Bidault Counters Molotov's Plan for Arms Meet

Asks End of Hostilities All Over World Before Disarmament Talks

BERLIN (AP) — French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault called today for a United Nations disarmament conference provided all hostilities such as the Indochina war are first ended and aggression outlawed.

The French minister introduced a resolution to that effect in the fifth session of the Big Four Berlin conference. His proposal countered a disarmament conference proposition made yesterday by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Molotov asked the Big Four to sponsor a worldwide disarmament meeting which would include Red China and other states that are not now members of the United Nations.

Raising of the disarmament question apparently stymied for the moment a concerted Western plan to force Russia into considering German unification now.

The West, with Secretary Dulles in the chair, had intended to bring up the German question immediately after the session opened.

Word from behind the closed doors of the conference hall, however, was that Molotov immediately took the floor and upset the apple cart. Thereupon, Bidault offered his resolution, calling for an end of hostilities and for condemnation of any encouragement or support of aggression. It presumably was aimed at putting new pressure on the Communist world to end the war in Indochina.

Bidault did not suggest a date or period of time for the conference. Molotov had proposed that a disarmament meeting be held this year.

The French resolution did specify that the conference should conform to the U. N. General Assembly resolution of Jan. 11, 1953, thus making the U. N. the actual sponsor. That resolution directed the U. N. Disarmament Commission to continue its work on conventional arms and atomic weapons in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Waterford Boys Ruled Out of Sports Until March 15

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Eleven Waterford Township Junior High School boys will not participate in interscholastic sports until March 15 under a decision made this morning by Dr. Clair Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, in Lansing.

Dr. Taylor's new eligibility ruling went into effect Dec. 1, 1953.

The Waterford boys accepted sports jackets from their summertime baseball club sponsor. They received the jackets Dec. 15, 1953.

The hearing, held yesterday in Lansing before the committee of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, reviewed the case with parents of the boys present as well as Waterford school authorities.

Dr. Taylor was requested to be present inasmuch as he had drafted the new ruling under which eligibility was judged.

Testifying in behalf of the boys was their sponsor, Lawrence McCullough of Pontiac. He said he never was aware of the eligibility rule prohibiting boys participating in interscholastic sports from accepting any merchandise or any trophy or award worth in excess of $3. McCullough asked that he be penalized instead of the boys.

"Unfortunately, we cannot do things that way," said Charles A. Semler from Benton Harbor. He is president of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

Roy Larnear, Waterford Township High School principal, reviewed the method the school uses in informing the boys of the eligibility rules.

"Each fall we have mimeographed sheets prepared for all home room teachers and athletic coaches. They go over this with all new students. Our handbook, given to all new students, covers the eligibility rules," he said.

For years, the rule read that (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Forecast Snow, Rising Mercury

Tonight's Low 26-30;
High Tomorrow 30-34
to Turn Colder

Pontiac whitened under a fresh snowfall today as milder weather from the south pushed local thermometers to slightly warmer temperatures.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts tonight's low will be 26-30, with snow flurries and a high of 30 to 34 degrees Saturday.

The weather bureau said temperatures will turn colder Saturday, warmer Monday and colder again Tuesday.

Temperatures climbed from a frigid five-above-zero low Thursday to a high of 26 degrees. The night's low of 18 degrees came just about midnight. The mercury then started climbing steadily passing the 24-degree mark at 8 a. m. to hit 30 at 1 p. m. today.

Today's snowfall, starting about 3 a. m., had sifted three-fourths of an inch of snow onto Pontiac by 10 a. m.

Oakland County Road Commission crews were called out about 4 a. m. to man 10 salt trucks. Pontiac Department of Public Works already had a standby night crew on the streets.

Last of Snowbound Children Are Home

PINNEBOG (INS) — Huron County snow plows last night cleared sidewalks to permit the 40 marooned school children to reach home.

Deep snow marooned the children in a Huron County school Wednesday night and most of Thursday. They were preparing to board a school bus when authorities ordered them to return to school where cots were set up for the night.

Expect to Unveil Bipartisan Plan for Bricker Bill

Senators May Announce Substitute Treaty-Curb Details Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped today to unveil a bipartisan substitute for the Bricker amendment which they believe will break the stalemate in the dispute and still preserve the President's powers in foreign affairs.

Republican Leader Knowland of California said he expected to be able to announce details of the much-talked-over treaty curb substitute during the day, although more conferences and more polishing remained.

But Sen. George (D-Ga.), who introduced a proposal that became the basis of the bipartisan substitute, said he wasn't quite so confident.

"Somebody always has some other little idea he wants to get in," George said in an interview.

"They're still hoping they can get Bricker to agree to something. But I don't think any compromise is possible with John now."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) himself said yesterday the differences with the administration on his proposal "grow out of a fundamentally different philosophy of government."

Even if an agreement can be reached which provides a middle ground for many senators, the big question seemed to be—

Can Senate leaders muster the necessary two-thirds vote required for a proposal to change the Constitution?

Or will those taking extreme positions on both sides join forces to prevent enactment of a compromise?

Wife Is Guilty of Manslaughter

Mrs. Cartrette Awaits Sentence on Feb. 8; Free on Bond

Mrs. Lucy Mae Cartrette, 33, is free on $5,000 bond while awaiting sentence Feb. 8 for manslaughter in the slaying of her husband last Aug. 29.

She was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury which deliberated five-and-a-half hours before returning the verdict to Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland. She had been tried on a second degree murder charge.

Her husband, Scarborough, 32, was shot to death last Aug. 29 while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wright at 105 Judson St. after an all night party with his "girl friend."

Wright told the court he grabbed Mrs. Cartrette and told her to go home after the shooting. He said she acted as if she was "in a sort of a daze" and turned the .32 caliber pistol in her hand over to Mrs. Wright before she left.

Dr. L. Jerome Fink testified during the five-day trial that Mrs. Cartrette was suffering from amnesia before and during the shooting.

Temporary amnesia was claimed by her attorneys as a defense but Judge Holland ruled it out in his one-hour charge to the jury yesterday.

Mrs. Cartrette told the jury she was ready to leave her husband because of his infidelity and that she didn't remember shooting him.

Wilson Sees More Defense Spending Cuts Next Year

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said Thursday night further cuts will be made in military spending in the defense budget that will go to Congress next year.

The proposed economies would be on top of the $4,000,000 cut in defense spending outlined in President Eisenhower's budget for the new fiscal year beginning July 1.

Wilson also indicated the number of men in uniform will be reduced below the projected level of about 3,000,000 by the middle of 1955.

In a speech to the Women's Forum on National Security, he said manpower and spending cuts are being made possible by capitalizing on new weapons and techniques and an increasing reliance on "ready reserves."

He said economies are being achieved in three ways:

1. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have adopted a strategy which emphasizes forces and weapons providing "greatest combat effectiveness" at lowest cost in manpower and resources.

2. Production, training of men, construction of bases and activation of new military units are being kept in "proper balance."

3. With the "cooperation of hundreds of thousands of men and women in the services," economies are being achieved in actual military operations.

"There is no fallacy in the idea of more defense for less money," Wilson said. "It is being achieved and much more can and will be accomplished."

Wilson said the review of military strategy which produced the "new look" and its greater reliance on airpower and atomic weapons would have taken place regardless of who was serving on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He noted that the shooting stopped in Korea last July and that both U. S. and Western European treaty forces are now substantially stronger.

Directive Given by White House, Reports Jenner

Halting of Navy's Work on Reds in 1944 Is Eyed by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) said today the Senate internal security subcommittee will try to fix responsibility for an order which, he said, the White House issued in 1944 for destruction of some naval intelligence files on Communist activities.

This new turn in the Communist-hunting subcommittee's probes was the aftermath of Jenner's account of the episode to a dinner gathering here last night attended by Vice President Nixon and some 400 other guests.

This is how Jenner, the subcommittee chairman, related the story of the files:

"They had been built up by a Navy counter-intelligence unit in New York which had an undercover contact in the Communist organization, he said, and 'had the basic information on Communists in the maritime units, Communists on the waterfront and Communists in the convoys that went to Russia itself.'"

Robert Morris, who later became counsel to the internal security subcommittee, in early 1944 was a naval lieutenant attached to the New York counter-intelligence unit.

Victor Kravchenko, an official of the Soviet purchasing commission who broke with his Communist government, sought out Morris to give him information, Jenner said.

However, after one contact, he added, "Washington sent orders to 'let Kravchenko alone.'"

Continuing, Jenner said word reached New York that the counter-intelligence unit was to be broken up. Morris went to Washington to protest but, Jenner went on, "within a few days" the members of the unit were scattered "to the four corners of the earth," and the files were ordered destroyed.

Morris was transferred to the headquarters of Adm. Chester Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Fleet.

Jenner said Morris told Nimitz about the breaking up of the intelligence unit and Nimitz took up the matter with Adm. Ernest J. King, then chief of naval operations, when King came to the Pacific on a visit a little later.

Jenner said he got the rest of the story recently from an officer whom he would not name but who was on Nimitz' staff. Jenner continued:

"Nimitz told King what Bob Morris had told him and asked if it could possibly be true that such an incredible order could have been issued. Adm. King replied that it was true."

At PHS Commencement

Speaker Urges Seniors to Live, Work for Others

By GOLDIE STAMAS

Dr. Warner R. Cole, pastor of the Covenant Baptist Church in Detroit, last night urged Pontiac High School's graduating seniors to make the best possible use of their personalities, intelligence and talents as "raw materials" in building their lives.

Approximately 800 persons heard the pastor outline "A Formula for Life" at commencement exercises for the school's 131 January graduates in the PHS boys' gymnasium.

Dr. Cole exhorted seniors to "become part of a team, working for, not against, each other in the 'assembly line' of life."

Enthusiasm, he said, has overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles. Vision, definite goals and a dedication of purpose help make the formula almost complete, even without great talent, Dr. Cole pointed out.

He added that the most important part of his formula for success is a humble and unflinching faith in God.

"Make God your partner in life," he concluded, "and you will find that real happiness and a true sense of fulfillment will be yours."

Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Board of Education, presided over the ceremony.

The Pontiac High School Band, under the direction of Dale C. Harris, presented the "Processional" by Savino, and selections from "Me and Juliet" by Rogers.

The band also played theme music from the TV show, "Mr. Peepers," and closed the program with the recessional "University Grand March" by Goldman.

Thomas Metzdorf, class president, expressed the gratitude of his classmates to the Board of Education, the teachers and especially to Dr. Cole.

March 15 Is Nearer Than You Think

Do You Have Any Interest or Dividend's? Most Are Taxable but Some Are Not

By RICHARD A. MULLEN
Article 5

Americans are great ones for saving money and putting those savings to work by investing in stocks, bonds, and other places that pay for the use of the savings. This article tells how to report the dividends and interest you have received for the use of your savings. It also tells how to report income from a business or profession.

Most dividends and interest are taxable and have to be reported as income. Some, however, are not taxed and do not have to be reported.

Here are payments you may receive as a stockholder which DO NOT have to be reported as income:

A return of capital invested in the company.

Payments from earnings accumulated prior to March 1, 1913. Stock dividends or stock rights which do not change the stockholder's proportionate share in the corporation.

When a corporation makes any of the above distributions to its stockholders, it will generally include a statement telling stockholders that the distribution is non-taxable.

Most dividend payments are made out of a corporation's earnings and must be reported as income on line 3 of Form 1040A or on Schedule A of Form 1040. Additional information is found on page 6 of the official instructions.

All taxable interest received by you must be reported in Schedule B of Form 1040 or on line 3 of Form 1040A. Most interest in taxable.

However, if you own any bonds or securities issued by a city or state, the interest on these is not taxed. The interest on many United States bonds issued prior to March 1, 1941, is wholly or partially tax-exempt.

If you have any such bonds, read the section under "Interest" on page 6 of the official instructions.

You must report interest on savings and deposit accounts when it is credited to your account even though it has not been entered in your bank book.

Interest represented by a bond coupon should be reported in the year when the coupon is due and payable even though you don't clip and cash it.

You can report the interest on Defense, War and Savings bonds in either of two ways.

First way: Ignore the interest until you cash them, and then report as interest the entire difference between what you get and what you paid. This is the easiest way.

Second way: Report the interest each year as it accrues. The amount of accrued interest can be determined from the table on the back of the bond.

THIS INTEREST IS TAXED.

It is the difference between what you paid and what you could cash the bond for on Dec. 31, 1953. Subtract from this any interest you reported from these bonds on previous returns, and report the rest this year.

Once you start using this method, you cannot change without first getting permission from your District Director of Internal Revenue.

Income from a business or profession is reported on a separate Schedule C which is filed with Form 1040. Schedule C also has the self-employment tax which went into effect Jan. 1, 1951.

The next article of the Primer will tell you how to fill out the section on self-employment tax.

Only persons in business by themselves should use Schedule C. This means the man who owns his own shop or practices a profession by himself. Do not use Schedule C to report income from a partnership or any payments received as an employee.

Even though you are an employee, you may also operate a separate business on the side. In that case, report your employee income on page 1 of Form 1040 and your business income and expenses on Schedule C.

If you have to use Schedule C, read over the information on page 7 of the official instructions under "Business or Profession." Then refer to a copy of Schedule C as you read the following helpful tips:

Line 1 calls for your total receipts. This is largely a matter of keeping adequate records throughout the year. If you made any allowances for returned goods, rebates, or discounts, subtract such amounts from your total receipts before entering the amount on line 1.

If you produce, buy or sell merchandise, use lines 2 to 10 to compute and deduct the cost of the goods sold.

The important thing in this computation is to show the correct amount of inventory on hand at

Jan. 1, 1953, on line 2, and the inventory on hand at Dec. 31, 1953, on line 8. The official instructions tell how to figure inventory.

The main problem in filling out schedule C is in determining which expenses you may deduct on the various lines provided. Deductions must meet the following three requirements:

1. Expense must be incurred in your trade or business.
2. Expense must not be for a capital item. This means that if you buy something which would ordinarily last more than one year or if you improve your property, such an expenditure is not deductible except through depreciation spread over the life of the property.
3. The expense must be ordinary and necessary in the carrying on of your business.

Do not deduct expenditures from your business for your own personal or family comfort.

Deductions are allowed to professional and business men for business conventions.

However, if you take your wife or family along as part of a vacation, their expenses cannot be deducted.

If it turns out that your deductible expenses exceed your business income, you will end up with a net loss on line 23 of Schedule C. This loss can be deducted from your other income reported on Form 1040.

If the loss exceeds your other income, you have a net operating loss which can be used to offset income in other years.

After a mile-long chase, the car was overtaken by Chappus and two other cabs and a police car. The driver, Eddie Herzman, 32, was booked for allegedly leaving the scene of an accident.

Parents in Sergeant Depki Get 'Killed in Action' Word

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Depki of Orchard Lake received a Defense Department letter recently informing them that the body of their son, Stanley, would be returned from Korea soon for burial.

Sgt. Depki, 26, was reported missing in action on Jan. 3, 1951, but this letter informed the parents his body was identified and he is now listed as "killed in action."

The Depkis, of 4750 Arline Dr., said Stanley enlisted in the army in Detroit in February, 1949, and was sent almost immediately to Japan where he spent about a year before being sent to Korea.

In a letter written his parents only days before his disappearance, Sgt. Depki told his family he was eligible for rotation but that most of his company had been wiped out in the early days of the war and company records were scrambled.

Sgt. Depki had been listed late last year as being "presumed dead" by Defense Department of

Civics Students Studying Government First-Hand at Birmingham Meetings

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — "It's a treat to have high-rate citizens visit us, instead of the usual rate ones," Mayor Ralph Mail has said of the groups of high school students attending the city commission meetings regularly.

The city's seven lawmakers have been a little nonplussed lately to have 10 or 12 teen-age boys and girls watching their governing actions each Monday night.

The visitors have not been shy about making their opinions known, even rising to their feet to take issue with commissioners, city department heads, and residents attending the session.

commission meeting during their semester of civics, and about 20 met the requirement this week as the semester end neared.

"They take it very well," Miller says, "and I believe that just sitting and talking about city organization and problems is not meaningful unless the students get it first hand."

Miller added that the teenagers haven't been encouraged to participate, but he feels it's their privilege to add their opinion if they think it worthwhile.

The students who attend Monday night meetings report what happened to their Tuesday civics class, and discuss the action.

Since few commission sessions end before 10:30 p. m., some of the students leave in mid-session, but a few interested ones have sat through the entire meeting.

"There are many subjects which they are not 'up on,'" Miller admits, "but the commission attending is all part of the experience which may help them participate in city government later."

Edward E. Rothman, spokesman for property owners in the southwest quadrant of the city, will be asked to submit a plan regarding the provision of off-street parking for that area, before meeting with the City Commission.

This will give commissioners time to study any such proposals before setting a meeting date. Rothman had asked for a joint meeting between Jan. 25 and Feb. 1.

Civilian Club members will rise and shine at 8 a. m. tomorrow for their breakfast at Colonial Manor on Woodward avenue.

Reservations are being taken at the local YMCA for a planned excursion on Feb. 21 to witness the Hollywood Ice Review. A chartered bus will leave the Y at 1 p. m. for a 2:30 matinee performance at Olympia. Cost of the trip includes transportation and a reserved seat at the review.

A special merchandise shoot will be held by members of the Gun Club tomorrow, with shooting starting at 10 a. m. and a buffet luncheon at 12:30 p. m. in the clubhouse on Richardson road.

Parents Should Stand Up for Their Right to Make Errors in Judgment

Otherwise They Be Intimidated

Youngsters Sense Weakness, Pounce On It Wolfishly

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Several months ago, Ann Chapin's mother made a mistake in judgment. Believing some gossip she'd heard about Ann's friend Molly, she told Ann she could not welcome into her home a 16-year-old girl who was seen arriving home with a young man at 5 a.m.

Respecting her mother, Ann accepted her judgment.

Then one day at school, Molly mentioned her cousin Bill. He was, she said, her "ideal" man.

"He was visiting us one weekend when mother got sick," Molly told Ann. "Though it was 3 o'clock in the morning, he got up and drove me around until we found a drugstore that would fill mother's prescription. It was 5 o'clock before we got home. Bill just never gets discouraged..."

Since Mrs. Chapin learned how she had misjudged Molly, life with Ann has been very difficult. She contradicts her mother continually and is impatient with any judgment she makes.

Last week, Mr. Chapin had to be called in to arbitrate an argument. His assistance has not restored Ann's respect for her mother. If anything, she is more impatient and defiant than ever.

So I wish Mrs. Chapin would stop feeling guilty over her mistaken judgment of Molly and realize that as a flesh-and-blood creature, she is entitled to be wrong once in a while.

It's her own acceptance of her weakness as a judge that accounts for Ann's attitude. Mrs. Chapin is making the terrible mistake of permitting all her judgments to be discounted because one turned out to be wrong.

We can't offer anybody perfect judgment, so we are under no moral obligation whatever to behave apologetically if we make an imperfect one.

People, including children, can make us quite unhappy if we don't know how to stand for our right to make occasional mistakes.

Their disparaging attitude can so affect us with uncertainty that we make more mistakes—even the big one of pleading for comfort and "understanding" from the very person who is silently accusing us of weakness.

Rarely do we get the reassurance. For in our daughter, as in you and me, there is an awareness of another's moral weakness as keen as any wolf's scent for spilled blood.

And when we unknowingly allow self-trust to seep from us in guilt over a mistake, the wolf in our human child may pursue us to destroy the rest of our self-trust.

If some romantic person thinks this an extreme comparison, I remind him that it's not mine. It was Jesus who said, "I send you forth as lambs among wolves."

Ann should be warned of this wolfish tendency to exploit our mistake. And be lovingly rebuked for confusing her human parent with God.

It's an encouraging experience to see how much better your complexion looks after you have used a cleanser with a lanolin base which keeps the skin moist, refreshed and thoroughly clean.

Sweet Rolls Can Be Put in Freezer

Mrs. Bennett Says They're Delicious With Any Meal

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Because Mrs. Gordon Bennett makes such excellent use of her freezer, we are glad that she gave us a recipe for sweet rolls that can be frozen. They are delicious to serve for any meal or for a late-evening snack.

Although Mrs. Bennett has a large home and five children to care for, she manages a business career also.

(Right now the household includes three dogs, one goat and 12 chickens!)

Mrs. Bennett is a member of a child study group, the PTA and the Newcomers Club. She knits and sews, doing exquisite smocking on little girls' dresses.

CINNAMON ROLLS

By Mrs. Gordon

2 cups lukewarm milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 cakes yeast
1/2 cup soft shortening
1 to 1 1/2 cups flour
Mix milk, sugar and salt together and crumble in yeast. Stir in the eggs. Add shortening and flour. Knead the dough until firm and elastic to touch.
Let rise until double. Press down dough and let rise again. Turn out on floured board, divide into two parts and let rest 15 minutes.

Roll each piece of dough into an oblong. Spread with 2 tablespoons soft butter and sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar and 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Roll up like a jelly roll.

Slice in 1-inch slices and place in greased baking pan. Let rise 35-40 minutes. Bake in a 375-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Makes two pans of 18 rolls each.

Small-apartment dwellers will soon be able to purchase a space-stove unit the size of the conventional stove.

Spruce Up Inexpensive Shower Gift

Present for Bride Used as Basis for Pretty Centerpiece

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Put yourself in solid with the bride-to-be and her friends by planning a shower that will be festive but easy on the pocket-book.

You know as well as I do that buying gifts for a round of showers plus the wedding gift is an expensive proposition. But no one likes to spoil the excitement of wedding parties by bringing up this practical detail.

One way to solve the problem tactfully is to have the guests chip in to buy one gift and to use a little showmanship in its presentation.

For example, at one party recently a ribbed glass punch bowl set was the gift presented as a clever springtime centerpiece. The set, which includes bowl, tray and cups, costs about $5.

To duplicate the presentation, all you have to do is to invert the punch bowl on its tray, which should be covered with a lace paper doily.

Take a strip of crepe paper (pale green is pretty), fold in half lengthwise and snip out a double row of petals.

Tie the petal collar around the stem end of the bowl. On top in the hollow base, perch a pastel nosegay for the bride.

Ring the bowl with the cups, set on crepe paper petal-trimmed circles, and plant a dripless candle in each cup.

Well-designed, inexpensive glassware which you see in department and variety stores suggests equally showy centerpiece gifts. Use a big round salad bowl inverted as the base for bride and groom dolls wired or taped to the center of a satin bow.

Mary Margaret McBride Says: Pets Aren't Objectionable --Minus Doting Owners

If there's a rumor going around that I don't like animals, I want to scotch it right now. I am very fond of dogs, cats, rabbits, marmosets, even skunks when desecrated. What I don't like is the way a good many of the people who have these animals for pets behave.

Mind you, there are exceptions, but most of these men and women act as if nobody had any rights except their animals. They force their pets on you. They even judge your character by the depth of their cat or dog's regard for you.

I know very well that I'm forever in the black books of one former friend who suddenly became enamored of a small fox terrier. Little Hildebrand, on meeting me, promptly began to chew off my right arm.

Almost automatically, for that's the way self-defense works, I tried to remove my arm from his jaw. In the little tussle that followed, Hildebrand's owner was so completely on his side that she pushed me and I nearly fell down.

"I have never seen him dislike one of my friends before," she commented sternly, eyeing me suspiciously. And that has remained her attitude to this very day.

Another friend whose pet is a cat of doubtful lineage invited me for a suburban weekend. She prefaced the invitation by a pronouncement.

"My house is also the home of my cat," she pointed out. "I will not have her inconvenienced or shut up in the cellar just because there are fussy people about."

"If they don't like Toni they can darned well keep out of my house."

It was a difficult decision to make but I thought I'd already gone too far to back out then. So Toni and I met. I was friendly, she seemed completely indifferent. That is, she did until I lay down on the couch in the living room for a restful little nap.

My hostess had disappeared on some hospitable errand, and Toni and I were alone. She seemed to be occupied with her own affairs and I went quite peacefully to sleep.

How long my slumber lasted I have no way of knowing, but I suddenly awoke to find myself staring into two enormous green eyes that to my fevered imagination seemed to belong to a wild, ferocious beast. My screams brought my "friend" on the run. She took in the situation at a glance and laughed heartily.

"Toni was interested in seeing what that great lump on the sofa was," she explained with more truth than tact.

I wish I could report that moved by my shattered state, for this once she locked Toni in the cellar. But no, she locked me in my room and Toni had the run of the house as usual.

I wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to send the owners instead of the animals to training school for manners.

Pro Drafters Shy Away From All-America Players

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (U)—Most National Football League coaches said that they would not select a player from the annual All-America game in a pro draft.

A poll of coaches and officials of various NFL teams brought the general opinion that quality was below par. Lack of specialization cut the list of good pro prospects, they said.

Coaches Buck Shaw of San Francisco, Jim Trimble, of Philadelphia, Curly Lambeau of Washington, Russ Thomas of Detroit, Joe Stydahar of the Chicago Cardinals and vice president Tex Schramm of Los Angeles all agreed that research for this year's draft meeting was a tough one. The coaches said that they had to find out which players play defense and which played offense during two platoon days.

"If we didn't," said Shaw "we'd miss out on some good defensive boys who sat out most of last season because he couldn't play on offense. The same goes in reverse."

The 12 NFL teams drafted 360 players at yesterday's 14-hour draft session. Each club picked 30 players. All college graduates whose original class graduates in 1954, were eligible for selection, even if they have varsity eligibility remaining. Some of those picked matriculated in college but never played, leaving for military duty or for other reasons.

Cleveland Browns, Eastern Division champions, got things started by picking off with the annual "bonus" draw. Coach Paul Brown immediately grabbed the nation's top passer, Stanford's Bobby Garrett.

Several coaches and owners were mumbling something about the rich getting richer after Brown added Garrett to his quarterbacking staff of Otto Graham and George Ratterman. Brown said he wanted Garrett in case Graham decided to retire, or as trade bait.

The nation's two top ranking college teams, national champion Maryland and runnerup Notre Dame, contributed heavily to the pro ranks. Seven Maryland players were taken and 10 members of the 1953 fighting Irish can have a chance to play the game for money.

In general, selectors shied away from All-America players in their only choices. John Lattner of Notre Dame was the only all-star to go in the first round. Pittsburgh grabbed him.

Rest of the 1953 All-America team was chosen starting with Michigan State's end, Don DeHoney, in round five and ending with Penn's Jack Shanafelt, a tackle, as the 277th pick in the 23rd round. Paul Giel of Minnesota went to the Bears in round nine; Paul Cameron, UCLA back joined Lattner with the Steelers in round eight although he has said he prefers baseball to football.

Kosse Johnson, Rice back was grabbed by Green Bay in the 14th round, while Oklahoma's J. D. Roberts was a 17th Packer choice. Guard Crawford Mims of Mississippi went to the New York Giants in the 18th round and Sam Morley, Stanford end to Washington as a 20th choice. Stan Jones, Maryland tackle was a 1953 Bears pick, while All-America center Larry Morris wasn't eligible for this year's draft.

Club owners meet again today to take up such problems as rule changes, schedules, the Canadian player problem and constitutional amendments.

Lions Get Neal for Pivot Spot; Draft 13 Backs

Spartan Star to Fill in For Retired Vince Banonis

PHILADELPHIA (U)—A Michigan-State College center may be the key to the Detroit Lions offensive forward wall next year.

Although Lions went "back happy" at the annual National Football League player draft in Philadelphia yesterday, their 2nd choice was Jim Neal, Michigan State's 6-foot-4, 215-pound center.

Neal, a Biggie Munn product, centered the Spartans to a co-championship in their first year in the Big Ten last season. He was also the middle man when State won the Rose Bowl game against highly-touted UCLA.

Coach Buddy Parker went to the meeting with the expressed purpose of picking up a good center to replace retired veteran Vince Banonis and a fullback capable of stepping into the shoes of ailing Pat Harder.

Lions selected Neal and two other centers, Richard Rzeszut of St. Benedict and Mel Berprand of Idaho.

But it was backfield men that Parker bagged in a big way. He chose 15 of them, including Bill Bowman, speedy William and Mary fullback, Bowman was 3rd choice.

The No. 4 choice was Howard McCants, a 6-foot-9 Negro high jumper who played end for Washington State.

First choice by the NFL champions was a comparatively unknown tackle, Dick Chapman of Rice. Chapman is a 6-foot-6, 245 pounder.

Besides Chapman, Lions drafted eight other tackles.

McCants was 1st of three ends chosen.

Detroit selected but two guards. But with Joe Schmidt, Dick Stanfel, Jim Martin, Les Bingham and Harley Sewell, Lions already have five of the best guards in the business.

No "name" players came Detroit's way. Being champions of the league, they had to settle for last choice in each of the 30 draws.

But despite the last draw, Parker was far from displeased.

10-Games Schedule Faces Ex-MSC Coach

RALEIGH, N. C. (U)—North Carolina State College has announced a 10-game 1954 football schedule, its first under Earle L. Edwards.

Earlier this week he was given a three-year contract as head coach.

The schedule shows four games with teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, of which North Carolina State is a member, five against Southern Conference clubs and a meeting with Florida State University.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY
CASE—Too Much Speed.
Harmful If Forced—Top bowlers who fought their way up through hard practice and experimentation always are wary of two things: Failure to break at the waist during the backswing of the ball, and forcing the ball in trying to get unnatural speed on a "run" alley—an alley that breaks quickly and sharply from right to left. An example of sound, graceful form, with power is Detroit's Buzz Fazio. He proves you don't need height and bulging muscles to generate speed. His push-away regulates the backswing. Longer push-away, longer arc, more speed. As simple as that. To increase the arc he merely holds the ball high—chest high. He does this on a slow alley. On a slick surface the push-away starts waist high, or even lower, as sketch shows, reducing the speed. It's all swing with Fazio. Break at the waist with the push-away, and you will stay down all the way. That is good.

Legal Method Discovered to Deduct Fishing Expense

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer
LANSING (U)—Trust an attorney. One of them has figured out how to deduct some of his fishing expenses from his federal income tax.

With the March 15 payment deadline rushing upon us, now is a good time to let you in on it. Probably you won't be able, however, to actually cash in until next year.

The twist was figured out by Sherman B. Barnett, a Chicago attorney, he has a letter from the U. S. Treasury Department confirming that it is strictly legal.

Barnett is president of the Fish Taggers' Assn. This is a group of fishermen who get their sport, not from keeping their fish, but from clipping their personal tag to the fish and releasing it.

The organization doesn't blow its own horn much, but it has grown tremendously since its organization a few years ago. It has more than 300 members in 33 states and a few members in Mexico and Venezuela.

The pay-off is when another angler catches the fish and following instructions on the tag, writes the details of the catch to the original tagger.

Now Barnett has come up with the income tax twist, which clinches the matter for this fisherman, at least. He figured that when he is engaged in fish tagging, even though it is entertaining, the activity is also conservation work.

Membership and expenses incurred in this kind of conservation work, Barnett said, are deductible from the gross income, under the present income tax law.

So he wrote the Treasury Department and put the proposition to the experts there. He has a letter from them confirming that he is right.

Good Weekend Seen for Winter Sports Addicts

Skiing Good at Teeple Hill, Nearly All Resort Areas Upstate

Michigan's winter sports enthusiasts are looking forward to one of the best weekends of the winter. Wednesday's heavy snowfall and Thursday's low temperatures have combined to make skiing at nearly all the state's resorts excellent.

Teeple Hill Recreation area, near Pontiac, reports a 4 to 5 inch base with one inch of granular snow. Skiing good.

Pioneer Hills, near Roscommon, is holding its annual winter carnival this weekend. Skiing conditions are excellent. Others reported the best of conditions are Snow Snake Mountain, Skyline, Sheridan Valley, Grayling Winter Sports park, Ogemaw Hills, Snow Valley, Waters Ski Village and Otsego Ski Club.

Conditions are also excellent at Au Sable Ski Bowl, Griswold Mountain, Boyne Mountain, Caberfne and Missaukee Mountain.

There is no skiing, but tobogganing and ice skating are good at Silver Valley, near the Tawas, and Echo Valley, near Kalamazoo.

Newcombe Eyes Dodger Raise

Brooklyn Is Expected to Up Salary of Mound Ace $5,000

By United Press
Big Don Newcombe, eager "to make up for lost time," learned today that he is in line for a salary raise from the Brooklyn Dodgers but he won't be able to sign his 1954 contract until Feb. 8.

The 27-year-old Newcombe, who will be discharged from the army at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 8, paid a visit to the Dodger office and was assured by vice president Busby Bavasi that Brooklyn intends to pay him more than the $90 a month he receives from Uncle Sam currently.

It is believed that Newcombe, who won 20 games for the Dodgers in 1951 before leaving for service, will receive a $5,000 raise for 1954, bringing his salary to about $22,000.

Immediately following his discussion with Bavasi, there were reports that Newcombe agreed to terms but Bavasi denied it.

Top Amateur 5s Clash Saturday at Clarkston

Two of the area's best amateur basketball teams hook up in an interesting exhibition game Saturday night in the Clarkston High School gymnasium.

Clarkston's Merchants of the Waterford Township Recreation League entertains Shaw's Jewelers of the Pontiac Class A City League for benefit of the CHS lighted athletic field project.

Clarkston-Shaw game is slated for 8:30 p.m. preceded at 7:30 by a contest between the Clarkston High women's faculty members and the school's girls' team.

Shaw's is considered one of the state's outstanding amateur clubs and the Merchants are undefeated in eight games this year. Last season they won 21 of 22 games.

Outfielder Dick Sinovic, who will receive a spring trial with the Braves, led the Southern Association in runs batted in, hits and total bases during the 1953 season.

A chief project engineer at Douglas believes that operators of future helicopter lines should ask for and will receive greater revenue, because such craft will be delivering passengers from city to city, not from one remote airport to another.

The jet passenger age will be a boon to helicopter service. Jets will push airfields farther away from the big cities they serve. Someday, perhaps, even Detroit's airfield will be considered close to the heart of town. Now it's a marathon distance.
