

Barry Hits Aid to Reds; LBJ Cites 3rd 'Lash'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says the U.S. wheat sale to the Soviet Union, coupled with aid to Communist satellites, "has actually helped Russia herself to the point that she can put a team in that can depose Khrushchev and lean more heavily to Red China."

Addressing a crowd that packed the Union League Club in Philadelphia last night, the GOP presidential nominee forecast new troubles with the Communist world and said of the recent Kremlin shakeup: "I don't agree with the President that this is going to ease tensions."

Goldwater puts aside his presidential campaign today for a journey to New York for services for former President Herbert C. Hoover, a man he described to Pennsylvania voters as a symbol of morality in government.

The Republican nominee for the White House postponed a day of campaigning in the West and was due instead to attend a private memorial for Hoover, who died Tuesday.

Pressing his quest for votes in southeastern Pennsylvania Wednesday, the Arizona senator invoked Hoover's memory time and again.

He called the former president a great patriot, a man who stood for honesty, a leader wise in foreign and fiscal affairs.

POLITICAL ADVICE

"I remember some of the first political advice he ever gave me," Goldwater said. "He said that a government that is big enough to give you all you want is big enough to take it all away."

Goldwater devoted considerable attention to foreign policy, both in his Pennsylvania speeches and in a nationally televised speech Wednesday night. They answered President Johnson's Sunday night address on recent world developments.

Forecast Freezing in Area Tonight

The area will get a taste of winter tonight, with temperatures dropping to the 25 to 34 range. Partly cloudy skies are expected.

Tomorrow won't be much warmer. A high of 45 to 50 is predicted along with fair skies.

Saturday's outlook is also fair with slightly warmer temperatures forecast.

Winds today are north-northwest at 10 to 20 miles an hour. They will be diminishing late today and tonight.

The mercury measured a cold 37 for this morning's low. By 2 p.m. it had climbed to 52.

Signs Indicate Peace Near at GM

Staebler Sees No Evidence Labor Less Than Emphatic

DETROIT (AP) — Will labor be emphatic in supporting Democratic gubernatorial candidate Neil Staebler in the Nov. 3 election?

The question, which has popped up from time to time, came up again yesterday when Staebler, now Michigan's congressman-at-large spoke before the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society.

Fielding questions from a panel of newsmen and from the floor, Staebler said organized labor has demonstrated the usual amount of interest in his campaign and his victory.

He has found no evidence that labor is not doing all it can for his victory, he said.

Staebler has met with union leaders several times this week.

He spent nearly an hour with Kenneth Robinson, regional director for the United Auto Workers in Saginaw Tuesday. He met with William Marshall, executive vice president of the AFL-CIO, and representatives of a painters union in Detroit yesterday.

Staebler also said he has received "excellent support" from former Gov. John Swainson and his backers.

Swainson, now Democratic national committee member for Michigan, is generally regarded as having stronger labor support than Staebler.

The Democratic candidate will spend today preparing for his fourth face-to-face encounter and third formal debate with Romney.

The two face each other before the Detroit Press Club tonight.

Staebler earlier charged that Romney makes a poor board chairman for the Michigan "corporation."

SENSELESS VANDALISM

First, police officers must attempt to stop the senseless vandalism which always takes place during the week before Halloween.

Second, officers must seek to protect the thousands of youngsters who will take to the streets trick-or-treating Halloween night.

In regards to the first problem, Hazen warned, "there is no such thing as a harmless prank."

Even apparently innocent stunts such as soaping windows and ringing doorbells could lead to serious consequences, the officer said.

SERIOUS ACCIDENTS

Placing dummies in the road, burning constables on streets, throwing vegetables or spoiled fruit at passing cars have caused serious accidents in the past, he said.

Even if no damage is caused, a prankster who throws a tomato at a passing car, could face a fine of $100 or a sentence of 90 days in jail, Hazen said.

Damaging buildings or fences, road signs or markers, real estate signs or fruit trees rate the same penalty, he said.

Gubernatorial Foes Trade Barbs at OU

State and national candidates, headed by Gov. Romney and his Democratic opponent Neil Staebler, fired political barbs at one another at Oakland University last night.

Some 600 persons attended the political forum sponsored by the Oakland Citizens League to listen to the nominees in the Nov. 3 election present their views and then answer questions from the audience.

Also appearing were U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart and his Republican challenger, Mrs. Elly Peterson, along with Democratic 18th and 19th congressional district candidates Frank Sierawski and Bill S. Farnum.

The candidates, however, did not meet face-to-face, in most cases, tight campaign schedules made it necessary to present them as they arrived.

Romney said that he is the only governor in 14 years that has not asked for higher taxes and disclaimed a statement attributed to him that the state would never need an income tax.

"Michigan is prospering," said Romney. "It is moving and we have a surplus, but I am not going to hesitate to meet the needs of the people of this state if necessary."

PRESENT TIME

"At the present time we do not need higher taxes, and I will not recommend them until we need them," Romney said.

Asked what the main reason was for his apparent uneasiness in supporting Republican Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater, Romney explained:

"If I endorse Goldwater, I would find myself in a position where it could be charged that I had compromised the principles which I fought for against extremism in San Francisco."

"And I am not going to compromise those principles one iota."

The latest development in the formal exchange of proposals and denunciations came, today with publication of a press statement in Peking rejecting a call by President Johnson for Red China to sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty worked out last year by the United States, Russia and Britain.

ROMNEY REPLY

In answer to their query about the Ford-Canton law, Romney said, "When I took office, unemployment compensation was biased in favor of the unions and you could actually finance a strike with unemployment compensation."

"Before, it was biased in favor of the employers. Now," he said, "workmen thrown out by a strike from which they will not benefit will collect unemployment benefits but workmen who will benefit from a strike are not eligible for benefits."

"This is fair," the governor attested.

"Why haven't the guys knocked out by the Buick strike in Flint gotten their money?" asked Heaton.

The same proposal had previously been made publicly by Peking, and has also been circulated to other governments.

What seemed to be significant about it, however, was that Chou sent the dispatch to Johnson officially, through diplomatic channels, even though the United States and Red China have no diplomatic relations.

The diplomatic contact exists at Warsaw, Poland, between Ambassadors Wang Kuo-chuan and John M. Cabot. Such contacts were begun by U.S. and Red Chinese envoys in Geneva nine years ago, and have been continued since.

While earnings for the July-September period were down 30 per cent from the 1963 third quarter, profit for the first nine months of the year topped that for any similar period in the company's history.

The auto maker reported earnings for the three months ended Sept. 30 of $11.4 million, or 30 cents a share. This compares with $22.8 million or 61 cents a share in the 1963 third quarter.

Meetings Set for City Locals This Sunday

Workers Will Vote on Ratifications of Contracts With Firm

Pontiac General Motors plants were on the verge of returning to work today, with these developments in the nationwide UAW strike against GM:

• A UAW International meeting in Detroit, set for tomorrow morning.

• Contract ratification meetings set by the local unions:

• Withdrawal of local pickets, according to John Maye, president of UAW Local 653 here;

• Admission of 2,500 skilled tradesmen to the plants, to prepare the production facilities for the return of the remainder of the workers.

The ratification meeting for all members of local 653 will be held at Pontiac Central High School Sunday, with skilled tradesmen meeting at 10 a.m., and production workers at 2 p.m.

Fisher Body Local 596 will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday at Lincoln Junior High, and GMC Truck & Coach will meet at 2 p.m. at UAW Local 594 hall.

USUAL PROCEDURE

"This is following the usual procedure and permits skilled tradesmen and nonskilled workers who service the skilled trades to enter the plant and set up the lines for production to begin as soon as the agreement has been ratified."

At the Friday morning meeting in Detroit, if the majority of delegates ratify the national agreement, all local unions and units will be notified and the national strike against GM will be ended.

Those units which have ratified local settlements will then return to work.

The strike, in its 28th day, has idled some 300,000 workers across the nation.

U Thant Suggests K Speak on Dismissal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant suggested today that dismissed Soviet Premier Khrushchev be permitted to make a public statement on the situation leading to his replacement.

Thant expressed confidence that Soviet foreign policy would not change under the leadership of Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Communist party, and Alexei N. Kosygin, the new premier.

Thant said he had been assured by Soviet U.N. Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko that the new regime would follow basically the same line on world problems.

The secretary-general said he knew both leaders personally, and felt confident they would not plunge the world back into the Cold War.

Thant told a new conference: "It is unlikely that they will reverse the course of history by taking the world back to pre-1953."

Then speaking of Khrushchev's dismissal he said: "It would be helpful and even desirable if Mr. Khrushchev were able or inclined to make a public statement on the situation leading to his exit."

Thant said he saw little chance of anything happening between now and the opening of the General Assembly to avert a confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union over U.N. financing.

He said he had been willing to take the initiative in trying to find a formula for resolving the financial problem, if either side had shown signs of concessions, but at the moment he had no plan to step in. He described positions on both sides as rigid.

SPOKE STRONGLY

He spoke out strongly in condemnation of Communist China's nuclear test, which he pointed out was contrary to a General Assembly resolution of 1962 condemning all nuclear tests.

He also backed a suggestion for a summit meeting of the five nuclear powers.

The secretary-general proposed that such a meeting of representatives of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Communist China might be held in 1965.

Halloween Peril Not Masked

Before the dawn of the Christian era, Oct. 31 was believed to have been the day on which Saman, the lord of death, gathered together all the souls of the dead who had been condemned to enter the body of animals, and decided what form they should take for the next year.

Modern man has placed a different emphasis on Oct. 31, Halloween.

But the lord of death still rules in many places as excited children, parading through the streets in costume, are cut down by motorists.

Area police this week issued their annual safety message and began to prepare for Halloween night and the week preceding it.

GM Strikers Vote Sunday

Expect 300,000 Back to Work

DETROIT (AP)—An end to the economy pinching, 28-day-old strike against gigantic General Motors Corp. may come over the weekend.

And if it does, it will return more than 300,000 auto makers to assembly lines and still more thousands to jobs in supplier plants and the transportation industry. Idled auto workers alone will have lost some $200 million in wages.

The United Auto Workers Union Wednesday ordered its 130 units within the GM empire to take a vote Sunday on ending the strike.

President Johnson prodded both company and union Monday for speedy agreement. He said strike continuance would "jeopardize the continuous upward thrust of our economy" and it was beginning to affect production and employment in other industries.

PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and chief of its

GM department, said the vote call was prompted in part by the President's request for settlement action.

He said two other considerations were involved: 1. The pocket-book pinch on UAW members and their families. 2. The strike's deteriorating effect on the national economy.

The walkout came Sept. 25 in support of national demands in national contract bargaining. But when agreement was reached Oct. 5 on a new over-all national contract, "the UAW made return to work contingent on settlement of at-the-plant working agreements which supplement it."

Strike impact on the economy, which President Johnson mentioned, has been reflected in many places.

OTHERS AFFECTED

The Grand Trunk Western

and Chesapeake & Ohio Railroads reported 200 Flint crewmen laid off because there were no new cars to haul away. Three haulway trucking companies said they had laid off 455 for the same reason. Two food-service companies which run in-plant cafeterias said they had more than 200 idled.

And some 51,000 of GM's 60,000 hourly rated workers in Flint also were out of work.

In striking GM, the UAW ordered members working in plants selling parts and accessories to Ford and Chrysler to stay on the job. Otherwise all GM plants across the country would have been closed. Some 50,000-plus stayed on the job, feeding Chrysler and Ford.

PRODUCTION SAG

Consequently, with GM assembly lines down, auto production sagged last week to 79,990 cars, compared with 179,422 in the corresponding week a year earlier.

At the same time Ford and

Chrysler-Plymouth reported racking up their biggest Oct. 1-10 sales in history, while GM's dealers, who got fewer than 300,000 of its new 1965 models before the strike, were out of cars.

GM efforts to make up lost production likely will result in increased employment and more overtime in the next three months than was previously expected, even in this good auto year.

Roy Norris, general manager of Buick Motors Sales in Baltimore, said his sales were down 50 per cent so far in October, because "we don't have cars to show the people and many won't buy unless they can see it."

KEPT OLD MODELS

Wilmingon, Del., reported one dealer showing 1964 models to keep his showroom from looking bare. But GM dealers there with 1965 models said sales continued good.

In Janesville, Wis., it was reported the city as a whole has felt little economic squeeze, even with 4,500 at two Chevrolet plants idled and on union strike benefits ranging from $20 a week for unmarried workers to $30 weekly for those with families.

The Janesville Auto Transport Co., which hauls away finished cars, said it had several hundred men out of work. Some Janesville stores were advertising they would extend credit to men on strike.

The Midland-Ross Corp. said its frame division at Cleveland, Ohio, had laid off about 500 as the result of a cutback in production of frames for GM's Buick division.

ON FURLOUGH

The A. O. Smith Corp. at Granite City, Ill., said it will be returning 1,800 to 2,200. It makes Chevrolet frames.

A General Motors spokesman said at Los Angeles that suppliers in Southern California had lost $9 million worth of business and 6,000 jobs. Strikers had lost $4 million in wages there.

Framingham, Mass., with 2,600 losing $65,000 daily in wages, said the effect of strike continuance would be bad, and pointed out that GM plants they paid suppliers about $15 million last year. Normally Framingham plants turn out 586 new Chevrolts a day.

COMPLETED TALKS

The United Auto Workers now have completed near three-year national contract with all four American auto makers. Chrysler, which was first, set the pattern.

Then came Ford and General Motors, where a strike erupted 28 days ago. While a new national contract was being worked out, GM Oct. 5, return to work was made contingent upon completion of at-the-plant working agreements which supplement it.

The UAW has ordered its 130 units in GM to vote Sunday on ending the strike. So far 85 at-the-plant agreements covering more than 220,000 of GM's 360,000 production workers have been reached.

Like the others, AMC's national contract raises pensions, offers incentives for early retirement, boosts wages and adds two holidays among other fringe benefits.

And through profit sharing, AMC workers may get an extra week's vacation pay on top of an additional week included in the Big Three pacts.

"Much more money is needed for school aid," said Staebler. "This could come from the $200 million state building program which is being paid for on a cash basis."

"We should borrow for building and use the money for schools."

NEEDS IGNORED — "We are failing utterly to meet the problem of school dropouts," Staebler said. "We are failing to meet mental health needs. Not enough attention is being given to water and air pollution and traffic safety."

"The needs of farmers are being ignored entirely."

"The problems are real and increasing, and the governor isn't even talking about them," Staebler said.

Sen. Hart told the audience that in voting for the war on poverty, "It is one war that I am glad to wage. It will pay for itself over and over again."

"It is a war that we cannot afford to lose," said Hart noting that $4 billion is spent annually on welfare.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING — Mrs. Peterson turned her attention to the vocational training of young people. "We send them to college but do not teach them how to earn a living."

"Stress should be placed on the training of social workers who in turn would train these young people."

Candidates scheduled to speak, but unable to because of other commitments, were Congressman William S. Broomfield of the 18th District and Richard D. Kuhn, Republican 19th Congressional District candidate.

County Visit Set Saturday by Humphrey

Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey will visit Oakland County Saturday to speak at a noon rally in the Greenfield Shopping Center, Greenfield and Eight Mile, Oak Park.

Accompanying Humphrey on his first campaign trip to Oakland County will be U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, gubernatorial candidate Neil Staebler, 18th Congressional District candidate Frank Sierawski, and 19th District candidate Billie S. Farum.

In announcing the visit, Oakland County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin said:

"We are very optimistic about the progress the Democratic campaign in the county and have been striving to arrange a visit by Sen. Humphrey to highlight the party's comprehensive efforts to achieve Democratic victories here on a broad scale for the first time in three decades."

In Brussels, a spokesman for the committee's chairman, executive commission said the commission would have no comment on the French threat to pull out.

CRITICIZED WARNING — In Bonn, West Germany showed no signs of bowing. Representatives of some other member nations criticized De Gaulle's warning as a poor tactic.

JOINT POLICY — The spokesman said that a joint farm policy is necessary before the Common Market can negotiate tariff reductions with the United States in the "Kennedy round" talks.

The West German government also wants a guarantee against inflation in the other countries which would modify the purchasing power between the strong West German mark and the currencies of the other members.

Urban Renewal Funds May Be Asked for City

BIRMINGHAM—The scope of conservation in the southwest portion of the city does not have to be limited to a pain-fup, first, clean-up campaign — although such a project might be advisable.

According to city planning consultants, the area might well be helped with federal urban renewal funds.

Edward Hustoles of Villacian-Leman and Associates, Southfield, has told city officials the area probably would qualify for federal assistance.

Members of the planning board are expected to make a recommendation following review of the firm's housing classification study.

Hustoles cited the area bounded by Lincoln, Grant, 14 Mile and Woodward as the "most seriously obsolete" section of the city.

THEME DISCUSSED

The conservation theme has been emphasized in discussion of the area.

"Although conservation is part of urban renewal, it is not shun clearance," city planning director William Brownfield said. "It is rehabilitation of existing buildings and the possible removal of one building in 10."

Brownfield said the aim of such a program would be to preserve the buildings before they had to be removed.

Federal assistance could come in the form of approval for low interest loans which would allow property owners to make improvements, the planner said.

SMALL UNDERTAKING — A conservation undertaking in the area would be relatively small and inexpensive, Brownfield said.

He noted that such a project would require considerable groundwork and that it would take 12 to 15 months to gather and organize the necessary background information.

Drop Koslov Name From Presidium List

MOSCOW (AP) — Ailing Prok R. Kozlov's name was missing today from a list of members of the Soviet Communist party presidium.

Western observers interpreted the omission as a possible hint of a further shakeup in the ruling Kremlin elite.

The list of presidium members and top government and party figures appeared under obituaries of Soviet military leaders killed Monday in a plane crash in Yugoslavia.

Despite his illness, Kozlov's name had been in previous official lineups of top presidium officials.

Barry Nips Plans to Show Campaign Film on Morals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has nipped plans for the nationwide televising of a Republican campaign film which originally included shots of stripteasers and a girl in a topless swim suit.

A group of Goldwater backers who had the 30-minute film made for $85,000, said its aim was to show "moral decay" in the nation. Although today's planned showing is out, the film's sponsors apparently hope to have edited versions shown later on local stations.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey had called the film "the sickest political program" ever planned for television.

The Democratic National Committee bought an unedited copy of the film, and newsmen at Democratic headquarters were shown enlarged photos said to have been taken from it.

TOPLESS SUIT — They included a side-rear view of a girl in a topless swim suit, a near nude man, and several shots of street rioting.

The Citizens for Goldwater-Miller had the film made and titled it "Choice." The group bought 125 copies.

The Republican presidential candidate used the film for his first time Wednesday in a hotel room in Philadelphia. Later his press secretary, Paul Wagner, said "he does not believe it is appropriate for a political campaign in its present form."

Pontiac Twp. Youth Shot While Hunting

A 15-year-old Pontiac Township youth is in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after suffering gunshot wounds to his face and chest in a hunting accident yesterday.

Michael Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis, 907 N. Opdyke, was hunting with his father in a field across from the home when the accident occurred.

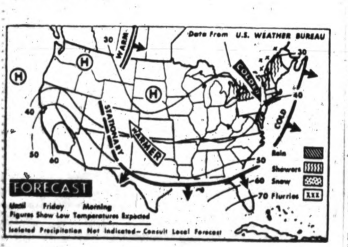

Sheriff's deputies said the youth was apparently hit when his father fired his 12 gauge shotgun at a pheasant.

Dixie County Jury to Get Rights Case?

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department may drop efforts to obtain federal grand jury indictments in the slaying of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, informed sources said today.

The sources, who declined to be identified, said the department had made no final decision but was considering a move to ask the Neshoba County grand jury at Philadelphia to bear the case.

The sources said one factor leading the government to consider presenting its evidence to the county grand jury was that the federal body could indict only on violations of civil rights laws, while the county jury could indict for murder, a capital offense.

The federal grand jury sat at Biloxi last month and heard evidence in the Philadelphia case.

ONE-VOTE MARGIN

Court sources said the 23-member grand jury decided by a one-vote margin against indicting in the slaying of the three workers. Such grand jury matters are never revealed officially.

The three workers were Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both New York white men, and James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro.

They dropped from sight after their arrest on speeding charges at Philadelphia on June 21. Their bodies were found Aug. 4 in an earthen dam on a farm near Philadelphia.

A federal source said the government asked the federal grand jury for 14 indictments, including indictments in the slaying and in other cases.

INSPECT EVIDENCE

The jury inspected masses of information and maps presented by FBI agents and heard witnesses from Neshoba County.

The Neshoba County grand jury was in session at the time the federal jury met on the Gulf Coast, but it took no action after the Justice Department ordered FBI agents not to testify.

Circuit Judge O. H. Barnett blamed the government for blocking the state investigation and the county grand jury charged a number of Neshoba residents "have been unofficially accused by the FBI agents as having taken part in the homicide."

Romney Tells Plan to Curb Youth Crime

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney, citing crime figures he said "shocked the shoes off me," announced Wednesday a 15-point program to help young people in Michigan.

Speaking to a Detroit Boys Day program, the governor said he had just learned that two-thirds of major crimes in Michigan are being committed by persons 21 years old and younger. And half of those offenders, he said, are younger than 17.

Until release of the state police figures, said Romney, he had used reports showing that half of major Michigan crimes were committed by young persons.

The specifics of Romney's program were released in a written statement and are based on studies by the Michigan Youth Commission and statewide citizens conferences.

MUST THINK

The governor told nearly 100 boys who were theoretically in city jobs for the day that the "very success of America makes it necessary for you fellows to act and think on a broader basis."

These were the 15 points Romney cited for future action:

- Legislation to pinpoint responsibility for bringing social services to bear on cases of neglected, cruddy or abandoned.
- Legislation to permit local schools to operate day-care programs to assist in cultural and social upgrading of preschool disadvantaged children.
- Continue efforts to reorganize county welfare departments.
- Reduce social worker case loads.

Plans 'Blitz' in Campaign

LANSING (AP) — A three-day "campaign blitz" through 33 Michigan cities will be led by Gov. George Romney next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Republican headquarters announced.

Allison Green, GOP candidate for secretary of state, and Meyer Warshawsky, nominee for attorney general, are scheduled to accompany Romney with other state and local candidates appearing intermittently.

The schedule:
Tuesday—Detroit, Rochester, Oxford, Epeur, Imlay City, Marlette, Kingston, Bad Axe, Caro.

Wednesday — Saginaw, Pontiac, Midland, Clare, Mt. Pleasant, Alma, St. Johns, Owasco, Howell, Mason, Charlotte.
Thursday—Battle Creek, Hastings, Plainfield, Allegan, South Haven, Niles, Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Three Rivers, Coldwater, Hillsdale, Albion, Jackson, Detroit.

Says Russia Building Troop Force in Cuba

BAY CITY (AP) — A campaign aide of Republican Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater Wednesday night charged the Soviet Union is again enlarging its contingent of troops in Cuba as part of a buildup which has been going on for the past three or four weeks. Stimson, a member of Goldwater's Latin America task force, spoke here in connection with a bandwagon touring Michigan to promote the candidacy of Goldwater and Rep. William Miller.

James Garrett, head coach of Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove, Pa., has compiled a 4-year coaching record of 32 wins, 2 losses and 1 tie. His team is unbeaten in nine games last year.

Episcopalians Eye 'Open Communion'

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A major advance in Christian unity efforts was seen here today in prospective steps by the Episcopal Church to open its celebration of the Lord's Supper to baptized members of other denominations.

The move would revamp the church's long-standing rules allowing only members to share in Holy Communion, under ordinary circumstances.

Although still to be ratified by the House of Deputies, the change was approved without dissent Wednesday by the House of Bishops.

It would clear away one of the oft-cited obstacles in reunion talks that have been going on for three years with five other major denominations.

In the midst of the current ecumenical movement, the bishops said "the time has come" when Christian churches should welcome to the Lord's table all "duly baptized Christians" belonging to other denominations.

Asking acceptance of this principle and revision of the present regulations, the bishops said they acted to show "our solemn intention to press resolutely toward that unity in Christ in which painful separations at the heart of the church will be impossible."

Twins' Rookie May Be Called to Army

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — A Twin Cities television station said Wednesday night it had learned that Minnesota rookie baseball star Tony Oliva apparently would be drafted into the armed forces within 60 days.

However, Twins President Calvin Griffith said he knew nothing of the report and expects Oliva to be clear of the draft for another year.

The other five denominations engaged in the unity talks—the United Presbyterians, Methodists, Evangelical United Brethren, Disciples of Christ and United Church of Christ—all already practice "open" communion.

Fight Promoter Dies

TORONTO (AP) — Jack (Deacon) Allen, 71, a fight promoter for more than half a century, died Wednesday night after an apparent heart attack.

The Lutheran church has been predominant in Denmark since 1536, although religious toleration of all denominations is practiced.

Herbert Hoover

The mortal world lost a noble being when HERBERT HOOVER was called to his final reward at the age of 90.

He had won renown as a statesman, administrator and humanitarian, and had served his country as its 31st President from 1928 to 1932.

Prior to the presidency, Mr. Hoover had been secretary of commerce, after having directed a far-flung program of relief for impoverished European countries during World War I.

HOOVER

In the years following his term as Chief Executive, he made worldwide food surveys for the American government and acted as chairman of the nonpartisan Hoover Commission studying executive branch operations.

Born in poverty and orphaned at 10, Mr. Hoover worked his way through college, became a top-flight mining engineer and a wealthy man at 28.

During his term in the White House America was hit by the Great Depression, and as President he bore unjustified criticism and even abuse for the economic catastrophe. But he bore it uncomplainingly and philosophically, and as the years passed he steadily reclaimed the admiration and respect of his countrymen.

As Mr. Hoover goes to the spiritual reward that assuredly awaits him, the dedicated completion of his earthly mission well merits the divine accolade, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Time Saved by Hurry

These are busy times, as everybody knows, and science is working overtime to speed up everything we do so we will have more time to speed up activities made possible by the time we save by speeding up our original activities.

The latest time saver for busy, busy people is "touch tone" push-button telephone dialing.

This cuts the average dialing time from fourteen seconds to five seconds.

Wow! Nine seconds saved at the phone!

Think what this will mean to teen-agers (and a lot of adults). Now they can talk for two hours AND nine seconds!

Britain's Top Parties Close After Election

In winning a not unexpected victory in the recent general election, Britain's Labor Party took over the reins of government that had been in Conservative hands for 13 years.

It was a close finish, however, and by no means constituted a mandate for the new regime to push the kingdom farther toward the socialism that has already marked the path of government.

The election cost the Conservative Party 56 seats in the House of Commons, leaving them 304 of the total number of 630. The Laborites gained a like number of seats, giving them 317 in the parliamentary body.

Although Labor has a theoretical majority of four seats, it has by no means a practical one, and will have to form a working alliance with the Liberal Party's tiny Commons representation of nine seats.

Under such a slim majority of power, there is little likelihood of significant shifts in the government's domestic or foreign policies.

Borne on the tide of the scandals that rocked the Conservative Party, 48-year-old Harold Wilson and his surging Labor Party seemed headed a scant year ago for a landslide win.

But under Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, successor to HAROLD MACMILLAN on his retirement because of ill health, the Conservatives staged a remarkable comeback to make the election outlook a virtual toss-up.

True to tradition, our English cousins have again muddled through, in reaffirmation, if any were needed, that there'll always be an England.

'32 Hoover Loss Closed an Era

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The greatest single difference between President Herbert Hoover, who died Tuesday, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt was perhaps this: Hoover was more rigid. It showed in the way they fought the depression.

Neither the self-made Hoover nor the born-rich Roosevelt seemed to have a clearly thought out philosophy of government and its responsibilities. Neither man was an intellectual.

The long tradition of rugged individualism and a minimum of government interference in the lives of Americans reached its peak in the latter part of the 19th century and the early part of the 20th.

In the 1932 campaign, Hoover spent most of his time defending what he said or had not — done. Roosevelt made proposals, bobbed, weaved, vacillated, reversed his ground and contradicted himself.

Hoover had been berated for three years for not throwing more of the government's resources into the struggle to revitalize the economy, although under him the government went into debt trying to help out.

It seems ironic now, but the Democrats criticized him not because he had done too little but because he had done too much.

Roosevelt proposed increasing aid to the unemployed while wanting to cut spending, which he even promised to reduce 25 per cent. Yet, as it turned out, in his 12 years in office he never balanced the budget once.

Roosevelt was flexible, willing to experiment, try new ideas, abandon ones that didn't work, listen to advice, and as president, became for millions the great father of them all.

Out of that, all else flowed: Social Security, labor legislation, unemployment pay, more jobs for the unemployed. Hoover was the end of an era, Roosevelt the beginning of a new one.

HOVER realized it. In the last speech of his 1932 campaign he stated the choice before the American people:

"This campaign is more than a contest between two men. It is more than a contest between parties. It is a contest between two philosophies of government."

But the people — with so many of them ill-clad, ill-housed, ill-fed and frightened — were willing to take the chance on big government.

Hoover had been a brilliant administrator as secretary of commerce. And being such an administrator might have been enough if prosperity had continued. With the depression he had to be more than an administrator. He had to be an innovator. And he wasn't.

'Tis Better For His Having Been Here

David Lawrence Asks:

Was LBJ Pledge Impulsive Act?

WASHINGTON — President Johnson made a surprising statement to the American people last Sunday night, but it attracted scant attention.

Without consulting Congress or even the leaders of both parties, Mr. Johnson announced a decision involving the possible use of nuclear weapons force against Red China or any other country possessing nuclear weapons which may threaten the security of non-nuclear nations.

LAWRENCE

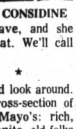

Bob Considine Says:

No Part of Your Innards Missed at Mayo Clinic

ROCHESTER, Minn. — A checkup at Mayo Clinic begins at a jarringly early hour, for a bloke who habitually thinks about going to dinner at 9 or 10 at night, and then later on the town.

You find yourself at 6 a.m. in West 8, a spacious waiting room done in rubbed paneling, a d colorful murals and filled with comfortable leather chairs.

You hand your brown folder to a nurse on the other side of a counter, the Waldorf might wish to have, and she says, "Have a seat. We'll call you."

CONSIDINE

You sit down and look around. An astonishing cross-section of people come to Mayo's: rich, poor, farmer, urbanite, old folks in wheel chairs with plasma seeping into them, twisted kids running around the place, nuns, priests, U. N. diplomats, the gravely ill, the self-pitying hypochondriacs, valuable ball players, actors, TV stars, and executives on company time.

Then an arrow through your head. Your name is being called! You stand up, certain that every eye in the room is "The nations that do not seek national nuclear weapons can be sure that if they need our strong support against some threat of nuclear blackmail, then they will have it."

A policy of such far-reaching significance was thus made by one man and proclaimed to the world.

Whether this was an impulsive act or the result of high-level discussion has not been revealed. But it certainly runs contrary to the spirit of what the President has said.

In view of the President's earlier commitments, the sudden declaration that the United States would assist with its nuclear force any of the nations that might be threatened with attack by Red China is a startling development in American policy.

The United States, ever since the Eisenhower administration, has been a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, generally known as SEATO, but there is no explicit pledge on the part of the United States to render military aid.

This is something to be decided by the President and the Congress only after a particular contingency arises which might call for American assistance.

It is unlike the North Atlantic Treaty, which requires the United States to regard immediately an attack on any member of the alliance as being the same thing as an attack on the territory of the United States.

Mr. Johnson's declaration, however, of his intention to help all nonnuclear powers is a sweeping statement and presumably implies that nuclear force will be interposed in such a way as to deter or repel Red China or any other nation from attacking the countries which do not have nuclear power. But this could, of course, "escalate" into a nuclear war.

Up to the time of the President's speech to the nation last Sunday, no intimation had been given that the United States was willing to use her nuclear power directly in support of any non-nuclear nation outside of NATO.

Tough Brezhnev Leads Russia

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Leonid Ilyich Brezhnev will be no easier to deal with than Nikita Khrushchev.

The new Russian boss is smoother, more dignified and reserved. He knows how to cut his losses and jump out of situations that no longer are profitable.

But for the past 26 years he's been the man Khrushchev has called to every time he's had a job calling for a tough, ruthless administrator.

Brezhnev didn't become a Communist until he was 25. He made little progress until Khrushchev discovered him at the age of 32. In the Ukrainian purges of the late 1930s he was Khrushchev's eager lieutenant. Those purges were so drastic and the Red rule over the Ukraine was so oppressive that in World War II many Ukrainians welcomed the advancing German armies.

When Khrushchev became a military commissar in the war, he took Brezhnev along. Brezhnev made major general at 37 and was chief of the political board of the southern front. He racked up a reputation for ruthlessness even among the tough army men.

After the war, Brezhnev

Taste Lacking in Talent Selection for TV Shows

I never aspired to be a TV artist until I realized I now meet all the requirements — no brains and no talent.

After seeing the singing group called "The Animals," I can qualify. I used to enjoy the Ed Sullivan Show but something has affected his taste for talent.

I have been reading magazines and newspaper articles perpetuating slander against the Senator from Arizona while striving to whitewash our President.

Non-Conformist Will Vote Republican

You and your children are being brainwashed. I am a non-conformist but this year I am a Republican, mainly because we need a man who isn't afraid to say what he thinks. I have been kicked out of every social group at school and cornered by my teachers (not all of the teachers) because I am not afraid to express my opinions.

A man who will lead us to a better and greater nation is Barry Goldwater.

Johnson Voter Remembers Depression

It's a free country and anyone can vote as he pleases, but I remember the depression and shortage of work. The young families would be hurt, not the old-timers with seniority. I'm for Johnson and the democratic way.

Says Moderates Are Danger in Politics

The moderate is the most dangerous figure in American politics. He mouths words without meaning, cheerfully embraces coexistence and shrinks from any hazard.

He has wasted the blood and expense of two world wars we won, and a limited war we refused to win. Presently he is ushering in a new form of non-war in which we have no hope of ultimate victory.

We can return to constitutional government and national sovereignty by electing Goldwater.

'Excessive Speed Unnecessary in Cars'

We have various kinds of highways, cars and drivers — new, young and old, bad and good, sane or dangerous. Many good drivers can still use old cars, but safely.

Must manufacturers produce cars of powerful speeds for all when just police, doctors, ambulance drivers and firemen are legally entitled to exceed speed limits in their line of duty?

A car that will go over 100 m.p.h. is unnecessary on highways limited to 70 m.p.h. top speed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although all 435 seats in the House of Representatives will be filled in the Nov. 3 election, political pros of both major parties look for close contests in less than one-fifth of the districts.

In those districts, scattered across the country, the voters may decide whether Democrats will retain control of the House and whether their now-helmy margin will be whittled by Republicans.

Most of the districts in which the political experts are doing the hardest work to keep the seats they now have and to pick up others are so-called marginal areas with a history of giving the winners very slim victories. Oddly enough, the men in charge of over-all direction of the rival congressional campaigns are well in agreement on where the going will be the toughest.

DISAGREE ON RESULTS

But in their private conversations they are in sharp disagreement on the results.

"We should come out with a net gain of at least 10 seats," said a spokesman for the Democrats. "We will lose some but we will win more than we will lose. If there is a Johnson landslide, our gains will be much bigger."

"I don't see how we can fail to pick up a minimum of 10 seats, and perhaps 15," said his Republican counterpart. "This is based on the assumption that even if Goldwater loses, he will run a respectable race. If there's a landslide, all bets are off."

A net pickup of even 15 seats for the Republicans would not give them numerical control of the House, for which 218 votes are needed. Republicans now have 178 seats, including two vacancies. For control, they would have to chalk up a net gain of 40 seats.

NOMINAL CONTROL

Democrats, on the other hand, could lose 39 of their present 257 seats and still keep nominal control.

Republicans look to the south and the border states for their heaviest inroads into the Democratic ranks. To them, their chances look good for three gains in Alabama, one in Florida, as many as five in Georgia, two in Kentucky, two in Maryland, four in Missouri, two in North Carolina, one in South Carolina, two in Tennessee, three in Texas and three in Virginia.

The Republicans also believe they may pick up seven seats in California now held by Democrats, five in Illinois, three in Indiana, three in New York, three in Pennsylvania, and two each in Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Oregon and Wisconsin. They are hopeful of single gains in Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio and West Virginia.

Democrats concede that there is some basis for the Republican hopes in many of the contested districts but in others they say the GOP is guilty of wishful thinking.

POSSIBLE GAINS

Democrats say the signs point to these possible gains for them:

Red Flights to Be Coed

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has disclosed plans to make future space-flights coed affairs.

"There was no special reason why a woman did not take part of the latest flight," U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences President Mstislav Keldysh said yesterday.

"No doubt there will be a mixed flight in the future," Keldysh spoke to newsmen during a press conference for the three Soviet spacemen who completed the world's first multimanned flight last week.

Among the guests of honor was the world's first space woman, Valentina Tereshkova, who made her flight last year in a single-place capsule, accompanied by a spaceman flying a parallel orbit in his capsule.

Valentina, who has since married astronaut Andrian Nikolayev and given birth to a girl, smiled slightly as Keldysh made his statement and looked at her.

PROBLEMS UNMENTIONED

Keldysh did not go into any of the problems that a mixed flight might bring.

LET'S HIGH I.Q. — This Yorkshire boar, designated "Mr. High Iowa Quality," was chosen yesterday from a field of 10 to go to President Johnson's Texas ranch. When the President was in Des Moines Oct. 7, he expressed regret at not being able to buy a Yorkshire boar. Iowa fanciers of the breed put on the contest and the Iowa Pork Producers Association will give the boar to the President. The entry of Dick Juhl of Waverly (right) was declared the winner. Discussing the prize animal with him is Kenneth Fulk, secretary of the Iowa State Fair Board.

White House Staff Rechecked

WASHINGTON (AP) — All staff employees of the White House have been asked to fill out new security applications in the wake of the Walter W. Jenkins case.

Jenkins, a top aide to President Johnson for 25 years, resigned at the President's request last week after it became known he had been arrested twice, in 1959 and earlier this month, on morals charges. Johnson said he had never known earlier of either arrest.

Staff members from top assistants down to stenographers were asked to fill out standard forms entitled "Security Investigation Data for Sensitive Position." Applications of this type are sent routinely to the FBI for checking against its files.

Ordinarily, the FBI makes no independent investigation in the absence of derogatory information in its files.

QUESTIONS INCLUDE

Questions on the form include dates and places of residence back to 1947. Except for traffic arrests carrying a fine of $30 or less, the employee is asked to list any arrests, even for investigation and questioning and for which no formal charge was filed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and poverty program, will receive the 1964 peace award of the Catholic Peace Association for International Peace at the organization's 37th annual conference opening here today.

Honor 2 GIs for Posing as Cong

SAIGON (UPP) — Two American servicemen have been decorated with South Viet Nam's cross of gallantry for posing as Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The two received this country's third highest military award for their role in an unusual operation.

In it, they joined an entire company of government troops and donned conical hats and black peasant garb for a raid deep into Communist-controlled territory.

An American military spokesman today said Capt. Robert D. Manhan, 32, of North Hollywood, Calif., and Sgt. I.C. Norman C. Smith, whose wife, Gail, lives in Trenton, N.J., were given their awards along with three other American servicemen earlier this month in a ceremony in Binh Dinh Province, 300 miles northeast of here.

The highly successful raids resulted in the deaths of 48 Communist guerrillas and the capture of 22. Government losses totaled only six killed and one wounded.

Theme of the three-day conference is "Population Growth: A Threat to Peace?"

In a prepared keynote address, Dr. George N. Shuster, assistant to the president of the University of Notre Dame, called for a new awareness on the part of Catholics to world population problems.

He said "the United States should certainly not make population control a prerequisite for foreign aid."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation-March of Dimes organization, said the fight against birth defects is being hampered by parents who keep defective children "in the garret, under cover, behind closed doors" because of misplaced guilt complex feelings.

Too many parents and grandparents believe such defects are punishment for their own past sins or other causes for guilt, O'Connor said Wednesday at a conference of campaign workers.

He said that 250,000 mentally or physically defective infants are born annually in the United States, "an average of one every two minutes, day in and day out." Some 30,000 died each year from such defects, he added.

By hiding defective children, he said, some who might benefit from new treatments are denied them. He also said there is considerable ignorance of available treatment for certain defects.

FEDERAL'S—DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

New Rescue: Parachuting in Reverse

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The plane levels off at 500 feet as it approaches the clearing. Suddenly, a man hurtles almost straight up over the treetops. He has been sky-hooked.

In five to six minutes, the man will have been reeled to safety in the back of the plane by means of a nylon rope.

Sky-hook is the U.S. Army's latest method of rescuing men and equipment.

"We think of it as parachuting in reverse," said Sgt. Raymond Norton Jr. "We had plenty of ways to get them in, but we needed a way to get them out if they couldn't walk or ride out."

OPERATIONS SERGEANT

Norton, 34, an Oklahoman with 16 years in the Army, is operations sergeant for the advance training committee of the Special Forces training group at Ft. Bragg.

He has made more than 200 regular parachute jumps, including two in combat with the 17th Airborne Infantry in Korea, and 106 free falls jumps from as high as 23,500 feet.

"I've been sky-hooked only once," he said. "But I can tell you it's a nice easy ride and quite a different sensation from parachuting."

Sky-hook was given to Special Forces at Ft. Bragg's John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare last January. While perfecting the new rescue tool, the training group has made 28 live pickups and about 35 dummy pickups.

MAINTAINS SPEED

The hook itself is a metal A-frame with a 25-foot span attached to the nose of a twin-engine Caribou aircraft. The plane is large enough to maintain sufficient speed and stability against the drag of up to 300 pounds at the end of a 500-foot rope.

The nylon rope is braided for strength and flexibility so that the initial pull does not break the man's neck. It is held aloft by a helium-filled balloon.

The rope, balloon, helium, helmet and special suit — a reinforced coverall with a nylon harness — may be dropped from the plane in an aerial container.

On the ground, the balloon is inflated, the rope is attached and sent aloft. The man is ready for pickup within 10 minutes.

The plane approaches at an air speed of 110 knots to engage the loop of the pickup rope with the A-frame hook.

"You feel a slight tug at first," said Norton. "Your body probably couldn't take the sudden jerk you'd get if the rope weren't flexible."

The plane climbs slightly, the rope is pulled tight against its belly and two men in the plane grab the rope with a hook and pull it into the rear of the plane. A 50-square foot clearing is big enough for a pickup without dragging a man or equipment into trees or other obstacles.

GUIDE FOR PILOT

Small, multicolored flags attached to the rope help guide the pilot in the daytime. Blinking lights with another light on the balloon are used for night pickups.

Sky-hook can be used, Norton pointed out, to rescue downed flyers on land or water, for medical evacuation and for rescuing political prisoners or other important persons.

It is excellent in situations where enemy ground fire makes the use of a helicopter impossible.

Miller: Corruption Cloak Darkens the White House

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. William F. Miller says there has been a "cover-up of corruption" in Washington that "casts its shadow over the White House itself."

He made the charge during a renewed attack on President Johnson in Dayton, Ohio, Wednesday night before flying here to attend today's memorial service for former President Herbert Hoover.

The Republican vice presidential nominee had canceled a campaign tour through Pennsylvania to be here for the service.

He planned to confer briefly with Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP candidate for president.

Too Much Stress on 'Pure' Science?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A nuclear physicist says America's national security could be hurt by an over-emphasis on "pure" science at the expense of engineering skill.

Dr. Gregory Breit, professor of physics at Yale University, said, "in an ideal world, pure science could not be overdone. But, in a world in which the U.S.S.R. can put three men into orbit and we cannot, I think it is overdone."

Dr. Breit made the remarks Wednesday night before receiving the Franklin Medal, highest award of the Franklin Institute.

before going to the church where Hoover's body lies.

QUESTIONED INTEGRITY

In Dayton, Miller questioned the integrity of the Johnson administration and declared that a "cloud of suspicion" hangs over the White House.

Miller invoked the names of Walter Jenkins, Bobby Baker and Billie Sol Estes, each of whom he described as a close friend or associate of the Democratic president.

He said Jenkins "has been involved for five years in a pitiful, 'sordid situation' that made him subject to 'blackmail and compromise as to the highest secrets of government.'"

Jenkins was asked to resign as an aide to Johnson last week after it was revealed that he had been arrested in 1959 and again earlier this month on morals charges.

'AMASSED FORTUNE'

Miller said Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority, "amassed a fortune by abusing the influence of his official position" and now "hides behind Lyndon Johnson's orders that no facts be let out before the election."

Miller said that Estes, a Texas businessman, "stands exposed as a swindler and influence peddler."

"On top of all that," he continued, "this administration gave us the TFX aircraft scandal involving political influence in Texas, at a tremendous added expense to all taxpayers."

Miller addressed a rally crowd of about 2,000 at Dayton.

New Bars Not Candy

CHICAGO (AP) — A teenager with a penchant for candy has admitted more than 100 burglaries in the last nine months, police say.

John Doyle Cooley, 19, was arrested on the back steps of an apartment building Wednesday, playing golf.

carrying 30 chocolate bars in a brown paper bag, police said.

Castro Says Cuba to Get Constitution

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fidel Castro said today that Cuba, whose constitution was scrapped when he took power, soon will have a "socialist constitution."

"It will be the fundamental law of our state," the prime minister said, addressing a rally of young Communists in Santa Clara, central Cuba. "It will delineate the duties of each citizen."

Castro also told the young Communists in a broadcast monitored here that food rationing must be ended.

First Stopping-Point for U.S. Immigrants to Be National Shrine

NEW YORK (AP) — Ellis Island, where millions of immigrants first set foot in America, is to be a national shrine.

The big, red brick buildings that once teemed with the throngs from Europe are now empty and decaying. The island, overgrown with weeds, is deserted except for Topper, a dog that patrols it night and day.

Various proposals for the island in New York Harbor had come to nothing.

But Wednesday Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior, said he would recommend to President Johnson that Ellis Island be made a national historic site, with parks, gardens, promenades, a revolving restaurant and an immigration museum.

STATUE OF LIBERTY

It would be an adjunct to Liberty Island, where the Statue of Liberty stands, with a bridge connecting it to a new state park 900 feet away in Jersey City, N.J.

A spokesman for the Interior Department said Udall's recommendation virtually assured the plan. The only question remaining is whether it should be done by presidential order or congressional action.

Small Japan Quake

TOKYO (AP) — A mild earthquake shook Tokyo and the surrounding Kanto area today. No damage was reported.

The island has been abandoned for ten years. The last alien left on Nov. 12, 1954. Between 1892 and 1954 the island was the gateway to America for 16 million immigrants.

Whose Finger Is on N-Button in Soviet Union?

By HENRY S. BRASHEAR
MOSCOW (AP) — Who's on Moscow's end of the hot line now? Whose finger is on the nuclear rocket button?

Until Nikita Khrushchev's unexpected ouster last week, the answer to both questions was simple — and the same. Now it's more complicated. If President Johnson decides to have a talk on his direct line to the Kremlin, he presumably would get Alexei N. Kosygin. As premier, Kosygin heads the Soviet government.

But such significant things as the lineup of portraits of Soviet leaders displayed in Moscow show that Leonid I. Brezhnev is the top man now. He took over Khrushchev's job as Communist party first secretary.

In the last 40 years of Communist rule, the party secretary has always been top man; he has been premier only 18 of those years. The premier the rest of the time has been a technician.

TELETYPE CIRCUIT

This might not be much of a problem for Johnson since the hot line is a teletype circuit, not a telephone. Talking to two people on the phone at once might be confusing, but an agreed message could be put on the teletype from Moscow.

The finger-on-the-button question gets more involved due to the vagueness of the Soviet constitution.

It does not designate a peacetime commander in chief for Soviet military forces as Johnson is commander in chief of the American military establishment.

Under the Soviet constitution the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, which declares war and concludes peace, is presumably the top commander. But the Presidium has 33 members, which is a bit too many fingers for one button.

SCATTERED REFERENCES

Beginning in 1961, there were scattered official references to Khrushchev as commander in chief. One statement indicated Khrushchev already had the role in January 1960, when Soviet military doctrine formally accepted rockets with thermonuclear warheads as the principal weapon.

In both Washington and Moscow it is recognized that the speedup in the processes of modern warfare requires quick reactions. That means a clear-cut process of taking decisions. The clearest way is for one man to be responsible.

Lacking an officially proclaimed commander in chief, Premier Kosygin might seem to be the man. But his portrait is second, and what No. 1 man would want to turn over the decision on massive devastation to his deputy?

On the other hand, if the Russians mean anything at all by their constitution, how can a man like Brezhnev — who technically is not even part of the government — have his finger on the button?

Many non-Communist observers of the Soviet scene have felt the system naturally gravitates toward one-man rule.

If the trend continues, Brezhnev will follow the example of Stalin and Khrushchev and add the premiership to the party leadership, or some other man will move in and ultimately take both jobs.

Need Less Beds, More Staff to Care for Mental Patients

Changes in the method of care of the mentally ill has caused a drop in the need for beds, but has uncovered a big need for more professional staff in Oakland County.

This observation was made Tuesday at a meeting of the comprehensive mental health planning subcommittee of the County Mental Health Services Board.

Richard Arthaud, director of social services for Pontiac State Hospital, and chairman of the rehabilitation and after-care unit of the subcommittee, pointed out the changes.

He said that the switch from custodial care to active treatment had revealed a need for professional staff people and decreased the need for beds.

Arthaud added that the diminishing need for beds was noticeable along with the increasing number of patients.

TREATMENT CHANGE
This results, he said, because of the changes in treatment and better education of the public to mental illness.

Pointing out the need for more staff people, Arthaud said that Pontiac State Hospital had only one social worker from 1956 to 1964.

This gave the worker a patient load up to 150 at times, which meant that sometimes he couldn't see a patient for two months.

The hospital gained another social worker this spring. The two together have a caseload of 230 patients.

OTHER CHAIRMAN

Other subcommittee chairman include Pontiac General Hospital Administrator Harold B. Eiler, inpatient; Mrs. Harvey Greene, 1040 Country Club, Bloomfield Hills, outpatient; Dr. Edward Raney of Huntington Woods, schools; Mrs. Frank Zuzich of Royal Oak, retarded children, and Mrs. Olin Thomas, 8900 Gale, White Lake Township, education and public information. Elmer A. Hartwig of Royal Oak is over-all chairman of the comprehensive mental health planning subcommittee.

Belittles China as N-Power

Never Will Equal U.S. or Russia, Says Rusk

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says Communist China's nuclear power never will equal that of the United States and the Soviet Union.

He discounted the detonation of a Chinese nuclear device last week, saying it would be "a very considerable number of years before they have anything significant."

Rusk told a news conference Wednesday he still opposed admittance of Communist China to the United Nations.

"Peking has pursued an aggressive policy," he declared. "The United Nations is not a reform school."

Rusk, who will address the southern regional meeting of the American Bar Association today, said the main foreign policy problem facing the United States is deciding how to deal with "the fact that nuclear weapons are in competitive hands."

The possibility of nuclear war through accident, carelessness or other factors, declared Rusk, is the major problem with which nuclear-armed governments must be concerned.

Asked about the change of government in Moscow, Rusk said the Communists still believed in a world revolution.

"We are going to have an ebb and flow of relations between the free world and the Communists," he added.

Rusk said the Chinese Communist call for a summit conference would have no tactical purpose. The Communists are "trying to avoid some of the high criticism about atmospheric testing," he reported.

If the Red Chinese wanted a conference, he said, they could contribute to it "by leaving their neighbors alone."

Rusk said the U.S. government had been aware of deep differences between the Soviet Union and Communist China, but he added that he expected further exploration of a possible settlement of the differences between the two nations.

LEGAL AID — This young lady will receive free legal representation through the Oakland County Legal Aid Society, a UF-supported agency. In this instance, she will be represented by attorney Carlton A. Shafer, executive director of the Society.

Serves Entire County

UF Supports Legal Aid

The Oakland County Legal Aid Society is one of the 55 agencies which will receive support from the current Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign.

The agency provides legal counsel to residents of the community who are unable to pay for private legal aid.

Established in 1960 through the efforts of the Oakland County Bar Association, the legal aid office is located in Room 221 of the National Building on West Huron in Pontiac. A fully qualified attorney, Carlton A. Shafer, is the executive director.

The office is open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

The Legal Aid Society received its initial operating funds from the Oakland County Bar Association, the Ford Foundation, the National Legal Aid and Defender Association and the Birmingham Junior League.

ACCEPTED BY FUND

Subsequently, the society was accepted by both the Pontiac Area United Fund and the Detroit United Community Services as a voluntary agency eligible for their financial support.

From 10 to 15 people come daily to the office seeking legal advice. There were 1,500 applicants during the past year.

About a third of the people applying for aid are found to be financially capable of assuming the cost of a private lawyer, and are referred to the Lawyers Referral Service of the Oakland County Bar Association in the county courthouse.

Although the legal aid office serves all of Oakland County, about 38 per cent of the clients are from the Pontiac area.

New Cure May Save Early Births

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The disease that killed the late President John F. Kennedy's infant son last year, and 25,000 infants yearly, may have a cure — epsom salts, a common home remedy, a medical school professor says.

Called hyaline membrane disease, it strikes mostly premature infants by forming a membrane in the lungs, shutting out needed oxygen and building up fluids, causing suffocation.

The tentative cure was reported by Dr. Daniel Stowens, associate professor at the University of Louisville School of Medicine. It was described at a meeting Wednesday of the College of American Pathologists.

Dr. Stowens' paper said the infants are given enemas of epsom salts to draw water from body tissues.

County Unit Backs Report

To Ask Airport Study OK

A resolution recommending adoption of the Leigh Fisher & Associates report on the future of aviation in Oakland County will be presented to the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday by the committee on aviation.

A second resolution will also be offered, recommending that the chairman of the board appoint a special subcommittee to meet with the Pontiac City Commission.

The joint group would decide the future of the city-owned Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The aviation committee will recommend that the special committee be composed of representatives of the ways and means, buildings and grounds and aviation committees and the board of auditors.

The two resolutions were drawn up in preliminary form yesterday in a meeting of the aviation committee, which accepted the $10,000 Leigh Fisher study report Aug. 28.

RECOMMENDS DEVELOPMENT

The report recommends joint city-county development of Pontiac Municipal Airport as a general aviation facility, catering mainly to corporate and private aircraft.

It also contains a master plan for development of the county-owned Allen Airport, located in Pontiac and Orion townships, as a reserve facility to handle future surplus air traffic from Pontiac Municipal.

The City Commission has indicated its preference to sell its interest in the local airfield, however, rather than invest any more money in it.

The city's interest is presently valued at $1,165,000.

PROPOSAL REJECTED
Joint expansion of the airport was proposed by the city in 1962, but the proposal was rejected by the Board of Supervisors.

The county later offered $700,000 worth of land for the city's interest. The commission refused the offer.

Wallace B. Hudson of Troy, chairman of the aviation committee, expressed hope this morning that a special committee can reach agreement with city officials soon, as some $750,000 in federal aid for development of the field hinges on a commitment being made to the Federal Aviation Agency by Nov. 1.

Barry's Wife Busy on Handshake Trail

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Barry Goldwater shook hands with more than 4,000 persons — most of them women — and stood in receiving lines for three hours in Colorado's three largest cities.

She made the trip Wednesday to Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Denver on behalf of her husband's candidacy for president.

Mrs. Goldwater wound up the day by attending a private dinner at the state's executive mansion. Gov. John A. Love, her host for the occasion, made one of the speaking speeches for Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania at the Republican National Convention where Goldwater won the nomination.

Not a 'Doggy,' Dear, It's a Bear Out There

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — "Look at the doggy, daddy." Those innocent words from a 20-month-old child were the first indication that Illicob, a snarling Kodiak bear, had broken out of its cage at the Buffalo City Zoo yesterday.

Little Phyllis Christopher was believed to be the first person to see the angry 1,300-pound beast after it had forced its cage door open. It had shaken the lock off with sheer brute strength and threatened to escape.

Phyllis, unaware that her "doggy" was the bear, pointed the threatening animal out to her father, Robert S. Christopher immediately warned zoo officials that Illicob had crashed free of its cage which faces near a main entrance to the zoo.

Fortunately for zoo keepers, however, the bear trapped itself near the cage and never roamed beyond the deep moat which surrounds the animal's enclosure. The problem was getting Illicob back to its pit.

A sheriff's deputy fired about a half dozen doses of tranquilizers from a "capture gun," but the weapon and drugs had little effect on the bear. Illicob was as angry as ever.

COAX ANIMAL

Zoo officials then tried to coax the animal back with a dish of meat and honey. The bear sniffed disdainfully and stood its ground with only a five-foot railing separating it from the wider spaces of the zoo grounds.

Armed police standing by, the bear snarled and stomped for more than three hours when finally it decided it had enough. Illicob walked back to its pit.

Officials theorized that the bear decided to end the escape when the drugs began making it wobbly.

Tornado-Ravaged Michigan Township Crawls Back to Normal

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Struck by a tornado May 8, Chesterfield Township in southeastern Michigan has taken a full season to recuperate and begin rebuilding. The story of the community's comeback is told by Associated Press newsmen Karl Mantyla. Mantyla, who covered the original disaster, spent weeks interviewing persons affected by the tornado.)

By KARL MANTYLA
CHESTERFIELD TWP. (AP) — "What will we do if a tornado comes here?"

Thunder sounded as the boy questioned his mother. He splashed outside the living room of the house they rented after the May 8 tornado destroyed their home.

"There won't be another one," Mrs. Stanley Rivard, 43, told the 13-year-old Michael. "How do you know?" he asked. "How do you know?"

Memory of the twister that claimed 13 lives is fresh in Chesterfield Township.

WATCH CLOSELY
Today, residents watch closely when thunderheads puff angrily across the sky, threatening a storm or cloudburst that could shake the framework of the community they are rebuilding.

"Everybody in our family has a fear of storms," Mrs. Rivard said. Her father-in-law was among those killed. The wind scattered her five children across the yard, putting them among 96 persons hospitalized and hundreds treated for injuries.

One sign of hope: Michael's "memory is coming back" after brain injuries and he's allowed "to sit and fish and go bowling."

Included in the $4 million of ruined property was the Rivard home, one of 220 destroyed or heavily damaged.

TRASH IN CANAL
A full season after the big wind, splintered wood and trash float in a canal of the triangular-shaped township bordering Lake St. Clair.

Skeletal trees outline the sky over the southeastern Michigan community.

"They've filled an entire dumping ground — over three acres" with debris, building inspector Gordon Trombly said.

But there is a construction booklet in which, daily, homes in the $10,000-$14,000 class replace buildings leveled by wind.

WORK SEVEN DAYS
Hammers pound a seven-day-a-week beat on repairs and new dwellings that will be completed before winter and be worth an estimated $1 million.

"It's going to be just like a new subdivision," said Carl Brandenburg, township supervisor. The community will be completely rebuilt in another year, he predicted.

One weekend, a delegation of Menonites from White Pigeon, 160 miles away, joined residents in the cleanup tasks. Less than 10 per cent of the original rubble remains to be shoveled away, Brandenburg said. Power and telephone lines are all up, stretched from new pole to new pole.

The first family—the Rivards — has received final help from a tornado fund. Three Circuit Court judges are administering distribution of the $191,000 charity.

GIVEN DONATIONS
"Do you mean all that money is mine?" Rivard was quoted as saying when he became the first of nearly 187 persons given donations.

The amounts were not publicly revealed.

An artist who lost his easels and painting supplies received one payment, and "the lowest anybody got was $50," Brandenburg said.

The remainder, after payment of some $146,000 has been set aside for families with continuing medical bills. Hospital and doctor bills came first on the list of qualifications set for recipients.

The twister taught some awful lessons.

"I've learned some things from it," said 25-year-old Mrs. James Brown, who was hospitalized with her husband and three children. "When I hear a tornado coming I take heed." Her words then flashed back to a late June tornado alert when, she said, "I was terrified."

"There's nothing like a home with a basement," she said.

Most of the destroyed dwellings were without basements.

"If I ever rebuild that house," said Airman Clarence Sancrant, "it'll be built with a shelter." Sancrant, 24, stationed at nearby Selfridge Air Force Base, lost his 25-year-old wife, two daughters and a son.

LEGAL CUSTODY

"I've got to see if I can get legal custody" of the two remaining children. The girls, born by a previous marriage of Sancrant's wife, are 5-year-old Cebira and 9-year-old Sarah.

Sarah, older and more understanding, has dreamed of the tornado and "wanted to know why God didn't take her," Sancrant said.

The disaster's effect has been noticeable, too, in the family of T. Sgt. Marvin Lesher who lived in one of the houses the tornado hit near the base.

Lesher, 30, said his 2-year-old son, Douglas, "misses playing with Tony," the 10-year-old brother killed by the storm.

STAYS AWAKE

Before the tornado "Douglas would go right to sleep at night. Now he stays up at night and we have to put him to sleep. The boys were with each other all the time."

Lesher added "my wife is real scared every time it starts cloudburst over. It's imbedded in her."

Almost everyone hit by the twister lost hundreds to thousands of dollars, officials indicated.

Combinations of property and medical insurance plus donations failed to equal losses, most persons said.

NO INSURANCE

"I had no insurance on personal effects" worth $1,000, Lesher reported.

Sancrant salvaged "maybe five items, six items" from the uninsured contents of his ruined house. These included a bowling ball, a trunk filled with family mementoes and a camera loaded with film taken of Sarah and a daughter, Louise, 8, who was killed, in their first Communion dresses.

Days after the tornado, the Browns opened their mail to find a note from a larger living 50 miles away returning a diploma from Air Force officer school. The wind had carried it onto his property.

FIND A FRIEND

"After what we'd gone through and finding that—it's like finding a friend," Mrs. Brown said.

In the initial shock wave of the tornado, four hospitals cared for injured with scores of volunteers and casual regard for costs.

Later, medical bills mounted to a total of more than $42,000 at St. Joseph Mercy, Anderson Memorial and Mount Clemens General hospitals. No cost records were kept at Selfridge Air Force Base Hospital.

All but $3,400 of the bills was paid, at last report, largely through insurance. The tornado fund also helped payment with individual finances and Red Cross aid.

BUSINESS IS UP

But, because of the twister, business was up at the stores in nearby Mount Clemens, big city shopping center for suburban Chesterfield Township.

Business has been a little better, reported Lt. Col. Marjorie Hunt, U.S. Air Force, Ret., director of the city's chamber of commerce.

"It probably is due to the tornado," she said. Clothing, furniture and building supply firms reported "some increase of trade."

Looting of damaged property was minimal, police said.

CURTAIN HAZARDS

Health hazards from disrupted water and septic tank facilities were curtailed with emergency measures of boiling water installing portable disposal systems, said Macomb County Health Director Dr. Oscar Stryker.

There was a slight outbreak of attempted land speculation, and one family sold its property for less than market value, Brandenburg said.

Through it all, victim after victim reported "tremendous help" from neighbors and a feeling of unity.

Tragic episodes became common. In early August, 94-year-old Louis Winter was released from a hospital. Suffering from broken arms and legs, Winter admitted "I ain't no spring chicken any more," but vowed to return and have his property rebuilt in the spring.

The injuries claimed Winter's life in September. And, to the persons hardest hit by the twister, there remained a question of "Why did it happen to me?" "We're grateful we're alive," Mrs. Rivard said.

Study Shows Voters Use Heart, Not Head, at Polls

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR — For most American voters, politics stays on the fringe of their personal concerns — and their November decision is more intuitive than reasoned.

That's something hard to believe in an election year, when politicians batter issues back and forth, debate with the vehemence of collegians, and political news is the mainstream.

But the voter-at-large ignores much of the uproar, and makes his decision on the basis of his own political tendency, and his sense of how the nation is going, and how his own personal affairs are going.

These are the general findings of 15 years of depth surveys of the American voter — and his behavior in presidential and off-year elections, since Harry Truman faced Thomas E. Dewey.

Social researchers at the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center—aiming deeper than the "fever chart" polls of an election year—have quietly probed the voter's prejudices and frustrations, his hopes and satisfactions in thousands of kitchen and living-room interviews.

ASK AFTERWARD

First the voter was asked how he would vote and why — and then to the surprise of the voter, the interviewers returned after the election to find how he did vote, and why, and if he changed his mind, why.

From this has come a mosaic of findings that has made the Center's American voter series of interviews one of the most incisive studies made.

Some 75 per cent of the voters vote on a party basis, whether they realize it or not. Some 45 per cent have prejudged in favor of the Democrats, some 30 per cent for the Republicans. Mostly they inherited their political faith from their parents.

Yet occasionally, some issue, some point of dissatisfaction, some personally felt crisis, will force them "to change parties, sometimes for the space of only one election, sometimes for the rest of their lives.

DEPRESSION REVERSE

The depression was one such crisis for the American voter—and he switched to the Democratic side in wholesale numbers

Chinese A-Bomb Test
Hailed by Sihanouk

TOKYO (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of State, sent a message yesterday to Chairman Liu Shao Chi of Communist China, congratulating him on Peking's successful atomic bomb test, the New China News Agency reported today.

A Chinese broadcast monitored here said Sihanouk gave Cambodia's full support to Peking's call for a summit conference of all nations to discuss a complete prohibition of nuclear weapons and destruction of existing stockpiles.

—reversing nearly a century of Republican domination.

The question that lurks behind every election is whether there is some hidden, or difficult-to-measure crisis that will lead to such changes again.

The Survey Research Center interviewers estimate that in 1960 John F. Kennedy's Catholicism lost him a net of some 2 million votes. What effect civil rights problems will have on the election in 1964 is still an unanswered question.

For some 25 per cent of the voting population, there is no real political awareness. When they decide to vote, they do so in the late days of the campaign, sometimes just hours before they go to the polls, and often decide elections.

VOTE RUNDOWN

When the researchers came to probing the fervor of the party-affiliated voters, they found a wide range.

But basically it can be categorized this way: 20 per cent strong Democrats, 25 per cent weak Democrats, 15 per cent strong Republicans, 15 per cent weak Republicans. The 25 per cent in between are independents.

In the off-year elections when the interest is lowest and the races are local or congressional, only the strong party affiliates go to the polls in strength. Great percentages of weak party supporters stay home.

"By and large," says Prof. Angus Campbell, who heads the Survey Research Center, "the thing that people do react to is some sense that things are not going well—that the economy is going badly, or that foreign events are going badly, or that there is corruption or dishonesty in government."

In fact the voter seems to have a stockholder idea of government. If the management seems to be doing the job honestly and well, the voter is satisfied, votes to keep the managers in, or doesn't vote at all. But if things are going badly, he turns out in strength to vote the rascals out.

Ex-Football Coach Wilkinson vs. Dems' Harris

Interest Intense in Oklahoma Senatorial Race

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is the fourth of five articles on key contests for the U.S. Senate. In Oklahoma it is between former football coach Bud Wilkinson, a Republican, and Democratic candidate Fred Harris. The final article will deal with Pennsylvania.)

By GAYLORD SHAW
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Once upon a time, Oklahomans spent each autumn talking about football. This year it's different.

Oklahoma's football fortunes are sagging—the Sooners lost to Texas again—and conversation now skews over such tragedies and centers instead on politics.

Republican Bud Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach, is running against Democrat Fred Harris, a 33-year-old state senator, in a nip-and-tuck general election campaign for U.S. Senate. Statewide polls show the race is close. Veteran observers say interest in the Wilkinson-Harris match is so intense the total vote on the Senate race could top that on the presidential race.

1ST POLITICAL PLUNGE

This is the first plunge into politics for Wilkinson, who gained national fame during his 17 years as football coach and while serving three years as head of the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Harris has served eight years in the state Senate and ran unsuccessfully for governor two years ago.

The winner of the Nov. 3 election will serve until January 1967, completing the six-year term to which Democrat Sen. Robert S. Kerr was elected in 1960.

Kerr died on Jan. 1, 1963, and a few days later Democrat J. Howard Edmondson resigned as Oklahoma governor and was appointed to fill the vacancy until the next general election.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS

Harris defeated Edmondson in a primary election runoff last spring while Wilkinson swamped two Republican opponents to win the GOP nomination without a runoff.

Both Wilkinson and Harris have aligned themselves with their party's presidential ticket.

When Sen. Barry Goldwater carried his campaign to Oklahoma, a beaming Wilkinson was on hand to introduce and praise the nominee at a Tulsa rally.

Goldwater in turn plugged for Wilkinson's election. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also will visit the state in Wilkinson's behalf.

SUPPORTS PRESIDENT

Harris calls in each of his speeches for the election of President Johnson and his road-side billboards proclaim: "Harris-BJ, Democratic all the way."

During a recent "nonpolitical" visit to Oklahoma, Johnson said "Send me Fred Harris and we'll bring home the bacon and tack the coonskin to the wall." He added: "Fred and I will charge hell with a bucket of water."

Both Wilkinson and Harris shun liberal or conservative labels, but Wilkinson clearly is the more conservative of the two, calling for an end of the steady drift to more and more big government control over our lives.

At the start of his campaign, Harris said "I will run neither as a liberal nor a conservative. I will campaign on good old Oklahoma common sense."

CHANGES PARTY

Wilkinson, 46 and a native of Minnesota, changed his political affiliation from Democrat to Republican before entering the Senate race.

Wilkinson looks more like an English professor—he holds a master's degree in English education—than the nation's top college football coach. Tall and trim, he has silver gray hair and dresses in conservative gray or blue suits.

Harris, born and reared on a southern Oklahoma farm, worked his way through the University of Oklahoma as a printer for the campus paper. He obtained degrees in government, history and law and earned a Phi Beta Kappa key.

A stocky 185-pounder, Harris parts his thick black hair down the middle and is a conservative dresser.

SIMILAR CAMPAIGNS

They are waging surprisingly similar campaigns—both leaning heavily on personal contact.

The candidates are being aided in campaign chores by their wives, Mary Wilkinson and Laddonna Harris. The Wilkinsons have two sons, one in medical school and the other studying for the ministry.

MEMBERS OF TRIBE

Laddonna Harris and the three Harris children, ages 2, 6 and 14, are enrolled members of the Comanche Indian tribe.

During the almost senseless campaign, Harris has denounced Goldwater while Wilkinson has termed Democratic vice presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey "the acknowledged leader of the left wing liberals."

Wilkinson's sharpest attacks have been directed at Harris' attendance record in the state Senate, where Wilkinson said he ranked 41st of 44 senators last session in answering roll call votes.

"Elect me and I'll put Okla-ma first, not 41st," Wilkinson often says. Harris replies that Wilkinson is attempting "to divert attention from the fact he has a total and life-long absenteeism from participation in public affairs."

PREPARED FOR JOB

In stressing his experience in politics and government, Harris says "a candidate for U.S. Senate, like a doctor or coach, ought to be prepared for the job."

He sometimes adds that University of Oklahoma regents, when searching for Wilkinson's successor, didn't consider hiring a politician as coach.

Wilkinson devotes much of his campaign to wooing Democratic voters, since Democrats outnumber Republicans in Oklahoma about 43-1 million Democrats, 250,000 Republicans.

ON HIS OWN

Harris' campaign is being coordinated by state Democratic headquarters and some of his top aides were part of the powerful political organization built by Kerr.

Wilkinson's campaign is not tied in with the state GOP organization. But other Republican candidates are seeking to identify themselves with the former coach.

One Democratic leader, former legislator Jim Nance, charged in an editorial in his weekly Purcell Register, that Wilkinson "is merely laying the groundwork to run for president in 1968."

If Wilkinson wins the Senate race, Nance said, "he will immediately assume the rule of the newest, freshest and most promising face that has appeared in the Republican party since Eisenhower. He will soon be calling signals for the Republican team and the signal he calls will be for him to carry the ball."

A Wilkinson aide retorted "It certainly is not inconceivable that a man of Bud's ability would be considered for the highest public office."

The aide said Wilkinson has never discussed running for any office other than Senate. Next: Pennsylvania.

One of the results of marrying blood relatives may be that the offspring of such unions have a fantastically high incidence of a rare dental disease called dentinogenesis imperfecta, teeth that rapidly wear down to the gum line.

States to Vote on Varied Issues in Fall

CHICAGO (UPI) — The nation's voters will be hit with a flood of special ballot proposals Nov. 3. They range from a move to legalize bingo to provisions for post-nuclear war government.

A cross-country survey by Commerce Clearing House, a tax reporting authority, indicates that citizens of 39 states will be handed 338 separate, legal-language proposals.

Georgia leads the pack with 117 different propositions. Louisiana has 41, California 17, Florida 15, New Mexico 12 and Maine 10.

Taxes—how to assess, exempt and spend them—will be up for votes in more than 20 states. The judicial reform question will face voters in Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Montana, Oklahoma and South Carolina.

The drive for industrial development in Georgia accounts for part of that state's tide of ballots. There will be 28 different propositions asking for money to attract new industry to the state.

NUCLEAR ATTACK

Voters in Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Maine, Nevada and Utah will be asked to set up guidelines by which their state government would operate after a nuclear attack.

Thorny reapportionment and redistricting decisions will be asked of voters in Alabama, Florida and New Hampshire, while citizens of Maryland, New Mexico and Illinois will take a stand on proposed annual sessions for their state legislatures.

Washington and California will seek to legalize forms of gambling.

The Washington proposal asks voters to approve of bingo and other devices to stimulate business at county and state fairs. The California proposal is aimed at the creation of a state-wide lottery.

Californians will deal with a round of proposals as varied and complex as their state.

VARIETY OF ISSUES

They will decide whether to repeal a fair housing act, ban pay television, build schools, give property tax relief to disaster victims and enforce railroad work rules.

School problems will also face voters in Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Washington.

Voting rights and registration problems will be decided in Arkansas, Connecticut, Hawaii, Louisiana and New Mexico. The 50th state will ask its citizens to do away with literacy requirements for voting.

A Maryland proposal reflects the nation's racial problems, in an effort to back up the national civil rights law, the proposal would make it unlawful to refuse service in a public place because of race, creed, color or national origin.

NEW WORDING

Voters in New Hampshire will be asked to bring their state constitution up to date by erasing wording which refers to "buying one's way out of military service."

Voluble Hubert Strangely Silent on Vatican Envoy Proposal

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Boys will be boys, and by the same token politicians will be politicians, particularly during an election campaign.

Senators ordinarily have opinions about everything, and are never happier than when reading their own pearls of wisdom in public. Comes MONTGOMERY the fall campaign, however, and they are apt to become remarkably gun-shy about subjects on which they merrily spouted forth in the spring.

It is no secret that GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater would like to eat some of the words which fell from his lips last February during the New Hampshire primary, especially those utterances about Social Security and nuclear control.

Coincidentally, the usually voluble Hubert Humphrey now claims up every time we try to ask the Democratic vice presidential nominee about a headlined proposal which he also made last February.

At that time three of the four front runners in the Democratic "veep" public opinion polls were Catholics: Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, and Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

ONLY PROTESTANT
Humphrey, the only Protestant among them, told this correspondent on Feb. 23 that he was strongly urging President Johnson to appoint an ambassador to the Vatican — preferably a member of the Roman Catholic faith.

"It is in our own self-interest to have regular representation at the Vatican, which is an important point of contact for the troubled Middle East, Africa and Latin America," he said for publication. "It is foolish public policy for us to deny ourselves this vantage point at a crucial period in world history."

The Minnesota senator added that "because of certain rituals connected with the church, a Catholic might have certain advantages there," and he therefore urged the appointment of "a Catholic layman of stature."

Oral arguments were aired before the Civil Aeronautics Board to keep NCA service in Pontiac's efforts to retain North Central Airlines service were extended yesterday to Washington, D. C.

Reurrepresenting Pontiac were Assistant City Attorney Sherwin Birkenrant, Pontiac Municipal Airport Manager Homer Hoskins and Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Manager Max T. Adams.

NCA seeks to terminate service to the four cities under its policy of use it or lose it.

Also aired was a request from Gaylord, for North Central service.

There was no indication how soon the board would make a decision. One of its examiners, Ralph L. Wiser, has recommended that service to Gaylord be instituted on North Central's segment 13.

Wiser also had recommended that service to Cadillac-Reed City, Pontiac, and Port Huron on segment 12 be deleted because of insufficient passengers.

Joseph Blitcke, Michigan assistant attorney general, appeared for the Michigan Department of Aeronautics in support of continued air service to the four communities and to add service for Gaylord.

Cadillac-Reed City, Pontiac, and Port Huron contended that they have not received an adequate test and their geographic and economic characteristics justify air service.

URGES CONTINUATION
Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., in a statement presented to the board urged that service at Pontiac be continued.

The United States has had only one ambassador to the Vatican, wealthy Protestant layman Myron J. Taylor, whom President Roosevelt named at the outbreak of World War II in Europe.

TIME TO ACT

Humphrey, reminding President Johnson that the U. S. is the only big power except Red China and Communist Russia without present representation at the Vatican, said last February: "Now is the time to act. The Vatican is playing an increasingly significant role in world affairs since Pope John's outstanding encyclicals on world peace and social justice."

The story was front-paged around the country. Two months ago this correspondent received a query from "The New World," official newspaper of the Archdiocese of Chicago, asking what had happened to Humphrey's proposal, and whether any names had been considered for the post.

Assuming that the candidate would be delighted to break into print again on a subject which had brought him so much publicity, I telephoned him repeatedly — but in vain.

Although I explained the purpose of the call to several Humphrey aides, none could persuade the senator to return my call, or even to transmit a quote.

REPORTED BACK

A bit reluctantly, one of the assistants finally reported back that "the senator will have nothing to say on this subject, at least until after the election."

It is a little confusing to have the ordinarily loquacious senator declining to speak out on a subject which once seemed so dear to his heart.

But then, things are usually confusing in an election year. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate)

Humphrey Heads Into East

'Barry Seeks to Destroy Past Gains'

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Steering his campaign from the Midwest into the East, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey contended today that Barry Goldwater aims "to destroy the social and economic achievements of the past generation."

The Republican presidential candidate, said Humphrey, repudiates bipartisan foreign policy, accepts the support of extremists and "alienates loyal and responsible members of the Republican party."

The Democratic vice presidential nominee juggled his schedule to take part in the funeral service of former President Herbert Hoover. He plans to leave Rochester early this afternoon to attend the New York service, and then intends to fly to Boston for a Democratic shindig before returning to Washington to join in the honors to the late president in the capital.

In Rochester, Humphrey contended that Goldwater "preaches the doctrine of selfish irresponsibility — a doctrine unformed by history, uncontrolled by reason and untempered by charity."

IRRESPONSIBILITY

"It is this doctrine of selfish irresponsibility which appeals

so directly to various extremist groups in America."

Humphrey's day started Wednesday in Paducah, Ky. He

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — William McReynolds, 27, of Hopkinsville, Ky., asked, "What's going on?" and two St. Louis policemen immediately took him in custody.

President Lyndon Johnson was in St. Louis Wednesday at the time and McReynolds happened to be carrying a gun case.

McReynolds had been visiting an uncle in Ottawa, Ill., where he had gone fishing and target shooting. He arrived in St. Louis by bus and was waiting for another bus back to Kentucky. He was taking a short walk near the bus depot when the President's motorcade passed by.

Police questioned him for more than an hour before rushing him back to the depot just in time to catch his bus.

Airport at nightfall before heading to nearby Gary, Ind., for a speech. No welcoming crowd was planned at the airport by the Humphrey people, but Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago Democratic organization turned one out — catching the Chicago police by surprise.

Their outmanned force was almost overwhelmed by the crowd which pushed through the barricades and jammed up around the Humphrey plane, making it difficult for the candidate's party to get to the airport motel.

Tracking Dog's Life: Hard Work in Wilds

It's 2 a.m. and they wake you from a sound sleep.

The next thing you know you're in the back of a station wagon, bound for a cold, wet marsh or a forest filled with thorns and briar bushes.

Your job is to find an escaped prisoner, or a mental patient who has been missing since noon, or a lost two-year-old girl.

This is the life of a State Police tracking dog. It's not easy and the rewards are small as far as the animal is concerned.

There are 10 such dogs in Michigan. One of them, a powerful, pitch-black, pedigreed German Shepherd named "Hans," is stationed at the Pontiac State Police Post.

DOG'S PARTNER

Hans' partner is 29-year-old Trooper Richard L. Chartier, a 4-year veteran with the department.

Chartier is the dog's mentor, keeper, friend and handler. On duty and off, the pair is almost inseparable.

They leave together each morning for work from Chartier's home in Independence Township. The trooper's official blue station wagon is fitted with a special cage door halfway between the tailgate and the front seat.

If Chartier is on desk duty, Hans spends his day in his kennel at the post. If the officer is on the road, Hans is with him.

HOME GREETING

At night the pair go home together and are greeted by Chartier's wife, Jeanne, 28, and four children, Susan, 7, Nancy, 6, David, 4 and Dree, 2.

Hans is dead serious when tracking. He is trained to attack an aggressor on command, or anyone endangering Chartier's life.

At home, however, he is serious about playing and one of his favorite pastimes is to lay on his back on the living room floor and have one of the children scratch his belly.

Hans is a one-man dog where obedience is concerned. He will take commands only from Chartier.

But where love and affection are concerned he is a one-family dog, and the Chartier's are about the best family a dog could ask for.

The trooper tells the story of how his wife was wary of the animal when Hans first came home 18 months ago.

One night the huge dog snatched some food from the kitchen table. Mrs. Chartier lit into him, without realizing what she was doing.

Hans took his scolding like a man and today the two are best of friends.

Hans was donated to the State Police by William Massengale of Battle Creek.

Cartier was one of four young troopers selected from 55 volunteers for dog handler training. The pair met in East Lansing in early April, 1963.

After 14 weeks of rugged training they were assigned to their present duty.

Chartier said three-year-old Hans is primarily a tracking dog. However, Hans was also trained to control crowds, search buildings and to defend both himself and his handler.

CONTINUOUS TRAINING

The training is continuous. Twice a week Chartier and Hans journey to a different post in the second state police district for more training.

This is done to give Hans experience in new terrain and to show other officers exactly what the dog can do.

One week each year the team goes to Lansing for more training and evaluation.

The trooper and the dog are a busy pair. Chartier can be called for tracking duty in an area bounded by Flint on the north, Brighton on the west, the Ohio border on the south and the St. Clair River on the east.

Since the beginning of this year the team has been called out for 44 actual tracks or building searches.

Eight times Hans and Chartier have apprehended or found their prey. On four occasions they have flushed the hunted party into the arms of other officers.

Last year Hans found a lost youngster in chest deep water in a swamp in Springfield Township. For this feat the dog is expected to get a departmental citation.

At home Hans stays in a state-built kennel. Each night he eats three pounds of dog food which adds a little more muscle to his 100-pound frame.

WARY ANIMAL

Hans is not an overly friendly dog. He is wary of strangers and this is the way the state police want him.

Nor is he vicious, as anyone who has been nudged by his congenial paw or swatted with his warm tongue can testify.

But he is a police dog, and has a job to do.

Hoover's Term Saw Prosperity Sink Into Deep Depression

By BEM PRICE

NEW YORK (AP) — A cold and heavy rain spattered Herbert Clark Hoover as he took the oath of office on the Capitol steps as the 31st president of the United States.

On that March 4, 1929, the country was outwardly bright with prosperity. It seemed that the days of peace and plenty for all were at hand.

The man who had defeated the Democratic candidate, Alfred E. Smith, by more than six million votes, told his audience:

"I have no fears for the future of the country. It is bright with hope."

INDIVIDUALISM

Hoover, fresh from eight successful years as secretary of commerce, brought to his new job a long-fashioned political philosophy — American individualism.

He outlined it this way: "I am firmly opposed to the government entering into any business the major purpose of which is competition with our citizens. There are national emergencies which require that the government should temporarily enter the field of business, but they must be emergency action."

Even as Hoover was making his inaugural address, explosive gases were "building properly inside the great prosperity bubble. The building boom of 1928, which saw the expenditure of nearly $1.5 billion, had dwindled to a mere $216 million.

SPENDING DOWN
Consumer spending was way down even though the stock market skyrocketed. On Wednesday, Oct. 23, 1929, the stock market began to break. The great depression had begun. By the spring of 1930 about four million Americans were unemployed. By 1932 there were 12 million idle. Commodity prices plunged to the cellar.

Hoover approached the depression as he had the food administration program during World War I. He had infinite belief in the doctrine of voluntary cooperation for the common good. As a Quaker it had been bred in him from childhood.

He obviously was torn about what to do. As he wrote in his memoirs: "No president before had ever believed there was a government responsibility in such cases. No matter what the urging on previous occasions, presidents steadfastly had maintained the federal government was apart from such eruptions."

There was a split in his Cabinet. Some felt the panic was not bad. Others believed the administration should cushion the situation.

"We had to pioneer a new field," said Hoover.

He appealed to business to maintain payrolls and construction. He asked labor to hold off demands for wage increases.

SITUATION DARKENS

The situation darkened. There was hunger, "although warehouses were bulging with food. There was begging and stealing. Unrest and anger grew. Throughout the nation, people began to look to the federal government for help as voluntary relief organizations, such as the Red Cross, ran out of money and state treasuries became exhausted.

Hoover set aside $240 million for public works in January 1930. He obtained a congressional law whereby a floor was placed under the price of wheat and cotton. He persuaded banks to set up a credit union of $450 million to support tottering financial houses.

RELIEF COMMITTEES

He asked for and got creation of local relief committees for the direct alleviation of suffering. Local funds were to be used where possible and federal funds where there were none.

Then at the height of the depression, Hoover became occupied with balancing the budget. He cut back government expenditures and persuaded Congress to raise taxes. The net result was a further reduction in public purchasing power.

The depression was not Hoover's only problem. In 1931, Japan invaded Manchuria. Hoover instructed Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to cooperate with the League of Nations.

Stimson urged that the United States apply economic sanctions against Japan, alone if necessary. Stimson's alternative was "the exercise of diplomatic pressure and the power of world opinion" against Japan.

Hoover held that "economic sanctions meant war." Japan stayed in China. Moral persuasion failed.

In the later phases of the administration's battle against the depression, Hoover proposed what is now considered to be one of the crowning achievements of his four years in office — the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

RFC IN 1932

The RFC came into being in 1932 with $5 billion in capital to support building and loan associations, create home loan banks to relieve mortgages, and make funds available for small-business loans.

In April 1932 Hoover said the RFC had loaned $126 million to banks in 45 states to stave off disaster. Then it was disclosed that over half the amount had gone to three big banks.

Hoover secured a moratorium on the payment of World War I reparations and believed this was a great factor in world recovery.

Then came the campaign of 1932. Hoover was soundly beaten by Franklin D. Roosevelt, so soundly beaten that the Republican party failed to win the presidency for 20 years again.

He called himself "the tired, old man in America."

Plan to Have Detroit Water for Novi Area

NOVI — Families that start to build homes in the southeastern portion of Novi next spring will be using Detroit water when they move in, according to plans being formulated by the Village Council.

Some 330 existing homes in the three Willowbrook subdivisions also are to be served by the $200,000 project.

AREA NEWS

Fall Sign-Up for Wheat Is Record

Final report of the fall sign-up for the voluntary 1965 wheat program in the predominantly winter wheat areas shows a record number of 780,916 farms, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

This total exceeds the entire enrollment — spring as well as winter — of 612,000 for the 1964 program, and 429,000 for 1963.

Wheat allotment acreage on the signed farms is 34,848,504 acres, or 82 per cent of the total effective allotment in the fall sign-up area.

The 780,916 farms signed up represent a gain of 318,119 during the final week of the fall enrollment, which began Aug. 24 and ended Oct. 2.

Sign-up in the predominantly spring wheat areas is to be Feb. 8 to March 26, 1965, at the same time as the 1965 feed grain program sign-up.

Those farmers in Michigan who took part in the fall sign-up can modify their intentions until the close of the spring wheat sign-up.

"The winter wheat sign-up report is a vote of confidence in the action of the last session of the Congress to enact a voluntary price support program for wheat," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said in commenting on the report.

Talk Tonight for Stiles PTA

AVON TOWNSHIP — Speaker at today's 8 p.m. meeting of the Stiles School PTA will be Charles L. Johnson, assistant superintendent of instruction of the Avondale School District.

Johnson will talk on the pilot program in the new modern math and new reading program being carried out in Stiles School.

At 7:30 p.m. teachers will be in their classrooms to meet with parents who want conferences about their children.

Engineers at Johnson and Anderson Inc. of Waterford Township are drawing plans and specifications for the transmission lines.

A 16-inch main will be installed on 10 Mile, running from Haggerty to Meadowbrook. Besides that one-mile stretch, there will be a 12-inch line starting at Meadowbrook and 10 Mile and extending for a half-mile to Chatham.

"Eventually it will serve the whole area," Village Manager Harold N. Ackley said. But for a start, the lines will have a 1,400-unit capacity, not expected to be used fully for seven or eight years.

PURCHASE FIRM

The village now is negotiating to purchase the private Willowbrook Water Co. to use as a nucleus system for the 330 homes now being served by it.

Cost of the private ground water system will be in the neighborhood of $62,500, Ackley said.

He noted that some families will pay less and others more under the meter rate to be established by the village.

The average cost is expected to be $11.50 a quarter. Willowbrook customers now are paying a flat rate of $4.15 a month, Ackley said.

SUBMIT PLANS

When plans for the lines are complete, they will be submitted to the Oakland County Road Commission, the State Department of Health and the Detroit Water Board.

The village's bonds must be approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission before they can be sold.

Ackley estimated construction could start about April 1, 1965.

Dryden Church Units

Sponsor Dinner Tonight

DRYDEN—The Women's Society of Christian Service and Joy Circle of the Dryden Methodist Church are sponsoring a Harvest Home supper and Country Store this evening in the church social rooms.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. The public is invited.

NONPARTISAN — At least as far as the posters are concerned that are election setting for the "Vote-Getter" fashion show in the Sacred Heart School Hall, Auburn Heights, next Wednesday. Holding the posters are (from left) Mrs. Steven T. Maczko, a model; another model, Karen Schmitt, 17; and Mrs. John P. O'Connell, show chairman. The altar society of Sacred Heart church is staging the 8 p.m. event.

Society Plans Fashion Show

Election Year Theme in Auburn Heights

AUBURN HEIGHTS — With the general election less than two weeks away, the Altar Society of Sacred Heart Church appropriately has chosen the title "Vote-Getter Fashions" for its annual fall fashion show.

Styles from the R B Shop, Birmingham, will be presented at the Oct. 28 affair, which will begin at 8 p.m. in the school hall.

The election year theme will predominate in the setting, with winning fashions modeled by Beverlee Helsner, Marilyn Manky, Sandy Hatter, Janet Krescher and daughter Judy, Helen Blake and Marguerite Rouleau.

Their "running mates" will be Gerry Radke, Lorraine Scholberg, Mildred White, Karen Schmitt, Donna Maczko, Wanda Karas and Marie Bileau.

Working with O'Connell show chairman Mrs. John O'Connell are Mrs. Paul Kaye, favors; Mrs. William Dunseith, tickets; Mrs. Stanley Karas and Mrs. John Konecny, door prizes.

Gas Fumes Kill Hunter

ALLEGAN (AP)—Samuel D. Yenell, 39, of Allegan, was found dead in his auto by a hunter Wednesday about 10 miles north of his home. Yenell had been missing since Saturday. Authorities said he apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Commission, Board to Consider Troy Tax

TROY—The City Commission and members of the Troy Parks and Recreation Board will discuss a possible citywide tax increase at a special commission meeting Nov. 2.

The Parks and Recreation Board has suggested a tax hike to finance "a more realistic growth plan for the parks and recreation facilities" in Troy.

The idea is just a suggestion at present, but was discussed at the commission's last meeting.

Sale of Firm Is Completed

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Sale of Michigan Precision Molded, Inc., to Garlock, Inc. of Detroit has been completed. Purchase price was reported to be in excess of $1 million.

The firm at 2175 W. Maple manufactures oil seals and other precision synthetic rubber products for the automotive original equipment market.

Garlock's products include mechanical packings, gaskets, industrial rubber and plastic items.

Garlock president A. J. McMullen said the same management would continue to operate the firm.

Troy Methodist Church to Host Organ Recital

TROY — Dr. Vernon Smiley, organist and choirmaster at Calvary Methodist Church, Detroit, will present a public organ recital at Troy Methodist Church Sunday.

Dr. Smiley will include works by Couperin, Mozart and Franck in the 8:15 p.m. recital. The public is invited.

In Auburn Heights

Halloween Flare Sale Begins

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The biggest activity of the year for the Auburn Heights Lions Club is now under way, with members conducting their annual sale of flares for Halloween night.

The red flares, to be lit at the signal of sirens at about 7:15 on Halloween, will be sold through a door-to-door campaign and in stores.

Proceeds from the sale will enable the Lions Club to sponsor an evening of fun on Oct. 31 which will include a parade of costumed youngsters and a community "sock hop" afterward.

The parade will form at Cherryland and Auburn, east of town, at 7:30 p.m., and proceed to the playground at the Auburn Heights School on Squirrel Road.

Costume judging and awarding of prizes will take place on the school grounds, and cider and doughnuts will be served free to everyone present.

DANCE FOLLOWS

The dance will follow the activities at the school, and will be held at the junior high school.

Prime targets for proceeds, aside from the parade and dance, are several charitable projects.

Funds will go for contributions to Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc., near Rochester, and Welcome Home for the Blind, Grand Rapids, and supplying eye examinations and eyeglasses for the needy.

Also the club gives baskets to the needy at Christmas, contributes to the Auburn Heights Boys Club and provides general emergency assistance to the needy.

School Fair Slated in Commerce Twp.

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Students, teachers and parents are combining forces to offer a variety of activities at the annual Clifford H. Smart Junior High School Fair Saturday.

Sponsoring the 2:45 p.m. event is the Student Council, which has coordinated the work of school clubs preparing booths and concessions. A dance is scheduled for 7:10 p.m.

A spook house, country store and merry-go-round will be featured.

Future Homemakers of America will provide a baby-sitting service by the hour. The Ski Club and women of the PTA will serve refreshments and the PTA men will operate a check room.

Ellsworth Guerin is general chairman of the flare sale while Harold Hill and Keith Arnold are cochairmen.

COSTUME JUDGES

Earl Bowden is in charge of costumes for the costume competition, Harold Davis is parade manager and Ben Douglas will handle entertainment.

Refreshments will be arranged by H. Wildenheimer and Harold Newingham, and flares by Bob Hewitt and Joe Zimmerman. Dr. E. D. Barrett is in charge of publicity.

Township Pay Hikes Voted

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Three of the township officers to be elected Nov. 3 will work under a higher salary schedule.

The Township Board last night increased the salaries of supervisor, clerk and treasurer.

Under the schedule which goes into effect April 1, 1965, the supervisor will earn $10,000 annually rather than $9,000.

Salaries of the clerk and treasurer were raised from $7,600 to $8,500.

In other action, the board authorized a $3,900 expenditure to extend for a year its contract with the planning consultant firm of Villan-Leman Associates, Southfield.

The township's share added to funds of the federal government will finance implementation of the master plan to be completed in January, 1965.

North Dakota Picnic

Set in Rochester Park

ROCHESTER — The annual North Dakota picnic will be held at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in the Avon Park Pavilion on Ludlow.

A cooperative dinner will be served. Those attending are requested to bring their own table service and at least two dishes to pass.

Four Ballots Face Voters in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Pity the Illinois voter when he goes to the polls Nov. 3.

No one else in the nation will be confronted with his headache — marking a separate ballot nearly three feet long and a foot wide and listing 236 choices for the Illinois House.

This separate orange-colored ballot is necessary because reapportionment has forced Illinois to elect state representatives on an at-large basis instead of by districts.

If the voter becomes color blind, there will be a reason.

FOUR COLORS

Not only will he see orange, he will be given a white ballot listing candidates for President and state offices, a blue one on constitutional amendments, and a green ballot on judges.

What makes it more confusing is the voter has a variety of options in selecting his choices for the legislature. One little mistake can void his ballot.

Of the 236 names on the legislative ballot, 118 are listed in the Democratic column and 118 on the Republican side.

A voter can pick up to 177 candidates — the number of seats in the House — and each would get one vote. But if he chooses one too many, the ballot will be thrown out.

ONE VOTE EACH

Consequently, political leaders are pushing for a mark in the party circle above the Republican or Democratic column to register one vote each for 118 candidates.

The at-large election followed a sequence of events beginning last year.

The Republican-controlled Illinois Legislature passed a bill reapportioning the state's 59 House districts but Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner vetoed it on the ground that it was unfair from a population standpoint.

At this point the state constitution required the governor to appoint a bipartisan commission to produce reapportionment.

COMMISSION DISBANDED

After months of bickering, the deadlocked commission was disbanded. No other procedure was left to avoid the at-large election.

Because of the mass of votes to be counted, it is expected to be days after the election before the results are known.

Cuba Detaining U. S. Pilot Who Landed in Error

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Marshall Zeeman, a Miami pilot who landed in Cuba by accident after a bout with bad weather reports that he is under house arrest.

About six men are guarding the house, but everything's fine," Zeeman, 26, told his brother by telephone from Santiago, Cuba, Wednesday night.

"He says he's a little sick, but it may be the food," said the brother, Richard Zeeman, 21.

The State Department made contact with the Swiss Embassy in Cuba to seek Zeeman's release.

Fidel Says Anti-Castro Plot Smashed

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro said early today his "antibandit battalions" have smashed a years-long effort by American "imperialists and the CIA" to launch a counterrevolution against his regime in the central Cuban province of Las Villas.

In a two-hour speech in the provincial capital of Santa Clara, he bragged that "today this (Las Villas) province marches in the vanguard of the revolution, here where imperialism wanted to establish its headquarters."

The bearded Cuban made no mention of the recent government shake-up in Moscow.

Castro's address to thousands of young Cuban Communists, monitored here, ended shortly after midnight. After a routine review of Red achievements for the island's youth, he concluded with a brief whirlwind attack on the United States.

He charged "imperialists and the CIA concentrated their greatest resources and their spirit in plotting conspiracy and crime" in Las Villas even before the abortive 1961 invasion.

Their efforts failed, he said, because "One cannot stage a counterrevolution against the interests of exploited peoples."

"All the criminals were punished . . . they received the exemplary punishment of the revolution and were annihilated," he said.

Earlier in his address, marking the fourth anniversary of the Union of Young Communists,

Castro mixed general praise for the Red-educated youths with criticism of some "lazy, no-accounts" still clinging to what he called "the easy life."

He said the army service for which Cuban youths are now being drafted is saving them "from being converted into Elvis Presley types" and teaching them Communist discipline.

Give Up Candy for Candy

NORTON, Mass. (AP) — "Don't bar Candy from the polls," said the undergraduate daily of Wheaton College today.

The Wheaton News said Candy Yaghjian of Columbia, S.C., is the only student of voting age among more than 1,000 girls at Wheaton who cannot vote by absentee ballot.

Her native state does not provide absentee ballots, except for those in the armed services and in government work, the News says.

It said it would undertake a "Candy-to-Columbia" campaign in which students will be asked to give up soft drinks and sweets for one day and contribute their dimes toward the price of a round-trip plane ticket for Miss Yaghjian on Nov. 3.

Candy is not saying how she'll vote. "This is not an issue of partisan politics, but of American principle," she said.

Sympathy, Offers of Help Given to Walter Jenkins and Family

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential assistant Walter Jenkins and his family have been heartened by an outpouring of expressions of sympathy and offers of help in the days since his arrest on a morals charge.

One bouquet of flowers sent to his hospital room bore the card of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, whose organization has been called in by President Johnson to investigate the case.

One of the first public expressions of sympathy and compassion came in a statement from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who said her heart ached for Jenkins and his family, who were friends of the Johnsons for many years.

Since then, it was learned, Mrs. Johnson has talked several times by telephone to Mrs. Jenkins and her daughter, Laci, has talked to her close friend, Beth Jenkins, 18, by phone, too.

Mrs. Jenkins was quoted by columnist Betty Beale of the Washington Evening Star as saying of the sympathetic reaction: "We did not know how wealthy we were. It has restored my faith in human nature. It took three friends to answer the telephones the first day."

Mrs. Jenkins also said she had received job offers "from all over," according to Miss Beale.

She said Mrs. Jenkins reported her husband had suffered a complete physical breakdown when the news broke in Washington last week.

"I thought it was going to kill him," Mrs. Jenkins was quoted, "but I think now he is going to come through it. But he is very weak still." The story credited the expressions of sympathy with heartening Jenkins.

When he was hospitalized last Friday, Jenkins' doctor said he was suffering from "extreme fatigue."

Party Given Write-In OK

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that prohibition party members may cast write-in or sticker votes Nov. 3 for their party's presidential candidate.

The party failed to obtain a space on the ballot when its petition drive obtained only 11,000 of the required 14,000 signatures.

State Elections Director Robert Montgomery wrote party chairman Dr. D. D. Gibbons of Kalamazoo, saying he knew of no way the party's slate of presidential electors could be written in and counted as votes for the prohibition party.

The party went to the Supreme Court, contending Michigan election laws provide for write-in votes and that Montgomery's decision denied party members equal protection of the laws under the U. S. Constitution.

Montgomery and Secretary of State James Hare, codefendants, denied the write-in vote law was applicable in voting for presidential electors.

The court ordered Hare and Montgomery to instruct local election officials to permit electors to vote by write-in or sticker for the prohibition party's presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Nicosia Greek Section Rocked by Explosions

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Two explosions rocked the Greek section of Nicosia during the night.

A Greek Cypriot National Guard truck, parked outside a police driving school, burst into flames after an explosion.

A private car belonging to a prominent Greek Cypriot lawyer, parked in a garage, was shattered by a plastic bomb. There were no reports of any injuries.

Women Investors Reported More Shrewd

CHICAGO (AP) — Making a killing in the stock market is easy, say officials of the National Association of Investment Clubs. Just ask your wife. She does it.

This surprising — to men, at least — fact was brought to light in a survey released Wednesday by the Investment Education Branch of the NAIC, now holding its 14th annual convention in Chicago.

Women's clubs, reports the survey, have earned 9.95 per cent on investments over the years, while the all-male groups have profited by a mere 9.62 per cent.

"They're good shoppers," explained Thomas E. O'Hara, chairman of the NAIC board of directors. "Women are much more careful about buying stocks — and they never sell."

"Women are also quicker to recognize a value because they pick stocks on the basis of growth and sales and earnings, and they don't sell-off when they make a profit," he said.

"The only way you make money is by buying a good stock and holding it."

O'Hara, who oversees more than 7,300 clubs and 110,000 members in the NAIC, says: "My advice to clubs not doing too well is to have the wives come in and help out."

Many clubs have taken the advice. The NAIC survey shows that in the past year the number of clubs composed of both men and women has increased from 18.6 to 23.5 per cent.

O'Hara said the better performance may be because "the men will argue all evening and discuss different stocks. When they finally decide which one they want, they'll buy it at the market price."

"In a women's club they decide what stock to buy, the question then is what price to pay for it."

Perfect Coeducation: a Guy for Each Girl

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Trinity University Registrar Burford Higgins scanned record enrollment figures and decided the 96-year-old school "has achieved 'perfection in co-education.'" Exactly 1,055 men and 1,055 women are registered as students.

President Johnson was a congressman from 1937-48 and a senator from 1948-60.

Ice Cream Has a Long History Dating Back to Nero Who Made It With Snow

A long time before Dolly Madison first served ice cream in the White House, people were licking, spooning and enjoying what has often been called the dessert of kings.

Nero, Emperor of Rome, employed runners to dash off to nearby mountains and bring back snow. Honey and fruit juices were added to create A.D. form of sherbet. Nero was so jealous of the delicacy that he ordered it reserved exclusively for his use.

Marco Polo, who spent his life traveling, brought a recipe from 13th century China back to his native Venice. Milk was substituted for the snow Nero had enjoyed; and whatever the Chinese word for ice cream was, the Venice denizens who tasted it called it delicious.

Only the wealthy could enjoy it, though, since the freezing process was so difficult. Still, the art of making ice cream as we know it began with Marco's remarkable recipe.

Ice cream was a favorite in the 17th century English court of Charles I, and by royal decree the cook who knew the secret was sworn not to reveal it to anyone. But according to legend, the man was a blabbermouth and talked his head off — literally, for revealing the recipe he was beheaded!

Washington had two ice cream freezers installed in his home, Mount Vernon; and Dolly Madison, wife of President James Madison, served ice cream at the White House for the first time in 1809. Using home freezers to make the cooling appetite delight soon became part of the American way of life.

True quality in ice cream depends more on weight than volume. Commercial ice cream is usually about half air. Home ice cream freezers will give homepun desserts that have no more than one-third air and that will actually be of finer quality than the average commercial product.

This year, Americans will eat their way through an astonishing 700 million gallons of ice cream... a frozen, flavored mountain 400 feet square and as tall as the Empire State Building. Why? Flavor is one reason; vanilla, chocolate and strawberry — in that order — are preferred.

Variety is another reason: there's sherbet, with only a little milk; ice, with no milk; the uppy parait, with a lot of milk fat, molded and served in a cream with a cake confection; and ice milk, which has less butterfat than ice cream, but tastes very similar.

No matter how he eats it, the average American will consume 16 quarts of ice cream this year.

To continue the tradition that runs from Nero through Dolly Madison to Jacob Fussell (who set up the first American ice cream factory), we'll dip it out of home freezers... sip it in sodas... spoon it in sundae... lick it in cones — and be healthier as a result.

HALLOWEEN POPCORN BALLS — The handsome cat-faced popcorn balls can be used as table favors at a party or for name place cards. All children like to have something to eat and to take home and the balls will please both desires.

Orange Flavor for Popcorn

Beguiling, bewitched, and bowed are these intriguing cat-faced popcorn balls. Orange colored and flavored, the balls are made with packaged ready-to-pop corn and a syrup. As the syrup cooks, the corn can be popped in a jiffy and the balls quickly shaped.

The cat faces are cut from orange construction paper and the faces drawn on it. If you wish, the popcorn balls can be topped with witches, or other Halloween characters.

Halloween Popcorn Balls
2 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 cup light corn syrup
3/4 cup water
1 package ready-to-pop corn
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package orange gelatin

Mix together sugar, syrup, water. Heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves. Boil gently, without stirring, until candy thermometer registers 290 degrees or syrup forms a hard crack when dropped into cold water.

While syrup cooks, pop corn according to package directions. Put popped corn into large greased bowl. Remove cooked syrup from heat and stir in vanilla and package of gelatin.

Pour over popped corn and mix well so all kernels of corn are covered. Grease hands well and shape popcorn syrup mixture into large balls. Makes 6 large balls.

Cinnamon Toast

Cinnamon toast is as delicious as always! Keep the spicy sweet mixture on hand to sprinkle on hot buttered toast. Try using a cup of sugar to a tablespoon of cinnamon.

Grilled Sandwiches Are So Good

Simple but so good; make sandwiches from sliced cheddar cheese and white bread. Spread the outside of the sandwiches with soft butter.

Grill slowly in a heavy skillet until the cheese melts and the bread is toasted and golden brown. Serve with mango chutney plus a tossed green salad for lunch.

Brown Onion First

When you want to add onion flavor to hamburgers, you can cook the chopped onion in a little fat and then add it to the meat. Or you can finely-grate the onion and add the pulp and juice to the meat.

Company for brunch? For a different egg dish, fold smoked oysters into the omelet.

Why? In the words of dairy foods which we like best are for us. But ice cream, a treat alike, is one of the most nourishing foods in our diet.

Glaze Doughnut Braids in African Style

While mention of Africa usually brings to mind dense jungles and wild animals, Cape Town and Johannesburg in the Union of South Africa are thriving metropolises of skyscrapers, department stores and heavy traffic.

And like so many large cities, they are a melting pot of nationalities, with four principal groups — Dutch, British, Indian and native populations — in addition to numerous minorities.

The cuisine of South Africa represents a curious blend of these groups although the Dutch influence is strongest in the food itself, while the English way of life with its elaborate teas and formal dinners predominates.

Although South Africa is not generally known for its yeast breads, these intriguing braided doughnuts coated with a cinnamon-flavored syrup are definitely noteworthy specialties.

Called Koekeisters in South African Dutch or Afrikaans, they appear at afternoon teas, along with cheeses and fruits, as well as for dessert with dinner.

Koekeisters

1 cup milk
½ cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup (1 stick) margarine
¼ cup warm water

(105-115 degrees)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
2 eggs
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 teaspoon nutmeg
4 cups unsifted flour peanut oil
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup boiling water

Scald milk; stir in brown sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle with remaining yeast; stir until dissolved.

Add lukewarm milk mixture, eggs, grated orange peel, and nutmeg; mix until well blended. Stir in flour. Cover tightly. Refrigerate 2 hours or overnight.

(Dough may be kept in refrigerator up to 4 days.)

Divide dough in half. On well floured board roll one half the dough to a rectangle, 14x8 inches. Cut into nine 1½-inch strips. Cut these in half making 18 strips, 2x1½ inches.

Divide each strip in thirds by cutting to within ½-inch of one end. Braid; seal ends well. Repeat with remaining half of dough.

Fry in deep hot peanut oil (375 degrees) until golden brown on each side. Drain well. Makes about 3 dozen.

Combine 1½ cups sugar and cinnamon. Stir in boiling water. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Dip Koekeisters in syrup. Serve cold.

FROM DOWN UNDER — Called Koekeisters in the Afrikaans language, these intriguing braided doughnuts coated with cinnamon-flavored syrup are South African teatime treats.

Herbs, Vegetables Fill Flank Steak

Tangible and intangible signs of Fall are in the air even in hot Arizona and California. The most noticeable indications are boys and girls going to school.

Out in the growing areas, the harvesting of tomatoes, lima beans, onions, garlic and fields of lettuce signal that the late season is approaching. The markets have colorful displays of various squashes: butternut, acorn, banana and plenty of summer varieties.

The abundant Fall fresh vegetables and fruits are begging to be made into winter treats. Vegetable relishes that pep up winter entrees; marvelous chutney made from various fruits add a special "something" to curry dishes and favorite roast meats.

Salads are still an important part of the Fall menu, but more substantial dishes will be needed for concentrated book learning and competitive sports.

Flank Steak

Stuffed with Fresh Vegetables
1 cup finely chopped celery (2 large stalks)
1 large onion, diced (1 cup)
1 clove garlic, mashed ½ cup chopped green pepper (¼ medium)
1 cup grated carrot (3 medium)
½ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon rosemary
½ cup cornflake crumbs
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese fresh ground black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
black pepper
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water
1½ pounds flank steak

½ teaspoon salt
fresh ground black pepper
½ cup oil

Combine celery, onion, garlic, green pepper, carrot, thyme, rosemary, cornflake crumbs, grated Parmesan cheese, 1 teaspoon salt and black pepper to taste. Mix well with eggs and water.

Lay meat out flat and sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt and black pepper to taste. Spread vegetable stuffing evenly on meat and roll up meat as for jelly roll. Tie with string.

Heat oil in roasting pan and roll meat in oil; add any leftover stuffing to the pan. Cover and roast for 2 hours or until tender in 350 degree oven. Remove cover during last 15 minutes of cooking to brown meat. Transfer meat to hot platter and make gravy from drippings. Makes 6 servings.

Port Wine Helps Flavor Chicken

One serving of this wine-flavored chicken leads to another. It truly belongs in the gourmet food category. The ingredients are an unusual blend with no one item tasting above the rest because they have been mingled superbly by Port, the dessert wine produced so abundantly in the interior valleys of California.

Company Chicken

1 large (3½- to 4-lb.) broiler-fryer
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
½ cup California Port
1 (10½-oz.) can consommé
1 cup orange juice
¼ cup currant jelly
3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons water
Hot, cooked rice

Sprinkle chicken with 1 teaspoon salt. Heat shortening in large frying pan; brown chicken on all sides. Remove chicken; in same pan, cook onion several minutes.

Stir in ginger, remaining 1 teaspoon of salt, wine, consommé, orange juice and jelly. Return chicken to pan; simmer, covered, about 30 minutes, or until chicken is almost tender.

Mix cornstarch and water; blend into liquid with chicken. Cook about 5 minutes. Serve chicken pieces and sauce over hot, cooked rice. Makes 4 servings.

Soup Sauces Celery and Mushrooms

A bubbling vegetable casserole that goes with roast pork.

Celery Mushroom Casserole
Cook 1½ inch celery chunks (3 cups) in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender. Fry ½ cup sliced fresh mushrooms in a little butter or margarine for 5 minutes. Then pour in ½ can condensed mushroom soup and 1 cup cooked peas and heat well.

Put half of the cooked celery in a greased casserole, pour over it half of the soup mixture and sprinkle with ¼ cup grated cheese. Repeat. Top with crumbs.
Bake at 350 degrees until brown and bubbly, about 20 minutes.

Autumn Pancakes Call for Cider Syrup

Here's a bright new autumn breakfast treat for a pancake lover — Spiced Apple Pancakes with Cider Syrup. The tender pancakes, are light as a cloud, fruity and spicy with grated apple and cinnamon folded into the batter.

The Cider Syrup, a spicy blend of cinnamon, nutmeg, apple cider and margarine, adds the perfect seasonal touch with sour cream.

You'll find pancakes are easy as a breeze and take just minutes to make with all-purpose biscuit mix. Simply add an egg and milk to the biscuit mix; beat smooth and bake. Try

Spiced Apple Pancakes with Cider Syrup
2 cups all-purpose biscuit mix
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
1½ cups milk
¾ cup grated apple (About 2 medium)
Cider Syrup (below)
Commercial sour cream

Beat biscuit mix, cinnamon, egg and milk with rotary beater until smooth. Stir in apple. Grease griddle, if necessary. Turn pancakes when bubbles appear and before they break. Serve warm with Cider Syrup.

and topped with sour cream. Makes eighteen 4" pancakes.

Cider Syrup
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups apple cider
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup butter or margarine
Mix sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg in saucepan. Stir in apple cider and lemon juice. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Blend in butter or margarine. Serve warm.

Tie Up Herbs
Tie together some celery tops, a large bay leaf and a branch or two of parsley to use as flavoring for soup or stew. Keep a spool of heavy white thread in the kitchen to use for such binding.

Foreign Recipes Contribute Zest

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
Saturday is United Nations Day which makes this the perfect week to share some foreign recipes with our readers.

Elsewhere in the food section you will find a story about the United Nations Cookbook which is being published Oct. 24. If you like to experiment with recipes from other countries, you'll enjoy this book.

Down in Chile they don't serve so many cakes and pies as we do. But they often have pastries and sweetbreads. At both breakfast and late afternoon tea a sweetbread would be served.

Trenzas Para El Te

1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/4 stick) margarine
1/2 cup warm water (105 degrees)
2 packages of cake yeast, active dry or compressed
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten

4 1/4 cups unsifted flour (about)
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon milk
Grated sugar
Scald 1/4 cup milk; stir in 1/4 cup sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved.

Add lukewarm milk mixture, 4 beaten egg yolks and half the flour. Beat until smooth. Add enough additional flour to form a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board and divide in half. Divide half of dough into 3 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a rope, 14 inches long. Place 3 ropes on greased baking sheet and braid. Repeat with remaining half of dough.

Blend together remaining egg yolks and 1 tablespoon of milk. Brush braids and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until double in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes or until done.

Kolbasi (or Kielbasa) is a spicy Hungarian sausage. In the following recipe it is used to make Lesco which is pronounced "Let-cho."

Lesco is full of plentiful fresh fall vegetables. If you're going to be authentic, you'll serve it with beer.

Vegetables and Sausages
2 medium onions, sliced
2 green peppers, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tomatoes, cut in wedges
1/4 cup beer
1 tablespoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 kolbasi or other spicy sausage

Saute onions and green pepper in butter or margarine 5 minutes; mix in tomatoes, beer, paprika and pepper; Cook 2 minutes. Cut sausages in slices or add whole links. Cook, covered, 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Yield: 4 servings.

One of the outstanding dishes served in the Spanish Pavilion at the World's Fair was Tilet of sole with bananas. The Spaniards serve this as one course in a long meal. Most of you will find it hearty enough for a main course.

Filet of Sole, Cortes
2 pounds filet of sole
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup dry white wine or champagne
1 bay leaf
6 peppercorns
3 slices lemon
2 egg yolks
Dash white pepper
1/2 cup butter, melted
2 medium bananas, green-tipped
1 jar (4 1/2 ounces) pimiento-stuffed olives, drained and sliced

Sprinkle fish with 1/4 teaspoon salt; place in shallow baking dish or pan. Combine 1/2-cup wine, bay leaf and peppercorns; pour over fish. Top with lemon slices. Bake in 400 degree (hot) oven 10 to 15 minutes. Remove lemon and bay leaf.

While fish is baking, beat together yolks, white pepper, remaining salt and wine in top of double boiler. Place over simmering water. Gradually beat in melted butter and cook until thickened.

Place filets in heat-proof serving dish. Slice bananas lengthwise over fish. Pour sauce on top and surround with sliced olives. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat 2 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

CHILE'S SWEET BREAD

Maple Flavored

Maple syrup makes a delightful sweetener for apples that are to be baked. To glaze the apples, serve the apples with whipped cream also flavored with maple syrup. This baked apple dessert is good enough for company!

When using a plank for cooking fish or steak, oil it well and heat in a hot oven before adding the fish.

Turkey With Grapes

With turkey continuing to be such a good buy, it can be enjoyed often in many ways. Arrange cooked slices of turkey on hot buttered toast. Cover with a warm cheese sauce to which halved and seeded Tokay grapes have been added just before serving.

Never wash fish filets under cold running water; just wipe with a damp cloth.

UN Cookbook Off the Press

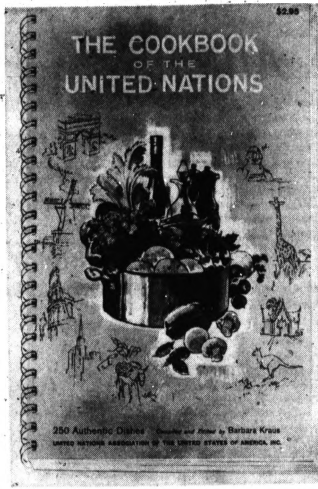

Long awaited, "The Cookbook of the United Nations," compiled and edited by Barbara Kraus, will be published on United Nations Day, October 24, 1964, by the United Nations Association of the United States of America.

Each of the 112 countries of the UN is represented by one to five authentic and delicious dishes, easily prepared in the American kitchen.

Some of the United States recipes were contributed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. Among those of Britain given by Patricia W. Dean — wife of the British ambassador, Berenice MarFarquhar — wife of the UN Under-Secretary, and Sra Ana H. de Cuevas — wife of the Charge d'Affaires of Mexico.

The Guinea recipes are by Mrs. William Attwood, wife of our former ambassador in Guinea with the help of Madame Diop Alassane, wife of the Minister of Communications there; those of Sudan from the wife of the Sudanese ambassador in Uganda; and more than 150 other individuals were involved.

Each tentatively accepted recipe was tested by a professional home economist in her own home for her own family, and frequently for guests from the country of origin. Then it was scrutinized again for authenticity.

It took four years to review the 750 recipes from which the final 250 were selected.

Several times it appeared that the book was finished, but during sessions of the General Assembly new members were elected; and so before publication the book was already out of date.

The cookbook is metal spiral bound, has 146 pages with 112 charming sketches in color. A copy is $2.50 and is available from the United Nations Association of the United States of America, Inc., New York, New York 10011.

Children Will Like These Treats

Give a Halloween party... it will help keep young ghosts, goblins and witches from wandering too far on that scary evening when spirits from the other world are about.

Decorations are easily made and refreshments can be of the simplest, since young appetites enjoy most the foods with which they are familiar.

Candy coated popcorn, with a surprise toy in each foil carton, is a popular treat with the kiddies. Shake it out into a square of foil, bundle it up and twist into a ball. This is a great treat for the doorbell ringers.

Use it too as a topping on ice cream, or better still, try these simply made Crackety Jack Balls, and serve them from a wonderfully big witch's cauldron made from aluminum foil.

Crackety Jack Balls
1 quart firm vanilla or chocolate ice cream
1 "pass around" package candy coated popcorn

Turn out popcorn on a large sheet of aluminum foil. Heat ice cream scoop in boiling water and scoop out rounded balls of ice cream. Drop them on the

Add Variety to Your Rice

For a bowl of fluffy white rice with a difference, USDA home economists suggest omitting the salt while preparing the grains according to package directions. Then:

- Add a dry soup or dry salad dressing mix. Onion soup and cheese or garlic dressing are particularly tasty.

- Stir in 2 teaspoons poppy seed per cup of uncooked rice after the rice has been cooked. Good with creamed chicken.

- Add small amount of Basil, thyme, oregano, sage, rosemary, savory or instant horseradish. Increase the amount gradually if preferred.

popcorn and quickly roll until completely covered.

Place on foil in freezer and cover with second piece of foil. Store in freezer until ready to serve. Makes 12 to 16 servings. Serve with cookies.

Funny Face Cookies

Make faces on plain sugar cookies with gum drops and other colored candies of the season. Confectioners' sugar mixed with water can be used to hold candies in place.

Witches Cauldron

Mold aluminum foil over a large bean pot or other big pot. Make a handle by folding foil over and over until it is about 1/4 inch thick and attach with tape.

Make a tripod of branches cut from small bushes or trees. Bind them together with wire at the top.

Make a fire from red paper and small sticks. Suspend the cauldron from top of the tripod with a chain, wire or ribbon.

THIS MACHINE 'SWIMS' — Mobility, agility and durability are the features claimed for the "Goer," shown fording a stream. The Army is testing the vehicle to see whether it's capable of transporting military supplies to widely dispersed, fast-moving units. Dubbed "Goer" for its ability to perform in difficult situations, the vehicle can travel on almost any terrain.

Woman Gets $10,000

MOBILE, Ala. — A woman who slipped on a dried bean in a grocery story has been awarded $10,000.

Mrs. Mary Patterson contended she suffered multiple injuries in the fall four years ago. She asked $50,000 damages, but the jury verdict yesterday gave her $10,000 and awarded her husband, Floyd Patterson, $3,000.

Insurance companies estimate they will pay $17.5 million in claims for property damage caused by Hurricane Dora, not including automobile losses or damage to small crafts and yachts.

World News Roundup

Laborite-Liberal Alliance Is Proposed

LONDON (AP) — Woodrow Wyatt, a Laborite publisher and member of Parliament, proposed today an alliance of Britain's Labor and Liberal parties to increase the government's perilous four-vote majority in the House of Commons.

Such a union would add nine Liberal votes to give the government a majority of 22 over the Conservatives in the 630-seat House.

"If we don't create a radical alliance we shall have the Tories back again — and for longer than before," Wyatt wrote in the weekly Birmingham Planet, one of his newspapers.

It got a quick response from Liberal party leader Jo Grimond.

"It seems Mr. Wyatt's proposal is in accordance with what I have myself been saying for a long time," he said.

Wyatt proposed giving Grimond a Cabinet post and a promise that the Labor party would not try to rationalize Britain's steel industry. The Liberals oppose the government's taking over the industry again.

CAIRO (AP) — Talks aimed at ending the two-year-old civil war in Yemen have been delayed again by failure of the disputants to agree on what the negotiations should cover, authoritative sources said today.

The informants said the talks, expected to take place in Port Sudan, probably will not start until next week.

Saudi Arabia supports the deposed Yemeni royalists while the United Arab Republic backs the Republicans with 41,000 Egyptian troops in the Arabian Peninsula country.

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines may ask the U.N. General Assembly to endorse a move to place its claim to the Malaysian State of Sabah before the World Court, Foreign Secretary Mauro Mendez said today.

He said President Diosdado Macapagal will confer with a nonpartisan foreign policy advisory group on the question.

An assembly airing of the Philippine claim, said Mendez, would "bring world opinion to bear on the logic of our position."

The Philippine claim to Sabah, formerly British North Borneo, caused Manila to withhold recognition of the Malaysian Federation when it was formed Sept. 16, 1963.

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam claims that an American T28 plane with Laotian markings was shot down over North Vietnamese soil Aug. 18 and the Thai pilot taken prisoner.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Hanoi, said the Thailand government had sent the airman to Laos to serve in the right-wing air force and that he admitted making a number of air strikes over positions of the Communist Pathet Lao.

Admiring a painting created by a nine-year-old artist from Vienna, Austria, are Jacqueline Ledsinger, 11-year-old daughter of the Gid Ledsingers of West South Boulevard and Mrs. Harvey Burdick of Ottawa Drive. The painting is part of the Art for World Friendship exhibit showing now through Sunday at the Pontiac Mall.

Art Exhibit Shows Work of Children

"Art for World Friendship," an exhibit composed of 50 paintings by children from around the world is currently showing at the Pontiac Mall and will remain there through Saturday.

Sponsored locally by the Oakland County Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the exhibit will be shown next week at the Benjamin Franklin Elementary School.

The project, started after the second World War, seeks to make personal contacts between children of different cultures, countries and beliefs. Mrs. Janet Hawkesley is chairman of the exhibit which started its tour of Oakland County Sept. 20. The current showing at the Mall is in observance of United Nations Week which will end Saturday.

Tea to Honor Volunteers

The Pontiac State Hospital tea honoring more than 900 volunteers will be held Tuesday, according to Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of the hospital.

Keynote speaker will be Dave Diles, who will talk on "The Most Important Gift."

Diles is a veteran of news and sports writing and wire service, radio and television reporting. He is currently president of the Detroit Broadcasters Association and is an active speaker for the Detroit United Fund.

Married with two children, he lives in Bloomfield Hills.

Trio Elected to Historical Group Board

Three newly-elected board members of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society joined the reelected members at the Wednesday afternoon meeting in Pontiac City Hall.

Other board members are Mrs. Allan Monroe, Mrs. Maude Place, Marion Hodges Benter, Miss Emma Howard and J. Standish Sibley.

Mrs. Donald Adams is the society's president for the coming year. Assisting are: William T. Whitfield and Mrs. Benter, vice presidents; Mrs. Hoard, secretary and Carlton Patterson Jr., treasurer.

At the Wednesday meeting, the board formally received bequests from the estates of Elizabeth Lounsbury, Louise Paddock and Earl Sutton.

Not Insult to Count the Change

By The Emily Post Institute
Yesterday afternoon a neighbor of mine was going shopping and I asked her if she would pick up a container of milk for me while she was at the market.

When she returned and I went to pay for it, I discovered I had no change and the smallest bill I had was ten dollars.

I asked her if she could change it. She said she could and when she handed me my change I automatically counted it.

As I did so, she remarked, "Don't you trust me?"

I was astounded when she said it as if never occurred to me that she could possibly take this as mistrust of her.

Will you please tell me if I was wrong to have done this?

A. While it would perhaps have been more tactful to put the change into your purse without counting it in her presence, I see no cause for her taking offense at what you did.

One can very easily make a mistake when giving change and it was just as much for her protection as well as your own to count it.

After all, she could very easily have given you more change than you were supposed to get.

Q. I received an invitation to the wedding of an office friend. It was sent through the mail to my home address.

I would like to know if a formal note of acceptance is necessary or, since I see her every day, may I just tell her I'm going?

A. Correctly, you should send your reply to the bride's parents in whose names the invitation were sent and address it to their house where an accurate list undoubtedly is being kept of those who are coming to the reception.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

More Time or More Blood ---That's the Test Question

By ABIGAIL VUN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is there a state near Iowa where a couple can go to be married in a hurry without blood tests, waiting and all that rigmarole?

I am 69 and he is 74 and we have no need for all that stuff. We would like to get married as soon as possible as his children want to put him in a rest home.

I thank you.

SARAH IN MASON CITY, Ia.

DEAR SARAH: Illinois, Nebraska, Missouri and Wisconsin all require blood tests. To the north of you, however, is Minnesota, where no blood test is required — but there is a five-day waiting period.

To the west of you is South Dakota, where a blood test is required, but there is no waiting.

So if you can spare the blood but not the time, go to South Dakota. But if you have more time than blood to spare, Minnesota is your state.

DEAR ABBY: I have just bid goodbye to our last summer guest and I am ready for a sanitarium.

I have cooked and cooked, and my bills are so high I wonder if I'll ever get them paid.

I've run my appliances all out cleaning and serving meals

Luncheon to Feature Celebrities

Politics and glamour will mix Friday as noted personalities gather in behalf of Sen. Barry Goldwater and Cong. William Miller at a celebrity luncheon in Devon Gables.

Mrs. John Denham is chairman of the $15-a-plate event which may also be attended by Sen. Goldwater's son, Mike, if his present schedule can be changed.

Assisting Mrs. Denham are Mrs. Lloyd Diehl Jr., Mrs. Walter W. Fisher, Mrs. Robert C. Fisher, Mrs. Joseph Hainline, Mrs. Charles Moeller and Mrs. Edward T. Downs.

The celebrities who will end a five-day tour of Michigan with the luncheon include: Wendell Corey, Colen Gray, Joanne Dru, Rhonda Fleming and Pat Priest, daughter of former Secretary of the Treasury Ivy Baker Priest.

Others to appear are Philip Crosby, Jack Kramer, tennis star; Jim Drury, Andy Devine; A. Burks Summer, former ambassador to Luxembourg and Harry Simpson, former ambassador to Paraguay.

Some 400 men and women from Oakland and Wayne counties are expected.

at all hours. This summer has been the worst!

We have had one batch of uninvited guests after another. They could all have afforded to stay at a motel, but they prefer our brand of hospitality.

I have had it. It's too bad people like this have to spill it for the few who are considerate guests and would be welcome.

Sign me "Nothing," as the name I would like to call myself right now would not look good in the newspaper.

NOTHING

DEAR NOTHING: My guess is that you have, in one way or another, invited more guests than you intended to — or realized.

Button your lip this winter and watch things improve next summer.

DEAR ABBY: The person who was "SHOCKED" because the bride's shoe was passed around to collect money was definitely not Polish or she would have known the money collected was for the first baby's crib and clothes.

This doesn't necessarily mean that the bride is "expecting" — but it's merely looking ahead.

Mrs. Ralph Criger gave a Sunday patio luncheon-shower at her home in Warren.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Millard T. Smith, the late Mr. Smith, and the Harold Crigers of Royal Oak.

'Peel' Potatoes a New Way

A new way to "peel" potatoes and other vegetables is by rubbing them with rubber-like, fabric-lined gloves which have palms covered with sharp abrasive particles.

To wash these peelers after use, lather them with hot soap or detergent suds and rub the palms against one another to remove food particles that cling to the abrasive surfaces.

Suds the insides, too. Then rinse under running water and hang them to drain and dry.

Bitterness to Child Is Meant for Parents

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My husband's sister is devoted to our little boy but very critical of his 10-year-old sister.

She was here last night when Gay came home from a music lesson and ran in to tell us of the compliment her teacher had given her for her improvement over the summer.

She turned on the child and said, "When will you learn to stop bragging about yourself?" Later, when my husband objected to the way she treated Gay, she became angry and left.

It is hard on him as she was like a mother to him when they were children.

ANSWER: She attacks your daughter because it's safer than attacking your husband and you.

I don't know why she resents you. Maybe she feels you owe her what you give to Gay. Maybe, as a child, she hated being your husband's "mother" and is envious of the advantages enjoyed by your daughter, that luckier sister of a little brother.

I don't know. But her intensely hostile response to Gay's innocent pleasure in her music teacher's approval certainly suggests that her bitterness is much older than the 10 years of Gay's young life.

It may actually express resentment at Gay's father - that younger brother for whom she may have sacrificed too much. I shall not be offended if your husband says "Bosh!" to this suggestion.

Seldom are we willing to know that the criticisms our relatives make of our children are usually criticisms of us.

It is much easier to see the child as the disappointing person than to say to ourselves, "sister Ruth certainly seems to have it in for me."

It is one of the tragic burdens of childhood that it is made the victim of family hates which existed before the children were born, because the children don't know that the hates predated their births.

When Aunt Ruth defines their innocent pleasure in a teacher's approval as "bragging," they credit her definition with truth and are made ashamed of their innocent pleasure.

How are they to know that Aunt Ruth was really saying, "There were no music lessons for me when I was a little girl! There was no pleasure for me!"

"There was only doing my duty by you, little brother, who now gets up on his high horse and reproaches me for unkindness to children!"

New Warren Couple Wed in Port Huron

New residents of Warren will be the junior Louis Michael Stiebs (Rosalind Elaine Kota) wed recently in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Port Huron.

Rev. Martin L. Ehlen performed the candlelight ceremony followed by reception in the American Legion hall, Marysville. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kota of Port Huron, the bride was groomed in off-white white satin, and peau de soie.

A rose headpiece cradled her triple-tiered veil of French illusion. She carried white chrysanthemums and fall foliage.

With honor maid, Karen Conant, were bridesmaids, Sue Bergquist of Greenville; Gail Kota, Marysville and Diane Barry of Southfield. Henry Way was best man for the bridegroom, son of the Louis Stiebs of Rochester. Ushers were Dennis Scott, Kenneth Schwark, James Ferguson and Duane Brann, Farmington. The couple chose northern Michigan for the honeymoon.

School Should Teach Hygiene

"Good hygienic conditions in the school building help to keep children well and happy. They also provide first-hand material from which to teach the elements of good hygienic conditions in the home and elsewhere.

"Water, soap, and towels should be conveniently and adequately supplied."

The principles were promulgated by Dr. Clair E. Turner, a noted professor of Public Health.

Child's Toy Pail Can Hold Daisies

A child's brightly colored toy pail creates a wonderful holder for a floral arrangement of sunny daisies.

The daisy-filled pail, borrowed from the sandpile, adds a festive air to an informal beach party or picnic.

Atlanta Moving Plans Clouded

Milwaukee Puts Roadblock in Proposed Braves Shift

NEW YORK (AP) — National League club owners met today to consider the transfer of the Milwaukee franchise to Atlanta for 1965 but a bare-knuckle fight between the Braves and Milwaukee officials raised speculation as to what action—if any—the owners would take.

The Braves' board of directors voted Wednesday to move the team—for the second time in 11 years—and the owners were expected to approve the shift.

But several hours after the club's decision to quit Milwaukee was announced, a temporary injunction was obtained by Milwaukee County officials restraining the Braves from moving or from seeking permission to move.

MUST BE SERVED

Whether the unprecedented legal maneuver would serve to block the club owners' action at today's special meeting in a mid-town hotel could not be determined. Legal papers apparently would have to be served prior to the meeting.

League President Warren Giles said Wednesday night he had not been informed of the injunction and planned to go ahead with the meeting. He would seek legal counsel, he said, if it became necessary.

Milwaukee's legal counter-punch followed a 12-4 vote by the Braves' directors, meeting in Chicago, to shift the club.

The injunction forbids the Braves from applying to either the president of the league or the owners of other clubs for sanction to move. It temporarily prohibits the Braves, who have a year remaining on their County Stadium contract, from arranging, agreeing to play or scheduling any 1965 games at any site other than Milwaukee. Braves representatives were ordered by Circuit Judge Ronald Drechsler to appear next Tuesday to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

LITTLE OPPOSITION

Until the legal bombshell was dropped it appeared certain that the owners would approve the shift. Approval by six of the other nine clubs was needed and no serious opposition was foreseen.

Chicago Cubs owner P. K. Wrigley indicated how the vote probably would go. "I did not oppose the Braves' move from Boston to Milwaukee although it brought them into our territory," he said. "I will be consistent and not oppose their move to Atlanta."

Other officials, including George Weiss and Roy Hofheinz, presidents of the New York Mets and Houston Colts—the league's expansion clubs—indicated they would go into the meeting with open minds.

"We'll have to get both angles on the thing, Milwaukee's and Atlanta's," Weiss said.

Several owners, including those of the Pittsburgh Pirates, had said previously they would not oppose such a move.

The southern exodus of the Braves, charter members of the National League who moved from Boston to Milwaukee in 1953, was approved at a closed, two-hour conference—one day after league President Warren Giles called the New York meeting "to further discuss the situation and take action thereon."

After the directors' meeting, newsmen, including one from Atlanta, were handed a prepared statement by Braves' publicity director Ernie Johnson. The terse statement announced the decision to move the franchise but gave no reasons for the shift.

Soviets Gain Heavily as Olympics Near End

United States Lead Is Cut by Russians

USSR Strong Events on Schedule for Final Two Days

TOKYO (AP) — The on-rushing forces of Russia, buoyed by the strength of its canoeists, grabbed off seven more Olympic Games medals today, moved to within 17 of the United States' leading total of 88 and appeared to be in excellent position to overhaul the Americans.

The United States had a lead of 86-64 going into this next-to-last full day of competition in the 18th modern Olympics, but managed to pick up only two medals, a silver in women's kayak doubles and a bronze in women's kayak singles by Marcia Jones of Oklahoma City.

Russia, meanwhile, gathered in three gold and a bronze in canoeing, two bronze in judo and a bronze in equestrian dressage and pushed its total to 71 medals, including 22 gold. The United States has 34 gold, 26 silver and 28 bronze.

USSR FAVORED

And the program is all in Russia's favor.

Much of the Thursday night and Friday schedule is devoted to gymnastics, where the Russians have dominated for the last two Olympics.

And it goes deeper than that. The Russians are assured of seven medals in boxing, either silver or gold, since they have that number of fighters in Friday's finals. The United States has one, heavyweight Billy Frazer of Philadelphia.

The Soviets seem assured of two medals in volleyball, where their men's and women's teams are among the leaders. The United States' is out of contention.

The United States and Russia are matched in the basketball final, so each will pick up one medal there.

KEY TO SUCCESS

But the key to it all is the success or failure of the Russian gymnasts. The United States isn't expected to score, but Russia must make up some 10 or 12 to overtake the Americans. And they could do it. Russia won 15 gym medals in 1960.

The United States, which got surprising support from its supporters, also got some surprise help from its canoeists, who prevented an anticipated shut-out in medals today.

Francine Fox, a 15-year-old schoolgirl, and Gloria Perrier, a 35-year-old clerk, both from Washington, D.C., were second behind Germany's winning pair in women's kayak doubles.

And Miss Jones, a pretty, 23-year-old Michigan State student from Oklahoma City, was closing fast and just missed taking second in the women's kayak singles.

The Red Raiders finally had their goal line crossed in Waterford men's touch football last night, but the league leaders downed the Ravens, 27-6.

Tom Brice passed for four touchdowns as the Raiders upped their record to 5-0. Dick Blacklaw caught two TD passes from Tom Morse as Dusters tripped Castoffs, 14-0.

Bill Dietrich's pass to Steve McKinney in the last 10 seconds enabled Flashes to tie the SP's, 12-12, in Ping football.

U.S. Plays 'Ace' in Jump Event

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — With an event called "The Gambler's Choice" and a horse named Jacks-or-Better, how else could it end?

"Jacks-or-Better was the winner Wednesday night, giving the United States its third straight blue ribbon in international jumping competition at the Pennsylvania Horse Show here.

Responding gallantly to the delicate handling of 19-year-old Neil Shapiro of Glen Head, N.Y., the big, brown gelding brought the United States within 16 points of pace-setting Canada in the unofficial team standings.

Earlier pretty Carol Hofmann, 21, of North Branch, N.J., won the Fraternal Order of Police Trophy for the United States aboard Cant Tell.

IST ROUND TIE

But it took a jump-off to decide the top gambler as both Shapiro and Mexico's Joaquin P. de las Heras wound up in a stalemate after the first round.

De las Heras gambled for time and lost points as his mount Pedra knocked down two hurdles. This allowed Shapiro to forget time and concentrate on precision. Jacks-or-Better responded by negotiating the intricate course without a flaw.

The Gambler's Choice was one of the more popular events of the Penn National. Composed of 10 jumps, each representing a playing card from the five, worth one point, to the ace, worth 10 points, the event provided a stern test for the riders of the five competing nations.

Each rider had his choice of any eight jumps in any order. De las Heras and Shapiro ended the first round with a maximum of 52 points and times of 41.5 seconds.

Argentina swept third and fourth place honors behind Cesar Salem on Playboy and Lt. Carlos Marcelli on Estopim.

Miss Hofmann also won her blue ribbon in a jump-off, edging Jim Day of Canada on Mr. Danahue by nine-tenths of a second. Rafael Jimenez of Mexico, aboard Gaylord, was third and Gail Ross of Edmonton, Ontario, Canada, finished fourth on Shilhouette.

SEVENTH TRY

Paille will be 32 in December and was hurriedly summoned from Vancouver for his seventh stint with the Rangers when Jacques Plante's balky knee refused to respond to treatment.

Both have allowed 11 goals. Paille in five games and Crozier in four.

"This really was Crozier's

Wings' Crozier Blanks Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — You didn't need a scorecard to tell the winning and losing goalies in Wednesday night's National Hockey League game between the Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers.

Paille kicked off 36 shots, Crozier had 19 saves, but game of them were especially good.

The big question among Detroit partisans has been how the 5-foot-8, 160-pound Crozier will hold out for the 70-game NHL schedule.

A deflection by Norm Ullman in the third period provided the lone goal.

Both goalies are key men on the two teams that are expected to battle it out for the fourth and last playoff berth.

Crozier is a 22-year-old left-hander, a rarity among goaltenders, who became the Wings' No. 1 netminder when veteran Terry Sawchuk was left unprotected in last summer's draft and was claimed by Toronto.

CHICAGO (AP) — Montreal took over the National Hockey League lead with a 5-3 tie with the Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday night.

The Canadiens remain unbeaten in four games with two ties to bag six points. Chicago has five points and shares second place with Toronto. However, the Maple Leafs can regain the lead with a victory at Boston tonight in the only game scheduled.

Chico Maki's goal in the third period pulled the Hawks into the stalemate at Montreal after Chicago blew an early three-goal lead. The Canadiens struck for five second-period scores with unaided goals by Jacques Laperriere and Ralph Backstrom within eight seconds.

Decision by Braves Lauded in Georgia

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta, considered one of the nation's top sports towns, is already welcoming the transfer of the Milwaukee Braves to the South-east.

Citizens from the governor to a shoeshine boy said they were pleased by the team owners' action approving the transfer Wednesday.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a key figure in the city's drive to attain major league status, was pleased that the Braves "have chosen to make the national pastime truly national, to give the 24 million people who live in these seven southeastern states a share in the major leagues."

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia

Other citizens were enthusiastic, too.

"It's real nice. It will benefit Atlanta, Georgia and the entire South. We deserve it and we'll support it," said Kenneth Harper, a high school student.

"From Atlanta's standpoint, the Braves are probably the most popular team in the majors," Dodd said.

"People will support it, and they in turn will benefit financially."

EYE ANOTHER

Catering official Franklin R. Pike said, "It's one of the best things to come along in years. Now it will be the most up-and-coming city in the United States."

The $18 million stadium now being constructed near the junction of three interstate highways is scheduled to be ready by April 15, 1965 — about one year after a crash building program was started on the 47-acre urban renewal site.

"The owners of the Braves are showing a callous lack of faith in the people of Milwaukee and Wisconsin," said the governor.

He also played the resources of the state to Milwaukee County officials in their legal fight to force the Braves to live up to their stadium rental contract which covers the 1965 season.

Major League All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles pitchers Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers and Dean Chance of the Angels polled the most votes among players named to The Associated Press' annual major league baseball All-Star team today.

Koufax collected 77 votes and Chance 71 in the balloting by 85 baseball writers. The left-handed Koufax won 19 games before he was sidelined for the year by a sore arm in mid-August. Chance, a right-hander, compiled a 20-9 record.

The Angels also placed shortstop Jim Fregosi on the 10-man team. Three members of the New York Yankees, the American League pennant winners, were chosen. They were outfielder Mickey Mantle, catcher Elston Howard and second baseman Bobby Richardson. First baseman Bill White was the only member of the champion St. Louis Cardinals selected.

ONE-SIDED

Others named were third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore and outfielders Willie Mays of San Francisco and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh. The voting was one-sided for each position except outfield and pitcher. Clemente, third in the balloting, had 61 votes followed among the outfielders by Mays with 54 and Mantle 51.

Pistons Win Home Opener

By JERE CRAIG

DETROIT — The Detroit Pistons sputtered for awhile, then synchronized their efforts for a 108-104 National Basketball Association home opener victory Wednesday night over the San Francisco Warriors.

The win was the first of the season for Detroit in three starts while the Warriors dropped their third in a row without Wilt Chamberlain, the point machine.

The Pistons' victory was a good one although they had to overcome some rough spots. New players and ones who saw little duty last year were quite instrumental in the triumph.

Coch Charlie Wolf tried his two platoon system — around center Reggie Harding. It didn't work primarily due to ineffective guard combinations.

Donnis Butcher and Eddie Miles (the seldom used No. 1 draft choice of 1963) started the game, and Rod Thorn and Bob Duffy formed the second platoon.

Duffy was used sparingly last season while Thorn came from Baltimore in an off-season trade after a fine rookie season.

RIGHT DUO

It developed that Thorn and Butcher were the right combination with Miles to spare them off.

After an early 10-5 lead, the Pistons fell behind gradually to the derision of the announced 5-643 paid fans until the deficit was 43-30 with eight minutes to play in the second quarter.

That is when Wolfe scrapped his platooning and rotated the three guards, Ray Scott, Dave DeBusschere, Don Kojis and Terry Dischinger up front, anchored by Harding.

One other change also proved important to the Pistons' cause. Warriors mentor Alex Hannum gave All-Pro guard Gay Rodgers a rest at the same time.

This took the heart out of the San Francisco attack. It went seven minutes with only a field goal and a pair of foul shots.

The Pistons came back with 18 during that span and led 54-51 at halftime.

Wilt Chamberlain May Return Soon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain may return to action on Oct. 31 and help pull his San Francisco Warriors basketball teammates out of their early season doldrums. He will sit on the bench Friday night.

The 7-foot-1 center's mysterious stomach trouble was diagnosed Wednesday as inflammation of the pancreas. Doctors in Philadelphia, where Chamberlain is hospitalized, said the condition may be controlled by medication and diet.

Casper Bidding for Top Money in Coast Golf

CORONA, Calif. (AP)—Bill Casper, who had a near miss in last week's Sahara Invitational by finishing one shot back of winner Dick Sikes, said Wednesday he has three things going for him in the $40,000 Mountain View Open starting Thursday.

Casper is one of the six touring pros representing this Mountain View course and says he is in excellent health, thanks to discovering he is allergic to seven food items, and says he is razor-sharp with his chipping and putting.

PNH, Vikings in Homecoming Duel

Huskies Look for First Win in WL Series

Game Set for 8 P.M. at Wisner; Visitors After Loop Title

One victory doesn't make a season successful, but in Pontiac Northern's case, it could. Particularly, if the victory came against Walled Lake.

The Huskies are in the midst of a dismal season with a 1-4 record, and unless they start a winning string, they will wind up with the worst record in the team's five-year history.

The prospects for a victory over the Walled Lake squad are dim at best.

PNH will be two to three touchdowns underdog when the two square off tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Wisner Stadium.

Despite the odds, the Huskies have a couple of things going for them that should spur the team to its best performance of the season.

HOMECOMING
Tomorrow is Homecoming at PNH and a win over the Vikings would make the fans forget other games, notably the losses.

Another little item that should spur the Huskies is that they have never beaten Walled Lake.

The game is also a big one for the invading Vikings.

They lead the Inter-Lakes League with a 2-0 record and they can see up their sixth gridiron title in a row with a victory or a tie against Northern.

Farmington won the I-L crown in 1958, and Walled Lake has ruled the roost since, winning four championships outright and sharing the top spot with Southfield in 1960.

'Biggest' Weekend 2 Ways for Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

How big is BIG? Ask the Detroit Lions and they'll tell everyone that Sunday's game against the Baltimore Colts is their biggest game in many seasons.

The Lions also know they must make some big maneuver to get another quarterback real fast.

Any team that wants to win an NFL championship has to win the big games and the Baltimore Colts are making them selves clearly understood.

They have defeated the Green Bay Packers twice, the defending champion Bears once and Eastern division contending Cardinals and are on a five game streak putting them atop the Western Division with a 5-1 mark.

The Lions also defeated the Bears, but lost their only encounter with the Packers and stand 4-1-1. The tie coming in the season's 2nd game against the Rams on the coast.

"We can't expect anyone else to beat the Colts. If we want that title, we've got to do it ourselves," said coach George Wilson.

In 1962 when the Lions had their last big chance at the title they blew the big games, one in Green Bay 9-7 and one in New York, 17-14; the first one on a pass interception in the final seconds and the latter after a blocked punt.

The Lions did get some revenge in the Thanksgiving Day rout of the Packers but they were too late because they had failed in the big ones.

POWERFUL OFFENSE

Baltimore's powerful offensive machine is the best in the league with the passing of John Unitas, the receiving of Ray Berry, Jimmy Orr, Jerry Hill, Lenny Moore, John Mackey and Tom Matke.

Moore is having his finest season in five years and the Baltimore depth on the ground with rookies Joe Looney, Tony Lorrer and veterans Matty Hill has mauling opposing defenses.

The Lions faced with a serious question of finding another quarterback to replace Earl Morrall have filled the blackboard with names.

Sonny Gibbs, the No. 1 choice of Dallas two years ago, is now with Toledo in the AFL and he has been at Detroit practice sessions this week.

TITLE POSSIBILITY?

Eddie LaBaron, Glenn Griffith, Lamar McLean and even Bobby Layne and Y. A. Tittle have been mentioned as possibilities to help the Lions in their final eight games.

In any instance, the three difficulties for getting a quarterback are:

1. The trading deadline has past.

2. To get a free agent, the Lions must drop three players.

3. To get a player like Tittle if he was waived, the Lions would have to let all the other teams lower than them in standings bid first for him.

The Giants know that this is Tittle's last year. He has been hurt and they are practically out of the title chase. They also are ready to go with the two rookies they have in planning for the future.

Grid Tide Has Changed for Dryden, Almont Units

Something has been added to this year's Dryden-Almont football game.

During the last few years the annual fall classic between the Lapeer County neighbors has usually resulted in the loser being assured of a last place finish in the Southern Thumb Conference.

The tide has changed.

No longer are Dryden and Almont dormants in football. The game Friday at Almont will have a direct bearing on the championship.

A victory for unbeaten Dryden will just about assure the Cardinals of the title. The only obstacles remaining will be Memphis and Armada, two of the league's weaker teams.

Almont, with one league loss, can tie for first place by winning. However, the Raiders will be confronted by strong New Haven next week before closing out against last place Capax.

Dryden, which jumped from 10th to fifth place in the weekly Associated Press Class C poll off its victory last week over New Haven, must contain Almont's high-scoring Harry Hoffner.

The fleet halfback is the area's top scorer with 12 touchdowns.

FIVE STRAIGHT

Tom Sterner has sparked Dryden to five straight wins with his running and passing. The senior quarterback is an adept ball handler and several times has completely fooled the opposition by faking handoffs and carrying himself.

He has not passed often, but the 15 for 27 mark speaks for itself. Over half of the completions have been for touchdowns.

Dennis Hilliker is a favorite Sterner target and also does the kicking. His work as a defensive halfback in pilfering enemy passes has been outstanding.

There will be one other unusual aspect when the team's line up at 8 p.m. for the kickoff.

Although the contest is being played at Almont, it will be Dryden's homecoming. The

Soccer Squad Wins

Bloomfield Hills ran its soccer record to 2-0-3 yesterday with a 7-1 triumph over Grosse Pointe U.S.

Jeff Smith and Gerry Johnson collected three goals apiece and Andy Anderson tallied the other marker.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians said Wednesday they have acquired pitcher Ralph Terry from the New York Yankees as part of the deal that sent Pedro Ramos to New York last month.

Arthur Fiedler Has Fun Leading Al Hirt's Band

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — "Where are the other 90 men?" asked famed conductor Arthur Fiedler, whose Boston Pops consist of 96 musicians.

"We'd have to throw the audience out to get them here," replied Al Hirt, the bearded jazz trumpet virtuoso who at 6-foot-3 and 281 pounds is literally the biggest man in music.

Fiedler laughed, picked up a baton and Hirt and his five-man band began to play. Each of the musicians carefully watched the white-haired Fiedler as he conducted "Trumpeter's Holiday."

The 60-year-old conductor made his first night club appearance Wednesday night as he guided Hirt's sextet in the mammoth musician's Bourbon Street night club.

"I don't think I'll need this anymore," said Fiedler, breaking his baton after the first number. Then he conducted "Java" and "Sugar Lips" — two of Hirt's hottest selling songs. But the musicians didn't pay too much attention to Fiedler as he waved his arms up and down.

"Arthur," said Hirt, "I hope you aren't as nervous as I was when I appeared with you." Hirt appeared with Fiedler's Boston Pops earlier this year and invited Fiedler "to come down to New Orleans and conduct my band."

"I never thought he'd take me up on it," said Hirt, who trained as a classical horn blower.

Afterwards, Fiedler asked a newsmen: "You don't think I looked too bad up there, do you?"

Then Fiedler returned to ring-side of the revolving center stage and listened to Hirt blow hot and sweet for more than an hour.

At one point, Hirt introduced his clarinetist, Peeewe Spittler, saying, "Peeewe, if you play real good, maybe you can go to Boston."

"Arthur needs somebody to carry the drummer's cymbals."

Spittler, who is leaving Hirt soon to form his own jazz group, serves as grinning foil for many of Hirt's jokes. Spittler is as small as Hirt is large.

"Peeewe is the best clarinet player in town," Hirt told Fiedler, "unless you want to go two blocks down the street to Pete Fountain."

After it was all over, Fiedler agreed to go down Bourbon Street to Preservation Hall — where some of the ancient Negro musicians who played Dixieland music years ago perform — "for just one number."

He stayed for almost an hour, listening to Dede Pierce, a white-haired cornet player, and his piano-playing wife, Billy, who was the accompanist for Bessie Smith, the great blues singer of yesteryear.

"They're magnificent," said Fiedler.

He then took in one of Bourbon Street's strip shows, watching spectacular Linda Bragette go through her bumps.

"This New Orleans is quite a town," mused Fiedler in his precise Bostonian accent.

The maestro heads today for New York, where later in the week he'll conduct Leonard Bernstein's New York Philharmonic — considerably larger than Hirt's sextet.

Boston Pops Conductor Takes Hand With Jazz Band

Betsy Drake Makes Comeback in Films

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "I woke up one morning and decided I wanted to go back to work," says Betsy Drake, explaining why she is making her first movie in six years.

Betsy is the cello-voiced beauty who became an instant star when she appeared opposite Cary Grant in "Every Girl Should Be Married."

The title proved prophetic and in 1949 she became Mrs. Cary Grant. Her acting career was intermittent after her marriage; then, six years ago, she quit entirely.

"My marriage was breaking up, and that consumed all my energies," she said. "And I was tired of what went with acting in Hollywood."

FILES FOR DIVORCE

Four years passed before she filed for divorce from Grant. "I still love him," she explained at the time. After another two years she decided to return to films. She talked to George Chasen, Cary's long-time friend and agent, who recommended an agent for her.

The first job turned out to be "Clarence, the Cross-Eyed Lion" with Marshall Thompson and the title performer at MGM.

"I suppose one of the things that made me want to go back to acting is the work I have been doing at the neuropsychiatric clinic at UCLA," she said. "I have been conducting classes in which the patients act out their hostilities instead of just talking about them. Nanette Fabray has been working there this year, too."

VILLAIN IN DRAMA

"What I do is assume the role of villain in the dramas, rather than subjecting the doctors and nurses to that position. I take the part of mothers, fathers, mothers-in-law and others with whom the patients have hostilities. Oh, we have some pretty wild sessions some days."

You would think that the experience might have whetted Betsy's appetite for doing serious roles. It hasn't worked out that way.

"If I do some more acting in films or television, I would want to do comedy," she remarked.

CAN'T BE SERIOUS

"Somehow I've never been able to take drama seriously. When the script gets to be dreadfully terse and romantic, that's when I feel like bursting out laughing."

Betsy also writes. She claims to have little success with it, but the fact remains that she has sold two short stories to magazines, plus the original story for Cary's film "Houseboat." She used to script the "Mr. Blandings" radio show they did together.

"I write from 9 to 12 every morning," she said. "The rest of the day I keep busy. I decorate, I do a lot of cooking. I enjoy housework. Of course, this is a 24-hour-a-day job until I find a husband."

Then she does intend to marry again.

"Of course," she replied, citing the title of her first movie.

THE FIRST JOB TURNED OUT TO BE "Clarence, the Cross-Eyed Lion" with Marshall Thompson and the title performer at MGM.

"I suppose one of the things that made me want to go back to acting is the work I have been doing at the neuropsychiatric clinic at UCLA," she said. "I have been conducting classes in which the patients act out their hostilities instead of just talking about them. Nanette Fabray has been working there this year, too."

VILLAIN IN DRAMA

"What I do is assume the role of villain in the dramas, rather than subjecting the doctors and nurses to that position. I take the part of mothers, fathers, mothers-in-law and others with whom the patients have hostilities. Oh, we have some pretty wild sessions some days."

You would think that the experience might have whetted Betsy's appetite for doing serious roles. It hasn't worked out that way.

MOTOROLA Color/65
It's New
Model 23CK302A—Contemporary styling with clean, uncluttered lines.
23" overall diag. tube meas. 274 sq. in. picture viewing area. $625 Less Trade

What's new about Motorola Color/65 sets? To start with, the picture is rectangular, full, bigger, with a natural shape similar to color movies. All other sets commercially produced in America today use a round tube. Their pictures are smaller and rounded off. Look how much of the picture you'd lose! So why lose the extra enjoyment Motorola Color/65 sets can add to your viewing enjoyment?

THIS is a rectangular tube. NOT THIS is a round tube.

Another important advantage is this: The new tube is about 5.2 inches shorter from front to back than ordinary round color tubes so Color/65 cabinets can be slim and trim. They fit back close to the wall... blend beautifully with other furnishings. Choose from many fine furniture designs including decorator sets designed by Drexel exclusively for Motorola.

Lodge Receives First Dooley Award

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P) — Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, has received the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation's first "Splendid American" award.

In accepting the honor last night, Lodge said that because of South Viet Nam's large geographical position, large areas of Asia "can be influenced and undermined" from the country.

The award was named after the late Dr. Thomas A. Dooley of St. Louis, who introduced modern medicine and built a 25-bed hospital in Laos.

Georgia Tech, a member of the Southeastern Conference for 30 years, withdrew this season to compete independently.

Barry Hits Aid to Reds; LBJ Cites 3rd 'Lash'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says the U.S. wheat sale to the Soviet Union, coupled with aid to Communist satellites, "has actually helped Russia herself to the point that she can put a team in that can depose Khrushchev and lean more heavily to Red China."

Addressing a crowd that packed the Union League Club in Philadelphia last night, the GOP presidential nominee forecast new troubles with the Communist world and said of the recent Kremlin shakeup: "I don't agree with the President that this is going to ease tensions."

Goldwater puts aside his presidential campaign today for a journey to New York for services for former President Herbert C. Hoover, a man he described to Pennsylvania voters as a symbol of morality in government.

The Republican nominee for the White House postponed a day of campaigning in the West and was due instead to attend a private memorial for Hoover, who died Tuesday.

Pressing his quest for votes in southeastern Pennsylvania Wednesday, the Arizona senator invoked Hoover's memory time and again.

He called the former president a great patriot, a man who stood for honesty, a leader wise in foreign and fiscal affairs.

POLITICAL ADVICE

"I remember some of the first political advice he ever gave me," Goldwater said. "... He said that a government that is big enough to give you all you want is big enough to take it all away."

Goldwater devoted considerable attention to foreign policy, both in his Pennsylvania speeches and in a nationally televised speech Wednesday night. They answered President Johnson's Sunday night address on recent world developments.

Forecast Freezing in Area Tonight

The area will get a taste of winter tonight, with temperatures dropping to the 26 to 34 range. Partly cloudy skies are expected.

Tonorrow won't be much warmer. A high of 45 to 50 is predicted along with fair skies.

Saturday's outlook is also fair with slightly warmer temperatures forecast.

Winds today are north-northwest at 10 to 20 miles an hour. They will be diminishing late today and tonight.

The mercury measured a cold 37 for this morning's low. By 1 p.m. it had climbed to 43.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says a "smear lash" is causing Republicans to desert "the temporary leaders of their party."

The President, who takes time off from campaigning today to attend memorial services for former President Herbert Hoover in New York, addressed a cheering throng last night in downtown St. Louis, Mo.

He said a Republican leader in Illinois, whom he did not identify, had told him that in the previous 48 hours there had been marked defections of party members from the GOP ticket.

"He told me," Johnson said, "that it's not the backlash and it's not the front lash, it's the smear lash. When some people get desperate they get dangerous. When they get dangerous they are not cautious. And when they get to smearing the people do not want to go along."

As he rode into the crowd of several thousand persons at a street corner in St. Louis, Johnson obviously did not see a sign borne aloft which said: "Jenkins, Johnson's Profumo."

ASKED TO RESIGN

Walter W. Jenkins, formerly a top Johnson aide, was asked by the President to resign after it became known he had twice been arrested on morals charges.

The President was interrupted for a moment in his speech by some Goldwater hecklers. They held before him a large sign which said: "The great society — LBJ, Bobby Baker, Billie Sol Estes."

Johnson supporters wrestled the sign down and the President observed: "There are a few like this in every crowd. But as the days go on they get fewer and fewer."

Sartre Says He'll Refuse Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — French playwright-novelist Jean-Paul Sartre won the 1964 Nobel Prize for literature today — and said he will refuse the $513,125 award.

The award, winner of which is selected by the Swedish Academy of Letters, carries with it a gold medal, diploma and the cash prize.

Sartre, 59, was reported by sources here to have written the academy in advance declining the prize for "personal and objective reasons."

Friends of the writer-philosopher said in France he said he did not want any prize "whether a sack of potatoes or a Nobel Prize."

In Paris, Sartre told a French newsmen he would give an explanation later to the Swedish press of his refusal.

Before the dawn of the Christian era, Oct. 31 was believed to have been the day on which Satan, the lord of death, gathered together all the souls of the dead who had been condemned to enter the body of animals, and decided what form they should take for the next year.

Modern man has placed a different emphasis on Oct. 31, Halloween.

But the lord of death still rules in many places as excited children, parading through the streets in costume, are cut down by motorists.

GM Nears 'Back to Work'

"PLEASED TO MEET YOU!" — John Dupack, foreman of janitors at the Oakland County Courthouse (left), and Duane Shaw, director of Veterans Affairs for the county, were greeted by Gov. Romney in the lobby of the courthouse yesterday afternoon.

The governor made a speedy swing through the courthouse after a 40-minute "selling" session at a union hall in Pontiac.

Staebler Sees No Evidence Labor Less Than Emphatic

DETROIT (AP) — Will labor be emphatic in supporting Democratic gubernatorial candidate Neil Staebler in the Nov. 3 election?

The question, which has popped up from time to time, came up again yesterday when Staebler, now Michigan's congressman-at-large spoke before the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society.

Fielding questions from a panel of newsmen and from the floor, Staebler said organized labor has demonstrated the usual amount of interest in his campaign and his victory.

He has found no evidence that labor is not doing all it can for his victory, he said.

Staebler has met with union leaders several times this week.

He spent nearly an hour with Kenneth Robinson, regional director for the United Auto Workers in Saginaw Tuesday. He met with William Marshall, executive vice president of the AFL-CIO, and representatives of a painters union in Detroit yesterday.

"EXCELLENT SUPPORT" Staebler also said he has received "excellent support" from former Gov. John Swainson and his backers.

Swainson, now Democratic national committeeman for Michigan, is generally regarded as having stronger labor support than Staebler.

The Democratic candidate will spend today preparing for his fourth face-to-face encounter and third formal debate with Romney.

The two face each other before the Detroit Press Club tonight.

So did former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Their problem is actually twofold, as listed by Capt. Leo Haerz of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

SENSELESS VANDALISM

First, police officers must attempt to stop the senseless vandalism which always takes place during the week before Halloween.

Second, officers must seek to protect the thousands of youngsters who will take to the streets trick-or-treating Halloween night.

In regards to the first problem, Haerz warned, "there is no such thing as a harmless prank."

Even apparently innocent

Union Hall Is Tackled by Romney

Like bearding the lion in his den, Gov. Romney tried to "sell" his administration and candidacy at a strikebound union hall in Pontiac yesterday afternoon.

His welcome at UAW Local 594, was mostly one of tolerance, with occasional extremes of outright rebuke and friendliness.

It was at the union hall that the governor's barnstorming tour yesterday reached its freest form of give-and-take debate.

Standing in the main room of the union hall for 40 minutes, he answered questions posed primarily on the Ford-Canton law revision and taxes.

Chief among his questioners were Andy Wilson, president of the local and a Staebler supporter, and Gordon Heaton, a committeeman.

ROMNEY REPLY

In answer to their query about the Ford-Canton law, Romney said, "When I took office, unemployment compensation was biased in favor of the unions and you could actually finance a strike with unemployment compensation."

"Before, it was biased in favor of the employers. Now," he said, "workmen thrown out by a strike from which they will not benefit collect unemployment benefits but workmen who will benefit from a strike are not eligible for benefits."

"This is fair," the governor attested.

"Why haven't the guys knocked out by the Buick strike in Flint gotten their money?" asked Heaton.

Gubernatorial Foes Trade Barbs at OU

State and national candidates, headed by Gov. Romney and his Democratic opponent Neil Staebler, fired political barbs at one another at Oakland University last night.

Some 600 persons attended the political forum sponsored by the Oakland Citizens League to listen to the nominees in the Nov. 3 election present their views and then answer questions from the audience.

China Rejects N-Pact Signing

Again Urges Summit to End Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China rejected today President Johnson's suggestion that it sign the limited nuclear test treaty and repeated its call for a global summit meeting to abolish nuclear weapons.

It had been expected that the United States would answer this call by proposing through diplomatic channels that the Peking regime sign the test ban treaty which more than 100 nations have signed.

President Johnson, in fact, said Sunday night in a televised speech to the nation: "We call on the world—especially Red China—to join the nations which have signed it (the treaty)."

An editorial today in the official Peking People's Daily called the treaty "nothing but a fraud," adding: "How can we be expected to walk into the trap now that we possess the means to break the nuclear monopoly of the United States? Fantastic, isn't it?"

"China is by no means obsessed by the idea of possessing nuclear weapons," the editorial continued. "It will stop developing them as soon as U.S. imperialism does so."

CONTROL QUESTION

The newspaper, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, said the proposal for abolition of nuclear weapons by a world summit meeting is "practical, reasonable, easily feasible and involves no question of control."

The State Department disclosed yesterday that Premier Chou En-lai of Red China had sent to President Johnson Monday morning the same message which he had circulated to other government chiefs around the world, even though the United States and Red China do not have diplomatic relations.

The message was transmitted through Chou's ambassador in Warsaw, Wang Kuo-chuan, to U.S. envoy John M. Cabot.

Officials said that no decision had been made yet on the question whether the United States would respond directly and if so what it would say.

Privately, however, they generally ruled out any message from Johnson to Chou but said that an informal, oral statement of the U.S. position on nuclear weapons testing could properly and logically be made by Cabot to Wang in their scheduled meeting Nov. 25.

Pontiac Twp. Youth Shot While Hunting

A 15-year-old Pontiac Township youth is in fair condition at St. Joseph's hospital after suffering gunshot wounds to his face and chest in a hunting accident yesterday.

Michael Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis, 97 N. Opdyke, was hunting with his father in a field across from their home when the accident occurred.

Sheriff's deputies said the youth was apparently hit when his father fired his 12 gauge shotgun at a pheasant.

Meetings Set for City Locals This Sunday

Workers Will Vote on Ratifications of Contracts With Firm

Pontiac General Motors plants were on the verge of returning to work today, with these developments in the nationwide UAW strike against GM:

• A UAW International meeting in Detroit, set for tomorrow morning;

• Contract ratification meetings set by the local unions;

• Withdrawal of local pickets, according to John Maye, president of UAW Local 653 here;

• Admission of 2,500 skilled tradesmen to the plants, to prepare the production facilities for the return of the remainder of the workers.

The ratification meeting for all members of local 653 will be held at Pontiac Central High School Sunday, with skilled tradesmen meeting at 10 a.m. and production workers at 2 p.m.

Fisher Body Local 596 will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday at Lincoln Junior High, and GMC Truck & Coach will meet at 2 p.m. at UAW Local 594 hall.

USUAL PROCEDURE

"This is following the usual procedure and permits skilled tradesmen and nonskilled workers who service the skilled trades to enter the plant and set up the lines for production to begin as soon as the agreement has been ratified."

At the Friday morning meeting in Detroit, if the majority of delegates ratify the national agreement, all local unions and units will be notified and the national strike against GM will be ended.

Those units which have ratified local settlements will then return to work.

New Soviet Leaders Indirectly Rip Nikita

MOSCOW (AP) — The new Soviet leadership, in a stinging indirect denunciation of Nikita Khrushchev, warned today that the methods of his regime "could have revived the norms of the period of the cult of the personality."

The new ruling group also criticized lower-ranking party leaders and called for a thorough checkup of cadres in the party apparatus.

The criticism of Khrushchev's regime was published in Party Life, organ of the Communist party's Central Committee.

The lead editorial, cleared for publication the day after the announcement of Khrushchev's ouster, heavily emphasized features of the Stalinist-type "cult of the personality."

The criticisms obviously were directed at Khrushchev and appeared to lay the groundwork for a vigorous campaign of condemnation against the fallen Kremlin chief.

The editorial, which did not mention Khrushchev by name, came amid mounting unrest in the Communist parties of Europe over the treatment of the deposed Soviet leader.

ASK EXPLANATION

The French Communist party, second largest in the West, in an unprecedented move said it wanted more information on "conditions and methods" of Khrushchev's removal and asked the Soviet party's Central Committee to receive a delegation from the French party seeking an explanation.

The Soviet party's explanation in Party Life said it was impossible to let "even the most authoritative person avoid the control of party organizations, and to let him think that he knows everything and that he can do everything and that the knowledge and experience of his comrades are nothing to him."

The Central Committee statement said that "experienced, influential leaders who know their business enjoy deserved authority among us."

"But legitimate respect" has nothing in common with the extreme exaltation and enjoin of a leader, when any work of a person standing "on the top" is (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

GM Strikers Vote Sunday

Expect 300,000 Back to Work

DETROIT (AP) — An end to the economy-pinching, 28-day old strike against gigantic General Motors Corp. may come over the weekend.

And if it does, it will return more than 300,000 auto makers to assembly lines and still more thousands to jobs in supplier plants and the transportation industry. Idle auto workers alone will have lost some $200 million in wages.

The United Auto Workers Union Wednesday ordered its 130 units within the GM empire to take a vote Sunday on ending the strike.

President Johnson prodded both company and union Monday for speedy agreement. He said strike continuance would "jeopardize the continuous upward thrust of our economy" and it was beginning to affect production and employment in other industries.

PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and chief of its

GM department, said the vote call was prompted in part by the President's request for settlement action.

He said two other considerations were involved: 1. The pocketbook pinch on UAW members and their families. 2. The strike's deteriorating effect on the national economy.

The walkout came Sept. 25 in support of union demands in new national contract bargaining. But when agreement was reached Oct. 5 on a new over-all national contract, the UAW made return to work contingent on settlement of at-the-plant working agreements which supplement it.

Strike impact on the economy, which President Johnson mentioned, has been reflected in many places.

OTHERS AFFECTED

The Grand Trunk Western

and Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad reported 200 Flint crewmen laid off because there were no new cars to haul away. Three haulaway trucking companies said they had laid off 455 for the same reason. Two food service companies which run restaurants at plant cafeterias said they had more than 200 idled.

And some 51,000 of GM's 60,000 hourly rated workers in Flint also were out of work.

In striking GM, the UAW ordered members working in its plants selling parts and accessories to Ford and Chrysler to stay on the job. Otherwise all GM plants across the country would have been closed. Some 50,000-plus stayed on the job, feeding Chrysler and Ford.

PRODUCTION SAG

Consequently, with GM assembly lines down, auto production sagged last week to 79,900 cars, compared with 179,422 in the corresponding week a year earlier.

At the same time Ford and

Chrysler-Plymouth reported racking up their biggest Oct. 1-10 sales in history, while GM's dealers, who got fewer than 300,000 of its new 1965 models before the strike, were out of cars.

GM efforts to make up lost production likely will result in increased employment and more overtime in the next three months than was previously expected, even in this good auto year.

Roy Norris, general manager of Buick Motors Sales in Baltimore, said his sales were down 50 per cent so far in October, because "we don't have cars to show the people and many won't buy unless they can see it."

KEPT OLD MODELS

Wilmington, Del., reported one dealer showing 1964 models to keep his showroom from looking bare. But GM dealers there with 1965 models said sales continued good.

In Janesville, Wis., it was reported the city as a whole has felt little economic squeeze, even with 4,500 of two Chevrolet plants idled and on union strike benefits ranging from $20 a week for unmarried workers to $30 weekly for those with families.

The Janesville Auto Transport Co., which hauls away finished cars, said it had several hundred men out of work. Some Janesville stores were advertising they would extend credit to men on strike.

The Midland-Ross Corp. said its frame division at Cleveland, Ohio, had laid off about 500 as the result of a cutback in production of frames for GM's Buick division.

ON FURLOUGH

The A. O. Smith Corp. at Granite City, Ill., said it had furloughed 1,800 to 2,200. It makes Chevrolet frames.

A General Motors spokesman said at Los Angeles that suppliers in Southern California had lost $9 million of business and that 6,550 GM strikers had lost $4 million in wages there.

Framingham, Mass., with 2,600 losing $65,000 daily in wages, said the effect of strike continuance would be bad, and pointed out that GM plants there paid suppliers about $15 million last year. Normally, Framingham plants turn out 586 new Chevrolts a day.

Arthur Westcott, president of the Massena, N.Y. Merchants Association, said, "Generally, I don't think there has been a tremendous effect on us." While reporting his department store's sales up percentage-wise from last year, James Yonnally wondered what they would have been like without a strike by 810 at the Massena Chevrolet Ford.

PAYROLL LOSS

At Chicago, with about 10,000 idled in the Fisher Body and Electromotive divisions, a weekly payroll loss of $1.3 million was reported.

A GM spokesman said that while Electromotive division suppliers had not laid off any were having to store materials.

The auto industry consumes an estimated 20 per cent of the nation's steel output, and GM, which uses about half of this, told mills to stop shipping Oct. 1.

Auto Talks Completed at AMC

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union and American Motors Corp. completed work Wednesday on labor contracts covering all that company's 27,000 hourly rated employees.

The final agreement covers 3,000 employed in AMC's Kelvinsator appliance division at Grand Rapids, Mich. Workers who struck there last Thursday night were ordered to return to their jobs today.

Nick Laninga, secretary-treasurer of UAW Local 206 at Kelvinsator, said employees of the midnight shift were back on their jobs Wednesday night. He said a ratification meeting was scheduled Friday.

The American Motors' overall national contract continues the auto industry's only profit sharing plan for another three years.

COMPLETED TALKS

The United Auto Workers now has completed new three-year national contracts with all four American auto makers, Chrysler, which was first, set the pattern.

Then came Ford and General Motors, where a strike erupted 28 days ago. While a new week's vacation was reached Oct. 5, return to work was made contingent upon completion of at-the-plant working agreements which supplement it.

The UAW has ordered its 130 units in GM to vote Sunday on ending the strike. So far 81 at the plant agreements covering more than 220,000 of GM's 360,000 production workers have been reached.

Like the others, AMC's national contract raises pensions, offers incentives for early retirement, boosts wages and adds two holidays among other fringe benefits.

And through profit sharing, AMC workers may get an extra of an additional week included in the Big Three pacts.

ney claims exclusive credit for bringing Michigan out of the red, but the money "really comes from a package of income taxes, on beer and cigarettes which came during Gov. Swainson's administration."

"Much more money is needed for school aid," said Staebler. "This could come from the $200 million state building program which is being paid for on a cash basis."

Votes Hunted by Romney

"We should borrow for building and use the money for schools," Staebler said. "We are failing utterly to meet the problem of school dropouts. Not enough attention is being given to water and air pollution and traffic safety."

"The needs of farmers are being ignored entirely. The problems are real and increasing, and the governor isn't even talking about them," Staebler said.

Sen. Hart told the audience that in voting for the war on poverty, "It is one war that I am glad to wage. It will pay for itself over and over again."

"It is a war that we cannot afford to lose," said Hart noting that $4 billion is spent annually on welfare.

ROMNEY answered that the exemption would mean more plant investment in Michigan and eventually a greater tax base that would replace the lost revenue.

He was referring chiefly to the Pontiac City Commission's recent adoption of a 1 per cent city income tax.

That exemption has nothing to do with local income taxes," the governor said. "There is no relation between the taxes in Pontiac and keeping the business in Michigan."

As Heaton left the governor's side, he said, "He can use all the explanation he wants to, but it doesn't add up."

But Romney came away from the hall convinced he had made some progress in his bid for a second term.

He was particularly elated when Cliff Senter, an employee of the Fleet Carrier Corp. from West Bloomfield Township, said "I'm a Democrat, but I congratulate you. I'll never agree with you about unemployment compensation, but I think you've done a wonderful job."

Other candidates scheduled to speak, but unable to attend because of commitments, were Congressman William S. Broomfield of the 18th District and Richard D. Kuhn, Republican 19th Congressional District candidate.

The West German government also wants a guarantee against inflation in the other countries which would modify the purchasing power between the strong West German mark and the currencies of the other members.

A French government spokesman announced the possibility of France's withdrawal Wednesday after a Cabinet meeting in Paris.

JOINT POLICY The spokesman said that a joint farm policy is necessary before the Common Market can negotiate tariff reductions with the United States in the "Kennedy round" talks.

West Germany maintains the highest grain prices in the economic community as a subsidy to its farmers. Before lowering its prices to meet French demands, the government wants assurance its farmers will be compensated.

In Bonn, West Germany showed no signs of bowing. Representatives of some other member nations criticized de Gaulle's warning as a poor tactic.

However, the 14-seat Parliament is not a true legislature. It is limited to a consultant and advisory role on relations among the six members — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Urban Renewal Funds May Be Asked for City

BIRMINGHAM — The scope of conservation in the southwest portion of the city does not have to be limited to a paint-up, fix-up, clean-up campaign — although such a project might be advisable.

According to city planning consultants, the area might well be helped with federal urban renewal funds.

Edward Hostoles of Villac-Leman and Associates, Southfield, has told city officials the area probably would qualify for federal assistance.

Members of the planning board are expected to make a recommendation following review of the firm's housing classification study.

Hostoles cited the area bounded by Lincoln, Grant, 14 Mile and Woodward as the "most seriously obsolete" section of the city.

THEME DISCUSSED The conservation theme has been emphasized in discussion of the area.

"Although conservation is part of urban renewal, it is not shun clearance," city planning director William Brownfield said. "It is rehabilitation of existing buildings and the possible removal of one building in 10."

Brownfield said the aim of such a program would be to preserve the buildings before they had to be removed.

Federal assistance could come in the form of approval for low interest loans which would allow property owners to make improvements, the planner said.

SMALL UNDERTAKING A conservation undertaking in the area would be relatively small and inexpensive, Brownfield said.

He noted that such a project would require considerable groundwork and that it would take 12 to 15 months to gather and organize the necessary background information.

First To SPEAK East Germany was the first Soviet satellite to speak up for Khrushchev after Moscow's cryptic announcement last Friday that the 70-year-old premier had resigned because of age and ill health.

Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia followed with praise for Khrushchev.

Romania, which had rejected economic domination by Khrushchev's regime, has made no comment.

Drop Koslov Name From Presidium List MOSCOW (AP) — Ailing Frol R. Koslov's name was missing today from a list of members of the Soviet Communist party presidium.

Western observers interpreted the omission as a possible hint of a further shakeup in the ruling Kremlin elite.

The list of presidium members and other top government and party figures appeared under obituaries of Soviet military leaders killed Monday in a plane crash in Yugoslavia.

Despite his illness, Koslov's name had been in previous official lineups of top presidium officials.

County Visit Set Saturday by Humphrey Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey will visit Oakland County Saturday to speak at a noon rally in the Green - Eight Shopping Center, Greenfield and Eight Mile, Oak Park.

Accompanying Humphrey on his first campaign trip to Oakland County will be U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, gubernatorial candidate Neil Staebler, 18th Congressional District candidate Frank Sierawski, and 19th District candidate Billie S. Farnum.

In announcing the visit, Oakland County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin said:

"We are very optimistic about the progress of the Democratic campaign in the county and have been striving to arrange a visit by Sen. Humphrey to highlight the party's comprehensive efforts to achieve Democratic victories here on a broad scale for the first time in three decades."

Barry Nips Plans to Show Campaign Film on Morals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has nipped plans for the nationwide televising of a Republican campaign film which originally included shots of strip-teasers and a girl in a topless swim suit.

A group of Goldwater backers who had the 30-minute film made for $65,000, said its aim was to show "moral decay" in the nation. Although today's planned showing is out, the film's sponsors apparently hope to have edited versions shown later on local stations.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey had called the film "the sickest political program" ever planned for television.

The Democratic National Committee bought an unedited copy of the film, and newsreels at Democratic headquarters were shown enlarged photos said to have been taken from it.

TOPLESS SUIT

They included a side-rear view of a girl in a topless swim suit, a near nude man, and several shots of street rioting.

The Citizens for Goldwater-Miller had the film made and titled it "Choice." The group bought 125 copies.

The Republican presidential candidate saw the film for the first time Wednesday in a hotel room in Philadelphia. Later his press secretary, Paul Wagner, said "he does not believe it is appropriate for a political campaign in its present form."

About the same time, Republican National Chairman Dean Burch issued a terse statement saying, "At the request of Sen. Goldwater, the Citizens for Goldwater-Miller film entitled 'Choice' has been withdrawn."

MINOR CHANGES

Fred Mullen, director of the news bureau at the citizens group, said, "Naturally we are according to the requests of the senator and are proceeding now to make minor changes in the film to take into account new developments."

"The film will be shown as soon as possible." The group said the changes had nothing to do with the charges made by the Democratic national chairman.

A Republican spokesman then said that Mullen's statement especially the part about future showings, had been made before he was fully aware of Goldwater's feelings.

But a Citizens for Goldwater-Miller spokesman replied, "That's our statement, and we'll stand on it."

PRINTS TOO

Lee Edwards, deputy director of public relations for the GOP, said Burch's statement included only the scheduled showing today, but also the prints which the citizens' group has sold to various local political groups around the country.

On Grain, Meat, Milk Products

Urge Uniform Mart Prices

STASBOURG, France (AP) — The European Parliament recommended by a lop-sided vote today that the European Common Market nations fix uniform prices on grain, meat and milk products within the next three months.

This was a nominal victory for President Charles de Gaulle of France, who threatened Wednesday to quit the market unless the six member nations agreed on a common agricultural program.

Such a program would help ease a farm surplus problem in France and augment trade and tariff agreements built up among the members over the last six years.

However, the 14-seat Parliament is not a true legislature. It is limited to a consultant and advisory role on relations among the six members — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Government ministers, meeting in council, make the top decisions.

The Parliament proposed the fixing of a uniform grain price by Dec. 15, and uniform prices on meat and milk products by Jan. 15.

The total of the overwhelmingly affirmative vote was not recorded. Opposing were an Italian legislator and two representatives of West Germany, which is particularly resisting the idea of lowering its government-supported grain prices to the levels of other members.

In Brussels, a spokesman for the community's nine-member executive commission said the commission would have no comment on the French threat to pull out.

CRITICIZED WARNING In Bonn, West Germany showed no signs of bowing. Representatives of some other member nations criticized de Gaulle's warning as a poor tactic.
