State Offers Four-Point Solution to Wide Track Woes

ONE COLOR

Michigan State Highway Department officials today unveiled a four-point plan to solve traffic woes created by regulations on Pontiac's Wide Track Drive.

The midmorning meeting at city hall attracted about 30 downtown merchants, businessmen and city officials.

Max N. Clyde, engineer of traffic operations for the traffic division of the State Highway Department, presented city officials with the state's plan for loop road traffic.

These included:

- Removal of the concrete islands at the intersection of the Orchard Lake-Auburn crossover and South Saginaw, permitting north-south traffic flow on Saginaw;
- A stop sign control at the intersection to govern traffic;
- Continuous surveillance of the intersection to assess the relationship between existing traffic situations and the ultimate development;
- The signing plan, instituted 60 days ago, will adequately direct motorists into and around the central business district.

Clyde said the State Highway Department felt that removal of the islands, which had isolated a portion of South Saginaw, would eliminate the desire for left turns at either ends of the Orchard Lake-Auburn crossover.

Clyde did offer a point of caution. The plan would be an interim operation to remain only as long as traffic conditions warrant.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling said work would begin this afternoon on removing the islands. He hoped to have north-south traffic open by sometime Saturday.

In a letter to City Manager Joseph A. Warren, Gerald J. McCarthy, chief of design for the highway department, said that revitalization of the downtown area was based on traffic control.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the egg-shaped loop road was to move traffic into and around the central business district, McCarthy said.

PLEASED WITH TURNOUT

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who attended today's meeting, said he was pleased about the turnout of downtown businessmen and feeling of cooperation with the city and the state.

Taylor pointed out that the State Income Tax Proposal Set for House

'5 Per Cent Levy Is Intended as Vehicle for Fiscal Reform'

LANSING (AP) — A 5 per cent state income tax was scheduled for introduction in the House today.

"It is intended as a vehicle for a start toward fiscal reform," said chief sponsor Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, "in case the Democratic caucus decides to move or if there is a bipartisan movement."

The flat 5 per cent personal would be lowered if the bill is put into active service, he said.

Five per cent levies also would be imposed on the incomes of corporations and financial institutions.

"I picked a flat rate for all of them rather than commit myself on differing tax levels for the three," he said.

25 SIGN

The measure was signed by approximately 25 legislators, including some Republicans. It also would provide for removal of the sales tax on food and drugs.

A $600 personal exemption would be the only one permitted, he said. Thus, the $10,000-a-year man with a wife and no children would pay taxes on $8,800 or $440.

The bill may or may not be part of a fiscal reform package, Montgomery said, "and auxiliary bills will be introduced on."

★ ★ ★

House Democrats were to caucus this afternoon for their first meeting on fiscal reform, he said, adding:

"If we don't get fiscal reform this year, by next year we'll wish we had. And if we don't get it next year, by the following year (1967) there will be a new (legislative) body here."

RIDING THE WAVES — A para-rescue team crawls over the Molly Brown attaching a lift line from the carrier Intrepid after the spacecraft dropped into the Atlantic at the end of a three-orbit flight. Astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young already had been taken aboard.

U.S. Spacemen Are Both Fit; Sailing Home

No Adverse Effects After Epic Flight in Steered Spacecraft

ABOARD USS INTREPID (AP) — Astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young, evidently none the worse for a wild ride through space in an orbit-shifting capsule, woke up refreshed today after a night of sound sleep.

"They look fine and feel fine," said a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration aboard this aircraft carrier which was the landing target of the spacemen after yesterday's 81,000-mile, three-orbit flight around the world.

Dr. Howard Minners, one of the astronauts' physicians, said one of the astronauts vomited into the water after the hatches were opened following the landing in the Atlantic. He wouldn't say which one became nauseated.

All information on the results of a three-hour physical examination given the astronauts last night was withheld.

★ ★ ★

But Minners said there would be no more blood tests, indicating there were no adverse effects on the blood from space radiation. If there had been, more tests would have been required.

★ ★ ★

Grissom slept from 9:39 p.m. until 6:45 a.m. and Young from 11 p.m. until 6:30 a.m. Then they settled down to the important business of filling in the experts on precisely what happened during their space journey.

RETURN TOMORROW

They are scheduled to return tomorrow to Cape Kennedy, from where a Titan launched their Molly Brown spacecraft into orbit yesterday, and to hold a press conference at 7 p.m.

Their technical debriefing was to last all day. They will speak to the Intrepid's crewmen on the hangar deck at 6 p.m.

Grissom and Young were the first U.S. astronauts to fly as a team, and they were the first of any nation to maneuver a spacecraft.

★ ★ ★

Each flight provides innumerable valuable clues on how to improve the next performance. Today medical and space officials pumped the astronauts steadily for reactions that will eventually aid in hitting Project Gemini's main target: the landing of a man on the moon.

BIG QUESTION

One big question: Why did the astronauts fall short of the carrier Intrepid by from 50 to 60 nautical miles? Space officials puzzled over this yesterday and wound up saying they just didn't know.

Moon Televised 'Live'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Ranger 9 televised live today a dramatic sequence of more than 200 close-ups of the moon and dove to its death in a lunar crater.

The beautifully illuminated series began by showing three craters in sharp detail from 1,300 miles up, and finished by displaying tiny pockmarks on the floor of the crater Alphonsus from but a few miles away.

The live television was a first for the series, which now has three straight successes in returning close shots of the little known lunar surface.

The pictures were flashed on the screen for five seconds each for more than 15 minutes preceding Ranger's 9:08 a.m. impact, just four miles from its target in the 60-mile-wide Alphonsus.

The first shot showed the crater Ptolemaeus at the top of the screen, with Alphonsus at the lower left and the smaller Albategnius at lower right.

As Ranger 9 plunged moonward, the two other craters disappeared and the camera zeroed in on Alphonsus. Clearly visible was the 3,000-foot peak in the crater's center — almost dwarfed by the steep walls, 10,000 feet high.

Perhaps the most interesting feature was a large crack, or rill, across Alphonsus' floor.

One of the goals in aiming at a crater — the two previous successful Rangers photographed broad plains — was to

City Adopts New Policy for Storm Drain Financing

A new special assessment policy for financing the construction of city storm drains was approved last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

The policy change was tagged as probably the "major policy action in this commission's term of office."

The vote was 6-0 with Commissioner Wesley J. Wood absent because of illness.

Under the new policy, the cost of storm drains will be assessed citywide on annual tax bills.

★ ★ ★

In the past, the city has generally followed the practice of assessing a drain's cost to the owners of properties to benefit.

STANDARD RATE

The standard rate has been two cents per square foot.

Local property owners have experienced the new policy in special assessments for the Clinton River tunnel project in downtown Pontiac.

Built as a county drain project, the river work is assessed city taxpayers on the county tax bill.

The City Commission approved the new policy in giving the green light to a joint storm drain project along a portion of the city's southern border.

Commissioners approved a petition to the County Drain Commissioner to set up the two-part storm sewer work as a county drain project.

The nearly $1-million project will be undertaken as a joint venture with Bloomfield Township, the Michigan State Highway Department and the Oakland County Road Commission.

The city's share will total $452,107 or an estimated 15 cents per $1,000 valuation.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, who supported the policy vote, emphasized that taxpayers should be aware of the departure from past assessment practices.

SPREAD CITYWIDE

He said it would mean that future drainage projects would be spread citywide.

Hudson quoted City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling as estimating the cost of the

'Seek a City Saint'—4

Be Involved With Life

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth of seven excerpts from Methodist minister David Head's book "Seek a City Saint." The excerpts are appearing each week in The Press during Lent.)

By DAVID HEAD
Distributed by NEA

The prophet must not only know his world, but live as part of it; and the city saint will not try to understand the community but rub shoulders with others in it.

This means being involved, even immersed. We find a strong reluctance within the church in many parts of the world to accept this. Why is this?

The conception of holiness has something to do with it. The word means "separate," and when the Israelites are told to come out and be separate there is a geographical reference in it.

For the Christian, the separation is from everything "worldly." The current use of that word is almost always in a bad sense, following the spiritual belief that the world God made has fallen into bad ways, and is out of step with God's will.

★ ★ ★

ARM'S LENGTH

So the fear of compromise may keep a Christian at arm's length from life. He will pay his taxes, though he may not agree with all government expenditure. He will be involved in joint action, in industry or society, with

Vote Canvass Delay Is Told

Only One Board Member Shows Up

The official canvass of last week's vote on the city income tax has been held up, according to City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley.

★ ★ ★

She reported to the City Commission last night that only one member of the city's Board of Canvassers showed up for the meeting last Friday.

One member of the four-member board was out of town, another couldn't make it and a third had moved from the city.

The commission is to act next Tuesday on appointing a Democrat to replace Robert E. Vackaro, formerly of 784 St. Clair, who moved from the city.

The board will attempt to meet next Wednesday.

The board is made up of two Democrats and two Republicans. Other members are Art L. Dunlap, 410 Central, Bettie L. Gulacsik, 113 Mohawk and Dorothy M. Furgerson, 358 W. Iroquois.

The income tax was voted down 6,647 to 2,637.

Health Care Issue Nears House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) —An unprecedented package of health benefits and pension increases for the aged, speeded by the approval of the House Ways and Means Committee and welcomed by President Johnson, headed today for an early vote in the House.

The committee, altered by Democratic gains in last year's election cleared Tuesday a $6-billion measure containing Johnson's plan for hospitalization paid for by a pay roll tax —and much more:

Hospitalization for all over 65; an optional contributory plan to help pay other health expenses; liberalization of the state-federal system of health care of the indigent and low-income groups; an across-the-board 7 per cent increase in old age payments under Social Security.

The committee set a meeting today for final formalities and leaders planned to bring the measure to the floor by the first week of April, at the latest.

The financing involves a stiff rise in the pay roll tax levied for Social Security. Next year's maximum payment by an employe would be up $69.60 from this year's with more to come.

Pontiacs, Tempests Set Another Mark

A total of 27,801 customers took delivery of new Pontiacs and Tempests from dealers during the second 10-day sales period in March, it was announced today by E. R. Pettengill, general sales manager for Pontiac Motor Division.

"This is the largest 10-day sales figure registered by Pontiac this year and represents a 13 per cent increase over the same period a year ago when Pontiac sales amounted to 24,619," Pettengill said.

Pontiac continues to experience the best new-model sales in its 39-year history.

Sales in the mid-March period marked the 12th consecutive 10-day record and were also the highest for any mid-month period.

Weather Outside to Be Frightfully Cold This Week

Br-r-r-r, it's cold outside, and the weatherman said for the next five days temperatures will average 15 to 20 degrees below the normal high of 48 and normal low of 31.

Tonight's low is expected to drop to a bone-chilling 5 to 12.

Mostly cloudy and a little warmer with snow in the afternoon, the high reaching 25 to 32, is the forecast for tomorrow. Snow or snow flurries with not much change in temperature is the prediction for Friday.

The lowest mercury reading prior to 8 a.m. was 9. At 2 p.m. the recording was 25.

Demands Air Raids Cease

Cong Threatens to Call Foreign Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that nonpoisonous gas would continue to be used against Viet Cong guerrillas in Viet Nam if situations warranted it.

SAIGON (UPI) — The Communist Viet Cong threatened today to bring foreign troops into Viet Nam if the U.S. Air raids continue against the north. It said if the Americans extend the war "hundreds of millions of people in Indochina and Asia will wipe them out and bury them."

Even as the Communists were broadcasting their threat South Vietnamese planes with U.S. Air Force jet fighter cover attacked military targets in the north for the fourth consecutive day. The principal target was a radar station near Dong Hoi. The U.S. jets hit antiaircraft positions.

The Soviet news agency Tass said American jets bombed and strafed the western part of Quang Bin Province and the Vinh Lin district just north of the 17th parallel. It claimed three American planes were shot down and said this was a total of 63 since the attacks began.

No planes were reported lost today and the Communist report appeared to be an exaggeration.

The Communists were vague as to identifying the foreign troops but the statement was broadcast one day after the Soviets reported many "volunteers" had expressed eagerness to serve in Viet Nam. The Chinese in the past have hinted that some volunteers might aid the Viet Cong.

The broadcast made an indirect threat to send more North Vietnamese into the war in the south. It said the Viet Cong are prepared to "call back the sons and daughters of South Viet Nam who have regrouped to the north in observance of the (1954) cease-fire agreement."

In Washington U.S. officials were reported confident today that the furor over use of nausea gas in Viet Nam would soon subside without damaging basic American-British unity on policy in Southeast Asia.

These officials acknowledged, however, that propaganda repercussions probably would continue to echo for some time around the world, spurred by Communist charges that poison gas rather than tear gas had been used.

CRITICISM

Criticism of U.S. and South Vietnamese tactics voiced by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart were viewed here as necessary gestures to quiet a political uproar in Britain.

TB Patient Transfer Due to Finish in May

Transfer of the remaining 64 patients at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium probably won't be completed until early May.

This was the observation of George H. Williams, director of the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare, following a meeting yesterday of four committees concerned with placement of the patients so the Oakland Community College can take over the facility.

The recently-established board of institutions recommended at the meeting that Oakland County make use of bed facilities for tubercular patients offered by Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital and the Maybury Sanatorium.

The recommendation to house the patients in the Detroit facilities rather than transfer them to the Oakland County Medical Care Facility will be considered by the ways and means committee at a special meeting Friday.

★ ★ ★

The new board of institutions was formed to allow TB patients to be housed in the Medical Care Facility rather than outside the county. However, the facility is presently overcrowded.

MEMBERS PRESENT

Some of the ways and means committee members were present at yesterday's meeting of the board of institutions, TB sanatorium committee and social welfare committee.

See Related Story, Page A-10

Williams observed that even if the ways and means committee concurs Friday with the recommendation to move the patients to Detroit, the transfer probably won't be completed until May 1 to May 15.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, said the college will be allowed to begin remodeling work at the building April 1 as originally planned.

The small number of remaining patients will be housed in areas of the building away from where the remodeling is taking place, Murphy said.

Negroes Get Bowling Time

Orchard Lanes, 645 Opdyke, where alleged racial discrimination was the subject of hearings early this year, has agreed to extend "prime time" to Negro leagues, the State Civil Rights Commission (CRC) said yesterday.

Donald D. Spalla, general manager of Orchard Lanes, said in a letter to the CRC that the alley was prepared to offer a Pontiac Negro league a contract for Monday from 9:25 p.m. to midnight during the 1965-66 season.

Ernest Seay, president of the Pontiac Community Bowling League, had testified Orchard Lanes refused to allocate the group desirable hours, even though it applied well in advance.

City Adopts New Policy on Drains

city's total need for storm drains at $10-20 million.

The district 4 commissioner said it would be a tough job with the new policy to decide which jobs should be done first.

★ ★ ★

"There's no limit as to the amount that could be added to our tax bills," explained Hudson.

He claimed that the old 2-cent formula had held back the flood of requests for storm drains because those who would benefit had to pay the bill.

Other commissioners defended the policy change, claiming it was the only way to get "some of the things done that need doing."

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin called the change "a sensible approach to an entire city problem."

Solving the drainage problems would open up many areas in the city to development, he added.

DRAIN PROBLEMS

Hudson pointed out that several areas of the city already developed have had storm drain problems for a long time.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said that the two-cent formula had proved costly in the past to individual taypayers and the city's share had overtaxed the capital improvement fund.

City Engineer Neipling said the citywide assessment policy was growing across the state and the county.

Commenting on the estimate of $10-20 million as the city's total need, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a storm drain study was under way. Results are expected this summer.

JOINT PROJECT

The joint project with Bloomfield Township will provide storm drains between Franklin on the west and the Grand Trunk Railroad on the east, mostly along Square Lake Road and extending 1,000 feet east and north into the city.

★ ★ ★

Neipling described benefits of the projected drains as allowing development of vacant land in the southeast corner of the city and providing an outlet for the Earlmoor storm sewer system.

'Be Involved' in Your Life

which he will not fully agree.

He may not realize how much compromise is necessary to remain in the world of organized society at all. But he may try to keep "doubtful" contacts to the minimum.

A second reason for keeping separate is the danger of bad influence. This seems to be very much behind the stringent rules that developed in Judaism; those pagans were always leading God's people up blind and blasphemous alleys.

So we have to advise children and tender Christians to choose their friends carefully. A hard-grained bad-un at a boys' home (he was sixteen) told me that he had been sent there in the hope that some of the older boys would improve him.

JESUS KNOWS

"It works the other way," he grinned, "I make them worse." Jesus knows what is in man, so he prays that His disciples may be kept from evil—but not that they may be taken out of the world.

Then there is the matter of reputation. We do not want ourselves or our cause to get a bad name. Birds of a feather, you know.

St. Paul puts forward strong views against the marriage of Christian and pagan, and we see the point of that especially in the kind of society for which he wrote. But apparently he was misunderstood.

In I Corinthians he mentions a previous letter in which he said that his readers must have nothing to do with "loose livers."

NOT OF PAGANS

Now he is at pains to insist that when he wrote that he was not thinking of pagans who are "grabbers and swindlers or idolators."

He drily comments, "To avoid them you would have to get right out of the world." It is loose-living Christians who are to be avoided—people who give the Church a bad reputation.

We should not be surprised at Paul's attitude. He has the example of Jesus.

The way Jesus behaved is quite clear. His reputation could not be worse: he was actually the friend of tax-collectors and sinners, people who (sat loose) to the law in the most worldly manner.

4th REASON

A fourth reason for a Christian's indifference to the city is a desire not to be distracted.

But looking at the Father means looking at the world He made for His joy; and turning your eyes upon Jesus spotlights the faces of the hungry and the prisoner and the stranger.

God says to His city saint, "I am interested and involved in everything that goes on in My world—so are you to be."

Crystal Lake Pollution Aired by City Officials

Pontiac city officials last night questioned what steps Waterford Township is taking, if any, to end pollution of Crystal Lake.

City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler said he wanted the public to know that Crystal Lake pollution comes from Waterford Township.

According to city officials, septic tanks in an area of the township just west of the city feed into the west end storm drain, ending up in the lake on the city's southwest side.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling said last night that the city had sent township officials a "core city" statement last September.

★ ★ ★

The statement indicated that the city was ready to go ahead and extend a 1958 agreement to provide sanitary sewers for the remaining unsewered areas of the west end storm drain.

'WE'VE TRIED'

"Well, we've tried to do something," Fowler commented.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported that township officials had indicated they would like to move on the project just as soon as they could.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the city was ready to work with the township.

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that the state took "fierce action" against the city when it was polluting the Clinton River.

SECOND PLANT

Taylor referred to the Circuit Court order, obtained by the State Water Resources Commission, that directed the city build a second sewage treatment plant after voters rejected the bond issue three times.

★ ★ ★

The area of the west end drain, according to Neipling, extends westerly from the Pontiac Mall to Voorheis, then angles southeast to the vicinity of James K and Voorheis, east to Telegraph and then north along Telegraph to the Mall.

'Pen' Pals Write Gals From Cells

JACKSON (AP) — A lot of lonely hearts have begun beating quickly since Southern Michigan Prison lifted its mail censorship and officials are trying to slow them down.

★ ★ ★

Since the ban was dropped Feb. 15, the volume of mail from the world's largest walled prison has increased greatly.

Nearly 18,000 pieces of mail went out during the first 12 days of this month, compared with 12,890 pieces of all of last October and 18,360 pieces for the Christmas month of December.

Officials said much of the mail increase was due to "lonely hearts letters." They said abuses of the new system forced them to institute new measures to curb improprieties. They hinted the program might be dropped if abuses continued.

★ ★ ★

The prison newspaper remarked: "The new mail regulations were not developed for any purpose other than to permit you to correspond on a personal basis with people you know and who are interested in hearing from you.

HALT MAIL

"We do not want you corresponding or attempting to correspond with lonely hearts clubs . . ."

Louis C. Utess, administrative assistant to Warden George A. Kropp, said lonely hearts letters being mailed out of the country were stopped and returned to the sender with a warning "any more correspondence of this type could result in disciplinary action."

NEW YORK (AP) —Three hundred occupants were evacuated from a seven-story ocean front apartment house early today after a fire broke out on the roof and spread to part of the top floor.

Old Complaint Offers 'Twist'—1,501 Names

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—There's a new twist to the old complaint about the Maple-Telegraph intersection.

Another letter from the township board yesterday was mailed to the governor and State Highway Commission.

But unlike those which had preceded it, this one was accompanied by a petition bearing 1,501 signatures.

Other letters sent by the board resulted last November in the promise that the pavement would be widened this spring.

The $17,500 project will focus on the creation of extra-wide traffic lanes north of the high-accident intersection.

ENDORSEMENT

The petitions endorsed by the township board were circulated by the Bloomfield Plaza Merchants Association from the shopping center on the southwest corner of the intersection.

They seek installation of green arrows or left-turn signals at the intersection for traffic on both roads.

Approved by the board Monday night, the letters were sent to Gov. Romney, the State Highway Commission and Howard E. Hill, acting director of the commission.

In other action Monday night, the board approved the purchase of a $40,000 communications control center for the fire and police departments.

NEW ADDITION

The large U-shaped center will be installed in the new addition to the Township Hall by Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc., of Chicago.

It will be the first to operate outside of those in large metropolitan departments, according to township clerk Deloris V. Little.

"It's very definitely advantageous," she said, noting that the center will have several innovations to increase efficiency of fire and police radio operation.

BIRMINGHAM — A 30-month, $79,500-a-year contract with a Birmingham rubbish collection firm has been approved by the City Commission.

The contract with the GCW Disposal Service will go into effect June 1.

By that time, the city expects to terminate its present contract with the Detroit Rubbish Co., seven months ahead of the expiration date.

The owner, I. J. Giacalone, has requested the release.

He has said that his $50,000-a-year contract is not providing any profit and that he is facing bankruptcy because of equipment maintenance and high wages to union employes.

NOTES ERROR

Giacalone said he had made an error in computing his bid. He has appeared before the commission a number of times in the past year asking for the cancellation.

On Monday, he pleaded with the commission to release him from the contract rather than terminate it because of the penalty involved with the bonding company if he is cited for failing to perform.

He said that if the bonding company had to reimburse the city, it would put him in a position where he could not bid on another municipal contract. He has operated in Birmingham for over five years.

A motion by Commissioner William Roberts to have the contract terminated without penalty failed on a tie vote, 3-3. Commissioner David Breck abstained from voting because he is representing Giacalone in a legal matter.

STREET PROGRAM

In another action, the commission approved an $84,000 street resurfacing program.

Most of the 14 streets involved in the project have not been repaved for 15 years, according to City Manager Robert Kenning.

Ten of the streets will be done this year. They are Colonial Court; Bennaville, from Edgewood to Grant; Ruffner, from Grant to Woodward; Bennaville, from Grant to the alley; Chapin, from Grant to Woodward; Cummings, from Bennaville to Chapin; Humphrey, from the alley to Torry; Yorkshire, from Rugby to Cambridge; Cambridge, from Buckingham to Maple; and Henrietta, from Northlawn to 14 Mile Road.

Those streets to be included in the 1966 portion of the program are Holland, Webster and Cole, from Adams to Eton; and Torry, from Holland to Cole.

The entire cost of the repaving project will be borne by the city.

Lawyer Plans New Petition for Harmon

The U.S. Supreme Court will be asked to reconsider the appeal of Pontiac Teamster Local 614 Secretary-Treasurer Floyd B. Harmon, who was convicted nearly two years ago of embezzling union funds.

Harmon's petition, asking the U.S. Supreme Court to review his case, was rejected March 15.

His attorney, Lawrence Burns of Detroit, said today he is preparing a new petition citing an appeal that was granted recently in a similar case in New York.

Burns said that he has until April 8 to file the new petition.

Harmon, 50, of 2990 Barnes, Waterford Township, was found guilty May 8, 1963, in Detroit Federal Court on 24 counts of embezzlement and falsifying union records.

He was ordered to pay a $1,500 fine and was placed on two years probation.

The conviction bars him from holding union office under federal law, but it doesn't go into effect while there is an appeal pending.

Ranks of Marchers Rise to 500

LOWNDESBORO, Ala. (AP) —The ranks of Alabama's band of civil rights marchers swelled to about 500 today in the final major portion of their 50-mile pilgrimage from Selma to Montgomery.

Three hundred marchers tromped from their muddy campsite at 7 a.m. to get an early start in the fourth day of the right-to-vote march.

They were joined by about 200 marchers waiting at the start of the four-lane stretch of U.S. 80 leading into the Alabama capital.

2-MAN SQUADS

Two-man squads of soldiers were spaced about 200 yards apart for three miles along the route.

The marchers, most of them Negroes, were up about an hour earlier than usual. They hoped to cover 14 miles which would put them inside the Montgomery city limits. They breakfasted on oatmeal, toast and coffee.

The marchers planned to camp tonight in the yard of a Roman Catholic school six miles from the white-domed Alabama Capitol, the goal of their protest march which began last Sunday.

At the head of the column were the Rev. Andrel Young of Atlanta, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; James Orange of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, Atlanta; and Jim Leather, a one-legged white man from Saginaw, Mich., who says he is going all the way with the group.

DEFECTIVE BOMBS

In Birmingham police said defective assembly of six dynamite bombs planted in Negro neighborhoods prevented them from exploding.

The bombs were intended to explode, Police Capt. Maurice House said Tuesday.

House made the statement after tests were made on parts taken from three of the bombs. The other three were sent to FBI headquarters in Washington for analysis.

Investigators probing the bombs said they have more evidup in previous investigations of bombings here. Birmingham has had more than 40 bombings connected with racial incidents since World War II.

Hearings May Delay Elderly Tax Bill

LANSING (AP)—The House-passed senior citizens property tax exemption bill won't get out of the Senate until at least April 7 if the taxation committee approves its chairman's plans for public hearings in Saginaw and Mount Clemens.

If the bill doesn't reach Gov. George Romney's desk until then, he'll have time to study his awaited study committee report on the subject before signing or vetoing the measure.

* * *

Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, said Tuesday he wants to conduct a public hearing April 3 in Saginaw and will probably go through with earlier plans to have a senior citizen tax session April 5 in Mount Clemens.

The House has passed a complex tax exemption and rebate measure that legislators say could cost from $20 million to $40 million.

The Senate taxation committee was to take its first official look at the bill this afternoon and decide whether to hold the recommended hearings.

Fitzgerald said the committee would also ask the State Revenue Department and Tax Commission to prepare estimates in the bill's financial impact.

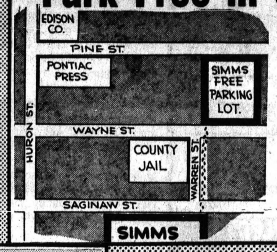

The measure was pushed through the House last week by the Democratic majority, seemingly in an attempt to rush it to the Republican governor's desk ahead of the study commission report.

Romney has indicated he might veto the measure if he determined it would throw the state budget too far out of alignment.

The bill grants a tax exemption on the first $2,500 in valuation of a homestead assessed at $10,000 and owned by a person 65 or over who has lived seven years in Michigan. It provides rebates for renters.

'Stuck in Camp'

Viet Specialists Not Happy Lot

AP SPECIAL REPORT

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — As an experiment in unconventional warfare, the U.S. Special Forces appears to have encountered heavy going in Viet Nam.

"We should be out there in the mountains fighting the Viet Cong at their own game, but where are we?" said a U.S. Special Forces officer at one of the group's camps.

"We are stuck in camp, and the enemy can see our every move. We have lost control of our troops to the Vietnamese.

"And to cap all of this, we will be posted soon to advise district chiefs. That is not a job for Special Forces, certainly not the Special Forces I thought I was joining."

IN NUTSHELL

These comments put in a nutshell the feelings of many Special Forces personnel now serving in Viet Nam.

Originally a free-wheeling organization established as a counterinsurgency force, the Special Forces blossomed under President John F. Kennedy, who saw in their unorthodox concept an answer to the burgeoning trouble of Southeast Asia.

★ ★ ★

More recently, Special Forces seems to have been having a lean time of it.

A U.S. officer said:

"When I volunteered out of the artillery and into the Special Forces a few years ago, my commanding officer told me, 'You're making a mistake. The generals will kill the Special Forces and your career will die with it.'"

MISS OBJECTIVES

Whether the generals are killing the Special Forces, or whether they are dying a natural death, there is no doubt that the objectives of the Special Forces have not been met in South Viet Nam.

Up to about one year ago they were making progress with one of the objectives — winning over mountain tribes to the government cause.

Scores of special teams were operating in Viet Nam's mountains, working with primitive mountain people and supplying weapons to fight the Viet Cong.

There were misgivings about the program.

For one thing, the Montagnards were getting thousands of weapons to fight the Viet Cong today — who would they use them against tomorrow? And some of the Montagnards defected to the Viet Cong.

ALLEGIANCE

There was also the problem of allegiance to South Viet Nam. The Montagnards dislike lowland Vietnamese, but they appeared to love the tough U.S. Special Forces men who worked amongst them.

"We had 100,000 armed Montagnards loyal to the United States but with wavering loyalty to Viet Nam. We had to do something to change that," one Special Forces man said.

★ ★ ★

Eventually, the U.S.-created Montagnard "strike forces" shifted to Vietnamese control. Many were turned into popular force units under command of province chiefs.

The loss of control over the Montagnards is now regretted by many officers.

INSURRECTION

"Just look at the past year," one declared. "We had one Montagnard insurrection, and the possibility of many others. The tribesmen just don't like being under Vietnamese.

"And there is no program of assimilation for these people into modern Vietnamese society.

"The Viet Cong promise them a separate autonomous state. We don't promise them anything."

Many U.S. officers charge also that the strike forces are kept in static defense of permanent installations.

"The Montagnards are natural guerrillas, and that is what they were trained for," one man said.

NOW ADVISORY

Other officers said the Special Forces have been reduced to an advisory effort, as has the regular U.S. Army in Viet Nam.

"The only control we have is that we control the purse strings. This is more than other advisers have and it can be made extremely effective in getting what we want.

"But it isn't enough," a captain said.

There are numerous tales of shocked reactions from high-ranking U.S. officers to the free and easy way of life in the Special Forces camps in South Viet Nam and formerly in Laos.

"There have been scores of nasty reports about us," one officer said. "The officers who made them don't seem to understand that when you are living in a camp carved from a mountain with your own hands you don't regard as extremely necessary the parade ground turnout of the U.S. Army."

A U.S. spokesman says about 1100 U.S. Special Forces personnel are scattered throughout the country in 40 camps. The main center is at the coastal resort of Nha Trang.

Buckingham Palace has appointed two members of the select Order of Merit, including the second woman in history.

She is Dr. Dorothy Hodgkin, 54, who won the 1964 Nobel Prize for her work on the determination of the structures of biochemical substances. The only other woman to have received the order was Florence Nightingale, the famed nurse, in 1907.

The other person selected Tuesday was Benjamin Britten, 51, who has composed 11 operas, including "The Rape of Lucretia."

The honor is conferred personally by Queen Elizabeth II. It is limited to 24 members. The appointments replace two members who died in the past year, Sir Winston Churchill and American-born poet T. S. Eliot.

Studio Is Suing Actress Ann-Margret

Actress Ann-Margret is being sued by 20th Century-Fox to prevent her from appearing in an MGM film which might interfere with her work in a remake of "Stage Coach" for 20th.

Lawyers for 20th asked Tuesday for a Los Angeles Superior Court injunction against both the actress and MGM. They contend she could not complete her work in the MGM film, "Made in Paris." Filming on "Stage Coach" is to start June 25. Her contract with 20th allows her to do outside work if it does not conflict with studio production schedules.

Labor Party's Majority Cut

LONDON (UPI) — The Conservative Party today cut Labor's majority in the House of Commons to three votes by winning a by-election in the rural community of Saffron Walden.

★ ★ ★

Another by-election today, in Scotland, is expected to reduce the Labor lead to only two seats.

In Saffron Walden, Conservative Peter Kirk held the parliamentary seat vacated by former Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler.

Kirk, a former junior minister who lost his seat in last October's general election, won by a 3,493-vote margin, according to returns released today.

★ ★ ★

Conservative wins in the two by-elections are expected to put added pressure on Prime Minister Harold Wilson to drop controversial planks from his legislative platform. An early casualty could be plans to renationalize most of Britain's iron and steel industry.

348 Pigeons Trapped in 1964

The Department of Parks and Recreation trapped 348 pigeons last year, according to a report to the City Commission last night.

This hiked the total number of captured birds to 638 since the trapping program was instigated in the spring of 1963.

A department spokesman said the experimental project continues to be a "fascinating" assignment.

However, just what effect last year's effort will have on the total population is difficult to determine.

Nevertheless, citizen complaints have diminished, according to recreation officials.

'64 ACTIVITY

Other activity in 1964 included forestry operations, sports programs and conservation education.

The department trimmed 1,283 trees in 1964, repaired another 464 trees, planted 243 and removed 229 tree stumps.

Dutch elm disease continued in 1964 to take its toll of elm trees in the city.

City crews found 190 private trees with the disease, an increase over the 160 in 1963. Eighty-one city-owned trees were found to have the disease, which was down slightly from the number (87) discovered in 1963.

A survey was taken last year to count the number of dead elm trees in the city. The department located 153 such trees.

In sports programs, 42,989 golfers played 9-hole rounds of golf on the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course in 1964.

Recreation officials report this level of participation was a five-year low. Weather was the cause of the drop, coupled with high overtime production of local industries.

Late 1964 saw the opening of the Hayes Jones Community Center, offering a wide variety of activities for youth and adults.

The Department of Parks and Recreation instructed 350 fifth grade youngsters in six outdoor education camps last year.

Also, 68 boys from various Boy Scout and church groups were given conservation instruction at the Crooks Road tree farm.

"We're Sure Showing Those Capitalists!"

'Insane' Trials Try Juries

With capital crime in the United States alarmingly on the rise and court dockets crowded with trials of those accused of committing it, the defense plea of temporary insanity is increasingly heard.

Many astute students of jurisprudence have been led to wonder whether a jury of laymen is competent to cope with the esoteric flow of conflicting psychiatric testimony in deciding the fate of defendants.

In that regard, a judge of the U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington, D. C. contends that it is time to remove determination of criminal insanity from the courts and place it in a more appropriate setting.

Supporting that viewpoint, he says, "More often than not, several psychiatrists appear for the prosecution and several for the defense, often taking diametrically opposite positions on highly sophisticated matters and frequently in a jargon that would be hardly comprehensible to a practicing physician let alone to a jury of laymen . . ."

The jurist offers two proposals with the object of eliminating some of the abstraction with which jurors must contend in criminal insanity cases:

● Abolition of "insanity defense" as such. The jury would decide only whether the accused committed the crime with which he is charged.

● In cases of "guilty" verdicts, the court would hold a hearing, free of the opposition-al attitudes inevitable in trial proceedings, to determine the question of the convicted's sanity, with a panel of unaligned psychiatrists and experts making the judgment.

Following such judgment, the court would decide what form of institutional confinement was best suited for the protection of society and for the convicted, i.e., what would most effectively conduce to his rehabilitation and restoration to society.

Admittedly, the determination of insanity, long-standing or temporary, as the cause of criminal acts is a most delicate one. But the ideas advanced by the appelate judge seem worthy of serious consideration.

British Health Plan Bitter Pill for Medics

With a health care plan for the aged an Administration must, it is almost as certain as death and taxes (no pun intended) that a bill will be passed by the Congress now sitting (no pun here, either).

In the light of that probability, let's take a look at the plight of Britain's National Health Service.

Approximately 14,000 of the nation's 23,000 general practioners have formally signified their intention to resign from the Health Service if the program is not remedied.

Sought by the doctors is change from the present plan of payment on a flat annual fee per patient, regardless of the amount of service rendered. This system, they charge, rewards bad medicine and penalizes good.

Offered in its stead is a flexible approach whereby doctors could choose whether they be paid by a salary, a fixed fee for each office visit or house call or an annual fee for each patient.

Primary aim of the many modifications pressed is increase of the average family doctor's income of $8,417 per year and to reduce the number of patients he must care for.

The medicos say that the alternative to extensive revision of the present socialized medical system is its collapse through mass resignation of doctors with a growing switch to private practice.

Britain is not the first country to find its nationalized health care running a temperature, in some cases to the peril of the governmental economy, and might well be given a long, hard look as the U. S. prepares to launch one of its own.

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's honeymoon with history is over but, while he can't be blamed for the woes piling up on him, they are his now to do with as he can.

MARLOW

What he can do about some of them must trouble him sorely, for he has to mix hope with action in trying to put a man on the moon ahead of the Soviet Union, solving the civil rights uproar and achieving some kind of peace in Viet Nam.

He was happily free of crises anywhere from the time he took office 16 months ago until early this year, although they were bound to come. It was as if men and events had agreed to let him get used to his job.

The slow melting of Viet Nam under Communist fire began in the Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy administrations, not in Johnson's. It just got worse in his until this country had to decide to put up or shut up.

The Negro demands for full civil rights had their beginnings in the Eisenhower administration, grew stronger in President Kennedy's time, and then boiled up and spilled over on Johnson.

★ ★ ★

In the midst of all this came the unpleasant reminder that the Russians are ahead in space and that therefore the country will be expecting Johnson to do something about it, although probably not one in a million could say what.

REDS SHINE IN SPACE

Last week, just as the United States was getting ready to turn loose a nonmanned moon shot and then send a two-man team into orbit in a Gemini spacecraft, the Russians put on a show far outshining what Americans could do.

The Russian timing, just before the American space shots, was hardly an accident and therefore in demonstrating Russian superiority, must have been doubly galling to Johnson.

Yet, the Russians have been ahead for years, in President Eisenhower's time and in Kennedy's, too, even though the United States has been trying to catch up and close the gap that goes back to the 1950s.

★ ★ ★

But the big test is still in getting a man to the moon first. This country might be able to do it within this decade but the Russians may do it sooner.

★ ★ ★

It would be a great climax to Johnson's first four-year term if this country could do it first by 1968, which is also a presidential election year.

David Lawrence Asks:

Is Forced Voting on Its Way?

WASHINGTON — Forced voting may be on its way for the individual citizen in America.

LAWRENCE

Thus far the coercion would apply only to certain persons in particular states. But this is a form of discrimination which has been included in the pending voting-rights measure.

Just why President Johnson has approved of the idea of punishing certain citizens because they do not vote at least once in three years is a mystery.

There are lots of persons who become ill or suddenly find they have to be away from home on election day or cannot get an absentee ballot in time.

No explanation has been advanced as to just why such individuals are to be penalized if they fail to vote.

The voting - rights bill, which is supposed to be passed by congress soon, would penalize newly listed voters rather than those already registered, since it would apply only to those voters whose names have been put on the list of eligibles by federal examiners or registrars.

The proposed statute actually says that a citizen may lose his right to vote and that his or her name can be removed from the list of eligibles by a federal examiner if the latter determines that the individual has not voted "at least once during three consecutive years" while listed as eligible.

Compulsory voting is enforced in some countries, but it applies to all citizens. As far as is known, every country with such a system penalizes everyone and not just selected citizens.

★

Oddly enough, with all the talk about antidiscrimination and giving every citizen an opportunity to vote, nothing has been done by the administration to prevent corruption at the polls, either in the casting or the counting of the ballots in all federal, state and local elections.

ASSUMING RIGHT

Yet the federal government now is assuming the right to control the voting process in all elections throughout the country.

The only reference in the bill to improper counting pertains to those states which, under the rules to be laid down, will have been adjudged to have discriminated in the past. The law would not apply to dishonesty in other states.

But it so happens that the new civil rights bill is concerned with punishing only the South, allegedly for discrimination in the past.

No effort is being made to apply all the restrictions with respect to voting rights to the other states of the union, where, statistically speaking, there has been no discrimination because more than 50 per cent of the persons of voting age were registered or cast their ballots in November 1964.

The new legislation, if passed in its present form, will turn out to be a highly discriminatory measure, though ostensibly designed to cure discrimination in the registering of voters.

Ruth Dreams of Selma -- With Barry as President

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — It was an unusually far-fetched dream — probably caused by something I ate after watching the Gridiron spoof of the Great Society— but while I slept Barry Goldwater won by a landslide.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

As Lady Bird would say, "It was a fearsome thing." In my dream I saw Dr. Martin Luther King arriving in Selma to lead a vote drive two days before Barry's inauguration, and holding a series of mass meetings.

Alabama authorities, no doubt feeling their oats because of the Goldwater victory, made 3,000 arrests. Violence flared around the courthouse, and Dr. King spent five days in jail.

Violence spread to neighboring counties, and in nearby Marion a Negro named Jimmie Lee Jackson was fatally wounded by an officer as state troopers sought to break up a march.

★ ★ ★

Negro leaders demanded to know why President Goldwater did not send federal marshals.

PROTEST MARCH

Gov. George Wallace banned night marches in Alabama, but on March 7 hupdreds of Negroes and whites began a protest march from Selma to Montgomery anyway.

As they crossed the bridge at the Selma city limits a sheriff's posse and state troopers rode into the crowd on horseback, lashing at them with clubs and whips, and tossing tear gas bombs. Sounds preposterous, but you know how wild dreams can get.

Naturally everyone blamed the chaos on President Goldwater and the "hate" groups who helped elect him.

Outraged ministers of the gospel, priests, rabbis, nuns and college students flew to Selma to help defy local law enforcement officers. Several top-ranking clergymen demanded that President Goldwater come to Selma in person to see the violation of human rights. He took no federal action.

STAGED SIT-INS

Congressional leaders promised speedy action on a voting bill, but some agitators staged sit-ins there. Violence and arrests continued in Alabama.

President Goldwater refused to send federal marshals, but finally federalized Alabama guardsmen when Wallace declined to provide police protection for another Selma-to-Montgomery march approved by a federal judge.

The march began, and as I sought to interview the vanguard I heard white bystanders shouting: "None of this would have happened if we'd voted against that Goldwater."

★ ★ ★

I awakened with a sudden start, remembering the lines which a Gridiron member impersonating Goldwater had been singing to the strains of "Pass Me By": "Tell those ladies wearin' tennis shoes, Lyndon's got the blues, not I. So tell all the voters who didn't happen to like me — deal me out, deal me out, thank you kindly, pass me by."

You failed to mention in your editorial on the lag of the moonshot caused by the iron worker strikers at Cape Kennedy that we taxpayers are paying for the delay out of our own pockets.

Seems to me that if our Great Society President can put through legislation on voting rights, he can do something to stop the strikers in our space program.

'Bill Would Be Paid From State Surplus'

It's hard for a state resident of 38 years to understand why the Democratic legislature should attempt to pass a bill (over the Republican Governor's veto) to be paid for out of state surplus funds, when after years of Democratic governorship the state was unable to meet its employes' pay days.

Perhaps if the people who elected a businessman as our head of state would get behind him, the entire fiscal picture of our state would continue to improve.

The spirit of truth prevailed in the hearts of our forefathers when the United States of America was conceived. Two Say It's Unfair to Stop Senior Trips

It is unfair to stop senior trips in Waterford Township. It isn't the fault of Waterford Kettering that Waterford Township High School had only 40 per cent of the senior class going on the trip. Future senior classes might have a larger participation.

I don't think it is fair to future senior classes or to Waterford-Kettering to end senior trips in Waterford Township. Next year there may be more participation for the senior trip. It is unfair to stop the trips at both schools because the participation at one school drops below 50 per cent.

Suggests Pontiac Establish Toll Stations

A solution to the problem of making the commuters pay for the privilege of enjoying Pontiac's many assets would be to establish toll stations at the city limits on all roads leading into Pontiac. That policy will make nonresidents pay for enjoying the city. Incidentally, these people contribute heavily to the Pontiac Area United Fund every fall.

Moral Issue

The San Diego Union

President Johnson has asked Congress to pass legislation guaranteeing the right to vote. It does seem strange that special legislation is necessary to reaffirm what would be an obvious Constitutional right.

But rights, unless spelled out, can be circumvented, and this is the issue at stake in the matter of Negro voting in much of the South. Restrictions in registration in particular have been applied to defeat the intent of the Constitution.

As President Johnson said in his address to a joint session of Congress, the "conscience of the nation" demands that all citizens be treated equally and fairly in the eyes of the law.

Other Presidents, Republicans as well as Democrats, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, for one, have made the same point that this is a moral issue.

★ ★ ★

Citizens cannot be divided into classes. What is applied to one must be applied to the others, and what is denied to one cannot be granted to another.

But neither is a moral issue narrowed by circumstances.

The effort to establish equality in registration and voting itself carries the wider moral obligation to respect law and order as well as the spirit of the Constitution.

Human lives already have been lost in the disregard of ordinary rights of citizens, and of law and order as well, in a movement which too often, and sadly, has been unthinkingly called a "revolution."

It has been a long time since the Emancipation Proclamation, and Republicans once again have had to take the lead in supporting the President and in the preparation of legislation.

★ ★ ★

The solution must lie within law. A moral issue will not be resolved by hatred and public demonstrations, or with clubs.

Expansion

The Grand Rapids Press

Most Michigan residents probably never have heard of the Michigan Legislative Service Bureau. But the bureau is an all-important adjunct of the Legislature.

It does research for the legislators, singly and in groups, drafts bills and provides other technical assistance. And for years it has been seriously undermanned.

This is not merely the opinion of the legislators but of others who have noted how long it sometimes takes the bureau to produce a technically complicated bill or come up with some elusive set of facts.

Because there are so many new members in the Legislature this year, the bureau has had an unusual volume of work to handle. As a result, the bureau finally is being expanded.

Whatever extra the cost may be, it will be money well spent. And since members of both parties will benefit — we never have heard of a case of discrimination in the bureau — partisan politics are not involved.

The result should be quicker action and sounder bills. And if the expanded bureau is able to show any number of legislators that they ought not to pop their bills into the hopper, the results will be doubly welcome.

GAZING AT THE HEIGHTS — Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York surveys the tortuous route up Mt. Kennedy in Yukon Territory.

Up Mt. Kennedy

Bobby Climbs Through Snow

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP)—Clouds, wind and a threat of snow descended on Mt. Kennedy today as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, guided by expert mountaineers, prepared for his assault on the summit of the 13,900-foot peak.

It was not believed the weather would endanger the success of the climb, but did mean the New York Democratic senator might be pinned down at the base camp for a day or more after the descent.

Kennedy has with him what is described as a furled black flag. It is believed he will place it at the summit as a memorial to his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, for whom the Canadian government named the mountain.

Kennedy and four other climbers left the 7,500-foot base camp about 9 a.m. Tuesday and were presumed to have spent the night at a second camp 4,000 feet farther up the mountain.

NO RADIO CALLS

There is no radio contact with the climbers or the base camp. Newsmen who flew to the area Tuesday observed the climbers from the air. Kennedy and the others waved at a plane flying overhead.

★ ★ ★

Monte Alford, a seasoned Whitehorse mountaineer who followed the five climbers part of the way, said Kennedy was experiencing no difficulty on the climb. The senator was tied by a rope to two veterans of the 1963 American assault on Mt. Everest, James W. Whittaker of Seattle, Wash., and Barry Prather of Ellensburg, Wash.

★ ★ ★

Snow showers which hit Whitehorse late Tuesday were expected to continue today.

"The clouds are thickening over the Mt. Kennedy area," a forecaster for the meterological office said. "For the next three days it appears the weather will be marginal for flying. Today the mountain will pretty well be obscured."

Not Just Number of Birthdays

Your Attitude Determines Middle Age

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What is middle age?

According to the dictionary, it is "the period of life between the ages of about 40 and about 60."

BOYLE

Like most dictionary definitions, this one is crass, unimaginative and downright unhelpful. For it clearly implies that, if middle age ends at "about 60," then old age must begin at about 61.

This is rampant nonsense Call a woman of 61 an old lady, and she'll scratch your freckles out; call a man of 61 an old man, and you'd better duck fast.

FINANCIAL LOLLIPOPS

The government starts doling out financial lollipops at 65, but does that necessarily mean we're really old? Hardly. Even at 70 an individual hates to admit he's old at last. He may admit he's elderly, but he'd probably rather just say he's "getting on in years."

Age isn't altogether a matter of either the calendar or how you look. Many skinny little babies at two weeks look more antique when they yawn than does a man at 75.

★ ★ ★

Middle age is determined by your attitude toward life — by how you feel and what you do — as much as it is by the number of your birthdays.

Here are a few signposts that let you know you are middle-aged:

PLAY DOUBLES

Instead of playing singles at tennis you always play doubles.

Every time the stock market goes up a few points you start figuring how rich you'd be if you'd only bought a few shares back at the end of the second World War.

★ ★ ★

You've tried all the new wonder drugs and find that none of them work in your case.

When you meet an old fraternity friend from college days and he gives you the secret grip, you forget how to return it.

★ ★ ★

They don't have winters like they did in the old days, but it does seem to rain more often now.

WATCH BIRDS

On Saturday afternoons in spring you'd rather sit in the back yard and watch a bird feed its young than go all the way out to the ball park to see a game.

★ ★ ★

You mail more get-well cards to friends than greeting cards.

Shoes feel heavier than they used to. So do snow shovels. So do you.

At the seashore you'd rather lie on the beach or go for a walk than plunge in and battle the waves. They get rougher every year.

★ ★ ★

You get more critical of women. When you see a pretty girl, your admiration is tempered by a cautious suspicion that her paint job probably hides a bad disposition.

NOISY TEENAGERS

When you see a group of noisy teen-age youths approaching, you consider crossing to the other side of the street. No telling what kids will do these days.

The print on the medicine bottles is harder to read.

★ ★ ★

If you drop a penny on the sidewalk, you bend over and pick it up. This is a dead giveaway; nobody under middle age —except very small children — bothers to pick up a penny anymore.

★ ★ ★

Recognize these signs? Then face it, man: You're middle-aged — no matter what the calendar says. So make the best of it.

Pension Bill Is Withdrawn

LANSING (AP)—A $6,000 annual pension for Charles Youngblood Sr. would have resulted from a bill introduced and later withdrawn by his son, State Sen. Charles Youngblood Jr., D-Detroit.

Saying he "hadn't realized what it would do," the senator pulled the bill back Tuesday and said he wanted to discuss it with a colleague.

The measure would lower retirement age for Common Pleas Court bailiffs from 55 to 53, lower the time required in the job from 30 to 23 years and base pension rights on 60 per cent of the highest salary over five of the last ten years.

The senior Youngblood, 53, has been a bailiff slightly more than 23 years.

PLAN LOWER

Under the old pension plan the elder Youngblood would have received an annual pension of some $4,000. The proposed increases would give him approximately $6,000 per year.

To Eye Future of Programs

County to Consider Handicapped Funds

Four viewpoints will be presented tomorrow when the Oakland Board of Education considers the financial future of the county program for the education of handicapped children.

Slated to appear before the board are Mrs. Walter Barningham, member of the citizens advisory committee on special education; Supt. G. V. Harrison of Farmington Schools; Dr. Mary Blair of the State Department of Public Instruction; and Dr. Paul F. Thams, Oakland Schools special education director.

Dr. William J. Emerson, county school superintendent, said the half-mill tax which last year yielded $1.1 million is no longer adequate to do more than continue the 393 special education classes now in operation in the county.

Since the half-mill tax was passed by the public in 1954, the number of programs for the handicapped has increased from 56 in five districts to its present level in 29 districts, Emerson said.

* * *

Only commitments made prior to February 1964 have been carried out because a hold-the-line policy was made by county school district superintendents last year.

MORE CHILDREN

Despite an increase of 10,085 children in the schools since this policy became effective, no rooms have been added and no teachers have been hired.

Emerson said the board of Oakland Schools has several alternatives.

It could call for a vote to increase the present half-mill tax.

It could attempt to get area school districts to divert funds from existing programs for normal children to the education of the handicapped.

* * *

Another alternative mentioned by Emerson was to reduce the scope of the program for the handicapped.

U. of M. Profs Air Viet Nam Crisis Tonight

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A group of University of Michigan professors, joined by an associate justice of the State Supreme Court, planned to meet on campus tonight for an education conference forum "on the Viet Nam crisis."

This is the same group which last week raised the ire of state officials and U - M President Harlan Hatcher when they announced plans to suspend classes for one day in protest over U.S. involvement in the Southeast Asian country.

Tonight's group will be joined by Justice Paul Adams, who last week announced his support of the group's plans.

The group said it planned to refocus attention on Viet Nam policy in another way by starting "with an action which makes our concern completely clear."

* * *

William P. Livant, a resident psychologist at the university's Mental Health Research Institute, outlined the education conference forum.

* * *

He said students would be asked to attend educational conferences between 8 p.m. and midnight to hear professors and others speak out against U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

To Resume Testifying in Guard Case

LANSING (AP) — Attorneys for two suspended National Guard generals planned to cross-examine today a witness whose reliability they questioned.

The defense spent about four hours Tuesday cross-examining Lt. Col. John Brown at Gov. George Romney's hearing on gross neglect of duty charges against Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert.

★ ★ ★

"I just want to show what kind of accusations he (Brown) makes," Neifert's attorney, Russell Noble, told Romney.

McDonald's attorney, Thomas McAllister, was in the midst of cross-examining Brown when the session adjourned for the day.

GAVE WARNING

Brown testified earlier he had warned McDonald and Neifert about violations of rules on spending procedures.

Nobel's questions dealt with accusations Brown made in letters to Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, commanding general of the Michigan National Guard, and with circumstances of Brown's dismissal from the guard.

Brown, who was fiscal officer for both Neifert and McDonald, was fired by Neifert Oct. 8, 1963. He was reinstated by Romney Oct. 8, 1964—the same day McDonald and Neifert were relieved of duties.

Romney said a letter Brown wrote to Simmons in August, 1963, led to the auditor general's investigation which led to suspension of McDonald and Neifert.

ASKED REASON

Noble asked whether that letter was the only reason for Brown's dismissal.

Brown said Neifert and McDonald "refused to give me the specifics in writing."

Noble asked whether there had been personnel problems with women members of the quartermaster general's staff.

Those are all generated, frame-up charges," Brown replied. He said some of his information on this point came from "confidential sources." And, he said, "I don't reveal my confidential sources to anyone."

★ ★ ★

Romney then barred the public from the hearing for about three minutes. After the closed-door proceedings, he explained: "The only testimony we took was the names of individuals. Exclusion of the public was solely to protect the individuals."

Order Hubbard to Show Cause

DETROIT (AP) — Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard was ordered Tuesday to show cause why Wayne County Circuit Court should not enforce an order of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

Hubbard also is under a federal indictment stating he violated a federal civil rights statute by alleged failure to protect the property of a man whose house was stoned by a mob. A white mob stoned the home of the man, mistakenly believing he had sold or rented the home to Negroes.

PACIFISTS CARRIED OFF BASE — Military police carry members of the Committee for Nonviolent Action from the Oakland Army Supply Depot in Oakland, Calif., yesterday. A group of 100 demanded entry to the base to talk with workers and "halt shipment of arms to Viet Nam." The demand was refused and about 15 climbed the fence and had to be carried off the base. Sanatorium Sale Conditions Gain Committee Okay

Conditions for the sale of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium to Oakland Community College were recommended yesterday.

★ ★ ★

In a joint meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' ways and means and buildings and grounds committees, it was agreed that final installment of the $927,000 purchase price would be due Jan. 31, 1966.

A check for $27,000 for the sale of the property at 7350 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township, already has been received.

An additional $83,000 is due next month.

Conditions call for payment of $400,000 by the college next September with the balance due at the end of next January.

★ ★ ★

A four per cent penalty will be imposed on any amount not paid by the due date, according to the recommendation that will go to the board of supervisors.

Harry W. Horton, Royal Oak supervisor, was the only member of the two committees who voted against the resolution recommending conditions for the sale.

Horton said he was under the impression it was to be a cash sale and thus objected to the proposal.

Sale of the TB facility was authorized last Jan. 12 by the board of supervisors for $927,000, the value set by two professional appraisers.

In other action yesterday, the ways and means committee recommended approval of a contract between the county and Pontiac General Hospital for outpatient services for the mentally retarded.

The estimated $62,000 annual cost of the contract will be matched by the county and state.

Michigan Ponders Bills for New Voting Age

LANSING (AP) — A numbers game with the minimum voting age continued today with the introduction of a House resolution to lower the age limit to 20 years.

Rep. Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heights, introduced the resolution Tuesday — the fourth on the subject to come before the legislature. Two others would lower the age to 18 and a third would lower it to 18 only for high school graduates.

Pontiac City Affairs

5-Cent Transfer Fee Included in Proposed Transit Contract

City bus riders may soon be paying a five-cent transfer fee under terms of a new contract to extend local transit service.

The City Commission voted last night to direct that a new contract, expiring May 1, 1966, be drafted with American Transit Corp.

The firms current agreement expires next Wednesday.

The agreement would continue the present financial arrangements between the bus firm and the city, which call for the city to subsidize bus company losses up to $1,715 per month.

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, who had pushed for the transfer charge, said the new fee would bring in an estimated $3,000 to $4,000 annually in added revenue.

REPEAT WARNING

Hudson repeated his warning that public bus transportation is on the way out. Pontiac's situation, he said, was "real serious."

The District 4 commissioner pointed out that city buses had 9 million riders in 1946. By 1956, the number fell to 3 million and, in 1964, it was under 800,000.

In addition, he said that, in the last year, the number of riders has dropped 20 per cent per month.

* * *

"Maybe Pontiac should be added to the 69 cities across the country with over 25,000 population without bus transportation," Hudson said.

FORMAL ACTION

Formal action on the new bus agreement is expected in about two weeks.

In other business last night, the City Commission approved a plan change for the R20 urban renewal project.

The plan change requires buffer strips between residential areas and abutting commercial developments. The buffer strips, made up of fencing and landscaping, would be installed by redevelopers.

* * *

In other action, the commission gave the preliminary go-ahead on plans for sanitary sewers in an area bounded by Wren, Arthur, Motor and Fildew.

ESTIMATION

Estimated cost of the sewers was put at $113,460 with $47,260 being assessed to affected property owners and the city's share being $66,200.

The city engineer is to prepare plans for the projected sewers.

Traffic control orders, formally setting parking regulations for portions of Opdyke, Saginaw, Woodward, Oakland and Wide Track, were approved.

Established by the Michigan State Highway Department, the parking regulations have been in effect for some time, according to city officials.

EXTENSION

Also last night, the commission approved extension through June 30 of the city's financial support of an Alcoholism Information Agency.

The agency is supported through the joint contributions of the State Board of Alcoholism and the city on a 50-50 basis. The shares are $1,663 each.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Theirs is a fragrant job — to tend flowering plants on the flower cart at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. This new service in the hospital gift shop has been in operation a little more than a month. From the left are Mrs. M. C. Worster, Orchard Lake, cochairman of the gift shop; and Mrs. Ward Ross, North Berkshire Road, a member of the hospital guild.

Pontiac Press Photos

At Pontiac General Hospital, Mrs. Martha Covert, Covert Road, takes time to smell the posies. She is a member of the women's auxiliary. Here, too, flowers are a new addition to the gift shop. It's a good thing that some place the atmosphere is springlike!

Auxiliary Gives Funds for New Beds

The Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital approved a gift to the hospital of over $13,000 for electrical beds for the obstetrical floor.

★ ★ ★

Because of the weather, the anticipated talk by Mrs. H. E. Norris was not given at Tuesday's meeting.

★ ★ ★

Serving on the hospitality committee were Mrs. Charles Barrett, Vera Bassett, Mrs. Merrell Petrie, and Mrs. Frizi Stoddard.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. B. B. Roush presided at the tea table.

April 7 is the date of the "Institute on Developing Leadership Responsibilities" to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing. Those wishing to attend may contact Miss Mary Guthrie.

Girl Needs Firmness

Mom Is Ten Years Late

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 16 years old. She walks home from school, which is about a quarter of a mile, and the minute she walks in the house she turns on the TV set.

ABBY

She looks at it until suppertime, which is about 6:30, and right after supper she will call up her girlfriend. They talk anywhere from half an hour to an hour. When she hangs up, her boyfriend calls her. Then they talk anywhere from half an hour to an hour.

About ten o'clock she starts in doing her homework. She gets terrible report cards and complains that the work is too hard for her.

It's not easy to tell a 16-year-old girl what to do, but something has to be done or we will have to burn the schoolhouse down to get her out. Have you any suggestions?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It won't help you now, but you should have started telling your daughter what to do when she was six! That is the sad story, Mother.

The same knob that turns the TV on, turns it off. Exercise it until she gets her grades up. Limit her telephone conversations to ten minutes.

And if a schoolhouse burns down, they don't give the kids diplomas. They build another school.

DEAR ABBY: I am confused about something and need your help. When a person gets an invitation to any anniversary or birthday party, and down at the bottom of the invitation it says, "NO GIFTS, PLEASE," doesn't that mean no PACKAGED gifts?

That they would rather have the money to buy one good gift, or use the money to go on a trip or something?

It seems to me that a person would have to be very cheap to accept an invitation to a party and not bring any kind of gift at all. Thank you.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You ARE confused. One who is invited to a party has a right to assume that the pleasure of his PRESENCE — not PRESENTS — is desired.

"NO GIFTS" means exactly that. NO GIFTS — packaged or negotiable.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who would serve harmless-looking punch spiked with vodka on the sly?

I am not an alcoholic, but I don't drink anything intoxicating because it makes me sick. I went to a Ladies' Aid CLUB meeting recently and I drank several glasses of the punch my hostess served.

I didn't know at the time that it was spiked with vodka, but when it made me sick afterward, I put two and two together. I called my hostess and told her what I thought of her.

Now I am wondering if I should let the other ladies in the club know that this woman serves spiked punch. That way, at least, they would have the choice of drinking it or leaving it alone.

NON-DRINKER

DEAR NON-DRINKER: If you are still on speaking terms with the hostess who spiked the punch, tell her that in the future she should inform her guests that the punch is punched up a bit.

And if you want to be absolutely certain that the other ladies are duly warned, tell them yourself. It's better to be twice-warned, than not at all.

Reception to Follow Elopement

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: The daughter of a friend of mine eloped two weeks ago. My husband and I received an announcement of the marriage and also an invitation to a reception that is being given by her parents.

The reception is to be held in a hotel and I understand is to be quite large. Isn't a reception highly irregular under these circumstances?

A: It is neither improper nor unusual, under such circumstances, for the parents of the bride to give a reception in honor of the bride and groom to show their approval of the marriage.

BRIDE'S GRANDPARENTS

Q: My daughter is going to be married next month. Both her grandmothers are living and will be present at the wedding. Where and how should they be seated in church?

Are they ushered to their seats before me, and is there any rule of precedence between the maternal and paternal grandmothers?

A: The grandmothers are seated just before the bridegroom's mother. There is no rule of precedence between the maternal and paternal grandmothers.

If there is room for them in the front pew, they would be seated there; otherwise they are seated in the second pew.

CARD OF THANKS

Q: My father passed away last week and my fellow coworkers sent a beautiful floral piece to the funeral. I would like to know to whom I should address my note of thanks, and what do I say?

A: Address your note to "The employees of Blank and Company" and write, "Thank you for your beautiful flowers. Your kind thought meant more to me than I can possibly tell you."

★ ★ ★

The clothes of the bride's and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Give Loans to Students of Nursing

ANN ARBOR — The University of Michigan School of Nursing has begun making financial loans to students under the Nurse Training Act passed last year by Congress.

The Act furnishes loans of up to $1200 per year to encourage both men and women to pursue careers in nursing.

It provides financial assistance needed to keep students in school, and, later, cancels as much as 50 per cent of the loan if the nurse works full-time in any public or nonprofit private institution or agency.

★ ★ ★

Since January 1965, when the funds become available, the U-M has approved loans for ten nursing students.

About 40 additional applications are now being screened.

REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must meet the regular scholastic requirements for admission to the University, and must indicate a need for financial aid.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rhoda Reddig Russell, dean of the U-M School of Nursing, said the new program "will enable qualified students to enroll in school, and to remain in school, despite inadequate financial assistance from their families."

Once the man or woman graduates as a nurse, ten per cent of his total loan (up to a maximum of fifty per cent) is canceled for each year of fulltime nursing in public or non-profit private institutions.

Frame Is Important to Picture

Since spring is a season of chanbe, it's a good time to check your picture frames to see if they need changing.

The purpose of a picture frame is to form a support for the picture and serve as the connecting link between the picture and the wall.

If the frame is too heavy, it will overpower the picture, advises the Picture and Frame Institute.

If you've been dissatisified with any of your picture frames, here are some of the basic rules to be followed in purchasing a new frame.

First, be sure the frame focuses attention on the picture and draws the eye to the center of interest in the picture.

Second, your frame should harmonize in color and weight with the subject matter. Third, the frame should strengthen the composition it frames, but never dominate it.

Fourth the Picture and Frame Institute counsels that the frame should surround, but not halt the movement of color and line in the picture.

Lastly, the frame, when necessary, should create an illusion of depth or size or added perspective to the picture.

The finish or color of the frame should bear close relationship with the picture itself.

A frame that is not quite as dark as the darkest colors in your picture is appropriate in most cases.

You can make excellent popovers without bothering to sift the flour; just aerate it by stirring before filling the measuring cup. Add the required salt to the measured flour and stir again.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

When a dress pattern has sleeves and I want to make it sleeveless, how do I go about cutting the pattern?

Mrs. C. L.

Dear Mrs. C. L.:

Sleeveless dresses usually look better without such a deep armhole. Cut the underarm sections ½ inch higher, tapering to nothing at the front and back notches.

If your dress is already made and you wish to make it sleeveless, there isn't much you can do to make the armhole higher. You have to take the underarm seam in slightly for a closer fit and finish the seam with a bias binding that extends slightly past the edge of your garment.

This won't be quite as successful as making a sleeveless garment from scratch.

Dear Eunice:

When making collars with lace edgings, I can never get the lace to suit me. How can the lace be applied so that it looks like the ones you purchase at the store? Mrs. C. M. G.

Dear Mrs. C. M. G.:

Gather the lace evenly and pin to the seamline of the top collar. Check to see that it will be perfectly even after collar has been stitched. Machine stitch to the single layer of collar. This stitching will be used as a guide-line.

Pin the collar facing over the top collar, right sides together, and machine stitch the collar directly over the guide-line stitching. It should be perfect every time.

One of my students had hoped she would have enough fabric for a coat and a skirt, but found she came out on the short end of the skirt.

Rather than give up the idea, I suggested she make one of the tunic-type skirts. You only need about 15 inches for this. The balance of the skirt would be made of lining fabric or light weight taffeta. With this type skirt, you would wear one of the new long tunic over-blouses.

If you have the right figure for this type of ensemble, you will probably like it better than the conventional type skirt. At least you will get some extra wear out of your large scrap of left over fabric.

Dear Eunice:

When a hand-knit coat is too long, is it possible to shorten it from the bottom? Mrs. M. F. M.

Dear Mrs. M. F. M.:

Yes, this is possible and not too difficult if you follow each instruction carefully.

- Clip the yarn just above the finished edge of hem and unravel to the correct new length.
- Pick up the stitches on your needles and bind off, unless you desire a hem. For the hem, knit a "turning row" (purl one row on the knit side of garment). This makes the hem less bulky and the reverse knit keeps the hem from rolling under.
- Continue knitting about 2 inches for the hem and then bind off the stitches.

Spray Paint Screens

DEAR POLLY — A neighbor suggested that I share my husband's method of spray painting our window screens.

He tacks several layers of newspaper to the inside garage wall. Then he stacks half the screens, on end, in front of the papers.

He uses the spray attachment for the vacuum cleaner and follows its directions. We found that well diluted oil base paint is best for the screens.

Spray lightly and then turn the screens over and do the other sides. The spray paint that sifts through is not wasted and helps with the spraying of the screens stacked underneath. —MRS. K. E.

DEAR POLLY — I am sending my method for making beads out of rose petals in answer to Alyce's request for her 81-year-old mother who wants to make some.

Pick rose petals (I wait until they are about through blooming as they pick easier and can be enjoyed longer). It takes about a half gallon to make a string of heads, but they do not have to be picked all at one time.

Grind one-half gallon of rose petals through the food chopper nine times, using the fine knife blade. Put in a large IRON skillet and leave them alone for three days or until they turn black. Stir occasionally so they color evenly.

Flatten out this pulp, cut with a thimble and roll into small balls. These will shrink to about one-third of the size they were when rolled. Keep that in mind when shaping the balls.

Stick hat pin through the center of each one. Put them in a pin cushion to dry.

Veils to Go With Spring

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Veils are right in the mood of fashion for spring — soft and feminine. And they are a boon to hairdos on breezy days.

★ ★ ★

You can make five such as shown here for the price of one purchased at a good shop.

CATCHER'S MASK (A):

At top is a glorified and glamorous catcher's mask.

Buy ¾ yard of 18-inch veiling in a fine, double mesh and 1¼ yard of ¾-ich matching grosgrain ribbon. Interlace ribbon through one long edge of veiling. Loose ends of ribbon should be the same length at each side.

To shape veil in back, make two lines of basting around sides and top of veil, as at A. Draw up tight and whip securely. Clip ribbon ends to point.

Slip over face with ribbon under chin, and tie ribbon in bow at back.

If you feel ribbon under your chin is not becoming to you, then make a bow of the ribbon for center back, and use small hairpins or bobby pins to hold the veil in place at the sides.

PILL BOX COVER (B):

To perk up a plain pillbox, as at B, buy ¾ yard of medium-mesh veiling, preferably with fine chenille dots, and 1¼ yards of matching velvet tubing or narrowest velvet ribbon.

Interlace tubing through one long edge of veiling, catching it in about every fourth mesh. Ease veiling on the tubing until loose ends are even.

BICYCLE CLIP HAT (C):

Cover a bicycle clip with velvet ribbon. A stainless glue helps with this. Catch the veiling to the velvet, draw veiling around to the back and catch ends together so they will hold in place.

Trim the ends diagonally, then sew the bows at strategic distances on the veiling. Five is a good number.

You can have veiling in a color to match your dress. You can make a tubing. Slide the bicycle clip through this and then fit the veil over your face; pin to the covered clip.

Cut away any surplus veiling. Hand sew veiling to wrong side of covered clip.

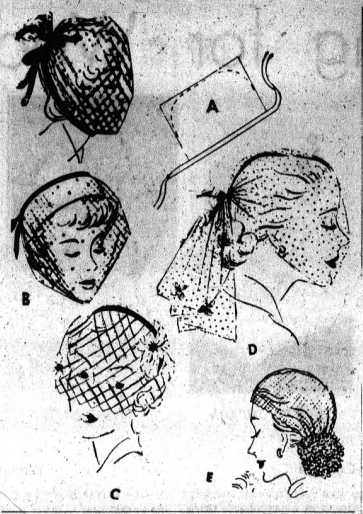

PONY TAIL VEIL (D)

Buy 1 yard of fine mesh veiling. Draw it up just above the now fashionable low curls or page boy roll.

Hold the gathered up fullness with a safety pin until you can sew it securely. Make a bow of velvet ribbon at the back. Five loops of ribbon and two ends are good.

Make tiny double bows of the velvet ribbon and sew four on one side, five on the other — these to weight the ends of the veiling and at the same time decorate it.

Three or more artificial flowers can be used to hold the veiling at the back. Sew the flowers securely so that two large hairpins will keep them in place.

Parents Can Show Proper Way

Many an approving parent, charmed by a small child's engaging efforts to brush his teeth, has been inadvertently responsible for neglect that can lead to early tooth decay.

Therefore, it seems appropriate to point out to parents the proper way to care for young children's teeth.

Recent studies conducted by dentists reveal that youngsters barely able to dress themselves are often entrusted with the task of brushing their teeth.

The parent should perform this function at least until the child is entirely capable of doing it for himself.

In brushing the child's teeth the parent should hold the child's head back with the left hand under his chin. Then with the right hand, systematically brush all the upper teeth down at least four teeth up at least four times. Then, go back to the molars on each side.

A horizontal stroke should be used on chewing surfaces.

A new toothbrush, designed by dentists, makes it easy to follow the preferred method of brushing — up and down. Arrows on the handle of the toothbrush give these directional signals for better toothbrushing.

The toothbrush comes in a special children's size (as well as adult) and the bristles are tooth-shaped to actually fit the profiles and contours of the teeth, when held in the proper brushing position.

Dams vs. Beauty Basis of Grand Canyon Rift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The beauty of the Grand Canyon country and the demand for more water in California and Arizona have set off a dams vs. nature dispute.

The federal government, Congress and state officials are involved in the maneuvering — and so is a hard-fighting conservation group named the Sierra Club.

This club, which is based at San Francisco and has chapters from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic, says two electric power dams that the Interior Department wants to build would stop "the pulsing heart" of the Grand Canyon.

Not so, retorts Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. A conservationist, Udall is backing the dams as part of an approach to the old controversy between California and Arizona over use of Colorado River waters, which flow through the canyon.

REVENUES INTO FUND

Revenues from the dams would go into a fund to help pay the cost of other water resources projects, including the long-sought central Arizona development.

The dams would be outside the boundaries of Grand Canyon National Park. But, the Bridge Canyon Dam, downstream, would back water into the park and upstream Marble Canyon Dam could provide additional control of the river flow through the park.

★ ★ ★

Members of the Senate and House from California and Arizona, which would be most directly affected by the program, generally have come around to the approach advocated by Udall.

STILL DIFFERENCES

But there still are differences as to the exact provisions of legislation, particularly in regard to California's share of the waters.

The Sierra Club has mounted a full-scale attack on construction of the Marble Canyon and Bridge Canyon dams.

The club, founded in 1892 by John Muir, says it has devoted itself to the study and protection of national scenic resources, particularly those of mountain regions.

Referring both to earlier unsuccessful opposition to Glen Canyon Dam and to the plan for dams at Marble Canyon and Bridge Canyon, David Brower, executive director of the club, has written:

BEAUTY DESTROYED

"Upstream and unmarred was the exquisite beauty of Glen Canyon, the place no one knew. Most of it was destroyed early in 1963 when the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation closed a dam that was not necessary for this century and perhaps would never have been necessary.

"Now the same bureau has proposed to build dams in Grand Canyon itself as part of its Pacific Southwest water plan — to end the living river's flowing for all this civilization's time.

"The dams the bureau plans to build in Marble Gorge and at Bridge Canyon, within the Grand Canyon proper, would destroy not only the living river but also the unique life forms that through the ages have come to depend upon the river's life.

PULSING HEART

"The major part of the canyon walls would still be there, but the pulsing heart of the place would be stopped. A chain of destructive forces would be begun in what by law was set apart as part of the national park system, to be preserved unimpaired for All America's future."

In rebuttal to such previous claims, Udall and Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., have pointed out that the 1919 law which created Grand Canyon National Park contained this language:

"That whenever consistent with the primary purposes of said park, the secretary of the interior is authorized to permit the utilization of areas therein which may be necessary for the development and maintenance of a government reclamation project."

Udall wrote President Johnson on Feb. 14, 1964, that the positive factors supporting the necessity for the Bridge Canyon Dam and reservoir heavily outweighed the negative factors in impairment of scenic beauty of the park.

CONCLUSIONS JUSTIFIED

The Senate Interior Committee has stated that the secretary's conclusions were well-justified and should be given congressional ratification.

The committee said the Bridge Canyon reservoir's impact would be slight, and that over 98 per cent of the land area in the park would remain in its natural condition.

It further stated that only 1,300 people in nine years, 1955-63, undertook the rigorous boat journey now necessary to visit the remote park areas that would be affected, while an estimated 150,000 people annually would make the boat trips that would be available on the reservoir.

But the Sierra Club is saying a flat no to construction of any dam at Bridge Canyon or Marble Canyon.

Says Brower:

"Unless enough people begin to feel uneasy about the current interpretation of what progress consists of — unless they are willing to ask if progress has really served good purpose if it wipes out so many of the things that make life worthwhile, unless they are willing to question whether growth and progress are the same and whether the Gross National Product is really the measure of the good life."

Strike May Delay Navigation Season

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A strike by workmen at the locks here may delay the opening of the navigation season.

Members of Local 1329 of the Laborer's Union struck last Saturday and set up picket lines at the locks. Members of other unions have honored the lines and construction work at the locks has been halted. Neither management nor the union would comment on the issues which caused the strike.

C. A. Aune, area engineer for the U.S. Corps of Engineers, said a prolonged strike could be a threat to the opening of the navigation season. Weather permitting, the season normally gets under way April 1.

Massachusetts has an election law forbidding persons classified as paupers from voting.

Industrial Payrolls Up During February

A short month and snowstorm failed to stop February from making gains in most business categories in the Pontiac area.

Industrial payrolls increased better than $5 million over a year ago, also surpassing January, with $18,055,483 in February.

Postal receipts took their usual February drop to $153,477 compared with January's $177,299 and February 1964's $159,570.

Bank debits to customers, accounts also dropped to $111,954,514, but were still ahead of a year ago.

Water consumption, was another commodity which followed the same trend. The figure stood at 401,546,000 gallons for February compared with 449,731,000 gallons in January.

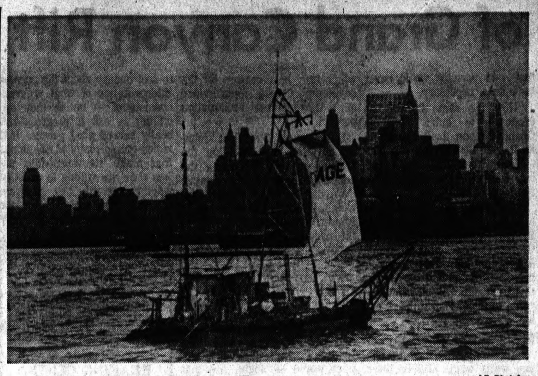

GAS CONSUMPTION

Gas consumption shot past the billion - cubic - foot mark at 1,076,628,900 cu. ft. compared with 907,466,900 cu. ft. a year ago and 926,156,500 cu. ft. the previous month.

A 20 - unit apartment house helped hold up new construction valuation at $120,500, for dwellings. Total building permits however, were down.

Electrical energy consumed was ahead of February last year and January's figure.

PACIFIC RAFT SAILS HARBOR — The 34-foot-long raft "Age Unlimited," in which William Willis, 71, writer-sailor, crossed the Pacific Ocean alone in 1964, sails through New York Harbor yesterday with Willis at the sweep. The raft was brought to New York on the freighter Pioneer Gem and put overside in the harbor. Willis, who returned to New York in February after sailing from Peru to Australia, was waiting for his craft and sailed her to the Statue of Liberty.

On Detroit March

Mail Floods Romney

LANSING (AP) — Aides to Gov. George Romney were working their way out from under an avalanche of mail today, touched off when Romney headed a civil rights march in Detroit two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

The mail, described as "surprisingly heavy" by a source close to Romney, ran about two to one against his participation in the march.

★ ★ ★

Detroit Negroes and whites marched eight abreast in a blocks-long parade to protest reports of police brutality in Alabama.

"We were hit by a siege of telegrams and letters from the South saying, in effect, 'mind you own business,'" an aide said.

KNIFING

The aide said about half of the southern mail referred to a race-linked fight and knifing following a state regional basketball tournament in Detroit.

"The general upshot of these was: 'If you can't keep order in your own state, how do you presume to tell us how to act?'" the aide said.

But "there was an exceptionally good response from people in Michigan" supporting Romney's stand, he added.

Staff members, now in the process of answering the letters said they lost count after the messages passed the 200 mark.

★ ★ ★

"But it wasn't by any means the heaviest mail we ever received," one said. "The mail was a lot heavier over the Goldwater issue." Romney refused to endorse GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in the presidential election last November.

Teen Held Without Bond in Strangling

DETROIT (UPI) — A Romulus High School football star was held without bond today in the Wayne County Jail on a charge of first-degree murder in the death of his father, whom he has admitted strangling and then trying to make the death appear an accident.

Kenneth S. McClure, 18, and his brother Bruce, 17, stood mute yesterday before Nankin Township Justice of the Peace George Perry.

Bruce, who admittedly aided his brother in placing the body of their father into a car and then placing it across railroad tracks in the path of a train to make the death appear accidental, was charged under an 1846 law which prohibits tampering with a dead body without proper authorization.

The body of their father, Kenneth, 55, was found Sunday in the wreckage of the family car after it was hit by a freight train near the McClure home. Authorities said it appeared that the wreckage was not enough to cause the death of McClure. They traced footsteps through the snow to the McClure home and questioned the boys. Young Kenneth admitted the slaying, police said, because "he always whipped us and beat our mother."

OTHER CHILDREN

There are five other McClure children besides Kenneth and Bruce. Mrs. McClure was visiting relatives in Missouri at the time of her husband's death.

Both she and her husband had filed divorce proceedings. Welfare spokesmen said there was "domestic conflict" in the home.

Bruce, whom his brother said had nothing to do with his father's death, was released on $1,000 bond.

★ ★ ★

Both are scheduled to appear in Perry's court for preliminary examination March 29.

Study Effect of Radiation

Exposure Limit Aim in Tests With Mice

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — A Los Alamos scientist is using mice in a unique study which he believes may lead to amazing findings about man's ability to withstand radiation.

Dr. John Spalding is seeking to learn how much radiation can be absorbed without impairing man's ability to perform assigned duties.

"I feel this is a step in the direction of learning to live with radiation," said Spalding, a scientist at the laboratory where the atomic bomb was born.

He said the study will be relevant for long space flights in which astronauts will be exposed to solar radiation. The results also will have military, civil defense and medical applications.

LETHAL DOSE

During the past four months Spalding has exposed more than 200 mice to three times the acute lethal dose of radiation.

None of the mice died and there were no great permanent changes in blood count, body weight or voluntary activity.

Encouraged, Spalding will broaden the study at the Atomic Energy Commission laboratory to larger animals such as dogs, which have a slower body repair time than humans, and monkeys, which have a repair time similar to man's. Use of at least 1,000 mice also is planned.

"When we can get into larger animals, I think we will find some very surprising things," Spalding said.

7 Children Die in Home Fire in Massachusetts

BELCHERTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Seven children died Tuesday night in a fire which swept their farm home.

Mrs. Arthur Berthiaume, who discovered the blaze, roused her husband by breaking a window. They rescued one daughter, Linda.

The dead were tentatively identified as daughters Alice, Barbara, Mary Jane, Donna and Susan, a son, Arthur Jr., and an infant. They ranged in age from seven months to 10 years.

The parents and Linda were taken to a hospital for treatment of burns.

Famed Burma Doctor Critically Ill in Jungle

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Dr. Gordon Seagrave, the famed Burma surgeon, is critically ill in his jungle hospital in the hills of northern Burma.

The American Embassy said the 68-year-old physician is suffering from a number of ailments and his condition is deteriorating because of his age and a weak heart.

Grissom and Young Give Big Boost to U.S. Space Hopes

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —With the flight of the Molly Brown, the United States gained a little ground on the Russians in the man-in-space race and opened the gates to a flood of astronaut launchings in the years ahead.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young took the Gemini spacecraft up for a trial run Tuesday. They flew it backward, forward and upside down and executed the first orbital changes ever made by a manned spacecraft.

There were a few minor difficulties. But project officials pronounced the two-seat craft ready to begin operational missions on the next flight. Nine more Gemini flights are scheduled in the next two years.

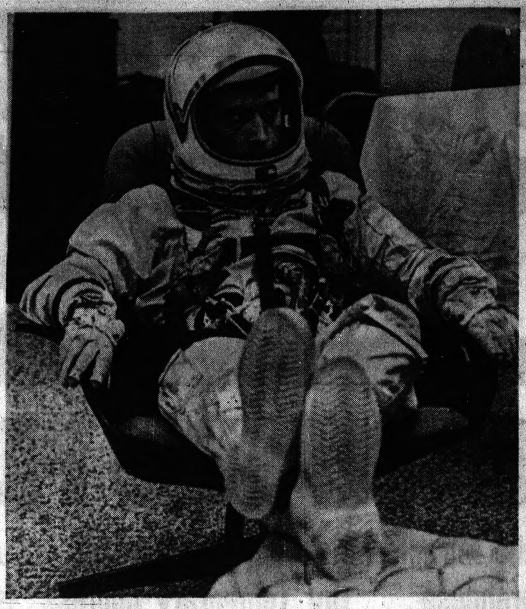

Grissom and Young were up for a three-orbit spin lasting less than five hours. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration termed it a "truly historic" mission and said it demonstrated the readiness of the craft for future long-duration and rendezvous missions.

4 DAYS

In June, astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White are to zoom into space for four days to further evaluate the capsule and to gather medical and scientific data.

★ ★ ★

McDivitt is to become the first U.S. astronaut to go at least partially out of his orbiting ship. Plans call for him to open his hatch and poke his head into space. However, some thought is being given to having him leave the craft on the end of a tether — just as cosmonaut Alexei Leonov did during a spectacular two-man Soviet shot last week.

BLAST OFF

24 Pupils 'Follow' Spacemen in Their Model Gemini Capsule

OJAI, Calif. (UPI)—Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young may not know it, but they weren't alone yesterday on their Gemini space flight, they had 24 youngsters "up there" with them.

★ ★ ★

The youngsters were fourth, fifth and sixth grade students at Mira Monte School who came to class yesterday at 4 a.m., to follow the astronauts' adventures.

As the Titan 2 missile boosted the Astronauts' Gemini 3 space capsule into space, the youngsters duplicated every movement with a cardboard model.

The classroom walls were covered with warning lights, buzzers and a map of the world for atmosphere.

MODEL SPACECRAFT

The students began building their model spacecraft three weeks ago and even painted "Molly Brown"—nickname of the actual Gemini 3—on the side of their replica.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Betty Grissom (Left) And Mrs. Barbara Young Check Progress Of Husbands' Flight

Watched Husbands on TV

Astronauts' Wives Kept Vigil

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — After it was over everything was different.

Betty Grissom blushed and smiled triumphantly.

The day began gloomily, with an iron gray overcast and mist drifting through the beams of television floodlights in front of their homes.

SUN SHINES

Now the sun shone hotly after Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were safely recovered from the Atlantic.

Spidery white clouds rode a fast breeze across the tops of tall pines in front of the Grissom home.

"I think it's been a great day," Mrs. Grissom told a score of newsmen.

Several of the wives of her Timber Cove neighborhood stood bunched across the street, dressed mainly in capris and shirt blouses.

SIMPLE DRESS

Mrs. Grissom wore a simple, green dress. She said she didn't paste trading stamps as she had planned.

"I was too busy watching television," she laughed.

She wasn't as anxious at liftoff this time, she said, as on the 1961 suborbital flight by her husband.

But she held her breath on the return of his Gemini spacecraft Tuesday.

WATCHED WATER

"I was waiting for the flotation ring to be placed around the capsule," she said.

★ ★ ★

Sons Scott, 14, and Mark, 11, stood beside her. Scott, revealing the braces on his teeth, put his worry more succinctly: "I was just hoping it was floating."

★ ★ ★

Would Mrs. Grissom like to see her husband participate in another flight?

"Not any way soon," she replied.

SAME QUESTION

The same question was put to Mrs. Young at her news conference in neighboring El Lago. It brought this response:

"Heavens, yes. I'd like to take part again and I know John is ready to start training."

With her were daughter Sandra, 7, and son John Jr., 6. John, still bearing telltale dots from a recent bout with chicken pox, had to go back indoors after a brief appearance.

Both families watched three television sets, one for each of the networks.

FELLOW WATCHERS

For company the Grissoms had Mrs. Jerome Hammack, whose husband is a Project Gemini engineer, and Trudy Cooper, wife of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr., an Air Force major.

Eight astronauts' wives were with Mrs. Young.

★ ★ ★

"I'm a gregarious person," she said.

She broke precedent by coming out of seclusion before launch to serve newsmen coffee and sweet rolls.

BOTH FAMILIES

Both families drove to the Manned Spacecraft Center, 28 miles southeast of Houston, to monitor the second orbit.

America's first orbiting astronaut, John H. Glenn Jr., was there. He explained some of the mysteries of space flight to the children.

Both families were scheduled to fly to Cape Kennedy today.

For Gemini Roles

Kudos to State Firms

DETROIT (AP) — Eleven Michigan companies were represented in space Tuesday in the successful Gemini III flight.

A computer made by Burroughs Corp. in Detroit guided the "Molly Brown" until orbit was assured. The craft's hydraulic power control system was made by the Cadillac Gage Co. of Warren.

★ ★ ★

Springs, timing belts and switches came from the Holly Carburetor Co., also of Warren. Guidance and temperature indicators were made by Lear Siegler, Inc. of Grand Rapids.

SHIELD MATERIAL

Dow Corning Corp. in Midland furnished silicone heat shield material for the re-entry phase. Heat dispersal equipment and electronic housings were supplied by Brooks & Perkins, Inc. of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Tube fittings and related parts were made by Aeroquip Corp. in Jackson. Ground handling equipment was furnished by Saginaw Products Corp.

★ ★ ★

Astronaut John Young ate two meals in space supplied by Whirlpool Corp. of St. Joseph. National Waterlift Co. at Kalamazoo supplied hatch actuators and motors. Microphones and headsets came from the Electro Voice, Inc. of Buchanan.

THERE SHE GOES — Bird watchers on the beach near Cape Kennedy, Fla., point skyward as they pick up the Titan after liftoff of the GT-3 orbital flight yesterday. A heavy ground haze nearly obscured the launch and many viewers didn't see the flight until it hit the upper atmosphere and started a vapor trail.

Holly Policemen Threaten to Quit

HOLLY — Members of the Holly police force gave their notice to the council last night—if the village superintendent is put in charge of their department, they will leave.

Village President John F. Oldani called the announcement "confusing."

The official statement followed more than a week of behind - the - scenes meetings on the contemplated move, sparked by a "personality clash" between Supt. James L. Herrington and Police Chief William J. Wood.

"Perhaps we wasted our time," Oldani said, referring to an informal Sunday session the council held with the policemen.

★ ★ ★

The upshot of that meeting was that the policemen were to consider the position of the council.

'INTOLERABLE'

They did, Patrolman Charles Limbaugh told the council last night, and they decided the proposed situation would be intolerable.

"If the police department is placed under the village superintendent, the officers will terminate their employment within five days," Limbaugh said.

Chosen as the spokesman for the group, Limbaugh said every member of the department except one radio operator would leave if the proposed reorganization was adopted by the council.

AREA NEWS

Those who would go are two full-time officers, one part-time patrolman, four reserve officers and two radio operators, he said.

SOUND ALARM

The policemen first sounded the alarm last week when they heard, they said, that the department would be returned to the supervision of Herrington.

The superintendent was put in charge of the department with Wood his subordinate when both men were hired three years ago.

Because of conflict between the two, the organization was changed 18 months ago to make Wood directly answerable to a police commission composed of three councilmen.

★ ★ ★

According to the officers, the department has been running smoothly ever since.

NOT WORKING

"We have evidence this is not working," Oldani said last night.

Wood last week blamed the contemplated change on "petty grievances on his (Herrington's) part."

"I will not work for the man," Wood said. "There was constant conflict and controversy when it was set up that way."

★ ★ ★

Climax of the clash two years ago was Herrington's suspension of Wood for eight days on the grounds of insubordination.

The police chief sees the matter as an ultimatum — that one of the men must go.

He said last night he is looking for another job.

"We can't quite comprehend what reason there is to dismiss Bill as police chief," Limbaugh said. "We're not attempting to make decisions for the council, but we don't feel that Mr. Herrington is qualified, either by experience or emotionally, to conduct a police department."

★ ★ ★

Herrington said he knew reorganization was being discussed by the council but that he had not requested the change.

NEVER ASK

"I haven't been told anything, and I never ask anything," Herrington said.

Oldani noted last night that the council has made no determination in the matter.

The village president's appointments are to be made and reviewed by the council April 13.

★ ★ ★

The council has good reasons to consider the move, according to Oldani.

UNIFIED COMMAND

"We need a unified command," he said. "You can't run any business with the principals in conflict.

★ ★ ★

"You can't have a ball team with both ends going in opposite directions. You need common goals and objectives and you need teamwork."

Planning Unit Recommends Rezoning Bid

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The planning commission last night recommended rezoning for one proposed shopping center and tabled consideration of another.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will ask the Township Board to change 8.9 acres on the northwest corner of Lone Pine and Orchard Lake from residential to commercial.

The reclassification was requested by Howard Keating, developer of Pine Lake Estates, to allow construction of a small convenience shopping center.

The tabled request is that of Borman Food Stores, Inc., regarding property near the southwest corner of Orchard Lake and Maple.

Between 50 and 60 residents attended the public hearing on the two proposals last night.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION

Several of them objected to the Borman request on the basis of the anticipated traffic congestion a large shopping complex would create.

The firm, which operates the Food Fair chain, has asked that a 220-foot strip of property on Maple be rezoned from residential to commercial to expand the 6.9 acres now under the latter classification.

Service Will Follow Dinner

★ ★ ★

Variety Show Is Set Friday at Avondale

Teachers, students and parents will gather on stage Friday night at Avondale Senior High School to put on the 1965 Avondale Variety Show.

Variety will indeed be the theme of the 8 p.m. show in the school's auditorium, with such groups as the Avondale Beatles, the Midnight Sons, the Central Park Lovelies and the "all-new" 1965 Band Majorette Line offering the entertainment.

An international flavor has been added, with can-can dancers, an Argentine tango, Philippine bamboo dancers and Hawaiian dancers presenting acts.

Groups within the school will also be represented, including the speech class, varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders and the music department.

The PTSA sponsors the show, under the direction of a committee including band director Larry Detter, chairman, Mary Budd, John Thompson and Linda Connor.

Student Play at Clarkston

CLARKSTON — The Broadway hit, "Lullaby," will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Clarkston High School by members of the school's dramatic department to raise funds for the forthcoming student production of "My Fair Lady."

Lee Moore, director of dramatics at the high school, conceived the idea for the benefit as a means of securing costumes and sets for "My Fair Lady."

Moore, Pat Thomas and Sherry More will have the lead roles in "Lullaby." Curtain times will be 8 p.m. for all three shows.

Workshop Slated in Troy Saturday

TROY — Martin H. Work, executive director of the National Council of Catholic Men, will be moderator and principal speaker during a one-day workshop Saturday at St. Thomas More Church, 4580 Adams.

Work will speak on the new "Constitution on the Church," prepared at the last session of the Vatican Council in Rome.

The workshop will begin with a 9 a.m. Mass and continue until 4:30 p.m. An evening workshop will also be held, beginning at 8 p.m.

TAKES NEW POST — Don McKeith, formerly of Detroit, has been named director of music at First Baptist Church, 58754 Van Dyke, Washington. McKeith has been director of special music at the Temple Baptist Church in Detroit for the past 29 years.

Sign-Up for '65 Feed Grain Plan Ends Friday for County Farmers

Friday is the last day Oakland County farmers can sign up to participate in the 1965 Feed Grain Program, according to Marshall Mohney, manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

The local ASCS office at 63 Oakland in Pontiac will be open until 9 this evening and from 8:30 to 5 during the remainder of the sign-up period, Mohney said.

A total of 466 farmers have signed up for this year's program. They have drawn $104,093.64 in advance diversion and price support payments, the manager said.

Mohney pointed out that there is no penalty for signing in the program and later canceling out if no advance payment is received.

"This is good insurance against bad weather that might prevent intended planting of the corn crop," Mohney said.

FARMERS AGREE

Most farmers agree that the diversion payment is more than the profit on average-yield corn.

Participating farmers will receive price support payments for the part of their base acreage that they plant and will be eligible for price support loans.

Plan Show and Luncheon

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Following a "My Fair Lady" theme, members of the Franklin Knolls Women's Club are making plans for their annual fashion show and luncheon.

Reservations for the April 1 event should be made by tomorrow with Mrs. Robert M. Blair, 32370 Nottingham.

Scene of the show will be the Glen Oaks Country Club on 13 Mile between Middle Belt and Orchard Lake roads. Cocktails will be served at 11 a.m. with the luncheon following at noon.

The event is the club's single fund-raising project. Proceeds are used to help children at Camp Oakland and the Michigan League of Crippled Children.

OU Prof to Speak at Church Dinner

ROCHESTER — "The Psychology of Religion" will be discussed by Dr. Harvey Burdick this evening as St. Philip's Episcopal Church continues its series of five Lenten dinners highlighted by outstanding speakers.

Dr. Burdick, of the psychology department of Oakland University, will speak following the 6 p.m. dinner.

OK Is Given to Construct Troy City Hall

TROY—The green light was given for the construction of Troy's new city hall by the City Commission last night.

Approval was given for the city building authority to enter into a contract with the W. H. Desimpel Co. of Birmingham for construction of the two-story structure at Big Beaver Road near I-75.

The city hall plans were pared down again in negotiations between the contractor and the building authority, in view of bids which were much higher than the anticipated cost of the structure.

Desimpel came in with the lowest bid, but combined with the lowest landscaping bid received, the total cost came to more than $695,000. Architect Frank Straub had estimated $640,000 as the cost for building and landscaping.

★ ★ ★

Negotiations resulted in cutting the paving of the parking lot and curbs and sidewalk around the building from the plans in order to meet Desimpel's cost estimates.

BUILDING DATES

Straub said construction will begin after mid-April. Completion is slated for one year from now.

★ ★ ★

After approving the contract arrangements, the commission authorized the advance of $25,000 to the building authority to apply against the initial rental payment of $81,634.

Hatchery Output Drops

LANSING (AP) — Michigan commercial hatcheries produced 1.24 million chicks in February, 26 per cent below the same month last year and 21 per cent below the five-year average for the month.

Arraign Youth in Vandalism

Schools Damaged; Suspect Posts Bond

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — An 18-year-old youth arrested Monday in connection with vandalism at two Utica schools was released on $3,000 bond yesterday after standing mute in justice court arraignment.

Gary Hudgens of 8124 Janis was arraigned on a charge of malicious destruction of property over $100.

Shelby police said he was the driver of a car in which two other Shelby Township youths rode to the Utica High School and Shelby Junior High School Saturday night, where they are accused of causing $10,000 in damage.

The other two youths are Gary Moore, 17, of 53311 Starlite and Richard Moore, 16, of 50591 Mile End.

The Moores are not related. Both were arrested Sunday by Shelby police, who said the two admitted breaking at least 79 windows and damaging four driver education cars at the two schools.

WAS ARRAIGNED

Gary Moore was arraigned in Justice Court Monday, also on the malicious destruction charge, and stood mute.

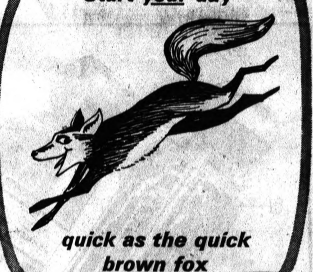

He and Hudgens will face examination Monday. Moore is also free on $3,000 bond.

Richard Moore was released from the Macomb County Youth Home Monday after a preliminary hearing in probate court.

Shelby police have asked the prosecutor's office to request a waiver so he can be tried as an adult.

1,400 in County to Participate

4-H Achievement Day Nears

About 1,400 county 4-H'ers will gather at Pontiac Northern High School Saturday to compete in the annual Oakland County 4-H Achievement Day.

Exhibits will include such hobbies as photography, knitting, handicraft and sewing, and cover subjects of scientific and agricultural interest.

About 50 4-H leaders will judge the entries before they are set up for display.

Because of expected congestion during judging of the various exhibits, officials have suggested that visitors to the event delay their arrival until 11 a.m. or later.

A special evening program at 7:30 p.m. will climax the day's activities with the annual fashion show, in which girls will model their own creations.

TALKING ROBOT

One of the highlights for those viewing the exhibits will be a talking robot from Saginaw called Charlie.

The robot, a creation of Saginaw County 4-H'ers, comments on passersby and puts on a display of flashing eyes and lights.

Out of the judging will come two achievement winners — one boy and one girl. Other special prizes will also be awarded, and winners can enter their winter project exhibits in state competition.

The Achievement Day program winds up winter activities for county 4-H'ers.

Proposed Health Care Plan, With Long Road Ahead, Is Pinpointed to Family Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grandma lives with her married son and his family in Hometown, U.S.A. She's over 65, has no income or money of her own.

If she gets sick, how would the health care plan as approved Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee take care of her? Would the son who has been providing a home for her still be faced with major expenses?

* * *

To bring the multibillion-dollar measure down to the family circle level, let's say grandma has to have an operation sometime after July 1966, when final provisions of the bill would become effective.

* * *

Under the measure — which still has a long road ahead before the House and Senate take final action on it — grandma would automatically get up to 60 days of hospital care after the son pays the first $40 of her hospital bill. Son also would have to take care of her doctor's bill, laboratory fees and other medical expenses.

PLAN COVERAGE

But if son enrolls grandma in a voluntary plan under the measure and pays her $3 monthly premium, after he paid the first $50 the plan would cover 80 per cent of the doctor's, laboratory, X ray and other bills. Son would pay the remaining 20 per cent.

What if grandma needed follow-up nursing home care?

If she stayed in the hospital 60 days, she could get 20 days of nursing home care. But if her hospital stay were a short one, she might get as much as 100 days' nursing home care.

* * *

The more hospital time, the less nursing home time. But she could spend 20 days in the hospital and 100 days in a nursing home, and all of it would be covered except the first $40.

If grandma got sick again after 60 days went by, she could get the same benefits all over again.

* * *

What if grandma has had a stroke and is bedridden at her son's home? If the bill wins final approval with no changes, could she go right into a nursing home for 100 days starting in July 1966?

No. The bill has a specific ban against caring for such a chronic condition. Nursing home care would come only after hospitalization.

* * *

What about home nursing care?

Depending on her ailment, grandma might be entitled to up to 100 visits of home nursing care after hospitalization under the basic plan. She would get no medicine for use at home.

* * *

If grandma and her son live in a state that has a Kerr-Mills health care plan, son might apply for state help in paying the portions of grandma's hospital and medical bills not covered by the basic or optional federal plans. The state would handle the case on an individual basis under its own regulations.

In a state with a Kerr-Mills plan, grandma probably would get some health care help even if no federal plan is approved.

* * *

Would son feel no pinch at all under the basic federal plan that would cover much of grandma's hospital bill?

* * *

Indirectly, he would. His Social Security tax would go up as much as $69.90 next year — more later — under present plans. Some of this would go to the health care program.

Host of Measures Approved in Busy State Senate Session

LANSING (AP)—In its busiest session of the year, the Senate approved Tuesday a flock of bills that would do everything from bringing 16-year-old drivers under the point system to opening the way for a multimillion dollar State Treasury windfall.

Other measures provide that the State Construction Safety Commission would be able to issue rules, and jurors and witnesses would get pay and expense raises.

All of the bills must yet go to the House.

The drivers' license point system bill would close what many traffic safety experts say is a loophole that permits 16-year old drivers to pile up violations without losing their licenses.

FACE CHARGES

Such drivers now face ticket charges in Probate Court whose actions are not a matter of public record and where convictions as such are not issued

The new two-bill package would allow penalty points to be assessed on Probate Court finding as well as convictions in adult courts.

The bills passed without dissent.

The treasury windfall is expected as a result of a bill enabling Michigan to claim monies and property owned to persons or their heirs who have not been located for seven years.

Under present law Michigan claims only those sums owed Michigan companies. But a recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling held that the state in which the missing claimant last resided was entitled to the sums, rather than the state in which the holder company is incorporated.

STATE COLLECTIONS

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel said the state could collect up to $10 million in such claims this year and up to $20 million next year.

The claims are made against such items as life insurance policies, stock certificates, bonds and traveler's cheques.

Dzendzel's construtions safety bill narrowly survived struggles by Republicans and Democrats to retain a requirement that the State Construction Safety Director be a registered professional engineer.

The measure provides that the director merely must have 10 years of construction experience.

APPROVAL NEEDED

At present, the Construction Safety Commission cannot issue rules without legislative approval. Since passage of the original construction safety act in 1963, no rules have won legislative approval.

The pay hike for jurors and witnesses passed almost unanimously despite assertions that they could cost Wayne County $875,000 a year.

Sen. Terry Troutt, D-Romulus, clarified later that must of that money is returned to the county when the losers in civil cases are assessed court costs.

Jurors in courts of record will now receive $20 per day instead of $8 and witness fees will go from $5 to $15. The mileage allowance was increasee from five to ten cents a mile. Most of the increases won't take effect until Jan. 1, 1966.

The Senate also passed a bail bond bill which its backers say may keep minor offenders out of jail overnight in remote areas.

The bill allows bondsmen to charge a $30 fee for any bond up to $300. They are presently limited to a 10 per cent charge.

SPICE CAKE — Try this Spice Cake, made the new way, and see if you don't think it makes the "home-iest" cake you've ever eaten. It's just as good as Grandma's ever was — maybe better!

Use New Recipe to Make Fragrant Spice Cake

Remember how it used to be at Grandma's when she was baking spice cake and the air was filled with that wonderful inviting spicy aroma?

Your cake baking habits may have changed since Grandma's time, but a tender moist spice cake—served warm from the oven—is still sure to show the family your loving care.

Made from "scratch," this flavorful moist Spice Cake is topped with whipped cream cheese and a rick tart lemon sauce.

Spice Cake is easy to make when you use instantized flour and the new way of cake baking—a new discovery by the home economists, in a famous test kitchen.

Spice Cake

Heat oven to 350 degrees
Measure into large mixer bowl:
2¾ cups instantized flour
1¾ cups sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
two-thirds cup soft shortening (half butter, if desired)
3 eggs
1¼ cups milk
2½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
Blend 30 seconds on lowest speed.
Beat 3 minutes medium speed, scraping bowl often.
Pour into greased and floured pan, 13x9½x2".
Bake 45-50 min., or until cake tests done with wooden pick.
Cut into 12 pieces and top each piece with a tablespoon Whipped Cream Cheese (below)
Pour Lemon Sauce over all (below).

Whipped Cream Cheese

Blend two packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese with 2 tablespoons cream until smooth.

Lemon Sauce

Combine in saucepan ½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup water, 1 egg, well beaten, 3 tablespoons lemon juice and grated peel of 1 lemon. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, just until mixture comes to a boil.

Spice Cookies Just Full of Raisins and Nuts

Marjorie's Spice Cookies

1½ cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon each ground cinnamon and allspice
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
¼ cup milk
1 cup each chopped raisins and walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in dry ingredients alternately with milk, then raisins and walnuts.

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls several inches apart on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

Makes about 50 cookies.

Cheese and Eggs

Season white sauce with grated Parmesan cheese and pour it over poached eggs in small (individual) baking dishes; top with buttered crumbs and more cheese and broil until golden brown. Have the eggs poached firm so their texture will contrast with the sauce.

Egg Yolk Cookies Full of Raisins

Raisin Egg Yolk Cookies brighten the youngsters' lunch.

Beat thoroughly 1 cup butter, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg yolk and 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Stir in 2 cups sifted flour resifted with ½ teaspoon salt along with ¾ cup raisins. Drop teaspoonfuls on lightly greased baking sheet; bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes.

Combine 3 cups of puffed wheat and 2 cups of puffed rice with 1½ cups of salted mixed nuts, one 8-ounce package of pretzel rings and ½ teaspoon of garlic salt in a large shallow baking pan.

Pour ½ cup of melted butter over the mixture, mixing well. Bake about 1 hour in preheated 300-degree oven. Stir several times. Makes 8 cups.

Eggs Take the Place of Meat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Meatless meals don't have to star fish. Let eggs be the main course occasionally.

Eggs are plentiful right now and relatively cheap. They're a fine source of protein.

If you want the latest information on egg cookery, it's yours for the asking. The title of the booklet is "13 Easy Ways to Cook Eggs." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to:

Poultry and Egg National Board
Dept. E-16
8 South Michigan Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60603

Shirred eggs have an elegant sound. They're an ideal breakfast dish because they'll bake while you're getting the rest of the meal.

BAKED OR SHIRRED EGGS

Choose individual "cook and serve" shallow baking dishes. Prepare 2 cups well - seasoned thin white sauce. Blend into this sauce ½ teaspoon paprika, ¼ cup grated cheese and 2 egg yolks.

Pour sauce into 3 well - buttered baking dishes set on baking sheet for easy handling. Slip 2 eggs into each dish and sprinkle additional cheese over top.

Bake in 350-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until eggs are baked to desired doneness.

The main thing to remember about a souffle is that it must be served as soon as you take it out of the oven. It's so light and airy that it will fall if you don't.

Try this cheese souffle with a shrimp sauce.

If the budget says "no" to the sauce, the souffle will be good eating by itself. Or add some peas to a can of condensed mushroom soup for a sauce.

Tabasco Cheese Souffle

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
4 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

In double boiler melt butter over low heat; stir in flour, then slowly stir in milk, a little at a time, salt and Tabasco. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and thickened.

Add cheese to mixture; stir until cheese melts and sauce is smooth. With fork, beat egg yolks. Stir in a little bit of cheese sauce, then stir this mixture back into the remaining cheese sauce. Do not let mixture boil. Cool slightly.

Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff, but not dry; gradually fold in cheese sauce. Pour into ungreased 1½-quart souffle dish to ¼ inch from top.

To make crown, make shallow path in souffle about 1 inch from edge with teaspoon. Bake in 325 degree oven for 55 to 60 minutes until top is golden brown.

Meanwhile, prepare Shrimp Sauce. Serve souffle and sauce immediately after removing from oven. Makes 6 servings.

Shrimp Sauce

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¾ cup milk
¼ cup sherry
½ pound deveined shrimp, cooked

Melt butter over low heat, stir in flour, salt and Tabasco. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and thickened. Slowly stir in milk until smooth. Add sherry and shrimp, cooking only until shrimp are heated through. Do not boil. Serve with souffle.

Broiled Scrapple

Ever broil scrapple instead of frying it? Brush the slices generously with melted butter or margarine before they go under the heat.

Scramble eggs with crumbled bacon and wedges of ripe olives for a brunch specialty.

Blue Cheese Sauce for Vegetables

Blue Cheese Sauce

¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ cup chopped dill pickle, drained

Mash blue cheese well with fork. Blend with sour cream. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, and grated onion. Mix well. Stir in chopped pickle. Chill.

When ready to serve, garnish sauce with additional crumbled blue cheese. Makes 1½ cups.

Bottle of Sherry Adds Elegance to Fruit Punch

Sherried pineapple punch tastes good with sweets or savories. It's elegant for spring teas or wedding receptions.

Chill thoroughly 1 (46-ounce) can pineapple juice, 1 (4-5-quart bottle sherry and 1 (1-quart) bottle lemon lime carbonated beverage. Combine with ½ cup orange juice in punch bowl at serving time.

Crisp Greens Topped With Pear Segments

No need to go into a winter salad "slump" as long as gorgeous fresh western pears are appearing in fruit stands and markets across the nation.

These jewels of Pacific Coast orchards, in abundant supply into late spring, are wonderfully compatible with a variety of greens, other seasonal fruits, tempting bottled dressings and packaged dressing mixes.

Anjou, Bosc and Comice, all three varieties of fresh winter pears, make inviting salads as well as desserts and may be used interchangeably in recipes requiring fresh or cooked pears.

Each variety is easy to identify for its distinctive shape and skin coloring.

Anjou, in season the longest, have a light green skin even when ripe.

Bosc are a rich russet color with long tapering necks.

Comice, the variety you often see in gift packs, may have a faint blush on their yellow-green skins and, when cut in half, are almost heart shaped.

When buying fresh pears, you'll often find them ripe and ready to eat at the market. Test for ripeness: if they yield to gentle pressure they're ripe and ready to eat.

If not, don't hesitate to buy them, for fresh pears will ripen in a few days at room temperature.

The same is true of avocados, so let them keep company with fresh pears in a fruit bowl until they're ripe and ready to toss in this typically western salad.

Western Pear Salad Bowl

3 fresh winter pears
1 avocado
Crisp romaine or iceberg lettuce
¼ cup pecan halves
2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup salad oil
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ teaspoon celery seed

Core pears and slice into wedges (handy pear cutter does this in one stroke). Cut avocado in half, twist apart, and remove seed. Remove skin and cut in wedges.

Line salad bowl with crisp greens. Arrange pear and avocado wedges in alternate layers in bowl. Sprinkle with pecans, if desired.

Combine remaining dressing ingredients in pint jar or blender. Cover and shake or blend well. Add to salad and toss gently just to coat lightly. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Baked Spareribs Have a Tang

Rich, savory and tender is the way these spareribs should taste!

Barbecued Spareribs

2 sides (about 4 pounds) fresh spareribs
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 ¾ cups water
¼ cup dark brown sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon each salt, mustard and chili powder
1 tablespoon instant minced onion

Have ribs cut apart; arrange in 1 layer in a large shallow roasting pan.

Bring the remaining ingredients to a boil; pour over spareribs; cover and let stand for several hours. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for about 2½ hours or until tender.

Add a little water toward the end of cooking if sauce is so thick it may scorch. Remove spareribs and pour off fat. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Cream Sweetbreads With Ham, Peas

Sweetbreads have long been regarded as a gourmet delicacy. However, some folks absolutely "love" sweetbreads, others will not taste them.

If you haven't tried sweetbreads you are missing a fine dish. You can prepare this so-called "variety meat" in countless ways — braised, fried, creamed or broiled, in croquettes or salads.

This recipe for sweetbreads with Ham and Peas is a fine introduction to this specialty meat.

Lightly coated with bottled browning sauce and cooked in butter, the sweetbreads are then teamed with diced cooked ham in a delicate mushroom sauce and garnished with bright green peas.

Sweetbreads with Ham and Peas

1 lb. veal sweetbreads
½ teaspon kitchen bouquet
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 cup diced cubed ham
1 package (10 oz.) quick-frozen green peas

To precook sweetbreads, simmer 15 to 20 minutes in water to cover. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar to each quart of water used.

Hold under cold water and slip off membrane with a sharp knife or fingers. Cut out any dark veins or thick connective tissue.

Place precooked bite-size pieces in a bowl with kitchen bouquet and stir gently to coat pieces evenly. In a skillet, lightly brown sweetbreads in butter, then place in 4 greased ramekins.

Add onion to butter in skillet, stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk and mushrooms including broth.

Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils. Add ham and pour over sweetbreads. Bake in preheated 350 degrees oven until thoroughly heated, about 25 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook peas according to package directions. Drain. Arrange peas around edges of ramekins just before serving.

Complement Asparagus With Blue Cheese

Asparagus Blue Cheese

16 asparagus spears, cooked
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons blue cheese
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon oregano
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup bread crumbs

Arrange eight asparagus spears pinwheel - fashion in 1 quart casserole.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, stir in flour, gradually add the milk, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Stir in blue cheese, salt, pepper and oregano. Reduce heat to very low and simmer 5 minutes.

Pour blue cheese sauce over asparagus in casserole. Melt 1 tablespoon butter and top with remaining asparagus spears.

Prunes in Red Wine Serve as Dessert

Continental Prunes

1 pound large dried prunes
1¼ cups dry red wine
½ cup water
½ to ½ cup sugar
Whipped Cream
Crushed dry macaroons

Turn the prunes, wine and water into a medium saucepan. Cover and slowly bring to the boiling point; simmer for 20 minutes or until prunes are tender.

Remove from heat and stir in sugar. Cool and chill in a covered container.

At serving time top portions of the prunes with whipped cream and the macaroon crumbs. Refrigerate any prunes that are left over.

Not Grainy

When you are making a meringue for Baked Alaska, be sure that the sugar beaten into the egg whites is completely dissolved. To test, rub a bit of the mixture between your fingers; if you feel no graininess, the sugar will be dissolved.

The Hog Has Contributed as Much to Our Conversation as He Has to Our Diet

CHICAGO — You've probably heard of pig Latin, but did you realize how much "pig talk" there is in everyday language?

The hog has been responsible for many colorful phrases and useful words, says the American Meat Institute.

A common expression, "eating high off the hog," stems from the fact that loin chops and roasts come from the upper section of the animal.

In years gone by, when a person switched from the standard diet of salt pork to loin roasts, he was indeed living well.

"Bring home the bacon" is a saying that probably came from the custom of awarding the pig to the winner of a greased-pig chase. The man who caught the slippery animal literally brought bacon home.

★ ★ ★

On the way home, an individual might be approached by an unscrupulous character trying to sell "a pig in a poke" (bag). When the bag was opened later, the unwary buyer might find himself the owner of a cat instead.

★ ★ ★

After "the cat had been let out of the bag," the victim would be the first to warn, "don't buy a pig in a poke."

MONEY TOO

In America's early days, a 10-cent piece was called a "hog." A spendthrift who was willing to squander an entire dime on entertainment was said "to go whole hog."

Calling an actor a "ham" is thought to have originated from actors' use of ham for removing make-up.

In days gone by, being master in one's house was expressed as "having boiled pig at home."

"Root hog or die" meant getting down to hard work or suffering the consequences.

COMPARISONS

"As common as pig's tracks," "in less than a pig's whistle," "as happy as pigs in clover," "when a pig flies" and "when a pig plays the flute" were colorful comparisons that peppered our forefathers' conversations.

★ ★ ★

Trousers were once called "ham-cases," and the press room of a newspaper or printer was known as a "pigsty."

"Porker" at one time was the name given a sword, while trail drivers called a six-shooter a "hog-leg."

A clumsy pilot in England's RAF was called a "ham-pilot."

A railroad engineer is called a "hog-head," possibly because he often heads the parade to market of hogs and pork products.

"Sand hog" is the name given tunnel workers.

Grandpa sneers, "Hog wash" at something he doesn't believe; Uncle expresses disdain with "In a pig's eye . . ." Little sister wears pigtails and rides piggy-back.

Older brother, a ham operator, is hog-tied to his short-wave set when he isn't kicking a pigskin.

The man in the next automobile, wearing a pork-pie hat, is a road hog or a pig-headed driver who may go hog wild when the light turns green.

These and other pork-like expressions add flavor to our language.

★ ★ ★

You may not be able "to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," but you can make stimulating conversation with the countless colloquialisms of "pig talk."

Pontiac Hears Owners' Views

At a luncheon meeting yesterday, Pontiac Motor Division listened while local Pontiac owners talked about what they thought of their cars and the service provided by dealers.

★ ★ ★

This is part of the formula behind Pontiac's expanded national owner relations program aimed at helping all Pontiac and Tempest customers receive maximum owner satisfaction.

Fifteen Pontiac owners from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties were selected from sales lists and invited to the luncheon at Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills, to take part in the program by M. R. Spears, Pontiac's director of owner relations.

The group consisted of local area owners of Pontiac models spanning the last three years.

★ ★ ★

"We believe that by meeting personally with as many of our customers as possible and hearing their constructive views on our product and service we can best serve all Pontiac owners," Spears said.

COMMENTS TAPED

During the meeting a tape recording was made of the owners comments which will be returned to Pontiac's home offices and reviewed by Pontiac's top officials.

The information from the recordings enables Pontiac management to program activities toward satisfying the more than 4.5 million Pontiac owners.

In addition to Spears, Pontiac was represented at the meeting by William Harris, zone manager, and Robert Sudbay, district manager.

Reports Show!

Big Business 'Big'

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Big business is getting bigger fast. The rush of annual reports show how successful corporations grew last year — both in sales and profits, and also in plants and other assets.

DAWSON

The number of billion-dollar corporations is swelling. Often the measurements of the largest companies in individual industries are changing as fast as those of a growing boy.

A spate of mergers through many industries is accenting the corporate growth. The increased number of inquiries into mergers by government agencies, and antimerger suits in the courts, is seen by many business executives as evidence that government is still very chary of bigness in business.

OTHER REASON

Mergers aren't the only reason for the latest growth of the big fellows. But prosperity always swells the number of mergers and they're on the rise now.

Stock prices near record highs make it easier for companies to marry through exchange of stocks. If it is outright purchase, the jump in profits last year gives corporate management the needed cash.

★ ★ ★

The business upswing of the last four years also lured many companies into fields they found too tough — and the way out often is merger with the successful competitor — or with a cash-rich outsider looking for diversification.

Here is the merger trend: In 1958 there were around 900; in 1960 just over 1,000; by 1963 prosperity swelled the figure to around 1,500; and last year to 1,800.

12 COURT SUITS

The Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission filed 12 court suits in 1963 to block or undo mergers; in 1964 it filed 21; and in the first two months of 1965 filed 6.

Investigation of corporate mergers are under way in such industries as oil, chemicals, iron and steel, foods and in banking.

For the consumer the nervousness about big business getting bigger is traditionally the fear that with fewer choices in the market place he'll have to pay higher prices, or be denied products more to his taste, or miss out on new products held up because the old ones are still profitable.

The arguments of small business against bigness largely boil down to its being unfair. The smaller firm says that it can't withstand price squeezes, or drop in consumer demand however temporary, the way a big firm can.

RECESSION

The little fellow sees a recession as a bigger problem for him than for the giant.

Small concerns also charge that really big ones can hide up suppliers, especially in time of shortages. Some small business executives say it's harder for them to get orders, whether from private customers or the government.

Big business stresses that it is efficient, that it can do jobs small firms can't, take risks they can't, develop new products, new fields that small ones can't. Big business also contends its greater efficiency holds prices down, offsets rising production costs, markets more cheaply and dependably.

Big business says that it often is the chief source of orders for small firms making parts or materials, or taking subcontracts as big orders are parcelled out.

But with all the increased government activity in the courts, many big companies seem sure to get bigger, and many more big ones may evolve from the merger of smaller ones, before the trend slows.

Student Needs to Learn Independently

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

You probably have experienced that sinking feeling when the lights suddenly went out and you were left to grope about the room looking for the exit.

A student can get a similar feeling when the directions of the teacher are suddenly removed and he must plan and carry out his own study of a subject.

Peggy graduated from a school of 1,800 students. Classes were 35 to 40 in size, and the subject matter was well-taught.

The library in Peggy's high school could accommodate no more than a hundred students at one time and then only if nearly all remained seated at reading tables.

Neither Peggy's teacher nor the librarian were in a position timewise to help Peggy learn to do independent study.

FEW PERIODICALS

In classes of this size, assignments were necessarily uniform for all members of the class. The library was well equipped with encyclopedia-type reference books, but inadequately supplied with books and periodicals in a wide variety of subjects.

Peggy has a good I.Q. and did the work required in an excellent manner. Her grades gained her admission to a good liberal arts college.

Then came the sudden awakening. One of her required classes in the first semester was to be carried on not through class meetings but entirely through independent study.

The college library was adequate, but Peggy had no experience in its use. The college authorities assumed erroneously, that the high school had given Peggy her introduction to this type of study.

NOT ALONE

Peggy was not alone in her dilemma. Some of her fellow freshmen came from small high schools with inadequate libraries.

Only those students fortunate enough to have lived near city and county libraries in their high school days in combination with far seeing teachers who helped them get a start in independent study felt at home in the new course.

Colleges are now taking steps to provide more assistance to the students in making the transition from assignment recitation to independent study. They realize their error in assuming that all high schools were providing this type of instruction.

Educational writers and many speakers urge schools to turn out graduates prepared to carry on their education independent of school.

LIFELONG LEARNING

With our expanding knowledge, lifelong learning is imperative. The high school library must cease to be just a reference room or study hall; it must become a center of learning activity for the individual student.

The expanded facilities and increase in library personnel required will pay off in clearly increased ability of our high school graduates to continue learning.

Opening lead—♠ 2

By JACOBY & SON

One false card which is apt to explode in your face is the lead of fifth best instead of fourth best in an attempt to fool declarer. On the other hand when it is apparent from the bidding that your partner can't hold anything to be fooled with you may want to fool declarer.

JACOBY

West has 12 high card points and the opponents' bidding has indicated that they hold at least 26 so that West will have to defend almost single-handed against a three no-trump contract.

His five-card spade suit offers an attractive lead and there is no reason why he should not open the deuce and conceal the fact that he does have a five card suit.

Irrespective of which spade he opens South will win with the queen in dummy and finesse the jack of clubs. West will take his king and lead another low spade.

South will win and run the last three clubs. West should discard the ten of hearts and East the three of hearts and his last spade.

At this point declarer will have to decide between the lead of three rounds of diamonds in hope that the suit will break or the attempt to set up a heart trick.

Diamonds do break 3-3 and the diamond play will work, but if South is fooled by the false lead at trick one he will try the heart lead whereupon West will take the ace of hearts and three spades.

Soviet Communist Bigwigs Meeting Today to Discuss Russia's Chronic Farm Woes

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party's Central Committee is meeting today to discuss the Soviet Union's chronic farm troubles. There were signs that the 1964 harvest produced less than the bumper crop about which former Premier Nikita Khrushchev boasted.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, Khrushchev's success or as party chief, announced the plenary meeting of the 330-member committee during his speech Tuesday welcoming the two newest Soviet cosmonauts to Moscow.

Brezhnev said the committee would discuss "efforts designed to improve radically the situation in our agriculture and to create conditions for its advance to the level of the tremendous tasks confronting the Soviet economy."

The situation in Soviet agriculture has been gloomy since the disastrous failure of the wheat crop in 1963. The Soviets bought 12 million tons of wheat from the West, and Khrushchev implied there could have been a famine.

WOULD MEET NEEDS

Khrushchev claimed last summer that the 1964 crop would meet current needs and provide abundant reserves. Soviet propaganda organs painted the same glowing picture.

After Khrushchev's ouster in October, the optimistic mood suddenly changed. The new theme was "much still remains to be done in order to guarantee a fully adequate supply of all farm products."

★ ★ ★

Many farms were reported turning in huge deliveries of grain, then drawing as much or more from the state granaries to feed cattle and for seed.

Flour is still short, consumers were rationed to 4.4 pounds for holidays in November and December.

LESS MEAT

Meat production has dropped and is now providing less meat per capita than in 1958. One of the first moves of the new Kremlin leadership was to lift restrictions on private ownership of livestock.

The Soviets have also resumed wheat purchases abroad, buying about 1.7 million tons since the 1964 harvest.

The party leadership already has told the farmers they can stop planting Khrushchev's favorite crop, corn, where conditions are not suitable. It also has encouraged the peasants to return to grass crops an fallow land, a practice Khrushchev tried to stamp out.

The party leaders may also discuss a number of proposals to reform inefficient state farms.

Some discussion of orthodox Communist objections to the encouragement of private farming may also come up.

Unique Underground N-Testing Technique Developed by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Far beneath the Nevada desert, the United States has developed means of simulating the altitude conditions a nuclear-tipped missile would encounter if detonated at nearly 100 miles above the earth.

This was learned today in an interview with Brig. Gen. Delmar L. Crowson, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Division of Military Application.

All indications are that such a manmade creation — deep within the earth — of the vacuum at the fringes of outer space is designed to:

—Help further improve America's defenses against enemy missiles.

DEEP DRILLING

Crowson said further that deep drilling techniques developed for underground nuclear tests at Nevada and elsewhere have a rich potential pay-off for peacetime industry, especially the oil and construction industries.

The general discussed the novel nuclear weapons testing technique in amplifying somewhat the AEC's recent disclosures that "significant progress" has been made in improving America's nuclear defensive and offensive capabilities through underground testing. The limited test-ban treaty excludes all but underground testing.

The AEC recently reported to Congress:

—Development and deployment of new, more powerful and versatile nuclear bombs and long-range missiles.

—Significant progress toward further increasing the "hardness and penetration capability" of the missile warheads — that is their powers to penetrate enemy defenses and to withstand countermeasures.

—Further advances in the art of developing relatively "clean" weapons — that is, those having less radioactive fallout.

★ ★ ★

—New progress toward improving capabilities for detecting underground tests by other nations.

MAJOR TECHNIQUES

Crowson said one of the major techniques developed for underground testing is the carving out of huge subterranean rooms, with tunnels radiating from them, much like spokes of a wheel. These rooms range up to 900 cubic yards in size.

Nearly all air can be pumped out of large-diameter pipes in the rooms to create vacuum conditions. Weapons devices can be detonated under conditions simulating an altitude of up to 400,000 or 500,000 feet, the general said.

At the Nevada test site, he indicated, drill holes leading down to such labyrinths of rooms and tunnels are of depths and diameters unheard of up to several years ago. Some holes are 4,700 feet deep and upward of 6 feet in diameter.

At a new testing site being developed at Pahute Mesa — north and west of older sites at Frenchmen's Flat and Yucca Flat — several "emplacement" holes ranging up to nearly a mile in depth are in various stages of completion. So are a number of exploratory holes, one of which will be 13,670 feet deep — well over two miles.

Job Corps Camp Due

SENEY (AP) — Approval is expected soon for a federally sponsored job corps camp in the Seney National Wildlife Refuge, camp biologist Glenn Sherwood said Tuesday. He said the camp would house 200 persons and employ about 30 others.

The spider tries to catch food with a stickey web, but some of his intended victims have readily removable scales and hairs that coat the sticky thread and the insect can free itself.

Picture the soft, deep brown of cocoanuts high in windrustled palms. That's the shade you'll see in the sun this spring—a handsome brown that reflects GGG's good eye for color. And they match it with an equally good eye for style: in very new, very smart one-, two-, and three-button models hand-tailored with GGG's customarily advanced detailing. You'll see Bermuda Brown in subtle patterns, in muted plaids and iridescent effects—heightened and distinguished by such excellent fabrics as imported, springweight pure worsteds, silk-and-worsted sharkskins, and mohair worsteds. Black Hawks Lose, 3-2; Fans Angered

HAWK DETOURS — Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita (21) makes a detour around fallen teammate Doug Mohns (2) and New York Rangers' defenseman Mike McMahon (6) after they collided in first period at Chicago Stadium last night. Mikita picked up an assist in the game — his 59th — to set a league record, but N.Y. won the game, 3-2.

Here's Angel Whose Pockets Jingle Plenty

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — In some sections of the country, money translates into "bread" if you're not on the square side.

In California it sometimes translates to "Jingles" since that's the nickname tagged on Rick Reichardt, the Los Angeles Angels $200,000 bonus baby.

Why Jingles?

Take $200,000 to your nearest bank, change it all into silver and put it in your pockets. And what does it do?

Naturally.

"It's all good natured kidding," said the 20 - year - old outfielder. "Besides Joe Namath relieved the pressure."

Namath, former Alabama quarterback, signed to play football with the New York Jets for $400,000, doubling the figure Reichardt signed for last year in baseball's biggest bidding war.

BETTER OFFERS

"Actually money was secondary," said Reichardt. "I had better offers and when they're all up pretty high, the difference isn't too big. But these the Angels are good people from the players to the front office.

"I also felt that it would be more inspirational to me to work with a club that was striving to move up since that's what I would be doing."

Reichardt, a power swinging outfielder who has a build that resembles Mickey Mantle's, is trying to stick with the Angels after only one season in organized ball.

He started 1964 with Quad Cities, hitting .292 with two homers and 18 runs batted in for 34 games, then jumped up to Hawaii, where he hit at a .286 clip in 23 games with six homers and 24 RBI. Finally, in 11 games with the Angels, he hit .162.

With all those jumps into tougher competition, what's the biggest adjustment Reichardt has had to make?

* * *

"The psychological transition," he said. "The competition at Quad Cities was far better than anything in the colleges and up here you're pretty much at the pitchers' mercy. They throw sliders and change speeds and when you haven't seen any of that, they can make you look pretty silly."

And it's the big question of whether Reichardt can hit major league pitching consistently right now that will determine whether he will be in center field for the Angels this year.

"They're working with me on it," said Reichardt. "I'm really still pretty crude as far as my swing is concerned. What I have to do is make refinements and adjustments and then establish a niche — a swing that won't change."

Hometowners Pepper Ice With Garbage After Rangers Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Black Hawks' fans are more than slightly peeved at the National Hockey League club's management.

They displayed their anger Tuesday night by showering the ice with garbage during the Hawks' 3-2 loss to the New York Rangers. The outburst interrupted the game for 15 minutes during the final period.

* * *

Apparently the thing which touched off the fans' anger was the club's decision Monday that playoff games on the road will be seen in Chicago only on closed circuit television.

Too, Chicago newspapers reported that fans in other NHL playoff cities not only would get free home television but would pay a lot less than Chicago residents for tickets to playoff home games.

The top price for Hawk playoff games at home will be $9 compared to the top of $6.50 at Detroit and $6 at Montreal and Toronto. Chicago's low of $3.50 per ticket matches that of Detroit but is above the $3 at Toronto and $2.50 at Montreal.

PLAYOFF DUCATS

In addition, Hawk fans will have to pay $4, $3 and $2 to see road playoff games on closed circuit television in the stadium.

Some 16,000 turned out Tuesday night for the Hawks' final home game and shouted, "Norris is a fink. Norris is a fink."

Their chants were aimed at Jim Norris, co-owner of the Hawks along with Arthur Wirtz. Norris was in Florida.

* * *

The spectators booed Hawk players, jeered the public address announcer and peppered the ice with a little of everything, including overshoes and galoshes.

When Pierre Pilote was penalized for charging at 4:41 of the first period, cheers went up. Less than two minutes later when Rod Gilbert put New York ahead with a power play goal, Hawk fans urged the Rangers score again.

GARBAGE DELUGE

Spectators broke loose with the garbage barrage when referee John Ashley gave the Hawks' Red Hay a slashing penalty followed by a 10-minute misconduct for arguing too strongly.

Printed handbills were circulated in front of the stadium before the game urging a boycott of the closed circuit telecasts.

* * *

Gilbert tipped a long shot by Rod Seiling behind Hawk netminder Denis DeJordy to open the scoring at 6:08 of the first period. Ken Wharram evened the score with a power play goal at 10:44.

Harry Howell put New York ahead two minutes later with his second goal of the season, a 40-footer that went into the net after banging off the net post to DeJordy's right.

* * *

The Rangers got the clincher in the second when Gilbert took a pass from Jean Ratele and rammed a 35-footer past a screened DeJordy.

The Hawks wound up the scoring in the final period, defenseman Matt Ravlich knocking his own rebound behind Marcel Paille after carrying the puck the length of the ice.

Montreal goes to Toronto for tonight's only NHL action.

Tiger Hitting, That Is Big Problem

New Players Fail at Plate

Reds Take 9-1 Game in Lakeland

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Bob Swift says he isn't bothered by the Detroit Tigers's recent lack of hitting.

But in the next breath, he indicates a few younger players had better start showing something at the plate or they'll find themselves back in the minors.

* * *

"No, it doesn't bother me because our regulars are not hitting," Swift said Tuesday after watching his team drop its fourth straight exhibition baseball game, a 9-1 no-contest to Cincinnati.

"I know that players like Al Kaline, Norm Cash and Don Demeter are going to hit," Swift said. "Just look at their lifetime batting averages."

* * *

The Tigers have collected only 13 hits in their last three games. They have scored one run in each.

FORMER TIGER

They didn't get a hit until the seventh inning Tuesday and finished with three. Ex-Tiger John Tsitouris held them without a hit through the first five innings.

"We have a couple of younger players who are starting to come around," Swift said. "But then there are one or two others who have not been hitting the ball all spring."

* * *

The Detroit manager singled out shortstop Ray Oyler as the most disappointing. "He just isn't hitting and getting any wood on the ball," he observed.

On the other hand, second baseman George Smith has improved both in the field and at the plate, Swift said.

Jim Northrup started in left field for the Tigers Tuesday and mis-judged a fly ball in the seventh inning which fell for a triple.

* * *

Rookie right-hander Bruce Brubaker was given a good going-over by the Reds. They put the game away with five runs off him in the third inning.

Tony Perez and Tim Harkness hit solo homers in Cincinnati's 11-hit attack.

USC Swimmers Set for Title Defense

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Southern California's hopes for a second straight National Collegiate swimming title could be decided in the first round of the three-day championships here.

Three of the events that the Trojans took while shading Indiana a year ago are on tap in Thursday night's finals, and there are strong challengers this year in every event.

Michigan, a darkhorse threat for the crown, has the fastest qualifier in the 500-yard freestyle in Bill Farley, who has been clocked in 4:46.1, five seconds better than Southern Cal's defending champion, Roy Saari.

The Trojan ace, who won three individual crowns in 1964, set the 500 freestyle mark of 4:45.8 a year ago but has not approached that time this year.

TOP THREAT

Michigan also has the leading threat in the 400-yard individual medley, where Southern Cal's Rich McGeah defends his title. McGeah has been timed in 4:16.4 this year, the same as the record he established last year. Carl Robie of Michigan is the strongest challenger.

Yale and Indiana, the other two team contenders, threaten Southern California's defense of its 400-yard medley relay. The Trojans, with all four swimmers back from a year ago, have equalled their 1964 record of 3:30.9 this season.

* * *

Other finals set for the first day's action are the 50-yard freestyle and the one-meter diving. Steve Clark of Yale is favored to repeat in the sprint, and Richard Gilbert of Indiana will defend his diving title.

Five more finals will be completed Friday, with the other seven events set for Saturday.

Bengals Hear Good Word

Dressen, Continues to Progress Well

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) —The Detroit Tigers received another hospital report on manager Charlie Dressen Tuesday and the news continued good.

Dressen's physician, Dr. John Sharpe, said the Tiger manager is progressing "very, very well."

The Doctor added that soreness in Dressen's throat is gone and if this progress continues he will be able to get out of bed this weekend.

* * *

Dressen is recuperating exactly as expected, Dr. Sharpe said, and should be able to go home the latter part of next week.

Dressen suffered what was described as a minor heart attack a little over two weeks ago.

The Tigers "B" team collected only three hits against the Cincinnati second team Tuesday but, aided by a couple of errors, scored a 3-0 victory.

Terry Fox, Fred Gladding and Bill Faul each worked three innings and scattered eight hits.

Faul struck out four men, walked one and gave up one hit in the last three innings.

Outfielder Purn Goldy stroked a triple for the longest Detroit hit in the game.

Golfers Battling for Azalea Cash in Pro-Am Event

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Fifty professionals, each teamed with three amateurs, polished their games and sought a share of $2,500 prize money today in a pro-amateur tune-up for the Azalea Open Golf Tournament.

The four-day tourney opens Thursday over the 6,700-yard, par 72 Cape Fear Country Club course. The 17th annual Azalea carries a purse of $28,750. In addition, daily bonus awards will go to low rounds and round leaders.

20 Wings, Canadiens Fined for Ice Brawl

MONTREAL (AP) — Twenty Montreal and Detroit players have been fined a total of $1,075 for participating in a brawl during the final minute of a recent National Hockey League game.

NHL President Clarence Campbell fined Montreal forward Claude Larose $125 and levied $50 fines against nine other Canadiens and 10 Red Wings for leaving their benches — contrary to NHL rules — to take part in the melee at the Montreal Forum March 13.

* * *

Last month Campbell fined 16 players a total of $925 after a similar incident in a Toronto-Montreal game.

Campbell doubled the automatic $25 fines for coming off the bench during a fight. Larose, one of the first to leave the bench and the only one to throw a punch, drew the heavier assessment. Neither the 12 players who were on the ice when the trouble started nor the coaches—Toe Blake of Montreal and Sid Abel of Detroit—drew fines.

* * *

Detroit's Doug Barkley touched off the brawl with 28 seconds to play by flattening Montreal's Dave Balon with a hard bodycheck. Larose then charged Barkley from the Montreal bench and the other players milled around until order was restored.

Big Fling for Skiers With Excellent Slopes

It may be the season's last fling at skiing but it won't be any better.

All Pontiac area ski slopes report excellent skiing with plenty of fresh powder.

Mt. Holly, Mt. Christie, Alpine Valley, Grampian Mt., Dryden, Pine Knob, Silverbell and Mt. Brighton all have plenty of snow and night skiing tonight will be excellent.

NHL Contest Tonight Key to Standings

TORONTO (UPI) — A lot depends on the outcome of tonight's Montreal-Toronto hockey game.

So much that if Montreal loses Detroit could clinch the National Hockey League championship Thursday.

* * *

Detroit hosts New York Thursday and a win, coupled with a Montreal defeat tonight, would give the Red Wings their first NHL title since 1957.

Montreal currently is two points out of first place. A victory by the Canadiens tonight would tie them with Detroit.

However, Detroit still maintains the advantage of having one more game to play than Montreal before it ends its season.

The Wings close out the schedule with a home-and-home series with Toronto this weekend while the Canadiens host last place Boston Saturday and New York Sunday.

Besides the possibility of winning the league title Thursday, Detroit also could set a new league record by winning its 14th consecutive game at home.

Traded Pitcher Ailing

Stuart Needles Red Sox Brass

By the Associated Press

Dick Stuart, whose long distance home runs are exceeded only by the enormity of his immodesty, was talking about the winter trade that sent him from Boston to Philadelphia for pitcher Dennis Bennett.

"Wouldn't it be something if Bennett came up with a sore arm this season?" asked Stuart, who feels Boston didn't receive enough in exchange for him. "Do you think the Red Sox brass would get jumped on a little?"

* * *

The Red Sox brass might be pondering that very thought today following Bennett's departure from an exhibition baseball game with a sore left shoulder.

The painful exit came during the fourth inning Tuesday, just after the Los Angeles Angels scored the run that eventually gave them a 1-0 victory.

After allowing only one hit in 3 1-3 innings, Bennett was rocked for a double by Jim Fregosi and a triple by Lou Clinton. The southpaw threw three balls to Costen Shockley, then signaled Manager Billy Herman to the mound.

FORCED OUT

"My arm hurt like a toothache from the time I started warming up," Bennett explained afterward. "I was gradually losing my stuff so I felt why force it?

The situation, though, could have Boston officials worrying about the value of the 25-year-old hurler, who was plagued with arm trouble last season and finished with a 12-14 record for the Phillies.

* * *

Stuart, incidentally, singled across the winning run in the ninth inning Tuesday night in Philadelphia's 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

Joe Torre slammed two homers and Mack Jones one in Milwaukee's 12-10 victory over Pittsburgh. The Pirates got two homers from Bob Bailey and one from Jim Pagliaroni.

HOMER HITTERS

Walt Bond, Rusty Staub, John Bateman and Jim Beauchamp slugged homers as Houston defeated Washington 7-5 for its fifth straight triumph while Bert Campaneris' three-run blast in the 13th inning shot Kansas City past the New York Yankees 6-5.

* * *

San Francisco whipped the Chicago Cubs 7-3 on a four-run seventh inning rally powered by Hal Lanier and brothers Jesus and Matty Alou.

The New York Mets knocked off Baltimore 5-2 behind the hitting of Danny Napolean. Billy Moran sparked Cleveland to a 10-3 victory over another Angel squad, and the Chicago White Sox stopped Minnesota 3-1. Chicago's Bob Locker blanked the Twins on two hits through the first five innings.

Little Dunker Heads AP All-State 'C' Team

By the Associated Press

Young basketball hopefuls who are worried about their lack of height should be encouraged after looking over the Michigan Class C All - State team announced today by The Associated Press.

Five of the 10 players named to the squad by the AP's panel of sports writers and sportscasters are under 5-feet-11!

Heading the list is Rich Jordan, a repeater from last year's team, who established a new Fennville scoring record with 888 points this season.

Much has been written about the 5-7 Jordan, who dunks a basketball with ease and is also an All-Stater in football.

But few realize that he averaged 31.2 points a game in his four-year career. His final game saw him score 60 points in a losing effort as Fennville bowed in the regional finals of the state basketball tournament.

Paul Chappel of Marlette, Brad Hansen of Edmore, Tom Krzesinski of Wayne St. Mary and Terry Winchell of Concord are the other sub-six-footers on the dream team.

The big men were not completely forgotten, however, as 6-11 Tom Lick of Gaylord and 6-8 Jerry Wortz of Quincy also were selected.

Gary Bancroft of Lake Fenton, Dick Horgan of Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart and Paul Smaza of Detroit St. Hedwig complete the team.

Chappel, the best all-around player for a good Marlette team, averaged 27.9 points a game.

Hansen averaged 18.8 points, 10 assists and nine rebounds a game. He was cited for his playmaking and defensive abilities.

★ ★ ★

Krzesinski set a school scoring record with 38 points in one game while averaging 21 points. He was the second leading scorer in the league.

TOP SCORER

Winchell, only 5-9, scored 509 points in 21 games and was the top scorer in Cascades Conference history. A standout playmaker and rebounder, he was the key man in Concord's pressing defense.

As could be expected, Lick excelled as a rebounder for Gaylord in addition to averaging more than 30 points a game.

Wortz hit on 60 per cent of his shots from the floor, averaged 35.5 points and 22 rebounds a game and set school records for points in a game, 54, and rebounds in a single contest, 38.

Bancroft, who seemed to like the tougher competition all through the season, scored 78 points in three district tournament games. He picked off an average of 21 rebounds during the season.

Horgan, along with Hansen the only juniors on the team, tallied 30 points for his high single game effort and went on to average 20 points and 16 rebounds.

Smaza, too, was chosen for all - around ability. He paced St. Hedwig to an unbeaten league season with a 20-points average.

DeBusschere Dizzy After Mound Stint

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Dave DeBusschere, back with the Chicago White Sox after playing pro basketball, suffered a dizzy spell Tuesday after pitching 10 minutes of batting practice but it was not regarded as serious.

During the basketball season, the 24-year-old DeBusschere is player-coach of the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

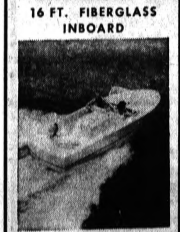

Immediately after his arrival at the Sox camp, DeBusschere signed a contract in a huddle with Manager Ed Short.

DeBusschere was optioned to Indianapolis by the White Sox last year. He compiled a 15-8 record there.

Coaches Agree Defense Is Important in NBA Playoffs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Defense seemed the key word as the St Louis Hawks and the Baltimore Bullets prepared for tonight's opening playoff game. It was defense that made the Hawks a winner and the Bullets a loser during the regular National Basketball Association season.

"Defense will decide the playoffs," said Hawks player-Coach Richie Guerin.

"If we don't play defense, it's going to be a short series," Coach Buddy Jeannette of Baltimore said.

The two Western Division teams, which split 10 games during the regular season, play a best-of-5 series for the right to meet division champion Los Angeles in a best-of-7 set.

Second-place St. Louis, 45-35, hampered by numerous injuries, finished eight games ahead of third-place Baltimore, 34-43, largely because of a defense that ranked second in the league at 105.8 points a game.

HIGH SCORERS

Baltimore, the second highest scoring team in the league at 113.6, was the worst defensively allowing 115.8 points a contest.

Baltimore will be missing injured rookie Gary Bradds, who stayed in Baltimore. Hawks rookie Jeff Mullins is a doubtful performer. Both are reserves.

The second game will be played in St. Louis on Friday with the site switching to Baltimore Saturday and Tuesday, if necessary. The fifth game would be played next Thursday in St. Louis.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Both the coaches are looking forward to a tough playoff contest between the Cincinnati Royals and Philadelphia 76ers for the National Basketball Association division semifinals.

The playoffs start tonight in Cincinnati Gardens. Three of the five games — if necessary — will be played there.

"I'd say right now it stacks up as a five-game series," said the 76ers' Dolph Schayes. "I hope we'll be on top. And I envision somebody unheralded as perhaps making the difference."

Schayes' remark about unheralded heroes took additional meaning from the injury situation. The top stars on both clubs — Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson — are ailing, but both are expected to start tonight.

Things were a little more serious with Larry Costello, the scrappy Philadelphia veteran who usually takes care of covering Robertson, the NBA's third leading scorer.

"Costello's a possibility," Schayes said. "He has a pulled hamstring, and even though he's been out two or three weeks, these things are slow mending."

Costello has not played since February, and Schayes would like to let him rest until Friday.

But if Robertson's chances for clearer shots look good, it's the same way for Chamberlain. Wayne Embry, who generally takes care of defensive chores against Wilt the Stilt, has a bad shoulder. And Chamberlain has averaged seven points better in Cincinnati Gardens than his 34.7 league scoring average this season.

U.S. Skier Has Top Rivalry

Jean Saubert to Face Europe's Best

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — America's Jean Saubert faced tough competition today from Austria's Traudl Hecher, Switzerland's Theres Obrecht and France's Goitschel sisters in defense of her Harriman Cup.

Karl Schranz, a 26-year-old Austrian who started skiing when he was 2, won the 1965 Harriman Cup for men Tuesday with his third place finish in the slalom.

★ ★ ★

He won the downhill Monday. The cup winner is determined by the combined finishes in both the slalom and the downhill.

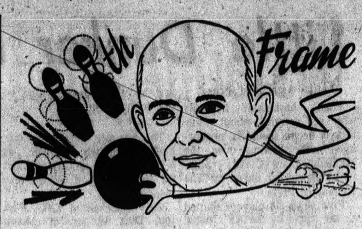

France's Michel Arpin and Jean Claude Killy finished 1-2 in the slalom. That put Killy second and Arpin third in the combined.

Bill Marolt of Aspen, Colo., made the best finish for the Americans. He was fourth in the slalom and fourth in combined standings.

Twenty-six of the 42 racers washed out on the first run of the men's slalom. Two more were disqualified on the second run. Only 14, or one-third, finished both runs successfully.

The first course was laid out by America's ski coach, Bob Beattie, of the university of Colorado and several of the skiers said his course was too tight. The second course was laid out by Austria's Coach Tepi Stiegler. They were both about the same length. Stiegler's course had 72 gates and Beattie's 66.

Delegates will be gathering next month and in May for the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress conventions; as usual, they have several important and interesting proposals to consider.

These are amendments to the two organizations' constitutions. The ABC will study 31 proposals — the lowest number in years — and the WIBC has 53 amendments to consider.

The women will gather at Portland, Ore., May 3-5; the ABC members will convene April 9 at St. Paul, Minn.

The men will scrutinize several proposed amendments regarding tournament rules and protecting their prize fee payments and funds. The recent mishandling of reportedly $81,000 in one tournament has stirred interest in this.

These proposals include a requirement for all prize fund fees to be kept in trust and not mingled with any other tournament monies.

Two bowlers shall constitute a squad in singles competition; if an entrant bowls alone, his score shall not count. Any free or reduced fee entries will have to be advertised to all competitors.

An attempt is, also, being made to curb some inequities in big money leagues by requiring a limit of 20 per cent on the prize fund for the first place team; and the last place prize would be at least 25 per cent of the top award.

Other suggested amendments of interest state:

1. A game shall be forfeited when a right-hander bowls left-handed (or vice versa), and no combination of right and left-handed bowling shall be used to compute an average.

2. A league may declare games forfeited if participants in a team lineup are not current in league fee payment.

3. A tournament manager or employees of an establishment conducting a tournament can not compete if only that house is used.

WIBC MOTIONS

Foremost among the women's proposals is one requiring a team to forfeit a game when the minimum number of players is not present at the start.

Another amendment would make it the sole responsibility of the league secretary to collect membership dues and forward them along with the sanction application and $1 fee to the city secretary. This probably is already being done in many instances.

Another amendment would limit the number of delegates at future WIBC conventions.

BOWLING

Huron's Ladies House League last week featured a 219 by Beverly Hardenburg of league-leading M&H Chevyland, which now is in front by three and a half points. Mary Ann Christoff had a 553.

Betzi Waisanen's 207-232—637 was the attention-getter in last Wednesday's Airway Lanes First League.

The Pontiac Motor Inter-Office bowlers at 300 Bowl were led that same night by Ralph Armstrong's 215-213—611 and Herm Tank's 245. Lerue Campbell hit 223-215.

Royal Recreation saw Stroh's team take first place in the Lake Orion Men's "A" circuit as Russell Haines bowled 245—603. Marion Collins was even better with 244-237—613 while Joe Kwasnick had 215-204—604. Bill Dunn Jr. added 223.

June Martin and Richard Dionne rolled a 1319 series to take the lead in the Airway doubles tournament which concludes on Sunday.

In second place are Francis and Mack Ilhargie with 1291 and former leaders Nancy Majeski and Frank Williams are third with 1266.

In the Saturday morning Airway preps league, Kim Peterson, 9 years old, rolled a 199 game.

The ABC has announced that regular division bowlers may vie in the classic division of the annual tournament in any one year without jeopardizing their regular status in future tourneys.

Change in Rule May Be Costly to Cage Coach

Talking With Official, if Unjustified, Would Bring Time Out

CHICAGO (UPI) — Basketball coaches can consult with officials next year, the Rules Committee announced today, but if it's an unjustified protest, it will cost the coach a time out.

The committee made three rules changes, effective next season.

★ ★ ★

It allowed the consultation with officials for the first time in the only major change.

A coach can obtain the conference, while the clock is stopped and the ball dead, by requesting it at the scorer's table.

The scorer will signal the officials to come to the table and they will confer with both coaches.

If the coach requesting the conference is correct, there will be no time out. If he's overruled, his team will be charged a time out.

Another change will allow a team to call time out only in the first four seconds bringing the ball up the court after an out-of-bounds play, or in the first eight seconds after a basket or free throw.

FORMER RULE

The old rule allowed a team to call time out at any time during the 10 seconds allowed to bring the ball across the center line.

The third change will designate a third space along the foul lanes on both sides of the basket, which will be given to the defensive team during free throws.

Under the old rule only two spaces were designated on each side with the defensive team getting the inside the offensive team the No. 2 spaces on each side. They will retain these positions under the new rule.

Knicks' Rookie Is Selected in NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks, who have rarely picked standouts in the National Basketball Association's draft, have a winner or a change in Willis Reed.

The Knicks knew they had a star in the 6-foot-10 scoring and rebounding star from Grambling, La., College and this was confirmed when Reed was named the NBA's Rookie of the Year by writers and sportscasters. He received a cash award of $200 with the honor.

Reed received 47 votes to 27 for Philadelphia's Lucious Jackson in the balloting of 79 panellists. Jim Barnes, another Kick, received two votes. Howard Komives, a third New York yearling, Joe Caldwell of Detroit and Boston's Ron Bonham each got one vote.

Reed was the NBA's seventh highest scorer with 1,560 points and a 19.5 average, and fifth rebounder with 1,175, or 14.7 per game.

Black Hawks' Mikita Sets Mark for Assists

CHICAGO (AP) — Stan Mikita, high scoring Chicago Black Hawk center, set a National Hockey League record in assists for a season against New York in a 3-2 loss Tuesday night.

Mikita's 59th assist came in the second period when Ken Wharram scored Chicago's first goal. The previous record of 58 was shared by Toronto's Andy Bathgate while with New York and Jean Belleveau of the Montreal Canadiens.

Cookie Wants Cash

Gilchrist Talks With Bosses

DENVER (UPI) — The latest addition to the Denver Broncos — 250-pound Carlton (Cookie) Gilchrist — talked over one of his specialties Tuesday with his new bosses. Terms of a new contract.

Gilchrist left no doubt about where he stood. He said he was just a "big old horse" looking for cash.

★ ★ ★

The Broncos, last place finishers in the American Football League's Western Division, picked up Gilchrist last month in a trade with AFL champion Buffalo. The Broncos gave up Billy Joe, a 250-pound fullback.

Gilchrist met Tuesday with Gerald Phipps, who with his brother Allan, bought control of the Broncos in February and promised to keep them in Denver.

Gilchrist said he wanted a three-year contract which would "compensate me for services rendered."

★ ★ ★

He did not state what that figure might be, but it was believed to be high. Gilchrist knows he is a big reason for the Broncos' recent astounding success at the ticket office.

The club already has passed the 18,000 ticket mark in a season ticket sale drive for next year.

★ ★ ★

"The Denver people are in business," Gilchrist said. "They know I can put people in the stands. If they appreciate me as a man and a football player, we won't have any trouble."

Challenger Gives Science a Boost

HILLSDALE, N.J. (AP) — It was a great day for scientific progress. First, Gemini at Cape Kennedy. Then, Cus D'Amato's "apparatus" at Jose Torres' fight camp here.

D'Amato's invention doesn't rank with the two-man space flight in the great scheme of things, perhaps. But he obviously considers it the biggest thing since they took prizefights off barges.

D'Amato, training Torres for his title bout with light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano at Madison Square Garden March 30, unveiled the contraption Tuesday. It got mixed reviews.

The apparatus, with sound accompaniment, is designed to develop combination punching. It is a mattress rolled around a heavy punching bag placed in a heavy wooden frame on the wall. Painted on the mattress is the outline of a head and torso, labeled "Willie," with numbers 1 through 10 at strategic spots —7 on the face, 1 and 2 on either side of the chin, and so on.

COUNT DOWN

With his own voice barking out a series of numbers from a tape recorder, Torres responds by throwing a sequence of punches to the designated points. The 28-year-old Puerto Rican has worked with the apparatus for some weeks, off and on, and is quite proficient.

"6-5-2-1-2," commanded the recorder — and Torres just as quickly ripped two punches to the body and three to the chin. "1-2-5-6-1" — two to the chin, two to the body, another to the chin.

D'Amato claims Torres can unleash a sequence of five punches in two-fifths of a second, which is fast indeed. But he skeptics wanted to know if Pastrano, a remarkably quick man, would oblige by standing still long enough for the combinations to work, and if punches that fast and short had any steam.

D'Amato said he was sure there'd be time enough, and power enough.

Title Hopeful Studies Hard

Stable After Griffith's Welterweight Crown

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Jose Stable has been watching welterweight champion Emile Griffith so closely over the last two years that he feels he could almost write the champ's biography.

'I have been watching him fight every time in New York and I have many times watched the movies of his fights," said Stable through an interpreter Tuesday. "I know all the moves he makes.

★ ★ ★

"I was hoping so much to get a chance at his title but I never thought it would come. He fights Luis Rodriguez three times. He fights Brian Curvis. I say 'how about me.' Okay, now I got it, I must make good. This could be the last time I get the chance."

The 24-year-old, Cuban-born New Yorker, meets Griffith for the title in the championship doubleheader at Madison Square Garden March 30.

15-ROUNDERS

Light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano, who is training with Stable at the Kutsher Country Club here, defends his crown against Jose Torres in the other bout. Both are 15-rounders.

Although Stable's recent record is the best of the four fighters, he is low man on the odds board. Griffith is a 2-1 favorite. Pastrano is 6-5 over Torres.

Stable, a little fellow standing 5-foot-6½, has won nine straight, the last three by knockouts over Vince Shomo, Gabe Terronez and Sugar Cliff. His record is 25-2-1, including nine knockouts. He never has been stopped in six years of pro battling. He is the No. 1 contender.

Indoor Meet Set at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Some 2,000 track and field athletes from 159 Michigan high schools are expected for what is billed as the nation's largest indoor school track meet April 2-3 at Michigan State University.

Defending champions are Ann Arbor in Class A and River Rouge in Class B for the second annual Lansing State Journal-Spartan High School Invitational Relays.

In the first running of the meet last year, some 1,700 athletes competed.

Detroiter Henry Hank Ready for 10-Rounder

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Henry Hank, Detroit boxer, and Roger Rouse of San Jose, Calif., will meet in a 10-round match at Oakland Auditorium April 5.

The fight originally was scheduled for March 19 but Hank injured himself that day when he slipped and fell during road work.

Track Stars at Western

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Nearly 50 indoor track teams are expected to compete here this weekend in the Western Michigan University Relays.

Tax-Reverted County Lands Up for Bids

More than 800 small land units in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties with a combined minimum asking price of over $475,000 will be offered for sale in Detroit and Pontiac by the Conservation Department early next month.

Coming up for bids April 7 and 8 in the City-County Building of Detroit will be 610 Wayne County parcels appraised at $210,000.

The department's final sale of the month will be held April 9 in the Oakland County Service Center to auction off 147 units in Oakland County Service Center and 72 land descriptions in Macomb County.

Starting prices total $138,000 for the Oakland County lands and $28,000 for parcels in Macomb County.

Bidding will begin on all three days at 10 a.m.

Sales receipts from these tax-reverted lands, involving mostly platted lots, will be turned over in full to the three counties where the lands are located.

Treasurers of these counties have lists describing the land units to be sold.

Tour of Deer Yards Set by Department

Four northern deer yard tours have been scheduled by the Conservation Department.

Open to the public, the tours will start from the Manton and Baldwin field offices and the Mio district headquarters April 4, and from Atlanta field office April 11.

The starting time for all tours is 10 a.m. Each trip will last about four hours.

Spectators will be guided through the winter swampland homes of deer and into areas where logging projects have provided additional food for whitetails.

Quail Hunting Bill Studied in Legislature

Measure Would Open 15 Counties; Oakland Included on List

LANSING (AP)—The perennial proposal for an open season on quail—voted down in at least the last half dozen sessions —is before the legislature again this year.

A well organized group of hunters in southern Michigan want a chance to shoot quail. The State Conservation Department is behind the idea. Department game bird specialists recommended selective seasons.

★ ★ ★

Year after year, however, the legislature goes against the proposal.

Main opposition is from those who think of the quail as a song bird rather than a game bird.

The quail—also known as the bob white—is that cunning little fellow with the perky whistle that tradition has it is saying: "bob white, bob white."

CHEERFUL CALL

People like to see the bird around and to hear his cheerful call. They fear that shooting might wipe the little fellow out.

The Southern Michigan Quail Association is campaigning for an open season, saying half a million birds are wasted a year.

★ ★ ★

Michigan is part of the northern limit of their range and the open season advocates say that the birds are killed off anyway by the heavy winters. Enough breeding stock survives each year to produce a new crop of quail but most of these again die from natural causes.

An experimental quail shoot was allowed last fall, from Nov. 2-6 at the Rose Lake Wildlife experiment Station near East Lansing.

NOT EASY

The hunters also found the birds weren't easy to find and hit.

A bill introduced in the House by Rep. W. Scott Esnign, D-Battle Creek, proposes a five-day quail season in southern Michigan for the fall, to come at the end of the pheasant season.

★ ★ ★

The season would be limited to the 15 southern counties: St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe, Wayne Washtenaw, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Ingham, Livingston, Cass, Oakland and Macomb.

Pontiac Press Photo

STUDY TIME — Law supervisor George Bruso (left) and Henry Vondette, fish biologist, are "learning the roads" from the parks supervisor Alfred Masini (right) with the help of an Oakland County road map. The three supervisors are assigned to the Conservation Department's Pontiac Lake district office. Masini, former manager of the Proud Lake and Highland recreation areas, is familiar with the country. The other two have moved to the county for the first time.

Rainbow Season Announced

Trout Legal April 3

The heaviest spring run of rainbows in many years is expected to take place during the special season which opens April 3.

The Conservation Department has designated portions of 49 streams in Northern Michigan, the Great Lakes, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit and St. Mary rivers legal waters for taking rainbows and browns during the special season.

The Soo Rapids and the St. Mary River will be closed until the regular season opens April 24.

According to department experts, chemical treatment of the upper Great Lakes has reduced the lamprey population to a level that enables the rainbows to make a strong comeback.

The early season is designed to provide action on rainbows and browns before they return to the big lakes shortly after the regular season gets under way.

Following is the list of waters that will be open for taking rainbows and Browns beginning April 3:

Put Roberts in Senate, Says Romney

Gov. George Romney urged last night the return of former State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts to the senate as a man who "fought for Michigan progress often without regard for partisan labels or partisan consequences."

Romney, at a fund-raising dinner for Roberts in Livonia, said Roberts "directed many vital legislative decisions" as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee in the 1963-64 sessions.

Roberts gave up his seat to unsuccessfully run for the new State Court of Appeals last November.

When Republican Sen. Elect Paul Chandler died in December, Romney called a special election and Roberts entered the race for the 14th District post.

His Democratic opponent for the now-vacant seat is Edward McNamara, a Livonia City Councilman.

Arraignment Set in Slaying

Woman Faces Murder Charge in Stabbing

A Waterford Township woman, charged with the Feb. 27 fatal stabbing of her husband, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday by Waterford Justice John E. McGrath for arraignment on a second-degree murder charge.

Bound over to the higher court following an examination before McGrath was Valorie Tyrer, 44, of 6805 Desmond. Bond of $1,000 was set.

Mrs. Tyrer is accused of killing her husband, Norbert, 47, with a 15-inch butcher knife after the couple had been arguing.

Police said that Mrs. Tyrer called them at 8:28 p.m. Feb. 27 and reported she had stabbed her husband.

* * * *

She refused to make a formal statement later to Asst. Prosecutor James Stelt who issued a first degree murder warrant.

SENT TO JAIL

Following her arraignment later that night before McGrath, she was sent to the Oakland County jail and held without bond pending the justice court examination.

The examination began March 9 but was adjourned after three hours because Mrs. Tyrer's attorney was called to a Circuit Court jury trial.

This same trial resulted in a second postponement March 16.

* * * *

McGrath reduced the charge from first degree murder, which precludes bond, to second degree murder after hearing testimony at the examination.

Mrs. Tyrer will be arraigned before Judge Frederick C. Ziem at 9 a.m. next Tuesday.

Skidding Car Hits Area Boy

An Orion Township youth is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital after he was struck by a car yesterday on Baldwin in Orion Township.

John Hall, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hall, 2942 Baldwin, suffered head injuries in the mishap.

The driver of the car, Perry Hammett, 29, of 790 Laird, told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies he saw the youth on the road, but when he attempted to stop, his car skidded on the snowy pavement.

Owosso City Clerk Is Free on Bond

OWOSSO (UPI)—Owosso City Clerk George A. Van Epps was free on $20,000 bond today after being charged with four counts of embezzling from the city employes retirement fund.

Examination on the charge was set for April 20 by Municipal Judge Peter Marutiak, who issued the original warrant on the complaint of W. D. Mayes of the auditor general's staff.

* * *

Van Epps, city clerk for almost 36 years, is charged with taking more than $3,000 from the fund, but spokesmen from the criminal division of the attorney general's office said auditors have found shortages of about $28,000 dating back to 1958.

Pontiac Man Found Dead in His Home

Claire N. Moore, 34, of 735 Bigham, was found dead at his home last night.

Pontiac Police said he was the victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

City Commission Asked to Review Tavern Ruling

The City Commission last night was asked to again consider the question of upgrading tavern licenses to Class C status, permitting liquor by the glass.

Recently, the commission rejected an upgrading plan prepared by a select five-man citizens committee.

Former Pontiac Mayor Philip Rowston last night presented a petition signed by 10 Pontiac tavern owners requesting that the commission reconsider the upgrading of taverns.

Rowston said he represented all of the tavern owners now in business.

* * *

He said the tavern owners would go along with any reasonable policy for upgrading.

ASKS REPORT

Rowston asked that the commission consider his petition and report back in three or four weeks.

Accepting the petition, May-or William H. Taylor Jr., said it would be considered at the commission's next informal meeting, but added he could not promise a report in three weeks.

The five-member citizens committee studied the upgrading question at the request of Mayor Taylor.

* * *

However, the commission rejected the group's findings.

BOTH SIDES

Representatives of both sides in the liquor controversy served on the committee.

In a separate instance, the commission was commended last night for not upgrading tavern licenses. A petition, signed by 90 persons, was received from the Free Methodist Church of Pontiac.

Searchers Find Body of Woman

FLINT (AP) — Authorities Tuesday unearthed the body of an elderly woman from the basement of a junk-strewn house where, the day before, the corpse of a 54-year-old man was found.

Genesee County Sheriff's men speculated the body was that of 80-year-old Maude McCauley, mother of Hugh McCauley whose frozen corpse was discovered Monday in a front room. Cause of the woman's death was not immediately determined.

* * *

Genesee County Medical Examiner Dr. George Beyer said first indications were the woman had been dead at least a year. The man apparently died about a month ago, Beyer said.

DISCOVERY

The discovery was made by Vernon Tyree, 28, a Flint newspaper correspondent who said he went to the house at the suggestion of a neighborhood grocer with whom McCauley regularly cashed his mother's Social Security checks. The grocer became concerned when McCauley did not stop at the store for several weeks.

* * *

Medical examination showed McCauley died of a cerebral hemorrhage, apparently following a stroke, Beyer said.

The house, cluttered with rags, debris and junk, contained a workshop where McCauley, a recluse, repaired appliances as a hobby.

Pleads Guilty in Traffic Fatality

A Waterford Township man pleaded guilty yesterday to negligent homicide in connection with a traffic death in January.

To be sentenced April 14 by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt is Raymond C. Tick, 29, of 5175 Cass-Elizabeth.

* * *

Mrs. William Burder, 61, of 147 S. Tilden was killed Jan. 17 when the car which her husband was driving collided with Tick's auto on M59 near Elizabeth Lake Road.

Tick was charged with manslaughter but the plea on the lesser offense was accepted by the prosecutor's office.

IF YOU SAW A MURDER!... WHAT WOULD YOU DO?
AGATHA CHRISTIE'S MURDER
SHE SAID

AP Photofax

STAR OF GLITTERING ERA—Mae Murray, glamour star of the silent movie era, died yesterday in Hollywood at the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital. She was one of the highest paid stars in moviedom, but lived extravagantly and became penniless. She is shown in a 1964 interview (right) and at the height of her career in 1926 starring in "The Merry Widow."

Serious Philosophical

Sue Lyon Is No Longer 'Lolita'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—She seems absolutely prim. When she speaks it is often of the joys of serious acting or the intricacies of Oriental philosophy.

THOMAS

This is Sue Lyon, "Lolita" plus five years. She looks and sounds greatly changed from the nymphet she played in her initial film. In truth, she seems different from the teen-age temptress she enacted in "Night of the Iguana."

★ ★ ★

The alterations are not entirely external. The physical aspects are the result of her role as mission schoolteacher in Manchuria for the multistar "Seven Women." The other changes may be the result of a year in which she was married and divorced from actor Hampton Fancher III.

"It has been a difficult year," she commented reflectively. "The worst part of it was losing my brother; that was the most tragic thing that has happened in my life.

OTHER WAYS

"But in other ways it has been a wonderful year. I have grown and learned a great deal."

She evidenced no bitterness about her brief tenure as Mrs. Hampton Fancher III. In fact, to refurbish an old Hollywood cliche, they are still friends.

"I always remain friends with those I have been in love with," she reasoned. "I think that before there can be love, you must admire and respect a person. After love has gone, you can still maintain your friendship. It's foolish not to."

In "Seven Women," Sue finds herself amid the powerhouse company of Anne Bancroft, Margaret Leighton, Flora Robson, Betty Field, Mildred Dunnock and Anna Lee. She is understandably awed in the presence of such talent and determined to keep up with them.

HEAVY TOME

One of her ways of understanding the nature of the film is to study a heavy tome on Chinese philosophy. "I can only read a little bit at a time and then I get lost," she admitted.

"At this rate it may take me five years to finish it, but I'm determined."

★ ★ ★

That's the nature of Sue Lyon at 19: determination. For a couple of years she has been studying with a dramatic coach, and the experience has infused her with a will to succeed.

★ ★ ★

"Now I have a goal, a purpose," she says. "Before, I wasn't even sure I wanted to go on acting."

The sequence of events seems natural for a girl who was plunged at 14 into a famous, if not notorious, role.

The film was followed by a three-year lapse, in which she finished her schooling with tutors. Then came the "Iguana" location, which she says was not as wild as various magazine accounts would have you believe.

Soviet, China Leaders in Romania for Funeral

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan and Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai arrived in Bucharest today for the funeral of Romanian President Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej. There was speculation they would also discuss the Soviet - Chinese dispute.

Other foreign Communist leaders also arrived in the Romanian capital to pay tribute to the late Romanian head of state and first party secretary, who died Marc 17.

Silent Screen Beauty Dies Broke at 75

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mae Murray, the silent screen's blonde with the bee-stung lips who made $3 million and spent every penny, is dead at 75.

Miss Murray, who married four times, was a symbol of roaring 20s gaiety who never ceased regarding herself as a celebrity although her career did not extend into the era of talking pictures.

At the motion picture country home she succumbed yesterday to a long illness that followed a stroke and a heart ailment.

"You don't have to keep making movies to remain a star," she said several years ago. "Once you become a star, you are always a star."

★ ★ ★

Her most famous film was "The Merry Widow," in which she starred with John Gilbert, with Erich Von Stroheim as director.

She said she discovered Rudolph Valentino and gave him a role in her 1919 movie, "The delicious Little Devil." she called him filmland's most fascinating male star.

She once told an interviewer the secret of her success:

"I could dance since I could stand on my feet. Getting in was easy. When you're very young, you have no inhibitions.

"You go right up to the stage door and ask what they are doing and if you can be in the show.

"Everyone else in the show would be doing what they were told to do, but I would be doing a little bit extra."

★ ★ ★

At her peak, she earned $10,000 a week and was one of Hollywood's highest paid stars. She maintained lavish homes and entertained extravagantly.

INCOME DECLINED

But as her glittering era passed, her income declined.

In 1926, she estimated her fortune at $3 million.

Ten years later, she said, she sat penniless for three days on a bench in New York's Central Park.

In the mid-50s she wrote her memoirs, "The Self-Enchanted."

Born Marie Adrienne Koenig May 10, 1889, in Portsmouth, Va., she danced in New York shows as a teen-ager, Florenz Ziegfeld featured her in his follies of 1908, 1909 and 1915.

Her films included "On With the Dance," "Gilded Lily," "The Right to Live," "Peacock Alley," "Broadway Rose," "Altars of Desire."

Satchmo's Jazz Is 'Red-Hot'

Sends East German Fans Into Ecstasy

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Louis Armstrong brought his trumpet and his raspy voice deep into Communist East Germany Tuesday night and made music that sent thousands of fans into ecstasy.

Playing at the Leipzig Fair grounds, old Satchmo blew his horn and sang his favorites where a few years ago his kind of music was forbidden.

Armstrong is the first big jazz name from the West to tour East Germany. He is playing four concerts in Leipzig, seven in East Berlin and one each in Magdeburg and Erfurt. He also is visiting Romania and Yugoslavia.

The 4,300 seats for each of his Leipzig shows were sold out the day after tickets went on sale a week ago.

MEDICAL MEETING

A jazz band made up entirely of doctors met Armstrong's plane from Berlin Tuesday. The doctors were in the city for a medical meeting.

Introduced as the "Ambassador of Happiness," Satchmo rolled his eyes and sang "When It's Sleepy Time Down South" to open his show. Every number got an ovation, but the fans gave their biggest hand to "Hello, Dolly" and "Blueberry Hill."

"I could stay here for a week and listen to Satchmo," said one economics student. "It's about time that we got to hear somebody like this in the flesh."

Most of the audience were under 30. There were some older ones, including a few wearing the lapel button of the Communist party.

TOP FORM

Armstrong, who will be 65 in July, was in top form and never showed his age.

After he closed his show, the audience whistled and chanted "Satchmo, Satchmo" for 20 minutes, until he came on stage wearing a green and white checked dressing gown and leisurely smoking a cigarette.

He waved and went back stage but had to come out again before the crowd would disperse.

"People ask me what I'm doing behind the Iron Curtain," he said, "and I tell them all I want is to meet human beings and to play my horn.

"And, man, these are real live cats out there."

Kills Mother-in-Law in Road Accident

RENSSELAER, N.Y. (AP) — Muriel Balsan, 64, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by her son-in-law Tuesday as he prepared to take her to a wake for his mother.

Police said Merlin Stone, 48, of Schodack Landing had gone to Mrs. Balsan's home. She was crossing in front of the car, police said, when it accidentally lurched forward.

The court found Thomas guilty of the charges March 14. The sentence is subject to review by higher military authorities.

Predicts 'Mary Poppins' Will Steal 'Oscar' Show

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The insiders in Hollywood may be wrong, but they tell us they foresee a runaway for Julie Andrews and "Mary Poppins" on Oscar night . . . Nipsey Russell, speaking to the NBC affiliates, used the expression "You-all." Then, correcting himself, he said, "But since we won a Nobel Prize and also an Oscar, I guess I should say 'All of you.' "

"What's your handicap?" Whitey Ford asked Joe DiMaggio, at Fort Lauderdale's Rolling Hills Golf Lodge. "Age," replied Joe, who then beat Whitey by four strokes.

Beautiful Elizabeth Allen's fans were unhappy about one thing in her opening in Richard Rodgers' "Do I Hear a Waltz?": that the makeup guys had unpretties her so she seemed an unglamorous tourist-type secretary rather than a top model and beauty. "But that's how she HAD to look!" explained her leading man Sergio Franchi, a delight, "otherwise she wouldn't be lacking in men!"

The magic of the Rodgers name made the opening and Voisin first-night party superb. Miss Chiara Pisani of the Italian magazine Gente said there was one false note: when Franchi said he was too tired to continue his wooing: "No Italian man," she swore, "would ever say 'I'm tired.' "

★ ★ ★

Jane Fonda—still mad about that bare-derriered painting of her in Times Square—spurned Theater-Owner Walter Reade's bid to a reconciliation party in her honor. She swears she'll skip the opening of "Circle of Love" and will also demand damages and costs . . . The Hotel Concord rejected a top-name headliner as social host figuring he'd be a poor image to flaunt before husband-hunting gals.

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Debbie Reynolds, figuring the "best actress" Oscar goes to foreign stars, got as foreign as possible — opened her cafe act at the Eden Roc, Miami Beach . . . Bess Myerson (Mrs. Arnold Grant) is co-chairman of the "Purim in Venice" Ball at the Jewish Museum March 27.

Indonesian President Sukarno wired Cindy Adams, wife of comic Joey Adams, to airmail him a dozen cans of peaches and plums . . . Victor Borge was asked at a student press conference for his definition of teen-ager. "Mainly," he said, "it's someone who isn't 20 yet!" . . . Burt Lancaster gets top billing in "The Train" here—but British actor Paul Scofield has it in England.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local psychiatrist has had great success with teen-age patients. He lets them phone in their problems.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A woman begins lying about her age when her face begins telling the truth about it."—Anon.

EARL'S PEARLS: Doctors say you'll eat less if you eat slowly. This is particularly true if you're a member of a large family.—Cherryvale (Kans.)

Heads for House Vote

Health Care on Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unprecedented package of health benefits and pension increases for the aged, speeded by the approval of the House Ways and Means Committee and welcomed by President Johnson, headed today for an early vote in the House.

The committee, altered by Democratic gains in last year's election, cleared Tuesday a $6-billion measure containing Johnson's plan for hospitalization paid for by a pay roll tax — and much more:

Hospitalization for all over 65; an optional contributory plan to help pay other health expenses; liberalization of the state-federal system of health care of the indigent and low-income groups; an across-the-board 7 per cent increase in old age payments under Social Security.

The committee set a meeting today for final formalities and leaders planned to bring the measure to the floor by the first week of April, at the latest.

The financing involves a stiff rise in the pay roll tax levied for Social Security. Next year's maximum payment by an employe would be up $69.60 from this year's with more to come.

The health benefits of the bill fall into three main sections.

BASIC PROTECTION

First is a basic hospitalization protection — 60 days per illness plus 20 days in a nursing home for recuperation, or longer in the nursing home if the hospital benefit is not all used. All those over 65 would be eligible, whether or not retired or in need. Each patient would pay the first $40. The plan would go into effect July 1, 1966.

Next there would be a program for which the aged could sign up if they wished. It would cost $3 a month in premiums, and the patient would pay the first $50.

Doctors' visits, X-ray and labortary fees and a variety of other health expenses — but not medicines prescribed for home use — would be covered. The effective date would be the same.

For those cared for by welfare programs and by the existing Kerr-Mills Act for aid to persons so close to the poverty level that medical bills would ruin them, there also would be help.

The federal government, which now contributes 50 to 80 per cent of the cost of existing programs in various states, would step up its contributions to 55 to 83 per cent.

Space Team on Way Home; Both Are OK

Returning on Carrier After Epic Flight in Steered Spacecraft

ABOARD USS INTREPID (AP) — Astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young, evidently none the worse for a wild ride through space in an orbit-shifting capsule, woke up refreshed today after a night of sound sleep.

"They look fine and feel fine," said a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration aboard this aircraft carrier which was the landing target of the spacemen after yesterday's 81,000-mile, three-orbit flight around the world.

Dr. Harold Minnerly, one of the astronauts' physicians, said there would be no more blood tests, an indication that first tests showed no adverse effects on the blood from space radiation.

If they had, more tests would have been required.

★ ★ ★

Grissom slept from 9:39 p.m. until 6:45 a.m. and Young from 11 p.m. until 6:30 a.m. Then they settled down to the important business of filling in the experts on precisely what happened during their space journey.

RETURN TOMORROW

They are scheduled to return tomorrow to Cape Kennedy, from where a Titan launched their Molly Brown spacecraft into orbit yesterday, and to hold a press conference at 7 p.m.

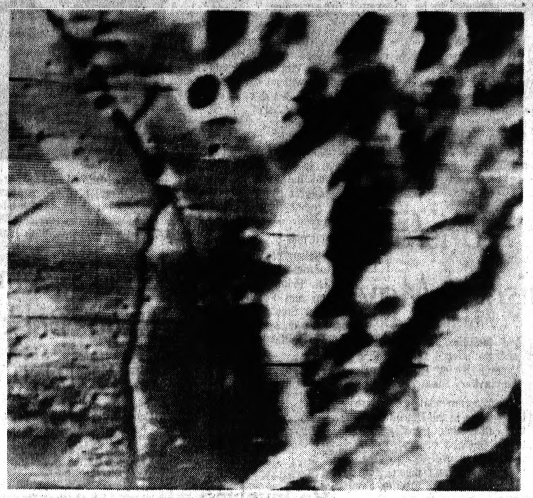

Their technical debriefing was to last all day. They will speak to the Intrepid's crewmen on the hanger deck at 6 p.m.

Grissom and Young were the first U.S. astronauts to fly as a team, and they were the first of any nation to maneuver a spacecraft.

Each flight provides innumerable valuable clues on how to improve the next performance. Today medical and space officials pumped the astronauts steadily for reactions that will eventually aid in hitting Project

Live TV Shots of Moon Sent Back to Earth

Lunar Probe Hits Target; Plunges Into Floor of Huge Crater

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —Ranger 9 televised live today a dramatic sequence of more than 200 close-ups of the moon and then dove to its death in a lunar crater.

The beautifully illuminated series began by showing three craters in sharp detail from 1,300 miles up, and finished by displaying tiny pockmarks on the floor of the crater Alphonsus from but a few miles away.

The live television was a first for the series, which now has three straight successes in returning close shots of the little known lunar surface.

The pictures were flashed on the screen for five seconds each for more than 15 minutes preceding Ranger's 6:08 a.m. impact, just four miles from its target in the 60-mile-wide Alphonsus.

★ ★ ★

CLOSE CAMERA

As Ranger 9 plunged moonward, the two other craters disappeared and the camera zeroed in on Alphonsus. Clearly visible was the 3,000-foot peak in the crater's center — almost dwarfed by the steep walls, 10,000 feet high.

Perhaps the most interesting feature was a large crack, or rill, across Alphonsus' floor.

One of the goals in aiming at a crater — the two previous successful Rangers photographed broad plains — was to try to learn if there is volcanic activity on the moon.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate indication whether the crack could have been caused volcanically.

MOVING CAMERA

The shots were made by one of the craft's six cameras as it traveled at about 6,000 miles per hour toward the lunar surface.

★ ★ ★

The craters grew slowly in size in the pictures as Ranger 9 zeroed in.

State Tax Plan Set for House

Lawmakers Propose 5 Pct. Income Levy

LANSING (AP) — A 5 per cent state income tax was scheduled for introduction in the House today.

"It is intended as a vehicle for a start toward fiscal reform," said chief sponsor Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, "in case the Democratic caucus decides to move or if there is a bipartisan movement."

The flat 5 per cent personal would be lowered if the bill is put into active service, he said.

Five per cent levies also would be imposed on the incomes of corporations and financial institutions.

"I picked a flat rate for all of them rather than commit myself on differing tax levels for the three," he said.

25 SIGN

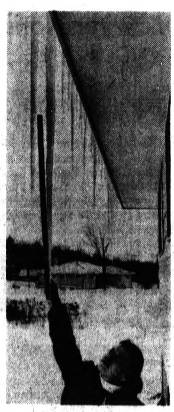

The measure was signed by approximately 25 legislators, including some Republicans. It also would provide for removal of the sales tax on food and drugs.

A $600 personal exemption would be the only one permitted, he said. Thus, the $10,000-a-year man with a wife and no children would pay taxes on $8,800 or $440.

The bill may or may not be part of a fiscal reform package, Montgomery said, "and auxiliary bills will be introduced on."

House Democrats were to caucus this afternoon for their first meeting on fiscal reform, he said, adding:

"If we don't get fiscal reform this year, by next year we'll wish we had. And if we don't get it next year, by the following year (1967) there will be a new (legislative) body here."

'Pen' Pals Write Gals From Cells

JACKSON (AP) — A lot of lonely hearts have begun beating quickly since Southern Michigan Prison lifted its mail censorship and officials are trying to slow them down.

★ ★ ★

Since the ban was dropped Feb. 15, the volume of mail from the world's largest walled prison has increased greatly.

Nearly 18,000 pieces of mail went out during the first 12 days of this month, compared with 12,890 pieces of all of last October and 18,360 pieces for the Christmas month of December.

Officials said much of the mail increase was due to "lonely hearts letters." They said abuses of the new system forced them to institute new measures to curb improprieties. They hinted the program might be dropped if abuses continued.

★ ★ ★

The prison newspaper remarked: "The new mail regulations were not developed for any purpose other than to permit you to correspond on a personal basis with people you know and who are interested in hearing from you.

HALT MAIL

City Adopts New Policy for Storm Drain Financing

A new special assessment policy for financing the construction of city storm drains was approved last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

The policy change was tagged as probably the "major policy action in this commission's term of office."

The vote was 6-0 with Commissioner Wesley J. Wood absent because of illness.

Under the new policy, the cost of storm drains will be assessed citywide on annual tax bills.

★ ★ ★

In the past, the city has generally followed the practice of assessing a drain's cost to the owners of properties to benefit.

STANDARD RATE

The standard rate has been two cents per square foot.

Local property owners have experienced the new policy in special assessments for the Clinton River tunnel project in downtown Pontiac.

Built as a county drain project, the river work is assessed city taxpayers on the county tax bill.

The City Commission approved the new policy in giving the green light to a joint storm drain project along a portion of the city's southern border.

Commissioners approved a petition to the County Drain Commissioner to set up the two-part storm sewer work as a county drain project.

The nearly $1-million project will be undertaken as a joint venture with Bloomfield Township, the Michigan State Highway Department and the Oakland County Road Commission.

The city's share will total $452,107 or an estimated 15 cents per $1,000 valuation.

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, who supported the policy vote, emphasized that taxpayers should be aware of the departure from past assessment practices.

SPREAD CITYWIDE

He said it would mean that future drainage projects would be spread citywide.

Hudson quoted City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling as estimating the cost of the city's total need for storm drains at $10-20 million.

The district 4 commissioner said it would be a tough job with the new policy to decide which jobs should be done first.

★ ★ ★

"There's no limit as to the amount that could be added to our tax bills," explained Hudson.

He claimed that the old 2-cent

Vote Canvass Delay Is Told

The official canvass of last week's vote on the city income tax has been held up, according to City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley.

She reported to the City Commission last night that only one member of the city's Board of Canvassers showed up for the meeting last Friday.

One member of the four-member board was out of town, another couldn't make it and a third had moved from the city.

The commission is to act next Tuesday on appointing a Democrat to replace Robert E. Vackaro, formerly of 784 St. Clair, who moved from the city.

★ ★ ★

The board will attempt to meet next Wednesday.

The board is made up of two Democrats and two Republicans. Other members are Art L. Dunlap, 410 Central, Bettie L. Gulacsik, 113 Mohawk and Dorothy M. Furgerson, 358 W. Iroquois.

The income tax was voted down 6,647 to 2,637.

Weather Outside to Be Frightfully Cold This Week

Br-r-r-r, it's cold outside, and the weatherman said for the next five days temperatures will average 15 to 20 degrees below the normal high of 46 and normal low of 31.

Tonight's low is expected to drop to a bone-chilling 5 to 12.

Mostly cloudy and a little warmer with snow in the afternoon, the high reaching 25 to 32, is the forecast for tomorrow. Snow or snow flurries with not much change in temperature is the prediction for Friday.

The lowest mercury reading prior to 8 a.m. was 9. At 1 p.m. the recording was 29.

'Seek a City Saint'—4

Be Involved With Life

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth of seven excerpts from Methodist minister David Head's book "Seek a City Saint." The excerpts are appearing each week in The Press during Lent.)

By DAVID HEAD
Distributed by NEA

The prophet must not only know his world, but live as part of it; and the city saint will not try to understand the community but rub shoulders with others in it.

This means being involved, even immersed. We find a strong reluctance within the church in many parts of the world to accept this. Why is this?

The conception of holiness has something to do with it. The word means "separate," and when the Israelites are told to come out and be separate there is a geographical reference in it.

For the Christian, the separation is from everything "worldly." The current use of that word is almost always in a bad sense, following the spiritual belief that the world God made has fallen into bad ways, and is out of step with God's will.

★ ★ ★

ARM'S LENGTH

So the fear of compromise may keep a Christian at arm's length from life. He will pay his taxes, though he may not agree with all government expenditure. He will be involved in joint action, in industry or society, with

Demands Air Raids Cease

Cong Threatens to Call Foreign Troops

SAIGON (UPI) — The Communist Viet Cong threatened today to bring "hundreds of millions" of Asians into Viet Nam if the U.S. air raids continue against the north.

It said the foreign troops would "wipe out and bury" Americans.

Even as the Communists were broadcasting their threat South Vietnamese planes with U.S. Air Force jet fighter cover attacked military targets in the north for the fourth consecutive day. The principal target was a radar station near Dong Hoi. The U.S. jets hit antiaircraft positions.

The Soviet news agency Tass said American jets bombed and strafed the western part of Quang Bin Province and the Vinh Lin district just north of the 17th parallel. It claimed three American planes were shot down and said this was a total of 63 since the attacks began.

No planes were reported lost today and the Communist report appeared to be an exaggeration.

WHAT TROOPS?

The Communists were vague as to identifying the foreign troops but the statement was broadcast one day after the Soviets reported many "volunteers" had expressed eagerness to serve in Viet Nam. The Chinese in the past have hinted that some volunteers might aid the Viet Cong.

The broadcast made an indirect threat to send more North Vietnamese into the war in the south. It said the Viet Cong are prepared to "call back the sons and daughters of South Viet Nam who have regrouped to the north in observance of the (1954) cease-fire agreement."

In Washington U.S. officials were reported confident today that the furor over use of nausea gas in Viet Nam would soon subside without damaging basic American-British unity on policy in Southeast Asia.

These officials acknowledged, however, that propaganda repercussions probably would continue to echo for some time around the world, spurred by Communist charges that poison gas rather than tear gas had been used.

CRITICISM

Criticism of U.S. and South Vietnamese tactics voiced by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart were viewed here as necessary gestures to quiet a political uproar in Britain.

But it was felt that this criticism was unlikely to cause any lessening of London's support for the general strategy being employed against North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong guerrillas.

TB Patient Transfer Due to Finish in May

Transfer of the remaining 64 patients at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium probably won't be completed until early May.

This was the observation of George H. Williams, director of the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare, following a meeting yesterday of four committees concerned with placement of the patients so the Oakland Community College can take over the facility.

The recently-established board of institutions recommended at the meeting that Oakland County make use of bed facilities for tubercular patients offered by Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital and the Maybury Sanatorium.

The recommendation to house the patients in the Detroit facilities rather than transfer them to the Oakland County Medical Care Facility will be considered by the ways and means committee at a special meeting Friday.

The new board of institutions was formed to allow TB patients to be housed in the Medical Care Facility rather than outside the county. However, the facility is presently overcrowded.

MEMBERS PRESENT

See Related Story, Page A-10

Williams observed that even if the ways and means committee concurs Friday with the recommendation to move the patients to Detroit, the transfer probably won't be completed until May 1 to May 15.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, said the college will be allowed to begin remodeling work at the building April 1 as originally planned.

The small number of remaining patients will be housed in areas of the building away from where the remodeling is taking place, Murphy said.

Negroes Get Bowling Time

Orchard Lanes, 645 Opdyke, where alleged racial discrimination was the subject of hearings early this year, has agreed to extend "prime time" to Negro leagues, the State Civil Rights Commission (CRC) said yesterday.

Donald D. Spalla, general manager of Orchard Lanes, said in a letter to the CRC that the alley was prepared to offer a Pontiac Negro league a contract for Monday from 9:25 p. m. to midnight during the 1965-66 season.

★ ★ ★

Ernest Seay, president of the Pontiac Community Bowling League, had testified Orchard Lanes refused to allocate the group desirable hours, even though it applied well in advance.

'Be Involved' in Your Life

which he will not fully agree.

He may not realize how much compromise is necessary to remain in the world of organized society at all. But he may try to keep "doubtful" contacts to the minimum.

A second reason for keeping separate is the danger of bad influence. This seems to be very much behind the stringent rules that developed in Judaism; those pagans were always leading God's people up blind and blasphemous alleys.

So we have to advise children and tender Christians to choose their friends carefully. A hard-grained bad-un at a boys' home (he was sixteen) told me that he had been sent there in the hope that some of the older boys would improve him.

JESUS KNOWS

"It works the other way," he grinned, "I make them worse." Jesus knows what is in man, so he prays that His disciples may be kept from evil—but not that they may be taken out of the world.

Then there is the matter of reputation. We do not want ourselves or our cause to get a bad name. Birds of a feather, you know.

St. Paul puts forward strong views against the marriage of Christian and pagan, and we see the point of that especially in the kind of society for which he wrote. But apparently he was misunderstood.

In I Corinthians he mentions a previous letter in which he said that his readers must have nothing to do with "loose livers."

NOT OF PAGANS

Now he is at pains to insist that when he wrote that he was not thinking of pagans who are "grabbers and swindlers or idolators."

He drily comments, "To avoid them you would have to get right out of the world." It is loose-living Christians who are to be avoided—people who give the Church a bad reputation.

We should not be surprised at Paul's attitude. He has the example of Jesus.

The way Jesus behaved is quite clear. His reputation could not be worse: he was actually the friend of tax-collectors and sinners, people who (sat loose) to the law in the most worldly manner.

4th REASON

A fourth reason for a Christian's indifference to the city is a desire not to be distracted.

But looking at the Father means looking at the world He made for His joy; and turning your eyes upon Jesus spotlights the faces of the hungry and the prisoner and the stranger.

God says to His city saint, "I am interested and involved in everything that goes on in My world—so are you to be."

Space Team Heads Back on Carrier

BIG QUESTION

One big question: Why did the astronauts fall short of the carrier Intrepid by from 50 to 60 nautical miles? Space officials puzzled over this yesterday and wound up saying they just didn't know.

Everyone, from President Johnson down, seemed to think the flight was a powerful success. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and a large contingent of congressmen were at Cape Kennedy to offer congratulations.

Johnson got the astronauts on the telephone shortly after they were picked up and brought to this carrier.

★ ★ ★

VERY GRATEFUL

"We're very proud of you," the President said, "and very grateful for your safe return."

"It was a thrilling and wonderful flight," Grissom said.

"It was a wonderful flight," Young told the President. "It didn't last long enough."

GT4 is the next scheduled flight, a four-day trip this summer with astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White in the capsule. During this flight McDivitt will open the capsule hatch and peer into space.

DISTANCE TRAVELED

For the record, Grissom, 38, an Air Force major, and young, 34, Navy lieutenant commander, traveled 81,000 miles in 4 hours, 54 minutes.

They came down in the Atlantic Ocean at 2:18 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and bobbed in their capsule—nicknamed the Molly Brown—for 45 minutes before the helicopters picked them up.

It was a pleasant day, the waves were only two to three feet high, and there was no trouble in spotting the astronauts.

★ ★ ★

They were fetched to the carrier — the helicopter stirred up such a breeze it blew the welcome mat away, but it was quickly recovered — to begin the long debriefing sessions.

OFF SPACE SUITS

The astronauts had removed their spacesuits, and wore blue corduroy bathrobes over long underwear. They had been instructed to talk to no one, and it was an eerie sight as they walked silently past silent watchers to sick bay. They paused briefly for a long drink of water. Then the doors clanged shut.

Grissom is the first man to go into outer space twice. On July 21, 1961, he took a 16-minute flight, and, in one of the closest calls in U. S. space history, lost his spaceship and had to swim for his life.

Officially yesterday's spaceship bore the undistinguished title of Gemini 3. But because Grissom's first ship had sunk, the astronauts nicknamed this one "Molly Brown," after the Broadway musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Crystal Lake Pollution Aired by City Officials

Pontiac city officials last night questioned what steps Waterford Township is taking, if any, to end pollution of Crystal Lake.

City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler said he wanted the public to know that Crystal Lake pollution comes from Waterford Township.

According to city officials, septic tanks in an area of the township just west of the city feed into the west end storm drain, ending up in the lake on the city's southwest side.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling said last night that the city had sent township officials a "core city" statement last September.

★ ★ ★

The statement indicated that the city was ready to go ahead and extend a 1958 agreement to provide sanitary sewers for the remaining unsewered areas of the west end storm drain.

'WE'VE TRIED'

"Well, we've tried to do something," Fowler commented.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported that township officials had indicated they would like to move on the project just as soon as they could.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the city was ready to work with the township.

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that the state took "fierce action" against the city when it was polluting the Clinton River.

SECOND PLANT

Taylor referred to the Circuit Court order, obtained by the State Water Resources Commission, that directed the city build a second sewage treatment plant after voters rejected the bond issue three times.

★ ★ ★

The area of the west end drain, according to Neipling, extends westerly from the Pontiac Mall to Voorheis, then angles southeast to the vicinity of James K and Voorheis, east to Telegraph and then north along Telegraph to the Mall.

Adopts New Policy on Drains

formula had held back the flood of requests for storm drains because those who would benefit had to pay the bill.

Other commissioners defended the policy change, claiming it was the only way to get "some of the things done that need doing."

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin called the change "a sensible approach to an entire city problem."

Solving the drainage problems would open up many areas in the city to development, he added.

DRAIN PROBLEMS

Hudson pointed out that several areas of the city already developed have had storm drain problems for a long time.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said that the two-cent formula had proved costly in the past to individual taypayers and the city's share had overtaxed the capital improvement fund.

City Engineer Neipling said the citywide assessment policy was growing across the state and the county.

Commenting on the estimate of $10-20 million as the city's total need, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a storm drain study was under way. Results are expected this summer.

JOINT PROJECT

The joint project with Bloomfield Township will provide storm drains between Franklin on the west and the Grand Trunk Railroad on the east, mostly along Square Lake Road and extending 1,000 feet east and north into the city.

Neipling described benefits of the projected drains as allowing development of vacant land in the southeast corner of the city and providing an outlet for the Earlmoor storm sewer system.

Old Complaint Offers 'Twist'—1,501 Names

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—There's a new twist to the old complaint about the Maple-Telegraph intersection.

Another letter from the township board yesterday was mailed to the governor and State Highway Commission.

But unlike those which had preceded it, this one was accompanied by a petition bearing 1,501 signatures.

Other letters sent by the board resulted last November in the promise that the pavement would be widened this spring.

★ ★ ★

The $17,500 project will focus on the creation of extra-wide traffic lanes north of the high-accident intersection.

ENDORSEMENT

The petitions endorsed by the township board were circulated by the Bloomfield Plaza Merchants Association from the shopping center on the southwest corner of the intersection.

They seek installation of green arrows or left-turn signals at the intersection for traffic on both roads.

Approved by the board Monday night, the letters were sent to Gov. Romney, the State Highway Commission and Howard E. Hill, acting director of the commission.

In other action Monday night, the board approved the purchase of a $40,000 communications control center for the fire and police departments.

NEW ADDITION

The large U-shaped center will be installed in the new addition to the Township Hall by Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc., of Chicago.

It will be the first to operate outside of those in large metropolitan departments, according to township clerk Deloris V. Little.

"It's very definitely advantageous," she said, noting that the center will have several innovations to increase efficiency of fire and police radio operation.

Lawyer Plans New Petition for Harmon

BIRMINGHAM — A 30-month, $79,500-a-year contract with a Birmingham rubbish collection firm has been approved by the City Commission.

The contract with the GCW Disposal Service will go into effect June 1.

By that time, the city expects to terminate its present contract with the Detroit Rubbish Co., seven months ahead of the expiration date.

The owner, I. J. Giacalone, has requested the release.

He has said that his $50,000-a-year contract is not providing any profit and that he is facing bankruptcy because of equipment maintenance and high wages to union employes.

NOTES ERROR

Giacalone said he had made an error in computing his bid. He has appeared before the commission a number of times in the past year asking for the cancellation.

On Monday, he pleaded with the commission to release him from the contract rather than terminate it because of the penalty involved with the bonding company if he is cited for failing to perform.

He said that if the bonding company had to reimburse the city, it would put him in a position where he could not bid on another municipal contract. He has operated in Birmingham for over five years.

A motion by Commissioner William Roberts to have the contract terminated without penalty failed on a tie vote, 3-3. Commissioner David Breck abstained from voting because he is representing Giacalone in a legal matter.

STREET PROGRAM

In another action, the commission approved an $84,000 street resurfacing program.

Most of the 14 streets involved in the project have not been repaved for 15 years, according to City Manager Robert Kenning.

Ten of the streets will be done this year. They are Colonial Court; Bennaville, from Edgewood to Grant; Ruffner, from Grant to Woodward; Bennaville, from Grant to the alley; Chapin, from Grant to Woodward; Cummings, from Bennaville to Chapin; Humphrey, from the alley to Tarry; Yorkshire, from Rugby to Cambridge; Cambridge, from Buckingham to Maple; and Henrietta, from Northlawn to 14 Mile Road.

Those streets to be included in the 1966 portion of the program are Holland, Webster and Cole, from Adams to Eton; and Torry, from Holland to Cole.

The entire cost of the repaving project will be borne by the city.

Woman Found Dead in Tub

A 30-year-old Oxford Township woman, Mrs. Marlene McCabe, of 948 Burlingham, was found dead in her bathroom early this morning.

Sheriff's investigators said there were no visible injuries on her body and they doubted there was any foul play involved. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department scheduled the autopsy this morning, but said he was fairly certain that death was the result of either natural causes or possibly an accidental fall.

★ ★ ★

According to the McCabe children, their mother had been visited by a few friends early last evening.

300 Escape Blaze at Apartment House

NEW YORK (AP) —Three hundred occupants were evacuated from a seven-story ocean front apartment house early today after a fire broke out on the roof and spread to part of the top floor.

Two residents suffered slightly from smoke inhalation. One fireman was taken off duty when he complained of chest pains. Two elderly occupants were taken out on aerial ladders by firemen. The rest left by elevators and stairways.

Ranks of Marchers Rise to 500

LOWNDESBORO, Ala. (AP) —The ranks of Alabama's band of civil rights marchers swelled to about 500 today in the final major portion of their 50-mile pilgrimage from Selma to Montgomery.

Three hundred marchers tromped from their muddy campsite at 7 a.m. to get an early start in the fourth day of the right-to-vote march.

They were joined by about 200 marchers waiting at the start of the four-lane stretch of U.S. 80 leading into the Alabama capital.

2-MAN SQUADS

Two-man squads of soldiers were spaced about 200 yards apart for three miles along the route.

The marchers, most of them Negroes, were up about an hour earlier than usual. They hoped to cover 14 miles which would put them inside the Montgomery city limits. They breakfasted on oatmeal, toast and coffee.

The marchers planned to camp tonight in the yard of a Roman Catholic school six miles from the white-domed Alabama Capitol, the goal of their protest march which began last Sunday.

At the head of the column were the Rev. Andrel Young of Atlanta, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; James Orange of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, Atlanta; and Jim Leather, a one-legged white man from Saginaw, Mich., who says he is going all the way with the group.

DEFECTIVE BOMBS

In Birmingham police said defective assembly of six dynamite bombs planted in Negro neighborhoods prevented them from exploding.

The bombs were intended to explode, Police Capt. Maurice House said Tuesday.

House made the statement after tests were made on parts taken from three of the bombs. The other three were sent to FBI headquarters in Washington for analysis.

Investigators probing the bombs said they have more evidup in previous investigations of bombings here. Birmingham has had more than 40 bombings connected with racial incidents since World War II.

Grissom and Young Give Big Boost to U.S. Space Hopes

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —With the flight of the Molly Brown, the United States gained a little ground on the Russians in the man-in-space race and opened the gates to a flood of astronaut launchings in the years ahead.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young took the Gemini spacecraft up for a trial run Tuesday. They flew it backward, forward and upside down and executed the first orbital changes ever made by a manned spacecraft.

There were a few minor difficulties. But project officials pronounced the two-seat craft ready to begin operational missions on the next flight. Nine more Gemini flights are scheduled in the next two years.

Grissom and Young were up for a three-orbit spin lasting less than five hours. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration termed it a "truly historic" mission and said it demonstrated the readiness of the craft for future long-duration and rendezvous missions.

4 DAYS

In June, astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White are to zoom into space for four days to further evaluate the capsule and to gather medical and scientific data.

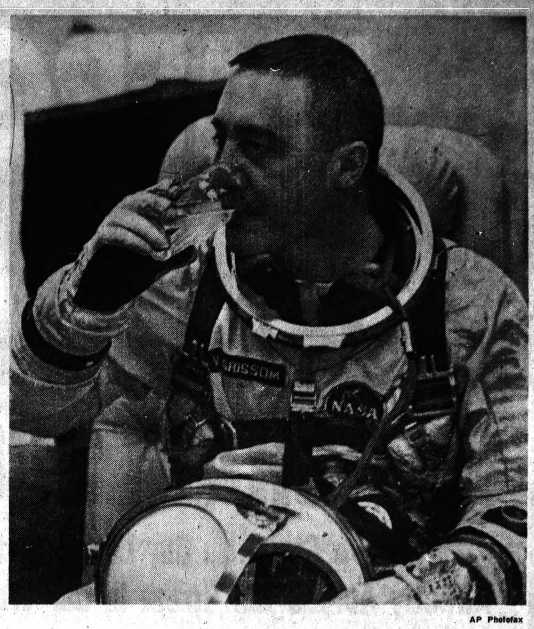

★ ★ ★

McDivitt is to become the first U.S. astronaut to go at least partially out of his orbiting ship. Plans call for him to open his hatch and poke his head into space. However, some thought is being given to having him leave the craft on the end of a tether — just as cosmonaut Alexei Leonov did during a spectacular two-man Soviet shot last week.

BLAST OFF

24 Pupils 'Follow' Spacemen in Their Model Gemini Capsule

OJAI, Calif. (UPI)—Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young may not know it, but they weren't alone yesterday on their Gemini space flight, they had 24 youngsters "up there" with them.

★ ★ ★

The youngsters were fourth, fifth and sixth grade students at Mira Monte School who came to class yesterday at 4 a.m., to follow the astronauts' adventures.

As the Titan 2 missile boosted the Astronauts' Gemini 3 space capsule into space, the youngsters duplicated every movement with a cardboard model.

★ ★ ★

The classroom walls were covered with warning lights, buzzers and a map of the world for atmosphere.

MODEL SPACECRAFT

The students began building their model spacecraft three weeks ago and even painted "Molly Brown"—nickname of the actual Gemini 3—on the side of their replica.

★ ★ ★

"Boy it's good to be back on earth again," said 11-year-old Joan Burger at the end of her flight in the 20-foot model of the spacecraft.

Mrs. Betty Grissom (Left) And Mrs. Barbara Young Check Progress Of Husbands' Flight

Watched Husbands on TV

Astronauts' Wives Kept Vigil

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — After it was over everything was different.

Betty Grissom blushed and smiled triumphantly.

Barbara Young's tight, infectious grin lighted her pretty face.

The day began gloomily, with an iron gray overcast and mist drifting through the beams of television floodlights in front of their homes.

SUN SHINES

Now the sun shone hotly after Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were safely recovered from the Atlantic.

Spidery white clouds rode a fast breeze across the tops of tall pines in front of the Grissom home.

★ ★ ★

"I think it's been a great day," Mrs. Grissom told a score of newsmen.

Several of the wives of her Timber Cove neighborhood stood bunched across the street, dressed mainly in capris and shirt blouses.

SIMPLE DRESS

Mrs. Grissom wore a simple, green dress. She said she didn't paste trading stamps as she had planned.

"I was too busy watching television," she laughed.

★ ★ ★

She wasn't as anxious at liftoff this time, she said, as on the 1961 suborbital flight by her husband.

But she held her breath on the return of his Gemini spacecraft Tuesday.

WATCHED WATER

"I was waiting for the flotation ring to be placed around the capsule," she said.

★ ★ ★

Sons Scott, 14, and Mark, 11, stood beside her. Scott, revealing the braces on his teeth, put his worry more succinctly: "I was just hoping it was floating."

★ ★ ★

Would Mrs. Grissom like to see her husband participate in another flight?

"Not any way soon," she replied.

SAME QUESTION

The same question was put to Mrs. Young at her news conference in neighboring El Lago. It brought this response:

"Heavens, yes. I'd like to take part again and I know John is ready to start training."

★ ★ ★

With her were daughter Sandra, 7, and son John Jr., 6. John, still bearing telltale dots from a recent bout with chicken pox, had to go back indoors after a brief appearance.

Both families watched three television sets, one for each of the networks.

FELLOW WATCHERS

For company the Grissoms had Mrs. Jerome Hammack, whose husband is a Project Gemini engineer, and Trudy Cooper, wife of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr., an Air Force major.

Eight astronauts' wives were with Mrs. Young.

★ ★ ★

"I'm a gregarious person," she said.

She broke precedent by coming out of seclusion before launch to serve newsmen coffee and sweet rolls.

BOTH FAMILIES

Both families drove to the Manned Spacecraft Center, 23 miles southeast of Houston, to monitor the second orbit.

America's first orbiting astronaut, John H. Glenn Jr., was there. He explained some of the mysteries of space flight to the children.

★ ★ ★

Both families were scheduled to fly to Cape Kennedy today.

AP Photofax

THERE SHE GOES — Bird watchers on the beach near Cape Kennedy, Fla., point skyward as they pick up the Titan 2 rocket after liftoff of the GT-3 orbital flight yesterday. A heavy ground haze nearly obscured the launch and many viewers didn't see the flight until it hit the upper atmosphere and started a vapor trail.

For Gemini Roles

Kudos to State Firms

DETROIT (AP) — Eleven Michigan companies were represented in space Tuesday in the successful Gemini III flight.

A computer made by Burroughs Corp. in Detroit guided the "Molly Brown" until orbit was assured. The craft's hydraulic power control system was made by the Cadillac Gage Co. of Warren.

★ ★ ★

Springs, timing belts and switches came from the Holly Carburetor Co., also of Warren. Guidance and temperature indicators were made by Lear Siegler, Inc. of Grand Rapids.

SHIELD MATERIAL

Dow Corning Corp. in Midland furnished silicone heat shield material for the re-entry phase. Heat dispersal equipment and electronic housings were supplied by Brooks & Perkins, Inc. of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Tube fittings and related parts were made by Aeroquip Corp. in Jackson. Ground handling equipment was furnished by Saginaw Products Corp.

★ ★ ★

Astronaut John Young ate two meals in space supplied by Whirlpool Corp. of St. Joseph. National Waterlift Co. at Kalamazoo supplied hatch actuators and motors. Microphones and headsets came from the Electro Voice, Inc. of Buchanan.

The Hog Has Contributed as Much to Our Conversation as He Has to Our Diet

CHICAGO — You've probably heard of pig Latin, but did you realize how much "pig talk" there is in everyday language?

The hog has been responsible for many colorful phrases and useful words, says the American Meat Institute.

A common expression, "eating high off the hog," stems from the fact that loin chops and roasts come from the upper section of the animal.

In years gone by, when a person switched from the standard diet of salt pork to loin roasts, he was indeed living well.

"Bring home the bacon" is a saying that probably came from the custom of awarding the pig to the winner of a greased-pig chase. The man who caught the slippery animal literally brought bacon home.

★ ★ ★

On the way home, an individual might be approached by an unscrupulous character trying to sell "a pig in a poke" (bag). When the bag was opened later, the unwary buyer might find himself the owner of a cat instead.

★ ★ ★

After "the cat had been let out of the bag," the victim would be the first to warn, "don't buy a pig in a poke."

MONEY TOO

In America's early days, a 10-cent piece was called a "hog." A spendthrift who was willing to squander an entire dime on entertainment was said "to go whole hog."

Calling an actor a "ham" is thought to have originated from actors' use of ham for removing make-up.

In days gone by, being master in one's house was expressed as "having boiled pig at home."

"Root hog or die" meant getting down to hard work or suffering the consequences.

COMPARISONS

"As common as pig's tracks," "in less than a pig's whistle," "as happy as pigs in clover," "when a pig flies" and "when a pig plays the flute" were colorful comparisons that peppered our forefathers' conversations.

★ ★ ★

Trousers were once called "ham-cases," and the press room of a newspaper or printer was known as a "pigsty."

"Porker" at one time was the name given a sword, while trail drivers called a six-shooter a "hog-leg."

A clumsy pilot in England's RAF was called a "ham-pilot."

A railroad engineer is called a "hog-head," possibly because he often heads the parade to market of hogs and pork products.

"Sand hog" is the name given tunnel workers.

Grandpa sneers, "Hog wash" at something he doesn't believe; Uncle expresses disdain with "In a pig's eye . . ." Little sister wears pigtails and rides piggy-back.

Older brother, a ham operator, is hog-tied to his short-wave set when he isn't kicking a pigskin.

The man in the next automobile, wearing a pork-pie hat, is a road hog or a pig-headed driver who may go hog wild when the light turns green.

These and other pork-like expressions add flavor to our language.

★ ★ ★

You may not be able "to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," but you can make stimulating conversation with the countless colloquialisms of "pig talk."

Taxi Drivers on Strike in NY

Violence Rages in Organization Drive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Violence, destruction and mass picketing were reported today at the start of a 24-hour strike by taxi drivers seeking unionization of New York's huge cab fleet.

Organizers called the walkout in an attempt to win bargaining rights for the 22,000 drivers of fleet-owned cabs. They sought also to keep thousands of driver-owned cabs from working today to make the walkout more effective.

Before 8 a.m. today, about 2,000 pickets appeared at 85 garages housing fleet - owned taxis.

The city's entire 27,000-man police force was ordered on duty to protect the independent hack drivers who chose to defy the strike call. Acts of violence were directed against nonstrikers in three of the city's five boroughs.

★ ★ ★

The independent cabbies appealed for police protection yesterday, saying they feared union "goon squads" would attack them if they worked today.

INJURES PASSENGER

In Brooklyn early today, police said, a rock was hurled through the window of a taxi, slightly injuring a woman passenger. In two incidents in Queens, drivers were threatened with beatings and the window of one taxi was smashed.

In the Bronx, vandals went through a lot where a group of cabs were parked, smashing the windows of 36 of them to keep the vehicles off the streets.

At least six men were arrested. All were members of the Electrical Workers Union Local 3, headed by Harry Van Arsdale. Van Arsdale also is president of the million - member Central Labor Council which is directing the campaign to organize the taxidrivers.

A number of previous attempts to unionize the cab drivers have been unsuccessful. Each attempt was marked by violence.

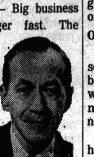

Five Electrical Workers Union members were arrested in two incidents of intimidation in the Long Island city district of Queens.

Reports Show!

Big Business 'Big'

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Big business is getting bigger fast. The rush of annual reports show how successful corporations grew last year — both in sales and profits, and also in plants and other assets.

DAWSON

The number of billion-dollar corporations is swelling. Often the measurements of the largest companies in individual industries are changing as fast as those of a growing boy.

A spate of mergers through many industries is accenting the corporate growth. The increased number of inquiries into mergers by government agencies, and antimerger suits in the courts, is seen by many business executives as evidence that government is still very chary of bigness in business.

OTHER REASON

Mergers aren't the only reason for the latest growth of the big fellows. But prosperity always swells the number of mergers and they're on the rise now.

Stock prices near record highs make it easier for companies to marry through exchange of stocks. If it is outright purchase, the jump in profits last year gives corporate management the needed cash.

★ ★ ★

The business upswing of the last four years also lured many companies into fields they found too tough — and the way out often is merger with the successful competitor — or with a cash-rich outsider looking for diversification.

Here is the merger trend: In 1958 there were around 900; in 1960 just over 1,000; by 1963 prosperity swelled the figure to around 1,500; and last year to 1,800.

12 COURT SUITS

The Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission filed 12 court suits in 1963 to block or undo mergers; in 1964 it filed 21; and in the first two months of 1965 filed 6.

Investigation of corporate mergers are under way in such industries as oil, chemicals, iron and steel, foods and in banking.

For the consumer the nervousness about big business getting bigger is traditionally the fear that with fewer choices in the market place he'll have to pay higher prices, or be denied products more to his taste, or miss out on new products held up because the old ones are still profitable.

The arguments of small business against bigness largely boil down to its being unfair. The smaller firm says that it can't withstand price squeezes, or drop in consumer demand however temporary, the way a big firm can.

RECESSION

The little fellow sees a recession as a bigger problem for him than for the giant.

Small concerns also charge that really big ones can line up suppliers, especially in time of shortages. Some small business executives say it's harder for them to get orders, whether from private customers or the government.

Big business stresses that it is efficient, that it can do jobs small firms can't, take risks they can't, develop new products, new fields that small ones can't. Big business also contends its greater efficiency holds prices down, offsets rising production costs, markets more cheaply and dependably.

Big business says that it is the chief source of orders for small firms making parts or materials, or taking subcontracts as big orders are parcelled out.

But with all the increased government activity in the courts, many big companies seem sure to get bigger, and many more big ones may evolve from the merger of smaller ones, before the trend slows.

Q) "We have a $60,000 stock portfolio including American Telephone, American Electric Power, General Electric, Union Carbide and eight others of approximately equal caliber. Cash reserves and insurance are ample. We own a $40,000 home, which is subject to a $15,000 mortgage. By utilizing current income, mortgage payments can be accelerated by $1,500 a year, thus effecting an interest saving and paying off the mortgage by the time I plan to retire, five years hence. Should I (1) do this or (2) continue paying only the required mortgage installments, placing $1,500 annually in sound issues or (3) sell enough of our current holding to liquidate the mortgage?" J.S.W.

A) I would advise you to accelerate your mortgage payments by $1,500 each year so that you will be debt clear by retirement.

No changes whatever are suggested in your stock list, consisting of twelve diversified issues. I feel these are all-of top drawer quality.

Q) "I am 36 years of age, a college instructor, with a wife and one child and another expected this fall. We have saved and accumulated $20,000 which is now deposited in Savings & Loan. We are considering placing $5,000 in growth stocks for the eventual education of our children. I do not anticipate buying a home for at least two years because of the need for mobility. Besides other miscellaneous assets valued at $8,500, we also have 50 shares of Great A & P, 100 Vance Saunders and 200 First United Life of Gary." J.W.

A) The first suggestion I'd make would be that you switch from one food chain to another, from Great A & P, into Winn-Dixie, for the latter has a far better growth record.

Vance Saunders should be held for it acts as exclusive distributor for five different in-

Serious Philosophical

Sue Lyon Is No Longer 'Lolita'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—She seems absolutely prim. When she speaks it is often of the joys of serious acting or the intricacies of Oriental philosophy.

THOMAS

This is Sue Lyon, "Lolita" plus five years. She looks and sounds greatly changed from the nymphet she played in her initial film. In truth, she seems different from the teen-age temptress she enacted in "Night of the Iguana."

★ ★ ★

The alterations are not entirely external. The physical aspects are the result of her role as mission schoolteacher in Manchuria for the multistar "Seven Women." The other changes may be the result of a year in which she was married and divorced from actor Hampton Fancher III.

"It has been a difficult year," she commented reflectively. "The worst part of it was losing my brother; that was the most tragic thing that has happened in my life.

OTHER-WAYS

"But in other ways it has been a wonderful year. I have grown and learned a great deal."

She evidenced no bitterness about her brief tenure as Mrs. Hampton Fancher III. In fact, to refurbish an old Hollywood cliche, they are still friends.

"I always remain friends with those I have been in love with," she reasoned. "I think that before there can be love, you must admire and respect a person. After love has gone, you can still maintain your friendship. It's foolish not to."

In "Seven Women," Sue finds herself amid the powerhouse company of Anne Bancroft, Margaret Leighton, Flora Robson, Betty Field, Mildred Dunnock and Anna Lee. She is understandably awed in the presence of such talent and determined to keep up with them.

HEAVY TOME

One of her ways of understanding the nature of the film is to study a heavy tome on Chinese philosophy. "I can only read a little bit at a time and then I get lost," she admitted.

"At this rate it may take me five years to finish it, but I'm determined."

★ ★ ★

That's the nature of Sue Lyon at 19: determination. For a couple of years she has been studying with a dramatic coach, and the experience has infused her with a will to succeed.

★ ★ ★

"Now I have a goal, a purpose," she says. "Before, I wasn't even sure I wanted to go on acting."

The sequence of events seems natural for a girl who was plunged at 14 into a famous, if not notorious, role.

The film was followed by a three-year lapse, in which she finished her schooling with tutors. Then came the "Iguana" location, which she says was not as wild as various magazine accounts would have you believe.

Soviet, China Leaders in Romania for Funeral

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan and Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai arrived in Bucharest today for the funeral of Romanian President Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej. There was speculation they would also discuss the Soviet - Chinese dispute.

Other foreign Communist leaders also arrived in the Romanian capital to pay tribute to the late Romanian head of state and first party secretary, who died Marc 17.

Dies Broke at 75 Silent Screen Beauty

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mae Murray, the silent screen's blonde with the bee-stung lips who made $3 million and spent every penny, is dead at 75.

Miss Murray, who married four times, was a symbol of roaring 20s gaiety who never ceased regarding herself as a celebrity although her career did not extend into the era of talking pictures.

At the motion picture country home she succumbed yesterday to a long illness that followed a stroke and a heart ailment.

"You don't have to keep making movies to remain a star," she said several years ago. "Once you become a star, you are always a star."

★ ★ ★

Her most famous film was "The Merry Widow," in which she starred with John Gilbert, with Erich Von Stroheim as director.

She said she discovered Rudolph Valentino and gave him a role in her 1919 movie, "The delicious Little Devil," she called him filmland's most fascinating male star.

She once told an interviewer the secret of her success:

"I could dance since I could stand on my feet. Getting in was easy. When you're very young, you have no inhibitions.

"You go right up to the stage door and ask what they are doing and if you can be in the show.

"Everyone else in the show would be doing what they were told to do, but I would be doing a little bit extra."

★ ★ ★

At her peak, she earned $10,000 a week and was one of Hollywood's highest paid stars. She maintained lavish homes and entertained extravagantly.

INCOME DECLINED

But as her glittering era passed, her income declined.

In 1926, she estimated her fortune at $3 million.

Ten years later, she said, she sat penniless for three days on a bench in New York's Central Park.

In the mid-50s she wrote her memoirs, "The Self-Enchanted."

Born Marie Adrienne Koenig May 10, 1889, in Portsmouth, Va., she danced in New York shows as a teen-ager. Florenz Ziegfeld featured her in his follies of 1908, 1909 and 1915.

Her films included "On With the Dance," "Gilded Lily," "The Right to Live," "Peacock Alley," "Broadway Rose," "Altars of Desire."

Satchmo's Jazz Is 'Red-Hot'

Sends East German Fans Into Ecstasy

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Louis Armstrong brought his trumpet and his raspy voice deep into Communist East Germany Tuesday night and made music that sent thousands of fans into ecstasy.

Playing at the Leipzig Fair grounds, old Satchmo blew his horn and sang his favorites where a few years ago his kind of music was forbidden.

Armstrong is the first big jazz name from the West to tour East Germany. He is playing four concerts in Leipzig, seven in East Berlin and one each in Magdeburg and Erfurt. He also is visiting Romania and Yugoslavia.

The 4,300 seats for each of his Leipzig shows were sold out the day after tickets went on sale a week ago.

MEDICAL MEETING

A jazz band made up entirely of doctors met Armstrong's plane from Berlin Tuesday. The doctors were in the city for a medical meeting.

Introduced as the "Ambassador of Happiness," Satchmo rolled his eyes and sang "When It's Sleepy Time Down South" to open his show. Every number got an ovation, but the fans gave their biggest hand to "Hello, Dolly" and "Blueberry Hill."

"I could stay here for a week and listen to Satchmo," said one economics student. "It's about time that we got to hear somebody like this in the flesh."

Most of the audience were under 30. There were some older ones, including a few wearing the lapel button of the Communist party.

TOP FORM

Armstrong, who will be 65 in July, was in top form and never showed his age.

After he closed his show, the audience whistled and chanted "Satchmo, Satchmo" for 20 minutes, until he came on stage wearing a green and white checked dressing gown and leisurely smoking a cigarette.

He waved and went back stage but had to come out again before the crowd would disperse.

"People ask me what I'm doing behind the Iron Curtain," he said, "and I tell them all I want is to meet human beings and to play my horn.

Kills Mother-in-Law in Road Accident

RENSSELAER, N.Y. (AP) — Muriel Balsan, 64, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by her son-in-law Tuesday as he prepared to take her to a wake for his mother.

Police said Merlin Stone, 48, of Schodack Landing had gone to Mrs. Balsan's home. She was crossing in front of the car, police said, when it accidentally lurched forward.
