British Ask Permission to Skip Debt Payment

Find No Buyer for $37 Million Highway Bonds

County Officials Told Northwestern Project Will Still Go Ahead

Oakland County supervisors, meeting yesterday to approve bids on bonds for the proposed extension of Northwestern Highway, instead heard a representative of the State Highway Department explain why no bids were received at the scheduled sale in Lansing yesterday morning.

Edward A. Bellenbaum, chief assistant deputy commissioner, told the board the market yesterday seemed "shut right off" for the first time since 1952.

The Northwestern bonds and bonds for two other projects all with a fixed ceiling of 3½ per cent interest—went begging yesterday, he said, because the interest rate wasn't high enough to attract bonding companies.

"We had had no indication that 3½ per cent wouldn't be high enough," Bellenbaum said. "As late as September, bonds were moving at 3.04 per cent."

He linked the bond's unpopularity with the Federal Housing Commission's hike of interest rates last week, and signs of rises in bank interest rates Monday.

"Now we'll have to wait and see what happens after the first of the year," Bellenbaum said. "We may have to come to you again and ask you to approve a higher interest rate.

PLANS TO CONTINUE

"But in the meantime, we'll continue with our plans and engineering and the purchase of right of way for the road. This delay in selling the bonds will mean no delay in the completion of construction.

"I want to assure you this is not a dead issue."

Under the proposed plan, Northwestern Highway would be extended to a junction with U. S. 23 in Livingston County. The county would pay the state $90,000 a year for 20 years as its share of the $37 million project.

Federal and state governments would pay equal shares of the initial cost, with the county's share—5 per cent of total cost—returning to the state.

Oak Park Supervisor Charles E. Cardon asked Bellenbaum if he had any assurance that "we won't have a $40 million obligation with only $20 million worth of bonds." Cardon said he feared construction costs would rise with the soaring money market.

Bellenbaum said he doubted construction costs would rise, but added the highway department has allowed for "normal" cost increases in its estimate of total cost.

Nominate 10 for 5 Chamber Positions

Ten nominations for five positions on the Board of Directors of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce were announced today.

Ballots probably will be mailed Monday, with the election closing on December 24.

Crowned Queen of Rose Tournament

ROSE QUEEN FOR 1957 — Pretty Ann Mossberg, 19-year-old Pasadena City College freshman, was selected yesterday to reign as Queen of the New Year's Day Tournament of Roses. Queen Ann is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighs 127, and plans to be a teacher. She and her six princesses, all finalists in the Queen competition, will rule over the 68th annual Rose Parade and occupy the Royal Box at the Rose Bowl football game.

Schools to Give All-City Concert

Thursday Night Festival in Pontiac High Gym to Feature 900 Students

Students in the Instrumental Music Department of the Pontiac Public Schools will present their annual all-city Christmas concert Thursday night in the Boys' Gymnasium of Pontiac High School.

Heading the program will be the Pontiac High School band under the direction of Dale C. Harris, supervisor of the Instrumental Music Department.

The band will play "Scenes from the Sierras," by Bennett; a march, "The Southerner," Alexander; and the "First Noel."

Following on the program will be the combined bands of the elementary schools of Pontiac playing a French tune, "Au Claire de la Lune"; a march, "The Step-off," a Gregorian hymn; "Good King Wencelas"; "Jingle Bells"; and "Abide With Me."

The all-city junior high school orchestra will play a minuet from London Symphony; "Country Gardens" by Grainger; "Trumpeter's Lullaby" by Anderson; "Beneath the Holly" arranged by Seredy.

Last on the program will be the all-city junior high band playing a grand march, "Pontificale" by Gounod; the overture, "Dedication" by Hermann and "Fantasy on London Bridge" by Hermann; "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Nine hundred students will participate in the 7:30 program. Conductors of the night's music will be Lewis A. Crew, Raymond R. Fixel, Eldon C. Rosegart, Donald C. Schultz, Fred N. Wiest, Raymond A. Young, Philip Mason, George Eckroth, Robert Peterson and Robert Jochmans.

Port Said Closes Up

Troops Pull Out of Egypt Rapidly

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—With few backward glances, more than 2,000 British and French soldiers filed aboard ship for home today just a month after the first paratroopers leaped into Egypt.

The leave-taking was cool. Emboldened Egyptians closed down all shops in Port Said. Even the noisy little peddlers who hawked souvenir trinkets to the troops while there was fighting on the Suez Canal banks were nowhere to be seen.

The withdrawal ordered by London and Paris was dubbed Operation Harridan—a worn-out strumpet or hag—signifying the military distaste for the exodus.

But the troops themselves were jubilant with hope they would be home before Christmas.

It was apparent the pace of the withdrawal was going to be extremely fast.

Some 3,200 French and British troops were withdrawn before British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced Monday that the two nations had written off their Suez invasion. The total strength of the expeditionary force has never been divulged.

The U. N. police force in Egypt grew to nearly 2,600 men as the British and French packed up. The arrival of a company of Colombians swelled the U. N. forces in Port Said to 600. A Swedish company was due today.

The U. N. troops have taken over policing of a third of Port Said. Another U. N. detachment is spread across the no man's land dividing British-French and Egyptian lines 24 miles south of the city.

Yugoslav patrols fanned out from the Suez Canal zone into the Israeli-conquered Sinai Desert, the first U.N. police troops to be placed between the Israeli and Egyptian forces.

Israel has announced its withdrawal from a 30-mile-wide strip of the Sinai Peninsula at the edge of the canal and said that it has pulled 10,000 to 12,000 of its troops all the way out of Egyptian territory. The Israeli Foreign Office gave no clue as to when the entire peninsula would be evacuated but said, "It should be a staged withdrawal."

However, the Israeli government hinted today it will not obey a United Nations resolution and withdraw all forces promptly from the captured Gaza Strip.

New Envoy

AMBASSADOR—Douglas MacArthur II, nephew of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, has been named ambassador to Japan by President Eisenhower. He replaces John M. Allison who will return to the United States for reassignment. MacArthur, 47, has been in the diplomatic service for 21 years.

Wags With Tale, Tails With Wag, Animal Crackers

LANDER, Wyo. (AP) — Bartender Jack Clark had just opened the tavern where he works. He looked up and there was a mountain lion, crouched as if to spring.

Friends report Clark scaled the side of a cooler cabinet, backward.

Then the jokesters entered and rescued Clark. Then he learned the mountain lion had been shot by hunters, frozen into an upright position and placed in the bar during the night.

George Craybill, a partner in the Jungle Restaurant, Anaheim, made this complaint to police yesterday. The ape — a young female gibbon worth about $300 — was taken from its cage the night before.

"Somebody took a small lion one time," said Craybill. Another time a boa constrictor was taken, he said, adding: "The people who took them brought them back."

"But they never did bring back the alligators they stole," he added, thoughtfully.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two deer who wandered into town will provide dinner for the children at Kosair Crippled Children Hospital and the Children's Hospital today.

The deer, a buck and a doe, were captured by police and dog pound agents. However, both died shortly after they were caught in nets and taken to the city dog pound.

It was thought the deer died of exhaustion after being chased by dogs before being captured.

Oscoda Adds Jets

OSCODA (AP) — New supersonic F102 jet interceptors are being added to the aerial defenses at Wurtsmith Air Force Base here, one of the first in the nation to be equipped with the Delta-wing planes. Some 25 planes, which can carry guided missiles, will be assigned to the 31st Fighter Interceptor Squadron by the end of January.

Big Chief—Big Trouble

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Paiute Indian Chief Avery Winnemucca reported he is in Dutch with his tribe because he lost a red leather bag containing $400 in tribal funds. "I sure hope the finder returns it," said Chief Winnemucca. "They'll scalp me."

U.S. Considers English Appeal With Sympathy

President Expected to Let Congress Rule on $82 Million Matter

WASHINGTON (AP) —Great Britain's plea for permission to pass up payment of nearly 82 million dollars due this country at year's end drew promises of sympathetic consideration from some key senators today.

The reaction at the State Department was similar, but officials indicated the Eisenhower administration will ask Congress to rule on the British request.

Doubt was expressed that the executive agencies had authority to take final action.

Congress does not convene until Jan. 3. The payment is due Dec. 31, but it appeared that the question would be left hanging fire until Congress has had time to consider it.

to a request to this country to share the cost of that U.S.-opposed venture.

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan, told Parliament yesterday his country's gold and dollar reserves have shrunk. He said the request to the United States was a step essential to protect the stability of the British pound sterling and save it from devaluation which would have repercussions around the world.

2,500 Women Defy Commies

Mourners of Budapest Demonstrate in Streets for Second Day

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hundreds of Hungarian women demonstrated for the second consecutive day in Budapest's streets today in mourning for insurgents killed in the anti-Communist rebellion.

The Russians moved more tanks and armored cars into the city as a precaution, but ordered Hungarian soldiers and police to handle the job of dispersing the women.

Most of the demonstration was orderly. It involved about 2,500 women, made up of groups of about 200 each. Yesterday about 15,000 demonstrated and one woman was wounded by gunfire after an altercation with a Soviet officer.

The center of today's demonstration was Petoefi Square, on a bank of the Danube in the center of town, where there is a monument to the Hungarian poet of the 1848 revolution, Sandor Petoefi.

As the women approached the square they were blocked from approaching the monument by seven Russian tanks and about the same number of armored cars.

At the United Nations in New York, despite word that Dag Hammarskjold plans to go to Budapest in 10 days, the U. N. Assembly early today adopted a U. S.-sponsored resolution calling again on Hungary to let in other U. N. observers to investigate conditions generally in the revolt-torn country.

Kelley to Name Committee

Safety Council Picks Steering Unit Leader

Royal Oak Mayor Howard Kelley was named last night to appoint a five-member committee to plan an Oakland County Safety Council.

At a meeting of the group's steering committee, Kelley announced he would select a representative group which has the time and interest to do the job.

He said the main duties of his committee would be to draw up a constitution and bylaws for the operation of the council. All members were to make a complete report of their work at the next steering committee meeting in late January.

Plans call for each municipality in the county to be informed of the project, and asked to designate a candidate for the Board of Control to be selected in the future.

Police, civic, and business leaders from throughout the county attended the council's second organizational meeting, held in Pontiac. Guest speakers were Gerald Shipman, executive director of the Michigan Safety Commission, and Gerald Phalen, executive director of the Detroit Safety Council.

Shipman presented an outline of the type of county safety organizations being boosted by state officials throughout Michigan. He stressed that the council should be well represented geographically, since every area has its own traffic problems.

The state expert advised the group that the addition of members from all fields, the establishment of a sound budget, and the educating of the people to the problems of safety would go a long way towards making a safety program successful.

"If this Council is organized and put to work it can really cut the fatalities down," Shipman commented.

Phalen emphasized the need for money and an outstanding man to have overall charge of the operation as executive secretary on a full-time basis.

He said all those communities already having their own safety committees could continue to operate as they have been in cooperation with the county unit.

Deputies Search Lake for Possible Victim

Oakland County Sheriff Department diver Bill Jackson and members of the White Lake Township Fire Department were searching Cedar Island Lake in White Lake Township for a possible drowning victim late this morning following a report that a man had gone through the ice there.

Rescue operations got underway shortly after a woman resident of the lake area notified the Sheriff's Department of seeing a man going through the ice with his hands in the air.

Investigators had not confirmed the drowning at noon and had been unable to determine if anyone was known to be missing from the Cedar Island sector at presstime.

U.F. Donations Nearer to Goal

Industrial Division Gifts Bring Total Collections to 97 Per Cent

The Pontiac Area United Fund stands $17,000 short of its $612,202 goal after two weeks of extended solicitation, campaign chairman Walter K. Willman announced today.

The drive has collected $595,186, or 97 per cent of goal, he said.

Large gains in the Industrial Division, Willman said, have brought pledges from corporations and their employes up to $393,414, or 94 per cent of goal.

Division chairman Earl Maxwell was optimistic his quota would be reached by the end of a 30-day extension called by Willman when the drive officially ended Nov. 16.

The Commercial Division, headed by James F. Nye, has reached $159,175, Willman said, or 101 per cent of quota, and the women's door-to-door Geographic Division has turned in $20,698 or 108 per cent.

The women's chairman is Mrs. Ralph G. Bump.

Funds collected this year will support 54 health, youth, recreation, child welfare and family counsel agencies in 1957.

Street Lights Forced On

Storm Blackens Pontiac

Black skies this morning caused motorists to switch on headlights and windshield wipers as the clouds unleashed an unseasonable thunder and electrical storm over the Pontiac area.

The darkness forced on city street lights twice for periods of some 15 minutes by means of a photo-electrical cell atop Consumer Power Co.'s substation which activates when light is absent from the mechanism.

With the thunderstorms, the temperature today was expected to climb to a spring-like 55 degrees.

The Weather Bureau said the rain will change to snow flurries tonight, with the mercury expected to dip to around the freezing mark. The snow should continue tomorrow, the weatherman said, with temperatures ranging from 32 to 35 degrees.

Yesterday's temperature in downtown Pontiac reached a high of 40 degrees.

The lowest temperature in Pontiac preceding 8 a. m. was 33. The mercury had climbed to 51 at 1 p. m.

Spirit of Christmas Hovers Over Pontiac Shopping Areas

THRONG THE STREETS — Crowds of shoppers roamed the downtown streets yesterday, checking Christmas lists and carrying bulging bags of Yuletide gifts as the shopping days dwindled away. "Do you think this is OK for Uncle Joe?" "What did we give Alice last year?" "What size socks would Willie take this year—he's a growing boy." (See story on Page 2.)

Post Office Time Revised for Yule

Postmaster Asks Public: 'Ease the Pressure'; Mail at Slack Times

Announcing extended hours of post office window service, Pontiac Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean today urged postal patrons to help "ease the pressure" by doing their mailing in slack periods of postal business.

He said mail can be handled quickly before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

"Air mail should now be used for mailing to distant points, and first-class postage is urg3d for faster, better service for all of your Christmas cards," Dean said.

Extended window service hours will be: Saturday, Dec. 8 — 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 10, to Friday, Dec. 14 — 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 15 — 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday Dec. 16 — 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Dec. 17, to Friday, Dec. 21 — 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 22 — 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Dean said the extended servlce would apply at stamp and parcel post mailing windows at the main office downtown and the Huron Gardens, Union Lake and Perry Street branch offices.

Scramble Starts as Adlai Quits

Kefauver Noncommital Among Many Other Potential '60 Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's announcement he will not seek a third chance at the presidency opened the way today to a scramble for the Democratic nomination in 1960.

Stevenson, defeated by President Eisenhower by about 10 million votes last month, said in a statement yesterday: "I will not run again for the presidency." He said he will resume private law practice in Chicago in January.

The twice-defeated Democratic candidate said his interest in the party will "continue undiminished."

Stevenson's vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, was asked if he too might be in a mood to remove himself from consideration for the 1960 presidential nomination. He replied:

"I am only in the mood to be the best senator here that I know how to be."

TO BID AGAIN

Kefauver's friends expect him to bid again for the top nomination in 1960.

Stevenson's statement he "will not run again" generally was accepted as removing him almost entirely from consideration four years from now. He did not, however, close the door tightly against a draft movement, in the unlikely event one should develop. William Jennings Bryan set a previous precedent by winning three Democratic presidential nominations, but not an election.

Office Breakin Yields $45 in Box, Jars

A cashbox and $30 plus two jars containing $15 were taken from an automobile sales office at 40 W. Pike St. Monday night, Pontiac police said.

Here Are Dollar Gift Ideas

By JANET ODELL

"Let's draw names and exchange dollar gifts." Over and over in clubs, offices and social groups we hear this suggestion. Some one always objects that you can't find anything "decent" for a dollar. We beg to differ, You can.

This gift snooping assignment is proving to be expensive for us. We BUY things. But it's a fun way of doing our Christmas shopping.

One store has beautifully monogrammed white handkerchiefs for a dollar. Many women like one such hanky to use for best. For a man you can get some of the handkerchiefs monogrammed along one edge; they are the newest style, you know.

If your child happens to be in a dollar-gift exchange, let him choose one of the metal banks for his present. Metal banks of the past are now collector's items. Who knows but what the present day ones will be the same. We saw a Davy Crockett, a pirate and a clown, any one of which would delight a youngster.

One men's store with a small gift section has some charming stone wear. They are hand painted with herb designs and are made to be used in the freezer, in the oven or on the table. We were enchanted with a little covered jar (we bought it) and with the small skillet.

The smallest apothecary jars cost less than a dollar. Fill them with powder puffs, bath salts or candy for an interesting gift at the desired price.

For the woman who collects earrings you have a wide choice of unusual and attractive ones. When in doubt, shun the rhinestone type and purchase the more conservative pair. She'll wear the latter more often.

Any handymen-around-the-house on your list? Buy a tube of plastic aluminum, a new product that mends countless items. Sportsmen will also appreciate this gift.

There are lots of gifts for a dollar.

'Juror' Pleads Guilty After Hearing Verdict

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Traffic Judge James Demopolos often had wondered if other people agreed with his verdicts. So he summoned an impromptu six-man "jury" to hear evidence against a man charged with drunken driving.

The six, chosen at random from persons in the court room, agreed unanimously that the defendant was guilty. He was fined $40.

Five minutes later the foreman of the "jury" stood before Demopolos to answer the same charges.

"You can dispense with the testimony," said the man. "I'm guilty."

He too was fined $40.

Pontiac City Affairs

Street Widening Deeds Accepted by Commission

A brief and routine nine-point agenda was written into the minutes in less than an hour last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

Deeds needed for the 60-foot widening and extension of Bay street through to the Herrington Hills Subdivision were accepted by commissioners.

A one-year lease extension was granted to the Michigan Animal Rescue League, Inc. upon the recommendation of City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Deeds for two parcels of land were accepted from the State Dept. of Conservation. One was for two lots in the Dixieland Subdivision in the vicinity of Osmun Lake.

The other was for part of a lot in Pulfords Subdivision near Bagley street. Both will be used for public purposes.

A resolution of public necessity was offered and adopted to call for the blacktopping of all streets on the 1956 capital improvement program which were not offered by reason of public necessity or by commission resolution.

A long 18-point agenda will face commissioners when they gather Friday night for their monthly informal session.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. James L. Cronan

Mrs. James L. (Rose) Cronan, 64, of 315 Dick St. died yesterday in Pontiac General Hospital. She had been in ill health two years.

Born in Templeton, Iowa on April 5, 1892, she was the daughter of John and Teresa Witte.

A member of St. Benedict's Catholic Church, she had lived in the Pontiac area 19 years.

Mrs. Cronan leaves her husband; and two sisters, Mrs. O. C. Scott of Coon Rapids, Iowa and Mrs. George Hoagland of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Britain Asks to Skip $82 Million Payment

terest payment—71 million due on a U.S. postwar loan of 3½ billion dollars and 11 millions on a 600-million-dollar sum agreed to as settlement of Britain's World War II lend-lease account with the United States.

Also due Dec. 31 are payments of 57 million dollars in the principal on these two accounts. This sum is not affected by the British request.

"If the British can't pay, they can't pay," Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) of the Senate Appropriations Committee told a reporter.

Hayden said he would go along with an emergency "waiver" of the interest payment—the term used by Macmillan in describing the request.

"We have to support our allies even though they don't always act as we think they should," Hayden said. "We have taken the same kind of action in the past in emergencies."

Sen. George (D-Ga), retiring chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "I anticipate sympathetic consideration of a modification or postponement" of the interest payment.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), the Foreign Relations Committee's senior Republican member, said he feared failure to grant the request might set off "a harmful economic chain reaction" from which the whole free world would suffer.

Pontiac Men Jailed on Entering Charge

Two Pontiac men were given jail sentences totaling 30 days each Tuesday after they were found guilty of a charge of entering without permission by Keego Harbor Justice James Southart.

David L. Fairbotham, 39, of 107 Mt. Clemens St., and Francis P. Mazurek, 34, of 551 Franklin Rd., were lodged in the county jail when they failed to pay fine and costs of $121 apiece.

The charge involved the alleged theft of hunting clothes valued at $45.20 from the glassed-in porch of a Keego home early in November.

OLCC Expands Its Facilities

OKs $185,000 Job to Start Jan. 1; Selects Shurley as President

An expansion and improvement program to cost approximately $185,000 has been approved by the Orchard Lake Country club membership, and Burt R. Shurley Jr., Detroit banker, has been selected as president for 1957.

Plans for the building were prepared by the Birmingham architects, O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenback, and Tom Hewlett said today that bids would be taken Dec. 15. Work will begin first of the new year, Hewlett said.

Other officers are: Robert C. Leland of Birmingham, vice-president; John C. Moons of Detroit, secretary (re-elected) and Edward H. Lerchen of Birmingham, re-elected treasurer. All are members of the board of governors along with new members Morgan Collins, John K. Bagby and John W. Shenfield and holdovers William J. Bird and C. B. Harman.

Revision of the entire second floor of the south portion, a new cocktail lounge, other new facilities including a new women's locker room and lounge; a new mixed grille and enlargement of the men's grille are major items. The club's main entrance will be new, with a covered access, new approach and vestibule, and revision of the clubhouse area south of the lobby. A new manager's office is included.

Parents Face Jail for Snubbing School

VERSAILLES, Mo. (AP) — Unless they change their minds or win an appeal, Mr. and Mrs. William Cheney face 10 days in jail for refusing to send their 7-year-old daughter to school.

The Cheneys contend an open storm cellar makes the school grounds dangerous and say there is no playground supervision.

Circuit Judge Claude E. Curtis imposed the jail term Monday, plus a $10 fine, but delayed execution of the penalty 30 days to give the Cheneys an opportunity to appeal.

Cheney is a high school English teacher at nearby Eldon, Mo., his wife is a former schoolteacher. They said they had set up an exacting second-grade program at home for their little girl Stephanie.

Judge Curtis said this was not enough to comply with Missouri's school attendance law since it did not provide the social contacts a pupil has at school.

City Considers Two Ordinances

Public Nuisance Law, Bottled Gas Restriction Proposals Under Study

Two proposed city ordinances were introduced to the Pontiac City Commission last night. Both will be up for possible adoption next Tuesday.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz asked consideration of an ordinance regulating and licensing the use of liquid petroleum gases in the city.

The second ordinance is proposed to be the city's first public nuisance law which would repeal the one paragraph 1874 law now on the books.

City Attorney William A. Ewart drafted the new law prohibiting the keeping of certain animals (not including dogs, cats and most household pets) in Pontiac, requiring the keeping of sanitary areas where allowable pets are kept, making it unlawful to occupy condemned premises, listing the right of entry of a health officer to inspect premises, and other clauses.

"If we don't have the weapons to work with, we're powerless," Ewart said explaining the need of the ordinance. Would require permits.

The suggested bottled gas ordinance would require permits from the city building inspector before containers in excess of 125 gallons could be installed.

The law would prohibit the use and storing of liquid petroleum gases in the No. 1 fire limits or the central downtown area except for a one-year period or until natural gas is secured.

Area Man Belly Lands Plane at City Airport

While three Waterford Township fire trucks, police cars, and an ambulance stood by, a Drayton Plains pilot belly-landed a twin-engine plane yesterday at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Gordon Trevethan, pilot for Allen Anderson & Co., Inc. of Birmingham, walked away from the $70,000 plane without a scratch. The plane suffered $500 in damages according to Homer C. Hoskins, manager of the airport.

Hoskins explained that Trevethan radioed the field asking ground observers to inspect the plane's front tricycle landing gear. A second plane went aloft to get a closer look at the gear. Examination proved it apparently had jammed.

Straight Razor Test Makes Man Wince

DETROIT (AP) — John Kimmel, 22, balked at shaving with a straight razor he carried with him and police wondered why.

Kimmel was held for investigation yesterday in connection with a break-in at a barber college.

To prove ownership of the razor, detective Jack Shoemaker suggested that Kimmel shave with it. Kimmel winced and said, "Why I'd cut my throat if I shaved with that."

The Day in Birmingham

Drain Authority Plans to Avert Storm Disaster

BIRMINGHAM — "What do we prepare for the once-in-ten-year storm, or the worst one in 100 years?" members of the North Evergreen authority are asking themselves.

They mulled the question over by themselves yesterday morning, and have called in their engineers of the Ann Arbor firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May for a conference on the question tomorrow morning.

The authority members, meeting in Birmingham municipal offices, yesterday studied a new suggestion by the engineers to step up treatment of storm water.

Water from storms might surpass the abilities of the Birmingham Sewage Treatment Plant if expanded for the North Evergreen use in rare, heavy storms, especially if complete treatment is required, the theory goes.

"It isn't economically possible to be ready for the one worst storm every ten years," points out James Juhl, Birmingham coordinator.

A plan of the engineers for primary and not secondary sedimentation along with chlorination, of storm waters was suggested two weeks ago by the engineers, but was rejected by Don Pierce of the Michigan State Health Department.

Pierce has not specified just what treatment he does require, but has said he will require treatment of storm waters as well as sewer waters.

Desk contents are still being sorted at the city offices following "moving day" on Monday, in which several departments changed their headquarters.

Moved into offices on the second floor at the east end of the municipal building is the city manager's staff, with City Manager Harold Schone and Assistant Manager Robert Kenning in offices off a central room, occupied by their two secretaries and coordinator James Juhl.

Across the hall on second floor, the billing section of the water department, and the city's finance department is being settled.

Below stairs, the city health department has occupied the former manager's office area.

The recreation department has moved into the main building, having been in two locations in the old fire-hall wing since it was created last winter. Robert Girardin, director, and his secretary are in the office vacated by the machine accounting section of the water billing department.

City Commission Room is being rejuvenated, while the main floor room of the fire-hall wing houses the commission and court meanwhile.

Young Girl Treated After Being Struck

A 16-year-old Detroit girl is under treatment at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today for a possible head injury suffered yesterday when she was struck down by a car at a Troy intersection.

Phyllis Mathews was listed in "good" condition at the hospital this morning. She was struck by a car operated by Herman L. Miner, 50, of 840 Trombley St., Troy.

Miner told Troy police he was driving slowly through a green light at Rochester and 15 Mile roads when Miss Mathews dashed out in front of his car. He said it was impossible for him to stop in time.

Speed Manufacture of Diphtheria Vaccine

LANSING (AP) — An emergency financing arrangement was approved yesterday by the state administrative board to keep the manufacture of diphtheria vaccine going at top speed in the state health department laboratories.

Production of the vaccine has been on a 24-hour-a-day basis because of the diphtheria outbreak in Detroit.

Dr. George Cummings, laboratory director, said that the around-the-clock operations would have to be maintained for some time in the future and were fast eating up appropriated funds.

Cummings asked for and received authority to dip into the fourth quarter share of the appropriation for the laboratory work.

Involved was about $45,000 — $25,000 for wages and salaries and the remainder for materials.

State sales taxes, novelties 25 years ago, now comprise about 40 per cent of all state tax revenues.

Chivalry Not Yet Dead

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — Every night cab drivers Jacob De Hass and George Blanos took turns meeting the late train and driving a woman a block and a half to her home. Then the city's cabbies went on strike. De Hass and Blanos continue to meet the train, only now they walk the woman home. They still don't know her name.

Airlines Start Penalty for Late Cancellations

That incorrigible airplane reprobate—the "no show" passenger and his second cousin, the late cancellation boy, are finally goading the air lines into action. They're pulling up their several sleeves and preparing to swing.

Travelers on trains appear on time and make their trips according to schedule. Yet, seventeen per cent of the airplane passengers either cancel their reservations too late to let the airlines sell them, or they never show up at all and demand a refund.

This has been a perpetual thorn in the flesh of the fast moving and swiftly growing air lines. They have threatened, begged and pleaded to no avail. Now they propose to retain a portion of the ticket price ranging up to $20.

Actually, this seems justified.

The seat has to travel empty if the ticket purchaser doesn't materialize. Other businesses impose reasonable penalties for failure to perform. We feel sympathetic with the air lines in this connection and feel they are taking a step that may help solve their problem.

They still bungle ineptly in handling hand baggage and the "paper work" of one of the biggest smacks of the gas lit nineties. The business has grown so rapidly that both the carriers and passengers have a lot to learn.

You Know You Must Do It: Do It Now

We all often get so fed up on perpetual advice as to when we should do something that most everybody else does, that we refuse to read anything further on it.

Perhaps this is because our highly modernized way of life is making us lazy minded. Perhaps we think we are too busy even to think.

It is so easy to keep putting off something that we know we must do, until we find we have driven ourselves into a situation that previously has caused us a lot of inconvenience — but we evidently didn't learn anything by that experience.

All will agree that when we have a task to do, be it happy or otherwise, the best time to do it is when we can quietly consider all situations, without fuss or bother, and not procrastinate until we get ourselves into a position of being pushed around.

Early action on any matter which we know we must face also has the added advantage of happily getting ourselves into a position where we can complacently sit back and watch others chew their nails and tear their hair as they are forced to do the same thing with mob assistance and interference.

All of which leads the writer up to what he's driving at. If we told you in the first place, you wouldn't have read any further:—

Do your Christmas shopping early.

Oil for Western Europe

It's good news that the Administration has put into effect its emergency program to supply Western Europe with some oil.

The ostensible reason, and a good one, for our delay in coming to this decision is that shipments of oil might hamper U.N. efforts in the Middle East by seeming to favor Britain and France.

While we are under no obligation to bail them out of their dilemma in the Middle East, many other nations are adversely affected by the Suez dispute. From Sweden to Italy countries that had no part in the intervention are suffering from the squeeze brought about by the closing of the Suez Canal.

Secretary of the Interior SEATON in a recent speech in Chicago had this to say about the situation:

"Western Europe is desperately dependent upon oil and trade with the Middle East. We know by bitter and repeated experience that any decline in the level of economic activity in Western Europe soon reflects itself in the United States and Canada. Insuring adequate supplies of petroleum is a matter of major concern since military operations are powered almost entirely by oil."

Withholding of oil that affects innocent people, of course, would be shortsighted. But NATO must have oil for defense and the million barrels daily we are planning to ship should avert a crisis that would be felt in this country also.

The Man About Town

Send Her a Card

County's Oldest Resident Would Doubly Appreciate

Conspicuous: The left hand of a newly engaged girl.

oldest among Oakland County's more than half a million residents, native born or otherwise. Her birthday is on Dec. 16, and her mailing address is Highland. Though mourning the recent death of her 87-year-old daughter, with whom she lived, Mrs. Taylor has a date with Man About Town to attend the inauguration of Ike and Dick on Jan. 21—if MAT is active enough to go. Anyway, let's make her the biggest recipient of mail at the Highland post office.

"My native country had better wake up," writes

"Son of England,"

in a letter with a Pontiac postmark. On their visit to Jamaica, he points out why the Queen and Anthony Eden should observe the poverty they've created by taxing the native Jamaicans into starvation, "while the crown continues to bask in splendor when Britain cannot pay its debts and as a nation hangs on the verge of bankruptcy." He concludes with, "Lizzie has not been allowed to know about the mess, but Tony does."

Word comes to me from that the four deer who inhabit the woods near his home out Baldwin Road are again out in the open. For several years they've gone into seclusion on Nov. 15.

Inside information comes to me that the thousand members of the

Oakland County Farm Bureau

are to put on a membership drive early next month.

I like that new roadside reminder:

"Even in traffic, every life is sacred."

On Dec. 17 Michigan's Republican presidential electors meet at Lansing to officially endorse what our state's voters did on Nov. 6. Then Oakland County's of Royal Oak will represent us for the 18th Congressional district.

In His Cups

David Lawrence Says:

Are We Destined for Another War?

WASHINGTON — "More barbarism in Hungary"—that's the headline. But it's not novel.

It makes one shudder today to re-read the pages of world history between 1933 and 1939. It produces the uneasy feeling that history is repeating itself now and that a third world war is coming, maybe in a year or two, maybe before 1960.

The record shows that in the 1930's the failure of Great Britain, France and the United States to work closely together made it easier for the enemy to carry on its aggression.

The record shows also that a "concert of power" was always being extolled as an ideal, but when it came down to brass tacks, Great Britain, France and the United States did not cooperate as allies. The aggressor went on the assumption that there would be no effective alliance. It took a world war and the sacrifice of many innocent lives to convince the enemy of that mistaken assumption.

CRY FOR MORAL FORCE

The cry in the 1930's was for moral force—even as it is today. An example was the famous "quarantine" speech made in Chicago on Oct. 5, 1937 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It attracted world-wide attention.

In that speech, the pertinent paragraphs were as follows:

"If we are to have a world in which we can breathe freely and live in amity without fear, the peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort to uphold laws and principles on which alone peace can rest secure.

"The peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation or neutrality . . .

WORLD LAWLESSNESS

"It seems to be unfortunately true that the epidemic of world lawlessness is spreading. When an epidemic of physical disease starts to spread, the community approves and joins in a quarantine of the patients in order to protect the health of the community against the spread of that disease."

* * *

Mr. Roosevelt did not spell out what he meant by "quarantine," but it was interpreted generally as meaning an economic embargo. Describing the speech as a "masterpiece" and one that the whole world had been waiting to hear from the lips of the President of the United States, this correspondent wrote on the day afterward:

"In the intercourse of nations, the stigma of barbarism hurts. When peace-loving peoples come to ostracize from their midst the governments which do violence to all humane principles, there is put into motion the forces that ultimately shame nations into a change of policy.

"If the democracies of the world stick together and put a 'moral quarantine' on the leper governments of the world, there will be a sudden realization on the part of the peoples living under those governments that world trade, world intercourse, and world opinion shun them as the enemies of mankind."

But the plan was frustrated because Great Britain, France and the United States didn't follow through with the "quarantine." Isolationism in America and pussyfoot policies abroad were responsible. Britain, France and the United States were either unwilling or unable for financial reasons to impose an embargo.

It was a repetition of the tragedy of two years before when Mussolini in 1935 invaded Ethiopia. The League of Nations ordered an embargo on arms to Italy and particularly banned shipments of oil. But the principal nations—the United States, Great Britain and France—couldn't agree on who would pay the bill growing out of loss of trade. By 1936 the conquest of Ethiopia was completed.

Today in the Middle East, Dictator Nasser has torn up the treaty of 1888. In the Far East Britain pursues one policy and America another with respect to Formosa. Also, the British still want to appease Communist China and give her a seat in the security council of the U.N. The Moscow-Peiping axis needs only to play on that division to further its propaganda efforts in Asia.

Hungary is suffering, but Great Britain, France and the United States exhibit the same irresoluteness that was manifest in the 1930's.

What is lacking today in London, Paris and Washington is the determination to work together on a common front against a common enemy.

The unity must be economic as well as political and military this time, or else the world will go the way of the 1930's. It is better for America to spend dollars now than to be compelled later on to spend human lives.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Navel Rupture in Infant Calls for Home Treatment

Umbilical (navel) hernia (breach, rupture) is a bulging of the umbilicus (navel, belly button) that is apparent at birth in many instances. The bulge is generally about the size of a quarter and it protrudes perhaps half an inch.

In any case, it is sufficient to place a slice of 1-inch cork, padded with absorbent cotton and a sprinkle of borated talcum powder directly upon the bulge, and strap it in place with one or two adhesive plaster straps, applied crosswise while the baby is held suspended by the feet.

Even if this home care fails to cure the hernia, it is seldom advisable to subject the child to operation before the age of eight years.

BINDER HELPS

If the strapping is impracticable the bulging may be prevented by a properly fitting belly binder or girdle fashioned like a whooping cough belt. This should have 2-inch insertions of elastic webbing at the sides and eyelets and tape to lace at the back or snap fasteners over a flap.

It's a bit of a nuisance, to be sure, but, I repeat, healing is spontaneous in most cases.

So don't fret too much about it, don't give the child the impression that he is different from other children. And don't let any eager beaver operator take over, at least not before the child is eight.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The passing friend is one you meet . . . Who merely says hello . . . And does not care especially . . . Which way the wind may blow . . . He sort of hears your name pronounced . . . And then it fades away . . . And is completely lost before . . . He finishes his stay . . . He may be courteous enough . . . To ask you what you do . . . But he prefers to talk about . . . Himself instead of you . . . Or else he lavishes his praise . . . To win your confidence . . . And cunningly attempts to gain . . . His goal at your expense . . . So be a little careful of . . . The hand that you extend . . . Your new acquaintance may turn out . . . To be a passing friend.

Woman Has Suggestions in Line With Press Article

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I was happy to read your article, "Putting Christ Back Into Christmas." This is as it should be. It brought another thought to my mind. We all love our families and friends, we usually go all out exchanging gifts at Christmas time, and I'm sorry to say many gifts are unwanted, unused. How much better it would be to give to those really in need.

So many are sick and helpless. For instance, what about an offering to the Hungarian refugees, a toy to some child here in out own city, not a piece of China to someone we love who perhaps has more now than she needs or wants. Or what about a gift to the heart fund, to some family not able to have turkey on the table this year, money sent to strike back at cancer?

I resolve to do as many of these things as my pocketbook will permit, for I, too, want to put Christ back into Christmas.

'Why No Parade for Vets' Day?"

Recently Pontiac had a very nice and very large parade to salute Pontiac industry, which is all well and good, but just for curiosity's sake, what ever happened to Veterans' Day?

It seems to me that since our city fathers cannot find time to make even a feeble showing on this one day that was set aside to remember and honor all of the American people who fought and died so that this country could be what it is today, including Pontiac industry and merchants, that one or all of the veterans' organizations would do something about this disgraceful situation in this city.

Detroit is a very large industrial city, but still found time to stop and pay a well earned tribute to the men and women who have made and kept America free, with a very impressive parade down Woodward Avenue. How well we know the dollar is almighty, but it won't buy freedom.

Urges Pavement for Quarton Road

Why doesn't the township or the county or the state or the Nation or the U.N. pave Quarton road? It needs it. It's a well traveled thoroughfare and it's not in keeping with Oakland County's good road policy.

Minister Praises Proposed Law

In finishing M. D.'s letter in the Saturday Pontiac Press, I will start where he left off by saying that "righteousness exhalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." We think the Commissioner who introduced that bill and those in favor of it are to be commended for such a standard.

West Europe's Oil Crisis Points Up Greater Peril

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

West European economic woes resulting from the Middle East crisis reflect only a small part of the trouble that will occur if the conflict spreads.

In fact the dependence of Western Europe on Middle East oil shows a dangerous situation for the Western world's chances should a global conflict ever come.

The Soviet Union does not necessarily need Middle Eastern oil. But denial of that oil to the West could be fatal.

In Western Europe more sharp cuts in motoring are being made. Some buildings are going without heat. Hotels have closed off blocks of rooms to save fuel oil. The threat of work layoffs is increasing.

Announcement that U.S. oil executives will meet in New York this week to complete plans for shipment of supplies to Europe from Gulf of Mexico ports has helped ease the anti-American feeling.

SHIPMENT SLATED

The first American tanker of oil loaded under the U. S. emergency plan to aid Europe is expected to leave lafe this week.

The emergency plan calls for the pooling of oil supplies and transportation means by U. S. oil companies. The government estimates it can ship at least 500,000 barrels of petroleum products daily to Britain, France and other countries in Western Europe.

If tanker fleets of other nations swing into support of the emergency plan it is estimated that another 10 per cent can be added to the total daily flow.

Transportation for the moment is the big problem in reducing hardships in Western Europe. There also is the coordination problem — and the money problem.

HIGHER PRICES

When the Suez fighting began, oil cost an estimated $1.97 per barrel at Persian Gulf ports. This compared to $3.25 at the U.S. ports on the Gulf of Mexico — payable in scarce American dollars.

If some system of international allocation is set up who is to say what nation buys what oil with what currency?

Since, under the best of circumstances, it will be months before traffic again transits the Suez Canal, it looks like a bad winter in Western Europe.

And with the economic impact also being felt in the United States.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Lose Weight to Get 25-Hour Day

Want to know how you can actually add an extra hour to the 24 in the day? Then follow Bert's example. Meanwhile, you will aid your heart, lengthen your life span, and be far more alluring. Remember, you can't feel like a sports roadster with the chassis of a truck. So streamline yourself N-O-W.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-339: Bert G., aged 41, is a very busy executive.

"Dr. Crane, I never can catch up with my work," he announced, with a rueful grin.

"I'm on the go all day long, but still I don't find time for reading or other pleasures I used to enjoy.

"I just wish you could add an extra hour to the 24 in my day. But I suppose that's something you psychologists can't perform, eh?"

PERFORM MIRACLES

Well, Bert, you are wrong. We psychologists can actually add an extra hour to your day:

In effect, therefore, we extend the 24 hours to 25, and at no extra strain on your heart or your nervous system.

Bert is overweight. His poundage is 210, though it should be only 175 at the most. That means he is carrying an extra load of 35 pounds.

His heart is thus beating faster than it would need to pound if he were more streamlined.

And by dieting, his blood pressure would drop possibly 20 to 30 points, thus aiding his heart at every beat.

For as soon as you go on a diet, you will begin to awaken earlier. In my own case, I have found that I waken about an hour ahead of schedule.

And it isn't due to hunger. No, my body simply clears out the waste products and gets me in shape for the new day, with eight hours of slumber instead of my usual nine hours.

That's how you can speedily add an extra hour to your waking time and thus stretch your day from 24 hours to a functional 25 hours.

LOSE 10 LBS

So I put Bert on my famous dehydration diet whereby you reduce your fluid intake, as well as your menu, for the first 10 days.

On the first day Bert limited himself to a total of 1,200 calories. And he restricted his fluids to a total of only one glass (8 oz.).

On the second day, he again stopped with 1,200 calories, but now drank two glasses of liquids (fruit juice, water, etc.).

On the third day, he had his 1,200 calories but now moved up to three glasses of total liquids.

On the next seven days, he followed this same pattern, limiting his food to 1,200 calories and his liquids to 3 full glasses per day.

"After that first day, I didn't feel any special hunger pangs," he admitted, though I wished I could have a barrel of ice water.

"My attention shifted from my stomach to my mouth. But I soon got used to it, and felt fine.

"And I also noticed that I woke up much earlier every morning, so you did add that extra hour, after all. I didn't realize psychologists could produce miracles.

WOMEN DIETERS

Women can follow the same prescription as Bert did, except limit your calories to 800, instead of 1,200.

If you get a dull headache the first day or two, while your stomach is learning to shrink down, just use an aspirin tablet.

Housewives often find it better to pour their glass of water into an ice tray, with the sections therein, for this offers them many thin wafers of ice.

And the ice is far superior to liquid water in assuaging your dry mouth.

So send for my diet chart "How to Lose 10 lbs. in 10 Days," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. It also has a list of calorie values for various food portions.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Right Answer on Pot-O-Gold Means $900

Loot in the Pot-O-Gold is piling up fast, reaching $900 with this new puzzle if no winner is found for last Puzzle No. 26. Better get started at it before someone beats you to the riches. Check the rules carefully, and be sure to have your entry postmarked before the deadline. You'll never know if you can win until you try it.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 27 must bear a Tuesday, Dec. 11, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Dutch Rule Out Gas Innovations

Blow Dealt Hollanders Who Averted Fuel Ban by Using Kerosene

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Ingenious motorists who beat the Netherlands' no - gasoline - for Sunday - driving ban by converting their autos to use kerosene or diesel oil got bad news today: It's against the law to burn any oil derivative in auto engines.

Dutch roads have been practically deserted over the past two weekends because of the ban on Sunday driving, caused by the shortage of oil since the Suez crisis. A few car owners evaded the ban by switching to other fuels. A special carburetor is required.

Several fines were meted out to motorists who defied the Sunday driving ban this past weekend.

One man, caught en route home at the 5 a.m. Sunday curfew hour on cars, put his wife behind the steering wheel and pushed the rest of the way.

Hoarding of gasoline and oil products has reached such proportions that the government is considering full-scale rationing.

Several European countries, including Britain and France, have already ordered rationing.

Portugal ordered a ban today on selling gasoline on Sundays. Gas and oil prices also are to be increased, and automobile races have been stopped.

1,000 Refugees Daily

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—One thousand Hungarian refugees from communism will be moving daily to the United States by Dec. 11 or 12, the director of the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration predicted today. At present fewer than 300 are going daily. About 70,000 refugees are in Austria and they still are coming in at the rate of about 3,000 a day.

Sen. Johnson Eyed

Dems Look for Presidential Timber

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There never was any doubt — after Adlai Stevenson's second defeat by President Eisenhower — that he was washed up as a presidential candidate.

So his announcement yesterday saying so only emphasized that for the next four years the Democrats will have no one man to point to as their leader.

The only question — after Stevenson's political epitaph was written in the Nov. 6 election returns — was not whether he would like a third try but when he would say he was through.

Delaying the announcement would have done no good for him or the party. If he had delayed, in the hope he might continue as party leader, he would have been disillusioned in a hurry.

NEED NEW LEADER

There was no reason for the Democrats to take guidance from a man who suffered two overwhelming disasters, particularly this year when the Democrats as a whole came out ahead of the Republicans.

On a practical day-by-day basis from now on the party leadership will be shared by two Texans: Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Democrats' Senate leader, and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

They'll have the job of guiding the Democrats in Congress toward establishment of a record on which the party can appeal to the voters in the 1958 congressional elections and in the 1960 presidential race.

The Johnson-Rayburn leadership will have to be shared to some extent with the Democratic National Committee and the Democratic state governors, who will have, or try to have, some say about the road the Democrats are to follow in Congress.

Before the 1958 congressional elections the party may suffer from disagreements between Johnson and Rayburn on one side and other Democrats in and out of Congress on the other.

JOHNSON WATCHED

Johnson in particular will be watched, especially by those other Democrats anxious to build themselves up as likely 1960 presidential candidates. Rayburn, who will be 78 in 1960, is out of consideration as a candidate.

Johnson will be only 52 four years from now. He made motions like a candidate this year but got nowhere. Although he had a heart attack a year and a half ago, he can be expected to have presidential ambitions still.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, who made two unsuccessful tries for the Democratic presidential nomination and settled for the vice-presidential spot this year, certainly shows no signs of not wanting another try. He'll be 57 in 1960.

There are others, some out in the open as men of high ambition and others who may emerge in the next four years, who will wind up in the Democratic presidential merry-go-round.

Former President Truman found out at the Chicago convention this year, when he tried to stop Stevenson's nomination, that his onetime leadership in the party is gone.

Stevenson indicated he'll have plenty to say about party affairs in the next four years. But, as a political force, he has been completely discredited.

Explain to Pole Indians in U.S. Have Freedom

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Mayor Jack Williams has sent a letter to a 14-year-old Polish boy, assuring him that American Indians are "not locked up in prisons and camps."

The letter was in reply to one written by Jach Ladislaw, a schoolboy in Lodz, a central Poland city of about 500,000 population. Jach asked if "it is true what they are saying and writing in our papers" about the status of American Indians.

Williams wrote that Indians have a choice of living on reservations set aside for them by the Federal government or anywhere in the United States, and that reservation Indians have their own police, laws and economic system.

The youngster's letter, translated by a Polish-born Phoenix resident, read in part:

"I am interested in the living conditions of the peoples which are under your care and I am anxious to know if there are still wild Indians in your state, and if they are locked up in prisons and camps like our papers and books and films show . . ."

Mayor Williams said he will send Jach a year's subscription to Arizona Highways magazine and also have a 14-year-old Indian boy write to Jach and "tell him the truth about American Indians."

Britons Shudder, Tighten Belts Again

LONDON (AP)—Britons faced up with a shudder today to the bill for the invasion of Egypt. The country's morale was hit squarely by fears of mounting inflation, unemployment wage strikes, higher taxes and crippling fuel shortages.

Another bitter pill to many was the thought that the nation had once more gone beggingfor help from the United States, widely blamed here for Britain's empty-handed withdrawal from the Suez Canal zone.

Newspaper headlines exhorting everybody to pull together and get Britain out of the mess often had an effect opposite to that intended. Too many people were reminded that similar inspirational slogans in the past had heralded a period of grim struggle to rescue the national economy from dire peril.

The House of Commons continued the big post-mortem on the Egyptian military adventure with the start of a two-day foreign policy debate, due to reach a climax tomorrow night when the Conservative government asks for a vote of confidence.

Prime Minister Eden's government was expected to survive the vote, probably by a reduced majority, but feeling continued to mount that Eden himself would resign soon. The Prime Minister is due back in two weeks from Jamaica, where his doctors sent him for a rest at the height of the Suez crisis.

But the political furor was all but drowned in a chorus of groans from the man in the street as his immediate future struck home.

A quick rise in the cost of living was accepted on all sides as inevitable. A hike of 1 shilling 5 pence (20 cents) on diesel oil were alone enough to guarantee this. These increases were announcd by the government and oil companies yesterday.

Because of greater transportation costs, the prices of bread, milk, meat and farm produce in general were expected to start climbing quickly. So were prices of most manufactured goods.

The Daily Telegraph, the Daily Sketch and the Daily Mail — all Conservative government supporters—expressed regret that in its need to conserve dollars Britain had asked Canada and the United States to waive the 104 million dollars in interest payments due them Dec. 31.

"Better to tighten our belts," asserted the Sketch.

"We have no sympathy with the unthinking anti-Americanism that is so prevalent today. But after the heavily strained relations of the last few weeks, the time is wrong for such a request.

"It will be interpreted as a confession of weakness. It will not improve our standing in the vital negotiations that lie ahead."

Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan hinted in the House of Commons yesterday he would have to increase the income tax in his budget next April. The talk around London was that he was thinking in terms of a 5 per cent increase. That would jack the basic British income tax rate up to 47½ per cent on all taxable income between $1,400 and $5,600. Above that surtaxes take an ever-increasing bigger bite.

Tot Becomes Citizen of U.S.

Okinawa-Born Boy, 3, Youngest to Get Papers in Detroit Court

DETROIT (AP)—Before that magic hour yesterday it was just Jimmie Smith, alien. Today it's citizen Jimmy Smith—at 3 years old, the youngest ever to be naturalized in Detroit.

Standing beside 123 other citizenship seekers yesterday in federal court, Jimmie knew he had come a long way from the Yonabaru orphanage on Okinawa.

It was there that an Army sergeant and his wife, now Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Smith of South Lyons, had first seen Jimmie. They adopted him.

As Jimmie stood up proudly in his suit, bow tie, and white shirt to receive his new status as United States citizen, his parents told the story to reporters. "We fell in love with him immediately," they said. After waiting the two years provided by law, Jimmie qualified for citizenship.

But You Need Plenty of Determination to Get It

Of Course, California Wine Flows in Paris

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
(For Hal Boyle)

PARIS (AP)—It's not easy, but you can get California wine in Paris.

Two Americans found this out at the cost of much cajoling and several fistfuls of francs. They had read that Louis Vaudable, proprietor of Maxim's restaurant, told Los Angeles newsmen:

"Of course, we have California wines in Paris—and they are excellent. It's simply that no one orders them."

* * *

Well, Vaudable is perhaps two-thirds right.

A visit to Maxim's brought these results:

At first the sommelier — wine steward—was rather definite. No. Maxim's had no California wine. In fact, Maxim's had no foreign wines. No chianti. No Spanish wines. No Portuguese wines. Well, yes, they did have a few German Rhine wines, but they were for German tourists, and even they usually wound up with a chablis or a good bordeaux.

But what about Vaudable's statement?

There was a hurried consultation, a long pause, a long absence, and behold, there were two dusty bottles of California white—from Vaudable's own private collection, it seems.

One was a Livermore Valley pinot chardonnay 1945 from Alameda County. It was described as similar to a montrachet or fine burgundy.

The other was a Fountain Grove pinot blanc, also 1945, from Sonoma County. The Americans chose the Livermore Valley to go with the filet of sole.

Soon there was a crowd of waiters around the table. They were curious about this strange vintage. They were more curious about the people who might order it. Well, you know how Americans are. Would they have a sip? Curiosity was stronger than disdain.

"A little small," commented a sommelier as he tasted the Livermore '45. Another remarked that it seemed a trifle "flatter" than the French equivalent but that it was more agreeable when very cold. Another said that it seemed "lighter" than French white.

* * *

When it came time for red wine, the sommelier came up with a Louis Martini napa barbera, 1942.

The headwaiter, Albert, came over to oversee this. Good color, he conceded. Albert bravely asserted that Maxim's had had California wine for years and had been serving it all the time to connoisseurs.

* * *

An assistant dropped tact. It wasn't bad, he said, taking a mouthful of Martini's Napa Valley, but why should anyone come all the way from the United States to drink California wine?

Youths Voice Their Opinions

Adults, Teenagers Meet to Discuss Behavior of Young People

WASHINGTON (AP) — With some 200 adults met to discuss the problems of youth today, nine youngsters from six states including Michigan were intent on having some of the say.

The nine teenagers, representing thousands of youths, were here yesterday to take part in the two day conference.

Their main point was: Adults can't expect to make plans and have youth follow them to the letter, if youth hasn't something to say about the making of the plans.

In addition to Michigan, the nine youngsters represented Florida, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maryland and New York.

Betty Chicky, a 16-year-old high school senior from Grand Rapids who holds down a job on the Michigan youth commission said that more effort should be made to publicize youth groups such as this. Too much is said, she thought, about the misdeeds of juvenile delinquents.

The youngsters banded together informally at the joint conference of government, welfare, social, civic and educational leaders, so that they would have a more powerful voice.

Star Vanessa Brown May Return to Hubby

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Vanessa Brown says her separation from Dr. Robert Franklyn "may not be final."

"After all," she said, "you don't just throw away six years of your life."

She told newsmen the doctor left the family home Nov. 25, but she did not explain why. They separated once previously in their six years of marriage, but reconciled.

Storm Drowns Ten

MANILA (AP) — Ten passengers were drowned when a sudden storm capsized a small motor launch off southeast Luzon Island, the Philippine News Service said today.

Music Receives Acclaim

By DORA DAWSON

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Francesco DiBiasi is offering a series of concerts that are quite remarkable in their selection of musical material, in their soloists and their execution.

The concert Tuesday night in Lincoln Junior High School brought to this city one of the finest violists, in the person of Paul Doktor, that one has had the privilege of hearing.

After the opening overture "Der Freischutz" (Weber), which is a favorite in standard orchestra repertoire and was played with excellent precision and verve, the highlight of the program was the soloist, Mr. Doktor, heard in a viola concerto by Handel in three movements, with reduced orchestra.

From the first tone drawn from the strings of his beautiful instrument, one was conscious of its lovely mellow quality, and of the absolute assurance of the artist in producing tone.

Each concerto movement was wonderfully handled by the orchestra, responding to the themes produced by the soloist, delicate or vigorous. It seemed that it could not be otherwise with the rich sonority of the viola and beautiful phrasing by Mr. Doktor as an inspiration.

The second movement, lento, was especially appealing in melody and tone quality. Altogether this concerto was most satisfying.

MUCH IMAGINATION

It cannot be said that the programs lack imagination. A work was introduced on this program for viola, orchestra and voices called "Flos Campi" by Vaughn Williams, based on words from the Song of Solomon, Old Testament, a love lyric that inspired six pictures of longing.

The tones of the viola, in the hands of Mr. Doktor, were hauntingly rich and winning. His flexible technique and depth of perception mark him as a great artist.

Mr. DiBiasi's handling of the orchestral parts and chorus in this number was remarkably able. It is an interesting introduction into orchestral music.

As a director, Mr. DiBiassi has the ability to make his interpretations known, with restrained emphasis that makes his conducting a pleasure to watch. The orchestra, on its part, does a splendid piece of work, responding with its whole ability and unity.

The concert closed with excerpts from "Carmen" that have a popular appeal.

The entire program was enthusiastically received.

Opti-Mrs. Club Meets on Tuesday

Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. John Donley and Mrs. Pat Schooley were welcomed as new members of Opti-Mrs. Club when the group met Tuesday.

Mrs. G. L. Herrington was hostess to the group in her home on Louella drive. Mrs. Jack Greathouse assisted the hostess.

Announcement was made in the business meeting that Opti-Mrs. will supply refreshments for the USO party on Dec. 12 and that additional items of clothing have been purchased for the Michigan Children's Aid Society.

Mrs. Roy Lewis reported on the ceramics that members have made and are selling to benefit the club's project. Mrs. H. A. Miller was chairman of the program for the evening.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Stark on East Iroquois road.

Benefit Ball to Be Held on Dec. 28

Christmas Dance Slated by Alumnae of St. Joseph

Plans for the "Benefit Ball" sponsored by the Alumnae of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are announced by Mrs. Thomas Timmreck, general chairman. The annual Christmas dance is scheduled for Dec. 28 at the Elks Temple.

The dance will be the first major endeavor by the alumnae as part of their Alumnae Building Fund campaign, with the proceeds to be used for the expansion program at St. Joseph Mercy Hspital. Projects already held by the group include a bake sale and a toy demonstration.

Assisting Mrs. Timmreck with plans for the semi-formal affair are the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Richard Hoover, orchestra; Mrs. Wendell Wilkinson, hall; Mrs. Robert Gagel, publicity, and Mrs. Robert Holm and Mrs. Robert Stoner, tickets.

Dancing will be to a local orchestra from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Members assisting the chairmen with dance plans are Mrs. Chester Fernhald, Mrs. Donald Peterson, Mrs. James Greene, Mrs. Robert Church, Mrs. Thomas Guirey, Mrs. Erwin Nichols and Mrs. Harold Clifford.

Others assisting at the planning sessions being held regularly are Mrs. John McClelland, Mrs. Nicolo Gagne and Mrs. John Braus.

Holiday season partying, or keeping dates with Santa, she'll love being all dressed up in the fluffiest jumper ensemble. The pale blue crisp cotton organdy pinafore is set over a contrasting blue and white checked gingham dress. The jumper is daintily trimmed with gingham on ruffles, and a jaunty leaf pattern is appliqued on the bouffant skirt. The underneath dress, which can be worn alone, has a shirred full skirt, a pointed collar and puffed sleeves.

Promenaders Square Dance Attended by 60

Sixty members and guests of Promenaders Square Dance Club danced to the calls of Robert Donge, Robert Earl, Ralph Irland and Warren Allen when the group met Saturday evening at Daniel Whitfield School.

Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Kintz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lazenby, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Block.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ogg, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crenshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Siersma, Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Drum, Mary Brengle and Roger Berry were also guests for the evening.

Husband and Wife Should See Situations Through Each Other's Eyes

Experts View Empathy as Key to Happy Marriages

(This is the third of seven articles presenting case histories of "Marriage on the Rocks" — from the files of the Family Service Association of America — together with advice and opinion of experts on what can be done to prevent a marriage from breaking up. All names used in these real case histories are fictitious.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

Experts have one key to happpy marriages—something called "empathy."

* * *

Mrs. Dorothy V. Thomas, director of case work services, Washington, D.C., Family and Child Service, explains it this way:

Empathy is the ability to put yourself in somebody else's emotional shoes and judge and weigh situations as they affect that person.

In marriage, it comes down to the wife being able to see a situation through her husband's eyes and vice versa.

The professional case worker like Miss Thomas knows she cannot solve any and all marital problems singlehandedly; nor can she beat empathy into an individual.

First she tries to untangle surface circumstances and get at their deeper roots. Once these roots have been uncovered, the case worker in a low-pressure way helps the person understand how they influence and direct behavior.

Sally, 21 and pretty, had come to her local Family Service Association on the advice of a wise department store manager. A bride of less than six months, she had applied for a saleslady job. Her tense, lip-chewing manner as she filled out the job application tipped the manager that something was wrong.

The manager suggested she might need some trained person to talk to about what was on her mind. He had personal knowledge of how a trained, objective third party could help "crazy, mixed-up kids." Ten years before, his own tottering marriage had been shored up through counseling.

TEXTBOOK CASE

When the facts, all of them, including the most intimate ones were out on the interviewer's table, they formed a textbook case of sexual maladjustment in early marriage. Sally told the counselor:

"Whenever I was doing the dishes or fixing dinner or even combing my hair, Jack would come up to me and begin to fondle me. His kisses told me he was eager to make love.

"It made me feel uncomfortable. It seemed so wrong, all this practically public love-making. I know we're married but I have to feel right about love up here (she pointed to her head).

"I guess I'm just frigid—that's the word for wives who don't like sex, isn't it?

"In any event, after I rebuffed him a few times he became angry. Now he stays downtown two or three times a week; he says because of 'extra work at the office' or to have 'a beer with some of the boys.' Well, I thought I'd get a job."

PROTECTIVE MOM

Further questioning brought out the facts of Sally's own childhood. Her mother had always been very protective and loving towards Sally. Her attitude towards teaching what our society calls "the facts of life" to Sally could best be summed up as "the less said the better."

* * *

In high school Sally's dating activities were closely watched by her mother. When she met Jack, through mutual friends at a picnic, his considerate, gentlemanly manner at all times captivated her.

How was she to know what he was really like, she cried, twisting her handbag fitfully.

The case worker offered this comment on Sally:

This young lady, like many girls in our society, was brought up to think of sex as something quite high-minded and almost mystical.

TWO EXTREMES

There are two extremes in sex education and preparation for marriage. Some mothers believe their job is to conceal facts to "protect" their daughters. Others think "everything should be put on the line" and the more direct the better.

The wise mother adopts a middle-of-the-road approach, down to earth and factual without being shocking.

In Sally's case, the girl was unprepared for her husband's quite natural feelings. Yet, because of her love for him, she was actually stirred by his actions. Afraid to respond to him and her own feelings due to her training, she sought escape from the home by taking a job.

The case worker suggested to the young bride:

"Put yourself in Jack's place. Think how he must feel when you rebuff his advances. Does anyone like to be rejected?"

* * *

DIFFERENT MOODS

Jack in his turn received some facts of married life:

"You must remember that men and women are different, in moods, needs, responses. Sally wants love, but she is anxious about it. Remember, some girls are taught to be shy.

"What she needs is more assurances of your love, other than sexual advances. That isn't all there is to marriage, is it?"

A little empathy went a long way for Jack and Sally Smith. After a half-dozen interviews at the Family Service Association, Sally knew she wanted to stay home instead of going to work. And Jack knew he wanted to come home after work.

Their happy home life together proved to be the best remedy for Sally's anxieties, a product of her paradoxical fear of and need for love.

The Smith case is cited by professional counselors as demonstration of a truism about marital discord. In the words of a Cleveland, Ohio, case worker:

"Inevitably, we see that people who come to us because of marriage difficulties have carried over unresolved childhood problems into marriage to an extensive degree."

Holidays Mean More Guests

Be Ready for Jiffy Meals

NEW YORK (INS)—Sometimes the larger number of Christmas callers can upset the kitchen larder, so the best thing to do is to set up a "social shelf" stocked with quickie foods.

This is a sure way to remain a relaxed and gracious hostess and be reasonably unconcerned about spur-of-the-moment entertaining.

In addition to having an assortment of foods that can be turned into snacks or quick meals, it's a good idea to pile up a versatile supply of tidbits that go with drinks — canned goods like cheese, meat, fish, to be teamed with crisp crackers or melba toast.

Potato chips, French-fried onions, olives, pickles, nuts and popcorn also are excellent hostess helpers and tiny cocktail sausages and frankfurters are always a hit, particularly when served piping hot from a chafing dish.

If you follow this line of least resistance even an impromptu dinner can be easy. To avoid fuss and frenzy when the guests linger on, figure out two or three simple menus in advance, then stock up on the foods that will go together.

Canned hamburgers, a whole chicken or pre-cooked ham are bulwarks for such occasions as well as small cans of potatoes, green and yellow vegetables that need only to be heated.

Desserts can be effortless too if you have a supply of canned fruits on the shelf. You can combine them for a compote of mixed fruit or use them as toppings for ice cream.

Coming Events

Make Those Dreams Come True

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Do you ever wake up in the middle of the night with that awful feeling that life isn't adding up, that all the things you dreamed of doing will never materialize?

I think most of us feel that way at one time or another. Particularly at this time of year when another new year is staring us in the face, reminding us of how little we have accomplished.

Sometimes the feeling just goes away. But sometimes it continues and makes us pretty miserable for long periods at a time.

There are several ways of coping with this state of mind, but the best way I know was suggested to me by a lady in her 70's.

THOSE BLUE SPELLS

"When I was in my 30's," she told me, "I began having those blue spells, that life-is-passing-me-by feeling.

"At first, I tried to fight it with logic. I reminded myself that I had a fine husband, two nice children, a pretty home and a lot to be thankful for.

"But logic never really worked for me. I wept over the dreams of my youth, which would never be fulfilled.

"Then one morning—it was 4 a.m., I remember distinctly—I did something about it.

"Instead of just lying in bed weeping, I got up, went into the living room and sat down with a pad and pencil. I began to meet these dreams of my youth face to face, instead of letting them pile up in a misty mountain of regret.

JOTTED THEM DOWN

"What, I asked myself, were the dreams of my youth? I began to jot them down. Strangely enough, they weren't big, impossible things at all.

"They were items like: Be a really good piano player. Have a topaz bracelet. Have a beautiful garden. Write poetry.

"After I had made out the list, I simply resolved to take one item at a time and work on it.

"After that," she continued, "I went back to bed and slept like a baby—and for the first time in months.

"That was 47 years ago. I've long since gotten most of the things on my list.

"But the point is, if you feel sad about the many things you wish you had done, don't just contemplate them in a lump. Instead, jot each one down and really start doing something about them."

Next time you have that life-is-passing-me-by feeling, do as my friend suggests. Also, it might help you to do a little reading in philosophy, to air your mind and give it a new slant.

If you'll send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, I'll send you my list of recommended books on philosophy.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT R. SKINNER

Married Saturday were Kaye Yvonne Wagner and Robert Rupp Skinner. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. David Wagner of East Madison avenue and Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Skinner of Muskegon.

Kaye Wagner Becomes Bride in Baptist Church

Kaye Yvonne Wagner wore a waltz-length gown of lace for her Saturday wedding to Robert Rupp Skinner in First Baptist Church. The bridal gown was fashioned with a high collar and long sleeves extending to points at the wrists.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wagner of East Madison avenue are parents of the bride, and Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Skinner of Muskegon.

Mrs. William Lawson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations tinted with red.

Howard Skinner Jr. of Fort Worth, Tex., was his brother's best man. Dave Erb of Vassar and Dick Erickson of Chicago were ushers and Hayes Lawson was ringbearer.

For the reception held in the church parlors, Mrs. Wagner wore a rose lace dress with blue accessories. Mrs. Skinner wore tan lace with white accessories.

The bride changed to a gray suit with matching accessories and the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet for traveling to northern Michigan. The newlyweds will make their home in Muskegon.

Cashews Used in Cookies

Mrs. Exline Tops Frosted Drops With Nutmeat Half

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

At a recent club meeting we had some delicious cookies made with cashew nuts. Mrs. Royal Exline of Lake Orion had made them and was happy to share the recipe with us.

Mrs. Exline, a teacher in the local schools, enjoys music as her job and as a hobby. She belongs to AAUW and to Alpha Delta Kappa sorority. There are two boys in the Exline family.

FROSTED CASHEW COOKIES
By Mrs. Royal Exline

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sour cream
½ pound whole cashews

Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Add egg and vanilla and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients, alternately with sour cream. Fold in nuts, saving a few to use on top of the cookies.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake about 10 minutes in a 400-degree oven. Cool and frost with a plain butter frosting. Top each cookie with a cashew half.

A low sudsing synthetic detergent is a must for best results in a tumble-action washer, tell home management specialists.

Keep Warm Not Hot

Heat Home Pleasantly

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (INS) — Overheating is as much a holiday hazard as overeating.

The rigorous round of too-crowded parties and hot, stuffy rooms cause as many cases of "holidayitis" as the spicy foods, rich desserts and extra "spirits," traditional ingredients for seasonal celebrations.

To avoid the post-holiday letdown when fatigue and sniffles replace the buoyant moods, it's wise to protect the health of your family and guests while the festivities are going on by keeping your home well ventilated and pleasantly warm—not hot.

If you're expecting a group for a party, turn the thermostat down as soon as the numbers begin to increase. While normally you may prefer a temperature of from 72 to 78 degrees, the body heat provided by the guests will contribute plenty of warmth.

By such standing around a person generates almost as much heat at a 200-watt bulb, and in a stuffy room the heat has no place to go.

Result: A feeling of lethargy and fatigue. Keep the thermostat setting at 68 while the party is in progress, then as the crowd dwindles reset the dial to the degree you find most comfortable for relaxing.

If a too-hot iron leaves a light scorch on white table or bed linens, wet the stain with thick soap or detergent suds and bleach in the sun.

Give Hands Lesson in Grace, Movement

Your hands and arms can be either appendages or charms, depending on how you use them. If your hands are attractive, take advantage of them by learning to use them expressively when you talk.

If they are not, don't try to bury them; learn, instead, to move them gracefully. Lead with the joints—wrists, elbows and fingertips—as a ballet dancer does.

A Beauty Gift Sets Little Girl on Right Path

Giving a little girl a beauty gift for Christmas means that you're giving her a start in the right direction. The direction, that is, of the important habits of cleanliness and good grooming that will serve her a lifetime.

You may give her a single bottle of toilet water, a box of bubble bath or a pink bath mitt. Or, you may give her a whole set from a series designed especially for little girls and ready in time for Christmas giving this year.

This new series offers pink soap bonbons, and hand lotion as well. With each individual gift, there's a different gold-plated charm ready to be placed on a bracelet. The future beauty may collect a whole set of charms, if she likes, or use several of them on her present charm bracelet.

Give her a place to keep her own "toiletries" if she has no dressing table. Perhaps she'd like her possessions collected on a small plastic tray to be kept on your dressing-table or on a low shelf in the bathroom. Grouped all together, it will be simpler for her to use them at bath time and after.

Keeping foods cold and well covered or cooking them quickly with little water and serving immediately helps prevent loss of vitamin C.

Home Gifts Easiest to Buy

NEW YORK (INS) — If you're a "two days before Christmas" shopper, your best bet is to present gifts for home use.

This eliminates the problems of personality preferences, sizes and colors because you are choosing things that several members of a family can enjoy.

Unusual cooking gadgets are always welcome gifts. In these days of casual entertaining, no hostess can have too many casseroles, serving trays or salad bowls.

Then for little sandwiches or pastry, a single large buffet platter decorated with Christmasy motifs is fun to have for the holiday season. These come in a variety of sizes, shapes and prices.

Place mats with designs formed by dried natural grass, ferns leaves and flowers pressed between the two clear textured layers, make a unique gift.

Plastic bowls and platters with bids of glitter added are both attractive and unbreakable.

Manners Begin as Self-Protection

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sam's Aunt Jo isn't his real aunt. He gives her this title because she's his mother's best friend. He looks forward to her visits, not just because she always brings him a present, but because he likes her very much.

The last time she visited, he didn't wait to be given the present. When Aunt Jo, still wearing her coat and hat, kissed him and told him how he'd grown, he asked eagerly, "What did you bring me? The horn for my tricycle?"

Sam's mother realized that this question expressed trust in Aunt Jo as well as interest in her gift. So instead of rebuking it, she just said gently, "Better wait and find out."

Later, however, she told him why he must not ask visitors for presents.

She said, "Aunt Jo doesn't mind your asking her for a present because she knows how much you want her here. But all the grown-ups who visit us are not so sure you like them.

"So if you ask them for presents, they think, 'That boy wants my present more than he wants me.' Their feelings are hurt. The next thing, they decide that you're rude. As you don't want that, it's best not to ask visitors for presents again."

OBLIGATION TO SELF

With little boys and girls, it's sensible to present good manners as obligation to themselves rather than to others.

We adults are supposed to possess good manners out of consideration for the other fellow's feelings. Little boys and girls are too young to have developed this consideration. We therefore have no right to demand it of them.

As we must still demand good manners, this presents us with a problem. How can we teach good manners to a little boy or girl without also teaching them to falsify their natural and paramount interest in themselves? Is a courteous child to be had only at the cost of turning him into an emotional liar?

I think not. I think that the answer is explaining good manners to children as self-protective. We are on truthful ground when we warn Sam that he arouses resentment in guests by demanding presents from them.

We are being realistic when we tell Babsy to get up and surrender her chair to Grandma to avoid criticism by Grandma, her aunts and uncles.

By thus making self-protection their motive for good manners in the place of "consideration for others," we preserve their right to honest interest in themselves.

If it is preserved with honesty, it thrives and grows until it spills over—and becomes honest interest in others, too.

Suzanne Pickard and Jack Covert to Wed Jan. 19

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pickard of Royal Oak announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Joan, to Jack Covert, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Covert of Scott Lake road.

Suzanne attended Harper Hospital School of Nursing, and Jack was graduated from Eastern Michigan College. A Jan. 19 wedding is planned at First Methodist Church in Royal Oak.

Fashion Hint

Everyone's kilt conscious these days. Perhaps you prefer the wee Bermuda length pladdie that is so popular with the young in heart and-or size. A blazer is a good topper for the kilt during late December and January.

MR. and MRS. JACK W. PRICE

Alma P. Parker Marries in Sunny Vale Ceremony

Two-hundred guests attended the Saturday evening wedding of Alma Phyllis Parker and Jack Wayne Price at Sunny Vale Chapel. The Rev. Jim Parker performed the 7:00 o'clock service.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Parker of Savoy drive. Jack is the son of Mrs. Iva Fielden of North Perry street.

For the ceremony the bride wore a gown of white tissue satin with a sweetheart neckline, hand-tapered sleeve and a basque waist. The redingote-style skirt edged in fluted tulle and appliqued lace extended into a chapel train.

Mrs. Duane McPeek, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a cotillion blue velvet dress and carried a pink and white carnation corsage pinned to a white muff.

Donna Boyd of Lake Orion, Grace Trapp and Eleanor Passage were bridesmaids. They wore dresses similar to the honor matron's.

Mrs. James Sasser sang the bridal recital accompanied by Donna Lou McCallum, organist.

Mrs. Parker wore gray lace over pink satin with pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Price chose a blue dress.

TRAVEL COSTUME

Following the reception in the church parlors, the bride changed to a red wool dress styled on princess lines with three-quarter length sleeves and black accessories for traveling.

The newlyweds will make their home at Crescent Lake when they return from a honeymoon in the South.

Small, dainty women look best in delicate jewelry. The woman of important stature can carry almost her weight in costume jewelry.

Jewelry can be a real asset to beauty, second only to perfume in the loveliness it bestows to the costume and to the wearer. The dark lustre of jet beads or the subdued coloring of black pearls glow warmly on black dresses.

Jackets Are 'Cool', Without Midriff

The law of compensation works equally well in the realm of fashion as in nature . . .as we see by the fact that as California designers put the upper torso under wraps, they use their scissor to deftly snip away at blouses and jackets with the result . . . bare midriffs!

Lyle Griswold designs jackets that stop 4 inches short of beltline, or are caught close to the figure via a drawstring. Watch for them . . . they're new!

Big Demand for Hacking Jackets

New Garment Linings More Colorful Than Ever

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—It's getting so you have to pay as much attention to what a garment's lined with than what actually shows.

The fancy linings are back in a big way, and the well-dressed man these days looks as dashing from the inside as from the outside. Suits, topcoats, raincoats, leisure jackets, overcoats—you can get them all with colorful linings.

These come in stripes, plaids, checks and some solids. The gayer the better seems to be the rule, with bright reds, greens, blues and yellows backing even the most conservative material.

Typical of the fancy lining trend is the revived hacking jacket. This an ideal leisure jacket for both country and city wear, is a modernized version of an old English garment.

The name "hacking" comes from either of two English words. In falconry, hacking means to keep a bird at partial liberty, whatever that is, and the hacking jacket traditionally is of a heavy fabric with the cuffs lined in leather so it could have something to do with falcons at that. And, in horsemanship, hacking is riding at an ordinary pace, so the jacket perhaps was originally invented by some ordinary pace-riders.

As reborn, it is made in Scottish tweeds and Shetlands, tailored with back or side vents and leather-backed cuffs and collars. Some models have leather-trimmed pockets. Some have regular flap pockets.

But all are lined, generally with Avisco colorspun rayon, a fairly new material that has the color woven into the fabric. The bright colors, selected to blend with the tweed of the coat, never fade.

Even if you don't own a falcon, the hacking coat will prove useful.

There's a small boom in custom-made shirts, and maybe you're wondering why anyone would trouble to have a shirt made to order.

As custom-shirt-maker Harry Bonell explains it, it's done for three reasons. A custom shirt fits better, therefore feels better and also lasts longer.

ONE LONGER ARM

Bonell says nine men out of ten have one arm a trifle longer than the other, or one shoulder a little wider, or some such arrangement. No ready-made shirt will be just right. When you wear a shirt built to match your individual imperfection, you'll find that it fits better. Collars are molded to your neck and shoulders, too.

And, since a custom shirt is carefully sewn (special reinforced cuffs, for example) it will outwear two or three regular shirts, Bonell says.

Bonell, who charges from $18 to $30 for his shirts, says every man should have a "best shirt," like they used to have a Sunday suit. Naturally, he feels that shirt should be a custom shirt, but even if it isn't, he thinks a man deserves one special shirt that makes him feel like a million.

She's Glad She Came to Capital

Ex-Official of FCC Joins Washington Legal Firm

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Frieda Hennock, former federal communications commissioner, is now engaged in a successful law practice here with the firm of Joseph E. Davies, one-time U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

She created considerable furor when she came to Washington in 1948 to become the first woman member of the FCC.

She told me she had thought at first she was making a great sacrifice when she gave up a lucrative law practice in New York.

"It was a real challenge, and I'm glad I accepted it," she said, "and I'm certainly happy now."

Miss Hennock was one of the first women President Truman appointed to a high government post.

EMBASSY WIVES

Three of Embassy Row's top foreign chiefs of mission are married to American-born women, all of whom are talented and knowing hostesses, exceedingly good-looking keen-minded and fashionable.

They are the Baroness Silvercruys, beautiful blonde wife of the Belgian ambassador, who was born in Washington and is the widow of Brian McMahon, Democratic senator from Connecticut; the brunette wife of Ambassador Don Fernando Berckemeyer of Peru, and the wife of Chilean Ambassador Mario Rodriguez, who came to the capital last spring. Mrs. Rodriguez is also a native Washingtonian.

Popular Ambassador You Chan Yang of Korea and his wife, Polly, both have Korean parents but were born in Hawaii.

Mrs. Yang, who is one of the capital's best-dressed women and a leading exponent of the graceful hulu, made her first visit to Korea in 1952.

The ambassador, a distinguished physician, had been there on several occasions before.

Actress Prefers Modest Costumes

By JOHN E. LEE

LONDON (INS)—Petite Martine Carol, the French screen's favorite plunging neckline, privately doesn't like plunging necklines at all.

"They make me nervous," she confided in an interview in her London hotel suite where she is living while working on a British film.

"I like necklines up to here," she added with a mischievous smile, pointing demurely to the upper region of her throat far above her Adam's apple.

As if to prove the point, she was wearing an enveloping, not-very-clinging sweater with a collar that almost touched her ears.

DIFFERENCE IN ATTIRE

The difference between the two versions concerns exactly how much of Martine—uncovered—each audience will see in a film called "The Action of the Tiger."

"For continental audiences," Miss Carol explained, "my necklines come to about here. Her slim index finger indicated just about the extremist no man's land of continental neckline censorship.

"But for the English and Americans," she grinned happily, "the necklines are higher—up here." The finger delicately indicated a very discreet decolletage.

In her new film Martine swims and there are two versions of these scenes, too. Martine swims in the nude for Europeans. In the version for English and American moviegoers she wears a bathing suit. And this, Martine candidly admitted, puzzles her.

"I don't think a girl swimming in the nude is sexy at all," she said.

"When I came out of the water nude I felt embarrassed and tried to cover myself up. I'm sure I didn't look sexy. I was too uncomfortable. I don't see how a girl can be provocative on a beach is she is nude.

CAN BE DANGEROUS

"But a girl in a bathing suit—she can be really provocative if she wants to be. I have seen them. And that can be dangerous."

Asked about the emphasis in recent years on bosoms, she frowned a little, then grinned and said:

"It's ridiculous. A girl must have something more than that! It is not a very solid thing. Anyway I think the excitement about exaggerated bosoms is declining.

"Look at Audrey Hepburn. She is very petite—nothing like that! Not at all like that. But she is so popular. Everybody loves her. She is so attractive and such a good actress. No, I do not believe in this craziness about bosoms."

Best Way to Entertain

Solve Problems With Open House

EAST LANSING—A holiday open house can be a solution to your problem of entertaining a large group in your small home.

Not only can you accommoate a large number of people but it is the kind of a party that lends to the festive spirit of the season and offers no planned entertainment problems. The emphasis is on hospitality and greeting, meeting and introducing your guests to other friends.

Here are ideas to make an open house easier for you as hostess. Have extra supplies of punch made up ahead of time and a pitcher for easy and quick replenishing of the punch bowl. If you are serving a variety of Christmas cookies, freeze them ahead of time. Just before guests come arrange them on large plates. Have a few plates or trays ready for refills.

Sandwich success will come more easily if you limit yourself to a few varieties of fillings. A meat, a salad and a sweet spread are thre sugested fillings. Variety can come in the breads and shapes of sandwiches. Make use of raisin, whole wheat, date and party rye breads. And don't overlook the wide variety of shapes and flavors of crackers.

Finally, if you are going to use several rooms for your open house, you might set up auxiliary stations for serving food. In that way all your guests will not have to come back to the main serving table for seconds. Not only will this help the traffic problem but will assure more guests of having snacks when they want them.

No one needs worry about lack of democracy in higher education. Even the best paid fullbacks aren't snobs.

Card With Personal Note Expresses Spirit of Yule

Why Make Businesslike Chore Out of Sending Christmas Greetings?

By RUTH MILLETT

"This year I'm not going to send out a single Christmas card that I don't have time to write a personal message on," I recently heard a woman remark.

Then she went on to explain that for years she had been sending out several hundred cards.

"It became just a routine chore and one I dreaded: A long list of names and boxes of cards with my name printed on them. Address the envelopes, put on stamps, drop them in the mail box and the chore was done.

"Well, I'm not a business firm and the people I really want to remember at Christmas aren't customers whose goodwill I am trying to gain.

"So I'm going to stop this businesslike approach to Christmas card sending. This year I am going to send cards only to people I care about enough to take the trouble to write them a personal wish.

OUT THE WINDOW

"The old list that keeps growing each year I am going to toss out the window and start anew.

"On the new list are going to be only people I care about, people to whom my thought will mean something."

Maybe she has something there. As our Christmas card lists have grown longer and longer, our cards have come to mean less and less.

With no note written on them, but only a printed message and a printed name they seem like what they are — a correct social gesture, no more, no less.

This year, why don't we cut down on the number of cards we send and make the ones we do send count?

REAL MESSAGES

A personal note, a brief summary of what the year has brought to us, perhaps a snapshot enclosed, and our Christmas cards will become real messages of friendship.

It will be more trouble and take more time, but it won't be a businesslike chore. It will be a real and meaningful way of saying "You are in my thoughts" instead of "You are one of hundreds on my Christmas list."

Look for Something to Retire To

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The other night I was listening to some friends discuss retirement. One man said, "When my time comes I am going to retire TO, not FROM."

This statement intrigued me very much because it expressed in one sentence the entire philosophy of successful, vital retirement. The speaker evidently meant that he was going to retire to interests he is now developing, to new work, rather than retire from his old job to leisure.

It is not healthy psychologically or physically for a man or woman to live in a vacuum with no real interests or enthusiasms, no goals to shoot for and no work of importance to do. The physical troubles which frequently develop soon after idleness has become the pattern of each day are evidence that this is true.

In some of our large corporations the life expectancy of the average man after retirement is only two years. Businesses have become so aware of this fact that many of them have psychologists to prepare their employes for this period of life. Some progressive companies now are making it possible for their employes to retire at the age of 55 rather than 60 or 65.

Men and women look forward to retirement for years but when it comes it is often a sad occasion. After a busy life, with work to do and association with others in the office, boredom may settle down like a fog, and with it depression, sensitiveness, and a whole flock of negative emotions.

LACK OF INTERESTS

If we are interested in the job we have and are fighting to get ahead in it, we are likely to make the mistake of developing no personal tastes and interests outside the office. Life becomes narrow and closes in on us but we do not realize it until our work is taken away from us.

The same thing happens to the women in the home. She looks forward to the day when the children will be older and life will not be so strenuous. Then the children do grow up and leave home and she is often lonely and blue.

She is in the prime of life but she feels that life is over because she no longer seems to be needed. She does not know what to do with her time.

When the children grow up and leave home, the woman in the home is often lonely and blue.

Retirement is more difficult today for more people than it was in the past. Fewer persons are their own boss. There has been a big migration from farms to cities within the past few years. Children are more widely scattered after they grow up.

Houses are smaller. The family roof which sheltered three generations at once is a rarity rather than the rule. Annuities and life savings will buy less and therefore support a less attractive mode of life than they once would have.

MISTAKE TO MOVE

Many people make the mistake of moving to a new spot they had always dreamed of living in. They miss their friends and find that it is not so easy to make new ones when one is older.

There are many factors which enter into the thoughtful preparation for being retired. Expert guidance is a great help. However, it is helpful just to believe that retirement is a time for opportunity — a chance to take on new work and interests, rather than to consider it a time when one will be "put out to grass."

If you plan ahead and then meet retirement in the right frame of mind, you are certain to find essential work or interests of some kind which will challenge you. Women in the home as well as men in the office should look ahead to the time when they will no longer have their present duties.

Women should begin letting go of their children psychologically long before they actually leave home, just as men should stay aware of the fact that a great many years possibly lie ahead of them after retirement. Each should develop interests and talents which will come to their rescue when the day arrives.

Cut Flowers Work in Holiday Decor

Cut flowers can be worked into your holiday decorations in many ways. Here's one suggested by a state horticulture department.

The materials you will need are: A flat wicker basket, a block of Oasis or Sno-Pak (new materials available from your florist that hold water), a small vase or bowl to hold the Oasis or Sno-Pak, approximately two and one half dozen red carnations, seven pine cones, a variety of greens and a can of snow spray.

Oasis or Sno-Pak are materials that hold two to three times their own weight in water and will keep flowers as though they were in regular water. To get water into it, emerse the Oasis in water that completely covers it. Place a heavy object on top of it to keep it submerged. Leave the material in the water for at least one half hour. It should be completely covered with water at all times.

Put the Oasis or Sno-Pak containing the water in a small bowl and place it in the middle of the flat basket. In the small dish with the Oasis or Sno-Pak put some water so you won't have to replenish the water very often.

Next spray your greens with the snow spray and then arrange them in any manner you like. The greens used in this particular arrangement are spruce, Scotch Broom (the very tall, thin greenery), Lycopodium and Jade.

Add your carnations to the arrangement by sticking them in the Oasis or Sno-Pak. Your pine cones should be cut off about three-fourths of the way down the cone so that you have something left that looks like an open rose. The cones are the last piece to be added to the arrangement.

Whip 'Snow' to Decorate for Yule

You can make this yourself, using lots of soap (or detergent) and a very little water.

Whip with rotary beater or electric mixer till the consistency of the suds is like meringue. That's all there is to it — quick and inexpensive.

It can be daubed onto a window pane in little fluffy tufts in the shape of a Christmas tree or in letters that spell out the season's greetings.

Add a glittering sequin to each tuft for extra sparkle, or cut out tiny circle of silver foil for trim.

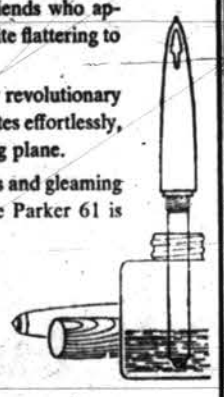
The only fountain pen that fills itself by itself—it has no moving parts

In its first Christmas Season, the Parker 61 is the distinguished gift for those friends who appreciate the new, the unusual—quite flattering to them and to you.

The Parker 61, with its frankly revolutionary capillary ink system, fills itself, writes effortlessly, dependably—even on a high-flying plane.

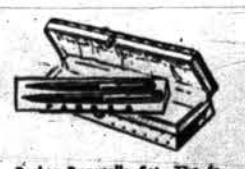
You have a choice of rich colors and gleaming caps—all strikingly beautiful. The Parker 61 is $20 or more.



The Parker 61, alone among fountain pens, fills itself by itself. It fills itself cleanly—through the end opposite the point. It's done by capillary action in just 10 seconds—the shining point need never be dipped in ink.

Other wonderful Parker gifts from $2.95

Parker "51" Coronet Set—The world-renowned Parker "51" men's fountain pen with matching pencil, packaged in a velvet-lined cuff-link and jewelry box. $19.50



Parker Bagatelle Set—The famous Parker "51" lady's pen and matching pencil in a brocade evening purse. $19.50

Parker 41—New medium-priced Parker fountain pen that works like the famous "51". Gift-boxed, of course. $8.75

Parker Pardners—Parker Jotter ball point and the fabulous new Parker Liquid Lead Pencil designed as a matching set. Boxed for Christmas giving. $5.75

Have Perspiration Stains Ever Ruined Your Dress?

Stops Perspiration Stains—Stops Odor
DRAMATIC STEAMBATH TEST SHOWS HOW

This woman was put in a steambath at 104 degrees. Arrid with Perstop* was rubbed into her forehead. Fifteen minutes later . . .

. . . she was dripping with perspiration—but Arrid with Perstop* kept her forehead dry. Arrid will do the same for your underarms, too.

So . . . don't be half-safe. Be completely safe. Use new Arrid with Perstop* to be sure. 43¢ plus tax.

Christmas Shopping -- Get Mostest for Leastest

What to give for Christmas so that you get the mostest for the leastest and still give something that will be cherished?

The first rule is to give a thoughtful gift . . . one you've made or one you know the recipient will enjoy. Just don't give a gift because you think you should.

There are inexpensive gifts you may dress up to look very original.

Add a tatted edge to a pretty linen handkerchief. Embroider or applique her initials or name on them. Perk up an ordinary pair of slippers with some doodads—fur, seashells, embroidery, fake gems.

Plain shirred garters may be improved with pearls, rhinestones, lace or fur. A red or white Christmas candle may be dressed up by adding rhinestones, pearls, ribbons to its base.

Handy with the needle? If so, make her a flannel nightgown with a matching nightcap and tassel . . . an eyeglass case of felt appliqued with initials or funny motif. Make it of felt or petit pointe it if you have the time. Knitting needle devotees may make skating hat, scarf, after-ski slippers.

If she's away at school make her a cotton throw for her bed, criss-crossing school pennants. Make a mobile of fun things to hang from her ceiling.

How about earrings? If she likes them make her some large formal ones of black velvet in a heart motif. String on a few pearls and attach the whole thing to some inexpensive jet button earrings. Another earring variation is strictly for Christmas. Make earrings of tiny Christmas ornaments, pearls, bells and plain button earrings. Run thread or wire through the shining ornament, the pearls, and a little bell. Attach all to the earring.

Other ideas for your best friend include a handsome box of stationery, a charm for her bracelet, a stole, hair ornament.

One delightful gift is a "thoughtfulness album." The portfolio has pages set aside for every month of the year marked with dates of the month to be filled in with anniversaries. Each page has a pocket to stash greeting cards for that month. She won't fail to remember you and her other friends with a gift of that sort or a box of decorated note paper.

Black is the season's big color. Browns and neutrals, black and white, greens, blues, violets and pinky reds all make a splash also.

Mrs. Bowman Selected as Niblick Club President

Mrs. Ben Bowman was elected president of Niblick Club for the coming year when the group met Tuesday at the Elks Temple.

Committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Bowman are Mrs. Manley Young, golf; Mrs. O. H. Fargher, telephone; Mrs. Albert Games, social; Mrs. Frank Gerls, flowers, and Mrs. Harry Randall, publicity.

In the business meeting the group voted to contribute to the American Red Cross for Christmas boxes to be sent to servicemen overseas.

Club Holds Yule Program

"Christmas Around the World" was the theme for the December meeting of the Round Table Club when Mrs. James McQuire of Golf drive entertained the group Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. H. F. Riley, program chairman of the day, introduced Mrs. Harm Drewes of Rochester who spoke of "Christmas in Holland."

Mrs. Drewes displayed dolls and wooden shoes which she had brought back with her from a trip to Holland, her native land, two years ago. She also sang "Silent Night" in Dutch.

Mrs. John Laek, dressed in Ukranian costume, told of Christmas in her native country.

A former prisoner of war in a German concentration camp, Mrs. Laek told her hearers how thankful they should be to live in such a beautiful country; to have freedom of religion and plenty of food.

CAROLS PRESENTED

The club voted to give a donation to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund.

Mrs. W. Dean Thompson led community singing and Mrs. William Gordon and Mrs. Ernest Guy sang a duet.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Minnie McCulloch of Grand Forks, N.D., and Mrs. J. C. Sanders of Exeter, Ont.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Paul Herbst, Mrs. William Morley, Mrs. George Wasserberger, Mrs. William H. Knudsen, Miss Adah Shelly and Mrs. Guy.

Mrs. Clyde Nelsey and Mrs. Eugene Cleland presided at the tea.

A bright idea for your holiday decorating plans is the pie pan epergne, made of foil-covered pie pans and cardboard tubing. Laden with foil-covered fruit and tree ornaments, the epergne can have a place of honor on your coffee table or buffet.

Epergne Adds to Holiday Sparkle

Are you looking for ways to add sparkle and atmosphere to your house for the holidays? This year, more than ever, design experts are offering ideas that can easily be carried out at home.

For one bright idea in your holiday decorating plans, set a glittering fruit-filled epergne on your coffee table or buffet. It's so easy to make.

The foil is crumpled tightly around each of the three pans. Cut the tube from inside the roll of foil into one 4-inch and one 5-inch piece. Cut two 3-inch squares from a 1-inch thick sheet of plastic foam. Foam plastic parts are available in most variety stores during the holiday season.

Glue these squares centered in the inside of the two larger pans. Force the 5-inch piece of tube into the square of foam plastic in the largest pan. It will hold the tube firmly. Glue a 2-inch square of strong cardboard to the top of the tube.

Glue the medium-sized pan to the cardboard, and repeat the process with the smallest pan on top. This makes the three-tiered epergne.

Cover the tubing with foil. Then wrap fruit or Christmas goodies in foil, and spray some with gold paint. Gold paint is available in aerosol spray cans. Cut leaves from foil and arrange them with the fruit or goodies on the three tiers of the epergne.

University Club Holds Yule Party

Thirty members of the University of Michigan Alumnae Club enjoyed a cooperative dinner and Christmas program Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Vernon C. Abbott on Illinois avenue.

Mrs. Robert D. Heitsch, Iama Hook and Kate Sawyer assisted the hostess.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Eugene T. Cleland of Waterford who reviewed the book, "Merry Christmas, Mr. Baxter," by Edward Streeter.

The group joined in singing Christmas carols, led by Mrs. T. E. Wiersema, with Mrs. Harold Northon accompanying at the piano.

Mrs. W. O. Roeser will entertain the group for the February meeting in her home on Neome drive.

GWENDOLYN H. THOMPSON

Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Thompson of Baldwin avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwendolyn, to John C. Brower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brower of Clarence street. The couple plans a June wedding.

Student League Greets Members

The Student League of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale met Sunday at the home of Marjorie Rapaport with Mrs. John Boardman and Mrs. James Morris assisting as hostesses.

Piano selections were presented by Carol Cole, Susan Putnam, Marjorie Rapaport, Sharel Isenhart, Catherine Meger, and Victor Schram. Pamela Morris played flute solos, with Karen Bronoel performing on the cello.

Dorothy Boardman told of the life and compositions of Tchaikowsky followed by recorded excerpts of his Nutcracker Suite.

Connie Clinton entertained the group with a toe dance. The meeting was concluded with the singing of Christmas carols.

Judy Tiberg and Sharon Blacklaw were guests of the day.

Friday Bazaar Will Aid Patients

The sixth annual Christmas bazaar sponsored by the Psychiatric Aid Association of Pontiac State Hospital will be held at the hospital Friday beginning at noon.

All proceeds from the bazaar will be used to buy Christmas gifts for patients in the hospital. The Psychiatric Aid Association was formed to promote better care and treatment of patients, according to President Outzs.

Every department in the hospital will assist with the bazaar, which will be held in the employes' lounge.

14 New Citizens Are Honored at Class Party

Mrs. William Todd, Americanism chairman of the DAR, spoke briefly and presented each graduate with a copy of the U. S. Bill of Rights and the Flag Code.

Mrs. Joseph Phillips, 18th District president of American Legion Auxiliary, also attended and presented the new citizens with flags. She introduced the new Americanism chairman, Mrs. Ruth Webb.

Also honored were Marilyn Carlson, Greta Franks, Eugene Rzeszotka, Hedwig Bora and Eugene Bora.

Bridge Winners

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waterman were winners at the Monday evening meeting of Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club held at Hotel Roosevelt.

Barbara Ann Hotchkiss and John L. Bovee were married Saturday. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Morgan of Fairgrove avenue and John is the son of Mrs. Mary J. Kozak of Clarkston.

MR. and MRS. JOHN L. BOVEE

Barbara Hotchkiss Wed in Lake Orion Ceremony

Married Saturday morning at St. Joseph Catholic Church, Lake Orion, were Barbara Ann Hotchkiss and John L. Bovee. One-hundred and fifty guests witnessed the ceremony.

Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Morgan of Fairgrove avenue and John is the son of Mrs. Mary J. Kozak of Clarkston.

Mrs. William Hotchkiss, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length gown of dusty rose taffeta and net and carried pink carnations.

ALSO ATTEND BRIDE

Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Joseph Fick Jr. of Metamora, Sharon Kay Van Horn and Mrs. Robert Kirby of Oxford. Their gowns were styled like the matron of honor's in a shade of turquoise and they carried pink carnations.

Dr. Victor J. Bovee of Saginaw was his brother's best man. Ushers were Billy J. Nolin of Wayne, James Mastick of Milford and Dale C. Allen of Oxford.

Mrs. Kozak chose a blue lace and taffeta dress with beige accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride changed to an aqua knit suit with black accessories for a motor trip through Michigan and Ohio. The newlyweds will make their home in Oxford.

Eager Tots Give Mom Yule Chores

The Christmas season has its dark moments too, especially when youngsters decide to lend a hand in the festive preparations. Mom's chores at holiday time can be doubled by cleaning up the mess from those occasions.

It's a good idea to give little ones chores that confine them to one area. If they are going to help with Christmas mailing, for instance, spread newspapers over a large table and put the young ones to work.

Handy cotton applicators, the kind used for baby care, are ideal in this arrangement. The cotton swabs may be dipped in ink, colored paint or nail polish and used to write directions and addresses on packages with a bold stroke.

Designs may be made on packages with these same materials. The swabs may be dipped into a saucer of water also, and used to wet stamps and envelope flaps.

The children can help to make some brightly colored place cards for holiday parties, or use the swabs to paint heavy white cardboard to make holly or ivy-bordered Merry Christmas signs for the front and back doors.

Group Entertains District President

Mrs. Josephine Phillips, 18th District president of the American Legion Auxiliary, was a guest at the Monday meeting of Cook-Nelson Unit 20. She gave a short history of the auxiliary and told of the billet birthday party Jan. 18.

Mrs. Gordon Swanberg, 18th District secretary, was also a guest of the group.

Announcement was made of a past presidents and past commanders' Christmas party Dec. 13 and the annual Christmas party for the League of the Blind Dec. 16. The Dec. 17 auxiliary meeting was canceled.

That Baby Fine Hair

You ladies with the baby-fine, limp hair will agree that winter is not your best time of year, in fact for you there is no best time. We have learned that careful styling and the right kind of permanent does help to give this kind of hair body and curl. This extra fine hair is the only type we do not advise brushing. Brushing is good for this hair but not for the hair style. Fine hair should be held in place at night with bobbies, and covered with a net or veil when out in the wind. For once it is allowed to become completely disarranged it will not go back in place until it has been reset. In some cases it is advisable to let this hair grow longer in order to create a style where the ends can be securely anchored.

Phone Edythe McCulloch Beauty Shop, FE 2-7431, 608 Pontiac State Bldg.

Gay Towels, Aprons Lighten KP Chores

During the holiday season, the smart homemaker can easily recruit kitchen helpers if she has bright holly and other Christmas-y printed dishtowels and aprons on hand for volunteers.

Sudsing the dinner dishes can be fun in the atmosphere of festivity that gay red and green aprons and towels lend to the mundane task of cleanup!

Partygoers Are Asked for Money

Mrs. Post Labels Cash Gift Requests 'Utterly Impossible'

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "It seems to have become a custom in this community when inviting people to a shower, anniversary party or housewarming, to ask the guests to bring money instead of presents.

"The idea is that the person may then go out and buy what she needs rather than receiving a lot of things she has no use for. I would like to know what you think of this practice and if it is accepted as good taste in the present day."

Answer: It is utterly impossible!

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I live together and we have quite a few mutual friends. To these friends we usually send one Christmas card with both our names on it. Some of these friends send us separate cards.

"Is it proper for us to send one card to these particular friends or should we each send a separate card? My sister and I argue this ever year.

"I think one card is proper, but she thinks that to those who send us separate cards we should send separate cards in return. Will you please settle this once and for all?"

Answer: If you want to be very meticulous about it, to those who send separate cards to you and your sister, you should send separate cards in return. But it really isn't important, and one card with both your names is entirely proper.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance would like to ask a married friend of his to be best man in our forthcoming wedding. Will you please tell me if, in courtesy, it is necessary to ask his wife to be one of my bridesmaids?"

Answer: It is necessary to invite her to the wedding, but you do not have to ask her to be bridesmaid.

As casual as one is during the day, it's really too much fun dressing up not to give way to this completely feminine urge of wanting to look alluringly captivating at night when dancing under the stars.

Bark Up the Right Tree

When it's cold and blowing during the holidays, what could be nicer than a roaring fire in the fireplace?

Apple wood is one of the finest fireplace woods. It holds well in the fireplace and gives a lot of heat. Apple wood also has a very pleasant aroma.

If you like a crackling fire, white birch is what you need. Elm and aspen are rather poor burning woods, but oak is highly desirable.

Though limb wood is less expensive it is more porous and body or trunk wood is a better buy. You will get more units of heat from the trunk wood so you can use less of it. Bark removed at the sawmill is sold very inexpensively as slab wood. As a bargain product it is reasonably good. The thick bark and this wood burn with a smoky fire.

House Plants Hints

The primary killers of house plants besides fumes and dust are insufficient light, improper watering, insects and dry air. Extreme cold is a shock to plants. Plants need water but use lukewarm water instead. Soapy warm water is every effective against plant lice.

Bob Considine Says:

International Harmony Reigns at Olympics

MELBOURNE (INS) — Basketball has proved so popular at the Olympic games that Russia is seriously considering inventing it. But in this atmosphere of muscular harmony, I doubt if the Americans would resent the claim.

If there was going to be a serious incident in these Olympics it was calculated to rise out of the final game of the basketball tournament, the long-awaited playoff between the Americans and the Reds.

Our side, infinitely better, made monkeys of the Muscovites. But when it was ended, the Reds swarmed all over the Americans with handshakes and embraces.

These same affectionate scenes took place also in the hot wake of the 4 x 100 meters relays, in which our side was forced to break a legendary 20-year-old record in order to beat out a Russian quartet which tied the old mark.

The winded Russian anchor man threw his arms around Bobby Morrow, who had just beaten him by a step or two, and if it wasn't a genuine gesture it will do until something better is engendered by the human emotion mechanism.

The Russian relay team knelt down smiling behind the seated American team for a group picture a moment later.

OKAY, BUDDY

At Olympic Village the other day a young Russian boy came up to 17-year-old Frank McKinney Jr. of the American swimming team, stuck out his paw, pumped McKinney's hand and said his only word of English.

"Okay," he said.

He repeated it several times and might still be doing it if a Russian guard had not taken him away.

This pocket of good fellowship in a world of hair-bristling hatreds, fears and suspicions might well be studied by the United Nations.

But no claim is made here to a monopoly on the amenities of international relations. Baron de Coubertin, who organized the modern Olympics in 1896, never believed its competitors should feed exclusively on Pablum.

"Heaven preserve us from a society in which there are no excesses and where any expression of impassioned feeling must be kept imprisoned within the narrow confines of convention," he said in the midst of the rhubarbs which flourished in the 1908 games at London.

STRUGGLE IS VITAL

"I thrill to the realization that this sort of wrestling is great sport even when our adversaries disregard the niceties of the classic techniques and go in for catch-as-catch-can methods.

"The important thing in life is not the victory, but the struggle, the essential thing is not to have conquered but to have fought well. To spread these precepts is to develop a more valiant, more strong, more generous humanity."

Official Attitude: Wait and See

Egypt Remains Skeptical

CAIRO (INS)—The Anglo-French announcement of withdrawal from Egypt "without delay" was greeted in Cairo with mixed elation and skepticism.

One authoritative Egyptian said: "There won't be any celebrations until the last enemy soldier has left our soil. We've heard promises from London before that were never kept."

President Gamal Abdel Nasser maintained the silence he has kept ever since he turned over responsibility for ousting the invaders to the United Nations.

A highly placed source said the official attitude was "wait and see."

Public elation over the evacuation—which is regarded here as a combined Egyptian-U.N. victory over aggressors—was tempered by the continued influx of refugees from Port Said. They related stories of death and destruction caused by the invasion.

Cairo newspapers again demanded that "war criminals" of Britain, France and Israel be forced to pay all damages resulting from the invasion.

Egyptian authorities were ready to credit President Eisenhower with playing a major role in bringing about the withdrawal announcement by holding off consent to ship oil to Western Europe.

Personal Income Up $3 Billion in October

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Commerce Department said yesterday that personal income in the U.S. increased three billion dollars in October to an annual rate of 332 billion, 600 million dollars.

One half of the gain was in wages and salaries, particularly in the automobile industry where employment grows sharply with the model changeover. Longer hours and higher wage rates also contributed.

Malta, British base in the Mediterranean, is about 95 square miles in area.

The Adirondack region of New Hampshire and New York is said to account for practically all of the output of garnets in the U.S.

In making a telephone call across the United States, booster devices amplify the human voice about 180 times.

Rockefeller III Organizes Asia Society to Promote U. S.-Far East Understanding

WASHINGTON (INS) — John D. Rockefeller III has announced the formation of a new national organization, the Asia Society, Inc., designed to "stimulate understanding and knowledge" between the U. S. and nations of Asia.

The society, with Rockefeller as its president, will have its headquarters in New York.

Rockefeller announced that Paul C. Sherbert, former U. S. consul and public affairs officer in India, will assume the executive directorship of the society Jan. 2.

Although the society will concern itself with improving relations between the U. S. and Asia as a whole, the organization will concentrate particularly on the nations of south and southeast Asia.

Rockefeller said the society will cooperate with existing organizations, such as the China Institute, Japan Society, and other groups having special interest in the Far East.

Planning of the society began almost two years ago. Preliminary planning centered on the single major fact that non-government relationships between the U. S. and south and southeast Asian countries were perhaps weaker than anywhere else in the world.

However, as Rockefeller pointed out at these early sessions, the need for stronger cultural ties on a "person-to-person" level would provide a vital antidote to the tremendous propaganda campaigns waged by the Communists to make friends on a similar basis in Asia.

POINT OF CONTACT

At the same time, a broad organization could provide a point of contact, outside the official government level, with the constant stream of Asian visitors to the United States.

Rockefeller said the society will have three primary interests:

1. Education in the U. S. concerning Asia.
2. Helping Asians who visit the United States.
3. Encouraging a cultural exchange between the U. S. and various Asian nations as a "basis of understanding and appreciation."

He said the society will work with schools and colleges as well as at the adult level.

Detroit's Diphtheria Cases Now at 132 for Year

DETROIT (AP)—Three diphtheria victims, reported yesterday, brought Detroit's case load to 132 for the year today. A year ago, only 18 cases had been reported and one death.

Four children and one adult have died so far this year, as city health authorities sent doctor-nurse teams into the school in a mass inoculation program.

The drive, to give anti-diphtheria shots to 50,000 children before Christmas vacation time, is reported proceeding well.

Clinton Still Embroiled in Integration Trouble

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The Anderson County School Board ordered integration-torn Clinton High School closed today in the wake of an attack on a white Baptist minister who accompanied six Negro students back to classes.

The Rev. Paul Turner was beaten by a group of white men a few minutes after he escorted the Negro students into the school building. He suffered a bloody nose and facial cuts but returned home without hospitalization.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

Chapter 35

I knew what had happened to Anita Farrell. She had said good-by to Steve after his dance lesson, closed the door behind him. She had turned and seen the cut-out on the floor. Curious, as intrigued as I had been, she had picked it up and, instantly, had died. But the needle in it wasn't poisoned, there was nothing lethal about it. Anita had been shot to death. Then why the silhouette?

I knew why. I had had the answer all along. The grill work in the ceiling was the answer after all. The killer had dropped the silhouette through the grill.

Nothing could be less characteristic of its artist than a black cut-out, nothing less traceable to the person who had made it. It hadn't mattered which side it lighted on. The needle in it weighted it enough to make it fall straight down and land beneath the grill. Anita had been shot from up there, shot in the back as she stooped to pick it up. That made the angle by which the bullet entered her body the way the killer wanted it . . . on a line parallel to the floor.

That made it seem that the murderer was someone who had stood in the room with her, her last pupil, the Waltzer.

The killer was above me now, waiting for me to bend over the silhouette, to move into the position he wanted. I forced my eyes to look into that black checkered square of the ceiling.

I could see nothing behind it but darkness. And yet the killer was up there watching me, waiting for me to touch the trap he had set, waiting to shoot.

But I wouldn't touch it. By now, I suddenly realized, he must know that I had stumbled on the truth, that now I wouldn't touch it. And I understood why he hadn't already sent a bullet crashing down.

He was waiting for me to move, to step out from the wall. Flattened against it as I was, I was out of his range. The size of the grill kept me out of his line of fire. He could probably see no more of me than my feet.

I looked toward the door. To reach it, I would have to pass too close to the grill. I would make myself an easy target for him. My eyes circled the room, the shining, mirrored walls, the panel with the block knobs that were the music regulators, the telephone . . .

The phone was only a few feet from me. I started inching toward it, my back glued to the wall, my eyes fastened on the black hole above. My hand touched the phone's smooth coolness and I raised it to my lips.

"Leone," I whispered. "Leone!"

There was no answer. Frantically, I jiggled the hook.

"Leone," I said again, "Leone, please . . ."

* * *

The phone on her desk had rung. It buzzed automatically when a studio phone was lifted. Leone was there, she had to be there. It was four o'clock, the classes were changing now. Leone would be assigning new students to studios, calling teachers, scribbling appointments in her book. She was always at her desk when the classes changed, she never left it then . . .

But there was once when she had.

"I remember that one time and my hand, clutching the phone, fell limply to my side. I remembered sitting in the reception room that evening as the classes changed. I remembered the pupils moving to and from the elevators, the smart, statuesque receptionist escorting a newcomer to an interview and then, a minute later, Steve swinging up the corridor from Studio K.

I knew now why the telephone went unanswered. Leone Webb wasn't at her desk. She was huddled above me, watching me, waiting for me to move.

The sharp sound came from the grill work. I saw a corner of it being slowly forced up, bent backwards. The triangle of cleared space increased . . . and a woman's hand pushed a gun down into the room and turned it toward me.

I plunged headlong for the door, and I saw it open. Steve was coming into the room, Bolling behind him. I shouted, "No, Steve, stay back . . ."

There was the crack of a shot, but it was Bolling who fired it from the doorway. I heard a scream and I turned in Steve's arms in time to see the gun clatter onto the studio floor from the small black triangle in the ceiling.

I heard Bolling's voice. "Mrs. Barton . . ."

"Connie's all right," Steve said. "She's fine."

Steve, Lieutenant Detective Bolling and I suspended all talk of murder while Bolling concentrated on executing a miracle of modern parking. He gentled the police car into an impossibly small space in front of the Bartons' Lexington Avenue residence and looked to us for approval of his feat. I smiled at him fondly; I smiled at Steve fondly. I was fond of those two boys.

Steve had found the answer to the murder in the tape recordings. He had figured out that Leone Webb was Anita's killer. He had rushed that information to Bolling and proved to him that he was right. Together they had gone to the Crescent School.

When they had not found Leone at her desk in the reception room, they had immediately set out for me and Studio K . . . and here I was, able to smile fondly at those two fine fellows, and there was Leone, in a hospital, with a shattered wrist and with cops in attendance.

Steve helped me out of the car, and I enjoyed the way he held my arm . . . so tightly that it hurt. Mr. Golden, our janitor, came running up out of the vestibule. I had never see Mr. Golden so excited before; he was hopping.

"Mr. Barton, Mr. Barton, I been phoning all over for you!"

"Why?" Steve asked. "What's happened?"

"A burglar! In your apartment! I caught him! He's in jail!"

"A burglar . . ."

"Yeah!" Mr. Golden guffawed a fine, scornful laugh. "He got himself locked in your bedroom closet, a fine burglar! I heard him pounding and yelling! And the story he told me, ha! What a crazy story!"

"Just a minute," I said, and I never realized how small my voice could sound. "Just a minute . . ."

Mr. Golden went on shouting. "He says Mrs. Barton locked him in the closet! Why, he don't even know Mrs. Barton! He said you were a dancing teacher, your name was Hester Frost or something, he said you were a blonde . . ." Mr. Golden choked off and gaped at me. He said, "Mrs. Barton, you are a blonde . . ."

"Just a minute," I said again. "This is all very simple. Mr. Bolling, that was no burglar, that was Ralph Tolley. I . . . I had just planned to borrow him for an hour or two . . ."

"Mrs. Barton," Bolling said. He looked as if he were going to say quite a lot more, of rather a serious nature. But he only shook his head and said, "Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Barton."

"I'll write him a nice note," I said. "He was very sweet and cooperative."

"Mrs. Barton," Bolling said a few more times.

Upstairs Bolling used our phone to liberate Mr. Tolley. Steve used our gin and vermouth and added a batch of Martinis. I used our love seat, all five and a half feet of it. I was rather tired, not sleepy, but tired. It had been a busy day.

"Steve," I said, "what was in the recording that tipped you off to Leone?"

Martinis for Steve and Connie tomorrow, as Steve explains all in the final chapter of "The Blonde Died Dancing."

Hungarians to Holland

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The Netherlands government today announced it will take 1,000 more Hungarian refugees —a total of 3,000. In addition the government will accept 2,000 Hungarian refugees on a temporary basis.

Deported Jews Arrive in Israel

Egypt Denies Terror; Expect Large Groups to Cross Border

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Twenty-nine deported Jews arrived Tuesday from Egypt. Israel thinks they may be the vanguard of thousands anxious to flee the Nile country.

Egypt denies reports abroad that it has launched a reign of terror on its 50,000 Jews. It says some are leaving of their own accord. A correspondent inside Egypt reported 250 to 500 Jews have been arrested and 250 to 500 deported since the Israel invasion Oct. 29, but that a rumored mass exodus has not materialized so far.

The 29 told of sudden arrest in Cairo, imprisonment and seizure of their property, and finally expulsion.

One said he was beaten up in a Cairo jail where 500 Jews were held. He said he did not see his family after his arrest.

Israel Premier David Ben-Gurion has charged that Egypt imposed a Hitlerite reign of terror on all its Jews who tried to hold fast to their faith.

Egyptian officials say 250 Egyptian Jews have been interned for engaging in subversive activity. Jewish sources say closer to 500 are under arrest.

The Egyptians say 250 alien or stateless Jews suspected of subversive activities have been deported. Jewish sources say this group also numbers nearer 500.

Egypt is encouraging more than 4,000 Jews with French passports to leave—not because they are Jews but because they are French and thus enemy aliens since the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The property of 105 Jewish firms and 529 Jewish individuals has been seized as enemy alien property. But there appears to be no attempt in Cairo to whip up public feeling against Jews.

Doctor Collapses; Colleagues' Fast Action Saves Life

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) —When Dr. Frederick C. Hoebel collapsed at a friend's house Saturday night, two other doctors quickly cut open his chest with a penknife and started massaging his heart. The Colorado Springs Medical Center reported today he has improved rapidly and probably will recover with few if any after effects.

A spokesman at the center said its records show only three other cases where doctors were able to get a heart to work again after a lapse of as much as four minutes.

Dr. Hoebel's collapse was attributed to a heart attack. He is 46.

The two doctors maintained his respiration by mouth - to - mouth breathing. They continued to massage his heart while he was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. It was two hours before his heart started beating normally again.

About 50,000 towns and villages in the U. S. have no rail outlets and depend entirely on motor transportation.

It's a Whiz at Everything a car should do

It turns out that the 1957 Buick is far more than just a brand-new automobile.

It turns out that this new '57 Buick is winning the raves with a new kind of going and a new kind of stopping—a new kind of handling and a new kind of road sureness—a new kind of safety and a new kind of comfort.

We'll be specific.

When you press the pedal of a new '57 Buick, the response is literally instant . . .

Because the high-torque power of a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine is delivered in the split of a second through a new full-range Variable Pitch Dynaflow that's immediate in its oil-smooth action.*

When you brake to a stop, you and the car stay on a level plane . . .

Because an ingenious new ball-joint suspension in every '57 Buick virtually ends the down-in-front dip that cars have on sudden stops.

When you take a turn or swing into an "S" curve, you still hug the road like a streamliner on rails—

Because under you is a massive wide-frame new chassis that "nests" the whole car inches closer to the road with the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—yet with no change in road clearance.

And when you sit in the deep comfort of those soft wide seats, you can drive with the pleasant ease of a clear conscience, without watching the speedometer . . .

Because only in Buick today can you have an ingenious new Safety-Minder that acts as a warning sentinel for the miles-per-hour you preset for yourself.*

There are many other new things that make this gorgeous Buick a car of limitless wonders —from the bigger and more rakish windshield that makes seeing more relieving, to the extra roominess that's so surprising in this beauty with the sports-car lowness.

But there's nothing like a firsthand sampling to know how modern the newest thing on wheels really is. Come in today for your meeting with the newest Buick yet.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.*

Canvass Votes Thursday at Southfield

Seek Recount, New Charter Commission

By NANCE BELLEFLEUR
South Oakland Correspondent

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — A canvass of votes on Monday's city charter election here will be held by Charter Commissioners Thursday night at 8:30 in the Town Hall.

The city charter lost by 43 votes. Final vote was yes, 4,105, and no, 4,148.

"I can't understand it," said Township Clerk Fannie Adams in speaking of the 533 voters who cast their ballots for candidates and forgot to vote on the charter. "It looks as though voters in their haste to vote for the candidates forgot to pull the lever voting for the city charter, and by so doing voted candidates into a non-existent city."

Mrs. Adams and Charter Commissioner Leo J. Walton cited citizens who claimed that the lever to be used for the city charter seemed to be obscure on the voting machine.

Walton said that the Beverly Hills area in the northeast section of the township, strongly opposing the charter, showed a higher percentage of votes than any other precinct in the township.

1955 ELECTION

Voters there were credited with the defeat of the charter election in December, 1955.

Walton added that petitions will be filed for a new charter commission after certification of Monday's votes.

Township trustee Don L. Swanson has called for a recount on the Monday vote, said Mrs. Adams.

Incorporation as a city was approved by Southfield in June, 1955. Monday's election was the second time a city charter has been turned down by voters.

Southfield has until June 6, 1957 to adopt a city charter, otherwise it will revert to township status.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Outdoor Christmas Party for Drayton Plains Youth

DRAYTON PLAINS — Plans for an outdoor Christmas party for the Drayton Plains school children will be discussed when the school's PTA executive board meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school auditorium.

Santa Claus will be on hand at the party to hand out candy canes, according to early plans told.

The board will elect a nominating committee for the 1957-58 officers staff.

Almont

Representatives of student organizations will summarize their activities in a panel discussion at the Almont PTA meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Promoted by the Student Council, the program will explain works of the National Honor Society, Agriculture Boys and the FFA, the FHA, Glee Clubs, debate teams, and so forth.

New Hudson

A co-operative supper is planned by the New Hudson PTA for 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school gymnasium. A program will follow the supper for parents and teachers.

Avon Township

A Christmas music program will be presented by the Paul Wilson family at the Stone PTA meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school.

Refreshments will be served by the afternoon kindergarten mothers.

Jaycees Open Yule Contest

Lighting Competition Is Launched for Waterford and Clarkston Village

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Junior Chamber of Commerce is launching its Christmas lighting contest this week, according to Frank Richardson and Arthur Salley, co-chairmen for the event.

The contest is open to residents of Waterford Township and Clarkston village.

Three winners will be selected and their names will be entered in the nationwide General Electric contest which is offering $5000 in prizes.

Those entering the contest must have their applications in to the Jaycees by Dec. 22. Judging is to take place between Christmas and New Year's.

Entry blanks may be picked up at Dick Dean's Hardware, Drayton Drugs, Richardson Dairy, the Lakeland Tribune, Don Fillmore's Hardware, Elizabeth Lake Pharmacy, Russ' Country Store, West Huron Community National Bank, Clarkston Bank, the Clarkston News and several other places yet to be contacted.

35 Students at Walled Lake to Test Mileage

Abuot 35 student drivers of Walled Lake High School will compete in a Mobilgas safety-economy run on Sunday, according to Mr. A. G. Epker, district manager of Socony Mobil Oil Company Inc.

The run is one of a series sponsored by the company in the North Central states to increase pride among high school students in skillful driving, Epker says.

"Safety is the primary factor," Epker explains, "with economy of operation secondary.

"We want to develop pride among students in the competent operation of their cars, and one of the best ways to do this is to prove to them that high speeds and long gasoline mileage cancel each other. Only safe drivers can achieve good mileage."

At Walled Lake, drivers will compete for first, second and third place trophies by traveling over 60 miles, with a fraction of a gallon of gasoline added to the total used for each safety violation noted by observers. Best "ton-mileage" wins the prize.

Diphtheria Cases Rise to 136, Five Fatalities

DETROIT (AP) — The diphtheria case load hit 136 for the year in Detroit yesterday with four new victims reported. Five persons have died.

At the same time last year only 18 persons had been stricken with one fatality.

Blast, Flames Destroy Garage in Ludington

LUDINGTON (AP) — Explosion and fire destroyed a service garage and damaged an adjacent filling station late yesterday with losses estimated at $30,000.

Fire Chief Arthur Lange said two new autos and numerous auto accessories in the garage also were lost in the flames.

He said the explosion and fire were caused by fumes from a leaking gas tank on a car which were ignited by the flame of a hot water heater in the garage. No one was injured in the fire.

Mrs. Jean Smith won the trophy for losing the most weight. She managed to shed five pounds in a week.

Penalized for gaining weight were Mrs. Marvin L. Lainegar, Mrs. Tom McClerren, and Mrs. Kenneth Huffman.

New members to the club are Mrs. Martin F. Mose and Ellen Comiskey, both of Pontiac.

Rochester WSCS Slates Supper, Speech, Songs

ROCHESTER — Dr. Donald Schroeder of The Detroit Council of Churches will be the guest speaker at the WSCS Family Smorgasbord Potluck dinner, Thursday night, at 7 p.m. in the Social Hall. Cartoon movies will be featured for the children and carol singing will be on the program.

Imlay Schools Slate Adult Study Again

IMLAY CITY — The board of education will sponsor classes for adults this winter as it has in the past.

Classes will be offered in any subject in which at least ten people are interested and an instructor can be secured.

Courses in the program are open to all people in the community who are out of school.

DORENE F. DOBAT

The engagement of their daughter, Dorene Francis, to Clarence Whitbey of Mt. Clemens, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dobat of Utica. Clarence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Whitbey of Willow Springs, Mo. An early summer wedding is being planned.

Cancer Branch Opens Doors

Waterford Unit Supplies Pads, Dressing, Drugs to Patients

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Township Branch of the American Cancer Society officially opened its doors this week with an afternoon "Open House" program. Headquarters for the unit have been established in the library of the CAI Building.

Mrs. Helen Reese, president of the association, and Mrs. John Thompson, service chairman, were in charge of the program. They were assisted by Mrs. Alton Banfield, co-service chairman.

Christopher. Dean, representing the Oakland County district of the society, spoke briefly to the audience, giving the organization's background and purpose.

The unit will supply pads, dressings and medical supplies to cancer patients as well as those persons afflicted with other long-term ailments. It will be open on Mondays and Fridays from 12 noon to 3 p. m. and on Wednesdays from 9 a. m. until noon.

The Waterford and Drayton Plains Extension Clubs will be staffing the center on Mondays and Fridays. On Wednesdays other volunteers and members of the library will take over.

Mrs. David Edstrom and Mrs. Charles A. Wood were in charge of refreshments for Monday's affair. These were furnished by the Waterford Branch of the National Farm and Garden Assn.

Joann Corey Is Recent Bride of Harold Hall

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Joann Corey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Corey of Auburn Heights, was married to Harold H. Hall Jr., son of the Harold Halls also of Auburn Heights, in a recent ceremony before the Rev. Harry McCann at the United Presbyterian Church parsonage.

By ABBIE KUCSERA
Suburban Editor

Currently a number of communities in the Oakland County area are in the throes of growing, changing of government and jobs of improvement. Among them are Waterford Township, Wixom, the new cities of Warren and Troy and Southfield.

The eyes of many in the county will turn toward Wixom, a community of 1,401, Thursday night, as members of its Civic Association make one of several initial moves toward village incorporation.

The Wixom group has planned an open meeting, to be held at 8 in the Wixom School, when David Geer, nationally successful planning consultant from Birmingham will be the main speaker.

Geer's many successful projects in planning, past and present—include the new city development of Atom City, at Oak Ridge, Tenn.; site plans for the Rochester, Mich., Civic Center, now under construction; slum clearance and urban redevelopment for Royal Oak Township; preparation of a master plan for Clawson and consultant for Northland Shopping Center.

Spokesmen for the Wixom Association, Herb Abrams, vice president and Jesse Birchard, director, point out that the meeting is open to all persons in the county area.

A large turnout is expected, they said, as Geer will talk about subjects of interest to the whole county area.

Wixom took another step toward its incorporation goal yesterday, when the Oakland County Board of Supervisors approved Feb. 5 as the date for the village incorporation election.

Michigan State University authorities, considering Wixom a key area in the industrial development of the county, recently used the area as a class project.

Oakland County Planning Director George N. Scrubb has also verified his belief in the fact that Wixom is a key area in commercial development of the county.

Japanese Sanction Peace Agreement

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Diet today completed ratification of the World War II peace agreement between Japan and the Soviet Union.

The upper house approved the ratification measure 224-3. The lower house approved it Nov. 27 by a 365-0 vote, but with 82 members staying off the floor.

The agreement ends the technical state of war between the two countries, provides for resumption of diplomatic relations, and covers fishing rights for Japanese in waters off Siberia controlled by the Soviet Union. It also includes a sea rescue pact and a trade and navigation protocol.

The pact returns none of the Japanese territories lost in the weeklong war with Russia. The Soviet Union has said it would repatriate more than 1,000 Japanese it is holding as soon as ratification was completed.

Avon to Vote Jan. 16 on Consumer Franchise

ROCHESTER—The Avon Township Board has set Jan. 16, 1957, as the day when electors will vote on the renewal of the 30-year franchise of the Consumers Power Co. in Avon Township. Voting will be held in all six precincts.

County Deaths

Mrs. Norman Beatty

TROY—Service for Mrs. Norman (Harriet Elizabeth) Beatty, 63, of 12946 Foyer St. will be at the Methodist Church, Sears, at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, with burial in Forest Hills Cemetery, Evart. Her body is at Corey Funeral Home, Evart. Mrs. Beatty died at New Grace Hospital, Detroit, on Sunday.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Mack Lawrence of Sears and Mrs. William Wilson of Pontiac; four brothers, Charles of Detroit, Ernest of Vermontville (Mich.), Herbert of Chicago and Emery Austin of Texas; three sisters, Edith and Bertha of Mt. Morris and Agnes of Texas, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Evelyn S. Marshall

ROCHESTER—Service for Mrs. Evelyn S. Marshall, 57, who died here Monday, will be at St. Philip Episcopal Church at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Her body, at the Pixley Funeral Home until time of service, will afterward be taken to Miami, Fla., for burial and service there.

Besides three sons, G. R. Marshall, J. S. and Gordon Marshall, of Rochester, and four grandchildren, she leaves an aunt, Miss Mamie Gunn, also of Rochester.

Troops Still Battle in Cuban Rebellion

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's latest revolt is not over yet. The government announced that army troops met revolutionaries in battle last night and both sides suffered casualties.

The communique gave no details of the fighting. Other sources said the battle was at Aguas Finas, in southeast Cuba near the town of Niquero and about 12 miles from Bermejo Beach, where a small rebel "invasion force" reportedly landed Sunday night.

The rebels are attempting to oust the regime of President Fulgencio Batista. They began a rebellion Friday in Santiago de Cuba.

Troy Seeks New Man for Chief Administrator

TROY — City Council here is casting about for a new city manager to replace O. G. Holway, the city's manager of seven months. Mayor Frank Costello was authorized by lawmakers to find a successor for Holway.

Holway, who resigned as Hazel Park manager to become Troy's chief administrator, will be given 30 days notice when another manager is hired.

School Faculty vs Police

Donkey Basketball Friday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Township Police Department and faculty members of Waterford Township High will vie in fun Friday, in a Donkey Basketball Game, to be held at the school.

Game time will be 8 p.m.

Police force players will be Chief Frank Van Atta and officers Ernest Mann, Orville Archer, Don Graylin, Joe Kerr, Daryle Bruestle, Bill Stokes and Sgts. Gene Rodgers, Frank Randolph and Charles Whitlock.

Yule Parade at Rochester Set Dec. 15

ROCHESTER — Rochester's fifth annual Christmas Parade sponsored by the Rochester Lions Club is scheduled for Dec. 15 at 2 p.m.

Bud Maynard, general chairman, announced today that this year's parade is to be the "best yet."

Santa Claus will arrive by airplane during the parade and be here to greet the kiddies and have his special headquarters where he can be interviewed after the parade.

A new special feature this year will be the presence of "The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada," regimental band of Toronto, also in the parade will be the Chrysler Highlander Band, Rochester High School and Avondale High School Bands and many others. Thirty floats have already been entered and Maynard is taking any entries for the parade.

The Rochester Lions Club's famous clown car will again be featured and also a DeSoto dream car. Many other special features will be added this year.

Detroit Accident Takes Character

'Baron of Broadway' During Roaring 20s, John J. Hanley Dead

DETROIT (AP) — A man whose body lay unclaimed in the Wayne County morgue two days after he was killed in a traffic accident was identified today as a colorful Broadway character of New York's roaring 20s.

Police said John J. Hanley, 61, self-styled "Baron of Broadway" died Sunday after walking into the side of a car in downtown Detroit where he lived in a small hotel.

Relatives were traced to New York through newspaper clippings found in his room. The clippings described the pre-prohibition bar owner as "The Most Popular Irishman on Broadway." He once owned the Broadway Cafe at 92nd street in the Riverside Drive district.

Morgue officials said he came to Detroit in 1941 and operated a pawn shop until a few years ago. They said a sister was en route from New York to claim the body.

Quick Thinking Helps

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager John A. Borcht saved the Workingmen's Savings and Loan Assn. several hundred dollars. When burglars entered his office, he simply told them there was no money. They left without looking in the open safe — but not before they had taken Borcht's wallet containing a souvenir $10 bill.

Hiawatha Series to Start

ROCHESTER — Winter programs of the eighth annual Hiawathan Wildlife series will open at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the junior high school gym here.

Arlene and Tom Hadley of Holly, two favorite wildlife photographers-lecturers will open the series, with the color film, "Song of Hiawatha".

The Hadleys have appeared here on each of the winter series that have been sponsored by Rochester Community School Adult Education program.

Tickets are being sold on a family basis as well as individual and former series have had capacity audiences in the gymnasium.

Export Manager to Address Rotarians

IMLAY CITY — An export manager, Frank Conroy of Muller Brass Company, Port Huron, will talk on his profession at the turkey dinner at which Rotary club members will entertain their wives tonight at the American Legion Hall. The Rev. David Evans will be toastmaster and Mrs. Arthur Placeway will sing, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. A. A. Rayles of Grand Blanc.

At Royal Oak Township

Start Toward $ Million Area Renewal

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—With $57,374 available for planning, and $567,467 reserved for an urban renewal project, this township's supervisor today looked towards steps in restoring the area.

Supr. Elwood Dickens yesterday received the letter confirming telegraphic announcement of last week of the Urban Renewal administration's grant.

"About $19,000 of the planning funds will be used for initial surveys," says Supr. Dickens, "and the rest will be held for final plans if the program is approved."

"We can make the actual land and property surveys, appraisals, early plans, and plan for relocation of the families that have to be displaced," he explained. "It should take from six to nine months."

"Then, we submit the program to citizens of the community for their approval and support.

"Total cost of the redevelopment is estimated at $1,805,511, with the township providing funds for streets and roads and other improvements totaling $540,000.

"We can eliminate conditions caused by mistakes of the past," says Dickens, "and establish safeguards to prevent their recurrence.

Skillful Double Talk Preserves the Truth

Let's Tell White Lies With Sophistication

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — "Why, Bessie Bottomly, imagine meeting you again after all these years," exclaims the middle-aged man confronted by the middle-agedly-spreading Miss Bottomly. "You haven't changed a bit!"

"Well, Sam Schmaltz," the lady replies giddily, "isn't this amazing. Neither have you!"

These profound people are conducting what is known in some circles as blind badinage, in others as verbal miragery.

They are swerving wildly from the straight path of honesty, blanching away from the dark truth, conducting wide open war on the insults of integrity.

In other words, they are lying. The conscious purpose — to make the other fella feel good. The ulterior purpose — to get a kind word in return.

LITTLE BLEACHED LIE

This is all very well, perhaps, this practice of using the small, bleached lie for the purpose of making life more palatable. Even Webster recognizes the "little white lie" as "excusable, because it concerns a trivial matter and is told out of politeness, etc."

But I believe that people are getting too smart to accept the li'l white lie in great soggy doses, as it is being ladled out today.

It has gotten to the point where the modern mind cringes, instead of warms, to words like "you're looking younger than ever." And after it cringes, it says to itself, well, here goes nothin', as it feeds the return lie into the larynx; "And so are you, dear."

The modern, broader, deeper mind is too perceptive to go through shenanigans like this very often without suffering headaches brought on by hypocrisy.

The American intelligence quotient — spurred by progress in cultural and educational fields — grows higher with every passing day.

SAME OLD FIBS

Yet our small talk and homey deceits have remained the same as they were in the days of Victorian flowery flattery. "You haven't changed in 20 years!" is a statement as old and bald as the man to whom it likely is being addressed.

To preserve our own integrity, I believe we should stop heaping white lies on people. Now, perish forbid that anyone should think I am recommending that we change the construction of social etiquette entirely and take to telling the whole, bare truth.

(The first person who tells me my chins have doubled gets a slur at his lordosis backline); but what is suggested here is that our lying be gently touched with elements of truth.

Thus, when Mr. Schmalz meets Miss Bottomly and notes that after all these years she has grown as wide as the open spaces, he could remark — "You look great!" He will retain his integrity and she will be pleased.

Likewise Miss B., who observed that Schmaltz has rounded out with time, can with some honesty exclaim — "Sam, you're a site! For sore eyes."

ON THE UP AND UP

All quite up and up, you see. Everybody feels good.

There are similar rosy-tinged truths that can be used to fit almost any social situation that requires pleasantries. For instance, if the food at a dinner party is miserable, remark, "Boy, this is just like grandma used to cook."

The hostess need never know you mean the grandma on your father's side who was left widowed shortly after she gave up the maid and took to the kitchen.

And when you see a woman in an atrocious dress, do not hesitate to exclaim, "Darling, you look fantastic!"

The word "fantastic," like those sister words "remarkable," "too-too" and "crazy man," are as inter-interpretable as any phrases Shakespeare in his most punnish, puckish moments ever dreamed up.

All it takes, to keep your sincere principles and at the same time spread sweetness and light, is a bit of thought. (And if anyon tells me this is "a heck of a column," I'll know he's thinking.)

THE OLYMPIC GAMES — 3

Training

The Greeks were great lovers of beauty and the arts.

They devoted much care to the development of fine, healthy bodies. Races, games and contests of all kinds had been a part of the training of young Greeks before the Olympic Games began.

Greek boys learned to play the lyre, a stringed instrument that was the ancestor of the harp, and the Pipes of Pan, an early-day flute. Music made up an important part of running and jumping games that all the Greek children enjoyed.

Young men trained hard for a year for the Olympic Games. Kings raced with commoners in the games. Alexander the Great once tied for victory in an Olympic foot race.

Cut this picture along the outside edges and fold down the center on the dotted line so it will stand up.

GOOD NEWS
FOR RHEUMATISM AND ARTHRITIS SUFFERERS
"EVERYONE I HAVE EVER TALKED TO WHO HAS TRIED O-JIB-WA BITTERS, HAS FOUND THIS WONDERFUL MEDICINE ALL THEY CLAIM IT TO BE," SAYS MRS. L. G. SLY, 2190 CADILLAC BLVD., DETROIT.

"If you are in any doubt as to how bad I had rheumatism and arthritis, then read my true story. My knees were so swollen and stiff that I could hardly walk, and I continually stumbled and fell all over the place. I hated for anyone to see my fingers because they were so puffed and deformed. There just wasn't any way for me to lay comfortably in bed, as my knees pained so much that they kept me awake. To make a long story short, I learned about herb medicines from my mother, who had suffered years ago, and discovered an herb medicine that really helped. After trying many other medicines without results, I read an ad for O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and was anxious to try it. After several weeks the pain and swelling left my knees and fingers. I could walk around fine and my fingers returned to almost their normal size and shape. O-JIB-WA helped my nerves too, and I sleep good at night again. I have yet to meet someone that has tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS and hasn't found help. I feel sure that it will help anyone willing to give it a fair trial." BATTLE UNDER BOARDS — Pontiac's Roosevelt Alexander, 6-foot-4 forward, gets the inside position on the rebound as Catholic Central's Tom Kramer (22) battles him for the ball. The Chiefs won the game 45-42 in the season opener at PHS. Alexander is a sophomore.

PHS Pressed in Gaining 45-42 Victory

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Opening game shakes were obvious on both sides at Pontiac High School where the Chiefs eked out a 45-42 victory over Detroit Catholic Central in a sluggishly played game last night.

The visiting Shamrocks took an early lead, and except for eight occasions when the game was tied, Pontiac did not move ahead until the start of the 4th period.

With guards Jerry Teahen and Tom King connecting from the outside early in the contest, Central moved to a 12-7 lead after the first stanza and a 22-18 edge at halftime.

Both teams lost the ball on numerous occasions for floor violations, and the officials especially kept close watch on the new rule which prohibits a player from moving into the free throw lane until the ball hits the rim.

The Shamrocks were called for the infraction seven times and Pontiac three times, thereby permitting the free throw shooter to shoot again.

The free throw line, however, was where neither team was able to capitalize, although in the final tally Pontiac's margin of victory came on charity tosses.

Catholic Central outshot the Chiefs from the floor 20 buckets to 15, but the Shamrocks missed their first shot of the bonus free throw rule seven times in succession before making one.

Guard Dave Diehm hit in the clutch for the Chiefs to lead the scoring with 18 points.

Central had a 14-12 lead early in the second quarter and Diehm tied with a one hander. Central's Al Moran made it 16-14 and it was Diehm again hitting for the tying basket.

Teahen made it 18-16 and then big Hud Ray took a pass from Larry Peet on a 2-on-1 break and gave the crowd a thrill by dunking it through the nets.

Poor defensive play enabled the Shamrocks to sneak through to score from underneath. In the second half, coach Art Van Ryzin elected to replace Dick Whitmer and Roosevelt Alexander with the injured Terry Zellhart and Dave Simmons.

Zellhart came through with two crucial field goals and a pair of free throws as Pontiac knotted the count 30-30 after three periods.

With less than two minutes left, Moran hit for Central to make it 41-40, but he missed the chance to tie it when he was fouled while scoring.

Four free throws in the last minute by Peet clinched the victory for Pontiac.

Coach Van Ryzin was displeased with the team's poor floor play and the rebounding.

"We're in for trouble at Arthur Hill Friday if we don't wake up on the floor," he said. Central gained control several times by outhustling the Chiefs in the battle for loose balls.

HAPPY HEISMAN WINNER — Paul Hornung, Notre Dame's versatile quarterback (left) engages in a record playing session with his roommate Joe Morelli after the announcement that he won the Heisman Trophy for 1956. Hornung is a popular music lover. He won the award even though Notre Dame had its poorest season in history finishing with a 2-8 record.

Notre Dame's Hornung Heisman Award Winner

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Paul Hornung, the one bright spot in Notre Dame's most disastrous football season, yesterday was awarded the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player of 1956.

The trophy was established in 1935 in honor of famed Coach John W. Heisman. It was awarded by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York.

"I am grateful to Terry Brennan and his coaching staff and to the team as a whole — they deserve credit for making it possible for me to have a chance for such an award," said Hornung.

The senior from Louisville, Ky., started the season at quarterback but later was forced to play halfback and fullback because of thumb injuries which hampered him in taking snap-backs from centers.

Hornung became the 22nd winner of the trophy. Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago was first and Ohio State's Howard Cassady won the award last year.

Tennessee halfback Johnny Majors was second in the balloting. Hornung received a total of 1,006 points in the poll conducted by 1,318 electors across the nation. Majors had 994 points, marking the closest finish in years.

Halfback Tommy McDonald and center Jerry Tubbs, both of Oklahoma's national champions, finished third and fourth respectively. Other players listed in the voting were Jimmy Brown, Syracuse; Ron Kramer, Michigan; John Brodie, Stanford; Jim Parker, Ohio State; Kenny Ploen, Iowa; Jon Arnett, Southern California; Joe Walton, Pittsburgh, and Jim Swink, Texas Christian.

From The PRESS BOX

Wiffi Smith, former St. Clair golfer who was the youngest golfer ever to win the Michigan Amateur crown in 1955, announced she will turn pro and start the tournament circuit January 11th at Sea Island, Georgia. Miss Smith, only 19, now resides in Orange, Texas.

* * *

Clarence Peaks, Michigan State's brilliant back, has signed his contract with the Philadelphia Eagles who made him their first choice in the NFL draft recently.

At its annual grid bust last night, Rev. Celestine J. Steiner, U. of D. president, said he would reconsider withdrawing from the Missouri Valley Conference if the league goes ahead with a two division setup. Cincinnati and Marquette would be included in the northern division.

Walter Beach and Phil Officer, both of Pontiac, have shed their football togs and will compete with Central Michigan's indoor track team. Both are freshmen.

The "Milk Bowl" Game is the latest to be added to the list of Bowls. The event will be played between Notre Dame Academy of Kerrville, Texas and the McKeesport, Pa., Optimists, December 15th in San Antonio, Texas. Players are between 10 and 13 and no more than 110 pounds in weight.

* * *

St. Michael's basketball team will open its Suburban Catholic League campaign Thursday night in the St. Mike gymnasium against St. Rita of Hazel Park. The Shamrocks and Highland Park St. Benedict are defending SCL co-champions.

* * *

Near capacity crowds attended the Pontiac-Catholic Central and Waterford - Clarkston basketball games last night in the Pontiac and Waterford gyms. Both the Chiefs and Skippers won.

Romeo Drops Opener to South Lake Team

Romeo High School's opening effort of the 1956-57 basketball season last night was a losing one as South Lake came from behind to whip the visiting Bulldogs, 67-54.

The Bulldogs, under new head coach Bud Brotebeck, held a 34-28 advantage at halftime, but South Lake took a 47-45 lead going into the 4th quarter. South Lake had a 20-9 bulge in the final period to win going away.

92 Keglers Survive Preliminaries

CHICAGO (AP) — Ninety-two of the nation's top men and women bowlers, survivors of preliminary rounds, start shooting today in the tough semi-finals of the All-Star Bowling Tournament.

The 46 men qualifiers among the 15 shooters in the 24-game first rounds, will roll 12 games today. A similer number of women qualifiers in 16 games fired by 64 shooters will roll eight games.

The 14 leaders in the semi-finals enter the finals, to start tomorrow and run through Sunday. Joining the 14 in each division will be the men's and women's tourney champions of the last two years.

In the men's group they are defending champion Bill Lillard of Chicago and Steve Nagy of Detroit, 1954-55 winner. The 14 women finalists will be joined by defending champion Anita Cantaline of Detroit and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia, titleholder in 1954-55.

Both holders of first place in the preliminary rounds held fairly wide leads as the firing opened in the semi-finals.

Jere Price, attractive 24-year-old housewife of Fort Worth, Tex., had a 76-pin margin over Arlene Eck, a former softball pitcher of St. Paul, Minn.

Three former men champions — Andy Varipapa, Hemstead, N.Y.; Ned Day, West Allis, Wis., and Connie Schwoegler, Madison, Wis., failed to make the finals.

Weber continued his hot streak yesterday as he rolled 1,264 to give him a 24-game total of 5,002 — an average of better than 208. Kwolek had 4,916 as the result of shooting a lofty 1,248 yesterday. Stan Thaden of Chicago was third with 4,905.

Patterson Is 1st

New Ring Ratings Bared

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson, the new world heavyweight champion, was named fighter of the month by Ring Magazine on his fifth-round knockout of Archie Moore.

The new Ring ratings in the heavy division show Moore dropping to No. 2 among the contenders with Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson of New York, a summer victim of Patterson's, the new No. 1 contender. Zora Folley of Phoenix edged into the top 10 for the first time on his victory over Wayne Bethea.

The ratings:

Gillis Paces Waterford 5 to 64-45 Opening Victory

By BILL CORNWELL

Sparked by lanky Chuck Gillis, the Skippers breezed to a 64-45 victory over Clarkston last night in the Waterford High gymnasium.

Held on nearly even terms for the 1st two quarters by an underdog Clarkston squad, the Skippers pulled away in the 2nd half behind Gillis' brilliant shooting and rebounding.

Waterford's superior height — and Gillis in particular—told the story. Only Waterford's inability to find the target in the 1st half kept the Wolves in the contest.

Gillis pumped in 11 field goals and two free throws for 24 points.

Five of his two-pointers came in the 3rd period when Waterford put the decision out of Clarkston's reach.

The 6-4 Skipper center bucketed 11 out of 18 shots from the floor, including seven in eight attempts in the final two periods. In addition, he grabbed a total of 27 rebounds for a new school record.

Clarkston's hustling but outmanned quintet held Waterford to a 27-24 lead at halftime. The Skippers' 24 to 12 edge in the 3rd quarter settled the issue.

Little Leroy Parks of Clarkston was almost as brilliant as Gillis. The pint - sized guard meshed six field goals and 10 charity tosses for 22 points as well as playing an alert floor game.

Thirty-eight personal fouls were assessed, 23 against the Skippers. The Wolves profited by making 23 foul shots in 39 attempts.

Vikings Score 2nd Cage Win

Walled Lake made an impressive showing in gaining its second straight victory of the young basketball season by trouncing Redford Union 63-50 on the Viking court.

With regulars from last year, Larry Hughes and Larry Dion seeing action for the first time along with forward Tom Willworth who sat on the bench for the opener last week, the Vikings jumped to a 21-11 first quarter lead and never fell behind.

Guard Larry Vandervelde, a 5-11 junior, hit for 19 points in the first half and then added two more to finish with 21.

Hughes with nine field goals and four free throws was the leading scorer however with 22. Willworth added 10 and gave Hughes fine support on the boards.

It was 40-23 at halftime and 54-37 after three quarters as coach Bill Ullenbruch began to substitute.

Walled Lake's JV's dropped a 55-44 decision to the Redford five.

Kell Decides to Play Again

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — George Kell, 34, headed for his Swifton, Ark., home today after announcing his plans to play again next year for the Baltimore Orioles.

Kell had been considering retirement or possibly a manager's post. But after a talk with manager Paul Richards at the minor league's convention here, the infielder said he would remain on the active list.

Minors Begin Draft

Senator, Bosox Player Deal Brewing

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Minor league baseball clubs were set to start their annual player draft today while Washington and Boston appeared on the verge of completing a five-player deal.

Manager Chuck Dressen of the Senators acknowledged that a player deal was brewing between his club and the Red Sox. Players involved reportedly are outfielder Roy Sievers and third baseman Eddie Yost of the Senators and third baseman Ted Lepcio, second baseman Billy Consolo and outfielder Gene Stephens of Boston.

And manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants continued to dicker in the trade market in an effort to bolster his club, which finished sixth in the National League last season.

All minors from Class A up scheduled their draft session for this third day of the minor league baseball convention. Class B and C leagues do their drafting tomorrow.

The draft gives clubs a chance to strengthen their rosters by grabbing promising players currently in leagues of lower classification. The major leagues took their pick of the minors Monday, drafting nine players for a total draft price of $100,000.

Minor league officials held a closed-door session yesterday and discussed the 29 proposed amendments to the major-minor agreement. Spokesmen said nothing startling developed. A vote on the various amendments comes tomorrow.

On another front, Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, held a peace-pipe pow-wow with Gabe Paul, general manager of Cincinnati, and Harold Cooper, general manager of Columbus of the International League.

Paul and Cooper engaged in a one-punch fight yesterday in a dispute over territorial rights. Cooper got in a grazing blow to Paul's shoulder before peacemakers stepped between them. Both agreed to drop the matter at the Frick meeting after Paul promised Cincinnati would no longer telecast Redleg games into Columbus territory when the Jets were playing at home.

Rigney is in the market for some player strength as a result of the Giants' sixth-place finish last season, combined with a military call on four of his most likely looking youngsters — outfielder Jackie Brandt, first baseman Bill White, rookie outfielder Willie Kirkland and pitcher Dick Fitzgerald.

Wings, Bruins Battle for Top

DETROIT — The Boston Bruins, the only club the Detroit Red Wings have not defeated this season, will visit Olympia Stadium Thursday night.

The game will have first place in the National Hockey League as the winner's prize, for the Bruins will take the ice with 32 points to the Red Wings' 30.

Thursday's contest will be the second between these clubs at Olympia, and their third meeting of the year. The Bruins gained a 3-3 tie at Detroit October 21st and defeated the Redshirts 3 to 1 in the Garden Nov. 8th.

In outscoring Detroit six goals to four, the Bruins have been led by former Detroiter Vic Stasiuk. Stasiuk has scored four of his team's six goals, getting two in each game.

Although he has only faced Detroit twice he leads all Red Wing opponents in goal scoring this season. Fernie Flaman and Leo Labine have the other pair.

Tigers' Farm System Gets Two Appointments

JACKSONVILLE — The Detroit Tigers' farm system for 1957 was completed with the appointment of Ralph E. Snyder as assistant farm director, and Bill Norman as special assignment scout; John J. McHale, director of player personnel, has announced.

Snyder, farm system secretary since 1947, was moved up to assist Farm Director Jim Campbell. He is a native of Toledo, Ohio, and was a catcher for Cordele of the Georgia-Florida League in 1941 and 1942.

Olympic Writers Try Iron Curtain Break

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—We tried to crack the Iron Curtain of the Russian mystery ship Gruzia today. We hit and bounced back.

Jack Day, an Australian driver for Associated Press staffers here, and I were intrigued by tales of the invincibility of the Gruzia. And so we climbed the gangplank and gingerly stepped aboard the big white ship flying the hammer and sickle at the Victoria dock.

A dozen or so blueclad Soviet athletes and officials who were standing around leisurely on deck blinked and passed whispered comments as we strolled past. A surprised blacksuited sailor moved furtively through a doorway.

* * *

Shortly afterward, a small, grim-faced junior officer, wearing a black band on his arm, emerged and spat a series of staccato questions — all in Russian.

"Do you speak English?" we asked.

"A little," he replied.

"We would like to see your ship," we said, after identifying ourselves and producing credentials.

"One moment," he answered. "I must see the captain."

Then he disappeared through another doorway.

We stood cooling our heels while the Russians, most of them either in athletic uniforms or drab, doublebreasted suits with too-big-bottomed trousers and sloppily tied ties, stared at us curiously.

Our efforts to open a conversation brought only shrugs. Nobody said nothing.

Soon two stone-visaged men in black suits came on deck and stood 10 feet away, giving us a cold once over from head to foot. They scribbled notes. When they opened their mouths, steel teeth shone in the sun — a trademark of the Soviet MKVD — secret police.

There was obvious suspicion all around. Finally, the junior officer returned and said crisply, "The captain is sorry, but today is a work day on the ship and we have no visitors. He said to come back Sunday."

The ship probably sails Saturday.

"Since that nurse Nina Aht disappeared," he said, referring to the Russian girl who jumped ship a couple of weeks ago, "the Russians are leary of visitors. They fear efforts will be made to lure others away."

Coaches' Prexy Rip Council

Prep Battle Still Continues

By DAVE DILES
Michigan AP Sports Editor

The battle for—and against—more basketball games for Michigan High Schools is not over.

Last week's vote against more games has brought on another flareup between the supporters and opponents of the measure.

Paul Smarks, president of the State High School Coaches Assn., said the representative council of the State Athletic Association failed to reflect the thinking of the majority of Michigan schools.

A poll taken before the Lansing meeting showed 295 schools favored additional games, while 273 favored the present setup that restricts high schools to 24 games in football and basketball.

"The council is not at all representative," said Smarks, angered over the decision by the 13-member council. "The majority of the schools favored more basketball games, but the council refused to go along with them. The whole thing is bad and it looks like dirty politics."

No Michigan high school may play more than 18 basketball games, nor more than nine football games. A school supporting both sports can have only 24 games in the two.

The council voted 9 to 2 against adding more games. One member abstained and the other was not present.

"The representative council had no clear-cut expression on which to study," said the state's director of athletics, Charles Forsythe. "Had it been two-to-one, or perhaps even less, in favor of a change, the council undoubtedly would have gone along with the proposal.

"The ballot we sent out was not a referendum. We sent out 730 ballots and there were 587 of them returned. There were 123 schools who failed to send back the ballot. They apparently were satisfied with the present rule."

Nineteen ballots improperly filled out were not tabulated.

Forsythe said "At least two groups of administrators climbed all over the state association for even sending out the ballots in the first place. They felt that since the administrators are running the athletic programs, there was no need for any kind of balloting."

Smarks said some administrators have suggested doing away with the state basketball tournament, and substituting more regular season games.

Cranes Bow at Windsor

The Cranbrook Cranes went down to their second setback in as many starts in the young hoop season by dropping a close 48-41 decision to Kennedy Collegiate School at Windsor last night.

The Cranes stayed in the battle right up to the final minutes but could never get a consistent scoring attack clicking long enough to pull in front.

Kennedy held a slim 23-20 advantage at the halftime intermission and continued to hold the upper hand the rest of the way by a slight margin.

Herb Stanton was the sparkplug of the losing cause with 14 points. He was followed by Bob Klein with 11. Kennedy ace Jack Scroeter paced all the scorers wtih 15.

Celtics' Streak Now 10 Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Boston Celtics are this tough now, what's to happen when former Kentucky ace Frank Ramsey gets out of the Army and if Big Bill Russell decides to join up?

The streaking Celts made it 10 in a row last night, rallying to nip the St. Louis Hawks 108-107 in the opener of a doubleheader at New York. With about a quarter of the pro basketball season completed, Boston is threatening to make a shambles of the Eastern Division race and is whipping the Western clubs with equal facility.

* * *

The Philadelphia Warriors were idle last night. New York, in third place, defeated Minneapolis 101-88 but still shows only a 7-9 record and Syracuse, even with its 97-96 overtime decision over Fort Wayne in the other game on the Tuesday program, is 6-11.

Nation's Top Team

Titans Meet Louisville

DETROIT. — Although it's only the first week of the college basketball season, one of the best treats of the winter is on tap at the University of Detroit's beautiful 10,000-seat Memorial Building Thursday night.

The occasion will be the clash between the University of Louisville's defending N. I. T. champions, led by All-American Charlie Tyra, and Coach Bob Calihan's Titans who have an All-American prospect themselves in high scoring Bill Ebben.

Tyra, a six-foot-eight 230 pounder, is one of the finest basketball players in the nation and he leads a team which last year swept to 26 victories against only three defeats.

The Cardinals, picked number one in the country, possess great depth and if Coach Peck Hickman desires he can put a quintet on the floor in which the smallest man will be six-feet-six—ranging from there up to six-feet-10.

While Louisville is a solid favorite to outscore Detroit, local interest is concentrated upon the personal duel between Ebben and Tyra.

Last winter the big Kentucky star led the United States in rebounds and scored an average of 23.8 points per game to finish as the nation's 18th leading scorer. Ebben was only an eyelash behind with an average of 23.6 points.

Spieser in Line for Title Shot Against Moore

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. again has named Chuck Spieser as the No. 1 contender for the world light heavyweight title.

The former Michigan State boxer is in line for a championship shot against Archie Moore. Moore, beaten last week by Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight crown, has been ordered to defend his 175-pound title by March 18.

* * *

The International Boxing club said it hopes to match Moore and Spieser for a bout in Detroit.

Soviet Win Olympic Shooting Competition

MELBOURNE (AP)—Romania and Canada came off with Gold Medals in a pair of individual events today as outstanding marksmanship featured the conclusion of Olympic shooting competition.

Russia was an easy team winner in the over-all competition. The Soviets collected three Gold Medals, four Silver Medals and one Bronze in the seven events. Finland, Italy, Romania and Canada were the only other Gold Medal winners.

All-State College Team to Be Honored

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Associated Press Sports Writers Assn. will honor the AP all-state small college football team on Thursday, Dec. 13, at Schuler's in Marshall.

A banquet honoring the 11 first-team players and their coaches will begin at 6:15 p.m. In addition, the Michigan Chapter of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics will honor its players in the joint session.

Eighteen players on the AP and NAIA teams will be given awards for achieving all-state honors. Clank Stoppels of the Grand Rapids Press, president of the AP Sports Writers Association, will make the presentations in behalf of the AP Michigan member newspapers.

Sam Ketchman of Ferris Institute will make the NAIA presentations.

Ollie Matson Trails Rick by Only 1 Yard in NFL Rushing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ollie Matson, brilliant runner of the Chicago Cardinals is making a determined last ditch effort to win ground gaining honors in the National Football League.

Matson, one of the finest all-around backs in NFL history, gained 70 yards last Sunday to increase his seasonal ground gaining total to 818 yards on 161 attempts and a 5.1 average. He is one yard behind Rick Casares of the Chicago Bears.

Casares, who has led the way in running through most of the current season, gained 45 yards as the Bears bowed to the Detroit Lions. He has 819 yards on 192 attempts for a 4.3 average. These crosstown rivals meet head-on next Sunday as the Bears and Cardinals clash in an NFL game important to the title chances of both teams.

In passing, the Bears' Eddie Brown held his leadership although his average gain per pass dropped from 11.29 to 10.65, a lead now of two yards per pass over second-place Bill Wade of Los Angeles.

Detroit's Bobby Layne moved from seventh to third place in passing on the wings of a fine performance against the Bears. Layne has completed 116 of 223 for 1,722 yards, a 7.95 average and eight touchdowns.

Mullin Named Detroit Scout

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Pat Mullin, former Detroit outfield slugger, has been signed by the Tigers again — this time as a full-time scout.

Mullin, 39, will cover the Detroit, northern Ohio and Indiana territory. He was signed yesterday.

A player with the Tigers for 14 seasons, Mullin was a member of the Detroit organization since 1937, coaching at Buffalo, and managing at Little Rock, Ark.; Idaho Falls, Idaho, and Jamestown, N.Y. All are Detroit farm clubs.

Swimmers Keep U. S. in Olympic Lead

MELBOURNE (AP) — George Breen of Buffalo N. Y. broke the world's record in a heat of the 1,500-meter free style swim as Uncle Sam's swimmers and divers tried to hold off a point drive by the Russian gymnastic teams.

Breen, 20, graduate of Cortland, N. Y. Teachers College, was clocked in 17 minutes 52.9 seconds, breaking the old mark set earlier this year by Australia's Murray Rose at 17:59.5.

Rose has won a trial heat in the 1,500-meter event earlier in the day in 18:04.1, breaking the old Olympic record.

Breen and Rose meet in the 1,500-meter final Friday.

Russia's Women's gymnastic team had been piling up points all through the long day but the U.S. swimmers were doing their best to keep Uncle Sam out front in the unofficial point table.

Five women broke the Olympic record in the trials for the 400-meter free style race with Australia's Lorraine Crapp clocked in 5:00.2, the best time. Among those to smash the old standard was Marley Shriver of Glendale, Calif. who was timed in 5:07.6.

Sylvia Ruuska of Berkeley, Calif. also qualified for Friday's final with Miss Shriver, three Australians, two Hungarians and a French girl. Susan Gary of Washington was eliminated although she finished second to Miss Crapp in her heat.

America picked up 17 points in the five yachting events finally completed today after seven days of competition. The United States won the star class with Kathleen, skippered by Herb Williams of Evanston, Ill. and John Marvin of Marblehead, Mass. finished third in the Dinghy Finn class. The other point-winner for Uncle Sam was Rush IV, skippered by Ferdinand Schoettle Jr. of Philadelphia, which finished fourth in the 5.5-meter class.

Sweden won the Dragon class with Slaghoken II and the 5.5-meters with Rush V, Australia's Falcon IV took the Sharpie gold medal and Paul Elvstrom of Denmark, who won the Dinghy Finn class in both 1948 and 1952, made it three in a row.

America's Dragon entry, Spirit III, skippered by Eugene Walet of New Orleans was 11th in the final race of the seven-race series and finished ninth in the standings. The U. S. Sharpie boat, Tineke, with Eric Olsen of Essex, Conn. was ninth in the seventh race and not among point winners in the overall standings.

The Russian women piled it on in gymnastics, taking 17 points in one event, the vaulting horse with a 1-2-5 finish in the competition won by Larisa Latyina. A Russian girl and a Hungarian both were given gold medals in the free standing event when they finished with the same score.

Neither gold medal in shooting was won by a Russian. Romania's Stefan Petrescu tied the world's record with a 587 score in the silhouette event and Canada's Gerald Quelette hung up a perfect 600 score to win the small bore rifle shooting from prone positions.

America's three entrants in the individual sabre fencing class were eliminated while Russia qualified one for the final round. George Worth and Allan Kwartler were beaten in the semi-finals and Dr. Tybor Nyilas lost in the second round pool. All three are from New York.

Russia's water polo team whipped the United States 3-1 in a game in the final pool. Bill Ross of Whittier, Calif. scored the American goal.

Saturday's soccer final was set up between Russia and Yugoslavia when the Russians fought their way past Bulgaria 2-1 in an overtime semi-final match. Yugoslavia eliminated India Tuesday.

Holly, Bloomfield Hills Win Openers

By CHUCK ABAIR

Prep basketball swung into second gear around Oakland County and surrounding areas last night with some schools making their first appearances of the 1956-57 season. A full slate of action is slated for Friday.

The Tuesday games included several decided by one-sided scores but two one-point verdicts and Pontiac's hard-earned three-point triumph helped make things interesting.

Holly and Bloomfield Hills were among the county quintets to turn in impressive showings in hoop lidlifters.

The Broncos, led by six-foot-five-inch sophomore George McDaniels, overcame an early 5-0 deficit to romp to a convincing 83-44 triumph over Hartland at home. The victors never trailed after going ahead for the first time midway through the initial stanza.

McDaniels played only half the game but finished with 24 points for his efforts. Amos Bradsher and Jack Taylor added 14 and 12, respectively, for Holly. Dick Christenson tallied 18 for Hartland.

At Bloomfield Hills, the home club had to battle all the way to down Oak Park, 41-32.

Bob Elston contributed 16 points and Bob Barrett added 11 to supply the victory spark. John McCoy's 11 digits were tops for Oak Park.

Two successful foul shots by Wayne's Ken McKee crushed Farmington in the final eight seconds of play, 43-42, capping a fine comeback by the visitors.

Farmington had held the edge throughout the first three quarters paced by Bud Jones who finished with 21 points. The losers are now 0-2.

Brighton had four players hit double numbers in its 54-28 walloping of South Lyon. Brian Watson led the quartet with 18, while tiny guard Joe Collins hooped 12.

Van Dyke nipped Mt. Clemens 59-58 with Bill Rzeszut of the Abes and Ed Noe of the Bathers getting 20.

A 18-5 first period lead sent Imlay City winging to an easy 73-41 win over Capac as Larry Doruw tallied 19 to pace 12 home cagers who made the scoring column. Max Howel topped CHS with 12.

Sweden Claims Yacht 'Double'

MELBOURNE (AP)—Sweden won a yachting double for the first time in Olympic history today, largely at the expense of the United States.

The five yachting races were finally decided this afternoon, but it probably will be tomorrow before the official results are given — after officials have tallied the points in the complicated scoring system, waited for the time limit for protests to expire, and heard protests that have been lodged in the Sharpie and Finn Dinghy races.

* * *

But barring upsets from protests, this is the yachting medal score carefully calculated by newsmen:

Australia: A gold medal in the Sharpie class, a bronze medal in the 5.5-meter class.

U. S. Team Beats World 2-Mile Relay Record

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The U.S. 2-mile relay team tonight bettered the world record with a clocking of 7 minutes 23 seconds in a dual meet between American and British Commonwealth track and field Olympians.

The American relay squad was anchored by Tom Courtney, the Olympic 800-meter gold medalist from Livingston, N.J., and finished 80 yards ahead of the Commonwealth squad, comprised of British runners.

The recognized record for the 2-mile haul is 7:25.2 by a Southern Pacific (Calif.) AAU team, set last May 26 at Modesto, Calif.

Jerome Walters of Los Angeles ran the opening leg and passed the baton to Lon Spurrier of Delano, Calif., who opened a 30-yard lead before handing off to Arnie Sowell of Pitt.

UCLA and Tennessee used the single wing formation.

ROSE BOWL PILEUP — Francis Graham, University of Iowa business manager, is almost hidden by the estimated 60,000 orders for Rose Bowl tickets which went on sale to public for the first time yesterday. Graham has about 12,000 tickets to sell and he figures that only one-tenth of the requests can be filled. Iowa meets Oregon State in the January 1st classic.

Protest 'Any Deer' Season

100 Hunters at Doe's 'Funeral'

ROSCOMMON (INS)—Nearly a hundred Roscommon-area sportsmen jammed into their automobiles and went to a deer "funeral" the other day in protest to the special "any deer" season.

Frosty R. Wyckoff, vice president of the Roscommon County Sportsmen's Club, acted as "minister" over the body of a long departed doe deer. He stood in the rear of a pick-up truck which was decorated as the funeral wagon and read a "bible" over the "departed loved one."

"It was a spectacular," one bystander said, "greatest thing I ever saw. It should have happened two years ago and maybe would have saved some of our antlerless deer."

Another sportsman who followed the "funeral" all around Roscommon County, said:

"It signified the death of the Michigan deer herd!"

Dressed in a cutaway coat and plug hat, Wyckoff told the crowd along the mournful route to attach funeral flags to their cars and servation department's special deer season.

The funeral drive started around noon Sunday when returning deer hunters gathered in the small northern Michigan town. Their "revival meeting" took form when an unidentified hunter donated his doe trophy as the "corpse."

Several stores in the town of 877 closed, including the fly and tackle shop of Jack Schweigert. He put a sign in his front window which read:

"Closed for deer funeral."

The Roscommon group, recently divorced from the Michigan United Conservation Club, has been "upset" over the deer management issue.

'Loaded' Pointe Tankers Edge Birmingham 56-40

Alex Canja, former Wolverine diver, is heading for what appears to be a very good swimming season at Grosse Pointe High School where he took over as coach this fall.

Canja's squad yesterday afternoon edged a very good Birmingham team 56-40 in a meet in the Pointe's 20-yard pool. Loss was Maples' first in two outings.

One pool record was set by GP's Les Cutler in the 100-yard backstroke at 1:01. "That's terrific for this time of year," says Maples' mentor Jay Myers who added that the Pointe "is really loaded this year."

Maples took only three firsts, but broke four of their own school marks. Pete Sintz swam the 100-yard butterfly in 1:03 flat to erase his old mark of 1:06 and better the pool mark of 1:03.5 set by Royal Oak's Leich. It was Sintz' first try at the event.

Tom Bechtel set a school mark in the 200-yard freestyle at 2:03.1 to better his own mark of 2:04.4. Dave Cook swam 1:19 flat in the 120-yard individual medley and the medley relay team of Steve Pew (backstroke), Bechtel (breaststroke), Sintz (butterfly) and FG McGinnis (freestyle) swam the 160-yard event in 1:28.3 to beat their own 1:29.4 mark, although losing the race.

Myers pointed to GP Harry Huffaker's 55 seconds time for the 100-yard freestyle as very fast.

Maple swimmers will take part in the Battle Creek Cereal Bowl relays on Saturday. Myers will name his team Friday.

Machen Favored Over Summerlin

Eddie Hopes Victory Tonight Will Aid His Title Hopes

SYRCAUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Favorite Eddie Machen is looking for a victory over Jimmy Summerlin tonight to move him closer to a crack at Floyd Patterson's newly won heavyweight crown.

Jim Norris and his International Boxing Club have suggested it might be a good idea to have Machen, 24, meet Hurricane Jackson to determine a heavyweight contender.

Summerlin hasn't figured in the discussion.

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, has indicated he likes the idea of a bout with Jackson but that he would accept whatever bout Norris promoted — provided it wasn't too soon.

Indications are Patterson won't defend his title until June at the earliest.

Machen, a Californian, is ranked sixth nationally. He is undefeated in 18 pro fights. Summerlin, 24, is ranked eighth in the NBA ratings. He is from Detroit and has a 30-6-2 record.

Jefferson Gridders Honored at Banquet

Jefferson Junior High School's football team and its coach, Richard Craig, were honored for winning the 1956 Pontiac Junior High League title at a banquet last night in the school.

Sponsoring the salute was the Rema Club, composed of business and professional men from Pontiac.

Harvey Johns, GMC plant protection chief, was the principal speaker. Det. Sgt. Allen D. Noble was toastmaster.

207-Pound Buck, 22-Inch Antlers Best in Contest

By H. GUY MOATS

One of the liveliest "big deer derbies" in the many years span of The Pontiac Press annual contest has come to an end, and the lucky champions have been determined. Each will soon receive $150 in U. S. Savings Bonds, a gilt-edge touch to a successful fall season for the two winners.

Many changes in leadership in both the heaviest deer division and the widest antler division (a new contest this fall) kept interest in the event at a high point all the way.

Roger H. Davis, 484 Fourth Street, Pontiac, entered the heaviest buck. His 207-pounder took over the lead on Nov. 19, only a few hours after Emmett Gaffney of Highland had filed with a 205-pounder. Davis' hefty buck was downed near Curtis in the Newberry section of the Upper Peninsula. Davis is a GMC employe.

Winner of the widest antler division was a 22-inch spread of antlers brought in by Leland (Lee) Walz of 8312 Tindall road, Davisburg. Walz shot his deer with the prize rack on farm lands west of Davisburg. He filed his entry Nov. 23.

HUNTERS ROUNDUP — Plans for the big annual BPOE No. 810 hunters roundup at the Pontiac Lodge Thursday at 5:30 p. m. have been completed by the above committee, from left (seated) Jerry Woolever, Dr. H. A. Miller, Louis Michot, and (standing) T. Mack White and Charles (Chuck) Manz. A barbershop quartet (Treble Makers), Almont's Coonskinners band, and a hunting skit with Michot and Paul Sparrow are features. Lodgemen will furnish the game meat for the affair.

MUZZLER LOADER — Mike Johnson, 16-year-old Hasting High school pupil displays the 130 pound buck he bagged the last day of deer season — and the antique muzzle-loading weapon he used. Johnson loaded the blunderbuss, believed to be 150 years old, from the powderhorn and bullet pouch he holds.

Blanked in North, Holly Men Shoot Bucks at Home

Two Holly area hunters, father and son, made their usual fall deer hunting trip to northern Michigan, but returned without a buck.

Then they took a look at the back section of their farm acreage and spotted some big, fat deer. Both soon filled their licenses—on their own lands.

Fred Hauer downed a 14-point, 200-pound (estimated) buck, while his son Hugh bagged a 6-pointer nearly as hefty.

500 Gunners in M-L Affair

Small-Caliber Event Proves Popular Test at Turkey Shoot

Last weekend's annual Multi-Lakes Conservation Association turkey shoot not only had a perfect day, but it attracted one of the biggest turnouts in years for this affair. M-L officials estimated that at least 500 sportsmen from this area were there for the shooting and the fine fish dinner that accompanied it.

Contestants in both the shotgun and the small gauge (.22 shot shell) events included youngsters, men and women. The small gauge particularly is becoming an increasingly popular test. Using shot loads in tiny shells fired from a .22 caliber smoothbore gun, shooters try to break little clay targets thrown by a hand trap. They call this type of shooting "mosquito" trap.

Multi-Lakes will elect 1957 officers at the Dec. 19 meeting. Candidate slates were set up two weeks ago.

Club also is planning a deer browse-cutting trip to Laverne Bowman's at Gladwin. About 20 have signed for the trip early in January. A M-L party last made this trip two years ago.

Geologist Bags Deer With Ancient Rifle

GLADWIN (AP) — A 90-year-old muzzle-loading gun proved its worth to F. W. Terwilliger, state conservation department geologist, when he bagged a doe with the firearm during the special deer season Saturday.

Terwilliger, a collector of old guns, dropped his doe with a neck shot from the muzzle-loader at a distance of aboout 40 yards. The gun was manufactured in the 1860's.

Skiing Facilities Expand in Eastern Michigan Area

BAY CITY (AP)—A 50 per cent increase in skiing facilities in the East Michigan area over last season is reported by the East Michigan Tourist Assn.

Officials of the Association said the area will have a total of 21 ski parks, including six new parks, for the coming winter sports season.

The new parks are Houghton Lake Snow Bowl at Houghton Lake, Black Mountain Ski Area between Cheboygan, Onaway and Rogers City, Lovells Winter Playland near Grayling, Gay El Rancho guest ranch and ski club near Gaylord, Silver Beach Ski resort and Woodridge Ski Area, both near Lewiston.

The association said many additions have been made to parks already established.

The entire state will have a total of 60 winter sports parks.

Improvements at East Michigan area parks include:

Sheridan Valley Ski Park at Lewiston —Two new ski slopes, total of seven.

Snowsnake Mountain Ski Park between Clare and Harrison — Larger parking areas and two additional ski runs.

Mio Mountain Ski Park at Mio — New ski lodge and four new slopes.

Griswold Mountain Ski Park at Indian River — Two more ski runs, total of five.

Otsego County Area Ski Village at Waters — A new slope and tow.

Sylvan Knob — Five new slopes, four more tows.

Hunting Violations High in October

LANSING (AP) — Violations of hunting laws accounted for the majority of the 1,162 arrests made by state conservation officers during October, the conservation department reported.

There were 1,136 convictions resulting in fines totaling $20,600, court costs of $8,900 and 197 days in jail sentences.

Major violations included 170 persons arrested for failing to observe waterfowl shooting hours, 166 possessing loaded firearms in automobiles, 116 possessing loaded firearms in motorboats and 93 hunting deer with artificial lights.

New York—The National League had 1,219 home runs in 1956, a mark that fell short of the 1955 record of 1,263.

State's Needs for Young Trees Rising Sharply

LANSING — Michigan's need for young trees is growing so fast that nurseries are having trouble keeping up with the demand.

In the last two years, three Conservation Department nurseries have grown and contracted for about 38 million trees. These are used largely for reforestation work, some for Christmas tree production. Private, federal and college nurseries add heavily to this total.

* * *

The demand has been heavy enough to push Michigan to national leadership in established reforestation acres. The state was the first in the nation to establish plantations on one million acres of state, federal and private lands. This mark was passed in the last year.

Good Guns Not Costly

Make Nice Gifts for Outdoorsmen

By JACK PATTERSON

Now that one of the dullest deer seasons in years has become history we can move on to other things. We'll leave the question of why deer didn't show up where and when they should have to the experts.

PATTERSON

Even the humbuggiest of us couldn't fail to observe that the Christmas shopping season is in full swing. Gasping under an avalanche of promises, exhortations, threats and other inducements to buy from manufacturers, retailers and allied "conspirators," we struggle manfully up for a breath of air and a quick look-see around for things of interest to the outdoorsman.

Looking for bargains at this time of year is at least as sensible as digging for emeralds on Bald Mountain, but in one department, anyway, buyers can't go wrong. Guns are selling at most dealers for a sneeze over cost.

They can't get any cheaper so if somebody in the family needs a new "corn sheller" or "deer misser" this is the time to take action. Don't look for anything new and different, though. Manufacturers aren't very swift to make changes.

Outdoor clothing manufacturers have made substantial progress in the search for light but warm gear. The prospective buyer is apt to founder in the welter of claims for competing items. There is one thing to remember. No material has any magical heating properties in and of itself. All any clothing can do in the warming department is to slow dissipation of the heat your own body provides. Some materials do this better than others, depending upon the amount of trapped air, a good insulator, it can hold. Some furs and waterfowl down do the best job. Wool and synthetic fibers come next and even cotton is now being woven in a special manner to do a good insulating job.

Any of the various brands of insulated underwear including cotton will be of immense value to the cold weather sportsman, but the user should be aware of such items' limitations. Anything that will keep you warm, while you are inactive, in sub-zero weather is going to boil you when you're moving in moderate weather. So don't expect miracles.

We have found that a set of insulated underwear, covered with a nylon parka and pants, and insulated boots will keep us warm in the duck blind or at the ice-fishing hole, whatever the cold, but Heaven help us if we have to walk a quarter mile in that rig in any weather.

Most of this stuff is made in women's sizes and if you have to take the better half along on your expeditions she'll be easier to get along with if she's warm. If she doesn't like the outdoors, buy the stuff for her anyway, but in your size.

Unlimited Perch Fishing Proposed

LANSING (AP) — An experimental fishing regulation under which anglers could take an unlimited number of perch through the ice at Houghton Lake will be discussed at the Dec. 13-14 conservation commission meeting in Lansing.

Conservation department fisheries workers have recommended that the commission remove limits from perch caught at Houghton Lake this winter.

Fish experts said the lake has a tremendous population of perch about four inches long. They feel that unlimited fishing would end overpopulation and increase the size of the fish.

The commission is also scheduled to consider acquisition of 833 acres of hunting lands and two public fishing sites.

Public hunting lands earmarked for purchase include 390 acres in the southern part of Garden Island in Charlevoix county and 160 acres adjoining Hardwood State Forest in Cheboygan county.

Also marked for acquisition are 215 acres at Rose Lake Wildlife experiment station in Clinton County, 78 acres at the Maple River State Game Area, Gratiot County and 40 acres at the Lapeer State Game Area, Lapeer County.

The proposed public fishing sites are on the Grand River, East of Grand Haven in Ottawa County and on Portage Lake in Houghton County.

South Viet Nam Appeals to U.N.

Asks Body to Condemn Reds in North Viet Nam for Crushing Revolt

WASHINGTON (INS) — South Viet Nam has launched an international campaign for United Nations condemnation of Communist North Viet Nam in wake of the Red regime's crushing of an abortive fight for freedom.

Largely unnoticed in the upsurge of world events centered in Hungary and the Middle East, the northern half of the divided southeast Asian nation has been the scene of recent revolts.

South Viet Nam, in a formal note to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, has charged the Communists with a "bloody and inhuman repression against the populations of numerous localities who have risen against them."

The Vietnamese embassy said the first protest is being followed by a second — expected to be presented to Hammarskjold within the next 24 hours.

THREAT TO PEACE

In asking for U.N. condemnation, the Saigon government said that the situation represents "a threat to peace and . . . a serious breach of the basic freedoms guaranteed by the universal declaration of human rights and by the United Nations' charter."

An embassy official said the second note is a "complaint by 300,000 free Vietnamese" against Communist excesses in the northern half of their divided nation.

The Vietnamese embassy said the government is pressing the U. N. for "immediate action" to force North Viet Nam to permit citizens in their area the right of free movement to the southern half of the country.

The 1954 Geneva agreement, which partitioned Viet Nam, provided for this right, but it has been largely ignored by the Communists in the northern half.

The Saigon government, however, expects only a perfunctory acknowledgement of its notes. It has now instructed the embassy to push for a formal resolution before the U.N. assembly.

This probably will be introduced by the Philippines.

At the same time, the Vietnamese government is circulating copies of its note of condemnation to the Bandung powers — India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia; to the SEATO powers, and to "all nations" which are friendly to South Viet Nam.

An embassy official said, with some feeling, that his government is asking the U. N. to consider the fate of the North Vietnamese even as it has "taken into consideration the fate of the Poles and Hungarians."

Quote Paul Robeson in Red Newspapers

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow newspapers have published an interview with singer Paul Robeson expressing his warm greetings and best wishes to the Soviet Union and the Soviet people.

The stories said Robeson was interviewed in New York by 10 Soviet correspondents. The singer, speaking both in English and Russian, told the correspondents he still hopes to obtain a passport to make foreign concert tours since he had "practically no opportunity to appear" on American stages.

The singer has refused to file a non-Communist affidavit in pressing his attempts to obtain a passport.

3-Month Report Shows Increase in Rental Units

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Census Bureau has reported "evidence" of an increase in available vacant dwelling units but said they are located mostly outside of metropolitan areas.

A quarterly report showed that the vacancy rate rose from 2.3 per cent of the total housing supply in the July-September period of 1955 to 2.8 per cent in the comparable months of this year.

Housing Units Labeled Unsafe

Combustible Fiber Used as Insulation for Homes in Muskegon Area

MUSKEGON (AP) — Area police and fire officials stated that more than 200 families in Muskegon and neighboring counties may be in grave danger of death by fire in their homes.

The families occupy former government housing project units which were sold and moved from Muskegon when the government relinquished ownership after June, 1954.

The units were believed relocated in parts of Muskegon, Ottawa and Oceana counties by individual owners.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION

Officials said it is described as a balsam wood fiber material chemically treated to resist combustion.

Sheriff-elect Arthur Davis said: "I have been personally convinced of this terrible danger for some time . . . I don't know what can be done about this situation from point of view of condemnation for fire hazard . . ."

He said the state fire marshal's office reported there was no basis for condemnation, since there was no claim that the insulating material ever had been represented as fireproof.

Muskegon Fire Chief Leonard Bailke said:

"Persons living in these makeshift homes should be put on notice immediately as to the unsafe nature of this insulation and of the fact that its presence can contribute to the rapid spread of flames once fire started . . ."

He said other factors also contributed to fire danger in the units, which he termed "literally tinderboxes." Hazards cited by Bailke included wiring, heating arrangements, lack of firewalls and inadequate exits from sleeping quarters.

Court Tosses Out Suit for Damages in Tavern Death

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A $50,000 damage suit filed after Louis Angoff drank 16 martinis and dropped dead has been thrown out of Montgomery County Common Pleas Court.

Judge Charles Lee Mills ruled: While it is illegal under state law to sell liquor to an intoxicated person, the bartender would have been responsible for damages only if he had been issued an order by the State Department of Liquor Control not to serve Angoff.

Angoff collapsed in front of the bar last Aug. 7 after winning a bet that he could drink 16 martinis in less than two hours.

Would-Be Suicide Spends 15 Hours Inside Crater

TOKYO (AP) — A desperate Japanese Romeo crawled to safety Tuesday after spending 15 hours inside the smouldering crater of Mt. Mihara, Japan's suicide mountain 50 miles southwest of Tokyo. His illicit sweetheart was believed dead.

The couple were Tsuenyoshi Nakashima, 29-year-old farmer, married and the father of two children, and Yoshiko Onigata, a 26-year-old waitress. They decided their love was hopeless and double suicide the only way open to them.

They jumped into the smoking crater at noon Monday. A tourist who saw them called the police. Two policemen were lowered into the crater and found Nakashima on a lava cliff 1,800 feet down. Sulphur fumes and failing light forced them to leave him there at nightfall.

Early yesterday the farmer managed to climb out. He said he had tried to complete the suicide but "the faces of my babies loomed in front of my eyes. I became desperate and madly scaled the rocks."

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Penn Railroad Head Asks Train Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Pennsylvania Railroad cited the Suez Canal crisis in arguing that railroads should be given tax relief to keep them strong enough to handle emergencies.

James M. Symes, the Pennsylvania president, said railroads are under such heavy economic pressure to reduce facilities that "today we could not help to handle the volume of traffic we were called upon to handle in World War II."

The transportation industry seeks repeal of a 10 per cent tax on passenger fares, 3 per cent on general freight, 4 cents a ton on shipments of coal, and 4½ per cent on petroleum products moved through pipelines.

Eden Recouping Health, Vigor, Reports Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica (INS) — Plenty of privacy, leisure and sunshine have given ailing Sir Anthony Eden a tanned and healthy look at the end of the first week of his enforced vacation.

The British prime minister, who came to Jamica to recover from "severe overstrain," has been resting at the luxurious home of author-traveler Ian Fleming on the island's Gold Coast.

The house is closely guarded by two Scotland Yard men and a squad of local police. Newspapermen and photographers have not been allowed within several hundred yards of the Eden hideaway.

The Prime Minister's only visitors during his first week on Jamaica was Gov. Sir Hugh Mackintosh Foot and his wife.

Sir Anthony and Mrs. Eden have spent most of their time swimming and sun-bathing. The prime minister went lobster catching one day.

Whether Sir Anthony has been in close touch with London about developments in the Middle East is a closely guarded secret.

Up to the present, there has not been the slightest indication that the prime minister intends to return to London before his prescribed three-week rest period has been completed.

WASHINGTON (INS) — The American Red Cross has announced the appropriation of one million dollars more for the care and feeding of Hungarian refugees.

The amount is in addition to the $300,000 already allocated by the organization for Hungarian aid.

Red Cross President Ellsworth Bunker said that $100,000 of the new funds is being made available immediately to the League of Red Cross societies in Geneva to meet critical requirements for food and other supplies.

Invasion by British Hurts Commonwealth

LONDON (AP)—Premier Solomon Bandaranaike of Ceylon said Tuesday India, Pakistan and Ceylon considered quitting the British Commonwealth at one stage during the Suez Canal crisis.

He told a news conference that the British - French invasion of Egypt resulted in strong feeling.

His statement recalled one similar in tone made by Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson last week. Pearson said the invasion of Egypt brought the Commonwealth at one point near dissolution.

Bandaranaike praised the French - British decision to withdraw and hinted he felt it would go a long way toward healing the breach.

Bandaranaike, on his way home after attending United Nations sessions in New York, said he felt the authority of the United Nations would be greatly strengthened by "its ordeal in Egypt" and the British decision to withdraw.

The premier declared also that the United States has "greatly enhanced its prestige in Asia by its attitude" during the Egyptian crisis.

He said Ceylon condemns Russia's intervention in Hungary as much as it deplores the British-French attack on Egypt.

Report Malenkov, Pals Working in Budapest

LONDON (AP)—A confidential report to Western diplomats from Moscow speculates that Georgi Malenkov, Mikail Suslov and Gen. Ivan Serov may be in Budapest helping to crush the Hungarian rebellion.

Suslov, second to Nikita Khrushchev in the Communist party hierarchy, was last seen in public Nov. 9. Serov, secret police chief, hasn't been seen in the Soviet capital since Oct. 18.

U.S. Air Force in Britain to Respect Gas Pinch

LONDON (INS) — The British government reports that U.S. Air Force authorities have promised to save precious fuel in the gasoline rationing period scheduled to begin Dec. 17.

A government spokesman told the House of Lords that the Air Force is making significant savings in both aviation fuel and gasoline for ground use.

Battle for Freedom in Budapest

Children, Civilians Learn War Under Fire

(This is the third of six articles in which an American reporter tells the story — in its terrible, pathetic and heroic detail — of the Battle of Budapest, the tremendous and spontaneous fight for freedom from Soviet repression that erupted Oct. 23 and has cost tens of thousands of lives.)

By KATHERINE CLARK
INS Staff Writer

"The trick in knocking out a tank is to get close enough. It's always a problem of getting close enough so you can throw your cocktail and make it pay."

This was a 17-year-old boy talking, grimly giving instruction in the art of war at a street corner in embattled Budapest to a teenage girl in heavy ski pants and woolen jacket. It was the third day of Budapest's glorious revolution. The "cocktail" was a wine bottle filled with gasoline, rags stuffed in the neck — a "Molotov cocktail."

After as little as 10 minutes instruction in handling a gasoline incendiary bomb, a grenade or a machinegun, girls like this one went out to do battle with Soviet tanks. Many were cut down or torn apart by Russian machinegun or 100-millimeter tank gun fire.

In the first phase of Hungary's revolution against 11 years of Communist tyranny — from Oct. 23 through a tragically momentary victory on Oct. 31 — children of all ages and men and women who had never touched a gun learned their lessons under fire.

Many of these civilians fought their way into the Hungarian Army's Killian Barracks on the west side of the River Danube in the first days of the revolution, then fought with the army against a siege laid down by Soviet tanks coming into Budapest by the hundreds.

There were some 1,000 soldiers and civilians, including children, in the barracks when the Soviet tanks attacked. And they were led and their resistance was rallied successfully in the face of overwhelming odds, by a then unknown young colonel named Pal Maleter.

This was the "Alamo" of the revolution. For six days the soldiers and civilians countered Soviet tank and artillery fire with small arms fire and "Molotov cocktails."

The scene around the barracks at the end of the first siege bore witness to their fantastic success — at least 10 Soviet tanks burned out, hundreds of Red army soldiers stretched out dead on the streets.

Not all of the invading Russian troops fought the Hungarians. Some couldn't stomach the slaughter of civilians, and deserted, turning their weapons over to the freedom fighters.

The Soviet commanders turned increasingly brutal in the face of Red Army desertions, mass Hungarian Army defections to the side of the patriots and the patriot resistance itself. Hungarian soldiers and civilians were hung in the streets from flagpoles and street lights.

Still the Russians couldn't put down the revolution. This was a force they couldn't understand. Day after day during this week they claimed, "the counter-revolution has ended." And at that very moment, behind a cobble stone barricade in the rubble of a battered tenement, a beautiful Hungarian University student 18 or 19 years old, scrawled battle assignments for a small patriot army of rags and tatters.

The Hungarian government of Premier Imre Nagy made concession after concession, promised to let imprisoned Josef Cardinal Mindszenty return to Budapest in triumph and pleaded for an end to the strife that had crimsoned the streets of the once-beautiful capital.

But Nagy could not guarantee what the freedom fighters wanted most — the end of all Russian influence in Hungary.

And in Budapest the patriot's resistance was immeasurably bolstered by reports coming in from the provinces.

"Miskolc (the country's second largest industrial city, near the Czech border) is ours . . . and independent patriots' government has been set up in Gyor . . ." cast their triumph from radio Rebels took control and broadstations in Pecs and other important cities.

Finally, on Oct. 31, Budapest radio broadcast: "Please, please stop. You have won. Your demands will be met." The Russians announced they would negotiate withdrawal of Soviet troops. The rebels were in practically complete control of Budapest and much of the country.

The revolution was over on Oct. 31 — or seemed so — but as I toured the city that day I saw the kind of "mopping up" that is the heritage of every revolution.

Despite efforts of Hungarian soldiers to maintain order, rebel bands roaming the streets halted vehicles and pedestrians and, unless the persons questioned could identify themselves satisfactorily, they were shot to death on the spot as suspected members of the dread security police—"The Avos."

In one square lay the burned bodies of ten "Avos." In another, the body of a police colonel dangled from a tree.

But there was also the pure joy of freedom. As the Soviet troops and tanks moved out, the clergy and faithful gave a tearful and triumphant welcome to Cardinal Mindszenty.

Atop Gellert Hill, scene of some of the most vicious fighting, rebels were firing a captured cannon at a huge statue to Soviet war dead.

Earlier in the day I was watching a bitter fight between some young rebels and some "Avos." At one point, when the police fire was especially vicious, I ducked behind an ambulance and started to run away.

I did not get very far. An elderly man stopped me. Bowing from the waist he said: "Madam, please let me thank you as a representative of the now free Hungarian people."

I will never know what he thanked me for. But I did not run any more.

Although the patriots were now exacting vengeance, the conduct of the rebels previously had been remarkable for its restraint. There was practically no looting. Jewelry windows were smashed by gun fire but no one took the jewelry waiting to be grabbed.

When rebels took food from shops at night, they often left money to pay for it, with lists of what had been taken. The young, who might have been expected to loot after living under the austerity of Communism, did not.

Now the teen-agers who had fought with guns and hands had a new task. Graves had been — or still had to be — dug for the patriotic dead in parks and gardens. The children, still clutching machine guns and rifles, stood guard over their fallen brethren.

(Next: Sunday of despair and death, Nov. 4th)

Seven U. S. Presidents were native sons of Ohio. They were Garfield, Hayes, Grant, Harrison, Taft, McKinley and the most recent, Warren G. Harding.

Labor Party's Heckles Crack Composure

Lloyd Flustered Explaining Withdrawal

LONDON (AP) — John Selwyn Lloyd rose in the House of Commons this week to announce a humiliating decision — the withdrawal of British troops from Egypt.

As he read from his prepared statement, a red glow spread over his face. Labor party hecklers interrupted him — and the veteran of thousands of public speeches lost his place in his manuscript.

Probably nothing in public life has shaken the 52-year-old foreign secretary as have events of the last four weeks.

His icy composure has cracked. His lawyer's tongue has slipped. The confidence that some foreign diplomats had in him has been strained. To many, he has seemed to be a man who misses on-the-spot guidance from his mentor, the absent Prime Minister Eden.

Most thoughtful Britons consider Lloyd a brilliant chief of staff rather than a supreme commander who can create policy. He has a keen mind, an ability to grasp and sort out detail. He has patience, tenacity of character and a great capacity for work. But he has yet to show the imaginative qualities that make a great foreign minister.

One reason could be that Eden, with his abiding interest and long background in foreign affairs, tended to overshadow him, and some say second-guess him, in international affairs.

Lloyd has felt deeply the failures of British government policy in recent weeks. He is used to success.

The son of a Liverpool doctor, he went to Cambridge University, studied law and became a judge. He joined the army as a private, left as a brigadier.

He was the first Conservative backbencher Sir Winston Churchill called to high office after the Conservative election victory in 1951.

He represented Britain at the United Nations and won an accolade from the late Andrei Vishinsky of Soviet Russia: "The young Englishman, he's tough."

Eden made him minister of supply in 1954, six months later gave him Cabinet rank as minister of defense, then last December put him in the Foreign Ministry.

Lloyd has a 29-year-old wife who was once his secretary, and a daughter. He is portly, plays a poorish game of golf, likes an occasional movie, and has few interests other than his job. He lacks color and makes little impact on the people, although foreign diplomats find him vigorous and cordial.

His politica chestnuts may still be yanked from the Suez fires, with damage minimized. Government spokesmen in the House have been careful lately to emphasize that although Eden is absent he is still taking prime responsibility for calling signals.

Officials to Vote on Rule Change

Work to Change Clause Hamstringing Action by City Commission

Pontiac city commissioners are working toward eliminating the loopholes of a self-imposed 1954 Commission rule which restricts who may call for reconsideration of a settled question.

They gave notice that next week an amendment to the two-year-old rule would be voted on, allowing, if adopted, any commissioner voting on the majority side of a question to ask for reconsideration.

"This present rule leaves questions hanging in the air," City Attorney William A. Ewart warned last night. "Where would it land if all voted negative," he questioned.

The matter arose last week when Mayor William W. Donaldson sought to bring back a proposed used auto parts ordinance which had been defeated by a 4 to 3 vote a week earlier. Donaldson had voted against its passage.

Commissioners Floyd P. Miles challenged the motion and asked for the reading of the Commission Rules.

The mayor explained in a meeting last night that under the second stipulation of the proposed amendment, the ordinance cannot reappear unless it is re-introduced as a new ordinance.

The second requirement is that the question must be reconsidered the night of the vote or at the next succeeding meeting.

Fire Spurs Driver

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—A passing motorist spotted the smoke from a truck trailer and signaled driver John Bandimier of Denver 12 miles east of town. Bandimier chose to race here rather than try to fight the blaze alone. On the way, Highway Patrolman Ray Sullivan spotted the smoking vehicle and radioed ahead to alert firemen. They met it on the outskirts of town and quickly extinguished the blaze. A defective heater was blamed.

Liz's 'Friendship Ring' Is Insured for $85,000

By EARL WILSON

Jimmy Durante, opening at the Copacabana, cracked: "I been playin' this club for yizz and yizz and I'm gonna keep on playin' it—till they pay me."

He declined to do one song, claiming it was "double intended" material, so his writer, Jackie Barnett, who came here from Hollywood, sang it. Liz Taylor, wearing her friendship ring from Mike Todd (which is insured for $85,000) was in the mob and I asked her about going back to work again.

JUDY AND SYDNEY

She's never working again, she insisted.

"I'll only work for him," she said, nodding toward Mike. "Doing what?" I inquired. "Whatever!" she answered, blissfully—and beautifully.

Judy Holliday in real life is much, much closer to handsome leading man Sydney Chaplin than she is in their musical, "Bells Are Ringing"—and that's pretty close. They're both talented and pretty people and we hope they have as much fun privately as they'll be giving audiences publicly . . . Ex-Miss America Bess Myerson and her husband went quietly back together, burying past differences.

Landlords relax! Marilyn Monroe got her apartment and moves in at once. Place is a secret . . . Yul Brynner, most romantic bald-headed man in the world, and his wife, pretty Virginia Gilmore, are reported to have reached an arrangement to live mostly apart.

Danny Kaye'll probably have his own TV show in a year or two, with his CBS "See It Now" show having been his first real try. He traveled five months in 14 countries filming kids for UNICEF. He met Tito and other heads of states and filmed them, but they never talked politics. "Kids aren't political," he says.

ANNETTE

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Judy Garland will take part of her Palace cast to London after the local run . . . Katharine Hepburn was offered a percentage of "The Rainmaker" to help publicize it; she turned it down . . . Memphis censored the Eli Wallach-Carroll Baker love scenes from "Baby Doll" . . . Singer Annette Warren won a statewide contest and will give a YWCA-sponsored concert . . . Elvis will buy his parents a 150G farm . . . Hairdresser Ernie Adler is writing his autobiog, "The Comb and the Stars."

Earl's Pearls . . .

This is the season when a bachelor has to decide which he'd rather have—no buttons on his shirts or no hands in his pockets.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Judy Tyler mentions a Broadway character who's such a zero personality that he doesn't even have a blood type.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: In some parts of the country, notes Bob Barksdale, Christmas shopping starts so early that Santa comes in wearing Bermuda shorts.

Phil Silvers ok'd the appearance of Joe E. Ross (of the Sgt. Bilko show) on Steve Allen's NBC-TV'er. "Go ahead, kid," Phil said, "—I don't think it'll hurt CBS." . . . That's earl, brother.

Propose Limit on Trucking

Idea Would Restrict Heavy Vehicles in State on Sunday

ESCANABA (AP) — A ban on heavy trucking — except perishables — on Sundays and holidays was asked by the Upper Peninsula Assn. of Supervisors yesterday.

The association, which represents all 15 Upper Michigan counties, discussed what was called a heavier than normal number of trucks on crowded area highways on Sundays and holidays.

Meeting for its second annual conclave, the group suggested that Michigan follow the lead of Minnesota and Wisconsin in the trucking ban. Various delegates said trucks were creating traffic jams on the highway system.

They said that more trucks seemed to be on the highways over weekends and holidays than during normal weekdays.

The association also asked for a permissive act from the state legislature to allow county highway departments to plow rural driveways after winter snow storms. It was pointed out in discussion that most departments do so on a fee basis anyway, but that legislative action was needed to forestall any legal complications in case of accidents.

In other action, the supervisors refused to oppose school district consolidation. It had been requested that they join with a protest movement in Lower Michigan against consolidation.

The supervisors asked the legislature for more state assistance to the care of afflicted persons. They also tabled a proposal by Iron County's board of supervisors to increase supervisors' pay from $10 to $20 daily.

John La Haie of St. Ignace was elected new association president. Arvo Wakevainen of Houghton was chosen first vice president. James A. Sties, Menominee mayor, was elected second vice president.

Berrien Springs Girl Named Apple Queen

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A student nurse from Berrien Springs, Janet Bixby, 18, has been named Michigan Apple Queen as part of the Michigan State Horticultural Society convention which opened yesterday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Bixby, Berrien Springs apple growers, and a recent winner of the Michigan 4H Dress Review contest, Miss Bixby was named from a field of seven candidates last night.

Second runnerup was Ruth Ann Rahn, Scottville High School senior who represented Mason County.

Ban Jeans on Girls

Hollywood Headlines

Jayne's Friend Mickey Gets 'Rock Hunter' Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Early today, Jayne Mansfield telephoned that she wanted me to be the first to know that Mickey Hargitay will play her favorite boy friend in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" which goes before the cameras in about a week.

"I think so," she said.

Frank Tashlin, the director-producer of "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?", thinks that Mickey's test was excellent and that he will be very good.

Jayne has to make "Wayward Bus" first, and a very interesting young man named Victor Vicas is up for director.

He was born in Moscow, but he's no Commie. He left Russia when he was six weeks old and served in the American Army and is an American citizen and has a long list of accomplishments in this country.

A NEW CHAPTER

All you people who worry over heart attacks you've had or expect to have, let me tell you about Lee J. Cobb, who is starting a whole new hopeful chapter in his life since his serious heart attack a year ago.

Furthermore, he says he is going to be remarried, but since there is a divorce involved he won't name the girl. Promise, Lee, to tell me first!

While dining at La Rue with Lydia and Rossano Brazzi, he told me: "After two years of negotiation it's a dream come true for me to play in 'South Pacific' next July.

"The dream was not originally mine. It was given me by two young Americans, Gene Lerner and Hank Kaufman, who wrote Dick Rodgers in '54 to say I was the only actor who would fulfill the role of De Becque.

"They developed my career and my voice with that one thought in mind. These two Americans are now my personal managers.

"The boys secretly arranged an audition for me 17 months ago when I was in New York for personal appearances with 'Sammertime.' That was the most frightening day of my life. But I am happy to say that Dick Rodgers decided I was able to sing the role.

"No one in the world knows more than you do about the ups and downs of careers, Lydia and I have had some bad moments and difficult years, but today I only feel gratitude for my many blessings—particularly for the love and understanding of Lydia and for the faith and the dreams of two American boys."

FAVORITE ACTRESS

The fair-haired lady in the life of MGM director Herman Hoffman is Anne Francis, who has made two pictures with him and is about to start on her third, "The Mystery of Misty Creek," which is an offbeat Western originally published in the Saturday Evening Post.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The car in which Louis (Maxim's) Vaudable and Countess de Clade Volko were driving from Palm Springs turned over three times. By a miracle both escaped with minor bruises.

It's a boy for the Jimmy Lydons, born at the Santa Monica Hospital. Remember him as Henry Aldrich on radio and in pictures?

Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas wire me that they are holding a seat for the opening of Ethel Merman and Fernando's play, "Happy Hunting," Thursday. Sorry, wish I could make it. Arlene sent me the out-of-town press clippings which are just great.

'Phased Withdrawal' Planned for Eden?

LONDON (AP) — Columnist Randolph Churchill wrote today that Prime Minister Anthony Eden, now resting in Jamaica from overstrain, is making a "phased withdrawal" from office.

"It is most unlikely that Sir Anthony will ever resume his full political functions as head of the government," the son of former Prime Minister wrote. Support for the Eden government declined on Nov. 5 when it ordered a cease fire in Egypt and again Nov. 19 when it decided on the question of withdrawing from Port Said which was announced yesterday.

"After the second incident," said Churchill, "he was in a nervous and agitated state. He expressed a desire to resign forthwith."

The columnist added that other Cabinet ministers persuaded Eden that an abrupt resignation would split the party, and that a gradual stepdown was decided upon.

Recover Second Body in Manistee Lake

MANISTEE (AP) — The body of Robert L. Neuman, 22, of Manistee, was recovered yesterday from Manistee Lake here where he and a companion died in a fishing trip mishap.

State Police and conservation officers had dragged the lake since Monday, when the body of Lester Schultz, 42, Neuman's companion, was found near the edge of the lake with a capsized boat nearby in the water.

Police said Schultz apparently made his way ashore but died of exposure while Neuman sank in the lake. The two had borrowed a boat for their Sunday fishing trip.

Holland has about 2,000 miles of canals and about 3,000 additional miles of navigable rivers and channels.

No Country Is Safe From Missile Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy has commissioned a ship described as the forerunner of a fleet capable of firing guided missiles to "any point on the face of the globe."

The ship is packed with navigational instruments. Her function will be to provide precise navigational information. The Compass Island will team with other vessels that will actually fire the missiles.

About 98 per cent of the white population of New Zealand is said to be of English ancestry.

Trading Active, Grains Unstable

CHICAGO (AP) — In another wild market with very active dealings grains started out firm and then became highly erratic on the board of trade today.

Soybeans again led in activity. After their 10 cent plunge of the previous session, they opened with gains running to a couple of cents. These were soon given up and most contracts dropped below the previous closing level.

Other grains also mostly opened with gains, only to retreat as a renewal of selling hit the pits. Old crop wheat was unable to hold on to its initial upturn. Lard futures also were aggressively sold, dropping under the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ lower to ⅞ higher, December $2.36¼, corn unchanged to ¾ higher, December $1.32¼, Oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December 76⅛. Rye ¼ lower to 1 cent higher, December $1.42¾, Soybeans 1 cent lower to 1½ higher, January $2.49, and lard 20 lower to 13 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $15.40.

Area Man Mute Upon Arraignment

Charged with manslaughter in the auto death July 6 of Joseph A. Champion, of Waterford Township, another Waterford Township resident stood mute in Oakland County Circuit Court Tuesday.

Harold D. Melton, 24, of 1312 Scott Lake Rd., is free on $500 bond awaiting trial on the charge. Judge Clark J. Adams entered a plea of innocent for him.

Investigating Waterford Township police said Melton's car failed to stop for a stop sign at Scott Lake and Pontiac Lake roads. He is charged with being under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident.

Earnings

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (INS) — Rohr Aircraft Corp. reports sales in its first quarter ending Oct. 31 of $23,649,511, compared with $19,702,524 in the same period of 1955. Net earnings rose to $882,489, or 98 cents a share, from $650,174, or 72 cents a share. The backlog of orders on Nov. 1 amounted to $195 million compared with $127 million a year earlier.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (INS) — Sales of Max Factor & Co. reached a record $23,365,000 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, a rise of 11 per cent from 1955. Net earnings were $1,993,326, or 94 cents a share, only a slight gain from last year's $1,975,354, or 93 cents.

CLEVELAND (INS) — Chesapeake & Ohio Railway net income in November reached $5,718,000, equal to 70 cents a common share, as against $5,204,000, or 65 cents a share, a year ago. Gross amounted to $34,948,000, up about a million from November, 1955.

Investigate Breakins of 3 Empty Cottages

Three breakins of unoccupied cottages located on the same White Lake Township street were being investigated today by Oakland County detectives.

Nothing was known to have been taken in the burglaries of neighboring homes on Big J Drive.

Entry in each case was reportedly gained by breaking the glass in a door in order to unlock it.

Toastmasters Club Holds Meeting at 'Y'

The regular meeting of the Toastmasters Club No. 643 was held in the Green Room at the YMCA last night.

Toastmaster for the evening was Morris Decker, and he was supported by three members who gave short addresses before the group.

Two new members were elected into the organization. They were Don Frayer and Morrie Tubergen.

Key Stocks Edge Upward

NEW YORK (AP)— Most issues improved a little in fairly active stock market trading early today.

Key stocks went ahead from fractions to around a point. There was a scattering of small losers.

Most pivotal steels were on the upside after yesterday's spate of profit-taking in this division. Oils improved again. Small gains appeared among some leading rails and motors.

Brokers said that after yesterday's consolidation of gains posted in the strong rise of the previous two sessions, the market may be getting ready for a traditional year end rise. Increases in personal income, rail income and record consumption of electric power were bullish news items.

Youngstown was up more than a point, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem fractions as steels recovered. Chrysler and Ford made small gains.

Boeing and Douglas Aircraft rose major fractions. Dow Chemical was up a point or so, Union Carbide a major fraction.

Edging off were Goodyear, Goodrich, Du Pont, American Smelting, Southern Railway and Paramount.

Among opening blocks were U.S. Steel up ⅝ at 70¾ on 3,000 shares, Gulf Oil up ⅝ at 111½ on 1,000, Boeing up ¾ at 60¾ on 3,500 and Sinclair up ½ at 63¾ on 2,000.

Only 4¾ feet high, the Cruiser has roof-level, fresh air intakes and a power-operated retractable rear window. The car also boasts "Quadri-Beam" headlamps, two under each front fender hood. The Cruiser will be available in two-door and four-door hardtop models.

Court Hears Burial Details

The prosecutor told the jurors yesterday that Mrs. Latham was kidnaped and left to die, covered by rocks in a shallow grave, by two women who hoped to get possession of $7,000.

Dep. Dist. Atty. William Low said Mrs. Latham, 52, was abducted from her expensive Sunset Cliffs home Sept. 12 so she could not appear at a hearing of a civil action involving the $7,000 the next day.

Low said she was kidnaped after $1,000 of that amount was offered to Leo Kelly, a former policeman, to "rough up and get out of town" Mrs. Latham's husband George. Kelly refused.

On trial on charges of kidnaping and attempting to murder Mrs. Latham are Mrs. Beatrice Winn, 57, and Mrs. Lucille Whisenand, 36. Both pleaded innocent.

The prosecutor said in his opening statement that Mrs. Winn told Kelly she hoped, if Latham could be kept away from the hearing, to get the $7,000. She then offered Kelly $1,000, Low said.

The Lathams and Mrs. Winn were engaged in a civil suit over interests in a building material company.

Low said that Mrs. Whisenand, a U.S. customs clerk at the Mexican border, went to the Latham home Sept. 12 and kidnaped Mrs. Latham at knife point and under threat of harm to an infant grandson. The baby was not harmed.

Low said Mrs. Latham was bound and gagged after a struggle and taken in a panel truck, apparently to a vacant house owned by Mrs. Winn in Chula Vista. He said Mrs. Latham later was transferred to the trunk of an automobile and taken to the desert in Imperial County.

Low said the two assailants forced Mrs. Latham to sign papers and check forms stolen from her home.

Mrs. Latham told police she freed herself from hand and foot bonds, pushed away the rocks and struggled to U.S. Highway 80, where a passing motorist found her Sept. 14.

Escapes With Bruises as Car Rolls Over

A Van Dyke man received minor bruises when the car he was riding in went off the road and overturned in Oxford Township last night.

Howard K. Lane, 30, of 8225 Packard Rd., was released after treatment at Pontiac General Hospital. He was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Mervin Phillips, 27, of 7259 Ford Rd., Van Dyke.

Phillips could not explain why his car went out of control on Lakeville road when questioned by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Nab 2 City Juveniles

Two Pontiac boys, both juveniles, were turned over to parents last night after their arrests, Pontiac police said, in an automobile reported stolen a few hours earlier.

Both boys were to appear before juvenile authorities today, police said. The car was not damaged.

Turnpike Cruiser to Cost $3,500

Mercury's 'Dream Car' to Make Debut Saturday

DETROIT (AP) — Mercury Division's new Turnpike Cruisers, to be shown for the first time at the National Automobile Show starting Saturday in New York, will have suggested list prices of $3,415 for the two-door and $3,500 for the four-door model.

The Turnpike Cruisers, however, include as standard equipment, numerous features like automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, power retracting rear window and "quadri-beam" dual headlamps.

The newest of the Mercury line, heretofore described as a "dream" car, has a windshield which curves upward as well as around; a power-operated retractable rear window, roof level air intakes, a 290-horsepower engine, with 9.75 to 1 compression ratio and keyboard control placed at the left of the steering column.

MANY INSTRUMENTS

Instrument panel equipment includes a tachometer to measure engine revolutions and a clock that automatically computes elapsed time and miles traveled. The new model comes in two-door and four-door types, both of hardtop design.

The Turnpike Cruiser is equipped with dual headlamps placed horizontally under wide hoods on each front fender. Turn signals and parking lights are recessed in the fenders over the dual headlamps.

V-angle taillights are integrated into sculptured Mercury side projectiles which extend forward along the upper portion of the rear fenders and the side of the body.

* * *

The car has air-cushion rear suspension, and full-cushion shock absorbers. Power equipment includes steering, brakes, windows and seat adjustment. In the latter instance the seat moves forward, back, up or down automatically when the driver's desired seat position is dialed on the instrument panel.

The Turnpike Cruiser has an overall length of 17½ feet.

County CD Officials Get Leader Training

Some 50 Civil Defense officials from all parts of Oakland County attended a class today on the registration and information branch of Civil Defense preparedness.

Those attending will return to their communities and serve as instructors on the subject, according to Lewis C. Jarrendt, county Civil Defense director.

11-Year-Old Killed on First Baby-Sit Job

AMHERSTBURG, Ont. (AP) — Police said an 11-year-old girl on her first baby-sitting job was shot to death last night by one of four children she was minding.

Bernadotte Catherine Ewaschuk fell dead in the living room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terrence Lyons.

The children range in age from 11 months to nine years. The girl was reported holding the infant in her arms when the blast caught her in the head.

Police said one of the children found a 12-gauge shotgun and started playing with it. The baby-sitter was reported to have told the child to put down the weapon just before it discharged.

Jordan Accents Arabian Unity

Parliament Asks Iraq to Begin Withdrawal From Pro-Western Pact

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Stressing Arab unity, Jordan's Parliament has called on Iraq to pull out of the pro-Western Baghdad Pact.

The legislators voted to send a message to King Faisal of Iraq asking him to abandon the alliance linking Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain.

Iraq, the only Arab member of Baghdad Pact, has refused to attend any meetings attended by Britain since the British - French attack on Egypt.

The Iraqi government announced that it would send an air force officer mission to the United States to study and train in techniques of modern air combat under an agreement between the two countries. All previous Iraqi training missions have been sent to Britain.

Two American destroyers will begin a three-day visit to Beirut, Lebanon, tomorrow—the first 6th Fleet warships to call at that port city in more than five months.

Lebanon indicated U.S. warships to call at that port city in more than five months.

Lebanon indicated U. S. warships were not exactly welcome shortly after Egypt nationalized the Suez Canal in July and U.S. authorities called off summer visits by 6th Fleet vessels. There was no announcement of what brought about the change in attitude, but presumably the ships' visit is intended as a warning to the dominant pro-Soviet army clique in neighboring Syria.

Governmental Agencies at Work

Start Tight Money Drive to Find Cause and Effect

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-forked drive on tight money — one on part of its cause, the other on part of its effects — is under way today.

One governmental agency aids the move to get people to save more money so it can be lent to those who need to spend.

At almost the same time another governmental agency is making it easier for one set of borrowers, home builders, to find money in a competitive market.

The first could increase the supply of credit, at least for one set of lenders, the commercial banks; the second doesn't.

On the other side of the financial street a group of economists forecasts credit will get still tighter before it gets easier. And consumers themselves, while pushing their installment debt total to a new high, have cut the total amount they owe on their cars.

The net result may be mostly a shifting in the various factors in the tight money situation without any great change in the overall picture. The nation probably will have to get used to living with tight money for some time to come.

The Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. will permit some 13,000 insured commercial banks with about 50 billion dollars in time and savings deposits to raise the interest they pay to savers from the present 2½ per cent limit to 3 per cent, if they wish.

Commercial bankers here welcome this chance to lure savers who have been looking to other places to put their money where the returns are more liberal.

But the commercial banks will watch to see if their new competitive position will needle the mutual savings banks to seek higher rates than the 3 per cent most of them now pay.

To help people find money to borrow, the Federal Housing Administration this week is raising the limit on interest on FHA guaranteed mortgages to 5 per cent. It says this will help home builders to find money. But this may make it still harder to find money for a Veterans Administration guaranteed loan, which is fixed by law at 4½ per cent.

It may be well into next year before there's any real easing of the money situation; 16 economists at a National Industrial Conference Board forum agree. Before that, possibly early in 1957, even tighter conditions will be found, the group believes.

American pioneers believed country which could not grow trees was worthless and for years avoided settling on the prairies, among the most fertile of all farm lands.

Hold Soo Locks Open Until Jan. 1

Late Closing Will Allow Ore Ships to Make Up Time Lost in Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—The Sault Ste. Marie Locks will be kept open until Jan. 1, U. S. Army Engineers announced yesterday. The locks were scheduled to be closed Dec. 12.

In line with a request by the Lake Carriers Assn., the extended freight passage schedule will allow more iron ore from northern mines to be moved to the lower lakes.

The reason was the 70 days of ore carrying lost in midsummer due to strikes. Steel making, depending on the northern ore, is now operating at close to 100 per cent capacity.

Col. Peter C. Hyzer, Detroit District engineer, now has the authorization of Brig. Gen. P. D. Berrigan, North Central Division engineer, to keep open the MacArthur lock at the canal. It is the biggest of the four locks.

Meanwhile, in Cleveland, a spokesman for Pittsburgh Steamship Division of U. S. Steel, said the later closing would enable Pittsburgh Steamship to set an all-time ore carrying record.

The Lake Carriers request was made on behalf of Pittsburgh Steamship, which operates the largest Great Lakes fleet—57 boats.

Donald C. Potts, president of Pittsburgh Steamship, said that barring heavy ice conditions, division boats would break the 57-year fleet record. It was previously set Dec. 17, 1899, when the Malietoa took on its last cargo at Two Harbors, Minn., Potts said.

A spokesman for the Army Engineers said 89 million tons of iron ore was sent through the locks in 1955, compared with about 80 million so far this year.

Pittsburgh expects to keep 50 boats in service as long as weather permits.

County Deaths

Baby Boy Olson

WALLED LAKE — Graveside service was held yesterday in Wixom Cemetery for Baby Boy Olson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olson of 2148 North Hoett Rd., who died two hours after birth at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Monday. Officiating at the service was the Rev. John Mulder, and arrangements were by the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home here.

The baby is survived by his parents and six brothers and sisters at home.

Oscar J. Lanctot

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Service for Oscar J. Lanctot, 38, of 1560 Weymouth, will be at 1:30 p. m. Friday from Voorhees-Siple Chapel, Pontiac, with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery. Mr. Lanctot, Oakland County resident for 16 years and member of the Land O' Lakes Racing Assn., died suddenly Monday in Bon Secours Hospital, Detroit.

He is survived by his wife, Wanda M.; a son, Richard G., at home; his mother, Mrs. Wilfred Lanctot of Auburn Heights; three sisters, Mrs. Walter Leschtanski of Alpena, Mrs. Cloud Blackmer of Vassar and Mrs. Gordon Whitney of Rochester; also three brothers, Victor of Pontiac, Henry of Grand Blanc and Thomas Lanctot of Flint.

Set Date for Wixom Incorporation Vote

Meeting yesterday, Oakland County Supervisors reviewed incorporation petitions from the proposed Wixom Village and set Feb. 5 as the date for an incorporation election.

The new village, in Commerce and Novi Townships, would include 9½ square miles and a present population of about 1,400. The territory includes the new Lincoln Division plant of Ford Motor Co.

Supervisors also voted to extended $143,000 in advance funds to nine propised county drain projects, to be used in advance planning and coordinating of the projects.

The proposed drains include the Farmington, Evergreen and Troy interceptor sewers, and the Eight Mile, 10¼ Mile, Artesian, Wrey, Spencer and Rouge River drains.

The board also approved a resolution detailing plans to apply for aid from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency in advancing the money to communities which would participate in the projects. Advances carry no interest and are to be repaid when finances for the total project are settled.

The federal agency has announced it will make such funds available.

Without discussion, supervisors approved a resolution setting aside $9,000 as the salary for a registered civil engineer, who will be hired to oversee the county's building, maintenance and utilities program.

Control of the Knowles Drain was turned over to Madison Heights. Constructed before the incorporation of Madison Heights in 1955, it had been under the jurisdiction of the county Drain Commissioner.

Both leases are for 40 year terms, with 50-year renewal clauses. Road Commission buildings already are constructed on the commission's site, and State Police plan a new building, similar to one recently constructed in Flint, to replace their post now on the Dixie Highway.

The leases were signed for $1 each.

Another lease, giving the city of Pontiac control of the county's Contagious Hospital for 18 months or until the Pontiac General Hospital addition is completed, was approved by supervisors. Details of the lease had previously been released.

Harold K. Schone, chairman of the board's Legislative Committee, reviewed legislation his committee will try to obtain in the next session of the state Legislature.

Measures will include a bill permitting townships to retain costs assessed in township ordinance violations, a bill permitting the county to back local improvement programs, and a bill allowing the formation of a county Department of Public Works.

Supervisors passed a resolution requiring the county dog warden to "make diligent inquiry" to make an annual report to the county Treasurer on a census of unlicensed dogs in the county, including the dog's color and sex, its owner's name, and whether it has a kennel.

The unlicensed dog census previously has been the duty of assessors.

City Likes Rare Delicacies

Pontiac area residents like to tickle their palates with foreign delicacies and the liking is on the increase, local merchants who specialize in rare foods have observed.

Holland hams packed in champagne, Lychee nuts from China and Cuban Guava shells are common items on party store shelves.

There is fried pickled mussels from Spain along with sukiyaki from Japan and roast jumbo squabs in Madeira wine, along with the American people's favorite — Russian caviar.

For those with extreme tastes, Japan supplies the distributors with french fried grasshoppers, and from Mexico, a favorite import is french fried worms. English Cockles (baby snails) and octopus served on a skewer are more items popular with the gourmets.

MARKETS COMPETE

Many of the big super-markets and department stores are devoting whole sections of floor space for their foreign food display.

This is because the competition in import is becoming keener — more individual stores are opening because the American people are demanding more food imports, according to local businessmen.

One Bloomfield Hills store specializes in exotic herbs and honeys' from 35 different countries of the world. Also on the shelves are canned whole quail, partridge, Cornish hen, pheasant and boned goose in red cabbage.

Swiss chocolate candy, French pastries and German mints are the best sellers at this time of year, according to importers. English bisquits and crackers also top the list as Christmas gifts.

* * *

One of the most surprising things to most of the distributors is that the male species buy more rare, imported commodities than women, who prefer the practical everyday food fare.

Treated for Injuries in 2-Car Collision

Cecil D. Linseman, 20, of 8 Lakeville Rd., Oxford, was treated and released for bruised ribs at Pontiac General Hospital last night after his car was in a two-car accident near Oxford last night.

Robert E. Binger, 37, of 2750 Lakeville Rd., Oxford Township, was the driver of the other vehicle involved in the collision on Lakeville road near Hasner road.

He told Oakland County deputies he was making a left turn and did not see the other car coming. Linseman said the Binger car pulled in front of him and he could not avoid piling into it.

Crazed Youth Shoots Woman

Critically Wounds Man, Instantly Kills Passerby in California

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—A trigger-happy son of a retired Army major shot down two strangers yesterday, killing a woman and critically wounding a man.

Elmo Hatton Jr., 21, told Sheriff Melvin Hawley he spun around and chased Ferd B. Hansen, 32, before felling the tire salesman with a car-to-car shot.

Hansen fell out of his car onto the ground and Hatton pumped four more .22-caliber shots into him, the sheriff said.

Just then Mrs. Dorothy Minkel, 56, happened by and was killed by a single shot in the head.

Hansen was given a fair chance to live after seven hours of surgery.

Sheriff Hawley said the young gunman had been discharged from the Air Force after 10 months, much of which time he was under a psychiatrist's care.

The son was taken to the sheriff's office by Elmo Hatton Sr., who retired a year ago from the Army.

Two Youths Missing; Postcard Gives Lead

DETROIT (UP)—Two Stockbridge area farm youths who were reported missing Monday night are believed to be in Chicago. A postcard to a girl friend of one of the youths led state police to that conclusion.

Miss Elaine E. Butler, 19, of Northville Township told officers she received a postcard sent from Chicago by William Phalen Jr., 20, one of the missing youths. The card said:

"Had three months vacation coming so I'm taking a little trip south. The old steamboats are still in my blood. See you soon."

The other missing youth is Robert Simmons, 20, of near Gregory. Both boys have not been seen since Saturday night.

Government Sends UAW to Court for Violation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Charging the United Auto Workers violated federal law by paying for political telecasts out of general union funds, the government cited the union to the Supreme Court.

The argument presented yesterday was challenged by union attorney Joseph L. Rauh Jr. He said the 1954 telecasts did not electioneer for any political candidate. He said they merely stated the union's position.

The case, which reached the high court on an appealed lower court decision, may be settled early in the new year.

Detroit Federal Judge Frank A. Picard dismissed the complaint against the union by holding that the payments for the telecasts were not "expenditures" within the meaning of the law.

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act makes it illegal for corporations or labor unions to make expenditures or contributions in connection with elections for federal office.

J. Lee Rankin, U. S. Solicitor General, told the Supreme Court that the word "expenditures" applied to any political broadcasts paid for by a union out of its general funds.

Justice Black asked Rankin how this law would apply to a newspaper that would advertise in another newspaper for or against a political candidate.

Rankin said he believed that would be a violation of the law as it applied to corporations. He said in response to further questions that a newspaper could editorialize politically all it wanted to in its own columns. But, he said, it could not advertise politically in another paper.

Rankin asked the court to consider the dismissed complaint. Rauh asked that Picard's dismissal be upheld.

Red-Line Mail Floods Hawaii

2,500 Pieces Counted in 2-Month Spot Check by Customs Men

HONOLULU (UP) — A New York City customs official testified yesterday before a Senate committee probing communism that a recent two-month spot check of mail received in Honolulu showed nearly 2,500 pieces of Red-line literature.

The customs official said investigators checked only 10 per cent of the incoming mail, and the total did not include mail which was checked in other cities before being forwarded here.

Irving Fishman, a deputy collector of customs who has been investigating here, told the subcommittee:

Much of the literature came from Red China and the Soviet Union, and extolled the virtues of those regimes. Much was addressed to local offices of Harry Bridges' longshore union.

Fishman testified at the fourth day of the subcommittee hearings, which probably will continue two more days.

Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss) said he has approved a preliminary draft of the final statement to be issued by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. He planned to go home by air today.

Pigs at Close Range Just Not Neighborly

STANTON, Calif. (UP)—The city of Stanton has neither a dog catcher nor an ordinance for control of animals.

Councilman Henry Mendoz was perplexed, therefore, when a citizen complained about a neighbor keeping pigs in a residential subdivision.

Said Mendoz: "The complainant said that he didn't mind his neighbor raising chickens and rabbits, but that pigs only eight feet away was too much."

The city attorney has been asked to draft an ordinance outlawing farming from residential tracts.

Doctor Dies of Attack After Penknife Ordeal

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UP) — Dr. Frederick C. Hoebel, 46, who survived for two days after an emergency penknife operation for a heart attack, died last night after a second attack.

During the first attack Saturday night, Dr. Hoebel's heart stopped beating four minutes before two doctor friends opened his chest and massaged the heart back into action.

Jury to Get Riesel Case

Case of Acid Blinding Goes to Federal Court Today or Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UP)—The case of three men charged with conspiracy in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel will go to a federal court jury late today or tomorrow morning.

Testimony was completed yesterday, and summations by defense and prosecution counsel were scheduled for today.

The men on trial—among eight accused in a blanket conspiracy indictment—are Leo Telvi, Domenico Bando and Gondolfo Miranti.

Telvi's brother Abe has been named by the prosecution as the hired thug who hurled acid into Riesel's face on a street just off Broadway in the early morning dark last April 5. Abe Telvi was found shot to death on a lower East Side street some time later.

* * *

The over-all indictment charges conspiracy to obstruct justice by attempting to intimidate a prospective witness — Riesel — from testifying before a federal grand jury investigating rackets in the trucking and the garment manufacturing industries.

Miranti's defense has been largely a contention that he was "brainwashed" into making a purported confession to the FBI. Leo Telvi contends he knew nothing of the alleged conspiracy to attack Riesel, and only tried to help his brother who he feared would be killed.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said that as soon as the current trial is over he will move to bring four other defendants to trial. They include Johnny Dioguardi, a labor racketeer named by authorities as the master mind of the alleged conspiracy.

An eighth man indicated, Joseph Carlino, pleaded guilty before the current trial started and testified for the prosecution.

Search Lake St. Clair for Missing Marines

MOUNT CLEMENS (UP) — Army and Navy planes, aided by at least six boats, are searching the Anchor Bay area today for two Marine Reserve officers, missing with their jet plane since Nov. 15.

The search was renewed in the Lake St. Clair area yesterday when Civil Air Patrol Pilot Andrew Finedell of Fairhaven reported seeing objects in Anchor Bay which resembled parachutes.

Marine Capt. William B. Wilson, 28, of Wharton, Tex., the pilot of the missing jet, and Col. Henry C. Bock, 63, of Houston, the passenger, have not been seen since their plane failed to land at Selfridge Air Force Base.

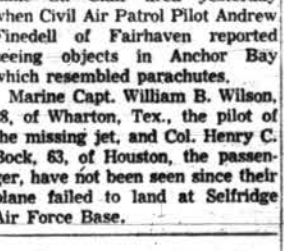
Answer to Previous Puzzle



MAN'S BEST FRIENDS — Jackie Cooper, as Councilman Sock Miller, often finds himself wallowing in trouble, but always ready to give him a helping hand are his girl friend Mandy, played by Patricia Breslin, and sad-eyed Cleo, the basset hound. Jackie stars in "The People's Choice," a comedy series televised Thursdays at 9 p. m. over NBC-TV.

Officials Launch Probe Into Fire

Blast Said to Equal 2 4,000-Pound Bombs of Blockbuster Type

NEW YORK (UP)—Puzzled police and fire officials probed the blackened skeleton of a Brooklyn pier again today in hope of learning what sparked Monday's mysterious fire and blast.

Army bomb experts and the city doubt yesterday that known cargo on the pier powered the tremendous explosion.

The blast shattered windows for miles around. It blew a gaping crater 75 by 150 feet in the heavy concrete floor of the pier.

Maj. William Vallassa, a 1st Army ordnance officer, peered into the crater and commented that the strength of the blast equaled that of two 4,000-pound World War II blockbuster bombs.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said he was "certain" the known cargo on the pier could not have produced the blast. The cargo included highly combustible paint, lacquer, rubber cement, chemicals, fuels, petroleum, naphtha, powdered resin, alcohol and other materials.

"Something unknown to the steamship company or to the dock workers must have been on that pier," said Cavanagh. "It is within the realm of possibility, if not probability, that there could have been in the cargo at that point some substance or shipment that was fraudulently and deceitfully marked as something else that was going out of the country."

FBI agents were also looking into the disaster.

Berserk Electricity Does Plenty Damage

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Electricity arcing across transformers ran wild for an instant last night along the 2300 block of 47th Avenue in the Sunset district.

Two homes caught fire. Light globes burst in their sockets. Appliance motors blew into fragments. Flames spouted in clothes dryers. Television sets were damaged. A blue flame danced along the utility lines.

Fire Marshal Carl Kruger explained:

He estimated damage at $8,000.

Army Will Disband Carrier Pigeon Corps

WASHINGTON (UP) — Development of advanced communications devices has ended the Army's need for carrier pigeons.

The Army announced yesterday that as a result of "progress in electronic communications" it is disbanding its pigeon corps.

It said 1,000 message-carrying birds — the last of some 40,000 used in World War II and in Korea — will be put up for sale soon. The Army said its pigeon training center at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., will be closed and nine trainers reassigned.

Noted Architect to Plan Addition to St. Joseph

W. W. Aronwits, for 13 years associated with the Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls, has recently been appointed Director of Construction and Engineering at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

For five years, Aronwits was director of mechanical engineering for the Detroit firm.

Among the many projects Aronwits has supervised are the General Motors Research Center, the Van Dyke Thompson Products plant, the atomic energy plants at Paducah, Ky. and Portsmouth, Ohio, Wayne University Medical Building and the Wayne Community Hospital.

He will assist in the building of the new addition at the local hospital.

CHECKS MANPOWER — Edwin D. Canham, editor-in-chief of the Christian Science Monitor, has been named chairman of the National Manpower Council. He succeeds James D. Zellerbach, recently appointed ambassador to Italy. President Eisenhower established the council when he was president of Columbia University to provide "a continuing appraisal of America's resources in a period of enduring emergency."

Red Cross Tells Dates for Visiting Bloodmobile

Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross has announced its bloodmobile schedule for December.

The mobile visits First Methodist Church of Ferndale today through 5 p.m.; Guardian Angel Church, Clawson on Dec. 10 from 2 to 8 p.m.; VFW Building at Union Lake, Dec. 11, from 2 to 9 p.m.; Fisher Body Division in Pontiac, Dec. 13 from 6:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. and the Pontiac Elks Temple, Dec. 17 from 2 to 8 p.m.

Dealers Drop Prices

KALAMAZOO (UP) — A 1.4 cent price cut by Standard Oil Co. dealers in Kalamazoo has dropped the retail price of gasoline to 31.4 cents a gallon for regular and 33.4 for premium. Previously it was 32.8 for regular and 35.5 for premium. A spokesman said the reduction was made to meet competition by independent dealers.

Visits 'Steel City'

Ex-Child Actor Looks to Future

Now Directing as Well as Playing Key Role in TV Comedy Series

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—"I got to be 25 and I was scared. My mother had died and I had lost my father when I was young. When I discovered there were men younger than me in the business, I lost all confidence. I had always been the youngest of anyone I worked with."

This was the testimony of Jackie Cooper on the evolution of a child star. He has found more fame as an adult than have most performers who found fame early. But it hasn't been without a struggle.

When Jackie returned from the service, he found little demand for his services in Hollywood. He wanted to stay in the acting business, but realized he needed to know more about it. As a youngster, he had just acted naturally. As an adult, he had to do more.

"So I packed up and went to New York, he said. "For nine years, I worked in the theater and live TV. Luckily I had saved my money when I was a kid, because I averaged about $150 a week in those nine years.

"But they were a good investment. I learned my business, and I think I'm equipped to handle the future now."

Jackie is the star of "The People's Choice," which is enjoying its second year on NBC-TV. This season he is also directing, and that's part of his plan for the future.

"I've always resisted doing series," he said. "They wanted to make a series out of Skippy and later Henry Aldrich, but I would not. Just after the war, Jackie Coogan and I were offered a series that would have brought us $50,000 a year. Jackie was mad at me because I decided to go east instead.

"I've always thought you're dead after you do a series. Producers won't cast you because you are too identified in one role.

"I turned down several TV series until I found the deal I wanted. This is it. I figure I can do this one for three years, then start my own company to direct and produce a series."

Jackie has long been preparing for the switch to directing. He directed plays in summer theatres and also did some shows for CBS.

Ann Mossberg Reigns as '57 Queen of Roses

PASADENA, Calif. (UP)—This was a big day in the life of 19-year-old Ann Mossberg of Alhambra, a comely brunette. She began her reign as 1957 queen of the Tournament of Roses.

The reign ends Jan. 1, when she graces her own royal float at the head of the 68th annual tournament in Pasadena, and then attends the Rose Bowl football game between Oregon State and the University of Iowa.

Miss Mossberg is a Pasadena City College student. Her father is a machinist.
