Oh, No! Not Our Beautiful Big Courthouse!

OAKLAND BUILDING TOPPLES — But it's in Oakland, Calif., where this College of Holy Names building is being razed, after the college moved to a new campus. On first glance, the resemblance to a building at West Huron and Saginaw streets, Pontiac, is striking. If the delaying action on replacing Oakland County's Courthouse continues, this could happen here; the present structure is not getting any younger.

Israel Demands U.S. Proposals Be Explained

Cabinet Delays Action Until Tomorrow; Press Quite Skeptical

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel fired the ball back to the United States today in the diplomatic playoff over the future of Aqaba shipping and the Gaza Strip.

Premier David Ben-Gurion's government asked Washington to clarify the U.S. proposals —which contained conditional promises of American support—on freedom of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba and safeguards for the security of the Gaza Strip. Ben-Gurion himself was ailing.

His cabinet postponed until tomorrow a scheduled meeting to consider the proposals, advanced by Secretary of State Dulles Monday with the aim of getting the last of Israel's troops off Egyptian soil conquered last fall.

Israel has demanded guarantees of its interests in both areas before considering compliance with U.N. resolutions calling for the troop withdrawals.

The Israeli press reaction to the Dulles plan, which lacks hard and fast pledges, was generally skeptical.

Dulles' idea is that the United States would (1) support free navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba. Israeli outlet to the Red Sea, if Israel withdraws from shore positions Egypt once used to block it, and (2) would use its influence to have U.N. troops or platoons of observers based in Gaza to bar its future use as a base for Arab raids on Israel.

At U.N. headquarters in New York the plan drew a mixed reaction.

Israel's delegation was reported pleased; Egypt's unhappy. U.N. efforts to reach a Middle East settlement settled into an uneasy lull, waiting for Israel's decision.

In Cairo, the government-backed newspaper Al Gumhurriya declared in effect Egypt would not be bound by any promises the United States makes to Israel.

"America has every right to treat Israel as a spoilt child," it said editorially, "but this shall never be done at the Arabs' expense or in Arab territory. Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh the Israeli-occupied area commanding the mouth of the Aqaba Gulf belong to the Arabs."

Strikers Picket Pier

AP Wirephoto

WINTER DUTY — An idle tugboat and ocean liner stand in the background as a quartet of striking dock workers walk along a snow-covered New York pier today while doing picket duty. The current strike by longshoremen has tied up shipping at a number of Atlantic ports and has halted carrying of cargo into affected ships. The streamlined prow at the left belongs to the Cunard liner Carinthia.

Peace Parleys Resume Today Guided by U.S.

Prospects of Settlement Appear Uncertain as 'Cooling Off' Fails

NEW YORK (AP) — Many thousands of dockworkers struck today in a number of North Atlantic Coast ports and scores of ships were tied up.

The independent International Longshoremen's Assn. ordered out 45,000 members in ports from Maine to Virginia in line with its "no contract, no work" policy.

Negotiations continued for several hours after the strike call was issued at 6:10 p.m. yesterday. The talks were adjourned shortly before midnight when no agreement was reached.

The joint negotiations, under auspices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Sevice, resume today.

Prospects were uncertain for an early settlement of the strike, which is a resumption of the November walkout that lasted nine days before it was ended by court injunction. The new strike began the minute a government-ordered "cooling off" period of 80 days ended.

Railroads immediately banned shipment to the ports of most freight intended for reshipment on overseas or coastwise vessels. Exceptions included military cargoes.

Alexander Chopin, chief negotiator for the New York Shipping Assn., representing 170 shipping and stevedoring firms, said he was "optimistic" about chances for an early settlement.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK

William V. Bradley, ILA president, expressed pessimism, however.

"I don't see any possibility for a quick get-together," he said. "It looks like it will be a knockout, dragout affair."

The strike call received an immediate response among longshoremen in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Hampton Roads, Va. The big ports were idled within mintues.

In New England, 4,500 longshoremen halted work in Boston, Portland and Searsport, Maine; New Bedford, Mass., and Providence, R.I.

U.S. Reds Vote to Break With Strict Soviet Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Communist party, declaring itself no longer a Moscow satellite, set out on an independent course today with a "team" leadership.

The terms of William Z. Foster, national chairman, and Eugene Dennis, general secretary, expired automatically during the convention concluded yesterday.

The convention overwhelmingly approved a recommendation submitted by Dennis that the party leadership for the foreseeable future be taken over by a "team" of an 11-member "national administrative committee."

The party avowedly broke with the strict Kremlin line by adopting a resolution declaring that henceforth it would do its own interpreting

Max Weiss, the party's national education chairman, who submitted the resolution, said it was an "explicit declaration of the independent and equal status of our party in relation to the world Communist movement."

AKIN TO TITOISM

This was a step akin to "Titoism" although the American Communists did not use the term.

The convention, meanwhile, decided that its general governing body, the national committee, henceforth would have 60 members instead of 13.

The 20 elected at-large delegates then selected 11 of their number to serve as the national administrative committee.

They are Foster, Dennis, John Gates, George Blake Charney, Benjamin Davis, Earl Durham, Fred Fine, James E. Jackson, Charles Loman, Sidney Stein and Doxey Wilkerson.

For Editorial Today on Courthouse See Page 6

After the national administrative committee had been approved, Gates told the convention: "This is a historic convention because for the first time we have officially adopted a program of an American road to socialism along peaceful, constitutional lines."

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda said today neither "cold war methods nor saber rattling" will swerve the Soviet Union from its "unconquerable cause—the building of communism."

Ike's Resolution Nears Approval

Mideast Doctrine Faces Final Senate Hurdle in Committee Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution neared final approval by two Senate committees today with its supporters beating back Democratic attempts to water down its authority.

The final major hurdle in the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees centered around a constitutional argument over whether Eisenhower, as president, already has authority to use troops in the Middle East.

As passed by the House, the resolution "authorizes" the President to employ the armed forces to help Middle East nations resist overt Communist aggression if they request it.

Chairman Green (D-RI) of the Foreign Relations Committee is pushing an amendment which would say simply that "the Congress approves the exercise of the President's authority to employ the armed forces" in such a development.

Another by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) would say simply "Congress approves the use" of the armed forces under the specified conditions.

McDonald Holds Lead

PITTSBURGH (INS) — David J. McDonald held a slight lead in unofficial returns today in his fight to retain the $50,000-a-year presidency of the United Steelworkers union.

Detroit Boy Drowns in High School Pool

DETROIT (AP) — A seventh grade boy was found drowned yesterday in the Miller High School swimming pool, although a swimming instructor said he had personally cleared the pool and locked the doors a half hour before.

Dead was 14-year-old Marvin Leonard. His body was found by another student, Joseph Dawes, 17, who went to the pool area to take a photograph for some school work.

William Robinson, the instructor said he had locked the pool after the class which Marvin was in had ended. Principal William Merritt said the child may have hid behind a diving board when the class left. Marvin's body was found in 10-feet of water.

Argue Civil Service Rules

Legal Tangle May Result if Trial Board Is Replaced

A possible legal dilemma exists for members of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. if they succeed in winning Civil Service protection to replace the present Trial Board.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said today a City Charter amendment allowing police officers to live outside the city might have to be repealed if voters approve a Civil Service system April 1.

This was immediately denied by James L. Carr, treasurer of the association. "There's nothing in the Civil Service act that says where a member must live after he becomes a member."

The question arose last night as the City Commission approved the form of the ballot on which Pontiac voters will decide on the association's move to eliminate the Trial Board.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans told commissioners sufficient signatures had been gathered on 83 petitions circulated by the organization, to force the vote.

Ewart contends that under a ruling that requires "the repeal of all acts and parts of acts inconsistent therewith," a new rule permitting officers to live within a 10-mile radius of Saginaw and Huron might be in jeopardy.

County Dems Meet to Select Delegates

Gathering at their county convention, Oakland County Democrats tonight will fill out a 114-member delegation to the state spring nominating convention Feb. 23 in Grand Rapids.

Two county candidates will be considered for endorsement, chairman Carlos G. Richardson said. They are William H. Harvie, of Lathrup, running for state highway commissioner, and Mrs. Irene Murphy, of Birmingham, a candidate for University of Michigan regent.

The convention also will select a chairman, Richardson said, and hear resolutions supporting state Democratic policies.

Delegates will meet at 8 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors' fourth floor room of the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Stock Market Rallies

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was higher and active in early trading today. Numerous key stocks were up fractions to around $1 a share after yesterday's mild decline which brought the market to its lowest average level since Oct. 18, 1955.

Another Forgotten Man

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Rep. William H. Ayers (R-Ohio), hemmed in by shrieking teenagers in a hotel lobby, said he was impressed with the enthusiasm of Albany's "Young Republicans."

One of the girls set him straight. The turnout was for actor-singer Tab Hunter.

"Who's he?" Ayers asked.

Shocked, the girl told him and asked, "Say, who are you, anyway?"

"A congressman."

"What's that?" she inquired.

From Third Floor Apartment

Throws Two to Safety

DETROIT (AP) — Blocked in by smoke, Trnie Turbyfill threw his pregnant daughter and her two-year-old son from the window of their burning third floor apartment. Then he jumped to safety himself.

AP Wirephoto

UNHAPPY, BUT SAFE — Little Philip Trevette, 2, cries lustily as he sits on the lap of James McCoy while Rudolph Morrisette (left) tries to comfort him. The men caught the tot after he was dropped from a flaming Detroit apartment by his mother.

Both the mother, Mrs. Rose Trivette, 21, and the child, Philip, were unhurt as two men, standing below, caught them in their arms.

Turbyfill's fall was broken by the two men but he suffered cuts, bruises and a back injury.

The 39-year-old Turbyfill was taken to Receiving Hospital after his escape from the flames yesterday.

One of the men who shouted from below for Turbyfill to throw down the child and the unconscious woman was Rudolph Morrisette, 46. He said after Turbyfill jumped, the "place seemed to go up with a whoosh."

The fire, apparently started by a match in the wastebasket of a basement apartment, drove 26 persons out of the brick building. No one was killed but damage was extensive.

Turbyfill said from his hospital bed that he had grabbed the child and headed with his daughter to the door, but smoke blocked their way. He then kicked out the window and threw the child to safety as his daughter fainted. He then managed to push her from the window too.

$500 Maximum Fine, Civil Service for Police are Proposals

2 Local Issues Up for Vote April 1

Two important local issues will be up for decisions by Pontiac voters when they go to the polls in the April 1 biennial spring election—the only regularly scheduled 1957 election.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said voters will be asked to decide a Police Officers Assn.'s move to replace the present Trial Board with Civil Service.

She said more than enough certified signatures were turned in recently on 83 petitions, forcing a voter decision.

Voters also will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on a proposed City Charter amendment giving the City Commission, if approved, the right to impose $500 maximum fines on new ordinances drafted.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said no vote will be taken April 1 on a proposed bond issue to help finance the city's proposed sewage treatment plant.

Willman added that the commission probably will be asked to call a special election later to vote on the issue.

AWAIT REPORT

"We are awaiting 1956 figures on the operation of the present plant so as to determine how much is to be supported by revenue bonds," Willman explained.

Holding places on the biennial spring ballot will be candidates for two University of Michigan regents, two members to the State Board of Agriculture, state highway commissioner, superintendent of public instruction, one member of the State Board of Education, and three Supreme Court justices.

Mrs. Evans warned unregistered Pontiac voters that they have until March 4 to register. The clerk's office in the City Hall is open five days a week from 8 until 5.

EXPECTS LIGHT TURNOUT

She predicted a very light turnout for the balloting. Two years ago, 10,393 voters went to the polls.

The City Commission approved the proposed form of the Civil Service ballot last night.

Commissioners refused last month to place the vote on the ballot by commission action. Officers then began circulating petitions, forcing the vote by initiative action.

If the majority approves the change, the city police, like the city firemen, would come under a code based on Civil Service laws.

The association's move stems from its criticism of the board and Chief Herbert W. Straley's alleged "influence" over it.

The city is awaiting approval from Lansing on the proposed form of the city charter amendment. City Attorney William A. Ewart suggested the vote last month so as to aid in cutting down on the number of drunk and reckless driving cases in Pontiac.

The present maximum fine for violation of city ordinances, under the city charter, is $100.

Partly Cloudy, Snow Flurries Again Forecast

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts partly cloudy tonight with a low of 25 degrees.

This morning the State Highway Department reported Pontiac area roads slippery in spots, after one and three-eighths inches of snow fell on the city last night.

Tomorrow will be cloudy with snow flurries and somewhat colder high 34.

For the next five days temperatures are expected to average near the normal maximum of 34 and the normal minimum of 19.

Preceding 8 o'clock this morning downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature was 27. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 40.

Oppose Our Air Bases

Reds Call U.S. Threat to Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Steering Committee was summoned today to act on Russia's call for General Assembly consideration of her charges that the United States has committed global aggression.

The committee must recommend to the Assembly whether is should debate the new charges. Final decision will be up to the Assembly, which now is seeking to wind up its 11th regular session.

A Soviet letter from Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetsov to Assembly President Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand accused the United States of aggressive actions which "create a threat to peace and security."

The Russians raised these main charges:

1. The United States has outlined a new Middle East program designed to touch off "new military provocations."

2. The United States has committed aggression on a global scale by setting up military bases in Western Europe, Turkey, Iran, Japan and Okinawa that are geared for handling atomic weapons.

CALL BASES A MENACE

3. U. S. bases in France, Britain, West Germany, Italy Turkey and Iran constitute a menace to peace.

4. The U. S. budget contains unprecedented expenses for war preparations, including new bases in Brazil, a jet base in Pakistan and Air Force bases in Formosa and West Germany.

Russia in the past has voiced similar complaints of aggression by the West, particularly the United States, but they have brought no U. N. action.

Already on the agenda of the U. N.'s Special Political Committee is a Soviet complaint accusing the United States of intervention in the domestic affairs of the Soviet Union and her European satellites — Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania. It also charges the Americans with subversive activities against the Soviet bloc.

Dock Strike Shuts Atlantic Coast Ports

River piers were empty. The union concentrated picketing activity on the so-called "luxury liner area."

Among the few ships in port was the American Export Liner, Independence. It docked shortly before the strike call was issued. Longshoremen helped with the docking but refused to unload baggage of the 790 passengers.

The longshoremen's strike dealt a double blow to the Port of New York, already in the depths of a tugboat strike, now in its 13th day.

The Queen Elizabeth, the world's largest liner, prepared to dock at Halifax, N.S., rather than arrive in New York Thursday as scheduled. Other liners also were diverting from New York.

In Philadelphia, railroads serving that city and the ports of Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., announced they had placed embargoes on all shipments of export and coastal freight to the three cities.

Shippers in Philadelphia said the strike, bogged down by local issues, may continue long after any settlement is reached in New York. Six thousand longshoremen work in the three ports.

IKE KEPT INFORMED

President Eisenhower, vacationing in Thomasville, Ga., was being informed of strike developments by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

The dock strike at a glance:

AREA—Major ports along the East Coast from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

ON STRIKE — 45,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind). They load and unload cargoes.

EFFECTS — Shutdown of most port operations at the points struck. Plans made to dock liner Queen Elizabeth, originally due in New York, at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

SITUATION — Port operations as usual from Hampton Roads south along Atlantic, and on Gulf and West coasts. Union locals of the ILA already had reached contract agreements with employers on the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts. West Coast longshoremen are members of a different union.

PROSPECTS — Uncertain. New York employer representatives voiced optimism, but union leadership doubted any chance of quick settlement. Situation in Philadelphia area, affected by difficult local issues, even gloomier.

ISSUES — Clouded at last moment by conflicting reports. Agreement had been reached in New York on 32 cents an hour wage increase but disagreement arose on whether to spread it over two years or three. Last-minute talks reportedly bogged down on such issues as vacations and holidays. Dockworkers' average wage now $2.48 an hour.

DEMANDS—Union sought blanket contract covering all locals on Atlantic and Gulf coasts but federal courts ruled it out. However, New York agreement expected to set pattern generally.

Grocer Defies Armed Robber

City Man, 72, Suspects Gun Is Empty, Refuses to Give Up Money

Previous hunting experience gave 72-year-old Jesse J. Woods, owner of Woods Grocery, 70 Chamberlain St., reason to hold his own and refuse to hand over his money to a sweet-toothed armed robber Tuesday night.

Woods, who said he was born in the woods and had hunted since he was six years old, said he was certain the revolver aimed at him wasn't loaded.

"He had his hand on the counter and I could see all the way down the cylinder." "I decided there weren't any shells in it," Woods explained.

Woods said he defied the attempted robber, who threatened to shoot him after the count of three. The merchant said he told the man, "I'd rather be shot and die than give you my money."

After the count of three, the man left after Woods attempted to grab the gun.

Woods said he was counting his money when the man walked in and asked for fruit, cakes and pies or "anything for a party." He had just hid $125 and was counting $90 more which he dropped in a drawer when he heard someone enter the store.

Sentencing of Sexton Set for February 25

Sentencing of former Pontiac police officer James B. Sexton, 29, of 686 E. Tennyson Ave., will take place Feb. 25, Circuit Court Judge H. Russel Holland ordered Monday.

Accused of the off duty shooting of two friends Jan. 27, 1956, Sexton was convicted by jury Jan. 23 of felonious assault. Both men recovered.

His sentencing was postponed a second time Monday on a motion by Judge Holland. The ex-officer is free under $1,000 bond.

Redeem Bus Tokens by Feb. 20 Deadline

Bus riders have until Feb. 20 to redeem tokens at the Pontiac City Lines office, 200 N. Paddock St., E. W. Dreasher, transportation superintendent, said.

After that date, Dreasher said, tokens will lose their value of four for 55 cents. They will be redeemed at the student token fare of two for 25 cents after Feb. 20, Dreasher said.

Kuhn Gets Backing for Waterford Post

Retiring Waterford Township Supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson today endorsed Richard Kuhn in his candidacy for the Republican nomination as supervisor in the Feb. 18 primary election.

Kuhn, 27, lives at 2295 Lake Angelus Rd. Owner of a Pontiac auto-wash firm, he is a graduate of Michigan State University and the Detroit College of Law.

"I feel that Dick Kuhn is the most capable Republican candidate for the office of supervisor.

"I am sure that if elected, he will give the people of Waterford Township a business-like and efficient government," Anderson said.

Anderson is moving on to the State legislature, after serving as supervisor since April 1951. He was elected to represent District 1 of Oakland County in the Nov. 7 election.

Anderson stressed the importance of helping select the candidates who will be on the April ballot by voting in the Feb. 18 primary.

Kuhn is opposed in seeking the nomination by Township Clerk Louis G. Barry, 36, of 4136 Silver Birch Dr.

The supervisor said he did not plan any further endorsements.

School Officials to Atlantic City

Whitmer to Head Panel on Community College in National Conference

Four Pontiac school officials will attend the annual convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators opening Friday at Atlantic City.

Making the trip will be Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent; J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent; Louis H. Schimmel, school board president; and Glenn H. Griffin, board member.

Whitmer will serve as interrogator at a sectional meeting, "The Community College: Next Step for Public Education" slated for Feb. 20.

The sectional meeting will be a joint one with the American Vocational Assn. and the National Society for the Study of Education.

Max S. Smith, Michigan State University administrator, will act as chairman of the section.

Nationally known speakers at the six-day AASA convention will include Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts; Beardsley Ruml, tax expert; T. Keith Glennan, president of Case Institute of Technology; Norman Cousins, editor of "The Saturday Review;" and You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to the U. S.

Tell Precinct Change at Bloomfield Rally

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — About 75 persons attended the political rally held at the high school Tuesday night. Supervisor Arno Hulet said this morning that a combination of bad weather and lack of controversial issues probably accounted for the poor attendance.

Some of the local candidates spoke briefly, outlining plans they have for their offices.

Hulet also announced the change in location for Precinct 4 voters. The Hickory Grove school site has been transferred to the Lutheran Church at the southeast corner of Franklin and Square Lake roads. This includes voters on the north side of Square Lake road from the West Bloomfield Township line to Adams road.

Building Firms' Court Date Set

Independence Township Named Defendant in Trespass Suits

A court batle between Independence Township and two building companies has been tentatively set for Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

The building firms, High Haven Builders and Jared Builders, both of Detroit, each have entered $250,000 trespass suits against the township, charging interference in private business.

They ask a writ of mandamus compelling the township to issue certificates of occupancy for new homes built in subdivisions surrounding Clarkston.

The township previously had asked for a permanent injunction blocking occupancy of the homes until the companies secured the certificates that had met township building standards. A temporary injunction has been granted, but a hearing for the permanent injunction has not been set.

The township claims new homes have been improperly built. Complaints include faulty plumbing, contaminated water supply and poor construction.

Certificates of occupancy are granted under a township ordinance which calls for a final inspection after construction is completed.

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to help you prepare your Income Tax Return.

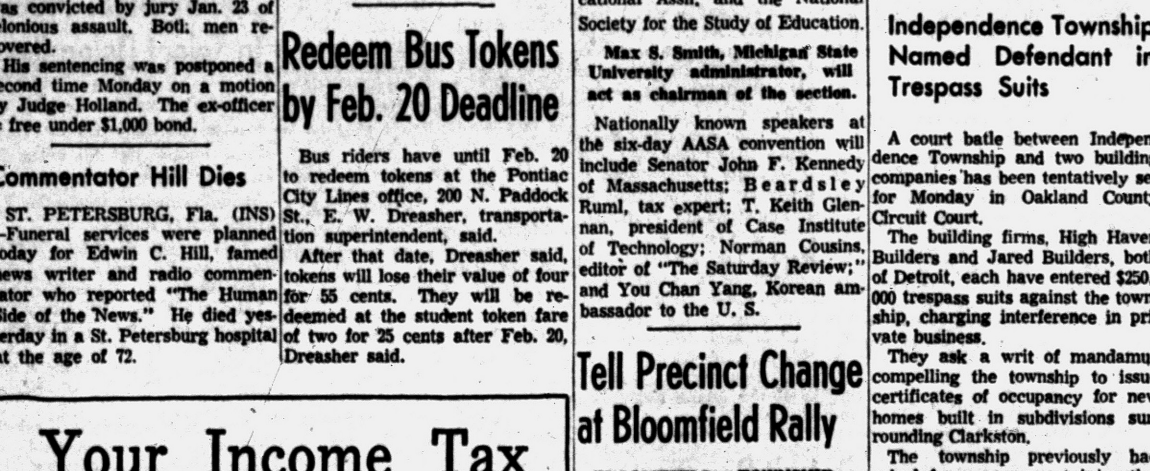

M AND D EXPENSE

M and D for tax purposes stands for medical and dental — or medicine and drugs. If you itemize your deductions you may have a medical deduction subject to certain limitations. A statement should be attached to the tax return showing the name and amount paid to each person for medical expenses that were not covered by insurance.

Medical expenses can be claimed for yourself, spouse, or any dependent who received over half their support from you.

Amounts deductible are those paid by you for the prevention, cure, correction, or treatment of a physical or mental defect or illness. Remember, only certain items are considered as medical expense and there are limitations.

(Further information on income tax problems is available without charge at the Internal Revenue Service office, 53½ W. Huron St. Phone FE 2-0208.)

Isaac W. Voorheis

Word has been received of the death of former city resident Isaac W. Voorheis, 64, of 700 E. 24th St., Oakland, Calif. He died yesterday of a heart attack.

Mr. Voorheis formerly was employed as a traveling auditor for General Motors Truck & Coach Division.

Besides his wife, Clementine, he leaves his mother, Mrs. Alice M. Voorheis of Ypsilanti; a son, Philip of Fresno, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Williams of Los Angeles, Calif.; six grandchildren; a brother, Stanley J. of Walled Lake and a sister, Mrs. Mabel I. Stadtmiller of Ypsilanti.

Service and burial will be in Oakland Thursday.

The Day in Birmingham

Will Offer Free Classes for Handicapped Women

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham will be the scene of a series of free classes entitled "Heart of the Home" on March 4, 6, 11, and 18 at the Community House. Under the joint sponsorship of the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service and Alpha Omicron Pi the series will show housewives how to continue directing and handling their homes even though incapacitated.

It will outline easier ways to do one's work under present home conditions, rather than stressing the remodeling of homes to fit the capabilities of the inhabitants.

Sponsors urge local persons wishing to take advantage of this class to enroll this week.

They stress that no medical advice, diagnosis, treatment or examination is given in connection with the series. They do ask, however, that doctors refer their patients to the classes so these handicapped women may enjoy a fuller, more active life.

What is the city's legal responsibility — should it participate in any program of keeping Quarton Lake in a satisfactory condition for skaters, is a question Birmingham commissioners put to city attorney Richard Adams, Monday night.

Adams' answer was to the effect, that, in his opinion, the city would not be liable in the event of any mishap, providing it did not make any statement that signified the ice was safe.

The mere fact that the city cleans the ice in an area which will be used anyway does not hold the municipality responsible for the persons welfare who use it.

Commissioners pointed out that regardless of what is said about the lake, it will be used. They added that they do not wish to deny anyone the pleasure of skating, but since the lake is considered by many to be dangerous, they want no part of an active program establishment.

Andrew S. Butt issued a resume of Birmingham building for January, including one new single family residence, one new business and 12 single family alterations. Total for the month is an estimated cost of $39,307.

Mrs. Ann L. Masters

Rosary service will be at 8:30 tomorrow from the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. for Mrs. Ann L. Masters, 75, of 32377 Suzanne Dr.

Mrs. Masters died this morning at her home after a brief illness. A member of Holy Name parish, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Edward J. Elliott and Mrs. Harold Parker of Indianapolis and Mrs. William Cutting of Birmingham; a son, William H. Stewart of Syracuse, New York; 12 grandchildren; 2 great-grandchildren, a sister and a brother.

Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. Friday from Holy Name Church will be followed by interment in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

Mrs. Vaino Helminen

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Service for Mrs. Vaino (Hilda Maria) Helminen, 62, of 5641 Coomer Rd., will be announced by Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Pontiac. Resident of the area for 22 years, Mrs. Helminen died early today.

A member of the Lutheran Church, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Kongas of Kansas; one sister, Mrs. Ida Seever of Ohio; two brothers, Larry Cooper of Ohio and William of Florida, and two grandchildren.

Organize Group to Promote Area

Downtown Merchants Seek 140 Members in New Association

The formation of an association of downtown merchants 'to promote the welfare of the downtown area," is gaining momentum under the leadership of an eight-man organizing committee.

The group, which seeks some 140 members, has called a morning meeting Thursday for the purpose of drafting a board of directors, Monroe M. Osmun, temporary chairman, said.

At present, the proposed group will have a three-fold objective of staging a series of promotions for downtown merchants, encouraging new downtown businesses, and assist in the rehabilitation of "blighted" areas in the business district.

"Our major goal is to promote anything that will benefit the downtown area," Osmun explained.

The group, modeled after similar ones in nearby cities, has a proposed name of the Greater Downtown Pontiac Assn. It will be affiliated, Osmun said, with the Chamber of Commerce, but will have its own by-laws and will be divorced from the Chamber financially.

Osmun emphasized that the group would not be restricted to downtown retailers, but would include businessmen, professional men, and property owners.

News Flashes

DETROIT (AP) — A spectacular five-alarm fire today raced through a block-long factory-warehouse in the downtown area of Detroit, at 2051 W. Lafayette. Ambulances were rushed to the scene, but first reports indicated no workers had been hurt in the blaze.

Police said it broke out in the Coon de Visser Co. plant. It is a block long, two story building which extends between Lafayette and Fort Sts. The blaze is threatening to spread to adjoining structures.

Two Await Sentencing in Golf Course Breakin

Two men charged in the breakin Feb. 3 of the Municipal Golf Course clubhouse were free today under $2,000 bonds apiece pending sentencing Feb. 18 by Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty.

Fred Rhimes, 28, of 312 Hughes Ave. and William Chambers, 29, of 415 Bloomfield Ave. pleaded guilty Monday to charges of breaking and entering. Property valued at $126 was taken, police said.

Officers May Face Residence Tangle

conflicting with our City Charter," Ewart said. Carr countered by saying, "there is no conflict whatsoever involving residency."

Pontiac voters last November approved a proposal of the association that its members be allowed to live outside Pontiac.

The city attorney also claims that before 15 members of the force might become eligible for Civil Service, if it is passed, they must move back into Pontiac. Carr rebutted this claim also.

"The law says that present members of the force would not have to make application, but would automatically become members," Carr claimed.

Ewart based his belief on the citation of the state law which says officers "must have been a resident of said city, village, or municipality for at least one year preceding application."

"I guess these questions are a matter for the courts to determine," Ewart said.

He'll 'See Budget Through'

Capital Talk Says Wilson May Stay in Defense Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon talk today was that Charles E. Wilson may desire to stay on as secretary of defense for another year instead of quitting sometime this summer.

Wilson is resting up on a Florida vacation, saying nothing about his plans.

The possibility of a summer retirement arose Dec. 27 when newsmen asked Wilson if he expected to remain until congressional action on the 38-billion-dollar military budget was completed. That probably will come in the early summer.

His answer then was that "my present intention is to see it (the budget) through . . . But I might change my mind, of course . . . A man never knows what is going to happen to him these days."

Some are suggesting that Wilson may want to round out a five-year tenure. They emphasized his December comment that he might change his mind.

Wilson plans to return to Washington Saturday. Mrs. Wilson has made no secret of the fact that she would like her husband to retire and take life easy.

Talk of Wilson's possible retirement increased after he told a congressional committee that a provision in law permitting subdraft age boys to enlist in the National Guard was "a sort of scandal during the Korean War, a draft dodging business."

Eisenhower told a subsequent White House news conference that he thought Wilson's comment "unwise."

Ollenhauer May Replace Aging Konrad Adenauer

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

The U.S. this week is getting a close-up look at the man who may succeed the venerable Konrad Adenauer as West German chancellor this fall.

And in Erich Ollenhauer, Americans will find the stereotype of a good German burgher — short, plump, jovial, full-jowled, pink-cheeked, smoking a pipe, conservatively dressed with dark homberg covering his white hair.

The 56-year-old chairman of the opposition Social Democratic party in Germany is more than simply the "good burgher," however. He is rated a brilliant administrator. And while he does not have the flair and color of Adenauer, the program he has advanced is conceded by observers in Germany to have a fairly strong appeal to the population.

Ollenhauer arrived in New York Monday to talk to American and Canadian leaders, the men with whom he will do business if he ousts the 81-year-old Adenauer in the September elections, and to explain his Socialist approach to life.

Ollenhauer, son of a working mason, joined the Socialist movement at the age of 15. By the time he was 20 he was on the headquarters staff.

He battled Adolf Hitler's National Socialism right from the beginning, fled to Prague, Paris and London, and still fights it. He said the other day the German people "should be very careful" about any potential revival.

AIDED SCHUMACHER

Returning to conquered Germany in 1946, he became chief secretary and deputy leader of his party, and aided the brilliant, battling Kurt Schumacher in whipping the anti-Communist group back into shape.

He took over when Schumacher died four years ago. Since then, his appeals for reunification of German — through abandonment of German membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — for a united Europe and a planned economy have all been frustrated.

The Hungarian revolt killed off, temporarily, talk of dumping NATO. German prosperity overshadowed a planned economy. The "larger Europe" idea has been outdated.

But Ollenhauer's campaigns for talks with both the Soviet Union and the West for "solutions" to reunification, and his plea for a need for a change in the government may have deep appeal in September.

Seeks 4-Year Term for Governor, Senate

LANSING (AP)—A Republican Senator said today he will propose a four year term for the governor and most other elected state officers, and for members of the the state senate.

Present terms are two years.

The idea, approved twice by the Senate in recent years but rejected by the House, would require a change in the state constitution.

Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman) said he planned to bring in a joint resolution on the subject notwithstanding the way it has fared in the past, and a withholding of endorsement by the Republican state convention.

Andrews said he might talk to Democratic Gov. Williams in an effort to drum up bipartisan support.

Sees No Future for Jazz

BALTIMORE (AP) — Composer Norman Dello Joio says "there is no future for jazz." The composer said he once had earned a living playing jazz. "I found it very dull after a while," he added. He said the purveyors of progressive jazz have uncovered nothing new. "Those things were done in modern music years ago," he said.

Hart and Staebler to Be Guests at Dance

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart and state Democratic chairman Neil Staebler will be guests at a dance of the Northeastern Oakland County Democratic club Saturday night, chairman Cecil L. Warden said.

The dance will begin at 8 p.m. in Independence Township Hall in Clarkston, with other state, county and local officials invited, Warden said.

He said township incumbent officers and candidates of both parties have been asked to attend.

Ask March 11 Vote to Change Walled Lake School Status

Pontiac Press Photo

EAGLE-TO-BE AND VET — Conrad Haak, 15, of 454 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac, a member of Troop 4, has a peek at the coveted Eagle scout badge he will receive after his appearance before a board of review. Ted Pearson Jr., president of the village of Oxford, shows Conrad the Eagle badge he received in 1928. Pearson is a member of the executive board of the Clinton Valley Council, which along with millions of other Scouts, is observing the movement's 47th birthday.

Would Classify as 3rd District

Board Awards Contract for Seven Classrooms at Commerce

WALLED LAKE—At the Monday Board of Education meeting here, Clements Philipski presented a petition signed by 400 school electors requesting a special election, relative to changing the school district from a 4th district to 3rd district classification.

The board voted to schedule an election on March 11, subject to the validity of the signature on the petitions and the receipt of a population certification from the superintendent of public instruction.

The board awarded a contract to the West Side Construction Co. of Detroit to build seven rooms at Commerce, including a kindergarten and, six additional rooms at the Decker road school. The amount of the contract was $263,500.

Included in the agreement was the right of the architect to include alternates three and four, which would include louvre shades in the domes and downspout shoes.

The board was informed that upon receipt of a check for $30,071.34, Oakland Housing would transfer title to 30 acres of property on Commerce road. The board authorized the drawing of this check. The site was acquired for a junior high school to be constructed in 1959. The board is also completing negotiations with the Field family for approximately four additional acre at Commerce at $2,000 per acre.

Board was reminded that members are appearing as a panel at the junior-senior high PTA meeting on Feb. 21 and at the Decker road meeting on Feb. 25.

Rolland Langerman reported on plans for one sixth grade group from Union and one from Walled Lake to engage in group camping at Proud Lake the first week in April. A decision on granting a right-of-way through the Union Lake property to the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. was postponed until a later meeting.

Waterford Board to Award Contracts

A special meeting of the Waterford Township Board of Education will be held tomorrow night.

The board will award contracts for construction of the two new elementary schools.

One will be located on Maceday Drive and newly named the Henry R. Schoolcraft school and the other, on Elizabeth Lake Rd., will be known as the William Beaumont Elementary school.

Antarctic Fliers Arrive Safely

Emergency Landing for Repairs No Worry to Michigan Pilot Speed

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctic (AP)—Six Navy men arrived safely back at this antarctic base last night after engine trouble forced their plane down on the flat Ross Sea ice shelf.

They spent three hours repairing an oil leak in one of the two motors of their ski-equipped Navy R4D (C47) transport before continuing to McMurdo Sound, 260 miles to the north.

The plane was returning after flying five more scientists and two Seabees to the U. S. scientific base at the South Pole, 800 miles from McMurdo. It carried food and survival gear.

Lt. Harvey G. Speed, North Muskegon, Mich., the pilot, said he was not a bit worried during the emergency landing — his fourth in the antarctic.

He said the oil leak developed while the transport was skimming over Beardmore Glacier on the way down from the high polar plateau, and "I headed straight for the ice shelf, which is as flat as a table."

The arrival of the new men raised the polar station population to 18 — nine scientists and nine Navy support personnel. During the winter of darkness and temperatures of 100 degrees or more below zero, they will make scientific studies as part of the International Geophysical Year program.

Train Wreck in Indiana; No Casualty Report

RICHMOND, Ind. (INS) — A Pennsylvania railroad train, en route from New York to St. Louis, was wrecked today 10 miles west of Richmond, but no information was available immediately on the casualties, if any.

Police and ambulances hurried to the scene of the wreck, near Centerville. First reports were that one passenger car included in the mail express train was badly damaged.

The passenger car had been attached to the rear of the train in Indianapolis.

Mother, Child Injured

A Pontiac mother and child were released from St. Joseph Hospital after treatment for minor lacerations received in an auto accident at Highland Ave. and Luther St. Tuesday.

The injured were Mrs. Rosa Lee Shorters, 34, of 280 Bondale Ave., and five-year-old Claudetta Shorter. The second auto involved in the accident was driven by Elizabeth Brooks Allen, 27, of 188 Eadmore Rd.

Prosecution to Rest in Trial of Bailiff

WHITE CLOUD (AP)—The prosecution is expected to end its testimony today in the first degree murder trial of James King, court bailiff, accused of shooting a Newago County farmer.

King, a 16-year veteran of the Wayne County Court, is being tried by a jury of 11 men and two women.

The state charged that King shot and killed George Krise Nov. 16 when Krise ordered King and six companions off his farm.

Defense attorneys indicate that at least five of King's companions will testify when the defense is heard. King is represented by Melvin Orr of West Branch and A. Allen Early of Detroit.

They have indicated that King's defense will be justifiable homicide, based on the fact that Krise was carrying a gun at the time of the shooting.

Fined for Sale of Gun

CAMPBELL, Calif. (AP)—A store owner has been fined $10 for selling a revolver without waiting the legally required 72 hours. Half an hour after the sale, James B. Arends, lumber executive, killed his wife, her sister and himself with the gun. Anthony Cefalu, the store owner, told District Judge Paul W. Crawford that Arends said he wanted to shoot gophers.

Advance to Rank of Eagle Scout Taxing Test of Skill, Devotion

The current celebration of Boy Scout week is a fitting time to detail the tasks which are encountered and conquered in a scouts climb to his Eagle rank, highest in the movement.

From the first novice stage, the steps are a little higher and harder.

The ladder is made of six rungs or ranks: Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star rank, Life rank and finally Eagle. Between each step or rank, a scout must meet specific requirements on an achievement as well as time basis.

The Scout merit badge plan provides many of the rules which guides one to his next rank. There are two reasons for this plan: to give boys more skill in things they like to do; to give boys a chance to try out new activities so they can find new things which they really like.

At present, there are more than 100 activities for which boys may earn merit badges. In the Clinton Valley Council, of which Pontiac is a district, there are over 100 merit badge counselors on call.

When a boy decides what badge he would like to earn, he contacts the counselor, an expert in the field, and together, they work out a plan to complete the badge requirements.

KINDLE INTEREST

Today there are hundreds of doctors, radio engineers, forest rangers, and other men whose ambitions were first kindled while they were Scouts earning merit badges.

When the scout finally reaches the top, he must review the requirements of the Eagle rank. They state he must:

1. Be a Life Scout (earn 10 merit badges required for the Life rank including first aid and two from the citizenship group).

2. Satisfy his leaders he does his best, in everyday life and lives up to the scout oath, law motto and slogan.

3. Show during the six months as a life scout: works actively as a leader in meetings, outdoor activities and service projects of his unit; does his best to help in his home, school, church and community; takes care of things which belong to him and respects the property of others.

4. Has earned one merit badge from the conservation group and three from the citizenship group.

5. Has earned a camping, cooking, swimming, lifesaving, natures, personal fitness, public health, safety, firemanship and first aid badge.

6. Has earned one badge from any of the following groups: animal husbandry, plant cultivation, communications, transportation, or building.

7. Has earned any five other merit badges.

Star, Life and Eagle ranks are not recognized for merit badges alone. Merit badges are only one-fourth of the requirements. These ranks are given in recognition of three other achievements — practice of scout principles, active service and leadership effort.

After the above seven requirements have been completed along with the necessary length of time (six months) the Eagle-to-be appears before the Board of Review.

These men question the scout on what he has accomplished. Their object is not to catch him nor to embarrass him, but to make sure he really practices the principle of scouting.

Last of all, the board of review approves and sends the application to the council office. It is now all a matter of time when he will receive his badge at a ceremony or public Court of Honor.

That's what it takes to become an Eagle Scout — the highest rank in the career of a Boy Scout of America.

The Eagle rank has been awarded to 563 Boy Scouts of the Clinton Valley Council since 1919.

Uncle of Quiz Champ May Have to Get TV

CLINTON (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Guy Van Doren run an antique shop in the Irish Hills of southern Michigan. They've never owned a television set, but now this fact bothers them.

"My wife was afraid Id bury my nose in it and she wouldn't see me again," Van Doren said. But now the lack of television has proved a real problem.

Van Doren is the uncle of Charles Van Doren, the Columbia University instructor who has won $138,000 on the quiz show "Twenty One."

"Our neighbors haven't let us miss any of the programs on which Charles has appeared," Van Doren said. "But we may have to get a set of our own if he keeps on winning."

Two Women Injured as Car Skids, Hits Wall

Two women were injured yesterday when their car skidded out of control and struck a block wall at 3811 Ormond Rd., in White Lake Township.

Treated and released for their injuries at Pontiac General Hospital were Mrs. Mary Lamb, 52, of 3460 White Lake Rd., Milford, and Mrs. Lucille Butler, 49, of 4815 Ormond Rd., Davisburg.

Mrs. Lamb, who drove the car, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies she hit a bump in the road and then skidded.

Caribou Owner Turns Down Museum Bidder's Offer

Two men have offered to buy the controversial Caribou Inn in Clarkston, tear it down and move it away, but owner Ernie Felice has turned down the offer.

The plans of the bidders, Herb Justman and William Conley of Pontiac, were to dismantle the two top floors of the Caribou and remaining first floor to a piece of land in Keego Harbor.

They planned to make a Historical Museum of Michigan antiques, old papers and rare items. The architecture of the building would be retained as much as possible after moving, with the necessary added finishing touches.

Justman would not reveal what the proposition was, but said that he and his partner are leaving the offer open for a 30-day period in hopes that Felice will reconsider.

Felice said that if he does not receive a better offer by that time, he will tear the building down himself, and use the lumber for other uses.

"This is absolutely the last chance for Clarkston people to take this building off my hands," Felice said.

He had previously offered the building, free of charge to village residents, if they cared to move the building. No one has responded, he said.

MR. AND MRS. CLELLAN VORE JR.

The ceremony was read by candlelight and the altar was trimmed with baskets of white flowers and palms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight L. Baldwin of 2931 Marlington and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clellan Vore Sr. of 4920 Hatchery Rd., both in Drayton Plains.

An embroidered tulle ballerina-length gown, fashioned with jacket, long sleeves and a round shadowed collar was chosen by the bride. The tiered bouffant skirt fell from the fitted waistline. The fingertip veil was held in place by a matching embroidered tulle of bead trimming.

Assisting as maid of honor was Marilyn Cromwell of Waterford with Shirley McNeil of Pontiac as bridesmaid. Terry Lewis of Lake Orion, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

James Mayo of Drayton Plains served as best man with Raymond Thompson of Pontiac as groomsman, Gale Swindale of Pontiac and Kennis Hensey of Drayton Plains as ushers. Dwight Jay, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception with about 200 attending was given in Church Fellowship Hall.

The couple will honeymoon in Washington, D.C., and will return to reside in Pontiac.

Oakland's Queen to Vie for State Cherry Pie Title

Oakland County's name and fame as a homemaking center rests on the shoulders of Judy Crawford, of Milford, as 64 Michigan girls prepare to vie Thursday for the title of Michigan Cherry Pie Queen.

Represented in the finals at Grand Rapids are the best young cherry pie bakers in Michigan, selected through county contests.

Judy, 16, won Oakland's title Feb. 3, winning out over 12 other 4-H members and representatives of high school home economics classes.

The winner of the state contest will receive a $200 scholarship and a crack at national honors Feb. 21 in Chicago. Michigan's choice will be announced Friday at an awards luncheon.

Leading home economists and educators will judge the finals, the 25th, according to Reed M. Roberts, secretary of the Michigan Canners and Freezers Assn., who is directing the affair.

Contestants are judged on poise and personality as well as baking ability.

Merchants Stop Bid to Limit Membership

Members of the Retail Merchants Assn. this morning voted unanimously against a proposal which would have restricted its membership to retailers within the city of Pontiac.

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce, of which the association is a division, said only 15 members attended the meeting at the Waldron Hotel to vote on the proposed amendment.

Reason for the defeat, according to the spokesman, was the pending formation of a downtown promotion group of merchants.

Courthouse Belongs Here, Not in Royal Oak

Mr. Harold K. Schone, chairman of the Special County Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors asks if the City of Pontiac is indifferent to whether the Courthouse moves to the south end of the county.

He cites Attorney William H. Wilmot who says:

" . . . if the Courthouse isn't downtown (in Pontiac), we don't care where it is. We have no objections to Royal Oak."

Well, this newspaper objects.

We feel the entire community does.

We think Mr. Wilmot's use of the word "we" is completely in error, unless it refers only to himself and his associates. The Pontiac Press is confident that the citizens of this city are highly interested and have a tremendous desire to maintain the institution in Pontiac where it has been from the beginning of time.

The Press would prefer to see it downtown.

The merchants would, too. But if the Supervisors are a unit in wanting to move it to the edge of the city, they have the power to put it there.

There's no other course.

And The Press would infinitely rather see it on the edge of Pontiac than moved to Royal Oak.

The current move to block the Supervisors could have very unpleasant repercussions. The delay may help move the new building squarely into Royal Oak. The Royal Oak City Commission has already declared it favors such a move.

Supervisor Schone recognizes that Pontiac is the logical place for the Courthouse. It always has been. This is the center of the county and is the traditional home of the county seat.

In answer to your question, Mr. Schone, we do not believe Mr. Wilmot's attitude toward Pontiac's welfare is at all typical of the general attitude of the community. We are confident that the great, vast majority of citizens here feel a local pride in Pontiac and in the Courthouse. They want the county seat of government in this city where we are convinced it belongs.

Mr. Schone asks whether this city wants the Courthouse here. We answer with a ringing "yes." We would prefer it downtown. But we would infinitely prefer to have it on the edge of the city rather than in the South end.

It's time building operations began.

Costs mount steadily.

Justice Reed Retires

Justice Stanley F. Reed of the United States Supreme Court has decided to step down from the bench on February 25 after 19 years of distinguished service.

Before his appointment, he had had a great deal of experience in arguing before the Supreme Court. In 1929 he went to Washington as general counsel of the Federal Farm Board during the Hoover Administration.

Later he became general counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and then served as Solicitor General in the Justice Department from 1935 until his appointment to the bench by President Roosevelt in 1938. Only three of the nine young men appointed by President Roosevelt remain on the court—Justices Black, Frankfurter, and Douglas, and only two of President Truman's appointees — Justices Burton and Clark.

When Justice Reed, now 72, took his seat he was widely acclaimed as a New Dealer. But over the years the Kentuckian has acquired a somewhat conservative reputation and his course was near the middle of the road.

Mr. Reed was one of the court's most valuable members. He was devoted to the tasks before him and his opinions were concise and clear. His relationship with his colleagues was warm and friendly.

This retirement will give President Eisenhower his fourth opportunity to make a Supreme Court appointment.

Young man, don't run after women. You can stroll along leisurely and get mixed up with more of them than you'll know what to do about.

The Man About Town

We're Losing 'Em

Birds and Squirrels in Need of Your Assistance

Valentine: What we laughed about or cried about when we were kids — according to the sentiments expressed.

Wish I knew the identity of the woman who sent me the letter over the signature of

"Williams Lake Resident,"

because she has ideas that would make us happy to give our readers her full name—and they'd admire her as I do.

She writes that our squirrel population is seriously decreasing, that last year's nut and acorn crop was almost a failure, and that they are in need of regular feeding. She says they will not beg or steal food unless their stored supply is exhausted.

Her pet squirrel is wiser than most humans in one respect — it knows the difference between a poisonous toadstool and a mushroom, ignoring the former and doting on the latter.

Her observation is that our bird population is on the decrease, and she urges more feeding boards. Birds now are so hungry that species that formerly always were fighting with other species now are so docile that they eat together in a congenial manner.

My old friend and one time associate here at The Press, phones and tells me he has mislaid his Latin dictionary and what in Sam Hill does "Quod Erat Demonstrandum" mean, anyway? I used that phrase on the end of Archie Barnett's letter telling what a bear cat his 1957 Pontiac automobile is proving to be.

Johnny Johnston,

The letters "Q.E.D." are familiar to every high school student as they are used at the end of geometric proofs, but like Johnny, the boys and girls may have forgotten that they stand for "Quod Erat Demonstrandum."

The amaryllis race continues, as of Drayton Plains reports that one bulb has produced eight large blossoms since Christmas, and is working on three more.

". . . Washington Winters, Springs, Summers, Falls"

David Lawrence Says:

Many Factors Affect U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON — Will business be good? Are we headed for a readjustment of some kind? What's the meaning of the talk about "depression" and of the decline in the stock market?

These questions are being widely discussed and it's about the healthiest thing that has happened in a long while.

For the theory that there are no limits to what can be borrowed, that not much attention need be given to paying back public debt, that wages can rise a substantial amount every year, and that prices can go up to meet rising costs and everything will be rosy just the same, is the very thing that leads to economic imbalance and general distress.

LAWRENCE

The economic system is too big to be controlled by any single device, either of credit or anything else. Restricting the amount that can be borrowed is not in and of itself a remedy.

The success of the American system is based on a continuance each year of healthy profits. This doesn't mean that the owners themselves become saturated with wealth—as the radicals like to argue. It means that profits, when large, can be set aside as surplus and new jobs can be created because the surplus can be used to manufacture plant and equipment needed to attain greater efficiency.

But profits lately have been coming down. Last year saw the trend begin to decline. When larger companies find their costs so high that they cannot get the same rate of profits as before, it means that they have to cut down on dividends to stockholders. And when dividends start going off, the stocks themselves begin to be less attractive to buyers and the market begins to slide downward.

NOT DEPRESSION

This doesn't necessarily mean depression or recession. It means readjustment. Business has to find its capital somehow. If it finds the supply of outside credit limited, it must start building up inside credit—from its surplus. Representative Patman of Arkansas, Democrat, calls this "costless capital."

This is illusory. For when business has to dip into its reserves and ceases to pay customary dividends, the stockholders pay for that use of capital because they are deprived of dividends they might otherwise have gotten—the wages of their invested capital. The company, moreover, loses the interest it previously had received when investing its surplus.

The over-all situation today defies generalization. Some businesses are going ahead as usual. Others feel the pinch of "tight money" or restricted credit.

The biggest single factor that neither large nor small business can overcome is the persistent rise in wage costs. Congress conveniently overlooks it. The doctrine that every year labor must have an advanced wage or else union leadership is not doing its job has taken hold to the extent that, unless something is done to stabilize wages, there will be a depression which will confirm all the statements that recently have been made about "hair curling."

Until wages are stabilized, prices will not be stabilized. Until wages and prices are both stabilized, the purchasing power of the dollar will not be stabilized.

The basic economy is strong, and the debate and discussion are useful in reversing the tides of irresponsibility which in recent years have characterized the field of wages and prices and public spending.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Plain Old-Fashioned Soap Best Disinfectant of All

The most useful remedy in our household is not kept in the Medicine Cupboard. It is kept in niches especially provided for it over wash basins, in shower stalls and over the kitchen sink. It contains no magic Z-33, yet it's my choice whenever an antiseptic, germicide, or disinfectant is indicated, as we $10-doctors say, or needed, as a $3.50-practioner might say.

BRADY

It would be a nuisance to open the Medicine Cupboard to get a remedy one uses a dozen times a day. Besides, soap is harmless even if the baby gets hold of it and tries to eat it.

When I say soap I mean plain toilet soap. The make or brand name doesn't matter, so long as the soap makes good lather or suds and is not disagreeable in taste.

When I was a boy on Chapel street in Canandaigua we made our own soap by leaching wood ashes to get lye (potash lye) and boiling this in an iron kettle with bits of oil and grease or scraps of fat saved for the purpose.

We cut the solidfied brown mass of soap in the kettle into man size cakes before it hardened, and we were all set. It made excellent toilet soap, laundry soap, household disinfectant.

FOR TEETH, TOO

And the sainted Miss Lutie Berner saw to it that the Brady boys brushed their teeth with it every morning.

The medicinal or therapeutic value of homemade soap, even the dainty yellow laundry soap of ante-horse-opera days, was established centuries ago and is well recognized today.

In my judgment, a large wet dressing (surgical gauze, washed cheesecloth, absorbent cotton) of soap and water applied as hot as bearable and kept hot by frequent soaking in soapy hot water, is the best home treatment for an infected wound or leg ulcer.

I'm sure my teeth and mouth are kept clean by rinsing with soapy water once a day, sometimes twice a day — after breakfast and after dinner — as are the teeth (if any) and mouth of any poor geek who uses a daintily flavored dentifrice containing the latest mysterious ingredient.

OLD REMEDY

Getting back to Canandaigua and the golden days, punctures, blisters, and stone bruises invariably responded well to grandma's sovereign remedy — a poultice of brown soap and brown sugar.

Never a thought about the danger of lockjaw, although most such wounds were sustained on the street, where horses, cows, and other animals that harbor the tetanus germs had free reign.

I'm not questioning the cause of lockjaw nor the need for an immediate injection of anti-tetanus serum after such wounds, especially after a bite or scratch by an animal.

I merely wonder why we Chapel Street kids escaped such dread complications or consequence of our wounds, punctures, scratches, burns, or bites.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Advises Writing Notes of Sympathy

Never hesitate to send a sympathy card or just a few scribbled lines of condolence to folks who are grief-stricken Such messages have a golden significance to the bereaved and are even more permanent in their effectiveness than beautiful floral tributes, though the latter are quite inspiring, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-303: Yesterday I began the account of our shock when our oldest child, George IV, died in his jet plane crash.

Danny and David went out to Glenview to pick up George's car and his personal effects.

When they arrived home, they were overcome with grief, and Danny told his mother:

"I wish it had been me instead of George!"

Danny was forlornly carrying George's shoes in one hand and his cap in the other.

Fortunately, we had some relatives visiting us that week-end and they took over. Neighbors and friends began calling in person and by telephone.

And during the ensuing days, we received condolences and flowers and telegrams from all over America.

Long time friends among newspaper editors and publishers expressed their sympathy to us and we were also deeply moved by the condolences from hundreds of you newspaper readers whom we never had met but who were sharing our grief with us.

Often you would write beautiful notes of inspiration, but preface them by saying you hesitated to intrude upon us in our sorrow.

Never hesitate to do this! We all agreed that one of the most stabilizing forces in our shock and grief, was this avalanche of greetings, for they indelibly impressed us with the universal kinship of mankind.

So I wish to pass along this unanimous feeling of our family that a note of sympathy is one of the best ways by which you can comfort anybody who is suddenly bereaved.

I believe the written note is better than flowers, although the latter are beautiful, too.

Many of you reported that you yourselves had lost sons via air crashes. And we actually felt ashamed of our own grief when, through our tears, we'd read the inspiring words of courage from widows or lonely parents who had never had but one child and they had lost him.

As Mrs. Crane and I looked around at our four remaining children, we were grateful to God for them to help sustain us and yet more deeply moved by the wonderful condolences from you who had lost your only child.

One poor old man, alone in the world, just scribbled a note of sympathy on a little piece of paper and handed it to me at my Sunday School Class next day, without another word.

A college coed who lives next door, was so moved she arose at 4 a.m. and wrote a long letter to our children trying to buoy them up.

Catholic, Jewish and Protestant friends stood by us. Negro and Caucasian newspaper readers sent us letters and cards of sympathy from all over America.

MISQUOTED BRAVERY

Next morning was Sunday. I normally teach a Bible Class at 9:30 in our neighborhood; then drive down to the Chicago Loop to teach another large Bible Class at 12:30.

So we attended Sunday School as usual, and I taught my classes. Many folks commented that it was a brave act on our part.

But there was nothing brave about it. We are always in Sunday School and we were simply following our habitual custom.

Besides, I always have figured that if our departed loved ones ever do get a chance at a brief glimpse back at us kinfolk here on earth, God would let them view us only at our best.

And on Sunday, while in church, we should be cleanest in body and even contemplating the highest, noblest thoughts.

So earth stretches upward at such a moment and may most nearly touch heaven as our loved ones reach down toward us. Thus, we were present as a salute to George IV, in case he might be granted this glimpse backward toward Earth.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Gives Examples of Need for Another Courthouse

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I can't see why the courthouse must remain right where it is. It is not a city institution, but belongs to the county as a whole.

People in the southern part of the county want to change the county seat. This I hate to see, not because Royal Oak isn't as fine a location, but I do hate to see the county seat changed.

If some of you had ever worked in our courthouse you would know the immediate necessity of building a new one. Conditions are crowded, with limited office space; defendants, onlookers, lawyers, families and jurors all must crowd into the halls between court sessions. (I was a juror.) If you are sitting on a case, you must stay in the jury room, which was built to accommodate only about 10 people comfortably.

The building itself is a disgrace. Plaster is off the walls, and a large piece of plaster fell from the ceiling right over the jury box and broke some of the jury chairs. If court had been in session, someone might have been killed.

I believe the stairs are the hardest to climb in the city and there are no elevators. There is no place to eat. You must go out to eat, even if you are deliberating a case. It started to rain while court was in session. The roof leaked right over the jury box, so court was adjourned until a tarp could be put on the roof.

How soon can we point with pride to a fine new building? If you think this is overdrawn, visit our court house, but don't all go at once. It might not stand the strain.

'Schools Are Not Treated Equally'

The schedule for the Federal school grants shows that Connecticut gets as little as $4.56 a child while half a dozen southern states gets $13.51. We receive $7.69 in Michigan.

Doesn't it actually cost more to educate a child in the North than it does in the South? The schools must be more substantial and we face the heating problems, snow shoveling, etc.

Why aren't they all treated alike?

Sub-Post Office Support Asked

Petitions are being circulated in the Baldwin-Walton area to establish a sub-post office in that vicinity. Several active church and PTA groups, as well as local stores, have participated conscientiously. To date 1,500 signatures have been received.

If you live in an area adjoining, feel that a post office on the north side of Pontiac would be of benefit to you or your neighborhood, you may write a card to the address below or sign a petition.

'New York Mayor to O.K. Visitors?'

Is the mayor of New York going to pass judgment on all our future visitors and decide whether they should receive a friendly welcome or the brush-off?

Is he the authority that decides who is "acceptable" and who isn't? Suppose this self-appointed czar decided that an incoming Communist suited him. Would he roll out the red carpet?

He didn't go for King Saud so he waved him aside, despite the fact he was an official guest of our government, and is the head of a nation. How far can the head of our biggest city carry this Great-I-Am business?

'Wife Like That, Still He Strays'

How could any man that was married to that gorgeous and beautiful Queen of Britain have time for someone else that might have been giving him the "come-hither" eye? It hasn't been established that he's guilty of anything, but if he is, Elizabeth should give him the works.

On the other hand, if he has engaged in a mild and trivial flirtation, he doesn't deserve the four months treatment that she handed out. Kings and queens should live on a plane a bit above the rest of the world.

Postpone Baby Shower —Honor Guest in Hospital

DES MOINES (AP) — Because of a big snow, the baby shower at the Donald Kristufek home for Mrs. Carl F. Mahnke Jr. was postponed a few days.

At the appointed hour, all the guests except the guest of honor were present. Her husband telephoned: "I'm terribly sorry about Shirley missing the shower but we're at the hospital now and the baby's on the way."

A little later, he called the party again: "Twins! A boy and a girl."

$500 High for Haircut? Well, He Must Be Neat

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jerry Lewis, the lone eagle, had his special Hollywood barber fly in to give him a special haircut for his Palace Theater opening—so the haircut probably cost him $500.

"But he got value received," a friend said, "he got two haircuts in two days."

Going it alone on Broadway didn't throw him.

EYDIE

Jerry had the hilarious Weire Brother, and the new Judy Garland—Eydie Gorme—on ahead. He referred indirectly to his split with Dean Martin in a special song, "I'll Go On My Way By Myself."

So Jerry has made it as a single on the toughest street. He's says he's a ham. "So hammy am I," he said, "I went to the refrigerator for a glass of milk, a light went on—and I sang four songs."

Fox Loses Race—Twice

ELKHORN, Wis. (AP) — When Frank Netzke stopped at the courthouse to collect bounties on three foxes, he asked County Clerk Joe Breindenbach to step outside and inspect the kill.

As Netzke dumped the carcasses out of a bag, one of the supposedly "dead" foxes took of across the courthouse square. Netzke gave chase, caught up with the fox, stunned it with a BB gun, then killed it once and for all.

"New Tablet Relieves 'Hot Flashes,' Irritation From Change-Of-Life Without Costly Injections!"

"Wasn't getting enough relief from the shots I took," writes W. W., Chicago, Ill. "Then took Pinkham's Tablets. Now I don't wake up nights with hot flashes. My disposition is sunnier and I don't have 'sorry for myself' spells!"

Medical science now offers women new freedom from much of the misery of change-of-life, thanks to an amazing new tablet developed especially to relieve these functionally-caused discomforts. Doctors reported sensational results using this home treatment alone . . . and no expensive injections!

Relief for 8 out of 10 tested!

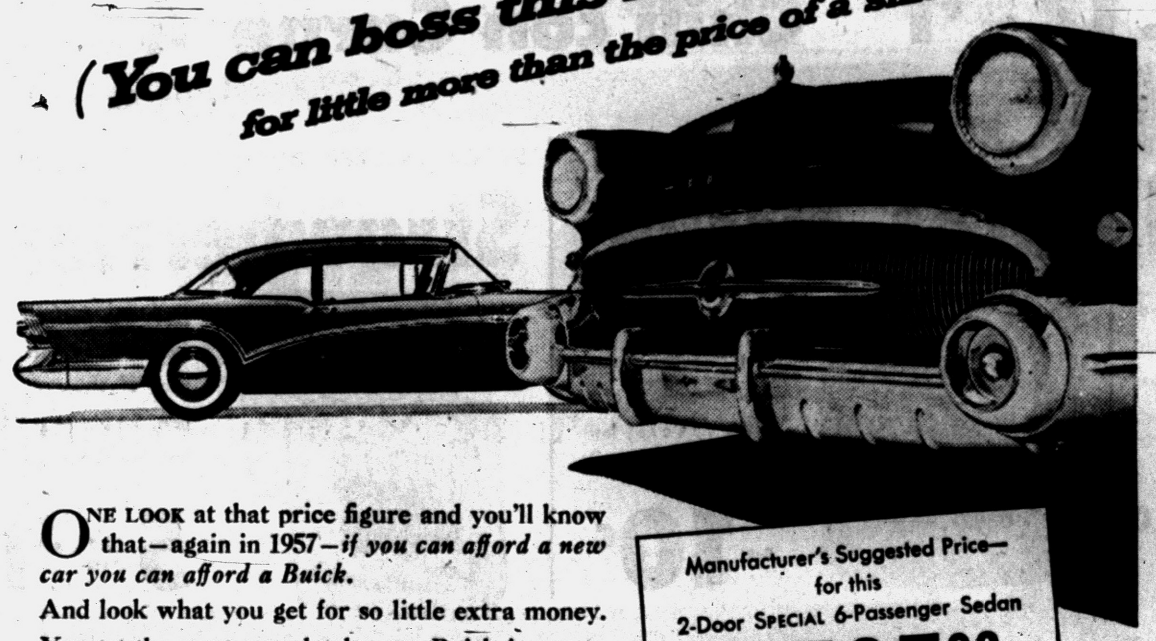

Irritability, tortured nerves were calmed. Dizziness relieved. Awful hot flashes subsided. For woman after woman, a feeling of "well-being" returned!

Unlike aspirin and such "general purpose" remedies, this new tablet is a unique combination of special medicines...acts directly on the cause of these troubles... works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve tense feelings and physical distress that bring unhappiness to so many. Clinical tests prove this positive medical action.

Now you can get this amazing formula at drugstores without prescription. Ask for "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets". Don't let change-of-life rob you of joy! Get easy-to-take Pinkham's Tablets. Contain blood-building iron. See how fast you can feel your happy self again — without troublesome injections! (Also liquid Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

Hal Boyle Says:

Fishermen and Fish Earn Apology

ANDROS TOWN, Bahamas (AP)—I owe an apology to America's 20 million fishermen.

For years I have secretly felt that a fisherman was like a professional gambler who plays poker for keeps with a group of kindergarten kids.

Fishing seemed unfair to me. Any man ought to be able to outsmart anything dumb enough to spend its life under water. Or so I thought.

The Andros Yacht Club here has become a mecca for anglers of three continents seeking everything from delicate needlefish to blue marlins big enough to fill a truck.

After listening to a lot of their tall yarns about record catches, I ventured the opinion that fishing was basically a childish sport.

"As a matter of fact," I said, "I set a record myself when I was only 10 years old. I caught three fish in two minutes in Troost Lake in Kansas City, Mo.—without even using a hook."

"What did you use?" asked a big game fisherman.

"A piece of raw liver."

"How big were the fish?"

"The largest was about three inches," I admitted. "But the principle's the same whether you're after a minnow or a whale. All fish are dumb. What chance have they got, once you learn their weakness?"

All the fishermen moved silently away from me down to the other end of the bar. All, that is, except Dave Roberts, outdoor editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, who is a kindly, tolerant man.

"Tomorrow," he said, "you're going bonefishing with me. The sport has changed a little since you were 10."

The next morning as Joe, our native guide, took us up Fresh Creek I began looking around for bones.

"What kind of bones do we use for bait?" I asked. "Mouse, beef or elephant bones?"

Dave was very patient. He explained that bonefish were among the fastest and fightingest of game fish, and that an honest sportsman preferred to catch them on a light rod with an artificial fly. They are called "the phantoms of the flats."

We poled into the shallows, and Dave said, "Now, we get out and walk."

"In the water?" I asked.

"On top of it—if you can," answered Dave mildly.

We started wading, and after about a mile of this I began puffing. Every few moments Dave or Joe would get excited and point, and then—zip!—Dave would send the fly arching far out into the water. But nothing bit.

I stared and stared.

"How far can you really see a bonefish?" I asked.

"Six hundred feet in this light," he said, and at the look of disbelief on my face he added with simple dignity, "Sire, in my work my eyes are my hands."

Dave offered to let me flick out a few flies, but by then I was so exhausted I couldn't have hurled an underweight mosquito three feet to catch even a walrus.

We started home empty handed. "Phantoms of the flats' indeed. Joe and Dave had seen maybe 20 bonefish, I saw not one.

"Dave," I told him humbly, "I apologize to you and all the fishermen in America. I also apologize to all the fish from here to Havana. Dumb? They learned more in their schools than I did in mine."

Unless a man has 20-20 vision, the patience of Job, and the endurance of a well-trained infantryman, he'd better leave bonefishing to real he-fishermen—and strong silent women.

But no fish is ever going to get a chance to make a fool of me in public again.

The next one I catch will be with a knife and fork, and if it even dares look up from the plate in an appeal for justice or fair play I'll pour a whole bottle of worcestershire sauce right square in its big leering blue eye.

The pulse rate of a newborn infant is about double that of an adult.

But Collegian Should Enjoy Privilege of Not Conforming

Team Spirit Dictates Sideburns Ban

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — One of the most poignant stories to come out of the Ivy League college crowd in years is the case of young Bruce Dern, University of Pennsylvania truck runner, who was bounced from the team because he refused to remove his sideburns and become a clean-cut conformist.

Not since the famous pantaloons raids that rocked the Brooks Brothers boys several years ago has there been such a scandal. Coast to coast, everybody is talking of the new American freedom — freedom of hairdress — and more snide remarks than ever are being muttered about Elvis Presley.

Prestley, as you know, is generally considered by the elder generation to be at the bottom of everything, from sideburns and delinquency to the barrel.

In a case like this, where Bruce Dern was dropped from a not-too-spectacular track career for a far-more-spectacular reason, non-conformity with Ivy League tradition, it is not easy to take sides.

Dern himself, being a more promising actor than he is a two-mile relay man, is quite obviously in no position to suffer severly from the sideburns affair and the ensuing publicity.

In fact, there may have been a touch of ham in his attitude as he announced, "I'm going to miss track, but I'll have time for my acting now."

On the other hand, Coach Ken Doherty is scarcely in line for man-of-the-week honors.

When he said, "Team members are expected to be representatives of the university, and obviously any man who feels he cannot live up to these things automatically puts himself off the team," Coach Doherty was speaking in the iron voice of the Victorian era, with less than fatherly understanding of the modern young man.

Neither man appears, to the outsider, wholly right or wholly lovable. But the basic problem, it seems here, is not whom to like, but who is right. And in this regard, we see no choice but to cast our small cynical vote for Dern.

The reason Bruce Dern deserves the ballot is not because his sideburns are attractive, distinctive or even particularly proper in this era of cleanliness and close shaves, but because Mr. Dern is intelligent.

What he appears to realize, and too few other college age students ever comprehend, is that he is living through perhaps the one period in his life where he can afford to be different — in thinking, in manners and in appearance.

In college, one can let loose his deepest imagination and start forming independent thoughts. After four years of following the pack in high school (for most high school youngsters are still too immature and insecure to think, soundly, for themselves), the college man finds himself, for the first time, generally away from home and its restrictive conventions.

STRONG OPINIONS

Now is the time for him to learn new thoughts from those his father thought, to get the feel of his feet against the ground, to formulate strong opinions which will make him an interesting and powerful personality.

It is the time for him to stiffen his spine, to say without maternal chiding "I don't want a vent in the back." It is the time — and it probably never will come again — when he should be able to grow sideburns without losing his girl friend or his job.

Maybe, being the son of a university trustee and big city lawyer and the grandson of a governor, Bruce Dern realized all this. Perhaps he was wise enough to recognize that later in life he'll run the risk of being put off much more important teams than this one if he turns out to be a non-conformist.

Being an actor by ambition, he therefore suited the time to the action and made his move for independence while he could, with a minimum of embarrassment and discomfiture, get by with it.

Coach Doherty just couldn't see it. Like most Americans, his life is dedicated to racing with the team.

Why You Get Fat — and How to Avoid It

Resist Those Extra Bites After 25, if You Want to Keep Weight Down

Editor's Note: The following article is the third in a series by Gaynor Maddox, nutrition authority, on the re-education of eating habits as a new concept in weight control. Guest authority today is Dr. Herbert Pollack, who heads the food and nutrition committees of the American Heart and American Diabetes associations.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEW YORK (NEA) — To death and taxes, our time has added obesity to the list of things that are always with us.

DR. POLLACK

At least enough of our people are overweight to cause physicians to state obesity is a hazard in modern life and a perennial problem.

So warns Dr. Herbert Pollack, nutrition committee chairman of the American Heart Association.

"Ninety-five per cent of the obesity we see in daily practice is due to carelessness and ignorance of a few basic facts," he said.

"The average overweight adult does not eat more or richer foods than he did before his buttons began to snap. That's not the reason. The answer is this —after the age of 25, a man or woman needs about 7 per cent less food every 10 years to keep his body functioning.

"But he goes right on eating the same amount despite his decreasing need for so much," he continued. "As a result, by the time he is around 50, he is 15 to 20 pounds overweight.

"Not suddenly, you understand. But over a number of years, every little bit added to what he's got, makes papa a paunchy man."

For grandmothers he has a warning, too. To be healthy, attractively figured, active and happy, grandma should eat much less than her grandchildren; particularly, he added, if she hopes to live long enough to see her great-grandchildren.

LEADER IN STUDY

Pollack, 51, tall, trim of figure, is one of the leaders in a small scientific group of men and women dedicated to the study of obesity and weight control.

He's associate professor of clinical medicine at New York University Post-Graduate School of Medicine, also chairman of food and nutrition committee of the American Diabetes Association and author of a practical book for the layman, "How to Reduce Surely and Safely."

He is convinced that more people will control their weight once they fully understand the causes of obesity and the perils inherent in overweight.

"It's as simple as this," he said in his book-lined private office in New York.

"Food supplies calories. Calories supply muscular energy needed to keep up alive and active. But when we eat more calories than our body uses, the excess calories turn to fat. Normally two-thirds of the food we eat supplies basal calories.

"Basal calories are those needed to keep you alive while you lie in bed asleep—to keep the body functioning at total rest.

(Incidentally, a new-born baby needs 75 basic calories per day per pound of body weight in contrast to only 15 calories per day per pound needed by a woman 65.)

"The other third of our food supplies energy for work and physical response to our environment," he continued. "As we add to our years, we not only need fewer basal calories, but we use up less energy calories because our physical activities taper off.

"So unless we eat less and deliberately step up our mild daily exercise—walking to the office, playing golf more frequently, playing ball with the kids, sitting down less, etc., we are in for trouble. And that trouble can be serious," he stressed.

Every statistical test proves that overweight men and women, at any age level, have a higher mortality rate than normal weight groups.

Degenerative diseases of the heart, blood vessels and kidney, grouped together as cardio-vascular-renal diseases, are responsible for most of this increased mortality, he pointed out.

The overweight also are much more prone to accidents, have weaker resistance to infection, are more likely to have joint and foot troubles, and are far greater surgical risks.

'SHOULD FIRE WILL'

"Had enough?" he asked. "Surely those statistics should fire the will to reduce in any intelligent factory worker, taxi driver, clerk, housewife, businessman, everyone in any walk of life, in these times when oil and gas and electricity are doing most of the physical work people used to do for themselves, and modern technology and transportation are tempting us daily with richer and more abundant foods.

"We have to change our way of living. People will do it once they fully realize a new way of life will best serve their personal interests. Most people, you see, want to live longer."

Diet fads, "wonder" formulas, so-called natural foods, reducing drugs and exercise gadgets are not the answer, he warns. But less food and increased physical activity is.

"But get it very clear that less food does not mean freak diets. Only nutritionally balanced menus that satisfy and are streamlined to your particular calorie and over-all nutritional needs according to age and activity are the safe and effective solution of obesity, one of the most threatening hazards of our time," he said, rising to see me to the door.

He started to help me with my coat. I protested. "You are wrong," he said smiling. "Every extra physical movement I make, burns up some calories and helps keep my weight under control."

Tomorrow: Too much fat on the table.

AGE CURTAILS EATING — To be healthy, attractive, active and happy, grandma should eat much less than her grandchildren.

Hold Inaugural Ball for Election Loser

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Some 2,000 Rhode Island Republicans, took part last night in an "inaugural" ball although their man for govenor, Christopher Del Sesto, did not win last November.

The "inaugural" ball was promised a few days before the election by Republican leaders who felt Del Sesto would beat Democratic incumbent Dennis J. Roberts.

The count of all ballots gave Del Sesto a lead over Roberts, but the State Supreme Court later invalidated some absentee ballots thus Roberts won.

Pontiac City Affairs

Approval Given on First Part of CD Plan

Commissioners last night approved the first section of a newly-drafted Municipal Civil Defense and Disaster Plan for Pontiac.

The plan, a requirement of the city's new CD ordinance passed last year, outlines a general city plan which would go into operation in case of enemy attack or natural disaster.

Detailed plans, or "standard operational procedure," for the police and fire departments are included in the portion adopted last evening.

City Civil Defense officials are meeting with other department heads to draft plans for these departments.

A request from the City Planning Commission that the city purchase the triangular piece of land bounded by Oakland and Saginaw and the First Baptist Church, was referred to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

"Mayor Donaldson feels the city should control this land before someone else does," Willman told the commission. "There is some question as to what traffic use for which it might be used."

Jokingly, Willman said, "The first thing Id do is put a musket in the hands of the soldier that has been without one for so long." The manager had reference to a Civil War monument on the parcel which mounts a weaponless Union soldier.

Commissioners authorized initiation of steps to rezone lots 159 to 163 in the Wilson Park Subdivision to Commercial 1. This action stemmed from a Planning Commission recommendation.

Deeds were received and accepted for the necessary 20-foot alley adjacent to the lots.

Authorization was granted City Planning Commissioner Daniel R. Veazey to replace John E. Linabury, with the power to vote, on the Board of Appeals. Linabury is recovering from a recent illness.

Deeds for 10 acres in the site of the proposed city sewage plant at Opdyke road and Auburn avenue, were accepted by the City Commission last evening.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans announced that bids for two-inch blacktop paving, recapping, and sidewalk projects in the 1957 public improvement program, are due no later than 2 p.m. March 18.

Public hearings were conducted on 24 public improvement projects to be carried out this year in the city. Only one objection was voiced.

Edward Lesperance, of 45 E. Hopkins St., objected to the cost of the blacktopping project on Hopkins street between Baldwin and University. He explained he thought this cost was included in the original cost of the curb and gutter work performed on the street last year.

Traffic Mishaps for 1956 Drop 13 Pct. in City

Traffic accidents in Pontiac decreased 13.1 per cent last year, City Manager Walter K. Willman told the City Commission last night.

He said that there were 1,118 accidents in 1956 for a 3.05 daily average. In 1955, Willman reported, there were 1,283 accidents and a 3.5 daily average.

This information was disclosed by the manager from a report submitted by Theodore M. Vanderstempel, city traffic engineer, and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

"The report shows that the most troublesome time is between 3 and 6 p.m.," Willman said.

PTA to Celebrate at Drayton School

The Drayton School PTA will celebrate Founder's Day with a fashion show Thursday, depicting the styles from the beginning of the organization of PTA, Mrs. Joseph Wallace will be in charge.

During the second part of the program, fifth graders under the direction of Robert Canier, 5th grade teacher, will present "The Wizard of Oz."

Mrs. Edward Dalton, nominating chairman, will present the new slate of officers for 1957-58.

Mothers of fifth grade pupils will serve refreshments following the program.

Gas Station Entered; Take Cigarettes, Cash

Thieves broke into a gas station at 1381 N. Lapeer Rd., Oxford Township, last night and escaped with a miniature gas pump containing more than 200 pennies.

Owner of the station, Richard Ashley, told Oakland County Sheriff's investigators that 10 packs of cigarettes were also missing. Detectives said the burglars gained entry by breaking a window in the front door of the station.

City May Get More Road Aid

Street Paving Upped by Four Miles in 1956 on Major Arteries

Pontiac added four new miles to its local and major street systems last year and stands to gain increases in state gas and weight tax revenue for them, Henry C. Smith, city planner, has disclosed.

In an annual report submitted recently to the State Highway Dept., it showed that all but 4.6 miles of of the city's 54.39 miles of major streets, are surfaced.

Of its 153 miles of local streets those having less traffic), 75½ miles are still graveled.

"It is the basis on which the state prorates cities' proportionate share of gas and weight tax allocations," Smith said explaining the purpose of the report.

During 1956, .33 of a mile of major streets were completed, while 3.69 miles of local streets were added.

Explaining why the city has 75 miles of local streets yet to pave, Smith said: "It takes two years before a street gets all the improvements before it can be blacktopped." The first year, he said, sewers are installed, and then curb and gutter, and finally the paving.

JA Fund Raising Over Halfway Mark

With a week to go, Pontiac Junior Achievement has collected more than half of its goal for its current fund raising drive, according to Robert S. Nelson, campaign committee chairman.

Nelson will attend a report luncheon Thursday at the Detroit Athletic Club. He will say that Pontiac JA has raised $3,273 out of its goal of $6,100 by contacting 46 of 123 prospects.

The local goal is exclusive of large grant by major industry The drive ends Feb. 21.

Accidents Pile Up

DENVER (AP)—Five-year-old Mark Farmer tumbled off the garage roof at his home. His mother Mrs. Bert Farmer, running to his rescue, fell and broke her arm. Mark, not badly hurt, went to one hospital, mother to another.

Connolly's

NEW LOOK

Is Only a Promise of What's to Come!

For over a quarter of a century Connolly's have continued to grow . . . side by side with the City of Pontiac, and we are grateful in the knowledge that it was your splendid patronage over the years that has made such growth possible.

A New Front is just another in our efforts to keep pace with our growing community . . . and, though our "face" may change, our business policies always will remain the same. We pledge ourselves to continue bringing you only highest quality, famous-name merchandise at fair prices, and a guarantee of complete satisfaction with every purchase . . . no matter how large or small.

Our new front is only the first step in a remodeling plan that will, among other things, provide you with a larger, more modern interior . . . more shopping area, more space to display for you the newest, finest quality jewelry, china and silver available.

DIAMONDS

We are Registered Jewelers with the American Gem Society. And, to retain our title of CERTIFIED GEMOLOGISTS, must pass yearly examinations in gemology.

This means that we have both the equipment and knowledge to properly qualify and evaluate any gem.

Our diamonds are all graded under the most rigid standards possible . . . yet we have every grade and every size, priced to fit the amount you wish to invest!

We specialize, too, in mounting and designing . . . and offer a selection of over 500 styles from which to choose. Estimates and designs furnished without obligation.

Select your diamond loose and see it under our Diamond Scope. You may see every detail enlarged as much as sixty times its normal size. It leaves nothing to the imagination. Then select the setting most suited to you and we will mount it for you immediately or in a matter of hours.

Every Connolly's diamond carries a guarantee that describes your diamond in every detail. It also states that we will allow full purchase price on the purchase of a more expensive diamond at anytime.

WATCHES

We make every effort to bring you the world's finest, most dependable time pieces! And, entirely avoid those watches that are manufactured to sell at "flexible markups" . . . or fictious mark downs.

We prefer to provide you instead with only those famous-name watches that have an established price and an established value the world over. Such famous brands as: Hamilton, Movado, Omega, Girard Perregaux, Tissot, Eterna and Croton . . . and others that carry guaranteed quality, not just a low price tag!

Soon we will introduce the world's newest scientific electric watch, powered by a tiny battery that gives constant power for over 18 months.

You may select from over 500 models of any type watch you wish. Fashion styles—sport styles—professional models—tiny watches no larger than a dime—and those watches that are built to stand the most rugged wearing.

MEN'S and WOMEN'S JEWELRY

At Connolly's you'll find six full showcases of ladies' solid gold, gold filled, and fashion jewelry . . . by Trifari, Krements, Pinnino, Marcel Boucher, Kramer Renoir . . . and other of the nation's leading jewelry stylists.

Also cultured pearls, diamond studded pins, necklaces and bracelets . . . some jewelry pieces are even designed so that diamond links can be added to them on gift occasions.

Also, add-a-pearl necklaces to add a pearl on each gift occasion for your little girl.

Men's jewelry takes an important place at Connolly's, too . . . we have two full cases of handsome cuff links, tie bar sets, key chains, buckles, rings and, novelty items by such famous-name makers as Anson, Krements, Spiedel, Forstner, and others.

We also specialize in industrial gifts and maintain a complete selection for those who need to buy in quantity. As an example we have cuff links — money clips and tie bars on which we will reproduce your business cards. Ideal for gifts.

CHINA - CRYSTAL - SILVER

We feature some of the world's finest china, gorgeous patterns bearing such proud names as Lenox, Castleton, Flintridge, Syracuse, Royal Jackson, Doulton, Haviland . . . and others. Even to patterns that are made to be exclusively yours with your name under the manufacturers on each piece. Exquisite crystal by Tiffin, Heisey, Riezart, Duncan Miller, Royal Netherlands, Val St. Lambert. Patterns made to match your china and silver patterns throughout. At Connolly's you'll find over 100 patterns in some of the finest, most beautiful sterling and silver plated flatware to be found anywhere. Silver made by such famous silversmiths as: Towle, Gorham, Wallace, Reed & Barton, International, Heirloom, Oneida, Lunt, Tuttle. Also, a complete selection of Stainelss Steel, lovely Holloware, and a host of gift items.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

A Folding Heart

Here is a valentine heart that opens like an unfolding flower.

Cut out two squares of paper the size of the pattern (1) and fold them on the dotted straight lines. When they are folded into a shape like (2), draw on one side the pattern shown in the heavy outline on the upper part of (1), with "X" at the center. Cut the folded paper on the heavy outline. The designs will look like (3) and (4).

Cut out two large hearts from thin cardboard, using the inner heavy line in (5) as a pattern. Cover these with thin flowered paper, cut to the size of the outer line of (5). Place the flowered paper over the cardboard, turning the edges over and pasting them down on the inside as shown in (6). These are the front and back covers.

Paste a long thread inside each cover heart as shown in (6). Paste sections "A" of the first paper heart (3) to the inside of the front cover. This will hold the string in place. Paste section "C" of the second paper heart (4) to the outside of section "B" of the first paper heart. Paste section "D" to the inside of the back cover, over the thread.

Slip a bead onto the two threads and tie a knot near the end of them. By sliding the bead up and down, you can draw the heart book together as shown in (7). You can write a message on the inside hearts like "with all my Heart."

City Could Keep Present Tax Rate

Sylvan Offers Lower Budget!

The Sylvan Lake City Council tonight will take a first peek at a rarity in city budgets—one calling for a decrease of $8,455 over the 1956 budget.

City Manager Ernest L. Ethier is expected to submit the tentative plan calling for an expenditure of $105,835. The 1956 budget totaled $114,290.

Ethier said the council will have until its May meeting to approve a 1957 budget.

Adoption of his recommendation will enable the city to maintain its $26.40 per thousand of assessed valuation tax rate, Ethier said.

"I was able to cut the budget down, for the first time since I've been here, simply by not resorting to something they have been using out here for the past 10 years," the manager said.

"I am not proposing to use a surplus to balance the budget," he said, "but am staying strictly within the tax structure."

He broke down the tax expense this way: $20 for general operations; $2.80 for water debt; $2.00 for sanitary sewer debt; and $1.60 for garbage disposal.

A payment of $12,375 to the city of Pontiac for use of its sewers, is included in the proposed budget.

Ethier stated that an expected loss of $125,000 in real property valuations, would most likely be compensated for by increased building in the city. Two firms moving from the city resulted in the decrease, the official said.

State Group to Award 10 Nursing Scholarships

Ten $300 nursing scholarships will be awarded this year by the Michigan Blue Cross and chosen by the Michigan League for Nursing.

The contest, open to all high school seniors and graduates in Michigan, is based on written application, scholastic grades, reports from high school principals and standard achievement tests. It will be held from Feb. 15 through March 31, according to William S. McNary, executive vice president of Blue Cross.

Truman Urges Strong Defense

More Important to U.S. Than Balanced Budget, Says Ex-President

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A strong defense is more important to this country than a balanced budget, Harry S. Truman said last night.

Combined with a foreign policy which insists on justice and freedom for all nations, this strength ultimately will bring world peace, the former President said.

Expressing distrust of Russian promises of friendship, Truman said an adequate defense will cost heavily, "but it is the price of freedom."

Although he made no concrete proposals, he told a combined Jewish Appeal fund-raising dinner that the unrest in the Middle East can be eased. He said it is the duty of this nation to see that the Israel-Arab disputes are settled peacefully.

"And I hope that our policy will be as firm on this point as it is possible to be," he added.

"We should keep our defenses up until we have more from the Russians than smiles and kind words and promises of friendship."

He departed from his prepared text at this point and said, "When you make agreements with Russia you must have the strength to enforce them."

Truman warned against "political budget cutters" and "people who belittle the dangers to the security of the free world and use the smiles of the Russians to justify slashing our defense."

Earlier, at a brief news conference, Truman described President Eisenhower's domestic policy as "the usual Republican line of helping those who don't need help and letting the rest of us take care of ourselves as best we can."

Deer Gets in the News Without Getting Shot

PATTON, Pa. (AP) — At least one deer in this Cambria county community wants to get into the news without being a hunter's trophy.

G. A. Miller, state game protector, said the deer entered the Patton Press-Courier printing rooms and wandered around the plant, winding up in the advertising department.

Miller applied ether to subdue the deer so it could be taken back to the woods.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults. Perfected by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for 100 years.

Money Waiting for Right Entry in Pot-O-Gold

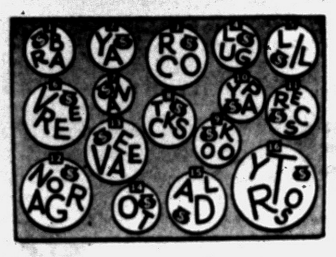

Unless there's a winner for last week's puzzle, this one is worth $700, so now's the time to get busy. Get started early and give yourself plenty of time to work out the right solution. Rules and clues are below. Be sure to check all of them carefully.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3 To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 37 must bear a Tuesday, Feb. 19, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4 Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5 The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted

6 Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10 Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

West German Army Alters Its Uniform

BONN (INS) — The new West German army officially shed its Eisenhower jackets and adopted a new "A" (for Adenauer) line similar, except for color to the prewar German army uniforms.

The return of jackboots, for practicability and not tradition, also featured the order of the day issued by Defense Minister Franz Joseph Strauss.

West Germany's return to neer-traditionalism in military dress follows a similar move in Communist East Germany. The satellite army switched from the Russian type to the Wehrmacht type field gray uniform a year ago.

Along with the changes in dress came a revamping of West Germany's military setup.

The changes envisage the appointment of a general of four-star rank.

Strauss also said that 72,000 soldiers have been recruited for the new army, which eventually is to number about a half-million.

He said that "many out of a total of 300,000 volunteer applications have reluctantly been turned down."

4 X-Ray Units to Cover County

Rally Forces to Stamp Out TB

A variety of public health agencies are banding together to plan another blow in the continuing fight on tuberculosis in Oakland County.

Alarmed by the low rate of case detection in the county, they will throw four mobile X-ray units into the fray to search out the TV cases walking the streets undetected and unwittingly spreading the disease.

Working together are the Oakland County Tuberculosis Assn., County Health Dept., the State Health Dept. and the recently organized Southeastern Michigan TB Detection Project.

The later group, headed by Wayne County Circuit Judge Frank Schemanske, is dedicated to raising funds and supplying equipment for seeking out TB cases. They were brought into being by concern with the fact that Southeastern Michigan, along with the Upper Peninsula, ranks tops in the state in the TB case rate.

Dr. John Monroe, director of the Oakland County Health Dept., is vice president.

TO COVER COUNTY

The countywide drive has not been finalized, but plans now call for the use of four mobile units supplied by the state, according to A. R. Musson, executive secretary of the county TB association.

One unit will tour the northern part of Oakland, covering such towns as Lake Orion, Ortonville, Holly, and Oxford.

Another unit will concentrate on Pontiac, Waterford and Drayton Plains.

A special third unit will visit area factories, continuing work in which it already is engaged. This industrial unit carries its own generator so it can move quickly from plant to plant without the delay of an electrical hookup. Recently, the same unit covered 89 per cent of the plant workers in Hazel Park in a short time.

The fourth unit has not been assigned as yet.

Soviets Shake Up Court Organization

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union shook up its Supreme Court today, cutting the number of judges from 78 to 12 and naming a new chief justice.

The new chairman of the court is Alexander F. Gorkin, who has been secretary of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet Parliament.

The revision of the court which also provided for some changes in court procedure was put into effect by a unanimous vote.

Changes included were:

1. Abolition of special transport courts.

2. Cases must come up on appeal from the courts of the Soviet Union's 15 constituent republics.

3. Soviet military courts consisting of three judges must include a "civil assessor" —a sort of juror.

There will now be only three main divisions of the Soviet court system—civil, criminal and military.

Special Foot Patrol Cuts Detroit Crime

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's special foot patrol police have cut down serious crime by 9.1 per cent since they first hit the sidewalks 2½ months ago, says Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins.

The special 225-man patrol has been walking beats since Nov. 15.

In the first 15 days, crimes such as murder, rape, robbery and other felonies dropped 12.2 per cent. In December when most of the patrol went on Christmas rush traffic, the rate dropped only 1.3 per cent.

Back to full-time in January, the patrol cut crime by 14.7 per cent below the January, 1956, rate.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

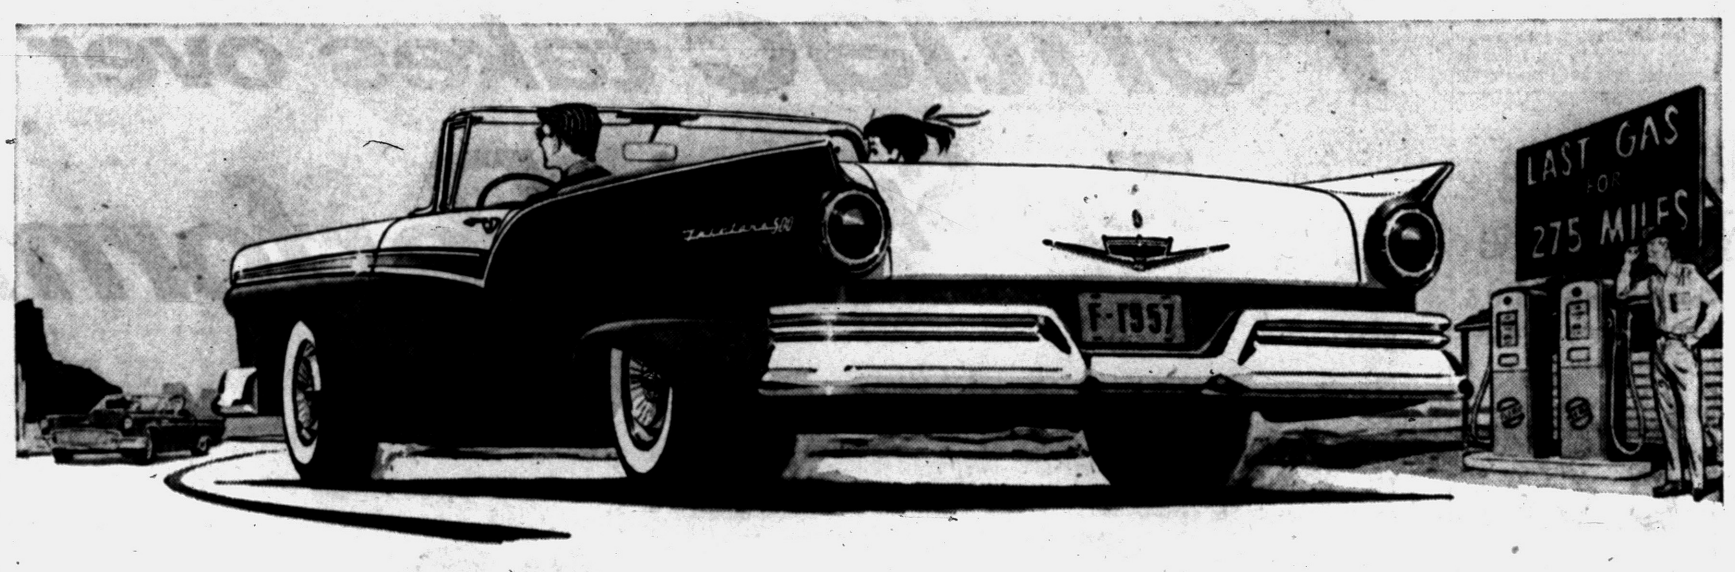

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the amazing new lavative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

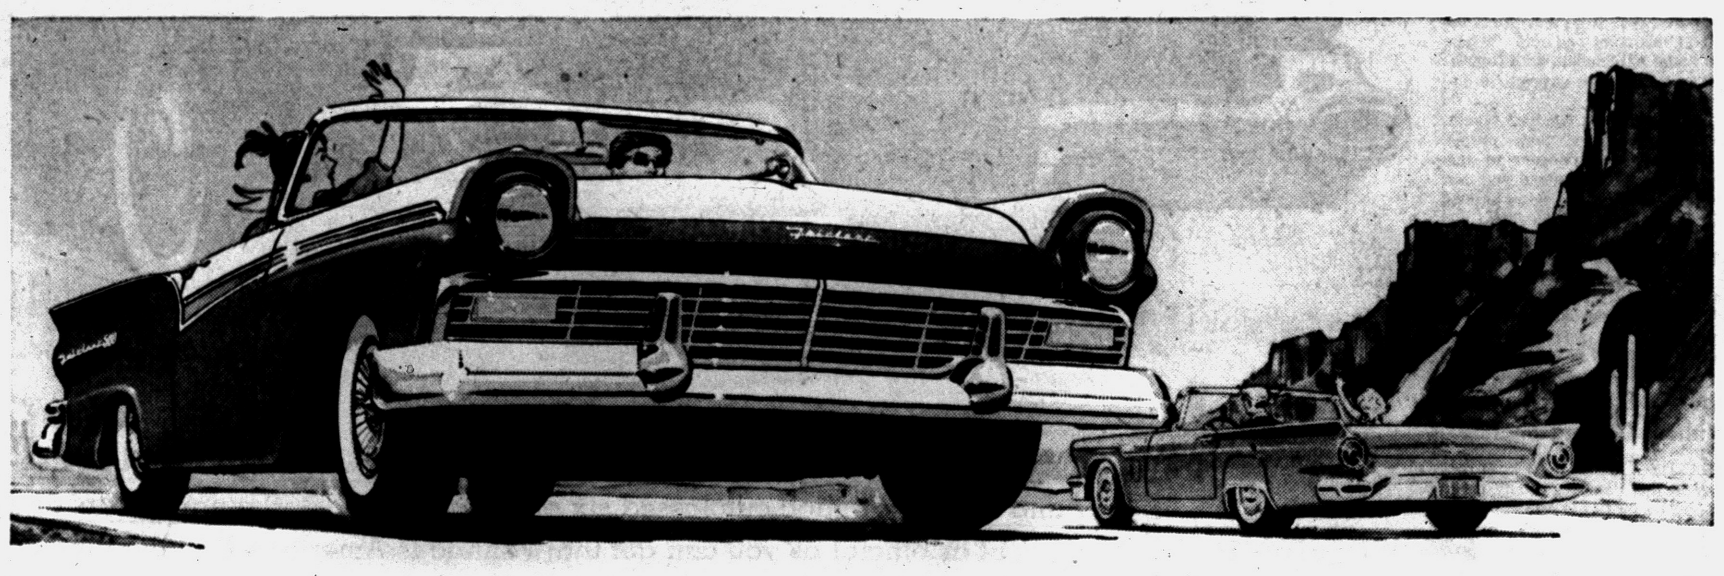

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Nonstop Flights Doom Many Ports

NEW YORK (INS) — A Pan American World Airways DC7C flew nonstop from Tokyo to Seattle the other day in 14 hours and 2 minutes.

There was no tailwind, no jet stream on which to hitch a free ride. The 80 service personnel who filed on board at Haneda knew the destination simply was Seattle, not Seattle by way of Wake and Honolulu, or by the Aleutians and Anchorage.

This was a Tokyo-Seattle flight. Period. It covered 4,792 miles and was without incident. The DC7C could do it every day. That's what Pan Am had more or less in mind when it ordered the recently delivered plane.

The company ordered the plane in 1939!

That's aeroplanning. When Pan Am circulated specifications for a 5,000-mile commercial plane carrying from 80 to 100 passengers the bulk of its fleet was the DC3, the wonderful little machine you still see flying on the feeder lines and as executive planes, and the Boeing, Sikorsky, and Martin flying boats.

The Boeing and Martin could make the Honolulu-LA or Honolulu-San Francisco jump nonstop, but it was a close squeeze.

Yet this company, which has no short hops because it has no domestic routes, saw very clearly the day when air transportation, then largely the refuge of the daring or frantic traveler, would become the bulwark of movement that it is today. In 1939 it sounded to some like today's talk of rockets to the moon.

HALTED YET HURRIED

World War II halted all thought of building big commercial airliners, yet in a sense it hastened their eventual completion. The distance that had to be engineered into the B17, the B24, the B29, the long-range fighters like the P38 and P51, was filtered eventually into the DC7C.

The specifications of 1939 became the DC7C prototype of 1954. Pan Am bought, and so did many others. They're coming off the lines pretty fast now, as production is measured in that field.

And the Tokyo-Seattle trip is the fruition of that request made to the U. S. aviation industry way back in the second term of F. D. R.

But we wonder what's to become of some treasured old stepping stones along the world aerial routes, now that Douglas (and soon Lockheed) has come up with planes that can fly between all the great land masses of the earth without the necessity of alighting here and there and dipping a bill into a bowl of high octane?

What's to become of the little lunchroom at the airport at St. John's in Newfoundland, where once in a TWA plane we found sunshine (after an eternity of fog and sleet) and a breakfast of ham and eggs?

And Stephenville, also in Newfoundland, where once in the winter of 1944 the Air Transport Command had the misfortune of having a planeload of reporters land just in time to see a crackup (during Arctic Safety Month)?

GOOSE BAY

And good old Goose Bay in Labrador, where Col. Fish Hassel had the best steambath in Christendom, but liked to make you sit bare in a snowbank for a beer afterwards?

And, of course, Gander. What's to become of that bar and the great room where the tired but doughty service wives would put a protective wing around sleepy children between planes?

And the Azores . . . and that field on a lower vertabra of the Aleutians . . . and Canton Island . . . and Fiji — on the great route the incomparable Capt. Musick laid out for Pan Am?

Lots near the airport must be selling cheap in Keflavik, Iceland, tonight — hard by a landing place so many people who flew the shorter-winded planes knew and were grateful for.

But there are two places the big planes can fly over which forever will attract the traveler, even though in time he is forced to use old models to get there. One is Honolulu, the other is Shannon.

For even the great land masses have never discovered how to brew the essence of the dear hospitality these two have shared in the past and continue to nurture in this — the age of the bypass.

First railway dining car made its appearance in the U.S. in 1868.

A modern railway dining car today costs upwards of $130,000 to build.

Moscow Ponders Next Policy Move

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Moscow clenched a velvet-clad fist today in a manner recalling the course of Soviet foreign policy in the first months after Stalin's death. It indicates the Soviet Union wants a cooling off period in a difficult and dangerous world situation.

The Russians do not offer a basis for solution acceptable to the Western world. The effect of the pronouncements, therefore, open another long period of inconclusive wrangling giving the Russians time to attack their own immediate problems.

The Russians have exhibited worry about American advances in the Middle East and a possibility that United States policy might be making some headway in bringing the Arab world around to a logical approach to problems of the area. The visit of King Saud to Washington is likely to have impressed the Arabs with the idea that they might find roads out of their present troubles.

The Soviet response to the American initiative seems tailored to meet such a possibility. The Shepilov proposals will sound attractive to Middle East ears, and will sound logical to those outside the area who fear the situation contains the germs of World War III.

Actually, the U.S.S.R. has offered little. The negotiations the Russians propose could go on indefinitely while they continue to nail down their influence in the area, continue to pour arms into Syria, Egypt and Yemen, and continue their attempts to tie Egypt and Syria economically to the Soviet bloc.

In effect, then, the Soviet Union asks the West to surrender whatever position it has in the Middle East at the moment in return for a Soviet promise. Yet the main worry of the West is not the threat of Soviet armed penetration so much as it is the continued Communist subversion of the area.

This is a long - term affair, and the Russians can afford to be patient. Indeed, the Russians must be patient, since they are not willing to take the risks involved in any other course.

In the same way the Russians have offered practically nothing to Germany save a hope that something some day might be done about reunification if the West refrains from provoking Moscow.

SUCCESS AT LAST

DETROIT, MICH. "For the past 10 years I have been overweight and have tried every reducing remedy on the market but to no avail. With Rennel Concentrate I have lost 29 lbs. in 7 months and I am very pleased with your product," writes Virginia Schaffer, 3451 Third St. "I eat anything I want and still lose weight. Three of my friends are using Rennel and they are losing weight. There is only one more thing I can say for your product, IT IS WONDERFUL."

Are you going our way? And if you do, sooner than you think, Rennel will help make those pounds of ugly fat surrender. Get Rennel to-day.

City, Hospital Board Will Review Budget

A joint meeting will be called between the Pontiac City Commission and city hospital's Board of Trustees to discuss the hospital's 1957 budget.

The commission last night delayed approval of the proposed $3,896,477 plan upon the recommendations of Commissioners John E. Carry and Dr. Roy V. Cooley.

Carry asked for the postponement, claiming the "new members of the Board of Trustees were not submitted copies of the budget until 24 or 48 hours preceeding its consideration by the board."

Cooley backed Carry's move, but refused to elaborate on why he favored deferment of its possible approval at last evening's session.

TO MEET SOON

City Manager Walter K. Willman said he would arrange the joint meeting "in the very near future."

Trustees approved the budget, some $870,473 more than last year's, on Jan. 17 after a long and heated battle over some of its contents.

Major battle resulted over a proposed $14,000 salary for Director Miss Lauretta Paul. By a 6 to 5 vote, board members compromised by granting her $13,000.

Approval of the hospital budget by the commission is mandatory under a 1952 ordinance establishing the Board of Trustees.

Labor Loses Fight to Oust Macmillan

LONDON (AP) — The opposition Labor party has lost its first fight to bring down Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government.

The House of Commons voted 312-249 last night to defeat a Labor motion to censure the government's economic policies. The Conservatives then won a confidence amendment 309-249.

Harold Wilson, former Cabinet minister who led the Laborite attack, charged Britain's gold reserve was down by a third, production was stagnant and Britain was losing out to other countries in trade.

Nigel Birch, economic secretary to the treasury, answered that the country's trade had remained basically sound and there would be a small trade balance at the end of the fiscal year June 30.

Collector's Item

LITTLE ROCK, Ak. (AP) — The city is looking for a new parking meter coin collector. Collector W. P. Vanderbert was arrested and charged with petty larceny. Police said he admitted taking about $200 from meters since last fall—for his own use.

Pontiac Lake PTA to Mark Founders' Day

A Founder's Day program has been arranged by Waterd Township's Pontiac Lake School PTA, to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The "History o the School District" will be presented by Dale McClelland, and Roy Lambert will speak on the "Lakeland United Presbyterian Church.'

Robert Shaw will give the "Origin of Pontiac Lake and the Boy Scouts," as his topic and Mrs. Oral Duncan will speak on the "Girl Scouts."

Final speaker for the evening will be John Reagan, His topic will be "ThRecration Area.'

Officials of the organization hope to have several pioneer families represented at the meeting, according to Mrs. Leland O. Woods, chairman of publicity.

Mothers of fourth grade pupils will serve refreshments, and baby sitters will be provided by the PTA.

Create Own Ice Cream

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It was awful to watch but the kids enjoyed it. At a breakfast, six young winners of a contest run by the Oklahoma Dairy Products Institute, waded through their own concoctions of rich ice cream variously topped with pineapple, candied cherries and chopped bananas—all free.

Pontiac Options Land for Army Center

Pontiac city commissioners last night approved an option for a five-acre parcel of land on Orchard Lake avenue upon which the government plans to construct a $400,000 Army Reserve Training Center.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said it would be a six month option during which time government officials planned to file a "friendly condemnation" suit to assure acquiring the land.

"This gets around the provision that the property must be advertised," he said.

Last evening's action resulted after city and Army officials learned that a May 2 50-year lease between Pontiac and the government for the same parcel, was made void by a 1956 Michigan Supreme Court decision.

Its ruling said a political subdivision like Pontiac, could not donate land to the government "unless the city retains control of the purpose for which the land is conveyed."

Willman added that the option was to purchase the property, located east of Orchard Lake avenue across from Beaudette Park, based on a government appraisal of $9,607. The city would only have gained a dollar a year under the lease, Willman explained.

The proposed school-type building will be used to train some 400 local army reservists. Presently, training is being carried on at 37 W. Lawrence St.

St. Hugo Teen Club Sets Feb. 14 Meeting

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The recently-formed St. Hugo Teen Age Club will have its next regular meeting tomorrow evening to continue plans for an extremely active program.

Michigan Girls Burned by Acid

Man Admits Hurling Liquid at Waitresses in Fort Wayne

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Two 18-year-old Michigan waitresses were badly burned yesterday by acid thrown in their faces.

Police Inspector Joseph Heidenreich said a 23-year-old dishwaher admitted throwing the acid saying one of the girls had spurned his attentions.

James W. Sprouse of Bakersfield, Calif., working at the dishwashing job to put himself through Indiana Technical College in Fort Wayne was held by police.

Heidenreich said Sprouse signed a statement at police headquarters.

Burned were Carol Clark of Reading, Mich., and Constance Moore of Camden, Mich. They both worked as waitresses in the cafeteria where Sprouse was employed. They are students of the International Business College in Fort Wayne.

Doctors at St. Joseph's Hospital said the girls were burned severely. Miss Clark was struck by part of the pint of sulphuric acid in the face, legs and arms. Miss Moore was burned on the hands and legs. Doctors said while it was too early to determine the extent of injuries, the acid did not strike Miss Calrk's eyes.

Hold 3 Persons in Narcotics Probe

Pontiac Police are holding two Pontiac men and one woman for investigation of violating the state narcotics law.

Vice squad members, Detective Eugene Hendren and Special Officer Gerald Navarree apprehended one man and the woman at the corner of Bagley and Wesson streets about 4 a.m. today. Five capsules containing white powder believed to be heroin were found at the time of arrest.

The capsules will be sent to the crime lab in Lansing or Detroit today, according to Lt. William F. Nesbitt, vice detail. Further investigation will continue today.

The second man was arrested at his home after a search warrant was obtained from Judge Maurice Finnegan at 6:10 a.m.

Police to Bring Back 3 Youths From Texas

Two Pontiac policemen left today for Houston, Texas, to pick up three Pontiac 17-year-olds who are being held on felony warrants.

Sgt. Raymond E. Meggitt and Patrolman Robert C. Gaines will pick up Preston Cannon, 111½ N. Saginaw; Arthur Lawrence Marsino, 370 Tennyson S., and Roy Olmstead, 794 Parkwood Ave.

Cannon is accused of breaking and entering the home of Charles Tawlings, 85 Lincoln St., on Jan. 28 and stealing items valued over $400. Marsino and Olmstead are charged with purse snatching on Jan. 24.

CAROLYN BLACKETT

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blackett of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn of New York City, to Dan Magnier. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Magnier of Manhattan. A spring wedding is planned in New York.

Man Faces Charge of Felonious Driving

Circuit court arraignment of a Milford man, Simon P. Studebaker, 37, of 3134 Poplar St., charged in a White Lake Township auto accident, awaits his release from Pontiac General Hospital.

Charged with felonious driving on his release Feb. 5, Studebaker was readmitted to the hospital, authorities said, for further treatment. He is listed in satisfactory condition.

Studebaker's arraignment was postponed two weeks by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty Monday.

One of two other victims also was listed in satisfactory condition. She is Mrs. Rosalie Pape, 68, of 614 Church St., Fowlerville, who suffered compound fractures of both legs, three broken ribs and a broken jaw.

Her husband, Albert, 69, has been released. He was treated for a broken jaw and severe cuts suffered. Sheriff's deputies said, when Studebaker's car swerved into his on Bogie Lake road near M59 Jan. 26.

Circuit Court Action Circumvents Trial

A jury trial of two men charged in the $1,500 breakin of the Dixie Discount Store, 109 N. Saginaw St. Dec. 21, was averted by Circuit Court action Monday.

One man, Norman G. Page, 25, of 353 Seward St., changed his plea to guilty to a charge of breaking and entering. The plea was accepted by Judge Frank L. Doty, who will pass sentence March 18. Page was returned to Oakland County Jail under $1,500 bond.

The other man, Ivan K. Proffitt, 25, of 213 Parkdale Avenue, who also had pleaded innocent, was sentenced on another charge.

Protitt was sentenced by Judge H. Russel Holland to 1½-5 years in State Prison of Southern Michigan on a charge of parole violation.

A third man, Charles Madrigal, 29, of 1339 Locke St. previously was sentenced to three years probation, assessed $200 costs and ordered to make $500 restitution.

Child Guidance Clinic Hears Talk About What Disturbs Youngsters

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch, director of Hawthorne Center for Disturbed Children, discussed "Why Our Disturbed Children" at the annual meeting of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic. He related many of his experiences in the Detroit center.

The 200 gathering at Northwood Inn Tuesday for the event were told of the various phases of child development, beginning with the period of infancy.

The importance of good mothering and a close mother-child relationship was stressed, as the noted psychiatrist said that the child develops his capacity for love during this period.

A normal, healthy child by the time he is 3 years of age has a great urge to experiment, has a love of life, satisfaction in doing and has creative powers.

By the time he is 6, he has developed strong feelings of respect as an individual, family relationships and good living experiences with his family. This period prepares him for parenthood and effective family living, Dr. Rabinovitch declared.

DIFFICULT PERIOD

The child at the age of 12 is in a difficult period, the physician said, as this is the period when he oftens sees himself as a failure. Some of the reasons for these feelings are caused by adults who impart a sense of guilt.

If he fails at reading or arithmetic, he often believes it is because he did not try hard enough and carries the burden of guilt.

During this period the child often is vociferous, but psychological studies, the speaker pointed out, show that this is often a covering up of deep feelings of inadequacies.

Parents often are concerned with conformity and are comparative about their children, tending to view them as commodities, the listeners were told. These pressures often cause disturbances among children.

The importance of recognizing that children are different, are individual and all do not conform to the same pattern was pointed out, and the speaker said that if we as a society accept them at their best, they will accept themselves.

LOW ASPIRATIONS

Children with very high IQs seen at Hawthorne Clinic often have very low aspirations, Dr. Rabinovitch said. These children, though they have great gifts, often "creep" into the clinic, he said.

The child who has not had too many pressures reaches the adolescent period with a clear-cut sense of his place in the world; he has real motivation for participation in a democratic world.

The great needs of the adolescent are stability in family relationships; motivation in school, a scale of social values, and a kind of living experience that will stimulate within him desire for participation.

"We have been so concerned with the striving for independence that we have failed to see the need for dependence among children, the need sometimes to be treated like a little youngster," Dr. Rabinovitch stated. "Often there is the pressure of being pushed into maturity too soon."

Other areas of disturbance which the psychiatrist discussed dealt with biological problems. Prematurity and infections cause unknown brain damage, he stated.

He discussed the prevalence of schizophrenia, the most common of mental illnesses, and said that is a major challenge to research. Language and reading problems often have biological roots, Dr. Rabinovitch said.

EFFORTS PRAISED

The speaker praised the efforts of the clinic and said, "We have only begun to define the function of a child guidance clinic." It has interpreted these "failures" of youngsters to communities, which in turn are becoming warm and receptive. Individuals find a way of life through helping these children.

Dr. Robert J. Mason, retiring chairman of the board, introduced members of the staff and reported on the year's activities.

Madeleine Half, director of the clinic, reported for the professional staff. Dr. Joseph Fischhoff, consulting psychiatrist for the clinic, introduced the speaker.

Elected to the board of directors were A. A. Reid, Dr. Alan Cline, Mrs. Clarke Andreae, Mrs. John Naz, Mrs. James O. Wright, Ben Frank, the Rev. C. George Widdifield, Mrs. Max Miller, Dr. Bruce Bauer, Roy Hatcher, William Treanor and Mrs. Eugenia Hunter.

Guests attending the annual meeting of the clinic included Mrs. John P. St. Clair (left) of Birmingham, Mr. St. Clair and Mrs. Herbert Fleming of Birmingham. They came from various parts of the county for the event.

The annual meeting of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic was held Tuesday night at Northwood Inn. Among the 200 gathering for the event were members of the board including (left to right) William Treanor of Berwick boulevard; Mrs. L. S. Martz of Wing Lake, vice chairman of the board; Dr. Robert J. Mason, chairman; and Mrs. Eugenia Hunter of Huntington Woods.

Elizabeth Holds the Wealth and Power

Duke of Edinburgh Must Take Subordinate Role to Royal Wife

What sort of man is the Duke of Edinburgh? What official role does he play as husband to Queen Elizabeth? The reports, denied by Buckingham Palace, of strained relations between the royal couple have made these questions a matter of worldwide interest. To get the answer, a veteran palace correspondent has gone behind the "velvet curtain" of court life for this article, the last in a series.)

By FRED DOERFLINGER

LONDON (INS)—The tradition that the man wears the pants in the family is far older than the British monarchy, but a royal consort is primarily "the Queen's husband"—whether he likes it or not.

The Duke of Edinburgh has been granted virtually all of the power and responsibility that could constitutionally be bestowed on the Queen's husband. However, the fact remains that the ultimate power and responsibility belong to his wife.

Queen Victoria's "lesser half," Prince Albert, never ceased muttering about the trials and tribulations, the frustrations and indignities, heaped upon the nation's "First Gentleman."

At first, the German princeling, moody, unpopular, snubbed and often ignored, was handed only the most menial tasks. Once, writing about some state papers, Victoria noted that "Albert helped me with blotting the paper when I signed."

Later, Albert was assigned a more important part in the British government, but he never achieved any responsibilities beyond those exerted by the present Queen's private secretary.

THE SAME BOAT

Today, Philip, although granted far wider latitude and much more importance than Victoria's consort both in palace and public affairs, is still in the same psychological boat as "Dear Albert."

Philip has no powers in his own right. He has the rank but not the official title of a British prince. The titles of Duke of Edinburgh, Earl of Merioneth and Baron Greenwich were all conferred on him by his late father-in-law, King George VI.

As the Queen's husband, he is still her subject, and he will receive no further titles, honors or special privileges that she herself does not confer on him.

In September 1952, Elibabeth signed a warrant according her husband general precedence over all her other subjects. But Philip is not yet officially even a "prince consort"—the title Victoria gave Albert 17 years after their marriage.

Elizabeth retains her maiden name of Windsor. Philip's state salary is only a pittance compared with the Queen's. It's her money that pays all the bills.

WHOOPING IT UP

Albert would sulk about this situation, but Philip has tended to assert his masculinity by whooping it up privately with the "boys," playing hard games of polo and dashing off for sailing weekends.

He went from the navy into marriage with the reputation of being a "gay dog." The duke still enjoys the company of others. He is essentially gregarious. He can take and hold his liquor.

He admires pretty girls and gets a kick out of the gushy gals who whistle at him when he appears at a factory or at a motion picture theater. Often, he quips, "Naughty-naughty" or "Atta girl."

Philip was an ex-officio member of the late court photographer Baron's exclusive "Thursday Club" at the studio where Baron photographed the most beautiful women in England.

The "Thursday Club" was a stamping grounds for celebrities. Its parties were gay and lively, and Philip became well-known for his humorous stories, his ability to enter completely into the "swing of things."

PAL WILL BE MISSED

The duke will particularly miss his former secretary and sidekick, "Mike" Parker, whose departure from the palace followed the announcement of the breakup of his marriage.

Philip and "Mike" became fast friends while they were in the navy together. Before Elizabeth became queen, they would attend off-beat parties to escape the whirl of court life, often ending up at a Turkish bath.

Because of his gregarious, outspoken nature, Philip often relaxes too quickly, and sometimes lets his guard down. He doesn't quite realize even yet that in a court such as England's there are many people willing to snipe at him from behind.

His pre-marriage playboy activities have always been a talking point around the court—and the gossips have been quite willing to embroider on his exploits.

The Queen certainly has heard some of this talk. Reports are that she has had words with the prince more than once on the subject of "Bohemian behaviour."

Mother-Son Banquet Set Thursday

Plans are completed for the Wever School PTA Mother and Son Banquet to be held Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Program for the evening has been arranged by Mrs. Byford Laur, Mrs. Kenneth McQueen and Mrs. Irwin Mills.

Others serving are Mrs. Gordon Mathews, decorations and favors, and Mrs. Keith Pawley, Mrs. James Dodd and Mrs. Vernis Whitehead, food preparation.

Members of the Wever-Hawthorne fathers' group will serve the dinner, with Ronald Carr acting as general chairman. Robert Grant is chairman of the post-dinner committee.

Special guests for the event will be Mrs. Frank Harp, daughter of Fred Wever for whom the school was named; Mrs. Harry E. King, vice president of Pontiac Board of Education, and Mrs. Frank Schmitt, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Mrs. John Emerson, Mrs. Floyd Harp, Mrs. William Wright and Mrs. Merlin Sanderson, past presidents of the PTA.

Chairmen Announced at Meeting

Mrs. Ossie Gates, president of the Tipacon Chapter of American Business Women's Association, announced chairmen for the year at the meeting held at Hotel Waldron.

Marjorie Bartles will serve as banquet chairman, Lillian Laske, bulletin; Mrs. William Preece, by-laws; Mrs. Tennis Morris, custodian; Mrs. Howard Hess, education; Mrs. Edward Wynn, employment and housing, and Arlene Newcombe, membership.

Other chairmen include Kathryn Sumpter, music; Cleobelle Coleman, program; Catherine McCrindle, publicity; Phila Brown, scrapbook; Virginia Summerville, civic service, and Mrs. Florence Case, social.

Mrs. Evelyn Cole is chairman of the speechcraft committee, Betty Brandrup, vocational, and Mrs. Madge Whitt, ways and means.

Representative to the Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs will be Mrs. Jerrall Jones. Connie Hasseth, 1956 scholarship recipient, was a guest at the recent meeting.

Don't Let Defects Ruin Personality

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We can't all be beautiful! Very few women have perfect features but many of them allow some one defect to cause them to be self-conscious. In fact, in trying to hide the defect they may create a greater one.

For instance, if a woman has very thin eyebrows she may go haywire with the eyebrow pencil and draw a dark, hard line which is always most unbecoming. As most of you know the pencil should be used with feathery light strokes.

If a woman has a complexion which is less than perfect, she may wear such heavy make-up that she looks weird.

I myself have known several instances when a woman or girl refused to smile naturally or laugh because of crooked teeth. When they did smile or laugh it was in a distorted and unnatural way.

Others may have an unattractive low hairline on the forehead. In trying to hide it they may wear bangs which make the fore head practically disappear from view.

PLAY UP THE GOOD

I am all for diminishing defects whenever it is possible. In the case of the crooked teeth the woman would be wise to do without something else and have them straightened. Eyebows and complexion should be enhanced reasonably. The too low hairline can be corrected by electrolysis.

Everyone has good features as well as bad. The thing to do is to play up the good features, do what can be done about the defects and then forget them.

The eyebrow pencil should be used with feathery light strokes.

The really serious and tragic mistake is to allow the defects to affect your personality. Gaiety, nerve and warmth cause others to forget, or fail to notice at all, the blemishes of which we are so conscious.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clear the Way for Beauty" (about skin blemishes) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 48. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Color Control for Rooms Could Make Life Happier

WASHINGTON (INS) — Feeling kind of low? Try changing to a room of a different color.

"Different colors have different emotional effects on people. Green soothes and calms," says E. F. Enyder, official of a temperature control firm. "Red had the opposite effect."

He told the Building Research Institute that although modern classroom and office buildings now vary colors from room-to-room, he forsees the day when the color in each room will change as the day progresses.

The teacher, or the office or plant manager, could be given a device which he could change the interior colors to stimulate interest and learning, Snyder said. This also will reduce physical and mental fatigue.

"Color control is also essential to the completely balanced automatic control system of the future," he added.

"It can come as a logical step resulting from studies now being conducted on the automatic control of temperature, humidity, ventilation, light, and other factors that make up the indoor environment."

Industry and science will next put a controlling finger on such other factors as ionization of the air, radiant energy, and noise.

New Fabrics for Spring Are Supple

NEW YORK (NEA) — The beautifully tailored daytime dress takes to lightweight, supple fabrics this spring.

This carries out the increasing trend to lightweight fabrics for spring clothes of every kind: dresses, suits, capes, coats and separates.

Our changing climate, our excellent heating in both homes and offices and our own liking for fabrics that contribute warmth without weight account for this change from the heavy fabrics of seasons back.

Travel, too, is a factor in the demand for fashions that can survive more than one season's wear in a year and more than one climate in the same space of time.

Some of the spring fashions make use of a lightweight orlon-and-wool fabric.

Style for Spring

The shirtwaist dress is a coming fashion for spring and summer. Sound investment: the shirtwaist dress in pure silk shirting, striped or checked in pastel colors.

Travelers Love Synthetic Fabrics

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK (NEA) — Enthusiasts about the synthetic fabrics sing their praises whenever travel is mentioned.

And since a good share of our population has taken to travel, this means there are many supporters of the fabrics that brush off wrinkles even after hours on train or plane.

For travel any time of the year, we show (left) Beliciano's suit with coordinated blouse in dacron and imported flax.

Little jacket is cut tuxedo-style and faced with the crepe used for the blouse. Skirt is fitted to the hipline, then breaks into graceful pleats.

Equally adaptable is a three-piece boucle-knit suit (right) of orlon. The fabric has a tweedy texture.

Solid color is used for yoke and cuffs of the suit and for the slipover sweater. This design is by Banff.

The next time you shop for travel clothes, keep these wonder fabrics in mind. They can save a lot of grooming headaches.

Violet, Gray Important Spring Hues

NEW YORK (NEA) — Color gets a new slant for spring in shades both pale and vivid.

There's no doubt about the importance of the violet shades both in ready-to-wear and in accessories. Gray, a pale shade, is also a big color this year and lends itself beautifully to accessories in sharp or muted colors.

There's a new emphasis on the pastels — the very pale blues and pinks and beiges — an emphasis usually not felt until summer.

These, like gray, will continue into summer, of course, helped out by white, which looks particularly good for evening wear.

The off-beat color combinations are many this year. A good example is pink-and-red. Red takes on a bluish tone for spring-into-summer and there are many blue-greens to choose from.

Taupe is a member of the brown family that keeps important company with beige, particularly in the accessory field.

Pastels are not, this year, confined to evening. They're good the clock around

Men Cannot Understand Certain Feminine Views

It's Hard to Convince Husbands That Wives' Arguments Are Logical

By RUTH MILLETT

It's hard to convince a man:

That a new outfit is as much of a spring tonic for you as his first fishing trip of the season is for him.

That he really could find another chair as comfortable as the old lounge chair he refuses to give up, even though it's an eyesore in the living room.

That you have as much right to feel neglected if he lets the yard go, as he does if you fail to sew missing buttons on his shirts.

That it's fine to praise his hostess' dinner but that out of regard for you, he shouldn't be so enthusiastic because it sounds as though he never gets a decent meal at home.

That a living room can really need a face-lifting even though it looks perfectly all right to him.

That there's no such thing as having guests without "going to a bit of trouble."

ESCAPING JOB

That leaving home is the only way you ever really get away from your job.

That you wouldn't be quite so easy on the kids if he wouldn't be quite so hard.

That though a woman may find a film or fiction hero of the strong, silent type wonderfully romantic, no woman enjoys living with a man who won't talk to her.

That having to drag a husband to a party takes most of the pleasure out of the evening for his wife.

That because a woman gives forgets to kiss her goodby when he leaves in the morning feels neglected all day.

That because a woman gives a feminine reason for one of her actions or attitudes doesn't mean it isn't a sound one.

FACIAL MUSCLES

No beauty preparation can perform the miracle of erasing sagging muscles. The proverbial ounce of prevention is an important factor. Facial exercise and proper skin care can postpone the breakdown of the muscle structure. Massage upward and outward when using cleansing or complexion creams of any kind. A mild astringent to tighten the skin as well as close the pores will go a long way in the right direction. Lacking astringent, use plenty of clear cold water to produce the same effect. But you MUST accept the fact that this shall be a ritual . . . not a now and again treatment. Don't wait until the day you want to look your best . . . it may be too late.

Ivy League Look in School Dress for Youngsters

Prescribed school dress for boys these days includes slacks and sport coats, and ties. An innovation in boys' wear suited to a youngster's inclination to wear casual clothes, but in the dress-up trend, is a "coordinate" suit. This is a patterned flannel sport jacket worn with trousers in a coordinated color and the same fabric. It feels like a sports outfit, but looks like a suit and is right for all except the most formal occasions.

Sport jackets are styled up in the Ivy League manner with high three-button closings and slim cut. The boys are taking to the new way of dress, finding, no doubt, that good-looking clothes can evoke admiration. Parents are pleased with the change in mental attitude that comes with the change of dress, and in terms of the family clothing budget they find that handsome wool jackets, slacks and coats stay neat longer and are durable.

Note, too, that dressing up has gone so far that young men have even taken to shining their shoes.

Keeps Hair Pretty

In today's beauty - conscious world, more and more girls are giving their hair touch-up permanents between complete waves. In fact, tip-curl kits now account for well over 11 per cent of all home permanents given.

She Wears Medals, Not Diamonds

U. S. Official's Wife Has Souvenirs of Army Career

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Mrs. W. Randolph Burgess, wife of the undersecretary of the treasury, wears medals instead of diamonds or other jewels at some of the capital's most formal social affairs.

Mrs. Burgess was a deputy director of the first Woman's Army Corps under Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby in the early days of World War II.

She was acting director when she got out of the service in 1946 and is now a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

The medals she wears on her beautiful evening gowns are miniatures of the originals — the Legion of Merit, Army Commendation with clusters, the WAAC medal, the World War II Medal and an area service medal.

Italian Ambassador Manlio Brosio asked for and got the opinions of 20 Washington women representing social, merchandising and press circles whom he invited to sniff the scent and ogle the packaging of some Italian perfumes at a luncheon given by his wife.

MARKET STUDY

The ambassador said his country wants to widen its selection of exports to America and therefor wants to study the American market and how to sell its products.

"As Italians we are sensitive to the charm of the fair sex, and so today we start with perfume," the handsome ambassador told the group, which included Mrs. Harold Burton, wife of the Supreme Court justice, and Mrs. Clifford Davis, wife of the Democratic congressman from Tennessee.

The ambassador added his country wants to extend these polls into other communities. "For once we Italians are being systematic," he said.

According to etiquette experts, it is not good form to drive your own car to white-tie shindigs at the White House.

Thus the limousine rental services are expecting to do a rush business from now until March toting the VIPs and their wives from their homes to 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. for dinners and receptions.

Of course, some of the bigger wigs have chauffers to drive their own sleek, air-conditioned, heated limousines, and some folks just take a taxi.

Water may turn the ivory keys on your piano yellow, so try using wood alcohol.

College Does Not Insure Success

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"You can't get anywhere without a college degree," people keep wailing.

At the same time, biographies of famous people, in all save a few specialized fields, show case after case of success without degrees.

What is the answer?

My experience has been that there are people who want to be successful and there are people who want to be failures.

The people who want to be failures are going to dream up some alibi, some reason why they had to be failures.

They weren't lucky enough, or pretty enough. Or they had a father and mother who were unhappy, or they came from the wrong side of the tracks, or they didn't have the right contacts.

Or, since education is so stressed just now, they don't have the college degree.

THEY'LL SUCCEED

On the other hand, people who want to be successful are going to be successful whether or not they are pretty, lucky, or come from an unhappy family or the wrong side of the tracks.

And they are going to be successful whether or not they have a college degree.

In fact, many employers today are taking a somewhat dimmer view of college than they used to.

One publishing executive told me he's had too many college graduates who can't spell or even write decently.

"I now give them a simple test. I hire them if they have the skills and I don't hire them if they don't. College," he added emphatically, "or no college!"

ADULT EDUCATION

Moreover, every community is offering adult education courses, which brings education within the reach of all who want it.

And it is often possible to get a job in the field you want—a lowly job where training is not necessary—and then go ahead and get your studying in at night.

I know a girl who is now a successful practicing psychologist, with a good practice and a large income.

She was left a widow, got a secretarial job with a psychologist, helped him edit his books and studied at night. It took time, energy and self-discipline — but then, she was one of the people who wants to be successful.

If you are interested in working with people, but have no degree in psychology or personnel, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you a list of jobs in the "people" field which do not require special degrees.

Cotton Knits Popular Year Round

NEW YORK (NEA)—It's a wonderful world of fabrics that we live in. Wool, springy and long-lived. The synthetics, easy to care for. Cotton, that no longer knows just one season.

Cotton is a fabric to live in the year around in some version. Quilted cotton and corduroy and velveteen for winter and spring. Every kind of cotton imaginable for summer. Cotton knits almost any season of the year but in sportswear, particularly good for winter vacations and for summer beach or outdoor living.

Aside from the fact that most cotton knits have lost their sag, chief reasons for their popularity are that they're easy on the upkeep and look well. A girl couldn't ask for more.

But she gets more. Cotton knits carry a low price tag, well within reach of any girl on a budget. It's a price that generally hasn't caught up with the good looks of cotton knit fashions in any respect.

This means that a whole cotton knit wardrobe can be bought for a moderate sum by the girl whose clothes purchases are keyed to her weekly pay check.

Insert a soda straw into a new bottle of ketchup and the air gets into the bottom of the bottle will help to start the ketchup flowing right away.

YOU can make life easier for ME?

Absolutely, darling! Clinics will speed you . . . spring you . . breeze you through the day! Clinics are soft . . . smart . . . strong . . Try on a pair today, you'll say, "Nothing could be finer!"

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM HOWARD

Married Friday were Edythe S. Rankin and William J. Howard. Mr. and Mrs. John Rankin of North Johnson avenue are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Howard of Rockwood, Tenn., are the parents of William, of Chase street.

Edythe Rankin Becomes Bride of William Howard

One hundred guests attended the Friday wedding of Edythe S. Rankin and William J. Howard. The ceremony was performed by Elder Randall Hulse of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Edythe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rankin of North Johnson avenue and William, of Chase street, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Howard of Rockwood, Tenn.

For the service, the bride chose a gown of lace and nylon tulle.

Iridescent sequins and seed pearls accented the lace bodice topped by a mandarin collar of lace with an illusion yoke.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Marjorie Rankin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a blue ballerina-length dress and carrying a colonial bouquet of rose-colored carnations.

Her other attendant, Mrs. Alfred R. Koop wore a yellow ballerina-length dress and carried a bouquet of rust-colored carnations.

Jack Howard was his brother's best man, and ushers were Eddie Langhton and Russell Rankin of Fenton.

The reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

Following a honeymoon in Tennessee, the couple will reside in Pontiac.

Floor Assumes Harder Finish in 1957 Trend

The trend toward even greater areas of smooth-surface flooring in the home appears to be headed for its biggest year in 1957, propelled by the needs of practical housekeepers and by a desire for the high fashion of well-polished floors.

In 1956 homemakers and decorators alike sought the versatility of style and color that new hard floorings possess.

The durability, east of maintenance and economy of such materials as rubber and asphalt tile, vinyl plastics, inlaid linoleum and even cork and leather are factors in this change of outlook.

Newer designs and a variety of color and pattern effects have given the impetus to extending these man-made floorings from the kitchen into foyers, living and dining rooms, dens and even bedrooms.

Style of Shirt Collar Should Flatter Man

Just as a blouse neckline should flatter the face of the girl wearing it, so should the style of the shirt collar flatter a man.

Sharp-pointed collars with little spread lengthen the face while points help fill out a thin face. Long spread collars with short round collar points on low-set collars are best for a man with a short, thick neck and higher collars flatter a man with a thin neck and face.

Here Are Success Tips:

Making Bathroom Over?

NEW YORK (INS) — When you have decided to remodel your old bathroom careful attention should be given the choice of color because color can make it seem spacious or crowded, warm or cold.

A small bathroom needs light colors to create the illusion of spaciousness and to make the ceiling seem higher, whereas a large bathroom will "shrink" when dark colors are used.

Dark shades also make a ceiling appear lower.

Whether the room is large or small it is better not to use more than three bright colors.

Because plumbing fixtures come in soft pastel shades they can either match or blend with the main decorator color.

Fixtures are available in pink, deep red, green, blue, gray, suntan, yellow, ivory and white — among others.

Pink is one of the most popular fixture colors among home owners. Blue and green are close seconds and gray is next in popularity.

Doctors' Band Lends Touch of Lightness

Tuesday Musicale Offers Men's Night Program

By JOAN RITTER

In red and white checked vests and matching sleeve bands, doctors and businessmen of the area presented four band selections before the Men's Night audience of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale at Washington Junior High School. Small black "band hats" completed costumes of the Doctor's band.

Mrs. Gordon Woolcock, Tuesday Musicale president, welcomed the audience last evening and Mrs. Ralph Norvell introduced the Doctors' Band by telling how it originated five years ago with casual remarks by several doctors that they wished they could play a musical instrument.

Five years and many practice sessions since, they can. The original group enlisted several businessmen for the evening's performance, which was very good. And no one was called to deliver a baby in the middle of the program. George Boyd serves as director and instructor for the group.

Mrs. Jack W. Wignall, a member of Tuesday Musicale, presented three selections, Mrs. Donald Hogue accompanied the soprano. Mrs. Wignall's voice training includes extensive courses at Michigan State University.

For those hearing her for the first time, it was an awareness of fine talent present in Pontiac, and for those of her friends who have heard her sing many times, it was the presentation, again, of a very fine performance.

FEATURED ARTIST

Anton Patti, violinist, was featured artist in the third part of the program. His selections included "Meditation from Thais" by Massenet and "Hungarian Dance No. 5" by Brahms. He chose "Danny Boy" for his encore. Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer was his accompanist.

The four characters of Sir James M. Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look" were interpreted by Mrs. Roy E. Schaeffer of Lorain, Ohio, formerly of Pontiac.

Her interpretation by instantaneous change in voice, walk and mannerisms was so convincing that as Mrs. Schaeffer seemed to look toward and wait for another actor on stage—the audience did too.

The program was an enjoyable experience for the 200-plus persons attending. And . . . we're sure . . . the male side of the family was really pleased with the selection of artists for their entertainment.

Beef-freezing processes have been speeded up in Australia to aid exports.

Trust Allows Peggy to Be Frank

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In her book, "The Happy Child," psychoanalyst Irene M. Josselyn tells an inspiring story about a 14-year-old named Peggy.

One day, when Peggy was complaining to friends about the maternal rule which required her to leave parties before they broke up, her mother overheard her. This happened several times.

Finally, Peggy's mother decided she'd been too strict. She told Peggy that thereafter she could be the judge of the right time to leave parties.

But instead of welcoming this freedom, Peggy hastily rejected it. She confessed that she felt she hadn't lived long enough to be able to gauge the right moment to leave parties. Moreover, they sometimes got boring.

Having a parent who'd told you to leave them was a great convenience. You could blame her for the departure you wanted to take yourself — and leave with your friends' sympathy instead of their resentment.

This story is a good illustration of adolescent conflict. On the one hand, the child is pulled by his need to defy our standards as too restrictive.

On the other, since he hasn't had enough experience to make standards for himself, much less test their safety, he's pulled by the need to hang on to ours. It is his see-sawing indecisiveness between these two pulls that confuses us so.

ABILITY TO CONFESS

But it was not Peggy's indecisiveness that makes her particular story inspiring.

It was her ability to confess it to her mother.

Though all adolescents sometimes want us to tell them what to do, they don't all say so. Most make a point of hiding this truth from themselves as well as from us.

They put on acts. They pretend to always know exactly what they want to do about everything lest we interpret their indecisiveness as weakness — and begin to exploit it by ordering them around for the rest of their lives.

They do not trust us.

Peggy did. She entrusted her mother with the truth because her mother had so obviously struggled to trust Peggy.

When parents and adolescents can conquer fear to the point where they can admit the mutual struggle to trust each other, the truth between them carries them on to progressive understanding.

This may be a column to hand to your teenager and say, "Do you think these things are true about you?"

Guest Asks to Continue Card Game

Hostess Objects to Canasta Gathering Lasting So Late

By EMILY POST

A hostess writes me as follows: "The other evening my husband and I asked some friends in to play canasta. We played two games. At the end of the second game I was ready to put the cards away and serve refreshments. However, one of the guests suggested that we play another game.

"Not wanting to be rude, I said all right, and so we played another game. By the time the third game ended and the refreshments were served, it had grown quite late—much later than I like to stay up. I would like to know if it would have been proper to say 'no' when this guest suggested playing a third game?"

Answer: If they were intimate friends, you certainly could have said, "I'm awfully tired tonight, let's not play any more," or "Jim has to get up so early that I must get him to bed." But if they were more or less formal friends and apparently wanted to play, there was nothing for you to do but play.

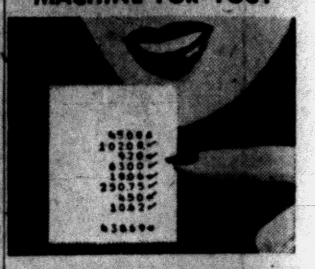

"Dear Mrs. Post: My father is going to marry again soon and my sister and I would like to give a luncheon in honor of his fiancee, who is a widow. Will you please tell me if it would be proper to invite Mother's sister to this luncheon?"

Answer: The answer to this depends upon your knowledge of her feelings. In other words, it would be entirely proper to invite her unless you think it might be too distressing to her to come to a party given for the one who is to take her sister's place.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A lawyer friend recently handled the estate of my father. His fee was considerably less than he would normally receive. I would like to express my appreciation in some way. Would it be proper for me to send him a gift, and if so, what would you suggest?"

Answer: No, don't send him a gift. You must, however, express your appreciation for what he did for you and sincerely thank him.

New Citizens Meet With Fred Cases

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Case were hosts to members of the executive board of the New Citizens League of Pontiac recently in their homes on Belmont avenue.

Arrangements were completed for the 19th annual Washington-Lincoln program to be held Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in Pontiac High School cafeteria.

Following the business meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Case showed slides of their recent trip to Washington, D. C., with other members of the group.

Mrs. William Thomas Speaks to Group

Ten members and one guest attended the Monday meeting of Chapter CL, PEO Sisterhood, at the home of Mrs. Clark Morgan on Walton boulevard. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles Matson, vice president, presided at the business meeting.

Mrs. Martin Wager introduced Mrs. William Thomas of Waterford as the speaker for the day. Mrs. Thomas gave a demonstration of ceramics and sculpture. Mrs. L. V. Ostrander was a guest at the meeting.

Cheddar Will Blend in Sauce if Grated

Cooking with cheddar cheese? Be sure you grate natural cheddar cheese just before you need it when you want it to melt smoothly and blend easily

Keep the heat low. Blend with a smooth sauce to prevent curdling; should the cheese curdle in the middle of making a sauce, remove it from the heat and beat it with an egg beater.

DAV Group Has Election

Sharon McAleer was elected commander of the Junior Auxiliary of Pontiac Disabled American Veterans at the Monday evening meeting of the group. Mrs. Kenneth French opened her home on East Tennyson avenue for the meeting.

Others elected to serve were Donna Helvey, senior vice commander; Karen McAleer, junior vice commander; Terry French, chaplain; Ann Marie French, adjutant; Bonnie Helvey, treasurer, and Doris Lee Williams, patriotic instructor.

Plans were made for a patriotic program, "This Is Our America," to be given at the Bemis-Olsen Amvets Hall Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth will serve as chairman of the program, assisted by Mrs. William Pyles.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. French.

Coming Events

Women's Missionary Society of St. John Lutheran Church will meet in the church parlor Thursday for a noon cooperative luncheon.

Welcome Rebekah Lodge 246 will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in Malta Temple, 82 Perkins St. An assembly officer will be a guest.

Camp Nesbitt 11, Ladies National League, will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. at the hall, 128 W. Pike St.

Have Perspiration Stains Ever Ruined Your Dress?

New ARRID with Perstop*
Stops Perspiration Stains – Stops Odor
DRAMATIC STEAMBATH TEST SHOWS HOW

This woman was put in a steambath at 104 degrees. ARRID with Perstop* was rubbed into her forehead. Fifteen minutes later . . .

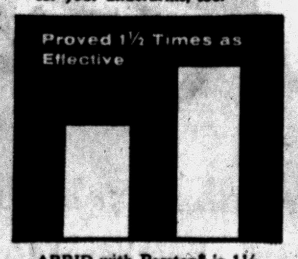

. . . she was dripping with perspiration – but ARRID with Perstop* kept her forehead dry. ARRID will do the same for your underarms, too.

Just rub ARRID in – rub perspiration out. Rub ARRID in – rub odor out. When the cream vanishes you know you're safe even on hot, sticky days.

ARRID with Perstop*, used daily, keeps your clothes safe from ugly stains, keeps your underarms dry, soft and sweet.

ARRID with Perstop* is 1½ times as effective as all leading deodorants tested against perspiration and odor.

So . . . don't be half-safe. Be completely safe. Use new ARRID with Perstop* to be sure. 43¢ plus tax.

PHS Streak Snapped by Highland Park, 38-33

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Everything said about Highland Park as being the fastest Class A basketball team in the state should get no argument from the breathing-room-only crowd which saw the Parkers hand Pontiac its first defeat of the season, 38-33, in a pressure packed defensive game.

The Parkers utilized their great speed to extend their streak to 11 straight, and it was Gene Lawson, a transfer from Pontiac, who came back to haunt his former homestead.

Lawson led the night's scoring with 14 points, getting seven of Highland Park's 13 field goals.

For Pontiac, an untested sophomore, lanky John Bandy dropped in 10 points on long set shots to lead the scoring.

It wasn't down-court speed as much as quickness in ball handling and rapid recovery after every shot which was the big factor for the Parkers.

Like an octopus whipping in his prey, the Parkers gobbled up every loose ball that stayed within the 50x92 lines of the PHS court.

Pontiac had its poorest shooting night of the year, hitting only 27 per cent with 15 of 53 shots. The Chiefs however outscored Highland Park from the floor as the Parkers made only 13 fielders in 45 attempts for 29 per cent.

The poor accuracy in shooting was due to the defensive work of both teams. Highland Park especially forced the Chiefs to take many shots by quickly pressing the shooter.

The difference in the score itself was told at the free throw line where Pontiac made only three free throws in eight attempts, while the visitors were hitting on 12 of 17. What hurt was the fact that the Chiefs missed the first shot of the 1-1 bonus rule five times thereby losing the opportunity for 10 possible points.

Highland Park took a 11-4 first quarter lead and when Bandy dropped in a long shot with 28 seconds left, the score stood at 15-15 at halftime.

Dick Turner, 6-4 forward who returned to action after being out for several weeks with a sprained ankle, converted four straight free throws to start the second half giving the Parkers a four point lead which they never lost.

Pontiac moved within two points three times but each time it was Lawson pushing it back to four points on deadly field goals.

Coach Art Van Ryzin was disappointed by the setback, but he said afterward, "we lost to a well coached ball club, but we have our biggest objective still ahead of us, that of winning the conference title."

Coach Jim Wink praised his team for its alertness and said it was a fine defensive game on the part of both teams. "Pontiac has nothing to be ashamed of, I know they had one of their poorer shooting nights, which was fortunate for us," he added.

Hudson Ray had his poorest night of the season, hitting only two field goals among his six points, and finding the ball eluding him off the boards. Dave Diehm could not find the range as he hit on only four of 23 shots.

It just wasn't in the books for the Chiefs, but as Van Ryzin pointed out—"there are still four big games to go and the SVC title."

Hundreds of people were turned away long before game time as spectators filled every nook and cranny of the gym. The crowd was estimated at 2,600 which was 400 more than the 2,200 seats to be had.

WHAT'S UP? — The front row of fans at Pontiac High last night kept their eyes on that scoreboard but it failed to ease the pain of the 38-33 setback by Highland Park. Apparently the action up court was no more heartening as one lady bites her nails and a man buries his face in his hands. A turn-away crowd turned out to watch the fracas.

LENDING A SHOULDER — Highland Park's Dick Turner (22) finds a place to rest his head while he passes the ball behind Dick Whitmer's back (16) to John Bradley. The quick moving Parkers put a defensive screen on the Chiefs' scoring aces to win a 38-33 decision.

Chiefs Dropped in 'A' Ratings

Pontiac fell from 2nd to 4th, but Walled Lake stayed in 2nd place possibly due to the fact that Manistee the top ranked B team was beaten and also because the Vikings' loss came at the hands of Class A Berkley.

Rochester moved back up to 7th place after its win over Avondale in B rankings, and nearby Imlay City zoomed into 2nd place in class C behind Mariette.

Lee Foster of Pontiac became a member of the NASCAR-sanctioned Century Club February recently when he drove a '56 Jaguar over the Daytona Beach course at 109.850 miles per hour.

Arlie Shepard came into his own as a topnotch area bowler recently by turning in a 730 series at a local alley.

Genevieve Bradley, President of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association, won three events in the recent Captain-Sponsor trophy but only took home one trophy since the tourney makes a practice of limiting individual awards. She had the high game for women and was 1st in bowling both as a sponsor and then as a captain.

Willie Duncan certainly deserves a lot of credit for his work with Pontiac's 1st wrestling team this season. Just about every time out the 188-pounder is considerably outweighed but he always turns in a fine performance. Friday, he defeated Dave Marsh of Southfield, who weighs 290.

Under the personal direction of Pres. Fred Knorr, the Tigers plan to plug the sale of tickets to residents of Michigan outside of metropolitan Detroit. As part of the campaign, ticket offices will be established in Saginaw and Kalamazoo.

Nate Clark, Hillsdale Little All-America football star, has won a berth in the state Golden Gloves tournament at Grand Rapids, Friday and Saturday.

Rochester Trims St. Mary, 83-46

Peters Fires 34 Points as Falcons Win Easily; Romeo Triumphs, 68-60

Mt. Clemens St. Mary wasn't in the same class with Rochester last night as the powerful Falcons breezed to an 83-46 victory on the Rochester court.

Dave Peters, Rochester's classy center, fired 15 field goals and four foul shots for a 34-point total to spearhead an attack which produced three other double-figured scorers.

There was never any doubt about the outcome of the contest. The Falcons rolled up an overwhelming 45-23 halftime advantage and just coasted to their 12th triumph in 14 games.

Jim Van Nocker, ace Rochester guard, sat out the action with an injured ankle. He was replaced by Dick Eberline, who did an outstanding job.

Romeo nipped New Haven in overtime, 68-60; Mt. Clemens walloped Van Dyke, 84-51, and Peck outscored Brown City, 55-47, in other games yesterday.

Holly Upsets Northville

Clarkston Back in W-O Title Chase

By CHUCK ABAIR

Clarkston's hustling Wolves had a new life in the Wayne-Oakland League today after their victory over Milford and Holly's upset of Northville put them right back into the title chase.

The issue should be decided Friday night when the two top powers clash at Clarkston where Coach Don Mauti's gang is hard to beat. Northville still leads by one full game.

Clarkston had to go all out to beat the tailenders in a 72-64 triumph at Milford last night as the Redskins kept things interesting all the way. The losers matched Clarkston on field goals but charity points made the difference.

Four Wolves scored in double numbers led by Leroy Parks with 20 and George Lang's 17. Jerry Stanley tallied 15 and Bob Bedford 14 for Milford.

A 26-point output by Holly's versatile Amos Bradsher and the loss of four men on personal fouls resulted in Northville's 1st loss of the season. Holly reportedly pulled a similar upset on a high-riding Mustang quintet four years ago.

Bradsher hooped 17 of his total in the 1st half when the Broncos raced to a 40-33 advantage. The victors built the lead to 62-42 at the start of the final period before Northville rallied to slice the margin.

Jeff Goodrich sparked the Northville offense with 19 followed by Bill Yahne with 17.

Harry Fosdick's Brighton Bulldogs turned in their best performance of the season to wallop West Bloomfield, 84-45, in the other W-O contest.

Ten players scored for the winners who led 14-0 and 25-4 in the first quarter. Brian Watson topped the pack with 19. John "Jump Shot" Lucadam swished 16 for the Keego cagers, who are now 1-8.

Brown Favored to Retain Title

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Joe Brown is expected to brush off the challenge of ex-champ Wallace (Bud) Smith to his world lightweight title tonight and move on to a series of profitable defenses.

Italy's Duilio Loi, Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., and Larry Broadman of Marlboro, Conn., are waiting in line for a shot at the 135-pound crown. The three contenders are ranked in that order by both the National Boxing Assn. and Ring Magazine.

Smith, No. 4 among the challengers, is getting first crack at the man who took the title from him on a split decision, Aug. 24, at New Orleans.

The odds favor Brown with the price running from 3 to 1 to 4 to 1 and no action. Apparently the wise boxing men figure Smith, at 27, has had it after losing to Boardman, Tony DeMarco and Brown in succession.

Utica Wins Key Bi-County Game

Utica remained in contention for the Bi-County League title by posting a 48-43 triumph over Lakeview with the final outcome being decided on the foul line.

The Chieftains converted 18-for-27 on free throws to offset Lakeview's edge from the floor in gaining their 5th loop win and 8th all season against two setbacks.

John Havel hooped 12 points and three others hit 10 to pace the home club throughout the close battle.

Tickets on Sale

Friday Is Home Finale

Tickets for Pontiac's final home game of the season against dangerous Bay City Central Friday night are available at Osmun's and at the high school.

The Chiefs barely nosed out the Wolves earlier this season, 57-54, and since that game Bay City has lost only to Saginaw in six outings.

Pontiac must win to clinch a tie for the league title, assuming of course that Saginaw continues its winning ways. Another loss for Saginaw would give Pontiac the title outright.

THE POWERHOUSE

By Jimmy Powers

That squabble over the use of electric carts on golf courses has died away. Hartford's Charley McDonough reports: "At least three clubs I know of would be out of business, or close to financial trouble, if it weren't for the fact that some 80 or more wealthy members were able to continue their memberships and play golf only because they could use their carts." Members recovering from surgery or heart attacks are able to whiz around with minimum strain. Carts cost $800 on an average . . .

Dr. Vincent Nardiello compares the publicity given to accidental deaths in the ring with comparative silence that greeted his report of only 10 deaths in the prize rings of the entire world in 1956. Only three of these were among pros.

All sports, including boxing, are more closely and intelligently supervised. And all modern athletes can let barnacled oldtimers argue all they please, but today's competitors have proof they are superior.

Tom Courtney, the Fordham Olympic hero, has an impressive array of statistics. Tom won the 800 meters in Melbourne in 1:47.7. The first FOUR competitors in that race broke the old record. The same race at the Paris Olympiad in 1900 was won in 2:01.4—a difference of some 14 seconds!

Nap Lajoie, an admitted all-time great, nevertheless has nothing but respect for the modern crop of ballplayers. "Critics today are harsher and some are more malicious than the oldtimers who were idol worshippers and downright rooters. You cannot measure boxing and baseball skills with a stopwatch, but is there any defensive reason to believe that these young American athletes alone have gone backward? I certainly don't think so!"

Murchison Picked to Set 6-Second-60 Sprint Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Another frontier on the track and field horizon is the 6-second, 60-yard dash. Western Michigan's pint-sized Ira Murchison seems the man most likely to do it.

That, at any rate, is the observation of George Eastment, the Manhattan College coach who saw Murchison step off the distance in world record tying time at the Millrose games last weekend.

"It wouldn't surprise me one bit if Murchison did it some time in Madison Square Garden this year," Eastment said. It was in the Garden that Murchison ran his 6.1 time to equal the world mark, an effort now turned in by no fewer than a dozen sprinters.

But like the four minute mile used to be the six-second-sixty is figured by some to be just out of reach. Otherwise, say the critics, why hasn't it been done before.

Eastment told the weekly meeting of the New York Track Writers Assn. yesterday that he thinks the 5-foot-5, 145-pound Murchison can do it.

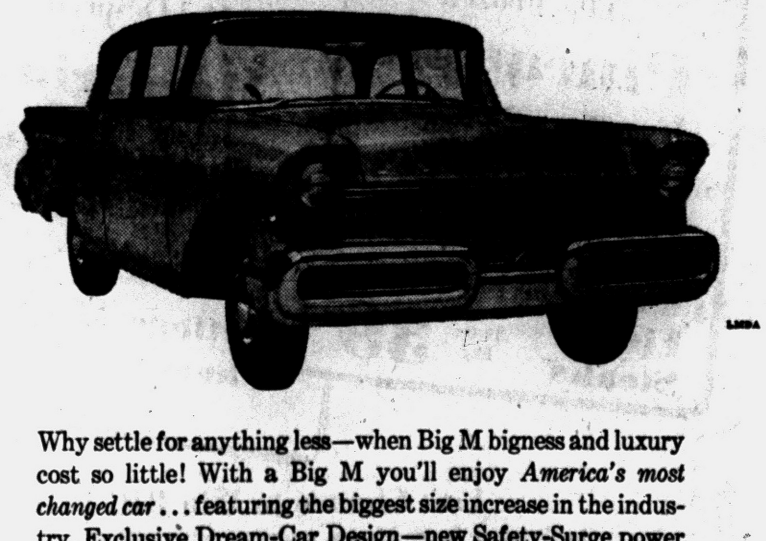

"I became convinced it could be done when Milt Campbell hit 7 seconds flat in the high hurdles," Eastment said.

"I think the big point in favor of the sprinter is the new runway they have installed in the Garden for the sprints and hurdles," he added. "The old one slowed down the runners somewhat toward the end."

Foes Are Woes for Iba's Boys From Oklahoma

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — It was a rough night all around for the basketball Ibas.

His brother Clarence drew three technical fouls for protesting decisions as his Tulsa University team bowed to Arkansas, 52-43 at Fayetteville, Ark.

And Henry's son Moe, a 20-point per game senior at Stillwater High School, suffered a fractured hand in a game here with Drumright, Okla., and will be out of action for a month.

The Aggies visit Detroit Saturday to play the Titans in an MVC game, to face Bill Ebben, another top scorer in the nation.

"Boos" Not Reason for Rosen Quitting

NEW YORK (INS) — Al Rosen, slugging Cleveland Indian third baseman who retired from baseball before reaching the age of 32, insists that injuries and not the boos of the fans caused him to quit the game.

Rosen, the American League's most valuable player in 1953, said yesterday there was no "psychological reason" connected with his retirement — it was a physical necessity.

"For the kind of money I was making, I could take the boos," Rosen declared. "But I decided a long time ago that I would rather be through with baseball before baseball was through with me."

Disclosing that he still is plagued by neck and shoulder injuries he received in an automobile accident in January, 1956, the prematurely graying Rosen said:

"I don't believe I am physically capable of doing my best in baseball, and I don't want to hang on and hit .270."

It is for that reason, Al explained, that he is going to work as an investment broker.

"There's no finer way to make a living than in baseball," Rosen said. "But for two and a half years I have been working in the securities field during the off-season and I love it."

Rosen admitted that quitting baseball "was like giving up part of my life," but that he was convinced last summer that he was through.

"This is not an alibi. But throughout my career I've had broken noses, fingers and various knee ailments. That auto accident completed the job.

"There are times when I can hardly move my neck and I have to receive injections to relieve the neck and shoulder spasms."

Rosen insisted he is not at odds with Hank Greenberg, the Indian GM who said Al had "lived out his usefulness" to the tribe.

Rosen, an eight-year man, won't be eligible for maximum benefits under baseball's player pension fund, but he declared:

"Sometimes you have to think of today and not the future."

REF DOWN FOR COUNT — There was no one to call the count on the referee when he went down from a wild punch in the fight between Ricardo Moreno (left) of Mexico City and Hollywood's Irish Tommy Bain. The official Frankie Van was on the canvas several seconds after taking a punch when breaking a clinch. Moreno won the bout with a 3rd round KO.

Maples Swamp Dale Swimmers

Birmingham High School's swimmers last night won their 4th straight EML meet (8-1 overall) at Ferndale 68-28, with Tom Bechtel adding another pool record to his string. Tom swam the 200-yard freestyle in 2:03.4 to break a mark (2:06.3) set a year ago. Jay Myers' crew is unbeaten in league events and on Friday faces once-beaten Mt. Clemens in a test that could settle the EML dual meet title.

First place winners for Maples: Pete Sints (50-yard freestyle, 24.5), Jim Peters (100-yard butterfly, 1:11.8), Dave Smith (100-yard backstroke, 1:08.1), Klaus Parsch (100-yard breaststroke, 1:15.3), Dave Rider (150-yard individual medley, 1:34.1); Smith, Bechtel, Sints, Overgard (200-yard medley relay, 1:34.3); Ron Haskett, Jeff Life, Tom Brown, Bob Kipp (200-yard freestyle relay, 1:46.2), first time as a team.

PHS Matmen Face Berkley

Pontiac's wrestling contingent has taken a new outlook on the mat sport with two wins in its last three starts but the Chiefs run right smack into one of the state's powers Thursday night.

Coach Bill Willson's improved grapplers tangle with Berkley in a 7:30 match at the Bear gym in a return engagement.

Berkley will be heavily favored on the basis of its 46-7 triumph in the season opener and a fine 6-1 record, the last five victories in succession.

But the PHS lads have come a long way in their 1st year wrestling and should make things much more interesting for the Bears. Pontiac has scored 98 points in the last three outings and 133 for the season with a 2-7 record.

Orion Five Rolls to Third Straight Victory at Oxford's Expense

Lake Orion High's basketeers jumped off to a early 19-7 lead, last night, and then went on to spank Oxford for the 2nd time this season 76-30. Victory was Orion's third straight for a 8-5 mark. Oxford absorbed its 10th defeat against two wins.

Jim Drake and Nick Neira shared scoring honors with 20 apiece only one ahead of teammate Ralph McLachlan's 19. Dave Golladay added 10 for the 4th double-figure scorer for winners. Clayton Woodward was Oxford's only player with 10 points.

Wildcats managed only nine points in the 2nd half, against Dragons' 39. Orion hit for a game average of better than 40 per cent from the floor.

Cranes Visit Canada, Drop Cage Tilt, 62-42

Cranbrook's basketball squad took an international trip last night, and lost a contest to Patterson of Windsor, 62-42. Loss was Cranes' 10th against two wins.

Cranbrook top scorers were Del Andrews with 12 and Bernie Harris with 11. Bob Skinner and Ted Runstedler shared scoring honors for Patterson with 13 each.

Patterson got an early lead and maintained a margin of about a dozen points rest of the way.

Hawks, Globetrotters Advance in Tourney

Hawks and Globetrotters moved ahead in the Boys' Club Biddy cage loop, yesterday, with wins over Rough Riders (45-31) and the Celtics (46-37). Result determined the 4th team for the playoff title round.

Joe Doyon led the Hawks with 17, with Bill Blower and Jim Johnson getting 14 and 12 respectively. Dave Colando (15), Randy Styles (14) led losers. Trotters' ace was Dennis Oberry with 20. Jim Blackburn had 12 and Larry Dalton paced losers with 18. Celtics were dumped out of contention by their defeat.

Today's games: Flying Aces vs Globetrotters; Hawks vs Royals. Winners meet on Friday with that game's victor going into a single elimination playoff starting Feb. 18.

Hills 5 Swamps Oak Park 58-25 for 4th Victory

Bloomfield Hills High School cagers turned the tables on their opponents in last night's game at Oak Park, to win their 4th victory of the season against eight losses. After a 1st period 13-8 lead the Barons rolled along to a 58-25 total. Last Friday they lost to Riverview 53-27.

Bob Elston and Randy Barrett set the winning pace with 14 each. Dave Drury had 13, while Oak Park's Bill Bailey's 14 paced the losers.

Bestway, Central Provide City Cage Loop Surprises

Bestway provided the No. 1 shocker in adult City League basketball action Tuesday night by upending National loop - leading Griff's Grill at Jefferson Junior High.

There was nothing flukey about it either as Bestway's balanced attack rolled up a convincing 69-48 margin. Bob Newman netted 13 points for the winners to lead three other double-figured scorers. Ron Woodhull tallied 12 points in defeat.

Marvin Caswell meshed 24 points to spark Boys Club to a 73-38 rout of the winless Clarkston Merchants in adult American League play. Bill Yankee notched 15 for the Merchants, who suffered their 10th setback.

Central Christian furnished the big surprise in Class D activity by upsetting the previously unbeaten Celtics, 27-24, in an International tilt at Lincoln. Jerry Tucker led Central with 14 points.

In other 'D' games, Earl Neeb scored 15 points to feature the Doodlebugs 41-25 verdict over Beedle's Cut-Rate and Green's P & H chalked up its 7th consecutive National division win, a 34-30 count over Home Lunch as Jerry Andrews made 10 markers.

Pointe Swim Team Hit by Forfeiture

Birmingham swimming coach Jay Myers today reported that Grosse Pointe's aquatic squad had forfeited all its first half of season meets.

Forfeiture was due to discovery that an ineligible swimmer had taken part in the events. The Pointe reported the forfeitures against itself, Myers said. It gives Maples a 8-1 mark. Only other loss by Birmingham was to the Pointe in a early season meet.

Weather Hurts Rabbit Hunting

Cold weather, particularly during January, caused a drop in rabbit hunting success in southern Michigan, according to preliminary information gathered by Conservation Department game biologists.

The January cold snap sent cottontails scurrying into underground burrows and hunter interest lagged during the final month of the Oct. 20-Jan. 31 rabbit season in the southern Lower Peninsula.

For example, hunters at the Department's Rose Lake wildlife experiment station bagged a total of 463 rabbits during the past season, compared with 499 during the 1955-56 season. The hunting success of the public at Rose Lake usually parallels the statewide situation.

Although rabbit hunting season has ended in the southern Lower Peninsula, rabbits and snowshoe hares are legal targets in northern areas of the state through March 1.

Hunter Totals Show Increase

The number of small game hunters in Michigan during the 1956-57 season increased by more than three per cent over last season, according to incomplete returns from the state's 4,200 license dealers.

Through Jan. 31 of this year, license dealers reported 684,300 resident small game licenses sold, compared with 663,600 reported during the same period last year.

Sales reports from dealers run several weeks behind the actual sales period and the total number of hunters will not be known until final sales reports are received by the Conservation Department. A total of 741,300 resident small game licenses were sold for the 1955-56 season.

Shotgunning Proposal

What About 'Rock' Pigeon Shooting?

By JACK PATTERSON

Being committed to the ambition of providing a fuller life for the shotgunner we sometimes come up with strange proposals. For example, the first arrival of mourning doves always sets us thinking about shifty, fast - flying targets, and wondering if perhaps they are not plentiful enough so that we might exact some legal tribute from their numbers.

PATTERSON

Most of the northern states have banned dove shooting for many years, partly because of over-shooting a few generations ago and partly because the rapid eclipse of the passenger pigeon got conservationists thinking.

Without considerable study and merely from offhand observation it is impossible to tell whether our supply of doves would permit an open season. It is something, however, that might well be looked into. In states where dove shooting is permitted they're apt to be the favorite game bid.

Anyone who has shot 'em knows why. Grossly libeled by the present legal definition of song-bird, the mourning dove, if its numbers and slow reproduction rate could stand a bit of mayhem from the hand of man, would provide a welcome addition to the list of species "open" to the Michigan hunter.

Another member of the pigeon-dove tribe that once provided splendid opportunities for the gun, is the common semi-wild rock pigeon, the familiar court-house nuisance. The "blue rock" is high on most everybody's list of critters they could get along without.

Released from a trap, however, in front of a shotgun, this same pest becomes a fine, noble, fast and difficult target and its reason of being is immediately apparent.

Present laws prohibit live pigeon shooting. Clay targets are all very well in their way but a puff of feathers has it all over a burst of black dust as an accolade for a perfect "hold". Common pigeons are not and never will be game birds. They actively esists extermination. They can be easily and cheaply raised for the trap. Perhaps best of all, live pigeon shooting is useful as practice for field shooting. Live birds don't follow invisible tracks in the air.

Add all these arguments up and we think a pretty strong case could be made for re-examining the legislation that prohibits live pigeon shooting.

Meanwhile off - season gunners will have to be satisfied with powdering crows. We are happy to report that recent checks around the country show the spring build-up of crows has progressed to the point where shooters can expect some action. Next warmish spell would be a good time to take the field.

Beautiful Moth Emerges From Stray Cocoon

Late last fall Merl Hubbard, 11 Gingell Court, picked up a stray cocoon, near his home, was intrigued by the brown and white case, and took it to his room. There it hung on the wall until a recent night when the caterpillar inside metamorphosed into a lovely moth.

Hubbard didn't see the emergence of the big, fawn-gray and white winged moth, with the red and white-ringed "eyes" on its wings, but discovered it the next day. It was identified as a polyphemus moth, a nightflier of nearly six-inch wing spread. It comes from a light green caterpillar that bears yellow markings.

Left outside this moth does not emerge until late spring. Warmth of the room hastened the metamorphosis.

Lamprey Hits New Project

LANSING (INS)—The destructive sea lamphrey is holding back conservation department program to introduce a new trout hybrid—the splake.

Assistant director of research, Dr. Justiin W. Leonard said today eggs from lake trout, needed in the cross between lakers and speckled trout, are not readily available.

"Destruction of the lake trout by sea lamphrey has bound Michigan to replenish this fish," Dr. Leonard explained, "Before we can really work on the hybrid.

"When the lamphrey controls begin to take effect and the lake trout population rises again, then we can concentrate on the splake."

(It was revealed earlier that effective lamphrey controls may take as long as seven years to show victory over the destructive bloodsucking lamphrey).

The hybrid trout—also known as then wendigo, moulack and ghost fish—is said to be a real fighter, active and hearty. Ontario Department of Lands and Forests officials said splake are "making a big hit with fishermen who have been taking them from lakes stocked by the department in northern sections."

Would Legalize Slings

Milligan Continues Fight

DETROIT (AP) — "Slingshot" John Milligan, who's just as much of a sharpshooter with his slingshot as your favorite TV cowboy is with his gun, won't give up his battle to legalize hunting with a slingshot.

President of the Slingshot Club of Michigan and world's champion, Milligan says he can't understand Atty. Gen. Thomas Kavanagh's ruling that the sport is illegal.

Milligan — with about 1,500 radio and TV performances and countless writeups under his belt — says hunting slingshot style is safer, cheaper and far better for exercise.

"In our sport," says he, "a hunter can outfit himself with a $2.50 slingshot and 100 ball bearings for a dollar and have a whale of a time all day."

The attorney general cited a 1929 ruling which prohibits many things — including the use of a slingshot for hunting. Milligan estimates there are from two to three thousand slingshot enthusiasts in Michigan who will suffer because of the ban. He said the organization will ask the legislature to amend the state hunting code.

Parks Receive Big 'Play' Even During the Winter

State parks now are heavily used by the public in winter months as well as in summertime.

But it hasn't always been this way.

Conservation Department officials say most of Michigan's booming winter sports program has developed since World War II, and much of it in the last five years.

The state had 38 winter sports centers in 1953 and 46 in 1955. This year, the total reached 60.

Skiers and tobogganers find the slopes of Michigan ideal for both the beginning and the more advanced forms of downhill travel.

The department encourages this winter recreation wherever possible. At present, state supervised areas are found in Highland, Pinckney and Bald Mountain recreation areas and receive heavy use, mainly by residents of the populous southeastern Michigan area.

And in the Upper Peninsula, a sports area is operated at Porcupine Mountains state park.

Afghan Hound Wins Top Show Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Houn' dawg, houn' dawg. . .you're a mighty good dawg, you ol' houn' dawg.

This ol' houn' dawg, Ch. Shirkhan of Grandeur, by name, probably wouldn't even take a sniff at the other membes of his clan. He's royalty.

In fact, he's the royalty of the entire canine world today, the grand champion of them all at the Westminister Kennel Club dog show, no less.

Shirkhan won best-in-show at the 81st edition of this World Series of dogdom before a shocked crowd of 10,000 in Madison Square Garden last night.

An Afghan with regal bearings, owned by Sunny Shay and Dorthy Chenade of Hicksville, N.Y., Shrikhan had mighty thin credentials compared to his five rivals in the final.

He hadn't even won a best-in-show in an all-bred affair before the Westminster. That alone practically made him an outcast. He won an Afghan speciality in California and took best-American-bred — which is sort of a runner-up — in another show.

Miss Shay handled Shikhan, a silver-blue stepper who really had an "on" night under Miss Shay's direction.

Shrikhan' rivals in the final were:

Ch. Chik-T' Sun of Caversham, a Pekingese (toy) enteed by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Venable of Atlanta, and fresh from four straight triumphs on the Florida circuit.

Ch. Barrage of Quality Hill, a boxer and the favorite (working), owned by M. and Mrs. Joett Shouse of Washington, D. C., a finalist two years ago.

Ch. Roadcoach, a Dalmatian (non-sporting), belonging to Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Allman of Doylestown, Pa., winner of the Morris and Essex show last year.

Ch. Gail's Ebony Don D., a cocker spaniel (sporting), sent by Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Nelson of Palo Alto, Calif., the top sporting dog of 1956.

Westhay Fiona of Harham, an airdale (terrier), owned by Harold M. Florsheim of Chicago, just over from England and two points shy of his championship in the U.S.

But that ol' houn dawg, it was his night.

Troy Is Beaten

Avondale in 1st Place Tie

A long uphill battle reached its climax for Avondale last night as the Yellow Jackets found themselves tied for 1st place in Oakland B League race following a 74-58 trouncing of Roseville.

The locals made it to the top with a big assist from Fitzgerald as the Spartans kicked the stuffing out of front-running Troy in an easy 75-53 triumph.

Avondale had been the only other school to topple the Colts in loop play. The leaders have 8-2 records.

A championship or a tie for the top slot would be a tribute to the fine play of Coach Dick Bye's Jackets in recent weeks after a sour start. A 7-game winning streak kept them in the race earlier.

Avondale led all the way and used a 27-point 3rd stanza to put the Roseville tussle on ice. Ten different cagers figured in the point-getting paced by Dick Gronski's 15. Wildcat star Duane Hussy easily took game honors with 32.

There was never any doubt of Fitzgerald's intentions. The determined Spartan contingent opened with a 16-7 lead and kept adding to it aided by a 75 per cent foul shooting average on 27-for-36.

Bob Bush rung up 30 digits and John Bolognino added 26 to outscore the losers together. Wayne Figley had 11 for Troy.

Madison nipped Clawson, 66-65, in the other loop contest:

Dales Roll to 9th Win Against Bears

With three players hitting in double figures, last night at Berkley, Ferndale High rolled along to its 9th victory of the year, 63-40. Dales led all the way, paced by Earl McNeal with 18, Jerry Fry's 13 and Gordy Rodwan's 11. Dave Neiger had 11 for the Bears.

Loss was 4th for Berkley (7-4). Dales have lost only two in 11 outings.

Hargreaves Quintet Trips Louie's, 61-46

Matthews-Hargreaves sailed to an easy 61-46 victory over Louie's Tavern Tuesday night in a Waterford League basketball game at Isaac Crary Junior High.

Gene Wright and Mauriet Larson paced the winners with 15 points apiece. Joe Boring tallied 14 points for Louie's club.

In the other scheduled game, Philgas moved back into a 1st place tie with Drayton Drug by winning a forfeit decision from the now defunct Faculty team. Philgas and Drayton Drug have 9-2 records while Davis Machinery of Ortonville is in 2nd place with an 8-3 mark.

Kramer Unsure of Future

Ron Debates Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Will Michigan's All-America end Ron Kramer sign with the Green Bay Packers or with Hamilton, Ont., of the Canadian League?

Coach Lisle "Liz" Blackbourn of the Packers said yesterday that he isn't "worried a bit" about Kramer's decision.

"Sure, he'd go to Canada if he got an offer 10 times better than ours," Blackbourn said. "But I'm confident he'll choose the Packers."

"We can't sign him until June anyhow,' Blackbourn said, "until he uses up his collegiate eligibility."

Kramer hopes to cinch his nine letters at Michigan and is currently the starting center on the basketball team. He'll be out for track in the spring as a high jumper or a discus thrower.

Interviewed in Madison, Monday night, when Michigan played Wisconsin in a Big Ten basketball game, Kramer was noncommittal. The No. 1 draft choice of the Packers, Kramer said:

"Money isn't the only problem. I want security after my playing days are over. Therefore, I'm going to seriously think over both offers before deciding which to take."

Someone said he'd like playing for Green Bay and Kramer answered: "Maybe, if I play there."

TEST YOUR BASEBALL KNOW-HOW . . .

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

By BEN OLAN

The increased emphasis on "percentage" maneuvers in the last few years has been sharply criticized in some quarters. Managers insert lefthanded pinch-hitters to bat against righthanded pitchers . . . and righthanded batters against southpaw pitchers.

"A good hitter will get his share of hits off any type of pitcher or delivery," is the opinion of many experts and fans.

Imagine you're managing Cleveland. Would you have countered the move made by Baltimore Manager Paul Richards?

(Key: (R) righthanded; (L) lefthanded.)

George Zuverink (R) is pitching for Baltimore as the Orioles lead the Indians 3-2 in the top of the eighth. Gene Woodling, Cleveland's first batter, singles. Vic Wertz (L) is the next hitter and with the count on him one strike, Don Ferrarese (L) is brought in to replace Zuverink. Al Rosen (R), Preston Ward (L) and Jim Busby (R) are scheduled to follow Wertz.

Would you:

a. Order Wertz to sacrifice?
b. Let Wertz swing away?
c. Put in a righthanded pinch-hitter for Wertz?
d. Have Woodling try to steal second?

Result: B — Wertz remains at bat and belts Ferrarese's first pitch into the right field stands for a homer scoring Woodling ahead of him. Indians win 4-3. (July 21).

Allstate paid over $125,000,000 in auto insurance claims in 1956!
After all, what really counts in auto insurance is how the company keeps its promise of protection. And the record of Allstate, the auto insurance company founded by Sears, speaks for itself!
Last year the Allstate Insurance Company paid over $125,000,000 to protect its policyholders. That's an average of over $10,000,000 every month! Important, too, is the fast, friendly way these claims were handled. And no wonder! Allstate's growing service organization now includes over 2,900 state licensed agents and more than 9,500 other employees conveniently located in over 1,000 offices throughout the U. S. and Canada.
Convincing proof that, whatever happens, you're in good hands with Allstate!

French Jet Travels 1,000 Miles an Hour

PARIS (AP)—French plane builder Marcel Dassault said that his company's new delta - wing jet fighter has traveled more than 1½ times the speed of sound, and may turn out to be the world's fastest military plane.

In tests during the past few days, Dassault said, the needle-nosed "Mirage 03" has reached a ground speed of more than 1,000 miles an hour in level flight with a full military load.

The present international speed record is 1,132 m.p.h., established by a British Fairey delta last spring. The U.S. Air Force X2 has flown more than 1,900 m.p.h., but that plane is a research, rocket-powered aircraft.

Author of 'Loving Couple' Pays Visit to Movieland

By LOULLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — A very pleasant visitor at my home was Edward Everett Tanner III who, under the names of Patrick Dennis and Virginia Rowan, wrote "Auntie Mame," "The Loving Couple," "House Party" and "Guestward, Ho!"

Freddie Brisson met the author and his wife at the plane and brought them directly to my house. Mrs. Tanner expects her second child in April.

"Were you named for Edward Everett Hale?" I asked author Tanner. He said Hale was his grandfather's godfather.

He told me his reason for being in Hollywood is to write the adaptation for "The Loving Couple" which Freddie Brisson will make as a motion picture. Freddie had had offers for release from every studio.

"I feel I know you," Tanner told me, "because you gave me my start." When I looked bewildered, he said, "My first job was advertising your book, 'The Gay Illiterate.'"

Harry Belafonte has had several meetings with Ed Muhl about starring in "Emperor Jones." Muhl, head of Universal-International, has made the singer a definite offer.

Belafonte was paid $150,000 for "Island in the Sun" by Darryl Zanuck, and 20th will get that back from the songs alone. Belafonte sings them for the first time at the Cocoanut Grove. But U-I, I am told, will have to pay much, much more than $150,000 for Harry.

RECORD BUSINESS

I was up to my neck in the record business Sunday. At luncheon at the Beverly Hills Hotel I met Joe Carlton of RCA-Victor, Hugo Winterhalter, of the same company, Ed Slattery and Mickey Scoop, new heads of Robbins, Feist and Miller, the MGM record company.

Later they came to my house for cocktails and we played Imperial Records' newest album of Fats Domino. I received the first copy and Jimmy McHugh practically wore it out playing his "I'm in the Mood for Love."

Then we had dinner with the Lee Gillettes, the Voyle Gilmores and the Eddie Mc Hargs, of Captial Records, at the Villa Capri. Voyle had high praise for Judy Garland's new album with an "Alone" theme. Gordon Jenkins made the arrangement.

Finally caught up with Mary Lee and Douglas Fairbanks who had tea with me, and it was so good to see them. Mary Lee said she was depressed at dismantling their home, which they've sold. It seems so final. Her mother isn't well, so she's going on ahead of Douglas tomorrow to spend a little more time in the East.

"Just think," she said, "Victoria will have her coming-out party this year, and then she is coming to America to finish her education."

Douglas will get a real annuity with his residuals from his TV program, which was a very successful show.

SURGERY SCHEDULED

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Steve Crane is in St. John hospital for removal of a brain tumor. Saw him with his daughter Cheryl the day before he went to the hospital. She is taller than her mother, Lana Turner.

Pretty Carol Lee Ladd has had several dinner dates with Liam (Bill) O'Brien. She is one of the nicest girls in our town.

Mrs. John Payne is in St. John Hospital for minor surgery.

Mrs. Robert Cummings, who has her fifth child on March 1, tells me the builders are racing to build another room. The Cummings have three girls and one boy, so she's hoping for another son.

Let me tell you a secret. Eddie Fisher had had several big TV offers. He may do a show like the popular Perry Como hour. Love to hear him sing, so I hope he signs.

Boy Reaches Safety as Mom Kills Self

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A 5-year-old boy was alive today because he twice broke away from his mother, who tried in vain, to drown him before drowning herself, police said.

Detective Charles Kutchman of Fayette County said Mrs. Joseph Svincek, 40, took her son Eugene to a three-foot-deep farm pond last night and told him they would "die together."

Kutchman said the youngster told him his mother tossed him into the pond twice but he scrambled to shore each time and finally ran to a neighbor's house and said, "Mother's in the pond and wants to die."

The neighbors found Mrs. Svincek and tried unsuccessfully to revive her.

Kutchman said Mrs. Svincek had been ill a year and recently was a patient in a Pittsburgh hospital. Her husband was at work and their two other children were at home.

Nasser's Goal a Mystery; Actions Contradict Policies

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is still a mystery about Egyptian President Nasser, despite all that's been written about him and all he himself has said: Just where is he taking Egypt?

He has been called an Egyptian nationalist and an anticolonialist. He says he is both. He has also been called a would-be Hitler trying to line up and dominate the Arab world. He denies this.

He would also deny he is a Communist or is leading his country toward communism. Egypt has some restrictions on Communist activity, such as propaganda. But he is getting Egypt deeper in debt to the Communists outside Egypt.

His new laws "Egyptianizing" various foreign businesses in Egypt discourage foreign investments in Egypt and may so change the country's economy that no Western government would give Egypt economic aid or loans. This in turn would make Egypt even more dependent on the Communist world for help.

This picture might seem different if Nasser at the same time were setting up social programs for Egypt's 23 million people, most of them poor.

He keeps them stirred up with hatred for the West. That can keep them distracted for only a while from the main issue of their lives: What are they going to get out of Nasser's regime?

Because of a lack of social programs or any discernibly clear policy for his people — besides waving the Egyptian flag—Nasser looks more like an opportunist playing it by ear than a man with vision or programs.

Nassar has kept the Egyptians moving from excitement to sensation and back again with his tough policy all around, his seizure of the Suez Canal, and the attack on Egypt which stemmed from his conduct.

If he is just an opportunist, always looking for the main chance, he will probably be forced out of the picture either by those around him or by a revolt, perhaps led from the left, by the Egyptian people.

Faculty Wives Club of Waterford Plan Luncheon

The Faculty Wives Club of the Waterford Township school district, will have a luncheon-fashion show, at 1 p.m. Saturday in the home making room at the high school.

Primary object of the get-together, is to help the newer teachers become better acquainted with each other, according to chairman, Mrs. Henry Karwas.

High school principal's wife, Mrs. Thad Carr is this year's president of the two-year old organization, and there are 75 members in the club, that is for faculty wives, only.

The fashion show will be presented by Hilda's Shop, and her models will include 3 professionals, 7 senior high school girls, and 3 members of the Faculty Wives Club.

GM Research Staff Names Area Man to Leading Post

The promotion of John M. Campbell, 1333 Glengarry Rd., Birmingham, to scientific director of the General Motors Research Staff was announced today by Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, vice president in charge of research.

At the same time, the corporation announced the appointment of Arthur F. Underwood to manager of Research Staff activities.

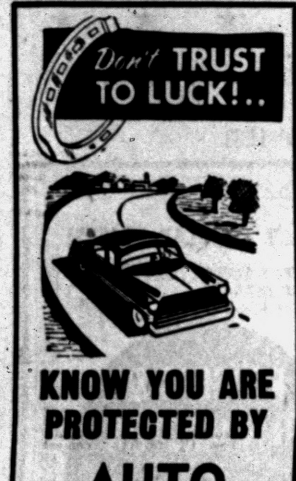

The promotions resulted from the forthcoming (March 1) retirement of Alfred L. Boegehold, 3742 Erie Dr., Orchard Lake, manager of research activities and principal assistant to Dr. Hafstad.

Campbell, who has been technical director since 1954, will now serve as principal assistant to the vice president.

A graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Campbell joined the Research Staff in 1926.

Boegehold, a veteran of 36 years with GM, will continue as a consultant to the staff after his retirement. Widely-known as an authority on metallurgy, he is a former national president of the American Society for Metals. He joined the staff in 1920.

More Top-Level Jobs Than Qualified People

NEW YORK (INS) — The American Management Association reported today that top-level management jobs are more plentiful than ever before in today's expanding industry, but qualified personnel is harder to find.

An AMA survey of industrial recruitment practices showed 15 per cent of 469 companies studied hire few or no executives from outside their own firm and 43 per cent fill only ten per cent of their executive openings that way.

Steels, Aircrafts Pace Market Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and aircrafts paced the stock market to a rise in early dealings today.

Trading was active as pivotal issues advanced fractions to around a point or more.

The market was higher from the start and picked up momentum.

The rallying movement followed four straight sessions of decline climaxed by Monday's break, the sharpest since Oct. 10, 1955, which tumbled market averages below the lows of a year ago.

Wall Street observers said there was no particular news to sprak the upturn but remarked that a buying spell was in the cards since many stocks were at invitingly low prices for traders and investors.

Youngstown went ahead more than 2 while Lukens rose more than a point. General Dynamics and Boeing were ahead a point or so.

As the steels and aircrafts became popular, other gains were made by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas and United Aircraft.

The few losses among key stocks in opening trades were erased as the market advanced.

Kennecott Copper and Anaconda were up a point or so.

Also ahead around a point or so were a variety of stocks including Northern Pacific, Texas Co. and International Nickel.

Smaller gains were posted by Goodyear, American Telephone, Homestake, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric and National Distillers.

Opening blocks included Bethlehem Steel up ⅛ at 42¼ on 4,000 shares, General Motors off ⅛ at 39¼ on 7,500 and Curtiss-Wright up ⅝ at 39½ on 1,500.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and floral offerings during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father. Sincere thanks to Rev. Walter Teerwissen Jr. and the Dudley Moore Funeral Home. Mrs. Robert Cressy & Son

WE WISH TO EXPRESS OUR APpreciation for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy and condolence extended by our friends and neighbors during the illness and death of husband and father, Everett L. Reese. Special thanks to Rev. A. H. Meyer and the Sparks Griffin Funeral Home. Helen H. Reese and family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF VICKI Lynn Cooke who passed away February 13th, 1956.
Sweet little flower of heavenly birth,
She was too fair to bloom on earth.
But we know that she is happy
In our Savior's home above,
Growing fairer as she lingers
In the sunshine of His love.
Sadly missed by Mommy, Daddy, Karen, Mark & Grandparents.

IN MEMORY OF ALBERT L. ASHbaugh who passed away Feb. 13, 1954.
It is lonesome here without you, Gramps.
And sad and weary the way,
Life has not been the same
Since you were called away.
Sadly missd by your children and grandchildren.

Oh, the Little Red Hen!

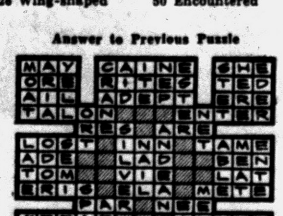

MOSCOW (AP) — Whichever comes first, the chicken or the egg, a lot of them are due in the Russian federation by 1960. The government program calls for production of 300,000 tons of chicken meat and eight and one-half billion eggs annually to that date.

Washington Reporter Objects to Being Called Career Woman

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — TV producer Martha Rountree thinks politics should be renamed.

"We need another word for politicians," she says, "something like 'home protectors,' maybe — because we're all politicians.

Every citizen of the U. S. is in politics right up to the eyebrows — it's our taxes, our groceries, our boys being drafted. We're all politicians but the trouble is some of us don't work at it."

If Miss Rountree had her way, every woman in the U. S. would not only "do her duty as a politician" but love doing it.

This brown-eyed, blonde newswoman sincerely believes:

"Politics is an extension of the home. It's the only way anybody in America can protect her home and children."

OWN METHOD

Her Sunday evening TV show on ABC, "Press Conference," is Miss Rountree's way of protecting her own home. She explained:

"Don't make me out a career woman. I'm a married woman with two children, two dogs, a mother-in-law . . . and a TV show, that's all."

Why then does a woman who's proud of making "the best popovers in Washington, D. C.," devote a great part of her time to her TV work?

"Because freedom of the press is important, because people must have information. It's something I believe — it's part of my life," she replied.

ALL POLITICIANS — Martha Rountree, newswoman and moderator of "Press Conference" on ABC-TV at 8:30 p. m. Sunday, says that "every citizen of the U. S. is in politics right up to the eyebrows." She believes Americans can protect their homes and children only by taking an active role in political affairs.

The TV show literally is part of her life. Not only is her husband, Oliver Presbrey, co-producer of the show, but their social life is part of the show, too.

"Every party we go to may give me an idea, a news tip," Miss Rountree explains. "A public affairs program depends on contacts, friends."

ANOTHER PROGRAM

In spite of the busy schedule she keeps in her office, 16-room home in Washington, apartment in New York or country home in Virginia, the youthful Miss Rountree shows no signs of wear or tear.

She's even planning a new 15-minute TV show, "Martha's Washington," which would be heard five nights a week.

"I love it," she confided, in a South Carolina accent spoken at New York speed, "politics is wonderful. More women ought to take an interest in it, and thank goodness, the voting statistics show they are taking more interest."

Fire Hydrant Explosive

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Firemen received a hasty warning not to hook up to one fire hydrant in nearby Buena Vista Township. It was spewing a mixture of gasoline and water. A leak in the underground storage tank at a nearby garage was responsible.

First-Run TV Movies Cost $9.50 Month

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Phil Hays, 22-year-old theater manager, said today he expects by May 1 to be piping first-run movies into home television sets in Bartlesville for $9.50 a month.

Hays first announced his plans last September. His projected system is believed to be the first in the country.

He said today he is negotiating with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and the Public Service Co. of Oklahoma for transmission lines and equipment.

Hays plans to use regular 35mm. theater film. A lead wire from the main coaxial cable will be attached to the switch for an unused channel on a subscriber's TV set.

He plans three different movies a week.

City Managers to Attend Conference at U. of M.

Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman and Sylvan Lake City Manager Ernest L. Etheir will attend portions of the Michigan Section of the International City Manager's Assn. Conference at the University of Michigan, today through Friday.

Willman is scheduled to lead a panel to discuss retirement and pension systems for city employes.

NO HELP? FOR ARTHRITIS

Mrs. Lucy Wojcik, 541 W. Margaret St., Detroit, was ready to believe this after suffering for over 10 years with arthritis. Now she knows that THERE IS HELP, and is happy to tell everyone that O-Jib-Wa Bitters will bring results.

"From 1945 to 1956, I suffered with arthritis in my fingers and ankles. I was extremely nervous and couldn't sleep nights. My hands were so stiff that I couldn't double up my fists. I can't start to tell you all of the different kinds of medicine and treatments that I've tried. I was told that there was no help for arthritis, and was beginning to believe it. Then I saw an ad for O-JIB-WA BITTERS in my newspaper and was still willing to try anything. In about one week, I could see that this medicine was helping me, so after suffering over 10 years and trying about everything, I finally hit upon a medicine that really worked. I was all better in two months, and the nervousness and constipation was gone too. I have recommended O-JIB-WA to many people, and my father is using it now with equally great results. I hope anyone that suffers from rheumatism or arthritis who reads my story, will get a bottle, and judge for themselves what a great medicine O-JIB-WA BITTERS really is."

Woman Shoots at Men for Collecting Golf Balls

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A warrant charges Mrs. Marion Little with shooting at three Miamians whose quest for golf balls on a golf course clashed with her husband's contract to retrieve balls.

Clifford J. Kight said that when he and two brothers, J. F. and Calvin McDaniel, approached to collect the balls, Mrs. Little fired a rifle. The three men ran. Kight said he had permission from the club to pick up abandoned balls.
