Here's How NFL Runs Its Games

Viewing Football Officials

The referee sounds his whistle, the line judge sets his stopwatch to begin with the receiver's first contact with the ball, and another National Football League game begins.

The referee and line judge are two of six officials responsible for the character of play in each game during the NFL season. Most of these contests are presented on the CBS Television Network.

Officials in the NFL are independently employed outside the realm of football, as lawyers, high school principals, schoolteachers and in other walks of life. The majority have had some football playing experience.

The game officials, in addition to referee and line judge, are umpire, linesman, field judge and back judge. In the absence of any one of the six officials, the remaining members are rearranged on the most feasible basis.

PRESCRIBED UNIFORM

They wear the uniform prescribed by the National Football League, including a striped shirt and white cap with visor. Each carries a whistle and weighted gold flag. The cap or the flag is used to indicate infraction of the rules. The whistle is used as a signal the ball is "dead."

The officials maintain a record of each foul throughout the game.

The referee has general jurisdiction and control of the game. He is the final authority for the score, and his decision on all matters is final. He sees that the ball is properly put in play and decides on its disposition at the end of a down. He stations himself behind the offensive team, clear of any backfield player.

The umpire, throughout the game, exercises authority over conduct and actions of the players on the line of scrimmage. He positions himself about five yards behind the defensive linemen before the snap of the ball. He is responsible for the type of equipment used by the players. He and the linesman determine whether ineligible linemen cross the line of scrimmage on a pass play. He assists the referee on all decisions involving possession of the ball.

WATCH FOR OFFSIDES

The linesman's primary duties include offside and any actions at the line of scrimmage before or at the snap of the ball. He is responsible for the down markers and their crew.

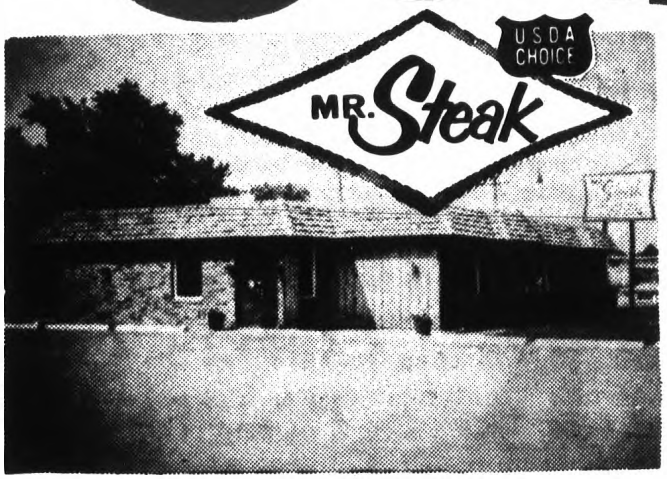

The field judge covers kicks from scrimmage, loose balls, illegal substitutions, length of team time-outs and the 30 seconds permitted for the offensive team to put the ball in play. The television viewer can distinguish this official by his field position 20 to 25 yards deep in the secondary on the some side of the field as the head linesman.

The back judge counts the number of defensive players on the field of play at the snap of the ball. In pass situations, he covers the area between the umpire and field judge, determines whether a low pass is "trapped" or legally caught.

The line judge times the game and watches for illegal shifts. He fires a pistol to indicate when a period has ended.

Illinois, California Crucial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon was elected 37th President of the United States today, defeating Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey with narrow windup victories in California, Illinois and Ohio.

The 55-year-old former vice president went over the top at midday by capturing Illinois' 26 electoral votes for a total of 287 votes in the Electoral College.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, he closed in on the White House by taking his native California with 40 electoral votes and Ohio with its 26 votes. With four states still in doubt — Alaska, Maryland, Missouri and Washington — Nixon had put together a dramatic victory over Humphrey with 30 states in his electoral column.

★ ★ ★

The popular-vote race was a virtual deadlock and the final result was delayed for hours after the polls had closed.

NO NIXON CLAIM

In New York, Nixon stopped short of claiming victory. He apparently was awaiting a statement of concession from Humphrey.

George C. Wallace of the American Independent party was a distant third.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after 10 a.m. Humphrey placed a telephone call to his Republican rival for the presidency.

★ ★ ★

He turned to friends in his Minneapolis hotel suite and said: "I don't want any sympathy from any of you."

REVERSAL IN A SENSE

Nixon's victory reversed, in a sense, his narrow loss to John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential race.

It also completed a remarkable political comeback.

★ ★ ★

After losing to Kennedy, Nixon was beaten by Edmund G. (Pat) Brown for the governorship of California. Nixon moved to New York City and became a lawyer.

Now, six years later, he has won the White House with 17 more electoral votes than needed. The incomplete votes from the other four states could add to his total.

NO CHANCE UNTIL . . .

Humphrey had been given almost no chance until a few days ago of beating Nixon.

In the end, he almost matched the Republican in votes, but he trailed by more than 100 votes in the Electoral College.

The electoral vote was Nixon 287, Humphrey 172 and Wallace 45. Four states with 34 votes remained undecided.

The Republican President will have to work with a Democratic Congress.

GOP SENATE GAIN

In the Senate, Republicans picked up a net gain of four seats but fell short of taking control. With a tight race in Oregon still undecided, the line-up was 53 Democrats and 48 Republicans.

★ ★ ★

In the House, Republicans scaled down by five seats a commanding Democratic edge. The final result was expected to be 243 Democrats and 192 Republicans.

In the governor contests that have little over-all national impact but offer the winning party grass-roots power, Republicans increased their present majority of 26.

Watches Returns Come In at Home

It's a Lonely Vigil for Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It began as a one man adventure and at the end George C. Wallace seemed terribly alone.

★ ★ ★

He sat in a beige leather chair opposite the large brick fireplace in his paneled den, almost oblivious to the few around him, and watched the results of his long ordeal flicker on the color television screen.

"I've got a good popular vote," he said. "It's all right. It's all right."

His youngest daughter, 7-year-old Lee, climbed in and out of his lap and finally napped on the floor between folds of thick quilt, to be awakened when it was time to go to the huge coliseum where a disappointingly small crowd of faithful followers awaited him.

"Maybe a little later," he would say each time when someone would ask if it was not now time to go.

WANTED VICTORY

Lee had fallen asleep with a pep talk. "Daddy," she said, "You try to get a lot of votes, now, because I do want to live in that White House."

★ ★ ★

"All right, darling," he assured her.

Occasionally, he bent to kiss her cheek or arrange the quilt on her shoulders. "I got a good vote," he said. "Except my little girl can't understand."

Another daughter, Peggy, sat on the couch with a boyfriend and a college chum. They talked quietly among themselves.

AIDES NEARBY

Where was everybody? Where were the shirt-sleeved aides and the close friends and the clutter of ash trays and glasses and coffee cups one expects to surround a candidate on election night?

★ ★ ★

Most of the Wallace staff was at a motel across from the coliseum, waiting for him. His running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, was waiting there too, and Wallace talked to him once by phone early in the evening.

★ ★ ★

He talked twice by phone to a top assistant, Cecil Jackson, but both calls were incoming and apart from them his staff did not bother him.

★ ★ ★

As Wallace, his daughters, a few aides and reporters watched the returns, they heard a television commentator remark that Wallace had "gone down to ignominious defeat." He made the remark when 17 per cent of the vote was in and Wallace's total was 3,436,000.

★ ★ ★

Wallace bristled. "A Deep Southerner getting that many votes," Wallace said, "is not ignominious."

He said it looked as though he would get 10 million votes in all.

"I think 10 million would be a mighty good vote," he said.

★ ★ ★

He rarely revealed disappointment. "Maybe," he said at one point, "we should have concentrated more in the border states and the South — but we didn't want it to be a sectional movement."

Later his speech at the coliseum was brief. He introduced his family, his staff and his running mate.

Richard M. Nixon, Declared Winner Of The Presidency

Democrats Retain Control of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have retained control of a Congress that may be called on to elect the next president and vice president.

But the crosscurrents of an extraordinary election left in utter doubt the crucial questions whether the House would get the presidential decision and if it does whether a Democratic majority would elect the party's nominee, Hubert H. Humphrey.

★ ★ ★

Democrats were assured a numerical majority in both branches of Congress,

keeping a grip on the key Senate and House offices and committee chairmanships that play major roles in shaping and handling legislation.

Their margins were reduced, however, in both chambers. They had controlled the old House, 246 to 186, with three vacancies, and the Senate, 63 to 37.

18 SEATS UNDECIDED

Returns tabulated so far gave Democrats 234 of the 435 seats in the new House and Republican 183, with 18 races still undecided.

In the 100-member Senate, where 34 seats were to be filled, Democrats were assured of control with 54, including holdover members, and Republicans 39. In the undecided races, Democrats led for five seats and Republicans for two.

★ ★ ★

If no presidential ticket wins a majority of the electoral vote, the House elects a president and the Senate a vice president.

But the election in the House would be by states, with 26 votes needed for victory. The makeup, and in addition the disposition, of each state delegation are what would count.

3 DELEGATIONS TIED

Early estimates were that Humphrey might be able to count on 13 states with predominantly Democratic delegations, and Republican Richard M. Nixon on 15 dominated by members of his party.

Three state delegations were tied and the status of the others was clouded by various factors. Some states were carried by third party candidate George C. Wallace and in others newly elected members had pledged themselves in various ways to vote for the candidate favored by popular vote, regardless of party.

In any case, switches among the electors, most of whom are legally free agents, could settle the election by Dec. 16, when they meet in their respective states.

Wallace, who won at least 39 electoral votes, repeatedly has said the election would never be allowed to go to the House, although he has denied making any deals with the other candidates.

★ ★ ★

The 91st Congress, it was evident, will look much like its predecessor, although the GOP gains and the return of Southern Democrats who frequently vote with Republicans, would give it a somewhat more conservative cast.

Emotional HHH Concedes the Election

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, his voice choking with emotion, conceded the presidential election today to Richard M. Nixon.

"I've done my best. I've lost. Mr. Nixon has won. The democratic process has worked its will so let's get on with the urgent task of uniting this country," Humphrey told several hundred cheering admirers at his hotel headquarters.

He said he had spoken with Nixon on the telephone and sent him a telegram noting that "according to the unofficial returns you are the winner in this election."

"My congratulations. Please know that you will have my support in leading this nation."

Humphrey, with his wife, Muriel, by his side, told his supporters that "I don't really feel very badly: I don't want any sympathy. Be of good cheer — I'd even like to have you feel a little happy, although I know it's not easy."

But the vice president's face and his voice belied his words. Several times his voice almost broke and his smile was a brave effort on a very sad face.

"I feel a sense of release and grief," he said, "and I hope some of you feel that way too."

He said it had been an uphill fight all the way, and I never had any doubt it would be a close fight."

GIVEN OVATION

When he entered the hotel ballroom Humphrey was given a one-minute ovation and a chorus of "We Want Humphrey."

Obviously moved by the demonstration, he said, "Thank you — it's nice to know."

★ ★ ★

Ending his speech at one point with a "Thank you," Humphrey returned to the microphone after another ovation, and said, "Now let's have some fun . . . I haven't mowed the lawn for some time, and there are still some things to do around home. I don't want you to think we're going to start campaigning right away."

His last words of the 1968 contest were: "We've got a president-elect: He's going to have my help. Period."

Voters put Michigan on Daylight Savings Time during the summer months by a narrow margin yesterday, apparently ending years of controversy.

With more than 97 per cent of the votes counted unofficially, the tabulation showed the proposal carrying by 27,000 votes out of some 2.7 million ballots.

The decisive vote came from the populous counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb, where voters cast 55 per cent of their ballots in favor of the measure.

Voters also vehemently slapped down a ballot proposal to legalize graduated income taxes, but gave approval to a $335 million bond issue for water pollution control.

The fate of a companion bond proposal, which would authorize the state to borrow $100 million for an accelerated recreation program, was in doubt.

With 85.7 per cent of the precincts counted, the graduated tax amendment trailed by a three-to-one margin: 1,628,231 to 524,357.

If approved, it would have deleted a unique provision in the Michigan Constitution which forbids the Legislature or local units of government to levy graduated income taxes.

The state now levies a flat-rate 2.6 per cent personal income tax. Cities are authorized to levy taxes of 1 per cent on residents and one-half per cent on nonresidents. Detroit, under a special law, levies a 2 per cent resident tax.

The proposal which would keep Michigan on Daylight Savings Time led

TWO BOND ISSUES

Running ahead were proposals authorizing state bond issues of $335 million for water pollution control and of $100 million for an accelerated program of acquisition and construction of recreational facilities.

Gov. George Romney strongly backed both bond issues, which he originally proposed, and stumped the state urging their approval.

Rain Likely to Change to Light Snow Tonight

Occasional light rain tonight possibly mixed with snow is expected to change to light snow early tomorrow.

There's a chance of rain or snow tomorrow with temperatures ranging from 35 to 44. Cloudy, colder and a chance of snow flurries is the outlook for Friday.

Thirty-five was the low prior to 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. recording was 48. Tonight's low will register in the mid 30s.

GOP Keeps 2 Congressional Seats

Oakland County's two Republican incumbents in the U. S. House of Representatives rode to comparatively easy reelection victories in yesterday's balloting.

Both William S. Broomfield in the 18th District and Jack H. McDonald in the 19th District were assured of new two-year terms starting in January. The posts pay $30,000 per year.

Broomfield has been a representative since 1956. McDonald won his initial term in 1966.

With all precincts in the 18th reporting, Broomfield had accumulated 124,025 votes while Democratic challenger Allen Zemmol of Beverly Hills had polled 82,227.

McDonald, a Redford Township Supervisor and chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors before his election to the House had a 103,094 vote total in the 19th District to beat Pontiac attorney Gary R. Frink by about 28,000 votes. With complete returns reported Frink had polled 74,624.

McDonald maintained superiority in both traditionally Republican Oakland County and in the areas of Wayne County which are included in the 19th Congressional District.

McDonald's totals; by county were Oakland, 68,807; Wayne, 34,287. Frink's totals, by count were Oakland, 46,995; Wayne, 27,629.

For Broomfield it was a continuation of a winning pattern he has enjoyed for 20 years. Royal Oak resident, Broomfield, 46, was elected to the State House of Representatives in 1948. He served there until winning election to the State Senate in 1954.

RANKING GOP

Broomfield is ranking Republican on the Far East Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Last year he was appointed to represent the U. S. in the United Nations.

* * *

McDonald, 36, who maintains a residence in Redford, began his public career with appointment as supervisor of the census in Wayne County in 1960.

* * *

He was elected to the first of three successive two-year terms as Redford Township supervisor in 1961.

* * *

The reelection of the two Republican incumbents was expected, but it may also be an indication that area voters prefer a more conservative approach to the nation's problems.

DOVELIKE STANCE

While it may have had nothing to do with their defeat, both Frink and Zemmol took a more dovelike stance on Vitenam than their political opponents.

* * *

Frink called the reduction of U. S. involvement in the war his uppermost aim. Zemmol, a graduate of Wayne State University and the University of Michigan Law School, is a law partner of U. S. Representative John Dingell, D-16th Dist. He said there is no public support for the Veitnam war.

Bullets? Ballots?

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Hunter Wallace of nearby Pinson said she had heard that "radicals" in some cities would attempt to keep voters away from the polls. So the 70-year-old woman took her rifle along when she went to vote.

Republicans Gain Control of 4 County Exec Posts

By JIM LONG

Republicans gained control of the county's top administrative positions, winning four of the five key races yesterday.

GOP candidates for the offices of clerk-register of deeds, sheriff, treasurer and drain commissioner rolled up sizable margins over their opponents.

* * *

It was a different story in the race for Oakland County Prosecutor where Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn lost to Thomas G. Plunkett, the chief assistant prosecutor.

* * *

The outcome was uncertain until Southfield, the last community to total its results, were complete.

VOTE STABILITY

It will be the first time in nearly four years the Republicans have held the balance of power in the county administration. The posts of prosecutor, treasurer and clerk have been held by Democrats.

* * *

Winning by the largest margin, and at the same time polling the highest number of votes of any candidate on the ballots was incumbent Sheriff Frank Irons.

* * *

Unofficial returns show that Irons, 69, easily won a seventh term over Ruel E. McPherson, 31, a Hazel Park constable.

ALLEN VICTORY

Pontiac optometrist Lynn D. Allen, 43, defeated Shane F. Murphy, 27, of Royal Oak, the deputy county treasurer.

Murphy sought the position after his father, County Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy apparently drowned in a boating accident in Lake Michigan this summer. His body has never been recovered.

* * *

C. Hugh Dohany, 48, the treasurer of Southfield, toppled incumbent treasurer James E. Seeterlin, who has held the post since he was appointed in 1965 to fill the vacancy created by Republican Charles Sparks.

* * *

Reelected Drain Commissioner was Daniel W. Barry, 45. Barry, who has held the post since 1957, defeated Robert M. Simburger of Ferndale.

SALARY RANGES

All five county offices are four-year terms.

The annual salary for each of the office holders, except the prosecutor, is tentatively set at $19,500, beginning the first of the year. The prosecutor would receive $24,000.

Harlem's Powell Is an Easy Victor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Adam Clayton Powell won reelection to the Harlem congressional district he has represented in Washington or from the isle of Bimini for 26 years.

* * *

Powell, who had served 24 years in the House until he was excluded for failing to obey court orders in connection with a slander suit, defeated Republican candidate Henry L. Hall by 36,973 to 7,290. Both Powell, a Democrat, and Hall are Negroes.

* * *

The victory was Powell's 14th in the district, counting his triumph in a special election in April 1967 to fill his seat, which the House had declared vacant.

* * *

Powell has spent most of the time the past two years at his home on Bimini. His only campaigning consisted of sermons delivered at the Abyssinian Baptist Church, where he is pastor.

results as a "cliffhanger" which the GOP would win because it was then moving ahead in the crucial states of New Jersey, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Bliss continued to predict a Nixon victory in Texas, saying he understood Dallas-area returns were delayed by computer trouble.

Bliss contended as he has throughout that the Republicans had a good chance of winning California.

300 TOTAL SEEN

One of Nixon's top advisers, Herbert G. Klein, claimed that the Republican candidate would wind up with an electoral majority of more than 300.

Klein said that Wallace "cut in on us heavily" in Pennsylvania, which Humphrey won. No Republican has been elected president in this century without Pennsylvania's support.

If the issue should go to the Electoral College, members could cross party lines. Only 16 states and the District of Columbia bind their electors to support the popular-vote winner and even those laws have not been tested for constitutionality.

Expected massive protests against the election failed to materialize except for isolated incidents. About 350 youths, a mere handful compared with the crowds assembled for the Democratic National Convention, marched in an orderly way through Chicago's loop and then disbanded.

NEWARK UNREST QUELLED

In Newark, N. J., police used their billy clubs to contain a demonstration of about 200 persons after fighting broke out. Two were arrested.

In New York, after a Union Square rally, the protesters invaded the midtown area and 70 were arrested. In Washington 100 demonstrators near the White House were booked by police.

All State Legislators in County Reelected

Oakland County's six Republican and four Democrat state representatives were returned to office by comfortable margins yesterday, according to unofficial returns.

Most of the incumbents won by margins of 4,000 to 8,000 votes. The stiffest challenge was waged by Republican Richard H. Sanderson of Clawson in the 66th District, while GOP Representative William P. Hampton ran away with the race in the 65th District.

★ ★ ★

Bill S. Huffman, 43, of Madison Heights won his fourth term in the Legislature in the 66th Distirct with 15,639 votes to 12,756 for Sanderson in the traditionally Democratic district.

The district includes south Troy, Clawson, Madison Heights and north Hazel Park.

HUFFMAN, SANDERSON WIN

Huffman took Madison Heights where he was mayor and Hazel Park while Sanderson, an engineering staff assistant at GMC Truck and Coach Division in Pontiac, won Clawson and Troy.

Hampton, majority floor leader from Bloomfield Hills, won reelection to his third term in the Michigan House with a landslide victory of 37,672 ballots to Harry J. McGowan Jr.'s 9,961.

★ ★ ★

The 65th district includes Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and portions of Southfield Township and Royal Oak.

In four years in the State House, Hampton has stamped himself as one of his party's leaders. At 30 years of age, he has been the youngest majority floor leader in the history of the State House of Representatives. Other races went this way:

● In the 60th District, which covers the western portion of the county and a section of Genesee County, Republican Clifford H. Smart, 19,700; Democrat William E. Todd, 11,618.

Smart, 63, of Walled Lake, was first elected to the house in 1964. He is chairman of its education committee and was school superintendent in Walled Lake for 20 years before his election to the house.

● Republican State Representative Loren D. Anderson of Waterford Township defeated Donald L. Collier by a 3-to-2 margin in the 61st District.

Anderson, who was first elected to the House in 1966, polled 18,690 votes to 12,097 for Collier, a Waterford Township businessman.

The 61st District includes Springfield, Independence, White Lake and Waterford Townships.

● Democrat Arthur J. Law was victorious in the 62nd District by almost 5,000 votes. He defeated Howard L. Dell, 12,534 to 7,821. The district includes 36 precincts in Pontiac.

A member of the House Appropriations Committee for the last four years, he has served in the legislature for five terms.

● GOP incumbent Donald E. Bishop of Avon Township won a second term in office as a representative of the 63rd District, which spans the northeastern section of the county.

He polled 18,382 votes to Democrat Ronald S. Knowles' 12,276. Knowles is a business executive who lives in Addison Township.

Incumbent Republican Raymond L. Baker of Farmington outpolled his opponent, Leonard P. Baruch of Southfield, 21,289 to 16,128 in the 64th district.

Baker, a pharmacist, has served five terms as state representative. The 64th District covers West Bloomfield and Farmington Townships, Lathrup Village and a portion of Southfield.

● Democrat Albert A. Kramer of Oak Park won the heavily Democratic 67th District by more than a 2-to-1 margin over William E. Kish.

Kramer, who will serve his third term, received 25,514 votes to Kish's 10,571. Kramer has his own law practice in Detroit.

● In the 68th District in Royal Oak, GOP State Representative William Hayward of Royal Oak won his sixth term in office.

He polled 16,938 votes to 12,248 for Wallace J. Reynolds of Royal Oak.

● The 69th District, including Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge, reelected Democrat Daniel S. Cooper of Oak Park. He received 18,004 votes to 10,044 for LaRue T. Mead.

Cooper, a lawyer in Southfield, has served two terms in the House.

State representatives serve for two year terms at a salary of $12,500 per year plus $2,500 for expenses.

1,800-Mile Trip Is Made in Vain

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Marine Cpl. Mark Bellnap, 21, of Des Moines, journeyed 1,800 miles home by train to vote Tuesday only to learn he wasn't eligible.

Cpl. Bellnap said he was told by the county auditor's office his name wasn't on the list of registered voters, even though he hadn't received an absentee ballot for which he'd applied.

The servicemen said he asked for and received a 10-day leave last Friday from Santa Ana, Calif., when his mother told him his absentee ballot had been sent to Vietnam, where he was previously stationed.

"It makes me mad," he said, "I've been pretty critical of the government in the past, and I feel that if I don't vote, I have no right to criticize."

Dems Claim State House

By the Associated Press

Democrats claimed victory today in the struggle for control of the 110-seat Michigan House of Representatives. Incomplete returns showed one Republican legislator defeated and several others in danger.

Republicans had hoped to retain their razor-thin 55-54 majority in the chamber. There is one vacant seat.

Unofficial vote tabulations showed freshman Rep. Johannes Kolderman, R-Wyoming, being upset by Democrat Jelt Sietsema of Grand Rapids.

In Detroit, Rep. Anthony Licata, a Republican, was running behind Democrat Casmer Ogonowski. Three-term Rep. Stanley Powell, R-Ionia trailed Democrat Leo Barth of Freeport 4,102 to 1550 with 20 of the district's 48 precincts reporting.

RUNNING BEHIND

However Democrat Rep. Jack Gingrass of Iron Mountain was running behind challenger John D. Payant of Kingsford in scattered, early returns.

A recount appeared certain in Lansing's 57th District, where incumbent Republican Rep. Thomas Brown held a 47-vote edge over former Democratic State Treasurer Sanford Brown with only two of the district's 45 precincts unreported.

"Our indicator precincts show that we will win control of the State House of Representatives," said Democratic State Chairman Sander Levin of Berkley, in an early-morning statement.

Negroes gained one seat in the House, making a total of 10. Negro Nellis J. Saunders, who defeated Rep. Thomas White, D-Detroit, in the Aug. 6 primary, won handily in her inner city district.

In Flint, Rep. Albert R. Horrigan, who won in 1966 by only 81 votes, succeeded this time in defeating Republican F. Robert Edwards by 1,814.

State School Board Seats Go to Dems

By The Associated Press

Democrats held their 6-2 majority on the State Board of Education today as incumbent Marilyn Jean Kelly and Michael Deeb captured 57 per cent of the vote in incomplete returns.

With nearly 62 per cent of the precincts reporting, the unofficial vote tallies for the two board seats were: Miss Kelly, 992,534; Deeb, 956,065; James Ten Brink, 743,261; Mrs. Don (Barabara) Dumouchelle, 718,316.

★ ★ ★

Miss Kelly of Detroit sought a second eight-year term. Democrat Carmen Delli Quadri of Houghton did not seek re-election.

Miss Kelly disagreed with those who warned that if the state paid the bill it also would take command of local school districts.

Deeb, 33, a teacher at Highland Park Community College, said he also was not opposed to state financing.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dumouchelle of Grosse Ile had warned of the "danger" of state financing and Ten Brink, 62, retiring superintendent of the Muskegon Area Intermediate School District, called for elementary and secondary education to receive "the interest it rightfully deserves."

Dems Sweep College Boards

By the Associated Press

Democrats swept three statewide college board races today on the strength of a heavily Democratic tide in Wayne County.

With some 67 per cent of the precincts reporting, the unofficial vote totals for various boards (two elected to each board) were:

Michigan State University: Blanche Martin, 1,035,050; Warren Huff, 1,028,122; Richard Ernst, 809,932; David Diehl, 804,374.

University of Michigan: Robert Nederlander, 1,054,371; Gerald Dunn, 1,008,031; Frederick Matthaei Jr., 824,483; Lawrence Lindemer, 808,577.

Wayne State University: George C. Edwards III, 1,074,291; Augustus Calloway, 1,045,392; Victor Raviolo, 794,250; Kurt Keydel, 793,978.

In one case, the Humphrey-Democrat sweep ousted two incumbent Republicans. Matthaei and Lindemer both had been appointed this year to the U-M board vacancies by Gov. George Romney.

Their defeat leaves Republicans with a 5-3 majority on the board.

Nederlander, 35, is a Detroit attorney and Dunn, 33, of Flushing is director of federal and state relations for the Grand Rapids Board of Education.

Democrats maintained their long-time majority on the MSU board — 5-3 — and as much as assured continuation of the university's controversial sliding-scale tuition plan.

CAMPAIGN ISSUE

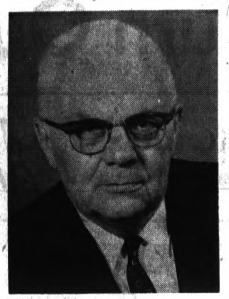

Republican Ernst had mentioned possible repeal of the plan, while Huff and Martin supported it. The plan was adopted by the predominantly Democratic board last year over Republican opposition.

★ ★ ★

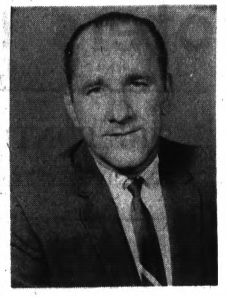

Martin, 31, of East Lansing is a dentist and former star football player at MSU. He is the first Negro to be elected to the board. Huff, 59, of Plymouth is a former board member who was defeated two years ago.

★ ★ ★

The WSU board — split 4-4 by the Democratic victory — puts into office the 60-year-old Calloway, director of community affairs for Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Detroit and Edwards, 27, a Detroit attorney and son of U.S. Appeals Court Judge George Edwards.

FRANK A. LANE

CHARLES W. RICHARDS

GOP Takes Two Seats on Waterford Board

Both Republicans swept to victory yesterday in the three-way race for two seats on the Waterford Board of Trustees.

★ ★ ★

New trustees will be Frank A. Lane, 67, of 5801 Crescent and Charles W. Richards, 41, of 4215 Grayton. Lane's total vote was 10,584 and Richards outpolled him slightly with 10,716.

★ ★ ★

Democratic loser was William J. Dean Jr. of 4355 Forest with 9,346 votes. Another Democrat also appeared on the ballot but had announced she was not running following her primary victory. However, Mrs. Geraldine Olson of 2209 Fortress still managed to collect 7,930 votes.

The new trustees will serve four-year terms at a salary rate of $15 per meeting.

HEADS GOP CLUB

New Trustee Lane retired in 1962 from the engineering department of GMC Truck and Coach Division, has been a township resident since 1930 and is president of the Waterford Township Republican Club.

Richards is a native of Waterford Township and is a body designer for Chrysler Corp. in Highland Park.

★ ★ ★

Lane and Richards will replace Republican E. Frank Richardson and Democrat E. Richmond.

The two men opposed each other in seeking a position on the newly reapportioned Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The Republican, Richardson, won the seat—one of two for the Waterford Township area on the new board. The second seat also went to a Republican, Mahlon A. Benson Jr. of 2925 Old Orchard.

Voters Update Coroner's Post

Voters overwhelmingly approved the county ballot proposition by a count of 175,796 to 68,984 with returns from 40 precincts in Southfield yet to be counted.

The yes vote means that the present office of coroner will be replaced by a more modern medical examiner system.

The coroner, who is the county health director in Oakland County, and his 35-40 assistants, are mainly responsible for investigating the cause of sudden, accidental and violent deaths.

The new system will allow the medical examiner to cut red tape and have an autopsy performed whenever he decides one is needed to determine the cause of death. The present system makes it necessary for the coroner to hold an inquest, or secure written permission, to perform an autopsy.

No additional county funds are needed to change systems.

About 80 per cent of the state's population, in 27 counties including Wayne, Washtenaw and Kalamazoo, is already using the medical examiner system.

Appeals Court Races Close

By the Associated Press

Four men battled through extremely close early voting Tuesday in the out-state races for new, $32,500-a-year seats on the State Court of Appeals.

In populous Wayne County, Detroit Recorder's Judge Vincent J. Brennan won an early lead over Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman in the fight for a new seat on the 1st District Court of Appeals.

★ ★ ★

Brennan received 8,890 votes against Kaufman's 6,825, with about six per cent of the precincts reporting.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson defeated John F. Foley of Birmingham in the 2nd District — 292,198-244,302 — with 79 per cent of the precincts reporting.

Bronson outpolled Foley by a 118,626-76,423 margin in the candidates' home county. The district includes 16 southeastern Michigan counties around Detroit.

BURNS AHEAD

The contest in the 2rd District, which includes the other 66 counties in Michigan, pitted Judge Stuart Hoffius of Kent County Circuit Court against Thomas M. Burns of Saginaw.

Burns led Hoffius by 31,399 to 25,599, but those figures were based on somewhat less than eight per cent of the precincts reporting. And none of those reporting included heavily populated Kent County where Hoffius would be expected to gain a preponderance of support.

★ ★ ★

The Appeals Court is the No. 2 court in Michigan, second only to the State Supreme Court. An increase from nine to 12 judges was authorized this year by the Legislature.

12 New Judges Are Elected

Twelve judges were elected to Oakland County district courts yesterday.

The office was created earlier this year by the state legislature to replace justices of the peace. The judges will begin their duties in January. They will receive a maximum salary of $27,500, $18,500 from the state, and up to $9,000 from the county.

★ ★ ★

In District 50, the city of Pontiac, longtime Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum and County Probate Register James R. Stelt, won the two judicial positions.

McCallum received 8,208 votes, and Stelt 6,817, defeating Robert E. Cunningham with 5,323 and David E. Utley with 4,554.

WATERFORD WINNER

In Waterford Township, District 51, Justice of the Peace Kenneth H. Hempstead, received 8,248 votes to defeat Robert C. Anderson, who had 7,046.

★ ★ ★

The two judges elected in District 48, the Birmingham - Bloomfield area, are Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Albert Gilbert, with 26,081 votes, and former Birmingham City Commissioner Carl Ingraham with 16,335.

★ ★ ★

They defeated Gus Cifelli, 14,456 votes, and Bloomfield Hills Justice Jack Baldwin, 10,694.

Winning in District 52, first division, Martin L. Boyle, Milford Justice of the Peace, defeated Commerce Township Justice John C. Weick, 6,569 to 5,515.

McNALLY VICTOR

In the second division of District 52, White Lake Township Justice Gerald E. McNally outpolled Springfield Township Justice of the Peace Emmett J. Lieb, 7,925, to 5,796.

Rochester attorney Robert L. Shipper received 7,966 votes to defeat Robert O. Allen, county corporation counsel, 6,093, for judge in District 52's third division.

★ ★ ★

In south Oakland County's 44th District, Royal Oak Municipal Judge Elmer E. Hartwig polled 12,498 votes to defeat Leroy McEntee, 11,855. McEntee is legal counsel for the Oakland County Road Commission.

Kavanagh Wins Court Post

By the Associated Press

Challenger Thomas Giles Kavanagh swept over incumbent Justice Michael O'Hara yesterday in a Michigan Supreme Court race that cost Republicans control of the state's highest court.

Kavanagh, a 51-year-old Democrat, outpolled O'Hara in the Detroit metropolitan area and the most heavily populated out-state counties.

★ ★ ★

O'Hara, a Menominee resident, displayed his strongest voting appeal in the Upper Peninsula, many rural areas and some sections of southwestern Michigan which traditionally have been conservative strongholds.

Kavanagh's victory gives the seven-member court a ratio of three Republicans and four Democrats. His new term is for eight years on the technically nonpartisan Supreme Court. The position pays $35,000 a year.

57 PCT. OF PRECINCTS

Kavanagh won an unofficial tally of 566,686 votes to O'Hara's 506,930, with nearly 57 per cent of the precincts reporting.

★ ★ ★

A member of the State Court of Appeals since it went into operation in 1964, Kavanagh is a University of Detroit Law School graduate who described himself as more willing than O'Hara to support new legal interpretations and to adapt law to circumstances.

NAACP Leader Wins in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Voters chose a Negro liberal who champions community renewal and a white former councilman who campaigned against crime Tuesday to fill two seats on the city's Common Council.

In a hard-fought contest among four candidates—two of them regarded as youthful innovaters and two former councilmen—residents of the nation's fifth largest city picked one from each side. An estimated 35 per cent of Detroit's 1.5 million residents are Negro.

Elected were Robert Tindal, 38-year-old executive secretary of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Anthony J. Wierzbicki, a 51-year-old newspaper publisher who served a Common Council term from 1962-65.

Defeated were the Rev. David Eberhard, a 34-year-old Lutheran minister who helped form social renewal groups in a racially mixed area, and Blanche Parent Wise, 61, who lost her second bid for council after having served on the governing body from 1954-61.

With 90 per cent of the precincts reporting, Tindal led the ticket with 142,755 votes and Wierzbicki was second with 139,544. Mrs. Wise polled 133,101 and the Rev. Eberhard came in last with 128,666.

Two State Issues Are Still in Doubt

The pollution bond proposal led 1,588,699 to 662,606 and the recreation bond proposition led 1,146,280 to 1,024,541.

A fifth proposal on the statewide ballot — one making lawmakers eligible to seek other state offices — trailed 1,465,341 to 650,193.

RULING UPHELD

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled last year that the state constitution forbids lawmakers to become candidates for elective state offices. The ruling was upheld by the state Supreme Court.

The Legislature put the question on the ballot after one representative was forbidden to run for a vacant state Senate seat and one state senator was ruled off the ballot as a candidate for circuit judge.

LeMay told a crowd of about 3,000 at the Garrett Coliseum here that he had no regrets about his decision to run for vice president on the third-party ticket.

Ballot Proposals Run Into Tough Going in Area

Yesterday was not the day for ballot proposals, judging from unofficial returns. The heavy turnout of voters was apparently of a negative disposition.

A road millage in Commerce Township went down to defeat by a 2-1 margin, an advisory open-housing question received another substantial negative opinion and a proposal to abolish an annual town meeting we rejected.

* * *

In the only ballot question related to the national aspects of yesterday's vote, Troy voters overwhelmingly advised that the electoral college be eliminated in favor of a presidential primary. The vote was 9,191 yes to 1,978 no.

Commerce Township was the area that lost out on the road millage. A ballot question to renew the two-mill road levy for five years was defeated 3,230 to 1,746. A second question — civil service for police and fireman — was approved 2,694 yes to 2,087 no.

NO TO ADVISORY QUESTION

In Shelby Township, voters said a loud no to an advisory question that asked whether the township should have a local open-housing ordinance. The vote according to unofficial returns, was 5,296 no to 2,754 yes. A second ballot question for that Macomb County township asked voter approval for civil service status for township employes; the motion passed 4,425 yes to 3,468 no. (Shelby fire and policemen already have civil service.)

A ballot question in Pontiac Township asked whether the township's annual meeting should be done away with. Voters yesterday said no. The vote was 2,506 no to 971 yes.

* * *

Another negative note was sounded in Highland Township, although the margin was a slim 12 votes. Highland voters said no to a one-mill police levy for 10 years, 871 no o 859 yes.

In Farmington, voters approved 2,669 to 1,148 a charter amendment making changes in pensions for police and firemen. The amendment will increase a member's straight life pension by .2 per cent of final average salary times years of credited service; provide for voluntary retirement at age 55 and permit payment of deferred benefits at voluntary retirement age (62). The pension increase will also be extended to present retirants.

Hold Stunning 15-12 Edge

Dems Take County Board

By ED BLUNDEN

Democrats pulled off a stunning victory to capture control of the newly reappointed Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Following this morning's unofficial tally, the Democrats will outnumber Republicans on the board by a 15-to-12 margin.

* * *

The Democrats did it by taking every one of the five districts rated as a preelection question mark, plus pulling one upset in what appeared to be a GOP-dominated district. The victory could change the entire character of the board.

* * *

Under the system which becomes obsolete Jan. 1, there were 87 supervisors who were appointed by their cities or else served ex-officio after winning the supervisor position in their respective townships.

DOMINATED BY GOP

Though in most cases partisanship was not announced, the board in fact was heavily dominated by Republicans.

The new board members will serve two-year terms. Present salary allows them $25 per meeting attended, plus mileage.

* * *

A big question mark will now be: Will the new board members vote themselves a substantial salary as they could under state law for the reapportionment? If so, county budget estimates for the year could be off the mark.

* * *

The Democrats took every district in which they appeared to be favored. The Republicans also did this in all but one district, No. 26. The area includes the townships of Rose, Highland and Milford and the village of Holly.

UPSETS OPPONENT

Democrat William L. Mainland, present member of the board, upset his GOP opponent, Chester G. Burton, by a 5,611-to-5,119 margin.

* * *

As expected, Republicans won in northern Oakland County and Bloomfield-Birmingham areas but lost in city areas and in the southeast.

Seventeen former members of the board, were running. Of those, 11 were returned to duty and six lost. Those returned included Mainland and present chairman of the board, Delos Hamlin of Farmington.

* * *

Hamlin, a Republican, has served 13 years as chairman, but will need to pick up some Democratic votes, plus retain his Republican votes, to hold the chairmanship after Jan. 1.

CLOSEST RACE

The closest race appeared to occur in District 27 where Republican Lew L. Coy beat Ray Lahti by 150 votes, 5,601 to 5,451. Coy, a newcomer to politics and a retired Detroit fireman, beat a present member of the board. The district includes Lyon and Novi townships and about two-thirds of Commerce Township.

* * *

In an analysis of the districts after the primary, it appeared the Democrats could only gain the majority by taking all five of the swing districts. This they did, adding what was analyzed as one Republican district.

* * *

Following is the vote in the southeastern section of Oakland County. Expected winners are:

District 5: Lee Walker-D; 6: Harry Horton-R; 7: Wallace Gabler-R; 8: Charles B. Edwards Jr.-D; 9: Philip O. Mastin Jr.-D; 10: William R. Richards-D; 11: Thomas H O'Donoghue-D; 12: Dennis M. Aaron-D; 13: James M. Brennan-D; 14: Alexander C. Perinoff-D; 15: Lawrence R. Pernick-D.

Incumbents Win in Sylvan Lake

Incumbents Fred P. Crossman and John Hanson were reelected to two-year terms on the Sylvan Lake City Council. Unopposed Lon Peters, Jr. of 2357 Garland was elected constable.

* * *

Crossman of 2461 Renfrew received 580 votes while Hanson received 597 to defeated Roy L. Williams of 2174 Avondale, who had 574 votes.

Crossman is the current mayor and is vice president of the Construction Pipe Co. He is 47 years old.

Hanson, 47, was mayor in 1966. He has been a councilman since 1962. He is president of the Michigan Credit Counselors.

Rhodesia Leader Is Target of Protests From Left, Right

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Wide-ranging political dissent has surfaced in Rhodesia for the first time since its unilateral declaration of independence from Britain.

Whatever the outcome of Salisbury-London negotiations to settle the constitutional dispute, Prime Minister Ian Smith faces increased opposition from outside and within his ruling Rhodesian Front party.

★ ★ ★

After independence was declared Nov. 11, 1965, Rhodesian Nov. 11, 1965, Rhodesian whites united behind "good old Smithy" against pressure from Britain, black Africa, the United Nations and the black majority in this territory.

Now serious political protest from the right and left of Smith can be heard. It promises to become louder.

On the far right is a group Smith once dismissed as "my lunatic fringe." These ultraconservative elements demand an end to negotiations, declaration of a republic, entrenched white supremacy and closer ties with South Africa.

SUPER-RIGHT

Sewage engineer Len Idensohn bolted the Rhodesian Front in March because of what he saw as its liberal tendencies, and launched the Rhodesian national party.

"The national government of this country has to be kept in white hands for all time," Idensohn told a rally in Salisbury.

His first priority would be to oust the 15 black members of Parliament.

Among Idensohn's supporters is tobacco farmer Chris Phillips, who has described Prime Minister Smith as "a white kaffir." In this area "kaffir" means about the same as "nigger" in the United States.

EXTREMISTS

Others are trying to revive the defunct Dominion party. Those who call a phone number advertised in the Rhodesia Herald are urged to band together to protect "the heritage of your children."

This group is seeking a suitable leader. Among the candidates are William Harper and Lord Angus Graham, who were dropped from Smith's Cabinet this year. Dominion party boosters also are flirting with any Cabinet ministers found unhappy under Smith's leadership.

Smith's Rhodesian Front disciplined right-winger Robin James by pushing him out of the party this year. He now sits in Parliament as an independent and insists that the whole issue revolves around "the survival of the European in Rhodesia."

The Smith party has some 10,000 members and 49 of the 65 seats in Parliament. Landlocked Rhodesia has only about 80,000 voters among its 220,000 whites and four million blacks.

To the left of Smith are a Center party, politically unaffiliated businessmen who are pressing for a settlement to end sanctions, and two weak African parties.

Percy M'Kudu, leader of the blacks' United People's party, was disappointed that no blacks were represented at the latest British-Rhodesian negotiations.

"How can the future of this country be settled without 98 per cent of the population having a voice?" he asked.

The UPP has 11 members in Parliament and represents literate urban blacks. M'Kudu gets little support from white liberals. Many black Rhodesians once supported either the Zimbabewe African People's Union or Zimbabwe African National Union. Both are now banned and their leaders are among hundreds of Africans held in detention camps.

Unlike the two outlawed parties, the UPP believes in working for gradual progress toward majority rule within the narrow political framework allowed by the white regime.

Strongest parliamentary spokesman for the African is a white independent, Dr. Ahrn Palley, who represents Highfield, a black suburb of Salisbury. Palley has urged the government to settle on Britain's terms.

Zany Inventor Has Film 'Role'

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Rowland Emett, a slender fair-haired man with a British accent, a vivid imagination, an impish grin and an even more impish sense of humor, not only creates outrageous contraptions on his drawing board, but brings these impossible whimsies to life in working three-dimensional form.

He is the first to admit that his zany inventions have no practical value. "They're all glorious failures," he said, "and that's the fun. Their primary purpose is to make people laugh."

★ ★ ★

And people have been laughing with the ingenious native of London ever since his drawings began appearing in Punch, Britain's weekly humor magazine, during World War II. His cartoons pictured a mad railway system, the Far-Tottering to Oyster Creek Branch Railway that satirized all the problems of the British railway system.

For the Festival of Britain in 1951 he was asked by the government to design his system to be built full-size to carry people around the exposition. He came up with actual reproductions of his Wild Goose, the flying engine; Neptune, which didn't know quite whether to be a boat or a locomotive; and Nellie, the engine with a tremendously long funnel and spindly boiler.

The trains were a huge success, and Emett was inundated with requests to build "enormous bits of three-dimensional nonsense, and that's all I've been doing ever since."

His latest are the gadgets and gimmicks he created for the forthcoming musical film, "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," starring Dick Van Dyke as Caractacus Potts, an inventor Emett claims is "about as dotty as I am."

"I have no trouble getting the ideas," he said. "The problem is carrying them out. They all begin in the proverbial little scribble on the back of an envelope."

Pontiac Motor Marks New Milestone

The Pontiac Motor Division marked another significant production milestone when its 13th million car recently rolled off the assembly line. Moreover, it is projected that the 14th million unit will be built within a year.

Fittingly, the 1968 milestone was symbolized by the newly-styled Grand Prix. The Division's 1969 beauty has already captured the fancy of the auto market. The enthusiastic reception accorded it is evidenced by projected sales of 120,000 units for this year compared with 30,000 in 1967.

The assembly of the 13th million Pontiac coincided with the Division's announcement of record October sales of 97,205 units that set an all-time mark for any month, topping the previous monthly high of 90,951 set in April 1966 and representing a 19 per cent increase over October sales a year ago.

This, coupled with the General Motors Corp. announcement of 472,544 retail deliveries in October, which also set an "any month" sales record, is cause for unbounded optimism in our automobile - oriented State and community.

With the automotive industry now the bellwether of the national economy, it betokens a continuing high level of employment and wages—particularly in industrial areas.

★ ★ ★

We congratulate the Pontiac Motor Division and General Motors Corp. on the preeminent position they have achieved in the auto industry—a position attributable to the joint efforts of enlightened management and the loyal army of white- and blue-collar employes.

Czechs Pay Heavy Price for 'Freedom'

It must be rather difficult these days for homegrown Communists and disciples of Marxist-Leninism to tell themselves that communism is the hope of mankind and that Soviet Russia is the guardian of that hope.

Here is the price the Czechoslovakian people are going to have to pay for their brief flirtation with the elementary freedoms Americans and citizens of other "decadent" democracies take for granted:

- The Communist party must resume dominant rule in Czechoslovakia.
- The party must exercise complete control over the press, radio and television.
- Liberal Czech leaders must be replaced by orthodox Communists, meaning those who will unquestioningly toe the Kremlin line.

In return for these chains, the Soviet Union promises to begin withdrawing its occupation troops — someday.

Yes, the mental convolutions non-Russian Communists must be going through are difficult, but not impossible for men who recovered from the shocks of Hungary and deStalinization.

What is surprising is that so many ordinary Americans have so easily accepted and so quickly rationalized away Russia's brutal repression of Czechoslovakia.

Certainly, Czechoslovakia is not worth a world war. There is nothing we can do for the peoples of the European satellites that they are unable to do for themselves.

But if we cannot prevent a Hungary or a Czechoslovakia, neither can we justify these human tragedies under the delusion that there is really no difference between Russian foreign policy and our own.

Ironically, on the day that Secretary of State Dean Rusk appeared at the United Nations to call Russia to account for its invasion of Czechoslovakia, he was heckled by a group of young dissenters, about whom the most charitable thing that can be said is that their education is incomplete.

AAA Sees Miniskirts as Pedestrian Safeguard

No less an authority than the American Automobile Association has come out in favor of miniskirts.

They may help to reduce pedestrian deaths and injuries, the AAA says. The reason is that automobile headlights aim downward, so the more stocking or leg is exposed, the easier it is for motorists to spot someone in their paths.

★ ★ ★

Much as we welcome this scientifically detached vote of approval for the miniskirt, it must be noted that it applies to night driving only.

For daytime drivers, subcategory male, a major hazard of the times remains not one of not seeing miniskirted pedestrians but of seeing them too well—a matter not of headlights aiming downward but of the eye wandering upward . . . and downward . . . upward . . . and downward.

Czech Urge for Freedom Misjudged

By LEON DENNEN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Each day brings new evidence that Czechoslovakia's passive resistance to the Russian invasion has already had a deadlier effect on Communist morale than the short-lived armed uprising of the Hungarians in 1956.

The Hungarian revolt was soon eclipsed by Moscow's propaganda for "peaceful coexistence." But Czechoslovakia is a continuing disaster that will plague the Kremlin rulers for a long time.

★ ★ ★

Deluded by their own Marxist - Leninist gibberish, they completely misjudged and underestimated the Czechoslovaks' urge for freedom and the reluctance of "fraternal" Communist parties to submit again to Moscow's domination.

Of the world's 74 nonruling Communist parties, only 14 supported Russia's invasion.

COMPARISON

Even Louis Aragon, the leading Marxist-Leninist intellectual of France, compared the invasion to the "rape of Czechoslovakia by Hitler's Nazi hordes."

Ironically, it was Mikhail Suslov, the Kremlin's top ideologist, who warned his colleagues in the Soviet Politburo against armed intervention.

★ ★ ★

According to a Czechoslovakia diplomat, Suslov told the Warsaw Pact summit that met in Bratislava shortly before Soviet parachutists descended on Prague:

"We must accept the Czechoslovak reforms because sooner or later we, in the Soviet Union, will face the same thing."

REALISTIC POLITICIANS

Suslov, Premier Aleksei Kosygin and other realistic politicians in the Politburo were voted down by Leonid Brezhnev, head of the Russian Communist party, Aleksander Shelepin, former chief of the secret police, and their henchmen who were backed by many of the Red army's marshals and generals.

But the acrimonious debate is still going on in the Kremlin and so does the struggle for power.

The dull and unimaginative Berzhnev actually believed his own propaganda that the Russians would be welcomed in Czechoslovakia. On the eve of the invasion each Soviet soldier was given a tract explaining his mission.

"Soviet soldiers," it said, "you are going to fraternal Czechoslovakia to perform your duty as an internationalist.

RED SWASTIKAS

"The present situation in Czechoslovakia is such that counterrevolutionary forces, operating openly under the mask of 'democratization' and 'liberalization' of the existing order, are taking the country toward the restoration of capitalism."

But on reaching Czechoslovakia the Soviet soldiers soon discovered that the "counterrevolutionaries" were the population itself and saw their tanks painted with red swastikas. Beneath a menacing posture, many were frightened, others disgusted.

The Russians have shown that they are capable of anything, and the Czechoslovaks are vitually at their mercy. But if the Czechs keep their nerve and patience they may yet have the last word.

Rock 'n' Roll: Religion for Youth

By DAVID POLING

Policemen always look a little nervous at rock 'n' roll concerts. The wild frenzy that builds up for the appearance of the Chambers Brothers — the "soul" album, the Jimi Hendrix — makes you think that firemen will be needed as well as policemen.

★ ★ ★

After attending a "soul" concert with 18,000 screaming teen-agers, my thoughts go out to clergymen, not police or firemen. For the church should really try to understand what is happening in these sight-and-sound explosions called rock.

★ ★ ★

The rock 'n' roll concert, the "soul" album, the Jimi Hendrix poster, the almost uncontrollable energy of strobe lights have become the means of rebellion — and liberation — for millions of youngsters.

★ ★ ★

Faced by a very rigid, planned society, so often reeking with conformity of mind and dress, eternal schooling and schedules, wars and rumors of wars, the rock era of music offers not only escape but creativity.

TOOLS OF THIS AGE

Young artists who became professionals took the tools of this age — electronics — and turned them against the Establishment (big government, big business, big military, big education, big religion — add your own) with unbelievable bursts of poetry, protest and song.

★ ★ ★

Noise became as important as lyrics. An amplifier, sound columns and 24-inch cymbals were more important than instruments — they were part of life itself, essential ingredients for survival.

★ ★ ★

And if all this commotion infuriated parents and brought scoldings from the People in Charge, it only confirmed to the youth that they were on the right track — a sound track in stereo.

★ ★ ★

What has been missed by adults (because they can't stand the noise) and ignored by the theologians (because they prefer other forms of music) is the reality that rock is religion and not just entertainment.

IT'S SALVATION

What we are dealing with here is salvation as much as a music score.

★ ★ ★

For instance, Jimi Hendrix offers a "total experience" which is satisfied with nothing less than engulfing the individual with everything from a visual musical explosion to feeling the incredible shock waves of his equipment as it pounds off your chest.

A few other features include playing the guitar with his teeth and attacking some expensive speaker stands at the close.

★ ★ ★

In the midst of so much commotion, one would be surprised to learn that religious overtones emerge from a setting that also includes vulgarity, profanity and lust. Yet how else to explain the power of "soul" songs and vocalists who have idolatries in the performance that passes as a rock concert.

The world of total sound and sight and soul has not yet beguiled me to believe that this is the way of salvation.

★ ★ ★

But what must not be put down is the free creativity that abounds in the mind-blowing music that is so evident in our society.

★ ★ ★

Instead of phoning the police when the disturbance starts, maybe we should just get more cotton.

Bob Considine Says:

A Few Words of Advice for Our New President

NEW YORK — A few guidelines and words of advice for the new president of the United States:

CONSIDINE

"I believe deeply that every occupant of the White House, whether he be conservative, liberal or middle-of-the-road, has one profound duty to the nation: to exert moral leadership.

★ ★ ★

"The president of the United States should stand, visible and uncompromising, for what is right and decent—in government, in the business community, in the private lives of the citizens. For decency is one of the main pillars of a sound civilization. An immortal nation invites its own ruin." Dwight D. Eisenhower in the current Reader's Digest.

"Sir, I would rather be right than be president." Henry Clay, in a speech in 1850. It was a comforting statement. He was a three-time loser in his quest for the Whig nomination, and 73.

"My movements to the chair of government will be accompanied by feelings not unlike those of a culprit who is going to the place of his execution." George Washington, in a letter to a friend in 1789.

"I pray heaven to bestow the best of blessings on this House and all that shall hereafter inhabit it. May none but honest and wise men ever rule under this roof." John Adams, first occupant of the White House. FDR had the words inscribed on the apex of the fireplace in the state dining room. The fireplace is now in the Truman Library, Independence, Mo. Old Harry took it with him.

If you are as happy, my dear sir, on entering this house as I am in leaving it and returning home, you are the happiest man in this country." James Buchanan to Abraham Lincoln as Lincoln stopped by to pick him up on the way to the inaugural ceremonies, March 4, 1861.

"Seriously, I do not think I am fit for the presidency." Lincoln, March 5, 1859. "I desire so to conduct the affairs of this administration that if at the end, when I come to lay down the reins of power, I have lost every other friend on earth, I shall at least have one friend left, and that friend shall be down inside of me." Lincoln, 1864.

"A president has damned few friends." LBJ, in a recent interview.

"When I was a boy I was told that anyone could become president, and now I'm beginning to believe it." CLARENCE DARROW.

Water Supply

Newsday

The North Shore of Long Island is soon to be the site of an experiment of worldwide importance. It now appears that a nuclear-powered desalinization plant, first proposed in 1961, will soon be built near Long Island Sound in the Town of Riverhead.

★ ★ ★

Nuclear fuel has already shown itself to be competitive with conventional fuels in the generation of electric power. The purpose of the Long Island plant, the first of its kind in the world, is to demonstrate the economic and technical feasibility of using atomic power instead of conventional fuels to convert sea water into fresh drinking water.

The engineers of the State Atomic and Space Development Authority, which is sponsoring the project, believe the $5,500,000 plant will return $1,000,000 a year to the state through the sale of water, electricity and isotopes.

It will also pioneer a technology that could revolutionize the world's water supply planning. During the drought of the early '60s, desalinization was much discussed as a possible solution to the water problems of the Northeast. If this plant is successful, it could supply some of the knowledge needed to make the world's deserts bloom.

U. N. Problem

Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader

The United Nations late last year proclaimed a Bill of Rights for women around the world and announced that the ladies must receive equality without discrimination in all aspects of life.

★ ★ ★

Recently Swaziland, Africa, became the world's newest independent nation, with King Sobhuza II at the helm. And now that Swaziland is the newest and the 125th member of the United Nations we can perceive some interesting trouble ahead.

★ ★ ★

King Sobhuza took his 50th bride in 1933, and there isn't even any official record of how many times he has been married since.

World peace and nuclear disarmament will have to take a back seat if the UN ever decides to debate the question of female rights and equality in Swaziland.

Carelessly Driven Cars Cause of Many Accidents

Every day we hear and read about young people being maimed and killed on motorcycles. I belive the average accident happens on the road by people who say they didn't see the motorcycle or don't look before they pull out into traffic.

★ ★ ★

Let's do a little more about people who drive cars carelessly rather jump every time we hear about a motorcycle and its rider getting into trouble.

'Law-Abiding Citizens Should Back Police'

Decent, law-abiding citizens are not harassing the two policemen in Lake Orion. We don't know yet what a police state is. Wait until the Communist state takes over, then we will know a police state. Until then we should support our police.

Three Letters Comment on Halloween 'Fun'

I offer a word of praise for the teen-agers in Juda Lake, Orion Township. We have had six Halloweens and all but one have been good. Again this year we had no soap, wax or eggs, and our little ones had no problems begging.

MRS. GLYN R. STONE
3332 GRAFTON

I take a one-person stand against the so-called "devil's night" and "trick or treat" night. I had quite a supply of goodies for the little ghosts and goblins but my supply goes to a home for children who are not given the opportunity to wantonly soap, wax, throw eggs, spray paint and further damage personal property, only to come to the door for treats in payment for not tricking. I am a grandmother of 13 and mother of six, so I have been through a few years of being exposed to the "spirit of things." Something has to be done to stop this growing trend of wanton destruction and general chaos. I am a bus driver for the Walled Lake school system and am ashamed of the children who are responsible for acts of vandalism and who brag as to what they have done and intend to do.

MIGNONNE BLAIS

As a previous Pontiac resident now living in Milford, and being unaccustomed to the "devil's night," I had quite an awakening. "Devil's night" is the night before Halloween and is the time when the area young people have a night out for mischief. This involves soaping windows, or throwing eggs and tomatoes. In our case it also involved having a pumpkin thrown at our front door, breaking the glass, and having a rock thrown through our picture window. It's too bad that there are those who let this situation get so far out of hand, whether it be the fault of parents or children. This is a community problem and something needs to be said about it.

MRS. FRED GARCHOW

Discusses Recent Sentence for Cruelty

Recently Judge Clark Adams sentenced an area pair to two years probation for child cruelty. Will this sort of sentence make potential mistreaters of children sit up and take notice? Could the ever-increasing crime rate be attributed in part to court decisions such as these? Maybe it's time for a judicial housecleaning from the Supreme Court on through local levels.

Question and Answer

I have a great deal of moss on the north side of my house, and I've heard in time this will rot my roof. Is there anything we can do to get rid of it, short of a new roof, which we can't afford? All the trees in back have been cut and the two front ones are trimmed up very high.

PENSIONER

REPLY

Roofing people have told us you should have no more trouble. The cold weather should take care of what's there. Then if you could have someone clean it off with a stiff broom and water, either now or in the spring, it shouldn't return now that the trees are cut and shade is eliminated.

Question and Answer

What is Dr. Tatroe's salary as Superintendent of Waterford Township schools now? I understand he just received another raise.

German Chief Takes Hand in Probe of Security Mess

BONN, Germany (AP) — Rocked by four security bombshells in four weeks, West Germany's secret services are being investigated by Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger himself.

The inquiry centers around six mysterious deaths, the arrest of two suspected spies, disclosures about the theft of a rocket last year, and the hasty departure of six East German Communist agents from West Germany at the height of the spy scare.

Under the personal direction of Kiesinger and his vice chancellor and foreign minister, Willy Brandt, a Security Committee of state secretaries of the Foreign, Defense and Interior ministries this week began grilling the heads of the Federal Intelligence Service, the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution, and military counterintelligence.

One reason for the investigation is to check claims that professional jealousies in the three organs are marring the coordination essential in an effective security system.

INEFFICIENCY CITED

Ludwig Martin, the federal prosecutor, has accused Bonn police and military counterintelligence of inefficiency in enabling a suspected spy to slip away.

The suspect in this case, found dead Oct. 9, is the central figure in the espionage scare. He was Rear Adm. Hermann Luedke, 57, retired deputy head of the logistics wing of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's European headquarters in Casteau, Belgium.

The Bonn government may centralize state security organs. This is bound to raise a storm among politicians who fear West Germany might take on features of a "police state" similar to Hitler's days.

Martin has echoed the assurances of government spokesman Conrad Ahlers that evidence so far indicates no connections between the various affairs.

But these assurances failed to quell speculation that West Germany is the victim of a major espionage plot.

Those who link the incidents say it started Oct. 6 in Brussels with the arrest of Nihat Imre, Turkish senior administrative official at SHAPE. He is now being interrogated in Ankara on charges of spying on NATO for Moscow.

* * *

SHAPE stands for Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers, Europe.

On Oct. 8, a shot rang out in the headquarters of federal intelligence at Pullach, South Germany. Staff officials found the acting deputy chief, Maj. Gen. Horst Wendland, 56, dying from a gunshot wound in the head. A Belgian pistol lay nearby.

Ahlers, acting on instructions from Kiesinger, told newsmen that Wendland had committed suicide in a fit of depression.

Then the next shock came. Another shot rang out in a forest in the Eifel Hills west of Bonn, killing Luedke.

* * *

"A hunting accident" was the official explanation, but this was colored by Bonn's official report that Luedke was suspected of being a spy 15 days before his death.

On Sept. 23, seven days before Luedke's official retirement from NATO and from the German Navy, a photo store laboratory assistant told police that in processing microfilm handed in by Luedke the same day, he found nine shots of NATO documents marked "top secret" and "NATO secret".

Also on the film were pictures of some of Luedke's acquaintances and a picture of his blue and white car, its registration number clearly visible.

An incredibly stupid blunder by a Communist agent, or a too-perfect frame-up?

Informed sources say Western concern at the implications of the Luedke affair is so great that it is likely to be raised at the NATO Ministerial Council meeting in Brussels in mid-November.

From Oct. 15 to Oct. 23 there were four more suicides of government officials. All were described as having had case histories of depression.

The four were Lt. Col. Johannes Grim, 57, a security man in the Defense Ministry; Hans-Heinrich Schenk, 40, senior Economics Ministry official; Gerhard Boem, 61, senior clerk in the Defense Ministry; and Edeltraud Grapentin, 52, federal press office librarian.

Spokesman Conrad Ahlers disclosed Oct. 26 that six Communist East German agents had escaped from West Germany and confirmed that parts of Hawk antiaircraft missiles had been found on a public refuse heap.

* * *

The Defense Ministry reported on Oct. 26 the arrest Sept. 7 of Gisela Mock, a typist in the army command staff, as a suspected spy.

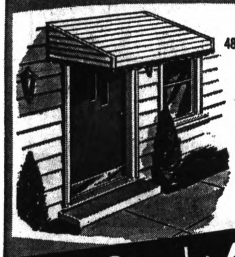

* * *

Prosecutor Martin announced Oct. 26 three arrests in the year-old case of the theft of a Sidewinder air-to-air rocket from a German base, and disclosed it was air freighted to Moscow by commercial plane. Among those accused of stealing the rocket was Sgt. Maj. Diethard Knoppe, a Starfighter pilot at the base.

Prof Seeks Research Grant

Snorer Is Restless for Cure

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A bleary-eyed university professor whose wife "hates snoring like the devil hates holy water" has asked the federal government for $100,000 so he can find a cure and curb the nation's soaring divorce rate.

Dr. Marcus Boulware admits he has a selfish motive. He hasn't had a good night's sleep since he began his quest more than two years ago.

★ ★ ★

"I now sleep on the threshold of wakefulness and sleep. This lets my subconscious mind become a casual observer and see that my mouth stays closed," said the Florida A&M speech instructor.

Before Dr. Boulware began sleeping with one eye open he tried various antisnoring devices such as chin straps, mouth restrainers and bells.

POSTURE THE KEY

But he now feels sleeping posture holds the key to success.

"I've trained myself not to lie on my back, the vulnerable position for snoring," he said. "I've been working on my position for two years. I prop my forearm up under my chin. You do it for hours and hours and after a while the subconscious mind takes over."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Boulware, 61, says he is consciously aware when he sleeps and he knows when he begins to snore.

"I'm not as well-rested sleeping like that," he admits, "but I don't distrub other persons."

HOPES FOR GRANT

He says he has spent $1,200 in obtaining and translating snoring studies from 18 countries. He hopes to get a $100,000 research grant from the National Institute of Health, which he said has 200 researchers working on sleep, but none on snoring. His request is pending. He would like to gather a stafff and observe sleepers in a laboratory as they sleep. Finding a cure would more than offset the cost, he maintains, because snoring — while not considered grounds for divorce in this country — often is the cause.

Whenever his interest begins to wane, Dr. Boulware said, he gets renewed strength to resume his quest from his wife.

★ ★ ★

"She bangs the bed, hard, whenever I snore."

Space Test for Einstein Theory

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Pioneer 6 spacecraft, nearly three years in space, will sail behind the sun late this month and test a key aspect of Einstein's general theory of relativity affecting the laws of the universe.

At the same time, it should provide scientists with new information about the composition of the sun and the tongues of flame that comprise its corona.

When launched into a great sweeping orbit about the sun Dec. 16, 1965, the satellite had a designed lifetime of six months. It has operated nearly six times that duration, long enough to make it the first functioning spacecraft to pass behind the sun.

In simple terms, Einstein's theory states that light and radio waves do not travel in a straight line but are deflected by the gravity of objects in space—like an apple falling off a tree—and experience a shift in frequency.

RADIO TRANSMISSIONS

When Pioneer 6 begins to go behind the sun about Nov. 21, it will send radio transmissions past the sun to the earth. According to Einstein's theory, light and radio waves originating from the craft will curve toward the sun, and the wavelength and frequency will change.

Scientists at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., will record the Pioneer 6 radio transmissions to see if the sun does produce a frequency shift.

The sun is important for testing the theory because it has much greater mass than any of the planets or moons in our solar system, making it easier to measure any frequency shift.

Previously, optical measurements of light transmissions from stars has been made by telescope during solar eclipses. These tests generally supported Einstein's theory, but because of uncertainties in the measured positions of the stars, the probability of error was significant.

The probability of error is much less with Pioneer 6 because its orbital speed, its path and the transmission characteristics of the radio signal are known in great detail after months of precise tracking. When the craft passes behind the sun, any change will be readily detected.

Her Debut in Movies

Huston Directs Own Daughter

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

TERRACINI, Italy — For one of John Huston's recent films, the leading lady was paid $1 million. On his current film, the starring actress is earning $10,000.

THOMAS

The reason for the disparity: the first actress in "Reflections in a Golden Eye" was superstar Elizabeth Taylor; the second in "A Walk With Love and Death" is Anjelica Houston, who has never before acted.

Huston was reaching the end of his 28th film as a director, his seventh as an actor—he is playing a supporting role "because the Irish actor I wanted for it wasn't available." The movie company came to this seaside town at the end of the Appian Way to photograph in an ancient church erected by St. Bernard. The rest of the film was shot in and around Vienna, which doubled for 14th-century France. "A Walk With Love and Death" was planned for filming in France, but the Paris riots forced the company to relocate.

NEW MOUSTACHE

On the set Huston presented the same slouching figure in white-hunter's suit. The only difference was a moustache he had grown for his role — "to break up the monotony of my face." While directing his daughter he was stern, even sharp; this was unusual because he usually addresses actors with an almost courtly manner.

Obviously he wanted to get the best effort from the 17-year-old Anjelica, and he believed he was getting it.

"She's good," Houston confided afterward. "She's damn good. I think she's going to be a fine actress. I've known that for a long time. Even when she was a little girl, she had that quality that makes good acting. For some time I have been looking for a vehicle that would give her the right opportunity. This picture provided it, and that's why I'm doing it."

NO DRAMA TRAINING

Not only has Anjelica not acted in a film before; she has never had any dramatic training.

"In her case, I didn't think it was a good idea to send her to an acting school," said Huston. "The only thing I might have done would be to have her study an actress like Margaret Rutherford as she prepares for a stage role.

"After all, you only do one scene at a time in films, and I figured she could get enough coaching from me. It has taken more time than I would have spent with an experienced actress. But I think the added effort was worth it."

The hero of "A Walk With Love and Death" is another newcomer, Assaf Dayan, 22. He is the son of Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan. But Huston says he learned of the relationship only after he and producer Carter DeHaven decided on the young actor for the role.

Heckling Added New Wrinkle to the Campaign

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The 1968 presidential campaign has added a new wrinkle to the political process—the ubiquitous heckler. There was more heckling on all sides than in any other modern campaign. Was it an organized movement? A conspiracy? Or just a happening? Here's an account by a reporter who traveled with the candidates to study the phenomenon.)

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeature Writer

No candidate was spared it. Some had to tilt with all the typical tactics of heckling—the gibe, the taunt, the insult, the rude questions.

Heckling had not only become a fixture of the 1968 presidential campaign, but had developed two specialized forms: the superheckle and the overcheer.

★ ★ ★

It was contagious and the way it seemed to pop up raised suspicions that perhaps heckling was part of a plot, or that people were being paid to do it. No other modern American political campaign has had heckling on such a scale.

"The whole thing is sparked and led by the Communists," concluded Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, vice presidential candidate of Gov. George C. Wallace's American Independent party.

HIGHLY ORGANIZED

And Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told one rally: "I think you should just as well know that there's a determined effort being made in this country today by a very small group of well-disciplined, highly organized people who have made it their business to interrupt me."

He named no names. Nor did LeMay.

★ ★ ★

But a reporter who traveled thousands of miles with five of the six presidential and vice presidential candidates—LeMay was in Vietnam at the time—could find no evidence that even the most active and irritating of hecklers dogged the heels of any candidate, or that the themes were set by any single secret group, or that hidden financing was provided by a conspiracy.

Nor was any such evidence, so far as is known, uncovered by the nation's two prime intelligence and investigative agencies: the FBI and Secret Service.

'NOT THEIR SHOW'

"I'm sure the Communists like the disorder as they would like anything that serves to hurt the image of America," says a key FBI agent who cannot be named, "but as far as evidence indicates, this just is not their show."

Who are the hecklers? What impact have they had?

★ ★ ★

There are the quiet ones amidst the hecklers, like the well-combed, long-haired, neatly dressed girl with the narrow face and startled eyes sitting at a rally for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, Democratic vice presidential candidate, with her right hand held aloft, the fingers forming the "V" sign of the peace movement.

There are the disenchanted ones, such as Wayne Waldo, sophomore at Del Mar Junior College in Corpus Christi, Tex., or Tim Hagerty, an English instructor at the University of Dayton in Ohio, who feel they must stand up and be counted.

There are radical hecklers, like Tom Hayden and Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman, who by their zeal and personal style rose to leadership and prominence. Rubin and Hoffman are most popularly associated with the yippies—or Youth International Party—which may emerge as the greatest putdown and satire of the 1960s. It is the yippies, essentially, who invented the overcheer.

★ ★ ★

The overcheer was used against Wallace at a rally in Denver. Instead of the usual "Sieg Heil" chants, or other more vulgar ones, the yippies and hippies cheered for him. In the general tumult, Wallace apparently didn't get it.

★ ★ ★

The superheckler is a product of electronics. A typical example occurred in Seattle when Vice President Humphrey was making a campaign speech there in the Center Arena.

Humphrey ran into Trim Bissell, 26, a bearded poet who says he's living off a government grant under the National Endowment for the Arts. Bissell is on the steering committee of the Draft Resisters League.

TO HIS ADVANTAGE

As Humphrey started to speak, Bissell started talking into a microphone connected to a battery-powered megaphone, or bullhorn. He could match the Humphrey loudspeaker decibel by decibel.

Wallaces often has used hecklers to his own advantage, taunting them, assuring them that their actions only earn him votes. He refers to them as "long-haired anarchists."

Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, occasionally handled them by allowing hecklers speaking time—and usually the hecklers were outclassed. Humphrey sometimes has lectured them, sometimes exploded, and apparently emerged from determined interruptors with some sympathy.

There seems to be evidence that more heckling is to come.

★ ★ ★

The yippies have great plans for their candidate, a pig called "Pigasus the Ugly," who has been having trouble on street marches because of various health codes. They plan to take him, or some stand-in piglet, to Washington Jan. 20, when the next president will be inaugurated.

Israel Turns to a New Struggle—Elections of 1969

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel is returning to normal—which means a no-holds-barred political struggle for power in next November's elections.

It is a contest which has been waged without a break since the Jewish state was founded 20 years ago. Political differences and personal rivalries are shelved only when Israel and the Arabs square off against each other.

★ ★ ★

Israel is facing decisions which may decide irrevocably the shape of things to come in the Middle East. The average Israeli would like to believe these decisions will be affected by petty political differences, but he fears the present struggle could oust ministers now holding key positions, and replace them with men of lesser ability.

The Israelis' favorite is the tough-talking defense minister Gen. Moshe Dayan. Public opinion polls show he is the people's choice to succeed Prime Minister Levi Eshkol eventually.

RIVALRY

So far the 73-year-old premier has blocked Dayan at almost every turn in his bid to win the nomination for the top party spot.

Eshkol appointed Yigal Allon, also a former general and war hero and close friend, as deputy premier. Seemingly, Allon is being groomed as Eshkol's successor, although the prime minister shows every sign of running again.

★ ★ ★

Allon alone rivals Dayan in popularity, but he is far behind in the polls.

Until recently, Dayan as defense minister was responsible for the administration of occupied Arab territories.

DAYAN BID

Suddenly, Dayan had to share his occupation responsibilities with other Cabinet ministers.

Similarly, a Dayan move to permit the ruling United Labor party congress to choose its election candidates by secret ballot was defeated by Eshkol's supporters. Dayan had hoped to win added support this way.

★ ★ ★

Dayan then resigned from the party's leadership command.

But political observers feel he will remain loyal to the Labor party and not try to form his own faction, even though he sees eye to eye with Eshkol on only a few issues.

'UPSTART'

The old guard of the Labor party calls Dayan an upstart, an adventurer and an opportunist. But many of the younger generation would like to see the old-timers replaced, and Dayan is their man.

Eshkol acknowledges that Dayan has done a good job administering the occupied Arab territories. Dayan's policies have opened the border between Israel and Jordan to Arab traffic, while permitting Arabs from occupied territories to travel throughout Israel with few incidents.

★ ★ ★

Dayan also has been adroit in handling the Arab notables in Jordan's west bank area. His record in running Israel's fight against Arab sabotage raids is impressive.

But informed sources say Dayan is up against other opposition, and could well be succeeded as defense minister by Yitzhak Rabin, who led Israeli forces in the June 1967 war and is now ambassador to Washington.

Rabin is the choice of Pinhas Sapir, secretary general of the Labor party, a Cabinet minister without portfolio.

CAN BE TOUGH

"Sapir is a man who gets what he wants, either by gentle persuasion, or else he simply bludgeons it out," wrote a journalist after an interview with Sapir.

Whatever the outcome of political maneuvers, only the most optimistic Israeli expects it to boost hopes of peace with the Arabs.

Israel says it will settle for nothing less than face-to-face negotiations. It seems to have little faith in the United Nations as a peacemaker.

The withdrawl of U.N. troops from Gaza, the Sinai Desert and the Straits of Tiran in May 1967 preceded the last war. Jerusalem also points to the Israeli withdrawl from the Sinai after the 1956 campaign at the urging of the United Nations. International guarantees of peace and free passage through regional waterways came to nothing, the Israelis say.

The Arabs demand that Israel start out by taking back the Palestinian refugees who fled in 1948. Eshkol says this "would place a time bomb under our security." Only international aid, including Arab contributions, could lead to a solution of the refugee question, he adds.

★ ★ ★

Peace maneuvers outside Israel make good Israeli homes, but they pale before the problem of combatting Arab sabotage.

Arab commando organizations have been striking at Israel since the June war, and while they are a harassment, even neutral observers feel they have gained little success.

★ ★ ★

The Israelis have come up with some ingenious expensive antiguerrilla tactics.

SEALED BORDER

When the Beisan Valley frontier settlements south of the Sea of Galilee were hit by a wave of minings and explosions, the Israelis sealed off the border with a multimillion-dollar fence along the entire 205-mile Israeli Jordanian frontier.

Israeli security forces have rounded up hundreds of commandos who crossed into Israeli-held areas. The Arabs receive a military trial and are sentenced to prison terms of up to life. There is no capital punishment in Israel.

★ ★ ★

The first signs of passive resistance have appeared.

A wave of strikes and demonstrations started in the west bank area in mid-October, many of them violent. Hundreds of students chanted pro-Nasser slogans and support for the Al Fatah saboteurs.

RESTRICTIONS

The military retaliated by restricting dissidents under tight curfews "wherever public order was threatened."

Israeli authorities attribute the opposition to several factors:

● People want the Israelis out. "Don't think we enjoy being occupiers, either, but then it's the price they the Arabs pay for refusing to make peace," says Dayan.

● The Arabs fear Israel and Jordan will reach a settlement without considering the Palestinians for asking their feelings. Ironically, many Arab protests are against Jordan's King Hussein for his reported crackdown on the Fatah commandos inside Jordan. The Arab Guerrilla fighter is a hero to the west bank's one million residents.

Castro Ouster Seen Unlikely

HAVANA (AP) — Ever since Fidel Castro turned Cuba toward communism, people have been trying to overthrow him and the system. Past performances and present circumstances indicate they have little chance.

In longevity, the Castro government already exceeds most Latin governments. And the Cuban prime minister now has more successive years of official control under his belt than any of his predecessors.

★ ★ ★

The loss of his leadership undoubtedly would be a staggering blow for those left behind. But with Castro or without him, communism now seems well-enough entrenched to continue on this island.

Castro has forged many changes—too many changes, say some experts— for Cuba ever to return to the past.

NEW IDEOLOGY

He has imposed a new ideology, a new way for fun-loving Cubans to think. The most basic change, however, is that he has turned over much of the country, although not its control, to ordinary people.

Hundreds of thousands of Cubans now enjoy beaches, hotels, restaurants, education, health services, housing, cultural activities and positions of authority never open to them before.

★ ★ ★

The government has wiped out racial discrimination on an island where more than one-third of the population is black. It has given women freedom and power in a still-masculine society. It has guaranteed a job for everyone who will work and at least a portion of daily bread to go with it.

"The gasoline station attendants and seamstresses are running the country," says an ex-accountant, "and they certainly don't want to go back to what they were doing before."

CASTRO IDEAS

A typical project director is likely to be a man or woman of 20-24 with a sixth grade education, a little technical training and a head full of Castro-induced, anti-American ideas. He knows what he thinks about the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, but only after Castro has laid down the line.

Castro has encouraged a new feeling of national pride, never a shortcoming of Cubans, and connected it with Marxism. Elementary students are taught, for example, that the United States intervened for imperialistic reasons in 1898 and snatched victory from the Cubans as they were about to crush their Spanish colonizers.

Castro speeches and propaganda ignore what remains of the aging middle class and score with the masses, the forgotten people of earlier governments.

As a result, a farm worker announces his willingness to toil extra hours planting rice where it has never grown before—in the belief he is winning "the battle against the legacy of imperialism."

INDOCTRINATION GOAL

In 10 years or less, the government will have completed indoctrination of the country's youth. Only the brighter students will have questions then, and they will have no place to go but along.

In the meantime, the government is giving thousands of young men and women technical training to drive tractors, run sugar refineries, drill for oil, repair machinery, artificially inseminate cattle, grow citrus and fire a carbine. Some of the training is superficial because of unqualified instructors, a lack of books and continued time-outs to do agricultural work or read Castro speeches. Foul-ups and inefficiency abound, but the program is moving ahead.

In this year of severe shortages and hard labor, a wave of discontent and sabotage has crisscrossed the island. Youths have struck back with vandalism at the rigidity of education. There are unconfirmed reports of minor defections from the army, the only group organized and armed to even think about a coup.

But army discipline is tight. About 70-80 per cent of the ruling Communist party Central Committee are military men, ex-Castro guerrilla fighters loyal to the prime minister. Six of the eight members of the powerful Politburo are military men.

Military chiefs or party leaders occupy all the positions of control in Cuba. But counting the civilian militia, it is estimated that Castro has 250,000-500,000 men under arms.

Domestic food donations by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to improve diets of schoolchildren and needy families and other needy persons in charitable institutions increased 20 per cent in the past nine months.

Brazil Bishop Defies Danger

Reform Efforts Anger Conservative Forces

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Two military policemen are stationed outside Dom Helder Camara's home 24 hours a day, but the controversial Roman Catholic archbishop discounts the danger to him at present. Later, he says, it may be a different story.

Shootings have been reported at his home in the last two weeks. Dom Helder says they were probably the work of pranksters, "maybe children firing cap pistols." An aide points out that Dom Helder was out of town at the time.

Dom Helder expects his movement for "action, justice and peace" to reach peak efficiency in about 2½ years.

"The movement will be causing trouble to the government." He says, "and then yes, there will be shootings. But now they are only jokes."

HIT BY CONSERVATIVES

A leader in the reform movement of the Latin American church, he has been bitterly criticized by conservatives.

He launched his "action, justice and peace" movement here a month ago and says it is growing rapidly.

At the moment he is setting up action groups to work on social reform projects at the local level.

"We are not asking individuals to join the movement," he says. "We want leaders to come in and bring their people with them."

NOT SPECIFIC

In a speech here last week, he said the movement aims to change Brazil's agrarian and labor structures, as well as the political structure of the nation.

Dom Helder so far has offered no specific suggestions for change.

★ ★ ★

The society for the Preservation of Tradition, the Family and Property; a lay group with strong support from Bishop Geraldo Sigaud of Diamantina, claims it has collected more than a million and a half signatures on a petition to the Pope asking him to take action against the "leftist forces" they fear are taking over the Church in Brazil. Dom Helder was the chief target of the campaign.

The Brazilian Council of Bishops takes a dim view of the organization, has criticized Bishop Geraldo for his participation in its activities and has named a committee to investigate it.

"The more they talk," says Dom Helder, "the deeper they bury themselves."

High Court Will Rule on Monkey Law

WASHINGTON — Clarence Darrow wanted very badly to reach the U.S. Supreme Court with his Scopes case, thereby winning a constitutional ruling on state laws which forbid the teaching of evolution. He never made it.

Tennessee's Supreme Court undercut the drive by releasing biology teacher John T. Scopes on a minor point of law, and the dramatic 1925 confrontation between Darwinism and the Biblical account of creation dribbled out in a technicality.

Now, 43 years later, the Supreme Court is about to rule on the issue in an Arkansas case, and ironically, few people outside Arkansas and Mississippi — the two remaining states with antievolution laws — seem to care anymore. A key question is whether the high court will rule on major constitutional grounds or will take a more technical tack in the case.

★ ★ ★

Last week, the Supreme Court heard arguments for and against the Arkansas statute.

The hearing lasted only 35 minutes and was punctuated by good-humored repartee. Not even the state's attorney, Don Langston, could evince any great enthusiasm in defending the law.

Arkansas' 1928 statute forbids the teaching of any theory holding that man has descended from a lower order of animals.

'What to Send?' Is Christmas Question of Women With Loved Ones Overseas

By JUNE ELERT

The deadline for surface transportation of Christmas packages to Armed Services personnel overseas is Nov. 9. A lot of women are scurrying from store to store this week, trying to find "exactly-right" items to fill those packages.

Mrs. Raymond (Edna) Kiehler of Sylvan Lake is an early bird. Two packages are already on their way to her son, Pete, an infantryman stationed at Di-An, near Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Asked what kinds of things Pete likes to receive, Mrs. Kiehler said, "All kinds of things to eat. Pete's gained weight on the Army diet, but kids who have been used to snacking miss that over there."

A bit of an innovator, Edna wrapped some apples (very firm) in foil and packed them in a coffee can.

She uses candy kisses for packing material.

★ ★ ★

Edna and Pete hold conversations via tape recorder. She says, "He just sits down wherever he is and talks and it is just like having a visit with him. It's wonderful to hear his voice."

HOME SOON

Pete has been in Vietnam since last December. He has told his mother to "start the countdown" for his homecoming in February.

Enda also sent Lloyd Douglas' "The Robe," snack crackers, cheese, cookies, canned ham, canned fruits and stewed tomatoes. Looks like Pete and his friends will have a snackin' good time when the packages reach him.

For the busy individual, J. L. Hudson's store at The Pontiac Mall has a service by which persons may purchase a package of goodies in their choice of weights, 5, 9 or 12 pounds at $5, $7.50 and $10 plus postal charges for either surface or air transportation.

The package will be mailed directly to the soldier from Hudson's Detroit facilities. These boxes contain such items as tinned bread, cheeses, instants like beef broth and cocoa, cookies, ham, tomato juice, snack crackers, fruitcake and salami.

★ ★ ★

Hudson's also has sturdy cartons for sale in Dept. 201, the Mezzanine of their downtown Detroit store.

Mrs. Clyde Skinner of Murphy Street, says her son, Alan Wiley, requested presweetened Kool-Aid and writing paper and pencils. She also sent him an instant flash cube camera.

★ ★ ★

Paul Carriger, returned in September from an eight-month stint in Vietnam, told us that though his own taste runs to non-fiction reading, paper-back novels rate high with servicemen overseas. The other two most popular items, he said, are canned foods and easily-totable games like chess or checkers.

DISCHARGED

Now discharged from service, Paul and his wife, Corinne, are residing on Rowley Street.

In one of the department stores the other day, Mrs. Gary Youngblood of Harger Street was overheard inquiring about a "lead-bound Bible" that she wanted to send to her husband in Vietnam.

The clerk referred her to Christian Literature Sales, where, upon inquiry, I found that a New Testament in the King James version, with a steel plate inside its front cover, is a stock item and is a very popular gift for sons and husbands going overseas. It retails at $4.50.

One of the things mentioned by Mrs. Kiehler was the tremendous help she has received from store clerks in solving little problems. She says, "They are just great."

The past, the present and worldwide and local news are all represented in the favorite reading selections of Paul Carriger of Rowley Street, recently returned veteran of Vietnam. Paul received The Pontiac Press overseas and said of his buddies over there, "Reading is a big thing to the men in their off-duty hours."

Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. Raymond Kiehler, a secretary at the Dishmaster Corporation, takes her purchases to the office, where the shipping department takes care of the packing and mailing for her. The items displayed here filled two cartons which are now winging their way to her son, Pete, stationed near Saigon.

Chancel Group Plays for Woman's Society

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Central United Methodist Church meets Thursday for noon luncheon to be served by the Edith Parks Circle.

The Chancel Players, directed by Annabelle Closson will present a play entitled "Dangerfield Newby Moves Up Town" by Richard Waters.

Hostesses will be the members of the Jane and Harold Humble Circle. A nursery will be provided.

Off to the post office with Christmas packages for her husband, Gary, a Spec. 4, stationed with the Army near Long Bihn, Vietnam, is Mrs. Pat Youngblood of Harger Street. Among the items is the steel-plated Testament she was seeking earlier. Going along for the ride is two-month-old Michael, as yet unseen by his dad, who is scheduled for return to the U.S. in February.

Speedy Delivery Achieved by Using Available Services

The Post Office Department states that in addition to materials which ordinarily cannot be sent through the domestic mails, (poisons, explosives, matches, lighter fluid, lighters containing fluid and alcoholic beverages), some other items are nonmailable to many military post offices.

These include securities and currency, precious metals, cigarettes and other tobacco products and living plants.

Three types of mail service are available for speedy delivery overseas.

Packages up to 30 lbs. in weight and 60 inches in combined length and girth may be mailed at the parcel post rate to the U.S. port city, plus a flat charge of $1 for air service to the overseas base. This "parcel airlift" is designated "PAL."

Parcels up to 5 lbs. in weight and 60 inches in combined length and girth are carried by rail or truck to the port city, under the parcel post rate. They are then airlifted overseas as "space available mail," "SAM."

Small packages, 2 lbs. or less, may be sent air parcel post. Mailing deadlines for these three services are Nov. 30 for PAL, Nov. 23 for SAM and Dec. 11 for air parcel post.

ADDRESSES

The post office reminds customers that letters and packages must be addressed to a specific serviceman and must be fully and correctly addressed including the full five-digit APO or FPO number.

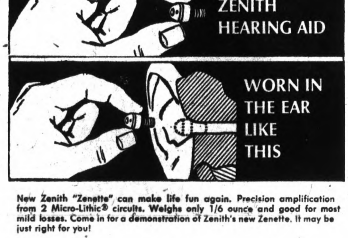

★

Sturdy containers, securely wrapped in heavy paper and tied with heavy string should be used. Boxes should be completely filled as air spaces make the box liable to crushing.

The name, address and list of contents should be placed inside the package as well as on the outside. A return address is required on all packages.

★ ★ ★

If the container itself makes an adequate shipping carton, it is best to omit outside wrappings.

Some Actress

Wants to Be 'The Great Pretender'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I want to become a famous actress. I think I would be very good at it because ever since I was a little girl I have been very good at "pretending" and that is what acting is, isn't it? Do I have to finish high school to be an actress? LISA

ABBY

DEAR LISA: Finish high school. And college, too, if you have a chance. Being good at "pretending" might help a lot because there may be times when you have to "pretend" that you are eating.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago my husband announced that he wanted no part of our marriage or any of its responsibilities. He turned to alcohol, "go go" girls, sports cars and everything he once considered immoral, irresponsible and extravagant.

★ ★ ★

We are now having a lot of problems with our children. They are doing poor work in school and are hard to handle at home. The school counselor called me to inquire into our "home situation."

My husband insists it is none of their business, and how our kids do at school has nothing to do with the way we live at home. He has pointed out other families in which the home life is a mess, but the kids seem to come out all right. Is he right, or am I just nit-picking? CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: When home is a battleground, the casualties are usually the children. Some do survive in spite of the odds, but show me a rebellious, troubled child, and I will show you a home situation riddled with discord.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: About the cross-eyed woman who chewed out her daughter's boyfriend because she offered him a cup of coffee and he said, "I didn't answer you right away because I never realized before that you were cross-eyed, and I didn't know you were talking to me."

★ ★ ★

My sympathy is with the boy. When I was in school, I had a Spanish teacher who was very cross-eyed. She would ask a general question and three people would answer her from different parts of the room. Naturally, this caused a lot of embarrassment.

If this cross-eyed woman is sensitive about her eyes, she should not leave herself wide open for such embarrassment to herself and others. I also learned from my mother that it is proper and courteous to address a person by his name. CROSS ABOUT IT

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to ask if you have ever heard of a "moon healer."

There used to be one in Sioux City, Iowa. I suffered with a pain in my side for a long time. The doctor told me I should have an operation, but I didn't want that. So I went to this moon healer and she said to just let it go until I had one more attack and after that it wouldn't bother me anymore. Well, it's been 50 years, and I am 72 years old and I'm still here.

★ ★ ★

I now have another pain. This one is in my head and I sure wish I could find another moon healer someplace. Can you help me locate one?

★ ★ ★

DEAR HEADACHE: Sorry, but I know of no "moon healer." But in the meantime, I would recommend a doctor.

★ ★ ★

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, c/o The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

7th Avenue Keeps All 'Uniformly' Stylish

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that I've learned that a society matron and the wife of an ambassador appeared at a party here in the same black satin Yves St. Laurent pants suit, I don't feel so self-conscious about the nonexclusivity of my own wardrobe.

As a matter of fact, when I show up at a gathering in a dress identical to what some other woman is wearing, I'm in good company, historically speaking. The wife of a president of the United States once attended a ball wearing a famed designer's gown and found its twin right there on the scene.

FADES

Fortunately, when I run into a mirror-like image of myself, it's usually on the street or in an elevator, and my sister-in-style soon faces away into the crowd, after we have exchanged a grin of chagrin.

My embarrassment was of a longer duration, however, on a recent occasion when I spent a day at the office sitting next to a coworker who was wearing a blue version of the pink dress I was sporting. Now we consult each other in advance to receive priority before donning our look-alike garments.

★ ★ ★

Not only are you likely to meet your best friend wearing the same little number as you, but when you meet your mother for lunch her outfit also is quite likely to be like yours.

★ ★ ★

There was a time when you shopped in one department, your daughter in another and your mother still a third. These days your daughter may well turn up at school in exactly the same dress her teacher is wearing.

Every season there are a few best-selling styles that start at the haute couture level and work their way down to the bargain basements. Rosy O'Grady and the colonel's lady may buy their clothes in widely different price ranges but from a distance they look as though they had come off the same rack.

A few years ago I purchased a distinctively styled green dress which was my favorite — until its counterparts began showing up all over the landscape. That dress came out in more different forms than the latest gossip at a ladies' teaparty.

Not only did it appear sleeveless in a variety of colors and fabrics, but as fall come on it began sporting short sleeves, and later the sleeves grew long and the material grew warmer, but the styling remained the same.

I have finally found the solution for that problem. I put a dress that becomes overly popular away until all the purchasers of that style have worn out their copies and when I get it back out I have the feld strictly to myself again.

MRS. BERT J. LAURAIN

Miss Walls Speaks Vows

Newlyweds, the Bert J. Laurains (nee Sharon Kay Walls) are honeymooning in northern Michigan following their wedding Saturday at the Joslyn Street home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Walls.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Laurain of Liter Street.

For the evening rite, the bride chose a gown of bombazine and Chantilly lace. She held a cascading arrangement of miniature carnations centered with a corsage of red and pink roses.

★ ★ ★

Honor attendants, Mr. and Mrs. John Gross joined the newlyweds for the receiving line at the American Legion Hall where they were feted with a reception.

Mouth Injuries Occur Mainly in the Home

NEW YORK (UPI) — Home is where an injury to the mouth is most likely to occur.

About four of five accidents to the mouth happen in the home and mostly to school children and pre-schoolers. So reports the Council on Family Health, a non-profit organiaztion supported by the drug industry. The council says that one survey shows that four per cent of all school children have fractured teeth.

★ ★ ★

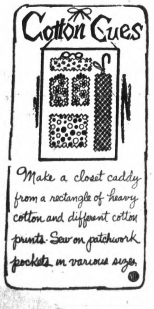

To prevent childhood injuries, mothers can take these common sense precautions:

Teach small children not to run through the house. Many accidents happen when a child falls against or on an object while he's running.

Children should not be allowed to walk around with sharp or pointed objects in their hands or mouths.

Falls out of cribs and high chairs are a major cause of infant injury. Keep crib sides up and straps on high chairs fastened.

Keep an eye on children playing together. Accidents occur when one strikes another with a toy or any other hard object in reach.

New Features in Teen-Set Dryer

A new hair dryer is aimed for the teen-set with its humorous "bug" with wide eyelashes cover design and enough room beneath for the teen-ager to dry her hair and carry on that everlasting telephone conversation also.

★ ★ ★

The dryer works like a professional one with hot, warm and cool settings; salon sized, it will take in even jumbo roller sets. No drying net is necessary.

Opera Artists Named for Met's Detroit Stay

All of the principal artists who will appear with the Metropolitan Opera during the spring season in Detroit were announced jointly by Mrs. Ralph T. McElvenny, of Grosse Pointe Farms, general chairman of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, of Bloomfield Hills, general cochairman.

★ ★ ★

Seven operas will be presented at the Masonic Temple Auditorium from May 26 to May 31, with six evening performances and a Saturday matinee.

Casts and operas include "Rigoletto," with Roberta Peters, Gianni Raimondi, Cornell MacNeil, Raymond Michalski, and Bonaldo Giaiotti. Fausto Cleva will conduct the opening night performance.

★ ★ ★

The following evening, the Detroit premiere of "Adriana Lecouvreur," with Renata Tebaldi, Franco Corelli, Judith Raskin, Anselmo Colzani, and Morley Meredith, will be conducted by Cleva.

A new production of "Der Rosenkavalier," with Regine Crespin, Judith Raskin, Otto Edelmann, and Rosalind Elias, will receive its Detroit Metropolitan Opera premiere the next night. Franz Allers will conduct.

Hark, the Poor Parents Are Praying

By BETTY CANARY

I envied those parents whose first child went off to school this year. I sympathized with them also because I know all about the damp handkerchief bit as little Merton trudges, dragging his schoolbag, down the walk.

Mother just thought she had prepared herself for sending him out into the world alone and father, for all his heartiness, experienced a hollow feeling about the breastbone.

Silently both parents offered up a prayer for their child. And that's what I envied. The prayer for the first one off to school is a brief plea that dear Merton will learn and prosper and get home safely and on time.

With each child and every passing year (that's one of the things I pray for—passing years) the entreaties grow not only in number but in details as well.

Parents with several children find themselves looking forward to a year when nobody is in danger of failing and when at least one of them will come home with an Excellent in conduct.

After such generalities the prayers get on to particulars.

"Oh, please, please," mother entreats, "don't let me get talked into being on the Welcoming Committee for Parents' Night and, if it is possible, stop Merton's mouth when he jumps up to volunteer me for chaperone duty at the eighth grade dance!"

"Yea, and let me not be called to the school with my electric drill," father intones. "Surely seven years of making holes in acorns and hazelnuts for the Thanksgiving decorations is enough for even a Job."

"And if Susie HAS to have nosebleeds, let her learn to use her handkerchief and get to the restroom without ruining four uniform jumpers this year," mother implores.

"Deliver Ralph from fistfights and help him to not tear up more than one car coat this winter," they chant together.

"And let us not be troubled with uneaten lunches and lost books and mateless rainboots," the lament rises.

* * *

"And let all the children remember they need a costume for the school play BEFORE the day of the first dress hehearsal," mother cries loudly.

"Keep them from losing the school's expensive basketballs and slide rules," the litany continues, "and cover our ears to their everlasting complaints that 'everybody ELSE gets to go, do, spend, have, get . . .'

New Exhibits Announced

Two new exhibitions and a new sales area will be on view when Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries, Bloomfield Hills, reopen on Saturday.

A new presentation of works from the permanent collection can be seen through Jan. 5 while collages by New York artist Esteban Vicente will be exhibited through Dec. 1.

On Nov. 19 there will be a slide projection show of works by architect Louis Kahn that will remain through Dec. 8.

* * *

Vicente will be in residence at the Art Academy as the second visiting artist for two weeks beginning Monday and is scheduled to present a lecture on Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Galleries. Kahn will speak in the Galleries Nov. 21 at 8 p.m.

Born in Segovia, Spain, in 1906, Vicente studied sculpture at the Escuela de Bellas Artes de San Fernando in Madrid. He later turned to painting and had his first one-man show in Madrid in 1926.

* * *

He came to New York in 1936 and has lived in that area since. In recent years he has taught at the University of Puerto Rico, the University of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles, Yale, New York University, Queens College and Black Mountain College, North Carolina. Presently he is Resident Critic in Painting at Princeton.

The stock in the new Galleries sales area has been expanded to include a number of unusual gift items and hard-to-find books on the arts. For the first time Christmas cards are available together with other Christmas merchandise.

The Galleries are open from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, except for major holidays. There is an admission.

Task Force on the Arts Is Projected

Members of the Pontiac Area Community Arts Council have selected two new projects for the 1968-69 season as well as continuing with its already successful cultural calendar. The Council will serve as a task force on the arts, under the Pontiac Area Planning Council, and during Michigan Week next May will arrange the Cultural Day for the area.

* * *

Dr. David H. Doherty, director of the Pontiac Area Planning Council, who addressed the Arts Council at its recent meeting, named the Arts Council the eighth task force under the PAPC and asked that its environmental arts division spearhead a beautification program on the entrances to the city and designated areas within.

"By its participation in the environmental arts, the community then becomes a patron of the arts," he said.

HEAD

Selected to head the program is Harry M. Denyes, architect. Assisting him will be Richard Cain of Pontiac Parks and Recreation department, and Mrs. Jann Artson of Cranbrook Galleries. Cain will be in charge of landscape design and architecture, and Mrs. Artson will head building beautification.

* * *

Also assisting will be Dr. Garfield Johnson Jr., of Harambee, Inc. Persons or organizations wishing to assist in any way in the beautification program are asked to contact the committee, Dr. Doherty or George H. Putnam, Arts Council president.

* * *

Next edition of the cultural calendar, scheduled for release in late February, will include cultural events from March 1 through August, 1969. Deadline for listings is Jan. 15. Persons wishing to be on the mailing list may contact the Council office on West Huron Street.

* * *

New members introduced at the recent meeting were Roland Sharette, Oakland Community College; William F. Heaton and John Tolbert, Pontiac Area Jaycees; Cornelia Schorr, Jackson Chorale; Mrs. Paul Closson, Chancel Players; Mrs. Lauristine Hatchett, music department, Pontiac Schools; Mrs. Artson, Cranbrook Galleries, and Ahmed Shabazz and Dr. Johnson of Harambee.

* * *

Special guest was Dr. Harold A. Furlong, president of the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, Inc., who conducted a tour of the remodeled center at the close of the meeting.

Aid to Fashion

The importance of the no-bra look was especially obvious at Paris salons which continued to push their models into stiff-lace-covered corsets that disrupted the bustline of soft, clinging crepes and jerseys. Even firm bustlines need support for some of the new fitted bodices, but they need it with the most natural, undecorated bra possible.

Help Now for Diabetics

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case H-512: Ada B., aged 48, has received a shock.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," she moaned, "I have been feeling poorly, so I had a medical checkup.

"And my doctor tells me I am a diabetic.

"Does that mean my life will be shortened severely? And what caused it?"

DR. CRANE

Until the year 1922, diabetics didn't have as rosy a future as nowadays.

PSYCHOLOGY

But with the advent of insulin and recent oral tablets to hold mild diabetics in control, there is no cause to feel despondent.

For example, Upjohn's journal called "Diabetes" recently described a diabetic whose ailment was discovered back in 1917.

That was 5 years before the advent of insulin.

He was placed on a near-starvation diet for those 5 pre-insulin years, and became one of the original insulin patients after 1922.

* * *

He lived to be 73 and then died a little over a year ago from a coronary attack.

Thus, you victims of heart trouble, diabetes and even epilepsy may actually live longer because you have such ailments, than would be true if you were without such medical troubles.

But that presupposes that you now regulate your appetite and social, business and athletic activities by your brain.

Many a non-diabetic thus gorges himself until he becomes obese and a victim of high blood pressure, when he would have avoided such an early death if he had been forced to regulate his appetites by his brain and thus live on an orderly health regime.

Although diabetes can appear at infancy, it is generally regarded as an ailment of middle age, which is why Ada has just now been diagnosed as needing insulin.

* * *

Heredity is a definite factor in your development of diabetes, but lavish indulgence in our rich American sugar-starch menu seems to precipitate the onset.

Dr. Lillian Recant and Dr. Marvin Levin, Washington University experts on the subject, say that diet may be the most important incriminating element.

* * *

For instance, Jewish persons, who are said to be more susceptible to diabetes, did not prove to be any more liable to diabetes when they were in the Army or in Israel, where diet and exercise prevented the usual obesity which we Americans develop on our rich menus.

* * *

Diabetic mothers can handle pregnancy quite well if diligently checked regarding blood sugar levels and treated consistently.

When their babies develop low blood sugar levels, it has been found recently that fructose (fruit sugar) is more effective than the usual glucose.

Spray Retards Silver Tarnish

Do you get tired polishing your silver, pewter, gold, brass, copper so often? Cheer up! There's a new tarnish-preventing spray on the market that has a tarnish inhibitor in a solvent.

It can't be seen, felt or tasted. With more pollution in the air, tarnish begins to form in a matter of hours. With the new tarnishing preventive spray, a piece that isn't washed often will stay bright up to six months.

* * *

A piece that is used frequently, like a silver platter, would have to be sprayed more frequently.

Foam for Carpet Eliminates Muss

A new aerosol spray takes out much of the fuss and muss of carpet care. It's a foam cleaner that sprays directly onto the carpet and instantly loosens and absorbs dirt and soil.

* * *

It works in conjunction with standard sponge mop, clear rinse water and a vacuum cleaner. It can be used on any colorfast fiber, including wool, cotton, synthetic or blend.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Do you have some overweight which you acquired during the summer? Don't make the mistake of allowing it to linger on into fall like an overblown summer romance. Summer is gone! The romance is over! Fall is here, and winter festivites are not far away.

This is a group therapy column when readers report their successes and also some of their problems while losing weight.

The following is part of a letter:

Dear Josephine Lowman,

I had counted calories over and over again, but I was not successful until I followed reducing menus with the calories already counted.

Previously, when I dieted, counting calories, I would always begin the day well with a sensible breakfast.

However, by mid-morning, if there was something tempting around like cookies or a piece of pie, I would catch myself thinking, "Let's see; if I eat a cookie now and no potato tonight, I'll do all right." I knew that I wasn't going to stop at one cookie and that I would probably eat the potato, but I pretended to believe my own lie.

* * *

I think this is true of many women. You cannot very well kid yourself in this way if you have definite menus to follow. Neither can you make mistakes or kid yourself about the calorie count of different foods. Not only this, but many women find calorie counting laborious or boring and therefore do a little guessing at the last minute.

This letter caused me to think of a trick which I believe would help many women in their slimming efforts. If you do not have reducing menus, plan your own for several days at a time, or even one day ahead. Write down every single thing you are going to eat. Consult a calorie chart and write down the number of calories opposite each item or each meal.

* * *

This will not take long, and it will guard you against wishful thinking. You will be much more likely to stay within your allowable calorie intake than if you meet the day with an unorganized and haphazard idea about what you can have and are going to eat.

This plan has another advantage. You can plan each day's food intake with good nutrition as well as calorie count in mind. There is danger in the sort of self kidding described in today's letter. The in-between-meal snacks may afford little health value, and some essential nutriment may be passed by in order to hold down the calorie count for the day.

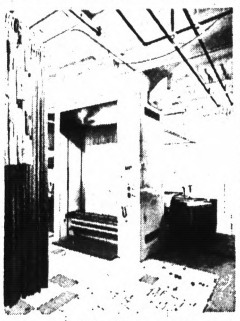

A coat of wax on door knobs and knockers will save cleaning and frequent polishing, and preserve their original finish much longer.

Students Drink In Knowledge

NEW YORK (NEA) — The coach at the University of California, Davis branch, had a bunch of his scholarship kids out drinking with him recently. In the middle of the season, yet.

It was done blatantly, overtly and even out in the open. This, of course, would seem treacherous by even the most loopy of NCAA rules.

* * *

Worse, by the red-nosed standards of some, was that the students weren't allowed to swallow any of the elixir. They had to unload the stuff in a spittoon.

The near-guzzling was part of a course in wine-tasting conducted by Prof. Harold Berg, one of the world's foremost authorities on mangled grapes.

RECRUITING INTENSE

Coach Berg is head of the school's department of Viticulture and enology. (Viticulture is grape growing. Enology is wine making.)

Two other colleges in the United States, Fresno State in California and Geneva in New York, have similar departments. And recruiting of top students is as intense, sometimes, as for a quarterback who can throw 100 yards into the wind.

* * *

High school kids, with the gleam of intellectual pursuit in their bloodshot eyes, should lurch at the chance to major wine swilling.

"Unfortunately," said Berg, as he held a tulip-shaped glass of Cabernet Sauvignon by the stem and intermittently sniffed, tasted and beat his lips together making a bip-bip sound, "our department is under the heading of the school of agriculture. And that's the least glamorous of courses to most students. Wineries provide scholarships and recruiting competition becomes pretty fierce."

ART AND SCIENCE

Wine-tasting, he added, is an art and a science, like pitching a baseball or kicking a football or making love. All the senses come into play and experience and experimentation also have major roles in whether it succeeds or falls flat.

"A professional wine-taster," said the coach, "must have studied wines critically for at least 10 years.

* * *

He must be able to tell at one sniff of the aroma and bouquet—aroma is the smell of grape, bouquet is the smell of fermenting and aging, people confuse the two—one must tell what kind of grape was used, how well-developed it was, what kind of wood it was stored in.

"He must also be able to recognize the characteristics of the wine by the color. For example, this Cabernet Sauvignon should be a deeper red with tinges of amber or tawniness.

AFTERTASTE

"Then you smell, take a sip, chew to get the feel of its body, then draw in air to evaporate some of the wine. This warms it up and releases a second odor. But don't swallow. Spit out. And wait to see what kind of aftertaste lingers. If you swallow many different wines, the palate begins to dull."

Like an athlete, coach Berg does not eat for four hours before game time. "You want to be hungry when tasting critically," he said, "because the palate is then more sensitive."

* * *

At least one athlete, middleweight boxing champion, Nino Benvenuti of Italy, actually savors vino at his training table.

This would come as no surprise to some of the greatest minds in history. St. Paul, for example, advised Timothy, "Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine infirmities." Louis Pasteur said, "Wine is the most healthful, most hygienic of beverages."

Finally, every grade school kid has heard about the Purple Warrior, Alexander the Grape.

'Serious Ear Trouble Unlikely on Apollo 7'

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Despite the colds and clogged sinuses that plagued the Apollo astronauts during most of their flight, space doctors did not anticipate much more serious ear trouble in the astronauts during reentry than with ordinary civilians with colds when they come down from the rarefied atmosphere of high altitude in a plane.

* * *

The difference, of course, is that the space fliers have been living in a reduced atmospheric pressure of five pounds per square inch, and will have to adjust to 14.7 pounds atmospheric pressure at sea level. Air travelers undergo a considerably smaller change.

As the spacecraft descends, a valve in the hull is designed to permit air to enter from the atmosphere and bring up the pressure inside the craft gradually.

* * *

There is a human relief system against pressure changes that should work with it — the eustachian tubes that lead from the nose to the ears.

* * *

In a cold these are blocked by swollen membrane, and outside pressure on the eardrums cannot be countered through the nose.

When the external pressure becomes too great it can push the drum to the point of bursting.

* * *

Usually yawning or swallowing will equalize the air pressure, or pinching the nose with the mouth closed will do the trick.

The advantage in removing the helmets, as the astronauts were permitted to do for the reentry, is that these bubble-type coverings do not allow them to pinch their noses as older designs with faceplates, would have.

MUST BE WORN

They must wear their space suits, however, because of the weightless problem. They could not remain attached to their couches without the suits during their descent.

Christian Missionaries Facing Tougher Going in India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Darkening clouds of suspicion and hostility are settling over Christian missionaries in parts of India.

Though long the target of nationalist groups, missionaries operated fairly freely when Jawaharlal Nehru's Congress party was in almost total control of India's state governments.

The erosion of Congress power and the emergence of less secular-minded parties to positions of influence have soured the atmosphere for missionaries in several states.

★ ★ ★

The Congress-run central government maintains Nehru's fairly tolerant though watchful attitude.

A Home Ministry spokesman says foreign missionaries already in India will be allowed to stay "so long as we don't have anything against them."

NEW MISSIONARIES

No new missionary will be allowed to enter the country unless an Indian Christian is unavailable to do his job, he adds.

This means that few new missionaries are coming to India. The total number of foreign missionaries has remained roughly at 5,000 for five years.

★ ★ ★

The treatment of missionaries in states where the militant pro-Hindu Jana Sangh party has taken root is less tolerant. It has called for throwing all foreign missionaries out of the country.

The most publicized case was the expulsion of the Spanish Jesuit Vincente Ferrer from Maharashtra State last May.

ORGANIZED COOPERATIVE

Father Ferrer organized a successful agricultural cooperative in 700 impoverished villages and in the process antagonized many less successful bureaucrats and politicians—among them the highly vocal Jana Sangh group. He will be allowed to return to India, but not to Maharashtra. It is uncertain which state will receive him.

In Madhya Pradesh State, where the Jana Sangh is a major partner in a non-Congress coalition, the government recently made it an offense to convert a person by "force, allurement or other fraudulent means."

The state's archbishop ordered his Catholic followers to disregard the law "even if it means going to jail."

He said the bill's inclusion of medical and other aid as "illegal allurements" is "a wonderful handle in the hands of mischievous elements to further harass the Christian and other minority communities in the state."

CHARGES DECEIT

Introducing the bill, the Madhya Pradesh home minister, Jana Sanghi, charged that Christian missionaries were deceitfully converting the states non-Hindu tribal hill people.

He claimed there is a Christian conspiracy to create a "belt of antinational forces" throughout eastern India which the next-door state of Orissa already had challenged by enacting a similar bill last December.

★ ★ ★

The Hindustan Times criticized the home minister as having confused nationalism with belonging to another religion.

The reference to a "belt of Christian influence touches an issue that troubles not only the Jana Sangh.

POLITICAL EFFECT

The problem, simply put, is that the powerful Christian missionary influence among the hill peoples of eastern India has had a political effect.

Operating for decades in northeastern Assam and Nagaland, missionaries are widely supposed to have imparted to the hill peoples a high literacy rate—and a consciousness of their difference from the predominantly Hindu population of the plains.

★ ★ ★

This estrangement, possibly furthered but hardly created by the missionaries, smoldered and then erupted in guerrilla warfare in two heavily Christianized areas, Nagaland and the Mizo hills.

The Indian army is trying to quell the two rebellions, which may be aided by Pakistan and Communist China.

Last month the Indian government granted a substate status to the restless, largely Christian hill peoples of Assam—excluding the Mizos—in an attempt to keep them from resorting to guerrilla action.

★ ★ ★

Missionaries thus find themselves caught between the twin pressures of nationalism and national security.

"It's time for us to leave the country for a while," remarked an American Jesuit. "It's the Indians' show for the next few years."

About seven-eighths of an iceberg is submerged.

Producer Wars Against Movie 'Filth'

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Ross Hunter, who looks like a slightly overage Boy Scout, is a Hollywood producer who can, and does, claim: "I have never made a dirty picture and I never will."

ROSS HUNTER
'I'm Not A Hypocrite?'

His antiseptic "Thoroughly Modern Millie" is making more money for Universal Pictures than any other film that studio ever released.

* * *

Hunter has mounted his white charger and is riding ahead, full speed, to stop what he considers to be the filth some Hollywood and European producers spew onto the tarnished silver screen.

* * *

"If we don't take a mirror to ourselves and do what we do in good taste, the government will step in and there will be enforced censorship," he says. "That will take away creativity.'

Hunter, who is busy lining up stars (he has Dean Martin and Helen Hayes set) for his production of Arthur Hailey's best-seller, "Airport," is enlisting the aid of other producers in his campaign.

His remedy for action by the film-going public prescribes, "Stay away from the films and boycott the theaters. Picketing doesn't do any good nor protesting to Congress. Hit the exhibitors, and thus the producers, in the pocketbook."

* * *

An optimist, Hunter is aware of the "Little Mary Sunshine" charges hurled against him by the opposition. His retort:

"Someone said of 'Pillow Talk,' which I made and which started a whole syndrome for escapist movies, that it was not real. Well, what's reality? "We all live stereotyped lives, no matter what our occupation.

"I've always been called Freddy Fan because I love movies. I need that escape. What's wrong with a dream?"

He also names the opposition: "We have to do something about American-International and those exploitation pictures.

"Every single person portrayed in 'Wild in the Streets' is degenerate. The film is a cesspool of degeneracy. As I watched it I thought, 'Thank God I don't have a child.'

"There were only about 100 people in the theater and 70 per cent of the were teen-agers. The picture was advertised 'For Adults Only.' The picture was a dishonest portrayal of America and it was a bore.

QUESTIONS SCENE

"I saw "The Thomas Crown Affair,' which is an entertaining movie. But even that stopped for that one chess playing-kissing scene.

"I asked Norman Jewison why he stopped the action for eight minutes — I know it was that long because I timed it — for kissing and he said, 'I don't know.' I'm not a hypocrite. I tell it to them to their faces.

* * *

"Katharine Ross is about to make a picture for me, and I read an article about her that said she didn't want to be a star. Well, she had better want to be one or she won't be in my picture. And she had better comb her hair and wear lipstick and wash.

* * *

"I'll never forget a shaky star many years ago who had won an Academy Award. She came to me and said, 'I'd love to be in your picture, but I know you have never considered me a lady. Does the part call for one?' I said, 'All parts call for a lady.' "

Computer Service Can Choose Your Hobby

By JIM CROSSLEY
Written for NEA

Hobbies are so important to mental well-being that a computer company has been set up to guide people into the ones which suit their particular talents.

Avocation Guidance, Inc., of Phoenix Ariz., has potential hobbyists answer 200 specific questions. The company feeds these responses into a computer where they are "digested" with 17,000 factors.

Out comes the computer's selection of a number among 141 hobbies that, in its judgment, would be better than tranquilizers to make life take on a more pleasant aspect.

Those in our society who spend their time chin in hand thinking about the future are getting twitches about our growing leisure. They say:

- Typically, a man spends only 15.6 per cent of his time working and 34.8 per cent is available for leisure pursuits—not counting sleeping and other required activities.
- Those least trained for leisure will have the most.
- In many lives leisure brings chaos rather than pleasure—beer, long naps, squabbling, moping and addiction to that substitute for thinking, television.
- Leisure is no setting factor in much of our current national disquiet.
- Stimulating hobbies lead to a feeling of fulfillment of self and even better health.
- They can also provide a material benefit because many such avocations lead to added income.

THERAPEUTIC VALUE

The reason the computer got sicked onto the bogeyman was the desperate needs of employers. Not every man loves the machine he tends.

But it was noticeable that the least apathetic or disturbed workers were those finding outlets for creativity or objectives for accomplishment in hobbies outside the shop.

So a group of well-known doctors and psychiatrists developed the idea. The bulk of the computer's time is spent on assisting industrial personnel departments, though doctors may find in it a new therapy.

Little is missed in the list of 141 pursuits which offer off-the-job interests (though sex and poker are absent). A man might be shaken if the computer spit back at him, leaf collecting, hamster raising, debating, training animals, writing nursery rhymes and sky diving as hobbies that suited him.

On the other hand, the selection could be traveling and touring, sports car rallying, bridge, fishing, electric trains and golf.

WHO COULD RESIST?

And what wife could resist the computer's commandment?

Recommendations are made in several areas including: physical activity, creativity and self-expression, social contacts, competitive activities and restful recreation.

* * *

Along with the list comes a booklet for each item on it, describing the hobby and telling how to get started. The help of the computer is practical in that the normal trial-and-error method of finding hobbies is avoided. Kilns and darkrooms that go unused can waste a good deal of cash.

So far have we come in reducing the burden of work that a man who retires at 60 and lives to 70 will have leisure time in those 10 years that totals up to half of the time he spent on his job.

'FANCY THAT'

Henry George made the case for purposeful spare time occupations in his comment which Avocational Guidance, Inc., quotes:

"Man must be doing somtthing, or fancy that he is doing something, for in him throbs the creative impulse; the mere basker in the sunshine is not a natural, but an abnormal, man."

Actress Shrugs Off Controversy

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK (NEA)—Hardly a day goes by that the porter at Broadway's Alvin Theater isn't called on to wipe spittle from a glass case that protects a large picture of James Earl Jones and Jane Alexander in a tender bedroom scene.

Jane is seen as the white mistress of the first Negro heavyweight champion, Jack Jefferson, portrayed by Jones in "The Great White Hope."

The man and the script are based on the real life story of Jack Johnson, one of boxing's immortals.

"Ask me what I think about a love affair with a Negro," Miss Alexander said reflectively before a performance, "and I'll have to answer that I don't think about it at all. And I don't think many others do either."

QUIET, SENSITIVE

One of the reasons for the rousing and robust success of the play which features such a love affair is the quiet and sensitive performance of the pivotal female character, played by the lovely actress.

The entire production is a big booming affair, both visually and vocally. But, through it all, there is a calm and quiet thread, woven by Miss Alexander in an almost spiritual presence placed squarely in the midst of the turbulence.

"I've read that I underplay the role," the actress said. "Actually I'm not underplaying at all. The play is written that way. You must understand the character to understand why she is so reserved.

"Beneath the surface, the girl is really seething. She is building an emotional stockpile through all the ecstacies and agonies of her interracial affair, and eventually it will explode.

"So you see, it is not really a quiet, underplayed part at all. It is a mounting emotional experience and the effectiveness of its release in the end is determined by the ability to characterize the build-up throughout."

Miss Alexander does not speak with a New England twang although she is a born-and-bred proper Bostonian now living a commuter's life with her husband and four-year-old son in Washington.

She is the daughter of a prominent Boston surgeon, Dr. Thomas B. Quigley, whose great lover for the theater prompted her decision to become an actress.

"He was here for the opening," she said wistfully, "and when he came backstage he was crying. It was more touching than anything that happened on stage and in seconds he had me crying, too.

"Things like that set me off pretty quickly. I think you might say I am emotionally supercharged."

One of the things that does not set her off is tse controversial connotation of the biracial affair.

Realistic Romantic Lee J. Cobb Returns to Stage

LEE J. COBB

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Lee J. Cobb, the burly actor known best for his starring role in "Death of a Salesman," is returning to the stage after a 15-year hiatus. The part that has lured him back is Shakespeare's King Lear.)

NEW YORK (AP) — "In the theater now," and there was gentle grievance in the dark, familiar voice, "the actor is the only one who is expected to be a lover.

"Everyone else is practical, hard-headed. It wasn't so when I began."

* * *

This, continues Lee J. Cobb, is why he's been absent from Broadway 15 years, endlessly doing films and TV that weren't nearly as gratifying. A man must eat to idealize another day, and he is a realistic romantic — "I'm not sentimental about the theater" — mildly self-mocking, accepting, if not exactly liking the way the world spins.

"Very few things in movies are creatively rewarding. But the economic consideration was very much a practical step on my part. I admit it."

The man who earned stardom and enduring career identity as Willy Loman in Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" returns to the stage Nov. 7 in the challenge of "King Lear," his first brush with Shakespeare since apprentice days.

* * *

The production opens the Lincoln Center Repertory season at the Beaumont Theater. Reports from rehearsals are that the 56-year-old headliner, once regarded as difficult, and the young company have experienced salutary, mutual stimulation.

"It's no credit to anyone that he dreams of doing Lear," Cobb deprecates why he said yes to this after turning down uncounted bids since his last visit here in 1963.

His reason is deeper.

"I think any of the great plays involves all of us so deeply, and the areas for mutual, reciprocal involvement are shrinking so fast in the world — I feel so strongly about it — that I would rather the theater replaced a good part of our diplomacy in the world.

"I think it is much more an amalgamating influence for good in the world — culture, not just theater — but for my purposes, theater. More so I think than any other endeavor.

* * *

"I'm not as hopeful of the diplomatic efforts abroad of really creating mutual understanding and peace. In a naive way perhaps I have more confidence in efforts of this kind."

Increasing freedom of the individual both politically and artistically is conceded by the star, whose own troubles during the McCarthy era are a closed chapter, but not without some reservations.

"I think the liberalization of our times has touched the theater as well as other aspects in our lives. But concurrently, irresponsible license has encroached on our avenues of communication and expression as well. Often one is confused for the other.

"The license is the fact that anyone by virtue of his being a citizen can deliver himself of any notion, idea without fear either of bureaucratic censure or opprobrium by his colleagues. He has the right, there is no yardstick. I think it's chaos. I don't like that.

"I don't want to imply that the answer is to take his right away. No, that's part of the price — the exorbitant price in my opinion — that we have to pay for freedom.

"We are going through a period in the arts when never has mediocrity been so disproportionately rewarded as it is now. We've got innovators today who don't know what they're revolting against.

"The ease of dissemination and the exploitation of it for business reasons has encouraged us to artificially autointoxicate impulses however benighted.

"We are also influenced by a contempt which is politically inspired and encouraged, against our heritage. This is doing violence to our own lives."

Thai-Based GIs 'Fathered 2,000 Heirs'

BANGKOK (AP) — American servicemen stationed in Thailand have fathered more than 2,000 illegitimate children in the past four years, the Pearl S. Buck Foundation estimates.

Frank J. Davis, executive director of the Philadelphia-based foundation, said last week his organization has accounted for about 750 Thai-American children and "we think this is only about one-third of the total number."

* * *

Davis, here for talks with the Thai government on care of the children, said their ages range between 1 and 4.

More than 95 per cent of them were born as the result of liaisons between Americans and Thai bar girls and hostess who live with the troops during their tours under an arrangement known as the "hired-wife system."

EMERGENCY CASES

Davis said 150 of the children on the foundation's books, considered "emergency cases," will receive immediate financial help. Thailand has agreed to let the foundation set up projects to counsel the mothers, help support and educate the children and give advice to American families interested in adopting Thai-American children.

It includes representatives of the Thai Red Cross, the American Chamber of Commerce, the YWCA and YMCA and business interests. This organization is still in its formative stage. It seeks to provide an educational fund and to find foster parents.

Registered last week with the government, the organization is known as the Friendship Childrens' Foundation, and its aims in large part are those of the Pearl Buck Foundation.

Those interested in the welfare of the Amerasian babies, as the newspapers have called them, say mixed-blood children have a better chance of acceptance in Thailand than in most Asian countries.

MORE TOLERANT

"Thais are much more tolerant of these children than, say, Koreans are of their mixed-blood children," Davis said.

Thais generally are strongly opposed to relationships between American GIs and Thai women, however. This has been one of the strongest sources of friction between Thailand and the United States in negotiations for a status of forces agreement, which still has to be finished.

The sight of American men kissing girls or walking arm in arm with them on the street has been denounced in the press and by Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn.

Public displays of affection are considered extremely repugnant by Thais.

THAI-VIET BABIES

The 2,600-man Thai regiment known as the Queen's Cobra, which returned recently from a one-year tour of duty in Vietnam, left 200 Thai-Vietnamese babies behind.

These were quickly called "baby Cobras," and plans are afoot to have them brought to Thailand.

Conversion to the Metric System Eyed

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—Conversion to the metric system seems inevitable for the United States, particularly with 90 per cent of the world's people already using it. The question is when and how.

As to when, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who helped draft recently passed federal legislation calling for a three-year study on the ramifications of metric conversion, says that "by 1980 most of the country will be on the metric system."

★ ★ ★

The question of how to switch is the basic purpose of the three-year study. The secretary of commerce, who will coordinate the study, has been directed to make specific recommendations on overcoming the "practical difficulties" involved.

Many expect the biggest practical difficulty to be the cost of changing over, which most estimates put between $10 billion and $20 billion.

HIGHLY UNLIKELY

General Electric Co. estimates that it would cost them $300 million to convert if they redesigned all their equipment, which is highly unlikely.

However, others say that the relevant question is not "what will it cost to convert" but rather "what will it cost not to."

★ ★ ★

Dr. John F. Kincaid, assistant secretary of commerce for science and technology, points out that the metric conversion issue has a critical bearing on the amount of the country's foreign trade and its balance-of-payments.

He believes, along with a number of economists, that until the U.S. switches, it will be denied much of the world market that is developing as the emerging nations industrialize, a market that Dr. Kincaid says will reach "almost astronomical proportions."

One economist states that the Stanford Research Institute estimate of $11 billion to change U.S. industry over to the metric system could be paid for in 16 years by the savings made in teaching only the metric system in grade schools.

He says that 25 per cent of the time spent teaching arithmetic could be saved by the elimination of most common fractions and complicated units of measure, and that this would amount to a $705 million a year savings for all pupils across the country.

★ ★ ★

Heading up the Commerce Department group that will make the three-year study is A. G. McNish, assistant to the director, National Bureau of Standards.

While not wanting to prejudice the results of the study, McNish does not agree that the cost of conversion will run necessarily into the billions.

He says the study will pin down the economic benefits of adopting metric and weigh them against the costs.

McNish says that, from the data obtained, estimates will be made on how fast conversion should go for several industries, so as to keep costs lowest and get the biggest benefits, primarily increased foreign trade.

In addition, the study will explore the costs and problems of teaching the metric system in the country's schools, and of changing consumer transactions to metric, such as buying milk by the liter, meat by the kilogram or carepting by the meter.

When the study is completed, the fireworks will begin. It will be up to Congress to decide specifically how to convert. This will involve the potentially explosive question of the extent to which metric adoption will be mandatory, rather than voluntary.

STAGED BASIS

For example, the British have begun mandatory conversion to metric in a staged basis so that by 1975 every segment of the country will be on metric.

McNish says that he doubts very much that this is the way it will go for the U.S.

He thinks industry would not tolerate a mandatory approach, although he believes federal tax incentives to ease the cost burden where it exists may be provided.

He says it is probable that only consumer transactions would be covered by mandatory federal legislation. And as for teaching metric in the schools, McNish sees this as a state and local matter.

Town Gets Tough on Site for Library

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — In 1906 the city of Fullerton purchased some lots for a site for a city library and placed some rather stringent architectural controls on the land.

These included the provisions that "no barn, stable or outhouse is to be erected within 75 feet of the front lines of said lots."

Basalt is used for road-making.

Park to Preserve World's Tallest Living Things

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — The world's three tallest living things, all California coast redwoods, will be preserved in the 58,000-acre Redwood National Park recently authorized by Congress.

The trees—whose crowns tower 367.6, 365.4 and 364.5 feet above the ground—were discovered by the National Geographic Society along Redwood Creek, in Humboldt County, Calif., in 1963.

The grove also contains the sixth largest known tree, at 352.3 feet.

★ ★ ★

The Tall Trees Area comprises part of 28,201 acres of privately owner land to be acquired for the nation's 35th national park.

SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

Legislation signed by President Johnson on Oct. 2 also foresees the donation by California of three state parks, Del Norte Coast, Jedediah Smith, and Prairie Creek, totaling 27,468 acres, and the acquisition of 2,331 acres of state-owned submerged land.

★ ★ ★

Establishment of the park climaxes a half-century struggle by the Save - the - Redwoods League, the National Geographic Society, and other organizations devoted to conservation.

★ ★ ★

In 1916, the society raised funds to save the giant redwoods (Sequoia gigantea), a species larger in diameter than coast redwoods (Sequoia sempervirens) but not as tall.

★ ★ ★

In 1920, the society condemned irresponsible logging, the redwoods' major enemy.

ANALOGY

Cutting a redwood for railroad ties, a National Geographic article said, is like "lighting one's pipe with a Greek manuscript to save the trouble of reaching for the matches."

Interest in preservation of coast redwoods grew in 1963 when the society financed an ecological survey of the coastal region by the National Park Service. The survey led to several park proposals.

★ ★ ★

In 1964, Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, then president of the society and now chairman of the board of trustees and editor in chief, outlined a plan before President Johnson to acquire forest land along Redwood Creek as the nucleus for a park.

Dr. Grosvenor renewed his plea in the July 1966 issue of the magazine:

★ ★ ★

"A century ago two million acres of redwood forests ranged in ranks as wide as 30 miles from south of San Francisco to Oregon," he wrote. "Today less than a sixth of that acreage of virgin redwoods makes a last stand against the inroads of man."

Nigerian Police Act to End Fake Schools

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — It was a few hours after dawn. The commissioner carefully restrained his men until he was sure activity had started in the building that was their target.

Then they moved. It was a raid.

★ ★ ★

Authorities once again had moved to smash the illegal schools racket.

Using police methods reminiscent of American Prohibition days, Nigerian education officials are trying to stamp out proprietors who found secondary schools with no qualification and fleece thousands of young men and women thirsting for education.

UNQUALIFIED

Akin Adesola, Lagos state education commissioner, discovered during his early morning raid that students were paying between $75.60 and $117.60 for each of three terms a year at an unauthorized school opened for six months.

★ ★ ★

Two university undergraduates holding holiday jobs between their own terms were the highest qualified teachers, he said. Not even the principal was a university graduate.

★ ★ ★

Adesola ordered the school closed along with 50 others flourishing without government approval in the country's capital.

Raids have become common in secondary schools throughout southern Nigeria.

TEACHER'S PLIGHT

When the western state education commissioner appeared unannounced at the Olode Grammar School, 21-year-old teacher Beatrice Alegbeleye burst into tears.

★ ★ ★

She had been at Olode four days, coming from a school the commissioner had ordered closed.

★ ★ ★

"Just as I am settling down the commissioner has come for another surprise inspection," she said. "It is likely that the end will be like the first time, and I will be jobless again."

★ ★ ★

She was right. The commissioner found 38 students, including a class with just one pupil in it. Three of six teachers were absent. The proprietor, who explained he founded the school "to help the state," said he had not seen his headmaster for six weeks. Students were charged $224 a year in a country where per capita income is less than half that amount.

SCHOOL FEES

Secondary school education in Nigeria is not free. It evidently can be profitable.

★ ★ ★

"The typical proprietor is eager to become rich overnight," said Oke Osanyintolu, vice principal of a school supported by Moslems. "He acquires a small piece of land, hurriedly erects a two-story building on it, stuffs it with youths desperate to learn and goes to sleep while the money flows in."

★ ★ ★

Federal and state governments operate their own, heavily subsidized schools. They provide aid grants to private schools, most often operated by missions. However, some private school owners divert government money to their own pockets. They feed on the inexhaustible demand for education and the lack of places in government approved institutions.

In western Nigeria there were, in 1966, 403 unaided secondary schools in contrast to 131 government and government-aided schools. They enrolled 55,000 students. Many of the schools were supported almost entirely by legitimate church missions, but most were not. Many illegal schools never appear in statistics.

GOP's Governor Margin Is Largest in 14 Years

GOVERNORS' RACES — This is how the governors' races shaped up as of this morning. Republicans have been elected or are leading in 13 states; Democrats are elected or are leading in eight states. Before the election, there were 26 Republicans and 24 Democratic governors. It appears the new lineup will be 31 Republicans and 19 Democrats.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans wrested at least six governorships from the Democrats today to roll up the largest statehouse majority for the GOP in 14 years.

By early morning, Republicans had won 11 gubernatorial races and were leading in 2 others. Democrats had won 7 and led in 1 more.

★ ★ ★

There were 26 Republicans and 24 Democratic governors before Tuesday's election. It appeared the new lineup would be 31 Republicans and 19 Democrats.

Marring the GOP victories was the biggest surprise in the statehouse fights. Gov. John H. Chafee, one of the party's brightest young stars, was defeated in his bid for a fourth term in Rhode Island by Democrat Frank Licht, former superior court judge.

W. VIRGINIA TO GOP

Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr., added West Virginia to the GOP list. Moore won a close election over Charleston attorney James Sprouse.

Gov. David F. Cargo narrowly defeated Democrat Fabian Chavez in New Mexico, while in Wisconsin, Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles beat Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette.

★ ★ ★

Richard M. Nixon's coattails helped Russell W. Peterson make it a GOP win in Delaware. Peterson, a DuPont Co. executive, defeated Democratic Gov. Charles L. Terry, 68, a popular chief executive still recovering from a heart attack.

The only other Democratic upset was engineered by Montana Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson who defeated incumbent Republican Gov. Tim Babcock.

ADD STATES

Besides hanging on to the Arizona, and South Dakota statehouses, Republicans added Vermont, Indiana, New Hampshire and Iowa.

The Democrats maintained control in Texas, Missouri, Kansas and Utah.

★ ★ ★

The trend exceeded predictions, from Nixon on down, of GOP statehouse glory. The Republicans had hoped to win only 11 of the 21 races.

But their GOP wins were certain to push the Republican gubernatorial majority beyond the most recent pinnacle of 30 in 1952 when Dwight D. Eisenhower won the White House.

HOLDS LEAD

In Illinois, Richard B. Ogilivie was leading Democratic Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro. Ogilivie, president of the Cook County Board could beat Shapiro who was appointed to fill out the term of Otto Kerner, now a federal judge.

Republican Edgar D. Whitcomb, former secretary of state, is the new Indiana governor, defeating Democrat Robert L. Rock, the lieutenant governor.

★ ★ ★

Walter R. Peterson made it a GOP victory in New Hampshire. The former state House speaker beat Emile R. Bussiere.

Washington Gov. Daniel J. Evans easily beat down the Democratic challenge of Atty. Gen. John J. O'Connell.

In Iowa, Republican Robert Ray, as expected, defeated Paul Franzenburg, state treasurer.

BRIGHTER SIDE

On the Democrats' brighter side, Texas Lt. Gov. Preston Smith won easily over Republican Paul W. Eggers. Utah Gov. Calvin L. Rampton turned back Carl W. Buckner. Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes beat St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence K. Roos.

★ ★ ★

North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy won over Republican Robert P. McCarney. Kansas Gov. Robert Docking defeated Republican Rich Harman, whose reputation was made on the basketball court.

Democratic Lt. Gov. Robert W. Scott was leading Rep. James C. Gardner in North Carolina while Republicans also held leads in Arkansas, West Virginia and New Mexico.

HHH Wins Big in Detroit

By the Associated Press

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey built a substantial vote margin in metropolitan Detroit Tuesday and rolled to a decisive lead over Republican Richard M. Nixon in the race for Michigan's 21 presidential electoral votes.

Humphrey appeared to have the backing of the traditionally Democratic blue collar and Negro vote. Third party candidate George Wallace, who was expected to make inroads into Humphrey's rank-and-file union support, received less than 10 per cent of the popular vote in early returns.

With 52 per cent of the precincts reporting, the unofficial presidential vote was Humphrey, 927,284; Nixon, 774,252; and Wallace, 186,70.

If the trend continued, it would mark the second time that Michigan voters have turned thumbs down on Nixon as their presidential choice. The late John F. Kennedy carried Michigan in the 1960 presidential election by 66,841 votes.

WEEK IN GENESEE

In Genesee County, where Wallace was expected to show his greatest strength, the third party candidate captured about 12 per cent of the popular vote.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey received 57 per cent of the vote in Detroit and its suburbs, an area which Democrats said they would have to carry by a substantial margin to offset Republicans gains in outstate Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Near-record numbers of voters turned out Tuesday to register their presidential choices.

In Congressional races, Michigan's 19 incumbent congressmen were leading in early returns. Only in the 14th district where incumbent Democrat Lucien Nedzi was facing a stern challenge by Republican Peter O'Rourke was the race running nearly neck-and-neck.

CAMPAIGNED HARD

Humphrey campaigned hard in Michigan, concentrating on heavily populated metropolitan Detroit. He made only two trips to outstate Michigan since winning the nomination, speaking at rallies at Battle Creek and Flint.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps Humphrey's greatest obstacles to carrying Michigan were reported movements to third party candidate George Wallace by rank-and-file union members and apathy among black voters.

★ ★ ★

But Humphrey hit these hard during his campaign appearances, reminding union members that the nation has had continued prosperity since Democrats won control of the White House in 1960. During the Eisenhower-Nixon years, Humphrey said, the nation suffered three recessions.

★ ★ ★

He accused Wallace of union-busting and of appealing to a person's prejudice.

GROWING CONCERN

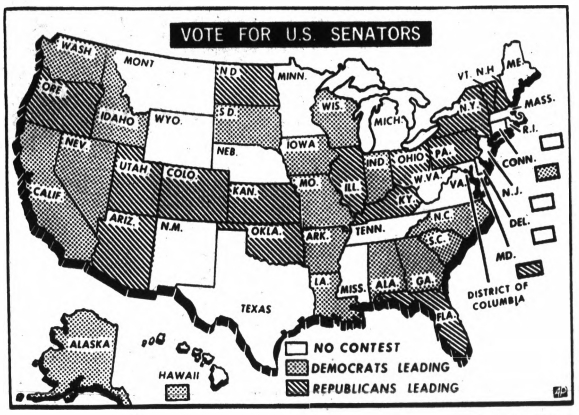

A growing concern among Negroes became apparent when Humphrey walked down the assembly line for Ford's River Rouge plant. Negroes were enthusiastic when shaking the hands of the vice president.

★ ★ ★

National Committeeman Coleman Young remarked at that time that the blacks were displaying an increasing awareness in the election. Neither Nixon nor wallace appealed to the black vote.

★ ★ ★

A massive registration drive by local Democratic organizations also helped swing the balance to Humphrey. More than 500,000 voters were added to the rolls in the state's 16 most populous counties.

SENATE VOTE—This is the Senate election picture as presented this morning. Republicans have won or are leading in 16 states; Democrats have won or are leading in 18 states.

Results on Hawks, Doves Blurred

WASHINGTON (AP)—Victory by both hawks and doves Tuesday blurred the over-all impact of the Vietnam war in key Senate races.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and one of the most outspoken doves, won re-election, while Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., another dove, was defeated.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., another Foreign Relations Committee member who sharply attacked Vietnam policy, was trailing in his bid for reelection.

Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Edward Gurney of Florida were the most prominent hawks to win Senate seats.

GOP VICTORY

Gurney, a Republican member of the House, captured the Senate seat vacated by retiring Democrat George A. Smathers.

Gurney, who advocated carrying the war to North Vietnam and blockading the port of Haiphong, defeated his Democratic opponent, former Gov. LeRoy Collins by a substantial margin.

Collins had called for pushing the Paris peace talks and for gradual de-Americanization of the war.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate four years ago, won back a Senate seat after a campaign in which he said new leadership was needed to win the war.

WIN REELECTION

Goldwater replaced retiring Democrat Carl Hayden.

Frank Church of Idaho and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, two more Senate doves, won re-election.

★ ★ ★

In Maryland, Democratic Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, a supporter of the administration's conduct of the war, was defeated by Republican Rep. Charles McC. Mathias.

★ ★ ★

Mathias had called for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam before President Johnson ordered it last week.

In New York Paul O'Dwyer, a Vietnam peace candidate, failed in his effort to unseat Republican Jacob K. Javits, who is a moderate dove.

Computer Flaw Slows Vote Tally

NEW YORK (AP) — A computer program flaw Tuesday night forced the News Election Service—NES—to suspend use of its prime system midway through the tabulation of returns in the General Election.

NES then switched to an emergency tabulation system using totals produced independently in seven regional centers.

★ ★ ★

J. Richard Eimers, executive director of NES, said: "We have no reason to believe that the national totals for president we produced up to the time we abandoned that system were wrong. The emergency system has corroborated those totals, but because a part of the programming produced unreliable totals for individual states, we were forced to switch completely to the emergency source of returns to insure the production of correct totals."

Hubert Wins Precinct Big

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey carried his home precinct 385 to 128 over Richard Nixon Tuesday. George Wallace got 15 votes.

Humphrey's share of the vote in Marysville Township was the same as when he ran for vice president in 1964.

★ ★ ★

In adjoining Waverly, Humphrey received 214 votes to 30 for Nixon and 11 for Wallace.

The vice president actually lives in Marysville Township, although he calls Waverly — 40 miles west of Minneapolis — his home town. His rambling home is on the shores of Lake Waverly.

Where Will Wallace Go From Here?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "You'd better have your say now," George C. Wallace hollered at his hecklers, "because after Nov. 5th you're through in this country!"

Now that the voters have had their say, is George C. Wallace through in this country's politics?

★ ★ ★

Or, as his campaign literature asks, "Can the son of an Alabama dirt farmer who drove a taxicab and a dump truck and waited on tables to help work his way through college be elected President of the United States" — on a second try, in 1972?

★ ★ ★

Wallace did not really expect to win the presidency this time. But he did expect to perform better in the North than he did. The fact that his victories were confined to five Southern states — Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi — seemed to rebut his argument that his movement was national, not regional.

BLUE COLLAR VOTE

He had expected to get the votes of the lunchpail crowd who had cheered him so lustily at rallies in the industrial states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, New Jersey and New York. He did not win them significantly.

Nor did he win much in the Midwest or the West. He bombed in New England. But in the border states of Maryland, where he won about 15 per cent of the vote, and Kentucky, where he won about 18 per cent, his performance may have determined the outcome. New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes said Wallace's "hate vote" in New Jersey defeated Hubert H. Humphrey in that state.

The difficulty of assessing the "spoiler" role Wallace played is that it's virtually impossible to know which candidate would have won Wallace's votes. The chances are he hurt both — and therefore did not really alter the ultimate outcome of the election.

Americans demonstrated again that they prefer to vote for presidents, not for symbols. Wallace's strength diminished as the election approached and as Americans realized that either Humphrey or Richard M. Nixon would govern for the next four years and that there was a choice to be made between the two.

LEMAY HURT WALLACE

Significantly, Wallace's appeal appeared to fall shortly after he selected retired air force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay as his running mate — and nearly dragged LeMay from the platform when the general began telling a televised news conference about America's "phobia" about nuclear warfare.

With more success than his presidential rivals, Wallace had managed to sidestep the Vietnam issue. The selection of LeMay appeared to label him as a hawk and that may have hurt him with a war-weary public.

★ ★ ★

Even though he didn't do as well as he expected to do, Wallace did win 14 per cent of the popular vote, the best third party showing since 1924, when Proggressive Robert M. LaFollette won 16.6 per cent.

★ ★ ★

And he succeeded in working his way through a labyrinth of state laws to win a place on 50 state ballots. His cause resulted in a significant Supreme Court decision overthrowing Ohio's election law, designed to keep the Ohio ballot safe for two party democracy.

COLLEGE REFORM

His major accomplishment may be one he hardly sought. He may have prodded Congress and the next President to carry through electoral reform, making it impossible for an outsider to become a power broker in the Electoral College and thus making American elections more reflective of the popular will.

Puerto Rico Vote Points to Upset

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Luis A. Ferre, a millionaire industrialist who wants Puerto Rico to be the 51st U.S. state, appeared early Wednesday to have been elected governor in a stunning upset of former Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party.

★ ★ ★

With only two precincts unreported, Ferre, the candidate of the New Progressive party, had a lead of 1,500 votes out of 868,000 cast in Tuesday's election for control of the commonwealth and local governments.

How Statewide Proposals Fared

Clean Water Bonds Approved as...

By the Associated Press

The biggest bond issue ever proposed in Michigan—$335 million for water pollution control—won early approval today with the help of a little boy who took a bath in dirty, fish-littered water.

Proponents of the measures had campaigned hard, using as their attention - getter a photograph of a tow - haired child sitting in a bath tub filled with filthy water, rusty cans and several dead fish. The headline was "God forgive us."

Gov. George Romney also had campaigned for the bond issues, which he proposed last January. Romney said approval would represent "one of the most significant accomplishments of my administration."

PART OF GOAL

The $335 million bond issue, earmarked to help finance a 10-year war on water pollution, would pay part of the estimated $1.2 billion cost of a program aimed at more than 300 Michigan communities.

Targets of the proyram would be 126 municipalities with inadequate sewage treatment plants and another 210 communities with none at all.

Of the proposed $1.2 billion cost, $641 million would go for sewers and facilities to control storm water overflows. Present plans call for this money to come from the local government units.

Remaining is a $568 million task: improving sewage treatment plants, building new ones and constructing interceptor facilities. This is to be financed jointly by federal, state and local governments.

Romney's proposed $335-million in bonds would cover the state's 25 per cent share and more if the federal government failed to appropriate the 50 per cent it should under current formulas.

Some $50 million of the bond issue would build a fund for grants, loans and advances to local units that cannot come up with their own 25 per cent share.

Thus, if the federal government appropriated more than expected, the state would not have to issue all the bonds.

* * *

If, however, the total amount is needed and if the bonds paid 4 per cent over their 30 - year life, they would cost Michigan taxpayers an estimated $565 million.

* * *

Romney has promised that no new taxes would be required and warned that water pollution would get worse if the state failed to act immediately.

ON THE WAY OUT — Police carry a demonstrator with a flag out of Lafayette Square in Washington, D.C., yesterday in breaking up a rally of young people across the street from the White House. The rally was sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society as part of their attempt to stage a nationwide student strike to protest the presidential election.

...Bonds Get OK for Recreation

By the Associated Press

A $100-million bond proposal for development of Michigan's outdoor playgrounds today received a slim margin of approval in early but incomplete returns.

* * *

Gov. George Romney proposed both bond issues last January and campaigned hard for each. In an election eve appeal for voter approval of the bonds, Romney said the smaller issue — Proposition No. 4 — would help develop "needed recreation facilities throughout our state."

* * *

Plans submitted by the State Department of Natural Resources, broke down the proposed borrowing with:

- $40.8 million for parks, including acquisition of 53,000 acres of land for parks; new campsites and parking spaces; construction of buildings and provision of utilities.
- $30 million for development of local facilities, with most of the money to be used for matching grants to cities for such things as swimming pools and skating rinks.

* * *

- $17.7 million for fisheries development. This part of the department plan was inspired by Michigan's fantastic success with the Coho salmon fishing program.
- $7.5 million for land acquisition for wildlife, including hunting lands in Southern Michigan, marginal habitat land around Northern Michigan deer areas and wetlands for game bird habitat.

* * *

- $4 million for forest recreation, including addition of state forest campsites and trails.

Michigan Polls Free of Violence as Voter Turnout Hits a Record

DETROIT (AP) — Violence at Michigan polls failed to materialize Tuesday as voters turned out in record numbers. Agitators—whom Secretary of State James M. Hare warned would try to disrupt the election—stayed away.

Hare said last week that activist groups like Students for a Democratic Society would try to keep voters from the polls through incidents "that may include bombings and Molotov cocktails."

* * *

Hare said such incidents were anticipated especially around the University of Michigan, in Washtenaw County, and Michigan State University, Ingham County.

Law enforcement officials throughout the state geared for possible disturbances. Hare sent more than 80 representatives of his department to observe polling places.

SPECIAL WARNINGS

In some areas elections officials were issued special warnings, urging them to keep handy the telephone numbers of their local police angencies.

* * *

Washtenaw County sheriff's officers, however, reported no disruption and Ingham County officials and the Michigan State Police reported no problems at voting places near MSU.

* * *

Some 600 U-M students—about 2 per cent of the university enrollment—staged a peaceful march from the campus to local offices of the Democratic and Republican parties and candidates.

* * *

They chanted "vote in the streets" and "vote with your feet" and posted what they termed "certificates of death."

CAMPUS RALLY

An earlier rally on the campus featured a song attacking war and "plastic people." About 30 students opposed to the rallying group countered with the University's fight song, "Hail to the Victors."

Hare's warning of anticipated incidents at the polls brought an immediate reply from Gov. George Romney and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who issued a joint statement saying it was "unfortunate" that such reports had been "exaggerated."

TONES STATEMENT DOWN

Hare followed with a toned-down statement repeating his contention that "in literally 99 per cent of the state's (5,383) polling places, no incidents are expected."

Hare added that he was not predicting trouble. Earlier, however, he had told a news ference:

"We are predicting incidents. We certainly are. I don't think that we can anticipate anything less than a dozen incidents."

He later added that "Perhaps exposing the possibility of demonstrations will keep them peacefully and well within the bounds of propriety."

...Graduated Tax Is Turned Down

By the Associated Press

Michigan voters gave an overwhelming "thumbs down" Tuesday to a proposal which would have authorized the Legislature to levy a graduated income tax.

Even in heavily Democratic Wayne County the measure was behind in earily, unofficial returns. Democratic legislators forced the question onto the ballot last year as part of the political maneuvering over fiscal reform.

Michigan's taxpayers now pay a flat-rate income of 2.6 per cent. Its cities are authorized to levy flat-rate taxes of 1 per cent on residents and one-half per cent on nonresidents. Only the city of Detroit is permitted to levy a 2 per cent tax on residents.

Michigan is the only state with a specific constitutional provision forbidding a graduated tax, but the legality of such a levy would be questionable in eight other states.

ENDORSEMENT MADE

The League of Women Voters had endorsed the graduated tax proposal. It said the Legislature and local units of government should be free to consider enactment of graduated taxes.

* * *

Under a flat-rate income tax, all persons pay the same percentage of their income in taxes regardless of the size of the income. Under a graduated tax such as the federal income tax, the percentage of tax paid varies according to the size of the taxable income.

Humphrey Shut Out in Deep South States

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The battle for electoral votes across the South turned into a contest between GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and third party candidate George C. Wallace.

The Democratic standard-bearer, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, won vote-rich Texas—but this appeared to be the only state of the old Confederacy which Humphrey would carry.

* * *

Humphrey seemed on his way to becoming the first Democratic presidential nominee in 100 years to fail to carry a single state in the Deep South.

* * *

Wallace, who made his final campaign appeal in Atlanta and said it was "from the soul of the South," carried four Southern states—Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. He was leading in Arkansas.

Nixon carried Florida, Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina.

Nixon's showing in the South deprived Wallace of the large Southern base of electoral votes he had expected.

* * *

At the same time, the Wallace drive seemed to undercut Republican efforts to strengthen their party in the South.

The brightest spot for Southern Republicans striving to build state party organizations was Florida, where Republican Edward J. Gurney defeated former Gov. Leroy Collins to become the first member of his party elected to the U.S. Senate from Florida since Reconstruction.

But many Wallace supporters tended to vote for the former Alabama governor in the presidential race, and then vote for Democratic candidates in other races.

* * *

For instance, James Allen of Gadsden, Ala., Wallace's lieutenant governor during the third party candidate's term as governor, easily won election to the U.S. Senate, defeating Republican Perry O. Hooper.

* * *

In Georgia, where Wallace polled nearly half the popular vote, Democratic Sen. Herman E. Talmadge won an overwhelming victory over Republican challenger Earl Patton Jr.

* * *

A Democratic veteran of 14 years in Congress, Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina—a state where Nixon was leading—won a solid victory over the GOP nominee, Bob Somers.

. . . Legislators Receive Rebuff

By the Associated Press

Michigan voters slapped down the ambitions to some state lawmakers today by defeating a proposal that would allow them to run for other state offices.

* * *

Lawmakers now are ineligible to run for state office during terms for which they are elected to the House or Senate.

* * *

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled last year that Rep. Melvin DeStigter, R-Hudsonville, could not under the state constitution run for a State Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Harold Volkema, R-Holland.

* * *

DeStigter sponsored and won legislative approval for a bill to overturn Kelley's ruling, but the State Supreme Court—ruling in another case—struck down the law.

* * *

The High Court ruled that Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, could not run for a Saginaw County circuit judgeship.

10 Pct. for Wallace in State

By The Associated Press

George Wallace, the third-party presidential candidate who said Michigan was one of the northern industrial states he would carry on his journey to the White House, was favored by only one of every 10 voters in the state.

* * *

With 59 per cent of the precincts reporting, Wallace's popular vote totaled 213,285 or 10 per cent. By comparison, Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey received 1,041,795 votes and Republican Richard M. Nixon got 872,479.

* * *

In Flint, where Wallace was expected to make a great show of strength among rank-and-file union workers, the former Alabama governor received only 11 per cent of the vote.

* * *

In Wayne, Macomb and Oakland — counties comprising metropolitan Detroit — Wallace also received 11 per cent with more than half of the precincts reporting.

Candidates Have Say as Race Teeters Back and Forth

MEET ED MUSKIE . . . JUNIOR—Democratic vice presidential candidate Edmund Muskie introduces Edmund Jr., 6, nicknamed Ned, at an informal press conference in Waterville, Maine, last night as he awaited election returns.

It's a Donnybrook—HHH

By The Associated Press

Here is what the candidates were saying as the outcome of the presidential race teetered between Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey:

★ ★ ★

"The decision, I'm sure, will not be known until sometime at least late today," said Humphrey who said he was going to bed cheerful. "I believe that it's fair to say that we have done much better than most observers had thought we would and about as good as I thought we would. . .

"This is at best, as we put it, a donnybrook—anything can happen.

"I couldn't possibly be any happier than in the knowledge that we've done the right thing. We have said what we believe; we have spoken the hard facts . . . as we see them."

Humphrey spoke to followers in Minneapolis.

Nixon, in New York, kept silent through the night while spokesmen quoted him as saying he was increasingly confident.

★ ★ ★

"As we go farther west, the popular vote and the electoral vote will lengthen," said Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's director of communications.

★ ★ ★

Asked whether Nixon was surprised by the closeness of the race, Klein replied, "I won't say that he was surprised. But it is closer than we originally expected."

'NOT OVER YET'

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace, leaving a party in Montgomery, Ala., said, "This election is not over yet."

Wallace said he was proud of the vote his American Independent party received and added it demonstrates that "we have spoken for a large segment of the people."

★ ★ ★

Spiro T. Agnew, Nixon's running mate, watched the returns trickle in at home in Annapolis, Md. "I don't think I'll sleep very well," he said, "So I think I'll stick around a while."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, Humphrey's vice presidential choice, dismissed the importance of the vote for Wallace.

"If it goes to the House—it will go to the House because the two leading candidates are so close," he said in Maine. "The Wallace vote isn't really as strong as we thought it might be."

Curtis E. LeMay, Wallace's running mate said his immediate plans were to sleep for two days—no matter who wins the election.

"I would do it over again," LeMay said.

Detroit Voters Reject 10-Mill School Levy

DETROIT (AP) — Despite warnings of "chaos" in the Detroit school system, voters Tuesday rejected a big, 10-mill proposed hike in city school taxes.

Support for the measure had been mediocre, with even the powerful Detroit Parent-Teachers Association refusing to endorse the millage increase.

★ ★ ★

Many opponents said the money was seriously needed but Detroit residents already were bearing a heavy tax burden and additional school money should come from the state or another source.

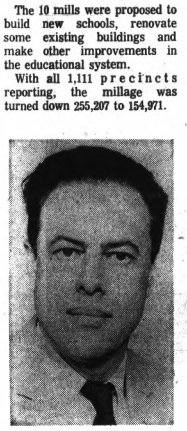

★ ★ ★

Dr. Norman Drachler, superintendent of Detroit schools, warned earlier that public education in the city would "fall into chaos" if the millage was rejected.

★ ★ ★

The 10 mills were proposed to build new schools, renovate some existing buildings and make other improvements in the educational system.

With all 1,111 precincts reporting, the millage was turned down 255,207 to 154,971.

PHILIP T. BARNUM

Heart Patient Loses Race in Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Philip T. Barnum, first person in Michigan to receive a heart transplant, lost an election Tuesday for a seat on the Kalamazoo County Board of Supervisors.

★ ★ ★

Barnum, who is continuing his recovery from the operation at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, received 1,653 votes in unofficial balloting.

★ ★ ★

The winner was Glen R. Haney, 38-year-old branch manager in Kalamazoo for the National Cash Register Co. Haney got 3,080 votes.

Barnum, 49, an accountant, had entered the election before he was hospitalized and a new heart was transplanted to him Sept. 19.

CONVICT'S HEART

The transplant, from the body of a 38-year-old ex-convict, was the 51st in the nation. Barnum had been suffering from a degenerative heart disease known as cardiomyopathy.

Midwest, California Put Nixon Over Top

By the Associated Press

Republican Richard M. Nixon's strength in Midwestern industrial states and California provided the necessary electoral votes to apparently push him over the top in this nip-and-tuck presidential election.

Nixon scored a close victory in Ohio which he easily carried in his 1960 campaign against John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Vice president Hubert H. Humphrey rallied with a late surge of votes from strong Democratic areas that cut into Nixon's lead and kept the outcome in doubt until this morning. But he was unable to overcome the 100,000-vote margin Nixon piled up in early returns last night.

Nixon considered Ohio's 26 votes crucial to winning the White House.

SLOW COUNT

The usual slow vote count in Cleveland and other Democratic strongholds in northeastern Ohio, kept election watchers on the edge of their seats as Humphrey kept inching closer.

With 12,859 of 13,078 precincts reporting, Nixon carried Ohio on 1,766,384 votes, or 46 per cent to Humphrey's 1,658,933, or 44 per cent. Wallace received 461,929, or 10 per cent, of the votes at that point.

★ ★ ★

In Illinois the Republican candidate was backed by a steady stream of downstate votes. These votes helped him overcome the heavy Democratic majority in Cook County early today.

However, the fate of Illinois' 26 electoral votes was held up by 283 missing precincts in Cook County and 914 downstate precincts.

★ ★ ★

With 9,600 of 10,694 precincts reported Nixon had 1,879,285 votes to 1,812,322 for Humphrey. George C. Wallace had 331,448 votes.

The 283 Cook County precincts have an average of 400 to 500 voters each.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the missing precincts, the outcome of the Illinois balloting was snarled by computer errors and mistakes in reporting of votes.

Nixon carried his native state of California today after a fierce fight with Humphrey for the state's crucial 40 electoral votes.

INSURMOUNTABLE LEAD

The Republican presidential nominee built an insurmountable lead over the Democratic vice president, with the only votes left uncounted in the state's Republican strongholds. To the winner went a big bloc of votes that could decide the presidency.

With 95 per cent of the state's precincts reporting, the secretary of state's semiofficial returns showed:

Nixon 3,183,897—47.4 per cent.

Humphrey 3,054,577—45.4 per cent.

George Wallace, the American Independent party candidate, 456,670—6.8 per cent.

TIDE OF SUPPORT

A tide of support from Southern California, where the Republican presidential nominee was born, put him in front of Humphrey, who had united a fragmented party for a surprisingly strong finish.

The only substantial numbers of votes left uncounted were in San Diego County and Orange County — both Republican strongholds — and a small number of precincts in populous Los Angeles County and in northern California.

★ ★ ★

Nixon concentrated heavily on victory in California. This was the state that gave him a narrow win over John F. Kennedy in Nixon's losing bid for the presidency in 1960.

But it was also the state that handed him a crushing defeat when he came back to run for governor in 1962.

First-Time Voter Jams Machine, Gets Paper Ballot

"I think I broke it," the young woman told the Election Board members.

They gave her a paper ballot to fill out.

Voters Act on Variety of Propositions

By MALCOLM BARR
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in five states have authorized spending a total of more than $2.5 billion on pollution control, veterans and education.

But a liquor-by-the-drink proposal failed in the face of strong Mormon opposition in semi-dry Utah. Nevada, where gambling is a major industry, rejected a private lottery. And Nebraska denied 19-year-olds the vote.

★ ★ ★

The issues highlighted local referenda that appeared on the ballots of three-fourths of the states Tuesday. Most were money issues.

The biggest financial proposal was in Illinois, where a measure providing $1 billion for air and water pollution control appeared headed for approval.

POLLUTION FUNDS

New Jersey approved its biggest money proposal in history —$990 million for education, low-cost housing and transportation.

Michigan's largest bond issue ever passed provides $335 million for a 10-year battle against water pollution.

Viryinia Gov. Mills E. Godwin's $81 million bond issue for college and mental hospital construction—a formal break with pay-as-you-go financing for the first time this century—won overwhelming approval.

In Pennsylvania, a plan to give Vietnam war veterans cash bonuses of up to $750 won overwhelming approval. It was the first time the state's citizens voted on a servicemen's bonus during a war.

LIQUOR DEFEAT

Arizonans, meanwhile, junked the state's tax exemption for veterans of World War II.

The Utah liquor referendum ended a hassle that stole campaign attention from Vietnam and the presidential race. The Mormon church, which considers drinking a sin, battled the measure's sponsors, who said the state needed over-the-bar liquor to attract tourists and conventions.

★ ★ ★

Nevada voters soundly rejected a constitional amendment to permit a private lottery, which would have handed 30 per cent of the profits to the state.

State Congressional Lineup Will Remain Exactly the Same

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan voters decided Tuesday they are satisfied with their present congressional delegation—and ticketed all 12 Republican and nine Democratic incumbents for return trips to Washington.

All 19 representatives were reelected by substantial margins.

★ ★ ★

In the 14th District Republican Peter O'Rourke surged into a lead over incumbent Democrat Lucian Nedzi in early counting. Nedzi, who has held the seat since 1961, gradually pulled ahead as returns were counted in heavily Polish Hamtramck, where much of his strength is centered.

The 14th District includes the posh Grosse Pointes, where O'Rourke was favored, Harper Woods, part of northeast Detroit and Hamtramck.

STRONGEST CHALLENGE

O'Rourke posed the strongest challenge Nedzi had faced since he first was elected. A young Grosse Pointe attorney, O'Rourke staged a 200,000 telephone call blitz, along with heavy mailings, TV spots, billboard and newspaper ads.

But in the final week of the campaign, O'Rourke ran short of money, had to cancel several TV spots and concentrate on pushing doorbells.

Nedzi, although a Democrat, was endorsed by the two major Detroit newspapers — both of which supported Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate. In two districts there were rematches of congressional races of two years ago.

In the 2nd District, where the vote had expected to be close, incumbent Republican Marvin Esch led his Democratic opponent, Wes Vivian in nearly every section of the district. Esch took the seat from Vivian in the 1966 contest.

EARLY LEADS

In the 11th District, comprising 22 counties in the Upper Peninsula and extreme northern Lower Michigan, incumbent Republican Philip Ruppe moved into an early lead over Democrat Raymond Clevenger, whom he defeated for the seat in 1966.

Donald Riegel Jr., a Republican who scored a surprise 7th district victory two years ago over the incumbent Democrat, took an early lead over Democrat William Blue, who had featured photographs of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in his advertisements.

★ ★ ★

As expected, the House Republican minority leader, Gerald Ford, scored an easy victory over Democrat Laurence Howard in the 5th; Republican Edward Hutchinson defeated John Martin in the 4th; Republican Garry Brown won easily over Thomas Kennan in the 3rd.

Other Republican victors were Charles Chamberlain in the 6th, James Harvey in the 8th, Guy Vander Jagt in the 9th, Elford Cederberg in the 10th, William Broomfield in the 18th, and Jack McDonald in the 19th.

Democratic winners were John Conyers, who had no opposition in the 1st District, James O'Hara in the 12th, Charles Diggs in the 13th, William Ford in the 15th, John Dingell in the 16th, and Martha Griffiths in the 17th.

Nixon and Sen. McGovern Winners in South Dakota

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—Republican Richard M. Nixon won South Dakota's four electoral votes Tuesday, building on an early lead.

With 21 per cent of the precincts reporting, Nixon had 17,650 or 53 per cent of the votes and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, 13,850 or 42 per cent. Independent candidate George Wallace had 1,548 or 5 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Democratic Sen. George McGovern, meanwhile, was forging a lead over former Gov. Archie Gubbrud, resisting the trend in this traditionally Republican stronghold.

With 325 of South Dakota's 1,582 precincts in, McGovern led 17,307-13,669, holding a 56-44 per cent margin.

Both incumbent Republican congressmen, Rep. Ben Reifel and Rep. E. Y. Berry, won reelection, and GOP gubernatorial candidate Frank Farrer defeated Democratic challenger Robert Chamberlin.

As an assemblywoman in the New York State legislature, Mrs. Chisholm lectured the lawmakers on their political practices, walked out of party caucuses and, more than once, brought out the less chivalrous instincts of the solons who attempted to shout her down.

"I have seen men take a course of action they did not want to take," explains Mrs. Chisholm. "One gentleman asked me, 'Shirley, do you know what fear is?' Why should I be afraid? We're all men and women, I answered. He looked at me and shook his head and walked away. Maybe I'm not a politician."

HAS SUCCEEDED

Politician or not, the wiry, articulate 43-year-old former teacher has succeeded within the labyrinth of New York's political system.

At the Democratic National Convention, she became the first Negro woman to be elected a national committeewoman—from either party—and as a legislator, her name was attached to a goodly share of successful legislation including a bill to give unemployment insurance to domestic workers.

Despite an operation for removal of a benign fibroid tumor that hospitalized her during the three weeks of the congressional campaign, she waged a strong campaign, emphasizing what she called Farmer's johnny-come-lately stance in the Bedford-Stuyvesant community.

★ ★ ★

On street corners she introduced herself as "Fighting Shirley Chisholm" and drew crowds who shouted back, "Sock it to 'em Shirley!"

Usually a picture of composure, Mrs. Chisholm occasionally allowed herself to shout back at men who argued Congress is a place for men," "It doesn't matter what you think, I'm going to win because I'm tough, baby . . ."

"All my life," she explains, "I was told never to give up, to fight for what I believe in . . . Anyone who knows anything about Shirley Chisholm knows I had a rough time."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Chisholm was born in the Bedford-Stuyvesant district she represents and at the age of three, she and two sisters were sent to live with a grandmother in the West Indies while her parents saved money for their education.

As it turned out, Shirley Chisholm didn't need the money, she won scholarships to Brooklyn College where she graduated cum laude and then to Columbia where she received a master's degree in early childhood education.

★ ★ ★

She taught in the public schools, became an educational consultant for the Bureau of Child Welfare, and branched out into community activities.

★ ★ ★

After 19 years of clubhouse politics, she got the Democratic nomination for the Assembly and began the four year rise in public life that brought her to Congress.

Stork Follows State Woman to Vote Booth

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The stork was a fourth party in the election Tuesday at a local voting precinct.

Mrs. Mary Nalbach, 25, and her husband, Paul, went to Plainfield Township precinct five to vote Tuesday morning. There was a long line but Mrs. Nalbach stuck it out, despite:

She started getting labor pains about eight minutes apart. She finally voted and her husband rushed her to Butterworth Hospital where she became the mother of a seven-pound, four-ounce girl, their third child, about four and a half hours after she cast her ballot.

Convenient Powdered Creamer a Boon in Soup Making

How long has it been since you've made your very own soup from scratch? Maybe never for many of today's cooks. It's so easy just to open a can.

Why not be adventuresome and try something new, something not ordinarily "put up" in a can.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps you've looked wonderingly at the Hubbard squash in the market. Buy a piece and transform it into the tantalizingly good French Squash Soup, featured here. (Or, if you prefer, use frozen squash.)

Cauliflower Soup? Why not? It's rich-tasting, creamy, delicious. Or Dutch Potato Soup with its thick, homespun and hearty goodness.

CONVENIENCE FOOD

All of these exceptionally delicious cream soups are offered below in conveniently simplified form. All owe their extra richness and full body to a non-dairy powder creamer.

No need to dash out for fresh cream. Count on this pantry-shelf staple to give your soups unsurpassed creaminess and richness of flavor.

DUTCH POTATO SOUP

6 slices bacon, cut into small pieces
1 cup chopped onion
4 tablespoons flour
1¾ cups powdered creamer
5 cups boiling chicken broth
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
⅛ teaspoon celery seed
Dash of garlic powder
Pinch of thyme
4 medium potatoes, cooked and diced

In a large heavy-bottomed saucepan, combine bacon and onion. Cook until bacon is well done and onions are tender. Blend in flour; cook and stir 1 minute.

★ ★ ★

Add creamer and boiling chicken broth all at once, beating with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until mixture comes to the boil and thickens slightly.

Blend in seasonings and diced potatoes, heat through. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

CREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP

1 large head cauliflower, cooked
6 cups boiling chicken broth
4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons minced celery
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons powdered creamer
¼ teaspoon white pepper
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons water

Divide cauliflower into flowerets; get aside a few for garnish. Place remaining cauliflower and 2 cups of the chicken broth in blender; buzz until cauliflower is pureed.

In heavy-bottomed saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Add onion and celery; cook until onion is golden and celery is tender. Blend in flour; cook and stir 1 minute without coloring.

Add creamer and remaining 4 cups chicken broth all at once, beating with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until sauce comes to the boil and thickens. Blend in pureed cauliflower and pepper.

★ ★ ★

Stir in egg yolks and water, beaten together. Heat through (do not boil). Garnish with reserved cauliflowerets. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Note: For more pronounced cauliflower flavor, soup may be prepared day in advance and reheated.

FRENCH SQUASH SOUP

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups powdered creamer
4 cups boiling chicken broth
2 tablespoons sherry, if desired
2¼ cups mashed, cooked Hubbard squash (or 2 12-ounce boxes frozen squash, thawed)
2 tablespoons minced parsley
¾ teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
½ teaspoon nutmeg

In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Blend in flour; cook and stir 1 minute without coloring. Add powdered cream, then boiling chicken broth all at once, beating with wire whip to blend.

Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until sauce comes to the boil and thickens. Blend in remaining ingredients and heat through. Garnish with chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Hard-cooked eggs eaten out-of-hand or sliced atop small crackers are excellent between-meal snacks.

HOMEMADE SOUP — Creamy, rich and delicious; it's soup made from scratch. The praiseworthy results will be worth whatever effort you make. From top to bottom are Dutch Potato Soup, Cream of Cauliflower Soup and French Squash Soup.

Chocolate Drops Full of Raisins

Good chocolate flavor is found in a cookie that is not overly sweet.

Chocolate Drop Cookies

2 cups sifted regular flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ pound (1 stick) butter or regular margarine
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 large eggs
3 envelopes pre-melted chocolate
½ cup milk
½ cup raisins, rinsed in hot water and drained
½ cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts

On wax paper sift together flour and soda. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in eggs, then chocolate. Stir in flour mixture, alternately with milk, in several additions. Fold in raisins and walnuts.

Drop by level tablespoons, a few inches apart, onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven until firm to the touch — about 10 minutes.

With a wide spatula, remove to wire racks to cool. Store in tightly covered tin box. Makes about 6 dozens.

Divide Cheese for Macaroni Into Two Parts

If your family likes a moist baked macaroni, here's your recipe!

Saucy Macaroni and Cheese

1 package (8 ounces) cut macaroni
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cups milk
½ pound sharp cheddar cheese, grated medium fine

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, seasonings and milk; stir about half of the cheese into the hot sauce. Mix with macaroni.

Turn into buttered round 1½-quart glass casserole — about 7½ inches across and 2½ inches deep. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 25 minutes.

Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Pumpkin Bread Is a Golden Treat

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's a recipe for Pumpkin Bread that we think you'll enjoy down to the last crumb. It has a delicate flavor, an airy texture and slices beautifully.

The recipe comes from Mrs. Blaylock of Chatanooga, Tennessee. Daughter Sandra used to do art work for the women's pages of the New York Herald Tribune.

When Sandy would go home for vacation, Mrs. Balylock would always have her special Pumpkin Bread on hand. Then when Sandy returned to New York, her suitcase would bulge with treats from her mother for Sandra's co-workers on the newspaper.

The late Clementine Paddleford, famous food editor in the good old days of the New York Herald Tribune, loved Mrs. Blaylock's Pumpkin Bread and would look forward to receiving a loaf. Clem would demolish several slices while writing a column, then wrap the remaining loaf to carry home.

Clem used to share goodies with her staff, but the Tennessee Pumpkin Bread was an exception that always went home for future munching. She liked to spread it with cream cheese and serve it with weekend brunch.

We baked the Pumpkin Bread in a non-stick coated pan (no need for greasing) and it slid out in a wink. With canned pumpkin on our market shelves, this delicious loaf is an easy-to-make treat.

Tennessee Pumpkin Bread

1⅔ cups sifted regular flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅓ cup shortening
1⅓ cups sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup canned mashed pumpkin
⅓ cup water
½ cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Grease a regular loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) or use a non stick coated one and do not grease.

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg.

In a medium mixing bowl cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Stir in pumpkin.

Stir in dry ingredients in 4 additions, alternately with water until just smooth; do not overbeat. Fold in nuts. Turn batter into prepared pan.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean 45 to 55 minutes.

Turn out on a wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Store in a tightly covered tin box, loaf will keep nicely for several days. Or wrap tightly and store in refrigerator; bring to room temperature before serving.

For special guests serve the loaf, cooled, after it is freshly baked!

TENNESSEE PUMPKIN BREAD—Made with canned pumpkin and good to the last crumb. Baked in a nonstick coated pan, this loaf slides out like a dream.

FLORENTINES TEA—At your next committee meeting or social event, serve these unforgettable marvels with tea. Tea Florentines, created by The Lipton Kitchens, are golden crisp, lemon-y and full of candied fruits and slivered almonds; they have an unusual tea flavor obtained by adding instant tea powder to the batter. They're worthy of your best china, tea service and linen.

Tea Cookies Are Austrian

Afternoon tea is as much of a ritual with the Viennese as it is with the English, or lately, with many Americans.

It started in the days of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, when the "Jause" — a late afternoon gathering at which elaborate tea tables were set with tempting dainties to accompany the refreshing hot tea and the interesting gossip — were a daily "must."

★ ★ ★

Viennese cooks have always had a reputation for being able to make a masterpiece out of the simplest ingredients: a well-trained cook supposedly had 365 dessert recipes at her fingertips — so it's no wonder that everybody stayed at the "Jause" till the last delectable morsel was gone.

Adapting one of these unforgettaleb marvels from the Viennese, The Lipton Kitchens developed a delicious cookie, golden crisp and full of candied fruits and slivered almonds.

It has a tart touch of lemon and a hint of tea flavor obtained by adding insant tea powder, the modern convenient way to give an extra-ordinarily good taste to the easy-to-make batter.

If you have a committee meeting or a social afternoon coming up at your house, serve these delightfully different cookies. They'll all be gone before your "Jause" is half over.

FLORENTINES TEA

4 eggs
2½ cups confectioners' sugar
½ cup sifted flour
2 tablespoons instnat tea powder
⅛ teaspoon baking powder
1½ cups slivered blanched almonds
1½ cups finely chopped mixed candided fruits
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon cinnamon

In large bowl, beat eggs well; sift in sugar, flour, instant tea powder and baking powder. Add almonds, fruits, lemon rind, vanilla; and cinnamon; blend well.

Drop by teaspoonfuls, 2 inches apart, on cookie sheet lined with foil (shiny side up). Bake 25 minutes at 300 degrees. Remove to rack and cool. Makes about 8 dozen.

Cheese Dough Is Deep Fried for Puffy Bread

Here's an American adaptation of a fascinating hot bread from India.

Cheese Puffs (Poori)

2 cups sifted regular flour
3 tablespoons solid white shortening
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup (lightly packed) medium-grated sharp cheddar cheese
½ to ⅔ cup water

Into flour, with a pastry blender, cut shortening until particles are fine. Stir in salt and cheese, then enough water to make a soft dough. Turn out on prepared pastry cloth and knead until very smooth about 10 minutes.

Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll dough, a small portion at a time, until extremely thin. Cut into 2 ½-inch rounds.

Fry in deep fat heated to 385 degrees until puffed and golden, turning once. Drain well. Reroll leavings of dough, cut and fry these rounds will probably not puff very much, but they will taste delicious.

If puffs are made well ahead of serving, they may be reheated briefly in a moderate oven. They should be served hot. Makes about 3 dozen.

Stick Cinnamon Is the Secret

Make life easy for yourself. Let the small appliances take care of the cooking. Savory "Beef Shanks Veracruz" are slowly cooked to let the flavors blend as they get tender.

★ ★ ★

The secret, of course, is in the seasoning — a trick learned south of the border. Robust hearty oregano is subtly enhanced with the flavor of a cinnamon stick.

This is a trick you can use for beef stew and pot roast equally as well, to make your simmered dinners extra specially good.

Beef Shanks Veracruz

4 large beef shanks
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons seasoning salt
½ teaspoon oregano
1 stick (3-inch) cinnamon
1 cup red dinner wine
½ cup water
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Brown beef shanks in butter until rich dark brown. Sprinkle with seasoning salt during browning. Crush oregano, sprinkle over beef. Add cinnamon stick and wine.

Cover and simmer 2 hours until beef is tender. Combine water and cornstarch. Stir into pan juices until mixture boils and thickens. Makes 4 servings.

Peel Eggs First

Some good cooks like to drop hard-cooked eggs, after they have been peeled, into salted water. A half teaspoon of salt to pint of cold water is a good measurement for half a dozen eggs; let the eggs stand in the salted water for about 10 minutes. This treatment makes eggs taste especially good.

Tangy Sauce Bastes Roast

A wonderfully easy way to oven-cook beef is with a sauce.

Oven Pot Roast with Tomato Sauce
Broccoli French Bread
Tapioca Pudding with Fruit

Oven Pot Roast With Tomato Sauce

3 pound boneless lean chuck pot roast
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 medium or large onion, cut in thin strips
1 medium or large carrot, cut in thin rounds
2 large celery ribs (without leaves), sliced thin
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
½ cup water

The roast should be several inches thick and tied (without extra fat) around the sides. Rub it with a mixture of salt, pepper, ginger and garlic powder. Place in a Dutch oven or similar saucepot.

★ ★ ★

Put onion, carrot and celery around beef; pour tomato sauce and water over vegetables. Cover tightly. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven until meat is tender, about 2 to 2½ hours. Skim fat from sauce; serve sauce with beef.

Or remove beef, then remove vegetables with a slotted spoon; refrigerate, covered, together. Pour clear sauce into a bowl and chill; remove hardened fat; before serving, in a large skillet, heat sauce, vegetables and sliced beef. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Breaded Fish Steaks Top Layer for Hero

There's no trick to getting teen-agers to eat — the trick is getting them to eat something that's good for them.

Dr. Frederick Stare of Harvard University explains that the sooner teen-agers change their diets to lower cholesterol levels, the better. "There is increasing evidence, he says, that our 500,000 annual heart attack victims do not succumb to what they eat in their 50s or 60s. No, the susceptibility started in their earlier years."

★ ★ ★

Teen-agers should cut down on fatty hamburgers, hot dogs and French Fries and eat more fish according to Dr. Stare. Even though mother knows this, however, she finds it hard to find something that appeals to the milkshake and burger crowd.

This hearty, protein-rich hero sandwich solves both problems. The crisp, home style breading on the fish steaks has made them a popular favorite with all age groups. Zesty mustard dressing on the coleslaw base, egg-salad and cheese compelment the fish.

SATURDAY'S HERO SANDWICH

1 loaf Vienna or French bread, about 15 inches long
Butter

Coleslaw layer:

3 cups finely chopped cabbage
⅓ cup mayonnaise
⅓ cup prepared mustard

Egg salad layer:

10 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
½ cup chopped stuffed olives
¼ cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
⅓ cup mayonnaise
½ cup teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Topper:

8 frozen breaded fish steaks, heated
4 slices cheese, cut in half diagonally
8 slices tomato

Heat bread. Cut loaf lengthwise in half and spread with butter. Arrange, cut side up, on a baking sheet.

Coleslaw layer: Combine cabbage with mayonnaise and mustard. Toss gently to mix. Spoon onto bread.

Egg salad layer: Combine hard-cooked eggs, olives, celery, onion, mayonnaise, salt and pepper; toss gently. Spoon onto coleslaw.

Heat breaded fish steaks as directed on package. Arrange alternately with tomato slices and cheese to finish sandwiches. Broil or bake for 1 or 2 minutes or just until cheese begins to melt. Serve immediately. Serves 8.

SATURDAY'S HERO—Saturday's hero sandwich made with fish steaks provides teen-age crowd with food they like. Doctors say the sooner American teens cut down on fatty hamburgers, hot dogs and french fries, the better his chances are of staving off a heart attack in his 40s, 50s or 60s.

It's So Different

Unexpected company? Make Zippy Dip. Beat together 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with mushrooms and 1 jar (5 ounces process bacon cheese spread. Fold in 2 tablespoons sliced green onions. Chill, if desired. Serve with chips or crackers. Makes about 2 cups.

If a few drops of lemon juice are required for a recipe, just stick a fork in one end of a lemon and squeeze out the needed juice instead of cutting the whole lemon in half.

SOUPER SNACK—When the day's work is done and dinner not quite ready, it's time for a "souper-snack"—the way to make a man feel welcome in his castle, while the day's cares unwind. Plan the soup snack to complement the dinner to come—Frisky Sour before a hearty meal, or satisfying green pea or clam chowder, if a light meal is in store.

Soup Treat Is Welcome

For the meat-and-potatoes man, why not dish up a steaming bowl of cream of potato soup, garnished with salami curls or chips. Whatever the variety, be imaginative in how you serve it. Use attractive pottery bowls, or mugs; colorful napkins, and accompany with interesting nibblers.

Frisky Sour

1 can (10½ ounces) condesned beef broth
½ cup water
2 to 3 tablespoons orange or lemon juice
8 ice cubes

In container with leak-proof lid, combine ingredients. Cover and shake well Serve in chilled glasses. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

★ ★ ★

Soup with Salami Chips

1 can (10½ ounces) condesned cream of potato soup
1 soup can milk
3 slices salami

Combine soup and milk. Heat, stirring often, but do not boil. Meanwhile, cut salami into ¾-inch strips. Place in cold skillet and heat, stirring occasionally, until pieces brown and edges curl. Remove from pan and drain in paper towel. Serve warm with soup. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

If a stew or soup is too salty, add a slice of raw potato and boil 5 minutes. Remove the potato.

Zippy Relish Has Minimum Calories

An ingenious condiment for figure conscious diners is easy to make.

1½ teaspoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
4 cups canned tomato juice
1 cup red wine vinegar
3 envelopes (each 1 gram) artificial sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon allspice
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon

In a cup, sprinkle gelatin over the cold water. Into a medium saucepan turn remaining ingredients; stir to dissolve artifical sugar.

Boil gently over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until reduced to 1¾ cups — about 1¼ hours. Remove from heat. Add softened gelatin; stir to dissolve. Makes about 1 pint.

Store in covered jar in refrigerator. If time allows, bring to room temperature before serving.

Family Car Needs Thorough Checkup for Winter

DETROIT (UPI) — Like the song says, it's a long, long while from May to December.

For an automobile, it's longer still from December to May.

* * *

Autumn leaves are falling, and winter is not far off. It's time to get the family buggy in shape to survive the rugged conditions of snow and ice and freezing weather.

If your car has not had a checkup since spring it will need it.

TUNE ENGINE

First thing is a tune-up of the engine. Starting a car in cold weather is tough on the engine and the battery if the distributor points and the condenser or worn or weak. If they've gone more than 20,000 miles, replace them.

Give your battery a thorough check-out. If the battery is more than two years old, chances are it may not last through the winter. Starting a car on a cold winter morning puts a severe strain on the battery. Of all service calls received by auto clubs in the winter, by far the most frequent are those labeled ... "Car won't start. Dead battery."

* * *

A change of oil, is of course, part of regular servicing of a car both winter and summer. But remember this also, as you go into the winter months. In cold weather, there is more condensation in your car's engine, and greater contamination of the oil, leading to a buildup of acids in the oil.

Furthermore, winter driving is more likely to be short trips in which the engine does not get a chance to burn out these contaminants through the exhaust system.

MORE OIL CHANGES

Modern detergent oils with their chemical additives do a pretty good job of neutralizing acids, but they can do only so much. Therefore, you should change oil more frequently during the winter than during the summer.

* * *

The cooling system should be checked thoroughly not only for the level of antifreeze, but to be sure the coolant is relatively clear and there is no danger of blockage because of rust in the system. All cars come equipped with a so-called permanent antifreeze in their cooling systems, but they are not really permanent. Time can degenerate their effectiveness, particularly of the rust inhibitors in them.

If your car has not had an antifreeze change in two years, it would be a good idea to drain and flush the radiator, and install fresh antifreeze. Some persons like to add a can of rust-inhibitor to the system to bolster or refurbish the inhibitor in the antifreeze. It could help.

Erasing Future Dread on Paths We've Tread

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — We are always being admonished to prepare for the future.

But most of us, being the contrary creatures that we are, prefer to relive the past, over and over and over.

* * *

One doesn't have to look very hard to find the reason. The future is a gamble, an unknown full of potential dread and new dragons. The past is a more comfortable place. We have survived its perils, slain its dragons, and turned it into a memory garden which is pleasant indeed to revisit.

LOT OF BLOOMS

There are a lot of blooms in your own memory garden if you can look back and remember when—

The only people who played golf were those who could really afford to.

Hat-check girls looked grateful if you put a dime on the counter to retrieve your bonnet.

* * *

Most workers carried their sandwiches in tin lunch buckets instead of imitation leather briefcases.

One of the hated chores of childhood was having to put blacking on the big pot-bellied coal stove in the living room.

RAZZMATAZZ

When something won your warm approval, the best way you could praise it was to exclaim, "My, that's got real razzmatazz!"

All it took to win a reputation as an iconoclastic intellectual was the ability to quote any three sentences by H. L. Mencken—backwards or forward.

* * *

It cost as much to buy the sack of popcorn as it did to go into the movie.

Every housewife had the dull conviction that sometime during her matrimonial career she'd have to deal with the problem of bedbugs.

A college rebel was any male student who objected to joining the ROTC.

No one had heard of the dangers of a population explosion, and motherhood was the one thing on earth that stood above criticism.

* * *

If you looked at a painting in an art gallery, you could tell at a glance what it was—and whether it was hung right side up.

The quality of a saloon was judged by the variety of its free lunch and whether its brass cuspidors were brightly polished.

DYE DETECTIVE

It was easier to detect a dyed blonde than it was to spot a counterfeit $5 bill.

A poor person was one who bought day-old bread at the bakery because the price was lower.

* * *

Every small town had at least one haunted house that children were afraid to pass by alone after dark.

The proudest possession in many a family's kitchen cabinet was father's gilded moustache cup. Woe to any wife who broke one! The head of the house would be in high dudgeon for weeks.

Chivalry was so rampant that it was regarded as unmanly to hit another fellow if he wore glasses.

Every small boy dreamed of owning a parrot and bringing it to school on his shoulder, so it could astound the classroom by swearing out loud.

* * *

As a Gypsy caravan approached, children fled to the safety of their front porches, mortally certain that, if they didn't, they'd be kidnaped and never see home again.

A juvenile delinquent was a sneaky kid who put rocks in the snowballs he threw at adult passersby.

Girls wore dresses so long that if they had chapped knees nobody knew it but them.

Those were the days! Remember?

THAT LOVE MAY LIVE. . . GIVE!

New Free Cookbook Features Dessert Recipes

New York — What could be a more appropriate setting for the debut of Royal Desserts' newest cookbook than The Royal Box at the Americana? And that's where, from ringside seats, the nation's food editors shared in a musical tribute to the Standard Brands' cookbook library, climaxed by the introduction of "All-American Royal Desserts."

The lavishly illustrated, 36-page book features regional recipe favorites made with gelatins, puddings, pie fillings and no-bake desserts.

"All-American Royal Desserts" includes more than 80 recipes for molded desserts and salads, puddings and parfaits, pies and tarts, cakes and other menu makers culled from all corners of the country.

Special features of the cookbook are important background information on cooking-type vs. instant puddings and custard flavor desserts; how to use fruit-flavored gelatins for whips, snows, mousses, Bavarians and other basic mixtures; and interesting historical highlights on the development of these packaged products.

From the Southeastern section of "All-American Royal Desserts" comes this festive favorite, Eggnog Tarts. Tracing their ancestry back to Colonial times, Eggnog Tarts are a harvest-time special.

This version teams Royal Pineapple Gelatin with eggs and ice cream, laced with brandy extract and topped with grated nutmeg.

For your free copy of "All-American Royal Desserts," write: Standard Brands Educational Service, P.O. Box 2695, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Also available from this address are: "Five Great Cuisines with Planters Peanut Oil," "Fleischmann's New Treasury of Yeast Baking" and our booklet on low-saturated fat diets.

EGGNOG TARTS

1 package (3-ounce) pineapple gelatin
¾ cup boiling water
2 eggs separated
1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
1½ teaspoons brandy extract
10 pastry tart shells, baked and cooled
Nutmeg

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Beat egg yolks and gradually stir in hot gelatin mixture. Add softened ice cream; stir until melted. Blend in brandy extract.

★ ★ ★

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into gelatin mixture. If mixture is thin, chill until of mounding consistency. Spoon into tart shells. Chill until firm. Sprinkle with nutmeg before serving. Makes 10 tarts.

Maple Syrup Is Fine for Flavor

It's the season to serve maple-flavored milk drinks. They are mighty tasty and nutritious, too!

To make Maple Milk Shake: combine 2 or 3 tablespoons maple syrup, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, and 1 cup milk in mixer or shaker. Add a large serving of vanilla ice cream and shake. Makes 1 serving.

It's Mustard Sauce for Ham

A whole ham makes a delicious, thrifty dinner, but left-overs often need some pepping up. A hot mustard sauce helps.

Separate 3 eggs and beat yolks. Blend 2 tablespoons of flour into ½ cup of sugar and beat into yolks. Add to mixture ½ cup of vinegar, 1 (13¾ ounce) can of beef broth, ½ cup of prepared mustard, and ¼ cup of butter or margarine.

★ ★ ★

Cook in double boiler until thickened. Makes about 3 cups.

Substitute Honey

Honey can be used in small amounts in yeast bread without changing the making process. About twice as much honey can be used in a dark bread as in a white bread.

Beef Liver Is Fit for Queen as Stroganoff

Everyone needs a varied collection of sound everyday entree recipes. How else is it possible to take advantage of price specials at the supermarket?

Too, almost everybody needs to develop a repertoire of company recipes suitable for service on special occasions.

Wouldn't it be convenient to find a recipe for an entree that is both everyday and gourmet? Something inexpensive and easy enough to put together any day that would be equally suitable for a party buffet?

★ ★ ★

Here it is. Borrowing from one of the most famous ways of preparing beef, the liver is done "a la Stroganoff" with a magical seasoning ingredient, angostura bitters, that gives noteworthy delicate flavor to the meat.

BEEF LIVER STROGANOFF

6 slices bacon, diced
2 medium onions, chopped
1 tablespoon paprika
1½ pounds beef liver, cut into ½ inch strips
Flour
2 Teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups (1 pt.) sour cream
Hot cooked wide noodles

Fry bacon until crisp. Saute onions in bacon fat until tender.

Sprinkle liver strips with paprika and roll in flour; add to onions and saute until liver is just cooked, about 10 to 15 minutes. Add Angostura, salt, pepper and sour cream.

Stir to blend and cook over low heat until liver is piping hot. Do not boil. Serve spooned over hot cooked noodles. Yield: 6 servings.

Too Fine Pepper Loses Some Flavor

Although from an economic and exploration standpoint, pepper has caused a significant sneeze in the history of the world, quality ground pepper should not provoke such 'achoos.'

Poor grinding often forms a dust-like powder, called 'fines,' which is often found intermixed with the pepper or settled at the bottom of the shaker. This powder has little flavor of its own and can actually deceive one into thinking that a dish is properly seasoned when it is not.

★ ★ ★

Most people use their eye to season with pepper. Cover the surface of eggs with a smatter of pepper specks and they do not necessarily have a zesty, pungent flavor, if most of the specks are fines.

If you are undecided about how to store your eggs in the refrigerator, just leave them in the carton. The carton is one of the best refrigerator storage-containers for eggs.

Beer as Cooking Ingredient Betters Everyday Food

If the thought of planning a party and serving hot dogs as the piece de resistance sets your teeth on edge — maybe you're just not with it!

That's what newspaper food editors found out at an election night beer party during the Newspaper Food Editors Conference.

After days of feasting on new products, exotic creations, rich desserts and inventive recipes, editors discovered that good old American stand-by—the ubiquitous hot dog on a bun — holds up under the stiffest competition.

★ ★ ★

Of course there's a secret. It's in the cooking and the presentation of this seemingly ordinary food — a gastronomic trick which has built a world-wide reputation for the great European sausage makers.

And do you know what the secret is? It's simply cooking the hot dogs and sauerkraut in beer instead of water!

If that sounds too simple to be true, just try it and compare. You'll never use water again.

Sauerkraut is another standard favorite which responds like magic to a simmering infusion of the subtle herbs and hops and malt in beer. The longer you cook it, the better it gets, but it depends on how crisp or soft you like your sauerkraut.

For a party specialty touch, make your own hot dog buns from a hot roll mix made with beer. You'll never notice the beer flavor, incidentally, so it's safe to have several dishes cooked with beer.

HOT DOGS IN BEER

Place desired number of hot dogs in a pan. Pour on enough beer to cover. For best results, let hot dogs marinate in the beer for a couple of hours. If desired, slice an onion into the beer.

★ ★ ★

At serving time, place over medium heat and bring to a rolling boil (the beer will foam up so be ready to turn off). Turn off heat, cover pan, and let hot dogs steep in the beer for 5 minutes. Bring to the table and keep hot over a candle warmer or chafing dish.

SAUERKRAUT IN BEER

Place undrained sauerkraut in a saucepan. Add 2 or 3 strips of bacon, diced. Pour on enough beer to just cover. Stir in about 1 teaspoon of sugar. Bring just to a boil, reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, until liquid is almost absorbed and sauerkraut is as tender as desired, at least 30 minutes.

FANCY FRANKFURTER BUNS

1 (13¾-oz.) package hot roll mix
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¾ cup beer
1 egg

Remove yeast from mix. Place dry ingredients in a bowl and mix in onion, paprika and cheese. Heat beer in a saucepan until lukewarm; add yeast and stir until dissolved; stir in egg.

Add liquid all at once to dry ingredients and mix until a stiff dough is formed. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk.

Punch down and knead lightly on a floured board until smooth. Cut dough into 10 pieces; roll each into a 7-inch long "rope." Place on a cookie sheet and let rise until doubled. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

For a soft crust, brush rolls well with melted butter as they are removed from oven. Split and serve slightly warm. Yield: 10 buns.

Gumdrops as Garnish on Pink Pie

Among the stunning discoveries of the decade by the Go Generation are love and flowers. Well, you can't knock either. Love is definitely here to stay . . . and so are flowers, edible ones, blooming atop Flower Power Pie.

From tots to teens to older folk, Flower Power Pie pleases all guests at any party during the holiday season . . . or any time of the year, for that matter.

In season or out of season, flowers in any form are always welcome . . . and this is about the jolliest and most delectable dessert we've seen in a month of holidays.

★ ★ ★

The filling is pretty, pink, peppermint; the floral decorations are made with sparkling gumdrops. If you can line a pie plate with crisp chocolate wafers you can make the shell . . . that's literally all there is to it.

FLOWER POWER PIE

Chocolate wafers
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup sugar, divided
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1¼ cups milk
¾ teaspoon peppermint extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Red food coloring
Large gumdrops

Place whole chocolate cookies around side and over bottom of 9-inch pie plate. If necessary use small cookie pieces to fill in spaces.

Mix gelatine, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in saucepan. Beat together egg yolks and milk; stir into gelatine mixture. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add peppermint extract.

Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture.

Fold in whipped cream. Add several drops of red food coloring. Turn into prepared pie shell. Chill until firm, 3 or 4 hours. At serving time, garnish with sliced gumdrops arranged to make flowers.

Note: Pie is best served the same day it is made; the cookies soften on long standing.

Prunes, Squash

Simmer chopped prunes with a small amount of water until slightly thickened. Stir in pecan pieces and drop a spoonful into squares of cooked yellow squash. Bake in moderate oven just long enough to heat, about 15 minutes.

Big Quake Feared From Nuclear Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The earth jumps high as a two-story house. More than half a mile below, a great spherical cavern three city blocks across forms as thousands of tons of volcanic rock vanish into vapor, hot as a blazing sun.

For a brief time this man-created hell is contained in a vast glassy bubble. Then, as the vapor cools, the weight of the violated earth above bursts the bubble and a Niagara of rubble cascades through the roof of the cavern.

★ ★ ★

On the surface, the earth settles heavily, dustily back into the crater formed by the underground bubble's collapse.

Outward from the crater the earth's crust ripples in ever-widening circles. The ripples lap at the foundations of cities miles away before they subside.

GAME TABLES ROCK

A mere 120 miles distant, in the glittering towers of Las Vegas, tourists clutch momentarily at gaming tables as the floor rocks.

Thrilled and happy—where else could you experience an earthquake guaranteed to be harmless?—they mutter, "Man, what a thumper." And as the queasy rolling dies, they resume their gambling.

★ ★ ★

"Thumpers" are underground nuclear explosions in the megaton range, equal to a million tons of TNT.

Two have been set off on the Atomic Energy Commission's testing grounds north of Las Vegas this year, and at least one more is expected by year's end.

A MAJOR ISSUE

Although they add to the excitement of a trip to Las Vegas, where you can rock and roll literally as well as musically, underground megaton blasts are rapidly becoming a major issue.

The trouble is that scientists have just learned, somewhat to their surprise, that large underground explosions are followed by a swarm of small earthquakes, unfelt but measurable on delicate instruments called seismometers.

★ ★ ★

Since tremors have been known to trigger other tremors with cumulative effect, some experts are beginning to wonder if some day a thumper might trigger disaster.

On one side of the controversy are civic leaders who want underground testing of superweapons halted pending positive proof that it is safe. Ranged against them are makers of government policy who insist the risk is far outweighed by the need to perfect nuclear weapons.

BIG INDUSTRY

At stake, for Nevadans, is the AEC's $6-million-a-month payroll. They must balance possible loss of the state's second largest industry—topped only by gambling—against the death and damage that could follow a major earthquake. Since Nevada is one of the most quake-prone areas in the country, any likelihood of altering the earth-strain levels is disturbing.

At stake, for the nation, is the urgency to develop warheads for the Sentinel antimissile system, now nearing the deployment stage. If safety requirements—or public resentment—forced the AEC to find a new site for megaton tests, costs would skyrocket.

★ ★ ★

The thumper that started all the furor came last Jan. 19. Although not the most powerful of the more than 250 underground blasts set off in Nevada up to that time—one in December 1966 had a bit more yield—it unexpectedly jolted buildings as far away as Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. It registered 6.2 on the Richter magnitude scale, which pegs major earthquakes at 7.

It was called, for some unexplained reason, Faultless.

Like all nuclear shots, Faultless started out as the brainchild of scientists seeking to create nuclear devices for special purposes: smaller, lighter and more powerful weapons for bombs and warheads, or cleaner explosives for peaceful uses such as digging canals.

MONTHS OF DESIGNING

Months were spent in designing the Faultless device and the instruments, many of them buried with it, which would tell distant observers how it performed. Then came additional months of safety checks, as experts tried to calculate the worst that could happen and guard against it.

Eventually the proposal went to commissioners in Washington, D.C., and to the President, who must approve all use of nuclear material. The time and expense were balanced against the need for the weapon and the shot date was set, some two years after conception.

Meanwhile, in anticipation of such a test, an incredible hole had been bored 3,200 feet deep in a new proving grounds 200 miles north of Las Vegas.

Almost four feet across and yardstick-straight, it called for development of new drilling methods that would be closely watched by the oil and mining industries and eventually would lead to holes, now in the planning stage, more than 12 feet in diameter and more than 5,000 feet deep.

BITS DWARF MEN

These holes, made by bits that dwarf the men who handle them, were necessitated by the 1963 treaty banning nuclear tests in the atmosphere. Their increasing size does not mean that the devices are getting bigger but that the instruments required to measure blast radiations are becoming more numerous and more complex. They are destroyed by the explosion, but not before signals from them have raced through miles of cable to recorders in trailers a safe distance away.

Before Faultless was set off last January, the AEC said it was a calibration test, mainly to determine if larger shots planned for the area would be safe. It was not expected to be felt in distant Las Vegas.

★ ★ ★

But soon after the shot, buildings in Las Vegas swayed sickeningly and a rolling motion was felt in San Francisco, twice as far away.

Flying over the scene later, geologist David Slemmons of the University of Nevada photographed giant cracks in the earth three miles long and with an upward thrust of more than 15 feet.

BLAST IS TRIGGER

In addition to these tangible effects, Faultless triggered other events. Seismologists intensified their studies of earthquake activity after blasts, and big landowners demanded that future megaton testing be postponed until results were known.

★ ★ ★

Nonetheless, an even bigger blast 100 miles closer to Las Vegas was set off April 26 at a slightly greater depth, 3,800 feet. It was called Boxcar and had a magnitude of 6.5.

After checking Faultless and Boxcar, Dr. Alan Ryall of the University of Nevada privately circulated a report showing that all explosions of magnitude 5 or greater were followed by an increase in seismicity—earthquake activity—for at least one day and in some cases up to five days.

Seismologist Ryall also found that after five recent explosions the number of earthquakes recorded was at least twice as great as normal.

ATOMIC UNDERWORLD—This cavern has been blasted out by an underground nuclear explosion, one in a series as part of tests conducted in Nevada by the Atomic Energy Commission. There are fears that the megaton explosions may bring on a sizable earthquake.

City to Let Harambee Use Vacant Crystal Beach Unit

City commissioners last night authorized Harambee's use of one of the vacant units in the city-owned Crystal Beach Housing project for $1. The vote was 4-2.

Terms of the agreement call for the nonprofit housing and redevelopment corporation to pay for heat and electricity and provide liability insurance to protect the city from any claim that might arise.

The lease agreement will allow the corporation to use the building for six months for the nominal charge.

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. and District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin both voted against the proposal.

'NO JUSTIFICATION'

Fowler said he did not think there was justification for allowing the building to be used rent-free. He said Harambee had received a $66,000 grant from the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit for staff personnel and an office. He said Harambee was not "a struggling organization."

Irwin asked Harambee officers to volunteer to pay rent in order to avoid any appearance of a squabble and noted the city is charging rent to Crystal Beach tenants.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Jack Douglas, District 4, said Harambee was a nonprofit corporation which "has something to offer the city of Pontiac." He said he did not want to hinder its cause.

Commissioner Robert F. Jackson, District 5, approving the move, said the city has similar arrangements with other nonprofit corporations, the Pontiac Creative Arts Center and the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

CITY WILL USE

He also noted that the city's relocation officers will be utilizing the same office on a part-time basis.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said rent was a "very, very small matter" and noted the city has given free or subsidized use of its facilities to the OCCEO, the arts council and the Pontiac Area Planning Council.

★ ★ ★

Charles M. Tucker, Harambee president, said whatever funds the firm could save on rent would be used to provide more services for persons living in the community.

He said the group had made arrangements with the city to use of one of the Crystal Beach units because "that's the only area which provides Harambee or any other organization an opportunity to be with the people."

WITHOUT RANCOR

Despite the split vote, discussion of the arrangement seemed without rancor.

Tucker invited any of the commissioners to attend meetings of Harambee to learn what the organization is doing.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Durant, treasurer of Harambee, asked the commission to consider that Harambee may be "the real hope for people who have been deprived for so long."

★ ★ ★

"If we're going to have a unified community . . . this type of program has to succeed . . . it is beyond anybody's personal desire or ambition," he said in asking that minor differences of opinion are not ballooned out of proportion.

City to Buy 5 Lots for New Fire Station

City commissioners last night approved purchase of five vacant lots on South Boulevard W. for construction of a new fire station to serve the southwest section of the city.

★ ★ ★

The station will replace one at W. Wilson and Saginaw, which has been purchased by General Motors for GMC Truck and Coach Division expansion. The city will continue to utilize the fire station by lease agreement with GM until the new station is constructed.

★ ★ ★

The five lots, which will cost the city $10,600 are located about 120 feet west of Motor.

In other action, the commission:

- Approved spending some $6,100 for temporary paving of 500 feet of Bagley, north of Brush, in order to eliminate flooding problems.

Director of Public Works Joseph E. Neipling said the paving would eliminate for a time — until the Clinton River can be rechanneled — severe periodic flooding at that location caused by overflow of the river.

★ ★ ★

- Approved a state highway department proposal to modernize traffic signals on Telegraph at Voorheis and at Elizabeth Lake; along W. Huron at Johnson, and at Genesee and at the intersection of E. Wide Track and Perry.
- Approved allowing Sylvan Lake continued use of the city's sanitary land fill site. Sylvan Lake has been using the landfill for 20 years. Neipling said the village does not add any appreciable amount of waste to the site.
- Set a Nov. 19 public hearing to consider whether a trust fund of $37,715 established in 1937 should be used to defray costs of paving in the city's industrial park.

PARKS FUND

At the time of the trust establishment it was agreed that the money would be used for public improvements in South Park Subdivision, then just constructed. The Industrial Park being established by the city is in the boundaries of South Park Subdivision.

Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant said the funds could be used to defray cost of street paving in the industrial park, estimated at $108,700.

There Is a Catch to Parking Prices

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The man who designed a coin-operated parking lot in downtown Phoenix aparently is proving that many persons will not drive half a block to save 20 cents.

★ ★ ★

The parking lot extends across half a city block, from a busy street on one side to one which is not so busy on the other.

If a driver enters from the busy street, he deposits 50 cents to gain admission to the parking lot. But if he drives half a block and comes in from the other street, he can get into the same parking lot for 30 cents.

★ ★ ★

Most drivers use the 50-cent entrance.

PATIENT VOTERS—Long lines of voters like this one at Lincoln Junior High School in Pontiac yesterday were the rule rather than the exception as a record number of electors went to the polls in Oakland County. The county turnout topped the old high of 303,000 set in the last presidential election four years ago.

Walled Lake Crash Is Fatal

A 45-year-old Detroit man was killed last night as the result of an automobile accident on South Commerce Road in Walled Lake, police said.

Oakland Highway Toll in '68
131
Last Year to Date 125

George E. Opie was pronounced dead about 1:35 a.m. shortly after arrival at Pontiac General Hospital, hospital officials said.

★ ★ ★

Police said Opie's car hit a car driven by Darlene J. Mott, 23, of 9533 Redbud Lake, White Lake Township. Opie's car swerved off the road and hit a tree on Commerce Road, around 12 midnight, police said.

★ ★ ★

Miss Mott was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Cut in Use of City Cars to Be Eyed

A policy change which would drastically reduce the number of employes allowed to use city owned cars to go to and from work will be considered by the City Commission next week.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren last night proposed designating nine city officials who would be able to use city cars on a 24-hour-day basis.

★ ★ ★

The commission requested a week's delay in order to consider the policy more fully.

Use of city cars by employes for personal use and to drive to and from residences has irked several city commissioners for some time, particularly District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, and more recently District 4 Commissioner Jack Douglas.

LONG-STANDING PRACTICE

The practice of allowing city automobiles to be taken out of the city by employes and for personal use had been long standing. At one point earlier this year an investigation revealed that upwards of 45 city employes were allowed to keep the cars overnight.

The latest policy would restrict the use of city cars. All but nine would have to be kept in city storage places at the end of the workday.

★ ★ ★

Those who would be allowed cars on a 24-hour day include the city manager and the heads of the Police, Fire and Public Works Departments plus superintendents of divisions who have to answer emergency calls.

In other action, the commission delayed for at least two weeks consideration of the city's proposed junk car ordinance.

★ ★ ★

Since the ordinance was first approved, the commission has been discussing proposed changes. Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said it would take another couple of weeks to incorporate the proposed changes into the proposed ordinance.

Shelby Woman, Children Die

A 47-year-old Shelby Township mother reportedly took her own life and that of her four children yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Shelby Township police said the bodies of Mrs. William McGee, 47, of 8536 23 Mile and her children Michael, 5, Debbie, 7, Dennis, 9, and David, 12, were found in the family's 1968 auto housed in a garage attached to their home. A hose attached to the exhaust pipe led to the car's interior, police said.

★ ★ ★

The discovery of the bodies was made by Mrs. McGee's husband when he returned from his job at a trucking company shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday, police said.

★ ★ ★

A note found by police was reported by them as having definite suicidal implications. Family problems were stated as the cause, they said.

Wall Street Relieved

Election News Stirs Mart Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street heaved a sigh of relief, and the stock market rallied sharply early today on news that Richard M. Nixon had been declared the unofficial winner of the presidency.

Although Nixon has been regarded as more bullish for stocks than Vice President Humphrey, the main factor in the market's spurt was relief that a deadlocked election had been avoided, analysts said.

Gains outnumbered losses by more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.1 at 352.9, with industrials up 4.5, rails up .3, and utilities up .7.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT

The market rose cautiously on moderately active trading at the start when the outcome of the election remained in doubt. At the end of the first hour, the news that Nixon was the apparent victor had an immediate effect on the market. Prices rose in heavier trading.

* * *

"The tension was very oppressive because of the threat of a deadlock over the presidency that could have lasted for months," said Eldon A. Grimm, vice president of Walston & Co. "There was tremendous relief that the election didn't have to go to the House of Representatives."

McLain 'Finally' Has His Greatest Honor

Scribes Reveal Unanimous Nod for MVP Award

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain has probably said, "this is the greatest thing that ever happened to me," about a half dozen times this year.

Each time it was for something more than the time before.

But Tuesday, the often brash Tiger pitcher received what is perhaps the ultimate honor in baseball. He was unanimously named Most Valuable Player in the American League.

★ ★ ★

"This the greatest honor I have ever had bestowed on me," he said. "I seriously didn't think I would get it."

Jim Campbell, Tiger general manager, gave him the news Monday before any of the news media were aware of the decision.

GOOSE BUMPS

"When Jimmy Campbell told me about it it gave me goose bumps," McLain said. "It feels wonderful."

The 24-year-old right-hander is still negotiating his 1969 contract with Tiger management and he reportedly is seeking a salary of up to $100,000. How would the MVP award affect his contract talks?

"I don't think it will hurt it," he said with a laugh.

★ ★ ★

"There could be an announcement on salary within the next week or so," he said.

McLain achieved many honors this year. He became the first American League hurler to win 30 games and first Tiger ever to win 30. He finished the season with a 31-6 record.

He led Detroit to its first pennant since 1945 and, although Mickey Lolich became the star pitcher in the World Series, McLain won one game as the Tigers beat the St. Louis Cardinals four games to three.

Last week he was named Cy Young Award winner for being voted the best pitcher in the American League. Until Tuesday McLain had said that was "the greatest honor ever put on me."

FATHER-IN-LAW

Twenty years ago Lou Boudreau, McLain's father-in-law, won the award while a shortstop with the Cleveland Indians.

"My son is one year old now," said McLain, "Maybe 20 years from now he'll win it."

McLain is the first AL pitcher to win the MVP Award by a unanimous vote and the first to win it at all since Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz in 1952. The last Tiger to win the award was Hal Newhouser, also a pitcher, in 1944 and 1945.

★ ★ ★

McLain was placed first on every ballot by the 20 members of the voting committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The only other players in either league to get all the top votes were: Orlando Cepeda, St. Louis, 1967; Frank Robinson, Baltimore, 1966; Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees, 1956; Al Rosen, Cleveland, 1953; and Hank Greenberg, Detroit, 1935.

★ ★ ★

Catcher Bill Freehan, Denny's battery mate, was runner-up in the balloting with 27 players receiving votes from first through 10th. Fourteen points were awarded for first, nine for second and so forth, down to one for 10th. McLain got 280 points to Freehan's 161.

Others in the top 10 were: Ken Harrelson, Boston, 103; Willie Horton, Detroit, 102; Dave McNally, Baltimore, 78; Louis Tiant, Cleveland, 78; Dick Mcauliffe, Detroit, 71; Frank Howard, Washington, 63; Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, 50; and Mel Stottlemyre, New York, 43.

★ ★ ★

Yastrzemski was last year's winner.

The National League's MVP will be announced next Wednesday.

NO HOLDING THESE TIGERS—"Dandy" Denny McLain, the ace pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, and three-year-old daughter Kris, his No. 1 admirer, relax with a stuffed "pet tiger" at the McLains' home in Beverly Hills after the disclosure that the American League's first 31-game winner since 1931 has been named the circuit's Most Valuable Player by an unprecendented unanimous vote. He is the first major league pitcher ever honored thusly. Last week he was a unanimous choice for the AL's Cy Young Award.

Browns' Leader Praises Leroy Kelly, Bill Nelsen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Browns' co-captain Jim Houston walked over to Leroy Kelly after Sunday's victory in San Francisco and said:

"You should get it, but what can you do with another game ball?"

Kelly didn't mind. Anyhow, Houston already had presented the game ball to himself—on his 31st birthday.

Houston's point was well taken, though. The Browns could probably give Kelly a ball after each game. That's how important the running back is to Cleveland.

Kelly had the best day of his five-year career Sunday with 174 yards in 27 carries. He now has 763 yards in 146 tries (4.9 yard average) and is second to Gayle Sayers of Chicago for the National Football League's rushing title.

REACHES PEAK

"I guess I just was feeling particularly good," Kelly said. "I'm sort of in the peak of physical condition at this point in the season."

Kelly, who had to fill a big pair of shoes when Jim Brown quit football, now wears the big shoes. His running partner, Ernie Green, has been out most of the season, so NFL defenders have been able to key on the 6-foot, 205-pounder from Morgan State.

★ ★ ★

"Leroy is getting used to playing without Ernie," Coach Blanton Collier said Tuesday. "Kelly did a masterpiece of inside running. It's the thing Jim Brown could do—to be able to move in close quarters."

The Browns, who host New Orleans this Sunday, are tied with St. Louis (5-3) in the NFL's Century Division. Cleveland has won four of its last five after a backfield shakeup.

Bill Nelsen is at quarterback and Houston had a few things to say about him.

"Bill brings the extra out of a player," the Browns' linebacker said. "This confident attitude he displays—and it's not cockiness —carries over to the defense, too."

Red Wings Farm Goalie Edwards to Fort Worth

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings have assigned goalie Roy Edwards to a minor league farm club an announced that veteran NHL goaltender Terry Sawchuk will be in the nets tonight against Chicago.

It will be Sawchuk's second appearance this year as a Red Wing since being acquired Oct. 8 in a trade with the Los Angeles Kings for forward Jimmy Peters Jr. Sawchuk played Saturday night against Montreal and lost, 2-1.

EXPENDABLE PLAYER

Because NHL rules allow each team to dress only two goalies for each game Edwards was expendable and thus sent to Detroit's Fort Worth farm club. Roger Crozier is the Wings' first-string netminder but he has been bothered by the flu for almost a week.

The Red Wings are mired in last place in the Eastern Division of the National Hockey League with seven points. Montreal leads with 15.

There were no games Tuesday.

U. of M. Star Stands Out

Ron Johnson Earns Plaudits

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan halfback Ron Johnson is a "team" player who says "Personal records aren't going to be my chief concern by any means." But despite the modesty, the Wolverines' captain and All-American candidate has etched his name alongside Michigan's all-time great ball carriers.

Johnson, a 21-year-old, 6-foot-1, 196-pound senior for Detroit, was the first Negro named as captain of the Wolverines and the first halfback named to the job in more than 20 years.

★ ★ ★

"It's quite challenging and a great honor for me," Johnson said earlier this year. "I'm going to have to work harder because I must serve as an example to the rest of the team."

And what an example he has been.

Last year the B-average business major piled up 1,005 yards rushing to break the modern record held previously by Tom Harmon.

PASSES WESTFALL

In Michigan's 35-0 romp over Northwestern last Saturday Johnson carried the ball 24 times to give him 416 carries in his career, 10 more than Harmon. His 129 yards picked up in the game put him in second place among all-time Wolverine rushers with 1,951 yards. Harmon tops the list with 2,134 and Bob Westfall is now third with 1,859.

Johnson also set an individual game rushing record with 270 yards against Navy last year; set a Big Ten record by carrying the ball 42 times against Northwestern, and tied a league mark by handling 18 kickoff returns.

★ ★ ★

Last year he scored eight touchdowns and in the first seven games this season has already scored 10. This year he has churned for 946 yards rushing. What's more, Johnson's records have been almost exclusively crowded in the last two seasons. He only picked up 44 yards rushing his sophomore year.

His brother Alex is a major league baseball player with the National League Cincinnati Reds.

GOOD BALANCE

"Michigan Coach Bump Elliott says Johnson's unusually fine balance and remarkable strength are the keys to his running success.

"Ron just isn't knocked off his feet easily," Elliott claims. "Then, too, he has deceptive speed and the judgment or instinct to pick exactly the right hole."

"He's a fine pass receiver and blocker as well as a runner and that's important," Elliott adds.

He's one of the finest captains we've had in my 10 years at Michigan. Leadership is so important in football and Ron gives us this in an exceptional manner."

Praise doesn't only come from Johnson's coach.

"Johnson is the finest back we'll see at Duke," said the Blue Devils' coach, Tom Harp, after the Wolverines beat Duke 31-10 early this season and Johnson picked up 205 yards.

Bill Elias of Navy said after a 32-9 loss to Michigan, "Johnson is in the class of Simpson and Keyes." He was referring to O. J. Simpson of Southern California and Leroy Keyes of Purdue.

California 9's Talking Trades

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Angels and Los Angeles Dodgers stood front and center Tuesday in baseball trade speculation that took in names like Richie Allen, Jim Fregosi, Felipe Alou, Joe Torre, Tom Haller and Tony Perez.

The Angels reportedly are negotiating a deal with the Philadelphia Phillies for the tempermental Allen, a slugging outfielder who also has been mentioned as bound for the New York Mets.

★ ★ ★

"Anyone would want Allen," said California's new general manager Dick Walsh with a smile.

He said he had talked with Phillies' general manager John Quinn about Allen and that the Phils have a list of young Angels to mull over in case they are interested. But he emphasized that matters are far from definite.

FREGOSI AVAILABLE

He said the Angels have no indespensible players, but quickly added that the price would have to be right for such a player as All-Star shortstop Jim Fregosi.

Dick Miller of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said Tuesday the Angeles are interested in acquiring first baseman Danny Cater from Oakland and either the slugging Perez, a third baseman; first baseman Lee Maye, or catcher Don Pavletich from Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

However, Walsh said he knows nothing about such a deal.

Speculation also was revived that the Dodgers might part with catcher Haller, their top hitter last season, and veteran centerfielder Willie Davis for Atlanta's power-hitting catcher Joe Torre and outfielder Felipe Alou, a .317 hitter last season.

With most of the Los Angeles brass out of the city, there was no comment on such a deal, which has been mentioned earlier, but Bob Hunter of the Herald-Examiner said "I think this stunner has already been completed."

MIAA Names Runner From Hope College for MVP Accolade

OLIVET (AP) — A durable Hope College runner was named the Most Valuable Player among Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association cross country runners Tuesday.

Rick Bruggers won the honor and was named to the All-MIAA team after his victory in 20 minutes and 14 seconds in a seven team meet at Olivet. Kalamazoo took the team victory.

Also named to the All-MIAA squad were John Wismer and Craig Ban Voorhees of Kalamazoo, Bill Lautenbach of Calvin, and Don Yehle of Alma.

Two Hairstons Meet Tonight in Cobo Arena

Seattle's Al Played at Mount Clemens; Piston Not Related

DETROIT (AP)—There will be two Hairstons in the area at Cobo Arena tonight when the Pistons take on the Seattle Supersonics. One is a Detroit sparkplug, Happy Hairston and the other is Seattle rookie Al Hairston, a product of Mount Clemens High School.

Seattle's Hairston came to the Supersonics via stints at Port Huron J.C. and Bowling Green University. He's a 6-foot-1 and has been used in a utility role at guard by Seattle.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons' Hairston, now in his fifth season in the National Basketball Association and his second campaign with Detroit, is averaging 14.9 points a game and is second in rebounds to Dave DeBusschere, 97-87.

"He's a real speedster," said Piston Coach Donnis Buetcher who credits Happy with sparking Detroit into the NBA playoffs last season. Hairston, who came to the Pistons from Cincinnati averaged 18.8 points a game in the 26 games he played in for Detroit.

SUMMER WORK

Off the court, Happy has a strong feeling for Seattle where he spent last summer working with ghetto youngsters lecturing on Afro-American History and consumer education.

Al Hairston — no relation — meanwhile, will have some local support tonight when basketball coach Walt Koepke leads a delegation from Mount Clemens High to the game. The former Mount Clemens star led the Bathers to two district crowns while winning All-State renognition.

The Pistons tonight will be shooting for their fifth win in their six starts and if successful will clear the .500 mark.

Football Players Meeting Slated

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —The National and American Football League Players Association will hold its first convention here Jan. 9-16, Detroit Lions guard John Gordy, the group's president, said Tuesday.

He said about 150 football players will converge on this desert resort city. No agenda has been released.

Columbia Ends Skid

Ivy Coach Is Honored

NEW YORK (UPI) — Columbia University is a great educational institution but it's not the kind of place a young, ambitious football coach would usually pick to mold a good college football team.

Frank Navarro, 37, who lost just five games in the last four years at Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., and was the UPI New England Coach of the Year last season, admits he "never gave a thought" to coaching at Columbia.

★ ★ ★

That's why it's somewhat ironic that Navarro is now the head football coach at Columbia and received the accolade of UPI College Coach of the Week today for reaching the first landmark in his building program to make the Lions a "competitive" Ivy League team.

★ ★ ★

Columbia snapped a two-year nine-game losing streak Saturday by edging Cornell, 34-25, to give Navarro his first victory with the Lions after five straight losses this year.

ASSISTANT COACH

Navarro, who served as an assistant line coach for Lou Little at Columbia for a year before going to Williams in 1956, figures the victory is the first step back for the Lions.

Navarro never figured he would be doing this rebuilding job when Columbia started search for acoach to replace Buff Donelli, who resigned after a 30-67-2 mark in 10 years.

★ ★ ★

"When they contacted me, I was wondering about the attitude of the administration," Navarro said. "When I came down to talk to them, they sold me on the idea that things were going to change and I became excited about it."

Columbia has the reputation of not particularly caring about football, and its campus, located in New York City on the fringe of Harlem, is not exactly the picture of a traditional Ivy League campus.

COMPLICATION

Navarro's task was complicated, too, by the riots at Columbia last spring.

But Navarro is happy to report the turmoil didn't hurt his recruiting.

"We have the best freshman team in our history, it's won two straight games for the first time. We had done most of our recruiting before the riots."

It'll be a while before you'll really be able to notice the changes on the field at Columbia.

But Navarro insists Columbia will eventually be "competitive" in the Ivy League. He has a way of making you believe he's right.

Elgin Baylor Keeps LA Chasing Rockets

By The Associated Press

Elgin Baylor pulled off a last-minute rescue act, but it didn't help his Los Angeles Lakers gain any ground on San Diego in the National Basketball Association's torrid Western Division race.

Baylor whipped in a 10-foot jumper at the gun to tie it, then contributed four points in over-time Tuesday night as the Lakers put down the Chicago Bulls 112-109.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, surprising San Diego survived a late New York rally for a 113-109 conquest in the night's only other NBA game.

That left the Rockets on top of the Western Division with a 6-3 mark, just a shade ahead of Los Angeles, 6-4.

Oakland rode a 30-point outburst by Rick Barry to a 135-116 victory over the Dallas Chaparrals in the night's only American Basketball Association match.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles led 78-77 after three quarters and increased it to 91-85 with four minutes left before Chicago rallied for a 100-100 tie with 45 seconds to go.

The Bulls' Flynn Robinson scored with just seven seconds left before Baylor's desperation shot sent the game into overtime.

HIGH SCORER

Baylor finished with 33 points, while Jerry Sloan had 25 for Chicago.

New York used a dunk shot by Cazzie Russell with 10 seconds left to trim its deficit to 111-109, but San Diego's Pat Riley countered with a layup with a second to go to secure the Rockets' third straight victory.

Don Kojis led San Diego with 28 and John Block and rookie Elvin Hayes each contributed 25. Russell topped New York with 26.

★ ★ ★

Oakland, with a commanding lead in the ABA's Western Division, bulled to a 53-42 halftime command and coasted the rest of the way to its sixth triumph in seven games. It was the second straight loss for winless Dallas.

Rookie Warren Armstrong had 22 points for the Oaks. Charles Beasley led Dallas with 17.

Bill Casper Awaits 2 Shots at Record

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — With two tournaments to go, Billy Casper is closing in on pro golf's all-time money winning mark with a total 1968 bankroll of $203,769, according to PGA figures released Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Jack Nicklaus won a record total $211,000 last year. His $155,285 total this year puts him in second place behind Casper.

He is followed by young Tom Weiskopf with $152,946 and aging Julius Boros with $148,310.

Rounding out the top 10 were George Archer, $135,739; Arnold Palmer, $111,977; Lee Trevino, $107,007; Dan Sikes, $106,780; Miller Barber, $103,124; and Bob Lunn, $101,379.

Top Mid-America Player Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Roland Moss of Toledo and Steve Robinson of Ohio University are the back and lineman of the week in the Mid-American Conference.

★ ★ ★

Moss, 6-foot-3, 220-pound tailback, was honored for play in which he gained 139 yards in 21 carries in last week's losing cause against Miami.

Robinson, 6-1, 196-pound junior, anchored Ohio's defensive unit against Western Michigan, participating in 25 tackles.

Point Totals Keep Soaring in Grid Tilts

Simpson, Morris Pace Rushing; Also Battle for TD Honors

By The Associated Press

College football this season is producing some of the highest scoring in years, and the reason is not strictly due to the forward pass.

If anything, the 1968 college campaign probably will go down in the books as the year of the rushers—the fellows who move the ball on the ground.

It's almost certain that at least 16 players—compared with the 1967 record of 10—will finish the season with more than 1,000 yards rushing. Seven players already are over the 2,000-yard mark for their careers and nine others are in reach of that goal.

The country's leading ground gainer among major colleges is Gene Morris of West Texas State, who has piled up 1,199 yards in eight games. His closest challenger is O. J. Simpson of Southern California, who picked up 67 against Oregon last week for a total of 1,047 in six games.

SCORING DUEL

Morris and Simpson also are engaged in a duel for scoring honors, each with 15 touchdowns for 90 points and the lead in this race.

Other top rushers of the year include Roland Moss of Toledo, 933 yards; Bill Enyart of Oregon State, 913; Ron Poe James of New Mexico State, 911; Steve Owens of Oklahoma, 910; Ron Johnson of Michigan, 902, and Paul Gipson of Houston, 861.

★ ★ ★

Morris, held to only 85 yards by New Mexico State last Saturday, nevertheless joined the exclusive 3,000-plus club, with 3,016 yards rushing during his career. Only eight other men in the past have made it. Simpson has 2,462.

Other players who are better than 2,000 yards for their career are Buddy Gore of Clemson, 2,437 Frank Quayle of Virginia, 2,213; Moss, 2,209; Gipson, 2,080, and Larry Smith of Florida, 2,037.

PASSING PASSER

Chuck Hixson of Southern Methodist is both the country's leading passer and its total offense pace-setter. He has completed 195 of 341 passes for 2,217 yards and 12 touchdowns. He has lost ground rushing, having a total of 2,128 yards in the air and on the ground, but he has been responsible for 17 touchdowns.

MSU Coaches Impressed

Grappled Way to Grid Role

By FLETCHER SPEARS

There are many good football players around and college scouts are a busy lot as they prowl through the hinterlands seeking them out.

★ ★ ★

The best place to find the talent, of course, is on the football field. Another place is on the wrestling mat and a number of blue-chip players have been unveiled in this arena.

MAKES GRADE

One would have to be tackle Craig Wycinsky, a 6-2, 225-pound junior, who studies business courses during the week and plays football for Michigan State on Saturday afternoons.

★ ★ ★

Craig, 20, was a fullback in his prep days at North Farmington High School and a good one. During his junior and senior years — 1964 and 1965 — he helped spark the Raiders to a 16-1-1 record, including a 9-0 record in his senior year.

Quick glances were enough for most scouts. They weren't interested.

TRIES WRESTLING

Wrestling followed football so Wycinsky took a hand here and it eventually led him to football at Michigan State.

CRAIG WYCINSKY
From Wrestling to Football

"I saw him (Wycinsky) at the Oakland County meet at Rochester," recalls Dave Smith, now an assistant to Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty. At that time Smith was head football coach at Walled Lake and he officiated during the wrestling season.

WHO'S HE?

"Who's that big guy?" Smith then asked Ron Holland, Wycinsky's football coach. "Holland went on to tell me how dedicated the young man was to the game. I had talked to him earlier, asking him if he had any prospects (Big Ten). He told me 'no' at the time."

★ ★ ★

When Smith had talked to him about the football team, Holland was thinking of Wycinsky in terms of a college fullback. "I didn't feel he had the speed for a fullback," said Holland, who was right about Wycinsky's dedication.

MSU ALERTED

After watching the young man wrestle, Smith alerted MSU assistant Dan Boisture — now head coach at Eastern Michigan University — who in turn passed the information along to Duffy.

MSU coaches had a look at Wycinsky in the state wrestling tournament and they were impressed. They looked at some game films and made their pitch for the hard-working youngster.

JOINS SPARTANS

Wycinsky accepted. He showed enough drive and determination last spring that the coaches gave him the starting assignment at right tackle, and the way he's playing the position will make it difficult for anyone to dislodge him.

★ ★ ★

Wycinsky and his teammates will entertain Indiana this Saturday. Indiana, defending co-champion of the Big Ten, will visit Spartan Stadium with a 5-2 record. The Spartans of MSU, on the other hand, are 4-3, and they'll be coming into the game off a tough 25-20 loss to Ohio State last Saturday in Columbus.

Michigan State Gridders Can't Look Beyond IU

EAST LANSING (AP)—There once was a time when Michigan State could figure on any football meeting with Indiana as an automatic win.

The Spartans could afford to look beyond the Hoosiers to the next opponent.

★ ★ ★

Since the revival of the modern series in 1950, Michigan State has won 15 games and Indiana only three.

Even last year, when the Spartans were down, they lost only by a 14-13 score.

Not so this season.

"The most explosive team in the Big Ten," says Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty of the 1968 version of the Hoosiers.

NO BIG PLAY

Michigan State seems to have lost the knack of pulling the big play and has a 4-3 won and lost season. The Spartans were ahead on statistics but behind on the scoreboard after the Michigan and Minnesota games.

Four lost fumbles and three intercepted passes contributed to the 25-20 loss to Ohio State.

Indiana is 5-2 won and lost overall and 3-1 in the Big Ten. The Hoosiers have mastered the trick this year of manufacturing victories out of seemingly lost causes.

★ ★ ★

"They are not just luck, those close victories," said Daugherty of Indiana. "There is something about a winning momentum, which the Hoosiers certainly have, which causes players to make their own breaks and take advantage of them. It's a matter of, a positive approach."

MSU coaches are putting all the emphasis on defense this week.

FAST RECEIVERS

Game films show them quarterback Harry Gonso has a fine collection of running backs and some fast receivers.

The coaches also are stressing ball control, trying to cure the Spartans of their fit of fumbles.

Daugherty said he still will go along with sophomore quarterback Bill Triplett against Indiana. Triplett called a good game, the coach said, despite the loss to Ohio State.

Spartan linebacker Rich Saul, out for the season with torn knee ligaments, will probably be replaced by Mike Hogan, a 228-pound sophomore. Ron Saul, his identical twin brother, also may be missing from the offensive line because of an ankle sprain.

Polio Victim Top Fencer

Wheelchair Olympics Open in Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel and Germany won the first gold medals Tuesday in the 17th International Stoke-Mandeville Games for the Paralyzed, better known as The Wheelchair Olympics.

Shoshana Sharabi, a 17-year-old polio victim from Israel, scored five victories and captured the gold medal in women's foil fencing.

★ ★ ★

Jaochim Boehm, 25, a German who lost use of both legs in an auto accident, won the men's foil gold medal with five victories and one defeat. Edward Owen, a 22-year-old Illinois senior from Champaign, Ill., finished fourth.

The only finals scheduled for the opening day were in fencing and table tennis. The field included men and women from 28 nations. They wheeled about the Olympic Stadium and other arenas in Ramat Gan, outside Tel Aviv, on a clear sunny day.

★ ★ ★

In the first round of the basketball tournaments, the U.S. men, led by Denver Branum and Gary Odorowski, trounced Switzerland, 67-13. The American women lost to Argentina 4-1 in a very low scoring match.

Branum, of Mt. Clemens, Mich., scored 13 points and Odorowski, of Detroit, tallied six. Alonzo Wilkins of New York scored five points.

★ ★ ★

In the women's Class A table tennis, Sharon Moore of Waynesboro, Va., drew a first round bye but then was beaten in three games in the semifinals by Frances White of Ireland. Karen Gorman of Detroit lost inthe first round to Coppard of Rhodesia in two straight games.

Bernard McNichol of New York, gained the semifinals of the men's Class A tournament. After he and Robert Dunn Jr., of San Jose, Calif., drew first round byes, McNichol eliminated Dunn in two straight games.

★ ★ ★

John Donaldson of Detroit downed MacDonald of New Zealand in two games in the first round but was then defeated in two games by Post of the Netherlands.

Spartan, 'M' Sextets Okay Tourney Bids

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Tech will host three Big Ten schools Dec. 20-21 in the fourth annual Great Lakes Invitational college hockey tournament.

The tournament will be held at Detroit's Olympia Stadium with Michigan, Michigan State and Wisconsin joining Tech.

Last year Tech lost the championship with a 4-3 overtime defeat at the hands of North Dakota. In 1966 the Huskies were eliminated in the first round by Michigan, but Tech was runner-up in the first tourney in 1965, losing to the University of Toronto in the final 6-2.

12TH SEASON

Coach John MacInnes, in his 12th season at the school, says 19 members of last season's squad are back this year. "And there are some good boys coming up from our freshman squad so we stand a fair chance of winning our own tournament for the first time," he said.

Hockey is king on the Tech campus in Houghton. Last year's team had a 22-9-1 record while the football team lost seven straight and the basketball team only managed four victories in 21 starts.

There are 4,500 students at the school.

Davis Cup Match Slated in India

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Donald Dell, coach of the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team announced his starting lineup Tuesday for the Davis Cup match with India Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The four players are Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va.; Clark Graebner of New York; Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif.; and Bob Lutz of Los Angeles.

Dell said Puerto Rico's Charles Pasarell was "unfortunately not playing so well" and so he will not be in competition against India.

Turnoff Turnarounds

Harrier Meets Can Be Scary

Those cross country runs which high school kids engage in nowadays can be hazardous, and on occasion, downright embarrassing.

Oh, there's nothing dangerous, lest moms and dads be alarmed, but there are situations which arise that might fall into the funnybone category.

Pontiac Catholic's Jim Murray, between chuckles, was relating an incident that occurred when he was a member of the Lansing Resurrection team in 1957 and he and his teammates made a short trip to Grand Ledge for a meet.

LOST TWOSOME

"We lost a couple of runners there for awhile," said Murray. "We ran at Grand Ledge Park it's a course that once the gun sounds the runners disappear until they reach the finish line.

★ ★ ★

"The runners were really strung out and we had a couple so far behind that the people who were marking the turns left. They thought everyone had passed.

NO MAN'S LAND

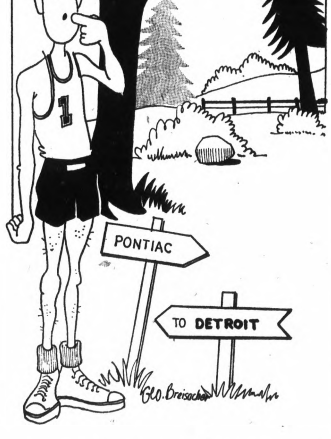

"Our two came along and (with no one marking the turns) made one blind turn and ran into the river. They got out of that one and made another . . . into a shooting range.

★ ★ ★

"They finally worked their way back but the race was over for quite awhile before they came in.

NONE LOST YET

"We've never lost any runners,' said Murray, "but we've had a couple of close calls."

'Let's See? Moss Grows on the North . . .'

"One of our boys fell in the creek at Flint Central in 1958," Dean Wilson, former Pontiac Central coach, was saying earlier this week.

COOLED OFF

"The creek runs through the course and on one of the trips across the water one of our boys fell in. He didn't drown but he was chilly.

★ ★ ★

"We had a boy lost in Royal Oak during a 1958 meet. They had the course laid out in a residential area so the runners had to follow street signs. One of the fellows near the tailend made a wrong turn at one of the corners and he was missing for a time.

"One of our kids was a little embarrassed at one of the regional meets. Everybody was warming up and when it came time to run the race, the boys started pulling off their sweat pants. The one boy began pulling his down and remembered he forgot to wear shorts. He ran in the sweat clothes."

Still Together

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The working agreement between the Rochester Red Wings of the International Baseball League and the parent Baltimore Orioles of the American League has been extended a year to Oct. 31, 1969, it was announced Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The two clubs have worked together since 1961.

Basketball Call

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department will have its initial managers meeting for the men's basketball program at 7:30 p.m. today in the personnel office conference room.

Cards Get Five Homers, Need Rally to Win

TOYAMA, Japan (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals hammered five home runs but needed a ninth inning rally, climaxed by Orlando Cepeda's second homer of the game, to beat the Yomiuri Giants 9-7 Tuesday.

Bob Gibson, the National League's leading pitcher, held the Japanese champions scoreless for four innings and the Cardinals ran up a 5-0 lead. But the Giants tied the game with five runs in the fifth inning against Mel Nelson.

St. Louis now has a 6-3 record on its 18-game Japanese tour and a 4-1 record against Yomiuri. Two of St. Louis' losses have been to the Japan all-stars —both shutouts.

Changed Around

The identifications of the four North Farmington football players on Page C-2 of Tuesday's Press sports section unfortunately were put in reverse order.

The names should have read left-to-right Bruce Bird, Jay Pease, Ron Kopicko and Dave Payne. We regret the error.

A debate that's never settled to everyone's satisfaction each year in high school football is: Who has the best team in the state?

While everyone may not be happy with it, the basketballers have a way of proving who's best through a tournament that creates untold excitement during the three weeks it takes to eliminate all but one team in each of four classes—A, B, C and D.

Why not have a similar program for football? Oh, it would have to be geared down to fit into present state regulations that limit each school to a maximum of nine football games, but it could be done.

Throughout the season, two wire services (Associated Press and United Press International) run lists of the top 10 high school football teams in each class each week. Sportswriters select those in the AP poll, while the UPI lineup is made through a vote of coaches.

* * *

In most cases, any team on either of those lists will have a lot of ability. An accurate ranking of those on the lists — 1 through 10 — is near impossible, since few of those in the lineup ever come face to face. That's where the rub comes. The No. 1 team feels its position is deserved. The No. 2 team feels it should be a notch higher, and so on.

TOURNEY PLAN

How could a football tournamen—one that would decide a champion in each class (A, B, C, D)—be conducted? Here's one way.

* * *

Through the Michigan State High School Athletic Association, divide the state into four territorial districts so there will be an equal number of 'A' teams in each, 'B' teams, etc. In doing this, obviously, the boundaries of each class are likely to differ.

Then a panel of five members—possibly coaches, athletic directors, or even sports editors — would be named by the MSHSAA for each of the four districts in each class.

GRID SCHEDULE

Now, the schedule. All teams in the state would play a nine-game schedule. To simplify it, let's use Class A as an example.

* * *

Supposing Rochester is in District 4 of Class A. Rochester would proceed to play a seven-game schedule, the same as all other 'A' teams in the state. Upon completion of the seven games, the Class A panel in District 4 would select the team to represent the district in the state tournament.

FOLLOW SUIT

The other three 'A' districts around would do the same. Then at a site to be selected in advance—say Flint's Astroturf at Atwood Stadium—the four representatives would meet in semifinal games which would be the eighth week of the season. The survivors would then advance to the final game the following week. Each class would conduct a similar schedule so that after nine weeks champions in each of the four classes would be named.

* * *

Now for those that aren't selected for the semifinals. Most teams open with non-conference games, so these could be saved for the final two weeks.

The present ratings stir interest throughout the state and the tournament idea would add to the suspense, bringing a real rather than a mythical champion.

RETURN BALLOTS

Coaches who haven't returned their All-Oakland County Football Team ballots are urged to do so soon. The All-County team will be named in the Saturday, Nov. 16, edition of The Pontiac Press.

TOP TEN

Top 10 in Oakland County:

1. Ferndale (8-0); 2. Walled Lake (7-1); 3. West Bloomfield (7-1); 4. Rochester (7-1); 5. Madison Lamphere (8-0); 6. Waterford (6-2); 7. Clawson (6-2); 9. North Farmington (5-2-1); 9. Milford (6-2); 10. Bloomfield Hills Andover (6-2).

NEW CHAMPS

Orchard Lake's Our Lady of Refuge gridders reign as the new champions of the Catholic Youth Organization Suburban Division with the completion of an unbeaten season Saturday.

Monster Back Top Lineman

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Omri Hildreth, a roving linebacker is described as the toughest physical and mental football player ever to play at the University of Oregon by Coach Jerry Frei.

Southern Cal Coach John McKay said Hildreth is the backbone of the Oregon defense, "an outstanding young football player."

Hildreth led the Oregon defense Saturday which stopped USC's All-American halfback O. J. Simpson with 67 yards rushing and one touchdown as top-ranked USC barely edged scrappy Oregon 20-13.

His defensive work earned him honors Tuesday as Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

APPROPRIATE TITLE

The roving linebacker is sometimes called the monster in college football and Frei finds the title appropriate for Hildreth. "He's not real big, but he loves to tackle."

Hildreth is listed at 5-foot-10, 187 pounds, but actually weighs closer to 200 pounds.

"I prefer to be listed smaller. Then the opposing players think they have an advantage over you," Hildreth said.

The 21-year-old senior is from Weed, in northern California, a town of 5,000 and the home of Aaron Thomas, former Oregon State football star, now playing with the New York Giants of the National Football League.

Hildreth, who was one of the Oregon captains in the USC game, was in on 14 tackles and deflected one pass.

Promise Comes True for Ole Miss Team

By the Associated Press

Johnny Vaught began his 22nd year as head coach of the University of Mississippi football team with three sophomore quarterbacks and a promise.

"We will play a more diversified brand of football . . . and I mean wide open football," said the venerable Ole Miss pilot.

Last Saturday night Vaught took his new-look Rebels to Baton Rouge, La., where Archie injury suffered during Ole Miss' previous game against Houston, tossed a 65-yard touchdown bomb to Floyd Franks as the Rebs rallied from a 17-3 deficit to go ahead 20-17 in the fourth quarter.

Then, with time running out, LSU regained the lead on Kenny Newfield's 11-yard touchdown run. But the Rebs mounted a last-ditch drive from their 25, Bo Bowen scampering 17 yards before Manning hit on four passes, the last to Hindman for the winning score.

* * *

Vaught calls the 19-year-old soph the best quarterback prospect "I've ever had . . . and I've had some good ones."

Among others, he's had Charley Conerly, Eagle Day, Jake Gibbs and Glynn Griffing . . . so it's about the highest praise Manning could ask for.

* * *

Two other soph quarterbacks from Dixie, South Carolina's Tommy Suggs and Duke's Leo Hart, pressed Manning for weekly honors while engineering upset victories and North Texas State senior Steve Ramsey went on a devastating long ball spree against Cincinnati.

Irish Ace Okays Date in Bowl Tilt

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Notre Dame's leading ground gainer, Bob Gladieu, and two other football players have agreed to participate in the first American Bowl football game here Jan. 4.

The others signing up for the North-South college game are Oklahoma State center Jon Kolb and Alabama defensive end Mike Ford.

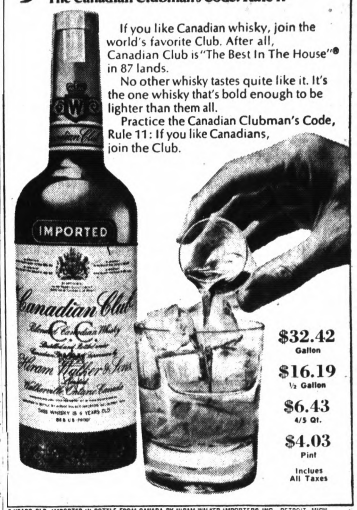

Waterford League Making Final Call

Any teams who are planning to enter the Waterford Township Recreation Department Men's basketball program who haven't so indicated are requested to contact director Bill Wood at 674-0056 after 5 p.m. and before Saturday.

* * *

The team entry fee is $25 and the roster may have not more than four non-resident players.

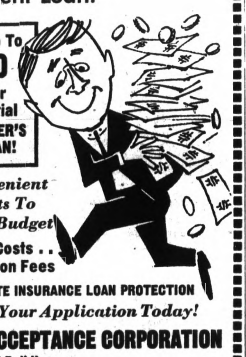

All players living in Waterford Township, owning township property or working for firms paying township taxes are considered residents.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By John Carter
In the history of big-time pro football, there's been only one player who led the league in rushing every year he played . . . Know who it was? . . . None other than Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White . . . White played his first year in the National Football League in 1938 and led the league in rushing . . . He left football in 1939 but came back for one more season in 1940, and again led the league in rushing! . . . That was his last season, so he quit with a perfect record.
★ ★ ★
When was the first time a football game was ever on television? . . . First football telecast in history was on Sept. 30, 1939 . . . The game was between Fordham and Waynesburg and it was televised in New York City.
★ ★ ★
Here's a zany one from pro football . . . Did you know a team could win only ONE game all season and still finish in first place! . . . How is this possible? . . . A National or American Football League team with 1 win and 13 ties in a 14-game schedule, for example, would win the title over a team that won 13 games and lost 1 because the leagues go by percentage only — and the team with 1 win, 0 losses and 13 ties would have a 1.000 percentage (ties don't count) while the team with 13 wins and 1 loss would have a percentage of .929 and would finish second!
★ ★ ★
I bet you didn't know . . . that most buyers of cheap tires are dying to save money. Any smart gambler will tell you the odds are longer than the skid marks.

Duffy on Football

Seldom Pays to Look Ahead

By DUFFY DAUGHERTY
Head Football Coach
Michigan State University

It seldom pays when you try to look too far ahead in college football. One of the best examples of the moment is Saturday's meeting between No. 1 rated Southern California and California.

What was expected to be one of Southern Cal's easiest games before the season started now looks like the Trojans' biggest challenge of the year.

California will be smarting all week as a result of the Golden Bear' 7-7 tie with Washington. The offense let them down when it fumbled on Washington's one-yard line.

USC will learn by viewing films of the Bears' games that California has one of the strongest defensive teams in the nation. In fact, the Bears have allowed only five touchdowns in seven games and their defense against scoring is 5.5 points per game, tops in the country.

MORE AT STAKE

USC beat California 31-12 last season but this time there seems more at stake. It is the key game for the Pacific Eight crown and both teams are unbeaten in league action.

★ ★ ★

Oregon showed that fabulous O.J. Simpson can be slowed down if not completely stopped. Pressure continues to mount for O.J. and he will be put to the test to penetrate California's strong line. He is the No. 1 candidate for the Heisman Award and because of his uncanny running ability he is the most likely No. 1 draft choice of the pros.

★ ★ ★

Just because Simpson has 90 of his team's 142 points don't get the idea the Trojans are a one-man team. They have a great little quarterback in Steve Sogge and fine receivers, plus an excellent defense.

Coach Johnny McKay has done a great job throughout the year with the Trojans. He is one of the most imaginative coaches around.

★ ★ ★

His opposing coach, Ray Willsey, unquestionably has worked wonders with California. In one year he has brought a doormat team to a contending position.

LONG PASS

But for a long bomb pass in the last two minutes of the Army game at West Point, Willsey's team today might be ranked with the first five in the nation.

He had spring practice problems and now the Golden Bears have great spirit and a high morale. Randy Humphries is a fine quarterback and has good receivers, led by 6-foot-4 Wayne Stewart.

★ ★ ★

Among the Bears' defensive standouts are Ken Wiedemann, a safetyman who led the Pacific Eight in interceptions last year, and guard Ed White, who uses 245 pounds to good advantage.

In recent years West Coast football has become as strong as any section in the country. Oregon State, after losing by one point to Iowa and Kentucky, is making a late season surge. The Beavers, you may recall, handed Southern Cal it's only defeat last year by 3-0.

After USC takes on California, the Trojans face Oregon State. It will be like jumping from the frying pan into the fire because Southern Cal will be putting its No. 1 rating in jeopardy two weeks in a row.

Such unbeatens as Kansas, Penn State and Ohio State are ready to bid for the top spot and Southern Cal knows it.

Nittany Lions Favored

Ted-To-Ted Grid Match

By DICK COUCH

NEW YORK (AP) — Anyway you look at it, Saturday's clash between unbeaten Penn State and rugged Miami, Fla., boils down to a Ted-to-Ted confrontation.

Ted Kwalick, State's tremendous tight end, will be tangling with Ted Hendricks, the Hurricanes' towering defensive end, when the two independent powerhouses meet for only the third time at University Park, Pa.

★ ★ ★

The Hurricanes are bent on avenging last year's 1-8 setback to Penn State at Miami. But the hunch is that Kwalick, fleet halfbacks Bob Campbell and Charlie Pittman and the nifty Nittany Lion defensive unit will prevail in a tight squeeze.

We creep into the dog days of a long season with a .716 accuracy mark on 295 correct picks, 103 bloopers and 14 standoffs, with the ties counted against us. Last week's slate was 42-13-2.

★ ★ ★

Here's the way some of the other top games around the country this weekend look from here:

Alabama over Louisiana State: LSU's Charlie McClendon, a coaching disciple of 'Bama's Bear Bryant, hasn't beaten the Master in four tries.

★ ★ ★

Purdue over Minnesota: Leroy Keyes & Co., snapped Minnesota's Rose Bowl plans last fall with a 41-12 zinger. They should win again, but this time the fall won't be as painfull for the 3-4 Gophers.

VOLS FAVORED

Tennessee over Auburn: The Plainsmen will be a high hurdle for unbeaten Tennessee to clear. But the Vols have the perfect answer . . . high hurdler Richmond Flowers.

Southern California over California: Orange Juice Simpson, limited to 67 rushing yards by Oregon last week, is due to break free again.

Georgia over Florida: The Bulldogs held Houston's offensive juggernatu to 10 first quarter points. After that tour de force, tackling Gators should be a lark for Bill Stanfill and friends.

Elsewhere:
East—Army over Boston College; Syracuse over William & Mary; Harvard over Princeton; Dartmouth over Columbia; Yale over Pennsylvania; Cornell over Brown; Holy Cross over Massachusetts; Colgate over Bucknell; Rutgers over Connecticut; Villanova over Quantico.

South—Georgia Tech over Navy; Kentucky over Vanderbilt; Mississippi over Chattanooga; North Carolina State over Duke; Wake Forest over South Carolina; Virginia over North Carolina; Clemson over Maryland; Houston over Memphis State; Virginia Tech over Richmond; Florida State over Mississippi State; Tulane over Tulsa; West Virginia over the Citat; Davidson over Virginia Military; Tampa over East Carolina.

Midwest—Ohio State over Wisconsin; Michigan over Illinois; Michigan State over Indiana; Notre Dame over Pittsburgh; Iowa over Northwestern; Missouri over Iowa State; Nebraska over Kansas State; Colorado over Oklahoma State; Ohio University over Bowling Green; Louisville over Cincinnati; Kent State over Marshall; Miami, Ohio over Dayton; Buffalo over Northern Illinois; Toledo over Xavier.

Southwest—Arkansas over Rice; Texas over Baylor; Texas Tech over Texas Christian; West Texas State over Western Michigan; North Texas State over Texas El-Paso.

Far West—Oregon State over UCLA; Air Force over Arizona; Oregon over Washington State; Stanford over Washington; Arizona State over Utah; Utah State over Brigham Young; New Mexico State over Wichita State; San Diego State over Southern Mississippi; Idaho over San Jose State.

Two Eligibility Changes Asked

Proposals Face Vote at NCAA Convention

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two proposals to change eligibility rules on freshman athletes still need approval by the full National Collegiate Athletic Association.

One change proposed by the Pacific Eight Conference and endorsed by the NCAA council would permit athletes in sports other than football and basketball to participate in four years of varsity competition but would forbid them to enter NCAA championship events until their sophomore year.

★ ★ ★

On a close vote last year, the NCAA opened the door to freshman competition in both regular season and NCAA sports except football and basketball. The proposed change would strike the championship events for frosh players.

In the other proposed by law amendment, athletes planning to finish college in three years could compete in all sports as soon as they entered school if they met certain criteria.

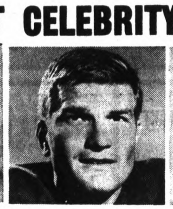

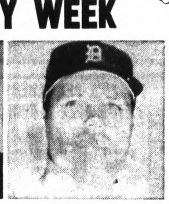

★ ★ ★

But both proposed changes need approval by majority vote at the full convention in Los Angeles next January.

IS BUYING SOUTHWICK SLACKS AS GOOD AS GETTING A NEW SUIT?
That depends on whether you already own a Southwick sport jacket. The two are coordinated, so they go together as naturally as the pants and coat of a suit. Southwick slacks are tailored the diagonal or "stripe line" way to follow the contours of your body. Which means they have to waste some of their ribbed weaves, Gibraltar cloth and cavalry twill fabrics in the tailoring. But you can't get the fit otherwise. Is it any wonder, then, that we consider coordinated Southwick slacks and sport jackets as good a buy as a suit? Come in and see our selection. Slacks about $35 Sport jackets about $85

BOWLING

The women bowlers found the strike zone with regularity last week to command a big share of the bowling spotlight.

At 300 Bowl, Sue Huebel Friday night blasted away for a 259 game, the third best by a local woman this season. She had a 549 series to best Carol Sebastian's 513 for top honors in the Royal Bowlerettes circuit.

The preceeding night, the Pontiac Women Teachers League reported a strong 246 for Judy Packard who had a 585 series. The game qualifies her for a WIBC 100-plus award.

Also Thursday night at Huron Bowl Fran Durso of the Ladies Classic registered a 219-203—604 effort and Dottie Senter was close behind with her 223-200—599.

Peg Carter and Euphemia James had a close duel for high game honors, too, with Peg's 234 prevailing by just five pins. Huntoon's came through with the second best team effort of the campaign, a 2590, and Taylor's 5 & 10 took over the top spot in team games with its 929.

MEN'S CLASSIC

The men's classic that night at 300 listed several good performances: George Bishop's 217-253—662; Bill Wakerdine, 267-232—642; Red Stepp, 201-246—633; and Paul Sewell, 264—624.

Three men battled it out for last week's West Side Lanes' Classic individual laurels. Dale Remley had 234—635, Tom York was 236—631, and Bill Kirkland hit 232— 628.

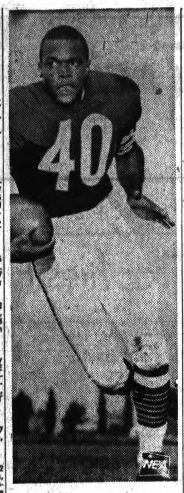

Also posting good games were Ed Jostock (234) and Charles Redmond (233). Ron's Roost had a 1025 game, and league-leading Al Hanoute Chevrolet-Buick rolled a 1,011.

Kickers Take Lead in NFL Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The kickers finally have taken over the lead in the National Football League scoring race with Mike Clark on Dallas edging fullback Bill Brown of Minnesota, 61 points to 60.

* * *

Brown is the only nonkicker among the top 10 scorers in the latest league individual statistics released today.

Don Meredith of Dallas has moved past Bart Starr of Green Bay in the passing statistics, based on Meredith's percentage of completions, 56.9, touchdown passes, 14, percentage of interceptions, 3.6 and average gain, 8.13.

Gale Sayers' tremendous day at Green Bay, 205 yards in 24 carries, boosted the Chicago speedster's rushing total to 824 yards despite Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, who gained 174 yards against San Francisco. Kelly is second with 763 yards.

Clifton McNeil of San Francisco still is way out front in pass receiving with 48 for 676 yards, including five for 92 yards and a touchdown against the Browns.

Going to New York

Big Show for Katie

Young Katie Monahan, 14-year-old ninth grade honor student at East Hills Junior High School, will cap another highly successful year in the show ring with an appearance this weekend at the prestigious National Horse Show in New York City.

Katie and her horse Miltown both will be competing in events at the annual Madison Square Garden show after dominating their classes in Michigan this summer.

They leave today along with her parents, the James Monahans of Bloomfield Hills, for New York.

★ ★ ★

This will be Katie's fifth appearance in the National Horse Show. She will compete in the 18-and-under junior equestrian over fences class.

Although she is still striving for her first blue ribbon, she has consistently finished among the top eight and is the youngest rider ever to do so in her class.

HARRISBURG

At the recent Harrisburg Horse Show she placed second in the equitation event that drew more than 125 junior riders.

In addition, Miltown has the distinction of being the only local horse invited to this year's National Horse Show. He is entered in the junior hunter class.

★ ★ ★

Katie and Miltown have reigned in their classes around Michigan for the last four years and are strong favorites to repeat this year when the selections are announced during the winter.

They are riding for Centaur very close to qualifying promising Centaur junior jumper Rubezh for the Madison Square Farm Stables of West Bloomfield Township. Katie also came Garden Show, but had a late start on the Russian mount.

Two other Bloomfield Hills riders will be competing in the equitation event. Leslie Hastings and Walt Graves both earned invitations to the National Horse Show.

Sheriff's Posse Has Top Guns

Oakland Team Wins State Competition

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department Posse has won the team championship for the first time in the annual Michigan Association of Sheriff's Posses pistol shoot.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland riders posted a score of 406 last weekend at the Multi-Lakes Conservation Association range. Kent County was second with 360 points and past champion Kalamazoo third with 336.

★ ★ ★

Oakland's shooters were Bob Jubelt (81), Rich Gibson (82), Jim Beebe (72), John Ousnamer (83) and Lin Bush (88).

Bush won a three-way shootoff with a 94 to gain individual honors.

★ ★ ★

There are 18 posses in the association with five more scheduled to join. Two Indiana counties are seeking membership.

Water Resources Executive Sets Retirement Date

LANSING (AP) — Loring F. Oeming, executive secretary of the State Water Resources Commission, today announced he will retire from state service in January.

★ ★ ★

Oeming, 65, has been on the staff of the Water Resources Commission and its predecessor, the State Stream Control Commission, since 1934. He was chief engineer from 1948 until July, 1962, when he was named executive secretary.

★ ★ ★

Ralph W. Purdy, commission chief engineer since 1962, will succeed Oeming as executive secretary.

Waterfowl Tour Set

Members of the Pontiac Audubon Club will meet at Madden's Lake Saturday to observe waterfowl. Al Madden will be the leader of the tour.

Hunters Score in Special Season

Unusual Trophies Provide Holiday Feast

LANSING (AP)—Some skillful and lucky Michigan hunters are bringing home unusual trophies—wild turkeys they can keep in the deep freeze until Thanksgiving.

★ ★ ★

Lack of tracking snow is making it difficult to bag the wary birds so far this year.

But some hunting success is reported early in the wild turkey season which opened Nov. 1.

There were 51 birds reported taken in the first three days in the Baldwin area. The bag for the same period in the Mio area was reported as 23 turkeys.

★ ★ ★

The bag in the Baldwin area included 19 adults and 32 young turkeys. These included 22 males and 29 females. The Mio area bag was 11 adults and 12 young birds. These included 16 tom turkeys and seven hens.

ARCHERS SCORE

The archery season opened Sept. 15 on Beaver Island. It was estimated that of the total of 20 turkeys taken to date, only three were bagged by bow and arrow hunters.

The rest were taken by gunners, who were allowed on the island Nov. 1.

The Beaver Island season will continue either until Nov. 14 or until 50 birds are taken, whichever comes first.

The Conservation Department had around 9,000 applicants for the special permits. Only 1,500 were issued for the Mio and Baldwin areas. The season in the two main shooting areas will continue through Nov. 10.

The Mio area takes in most of Oscoda and Northern Ogemaw counties plus parts of Alcona, Iosco and Montmorency counties. The Baldwin area takes in all of Lake County and parts of Newaygo, Oceana and Mason counties.

The Beaver Island permits are issued on a first come, first served basis.

LARGE TOM

The largest turkey taken so far was a tom bagged in the Baldwin area that topped 19 pounds. Some of the young hens being taken are just under four pounds.

"Most of them are pretty wild," said Vic Janson, of the Conservation Department's game division. "Because of the lack of tracking snow, they are difficult to get."

Turkey calls don't generally work in the fall, he added, unless the flock is broken up and trying to get together again.

Deer, Grouse, Rabbits Now Lead Hunting List

Hunter thoughts are turning to deer, grouse and rabbits—in that order.

The pheasant season ends Sunday. Five days later, Nov. 15, the firearm deer campaign gets under way for a 15-day run. This is the big one and hunters are getting anxious.

★ ★ ★

Duck hunting ends Friday and squirrels join ringnecks on the restricted list after Sunday. But grouse will remain open in the state through Nov. 14 and then re-open again in Southern Michigan Dec. 1 for another 31 days.

Rabbit hunting — interest picks up with snow — will continue until March.

PHEASANT CONTEST

The Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby will officially close at noon next Monday. The current leaders are 41¾ and 40-inch ringnecks. Hunters will receive $50 and $25 savings bonds, respectively, for the top entries.

Residents of Oakland County are eligible and the entries must be brought to The Press sports department for measuring.

Salmon fishing continues in Lake Michigan with some cohos being taken in Platte Bay and in Loon and Platte lakes. A few jack chinnoks are being caught in the Little Manistee and Muskegon Rivers, but steelheads up to 18 pounds are now drawing anglers' interest.

Perch fishing is inconsistent at Saginaw Bay and Lake St. Clair. Some walleyes are being taken in the upper St. Clair River. Action on inland lakes has been nil.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times.

Steinkraus Places Second

Brazil, Australia Gain Wins

NEW YORK (AP — Brazil and Australia shared the honors Tuesday as the venerable National Horse Show got under way in Madison Square Gardens.

Nelson Pessoa of Brazil, who won the gold medal in the Pan American Games in 1959 and the European championship in 1966, captured the opening international event, the West Point Challenge Trophy.

Kevin Bacon of the Australian squad—never before represented at the national—captured the second class on Chichester.

Pessoa was the last rider out of the gate in his event and until he started over the course, Bill Steinkraus of the United States was leading. Steinkraus,, the gold medal winner in the Olympic Games in Mexico, rode Blue Plum to a faultless round in 45.7 seconds.

CLEAN RIDE

The effort appeared bigger and bigger as each succeeding rider hit at least one fence. Finally, Pessoa, up on Gran Geste, hustled to a clean round in 43.7, two seconds better than Steinkraus on the 13-jump course.

Bacon won the Democrat Trophy—named for a great United States international horse—and his teammates finished third and fourth. That stunned the crowd of about 8,000.

★ ★ ★

Only Bacon and Britain's Harvey Smith, up on Madison Time, were clean. Time was the deciding factor in the jumpoff. As it turned out, time meant nothing.

Madison Time, first out, hit the third fence and Chichester went clean.

Recreational Use Climbs at State Areas

Michigan's 1968 state park season is not officially over until Dec. 31, but by late October these public recreation areas had already topped their year-end totals for 1967 in daily attendance and camping use, the Conservation Department reports.

As of Oct. 20, state parks had drawn over 17 million day visitors, some 13 per cent more than a year ago and about 1.7 million above the final figure for 1967.

★ ★ ★

Through this same period, a record 384,000 camping families had flocked into these areas. That total was up almost 13 per cent from late last October. It marks an increase of 41,000 camper groups over the 1967 season-closing count of 343,000, the previous record.

Conservation Department officials credit this season's generally good weather as the major reason for packing more people into state parks during 1968.

Apparently the weatherman was fairly generous with crowd-pleasing conditions in all three of the department's administrative zones, because each of these areas have hosted more state park day users and campers than a year ago.

★ ★ ★

State parks and recreation areas in the southern third of Michigan again have been the big favorites, attracting 10.1 million day users and 125,850 camping families through late October. The first figure is up 1.1 million from a year ago; the second, up 11,350.

Cong Saboteurs Blast Bridge North of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Vietcong saboteurs today blew out the two central spans of the 1,000-foot Phu Cuong Bridge 14 miles north of Saigon, the biggest permanent span built by U.S. Army engineers in Vietnam.

A military spokesman said frogmen evidently floated a massive charge beneath the heavily guarded bridge just before dawn.

* * *

The bridge, 18 miles north of Saigon was one of the busiest in the nation, handling supply traffic for two U.S. divisions northwest of the capital.

Completed last June, the bridge was the pride of the U.S. Army engineers. It floated on piles driven almost 300 feet into the silt, and special protection against floating mines or frogmen was built around the piles.

DUMP BLASTED

In the air war, U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers streaked to within two miles of the Cambodian border and set off a massive chain of explosions in a Communist ammunition dump filled with rockets and mortars, military spokesmen reported today.

More than 10 bombers attacked the ammunition dump Tuesday in retaliation for heavy enemy shelling of a U.S. 4th Division base in the central highlands four days ago.

* * *

Pilots reported at least 37 secondary explosions that touched off two huge fires and sent fireballs 8,000 feet into the air.

The strikes were 15 miles west of the town of Dak To.

SEVERAL CLASHES

Several ground clashes were reported across the country, but the lull in major sustained fighting continued in its fifth week.

In the heaviest fighting reported, South Vietnamese rangers said they killed 79 Vietcong in a day-long battle Tuesday in the Mekong Delta 64 miles southwest of Saigon. Nine rangers were killed and 30 wounded. The fight erupted when a government battalion made a helicopter assault landing and ran into an enemy force of unknown size.

* * *

U.S. Marines clashed twice with enemy forces during sweeping operations just south of Da Nang. Eight Marines and at least three of the enemy were killed and 10 Marines were wounded.

About 30 miles north of Saigon, soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported killing seven Vietcong during a reconnaissance mission. No U.S. casualties were reported.

POLITICAL FRONT QUIET

The political front was quiet as South Vietnamese and American officials awaited the outcome of the American presidential election.

So far as could be learned there were no U.S.-Vietnamese conferences seeking to get President Nguyen Van Thieu to send a delegation to the postponed Paris peace talks. There also was no word of any high-level meeting among the South Vietnamese leaders, who apparently were waiting to see if Richard M. Nixon would be elected. The Vietnamese leaders think Nixon would support Thieu's refusal to attend a confefence that gives the Vietcong's National Liberation Front any more status than being part of North Vietnam's delegation.

* * *

The Paris peace talks had been scheduled to resume today with both the NLF and the Saigon government represented for the first time, but the United States postponed the meeting because of Thieu's refusal to send representatives. How long the postponement would last was not known, but it seemed certain the conference would not meet this week.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, head of the National Liberation Front's delegation, took a jab at Thieu's refusal to come to the bargaining table.

She told a news conference that "the U.S. delegation can represent both the U.S. government and the Saigon administration. Therefore we are ready to meet with only three delegations present." This is in line with the Communist position that the NLF is the only true representative of the South Vietnamese people and the Saigon government is a U.S. puppet.

Reopening Is OK'd for Conspiracy Case

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday allowed Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan to reopen a conspiracy case against three suspended Detroit policemen and a private guard in the Algiers Motel case.

The high court ruling allows Cahalan the right to appeal a ruling by Recorder's Court Judge Frank Schemanski that dismissed conspiracy charges against the four men. They were charged with conspiring to abuse and intimidate witnesses during investigation of three deaths.

Cahalan said he was "pleased and encouraged" by the Supreme Court action and that he would move immediately to present evidence before the high court.

The case grew out of the slayings of three Negro youths — Aubrey Pollard Jr., 19; Carl Cooper, 17, and Fred Temple, 18. The three were slain at the midtown Algiers Motel on the night of July 25-26 during the Detroit riot in 1967.

DEFENDANTS IN CASE

Defendants in the conspiracy case are patrolmen Ronald August, Robert Paille and David Senek, and the private guard Melvin Dismukes.

Cahalan hopes that the unanimous ruling by the seven-member State Supreme Court will allow him to overturn decisions by Recorder's Court Judge Gerald Groat and the State Court of Appeals that there were no grounds for reopening conspiracy charges against the four men.

Groat acted as the first appelate judge in hearing Cahalan's first appeal to overturn Schemanske's decision. Schemanske's ruling was made Feb. 20. Cahalan then appealed the decision to the Court of Appeals and lost. He then went to the Supreme Court Sept. 10.

Investigation, Cahalan said, has determined that city and State Police, plus members of the Michigan National Guard, entered the Algiers Motel—now renamed the Desert Inn—ostensibly to answer calls of reported sniping. When they left, about an hour later, Pollard, Cooper and Temple were dead. Others in the motel said they had been badly beaten by law enforcement officers.

4 OTHER CASES

Four other cases have grown out of the slayings.

They are:

● Federal charges against the four men of conspiring to deny the civil rights of the three dead youths. This case is now pending before U.S. District Judge Philip Roth, who is ruling on admissibility of pretrial statements in the case.

● A murder charge against Paille now in the hands of recorder's Court Judge Robert E. DeMascio. DeMascio is taking testimony on the admissibility of a statement Paille gave to police superiors after the slayings.

● A murder case against August set for Jan. 6, 1969, in Recorder's Court. This case is based on a written statement August made to police superiors concerning his part in the incident.

● One other case has gone to trial—a felonious assault charge against Dismukes, a Negro. He was acquitted in May before Judge Colombo.

Soviet Doctor Completes 1st Transplant

MOSCOW (AP) — The first announced Soviet heart transplant was performed two days ago by the chief surgeon of the Soviet armed forces, the army newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) announced today.

The recipient was a 25-year-old woman who suffered "grave decompensated heart failure," the newspaper said.

* * *

It added that her general grave condition before the operation made the outlook for recovery unfavorable.

Krasnaya Zvezda said the operation was performed in Leningrad by armed forces chief surgeon Alexander Vishnevsky. The team included 35 surgeons.

There have been 75 heart transplants in non-Communist countries since the first one 11 months ago, and 41 of the patients are still living.

Paris Expatriates Hold Vote Watch

PARIS (AP) — Munching hot dogs and watching dancing girls, thousands of expatriate Americans and their French friends held an all-night election watch at four throbbing centers in Paris.

Special police squads directed auto and foot traffic as streams of night owls jammed the Hilton Hotel, the Pan American office, a U.S. Embassy annex and Harry's New York Bar to keep up with the returns.

The most elaborate election party was at the Hilton, where Radio Station Europe No. 1 laid on a spread of spare ribs and trimmings in a Wild West atmosphere spiced with dancing girls. A papier mache Statue of Liberty was erected outside the hotel.

During His Nightclub Act

Singer Billy Daniels Stabbed

BILLY DANIELS

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Daniels, the Negro singer who gained fame with his rendition of "That Old Black Magic," was stabbed in the back Tuesday night while performing at the Latin Quarter nightclub.

Police captured a man they identified as the assailant several minutes after the stabbing.

* * *

As 75 patrons looked on, police said, the man, also a Negro, rushed up on stage, forced Daniels to the side of the stage and stabbed him twice in the back with a switchblade knife.

Daniels, 62, was reported in satisfactory condition at Roosevelt Hospital where he remained overnight for observation.

'OWES ME MONEY'

Charged in the stabbing was Theodore Harmon, 43, of Manhattan. Police quoted him as saying Daniels "is a friend of mine and owes me money."

Police said that when they arrived at the nightclub several patrons crouched behind their chairs or held their chairs up to protect themselves.

* * *

Ruth Meyers of Tampa, Fla., who was in the audience, said the assailant jumped up from a table near the stage. "The two men moved toward the back of the stage," she said, "then I noticed the knife. What a horrible thing to happen to such a nice man."

The stabbing was not Daniels' first brush with violence.

SHOOTING INCIDENT

In 1957, Daniels lost his New York City cabaret license in the aftermath of a 1955 shooting in a Harlem bottle club. Daniels pleaded guilty to criminally possessing a gun in connection with the shooting. The singer also had been charged with second degree assault in the wounding of an acquaintance, but was allowed to plead guilty to the gun charge.

New Walkout Looms in Flint

DETROIT (AP)— Attempts to settle a United Auto Workers strike at the Fisher Body Fleetwood plant in Detroit resumed today but General Motors faced another walkout at its Fisher Body Plant No. 2 in Flint.

Prospects for an early settlement in the Flint dispute faded Tuesday when a proposal by UAW Local 598 at resolving some 100 grievances was rejected by Fisher Body. The grievances allege that the plant has geared up production demands without adding manpower.

* * *

Last Thursday the union voted 2 to 1 to seek strike authorization from the international union. A strike by the 2,400 Flint employes at Fisher Body No. 2 would halt production at the Flint Chevrolet assembly plant which employed 3,400 workers. Fisher Body No. 2 supplies bodies for the assembly plant.

When 5,000 employed at the Fisher Fleetwood plant walked out in Detroit Monday, GM was forced to layoff 2,000 employes at its Cadillac Division which had been turning out 832 cars a day.

* * *

Production of the Cadillac Eldorado continued, however, since bodies for that model are produced at GM's plant in Euclid, Ohio.

Man Ties Up Voting Booth

DETROIT (AP) — A man accused of remaining in a voting booth more than an hour while others waited in line was arrested on a trespassing charge.

Police said Albin Wodzinski, 43, was among the first to enter a booth in his precinct, and that after he'd spent 50 minutes at the machine, election workers requested that he hurry.

* * *

A police officer was summoned and read Wodzinski a state law setting two minutes as the time limit for voting, except when election officials allow more time. He was arrested when he did not come out.

Jordan Lifts Guerrilla Curbs

Hussein, Commandos Reach an Agreement

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The two-day confrontation between King Hussein and rebellious Palestinian guerrillas appeared ended today and the government lifted the curfew on Amman.

Commando sources in Damascus reported Hussein and leaders of four commando groups in Jordan had reached an agreement. They said the guerrilla leaders telephoned the news from the royal palace in Amman, but there was no immediate confirmation from Jordanian officials.

The curfew was lifted at midnight.

Earlier Tuesday night machine-gun bursts sounded in scattered sections of the Jordanian capital, but they were believed to be warnings for curfew violators. A fire broke out near a refugee camp outside Amman and was believed set by dissident commandos.

TOLL REPORTS VARY

Reports of the casualties varied in Monday's fighting between the Jordanian army and one of the guerrilla groups that uses Jordan as a base for raids into Israel. Some sources said 17 persons were killed and 40 were wounded, but some diplomatic sources said more than 25 were killed and about 70 were wounded on both sides.

Jordanian authorities said earlier they had arrested the leaders of the Victory Phalanges, a splinter guerrilla group accused of starting Monday's fighting. The government accused the group of being paid agents of an unidentified foreign power whose aim was to stir up civil strife in Jordan rather than fight Israel. The foreign government was not identified.

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol told Parliament that Israel will never agree to any peace settlement that permits an Arab army west of the Jordan River.

In the Arab sector of Jerusalem, striking shopkeepers reopened for business after the Israeli High Court instructed Defense Minister Moshe Dyan to show cause within 30 days why his military police had seized 15 struck Arab stores last Saturday. Dayan was forbidden to seize any more stores meanwhile.

TO BREAK STRIKE

The military government seized the stores in an effort to break an Arab general strike. Other Arab merchants kept their shops closed in sympathy until the High Court acted on their appeal, which was handled by an Israeli lawyer.

Wire From Teddy a Bit Premature

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Former Colorado Gov. Steve McNichols, a Democrat seeking the post held by U.S. Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., received a telegram from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., shortly before noon Tuesday, congratulating him on his victory, aides said.

No votes had been counted at the time.

He Sweats Out TV Ordeal: the Uncertainty of 'Renewal'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jonathan Winters, a country boy from Ohio who can pronounce creek, "crick," was suffering a very aristocratic torture, in his own torture chamber.

"But you don't complain when you're makin' this kind of bread," he said.

WILSON

His hotel suite was so luxurious that the mere mention of the daily rent made him wince. His torture has been that he's a huge-salaried TV star waiting to learn whether he's being renewed — which is hell on earth. He's been living in sort of a gilded inferno.

"The pressure's big," he admitted. "But I think we're going to be all right. The guy with the jackhammer on the street is under a lot of pressure, too." He sipped a soft drink.

"I look upon our little program" — actually one hour on CBS — "as like the Rams and Green Bay. We've had a rough first half but I think we're going to have a hell of a second half."

* * *

They've come up with some format changes — more improvisation — so that perhaps he can grab the ratings between now and Christmas.

"I've got seven guys writing," he said. "We kind of blow our minds and come up with things. When it gets rough and I want to complain about workin' six days a week, I say to myself, 'Wait a minute, buddy. You could be working in Willie's supermarket sortin' crackers.' "

That's the down-to-earth quality that those around him believe will enable him to win.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Dustin Hoffman and Faye Dunaway'll co-star in "Little Big Man" . . . Peter O'Toole left town to publicize "Lion in Winter" elsewhere; Joe Levine sent a case of champagne to the helicopter that airlifted him to the airport . . . Darryl Zanuck ordered a big buildup for Genevieve Waite, of "Joanna" . . . Jack Benny saw "Hair" and went back to meet the cast; he offered 'em aspirins, in case their nudity gave 'em colds.

* * *

Leslie Uggams will turn down $200,000 in cafe dates to take a month's rest . . . Arthur had its biggest crowd in a while for a Halloween party with zany costumes (include a couple in feathered bikinis). The Beatles (except Ringo Starr) were expected so the local police precinct sent over some cops to handle things.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Most people can't stand prosperity. But then, most people don't have to.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "When two men in business always agree, one of them is unnecessary."—William Wrigley Jr.

EARL'S PEARLS: A man sighed, "My wife isn't very happy with Jackie's choice of a husband. Or her own."

Columnist Tom Tarbox in the Sun City (Ariz.) Sun Citizen says, "Here in this town, if you get a coffee break, you don't drink coffee, for fear it'll keep you awake during your nap break" . . . That's earl, brother.

Sheriff's Books Subpoenaed

LANSING (AP) — Robert Goussy, head of the criminal division of the attorney general's office, said today a subpoena was served Monday on Sheriff Douglas Harvey of Washtenaw County to obtain books and records from Harvey's office at the request of the State Auditor General's office.

Goussy said the issue revolves around a fund called "Sheriff's Safety Guide Fund," used in publication of a book containing rules in water safety and the like and for which advertising also is solicited.

* * *

The fund also reputedly is used to assist needy youths, to support Harvey's organization of "Junior Deputies" and Little League baseball and also to buy funeral flowers for the sheriff's office.

Goussy said an investigation was ordered after Harvey told an Ann Arbor meeting of the League of Women voters that he claimed the returns for the fund on his personal income tax and then gave it to charity. The Ypsilanti Press estimated the amount at $500 a year.

Hart Is Sure Romney Will Change Tune

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says he is sure, that with the election over, Republican Gov. George Romney "will join those of us. . who applaud the President's action halting the bombing of North Vietnam."

Hart listed Pope Paul, Gen. Charles De Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Great Britain among those who have applauded the move.

* * *

"The governor complains," Hart said, "that the bombing halt did not 'clear up the confusion' about Vietnam.

"I doubt," he added, "that anyone would expect as complex a situation as Vietnam to be cleared up in 72 hours.

SEARCH FOR PEACE

"With the bombing halt, the search for peace in Vietnam has been advanced by one step. If that's 'brainwashing,' then I'm glad to be brainwashed."

Romney had suggested after President Johnson announced the bombing halt five days before the election that voters might be "brainwashed" into thinking peace is near.

* * *

Hart said he disagreed with Romney's position attributing a last-days shift in the presidential polls to the bombing halt.

"I attribute the shift to the difference between Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon, Ed Muskie and Spiro Agnew," Hart said.

A Look at TV

Vote Coverage Superb

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The nation's election returns turned into a frustrating late, late show on the three major television networks. Returns on the presidential race from most of the big, pivotal states were so close that none dared to project winners.

* * *

Television did a superb job of pulling together reports that started before the Eastern polls closed and continued all night.

* * *

It was enormously complicated, yet ABC, CBS and NBC, each in its own style, managed to keep the public abreast of the changing, tight presidential race and at the same time keep up with the gubernatorial, congressional and local contests.

* * *

One interesting aspect of the coverage was the way all three networks followed approximately the same basic programming pattern. They all cut to reports on local races at about the same time. They often all flashed the same presidential vote totals on their screens at the same time. And frequently all three networks were showing commercials at the same time.

ACCESS TO TALLIES

Since the networks are partners with the Associated Press and United Press International in the National Election Service, which collects the national totals, all had the same access to the vote tabulations at the same time.

Network competition for audiences was mostly confined to the way each, with its computerized projection system, picked winners on the basis of returns in sample precincts.

* * *

As the hours wore on, however projecting winners on incomplete returns slowed to a crawl.

With several tight races in critical states, NBC after midnight was most reluctant. It was holding out against declaring Pennsylvania to Humphrey, although both CBS and ABC, hours before, had had put the state into the Democratic column.

LOOK AT CANDIDATES

From time to time, the statistical business was dropped and the programs moved to the candidates for a look at the action in campaign headquarters or to hear a speech.

* * *

The commentators had to do a lot of commenting after midnight. Eric Sevareid of CBS talked informally with Theodore White, the student of politics, and produced some interesting moments. Gore Vidal and William Buckley continued their commentaries on ABC—but not appearing together. NBC stuck with its regular staff.

* * *

Occasionally some statistics seemed to get a bit scrambled or it was necessary to back away from some projection, but things would soon be straightened out.

All considered, the TV performance was admirable. And there was also excellent radio coverage for those who wanted to save their eyesight.

Opening lead—♠K

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

You don't often find yourself with a part score of 20. The bidding seldom stops at one club or one diamond.

JACOBY

When you do have 20 on your side of the ledger, you don't have to pay much attention to it except to bear in mind that three in a major or four in a minor will now give you game.

★ ★ ★

The advantage of a 4-4 fit in a suit is enough so that the Stayman Convention is in general expert use to find this fit in a major suit after a no-trump opening, but under normal conditions you prefer three no-trump to five-odd in a his trumps. He won the spade lead and played ace and one heart. Later he was able to trump his other two hearts in dummy.

★ ★ ★

The best South can do at no-trump is to make eight tricks. Of course, the defense might slip and give him a ninth, but it is better to have a sure thing going for you.

With 20 on score it becomes common sense to look for minor-suit games since you only need 10 tricks.

South's three-club call represented a common-sense effort to do just that. He had a normal no-trump opening with only 16 high card points, which included three aces and a king.

★ ★ ★

He wanted to go on after his partner raised him to two. At the same time he was looking at a 3-4-2-4 hand pattern and instead of bidding three no-trump, he bid three clubs to suggest a club instead of no-trump contract.

North raised to four clubs and South had no trouble making that contract. He simply timed his play so that he could make a total of six tricks with minor with one of these 4-4 fits.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	4 N.T.
Pass	5 ♥	Pass	5 N.T.
Pass	6 ♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠AK76 ♥KQ94 ♦A ♣KQ107

What do you do now?

A — Bid six spades only. Strangely enough, if your partner had shown no kings you would have bid seven spades but you must assume that your partner doesn't hold very good spades together with two aces and a king, because with that holding he would not have merely bid four spades when he bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one diamond, your partner bids one heart. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

There Is Time for Special Food at Sunday Brunch

Cool weather means the return of that once-a-week treat, Sunday brunch. In many homes, this leisurely meal is the family favorite — it's a time to catch up on family happenings and to enjoy the hearty foods there's never time for during the week

★ ★ ★

And with a few frills added, these standard brunch dishes can become a splendid repast.

The sweet-sour piquancy of the Glazed Sausage and Pineapple derives from the pineapple-prepared yellow mustard glaze. Brown sausages in pineapple rings under the broiler for a minute and serve hot, with fluffy scrambled eggs.

★ ★ ★

As a topper, a home baked coffee cake served warm from the oven has no equal. This Apple Potato Coffee Cake, made with country style mashed potato flakes has a lovely moist texture. It's also quick and easy to prepare or it could be baked a day ahead and reheated before serving.

GLAZED SUSAGE AND PINEAPPLE

1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) pineapple rings
2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard pineapple, saving 2 tablespoons
1 tablespoon brown sugar
12 breakfast sausages

Drain syrup from can of syrup. Combine the syrup, mustard and brown sugar. Brush mustard-pineapple sauce over sausages; and cook over low heat for 15 minutes, turning frequently. Brush additional sauce over sausages while cooking.

★ ★ ★

Place two sausages through each pineapple ring; brush pineapple and sausages with remaining sauce. Broil 1 minute, 6 servings.

APPLE POTATO COFFEE CAKE

⅔ cup mashed potato flakes
½ Cup cold water
¼ Cup cold milk
2 cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ Cup applesauce
1 egg

Topping

¼ Cup brown sugar
¼ Cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon melted butter

Combine potato flakes, water, and milk. When liquid is absorbed, stir lightly with a fork.

In a second bowl combine biscuit mix, granulated sugar and cinnamon. Add mashed potatoes, applesauce and egg. Stir just until blended. Pour into a greased 9-inch cake pan.

To make topping, mix together remaining ingredients and sprinkle over top of dough. Bake in 350 degree oven 35 to 40 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Serve French Fries With Dunking Sauces for Appetizer

Whether it's snack food for teen-agers or party appetizers for adults, a basket of French fries with an appropriate dunking sauce is a perennial favorite.

As a change of pace from the popular combination of French fries and catsup, serve the hot, crisp French fries with a choice of dunking sauces selected for variety in color, flavor and temperature.

WELSH FONDUE

1 Clove garlic
½ cup dry white wine
1 package (12 ounces) frozen Welsh rarebit, thawed

Cut garlic clove into halves; rub earthenware casserole (or fondue pot) with cut surfaces. Discard garlic. Pour white wine into casserole. Place on warming stand over heat source; simmer until wine begins to bubble. Add Welsh rarebit.

Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until cheese mixture is smooth and hot. Makes about 2 cups.

SOUR CREAM & CHIVES DIP

1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
2 tablspoons frozen chives
4 strips cooked bacon, crumbled dash paprika

Mix together sour cream, chives, crumbled bacon and paprika. Cover and chill. Makes about 1¼ cups.

NEW ENGLAND CLAM DIP

1 can (10½ ounces) frozen New England clam chowder
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 drops Tabasco
Dash celery salt

Place unopened can of soup in hot water for about 10 minutes, or until thawed. Meanwhile, let cream cheese soften in mixing bowl at room temperature.

Gradually blend thawed soup into softened cheese, using a spoon, rotary beater or electric mixer. Add seasonings and continue to beat until well mixed. Cover and chill. Makes 1¾ cups.

SANISH RED SAUCE

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup frozen chopped onion
¼ cup frozen chopped green pepper
¾ cup beef broth
1 can (6 ounces) tomato sauce
¼ cup chopped black olives
½ teaspoon crumbled oregano
¼ teaspoon crumbled thyme
½ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne pepper

Heat olive oil in skillet. Add garlic, onion and green pepper; saute until onion and pepper are thawed and tender. Add remaining ingredients and simmer about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes about 2 cups.

Thaw and Stir

If you freeze homogenized milk, stir it a few times when you take it out of the freezer and it begins to thaw; the stirring will help keep it smooth. The milk should be frozen in a paper carton; you can count on it staying in good condition for a couple of months.

For Oyster Fans

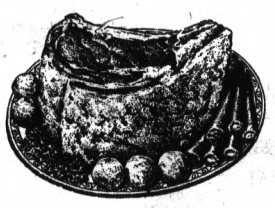

Oysters are truly a delicacy. In a double boiler place the liquid from 2 cans of oysters, a dash cavenne and ½ pound grated American cheese. Heat and stir until cheese melts. Add the oysters and heat. Tastes delicious on toast points.

Swedes: Women's Rights Depend on Male 'Emancipation'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new battle cry is being heard in the struggle for women's rights. Put simply, it's "Emancipate the men!"

A Swedish government report to the United Nations on the status of women says any attempt to give women an equal place in the world without relieving their traditional burden of caring for home and children is doomed.

★ ★ ★

Thus, the Swedes reckon, husbands should be "emancipated" from their work so they can devote more time to cooking dinner, doing the wash, taking Johnny to the dentist and other housewifely chores.

Undoubtedly this would mean giving most men shorter working hours and educating and encouraging them to take a more active role in parenthood, the report says.

FATHERS' RIGHTS

It even goes so far as to note a suggestion voiced in some Swedish quarters that fathers are entitled to leaves of absence from their jobs—with pay—so they can stay at home while their children are young.

"The government is well aware that this view appears revolutionary and unrealistic in the eyes of the representatives of many other countries," the Swedes admit. "A growing opinion in Sweden has, however, rallied to its support."

★ ★ ★

In a country where four out of every 10 workers are women and 70 per cent of its women hold jobs of some sort, the problem of working mothers in Sweden is a burning public issue.

This lively debate, the report says, has fostered a new approach involving a break from the traditional habit of regarding these problems strictly as "women's questions."

RELATES TO CRIME

"The demand for 'male emancipation' in family life is supported by the results of recent psychological research which have proved that the identification of growing boys may become uncertain in a one-sided, mother-dominated home environment," the report says, adding that this leads to "overcompensation expressed in exaggerated agressiveness and may be one explanation of the higher crime rate as compared to girls."

Public demand has therefore spurred socialist Sweden to do more for families in which both parents work, a practice that is becoming almost normal, the report says. It lists a broad range of family services available to Sweden's population, from all-day nurseries to domestic help supplied by municipalities.

But does it follow that what's good for Sweden is good for the United States?

Yes, says Dr. Margaret Mead, eminent anthropologist, longtime observer of the role of women in American society and editor of a presidential commission report on equal rights for women in the United States.

"As long as we put women in the position of caring for two jobs, it isn't equality at all," she says.

Miss Mead endorses the Swedish approach to working mothers, but believes the problem can't be solved merely by giving husbands more time and responsibility around the house.

★ ★ ★

As she sees it, the problem is also deeply rooted in the "isolation of the contemporary American family."

Consider the plight of the average family in suburbia, she says. Getting the kids to nursery school or shopping for the family needs can easily entail driving 15 miles. When the kitchen sink springs a leak, it means waiting two weeks for the plumber to come and fearing to venture out for a few hours because no one might be home when he arrives. Then it means another week's wait.

"We have turned the modern family into a power plant that is expected to operate entirely under its own steam," she says. "Present methods of organized living in the United States are probably the most wasteful in all of history."

Every 20 or so homes in the typical American suburb should have someone paid to wait around for the plumber or take care of the children when they're sick and both parents are working, she argues.

★ ★ ★

"Really," she adds, "a chief justice has better things to do than stay up all night with his grandchild or mow the lawn."

The Swedish government report also makes a number of other somewhat controversial points on the women's rights question.

MAJOR POINTS

Some examples:

- "The character of matrimony of women according to the Occidental tradition has become an indirect obstacle to her emancipation in modern industrial society."
- If women are to have full equality, they must assume a greater share of what has traditionally been considered manly obligations, such as the support of women according to the Occidental tradition has been an indirect obstacle to her emancipation in modern industrial society."
- If women are to have full equality, they must assume a greater share of what has traditionally been considered manly obligations, such as trade union and political activity and sharing in the Occidental tradition has financial support for the children.
- Women should "not be able to acquire social status and privileges automatically by virtue of their husbands' contribution to public life."

Water Pollution Blamed

Russia Facing a Caviar Crisis

MOSCOW (AP) — Surprising as it may sound, the average Russian rarely can find a store selling one of his country's most famous products—caviar.

He'll be lucky if he can buy a jar of the traditional holiday delicacy to serve during the biggest holiday of the year, Thursday's anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

★ ★ ★

There is a growing shortage of caviar, so almost all of it is reserved for the valuable export trade, and only limited supplies are released to Soviet citizens before holidays.

Now even these limited supplies are threatened, as the number of caviar-producing sturgeon continues to dwindle.

WATER POLLUTION

The fish which produces the black eggs so prized by gourmets has been hurt partly by pollution of the Caspian Sea and the Volga River, which flows into it.

The problem is so critical that last month the Soviet government issued a decree ordering the installation of antipollution shields on all offshore oil installations in the Caspian Sea and the creation of water purification stations at 100 industrial enterprises in the area.

★ ★ ★

The decree made the northern part of the Caspian a fish preserve.

In addition to the problem of pollution, sturgeon are threatened by a drop in the level of the Caspian Sea. The drop has disturbed some breeding grounds in the Volga's delta and also has made it more difficult for upstream spawning sturgeon to enter the Volga for their long trip north.

LEVEL HAS DROPPED

Soviet scientists say the Caspian's level has dropped about seven feet since 1931, and is now at its lowest in 1,500 years.

★ ★ ★

The drop is attributed partly to long-range shifts in climate, but nature is not the only one to blame. Men have reduced the amount of water flowing into the Caspian from the Volga and other rivers by building dams and by draining off river water for drinking, industrial use and irrigation.

With high-priced black caviar in short supply, a valuable Soviet export trade has suffered.

Seeking other ways of earning hard currency, exporters are using lower-priced red caviar, produced by salmon, as an increasing part of total caviar exports.

RISE IN EXPORTS

Last year's total tonnage of Soviet caviar exports jumped 29 per cent to 900.5 tons from the year before. But because much of it was lower-priced red caviar, the value of the sales dropped 4 per cent to 4.7 million rubles, equal to $5.2 million at the official exchange rate.

An official of Prodintorg, the government agency that handles such exports, complained: "We do not have enough resources of black caviar. We have to sell more red."

★ ★ ★

Salmon breeding grounds in the Soviet far east, where red caviar is produced, are relatively free of such problems as pollution and lower water level.

Seeking more black caviar, to make more money on the world market, Soviet exporters have turned to importing Iranian black caviar into the Soviet Union, then reexporting it at a profit.

Such Iranian imports climbed to 77 tons last year from 55 in 1966.

STOPGAP MEASURE

Western experts say this is only a stopgap measure which cannot solve the basic problem of a dwindling Soviet supply of black caviar.

To solve the problem Soviet scientists have made several proposals.

★ ★ ★

One is the use of antipollution devices, such as those mentioned in the recent decree. An experimental antipollution program, preceding the decree, cut pollution in half for the first six months of this year in a southern area of the Caspian, an official report said.

Another proposal is to divert water from northern rivers into the Volga and other rivers flowing into the Caspian, thus raising the level of the Caspian and adding clean water to it. "A lot of money would be involved in such a scheme," one Western expert said.

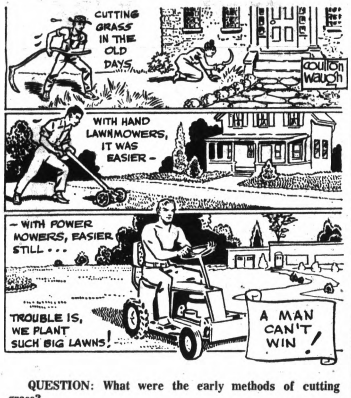

MUST BE DOUBLED

Some sturgeon stocks have been replenished from 14 hatcheries which produce more than 50 million fish a year. Soviet experts say the number of hatcheries must be doubled to alleviate the crisis.

For caviar available, Russians can expect to pay about $21 a kilogram for black caviar and about $9 a kilo for red. A kilogram is 2.2 pounds.

Some caviar is available for Russians in restaurants, for consumption on the premises with black bread and vodka. A number of black marketers have indirect access to a Moscow store selling caviar all year round to foreigners with hard currency such as dollars. These illegal private enterprises then sell bootleg caviar to Russians at high ruble prices.

Junior Editors Quiz on LAWN MOWERS

QUESTION: What were the early methods of cutting grass?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: From ancient civilized times, men have cut grasses. Old pictures and carvings show a curved knife with a handle, the sickle, and a larger blade mounted on a long handle, the scythe, being used to mow down grain and hay.

Sickles, being lighter, were often used by women, with men handling the scythe. Grass was raised more for use than beauty in the older days. As gardens became more popular, there came a demand for neat clean areas of grass.

At first, the ancient scythe and sickle had to be used (top picture). Then came the invention of a machine, pushed by hand, whose outer wheels rotated interior spiral grass cutters.

By 1920, such hand lawn mowers were in use all over the country. But the businessman, home from work, found it tiring to have to push such a machine all over his lawn.

Then arrived the power lawn mower, which seemed to have solved the problem. But did it? Now it is tempting to plant a bigger lawn; and the bigger the lawn, the more time it takes to cut it.

Close Vote Elects Nixon President

Midwest, California Crucial

By The Associated Press

Republican Richard M. Nixon won the election for 37th President of the United States on the basis of nearly-complete returns late this morning. His victory was by an eyelash in the popular vote and by a wider margin in the electoral college vote. Late returns from Illinois appeared to put him over the top.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon smashed to victory early today in California and Ohio and pushed to within a whisker of election as the 37th President of the United States.

The two states pumped a massive 66 electoral votes into Nixon's growing lead over Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey in a sizzlingly close race.

★ ★ ★

If Nixon scrambles to a win in Illinois — and he was in the lead — he would have the big prize that eluded him in a razor-thin loss to John F. Kennedy in 1960.

In popular votes Nixon and Humphrey were in a virtual tie.

But in the more important electoral votes, Nixon surged this morning to a lead of 261 to 172. The number necessary for victory is 270.

TOTAL FROZENS

Humphrey's total stood frozen for hours. American Independent George C. Wallace, who said on the eve of balloting that the race really was between him and Nixon, was a distant third with 45, all in the Deep South.

Nixon knocked off Humphrey in Ohio by the thinnest of margins. With 98 per cent of the vote counted Nixon had 1,766,384 to 1,658,933 for the Democratic vice president.

★ ★ ★

In California, with 95 per cent of the precincts reporting Nixon had 3,183,897 and Humphrey 3,054,577.

Nixon's press chief, Herbert G. Klein, had claimed Nixon would carry the state by 300,000 votes.

SLIM HUMPHREY CHANCE

Humphrey's only chance — and it was diminishing rapidly — was to deny Nixon an Electoral College victory and have the House decide the presidency.

To accomplish this, Humphrey had to keep Nixon's total beneath 270. Nixon, meanwhile, could end it all by taking Illinois or by beating out Humphrey in any one of three other undecided states: Maryland, Missouri or Washington.

★ ★ ★

Even if Humphrey won all four he still would be short of an electoral majority.

The National Broadcasting Co. declared Richard H. Nixon the winner of the presidential election at 10:32 a.m. today. ABC projected his election at 8:20 a.m.

★ ★ ★

NBC said Nixon captured Illinois' 26 electoral votes, giving him 287 electoral votes. The margin needed for victory is 270.

HUMPHREY: 'A DONNYBROOK'

Humphrey went to bed early this morning without making specific predictions. He said the elections count was "a donnybrook and anything can happen." He said he is "optimistic."

Klein said canvasses of party leaders indicate Nixon would carry Illinois by up to 250,000 votes. He said Ohio is "clearly going to Nixon" but gave no estimates on the possible margin.

★ ★ ★

The popular balloting the contest looks this way: Nixon 26,081,338, or 43 per cent, and Humphrey 25,775,631 or 43 per cent.

Third party Candidate George C. Wallace of Alabama collected a minimum of 39 electoral votes—exactly the number chalked up in 1948 by then

Watches Returns Come In at Home

It's a Lonely Vigil for Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It began as a one man adventure and at the end George C. Wallace seemed terribly alone.

★ ★ ★

He sat in a beige leather chair opposite the large brick fireplace in his paneled den, almost oblivious to the few around him, and watched the results of his long ordeal flicker on the color television screen.

★ ★ ★

"I've got a good popular vote," he said. "It's all right. It's all right."

Most of the Wallace staff was at a motel across from the coliseum, waiting for him. His running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, was waiting there too, and Wallace talked to him once by phone early in the evening.

★ ★ ★

He talked twice by phone to a top assistant, Cecil Jackson, but both calls were incoming and apart from them his staff did not bother him.

★ ★ ★

As Wallace, his daughters, a few aides and reporters watched the returns, they heard a television commentator remark that Wallace had "gone down to ignominious defeat." He made the remark when 17 per cent of the vote was in and Wallace's total was 3,436,000.

★ ★ ★

Wallace bristled. "A Deep Southerner getting that many votes," Wallace said, "is not ignominious."

★ ★ ★

He said it looked as though he would get 10 million votes in all.

★ ★ ★

"I think 10 million would be a mighty good vote," he said.

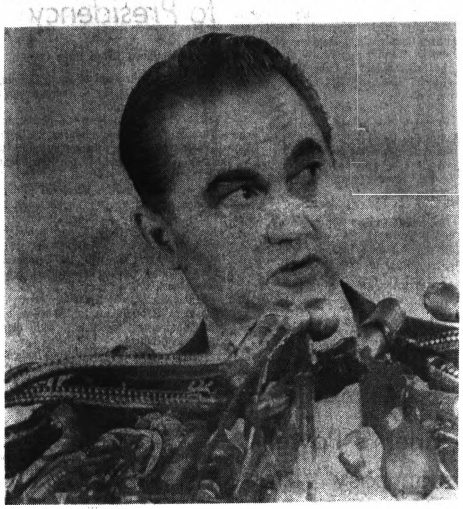

★ ★ ★

He rarely revealed disappointment. "Maybe," he said at one point, "we should have concentrated more in the border states and the South — but we didn't want it to be a sectional movement."

★ ★ ★

Later his speech at the coliseum was brief. He introduced his family, his staff and his running mate and concluded:

"The election is not over yet."

Richard M. Nixon, Apparent Winner Of The Presidency

Democrats Retain Control of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats have retained control of a Congress that may be called on to elect the next president and vice president.

But the crosscurrents of an extraordinary election left in utter doubt the crucial questions whether the House would get the presidential decision and if it does whether a Democratic majority would elect the party's nominee, Hubert A. Humphrey.

★ ★ ★

Democrats were assured a numerical majority in both branches of Congress,

keeping a grip on the key Senate and House offices and committee chairmanships that play major roles in shaping and handling legislation.

Their margins were reduced, however, in both chambers. They had controlled the old House, 246 to 186, with three vacancies, and the Senate, 63 to 37.

18 SEATS UNDECIDED

Returns tabulated so far gave Democrats 234 of the 435 seats in the new House and Republican 183, with 18 races still undecided.

In the 100-member Senate, where 34 seats were to be filled, Democrats were assured of control with 54, including holdover members, and Republicans 39. In the undecided races, Democrats led for five seats and Republicans for two.

★ ★ ★

If no presidential ticket wins a majority of the electoral vote, the House elects a president and the Senate a vice president.

But the election in the House would be by states, with 26 votes needed for victory. The makeup, and in addition the disposition, of each state delegation are what would count.

3 DELEGATIONS TIED

Early estimates were that Humphrey might be able to count on 13 states with predominantly Democratic delegations, and Republican Richard M. Nixon on 15 dominated by members of his party.

Three state delegations were tied and the status of the others was clouded by various factors. Some states were carried by third party candidate George C. Wallace and in others newly elected members had pledged themselves in various ways to vote for the candidate favored by popular vote, regardless of party.

★ ★ ★

In any case, switches among the electors, most of whom are legally free agents, could settle the election by Dec. 16, when they meet in their respective states.

Wallace, who won at least 39 electoral votes, repeatedly has said the election would never be allowed to go to the House, although he has denied making any deals with the other candidates.

The 91st Congress, it was evident, will look much like its predecessor, although the GOP gains and the return of Southern Democrats who frequently vote with Republicans, would give it a somewhat more conservative cast.

California Community Rejects Name Change

EAST PALO ALTO, Calif., (AP) — A proposal to change the name of predominantly Negro East Palo Alto to Nairobi went down to defeat.

★ ★ ★

Resident in the area, about 90 per cent Negro, voted 2,982 to 1,332 against changing the name of the East Palo Alto Municipal Council to Nairobi Municipal Council.

★ ★ ★

A change would have been tantamount to naming the unincorporated area Nairobi after the capital city of Kenya.

President Could Be 2-Month Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP) — If none of the three presidential candidates managed a clear victory in yesterday's election, voters may not know the name of their next president until next year.

To win based on yesterday's popular result, a candidate needed to capture states with at least 270 electoral votes. If none succeeded, the electors — by switching votes away from the popular winner in some states — could still give one candidate a winning majority in their balloting next month.

★ ★ ★

But if no candidate won that test, then the problem of choosing the 37th president would face the newly elected House of Representatives when it meets in January.

Each state has a membership in the Electoral College equal to its total representation in the Senate and the House. The District of Columbia gets three votes in the college. The total membership is 538. The 270 votes needed for election is a simple majority.

SLATE OF ELECTORS

When citizens vote for a presidential candidate, they actually cast their ballots for a slate of electors announced as supporting one candidate. The entire slate backing a state's popular vote winner becomes that state's electors.

★ ★ ★

The electors will meet in their respective state capitals Dec. 16 to vote for a candidate.

The big question as to the Electoral College vote, however, comes because of possible switching of loyalties between now and Dec. 16.

Each elector will cast one vote for a presidential candidate and one for a vice presidential candidate. Their ballots will be sealed and sent to Washington to be opened Jan. 6 before a joint session of Congress.

★ ★ ★

If no presidential candidate had the needed 270 electoral votes, the House would begin balloting immediately from among the top three candidates.

Each state delegation would have one vote.

By The Associated Press

Michigan's voters yesterday vehemently slapped down a ballot proposal to legalize graduated income taxes, but gave approval to a $335 million bond issue for water pollution control.

The fate of a companion bond proposal, which would authorize the state to borrow $100 million for an accelerated recreation program, was in doubt.

The vote on the question of daylight savings time for Michigan, meanwhile, was too close to call.

With 85.7 per cent of the precincts counted, the graduated tax amendment trailed by a three-to-one margin: 1,628,231 to 524,357.

UNIQUE PROVISION

If approved, it would have deleted a unique provision in the Michigan Constitution which forbids the Legislature or local units of government to levy graduated income taxes.

The state now levies a flat-rate 2.6 per cent personal income tax. Cities are authorized to levy taxes of 1 per cent on residents and one-half per cent on nonresidents. Detroit, under a special law, levies a 2 per cent resident tax.

The proposal which would keep Michigan on Daylight Savings Time led by an insignificant margin: 1,163,902 to 1,160,241.

In 1967 the Legislature voted to exempt Michigan from the 1966 federal law requiring savings time each summer around the nation. Fast-time advocates, however, circulated referendum petitions and put the question on the ballot.

TWO BOND ISSUES

Running ahead were proposals authorizing state bond issues of $335-million for water pollution control and of $100 million for an accelerated program of acquisition and construction of recreational facilities.

Gov. George Romney strongly backed both bond issues, which he originally proposed, and stumped the state urging their approval.

Rain Likely to Change to Light Snow Tonight

Occasional light rain tonight possibly mixed with snow is expected to change to light snow early tomorrow.

There's a chance of rain or snow tomorrow with temperatures ranging from 35 to 44. Cloudy, colder and a chance of snow flurries is the outlook for Friday.

Thirty-five was the low prior to 8 a.m. The 12:30 p.m. recording was 48. Tonight's low will register in the mid 30s.

GOP Keeps 2 Congressional Seats

Oakland County's two Republican incumbents in the U.S. House of Representatives rode to comparatively easy reelection victories in yesterday's balloting.

Both William S. Broomfield in the 18th District and Jack H. McDonald in the 19th District were assured of new two-year terms starting in January. The posts pay $30,000 per year.

* * *

Broomfield has been a representative since 1956. McDonald won his initial term in 1966.

With 221 out of 261 precincts in the 18th reporting by midmorning, Broomfield had accumulated 111,592 votes while Democratic challenger Allen Zemmol of Beverly Hills had polled 68,374. Only Southfield's 40 precincts had failed to be counted by midmorning.

28,000-VOTE WINNER

McDonald, a Redford Township Supervisor and chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors before his election to the house had a 102,196 vote total in the 19th District to beat Pontiac attorney Gary R. Frink by about 28,000 votes. With complete returns reported Frink had polled 74,127.

McDonald maintained superiority in both traditionally Republican Oakland County and in the areas of Wayne County which are included in the 19th Congressional District.

McDonald's totals; by county were Oakland, 67,909; Wayne, 34,287. Frink's totals, by count were Oakland, 46,498; Wayne, 27,629.

* * *

For Broomfield it was a continuation of a winning pattern he has enjoyed for 20 years. Royal Oak resident, Broomfield, 46, was elected to the State House of Representatives in 1948. He served there until winning election to the State Senate in 1954.

RANKING GOP

Broomfield is ranking Republican on the Far East Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Last year he was appointed to represent the U. S. in the United Nations.

McDonald, 36, who maintains a residence in Redford, began his public career with appointment as supervisor of the census in Wayne County in 1960.

* * *

He was elected to the first of three successive two-year terms as Redford Township supervisor in 1961.

The reelection of the two Republican incumbents was expected, but it may also be an indication that area voters prefer a more conservative approach to the nation's problems.

DOVELIKE STANCE

While it may have had nothing to do with their defeat, both Frink and Zemmol took a more dovelike stance on Vitenam than their political opponents.

Frink called the reduction of U. S. involvement in the war his uppermost aim. Zemmol, a graduate of Wayne State University and the University of Michigan Law School, is a law partner of U. S. Representative John Dingell, D-16th Dist. He said there is no public support for the Veitnam war.

Bullets? Ballots?

Republicans Gain Control of Top County Exec Posts

By JIM LONG

Republicans gained control of the county's top administrative positions, winning four of the five key races yesterday.

GOP candidates for the offices of clerk-register of deeds, sheriff, treasurer and drain commissioner rolled up sizable margins over their opponents.

* * *

It was a different story in the race for Oakland County Prosecutor where Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn lost to Thomas G. Plunkett, the chief assistant prosecutor.

* * *

The outcome was uncertain until Southfield, the last community to total its results, were complete.

VOTE STABILITY

It will be the first time in nearly four years the Republicans have held the balance of power in the county administration. The posts of prosecutor, treasurer and clerk have been held by Democrats.

* * *

Winning by the largest margin, and at the same time polling the highest number of votes of any candidate on the ballots was incumbent Sheriff Frank Irons.

* * *

Unofficial returns show that Irons, 69, easily won a seventh term over Ruel E. McPherson, 31, a Hazel Park constable.

ALLEN VICTORY

Pontiac optometrist Lynn D. Allen, 43, defeated Shane F. Murphy, 27, of Royal Oak, the deputy county treasurer.

Murphy sought the position after his father, County Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy apparently drowned in a boating accident in Lake Michigan this summer. His body has never been recovered.

* * *

C. Hugh Dohany, 48, the treasurer of Southfield, toppled incumbent treasurer James E. Seeterlin, who has held the post since he was appointed in 1965 to fill the vacancy created by Republican Charles Sparks.

* * *

Reelected Drain Commissioner was Daniel W. Barry, 45. Barry, who has held the post since 1957, defeated Robert M. Simburger of Ferndale.

SALARY RANGES

All five county offices are four-year terms.

The annual salary for each of the office holders, except the prosecutor, is tentatively set at $19,500, beginning the first of the year. The prosecutor would receive $24,000.

Harlem's Powell Is an Easy Victor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Adam Clayton Powell won reelection to the Harlem congressional district he has represented in Washington or from the isle of Bimini for 26 years.

* * *

Powell, who had served 24 years in the House until he was excluded for failing to obey court orders in connection with a slander suit, defeated Republican candidate Henry L. Hall by 36,973 to 7,290. Both Powell, a Democrat, and Hall are Negroes.

* * *

The victory was Powell's 14th in the district, counting his triumph in a special election in April 1967 to fill his seat, which the House had declared vacant.

Powell has spent most of the time the past two years at his home on Bimini. His only campaigning consisted of sermons delivered at the Abyssinian Baptist Church, where he is pastor.

Nixon Is Close to Presidency

Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina when President Harry S. Truman won a clear electoral majority.

The close battle between Nixon and Humphrey increased chances Wallace's electors might get the opportunity to make a winner of either the Republican or the Democrat.

A stalemate in the Electoral College electors might get the opportunity to where Democrats retained mechanical control although Republicans inched up their strength. In a situation where each state would cast one vote, the Democrats were pointed toward control of more delegations.

In the Senate, which would pick a vice president, Republicans tallied gains, but the Democrats were left with clear numerical control.

In the governor contests that have little over-all national impact but offer the winning party grass-roots power, Republicans increased their present majority of 26.

BLISS GIVES VIEW

Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss this morning described the election results as a "cliffhanger" which the GOP would win because it was then moving ahead in the crucial states of New Jersey, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Bliss continued to predict a Nixon victory in Texas, saying he understood Dallas-area returns were delayed by computer trouble.

Bliss contended as he has throughout that the Republicans had a good chance of winning California.

300 TOTAL SEEN

One of Nixon's top advisers, Herbert G. Klein, claimed that the Republican candidate would wind up with an electoral majority of more than 300.

Klein said that Wallace "cut in on us heavily" in Pennsylvania, which Humphrey won. No Republican has been elected president in this century without Pennsylvania's support.

If the issue should go to the Electoral College, members could cross party lines. Only 16 states and the District of Columbia bind their electors to support the popular-vote winner and even those laws have not been tested for constitutionality.

All State Legislators in County Reelected

Oakland County's six Republican and four Democrat state representatives were returned to office by comfortable margins yesterday, according to unofficial returns.

Most of the incumbents won by margins of 4,000 to 8,000 votse. The stiffest challenge was waged by Republican Richard H. Sanderson of Clawson in the 66th District, while GOP Representative William P. Hampton ran away with the race in the 65th District.

★ ★ ★

Bill S. Huffman, 43, of Madison Heights won his fourth term in the Legislature in the 66th Distirct with 15,639 votes to 12,756 for Sanderson in the traditionally Democratic district.

The district includes south Troy, Clawson, Madison Heights and north Hazel Park.

HUFFMAN, SANDERSON WIN

Huffman took Madison Heights where he was mayor and Hazel Park while Sanderson, an engineering staff assistant at GMC Truck and Coach Division in Pontiac, won Clawson and Troy.

Hampton, majority floor leader from Bloomfield Hills, won reelection to his third term in the Michigan House with a landslide victory of 37,672 ballots to Harry J. McGowan Jr.'s 9,961.

★ ★ ★

The 65th district includes Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and portions of Southfield Township and Royal Oak.

In four years in the State House, Hampton has stamped himself as one of his party's leaders. At 30 years of age, he has been the youngest majority floor leader in the history of the State House of Representatives. Other races went this way:

● In the 60th District, which covers the western portion of the county and a section of Genesee County, Republican Clifford H. Smart, 19,700; Democrat William E. Todd, 11,618.

Smart, 63, of Walled Lake, was first elected to the house in 1964. He is chairman of its education committee and was school superintendent in Walled Lake for 20 years before his election to the house.

● Republican State Representative Loren D. Anderson of Waterford Township defeated Donald L. Collier by a 3-to-2 margin in the 61st District.

Anderson, who was first elected to the House in 1966, polled 18,690 votes to 12,097 for Collier, a Waterford Township businessman.

The 61st District includes Springfield, Independence, White Lake and Waterford Townships.

● Democrat Arthur J. Law was victorious in the 62nd District by almost 5,000 votes. He defeated Howard L. Dell, 12,534 to 7,821. The district includes 36 precincts in Pontiac.

A member of the House Appropriations Committee for the last four years, he has served in the legislature for five terms.

★ ★ ★

● GOP incumbent Donald E. Bishop of Avon Township won a second term in office as a representative of the 63rd District, which spans the northeastern section of the county.

He polled 18,382 votes to Democrat Ronald S. Knowles' 12,276. Knowles is a business executive who lives in Addison Township.

Incumbent Republican Raymond L. Baker of Farmington outpolled his opponent, Leonard P. Baruch of Southfield, 21,269 to 16,128 in the 64th district.

Baker, a pharmacist, has served five terms as state representative. The 64th District covers West Bloomfield and Farmington Townships Lathrup Village and a portion of Southfield.

★ ★ ★

● Democrat Albert A. Kramer of Oak Park won the heavily Democratic 67th District by more than a 2-to-1 margin over William E. Kish.

Kramer, who will serve his third term, received 25,514 votes to Kish's 10,571. Kramer has his own law practice in Detroit.

● In the 68th District in Royal Oak, GOP State Representative William Hayward of Royal Oak won his sixth term in office.

He polled 16,938 votes to 12,248 for Wallance J. Reynolds of Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

● The 69th District, including Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge, reelected Democrat Daniel S. Cooper of Oak Park. He received 18,004 votes to 10,044 for Larue T. Mead.

Cooper, a lawyer in Southfield, has served two terms in the House.

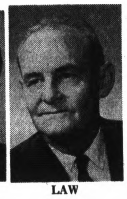

State representatives serve for two year terms at a salary of $12,500 per year plus $2,500 for expenses.

1,800-Mile Trip Is Made in Vain

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Marine Cpl. Mark Bellnap, 21, of Des Moines, journeyed 1,800 miles home by train to vote Tuesday only to learn he wasn't eligible.

Cpl. Bellnap said he was told by the county auditor's office his name wasn't on the list of registered voters, even though he hadn't received an absentee ballot for which he'd applied.

★ ★ ★

The servicemen said he asked for and received a 10-day leave last Friday from Santa Ana, Calif., when his mother told him his absentee ballot had been sent to Vietnam, where he was previously stationed.

"It makes me mad," he said, "I've been pretty critical of the government in the past, and I feel that if I don't vote, I have no right to criticize."

State School Board Seats Go to Dems

By The Associated Press

Democrats held their 6-2 majority on the State Board of Education today as incumbent Marilyn Jean Kelly and Michael Deeb captured 57 per cent of the vote in incomplete returns.

With nearly 62 per cent of the precincts reporting, the unofficial vote tallies for the two board seats were: Miss Kelly, 992,534; Deeb, 956,065; James Ten Brink, 743,261; Mrs. Don (Barabara) Dumouchelle, 718,316.

★ ★ ★

Miss Kelly of Detroit sought a second eight-year term. Democrat Carmen Delli Quadri of Houghton did not seek reelection.

Miss Kelly disagreed with those who warned that if the state paid the bill it also would take command of local school districts.

Deeb, 33, a teacher at Highland Park Community College, said he also was not opposed to state financing.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dumouchelle of Grosse Ile had warned of the "danger" of state financing and Ten Brink, 62, retiring superintendent of the Muskegon Area Intermediate School District, called for elementary and secondary education to receive "the interest it rightfully deserves."

Dems Claim State House

By the Associated Press

Democrats claimed victory today in the struggle for control of the 110-seat Michigan House of Representatives. Incomplete returns showed one Republican legislator defeated and several others in danger.

Republicans had hoped to retain their razor-thin 55-54 majority in the chamber. There is one vacant seat.

★ ★ ★

Unofficial vote tabulations showed freshman Rep. Johannes Kolderman, R-Wyonimg, being upset by Democrat Jelt Sietsema of Grand Rapids.

In Detroit, Rep. Anthony Licata, a Republican, was running behind Democrat Casmer Ogonowski. Three-term Rep. Stanley Powell, R-Ionia trailed Democrat Leo Barth of Freeport 4,102 to 1550 with 20 of the district's 48 precincts reporting.

RUNNING BEHIND

However Democrat Rep. Jack Gingrass of Iron Mountain was running behind challenger John D. Payant of Kingsford in scattered, early returns.

A recount appeared certain in Lansing's 57th District, where incumbent Republican Rep. Thomas Brown held a 47-vote edge over former Democratic State Treasurer Sanford Brown with only two of the district's 45 precincts unreported.

★ ★ ★

"Our indicator precincts show that we will win control of the State House of Representatives," said Democratic State Chairman Sander Levin of Berkley, in an early-morning statement.

Negroes gained one seat in the House, making a total of 10. Negro Nellis J. Saunders, who defeated Rep. Thomas White, D-Detroit, in the Aug. 6 primary, won handily in her inner city district.

★ ★ ★

Connor Smith, currently a member of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, apparently was unsuccessful in his bid to unseat Rep. George Prescott, R-Tawas City.

In Flint, Rep. Albert R. Horrigan, who won in 1966 by only 81 votes, succeeded this time in defeating Republican F. Robert Edwards by 1,814.

Dems Sweep College Boards

By the Associated Press

Democrats swept three statewide college board races today on the strength of a heavily Democratic tide in Wayne County.

With some 67 per cent of the precincts reporting, the unofficial vote totals for various boards (two elected to each board) were:

Michigan State University: Blanche Martin, 1,035,050; Warren Huff, 1,028,122; Richard Ernst, 809,932; David Diehl, 804,374.

University of Michigan: Robert Nederlander, 1,054,371; Gerald Dunn, 1,008,031; Frederick Matthaei Jr., 824,483 Lawrence Lindemer, 808,577.

Wayne State University: George C. Edwards III, 1,074,291; Augustus Calloway, 1,045,392; Victor Raviolo, 794,250; Kurt Keydel, 793,978.

In one case, the Humphrey-Democrat sweep ousted two incumbent Republicans. Matthaei and Lindemer both had been appointed this year to the U-M board vacancies by Gov. George Romney.

Their defeat leaves Republicans with a 5-3 majority on the board.

★ ★ ★

Nederlander, 35, is a Detroit attorney and Dunn, 33, of Flushing is director of federal and state relations for the Grand Rapids Board of Education.

Democrats maintained their long-time majority on the MSU board — 5-3 — and as much as assured continuation of the university's controversial sliding-scale tuition plan.

CAMPAIGN ISSUE

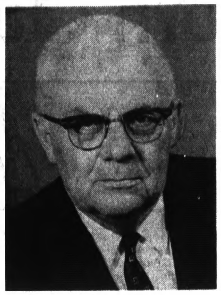

Republican Ernst had mentioned possible repeal of the plan, while Huff and Martin supported it. The plan was adopted by the predominantly Democratic board last year over Republican opposition.

★ ★ ★

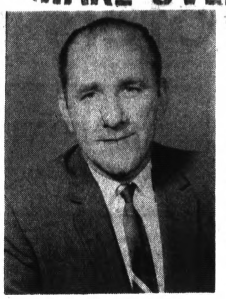

Martin, 31, of East Lansing is a dentist and former star football player at MSU. He is the first Negro to be elected to the board. Huff, 59, of Plymouth is a former board member who was defeated two years ago.

★ ★ ★

The WSU board — split 4-4 by the Democratic victory — puts into office the 60-year-old Calloway, director of community affairs for Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Detroit and Edwards, 27, a Detroit attorney and son of U.S. Appeals Court Judge George Edwards.

FRANK A. LANE

CHARLES W. RICHARDS

GOP Takes Two Seats on Waterford Board

Both Republicans swept to victory yesterday in the three-way race for two seats on the Waterford Board of Trustees.

New trustees will be Frank A. Lane, 67, of 5801 Crescent and Charles W. Richards, 41, of 4215 Grayton. Lane's total vote was 10,584 and Richards outpolled him slightly with 10,716.

★ ★ ★

Democratic loser was William J. Dean Jr. of 4355 Forest with 9,346 votes. Another Democrat also appeared on the ballot but had announced she was not running following her primary victory. However, Mrs. Geraldine Olson of 2209 Fortress still managed to collect 7,930 votes.

The new trustees will serve four-year terms at a salary rate of $15 per meeting.

HEADS GOP CLUB

New Trustee Lane retired in 1962 from the engineering department of GMC Truck and Coach Division, has been a township resident since 1930 and is president of the Waterford Township Republican Club.

Richards is a native of Waterford Township and is a body designer for Chrysler Corp. in Highland Park.

★ ★ ★

Lane and Richards will replace Republican E. Frank Richardson and Democrat E. Richmond.

The two men opposed each other in seeking a position on the newly reapportioned Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The Republican, Richardson, won the seat—one of two for the Waterford Township area on the new board. The second seat also went to a Republican, Mahlon A. Benson Jr. of 2925 Old Orchard.

Voters Update Coroner's Post

Voters overwhelmingly approved the county ballot proposition by a count of 175,796 to 68,984 with returns from 40 precincts in Southfield yet to be counted.

The yes vote means that the present office of coroner will be replaced by a more modern medical examiner system.

The coroner, who is the county health director in Oakland County, and his 35-40 assistants, are mainly responsible for investigating the cause of sudden, accidental and violent deaths.

The new system will allow the medical examiner to cut red tape and have an autopsy performed whenever he decides one is needed to determine the cause of death. The present system makes it necessary for the coroner to hold an inquest, or secure written permission, to perform an autopsy.

No additional county funds are needed to change systems.

About 80 per cent of the state's population, in 27 counties including Wayne, Washtenaw and Kalamazoo, is already using the medical examiner system.

12 New Judges Are Elected

Twelve judges were elected to Oakland County district courts yesterday.

The office was created earlier this year by the state legislature to replace justices of the peace. The judges will begin their duties in January. They will receive a maximum salary of $27,500, $18,500 from the state, and up to $9,000 from the county.

★ ★ ★

In District 50, the city of Pontiac, longtime Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum and County Probate Register James R. Stelt, won the two judicial positions.

McCallum received 8,208 votes, and Stelt 6,817, defeating Robert E. Cunningham with 5,323 and David E. Utley with 4,554.

WATERFORD WINNER

In Waterford Townshkp, District 51, Justice of the Peace Kenneth H. Hempstead, received 8,248 votes to defeat Robert C. Anderson, who had 7,046.

★ ★ ★

The two judges elected in District 48, the Birmingham - Bloomfield area, are Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Alice Gilbert, with 26,081 votes, and former Birmingham City Commissioner Carl Ingraham with 16,330.

★ ★ ★

They defeated Gus Cifelli, 14,456 votes, and Bloomfield Hills Justice Jack Baldwin, 10,694.

Winning in District 52, first division, Martin L. Boyle, Milford Justice of the Peace, defeated Commerce Township Justice John C. Weick, 6,569 to 5,615.

McNALLY VICTOR

In the second division of District 52, White Lake Township Justice Gerald E. McNally outpolled Springfield Township Justice of the Peace Emmett J. Lieb, 7,925, to 5,796.

Rochester attorney Robert L. Shipper received 7,966 votes to defeat Robert O. Allen, county corporation counsel, 6,273, for judge in District 52's third division.

★ ★ ★

In south Oakland County's 44th District, Royal Oak Municipal Judge Elmer E. Hartwig polled 12,498 votes to defeat Leroy McEntee, 11,855. McEntee is legal counsel for the Oakland County Road Commission.

In the Farmington area, the post went to Michael J. Hand, Farmington municipal judge. He defeated Earl C. Opperthauser, a Farmington Township trustee, 8,888 to 7,392 in District 47.

SOUTHFIELD AREA

The two judge positions in District 46 in the Southfield area went to Southfield Municipal Judge Clarence E. Reid Jr., and Southfield Mayor James Clarkson, with votes of 16,902 and 16,066 respectively.

Losing in District 46 were Theodore Sura, Southfield Justice of the Peace, with 7,413, and Orland H. Ellis, Southfield Township Justice, 5,994.

★ ★ ★

In those districts where two judges were elected the top voter-getter will serve a six-year term; the runnerup, a four-year term. A six-year term also will be served by those winning in a single-judge district.

Appeals Court Races Close

By the Associated Press

Four men battled through extremely close early voting Tuesday in the out-state races for new, $32,500-a-year seats on the State Court of Appeals.

In populous Wayne County, Detroit Recorder's Judge Vincent J. Brennan won an early lead over Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman in the fight for a new seat on the 1st District Court of Appeals.

★ ★ ★

Brennan received 8,890 votes against Kaufman's 6,825, with about six per cent of the precincts reporting.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson defeated John F. Foley of Birmingham in the 2nd District — 292,198-244,302 — with 79 per cent of the precincts reporting.

Bronson outpolled Foley by a 118,626-76,423 margin in the candidates' home county. The district includes 16 southeastern Michigan counties around Detroit.

BURNS AHEAD

The contest in the 2rd District, which includes the other 66 counties in Michigan, pitted Judge Stuart Hoffius of Kent County Circuit Court against Thomas M. Burns of Saginaw.

Burns led Hoffius by 31,399 to 25,599, but those figures were based on somewhat less than eight per cent of the precincts reporting. And none of those reporting included heavily populated Kent County where Hoffius would be expected to gain a preponderance of support.

★ ★ ★

The Appeals Court is the No. 2 court in Michigan, second only to the State Supreme Court. An increase from nine to 12 judges was authorized this year by the Legislature.

Kavanagh Wins Court Post

By the Associated Press

Challenger Thomas Giles Kavanagh swept over incumbent Justice Michael O'Hara yesterday in a Michigan Supreme Court race that cost Republicans control of the state's highest court.

Kavanagh, a 51-year-old Democrat, outpolled O'Hara in the Detroit metropolitan area and the most heavily populated out-state counties.

★ ★ ★

O'Hara, a Menominee resident, displayed his strongest voting appeal in the Upper Peninsula, many rural areas and some sections of southwestern Michigan which traditionally have been conservative strongholds.

Kavanagh's victory gives the seven-member court a ratio of three Republicans and four Democrats. His new term is for eight years on the technically nonpartisan Supreme Court. The position pays $35,000 a year.

57 PCT. OF PRECINCTS

Kavanagh won an unofficial tally of 566,686 votes to O'Hara's 506,930, with nearly 57 per cent of the precincts reporting.

★ ★ ★

A member of the State Court of Appeals since it went into operation in 1964, Kavanagh is a University of Detroit Law School graduate who described himself as more willing than O'Hara to support new legal interpretations and to adapt law to circumstances.

NAACP Leader Wins in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Voters chose a Negro liberal who champions community renewal and a white former councilman who campaigned against crime Tuesday to fill two seats on the city's Common Council.

In a hard-fought contest among four candidates—two of them regarded as youthful innovaters and two former councilmen—residents of the nation's fifth largest city picked one from each side. An estimated 35 per cent of Detroit's 1.5 million residents are Negro.

★ ★ ★

Elected were Robert Tindal, 38-year-old executive secretary of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Anthony J. Wierzbicki, a 51-year-old newspaper publisher who served a Common Council term from 1962-65.

Defeated were the Rev. David Eberhard, a 34-year-old Lutheran minister who helped form social renewal groups in a racially mixed area, and Blanche Parent Wise, 61, who lost her second bid for council after having served on the governing body from 1954-61.

With 90 per cent of the precincts reporting, Tindal led the ticket with 142,755 votes and Wierzbicki was second with 139,544. Mrs. Wise polled 133,101 and the Rev. Eberhard came in last with 128,666.

Two State Issues Are Still in Doubt

The pollution bond proposal led 1,588,699 to 662,606 and the recreation bond proposition led 1,146,280 to 1,024,541.

A fifth proposal on the statewide ballot — one making lawmakers eligible to seek other state offices — trailed 1,465,341 to 650,193.

RULING UPHELD

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled last year that the state constitution forbids lawmakers to become candidates for elective state offices. The ruling was upheld by the state Supreme Court.

The Legislature put the question on the ballot after one representative was forbidden to run for a vacant state Senate seat and one state senator was ruled off the ballot as a candidate for circuit judge.

No Regrets---LeMay

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Retired Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay said Monday he is proud to have served as George C. Wallace's running mate in a third-party campaign that has moved the nation away from socialism.

★ ★ ★

LeMay told a crowd of about 3,000 at the Garrett Coliseum here that he had no regrets about his decision to run for vice president on the third-party ticket.

How Statewide Proposals Fared

Clean Water Bonds Approved as...

By the Associated Press

The biggest bond issue ever proposed in Michigan—$335 million for water pollution control—won early approval today with the help of a little boy who took a bath in dirty, fish-littered water.

Proponents of the measures had campaigned hard, using as their attention - getter a photograph of a tow - haired child sitting in a bath tub filled with filthy water, rusty cans and several dead fish. The headline was "God forgive us."

Gov. George Romney also had campaigned for the bond issues, which he proposed last January. Romney said approval would represent "one of the most significant accomplishments of my administration."

PART OF GOAL

The $335 million bond issue, earmarked to help finance a 10-year war on water pollution, would pay part of the estimated $1.2 billion cost of a program aimed at more than 300 Michigan communities.

Targets of the proyram would be 126 municipalities with inadequate sewage treatment plants and another 210 communities with none at all.

Of the proposed $1.2 billion cost, $641 million would go for sewers and facilities to control storm water overflows. Present plans call for this money to come from the local government units.

Remaining is a $568 million task: improving sewage treatment plants, building new ones and constructing interceptor facilities. This is to be financed jointly by federal, state and local governments.

Romney's proposed $335-million in bonds would cover the state's 25 per cent share and more if the federal government failed to appropriate the 50 per cent it should under current formulas.

Some $50 million of the bond issue would build a fund for grants, loans and advances to local units that cannot come up with their own 25 per cent share.

Thus, if the federal government appropriated more than expected, the state would not have to issue all the bonds.

* * *

If, however, the total amount is needed and if the bonds paid 4 per cent over their 30 - year life, they would cost Michigan taxpayers an estimated $565 million.

* * *

Romney has promised that no new taxes would be required and warned that water pollution would get worse if the state failed to act immediately.

ON THE WAY OUT — Police carry a demonstrator with a flag out of Lafayette Square in Washington, D.C., yesterday in breaking up a rally of young people across the street from the White House. The rally was sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society as part of their attempt to stage a nationwide student strike to protest the presidential election.

...Bonds Get OK for Recreation

By the Associated Press

A $100-million bond proposal for development of Michigan's outdoor playgrounds today received a slim margin of approval in early but incomplete returns.

* * *

Gov. George Romney proposed both bond issues last January and campaigned hard for each. In an election eve appeal for voter approval of the bonds, Romney said the smaller issue — Proposition No. 4 — would help develop "needed recreation facilities throughout our state."

* * *

Plans submitted by the State Department of Natural Resources, broke down the proposed borrowing with:

- $40.8 million for parks, including acquisition of 53,000 acres of land for parks; new campsites and parking spaces; construction of buildings and provision of utilities.
- $30 million for development of local facilities, with most of the money to be used for matching grants to cities for such things as swimming pools and skating rinks.

* * *

- $17.7 million for fisheries development. This part of the department plan was inspired by Michigan's fantastic success with the Coho salmon fishing program.
- $7.5 million for land acquisition for wildlife, including hunting lands in Southern Michigan, marginal habitat land around Northern Michigan deer areas and wetlands for game bird habitat.

* * *

- $4 million for forest recreation, including addition of state forest campsites and trails.

Michigan Polls Free of Violence as Voter Turnout Hits a Record

DETROIT (AP) — Violence at Michigan polls failed to materialize Tuesday as voters turned out in record numbers. Agitators—whom Secretary of State James M. Hare warned would try to disrupt the election—stayed away.

Hare said last week that activist groups like Students for a Democratic Society would try to keep voters from the polls through incidents "that may include bombings and Molotov cocktails."

* * *

Hare said such incidents were anticipated especially around the University of Michigan, in Washtenaw County, and Michigan State University, Ingham County.

Law enforcement officials throughout the state geared for possible disturbances. Hare sent more than 80 representatives of his department to observe polling places.

SPECIAL WARNINGS

In some areas elections officials were issued special warnings, urging them to keep handy the telephone numbers of their local police angencies.

* * *

Washtenaw County sheriff's officers, however, reported no disruption and Ingham County officials and the Michigan State Police reported no problems at voting places near MSU.

* * *

Some 600 U-M students—about 2 per cent of the university enrollment—staged a peaceful march from the campus to local offices of the Democratic and Republican parties and candidates.

* * *

They chanted "vote in the streets" and "vote with your feet" and posted what they termed "certificates of death."

CAMPUS RALLY

An earlier rally on the campus featured a song attacking war and "plastic people." About 30 students opposed to the rallying group countered with the University's fight song, "Hail to the Victors."

Hare's warning of anticipated incidents at the polls brought an immediate reply from Gov. George Romney and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who issued a joint statement saying it was "unfortunate" that such reports had been "exaggerated."

TONES STATEMENT DOWN

Hare followed with a toned-down statement repeating his contention that "in literally 99 per cent of the state's (5,383) polling places, no incidents are expected."

Hare added that he was not predicting trouble. Earlier, however, he had told a news ference:

"We are predicting incidents. We certainly are. I don't think that we can anticipate anything less than a dozen incidents."

He later added that "Perhaps exposing the possibility of demonstrations will keep them peacefully and well within the bounds of propriety."

...Graduated Tax Is Turned Down

By the Associated Press

Michigan voters gave an overwhelming "thumbs down" Tuesday to a proposal which would have authorized the Legislature to levy a graduated income tax.

Even in heavily Democratic Wayne County the measure was behind in earily, unofficial returns. Democratic legislators forced the question onto the ballot last year as part of the political maneuvering over fiscal reform.

Michigan's taxpayers now pay a flat-rate income of 2.6 per cent. Its cities are authorized to levy flat-rate taxes of 1 per cent on residents and one-half per cent on nonresidents. Only the city of Detroit is permitted to levy a 2 per cent tax on residents.

Michigan is the only state with a specific constitutional provision forbidding a graduated tax, but the legality of such a levy would be questionable in eight other states.

ENDORSEMENT MADE

The League of Women Voters had endorsed the graduated tax proposal. It said the Legislature and local units of government should be free to consider enactment of graduated taxes.

* * *

Under a flat-rate income tax, all persons pay the same percentage of their income in taxes regardless of the size of the income. Under a graduated tax such as the federal income tax, the percentage of tax paid varies according to the size of the taxable income.

Humphrey Shut Out in Deep South States

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The battle for electoral votes across the South turned into a contest between GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and third party candidate George C. Wallace.

The Democratic standard-bearer, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, won vote-rich Texas—but this appeared to be the only state of the old Confederacy which Humphrey would carry.

* * *

Humphrey seemed on his way to becoming the first Democratic presidential nominee in 100 years to fail to carry a single state in the Deep South.

* * *

Wallace, who made his final campaign appeal in Atlanta and said it was "from the soul of the South," carried four Southern states—Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. He was leading in Arkansas.

Nixon carried Florida, Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina.

Nixon's showing in the South deprived Wallace of the large Southern base of electoral votes he had expected.

* * *

At the same time, the Wallace drive seemed to undercut Republican efforts to strengthen their party in the South.

The brightest spot for Southern Republicans striving to build state party organizations was Florida, where Republican Edward J. Gurney defeated former Gov. Leroy Collins to become the first member of his party elected to the U.S. Senate from Florida since Reconstruction.

But many Wallace supporters tended to vote for the former Alabama governor in the presidential race, and then vote for Democratic candidates in other races.

* * *

For instance, James Allen of Gadsden, Ala., Wallace's lieutenant governor during the third party candidate's term as governor, easily won election to the U.S. Senate, defeating Republican Perry O. Hooper.

* * *

In Georgia, where Wallace polled nearly half the popular vote, Democratic Sen. Herman E. Talmadge won an overwhelming victory over Republican challenger Earl Patton Jr.

* * *

A Democratic veteran of 14 years in Congress, Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina—a state where Nixon was leading—won a solid victory over the GOP nominee, Bob Somers.

. . . Legislators Receive Rebuff

By the Associated Press

Michigan voters slapped down the ambitions to some state lawmakers today by defeating a proposal that would allow them to run for other state offices.

* * *

Lawmakers now are ineligible to run for state office during terms for which they are elected to the House or Senate.

* * *

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled last year that Rep. Melvin DeStigter, R-Hudsonville, could not under the state constitution run for a State Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Harold Volkema, R-Holland.

* * *

DeStigter sponsored and won legislative approval for a bill to overturn Kelley's ruling, but the State Supreme Court—ruling in another case—struck down the law.

* * *

The High Court ruled that Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, could not run for a Saginaw County circuit judgeship.

10 Pct. for Wallace in State

By The Associated Press

George Wallace, the third-party presidential candidate who said Michigan was one of the northern industrial states he would carry on his journey to the White House, was favored by only one of every 10 voters in the state.

* * *

With 59 per cent of the precincts reporting, Wallace's popular vote totaled 213,285 or 10 per cent. By comparison, Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey received 1,041,795 votes and Republican Richard M. Nixon got 872,479.

* * *

In Flint, where Wallace was expected to make a great show of strength among rank-and-file union workers, the former Alabama governor received only 11 per cent of the vote.

* * *

In Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties comprising metropolitan Detroit — Wallace also received 11 per cent with more than half of the precincts reporting.

Candidates Have Say as Race Teeters Back and Forth

MEET ED MUSKIE . . . JUNIOR—Democratic vice presidential candidate Edmund Muskie introduces Edmund Jr., 6, nicknamed Ned, at an informal press conference in Waterville, Maine, last night as he awaited election returns.

It's a Donnybrook—HHH

By The Associated Press

Here is what the candidates were saying as the outcome of the presidential race teetered between Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey:

★ ★ ★

"The decision, I'm sure, will not be known until sometime at least late today," said Humphrey who said he was going to bed cheerful. "I believe that it's fair to say that we have done much better than most observers had thought we would and about as good as I thought we would. . .

★ ★ ★

"This is at best, as we put it, a donnybrook—anything can happen.

"I couldn't possibly be any happier than in the knowledge that we've done the right thing. We have said what we believe; we have spoken the hard facts . . . as we see them."

Humphrey spoke to followers in Minneapolis.

Nixon, in New York, kept silent through the night while spokesmen quoted him as saying he was increasingly confident.

★ ★ ★

"As we go farther west, the popular vote and the electoral vote will lengthen," said Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's director of communications.

★ ★ ★

Asked whether Nixon was surprised by the closeness of the race, Klein replied, "I won't say that he was surprised. But it is closer than we originally expected."

'NOT OVER YET'

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace, leaving a party in Montgomery, Ala., said, "This election is not over yet."

Wallace said he was proud of the vote his American Independent party received and added it demonstrates that "we have spoken for a large segment of the people."

★ ★ ★

Spiro T. Agnew, Nixon's running mate, watched the returns trickle in at home in Annapolis, Md. "I don't think I'll sleep very well," he said, "So I think I'll stick around a while."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, Humphrey's vice presidential choice, dismissed the importance of the vote for Wallace.

"If it goes to the House—it will go to the House because the two leading candidates are so close," he said in Maine. "The Wallace vote isn't really as strong as we thought it might be."

Curtis E. LeMay, Wallace's running mate said his immediate plans were to sleep for two days—no matter who wins the election.

"I would do it over again," LeMay said.

Detroit Voters Reject 10-Mill School Levy

DETROIT (AP) — Despite warnings of "chaos" in the Detroit school system, voters Tuesday rejected a big, 10-mill proposed hike in city school taxes.

Support for the measure had been mediocre, with even the powerful Detroit Parent-Teachers Association refusing to endorse the millage increase.

★ ★ ★

Many opponents said the money was seriously needed but Detroit residents already were bearing a heavy tax burden and additional school money should come from the state or another source.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Norman Drachler, superintendent of Detroit schools, warned earlier that public education in the city would "fall into chaos" if the millage was rejected.

★ ★ ★

The 10 mills were proposed to build new schools, renovate some existing buildings and make other improvements in the educational system.

With all 1,111 precincts reporting, the millage was turned down 255,207 to 154,971.

PHILIP T. BARNUM

Heart Patient Loses Race in Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Philip T. Barnum, first person in Michigan to receive a heart transplant, lost an election Tuesday for a seat on the Kalamazoo County Board of Supervisors.

★ ★ ★

Barnum, who is continuing his recovery from the operation at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, received 1,653 votes in unofficial balloting.

★ ★ ★

The winner was Glen R. Haney, 38-year-old branch manager in Kalamazoo for the National Cash Register Co. Haney got 3,080 votes.

Barnum, 49, an accountant, had entered the election before he was hospitalized and a new heart was transplanted to him Sept. 19.

CONVICT'S HEART

The transplant, from the body of a 38-year-old ex-convict, was the 51st in the nation. Barnum had been suffering from a degenerative heart disease known as cardiomyopathy.

Midwest, California Put Nixon Over Top

By the Associated Press

Republican Richard M. Nixon's strength in Midwestern industrial states and California provided the necessary electoral votes to apparently push him over the top in this nip-and-tuck presidential election.

Nixon scored a close victory in Ohio which he easily carried in his 1960 campaign against John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Vice president Hubert H. Humphrey rallied with a late surge of votes from strong Democratic areas that cut into Nixon's lead and kept the outcome in doubt until this morning. But he was unable to overcome the 100,000-vote margin Nixon piled up in early returns last night.

Nixon considered Ohio's 26 votes crucial to winning the White House.

SLOW COUNT

The usual slow vote count in Cleveland and other Democratic strongholds in northeastern Ohio, kept election watchers on the edge of their seats as Humphrey kept inching closer.

With 12,859 of 13,078 precincts reporting, Nixon carried Ohio on 1,766,384 votes, or 46 per cent to Humphrey's 1,658,933, or 44 per cent. Wallace received 461,929, or 10 per cent, of the votes at that point.

★ ★ ★

In Illinois the Republican candidate was backed by a steady stream of downstate votes. These votes helped him overcome the heavy Democratic majority in Cook County early today.

However, the fate of Illinois' 26 electoral votes was held up by 283 missing precincts in Cook County and 914 downstate precincts.

★ ★ ★

With 9,600 of 10,694 precincts reported Nixon had 1,879,285 votes to 1,812,322 for Humphrey. George C. Wallace had 331,448 votes.

The 283 Cook County precincts have an average of 400 to 500 voters each.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the missing precincts, the outcome of the Illinois balloting was snarled by computer errors and mistakes in reporting of votes.

Nixon carried his native state of California today after a fierce fight with Humphrey for the state's crucial 40 electoral votes.

INSURMOUNTABLE LEAD

The Republican presidential nominee built an insurmountable lead over the Democratic vice president, with the only votes left uncounted in the state's Republican strongholds. To the winner went a big bloc of votes that could decide the presidency.

With 95 per cent of the state's precincts reporting, the secretary of state's semiofficial returns showed:

Nixon 3,183,897—47.4 per cent.

Humphrey 3,054,577—45.4 per cent.

George Wallace, the American Independent party candidate, 456,670—6.8 per cent.

TIDE OF SUPPORT

A tide of support from Southern California, where the Republican presidential nominee was born, put him in front of Humphrey, who had united a fragmented party for a surprisingly strong finish.

The only substantial numbers of votes left uncounted were in San Diego County and Orange County — both Republican strongholds — and a small number of precincts in populous Los Angeles County and in northern California.

★ ★ ★

Nixon concentrated heavily on victory in California. This was the state that gave him a narrow win over John F. Kennedy in Nixon's losing bid for the presidency in 1960.

But it was also the state that handed him a crushing defeat when he came back to run for governor in 1962.

First-Time Voter Jams Machine, Gets Paper Ballot

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The 21-year-old, first-time voter was nearly in tears.

She was the first one in line to vote and before she had completed flipping the switches something happened. The machine jammed.

"I think I broke it," the young woman told the Election Board members.

They gave her a paper ballot to fill out.

Voters Act on Variety of Propositions

By MALCOLM BARR
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in five states have authorized spending a total of more than $2.5 billion on pollution control, veterans and education.

But a liquor-by-the-drink proposal failed in the face of strong Mormon opposition in semi-dry Utah. Nevada, where gambling is a major industry, rejected a private lottery. And Nebraska denied 19-year-olds the vote.

★ ★ ★

The issues highlighted local referenda that appeared on the ballots of three-fourths of the states Tuesday. Most were money issues.

The biggest financial proposal was in Illinois, where a measure providing $1 billion for air and water pollution control appeared headed for approval.

POLLUTION FUNDS

New Jersey approved its biggest money proposal in history —$990 million for education, low-cost housing and transportation.

Michigan's largest bond issue ever passed provides $335 million for a 10-year battle against water pollution.

★ ★ ★

Viryinia Gov. Mills E. Godwin's $81 million bond issue for college and mental hospital construction—a formal break with pay-as-you-go financing for the first time this century—won overwhelming approval.

In Pennsylvania, a plan to give Vietnam war veterans cash bonuses of up to $750 won overwhelming approval. It was the first time the state's citizens voted on a servicemen's bonus during a war.

LIQUOR DEFEAT

Arizonans, meanwhile, junked the state's tax exemption for veterans of World War II.

The Utah liquor referendum ended a hassle that stole campaign attention from Vietnam and the presidential race. The Mormon church, which considers drinking a sin, battled the measure's sponsors, who said the state needed over-the-bar liquor to attract tourists and conventions.

★ ★ ★

Nevada voters soundly rejected a constitional amendment to permit a private lottery, which would have handed 30 per cent of the profits to the state.

State Congressional Lineup Will Remain Exactly the Same

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan voters decided Tuesday they are satisfied with their present congressional delegation—and ticketed all 12 Republican and nine Democratic incumbents for return trips to Washington.

All 19 representatives were reelected by substantial margins.

★ ★ ★

In the 14th District Republican Peter O'Rourke surged into a lead over incumbent Democrat Lucian Nedzi in early counting. Nedzi, who has held the seat since 1961, gradually pulled ahead as returns were counted in heavily Polish Hamtramck, where much of his strength is centered.

The 14th District includes the posh Grosse Pointes, where O'Rourke was favored, Harper Woods, part of northeast Detroit and Hamtramck.

STRONGEST CHALLENGE

O'Rourke posed the strongest challenge Nedzi had faced since he first was elected. A young Grosse Pointe attorney, O'Rourke staged a 200,000 telephone call blitz, along with heavy mailings, TV spots, billboard and newspaper ads.

But in the final week of the campaign, O'Rourke ran short of money, had to cancel several TV spots and concentrate on pushing doorbells.

★ ★ ★

Nedzi, although a Democrat, was endorsed by the two major Detroit newspapers — both of which supported Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate. In two districts there were rematches of congressional races of two years ago.

In the 2nd District, where the vote had expected to be close, incumbent Republican Marvin Esch led his Democratic opponent, Wes Vivian in nearly every section of the district. Esch took the seat from Vivian in the 1966 contest.

EARLY LEADS

In the 11th District, comprising 22 counties in the Upper Peninsula and extreme northern Lower Michigan, incumbent Republican Philip Ruppe moved into an early lead over Democrat Raymond Clevenger, whom he defeated for the seat in 1966.

Donald Riegel Jr., a Republican who scored a surprise 7th district victory two years ago over the incumbent Democrat, took an early lead over Democrat William Blue, who had featured photographs of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in his advertisements.

★ ★ ★

As expected, the House Republican minority leader, Gerald Ford, scored an easy victory over Democrat Laurence Howard in the 5th; Republican Edward Hutchinson defeated John Martin in the 4th; Republican Garry Brown won easily over Thomas Kennan in the 3rd.

Other Republican victors were Charles Chamberlain in the 6th, James Harvey in the 8th, Guy Vander Jagt in the 9th, Elford Cederberg in the 10th, William Broomfield in the 18th, and Jack McDonald in the 19th.

Democratic winners were John Conyers, who had no opposition in the 1st District, James O'Hara in the 12th, Charles Diggs in the 13th, William Ford in the 15th, John Dingell in the 16th, and Martha Griffiths in the 17th.

Nixon and Sen. McGovern Winners in South Dakota

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—Republican Richard M. Nixon won South Dakota's four electoral votes Tuesday, building on an early lead.

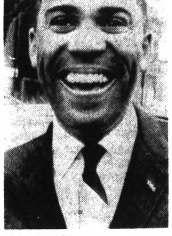

With 21 per cent of the precincts reporting, Nixon had 17,650 or 53 per cent of the votes and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, 13,850 or 42 per cent. Independent candidate George Wallace had 1,548 or 5 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Democratic Sen. George McGovern, meanwhile, was forging a lead over former Gov. Archie Gubbrud, resisting the trend in this traditionally Republican stronghold.

With 325 of South Dakota's 1,582 precincts in, McGovern led 17,307-13,669, holding a 56-44 per cent margin.

Both incumbent Republican congressmen, Rep. Ben Reifel and Rep. E. Y. Berry, won reelection, and GOP gubernatorial candidate Frank Farrer defeated Democratic challenger Robert Chamberlin.

Dearborn Voters Call for a Truce, Pullout in Viet

DEARBORN (AP) — By a nearly 4 to 3 margin, Dearborn voters called for an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam and withdrawal of American troops in a citywide referendum.

Congress to Get First Negro Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — When Congress convenes in January, it will have in its membership for the first time a Negro woman—Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat with a capacity for confounding her male colleagues.

She defeated Republican James Farmer, former head of the Congress of Racial Equality, in the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant district of Brooklyn. A Conservative party candidate ran third.

★ ★ ★

As an assemblywoman in the New York State legislature, Mrs. Chisholm lectured the lawmakers on their political practices, walked out of party caucuses and, more than once, brought out the less chivalrous instincts of the solons who attempted to shout her down.

"I have seen men take a course of action they did not want to take," explains Mrs. Chisholm. "One gentleman asked me, 'Shirley, do you know what fear is?' Why should I be afraid? We're all men and women, I answered. He looked at me and shook his head and walked away. Maybe I'm not a politician."

HAS SUCCEEDED

Politician or not, the wiry, articulate 43-year-old former teacher has succeeded within the labyrinth of New York's political system.

At the Democratic National Convention, she became the first Negro woman to be elected a national committeewoman—from either party—and as a legislator, her name was attached to a goodly share of successful legislation including a bill to give unemployment insurance to domestic workers.

★ ★ ★

Despite an operation for removal of a benign fibroid tumor that hospitalized her during the three weeks of the congressional campaign, she waged a strong campaign, emphasizing what she called Farmer's johnny-come-lately stance in the Bedford-Stuyvesant community.

See Picture, Page D-7

★ ★ ★

On street corners she introduced herself as "Fighting Shirley Chisholm" and drew crowds who shouted back, "Sock it to 'em Shirley!"

Usually a picture of composure, Mrs. Chisholm occasionally allowed herself to shout back at men who argued Congress is a place for men," "It doesn't matter what you think, I'm going to win because I'm tough, baby . . ."

"All my life," she explains, "I was told never to give up, to fight for what I believe in . . . Anyone who knows anything about Shirley Chisholm knows I had a rough time."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Chisholm was born in the Bedford-Stuyvesant district she represents and at the age of three, she and two sisters were sent to live with a grandmother in the West Indies while her parents saved money for their education.

As it turned out, Shirley Chisholm didn't need the money, she won scholarships to Brooklyn College where she graduated cum laude and then to Columbia where she received a master's degree in early childhood education.

★ ★ ★

She taught in the public schools, became an educational consultant for the Bureau of Child Welfare, and branched out into community activities.

★ ★ ★

After 19 years of clubhouse politics, she got the Democratic nomination for the Assembly and began the four year rise in public life that brought her to Congress.

Mrs. Mary Nalbach, 25, and her husband, Paul, went to Plainfield Township precinct five to vote Tuesday morning. There was a long line but Mrs. Nalbach stuck it out, despite:

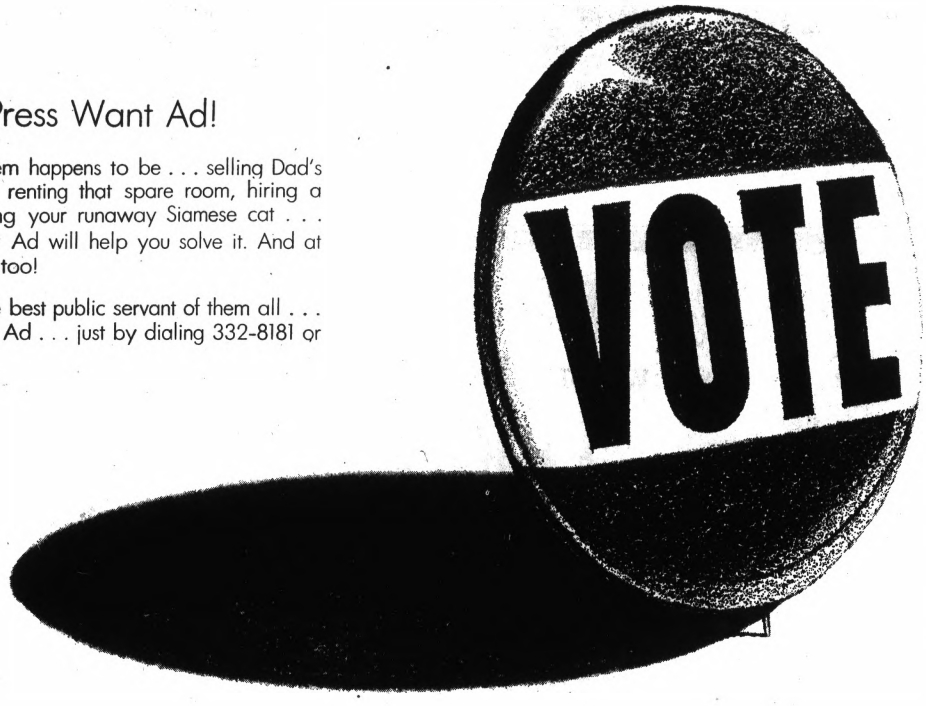

She started getting labor pains about eight minutes apart. She finally voted and her husband rushed her to Butterworth Hospital where she became the mother of a seven-pound, four-ounce girl, their third child, about four and a half hours after she cast her ballot.

City to Let Harambee Use Vacant Crystal Beach Unit

City commissioners last night authorized Harambee's use of one of the vacant units in the city-owned Crystal Beach Housing project for $1. The vote was 4-2.

Terms of the agreement call for the nonprofit housing and redevelopment corporation to pay for heat and electricity and provide liability insurance to protect the city from any claim that might arise.

The lease agreement will allow the corporation to use the building for six months for the nominal charge.

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. and District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin both voted against the proposal.

'NO JUSTIFICATION'

Fowler said he did not think there was justification for allowing the building to be used rent-free. He said Harambee had received a $66,000 grant from the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit for staff personnel and an office. He said Harambee was not "a struggling organization."

Irwin asked Harambee officers to volunteer to pay rent in order to avoid any appearance of a squabble and noted the city is charging rent to Crystal Beach tenants.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Jack Douglas, District 4, said Harambee was a nonprofit corporation which "has something to offer the city of Pontiac." He said he did not want to hinder its cause.

Commissioner Robert F. Jackson, District 5, approving the move, said the city has similar arrangements with other nonprofit corporations, the Pontiac Creative Arts Center and the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

CITY WILL USE

He also noted that the city's relocation officers will be utilizing the same office on a part-time basis.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said rent was a "very, very small matter" and noted the city has given free or subsidized use of its facilities to the OCCEO, the arts council and the Pontiac Area Planning Council.

★ ★ ★

Charles M. Tucker, Harambee president, said whatever funds the firm could save on rent would be used to provide more services for persons living in the community.

He said the group had made arrangements with the city to use of one of the Crystal Beach units because "that's the only area which provides Harambee or any other organization an opportunity to be with the people."

WITHOUT RANCOR

Despite the split vote, discussion of the arrangement seemed without rancor.

Tucker invited any of the commissioners to attend meetings of Harambee to learn what the organization is doing.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Durant, treasurer of Harambee, asked the commission to consider that Harambee may be "the real hope for people who have been deprived for so long."

★ ★ ★

"If we're going to have a unified community . . . this type of program has to succeed . . . it is beyond anybody's personal desire or ambition," he said in asking that minor differences of opinion are not ballooned out of proportion.

City to Buy 5 Lots for New Fire Station

City commissioners last night approved purchase of five vacant lots on South Boulevard W. for construction of a new fire station to serve the southwest section of the city.

★ ★ ★

The station will replace one at W. Wilson and Saginaw, which has been purchased by General Motors for GMC Truck and Coach Division expansion. The city will continue to utilize the fire station by lease agreement with GM until the new station is constructed.

★ ★ ★

The five lots, which will cost the city $10,600 are located about 120 feet west of Motor.

In other action, the commission:

● Approved spending some $6,100 for temporary paving of 500 feet of Bagley, north of Brush, in order to eliminate flooding problems.

Director of Public Works Joseph E. Neipling said the paving would eliminate for a time — until the Clinton River can be rechanneled — severe periodic flooding at that location caused by overflow of the river.

★ ★ ★

● Approved a state highway department proposal to modernize traffic signals on Telegraph at Voorheis and at Elizabeth Lake; along W. Huron at Johnson, and at Genesee and at the intersection of E. Wide Track and Perry.

● Approved allowing Sylvan Lake continued use of the city's sanitary land fill site. Sylvan Lake has been using the landfill for 20 years. Neipling said the village does not add any appreciable amount of waste to the site.

● Set a Nov. 19 public hearing to consider whether a trust fund of $37,715 established in 1937 should be used to defray costs of paving in the city's industrial park.

PARKS FUND

At the time of the trust establishment it was agreed that the money would be used for public improvements in South Park Subdivision, then just constructed. The Industrial Park being established by the city is in the boundaries of South Park Subdivision.

Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant said the funds could be used to defray cost of street paving in the industrial park, estimated at $108,700.

There Is a Catch to Parking Prices

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The man who designed a coin-operated parking lot in downtown Phoenix apparently is proving that many persons will not drive half a block to save 20 cents.

★ ★ ★

The parking lot extends across half a city block, from a busy street on one side to one which is not so busy on the other.

If a driver enters from the busy street, he deposits 50 cents to gain admission to the parking lot. But if he drives half a block and comes in from the other street, he can get into the same parking lot for 30 cents.

★ ★ ★

Most drivers use the 50-cent entrance.

Cut in Use of City Cars to Be Eyed

A policy change which would drastically reduce the number of employes allowed to use city owned cars to go to and from work will be considered by the City Commission next week.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren last night proposed designating nine city officials who would be able to use city cars on a 24-hour-day basis.

★ ★ ★

The commission requested a week's delay in order to consider the policy more fully.

Use of city cars by employes for personal use and to drive to and from residences has irked several city commissioners for some time, particularly District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, and more recently District 4 Commissioner Jack Douglas.

LONG-STANDING PRACTICE

The practice of allowing city automobiles to be taken out of the city by employes and for personal use had been long standing. At one point earlier this year an investigation revealed that upwards of 45 city employes were allowed to keep the cars overnight.

The latest policy would restrict the use of city cars. All but nine would have to be kept in city storage places at the end of the workday.

★ ★ ★

Those who would be allowed cars on a 24-hour day include the city manager and the heads of the Police, Fire and Public Works Departments plus superintendents of divisions who have to answer emergency calls.

In other action, the commission delayed for at least two weeks consideration of the city's proposed junk car ordinance.

★ ★ ★

Since the ordinance was first approved, the commission has been discussing proposed changes. Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said it would take another couple of weeks to incorporate the proposed changes into the proposed ordinance.

Shelby Woman, Children Die

Shelby Township police said the bodies of Mrs. William McGee, 47, of 8536 23 Mile and her children Michael, 5, Debbie, 7, Dennis, 9, and David, 12, were found in the family's 1968 auto housed in a garage attached to their home. A hose attached to the exhaust pipe led to the car's interior, police said.

★ ★ ★

The discovery of the bodies was made by Mrs. McGee's husband when he returned from his job at a trucking company shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday, police said.

★ ★ ★

A note found by police was reported by them as having definite suicidal implications. Family problems were stated as the cause, they said.

Balloting Close in State

Time Vote Windup Awaited

DETROIT (AP) — The question of whether Michigan goes on daylight savings time in the summer was in doubt today as vote totals on the proposal seesawed throughout the night.

With 31 per cent of the votes counted, the negative ballots outnumbered those favoring daylight saving by only a few thousand out of more than half a million.

The proposal drew a heavy negative vote from counties in the southwestern corner of the state, which is tied economically with Chicago, in the Central Time Zone.

The controversy started when Congress voted in 1966 to put the entire nation on Daylight Savings Time annually from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October.

But under the federal law, any state could exempt itself from fast time if its legislative body acted before April 29, 1967. The Legislature did just that, but backers of daylight time got enough signatures on referendum petitions to suspend the state action and put the matter up to the voters in Tuesday's election.

Opponents of daylight savings time in Michigan contend that the lower half of the state already is in the wrong time zone geographically and should be in the Central Time Zone rather than the Eastern Time Zone.

Some U.P. communities refused to observe the federal edict, however, contending they were pawns of Washington bureaucrats.
