Kyes Considered for Top Position in Missile Project

WASHINGTON (INS)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson today was reported considering his former deputy, Roger M. Kyes, to be "czar" of the stepped-up U. S. program to produce ocean-spanning rocket missiles.

Paul Hoffman, of Studebaker Corp., and the Ford Foundation, was also mentioned as a possibility for the new post being created at the Pentagon because of persistent reports that Russia has forged into the lead in long-range missiles.

ROGER M. KYES

Wilson's only comment to aides was that he hoped to place in the job an industrialist "as big or bigger than" K. T. Keller, Chrysler Corp. chairman who was the guided missiles coordinator in 1952-53.

The defense secretary announced at a news conference late yesterday that he will name a special assistant for "research, development, engineering and production of guided missiles, especially ballistics (rockets) missiles."

TO HAVE AUTHORITY

He said the assistant will "act in my name," will be a "doer" rather than an adviser, and will have more authority than has ever before been given to a top-level defense aide.

The missile program, Wilson added, will be "backed by all the money it can use." The administration has asked Congress to appropriate more than two billion dollars specifically for missiles this year.

Kyes came to Washington as deputy defense secretary in 1953, parted with Wilson on the best of terms 15 months later, and is now a senior vice president of General Motors Corp.

There was no indication whether Kyes would be willing to accept the new post. On his previous appointment, he originally agreed to leave his GM job for only a year.

WOULD DOUBLE DRAFT

Wilson also:

1. Said about 100,000 draftees may be released six months early, after 18 months' service, if they sign up for two and one-half years with the civilian "ready reserves." He said this probably would at least double the Army draft, now 6,000 a month.

2. Issued an order making effective a program announced by the White House Jan. 6 to enable skilled and highly educated draft eligibles of all ages to take only six months' military training. The

Ike's Off to Farm to Register Name as Local Voter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will go to Gettysburg today for a weekend rest at his farm and to register Friday to vote in Pennsylvania for the first time.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, who also plans to register at the Adams County Courthouse, a few miles from their country home. The Eisenhowers have transferred their legal residence from New York.

Registration will qualify the Eisenhowers to vote in Pennsylvania's April 24 primary, as well as in the November presidential election.

Red Snows Heavy

ROME (INS)—Rome was covered with a blanket of snow for the first time in 17 years today. The snow was part of the storms which are sweping Europe, and which originated in Siberia. This meteorological fact caused one Roman to quip: "The Russians never seem to send anything good."

Predict Snowfall of 3-4 Inches, Dipping Mercury

State's Roads Slippery Following 2-Inch Drop During Night

For the second time in four days, snowfalls draped Pontiac and vicinity with a two-inch white blanket.

The weather man vetoes today's prophetic weather wonder, the ground hog, and forecasts more snow with the possibility of freezing rain.

Similar snowstorms are plaguing many areas of the Midwest and the East as a belt of freezing rain and sleet from Oklahoma to the Tennessee Valley shifted northward during the night.

Western Europe too is feeling the sting of one of the worst cold waves of the century. The death toll rose to at least 35 today as howling sub-zero winds brought misery to millions.

For Pontiac and vicinity, the U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts snow mounting to 3 to 4 inches with rain or freezing rain beginning in the early afternoon. The thermometer is expected to range from 16 to 20 degrees tomorrow.

MORE TO COME

And the weather man cannot promise any let-up in the storm, adding that there will be snow flurries tonight and tomorrow with a high from 24 to 28 degrees.

The Automobile Club and the State Police reported Lower Peninsula highways generally slippery and snow covered. George W. Bates, 39, of Hadley was killed on a snow-slicked highway in Lapeer County as he lost control of his car and crashed into a tree.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. and Pontiac police reported only the normal amount of accidents

Outside the state, winter's worst storm struck the Albuquerque, N. M. area where an elementary school in an out-lying section was snowbound, and four pupils and 20 adults, including teachers and parents, remained in the school overnight.

The Weather Bureau says the ground hog myth is plain bunk, but nevertheless, the official opinion added that the furry friend probably will stay out in most of the Midwest and the East and get his nose mighty cold in the snow.

The lowest temperature in Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 24. The thermometer registered 28 at 2 p.m.

Women in Vestries OK'd

DETROIT (INS)—The annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan yesterday decided to permit women to be members of church vestries and convention delegates in the future.

Press Weather-Fixer Says: 'No Shadows Today'

COME OUT, YOU DEVIL — Caught in the act of attempting to assure Pontiac residents of an early spring, is Pontiac Press Ground Hog Day Editor George Trumbull. The furry little creature didn't stand a chance this year. The umbrella is to assure no ray of sunlight filters through today's overcast and snowflakes to cast a shadow and prolong the winter season.

Mother Nature Foiled

Ground Hog Shadowless, Thanks to Umbrella Ruse

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Phooey on the Weather Man, I say. Listen to George the Ground Hog prophet.

What's a few more inches of snow here and there. Don't lose faith, my children, for Spring (hold on to your hats) is just around the corner.

You say I'm crazy as a loon.

Not a chance.

For today is Feb. 2, ground-hog day. Mr. Marmota Monax, that's a ground hog or woodchuck, awoke this morning realizing the whole North American continent was awaiting his annual prediction.

He pushed his furry frame through the freshly snow-covered opening of his underground den, gazed one way, then the other.

Alas, he cried. Where is my ungainly silhouette? Spring must be near. (Editor's Note: the little fool didn't see me standing over him with my trusty umbrella).

Legend says that if the sleepy little animal sees his shadow today, he retreats to his burrow for six more weeks in the blanket.

But if the day is dull and overcast, and the pampered prognosticator of the weather-wise does not see his shadow, it means that winter is over.

So girls, drag out your spring wardrobe and men, dust off the Panamas and tuck away the "felts". Winter is just about to come to a screeching halt.

So shocked to hear that his six months of slumber was ended, Emmie, a Philadelphian zoo ground hog, died yesterday. In keeping with the air of sorrow which attended the woodchuck's brief appearance, a Quaker City lodge abandoned its spinetingling cymbal rendition of "Me and My Shadow."

Senator Seeks Highway Funds

Broomfield to Confer With Official on Road Financing Plans

Oakland County's State Sen. William S. Broomfield plans a conference today with State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler to begin steps toward assuring Oakland won't be "left out in the cold" by a proposed new highway-financing formula.

If set up as proposed, the formula would provide even less funds for county primary and local road construction than the present distribution plan, which itself will leave the county $73,515,000 short of needs over the next 15 years.

The county's tremendous highway needs place it in a class apart from other Michigan counties whose requirements generally would be met by the planned change.

Oakland Supervisors Monday endorsed two steps toward a solution which Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) said he will bring to Ziegler's attention today.

The suggestions are for a special allocation to Oakland before the general formula is applied and increasing state trunkline mileage in the county to make the highway department pay a larger share of county road costs.

"I also intend to make sure the Legislature knows of the situation and what can be done to correct it," said Broomfield.

We're Eating Too Often —Five Times Each Day

CHICAGO (INS)—T. H. Stanley, chairman of the Nehi Corp., a soft drink company, believes the traditional three meals a day are rising to five a day. He points out:

The morning coffee break, once unheard of, now is growing into a full-fledged meal. Midnight snacks used to be a refreshment period. Now, with families watching television at late hours, the snack is growing into meal No. 5.

Albright Near Title for U.S.

American Skate Star Thrills 10,000 With Her Brilliant Performance

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) Lovely Tenley Albright of Newton Center, Mass., skated a brilliant ice ballet before an Olympic throng of 10,000 today virtually to clinch the women's figure skating championship for the United States.

Only a superb performance by Carole Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., could keep the New England premedical student from the title.

The crowd went wild as Tenley performed a well-nigh perfect program. The judges gave her a bunch of 5.8s for her show — a terrific score. The maximum marking is 6.

Dressed in a brief rose-colored costume, the American girl, who won a silver medal at the last Olympic games, put on a very difficult program. Her leg, gashed before the winter games opened did not seem to bother her.

The sun disappeared behind the Dolomite peaks as the 20-year-old beauty — four times American champion — put on her performance.

Carole Heiss, 16, was still to compete. She had finished behind Tenley, in second place, in the compulsory school figures.

OKs Voting Machine for Rose Township

Rose Township board last night voted unanimously to rent from the Automatic Voting Machine Corp., Jamestown, N. Y., one manually-operated voting machine for use in the 1956 elections.

The township becomes the 29th Oakland County municipality to supplant paper ballots with voting machines.

At a subsequent date the officials may exercise an option to purchase the equipment and the rental fee of $150 will be credited to the purchase price, according to the terms of the rental contract.

Only Brandon, Groveland, Addison and Lyon Townships are now without machines in the county. Pontiac is studying machines and is the only major city still using paper ballots.

China Warned Not to Meddle in Free Nations

President OKs Review of Goods Now Banned From Red Trade

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden set the free world on a bold new course today in the search for global peace.

In an historic "Declaration of Washington" and a formal communique, the two leaders announced these major decisions:

1. They ordered the British ambassador and the State Department to begin talks to determine just what military or economic action could be taken to stop an Arab-Israeli war if one starts. The French government is expected to reply today or tomorrow to an invitation to have its ambassador join the talks.

2. They warned Red China sternly that Britain and America will unite to help any free nation ward off attack or subversion by the Communists. The U. S. and Britian agreed the declaration of united purpose covers Formosa. Britain refused, however, to extend the declaration to include the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

3. The two leaders agreed to continue controls to hold down free world trade with Red China. But Eisenhower made an important concession. He agreed to an immediate review of the list of goods banned from China trade. Rubber from Malaya, Ceylon and Indonesia is expected to be one of the first commodities brought up for review.

4. They officially buried the "Geneva spirit," which last summer brought hopes for accord with Soviet Russia, and warned the nations of Asia and the Middle East that the Soviets are offering aid as a means of conquest.

5. They declared that it is British, as well as American, policy to maintain strength enough in the free world to "deter aggression."

3 SPEECHES TODAY

Eden is expected to explain further the British view on the various problems in three speeches today.

He will address the Senate at 12:15 p.m. and then the House at 1 p.m. Late in the evening he will deliver a 15-minute talk to the nation via radio and television networks beginning at 11:15.

The most positive step announced by the communique was the order for Washington talks on various courses of action to quell any war that starts in the Middle East.

The China trade problem was the most difficult of the Eden-Eisen-

Residents of Warren Township, in Macomb County, have voted to incorporate as a fourth class city. The balloting was 3 to 1 in favor of the incorporation.

Payrolls Up Half Billion

GM Earnings at New High

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—General Motors Corp. achieved a record-smashing net income of $1,189,000,000, equal to $4.30 per share of common stock, and also set new highs in dollar sales, employment and payrolls in 1955.

The figures were disclosed by Harlow H. Curtice, president.

Curtice said dollar sales totaled $12,443,000,000, up 27 per cent from 1954 and 24 per cent higher than the previous record year of 1953.

The new net income figure was 48 per cent higher than in 1954 and up 43 per cent from the previous record set in 1950.

He said also that the average number of salaried and hourly-rate employes on GM payrolls throughout the world numbered 624,000, up 47,000 from the 1954 average.

Worldwide payrolls, he said totaled $3,127,000,000, compared with $2,610,000,000 in 1954.

Kubitschek Orders Censorship Lifted

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The New Brazilian government headed by President Juscelino Kubitschek today ordered the lifting of all censorship of newspapers as its first official act.

Brazil's press has been censored since Nov. 25 when a state of seige (modified martial law) was imposed on the country following a military uprising against the provisional government.

Leaders of the uprising claimed it was necessary to thwart plots to prevent Kubithchek's being inaugurated.

Charge Plot to Share Inheritance

Girl Shoots Mom in Back

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Authorities said two men plotted with a teenage high school girl to kill her parents and divide their wealth. The girl's mother was shot Monday and is in critical condition.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Ralph Needle said charges would be placed today at the arraignment of Samuel Diana, 22-year-old Sicilian immigrant, and John Pitta, 34, whom he said masterminded the plot against the parents of Marlene Chomko, 16.

He said the girl intended to marry Diana and "live happily ever after" in her parents' luxurious home in nearby Taylor. Pitta was to get a truck belonging to her father, a well-to-do trucker.

Needles said all three had signed statements admitting taking part in the plot.

SHOT MOTHER IN BACK

The men have been held on open charges. The girl is charged with felonious assault.

Needle said Marlene shot her mother, Mrs. Margaret Chomko, 38, in the back and then, with Diana, set out by car in pursuit of the girl's father, who was driving to New York.

Mrs. Chomko was able to reach a telephone, and an operator who heard her moans sent police. The police found Mrs. Chomko on a floor in her home and intercepted Diana and the girl before they could catch up with the father. A revolver was found in their car.

The Chomkos have two younger sons, who were at school during the shooting.

Split Threatens Over Water Bill

Royal Oak Legislator Says Looming Conflict Could Defeat Measure

A meeting was scheduled today in Lansing in an attempt to head off a looming party-line split which might again prevent state action to aid local communities in solving their water problems.

State Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), author of a bill to set up a $200,000,000 revolving fund from which local units could borrow water-financing money, said he will confer with State Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh.

The attorney general, a Democrat, headed a committee which advocates forming a new commission to handle the water program.

Broomfield would have the Water Resources Commission expanded to handle the program. "A special commission would cost $650,000 to set up and I'm sure this would be opposed by other Republican legislators besides myself," he stated.

"I hope to eliminate the difference of opinion and that the Democrats won't insist on creating a new agency. This program is a vital one and should not be a partisan issue."

Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman has voiced support for the proposed fund from which the city could borrow enough to launch a program immediately and pay the loan back over a period of years from water-sale revenue.

Pontiac would need a minimum $28,000,000 to bring water from Lake St. Clair, he stated.

Apprehend 2 Youths in School Burglary

Two boys caught burglarizing Lincoln Junior High School, 131 Hillside Dr., last night, admitted breaking into another school an hour earlier.

Police caught the pair after a night watchman heard them break in through a window.

Ages 13 and 14, they admitted to detectives they stole a watch and knife from Sarah McCarroll School, 191 Glenwood Ave., where they broke a window to enter.

From the high school the pair had collected a bag of change taken from vending machines, a set of tools and $5, police said.

The boys were released to parents last night and told to report to the juvenile officer this morning.

Prophet Refuses to Press Charges Against Gunman

DETROIT (AP)—Because, he says, God "told me not to," prophet Jones refuses to press charges against a Cleveland man who invaded his home at gunpoint, fired a shot into the wall and terrorized the household.

The prophet, Negro leader of a large religious sect, appeared at the Wayne County Prosecutor's offices yesterday but declined a complaint against Robert E. Rhodes, 28.

"God told me not to," he said. Rhodes, 28, admitted he fired a pistol in the prophet's 54-room "French Castle" Monday after he was three times refused admittance to "talk about the Bible" with the prophet.

Seized by State Police at Erie Tuesday, Rhodes said he fired the gun because he was "just mad." Officers found three loaded guns and three knives in his car.

Rhodes is awaiting trial in Monroe County Circuit Court on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. He waived examination in Municipal Court yesterday. Bond was set at $500.

Veterans Group Seeks Applicants for Scholarships

Applications for two four-year college scholarships now are being accepted, Amvets Commander Leon Sirlin, Jimmie Dey Post, said today.

A $500-a-year scholarship to any accredited college is open to area high school seniors whose fathers were killed or totally disabled during World War II or the Korean conflict, Commander Sirlin said.

On behalf of the Burmese government, a special $250-a-year four-year scholarship is open to high school seniors whose fathers were killed or totally disabled in the Burma campaigns of World War II.

Funds for this scholarship, supplemented by Amvets contributions were provided in a $5,000 donation from the Burmese government to President Eisenhower, Commander Sirlin said.

Senate Debates Boat Speed Law

Drunkometer Bill Passes Making Medical Tests Admissible in Court

LANSING (AP) — The legislature's crackdown on errant drivers was extended to motorboat operators today.

* * *

After passing the so-called drunkometer bill, the Senate took up a measure that would enable local authorities to set "reasonable or safe" speed limits on the state's inland waters or water connected with the Great Lakes.

Sheriffs, acting jointly with local governing bodies, could post the speed limits or ban boats with too much horsepower.

The bill also would require registration of all motorboats with the clerk of the county where the owner resides and the display of a registration number on the boat like a license on an automobile. This is aimed at facilitating the tracing of reckless operators who endanger lives, disrupt fishing and annoy cottagers.

Introduced by Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing), the bill was bogged down yesterday by a series of long, involved amendments. Further debate was scheduled today.

Airport Site Row Ready for Jury

Warren, Detroit Battle on Proposed Terminal Nearing Completion

MT. CLEMENS, (AP) — A legal fight between Warren Township and the city of Detroit over an airport site was expected to go to a Macomb County Circuit Court jury today, following two days of testimony.

* * *

The township is seeking to condemn 74 acres of land near Dequindre and 14 Mile Rds. for use as a park. Detroit acquired the land in June of 1954 for use as an airport. Detroit plans to expand it into a major airland terminal. But these plans will be blocked if the township wins the condemnation suit.

The township contends it began a condemnation suit shortly before Detroit acquired the property.

Pending before the court is a motion to dismiss the suit on the ground that one municipality cannot condemn property owned by another government agency.

The jury will be asked to decide whether Warren Township has proved the need of converting the 74 acres into a park and to determine the value of the land. Detroit paid $95,000 for the property.

In testimony yesterday, Elmer E. Mueller, principal planner for the Detroit City Planning Commission, declared there are at least nine other sites in Warren Township better suited for a township park than the airport.

The 54,000-square-foot heliport will be built atop the 11-story Metropolitan government building this spring.

It was further explained that in the American view the purpose of the list is to hamper the Chinese Reds enough to at least slow down their efforts to attain the military power that would be needed to mount an aggression.

* * *

In the forthcoming review of the list of banned commodities the U.S. yardstick for relaxation will be the answer to the question of whether a free nation will be made more or less secure if it sells a given commodity to Red China.

* * *

The term "security" is used in the broad sense to include economic stability. Thus, presumably, permission might be granted a country to sell something like rubber or rice to Red China if there was no other way to avert an economic crisis in the free country involved.

Driver Suffers Bruises in Two-Auto Collision

Julian Levine, 43, of 115 Ottawa Dr., suffered leg bruises in a two-car accident at Telegraph and Voorheis Rds. yesterday evening. He was released after treatment in Pontiac General Hospital, authorities said.

Levine's car, stopped for a traffic light, was struck in the rear by Thomas Williams, 15, of 870 Glendale Ave., according to reports taken by Pontiac Police.

Authority Seeks Air Code Change

Detroit Group Asks Control of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb Ports

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Metropolitan Aviation Authority (DMAA) said today it will seek a legislative amendment to the state aviation code to give the authority power to operate all civil airports in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties and to control their air use.

The authority ordered yesterday a draft made of the proposed amendment which must be submitted to the State Legislature before a Feb. 15 deadline.

Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, chairman of the State Board of Aeronautics, told the authority he would do "everything in my power to get the amendment passed by the Legislature."

If the legislative amendment is adopted, the authority must then get permission of local governments before it can take over city and county airports.

Glenn C. Richards, Detroit City Airport co-ordinator, said the authority hopes to convert itself into a tri-county group with seven commissioners, including four from Detroit and Wayne county.

Leroy C. Smith, Wayne County road engineer and county airport manager, described the authority as it now exists as "actually a committee.

"Once we have an aviation authority with full powers we will be accomplishing something," Smith said.

Nine Area Youths Starting Army Life

Four Pontiac youths and five from the county leave for their 2-year tours of duty with the Army this week, as Selective Service Boards 65 and 67 together called only nine men to service during January.

From Pontiac go Frank J. Roselli, 657 Rascob St., group leader; Raymond J. Young, of 72 Blaine Ave.; LaVern Geans, of 47 Beaudette St.; and Ronald R. Lindberg, of 1620 Stanley Ave.

County inductees are leader Melvin M. Stevens of Detroit, Lester J. Harden of Farmington, William L. B. Richards of Holly, Russell E. Morgan of South Lyon, and Adam Denny of Farmington.

Feikens Calls Staebler on Corruption Charges

LANSING (INS)—Michigan Republican State Chairman John Feikens today challenged Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler to a debate over GOP charges of corruption in the administration of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Feikens, in a telegram to the Democratic chief, said:

"In your reply to my charges of corruption in the state government, you deliberately avoided the issues I raised.

"In the public interest, I challenge you to debate these issues of corruption before the people in public meetings, on public service television and radio time, or on programs sponsored jointly by our parties."

'I Was Never Afraid,' — Freed Flint Widow Says

FLINT (AP)—"I was never afraid. You never get punished for anything you don't do."

Thus Mrs. Betty Kehl described her two-week confinement in jail, which ended with her release yesterday after the state acknowledged it lacked evidence to try her in the slaying of her salesman husband.

The 32-year-old brunette had been in police custody since the night of Jan. 16 when she dashed into police headquarters and tearfully reported she and her husband, Robert, 34, had been abducted and he had been shot to death by an unknown assailant. Officers found him dying at a dump on Flint's outskirts.

Municipal Judge John W. Baker dismissed a charge of first degree murder brought against Mrs. Kehl as she appeared for a hearing yesterday to determine whether she should be held for Circuit Court trial.

MIGHT BE MISTAKE

Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke, who requested the action, said it "would be a mistake to proceed to trial and place this respondent (Mrs. Kehl) in jeopardy when we do not have all the evidence that may be available."

He added, however, that the police investigation of the killing will continue.

Three hours after her release, Mrs. Kehl held a news conference in her attorney's office. There she told newsmen she saw not one, but two men at the garage where she and her husband were reportedly waylaid the night of the killing.

In her first account to police, Mrs. Kehl said a stranger abducted her and her husband and forced them to drive to the dump where Kehl was slain. Later she named a bachelor boyfriend, William Thomas, 25, a pipefitter, as the killer.

* * *

Thomas denied the charge and he was released after police said a lie detector test showed he was telling the truth. Thomas' landlady supported his alibi, saying he was in his room the night of the killing.

* * *

Mrs. Kehl said she had assured police she would be available on a day's notice for further questioning. Meanwhile, she said, she planned to return with her father, Edward Kadletz, to the family home in Aurora, Wis., near Iron Mountain, Mich.

The Day in Birmingham

South Oakland Planners Discuss Road Building

BIRMINGHAM—Finances are so low that adequate highway building is completely impossible, city planners and state representatives concluded after reports were heard at last night's meeting in Huntington Woods of the South Oakland Planning Council.

Rep. Richard C. Van Dusen, of Birmingham was among the four legislators who told the 45 city planners, commissioners and planning board members from area communities why new roadways are so few. All blamed lack of funds on state, county and local levels after the present roads were repaired.

The increase in the weight tax several years ago was not sufficient to finance new road construction, they agreed in the meeting conducted by Herbert Herzberg, Birmingham city planner.

Taxpayers will have to pay more, Van Dusen and the other four, from other legislative districts, agreed, looking towards an increase in gas, tires, or licensing taxes.

Definite need for more roads was pointed up by the survey explained by a Regional Planning Commission official. Maps of the survey show convergence of work-and pleasure-bound motorists on much overcrowded highways, and show that certain areas will require creation of new routes.

Downtown Birmingham, downtown Royal Oak, and the Pontiac and Detroit working areas are drawing traffic through the area that creates congested streets and highways.

One expert at the meeting explained how traffic totals are far ahead of highway construction in the county.

What first appeared to be a car theft last weekend turned out to be a surprise auto wash for Mrs. Anne Bradley, who called police when she found her car gone when she came out of work at the Hair Styles by Charles Salon on North Woodward Avenue.

Equally irate at first was Mrs. Therese Hogan, who finished work next door at the Furs by Robert Boutique, and found that Petrol by Murphy had not washed her car as she'd asked. And Murphy was disgusted with his customer, for he felt sure he'd washed the Hogan car.

But all laughed when they discovered Mrs. Hogan's keys had fitted the Bradley car, of the same make and color.

Mrs. Bradley gladly paid for the wash job, saying she had needed it anyway, and Mrs. Hogan reports she never had such a shining car as after Murphy's wash job the next day.

George T. McAllister, 23, of Royal Oak, who pleaded guilty to simple larceny yesterday before Birmingham Justice John C. Emery, paid $10 fine with $15 costs and was placed on probation for six months.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority was explained to Exchange Club members Tuesday by Clare Cummings, chairman of the Board of Oakland County Supervisors, and Robert Bills of the authority staff.

History of the effort to keep a balance of recreational space as the Detroit area builds up was traced. Dwight Baldwin arranged the program.

Potter Introduces Bill for Lakes' Ship Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal aid for construction of vessels for the Great Lakes bulk fleet would be provided under a bill introduced by Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

The bill would authorize the federal government to acquire obsolete vessels in exchange for "an allowance of credit to be applied on the purchase price of new vessels."

The government would pay the difference between the construction cost of a ship built in this country and one constructed in the lowest cost foreign yards.

Halas Names Driscoll Head Coach of Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner George Halas of the Chicago Bears today named Paddy Driscoll, long-time assistant, as head coach of the Bears to suceeed himself.

Halas did not immediately say what the terms of contract, if any, were putting the 60-year-old Driscoll in charge of the Bears.

Driscoll, one of the great drop-kickers of football, starred as a collegian at Northwestern and joined the Bears as a player in 1926. He has been a Bear assistant coach 15 years.

Talmadge Tells Voters to Replace Sen. George

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Former Gov. Herman Talmadge said on a television program that "vigorous representation in the U. S. Senate far outweighs seniority" and suggested that Georgians start considering a replacement for Sen. Walter George, 78.

"If I serve the people for 50 years, I won't ask for a new six-year term," Talmadge added.

Suspension of License a Mixup, Says Official

An announcement from the Michigan Secretary of State's office, printed in Monday's Pontiac Press, erroneously stated Paul E. Tompkins, 8311 Lagoon Rd., would have his regular driver's license suspended three years.

A letter to Tompkins Monday from Frank D. Kelley, Deputy Director of Driver Services, acknowledged the suspension was a mistake.

It May Help Them

DALLAS (AP)—Two young bandits last night stole the car of Bible salesman James K. Burns and used it to stage a grocery store holdup that netted them $43. When the car, which they later abandoned, was recovered Burns found none of his 27 Bibles, 24 necklaces inscribed with the Lord's Prayer, 15 Bible-story books or numerous crosses had been taken.

Brucker Raps False War Idea

Army Secretary Warns of 'Pushbutton' Notion for Fighting Battles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Army Wilber Brucker said today "the notion that wars can be fought and won by remote control with machines and pushbuttons is a dangerous myth."

If encouraged, that notion "can only lead to psychological, spiritual and physical unpreparedness for the realities of military conflict," he asserted.

"We have properly decided to develop to the utmost our retaliatory power to deter an enemy from attempting a sudden and overwhelming assault with airborne nuclear weapons," Brucker said in an address prepared for the National Press Club.

* * *

He also said, however, that "an aggressive enemy who possesses huge ground forces," should be expected to use them.

The mission of the American Army is to wage prompt, sustained and successful combat operations on land, seize ground and dominate the enemy and his means of making war, Brucker said.

REPLIES TO SPECULATION

Obviously replying to speculation in some air power circles about a short, fierce war in which the first exchange of blows would determine the outcome, Brucker said:

"No one can foretell exactly what course such a war would take, but certainly the first 60 days would not break the American will to fight."

* * *

Brucker said that in all areas—organization, tactics, equipment and weapons—the Army has "turned the corner" and is prepared to fight modern wars.

Brucker devoted part of his speech to denouncing the military-diplomatic maneuvers of Russia. He said:

* * *

"The Kremlin is the biggest of all grifters, operating a gigantic, global shell game. The world is always being asked to guess under which shell will be found the pea which stands for 'peace.' But the real tragedy is that it is no petty pastime of an oversize carnival. The stake for which they play this grim game is nothing less than the freedom of all free men."

Examination Delayed in Murder Trial

Examination trial of John A. Curry, charged with first degree murder, today was put over until Feb. 8, Pontiac Municipal Court Clerk Leo McDonald said.

Curry was arrested following the fatal beating here Jan. 19 of Frank E. Beheydt, 57, an ex-bookkeeper.

He is being held without bond in Oakland County Jail.

Congressional Probes to Shape 1956 Program

In Washington they are talking about the large number of investigations begun by committees of the 84th Congress.

If new probes are launched at the present rate, says Congressional Quarterly, the total number for this Congress, 176 so far, will top the record of 236 set by the 82nd Congress.

Hence unless this is far different from any previous election year the Presidential and Congressional campaigns will be fought on the issues aired in these investigations.

A glance at the list reveals that most popular investigation subjects are military programs, business and businessmen in Government and communism and subversion.

Democrats, in control of both Houses, naturally expect to make the most of these investigations. They can use their power to revise the President's legislative program or bottle it up completely. They also can prevent party splitting issues that could hurt them, from coming up for public debate.

Republicans, on the other hand, will neglect no opportunity to counter the majority party's campaign material. No one need fear that GOP candidates will lack potent ammunition in their fight to recapture Congress.

In other words, investigations launched by Congressional committees will have a great deal to do with setting the pattern of the 1956 campaign.

Bill Proposes Return to 2 Plates for Autos

Among the many bills already before the Legislature are two of vital interest to every motorist and traffic law enforcement official.

First of these proposes return to the use of two license plates for every vehicle except motorcycles, wagons and trailers. Also proposed is the treatment of the plates with a reflectorized coating to make them more visible by night.

Since the plates would cost more to manufacture, the bill provides that they be issued only once every four years and with tabs for other years. An additional 25 cents would be charged to cover the cost of the reflectorized coating.

We believe return to the two plate system and use of reflectorized coating would be wise. As police officials long have emphasized, it would help them in their work of hunting stolen cars and criminals and enforcing traffic laws.

Although there is room for debate, it also sounds reasonable to save money by issuing the plates only once in four years. A second bill in the hopper strikes us as resting on less solid ground. It would legalize the use of the slogan "Water Wonderland" on plates.

Proponents of the slogan's continued use say the National Safety Council has no objection to it. But inasmuch as the 1957 plates are to be smaller, abandonment of the slogan would make more room for the larger identifying license numbers so valuable to police.

Some of the new typewriters don't make enough noise to drown out the smacks of the gum-chewing typist.

Henry L. Mencken

Henry L. Mencken, journalist, editor, author and critic has been widely known as the Sage of Baltimore.

Whatever one may have thought of the man, it was impossible to be neutral toward him. One either disliked him for his caustic pen and vast pride in his own reputation as king of debunkers, or admired him for his wit and scholarship.

It was typical of Mencken that two days before his death he announced with great pleasure, plans for publication of a new book: Minority Report. Written in 1948, Mencken said of the reaction he expected of it "it will be nice to be denounced again."

To many he is best known as the co-founder with George Jean Nathan, the famous drama critic, of the magazine American Mercury. His newspaper career began in 1906 and for years he was connected in various capacities with the Sun papers of Baltimore. At the time of his death he was still one of the directors.

His major literary work was his oft revised American Language. It is a most complete study of how Americans have adapted English to their own uses.

In life Mencken undoubtedly was among the most frequently quoted and most savagely attacked of writers. Our guess is that in death he will be remembered longer for his vitriolic writings than for any lasting contribution he may have made to human advancement.

of Pontiac Trail says the ground hog has been in error 60 per cent of the time in his weather predictions. In connection with his annual coming-out party on Feb. 2, the animal has been able to see his shadow about one-half of that time. But the weather of the succeeding six weeks has not been in accordance with the myth six times out of ten.

After watching the thing for several years, says he has found no evidence of any exodus on Feb. 2 from the underground hibernation headquarters of a pair of ground hogs near his home just north of Rochester.

Emery Glidden

For the benefit of those who may not know what we're talking about, the common name for the ground hog is "woodchuck."

When it was first organized in 1874, the

Pioneer Society of Oakland County

adopted a resolution that now would completely wipe out the membership of such an organization: "No person is eligible to join who was not a resident of the county before 1840." The first president was and the "1840" qualification was later removed.

in the latter part of the last century. It covered a good part of Royal Oak Township, on both sides of the Grand Trunk Railway.

Here where so many of them are made, it is interesting to note that the average life of an automobile before being scrapped has doubled in the past 20 years, and its accumulated mileage has quadrupled.

David Lawrence Asks:

Should a Congressman Cast His Ballot in Conscience or for Selfish Interest?

WASHINGTON — It would be a tragic disparagement of modern government if the American people derived their impressions of what is going on by taking seriously many trivial comments on the passing scene emanating nowadays from legislators and political bureaus.

* * *

Democrats, who, in their speeches building up for the coming campaign, have been trying to link Republicans with "big business" and "special privilege" are now engaged in a fight inside their own party. One faction says the bill to exempt the natural-gas industry from federal regulation is a "giveaway." Up to this time it had not been suspected any Democratic leaders could ever be tied up with "big business."

One Democratic spokesman says no one in Congress who owns oil stocks should vote. Another Democrat who is defending the bill and owns oil stock, says that, if this theory of "conflict of interest" is literally applied, hardly anybody in Congress would be eligible to vote on anything.

There's a bigger "conflict of interest" in the Congress than has ever been exposed with reference to officials in the executive branch who have been pilloried by the Democrats in Congress. All too often the conflict is between conscience and selfish interest — between voting the merits of an issue and one's own chances of reelection. The conflict usually is between keeping and losing a job which pays $22,500 a year.

TRUMAN LETTERS

In the House a Democrat the other day went to the extent of citing former President Truman's letters to the Marines and to a music critic. He boasted Truman didn't disavow them and was to be commended. The inference is that Benson on his magazine comment should have admitted he agreed with the contents of a letter which didn't represent his views.

Truman, who is one of the party's spokesmen, at first tells the press he doesn't want to comment on delicate issues of foreign policy because he isn't in a position now to get all the facts as when in the presidency. Then he signs a public petition intervening in the Arab-Israel dispute.

This is his right, of course, but the action is inconsistent with earlier professions of respect for the office of the presidency which caused him to refrain from such activities before.

NO DIGNIFIED ADDRESS

Then there's the Dulles article in "Life" magazine which the Democrats seem to take relish in debating—as if earthshaking issues were involved just because some overcondensed phrases in a magazine article which the secretary never read before publication were attributed to him.

One of these days some Democrat—and it might even be Adlai Stevenson, who has more intellectual background than the other candidates—will abandon the wisecracking and the sniping and give the American people a thoughtful and dignified address on the philosophy of government which the Democratic Party might be expected to stand for if again elected to power.

It would be a refreshing thing in a period of political combat, given over thus far to tirades on irrelevant, inconsequential matters, to read a speech with something fundamental in it.

Your Blood Sugar Level Controls Craving for Food

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

The blood of a healthy person contains from 80 to 120 milligrams of sugar per 100 cubic centimeters of blood—approximately 1½ grains of sugar in 3½ fluid-ounces of blood—before breakfast in the morning.

For the rest of the day the sugar level is higher, about 140 milligrams.

Remember, these figures apply to health.

The appetite, or at least the sense of hunger in normal persons is controlled to a considerable degree by the blood sugar level.

Obesity is the result of eating too much carbohydrate (sugars and starches), protein and fat—the food materials named in the order of their convertibility into sugar.

All of the carbohydrate in the diet is changed to sugar in the digestive process.

More than half of the protein (lean meat, egg white, cheese and the nitrogenous material in vegetables such as peas and beans and in nuts and peanuts) and only a tenth of the fats and oils in the diet is converted into sugar.

Dr. Frederick Stare of the department of nutrition at Harvard strayed into the personal health field and discovered that when the blood sugar level is low, appetite goes up.

When the blood sugar level is high, the two-helping or three-helping appetite is satisfied with a single helping.

STOP LOW LEVEL

And so, eating or drinking something containing not more than two level teaspoonfuls of sugar (a level teaspoonful of sugar yields about 18 calories) half an hour before a meal will prevent blood sugar level from getting too low and craving for food from getting too intense and the consequent wolfing of far more than 36 calories to appease it.

It would be silly to infer from this that if all food goes to fat one need only nibble some candy an hour or half hour before each meal.

That isn't the idea. It works only when blood sugar level is really low. This being a health, not a medical column, I shall say only this about the manifestations of low blood sugar: One of the mildest of them is extreme and unreasonable hunger accompanied with noticeable irritability, impatience and anxiety.

At a party where the liquor lapper-uppers keep dinner waiting too long a person with low blood sugar may hold out comfortably with a soft drink, but must beware of anything alcoholic.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Royal Oaker Disappointed in Courthouse Decision

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It was a keen disappointment to read a newspaper account regarding the rejection of the proposal of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce and other groups to keep the Oakland County Courthouse in the downtown district of Pontiac.

One is inclined to wonder whether the interests of the many citizens of Oakland County, who must depend on public transportation to get to and from the County Building, have been considered by the special County Building Committee.

Would it be reasonable to assume that many citizens of southern Oakland County, such as jurors, court witnesses, taxpayers and others who must use buses for transportation to the County Building, would relish the idea of being forced to rely on scarce bus service to an outlying district of Pontiac?

Regarding the objection to taking valuable parking space from the Pontiac merchants, it could be argued that County Building patrons, especially those from other parts of Oakland County would be greatly tempted to do their shopping in the attractive Pontiac stores, while they would likely forego this luxury in an outlying section. Furthermore, the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce surely must have many merchants as members who know what is best for them.

Let us hope that the County Board of Supervisors will give this matter the most serious consideration before it decides to put an important public business in a relatively inconvenient location.

Even Child Appreciates Freshness in Television

NEW YORK (AP)—The other morning as I was going to work — a bit late, for the first time that day — my eye was caught by my daughter.

* * *

She was lying flat on the floor working over her post-breakfast bottle. She was staring at our television screen showing a grown-up-but-kiddie-looking fellow who himself was sucking at an imitation milk bottle whose theoretical contents were visibly lowered as he said something like this:

"All right, kiddies, it's milk time. Let's go now. Not too fast, but—"

SWEPT BY AWE

Well, I simply stood there fascinated. I was swept by awe and fear of the art of advertising. I wondered how soon my daughter, having been sold on the virtues of milk, would start worrying about deodorants.

* * *

Somehow, clover-sweet as she is at 2½ years old, I hugged the idea that Tracy Ann, my daughter, would learn femininity from her mother, my wife. I don't want my child to learn delicacy from an ad man's fear pitch.

* * *

What is the impact of television on the average family? What is right and what is wrong with television up to now?

ONE-EYED MONSTER

Here are a few off-the-cuff observations—some personal, some not— of the new one-eyed monster in our living room:

My daughter likes to identify Pinky Lee, Lassie, Rin-Tin-Tin, the Lone Ranger and other staple childhood fodder — she likes Ollie the dragon but is suspicious of Howdy Doody. Then usually she walks away; having survived the shock of recognition, and returns to her old friends, her toys.

* * *

Ancient cartoons with dubbed-in voices bore her within 30 seconds, and she walks away. She also will do this to canned meat if it is put on her plate. She has an unerring appetite for freshness, and likes "Captain Kangaroo" because it is alive.

PARENTS AGREE

Both her father and mother also will refuse to follow canned family situation comedies because they are unreal and tiresome, and because canned laughter doesn't make them feel very jolly. Most of their friends who can read without moving their lips feel the same way.

* * *

Tracy Ann and her parents enjoy — sometimes more than the show they carry — bright, tuneful illustrated commercials. We hum 'em in our house.

A live show stirs us more than a filmed show, and we'll rove the dial to get one that is alive. There are exceptions — but they only prove the rule.

One of the things that destroys realism most is to have an artist perform a role, then step out of character and immediately make a sales pitch.

ARTISTS CHEAPENED

The duty of the artist in television today is to gain an audience. To ask him to go on from there is to demean both himself and the product he is required to plug. Both are needlessly cheapened.

* * *

Commercialism is necessary in television, but not in that manner. It will die out as more artists make more money, can afford to be more independent, and the realization grows that there are better ways to put a message across.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Amount Saved on Lowered Insurance Would Pay for Divided 4-Lane Roads

To reduce auto accidents, we need four-lane divided highways. The land should be preempted now before houses are built along the present two-lane roads, for it costs far more to move such homes back to permit the later widening of those roads. We'd save enough via lower auto insurance rates, to finance such wider highways.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-364: Mrs. Crane and I were driving from Chicago to our Indiana farm on a recent Sunday afternoon.

* * *

It was almost dusk when we reached a broad S-curve on Route 41 with a narrow bridge at its center.

Technically, this bridge is considered a two-lane affair, but many drivers are afraid to risk passing another vehicle thereon, especially if the latter is a large truck.

That means, therefore, that many of our old-fashioned two-lane bridges are "functionally" just one-lane bridges.

A car ahead of me had pulled out from a filling station a few hundred yards away from this bridge. It was going about 30 miles per hour as it neared the bridge.

* * *

Visibility was good so the driver saw a huge semi and trailer swinging wide around the curve on the far side and barreling along at maybe 55 miles per hour.

The trailer was loaded with huge drums of tobacco, chained on like a load of logs. I was watching both the truck and family car ahead of me, in which three youngsters were standing on the rear seat looking back at Mrs. Crane and me.

Their daddy apparently decided not to risk entering the bridge, for he saw he'd meet the truck thereon. So he stopped his car without warning, and I think he was smart for I believe he would have been hit by the truck if he had entered the bridge.

Meanwhile, I jammed on my brakes hard until my wheels were locked and I skidded on concrete. But my right rear wheel got off the pavement and this let my car turn counter-clockwise across my lane, where it stopped.

WHY AUTO ACCIDENTS?

"Look out, we'll be hit!" I had time to warn Mrs. Crane before the truck ripped off the entire front of our car, but luckily didn't strike the heavy block of the engine, or it would have turned us over at once.

* * *

Then it careened about 100 yards past us, when it turned over upon the edge of the pavement with both the semi and trailer flat on their sides.

Having seen two trucks burn at that same curve in the past year, I got out and hastened to see if this driver was imprisoned. But he was unhurt save for a small burn from the exhaust pipe of his diesel.

Now this type of accident was produced largely by failure to offer adequate width of a bridge on an important highwaay.

If a narrow bridge, though structurally of two-lane width, still functions as only a one-lane affair, it should be labeled as one-lane.

Needless death traps are still permitted on our highways. If money isn't available for widening our bridges and highways at once, at least warning signs should prevent narrow bridges from adding to the appalling death toll.

AUTO EFFICIENCY

Our population is due to double in the next 50 years. So all major highways simply must be widened into at least four-lane affairs with a dividing strip down the middle.

Even if our states can't afford to pay for such extra land (40 acres are required per mile of four-lane highway), at least preempt it so people will not build new homes near the present two-lane highways and then require us taxpawers to pay the extra cost later of moving those houses back an extra 50 feet.

An investment in four-lane, divided highways is one of the best outlays for our tax dollars. At present about 38,000 are killed and 1,500,000 Americans injured each year. Almost 500,000 cars are also wrecked.

What we citizens would save via lowered insurance premiums would ultimately pay the entire investment in four-lane highways.

But we must act now before houses are built close to the roads or it will cost us far more a generation hence.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Draftees Have Pick in March Induction

LANSING (AP) — State Selective Service officials today advised draftees who want to serve in the Navy to volunteer for March induction.

* * *

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state director, said the state will probably not draft men for the Navy until after July 1. The state was assigned a March draft quota of 820 men, 515 of whom will be assigned to the Navy.

The March quota was the first Navy call since December of last year. Men were drafted for the Navy in November and December last year for the first time since World War II.

Col. Holmes said men who volunteer for induction will probably be able to choose either the Army or Navy.

* * *

"We were able to assign men to the service of their choice when we had a Navy quota last year and we will probably be able to continue this year," he said.

The standard of taste and comfort in the modern home has been raised but "many churches are musty and out-of-date," said Rev. J. C. Breakey, in Belfast.

Three Proved Ways to Reduce Accidents

PORT HURON (AP)—Michigan's rising traffic accident rate likely can be reduced by:

1. Patrolling highways with unmarked police cars. 2. Equipping patrol cars with camera and radar equipment. 3. Sending spotter planes aloft to watch for traffic violators.

So says Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington, whose state attracted national attention by slashing its traffic casualty rate while accidents in other areas were climbing steadily.

Gov. Langlie told of Washington's campaign against highway accidents in a letter to F. Granger Weil, executive vice president of the Port Huron Times-Herald.

Langlie said that by using spotter planes, unmarked patrol cars and radar and camera equipment Washington reduced the number of traffic accident by 2,690 between 1953 and 1954. Injuries dropped by 637 and fatalities by 71 in the same period, he said.

"The public has a tendency to ignore certain regulatory laws such as speed when a patrol car is not in evidence," the governor said. "People seem to be more afraid of being arrested than of the hazards to life and limb as the result of violations on the highways."

Reopening Jinx Plagues New Jersey Bridge

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A jinx still plagues the Bridge Street Bridge linking Newark and Kearny across the Passaic River.

The swinging span closed 10 years ago because of frequent mechanical failures and was not put back into use because of haggling among officials over who would pay for repairs.

Essex and Hudson counties in 1953 finally agreed to pay jointly.

Dignitaries and residents were on hand yesterday for the official reopening. But at theappropriate moment, a clutch in the bridge's operating mechanism slipped and it took workmen 30 minutes to fix it as two tugs waited to pass.

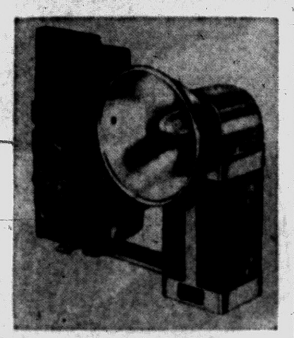

Australia will plant large pine forests.

Raise in Postal Rates Again Asked by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower prodded Congress again yesterday to raise postal rates, sending it a report that the mail service is now losing $1,000 a minute.

The report was from Postmaster General Summerfield, who has been pressing unsuccessfully for three years for higher rates. The fate of the administration recommendations in this election year is dubious.

Eisenhower urged higher rates aggregating 406½ million dollars yearly, including a hike in first-class letter mail from 3 to 4 cents.

Purest Diamond Shipped by Mail to Gem Dealer

NEW YORK (AP) — An $8,400,000 shipment of diamonds arriving here by routine mail yesterday included a stone described as "the finest diamond in quality and purity ever found in Africa."

Harry Winston, a dealer who received the gems as though he would an order of groceries, said the description came from Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, a British authority on diamonds.

The prized 426-carat stone, valued at $1,500,000, has no name.

"If we can find a buyer for the stone," said Winston, "it will be named after his family. We are looking for a royal family."

Winston says the regular mail is "the safest way of shipment."

"I've never had a loss in my dealings with the post office," he commented.

* * *

Martin McDuffy, a letter carrier, delivered $6,400,000 worth. The rare $1,500,000 stone and about $500,000 worth of other diamonds were delivered by messenger for a brokerage house to which they had been addressed.

Postal Income Tops Receipts Year Ago

Postal receipts in January were 16 per cent higher than during the similar period a year ago, Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr. reported yesterday.

Dean states that toal receipts last month reached $104,197, compared with about $89,000 in January 1955.

The postmaster attributed the increase to a rapidly-expanding area population.

'Pack of Slowpokes'

Ike Meets With Dewey in Non-Political Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York meet today for a talk which the White House said in advance has no political significance."

Dewey helped engineer Eisenhower's nomination in 1952, and has been expressing hope the President will run again.

Twice the GOP presidential nominee, Dewey is now practicing law in New York City.

ROTC Movie Reveals Beauty of Joining Ranks

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma A&M College Air Force ROTC officers say new "flight" plans had been filed for a recruiting film after a preview showed more bathing beauties than bombers.

Col. Clarence H. Breedlove, director of the Aggie air detachment, said he had no doubt but what the film would stimulate more men to join up for advanced ROTC courses but he wasn't so sure how it would go over with taxpayers and other audiences.

The film was made during the Aggie cadets' trips to such places as Las Vegas, Nev., and other scenic spots. The ROTC had planned to show it to civic groups.

Research Moves On

DENVER (AP)—A University of Minnesota scientist says there is a possibility human beings may be immunized against diseases by drinking milk from vaccinated cows. Dr. William E. Peterson said a cow's udder produces some antibodies—disease fighters. He told members of the Colorado Dairy Technology Society that he and Dr. Berry Campbell are making studies along that line.

Mexico's sulphur output has been doubled—the only mineral to show a big increase.

MacArthur Might Have Been 'Fired' Six Months Sooner

WASHINGTON (INS) — Former President Harry S. Truman disclosed today he "gave serious thought" to relieving Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Korea more than six months before he "fired" him as U. N. Far Eastern Commander.

* * *

Truman said he considered the action because MacArthur publicly was "critical" and "contradicted" U. S. government policy in neutralizing Formosa to prevent the Korean War from spreading into a world war.

The former President's account of top policy misunderstandings which led later to MacArthur's dismissal is contained in the third installment of a current magazine's Truman memoirs.

Truman also relates how and why he decided the U. S. should go to the aid of South Korea, how "congressional leaders approved of my action," of Red China's threats to intervene in Korea, and of assurances given him by MacArthur at their Wake Island conference that Peiping would not enter the conflict.

HARRIMAN WAS ENVOY

Truman's account of his policy differences with MacArthur first involved a U. S. decision against using Nationalist Chinese troops in Korea. MacArthur offered to fly to Formosa and explain to Chiang that his troops should remain on the island for its defense.

A few days later, Truman sent his foreign policy aide, Averell Harriman, to Tokyo "to discuss the Far Eastern political situation" with MacArthur.

Truman said Harriman reported to the White House that MacArthur answered he would, as a soldier, obey any orders that he received from the President. Truman said he was "reassured" that MacArthur would follow Washington's policies and "assumed that this would be the last of it."

TENOR WAS CRITICAL

"But I was mistaken," Truman added. "Before the month ended —on Aug. 26—the White House press room brought me a copy of a statement which Gen. MacArthur had sent to the commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A weekly magazine was already in the mails with the full text.

"The whole tenor of the message was critical of the very policy which he had so recently told Harriman he would support. There was no doubt in my mind that the world would read it that way and that it must have been intended that way."

Truman said that the U. N. was then debating the Formosan question, and on just the previous day the U. S. had informed the U. N. the conflict in Korea was for only one purpose: "To reduce the area of conflict in the Far East (and) Gen. MacArthur's message—which the world might mistake as an expression of American policy—contradicted this."

* * *

Truman then said: "I gave serious thought to relieving Gen. MacArthur as our military field commander in the Far East and replacing him with Gen. Omar Bradley.

MEET AT WAKE

Truman said he discussed the matter with his top advisers who expressed "surprise and shock," but decided to ask MacArthur to withdraw his statement and that the General "compiled at once."

Truman then related that in early October, the State Department received a report that the Chinese Communists "were threatening to enter the Korean conflict" and would do so "if United Nations forces crossed the 38th parallel."

He said the information "was at once transmitted to General MacArthur" and that he decided to fly to Wake Island to confer with MacArthur.

* * *

"I wanted to get the benefit of his first hand information and judgment" about the threatened Chinese Communist intervention in Korea.

Truman said of his private talk with the general: "We talked for more than an hour alone. The general assured me victory was won in Korea. He also informed me the Chinese Communists would not attack and that Japan was ready for a peace treaty.

'HE WAS SORRY'

"Then he brought up the subject of his statement about Formosa to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He said that he was sorry if he had caused any embarrassment. I told him I considered the incident closed.

"He said he wanted me to understand that he was not in politics in any way—that he had allowed the politicians to make a 'chump' (his word) of him in 1948 and that it would not happen again.

* * *

"I told him something of our plan for the strengthening of Europe and he said he understood and that he was sure that it would be possible to send one division from Korea to Europe in January 1951.

"He repeated that the Korean conflict was won and that there was little possibility of the Chinese Communists coming in."

* * *

Truman said that at the staff conference which followed, MacArthur "stated his firm belief that all resistance would end in both North and South Korea by Thanksgiving (and this) would enable him to withdraw the Eighth Army to Japan by Christmas."

Headquarters to Be in Florida

International Scientists Band Together to Perfect Hurricane Forecast System

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The greatest concentrated attack ever made on one of man's most pressing weather problems — how to forestall disaster with perfect hurricane forecasts—will be launched in Florida in May.

Robert H. Simpson, tall, hard-driving research expert of the U.S. Weather Bureau's Washington staff disclosed final plans for the ambitious project today after a conference here with Navy and Air Force experts who will participate.

PERFECT FORECAST

Coming on the heels of history's most terrible hurricane season, the immediate aim of the program, in which scores of scientists of several nations will participate, will be to perfect a foolproof 24-hour hurricane forecast.

Later, they expect to develop forecasting techniques to a point where weathermen can say three days in advance when and at what place a hurricane will hit the coast.

And in working toward this goal, they hope by cloud seeding to find a way to avert future tragedies by steering these mighty tropical storms away from densely populated areas.

FLYING BRAINS

Horrified by the fury of the 1955 hurricanes, which took a two-billion-dollar damage toll, the greatest in history, Congress appropriated half a million dollars to get the project started and is expected to vote more money as needed. The work probably will cost eight million dollars.

Included in this giant effort will be:

1. Flying electronic "brains" that will probe hurricanes up to 40,000 feet to determine why they generate such tremendous power and why they travel as they do along fickle, serpentine paths over land and sea.

2. High-flying Navy rockets that will soar 50 miles to take the first photographs of whole hurricanes covering hundreds of square miles.

Scheduled to last 30 months, through three hurricane seasons, the investigation might go on five years or more.

Fire Hits Residence, Causing $800 Damage

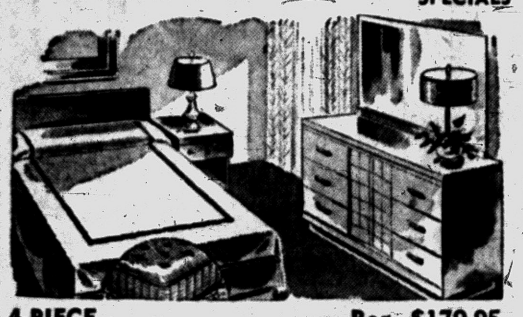

Fire which swept a one-story frame home at 485 Alton St. yesterday caused $800 damage; firemen estimated.

The hour-long blaze was caused by careless smoking, they said.

U.S. Unconvinced by Peace Overtures of Fickle Reds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reds have been treating the United States like a donkey, beating it over the head with the stick of bluster, trying to lead it along with the carrot of soft talk.

* * *

Since the 1953 death of Joseph Stalin, with his perpetual growl, the Russians have switched from nasty to nice and back again, with assists from the Red Chinese. The Chinese were in the act this week.

* * *

The Russians have blown up peace hopes, and deflated them, like a balloon. They have switched so much they seem to play by ear. It might be fatal to assume so.

Georgi Malenkov, who succeeded Stalin as premier, took a softer line than the old dictator. He talked of "peaceful coexistence" and "peaceful economic competition." He was bounced in favor of Nikolai Bulganin Feb. 8, 1955.

USUAL MOLOTOV TIRADE

That same day Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov took the tough line again: he said the Soviets led the United States in the H-bomb race. He accused the United States of aggression. He warned the United States not to push too hard.

Meanwhile, alternately fierce and moderate, the Soviet leaders eventually joined President Eisenhower in the Geneva summit meeting. There they were so pleasant that the wistful began to think happy days were here again.

* * *

Russia dropped the carrot and picked up the stick again when Molotov went back to Geneva for the foreign ministers' meeting. He showed nothing had changed.

Then Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, just as if there had never been pleasant words at Geneva with Eisenhower, journeyed to Southern Asia, where Khrushchev denounced the West, tried to stir up trouble among the Asians.

SWITCH WITH FINESSE

Bulganin didn't get nasty. He played straight man to Khrushchev's tough guy. Pretty shrewd arrangement. Whenever the Russians wanted to switch back to being nice, Bulganin, who avoided name - calling, could open up a smile.

The Russians lost some ground—from a propaganda standpoint—anyway—when Eisenhower offered at Geneva his aerial inspection plan and the Soviets turned it down. It was almost certain they would when he made the offer.

They tried to offset this last week with Bulganin's offer to Eisenhower of a 20-year friendship treaty, which the President turned down, as the Russians no doubt knew he would.

* * *

But on the day Bulganin made his treaty offer Khrushchev, as if to puzzle the West a little more, suddenly began mentioning friendly relations and Eisenhower's good intentions.

* * *

The Reds, having failed to budge the United States with the treaty carrot, pulled the stick out from behind the door.

* *

No sooner had Eisenhower rejected the friendship treaty than the Red Chinese got into the act, as they had been doing on and off all year.

* * *

Their foreign minister, Chou En-lai, threatened to take Formosa.

WILLIAM V. COULACOS

Elect Coulacos Head of Boys' Club Group

William V. Coulacos, executive director of the Boys' Club of Pontiac, was elected president of the Boys' Clubs of Michigan and Ohio Assn. at the annual meeting of the group in Detroit yesterday. Coulacos had served as vice president during the past year.

The association was formed 15 years ago to promote closer unity between boys clubs of the two states and permit the exchange of program ideas among the area clubs.

Currently, plans are being made to mark the 50th anniversary of Boys Clubs of America, as well as to hold the national convention of Boys Clubs in Detroit in 1957. Coulacos is slated to play a major role in the organization of the 1957 convention.

Benson Says Defeat of Morse Important

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson militantly defended administration farm policies and put in a plug for a Cabinet colleague as a possible senatorial candidate during a flying stopover here last night.

Benson said Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, former Oregon governor, was the Republican party's best hope of capturing the seat now held by Sen. Morse (D-Ore).

"Next to the election of Eisenhower, the defeat of Wayne Morse is the most important task before the Republicans," he said.

Benson, who will address the National Assn. of Grain Growers at Portland today and fund-raising luncheons in eastern Washington Friday, called the Administration's proposed farm measures a "billion-dollar-plus program."

* * *

"Everywhere I find farmers are thinking too soundly to expect or want any white rabbit solutions to their problems," he said. "They expect programs that are economically sound and fair to all our people. And they want these programs on a voluntary basis with the government cooperating, not dictating—programs which help themselves."

The nation's automobile industry shipped 533,861 station wagons from its factories in the first nine months of 1955, some 184,000 more than in all 1954.

Rhubarb Starts on Maple Trees

New England, Canada Vie Over Right to Claim Symbol as Trademark

SHERBROOKE, Que. (AP) — Canada, where "The Maple Leaf Forever" is virtually a national anthem No. 2, jumped into the great maple tree debate today.

* * *

The Canadians accused their Yankee cousins of getting most of their maple syrup from Canada in the first place, regardless of whose state claims the tree.

Authorities in this syrup-producing center cast a jaundiced eye at the three-ring hassle between the governors of New York, Vermont and New Hampshire.

New York's Gov. Averell Harriman started the whole thing by asking his Legislature to designate the sugar maple the official state tree.

HALLOWED GROUND

Vermont's Gov. Joseph B. Johnson promptly accused New York of stepping on "hallowed ground" and New Hampshire's Gov. Lane Dwinnell declared both his colleagues were "way out on a maple limb."

Robert Boright, one of Quebec's biggest exporters of maple syrup, sniffed at all this and said most of the maple tree juice sold under American labels is imported from Quebec — and even then is "watered down" for retail sale.

Seventy-five per cent of Quebec's annual crop — about 25 million pounds — is exported to New York, Vermont and New Hampshire, Boright said.

* * *

The stuff, he continued, is sold in the United States as maple syrup. Sherbrooke producers say the blend, banned for sale in Quebec, consists of 15 per cent Quebec syrup and the rest cane juice.

QUEBEC SCORNED

Sherbrooke informants added that the three states in question produce about 95 per cent of the U.S. output of maple products, but Quebec produces more than all the United States together.

* * *

Indications are that the U.S. fuss may be put to a decision at the annual New York State Maple Sugar Festival at Cooperstown April 6. Harriman has challenged his colleagues to enter their products in a "free and fair taste test."

Nobody's asked Quebec to enter.

Fragile China Is Pretty Sturdy As Tableware

NEW YORK (INS) — Fragile-looking china is pretty sturdy stuff, if you just take proper care of it.

"It doesn't even need as much care as cheaper ware," says Jewel Gould, chinaware authority for a china firm.

"Wash it with a soft cloth and a mild soap," she advises. "I'd recommend putting a soft cloth between the dishes if you're going to stack them.

"That way there's less clatter, and some china can be scratched. A cloth will protect it."

Other tips about china care include a warning not to use harsh detergents or abrasives on it.

Food should not be allowed to harden on the surface.

When storing, stack china low with items of one shape and size placed together. This makes it easier to get at when you need it in a hurry, and you are less likely to drop a piece in your excitement. For the same reason, cups should be hung separately or stacked by twos.

Baby Bottle Changed to Be More Efficient

Baby's bottle brush now has a new look that also makes it more efficient.

The long wire handle ends in a complete loop which enables you to get a good grip when plunging hot soap or detergent suds up and down inside the bottle. The wire is covered with soft plastic to eliminate the danger of chipping bottle necks and the bristles are long enough to reach all inside surfaces.

When the bottles are clean, both the bottle and the brush should be rinsed with very hot water as an added precaution.

Adoptions in Black Market Produce Ugly Results

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—America has begun to reap a frightening harvest of broken homes, twisted lives and juvenile delinquents from the vicious black market in babies which has been growing in the U. S. for the past 10 years.

* * *

Lack of federal curbs on an interstate traffic in infants and loose state adoption laws are responsible, experts declare.

The disastrous human results from chronic abuse of adoption procedures are now revealed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) and by the files of the U. S. Children's Bureau.

* * *

In an attempt to bolster his childless marriage a California lawyer "bought" a baby from an adoption ring in the East for $2,000. For the first few months the baby did bring the couple closer.

BITTER QUARRELS

But when the novelty wore off, quarrels over care of the child became frequent and bitter. To solve this problem they left the baby with friends and went abroad.

* * *

The child was shunted to three different families and ended up in a welfare home. It is still there, in an emotionally-disturbed condition.

Discovery of what had happened in their absence helped precipitate a divorce. Now no one wants the child and a marriage is wrecked.

Buying an infant to please a neurotic wife or in hopes of saving a shaky marriage are the most common motives exploited by the baby black market.

* * *

More than 150,000 children are estimated to have been involved in this racket in recent years. A successful result is rare.

MENTALLY RETARDED

Another typical category is the case of the New York businessman who bought a baby in Chicago for $3,500 through a "friend." It took the couple three heart breaking years to confirm their growing suspicion that the child was mentally retarded.

* * *

The shock gave the wife a nervous breakdown, from which she has never recovered. The man retired to care for his wife. The child is with relatives, a great handicap to their family life.

Hundreds of couples are making the agonizing discovery that children they have gotten illegally are blind, deaf, not normal or of a different race.

Here's another type of popular illegal adoption gimmick: A prospective unwed mother checks into a hospital under the name of the woman who will take custody of the child. This gives a forged birth certificate but avoids adoption procedures.

Usually trouble results. The husband of one couple who used this device died when the child was 6. In contesting the man's will relatives revealed to the court what the couple had done.

The scandal sent the heart-broken widow to a sanatorium, forcing the child to be sent to a home. He's still there, in a state of emotional shock while the case continues to be fought in court.

* * *

A lawyer who got a baby this way could have been the rare case of a couple making a successful home for a loving young boy, now 4. But the father told an investigator of the Kefauver committee:

"The constant fear that we will be exposed has wrecked my health and has been a club over our lives."

Still another tragic case is where the mother who gives up a child to the black market changes her mind years later and attempts to regain custody of the boy or girl.

* * *

Court action which results is brutal to everyone concerned. In one case it caused a 10-year-old lad to attempt suicide. Many youths caught in this emotional web have become delinquents.

The need for better state laws on adoption and federal laws to halt the interstate character of this black market is obvious if this growing cancer in American life is to be arrested.

Appear in Waterford School

Duo-Pianists Present Brilliant Concert

Even superlatives are inadequate to describe the brilliant performance of duo-pianists Luboshutz and Nemenoff, who appeared in concert last night at the Isaac E. Crary Junior High School.

* * *

Their reputation as the foremost piano team of three continents is well deserved. Each knows the other's part of every composition they play and each complements the other with an amazingly natural perfection.

The program opened gently with a Cecar Franck prelude, one of Pierre Luboshutz' own arrangements. Next came Bach's "Concerto in A Minor" with allegro, adjio and allegro movements.

Mozart's "Sonata in D Major," with its allegro conspirito, andante and allegro molto movements, made up the second part of the concert.

* * *

After intermission, the keyboard artists played Claude Debussy's "Lindaraja" and Aram Khachaturian's modern "Suite" which was divided into three parts—Ostinato, Romance and Fantastic Waltz.

TWO ENCORES

Chopin's "Rondo" was slated as the concluding number, but the talented pianists came back for two encores — Michard's "Scaramoche" and the much-loved "Fire-Bird Dance."

* * *

Luboshutz and Nemenoff truly are the complete masters of the piano, in every phase—interpretation, execution, technique — from the most whispered pianissimo to the most commanding fortissimo.

The artists performed on two concert grand pianos and were heard here under the auspices of the Waterford Township Civic Music Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young entertained following the Luboshutz-Nemenoff concert. On their guest list were Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wargelin, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Hunter and the Donald Redmonds.

The William Shuncks, the George Underwoods, Helen Davis, the Ralph Bergemans, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rosie and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pappas were also guests.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Calbi honored the artists at the Kingsley Inn and a small reception was held for them at the E. L. Windeler home after their arrival Tuesday evening.

Avoid Those Unforeseen Dress Trials

Meticulousness is the mark of really good grooming.

And this especially concerns the woman who is perfectly dressed on a Saturday night with the exception of a stocking run that she must bear because she has no replacement.

There is a basic trick to it. After each wearing a garment should be shaken out, hung up to air, inspected for dirt or damage.

And repair should be done then and there, so there will be no crisis when it is next removed from the closet.

Dirt on fabric buttons, for example, makes a suit look older than it is. There's no point in sending it to the cleaner, for a good cleaner removes the buttons before cleaning anyway. A home repair is the trick.

POWDER RIMS

The same applies to powder rims on necklines, stains on cuffs, soiled piping or trim, soiled hatbands, scuffed heels, tarnished metal belt buckles or fancy buttons, smudged handbag handles and corners.

Keep the equipment near the closet to do these wardrobe-saving touch-ups.

A good cleaning fluid, a good metal polish, shoe polishes and saddle soaps, a needle and thread and all the whatnots should be right there so you won't say: "Well, I'll do it later."

BIG AID

A big aid to the minor cleaning jobs on buttons and necklines and such are the double-ended cotton swabs.

Officers Elected by Presbyterian Couples Club

Election of officers was held by members of the Couples Club of the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Allen Jr. were elected president; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, first vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ross, second vice president; Mr. and Mrs. William DeRoo, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Savage, membership chairmen.

Guests attending the Wednesday evening dinner meeting held in the church dining room were Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Jaarsveld, the Bradley Scotts, the Richard Scarces and Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCandless.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr and Mrs. Robert Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mehlberg and Mr and Mrs. D. Edward Rightmire.

The group will meet again Feb. 29.

How do you take care of your shoes? A brush for the suede, polish for the calf? Shoe trees or tissue paper stuffed into the toes? That's the way it should be.

All Furniture Hides Dirt

CHICAGO (INS) — Your upholstered furniture may look spick and span but it still needs a thorough cleaning once a week.

That advice comes from the company which makes more upholstered furniture than any other firm in the world.

A spokesman for the firm said a survey has disclosed that most homemakers neglect their upholstered furniture while keeping the rest of the house spotless.

Dust and dirt, he explained, have been found to have an abrasive effect when left in fabrics and this means they wear out sooner.

To insure a longer, better looking life for upholstery fabrics, it is recommended that the furniture be vacuumed thoroughly at least once a week—particularly underneath the seat cushions.

To keep the material smooth fitting, cushions should be reversed once a week.

If there are visible spots, these should be removed as soon as they are noticed. The furniture firm spokesman said the best rule to follow in cleaning fabrics, particularly if they cover foam rubber, is to be sure the fluid for cleaning them has either a water base or is a non-distilled type of cleaner.

The cleaning fluid should be used in small areas and should never be allowed to soak through the covering onto the upholstery.

Compounds generally acceptable for cleaning fabric include soaps; detergents,

County Quota Club Holds Anniversary Celebration

Each year, during the anniversary month of February, Quota Clubs honor their founders and the accomplishments of women in various lines of endeavor.

On Wednesday evening members of the Quota Club of Oakland County celebrated the 37th birthday of Quota International at a dinner meeting held in Aunt Fanny's. Lucy Landin and Mrs. Patricia Anderson were cochairman for the event.

It was announced that Carlote Franco of Guatemala City, Guatemala, was selected to receive a fellowship awarded every year by Quota Club International to an excellent woman graduate student from any nation not under Soviet domination, to study in the United States. These fellowships are a recognition of the value of international goodwill.

Miss Franco is doing social work with the blind, and here in the United States she will work in the School of Social Work at Boston University.

* * *

A huge birthday cake decorated in silver and blue, Quota Club colors, centered the speaker's table. The color scheme was carried out in other table appointments.

Mrs. J. Kathryne Shields, president, welcomed members and guests present from Pontiac, Ferndale, Farmington, Royal Oak and Detroit.

She told of the girls' service work being done by the organization, of the service to the hard of hearing, and of the international cooperation.

How Can Girl Tell if Boy Still Likes Her?

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

You used to see him all the time. You had ever reason to believe that you were his girl. He dated only you. Everybody told you he liked you. You felt very smug and comfy while it lasted.

It's over now. You don't see him around much. There are no more dates. Between you, you agreed to end all that. But your heart has surprised you. It keeps right on beating for him. And wondering if he could possibly be feeling the same way about you.

Is there any way to end this wondering and churning? How can a girl find out if her old love still likes her? That's what this girl would like to know.

"Dear Miss Woodward: We went steady for about a year, then for no reason at all we broke up. I still like him best and want to go steady again. But I don't know how he feels about me. How can I find out if he still likes me?"

Answer: Unless you had a bitter hair-pulling, name-calling, knock-down-and-drag-out fight to end your going together, it's quite safe to assume that your old boy friend entertains pleasant memories of the happy and exciting times you shared—or he is completely indifferent to you.

A fight would leave a very bad taste in his mouth, bad enough for making faces at the very mention of your name. And would insure his never coming near you again.

If you didn't fight, but he never comes around, you'd be wise to interpret his silence and absence as indifference. He just doesn't like you enough to make any moves in your direction.

And do you really need anyone to tell you that? Must you ask your friends to try to get an explanation from him for you? Many a girl would ask her chum to tackle him direct. Taken off guard he's likely to give a quick, "No, I don't like her any more."

So why not go about it directly yourself? Not a campaign to ask the big question right off the bat. But a campaign to see if you can't get him over his indifference to you.

When you see him, speak to him gaily as though nothing had happened. If you have a chance to talk, start in right where you last left off, with questions and answers about things that mattered to you both.

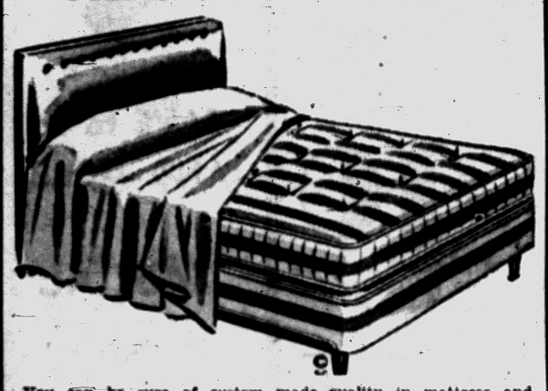

Invite him when you have an invitation to give to a boy. Include him in the parties you have. All of this just to remind him what fun you are and what fun you used to have together.

If he doesn't rise and shine, you'll know the answer to your big question. He doesn't want to bother any more. So why should you bother, either?

MR. and MRS. C. McLATRIDGE

Barbara Mae Perry became the bride of Charles McLatridge Saturday at Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson Perry of Lake Orion and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erie Brown of Second avenue.

Barbara Perry Speaks Nuptial Vows Before 150

A gown of nylon tulle over lace was worn by Barbara Mae Perry for her marriage to Charles Roader McLatridge Saturday evening at Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church. The couple exchanged their wedding vows in the presence of 150 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson Perry of Lake Orion are parents of the bride, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Erie Brown of Second avenue.

The bridal gown featured a Queen Anne collar. A crown of seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and white roses.

Mrs. Charles Yates, sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. She wore a yellow floor-length gown with a bouffant skirt and matching stole. She carried turquoise pompons.

Other bridal attendants were Peggy Neil, Beverly Perry and Doris Jean Perry of Lake Orion, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Roger Deaver, sister of the briedgroom. They were gowned identically in floor-length dresses of turquoise chiffon and they carried bouquets of yellow pompons.

Charles Yates was best man. Ushers were Charles Fick, Bill Ellis, Judson Waite and Roger Deaver.

For the ceremony the mother of the bride wore a dress of green corded silk with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Brown wore a metallic blue dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held at the UAW-CIO Union Hall.

For their motor trip through the Southern states, the bride changed to a brown suit with matching accessories and the rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. On their return the newlyweds will reside on Cooper street.

Pair Fails to Dress Up for Dinner

Hostess to Blame for Not Explaining the Situation

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter explains: "The other evening a friend invited my husband and me to dinner. We go to this friend's house often and, thinking there would be just the four of us and it would be a quiet friendly evening, I didn't bother to dress. That is, I didn't wear my best clothes and my husband wore a tweed suit.

"When we arrived we found it was a large dinner party and everyone was dressed up.

"I felt terribly embarrassed and was quite put out with the hostess for not having told us that it was to be a party. Shouldn't we have been told about this beforehand, and should we have gone home to change?"

Answer: If you live very close by, you could have run home very quickly and changed, but if you live at a distance there was nothing to do but face what was (I agree) a distressing situation.

If you seldom dress when dining in this house, the hostess was very much to blame for not telling you that they were dressing on this particular evening.

"Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct name for a wife to use when she and her husband are separated, but not divorced?"

Answer: Usually she keeps his name. The fact that they have different addresses shows that they have separated. The further fact that neither can remarry avoids the complication of ex-wife and wife No. 2 having duplicate names.

This is the principal reason why the divorcee properly gives up her husband's surname and substitutes it with her maiden name.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When I am having dinner in a restaurant with a boy, where am I supposed to stand to wait for him while he pays the check?"

Answer: You just walk slowly toward the door and wait, exactly as you do when he goes to the box office to buy theater tickets.

New Leather Gloves Are Now Different

Leather gloves are always good, but this year they're different. There are the new lengths, 4-button and 6-button; the new colors, yellow and mauve; the new trims such as gold kid on white capeskin. There's the elegant suede glove that has gained new popularity since it became both washable and dry-cleanable.

For still others there are leather golf gloves, leather gardening gloves, leather belt-and-color sets trimmed with jewels, or white leather ballet slippers to go with her tapered black velvet hostess pajamas.

Paris Agog About New Scooter-Coat

PARIS (INS) — Something new has made its appearance in Paris — a "scooter-coat."

But it can serve equally well for skating, riding a motor-cycle or bike, hunting, golf or simply traveling.

Created by Calixte, this scooter-coat looks like a tent-shaped duster. It is buttoned down the front, has raglan sleeves and a small collar. It is made to prevent clothes from getting dusty or muddy and the trick is in an invisible but most practical construction.

From the waist down the scooter-coat is lined with a double-panel. This double-panel is connected with comfortable, knee-length bloomers of the same fabric. Both panel and bloomers end inside in an elastic band at waist height.

The trick is to slide a full skirt between the double-panel and the coat thus covering the skirt with the coat outside and the double panel inside to prevent it from being splashed when riding on a scooter.

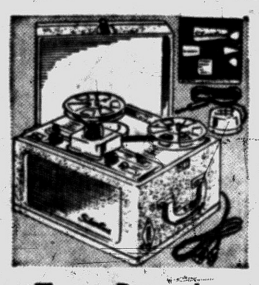

Since the built-in bloomers are of the same fabric as the coat and the double-panel, a girl doesn't have to blush if they show. Calixte has made the coat of silver-grey cotton poplin. She shows it on a manequin wearing a full cocktail skirt.

* * *

For warmer weather this garment can be worn without a skirt and with a belt as a practical sports outfit looking like a dress with matching bloomers.

Vocational Wild Oats Are Natural

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My son is a job-hopper," a mother writes me, "and I wish there were some way we could help him to settle down.

* * *

"He's been out of college five years and is 26 years old. He's had I don't know how many jobs since graduation and it worries us so much. The trouble is, he doesn't seem concerned about it at all.

"He says sooner or later he'll find the right one, and so forth. But we want him to be a success, to marry and settle down. But how can he, if he's going to be such a rolling stone?

"I think the colleges should do a better job of vocational counseling, so young people would know what they want by the time they graduate!"

* * *

I know how this mother feels, but she is really making a big mistake, letting herself worry so about a perfectly normal thing.

COLLEGES ARE OK

First of all, the colleges do, from my point of view, a very good job. Their first duty is to educate the young people, not to jam them into a preordained rigid job category.

* * *

Moreover, the many - faceted young person cannot be added up that soon. He must have a period of trial and error, and the colleges are smart enough to know it.

Secondly, it is much better to do your moving around in the beginning, instead of holding your nose and making a premature jump.

The boys who do that usually end up in their 40s hating their jobs, and that is a much more difficult age at which to change.

And third, according to a study of successful top executives, made by the University of Chicago, the men who changed around a lot in their 20s, finally settled when they were about 30 and then zoomed ahead.

So this boy is really following the procedure of the really successful tycoon!

My suggestion to this mother, and to others like her, is to relax and stop worrying.

The boy who sows his vocational wild oats early in the game is going to be a lot less worry, in the long run, then the boy who waits until the 40s!

ROBERT H. LAITY

A bachelor of science degree in civil engineering was conferred upon Robert H. Laity Tuesday evening at Wayne University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard B. Laity of Pingree avenue.

This rayon linen ensemble may head the Easter Parade. Navy duster coat with sailor collar and button-on back belt with red trim over a print dress with wide navy waistband to match coat.

Prewar Hose Is Available

There are two very definite and conflicting trends in the consumer's mind on the subject of stockings.

* * *

The first is: "where are those lovely prewar stockings that wore and wore? The insubstantial merchandise they're making these days is just no good."

This, of course, is wrong.

These women are forgetting that those lovely prewar "sheers" would look like lisle to us now. They wore and wore, but they had a color of their own rather than being merely a flattering shadow. They were a soft bunchy weave.

The second trend must be more secret, for no one talks about it. It's a definite desire for sheerer stockings and it's reflected in the arrival on the market of filmier stockings. The latest is so fabulously sheer that the box looks all but empty. The price is something awesome.

* * *

One can still get "prewar" sheers. They're called service sheers and if you're in doubt, take a look in the next five-and-ten. But don't buy the luxury stockings because you like their looks and want their flattery and then expect them to behave like the more sturdy article.

Know that you may have to pay for that flattery with a more fragile stocking.

Denies Face-Lifting of Mme. Lupescu

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dr. I. Daniel Shorell has issued a denial that he performed a facial operation in Lisbon on Elena Lupescu, widow of King Carol of Romania.

* * *

In a statement, the Miami Beach surgeon said:

"I have been advised that the person involved in an operation in Lisbon was not Madame Helene Magda Lupescu. Consequently I wish to make categorical denial that I performed facial surgery on Madame Helen Magda Lupescu in Lisbon, and that I request you to make wide public knowledge to that effect."

Last December Dr. Shorell had told correspondents in Madrid that he had performed a face-lifting operation upon Mme. Lupescu. Subsequently Mrs. Monique Urdarianu, wife of the former great chamberlain of King Carol, said: "Princess Elena never had her face lifted in her life."

A recheck with Dr. Shorell brought his statement.

Blonde Will Testify in Brink Theft Case

BOSTON (INS)—A blonde Boston woman, one of several witnesses in the Brink's $1,218,211 cash robbery, today reported under FBI guard in an out-of-state city, awaiting a call to testify at the trial of six alleged suspects.

* * *

The long-missing woman, whose identity was withheld, reportedly was present for the counting of some of the loot from the fantastic robbery. She has been kept in hiding by authorities for many months, awaiting the trial, now set for the first week in April.

Although the suspects will be tried in Suffolk Superior Court, federal agents also were reported to be holding a dossier of conclusive evidence, obtained by wire tap. It also was reported the government has some of the Brink's money, which allegedly was sent to Philadelphia when Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe and Stanley Gusciora, were under arrest there.

O'Keefe allegedly confessed participating in the robbery and implicated 10 others, including Gusciora who is serving a term in a Pennsylvania prison. Indictments were obtained against all eleven, and six are due for trial in April. O'Keefe already has pleaded guilty.

Father of Six Crushed to Death in Ecorse Pit

ECORSE (INS) — A 50-year-old Lincoln Park man was crushed to death last night while uncoupling a pot car in the hearth pit at the Great Lakes Steel Corp. here.

Fellow workers said Herbert Steir was leaning between the car and its motive power union, attempting to unhitch the coupling, when the unit backed up.

2 Candidates File Petitions for Forthcoming Primary

Two more nominating petitions were filed yesterday at the city clerk's office for the March 5 primary by two candidates seeking seats on the 1956-57 City Commission.

Filing petitions were Philip E. Rowston, incumbent from District 2, and Victor L. Smothers, seeking a seat in District 7 presently represented by Commissioner Harry W. Lutz.

The two petitions were the third and fourth submitted prior to the Feb. 14 deadline. Petitions were received this week from Mayor William W. Donaldson (District 3) and Commissioner John A. Dugan (District 5).

Rowston, 34, of 24 Utica Rd., was appointed to the commission July 5, 1955 to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Harcourt S. Patterson.

He is a partner in the law firm of Beer, Rowston, and Currah which he joined soon after being admitted to the Bar in December 1953. Rowston received a law degree from the Detroit College of Law in June, 1953 and his bachelor's degree from Olivet in 1942.

The candidate is the dean of the Pontiac Senate of the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity, on the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Board and on the Board of Deacons of the First Congregational Church.

The attorney is married and the father of two girls.

Smothers, 37, and the father of four children, lives at 154 Perkins. He was defeated in 1954 by Lutz for the same commission seat.

He is presently a custodian for the Board of Education after he left the employ of General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

He has been a resident of the city since 1929 and is a member of St. Vincent De Paul Church and treasurer of the Holy Name Society.

RCA Earmarks Plants to Make Color TV Sets

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (INS) — The Radio Corporation of America will start mass production of color television sets at its Bloomington and Indianapolis plants this year.

Robert A. Seidel, RCA executive vice president, announced the company's plans yesterday at an "open house" in the remodeled five million dollar Bloomington plant, which has been in limited color TV output for two years.

Seidel said RCA is planning to make at least 200,000 color sets in 1956.

Fish May Have to Wait

ANN ARBOR (AP) — State Rep. Herb Clements (R-Deckerville), a patient in the University hospital, said Wednesday he hoped to be out of the hospital before the Feb. 8 deadline for filing bills in the state legislature. Clements said he will offer a bill to restock the Great Lakes with disappearing species of fish.

$1 Million Expansion

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Cone Drive Gears Co. here will start immediately on a million-dollar expansion program which will enlarge plant facilities by 50 per cent, Paul Gustafson, plant manager, announces. The company, a division of the Michigan Tool Co., manufacturers auto parts. Gustafson said plant employment, now about 200, will be increased when the addition is completed, probably by the end of June.

Bob Considine Says:

Child's Misdeed Launches a Big Business

NEW YORK (INS)—Don't belt your little daughter if you catch her dabbling the old lady's war paint on her sweet little kisser. Look what happened to Ellen Hassenfeld.

* * *

That's right, Ellen Hassenfeld. She was 7 years old that happy day when she dipped into her mother's cosmetic kit and came out looking like Sitting Bull just before he went to work on Custer.

Mrs. Hassenfeld scrubbed the child and packed her off to bed. The father, who is president of a toy company, was informed of the crime when he came home from work that evening.

The child acted as her own defense counsel. "You make toys," she said to the old man. "Why don't you have a cosmetic kit that little girls can play with?"

* * *

Well, sir, Hassenfeld's hair stood on end, sparks flew from his ears, bells sounded in his head, and every pinball machine within a radius of 10 square miles registered, "Tilt."

The next day he ordered such a game into production. More than 10,000,000 have been sold in the three or four intervening years. Little Ellen was given a royalty for the invention. At last count, she had made $125,000.

IRISH RESEARCH

Radio Eireann has done some interesting research in the field of letters sent back to Ireland by people who came to this country in the years after the Great Famine.

* * *

Many did not find it a land of milk and honey. "I can never make a fortune in this land, but can earn an honest living and nothing more," wrote an Irishman who settled in Ohio in the 1870s.

Many were philosophical and hopeful, a search of old letters shows.

"I still think I am in as good a country as there is in the world today for a poor man," wrote an Irishman in 1883 from the state of Washington.

"The majority of rich men in the country have risen from their own industry. Any man here that will work and save his earnings, and make use of his brains, can grow rich."

A land that had no lords and dukes and where the class divisions were not easily defined bemused many of the newly arrived Irish. From California nearly 100 years ago, one wrote:

"There are no gentlemen here. If a farmer in Ireland made three or four thousand dollars in a year you couldn't walk the road with him. You would have to go inside the fence or he would ride over you."

DUCHIN MEMORIAL

Eddie Duchin will be dead five years on Feb. 9. Some of the friends who loved him and still mourn his death have formed a fund in his memory, the benefits of which will go to the Music Division of the American Theater Wing.

* * *

Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, the governor's lady, is honorary chairman. The campaign will be launched with a huge concert at Town Hall in New York Feb. 12.

Duchin had more unconscious class than almost anybody I've met in New York or anywhere else. The way he sat at a piano or stood at a bar made him a stickout.

Every woman of every age who ever met him fell in love with him, secretly or otherwise. Yet he was a man's man, and his idea of a perfect day was to sit in a corner at Shor's place and talk baseball with his friend Joe DiMaggio.

* * *

He could play piano so well that even Rachmaninoff would go to a saloon to hear him. But he was elaborately indifferent to his art. "It'll take me at least two hours to get back to my old form," he said with a worried look, after four tough years of war.

Once, while passing through training in the Navy, he was grabbed by a socially inclined admiral, and, for a time, became the admiral's personal piano player. He rebelled and demanded action. Miffed, the admiral asked why.

"One of these days my kid is going to ask me, 'What did you do in the big war, Daddy?' I can't tell him I played piano at Great Lakes."

Eddie got his war, and the war nearly got him, too. And whenever he told the story in the years after the war, he'd grin and say, "You know something, after all that trouble the kid never asked me."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

MIND YOUR MANNERS—1

Company Manners

Good manners are based on kindness and consideration for others. Sometimes we speak of "company manners" which means special manners when we have company or go visiting.

Here is a case where "company manners" were forgotten.

Jane is having a party and Dick was invited. Although his mother reminded him to get dressed he put it off until it was too late. Then he dashed to the party in his old clothes.

Arriving at Jane's house, Dick dashed in without knocking, didn't take off his cap and startled Jane by his sudden entrance so that she dropped her tray of ice cream.

When invited to a party, Junior Editors should use their "company manners." Arrive on time, knock at the door and enter quietly. Boys should take off their caps on entering. All Junior Editors should be polite to the grownups, their hostess and other guests.

Seek to Retain 2 Psychiatrists

Williams Confers With Experts Who Quit State Posts Over Policy Spat

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams indicated today that two child psychiatry experts who resigned from their University of Michigan posts have been offered direction of the state's new Hawthorne Center at Northville.

The two are Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch and his wife, Dr. Sarah Dubo. They quit as heads of the children's neuropsychiatric institute at Ann Arbor in a policy dispute.

Gov. Williams conferred with the two in his office yesterday in an attempt to persuade them to remain in the state mental health system. He said the couple, both nationally recognized in their field, reportedly had been offered positions in other states.

Hawthorn clinic, not scheduled for completion until May, will house 80 mentally ill children when first opened and later be expanded to 120 beds. Costing more than two million dollars, it is patterned largely after the Ann Arbor clinic which the couple headed.

"Naturally, said the grovernor, "I am deeply concerned over the prospect that the great experience and talents of Dr. Rabinovitch and his wife may be lost to Michigan.

"They not only made a great contribution at the university, but they have been very helpful as consultants to various state commissions and agencies, and the probate courts.

"No conclusions were reached in our discussions. But in view of our great need for persons trained in psychiatry and their eminence in this field, I am hopeful a way can be found to keep them in Michigan."

Williams said the couple indicated they would prefer state service to private practice and would "think over" the situation.

Deeds Office Shows Decline in Business

With 12,880 total papers recorded in January, Oakland County Register of Deeds Orrin McQuaid today reported a total income of $19,717.75.

This figure is a slight decrease from January 1955, when 13,513 papers brought income of $21,214.60.

This year, there were 3,091 deeds, 1,564 mortgages, 1,457 photostats, 4,555 chattel mortgages, and 2,213 miscellaneous.

Seventeen new plats were recorded during January.

MRS. MARGARET E. CHOW

Missionary to Speak at Assembly of God

Speaking tonight at the First Assembly of God, 210 N. Perry St. will be Mrs. Margaret E. Chow, missionary to British Guiana. The service will begin at 7:45 p.m. She will tell of the work accomplished, the people and their customs.

Mrs. Chow went to British Guiana with her husband in 1946 and established an assembly in Georgetown. She was born in China. During World War II, the Chows, both missionaries, were interned in Shanghai.

Gets Second Chance After Admitting Theft

An 18-year-old Auburn Heights youth, arrested yesterday for robbing a store at 402 Central St., Friday, will be turned over to the Oakland County Court of No Record.

His admitted companion in the crime, a 16-year-old Pontiac youth, was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Railroad Car Ferry Operating After Crash

PORT HURON (AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio car ferry, Pere Marquette 12, was back in service today following a crash yesterday into the side of a dock.

A sister ship pulled the vessel free. She was loaded with 20 freight cars, bound for Sarnia, Ont., from Port Huron, when she piled into the dock about a mile south of Port Huron.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Prince Rainier III of Monaco said his car "lightly tapped" the car in front while he was driving to see his fiancee, actress Grace Kelly. After exchanging addresses, he drove on, he said.

Strong Brother Saves Kin From Prison Term

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Joe and William Elbers, brothers, were on trial on charges of stealing a safe.

Joe, 34, insisted he pulled the job all by himself and demonstrated by lifting the 300-pound safe to the witness stand in Criminal Court.

"That was about the same height from the ground as the trunk of the car," Joe said.

Racial Trouble Brews in South

2nd Bomb Blast Rocks Front Yard of NAACP Official in Montgomery

ATLANTA (AP)—Ingredients from court and Legislature simmered uneasily today in the South's racial caldron, kindled anew by a bomb blast in Alabama.

Virginia legislators voted strong approval to a resolution of interposition which denounced the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling on public school segregation as an "illegal encroachment" on the sovereign rights of a state.

* * *

They voiced the pledge that Virginia, where the interposition movement had its recent rebirth, would follow whatever legal and honorable means it could muster to impede the mixing of white and Negro students in the classroom.

* * *

The vote yesterday left no doubt as to Virginia's stand: in the Senate the resolution passed 36-2; in the House 90-5.

In Georgia, a House committee approved a bill that would take away the charter of any city that fails to maintain racially segregated facilities. The measure apparently was aimed directly at Atlanta, where a federal court order recently brought an end to segregation on public golf courses.

Alabama was the first state to adopt an interpositionist plan which seeks to hold void the racial rulings of the Supreme Court—and the plan became official and went into effect without the governor's endorsement.

FOLSOM AVOIDS ISSUE

The deadline for executive action on Alabama's nullification resolution came yesterday, and Gov. James E. Folsom said then that he was washing his hands of the matter. Thus lacking action by the governor, the bill was not returned to the House, where it originated, and it thereby became an act automatically.

The bomb blast came last night. It was the second set off in 48 hours in Montgomery, onetime capital of the Confederacy and now beset by a drawn-out Negro boycott of city buses.

* * *

The bomb exploded in the front yard of the home of E. D. Nixon, a Negro Pullman car porter and former president of the Alabama Chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. Monday night a bomb was tossed at the parsonage home of the Rev. M. L. King, a Negro Baptist preacher.

* * *

Fire Causes $200,000 Ruin to Wayne Firm

Damage was estimated at $200,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The fire, discovered by patrolling policemen, raged for more than an hour before being brought under control by 24 firemen aided by volunteers from the Wayne-Nankin Township fire department and onlookers.

Forty-six per cent of all the cars in the United States are parked outdoors all night, a survey shows.

Mother, 5 Children Perish in Home Fire

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A mother and five children died in a fire that destroyed their home in a matter of minutes in a suburban area five miles east of here last night.

Only the father, Arthur Merrill Graham, 50, escaped. He said an explosion, presumably of an oil heater, blew him through a window.

He told authorities that those trapped inside were:

Mrs. Thelma May Graham, 39, his wife; his four children, Richard 7, Susan, 5, Kathleen, 3, Arthur Jr., 2, and a nephew, Gerald Edward Myers, 13.

Tragedy Strikes

DETROIT (AP)—Reaching on tiptoe from a chair for a recording of "The Lord's Prayer," 8-year-old Charles Chamberlain caught his head in an overhanging basement clothesline and strangled. The boy wanted to try out a record player his father had just installed.

German immigrants introduced the Christmas tree to America early in the 18th Century.

Junk Mail Puts Pressure on City's Postal Facilities

Added strain on already-inadequate postal facilities was cited yesterday by Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr. who reported that a current increase in "junk mail" has exhausted funds set aside for its processing.

Dean's observation followed recent testimony by Asst. Postmaster Gen. Norman R. Abrahms in which he told a house appropriations subcommittee that the amount of advertising sent at low, third-class rates is mounting rapidly.

Dean defines "junk mail" as that sent to householders whose addresses have been taken from a mailing list, and which carries the designation "occupant" or "resident."

The vast majority of such mail handled by the Pontiac Post Office is sent by firms located outside of the area, he said.

"We are presently away over our budget in this mail category," Dean disclosed. "Third-class mail takes as much in time and money to handle as first-class letters—and we don't get nearly the return."

The post office head stated that local employes are keeping abreast of the incoming volume, although he pointed out that such correspondence would be held up for higher priority first class mail under excessively-busy conditions.

"But we would have a bad mess on our hands if we held it up for long," he added.

For a brief period in 1954, the Post Office Department permitted postmen to distribute unaddressed advertising at each house on their routes. Complaints from the public, however, forced officials to require advertisers to provide specific addresses again.

The latter requirement, Dean said, was added in an effort to discourage abuses of third-class privileges on the theory that putting addresses on circulars would entail more work for the sender and thus reduce volume.

Abrahms told the subcommittee that the volume is again almost as bad as it was at the height of the gested that rates on direct-mail advertising be raised to a point where it would be financially self-sustaining.

U.S. Guided Missiles Outgrow Atlantic Proving Ground

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Writer

The United States is making a supreme effort to beat Soviet Russia in a grim race for the "ultimate weapon"—an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of blasting the enemy with atomic warheads at a range up to 5,000 miles.

It's a hush-hush subject, mentioned only in whispers in the Pentagon.

But there have been recent hints that the United States is by no means dragging its feet and may be ahead of the Soviets in the all-important contest to gain supremacy in the realm of push-button warfare.

During World War II, German V2 rockets had a range of little more than 200 miles and their accuracy, at best, was erratic. Today the United States has guided missiles with a range of at least 1,000 miles — and is progressing so rapidly in the development of new, deadlier and longer range weapons that we are beginning to run out of authorized space in which to test them.

MORE SPACE NEEDED

This was reflected early in January when the Pentagon disclosed this country is dickering with Britain for permission to extend the U.S. guided missiles proving ground shown on the accompanying map deeper into the south Atlantic.

Why? Because the Air Force needs more room to test its new "Snark" robot bomber. The "Snark," 32 feet long, four feet in diameter, has a reputed range of more than 1,000 miles and travels slightly below the speed of sound.

Now reported about ready for full-scale tests, the "Snark's" far-soaring range would take it beyond the present 1,000-mile limits of the proving ground, which runs from Florida's east coast to Puerto Rico.

The new pact with Britain, already agreed upon in principle, would give the United States permission to set up observation and guidance stations as far south as St. Lucia in the Windward Islands —about 500 miles southeast of the last U.S. instrument post in Puerto Rico. St. Lucia lies off the northeast tip of South America.

The Pentagon plans eventually to extend the range at least as far as British-held Ascension Island, a tiny dot on the south Atlantic about midway between South America and Africa, some 5,000 miles from Florida.

Then, if missiles are developed with an even greater range, they would be aimed on test runs to flash somewhere off the Cape of Good Hope and then vanish into the Antarctic.

RANGE OF 5,000 MILES

Fantastic as it sounds, scientists say it would be no more astonishing than the swift transition from 200-mile rockets in World War II to the 1,000 or 1,500-mile missiles of today.

Informed "guesstimates" expect it will be possible to achieve a range of 5,000 miles within the next five years.

Under tight wraps of secrecy, the long - range proving base in Florida has been operating for several years testing new missiles, including the 700-mile-per-hour Matador with its proven range of somewhere between 400 and 500 miles.

The launching site is at Coco, Fla., on the Banana river, about midway between Jacksonville and Palm Beach. At present, nine instrument stations are spotted on islands along the south Atlantic range, equipped with electronic devices to permit maximum observation and control over the missiles in flight.

UNDERWATER CABLE

Only last September the Air Force accepted delivery of the World's longest underwater telephone cable designed to serve as the communications "spinal cord" of the guided missiles range. The cable, which took four years to lay, is 1,575 miles long and extends from the Air Force test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., through the Bahama Islands to Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said a year ago that testimony by top Pentagon officials indicated the United States was ahead of Russia in the production and development of long-range guided missiles.

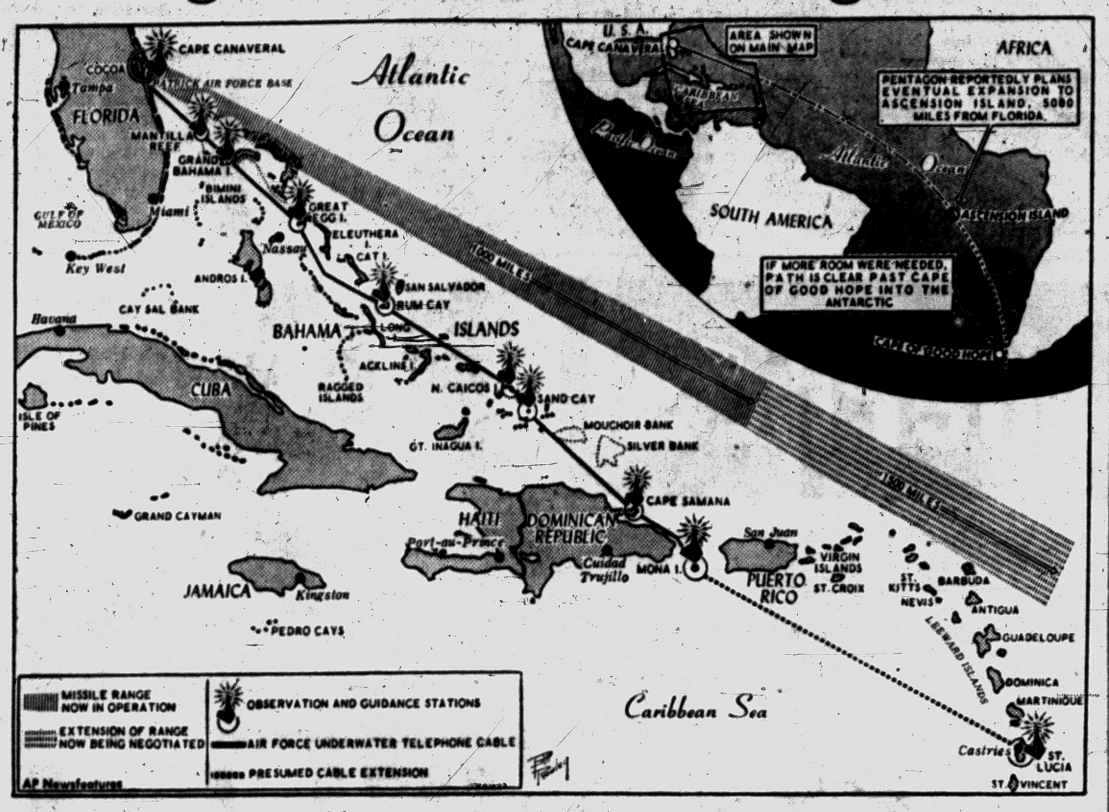

Early this year, however, Chairman Jackson (D-Wash) of a Senate atomic weapons subcommittee said there is "reason to believe" the Soviets may have developed missiles that could deliver H-bomb strikes at targets 1,500 miles away —including "virtually all" U. S. airbases overseas.

Thus it appears to be a neck-and-neck race, with perhaps both sides having achieved the 1,500-mile mark.

Illustrating the urgency of the struggle, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. Army chief of staff, said on Jan. 10 the Army is putting "all we've got" behind the effort to develop long-range robot weapons and expects to spend "more and more of its money" on guided missiles.

FRIENDLY RIVALRY

In friendly rivalry against the Air Force's "Snark" the Army is betting on its "Redstone" missile which reputedly will eventually have a range of 1,500 miles or more. Already it is reported to have a high degree of accuracy for well over 200 miles. It is named after the Redstone arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., where some 100 former German rocket scientists are working on the project.

Driver Steers His Car Into Drainage Channel

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Donald Cassidy, 25, drove without difficulty through last week's flood but yesterday in clear, dry weather he steered his car smack into Los Cerritos drainage channel.

Police said Cassidy told them he dozed off at the wheel and awoke when water gurgled through his car. He said he rolled down a window, squirmed out and dog-paddled to the surface.

He climbed the muddy banks and walked a mile to the Veterans Hospital for treatment for exposure. Police drove him home. His car is still in the channel.

Making Paklava Takes Patience

Whenever we hear about someone who does unusual cooking, we arrange an interview as soon as possible. Having had reports on what a good cook Mrs. Demetris Papanichols of Dwight avenue is, we asked for a visit with her. We wanted to watch her make Paklava.

Mrs. Papanichola came to this country as a bride when she was fifteen years old. She and her husband are alone now; their four children have grown up and are out on their own.

But, back to the Paklava . . . it's a wonderful layered pastry, full of nuts and topped with honey. One of Mrs. Papanichola's generous pieces is all one can eat — and more than anyone concerned with calorie counting should eat!

Our hostess took a pan of dough from the refrigerator, spread a clean tablecloth over the dining room table and went to work. She stretched and stretched and stretched that dough until it covered every inch of the table and hung down over the sides. By that time it resembled parchment.

Into a buttered deep cake pan went a couple of thin layers of dough. Melted butter was brushed on and chopped nuts were sprinkled over the top. This was repeated until the pan was full. We didn't count the layers, but we're sure there were at least twenty.

We're printing Mrs. Papanichola's recipe and hope that some of our readers are ambitious enough to try it out.

PAKLAVA

By Mrs. Demetris Papanichola

1 cup salad oil (not olive)
1 egg
3 cups water
½ teaspoon salt
2½ pounds flour
1 pound nut meats, preferably almonds
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 pound butter
2 pounds honey
½ cup water

Grind nuts and mix with cinnamon. Set aside.

Mix oil, egg, water and salt until well blended. Add flour gradually. Knead until soft. Separate into 6 pieces. Roll out each piece to the size of a 10-inch pie plate. Use waxed paper and cornstarch on each piece to avoid sticking. Pile dough circles, one on top of the other, and chill for 3 hours.

Cover large table with clean cloth. Place a circle of dough in the center. Pull on dough in a circular fashion and continue this stretching until dough covers the table. It will be as thin as onion skin paper. Let stand for a few minutes.

With a sharp knife cut dough into pieces the size of your baking pan. If possible, use a 12-14 inch pan and grease it. Put in four or five layers of dough, brushing each with melted butter. Sprinkle nuts over the top layer. Repeat until dough and nuts are used up.

Use remaining butter on top, pushing it down the sides and smoothing them neatly. Cut into diamonds or squares before baking. Bake in a 300-degree oven for 1 hour.

* * *

Fifteen minutes before the Paklava is done, dilute honey with ½ cup water. Remove at once after baking and pour honey mixture over top. Let cool. Makes 40-45 servings.

GREEK DELICACY — Mrs. Demetris Papanichola of Dwight avenue carefully removes a piece of Paklava from the pan. Paklava is a rich Greek pastry that's heavenly to eat. Your Home Editor watched Mrs. Papanichola make a pan of the pastry, then had an opportunity to sample it.

Team Apples, Cranberries

The food budget doesn't need stretching if you shop for the good in-season cooking apples at the grocer's now. Several varieties are there for favorite desserts — make up your most tasty variations of the favorite apple puddings.

Here's a new one, with cranberries. The combination gives the family its much-needed winter vitamins in the most flavorful way.

Apple-Cranberry Pudding

2 cups 10-minute cranberry sauce*
4 medium apples, cut in eighths
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup water
1 tablespoon brandy flavoring
½ cup quick-cooking tapioca

Drain cranberry sauce, reserving juice. Add water to juice to make 2 cups. Set aside. Combine apples, sugar, butter, lemon juice, salt, spices and water in a deep frying pan.

Cover; simmer over medium heat until apples are transparent, about 10 minutes. Baste occasionally with liquid in pan. Remove apples to heat-proof serving dish. Add drained cranberries and brandy flavoring.

Add cranberry liquid and tapioca to frying pan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Pour over fruit. Let stand 15 minutes; stir.

10-Minute Cranberry Sauce

Combine 2 cups sugar and 2 cups water in saucepan; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Add 4 cups (1 pound) cranberries. Cook over medium heat until cranberries pop open.

Cranberry Relish Hints of the Orient

Sweet and Pungent Cranberry Relish

2 cups (¾-pound) fresh cranberries
10 preserved kumquats
6 tablespoon green cage jam
4 pieces (⅛ ounce) crystallized ginger, finely diced

Put cranberries and kumquats through food chopper (coarse blade). Add ginger and jam, mixing until jam is thoroughly blended. Chill. Makes 1 pint.

No One's Sure About Origin of Word 'Spud'

What is the origination of the word "spud?"

According to one lively source, the "spud" hails from Scotland, is the name of the kind of spade or digging fork commonly used in cultivating and harvesting potatoes.

"Spuddy," our source goes on to say, is a slang term used in England for a man who sells poor quality potatoes.

Another imaginative historian claims "spud" is taken from the initials of an organization with the unlikely name: "Society to Prevent Unwholesome Diets." This society, as today's smart dieticians agree, was wholly in favor of making potatoes a regular feature in the daily menu.

* * *

Take your pick . . . whatever the origin of the word, it's here to stay as long as potatoes grace our tables.

Marinate canned sliced or shoestring-style beets in water, vinegar, brown sugar, salt, stick cinnamon and whole cloves. Drain and serve atop a mixed green salad.

'Stop Dieting! Start Losing!' Book Says It's Possible

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Since dieting is an ever-present problem, it is always interesting to report the publication of a new book on the subject. Ruth West's "Stop Dieting! Start Losing!" (E. P. Dutton Company, $2.95) is good reading as well as a gold mine of recipes.

The author's main idea is that we need to de-calorize our recipes. ". . . our recipes have not adjusted to the great changes that have taken place in our living pattern since the beginning of the century. Our cookery still is packed with the highly concentrated ingredients of America's hard early days. And they add little to flavor, though much to fat." Her recipes are like those Mother used to make—minus calories!

There is a word of warning given. Don't substitute if it changes the flavor or the texture of the finished product. Don't subtract luxury touches which are especially important to overweight people. Don't subtract what makes aroma. Don't subtract what makes texture interest. Do subtract fat!

Instead of browning meats in several spoonfuls of fat, brush the pan with a thin film of vegetable oil. Or brown meat under the broiler.

Miss West gives six basic recipes that are low calories. She elaborates on each, and you may do your own experimenting. Here, for instance is her low calories cream sauce. It has only 51 calories per cupful instead of the 430 in traditional cream sauce.

3-Minute De-Fatted 'Cream' Sauce

2 tablespoons cake flour
2 tablespoons instant dry milk powder
1 teaspoon flavoring salt
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon MSG
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups water

Sift dry ingredients together in a cup. Fill your pint-sized gravy shaker with tepid water from the tap. Dump the dry mix on top. Close shaker and shake contents energetically for a few seconds. Empty liquid into heavy aluminum pan.

Over high heat, stir constantly with a spatula, using the flat wide end of the spatula to keep mixture from sticking to bottom of pan. The sauce will be bubbling, thick and perfectly smooth in two minutes. Makes 2 cups. Use as you would any cream sauce.

If you've been dieting and just long for waffles, try this Master Recipe as given in this new diet book. The whole recipe contains only 500 calories instead of over 1,200 as usually made.

Twentieth Century Waffles

¾ cup cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup skim milk
1 tablespoon butter, melted
2 egg whites

Sprinkle dash of salt on egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Sift cake flour with baking powder and salt 6 times. Gradually add milk and melted butter. Put batter in electric beater and beat just long enough to make a smooth batter. Fold stiffly beaten egg whites carefully into batter.

* * *

Cook, 4 tablespoons at a time, in preheated waffle iron, without stirring batter again. Makes 6 waffles or 15 pancakes. Use large spoonful for pancakes. When puffed up and bubbles begin to break, turn and brown on other side. These pancakes have a chiffon cake texture and never get soggy.

Miss West goes on to say that with care you can find many low calorie foods in your grocery store. She cautions you to read all labels carefully. Many so-called low calorie foods have actually no fewer calories than regular foods and are higher priced.

* * *

In order to help yourself and any others in your family who may be dieting, make your kitchen do half the work. If you keep only low-calorie foods on hand, you won't have a chance to eat anything else.

* * *

Keep food interesting looking and tasting. Use your ingenuity in serving. Concentrate on de-fatted, low calorie foods. Keep your sense of humor working. And you'll see those pounds melt away.

If you want to avoid heating the oven, bake shortcake in an electric waffle iron using rich drop biscuit batter.

Barbecued Lamb Is Real Wife-Saver

Have you tried Barbecued Breast of Lamb? Easy on the budget and easy to do, it is a real wife-saver, and such good eating.

For four servings, cut 2 pounds lamb breast in four pieces. Carefully brown in a small amount of hot fat. Drain. Sprinkle with 2 teaspoons salt. Add 1 medium onion thinly sliced, about one-half cup chili sauce, 1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice or wine vinegar, 1 cup water.

Cover. Simmer over low heat or bake in a 350-degree (moderate) oven about 1½ hours. Uncover and cook about 20 minutes more or until the sauce is nearly absorbed.

Serve with mashed potatoes, chopped spinach or other green vegetable, cole slaw and hot rolls with fruit and cookies for dessert.

Bouillon on the Rocks Ideal for Dieting Guests

One can of beef bouillon adds up to three drinks of delicious, low-calorie Soup on the Rocks! That's good news for any hostess whose guest list includes friends who are dieting.

Chill the cans first in the refrigerator, then pour bouillon over ice cubes in glasses. Count on a mere 30 calories in a 9-ounce glass containing two ice cubes.

STRING BEAN AND BACON SALAD — Everybody loves string beans at any time of year. To vary the serving of this popular vegetable, try them in this salad recipe with its special flavoring magic that comes from an envelope of salad dressing mix, assuring the right proportion of herbs and spices.

Dressing Mix Spices Up String Bean-Bacon Salad

String beans, green beans, dear to our hearts are these thin beans! Healthful and rich in vitamin C, use them in this recipe to vary winter mealtime monotony.

* * *

Hearty String Bean and Bacon Salad uses green beans to their best advantage, and by following this recipe with its distinctive, different seasoning, folks will say something wonderful has happened to this popular vegetable.

The special flavoring magic comes from the subtle combination of herbs and spices found already blended together in an envelope of salad dressing mix.

By combining 2 teaspoons of the dry mix with sour cream and other ingredients, you can make a string bean salad a favorite winter treat.

* * *

When string beans are so readily available (which makes them inexpensive, too!), it behooves us to devise ways of serving them more often. Make the most of their healthful goodness with this recipe.

Hearty String Bean and Bacon Salad

2 teaspoons California French or exotic herbs salad dressing mix
½ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon sugar
1½ to 2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons catsup
1 cup cottage cheese
4 cups cooked string beans
3 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled

Combine dressing mix with sour cream. Add sugar, lemon juice, catsup, and cottage cheese; blend well. Add dressing to beans and toss lightly.

Serve on salad greens with bacon sprinkled on top. Makes 4 cups, or two or three servings entree salad, or six to eight servings side salad.

Apple Sandwiches

Nice for a snack: Start by washing and coring a red-skinned apple. Cut the apple into one-quarter rounds and dip in pineapple or orange juice. Make sandwiches of two apple rounds and one round of cheddar cheese. Serve with salted nuts and good hot coffee.

Molasses Adds Rich Taffy Flavor to Cereal Breads

One of the most pleasant fragrances in the world is that which permeates the kitchen when bread is baking. The use of molasses as a sweetening and flavoring agent for homemade bread supplements this wonderful aroma.

* * *

Molasses Oatmeal and Molasses Cornmeal Breads are moist in texture. They have interest of flavor to vary home and lunchbox meals. And they keep well either in the breadbox or home freezer.

The oatmeal loaf is noted for the food values of its individual ingredients . . . rolled oats, unsulphured molasses and enriched flour.

The cornmeal bread, which may be baked in loaf or round style, also offers a good nutrition count.

* * *

This cornmeal bread is such a New England favorite that is is being nationally introduced by a well-known bread company, and it too calls for unsulphured molasses.

Molasses Cornmeal Bread

2¼ cups milk
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup unsulphured molasses
¼ cup warm (not hot) water
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
7 cups sifted enriched flour
1 cup yellow cornmeal

Scald milk. Remove from heat. Stir in salt, shortening and unsulphured molasses. Cool to lukewarm.

TWO MOLASSES BREADS — Here are two homemade breads . . . Molasses Oatmeal and Molasses Cornmeal . . . which combine the taffy flavor of unsulphured molasses with well-known cereals from the pantry shelf. Surprise the family with one of these breads over the weeeknd.

Measure warm water into mixing bowl. (Cool to lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in the yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Stir in egg.

Sift together flour and cornmeal. Stir in half the flour mixture; beat until smooth. Add and stir in remaining flour mixture.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl and brush top lightly with shortening. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down and divide in half.

Shape one half into loaf and place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch pan. Shape remaining half into smooth ball; place on greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from draft until center of loaf is higher than edge of pan, about one hour.

Bake in a moderate oven at 375 degrees about one hour. Yield: two loaves.

Molasses Oatmeal Bread

2 cups rolled oats
4 cups boiling water
½ cup unsulphured molasses
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon melted shortening
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
½ cup warm (not hot) water
½ cup raisins
10½ cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Pour boiling water over rolled oats. Let stand until cool, about one hour. Add unsulphured molasses, sugar, salt and melted shortening; mix well.

Measure warm water into small bowl. (Cool to lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in the yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir dissolved yeast into oatmeal mixture.

Add raisins and 5 cups of the flour; mix well. Add and stir in remaining flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic.

Place in greased bowl; brush top lightly with shortening. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hou. and 15 minutes.

Punch down and divide dough into three equal portions. Shape two portions into loaves and place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch pans. Shape remaining portion into smooth ball; place on greased baking sheet.

Beat together 1 egg yolk and 2 tablespoons milk. Brush loaves with egg mixture. Bake in hot oven at 400 degrees about 50 minutes. Yield: Three loaves.

Vegetables Are Much Thriftier When Frozen

How can you justify the statement that it is more economical to buy frozen vegetables than it is to buy fresh vegetables?

These economies can be attributed to frozen vegetables:

* * *

First, when buying frozen vegetables you get only the edible portion: In a 10-ounce package of frozen peas serving three or four persons, for example, you have 10 ounces of food which you will eat.

To serve the same number of persons with peas in the pods, you buy 1 2-3 pounds (more than 26 ounces) of the raw peas, and you throw away 1 pound, or 62 per cent, of the amount purchased.

Second, you are economizing in time when you use frozen vegetables: You do not have the time-consuming task of shelling and washing the peas, nor do you have over a period of time, you will find you have saved considerable cooking fuel, since each frozen vegetable requires a shorter cooking time than its unprocessed counterpart.

Third, in using frozen vegetables to cook the peas as long.

* * *

Tasty, Hearty Spread

Grind the ends of that cooked smoked tongue and moisten with mayonnaise and chili sauce. Use as a filling, with a layer of finely shredded green cabbage, for a delicious and hearty sandwich.

Top Package Cake With Special Sauce

Lemon-Orange Sauce

⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Dash of salt
1 cup water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Membrane-free sections (cut in half) from one large orange

* * *

Stir sugar, cornstarch and salt together thoroughly in a 1-quart saucepan. Add water gradually, stirring until smooth after each addition. Add lemon rind and orange rind.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice and butter until butter is melted.

Add orange sections. Serve warm over squares of white or yellow cake made from a packaged mix.

* * *

Flavor Cream Cheese With Anchovy Paste

Quick tricks with canapes will prove helpful to the busy housewife who wants to be prepared for unexpected guests. Delicious canapes can be turned out in a matter of minutes with a package of cream cheese and a fold-up tube of anchovy paste, using half as much of the paste as of the cheese.

Moisten the cheese with a little cream and season with a little Worcestershire. Tubes of the paste can be stored in the refrigerator for some time and will keep fresh. The cheese will not keep as long.

Potatoes Turn Green When Exposed to Light

The smart homemaker buys top quality potatoes when she shops . . . but what happens when she gets her prize home?

Often the potatoes are so poorly stored that color, flavor and quality are changed . . . a different potato from the prize the homemaker purchased. Here are several smart storage tips—

Keep potatoes in the dark! Potatoes don't like bright lights, and show it by turning green in color, bitter in taste. Potatoes like to "breathe", too—so give them air!

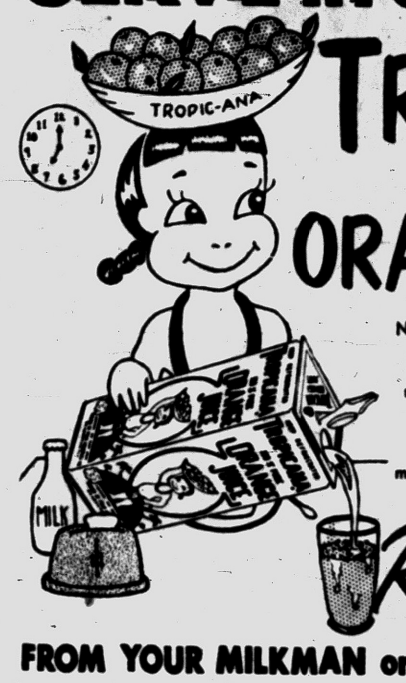

Store loosely in a bag or bin that has plenty of air circulating through it. If you store potatoes in the cellar, keep them away from the damp floor. Put bags on a

Sandwich Ring Is Hot, Hearty

Snack planning is an art of its own, for teenagers home from school parties, movies or dancing are invariably hungry; and blessings on the refrigerator that's well stocked, at all times, for whatever forays they make upon it!

Here's a snack they'll really enjoy—a hearty hot sandwich ring, served with tall glasses of lemonade. It's surprising how families enjoy lemonade the year around. And with California's frozen lemonade always on hand, mixing lemonade takes no time at all.

Keep plenty of these handy cans of pure California lemon juice, already frozen with sugar, in your refrigerator freezing sections.

For the sandwich loaf, choose a sesame seed ring or other round loaf of bread. Slice it once crosswise, then put together with this Lemon-Salmon Filling. Top with cheese, and heat the loaf just before serving.

Lemon-Salmon Sandwich Ring

1 round loaf of bread (sesame ring)
1 tall can red salmon
4 tablespoons canned lemon juice
1 small can ripe olive slices
3 tablespoons chili sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
Salad dressing
Cheese or cheese spread

Slice the bread ring crosswise. Combine the salmon, lemon juice, olive slices, chili sauce, and salt; thin to spreading consistency with salad dressing as needed. Put the loaf together with this filling.

Lay slices of cheese on top of the loaf or frost with cheese sprea Heat in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 15 minutes. Serve in thick wedges.

Romano Cheese Vital for Zesty Pizza Pie

Romano cheese is a must for pizza. Whether you use yeast dough or split English muffins for the base, pizza rivals chili, hamburger and hot dogs as informal fare for the young moderns.

The easiest pizza is made with split English muffins. Spread with tomato paste. Cover with sliced brown 'n serve sausage. Sprinkle with oregano (found on the spice shelf.)

Then top all generously with shredded Romano. Broil a few minutes to heat and melt the cheese.

Straits Bridge Ups Land Value

Upper Peninsula's New Span Causes Hike for Potential Businesses

ST. IGNACE (AP) — A new "gold coast" developed by the Mackinac Straits bridge may be in the making along U.S. 2 between St. Ignace and Escanaba.

Exchanges of property along the Upper Peninsula highway have increased and prices are rising as the long-awaited straits bridge nears its 1957 completion date.

Frank A. Wood, land market analyst, said recording transactions at the Mackinac County register of deeds office have increased one third in the past year.

Frontage along U.S. 2 which sold for $5 a foot a few years ago is bringing $75 a foot now. In some cases owners are asked $200 a foot. One auto sale firm paid $150 a foot for highway frontage.

Uncertainty over exact location of the bridge approaches has kept pressure away from land immediately adjacent to the Upper Peninsula end of the bridge. But sign companies are inquiring about real estate close to the highway to advertise gas, motels and other tourist needs.

Venezuela has nearly doubled the number of hospital beds in the past decade. In 1945 the country had 11,641. At present it has 20,100.

A Suggestion—Try an Honest Job as a Change

Police said they traced one burglar who:

1. Broke into the Hendricks Supply Co., knocked the dial and door handle from the safe, but couldn't open it.

2. Broke into the Lawrence Warehouse Co. office in the same building, tried to force open a metal cash box, but couldn't.

3. Finally broke into a service station and was able to pound open the cigarette machine and escape with a few coins and some cigarettes.

Police are looking for him in connection with another junk yard burglary attempt. The thief never even made it into the building there.

GM Output Up -- Ford, Chrysler Drop

Truck & Coach Tops Increase

Pontiac Motor Falls Off Slightly From Production in January 1955

General Motors became the only automaker among the industry's "Big 3" to top its January, 1955, production record in the U. S. last month, according to preliminary figures released today by GM, Ford and Chrysler.

The most spectacular increase by a GM unit was shown by the Truck & Coach Division where 44,783 units were produced in the U. S., compared with 31,691 a year ago. Buick's figures were also substantially higher, while Oldsmobile and Cadillac output was moderately larger.

Pontiac Motor's production dropped slightly to 38,236 from 48,000 a year ago, while Chevrolets' output was 151,678 last month compared with 154,517 for January, 1955.

General Motors produced 366,154 vehicles in its U. S. plants last month, a gain of about 7,000 over January figures for last year. The corporation's total a year ago was 377,544, but that included 18,358 units built in Canada.

GM Canadian plants have been closed by a strike for more than 100 days.

Chrysler, whose comeback last year was a highlight of record production for all three companies, reported the largest drop — about 21 per cent. Company spokesmen said total truck and auto output was 106,696 units against 135,304 a year ago, down 28,706 units.

Ford reported that its various divisions built 186,074 cars and trucks in January, compared with 211,398 in a like period of 1955.

Chrysler — Plymouth 54,155-64,046; Dodge 21,322 - 32,797; Desoto 11,079 - 13,469; Chrysler and Imperial 13,275 - 17,470; Dodge trucks 6,887 - 7,522.

Ford — Ford 127,783 - 143,761; Mercury 22,937 - 32,383; Lincoln 5,751 - 906; Continental 373 - none; Ford trucks 29,230 - 32,348.

General Motors — Chevrolet 151,678 - 154,517; Pontiac 38,236 - 48,000; Buick 67,095 - 62,427; Oldsmobile 50,166 - 48,316; Cadillac 14,196 - 14,135; Chevrolet trucks 36,519 - 25,706; GMC 8,264 - 5,985.

McKee is a resident of 316 Puritan St., Birmingham.

The 41-year-old executive was associated with the GMC Truck & Coach Division between 1939 and 1945 where his last position was assistant to the sales promotion manager.

WASHINGTON (INS) — Forest fires on U. S. and other lands within national forest boundaries decreased by 20 per cent during 1955.

The Agriculture Department said there were 8,160 reported fires in 1955, compared to 10,462 in 1954.

About 6,000 school children of elementary-school age—from 5 to 14—die every year in the United States as a result of accidents.

MSU Speaker Says Farmer to Feed 221 Million

EAST LANSING (AP)—The national population is growing at the rate of 49,000 a week—and farmers will have to feed 221 million Americans by 1975.

That is the challenge to the future as outlined at the annual Michigan State Farmers' Week by Paul T. Bagwell, head of the MSU Department of Communications Skills and past president of the national Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Despite this growth, Bagwell said, improvements in scientific farming should permit U.S. farmers to keep up with the demand for food.

MARKET "FUSSY"

A Detroit maltmaster, Otto Krohn, urged Michigan farmers to try growing malting barley. He said the market is a "fussy" one but offers a premium price if all conditions are met.

Even if the barley doesn't make the malting market, he said, it would probably still outyield oats in dollars per acre.

Theo Coleman, MSU poultryman, said that no mechanical device can replace the most important factor in successful poultry management—the judgment of the poultryman.

With increased emphasis on the conversion of feed to eggs, he advised buying strains of chicks showing a high degree of efficiency in this respect.

Raymond Locher, agricultural conservation specialist, reminded farmers that the federal government will pay up to 75 per cent of the cost of improving woodlots.

A farmer can get federal aid for shrub planting, forestry improvement and fencing, he advised.

Ice and Bus Exhibit Fail to Impress Judge

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two bags of crushed ice and a large section of a city bus were hauled into Circuit Judge Fred N. Searle's courtroom yesterday.

* * *

Attorneys for Mrs. Marie Zelley then dumped the ice over the stairs of the bus to demonstrate how slippery they can be in freezing weather.

Mrs. Kelley is suing the Grand Rapids City Coach Lines for $20,000 because of a knee injury she said she suffered when she fell while boarding one of the company's buses Dec. 30, 1954. She contended the injury left her permanently impaired.

* * *

Expectant Father Wins Longshot With Lloyd's

HARTSDALE, N.Y. (INS)—Louis Kopel of Hartsdale, taking a long shot chance of 100 to 8½, bought an $85 dollar insurance policy at Lloyds of London against chances of his wife giving birth to twins.

The internationally famous insurance company counted on records of one out of 98 births being a double feature.

Farm Prices Up 1 Point

WASHINGTON (INS) — Farm prices increased one per cent from mid-December to mid-January but a slight rise in farm costs has held the parity ratio steady at 80 per cent.

Sees 'Tax on Love'

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts House killed a proposal to raise the marriage license fee from $2 to $3. Rep. Louis Glaser (D-Malden) said "it would be a tax on love."

ICE BUGGY IN THIRD SEASON—Jerry Gray, of 1801 Revere Rd., scoots over Watkins Lake, Waterford Township, at about 27 m. p. h. in his homemade motorized sled, now seasoned by three winters of use. Jerry, 16, says his ice buggy, a Do-It-Yourself project, is powered by a 1½ h. p. lawnmower gas engine. Made of odds and ends put together by Jerry with some help from his dad, the buggy cost about $15, he said. There are four other similar vehicles on Watkins Lake.

Morning Crash Kills Area Man

LAPEER—George W. Bates, 39, 3553 First St. Hadley, was killed at 2:32 a.m. this morning when his car left the highway and hit a tree headon.

The accident occurred on Pratt Road, near Hurd Road. Mr. Bates was employed at the Lapeer Division of the Mt. Clemens Metal Products Co.

He is survived by his wife, Wilma; a daughter and a son, of Hadley; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Bates of Lapeer; two brothers and one sister.

U.S. Turning Down Israeli Arms Bid

WASHINGTON (INS)—The United States has turned down the Israeli request to buy 50 million dollars worth of arms, at least for the time being.

* * *

This was revealed today with the explanation that the U. S. government has decided that under present circumstances shipment of American arms to Israel would not help prevent war.

* * *

On the contrary, it is feared that such arms shipments might touch off a war in which either Israel or the Arabs might think it necessary to take "preventive" action.

* * *

It was emphasized, however, that if conditions change in such a way as to make U. S. officials believe arms to Israel would increase the chances of peace, then the current decision would be reversed.

Tuesday's the Day —75th Anniversary

MUSKEGON (AP) — George Washington Haas was 98 yesterday, but he's waiting until next Tuesday to celebrate.

* * *

Next Tuesday he'll have been married to his 95-year-old wife 75 years, which Haas figures also is an occasion of no little stature.

Haas spent his honeymoon moving from Wayne County, Ohio, to Coopersville in 1881. There he farmed until he was 66 and then retired.

"Six months and I was sick of retirement," he says. "So we moved to Muskegon, where I got a job with Continental Motors."

He was forced to retire from Continental when he turned 75.

Now he's back to farming—of a sort.

* * *

Little Lisa Wants Big Black Dog to Come Home

Eighteen-month old Lisa Bailey is well into the stage when she notices things, especially when her big black pet dog disappears.

According to her mother, Mrs. Frederic Bailey of 1429 Woodlow, Watkins Lake, the week long absence of Jasmine, the Labrador Retriever-Irish Setter has clouded the youngster's face with questions.

Missing a week, the dog is being sought to return to the child, as her pet.

* * *

Also Harry McCracken, recently retired Farmington Township clerk; and Mrs. Dan Hughes, lifetime resident, who was born the year the township hall was built and has lived within a stone's throw ever since.

Distinguished guests included: State Representative William S. Broomfield, Judge H. Russel Holland, Judge Frank Doty, Register of Deeds, Orrin McQuaid, Prosecutor Frederick Ziem, Sheriff Fred Irons and township attorney Dell.

Seek Approval of Bond Issue

Dublin District to Vote on $150,000 Proposition for Five Rooms

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Property owners in White Lake Township District No. 7 are being asked to approve a $150,000 bond issue to finance an addition of five classrooms and facilities to Dublin School.

Voters will cast their ballots at the school from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Feb. 14.

To handle the 752 present students the basement rooms of the original building are in use. According to William H. VanderVen, school superintendent, this means that a normal increase next year will require additional rooms or half day sessions for many children.

VanderVen said that there is no need to vote an increase in taxes since six mills was voted in 1954 for a future building program.

Voters would have to vote to discontinue the six mill levy which was established in 1954 and replace it with the bond issue which would require no more than five mills.

The present debt and tax structure, according to VanderVen, is: operation, 10.63 mills; 1951 debt (annex II building), 10.37 mills; future building and operation, 6 mills; total 27 mills.

The proposed debt and taxation for 1956 structure, VanderVen says, is: operation, 10.63 mills; 1951 debt, (annex II building), 5 mills; 1956 debt, (new proposal, 5 mills; total 20.63 mills.

Voters need not be registered for this election. They must be property owners, 21 years of age, and residents of the school district for 30 days.

Japan Asks Warning for Pacific H-Tests

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has informed the United States it has no objection to proposed hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific this year, but has asked that precautions be taken, Kyodo News Service said today.

Through a request filed in Washington Jan. 20 by Ambassador Sadao Iguchi, Japan asked that:

1. Advance notice of the place, time and size of the danger zone.
2. Warning on the scale and expected damage.
3. Compensation be made for any damage.

Drinker's Dream Real; He Gets Locked in Bar

ECORSE (INS)—Eugene Hooper, 30, of Taylor Township, had a drinking man's dream come true early today—he got locked inside a tavern.

Hooper apparently fell asleep in the rear of an Ecorse Township tavern early today. When he awoke the bar was locked up for the night.

Police Seeking Future Officers for Desk Work

The young men in mind are those who want to become officers at the age of 21.

"Early experience as clerk would give prospective officers valuable acquaintance with police routine and methods," said Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Candidates for the job must be high school graduates at least 18 years old. Applications may be made with the City Personnel Director.

Outer Mongolia Debate Foreseen

Red Satellite Wanting to Join U.N. Economic Group Meeting Today

BANGALORE, India (INS) — Controversy over Communist Outer Mongolia and Red China was expected to dominate the opening discussion today of the U. N. Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East.

* * *

The Commission is holding its 12th session at Bangalore, in the southern Indian state of Mysore.

* * *

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru opened the meeting which was expected to take a political turn quickly.

Outer Mongolia, a Soviet satellite whose U. N. membership was turned down at the last general assembly session, has applied for membership in ECAFE, a specialized agency of the world body.

The Soviet union was expected to raise the question of the absence of a representative from Communist China.

* * *

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold told the delegates that the commission's work was "of great importance and profound interest to the whole world."

TOURS CAPITALS

Hammarskjold arrived in Bangalore after a flying tour of Middle East capitals. He said he could confer with Nehru both at Bangalore and later in New Delhi.

The delegates, many of them from nations which have won their freedom in the last decade, will discuss many aspects of Asian economy. They also will hear reports from a number of specialized committees.

For the first time, the commission will discuss the problems of the Asian nations where the bulk of the world's population lives.

* * *

Beef Cuts Replace Pork as Thrifty Weekend Buys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork gives way to beef this weekend as the outstanding buy in the meat department.

You'll find choice cuts of beef at moderate prices almost everywhere.

A midwest chain has cut six cents a pound from prices of its sirloin steaks and rib roasts; other supermarkets are promoting various cuts of beef as weekend specials in Boston, Detroit, Chicago and New York.

Pork, in contrast, is sharply higher this week—gains range up to 10 cents a pound in some cities—and market analysts say prices will go higher still.

The upturn in pork prices is looked upon as pretty much of a seasonable affair.

CHICKEN GOING UP

Another popular bargain item that's heading higher this week is chicken. Frying chicks are up six cents a pound in some midwestern cities and up about four cents a pound on the west coast. Roast turkey is on the weekend special list in some parts of the country. Egg prices are down a little. Seafood is abundant and cheap.

Florida citrus fruits are still among the best buys on produce counters this week, with oranges and seedless grapefruit leading the parade. Tangerines, apples and grapes are also attractively priced. The season's first plums, peaches and nectarines from South America are beginning to reach U. S. markets, and prices are described as "moderate" by food specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. You're likely to find good buys in pineapples imported from Cuba.

Outstanding buys in vegetables: Iceberg lettuce, potatoes, onions, turnips and greens (including broccoli, collards and kale). Corn, pascal celery, cabbage and sweet potatoes are moderately priced, as are red beets from Texas. California carrots are down in price this week.

* * *

Revenue Boys' Catch on Bootleggers Rises

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Internal Revenue Service says it is making it harder than ever for bootleggers to stay out of jail.

Revenue's enforcement chief, Thomas F. Bailey, states in a report that his men seized about 20 per cent more stills in the last half of 1955 than in the same period of 1954, while arrests were 15 per cent higher for the July-December 1955, period.

Argentine fruits are being priced out of many foreign markets by growing production costs.

Ike Gets FDR's Request: 'Send Kelly to West Point'

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — A famous letter Franklin D. Roosevelt wrote 10 days after the 1941 Pearl Harbor attack to "the President of the United States in 1956" has been delivered at last to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

* * *

The World War II President's letter asked consideration for "the merits of a young American of goodly heritage — Colin P. Kelly III—for appointment as a cadet in the United States military at West Point."

Young Kelly—then an infant and now a 6 - foot, 15-year-old high school sophomore—is the son of Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr., the United States' first hero of the war, killed in a bombing mission in the Pacific a few days after Pearl Harbor.

Colin III lives at Concordville, Pa., near Philadelphia, with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow. He attends Westtown Friends School, a Quaker institution.

* * *

The White House said today that official inquiries, made with the approval of President Eisenhower, indicate the youth "is interested in going to West Point."

But he will have to wait at least another year and a half, when he will be 17, to be eligible for admittance.

Shortly after Roosevelt wrote his letter Dec. 17, 1941, it was sent to the National Archives here for safekeeping.

About two weeks ago the national archivist, Wayne Grover, dug it out of the files and sent it through White House channels to Eisenhower, a 1915 West Point graduate.

* * *

In a telephone interview from her home, Colin's mother said the youth — known as "Corky"—does want to attend West Point, and "so far as I know has never thought of anything else."

Mrs. Pedlow discounted the idea that he might decide to go instead to the new Air Force Academy in Colorado.

* * *

She made a direct appeal that there be no "excessive amount of publicity."

"Please," she added, "just let him grow up normally. He is entitled to that."

Growth of Hutterite Sect Alarms West Canadians

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — A religious sect of "true communists" is prospering in western Canada, and arousing considerable ire from some of their neighbors.

* * *

The Hutterite sect has 42 colonies in Alberta, 22 in Manitoba and 6 in Saskatchewan and is expanding constantly.

The Hutterites have a high birth rate and continually need to establish new communities. Their prosperity allows them to offer high prices for land. Some of their Manitoba neighbors say this expansion must halt.

PREFER THE STAKE

Hutterites' lives are governed by a rigid religious and social system.

"We would rather be burned at the stake than go out and live the kind of life being lived in the world today," says the Rev. John Wurz, 77, leader of the sect's 10,000 members.

* * *

The sect sprang from the Anabaptist movement in the 16th century and was founded by Jacob Huter, who was burned at the stake in 1536 at Innsbruck, Austria, for his religious beliefs and teaching. The Hutterite way of life has kept them at odds with the rest of the world ever since.

* * *

About 75 years ago, 400 Hutterites left Russia to settle in the Dakotas. They refused to bear arms for the United States in World War I and resentment there caused many to move into Canada, where most Hutterites live today.

PURE COMMUNIST

Colonies average 180 persons. Every able-bodied man must work. The bosses are picked by election. Women work in the community kitchens, laundries, dairies and sewing rooms until they are 50. Men work as long as they are able. Profits are held communally by the community.

The Hutterites wear black—the men denim jackets and overalls and the women ankle - length dresses. They eat in community dining rooms and live in apartments in barracklike buildings. The men never shave after marrying. The church with its daily services is the center of Hutterite life.

REFUSE TO VOTE

Sect members refuse to vote in local and national elections. Only in the past 20 years have they obeyed laws requiring children to attend school and employed outside teachers for the state-prescribed curriculum. To this is added several more hours of instruction in religion and Hutterite history. German is the common tongue.

A few years ago Hutterites in Canada abandoned their primitive farming methods and now their colonies are among the best-equipped large - scale farming operations in the country. The profits are commensurate.

NO TYRANTS HERE

When opponents call his people communist, the Rev. Mr. Wurz says they are right, but "we have the spiritual idea in our organization. The Bolsheviks are tyrants who do not believe in Almighty God and who want the world for themselves." He calls his people "the only true communists in the world."

The Union of Municipalities has asked the provincial government for legislation prohibiting the spread of Hutterite colonies in Manitoba.

When the Alberta government passed such legislation the Hutterites began moving into Saskatchewan. An alternative proposal would require new colonies to be at least 40 miles from any now existing of limited size.

Rangers Regain NFL's 2nd Spot; Beat Leafs, 5-2

Victory Gives N.Y. One-Point Edge Over Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Rangers were back in second place in the National Hockey League today. But almost equally as important they're fast cementing a Stanley Cup playoff berth.

* * *

The surprising Blueshirts, who would have settled for fourth place at the season's start, won another one last night, trouncing the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 before a welcome home crowd of 14,702 in Madison Square Garden. It was the only game played in the NHL.

* * *

The victory gave the Rangers, back in familiar surroundings after a nine-game road trip, 57 points, 1 more than the Detroit Red Wings. Montreal remains way out in front with 68 points.

The defeat was a tough one for the fourth-place Leafs, who are locked in a close battle with Chicago and Boston for the last qualifying Stanley Cup berth. Toronto has 41 points, the Hawks 37 and the Bruins 35.

* * *

Actually, the Maple Leafs were no match for the Rangers last night. Before the first period was over Larry Popein, Wally Hergesheimer and Danny Lewicki had scored putting New York in front 3-1.

Popein got another marker in the second period and Andy Bathgate gave the home crowd its last chance to cheer with a goal in the third. Jim Morrison and Gordie Hannigan got Toronto's tallies.

State's 'Heavy' Title Vacated

DETROIT (AP)—The heavyweight boxing title in Michigan has been declared vacant because of inactivity, the State Athletic Board of Control said in an announcement of quarterly state ring ratings.

The heavyweight title formerly was held by George Powell of Detroit, who has retired.

The board also listed no champion in the middleweight division.

The board ranked Michigan heavyweight contenders in this order: Johnny Summerlin, Ken Hammer, Willie Coleman, and Andy Bonds.

The board listed these champions and contenders in other divisions:

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT

MIDDLEWEIGHT

WELTERWEIGHT

Duke Harris, of Detroit; challenger, Yama Bahama, Chuck Davey, Alan Kennedy, Mickey Savage, Major Woodson, and Willie Windom. The former welterweight champion, Allie Gronik, retired because of illness.

LIGHTWEIGHTS

Olympic Hero

Austrian Hailed as World's Best Skier

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Austria's great Toni Sailer, handsome as a profile on a Greek coin and as daring as the hero in a Western movie, is the individual star of the Winter Olympics with only three days of competition remaining after today.

* * *

Sailer already has won the men's giant slalom and slalom, and the downhill is still to come. No one here doubts he's the greatest skier in the world.

Best team performance — Russia's skaters, who broke records in the 500, 1,500 and 5,000 meter races.

* * *

Best comeback — Scandinavia's cross-country skiers, who proved the Russians can be beaten in three events in which the Soviets were touted to win. After the world championships two years ago most winter sports experts thought the Scandinavians traditional domination of cross country was at an end.

Biggest disappointment — U. S. team outside its figure skaters and hockey team. Most of the American downhill and cross-country performers would not even have won a place on a European team.

If the United States is to polish its tarnished reputation in winter sports, a whole new crop of athletes must emerge before the next games at Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960.

McConnell's Table Tennis Team Winner

The McConnell elementary school table tennis team defeated Wilson school, 3-1, in the 1st Inter-Community Center matches, sponsored by Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

McConnell's team is coached by George Gary and Perc Secord pilots Wilson.

Wilson's lone win was Joel Ramirez' 21-19 decision over Dude Martin. Jack Carie downed Frank Acosta, 21-14; Jerry Martin defeated Norman Hickey, 22-20; and McConnell's doubles team of Carie and Jerry Martin bested Acosta and Hickey, 21-16.

Other centers represented in the Inter-Community league are LeBaron, Madison, Jefferson, Washington, Bradley and Lake Side Homes.

Colt Choice Signs

Detroit Needs Victory Tonight to Stay in Race

Wings Battle Canucks at Olympia in Second of 3-Round Scrap

DETROIT (INS) — Round two of Detroit Red Wings' three-round battle with the 1st place Montreal Canadiens takes place tonight at Olympia Stadium.

* * *

The Redshirts must win if they are to continue their fight for an 8th straight National Hockey League title.

The two teams battled to a 1-1 deadlock Sunday at Olympia and Montreal took a 12-point lead on the Detroiters in the NHL standings.

Tonight, the Wings will have a two-fold purpose. They are in 3rd place, a point behind New York, which moved into 2nd by whipping Toronto, 5-2, in last night's only game.

* * *

Detroit has four games remaining with the fabulous Frenchmen and has played two less. Wings expect little help from the rest of the league and realize they must take all four if they are to climax a late season drive with another crown.

Saturday, the two teams move to Montreal's Forum for the final of the three-game match. A Detroit victory tonight would put the Wings five full games behind Montreal in 2nd place and a half game ahead of New York.

Detroit Grid Club Reveals Bidding Plan

Team and Ball Park Purchase Has Interest for Anderson

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions are trying to find out whether they can get up enough money to make a bid for Briggs Stadium, and, if necessary, the Detroit Tigers' franchise.

This was revealed yesterday by Edwin J. Anderson, President of the Lions.

He said a three-man committee was appointed to see whether enough financial backing could be secured to enable the Lions to get into the bidding for the Tigers and their ball park. Or both, if necessary, Anderson said.

Under a complicated trust setup, the Tigers and Briggs stadium must be sold in the future.

* * *

"We're definitely interested in buying Briggs stadium," Anderson said at a press conference.

"But if the trustees of the Tigers don't want to sell the stadium under a separate deal, we'll see if we can buy both the stadium and the ball club in a package deal," he added.

Some observers feel that the Briggs family may decide to retain ownership of the Tigers if the sale of the ball park proves to be a profitable one.

Anderson said the Lions probably would have to get a bank or an insurance company to underwrite the deal.

"Then we would sell stock to the public," he added.

* * *

Spike Briggs, president of the Tigers, says he has received 24 "inquiries" into the sale of the team. He had indicated that if a "bona fide" offer came from a Detroit group, it probably would be given high priority.

Briggs, in addition to being president of the Tigers, is a director of the Lions. Anderson said if the deal was completed it could mean that Briggs would remain in his present job.

Briggs has said the sale of the Tigers will spell the end of his baseball career in Detroit. He said he wanted it understood that he does not come as part of the deal.

Halas Quitting

Bear Pilot to Step Down

CHICAGO (AP)—George Halas today is expected to turn his field coaching duties of the Chicago Bears over to a younger man.

He called a news conference for 2 p.m. (EST) for the purpose of naming a new head coach. Halas has spent 35 of his 60 years coaching, forming the Bears from his Decatur, Ill., Staley Starch team and guiding them to seven National Football League championships.

* * *

Speculation is that Halas will turn over the reins to someone close to him, someone who can carry on his coaching strategy and methods.

Most mentioned is Luke Johnsos who has been a player and assistant under Halas for 27 years. Others on the coaching staff are Clark Shaughnessy, Paddy Driscoll, Bulldog Turner and Phil Handler.

* * *

Sid Luckman, one of the Bears' great quarterbacks, helped coach the team's quarterbacks last season and also has been mentioned as Halas' successor along with two other former players, Gene Ronzani and Joe Stydahar. The latter two have NFL head coaching experience.

* * *

Halas, who retired as field coach after the 1955 season, said that his successor will be in charge of the team "100 per cent" on the field. But he will continue to run the front office, making player trades and selecting players in the annual draft.

One Death Since '34

Bow Hunters Point to Safety Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not just for North Dakota, but for the whole nation. Not for hunting in general, because more than 1,000 hunters are wounded annually and more than 200 killed by firearms just in the 24 states that cooperate in the uniform hunter casualty report.

* * *

But Max Garcia, wounded fatally in the woods near Hazen, N. D., last Oct. 8 was the first hunter in modern times to be killed by a bow and arrow.

The bowhunters, who date their modern activities from 1934 when the first special bow hunting season on big game was set in Wisconsin, have been proud of their record.

Carl Hulbert, editor of the National Bowhunter Magazine, estimates that there were 200,000 licensed bowhunters afield last season, most of them for many days each, and most of them after big game. There are some in nearly every state.

In 21 years, several million archers have taken their weapons afield, from coast to coast. Yet not only was Garcia's death the first fatality recorded, but lesser casualties are few. Wisconsin, which puts about 30,000 archers out in a 55-day big game season, requires an official report on any kind of wound suffered or inflicted while hunting. Last season turned up the first one of those, too—a woman hunter nicked in the leg by an arrow.

* * *

Garcia was hit in a freak accident, Hulbert reports. He had been stalking a deer with another hunter and took his place on a stand while the other hunter circled. Garcia then left his stand and moved in on the circle. The other hunter stalked close to the deer, which was standing on the top of a ridge. When he shot, the arrow continued past the deer over the hill and hit Garcia in the woods about 60 yards down hill.

Merchants Give Jewelers Hard Time Before Losing

The cellar-dwelling Merchants led at halftime, 28-20, and were still in front entering the last quarter, 45-40. But a 24-point splurge by the league leaders in the final stanza turned the tide.

General Motors' quintet led all the way to subdue lowly Booth Homes, 55-48. Jerry Mofield and Jim Wagner paced the Coache's with 17 and 16 points respectively and Ron Hetherington tallied 15 for Booth.

The Lakers were forced into overtime to gain a 61-57 decision over the Wolverines in Class D American loop action at Lincoln Junior High. Norm Dierkes scored 21 points, 17 on free throws, to lead the winners while Bill Douglas made 14 for the Wolverines.

Bud Hayward poured in 42 points as the 2nd place Hot Shots slaughtered Slaybaugh's, 83-44, in "D" National division play. Bob Holmquist was high for the losers with a dozen points.

Fourth Terp Staffer Joins Tatum at N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Jim Tatum now has four members of his old Maryland staff to assist him in his new job as head football coach at the University of North Carolina.

University Athletic Director C. P. Erickson announced yesterday that the Terrapin's John E. Lacey has been appointed trainer for the Tar Heel grid team. Lacey was selected by Tatum.

Lacey served as an assistant trainer at Yale, and trainer for three pro football teams, the Chicago Cardinals, the old New York Yanks and the Baltimore Colts.

Spartans Stop U-D, 85-78

DETROIT (INS) — Michigan State, leading by 18 points early in the third quarter, stopped a fired-up University of Detroit basketball team in the final 90 seconds last night to gain a hard fought 85-78 victory.

Five quick points in the last two minutes by sophomore guard Jack Quiggle gave the Spartans the win after Detroit had moved to within two points—78-76—with a minute and a half remaining.

MSU forward Julius McCoy, the nation's 4th highest scorer, hooked up in a scoring battle with Detroit's Bill Ebben, 6th top point-getter in the country.

When the smoke had cleared McCoy had poured in 27 points and Ebben 23. Fourteen of the Titan junior forward's markers came in a thrilling second half which saw Detroit's rally fall just short of a victory.

The opening quarter was a see-saw affair which saw the lead change hands several times. MSU took a 21-20 lead at the end of the period.

It appeared MSU would turn the game into a rout during the 2nd period when a red-hot state quintet poured in 25 points to 14 for Detroit. The Spartans held a 46-34 advantage at the intermission.

However, the Titans roared back in the 3rd stanza and cut MSU's lead to five points—69-64—early in the final period.

Ebben poured in seven of his 11 field goals during the drive and guard Ralph Goldstein, the Titan captain, added 10 more. For MSU, center Duane Peterson totaled 14.

The crowd of 9,042 broke the U. of D. Memorial building attendance record, filling every seat in the multi-million-dollar structure. Some 500 fans were turned away.

McCoy tied Michigan State's all-time scoring record with his first bucket. He now has tallied 1,134 points in three years. The old mark of 1,109 was fashioned by Al Ferrari, who graduated last year.

Ebben's average remains at 25 points per game. The Titans next opponent will be Oklahoma A&M, which invades the Detroit Memorial building Saturday for a Missouri Valley Conference tilt.

Cagey Clem Sez...

CORTINA, Tex.— Don't look now but ole Cagey Clem had his poorest night of the season in pickin' those games last Friday. There sure was a mess of those things called upstarts, uh, em—upsets, which ah never figured on. Now out of 24 games ah missed eight, which really isn't bad, but not the way ah'd like it.

Whoever thought the Walled Lakers would go and lose to them Bears from Berkley, and how about these Mikes in Pontiac losin' to the Royal Oak team.

Buffalo, Miami Studied as Sites for NFL Clubs

Bell Says Expansion of Loop to 14 Teams Definitely in Future

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Expanding from 12 to 14 teams is a "definite part" of the future of the National Football League, Commissioner Bert Bell said yesterday.

* * *

Miami and Buffalo were named as possible league cities of the future. The league is investigating both cities, Bell said, to determine if either could quality for NFL membership.

* * *

"There is nothing immediate about this thing," Bell said. "Miami and Buffalo are being observed strictly as a part of a possible expansion move." He emphasized that there was no team in the league now which contemplated moving its franchise, and no team for sale.

* * *

Bell said the NFL would be ready to expand when the bottom teams in the league's two conferences each win at least four game At that time, he feels, the competition will be even enough to permit an increase to 14 teams. "That's not too far away either," he added.

U. S. Skaters Meet Sweden

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — Canada bounced back from its defeat by the United States to overwhelm Germany, 10-0, today in the Olympic round-robin hockey tournament.

On the basis of two points for a victory and one for a tie, the triumph moved the Canadians into a temporary tie for first place with the U. S. and Russia, each with four points.

The Canadians, however, have a 2-1 record, while the U. S. and Russia, are 2-0. Sweden is next with 1-1 followed by Czechoslovakia 0-2 and Germany 0-3.

In today's contests, the U. S. plays Sweden (1:30 p.m., EST) and Russia opposes Czechoslovakia (3 p.m. EST).

The hungry Canadiens poured it on the Germans rolling up one goal in the first period, four in the second and five in the third.

The U. S. hockey team, surprise winner over Canada Tuesday night, is expected to get by Sweden today prior to its important meeting with Russia tomorrow night. The Yanks and Soviets are the only undefeated teams in the final round-robin competition.

Hayes Alan Jenkins, Colorado College senior from Colorado Springs, had to stand off a brilliant finishing challenge by 18-year-old Ronald Robertson of Long Beach, Calif, to add the olympic title to his three world crowns. Hayes' kid brother, David finished third.

"Bridesmaid" Sixteen Jernberg of Sweden, after two close defeats, cracked through today to win the rigorous 50-kilometer cross-country ski marathon.

This was one of two championships to be decided on this 7th day of the giant snow and ice spectacle.

Tenley Albright, America's world champion from Newton Center, Mass., and her 16-year-old teammate, Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N. Y., go for the women's 8:30 a.m., leading the field in figure skating championship at 8:30 a.m., leading the field in that order entering the free skating phase of the competition.

Littler Favored

Phoenix Next for Pros

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—California's Gene Littler was one of the central figures in the $15,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament today as the country's top professionals set to work again on the winter circuit.

* * *

For one thing, Littler is the defending champion, and secondly, he suddenly looked like the Littler of last year as he recaptured his form in the Thunderbird Invitational at Palm Springs last week.

The pride of San Diego and Palm Springs didn't win the Thunderbird, but he boomed up from nowhere, after a dismal round of 76, and finished third to Jimmy Demaret and Carry Middlecoff.

* * *

Two nights ago Littler went to bed with a virus condition, and so did Middlecoff, but both hoped to be in fair shape today.

Demaret was the master of his game and psychology as well at Palm Springs, and he has been a winner in this event over this same course, the par 36-35—71 Phoenix Country Club.

* * *

Not to be ignored, either, are such players as Mike Souchak, the recent Caliente Open winner; Mangrum, who started the 1956 winter trail with a win in the Los Angeles Open.

Tommy Bolt, playing excellently, is overdue for four outstanding rounds of golf.

Bowling Clinic

KEEP WRIST RIGID — The sketch shows the proper position of the wrist, in using the "open V" grip, as the ball is approximately even with the body in the down-swing. The fingers are on the outside (right) of the ball, and so is the palm of the hand. The palm must not be on top of the ball. Note that the wrist is firm, actually rigid, with the knuckles in line with the top-center of the elbow.

This grip, which is easiest to handle, is in exactly the position it was when originally taken. To keep it grooved, it is important that the ball be pushed away, straight at the pins, in timing with the first step. And remember to swing the arm back close to the body.

Concentrate on follow-through—a reaching follow-through—applying an easy arm lift as you release the ball. Only with sufficient reach will you be able to hold the desired "line" to the strike pocket. The lift supplies the hook spin—enough spin for pin spilling power. Should the hook break too wide, add a little to your push-away of the ball for increased speed, and finish the swing a little more. But never rush the swng. With the "open V" control comes easy.

Red Sox Make Claim to Finest Crop of Rookies

(This is the 14th of a series of articles dealing with Major League Rookie prospects, written by Associated Press baseball expert Joe Reichler. Today he scans the Boston Red Sox.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The hundreds of thousands of dollars invested by owner Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox in young players is now just about ready to pay off. Impartial observors believe the finest crop of rookies anywhere will be paraded before the Sarasota folks at the Red Sox spring training camp next month.

Some of those highly prized and high-price bonus kids have "can't miss" signs tacked on to the backs of their 1956 Cadillacs. Six of these, all receiving $25,000 or more to sign with Boston as untried rookies, are up from Louisville. They are outfielder Marty Keough, who tops the list with a reported $100,000; pitcher Jerry Casale, shortstop Don Buddin, second baseman Joe Tanner, catcher Haywood Sullivan and first baseman Dick Gernert, who already had a fling with Boston but is still young enough to be regarded as a major league prospect. Others are second baseman Billy Consolo from Oakland, catcher Gerry Zimmerman from Greensboro, pitcher Frank Baumann, released from the Army last August and catcher Jim Pagliaroni, signed out of a Dearborn, Mich. high school last summer.

The one who everybody thinks has the best chance of breaking in with the Red Sox as a regular, however, isn't even a bonus boy. He is Frank Malzone, a 26-year-old Bronx, N. Y., lad who was easily the best all-around third baseman in the American Assn. last year. Malzone, after finishing his season at Louisville with a .310 mark that included 33 doubles, 9 homers and 88 runs batted in, made a deep impression of Manager Mike Higgins in his few September games with the Red Sox.

* * *

Keough, only 20 despite four seasons in pro ball, two in Triple A, is regarded as one of the fastest men in baseball and a great defensive outfielder. He batted .303 in 151 games at Louisville last year. He is a left-handed hitter. His only drawback is a mediocre arm but he has the knack of charging ground balls and getting them away quickly.

With the possible exception of Baumann, the most highly regarded new pitcher is Casale, a 22-year-old righthander from Brooklyn who was one of the best, if not the best pitcher in the American Assn. last year. The 6-2, 205-pound fireballer had a 17-11 record at Louisville, posted a 2.96 earned-run average and led the circuit with 186 strikeouts.

Then there is shortstop Buddin, whom Red Sox officials regard as a junior "Junior Vern Stephens." A defensive standout, he has shown tremendous power for a little fellow. At Louisville, he slammed 39 doubles and 18 homers while driving in 86 runs on a .292 batting average. Only 21, he has put in three years in pro ball, two with Louisville.

CAGE COMEBACK — Returning to the Minneapolis Lakers after being out a year and a half, George Mikan spends much of his time on the bench. The most famous and highest-paid basketball player in history chats with teammate Clyde Lovelette, watches action and gives autographs.

Emphasis on Weight-Lifting

Physical Fitness Class Starts Today

A physical fitness class specializing in weight-lifting training, co-sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department and the Board of Education, begins this afternoon at Pontiac High School.

Classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m. There is no admission fee and the class is open to all boys of high school age.

Al Thomas, well-known in weight-lifting and wrestling circles and former owner of the Al Thomas Health Club on Perry Street, will supervise and instruct these physical fitness sessions. Thomas now teaches at Washington Junior High School.

This program is designed to assist many boys of high school age who do not participate in athletics and for those in need of corrective muscular development.

All boys wishing to take part in the program should register with the Parks and Recreation Department by calling FEderal 3-7131.

Class Troubles

3 'R's' Stump 11 Hoosiers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (INS)—Indiana University lost enough men to form a football team through scholastic failure of 11 athletes in semester-ending exams. In some respects, some observers feel the Cream and Crimson lost a great deal of its grid squad when final grades of the semester sidelined halfback Milt Campbell, defending NCAA and AAU hurdles champion.

Charley Brown and Paxton Lumpkin and Dick Custer were ruled ineligible last week, seriously injuring the IU basketball squad.

In addition to Campbell, the track squad also lost four other promising runners—Don Philpott, of Montclair, N. J.; Mike Curtis and Davie Hedges, both of Indianapolis, and Larry Ison, of Bloomington.

Hardest hit was the wrestling squad which appeared destined for the Big 10 crown. Dropped were Joe Shook, 130 pounder, and Nick Petronka, 147 pounder, both from Washington Pa., and both undefeated in five starts.

King, Medalist Still in Texas '40' Tournament

Only Eight Are Left in Top Flight Action at Harlingen

* * *

Warren Riepen, St. Joseph, Mo., defending champion, and David (Spec) Goldman, Dallas, medalist, both won their rounds yesterday. Today Riepen meets A. J. Kuenstler of Alice while Goldman meets Tom Donald of Alice.

Meyer OKs Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jack Meyer, Philadelphia Phillies relief pitcher, signed his 1956 contract yesterday. The 23-year-old right hander had an earned run average of 3.44 in 50 appearances last year.

Andrade Wins Split Decision

CHICAGO (INS) — Cisco Andrade, a 26-year-old contender from Whittier, Calif., jabbed out a split decision Wednesday night over ex-champion Jimmy Carter of New York in a 10-round lightweight bout at Chicago stadium.

The former champion, 33, forced the action most of the way but frequently was a target for the younger Californian's left jabs to the face. Andrade shook up Carter with a right to the jaw in the 2nd round.

Referee Joey White voted 96 to 95 for Andrade. Judge E. Allen Frankel also saw it for Andrade, 95 to 94. But Judge Lou Caffarelli voted for Carter, 97 to 95.

Friday's games—Pontiac at Arthur Hill, Saginaw Eastern at Flint Northern; Flint Central at Bay City Central.

By H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Special Writer

Flint Central and Northern, at the top of the heap, with 4-1 records, face what Vikings' coach, Jack Marlette today said was "a real dog-fight" rest of the way.

"With Pontiac and Arthur Hill tied just behind the top clubs," Marlette pointed out. "This thing can develop into a dog-eat-dog affair. If either Northern or Central slips, Friday, there's going to be a new face in the top rank."

Vikings, Marlette says, are hardest hit of the Valley clubs by mid-year losses. "We are the only Valley club to lose important players. Sure, it's going to weaken us for the stretch drive. We have brought up Kurt Gripenprog and Fred Burgett, guards, from the jayvees, along with sophomore Reg Gillard and junior John Dennis (forwards). We lost Bill Basilius, Milton Wright, Gary Morris and Edgar Willingham, all of whom were starters from time to time.

Coach Art Van Ryzin's Chiefs travel to Arthur Hill, Saginaw, to meet what Van Ryzin says is an improved outfit. Pontiac dumped the 'Jacks in the Valley opener here (53-44) and the PHS mentor felt his club would again come through Friday night.

"We have improved also," says Van Ryzin." "Of course, there's the disadvantage of playing on the Hills' floor, but I'm sure we will give them a good run for the money."

"Arthur Hill has made some changes to get more scoring and faster floor work. They have lost some height in the shifts, and we'll probably have an edge there."

Dave Scriven, formerly with the varsity squad, has been returned to the 1st string, and is expected to lend some help there. For his starters, Friday, Van Ryzin will depend upon the "regulars," Willie Dewalt and Rod Treais at forwards, Hud Ray at center, Larry Peet and Jim Sinner at guards.

Ferzacca, 2 Others Studied for Grid Job

MILWAUKEE (INS)—The Milwaukee Sentinel said tonight that the fate of Marquette University's head football coach, Frosty Ferzacca, will be decided within 10 days.

The newspaper reported that Larry (Moon) Mullins, the Warrior's new athletic director, said in a long distance telephone interview he is considering Ferzacca and two top coaching prospects for the head coaching job.

Mullins declined to state whom the two prospects are. It is believed Mullins would pick either man over Ferzacca if he is able to persuade him to come to Marquette.

Seton Hall in NIT

NEW YORK (INS) — Seton Hall, an old National Invitation Basketball Tournament fixture, is the 2nd team to accept an invitation to the nation's oldest post-season cage clasic.

The Jersey Pirates, with a 14-2 mark, joins defending champion Duquesne in the 12-team tourney whichnruns March 17-24 at Madison Square Garden.

Only 2 Major 5's Unbeaten as Temple Takes Licking

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

And now there two.

Only frolicking San Francisco and St. Francis of Brooklyn remain unbeaten in major college basketball today with Temple now a member of the dearly departed.

* * *

You might say the unranked Mules, who opened the schedule by upsetting LaSalle, had a heckuva lot of gall knocking off the nation's seventh-rated club. Fact is, it was 6-1 Bobby Gall who dumped in 20 points to pace the predominately junior squad.

* * *

Gall had great help, however, from Cardy Gemma, who bagged 13 points and superbly defeated Guy Rodgers. The Owls' backcourt scoring ace didn't get a field goal for 29 minutes and wound up with a scant 10 points. That left the big job to Hal Lear and although he hit for 28, it wasn't enough.

Duke, ranked 10th, was another major victim last night, although not unexpectedly. The Blue Devils were leveled by eighth-ranked Kentucky 81-76 as Jerry Bird fired a late first-half wildcat surge.

* * *

Second-ranked Dayton, prodded by Coach Tommy Blackburn's observation that "the test of a good team is whether it can come back after defeat," righted itself by walloping Loyola of Chicago 75-57. The Flyers were drummed out of the unbeaten ranks by Louisville Saturday.

Elsewhere among the ranked teams, Holy Cross (No. 14) whipped Creighton 97-60 as Tom Heinsohn scored 22 and cleared 22 rebounds in his 31 minutes of play.

The Fourth, and The Flag

By GRANTLAND RICE

Under its rippling rolls of red
With its wide, blue sweep spread overhead,
Over the living and over the dead,
Here's to the flag.
Back through the years where our fathers stood,
Stemming forever the charging flood,
Born in glory and bathed in blood,
Here's to the flag.

Thrown to the winds of the East and West,
To the North and South—in their spangles drest,
To the high and low—through the bitter tests—
Here's to the flag.
One flag only for you and me,
By plain or mountain, by air or sea,
The heritage of our dream to be—

By rain-wet crosses, by dune and wave,
By the ghosts from many a far-off grave,
From city streets—with your king or clown—
Where would you be if the flag came down?

Partially Blind Shotputter in AAU Track Meet

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — There's an element of drama in the Michigan AAU track meet tomorrow in the person of Bill Bangert, an almost blind shotputter aiming for the Olympics.

For those who have forgotten, Bangert is probably one of the top five American shotputters, ten years away from his stardom at Purdue where his best effort was 57-feet, one inch.

He's also a singer. His last appearance at the University of Michigan's Yost Field House was opened with his singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

But since those glory days, Bangert has settled down to the road-building business in Normandy, Missouri, near St. Louis. His competitive instinct has almost cost him his sight.

* * *

He ran for congress on the Republican ticket in St. Louis' traditionally Democratic first district. One night during the campaign, he was driving home. A 45 caliber bullet from a German luger smashed into his windshield. It missed him, but the glass spinters splashed into his face, causing removal of his left eye and leaving partial sight in the right.

Now at 32, Bangert still wants to find out if he has Olympic talent. He missed in 1948 when his business was in its infancy and again in 1952 because of his sight. Now, he's ready to pay his own way. Why?

He says one of the reasons is "the beatings real amateurs are taking these days because of the few who cash in heavily via the expense account racket. I figure if I pay my own way to meets such as the one in Ann Arbor, maybe it will help prove the bulk of the amateurs are just exactly that."

Bangert won't be alone. A contingent of amateurs comes from the Air Force headed by Jim Lea, NCAA quartermile champion, stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

With Lea will come Yale's Mike Stanley, the IC4A mile champion and George Mattos a polevaulter from the 1952 Olympic team who has reached 14-feet, 6-inches.

Rod Wilger, the Pacific Coast 220-yard champion and Walley Monihan, IC4A hurdles champ, are also on the Lockbourne team.

* * *

Entrants from Ohio State, Purdue, Notre Dame, Michigan Normal, Loyola of Chicago, Miami of Ohio, Western Michigan, Michigan State and Michigan are in the field, also Gill Dodd's team from tiny Wheaton (Ill.) College.

In the high school field Lansing Sexton looks like the power with challenges from Lansing Eastern and Pontiac.

Bosox to Stay in Boston, Yawkey Tells Banqueters

BOSTON (AP)—Thomas A. Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox says he has no intention of moving the team.

Yawkey made that clear last night at the fifth annual Junior Goodwill Dinner at Fenway Park. He received a citation at the affair sponsored by the Massachusetts Committee of Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

* * *

"The purchase of the San Francisco franchise was simply a smart business move which also protects the valuable West Coast territory for the American League," Yawkey said.

* * *

"We've been interested in the San Francisco franchise for four years," Yawkey added. "We set the price that we'd pay for it. It would have cost us four times as much if we bought it four years ago at the price set at that time. As for Louisville (the farm club the Sox recently sold to a Cuban combine) we've been dissatisfied there."

* * *

Speaking of the baseball fans in the New England area, Yawkey said:

"When we've given them something good, they've supported us well. And there were times they supported us more than they should have for what we were giving them."

Busy House Presents More Than 9,000 Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members have introduced more than 9,000 bills since the 84th Congress convened 13 months ago.

* * *

That figure was reached yesterday, and the total continued upward toward the 10,288 recorded by the 83rd Congress. In addition, more than 1,000 House resolutions have been submitted.

Of the current total, 1,131 bills have been introduced since the second session of Congress started a month ago.

* * *

On the Senate side, 3,105 bills and 403 resolutions had been introduced through yesterday.

So far during the Congress, President Eisenhower has signed 880 bills into law.

Indonesian-language newspapers have increased from 45 in 1950, with a circulation of 227,000, to 81 at present with a circulation of 558,110.

Hollywood Headlines:

Carol Channing Learns Plenty From 'Vamp' Flop

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You're always reading about Broadway hits. So what's it like to have a flop?

* * *

Carol Channing now knows. She was the toast of Broadway in two consecutive hits, "Lend an Ear" and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," then toured triumphantly in "Wonderful Town."

MUSICAL PANNED

But a month ago, she closed in "The Vamp" after a six-week run. Although she was lauded by the critics, the musical was panned and ended up a $300,000 loss. Broadway's loss is Hollywood's gain, because she bounced here for her first film role in RKO's "The First Traveling Saleslady."

* * *

Her first day's work was a cinch. All she had to do was slumber on a couch in a hotel lobby. When she finished this arduous chore, the big girl with the little voice relaxed in her dressing room and discussed the late "Vamp."

* * *

"It was a rugged experience, especially when you've always had hits before," she observed. "But I actually learned more from one flop than I did from the hits.

RECEIVED HELP

"For one thing, I learned who my friends were. It is amazing how people wanted to help. When we opened in Detroit, Billy Rose flew out to give advice. In New Haven, I knew we were in trouble and put in a call for Deuer and Martin. They came up that night and stayed up two nights talking to me about the show. Josh Logan helped us too."

* * *

Despite all the expert advice, the show, a travesty on silent movie days, couldn't get into shape.

"When we opened in Detroit, the show didn't make much sense, but it had a lot of fun," she remarked. "By the time we got to Washington, they had fixed up the plot, but all the fun had gone out of the show.

COULDN'T SAVE IT

"We were getting new lines right up to opening night in New York. There was nothing I could do about helping the production. When you're in a show, you have to devote all your energies to working on your own character. You don't have time for anything else."

"Never to start a show without a finished script and to insist on a longer tryout period. We had only six weeks."

Report Japan Building 83,000-Ton Oil Tanker

TOKYO (INS)—A monster 83,000-ton oil tanker, the biggest such ship in the world, was reported under construction today at a Japanese shipyard.

The ship will be 860 feet long and 125 feet wide is due to be completed this August.

New Sabre Jet Bomber Incorporates Auto Pilot

LOS ANGELES (INS) — North American Aviation today announced successful completion of the first flight of its new super Sabre Jet, the F-100D.

The company said the new model of the Air Force's first fighter-bomber capable of exceeding the speed of sound in level flight, incorporates a Minneapolis Honeywell autopilot which enables the plane to pilot itself to its target.

Veteran test pilot Dan Darnell described the electronic device as "a definite forerunner of complete automatic flight."

Judge Fractures Skull

ESCANABA (AP)—William J. Miller, 77, Delta County probate judge, fractured his skull in a fall on an icy pavement near his home at Rapid River Wednesday. He was admitted to a hospital here.

Seventeen boys and 16 girls are born hourly in Venezuela, Caracas estimates.

Adlai Shrugs Off 'Bossism' Blast

Fails to Refute Charges That California Dems Are Against Estes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson ignored a new "bossism" blast by Sen. Estes Kefauver's supporters today and concentrated his California campaign on what he termed major failures of the Eisenhower administration.

* * *

Lyle Cook, Kefauver's northern California chairman, renewed charges that most state party leaders were aligned against the Tennessee senator's entry in the June 5 presidential primary. Nearly all ranking Democrats are pledged to Stevenson.

Stevenson headquarters said there would be no comment on Cook's latest assertion that "political bosses" have "hand picked and chosen" Adlai's 68-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

* * *

The 1952 Democratic nominee, on an eight-day California tour, mixed criticism of the Eisenhower administration with a good word for organized labor, students, professors and "eggheads" in a speech last night climaxing a series of appearance in Oakland.

He said this country can't do its job as a world power with "alternate hot and cold declarations" on foreign policy.

Parents Escape Fire, Rescue 2 Children

PORT HURON (INS) — The mother and father of two small children leaped from a second-story bedroom of their blazing farmhouse home early today and then ran back into the flames to rescue the youngsters.

The mother, Mrs. Evelyn Malauskas, had carried one of the children from a first floor bedroom before she noticed she had fractured both feet in the jump.

The family lost all of its possessions in the fire, which destroyed the interior of the house, located near Blaine about 12 miles northwest of Port Huron.

Mrs. Malauskas and the children, Bernard, 3, and Cy, 1, were taken to Yale Hospital. The youngsters were overcome by smoke.

The father, Frank, was not hurt.

Firemen said the blaze was started by an overheated coal stove in the kitchen. The family moved into the house only three weeks ago.

Chicago UAW Officials Reach Tentative Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—A tentative agreement was reached last night that may end the 85-day-old strike at the Chicago plant of the Revere Copper and Brass Co. and allow production to be resumed next week.

* * *

Spokesmen for the company and United Auto Workers said the agreement was subject to union ratification. They did not reveal its terms.

A strike by 650 UAW members at Revere's Chicago plant has been in progress since last Nov. 9. Revere's struck New Bedford, Mass., and Detroit plants reached agreements with the UAW last week but the union refused to sign the New Bedford settlement until agreement could be reached at the Chicago plant.

Russian Vegetables Up 70 Pct. in Price

MOSCOW (AP)—In a move to spur lagging crop production, the Soviet government has hiked by 70 per cent the price it pays for vegetables which collective, state and individual farms are required to turn over to the state.

Premier Bulganin and party chief Nikita Khrushchev signed the 2,000-word decree, which also introduced a system of bonuses to speed production and delivery of the vegetables.

The produce is sold in state stores at fixed prices. There was no indication whether the consumer would have to absorb the price increases.

The decree criticized the ministries of agriculture, state farms, party members and state governments for failing to boost crop production as called for in earlier edicts.

AEC Studies Proposals to Aid 'Atoms for Peace'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss says the commission is studying "several new proposals" to further President Eisenhower's "Atoms for Peace" program.

In a statement praising the report of a panel on the impact of the peaceful uses of atomic energy, Strauss said the commission is working on measures "to provide still greater assistance to friendly countries in the development and use of the peaceful atom."

Strauss added the AEC technical staff "is presently nearing completion of the declassification and down-grading of all accumulated data of use in the peaceful applications of atomic energy." He said data are "being organized in categories for easier public access."

Firm Ordered to Stop Using Misleading Ads

WASHINGTON (INS) — Federal Trade Commission hearing examiner Earl J. Kolb said today there is "no cure known to medical science" for 90 per cent of all cases of baldness.

He issued an initial order to prohibit the Hayr Chemical Co. of Newark, N.J., from advertising that its preparation "Hayr" will stop the progress of baldness and cause new hair to grow.

Kolb said that expert testimony called 90 per cent of all baldness a typical "male pattern" brought on by a combination of age, heredity and endocrine imbalance for which there is no relief.

The remaining 10 per cent of baldness, he added, is caused by disease on which the preparation has no effect.

New Hampshire Ready for Fight

Presidential Ballots Set as Ike, Kefauver Face Foes for Delegation

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Final battle lines have been drawn for the first-in-the-nation New Hampshire presidential primary elections March 13.

* * *

On the popularity side of the ballot, President Eisenhower is unopposed as a Republican and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) uncontested as a Democrat.

In the balloting for control of the state's delegation to the national conventions, however, both face opposition.

The deadline for pledged delegate filing is Feb. 11. Neither Knowland nor Stevenson backers have filed complete pledged slates but both are expected to do so.

Both Stevenson and Knowland refused to enter the preferential section of the balloting, which Eisenhower and Kefauver won in 1952.

Eisenhower's name was entered although he has not yet indicated that he plans to run.

* * *

Should he decide not to, this would create an unprecedented situation. Under New Hampshire law, his name must remain on the ballot. The law says he has 10 days to request withdrawal and that period has long since passed.

John Barrymore Jr., Finally Getting Legacy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When John Barrymore died in 1942 he left a marble bust of himself, sculptured by Paul Manship, to his son John Jr. It was valued at $12,000.

It has taken John Jr. almost 14 years to obtain his only bequest from the great actor and he's going to have to pay $200 to get it.

Safety Foundation Study Shows Expressway Need

Editor's Note: This is the 12th in a series on the highway situation condensed from the booklet, "Wagon Roads to Expressways," to be published by the Oakland County Plan Commission.

The Automotive Safety Foundation's recently-completed study of Michigan road needs indicated that 40.5 miles of highways under Oakland County Road Commission jurisdictioin should be made expressways.

* * *

Total need for highways of more than two lanes in width was set at 188 miles, including county primary roads within municipalities.

The two-lane, paved-highway needs in Oakland for the next 20 years were set at more than 500 miles.

The 20-year estimated cost for the county primary-road system was estimated at $130,000,000. Annual cost to construct and maintain the local (feeder road) system was estimated at $3,043,000.

The county plan commission has developed a preliminary sketch plan for highways including 88.6 miles of limited-access expressways, 193 miles of major arterials and 135 miles of secondary arterials.

* * *

Stephenson and Northwestern Highways are seen as becoming expressways as far as M-59 and 12-Mile Road, respectively. Northwestern would be controlled access to an intersection with US-23 south of Fenton.

Two proposed expressways would run east-west across the county parallel to 10 and 12½-Mile Roads. One would connect with Northwestern and the other with Grand River.

* * *

The proposed Livernois expressway is included to provide a needed connection with Woodward Avenue and the Detroit expressway system.

Ford to Build Foundry at Listerhill, Alabama

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has announced plans to build an aluminum foundry at Listerhill, Ala.

* * *

D. J. Davis, vice president, said the company is negotiating for 130 acres for a plant site. The tract is five miles east of Sheffield, Ala., in Colbert County.

* * *

Davis said the foundry will contain some 250,000 square feet of floor space and will employ about 800 persons. The plant will gave an annual payroll totaling more than 4 million dollars, he said.

* * *

Construction is expected to begin this summer with production scheduled for the end of 1957, Davis said. Construction cost was not given.

Stocks Take Dip in Lafer Dealings

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was lower in the early afternoon today in moderately active trading. Losses of a point or more were frequent. Gains for the most part were held to fractions. The market gradually lost ground after a mixed opening.

Oils and coppers, which had been strong in recent sessions, were lower, as were most other divisions. Acrafts bucked the trend and began a rally around mid-day.

Since the first of the year, the market has been in a generally downward trend. It worked upward the first three days of this week, but only on Tuesday did it advance strongly with reports of record high earnings providing some of the spark.

* * *

There has been a growing belief among brokers that the market might mark time with trading quiet until President Eisenhower announces what he intends to do about a second term.

Ford Production Down; Only Lincoln Shows Rise

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. reports that its various divisions built 186,074 vehicles in January. The total compared with the January, 1955, total of 211,398 units.

Other figures were Ford passenger cars 127,783 against 143,761; Mercury 22,937 against 32,383; Continental 373 against none and Ford trucks 29,230 against 32,348.

Auto Company Lays Off 5,500 for Brief Period

A number of employes at Studebaker-Packard's testing grounds near Utica were among 5,500 laid off by the company for the remainder of the week, officials said today. Most of the lay-offs affected two of the firm's plants in Detroit.

A company spokesman explained that the final assembly line and some other departments have been halted for the last two days of the week because of a shortage of some car parts and an over-supply of others.

The company said normal work schedules will be resumed next Monday.

Massey to Take Starring Role

Adapted From Work of Veteran Newsman Jim Bishop

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Something very good in the way of historical drama is coming to television. On Feb. 11, a week from Saturday night, "Ford Star Jubilee" CBS-TV will present a dramatization of "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" by Jim Bishop.

Its audience reception should provide a good measure of just how widespread is this interest in the Civil War. "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" is an excellent account of Lincoln's last day, so dramatic in its telling that one half-believes its inevitable ending cannot possibly come to pass.

IN THE CAST

Raymond Massey plays Lincoln in the TV dramatization. Jack Lemmon plays the role of assassin John Wilkes Booth, and Lillian Gish the role of Mary Todd Lincoln. Charles Laughton serves as narrator.

One can't help feel, however, that the star of this production is Jim Bishop, a long-time newspaper man whose personality is as direct and even as his writing. He had no part in the TV adaptation and he'll merely be looking at the set along with the rest of us. But this is his baby, nurtured for 25 years while he was a rewrite man for New York newspapers, a magazine writer and toiling at five other published books.

ALWAYS INTERESTED

"In 1930, when I was doing newspaper rewrite, I got interested in the fact that scarcely any two stories agreed on what happened in the details of Lincoln's assassination. A reporter is used to such a state of affairs and he's used to digging to get the facts straight. I started digging."

He read millions of words and began keeping 28 looseleaf notebooks, each marked with an hour of the fatal day, April 14, 1865, from 7 a.m. to 7 a.m. The three extra ones he labeled "The Conspirators," "The Lincoln Family" and "Washington City—Era." He winnowed and weighed the evidence of the times. Three years ago he went to Washington and read seven million words from witnesses in Army and Library of Congress files.

"The writing was easy," Bishop said. "It took me only 35 days. I write fast and I don't rewrite my copy. That's the advantage of newspaper training. A newspaper man has only one chance to write a story. He never can revise his story the next day."

Godfrey May Put Shows on the Road

NEW YORK (INS)—Arthur Godfrey soon may put his shows on the road in an attempt to introduce his huge audiences to the beauty spots of America.

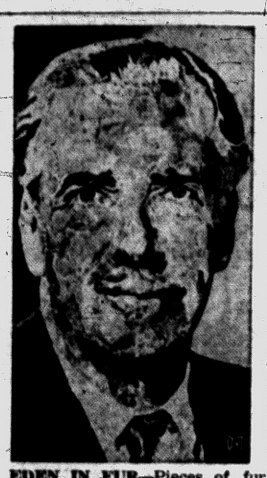

A spokesman for Godfrey said that plans for a national tour are in "the discussion stage." He added, however, that "no definite plans for such a trip have been made as yet."

The spokesman labeled as "only rumors" reports that Godfrey's tour would include areas in New England, California, Virginia, Wyoming and Florida.

Burning Salamander Blamed in House Fire

ST. CLAIR SHORES (INS)—A fire caused by a salamander left burning in the basement last night destroyed a new home under construction in St. Clair Shores.

The home, valued at $15,000, was completely engulfed in flames when firemen arrived in answer to a call by a passerby who discovered the blaze.

EDEN IN FUR—Pieces of fur form this portrait of British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden. Fur has been used in the works of surrealists, but this one, on display in London, is believed to be the first conventional portrait in fur. It was done by M. J. Laroche.

Killed in Crash

MT. CLEMENS (AP)—Lawrence Beesman, 31, of Detroit, was killed in a head-on collision on M29 near Crocker in Macomb County last night. His car was in collision with one driven by Carl Knopf, 43, of New Baltimore.

Gotham Mayor Moves Into Gas Bill Squabble

WASHINGTON (INS)—New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner plans to enlist 270 big-city mayors in the fight to kill the natural gas price bill being debated in the Senate.

He told newsmen after a closed-door strategy conference with senators opposing the measure: "We are not admitting defeat."

The informed opinion on Capitol Hill yesterday during the 13th day of debate on the bill was that the vote will still be a close one despite claims of victory by the bill's sponsors.

Hillsdale Man Yields to Federals in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Allen A. Borton of Hillsdale, Mich. surrendered to the U. S. marshal's office here yesterday on a federal conspiracy indictment alleging frauds in oil promotions.

Borton and Homer W. Snowden, a Texas oil man, were indicted by a federal grand jury at Danville, Ill., Jan. 18 on conspiracy charges.

Borton was released on $10,000 bond.

Revise Measure, Group Is Told

Ludington Backers Seek Bill Giving Cities Power on Supervisors Board

LANSING (AP) — Proponents of a measure aimed at increasing city representation on county boards of supervisors have been asked to revise their formula.

John Huss, secretary of the Michigan Municipal League, said the measure will be introduced in the Legislature next week. He said it would give cities with 51 per cent of the population of a county a majority representation on the county board of supervisors.

The Ludington group supported the proposal but suggested that improvements could be made.

They contended that in fairness the formula should be changed so that when any city or group of cities within a county has 51 per cent or more of the total population, their representation on the board of supervisors should be increased proportionately.

Rep. Theodore F. Hughes (R-Berkley) suggested that the league investigate the possibilities of villages obtaining representation on the county board of supervisors.

Both Hughes and Rep. Willard I. Bowerman Jr. (R-Lansing) expressed doubt that the measure would receive sufficient support in this session of the Legislature at least in its present form.

House OKs Bill Ending Wartime Medical Code

LANSING (INS)—The Michigan House of Representatives yesterday passed and sent to the Senate the Zinn bill, which eradicates a wartime provision of the medical code to permit lower requirements to admit foreign doctors.

Eight other bills were advanced to third reading and five new bills were tossed in the hopper.
