fabricating plant for the Fisher Body Division as one of its highlights. The $33 million plant will be ready in 1966 and will employ about 3,000 people.

In addition to the new plant in Kalamazoo, GM also built a $4 million upholstery trim plant in Tecumseh, which thus becomes the 12th Michigan community to house a General Motors facility.

GM EMPLOYEES

GM, the state's largest employer, currently has about 409,000 employees in Michigan at units in Detroit, Bay City, Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Livonia, Pontiac, Ypsilanti, Saginaw and Warren. It paid them about $2 billion in wages last year.

Ford has over 93,000 workers at its 18-city Michigan facilities now and will add several thousand to this within a year if business conditions remain as bright as they are today.

Ford facilities are at Birmingham, Detroit, Highland Park, Iron Mountain, Lincoln Park, Livonia, Monroe, Mount Clemens, Northville, Owosso, Rawsonville, Royal Oak, Sterling Township, Utica, Wayne, Wixom, Ypsilanti and Dearborn.

MORE EMPLOYED

GM, Ford and Chrysler had a total of 409,000 workers at their Michigan plants last year, a jump of 49,000 over 1963. Indications are that the figure will jump by at least 20,000 by the year end.

In a state where one out of every four jobs is directly connected with the auto industry or its affiliates, the current prosperity of automakers is important.

Consumers and Edison

Utility Firms Join in State Power Pool

Consumers Power Co. and the Detroit Edison Co.—two of the nation's leading electric power utilities—have welded their systems across 34,600 square miles in the Lower Peninsula to serve some eight million persons.

These two utilities are the mainstays of the Michigan electric power pool, which also includes four municipal systems and two industrial generating plants.

The Consumers' system stretches across 27,000 square miles in 61 counties to reach 930,000 electric customers. Edison has 1,323,697 customers in 13 counties on the southeastern part of Michigan.

Consumers Power is also linked with the Upper Peninsula, and Edison has two interconnections with the Ontario Hydro-Electric System in Canada.

Rate reductions announced recently by Edison and Consumers show how the pool pays off for the customer.

PROVIDE PROOF

Consumers recently provided proof that a power pool can shrink disasters into the category of an inconvenience. It was an example etched in flames against a black night sky over the City of Marshall on September 21.

Marshall, city of 6,737 near Battle Creek, was shorn of all electric power when a fire in the municipal power plant—not a member of the pool but served with supplemental power from Consumers—plunged the community into darkness.

It was 9:19 p.m., and a community hospital with 52 patients switched to its emergency generator that could hold out till morning.

But expert help was on the way, backed up by the power resources that had been building up for years to answer any emergency.

PARTIAL POWER

Consumers' linemen restored partial power to the downtown section by 1:30 a.m. By 7 a.m. everything was normal with the new source of power and the hospital could turn off the emergency generator. That was the Michigan Power Pool in action.

How did it all happen? Why was this reservoir of power immediately available to a stricken city? Why was this municipal ordeal that normally should have stopped progress for a week or more shortened to 10 hours?

The answer is the story of the Michigan pool. It has been compared to a blanket insurance policy, guaranteeing reliable electric power for most of the estimated eight million persons in Michigan.

But it is a very special kind of insurance policy. It not only does not cost the beneficiary a cent in premiums, but it pays the twin dividends of economy of operation and the peace of mind that stems from reasonable assurance that Michigan will not be blacked out by natural or man-made disaster.

STATEWIDE SYSTEM

Joined with Consumers and Edison in this statewide protective system are the major municipal electric plants in Wyandotte, Lansing and Holland and the Public Lighting System of Detroit. The Edison Sault Electric Co. has been connected to Consumers by a cable across the Straits of Mackinac, and the big industrial plants of the Ford Motor Co. and Dow Chemical Co. are active partners.

Churchill 'Lived'—but Not by the Rules

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last of three dispatches providing a personal glimpse of the remarkable life of Sir Winston Churchill.)

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — A visitor, pacing the lounge at Chartwell, said one day:

"I've heard of siesta but this is ridiculous!"

Upstairs the daily battle was under way to pry Winston Churchill loose from his bed.

The great statesman picked up the custom of a mid-afternoon snooze while observing the Spanish campaign in Cuba in 1895 and, as with most things he really liked (alcohol, cigars and good food among them), he expanded the habit to Churchillian proportions.

The ritual of waking him in the days before he retired as prime minister in 1955 at the age of 80 — and even thereafter — called for a combination of daring and diplomacy on the part of his male staff, and the training of shockproof maids.

ORANGE JUICE

His valet generally called him at 8:30 a. m. and presented him with a glass of bottled orange juice (which he preferred to fresh).

Then Churchill would leave himself from bed and look out the window to forecast the weather — with well-chosen curses if it happened to be raining.

While he was addressing the weather gods, his bed was remade, pillows were placed in position to prop him up and his breakfast was laid out on a large bedside table.

Churchill lived to be 90 years old by disregarding almost every warning doctors give lesser men — and that includes injunctions from his long-time friend and physician, Lord Moran.

IN EXCESS

He drank too much, he smoked too much, he ate too much (plenty of cholesterol), he worked too hard, he was overweight and after an exceedingly active youth and middle age (he played polo till he was 55) he refused to exercise.

On this list of medical "don'ts" he threw mightily, becoming the longest-lived former British prime minister in history.

So his breakfast might be anything from oysters and champagne (with which he started his 88th birthday) to an ordinary, solid repast of bacon and eggs perhaps with some cold ham on the side. He liked hot and cold foods at meals.

Then, when the dishes were cleared away, he was ready to work, dictating to several secretaries who took turns coming to the bedside.

THIRSTY WORK

This, of course, is thirsty work so by mid-morning Sir Winston would be ready for his first beverage of the day, generally a whisky and soda. The drinks were apt to follow each other at intervals from then on.

Sir Winston liked to drink, had no complexes about it and apparently an infinite capacity.

Since he had seen most of those who warned him about alcohol precede him to eternity, he conceived the idea that brandy might actually be good for him.

The admiring manager of London club still recalls how in the gloomy days before the war Sir Winston would drop in with another member of Parliament and kill a fifth of brandy while considering the fate of the world.

OFFERED WHISKY

Marty Rackin, a Hollywood executive who came to discuss a film project with Sir Winston, then 86, reported that he was offered a tumbler size glass of whisky to match his host's.

Sir Winston noticed that Rackin held himself a bit stiffly and inquired why.

"I hurt my back," said the 44-year-old film man, "and I've got to wear a steel corset."

"I broke a bone in my back," boasted Sir Winston, "and I got up off the floor myself."

GOT UP FIRST

"I'll bet," said Rackin, a former comedy writer, "that the American half got up first."

The joke delighted Sir Winston whose mother was Jennie Jerome of New York.

In 1932 when Churchill was on a lecture tour in New York Scotland Yard sent word that there might be a danger of assassination because of the troubles in India. His manager rushed in with the news. Winston listened, then remarked that they were out of champagne.

"Well, said the manager with heavy sarcasm, "which do you want me to do. Arrange for your security—or get champagne?"

ORDERS CHAMPAGNE

"First things first," said Churchill. "Get the champagne."

But back to the start of Sir Winston's day. By noon, unless the staff managed to think of some stratagem like pretending his lunch guests had arrived early, Churchill would still be in bed.

Eventually he would dismiss the secretaries and have his valet run a hot bath.

And more than one maid got a cheery good morning from the master as he strolled to the bath clad largely in a happy smile.

DENIES NAKEDNESS

But Churchill denied he was naked when President Roosevelt showed up at his White House suite unannounced one morning as alleged in a famous wartime anecdote "the prime minister of Great Britain has nothing to hide from the President of the United States."

Sir Winston claimed he was wrapped in a bath towel.

It was just as hard to get Sir Winston up after his long afternoon nap and down to dinner at 8:30 p.m. He was apt to wander off in his silk undershirt and underpants during the process to dictate a memo to his unflappable secretaries.

For dinner he usually wore a blue velvet overall with matching slippers embroidered with his initials.

He was wearing one of these outfits a copy of his wartime siren suit at his 90th birthday party at Hyde Park Gate last Nov. 30 when, said one of those present, the old man looked at each of the dozen guests in turn as though he knew this as the last time they would all be about him on such an occasion.

GIVES UP SLEEP

During the war—he was first lord of the Admiralty in 1939, prime minister 1940-45—he had to give up some of his sleep routine because of the demands of duty.

But one of his aides, Gen. Sir Ian Jacobs, marvelled later at his ability to nap anywhere at any time. After observing Sir Winston for most of those critical years Sir Ian understood the stubbornness in defense of his ideas that had kept Churchill from leadership of the government for so long.

"He longed for fame," Sir Ian said, "but only of a historic kind. He was not interested in being popular."

Sir Winston's life was not without its personal and political tragedies. He was a notable failure as chancellor of the Exchequer when Britain returned to the gold standard in 1925.

DARDANELLES

He was blamed for the bloody Dardanelles campaign in World War I. He was out of office for 10 years starting in 1929.

Although he brooded about it, it was probably the best thing that could have happened to the free world for he could give his full attention to Hitler's Germany. As early as May 1932 he warned that permitting Germany military parity with France would lead to war.

His marriage to Clementine Hozier in 1908 was one of the most successful of the century but there was much sadness, too.

One daughter, Marigold, died as a child. Another daughter, Diana, committed suicide, in 1963. Beautiful Sarah Churchill who played opposite Fred Astaire in one of his films, divorced her first husband, the second committed suicide, the third died of a heart attack.

SON DIVORCED

His son and heir Randolph, who will be his father's official biographer, was twice divorced. Only one of Sir Winston's children, Mary, wife of politician Christopher Soames, had a happy marriage.

In recent years his staff sometimes kept papers from Sir Winston if they contained stories or pictures of any of his children that might distress him.

Churchill was attractive to women in his youth and middle life and most of the eligible heiresses of British society threw themselves at him before he married Clementine. It was his personality rather than his looks or lip (the letter "S" often threw him) that drew the attention.

His red hair thinned rapidly but he brushed it vigorously even where there were only a few strands left.

One of his recipes for remaining youthful was hobbies. He used to keep live butterflies and he became an authority on gold fish.

BRICKLAYER

He played golf and polo in younger days. He was an expert bricklayer (he held a union card) and a talented painter. Late in life he became a race-horse owner. The story goes that he thought a kindly admirer have given him a horse. He was surprised to get a bill for it later on but he finally assembled a winning stable.

Churchill went through quantities of large Havana cigars when he was young but in his last years he chewed as often as he smoked them. He developed a gummed brown paper wrapping to keep the end of the cigar from becoming too wet. He called it a "belly-bando."

In 1898 when young Churchill went off to the Sudan he promised the president of the Society for Psychical Research that if he died or was killed he would try to "communicate" from the beyond.

At least one member of the society believes the promise is still in effect.

Churchill was a master of the English language, the only man ever to get the Nobel Prize for literature in 1953 for the spoken word—his wartime speeches — as well as his writings. He coined many memorable phrases but not "Iron Curtain" with which he is generally credited.

This was first used by a travel writer who went to Russia in 1920 and at least twice more by others before Churchill burned it into the language in his great Fulton, Mo., speech in 1946.

SURVEYS PAST

Once, surveying the vast landscape of his past, he said he would not want to live even his life over again. But, he added:

"The journey has been enjoyable and well worth taking."

Although he never used the title he was — as are all male descendants of the Duke of Marlborough — entitled to call himself Prince of Mindelheim, after a city saved by the duke.

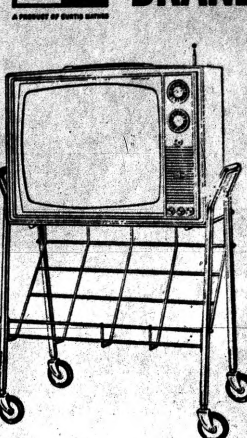

So, to quote his favorite author, Shakespeare, once again:

GOOD NIGHT

"Good night, sweet prince, and flights of angels sing thee to thy rest."

The cry of the bat puts boll-worms and other insects to flight. Scientists have imitated the high pitched cries in an effort to drive insect pests away from cotton fields.

"TAKE THIS MEASURE" — At the organizational meeting of the Oakland County 4-H band, Oxford High School band director Wendell Honsinger has three members take turns showing how well they can play their instruments. They are (from left) Linda Armstrong, Galloway Lake Club; Ric Cotter, Rip 'N' Tear; and Paul Trask, Oxford. The band will be rehearsing at 8 every other Wednesday night in the 4th floor auditorium of the Cooperative Extension building in Pontiac. Thirty-three area school bandmen attended the first rehearsal.

Students to Get Church-Study Time

OXFORD — After months of discussion, Oxford Community Schools will try releasing students to their churches for religious instructions during school hours.

The program is slated to begin Wednesday.

Perhaps the first district in Oakland County to do so, Oxford will let students go for religious instruction at three local churches.

The action is provided for under a 1964 state law which allows release of the students for a maximum of two hours per week.

Parents must request that their children be given the religious instruction on school time before the pupils can be allowed to go.

PERIODS STAGGERED

In order to avoid disruption of classwork, the Oxford district's experiment is set up with staggered periods for junior and senior high students.

High school students will miss their first class period the first week, their second the second week, and so on, therefore missing the same class only once every six weeks.

Junior high students will alternate between the first two classes one week and the last class period the next week, while elementary grades will be released from 1:30 to 3 p.m. each week.

I m m a n u e l Congregational Church will teach children in the fifth and sixth grades, while Free Methodist and First Baptist churches will offer instruction to students in the fifth grade on up through 12th grade.

Oxford Twp. Voters Okay Library Levy

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The Christian Slayton Free Public Library will get 1-mill tax support for operation and capital improvement for the next 20 years.

More than 330 township property owners turned out at the polls yesterday to approve two proposals on the millage request by 2-to-1 margins.

One proposition asked that the township tax limit be hiked from 15 to 16 mills, to make room for the 1-mill library tax. It was passed by 219-113.

The other requested that the tax be levied over the 20-year period. It succeeded, 221-110.

The election was set by the Township Board after 200 residents signed petitions asking for the tax levy. The library has been operating with township funds.

SERVICE EXPANSION

While the millage will allow the expansion of services and hours at the present library building, the library board is continuing its canvass for donations toward a new structure.

Estimated to cost roughly $40,000, the proposed new building has already received support from businesses, organizations and individuals to the tune of more than $3,000.

And $9,000 more has been pledged by the local Community Chest.

If a federal grant covering one-third of the building's cost is to be obtained, $17,667 must be raised locally aside from the Community Chest pledge.

'VERY GRATIFYING'

Mrs. Lionel Kamm, chairman of the library board, said today that the results of yesterday's election "are very gratifying to us."

"I think it shows people want good library service," she added.

Mrs. Kamm said donations toward the new building can be sent to the Oxford Public Library Building Fund, 3 Mechanic.

The committees will cover community characteristics, school program, physical plant, finances and auxiliary services.

About 30 attended last night's meeting, and Oberg said 50 or 55 are expected to eventually participate in the study.

LIMITED SCOPE

The last school study committee, set up in 1960, explored only finance and curriculum over a two-year period.

A full-scale study similar to the present effort was made in 1956 and resulted in recommendations that took physical form in the present school district boundaries and some of the present buildings.

First Meeting for School Unit

Oxford Study Group Meets Again Tuesday

OXFORD — A new Citizens School Study Committee took the first step toward organization at a get-acquainted session last night.

The committee, which will project needs over roughly a five-year period and make recommendations on ways to meet them, meets again Tuesday.

The 7:30 p.m. session at the junior high school should result in the formation of five committees and the selection of their chairmen, according to Schools Supt. Roger Oberg.

The committees will cover community characteristics, school program, physical plant, finances and auxiliary services.

About 30 attended last night's meeting, and Oberg said 50 or 55 are expected to eventually participate in the study.

LIMITED SCOPE

The last school study committee, set up in 1960, explored only finance and curriculum over a two-year period.

A full-scale study similar to the present effort was made in 1956 and resulted in recommendations that took physical form in the present school district boundaries and some of the present buildings.

Blaze Hits House in Wolverine Lake

WOLVERINE LAKE — A faulty space heater was cited as the cause of an early morning house fire here yesterday.

The blaze broke out in the Olie Watkins home, 915 Brushwood, shortly after 3 a.m.

It left holes in the living room ceiling and floor, causing damage estimated at $1,500 to the building and $500 to the contents.

The Commerce Township Fire Department had the blaze under control in about 45 minutes.

PTA Dinner to Fete Junior High Faculty

WALLED LAKE — Faculty members at Walled Lake Junior High School will be guests of the PTA at a dinner Thursday.

The cooperative dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

A toast to teachers, with William Munger as toastmaster, will be featured in the evening's entertainment.

In making plans for the dinner, parents are asked to contact Mrs. Kenneth Heddon, 1850 Meadow Ridge, Commerce Township, or Mrs. Fred Hoppe, 1640 Beverly.

Lake Orion Women

Group for Cityhood

LAKE ORION — After hearing an expert's view of both sides of the issue, the Lake Orion Women's League for Better Government has decided to put itself on record as favoring cityhood for Lake Orion.

At a recent meeting, John J. Honeywell, director of the publications and research division of the Michigan Municipal League, outlined the advantages and disadvantages of cityhood for a village such as Lake Orion.

"He was in town at the request of the local group, which has supported evaluation of possible cityhood since the issue was revived at a November meeting."

After hearing the pros and cons of such a transformation, Mrs. Charles Robbins, president of the better government group, said that "it was the consensus of the league members that the time is 'now' for Lake Orion to take action toward becoming a city."

"The advantages far outweigh the disadvantages," she said.

FUTURE PLANS

According to Mrs. Robbins, Orion Township's future plans also may be a reason for immediate action on the part of the village.

"We have a feeling that if we don't act fast, the township might," she said, "and it's more advantageous to keep the village boundaries as they are."

Mrs. Robbins said the league would release a formal statement reflecting its position on the cityhood issue within the next 30 days.

Chapter Plans Dinner

DAVISBURG — Austin Chapter No. 396, Order of the Eastern Star, will serve a swiss steak dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Masonic Temple.

$1.4-Million Bond Issue

Romeo School Vote on April 12

ROMEO — School district voters will be asked to approve a $1.4-million bond issue in a special election April 12 to finance a needed building program.

Included in the expansion plans to meet anticipated future growth is a new elementary school to be built near the corner of Campground and 29 Mile roads.

Other projects are major additions at both the junior and senior high schools.

The estimated tax increase to finance the bond issue would be 3.29 mills.

Based on state equalized valuation throughout the district, the actual taxes to be levied would range from $6.34 in Addison and Oakland townships up to $9.30 in Shelby Township on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

tend about 60 feet from the front of the school toward Prospect Street.

The junior high principal's office would be housed in this unit.

Besides the extensive building to be undertaken at the junior high, these plans include wiring, floor and foundation repairs.

The proposed elementary school, to cost an estimated $405,900, would contain two kindergarten rooms, eight classrooms, a multipurpose room with a stage and storage spaces, an office and faculty room.

The school would be designed to be expandable to 21 rooms.

Results of almost two years of studying vocational-education needs in the district is reflected in the planning for the senior high additions.

Based on the fact that 40 per cent of the Romeo High School graduates continue their education and 60 per cent go right into the labor market, the school board decided the main needs on the secondary level were for business education and for shop.

Consequently, plans were made to add eight classrooms, with at least two of them half again as large as a regular classroom.

They would be used for typing and teaching the use of other business machines.

ANOTHER PART

Another part of the $353,000 building program planned at the high school includes an extension onto the north end of the music room. It would provide rooms for work shop, and metal and power machines.

A small lobby would connect the new and old sections.

If the voters approve the bond issue April 12, work would start on the building programs in the summer in the hope the facilities would be ready for students in September 1966.

The half-mill now provides about $60,000 in the district.

It is expected that by 1980, when the district's population should be 80,000 as compared to the present 45,000, the same rate will net upwards of $100,000.

The proposed capital improvement levy is aimed primarily at expanding services to patrons in the northern part of the district.

Featured in the program would be construction of a new library on a five-acre site the board owns on the south side of 12 Mile east of Farmington Road.

The new facility would have some 15,000 square feet of floor space, compared to 6,000 provided in the library located in the city.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Library Plan 'Differences' to Be Aired in Farmington

FARMINGTON — The two special millage requests of the Farmington City and Township District Library Board now are on the April 5 ballot in the township.

Still to be resolved are the questions of Farmington city councilmen regarding the proposed capital improvement levy.

Library board members will attend Monday night's City Council meeting to discuss "the current difference of opinion" between the two groups, according to board president Albert Herzog.

The board this week approached township trustees with its request for additional millage.

By unanimous votes, the Township Board placed two library propositions on the April 5 ballot.

TAX CONTINUATION

One asks for continuation of the current half-mill levy and the other for a new 1-mill levy to finance expansion.

The half-mill tax now being levied by the township for the library has been extended twice in the last six years. Board members want it placed on a long-term basis—for 20 years.

The additional 1-mill levy would finance construction of a new central library in the township and improvement of the present facility in the city.

As sought on the ballot, the levy would be carried over 10 years.

ALTERNATIVES

City councilmen last week asked library board members to consider alternatives — chiefly the possibility of asking for a half-mill for capital improvements spread over 20 years.

WSU Will Use Portion of Southfield Nike Site

CHICAGO (AP) — The General Services Administration said yesterday part of a Nike site in Southfield will be used by Wayne State University, for educational purposes.

The property consists of several five acres containing several buildings.

Sewer Study Money Sought

AVON TWP. Residents to Be Asked to Help

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residents of the northwestern portion of the township will be asked if they are willing to help pay for a study that could mean sewer service for them and possible development in the area.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) has estimated the cost of the study at $9,500 to the township.

The study would cover the proposed construction of an extension to the Oakland University sewer line, which was suggested by engineers Giffel & Webster of Royal Oak.

They represent several persons who are interested in developing parcels in the area if sewer service can be provided, and will conduct the poll on residents' willingness to help.

The extension, which would probably be a new arm extending from the plant on Avon Road almost to Livernois in a generally diagonal fashion, would open many acres to development.

SERVICE TO SOME

It would also bring service to some residents now in the area.

The engineers hope to have the results of their informal survey ready for presentation to the Township Board when it meets to work on the budget Wednesday.

Lake Orion Sewer Foes Far-Ranging

LAKE ORION — Interest and even participation in Lake Orion's future development extends even as far away as Florida.

Summer residents of the north Oakland County village who winter in the summer climates are being contacted to join a local organization for community betterment.

The Lake Orion Homeowners Association netted 13 new members last week as a result of its out-of-town campaign.

The association is the initiator of a lawsuit filed against the village regarding the controversial $1.36-million sewer system planned for the eastern half of town.

It now represents more than half of the property owners in Lake Orion.

SIGN PETITIONS

Besides joining the organization, the out-of-towners also added their signatures to petitions opposing the planned sewer system due to its cost.

Troy Projects Unit Sets 'Tom Sawyer'

TROY — A performance of Mark Twain's "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," with children playing children's roles, will be sponsored tomorrow at Troy High School by Troy Community Projects.

The "Stagecrafters" production will begin at 2 p.m. Tickets are available today, and tomorrow at the Troy elementary schools, or at the door.

The Troy Community Projects board of directors has approved another project which will result in a community directory of services, businesses and facilities in Troy.

Rights Leader King Will Speak at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King, a Nobel Prize winner for his Negro rights efforts, is scheduled to speak Feb. 11 at Michigan State University. His appearance is in connection with plans by MSU students to form schools in Mississippi next summer for Negroes and whites of all ages.

Southfield Man Killed

EAST BRAZIL, Ind. (AP) — Harold I. Hall, 54, of Southfield, Mich., was killed yesterday when his small truck and a semitrailer truck collided on U.S. 40 about two miles east of here.

Missionary From Congo Set for First Methodist

TROY — Rev. David Kensing, missionary to Costa Rica, will be one of three missionaries to take part in the annual convention sponsored by the Troy Assembly of God Sunday through Wednesday.

The other two will be Rev. Donald Phillips from Nigeria and Miss Lillian Hogan from the Republic of Congo.

Miss Hogan was among the missionaries arrested and persecuted by the rebels in the Congo.

One of her fellow missionaries, Rev. T. J. Tucker, was killed and then thrown in the river. Miss Hogan will be telling of these experiences in the service Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The pastor, Rev. Louie H. Calaway, said there will be two services daily at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The church is at 3200 Livernois, across street from Troy High School.

Besides the talks, there will be curios and films depicting the three countries represented.

REV. DAVID KENSINGER

Youth Center Slates 'Hop'

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — A record hop at Milford High School has been scheduled for tomorrow night by the Milford Youth Center.

Tommy Shannon, Windsor, Ont., disc jockey, and the Tommy Caravan will provide music for the 8-11 p.m. event.

In an effort to provide more varied activity for those attending, the youth center will provide equipment for basketball, volleyball and ping pong in the gymnasium.

Gas Firm Gets Okay

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has been granted the right to construct and operate a gas purchase meter in Ogemaw County by the State Public Service Commission. The added facility will enable the company to obtain deliveries of gas from the Logan-Churchill gas field.

Snowbanks vanish in minutes

SNOW CASTER

Drive your snowbanks away — 1600 pounds per minute — with a Bolens Husky tractor and snow caster attachment. It's power! Convenient, too. With fingertip control lever you can direct snow in any direction up to 30 feet to avoid building snowbanks that cause more drifting. Chain-driven rotor blades bite into the heaviest, crustiest snow. The well-balanced Husky gives all the traction and power you need — and when winter is over, you'll use the Husky for all your lawn and garden work. Over 13 fast-switch attachments are available for year 'round versatility.

People in the News

The state of Pennsylvania says a 22-year-old Northampton, Pa., man who lost both hands in an industrial accident last year will have to go to court if he wants a driver's license.

Warner M. Depuy, executive deputy director of the state Revenue Department, said Thursday his agency has refused to grant a learner's permit to Richard Meixner.

But Depuy said the department would give Meixner a driver's test if a court ordered it to do so.

Meixner, who is engaged to be married, lost his hands when they were crushed in a press machine at the Allentown Record Co. in February 1964.

Eddie Offers to Fill In

Eddie Fisher volunteered, Pearl Bailey was picked to stay over and ailing Debbie Reynolds should be ready by tomorrow.

Miss Reynolds' opening at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas was canceled yesterday because she had a sore throat hours before curtain time.

Fisher, Debbie's ex-husband, sent his sympathies from New York and offered to fill in for her, hotel officials said. But it was decided to hold over Pearl Bailey, who has been starring for weeks in the hotel's showroom. Meanwhile, Debbie was reported recuperating at the hotel with her husband, Harry Karl.

Ex-Commerce Secretary Hit by Car

Sinclair Weeks, 71, who served as secretary of commerce from 1953-58 in the Eisenhower administration, was struck by a car while crossing a street in Boston last night.

He was taken to a hospital in Brookline where his condition was described as good.

Harve Presnell Plans to Marry

Harve Presnell, who recently starred in the motion picture "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," announced plans in Tucson last night to marry Veeva Brown, daughter of songwriter Stuart Hamblen.

No date has been set for the wedding. Each has been married once previously.

Son of Composer Moscow Delinquent

When a gang of teen-age juvenile delinquents robbed a Moscow cafeteria, one of those arrested was Anatoly Mokrousov, 14-year-old son of Soviet composer Boris A. Mokrousov.

The newspaper Vechernaya Moskva (Evening Moscow) reported yesterday that the parents spoiled Anatoly with too much pocket money and had ignored his school truancy record.

Dispute Halts Space Work

3,700 Workers Stay off Jobs; Talks Set

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A labor union jurisdictional dispute concerning 40 to 50 workers has tied up 44 other projects and $192 million in top-priority space work.

More than 3,700 building and trades workers stayed off their jobs Thursday and planned to do the same today.

New mediation talks were scheduled in an attempt to resume construction on the Merritt Island Moonport, an 88,000-acre tract where the United States is investing $750 million to be first to the moon.

A 2½-hour negotiating session among representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the President's Missile Sites Labor Commission and labor and management was fruitless.

ASKED RETURN

In Washington, Julius E. Kuzma, executive secretary of the Missile Sites Labor Commission, Thursday night asked nine top union officials to order the workers to return to the base.

The controversy involves a 1963 contract which NASA signed with Universal Marion Power and Shovel Co. of Marion, Ohio, to build two giant crawler-transporters — tracked vehicles each half the size of a football field which are to carry Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rockets from an assembly building to the launching pad.

Under terms of the $9-million contract, Marion hires union steelworkers to fabricate the crawler parts in Ohio and then brings the same workers to Merritt Island to assemble them.

The building trades unions here contend the assembly work should be handled by ironworkers and millwrights who normally work at Cape Kennedy and Merritt Island. They also say that if the steelworkers must do the job, then they must be paid the same wage scale as the two building trades unions.

AVERAGE PAY

The steelworkers average about $3.12 an hour and receive a daily living allowance of $12 in the field. The ironworkers and millwrights average about $4.10 per hour.

Bay City Fire Fatal to Woman Recluse

BAY CITY (UPI) — A 68-year-old woman recluse who lived in a five-room house cluttered with old papers, died yesterday in a fire that destroyed the kitchen area.

The victim was Alma Richter, who died of suffocation.

Fire Chief Mose Auger said the woman apparently started the fire accidentally among rubbish in the kitchen, while preparing to cook some food.

He said every room in the one-story house was piled high with rubbish and old papers. Her body was found near where the fire started, in the kitchen.

After Rude Interruption

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Sidney R. Yates, R-Ill., whose service in the House was interrupted temporarily when he ran unsuccessfully for the Senate in 1962, mailed the first newsletter of his new term yesterday. It began:

"As I was saying when I was so rudely interrupted . . ."

Claim Cubans Being Arrested by Thousands

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exile sources said today that thousands of Cubans, including the father of a captured anti-Castro leader Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, are being rounded up in Cuba.

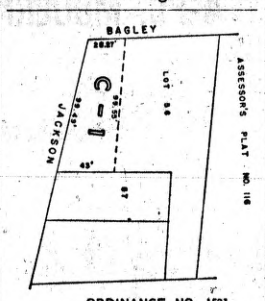

The source said the information was based on telephone contacts with Havana.

Members of Menoyo's organization, the Revolutionary Alliance, said they had been told the arrests had occurred recently in Havana, Oriente and Las Villas provinces.

Menoyo was nabbed by Castro forces in Oriente, eastern Cuba. Exiles said they did not know where Menoyo's father, Dr. Carlos Gutierrez, a Spaniard, was taken after his reported arrest in Havana.

State Police Report

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police report they made 16,518 arrests in December, 15,118 for traffic offenses and 1,400 on criminal complaints. Department vehicles traveled 1.69 million miles during the month.

ORDINANCE NO. 1531
Adopted December 29, 1964
Effective January 6, 1965
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE BUILDING ZONE MAP OF THE CITY OF PONTIAC, MICHIGAN, AS "THE BUILDING ZONE ORDINANCE"

Section 1: The Building Zone Map of the Building Zone Ordinance is hereby amended to provide that the land in the description hereinafter set forth be classified as Commercial 1.

Part of Lot 54 of Assessor's Plat No. 116, City of Pontiac, Oakland County, Michigan, described as beginning at concrete monument at intersection of northerly line of Jackson Street and East line of Bagley Street; thence easterly along northerly line of Jackson Street 99.49 feet to SW corner of Lot 57 of Assessor's Plat No. 116; thence northerly along westerly line of Lot 57, 43 feet to a point; thence westerly 95.55 feet to easterly line of Bagley Street; thence southerly along east line of Bagley Street 28.27 feet to beginning.

Section 2: The change in the Building Zone Map in the above area to Commercial 1 is made pursuant to the recommendation of the City Plan Commission and said Commission is hereby appointed to make a final report upon this amendment to this Commission previous to the public hearing to be held before this amendment is adopted, pursuant to Section 4 of Act No. 207 of the Public Acts of 1921, as amended.

Section 3: That not less than fifteen (15) days notice of the time and place of the public hearing on the final passage of this amendment shall be given in a newspaper of general circulation in this city; that such public hearing is hereby fixed at December 29, 1964.

Section 4: This ordinance shall take effect ten (10) days from and after the date of its passage by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac.
Made and passed by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac, this 29th day of December, A.D. 1964.

U.S. Watches Ypsilanti Preschool Project

YPSILANTI (AP) — The future of preschool education in the United States probably will be influenced by a project at an elementary school in Ypsilanti.

The five-year project is being watched carefully by the nation's top education officials. The Office of Education last year allocated $125,712 to study it. The project was planned in 1962.

The Ypsilanti project involves not only 3- and 4-year-old deprived youngsters, and their specially trained teachers, but the children's parents too.

The problem, said David Weikart, director of special services for the Ypsilanti public schools, was that too many youngsters were finishing the sixth grade at Perry School with a first- or second-grade achievement level.

By sixth grade, it generally was too late for effective remedial efforts, he said. But such children could best be helped at about the age of 3, "at a time before their deficits are very well developed," he added.

The local agency came up with the current program, tried it out, and applied for the federal funds.

Under the plan, about 25 attend morning sessions, learning such basic skills as word and color matching, pegboard manipulation and use of their imaginations, Weikart said.

In another phase of the program, teachers make once-a-week visits to their pupils' homes, giving personal attention to each child's problem areas and teaching the parents to teach the child.

In the third segment of the program, a fathers' group and several mothers' groups meet every three or four weeks to discuss problems of child raising, see films and demonstrations and talk over ways of helping their children progress.

Does all this do any good? Yes, at least in the short run, Weikart said. He has found that in just one year "it's possible to make a dramatic change in the IQ of an individual"—as much as a 22-point increase for the group.

But the question the research project must answer, he said, is whether this "dramatic change" can be maintained over a three- or four-year period.

Weikart and the government hope the Ypsilanti program will help supply that knowledge.

Salesmen Need Glasses

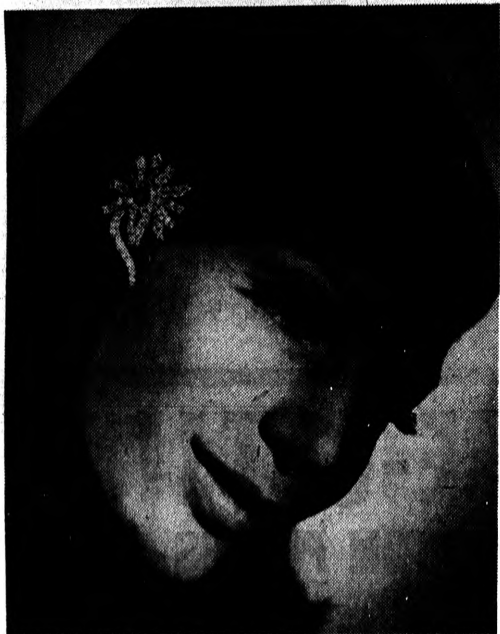

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband works nights and sleeps days. At least he tries to, but with so many salesmen knocking on our door my husband hasn't been able to get much sleep.

ABBY

Well, about two months ago I put a sign on our front door which said, "DO NO KNOCK

FOR ANY REASON—DAY SLEEPER."
All kinds of salesmen came around and beat on our door anyway. This makes our dog bark, and then my husband wakes up.
Last week I put a BIGGER sign on the front door which said, "HE WHO KNOCKS ON THIS DOOR GETS WATER IN HIS FACE."
I want to know, Abby, if I have the right to throw water in the face of a person who White diamond petals surround a round cinnamon diamond in this pin designed by Coleman E. Adler & Sons of New Orleans, a member of the Diamonds-International Academy. The white petals, which appear to move with the light, and the brown center diamond are outlined in yellow gold.

Polished platinum and yellow gold are combined in this pin which is styled with the feeling of a full-blown wild rose. Designed by J. Ortman, Inc., of New York, the pin has a cluster of brilliants at its heart and paved diamonds glittering on every shapely petal.

knocks and wakes up my husband.
HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Anyone who would knock despite the warning you posted, deserves to get water in his face.
But you'd better check with a lawyer about your "right" to soak a salesman, though duly warned.

OU Presents Luther Choir on Saturday

Weston H. Noble will direct the 60 voice a cappella choir of Luther College Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at Oakland University.

A graduate of Luther College, where he is chairman of the music department, Noble holds an MA degree from the University of Michigan.

The Choir, which annually tours the country, is now touring the midwest.

Professor Noble will direct the choir in Nysted's "I Will Praise Thee O Lord" and a variety of selections, closing with "O Lord God" by Tchesnokoff.

Tickets will be available at the door of the Little Theatre.

Diamonds surrounded by rubies, and rubies surrounded by diamonds, make a bouquet any gal would like to pick in this floral pin designed by Zale Jewelry Company of Dallas. Curves of platinum sparkle with baguettes—some set horizontally and some set end-to-end—while a pear-shaped diamond and two brilliants ride the curves.

Goes Behind Psychic Curtain

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Addressing an enthralled audience of 1,500 at a Birmingham Town Hall lecture yesterday morning, Dr. J. Gaither Pratt gave a peek behind the psychic curtain of man's mind.

His subject was Extrasensory Perception (ESP), the unexplained and relatively unexplored phenomena of undirected response by individuals through the sense organ of the brain.

ESP differs from two other forms of mental revelation—clairvoyance and mental telepathy—in that it is a subjective awareness of happenings or mental affinity not consciously activated by the subject.

Clairvoyance, on the other hand, implies foreknowledge of future events, while telepathy is the conscious transference of thought from one mind to another.

Dr. Pratt, for 25 years chief researcher in the parapsychology laboratory of Duke University, has carried on experiments in the United States and many foreign countries.

STANDS ALONE
The authority stressed that ESP has little in common with occultism or mysticism, nor to any appreciable extent with religion.

It is rather an embryonic science which, as research broadens and deepens, could well supply the key to presently locked recesses of human nature.

Dr. Pratt cited these provocative results contributing to a basic foundation of enlightenment in the realm of ESP:

• Experiments by Russians in 1962 showed that a hypnotist, insulated in a sealed, demagnetized metal cabinet, could still exert hypnotic effect in a subject nearby.

• The discovery that dreams could be produced in the minds of sleeping persons, their eyes turning upward, remaining fixed or moving horizontally as the researcher concentrated on an ascending missile, a stationary surface or a moving object.

• Anyone has ESP potentiality, some more than others, with probability that the force can be developed.

• The likelihood that animal life is similarly endowed, with substantiation in the form of the unexplained orientation of homing pigeons; or the return of fish (notably salmon) after years at sea to spawn in the waters where they were spawned.

"There is ready explanation," said Dr. Pratt, "for the sensation common to most people—that of sensing that the locality one is in or an undertaking is a repetition of a similar happening in the indefinite past.

"Such sensations," he explained, "are the result of related dreams, either unrealized or forgotten, brought to the mind's surface by some comparable detail of the present experience."

DISTURBING GHOSTS

The scientist took a look at poltergeists—figuratively that is, since they are presumably ghost forms—whose machinations periodically make news.

Usually the invisible beings manifest themselves in the nature of disturbances and strange goings-on in inhabited premises.

"But," said he, "though the public is apt to dismiss them as creations of overheated imaginations, there have been too many such incidents authenticated by unimpeachable authorities to categorically reject them."

The lecture at the Birmingham Theater was followed by the usual "question-and-answer" luncheon at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Asked by one of the group, predominantly women, which sex had the greater propensity toward ESP, Dr. Pratt proved himself a top-flight diplomat as well as scientist.

OBVIOUS ANSWER

Choosing words carefully, he said that women, no doubt because of their preoccupation with caring for members of their families and anticipating wants, probably had a higher degree of subconscious mental perception.

Shucks, Doctor, any husband could have told you that—but not as scientifically.

Guest Is Distressed by Her Diet

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When a person is dieting, shouldn't she refuse invitations to dine out?

I have always felt that it was impolite and very unfair to the hostess to accept an invitation to dinner and then not eat any of the food she proffers.

A: To accept an invitation to dinner and then refuse dish after dish that is proffered, is not only impolite but cannot fail to distress the hostess.

If on a strict diet, one should refuse a dinner invitation explaining to the hostess the reason. If the hostess then urges her coming anyway, not eating is excusable.

But even so, to sit with an empty plate throughout a meal makes one a seemingly reproachful dinner guest and one should take at least a little food on the plate and make a pretense of eating.

Q: When a boy invites a girl to go ice skating with him, does courtesy exact that he help her put on her skates?

A: Although she will very probably refuse his offer, it is courteous for him to ask, "Can I help you with your skates?"

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Designer Marc Bohan of Paris' Christian Dior fashion house showed this design at his spring collection. It is flat and straight, lightly belted, minus collar, cross-wrapped and double breasted. Like others, this year, Bohan belted his mannequins' middles.

Diamonds on Display Are Fabulous

Variety unique in diamond jewelry design, ranging from traditional treatments of the gems to imaginative combinations of diamonds with other stones, describes the 1965 Diamonds-International Academy Collection premiered this week at the Diamond Ball at the Plaza Hotel in New York.

Twenty-four members of the Diamonds-International Academy created designs for the 1965 Collection.

Academy members are jewelers who have received Diamonds-International awards in three different years and who are invited to show pieces of their own choosing in the annual Academy collection.

104 CARATS

The "show-stopper" of the Collection was a 104-carat pear-shaped diamond of an unusual bronze color forming the pendant for a necklace set with 410 diamonds.

The "Great Chrysanthemum," as designer Julius Cohen describes the stone, hangs from a flexible vine-like necklace of 18-karat yellow gold and platinum set with diamonds in a mixture of oval, marquise and tapered baguette cuts.

This year's proceeds from the ball will be used to extend hospitality and assistance to foreign exchanges and distinguished foreign visitors at its new headquarters building on United Nations Plaza.

Rosemary Park

College Prexy to Visit

Miss Rosemary Park, Barnard College president, will be guest of honor on Monday at a luncheon in the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. William T. Gossett, a Barnard trustee.

Invited to the luncheon and to meet informally with Miss Park, the only woman to be a college president twice, are Detroit metropolitan area Barnard alumnae.

Expected from the area are Mrs. John F. Gregory, president of the Barnard College Club of Detroit; Mrs. Parbury P. Schmidt; Mrs. Edwin S. Hartshorn Jr.; Mrs. Hugh W. Greenberg, Mrs. Howard L. Beer, Mrs. Harold M. Sader, Mrs. Robert C. Oliver, Mrs. Dayton O. Slater Jr. and Mrs. Paul C. Pearce of Oxford.

DINNER MEETING

Miss Park will participate in a dinner meeting and forum sponsored by the Columbia Club of Michigan, later that day in the executive dining-room of the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn.

The subsequent discussion is entitled "The Explosion in the 'Knowledge Industry'." Other participants will be Dean David B. Truman of Columbia College and Associate Dean George A. Perera of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University.

Barnard College, founded in 1889, was the first institution of higher education for women in New York City. It is the independent women's undergraduate college at Columbia University.

'Y' Sponsors Yoga Class

A class for women in yoga will begin at the YWCA on Thursday at 10 a.m. There are still a few places open.

Mrs. John Will will concentrate on teaching the method of relaxation and deep breathing.

A rug or mat is required and it's suggested pupils wear loose clothing with no back zippers.

STEPHANIE SWAB

June vows are planned by Stephanie Swab, Hillsdale College senior, and Ensign Richard Allen Sisung, USN, of Newport, R. I., son of the Rollin Sisungs of Buckthorn Road. She is the daughter of Mrs. Marlin C. Swab, Shaker Heights, Ohio, and the late Mr. Swab.

'Ikebana' Demonstration Slated for Foxcroft Unit

Mrs. Lawson M. McKenzie of Wing Lake will present an "Ikebana Demonstration" before members of Foxcroft Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association on Monday.

She is a member of Ikebana International, a Japanese cultural organization, founded in Tokyo, Japan, in 1956. Its purpose is to stimulate and perpetuate the study of Ikebana throughout the world.

Refreshments will follow the 12:30 p.m. meeting in the Birmingham Federal Savings and Loan Building at Maple and Lahser.

New members Mrs. Paul B. Woods, Mrs. Donald Overy, Mrs. J. L. Gailey and Mrs. Edmond Guyer will be welcomed.

Mrs. Joseph Morris has accepted the office of vice president for the rest of the club year.

Plans are being drawn for the Maple Road entrance which is the branch landscape project for spring.

Miss Hoffman to Take Vows

The Sam Hoffmans of Sylvan Shores Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann Jane to John May, son of the Harry Mays of Ulica.

Miss Hoffman is a graduate of the Mercy School of Nursing, Ann Arbor Unit. She holds a bachelor of science degree in public health nursing from the University of Michigan where she is a part-time graduate student.

Her fiancé, also a U. of M. graduate, is working on his master's degree at the university.

Mrs. Steinhart Plays Hostess

Mrs. Earl M. Steinhart, Kettering Avenue, president of the Child Culture Club, was hostess Thursday for the club's regular meeting.

"How Would You Like to Spend Your Leisure Time" was the theme presented.

Plans were discussed for the revelation banquet to be held at Rotunda Inn on Feb. 11.

Polly's Pointers

Cup Hooks for Cords

DEAR POLLY—I detest lamp cords looking like snakes behind the furniture and on the floor.

My husband installed two cup hooks about six inches apart on the back of end tables, phonograph, etc. so I can loop the excess lamp cords around the hooks and keep the unsightly and bothersome cords off the floor. Easier when cleaning, too.

—MARTHA

DEAR POLLY—If you have needed a blotter and the only one to be found had so much ink on it that it was impossible to use it, you will like this.

I use a paper napkin as a blotter and it works perfectly. I leave one in my household account book so it is ready when I want to make an entry.

I wanted to give a young friend a new bedspread but her mother could not get her to decide on the color she preferred. She was completely baffled.

I thought of "Polly's net" (nylon net) which I bought in white for the spread and dust ruffle. I purchased several yards of beading that ribbon is run through and used it to make the young lady's monogram in the center of the top of the spread.

Each letter is about 12 inches high and I ran pink ribbon through the beading letters. A pink sheet is used under the spread.

A change of ribbon and a sheet dyed the proper color are all that are necessary to make a complete color change. Both mother and daughter were delighted.—H.K.

Spice up your daily work routine with some of the ingenious hints featured in Polly's 32-page booklet.

To order, send your name, address and 50c to: Polly's Pointers, in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. I am following your Beauty Improvement Plan to lose 15 pounds in the next six weeks. I find that chewing gum helps me when I think of snacking between meals. What about the calories in gum? Will this ruin my chances for losing weight successfully?

A. You would have to be a marathon chewer in order to have the calories count up importantly. However, be moderate.

Q. I am 5 feet 5½ inches tall and weigh 135 pounds. I have a medium bone structure. My bust measures 35 inches, waist 31 inches and hips 39 inches.

I know that I am out of proportion. What is wrong and what can I do?

A. You are not overweight. In fact you are just right! I am surprised that your waistline is that large. This may be partly a question of build.

However, I suspect that lax abdominal muscles and poor posture play an important part. You should lose a couple of inches from your hips and two or three inches from your waistline.

DO EXERCISES

I recommend that you do abdominal and hip exercises faithfully. Also watch your posture.

If you allow your abdomen to protrude, this can add a couple of inches to your waist measurement. The exercises for the abdomen will tighten up those muscles and also discourage any fatty deposits in that area.

Q. I am a natural blonde. My brows and lashes are extremely blonde, just like my hair. I need to highlight them with makeup, but when I do it looks harsh. What shall I do?

A. You are using mascara and eyebrow makeup which is much too dark. Use very light browns and apply the makeup with a light hand.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Jack Valentine of Oxford announce the engagement of their daughter, Penny Lee to Airman 3.C. Barry Lee Cascale, son of the Cecil A. Wheelers of Auburn Road, Pontiac Township. The bride-elect attends Northwood Institute, Midland, and her fiancé is stationed at England AFB in Louisiana.

It Stays Up With No Help

A new roll-on adhesive is designed to hold up stockings without need of garters.

The substance, in liquid form, washes off both leg and stocking with plain water and without leaving a trace. It is suggested particularly for use under tight-fitting outerwear such as stretch slacks, knits and sheath dresses.

Missionaries Give Talks

Six missionaries of the First Baptist Church spoke before the Women's Home and Missionary Society Thursday. The program was entitled "Women Talk."

Speakers were Mrs. Phil Christiansen, Southern Rhodesia; Pearl Hiles, and Isabelle Jones, Congo; Mrs. James Savage, Peru and South America; Mrs. Hector McMillan, also the Congo, and Mrs. Gerald Troutman, Nigeria.

Introducing the program was Mrs. Enoch Eley. Mrs. Gordon Hicks and Mrs. Ralph Pardee were also participants.

Used Shoes Are Valuable

HAMTRAMCK (AP) — For long time Frank Bolek had been saving money from his weekly pay to buy Christmas presents for his wife and four children.

He saved $330 and hid it in the toe of an old shoe.

His wife, not knowing of the cache, threw out the shoe with some trash. Seven members of the garbage collection unit of the city, hearing of Bolek's misfortune sifted 40,000 pounds of rubbish, giving up their lunch periods to look.

They found the shoe and the currency in good condition, then refused to accept any reward.

Fancy Tie Fools Farmer

HUNTER, Kan. (AP) — Warren Heller, a farmer here, was having trouble with his necktie getting into his feed as he ate at the annual Methodist church bazaar here.

He finally stuffed the obstreperous tie into the front of his shirt.

His wife, who was working in the kitchen, at last noticed his plight and asked: "Why are you wearing a belt from one of my dresses as a tie?"

New Rolling Pin

A new, extra-long rolling pin is finished with a no-stick substance so that even sticky dough can be washed off quickly with soap or detergent suds.

Country Club Reception Followed Recent Vows

A reception in the Atlas Valley Golf and Country Club followed the recent marriage of Charlene Wurtz to Pfc. Benjamin G. Cutter Jr., in the Holy Family Church, Grand Blanc.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wurtz of Grand Blanc and the senior Cutters of Mapleview Avenue, West Bloomfield Township.

DESIGNED GOWN

The bride designed her gown of white crepe touched with Belgian lace, with skirt and cathedral train overlaid with English silk illusion. Matching lace framed her head-dress.

She carried her mother's Bible covered with white roses and Stephanotis.

Honor maid, Judy Sherran of Flint, and bridesmaids, Noreen Cutter and the bride's cousin, Maria Wallace of Chicago, wore red velvet gowns and held matching muffs topped with pink camellias.

With best man John Murphy of Rochester, N.Y. were the groomsmen Richard Hamm, Orchard Lake; and

MRS. B. G. CUTTER JR.

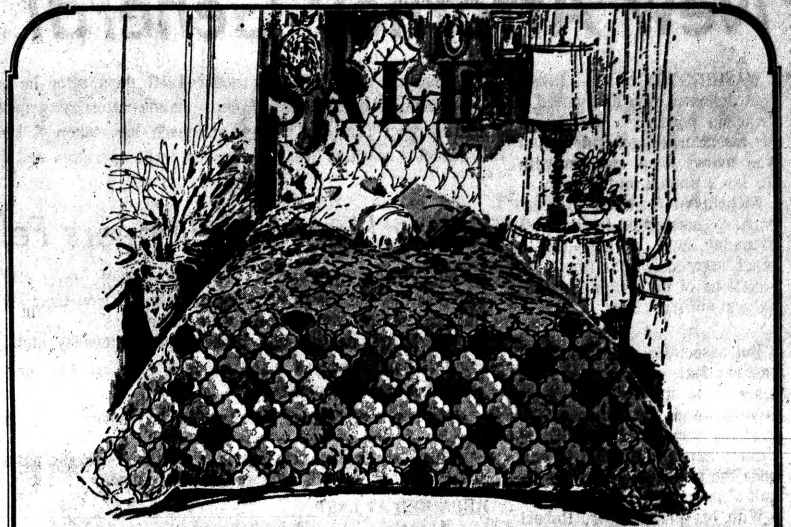

David Donahue, Farmington. Richard Cutter of Pontiac and Charles Cutter of Kalamazoo ushered.

GOING TO GERMANY

The bride, a graduate of Flint Junior College, will continue her studies in Germany where her husband will be stationed at Stuttgart with the U.S. Army. He attended FJC and the University of Richmond in Virginia.

Get a Hobby

Tranquilizer Substitute

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE U-491: Grant Biddle is a star salesman for Editor and Publisher, the weekly magazine of the newspaper profession.

He is the advertising representative of that journal throughout the Middle West.

"Dr. Crane," he began as we had lunch together recently, "do you know what my main hobby consists of?"

I shook my head.

"It's art," he replied. "I spend my spare time sketching and painting."

RELAXING

"This hobby not only relaxes me better than medical tranquilizers, but it even pays its own way."

"Although I am not a Raphael or Rembrandt by any means, I sell $300 to $500 worth of paintings per year."

"And that sum pays for all the art materials that I use, so my hobby doesn't cost me anything and it relieves my tension."

HOBBIES VS. TRANQUILIZERS

Mr. Biddle has mentioned a very profound point from the field of practical psychiatry, namely, the fact that hobbies are often far superior to chemical tranquilizers.

Obviously, this is a hectic, competitive modern world. And if you are to win your spurs, you simply MUST be under tension during the fighting hours while on the job.

But many people can't then lay their troubles down after the quitting whistle blows! They carry their tensions over into their idle or recreational hours.

So they consult us doctors for sedatives and sleeping pills and tranquilizers.

SOME DRINK

Or they go to a tavern and swill down costly liquor till they are half unconscious.

Or they become chain smokers.

Many of our leading physicians and surgeons have also developed the same constructive hobby that Grant Biddle has chosen.

For surgeons are under terrific tension while at the operating table.

Maybe it is also a relief for them to get away from disease and sickness and pathology as they flee into the beautiful realm of painting or sketching.

But I have noted a very large number of medical and dental surgeons who have spontaneously picked art as their hobby.

Music is also a splendid outlet, and so is horticulture, including rose gardening, etc.

Even if you aren't a semi-professional painter like Grant Biddle, who sells enough each year to pay for his pigments, brushes and other equipment, at least you can save yourself the cost of nightly sleeping pills and chemical tranquilizers.

So shop around for a hobby that fits your personality. And do so long before you retire on Social Security, for this world can be fascinating as long as you live if you have something worthwhile to do.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

New Attorney General Is Champion of the Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who has vowed a "war on poverty," has chosen for his attorney general a man who avows deep concern with the law's impact on the poor.

Nicholas deBelleville Katzenbach, 43, nominated for the post Thursday, may be expected to react vigorously and firmly to violations of civil rights, criminal and antitrust laws.

But associates who know him best say Katzenbach hopes to do more — to initiate as well as enforce. And the brunt of his initiative, they predict, will be thrown into a campaign to balance the scales of justice on behalf of the nation's poor.

With his predecessor, Robert F. Kennedy, Katzenbach was a guiding force in establishing the office of criminal justice within the department. Its aim is to ensure, as Kennedy put it, that the department is "more than a department of prosecution and is, in fact, a Department of Justice."

Thus, lawyers of the fledgling office of criminal justice heaved a sigh of relief Thursday when Katzenbach's selection was announced 147 days after he became acting attorney general. Katzenbach has taken a keen interest in its operation and demands frequent reports on its progress in such fields as bail, pretrial publicity, legal counsel for the poor and wire tapping.

Know How the Pioneers Felt

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The Charles Kelly family of Traverse City got the furnace going again but now their six children may be coming down with the mumps.

The Kellys' heating unit broke down Wednesday night. No parts could be found for it in Traverse City or neighboring communities.

The temperature over the last 24 hours hovered around zero.

Finally, a Chicago wholesaler found the necessary parts and shipped them to Traverse City via airplane.

REPAIRED AT LAST

The furnace was repaired yesterday afternoon.

Then 6-year-old Danny — the oldest of the children who just got over the measles — came down with the mumps.

Says Mrs. Kelly of her plight: "I was sure they would fix the furnace, but Danny is the first of the kids to have the mumps."

"Now I know how the pioneers must have felt."

mands frequent reports on its progress in such fields as bail, pretrial publicity, legal counsel for the poor and wire tapping.

GOES BEYOND

But his concern goes beyond the plight of the poor who have been accused of crimes. His remarks to a recent conference considering the subject bear new relevance as he assumes the nation's top legal post: "There are large numbers of poor people, for example, who discovered they have a binding obligation to pay a finance company for a TV set that never worked. There are large numbers whose public assistance is reduced or revoked — who have no concept of their rights of appeal."

"These are the people on whose behalf President Johnson has undertaken the war against poverty. These are the people whose problems constitute the new area of public concern — indeed the new area of law with which we are dealing."

It is in this field, one top aide said Thursday, that Katzenbach will attempt to leave his mark as the nation's 65th attorney general.

So far, the mark has been as a tough enforcer of federal laws and court orders. Katzenbach is best known for two of the most dramatic clashes of the civil rights movement.

FACED WALLACE

In July 1963, he faced Gov.

George C. Wallace at the "schoolhouse door" at the University of Alabama, from which Wallace was attempting to bar two Negroes in violation of federal court orders. Katzenbach laid down the law and the students were registered.

It was Katzenbach who acted as Robert Kennedy's field commander at the University of Mississippi in the fall of 1962 when rioting erupted over the admission of a Negro, James Meredith.

A bald-headed bear of a man — 6 feet 2, 215 pounds — Katzenbach is highly respected around the Justice Department whose corridors he frequently prowls in his slow ambling gait. His reaction to the news was characteristically modest. He told newsmen "I'll do the best job I can."

College Named for Ike Gets Charter in N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Board of Regents granted a charter Thursday for a new, four-year liberal arts college near Seneca Falls named for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Ground-breaking on the 300-acre site overlooking Cayuga Lake is expected later this year. The first classes for the proposed co-educational college are planned for 1967. Officials hope the enrollment will reach 1,200 to 1,500.

Indoor Dash Mark Set

New Claimant to Title of 'World's Fastest Human'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Perry, 19-year-old son of a New York janitor, had just equalled the world's indoor record for the 60-yard dash, 5.9 seconds, and was being besieged by reporters.

"It feels good," the Fordham junior said in answer to the inevitable question: "How do you feel?"

"It feels good to be the world's fastest human."

If there was any malice, any small dart aimed at Bob Hayes, it wasn't apparent. Sam said it with a straight face. Hayes, the Florida A&M flash who set the record in New York a year ago and then won the Olympic 100 meters, had proudly worn that title for two years.

Now he's turned pro and off the indoor track circuit, but still very much on young Sam's mind.

"The competition isn't as severe this year," said Perry, who missed the Olympics because of a leg injury. "That makes it tougher on me. There's no one pushing me. I have to push myself. That's tough."

GARDEN RUN

It certainly didn't look tough Thursday night when Perry won the 60 before a crowd of 15,952 watching the Wanamaker-Mil-rose Games in Madison Square Garden.

The four finalists in the 60 had to sweat out two false starts before they got away. Perry, running against Olympic sprinters Paul Drayton and Mel Pender, and Ed Roberts, got a good start and had a clear-cut lead by 30 yards. He won it by at least a yard and with the victory nailed down the award as the meet's outstanding athlete.

Was he shooting for a 5.9, equalled only by Hayes?

"Everytime I go off the blocks I'm leaping at 5.9," he said.

So now maybe 5.8? "I'll keep trying," he said. "But I'm concentrating on 5.9. That's what I'm going for. If it comes up 5.8, well, so much the better."

Perry, overshadowed by

Hayes for two years and knocked out of the Olympics by his leg trouble, was easily the highlight of a surprisingly so-so meet that opened a three-city, three-meet indoor track week-end.

NEXT STOP

He's skipping the Telegram-Maple Leaf Games in Toronto tonight, but will be in Boston for the Boston A.A. Games Saturday.

Bill Crothers, the Toronto pharmacist who won the half-mile easily, by 10 yards in 1:51.2, is going to make all three. Crothers, unbeaten indoors this winter, said:

"I'm not going for any records now. I'm just running for fun. This was a very comfortable race. If I have to run fast enough for a record, maybe I will, but I didn't have to here."

Some of the other major winners included John Whetton of England in 4:05.4 in the mile; George Young of Phoenix in an 8:48.4 two-mile; Pamela Amore of Australia, who equalled her own pending women's 440-yard mark of 55.6; Tommy Farrell of Jamaica, N.Y., in a 1:10.5 600, and Roger Morgan of Northeast Louisiana State in a 7.1 60-yard high hurdles.

PNH Ailing for Game at Walled Lake

Rochester Is 62-51 Victim of Cousino 5

Full League Schedule Slated for Local Prep Quintets Tonight

If Pontiac Northern coach Dick Hall can plug a couple of holes, get the usual scoring effort from Roger Hayward, he and the Huskies can return from Walled Lake tonight with at least a share of the Inter-Lakes League basketball title.

A victory would give PNH its third championship in a row.

The holes Hall must fill were left by 6-4 Larry Frye and 6-1 Ted Rabaja, both nursing sore ankles.

On the plus side Hall has Hayward, a 6-4 guard - forward who is averaging 23.7 points a game. The Huskies are 3-0 in league competition and 5-4 over-all. Walled Lake owns a 1-2 loop mark and 5-6 season record.

SECOND GAME

Another I-L game finds Waterford (4-4) playing host to Farmington (4-7).

In a game played last night, Rochester continued its anemic shooting and took a 62-51 loss at the hands of Warren Cousino.

Cousino shot 44 per cent compared to Rochester's 22 per cent from the floor. The Falcons netted only 15 field goals, but had the range at the free throw line with 21 of 30.

Drew Pisha led Cousino with 21, while Bob Mills' 13 paced the losers. Losing Bob McDonald on fouls in the third quarter hurt Rochester which went into the final period in close range, 40-38.

In the Wayne-Oakland League, West Bloomfield (5-3) journeys to Bloomfield Hills (6-1) for the top game. Others have Brighton (1-7) at Clarkston (4-4), Holly (6-2) at Northville (5-2) and Milford (3-5) plays host to Clarenceville (1-7).

Orchard Lake St. Mary (9-1) plays host to Waterford Our Lady of Lakes (3-7) and a victory will give the OLSM squad at least a share of the North-West Parochial League crown.

St. Michael (6-4) has a home assignment with Royal Oak St. Mary (7-3) providing the opposition and the Mikemen could move into a tie with the Irish for third with a victory.

St. Frederick (1-10) journeys to Detroit to meet St. Agatha (1-9). Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows (9-2) is idle.

FERNDALE HOME

In the Southeastern Michigan Association, league - leading Ferndale (5-0) is home against Southfield (2-3), Berkley (1-4) travels to Royal Oak Kimball (3-2) and Hazel Park (2-3) journeys to Birmingham Seaholm (2-3).

Over in the Tri-County League, Lapeer (4-0) takes on winless L'Anse Creuse (4-0) and Oxford (1-3) plays host to Romeo (3-1). Kettering is idle.

SPORTS

College Redshirts, AFL 'Incompatible'

By The Associated Press

Darrell Royal and the Southeastern Conference have no love for the American Football League, AFL Commissioner Joe Foss doesn't like redshirting, George Sauer Jr. has no scholarship and Darrell Royal doesn't have George Sauer Jr.

That was the linescore today in the latest installment of what appears to be an endless controversy in present-day football.

Moving from secret drafts to double signings to early signings, football has arrived at Sauer, a star pass receiver on Royal's Texas team who has relinquished his college scholarship in anticipation of a professional contract with the New York Jets of the AFL.

Royal is incensed that Sauer, son of Jets' personnel director George Sauer Sr., would pass up his final season of eligibility at Texas to turn pro. Sauer has the 1965 season left - even though his original class graduates in June - because he was redshirted as a sophomore in 1962.

HELD OUT

A redshirt is a player who is withheld from varsity competition for one season, usually in his sophomore year, in the hope he can be of more help to his team in his fifth year of school.

Sauer declined to say Thursday night whether he will sign a pro contract but did say, "I definitely will not use my fifth year of football eligibility at Texas."

He also said he has moved from his room in the athletic dormitory and has paid his own tuition and fees for the spring semester. He will need only 10 credits after the spring term for graduation as a mathematics major.

Royal doesn't want to lose Sauer.

"We've wet nursed him through three years and toughed him up and now just when we're getting ready to capitalize on him, bam, he's gone," the coach said.

But Royal also threatened to bar all AFL personnel from Texas practice fields, dressing rooms and press boxes if the Jets sign Sauer now.

The Jets, incidentally, say they didn't go to Sauer but that he announced his interest in turning pro immediately.

If the pass catcher does go with the Jets, he by no means will be the first collegian to pass.

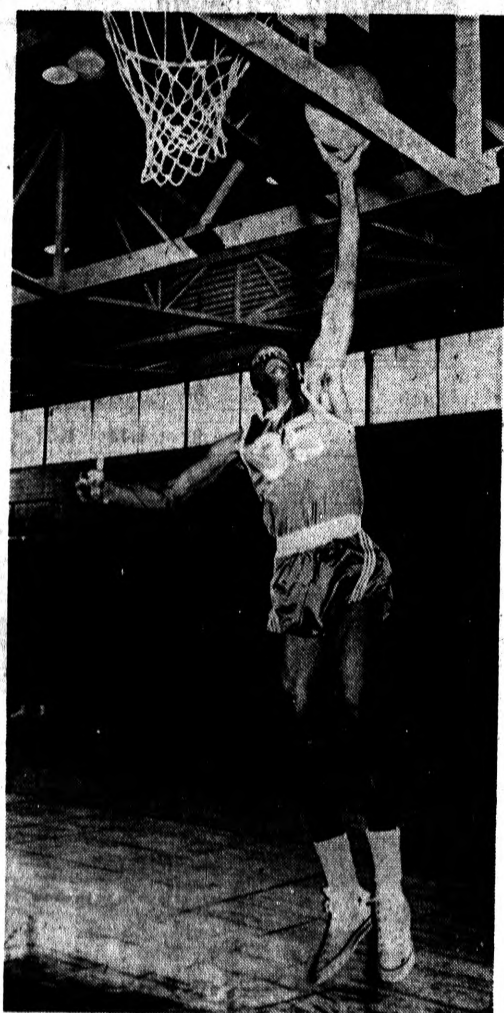

St. Mike Product Is Out at Aquinas

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Scho-lastic ineligibility has sliced five members from the Aquinas College basketball roster. Coach Richard Dornbos reported Thursday. Two were freshmen regulars on the varsity squad. The loss came as Aquinas awaited tonight's invasion by powerful Northern Michigan College.

Dornbos was informed Wednesday that studies had tripped up regulars Steve Bird and Mike Pope, along with Paul Deginhart, Denny Lyk and Lou Thomas from the junior varsity ranks.

Pope is from Pontiac St. Michael.

QUICK HANDS — Mid-season addition Ken Nevels of the Pontiac Nationals has provided added speed and defensive quickness to the backcourt while averaging close to 10 points a game. He will see plenty of playing time tomorrow night against league-leading Benton Harbor at Pontiac Northern High School.

Ex-All-America Is Pontiac Pro Foe Saturday

When Benton Harbor invades Pontiac Northern's gym tomorrow night to clash with the Nationals in a North American Basketball League game at 8:15 p.m., local fans will have the chance to see high caliber basketball.

The league-leading Twin City Sailors boast a lineup that can keep former Loyola of Chicago All-America Jerry Harkness on the bench.

The 6-2 forward has not lost the sharpness, either, that earned him such recognition two seasons ago. He has been particularly destructive against Pontiac, entering the three previous tilts as the Sailors' No. 6 man.

But the play of 6-6 former American Basketball League star Larry Comley, 6-2 Al Saunders and 6-7 Mack Herndon (both from Bradley), 6-4 Bob James (Western Michigan) and 6-1 John Egan (a Loyola teammate of Harkness) has been too good to break up.

NEW STARTER

Actually, Herndon, a huge pivotman, is a recent acquisition from the Chicago quintet and was slated to replace 6-5 center John Serbin (Cincinnati) in last Saturday's game.

But the weather forced a postponement of that tilt and Herndon will be making his starting debut Saturday. The versatile Harkness will be the top replacement at guard or forward.

Pontiac's Willie Merriweather (Purdue) will carry a 25 point-per-game average into the tilt, second best in the NABL.

NABL commissioner Bob To-dish announced in Grand Rapids this morning that Muskegon's ace center Ed Burton had been fined $100 and suspended for one game and that the Panthers' guard Herschell Turner has been fined $50.

WHAT'S UP? — Golfer Tony Lema gestures that the ball which has been identified in the tree is his. John Dugan of San Leandro, Calif., stands on the shoulders of Billy Casper to identify the ball. Lema took a one-stroke penalty and a double bogie six on the 12th hole in the first round of the Lucky International Open yesterday at San Francisco. Lema shot a 73.

5 Share Lead in Lucky Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three little guys shared the lead with two big fellows today in the Lucky International Open Golf Tournament. Precedent rules against the bruisers.

No hefty pro ever has captured the top prize in the previous four years of this $57,500 tournament.

The three little guys who carried three-under-par 68s into the second round are Jack McGowan of Largo, Fla.; Butch Baird of Carlton Oaks, Calif., and veteran Gardner Dickinson of Lost Tree Village, Fla. Baird at 150 pounds is the heavyweight of this group.

The comparative Goliaths are George Archer of Gilroy, Calif., and Jack Montgomery of Fort Worth, Tex. Archer is 6-foot-6 — big even for a professional golfer — and Montgomery is 6-2. Each weighs 185 pounds.

Gene Littler and Jack Burke at 165 pounds are the heaviest former winners of the Lucky. Gary Player weighed 150 and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez is only 120, including golf shoes.

OTHERS ABSENT

Littler started today at Harding Municipal course at 72, Rodriguez at 73. The two other previous winners are absent.

Billy Casper had a 72 and Tony Lema 73 in the opening round on a day meant for professionals other than favorites.

Billy Martindale of Jacksonville, Tex., was all alone at 69 after 18 holes of the 72-hole event.

There were 10 golfers grouped at 70. After today, 90 of 144 pros will be left to play with the 10 amateurs, who were led by Guy Bill's first-round 72, one-over-par.

Tough Cage Opposition for Two Big Ten Teams

CHICAGO (AP) —Iowa and Illinois face stiff opposition in a hot, Chicago Stadium double-header program today and Saturday.

Iowa, holding second place in the Big Ten title chase with a 4-1 mark, pits its hustling Hawk-eyes against top-ranked UCLA in the Stadium today while Loyola meets No. 3 Wichita in the other game.

In Saturday's twin-bill, Illinois 3-1 in the conference and 10-3 over-all tangles with Notre Dame while Loyola clashes with UCLA.

UCLA's only loss in its last 44 starts, spanning a 30-game winning streak last season en route to the NCAA crown, was to Illinois in December.

While these intersectional tests are expected to pack the stadium, Big Ten championship action is centered on three Saturday afternoon games.

U-M AT PURDUE

Second-ranked Michigan with a 4-0 conference record is at Purdue (1-3), Wisconsin (1-3) at Ohio State (0-3) and Michigan State (0-4) at Northwestern (1-2) for a TV attraction.

MSU forced Michigan into overtime before losing 103-98 Tuesday. In that one, the Wolverines' Cazzie Russell scored a career high of 40 points, eight of them in the extra period.

Russell, with an average of 31.0 points, and Dave Schellhase of Purdue with 26.3, still are running 1-2 in the Big Ten scoring race. The meeting Saturday will be their second. Last Saturday at Michigan, the Wolverines won 103-84 and Russell barely outscored Schellhase, 18 points to 15.

Michigan's Bill Buntin dropped from third to fifth in the point column with 21.0 while Chris Pervall of Iowa and the Spartans' Bill Curtis moved up with 23.0 each.

Others in the top 10 include Ron Sepic, Ohio State, 20.3; Skip Thoren, Illinois, 20.0; Tal Brody, Illinois, 19.0; Lou Hudson, Minnesota, 18.5 and Don Freeman, Illinois, and Stan

Saginaw Contest Costly to Chiefs in Two Ways

Saginaw's Trojans killed two birds with one stone in handing Pontiac Central its first loss on the basketball court last week.

The victory, followed by Tuesday's win over Flint Southwestern, enabled the Trojans (6-1) to tie PCH for the Saginaw Valley Conference lead; and, in the process, the Chiefs' Carl Arnold lost his loop scoring lead.

Moving ahead of Arnold was Saginaw's Roy Hinton, who scored 60 points in two games last week and raised his average for nine outings to 21.3.

The 6-8 Hinton and his teammates have a date at Flint Central (3-4) tonight, and Flint Southwestern (4-3) will entertain PCH.

Arnold scored nine points against the Trojans last week, his lowest game total of the season, and his average dipped from 21.2 to 20.1.

COULD LEAD

Saginaw could take the league lead alone with a victory tonight and another over Bay City Handy Tuesday, since PCH has a non-conference encounter with Waterford Tuesday.

Other games on tonight's SVC slate find Bay City Handy (0-7) at Bay City Central (2-5) and Flint Northern (4-3) at Saginaw Arthur Hill (5-2). Saginaw MacArthur meets Midland (2-6) in a non-conference bout.

Wally Taber Films at Two Locations

Little explored places in Mexico and India are featured in two Wally Taber hunting films that will be shown tomorrow in Walled Lake and Sunday in Pontiac.

"Tigerland" and "Jaguar Safari," both in color, will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Walled Lake High School and at 2:30 p.m. at Pontiac Northern. The programs are sponsored by Multi-Lakes Conservation Association.

Tickets are available at the club house and local merchants. "Tigerland" depicts tiger, lion, cobra, jungle fowl and the rare rhinoceros of India. The film on Mexico portrays the difficulty encountered hunting jaguar.

Ken Venturi on Sidelines for 6 Weeks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — National Open champion Ken Venturi of San Francisco will be off the golf circuit for about six weeks, his physician reports.

Venturi has been troubled recently by circulatory problems in his hands — especially in the fingers of his right hand.

Dr. Robert Woods disclosed Thursday that the golfer underwent surgery a day earlier to confirm a diagnosis of inflammation of the arteries. The operation, performed in Good Samaritan Hospital, involved 15 stitches in Venturi's back and another dozen in his legs.

Venturi, who has been bothered by the ailment for nearly a month, told a sports writer:

"I took a large step backwards when I played in the cold at Pebble Beach. I'm not going to play again until Dr. Woods tells me to."

Dr. Woods, a team physician for the Los Angeles Dodgers, compared Venturi's case with the ailment that sidelined Dodgers pitcher Sandy Koufax in 1962. But he said Venturi's was more extensive.

Middleweights Resume Talks

Planned Fight Is Part of Social Schedule

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Negotiators, reported "close to a deal" Thursday, resumed talks on a possible title bout between middleweight champion Joey Giardello and Ray (Sugar Ray) Robinson in Pittsburgh next June.

Arnold Giovanetti, advisor to Giardello, and Pittsburgh promoters Tim Tormey and Don Elbaum conferred for four hours Thursday over a $75,000 offer for Joey to defend his crown in a nightclub setting.

At the end of the session, Giovanetti said all concerned were rapidly approaching the signing stage but that he still was considering a $75,000 bid from Teddy Brenner, New York matchmaker.

Brenner, who wants to hold the bout in Philadelphia with the opponent, also offered Joey a cut of closed-circuit television revenues, expected to net the titleholder another $25,000.

Holiday House, the suburban Pittsburgh night spot where Tormey and Elbaum would promote the bout, holds 1,000 persons.

Prep Matmen Remain Tied

Walled Lake and Pontiac Northern remained tied for first place in the Inter-Lakes wrestling circuit by posting victories yesterday.

Pontiac Central posted a Saginaw Valley mat victory and Kettering turned in five pins on the way to beating Utica.

CHANGED BASEBALL — Billy Sullivan, long-time baseball star, died yesterday. He invented a chest protector and moved catchers from 20 feet behind home plate to their present position. Sullivan would have been 90 next Monday.

Kell to Tell Tigers' Fans

DETROIT (AP) — John E. Fetzer, owner-president of the Detroit Tigers, said today that George Kell would return to the Tigers' broadcasting staff for the coming season.

Fetzer said Kell would join Ernie Harwell, Gene Osborn and Ray Lane on the broadcast staff. He said Harwell and Osborn will handle radio and Kell and Lane television.

Kell, 42, broadcast Tiger games from 1959 through 1963 when he resigned.

Big Goal for Olympic Cage Coach

By The Associated Press
Hank Iba, who coached the winning United States basketball team in the Tokyo Olympics, would like nothing better than to win the Big Eight Conference championship with his Oklahoma State Cowboys and become the nation's winningest coach among active college mentors.

The veteran 60-year-old, now in his 36th year of coaching, 31 at Oklahoma State, came within sight of both his goals in college basketball Thursday night.

His Cowboys edged Colorado

59-55 in a three overtime game at Stillwater to remain at the top of the Big Eight with a 5-0 mark and 12-4 over-all. The victory also was the 712th of his college career putting him only two behind Kentucky's Adolph Rupp now the nation's winningest coach.

The Oklahoma State story overshadowed the 14th straight of the fourth-ranked Providence Friars, who edged St. Bonaventure 77-76 to remain the nation's only unbeaten major team.

The once-beaten sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats also won their 14th straight by downing East Carolina 82-68. The eighth-ranked San Francisco Dons, the only other team in The Associated Press top Ten to see, were beaten by Arizona 71-56.

Drake edged Tulsa 60-58, Houston nipped Baylor 80-78, New Mexico whipped Texas Western 69-58 and Arkansas overcame Mississippi State 84-69 in other games.

"Winning the conference championship will mean more to me than the Olympics," Iba has said several times. Oklahoma State's victory over Colorado was a giant stride towards that goal.

Two layups by Fred Moulder, and Paul Labrue, both on passes from Larry Hawk, won for the Cowboys in the third extra period. The score was tied 26-26 at halftime, 49-49 at the end of regulation time, 51-51 after the first overtime and 53-53 after the second OT.

St. Bonaventure erased a 12-point deficit as the Bonnies just missed handing Providence its first defeat. It took Bill Blair's two free throws in the last 20 seconds of the game at Providence to keep the Friars' slate clean.

In contrast Davidson, led by Fred Hetzel's 28 points, enjoyed a home court romp against East Carolina. Arizona's defense was the key to the Wildcats' upset of San Francisco at Tucson despite Ollie Johnson's 22 points.

Virginia Tech won its fourth straight, 104-81 over Furman, Ohio U. downed Western Michigan 89-76 and Stanford whipped UC, Santa Barbara 87-57.

No Mistake Made
This Time Around

Messiah Baptist Church, which was incorrectly reported winning a close game earlier this week, made sure there was no mistake last night by ripping McDonald's Drive-In, 78-58.

The game was one of two Class B Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department men's basketball tilts. The other saw the Packers' big rally fall four points shy of Ben Powell Trucking, 72-68.

The losers were down 62-43 entering the final period.

In Waterford Township action, Six R's Construction won its second American League contest, 79-72, over winless Bill's Service as Ken McClintock and Mike Shipman had 22 and 21, respectively.

Jim Chamberlain hit 20 for Bill's which is now 0-4.

The National results found Joe's Bar and Buckner Finance staying high in the race with victories. Joe's topped Frushour & Sturble, 63-61, led by Dave Dodd's 29.

Buckner Finance outplayed winless Beauty-Rite Homes, 59-50, as Jerry Paul scored 17. The winners are 3-1, a half-game behind Joe's Bar (4-1) which, in turn, is percentage points behind the unbeaten leaders — Lyons-Heaton and Hi & Dry Lounge.

Playoff Battle
Looms for Two Area Quintets

Midwestern Baptist Seminary and Michigan Christian Junior College will continue their battle for the final playoff spot in the state Christian College Athletic Association basketball race tomorrow.

Midwestern will be host to Great Lakes Bible College at 3:30 p.m. Saturday on the Emmanuel Christian court in an attempt to even its now 3-4 mark.

The Falcons already have a victory over Great Lakes Bible in Lansing.

Michigan Christian's Warriors (2-4) will visit Detroit's Mumford High School to play the Motor City's Bible College whom they whipped previously at Avondale High School.

The Warriors dropped both games in their trip to the East Coast last weekend for non-conference tilts.

Warriors Shed Losing Streak

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Warrior Coach Alex Hannum applied a time-tested theory — the best offense is defense — Thursday night to break his team's consecutive losing streak at 17 with a 105-90 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

The Warriors, who had set a National Basketball Association record with their 17 straight losses, made winning look easy. Denver set the old loss record of 15 in 1949.

Big Nate Thurmond pushed through 30 points to trigger the Warriors to their overdue victory, and lead them in rebounding and defensive maneuvers.

No other games were played Thursday night.

WELL COVERED

Hannum's tactics worked so well that Oscar Robertson, the Royals' top scorer, was unable to get a clear shot until there was only 1:26 left in the first half.

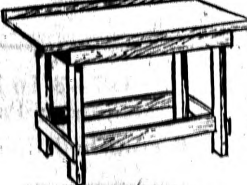

Defensive play held Robertson to only eight points from the floor and four from the free throw line.

Do you doubt that bowling is really big in the sports world? Here are some figures that might interest you.

All the wood required for pins — yes there still are wooden ones — in one year would cover a distance from New York to Iowa — some 1,022 miles.

There are 158,000 American Bowling Congress certified lanes and if they were stretched out end-to-end the approach would be in New York and the strike pocket near Denver, Colo.

You would have to break your hook probably in the Omaha, Neb., area. Were the ball delivered at an average 15 miles per hour speed you'd "see" the hit five days later.

A pin takes quite a pounding during its lifetime. For balls traveling at an average delivery speed, the force at impact is 2,000 pounds.

Going through the pinsetter cycle for 5,000 games, a pin would travel more than 180 miles.

The sport is getting bigger from a financial standpoint for the pros. The richest Professional Bowlers' Association tournament is slated for Akron, Ohio, in April. The Firestone Open will carry a $100,000 purse.

At least 12 of the PBA

Women to Grapple Again at Armory

Women wrestlers are in the spotlight on Saturday night's professional wrestling card Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Armory.

The triple main - event program will have Mary Jane Moll and her midge partner, Diamond Lil, battling Penny Brooks and Darlene Dagmar in a tag-team match.

In the other bouts, Ricky 'Crusher' Cortez meets Brutus (Mr. Clean) and The Student takes on the Negro champion, Duke Noble.

Keglers Can 'Beat Champ'

Qualifying for the "Beat the Champ" TV bowling event continues at 300 Bowl each Saturday and Sunday and another qualifier will come out of the Pontiac establishment.

Last Sunday night, December qualifier, Bob Fardon of Pontiac rolled a 695 to defeat champion Ray Bluth to earn himself a color TV and also a crack at a 1964 automobile when the finals are rolled in March.

There are three houses participating in the program, and the television finals will originate from the 300 Bowl.

Elks' Tourney Will Continue

The eighth annual Elks Ladies National Invitational bowling tournament will resume tomorrow morning with the prospect of continued high scoring.

The opening weekend of action saw last year's winning team score surpassed and last week the 1964 high singles total was eclipsed as Greta Shipplett of Hammond, Ind., hit 600 actual and 687 total to take first place.

She and Pontiac partner Nellie Dudek hold the doubles lead also with 1190 total, although this is well below last year's winning figure.

There were new names in second and third in the doubles, too, both being out-of-town entries. The team and all events leaders remained unchanged.

Opens this winter will boast $5,000 first place prizes. And the Professional Women Bowlers Association will have its biggest prize fund next month at the Kelvinator Tournament of Stars in Oklahoma City, Okla.

SPARE PINS

Pontiac's Monroe Moore resumed his PBA touring this week by competing in the Hialeah-Miami (Fla.) Open. He started strong by finishing second with his partner in the Pro-Am event.

A noteworthy iron-man bowling feat will conclude next weekend when Ervin (Barney) Barnowsky enters St. Joseph's Hospital for an operation that will sideline him from bowling for awhile.

The venerable Pontiac kegger will vie in his 20th consecutive state Knights of Columbus tournament this weekend.

Even more of an accomplishment, though, is the fact he has not missed a night of bowling in the K of C league now at Airway Lanes during those 20 years.

He also bowls during the summer and in two other leagues during the winter. Currently he is averaging in the mid-170s.

Bobby Hull Is Shut Out but Hawks Still Triumph

BOSTON (AP) — Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks is no closer to his hope of a 50-goal season today than he was before Thursday night's game with the Boston Bruins.

But the Bruins, smarting from a 6-2 whipping at Boston Garden Thursday night, can't take much satisfaction in Hull's disappointment. While the hard-shooting star left winger was sending his rockets wide of the Boston nets, teammate Bill Hay came up with two goals and two assists in the second-place Black Hawks' victory.

And Hull's little brother, Dennis, chipped in with a goal in the rout of the Bruins.

But the big factor in the decision was 33-year-old Chicago goalie Glenn Hall.

BOWLING

There were no sweeps and scoring was down generally last Friday in the Huron Bowl Classic League although high game honors were closely contested by Ron Rothbarth (277) and Al Pietz (276).

Rothbarth and Pietz were outdistanced for the best series by Warren Guilds who had 234 — 669 in the J. A. Fredman team's 2986 effort, also the night's best.

In Huron's Monday First Nighter's League, Norma Brown bowled 243 and Ida Wilson 618. That same morning Bernita Blakemore easily surpassed her 67 average with a 117 among the Pontiac Blind Bowlers.

The Pontiac Elks bowling lanes were conquered for a 226-242-689 by Harold Gaster in last Friday's First Federal Savings circuit.

Collier Lanes had its best team effort this season in the House League when Town & Country scored 1100-2996 to regain first place Monday night. Pat Sweeney had 246-224-645, Earl Brown 223-614 and Ken Willhite 238-614.

BIG SERIES

Charley Cappell (636) and Guy Coleman (241-616) paced the 300 Bowl No. 2 team to a 3362 handicap series in this week in the GMC National League at "300."

The Lake Oakland Heights Mixed loop there reported Roland Jakel with 216 and Tom McDonald 212 Monday.

Fran McCallum (543), Phyllis Stein (204-526), Annette Eaton (201-524) and Naoma Johnston (213) were tops among this week's Airway Lanes Queens Bowlers.

Sunday's 6 p.m. Outlaws League listed a 210-218-609 leading effort by Karl Smith, as well as 222 for Mary Krueger and Mary Chenoweth, and 220 for Chuck Wood.

The Lakewood Lanes St. Benedict's Mixed circuit Sunday had a 232 by Ed Austreng and a 215-521 by Blanche Barger. Jean Adams Tuesday had 227-547 among the Cray Junior High School bowlers.

Howe's Lanes Bucks & Does are led by the Tinnhorns whose Norma Wilborne rolled 522 and Curt Wilborn 224 Monday.

Leland (Slim) Gutzke had a 202-212 duo that same night in the Orchard Lanes Mixed All-Star League. Gary Schroeder posted a 210 and Gen Bradley 528.

Moore, Billy 'G' in Keg Field

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dick Weber of St. Louis, fresh off a victory in the All Star last Sunday, led 16 semifinalists into match game play Thursday in the Professional Bowlers Association $35,000 Hialeah Miami Open.

Weber rolled 5,247 over the 24 game qualifying route and edged runner-up Dan Fix of Missoula, Mont., by one pin.

Weber will be seeking his 14th PBA tournament title during the next two days, when the 16 qualifiers will roll 16 games leading up to the four-game final.

Billy "G" of Detroit and Monroe Moore of Pontiac are among the leaders.

Weber, who was running third throughout most of the qualifying rounds, shot 246 in his last game. Fix, leader from the sixth game, rolled 202, for a 5-246.

Weber will try to add $5,000 first prize money to the $15,000 he won Sunday in Philadelphia.

FACING THE WORLD ALONE

What a Widow Must Learn

by Mrs. Donn Sutton

Statistically, a vast percentage of American wives will one day be confronted with the ordeal of losing their husbands through death. A host of problems, spiritual as well as material, immediately descend upon the widow.

Now, writing for NEA, Mrs. Donn Sutton details in a four-part series some of these problems and presents suggestions toward building a new life to such people.

Mrs. Sutton is the wife of the late Donn Sutton, editor of Newspaper Enterprise Association, who died in 1960.

She examines such compelling questions as:

How do you spot a 'widow vulture'?

When to date and whom.

Is there a real cure for grief?

How to avoid withering away.

Does travel help to forget?

This Series Begins Tuesday, February 2nd

Area Credit Unions Set Meetings

Five large credit unions in the Pontiac area are planning annual meetings during the next three weeks.

GMTC Employees Federal Credit Union will hold its 29th annual meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium at Pontiac Northern High School.

Members will be shown a report of the credit union's progress for the past 10 years on colored slides.

Following the meeting a stage show will be presented and refreshments served in the school cafeteria. A capacity crowd of 1,000 members is expected.

Also tomorrow night, Body Crafters Federal Credit Union and Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union will hold their annual meetings.

DINNER MEETING

At the Body Crafters meeting at Waterford Township High School, members will be served a full course dinner before the meeting and show are held.

The Chief Pontiac meeting will be held at their credit union building on Joslyn.

Pontiac Co-op Federal Credit Union will hold a Sunday afternoon meeting again this year. It is scheduled for Feb. 7 at Pontiac Elks Temple.

Members are invited to bring children to the affair and a special movie will entertain the youngsters while the business meeting is being held. This will be followed by entertainment and a beef buffet.

Pontiac Telephone Employees Credit Union will also have a Sunday afternoon meeting Feb. 14 at the CAI Building in Waterford.

It will feature a family-style roast beef dinner and special entertainment for the children.

Busy Trio Handles County Call Center

Tucked away in the basement of the ultra-modern courthouse at the Oakland County Service Center is one of the county's busiest and least publicized operations — the telephone exchange.

The nerve center of county government handles some 2,750 calls a day, according to the supervisor, Mrs. Frank Bale of 120 Blaine.

Most of the time the Michigan Bell three-station board is handled by two regular operators, Mrs. Ray E. Harrington of 3221 Seebaldt, Waterford Township, and Mrs. Lowell Stack, 561 E. Montcalm.

But the board frequently gets busy in midmorning and Mrs. Bale lends a hand.

There are 326 calling stations connected to the board, plus an additional 193 pickups; a total of 519 telephones in the system.

BY NAME

Most callers ask for a party or office by name, rather than extension number. The operators have memorized most of the extensions, however, and seldom have to look one up.

In case they do, they have a quick reference alphabetical listing right in front of them.

Callers unfamiliar with the county governmental structure sometimes direct their questions or complaint directly to the operators.

In these cases, the operators politely explain their position and then connect the caller to the proper office or department.

BOOKKEEPING

Mrs. Bale, a 15-year-veteran of county telephone service, spends most of her time with bookkeeping chores, which are considerable with a monthly telephone bill of between $5,000 and $6,000.

She also relieves the two operators during their lunch hours, midmorning and mid-afternoon breaks, in addition to helping out during peak hours.

Mrs. Harrington has been with the county five years and Mrs. Stack three years.

All were given special training by Michigan Bell when the automatic dial board was installed at the courthouse in 1962.

START EARLY

They report for work at 8 a. m. but don't open the board until 8:25, five minutes before county offices are opened.

They close the board at 5 p. m. and it remains closed on Saturdays.

There are 18 night connections in the building, however, that can be reached by dialing a separate seven-digit number for each.

The girls are in the process of updating the county's inter-departmental telephone directory, which will be published sometime next month.

State Highway Concept

How to Use Wide Track

Designed for traffic patterns of the 1980s, Pontiac's loop road—Wide Track Drive—has confused and angered local motorists.

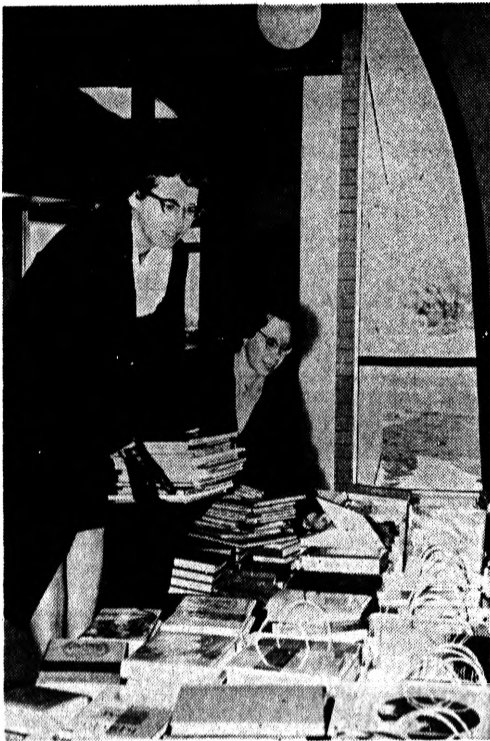

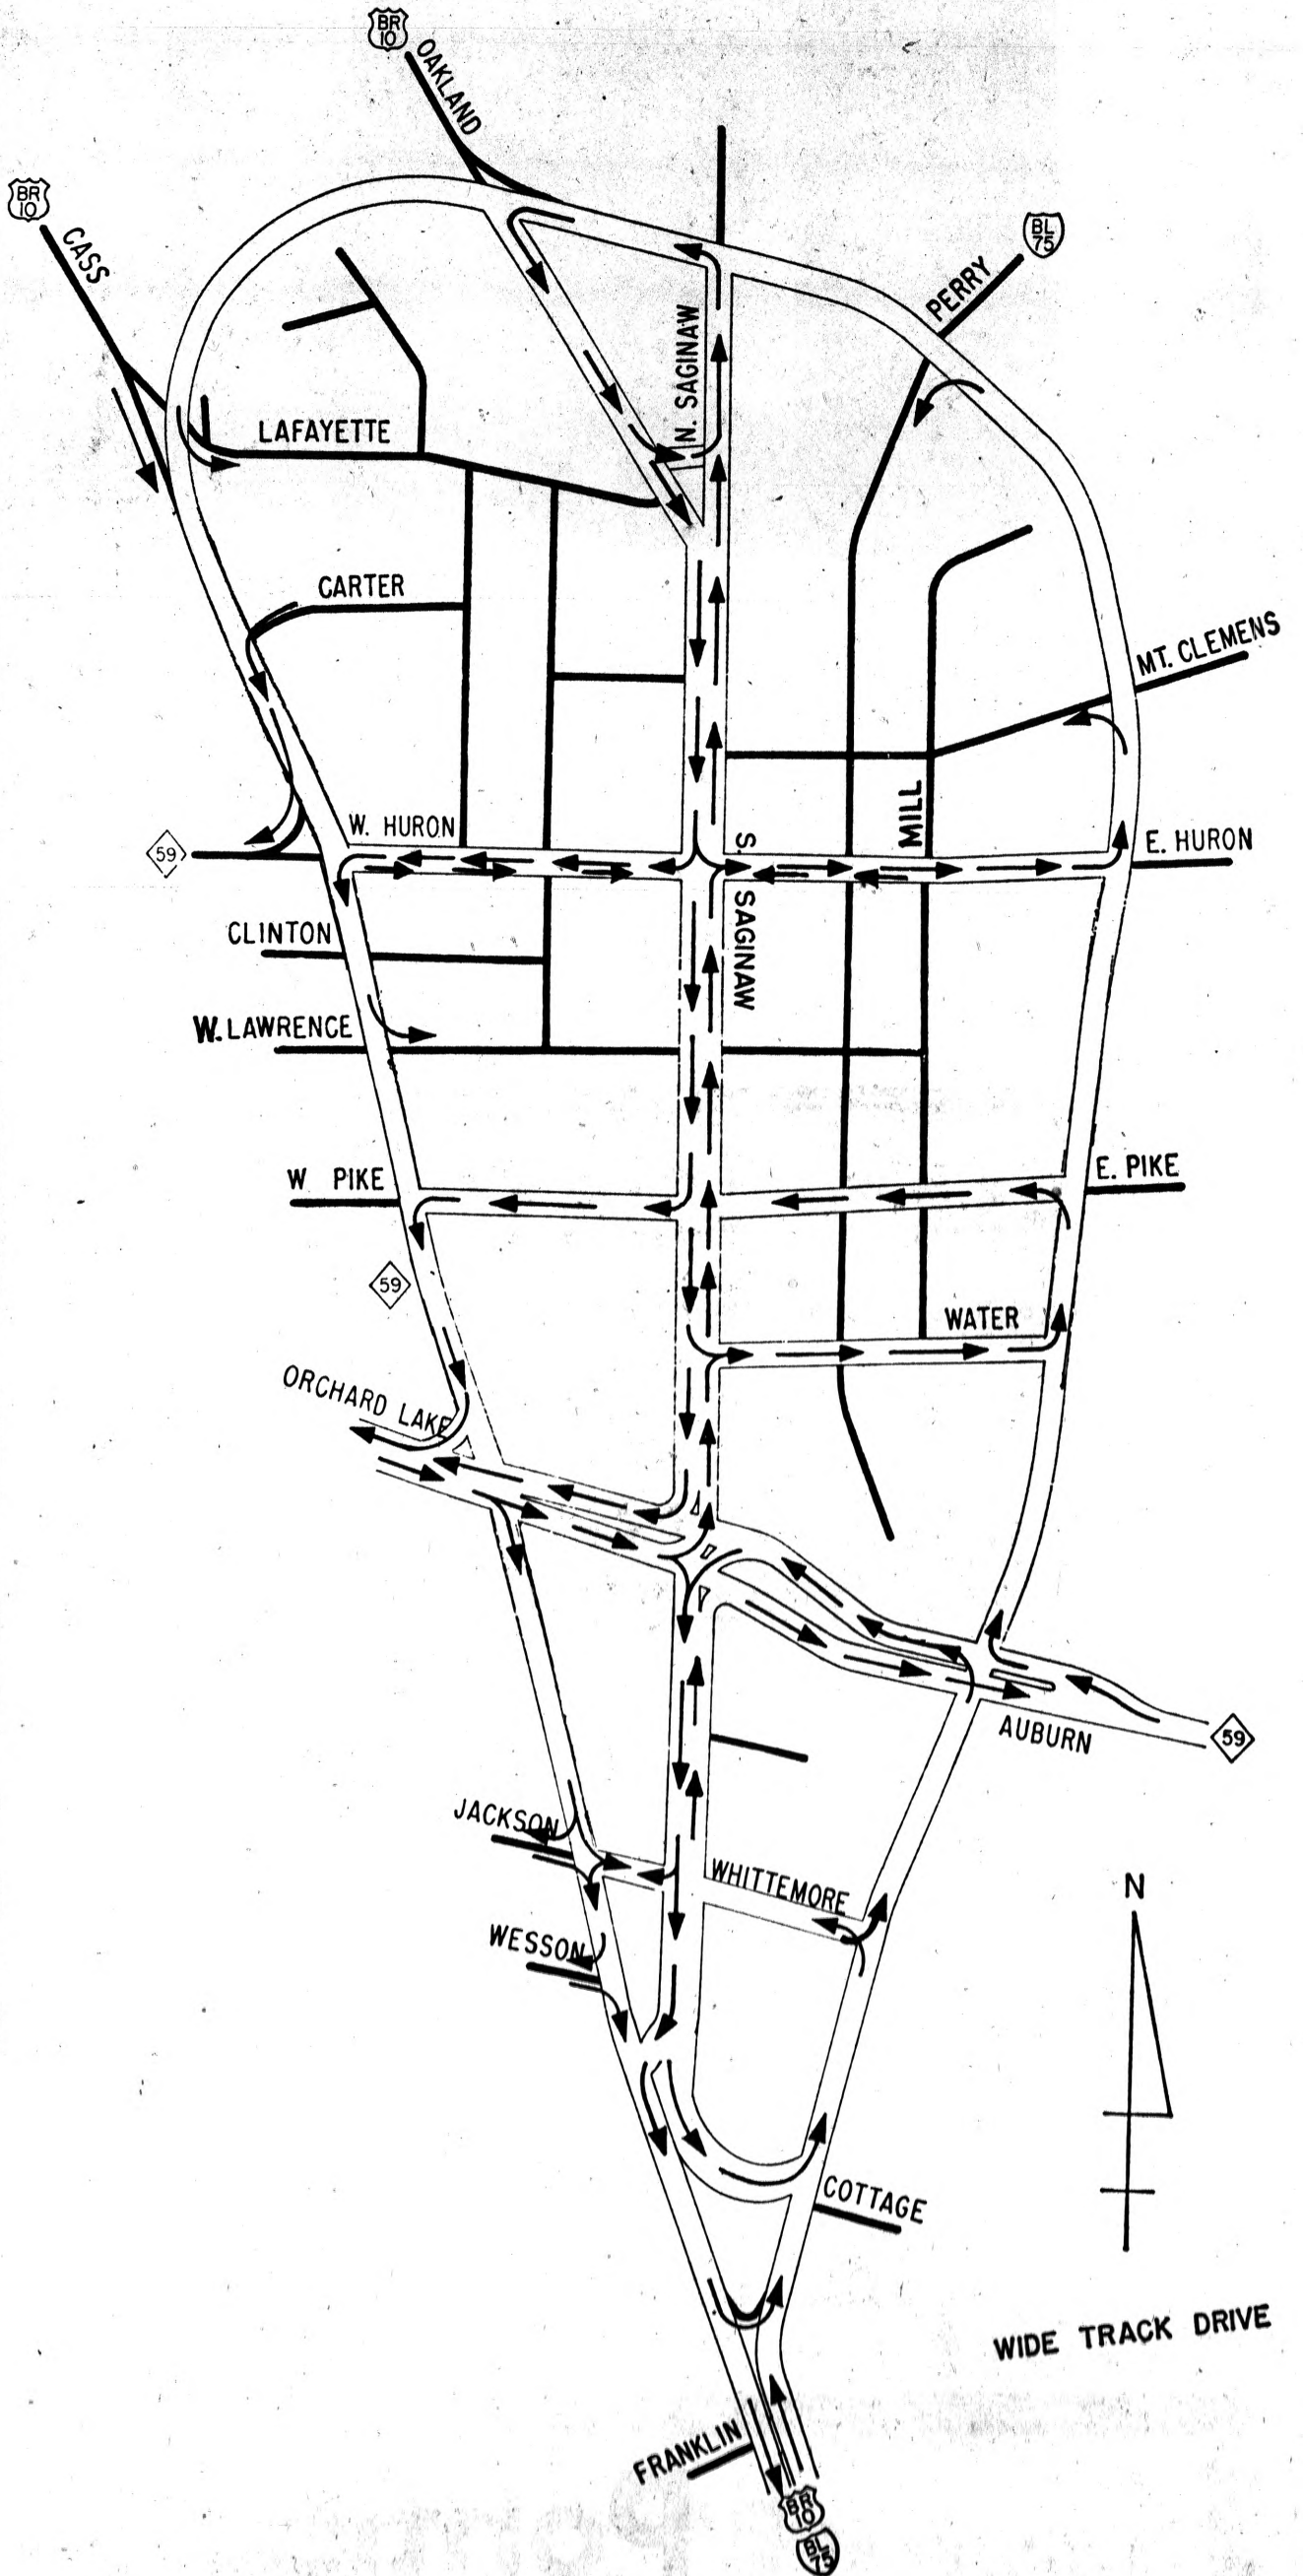

The ban on turns onto Wide Track at the east and west ends of the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover created such a storm of protest that the complaints were heard all the way to Lansing.

State Highway Department officials, after several hurried visits, have agreed to erect "trailblazing" signs (similar to those on expressways) to direct motorists.

The highway department has drawn the map below to show how traffic should circulate in the downtown area, making full use of the loop road concept.

The matter is still controversial.

Franz, secretary of the organization, are among the volunteer workers preparing for the March 1 opening of the township's new library building. Some 23,500 volumes will be available for public use at the new library and the branch in the Community Activities, Inc., building.

NEW LIBRARY BUILDING — Waterford Township's new library building located in the township civic center north of Tubbs and west of Crescent Lake Road contains 3,347 square feet of floor space. The modern, one-story building, which features a main reading room and smaller reading and work areas, cost $50,200.

2 Rangers to Take Closer Look at Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two more Ranger spacecraft are due to be launched soon with electronic eyes sharpened for clues to one of the key scientific questions of the decade: Is the moon safe for the manned landings planned in this decade?

Controversy over interpretation of the 4,316 pictures Ranger 7 televised as it plunged to the lunar surface last July 31 has split authorities into three camps — those who say yes, those who say no, and those who say maybe.

Three of the six cameras on Ranger 8, scheduled to be hurled aloft on a three-day journey in mid-February, and on the soon-to-follow Ranger 9 have been modified to take sharper, brighter pictures in hopes of learning whether:

1. The moon's surface is hard enough for a man to walk on, or is

2. So soft that even a large landing craft would be engulfed as in a sea of feathers.

The minor modification, only difference between the 800-pound Ranger 7 and its successors, increased the "gain" or light-sensitivity of one wide-angle and two narrow-angle cameras. The other three cameras were left unchanged for comparison with Ranger 7's performance.

Scientists hope Rangers 8 and 9 will go in at a slightly different angle, lengthening the shadows thrown by the rims of craters.

Longer shadows plus brighter pictures could:

1. Bring out craters too shallow for Ranger 7 to detect. Any significant increase over the expected number of craters would, strangely enough, affect estimates of the hardness of the surface. Scientists reason that the more there are, the longer some of them have existed. And if a large number have survived the erosion of radiation and micrometeorite impact over thousands of years they must be made of fairly hard material — possibly strong enough to support the weight of men and machines.

2. Show whether crater rims and other prominences are as rounded as they appear in Ranger 7 pictures. This roundness has been taken as evidence that they are either formed of dust or covered with a layer of dust.

The only really new thing shown in Ranger 7 pictures is that the moon's craters graduate downward in size to a mere 18 inches. Its cameras were not strong enough to show anything smaller than that, but it would be surprising if the progressive decrease in diameter stopped at that point.

The craters generally are believed to be the result of impacts by space fragments of many sites, ranging from miles in diameter to tiny dust specks. Since a truly hard surface would not be cratered but only scratched by all but the biggest fragments, the surface is presumed to be relatively soft.

There, however, scientific agreement ends. Experts who have studied Ranger 7 pictures tend to line up in one of three schools of thought.

Dr. Thomas Gold, Cornell University astronomer, believes the moon is covered with a layer of dust up to 50 feet thick. This could mean that a landing craft would sink out of sight. Supporting this theory is the fact that there are no sharp outcroppings in the limited area photographed by Ranger 7. Gold and others say this indicates sharp prominences expectable after fragment impacts have either been worn away by erosion or covered with a thick layer of dust.

Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper of the University of Arizona believes the broad, flat areas of the moon could be lava flows from extinct volcanoes. The lava could be covered with a layer of dust, he says, but not thick enough to prevent manned landings.

$3\frac{3}{4}$ out of every 7 women in Detroit prefer the cleanliness and controllability of electric heat!

Now, if only their husbands knew the facts about the costs!

We'll be the first to admit that not all homes can be heated economically with electricity.

In many cases, however, electric heat really isn't expensive. And the many added advantages are usually well worth it.

After all, what other heat provides such even warmth from floor to ceiling? And what other heat allows you to control the temperature of each room individually? And what other heat is so clean?

We'd like the opportunity to prove what we say. If you're planning to build, or add a room, or perhaps convert the attic . . . call your Edison office. We can arrange to have one of our heating engineers give you or your contractor a free estimate—figure out how much electric heat will cost to install—and how much your monthly bills are likely to be.

Or, if you're not quite ready for that . . . send for our 20-page book on electric heat. It's free. And a great way to find out what electric living is really like!

A Junior Editors Quiz About THE ANCIENT WORLD

QUESTION: What were the Seven Wonders of the ancient world?

ANSWER: In 100 B.C., a Greek traveler, Antipater of Sidon, drew up a list of the seven most wonderful sights of his time. All were buildings or statues.

We illustrate Antipater's list. (1), Pyramids of Egypt, are the only ancient wonder still to be seen. (2), Hanging Gardens of Babylon, built by King Nebuchadnezzar to please his new wife, made a green paradise in a desert city.

(3) The Pharos of Alexandria, a lighthouse 400 feet high. The great statue of the sun god called the "Colossus of Rhodes" (4) gave us our modern word "colossal." (5) was the 40-foot high statue of Zeus with gleaming jewels for eyes.

The Temple of Diana (6) had huge columns over 60 feet high. (7), Mausoleum, at Halicarnassus, was erected by a queen as a tomb for her husband, King Mausolus. This gave us our word "mausoleum."

People who have traveled widely in our modern world have selected Seven Wonders of the modern world.

See if you can imagine what they might be, and then check the actual list below.

FOR YOU TO DO: Check your list with these seven modern Wonders. (1) the Suez Canal, (2) Dneproges Dam in Russia, (3) the Atomic Energy Research Establishment in England, (4) the Alaskan Highway, also called Alcan, (5) Golden Gate Bridge near San Francisco, (6) Eiffel Tower in Paris and (7) Empire State Building in New York.

CPAs Invited to Apply for State Position

LANSING (AP) — Any certified public accountant in Michigan looking for a job may apply for a new position in Lansing—that of legislative auditor. House Democrats Thursday set up a six-man committee to accept nominations for the post created by the new Michigan Constitution.

The committee, said House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, will accept nominations for the post until next Wednesday.

It will make its recommendations "sometime next week," he said. "And the Senate will take some similar action."

Any CPA in the state, he added, may apply through his local Democratic organization or his state representative.

The new post takes over most of the auditing functions of the auditor general without many of the administrative powers.

Bubble Bursts for Burlesque

Detroit Theater Ends Controversial Run

DETROIT (UPI) — The Midtown Follies, Detroit's newest burlesque house, closed unexpectedly last night, reportedly because of public pressure.

Grace Reed, a tall, shapely former exotic dancer, said she told five burlesque dancers and two comics, "The show is closed" and paid off the performers after what she described had been "a good house last night."

"It hurt," she said in disclosing she had closed the burlesque house which opened in a flurry of public protest last Dec. 28.

Miss Reed gave no explanation of the closing only saying, "I don't know" to questions about the suddenness of the move.

However, her lawyer, Gerald M. Franklin, said, "The atmosphere around the place was very bad."

Since the theater's opening, some 40 neighborhood groups have protested vigorously against it, charging the place was in a bad location because of the schoolchildren who pass by it and that it was across the street from a new elementary school being built.

NEWEST ATTRACTION — Hollywood Boulevard has something new for the tourists — an old-fashioned wax museum displaying film greats of past and present, and including movie monsters Frankenstein and Dracula. Here two sight-seers sit between figures of Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper.

New Tourist Attraction

Filmland Gets Wax Museum

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Now the tourists on Hollywood Boulevard will have something to look at beside the Grauman's Chinese footprints and the stars in the sidewalk.
An enterprising India-born Canadian named Spooky Singh has installed at Hollywood Boulevard and Highland Avenue a new attraction called Tussaud's Hollywood Wax Museum. Though it has no connection with Madame Tussaud's, the California version has the same mixture of gore and famous figures.

The museum throws open its doors Friday. Tonight there is a preview, with "bloody mays and horror d'oeuvres" being served. To avoid the crush of free-loaders, I dropped by for a preview of the preview.

The curator of the museum, a motherly lady named Vera Grahn, was tending to last-minute touches — a spotlight here, a missing head there. She is an old hand at wax museums, having installed them in San Francisco, Vancouver and at the Seattle World's Fair.

EARLY TOUR
With ill-concealed delight, she showed me through the chamber of horrors.
"This is the guillotine of the French Revolution," she commented. "We'll have a display of the severed heads to go with it. Here we have the current monsters — Boris Karloff from 'Frankenstein,' Bela Lugosi as Dracula, Lon Chaney as the Phantom of the Opera. Here is the garrote, a strangulation device — the victim is registering horror, rather than pain."

"This is the rack, which we copied in detail from an old model. The wheel — we'll add burning coals underneath; the girl victim is singing after one turn. Mind you don't step on that skeleton!"

hibit. Here were the Hollywood greats of past and present.

FIGURES INCLUDED

The figures included Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh in costumes from "Gone With the Wind," Jean Harlow in a negligee, Jeanette MacDonald, Hedy Lamarr, W. C. Fields, Carole Lombard, Wallace Beery, Errol Flynn, Mary Pickford, Rudolph Valentino, etc., etc.

As with all wax museums, some of the likenesses are remarkably good, some scarcely distinguishable.

We were joined by Mr. Singh, a full-bearded, turbaned Indian who has prospered in logging and sawmill enterprises in British Columbia. He explained that the lighting would be dimmer, to allow viewers more exercise of imagination.

KIDNAP VICTIM LOSES EYE — Donna Adkins, 8, had her left eye removed yesterday in Cleveland because it was damaged beyond repair when she was kidnaped. Police say William Rehard, 22, of South Euclid, Ohio, admitted firing blank cartridges near the girl's eyes after he kidnaped her last week.

To View AF Academy Policies in Wake of Scandal

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — A five-man committee picked by Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckerman will review all policies of the Air Force Academy in the wake of a classroom cheating scandal that caused 65 cadet resignations.

More resignations are expected as investigators continue questioning cadets — perhaps as many as 700. Under the academy's honor code any cadet who knew about the cheating and did not report it is subject to dismissal. Zucker announced in Washington.

Thursday he had appointed Gen. Thomas D. White, former Air Force chief of staff, to head the committee and "review fundamental programs of the Air Force Academy."

Serving with him are Dean Hardy Dillard, law professor at the University of Virginia; Dr. Robert L. Stearns, former president of the University of Colorado; Charles B. Thornton, president of Litton Industries; and Lt. Gen. Joseph J. Nazzaro, vice commander in chief of the Strategic Air Command.

BASIC CAUSES Zucker said the committee will seek the basic causes for the honor code violations. "Although the vast majority of the cadets were not involved," Zucker said in a statement, "the fact that breaches did occur makes it important for us to conduct a review of the problem."

Negroes Await Lawyers' Word on Protest

By United Press International
Negro leaders said they are ready to march today at Jackson, Miss. in protest against the slaying of an 18-year-old youth but a final decision on the demonstration depends on a decision by their attorneys.

Two court orders have forbidden the demonstration and authorities were so sure that mass arrests would result from the march through the stronghold of segregation that a special compound has been set up at the county fairgrounds.

Charles Evers, state director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the two identical court orders issued yesterday afternoon by three Circuit Court judges and the county judge caught Negroes by surprise.

Evers said he didn't feel the orders were "worth the paper they're written on" but agreed to postpone a decision on the demonstration pending further legal advice.

The demonstration was called to protest the shooting of Ollie W. Shelby, 18, by a sheriff's deputy last week.

CLAIM ATTACK

Authorities claimed Shelby was shot after he attacked two officers and was beating a jailer in an effort to escape. He was being booked at the jail following his conviction for making indecent gestures toward a white woman.

A coroner's jury ruled the killing justifiable homicide and Sheriff Fred Pickett refused to yield to Negro demands that the officers involved be suspended.

In other racial developments, Dr. Martin Luther King Thursday ordered field workers to prepare for mass voter registration demonstrations in Wilcox, Perry and Lowndes counties in Alabama where Negroes outnumber whites.

A drive in Selma, Ala., hit a lull yesterday while attorneys sought contempt action in federal court at Mobile against Sheriff James Clark and others for interfering with voter registration attempts by Negroes.

ELSEWHERE:

• NEW BERN, N. C.: The Federal Bureau of Investigation stepped up its investigation yesterday of the civil rights bombings Sunday of two automobiles and a Negro mortuary. At least 10 FBI agents were assigned to the case.

• JACKSONVILLE, Fla.: Capt. James Shegog, a Negro at Ft. McClellan, has been admitted to Jacksonville State College to break racial barriers at the fourth state-supported college in Alabama.

• DANVILLE, Va.: A special farewell service Sunday will honor the Rev. L. W. Chase, a major figure in racial strife in Danville during the summer of 1963.

Chase will take a ministerial post at Virginia Beach. Among those to honor will be the white mayor of Danville, W. C. McCubbins.

New Senate Office for Vice President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey finally got a new office in the Senate.

Humphrey, the president of the Senate, yesterday was given one room previously used by Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., the dean of the Senate.

But by getting the new office space, Humphrey lost two larger rooms he had occupied as Senate Democratic whip. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the new Democratic whip, is expected to get Humphrey's old rooms.

Phone Rates Drop Monday

Long-Distance Calls Reduced Nationally

NEW YORK (AP) — Long distance telephone calls on evenings and weekends will be cheaper starting Monday.

Under a Federal Communications Commission order issued Nov. 25, the $1 maximum station-to-station long distance rate inaugurated in 1963 will be extended.

The charge applies to the first three minutes.

The reduced rates will be effective for six week days at 8 p.m. at the originating point, rather than the present 9 p.m. They will apply all day Sunday.

TIME APPLICATION

Reduced rates higher than the after-8 tariffs will apply to Saturday calls and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays.

The maximum for Saturday and evening, station-to-station interstate calls will be $1.50 for the first three minutes.

The FCC said the new schedules would lower Bell Telephone System interstate revenues by $75 million a year, and amounted to the largest interstate telephone rate reduction effected.

They were justified by technological advances, it said.

MORE CUTS DUE

Under the FCC ruling, additional rate reductions amounting to $25 million annually are scheduled by April 1. American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said details were being worked out.

Unprepared for Responsibility

11-Year-Old Must Develop Self-Discipline

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Dear Dr. Nason: My 11-year-old, sixth-grade son seems to have no inner desire to achieve good grades. He attended a Catholic school in the primary grades and did quite well.

DR. NASON

When he switched to public school in the fourth grade, his marks dropped considerably.

He reads above his grade level and is interested in science. Occasionally, he does excellent creative writing, showing that he can write and spell well when he wants to do so.

But most of the time his handwriting is very poor, as is his spelling, punctuation and use of English.

Mrs. F.S.R., Sacramento, Calif.

Dear Dr. Nason: I am an adult with a reading problem. I cannot retain what I read. Could I have poor reading habits? It is true I do not concentrate fully on what I am reading.

Is there any way to learn to keep my mind on what I am reading?

Miss B.U.R., Schenectady, N.Y.

Study what you are reading as you read it to find out what is said. Stop occasionally and review in your mind what you have learned. If your mind wanders, you probably are not reading fast enough or not studying as you read.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our son, now ten and in the fifth grade, was born in October and therefore was eligible for kindergarten while only four years old. He has had a struggle even for average grades.

Now we have another son born in October, eligible for kindergarten next year. Would a struggle similar to that of his older brother contribute more to his future than holding him back to start with the advantage of more maturity?

Mrs. R. E. J., Sunset, Utah

Your second son will not necessarily follow the pattern of the first. However, I advise the later start.

Ceremony Will Honor Officer Killed in Viet

LANSING (AP)—Capt. James McLain, a former Lansing man killed in action at Viet Nam last July, will be honored at a military ceremony at the Lansing Artillery Armory Sunday. His widow will receive a Bronze Star and Purple Heart at the posthumous recognition.

One pair in the '65 world championship team trials used the weak no-trump bid. The other 17 pairs used no-trumps in the standard range of 15 to 17, 16 to 18 or 15 to 18 so that a no-trump was opened at every one of the nine tables.

JACOBY Every North player responded with two clubs to see if his partner would show a four-card major suit. Every South player rebid two hearts in accordance with the request.

From this point on, there was some divergence. A couple of North players jumped to three no-trump; the rest bid two no-trump only, but two South players went on from two to three.

Thus four tables played three no-trump while five stopped at two. Every West player opened a low club and after the three-spot was played from dummy it was up to East to make a key defensive play. This correct play was the ten spot, not the ace. Strangely enough, four of these experts made the mistake of rising with the ace.

It made the difference of a very important trick because the ace play gave declarer three club tricks while the ten spot play held him to two.

A little study will show that this particular ten spot play could not possibly hurt the defense unless West had led from six to the king.

The play developed along normal lines after that first trick with South making nine tricks when East played the ace and only eight tricks when East played the ten.

Ruby Examined by Psychiatrist

DALLAS (UPI) — Jack Ruby, the condemned killer of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, underwent an hour-long psychiatric examination in his jail cell yesterday.

Dr. Louis Joslyn West, head psychiatrist at the University of Oklahoma Medical School, refused to comment on the visit.

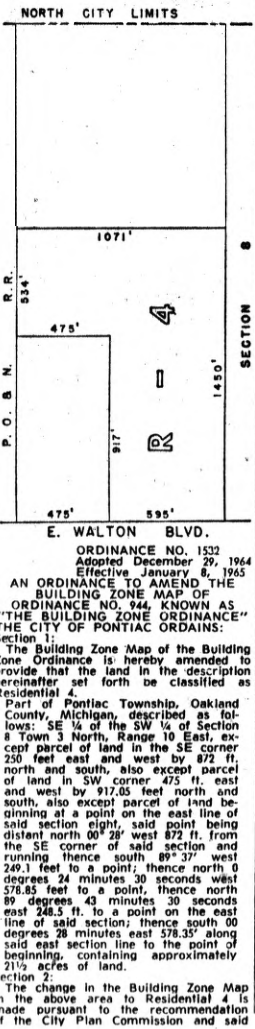

West had previously examined Ruby at the request of Melvin Belli, who was then Ruby's chief attorney. This was before a Dallas jury found Ruby guilty of gunning down Oswald at the Dallas police station and sentenced him to death in the state electric chair.

West was accompanied on yesterday's visit by Ruby's current chief attorney Phil Burleson. The lawyer left the cell soon afterward while West stayed.

After the visit West answered "no comment" to all questions about Ruby, his mental condition or about the reason for his visit.

STATE OF MICHIGAN — In the Circuit Court for the County of Oakland, No. 15074

Order of Publication
MARTHA L. CONRAD, Plaintiff, vs. WILLIAM HAWLEY CONRAD, Defendant.

At a session of said Court held in the Court House in the City of Pontiac, Oakland County, Michigan, this 11th day of January, A.D. 1965, the following present: Honorable Phil Pratt, Circuit Judge.

On the 11th day of January, A.D. 1965, an action was filed by Martha L. Conrad, Plaintiff, against William Hawley Conrad, Defendant, in this Court to obtain partition or judicial sale of the following described premises:

Lot 38 of Tracts Lake West 1/2 of N.E. 1/4 and part of East 1/2 of S.W. 1/4 of Section 20 and part of S.E. 1/4 of S.W. 1/4 of Section 17, Township 2 North, Range 9 East, West Bloomfield Township, Oakland County, Michigan, according to the plat thereon recorded in the Office of the County Clerk of said County of Oakland, Plat No. 47 of the Oakland County Records.

It is hereby Ordered that the Defendant, William Hawley Conrad, of P.O. Box 5097, Fort Lauderdale, Florida, shall answer the Complaint of the Plaintiff, Martha L. Conrad, on or before the 15th day of February, 1965. Failure to comply with this Order will result in a judgment by default against the Defendant, William Hawley Conrad, for the relief demanded in the Complaint filed in this Court.

Card of Thanks

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends, relatives and neighbors for their acts of kindness during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. Edward A. Lowry, Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home and Pontiac General Hospital.

—The Burder Family.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORY OF OUR HUSBAND and father, Melvin A. Peterson, who passed away one year ago today, 1964.

Sadly missed by wife and children. In loving memory of WILLIAM Hooper who passed away January 29, 1965.

What a pleasure it was to see your smiling face. And sweet voice in the morning. You are just waiting for me up there.

—Sadly missed by his wife, Maude.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MR. AND Mrs. George May, who passed away 1963.

Because God knew your work was done, He called you home. Your children thank you, and grow. He called you both to come and Where no more work is done; Where the golden sun does never set. And the sky's forever blue; It's there, we hope in God's good

Dear parents, to be with you. Sadly missed by your children and grandchildren.

Closed Season on Saucer Men

STAUNTON, Va. (AP) — Sheriff John E. Kent of Augusta County says he will crack down on flying saucer-believers who go out with guns to hunt saucer-riding "little green men." Reports of unidentified flying objects have been frequent in this area. Tuesday night three boys said they saw a small, green man east of here.

Kent said some residents armed themselves and went out to hunt the creature.

"This thing has gotten completely out of hand," he said. "Anyone carrying firearms in the county without good reason will be dealt with according to the law."

Besides, Kent added, suppose there really were creatures around from outer space — "Who's got a right to mow them down?"

Michigan Motorists Grind Out the Miles

LANSING (AP) — You Michigan motorists sure did a lot of driving last year — 39.5 billion miles.

That was up 8.3 per cent over the previous year.

Acting Highway Director Howard Hill said it was the greatest percentage jump in traffic in the past decade.

"Michigan's growing freeway system — over 1,200 miles — plus thousands of miles of modernized and improved highways, along with a booming economy and tourist business is responsible."
