

21 Bodies Found in Mine; Probe of Fire Begins

CALUMET, La. (AP) — The bodies of 21 men who perished in the caverns of a salt mine have been found, and efforts were under way today to learn the cause of the fire that killed them.

The four-day search came to an end yesterday. Sixteen bodies were found huddled together in a tunnel 3,000 feet from the mine shaft. The other five were located a few hours later. Officials for Cargill, Inc., which owns the mine did not disclose the exact spot.

The tragedy struck eight months after the Federal Bureau of Mines recommended a sister shaft be sunk to provide better ventilation, an escape route and various fire controls.

H. A. Schreengost, a bureau official in Indianapolis, Ind., said the recommendations were made by A. M. Evans, a mining engineer from the Dallas sub-district, after an "observation walk-through" last August.

In Minneapolis, W. R. Pearch, a Cargill vice president, said the company recommended the inspection and that some recommendations were followed, with others "in the process of approval and implementation."

'NO SAFETY SUGGESTION'

Jim Bowe, a public relations man for the mining company, added Friday night, "there was no specific suggestion in the entire observation which could have prevented the fire."

Raymond R. Ashby, a coal mine safety expert from Kentucky who was on the mine floor when the first 18 bodies were found, said the men apparently "died of a carbon monoxide poisoning. They died a painless death. It was like lying down and going to sleep."

Ashby was one of the members of two six-man teams trained in mine rescue operations who worked at the mine site since their arrival Wednesday night.

Friends and relatives waited, hopes faltering as the long ordeal wore on. At the final announcement a mother collapsed on a cot, sobbing: "Oh my God, my son, my son!"

"I ain't got no brothers anymore," a woman wailed.

Two women fainted. Some miners cried. Other workers simply removed their hard hats and lowered their heads.

SAFE AFTER ORDEAL — Mrs. Karen Corbin, 25, of Pasadena is examined by Los Angeles firemen yesterday after she was rescued from the Los Angeles River. She was thrown four miles downstream after her car crashed through a fence on a Pasadena Freeway off-ramp, and she was thrown clear of the auto and into the rain-swollen stream. She suffered a broken leg and other injuries.

GOP Faction Raps Romney

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A conservative state senator charged today that Republican leadership under Gov. George Romney is joining with Democrats to push "legislation that the citizenship of this state opposes and wants to be heard on."

Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, added that Republicans in other states "are fully aware of what is going on in Michigan" and "I believe that feeling was manifest in New Hampshire."

Huber told some 150 conservative Republicans at a convention here that

Romney's withdrawal as a presidential candidate after failing to attract wide support in New Hampshire proved that "you can't fool all the people all the time."

In alluding to legislation which he said the people don't want, Huber mentioned open housing and the state income tax.

Meeting here in their first statewide convention, the conservative Republicans said they were trying to strengthen their position in the Michigan GOP and do not intend to desert it.

Senate Rights Bill Ready for Passage Vote Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than seven weeks of debate, the Senate has forged a civil rights bill which is ready for a final vote. A major provision would outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of most of the nation's housing.

"I think we got as much as we had any right to hope for," Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said. He termed the open-housing section an upset victory for his supporters.

The Senate approved the amended version 61 to 19, opening the way for a vote on passage Monday.

Antiriot Issues Moved in State

LANSING (AP) — State senators easily passed bills to define the crime of riot and create a State Police reserve yesterday while the House moved an antiriot measure into final vote position amid bitter debate.

The riot definition bill, approved 30-6 and sent to the House, grew out of a study by a special Crime Investigation Committee named by the Senate following last summer's Detroit riot.

The police reserve bill authorizes the State Police director to recruit, equip and train a special statewide reserve force to serve as an auxiliary in times of emergency, such as during riots or tornadoes.

Despite bitter debate in which opponents hurled charges of "totalitarianism" and "police state," the House moved to final vote stage a bill giving local officials the power to declare states of emergency in civil disorders.

The opponents, mainly Detroit Negro lawmakers, were unsuccessful in attempts to amend or return the bill to committee.

LACK EXPERIENCE

The bill does not have the support of State Police director Fredrick Davids, who has said many communities lack the experience to properly handle the authority it would give them.

"This authority improperly used, or perhaps abused, could be a tremendous annoyance to the public and the good it would do hardly worth the risk," Davids has said.

As the bill now stands, its principal provisions would:

- Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale and rental of housing. When fully effective Jan. 1, 1970, the ban would cover nearly 70 per cent of the nation's housing units.

- Provide federal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools and engage in other specifically protected activities.

- Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot, to obstruct firemen and policemen engaged in suppressing a riot, or to transport in interstate commerce or teach how to make and use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.

- Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights.

State Weekend Road Toll Is at 11

By The Associated Press

Eleven persons — including a 12-year-old boy walking an expressway in search of his missing dog and three in a single Detroit collision — have died in Michigan's weekend traffic.

In an upstate crash in which two persons were killed, the president of the Gibson Refrigerator Corp. of Greenville was among three persons seriously injured.

Glenn A. Sisco of Flushing was the lad killed while searching for his dog. Authorities said Glenn was pushing his bicycle and walking with the flow of traffic in a passing lane of I-75 when he was hit last night.

The boy's sister had reported him missing two hours earlier and a motorist had stopped a sheriff's deputy to report the boy's walking in the expressway. The deputy reached the scene Monday.

Rocky Summons GOP Leaders for Situation Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has asked a group of Republican party leaders to meet with him in New York tomorrow afternoon "To exchange views on the situation of the party" following Gov. George Romney's withdrawal from the GOP presidential race.

A statement by the governor's press secretary, Leslie Sloate, said:

"Gov. Rockefeller has asked a number of representative leaders of the party to meet with him in New York on Sunday."

"The purpose of the meeting is to exchange views on the situation of the party following Gov. Romney's withdrawal.

"It has been made clear to all participants that the purpose of the meeting is not to seek any commitments of support for the governor, whose position of non-candidacy remains unchanged."

Sloate said between 20 and 25 GOP leaders from all parts of the country had been invited to the session. He declined to identify them or to state the time of the meeting on Sunday. He said the session would be held in Rockefeller's Fifth Avenue apartment.

Rockefeller has consistently said he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for president. He has indicated that he would accept a draft if a genuine movement developed within the GOP.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Meanwhile, he is about to embark on a busy schedule of meetings running from next Tuesday through this month.

Tuesday he is flying to Pittsburgh to receive an award from the Pittsburgh Urban Transit Council. Tuesday night, he plans to attend the 50th anniversary of the Rochester, N.Y., Times-Union.

The governor is to speak at the United Jewish Appeal dinner in New York March 21 and to address the Convocation on Racial Justice in the New York Community on March 30.

Sloate said that Rockefeller's appearances in Pittsburgh and Rochester are wholly nonpolitical.

California Rift to Lure Johnson

By The Associated Press

President Johnson, reportedly seeking to clear up an intraparty dispute, is due to head for California this spring to campaign for a state of candidates favoring his candidacy for renomination.

Another state favors Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policy.

McCarthy, meanwhile, has criticized New Hampshire campaign attacks on his Vietnam stance. Political advertisements broadcast in advance of Tuesday's primary are saying a vote for McCarthy would be "a vote for fuzzy thinking and surrender."

McCarthy told a news conference yesterday in Rochester, N.H., President Johnson should take steps to disassociate himself from the attacks.

McCarthy said he didn't know whether they were being run with White House approval but "if these ads were being put out in my name, I'd protest publicly."

PETITIONS CHALLENGED

The Minnesota senator faced troubles of another kind in Massachusetts, where he's running in the April 30 primary. The authenticity of signatures on petitions to place his name on the presidential preference ballot there was challenged yesterday, but specific charges were not filed.

California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, delegation chairman in that state, said Johnson probably will appear in San Francisco and Los Angeles, but no dates have been set.

Waite's Store to Close Soon

"Waite's, Inc., will end its operations within the next two months. In view of the forthcoming expiration of its lease," Clifford C. Grovogl, the store's manager, announced today.

Waite's, a unit of Allied Stores Corp. occupies the five floors and basement of the building at Saginaw and Huron.

Grovogl explained arrangements are being made to provide termination pay to all of Waite's 70 employees.

The store executives, including himself, are being offered positions in other Allied stores, he added.

"We regret the circumstances which require the closing of Waite's. The store has been a part of the Pontiac community for many years, and it has been a privilege to serve it."

THANKS GIVEN

"We thank the people of Pontiac for their patronage, and our employees for their loyal service," said Grovogl.

Waite's was incorporated in 1939 with the original owner, E. L. Waite, as chairman of the board. The current building is leased from his estate.

When Waite came to Pontiac in 1906, he became connected with the J. S. Stockwell store on N. Saginaw. Later, Waite, his brother, Lester E., and Milton Robertson bought out that store and moved into the old Masonic Temple building on Saginaw and Huron.

In 1909 the Waite brothers bought out Robertson, and Waite became the sole owner after his brother's death.

In 1913 the store moved to its present site, and in 1929 two more stories were added to the original structure.

Earlier, Communist gunners sent 40 mortar rounds into night defensive positions of American Division troops in the same area. One U.S. soldier was killed and 25 wounded.

U.S. Recalling Envoy; Talks Set on Sweden

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coolness in U.S.-Swedish relations over the American role in Vietnam has prompted Washington to recall its ambassador to Stockholm for discussions.

Ambassador William Heath, whose life was recently threatened, will fly home Monday for an indefinite stay to review "all aspects of U.S. Swedish relations," the State Department said Friday.

The department said "he will return to Stockholm in due course."

Officials acknowledged the recall reflects U.S. displeasure over relations with Sweden. SWEDISH INTENTIONS

Prime Minister Tage Erlander said he told Heath Sweden wants to maintain good relations as possible with the United States.

One incident apparently leading up to the recall occurred Feb. 21, when Sweden's education minister, Olof Palme, marched with other demonstrators opposed to the U.S. military campaign in Vietnam.

The demonstrators also included North Vietnam's ambassador to Moscow.

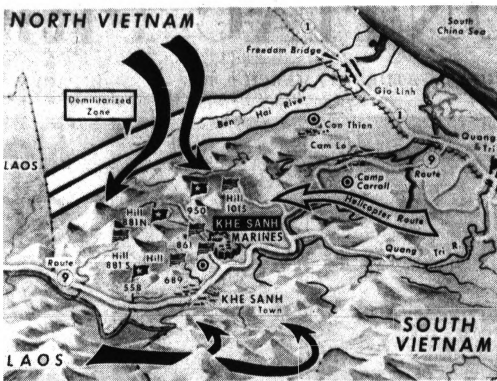

Sources in Washington said Palme made a "one-sided and critical" speech asserting there is a legitimate civil war in Vietnam. The United States contends South Vietnam is the victim of aggression by North Vietnam.

Heath's recall is the first since 1954, when he was recalled for a similar reason.

Court-Martial Finds Firing Sparks Viet Objector Guilty Police Strike

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Air Force Capt. Dale E. Noyd, who says the Vietnam war is contrary to his religious beliefs and conscientious objector status, was court-martialed for refusing to help train a student pilot.

Noyd, 34, was found guilty Friday at nearby Cannon Air Force Base by a nine-officer court-martial panel of senior Air Force combat veterans on a charge of willfully disobeying a lawful order to fly a mission with the pilot last Dec. 5.

The sentence could range from $20 fine and reprimand to dismissal from the Air Force, five years in prison at hard labor and forfeiture of pay and allowances.

Noyd, light-lipped and showing the strain of a tense week of court sessions, kept his sense of humor. When someone laughingly asked during the panel's 85-minute deliberation if he planned to stay around for the firing, Noyd quipped, "I guess I'll sit in on this one, Lake Michigan while coming in for a landing."

The body of Lt. Richard J. Coudersport, Pa., a former chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, was recovered at mid-morning today five miles of Meigs Field, Chicago's lakefront airport.

The crew of the Coast Guard boat that recovered the body did not report sighting any wreckage of the plane or other bodies.

Others aboard the plane were Lt. Richard J. Coudersport's wife, Mary, 42; his children, Ethel, 8; and their mother, Edward, 10; and Forest, 4; of Wellsview, N.Y.

The defense concentrated on character witnesses after being denied a chance to question legality of the order to fly the mission. They had contended, the Air Force previously mishandled Noyd's application for conscientious objector status so that the order never should have been given.

Man Killed, 5 Lost in Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — Edward H. Litchfield, board chairman of SCM Corp., was killed and five others persons, including members of his family, were believed to have perished Friday night when their two-engine plane plunged into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan while coming in for a landing.

The body of Litchfield, 53, of Coudersport, Pa., a former chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, was recovered at mid-morning today five miles of Meigs Field, Chicago's lakefront airport.

ITU Will Strike Detroit Papers

DETROIT (AP) — The International Typographical Union voted 401-16 Friday night to strike the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press as the union president charged the publishers have failed to negotiate.

Also Friday, Teamsters Union officials began informing their employees who work for the News about terms for a new contract.

Officials of Teamsters Local 372 agreed to a tentative settlement with the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press. The settlement included economic items were added to the contract.

Details of the additions were not made public, but officials for the News, closed by the Teamsters strike in mid-November, said they did not increase the last money offer.

$30 REJECTED

Last month, Teamsters members at the News rejected the contract proposal calling for $30 a week in wages and fringe benefits over three years.

Teamsters at the Free Press, however, voted to accept the offer last month. The Free Press suspended publication in November in support of the News, two days after the Teamsters struck the News.

Police said two carloads of teenagers were next to each other at the drive-in. An argument broke out between the occupants of the cars over the use of vulgar language, said police.

Soon, a crowd of eight or 10 teenagers had gathered around the cars, said police. Then, police said, someone produced a shotgun and began pulling the trigger.

State Road Bids

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Commission will consider bids March 20 on 36 projects in 27 counties estimated to cost a total of $24 million. Some airport officials feared Standard would go out of business and the service, flights to Detroit Metropolitan Airport would be curtailed. It was the only scheduled passenger service at the field.

However, the new plans offer more flights than before, a company spokesman announced.

Flights, in six-passenger Piper Cherokees, are from Oakland-Pontiac to Berz Airport in Troy and then to Metro. Others are from Berz to Metro. Return flights are on the same basis.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

Voice of the People:

Young Men Best Suited to Fight For Our Country

A reader suggested that men 35-40 who had no jobs be taken off the street to replace boys that are fighting men. What chance would a young man have if one of these men had to be counted on to save his life or lead him in battle? This man evidently hasn't even been able to care for himself for many years. Young men are faster, less fearful of the unknown and physically able to withstand the rigors of battle. Battles have always been fought by young men, not older men that are unable to hold a job.

The man of 30-45 in the service is a man that has dedicated his life to leading, acting as foster parent, and teaching young men. He is a professional man, just as a doctor, lawyer or diplomat, and he must spend 24 hours a day at his profession. He does not come off the street.

When a boy goes into the service he becomes a man. The training he receives, being away from home and excellent leadership make him a man.

'Oil Profits Would Help Support Schools'

If our ex-president had kept our off-shore oil lands and let our government operate the oil industry and designate a part of the profit to our schools, we would not be so far in debt and would have more money to build new schools and pay our teachers.

THOMAS THROWER

Gives Views on Pontiac's School Finances

Every member of the Pontiac school board should read and digest the article you had about Lapeer schools. This applies to the Pontiac school system, too. Again Dana Whitmer is crying that he won't have enough money to operate the schools unless he gets more millage voted. No one has the least idea what money they will have before May at the earliest. Pontiac Central had 2,800 students until Northern was built and you could do it again if you had to. Why does the Pontiac school board wish to be a guinea pig for any and every new idea? There is no system in Michigan with a human resource system. The only other place in the U.S. that is known at the present time is Jersey City.

Compares 'Needs' of Two School Districts

I read in The Press recently that one of our school districts was so broke it didn't know how it would keep operating. Now I read that the Lake Orion people are going to vote on a $600,000 swimming pool for their high school. I should think the people in that other school district would feel bitter. Most kids would feel they were pretty lucky just living in a town built on a lake where they could swim all summer.

'Why Must Citizens Pay Both State Taxes?'

When our state representatives first proposed a state income tax they offered us an alternative: the state income tax with the elimination of the three per cent sales tax, or an increase of the sales tax to four per cent on the dollar. The latter offer was the one the people voted for and passed. Later, when the legislators passed the state income tax bill, the present sales tax wasn't mentioned. Now we have both taxes. Why wasn't the four per cent sales tax eliminated?

'What Answer Can Be Given for Vietnam?'

Can our President or any of our Legislators give our boys in Vietnam an answer for the useless slaughter in a purposeless war? There is no obvious reason behind this undeclared war. How many more boys have to die before they have had a chance to live, to satisfy a group of politicians and fatten some people's bank accounts? We are supposed to be a free nation. How much of the Constitution is left to be honored?

FREIDA M. HANSEN

Gives Information on Tax Millage Proposal

Our West Bloomfield elected officials have prepared information pertaining to the requested tax millage proposal. It states that we need one new employee in the supervisor's office, one for the clerk's office, two for the building department, one part-time for the treasurer's office, two police dispatchers (not officers), four police officers and one fireman.

MRS. JOHN T. CRANE

'We Need More Economy in Government'

If the State of Michigan and Oakland County are in excellent financial condition as claimed in recent articles, they are in that condition as a result of overtaxation. Windfalls for the government mean that the government received more than it needed from the people on whom it levies taxes. That money belongs to the people and the people should decide what will be done with it.

Instead, our State government comes up with plans for district offices and our County government plans extravagant airport projects. This type of spending is the basis for still further tax increases. It is time our officials realize that the taxpayer is not an unlimited resource and start spending our money where it is needed most: on schools, roads, police and fire protection.

AT&T Facilitates Calls for Help

Big industry has a way of keeping up with the times, and in so doing continually providing product or service innovations for its customers.

Such a development is the program initiated by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to establish one emergency number applicable to the entire Country.

The number is 911.

As things stand, those confronted by emergencies of one kind or another often face a bewildering exercise in deciding just which agency to contact and, in many cases, determination of proper jurisdiction. Needless to say, much critical time is likely to be thus lost — time on which life itself could well depend.

Examples of the wilderness of telephone communication that can envelop those seeking emergency assistance are provided by the Los Angeles and St. Louis areas. In the former, there are 50 different police numbers; in the latter, police answer 32 separate numbers and fire departments say "hello" to 57.

To implement the emergency concept, municipalities would have to establish central dispatchers for their emergency services — action that is now under way in many areas.

The company, on its part, proposes to adapt its 1,363,000 public pay phones so that calls to 911 or "0" for operator will not require coin deposit to make contact. In effect, emergency calls will be on the house.

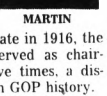

We warmly commend the initiative of AT&T on another indication of its sense of public responsibility, and urge all regions, including Oakland County, to get on the 911 bandwagon by complying with operational requisites.

Joseph W. Martin Jr.

The final chapter of a long and honorable political career was written Wednesday when death claimed JOSEPH W. MARTIN Jr. at 83.

Justly becoming known as "Mr. Republican" during his 21 terms as congressman, MARTIN was first elected to the Massachusetts House in 1912.

After attending his first national convention as a delegate in 1916, the Bay State politico served as chairman of the event five times, a distinction unequalled in GOP history.

Martin served as Speaker of the body. At other times he was the party's minority leader. In 1948, he was eyed as a potential presidential candidate, but his disinterest in the office squelched the incipient boom.

MARTIN's defeat in the 1966 primary for another term in Congress was a major upset, preceding as it did the resurgence of the GOP on Capitol Hill.

JOSEPH MARTIN served his Country well. Neither his private nor public life ever felt the breath of scandal, and his sound legislative policies and forthright expression of them attracted a multitude of friends and supporters, both Republicans and Democrats.

A true American has gone to his reward, mourned by all who were privileged to know him.

Auto 'Population Explosion' Shakes Up Economy

Beginning in 1896, when the first one appeared, it took 16 years, until 1912, to count the first million. The figure climbed to 50 million by 1931, only 19 years later.

It took even less time, the 17 years until 1948 for the 100-million. This figure was doubled in just 14 years — to 200 million in 1962. The next 50 million came in less than six years, or about one-sixth the time required for the first million.

This isn't about people, but about a geometric population of another kind — the motor vehicle.

A few weeks ago, the industry in the United States produced its 250-millionth vehicle. That total includes nearly 206 million passenger cars and more than 44 million trucks and buses.

This is not a footnote to 20th-century history. The fantastic expansion of the role of the motor vehicle plays in our daily lives and in the Nation's economy is a large part of that history.

Confident Living:

Avoid Being Self-Made Failure

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

Many people cause their own failure, and it is due to negative attitudes — to wrong thinking. A businessman spoke to me about an employee from whom he had expected outstanding performance. The man was fully qualified. Yet after three years in the job he still was not coming up with the desired and expected effectiveness.

DR. PEALE

"I've been studying this fellow closely," his boss said. "I can't see anything basic-ly wrong with the guy. He's an intelligent, talented, hard-working man. I have come to the conclusion he just has no confidence in himself or in other people — thus he has no real enthusiasm for the job. In fact, he seems to be a self-made failure."

I was brought into the problem of a couple. Their marriage started with bright prospects only to run into difficulty in two years. In talking with them I felt certain of the wife's attitudes could be stumbling blocks to happy married life.

Marital difficulties almost always prove to be a two-way street, but in some cases they stem more from one side than the other.

I made no headway with these two young people until, with a flash of insight, the wife got honest. "I'll level with you. I really am to blame. It's all on account of my horrible habit of getting fearful and selfish and depressed. When I'm that way I'm not fit to live with. Please help me change my own failure pattern so we can be happy together."

A good result was obtained. I am glad to say. The wife avoided being a self-made marriage failure. Otherwise it might have been one more case of another marriage on the rocks.

In the great scheme of things each of us may have a life full of achievement, love and happiness. You can avoid self-made failure. Simply get rid of your negative attitudes. To do that hold in your mind a picture of the outcome you want and mentally see it developing as you desire. Then get going and get what you visualize.

There is a television newscaster whose style I like. He never editorializes — just reads off the facts. He also conducts an interview program, which I was on one day. Before going on the air we chatted over coffee. "You seem to like you a lot," I remarked. "Maybe that's one reason you communicate so well."

"Like it?" he said. "I love it! It's the one and only thing I want to do. I wouldn't give it up for any other job in the world."

"Sure sounds good to hear talk like that. There are so many job haters. How did you get into it?"

"I visualized doing this newscast for years before I got into it. I came from the Midwest. My people were humble and poor — earned their living at manual work. For a while it looked doubtful that I would get an education. I had to work to help support the family."

"Well, I used to listen to news broadcasts on the radio and one day I suddenly knew — that was what I wanted to do! And in my mind I saw myself doing it. When I told my father he said, 'Son, it's a pipe dream. You'll never make it. Forget it. Just get busy and start making money right here working hard like the rest of us.'"

"No, Dad," I said, "what I want to be is a man who broadcasts news. That is for me." And from then on I pictured myself doing it. And I always saw myself broadcasting in New York. It was a long hard road but I made it."

A person continually seeing in his mind a dynamic, clearly imaged goal becomes charged with confidence and expectancy. There is no room in his mind for inadequacy, feelings, or for pessimism, fear, resentments or any other negative that could make him a self-made failure.

What you image tends to be realized provided you put some go-go motivation behind it.

Human Glacier Threat to Freedom

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

In the Foreign Aid Bill for the fiscal year 1968 the Congress included $50 million for population studies to be made in the countries of Latin America. You may wonder why we are so interested in the increase of human beings in lands outside our borders. There is a valid reason for it.

The population explosion over the earth is a human glacier that moves slowly, but inexorably, in upon us with the threat of a terrible future of misery and servitude.

We have been told so many times that too many people will bring on starvation; that there will not be enough food on earth to feed the billions to be born before the year 2000.

What we need to be told is what starvation, that may be brought down upon us in a world of 4 billion people by 1975, 6 billion by 1990, 7 billion by the year 2000, may do to our freedom.

In all of the ages past, the population of the world has been kept down by the ancient solutions of flood, pestilence, starvation and war. In this enlightened age we have done fairly well against flood. We have practically defeated pestilence. Some day we may even do away with war.

We know how to prevent starvation, but knowing how and actually doing it is one of the most frustrating problems ever to face man.

The study of the populations of South and Central America will seek a base for solution of the difference between an increase in the production of food and the greater increase in the production of humans.

The statistics show that in a seven-year period in Latin America, there was an increase of 10 per cent in food production. That is a heartening example of progress.

But the population in Latin America has increased by 17 per cent. How long will it be before starvation clamps down on those nations?

days of the Roman Empire the life expectancy was 25 years. In 1968, it is 70 years plus. The population explodes and the people live longer.

The human glacier continues to move on and it will need — besides fertilizer — land, water, machinery, technology. And huge amounts of capital.

The human glacier could be dangerous to the freedom of the whole world. Consider what would happen if wretchedness born of hunger should explode from sparks in countries such as India and China, into international violence.

You and I do not live in the hungry half of the world. Our half is a place of prosperity where we have not felt the heavy hopelessness of starvation. Probably we never will. But starvation can affect us, nevertheless.

Population explosion and the result — starvation — could ultimately require in many of the vast areas of the world, government control of everything; control of birth, control of land and the size of farms, control of everything that is eaten and everything that we wear on our backs. Then the free world will have gone full circle from freedom to servitude.

Headstanding, Says Jane, Gets Act Off to Head Start

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jane Morgan, who believes in ghosts and poltergeists, also stands on her head each night before she sings.

Jerry Weintraub, the theatrical manager, her husband, was pretty astonished after they got married, to discover his bride's passion for head-standing-on. "He was shocked about the ghosts in my house in Kennebunkport, Me, and when he saw me standing on my head, he thought I was nuts."

About that time Jane got a cold and went to see a doctor.

"You're going to the wrong kind of a doctor," Jerry said. But eventually he saw that the headstand was good for Jane and now when he enters her dressing room at show time, he is likely to say, "Did you stand on your head yet?"

WILSON

"I started it seven or eight years ago," Jane remembered. "I was working in night clubs and was very tired. Some people take a drink to stimulate them but it just came to me — maybe I'd feel better if I stood on my head. Well, I did it, and I felt great."

"Now it's a superstition with me, and it's become a habit, like brushing my teeth. The Yogis stand on their head for hours. With me, it's only a few minutes, anywhere at all, in dressing rooms, in hotels, clothed or unclothed."

"Sometimes I use a pillow for my head — if I don't want to muss my hair, I hold my head a few inches off the floor."

Opera star Robert Merrill was standing on his head naked in a Washington hotel once when a maid walked in without knowing and observed Bob in that strange position. She left quickly.

"People have walked in on me, too," Jane said. "They generally are a little startled."

Florida School Issue Goes to Local Boards

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Efforts to end Florida's statewide teacher walkout shifted to the local level today as county school boards faced the policy issue of whether teachers who resigned during the three-week strike should be reinstated.

The Florida Education Association recommended Friday that teachers end the walkout and return to classrooms Monday if each of the state's 67 counties agreed to accept the teachers back in their old positions.

The FEA, which claims membership of most of Florida's 60,000 teachers, issued the recommendation after the state board of education adopted a nine-point resolution providing $10.5 million more for public schools during the current year.

County school boards throughout the state scheduled meetings to act on the teacher organization's offer.

RETURN RESIGNATIONS
State School Supt. Floyd Christian, who proposed the compromise resolution, called on the local school boards to reinstate the teachers. Gov. Claude Kirk, in a series of appearances across Florida during the week, also urged the boards to return resignations submitted by many of the 17,000 teachers still out of class.

Christian Friday returned to the local boards recommendations they had sent to the office calling for the revocation of state certificates for the resigned teachers. "It is possible that you and your county board may find that the changed circumstances are considerably different," he said.

The resolution adopted by the state board provides teachers a chance to return to their jobs "with dignity." Christian said. A similar proposal, also suggested by Christian, was withdrawn last week after it received widespread criticism from state and local school officials.

The first proposal contained provisions for recognition of the FEA as a bargaining agent for teachers. In the resolution adopted Friday, attention was drawn to a state law allowing local boards to consult teachers' committees on policy and employment matters.

FEA President Dexter Hagman said the resolution, plus a $254-million school spending package that became law Thursday night, is "all we can reasonably expect at this time without completely destroying this state's system of public education."

Florida teachers began the walkout Feb. 19, and the strike reached its peak two days later when, state officials said, 26,000 teachers were out of class.

SAIGON (AP) — Robert Ellison, a news photographer believed to have been aboard a U.S. Air Force C123 shot down near Khe Sanh Wednesday, was listed as missing today.

The U.S. Command said Ellison, 25, who worked for a freelance organization called Empire News Service, was not on the plane's passenger list but could have been aboard. He had been planning to return to Khe Sanh about Wednesday after a few days rest in Da Nang.

The downed C123, carrying troops from Da Nang to Khe Sanh, had 43 Marines, one Navy man and four Air Force crew members aboard, according to the passenger list. All passengers aboard were presumed dead.

Ellison has been in Vietnam since September 1966. A native of Minneapolis, Minn., he had done free lance work in the United States for Ebony and Newsweek magazines.

Romney Hits Bond Change Plan

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has protested to Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler that a proposal to end the tax-exempt status of industrial development bonds would be a serious blow to the Michigan economy.

Romney also wrote all of Michigan's congressmen and senators asking them to work against the proposed change before it becomes effective next Friday.

Removal of the tax exemption provision would make industrial development bonds much less attractive to investors, Romney said.

The regulation would have a long-term impact on Michigan's efforts at economic expansion because industrial development bond financing is one of the incentives used by the states to attract new industries, he said.

ASKS CONGRESS ACTION
Romney asked that the issue be resolved by congressional action rather than administrative regulation. He also urged consultations with state and local government officials before there is any departure from the present policy on tax exemptions.

The governor said there is an immediate problem of several bond issues "about to be marketed."

Largest of these is a $56-million bond issue intended to finance a new paper mill facility to be located in the Escanaba Paper Co.

Unless the Internal Revenue Service rules that these bonds are tax exempt, "this sizable expansion in an area needing economic development is in jeopardy," Romney said.

STATE LIST CITED
The governor cited a list of industrial bonds sold recently that resulted in an investment of $53.3 million and up to 2,800 new jobs.

These included:
• $12.5 million for Beach-Nut Life Savers Inc., confectionary plant at Holland, to employ 200-300 workers.

• $8 million for the Budd Co., disc brake parts manufacturing plant, to employ 300-400 workers.

• $33 million for Allied Supermarkets Inc., food processing plant at Livonia, to employ 200 workers.

• $56-million Escanaba Paper Co. plant.

• $2.8-million Garwood Industries Inc. facility at Ypsilanti Township.

• $4.5-million Westab Co. facility at Kalamazoo.

• $16.5-million Chicago and Northwestern Railroad facility at Escanaba.

In addition, Romney said, 17 other similar projects are in various stages of progress.

No Sense Talking to Hanoi—Reagan
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says there's no sense talking to Hanoi about ending the Vietnam war.

"Why talk to the monkey when the organ grinder lives in Moscow?" the California governor said Friday to newsmen.

Rep. McDonald Proposes Fund for Human Renewal
Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District, has proposed the immediate creation of a $2.5-billion Human Renewal Fund "to meet urgent human needs and the urban crisis of our nation."

The funds could be set up in the 1969 budget by cutting back $5.5 billion in nonessential spending, he said.

"By firmly cutting $5.5 billion from the President's budget, we can responsibly pay back $2.5 billion for urgent human needs and at the same time reduce the administration's deficit by $4 billion," McDonald said.

The fund would provide for programs in the areas of employment, education, housing, air and water pollution, crime control, rural revitalization and renewal.

McDonald charged that the administration "has consistently refused to exercise the political integrity required to establish positive national spending policies."

POLITICAL PRESSURE
"Bowling to political pressures of the moment, it has allowed its attention to drift from our most pressing human and urban needs," he added.

He said Congress could not allow the drift to continue.

McDonald said that under the urgent program $500 million would be allocated to mobilize private industry to provide jobs and training; $250 million would provide vocational and technical education; $250 million would go for an expanded housing program; $250 million would be provided for air and water pollution control; $100 million would be provided for a model tax credit approach to induce

Let the Buyer Beware Go to a Reputable Jeweler and Be Happy

By WALTER J. GLENNON

QUESTION: I am about to become engaged to a nice young man who had the foresight to consult me before purchasing. We my diamond engagement ring. We have shopped around and there is a huge discrepancy in prices that we are confused. Is there any advice you can give us?

ANSWER: Yes, go to a reputable jeweler, select the ring you like, purchase it and go home and be happy.

Added Precaution
As an added precaution, obtain a bill or statement containing information as to the item purchased: price, weight of stone, chased, perfection, plus all representations made at the time of sale. Any merchant telling the truth will not hesitate to do this. This procedure holds true for any purchase, but particularly for merchandise referred to as "blind items," such as diamonds, furs, etc.

Must Be Familiar
This is not a condemnation of all appraisals. But it is a fact that diamond appraisals made by a person familiar with diamonds, in some manner, in the diamond business and very often in direct or indirect competition with the seller. Human nature being what it is, competition sometimes influences the judgment on appraisal.

In some large cities groups of unscrupulous jewelers band together and share an identifying mark in the shape of their ring. If the mark is there, the appraisal is high in value.

Some jewelers advertise "appraisal permitted," even going so far as to represent, prior to the sale, that they will refund money if the appraisal does not come up to the selling price. After the sale is made, and the money safely tucked in the cash register, they will direct the purchaser to a friendly appraiser who is warned in advance that they are coming over and approximately what price to appraise the ring for.

Sole Porter is on vacation.

But my reasons for saying, "Purchase it and go home and be happy" is that, all too often, young couples such as you make a purchase only to have it spelled by worrying over its actual value. The girl is at first happy with the thought that she has a nice boy, a nice ring and what appears to be a happy future. The boy is proud of the fact that he could purchase a ring that the girl he loves is contented with.

No truer words were ever spoken!

AAUW Decries Taxation Plan

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Board of Directors of the American Association of University Women has decried the need to tax expenditures on overseas travel but suggested that if a tax is established, exemptions be related to the purpose of the trip rather than length of time spent abroad.

In letters to Congressmen and the House Ways and Means Committee, the AAUW Board said: "We would regret it deeply if the government finds it essential because of the balance of payments crisis to tax expenditures on overseas travel as we feel it strikes at our long established principles of encouraging free movement of people and of developing international understanding through face to face contacts."

The letter continued: "If, however, the tax on personal expenditures abroad is established, we strongly urge reconsideration and extension of the exemptions so that they are related to the purpose of the trip and not to the length of time spent abroad."

"Purposes justifying exemptions should include student experience abroad related to their education, faculty research, professional enrichment, and attendance at duly attested conferences."

Broken Engagement Now Is Better Than Shattered Marriage Tomorrow

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently became engaged to a very pretty girl. She's from a good family and so am I. All our friends and relatives think we are just right for each other, but the more I see of her, the more doubts I have about how this marriage would work out.

ABBY

She can be sweet as honey one minute and very sullen and pouty the next. She has at times revealed a side of her I never saw before. She's spoiled, demanding and selfish. And stubborn, too. I'm not saying I'm perfect, but I don't think I could take this girl's unpredictable moodiness for a lifetime.

What I am trying to ask, my Dear Abigail, is this: How does a gentleman break an engagement?

DISENCHANTED DEAR DISENCHANTED: The same way a lady breaks one. He simply tells her he's decided to keep his bachelor button and forgo the orange blossoms. You may be in for a few unpleasant moments, but you'll both survive it. Better a broken engagement than a broken marriage.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a husband who would jump up and set fire to the newspaper his wife was reading because it partly blocked his view of the ball game he was watching on television?

I was completely unaware that I was in his way as he never said a word about it. Could he have been showing off for the others who were also watching the game, or what? I have always tried to be a good wife, and he is what other people would call a good husband.

JUST WONDERING DEAR JUST: Of all the attention-getting devices, this is one of the most childish, and certainly one of the most dangerous. Watch him for other signs of impulsiveness. He could be off his rocker, or headed in that direction.

DEAR ABBY: I have a good friend who is a registered nurse. She is married to a medical doctor, so it's not as though she doesn't know better.

Well, to get to the point, this foolish woman got out of a sickbed (flu) to attend my son's wedding, and she thought she was doing us all a big favor!

She looked so pale and feverish, but she stayed for the reception and KISSED the bride and groom!

On their honeymoon, they both came down with the flu. Now I'm not saying this woman gave it to them, but it strikes me as being a possibility.

Am I an old fuddy-duddy for feeling that sick people belong at home? If you agree, please print this.

Britain's Twiggy who says she's "sick of lookin' giggly" is shown in her new look including "thirties makeup" in this portrait made recently in London by her manager and boy friend, Justin de Villeneuve. The 18-year-old teen-ager, whose name is Leslie Hornby, has decided to chuck the modeling stance she created, put on a new face and figure and have a real slam at movies.

Widows Seek New Purpose in Life

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the concluding article of a series based on the problems faced by the Vietnam widow as she constructs a new life for herself and her family.)

"We're so used to our husbands being gone that the first separation isn't so bad," said Jeannette Sanford of Columbus, Ga. Her husband, Maj. Jack W. Sanford was an Army helicopter pilot with the 2nd Aviation Battalion at Vongloing when he was killed June 16, 1965.

"Then a year goes by and you know that's when he was supposed to be coming back," she said. "The realization really sinks in then and that's when it gets bad."

For Jacquelin Owens of El Cajon, Calif., widow of a Navy chief petty officer, Richard Lee Owens, the worst part is at night.

"We used to lie there and discuss the problems of the day," she said. "Now I just lie there and think. It's no good—thinking."

The den she built onto the house, the den that has the fireplace her husband always wanted, is a constant reminder of his death.

Owens used the room for two weeks before he went back to sea last summer aboard the carrier USS Forrestal. He died in the fire aboard that ship July 29.

PURPOSE

After the initial shock and grief pass, there is for the Vietnam widow a void to be filled, a new purpose to be found.

For some, it is a new marriage, and frequently they marry back into the military.

Gloria Lloyd's first husband, Army Capt. Thomas Carney, was killed in June, 1966, in a 1st Cavalry operation. Carney had been stationed at Ft. Benning and his wife remained there "because this is where we had lived together. I guess I was hanging on to something."

A year later, she met and then married Capt. Dale Lloyd who has adopted her three children.

REBUILD

"Knowing that Dale loves me and the children has helped me rebuild," Mrs. Lloyd said. "So many times you hear that the man loves only the mother. That's not true in Dale's case. He loves us all."

For others, finding a purpose is difficult.

Mary Hochmuth of San Diego is the widow of the only general killed in combat in Vietnam, Marine Maj. Gen. Bruno A. Hochmuth died last Nov. 14 in a helicopter crash at Thua Thien, near the demilitarized zone.

The Hochmuths were married 32 years. The sudden end of that marriage left Mrs. Hochmuth unprepared.

"We didn't discuss the possibility of his dying," she said. "I felt he was indestructible. He felt as though he was under a lucky star. We always sailed through life beautifully. I guess I thought it would always be that way."

The Hochmuths had just bought a home in San Diego less than a mile from the Marine recruit depot where Hochmuth was commandant for 3½ years before he went to Vietnam.

"This was our very first duty station," his widow said. "You can't cut your Marine ties after so long, so I'll stay right here and stay busy."

What that will consist of, I don't know yet, but I'll find a purpose. That's what you need, a purpose."

Though a military widow feels isolated and alone without her husband, she soon finds others throughout the nation who share the same loss. On military posts or in nearby communities, organizations exist which give support and assistance to the widow until she can finally accept her loss. The Gold Star wives is an organization of military widows which gives help to those who seek it, holds strictly social affairs and work to honor the memory of men fallen in battle. At a meeting of the Fort Benning, Ga., chapter of the Gold Star Wives, left to right, Mrs. Myrtis Patrick, Jeanne Cox, Carolyn Crisman, Ann Lane, Eleanor McNeely and Jeannette Sanford come together socially.

April Nuptials Planned

Mid-April vows are planned by Rosalie Ann Lippert and Larry Martin Hoy.

The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lippert of Drayton Road, Independence Township. Her fiancé, a senior at Eastern Michigan University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoy of Highland.

GRAND RAPIDS — A supermarket chain in Grand Rapids would like to learn the identity of the person who mailed the firm an engagement and a wedding ring together with a note asking forgiveness for taking items from one of its stores.

R. F. Lundeen, vice president of Meijer, Inc., said the rings came in an envelope postmarked Clearwater, Fla.

The note was unsigned and there was no return address, Lundeen said.

The rings are about a size 8. The engagement ring is a diamond solitaire with two tiny diamonds on the sides while the wedding ring has five small diamonds.

Lundeen said Meijer has no desire to keep or sell the rings and would like to give them back if the owner can be found.

"This woman obviously has a lot of remorse," he said. "Something like that on your mind can ruin your happiness."

Holiday Cards Are Subject of Today's Column

By ELIZABETH L. POST

I printed excerpts from letters from some of my readers explaining why they did not like to receive religious Christmas cards. It is only fair to give "equal time" to those who disagree, so I am printing the following letter which speaks for itself.

Dear Mrs. Post: The opinions expressed by some of the Jewish people concerning Christmas cards leaves me with nothing but hurt and shock. My cards have been sent out to Jewish friends for many years. When I send one it is to wish them a happy holiday. If they sent me one with a "Happy Chanukah," I certainly would appreciate it and feel it was their way of sending me a holiday wish.

I respect all faiths. They should not feel that someone is trying to convert them or making a mockery of a religious holy day. Their opinions took the kick out of my system, but no one will discourage me or my intentions for that matter. I'll just hope that my Jewish friends feel differently. — Mrs. J. L.

The Verne C. Hamptons of Brookside Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to George E. Kuehn Jr. He is the son of the senior Kuehns of Barlyn Lane. The couple, seniors at Michigan State University and the University of Michigan, respectively, will wed in August. She is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and her fiancé is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

OU Students Plan Annual Art Exhibit

The wide range of talent and interests of Oakland University's art majors is apparent in the works selected for the annual Student Art Exhibition, which will open Monday in the OU Art Gallery in Matilda R. Wilson Hall.

Gallery curator Kiichi Usui reports that about 150 works will be on display, and most of them will be for sale. The works will include prints done by silk screen and wood cut, paintings in oil, water color, and acrylic mediums, sketches, and alabaster and terra cotta sculpture.

TEA

The Monday opening will feature a tea beginning at 3 p.m. Regular gallery hours are 12:30 to 4:30 and 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, with the exhibition continuing through April 7. Except for the exhibition opening, the Gallery is closed on Mondays.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Are we women — or slaves? SLAVES! It is like a holdup job. The fashion designers say, "Put them up" and up go the skirt lengths. Then they say "Take them down" and down they come.

They have us where they want us because it is practically impossible not to comply. After a certain length of time the eye becomes so accustomed to any new style which has been almost universally adopted, that we feel dull and dowdy if we look very different.

The smart woman goes along with the new fashion to a certain extent; the extent to which it is flattering to her individually. There she stops. There is always enough margin so that a woman can be up to date without looking like a freak.

Now there are great rumblings that skirt lengths are coming down. In fact, some designers have some longer lengths in their spring collections. I think it is going to take quite a while for this brainstorm to take 'hold. In the first place, many women are wedded to the short skirt. Then, too, if hems are dropped too suddenly, women are not going to discard all the clothes they have.

Although miniskirts will prevail, there are also the midskirts, and maxiskirts that extend to the ankle. Today a woman has a great variety to choose from.

Anyway, legs are here to stay and will always be an important part of a woman's total figure. Even if there are ankle-length skirts there will still be swim suits and play clothes.

What's in Name? Ask Any Tom, Dick or Buckminster

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anyone with a name like R. Buckminster Fuller automatically commands attention, even if he doesn't have very much to say.

I mention this for the benefit of expectant parents.

Don't give your kid a name like Tom, Dick or Harry. Christen him Buckminster, Stringfellow or Outerbridge. That will insure that when he grows up, he will be listened to.

Suppose an architect named Sam Fuller were to predict that by the end of this century women "will have taken over full management of the earth" and likely will go around "completely naked."

People would say, "Sam, you've been working too hard. Why don't you take a couple of months off? And try not to worry about anything."

But when an architect named Buckminster Fuller makes such a prediction, it gets printed in a national magazine.

UNDISPUTED MANAGERS

If you don't believe me, see the current issue of McCall's.

"Twenty-first century man will be preoccupied almost entirely by scientific and poetical research," Fuller wrote.

Women will be the undisputed managers of earth.

"The tendency to expose the female body will continue to ever greater degree, until woman regains her Garden of Eden freedom and grace."

Very well. And if you would like to know what will happen after that, I refer you to the following play:

The time is 3000 A.D. The scene is the office of the Garden of Eden Earth Management Co. It is a typical executive suite. Behind a large mahogany desk sits the head manager, Evelyn V. Evans (note the symbolic initials).

She is wearing three-inch eye-lashes and knee-length boots. The rest of her costume is all freedom and grace. A man walks in.

A SERPENT

"Pardon me, madam. I'm Clyde Fuller, a poetical researcher. I've been doing some work down in the lambic pentameter lab and . . . great scott! What's that thing on your desk?"

"It's a serpent, silly."

"I was afraid that was what it was."

"Don't be nervous, Fuller. It's only a garden snake. It won't harm you. What did you want to see me about?"

BETTER GET BACK

"I was going to consult you about a problem we're having with the sonnet machine, but I think I'd better get back to the lab."

"Nonsense. Sit down. Here, have an apple. It will help you relax."

"I really don't think I should, but you're the manager." Curtains.

Junior Editors Quiz on OLYMPICS

QUESTION: What is the purpose of the Olympic Games?

ANSWER: Physical fitness was one of the ideals of the early Greeks. By 776 B.C., Greeks living on the plains of Olympia, in Elis, had begun to hold foot races in honor of their god-king Zeus.

Other city states joined in the competition and additional sports, such as jumping and throwing the discus, were added to the contests. So began the first Olympic Games, which continued until 394 A.D.

In 1896, the Games were revived, but this time eight nations sent athletes. In 1956, 67 nations were represented.

The purpose of the Olympic Games is to encourage and reward great individual effort—not to pit nation against nation. The Games are held every four years and the athletes compete as amateurs.

Before the Games, a torch, lit in Elis, Greece, is carried by relays of runners (also by plane and ship) to the stadium of the host nation where the Games are to be held. Sometimes the Games are held in summer; sometimes in winter.

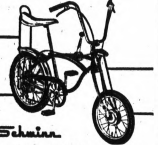

Waterford Hearing Near

The Waterford Township Board Monday will consider the confirmation of a special assessment roll to finance the construction of a sanitary sewer in the southeast section of the township.

A public hearing on the assessments will begin at 7 p.m. in the gym of the Waterford Township High School, Crescent Lake and M59.

More than 100 families living on Voorhees, Elizabeth Lake, Marion, Chadwick and Colrain would benefit from the estimated $180,000 project.

Coach Tells Personal Creed

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 10th in a series of 40 articles to be published by The Pontiac Press during Lent. Each story is one of faith in action, told by a sincere person. Some contributors are famous, others relatively unknown.)

By JOHN WOODEN
Head Basketball Coach, UCLA

Inside my wallet is a piece of paper I have handled so many times it has become worn and ragged. It was given to me by my father when I graduated from a small, three-room country grade school in Centerton, Ind.

WOODEN

My father in his gentle way was a most remarkable man. Although he had few material possessions and worked long and hard to earn a living for his family on a small farm, Dad believed everyone should have a philosophy of life if he were to amount to anything.

On the paper he gave me when my completion of grade school, Dad had listed the following creed and titled it — "Seven Things To Do":

- Be true to yourself. This will insure peace of mind, and you will never betray anyone.
- Make each day your masterpiece. You cannot change yesterday, and a better tomorrow can only come by improvement today.
- Help others. This will bring far, far more than you could ever give.
- Drink deeply from good books. There is none that compares to the Bible, but also read Shakespeare, Tennyson, the philosophers, biographies of great men, and others.
- Make friendship a fine art. Be a friend; do not take friendship for granted.
- Build a shelter against a rainy day.
- Pray for guidance, count your blessings and give thanks for them every day.

Although I fall short of living up to these guides, I have found them to be meaningful in every phase of my life.

We play to win, of course, but them throughout their lives. I the most important thing is try to stress the same principles what the youngsters under my supervision learn that help

Opener Eludes Tigers, 3-2, When Debuting A's Rally

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
BRADENTON, Fla.—After helping the Oakland Athletics make a successful debut in the Grapefruit League yesterday, the Detroit Tigers put the highly regarded American League contending Minnesota Twins to a pair of tests over the weekend.

Today the Twins are in Lakeland and tomorrow the Tigers return the visit in Orlando.

Central, WKHS Hoping to Join Farmington '5'

The Chiefs of Pontiac Central will be looking for their fifth district basketball tournament title in a row when they take on Waterford Kettering tonight at Clarkson.

Kettering, with a record of 13-4, and the Chiefs (10-7) are slated to get their battle under way at 7:30. The winner moves on to Livonia Franklin for regional competition next week.

Several district titles were decided last night and the one at Clarkson is among many winding up tonight.

Farmington (11-9) wrapped up the district crown last night at North Farmington and will join the Clarkson victor at the Livonia regional. Also at Livonia will be Garden City East and the winners from the districts at Dearborn and Ecorse.

Three teams have earned berths in the Class A regional at Birmingham Seaholm and the other two spots will be filled this evening in contests at Troy and Royal Oak Kimball.

At Troy, Rochester (12-5) takes on Oakland A League co-champion Lake Orion (15-2) at 7:30, while Madison (7-9) tangles with Kimball (14-4) at 8 p.m.

The winners from those two districts then join Ferndale, Birmingham Brother Rice and Warren Cousino, who collected district championships last night.

SCARED
"We went ahead early and it scared me," said coach Ray Boyle, in his first year at Farmington. "We're used to being behind and catching up."

Before the season started, Boyle, in a rundown of the squad, said "We're green and young." After last night's win: "We've got 20 games under our belts."

Farmington led a 32-30 lead over Thurston at halftime and outshot the Northwest Suburban League champions in a hot second half.

Mark Lynott poured in 26 points to pace the Falcons, and had help from teammates Doug Hamilton (18), Paul White (14) and Randy Cleveland (14). Ferries were pushed in 18 for Thurston.

Novi led most of the game, but when the pressure was on the losers became nervous and missed several easy layups that would have meant a first tournament victory.

Mark Gilbert paced Novi with 14 points and Jon VanWagner scored 13. Lee Snow contributed 11.

Roosevelt was sparked by Sandy Ylisto who tossed in 23 markers. Vic Swanson scored 17 for the winner which trailed at halftime, 25-24.

Inexperience Hurts Novi in Class C Tournament Setback

Special to The Press
YPSILANTI — Novi's all-junior basketball team showed its inexperience in the final minutes here last night and dropped a Class C district game to Ypsilanti Roosevelt, 58-56.

Novi led most of the game, but when the pressure was on the losers became nervous and missed several easy layups that would have meant a first tournament victory.

Dennis McLain and Joe Sparma did a fine job, giving only three hits between them in the first six innings, however both received warnings from the umpire under the new rule which is intent of stopping the spit ball.

Oakland's Tony Pierce also received a warning for putting the fingers of his pitching hand to his mouth.

"None of them had any intention of throwing the spitter," said Manager Mayo Smith. "It's a habit many of them have of wetting their fingers and wiping them on their pants."

At any rate, the wat the Tigers lost the game was a close resemblance as to how they lost several the same way in the pennant stretch of 1967.

In the top of the 9th inning, the Tigers scored two runs on Norm Cash's second double of the game, following a single by Wayne Comer and a bunt single by Wayne Redmond.

GOPIER BALL
In the bottom of the 9th however, Pat Dobson walked Tom Larussa and Ramon Webster cracked a two-run homer over the right field fence to tie it.

In the bottom of the 10th inning after one out, Tom Timmerman walked Floyd Robinson, Ted Kubiak singled and Gene Tenica running for Robinson was tagged by second baseman Dave Campbell after taking a throw from Jim Northrup when Tenica overran second.

With two out, Dick Green doubled and Kubiak scored the winning run.

The Tigers, hit by the flu this week, left outfielders Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Gates Brown in Lakeland.

They suffered another loss in the third inning when Ray Oyler, at bat, missed a pitch and tore a muscle in his right side. Team physician Dr. Russell Wright, said the injury was ice packed and wrapped, and Oyler could be out anywhere between four days and two weeks, depending on any further aggravation in the healing process.

REPLACEMENTS
Manager Smith noted Dick Tracewski would handle the shortstop duties along with Tom Matchick in the games this weekend.

Earl Wilson, the winningest pitcher on the staff in 1967, was slated to start today's "home" opener at Marchant Stadium against the Twins. John Hiller will follow Wilson, while Minnesota plans on going with Moe Ogier, a highly touted rookie, Jim Roland and Jim Ollom.

Sunday, it will be Tiger rookies against the big guns of the Twins' staff.

Les Cain, Darryl Patterson, Jim Rooker and Dick Drago will face the Twins' ace Dean Chance, Dave Boswell and Jim Perry. Chance, Boswell and Perry had a combined total of 42 victories in 1967 for Minnesota while none of the four Tiger rookies have earned a victory in the majors.

Donnell Craft (42) of the Lakers looks on. Romeo won, 73-68.

West Bloomfield's Lakers managed to keep pace with the fast-breaking Bulldogs in the first quarter and then left their opponents practically defenseless in the second stanza.

Led by Gary Hahnefeld, the Lakers cut ninth-ranked Romeo's defense to ribbons with a give-and-go offense. The taller Bulldogs were out battled under the boards and their fast-break slowed.

FOUL TROUBLE
Numerous turnovers also hurt the Bulldogs who found themselves on the short end of a 42-32 halftime score. Hahnefeld pumped in 16 of his 20 points in the first half, but also drew four fouls.

Curt Britton, who entered the contest early in the first quarter and was instrumental in helping Wayne-Oakland champions gain an edge in rebounding, also had four personals by the intermission.

The complexion of the game began to change early in the third quarter.

West Bloomfield tried to slow play and Romeo went along with the move by going to a zone defense. Britton and Hahnefeld were on the bench.

But the Lakers were guilty of several bad passes and Cushingberry and Donnell Craft intercepted several. The Bulldogs started running again and Dan Burzynski, 6-7 sophomore center, gained control of the backboards.

Britton fouled out with 2:45 remaining in the period and the Lakers in front, 45-42. Dan Brown and Steve Westjohn connected on long shots to give West Bloomfield some breathing room, but the Lakers quickly threw the ball away twice and Romeo capitalized with baskets by the 6-5 Craft and Burzynski.

The Lakers carried a 54-48 lead into the fourth quarter. However, it was obvious that they were tiring under the fast pace set by the Bulldogs.

Battling 200-pounders like Craft, Burzynski and 6-5 Roger Ross under the boards also was taking its toll. With Britton out, the task fell to Dave Karlson who played a strong game.

He became so tired in the final minute that Coach Art Paddy pulled the 6-2 junior guard.

REGAIN LEAD
Cushingberry was all over the floor in the final quarter and the big men were all over the boards. Fred Castle gained Romeo a tie at 54 with a free throw, but the Lakers succeeded in getting back in front and stayed there by a point or two until Mike Semp's layup put Romeo ahead, for the first time since the opening quarter, 66-65.

Hahnefeld netted two free throws with 2:01 to play to give the Lakers their last lead. Thirteen seconds later Cushingberry shot the Bulldogs in front for good with a layup and Semp added another.

West Bloomfield had a chance with the score 70-68, but a traveling violation ended the Lakers title hopes. Craft made a free throw and Cushingberry sank a layup in the last 15 seconds to sew up the verdict.

The Bulldogs showed one definite weakness that could prove disastrous in future tournament games. They made only 13 of 35 free throws.

Brother Rice Wins District

Birmingham Brother Rice pulled away from Bloomfield Hills Andover in the final two minutes of the second quarter last night and coasted to the Warriors' first district basketball championship.

The 82-53 decision at Seaholm gives Brother Rice a berth in the Class A regional at the same location. The Warriors will play next Tuesday against the winner of tonight's district title game between Royal Oak Kimball and Madison.

Ferndale also gained a spot at Seaholm by outlasting Southfield, 57-55, in a district showdown between two of the Southeastern Michigan co-titlists, Kimball is the other co-champ.

Royal Oak Shrine blasted Centerline St. Clement, 67-53, to grab Class B district laurels at Kimball. The Knights will play Anchor Bay in the regional at Kimball next Wednesday.

Andover trailed Brother Rice, 23-17, with two minutes remaining in the first half. Don MacAlpou then tossed in three field goals as the Warriors ran off 12 straight points to lead, 35-17, at the intermission.

Stall Brings Victory for N. Carolina State

By The Associated Press
N. Carolina State won the title of the nation's top basketball team Friday night and sent Duke's sixth-ranked Blue Devils heading for the nearest exit from the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs.

The Wolfpack held the ball without taking a shot for almost 14 minutes in the second half, then scored six points in the last 2½ minutes for an incredible 12-0 victory that sent them into Saturday night's title game against North Carolina.

The Wolfpack held the ball without taking a shot for almost 14 minutes in the second half, then scored six points in the last 2½ minutes for an incredible 12-0 victory that sent them into Saturday night's title game against North Carolina.

John Havlicek of the Celtics had a game high of 32 points. But Boston could draw no closer than 97-96 in the final period. Hal Greer hit 27 of the 76ers.

Los Angeles can do no better than to for the Western Division crown, and that isn't likely. The Lakers kept their slim hopes alive with a 130-122 win over the San Diego Rockets. Elgin Baylor and Archie Clark each scored 23.

Earl Monroe scored 32 points and Kevin Loughery added 22 to lead Baltimore past Seattle. Monroe's 20-footer with 28 seconds left gave Baltimore a 118-116 lead which they expanded to the final 122-116 margin. Tom Meschery collected 30 points for the Sonics.

Villanova Bids for Ninth Title in Track Test

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 7th annual ICA-A track meet, blue-ribbon event on the eastern indoor circuit, is today with familiar favorite Villanova bidding for its ninth team title in the past 12 years.

Field events were in the morning at the U.S. Military Academy and the pole vault and running events are scheduled at Madison Square Garden. Finals begin at 8 p.m.

A record field of 65 schools is entered in the meet, windup event for New York's indoor track season. The field includes nine winners from last year.

Villanova will have three defending champs competing, they are miler Dave Patrick, Hurdler Erv Hall and Charles Messenger, a two-miler. Army, Notre Dame, Harvard and Maryland are expected to battle for runnerup honors. The Cadets come to the meet as defending champions of last week's heptagonal event.

U of M Stands in Iowa's Path

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa is favored to wrap up the undisputed Big Ten basketball title and an NCAA berth against visiting Michigan tonight, but Hawkeye stumble would be par for the course in a zany conference race.

One team after another, particularly Ohio State, Northwestern and Purdue, had a good championship shot at one time or another, but only Ohio State and Iowa were able to weather ambushes by various underdogs.

Now the 14-game scramble comes down to the wire, with Iowa (10-3) needing to exercise its home court magic against visiting Michigan (5-8) or fall into a championship tie with already-finished Ohio State (10-4).

If the zippy Wolverines should upset Iowa before 13,000 Hawkeye fans, an Iowa-Ohio State playoff for the Big Ten's NCAA berth would be played Tuesday night at neutral Purdue's new 14,000-seat arena.

NCAA DATE
The Big Ten delegate plays in the NCAA Midwest regional at Lexington, Ky., March 15 against the winner of tonight's East Tennessee-Florida State first rounder at Kent, Ohio.

The other three conference windup games Saturday, include Purdue 8-5 trying to land third place in a regionally televised matinee at Indiana (4-9); and Wisconsin (7-6) at Northwestern (7-6) and Illinois (6-7) at Michigan State (5-8), in night contests.

Iowa's Sam Williams-paced Hawkeyes seem destined to clear-cut title in their first championship season since winning the 1956 conference crown with a 13-1 record.

Iowa has won all six previous home conference starts and copped seven of their last eight league starts, including a current four-game victory string.

Coaches Norman Sloan of North Carolina State and Vic Bubas of Duke, who were teammates at State 20 years ago, called timeouts galore in the final minute of their slowdown showdown to set up strategy.

Dick Braucher gave State the lead with 40 seconds to go when he put in a rebounded ball. Kretzer's missed free throw and sophomore Van Williford made a foul shot with 16 seconds to play. Ten seconds later Dave Golden had a chance to tie it but missed his second foul shot.

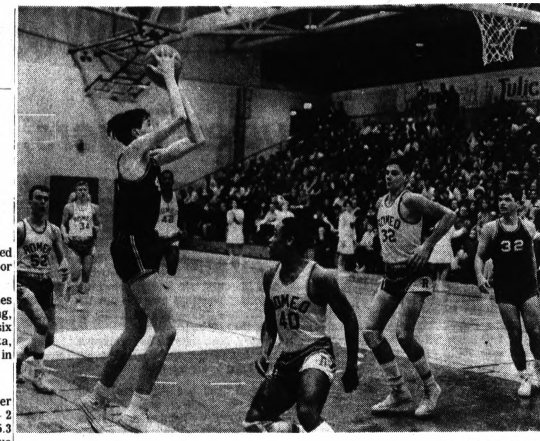

State took only 13 shots, making four, while Duke was two for 11.

In the other semifinal, Dick Grubar and Gerald Tuttle supplied the vital points in overtime as fifth-ranked North Carolina ousted South Carolina 82-79. All-American Larry Miller scored 24 points and Grubar added 20, 13 more than his season's average.

Lead in Doral for Dickinson

Nicklaus Squeezes Under Cutoff Wire

MIAMI (AP) — He stands 23rd on golf's money-winning list with a puny total of $6,450. Two weeks ago at Phoenix, they cut him out of the tournament after 36 holes because he was four strokes over par.

In the Doral Open here Friday, he was two over par at the halfway point. One more stroke and he would have been cut again.

His name is Jack Nicklaus. "I need work," Nicklaus said Friday after a bogey and a doublebogey left him with a two over par 74 and a 36-hole total of 146 in the Doral. The players who had 147 were out.

10 BEHIND
Nicklaus is 10 strokes behind the leader, 40-year-old Gardner Dickinson.

As Nicklaus faded out, Tom Weiskopf came on with a great second round charge and scored one stroke behind Dickinson in the Doral. Several other players were within striking distance for the stretch run.

White Sox Hammer Boston's Pitching

By The Associated Press

Ah, what wonderful things spring can do for a baseball team.

Today's example is the Chicago White Sox, those lovable, little hitless wonders who had a team batting average of .225 last year.

The Sox made their 1968 debut at Sarasota, Fla., Friday. The slugging third baseman missed the last six weeks of the 1967 season when he cut his hand in an accident.

Two newcomers — outfielders Russ Snyder and Tommy Davis — led the offense with two hits apiece. Snyder, acquired from Baltimore, rapped a triple and Davis, who came from the New York Mets, slapped a pair of singles and scored twice.

Ken Holtzman, unbeaten last season, took the loss as San Francisco dropped the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Philadelphia, playing without Rich Allen, took an 11-2 shellacking from Cincinnati at Clearwater, Fla. Allen left the Phillies' camp and returned to the Yankees.

Seaver escaped serious injury and was expected to start today's exhibition opener against St. Louis.

Huskies Trail Lansing Squad

Important Semifinals This Afternoon

Special to the Press
JACKSON — Pontiac Northern's Class A state wrestling crown is a bit wobbly today, but the Huskies are in a position to take a firm grasp on it for a second straight year.

A lot will depend on the outcome of semifinal matches which started at 1 p.m. this afternoon at Parkside High School.

Northern has three undefeated matmen still in contention. But so do four others. And Ypsilanti has four with unblemished records.

"The team that can get three undefeated wrestlers into the finals should be in good shape," said PNH coach Bill Wilson after yesterday's first two rounds left the Huskies in second place.

Lansing Eastern leads with 11 points followed by PNH with 10, Ypsilanti 9, Grand Rapids Union 9, Hazel Park 7, Flint Central 7, Owosso 7, Pontiac Central 6, Detroit Catholic Central 5 and Flint Northern 5.

PNH's three unbeaten entries are Bill Green (120), Ben Moon (120) and Epi Gomez (127).

TWO PINS
Heavyweight Charles Mason with two pins and 154-pound Rogel Rodriguez have untarnished marks for Pontiac Central. Erick Alsop of Waterford has posted two pins at 145 pounds.

Flint Central, Hazel Park, Lansing Eastern and Owosso are other teams with three unbeatens. Any of these plus Ypsilanti could take the title from PNH.

Bill Davids (95), Mark Davids (112) and Les Burger (133) are the three from Hazel Park. Other area wrestlers unbeaten after two rounds are:

Ray Buffmyer (103), Walled Lake; Kevin Wilson (103), Birmingham Seaholm; Bob Reagan (120), Royal Oak Kimball; and Roger Duty (145), Royal Oak Dondero.

Canada Skiers Take Charge in U.S. Meet

SEATTLE (AP) — Nancy Greene, Canada's queen of the skis, rejoined her team today to find its male contingent already in command after Friday's running of the downhill race which opened the 1968 U.S. National Alpine Ski Championships.

Scott Henderson of Banff, Alta., won the downhill title in 1:46:51 and three fellow Canadians finished in the top five. Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., placing third behind Rod Hebron of Vancouver, B.C., was the only U.S. runner to put a wedge in Canada's domination of the event at Crystal Mountain southeast of Seattle.

Dave Bruneau of Montreal piled into a tree half way down the 1½ mile course and suffered a fractured leg and severe facial cuts in the only bad mishap of the day.

Miss Greene stood in the hot sunshine at the foot of the run and watched as 18-year-old Ann Black of Seattle, a freshman at Colorado University, took away her national Downhill title in 1:54:04.

Army Shifts Viet Commanders

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
 Associated Press Writer

SAIGON—Appointment of Lt. Gen. William B. Rosson as commander of a new northern headquarters in South Vietnam puts an Army general in charge of a critical area which until provinces, known as the 1st Corps area. The reports prompted Westmoreland last Wednesday to take the unusual step of issuing a public statement in defense of the Marines.

He expressed "great admiration" for the Marines, from their commander, Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, "down to the lowest private," and said he was greatly distressed by reports that he felt otherwise.

Nevertheless, it has been an open secret in Saigon that the Army wanted a bigger hand in running events in the north, where until the latter part of last year the only American troops were Marines.

In early February, Westmoreland sent his deputy, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, to Phu Bai, near Hue, to set up a new northern command to be known as "MACV Forward" — a forward extension of the Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, in Saigon.

Under the new setup, Abrams returns to Saigon after less than a month in the north, his command replaced by Rosson's new "Provisional Corps."

The official reason given for Abrams' return was that his job in the north was virtually completed. That job, the announcement said, was to effect coordination among Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force units in the area.

4-STAR COMMANDER

Some newsmen, however, reported the Marines were unhappy at the imposing of Abrams, a four-star Army commander, over the three-star Marine command of Cushman.

Cushman now remains technically and administratively in overall command of the 1st Corps area — the five northern provinces. In practice, Rosson will be in direct tactical charge of the two northernmost provinces and Cushman in the three others.

A senior U.S. military spokesman explained it this way:

"When the battle in northern 1st Corps — Khe Sanh, Hue, Quang Tri and the demilitarized zone — is joined, Gen. Rosson will be running the battle. If the battle is joined south of this, Gen. Cushman will be in charge."

Under Rosson's command are the 3rd Marine Division and almost all of the Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division and 101st Airborne Division. The Army elements started moving into the extreme north late last year.

UNDER CUSHMAN

Major units under Cushman are the 1st Marine Division and the Army's Americal Division. One effect of Rosson's appointment will be to inject considerably more Army officers into top staff echelons involved with the north. Those had been composed primarily of Marine officers with sprinklings of Army and Air Force liaison officers.

now was considered almost exclusively a Marine Corps domain.

As commander of "Provisional Corps, Vietnam," Rosson will run the looming battle for Khe Sanh—defended entirely by U.S. Marines and some South Vietnamese rangers—and any new fighting for Hue or north of it in Quang Tri Province and just below the demilitarized zone.

Rosson's appointment was seen by some observers as an effort to bring the threatened sector under closer control of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of all U.S. forces in Vietnam, and his command in Saigon.

Some newspaper accounts implied that the move reflected Army dissatisfaction with the way the Marines were operating in South Vietnam's northern

Resignation Is Demanded

Czech Leader's Ouster Likely

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new reformist leaders appear on the verge of ousting old-line Communist President Antonin Novotny.

A party group in the army's general staff — in a move unprecedented in any Communist country — issued a public demand Friday for the resignation of Novotny and other top orthodox officials.

The army chiefs blame Novotny for covering up the alleged corruption case of Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna, who defected to the United States Wednesday.

Western analysts said the Sejna case paved the way for reformist leaders under newly elected party head Alexander Dubcek to speed up personnel changes they otherwise would have made cautiously.

"This Sejna affair was a godsend for the new leaders," one Western diplomat observed.

Sejna, a top functionary in the Czech defense department, is believed to be the highest military man from Eastern Europe ever to defect to the West. He was a key figure in the abortive attempt last January to thwart the removal of Novotny as party leader.

The general is also implicated in an illegal deal with a farming cooperative that netted $42,000 through the sale of grass seed to peasants. And in an interview with a Prague newspaper today, Novotny's son portrayed Gen. Sejna as a heavy-spending woman chaser who had trouble making ends meet on his salary of $1,200 a month — five times that of the average industrial worker.

Novotny was removed from his party leader's post by liberal critics eager to push through economic reforms and a more democratic approach to things. Students and writers were in the vanguard demanding the ouster of the old-line who came to power in the Stalinist era.

The general staff officers' demands for a housecleaning were raised in two open letters Friday to party chief Dubcek. One letter, authored by a party group identified as "K-2," said it was a matter of justice to demand that those who became tacit or benevolent protectors of Sejna should take the full blame and offer their resignations.

"GREAT FAVORS"

"This also directly applies to the president of the republic," the letter said, "and especially to Comrade Moroslav Mamula."

'Sickest Should Get New Heart'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. the public is qualified to make the decision. The general is pioneer heart-transplant surgeon from South Africa, has told Congress only one standard should be applied — and only by doctors — in deciding who should receive a new heart.

“Who is the sickest patient?” Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., asked which of several patients should be chosen if just one donated heart is available.

GREATEST NEED

Barnard testified before a Senate Government Operations subcommittee Friday that a proposed commission to study legal, ethical and social aspects of heart-transplant operations is “an insult to your doctors.”

“Who decides where the heart from among a millionaire general should attack?” The senator, an industrialist and a four senators. “No. I don’t think laborer.”

House Panel Shuts Door on Draft Revision Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite pleas from more than 70 congressmen, a key House committee chairman has ruled out congressional revision of the draft system this year.

L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said yesterday his panel would not reopen the draft issue because President Johnson already has authority to deal with what draft critics believe are inequities in the system.

“We don’t intend to hold any hearings on the draft this session,” Rivers said. “All they need to do is administer the bill the way Congress intended.” Without hearings, there can be no change in the law.

A UPI check showed 74 House members so far have introduced or cosponsored legislation that would undo, revise or add to action by Congress last year extending the Selective Service Act for four years.

Johnson’s failure to follow through on his intention—announced one year and three days ago—to revise the order in which men are drafted, and start taking first the youngest instead of the oldest, has generated many of the congressional calls for action.

Rivers himself has questioned the President’s plan to continue taking the oldest men first. The result of this decision, along with the President’s decision to eliminate deferments for college graduate students, means a draft in the year starting in June composed almost entirely of college graduates.

SENATE PLAYS, HOUSE BURNS—Georgia Sen. Culver Kidd (left) in toga, sandals and laurel wreath, helps an Atlanta Playboy Club bunny dress Sen. Robert Rowan in bottomless pajamas during horseplay in the final hours in the 1968 session of the Georgia Legislature. The House finished much earlier, and tempers were getting hot waiting for the Senate to get on with its business—and adjournment.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy arrived yesterday afternoon in Merida, Mexico, a community on the Yucatan Peninsula, for a visit to various ruins of ancient Maya Indian civilization.

She planned a visit today to the ruins of Uxmal, and later will go to Chichen-Itza, site of other Maya ruins.

Mrs. Kennedy came to Mexico from New York via Miami, where her plane set down for only a few minutes.

A spokesman for Pan American Airways said Mrs. Kennedy was traveling with Roswell Gilpatrick, who served as deputy secretary of defense under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Joan Haffers, and John Walsh, a Secret Service agent.

At Merida, Mrs. Kennedy was met by hotel man Fernando Barbachano, at whose home she will stay.

‘Back Britain’ Secretaries Fired

Two secretaries, who persuaded a Chelmsford, England, factory staff to work an extra 20 minutes daily without pay in a “Back Britain” campaign, were fired yesterday.

Carol Atkinson, 18, and Rosalind Pettigrew, 20, put on their campaign at Windley Bros. engineering plant six weeks ago. It was aimed at helping to get Britain out of the economic red.

“Unfortunately, we found these people in excess of our requirements and it is not our policy to have people hanging about doing nothing,” said managing director Eric Windley. Commented Miss Atkinson: “I think it is disgusting.”

“I’ve just explained it to you,” Barnard said. “Who is the sickest patient?” The commission idea was proposed by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

Discussing the proposal with the Cape Town surgeon, senators argued that new problems have been created with the advent of such expensive operations—that only a limited number of persons could be saved by heart transplants.

NO NEW PROBLEMS

But Barnard, maintaining, such decisions have always been up to the doctor, replied: “None of these problems are new problems. You can’t tell me one new problem.”

Barnard said it is up to the doctor to decide when to remove a heart from a donor—as he did from two accident victims in South Africa.

“Why do we have to have new definitions of death, or com-

Blue Tones Highlight Gold Carpeting And White Walls Of Spacious Living Room

In Decorating Theme

Cool Colors Are Stressed

By JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
An air of serenity pervades the decorating atmosphere at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Armstrong of Bloomfield Township. The cool-colored living room relies on its furnishings for the introduction of tone and texture interest.

Against the neutral background of white walls and gold plush carpeting, the French blue damask of the sofa, the French blue cut velvet of the shell-back arm chair near the fireplace and the French blue trim of the white antique satin draperies initiate the room's dominant accent color.

Grouped with the sofa, are matching Queen Anne mahogany tables with sliding trays which conveniently hold ashtrays or coffee cups, matching quilted white armless chairs and an oval mahogany drop-leaf coffee table. The conversation area is lighted by twin china and brass table lamps with white silk shades.

The antiqued-glass mirror above the sofa reflects a Spanish motif. It is flanked by crystal and brass candle sconces.

Luxurious philodendron vines spill over the container on the fruitwood card table against the fireplace wall. Again stressing the French blue are the candles on the white fireplace. They are set in handmade brass candlesticks which have been handed down through the generations of the Armstrong family.

Serving the shell-back chair is a diminutive brass-legged footstool covered in a moss green and French blue fabric. A white marble lamp adorns the nearby round table.

In the window alcove are two white antiqued velvet arm chairs separated by a piecrust edged coffee table. To add a hint of spring and another touch of living green to the decor, Mrs. Armstrong centered the table with a blooming red azalea plant.

Fruitwood-toned paneling and ranch plank floors create an informal atmosphere in the nearby family room. Reemphasizing the gold and white background theme of the formal living area in the more casual setting, Mrs. Armstrong chose a gold on white patterned area rug.

RAISED HEARTH

Blue boucle tweed chairs, one wing back and one shell back, afford an excellent view of a crackling fire in the raised hearth fireplace. The ceramic book table on the hearth is a creation of Gordon Graham.

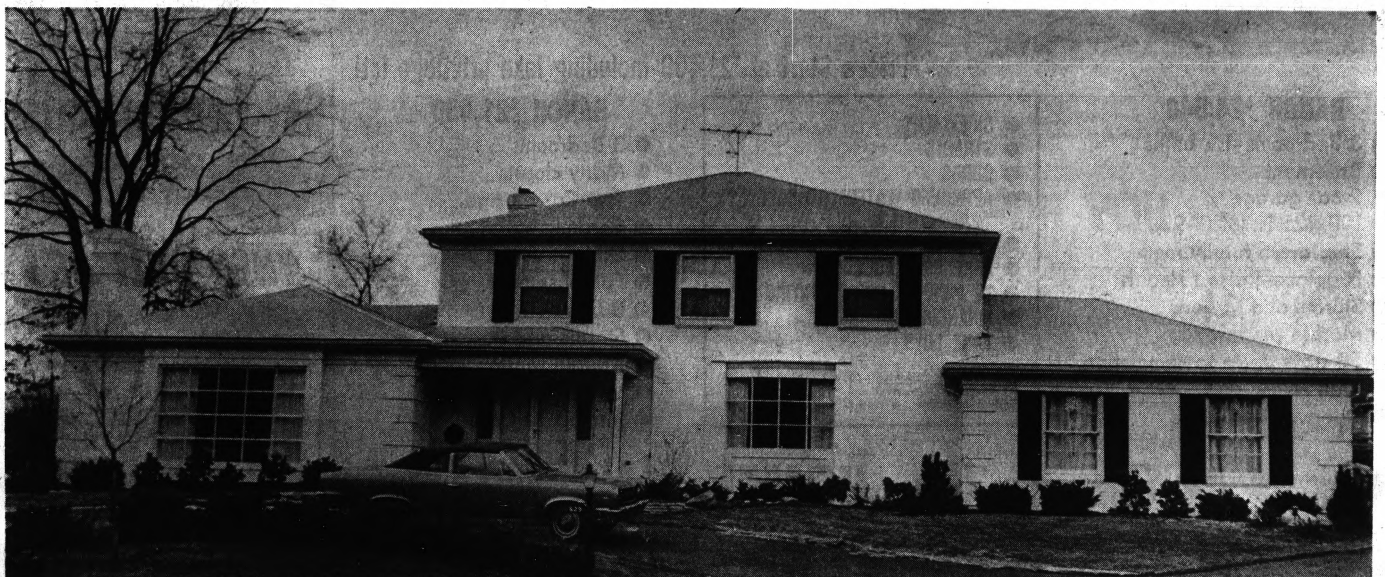

A flocked fruit and flower wallpaper in blue and green injects a dramatic note in the adjoining kitchen. Lighting the informal dining portion of the room is a white hobnail hanging fixture.

Avoid Routine

Winter Picnic Outdoor Treat

To shake up the winter routine — especially if there are children in the family — there's nothing like a winter picnic.

So unadventurous are most families that it takes considerable courage for some one of the group to announce, "Next weekend, I want us to go on a picnic."

After the uproar subsides and you prove that you don't need your mind dip-sticked, the idea begins to start sounding interesting if not rather exciting.

To get into the proper defensive position to make the suggestion, there's some ammunition you'll need.

At the outset, this is one picnic which would be the most windward side of the fire.

The group clusters behind it in comfort.

These events are always stand-up affairs. Hot dogs are the most practical for the lunch. Everyone is on the action with them and stays near the fire.

Insulated bottles of hot soup and hot chocolate will add variety. Hot dog in one hand and paper cup in the other, you see.

Chicken legs or chicken breasts baked in advance and hand-eaten are substitutes if the family has an aversion to hot dogs.

PLASTIC UTENSILS

Plastic spoons and forks make baked beans and pie possible items on the menu if you want to be aristocratic.

Selecting a location for the picnic is regulated by where you can build a big fire on the ground. Eating the food outdoors is usually the big adventure. You go, eat, congratulate yourselves and go home.

If the weather isn't too repulsive, there's always the possibility of a game of touch football. Snow or ice suggest their own fun.

Don't overlook the chance for a wild and hilarious game of tips.

Paint Brush Tips for You to Follow

Your paint brushes will have a longer lifetime of satisfactory performance if you'll follow a few helpful hints.

First, be sure to clean your brush thoroughly after completing a paint job. If you soak a brush in a solvent for any length of time, be sure to suspend it by its handle.

Then let it dry in the same manner — suspended by the possibility of a game of touch football. Snow or ice suggest their own fun.

You may store brushes by laying them flat or by suspending by the handles—but NEVER stand a paint brush on its bristles.

Humidifier Solves Dry Air Problems

Wintertime and early Spring synthetic fabrics sticking to your skin, and snapping sparks from doorknobs and other metal fixtures around the house. Strangely enough, there is a common general cause for all of these things.

General Electric environmental control engineers point out that cold air holds less water vapor than warm air. Yet, it is this cold winter air that is taken inside the home, warmed by the heating system, and circulated around the house.

Although the temperature of this air has been increased, its water vapor content hasn't, and it therefore has very low, desert-like humidity.

Grandma had a solution to this: keep a pan of warm water on the stove or radiator all day long.

The modern solution is a power humidifier that will automatically evaporate water into the heating system air, raising the humidity to a comfortable level.

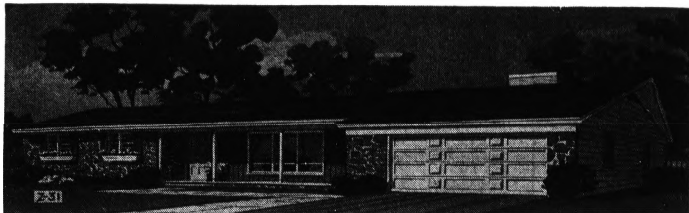

EASY TO INSTALL
Some models are easy to install into your warm air heating system during the winter months.

Dry, hot air may cause the sensitive membranes of the nose and throat to dry out, possibly leading to greater susceptibility to colds. And it can cause a housewife's hands to become rough and dry from her everyday household chores.

Achieving the proper humidity level in a home will also relieve those annoying sparks that jump to the tip of your finger as you open the door to walk out of a carpeted room.

Unlike Grandma's pan of water on the radiator, a power humidifier operates when the furnace blower is running.

A peek-a-boo pass-through between kitchen and dining room that can be closed off when not in use will help to confine kitchen odors and noises.

CONTEMPORARY RANCH—Continuous roof gives this three-bedroom ranch the long, low look of contemporary ranch styling. Stone and board-and-batten siding are combined harmoniously. Front porch and windows that open like awnings enhance all-over appearance.

Convertible Area in Pleasant Ranch

The cost of extras in a home is increased when additions are made long after the house is built. And yet we all like to save where we can in the initial construction by leaving an optional item to a latter date.

One way of having your savings now and allowing the leeway you will need in the future, is shown in this ranch house designed by Architect Lester Cohen.

The convertible area is seen as a porch behind the garage. But with very little change, it can be turned into a family room with a central fireplace, sliding glass doors to a rear terrace and ready access to and from the kitchen or living room. These are assets most persons want in a family room.

In considering living area, the entry foyer must be taken into account. It's a modest luxury that pays for itself in helping to keep the living room "company fresh."

Because this ranch is not needed for access to any area of the house, furniture selection and placement can be as formal as you like. The view window overlooks the entrance porch, offering privacy along with a nice outlook.

SERVICE LAVATORY
Access to the service lavatory is a practical idea for guest use. Whether the family room or porch is selected, it's nice to be able to reach the informal area from the living room.

The dining room has just about the same privacy features described for the living room. Sliding glass doors at the back open to the outdoor dining porch in mild weather or present a lovely view at all times.

The roofed porch can be used as an outdoor living area in the summer, or when finished as a family room, can add the pleasures of an informal living room all year round.

The kitchen, with a corner dinette, is a square, compact and perfect area for all your needs. With the addition of the pantry, lavatory, mudroom and laundry, the kitchen area becomes more than twice as big—yet with individual zones.

Each section is easier to keep clean, there is better circulation of air, and each job gets done with a minimum of fuss and master lavatory are back to back, plumbing economy worth noting.

Stone and board-and-batten siding are used as exterior materials and are highlighted by awning-opening windows for a pleasant contemporary look.

Z-31 STATISTICS

Design Z-31 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, laundry-mud room, two baths and a lavatory, and three bedrooms, with a total habitable area of 1,516 square feet. Rear porch can be made into a family room which would add 220 square feet of living space. The two-car garage has a storage area for toys and tools. Overall dimensions are 74' 10" by 34' 8", which include the two-car garage and the front and rear porches.

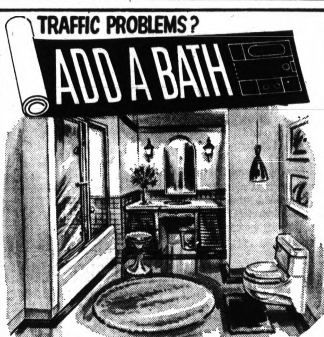

The family bathroom and with a minimum of fuss and master lavatory are back to back, plumbing economy worth noting.

Stone and board-and-batten siding are used as exterior materials and are highlighted by awning-opening windows for a pleasant contemporary look.

You can get to the laundry from the garage, mudroom or porch. Here again a small space set aside for a specific purpose preserves the valuable functions of the larger area around it.

For example, no messy hall and kitchen floor to clean when supplies are brought in on a rainy day.

BEDROOM WING
The three-bedroom wing is to the right of the center hall, protected against the activity noises of the living areas. Bedroom 2 could hold two active youngsters without crowding in a family of five. The master bedroom has the rear corner, and with its big closet area and private bath, offers real comfort to the parents.

Electrical Cable Hits the Dirt

When aluminum goes un-per cent of all overhead saving factors for economy. derground today, the reasons are suburban rather than made of aluminum because of its high conductivity, light weight, and economy.

Pole-strung electrical cables that carry current to the home are rapidly becoming a thing of the past in many suburban neighborhoods, according to The Aluminum Association.

They are being replaced by underground electrical lines for aesthetic and practical reasons.

And just as aluminum conductor has become dominant for overhead cable, it is also becoming a strong choice for underground systems.

As Thomas Edison knew when he built the first electric power station in 1881, aluminum has only one-third the weight of copper and conducts twice as much electricity per pound.

BACK THEN

So, even though aluminum then cost a whopping $11.33 a pound, the Wizard of Menlo Park nevertheless used it in generators, motors, light sockets and other electrical equipment.

Today, thanks to modern refining methods, aluminum costs less than copper and has become a staple of the electrical industry.

For years now, more than 90 per cent of all overhead saving factors for economy. transmission cable has been minded electric companies.

Underground electrical systems, and even building wire systems, are making greater use of aluminum conductor for the same reasons.

In addition to its electrical properties, aluminum conductor's light weight and flexibility makes it easier to carry and handle — important labor

ATTIC HAVEN—For two high school girls, this attic's become a heavenly haven. Dad and Mom planned and carried out the modernization project, using a durable wood-painted hardboard paneling. Built-in desk, window seat and bookcases present a symmetrical aspect to the window end of the room and encourage the girls to study independently but together. Damp-wise maintenance of the factory-finished hardboard paneling makes upkeep easy for the busy girls.

Family Project Turns Attic Into a Haven

A family do-it-yourself project can renovate an entire attic at small expense but a big gain in esprit de corps and the satisfaction of enjoying the fruits of the labor involved. Arrival of a son after three daughters resulted in a decision by a Georgia family to convert the second floor into bedrooms for the girls. Mom was chief planner, Dad the craftsman and the girls the helpers.

Before concentrating on the paneling and painting, the family hired professionals to add stairs, strengthen floor joists, add subflooring and install double windows.

Together, members of the family "shimmed" ceiling rafters to level them and added a lattice of lath to receive the plasterboard.

The hall and bedrooms walls were paneled in hardboard. They selected this paneling, Mom said, "for its beauty and practicality for areas used by children and because we knew it would be easy for us to install."

PANELED DOORS
An interesting feature of the modernization was their use of paneling to cover five sets of double closet doors. Back sides of the closet doors were covered with perforated board, which she described as "wonderful hanging space."

Most of the work was accomplished during evenings. Dad works six days a week from 7:30 to 6, and Mom does all her own housework. The family attends Sunday school and church on Sunday mornings, so that left evenings and Sunday afternoons for the modernization.

"All agree it was well worth the effort," Mom said. "The girls certainly have enjoyed their privacy and the fun of having lots of 'spend the night' company."

She said the best time saver was the use of the prefabricated hardboard panels and matching molding. Naturally, she added, "The biggest money saver was our own labor."

Garden Club to Hold Meeting

The Rochester Men's Garden Club will host Edward Mallonen, who has represented General Development Corporation in Michigan for the last decade, would continue as broker of record with the title of vice president of the Detroit branch.

The $185-million Miami-based development company is building city-size communities on Florida's east and west coasts. Michigan residents have already purchased more than 7,700 homesites, valued at more than $11,163,000 in these new urban centers.

Among the major communities the company is creating in Florida are Port Rochester Municipal Building, Charlotte, on the state's southwest coast, and Port Malabar and Port St. Lucie, on the east coast. More than 20,000 "Governmental Cooperation for the east coast. More than 20,000 Recreation in Southeast persons now live in GDC's communities."

Apprentices Join Program

Enrollment in carpentry training programs operated by builder organizations affiliated with the National Association of Home Builders has now reached 404 — almost halfway toward the goal of 1,000 apprentices.

At Covington, Ky., the Home Builders Association of Northern Kentucky recently received approval to repeat its program, which produced 18 apprentices in its first class.

Authorization for 30 trainees in the program now being organized by the Home Builders Association of Suburban Maryland (near Washington, D.C.) has been doubled.

Classes are being repeated at Shreveport, La., and Kansas City, Mo., and approval for second classes has been received by NAHB affiliates in Asheville and Fayetteville, N.C.

Carpentry training classes also are either under way or approved at Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Reading, Pa.; Charlotte and Raleigh, N.C.; Hartford, Westport and New London, Conn.; Greenville and Spartanburg, S.C.; Macon, Ga., and St. Petersburg, Fla.

The U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Apprenticeship Training has authorized organization of such classes in 17 states.

The NAHB and its affiliates in these states are sponsoring the training program, which is financed by a joint fund of $789,660 provided by the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Accident Deaths

Deaths in home accidents in the United States increased 5.4 per cent from 28,000 in 1965 to 29,500 in 1966, reports the Insurance Information Institute.

It's All in Your Approach

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You might find a small fortune in your cellar if you start digging in the trash.

It's an attitude that makes cleaning the cellar less of a chore. And the dream can come true, even in a small way. One man found $104 stashed away in a cookie jar.

There are few old houses that aren't burdened by an accumulation of stored items.

And — if you don't find anything of real value, there's always the satisfaction that a clean cellar can provide.

A cellar can be a health hazard, breeding germs, bacteria, spores. Many women go through such cellars every day to do laundry, remove food from a freezer.

ELIMINATE CAUSE

They are repulsed by it but they don't do anything about it as they gather cobwebs in their hair and drag floor dirt upstairs on their shoes.

Plan the cleaning program by buying a mask and cotton and gauze filters at the hardware store. An effective one is under 50 cents. You insert the filter, fitting it to your nose and around your mouth, tightening the strap to your head.

Put on long pants, long-sleeved blouse or shirt, a washable cloth around your head, pinning it tight. Wear work gloves or other long washable gloves. Put cotton in your ears.

The first cellar cleaning should be with the vacuum. You'll need it to remove cobwebs, dirt in corners and to clean items that will be saved.

First, sort everything into (a) junk (b) useful give-aways (c) tag sale items (d) holds.

When you've discarded junk — old fuses, flashlight batteries, children's games, old bottles, jelly jars and perhaps an old water tank (which will require heavy arms for removal) you'll have made a big dent.

Sort out the give-aways: bags of outgrown galoshes, snow suits, bathing suits.

HOLD IT!

You may be tempted to throw away the Boy Scout coffee pot, record player, records, hobby horse, toy chest, carpet sweeper, seldom-used pressure cooker, old wallpaper, trunks and old books.

Resist that impulse. These make ideal items for a tag sale. One person's junk can be another person's finds.

For example, one man made over $200 on such items as old garden tools, flower vases, unused rug, pudding pans, salad bowls and so on. He was prepared to pay a junk man to dispose of it.

When you've sorted, discarded, tagged sale items, the remaining items can be vacuum brushed or wiped with a cloth floor. They will be a lot more useful now that you can get to them.

Mop or hose the cellar, if possible. But this phase of your project can be delayed until warmer weather.

A good arranger may carry this clean-up idea to the ultimate step — putting winter slush away — ice skates, sleds, skis and so on in one area, and summer paraphernalia — tennis rackets, golf clubs, water skis, boat oars and so on in another.

If there is an old coal bin, clean it out. It can provide good storage space for precious

21 Bodies Found in Mine; Probe of Fire Begins

CALUMET, La. (AP) — The bodies of 21 men who perished in the caverns of a salt mine have been found, and efforts were under way today to learn the cause of the fire that killed them.

The four-day search came to an end yesterday. Sixteen bodies were found huddled together in a tunnel 3,000 feet from the mine shaft. The other five were located a few hours later. Officials for Cargill, Inc., which owns the mine did not disclose the exact spot.

The tragedy struck eight months after the Federal Bureau of Mines recommended a sister shaft be sunk to provide better ventilation, an escape route and various fire controls.

H. A. Schreengost, a bureau official in Indianapolis, Ind., said the recommendations were made by A. M. Evans, a mining engineer from the Dallas suburb, after an "observation walk-through" last August.

In Minneapolis, W. R. Pearce, a Cargill vice president, said the company requested the inspection and that some recommendations were followed, with others "in the process of approval and implementation."

'NO SAFETY SUGGESTION'

Jim Bowe, a public relations man for the mining company, added Friday night, "there was no specific suggestion in the entire observation which could have prevented the fire."

Raymond R. Ashby, a coal mine safety expert from Kentucky who was on the mine floor when the first 16 bodies were found, said the men apparently "died of carbon monoxide poisoning. They died a painless death. It was like lying down and going to sleep."

Ashby was one of the members of two six-man teams trained in mine rescue operations who worked at the mine site since their arrival Wednesday night.

Friends and relatives waited, hopes faltering as the long ordeal wore on. At the final announcement a mother collapsed on a cot, sobbing: "Oh my God, my son, my son!"

"I ain't got no brothers anymore," a woman wailed.

Two women fainted. Some miners cried. Other workers simply removed their hard hats and lowered their heads.

TEARS OF SORROW — The young and the old wife of a miner who died in the Calumet mine disaster Tuesday in a salt mine at Calumet, La.

A HITCH IN UNHITCHING — The truck driver who unhitched this trailer did so because he wanted to get the truck repaired. He stood helplessly as the trailer's small front wheels sank in the soft roadside at Alton, Ill. Alton police kept sightseers away and crossed their fingers until a tow truck could right the trailer.

GOP Faction 'Won't Desert'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Conservative Republicans, meeting here today in what they bill as their first statewide convention, stressed they were trying to strengthen their position in the Michigan GOP and did not intend to desert it.

"We feel the right place for conservatives is in the Republican party," Richard Durant, 14th District Republican chairman and temporary chairman of the convention, said yesterday on the eve of the meeting.

Moderate Gov. George Romney, although invited to the conservative conclave by Durant, a long-time political enemy, planned to be in Washington today to tape "Face the Nation" and attend the annual gridiron dinner.

Durant, a Romney critic since the governor's first state campaign in 1962, charged Romney has long tried to "purge" the Michigan GOP of conservatives.

Organizers of today's meeting said they expected more than 300 would attend the day-long session, devoted to setting up a permanent political organization, debating major state and national issues, and conducting a straw-vote presidential primary.

HUBER TO SPEAK

Speeches by author Phyllis Schlafly, who penned the book "A Choice, Not an Echo," in support of the 1964 presidential efforts of Barry M. Goldwater, and by state Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, also were planned.

The group will be asked to vote on resolutions calling for a declaration of war against North Vietnam, removal of "the restrictions placed upon our military men," and an end to foreign aid to any nation which is "helping the Hanoi regime in any manner whatsoever."

Other measures sent to the floor by a leadership caucus last night call for outlawing the state income tax, balancing the federal budget, retaining sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone and giving police "a freer hand to quell riots."

PETITIONS CHALLENGED

The Minnesota senator faced troubles of another kind in Massachusetts, where he's running in the April 30 primary. The authenticity of signatures on petitions to place his name on the presidential preference ballot there was challenged yesterday, but specific charges were not filed.

California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, delegation chairman in the state, said Johnson probably will appear in San Francisco and Los Angeles, but no dates have been set.

As the bill now stands, its principal provisions would:

- Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale and rental of housing. When fully effective Jan. 1, 1970, the ban would cover nearly 70 per cent of the nation's housing units.
- Provide federal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools and engage in other specifically protected activities.
- Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot, to obstruct firemen and policemen engaged in suppressing a riot, or to transport in interstate commerce or teach how to make and use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.
- Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights.

Senate Rights Bill Ready for Passage Vote Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than seven weeks of debate, the Senate has forged a civil rights bill which is ready for a final vote. A major provision would outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of most of the nation's housing.

"I think we got as much as we had any right to hope for," Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said. He termed the open-housing section an upset victory for his supporters.

The Senate approved the amended version 61 to 19, opening the way for a vote on passage Monday.

Antiriot Issues Moved in State

LANSING (AP) — State senators easily passed bills to define the crime of riot and create a State Police reserve yesterday while the House moved an antiriot measure into final vote position amid bitter debate.

The riot definition bill, approved 30-6 and sent to the House, grew out of a study by a special Crime Investigation Committee named by the Senate following last summer's Detroit riot.

The police reserve bill authorizes the State Police director to recruit, equip and train a special statewide reserve force to serve as an auxiliary in times of emergency, such as during riots or tornadoes.

Despite bitter debate in which opponents hurled charges of "isolationism" and "police state," the House moved to final vote stage a bill giving local officials the power to declare states of emergency in civil disorders.

The opponents, mainly Detroit Negro lawmakers, were unsuccessful in attempts to amend or return the bill to committee.

LACK EXPERIENCE

The bill does not have the support of State Police director Fredrick Davids, who has said many communities lack the experience to properly handle the authority it would give them.

"This authority improperly used, or perhaps abused, could be a tremendous annoyance to the public and the good it would do hardly worth the risk," Davids has said.

State Weekend Road Toll Is at 11

By The Associated Press

Eleven persons — including a 12-year-old boy walking an expressway in search of his missing dog and three in a single Detroit collision — have died in Michigan's weekend traffic.

In an upstate crash in which two persons were killed, the president of the Gibson Refrigerator Corp. of Greenville was among three persons seriously injured.

Glenn A. Sisco of Flushing was the lad killed while searching for his dog. Authorities said Glenn was pushing his bicycle and walking with the flow of traffic in a passing lane of I-75 when he was hit last night.

The boy's sister had reported him missing two hours earlier and a motorist had stopped a sheriff's deputy to report the boy's walking in the expressway. The deputy reached the scene Monday. (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 5)

Rocky Summons GOP Leaders for Situation Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has asked a group of Republican party leaders to meet with him in New York tomorrow afternoon "To exchange views on the situation of the party" following Gov. George Romney's withdrawal from the GOP presidential race.

A statement by the governor's press secretary, Leslie Sloate, said:

"Gov. Rockefeller has asked a number of representative leaders of the party to meet with him in New York on Sunday."

"The purpose of the meeting is to exchange views on the situation of the party following Gov. Romney's withdrawal.

"It has been made clear to all participants that the purpose of the meeting is not to seek any commitments of support for the governor, whose position of non-candidacy remains unchanged."

Sloate said between 20 and 25 GOP leaders from all parts of the country had been invited to the session. He declined to identify them or to state the time of the meeting on Sunday. He said the session would be held in Rockefeller's Fifth Avenue apartment.

Rockefeller has consistently said he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for president. He has indicated that he would accept a draft if a genuine movement developed within the GOP.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Meanwhile, he is about to embark on a busy schedule of meetings running from next Tuesday through this month.

Tuesday he is flying to Pittsburgh to receive an award from the Pittsburgh Urban Transit Council. Tuesday night, he plans to attend the 50th anniversary of the Rochester, N.Y., Times-Union.

The governor is to speak at the United Jewish Appeal dinner in New York March 21 and to address the Convocation on Racial Justice in the New York Community on March 20.

Sloate said that Rockefeller's appearances in Pittsburgh and Rochester are wholly nonpolitical.

California Rift to Lure Johnson

By The Associated Press

President Johnson, reportedly seeking to clear up an intraparty dispute, is due to head for California this spring to campaign for a slate of candidates favoring his candidacy for renomination.

Another state favors Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policy.

McCarthy, meanwhile, has criticized New Hampshire campaign attacks on his Vietnam stance. Political advertisements broadcast in advance of Tuesday's primary are saying a vote for McCarthy would be "a vote for fuzzy thinking and surrender."

McCarthy told a news conference yesterday in Rochester, N.H. President Johnson should take steps to disassociate himself from the attacks.

McCarthy said he didn't know whether they were being run with White House approval but "if these ads were being put out in my name, I'd protest publicly."

McCarthy said he didn't know whether they were being run with White House approval but "if these ads were being put out in my name, I'd protest publicly."

California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, delegation chairman in the state, said Johnson probably will appear in San Francisco and Los Angeles, but no dates have been set.

Waite's Store to Close Soon

"Waite's, Inc., will end its operations within the next two months, in view of the forthcoming expiration of its lease," Clifford, C. Groveland, the store's manager, announced today.

Waite's is a unit of Allied Stores Corp. occupies the five floors and basement of the building at Saginaw and Huron.

Groveland explained arrangements are being made to provide termination pay to all of Waite's 70 employees.

The store executives, including himself, are being offered positions in other Allied stores, he added.

"We regret the circumstances which require the closing of Waite's. The store has been a part of the Pontiac community for many years, and it has been a privilege to serve it."

THANKS GIVEN

"We thank the people of Pontiac for their patronage, and our employees for their loyal service," said Groveland.

Waite's was incorporated in 1939 with the original owner, E. L. Waite, as chairman of the board. The current building is leased from his estate.

When Waite came to Pontiac in 1896, he became connected with the J. S. Stockwell store on N. Saginaw. Later Waite, his brother, Lester E., and Milton Robertson bought out that store and moved into the old Masonic Temple building on Saginaw and Huron.

In 1909 the Waite brothers bought out Robertson, and Waite became the sole owner after his brother's death.

In 1913 the store moved to its present site, and in 1929 two more stores were added to the original structure.

Florida School Issue Goes to Local Boards

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Efforts to end Florida's statewide teacher walkout shifted to the local level today as county school boards faced the policy issue of whether teachers who resigned during the three-week strike should be reinstated.

The Florida Education Association recommended Friday that teachers and the walkout return to classrooms Monday if each of the state's 67 counties agreed to accept the teachers back in their old positions.

The FEA, which claims membership of most of Florida's 60,000 teachers, issued the recommendation after the state board of education adopted a nine-point resolution providing $10.5 million more for public schools during the current year.

County school boards throughout the state scheduled meetings to act on the teacher organization's offer.

RETURN RESIGNATIONS

State School Supt. Floyd Christian, who proposed the compromise resolution, called on the local school boards to reinstate the teachers. Gov. Claude Kirk, in a series of appearances across Florida during the week, also urged the boards to return resignations submitted by many of the 17,000 teachers still out of class.

Christian Friday returned to the local boards recommending they had sent to his office calling for the revocation of state certificates for the resigned teachers. "It is possible that you and your county board may find that the changed circumstances are considerably different," he said.

The resolution adopted by the state board provides teachers a chance to return to their jobs

"with dignity," Christian said. A similar proposal, also suggested by Christian, was withdrawn last week after it received widespread criticism from state and local school officials.

The first proposal contained provisions for recognition of the FEA as a bargaining agent for teachers. In the resolution adopted Friday, attention was drawn to a state law allowing local boards to consult teachers' committees on policy and employment matters.

FEA President Dexter Hagman said the resolution, plus a $254-million school spending package that became law Thursday night, is "all we can reasonably expect at this time without completely destroying this state's system of public education."

Florida teachers began the walkout Feb. 19, and the strike reached its peak two days later when, state officials said, 26,000 teachers were out of class.

Romney Hits Bond Change Plan

LANSING — Gov. George Romney has protested to Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler that a proposal to end the tax-exempt status of industrial development bonds would be a serious blow to the Michigan economy.

Romney also wrote all of Michigan's congressmen and senators asking them to work against the proposed change before it becomes effective next Friday.

Removal of the tax exemption provision would make industrial development bonds much less attractive to investors, Romney said.

The regulation would have a long-term impact on Michigan's efforts at economic expansion because industrial development bond financing is one of the incentives used by the states to attract new industries, he said.

ASKS CONGRESS ACT

Romney asked that the issue be resolved by congressional action rather than administrative regulation. He also urged consultations with state and local government officials before there is any departure from the present policy on tax exemptions.

The governor said there is an immediate problem of several bond issues about to be marketed.

Largest of these is a $56-million bond issue intended to finance a new paper mill facility to be leased to the Escanaba Paper Co.

Unless the Internal Revenue Service rules that these bonds are tax exempt, "this sizable expansion in an area needing economic development is in jeopardy," Romney said.

STATE LIST CITED

The governor cited a list of industrial bonds sold recently that resulted in an investment of $53.3 million and up to 2,800 new jobs.

These included:

- $12.5 million for Beach-Nut Life Savers Inc., confectionary plant at Holland, to employ 200-300 workers.

- $90 million for the Budd Co., disc-brake parts manufacturing plant, to employ 300-400 workers.

- $33 million for Allied Supermarkets Inc., food processing plant at Livonia, to employ 2,000 workers.

Pending projects, all affected by the proposed change, were listed as:

- $56-million Escanaba Paper Co. plant.

- $2.8 million Garwood Industries Inc. facility at Ypsilanti Township.

- $4.5-million Westab Co. facility at Kalamazoo.

- $16.5-million Chicago and Northwestern Railroad facility at Escanaba.

In addition, Romney said, 17 other similar projects are in various stages of progress.

Photographer Missing

SAIGON (AP) — Robert Ellison, a news photographer believed to have been aboard a U.S. Air Force C123 shot down near Khe Sanh Wednesday, was listed as missing today.

The U.S. Command said Ellison, 23, who worked for a freelance news organization called Empire News Service, was not on the plane's passenger list but could have been aboard. He had been planning to return to Khe Sanh about Wednesday after a few days rest in Da Nang.

The downed C123, carrying troops from Da Nang to Khe Sanh, had 43 Marines, one Navy man and four Air Force crew members aboard, according to the passenger list. All

Rep. McDonald Proposes Fund for Human Renewal

Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District, has proposed the immediate creation of a $2.5-billion Human Renewal Fund "to meet urgent human needs and the urban crisis of our nation."

The funds could be set up in the 1969 budget by cutting back $6.5 billion in nonessential spending, he said.

"By firmly cutting $6.5 billion from the President's budget, we can responsibly play back $2.5 billion for urgent human needs and at the same time reduce the administration's deficit by $4 billion," McDonald said.

The fund would provide for programs in the areas of employment, education, housing, air and water pollution, crime control, rural revitalization and renewal.

McDonald charged that the administration "has consistently refused to exercise the political integrity required to establish positive national spending policies."

POLITICAL PRESSURE

"Bowing to political pressures of the moment, it has allowed its attention to drift from our most pressing human and urban needs," he added.

He said Congress could not allow the drift to continue.

McDonald said that under the urgent program $500 million would be allocated to mobilize private industry to provide jobs and training; $250 million would provide vocational and technical education; $250 million would go for an expanded housing program; $250 million would be provided for air and water pollution control; $100 million would be provided for a model tax credit approach to induce industry to expand in rural areas; $100 million would go for crime control and $50 million toward improving education.

Cuts totaling $6.5 billion could be made in public works, public buildings, nonmilitary research, highway beautification, the superconductor program and such other low-priority programs as such as government public relations, McDonald said.

He called for holding the foreign aid spending line at present levels and said Congress must demonstrate its sincerity by deferring major construction and new facilities on Capitol Hill.

Let the Buyer Beware Go to a Reputable Jeweler and Be Happy

By WALTER J. GLENNON

QUESTION: I am about to be engaged to a nice young man who had the foresight to consult me before purchasing my diamond engagement ring. We have shopped around and there seems to be such wide discrepancy in prices that we are confused. Is there any advice you can give us?

ANSWER: Yes, go to a reputable jeweler, select the ring you like, purchase it and go home and be happy.

Added Precaution

With an added precaution, obtain a bill or statement containing information as to the item purchased: prior, weight of stone, color, perfection, plus all representations made at the time of sale. Any merchant selling the truth will not hesitate to do this. This procedure holds true for any purchase, but particularly for merchandise referred to as "blatant items," such as diamonds, furs, etc.

My reason for advising this is that, if anything is wrong after your purchase, your chance of obtaining a refund is very good. Written representations cannot be denied and the question of credibility is not involved. In the face of such evidence, any smart merchant would realize that he would not stand a chance in any civil court and might be liable to criminal prosecution.

But my reason for saying, "Purchase it and go home and be happy" is that, all too often, young couples such as you make a purchase only to have it spoiled by worrying over its actual value. The girl is at first happy with the thought that she has a nice boy, a nice ring and, what appears to be a happy future. The boy is proud of the fact that he could purchase a ring that the girl he loves is contented with.

Then some well-meaning friend says, "Have you had it appraised yet?" and the trouble starts. People who had enough confidence to invest a goodly sum of money in a diamond ring from a particular jeweler strangely lose all confidence in him immediately when a second jeweler belittles the purchase. (If their confidence was so strong in the second jeweler, why didn't they make the purchase from him in the first place?)

Must Be Familiar

This is not a condemnation of all appraisals. But it is a fact that diamond appraisals must be made by a person familiar with diamonds. Anyone familiar with diamonds is, in some manner, in the diamond business and very often in direct or indirect competition with the seller. Human nature being what it is, competition sometimes influences the judgement on appraisal.

In some large cities groups of unscrupulous jewelers band together and place an identifying mark in the shank of their rings. If the mark is there, the appraisal is high at a vice versa.

Some jewelers advertise "appraisal permitted," even going so far as to represent, prior to the sale, that they will refund money if the appraisal does not come up to the selling price. After the sale is made, and the cash receipt tucked into the cash register, they will direct the purchaser to a friendly appraiser closer to the selling price and who is warned in advance that they are coming over and approximately what price to appraise the ring for.

Solely for the sake of the consumer.

Pistons Gain in Bid for Berth in Playoffs

Detroiters Roll to 129-118 Win Over Cincinnati

Philadelphia Topples Celtics; LA's Lakers Trim San Diego

From Our News Wires
The Detroit Pistons poked their heads above the National Basketball Association's playoff waters Friday night with a 129-118 victory over the team they have to beat out for fourth place in the Eastern Division — the Cincinnati Royals.

The win, in which the Pistons led nearly all the way, pushed Detroit past the Royals into the fourth and last playoff spot, one-half game above Cincinnati and a full game up on Baltimore.

The Royals knotted the score at 72-68 in the third period but Hap Hairston soon hit a bucket and Dave Bing put in a pair to shove the Pistons back on top 84-76.

Detroit led 91-86 going into the final quarter and hit a hot streak to ice the game. Bing, along with Eddie Miles, banged in 31 points with Dave DeBusschere 22.

CINCINNATI
Oscar Robertson, as usual, paced Cincinnati with 38 and Jerry Lucas scored 26. Eddie Miles had 16 of his points in the last quarter for Detroit, which has seven games left to Cincinnati's six.

Philadelphia, forced to move home games from the Spectrum to Convention Hall because of roof repairs, which new building, reduced its magic number for clinching the Eastern Division title to two by downing its chief tormentor, the Boston Celtics, 101-86.

John Havlicek of the Celtics had a game high of 32 points, but Boston could draw no closer than 79-86 in the final period. Hal Greer hit 27 for the 76ers.

Los Angeles can do no better than tie for the Western Division crown, and that isn't likely. The Lakers kept their slim hopes alive with a 130-122 win over the San Diego Rockets. Elgin Baylor and Archie Clark each scored 23.

Earl Monroe scored 32 points and Kevin Loughery added 28 to lead Baltimore past Seattle. Monroe's 20th career triple-double left gave Baltimore a 118-116 lead which they expanded to the final 122-116 margin. Tom Meschery collected 30 points for the Sonics.

TOP TEAMS

New Orleans won a battle of American Basketball Association division leaders Friday night, leaving both teams with three-game margins.
The Bucks captured a 116-114 squeaker on Jimmy Jones' eight-foot jump shot with two seconds left, despite 32 points by the Pipers' Connie Hawkins, the ABA's scoring leader.
Pittsburgh had a full game of its Eastern Division lead chipped away when second-place Minnesota defeated Oakland 109-101. New Orleans increased its margin over idle Denver to three full games.

Elsewhere, Dallas edged Houston 117-116, and Kentucky, which had lost six straight games to New Jersey, whipped the Americans 109-100.

Stall Brings Victory for N. Carolina State

By The Associated Press
North Carolina State used some "walk, don't run" basketball philosophy Friday night and sent Duke's sixth-ranked Blue Devils heading for the nearest exit from the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs.

The Wolfpack held the ball without taking a shot for almost 14 minutes in the second half, then scored six points in the last 2½ minutes for an incredible 12-0 victory that sent them into Saturday night's title game against North Carolina with a berth in the NCAA tournament at stake.

That tourney gets under way today with seven first-round games at four scattered sites, including appearances by top-ranked and third-rated St. Bonaventure, only major unbeaten teams in the country.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 7th annual ICA-Track meet, blue-ribbon event on the eastern indoor circuit, is today with familiar favorite Villanova bidding for its ninth team title in the past 12 years.

Field events were the morning at the U.S. Military Academy and the pole vault and running events are scheduled at Madison Square Garden. Finals in the running events begin at 8 p.m.

A record field of 65 schools is entered in the meet, windup event for New York's indoor track season. The field includes nine winners from last year.

U of M Stands in Iowa's Path

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa is favored to wrap up the undisputed Big Ten basketball title and an NCAA berth against visiting Michigan tonight, but a Hawkeye stumble would be par for the course in a zany conference race.

One team after another, particularly Ohio State, Northwestern and Purdue, had a good championship shot at one time or another, but only Ohio State and Iowa were able to weather ambushings by various underdogs.

Now the 14-game scramble comes down to the wire, with Iowa (10-3) needing to exercise its home court magic against revived Michigan (5-8) or fall into a championship with already-finished Ohio State (10-4).

If the zippy Wolverines should upset Iowa before 13,000 Hawkeye fans, an Iowa-Ohio State playoff for the Big Ten's NCAA berth would be played Tuesday night at neutral Purdue's new 14,000-seat arena.

NCAA DATE
The Big Ten delegate plays in the NCAA Midwest regional at Lexington, Ky., March 15 against the winner of tonight's East Tennessee-Florida State first round at Kent, Ohio.

The other three conference windup games Saturday, include Purdue 8-5 trying to nail down third place in a regionally televised match at Indiana 4-0, and Wisconsin (7-6) at Northwestern (7-6) and Illinois (6-7) at Michigan State (5-9), in night contests.

Iowa's Sam Williams paced the clear-cut title in their first championship season since winning the 1956 conference crown with a 13-1 record.

Iowa has won all six previous home conference starts and topped seven of their last eight league starts, including a four-game victory string.

Lead in Doral White Sox Hammer Boston's Pitching

By The Associated Press
Ah, what wonderful things spring can do for a baseball team.

Today's example is the Chicago White Sox, those lovable, little hitless wonders who had a team batting average of .225 last year. The Sox made their 1968 debut at Sarasota, Fla., Friday, pounded by 14 hits and thumped Boston's American League champions 7-3. It was enough to make Manager Eddie Stanky risk a contented smile.

Two newcomers — outfielders Russ Snyder and Tommy Davis — led the offense with two hits apiece. Snyder, acquired from Baltimore, rapped a triple and Davis, who came from the New York Mets, slapped a pair of singles and scored twice.

METS IN FORM

The Mets, meanwhile, were idle but in form. Often accused of not being able to stay out of each other's way, they proved it in practice when ace pitcher Tom Seaver was hit in the head by a line drive.

Coach Eddie Yost was the culprit and the interesting part of this story was that Yost was supposed to have been hitting grounders, not line drives. Seaver escaped serious injury and was expected to start today's exhibition opener against St. Louis.

Philadelphia, playing without Rich Allen, took an 11-2 shellacking from Cincinnati at Clearwater, Fla. Allen left the Phillies' camp and returned to Thursday night.

GUIDES WIN—Guard Dennis McCulloch's 24 points Friday night led Waterford OLL into tonight's Class D District Championship game at Pontiac, Central's gym.

Canada Skiers Take Charge in U.S. Meet

SEATTLE (AP) — Nancy Greene, Canada's queen of the skis, rejoined her team today to find its male contingent already in command after Friday's running of the downhill race which opened the 1968 U.S. National Alpine Ski Championships.

Scott Henderson of Banff, Alta., won the downhill title in 1:46.51 and three fellow Canadians finished in the top five. Billy Kidd of Stone, Vt., placing third behind Rod Hebrun of Vancouver, B.C., was the only U.S. runner to put a wedge in Canada's domination of the event at Crystal Mountain south of Seattle.

Dave Bruneau of Montreal piled into a tree half way down the 1½ mile course and suffered a fractured leg and severe facial cuts in the only bad mishap of the day.

Important Semifinals This Afternoon

Special to the Press
NORTH — Pontiac Jackson's Class A state wrestling crown is a bit wobbly today, but the Huskies are in a position to take a first grasp on it for a second straight year.

A lot will depend on the outcome of semifinal matches which started at 1 p.m. this afternoon at Parkside High School.

Northern has three undefeated matmen still in contention. But so do four others. And Ypsilanti has four with unblemished records.

"The team that can get three undefeated wrestlers into the finals should be in good shape," said PNH coach Bill Wilson after yesterday's first two rounds left the Huskies in second place.

Lansing Eastern leads with 11 points followed by PNH with 10, Ypsilanti 9, Grand Rapids Union 9, Hazel Park 7, Flint Central 7, Owosso 7, Pontiac Central 6, Detroit Catholic Central 5 and Flint Northern 5.

PNH's three unbeaten entries are Bill Green (120), Ben Moon (120) and Epi Gomez (127).

TWO PINS

Heavyweight Charles Mason with two pins and 154-pound Roggi Rodriguez have untarnished marks for Pontiac Central. Erick Alsop of Waterford has posted two pins at 145 pounds.

Flint Central, Hazel Park, Lansing Eastern and Owosso are other teams with three unbeaten. Any of these plus Ypsilanti could take the title from PNH.

Bill Davids (95), Mark Davids (112) and Les Burger (133) are the three from Hazel Park. Other area wrestlers unbeaten after two rounds are: Ray Buffmyer (103), Walled Lake; Kevin Wilson (103), Birmingham Seaholm; B.O.B. Reagan (120), Royal Oak Kimball; and Roger Duty (145), Royal Oak Dondoro.

Losers in the semifinal matches will meet in consolation bouts.
