

2 Steel Firms Up Prices in Wake of Rich Labor Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The steel industry's two giants announced price increases today, less than 24 hours after the United Steelworkers (USW) won a new billion-dollar labor contract—richest in its history.

Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, announced an increase of almost 5 per cent across the board—first of its kind since the late President John F. Kennedy forced a rollback in 1962.

U.S. Steel Corp., the biggest steel-maker and usually the pacemaker for industry prices, posted increases for many of its mill products, although some items were reduced.

However, a spokesman for U.S. Steel said, "This is a price increase. No question about it."

NO IMMEDIATE COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from Washington, which usually watches steel prices closely and is not slow to express displeasure with increases.

It was only last night that the union wrapped up a new labor contract that will give the nation's 400,000 steelworkers wage and benefits hikes of 90 cents to a dollar an hour. The over-all package was figured to be a 6.5 per cent increase in each year of the three-year contract.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for management, said the new contract "is higher than we hoped it would be."

I. W. Abel, president of the union, said the agreement would cost the industry "considerably in excess of one billion dollars." But he said it wasn't inflationary.

Initiation "is already here," he said. "We're only catching up."

Press Writer Miami-Bound

When the Republican National Convention gets under way in Miami Monday, on hand will be Pontiac Press chief editorial writer Howard Heldenbrand.

Heldenbrand's stories will begin Monday in The Pontiac Press and run throughout the four-day convention.

The lighter and human interest aspects of politics will be highlighted by Heldenbrand, with coverage generally centering on the Michigan delegation.

This will be the third national convention attended by Heldenbrand. He was at both the Republican and Democratic conventions in 1964.

As soon as he returns to Pontiac from Florida Heldenbrand will begin making preparations to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago Aug. 26.

Plank Drafters Hear Reagan and Lindsay

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars, Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay, descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite on candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism

Novi Officer Beaten During Chase

5 Held After Police Kidnap

Five South Lyon youths were charged today with kidnapping and injuring a Novi policeman. The gang reportedly beat him with his own blackjack and inflicted powder burns on him by firing his pistol next to his head.

In an arraignment this morning in Novi Justice Court, bond was set at $50,000 for one suspect and $25,000 for two others. The other two have been turned over to Oakland County juvenile authorities.

The group allegedly abducted patrolman Robert E. Starnes at 5:05 p.m. yesterday at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook roads in Novi. Starnes, 32, father of six children, was answering a complaint of beer-bottle throwing, according to Novi police.

When he approached the youths' car Starnes was surrounded and his gun taken away, according to police. He was forced into the car and held captive by the group in the ensuing chase, police said.

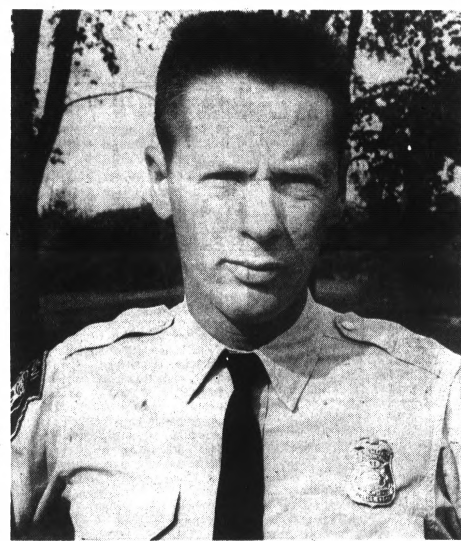

The car was cornered by officers from 18 nearby police departments and with the use of a helicopter in Lyon Township about 10 miles from the abduction scene, according to police. Starnes was hospitalized for treatment after the incident but was later released.

The five were arraigned before Justice Emory Jacques. Charged with attempted murder, kidnapping and assault are Giles Karl Askins, 19, of South Lyon, whose bond was set at $50,000.

Charged with kidnapping and assault are Floyd L. Kirkendall, 17, and William J. Jobe, 17, both of South Lyon. Bonds for the two were set at $25,000. The other two suspects, age 15 and 16, were considered juveniles.

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole said he would attempt to have the latter pair tried as adults.

Preliminary examination of the three older youths is set for Aug. 8, in Novi Justice Court.

N. Viets Blast Rusk Statements

PARIS (AP)—North Vietnam denounced press conference statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk today as new evidence of "the obduracy of U.S. aggressive ruling circles" is pursuing a "policy of war and aggression."

Speaking in the 15th session of the Paris peace talks, Ambassador Ha Van Lau also charged that "the U.S. government has told lies" in asserting North Vietnam has committed aggression against South Vietnam and in "boasting of victories" when, he said, it is being defeated in the war in Vietnam.

Griffin Claims More Opposition to Court Choices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The opposition leader to President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says his forces have doubled in recent weeks and have more than enough votes to keep the Senate from voting on the appointments.

"I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed," said Sen. Robert P.

Rusk called on North Vietnam at a news conference in Washington yesterday to say what it will do to scale down the fighting if the United States ends all attacks on its territory.

Lau spoke for North Vietnam in place of Ambassador Xuan Thuy, who was again reported "slightly indisposed." He has been suffering with a cold.

BUTCHERY CHARGED

Earlier, going into the meeting, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged the leaders of North Vietnam with ruling "through terror and butchery" and they ought to give their people a little freedom.

Also Harriman at today's meeting urged North Vietnam to respect the neutrality and independence of Laos.

He quoted from a Laos "White Book" distributed here last week charging that North Vietnam has 40,000 troops in Laos, including 12,000 guarding the Ho Minh trail which carries men and military supplies from North to South Vietnam.

Griffin, R-Mich., yesterday about the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice. Griffin said 40 senators now oppose the two.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against checking off the filibuster.

Griffin commented in a speech to the National Press Club while members of the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate's basement recording studio to view three films which one called "hardcore pornography" and another labeled "crude vulgarity."

CENTER STAGE

The question of pornography has taken center stage in the drawn-out hassling over Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren. One Republican has charged on the Senate floor that Fortas' votes on obscenity have helped "destroy community morals" in the United States.

Congress recesses Friday for the two national political conventions, returning in September. There appears to be no chance for action on the nominations until then.

Scattered showers and thundershowers forecast for late this afternoon will end early tonight, bringing cooler temperatures to the Pontiac area.

Today's high was expected to be 78 to 84, falling to 55 to 61 tonight. Winds will be south to southwest at 10 to 18 miles per hour.

Soviet-Czech Talks End; Brezhnev Ill

PRAGUE (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, secretary-general of the Soviet Communist party, became ill and the history-making showdown talks between Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders on the fate of this country's liberal course ended late today, reliable sources reported.

The informants said Brezhnev did not attend today's session at the border town of Cierna.

There was no immediate word whether the illness had forced a premature end to the talks.

Cooling Showers Will End Tonight

Tomorrow promises to be generally sunny and pleasant, followed by a fair and mild Friday.

Precipitation probability in per cent: today and tonight 60.

Low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 63. By 2 p.m. the temperature was 80.

SOME DISPUTE SEEN

Tomorrow the group plans to start closed plank-writing sessions amid indications that despite some disputes here and there, the drafters can agree on a platform acceptable to all of the candidates.

Both Reagan and Lindsay—who were separated in their scheduled morning appearances by an intervening foreign policy witness, former Ambassador to Mexico Robert C. Hill—joined in stiff assaults on the Democrats.

The committee had only one further big-name Republican witness on its docket before beginning closed sessions. He was Michigan Gov. George Romney, due tomorrow.

$50-Million Domed Stadium Proposed by City of Taylor

DETROIT (AP) — A proposal for a multi-million dollar domed sports complex was announced today by the city of Taylor and the Thompson-Brown Co. of Quakertown.

Taylor is expected to make a formal presentation of the plans Aug. 14 to the Metropolitan Stadium Committee, which is seeking the best site for a new stadium which is expected to become the new home of the Detroit Tigers of the American Baseball League and the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

In a joint statement, Taylor Mayor Richard J. Trolley and Will A. Schwehr of Thompson-Brown said the proposed site would cover about 200 acres of a 655-acre parcel of land at the intersection of North Line and Telegraph roads.

Thompson-Brown is a development real estate builder.

The commission said minimum cost of a new stadium would be $50 million.

A spokesman for Thompson-Brown said its proposed stadium would seat 50,000 for baseball and 70,000 for football. He indicated private funds would probably be used to build the complex.

The remaining 455 acres would be developed, according to the proposal.

into a commercial site to possibly include banks, theaters, motels, restaurants, etc.

Taylor would be the sixth city to announce a bid for the site. Others are Detroit, Dearborn, Walled Lake, Troy and Pontiac.

"We feel that our proposed Taylor site tops them all," Trolley said.

He cited the proposed location's proximity to area freeways as the primary reason Taylor should be chosen to have the stadium.

The commission is expected to name the site in October.

Fulbright Wins Arkansas Primary

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won renomination in Arkansas' primaries yesterday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701, and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

Fulbright issued a victory statement today.

"It is difficult at this late hour to find the right words to express appreciation for help in the campaign which is obviously successful," Fulbright said. "It is not easy to carry a majority over three candidates."

TIME OF WAR

The senator said people's emotions were aroused in the time of war, adding, "I would hate to see rousing of hatred among our people."

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

EASY WINNER

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won renomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

With 357 of 380 precincts reported, Rockefeller had 26,541 votes and Roberts 1,195.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a run-off Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

Work to Begin on Widening of Maple Soon

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Oakland County Road Commission will begin work soon on the widening of Maple between Franklin and Telegraph in Bloomfield Township. Traffic on the stretch of road will be detoured for about four months.

Scheduled to begin Aug. 8, the project will widen the present two-lane roadway to a four-lane highway with five lanes at the Franklin and Wing Lake Road intersections.

The $340,000 project will be constructed by Anderson & Ruzzin Contractors of New Baltimore.

The improvements are being funded on a 50-50 matching basis by the county and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

COMPLETION DATE

It is expected to be completed and open to through traffic by Nov. 1, a road commission spokesman said. In the meantime access for local traffic will be maintained while other autos will be rerouted on a posted detour.

The Road Commission project comes on the heels of other improvements being made in the same area on Maple by the County Drain Commission.

Traffic has been restricted on Maple between Franklin and Telegraph most of the summer so that the Drain Commission could install new storm sewers along the roadway.

Now that the drainage project is almost completed, the road commission is able to begin its work, a county official said.

Bloomfield Township Public Library will close at 1 p.m. for the four Saturday afternoons in August it was announced this week.

A library representative said that typically, library usage is very low on late summer Saturday afternoons. The building, however, will assume its regular hours in September.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—John W. Carmichael has been named art director and Roger L. Srigley has been promoted to account coordinator on the Cadillac account at MacManus, John & Adams Inc.

Carmichael of Walled Lake was art director on the Oldsmobile account at D. P. Brother Inc. for 12 years and was art director on the Dodge account at Grant Advertising Inc. for three years. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1950 with a bachelor's degree in design.

CARMICHAEL SGRILEY

Srigley of Huntington Woods formerly was an account executive with Public Relations Programs Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of MacManus, John & Adams.

He served as chairman of publicity for Birmingham's National Week activities and worked on the Oakland University Public Relations Advisory Board. Srigley also is district public relations chairman for the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council.

HHH Raps LBJ, Congress on Hunger in United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today jabbed at both the Johnson administration and Congress in charging not enough has been done to combat hunger in the nation.

Humphrey, returning from a four-day campaign swing in California in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the nation needs "a strong president."

Humphrey's remarks were prepared for a National Association of Counties meeting.

He said neither Congress nor the administration—specifically the Department of Agriculture—had done enough to combat hunger in the United States.

'IMMORAL'

"It is immoral to allow some babies to suffer from malnutrition while others in our population are concerned about the dangers of overeating," said Humphrey, and he added:

"Let me be perfectly candid—neither Congress nor the United States Department of Agriculture have made an adequate response to the severe problems of hunger and malnutrition we know exist in America."

Humphrey said there was no reason for anyone to be hungry in a land of "unequalled wealth and agriculture productivity."

The Humphrey campaign hopes to get a refueling of dollars at a $50-a-plate dinner tonight in Washington.

MONEY PROBLEMS

Humphrey and his aides have acknowledged campaign money problems. Humphrey said yesterday that the pinch had forced a cancellation, at least temporarily, of some advertising.

However, Humphrey is known to be watching over the money raising machinery himself and expects the situation to be eased if not remedied once the conventions are over. In addition, aides hope that tonight's affair will bring in as much as $15 million.

Humphrey, in talking to the county officials, said the new problems of government, local as well as national and often overlapping, require a reshaping of existing institutions.

"We need a strong and active president—one strong enough to shake up the federal bureaucracy and hammer out a structure which rewards, not frustrates, local innovation and responsibility."

SEN. ROBERT GRIFFIN

VP Nomination of Griffin Urged

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — A former congressional colleague of Sen. Robert P. Griffin, has sent about 3,000 letters to fellow Republicans and businessmen urging them to support the Michigan Republican for the GOP vice presidential nomination.

Griffin was not told of the effort at grass-roots support in advance, said Donald E. Tewes, a former representative from Wisconsin who now heads a small plastics firm in Waukesha.

"What can a man say when you put him on the spot and ask him if he wants to be vice president?"

Tewes said he had received about 65 responses to the letter, all of them in favor of it. About 1,000 letters were sent on the Tewes firm's letterhead by Tewes himself, he said, while other businessmen sent 2,000 more on the same stationery to their own acquaintances.

'ONE WAY TO HELP'

"He (Griffin) does not have the personal resource and public relations staff to keep him in the limelight and I thought this was one way I could help," Tewes said.

"As his colleague in the House," Tewes wrote in the letter, "I observed his rare talent for rallying strong personalities and diverse philosophies around practical solutions to government problems."

Tewes said that "most important" is Griffin's "knowledge and the courage to tackle one of the most serious problems on the domestic scene: labor-management relations."

The Wisconsin businessman, who served in the House from 1956 to 1968, said, "Griffin has all the right things going for him. He has a good record on civil rights. He is a true moderate. He has insisted on fiscal responsibility but has not closed eyes to urban and other social problems."

Allied Task Force Hits VC Base Camp

SAIGON (AP) — A task force of armored American gunboats, helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese marines plunged deep into the fertile Mekong Delta to raid a Vietcong base camp. Field reports today said at least 90 of the enemy had been killed and the action was continuing.

The Vietnamese Marines reported seizing an arsenal containing 62 weapons, 423 mortar rounds and more than 12,000 rounds of small arms ammunition.

The only allied casualties reported were two South Vietnamese wounded. The assault was made Monday 92 miles southwest of Saigon, along a tributary of the Cai Lon River 34 miles east of the Gulf of Thailand.

FIRST PUSH IN AREA

A military spokesman said it was the first allied penetration of the area of the southern Mekong Delta which has been dominated by the Vietcong for years.

The allied commanders "had good information they would get some action down there," the spokesman said.

Most of the damage to the Vietcong apparently was done by the U.S. Navy's 60-foot Monitor gunboats and by armored troop carriers after the Vietnamese marines had cornered the enemy in a bunker complex.

U.S. Army helicopter gunships also raked the enemy positions with machine guns and rockets.

2nd BID FAILS

About 1,000 U.S. infantrymen from the 9th Division, swept through another area about two miles to the east but reported little contact.

Elsewhere, only light, scattered skirmishes were reported. They included three small fights on the outskirts of Saigon in which South Vietnamese troops said they killed seven enemy soldiers, captured six and seized 18 weapons and large quantities of ammunition.

Northwest of the capital, American strategic bombers flew their 50th mission in seven days today against suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations menacing Saigon and key towns near it.

Clerk's Wife Gives Up Hope

With an all-out Coast Guard search for her husband halted, the wife of Oakland County Clerk John D. Murphy said today that she has given up hope that he will be found alive.

Reported missing Saturday, Murphy's rented 14-foot aluminum boat was found overturned the following day in Lake Michigan off Garden Island near Charlevoix.

"I've resigned myself to the fact that too much time has gone by," said Mrs. Murphy in her Clawson home at 420 N. Marais.

"The longer it gets, the worse you know the news will be," she said.

2 CHILDREN AT SCENE

Mrs. Murphy said that two of her six children have been at the scene since receiving word that their father was missing.

"Shain and Kathleen plan on chartering a plane this afternoon and making one last search of the area," she said.

"Shain said when he called that he really didn't expect anything, but that he had to make one last look for himself," added Mrs. Murphy.

to aid in the search, but according to Mrs. Murphy, State Police will attempt to intercept them and have them return.

SEARCH SUSPENDED

"After they left, Shain telephoned and said they wouldn't be needed, so I contacted the police and asked if they could stop them," she said.

Coast Guard officials in Charlevoix said that they have suspended search operations for Murphy.

"The search reached peak proportions Sunday and Monday when it was found that a life jacket was missing from Murphy's craft."

Murphy has been county clerk-register of deeds since 1964, when he became the first Democrat ever to be elected to the office in Oakland.

Murphy, who had traveled to Charlevoix from a state convention at Marquette, reportedly had gone to Beaver Island where he owns property.

Should Murphy be declared dead or his body found, Oakland County Circuit Court Judges would appoint a successor to fill his unexpired term to Jan. 1, 1969. The winner of the November general election, in which Murphy is listed as a candidate, would take office at that time.

Riots Continue in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City was a battleground again Tuesday as mobs of young people ran wild through the city, fighting police, wrecking city buses and throwing rocks and bottles.

At least one person was dead, more than 400 were injured and at least 1,100 persons had been arrested since an anti-government rioting began last Friday.

Officials claimed the riots were Communist-inspired and said they were the worst Mexico's capital has experienced in 30 years.

Last night club-wielding students braved a heavy rain and hijacked four city buses after forcing terrified passengers to flee. Then they ran the vehicles into the sides of buildings.

STUDENTS REGROUP

Earlier, Army troops fired volleys of shots into the air and dispersed the students. The troops were withdrawn, but the mobs returned, marching from the old university section, and seized the buses near the city's central square.

Riot squads swinging long batons dispersed that crowd, but at least 3,000 of the youths gathered half a mile away near a teacher's college. Their leaders used bugle calls and walkie-talkies to control them. They swarmed over buses and a trolley car, smashing windows and running the vehicles onto the sidewalks.

At one point all four intersections around the park in front of the school were blocked by the wrecked buses.

Rochester School Tax Is Up

ROCHESTER — The school board has established 1968-69 tax rates at 32.20 mills.

School Supt. Douglas Lund explained that the rate is 1.6 mills higher than last year because a 1.5 mill increase was approved in the June 10 election and the board will be getting one-tenth mill more from the county.

Ron Keven, director of personnel, reported at the Monday evening meeting that only six teachers vacancies remain in the secondary and special education areas. All elementary education positions are filled, he said.

The school district was faced with 27 vacancies in late June.

NO PESSIMISM

"We have one month to fill the remaining vacancies," Lund said. "We're not pessimistic, but it could mean schedule changes if we're not successful."

Dr. Harry Jones, Rochester's new director of instruction, reported that 7,561 students were enrolled in the school district during the 1967-68 school year.

He said about 8,000 students are expected to enroll this fall.

The board approved proposals for two federally sponsored programs for remedial reading and special education. Both are part of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

UNIQUE FACTOR

A unique factor in the first program, according to Dr. Jones, is the multi-age grouping.

Fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students will be placed together in small groups under the direction of a teacher, elementary counselor, and a mother aide of "para-professional."

The program will aim primarily at student motivation, individual achievement, and strong home-school communication, according to Dr. Jones.

"We are also contemplating a story hour for preschoolers," said Dr. Jones.

INTO THE SCHOOLS

The ten week course will bring four-year-olds and their parents into the school not only for the story hour, but also so they may become acquainted with the school and some of its materials he said.

The second program involves teachers who have emotionally disturbed or mentally or perceptually handicapped children in their classes.

Instructors will attend a workshop at Rochester High School Aug. 12-13 with one of the disturbed children they will have in class this fall Dr. Jones explained.

The daily program will begin at 9 a.m., with an open session and guest speakers in the morning, and close at 3 p.m.

Remedial-Reading Project Ends at Rochester School

ROCHESTER — The summer school project at Brooklands School has come to an end for the 45 registered students.

The program, designed to help remedial readers, involved students in grades three through six.

"We tried to give the children experiences they have not had before such as field trips, making ice cream, and craft work," said Dr. Harry Jones, director of instruction, at Rochester Schools.

The students wrote reports on their

ACTIVITIES

"We tried to start working with the child individually where they were and work on them from there especially in the areas of reading and mathematics," explained Dr. Jones.

The class made a bus trip to Detroit, visited Canada, and returned to the Pontiac area on the Grand Trunk train. Summer activities also included trips to Cranbrook's Institute of Science, the Ford Rouge plant, and Selfridge Air Force Base.

Their final activity, according to Dr. Jones, was an ice cream party with their own home-made ice cream.

For daily class work the students used copies of The Pontiac Press for work in reading and arithmetic.

REPORT ON STORY

Each student used the table of contents to become familiar with the paper's layout. They then chose a story to read and report on.

Dr. Jones said advertisements were used for fictitious trips to the supermarket.

The students were given culture fair tests according to Dr. Jones, but the results have not been evaluated yet.

"We do feel we made some good progress with the summer program," he said.

Body Identified; Death Natural

TROY — Troy police have identified the woman whose body was found Monday afternoon near the southbound exit of I-75 at Crooks Road in Troy and murder has been ruled out as a cause of death.

Her name is Mrs. Dolores Blaszczyk, 44, of Warren.

An Oakland county pathologist said today that she died sometime Friday of natural causes. He said that there were no signs of violence. Troy police said they have found almost all of her clothing except her purse.

Her nude body was spotted at 4 p.m. Monday by a passing truck driver who reported it to Troy Police.

Officers said the woman's husband, Norbert, had reported her missing last Wednesday.

Investigators at the Michigan State Police Crime Laboratory, East Lansing, were called to help on the case. They are continuing the investigation with Troy officers to determine the circumstances of the death.

Group to Oppose Road Tax Increase on Route of I-696 Is Set by Romney

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The Brandon Township Homeowners and Taxpayers voted recently at their monthly meeting to oppose the Oakland County Road Commission's proposal for a one-mill tax increase.

At the same time the group endorsed the three proposed state constitutional amendments that also will appear on the Aug. 6 ballot.

According to an association spokesman, the group will oppose the county road tax because it feels the outlying areas of Oakland County would receive very little benefit from it.

The three constitutional amendments supported by the group concern the setting of state officers' salaries, the filling of court vacancies between elections and the establishment of a review board to report on the ability of judges to serve in office.

Killing Suspect, 15, to Get Mental Test

HOWELL (AP) — Probate Judge Ray Hotchkiss has appointed three psychiatrists to examine a 15-year-old boy held in the 1966 death of a Pinckney woman.

The action was taken yesterday at a hearing to determine if the boy should be tried as an adult. He has been held about two weeks in connection with the death of Barbara Davis, 33, who was found shot in her trailer home a few miles northwest of Pinckney.

Judge Hotchkiss said he hoped to have the findings of the psychiatrists in about 10 days, at which time he would resume the hearing.

World War I, Viet Vets Now Can Get State Aid

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney yesterday signed into law a bill that makes World War I and Vietnam veterans and their dependents eligible for aid from the Michigan veterans' trust fund.

The bill, which puts the vets on an equal basis with veterans of World War II and the Korean war, is expected to affect 80,000 World War I vets now over 65 years old and potentially some 150,000 vets of the Vietnam conflict.

The measure is effective immediately.

'Crash Repairs' on Freeway Set

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced that a 3.6 mile section of the eastbound Edsel Ford Freeway in Detroit will be closed for eight hours Sunday under a new "crash maintenance system."

A large force of workmen will be assigned to the maintenance project that ordinarily would take six weeks or more under the usual system of repairing one lane of the highway at a time.

The section to be closed extends from Michigan Avenue in Dearborn to Livernois Avenue in Detroit.

Traffic will be barred from 2 a.m. until 10 a.m., although police will start shutting down ramps at midnight.

The workmen will repair 11 major pavement breakdowns and make numerous repairs. They also will clean and inspect catch basins, light fixtures, signs and bridge piers and will paint pavement lines.

The department said repairs cost about 80 per cent less through the "crash" system. It also is safer for workmen and means less inconvenience for motorists.

In the event of bad weather, the project will be postponed until Aug. 11.

The competition is sponsored by the International Hairdressing Association.

Lifeguard Ends 19 Years of Vigil

After 19 hot, long summers as lifeguard at Martindale Beach on Kent Lake, Victor Bouckaert has left his seasonal post. He now has full-time responsibilities as executive director of the Pontiac Education Association.

Bouckaert of 1275 E. Walled Lake, Walled Lake, was a physical education instructor at Walled Lake Junior High School for several years.

He started work at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, part of the Huron-Clinton Park Authority, in 1950 and later became head lifeguard.

His staff at the Martindale Beach consisted of 12 lifeguards, plus an assistant and himself, with the entire crew consisting of qualified lifeguards.

Farmington Man New Park Chief

Charles A. Damm has been promoted to the post of superintendent of Kensington Metropolitan Park, effective Aug. 5, 1968, according to Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Damm, who will replace David O. Laidlaw, has been assistant park superintendent since September 1962 and previously was a member of the naturalist staff.

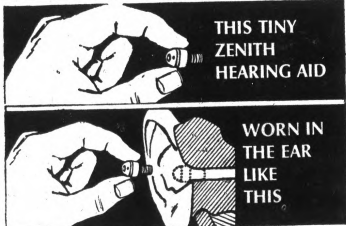

Presently a resident of Farmington, Damm, originally from Detroit, holds a B.S. degree from Michigan State University where he majored in forestry and wildlife management.

City Worker Pact in Flint Is Stalled

FLINT (UPI) — The Flint City Commission has deferred action for several weeks on a new contract that the city and its employees hammered out after a three-day strike.

Thomas Kay, the city manager, said yesterday the commission decided at its meeting it would wait several weeks until other contracts, mainly with firemen and nurses at Hurley Hospital, were wrapped up, before implementing the agreement with city workers.

Some 2,300 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees ratified a new pact with the city last week that gives them $5 cents per hour additional pay over two years. Sixteen cents is in cost of living allowances.

Anti-Fidel Terrorists Linked to LA Blast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bomb explosion which authorities believe may have been triggered by anti-Castro Cubans has caused extensive damage to the British consulate offices.

The blast tore through the consulate Tuesday at 7:10 p.m., an hour after the 26 employees went home for the day. No one was injured and there was no fire, police reported.

The consulate offices are on the fourth floor of a Wilshire Boulevard building. Occupants of the building were quickly evacuated, and police sped officers to the offices and homes of other consuls.

Police said the outside corridor and door leading to the office were wrecked. Furnishings were overturned, and glass and other objects were strewn about the floor.

SIMILAR EXPLOSIONS

Authorities said anti-Castro terrorists may have placed the bomb in retaliation for Britain's relations with the Castro government. On July 19 similar explosions occurred at the Los Angeles offices of five firms that maintain economic or diplomatic relations with Communist Cuba.

Investigators said they found a small poster near the consulate reading "United Cuban Power." The bomb apparently was placed outside the door and blew the door inward, they said.

British Consul General Andrew Franklin said there had been "suggestions that there might be a bit of trouble." He did not elaborate.

A receptionist whose office is on the third floor of the building, directly below the consulate offices, said the blast shook the building and showered her with plaster from the ceiling.

SOUND OF BLAST
"The explosion sounded like an elevator dropping," she said, "and it smelled like powder."

The blasts earlier this month damaged the office of the Shell Oil Co., two Mexican tourism bureaus and the ticket offices of Air France and Japan Airlines. No one was injured.

At three of the bombing sites, police found blue and white stickers reading: "United Cuban Power."

There have been similar bombings in New York City, Miami, Chicago and Newark.

Romney Backs Aide for Court

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today endorsed his long-time legal advisor, Robert J. Danhof, in his bid for a seat on the State Court of Appeals.

Danhof is one of three candidates for the court in the 18th constitutional convention, next Tuesday's primary, with the other two facing off in November.

Also in the race are Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson of Oak Park and Appeals Court Commissioner John F. Foley of Birmingham.

Romney said Danhof, his legal advisor since 1963, "is a man dedicated to the cause of public service and to the sound application of the laws of our state."

UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE
The two met during the 1961-62 constitutional convention, when Romney was vice president and Danhof judiciary committee chairman. When Romney won the governorship in 1962, Danhof was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for attorney general.

She Touched Off Racial Furor

Parents Shield S. African Girl

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The white South African girl whose visit with a Negro family in New Jersey touched off a furor in her home land returned from the United States today.

Nineteen-year-old Melanie Hope smiled as she kissed her mother and then asked nervously, "Where are the reporters?" But her parents rushed her into a car for the drive to their home in Pretoria.

"No comment. We have nothing to say," said Mrs. Charles Hope.

"We have come here to find out what all this is about," said Melanie's father, a jeweler. "We don't know anything."

SPARKED FUROR
Melanie arrived on a chartered flight with about 70 other exchange students. Newspaper reports of her visit in Paramus, N.J., with the family of James Brown touched off new attacks by militant segregationists on the exchange program. Pictures of Melanie holding the hand of Mrs. Brown were spread across the front pages of the newspapers.

"No warning strong enough can be given against methods like these which undermine the accepted way of life of our young people and of racial relations," said Professor G. Viljoen, chairman of the South African Bureau of Racial Affairs.

The exchange program is sponsored by the American Field Service, which has been repeatedly condemned by the extreme right wing of South Africa's ruling Nationalist party.

The Afrikaans-language newspaper Vaderland said Melanie's stay with the Browns had "great concern" in exchange program.

Mrs. Hillary Marshall, head of the American Field Service in South Africa, told a reporter: "I feel Melanie must have asked to stay with a Negro family. No South Africans are ever placed with Negro families. All family placements are submitted to the South African parents before the children are placed with American families."

Prior to leaving Paramus, Melanie told a reporter: "I shall miss the Browns. It's been a wonderful experience." She was later quoted as saying, "I am really scared what will come of this."

Vaderland said school principals are now warning white parents against allowing their children to go to America under the exchange program.

Sen. Byrd Hits Conventions

'Should Be Replaced
by National Primary'

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. said today he thinks national political conventions have become a "political carnival that should be abolished."

The Virginia Democrat, a veteran of nine national conventions, proposed that the meetings be replaced by a national presidential primary and revision of the electoral college system.

Byrd's remarks were prepared for a meeting of the Virginia Association of Electric Cooperatives.

He charged that presidential conventions are a "circus like spectacle" that have convinced many that the "final choice of a nominee often results from emotional appeals and mass psychology."

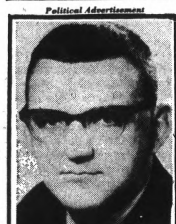

"Although past conventions have nominated some very good men, they also have selected some very poor men," said Byrd.

'AN IMPROVEMENT'

Byrd also said a single national primary "would appear to be an improvement over the convention system" and that the electoral college system is outdated. It should be replaced, he said, by a "proportional system by which candidates divide a state's electoral votes according to their popular strength."

The proportionate system "would prevent the multiplication of political parties," Byrd said, referring indirectly to the possibility that the third-party movement of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace could deadlock the electoral college.

Industries Battle Air Pollution

Contrary to the opinion of a lot of the self-styled experts, the automobile and the oil industry are working hard to eliminate pollution from cars.

The scientists from the two industries predict that they will eventually be able to reduce pollution from cars by 90 per cent, although producing the automobile hardware to do the job may be costly.

Right now, according to the magazine Petroleum Today, cars that come off the assembly lines have equipment that reduces the output of the two major pollutants — carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons — by as much as 70 per cent.

Scientists and engineers are bringing their skill and imagination to bear on the complex and mysterious phenomenon of automotive air pollution.

And their tools range from expensive computers to their own noses. (A good sniff sometimes will tell you more about pollution than the most intricate man-made apparatus.)

In the last decade, oil companies have spent $200 million on air pollution research. The auto industry has likewise spent millions seeking ways to reduce the amount of pollution from cars.

All types of pollution are critical in America today. As a country we have grown and expanded so rapidly that it is only recently we have stopped to consider some of the waste materials we have created.

Along with further industrial progress we must pause and take giant scientific and practical steps to eradicate the pollution problems now existing in our lakes, streams, cities and the air we breathe.

New Postage Stamp Is Tribute to Henry Ford

HENRY FORD took his place among other famous Americans such as ABRAHAM LINCOLN, FREDERICK DOUGLASS, ALBERT EINSTEIN and OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES Tuesday — and rightly so.

That day marked the 105th anniversary of his birth and the one designated by the U.S. Post Office Department for issuance of a new postage stamp honoring HENRY FORD. The 12-cent stamp is one of the U.S. "Prominent Americans" series and it will be issued at Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

In addition to the first day issue ceremonies, a colorful parade was held to honor Mr. Ford. To this we add our tribute to a man who was one of the foremost pioneers in an industry to which we all owe much of our economic prosperity here in Southeastern Michigan.

During his lifetime, he was involved in many endeavors. These included aviation, communication, conservation and his many contributions to the field of education.

It is a fitting tribute that HENRY FORD should become one of our "Prominent Americans."

Science Moves to Produce Aromatic Bread

There's nothing like the smell of fresh-baked bread, and now science knows why. It's all due to 1,4,5,6-tetrahydro-2-acetylpyridine.

At least, we have to take the word of U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers who say they have isolated the key ingredient in the odor.

aroma is so short-lived. However, derivatives of 1,4,5,6-etc. are more stable. The USDA men found that spraying week-old bread with one of the derivatives restored the fresh-bread odor.

Science is wonderful. But no matter what they do, they'll never duplicate what the mothers of another generation used to take hot and steaming out of the oven.

Popular Election Has Drawbacks

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Two weeks ago I commented upon a proposal to exact a pledge from the two major parties to elect in the House the major presidential candidate who would be operative in either major candidate fails to have the electoral majority of 270 votes.

My article stated the reasons why such a scheme could not in practice succeed.

But because the idea has had such wide attention since it was suggested, I venture to return to the subject again from a somewhat different angle.

Two influential newspapers, the New York Times and the Washington Post, have taken up the plan and have given it an excessive amount of space. Eric Sevareid has notified upon it over CBS News, and Congressmen Udall and Goodell are planning to round up pledges from all candidates for House seats to support it if elected to the next Congress.

But the Conference of Governors flatly rejected a resolution endorsing the plan.

OPPOSED IDEA

The most perceptive of the Democratic governors, John B. Connally, opposed the idea no doubt for the reasons which I indicated in my earlier article. For Democrats, from Vice President Hubert Humphrey on down, would be fools to enter into such a compact.

For they see that it would be vastly more difficult for the Republican party to win the necessary 26 states in a House vote than the Democrats. For the Democrats, in the present House, have a majority in 29 state delegations while the Republicans have only 18.

But if George Wallace does carry enough states to deny either major candidate the necessary 270 electoral votes, there is bound to be a great hue and cry to abolish the electoral college and elect future presidents by popular vote.

Anticipating that event, I suggest two objections, the one practical and the other a matter of fundamental principle.

AMENDMENT

I would suggest that some of the people who are, and have been, advocating the popular election of presidents try to frame a constitutional amendment and to suggest the methods for putting it into operation. Would such a change leave the electoral process as it is with the authority of conducting the elections and validating the results under state laws and regulations?

In that case the determination of the majority in a close election might have to wait a long time while charges of fraud and error were tried in the courts. That was the possibility in 1960 when, in Illinois and Missouri, there was palpable fraud and in Texas the law had not been complied with in several counties.

It was the decision of Richard Nixon himself to throw in the towel despite the urging of some of his managers to contest the results in the states named.

He did that for the patriotic reason that he wanted to avoid "the governmental paralysis that might have resulted if on Jan. 20 there was no legitimate president to be inaugurated."

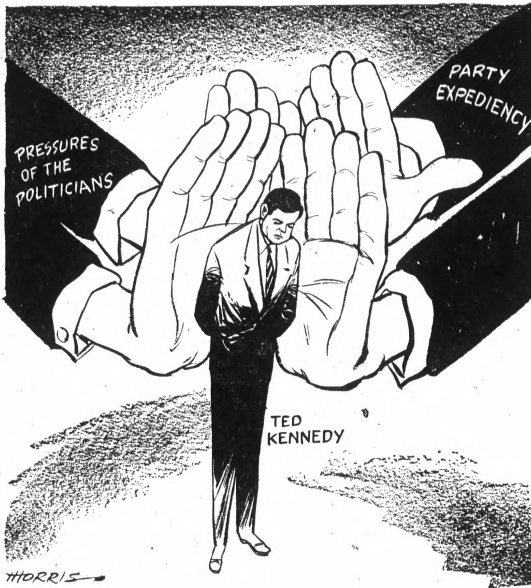

ARMY OF BUREAUCRATS

Or should the suggested constitutional amendment and the federal laws implementing it place the whole electoral process under the federal government, so far as the election of a president and vice president would be concerned?

Presumably, the million or more primary and election officials now chosen under state law would still remain in office because there would be state and local elections. Over them, it is presumed, there would be superimposed a vast army of federal bureaucrats to make sure their vote for president and vice president would be valid and legal.

Consider the conflicts that might ensue. Or would the federal government take over the whole electoral process?

That would nationalize all elections and virtually wipe out the federal system which is the basic fact in this republic. A matter of great principle is involved here which apparently the advocates of popular elections of presidents and vice presidents have not considered.

Beyond The Call Of Duty!

David Lawrence Says:

New Poll Elates Nixon Backers

WASHINGTON — "Who can win?" This is the question that delegates to a political convention keep asking themselves.

That's why the latest Gallup poll showing Nixon in the lead nationwide has thrilled his supporters, and perhaps LAWRENCE already has influenced many of the delegates who were wavering.

The Rockefeller adherents, however, insist that the New York governor would be more likely to carry the states with the big cities than Nixon would. Thus the debate continues, with no way of really solving the guessing game until the test has come in November.

The contention of Rockefeller himself has been that the states with a large number of electoral votes are more apt to go to him than to Nixon, and that the vote in the industrial states of the North and the West will be crucial.

Political realists know that the electoral vote of these states is often swung by the heavy vote obtained in the cities. The outcome, therefore, rests on what's going to happen in the large centers of population rather than what will happen in the small towns and farm areas.

DETERMINED EFFORT

Up to now, a determined effort has been made by politicians in both parties to curry favor with the Negro voters concentrated in the big cities. What is not known, however, is just how the white population feels about racial problems.

The average person, either white or black, doesn't like to talk openly about what his preference is. This is substantiated by the large number of voters who call themselves "independents" or tell the pollsters that they are "undecided."

There are, to be sure, many millions of voters, particularly among the women, who already have made up their minds on how they are going to vote but who do not disclose their intentions except to their close friends. They do not like to become involved in political quarrels. Certainly there is voter dissatisfaction in the cities across the country because of a variety of grievances.

It may be assumed that Nixon's rise as well as Wallace's surprising amount of support even outside the South has been due primarily to the reaction of white voters in all parts of the nation.

Naturally the delegates to the Republican convention want to nominate someone they feel would win in November, and several of the veteran politicians in the Republican party, as they survey the reaction of the electorate, have concluded that they would fare better with Nixon than with any other candidate.

Bob Considine Says:

4 Nations Have Trouble With Supersonic Airliner

NEW YORK — All of the countries involved — Britain, France, Russia and the United States — are in trouble with their supersonic airliner.

Concorde, the joint product of British-French aeronautical knowledge, scheduled to CONSIDINE make its maiden flight last February after years of gestation. More than 70 of the Mach-2 (1,500 m.p.h.) jets have been ordered by the major airlines of the world at a tentative price of $30 million per plane. Now it appears that the first flight cannot take place until at least September or October.

Technical and economic details are the causes. The announced speed of the Concorde — which has a first-class section so narrow that it is two seats on one side and one on the other, like the early DC-3s — has had to be reduced because its skin is aluminum, which loses its strength under air friction forces encountered in the neighborhood of Mach-2.

ECONOMIC PROBLEM

The economic problem is that neither the government of Charles de Gaulle or that of Harold Wilson will tell the prime contractors, Sud Aviation or British Aviation Corp., plus Rolls Royce and other major subcontractors, just how much of the research and development costs of the Concorde the government treasuries will absorb.

Concorde was supposed to be in service by 1971. Its people now say 1972. One Federal Aviation Administration expert whose specialty is watching the gestation of the Concorde predicts that it won't be ready to accept passengers until 1974.

The Russians are having engineering problems with their TU144, a slightly smaller but mile faster version of Concorde. This will further delay the Russian plane's debut.

The Russians are extremely conservative about certifying the 1162, which only now is beginning to be seen on commercial routes, including the Moscow-Montreal-New York run, and was flying experimentally at least five years ago.

AFFECTED BY WAR

As for the kind of them all, Boeing's SST, it is plagued not so much by overweight problems as announced but by the fact that we are spending more than $2 billion a month in Vietnam and just cannot afford to support the research and development of a supersonic air bus at this time. Everything has been put back for a year at least. The commercial airlines that have come up with the $1-million down payment on the SST will not get their money back.

Until last year, the Subversive Activities Control Board had been existing in happy obscurity, doing nothing. For it had nothing to do.

Unfortunately for the board, which at full strength has five members and a general counsel — altogether costing the country about $300,000 a year — President Johnson noted it had a vacancy. He also had a candidate to fill it, the husband of a former Presidential secretary, at a salary of $26,000 a year.

Although many Congressmen are not averse to finding Federal jobs for relatives and friends, the President's appointment aroused the curiosity of some legislators. They found that while the board was supposed to ferret out, identify and try to register Communists to register Communists and Communist organizations it had not even held a meeting in more than two years.

This was understandable, since the Supreme Court in 1965 ruled that requiring Communists to register would violate their Constitutional right not to incriminate themselves. So the board, figured there wasn't much point in doing any work.

Now this state of affairs affronted even the calloused

Leaving Children in Cars Is Dangerous Practice

As I sat in a local shopping center parking lot recently, I was amazed to see the number of small children left unattended in family cars — left there to light matches, beat on one another, play with the controls on the front panel of the car, and now and then honk the horn.

I don't understand why parents do this because it could be dangerous in many ways. Is it because parents don't want to take time to teach them a few store manners? Whatever the reason, I hope and pray nothing ever happens to yours if you are guilty of doing this.

Discusses Upcoming Appearance of Sinatra

I see where Michigan's Register and Vote Committee has Frank Sinatra coming to Cobo Arena for a money-raising occasion. I think it is unfortunate that they are publicizing their efforts with people like Frank. He is well known for his night club brawls. Based on his record, he treats women pretty much as sex objects. I try not to spend my money on people like Frankie, so when I was asked to buy a ticket, I said "no thanks."

'Senator McCarthy Should Visit Peace Talks'

I have read several articles dealing with the planned visit to the Paris Peace Summit by Senator Eugene McCarthy. These articles have stated that any visit of this type would be detrimental to the progress of these meetings. Any kind of progress that has been made remains unclear to me, for the fighting continues.

Perhaps the presence of this concerned American would stimulate some advance in these talks. Senator McCarthy would bring with him many new concepts and possibly the one solution that the negotiators have been unable to produce. At this crucial point, anyone who discourages his intended visit is drawing a hasty and unfair conclusion. The Senator should be urged by all Americans to make this trip and do his best to end the strife in Southeast Asia.

What did foreign aid amount to in 1967?
READER

$5.1 billion was transferred abroad by the Government in net grants, credits and other assistance. However, not all of this was outright aid, but loans, sales, etc. Foreign aid is a complicated procedure, and the "Statistical Abstract of the United States" has more detailed information. This book should be available at the City Library.

B. D. STEVENSON

S. Viet Medal for Pontiac GI Posthumously

A Pontiac serviceman who was killed in nonhostile action in South Vietnam last October recently was awarded posthumously the Vietnamese Medal of Honor, Second Class.

Honored was Navy Hospital Corpsman Bobby Dale Stevenson, 34, whose widow, Mrs. Willa Stevenson, resides at 44 W. Tennyson.

She accepted the award from Lt. Cmdr. H. L. Zeller, commanding officer of the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center, who made the presentation on behalf of the Republic of Vietnam.

The citation, given in recognition of Stevenson's service in Vietnam, described the Pontiac man as "conscientious, one who set an unwavering example of devotion to duty and tactful cooperation."

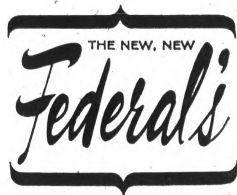

With his extensive professional experience and ability, he provided effective and invaluable assistance for the Republic of Vietnam armed forces to achieve many excellent accomplishments.

Others at the presentation were Stevenson's daughter, Kimberly Ann, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stevenson, all of the Tennyson address.

DIED IN PLANE CRASH

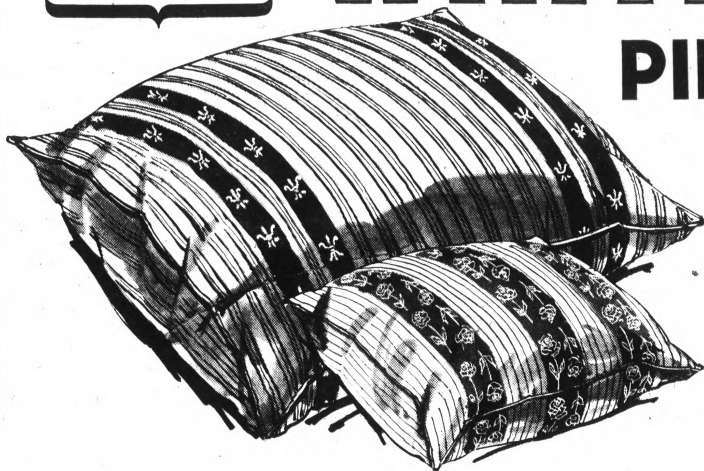

Stevenson was one of 23 American servicemen to die in a plane crash as they were en route to Da Nang to return to the States. He had been in Vietnam a year.

Stevenson, who attended Pontiac Central High School for three years, had been stationed in Cherrypoint, N.C., for six years before going to Vietnam. He had traveled extensively with the Navy during his 16 years of service.

Tommy Sands Turns to Hawaii, Writing Future

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HONOLULU—"I'm the guy whose boots were made for walking on," cracks Tommy Sands, the nightclub audience shares his rueful humor.

Most of the nightly visitors to the Outrigger Hotel ballroom understand the significance of the remark. Singer Sands is the ex-husband of Nancy Sinatra, who achieved success of her own with the man-taunting "These Boots Are Made for Walking" and "One of These Days These Boots Are Going to Walk All Over You." During his new nightclub act, Sands refers to his marriage and to onetime associates Dean Martin and Sammy Davis but avoids mention of his former father-in-law, Frank Sinatra.

It's all done with a light touch, and the Walkie audiences applaud Sands' patter and his professional way with a song. What they don't realize is the underlying drama of the singer's return to show business.

Sands himself talks little about the past, and particularly about Hollywood, where he found little happiness. He is more concerned about the future—and Hawaii.

A PLACE TO LIVE
"Ever since I first came here in 1967, I felt this was the place where I wanted to be," he remarked as he sat bare-chested in his dressing room after his first show of the evening. "Every time I returned here, I realized that the people were warm and genuine. And so in May of last year, I gave up everything to come here and live."

"Throughout my career, the thing that gave me the most satisfaction was writing. I wrote songs and I sold them, but I also wrote poetry and movie scripts which I didn't sell. I realized that if I was to get anywhere with my writing, I would need to educate myself—I never even graduated from high school. So I got myself a tutor and learned my high school diploma.

This is a curious turn in Sands' career, but then, his career has defied formula. New York-born, he started singing at 16, left high school to go on the road and six months later started on television in a play, "The Singing Idol." A movie version followed, and Tommy Sands became one of the bright young singers of the post-Presley period.

His marriage to Nancy Sinatra helped his fame. But Sands was disturbed by whispers that his career had been aided by his famous father-in-law.

After the divorce, Sands seemed to drop out of sight. His transfer from the hurly-burly of Hollywood to the relaxed atmosphere of Hawaii appears to have made him a happy man.

RFK Backers Turn to S. Dakota Dem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern has emerged as a rallying point for some supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—but mainly to influence the Democratic party position on Vietnam.

The South Dakota Democrat, an outspoken war critic, said in an interview he has rejected suggestions from Kennedy people that he actively seek the presidential nomination at next month's Democratic National Convention because of his own hard reelection race.

"But I have told them if they want to use me as a rallying point, that's okay," McGovern added, observing that "This will give a little more leverage at the convention."

It was for this reason that he went to California last weekend to discuss the convention, and especially its platform, with Kennedy supporters.

He called on them to make a moral commitment to "passion and action in the service of the nation" and implied that neither Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey nor Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the party's presidential contenders, could do this. McGovern, however, made it plain he will support the party nominee.

VP Will Visit Detroit Friday

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has scheduled an overnight campaign stop in Detroit Friday.

The Democratic presidential candidate is to speak at dedication of the Chapin Basin pumping station and retention basin in St. Clair Shores, visit the Jeffries Housing Project and appear at a fund raising show Friday night in Cobo Hall with Frank Sinatra and Trini Lopez.

Private meetings with party members and television appearances also are scheduled. Humphrey is expected to leave Detroit about noon Saturday.

The commute to LaGuardia has become more colorful.

United's 6 nonstops daily from Metro's closest terminal.

When asked whether a dark horse such as he might wind up as the nominee, he said this is "a very, very unlikely event."

He did say he would accept a nomination, adding that "anyone in politics who gets as far as the U.S. Senate who says he wouldn't accept the presidential nomination is crazy."

STRONG PLANK

McGovern said he will probably ask to testify before the convention's platform committee on both farm and Vietnam policy, and added he will work at Chicago to organize delegates to try for "the strongest possible plank on Vietnam, to improve our chances in November and to line up with the mood of the country."

In his Los Angeles speech, he indicated he thought the platform should admit the errors of the Johnson administration's policies.

"I am convinced," he said, "that any president with the will to do it could end the war in Vietnam on terms acceptable to the American people in 60 days."

"It is imperative," the senator went on, "that we nominate a standard-bearer who can run with a clear mind and conscience on our party's platform. That is why I have declined to endorse the candidacy of an old and dear friend—the vice president."

APARENT CRITICISM

Then, in apparent criticism of McCarthy, McGovern attacked "those—some of them candidates for high office—who cannot seem to detect the urgency of the warning, cannot see the bush that has been burning these many years."

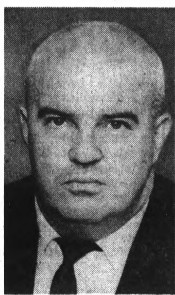

"They think America is tired; that it is time to relax; that we need not action and passion but cool philosophy," the senator said, adding "as Robert Kennedy said so often, that is not the road history has marked for us."

McGovern has been designated South Dakota's "favorite son" by the 26-vote delegation Kennedy captured just hours before his assassination in addition, over 200 of more than 700 undecided Democratic delegates, including the 174 from California, are believed to be Kennedy supporters.

As for the 46-year-old McGovern, a college professor before entering politics, he still intends to devote most of his energy to his second-term fight against former GOP Gov. Archie L. Gurud.

Although recent polls have shown McGovern well ahead, the state is normally Republican. In addition, the senator may be hurt by the arrest last weekend of his 19-year-old daughter on marijuana possession charges.

'War to Heat Up Before Talks Progress'

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite shifts in North Vietnam's negotiating posture, prospects are for another bloody round of fighting before the talks at Paris can make any real headway.

This Washington assessment stems both from Hanoi's diplomacy and from intelligence reports indicating enemy intent to mount a major offensive in South Vietnam next month.

On the diplomatic front, the North Vietnamese have begun recently to fuff up the key third point of their four-point proposal. Point three is the demand for a settlement in the South "in accord with the program" of the Vietcong political arm, the National Liberation Front. This is the demand to which the United States objects most.

Hanoi has been paying less public attention also to the NLF, which it used to portray regularly as the sole true representative of the South Vietnamese people. And it has been promoting a new political front in the South called the Vietnam Alliance for National, Democratic and Peace Forces.

MORE FLEXIBLE

The North Vietnamese tactic, in the opinion of U.S. experts, puts Hanoi into a more flexible negotiating position if the Paris talks get down to real bargaining over the future government of South Vietnam.

On the military front, a variety of intelligence sources tell of heavy infiltration from the North and the gathering of men and munitions for major assaults in the South in the next few weeks.

Soviet deliveries to North Vietnam also have been mounting apace. Seaborne shipments, reported already up 30 percent in January-March of 1968 compared with the same period a year ago, are said to have increased still more since the upsurge in fighting.

President Johnson's March 31 bombing limitation which spared the port of Haiphong. Here Russian arms deliveries are said to be up 100 per cent in some types of modern weapons.

FURTHER THEORY

A further theory here is that the North Vietnamese are pursuing their fight-and-talk strategy with an eye on the 1968 presidential campaign in the United States. It is speculated that Hanoi's reasoning goes like this:

Whether or not the allied forces in South Vietnam spoil the enemy's summer offensive, the upsurge in fighting — and casualties — will spur get-out-of-

Vietnam sentiment in the United States which will be reflected in the U.S. election and in turn in the U.S. negotiating stance in Paris.

Thus, according to this analysis, the North Vietnamese are gearing for sharp fighting this summer and are adjusting their diplomatic position toward the possibility of serious negotiations in Paris sometime after November.

The United Kingdom, which consists of England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland, Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, has a population of about 54,436,000.

Alma Prof, Red Debate Viet

ALMA (AP) — An international radio debate on American involvement in Vietnam—featuring an Alma College professor and a Russian historian—is scheduled to be broadcast Friday night by Radio Moscow.

The college said Prof. Robert Smith of the speech department proposed the half-hour debate in a letter to the Soviet radio station last February.

The offer was accepted, and Alma College History Prof. Michael J. J. Smith, no relation, recorded his comments in this country, while Russian historian Giorgi Mirski did the same in Russia.

The two parts will be aired together in a half-hour program Friday night at 10 p.m. EDT over Radio Moscow (short wave bands 19, 25 and 31). The college said indications were that the program would be beamed toward the free world only and not aired behind the Iron Curtain.

CONCERN EXPRESSED

Robert Smith said the State Department had expressed some concern over the arrangement which permits the Russians to air their position by short-wave to the U.S. without allowing the American position to be broadcast in Russia.

In setting up the debate, it was agreed that Mirski would begin with a 10-minute statement, while Smith would follow with a 14-minute presentation. Mirski then concludes with a four-minute rebuttal.

The Russian historian recorded his opening statement in Moscow and sent the tape to Alma in April. Smith sent his statement to Moscow, and Mirski's rebuttal was received in Alma this week.

Mirski contends in his opening statement that the presence of American forces in Vietnam violates the Geneva Agreement of 1954.

Smith countered that there was no formal international agreement at the Geneva talks on Vietnam because none of the participants signed the final declaration.

Smith said U. S. forces were in Vietnam because of its obligations under the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

"To suggest that the United States ignore this obligation," Smith said, "denies reality and defies fantasy. Such a policy would be equivalent to the American government suggesting that the Soviet Union not honor its commitments under the Warsaw Pact."

Smith contends that the Paris peace talks will test the ability of the United States and the Soviet Union to convince the Hanoi government that "peaceful coexistence and political persuasion is a much wiser course in the long view of history."

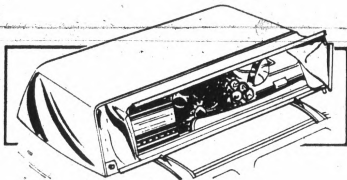

In his rebuttal, Mirski says Smith champions a losing cause "when he upholds the right of the United States to police the world."

"None would call Eugene McCarthy or the late Robert Kennedy Communists," Mirski says, "yet their attitude towards the dirty war in Vietnam is common knowledge."

Young Persons Mow Lawns, Wash Elephants

Youthpower Does the Job

Most job requests of Youthpower call for the expected type of work performance—waitress, laborers, grass cutters—the jobs kids usually are asked to do.

Even though Youthpower's adviser, Tom McCormack, had known that Youthpower programs in other cities received requests for elephant washers, he didn't think it would happen here—until the recent Expo circus and carnival sponsored by the Pontiac Area Jaycees came to town.

McCormack was called and asked for someone to wash elephants and Youthpower complied.

Youthpower is a type of employment agency which tries to provide summer jobs for area youths. It received initial impetus from the Manpower Inc. office in the city, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the Pontiac Area Jaycees.

STILL HOPE FOR WORK

The youths who register for jobs run the office and steer other registered youths to prospective employers who call in. McCormack said the program has only four weeks to go but many youths still are hopeful of finding employment so that they can have back-to-school money and cash for other purposes.

McCormack said the employers who have taken advantage of the Youthpower service have been enthusiastic over results.

Sad Story Can Warn Others

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Chuck is 23. We've been married going on five years and we have three children and another on the way. We were so much in love we could hardly wait to get married, but a lot of things have changed all that.

We have never had a place of our own since we've been married. We have lived with my folks or Charlie's, mainly because Charlie can't seem to hold a job, so I have to work, and we need someone to look after the kids.

On top of that, Charlie still runs with the guys he ran with before we were married, and he just doesn't seem to want to settle down to married life. We have separated twice on that account and I can see it coming again. If it weren't for the kids, I'd leave him sure. I just might anyway. Have you advice for a girl who messed up her life as badly as I?

DEAR OLD: There is not much advice for a young woman in your position but your experience could serve as a warning signal for lots of 17 and 18-year-olds who are "so much in love" they can hardly wait to get married. You are still young enough, however, to make a better life for yourself, so if leaving Charlie is in the cards, don't wait another five years.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a husband like mine? Last night I served fresh raspberry pie, which has always been one of my specialties. And all of a sudden my husband, whom I shall call "Dr. Jekyll" turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for raspberry pie as it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth. Then he said he never could understand why I've been shoving it down his throat for 28 years!

Abby, I always thought my husband liked raspberry pie. I felt so hurt I cried myself to sleep. Was I wrong, or was he? RASPBERRY FIGHT

DEAR FIGHT: If a man doesn't care for something his wife serves him, he shouldn't wait for 28 years to tell her about it. Tell Mr. Hyde you're no mind reader, and serve him baby food.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Either your husband didn't need the operation in the first place, or he still needs it. If you love him, get him to a doctor for another checkup. If he's lost confidence in the first one, let him try another.

DEAR ABBY: These friends of mine went on a two-week vacation, and the lady left the key to her apartment with me so I could go there and check up on things while they were away.

Well, I went there a couple of times and decided that I would help her out by cleaning it up a little (Abby, the apartment was filthy, but it's always that way.)

After I cleaned it up I got this awful feeling that maybe I shouldn't have, but I just wanted to give it a good cleaning to set an example for her. Do you think I did the right thing or not?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: Since it is always "filthy," you probably should have left things the way they were.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST FOR THE RECORD" IN BOSTON: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

Ballet Group Scores in Classical, Modern Premiere

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Last evening, for the first time in the Meadow Brook Festival's five-year history, the stage of the Baldwin Pavilion was occupied by something other than an orchestra, or instrumental combinations.

The celebrated American Ballet Theatre captivated the audience in the premiere performance of six, and will continue nightly through Sunday. This magnificent ballet group, certainly one

Relatives Too Must Respect Privacy Rights

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Could you suggest guidelines for social life among relatives? I come from a small family which lived a continent away from any other relatives. When we were married, my husband and I also left the area where our families lived. Now my husband's brother has moved to our town.

I am sure that relations among relatives are less formal than those among friends and acquaintances, but my brother-in-law and his wife seem to feel perfectly free to come to our house without notice and to include themselves in any of our plans that they hear about. I don't know what to do and would appreciate any help you can give me. — Mrs. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: Relations between relatives are frequently more informal than those between friends, but not necessarily. Good friends can be far closer than brothers and sisters in many cases. Merely being related is no excuse for invasion of privacy. Every couple has a right to arrange its own social life, and it is no more correct for relatives to drop in without warning than anyone else.

The only answer is frankness. Tell them, as nicely as you can, that you love seeing them, but you would appreciate a phone call before they drop in so that you can make plans and enjoy their visits more. Also, introduce them to as many people and include them in as many parties as you can, so that they will develop a social life of their own.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question I receive each week, I'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Clubs Will Sponsor Public Meeting

The Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs Executive Committee met Monday in the Community Services Building.

Those attending voted to honor a request from the City of Pontiac to sponsor a meeting in the near future for member clubs and the public on the subject of Professor Don Davidson's "Down Town Plan for Pontiac."

Chairmen of standing committees were appointed. In other business, plans were made for future executive committee and general meetings plus preliminary arrangements for the upcoming Holiday Bazaar and Ice Cream Social.

Elected to fill vacancies as vice presidents were Mesdames Fred Goines and John Guenther along with Mrs. Willie Ferguson as corresponding secretary.

Some 20 friends gathered Monday morning in the Bloomfield Hills home of the David DiChieras for a coffee-and-conversation prelude to next Wednesday's concert performance of "Rigoletto" at Baldwin Pavilion. Cornell MacNeil, Robert Peters, Jan Pearce and Ezio Flagello will sing the principal roles, supported by the Meadow Brook Chorus and Orchestra. Here, DiChieras and The Pontiac Press' music columnist Bernice Rosenthal and Hortense Riddick of Jackson Street (left to right) discuss the event, which will begin at 8:30 p.m.

of the best of its kind in the United States, presented "Concerto," a dance version of Shostakovich's Piano Concerto Number 2, and the full length ballet, "Giselle," which is the oldest traditional ballet in concert repertoire.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, playing from the pit below and in front of the stage, was directed by Jaime Leon, the ballet's musical conductor, with the piano solos in "Concerto" beautifully performed by Gladys Celeste.

Of all the performing arts, the ballet alone presents the human body as an art form. It is an intensely disciplined art stressing complete muscular control and the use of the body for total beauty of movement. The flowing lines of the dancers performing complicated steps in complete unison, and filling the stage with blocks of moving color, always changing, always beautiful, is a feast for the eye and a joy to the spirit.

PATTERNS IN DANCE
"Concerto" tells no story, but is a series of abstract dance patterns set to the music of Shostakovich. The choreography, imaginatively created by Jean Corelli, brings out each individual musical theme and development, and reinterprets it graphically, magically, in the dance, so that the eye, as well as the ear, is "listening" to the music. Simply costumed, and with a plain backdrop, this was the artistic highlight of the evening.

In the two-act classic, "Giselle," pantomime is added to the pure dance form, and the story unfolds in front of a charming, Breugel-like background, with magnificent costumes to add color and illusion to the legendary story.

Carla Fracel, as the ill-fated Giselle, brings a freshness, a translucent fragility to the role and makes it dramatically believable. This is also true of Erik Bruhn, as Count Albrecht, whose magnificent dancing also takes second place to his dramatic role.

The superb first act could well stand alone in performance, artistically, but for those who enjoy the display of complicated, almost acrobatic achievement, the second act meets all the standards of perfection. The subtle lighting by America's leading artist in that medium for the past two generations, is by Jean Rosenthal.

Last night's performance will be repeated off Sunday. Wednesday and Thursday's program includes, among others, "Les Sylphides" and Copland's "Billy the Kid." On Friday, Leonard Bernstein's "Fancy Free" will be seen with "Dances Concertantes" and "Etudes," a study on ballet techniques.

Psi Chapter's 'Girl of Year' Typical of Today's Woman

By JUNE ELERT

Twelve years ago, Louise Bisogni, an already-busy mother of two sons, Frank, now 16, and Michael, 13, and employed full-time as a medical assistant, added to her round of activities by joining Psi chapter, Sigma Beta Sorority, Inc.

A life-time area resident, Louise was recently elected Lt. Governor of Province 1 of the sorority, which takes in 19 chapters in Michigan, northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

Her position as Lt. Governor will require her to visit each of these chapters and inspect them annually, to act as liaison between chapters and the national board, and to pledge aid in the establishment of new chapters. She will also be installing officer when requested and will aid chapters with problems.

She comes to this activity with a background of experience, which began with minor offices in her own chapter, and progressed to chapter president. For the past two years, she served as secretary-treasurer of the Province.

FAMILY

During the intervening years, Steven, 8, and Tommy, 5, have joined the family. Louise gives her husband, Ezio, a district manager for General Motors, much credit for enabling her to function so efficiently in so many roles. "I couldn't do the job without him," she admits.

Psi chapter honored Louise by electing her "Girl of the Year" for 1968. I suspect she had some competition, since this little group of 19 active girls raised a total of about $1200 during the year for its philanthropic work. The money was used for benefits to a number of local charities, including Children's Village, Girl Scouts, League of the Blind, Oakland County Sanitarium, and others.

The national sorority also supports the National Kidney Foundation, mental health, the National Hearing and Speech Association and Indian Education.

Louise is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School, formerly Louise Pietz of North Sanford Street, she especially enjoys the personal contacts in all her activities which include golf, Little League baseball and membership in All Saints Episcopal Church.

In addition to the yearly chapter visits, Mrs. Bisogni will attend the national convention in Chicago in October and will serve as parliamentarian for the Province meeting which will be held in Pontiac next year.

Five proud males will "hold the fort" for her at the Bisogni residence on Aquarina Drive.

The William J. Beanes Exchange Friday Vows

A reception at Maurice's followed the candlelight ceremony at St. Michael's Catholic Church.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace with a sabrina neck, wrist pointed sleeves and sequin and pearl accents. She wore a chapel length veil of illusion held by a headpiece of matching lace.

Mrs. Edward W. Filhart and Joyce Taylor were matron of honor and bridesmaids, respectively, for their sister. Also assisting were Mrs. Harvey Kulper, Karen Hensel and Paula Webster.

The bridegroom's brother, James, was best man. Ushers were Robert and Donald Taylor, Charles Mitchell and Bernard Andreini.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Taylor of Rose Court and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn F. Beane of Lorbera Lane.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Some of my friends and I are going to try to make a fake leather skirt because they are so popular this year. Please give us a few hints on sewing with this material and don't make it too difficult to understand because we aren't very advanced in sewing. I never could have believed that anything could be as much fun as sewing. Thank you for your helpful hints.

MARY E.

Dear Mary,

This is the kind of letter I love getting, from you younger girls who are sewing for the pure fun of it. I'll keep the instructions simple, and later I shall discuss sewing with real leathers.

Most of the fake leathers have a woven cloth backing. This is the kind I would begin working with. Before you begin, make the same pattern you wish to use out of a very inexpensive fabric or a piece of muslin. You must have a garment that is fitted perfectly before you cut into the leather. When placing the pattern on the leather, use weights to hold it down or else a few pieces of transparent tape.

Never use pins, the holes will remain permanently in the fabric. Instead of pins for the seams, hold them together with paper clips or hair clips, removing them as you come to them when stitching.

Try to avoid a pattern with intricate seams or shaping, keep as straight and simple as possible. Use about 10 to 12 stitches per inch when machine stitching.

Many leather garments are not stitched about 1/4 to 1/2-inch from the seams. Don't attempt this unless you can sew very straight and even; details should be avoided unless they can be done perfectly. If you have trouble with the leather refusing to budge when you are trying to top stitch, it may be necessary to rub a little petroleum jelly (sparingly) on the leather and the machine will glide along on this. You could easily ruin the leather if you use too much. Be sure to remove it after finishing your garment and wipe the presser foot carefully to avoid greasy stains on other fabrics.

Fortunately, fake leather isn't too expensive; you can experiment a little with scraps before you work on your garment. Lots of luck!

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Harry E. Seabury, Fulton, N.Y., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her sewing hint.

"Many times when it is necessary to lengthen sleeves in growing children's jackets or coats, there is not enough lining to reach the bottom of the sleeve. Turn the sleeve inside out, cut lining just above the elbow and add about a two-inch strip (or more if necessary) of any color lining. This can be done in a matter of minutes, and you don't even have to try to match the color of the old lining."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

With the new zippers that look just like an ordinary seam when they have been inserted, should one use a hook and eye at the top of the zipper at the neckline? I haven't been doing this and I have a short gap at the top of the zipper which doesn't please me.

Mrs. C. S. A.

Dear Mrs. C.S.A.:

I have tried the zipper with and without the hook and eye at the top of the zipper. I personally prefer inserting the zipper at least 1/2-inch below the seamline at the neckline and applying a hook and eye. The effect is somehow more finished.

Emotional Scars Remain

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE G-527: Opal G., aged 39, is on the verge of a divorce. "Dr. Crane," her angry husband began, "I think Opal is losing her mind!"

"For she goes to beauty parlors almost every day and has spent thousands of dollars on new hairdos, facials and all the works."

"In fact, the beauty operators even refuse to see her, for she will try to go back the very next day and have a complete repetition of all that was done to her face and hair the day before."

"Now she is pestering plastic surgeons to alter her face, though they will not do so, since she doesn't need such surgery."

"Dr. Crane, she cries and says she knows she is acting silly, but she keeps telephoning hairdressers even in neighboring cities to get more beauty parlor treatments."

EMOTIONAL SLAVERY
When I saw Opal in my office, she cried copiously and admitted that her husband was correct in his description of her.

"But, Dr. Crane," she sobbed, "I just can't help myself!"

"I have such a strong compulsion to go back to a beauty parlor that I feel as if I'll explode if I don't have a new hairdo and facial!"

After three hours of quizzing Opal, I finally found the root of her trouble.

When she was five years old, her mother had a new baby, born in the home.

They lived on a remote farm and no women folks were available that first morning to help around the house.

So little Opal became nursemaid and housekeeper. She did a very good job, too.

And by afternoon, when a couple of neighbor women arrived, they admired Opal's housekeeping.

"Opal certainly has an old head on her shoulders," exclaimed one of the visitors.

At the age of five, Opal didn't realize that such a comment is an idiom of our language and simply meant that she was unusually talented or precocious.

It was intended as a compliment.

But Opal missed the point and tucked away that statement in her subconscious mind.

Now, a full 34 years later, it is goading her onward into abnormal behavior.

For Opal faces her dreaded 40th birthday, which accentuates her worry about possible loss of physical charm to her husband due to the menopause bugaboo.

Although she is a very attractive woman, she has an inner compulsion to visit beauty parlors every day for facials and new hairdos. Why?

Because subconsciously she considers "an old head" as a pruned great grandmother's visage!

Childhood emotional scars can thus goad people into all sorts of weird behavior that defies their logical reasoning.

For phobias and obsessions are almost impervious to reasoning until they are brought out into the full light of conscious attention and then dissected scientifically.

MRS. D. L. MANNING

Selects Gown of Organza for Wedding

Carrying a bouquet of white roses, Stephanotis and ivy cascading on ivory prayer book, Linda Mae Hyland was escorted to the altar of All Saints Episcopal Church Saturday where she became the bride of David Lee Manning.

For the double ring exchange, the bride chose an organza gown accented with trim of Alencon lace and matching organza Cathedral train.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. C. William Holmes and Norman Jennings assisted the couple as honor attendants, followed by the Douglas Freytags, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Giles, Mrs. Norman Jennings, Marilyn Harrington Douglas Nairn and Robert Conibear.

The daughter of the John L. Hylands of Bawtree Avenue, West Bloomfield Township and son of the Garold Mannings of Hanley Street greeted guests at the Waterford CAI Building before departing for a honeymoon tour of the Western states.

Appreciation Is Due From Your Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Why do you hate mothers-in-law? Why don't you write about daughters-in-law who make the husbands' mothers sleep on the floor during visits to them? The kind who never mention you to their children or write you a thank-you note?

I don't understand you. Is it bad for married sons to love mothers who have given them loving homes and made countless sacrifices for their education?

ANSWER: You're talking about your son and his wife, aren't you? Then will you tell me why he goes along with his wife's mistreatment of you?

No, I don't hate mothers-in-law. I'm one myself. However, I don't adore parents who jump over delinquent respect in their own children to blame their husbands and wives for it.

It wasn't your son's wife, you know, to whom you gave that "loving home." It was not for her education that you made those "countless sacrifices." It was YOUR SON, m'am, who profited by these provisions of yours. So how come you absolve him from proper appreciation of you—and demand it from a girl who is not your child at all?

If you don't understand me, I don't understand you.

Were I to visit my daughter's home to find myself mistreated, blaming her husband for it wouldn't occur to me for one half-second. I'd take one look at that bed on the floor—and suddenly remember I had another engagement.

I'd start repacking my bag; and as I did so, say to her husband, "Darling, will you please phone for a taxi to drive me to the station?" Then, turning to my child, I'd say, "And, brat—ling of mine, I shall wait for that cab at the corner. Not here."

Moreover, the person I'd kiss goodby would be my son-in-law, not my daughter.

But then I can identify my child from the children of other persons—and know the difference between them. For this reason, I don't confuse myself with the notion that I'm entitled to demand filial appreciation from the child of other persons merely because he married mine.

But then I can identify my child from the children of other

Snapdragons

The snapdragon is one of our most common, and most lovely, garden flowers. The blossoms fly shut with a snap when they are pressed, and a favorite with the children. This snapping action probably gave them their name.

It is used for ornamental borders for large flower gardens because of the variety of many beautiful colors.

We felt the important part of our business is variety. We have most flowers that you might want. We consider ourselves to be your gardeners, and strive to please you.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have mentioned the Foster Grandparent Program in this column before, because it is so rewarding psychologically, as well as helpful financially, to men and women 60 years old and older.

To many folks who depend on social security and mini pensions for their livelihood, the additional income is most welcome. However, there is an even more important benefit. The knowledge that one is of service to others, that one is needed, adds a new dimension to the lives of those who may be lonely with their unaccustomed leisure, their "aloneness," decreased energy or lack of responsibility.

This is such a rewarding project! It is operated jointly with the Administration on Aging. It trains and employs low income men and women to work in hospitals, state schools and private homes, with neglected or mentally retarded children.

This program not only provides affectionate care and attention for children who would not otherwise have them, but it makes life seem worthwhile and interesting for the foster grandparents.

Twenty-one such projects were started in the United States under demonstration grants in 1965. At the end of 1967 there were 63 in operation in 38 states and Puerto Rico.

Turn about's fair play! Now a new and rewarding idea has sprung up with startling success. High school students are adopting grandparents! At Northwest Catholic High School, in West Hartford, Conn., 71 junior and senior pupils are engaged in the "Adopt a Grandparent" program there.

Each student adopts one grandparent from one of the five homes for the aging. The student visits the grandparent regularly, does errands, for him (or her) plays cards with him, reads to him, writes letters for him or just visits with him. A real affection usually exists between the student and the adopted grandparent.

Should Work Out Estate Plan Together

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Bitterness is a sad bequest from a husband to his widow. But it so happens that some men, with all good intentions, rebuke their wives in one way or another, in effect by the manner in which they arrange to have their financial affairs handled after departing this world.

"Did he really believe I FEELY wanted all those extravagant things we had?" a widow mused in bewilderment, trying to figure out how she's to manage now under the trust her husband set up—and which allows her little more than a minimum income.

"He was the one who wanted the avocado colored convertible, who thought me to wear the biggest diamond and who thought the $1200 card table was more suitable than the $150 one I would have bought. He always felt that the more money I spent, the more important he looked."

So now she's living with the ache of resentment, at having been adjudged—unjustly—too extravagant by temperament to exercise her judgment in money matters. Even though her alotted income is hardly enough to meet her needs, she says that provisions of the trust prevent any substantial nips into the more ample principal.

PLAN Well, that's her story. And true or not, it does raise the question: Why can't husband and wife have a sane discussion as to what kind of an estate plan should be worked out?

Some women have a real "feel" for money management, combining savings, smart shopping and investing, so that all the figures in the book stay black. But there are a lot of other women who want no part of the responsibility for handling money. They'd far rather depend on outside guidance.

Left to their own devices, they'd literally be afraid of their own extravagance, generosity, impulsiveness and general lack of money sense—and they frankly admit it.

No husband, let's hope, is aware of all the occasions when his wife steered him to a wise decision which he presumably reached on his own. So how can he be with certainty gauge his wife's ability—or lack of it—to handle money if he has always done the banking and run the shop?

It seems to me that in a frank discussion, assuming a mutual trust and respect, two people can get a lot of questions settled, both financial and emotional. If, for instance, she's afraid she'll be a pushover where in-laws and relatives are concerned, she can be protected by a properly planned trust set up by the family lawyer.

If the husband feels he didn't build up an estate just so a possible second husband could fall to it, then that, too, could be brought up in all fairness and without undue dramatics—and settled.

SOBERING Such prosaics as probable housing cost, expected state of health, emergencies, predicted inflation, are all proper subjects for discussion. So, too, is the wife's own analysis of her capabilities for handling and/or investing. Shifting from dependence on her husband to dependence on her own wits is a sobering thought. It's one that's apt to make her more than a little critical of her talents.

Surely the decision as to whether a man should make an outright bequest of all he possesses to his wife, or whether some kind of trust would be in her best interests, ought to follow a thoughtful hashing out of all the angles. It would at least serve to prepare her for a certain point of view, bewilderment and resentment would likely never crop up in later years. Motives can be misunderstood when the opportunity to discuss them no longer exists.

Attended by Mrs. David Luck Jr., the bride wore a silk sheath appliqued with lace flowers and complemented with a matching silk chapel train.

The son of the Lester W. Uterback of Middlebelt Road, West Bloomfield Township was attended by Andrew H. Moses.

Following a reception at the Northland Inn, the newbrides departed for a northern Michigan honeymoon. They will make their home in Detroit.

Lehman of Lewisburg, Ky. Sharon and Joy Lehman, maid and matron of honor, and Edwin L. Adler, best man, headed a list of 17 attendants. A seated luncheon in Spring Lake Country Club followed the ceremony. The couple will reside in Marion, N.C. the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Laney.

The nostalgia of by-gone Victorian days is captured in the canopy brass-looking bed from Drexel's new Barbados collection. Brass in look . . . but behind the scenes is really wood with brass metal finish (won't tarnish!). The drawer chest, double dresser are attached in between with a hanging vanity with glass shelves to show off decorative bottles and jars. The small chest on the right with the multi drawer look is really a four drawer chest but sits on top of the dresser and offers a multitude of space to tuck away gloves, jewelry, scarves and other small items. The brass looking chair and mirror repeat the brass of the bed and make a nice accent in the room. The night stand in campaign style offers additional storage. Line available locally.

That was in 1795 and involved some issues parallel to the current controversy over President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice. The South Carolina patriot had led his state in its first Revolutionary War as its first governor, served in the Continental Congress and was a member of the Constitutional Convention.

John Rutledge, Revolutionary War Leader and former associate justice of the Supreme Court, was named by his friend George Washington to be the young nation's second chief justice.

After five days of debate, he was rejected by the Senate President who is a close friend, the post in the summer while where opposition centered on Fortas too was nominated as Congress was not in session.

But when John Jay, the nation's first chief justice, resigned in 1795 to become governor of New York, Rutledge asked Washington for the appointment. He was named to the post in the summer while Congress was not in session.

CUT TO BLACK—Members of the 12th and Oxford gang of Philadelphia edit a black power movie they have been making with the help of Al Sessions (center), their teacher.

er. The gang is one of several whose members have become convinced that they don't need violence.

Youths Studying Black Power

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — At housing, recreation, city services, Wanamaker Junior High in North Philadelphia, they've thrown out the mathematics, history, English and social studies textbooks this summer to study the question of Black Power.

"We don't mean we're teaching them how to make Molotov cocktails," said Principal Charles Leftwich, a balding Negro doctoral candidate. "We're asking them to investigate Black Power and what it means and what it does as a method of getting certain skills across."

Really, Leftwich said, the pupils are getting all those textbook subjects in concentrated form and, maybe for the first time, enjoying it.

Under Leftwich's experimental program, 89 boys in the predominantly Negro school are getting a chance to examine the how, what, when, where and why of Black Power and teen-agers while the rest of the school is up—mean-

MUST WANT TO LEARN

The idea, explained Leftwich, is to "find topics interesting enough to the pupils so they will want to learn to read and compute."

Studies show that most inner-city pupils can't read as well and aren't motivated as well as their suburban counterparts and therefore, they don't do as well in school—especially in courses that require reading skills such as English and history, Leftwich said.

This summer, the principal said, most of the boys are reading more, and at a higher level than they did during the regular school year.

"We're reading 'The Autobiography of Malcolm X' and the Black Power team headed by teacher Al Sessions."

ATTENDANCE IS UP

And, said Sessions and Leftwich, attendance is up—mean-

"We're maintaining 95 per cent attendance even in this summer heat while the regular school attendance averages about 82 per cent," said Leftwich.

Sessions—also a free-lance photographer—said his boys are using a "multimedia approach" in their projects, meaning the use of tape recorders, movies, still cameras and artwork as well as the traditional reading and writing.

"We're working on a slide film and tape recorder project on Black Power," said Larry Thomas, 13, describing one of the several subteams in the 89-member class.

MAKING MOVIE

"We go walking around different areas of North Philadelphia talking to people and taking pictures of different things we see" in the Negro slum area, he said.

The pupils will write a script and edit the films and tapes into a program, said Sessions, who added that another subteam is making a movie film on the same topic.

Each subteam is headed by a teacher and two teen-agers—assistants hired by Leftwich for the summer at $1.25 an hour. All the assistants, he said, come from what was one of the roughest gangs in town until last year—the 12th and Oxford Streets. It was then, said teacher assistant Tyrone Wroten, 17, that the gang declared peace with neighboring gangs and, with the help of a private foundation grant, formed their own film corporation to produce movies of life on the streets of North Philadelphia.

CAN BE CONSTRUCTIVE

William Mills, 13, who says he has written the paper on Black Power that is asked of each pupil, told an interviewer he has learned "Black Power can be constructive—in housing, in politics, in all areas—for black people."

The Wanamaker experiment—which has received encouragement from the school system administration—is financed by the school's share of funds usually used for the normal remedial summer school program.

At least 90 per cent of the program's pupils "failed or nearly failed" a subject during the school year, Leftwich said.

At the end of the program, a pupil will receive a grade in that course in which he needed work.

"And though he may not realize it, he will have been put in contact with that subject many times and learned about it in a practical way he will remember and use," said Leftwich.

U.S. Soldiers Build New Fortified Line in South Korea

WITH U.S. 7TH DIVISION, of the 1950 Communist invasion of Korea — Soldiers of the 7th Division are carrying out with picks, shovels, airplanes and bulldozers a new concept of defense against a repeat of fortifications strung along the 151-mile-wide Korean demilitarized zone, massive U.S. aerial retaliation and the hoped-for ability of the Korean army and the U.S. 2nd and 7th divisions to contain the Communists along the Imjin River near the DMZ.

No one has ever officially admitted it, but if North Koreans cracked the defensive line and came streaming down the 20-mile-wide corridor that is the classic invasion route to the South, the allies would probably have to fall back and dig in on the south bank of the Han River.

As one military observer understated it: "This is not particularly appealing to the Koreans as Seoul is on the north bank."

MANY REMEMBER
A good portion of the capital's four million citizens remember 1950 when the Communists overran the "Special City" as they call it and came close to conquering all South Korea.

The new concept was apparently inspired by the January crisis when a team of South Korean agents tried to kill President Chung Hee Park. Two days later North Korean gunboats captured the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

This idea calls for a second massive line of fortifications across the Seoul corridor about 20 miles north of the capital. It is called the Papa Line.

Work started on it in earnest in June, and a considerable amount of the bunkers have been finished.

SOLDIER LABOR
Much of the labor is being done by foot soldiers from the 7th Division's 31st Infantry and by the division's 13th Combat Engineer Battalion.

Lt. Col. Rene Wolf, commander of the engineer battalion, explained: "The infantry comes in and selects the sites and then digs the initial hole for each bunker. We follow, building forms, pouring concrete and doing the finishing work. Finally the infantry comes back and camouflages the position."

Since this is one of the few times in history the U.S. Army has been engaged in building such fortifications in depth, the engineers had to dig up old plans to go by.

They came up with eight different types of bunkers designed to meet varying requirements. Each type can be modified for specific terrain, height or occupational needs.

Wolf says his men alone have put in 25,000 man-hours a week on the project. This does not count the infantry's digging, the engineer's planning or the camouflage work.

Both the engineers and infantry are assisted by swarms of Korean laborers.

The goal is to build six bunkers a day, and officers say this is being pretty well met despite heavy rains that began falling in mid-July.

Eventually, the whole system will be linked by a series of trenches, both for defense and for communications.

COUNTRYSIDE DOTTED

is dotted by finished and semi-finished bunkers and the square holes awaiting completion of the positions.

Just how near completion it is remains classified information. Just how near completion it is remains classified information.

The line, no matter how strong it will be — and it will be a massive series of in-depth forts — is not the sole hope for the defense of South Korea.

As one high-ranking U.S. soldier remarked, "There has never in history been built a defense system that couldn't be cracked. Look at the Maginot Line which the Germans went around and over. The Marines took Japanese island fortresses in World War II by sheer weight and courage of frontal assault. But a good defensive system can make it tough."

Soviets Stick to Plot on Czech Arms Story

VIENNA (UPI)—A so-called "plot" is essential to any well-constructed political crisis in central Europe.

Following the textbook, Russia is claiming that America's Central Intelligence Agency and the Pentagon are plotting to use their agents to overthrow the Communist regime in Czechoslovakia.

In support of the allegation, the Russians disclosed the discovery by Czech police of a cache of submachine guns of the model Chicago gangsters used in the Prohibition days and a clutch of pistols, together with hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

The development fitted nicely into Moscow's claim that the new liberal leaders of the Czech Communist party were losing control and might need some outside help to put things right.

PLANTED BY AMATEURS
The Czechs retorted that the arms had been planted by amateurs, or by someone who wanted them found, and they raised their eyebrows at the fact that the Russian press reported the discovery before the Interior Ministry released the story in Prague.

Also, Soviet troops had been maneuvering in the Sokolov area at about the time the guns appeared to have been planted under a bridge there.

The coincidences are overwhelming. Old hands were reminded of the incident at the end of August 1939, when Adolf Hitler's staff assigned a secret service thug, Alfred Helmut Naujocks, to stage an attack on a German radio station at Gleiwitz, near the Polish border.

HIS EXCUSE
Naujocks dressed his men in Polish army uniforms, and Hitler claimed Polish commandos actually had been responsible. It was his excuse to invade Poland a few hours later, in an action that touched off World War II.

Italy's Benito Mussolini attempted something similar a year later. He ordered his propagandists to claim the Greek army was threatening Italian security by sneaking military units into Albania and letting allied pilots use Greek air bases.

The Italians invaded Greece. But Mussolini's army wasn't as powerful as Hitler's, and the Germans had to bail him out.

One of history's ironies is that 20 years ago, some of the men of Prague now under fire from Moscow put themselves in power partly by using almost the same alleged foreign plot.

President Ludvik Svoboda, now pleading with the Russians not to believe reports of a counterrevolution in the making, revealed the other plot in 1948.

FINAL ATTACK
As the Communists began their final attack on the bourgeois parties early that year, Svoboda, then defense minister, and Interior Minister Václav Nosek went on Radio Prague to declare they had discovered a plot by reactionary refugees in London to take power by military push.

A couple of days later, they added, police had discovered secret arms caches in the western part of the country, placed there by Germans trained in American spy centers in Bavaria.

The Communists used the alleged plot in support of their exclusion of all anti-Communists from the new government, and the subsequent suppression of all opposition.

To some, it seemed as if the Russians were reading from Svoboda's old script.

Protein in Leaves May Ease Hunger Woes

HARPENDEN, England (UPI) — Part of the world's starvation problem is lack of protein. British scientists say the answer is to eat leaves.

Down at Rothamsted Agricultural Experimental Station at Harpenden, a pioneer machine is noisily pulping and curdling leaves to produce 40 pounds of protein an hour from one ton of foliage.

Local farmers send in the leaves from their crops of potatoes, peas, beans and beets, although tree leaves could be used as well except for the lack of a method to harvest them.

The end product is a dark green concoction that looks rather like cooked spinach and can be used fresh, dried, canned or frozen.

In field tests in India, New Guinea and Africa, this leaf protein has been made palatable by adding it to local dishes such as curries, stews

INEXPENSIVE METHOD

The extraction process is the brainchild of Norman Wingate Pirie, head of the biochemistry department at Rothamsted. He believes the machine offers a simple and inexpensive way of providing protein in countries with malnutrition.

He said protein accounts for only five per cent of human's daily food intake, but it is the most difficult part to get. Lack of protein can cause physical

Coup in Iraq Means Little to Oil Interests

BY NICHOLAS ASHFORD
London Financial Times—UPI

LONDON — International oil companies and other foreign organizations with interests in Iraq can derive little comfort from the bloodless coup July 18 that led to the overthrow of President Abdel Rahman Aref and his government.

Admittedly the new president, Maj. Gen. Ahmed Hassan Al Bakr, is known to be a moderate and a member of the more right-wing elements of the Baath Party.

But Baathists of all colors are renowned for their fiousness and their virtual inability to maintain some form of unity within their own ranks. Observers fear the new regime represents nothing more than another turn of the Iraqi political wheel, a wheel that has turned incessantly since the assassination of King Faisal in 1958.

SINGULARLY UNHAPPY

Not that the oil companies will be sorry to see the departure of President Aref, and more particularly of his pro-Nasser Prime Minister Taher Yehia. Their dealings with the former leaders were singularly unhappy.

First there was the dispute over the closure of London-based Iraq Petroleum Co.'s (IPC) oil pipeline through Syria, which, although not of Iraq's making, considerably soured Iraq-IPC relations.

Matters were further aggravated by the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war during which Iraq took an anti-western lead, advocating a total ban on oil exports.

Although there was no indication that President Aref was the author of these policies (rather they were thought to stem from strong left-wing elements on the board of the state-owned Iraq National Oil Co. (INOC), he was again persuaded to take the lead against another turn of the Iraqi political wheel, a wheel that has turned incessantly since the assassination of King Faisal in 1958.

INDEPENDENT SECTOR

The new regime is unlikely to be any more accommodating towards IPC.

A communique issued shortly after the coup stated that future government policy would be directed at strengthening INOC to enable it to set up an independent oil sector and start production as soon as possible. The country's oil policy would be "independent of the world monopoly," it said.

On other economic matters it is not yet clear exactly where the regime's partial blend of Baathism will lead. A statement said the government would maintain the state-run public sector but that it would also encourage the private sector.

It is here that the regime may find itself running into deep water as did an earlier "moderate" government under Dr. Abdel-Rahman Bazzaz, regarded by many as the only post-1958 revolution leader capable of steering the country back to economic stability.

Although there is a considerable body of opinion which favors a more liberal approach to economic planning, there is an equally powerful faction which favors increased nationalization and greater centralization of the economy.

Stephen N. Delit got his girl through the New York Times.

Delit, 23, a romantic fellow from Flushing, Queens, placed the following ad in yesterday's Times to celebrate the 23rd birthday of his fiancée, Ellen J. Richter.

"E.J.R. Happy birthday. I love you. Will you marry me? S.N.D."

"I thought it would be romantic in an age of unromanticism," explained Delit, a high school math teacher, "especially in such a staid paper as the Times."

Miss Richter was equal to the occasion. Upon reading the two-line ad at the bottom of the front page of the second section, she promptly placed a reply running in the same place in today's edition. It reads:

"S.N.D. I love you too. Yes I will. E.J.R."

Jane Russell Divorces Ex-Grid Star Husband

Former film glamor girl Jane Russell has divorced her ex-football star husband, Bob Waterfield, ending a 25-year marriage.

Miss Russell, 47, testified in divorce court yesterday in Los Angeles that her husband was cold and indifferent. He had filed a cross-complaint charging her with habitual intemperance.

Miss Russell was given custody of her adopted children, Thomas, 18, and Tracy, 17. Waterfield won custody of their third adopted child, Robert, 12.

Miss Russell received a $110,000 house in Newport Beach, and Waterfield, 48, received the $55,000 family house in Sherman Oaks.

Miss Russell continues to receive $900 a week under her contract with Howard Hughes, who launched her movie career by starring her in "Outlaw."

"Outlaw" premiered in 1935. That year Miss Russell married Waterfield, the star quarterback of UCLA's vaunted football team.

Waterfield became quarterback for the professional Los Angeles Rams while his wife starred in scores of pictures during the 1940s and 1950s.

During the last year of their marriage, Miss Russell testified, Waterfield was often out until 2 and 3 a.m. and rarely showed up for dinner.

Ashley drowned when the boat carrying him overturned in turbulence on the river.

The brothers for whom he was searching also had drowned in the rain-swollen waters.

It was given to Hanger by State Reps. Loren D. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, and William P. Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, at police headquarters.

You Can't Beat Really Fresh Vegetables

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

There's no doubt that the advent of frozen vegetables has given us better flavored vegetables the year around. And with a choice of either frozen or canned, we can have constant variety.

But there's really nothing like fresh produce. I mean fresh from your own garden or the farmers' market. 'Fresh' vegetables in the supermarket are days away from the garden patch.

Zucchini squash is exceptionally nice at this time of year. The skin is so tender that peeling it is an insult. Try this Summer, covered, 30 minutes or until tender.

ITALIAN ZUCCHINI BOATS

1 pound lean ground beef
1/2 cup minced onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits
8 medium zucchini
8 ounces small shell macaroni, cooked and drained
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine beef, onion, garlic, nuts, egg, salt and 1/4 cup tomato sauce with tomato bits. Cut a lengthwise slice off each zucchini. Scoop out centers to form boats. Fill zucchini with meat mixture.

In skillet heat remaining tomato sauce with tomato bits; add zucchini, stuffed side up.

COUNTRY FRIED TOMATOES

3 large, firm tomatoes
Salt, pepper, sugar
Flour
3 tablespoons butter
Additional butter
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper, to taste

Finely minced parsley
Peel tomatoes and cut in half. Season cut sides with salt, pepper and a little sugar, dredge cheese; arrange zucchini on top with flour.

Melt butter in a heavy skillet; add tomatoes and cook over moderate heat until under surfaces begin to brown. Turn and continue to cook until heated through, but not softened. Transfer to a heated platter or serving dish and keep at serving temperature.

Add enough more butter to drippings in pan to make 1/4 cup. Add flour and blend. Add milk, stirring constantly, and cook until smooth and thickened. Season with salt and pepper to taste and spoon over tomatoes.

Sprinkle with parsley and serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

1 teaspoon whole basil leaves
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup hot water

Remove tips from beans and cut into 1-inch pieces. Fry bacon until crisp. Drain and put aside. Sauté onions in bacon fat until soft but not brown. Add beans, tomatoes, seasonings and water; simmer, covered, for 1/2 to 3/4 hour or until beans are tender. Top with crumbled bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Pineapple Used in Many Ways

Keep a supply of canned pineapple handy for summer barbecues. Pineapple chunks are great to skewer with beef, chicken and lamb and grill outdoors.

Cocktail frankfurters and pineapple chunks make intriguing appetizers. Guests will enjoy heating their own over a hibachi, then dipping in a tangy barbecue sauce.

Or how about topping a hamburger with a pineapple slice to give it a refreshing taste for summer. Anyway you look at it, canned pineapple is always in season.

Be Different and Serve Cooked Cucumbers

The cucumber clan is an old and aristocratic one. Hailing originally from the Middle East, it moved into high social circles in Rome during the first century A.D., when Emperor Tiberius developed such fondness for the vegetable that he ordered its out-of-season culture so that he could eat cucumbers every single day of the year.

Charlemagne had cucumbers grown in his gardens in 9th century France. Columbus brought cucumber seeds to Haiti on his second voyage to the New World in 1494.

DeSoto's records tell of finding cucumber plants flourishing in Florida in 1539.

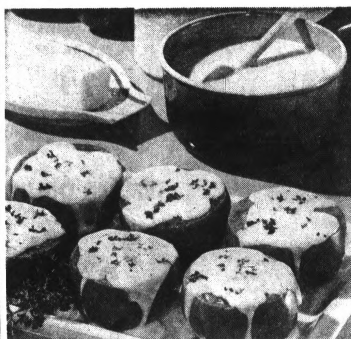

CUCUMBERS AU GRATIN

3 unpeeled cucumbers
1-inch boiling water in saucepan
1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 cup shredded sharp American cheese
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup soft bread crumbs

Wash and slice cucumbers 1/4-inch thick. Place in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and 1/2 teaspoon of the salt. Cover and simmer 3 minutes. Drain.

Place in a 10x6x2-inch casserole. Sprinkle with remaining salt, ground black pepper and cheese. Toss lightly. Melt butter or margarine and mix with the bread crumbs. Sprinkle over the top of cucumbers.

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes or until cucumbers are brown. Yield: 6 servings.

COUNTRY FRIED TOMATOES ARE SERVED WITH CREAM SAUCE

Smoked Salmon Has Facsimile

One of the great delicacies of the world is smoked salmon. Rating next in importance to fresh caviar as a luxury appetite, it is a favorite among peoples of many lands and many cultures.

In Scandinavian countries it's made into salads. In Germany and Russia it's cut into paper thin slices between the grain and served on slices of buttered pumpernickel bread.

In Jewish cooking it's known as lox, and is served with freshly-baked bagels.

Yet as good as smoked salmon is, it has two strikes against it. It's not readily available throughout the country, and it is rightfully expensive.

Now, however, everybody can enjoy a delicious facsimile of smoked salmon at a most reasonable cost. Here's how: Simply open a 7 3/4-ounce can of salmon. Add 1/4 teaspoon liquid smoke to the liquid in the can. Cover top of can with transparent film and refrigerate for at least four hours. Longer won't hurt it. When ready to serve, drain off the smoky liquid.

Flake the salmon and pile the large colorful flakes onto squares of buttered dark bread. Sprinkle with a little freshly ground pepper from the mill and add a squeeze of lemon juice. It's quite unbelievable. Close your eyes and you'll swear you're eating the most expensive smoked salmon imported from Scotland or Norway.

WAYS TO ENJOY

There are many ways to enjoy this newly discovered delicacy. Substitute it in your favorite recipes for salmonburgers, creamed salmon or croquettes. Stir it into leftover mashed potatoes with an egg yolk.

Drop the batter from a spoon into hot fat and fry until the smoky-flavored fritters are a golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Make them good sized for supper or tiny for hot appetizers.

Here's still another unique appetizer made from smoke-flavored salmon.

SMOKED SALMON ROLLS

Add 1/4 teaspoon liquid smoke to a 7 3/4-ounce can of salmon. Cover and refrigerate for several hours. Roll out pastry for a crust pie into a 9-inch circle. Drain the salmon, flake it and sprinkle the flakes over the pastry circle. Sprinkle with freshly ground pepper and a little finely chopped green onion, chives or capers.

CUT CIRCLE

Cut the pastry circle with its garnish into 8 wedge-shaped pieces. Roll each wedge tightly from outside wide edge to the point. Arrange the rolls on a baking sheet and brush with beaten egg.

Bake in a preheated 425 degree oven for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Machine Used by Government to Test Items

Automation may replace the thumb — that well-known device shoppers use in order to evaluate peaches, tomatoes and plums.

U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers have developed an instrument to test fruits and vegetables in the market. Eventually the instrument may tell producers when to harvest their crops and packers when to take the produce out of storage.

Engineers are using sound to measure firmness. A normal product allows sound to pass through it at a certain frequency. If the frequency varies, it's a sign the produce is either too firm or too ripe.

Grill Stuffed Onion Slices

The backyard chef who delights in surprising his friends with the gourmet touch can do so with little effort if he introduces Charcoal Baked Onions Supreme. Here is a combination designed to arouse jaded appetites and bring rousing huzzas.

The well-wrapped onions are in appearance itself, a conversation piece. Try these on your grill for sure!

CHARCOAL BAKED ONIONS SUPREME

6 medium-size onions
1 1/2 cups prepared stuffing mix
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning (optional)
1/2 cups grated sharp cheese
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1-3 cup hot water

Peel onions and cut each crosswise in 3 or 4 thick slices. Combine stuffing mix and cheese, add melted butter and hot water along with poultry seasoning if desired. Blend well.

Spread stuffing mixture thickly between onion slices, reassemble each onion. Wrap each onion securely in heavy aluminum foil or double thickness of regular foil.

Place on grill or directly over coals. Bake 1 to 2 hours depending on size of onions and heat of fire.

Perk Up Rice With Lemon

That special summer freshness can perk up an entire menu. Barbecuing gives meat an outdoorsy heartiness and the salads are a riot of tastes and color.

Don't let it stop there. Add another fresh touch by serving rice instead of potatoes. And not just plain old rice; give it a perky piquancy with a touch of lemon. Either of these two recipes will do it.

Lemon Blossom Rice

1/2 cup minced onion
1/4 cup melted butter
1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon tarragon
1/4 teaspoon thyme
3 cups hot cooked rice

Saute onion in butter. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Makes 6 servings.

Quick Lemon Rice

2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons butter
1 1/2 cups pre-cooked rice
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Combine bottled lemon juice, water, salt and butter. Bring to boil. Stir in rice and remove from flame. Let stand 5 minutes. Add parsley. Fluff with fork and serve.

Try New Liquid

Substitute a 13 3/4-ounce can of chicken broth for two cups of milk in your favorite white sauce recipe. After it thickens, stir in 1/2 cup of heavy cream and 1/2 cup of grated Swiss cheese. When sauce is almost at the boiling point, pour it over several minutes should make it easy for you to slip off the brown skins.

Zucchini Sauce Seasons Meat, Fish and Fowl

Zucchini and tomatoes combine deliciously in a sauce seasoned with barbecue spice and minced onion. Good with any meat, poultry or seafood.

Stove Top Zucchini Casserole

2 zucchini cut into 1-inch slices
1 can (1 lb.) stewed tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon barbecue spice
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/2 cup tiny toasted croutons
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Combine zucchini, tomatoes, barbecue spice and minced onion in small saucepan. Bring to boiling point; cover and simmer 10 to 12 minutes or until zucchini is tender.

Spoon into a serving dish. Toss croutons with melted butter and scatter over zucchini mixture. Yield: 6 portions.

No Need to Soak

When you are blanching artichokes, don't let the nuts soak in the boiling water. A short stay at the boiling point, pour it over several minutes should make it easy for you to slip off the brown skins.

The delicious flavor and crunchy texture of that famed New Orleans creamy brown sugar and pecan patty is captured in the praline topping on English muffin halves here.

These delicious muffins are a quick and easy hot bread to serve with a cool summer salad of cottage cheese bounded with seasonal fresh fruits.

This praline mixture is a versatile one. It can be spread on baked cake layers and run under the broiler for a quick and easy frosting.

Slices of plain white bread can be toasted one side under the broiler, then the untoasted side spread with the mixture and broiled for a speedy sweet bread for breakfast feasting.

KEEPS WELL

The praline mixture keeps well for a week or so in the refrigerator, so it is easy to keep on hand for a hurry-up spread-and-broil topping.

English Muffins Praline-Style

- 1/4 cup butter
- 2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup evaporated milk
- 1 1/2 cups sliced or coarsely chopped pecans
- 8 English muffins

In a medium size saucepan melt butter over low heat. Remove from heat, then blend in sugar, evaporated milk and pecans.

Warm English muffin halves in oven, then spread moderately in oven, then spread moderately with pecan mixture. Place in broiler about 4 to 5 inches from heat source until mixture is bubbly and hot, about 1 to 2 minutes. Watch carefully so topping does not scorch.

Store any leftover pecan mixture in one cup whipped cream and sprinkle over, covered, in refrigerator. Spoon onto molded or fresh fruit with chopped nuts. Chill until ready to serve.

ENGLISH MUFFINS PRALINE-STYLE — English muffin halves with a broiled praline topping are a deliciously easy hot bread to serve with a cool summer salad.

RUM COLLINS

The first collins was concocted with rum, during the American Revolution. Still unbeatable.

RECIPE

Measure in Onion Without Any Ado

If instant minced onion is to be used in a soup, stew or sauce — any mixture with free liquid — the onion can be measured right in without further ado. If wanted for a salad or sandwich filling, mix a measure of water and a measure of instant minced onion and let this stand for eight to 10 minutes.

Because onion contains a lot of sugar it must be rehydrated, too, before using.

In addition to instant minced onion, you can buy instant onion powder, full strength, to be used in any kind of onion-flavored dish; onion salt, a blend of onion powder and table salt. Onion flakes should be handled like instant minced onion, except that just a little less water is needed for rehydrating — four parts onion flakes to three parts water.

Countdown to 30 Wins for McLain; Wilson 'Ices' Yanks, 5-0

Denny Is After 21st Triumph; Faces Washington Tonight

No one as yet has started the countdown to the American League pennant for the Detroit Tigers, but starting tonight and figuring every four days the record book statisticians are already considering Denny McLain's chances of reaching the 30-win plateau.

McLain will be showing for No. 21 tonight against the Senators, and the booming bat of Frank Howard, who has started another one of his fence blasting spree.

PERSONAL HIGH

A victory would be a personal high for the 24 year old right-hander whose best year was 20-14 in 1966. His career total stands at 79 wins and 45 defeats since breaking into the majors in 1963.

With the Tigers, McLain has the unique accomplishment of having beaten every team in the American League at least once in each of the past four years.

The statistical minds figure that McLain will start 16 more times this year and 10 victories would make him the first 30 game winner since Dizzy Dean posted a 30-7 record with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934.

Last American League to post 30 wins was Lefty Grove who was 31-4 with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1931.

Opposing McLain on the mound tonight is southpaw Frank Bertina, who has a 4-8 record including 1-1 against the Tigers.

Along with his record, best in the majors, McLain also leads the league in starts, complete games and innings pitched. He has completed 17 of 36 games started, and has an outstanding 2.10 earned run average in 210 innings.

Tonight is family night at Tiger Stadium.

'Love at First Sight' for State Golfer

Midland Sharpshooter Takes Lead in GAM Tournament

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Young Stan Thompson Jr. of Midland may have found a golf course he'd like to call home.

Touring Red Run Country Club for the first time yesterday, Thompson, 23, in a 'love at first sight' affair, carved out a three-under-par 69 over the 6,765-yard layout to set the pace in the opening round of the qualifying for the 46th Golf Association of Michigan championship.

Pontiac Press Photo

ON TARGET—Stan Thompson Jr. of Midland shows the putting stroke he used yesterday in carving out a three-under-par 69 at Red Run Country Club to lead the qualifying field in first round of the golf Association of Michigan tournament. The second round of the qualifying is slated for today and the low 63 scores plus defending champion Peter Green of Orchard Lake open match play tomorrow.

Double rounds of match play are set for tomorrow through Saturday.

8th in History Unassisted

Triple Play Feat for Senator

CLEVELAND (AP)—Shortstop Ron Hansen of the Washington Senators pulled off an unassisted triple play, the first in the major leagues since 1927, against the Cleveland Indians last night.

Dave Nelson opened the second inning for Cleveland with a single and Russ Snyder walked before Joe Azcue lined to Hansen, who stepped on second base, doubling Nelson, and then tagged Snyder coming into second. Cleveland won, 1-0.

SEVEN OTHERS

Only seven other players had accomplished the feat. The last two were by shortstop Jim Cooney of the Chicago Cubs and first baseman John Neun of Detroit in 1927.

The others were shortstop Neal Ball of Cleveland in 1909, second baseman Bill Wambsgans of Cleveland in 1920, first baseman George Burns of Boston in 1923, shortstop Ernie Padgett of Boston in 1923 and shortstop Glenn Wright of Pittsburgh in 1925.

The triple play was the second for Washington this season, the other coming on June 23. But it was not unassisted.

Aching Bengal Packs Pains 'a la Koufax'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Earl Wilson might be thinking of carrying his own personalized ice pack with him for the rest of the season.

The sturdy right-hander, who has had his share of aches, pains and strains this season, cooled off the New York Yankees last night on a three hitter to win 5-0, and then proceeded to apply the ice pack to his hand, wrist, elbow and knee.

"What is the ice pack specifically for?" someone asked Wilson.

"I don't know, Sandy Koufax always used an ice pack, and he won," Wilson laughed.

SCRATCH SINGLE

At any rate, Wilson had his entire knee and thigh covered with a harness when he took the mound and for 4 1/2 innings he kept the Yankees in harness without a hit until Jake Gibbs hit a scratch infield single with two out in the 5th.

The Peppete's single in the 7th and Charley Smith's punch single in the 8th were the only others the Yanks could muster.

Wilson, however said he was feeling the effects of the strained knee later in the game and after he walked Mickey Mantle to start the 9th, lankily Darryl Patterson came in to retire the side in order.

It was the only time in eight trips to the plate in two games that Mantle was able to reach first, and during this time he struck out five times.

It was Wilson's second straight victory even though he hadn't finished either game.

HELP OWN CAUSE

Earl, who was last year's top winner for the Tigers, started the scoring parade by hitting the first pitch of Mel Stottlemyre in the third inning into the right field seats for his second homer of the season and the 28th of his major league career.

Two pitches later, Dick McAuliffe rammed another of Stottlemyre's pitches into the seats to make it 2-0.

Jim Northrup, who forced Roy White against the left centerfield fence for his long fly in the first inning, then laced a double past Peppete.

Al Kaline hit a high bouncer over the pitcher's head and appeared to have beaten the throw as umpire Larry Goetz started with the safe motion, but then followed with the out sign.

Kaline helped the cause in the 4th inning with a two-out double down the line with the bases loaded, and when Jim Northrup tried to get home from first he was tagged.

However, Dick Tracowski and McAuliffe who both walked, scored and it was 4-0.

FINAL RUN

When Norm Cash doubled to right and Willie Horton walked to start the 5th, Don Wert was passed intentionally with one out. Tracowski nearly helped the double-play strategy as he hit a grounder to second, but Harold Clarke could only make a play at first and Cash scored the final run.

For the second game in a row, the Tigers stranded 10 men on base, but the Yankee bats were silent and only one New Yorker reached third base, that as a result of Pettitte's single in the 7th and a throwing error by Wilson in an attempted pick off.

A crowd of 33,308 watched the contest, which was the 39th night game victory for the Tigers against 19 defeats, compared to 24 daytime victories against 20 defeats.

More Nuisance Complaints This Year

Are Bears in U.P. Becoming Unwanted Guests?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: With growing frequency the bear is becoming an unwanted guest in Upper Peninsula homes and campsites. Ken Lowe, editor of the Marquette Mining Journal, offers a few yarns about the growing problem of nuisance bears in the U.P.)

MARQUETTE — Are bears in the Upper Peninsula becoming a nuisance? Or are there just more of them? Whatever the reason, the Conservation Department in Upper Peninsula has received more complaints about nuisance bears this year than ever before.

"It seems that bears in the western Upper Peninsula are some samples: In the middle of a population explosion," commented Hugh Fisher, Baraga district law supervisor for the department. "In the past six weeks or so, we have heard of a bear in a cottage, parks, campgrounds and even residential areas that at Waton in Baraga County the conservation officers of the reported that a bear broke district have been literally down the door of his warehouse

Decrease in Alewives

Tourism Is Booming

LANSING (AP) — Tourist business is up in most Michigan resort areas and at least holding its own in others.

Some report business as "unbelievable." A major factor is that there has been no major alewife die-off this year.

Last year, the stinking mess created by the dead fish littering the beaches drove tourists away with a loss of visitor money estimated at $10 million.

The preliminary estimate is that business is about holding its own in most areas with exceptionally good reports from some scattered spots.

Probably the most enthusiastic report came from Harvey Collins, secretary of the Michigan County Chamber of Commerce in Gaylord.

"Business this summer, has been unbelievable," Collins said. "Our Alpine Festival was a smashing success. One restaurant had to close down twice to catch up with business."

TURNAROUNDS
A ranger at Otsego, County State Park reported that the park was averaging turnarounds of 95 camping units a day.

The secretary-managers of Michigan's four regional tourist associations gave these reports: James Hall, East Michigan Tourist Association, Bay City.

Wesley Tobeau, West Michigan Tourist Association, Grand Rapids.

"Clean beaches and warmer weather has increased West Michigan tourist traffic from two to five per cent this year. Camping tourists have jammed Western Michigan private and public parks. One camp had a no vacancy sign for six straight weeks."

Kenneth Dorman, Upper Peninsula Tourist Association, Iron River.

"Business this year is as good as last. Mackinac Bridge crossings are running about the same as last year."

Sidney Baker, Southeast Michigan Tourist Association, Detroit.

"July brought an increase in the number of people visiting information centers. Business still is not as good as last year. Promotion of metropolitan Detroit as a 'happening place' is helping restaurant, hotel and motel business."

Platte River Closing Set

Collection of Salmon Eggs in October

Plans of the Conservation Department call for closing Benzie County's Platte River to all fishing during at least the first three weeks of October to provide a setting for collecting an anticipated 10 million coho salmon eggs from that stream.

The proposed fishing ban on the Platte follows the same basic reasoning as last fall when it was forced to suspend all angling on the stream.

At that time, hordes of fishermen crowded the Platte and lined its banks which resulted in coho being spooked and blocked from making their upstream spawning migrations.

DONNYBROOK

The scene on the Platte was one mad donnybrook with large numbers of fishermen trespassing on private property, and many of them breaking fishing rules for the sake of toting home some of these trophy fish.

"This fall, we will be literally putting all our coho salmon eggs in one basket — the one at our spawn-taking station on the Platte," said department salmon specialist Dave Borgeson.

"The 10 million eggs we hope to take there will just about carry the full shot to meet hatchery needs for 1970 coho plantings."

Creek in U.P. 'Swamped'

Anglers, Salmon Converging

The coho are running... and so are the fishermen.

Both salmon and anglers are converging on Thompson Creek near Manistique in large numbers. It has been reliably reported that the salmon, in their eagerness to leave Lake Michigan and spawn, are darting between the legs of the fishermen.

A veritable wall of wading men, women and children and boats has been thrown up in Lake Michigan across the mouth of the Upper Peninsula stream located about 90 miles west of The Straits.

These coho are an Alaskan strain and spawn earlier than their Oregon - Washington cousins who will be running late in August in the northwestern Lower Peninsula.

The Thompson salmon are reported to weight between six and nine pounds. Best time to fish is from an hour before sunrise to an hour after.

Moving south, coho action is picking up off Ludington with the fish ranging up to 13 pounds.

In the Oakland County area, anglers are beginning to make good catches of large bluegills on crickets in deep water. Most lakes are producing... once the fish are located.

Action on bass has slowed, but a 12-year-old Alpena County boy "came south for a vacation" and took a 6½-pound largemouth from Lake Minnawana in the Metamora recreation area.

Greg Kirchoff of Ossineke was fishing from shore with his father, William Deller, when the large bass picked up a worm. The fish does not qualify for the Pontiac Press Derby because it was caught outside of the county and the youngster does not reside in the county.

LEADING FISH

Top bass is a 6-pound, 5-ounce. Heaviest pike entered is an 8-pound, 3-ounce northern.

Walleye fishing on Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair river has slackened off.

Perch are biting in Saginaw Bay in about 12 feet of water along Arenac and Bay counties. Results on walleyes has been good on Hardy Pond and the Muskegon River.

For Pollution Control

New Waste Treatments Urged

"Within ten years we'll have to adopt new waste water treatment methods or else accept pollution as a way of life," warns Dr. Niles Kevern, assistant director of the Institute of Water Research at Michigan State University.

"The routine sewage treatment, common to most large communities, only partially corrects our pollution problem," says Kevern, and the many small communities which have no waste treatment at all make the problem disgraceful."

Nutrient elements slip through the primary and secondary treatments which most of our towns and cities now use. Primary treatment settles out the solid material, and secondary treatment breaks down organic matter. Most of the dissolved materials such as phosphorus and nitrogen compounds escape removal and end up "over-fertilizing" our waterways.

"Southern Michigan lakes are particularly over-fertilized, and we see the effects at this time of year," asserts Kevern.

SEVERAL PROBLEMS

"Algae and waterweeds grow profusely with fertilization by septic tank drainage and incomplete sewage treatment. Water intake pipes get clogged. The weeds decay and smell, and swimming and fishing are hampered."

Septic tank leakage and other incomplete human waste treatment methods also benefit disease-carrying bacteria. This, the green, "full competition" contaminates the water for drinking or swimming.

"The ideal way to alleviate these problems is to develop a method which doesn't use our waterways to disseminate the wastes," the MSU professor block at 160.714.

"It was obvious from these figures," Banks said, "that these engines had an obvious adds. Kevern, "there are a number of advantages and that something available at some cost must be done if we were to equate to remove troublesome nutrient elements. Thus the cubic inch compounds."

The Institute of Water charged engine was lowered. Research at MSU is now planning from 170,856 to 161,803 and the new studies on waste treatment annulus inlet area of the turbine methods involving both physical from 15,999 to 11,999 (square and biological systems which inches) in an attempt to meet will remove these nutrients. the equivalency."

Adoption Expected Next Week

Law on Alcohol Sale Is Near

City commissioners last night C. Irwin suggested that this final adoption of the revision gave preliminary approval to a feature of the ordinance might conform to the provision at time of sale of alcohol in the city.

The ordinance is expected to be adopted at next week's City Commission meeting. Next week's meeting will be held Monday because of the primary election on Tuesday.

Patterned after the city's existing ordinance and regulations of the State Liquor Control and Commission (LCC), the ordinance spells out legal hours of sale, code limitations and health and safety regulations.

At present the proposed ordinance calls for two adults to be working on the premises of any city bar at all times. District 2 Commissioner Robert to be held next Monday and proval of a contract with the local fire fighters to determine more fully the legality of the fire fighters having an agency shop agreement (where all fire fighters must pay union dues).

Authorized accepting bids by 2 p.m. Aug. 19 for the 1968 asphalt paving program for local streets including East and West Brooklyn from Stanley to the railroad tracks.

Received notice that the State Public Service Commission will inspect Franklin Road crossing of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad line to determine whether the traffic signal light there is needed.

Street Cleanup Drive Is Slated

Quaker-Led Youths Plan Saturday Effort

Twenty-one teens and young adults from a variety of states will roll up their sleeves and take on the job of cleaning up Paddock Street from Auburn to Jessie Saturday.

The youths are working in Pontiac this summer under the direction of the American Friends Service Committee, which nationally conducts programs for interested youths to help the nation's beleaguered cities in a variety of programs.

The youths for the past four weeks have been working through the cooperation of the board of education, from Eastern, Frost, McConnell and Wilson schools with city youths as tutors recreation leaders and companions.

Arthur Dunlop, an organizer for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, said the youths had hoped they would like to leave the city at least one visible manifestation of their presence sales and that the city will have this summer and came up with the idea of a cleanup or campaign.

COMMUNICATION

Dunlop said the hope of the program is to get Pontiac residents interested in participating in the cleanup to effect some communication between people of different races.

The youths will leave the city this weekend, adult adviser Lee Tanksley from Philadelphia, Pa. said.

Plans call for the cleanup participants to cut lawns and weeds on vacant properties on Paddock, to clean the street, collect debris and perform other necessary tasks.

The cleanup will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and hopefully end by 2 to 3 p.m. Dunlop said interested area residents are urged to pitch in and are asked to bring necessary equipment, such as rakes and shovels.

TRUCKS AVAILABLE

City administrators, cooperating with the program, have indicated that city DPW trucks will be available for hauling away debris.

Dunlop said after the cleanup is completed there will be an entertainment program in Wall Street Park. Refreshments will be served and prizes will be awarded to winners of a talent show to be staged in the park.

He said those interested in competing are invited to do so. Dunlop said the prize money is being donated by the youths who are working with the American Friends Committee.

His Whammy Brings Jail

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A man was sentenced to 10 days in city jail for giving Pontiac Judge Romualdo E. Chavez a whammy.

Chavez said he was conducting court when he noticed James Khron of Los Angeles giving him what Chavez called the evil eye. Chavez said Khron clapped his hands together and pointed both index fingers at him.

The judge gave Khron five days for contempt of court. When Khron repeated the gesture, he was sentenced to another five days.

8 Lots on Baldwin to Be Offered for Sale

City-owned land on the east side of Baldwin south of Owens will be offered for sale to the public in the near future, according to action of the City Commission last night.

Commissioners authorized receiving bids by Sept. 9 for eight lots in the 700 block. The land was acquired by the city in 1941 for the state tax salvage sale.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a requirement will be that the bidder submit a preliminary development plan of proposed use and estimate of time of construction.

He said the type of development will be considerable more important to the city than the actual dollar amount of the manifestation of their presence sales and that the city will have this summer and came up with the idea of a cleanup or campaign.

CALLS FOR POLICY

District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson urged the administration to prepare a firm policy for sale of all city-owned land. He complained that at times land is sold by bid and at times sold without bids.

District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin favored having that full companies are a more flexible approach available in the city's other fire stations, because at times it serves the city no purpose to sell by bid.

He gave an example of the sale of city-owned land in Aaron at times sold without bids.

County 4-H Gets OK to Hold Fair

Venezuela-Guyana Border Row Sure to Bruise United States

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A border row between Venezuela and South America's only English-speaking country has acquired new bitterness, and the United States is bound to get bruised no matter what the outcome.

Ironically, Venezuela's long-standing claim to 30,000 square miles of tropical savanna and jungle now ruled by Guyana was given fresh impetus 20 years ago through a statement by a New York lawyer who earlier had helped reach "a full, perfect, and final settlement" of the dispute.

Washington has declared itself neutral in the argument. It seeks to keep intact its good relations between the two countries, which are considered good friends. Both Venezuela and Guyana want the support of the United States — and other nations — and by not getting any for their individual stands, suspect Foggy Bottom is favoring the other country.

The quarrel deepened when Venezuela this month claimed seas extending 3 to 12 miles off the disputed territory. The move triggered an uproar in Georgetown, the normally tranquil capital of Guyana, formerly the colony of British Guiana.

LEVELS CHARGE

Guyanese Prime Minister Forbes Burnham charged Venezuela with "embarking on a course of international piracy." Crowds berated Venezuela in front of its Georgetown Embassy.

In Caracas, moderate voices tried to prevail over those demanding prompt military annexation of the New York-sized area.

Burnham took the matter to the United Nations, which Venezuela says is "not competent" to discuss it.

Normally such quarrels are settled in the Organization of American States, but Guyana is not one of its members. Burnham has accused Venezuela of blocking Guyana's entry into the organization because of the border question. The organization does not admit as new members countries subject to territorial claims by current members.

BASE FOR CLAIM

The claim to the ribbon of sea is based on the fact that Guyana claims but three miles of territorial waters while Venezuela says its sovereignty extends 12 miles offshore.

The waters off Guyana are not only rich in marine life but also may cover rich petroleum deposits. Venezuela, the world's No. 1 oil exporter, already has warned it would not recognize any mineral concessions granted by Guyana in the disputed area, which extends for 200 miles east of the current border to the banks of the Essequibo River, near Georgetown.

Burnham has said this is part of "a concerted campaign of economic aggression against Guyana."

In Caracas the press has quoted "sources close to the Foreign Ministry" as saying the United States has requested Venezuela to tone down its demands in view of Guyana's impending elections. Burnham, a moderate leftist, is fighting to keep Marxist Cheddi Jagan out of office.

The Venezuelans, so say these "sources," should not give Jagan the opportunity to assail Burnham with charges of softness vis-a-vis Venezuela.

ARBITRATION TRIBUNAL

Although it is not now a major popular topic, most Venezuelans feel their country was taken advantage of by Britain at a time it was consolidating hard-won independence.

The border dispute between what was then British Guiana and Venezuela was referred by joint agreement to an arbitration tribunal late in the 19th century. Sitting in the tribunal was U.S. Chief Justice Melville Fuller.

To present its case before the court, Venezuela selected a team made up of Americans, including former President Benjamin Harrison and Severo Mal-et-Prevost, a New York lawyer.

A border award was made in 1899 and accepted by all parties.

AWARD QUESTIONED

In 1949, five years after his death, a memorandum by Mal-et-Prevost was published in which he questioned the award.

He charged Britain gained land "over which it had not a shadow of rights."

All other members of the tribunal and representatives were dead by then. The posthumous publication gave new impetus to Venezuelan protests, and a commission was set up in 1966 to settle the quarrel "which has arisen as the result of the Venezuelan contention that the arbitral award of 1899 about the frontier . . . is null and void."

Since then little has been achieved.

Both countries have publicly exhibited rock-hard positions, saying recently, "is that for Guyana has insisted it will not give up an inch of its current territory, and Venezuela has made it clear it intends to exhaust all resources in its quest for redress."

The real problem, a high government official was quoted as saying recently, "is that formerly Britain was too big and now Guyana is too small."

Venezuela has a population of more than nine million; Guyana has about 670,000.

U.S. Tests Troop-Tracking Gear

NEWBURY, England (UPI) — A squad of American "James Bonds," packing mikes, cameras and infrared detectors, is snooping around 2,000 miles of peaceful southern English countryside near here to see whether a cheatproof disarmament agreement is possible.

It is part of a joint exercise run by the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and the British Defense Ministry under the name "Exercise First Look."

It continues until Sept. 20. About 30,000 British troops are on normal summer training in the area.

KEEPING TABS
The purpose of the exercise is to keep tabs on them and their equipment and to test how inspection can be carried out if ever the United States and its allies and the Communists sign an agreement limiting the size of conventional armed forces.

Headquarters of the exercise is the Royal Air Force station at Greenham Common near here, about 60 miles west of London.

The exercise is being carried out mainly by mobile two-man squads consisting of an American inspector equipped with binoculars, a camera and a tape recorder and a British driver. About 350 Americans and British are taking part. Half of the inspecting team is being given access to all military installations under surveillance.

AT CLOSE RANGE
These teams are being allowed to keep close range tabs on troops, equipment and their activities. The other half of the team is barred from military installations and is being forced to do its information-gathering from mobile observation posts. The purpose is to see whether the second group comes up with anything like as much information as those freely allowed into military installations.

In addition, the teams are staking out various unmanned acoustic, infrared and seismic detection devices which will be checked from time to time.

These are being used to detect and record movements of weapons, vehicles and planes at military installations and air bases to check that treaty levels of troops and arms are not being violated.

High-altitude aerial photography also is being used at regular intervals over the whole test area and over specific installations to check how the information it produces compares with that turned up by the ground teams.

One purpose is to check whether aerial photography alone could provide all the information needed to check a disarmament pact.

It was high-level and low-level aerial photographs that enabled the United States to detect the presence of Soviet missiles in Cuba in 1962.

The operation is under command of a British officer. Deputy director of the exercise is Col. Paul G. Skowronek of Pittsburgh, Pa., who until recently headed the U.S. military mission at Soviet headquarters at Potsdam, in East Germany.

Total estimated cost of the exercise is $3.4 million, of which the United States is paying $2.5 million.

The proposed re-development plan presented to The Pontiac Area Planning Council, Service Clubs, and the Citizens in a series of meetings by Mr. Marvin Skelton and Prof. Don Davidson on behalf of Herbert Chernick needs the support of the Pontiac City Commission to become a reality.

I urge you and the Commissioners to act favorably in every way and to instruct the City Manager and other Administrative Department Heads to cooperate and expedite whatever task is required of them toward an early accomplishment of getting this project under construction.

City for Kids Stresses Safety

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Safetyville, Flint's "city within a city," can boast that it hasn't had a traffic fatality in the six years it has operated in Kearsley Park, teaching children good pedestrian and driving habits.

Safetyville is a miniature town, complete with paved streets, sidewalks, working traffic lights, a schoolhouse, railroad station and small battery-powered cars that have a top speed of three miles an hour.

Children visiting the village attend class to learn traffic rules, shapes of signs and meaning of traffic light colors before taking their turn in a car.

Author Discusses Book

Want Wealth? Then Inherit It!

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — At last a man has come up with a simple formula for getting rich in America.

"Inherit money," is the crisp advice of author Ferdinand Lundberg.

"The way that most people become rich in this country today is by sitting and listening to the reading of a will. Between 60 and 70 per cent of individual wealth today is inherited wealth."

This is one of many contentions made by Lundberg in a controversial new best-selling book, "The Rich and the Super Rich," which has proved so fascinating to many of the upper crust that they read it aloud to each other at the dinner table and let their caviar go untasted.

FAMILY CENTERED
His other major theses are that U.S. wealth is largely family centered and that, at least as recently as a decade ago, one-half of 1 per cent of America's adult population held 25 per cent of its riches.

In his opinion a nation may be in danger if the few own too much and the many own too little.

"My own view is that the maldistribution of wealth in this country is historically ridiculous and unnecessary," he said. "Thirty per cent of the country's population is impoverished. Another 15 to 20 per cent is near poor."

"The country can do whatever it wants to about the situation for all of me," he remarked. "As the newspapers say, we give them the facts."

EX-FINANCIAL WRITER
Lundberg, long a bloodhound on the spoor of the American dollar, is a tall, white-haired former financial writer for the defunct New York Herald Tribune. He is also an economist, social philosopher and educator.

In 1937 he provided President Franklin D. Roosevelt's aging New Deal with a new handbook of impetus by writing, "America's 60 Families," in which he first advanced his idea that the nation's political power is flexed chiefly by the firm fists and fingers of a comparatively few clans. The giant corporations they control, he believes, are the instruments of that power.

Some three years ago he took leave from a teaching post at New York University to find out what had happened to money in the last three decades. The result is a three-pound opus, heavily documented, running to 812 pages, and costing $10.

"I worked seven days a week, eight hours a day for three years," he said. "I couldn't work any longer because my eyes started watering."

DATA VACUUM
"There is a wide public interest in wealth, but there is a data vacuum in the field. Academicians stay away from the area for the fear they will be regarded as radicals.

"What has been written has been largely by newspapermen and those with a news orientation."

Lundberg denies any personal animus against wealth or the wealthy.

"My own relations with the rich are rather impersonal," he observed drily. "I know some people who are pretty well-heeled, but I don't write about them individually and they don't regard me as an enemy."

"Anyway, you can forget about the individually wealthy man. By and large, money in this country is held on a family basis."

"My point isn't that the rich are particularly sinful, but that they have too much political power."

"It is true that there are 25 million stockholders in America, but, going by the record, the big companies are controlled by very few people."

"Through the concentration of the control of corporations, political power is held in very few hands and exercised through these corporations."

be this?

Easy. They're the same. Exactly the same... except the "Mt. Whitney" cans of ripe olives now bear the name "Lindsay."

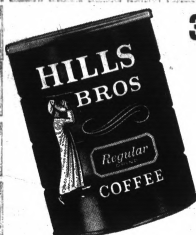

Actually, the change started about two years ago when the Mt. Whitney Ripe Olive Company joined California's largest cooperative group of olive growers — the Lindsay Ripe Olive Growers.

And now, together, they're the world's largest group of ripe olive growers and packers. They offer the highest quality and most rigid standards of inspection of any ripe olives. Actually, you can see the difference and taste the difference... the extra goodness.

With all the care that goes into producing these olives, it seems only right that "Mt. Whitney" should take on the Lindsay name as well.

So that's been done and that's the name you'll find from now on: Lindsay, the finest of all ripe olives.

British Exhibition Honors Noted Sculptor at 70

LONDON — "This student plazes of New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. He has won impressive prizes for the shapes he has fashioned in wood, stone and bronze."

He has won impressive prizes for the shapes he has fashioned in wood, stone and bronze.

Most thorough

London's Tate Gallery has gathered 143 pieces of his sculpture and 72 drawings in a retrospective exhibition, the most thorough ever held for him, to note his 70th birthday.

The sculptor now has his life work spread all over the world — in museums, parks, public buildings and in one of the For weeks Moore busied himself at the gallery and at his country studio at Perry Green in Hertfordshire, preparing for the exhibition. He supervised the sitting and the placing of pieces.

One of Moore's earliest menman shows was at the Leicester Galleries in 1931. The criticism of his work was so sharp Moore decided not to request renewal of his contract as a teacher at the Royal College of Art. The views on his work have changed since then.

Norbert Lynton, reviewing his current exhibition in The Guardian, said: "Moore's status among modern sculptors seems to me secure, partly for the very reasons for which he is attacked. The marriage he has arranged between classical concepts of figure sculpture and unclassical concepts of distortion and abstraction is a viable one."

The Times critic said: "The theory that his work has declined in the last decade is disproved by some sensitive and powerful recent carvings, and yet the theory that he is basically a carver could be neatly dressed.

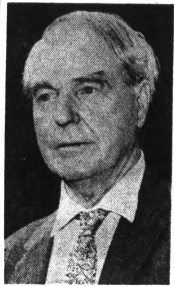

Moore is far from the stereotyped image of an artist with beard and flowing tie. He looks like an English country gentleman, pink of face and neatly dressed.

He was the seventh child of a Yorkshire coal miner who later qualified as a mine manager. A vivid scene of his childhood was mines and slagheaps.

"As a small boy these slagheaps seemed much larger than the pyramids," Moore says. "I mean they had as big a monumentality as any mountain, monumentality has always been important to me."

Moore was also fascinated by carved figures on the church tower at Methley. A talk by his Sunday school teacher on Michelangelo sold him on sculpture as a life's work.

Moore left grammar school to serve in world war I. Then he studied at the Leeds School of Art and won a scholarship to the Royal College of Art in London.

HENRY MOORE

Clause in City Teacher Pact Clarified Somewhat by Court

Uncertainty of the legality of a clause in the Pontiac teachers' contract has been clarified somewhat in what may be its first court test case.

Several Pontiac teachers have criticized the agency shop or "professional responsibility" clause in the 1968-69 contract adopted by the board of education and Pontiac Education Association.

"Many of the still-unsettled teacher units in the county are negotiating to include such provisions in their 1968-69 contracts," Parker said. "Association efforts, however, are in some cases still being met with resistance from the various school boards. As a result we still don't have agreements for all."

Some imply it to be illegal, while others maintain the provision is an economic issue," he continued. "We view it as neither."

The test case was instituted in Macomb County by James Clamplitt, a teacher in the Warren Consolidated School District.

Testimony in the case was taken under advisement by Judge Walter P. Cynar, who later upheld the agency shop provisions.

The opposition comes from teachers in the rival Pontiac Federation of Teachers who will now also have to pay dues to the PEA or be dismissed. The PEA is the bargaining agent for all of the system's teachers.

William Parker, Michigan Education Association Eastern Center director for Oakland County, says the recent Macomb County Court decision involving a Warren teacher may well pave the way for rapid settlement of other teacher-school district contracts.

Clamplitt was dismissed from his teacher's post in the Warren system at the end of the school year, after declining to authorize a salary deduction equivalent to the dues and assessments of the Warren Education Association.

The 1967-68 contract between the association and the school district states the teacher's services shall be discontinued at the end of the school year.

Other professions have similar requirements, but as public employees, we must negotiate the provision into the contract with the school districts," he said.

"We have long felt that such contract language is necessary to assure all teachers, who are beneficiaries of local negotiations, to adequately share the respective costs of same to the local, state and national organizations."

Lab's Ticket Balancing Needed for Political Tilt

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the immutable laws of Journalism decrees that when you write something about vice presidential prospects you must include a "balanced ticket."

Quite likely, however, there are still some voters who do not know what a balanced ticket is, or where or how they are obtained. Therefore, I shall endeavor to explain it.

The largest single supplier is the National Ticket Balancing Co., whose home offices and main laboratories are located here in the capital.

During an election year, the company usually opens branch offices in such places as Miami Beach and Chicago to facilitate the processing of rush orders. However, these lack the necessary equipment to perform precision balancing work on the premises. Therefore, the tickets usually are sent to the laboratory here for final calibration.

At her feet were several stacks of metal weights of various sizes, each bearing a different label.

In one stack, the labels read: "Northeasterner, Southerner, Midwesterner, etc." Another set read: "Conservative, Liberal, Moderate, Extremist, etc." A third set read: "Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, etc."

There also was a stack of miscellaneous weights with such labels as "Ethnic appeal, Youth appeal, Sex appeal, Ghetto appeal, etc."

"When a ticket comes to us, we tear it in two and put the presidential half on one side of the scales and the vice presidential half of the other side," Equilibrium explained. "Then we add the appropriate weights to see if they balance."

I said, "What happens if the scales are tilted?"

"One becomes a favorite son and the other runs as an independent."

MEET ATTORNEY GARY FRINK . . .

Gary Frink's first job was on the line at General Motors Truck & Coach. The son of a GM Truck & Coach employee, Gary had just finished high school. He worked to earn money to attend Michigan State University. He was a member of UAW Local 894.

Years later, Gary Frink earned a law degree from the University of Michigan. He worked his way through those years too. And by that time he was married and with two young sons to support. For four years he worked in Washington—in the United States House of Representatives, the Commerce Department, the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, the White House.

He continually worked to solve some of the most pressing problems facing the 19th District—and the nation: the urban crisis, air and water pollution, consumer fraud.

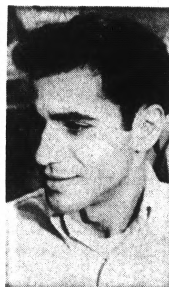

He will work hard as Congressman from the 19th District. Maybe that's why workingmen support Gary R. Frink. He has the official endorsement of both the Oakland County and Wayne County AFL-CIO Councils for the August 6 primary.

He will work to deserve their confidence—and yours.

Top British Schools Unchanged

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Wellington, who said the so-called "public schools" withstood the first barrage from Battle of Waterloo was won on almost certainly will go on the reformers. Politicians and the playing fields of Eton, may bring what they have been in private schools for the sons of rest quietly in his grave.

Pressures for change are Britain's upper crust.

Junior Editors Quiz on HOURS

Question: Why are there 60 minutes in an hour?

Answer: The ancient Egyptians thought of a huge goddess, Nut, arching over the sky and carrying the sun (symbolized by the three discs) over the earth by day. At night, the sun was supposed to be carried back to the east by boat.

The ancients had observed that the year had about 360 days and that the time between full moons was roughly 30 days. Twelve such moon periods made 360, about the same as the number of days in a year. The ancients concluded there was something magic about the number 360, and when they came to divide a circle in parts, they gave it 360 divisions or degrees.

They had become used to figuring small units in 10s and 60s, so when they came to dividing the degree, they gave it 60 parts. The Romans called these "partes minutae primae," or first small parts, and from this came our word minute.

The minute was then divided into "partes minutae secundae," or second small parts, shortened to seconds.

At first, the hours were not strictly divided during the 24-hour period, daytime hours being longer than night ones. But with the later use of mechanical clocks, astronomers regulated the hours and divided them as the ancients had divided the circle. So we had 60 minutes in an hour and 60 seconds in a minute.

AT ARLENE

IT'S WILD, MAN—Actress Stella Stevens in an ordinary car is enough to make male heads turn, but in this creation she's making swivels out of necks in Hollywood. The paint job is the work of two northern California artists, Lance Yost and Mike Crawford. Miss Stevens hired the artists after seeing a similar treatment on another car. The basic background color is pale canary yellow, with blue and purple trim.

is from Denver, Colo., is Miss Wool of America. She is a junior at the University of Colorado.

PUTTING IT ON THE LINE—The reason this wren is perched atop the trousers on the clothesline is because she's building a nest inside. At right Marty Dobson, owner of the trousers, inspects the progress. The wren began building the nest shortly after Marty's mother hung his trousers up to dry at their home near Rockford, Ill.

Postal Cutback to Skip Santa

SANTA, Idaho (AP) — Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night, nor an economy move stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds to Santa. The Santa Post Office was one of many across the nation recently scheduled for closing. There was an immediate outcry from Idaho officials, who noted that thousands of children each year send Christmas letters to Santa. The letters are answered by volunteers among the 100 townsfolk. Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, suggested that maybe the Post Office Department had something against kids. Tuesday, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced in Washington that the department had changed its mind. Santa is alive and well in northern Idaho.

Today's hand, played in the recent Bridge Olympiad, shows that even the best players in the world make mistakes.

The bidding and entire play went the same way at both tables. The first trick saw the heart jack covered by the queen, king and ace.

When East followed, the winning line of play would be to lead a club toward dummy. West's best play would be to duck, whereupon the 10 should be played from dummy. South would cash dummy's queen of trumps and his own king before leading another club.

West's best play would be to take the ace of clubs and throw queen. West had the second defensive trick with the king and it was bandit struck—less than two lead a diamond from dummy a simple matter to take the ace.

The first trick made off with 10. It wouldn't matter. West and let East make his 10 of ♠11 Tuesday, but the passed would be on lead and have to hearts in the cool of the eve—was captured by FBI agents investigating the first robbery.

Both declarers made the mistake of leading a spade to the queen at trick three and taking the double diamond finesse at trick four. Each West player was on lead with the jack and showed that their defense was up to world's championship form. Each led his jack of trumps.

Each South was in his own hand and could do no better than to lead a club to dummy's 10. This left the declarers in a bind.

Q-CARD Sense

The bidding has been:
West North East South
Double Bidble 4♦ Pass
Pass 5♠ Pass ?

You, South, hold:
♠ K Q J 10 8 7 6 ♥ 5 3 2 ♦ 4 3 ♣ 7

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner is showing great strength, but you can't find any signs of extra values in your hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding four diamonds after the redouble, East passed. You pass and West bids four clubs which is passed around to you. What do you do now?

Antibias Moves in Trooper Hiring Eyed

LANSING (UPI) — Solutions to possible racial bias in State Police trooper examinations were studied at a meeting of the Michigan Civil Service Commission this week.

The commission said Tuesday oral examinations, to enroll that presently only one of the 1,100 state troopers is a Negro.

The commission considered troopers would get a one-year probationary chance on the job. whites and nonwhites, who get a near-passing score on the written test and who passed both the personal background and announcements for state troopers would be suspended temporarily until a satisfactory modification could be developed.

However, the commission was emphatic in its statement that no specific change in the examination plan has been approved by the commission nor would any change be approved unless a satisfactory modification could be developed.

Delegate Quits

LANSING (AP) — Peter B. Fletcher of Ypsilanti has withdrawn as a Michigan delegate to the Republican National Convention, state GOP headquarters announced Tuesday.

2 Die as Twister Hits Florida Trailers

NORTH PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) — A tornado ripped through a retirement trailer park Tuesday night, killing a man and his wife and damaging 10 trailers.

Sarasota County Sheriff Ross Boyer said the dead couple's 60-foot mobile home was picked up by the twister and carried 150 feet before it was slammed into a second trailer.

The dead were identified as Elton Darden, 65, and his wife, Ann, 67.

Boyer said their bodies were found in the debris of the demolished trailer by neighbors. No other injuries were reported.

The 200-trailer community is just north of North Port. Char-

State Police Probe Gas Line 'Sabotage'

ALPENA (AP) — State Police said they are investigating two incidents in the Alpena area which appear to be deliberate tampering with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. lines.

The company said Tuesday one line serving four customers had been cut and a valve served.

ing 89 customers was turned off in western Lower Michigan and Sunday night.

Authorities said it required a special tool to operate the valve in the northern section of the Peninsula, which began June 16, continues.

The lines were severed in a utility box, about five miles south of Alpena, authorities said.

The company said that sand was removed from a box in or near to turn off a valve which cut service to 89 customers at Of-unnatural interruptions of gas service in Michigan is a felony.

Explosives Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hayes Albion Corp. of Albion has been awarded a $1,469,000 Army contract to produce metal parts for 250,000 8mm high-explosive projectiles. Nearly all the work will be done at the company's Hillsdale plant. The firm has been closed by a United Auto Workers union strike since July 19.

Cyclist Is Sentenced for Impaling Girl

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A former "Outlaws" motorcycle gang member was given two years probation Tuesday for his part in impaling a teen-aged girl to a tree last fall near Juno Beach.

Brevard Court of Record Judge Cecil R. Rosier issued the probation to Donald Mancy Graves, 19, only days after sentencing a Michigan man and three other men to a variety of jail terms for nailing Christine Deese, 19, of West Palm Beach to a tree by her hands.

Rosier had this to say about the cyclist, who when arrested was wearing a crew cut in court:

"I think you were the scroungiest people I ever saw in my life. Today, you look like you just came from the YMCA. You look like an average citizen."

USW Wraps Up Pact Estimated at 6.5 Pct. per Year

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union has wrapped up its richest contract — a billion-dollar-plus guarantee of labor peace for the next three years.

Hammered out in a month of secret negotiations, it was narrowly approved over strident objections last night, barely a day before a strike deadline at the end of the old agreement.

dollar to the wages and benefits of the nation's 450,000 steelworkers.

First estimates calculated the package as an increase of 6.5 per cent or better in each of the three years.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN

The big question now is: What will happen to the steel industry, which has insisted that a 6 per cent annual hike in labor costs would wipe out two-thirds of its profits and put some companies out of business?

Steel executives, who said repeatedly during the winter that price increases would be necessary after the new labor contract, now are refusing to answer questions.

For the first time in years, some companies have been cutting prices to try to combat foreign steel, which sells for $25 to $40 a ton less than domestic steel. A new domestic price increase would only increase the gap.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for management, said the new contract "is higher than we hoped it would be."

'NOT INFLATIONARY'

But he refused to say whether price hikes could be expected.

I. W. Abel, president of the union, said the agreement would cost the industry "considerably in excess of one billion dollars." But he said it wasn't inflationary.

Inflation "is already here," he said. "We're only catching up."

Officer Beaten

5 Held After Police Kidnap

Five South Lyon youths were charged today with kidnapping and injuring a Novi policeman. The gang reportedly beat him with his own blackjack and inflicted powder burns on him by firing his pistol next to his head.

In an arraignment this morning in Novi Justice Court, bond was set at $50,000 for one suspect and $25,000 for two others. The other two have been turned over to Oakland County juvenile authorities.

The group allegedly abducted patrolman Robert E. Starnes at 5:05 p.m. yesterday at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook roads in Novi. Starnes, 32, father of six children, was answering a complaint of beer-bottle throwing, according to Novi police.

When he approached the youths' car Starnes was surrounded and his gun taken away, according to police. He was forced into the car and held captive by the group in the ensuing chase, police said.

The car was cornered by 18 officers from nearby police departments and with the use of a helicopter in Lyon Township about 10 miles from the abduction scene, according to police. Starnes was hospitalized for treatment after the incident but was later released.

The five were arraigned before Justice Emory Jacques. Charged with attempted murder, kidnapping and assault was Giles Karl Askins, 19, of South Lyon, whose bond was set at $50,000.

Charged with kidnapping and assault are Floyd L. Kirkendall, 17, and William J. Jobe, 17, both of South Lyon. Bonds for the two were set at $25,000. The other two suspects, age 15 and 16, were considered juveniles.

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole said he would attempt to have them tried as adults.

Preliminary examination of the three older youths is set for Aug. 8, in Novi Justice Court.

N. Viets Rule by Terror -- U.S.

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman charged the leaders of North Vietnam today with ruling "through terror and butchery" and said they should give their people a little freedom.

Harriman also told newsmen as he entered the 15th meeting of the Vietnam peace talks that he intended to denounce North Vietnam for failure to live up to the 1962 agreement to neutralize Laos.

Harriman made the accusation against the North Vietnamese leaders when asked what he thought about recent jail sentences given by the Saigon government to critics or opponents.

"Have you seen any freedom in North Vietnam, in Hanoi?" Harriman responded.

'NO ROOM TO TALK'

"It would be a great thing for Hanoi to give a little freedom to the people there," he continued. "They impose their will through terror and butchery and so it's rather ill becoming for them to make any comment about freedom in other parts of the world."

Harriman told newsmen that "the North Vietnamese never kept the 1962 agreement on Laos for one day."

"One of the ways to make peace in Southeast Asia on a permanent basis," he said, "is for North Vietnam to leave its neighbors alone."

Czech Optimistic on Crucial Talks

PRAGUE (AP) — One of Czechoslovakia's leading Communist reformers reported today that the crucial talks between the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak party presidium are taking a "promising course."

"The atmosphere is optimistic," said National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky in Rude Pravo, the Czechoslovak party newspaper.

The leaders of the two parties met for the third day today to the martial accompaniment of record Soviet military maneuvers. The talks continued at least one day longer than expected as the Soviets sought to develop evidence of discord among the Czechoslovaks.

Opposition Rises to Johnson Court Choices -- Griffin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opposition leader to President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says his forces have doubled in recent weeks and have more than enough votes to keep the Senate from voting on the appointments.

"I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed," said Sen. Robert P.

Related Story, Page A-9

Griffin, R-Mich., Tuesday about the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice. Griffin said 40 senators now oppose the two.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Griffin commented in a speech to the National Press Club while members of the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate's basement recording studio to view three films which one called "hardcore pornography" and another labeled "crude vulgarity."

The question of pornography has taken center stage in the drawn-out, haggling over Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren. One Republican has charged on the Senate floor that Fortas' votes on obscenity have helped "destroy community morals" in the United States.

Congress recesses Friday for the two national political conventions, returning in September. There appears to be no chance for action on the nominations until then.

Cooling Showers Will End Tonight

Scattered showers and thundershowers forecast for late this afternoon will end early tonight, bringing cooler temperatures to the Pontiac area.

Today's high was expected to be 78 to 84, falling to 55 to 61 tonight. Winds will be south to southwest at 10 to 18 miles per hour.

Tomorrow promises to be generally sunny and pleasant, followed by a fair and mild Friday. There appears to be no chance for action on the nominations until then.

Low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 63. By 12:30 p.m. the temperature was 77.

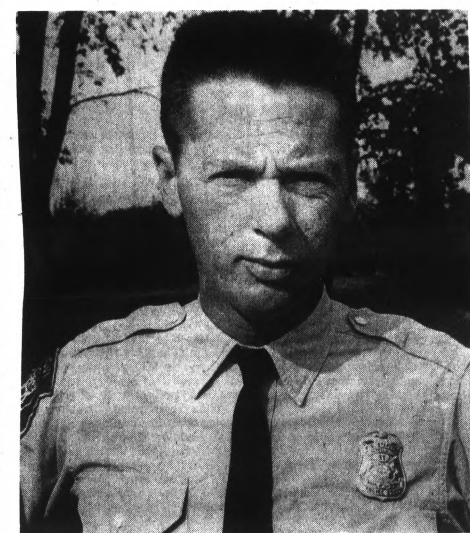

Starnes was reportedly one of two men on duty last night. He was held captive over an hour. He said the youths repeatedly threatened to kill him if capture seemed near.

After the group was cornered in Lyon Township, the youths got out of the car, taking Starnes with them and again threatened to kill him if the pursuing policemen got closer.

However, the pistol reportedly was grabbed out of Askins' hand by State Police Detective Paul Palmer of the Brighton post.

Starnes credited Palmer with saving his life. Some 80 officers reportedly were involved in the hunt.

$50-Million Domed Stadium Proposed by City of Taylor

DETROIT (AP) — A proposal for a multi-million dollar domed sports complex was announced today by the city of Taylor and the Thompson-Brown Co. of Quakertown.

Taylor is expected to make a formal presentation of the plans Aug. 14 to the Metropolitan Stadium Committee, which is seeking the best site for a new stadium which is expected to become the new home of the Detroit Tigers of the American Baseball League and the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

In a joint statement, Taylor Mayor Richard J. Trolley and Will A. Schwehr of Thompson Brown said the proposed site would cover about 200 acres of a 655-acre parcel of land at the intersection of North Line and Telegraph roads.

Thompson Brown is a development real estate builder.

The commission said minimum cost of a new stadium would be $50 million. A spokesman for Thompson-Brown said its proposed stadium would seat 50,000 for baseball and 70,000 for football. He indicated private funds would probably be used to build the complex.

The remaining 455 acres would be developed, according to the proposal.

Postal Bill Near OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to exempt postal workers from a government personnel cutback has cleared two more congressional hurdles en route to probable passage.

The measure zipped through a conference committee and the full Senate yesterday and was sent to the House today for final action.

Taylor would be the sixth city to announce a bid for the site. Others are: Detroit, Dearborn, Walled Lake, Troy and Pontiac.

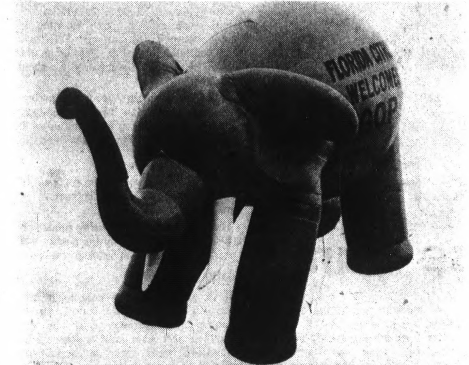

"We feel that our proposed Taylor site tops them all," Trolley said.

He cited the proposed location's proximity to area freeways as the primary reason Taylor should be chosen to have the stadium.

The commission is expected to name the site in October.

Press Writer Miami-Bound

When the Republican National Convention gets under way in Miami Monday, on hand will be Pontiac Press chief editorial writer Howard Heldenbrand.

The lighter and human interest aspects of politics will be highlighted by Heldenbrand, with coverage generally centering on the Michigan delegation.

Plank Drafters Hear Reagan and Lindsay

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

For the New York mayor, who says he's for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and not himself as president, the stress was on reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

Reagan and Lindsay spoke in separate, prepared statements as the Republican Platform Committee neared the end of open hearings on the party's policy document for this campaign year.

SOME DISPUTE SEEN

Tomorrow the group plans to start closed plank-writing sessions amid indications that despite some disputes here and there, the drafters can agree on a platform acceptable to any of the candidates.

Both Reagan and Lindsay—who were separated in their scheduled morning appearances by an intervening foreign policy witness, former Ambassador to Mexico Robert C. Hill—joined in stiff assaults on the Democrats.

The committee had only one further big-name Republican witness on its docket before beginning closed sessions. He was Michigan Gov. George Romney, due tomorrow.

Voter Guide on Friday

Sixteen special pages outlining the candidates and state and county proposals will be included in Friday's edition of The Pontiac Press as a public service to voters.

The tabloid section also will contain tally sheets that voters can use in making their selections.

MAKE OVER THE

Fulbright Wins Arkansas Primary

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won renomination in Arkansas' primaries yesterday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to reject the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,650 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701, and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

Fulbright issued a victory statement today: "It is difficult at this late hour to find the right words to express appreciation for help in the campaign which is obviously successful," Fulbright said. "It is not easy to carry a majority over three candidates."

TIME OF WAR

The senator said people's emotions were aroused in the time of war, adding, "I would hate to see rousing of hatred among our people."

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

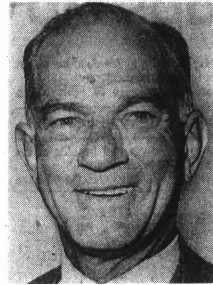

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

EASY WINNER

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won renomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

With 357 of 389 precincts reported, Rockefeller had 26,541 votes and Roberts 1,195.

Work to Begin on Widening of Maple Soon

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Oakland County Road Commission will begin work soon on the widening of Maple between Franklin and Telegraph in Bloomfield Township. Traffic on the stretch of road will be detoured for about four months.

Scheduled to begin Aug. 8, the project will widen the present two-lane roadway to a four-lane highway with five lanes at the Franklin and Wing Lake Road intersections.

The $340,000 project will be constructed by Anderson & Ruzzini Contractors of New Baltimore.

The improvements are being funded on a 50-50 matching basis by the county and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

COMPLETION DATE

It is expected to be completed and open to through traffic by Nov. 1, a road commission spokesman said. In the meantime access for local traffic will be maintained while other autos will be rerouted on a posted detour.

The Road Commission project comes on the heels of other improvements being made in the same area on Maple by the County Drain Commission.

Traffic has been restricted on Maple between Franklin and Telegraph most of the summer so that the Drain Commission could install new storm sewers along the roadway.

Now that the drainage project is almost completed, the road commission is able to begin its work, a county official said. Bloomfield Township Public Library will close at 1 p.m. for the four Saturday afternoons in August it was announced this week.

A library representative said that typically, library usage is very low on late summer Saturday afternoons. The building, however, will assume its regular hours in September.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—John W. Carmichael has been named art director and Roger L. Srigley has been promoted to account coordinator on the Cadillac account at MacManus, John & Adams Inc.

Carmichael of Walled Lake was art director on the Oldsmobile account at D. P. Brother Inc. for 12 years and was art director on the Dodge account at Grant Advertising Inc. for three years. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1950 with a bachelor's degree in design.

CARMICHAEL SRIGLEY

Srigley of Huntington Woods formerly was an account executive with Public Relations Programs Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of MacManus, John & Adams.

He served as chairman of publicity for Birmingham's Michigan Week activities and worked on the Oakland University Public Relations Advisory Board.

Srigley also is district public relations chairman for the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council.

HHH Raps LBJ, Congress on Hunger in United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today jabbed at both the Johnson administration and Congress in charging not enough has been done to combat hunger in the nation.

Humphrey, returning from a four-day

campaign swing in California in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the nation needs "a strong president."

Humphrey's remarks were prepared for a National Association of Counties meeting.

He said neither Congress nor the administration—specifically the Department of Agriculture—had done enough to combat hunger in the United States.

'IMMORAL'

"It is immoral to allow some babies to suffer from malnutrition while others in our population are concerned about the dangers of overeating," said Humphrey, and he added:

"Let me be perfectly candid—neither Congress nor the United States Department of Agriculture have made an adequate response to the severe problems of hunger and malnutrition we know exist in America."

Humphrey said there was no reason for anyone to be hungry in a land of "unequal wealth and agriculture production."

Humphrey's campaign hopes to get a refunding of dollars at a $50-a-plate dinner tonight in Washington.

MONEY PROBLEMS

Humphrey and his aides have acknowledged campaign money problems. Humphrey said yesterday that the pinch had forced a cancellation, at least temporarily, of some advertising.

However, Humphrey is known to be watching over the money-raising machinery himself and expects the situation to be eased if not remedied once the conventions are over. In addition, aides hope that tonight's affair will bring in as much as $1.5 million.

Humphrey, in talking to the county officials, said the new problems of government, local as well as national and often overlapping, require a reshaping of existing institutions.

"We need a strong and active president—one strong enough to shake up the federal bureaucracy and hammer out a structure which rewards, not frustrates, local innovation and its responsibility."

SEN. ROBERT GRIFFIN

VP Nomination of Griffin Urged

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — A former congressional colleague of Sen. Robert P. Griffin, has sent about 3,000 letters to fellow Republicans and businessmen urging them to support the Michigan Republican for the GOP vice presidential nomination.

Griffin was not told of the effort at grass-roots support in advance, said Donald E. Tewes, a former representative from Wisconsin who now heads a small plastics firm in Waukesha.

"I was afraid to ask," Tewes said. "What can a man say when you put him on the spot and ask him if he wants to be vice president?"

Tewes said he had received about 65 responses to the letter, all of them in favor of it. About 1,000 letters were sent on the Tewes firm's letterhead by Tewes himself, he said, while other businessmen sent 2,000 more on the same stationery to their own acquaintances.

'ONE WAY TO HELP'

"He (Griffin) does not have the personal resource and public relations staff to keep him in the limelight and I thought this was one way I could help," Tewes said.

"As his colleague in the House," Tewes wrote in the letter, "I observed his rare talent for rallying strong personalities and diverse philosophies around practical solutions to government problems."

Tewes said that "most important" is Griffin's "knowledge and the courage to tackle one of the most serious problems on the domestic scene: labor-management relations."

The Wisconsin "businessman" who served in the House from 1956 to 1968, said, "Griffin has all the right things going for him. He has a good record on civil rights. He is a true moderate. He has insisted on fiscal responsibility but has not closed eyes to urban and other social problems."

Allied Task Force Hits VC Base Camp

SAIGON (AP) — A task force of armored American gunboats, helicopter gunships and South Vietnamese marines plunged deep into the fertile Mekong Delta to raid a Viet Cong base camp. Field reports today said at least 90 of the enemy had been killed and the action was continuing.

The Vietnamese Marines reported seizing an arsenal containing 62 weapons, 423 mortar rounds and more than 12,000 rounds of small arms ammunition.

The only allied casualties reported were two South Vietnamese wounded. The assault was made Monday 92 miles southwest of Saigon, along a tributary of the Cai Lon River 34 miles east of the Gulf of Thailand.

FIRST PUSH IN AREA

A military spokesman said it was the first allied penetration of the area of the southern Mekong Delta which has been dominated by the Vietcong for years.

The allied commanders "had good information they would get some action down there," the spokesman said.

Riots Go On in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City was a battleground again Tuesday as mobs of young people ran wild through the city, fighting police, wrecking city buses and throwing rocks and bottles. At least one person was dead, more than 400 were injured and at least 1,100 persons had been arrested since anti-government rioting began last Friday.

Officials claimed the riots were Communist-inspired and said they were the worst Mexico's capital has experienced in 20 years.

Last night club-wielding students braved a heavy rain and hijacked four city buses after forcing terrified passengers to flee. Then they ran the vehicles into the sides of buildings.

STUDENTS REGROUP

Earlier, Army troops fired volleys of shots into the air and dispersed the students. The troops were withdrawn, but the mobs returned, marching from the old university section, and seized the buses near the city's central square.

Riot squads swinging long batons dispersed that crowd, but at least 3,000 of the youths gathered half a mile away near a teacher's college. Their leaders used bugle calls and walkie talkies to control them. They swarmed over buses and a trolley car, smashing windows and running the vehicles onto the sidewalks.

At one point all four intersections around the park in front of the school were blocked by the wrecked buses.

Two busloads of riot police sped to the scene. The students fled and the police were again withdrawn.

PREP SCHOOLERS

The violence mainly involved prep school students from 14 to 18 years of age. The disorders began last Friday with a pro-Castro demonstration honoring the anniversary of the Cuban prime minister's 26th of July Movement. Students charges of police and troop brutality brought more demonstrations on Saturday and Monday.

The students were outraged during the rioting Monday night when police fired a bazooka shell and lobbed tear gas through the wooden door of the National University's No. One preparatory school, and cleared out several hundred students barricaded inside. School campuses in Latin America are traditionally off limits to the police and the military.

Officials pointed out that most of the city's estimated 250,000 students had not joined the rioting.

Search for Clerk Is Suspended

The search for missing Oakland County Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy has been suspended pending further developments, according to Charlevoix Coast Guard officials.

No definite trace of the Clawson father of six has been found since the 14-foot boat he rented Saturday was found overturned in Lake Michigan Sunday.

Authorities said a man's shoe found on Garden Island yesterday is being checked as a possible clue, but that hopes were not raised significantly by the discovery.

Officials described the search, which yesterday tailed off to one patrol boat scanning the shore lines of the Beaver Island group, as "in limbo."

LIFE JACKET MISSING

The hunt reached peak proportions late Sunday and Monday when it was found that a life jacket was missing from Murphy's rented craft.

However, three patrol boats, a helicopter and land parties failed to locate a sign of the missing official.

Murphy, who had traveled to Charlevoix from a state convention of county clerks at Marquette, was reported missing when he failed to return in the boat Saturday night.

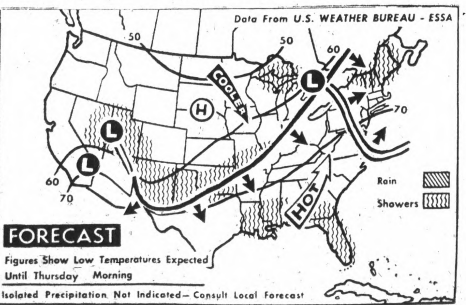

Should Murphy be declared dead or his body found, Oakland County Circuit Court judges would appoint a successor to fill his unexpired term to Jan. 1, 1969. The winner of the November general election would take office at that time.

NATIONAL WEATHER—Showers and thunderstorms are forecast tonight for the southern Plateau and southern Plains areas and for the Great Basin and New England states. It will be cooler from the central Plains to the Great Lakes and warmer in the Gulf and Atlantic coastal states.

NARCOTICS SEIZED—Customs agents Linus Miller (left) and George Festa hold 66 pounds of pure heroin as they display it yesterday—encased in men's black socks—at a news conference in Washington, D.C. The narcotics were seized Sunday. Smugglers had hidden the dope in the washrooms of airlines.

Twelve pounds were seized at Dulles International Airport, while the remainder was grabbed at Kennedy International Airport at New York and in New York City during the attempted transfer of one of the shipments.

Aid Amendment Points at Pueblo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved an amendment to its foreign aid bill which sponsors say could help gain the release of the USS Pueblo's crew, but critics term it "a cruel hoax... silly and meaningless."

The amendment was added by a 43-29 vote to the pending $1.94-billion bill yesterday.

It would withdraw, until North Korea releases the 82 crewmen seized last January, presidential authority to make exceptions to an existing law barring U.S. aid to Communist nations.

The President can authorize such aid if he thinks it vital to U.S. security, if the recipient nation is not controlled "by an international Communist conspiracy" and if the aid would "spur the receiver toward independence from the Communist bloc."

The aid authorization has been cut more than $1 billion below President Johnson's request.

Proposals to restore some of the funds for aid to underdeveloped countries were given little chance of success in today's session in the face of the current economy drive in Congress.

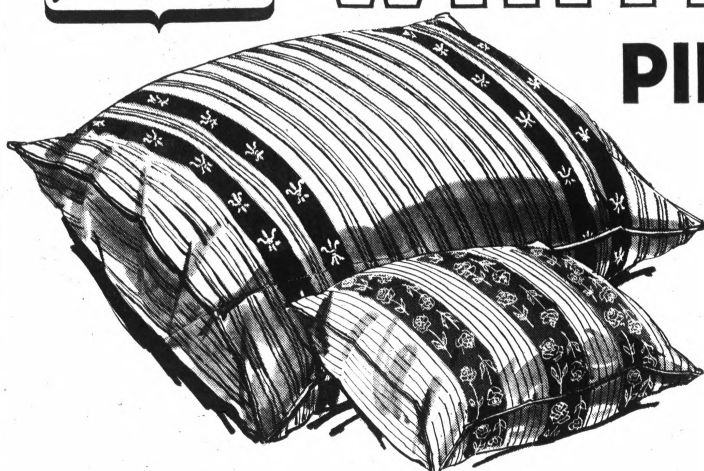

Sen. Fred D. Dole, R-Colo., sponsored the Pueblo amendment. He said the State Department had done nothing thus far to obtain release of the crewmen "except ask for their return."

Sad Story Can Warn Others

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Chuck is 23. We've been married going on five years and we have three children and another on the way. We were so much in love we could hardly wait to get married, but a lot of things have changed all that.

We have never had a place of our own since we've been married. We have lived with my folks or Charlie's, mainly because Charlie can't seem to hold a job, so I have to work, and we need someone to look after the kids.

On top of that, Charlie still runs with the guys he ran with before we were married, and he just doesn't seem to want to settle down to married life. We have separated twice on that account and I can see it coming again. If it weren't for the kids, I'd leave him sure. I just might anyway. Have you advice for a girl who messed up her life as badly as I?

OLD AT 22

DEAR OLD: There is not much advice for a young woman in your position but your experience could serve as a warning signal for lots of 17 and 18-year-olds who are "so much in love" they can hardly wait to get married. You are still young enough, however, to make a better life for yourself, so if leaving Charlie is in the cards, don't wait another five years.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a husband like mine? Last night I served fresh raspberry pie, which has always been one of my specialties. And all of a sudden my husband, whom I shall call "Dr. Jekyll," turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for raspberry pie as it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth. Then he said he never could understand why I've been shoving it down his throat for 28 years!

Abby, I always thought my husband liked raspberry pie. I felt so hurt I cried myself to sleep. Was I wrong, or was he?

RASPBERRY FIGHT
DEAR FIGHT: If a man doesn't care for something his wife serves him, he shouldn't wait for 28 years to tell her about it. Tell Mr. Hyde you're no mind reader, and serve him baby food.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband wasn't feeling well so he went to a doctor. The doctor checked him over and told him he needed an operation. My husband never went back to that doctor, and he never had the operation. Today he says he never felt better in his life. How can you account for this?

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Either your husband didn't place, or he still needs it. If you love him, get him to a doctor for another checkup. If he's lost confidence in the first one, let him try another.

DEAR ABBY: These friends of mine went on a two-week vacation, and the lady left the key to her apartment with me, so I could go there and check up on them while they were away.

Well, I went there a couple of times and decided that I would help her out by cleaning it up a little (Abby, the apartment was filthy, but it's always that way.)

After I cleaned it up I got this awful feeling that maybe I shouldn't have, but I just wanted to give it a good cleaning to set an example for her. Do you think I did the right thing or not?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: Since it is always "filthy," you probably should have left things the way they were.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST FOR THE RECORD" IN BOSTON: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

Ballet Group Scores in Classic, Modern Premiere

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Last evening, for the first time in the Meadow Brook Festival's five-year history, the stage of the Baldwin Pavilion was occupied by something other than an orchestra, or instrumental combinations.

The celebrated American Ballet Theatre captivated the audience in the premiere performance of six, and will continue nightly through Sunday. This magnificent ballet group, certainly one of the best of its kind in the United States, presented "Concerto," a dance version of Shostakovich's Piano Concerto Number 2, and the full length ballet, "Giselle," which is the oldest traditional ballet in concert repertoire.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, playing from the pit below and in front of the stage, was directed by Jaime Leon, the ballet's musical conductor, with the piano solos in "Concerto" beautifully performed by Gladys Celeste. Of all the performing arts, the ballet alone presents the human body as an art form. It is an intensely disciplined art stressing complete muscular control and the use of the body for total beauty of movement. The flowing lines of the dancers performing complicated steps in complete unison, and filling the stage with blocks of moving color, always changing, always beautiful, is a feast for the eye and a joy to the spirit.

PATTERNS IN DANCE

"Concerto" tells no story, but is a series of abstract dance patterns set to the music of Shostakovich. The choreography, imaginatively created by Jean Coralli, brings out each individual musical theme and development, and reinterprets it graphically, magically, in the dance, so that the eye, as well as the ear, is "listening" to the music. Simply costumed, and with a plain backdrop, this was the artistic highlight of the evening.

In the two-act classic, "Giselle," pantomime is added to the pure dance form, and the story unfolds in front of a charming, Bruegel-like background, with magnificent costumes to add color and illusion to the legendary story.

Carla Fracci, as the ill-fated Giselle, brings a freshness, a translucent fragility to the role and makes it dramatically believable. This is also true of Erik Bruhn, as Count Albrecht, whose magnificent dancing also takes second place to his dramatic role.

The superb first act could well stand alone in performance, artistically, but for those who enjoy the display of complicated, almost acrobatic achievement, the second act meets all the standards of perfection. The subtle lighting by America's leading artist in that medium for the past two generations, is by Jean Rosenthal.

Last night's performance will be repeated on Sunday. Wednesday and Thursday's program includes, among others, "Les Sylphides" and Copland's "Billy the Kid." On Friday, Leonard Bernstein's "Fancy Free" will be seen with "Dances Concertantes" and "Etudes," a study on ballet techniques.

Her position as Lt. Governor will require her to visit each of these chapters and inspect them annually, to act as liaison between chapters and the national board, and to pledge aid and aid in the establishment of new chapters. She will also be installing officer when requested and will aid chapters with problems.

She comes to this activity with a background of experience which began with minor offices in her own chapter, and progressed to chapter president. For the past two years, she served as secretary-treasurer of the Province.

FAMILY

During the intervening years, Steven, 8, and Tommy, 5, have joined the family. Louise gives her husband, Ezio, a district manager for General Motors, much credit for enabling her to function so efficiently in so many roles. "I couldn't do the job without him," she admits.

Psi chapter honored Louise by electing her "Girl of the Year" for 1968. I suspect she had some competition, since this little group of 19 active gals raised a total of about $1200 during the year for its philanthropic work. The money was used for benefits to a number of local charities, including Children's Village, Girl Scouts, League of the Blind, Oakland County Sanitarium, and others.

The National Sorority also supports the National Kidney Foundation, mental health, the National Hearing and Speech Association and Indian Education.

Louise is a graduate of Psi Central High School. Formerly Louise Pietz of North Sanford Street, she especially enjoys the personal contacts in all her activities which include golf, Little League baseball and membership in All Saints Episcopal Church.

In addition to the yearly chapter visits, Mrs. Bisogni will attend the national convention in Chicago in October and will serve as parliamentarian for the Province meeting which will be held in Pontiac next year.

Five proud males will "hold the fort" for her at the Bisogni residence on Aquarina Drive.

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Could you suggest guidelines for social life among relatives? I come from a small family which lived a continent away from any other relatives. When we were married, my husband and I also left the area where our families lived. Now my husband's brother has moved to our town.

I am sure that relations among relatives are less formal than those among friends and acquaintances, but my brother-in-law and his wife seem to feel perfectly free to come to our house without notice and to include themselves in any of our plans that they hear about. I don't know what to do and would appreciate any help you can give me. — Mrs. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: Relations between relatives are frequently more informal than those between friends, but not necessarily. Good friends can be far closer than brothers and sisters in many cases. Merely being related is no excuse for invasion of privacy. Every couple has a right to arrange its own social life, and it is no more correct for relatives to drop in without warning than anyone else.

The only answer is frankness. Tell them, as nicely as you can, that you love seeing them, but you would appreciate a phone call before they drop in so that you can make plans and enjoy their visits more. Also, introduce them to as many people and include them in as many parties as you can, so that they will develop a social life of their own.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question I receive each week, I'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Clubs Will Sponsor Public Meeting

The Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs Executive Committee met Monday in the Community Services Building.

Those attending voted to honor a request from the City of Pontiac to sponsor a meeting in the near future for member clubs and the public on the subject of Professor Don Davidson's 'Down Town Plan for Pontiac.'

Chairmen of standing committees were appointed. In other business, plans were made for future executive committee and general meetings plus preliminary arrangements for the upcoming Holiday Bazaar and Ice Cream Social.

Elected to fill vacancies as vice presidents were Mesdames Fred Goines and John Guenther along with Mrs. Willie Ferguson as corresponding secretary.

Some 20 friends gathered Monday morning in the Bloomfield Hills home of the David DiChieras for a coffee-and-conversation, prelude to next Wednesday's concert performance of "Rigoletto" at Baldwin Pavilion. Cornell MacNeil, Robert Peters, Jan Pearce and Ezio Flagello will sing the principal roles, supported by the Meadow Brook Chorus and Orchestra. Here, DiChiera and The Pontiac Press' music columnist Bernice Rosenthal and Hortense Riddick (left to right) discuss the event, which will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Countdown to 30 Wins for McLain; Wilson 'Ices' Yanks, 5-0

Denny Is After 21st Triumph; Faces Washington Tonight

No one as yet has started the countdown to the American League pennant for the Detroit Tigers, but starting tonight and figuring every four days the record book statisticians are already considering Denny McLain's chances of reaching the 30-win plateau.

McLain will be shooting for No. 21 tonight against the Senators and the homecoming of Frank Howard, who has started another one of his fence blasting spree.

PERSONAL HIGH

A victory would be a personal high for the 24-year-old right-hander whose best year was 20-14 in 1965. His career total stands at 79 wins and 45 defeats since breaking into the majors in 1963.

With the Tigers, McLain has the unique accomplishment of having beaten every team in the American League at least once in each of the past four years.

The statistical minds figure that McLain will start 16 more times this year and 10 victories would make him the first 30 game winner since Dizzy Dean posted a 30-7 record with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934.

Philadelphia Athletics in 1931.

Last American Leaguer to post 30 wins was Lefty Grove who was 31-4 with the Boston Red Sox in 1926. He was 19-10 in 1927, and 19-10 in 1928. He was 19-10 in 1929, and 19-10 in 1930.

Opposing McLain on the mound tonight is southpaw Frank Bertina, who has a 4-8 record including 1-1 against the Tigers.

Along with his record, best in the majors, McLain also leads the league in starts, complete games and innings pitched. He has completed 17 of 26 games started, and has an outstanding 2.10 earned run average in 210 innings.

Tonight is family night at Tiger Stadium.

8th in History Unassisted

Triple Play Feat for Senator

CLEVELAND (AP)—Shortstop Ron Hansen of the Washington Senators pulled off an unassisted triple play, the first in the major leagues since 1927, against the Cleveland Indians last night.

Dave Nelson opened the second inning for Cleveland with a single and Russ Snyder walked before Joe Aczie lined to Hansen, who stepped on second base, doubling Nelson, and then tagged Snyder coming into second.

SEVEN OTHERS

Only seven other players had accomplished the feat. The last two were by shortstop Jim Cooney of the Chicago Cubs and first baseman John Ném of Detroit in 1927.

The others were shortstop Neal Ball of Cleveland in 1909, second baseman Bill Wambgsans of Cleveland in 1920, first baseman George Burns of Boston in 1923, shortstop Ernie Padgett of Boston in 1923 and shortstop Glenn Wright of Pittsburgh in 1925.

The triple play was the second for Washington this season, the other coming on June 23. But it was not unassisted.

Aching Bengal Packs Pains 'a la Koufax'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Earl Wilson might be thinking of carrying his own personalized ice pack with him for the rest of the season.

The sturdy right-hander, who has had his share of aches, pains and strains this season, cooled off the New York Yankees last night on a three-hitter to win 5-0, and then proceeded to apply the ice pack to his hand, wrist, elbow and knee.

"What is the ice pack specifically for?" someone asked Wilson.

SCRATCH SINGLE

At any rate, Wilson had his entire knee and thigh covered with a harness when he took the mound and for 4½ innings he kept the Yankees in harness without a hit until Jake Gibbs hit a scratch infield single with two out in the 5th.

Joe Peptone's single in the 7th and Charley Smith's pinch single in the 8th were the only others the Yanks could muster.

Wilson, however, said he was feeling the effects of the strained knee later in the game and after he walked Mickey Mantle to start the 9th, lanky Daryl Patterson came in to retire the side in order.

It was the only time in eight trips to the plate in two games that Mantle was able to reach first, and during this time he struck out five times.

It was Wilson's second straight victory even though he hadn't finished either game.

HELP OWN CAUSE

Earl, who was last year's top winner for the Tigers, started the scoring parade by hitting the first pitch of Mel Stottlemyre in the third inning into the right field seats for his second homer of the season and the 28th of his major league career.

Two pitches later, Dick McAuliffe rammed another of Stottlemyres pitches into the seats to make it 2-0.

At Kaline hit a high bouncer over the pitcher's head and appeared to have beaten the throw as umpire Larry Goetz started with a safe motion, but then followed with the out sign.

Kaline helped the cause in the 4th inning with a two-out double down the line with the bases loaded, and when Jim Northrup tried to get home from first he was tagged.

However, Dick Tracewski and McAuliffe who both walked, scored and it was 4-0.

FINAL RUN

When Norm Cash doubled to right and Willie Horton walked to start the 5th, Don Wert was passed intentionally with one out. Tracewski nearly helped the double-play strategy as he hit a grounder to second, but Harold Clarke could only make a play at first and Cash scored the final run.

For the second game in a row, the Tigers stranded 10 men on base, but the Yankees bats were silent and only one New Yorker reached third base, that as a result of Peptone's single in the 7th and a throwing error by Wilson in an attempted pick off.

A crowd of 33,308 watched the contest, which was the 29th night game victory for the Tigers against 19 defeats, compared to 24 daytime victories against 20 defeats.

'Love at First Sight' for State Golfer

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Young Stan Thompson Jr. of Midland may have found a golf course he'd like, to call home.

Touring Red Run Country Club for the first time yesterday, Thompson, 23, in a 'love at first sight' affair, carved out a three-under-par 69 over the 6,765-yard layout to set the pace in the opening round of the qualifying for the 46th Golf Association of Michigan championship.

"I just didn't know where the trouble was," laughed Thompson, who had little trouble solving Red Run's rolling greens.

Hot on Thompson's heels as the field of 97 headed into the final 18 holes of qualifying today were defending champion Peter Green of Orchard Lake and Joseph Newton of Barton Hills in Ann Arbor.

FORMAT CHANGES

The low 63 scorers for the 36 holes will join Green for the match play portion of the tournament which opens tomorrow. Finals are set for Saturday.

"I putted well," admitted Thompson. "About 25 or 30 putts. Normally, I'm a 34-putt man."

Thompson is a 1968 graduate of North Carolina where he held the No. 2 spot on the Tar Heels golf squad.

He made it to the semifinals recently in the Michigan State Amateur, losing to the eventual champion, Lynn Janson of East Lansing. "I played well but my putting was off," said Thompson of his play at Charlevoix.

"But the putts felt for him yesterday," and he fared particularly well on the par-3 holes.

SIX BIRDIES

Thompson managed six birdies with three of them coming on three of the five par-3 holes on the course.

The Midland sharpshooter tapped in birdie putts on Nos. 1, 4 and 6 on the front side and on 13, 17 and 18 on the incoming nine.

The birdie streak on 17 and 18 came after a bogey at 15 and a double-bogey on 16.

GREEN STEADY

Green, whose victory in this event last year launched him on a hot streak, checked in with a steady 37-34-71, while Newton was in with a 34-37-71.

Earlier this season, Green picked up titles in the Michigan Medal Play and the Horton Smith Memorial.

EVEN PAR

Among those at even-par 72 were 1966 champion Peter Jackson and Gene Eyster of Oakland Hills, along with Randall Moore of Twin Beach.

Five-time champion Melvin (Bud) Stevens was in with a three-over-par 75. (Continued on Page D-2, Col. 6)

Detroit Soccer Team Ambushes Toronto by 2-1

By The Associated Press

Detroit used two goals by Sam Acquah to edge Toronto 2-1 before 4,295 at Toronto. Acquah picked up both goals in the second half — at 4:28 and 22:40 — after John Lima had given the Falcons an early 1-0 lead.

It was Toronto's first loss at home. The Falcons had won seven and tied four at home.

Washington and Cleveland took over divisional leads, and Kansas City held on to the top spot in the Gulf Division despite a loss to St. Louis in the North American Soccer League Tuesday night.

Washington's Nana Gyau scored twice as the Whips handed Dallas its 20th loss in 21 games, 3-0, before 4,825 at Washington.

The victory gave the Whips a four-point edge over second-place Atlanta in the Atlantic Division.

LAKES LEADER

Cleveland had goals by Enrique Mateos, Amancio Cid, Hank Lietart and Manuel Mendoza in a 4-1 victory over Chicago that put the Stokers in front in the Lakes Division.

Kansas City maintained a 17-point lead over St. Louis in the Gulf Division, despite a 2-1 set-back on the Stars' field before 4,576.

Pontiac Golfer Ready to Defend State Title

Terry Hoy of Pontiac will get in practice links today before starting defense of his state Public Links match play championship tomorrow at Tyrone Hills near Ponton.

A field of 239 tied for in the 18-hole qualifying round today, and the low 63 scorers will then join Hoy for the opening round of match play tomorrow.

Double rounds of match play are set for tomorrow through Saturday.

ON TARGET—Stan Thompson Jr. of Midland shows the putting stroke he used yesterday in carving out a three-under-par 69 at Red Run Country Club to lead the qualifying field in the first round of the Golf Association of Michigan tournament. The second round of the qualifying is slated for today and the low 63 scorers plus defending champion Peter Green of Orchard Lake open match play tomorrow.

Pitching Ripens on Tiger Farm

By United Press International

If the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff needs a boost during the final weeks of the American League pennant race, it just may have to turn to the International Toledo farm club in the International League where outstanding pitching performances are becoming an everyday affair.

Dick Drago became the latest hero of the Mud Hen mound corps Tuesday night when he hurled a three-hit shutout to give league-leading Toledo a 2-0 victory over Louisville.

In other IL action, Syracuse defeated Jacksonville 7-1, Buffalo topped Columbus 6-2 and Rochester downed Richmond 5-1.

The win was the Mud Hens' sixth straight and seventh in their last nine games. During that stretch, Toledo pitchers have hurled eight complete games, including four shutouts. Drago, now 12-4, leads the team in victories.

TWO HOMERS

Bill Melton hit two homers and drove in three runs to pace Syracuse and Rich Beck, now 3-3, to victory over Jacksonville and Tag McGraw.

Buffalo rallied for four runs in the ninth inning, including Bill Bryan's homer, to beat Columbus and Dave Roberts, now 11-4.

Paul Campbell won his first game of the season and Chet Trail hit a three run homer, to help Rochester defeat Richmond.

Lions' John Gordy Ponders Retirement

Coach Joe Schmidt's version of the tune Bill Bailey could have the words changed to read, "Won't you come back John Gordy, won't you come back."

Gordy is supposed to give the Detroit Lions his decision today whether he will retire and accept a high paying position as executive secretary of the NFL player's association and/or a post with a national restaurant food chain, or play the 1968 season at his offensive guard position.

Because of Schmidt, a former teammate and personal friend, Gordy said, "This is a very difficult decision to make."

Gordy, who is 33, called the offers and the chance to secure his future "wonderful opportunities for his family and himself."

Amidst these early woes of injuries and players' decisions, the Lions are preparing for their first exhibition game next Monday night against the AFL Bills in Buffalo.

Bill Munson, regarded as the number one quarterback, was scheduled to be released from the hospital today after surgery on his shin for removal of a blood tumor.

"It will be at least 10 days before he can start working out," said team physician Dr. Richard Thompson.

Schmidt noted that Munson would miss at least two games and possibly three of four rather than risk any injury prior to the start of the regular season Sept. 15 in Dallas.

Karl Sweetan and Greg Barton, meanwhile, have been handling the signal calling in practice and Sweetan will probably get the nod to start in Buffalo.

Boxing Duel on Tap

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Welter-weights Don Cobbs of St. Louis and Doug McLeon of Grand Rapids, Mich., have signed for a 16-round match at Kiel Auditorium Aug. 19, Square Deal, Inc., announced Tuesday.

He did not indicate what financial situation in either position would be however it was the opinion of others at the Cranbrook training camp that Gordy was in the $35,000 bracket in either case.

OUT OF ACTION

An all-pro offensive lineman in many of his years since 1957, when as a rookie he was on the last Lions' championship team, Gordy's loss would create a big gap in the offensive line, especially in view of the fact that the other starting guard Chuck Walton is expected to be out of action for seven to eight weeks because of re-injury to the elbow on which he had surgery.

This left Bob Kowalkowski and Frank Gallagher returning but not fully tested guards as the frontrunners.
