Waterford High Keeps Old Name

The name of Waterford Township High School now will not be changed to that of Thomas Edison High School.

The Board of Education last night voted unanimously to rescind action taken Nov. 19 to change the name, which would have become effective in 1961.

The recommendation to retain the present name was presented by the School Board's names committee, headed by newly elected Mrs. Dorothy Barningham. Another new member of the Board, Duane Lemaux, and

Newberg to Pay $450,000-Plus

Agrees Vendor Profits Be Given to Chrysler; Officers Under Probe

DETROIT (AP)—Board Chairman L. L. Colbert of Chrysler Corp. said today an investigation is continuing into outside business interests of officials of the automobile company.

The probe was disclosed suddenly Thursday by the announcement by the board of directors in New York that William C. Newberg had agreed to pay Chrysler more than $450,000 in profits made by him from interests in companies which sell to Chrysler.

Newberg quit as Chrysler president June 30 after holding the job only 64 days. At that time it was said only that there were differences of opinion on matters of corporate policy.

Varied reports circulated in Detroit regarding the reasons, but both Chrysler and Newberg remained absolutely mum all Thursday's announcement.

Thursday night, when Colbert returned to Detroit, he told newsmen the investigation will be continued by the company's general counsel, the New York law firm of Kelley, Dye, Newhall & Maginnes, along with independent auditors.

KNOWS OF NO ONE

He was asked if other Chrysler officials were involved.

"I know of no one at this time," he said. "Let's not get into that."

Boy Finds $100

"THE RIGHT THING" — Eight-year-old Leroy Pass found a $100 bill on a Pontiac street yesterday. He told his babysitter, Mrs. Thomas A. Perry, 611 E. Mansfield Ave., that the right thing was to take it to the police station to see if they could find the owner. That's what he did. He presented the bill to Police Sgt. Teltor Rogg. Leroy is the son of Mrs. William C. Pass, 742 E. Mansfield Ave. He'll get the money back if its owner can't be found, police promised.

Taft Men Balk at Lodge as VP

Old Guard Republicans Still Hope to Sway Nixon in Choice

CHICAGO (AP)—Conservative Republicans raised echoes of the 1952 Taft-Eisenhower battle today in opposition to the possible choice of Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as the GOP vice presidential candidate.

Lodge, now serving as United Nations ambassador, is reported high up on a brief personal list from which Vice President Richard M. Nixon plans to choose his running mate, provided all goes well and Nixon gets the presidential nomination he expects.

Among the practical politicians gathering here for next week's convention there is no shadow of a doubt that once Nixon has named his man the delegates in the end will accept him. But many think there still is a little left to influence Nixon's judgment.

In this connection, Rep. B. Carroll Reece, Tennessee state chairman, said he has found strong opposition among backers of "stray" charges that were used by President Eisenhower's associates in the 1952 convention maneuvering.

Ralph F. Gates, Indiana national committeeman, said he has been told that the Republican ticket might lose some important midland newspaper support if Lodge is named. He said this was based (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Can Elephant Forget?

By JOE HAAS

CHICAGO—There are things that the Republican elephant would like to forget. They concern some happenings in connection with the 1956 election.

That was the day when it didn't have its 1952 and 1956 magnet. That magnet was like, who in two presidential elections had dragged it in. The elephant will not have that magnet in 1960, hence some gloom.

An old story tells of an elephant in a circus parade who stuck his trunk into the open window of a tailor shop in 1960, hence some gloom.

For Chicago is a convention city. It was such even before Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern and started the fire that almost destroyed the city. Now this great Middle West city whose residents claim will surely become the largest in the world (the 1960 census showed it declined

Paid for Aerial Photos of American Installations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ordered the immediate expulsion of a Soviet diplomat Petr Y. Ezhov on the grounds he was a spy collecting intelligence data, including aerial photographs.

The State Department said that Ezhov, a Soviet embassy third secretary, "flagrantly abused his diplomatic status by engaging in espionage activity." Ezhov paid an American commercial photographer, the department said, more than $1,000 for aerial photographs of American cities.

Informed authorities reported Ezhov carried out some of his intelligence work while Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was in the United States on a good will visit last September.

A second Soviet diplomat, Andrei Vladimir S. Glinka, was involved in the same kind of intelligence activity, the department said.

Glinka's role in setting up the aerial photography apparently came to light after he had already left the embassy to return to Moscow. He was an assistant naval attaché.

The FBI was understood to have closely watched Ezhov's activities for months before it cracked down, and turned its evidence over to the State Department.

Ezhov worked with a photographer whom the State Department refused to identify. The diplomat paid for flying lessons for the photographer and indicated the Soviets might buy him a plane in order to carry out systematic aerial reconnaissance photography, the department said. It added:

"Ezhov also financed trips by this individual in the course of which he took photographs of United States Navy installations and other intelligence targets, later furnishing these photographs to the United States and being paid for them."

The State Department said the aerial photography specifically violated regulations put into effect Jan. 19, 1955. This barred all photography and sketching of anything resembling intelligence targets by Soviet diplomats. The regulations were put into effect because Moscow had slapped similar restrictions on foreigners in Russia.

State Department press officer Lincoln White told newsmen he does not necessarily expect the Russians will retaliate by expelling an American diplomat in Moscow.

The complaint grew out of the shooting down of a U.S. B-26 reconnaissance plane over the Barents Sea by a Soviet jet fighter July 1. The Soviet Union charged that the aircraft was over Soviet waters on an espionage mission.

The Russians are holding two of the plane's six crewmen and are expected to try them as spies. The Russians recovered the body of the plane's pilot, and the other three crewmen are missing.

The United States claims the plane was surveying magnetic lines of force in Arctic waters for mapping and was shot down over international waters. The State Department said it was never closer than 30 miles to the Soviet shores.

Congo Premier 'Likes' Belgium

Reverses His Attitude, Cuts Threat of Russian Military Intervention

By The Associated Press

A pronouncement by Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba today abruptly ended the threat of Soviet intervention in the Congo.

He unexpectedly offered a hand of friendship to Belgium and said there is no longer any need for Soviet military aid.

"We consider the Belgians as our friends," he said.

The Premier expressed thanks to the U. N. Security Council for its renewed demand that Belgian soldiers quit the Congo, although his call for an immediate pullout had been disregarded.

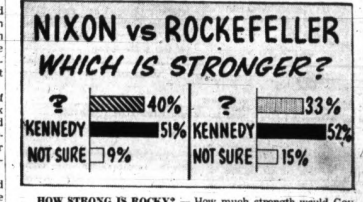

The about-face came in a Leopoldville news conference shortly before Lumumba's scheduled Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor reported today.

Worst Fires in 30 Years Scorch Eastern Forests

Idaho Requests Disaster Status

Timber Blozes Grow as Damage Estimates Hit Millions of Dollars

By the Associated Press
From British Columbia to Mexico, from the Pacific to the Rockies, hundreds of fires destroyed forests, watersheds, and homes today.

Forestry Department officials called the smoldering conflagrations the worst in the West in 30 years. They were the worst ever in many areas.

An exhausted man battled the flames in also states and a Canadian province, urgent calls for help were issued. Response came from as far east as Pennsylvania.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho declared an extreme emergency in his state and asked President Eisenhower to recognize Idaho as a major disaster area.

Regional Forester Floyd Iverson of Ogden, Utah, said, "We think there is a possibility of arson in the Idaho fires and we are investigating." Iverson said the FBI is helping.

Enormous Los Angeles County—the country's largest—declared itself a disaster area, calling the fire outbreak its worst in history.

Flames roared on through other wooded areas of California and Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, Arizona and British Columbia.

FIRES GROWING
With millions of dollars of damage already estimated, the appalling news from most areas was that the fire intensity was increasing steadily.

Flames crept closer to the Hearst San Simeon castle, a multimillion-dollar treasure of art and antiques on the California coast.

In Idaho's Boise National Forest, Supervisor Howard Ahlberg estimated the toll may reach 20,000 acres. Hot, dry, windy weather was forecast today, and 300 men launched an all-out effort to control one of the state's two biggest fires, about 30 miles east of Boise.

A 3,000-acre fire in western Idaho's Payette National Forest, out of control since Tuesday, raged on Wednesday.

The best news from the vicinity came from the Idaho-Oregon border where an enormous blaze was reported controlled late Thursday night after savaging some 30,000 acres of range land.

A 4,000-acre fire on Rattlesnake Mountain crinkled to within a mile of Shoshone National Forest's great timber stands west of Cody, Wyo. Supervisor Ed Pierson of the Bureau of Land Management said at the scene, "Conditions couldn't be worse."

Efforts were hampered by tourists who clogged roads.

Tornado Threat Fizzles

Oklahoma, North Lakes Drubbed by Thunderstorm

By the Associated Press
Thunderstorms drenched parts of Oklahoma and the northern Great Lakes today, but a tornado threat in the lakes region failed to materialize.

Clinton, Okla., was swamped with 3 1/4 inches of rain, and most of southwest Oklahoma had at least an inch.

In the Great Lakes area thunderstorms with gusty winds in the West, but there was some relief. Readings in the northern plains this morning were as much as 15 degrees lower than Thursday's.

The desert Southwest also showed a slight cooling trend, but the Weather Bureau advised that many Western areas could expect another day of temperatures around the 100-degree mark.

The Dakotas, California, Idaho, Utah and Arizona all had readings over 100 degrees Thursday. The Midwest had their first 90 degree temperatures of the summer Thursday, could expect more of the same today.

The only cool weather was in the Northeast.

1958 Memories Prick GOP Elephant

easily have been handled in the perfectly air-conditioned nearby Sports Arena where the convention had been held.

You will not see Chicago making any such mistakes.

GOP WORRIED
But, getting back to the Republicans, in spite of the old time political cockiness, they're the ones who in 1958 are meeting in a spirit of gloom.

They fear the lack of the Eisenhower glorification, and they know that the strongest possible ticket was nominated at Los Angeles. The Democrats are trying to get across to the people that their party no longer has a civil right bugaboo, whether that's true or not.

Of course, every keen political student knows that it is not true. He also knows that civil rights, down to its festering core, will never be settled by any political party.

However, that civil rights plank already is causing most of the head scratching among the carpetbaggers who will build the platform on which the Republicans will stand in the 1960 campaign, and which must be adopted at the convention in Chicago next week.

It now appears that in the most important question of all, foreign affairs, the platform will come pretty close to an endorsement of Eisenhower's plan of handling things, in direct opposition of the "always wrong" plank in the Democratic platform. The main argument will be that it is keeping us out of war.

The Chicago drainage canal that is sapping the water of the Great Lakes and wants to sap it further will be a hot topic right here there it's all happening. All Great Lakes states except Illinois are against it.

"Welcome, Delegates" signs appear on every hand. But that doesn't mean anything. They're worried that way so they can be used for any convention, whether it be that of the gruffers' union, the amalgamated order of boot blacks, or anything else. Some of these signs are so faded, worn and threadbare that they might have been used a thousand times.

While Nixon placards and buttons appear to be in the majority, there are quite a number waving Rockefeller, despite his passive attitude.

One with a baseball flavor says, "Is Cleveland and Detroit they say 'Don't knock the Rock.' Let's say it all over this convention."

Already appearing on the lakefront is a gigantic elephant that swigs its trunk in the same manner that a gigantic donkey in the same location swung its tail during the 1956 Democratic convention.

Although they refuse to admit Republican sentiment is profiting by the experiences of the recent Democratic convention. A very heavy lamper is being placed on any favorite son talk.

PROBABLY FIRST BALLOT
It now is fully expected that the nomination for president will be made on the very first ballot. It all depends on the understanding reached between the Nixon and Rockefeller forces.

The only sure bet is that it will be Dick and Nelson or Nelson and Dick.

As was the case at Los Angeles, much depends on the keynote speaker. It will be Sen. Walter Judd of Minnesota, who is expected to put some pep into the convention. The Los Angeles keynoter did a masterful job.

One never has to go very far into national politics until our own Great Oakland County bobs up. And isn't this true about most everything else besides in politics?

In a political way this time, "Pontiac was there."

When the Republicans were inaugurating their first president, Abraham Lincoln, in 1861, Pontiac was shaking off its village swaddling clothes and becoming a city.

Hence, St. Whitfield, we're celebrating our centennial together. But there's a lot more Pontiac to it.

When Lincoln finally was nominated to make the run in that Republican convention of 1860, (also held in Chicago), he was considered to be somewhat of an unknown. John C. Fremont had been the Republicans' first presidential nominee in 1856, but was defeated.

In the Republican convention of 1860, Michigan's 11 delegates were strong for William H. Seward to head the ticket, and faithfully voted for him on every ballot. When he lost, they claimed he had been "murdered by the politicians."

The Michigan delegation included C. C. Buckland of Pontiac, a local political leader at the time, who was one of the strongest backers of Seward.

The leader of the Michigan delegation was Austin Blair of Jackson, who, when the Seward ticket was swamped, told the delegates that they must swallow their bitterness and rally to the support of Lincoln, which they did.

Charles, which followed in a few weeks, Blair was nominated for governor when Pontiac's Moses Wisner, then holding that office, refused to be a candidate for reelection because he foresaw the

The Day in Birmingham Community House Short of Funds, but Carries On

BIRMINGHAM—Despite the fact that the Birmingham Community House is still $10,000 short of its $25,000 goal for operating funds it will continue operations for a long time to come and have the strongest program in its history this year, said Board of Directors President Eugene J. Barney today.

"The Board feels that the House is needed more at this time and in the years ahead than it has ever been. With the entire area growing at the present rate, the community will require every available resource," he said.

The population of the area has increased 60 per cent in the last 10 years, he said.

"The Birmingham Community House has been the focal point of this area's social, educational, cultural and philanthropic activities for the past 27 years, and we fully intend to continue meeting the needs of the people even more effectively than in the past."

Barney explained that the Community House may have to bypass its long-range planning and depreciation fund and temporarily reduce its maintenance and repair program since the fund drive goal has not been met.

"In the months ahead we intend to make the people of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and other area communities aware of the House's needs and of the need for them—and how much it means simply to have the house available in the area where they live."

"Not only will many organizations and groups continue to meet and produce their own program under our roof, but we'll be inviting the community as a whole to attend and participate in the life of the House."

Kennedy, Harriman Want $$ for Defense

AKRON, Ohio (U-P) — Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., warned him with the weather today and fired a 67 that gave him the early second round lead in the Professional Golfers Assn. Championship with a 36-hole total of 138.

Handsome Jay, brother of former PGA champ Lionel and a member of the U.S. Ryder team, jumped into the chase of Arnold Palmer with a five-birdie surge.

ByANNIS PORT, Mass. (U-P) — Sen. John F. Kennedy and W. Averell Harriman discussed today a proposal to ask Congress to vote an additional two billion dollars for defense spending this year as a move to back up a hard foreign policy stand towards the Soviet Union.

Harriman, former ambassador of New York and longtime ambassador to Moscow, told a news conference in reply to questions that he had been discussing of this.

But he said the details would have to come from Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

of the company, said "I would like it understood that I do not intend to have a stock interest in Chrysler."

Chrysler and Newberg refused to identify any of the suppliers involved. Newberg, through an attorney, issued a statement saying he saw nothing wrong with his dealings, but he refused to say what the dealings were.

"I entered into the questioned relationship with the vendor (supplier), companies after advice of counsel and in the belief that they were in the interest of the corporation and that no question of illegality or impropriety was involved," he declared.

However, the board in its statement said: "The directors believed it to be their responsibility to seek recovery from Mr. Newberg of his profits."

If the Security Council is still in session to sit in on a meeting, we have political independence and now we need economic independence," he said. "We need bread and happiness for our people."

The change in mood of the hounded nationalist, 34, came a few hours after the Soviet Union joined the 18 other members of the Security Council in a unanimous vote for a Ceylonese-Tunisian resolution that called on Belgium to withdraw her forces "speedily" from the new African republic.

The Soviets had dropped an attempt to set a three-day deadline. There was a shift also in the tone of Moscow, which has been hammering away at a line set by Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the Soviets would take "resolute measures" if what Khrushchev called Western aggression continued in the Congo.

Pontiac Man Named to Post at MSUO

Victor M. Lindquist, assistant principal of Pontiac Northern High School, has been appointed director of scholarships and assistant registrar at Michigan State University.

In announcing the appointment today, MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner said the university was "very fortunate" to have obtained a man of Victor Lindquist's abilities for this important post.

Lindquist will assume his new duties at MSUO Aug. 15. His first task will be to acquaint secondary schools in Oakland, Macomb and Lapeer counties with the considerable amount of scholarships and other financial assistance available at MSUO.

In addition to serving as liaison man between MSUO and area high schools, he will review and act on all applications for admission to MSUO.

In commenting on Lindquist's appointment, Philip Proud, assistant superintendent of the Pontiac District, said:

"He is fully equipped for this new job. He has already provided excellent leadership in the past."

Some Midwesterners are opposing the choice of either Lodge or Merton. They contend the election may turn on how the midland states go, and they want one of their own on the ticket with Nixon.

MIGHT BE OPEN CHOICE
Gov. William G. Stratton of Iowa told a news conference Thursday he thinks there would be an open-convention choice of Nixon's running mate. Stratton pushed for a Middle Western candidate for second place.

Among others he named Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Leslie C. Areeda of Illinois. House GOP Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan and Maurice Stans, director of the budget and a Chicagoan.

He served during World War II as a navy pilot from 1942-45. He came to Pontiac Center in 1948 and in ten years there was a teacher of biology, tennis coach, head of

Idle Rich Man Dies; Didn't Outlive Fortune

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Funeral services for Edward Rodman Perry, a millionaire who boasted "I never worked a day in my life," will be held today in Menands, N.Y.

The eccentric heir to his father's stove manufacturing fortune, died Wednesday in a Sarasota rest home at the age of 59.

My father died when I was a young man. He left me a lot of money and I haven't been able to spend it all yet."

Perry's body was cremated in Sarasota Thursday and the ashes flown to Menands for services.

For 'Radio Free Cuba'
MONROE, Wis. (UPI)—Richard G. Harvey Jr., a Republican candidate for Congress, proposed yesterday that the United States set up a "Radio Free Cuba" to beam "the truth of freedom and our way of life to the enslaved people" of Fidel Castro's island republic.

New Friendship Boat Will Leave for Korea

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—A worth about $1,200,000. Included were drugs valued at between $300,000 and $500,000 donated by members of the Georgia Medical Society, two X-ray machines, hospital supplies, canned goods, clothing, cattle, farm equipment, and two small trucks and a jeep.

The cargo, dedicated in ceremonies Thursday, will be accompanied by nine Kentucky members of the Future Farmers of America who will help organize FFA clubs among Korean youth.

National Science Group Appoints U. of M. Prof

Dr. Walter O. Parr, Morgantown, Ky., Presbyterian minister who originated the friendship plan, said of the nine:

"These young men have the courage to meet the challenge. They are going to fight communism with a hoe, with a plow, with a pick."

Parr estimated the cargo is Developing in the Congo:

Red Tinge Evident in Radio Broadcasts

By RICHARD KARSHCHKE

LEOPOLVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Communist influence is showing up in Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congo government. The Red tinge is now evident in broadcasts of the Leopoldville radio station, controlled by the information minister, Anicet Kashamura.

Announcers have begun to quote the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda and the Soviet news agency Tass. Occasionally a long telegram from some Iron Curtain country condemning "the imperialists" will be read. Lumumba himself has a record of close friendship with the Soviet Union.

But there is no Communist movement of any strength among the Congo's 13 million largely illiterate people.

Whatever the trend, a reference by Lumumba to the Suez Canal controversy in 1956 is perhaps significant. Threatening again to call in Soviet soldiers Lumumba said that, following Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal, all capitalist nations of the west sided with Britain and France. Actually U. S. intervention was a major factor in stopping British-French and Israeli attacks on Egypt. The Soviet Union at that time was threatening to send "volunteers" to the scene.

EXPRESS BELIEF

Many sources here express belief that Lumumba is taking a page from President Gamal Abdel Nasser's book and trying to play off the West against the East.

They take the view that the Premier is bluffing in an effort to get maximum aid from the United Nations and the West. Some Ghanians who came here to help put Lumumba's government on its feet are not at all happy about his criticism of the U. N. and his ultimatums regarding the Soviet troops.

One said that if the people of Ghana had known Lumumba's attitude earlier it might have been difficult to recruit soldiers for their well-trained contribution to the U. N. force. Ghana was freed by Britain in 1958.

25 Afro-Asian Nations Ask U.N. Eye Algeria

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Twenty-five Asian-African countries asked Wednesday that the U. N. General Assembly debate again this fall the Algerian rebellion against France. They filed a formal request with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld that the assembly put the question of Algeria on the agenda of its three-month 15th annual session starting Sept. 20. The question has been on the assembly's agenda annually since 1955, the year after the rebellion started.

Water All Around Them, But Not a Drop to Drink

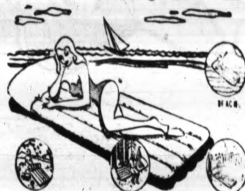

DETROIT LAKES, Minn. (AP)

This city, with 412 lakes within a radius of 25 miles, is running short of water. The Detroit Lakes 100,000-gallon water tank went dry Tuesday night. C. H. Nelson, superintendent of municipal facilities, said a record total of 1,824,000 gallons was pumped from wells Tuesday. Nelson asked residents to stop sprinkling their lawns and to refrain from unnecessary use of water.

Dems Will Begin When Congress Reconvenes

Now that the Democratic nominees have been selected we can expect them to open their 1960 campaign when Congress reconvenes.

This is only natural since both candidates are from the Senate and with majorities in both houses they can easily see to it that Congress dramatizes the issues.

They are in an especially advantageous position with LYNDON JOHNSON, Senate majority leader. Undoubtedly they will try and drive for big new programs which they have already indicated they will support. These include old-age medical care, farm aid, school aid and housing aid.

They are in favor of millions more than the Eisenhower administration for these programs. Just how Eisenhower will counter this action is hard to say.

The cost for any such social welfare programs would be tremendous. The money to pay for such bills can come from only one source, the taxpayers.

However tired we may be of politics after the conventions we might just as well acclimate ourselves to another political hassle in early August when the House and Senate return to work.

The country is moving into a period of action quickly and the campaigns will be going full blast before we know it.

Vests in Suits Predicted in Men's Fashion World

Word from the fashion world is a style note which reports makers of men's suits intend to include vests with more suits than has been the case for the last ten years.

It seems to us like men's clothing is being designed for the benefit of the manufacturers rather than the head of the household. We have also noticed frills and lace coming to the fore of late.

We wonder how warm will be the welcome for the return of this unnecessary garment that most of us have learned to get along without.

There was a time right after the vest vanished as a war time sacrifice when it was sadly missed, especially the pockets. But now the pocket watch with chain to which a knife is attached opposite the watch is a rare item.

Most of us have learned to carry our pens, pencils and spectacle case on our pockets.

The suit makers are hinting more suits will be made and fewer sport jackets, so men may be growing more conservative. At least this is what the men's fashion experts are saying.

Well, we shall see what we shall see in the months ahead.

Might Well Take Notice of Youth Conference

A conference of youth ordinarily does not attract much notice but North Americans might well keep their eyes closely on the first Congress of Latin American Youth opening Tuesday in Cuba.

A correspondent for the Washington Post reports from Havana that this gathering shapes up as one of the most massive anti-American (U.S.) rallies ever held.

Reports say that well over a thousand delegates from all over the hemisphere will attend, some of them representing such organizations as the Communist Youth, and the "Youth of the Revolutionary Left."

This is certainly a red hot group, right down Mr. Castro's alley.

Premier Castro from long personal experience has been quick to recognize the worth of student support. Delegations of students from all countries, including some from the United States, find themselves being wined and dined royally by the Cuban regime.

It's been a known fact that since Castro took office diplomats have complained that students get readier access to Castro's suite than they.

The Cuban revolution has a broad appeal to many frustrated Latin American people. The majority of them are poor, face uncertain economic futures, and have less to lose by their extremism.

This youth gathering most probably is a means by which Castro hopes to export his revolution to other Latin republics. Permanent committees may be formed to carry forward the work of the first Congress in every hemisphere country.

The general idea, of course, would be the overthrow of existing governments and the start of an extensive anti-U.S. campaign throughout all Latin America.

The Man About Town

It Must Be Ready

For the Celebration of Our Centennial in 1961

Death: Nature's way of telling us to slow up.

Oakland County is losing one of its priceless historical edifices through the delay in getting the Winner Home in readiness to receive them. They are being sent to the Michigan Historical Society at Lansing.

Figures recently released by the state society give the names of ten people who during the past fiscal year gave them such Pontiac and Oakland County records.

Talking to some of these people reveals the fact that they would have left them here, if there was a place where they always could be available for public inspection.

With Pontiac's centennial celebration only a few months away, it is quite desirable that this property on Oakland Ave. be ready and wide open to the public.

Now owned by the Oakland County Historical Foundation, it is to be hoped that by next spring this 113 year old mansion will be in readiness for the inspection of the public, throughout its entirety.

It is still in a remarkable state of preservation, and the commission has been doing a good job in making the necessary repairs, but much remains to be done.

No other Michigan city has such an historical shrine, and it should be one of the outstanding exhibits of the centennial.

In the words of an old Pontiac observer, the primary election of Aug. 2 will be the "rip-snortiest" thing of the kind that we've ever held.

David Lawrence Says:

We Live in a Country of Progress

EN ROUTE FROM CALIFORNIA—Going from one convention to the other—in fact, by making the whole journey to the coast and back by train—

there's a chance to see the United States in sharp focus, particularly in some of its most important areas of development.

Certain thoughts inevitably pass through one's mind. How, for instance, can any one man, as president of the United States, really govern this vast country, with its multitudinous problems?

How can even the Congress of 537 members look at the tasks of government from a national viewpoint, and what will the situation be 30 years hence when there may be 1,000 members of Congress and half a billion people in the United States?

Years ago some political scientists predicted that eventually we would have four or five regional governments, with a quasi-president in each, and that the states wouldn't be able to handle the perplexing questions forced on us by a growing population.

But the states and cities aren't lying down on the job. Indeed, one is fascinated by what might be described as a "tale of two cities"—the remarkable growth of Los Angeles and San Francisco over the years and their responsiveness to the people's interest in such a growth period.

This writer first saw the two cities in 1911, when he came out to Los Angeles to cover the famous McNamara trial for the Associated Press. Los Angeles at that time had only about 200,000 people, and the country's population was not much larger. Today the city has about 2½ million, and the country close to 6 million people.

What impresses the visitor is that the people in the metropolitan areas can still see the sun and the sky.

The streets are wide, and the buildings sit back from broad sidewalks. There's plenty of space even inside the big city, where the stores and shops present an attractive appearance.

What a contrast! Metropolitan New York, where one has the feeling of walking among tenements called apartment houses, and tall office buildings?

In Los Angeles they haven't solved the traffic problem by any means, but they have made real progress with it. Permits for construction of new buildings, aren't granted unless parking facilities for employees are provided. If a building taller than usual is de-

We grind the wheat in a coffee mill as fine as possible, says a Connecticut reader, in time for double boiler, cook for 15 or 20 minutes the night before, set on back of stove and next morning place over heat just long enough to heat through.

This plain porridge for breakfast beats all the savest cereals and is much cheaper.

An Iowa editor gave me this recipe for "munchers": Five or six tablespoons of coarsely ground wheat, cupful chopped almonds, one egg, one-half cupful unsifted molasses, Beat egg and molasses together, add the wheat and nuts, and bake on buttered tin in medium oven twenty minutes.

Here's Brady's recipe for WHEAT GEMS, but, good grief, I warn you the recipe calls for seven ingredients, and I cannot be responsible for the version that appears in print, unless it is for pamphlet WHEAT-TO-EAT, which is available free if you provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHEAT GEMS

1. Tablespoonful of old fashioned (unsifted) molasses.

2. Cupful of sweet milk.

3. Two cupfuls finely ground wheat (freshly ground in your own mill).

4. Pinch of salt.

5. Two tablespoonfuls melted butter.

6. One egg thoroughly beaten.

7. Teaspoonful of baking powder.

Mix the first six ingredients and finally stir in the baking powder. Bake in gem tins.

sired, there must be equal open space in the grounds around it. Eight thoroughfares traverse the city and the suburbs. Public transportation takes care of only 30 per cent of the traffic. They go to need more of it, too.

As one moves along the scenic seacoast from Los Angeles to San Francisco, it is interesting to note that some areas are still dry desert land, while others are green with vegetable and fruit plantings.

There still is lots of room in California for people who like the open spaces and who yearn for more sunshine than they get in many other areas.

San Francisco is, of course, a fabulous place. Many of the newsmen and delegates at the Democratic National Convention returned home through San Francisco. It is different from any other city in the world, with all the charm of a European city but with a far Eastern touch, too.

Talking with businessmen at San Francisco—which is still the financial center of the Pacific Coast—one is impressed by their feeling of nearness to points hitherto far distant.

They think nothing of flying by jet to the East Coast for meetings and conferences and getting back home the same day. One man told me of a luncheon held in Honolulu recently when a whole party flew from Los Angeles to Hawaii and back the same day.

Youngsters, or for that matter adults, who live or go on vacation where wheat is grown or stored are missing one of the joys of being alive if they don't learn how good wheat is to chew.

Signed letters not more than one page or two words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not diagnosis, or treatment, will be accepted by Dr. William Brady, if stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

BRADY

A similar letter from a Kansas reader said that her family lived entirely surrounded by wheat fields and depended on wheat for their living, yet never, until she read about it in this column, had the family ever eaten the crude grain. But now—even the children prefer it to "namby-pamby breakfast foods."

Letter to Premier Castro Offering Attorney's Help

My dear Prime Minister Castro: My Institute is not an official governmental organization but is composed of lawyers who study matters not ordinarily studied in law schools.

It is always most difficult to tell an important person that he is wrong, but the peace of the entire world depends upon it. The more friendly you become with the Soviet Union, the more you become estranged from your own people and the Western Hemisphere.

Communists are non-religious people and do not believe in a Supreme Being. Cuban as well as other Americans throughout the Western Hemisphere believe that there is an Almighty Ruler who sees to it that truth and justice eventually prevail. How can you expect to lead your people away from worship of the Holy King, which apparently you are trying to do by supporting communism? Officials of your government desert you because they fear the day of reckoning will come, when people throughout America will descend upon you and crush you. They do not want to be shot as war criminals.

Embrace a church. Make confession of your wrongs and lead your people in prayer. It is not too late to save yourself and your friends. I will glad to come to Cuba and discuss this situation.

Some Prefer Summer Clothes

What's wrong with the gals showing up downtown in shorts and slacks and even bathing suits occasionally?

Those that are a mess probably don't know it and in the meantime those that are cute give a lift to downtown clothes. Remember, summer only lasts about two months and such clothing is in keeping with the times and the temperature.

They wear things like that all year and the same old same old beaches and does the same old become immoral because she moves three miles?

Storybook Romance Ends in Unhappiness

ROME (U) — Elsa Martinelli, dark-eyed Italian movie actress, and her aristocratic husband, count Franco Mancinelli-Scotti, were legally separated Thursday. Their marriage three years ago delighted the hearts of many Italians, because she was born in a poor section of Rome, one of a numerous family which she helped support by working as a model. That led to films and fame and eventually to marriage with the young and handsome count. There is no divorce in Italy. By terms of the legal separation to which the couple agreed in court, their daughter Christiana will remain with her mother until she is 13 years old. She will then live under the care of her father until she is 18.

TOAST MARRIAGE — Actress Vera Miles, 30, and actor Keith Larsen, 34, married Saturday at Las Vegas, Nev., toast his return from a movie location trip as they meet at a Hollywood studio Thursday. After a brief Las Vegas honeymoon, they were separated by the trip, which took Larsen away from Hollywood several days. He stars in the television series "Equinox." Each has been married once before.

Hikers Warned to Avoid Drinking From Streams

LANSING (UPI) — The Health Department has warned hikers, campers and picnickers to avoid drinking from a brook or stream in the woods, no matter how thirsty they may be. Three drops of laundry bleach to a gallon of water, boiling or chlorine or Halazone tablets added to water will make it safe, the Department said.

Even clear, clean-looking water may contain germs which could cause typhoid fever, other intestinal diseases or infectious hepatitis, the Department said.

New Marriage Rumors Bore Wealthy Tina

ANTIBES, France (U) — Mrs. Aristotle Onassis—who prefers to be known as Tina Livanos since her divorce from the Greek shipping magnate — today dismissed with a smile rumors of a new romance.

The rumors have linked her with wealthy Venezuelan Rinaldo Errera, with whom she has been dining, speedboating and dancing recently.

"This story is ridiculous," the Greek beauty told a crowd of newsmen. "I am hardly divorced and already you want to see me remarried. If only one could live quietly."

Insurance Firm Paid $527 Million in 1959

NEW YORK (U) — Death claims totaling $57 million dollars were paid last year by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Making its report, the firm said heart disease ranked first, accounting for 229 millions in claims, and cancer deaths accounted for 106 millions.

There are 185 job classifications in an average hospital.

$7 Million Spanton High

JACKSON (U) — Spanton Electronics Division of Spanton Corp. has received five million dollars in military defense contracts during June. President John J. Smith said the total backlog is at an all-time high of seven million dollars.

During the oil boom days of the 1920's and 1930's the Osage Indians of Oklahoma were the richest nation in the world, per capita.

Tyke May Poison Self Trying to Imitate You

Don't Take Pills in Front of Baby

By The Associated Press
POISONED BABIES — Don't take your medicine or pill when baby is around, cautions Dr. Alfred J. Youmans of Norwalk, Conn. Babies are natural imitators, he writes in the Journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics. Analyzing cases of drug poisoning in children under age 5, he reports two-thirds of their swallowed excessive doses of medicine because they had seen parents taking them. Keeping medicines out of children's reach is a further safeguard.

BULLETS IN THE HEART — Dr. Israel Steinberg of New York City tells of one woman and six men taking up bullets or shell fragments lodged in chambers or soft tissues of their hearts. Four were war veterans, the others had been shot by accident or in anger. X-rays had detected the bullets, but amniocentesis pinpointed their exact location. Amniocentesis involves inserting into a vein, or into a tube to the heart, a chemical which shocks up X-rays. A few patients benefited from surgery, while others didn't.

ULCERS AND ANTACIDS — Antacids are often helpful in treating peptic ulcers. But some contain enough sodium to be hazardous for persons who must keep on low-sodium diets because of heart or kidney trouble, says Miss Betsy Biggar of the university's Nutrition Clinic.

Los Angeles report in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. They suggest careful choice of the antacid in such cases.

A PECK OF DIRT — The idea "You've got to eat a peck of dirt before you die!" can be downright dangerous, says Dr. Sydney S. Gelis, pediatrician of Boston University Medical School. Old paint peeling off window sills, walls or other objects may contain enough lead to cause brain damage. Dirt, plaster, crayons and other materials may cause severe illness, even permanent impairment or death.

PERSONAL DIETS — Weight-reducing diets should be tailored for the individual and not be adopted just because it worked for a friend, advise nutritionists at the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor. The borrowed diet could misfire because of your own general health, personal reasons for dieting, likes or dislikes for particular foods, past history, finances, home problems, or food allergies, says Miss Betsy Biggar of the university's Nutrition Clinic.

VITAMIN PEP FOR ATH-

LETES — Very tentative evidence suggests Vitamin E may help athletes combat fatigue, according to a researcher of Queen's University, Belfast, Ireland. At least, says Wilson Johnston in the medical journal Lancet, a Belfast rowing crew in a three-month experiment with the vitamin had its most successful competitive year in history. Johnston became interested after hearing that Australian athletes had taken the vitamin during the Melbourne Olympic Games in 1956, when they scored well. But he cautions far more comprehensive comparative tests are needed to prove any antiquity property of Vitamin E.

New Finch-Tregoff Trial Starts Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The state launched its case against Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff today—for the second time.

Jury alternates were selected Thursday and the prosecution announced it would go ahead with its opening statement. The 42-year-old surgeon and his 23-year-old sweet-heart are accused of murdering his wife last July.

Their first trial ended in a hung jury.

Ireland Okays Sending 650 Troops to Congo

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Parliament Thursday enacted legislation authorizing the dispatching of 650 Irish troops to the Congo as part of the United Nations force. The main body of the Irish contingent is expected to leave by plane next Wednesday.

Natural Science Building Plans OK'd for WMU

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—Plans for the construction of a $3,578,000 natural science building at Western Michigan University have been approved by the State Building Division according to an announcement made by Dr. Gerald Osborn, acting president.

Construction is scheduled to begin in early 1961. The building will be erected on two fairways of a former-golf course here.

Prize-Winning Novelist Charles Fenton Is Dead

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—A prize-winning novelist and professor of American literature at Duke University here died Thursday in a leap from the 12th floor of a hotel.
The body of Dr. Charles A. Fenton, 41, native of Springfield, Mass., was found in the street outside the Washington Duke Hotel, recently renamed the Jack Tar Hotel, at 5:18 a. m. Coroner Dr. D. R. Perry ruled the death a suicide.

State Dems Want Added Stars for Ballot Flag

LANSING (UPI)—State Elections Director Robert Montgomery says Michigan Democrats have asked to revise their ballot label so the American flag will show 50 instead of 48 stars.

But the request came too late to change the vignette for the Aug. 2 primary ballot. The change can be made in time for the Nov. 8 general election.
Republicans revised their ballot designation earlier, in time for the primary.

Jill Corey Breaks Off Engagement With Envoy

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI)—Popular singer Jill Corey has broken her engagement to Antonio Carlos de Souza Tavares, Brazilian vice consul in Chicago.

Miss Corey, 24, a native of Pittsburgh known for her recordings and television work, arrived in this Northwest Michigan community this week to rehearse for a summer stock appearance in "Sabrina Fair" at the Cherry County Playhouse.

Ah, the Glasses! He Should Have Been Quicker

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Justice of peace L. P. Keith knows now one should never underestimate the power of eyeglasses. Keith was trapped in an automatic elevator at the courthouse when the door wouldn't open at the ground floor. He was there for 30 minutes and was thinking of all kinds of ways to free himself. Then he put on his glasses and noted the emergency button. He pushed it. The doors opened and he stepped outside.

But Keith, 84, has had enough of the electronic contraptions—he climbed the stairs now to his third floor office.

File $1-Million Suit on Detroit Project

DETROIT (UPI)—Two men employed as architect and planner for a $1-million downtown development project have filed suit for $20,000 in fees plus interest they said was due them for their work.

Ulrich Well, architect, and George E. Cohan, who do business as Well-Cohan Associates, Ferndale, charged in a Circuit Court suit they have been unable to collect the fees from Smith-Bisschop & Co., Inc.

Smith-Bisschop announced plans early last year for a 23-acre downtown development to be known as the "Penn-Central Development."

The plans called for 20 buildings, including a hotel, office and apartment building and a merchandise mart.

Well and Cohan said they incurred expenses of $25,000 from February through September 1959 and were able to collect only $1,350 of it from the firm.

Karl H. Smith, president of the firm named in the suit, said the Ferndale men were hired only to do preliminary architectural work and had no contract for other work they submitted.

Convention Demonstrations May Be Making Last Stand

CHICAGO (UPI)—Let there be a din of bells, a parade of standards, disorder in the aisles and general rejoicing.

For the 1960s may see the demise of the demonstration, that old child of America's rowdy political past which long since should have gone the way of dueling at dawn and the torchlight parade.

Indeed, the Republican National Convention starting Monday may be the last at which the demonstration is permitted to rear its many, many screaming heads at a party convoked for the serious purpose of formulating policy and nominating candidates for President and vice president.

In that event many Americans will not be sorry. Whatever else television has done to or for society, it has established that the latter-day demonstration is artificial and phony.

It is a living fossil consisting of bogus bedlam, carefully contrived chaos, cultivated confusion, and deliberate disorder no more spontaneous in conception than royal matchmaking at the turn of the century.

And if some members of the GOP convention arrangements committee had their way, there wouldn't be any demonstrations at this year's Republican meeting.

Jared L. Jones, vice chairman of the arrangements committee, said considerable sentiment has developed to abolish the demonstration here and now.

But it is hard to break with the past, as witness the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. And some people die a little whenever anything becomes extinct, as witness all those who regret the passing of the dodo.

So the Republicans decided not to limit them to 10 minutes each for "serious" contenders for the Presidential and vice presidential nominations. No nonsense, the committee ruled, for "insane favorite son" blowouts.

These people, Jones said, "were very disenchanted with what they saw."

There was a time when the demonstration meant something. It's decline as a political force and its decay into a political farce are fairly modern.

Once it was the delegates who, when their favorite "man who" was put in nomination, got out into the aisles and did the sweaty work of marching and shouting and singing and cheering and throwing an occasional wild punch at a wrong-headed friend.

But the time came when only the young and tough could endure the ordeal of a latter-day demonstration. The middle-aged delegates weren't up to it.

So the hired hands—hired at anything from 50 cents each, for mere marchers to $10 for a shapely majorette—took over, for that, on unhappiness on occasion.

At the 1962 Democratic National Convention, for example, supporters of W. Averell Harriman were distressed to see Harriman demonstrators subsequently holding it up for Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

Harold Stassen Prefers Rocky as GOP Nominee

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Stassen, the Republican who tried to keep Richard M. Nixon off the 1960 Republican ticket, is at it again. Stassen said Thursday he prefers New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1960 GOP Presidential nomination.

"Either Nixon or Rockefeller would be a better choice than Kennedy or Johnson," Stassen said in low-rating the Democratic ticket of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

"But of the four Rockefeller would be best," he added.

Stassen, now a practicing attorney in Philadelphia, is a member of the GOP Pennsylvania delegation. He came to the convention scene early to testify before platform subcommittees.

Red Patrol Boat Halts U.S. Ship

Freighter 'Was Bound for India With Wheat 350 Miles at Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—The skipper of an American freighter reports that an armed Soviet patrol vessel stopped his ship July 7 in the North Pacific about 350 miles from the Soviet Kurile Islands.

The incident, disclosed Thursday, was termed by admiralty lawyers a violation of international law.

The ship involved was the Ocean Eya, a 10,374-ton cargo ship carrying wheat from Portland, Ore., to India.

The ship's captain, J. J. Buskin of the Bronx, described the episode in a letter to his wife Naomi. He said the vessel was a Soviet patrol boat armed with what appeared to be a four-inch gun for 4 and a larger piece aft, with the usual nests of antiaircraft about the bridge and upper decks. It hoisted the K signal flag, meaning the American ship was to stop at once.

"I stopped and he hailed me in fairly good English, asking what ship, what owners, where from and where bound," Buskin wrote. "I answered all his questions as he lay close alongside. I asked them why he stopped me on the high seas. He replied, 'Thank you, you may proceed.'"

Scottsville Gives Station Wagon to Ailing Band

SCOTTVILLE (UPI)—The Quade Muscular Dystrophy Band is the proud owner of a new station wagon automobile — a gift from the people of Scottville.

The band is comprised of Louis Quade, 24, Donald Quade, 17, and Bill Quade, 10. All three brothers have muscular dystrophy.

The Quades, who play a variety of musical instruments and entertain at festivals, fairs and dances, got the new car earlier this week to climax a drive that was going on since last fall to raise $2,500.

Scottville "adopted" the Quades when they performed at the Scottville Harvest Festival last fall. The community wanted them to have a car big enough for them to travel in comfortably with their musical instruments and wheelchairs.

Kellogg Co. Announces $11-Million Midyear Net

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—The Kellogg Co. announced Thursday its net earnings for the first six months of 1960 were up 9 percent over the same period last year.

The breakfast cereal firm's earnings in the first six months this year totaled $11,189,169, or $1.23 a share, compared with $10,237,182 for the same period last year.

Sales for the period totaled $134,403,027, up 8 percent from the $124,513,133 recorded in the first six months of 1959.

Four-fifths of the water the United States uses comes from lakes and streams. Wells provide about 20 percent.

FIRE MAP — Cities underlined on this map are those in the areas hardest hit by raging forest fires. Along the Oregon-Idaho border the biggest blaze covers 30,000 acres near Marsing, Idaho. More than 100 separate fires burn in the the Wallawa-Whitman National Forests. In the Los Angeles area, summer camps were evacuated and the Hearst San Simeon Castle threatened.

Delegates to See GOP Close-Up on TV Screens

CHICAGO (UPI)—Delegates and visitors to the Republican National Convention next week will get a special close-up view of the proceedings on the speakers' rostrum.

Five closed-circuit TV cameras will flash 24 feet by 32 feet pictures on special screens high above the rostrum at the International Amphitheatre.

Theatre Network Television, Inc., which is supervising the operation, said the screens will enable the audience in the Amphitheatre to witness the action as clearly as TV viewers at home.

House plants grow best at 65 degrees temperatures.

GOP Returning to Site of Lincoln Nomination

Dem Influence Questionable

Will GOP Ticket, Plans Change With Opposers' Nomination?—No

By PETER EDSON WASHINGTON (NEA)—Political speculation now turns to whether and how much—if any—the Republican National Convention opening Chicago Monday will be influenced by what went on at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles. There are two big questions:

Will the GOP ticket be changed by nomination of Senators Kennedy and Johnson? Will the Republican platform be changed in any way? The easy answer to both questions is, "No."

Republicans don't change much from one year to the next. Odds are that the GOP will go right on behaving as it always has—conservatively.

NORTH, SOUTH UNHAPPY

But Northern Democrats made unhappy by Lyndon Johnson's nomination and Southern Democrats made unhappy by the ultra-liberal "Rights of Man" platform are casting weary eyes on Chicago with some hope, however vague.

They can hardly expect from the Republicans a civil rights deal more to their liking. Nor will Vice President Nixon, as Republican presidential nominee, offer the South any deals on equal rights for all.

But any concession to states' rights, less big government and more local autonomy, which President Eisenhower has consistently urged, will be welcomed by conservatives.

The Republican platform has to defend the Eisenhower record. But the Democratic platform is a completely positive and aggressive program.

The only way the GOP can counter the Democratic attack is to blast it as socialism—as they have done for 30 years—or to incorporate some of the new ideas which Nelson Rockefeller has been promoting for economic growth, social welfare, national defense, and foreign policy.

Many disgruntled Democrats and maybe the few Republicans would like to see Rockefeller replace Nixon at the head of the ticket.

STRENGTHEN TICKET

Perhaps a majority of the Republicans would like to see Rockefeller made vice presidential candidate—to strengthen the Nixon ticket. The threat of the new Democratic ticket might help promote such changes.

New York union labor gave Rockefeller a big vote in '58, deserting even their old friend Gov. Averell Harriman to do so. Now, after getting a 1960 Democratic platform which they consider nearly perfect, but a vice presidential candidate they have consistently opposed, they feel let down.

This is why they think it would be smart for Republicans to nominate Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell for vice president. It may, however, be a mistake or a brilliant political move.

It may take from now to November to determine whether Kennedy's selection of Johnson as his running mate was a mistake or a brilliant political move.

The opportunity this offers the Republicans at Chicago is to capitalize on what happened at Los Angeles and draw to their support all the dissenters and independents who may hold the balance of power in the coming election.

They'll Play Major Roles at Convention

The Little Chicago Fire Lodge and Morton Lead GOP Veep Candidates

Woman Tackles Seat of Trouble

CHICAGO, July 15 (U)—"Clear the aisle."

That plea to get out of the walking lanes and sit down was a familiar sound effect at the Democratic nominating sessions in Los Angeles.

But it won't be heard so often at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in the opinion of one of the top planners of the big GOP show.

Miss Josephine Good, executive director of the Republican convention, phrased it this way at a news conference:

"I don't think we'll have the problems they (the Democrats) had in keeping order. It isn't so big a hall and the people can't wander around so much."

In short, she looks for a more compact, more orderly convention with better acoustics and transportation and more hotel space.

Miss Good, 42 and a native of Denver, Colo., is a 110-pound woman who wears her blonde hair pulled straight back in the best lady-who-gets-things-done style.

Her associates say she is the first woman to fill such a job at a national major party convention. She was an assistant to the director at the 1956 convention.

Miss Good said the live audience at the Democratic convention in the sports arena "seemed so remote from the speaker."

"I'm glad," she added, "that we'll be a little more crowded."

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has moved into the favorite's role as Richard M. Nixon's running mate on the 1960 Republican ticket.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who has said he is available for the job, has been knocked out of contention and consideration for the No. 2 spot.

Mitchell's chances were washed out when the Democrats topped their ticket last week with Sen. John F. Kennedy who, like Mitchell, is a Roman Catholic.

Mitchell himself is understood to have abandoned all hope.

Meanwhile, Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, an Eisenhower Democrat from Texas, emerged as a dark horse possibility for the GOP vice presidential spot.

An aide said in Washington that Anderson has not been sounded out by Nixon and is not interested in the job. Nonetheless, sources close to the Nixon camp bracketed Anderson with Lodge and two others—Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky and Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton—as the leading possibilities for second place on a Nixon ticket.

Lodge and Morton are rated the top choices, in that order.

LODGE BEST KNOWN

Lodge, 58, is the best known name on the list of four top possibilities. The fact that he lost his Senate seat in 1952 to Kennedy was not considered a political liability by those backing the handsome Bostonian for the vice presidential nomination. They feel that, in a time of international crisis, he has enhanced his public standing by his conduct as U.S. representative to the United Nations.

Next behind Lodge as the favorite for the No. 2 spot is Morton, who comes from a politically important border state—Kentucky. Morton, who will be 53 next month, served three terms in the House of Representatives, then was assistant secretary of state for three years before he was elected to the Senate in 1956. He also is Republican national chairman.

Nixon forces are taking Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York at his word that he is "positively and absolutely" not interested in being Nixon's running mate.

Mitchell, 59, had been considered a strong possibility for the GOP vice presidential spot. A native of New Jersey, he would have fit the geographical need on a ticket headed by Nixon, a Californian. He likely also would have rated the strongest labor support among the GOP hopefuls. But, ironically, his chances were dealt a staggering blow by Democrats when they selected Kennedy as their standard bearer.

Political realists said that for the Republicans to put a Catholic on the national ticket to offset Kennedy might be construed as such an out-and-out grab for the Catholic vote as to offend many voting groups, especially Catholics. One source said such a move would be "just too cynical."

While Mitchell's hopes evaporated, Anderson's chances got an extra boost. Just turned 50, Anderson is considered one of the "bright young men" of the administration. A resident of Greenwich, Conn., he is like Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson—a Texan.

Anderson has been one of the top administrators during the Eisenhower years in Washington—first as a member of the National Manpower Commission, then as civilian aide to the Army secretary, Navy secretary, deputy defense secretary and, since July 29, 1957, Treasury secretary.

Seaton, a Nebraskan, has been a charter member of the Eisenhower administration—first as assistant defense secretary, then moving into the White House as administrative assistant to the Army secretary, then to the President before being named interior secretary May 28, 1956. He will be 49 Dec. 11.

Case Likes Rockefeller Platform Suggestions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Clifford P. Case, (R-N.J.), a leader of the Republican liberal wing, says New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has presented the GOP platform committee "a dynamic yet realistic program of goals."

Rockefeller in Chicago urged plans calling for increased defense spending and expanded welfare programs.

Nixon's Shoo-In Spot Unites Party

CHICAGO (UPI)—One hundred years ago, the infant Republican Party held its second national convention in this city, and after three acrimonious ballots, nominated a lanky lawyer named Abraham Lincoln for the presidency.

Monday, the Republicans will return to Chicago for their 27th convention.

This time there will be harmony all over the place, and it likely will take just one ballot for them to nominate Richard M. Nixon to oppose Sen. John F. Kennedy in November.

But there have been some discordant sounds from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York at the Republican Platform Committee hearings this week.

The convention itself will be held in the International Amphitheater at the Chicago stockyards.

Chicago, an old hand at conventions (22 since 1860) was chosen as the convention site because this is the centennial year of Lincoln's nomination here.

Nixon has no major challenges for the nomination, although Rockefeller stands ready to challenge the Republican record as written by President Eisenhower's administration.

None can say when the name Richard M. Nixon became fighting words.

But fighting words they are among Democrats generally and especially among the left wing of American politics.

CONTROVERSIAL

This mild-mannered young Quaker with a quick, shy smile became in the span of a few years the most controversial figure in public life. It will be 14 years next November since Nixon first was elected to the House of Representatives. It will be 10 years in November since he was elected to the Senate.

It will be eight years in that month since he was elected vice president on the Republican ticket headed by World War II hero Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon came out of the war a lieutenant commander. He's been called a young man in a hurry, and worse. You almost could say that Nixon has put to severe test a statement by an earlier vice president: That was Indiana's Tom Marshall, 1913-21.

"No one," said Marshall, "would ever take the trouble to shoot a vice president."

The latest of enemies Nixon makes doesn't shoot people, however strong the urge.

Speaker Sam Rayburn gets red faced like a lobster at the mention of Nixon's name and, often, is unable to find words adequate to his feelings.

Former President Truman once balked at revisiting the Senate chamber until assured that the vice president was elsewhere. Truman refuses, also, to rostar anywhere with President Eisenhower.

ANTI-NIXON SENTIMENT

But it is Nixon for whom the political opposition reserve their best anger. There's some anti-Nixon sentiment in the Republican Party, but not much.

Not a single vote was cast in 1956 against Nixon's renomination for vice president. Those who disbelieve Nixon assert with great confidence that the independent voters don't like him either.

Who, what and where these independent voters are and who is qualified to speak for them is a matter of some debate. The 1956 election should illuminate such matters.

Rockefeller appeared before the Platform Committee this week to fire another volley.

He began firing six weeks ago when he published a manifesto, calling on Nixon to speak on national issues and laying out an indictment of the Eisenhower administration.

Since his ideas amount to a critique of the administration, the GOP administration now in office, Rockefeller has little chance of persuading the winning Monday and is charting Republican Convention to embrace his campaign plans accordingly.

Nixon Mom Quiet, Dear, Unassuming

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Should Vice President Nixon become president of the United States, his Quaker mother will undoubtedly earn a niche in history alongside two other unassuming women who took their son's successes for granted.

Former President Truman's spunky mother, who continued to fly the Confederate flag for years after Gen. Robert E. Lee's surrender at Appomattox, is best remembered by the current political generation for two memorable utterances.

Seemingly unimpressed by her son's sudden elevation to the presidency, she phoned "Harry always could plow the straightest row in the county."

On her first airplane ride to visit him, she took a look at photographers crowding the Washington airport and muttered "Fiddlesticks. If I'd known that I wouldn't have come."

WHICH SON?

The devoutly religious woman who reared five Eisenhower sons to become leaders, educators and the best known Army general of our times won a firm footnote in history before one of her offspring reached the presidency.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had just led Allied troops to victory in Europe when a newsman called on his mother and exclaimed: "Aren't you proud of your son?" To this, Mrs. Eisenhower replied simply: "Which son?"

Bela Kornitzer is the author of a recent Nixon biography, but the real heroine of the book is the vice president's mother, Hannah Milbous Nixon.

The gentle woman whom Kornitzer repeatedly interviewed during the two years that he was gathering material for "The Real Nixon" obviously tried to keep herself in the background, but failed.

She dominates the book by the simplicity of her statements and the unquestioning quality of her faith.

The author quotes Rev. Harold Walker of First Friends Church in Whittier as saying:

"Hannah Nixon is a Quaker saint—patient, loving, quiet, unassuming, understanding. She has given everything of herself to her children and to many others as well. I have never heard her complain."

"I have never heard her criticize anyone. Her life has been hard. She has not only had her work in her home and her grocery store, but she has had the psychological and emotional strain of exceptional family problems. Still, she has been able to top deep spiritual resources . . . to enable her to carry on through every adverse circumstance."

GOP Schedule

CHICAGO (UPI)—Here is the program for the 27th National Republican Convention which opens Monday, July 25 (all Pontiac times):

MONDAY, JULY 25

10 a.m.—Organizational session.

7:30 p.m.—Address by Mrs. Clare B. Williams, assistant chairman, Republican National Committee; Sen. Thurston B. Morton, chairman, Republican National Committee; Cecil H. Underwood, temporary convention chairman, and Rep. Walter H. Judd, keynote speaker.

TUESDAY, JULY 26

7:30 a.m.—Reports by credentials, rules and permanent organization committees.

Address by President Eisenhower.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 27

7:30 p.m.—Adoption of platform. Nominating speeches for president. Voting for presidential nominee.

THURSDAY, JULY 28

7:30 p.m.—Nominating speeches for vice president. Voting for vice presidential nominee. Acceptance speeches by presidential and vice presidential nominees.

PART OF THE SHOW — Promotions such as this, connected with most campaigns for top national office, are only a small part of the effort to win a Republican draft for New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. The source of huge sums being spent in Rockefeller's behalf is top secret.

But not a penny of it came from the candidate or his family, spokesmen say. They claim general contributions provided the funds. Oh, yes, the girls — they're Jean Sanders, left, and Ginger Lorr, and they're in Chicago.

Big Families Style at Political Meets

CHICAGO (UPI)—Big families and their wives. They are in style at political conventions. And from a presidential candidate's point of view, the bigger the better.

Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy set the pace. He had his mother, and so many sisters, brothers, in-laws, nieces and nephews at the Los Angeles Convention that reporters lost count.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller cannot match Kennedy in this department but they are going to try.

WILL ESCORT WIFE. Nixon will have his photogenic, blonde-haired wife Pat along when he pulls into town for the GOP Convention Monday morning.

They are expected to be met by two excited daughters, Tricia, 14 and Julie, 12 who will be accompanied by Mrs. Hannah Milhouse Nixon of Whittier, Calif., the vice president's mother.

This will be the Nixon girls' first political convention. They can't wait. They have spent the past few weeks at a summer camp in California. Nixon aides said they are expected to arrive in Chicago with their grandmother Sunday evening or early Monday.

Also in the Nixon entourage will be the vice president's two brothers back.

Poetry Almost as Bad as Parkers' Argument

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A frustrated citizen who tried to deposit five pennies in a parking meter that takes only nickels included this verse with a dollar fine: "Your machine, I think, is fickle. Don't five pennies make a nickel? At any rate I'm out of luck. You win, I lose, here's your buck."

First Quarter Births Decline in Michigan

LANSING (UPI) — Provisional figures released by the State Health Department show 1,403 fewer births in the first quarter of 1960 than during the corresponding period a year ago.

There were 42,463 births this year compared with 43,866 in the first quarter of 1959, the department said.

Births have declined each year since a record 208,488 births in 1957, the department said.

Worldwide Churchmen Work on Plans for Aid

BERLIN (AP) — Churchmen from 30 countries began work Wednesday night on a blueprint for a worldwide program of church aid to the needy. The 140 delegates, missionaries, relief workers and other experts of the World Council of Churches will spend a week drawing up plans to help refugees and combat hunger.

Car Production Up This Week

Slight Increase to Still Lag Behind 1959 Pace —Automotive News

DETROIT (AP)—Automotive news says passenger car production will increase slightly this week from last week but still will run behind the pace of a year ago.

The trade paper estimated production at 215,500 cars compared with 105,171 last week. In the earlier week of 1959 production totaled 122,446 cars.

Falcon and Comet went back into production this week after a strike and boosted compact assemblies to 22,530 units compared with only 21,404 a week ago.

Truck production was estimated at 21,072 units compared with 20,229 last week and 25,175 a year ago.

Canadian factories will turn out 8,983 cars and 1,440 trucks against 6,528 cars and 1,410 trucks last week. A year ago this week 6,840 vehicles were built in Canada.

Congo Neighbor Scene of Strife

Tribes Battle Among Selves Over Future of Ruanda Urundi

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Reports from tightly censored Ruanda Urundi say fierce intertribal fighting has broken out there between Ruanda peoples who want a republic—and later to join the Congo—and Urundi who want a separate monarchy. The region adjoining the Congo to the east is now a Belgian trust territory. Messages from Belgian civilians say they are awaiting Belgian soldiers before leaving for Uganda and Tanganyika.

One company of Belgian soldiers has been diverted to Ruanda Urundi from the Congo and two companies are being flown from Belgium, reports said.

They add that Ruanda Urundi now is held like a series of strongholds, with soldiers guarding the main centers but with chaos reigning in the countryside where contending tribal factions grapple for supremacy.

A typhoid epidemic has broken out at Kigali concentration camp, where the administration has increased 10,000 tribesmen involved in the recent troubles between the tall Watutsi tribesmen and their former slaves, the Bahutus.

To Build Phenol Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—Dow Chemical Co. of Midland, Mich., has awarded Canadian Bechtel Ltd. the contract for construction of a phenol plant at Tibury Island, near Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada. Ground will be broken soon and production is expected to start by the middle of next year. Phenol is a chemical used in the manufacture of a variety of products.

Against Criminal Label for Artificial Insemination

LONDON (AP)—A government-appointed committee Thursday said society is better off without artificial insemination but the practice should not be declared criminal or be regulated by law.

The committee of seven, headed by the Earl of Feversham, reported after almost two years of de-

Tree Disease Could Kill Windsor's Elms

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—Parks and Recreation Commissioner Harry Brumton has warned that Dutch Elm disease threatens to virtually wipe out all of Windsor's elm trees.

Brumton told a Commission meeting that he would ask the City Council for three spraying machines costing $5,000 to battle the fungus which is spread by the European Elm Bark Beetle.

He told the Commission fighting the spread of the disease was "like battling your head against a wall" with the equipment his department has available at this time.

The committee said it had corresponded particularly with doctors in the United States, where it said artificial insemination "appears to be on a larger scale than elsewhere in the world, even taking into account the population figures."

The committee said it was generally opposed to parents telling a child it was born by artificial insemination.

It proposed that artificial insemination by donor without the husband's consent be made a new ground for divorce or judicial separation. The group opposed making such a child legitimate, for this would give "a significant degree of official encouragement."

"Succession through blood descent is an important element of family life and as such is the basis of our society," the committee said.

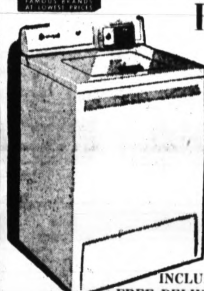

"On it depends the peerage and other titles of honor, and the monarchy itself."

Grand Rapids Allotted $8,846,000 City Budget
GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—An $8,846,000 city budget has been approved by the Grand Rapids City Commission on a vote of 6 to 1, ending a two-month struggle to set 1960-61 projected spending.

The new budget is $367,000 higher than the 1959-60 budget, and raises the mill rate from 9.14 to 10 mills.

BROTHERS THREE — These are happy days for the Kennedy boys. They are planning their strategy to put big brother Jack in the White House. Bob, center, campaign manager, and Ted, right, are both giving the drive all their time. They are now conferring at the family summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

3 of 5 Companies Say Profits Better in '60

Gains Nose Out Drops in 1st Quarter

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Earnings reports of American corporations are blowing hot and cold on the stock market these days and also on the confidence of businessmen and consumers.

Record profits for the first half of 1960 jolted declines. Industries are sharply divided as to the upside and the downside. And within industries some giants show losses while their nearest competitors report gains over the first half of their previous fiscal year.

A sizable number of companies report record sales but lower net income after taxes, largely because of rising costs of doing business.

But in the first rush of half-year earnings three out of five companies are reporting a better profit year so far than last. Cash dividends for the first six months of 1960 were 65 per cent higher than a year ago, the Department of Commerce reports.

Most of the declines in first-half profits are traceable to poor showings in the April-June quarter. For the first three months of the year Department of Commerce estimates put corporate earnings after taxes running at an annual rate of 25 billion dollars, 10 per cent higher than the previous year.

When all reports for the entire first half are in, earnings are expected to be running close to what they were in the previous year, with very little percentage gain or loss looked for.

Some industries are doing very well. The electrical equipment makers so far are running 2 per cent ahead of last year, despite a drop reported by General Electric, the largest. This was offset by increased earnings by the second largest, Westinghouse.

Food companies are reporting increases this year, the meat packers showing up strong, for one. Textile and tobacco companies indicate earnings running ahead of a year ago, and so do makers of TV and radio sets.

Such firms as International Business Machine and American Machine & Foundry report record earnings this year to swell the total of those on the bright side.

U.S. Fashion Designers Letting the Fur Fly for Fall

NEW YORK (UPI)—This fall, it's the pelted look in fashion.

The use of furs for lining, for trim and for the whole garment abounds through the new collections. And where the use of the real skin is impractical, the fakes take over.

Many furs are handled like fabric.

Sometimes the whole costume is of fur, and it's a rare better dress firm on Seventh avenue, the city's garment district, without at least one all black broad-tail costume in its collection.

Other firms play up the "casual but elegant" look when for instance white ermine is used for the canisole bodice of a full-skirted broad-tail evening dress.

DYED COCOA BEIGE

Lula Esteves, one of eight designers who showed fall collections yesterday to reporters in town for the couture group's semiannual press week, used broadtail lavishly, but dyed it a cocoa beige.

Esteves planted one white mink pocket on an at-home costume of jet velvet.

The designer produced more than his usual quota of dangerously low necklines, and also came up with the bare shoulder look for fall—only one shoulder covered in a group of evening dresses.

His "wing" neckline consisted of two enormous stiffened points of fabric shooting skyward at the shoulders, while the back of the dress was completely bare. Fur and fabric merged also at Originala, a firm making coats only.

A full coat of vicuña was trimmed with a cape collar and tuxedo front of a yellow-red fox called golden glory. Fabric news: A chinchilla fleece with a pile thick enough to give it the texture of the fur for which it was named.

The full coat dominated at Originala, but there were several stem-straight silhouettes.

The Samuel Winston collection ranged from simple daytime dress to ball gowns sequined from collarbone to floor.

4 JACKET LENGTHS

A theater suit in black broadtail, with black satin vestee, was priced to retail for about $800.

Winston's designer Roxane showed four jacket lengths on suit and dress-jacket costumes.

These were the rounded bolero, the bulky waist-length jacket, the straight fingertip length and the seven-eighths which just about turned a jacket into a coat.

Several coat dresses followed the fitted, "princess" silhouette.

Designer Anne Klein for Junior Sophisticates also let the fur fly—although she didn't have it dripping from every collar as some designers do.

She did several ponchos in black muskrat and a Chesterfield (tailored, single breasted coat with concealed buttons) in Jaguar, one of the several spotted furs the American designers love for fall.

Two of Miss Klein's trademarks—turtle neck sweaters or gilets, and capes—showed repeatedly. The turtle necks, usually white, were paired with wintry grays and browns.

The capes, some reversible, were shown with turtle neck sweaters and matching skirts, or with dresses matching the linings.

ALSO NOTEWORTHY

Highlights of other collections shown yesterday by members of the New York couture group:

PATTULLO-JO COPOLAND—The designer, Jo Copeland, bypassed the waistline with the comment that "anything extremely fitted seems today to border on the vulgar."

In her hands, the lowering of the waistline was marked by belt, sash or simply a bow.

Costume jackets ranged from bolero to the hip-bone length which the designer called flatterer to all figures.

NAT KAPLAN—This firm liked the long-torso look and created it with elongated overbushes resembling tunics, and with box-pleated skirts stitched smooth over the hipbone.

Designer Sylvia Kaplan combined fabrics for unusual effect—gray flannel with white satin for late day was one example.

HARRY FRECHET—Fur throughout this collection, with suit collars in opossum, beaver or leopard.

One coat came with a double standup collar of nutria.

Other collars, flat in shape, were of the long-hairs, fox or lynx.

DAVID E. GOTTLIEB-GOTHE—Designer Gottlieb apparently expects every woman to attend at least one ball in the coming season.

Full-length evening gowns came with sweeping skirts, some with slight trains.

Another evening silhouette featured cling all the way to the floor with the severest broken by a tunic pouf at the back.

The woman who cared to dance in one of these skinny numbers had a "to-the-knee slit" at the back going for her.

A Y shaped line of buttons details the jacket and skirt of a reseda green wool dress in the Nat Kaplan collection. Beneath the jacket, the dress has a V neckline and cap sleeves. Buttons are covered with matching fabric.

Looped nutria forms a scarf for Jo Copeland's brass-colored soft wool dress and jacket. The fur forms a black collar band, lying through the front of the jacket. Design reflects the wide use of fur in the fall fashion showings.

A wide flared skirt for a wheat-colored tweed day dress is designed by Anne Klein for the Junior Sophisticate collection. Neckline, tie sash and slit pockets are detailed in triple stitching.

Don't Tee Off, Abby Says

Many Would Love Husband Whose Only Vice Was Golf

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There are many jokes about "golf widows" and, believe me, they're not funny. My husband is sweet, generous and loving, but he spends every spare minute on the golf course. Could you give me a cure? Or maybe some other golf widows have some suggestions. Don't tell me to go with him because I have children and a house to take care of.

Please print this because one of the few things my husband does when he comes home from playing golf is read the paper.

DEAR GOLF WIDOW: When you consider how many other traps men have fallen into during their "spare moments," a sand trap isn't so bad. Quitteefling. Lots of women would love a husband whose only vice was chasing a little white ball.

DEAR ABBY: You will have to answer me in the paper because I have no address. You see, I ran away from home when my mother whipped me with the iron cord because I wore her nylons. I am 15 and can't get along with my mother. I love her but we can't stay on good terms for ten minutes. Please tell me where I can get work for my keep without the police finding me and taking me home.

DEAR HOMELESS: Go home! If the police find you before you start for home you might be booked as a "run-away" and much unpleasantness and humiliation could follow. All mothers blow up occasionally when provoked. I am sure your mother loves you. Too call her and tell her where you are.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my late thirties. I have a very good job and enough income so that I don't have to worry, but I get homesick at night. For the past three months I have been seeing a man who works where I do. I am very fond of him. He was divorced and has to pay so much out in alimony he has 4 children that he never has any money to take me out. So all we do is sit around my apartment. I enjoy his company, but I'm afraid it's getting serious and he will ask me to marry him. I am worried about the money part. I don't want to work all my life, but if I ever had to quit my job, we could never live on what he makes. Do you think my pay check he is after? Should I call it quits before it's too late?

WONDERING DEAR WONDERING: Stop wondering. If you loved this man you'd be trying to figure out some way to make a go of it. A woman doesn't mind working like a horse all day if she can come home to a man she really loves. Your friend offers you only temporary relief from boredom, but it takes more than that to make a successful marriage. Widen your horizons.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MORLEY: When a man plays poker, the only one who is SURE to "clean up" is the host's wife.

What's your problem? Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Mrs. Orlo Mason was accompanied for a vocal duet by Mrs. William Carls and Mrs. Bates.

Church Brunch

Members of November Group of First Presbyterian Church and their children met for a brunch Wednesday at the Woodbine drive home of Mrs. Robert Newell.

Preparations for the Sunday afternoon Smorgasbord of the Oakland County Federation of Democratic Women get under way in the kitchen of Mrs. Edwin Adler, left, of Silverhill drive. Others working on the "all you can eat" affair are Mrs. Robert Chapin of Drayton Plains and Mrs. Alvin Rappaport of Birmingham. The event is set for Waterford's C&I Building.

Women Prepare Fete

Dems to Smorgasbord

Members of the Oakland County Federation of Democratic Women will sponsor their first Annual Smorgasbord from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday at Waterford C&I Building.

Federation members are preparing food for the public information dress affair.

General chairman Mrs. Frank Sierawski of Ferndale is being assisted by Mrs. Harold Schultz of Bloomfield Hills. Committee chairmen include Mrs. Robert Chapin of Drayton Plains and Mrs. Seymour Desvieux of Royal Oak, cohostesses; Mrs. Willis Brewer of Sylvan Lake and Mrs. Robert P. Scott of Drayton Plains, tickets; Mrs. Zigmund Niparko of Hazel Park and Mrs. George Fulkerson of Birmingham, decorations.

Others are Mrs. James Clarkson of Southfield and Mrs. John Kronenberg of Royal Oak, gifts; Mrs. Frank Haisena of Kevgo Harbor and Mrs. Pauline Mott of Royal Oak, telephone; and Mrs. Robert P. Scott, publicity.

Mrs. Scott of Monroe street, Drayton Plains, may be contacted for further information.

Refusing Wasn't Impolite

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my husband and I went to a restaurant to have our Sunday dinner. After we were seated, my husband noticed a man with whom he does business, and his wife, seated across the room. He nodded to them. After we gave our order to the waitress, my husband decided to go over and speak to this man. I remained at the table.

I had never met these people and did not think a public dining room was the proper place to do so. I understood the wife was quite annoyed that I did not go over to meet her and thinks I am a snob. In fact, their business relations have become strained because of this incident.

I certainly see no reason for her taking this attitude, and would greatly appreciate your opinion on this.

Answer: You were quite right in remaining at the table, and the wife has no reason to be angry for being annoyed, or thinking you a snob.

Dear Mrs. Post: It is impolite to knut after luncheon in my own house when having a few friends or relatives in?

Answer: If you are having a real lunch party, you ought not to knut. However, whenever people come in to see you for a short time, no matter how well you know them or how often they come, you ought to put your knitting aside.

On the other hand, when friends or relatives come in to sit for a long time, it would not be considered rude to knut unless your knitting distracts your attention.

Dear Mrs. Post: Can you tell me whether on a streamlined coach train, women are supposed to remain for the night in their traveling clothes, or is it permissible and customary for one to change into a house coat or other suitable lounging robe?

Answer: Women should remain in their traveling clothes, removing their high heeled shoes if they like and loosening a collar that is tight.

Every Diet Should Have It

Milk Is the Best Food

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am almost 14 years old. I always have believed that there is no such thing as a perfect food but I have heard that milk comes closest to being the perfect one. In the neighborhood I live in there are seven girls. Only two of us drink milk. The other five girls hate milk and refuse to drink it. The girls who do not drink it are taller, fatter and have much better figures than the two of us who do. I am very thin and have no figure whatsoever."

"I have asked about 20 girls if they drink milk. All those who do not drink it have beautiful figures and are pretty girls, while the ones who do drink it are skinny."

"Now I would stop drinking milk on the spot except for one minor situation. All the girls who have nice figures and don't drink milk have bad teeth, but the girls who do drink milk and have no figures have good teeth. It would seem I must choose good teeth or a good figure. Do you think this is just coincidence?"

A. I'd keep my teeth and my figure, too. It is true that there is no perfect food but that milk comes closer to it than any other. Therefore, it is a very valuable item in the diet.

While it is possible to obtain all of the essentials of a good diet without milk, few folks are well enough informed about nutrients or careful enough about it to plan a really fine diet without milk. It is a wonderful safeguard for health and a pretty complexion and a good figure. Milk is also especially helpful when you need to gain weight.

That was an interesting little survey you made but the results were just coincidence. There may be one legitimate factor in the evidence your survey brought to light. Sometimes people who like milk drink so much of it that they neglect other foods. The diet should be well balanced.

Q. "Please help me! I need exercises to improve round shoulders."

A. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, crossing them in front of the body as they move up, reaching for the ceiling, and pulling back as you lower them downward. Lift the chin slightly and do not allow the head to protrude forward as you bring the arms back to place. Continue. If you would like to have my leaflet "Round Shoulders — Flat But — Reverse!" sent a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with your request to Josephine Press.

Sharon Lee Carroll to Wed in the Fall

Fall vows are planned by Sharon Lee Carroll and Charles Gordon Turner, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Monroe of Neome Drive and Chester G. Turner of San Diego, Calif.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Lee Clinton Carroll of Birmingham boulevard, Birmingham, and the late Mr. Carroll.

Her fiancé attended the University of Michigan.

There is no perfect food, but milk comes closer to it than any other. Few of us are well enough informed about nutrition to plan a really fine diet without milk.

Jean Eleanor Becker Is Now Mrs. Louis Fritch

St. Luke Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage of Jean Eleanor Becker of North Cass Lake road, Waterford Township, to Louis Fritch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fritch of St. Clair Shores.

The Rev. Harry Lord performed the double-ring ceremony July 9 before 200 guests who later attended a reception in Vonderhies Hall on Orchard Lake road.

Parents of the bride are the William Henry Beckers of Commonwealth road, Pontiac Township.

Mrs. Lloyd Vergin of Davisburg was her sister's matron of honor. On the esquire side were the bridegroom's brothers-in-law, Kenneth Moore as best man and James O'Mara, usher, both of St. Clair Shores.

Also seating guests were the bride's brothers William Becker Jr. of Walpole Lake and Charles Becker of Williams Lake.

Returned from an Eastern honeymoon, the couple is at home on North Cass Lake road.

LaBarge-Payne Wedding Set for August

Announcement is made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Kaye Ann Isabel LaBarge to Earl Eugene Payne, son of the Walter Henry Paynes of Foster street.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Laura Stephen Miller of Joylin avenue and the late Mr. LaBarge.

An August 24 altar date in St. Michael Church has been named.

USE OUR CHARGE IT PLAN

For Men: Green, Gold—and Old

The Season's Suits May Be Unsuitable to Many a Male

By HUG A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Men, if you want to be in the avant-garde of fashion this season, hold onto that double-breasted suit up in the attic—the green one, preferably—and rush to the nearest Salvation Army depot for a pair of high button shoes.

Everything you and your grandfather ever owned has a good chance of coming back into style again.

This became apparent Thursday when the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear unveiled its new fall line before an audience of top female fashion writers and a few unkempt male reporters.

The Ivy League look is still with us, and so is the Continental look, but apparently the disgruntled designers have abandoned any real hope of dragging the American male into the rocket age. The big hit of the show was something called the British accent in men's wear, a tailor's throwback to a dapper, earlier era that might more accurately have been named the Immigrant Look.

LOUD CHECKS

Your real top this year, if the designers have their way, will sport a loud check suit, preferably green or gold, a bowler hat, high-collared jacket, and look for all the world as if he had just disembarked from a ship that somehow was delayed 50 years at sea. All he needs to complete the ensemble is a straw suitcase and a red polka-dot handkerchief.

"This is what we call the country suit," explained the man at the microphone in a keynote speech compounded of all the superlatives left over from the recent Los Angeles convention. "Lighter, brighter, natural in expression, responsible but unaffected, a conscious return to the elegance of another era."

GREEN, GOLD, WOW!

Green and gold definitely will be the big colors in men's fashions this year. Lapels will be narrower, cuffs tighter, shoulders unpadded, umbrellas longer, blacker, and wrapped tighter. One Ivy League gentleman, consisting of a green corduroy jacket and beige corduroy slacks came complete with what the announcer described as "authentic dirty tennis sneakers."

Aside from the British accent, the biggest splash into the usually placid masculine fashion pool was made by the irrepressible Mr. John with a collection featuring the tightest trousers this side of a Shakespearean festival. One male mannequin looked as if his snug black trousers had been plastered on him with a billboard brush.

"Dusting," muttered one of the fashion editors. "I don't know what the fashion world is coming to. The whole trend this year is for women's fashions to get looser and looser while men's get tighter and tighter."

Muted green and luggage checked worsted is designed for fall by Beni Claire for the Paul Parnes collection.

Wash Your Face Correctly

Complexion Care Hints

Are you giving your complexion the best of care? Not unless you wash your face properly.

"Nothing is more important in good complexion care than correct face washing, but many women have failed to learn that the delicate facial skin should be bathed in a special way," states Linda Scott, home economist for a manufacturer of home water conditioning equipment.

Miss Scott has listed these seven helpful hints for better complexion care through proper face washing:

1. Be careful of the soap you use. If your skin is sensitive, use a mild, unperfumed soap.
2. Use soft water. Hard water combines poorly with soap, forming "film" instead of suds. This soap "film" clogs the pores and dries the skin. Soft water aids in cleaning and leaves the skin fresh and soft.
3. Don't use a wash cloth. Rub the soap gently, but firmly, onto your face with your fingers. This helps to stimulate circulation. Make sure your hands are clean before starting.
4. As you wash, gently massage your face upward. This gives the facial muscles an "uplift" and helps prevent them from sagging.

When you wash your nose, massage downwards.

5. Pay particular attention to your hairline. Failure to wash thoroughly at the hairline can result in unsightly skin blemishes there.
6. Before rinsing, place a hot towel, soaked in hot water and wrung dry, over your face. This helps cleanse the skin and clear blemishes such as blackheads and pimples.
7. When rinsing, splash water on your face. This further aids in stimulating circulation. Begin with hot water.

Make sure all soap is removed. Then finish with cold water. This will tighten facial muscles and close the pores.

"By following these simple rules," Miss Scott said, "a woman can subtract years from her looks and ensure a youthful and lovely complexion."

Bride-Elect Honored at Shower

Judith James, bride-elect of Owen Forrest Whitkop of Imlay City, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Wednesday evening.

Miss. * * *

Mrs. Lyle Short of Lynsae lane, mother of the bride-to-be, chose junior bridesmaid Linda Short, who is the hostess.

Little Things Delight Your Partner in Life

By RUTH MILLETT

A husband seldom gets bored with a wife who

Occasionally does something entirely unexpected, the kind of thing that makes him say, "I didn't know you were interested in such-and-such." (The person who surprises us now and then rarely bores us.)

Doesn't let him spend his life sitting in front of a TV set. (Some men think they are bored with marriage when they are just bored with a steady diet of TV.)

Finds friends that her husband enjoys as much as she does, instead of limiting their social activities to a small group of people who bore him. (When a husband groans every time his wife mentions that "the crowd" is getting together again, a wife ought to look out.)

Stays as feminine as she was the day he married her. (A man can never quite figure out a truly feminine woman and so finds her eternally intriguing.)

Experiments with new hair-dos, new fashions, new trends in make-up and so on, so that today she doesn't look just like she did five years ago except for being five years older.

Is willing to share her husband's masculine spirit of adventure, instead of trying to make him as satisfied with home and hearth as she is.

Has a cheerful, optimistic attitude toward living - instead of being fearful and always expecting the worst.

Mary Heitman has been asked to attend as maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Miss Cummings, Miss Jane Cameron, Charlotte Arcand, Patricia Williams and Mary Ann Morrow.

Joanne Arcand and Jackie Mason will be flower girls.

The mothers of the prospective bridegrooms, Mrs. B. J. Arcand and Mrs. John Ferrero, presided at the refreshment table.

To Work or Not to Work? Moms Wonder

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Here two little girls were charming. The conversation of her husband, a young TV executive, was charming.

So was the view of rolling hills from the window upstairs where we'd gone to put the children in bed for their afternoon naps. But when I said so, her response to admiration was violent.

"The heck with the view," she said. "At night you can't see it. At night I'm alone with no view."

"I feed the kids; Bill phones to say he's tied up with a dinner script conference and I eat my supper on a tray. Most of the girls I know are in the same boat."

"Know what I did before I married Bill? I worked in network continuity. I had work to do at nights, too. Now when the kids are in bed, nights are my time to go crazy. The heck with that view."

As we close the bedroom door behind us, she said:

"Don't get me wrong. I love the kids. I've just got more to give than they can use. But Bill don't listen. He thinks I'm a bad mother to want to go back to work. Am I?"

It's a question a lot of intelligent young women ask themselves these days.

It is answered in these words of Dr. John A. Rose, director of the famed Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic:

"Employment may enable a mother to give herself to her children more constructively than if she did not work. Serving her own needs, she does not put unrealistic burdens on her children."

"However, there is always the possibility that guilt feelings over employment will react adversely on the children's development."

SELF-ACCEPTANCE

So the real problem of the young mother of this column resolves itself back into the eternally recurring one of all parenthood: Self-Acceptance.

Whether our dissatisfaction with child care is "good" or "bad" is never the point. The point always is, the dissatisfaction exists. Unless we are trying for a "perfect parent" record, we'll respect it.

Pretty 'n' Practical

(NEA) - Those white terry jackets for the beach now come decorated with a pretty colored fish motif, just for the fun of it. But the jackets themselves are practical for quick drying-off.

Once we accept our dissatisfaction instead of fearing it, we can become a happy working mother.

And a happy mother, working or nonworking is the kind that children need.

It releases them from what Dr. Rose calls the "unrealistic" burden of making us happy. It sets them free.

Michigan One of Nine Dissenters

Nation's Wheat Farmers Vote to Continue Quotas

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

The nation's wheat farmers voted overwhelmingly to grow their 1961 crop under rigid government marketing quotas for the eighth consecutive year, the Agricultural Department at Washington announced today.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture reported wheat farmers in this state voted 2,355 to 142—a majority of 62.2 per cent—in favor of continuing the quotas.

A two-thirds majority of those voting was needed to continue the government restriction. Michigan was one of nine states where farmers dissented.

Complete returns from all 39 participating states showed 87.3 per cent of the nation's farmers approved the controls.

The vote was 148,796 in favor and 21,631 opposed.

Approval means that all wheat growers, who comply with their acreage allotments will be eligible for price supports at 75 per cent of parity or not less than $1.78 per bushel.

Growers who exceed their allotments will be subject to quota penalties on their "excess" wheat.

Any farmer with more than 15 acres was eligible to vote in the nationwide referendum.

The measure also carries penalties for farmers who grow more than 15 acres of wheat without an allotment.

Agriculture department officials in Washington had forecast that if quotas were rejected the free market wheat price would have dropped to about $1 per bushel.

Congress has set the national wheat allotment for 1961 at 53 million acres.

The other eight states where farmers failed to approve the quotas by the necessary two-thirds margin were Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Alabama, Arizona, California, New York, Ohio and Utah.

A white floor length gown with Chantilly lace bodice and a lace-overshirt was worn by the bride. She had a cloud fluff veil.

The bridegroom's sister, Eileen was maid of honor. Bridemaids were Barbara Fox of Cooks, a cousin of the bridegroom, Genia Wiles of Pontiac, Lucetta Case of Lake Orion, a cousin of the bride, and Mary Lou Teets of Pontiac.

Arline and Darlene Gossier of Pontiac Township were flower girls.

Larry Fox served as best man for his brother. Other attendants were Don Popper, Don Teets and the bridegroom's brothers Irwin and Lytle.

Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brother David and the bride's uncle, Clifford Taylor of Orion Township.

An evening reception was held in the American Legion Hall at Auburn Heights.

Ex-Convict Faces Kidnaping Charge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A 25-year-old ex-convict, Victor Harry Feguer, of St. Johns, Mich., faces arraignment in U.S. District Court today on a kidnaping charge in the slaying of a Delaware, Iowa, physician.

The body of Dr. Edward Roy Bartlett, 52, was found near the baggage yesterday, 10 days after he left his home on a nighttime professional call.

Feguer was arrested Wednesday at Birmingham. He waived a preliminary hearing yesterday on his arraignment on charges of unlawful flight.

Feguer has made no statement in connection with his arrest. The FBI said.

SAD MONKEYSHINES—Pretty Mary Watson, a department store salesgirl, tries to make "Sad Sack's" life a little happier by feeding him his favorite food. The tiny black South American monkey has been sitting "for sale" among hundreds of chirping birds for the last six months. He has become very dejected over his dilemma.

Tired of Monkeying Around

Nobody Wants Poor 'Old Sad Sack'

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

What was once a happy little monkey at a Miracle Mile department store has turned out to be one of the "saddest sacks" in the country.

That's what the salesgirls at Grant's store have dubbed a little black spider monkey—Sad Sack—because he is so lonely that he won't blacken a buyer's hand.

When he first came to the store six months ago, the little monkey was happy. He probably figured that if he did enough chirping around his cage that someone would think he was cute and take him home as a house pet.

That was six months ago. Since then Sad Sack has been sitting dejectedly on a shelf completely surrounded by chirping, squawking birds.

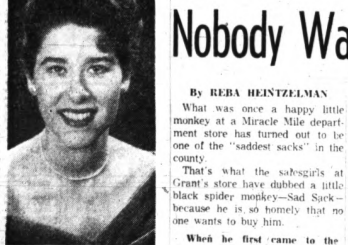

From morning until night, day and night, nothing but continual bird-chatter—and that's enough to take the joy out of anyone's living.

To make matters worse, the birds are beautiful. Like bright yellow canaries and goldfinches, the delicately banded parrots and larger multicolored parrots.

The "lovely" cockatoos look down their noses at the little monkey who is so black—and so blue.

Tax Renewal PTA's Goal

New Troy Unit Seeks to Reinstate Millage Lost in Election

TROY — One of the first projects of the newly formed Troy Council of Parent-Teachers Assn. will be to work for renewal of an eight-mill operational tax levy, an issue defeated in the June 13 school elections.

The Troy group, which was formed after the dissolution of the old East Oakland Council, will operate with the Troy Citizens Committee in seeking the millage renewal.

This and other aims of the new organization were announced following the recent election of charter officers. The first regular meeting of the PTA council will be held early in September.

New officers are: Mrs. Ben Jones, president; Mrs. Dorothy Kohl, first vice president; Donald Richards, second vice president; Mrs. Armand Pich, recording secretary; Mrs. Walter Ogilvie, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Zyrta Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. Alice Smith, historian.

Membership in the council is comprised of officers who are members of the Troy School district PTA's, all Troy school district principals and three delegates from each of the member PTA's.

The new council will guide and coordinate the various member PTA's in relation to national and state policies.

Picnic at Dodge Park

Wedding Is Planned

ROCHESTER—Plans for an Aug. 27 wedding are being made by Patricia Ellen Trisch and Emory P. Rumble. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Trisch, 3074 Selby Rd. Her fiancé's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rumble of 2625 Hessel St.

Also planned is a dance pavilion, which maintains a farm at 11424 Fisher Rd.

A partner in the Detroit architectural and engineering firm of Giffels and Rosetti, he is designing the new pool free of charge.

Rosetti did the architectural work on the present Youth Center, which is on grounds donated by Sheets, of 11250 W. Gates St.

A fund-raising campaign will start immediately for the pool. Approximately $50,000 is needed to complete the project.

Among the guiding lights of the recreational project is Louis R.

Special Election to the County of Oakland, State of Michigan. Notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the County of Oakland, State of Michigan.

At all of the regular voting precincts or places of holding the election in the Township of White Lake, Tuesday, August 2, 1960.

To vote on the Propositions set forth in the following Resolution Adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said County on the 17th day of June, 1960, to-wit:

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors of said County do hereby authorize the County Engineer to prepare and submit to the Board of Supervisors a plan for the construction of a swimming pool at the site of the former County House and County Building.

Whereas, it is generally considered that the construction of the remaining stages of the County House and County Building could be delayed several years, it is now apparent that it is vitally necessary that the last stages of construction should be commenced as soon as possible; and

Whereas, although the Board of Supervisors cannot pay for the several stages as monies accumulated from miscellaneous revenues and from the sale of various county owned properties, it will be necessary if the remaining stages of construction are to be commenced in the near future that a tax must be levied for that purpose; and

Whereas, Act No. 14 of 1926 (Extra Session) gives the Board of Supervisors the power to submit the question of voting millage for a sinking fund for the construction or repair of public buildings; and

Whereas, it appears from a study prepared for the Board of Supervisors by Dr. L. L. Friedland, Consultant, that the sum of Four Million Dollars will be required in order to complete the construction or repair of public buildings;

It is resolved that the following question, to-wit: "To authorize the Board of Supervisors to levy a tax of one-half mill (50¢ per $100.00) of the assessed valuation of the County of Oakland for each year for a period of four (4) years, from 1960 to 1963, both inclusive, to create a sinking fund to be used for the construction or repair of public buildings?"

West Bloomfield Twp. Defends Large Increase

KEEGO HARBOR — Recently increased fire protection rates for the city will not be lowered, three members of the City Council learned at a meeting with West Bloomfield Township officials.

The committee, made up of Mayor Samuel Whitmore and Councilmen Joseph Weichsel and Howard Avery met with the Township Board Wednesday to question them on the new fire contract.

The new contract, which went into effect July 1, nearly doubles the fire protection rates paid by the city to the township last year.

The contract is for $6,000, plus $75 for each truck used after five runs, and $40 for each resuscitator call.

Last year's contract was for $1,200, plus $75 a call after five runs, and $25 for each resuscitator call.

In anticipation of an increase in fire protection cost Councilmen had allocated $4,000 in the 1960 budget. The additional money will come out of reserves said City Clerk Mrs. Eileen Van Horn.

Township Supervisor John C. Reharr said he didn't think the new rates were unfair.

"Originally the fire protection costs were picked out of the air," he said.

"When Keego's fire contract came up for renewal I had an analysis made of what other communities pay for outside fire protection and the new contract is based on facts and figures."

The new contract is based on a per capita basis, he said.

"However, I can't blame the city for questioning the new rates. It's quite a hike."

Reharr said, "the rate is less than half of what it cost us to operate one station, which is about $14,000 a year."

Other factors taken into consideration were increased cost and new equipment plus depreciation in setting the new rates, he said.

West Bloomfield is among 11 townships in Oakland County seeking to abolish the 112-1/2-cent mill meeting established by state law.

Arizona has an area of 131,356 square miles and is ranked sixth in size among the states of the Union.

Million Americans Have Head Start

Hint to Politicians: Promise 'Em 3 Cars

By BEN FULEGAR,
Automotive Editor

DETROIT — With the political campaigns heating up it might be time for a candidate to advocate three cars in every garage.

Statistics show he could grab a million supporters right off the bat. A recent survey by Ford Motor Co. indicated that 90,000 households in the United States already own three cars; another 136,000 households own four cars, taken during the first quarter of this year almost 44 million families now own cars and just over 19 per cent of these have two cars or more.

One of the theme songs accompanying the introduction of compact cars by the major auto companies last fall was that the time was approaching when two cars would become a necessity for many families.

That time long since has arrived for many suburban households. The family that fled from the city to leafy acres or some similar suburban development in the years following World War II soon found the automobile a No. 1 necessity.

The corner grocery had been replaced by a supermarket a mile or more away. Kids had to be driven to school. Public transportation was spotty or nonexistent.

A MUST FOR MOTHER

Without a convenient bus or train the head of the family had to drive to work. Mother found a car was a must for her, too. And as a result almost one of every four suburban families now owns more than one car.

It is still early to draw any firm conclusions as to whether the smaller cars have speeded the growth of multiple-car families. But there are some preliminary indications that this may be the case.

The Ford survey found the number of families owning any car increased by four-tenths of one per cent between the last quarter of 1959 and the first quarter of 1960. But the number of two-car households increased by 2.6 per cent during that period and the number of three-car families jumped 5.8 per cent.

Chrysler Corp. says that during the first six months of this year 73 per cent of the total new car sales by its dealers involved trade-ins, but only 66 per cent of its Valiant sales involved trades. Valiant is Chrysler's compact car.

On the other hand Chevrolet reports used cars are taken in trade on about 75 per cent of its new car deals, approximately the same proportion as a year ago. And American Motors says it has detected no change in Rambler, where about 80 per cent of the sales involve trades.

A study just completed by Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp. shows families in the United States are moving into the two-plus car class at the rate of about 500,000 a year.

Alan G. Rude, president of Universal C.I.T., predicts this pace will jump to about 600,000 annually by 1965.

Contributing to the increase, he said, will be the continuing trend toward suburban living, the millions of teen-agers now reaching driving age and the deterioration of public transportation facilities.

PET DOCTOR

Q. Is there anything we can do to help our pet adjust to a stay in a kennel?

A. Few owners escape the problem of where to leave the pet during vacations. Considerations here are not only board a dog that has not had the necessary inoculations, but psychological as well as physical preparation will make the animal's vacation more pleasant.

The spoiled dog will naturally find it harder to adjust. Generally speaking, kennel personnel have neither time nor access to special diets, so the dog that has been raised on varied foods will accept a change of menu more readily.

Give the kennel some knowledge of your dog's habits. Is he an indoor or outdoor dog?

Used to air-conditioning? Any particular dislikes or health problems? Leave the name of the veterinarian who has your dog's history in case of illness. Kennel employees wouldn't be hired if they didn't like animals, so don't worry about your pet being completely deprived of affection.

Dem Insurgents Triumph in N.Y.

To Aid Kennedy Drive; Bosses Fail to Assume Exclusive Direction

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The prestige of New York's Democratic insurgents rode high today with official recognition of their power by the party's presidential candidate.

The state leaders failed in their attempt to assume exclusive direction of Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential campaign in this state.

The result of this, an informed source said, is that Kennedy will have two campaign organizations in New York—one run by the regular organization headed by State Chairman Michael H. Pendergast and Tammany Hall chief Carmine G. De Sapio; the other by the insurgents, commanded by former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

TO NAME CHAIRMAN

Kennedy will name an overall chairman, not connected with either faction, the source said.

State Controller Arthur Levitt, in a bid to assume the role of peace-maker and take a prominent role in the statewide campaign, announced Wednesday night he would confer with county chairmen and candidates throughout the state.

"As the only statewide Democratic elected official," he said in a statement, "it is my responsibility to make every effort to bring all segments of the Democratic party together for a successful campaign."

Levitt is not considered close to either the regular organization or the insurgents. He is regarded as an aspirant for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1962.

Kennedy acknowledged the insurgents' influence by announcing in Hyannis Port, Mass., that he was establishing a "Citizens-for-Kennedy" group for those who want to participate in this effort with regular party organizations.

$130 Million U.S. Aid Added for Poland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today granted Communist Poland an additional 130 million dollars in economic aid as part of its policy of encouraging the Poles to rely less on Moscow.

The aid, all in the form of surplus farm products, raises to 444 million dollars the amount extended to the Polish government in the past four years.

The new agreement, signed today at the State Department, came only five days after the regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka agreed to pay 40 million dollars to compensate Americans whose property was seized in Poland after World War II.

The State Department decided to continue its policy of aiding Poland, even though Polish delegates in recent months have backed Moscow's attacks on the United States in such matters as the U2 flight.

Writer Gets Permission to Travel in Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—A writer for Cowles publications has received a passport for travel in Communist China and may already be there, State Department officials said today.

They said that Edgar Snow presented a Red Chinese visa describing him as a writer, going to the China mainland as the guest of a New Zealand journalist living there.

The State Department, officials said, validated Snow's passport enabling him to visit Communist China.

Elite Legion of Valor to Convene Aug. 30

BOSTON (AP)—Some 200 members of the Army and Navy Legion of Valor, elite of U. S. veterans organizations, meet in 70th annual national convention in Boston Aug. 30, then leave for a tour of European battle fields where many won their decorations.

The legion's 1,000 membership includes only recipients of the Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross or Navy Cross.

In London, legion members will banquet with their British opposite numbers—the British Legion and the Victoria Cross Society.

Mrs. Vogel's Dismissal Upheld

Teacher's Appeal Rejected

Mrs. Ila M. Vogel's appeal for reinstatement as a Pontiac school teacher was unanimously turned down by the Board of Education in a special meeting last night. In a formal resolution adopted by the Board, Mrs. Vogel was termed as not having demonstrated competence in using good judgment in dealing with children and parents, nor has she demonstrated a willingness to accept personal assistance and guidance from her superiors.

Mrs. Vogel had 17 years teaching experience before coming to Pontiac where she was employed for two years. A two-year teaching term is required before tenure status is offered.

Man Killed in Accident on Joslyn Rd.

A 22-year-old Pontiac man was killed last night when his car hit a tree in Pontiac Township. Pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital was Gary R. Robertson, 22 of 811 Auburn Ave.

Sheriff's deputies said that Robertson, driving at a high rate of speed, missed a curve on Joslyn road south of Collier road.

His car went off the road and smashed into the tree. He suffered a fractured skull. The accident occurred at 9:30 p.m.

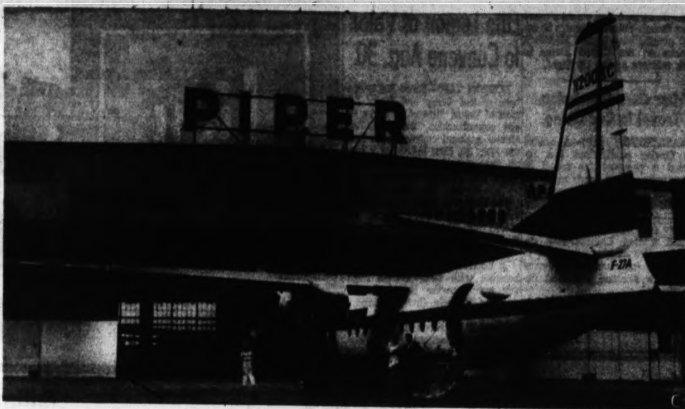

Oakland Highway Toll in '60 63

Proud said that "Nothing was revealed in the testimony substantially altering the two charges. I don't believe there was any doubt in the Board as to the outcome of the hearing."

Board President Louis H. Schimel said that the hearing had been granted as a courtesy to Mrs. Vogel, who, as a probationary teacher, did not have a right to demand a hearing.

According to Proud, this is the first time in recent years that a hearing has been held on a dismissed teacher. Three other teachers did not have their contracts renewed after the last school year. During the final night of the

Stanley Has Relative Problems

Zoo Crane Goes AWOL

If anyone spots an unfamiliar looking crane who answers to the name of Stanley, would they please call the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak. Stanley is AWOL from the zoo.

A native of Africa, he stands about four feet high, in slate colored with a white patch on top of his head, and is supposed to have had his wings clipped.

A good headwind enabled Stanley to get airborne in spite of his handicap.

He hopped skywards from his comfortable surroundings in the zoo's African Swamp and landed in a wooded area near 12-Mile and Southfield roads in Southfield. He was spotted there yesterday by a nearby resident who called the zoo and asked what kind of bird it is?

Zoo Director Frank McIntosh immediately went to count the crane population in the African Swamp. Sure enough, Stanley was missing.

Armed with flashlights and nets, two of the zoo's bird keepers went to trap Stanley last night. Unsuccessful, they were to return to the area today.

Stanley was unhappy because he's young and two of his older relatives at the zoo swamp have been picking on him, said McIntosh.

Gov. Williams Praises Michigan Civil Service

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams termed Michigan's Civil Service System "outstanding in the nation" in a proclamation marking the 20th anniversary of state civil service.

The governor said civil service was "a strong adjunct to clean, honest and efficient government."

Woods in Northland Face Fire Hazard

LANSING (AP) — Northern Michigan forest lands face an increasing fire hazard during the next few weeks, the State Conservation Department warned.

The forests are dried by the summer sun and winds and are teeming with thousands of vacationers. Forest fires caused more than $12,000 worth of damage in July and August last year, more than one-quarter of the dollar damage for the year.

So far this year, Michigan's forest fire record has been good. Only 2,287 acres have been burned, 930 acres below the 1959 figure for the same period.

Bus Company Making Profit

Business 'Encouraging' and Edging Upward, Manager Reports

With six weeks of operation completed Neel B. Pilon, manager of the Pontiac Transit Corp., today described business as "not outstanding, but encouraging."

Pilon said there has been a gradual increase in passengers since buses resumed service under the new corporation June 9.

"It hasn't been a big increase, but it is consistent," he explained. "Encouraging is the fact that our drivers say they are seeing a lot of new faces."

He reported to City Manager Walter K. Williams yesterday that the company is averaging about 2,500 passengers per day, and due to the absence of large bills, is operating in the black.

From June 9 to July 1, buses carried about 44,000 passengers. This is still only about half the load carried by the old Pontiac City Lines, Inc., when bus service stopped.

UP IS A DAY "But revenue continues to show an increase of about $25 to $30 each week, which means business is picking up at an average of about $5 per day," Pilon said. "We are looking forward to the fall when schools reopen and the number of bus riders should increase considerably."

Pilon also announced that Pontiac riders will soon be riding aboard two new buses. One of the new coaches, which is about 18 months old, will begin regular runs Monday.

The two newcomers will replace two of the 15 buses the corporation now leases from National City Lines, Inc., and will be owned by the new corporation.

Both will feature air-ride suspension and a single door at the front, and will seat two more passengers. The present buses are from six to eight years old.

World War I Veteran Malone Dies at 63

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Frank Malone, 63, former newspaper man and much decorated World War I veteran, died Thursday after a heart attack. He was assistant managing editor of the Miami News in the late 1930s and early 1940s.

Liberals of Both Parties Hope to Gain

By GEORGE WEEKS
LANSING (UPI)—The State Senate, Michigan's last Republican stronghold, shapes up as a major battle area of the Aug. 2 primary.

Democrats have no chance of breaking GOP domination in the upper chamber, where Republicans have a 22-12 edge.

But Democrats and GOP liberals are hoping the primary will mold a more liberal composition for the Senate.

In the 110-member House, Democrats face primary challenges in 42 districts.

DEMOS HOPE TO GAIN
The best battles, however, will come in the Nov. 8 election. Democrats hope then to break a 55-55 membership deadlock, name a speaker, and organize committees.

Eleven of the 31 senators are without primary opposition. Including Senate Majority Leader Frank D. Beattie (R-St. Clair).

The Senate's most interesting primary race pits former Kalamazoo Mayor Glenn S. Allen Jr. against Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), leader of the powerful conservative bloc that fought Gov. G. Mennen Williams to a stalemate during the 1959 cash crisis.

Morris-challenged Paul D. Bagwell for the governorship nomination early in the primary, campaigning as the man who torpedoed the income tax. He had trouble raising funds and dropped out.

Another outspoken conservative, Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater), faces primary opposition.

Smeekens, who once tried to overthrow Lawrence B. Linder as GOP state chairman, is opposed by Robert D. McFee, Battle Creek, and J. B. Washburn, Union City, in the primary.

Republicans look for a race between two Traverse City merchants to produce one of the closest Senate primary scraps. Sen. John Press.

Minema (R-Traverse City) has been challenged by William G. Hillen.

Another Senate veteran, GOP Floor Leader Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland), may be in for a close one. He is opposed by Bourke W. Jodewy, Bay City.

NEW LOOK INEVITABLE
The Senate is bound to have a new look. GOP veterans Frank Andrews, Hillman, L. Harvey Lodge, Waterford, and Edward Hutchinson, Traverse City, are not running for re-election.

Hutchinson, who once was a page boy in the Senate, is seeking the GOP nomination as lieutenant governor and the job of presiding over the Senate.

There's a wide-open battle in

Joe Fisher Dies of Heart Attack

DETROIT (AP)—Joseph (Singapore) Joe Fisher, 71, who built a fortune out of a chain of movie theaters in the Orient, died Thursday of a heart attack.

World War II stranded him in California, his finances blocked in Singapore, so he turned to the professional lecture circuit, capitalizing on his broad travel experiences.

He once was Singapore's official greeter of non-Asiatic visitors.

Bird Dies in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Hobart Stanley Bird, 86, lawyer and pioneer Puerto Rican newspaper publisher, died Wednesday.

Bird founded the San Juan News, an English-Spanish daily, after the Spanish-American War. His crusades against island corruption led to 42 arrests for libel.

He originally went to Puerto Rico as a war correspondent for the New York Sun and the Associated Press.

Born Together, to Be Together —They'll Marry

DETROIT (AP)—Mary Barbara Doyle and Jerry Bolkowski first saw each other in a nursery.

They were born there Dec. 22, 1941. The same doctor delivered both. In the first grade of school they met again.

After the eighth grade their paths parted. They went to different high schools.

Last month they met again at a graduation party at Mary Barbara's school.

Thursday they got a marriage license. They'll be married next Thursday.

More than one out of eight persons in the United States were admitted to hospitals in 1958.

Should Laundry Lose Shirt?

Boyle Resumes a Stiff Fight

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Well, it happened again.
Yep, this morning.
The day started off swell. I hit the alarm clock—that mechanical bird in my boudoir—with the first flume, shoe, and it fell over and said "gloop."

The shining sun heralded the advent of another morning of challenge.

Man has many thousands of challenging mornings in his lifetime, however, and a fellow doesn't have to be in any hurry about getting up to meet any particular one.

Time has taught me the better part of failed. It cut my throat and threatened to throttle me. Yes, it had happened again. I stalked into the kitchen and confronted my wife in majestic silence.

"What's the matter now—did you break a shoe?" she asked.
"No, Starch!"
"Not starch?" Frances exclaimed.
"Yes, starch! Again... and again... and again!"
"We have a new laundryman," said my wife. "He didn't know!"

Well, this morning I couldn't force any possible ambushes. The weather was fine, the rent wasn't due, the cat wasn't scratching my daughter and I could hear my wife humming in the kitchen.

She still hums that old tune, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," and after 23 years of marriage I still wonder who she really has in mind.

Well, I got up and showered and the water was just the right temperature. And I shaved and the razor blade was sharp against the whiskers but didn't cut the skin. The day looked better and better. I pulled on my socks and pants and shoes and started humming loud enough to be heard in the kitchen. "I'm getting sentimental over you—oo, too—oo."

Then it happened. Yes, it happened again.

I bent down and tugged a shirt from the drawer, removed it from its pristine cellophane and cardboard container, and started to do it.

Like armor plate. Don't it? It was like trying to buckle on armor plate. The shirt was stiff enough to stand on its tail. The cuffs as I fought my fists through them fought back with a white firmness.

The collar was an iron halter, and my first attempt to button it failed. It cut my throat and threatened to throttle me. Yes, it had happened again. I stalked into the kitchen and confronted my wife in majestic silence.

Wealthy Girl, 16, Elopes and Weds a Cameraman

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—A three-state search was called off when parents of a teen-age couple learned they had eloped.

Jeanne Sottile, 16, daughter of a millionaire banker, and Harold Walsh III, 17, an apprentice cameraman, sent identical telegrams to their parents: "We are married and safe. Be home Friday. Sorry for any worry. Love."

The telegrams came from Marianna, in northwest Florida. The couple, sweethearts for two or three years, had vanished Wednesday from their homes a block from each other.

Jeanne is a daughter of James Sottile Jr., of the Sottile banks group and citrus-cattle empire. Walsh is a son of Harold Walsh II, nationally-known cameraman who filmed Jerry Lewis' movie "The Bellboy" and Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo."

June Housing Starts Retain May Level

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing starts in June held steady at about the May level, the Commerce Department reported Thursday.

Work was begun on 129,500 housing units, only 700 less than in the previous month. But the June level was far below the 133,300 housing starts of June 1959.

Home building in 1960 has been running behind the 1959 pace since the beginning of the year.

The department said private housing starts in June were at an annual rate of 1,334,000 dwelling units, unchanged from May. Counting only private, nonfarm houses on which work was begun, the June activity hit a rate of 1,316,000 units.

Junk Coroner System in Kalamazoo County

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — On next Jan. 1, Kalamazoo County will become the 20th county in Michigan to discard the traditional coroner's system in favor of medical examiners.

The action was taken on an appeal from the Academy of Medicine with the endorsement of the two Kalamazoo coroners.

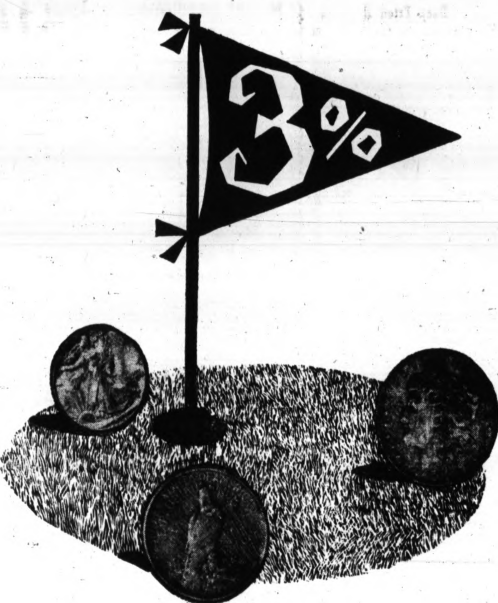

Kalamazoo County will have two medical examiners who will operate under the direction of Dr. E. Freeman Hersey, director of the County Health Department.

The change will cost the county about $10,000 a year. The old rate for a coroner was $5 a call. The Board of Supervisors was told the $5 fee was too little.

State Adds 100.6 Miles of Freeway in 12 Months

LANSING — The fiscal year ended June 30 saw 100.6 miles of freeways added to Michigan's highway system, the State Highway Department reported.

Michigan now has 387 miles of freeways, including one continuous stretch of 84 miles on Interstate 94 from Jackson to Paw Paw.

Lauded at Rival Birthday Parties

Hare, Swainson Both Feted 10 Days Ahead, Lash at Bagwell

LANSING (AP)—"Happy birthday to you" sang Michigan Democrats last night, and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson and Secretary of State James M. Hare bowed and smiled in acknowledgment.

The song and the city were the same, but the setting and the serendipity were not.

Hare and Swainson both blew out the candles on their birthday cakes 10 days early as supporters massed for a show of strength in their rival campaigns for the Democratic nomination for governor.

It was the biggest display of Democratic hoopla in the primary campaign.

Hare, who will be 50 on July 31, greeted close to 1,000 guests who jammed the main floor of Lansing's Civic Center. They came by bus and car from across the Lower Peninsula.

Swainson, who will turn 55 on July 31, was cheered by a perspiring crowd of nearly 500, all from Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties, who filled a United Auto Workers union hall.

Celebrators and candidates carefully avoided any mention of the party or the honor guest across town.

Republican Paul D. Bagwell, the man the winner of the Aug. 2 primary will take on in the November election, came in for all the attention, none of it complimentary.

Swainson charged that Bagwell "lent his name and picture to the campaign that helped drag Michigan's good name through the mud" when he fought a losing fight to unseat Gov. Williams in 1958.

Hare maintained that to elect a man "with no experience and no background in public office simply does not make sense."

Son of FDR Will Support Republicans

CINCINNATI (AP)—One son of the late Democratic President Franklin D. Roosevelt says frankly he's going to support the Republican party this year.

John A. Roosevelt, now a New York investment banker, said Thursday night: "I'm convinced Vice President Nixon has the best training and the greatest ability of anyone in this country for the job as president."

Roosevelt, youngest son of FDR, was here to speak to the convention of the National Business League, a predominantly Negro group.

He said he plans to attend the GOP convention in Chicago. He came from the Democratic camp in 1948.

GOP Nailing Planks in Place

Not Expected to Appear Dems With Promises on Social Welfare

CHICAGO (AP)—Republicans bucking down today to the job of putting on paper a platform they hope will contribute to a party victory in November.

Leaders predicted the document will have little "me-tooism"—a term given some past GOP platform by critics who contended the Republicans aped the Democrats in social welfare promises.

Certainly the platform will differ dramatically from that adopted by Democrats at Los Angeles last week if it reflects the predominant tone of those who made recommendations this week.

The platform will go to the convention Wednesday for adoption.

Most of the 200-odd persons who testified before the 103-member Platform Committee during the last three days called for a halt to infusing the federal government into the economic and social welfare life of the nation.

The Democratic platform, on the other hand, pledged to expand federal activities in these fields.

In writing the platform, the GOP drafters will give much weight to the wishes of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the party's all-but-certain presidential nominee. Nixon has been keeping in close touch with leaders of the Platform Committee.

There is one area in which the Republicans may find themselves called upon to broaden federal activity. That is the controversial issue of racial discrimination in voting, education, housing and other spheres of human relations.

Civil rights advocates urged the Republicans to come up with as bold a civil rights plank as the Democrats.

The latter promised to widen federal authority to intervene in the courts to help end racial discrimination in many fields. The plank evoked bitter opposition of Southern delegates.

Here, as at the Democratic convention, Dixie delegates pleaded for moderation. But there was no threat of a walkout by Southerners. Instead there was a promise that a modest plank would encourage many Southern Democrats to shift to the GOP.

Ike Wants Reds on Defensive

Call for Disarmament Talks to Reduce War Risk Part of U.S. Plan

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower's call for resumption of disarmament talks to reduce war risk was reported today to be part of U.S. strategy aimed at putting the Soviet Union on the defensive.

The President announced Thursday night that the United States wants an early meeting of representatives of all 82 United Nations countries for urgent discussion of a way out of the arms race.

In a statement issued at the Summer White House, Eisenhower said he had instructed Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of the U.S. delegation to the U.N., to petition today for speedy revival of disarmament negotiations. Lodge arranged to do so.

In sounding his call for new talks by all U.N. members, Eisenhower recalled the Soviet delegates had walked out of the 10-nation disarmament negotiations at Geneva last month. At the time the United States was about to outline new proposals.

"Our efforts to get the Soviet Union to return to the conference table through normal diplomatic channels have not met with success," Eisenhower said.

"The need for disarmament in the present world situation is too important to set aside at the present time when deliberate efforts are being made to increase tension."

Pontiac Families Await Return of Guardsmen

Today the wives and families of Pontiac's contingent of the 40th Infantry Division anxiously awaited the return of their soldiers from Camp Grayling.

In turn, the local soldiers anxiously awaited for the paymaster to show their names.

Today to pay day for the 1,000 Michigan national guardsmen at Camp Grayling for summer training.

Then the guardsmen will invade Michigan highways in homeward bound convoys early tomorrow. At the same time the Indiana National Guard Division will be moving north to take over the camp.

A special guard from the Grand Rapids 120th infantry stood watch around the finance office last night.

Military Police and State Police armed with submachine guns brought $500,000 to camp while an L1s aircraft patrolled overhead.

The troops were to receive their pay when they arrived back in camp shortly after breakfast today. Heavy rain drenched the maneuvering soldiers yesterday.

Army evaluators gave efficiency ratings for every unit today at the annual critique. The ratings measure the effectiveness of army drills throughout the year. They are to measure the operational readiness of each group.

Kennedy took four of his children with him to the airport to meet former Gov. W. Averell Harriman of New York, there to talk international affairs with Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee for president.

The plane was half an hour late in arriving. That gave the children time to run around.

Ex-Royal Oak Twp. Deputy Treasurer Is Cleared by Lie Test

Further investigation of a $3,478 Township Funds was planned by the prosecutor's office today after the taking of lie detector tests by the township treasurer and his former deputy.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry said yesterday that Mr. Mary Newton Price, who resigned as deputy township treasurer last March, was cleared of any complicity in the shortage.

Mrs. Price passed a polygraph test at the Redford State Police Post "with flying colors," Barry said.

The responses of George L. Glenn, township treasurer, indicated that further investigation in regard to his activities is necessary. Barry said.

Pontiac Central Names New Grid Coach

Former MSU Aide Dellerba Takes Position

New Leader Ex-Ohio High School Skipper; Backman Quits PNH

By CHUCK ABRAH

He was officially named at a meeting of the Pontiac Board of Education last night after signing a three-year contract.

The replacement for Jess MacLeay, who has accepted a college position in Texas, will add impressive football background to PCHS.

The Ohio native coached nine years at two high schools in that football-strong state before moving to Michigan State last fall as assistant coach of the scouting squad and reserve team.

He reportedly turned down an impressive offer from a West Coast junior college to accept the Central job.

Dellerba, 36, was an outstanding high school performer at Ash-tahula, Ohio, in football, basketball and track. He played freshman football at South Carolina University and later was an offensive fullback and linebacker at Miami of Ohio under Sid Gillman and later George Blackburn. Gillman went on to pro fame and Blackburn now coaches at Cincinnati.

Highlights of his playing career included being the first athlete to win nine letters at his high school and playing on the Miami Sun Bowl champs in 1948.

A Navy and Merchant Marine veteran, he compiled a 14-12 record as head man at Greenville, Ohio High starting in 1949. Paul switched to Canton Lincoln High in 1950 where he was an assistant for two years and head man for four seasons before going to MSU. His teams won 19 and lost 17 at Canton.

His only two defeats in 1956 were to Ohio's top-ranked powers — Massillon and Canton McKinley. Dellerba's teams played what was commonly known as a "suicide schedule" with the school having less students than every opponent.

Athletic director "Biggie" Munn, head coach Duffy Daugherty and line boss Bart Smith of Michigan State were among those who gave Dellerba high recommendations for the Central position.

He comes here facing a big challenge following one of the school's best seasons in many years.

Such standouts as Charley Brown, Jerry Kuch, Al Horne and Fred Staley and most of the other key members of the 1959 squad graduated.

He will have only a handful of experienced hands to work with including fullback McCauley and George Ford and Linebacker Tony Roberts.

The Board announced at the meeting that Mackley was being sent a citation for his outstanding service to Pontiac during his three years here.

Pontiac Northern learned last night that assistant coach John Backman had resigned his position to become head man at Bessemer High. Backman played a key role in the Huskies' big start in football last season.

Peaches Reaches Finals

CHATHANOOGA Tenn. — Peaches Bartkowitz, the 13-year-old tennis whiz from Hamtramck, Mich., continued her double-barel assault on two U.S. Junior Championships yesterday.

16 Michigan Fishermen, Shelleys, Head for Alaska

Howard and Ruth Shelley, well-known wildlife motion picture photographers, departed today for a 22-day filming expedition of Alaska.

A party of 16 Michigan fishermen accompanied the Shelleys for a week of salmon, grayling, rainbow and Mackinac trout fishing in the famed Brooks River Country, Katmai National Park, of Southwest Alaska.

The second week will find the Shelleys living with the Michigan "fishers" in a complete progress report on their homesteading. They will be the guests of Gerald and Bertha Donaldson in their log cabin home near the Sustina River.

Third week will be spent in flying out of Fairbanks into native

NEW COACH — Paul Dellerba, a former Ohio prep coach who was assistant coach of the scouting squad and reserve team at Michigan State last fall, last night was named head football coach at Pontiac Central High by the Board of Education. He replaces Jesse MacLeay, who resigned for a Texas college position.

Interest High for All-County Game

It's almost a month away but the first Oakland County All-Star football game has already drummed up considerable interest among grid-minded persons throughout this area.

The date is Aug. 19, and the place will be Warner Stadium.

Made up of the outstanding senior members of last fall's county

Star Tickets on Sale

Tickets are already on sale for the big All-County football All-Star game scheduled for Aug. 19 at Warner Stadium. They may be obtained by mailing the admission price and a self-addressed return envelope to the Pontiac Press. Seat prices are $5 and $1.25.

high school teams. North and South contestants will clash in what is expected to become an annual happening of football play in this sector.

The sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce of Pontiac is currently busy making preparations for the big affair. Formal invitations to participate have been mailed to candidates for both squads.

Retired former Detroit Lion stars Leon Hart and Lou Creekmur, were previously named head coaches of the teams, added as assistants have been former University of Detroit skipper Wally Fromhart and Jack Simmons, an ex-Titan aide and Detroit prep coach.

The coaches will gather their squads of about 33 players each together for practice sessions two weeks before the game, Twenty-eight will be in uniform for each team for the game.

Warner's practice field will be used for North drills while a site is still being sought by the Jaycees for the Southern workouts.

Most of the boys appearing in the "dream game" will be going on to college shortly after. Many are considered top prospects to become future stars on the higher level.

The two top scorers in Oakland County last fall are expected to be wearing North uniforms. Doug Stott of Oxford, a powerful fullback, piled up 113 points in nine games and Wally Lake of White, Bob Christian, had 90 in seven outings.

Heading the South backfield will be Iowa-bound halfback Bob LeZotte of Royal Oak. Dondero. He tallied 11 touchdowns in eight games.

Both teams are expected to have huge lines which should be stern tests for some of the outstanding backs who were seldom stopped in high school play.

Two benefit games will be played at the Drayton Plains softball park tonight with proceeds going to Al Sharrard—recently injured in a Watford All-Star team will play a visiting group in the two contests.

Area golfers Walt Burkene and Mike Dietz fired 72s for good first rounds at the PGA tourney. John Burman and Bob Gajda had 77 as did Herb Marcussen. Chick Harbert shot 78 and John Dalrymple 79.

Royal Oak Shrine star Mike Glynn of Pontiac has enrolled at the University of Detroit after being contacted by several other schools.

He is expected to play with the South in the big Oakland County All-Star contest slated for Aug. 19 at Warner Stadium.

Big Art Donovan had his troubles making the weigh-in at the Baltimore Colts camp. A clause in his contract calls him to report at 265 lbs. for a big time. He went over the mark wearing only undershorts.

The big tackle stepped off the scales, took off the shorts and hit the 265 figure exactly.

The Red Sox dethroned the Orioles in the Boys Club American League yesterday in a 10-3 romp. The Cubs and Braves tied 5-5 in the National.

Women's City Tourney, MPGA, State Assistant Pro Events Coming Up

The next three days will be busy one on the local golfing scene. Three tournaments are scheduled at four courses.

The Women's City Medal Play championship will be at state Saturday over an 18-hole route at Pontiac Municipal golf course. Starting time is 12 noon.

Mrs. W. D. (Edith) Wright of Lake Orion is the defending champion. Her toughest opposition, as always, is expected to come from Mrs. Zada DeBolt who has won the city crown six times.

Two awards have been added to the women's prize list for the 1960 tourney by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Trophies will be given to the 1st and 2nd place shooters in the handicap division as well as the winner and runnerup on an actual basis.

Morey's Golf and Country Club will be host the Michigan Public Golf Association's 34-hole medal play tourney on Saturday and Sunday. Most of the area's top public links golfers are entered in the event which Pontiac's Mike Andonian was a year ago. Twenty-seven holes are slated each day.

The Michigan Assistant Pro tournament will be held over a 36-hole distance Monday at Pine Lake and Edgewood. Frank Fred Wilson, Pontiac Country Club pro is one of the entries.

Navy Officer Holds Edge in Pentathlon

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Navy Lt. Ben Beck of Philadelphia today led a field of 22 into the third phase of trials for the U.S. Olympic Pentathlon team.

Today's program calls for the 300-meter freestyle swimming event.

Beck added 940 points in pistol shooting Thursday to his fencing total of 1,000 for a narrow lead over Army Lt. Alan Jackson of Rolling Hills, Calif.

Then Lary, who had been in and out of mild scrapes in the first five innings, allowed Jim Lemon's 22nd home run in the sixth. The Tigers got it back in their half, but Lary gave the Senators another score in the seventh.

It came without a hit. Elmer Valo reached first on an error by second baseman Frank Boll. Lary hit Julio Becquer on the foot — the third batter Lary had hit — then struck ex-team mate Reno Bertoia on the side of the head. An infield out scored Valo.

The Senators gave that run back, too — rookie reliever Rudy Hernandez giving up two walks, a wild pitch and a single, in the bottom of the seventh.

Lary couldn't survive the eighth. He yielded another solo home run to Lemon, a single to Billy Gardner and Harmon Killebrew's eighth home run. Sauer put the Nats' down in the eighth and came through a mild scare on his own in the ninth.

Bertoia remained in a Detroit hospital overnight. X-rays showed no fracture. He suffered a concussion and a bad laceration behind his left ear. The former Tiger infielder, who was carried from the field on a stretcher, was wearing a protective helmet. He did not lose consciousness.

Tigers Win, Look Bad Doing It

Sisler Rescues Lary After Nats' Late Uprising

Pair of Homers, and Other Things, Reduce 7-0 Lead to 9-5

DETROIT (AP)—Now, the Detroit Tigers are starting to look bad winning — and that's a very bad sign for a team that must speed the next 15 games on the road.

They open an Eastern swing in Baltimore tonight and will visit Washington, Boston and New York before returning to Briggs Stadium.

These are crucial days for the Tigers, who staggered home a 9-5 winner over the Washington Senators yesterday and elevated themselves into a fifth-place tie with the Nats.

They gave right-hander Frank Lary a 7-0 lead, and it's likely the in-and-out veteran would have piddled all of it away had manager Jimmie Dykes not summoned Dave Sisler from the bullpen.

It was, Sisler stopped the Senators over the last two innings to preserve Lary's eighth victory in 17 decisions.

But it was 9-5 before Sisler rescued him.

It became 3-0 in the third inning as Lary started a one-out flurry with a double to right center. Eddie Yost walked and Al Kaline singled to right.

When Bob Allison heaved the ball for an error, Lary scored — and when he threw wildly past third base for another, Yost went to third and Kaline to second. Charlie Maxwell scored with a single.

A walk to Kaline, singles by Maxwell and Norm Cash, and Rocky Colavito's 20th home run with two aboard made it 7-0 in the fifth against Bill Fischer.

Then Lary, who had been in and out of mild scrapes in the first five innings, allowed Jim Lemon's 22nd home run in the sixth. The Tigers got it back in their half, but Lary gave the Senators another score in the seventh.

State Water Skiers Compete From Dawn to Dusk

Divers Initiate Men's AAU Swim Competition

TOLEDO (AP)—The nation's top swimmers and divers are among the 350 contestants in the three-day National AAU Men's Outdoor Championships which start at Scott Park Pool today with the 3-meter diving competition.

Coaches are hopeful that the men will display the same speed and form shown by the women in their outdoor meet at Indianapolis last weekend. The girls bettered three world records and broke 19 American and AAU marks.

Coach Bob Kipphut of the New Haven Swim Club said Thursday that the winners here "are likely to be the winners at Detroit," where the Olympic Trials will be held Aug. 25.

Don Harper of Columbus, Ohio, is the defending champion in the among the continent from Indianapolis, the defending team champion. They are Frank McKinney, 100 and 200-meter backstroke; Alan Somers, 400 and 1,500-meter freestyle; Mike Troy, 30-meter butterfly; and Bill Barton, 40-meter individual medley.

A strong contender for the team title is the Los Angeles Athletic Club, composed principally of the University of Southern California's NCAA indoor champions. Strong challengers are the New Haven Club and the Yale stars, who were second in the NCAA indoor Team Championships, and the Detroit Athletic Club, whose Ron Clark will defend his 200-meter breaststroke title.

Lance Larson, defending 100-meter butterfly and 200-meter individual medley champion, is a top performer for Los Angeles.

Lounge 9 Routed by Rogers, 13-5

Orr Stars on Mound and at Bat in City Softball League

Rogers' Electric cut loose with a 12-run attack for a 13-5 rout of the 300 Lounge in an International division City League softball game last night at Northside Park.

Bob Orr, who went all the way on the mound for Rogers' team, collected two singles and a double to lead the assault against two Lounge hurlers.

In another international contest on the Northside diamond, Bettner's Cleaners made eight hits while trouncing the North Eight Rockets, 8-2. Ed Smith pitched six-hit ball to win.

The only game resembling a mound duel took place at Beau-de-Park where Grif's Grill defeated the Pontiac Retailers, 3-1, in another 11-outing. Jerry Bantini pitched four-hit ball for the Grill and Bill Sparks of the Retailers hurled a six-hitter.

A player injured in the 7th inning forced Herk's Auto Parts to forfeit to Huron Bowl. The injury left Herk's with only eight men so Huron gained the win. The score was 1-1 at the time with Ed Rondo pitching for Herk's and Lloyd Harper on the hill for Huron.

Michigan Nines Risk Unbeaten Tourney Slates

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—The number of undefeated teams in the National Baseball Congress state tournament is certain to be reduced this weekend.

Key games in this third weekend of play in the five week tournament will take place Saturday afternoon when the Crystal Lakesiders meet the Bay City Dredgers and Sunday afternoon when the Grand Rapids Sullivan meet the Detroit Electricians.

Those are the four teams among the 12 still in contention which are unbeaten thus far. The eight others have 1-1 records in the double elimination tournament.

Pace Olympic Trials

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J. (AP)—Chicago's Star Class sailboat skippers again dominated the U. S. Olympic Trials Thursday by winning both races on Sandy Hook Bay.

CASS LAKE CONTENDER—Bev Olsen of Cass Lake goes through a practice run on the slalom ski, the event she will compete in this weekend in the State Water Ski Tournament at Cass Lake. The State tourney is Saturday and Sunday and next week the Midwest Championships will be held at Loon Lake.

Jets Enjoy 15-0 Romp Oxford 9 Blasted Again

Thursday was another sad day for the Oxford Merchants in the Class A City Baseball League. The Jets racked them over the coals at Wisner Field, clubbing 19 hits for a 15-0 triumph. Oxford now is winless in 16 games.

John Lucadam spearheaded the Jet assault against two Oxford hurlers with four hits. Dave Simmons and Cole Hunt each made three hits and Gene Cox had no worries whatsoever on the mound as he twirled a two-hit shutout. The Jets crossed the plate at least once in every inning except the 2nd.

Front-running Powell Trucking collected 15 hits, three by Jerry Powell, for an easy 10-1 victory over Don Nicholas in a Class D game. Also on the "D" front, Auburn Heights Boys Club trounced the Shammocks, 3-2.

Other Class F results included: Dixie Dairy Dodgers, 2; Hoyt Planners, 3; Baldwin E.C.B. Church, 3; Cubs, 3; Aces, 5; Spartans, 3; Southwest Civic Bears, 9; Vikings, 8.

The Widgots went on home runs, Mike Gracy clouted three homers and Bob Lane homered twice to feature Tasty Freeze's 25-6 massacre of Garling's. Chuck Hall homered and Gene Douglas hurled a one-hitter to highlight the Moose's 3-1 victory over the Boys Club.

Continental Is Pushing Ahead Senior Circuit Rejects Madison Garden's Bid for N.Y. Franchise

NEW YORK (AP)—The Continental League is pushing ahead, determined to gain recognition as a third major baseball league, and the National League has turned down a bid by Madison Square Garden for a New York franchise.

These two developments of Thursday could have far-reaching influence in the fast-changing field of baseball expansion.

The Continental announced it had agreed on a formula for paying indemnities to invaded minor league cities, its most troublesome immediate problem.

Branch Rickey, the Continental League president, has agreed to meet with the expansion committees of the American and National Leagues Aug. 2 at Chicago. Rickey thinks favorable action would permit admission of his league into organized baseball within 30 days.

The American League also had a little franchise action. A spokesman for a syndicate said in New York he had made an offer of $15 million dollars for the Kofas City Club. The controlling interest is owned by the widow of the late club president Arnold Johnson.

Winners This Weekend Seek Midwest Spots

Loon Lake to Become Ski Capital for Two Weekends

More than 150 water skiers will cut the water from dawn to dusk as the Michigan State Water Ski Tournament takes place Saturday and Sunday at Loon Lake on Dixie Highway.

Activity each day gets underway at 7:00 a.m. and many top Pontiac area skiers will be bidding for honors which will carry them into the Midwest Regional Tournament a week later also at Loon Lake.

The Cass Lake Ski Club has the majority of the top local skiers, with Whitmore Lake's Ann Arbor providing many of the defending champions.

Tony Mitchell of Pontiac, who won the 1958 jumping title and then lost it to Jerry Lankinaw of the Whitmore Lake Club last year, will again try to regain the title.

One of the outstanding teenage girls bidding for a crown will be Nancy Mesler, Waterford High graduate last June who will move up from the girls' to the women's division.

Randy McCall, who won the junior boys' jumping title with 46 feet last year, has moved into the boys' division.

He went over 65 feet in the Class Lake tournament last summer and has already hit 87 feet in practice runs.

Bev Olsen of Cass Lake will make a bid in the women's slalom.

The men's events take place on Sunday with the tourney continuing through 5:00 p.m.

All next week Loon Lake will be hot to skiers from 11 states in the Midwest who will be practicing for the regional championship.

Skiing exhibitions are planned each evening in the vicinity of Noyah's and the Edgewater Beach Lodge.

6th Horse Show This Weekend at Marand Stables

Holly's Loyal Order of Moose has arranged to hold its 6th annual benefit horse show, this weekend, at the Marand Stables, 1 1/2 miles east of Holly, on MSF.

The show will be a "western" with 22 events, including open and action, bending, musical stunts, adult and junior horsemanship tests, and many others. A relay race between 3-horse teams will be a feature.

Trophies and ribbons go to the winners. Show gets under way at 10 a.m. Sunday runs until all events have been concluded, rain or shine. A high-point trophy goes to the top entry.

William Fitzgerald, show chairman, says more than 100 horses are expected.

Bald Mt. Has 5th Ace and 3rd in One Week

The hole-in-one bug bit Bald Mountain Golf Club again Thursday. Pro Ken Wilson this morning reported the club's 5th ace of the year and the 3rd since last Friday.

This time the lucky golfer was Glen Schwan, a bowling proprietor, and his fire is at Bald Mountain's 155-yard 11th hole. He shot 75 for the round.

Playing with him were Dick Wheeler, Chuck Pistrin and Ron Baird, all from Limity City.

Farm and Garden News

PLANT PROTECTION — Landscaping of this yard includes a niche set aside for prized shrubbery. Delicate plants are protected by an airy screening fence which also acts as a foil for the greenery. Screen design was wrought with 1x1 inch cedar strips nailed to supporting posts. Wood was lightly stained to preserve its rich autumn coloring.

Watch Elms for Disease

Home-owners are urged to examine elm trees closely at this time of year for symptoms of Dutch Elm Disease, according to a top gardening expert.

Tim Blankley, of the Arrol Garden Information Center, says diseased elm trees can be spotted by wilted or shriveled leaves on one or more branches. Another symptom takes the form of brown, gray or black streaks in the wood just below the bark. These can be seen by breaking off several twigs to examine the tree's internal condition.

Bark beetles which breed and feed on dead or dying elm wood spread the fungus spores of this disease. Blankley says the most important key to fighting Dutch Elm Disease is in prevention of breeding places for beetles. Weak elm trees should be removed, as well as dead, broken or dying branches.

Keep remaining elms healthy by regular fertilization. A water-soluble fertilizer packaged in paste form is particularly effective in foliar feeding of elms as well as other ornamental and fruit trees.

Adequate watering and spraying to prevent damage by insects and other diseases also is advisable to help keep elms in good health, Blankley says.

Carelessness Is Killing Trees

Backyard trees may be back-ward because of you.

Your intentions may be good but your actions harmful to your woody pets. Among the things that cause tree casualties in casual suburban living are automobiles, moving or parking, says H. I. Spillacy, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

The gasoline and oil that keep cars running are a great menace. Carelessly spilled over root areas, petroleum products spill immediate and long-time repercussions. As a powerful herbicide, petroleum kills plants almost on contact. Even worse, the petroleum saturated soil may remain sterile for months or even years.

Careless driving that scrapes or bumps driveway trees also takes a big toll. Bark breaks are open invitations for invasion by insects and diseases. And trees severely bumped sometimes suffer loosening of the root system.

Power lawn mowers banged

IT'S A WHOPPER — The battle of the African violets is on! After seeing the picture in last week's garden section, Mrs. Emmett Meredith of 3387 Lapeer road came in to cheer for her entry. The blossoms are the size of a silver dollar. Measuring at least 30 inches in circumference, the plant has 48 flowers. This is its first blooming since March. Mrs. Meredith has no special formula for growing such a luxuriant plant, but she's proud of it.

Mal. Gen. William Westmoreland, superintendent of West Point, was born in Spartanburg, S. C., 46 years ago.

Many housewives who pride themselves on their green thumbs often do their landscapes more harm than good. They may thoughtlessly dump in the back yard soapuds, dry cleaning fluids, ammonia and other wastes that are harmful to trees and other growing things. Slip-knotted clotheslines hanging from trees can strangle branches in a single season. Clotheslines, dog wires and similar devices should be attached to trees only with lags or screw eyes. Never should they be wrapped around trunk, limb or branch.

Recognize Your Insect Enemies

STRIPED CUCUMBER BEETLE — Dark yellow beetle with three black stripes on wing covers. About 1 1/2" long. Feeds on leaves, stems, and fruit. Can spread bacterial wilt. Ducting with 1% Rotenone Garden Dust is recommended for control.

ONION THRIPS — Tiny yellow or brownish thrips, about 1/25" long. Have distinctive fringed wings. Suck plant juices causing leaves to wither and turn brown. Spraying with nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40) or 50% Malathion recommended for control.

TOMATO FRUITWORM — Green, brown or pink worm about 1 1/2" long. Identified by light stripes along sides and on back. Cause great damage by eating holes in fruit and buds. Ducting with DDT recommended for control.

BEAN APHID — Tiny, soft bodied aphids, covered with a fine whitish wax. Cluster on stems and undersides of leaves. By sucking plant juices they cause leaves to curl and thicken, turn plants yellow. Control by spraying with nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40).

Let Windscreens Show Off Your Choice Plants

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow?

Maybe not with silver bells, but most Marys are producing gardens of quite some distinction these days.

There are so many aids available to help the hobby gardener — an abundance of information pours from every newspaper and magazine. Grocery stores dispense gardening advice along with the eggs and milk. And neighbors group together under club banners to swap do's and don'ts.

Surprisingly enough, the gardens in any given community are apt to be as varied as the colors of the rainbow, for even with a common terra and climate, each home owner will see different potentialities in his yard. And, of course, establishment of individual taste and styling is always desirable.

But there is a common problem, too, shared by every gardener. How best to show off the fruits of his labor. Here, landscape architects offer a bit of timeless advice by suggesting the use of windscreens as foils to set off groupings of choice shrubbery or of flower beds.

In order to best highlight the plantings, the screens should be a natural wood stain or white. Color, except when handled by an expert, is taboo. Styling should be in keeping with the home's architecture and the general theme set by the landscaping.

A home of contemporary styling generally calls for screening that is light and informal. Here, one favorite is an airy concoction taken from the Japanese. It is built of 1x1-inch western red cedar strip milled either horizontally or vertically on a 2x1-inch frame of cedar or Douglas fir. Posts should be 4x4-inch cedar. The strips are spaced an inch apart to heighten the lacy appearance of this design.

If setting the screen in a straight line doesn't suit the contours of your yard, try building it in sections that zig-jag around the edge of the garden plot.

Now, for a home of traditional styling, delicate louvers, open latticework or decorative grilles are favorites. Since the traditionally styled home usually has painted siding in either a color or white, white paint for the garden screens is the best choice for a finish.

A last note on screens: Before taking saw and hammer in hand, use a pencil on paper. By mapping your yard in scale, you'll be able to see just what dimensions are most complementary before not, after the screens are installed.

The north central states of the United States have an unusual number of goiter cases because the soil and water are deficient in iodine.

Scorched Lawn Can Be a Problem

In most parts of the United States, from the middle part of July to the end of August, home gardeners should be on the alert to detect the first signs of lawn scorching.

Generally it takes two conditions to severely scorch a lawn: 1. Prolonged lack of rain 2. Too frequent and too close mowing.

So, assuming that nature's irrigation system will be more or less on "vacation" during this period, the home gardener should consider setting his power blade higher, say about 3 inches, beginning the middle part of July.

Then, unless climatic conditions are to the contrary, space the periodic mowing by several additional days, so that there is always a fine, firm, green stand of grass.

In many regions of the country watering and lawn sprinkling are governed by local ordinances. It is essential that these laws be carefully observed. But when watering remember that what a lawn needs most is penetration.

A light, misty irrigation that allows the water to get down at least six inches in the soil is the best defense against scorching. Avoid excessive watering, especially be careful not to soak the lawn so that it is constantly wet. This condition breeds fungus and mildew.

However, if those scorched spots somehow manage to peek up, lawn experts recommend that you carry out the following simple rehabilitation program:

Aerate the hard, dry surface with a spiked roller. If the scorched area is quite advanced re-seed it as necessary. Then dampen as many sheets of burlap as necessary to cover the entire burned area.

Keep the burlaps damp during the daylight hours — not soaking. Just damp. Remove them over-

Wright's Museum All Wrong?

Guggenheim Director Resigns

NEW YORK (AP)—The director of the controversial Guggenheim Museum of Art has resigned in a dispute with the board of trustees.

The reason for director James Johnson Sweeney's resignation is not clear, but one museum spokesman thought the mushroom-shaped building, designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright, might be a contributing cause.

Sweeney's letter of resignation indicated only that artistic differences had led to the break. An answering statement by Harry F. Guggenheim, president of the board, said Sweeney's services no longer were needed in view of the museum's plan to broaden "the scope of its activities" with new approaches to the objectives sought by the founder.

DIRECTOR 3 YEARS

Sweeney has been director of the museum—formerly the Museum of Nonobjective Art—for eight years and had been considered responsible for a de-emphasis of abstract art.

Last year the museum moved into the new Wright-designed building on 5th Ave. at 88th St. The building became an overnight sightseeing sensation and a subject of debate.

The squat structure has a continuous spiral ramp along the walls of which paintings are hung.

It was no secret that Sweeney felt this spiral gallery was a challenge—at the very least.

"With Wright, it was architecture first," one museum spokesman said. "With Sweeney, pictures were first."

Wright had planned to hang the paintings on the angled walls along the ramp "as though on an easel."

Sweeney had metal arms made to hang the pictures out from the wall. He also changed the color

U.S. to Supply Uranium for State N-Power Plant

CHARLEVOIX (UPI)—The federal government will supply uranium "without charge for five years to power the Big Rock Point nuclear plant of Consumers Power Co.

3rd Transatlantic Cable to Be in Service by 1963

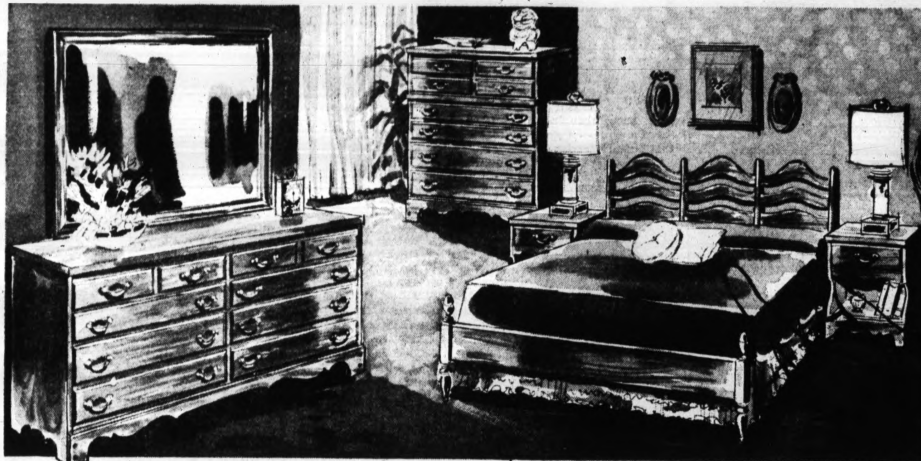

LONDON (AP)—A third transatlantic cable between England and the United States, costing 12 million pounds ($33,600,000) will come into operation in 1963, an agreement between the British Post Office and American Telephone and Telegraph Co. has disclosed.

The cable will stretch 3,400 nautical miles, longest ever laid, with 128 telephone circuits about with a band too narrow to handle live television transmission. The British and Americans will lay the cable jointly.

Many persons living in the Arctic build houses that are partially underground as a form of protection against severe winter weather.

Can Elephant Forget?

Memories Prick GOP

By JOE HAAS

CHICAGO—There are things that the Republican elephant would like to forget. They concern some happenings in connection with the 1952 election.

That was the off year when it didn't have its 1952 and 1956 magnet. That magnet was Ike, who in two presidential elections had dragged it in. The elephant will not have that magnet in 1960, hence some gloom.

An old story tells of an elephant in a circus parade who stuck his trunk into the open window of a "tailor" shop in quest of peanuts, but the tailor pricked it with a needle.

Several years later the circus was in the same town, and the elephant carried a trunk full of water.

into the parade, and nearly drowned that tailor.

The Republican elephant well remembers the state that it received in its trunk and elsewhere in 1952.

It claims they were principally received from members of its own party who didn't go to the polls. In tight political parlance that's almost treason.

It proposes to get vengeance in 1960 with a flood of ballots from those stay-at-homes and that ain't peanuts.

With the advance troops for the Republican National Convention already filling the downtown hotels, parading Michigan avenue and trying to hear themselves think in the din of the Loop, Chicago very methodically takes on its convention pose.

IT HAS EVERYTHING

For Chicago is a convention city. It was such even before Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern and started the fire that almost destroyed the city.

Now this great Middle West city whose residents claim will surely become the largest in the world (the 1960 census showed it declined a few hundred thousand in population, has everything to handle a big convention, and knows how to handle it. Conventions are its habit, by and meat—and livelihood.

Quite in contrast is it to Los Angeles which has just entertained its first national political convention, and come out of it groggy.

Those good Los Angeles people proved they were natives at every turn—but wouldn't admit it.

The closing program was a good example. It was held in their much-touted Municipal Coliseum, which like their also-much-touted Rose Bowl, is pretty crude when compared to Michigan's Yost Bowl at Ann Arbor.

A first-rate four-hour program of local talent started at four o'clock with the mercury hovering around the hundred mark and the California sun and clear skies doing their damndest. Many people, myself included, could not endure it.

At eight o'clock Kennedy and Johnson gave their acceptance speeches to a crowd that could not hear them.

Thundershowers Are Forecast for Tonight

TODAY'S TEMPERATURES

1 a.m.	72	10 a.m.	76
6 a.m.	71	12 m.	84
8 a.m.	75	1 p.m.	87

Showers and thundershowers are forecast for tonight, but Saturday and Sunday will be generally fair and a little cooler, the weatherman says.

For the next five days temperatures will average near the normal high of 81-87 and normal low of 64-65. Tonight's low will be about 68.

Participation will total about one-half inch occurring as showers tonight and again in most of the area Tuesday night or Wednesday.

Rainfall this morning registered .04 of an inch. Southwest winds at six miles an hour at 10:15 a.m. today will become briskly higher during thundershowers and become northwest Sunday.

Seventy was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 1 p.m. the thermometer reading was 87.

Newberg Will Pay Chrysler $450,000-Plus

Ex-President Profited From Firm's Suppliers — Officers Being Probed

DETROIT (AP) — Board Chairman L. L. Colbert of Chrysler Corp. said today an investigation is continuing into outside business interest of officials of the automobile company.

The probe was disclosed suddenly Thursday with the announcement by the board of directors in New York that William C. Newberg had agreed to pay Chrysler more than $450,000 in profits made by him from interests in companies which sell to Chrysler.

Newberg quit as Chrysler president June 30 after holding the job only 61 days. At that time it was said only that there were differences of opinion on matters of corporate policy.

Varied reports circulated in Detroit regarding the reasons, but both Chrysler and Newberg remained absolutely mum until Thursday's announcement.

Thursday night, when Colbert returned to Detroit, he told newsmen the investigation will be continued by the company's general counsel, the New York law firm of Kelley, Drye, Newhall & Maginnis, along with independent auditors.

He was asked if other Chrysler officials were involved.

"I know of no one at this time," he said. "Let's not get into that."

Three months ago at the Chrysler annual stockholders' meeting Colbert, then president of the company, said "I would like it understood that I do not own nor have I ever owned any interest, stock or otherwise, in any of our vendors." Neither did any of his family, he said, and to his knowledge neither did any of other officers or directors of Chrysler.

Chrysler and Newberg refused to identify any of the suppliers involved. Newberg, through an attorney, issued a statement saying he saw nothing wrong with his dealings, but he refused to say what the dealings were.

"I entered into the questioned relationship with the vendor (supplier) companies after advice of counsel and in the belief that they were in the interest of the corporation and that no question of illegality or impropriety was involved," he declared.

However, the board in its statement said: "The directors believed it to be their responsibility to seek recovery from Mr. Newberg of his profits."

Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny repeated his government's earlier assurance that the Belgian troops would be withdrawn "as soon as the United Nations can ensure order and safety." He pointed out that a phased withdrawal from Leopoldville, the Congo capital, had started.

The new resolution also asked U.N. members not to undermine the territorial integrity of the Congo, whose rich Katanga Province has declared its secession with Belgian connivance, the Congolese government and the Russians charge.

Boy Finds $100

"THE RIGHT THING" — Eight-year-old Leroy Pass found a $100 bill on a Pontiac street yesterday. He told his babysitter, Mrs. Thomas A. Perry, 611 E. Main Street, that the right thing to do was to take it to the police station to see if they could find the owner. That's what he did. He presented the bill to Police Sgt. Tilton Rogge. Leroy is the son of Mrs. Willard Crosby, 712 E. Main Street. He'll get the money back if its owner can't be found, police promised.

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union goes before the U.N. Security Council today with another slashing attack on the United States, charging deliberate violation of Soviet borders by American spy planes.

The attack was expected to touch off a major cold war clash with the United States. America will reply Monday.

President Eisenhower instructed U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to hit back hard in accordance with Washington's tough new line toward Soviet threats and accusations.

One of the Kremlin's top diplomats, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, was to deliver a detailed, all-out speech which Soviet sources said would conclude with a demand for condemnation of the United States as an aggressor.

The Soviet complaint to the council was titled "New aggressive acts by the Air Force of the United States against the Soviet Union, creating a threat to universal peace."

STIRS FROM DOWNING

The complaint grew out of the shooting down of a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane over the Barents Sea by a Soviet jet fighter July 1. The Soviet Union charged that the aircraft was over Soviet waters on an espionage mission.

The Russians are holding two of the plane's six crewmen and are expected to try them as spies. The Russians recovered the body of the plane's pilot, and the other three crewmen are missing.

The United States claims the plane was surveying magnetic fields in the Arctic waters for mapping and was shot down over international waters. The State Department said it was never closer than 20 miles to the Soviet shores.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has cited the RB47 incident as one of a series in a provocative Soviet campaign against the United States.

The present case is the fourth in which the Soviet Union has attacked the United States in the Security Council since the collapse of the summit conference two months ago.

The first was the U2 spy plane case. The Soviet Union sought to have the United States branded as an aggressor but failed. Earlier this week the Soviet Union backed Cuba's charges of economic aggression by the United States. In the Congo debate the Russians charged the United States had illegally sent military personnel to the chaotic African republic.

After the latest recommendation was presented to the Board, there was very little discussion. The only question was whether to drop the word "township" from the name.

Mrs. Barningham said, "It is the unanimous opinion of this committee that we change the name of the Thomas Edison High School back to its original name."

It is obvious the electors of Waterford Township wanted it this way, she said.

At a special names committee meeting Tuesday, Mrs. Barningham said, there was very little discussion on the subject because it was clear what the public desired. Pool said popular sentiment made it plain that the original name should remain the same.

Most of the 200 odd persons who testified before the 10-member Platform Committee during the last three days called for a halt to injecting the federal government into the economic and social welfare life of the nation.

The Democratic platform, on the other hand, pledged to expand federal activities in these fields.

NIXON vs ROCKEFELLER WHICH IS STRONGER?

The Whole Story Tomorrow In... "SUM of the PEOPLE"

HOW STRONG IS ROCKY? — How much strength would Gov. Nelson Rockefeller add to the Republican ticket in the Northeast? Does he pose a threat to Richard Nixon in that vital voting area? To learn the answers, read John Kraft's significant "Sum of the People" survey in tomorrow's Pontiac Press.

Worst Fires in 30 Years Scorch Western Forests

Idaho Requests Disaster Status

Timber Blazes Grow as Damage Estimates Hit Millions of Dollars

By the Associated Press

From British Columbia to Mexico, from the Pacific to the Rockies, hundreds of fires destroyed forests, watersheds, and homes today.

Interior Department officials called the roaring conflagrations the worst in the West in 30 years. They were the worst ever in many areas.

As exhausting men battled the flames in nine states and a Canadian province, urgent calls for help were issued. Response came from as far east as Pennsylvania.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho declared an extreme emergency existed in his state and asked President Eisenhower to recognize Idaho as a major disaster area.

Pontiac Press Photo

Regional Forester Floyd Iverson of Ogden, Utah, said, "We think there is a possibility of arson in the Idaho fires and we are investigating." Iverson said the FBI is helping.

Enormous Los Angeles County—the country's largest—declared itself a disaster area, calling the fire outbreak its worst in history.

Flames roared on through other wooded areas of California and Oregon, Nevada, Arizona, and British Columbia.

FIRES GROWING

With millions of dollars of damage already estimated, the appalling news from most areas was that the fire intensity was increasing steadily.

Flames crept closer to the Hearst San Simeon castle, a multimillion-dollar treasure of art and antiques on the California coast.

In Idaho's Boise National Forest, Supervisor Howard Ahlsgren estimated the toll may reach 20,000 acres. Hot, dry, windy weather was forecast today, and 300 men launched an all-out effort to control one of the state's two biggest fires, about 30 miles east of Boise.

A 3,000-acre fire in western Idaho's Payette National Forest, out of control since Tuesday, raged on unchecked.

The best news from the vicinity came from the Idaho-Oregon border where an enormous blaze was reported controlled late Thursday night after devastating some 30,000 acres of range land.

A 4,000-acre fire on Rattlesnake Mountain crumbled to nothing as firefighters of the National Forest's great timber stand west of Cody, Wyo., Supervisor Ed Piermont of the Bureau of Land Management said at the scene. "Conditions couldn't be worse."

Efforts were hampered by torrential rain who clogged roads.

Tornado Threat Fizzes

Oklahoma, North Lakes Drubbed by Thunderstorm

By the Associated Press

Thunderstorms drenched parts of Oklahoma and the northern Great Lakes today, but a tornado threat in the lakes region failed to materialize.

Clinton, Okla., was swamped with 3 1/2 inches of rain, and most of southwest Oklahoma had at least half an inch. In the South, Augusta, Ga., Greenwood, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn., reported one-inch rainfalls.

In the Great Lakes area thunderstorms with gusty winds and hail lashed parts of Michigan. Houghton reported two inches of rain and wind gusts up to 45 miles an hour. Marquette had 4 1/2 inches in a half-hour rainfall.

However, the Weather Bureau said, its warning period of possible tornadoes passed without one being sighted.

LOWER PLAINS

Temperatures continued hot in the West but there was some relief. Readings in the northern plains this morning were as much as 15 degrees lower than Thursday's. The desert Southwest also showed a slight cooling trend, but the Weather Bureau advised that many Western areas could expect another day of temperatures above the 100-degree mark.

The Dakotas, California, Idaho, Utah and Arizona all had readings over 100 degrees Thursday. The only cooler weather was in the Northeast.

Johnson in Mexico at Home of Ex-President

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—Democratic vice presidential candidate Lyndon B. Johnson said Thursday he came here to "get some sun," but he expects to see 100,000 people and will have nothing to say. Johnson arrived here Wednesday and is staying at the home of former ex-President Miguel Alemán.

In the months ahead we intend to make the people of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and other area communities aware of what the House does and can do for them—and how much it means simply to have the house available in the area where they live.

Blair was elected and became chairman of "War Governor," an honor that would undoubtedly have been Wisner's had he been willing to accept it.

But his love for his Pontiac and Oakland County home follows too much for him. And his work in the task he chose to assume stands as one of the most brilliant episodes in local history.

Victor M. Lindquist, assistant director of Pontiac Northern High School, has been appointed director of scholarships and assistant director at Michigan State University, Oakland.

In announcing the appointment today, MSU Chancellor D. B. Varner said the university was "very fortunate to have obtained a man of Victor Lindquist's abilities for this important post."

Lindquist will assume his new duties at MSU on Aug. 18. His first task will be to acquire secondary schools in Oakland, Macomb and Lapeer counties with the considerable amount of scholarship and other financial assistance available at MSU.

In addition to serving as liaison between MSU and area high schools, he will review and act on all applications for admission to MSU.

In commenting on Lindquist's appointment, Philip Ford, assistant superintendent of the Pontiac School District, said:

"He is ideally equipped for this new job. He has already provided excellent leadership in the community."

When the Republicans were inaugurating their first president, Abraham Lincoln, in 1861, Pontiac was shaking off its village awash in clothing and becoming a city.

Hence, St. Whitfield, we're celebrating our centennial tonight. But there's a lot more Pontiac to it.

When Lincoln finally was nominated to make the run in that Republican convention of 1860, also held in Chicago, he was considered to be somewhat of an unknown. John C. Fremont had been the Republicans' first presidential nominee in 1856, but was defeated.

In the Republican convention of 1860, Michigan's 14 delegates were strong for William H. Seward to head the ticket, and faithfully voted for him on every ballot. When he lost, they claimed he had been "murdered by the politicians."

The Michigan delegation included D. C. Buckland of Pontiac, a local political leader of 100 years ago, who was one of the strongest backers of Seward.

The leader of the Michigan delegation was Austin Blair of Jackson, who, when the Seward bandwagon was swamped, told the delegates that they must swallow their bitterness and rally to the support of Lincoln, which they did.

At the Republican state convention, which followed in a few weeks, Blair was nominated for governor when Pontiac's Moses Wiener, then holding that office, refused to be a candidate for reelection because he foresaw the building of a new school, Pontiac Northern. There he has demonstrated unusual ability in working with youths, parents and teachers.

"He will make a strong professional contribution to MSU," he said. "We are proud to have him here and we hope he will be making a real contribution to the community from another vantage point."

Lindquist, a native of Iowa, is 36 years old. He received his B.A. degree from Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill., and M.A. degree from Wayne State University.

The Day in Birmingham

Community House Short of Funds, but Carries On

BIRMINGHAM—Despite the fact that the Birmingham Community House is still $10,000 short of its $31,000 goal for operating funds, it will continue operations for "a long time to come and have the strongest program in its history this year," said Board of Directors President Eugene J. Barney today.

"The Board feels that the House is needed more at this time and in the years ahead than it has ever been. With the entire area growing at the present rate, the community will require every available resource," he said.

The population of the area has increased 40 per cent in the last 10 years.

The Birmingham Community House has been the focal point of this area's social, educational, cultural and philanthropic activities for the past 37 years, and we fully intend to continue meeting the needs of the people—even more effectively than in the past."

Barney explained that the Community House may have to bypass its long-range planning and deprecate fund and temporarily reduce its maintenance and repair program since the fund drive goal has not been met.

Red Tinge Evident in Radio Broadcasts

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Communist influence is showing up in Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congo government. The Red Tinge is now evident in broadcasts of the Leopoldville radio station, controlled by the information minister, Aliche Kasumura.

Announcers have begun to quote the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda and the Soviet news agency Tass. Occasionally a long telegram from some iron curtain country condemning "the imperialists" will be read. Lumumba himself has a record of close friendship with the Soviet Union.

But there is no Communist movement of any strength among the Congo's 13 million largely illiterate people.

Whatever the trend, a reference by Lumumba to the Suez Canal controversy in 1956 is perhaps significant. Threatening again to call in Soviet soldiers Lumumba said that, following Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal, all capitalist nations of the west sided with Britain and France. Actually U. S. intervention was a major factor in stopping British-French and Israeli attacks on Egypt. The Soviet Union at that time was threatening to send "volunteers" to the scene.

Harold Stassen Prefers Rocky as GOP Nominee

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Stassen, the Republican who tried to keep Richard M. Nixon off the 1956 ticket, is at it again. Stassen said Thursday he prefers New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1960 GOP Presidential nomination.

"Either Nixon or Rockefeller would be a better choice than Kennedy or Johnson," Stassen said in low-rating the Democratic ticket of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

"But of the four Rockefeller would be best," he added.

Stassen, now a practicing attorney in Philadelphia, is a member of the GOP Pennsylvania delegation. He came to the convention scene early to testify before platform subcommittees.

U.S. to Charge Soviet Sec. Ezhov as Spy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is reported getting ready to crack down on another Soviet Embassy diplomat on charges he is a spy.

Informal authorities reported that the State Department within a few days will demand that Petr Y. Ezhov, Soviet Embassy Third Secretary, leave the country.

The Justice Department is reported to have evidence that Ezhov, and another Soviet diplomat who has already left, sought to collect intelligence data while ostensibly serving as diplomats.

Details of their reported espionage activities were not disclosed. Informants said the nature of the operations might be revealed if and when the announcement about expulsion is made.

There are reports that Ezhov is planning to leave for Moscow even before the department can order him out. Thus far he has not notified the department of any plan to leave.

Red Patrol Boat Halts U.S. Ship

Freighter Was Bound for India With Wheat 350 Miles at Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—The skipper of an American freighter reports that an armed Soviet patrol vessel stopped his ship July 7 in the North Pacific about 350 miles from the Soviet Kuril Islands.

The incident, disclosed Thursday, was termed by admiralty lawyers a violation of international law.

The ship involved was the Ocean Eva, a 10,770-ton C2 carrying wheat from Portland, Ore., to India.

The ship's captain, J. J. Buskin of the Bronx, described the episode in a letter to his wife Naomi. He said the vessel was a Soviet "patrol boat armed with what appeared to be a four-inch gun forward and a large piece aft, with the usual nests of anti-aircraft about the bridge and upper decks." It hoisted the K signal flag, meaning the American ship was to stop at once.

"I stopped and he hailed me in fairly good English, asking what ship, what owners, where from and where bound," Buskin wrote. "I answered all his questions as he lay close alongside. I asked them why he stopped me on the high seas. He replied, 'Thank you, you may proceed.'"

Scottsville Gives Station Wagon to Ailing Band

SCOTTVILLE (UPI)—The Quade Muscular Dystrophy Band is the proud owner of a new station wagon automobile — a gift from the people of Scottville.

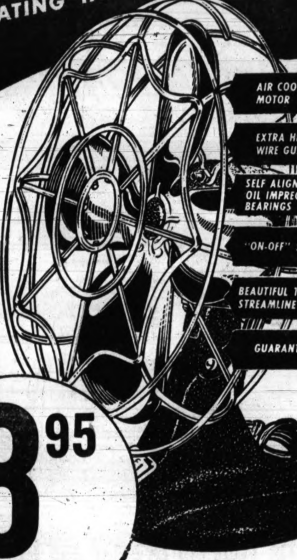

The band is comprised of Louis Quade, 24, Donald Quade, 17, and Bill Quade, 10. All three brothers have muscular dystrophy.

The Quades, who play a variety of musical instruments and entertain at festivals, fairs and dances, got the new car earlier this week to climax a drive that was going on since last fall to raise $2,500.

Scottville "adopted" the Quades when they performed at the Scottville Harvest Festival last fall. The community wanted them to have a car big enough for them to travel in comfortably with their musical instruments and wheelchairs.

More than 100 separate fires burn in the the Wallawa-Whitman National Forests. In the Los Angeles area, summer camps were evacuated and the Hearst San Simeon Castle threatened.

Delegates to See GOP Close-Up on TV Screens

CHICAGO (UPI)—Delegates and visitors to the Republican National Convention next week will get a special close-up view of the proceedings on the speakers' rostrum.

Five closed-circuit TV cameras will flash 24 feet by 32 feet pictures on special screens high above the rostrum at the International Amphitheatre.

Theatre Network Television, Inc., which is supervising the operation, said the screens will enable the audience in the Amphitheatre to witness the action as clearly as TV viewers at home.

House plants grow best at 65 to 70 degrees, temperatures.

Every Diet Should Have It

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am almost 14 years old. I always have believed that there is no such thing as a perfect food but I have heard that milk comes closest to being the perfect one. In the neighborhood I live in there are seven girls. Only two of us drink milk. The other five girls hate milk and refuse to drink it. The girls who do not drink it are taller, fatter and have much better figures than the two of us who do. I am very thin and have no figure whatsoever.

"I have asked about 20 girls if they drink milk. All those who do not drink it have beautiful figures and are pretty girls, while the ones who do drink it are skinny.

"Now I would stop drinking milk on the spot except for one minor situation. All the girls who have nice figures and don't drink milk have bad teeth, but the girls who do drink milk and have no figures have good teeth. It would seem I must choose good teeth or a good figure. Do you think this is just coincidence?"

A. "I've kept my teeth and my figure, too. It is true that there is no perfect food but that milk comes closer to it than any other. Therefore, it is a very valuable item in the diet.

While it is possible to obtain all of the essentials of a good diet without milk, few folks are well enough informed about nutrition or careful enough about it to plan a really fine diet without milk. It is a wonderful safeguard for health and a pretty complexion and a good figure. Milk is also especially helpful when you need to gain weight.

That was an interesting little survey you made but the results were just coincidence. There may be one legitimate factor in the evidence you've brought to light. Sometimes people who like milk drink so much of it that they neglect other foods. The diet should be well balanced.

Q. "Please help me! I need exercises to improve round shoulders."

A. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, crossing them in front of the body as they move up, reaching for the ceiling, and pulling back as you lower them sideways, downward. Lift the chin slightly and do not allow the head to protrude forward as you bring the arms back to place. Continue. If you would like to have my wallet, "Round Shoulders — Just Bust — Reverse!" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Sharon Lee Carroll to Wed in the Fall

Fall vows are planned by Sharon Lee Carroll and Charles Gordon Turner, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Monroe of Neome Drive and Chester G. Turner of San Diego, Calif.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Lee Clinton Carroll, owner of Birmingham boulevard, Birmingham, and the late Mr. Carroll.

Her fiancé attended the University of Michigan.

For Men: Green, Gold and Old

The Season's Suits May Be Unsuitable to Many a Male

By HUG A. MULLEN
 NEW YORK (AP)—Men, if you want to be in the avant garde of fashion this season, hold onto that double-breasted suit up in the attic—the green one, preferably—and rush to the nearest Salvation Army depot for a pair of high button shoes.

Everything you and your grandfather ever owned has a good chance of coming back into style again.

This became apparent Thursday when the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear unveiled its new fall line before an audience of top female fashion writers and a few unkempt male reporters.

The Ivy League look is still with us, and so is the Continental look, but apparently the disgruntled designers have abandoned any real hope of dragging the American male into the rocket age. The big hit of the show was something called the British accent in men's wear, a tailor's throwback to a gilder, agilder era that might more accurately have been named the Immigrant Look.

LOUD CHECKS

Your real top this year, if the designers have their way, will sport a loud check suit, preferably green or gold, a bowler hat, high-rising tan gallops, and look for all the world as if he had just disembarked from a ship that somehow was delayed 50 years at sea.

Also seating guests were the bride's brothers William Becker Jr. of Walled Lake and Charles Becker of Williams Lake.

LaBarge-Payne Wedding Set for August

Announcement is made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Kaye Ann Isabel LaBarge to Earl Eugene Payne, son of the Walter Henry Paynes of Foster street.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Lauren Stephen Miller of Joslyn avenue and the late Mr. LaBarge.

An August 24 altar date in St. Michael Church has been named.

Plan Reunion Dance

Plans for an Aug. 20 dinner-dance reunion are being made by several members of the January 1951 graduating class of Pontiac High School. General Chairman Gerald Frericks has announced committee chairmen as: William Freer, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Holan, Mrs. Kurt Benman Jr. and Mrs. David Tucker, publicity and mailing; Ronald Woodhull and Mrs. Nicholas Gennolas, program.

Others are Mrs. Charles Harmon, Philip McIntosh, James Worthington and Kurt Benman Jr., decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hague are handling name tags.

Graduates interested in attending are urged to make early reservations.

Mass Offered for Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wyzgoski of Kircher court will mark their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday at a Mass offered by their grandparents, the Rev. Robert Wyzgoski, at 9:15 a.m. in St. Benedict Church.

Following the Mass, a family breakfast will be served at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyzgoski have seven sons, two daughters, 21 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Now there's a handy roll-on perfume, about the size of a lipstick case, to be filled with your own favorite perfume or cologne.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Is there anything we can do to help our pet adjust to a stay in a kennel?

A. Few owners escape the problem of where to leave the pet during vacations. Conscientious kennel owners will not board a dog that has not had the necessary inoculations, but psychological as well as physical preparation will make the animal's vacation more pleasant.

The spoiled dog will naturally find it harder to adjust. Generally speaking, kennel personnel have neither time nor access to special diets, so the dog that has been raised on varied foods will accept a change of menu more readily.

Give the kennel some knowledge of your dog's habits. Is he an indoor or outdoor dog?

Used to air-conditioning? Any particular dislikes or health problems? Leave the name of the veterinarian who has your dog's history in case of illness. Kennel employees wouldn't be hired if they didn't like animals, so don't worry about your pet being completely deprived of affection.

Dem Insurgents Triumph in N.Y.

To Aid Kennedy Drive; Bosses Fail to Assume Exclusive Direction

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The prestige of New York's Democratic insurgents rode high today with official recognition of their power by the party's presidential candidate.

The state leaders failed in their attempt to assume exclusive direction of Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential campaign in this state.

The result of this, an informed source said, is that Kennedy will have two campaign organizations in New York—one run by the regular organization headed by State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast and Tammany Hall chief Carmine G. De Sapio; the other by the insurgents, commanded by former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

TO NAME CHAIRMAN
Kennedy will name an overall chairman, not connected with either faction, the source said. State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, in a bid to assume the role of peacemaker and to take a prominent role in the statewide campaign, "announced" Wednesday night he would confer with county chairmen and candidates throughout the state.

"As the only statewide Democratic elected official," he said in a statement, "it is my responsibility to make every effort to bring all segments of the Democratic party together for a successful campaign."

Levitt is not considered close to either the regular organization or the insurgents. He is regarded as an aspirant for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1962. Kennedy acknowledged the insurgents' influence by announcing in Hyannis Port, Mass., that he was establishing a "Citizens-for-Kennedy" group for those who want to participate in this effort with regular party organizations.

$130 Million U.S. Aid Added for Poland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today granted Communist Poland an additional 130 million dollars in economic aid as part of its policy of encouraging the Poles to rely less on Moscow.

The aid, all in the form of surplus farm products, raises to 444 million dollars the amount extended to the Polish government in the past four years.

The new agreement, signed today at the State Department, came only five days after the regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka agreed to pay 40 million dollars to compensate Americans whose property was seized in Poland after World War II. The State Department decided to China.

Writer Gets Permission to Travel in Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—A writer for Cowles publications has received a passport for travel in Communist China and may already be there. State Department officials said today.

They said that Edgar Snow presented a Red Chinese visa describing him as a writer, going to the China mainland as the guest of a New Zealand journalist living there.

The State Department, officials said, validated Snow's passport enabling him to visit Communist China.

Elite Legion of Valor to Convene Aug. 30

BOSTON (AP)—Some 200 members of the Army and Navy Legion of Valor, elite of U. S. veterans organizations, meet in 70th annual national convention in Boston Aug. 30, then leave for a tour of European battle fields where many won their decorations.

The legion's 1,800 membership includes only recipients of the Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross or Navy Cross.

Stock Market Dull, Dull - - Now Where's That Rally?

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market is above its lows for the year, below its highs, the duller for a month and a half, and no one wants to guess where it is going.

It's in the summer doldrums and approaching a period where a summer rally has taken hold in nearly every year in market history.

But it has many worried which the alternative reaction — Khrushchev, Kennedy, Cuba and Congo.

Actually the foregoing are seen as mere excuses. The real reason for lethargy and declining prices is seen as an erosion of the economy which had made itself felt strongly in steel mill operations.

Reduced steel production has held down car loadings. But other major lines have done fairly well. Home building has slipped but this phase of construction has been offset by strength in other department, notably additions to manufacturing plants and rehabilitation of existing facilities.

CAR OUTPUT HIGH

Automobile production has held high and soon new models will be rolling off the assembly lines.

Altogether, the industrial level has held only a small distance below the record high. And gross national product and national income have achieved new all-time highs.

The situation is seen as one of those things that cannot be predicted. No one knows what the trading element is going to do. And the market is swayed back and forth by the collective opinion of all those who trade in it.

So far this year, the market graph has presented a sawtooth appearance — a new high record for industrials on Jan. 5 — a 62.85 point decline to Jan. 29 — a 14.39 rise to Feb. 2 — a 25.59 point drop to Feb. 16 — a 20.67 rise to Feb. 26 — a 20.90 decline to March 8 — the year's low — a 21.67 point rise to

News is improving. Steel operations are slowly coming back after a sharp decline. Automobile companies are making their changes to new models.

Home building is picking up moderately. Oil inventories are being reduced and petroleum product prices are hardening. When steel picks up a bit more, rails are expected to benefit.

Many in Wall Street agree that the worst has been seen for the present and that the immediate future should witness a steady rise in business with a flourish of strength in the fourth quarter.

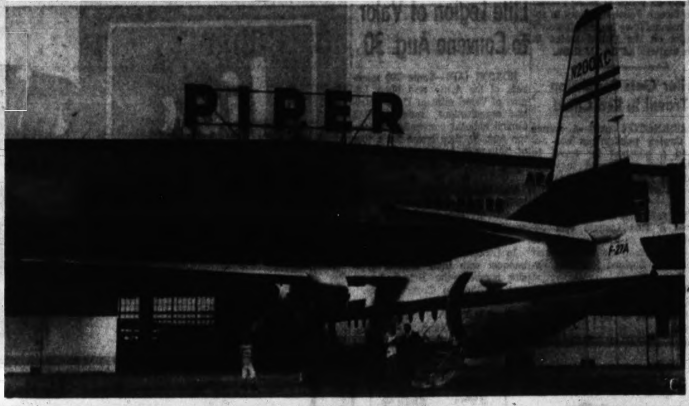

Presidential Cabinet Meets to Be Crowded?

CHICAGO (UPI) — It's going to get a little crowded at the President's cabinet meetings if Congress adopts all of the proposals for new federal departments being proposed to Republican platform-drafters.

There now are 10 cabinet officers.

But the veterans of foreign wars want cabinet status for the administrator of veterans affairs who spends $5 billion a year. Big city mayors and the AFL-CIO have proposed a secretary of housing and urban affairs.

And the AFL-CIO also wants a new department charged solely with looking after the interests of consumers. It would be headed by the "Secretary of Consumers."

ONE OF THE LARGEST — Pontiac Municipal Airport yesterday welcomed one of the largest planes ever to land at the local field — a turbo-prop Fairchild 27 owned by the Kimberly Clark Corp. of Neenah, Wis. The $1,200,000 twin-engine plane returned to Pontiac for a check of a special instrument installation put in the luxurious craft last year by Phil Stromberg of the Aerodynamics, Inc. Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, said his field has had other Fairchild 27's. Convoys and once had a visitor in a huge C-119 "Flying boxcar."

Protests Switch in Clinic Control

LANSING (UPI) — A proposal to switch jurisdiction of the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit from the State Mental Health Department to Wayne State University has run into stiff opposition.

Charles F. Wagg, state mental health director, entered a strong protest here yesterday before a house committee headed by Rep. Ben E. Lohman (R-Hamilton).

Lohman said the neuropsychiatric institute at Ann Arbor did some outstanding work under control of the University of Michigan. Purpose of his committee, he said, was to determine if the Lafayette Clinic would function better under Wayne control.

Wagg said the clinic, opened five years ago, operated with high efficiency and that he knew of no complaints against the present set-up. It has become a focal point for research and for the development and training of specialists to work with his department, Wagg said.

Rural Mail Carriers Set for Pheasant Brood Count

LANSING (UPI) — Rural mail carriers will make their annual summer pheasant brood counts along their regular routes from July 25-Aug. 5.

The State Conservation Department said the count has proved very reliable in helping to predict the number of pheasants available for the fall shooting season.

Two Blind Men Will Hitchhike Miami to Philly

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Two blind men have announced plans for a hitchhiking trip to Philadelphia.

Bill Scrimgeour, 36, of London, England, and Bob Lambert, 37, of Philadelphia, are going to make the trip with their seeing-eye dogs because they found opportunities lacking here.

Scrimgeour will be looking for work and Lambert wants aid in completing life preparation for teaching mathematical logic.

California claims to be the nation's fastest growing state.

E. Germany Sending Technicians to Cuba

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany is sending engineers and technicians to Cuba to help install factory equipment bought by a recent Cuban economic delegation, the East German news agency ADN reported today.

The projects are among 56 for which the delegation contracted during a tour of Iron Curtain countries. They include a brush factory, a canning plant and equipment for manufacturing welding electrodes. Cuban technicians will come to East Germany for training within a few weeks, ADN said.

New U.S. Policy: Call Red Bluffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has embarked on a policy of calling the Soviet Union's bluff each time it believes Kremlin leaders are threatening action they never will dare carry out.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter disclosed that tough new line Thursday in blasting Soviet threats to send troops to the violence-tracked Congo.

Abandoning his usual diplomatic bluster, Herter bluntly assailed as a reckless bluff Moscow's widely advertised claims that it wants to be fully legitimized to sound frightening help stamp out what it calls Western imperialism in the new African republic.

Herter pledged that the United States will press ahead with all-out moral and material support for United Nations efforts to end the violence, regardless of Soviet threats.

Responsible diplomatic authorities said today more firm rejections of this kind can be expected from administration leaders in handling Moscow's virtual unprecedented campaign of threats, protests, insults and propaganda.

This reflects a high-level administration belief that the Soviet threats represent more phony bluster than menace. It is believed that in all of Moscow's outbursts so far, threats have been carefully hedged to avoid frightening without committing the Soviet Union to action.

The call-the-bluff policy will carry one step further the administration's determination to fire back tough and fast at Moscow's anti-American propaganda thrusts.

U.N. Force Takes Over Strife-Torn Congo City

MATADI, The Congo (AP)—A United Nations task force took over control Thursday of this strategic Lower Congo port city, held for the past 10 days by mutinous Congolese soldiers.

Matadi, in normal times a city of around 22,000, is the Congo's chief port. It is on the Congo River 100 miles inland from the sea, southwest of the capital at Leopoldville.

Should Laundry Lose Shirt? Boyle Resumes a Stiff Fight

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Well, it happened again.
Yep, this morning.
The day started off swell. I hit the alarm clock—that mechanical bird in my boudoir—with the first flung shoe, and it fell over and said "sleep."
The shining sun heralded the advent of another morning of challenge.
Man has many thousands of challenging mornings in his lifetime, however, and a fellow doesn't have to be in any hurry about getting up to meet any particular one.
Time has taught me the better part of valor is to take the challenge of each fresh day by going down as long as possible. I like to lie there and in my mind preview the potentialities of the day and its probable ambushes.
That way, when you finally get out of bed and stand on your feet you are ready to face the surprises you have stealed yourself against in advance.
ALL SEEMED WELL
Well, this morning I couldn't foresee any possible ambushes. The weather was fine, the rent wasn't due, the cat wasn't scratching my daughter and I could hear my wife humming in the kitchen.
She still hunts that old tune, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," and after 23 years of marriage I still wonder who she really is in mind.
Well, I got up and showered and the water was just the right temperature. And I shaved and the razor blade was sharp against the whiskers but didn't cut the skin. You don't like starch in your shirts.

The day looked better and better. I pulled on my socks and pants and shoes and started humming loud enough to be heard in the kitchen. "I'm getting sentimental over you—oo, too—oo."
Then it happened. Yes, it happened again.
I bent down and tugged a shirt from the drawer, removed it from its pristine cellophane and cardboard container, and started to do it.
LIKE ARMOR PLATE
Don't it? It was like trying to buckle on armor plate. The shirt was stiff enough to stand on its tail. The cuffs as I fought my fists through them fought back with a white firmness.
The collar was an iron halter, and my first attempt to button it failed. It cut my throat and threatened to throttle me.
Yes, it had happened again.
I stalked into the kitchen and confronted my wife in majestic silence.
"What's the matter now—did you break a shoe?" she asked.
"No, Starch!"
"Not starch!" Frances exclaimed. "Not starch again!"
"Yes, starch! Again... and again..."
"We have a new laundryman," said my wife. "He didn't know

Wealthy Girl, 16, Elopes and Weds a Cameraman

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—A three-state search was called off when parents of a teenage couple learned they had eloped.
Jeanne Sottile, 16, daughter of a millionaire banker, and Harold Walsh III, 17, an apprentice cameraman, sent identical telegrams to their parents: "We are married and safe. Be home Friday. Sorry for any worry. Love."

The telegrams came from Marianna, in northwest Florida. The couple, sweethearts for two or three years, had vanished Wednesday from their homes a block from each other.

Jeanne is a daughter of James Sottile Jr., of the Sottile banks group and citrus-cattle empire. Walsh is a son of Harold Walsh II, nationally-known cameraman who filmed Jerry Lewis' movie "The Bellboy" and Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo."

June Housing Starts Retain May Level

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Housing starts in June held steady at about the May level, the Commerce Department reported Thursday.
Work was begun on 129,500 housing units, only 700 less than in the previous month. But the June level was far below the 153,300 housing starts of June 1959.

Home building in 1959 has been running behind the 1959 pace since the beginning of the year.
The department said private housing starts in June were at an annual rate of 1,334,000 dwelling units, unchanged from May. Counting only private, nonfarm houses on which work was begun, the June activity hit a rate of 1,316,000 units.

Junk Coroner System in Kalamazoo County

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—On next Jan. 1, Kalamazoo County will become the 38th county in Michigan to discard the traditional coroner's system in favor of medical examiners.

The action was taken on an appeal from the Academy of Medicine with the endorsement of the two Kalamazoo coroners.

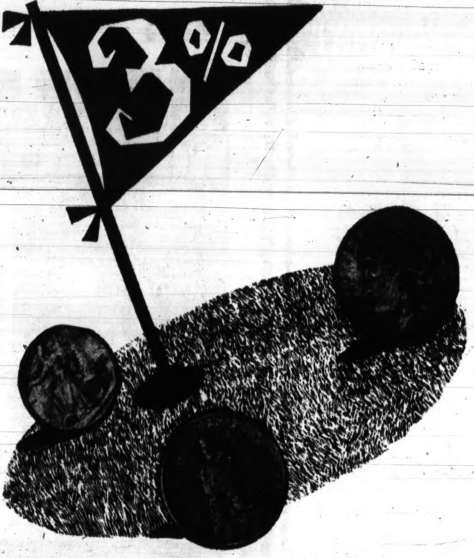

Kalamazoo County will have two medical examiners who will operate under the direction of Dr. E. Freeman Hervey, director of the County Health Department.

The change will cost the county about $10,000 a year. The old rate for a coroner was $3 a call. The Board of Supervisors was told the $5 fee was too little.

State Adds 100.6 Miles of Freeway in 12 Months

LANSING (AP)—The fiscal year ended June 30 saw 100.6 miles of freeways added to Michigan's highway system, the State Highway Department reported.

Michigan now has 387 miles of freeways, including one continuous stretch of 84 miles on Interstate 94 from Jackson to Paw Paw.

Lauded at Rival Birthday Parties

Hare, Swainson Both Feted 10 Days Ahead Lash at Bagwell

LANSING (AP)—"Happy birthday to you" sang Michigan Democrats last night, and L. Gov. John B. Swainson and Secretary of State James M. Hare bowed and smiled in acknowledgment.

The song and the city were the same, but the setting and the senders were not.

Hare and Swainson both blew out the candles on their birthday cakes 10 days early as supporters planned for a show of strength in their rival campaigns for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Hare, who will be 39 on July 31, greeted close to 1,000 guests who jammed the main floor of Lansing's Civic Center. They came by bus and car from across the Lower Peninsula.

Swainson, who will turn 35 on July 31, was cheered by a perspiring crowd of nearly 500, all from Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties, who filled a United Auto Workers union hall.

Celebrations and candidates carefully avoided any mention of the party or the honor guest across town.

Republican Paul D. Bagwell, the man the winner of the Aug. 2 primary will take on in the November election, came in for all the attention, none of it complimentary.

Swainson charged that Bagwell "lent his name and picture to the campaign that helped drag Michigan's good name through the mud" when he fought a losing fight to unseat Gov. Williams in 1958.

Hare maintained that to elect a man "with no experience and no background in public office simply does not make sense."

6 Teen Girls in Accident on 23-Mile

ROMEO — Six teenage Washington girls were hurt on 23-Mile Rd. nine miles southwest of here yesterday evening, when their station wagon skidded off the road, hit six guard rails and crashed into a tree.

Four of the girls were reported in fair condition today following the accident, which occurred at 7:30 p.m. just west of Romeo Plank road.

The driver, Kandara Rahn, 16, of 2191 Pilgrim St. suffered fractures and severe lacerations of the neck, according to Romeo Post State Police.

She was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, along with Sandra Shields, 13, of the same address, and Marilyn Vicks, 15, of 3824 Ruth Jean St.

Police said Marilyn had a possible fractured skull and internal injuries while Sandra, whose condition is listed as good, reportedly fractured her arm in the mishap.

Two others reported in fair condition at Almont Community Hospital are Linda Rowley, 14, of 8145 Pilgrim St. and Joyce Hunt, 16, of 8610 Pilgrim St.

Jeanne Curtis, 18, of 3825 Pilgrim St. was discharged after treatment at the Almont hospital.

Forced Attention on Her Ex-Boss-Mental Test Set

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (UPI)—A woman who allegedly helped kidnap her former employer in a vain effort to marry him has been ordered to undergo mental tests.

Mrs. Angelina Saller, 47, of Riverdale, N.J., was charged with assault with intent to kidnap former Camden Assemblyman Robert K. Worrell.

Mr. Saller and Alexander J. Olson, 55, also of Riverdale, were accused of taking Worrell, 68, to Elkhart, Md., to force him to marry Mrs. Saller, his former housekeeper.

Olson drove the car the day of the alleged incident, Oct. 19, 1959. Worrell attracted the attention of Elkhart police and the alleged attempt was frustrated.

Mrs. Saller and Olson were to be sentenced yesterday but Burlington County Judge Lester A. Drenk decided mental examinations should be made first at Trenton State Hospital.

HONORED NOW — John T. Scopes, 60, convicted 35 years ago Thursday of teaching evolution in the "monkey" trial at Dayton, Tenn., was a guest of honor at the anniversary. It was a masterful trial in 1925, with the renowned Clarence Darrow defending Scopes against special prosecutor William Jennings Bryan. The town was decked in bunting for the anniversary.

BEARD OF BEES—Henry Vandenberg of Elkhart looks somewhat Cincinnatian but that beard is made up of buzzing bees. He acquired it by sticking a box containing a queen bee on his chin and standing still while the rest of the bees assembled. Yes, he got stung—once on the hand.

Wins Police Pistol Shot

JACKSON — State Police Trooper Robert Steinhauser of the East Lansing Post was winner of a police pistol shoot here with 1,449 points out of a possible 1,500.

John Forman of the U.S. Border Patrol, Detroit, placed second with 1,447. Six other State Police marksmen were the next highest scorers in the warup for the national pistol matches.

Son of FDR Will Support Republicans

CINCINNATI (AP)—One son of the late Democratic President Franklin D. Roosevelt says frankly he's going to support the Republican party this year.

John A. Roosevelt, now a New York investment banker, said Thursday night: "I'm convinced Vice President Nixon has the best training and the greatest ability of anyone in this country for the job as president."

Roosevelt, youngest son of FDR, was here to speak to the convention of the National Business League, a predominantly Negro group.

He said he plans to attend the GOP convention in Chicago. He drifted from the Democratic camp in 1948.

Dohany Denies Order to Fire DPW Chief

SOUTHFIELD — City Council President C. Hugh Dohany today denied that he ordered City Administrator Robert J. McNutt to resign his 17,000-a-year post because of what he described as "public pressure and tension within the Council over McNutt."

McNutt has accused Dohany of ordering him to fire members of the city personnel, including Adams, and replace them with Dohany's personal friends.

It's Nice to Be Out in Front—Palmer

Comeback Kid Takes PGA Lead on Sizzling 67

Arnold Eyes Triple Crown of American Pro Golf at Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer headed for an unprecedented triple today as he led the 67th PGA championship into the second round by a single stroke.

And after being forced to baffle the last two holes to win the Masters, and coming from seven strokes off the pace to take the National Open, the Pennsylvania strong boy said:

"It's nice to be out in front for once."

Palmer had only five one-putts, and on the 500-yard second, which he reached in two with a screaming one-iron, he missed a 3-footer for an eagle.

The Ligonier led 34-33 67 over Firestone Country Club's 7,165-yard par 70 layout, with four birdies and a bogey. Right behind is veteran Sam Snead, who snared this championship 18 years ago and twice since.

The performance of the two long hitters featured the first day of this extravaganza in which the biggest PGA field in history is playing on the tournament's longest course for the biggest purse before the largest gallery. The first round's paid attendance was 10,223.

The long layout, its narrow fairways bordered by heavy rough and crossed by streams and ponds, took a heavy toll—especially in the ranks of the club professionals for whom the show piece was fashioned.

Only nine of the top 32 scorers are non-tourists. Just how many of the teaching pros will be around after this cut to the low 90—with the cutoff slated at scores near 131—is problematical.

Palmer finished early, and then let the starting field of 134 fire at his 67. Snead, bothered by hooking drives, came in late.

Joining Palmer and Snead as the only par-breakers were Paul Harvey, the slim tourist from Worcester, Mass., and veteran Freddie Haas of New Orleans. Each had a 68.

Bracketed at par 70 were Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, who tied for the runner-up spot last year; Don Fairfield of Casey, Ind.; Don January of Dallas, and sweet swinging Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif.

Three club pros huddled into a 10-way tie at 71. The top teachers were John O'Donnell of Baltimore, Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., and Ed Griffiths of Youngstown, Ohio.

With them were such tourists as long-hitting George Bayer, Al Beaslin and former champion Jim Ferrier.

The course was "loose" for the first round, with the tees well to the front and the pins in open spots, to hurry the big field to a before-dark finish.

But Ferrier, native Australian, said as he posted his 71:

"This place was real friendly, and probably will be for the second round, too. But they'll take the chains off Saturday and this monster will wake up and roar back. Those last two rounds will be no picnic."

The 90 survivors of today's round will be cut to 60 for Sunday's 18-hole dash to the wire. All who complete the 72 holes will get a slice of the $50,000 purse.

Some of the hot-shots are going to have to hustle to make the cut-off. Two-time winner Ben Hogan, making his first try in a dozen years, appeared safe with an opening 74.

HAPPY AFTER 67 — Arnold Palmer puts an arm around his wife, Winnie, after leaving the 18th green with a first round 67 in the National PGA tourney at Akron, Ohio Thursday. He put his early lead on the line today.

She Leads Open With 71

Wright Off to Good Start

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The determination of defending champion Mickey Wright and the red-hot wedge iron of Marilyn Smith were the principal topics of conversation today as the National Women's Open Golf Championship entered its second round at the Worcester Country Club.

Miss Wright, a San Diego, Calif. pro now trying for an unprecedented third consecutive championship, turned on the steers on the back nine Thursday to take the first-round lead with a one-under-par 71 over the 6,137-yard course.

Breaking out of a recent slump, through which she turned in only five birdies in nine rounds, Mickey scored six birdies in the opening round for her one-stroke lead over Miss Smith.

Her explanation—Determination. "Something just seems to happen when I enter the Open. I want it bad. And I'd rather be out in front, not trying to catch up," Mickey said.

"I was just lucky enough to guess the right club most often," she said.

The wedge turned out to be the right club for Miss Smith. She scored the only eagle of the round when she dropped a 30-foot wedge shot for a three on the 440-yard 12th hole.

She also clipped in on the 48-yard fifth hole for a birdie four.

Miss Smith, from French Lick, Ind., laughed when a rival suggested she was trying to eliminate a bad putter by holing out with the wedge. However, she admitted she'd like to do it consistently.

Miss Smith missed several relatively easy putts of varying length including a 4-footer on the eighth hole and a 3-footer on the final hole that cost her a tie for the lead.

Only the two leaders were able to match or break par. Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Marlene Bauer Haggis of Crystal River, Fla., were two over at 74.

PGA Scores

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — First round scores Thursday in the Professional Golfers Assn. Championship at the 7,165-yard, par 70 Arnold Palmer:

Arnold Palmer 67, Paul Harvey 68, Freddie Haas 68, Sam Snead 68, Doug Sanders 70, Don Fairfield 70, Don January 70, Ken Venturi 70, John O'Donnell 71, Bob Harris 71, Ed Griffiths 71, George Bayer 71, Al Beaslin 71, Jim Ferrier 71.

Douglas Upsets McKinley

Unseeded Netter in Semis

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Douglas, a 23-year-old Marine, has established a beachhead in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament against the big guns of three Davis Cup players.

The stocky, unseeded Douglas—a first string quarterback for the USF Stashoff football team—surprisingly has marched through to the semifinals and today faces the United States' top dog of the Davis Cup team, Barry MacKay.

The other semifinal match, which will be played Saturday, could well be a preview of Davis Cup championship competition. It sends No. 2 ranked Bernard (Frost) Barten, the southpaw precisionist who is aiming for his third straight Clay Courts title, against red-haired Rod Laver, another lefty and head man of the Australian Davis Cup squad.

Douglas gained the semifinals by trimming U.S. Davis Cupper Check McKinley 7-5, 6-4, 6-1 Thursday.

MacKay's cannonball service blew apart Don Dell 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. The 32-year-old Barten's placements overwhelmed Jack Frost 6-0, 6-1, 6-1. Laver, displaying tantalizing drop shots along with power, ousted the small Ecuadorian, Miguel Olivera, in three 6-4 sets.

One of the heartbreaks came in the women's division when Janet Hops of Seattle, Wightman Cup team captain, was forced to forfeit in the quarter-finals to 17-year-old Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

Miss Richey took the first set 9-7, lost the second 3-6 and was leading 5-1 in the third when Miss Hops suffered several leg cramps and had to be helped from the court. She was expected to be able to play in the doubles today.

Second-seeded Dorothy Head Knödel advanced and will meet Miss Richey in the semifinals Saturday. Gwyneth Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., both unseeded—will battle in the other semifinal today.

Finals in both divisions are Sunday.
