Flight Is Hailed by NASA Chief as Big Advance

Newsmen Told Craft More Complex Than Any Tried by Reds

GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP)—The U.S. spacecraft Ranger 4 crash-landed on the far side of the moon today and a space official called the feat another of the long strides in space made in the past year.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told newsmen Ranger 4 was much more complex than anything the Soviets have attempted.

Dr. William Pickering, director of NASA's jet propulsion laboratory which built Ranger 4, said that despite the failure of a key electronic system in the spacecraft the fact that it hit the moon "gives us confidence we can send instruments to the moon with the accuracy needed."

He said another Ranger to take close-up television pictures of the moon's surface will be launched by the end of the year.

Ranger 4 was this country's first success in seven attempts to land a piece of hardware on the moon, and virtually duplicated the Soviet accomplishment when Lunik II hit the moon Sept. 14, Moscow Time, 1959.

64-HOUR TRIP

The 730-pound Ranger 4, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Monday, completed the 231,483-mile journey to the moon in 64 hours.

★ ★ ★

Although there was no way of seeing the actual impact, scientists said Ranger 4's trajectory before passing behind the moon assured that it would land in the predicted area.

★ ★ ★

Electronic failures kept Ranger 4 from completing most of its missions. It carried several scientific instruments, including a television camera to take close-up pictures of the moon's surface. A timer designed to operate these devices failed shortly after launch.

Russia Launches Fourth Sputnik in Six Weeks

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today the launching of its fourth Sputnik in six weeks.

Tass news agency said the new satellite, dubbed Cosmo 4, went into its planned orbit around the earth and took 90.6 minutes to make its first circuit.

There was no indication that it was manned.

The news agency said Cosmos 4, like the other satellites of the Cosmos series launched on March 16, April 6 and April 24, was packed with instruments for the purpose of investigating radiation and other conditions in space.

★ ★ ★

Cosmos 3 was sent off on its orbit Tuesday, the day the United States launched the Ranger 4 rocket which hit the moon today.

Delivered at Wrong Address

OOPS! — This truck dumped its load of scrap tubing at the wrong address yesterday when its brake line broke near the top of a hill on E. Third Street in Rochester. The truck, driven by George F. Steiger was not injured, but the house was scarred and the sidewalk crushed.

Rusk Says U.S. to Keep Trying

Still Seek Disarmament

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the United States will continue to press hard for an end to the arms race while the atmospheric nuclear test series is going on in the Pacific.

Increased Tension Expected, Page 17

U. S. tests but has no regret over its decision to go ahead.

Rusk gave his views at a news conference as the giant U. S. task force in the Pacific prepared additional test explosions in the series dubbed Operation Dominic.

The new U. S. atmospheric test series began yesterday when a plane dropped a medium-yield bomb that exploded in the air over British-controlled Christmas Island.

The device was believed to have unleashed an explosive force of at least 100,000 tons of TNT. It was the first U. S. above ground blast since October 1958.

★ ★ ★

One source said it was possible the next shot in the series might come within 24 hours. He pointed out that President Kennedy said the tests would be expedited as rapidly as possible.

DENOUNCES LANGUAGE

Rusk denounced what he called "strident language" now coming from the Communist bloc condemning the U. S. test series. He said this, however, merely reflects the "weakness" of their arguments.

The secretary told newsmen that the United States could never accept a test ban treaty with the Russians based on blind trust — that it would never place the security of the American people and the free world in the hands of those who operate in secrecy.

Reaction in the wake of the opening blast was as expected. In Congress, Democratic and Republican leaders said there had been no alternative but to test again in the atmosphere, the Soviet Union loosed a vehement attack on the United States and from other nations there was a mixed chorus of denunciation and approval.

Some U.S. officials predicted anew that Russia would now follow through—and soon—with another test series of her own.

Friday Cooler After Tonight's Possible Rain

Wednesday's high of 85 in downtown Pontiac is just a sample of what is soon to come. Today's temperatures are expected to hit the same high.

Tonight will be a different story. There's a chance of a few showers with the low dropping to about 54.

Friday will be partly cloudy with temperatures somewhat cooler, the high near 68.

Saturday will continue cooler with a chance of more showers or thundershowers.

Morning southwesterly winds at 8 miles per hour will become northerly at 15 to 25 m.p.h. tonight.

Fifty-nine was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 84 at 2 p.m.

Detroit Passes Its Income Tax

One Per Cent Levy to Cover All Who Live or Work in City

DETROIT (UPI) — The common council needed just two minutes today to pass a 1 per cent income tax covering all persons who work or live in Detroit.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh signed the tax at 11:23 a.m., only 21 minutes after the council approved the measure by a 9-0 vote.

The tax, which will go into effect July 1, will cover about 850,000 wage earners in metropolitan Detroit. It is designed to raise $35 million a year and solve the city's financial problems.

The 1 per cent levy applies to corporations and business as well as workers.

The tax already faces opposition from suburban officials. They have started court proceedings challenging it. And a pending legislative measure, the Bowman bill, would prohibit Detroit from taxing people who live outside the city.

OFF DEAD CENTER

In his first reaction, Cavanagh said he was "pleased because this gives Detroit an opportunity to move off dead center and begin to extricate ourselves from the financial mess we found when we took office."

Cavanagh said if the Bowman bill becomes law, Detroit would continue to tax city residents. "If we are legally prohibited from taxing outside residents, we will still be able to collect taxes" from Detroiters, he said.

If it goes into law it would cut at least $5 million a year from the estimated revenue of the Detroit tax.

City controller Alfred Pelham estimated the tax would raise $35 million a year and would affect 850 000 wage earners in the metropolitan area.

The tax was proposed by Mayor Jerome Cavanagh as a way of meeting Detroit's fiscal problems.

News Flash

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Thor-Delta rocket thundered skyward today in an effort to launch the world's first international satellite—a joint effort of the United States and Great Britain.

The sleek, 90-foot projectile blasted aloft at 1:01 p.m. (Pontiac Time). Its mission was to propel the 132-pound scientific satellite into an orbit ranging from 200 to 600 miles above the earth to gather data on the ionosphere and cosmic radiation.

Pontiac Leaders See Downtown Area Plan

Jet Port Need Here Uncertain, Claims Hamlin

Attributes New Outlook to Development Since Consultants' Survey

A possible change of direction on the proposed county jet-major airport was expressed yesterday by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and one of the original promoters of the controversial plan to establish the airfield in Pontiac and Orion townships.

Speaking at a meeting of the board's aviation committee, Hamlin declared the projected need for a major airport in the metropolitan area is uncertain at this time.

He pointed out that there is a two-year lapse since the survey to ascertain the need was completed for the county by Landrum & Brown, aviation consultant firm.

"Since then thinking might have changed to where only one major airport (Wayne Metropolitan Airport) ever will be needed in the area," Hamlin said.

Committee member Ray Lahti, supervisor from Wixom, moved that the county rehire Landrum & Brown to supplement their report with information covering the interim.

The motion died with the opinion that the Federal Aviation Agency will take into consideration latest trends in aviation in deciding whether to approve the proposed airport location a mile north of Pontiac.

At any rate, the county has no intention of proceeding further with the plans, which would mean the purchase of additional property, without FAA approval, committee chairman Philip Rowston, Pontiac supervisor, stated. "Such efforts could be all in vain," he said.

LAND BOUGHT

The county already has purchased 465 acres, including the Allen Airport, a private enterprise on Giddings Road. This will serve as a nucleus for further expansion, Hamlin has said, in the event the SHOT TO DEATH — Coroner and police examine this sports car in which two men and a woman were shot to death by what police believe was a machine gun or a repeating rifle as they drove through Elmwood Park, Ill., near Chicago this morning.

Auto Chase Ends in Death as 3 Slain Outside Chicago

ELMWOOD PARK, Ill. (AP)—Two men and a woman were shot to death today as they sat in a wrecked, expensive car at the end of a relentless chase. The victims:

Phillip Scavo, 36, of Elmwood Park, a massive man who formerly managed a tavern-restaurant on U.S.-45 in Franklin Park, west of Chicago.

Police Chief Peter Rice of Elmwood Park said that Phillip Scavo's wife, Theresa, was shot to death by a bartender in a Franklin Park tavern a year ago. His second wife, a singer known as Nikki North, is believed to be working in a night club in the Cincinnati or Cleveland area, Rice said.

SMASHED INTO HOUSE

The killings occurred shortly before 4 a.m. after Phillip Scavo's 1961 Thunderbird swerved from Elmgrove Drive in a residential section of Elmwood Park and smashed into a house.

Police said that apparently several shots were fired during an auto chase. After the crash, a gunman apparently approached the wrecked car and finished off his victims.

Two bullet wounds in the head of the Abshire woman were ringed with powder burns. Her body was in the rear seat.

The men had been sitting in the front seats. Phillip was shot in the neck. Ronald had two wounds in the shoulder.

POLICE CALLED

Police Sgt. Robert Olsen said the bodies were found after he received a telephone call to investigate an auto accident.

Paints Pictures of Plazas, Malls Lined With Gleaming Shops

By LICK SAUNDERS

How would you like to park on a multistory parking ramp about a half-block north of the Pontiac Press, step from your car onto an escalator and ride it up to an air conditioned arcade spanning three city blocks and overlooking a gleaming shoppers' plaza we used to call N. Saginaw Street?

This is but one of many fantastic pictures of the future Downtown Pontiac painted yesterday for city, business and professional leaders in the $40,000 Central Business District Plan.

The plan, for which the Downtown Development Group and city each paid half, has been in preparation since early 1961 by a team of the nation's top flight planning specialists under the direction of Gore Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

DETAILS METHODS

Basically, the plan lists present negative and positive facts about Downtown Pontiac. It details methods of overcoming the negatives and of emphasizing positives.

The plan breaks the CBD into three sections: North, central and south downtown. North downtown is north of Huron Street, central downtown is between Huron and Pike Streets and South downtown is south of Pike.

Suggested features here include an air conditioned arcade which would be the main pedestrian route, stretching from Pine Street on the west to Perry on the east along a line just north of Warren Street.

The arcade would be fed at both ends by escalators from the bus station, vast parking lots and multistory parking ramps.

It is described as "a very pleasant walk lined with small shops, giving entrance to large department stores and overlooking a central shoppers plaza."

Russian Angry Over U.S. Tests

But Tsarapkin Doesn't Walk Out of Geneva Meeting as Threatened

GENEVA (AP) — Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin violently denounced American nuclear tests today but did not walk out of three-nation test ban talks.

Tsarapkin sat through the two-hour meeting of the test ban subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference without staging the walkout threatened last week by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin.

★ ★ ★

Tsarapkin called U.S. testing "a provocative act which cannot be justified by security considerations" and reiterated a declaration that "the Soviet Union will test new weapons to insure its own security in every environment."

★ ★ ★

The deadlocked subcommittee met under the chairmanship of U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean. Dean said the subcommittee would meet again next week and added:

"There was not the slightest suggestion of a (Soviet) walkout."

Zorin said last week the Geneva negotiations would come to an end if the United States started its new test series.

★ ★ ★

In a plenary session of the conference earlier today, Zorin angrily described the American tests as "an aggressive act directed against the whole world" but made no move to walk out of the conference. He did not attend the subcommittee meeting, where Tsarapkin usually is the negotiator.

★ ★ ★

Tsarapkin told newsmen the subcommittee did not set a date for the next meeting.

"This will be fixed by consultation," he said.

Lackey also was named district representative to the executive board with Gilbert Pierce, 618 Raskob St.

Warm Air Pours Into East, Rain Hits Southwest

Warm and humid air streamed over the eastern United States today and scattered showers splashed areas from the Dakotas to New Mexico.

The Weather Bureau said the warm and increasingly humid air ranged from the western Gulf of Mexico northward into the central Plains states and eastward to the Middle Atlantic coast and interior areas of the Northeast.

Papers, Union to Resume Talks

Bargaining Meeting Slated Today; No Word Given on Progress

DETROIT (AP) — Management and International Typographical Union officials were scheduled to resume negotiations today in an effort to end a labor dispute which has halted publication of Detroit's two daily papers.

ITU Local 18 and the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, which represents both the morning Detroit Free Press and the afternoon Detroit News in contract negotiations, met yesterday for two hours.

There was no statement on progress toward ending the 15-day labor dispute and ITU picketing continued at both papers.

ITU members have picketed the Free Press and News since April 20 claiming they were "locked out" of their jobs because of a Teamsters strike at the Free Press.

CLAIM STRIKE ACTION

The association said ITU members as well as other craft union members had been asked to return to work April 20 and termed the picketing a strike action.

Meanwhile the association also met yesterday with Local 13 of the Pressmen's Union. Members of that union have not reported for work since April 20.

Joseph Eckhout, Local 13 president, said the union made the publishers a new contract offer covering job substitutions, seniority and pensions.

The Pressmen and the publishers association agreed to meet again May 2.

However, Eckhout said the Pressmen would "return to work immediately" if the ITU withdraws its picket lines.

Old Wooden Bridge Over Railroad on Fire Today

METAMORA — All trains were stopped short of a bridge south of town here this morning while fire departments from three neighboring villages helped local firemen fight a blaze that threatened to destroy the old wooden bridge.

NYC Chief Dispatcher E. J. Ross said he ordered all trains to stop and make sure of safety before proceeding under the bridge.

★ ★ ★

Con-Con Saves Disputed Issue

Defeats Move to KO Controversial Search and Seizure Provision

LANSING AP — The constitutional convention narrowly defeated a move today to knock out of the constitution a search and seizure provision which some delegates attacked as unconstitutional.

At the same time, delegates deleted the traditional "liberty of speech and the press" clause in favor of different wording.

The search and seizure proposal — sponsored by Ann Donnelly, R-Highland Park, and Dan Lawrence, R-Ypsilanti — would have deleted a section allowing prosecutors to use certain evidence in court even though it might have been seized illegally.

Included among such evidence was narcotic drugs, firearms, bombs and explosives, all of which would be admissable if confiscated by police in an automobile or anywhere else except in a home.

SIMILAR LAW

A similar Ohio law has been ruled unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

The convention voted to retain the wording, 67-61.

Delegates who supported the use of such evidence in criminal trials said they felt the federal court ruling was not broad enough to cover the Michigan provision. Their view was challenged by opponents of the wording.

In other action the convention voted 63-60 to knock out of the constitution the historic phrase guaranteeing liberty of speech and the press, substituting the words "these liberties."

James K. Pollock, R-Ann Arbor, argued unsuccessfully against the plank proposal. The present wording adequately protects broadcasting, he said.

Romney Lauds 8 GOP Senators for Income Tax

LANSING (AP) — George Romney, announced Republican candidate for governor, today gave what amounted to a pat on the back to the eight GOP senators who joined 10 Democrats to approve a state income tax in the Michigan Senate yesterday.

Romney, a constitutional convention delegate, said in an interview that "Those senators who courageously put the state's interests above lesser interests have evidenced that type of courage and leadership needed to find solutions to our problems."

Income Tax Plan Totters as Senator Stalls Bill

LANSING (UPI) — The income tax plan tottered on shaky ground in the legislature today as a move was made to delay final Senate action until next Tuesday.

The Senate recessed its morning session until 2 this afternoon when it will take up a motion by Sen. Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, to postpone reconsideration of the Senate-approved 3 per cent income tax bill until next week.

Nichols, R-Jackson, said he wanted time to work out amendments to the 14-bill tax package before sending the income tax measure itself to the House. The changes planned by Nichols would give greater tax relief to business, he said.

Members of the Democratic-moderate GOP coalition pressing for passage of the program planned to oppose Nichols' move in fear it might kill the entire tax package.

In view of the waiting action, pending the FAA's decision, the committee decided to table a study of likely costs for the airport. The study was ordered by the board of supervisors April 10, to be completed within five months.

Word of the FAA's decision is expected by late June or early July, according to Hamlin. If the decision favors establishing the proposed airport, the committee is expected to follow up with the cost estimates.

The committee agreed, meanwhile, to prepare a form letter explaining the board of supervisors' airport plans and actions to date. The letters will be sent to municipal governments in the county.

lay until tomorrow. Dzendzel admitted, however, that Nichols could delay action indefinitely if he wanted to.

Nichols wants the package changed to exempt machinery and equipment from some $65 million in local taxes. He said this is necessary to improve the state's business climate.

Supporters of the tax package argued, however, it might delay final action for a month. The legislature is presently scheduled to adjour May 11.

"We're not going to finish in three weeks," said Sen. Philip Rahoi, D-Iron Mountain. "We'll be here longer."

Leaders View Plans for Developing City

a series of small plazas and malls leading to the central plaza in the heart of the North section. The shopping district here would be surrounded by vast parking areas.

Parking areas would also surround the central section, but to a lesser degree. The plan calls for removal of the old courthouse at Saginaw and Huron.

On this site, the plan says, a park, construction of pavilion displaying Pontiac products and an office building would be ideal.

Saginaw, south of Huron, becomes an automobile access area, not merely a street. "This central zone . . . gives values no shopping center, even the largest, can offer," the plan asserts.

The South section should be devoted to smaller stores, or stores with special lines of merchandise, and housing.

It is here that consultants suggest the development of an "executive motor hotel and prestige restaurant," and a landscaped parkway along Water Street from Saginaw to the Civic Center.

In the CBD fringe area, consultants suggest construction of "hi-rise apartments oriented toward couples, single persons, and retired persons, as well as development of a community college.

Planners emphasized that it is important that the State Highway Department put the M-59 link from the perimeter road to I-75 freeway back in their immediate program plans. The link was dropped in January.

Opening last night's presentation, Mayor Robert Landry assured the capacity crowd "the City Commission will be behind this 100 per cent. There's a job to be done and only one thing to do. Let's get at it and get it done."

Monroe Osmun, president of the Downtown Pontiac Association (DPA), which now takes over the job, announced that Walter K. Willman, former city manager, will be executive director of the program for action sponsored by the DPA and chamber.

Osmun listed six committees already set up to "get the ball rolling."

In answer to the consultants' warning that the whole plan hinged on private capital investment as its major source of financing, Osmun said "our entire program is geared for action. It's action that we need now and we intend to get it."

There is one motor vehicle for every 2.5 persons in this country. If the present trends continue, there will be 114 million motor vehicles in the United States by 1976.

Detroit Receives First Overseas Arrival of Year

DETROIT (AP) — The British freighter Torr Head, making her first trip on the Great Lakes, became the first overseas arrival at the port of Detroit when she docked here yesterday.

Captain E. G. Davey was presented with a trophy and a plaque awarded annually by the Detroit-Wayne County Port Commission.

The Torr Head, launched six months ago by the Head line, unloaded general cargo from Belfast here and was scheduled to sail to Chicago to reload.

U.S. to Announce Each Pacific Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—All of the American nuclear tests in the Pacific will be announced when they are held—a departure from past practice.

★ ★ ★

"All tests will be announced. The plan is to announce each test individually."

★ ★ ★

Before the recent series of underground tests in Nevada was begun, the government said that not all tests would be announced after they were held.

Caroline Has Her Education Partly Mapped

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP)—Caroline Kennedy, 4, has her educational future partly mapped out for her.

Hollis French, headmaster of the fashionable Miss Porter's School here, said Wednesday night an application for admission had been submitted in behalf of the President's daughter.

Caroline's mother is an alumna of Miss Porter's, which accepts girls between the ages of 14 and 18. The First Lady entered at the age of 15 after attending finishing schools in Washington, D.C., and New York City.

French emphasized that Caroline's application by no means assures her admission. He said it was filed more than a year ago.

Kenya Upbraids Businessmen for Misusing Loans

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Government loans and grants are for developing businesses, not for buying wives, African businessmen were told today.

"You are undermining our efforts by not using this money to develop your businesses. That's what the money has been loaned to you for—and not just for buying more wives."

One African businessman retorted that wives were an investment, particularly if they produce girl children who would later bring in the money suitors pay for brides.

Discussing Plan to Build Canal Across Thailand

HONOLULU (AP) — A local construction firm and several other companies are investigating the possibility of building a 30-mile shipping canal in Thailand.

★ ★ ★

The canal, estimated to cost between $300 and $500 million would link the Indian Ocean with the South China Sea. This would reduce the Europe-Asia route by 930 miles.

★ ★ ★

K. Y. Chow, managing director of the Kra Canal Co., a Thailand firm which would operate the canal, has called a meeting of representatives of all interested parties — the Honolulu firm, two companies from San Francisco, one from Los Angeles and two from France.

Says Give Children Book That Has Ideas

NEW YORK (UPI) — When buying a science book for a child, look for one that presents ideas along with its facts, says science writer John Pfeiffer.

"The main task is delineation of concept — the ideas and hypotheses that stimulate scientists to seek further knowledge," Pfeiffer said. "Books heavy on facts and light on ideas have been all too common. There is no more effective way of stifling children's natural interest in natural phenomena."

Pfeiffer headed a five man committee which reviewed 115 children's science books for the American Museum of Natural History.

What's Complete Story on Soldiers in Viet Nam?

Is the American public getting a "cover-up story" on the role of U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam, as it did at the beginning of the U2 incident?

When U2 pilot Powers went down, a prepared statement was released saying one of our planes was missing after reporting oxygen failure. This was a counterintelligence maneuver, standard procedure in the spy business.

Our forces in Viet Nam are called "advisors." They are "training" the native troops.

This training includes flying the Viet Nam troops on raids via helicopter. U.S. personnel have been killed doing this, and some have died flying in supplies to the forces we are supporting.

Now fresh marine helicopter units are arriving with more U.S. manpower. Are we committed to another Korea here? How many "advisors" do you put in battle before your Nation is at war?

Cuban Invasion Defeat Still a Bitter Memory

Its repercussions are still echoing and its memory will be a black mark on our record for years to come.

Some 1,400 Cuban exiles stormed ashore to participate in the three-day debacle. Vital air support was missing, and partisan bands within Cuba never got their diversionary assignments started.

The inevitable investigations began and it was decided there had been mistakes made. Criticism was laid at the doors of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Defense Department. President KENNEDY drew his share.

Today, Castro is much stronger militarily, but in much more severe straits economically. The shiploads of Russian arms have not helped ease the hunger pains, and rationing is in effect. The People's Paradise has a belly ache.

★ ★ ★

The current policy of economic blockade is proving more effective than any invasion force. The military equipment the Reds can spare, but food—that's another story. Famine itself is often close at hand in the U.S.S.R. She cannot spare the grain for the fledgling Red recruits in Cuba.

In fact Russia and Red China have never really licked the agricultural production program themselves, despite years of Spartan existence under the tenets of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

Let's hope that by the time the second anniversary of this invasion defeat rolls around there will be different hands on the reins of Cuba.

Uses Unique Method to Teach Economics

A teacher in the Pontiac Public School District is bringing the subject of economics close to the minds and pocketbooks of his students — exactly where it belongs if they are to understand how the topic affects them in adult life.

★ ★ ★

His method of teaching includes the purchase of stock shares whose daily rise and fall are then watched avidly by the students. They pay a small price, a dollar per student, to gain invaluable experience and understanding in the workings of this nation's economic system.

Teacher ROLAND HALLQUIST of Pontiac Central High School is to be commended with the many other teachers in the school system who show the courage and initiative to do a better job of teaching.

That the Pontiac area had a large Indian population is proven by the fact that stone arrow heads and stone hatchets are yet found in many excavations. Workers on the new I-75 Freeway find them by the dozen, especially where the new road skirts the shore of lakes. Some human bones also have been found where mounds were built, as did the Indians for their burials.

When the railroad was extended northwest from Pontiac over 100 years ago, it was held up for two years by a Waterford Township farmer, who insisted that they give him a subway to drive his cattle under it. Central and Western Michigan waited two years for a railroad, but the farmer got the subway—and it's still there.

David Lawrence Says:

Steel Earnings Figure Misleading

WASHINGTON—It's easy enough to bewilder the public with large figures about a company's profits, though in themselves they may be a sign of weakness instead of strength.

LAWRENCE

Thus the country was told during the last 24 hours that the U. S. Steel Corp. had earned $55.8 million in the first quarter of this year.

This sounds like a lot of money and promptly raises questions as to why a company which can make that large a sum in only the first quarter of a year should be asking for price increases on its products.

But precisely because of this superficiality or brevity of treatment, the American people aren't seeing the problem in perspective.

For the $55.8 million has to be divided into 58 million parts, as that is the number of shares held by the 325,000 owners of U.S. Steel Corp.

Receiving 75 cents a share each quarter, or $3 for the whole year, means the holder of common stock is earning less than 3 per cent on each dollar invested in 1959 when the stock sold for more than $100 a share. But nowadays an investor can buy bonds or keep his money in a savings bank and earn more than 3 per cent.

So, unless investors see some hope of larger profits and dividends in the future, the free-enterprise system as a whole will face dark days, and state socialism will be brought nearer.

For there's a serious lesson to be learned from the U.S. Steel Corp. figures announced on Tuesday of this week. In the first place, out of the $55.8 million earned for the initial quarter of the year, $46.9 million was used to pay dividends on stock outstanding.

Only $7.9 million was left for debt retirement and about $1 million for other purposes. But U.S. Steel actually had spent about $49 million of borrowed money for new plant and equipment in the same first quarter of the year. Hence, the outgo was far in excess of the income.

As a matter of fact, the company three years ago embarked on a program of modernization of plant and equipment costing $1.2 billion. It has about $265 million still to be spent for this purpose this year. It borrowed more than $800 million for the whole program and took the rest out of reserves.

This money, on the other hand, has to be paid back sooner or later. If a company can earn only enough money to pay its current dividend and provide for debt retirement on what it has already borrowed, it cannot very long keep up its renovation of plant facilities. The need for modernization is constant.

Big figures are being bandied about also by public officials, who perhaps unwittingly give a misleading impression. Luther Hodges, the secretary of commerce, for instance, discussed the steel situation at a news conference on Tuesday and made some statements to the reporters which further confuse the problem.

The transcript made public by his office quotes Mr. Hodges as having said:

"The administration had in the works and still has in the works two phases of taxation bills which would have relieved part of the situation raised by U.S. Steel if they had taken advantage under the current situation of 8 per cent tax-credit incentive.

"They would have gotten about $35 million excess amount of money, just like a bonanza. They would have also, under the depreciation schedule F—accelerating schedule F—gotten an additional $10 million. They would have had $45 million extra amount of money."

But what Mr. Hodges forgot to point out to the reporters is that the 8-per-cent tax credit has not yet been passed by Congress and, even so, would apply only to new equipment—and not to other kinds of capital expenditures.

If, therefore, it were applied on an expenditure of an estimated $200 million for brand new equipment—a figure believed to be far too big—U.S. Steel Corp. would get a credit of only $16 million. This doesn't go very far toward taking care of the $265 million being spent.

Dr. William Brady Insists:

Aspirin Is Still Aspirin ... to Be Used Sparingly

No matter how thin you slice it, it's still baloney, and no matter how much you pay for it, it's still aspirin.

Of 750 persons who attempted suicide with aspirin, only four died. So it is far less dangerous than the other popular pain-killers, phenacetin (acetphenetidin) and acetanilid (phenylacetamide).

BRADY

Each of these pain-killers is the main ingredient in scores of nostrums exploited under proprietary names as remedies for colds, grip, flu, headache, neuralgia, backache, rheumatic aches and pains, menstrual pain or what have you.

I have taken aspirin (acetyl-salicylic acid). Once, when I had acute subacromial bursitis, I was grateful for the hour or two of relief it gave me. But I'm a great coward and didn't repeat it.

"The promiscuous use of acetyl-salicylic acid for relief of aches, neuralgia, neuritis, tonsillitis, influenza, muscular rheumatism, cystitis, etc. may lead to poisoning the chief symptoms being edema of the lips, tongue, eyelids, nose or entire face, vertigo, nausea, vomiting, profuse sweating, rapid, irregular pulse."

This brought a polite protest from a man who writes:

"Dear Doctor Brady:

"I have followed your writings for many years and mostly agreed with you. However, I cannot agree with your objection to aspirin.

"Thirty-five years ago, I had, at intervals of months, one knee swell, get stiff and painful. I knew nothing about aspirin. I used hot packs and bandages for a week or so at a time.

"About 20 years ago, some one suggested aspirin, which I found very effective, and over the years whenever the knee begins to hurt, I take aspirin and get immediate relief. This applies also to other rheumatic pains with which an 87-year-old man is plagued.

"Under the circumstances, I consider aspirin the number one necessity in my medicine cabinet, and I feel you should give it a better rating than you do."

"Sincerely,

★ ★ ★

You have said it better than I could sir — the kind word I wanted to say for aspirin.

I still believe the prodigious consumption of aspirin by the American people is bad for health and I'd advise taking aspirin in any circumstance unless one can rest quietly for half an hour — indeed, such a rest or nap may avert the need or desire for such medicine.

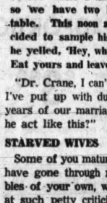
Case Records of a Psychologist:

Five Causes Explain Quarreling

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE 1-494: Amy H., aged 31, dropped into my office, accompanied by her husband.



DR. CRANE

"Fred doesn't love me any more," she accused, and began to cry.

"Aw, you know that isn't so," her husband defended himself. "But you just nag and argue so that my life's miserable."

"Dr. Crane, I don't do such a thing," she turned to me. "But I get no sympathy at home. Fred acts like a bear, and growls at me. Nothing I do is ever right. He says I'm crazy.

"For example, he likes strong cheese while I like mine mild, so we have two kinds on the table. This noon at lunch I decided to sample his cheese, and he yelled, 'Hey, what's the idea? Eat yours and leave mine alone.'

"Dr. Crane, I can't tell you what I've put up with during the eight years of our marriage. Why does he act like this?"

STARVED WIVES

Some of you mature readers who have gone through marital squabbles of your own, will be amused at such petty criticisms as these. And to think, they pay me to sit and listen to such childish quarreling.

"Why don't they settle their problems by themselves, especially when they are so simple?" many people might logically ask.

That's exactly why this psychology class is running; namely, to help people learn how to adjust. And Amy's difficulty has a deeper basis than appears on the surface. Five major causes explain her quarreling.

First, she is hungry for more physical affection but doesn't know what is wrong with her, nor does her husband. Any hungry creature becomes cross and snarling. You parents have watched this in your children as well as in yourselves.

HUNGER CAUSES DIVORCE

Amy is of an affectionate disposition. But her husband is hot. So she picks at him, or nags him. Nagging wives are usually sexually unsatisfied.

Nagging is one way by which a wife subconsciously tries to irritate her husband into laying hands on her. It is comparable to the naughtiness of children who don't mind a little spanking if they can thereby get their mother's attention off the company and back to themselves.

Shakespeare perfectly understood this psychological mechanism when he wrote "The Taming of the Shrew." For women crave masculine dominance. When their husbands fail them, they subconsciously hit upon this nagging as a means of trying to force the man into his dominant role.

★ ★ ★

And the more he meekly submits, the more irritated the wife becomes, so she increases her shrewish tactics, sometimes adding tantrums and hysteria to the picture. Yet this whole process can be entirely subconscious. Amy, for instance, had no conscious idea of what was wrong with her.

WHY MARRIAGE FAILS

The other four reasons for Amy's trouble are found in the fact that she has no children. Women like to fondle and care for living creatures, whether these be cats and dogs, or babies.

Husbands who deliberately refuse to let their wives have children, are just giving their own marriage a big shove toward the brink of divorce.

Amy and her husband also had no religious allegiance. They weren't members of any church, so they received no regular urging toward unselfishness.

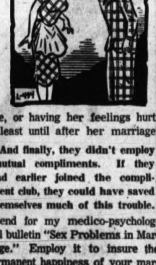
Besides, Amy had grown up in a home as the only child. She wasn't used to quarreling, therefore, or having her feelings hurt, at least until after her marriage.



And finally, they didn't employ mutual compliments. If they had earlier joined the compliment club, they could have saved themselves much of this trouble.

Send for my medico-psychological bulletin "Sex Problems in Marriage." Employ it to insure the permanent happiness of your marriage.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People:

'President Should Consider These Logical Deductions'

I wonder if President Kennedy, during his leisure hours ever read this: "You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves."

Mr. President, read and weigh mentally their true meaning.

'Why Is Psychologist Dealing in Politics?'

I have followed Dr. Crane in his crusade against college professors, his overemphasis on sex and his doctrine of compliment-paying. Although I doubt the validity of these ideas I do not doubt they have a relevant place in a column of this type.

With increasing frequency, however, he has made sallies into the field of politics. He has stated that the Peace Corps is an example of government competition with free enterprise because it competes with private foreign missionaries, and he has attempted to prove that the U.S. is not a democracy, but a republic.

Although these are debatable political viewpoints, Dr. Crane espouses them in a column that ostensibly deals with psychological problems. This seems to be a violation of journalistic practices. If he persists, I propose you forewarn your readers by heading his column: "Case Records of a Political Propagandist."

Common Cold Studied by AF

Research May Show How Viruses Affect Astronauts in Space

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—America's astronauts may survive radiation, meteors and other hazards only to die of common colds during space flights, an Air Force scientist says.

The studies at the School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base here deal with two main areas, says Dr. Seymour S. Kalter, head of the virology laboratory:

1. Effects of the stresses of space on viruses carried by astronauts, and

2. Effects of the stresses of space on the astronauts carrying the viruses.

"Stresses" is a key word, because of medical discoveries about what stresses do to the body.

Reacting to stress, the body releases two kinds of hormones—inflammatory and anti-inflammatory. They act to control each other, but can get out of balance.

Inflammatory hormones cause inflammation of the vascular blood-circulation system and joints, raise the blood pressure and cause gout.

Anti-inflammatory hormones decrease the body's resistance to infection.

Question Ex-Official on Copper Stockpile

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who is directing the special inquiry into the government's multibillion dollar stockpiles, said top level decisions in 1955 and 1956 put millions of dollars of "windfall profits" in the hands of certain copper producers.

Flemming, who directed stockpile operations from 1953 until 1957 as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM), testified yesterday that it was by mistake and not by design that he issued a 1955 order canceling some big government copper contracts.

TO RUN AGAIN—Sen. Dennis Chávez, D-N. M., announced yesterday at a Washington news conference that he will seek re-election in 1964.

GOP Senators 'Taking Chance'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divided Senate Republicans fought a rear guard action today against a $2.6-billion public works proposal they called a raid on the Treasury and a potential presidential political weapon.

★ ★ ★

The tactical difficulty faced by the six GOP members of the Senate Public Works Committee—and it was shared by most of their party colleagues—lay in opposing the administration's proposal without being tagged as against public works.

PROMISES ALTERNATE

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-N.H., who foresaw possible effective political use of the program by President Kennedy, promised to come up with an alternative when the committee-approved measure is laid before the Senate later.

Prouty's aides said this was likely to be in the form of an amendment to limit presidentially directed expenditures to $800 million for chronic unemployment areas and to projects already authorized by congress.

The Republicans generally appeared willing to take the political chance of opposing a long range provision under which Kennedy would be authorized to spend up to $2 billion on projects he would select if a recession threatened.

a majority report there was a "real and urgent need" for such authority. But the Republicans generally felt Congress could act swiftly or be called into special session if a depression loomed.

Committee Democrats said in a majority report there was a "real and urgent need" for such authority. But the Republicans generally felt Congress could act swiftly or be called into special session if a depression loomed.

A secret is something you tell one person at a time. . . . An income tax official says he's certain business around the country is improving: "People are telling bigger lies." . . . A local teen-ager was gonna run away from home last Tuesday, but there was a good show on TV.—Earl Wilson.

Apportion Plan Faces Big Odds

House-Okay Chances Only One in Fifty, Says Speaker Pears

"I'd say the odds are about 50 to 1 against it," said House Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan.

★ ★ ★

Pears made the prediction after House Republicans agreed informally in a closed-door caucus yesterday to stand firm against the Senate-approved proposal.

Upper Peninsual legislators, five out of six of them Democrats, are balking because it could reduce their congressional representation.

The measure would make a single congressional district out of all the Upper Peninsula but Chippewa and Mackinac counties in the eastern end. Those two counties, plus 22 counties in the northeastern lower peninsula, would form another, consolidating all but Bay and Midland counties in the present 10th District.

★ ★ ★

Other districts would be substantially altered.

"They're bad amendments," said Pears, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination in the south congressional district of southwestern Michigan. The incumbent, Rep. Clare Hoffman of Allegan, has announced he will retire.

Pears objects strongly to porposed addition of Kalamazoo County to the Fourth District, clearing the way for Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, author of the new plan, to enter the race.

The House speaker said Kalamazoo County would upset the even balance between industrial and rural voters in the district.

Bride Dies in Crash; Parents Off on Trip

TORONTO (AP)—Two Canadian couples were touring the eastern United States today, unaware that their children's brief marriage had ended in tragedy.

★ ★ ★

The honeymooning couple's car ran off the road six miles north of Port Henry, N.Y., Wednesday and smashed into a tree. Annette was killed and Joseph was taken to a hospital in Burlington, Vt., in serious condition.

Says Burt Lancaster

Jump Into Life . . . Swim Hard

By HAL BOYLE

"Life is movement. Life is something to be used. That's what it is there for. I agree with Bernard Shaw who said, "Waste life — but waste it wisely'."

Burt has lived by his own credo that a man should throw himself into the deep water young—and swim hard.

BOYLE He left college as a sophomore to become a $3-a-week circus acrobat. Before becoming an actor he spent three years in the Army and worked as a floor walker in the lingerie section of a department store, a haberdashery salesman, and fireman in a Chicago meat packing plant.

He didn't rise to stardom. He bounced there from the impact of one brief Broadway play and his first movie.

MOVED TO PRODUCING

The fact his mere appearance in a film soon gave it a million-dollar edge at the box office didn't satisfy Burt. He moved quickly into the producing end also, and he intends to go right on producing.

★ ★ ★

"The actor today practically has to become a businessman if he intends to do what he really wants to," he said. "Gary Cooper had no interest in the producing end, but he was always very careful to pick out what he went into.

"Some very fine actors—Jimmy Stewart, for example—don't want the extra involvement that goes with producing.

"I do. I feel it is better to exercise control from the start.

"There are disadvantages, of course. Some actors take a hand in producing for financial and security reasons. But there's more to it than that, t's like owning a baseball team. You do it for more than the money.

SOMETHING CREATIVE

"When I make something, I want it to have the stamp of my personality all the way. That is the exciting thing—to be in on something creative from its birth."

Lancaster believes more actors and writers will become producers.

"What defeats most people in life is bowing to false gods—fame, money or public approval," he said. "What anyone really should seek most is his own self-approval.

★ ★ ★

"One of my biggest defects, I realize, is that I'm sometimes too impatient with others. I get too zealous in what I'm doing, and can't tell the forest from the trees."

"There's a big danger in becoming too nice and agreeable a guy. You can lose your own character that way—and your purpose," he says.

"You can't embrace all points of view. You always invite criticism by going hard for what you're after, but you have to do it if you're going to please yourself—and if you don't please yourself in your work no other reward can make it worthwhile."

★ ★ ★

Classic Music Records Take 17 Per Cent of Sales

NEW SHOW BUSINESS TEAM — George Burns and Carol Channing pose in Hollywood yesterday after signing contracts. Miss Channing is Burns' first partner since his wife Gracie Allen retired from show business in 1958. The new team opens June 3 in Seattle. Burns, who bills himself as "Sugar Throat Burns," said he teamed with Carol because she agreed to sing in his key — B-flat.

Columbia Students Raid Girls College

NEW YORK (AP)—Two thousand Columbia University male undergraduates raided the campus of Barnard College, Columbia's female branch, early today. They were quickly repulsed.

★ ★ ★

"It's just spring," said a university official.

The students assembled along the broad walkway that traverses the campus. They were clad mostly in Bermuda shorts and crew neck sweaters. Some threw firecrackers and chanted slogans.

Shortly after midnight they surged across Upper Broadway to the Barnard campus, blocking Broadway traffic for 15 minutes. Some got into the high-walled campus, but none entered the buildings.

A police sergeant, who happened to pass in a radio car, summoned a squad of eight patrolmen and the male students were quickly herded from the Barnard campus.

STOPPED CROWD

The students then surged to the east side of the campus, toward Johnson Hall, the graduate women's dormitory.

★ ★ ★

About 1,000 students made another try in the direction of Barnard, but lost interest when they heard police summon fire trucks.

"The hoses will discourage them if nothing else will," the sergeant said.

JFK's Vacation Ending; to Meet With Macmillan

Kennedy was cruising aboard the Honey Fitz Wednesday afternoon when he received word that test No. 1 had been fired at dawn over the Pacific near Christmas Island. But he issued no statement.

He has stayed in the background after giving final authorization Tuesday for the tests in the atmosphere to commence.

The first explosion followed his go-ahead by only hours. He was informed Tuesday night that the tests would get under way Wednesday unless weather interferred.

'1 of 8 Dental Patients Has Tooth Extracted'

NEW YORK (UPI) — One out of every eight dental patients has a tooth extracted and two out of 11 have xrays, a survey by the American Dental Association shows.

★ ★ ★

The survey report noted that the average dentist has 1,184 patients who visit his office 3,130 times a year.

Powers' Wife Leaves Hospital

Illness of U2 Pilot's Spouse Still a Mystery After Rumor Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Powers, wife of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, has been discharged from Georgetown University Hospital, a spokesman there said yesterday.

The 27-year-old Mrs. Powers, taken to the hospital in a coma last Friday, left on Monday with the nature of her illness still something of a mystery.

Power himself was not immediately available for comment on a New York Post newspaper story today that quoted him as saying his wife had indigestion and that a report she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills was silly.

★ ★ ★

When Mrs. Powers was admitted to the hospital, police said she was reported to have taken an overdose of a sleep-inducing barbiturate. And, a hospital statement said she was being studied to determine the cause of her illness "which is probably due to a medication reaction."

★ ★ ★

On Sunday, the day before she was released, a hospital spokesman said no diagnosis of her illness had been made. No further information on her condition was immediately available from hospital officials today.

Speaks for Publishers

Hits Critics of Press

NEW YORK (AP)— The president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association yesterday attacked as irresponsible those critics who would "have the public believe newspapers are fading away."

Mark Ferree, ANPA president, told more than 1,200 publishers at the ANPA convention that "a new stridency has crept into some of the 'professional' criticism leveled at newspapers — something quite the opposite of constructive criticism."

In a prepared address, Ferree argued that such critics chop at the roots of the newspaper tree, "never recognizing that they, with all free citizens, live and work in the shade of that very tree."

Ferree, executive vice president and general business manager of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, warned that if newspapers—as a fully independent medium of news and opinion — faded, "criticism would wither, not for lack of a target but for lack of its chief protector."

He declared that newspapers were prepared to use imaginatively all opportunities of the space age, and announced the creation of a scientific advisory committee of the ANPA.

The committee will assess ways of adapting the latest scientific findings and equipment to newspaper technology, he said.

Coast Guard Claims Distress Call Hoax

NEW YORK (AP)—The Coast Guard says a purported distress call from an aircraft over the Atlantic Ocean was a hoax.

A "Mayday" message, received Tuesday night at Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, N.H., gave the position of the "plane" as several hundred miles east of Boston.

The Coast Guard sent planes and cutters into the area Wednesday. No aircraft had been reported overdue.

Later, the search was discontinued.

Mexico's most-traveled highways are patrolled daily by a fleet of green jeeps equipped with two-way radios and repair devices and manned by experienced mechanics. There is no charge for assistance they render except for the actual cost of gasoline, oil, repairs or spare parts.

Why Not Cut Overtime, Hire Idle?

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON — Close to a million jobs could be created if the substantial overtime being worked in manufacturing industries could be somehow eliminated and the work turned over to the unemployed.

* * *

One of the major inequities of the nation's economic situation is that, with millions unemployed, workers who have jobs are enjoying almost unprecedented earnings because of a great deal of overtime at bonus rates.

News Analysis

The government reports that factory workers, for example, averaged 2.6 hours of overtime a week during March.

If these overtime hours were denied to workers already on factory payrolls and idled employes rehired to do the work, a sizable dent would be made in the nation's 4.4 million unemployed total. The total would be reduced still more if the same thing were done in nonmanufacturing industries.

* * *

Why isn't this done? Why do employers prefer to pay workers 1½ times their regular rate of pay for substantial amounts of overtime, rather than recall experienced workers, still on layoff from the recession, to do the work at the cheaper straight time rate of pay?

SITUATION AGGRAVATED

The answer, according to the experts, is that while a certain amount of overtime work is always necessary because of rush jobs and need for particularly skilled workmen, the situation is aggravated now by several factors.

Employers hesitate to take on responsibilities involved in hiring new workers when they are uncertain about long-term business conditions.

* * *

Another reason is the cost of fringe benefits. It has become cheaper in some cases to pay the overtime premium for extra hours than to take back former workers and the obligations for fringe benefit costs and payroll taxes. With one worker these costs are paid only once, with two workers twice.

The cost differential favoring is not always true, but it is in enough cases now when employers may see enough work ahead for several months for extra employes but not enough work beyond that.

TALKED TO KENNEDY

Labor union leaders are reported to have broached the problem to President Kennedy at a recent White House conference. Nothing was decided, but the union men are considering a plea to Congress to boost the overtime penalty to double time, or twice the regular pay rate.

The purpose would be to discourage overtime and hiring of extra workers.

MAY CHANGE STAND

Up to now the unions have favored reducing the 40-hour work week limit provided in the fair labor standards (wage-hour) law as a step to share the available work. With Kennedy on record as opposed to a shorter work week, unions may espouse the greater overtime penalty as an alternate method of work time sharing.

This has been discussed in the AFL-CIO Executive Council, organized labor's high command, which opens its two-day spring meeting here today.

* * *

Labor unions in some of the leading industries, notably steel and autos, are particularly concerned. The Auto Workers Union has asked the carmakers several times to eliminate what the union termed "excessive and unnecessary overtime" in order to make room for laid-off workers.

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force launched a mystery satellite from this West Coast missile base in the predawn hours today.

Ponder Consolidation

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Rural Cheboygan County residents have planned a series of meetings to discuss the consolidation of 10 rural school districts to build two new elementary schools. A millage vote to finance construction is proposed.

Salan Asks De Gaulle Called as Witness

PARIS (AP) — Ex-Gen. Raoul Salan's defense has issued a list of witnesses it wants for the treason trial of the captured chief of the anti-Gaullist secret army in Algeria. Among them are President de Gaulle and the recently retired Premier Michel Debre.

Unless the witnesses are called, Attorney Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour said, Salan will stand mute at his imminent pre-trial hearing before an examining magistrate.

The lawyer said he particularly wanted to question the witnesses about an assassination attempt on Salan when he was commanding French forces in Algeria and about the May 13, 1958, Algiers uprising by Salan and others that led to the return of de Gaulle to power.

'Group Activities Help Family Thrive'

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A Menninger Foundation psychologist says the difference between families that thrive and those that go downhill seems to be a matter of finding things that are satisfying to each and yet involve all of them.

Dr. Lois Murphy told a marriage counseling workshop for Methodist ministers Wednesday a study of 60 normal children found that in their family backgrounds there was less moving and fewer divorces. Two-thirds of the families were active members of a church.

She said the church was the only institution to which the entire family can belong for a long period.

Reds Warm Up for May Day Parade in Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—East German tanks and heavy guns rattled through the empty streets of East Berlin at dawn today, practicing for the annual May Day parade.

At one point they were only a few yards from the Communist wall.

East Berlin's May Day parade regularly includes heavy military equipment despite the Soviet-banning German military equipment from Berlin. The Western powers usually protest the violation.

★ ★ ★

On the other side of the wall, West Berlin planned its own big May Day demonstration. Hundreds of thousands are expected to gather to hear speeches by West German President Heinrich Luebke and Mayor Willy Brandt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, winding up his mission as President Kennedy's personal envoy, will appear.

An estimated 7,957,000 tourists visited West Virginia last year and spent $290 million.

"GET 'EM"! — That's the command issued by a Commerce Lake Nike Base sentry in case of unwanted prowlers inside the fenced-in area. The three-year-old German shepherds are choosen by the Air Force because of their huge strong jaws with sharp fangs.

'Lance' Pounces on Intruders at Commerce Missile Base

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

"Lance," a giant German shepherd sentry dog at the Commerce Lake Nike base, prickled up his radar-like ears and gave a nasty nerve-shattering snarl.

In the early evening darkness, his keen sense of smell had detected an unwanted intruder inside the double fence surrounding the military base and he strained at the leash of his handler.

Pulling the dog with him, the guard ducked for cover and demanded immediate identification. It was given by a security officer who was making a surprise penetration check to keep dog and handler on their toes.

That night, and others, the same thing happened again and again.

Had there been no identification made, or had the intruder started to run, Lance would have been released with a "Get him" and "Hold on!" The "visitor" would have had a mauling he would never forget.

Constant training of these reliable animals to "kill" on command makes them one of Uncle Sam's most successful weapons of protection, according to Capt. Charles Harper, commander of the Commerce base.

"These dogs are not pets after their regular nine-weeks' training session has been completed," he said. "They are vicious, highly specialized fighting animals that trust no one but the individual handler — and we keep them that way."

TRAINED IN TEXAS

Man-dog teams are trained at Lackland Air Force base in Texas, then assigned to various military units, after the fight-to-kill indoctrination period is finished.

All of the canines (mostly German shepherds) are acquired from civilian sources and must be three years old. After eight years of active duty, the dogs must be disposed of because the psychological effect of constant agitation finally makes them unreliable.

The dog's weight is kept around the 100-pound mark by one meal in the morning of four pounds of peak horsemeat and kennel biscuits. It gets the finest medical care, and specific records are kept on each dog from the time it enters the base until its exit.

★ ★ ★

Each handler keeps his animal well groomed and exercised and sees to it the kennels are clean.

Every day there is a one-hour dog-obedience training session where the animals are put through vigorous physical maneuvers.

Under the supervision of a handler, a Private dons an 85-pound padded attack suit — then he antigonizes the dogs into action to sharpen their aggressiveness. Later they leap over five-foot hurdles to build and keep strong muscles, making the canines ready for their nightly eight-hour walking stint around the missile base.

Captain Harper explained that although a dog is constantly tormented to be vicious, he is never mistreated. However, they are not handled gently, either.

"These animals must be made to obey orders at all costs," the captain said, "and the big thoroughbreds have more than proven their worth to the protection of American defenses."

Plans to Seek Second Term

Ex-Pharmacist Upset Clarkson in 1960 for 4th District Seat

Ray L. Baker, pharmacist turned politician, announced today he will seek a second term as state representative from Oakland County's 4th District.

The 55-year-old Republican made a dramatic entrance into politics in 1960 when he upset incumbent James Clarkson by some 1,300 votes.

Baker, planning a vigorous campaign, said his nominating petitions for the Aug. 7 primary are already in circulation.

"I'm confident that the people of the 4th district will endorse the kind of balanced representation I have been giving them in Lansing," he said.

Catholics Rally Against Ruling

New Orleanians Say Excommunication Is Better Than Mixing

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A group of Roman Catholics today risked banishment from the church for rallying behind segregation leaders with a battle cry of "better excommunicate than integrate."

Leander H. Perez Sr., south Louisiana political leader and foe of integration, was the major speaker at last night's mass protest to Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel's orders to desegregate parochial schools in New Orleans this fall.

"Excommunication can't send you to hell, but integration will send your children to a hell on earth," Peres shouted, pounding the podium with his fist.

"Our church leaders are taking directions from the Communists," he said.

Perez, Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr. and Jackson Ricau, a leader of the New Orleans Citizens Council, already have been excommunicated for their fight against Rummel's orders.

RECEIVES OVATION

The crowd stomped their feet, clapped their hands and gave a shouting, standing ovation to Perez. Mrs. Gaillot was present, but did not speak. Ricau was not present.

There were more than 500 persons on hand. It could not be determined how many of them were Catholic. The meeting, held in an American Legion Hall, opened and closed with Catholic prayers.

The crowd signed a petition pledging support for the three excommunicated Catholics. Ricau said the petition might lead to excommunications by the church.

★ ★ ★

All Types of Models Fill Coliseum

CARnival Delights New York Auto Buffs

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press
Automotive Writer

NEW YORK — For those who love cars for cars' sake, the International Auto Show this week is offering a paradise limited only by the sightseers' endurance.

Spread over three floors of the New York Coliseum are sports cars, town cars, family cars, racing cars, superluxury cars, midget cars — experimental and prosaic.

Manufacturers from nine countries — everybody who is anybody in the automotive world — and, for the first time, every American make, are in the show, hoping to win friends and customers.

For many it will be a vain hope. Despite over-all prospects for a better sales year than last, the bloom definitely is off the import market. And only those makes which offer a reasonable chance for parts and decent service can expect to keep a foothold on American shores.

The show, however, is a Mecca for the young and especially for the teen-agers from the sidewalks of the city who caress lovingly the Ferraris, Jaguars, Maseratis and other famous names.

And where else can a commoner sit in a Cadillac and Rolls-Royce or whatever his choice, in the same hour?

Today brings a final addition to the show when Studebaker uncovers its newest model, the $4,500 Avanti, a 130-mile-an-hour performer with which the South Bend automaker hopes to attract additional traffic into the the till.

The Avanti, available with a supercharged engine, is the latest luxury car market, dominated so far by Thunderbird.

A vast number of the imports here also fall into this class, either in price, or use, or both — such as Fiat's new 2300 sports coupe, a four-seater Lancia convertible, an Alfa-Romeo convertible and a host of others.

★ ★ ★

Many of the cars are one-of-a-kind models, although with rare exceptions such as stylists' dream cars, everything on the floor is for sale.

SOUR NOTE

The show opened last Saturday, hard on the heels of an announcement by Ford that the current most of the imports, did not seem to justify the building of a subcompact market for small cars, such as pact in the United States.

And even as the show began American Motors confirmed reports that it has discontinued its Metropolitan, a tiny two-passenger model built since 1954 in England for exclusive American sale.

Neither of these marketing decisions fazed Volkswagen, the acknowledged king of the imports. Carl Hahn, general manager of Volkswagen of America, promptly announced his dealers had an all-time record sale of 16,500 cars in March and that the German company plans to sell 200,000 cars and 30,000 trucks in the United States this year.

"We were shocked Ford waited so late to call off the Cardinal," Hahn said in discussing the subcompact market. "I feel certain they will be back."

Hahn claimed that "without any effort, just a good product" Volkswagen's share of the American market could be at least doubled — from 200,000 cars or three per cent, to more than 400,000 or more than six per cent.

"We are limited only by supply," Hahn said, "and that supply in turn in limited by the number of workers available in Germany."

He said Volkswagen was hired 1,000 Italians and is seeking to add more. "But everybody is competing for the Italian labor and their economy is improving so rapidly that unemployment there is no longer the problem it was," he added.

★ ★ ★

Volkswagen officials said they were honestly disappointed when Ford decided not to build the Cardinal in the United States. "We had a nice ad to run," one said with a smile, "all about how ours was the only Volkswagen-sized Volkswagen."

Getting All Set to Block Bill

Southern Senator Says Congress Has No Right to Fix Voting Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern senators warmed up to their task of blocking the leadership's civil rights bill today.

One member declared Congress had no more right to fix voter qualifications than it had to "change the boiling point of water."

The challenge was tossed out in a speech prepared for delivery by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., first scheduled Southern speaker for the second day of full debate on the literacy test bill.

The legislation would permit only uniform state literacy tests as a qualification for voting in federal elections.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., put the Senate on notice that after a reasonable period of debate — presumably late next week — he will file a cloture petition to limit further talk.

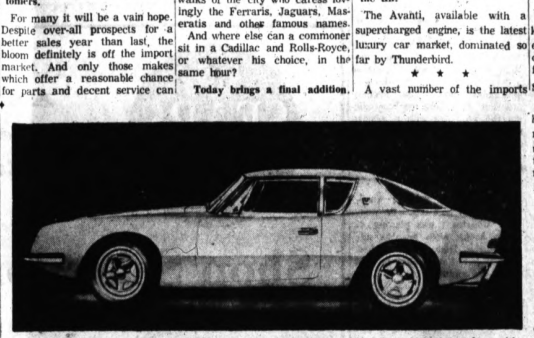
MAY FALL SHORT

But most senators expect Mansfield and GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., to fall well short of getting the required two-thirds vote for the gag rule.

In that case, Mansfield said, the leaders would lay aside the civil rights measure and proceed to other pressing business.

Southerners opposing the bill were making a generally uniform argument that the legislative approach is unconstitutional — and that the measure is unneeded.

Talmadge, in his prepared address, said experience with the 1957 and 1960 civil rights laws and agencies they created "completely refutes the contention" that a voter qualification statute is needed.



FLYING WEDGE — Studebaker's new high-performance prestige car is the Avanti (Italian for "forward") shown above. All new, the vehicle offers a three-speed automatic transmission with a floor shift. A two-door with bucket seats forward and contour seats in the rear, it carries four passengers.

Four Area Patrol Boys to Be AAA Rally Guests

Four Pontiac area safety patrollers have been named to join 116 of their fellows from across the state to represent Michigan at the 26th annual AAA Patrol Rally in Washington, D. C., May 10-13.

★ ★ ★

Making the four-day, all-expense-paid trip as guests of the Automobile Club of Michigan are: Ray Sutherland, 11, of 88 Williams St., Crofoot School; James Crump, 15, of 348 Prospect St., Eastern Junior High school; Michael Aldrich, 11, of 124 Glendale Ave., Rochester, Woodward School, and Robert Madole, 11, of 2970 Lacota Road, Waterford Township, representing Donelson School.

In lauding the work of the safety patrols, Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club director of safety and traffic, said:

"Their effectiveness is not limited to this group, however, as the patrols help children form good habits which they carry with them into adult life. In addition, the patrols have a definite influence on drivers, tending to make them more careful.

★ ★ ★

"It is a distinct pleasure to be able to take a representative group of them to the annual rally in Washington."

The Michigan delegation will entrain on Thursday, May 10, at Detroit's Michigan Central Station, aboard private cars of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

On Friday, the group will tour famous national historic sites, including the Lincoln Memorial, Iwo Jima Memorial, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Washington Monument, the Capitol, Mt. Vernon and other points.

Trio to Continue Traffic, Medical Research Studies

A study of highway traffic and two medical research projects will be carried on by three Oakland County residents following recent approval of $185,166 in research contracts by the Wayne State University board of governors.

The largest of the contracts is $120,000 for a program of highway traffic research conducted by Dr. Albert J. Mayer of 25755 York Road, Royal Oak.

Another contract was $55,106 from the department of the Army to continue study of cytopathogenic agents from blood donors under the direction of Dr. Ernest E. Muirhead of 122 E. Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Hills.

The third program was $10,000 from the department of the Navy to continue the medical education for national defense program conducted under the direction of Dr. Raymond C. Read, 618 W. Drayton St., Ferndale.

School Official Asks to Leave

Asst. Supt. Hufziger Offered Top Post in Trenton District

Pontiac schools Asst. Supt. Otto C. Hutziger, credited with leadership of the district's $14-million building program, has been offered a position as superintendent of the Trenton School District, south of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Board of Education will consider Dr. Hufziger's request for termination of his services effective July 1 at its regular meeting in the board offices, 40 Patterson St., at 8 p.m. today.

Hufziger, 35, was hired here in October 1954 as an administrative assistant "to give leadership to our construction program," Supt. Dana P. Whitmer recalled.

"He has done an excellent job," he added.

★ ★ ★

He held the administrative assistant's post for two years and was promoted to assistant superintendent-business in 1956.

U.S. N-Test Sparks Some Protests

By The Associated Press

America's resumption of nuclear tests in the air brought three small demonstrations in foreign countries, thousands of expressions of dismay, indignation, concern, tolerant understanding from friends, bitter denunciation from the Communists.

★ ★ ★

Mixed with fear was the underlying but faint hope that an all-out nuclear race between the United States and the Soviet Union still might be averted before it gets out of hand.

TOKYO NOISIEST

The noisiest demonstration was in Tokyo, where 325 leftist students, Communists, Socialists and members of the Japan Anti-Bomb Council shouted before the U.S. Embassy and tried to enter the embassy compound. Japanese police drove them off, but the leftists have promised to demonstrate every day during the test series.

★ ★ ★

In London, 14 Americans—most of them students in England—marched up and down all night before the U.S. Embassy with antinuclear placards.

A mass meeting was planned for tonight by the British antinuclear organizations.

SOVIETS PROTEST

About 50 ban-the-bomb demonstrators sat on the sidewalk outside the U.S. Embassy in Copenhagen.

A Soviet commentator charged President Kennedy's statement last March that he did not want tests had been shown up as "the biggest lie of all the false assurances made by anyone in the West."

"With the explosion at Christmas Island, a new round in the nuclear arms race has been started," the commentator said. "No propaganda maneuvers will help Washington erase the fact that it committed the greatest crime before all of humanity."

WHERE SLUG LODGED—Robert Parke examines the hole made in a metal kitchen cabinet when a 30-caliber slug ripped through the front window sash and ricocheted into the kitchen area of the home on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township recently. The case is still being investigated.

Pontiac Press Photo

Origin of Bullets Mystery

Still Probing Shooting

The origin of two 30-caliber rifle bullets that strayed to the premises of Claude Parke, 4832 Sashabaw Road, Independence Township April 14 is still a mystery.

Mrs. Elma Parke was sitting in the living room at 3:45 that afternoon when a slug smashed through the white pine window sash of the front window. The bullet whizzed within two feet of where she was sitting and lodged in a metal kitchen cabinet.

The following day Parke discovered another slug lodged in the trunk of his car, which had been parked in the garage with the garage door open.

The home is located about a mile directly east of the Oakland County Sportsmens Club's rifle range. However, the range is backstopped by a 35-foot mound of earth which a bullet could not penetrate.

STILL INVESTIGATING

Officer Worth Hitchcock of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, still investigating the incident, said that the bullet could either have come over the backstop or else could have been fired by someone in the woods near the range.

The range of the 30-caliber rifle that propelled the bullets is three to four miles, according to Hitchcock. Several other houses are situated between the range and the Parke home.

Elmer Wilson, president of the Sportsmens Club, believes the shot was fired from the woods rather than from the range.

He does not rule out the possibility of a slug going astray over the big mound but thinks this is unlikely. The targets are placed at the base of the mound.

Wilson said that a bullet hit another home in the area four or five years ago. He conceded that in that instance the stray bullet was the result of a portion of the range background washing away and was inadequate.

The backstop was built up right after that, he added, and has been maintained since.

The club president ordered the rifle range closed to guns of more than .22 caliber pending the outcome of the investigation of the April 14 incident.

Robert Wagoner, of 68 Waldo, resigned from the club Feb. 28 after several years as a member, citing "unsafe conditions" as the reason for his withdrawal.

Wagoner's chief objections were that nonmembers with no previous experience with the .30-caliber weapons were being allowed on the range and that the backstop was not high enough. He said he tried unsuccessfully to have both conditions remedied to promote greater safety.

★ ★ ★

A report on the investigation to determine if the shot came from the woods rather than the range is expected within a few days from the Sheriff's Department, Wilson said.

2 Used Car Garages Are Hit by Burglars

Burglars broke into two used car sales garages yesterday morning stealing goods worth $550 in one and $175 in another.

The King Auto Sales garage at 115 S. Saginaw was entered, after the thieves broke a window. They got tires, batteries, a battery charger and a car polisher for a total of $550.

The Economy Used Cars garage at 22 Auburn Ave. lost radios, battery chargers, air conditioners and a hi-fi plate in a similar burglary.

State Author Turns to Political Field for Latest Effort

By GEMMA STRIFFLER

"Hornstein's Boy"
by Robert Traver
Published April 11, 1962

"Pour me another drink, fella!"

The author, Michigan's Robert Traver, writes slowly and painfully during the first half of his second book, just as he tediously developed his theme in "Anatomy of a Murder." But he makes it up to the reader with the exciting, faster tempo of the final chapters.

His story is of two college friends (locale Michigan? . . . obviously so) who get together years later.

Hornstein, from the East, joyously becomes the campaign manager for his "boy," Walt Dressler, from the jackpine background of the Upper Peninsula, after persuading Walt to run for the U. S. Senate.

In the campaign, our hero plays up to the Negro vote and also enlists the aid of college youths with his idealistic but overplayed philosophics. Thus the author employs the Peace Corps movement of the present administration.

The point of this book?

To quote: "Under what other form of government in this whole mad world could the sons of a saloonkeeper and a junk dealer go out and try for one of its highest elective offices? . . . Where did you hide the booze this time?"

Brush Fires Sweep Northeastern U. S.

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of brush fires swept the northeastern sections of the nation yesterday blackening thousands of acres of woodland and damaging several dwellings and destroying a factory.

★ ★ ★

And for the next two days the weather forecast from New Jersey northward through New York and into New England predicted sunny skies.

An estimated 4,500 acres of grass and timberland were burned in Albany, Schenectady and Saratoga counties of upstate New York.

On Staten Island more than 200 brush fires have swept across open areas in the past three days. Firemen called for help from almost 50 fire companies yesterday in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Jersey City to battle the blazes.

Stage Hand Is Drowned in Film Studio Mishap

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A stage hand drowned when a boat capsized Wednesday on an artificial lake devised at the Geiselgasteig movie studios for the shooting of "Captain Sinbad," a German-American production.

Police said Askar Lindner, 24, and three other workers took to the boat, also made for the film, during a break in filming.

The three others were rescued immediately. Divers recovered Lindner's body half an hour later.

Pronounced, of Course, Goof

In the 1400s, the Game Was 'Gouf'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — It should be no shocking surprise to the dubbers of America to learn that the game of "golf" was originally spelled "gouf" (pronounced, appropriately, "goof").

That was back in the 1400s, and the "gouf ball" (isn't that lovely?) was made of feathers packed in leather.

"The first recorded history we have is that in the 15th century, parliament passed a law prohibiting the playing of golf, King James II he was, who banned it because it was an age of national defense, and nobody was taking archery practice. They were too busy slicing the gouf ball with a wooden stick—which was the first version of the club."

The speaker was Lawrence Miller, representing the Scots, who claim to have invented golf.

"Most of the Scottish kings played gouf regularly," he went on. "Charles I was playing at Leith Links when he was advised the Irish rebellion had broken out. I do believe he finished the game."

Miller, a successful Edinburgh lawyer, admitted he was, himself, "one of the world's keenest golfers." As such, he offered a concise, emotionless accounting of the history of the world's most humbling game . . .

1st GOLF WIDOW

"It's quite clear from history," he said, "that Mary — Queen of Scots, that would be—was the first real golf widow. Oh, literally she was that.

★ ★ ★

"It was regarded with great disgust by the people when she went out to play golf with Lord Bothwell only days after the demise of her husband, Lord Darnley.

"She played at St. Andrews, of course. A fine club—or did I mention that?"

(Miller said, in fact, that he is a member of nine other courses, besides the famous St. Andrews, including two of championship quality. His total annual dues, for all 10 clubs, were 36 pounds (about $100). Which explains why Scotland is subtitled "golfers' land.")

In 1681, he continued, James II —then the Duke of York—lived at Holyrood Palace, a great edifice which still stands in the heart of Edinburgh. Two English noblemen, visiting him, claimed that golf was a British invention.

"James was irate, of course. It was agreed that the validity of the claim should be established or demolished on the outcome of a match to be held between the British pair and James — teamed with whatever Scottish partner he should choose.

"He searched high and wide, and finally chose for his partner a Mr. John Patersone, shoemaker and local champion. The two of them won hands down—and Scotland's rightful title was established and vindicated."

The pride Miller feels in this heritage becomes obvious when he is asked the difference between Scottish and American gouf courses.

He slipped, without realizing it, into a boastful brogue . . .

"Why, lass, I don't know exactly what you play in your benighted country, but it isn't the divil's game we play at St. Andrews and ither links. We Scots have a horrid habit of sitting bunkers in dead middle o' the fairway to trap a mon, and et cetera.

★ ★ ★

"Ye never played golf, lass, til ye knickle inta a Scottish course."

★ ★ ★

"That, lass, is a sore point," he said softly. "We used to produce world champions regularly — until after 1918. But that war changed the scene. Since then, life is real and life is earnest and today we have no amateurs who can play more than weekends.

"America has a disgusting habit of winning at our games." He smiling philosophically. "I think, to put it bluntly, ye'r advantage is money!"

Doctor Treats Bruise on Liz Taylor's Nose

ROME (UPI)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor rested today in the seclusion of her luxurious villa, recovering from a bruise on her nose which the doctor who treated her said would not have worried "a normal person."

Dr. Vincenzo Bilotta, a member of the staff of the exclusive Salvator Mundi Hospital here, said he treated Miss Taylor for a slight injury to her nose. He said the actress was injured in an auto accident when she was returning to Rome from the seaside resort of Porto Santo Stefano Monday.

Guard Assn. Meeting Saturday in Lansing

LANSING (AP) — Some 300 Michigan military men and their wives are expected at the sixth annual convention of the Michigan National Guard Association Saturday, guard spokesmen said.

The convention will be held in the Flint National Guard Armory, said Lt. Col. John B. Brown of Grand Rapids, chairman of the arrangements committee.

Tests to Raise East-West Tension

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Resumption of U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere and an expected new round of Soviet tests will cause some increase in East-West tensions, Washington officials predict.

★ ★ ★

Highly placed sources here expect that Russia will begin a new test series fairly soon, now that the United States is testing over the central Pacific.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's declared intention to conduct more experimental nuclear blasts if the United States did so is the principal basis for this forecast. But, authorities here say it is evident from what is known of the results of Soviet tests last fall that Russian leaders would want to hold further experiments in order to develop their findings—particularly in the field of anti-missile defenses.

News Analysis

WHAT WILL K DO

The extent to which East-West tensions build up will depend on the violence of the Soviet propaganda barrage and related actions that Khrushchev takes in the next few days.

For example, there has been speculation in Geneva that the Russians would walk out of the 17-nation disarmament conference. But at the State Department this was considered unlikely.

★ ★ ★

Recent public statements by Khrushchev, as in his interview with American publisher Gardner Cowles, were interpreted to mean that he foresees continuation of the disarmament talks.

★ ★ ★

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy will review the test situatio and its cold war impact, along with other world problems, when they meet at the White House Saturday.

WOULD CANCEL TESTS

The two Western leaders are likely to state their policy on testing in a declaration at the conclusion of their talks Sunday afternoon. They may take the occasion to affirm U.S. readiness to cancel the test series any time the Soviet government will sign up enforceable treaty prohibiting nuclear explosions.

★ ★ ★

A State Department spokesman said the United States would not call off the Pacific experiments in response to a declaration of Soviet willingness to negotiate an enforceable treaty ban.

But officials declared if the Russians were willing to sign a treaty, the offer that President Kennedy made repeatedly over the past several months would still stand; that is, the United States would be willing to call off its tests at any time, just as it was willing to cancel the whole operation before it started.

Motorist Finds Reason He Didn't Have Any Gas

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A man pushed his pickup truck into a service station and told attendants he had run out of gas.

The driver climbed into the truck as an attendant began filling the tank, just behind the driver's seat. Suddenly the driver yelled for the man to turn off the gasoline—it was flooding the seat.

2,000 U.S. Infantrymen Will Go to Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 2,000-man infantry battle group will be flown to Germany in early May as part of a new exercise designed to test U.S. ability to reinforce NATO defenses in Europe.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon announced yesterday that exercise Long Thrust III, as it has been named, will take place between May 7 and May 12.

Common Market Anti-Communist Bulwark

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The European Common Market, already a recognized world force, ultimately may increase its membership to include 300 million people. As such it would speak a voice equal to either the United States or the Soviet Union.

Joined with the United States, it would present an unconquerable wall to Communist ambitions for expansion, and the two then could pour vast new sums into aid for underdeveloped nations which also are a Soviet target.

Largely because of this new European economic union, which includes lowering tariff barriers, the United States is reviewing seriously its own foreign trade structure, particularly its tarriffs. The common market nations are West Germany, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Great Britain, impressed by the economic miracle occurring within the six and fearful of being left behind, has applied for full membership even if it means the loss of some jealously guarded British sovereignty.

Greece became an associate member last year and has received promises of aid amounting to $125 million in the next five years.

Norway, Denmark and Ireland are expected to ask full membership, and associate memberships may be sought by Sweden, Austria, Switzerland and Spain.

Because they are beginning to speak, as an economic whole, the six already have destroyed the Soviet Union's hopes of undermining each separately.

SECOND STAGE

Early this year, with notable achievements behind them, the six passed an important landmark.

At 5:29 a. m. on Sunday, Jan. 14, after negotiations which left the participants exhausted and nearly ill, the common market went into its second stage.

From now on, no member of the six would be able to veto a majority decision.

Another agreement set up a timetable for equal pay for equal work by men and women. All discrimination is to be ended by Dec. 31, 1964.

Phase No. 2 of the common market also looks forward to free movement of capital and a common transport policy, as well as a continuing lowering of internal tariffs.

Much as these may eventually influence the lives of every man, woman and child within the common market, today they remain mostly intangibles.

The German housewife may see it when she buys cheaper Dutch butter.

The traveller finds he needs only to present an identity card when crossing borders.

DIFFICULTY RESOLVED

In mid-March silent miners of the Borinage in Belgium's coal-mining black belt watched as King Baudouin embraced the aged mayor of the village of Maurage.

Among the onlookers was Desire Dubois who at the age of 40 was told that the pit where he had worked all his adult life was to be closed as uneconomic and that he would have to find another job.

Baudouin came to Maurage to witness new skills being taught to the miners under common funds made available through the six-nation community.

These funds and the new skill that Desire DuBois is learning as a paver are making the future less bleak.

And his wife sees him off to work in the morning without the fear that he will not return.

INDUSTRIALIST COMMENT

Within the common market, former enemies have linked hands to expand cooperation and sales organizations.

German workers are now building Noratlas transport planes under license.

"Aircraft construction essentially is an international concern," said the slow-speaking Cahan-Salvador. "This is especially so in Europe where each of the countries is too small to provide a large enough market."

The chain-smoking Cahan-Salvador has only one wryly humorous complaint. Dealing with foreigners, he believes, consumes time and money.

"This," he says, "is especially true when we deal with Anglo-Saxons. They use a different system than the metric one and have a different way of thinking and reasoning."

"The era of small nations is over," says Henri Pigozzi, director general of Simca, one of France's largest auto makers. "We've got to think about what will sell in Germany and Italy — not just France.

An Italian official declared:

"The economic tying-together of Europe already has made it possible for Italy to plan realistically for the absorption of its unemployed."

Tomorrow: The forces that brought the common market in being.

Jazz Violinist Dies

Khrushchev Seems to Be Quieting Down

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Khrushchev seems quieter, perhaps because he's getting older. This, if true, would be comforting to the Western nervous system that he has kept a-tingle.

This bubbly and imaginative man, just turned 68, has been notoriously impatient with delay and stuffed shirts. He acted as if under compulsion to get the show on the road, no matter what show.

But now for months, compared with the earlier Khrushchev, he has seemed rather withdrawn. There has been less flamboyance, in word and deed, less animal spirit, less thunder in his threats of lightning.

At least he seems that way to this writer, although it is easy to read too much into his periods of quietude between escapades. He has had them before and came charging back like a refreshed bear.

A BIT OF HAM

He has always had a bit of the ham in him, a determination to dominate every scene, even if he has to dream it up, like a summit meeting.

An example of the slowing down in the Khrushchevian tempo—if that's what it is—was laid on the table this week with release of an interview he gave an American publisher, Gardner Cowles.

In the past Khrushchev seemed obsessed with the need for a summit, without such preliminaries as a meeting of foreign ministers to see if there could be any agreement before the top men got together.

He dismissed ministers as messenger boys and insisted only the No. 1 men could settle anything. As late as February he was calling for a meeting with President Kennedy to discuss disarmament.

But the interview with Cowles showed he has changed his mind. Now he says there should be only if their diplomats can first negotiate agreements or if war threatens.

NOT LIKE HIM

This doesn't sound like the bouncy, hard-driving Khrushchev of old. Nor was it his only recent change of heart, although it's always been tough to figure whether his many changes were in him or just in his tactics.

In an interview with American columnist Walter Lipmann in 1961 Khrushchev said Russia had never done any nuclear testing underground, and never would, because there is no value in small tactical weapons.

By April 13, 1962, he had changed. At that time, refusing the kind of nuclear test ban agreement the West wanted and knowing Kennedy would resume testing if he didn't, Khrushchev said:

The fact that he built a Berlin crisis all through the last half of 1961 and now, in 1962, has let it quiet down doesn't, by itself, signify any change in the Russian leader.

He created a similar crisis in 1958-59 and let it cool off after President Eisenhower invited him over here for a visit.

So his moments of calm after crises don't necessarily mean that he is getting tired.

Meanwhile, he's had some problems at home in this past year, despite some spectacular successes like orbiting men around the earth. One of them is the fact that the Russians have a miserable food supply.

★ ★ ★

This alone would be enough to make many a leader a little self-conscious about directing the destiny of the world before he could feed his own people better. It may have had a sobering effect on Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

Western leaders will begin having uneasy moments if they believe Khrushchev is getting tired and may not be around long. At least they know how to deal with him. They may not be able to deal with his successor.

Customer Produces 'False' Identification

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Again and again, Mrs. William Miller, clerk at the Arizona Public Service Co. office, explained to the customer that no personal checks were accepted without identification.

The man explained he had left his wallet at home and had no other identification with him. "I'm sorry," said Mrs. Miller.

FALSE TEETH RELINER

'Let the Good Times Roll'

Cajun 'Nation' Secedes

BREAUX BRIDGE, La. (UPI)—The "Hilariously Free Kingdom of Breaux Bridge" will secede from the non-Cajun world tomorrow.

The secession marks the beginning of the annual, three-day crawfish festival. Breaux Bridge will seal off this crawfish capital of the world from outsiders who "cannot make a decent crawfish etouffe (stew) . . . murder what should be a good gumbo . . . and, worst of all, cannot speak Cajun."

A fais do do (street dance) kicks things off tomorrow night. Before the crawfish net is lifted from the fun-loving Cajun community in Louisiana's bayou country, the natives ("and visitors with money") will have witnessed crawfish races, pirogue races, an Acadien costume contest, a horse and buggy parade, accordion competition, a crawfish dinner at city park, and a crawfish queen coronation ball.

MODERN INROAD

About the only thing modern about the three-day festival will be the quantities of beer consumed and a special parachute-jumping exhibition Saturday by a group called the Sky Divers.

The crawfish races are perhaps the zaniest of the scheduled events. Natives claim everything about Breaux Bridge variety crawfish are best.

Usually sober men get down on all fours to urge their crackling crustaceans on to greater speed. In their own Cajun way, they make book on the races.

Bayou Teche will be the scene Saturday of the pirogue (small, canoe-like boats) races. Breaux Bridgians also maintain their men are the best pirogue handlers anywhere.

* * *

Mazey Protests U. S. N-Tests

UAW Official Sends Telegram to President Calling for Halt

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union secretary-treasurer, Emil Mazey, has protested the United States action in resuming nuclear testing.

Mazey called yesterday for immediate halting of the U.S. tests now under way.

In a telegram to President Kennedy, Mazey said:

"On Aug. 31, 1961, you made the following statement:

" 'The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing presents a hazard to every human being throughout the world by increasing the dangers of nuclear fallout.'

"I agree with your statement of Aug. 31 completely. I believe that the Russians by resuming nuclear testing committed a crime against humanity.

"I would like to remind you, Mr. President, that the danger to the human race that you so eloquently stated in your Aug. 31 statement is exactly the same whether the nuclear fallout comes from Russian-made or American-made bombs.

"I therefore, respectfully, urge you to cancel the proposed nuclear tests in order to protect the lives of thousands of fellow human beings—many of them who are not born as yet."

Missouri Mule Gets Furlough on Farm

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Banjo A Burro is a Missouri mule on furlough.

Banjo is the mascot of the St. Louis-based Missouri Air National Guard squadron recently called up for active duty in France. The squadron men wanted to take Banjo along, but the brass said "no."

Squadron airmen assembled at the Lambert-St. Louis field base here while Banjo was placed aboard a truck and hustled off to his "unwanted" furlough at a farm near Wentzville.

Sgt. Richard W. Krieger said he hoped Banjo won't miss that occasional beer the fellows gave him.

Veteran Negro Teacher Gives $2,500 for Fund

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Julia Davis, an eighth grade teacher, donated $2,500 to the public library here to start a fund to buy books and other materials reflecting the contribution of Negroes to American and world culture.

* * *

Miss Davis, a Negro, is 70 years old. She received degrees from Stowe Teachers College and the State University of Iowa.

Report Follows Successful Launch of Moon Booster

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The great Saturn rocket is on schedule on a timetable to boost the three-man Apollo spaceship into orbit in late 1964—an important step toward placing the craft on the moon in this decade.

That was the status report given by Dr. Wernher von Braun Wednesday after the second straight successful test-firing of the huge eight-engine booster.

Pouring 1.3 million pounds of thrust from the first-stage power plant, the 162-foot Saturn roared into a clear sky in an awesome display of flame and noise. The engines, spewing a 300-foot tail of fire, burned out as intended 115 seconds after launching, at an altitude of 35 miles, in what one National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman termed a 100 per cent successful performance.

* * *

The vehicle coasted upward to an altitude of 65 miles and there was destroyed deliberately by an electronic signal beamed from Cape Canaveral.

DUMPED WATER

As the Saturn ripped apart, 95 tons of water carried for ballast in two dummy upper stages poured into the rarified air of the upper atmosphere and blossomed into a massive cloud of ice flakes. The cloud expanded in two seconds to a diameter of 8 to 10 miles and 12 seconds later dissipated in the atmosphere.

* * *

The unloosing of the water was a secondary scientific experiment designed to gather data on "how quickly the equilibrium would establish itself in the upper atmosphere after it had been disturbed by sudden introduction of the water."

A radar device in a tracking plane detected "electrical discharge phenomena" near the cloud. This was created by ice droplets of different sizes striking one another, causing friction. Study of data from the experiment may take weeks.

Despite two complete successful flights of the world's largest known rocket, Saturn will not soon overcome the Soviet lead over the United States in booster power.

MILLION-POUND THRUST

The Russians are using a rocket with estimated thrust of one million pounds for manned and unmanned space flights. The most powerful operational U.S. space booster is the Atlas-Agena B with first stage thrust of 367,000 pounds.

Saturn has eight more test flights scheduled in the research program before it will be ready in 1964 to carry the first manned Apollo spacecrafts into earth orbit for periods up to two weeks.

Von Braun, director of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, said two more tests of the first stage only are planned to build up reliability. Second-stage testing will start with the fifth flight in July 1963. The fifth through the 10th research flights will carry unmanned models of the Apollo.

* * *

This Saturn series, designated C-1, does not possess the strength to push Apollo to the moon. That task has been assigned an advanced Saturn, the C-5, with first-stage thrust of 7.5 million pounds.

Von Braun said the initial C-5 test flight is set for 1965. By 1966 this monster booster is expected to be ready to whirl a three-man Apollo team around the moon and return it to earth. Manned lunar landings will follow, possibly in 1967.

BLASTS OFF — With its eight large engines delivering 165,000 pounds of thrust apiece, the Saturn rockets roars away from the launch pad at Cape Canaveral yesterday in its second straight successful test.

To Address Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. John A. Hannah, chairman of the Civil Rights Commission and president of Michigan State University, will address the closing session of a national conference on school segregation here May 3-4.

The overo Pinto horse has white patches which seem to originate from the underside and work upward. The tobiano strain's more sharply defined white areas extend downward from the back and the head is usually dark.

'Hit 'n' Miss Grooming Not Enough

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We'd do well to give extra thought to the basis of all good looks — good grooming.

★ ★ ★

Most of us know at least one gal who fairly sparkles with that little extra something that sets her apart from the crowd. And we wonder what it is that makes heads swivel when she passes by.

CULTIVATES DAINTINESS

Nine times out of ten, her secret is simply making the most of what she has by cultivating over-all daintiness.

It sounds almost too easy, doesn't it? Yet it's within the grasp of anyone who's willing to adhere to a regular beauty routine. Hit-or-miss grooming won't do the trick.

★ ★ ★

Daily bathing, frequent face washing, faithful use of hand lotion and scrupulous attention to your manicure are musts. Each night take the time to lubricate your face with cream or lotion after you've washed with suds.

Don't wait until your hair is dirty to wash it. Shampoo as soon as it starts to look dull.

Make sure your clothing is neatly pressed and free of lint, and that your accessories gleam with loving care.

BONNIE L. BROOKBANK

June vows are planned by Bonnie L. Brookbank, daughter of the Glen E. Brookbanks, Rochester, to David L. Mackley of Salmer Street, son of the Jacob Mackleys of Rochester. She is a graduate of Western Michigan University and her fiance of General Motors Institute.

'Bon Voyage' Premier May Mean Free Trip

Both party fare and plane fare are involved in the Ford Auditorium premiere of the film "Bon Voyage" on May 10 to benefit Camp Oakland.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ben D. Mills, chairman of the women's committee for the camp, has announced that two round-trip plane tickets to Mexico City will be given to a ticket holder at the premiere. Recipients of the tickets may fly from Windsor to Mexico City and back via Canadian Pacific Airlines jet.

JANE WYMAN TO ATTEND

Academy award winner Jane Wyman, costar with Fred MacMurray in the film "Bon Voyage" is flying from Hollywood to attend the premiere. That evening, she will be guest of honor at a supper party given by Mr. and Mrs. Mills.

Deeply concerned in children's projects such as Camp Oakland, Miss Wyman will pay another visit to Oakland County during her Detroit stay for the film's initial showing.

★ ★ ★

On Wednesday afternoon she will tour the facilities of Camp Oakland in Oxford and will be a dinner guest of Director William J. Matus and the 36 young residents of Girls' Ranch and Boys' Ranch.

Have You Tried This?

Whipped Lemon Dessert Inexpensive and Good

A second recipe for the Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom buffet this week comes from Pontiac resident, Mrs. George Carhart. She gives us a recipe for Lemon Bisque.

Mrs. Carhart tutors several blind children in her home. She enjoys handicrafts, cooking and collecting foreign dolls.

LEMON BISQUE
By Mrs. George Carhart

1 package lemon gelatine
1 cup sugar
1½ cups hot water
Grated rind one lemon
1 tall can evaporated milk chilled
Graham cracker crumbs

Mix first 4 ingredients and cool until syrupy. Whip chilled milk in chilled bowl with chilled beaters (put them all in the refrigerator for a time before beating). Gradually add to gelatine mix and continue beating.

Place layer of cracker crumbs in bottom of 9x13 pan. Pour into gelatine mixture. Top with more crumbs. Chill. Makes about 16 servings.

Easier 'n' Better

When curtains are laundered often—before they are definitely discolored by soil — the washing will be easier and more effective.

Officers Installed by Group

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1008, installed officers for the coming year this week in the American Legion Post on Auburn Avenue.

Mrs. Rose Mary King of the VFW Auxiliary 4102, Drayton Plains, was installing officer and Mrs. Otto Zander, installing conductress.

Committee chairmen appointed include Mrs. Zander, membership; Mrs. James Dando, youth activities; Mrs. Walter Souter, cancer; Mrs. Charles Whitlock, Americanism; Mrs. Frank Finkle, national home; Mrs. Ed Schram, rehabilitation; Mrs. Ayres Miller, legislative; and Mrs. Ellis Witt, publicity.

★ ★ ★

Guests were Mrs. Floyd Caverly and Mrs. Walter Cranick of Auxiliary 4139, Lapeer, also Mrs. Frank Jones and Mrs. Michael Blanzy of Pontiac.

Ayres Miller is commander of Post 1008, cosponsors with the auxiliary, of the poppy sale May 24-26. Mrs. Miller and Zacharias Naastrom are poppy chairmen.

Female Bossism Reaches a Peak in India's Hills

NEW DELHI (UPI) — If a woman wants to wear the trousers in her family, she should move to the isolated hills of eastern India.

There, among many of the Khasi tribes in the small mountain villages near Pakistan in Assam state, the woman is the boss and man is strictly a second-rater.

★ ★ ★

The women do most of the work and own the property. When a man marries, he goes to live in his wife's house. He spends most of his day lolling in the sun, smoking his pipe, and watching the baby.

If a woman tires of her husband, she dismisses him and picks another.

And when a mother dies, her property is passed on to her youngest daughter. The only way for the older daughters to get their share is by consent of their younger sister. Sons get nothing and neither do fathers.

★ ★ ★

There are a number of clans within a Khasi tribe and naturally the chief usually is a woman. She is charged with protection of the clan's members, in addition to being arbitrator of marital disputes and chief tax collector.

Will Mark 25 Years

Former Drayton Plains residents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reppuhn of Church Street, Clarkston, will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday. Their son, Roger, will be on hand to welcome guests from all over the state during the 2 to 5 p.m. event.

★ ★ ★

The couple's other children are Mrs. Henry Barber, now living in the Philippines, and Larry of East Hampton, Conn.

Please Call Reasonable Request

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: About six months ago, my husband and I and our young son moved to the suburbs. My in-laws think nothing of driving out here unannounced to pay us a visit. While I love to see them, very often I am not prepared for visitors and it embarrasses me to have them walk in when the house is not presentable.

★ ★ ★

The last time they arrived unexpectedly I told my mother-in-law in a friendly way that I wished she would call before coming out so that I would be prepared and really enjoy a visit with her.

My husband tells me that I have hurt her feelings by saying this and that she no longer feels free to come to our house. Was it unreasonable to ask that they call before coming out?

★ ★ ★

A: It is not at all unreasonable for you to expect your in-laws to call before coming out to see you, and unless your tone was other than friendly she had no cause to feel hurt at what you said to her.

★ ★ ★

Q: I very seldom eat dessert and when I have dinner in a restaurant I always ask the waiter to bring my coffee with my meal. I have been told that this is not proper, except when eating a sandwich. Will you please tell me if this is true?

A: If you like your coffee with dinner, it is quite correct to ask the waiter to bring it with your meal.

★ ★ ★

Q: Is it not rude to answer a telephone by saying "Yes? It is one of my pet peeves to call someone and have a "Yes? bellowed at me from the other end of the line. I much prefer to hear "Hello or at least "Good morning, May I please have your opinion on this?

★ ★ ★

A: Although "Yes? is not actually rude, "Hello is preferred and correct when answering a telephone at home. A business telephone is answered with the firms name.

★ ★ ★

Q: When and where do women remove their gloves? The following experiences leave me confused. I have noticed that some women leave their gloves on at a luncheon until they sit down to eat. They remove coats, furs, etc., and leave hats and gloves on. Some will carry their gloves and still others will leave one on and carry the other. Will you please set me straight on this matter of gloves?

A: Properly, women wear their gloves to the table, remove both of them there, place them on their laps and lay their napkins over them.

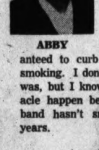
Where There's a Will, There's a Way

Hail, Hail! For Smokers Only

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My man smoked three packs of cigarettes a day and chewed up a whole box of snuff, too. He said that his mouth felt like the bottom of a bird cage.



ABBY

He got a prescription from his doctor for something that was guaranteed to curb his desire for smoking. I don't know what it was, but I know I saw a miracle happen because my husband hasn't smoked in four years.

OLLIE'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: One day, 12 years ago, I decided that smoking was a filthy, stupid and expensive habit, so I made up my mind to quit. This is what I did. The moment I walked into a room, I announced, "I've quit smoking." After that I couldn't very well bum a cigarette off anyone, and I didn't carry them myself. I knew that I didn't dare beg a smoke or I'd make myself look like a real jerk. It was a matter of pride.

NO JERK

DEAR ABBY: After having the cigarette habit for 40 years, I took my cigarettes out of my pocket and said, "You have been bossing me around for 40 years, now I am going to boss you around." I put away the pack and never smoked again. That was 15 years ago. I'm now 92 and feel fine.

W. H. E. (Ontario)

DEAR ABBY: When I had to have a cigarette before I could open my eyes fully in the morning, I knew I had better quit. I tried to taper off, but that never works. I finally walked into a church one morning (it wasn't even of my own denomination) got down on my knees and prayed to God to deliver me of the habit. And do you know I haven't smoked or even had the desire to, since? When everything else fails, try prayer.

AN ORDINARY GUY

DEAR ABBY: My husband smoked like a chimney. He had a lung X-ray taken at the suggestion of his physician. A dark shadow was discovered on his lung.

Fortunately it was not cancer, but my husband snipped off that part of the X-ray and taped it to a package of cigarettes. He carries it with him constantly and now every time he is tempted to smoke, he looks at that X-ray and takes a peppermint drop instead.

DEAR ABBY: Here is a proven method for overcoming the cigarette habit. If a person smokes 40 cigarettes a day, he should cut down to 39 the first day, 38 the second, 37 the third and so forth. It takes a lot of willpower, but if I could do it (I was a 4-pack-a-day smoker for 32 years) anybody can.

WILLPOWER WILL

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A psychologist once told me that in order to break a habit, substitute another one. So instead of reaching for a cigarette, reach for a piece of gum, a carrot stick or a piece of licorice. It really works. When you finally get your sense of taste and smell back again, you will never go back to smoking. It happened to me after 30 years.

SUBSTITUTOR

DEAR ABBY: I sat down one day, at the age of 48, and started to add up the amount of money I had spent for cigars since I started to smoke them at the age of 24. When I realized that $3,000 had gone up in smoke, I lost my appetite for smoking.

SMART TOO LATE

DEAR ABBY: I was a chain smoker for over 40 years. I started to get pains in my chest and I had a dry cough that came and went, but I didn't worry about it too much.

I went to the doctor and he examined me thoroughly. He shook his head and said, "Either give up smoking—or else I will not be responsible for your condition." I took the cigarettes out of my shirt pocket, tossed them in his waste basket and made up my mind that I had had my last one. And I have.

I am 77 years old and no amount of money could make me smoke another cigarette. The answer: Willpower.

NO GIMMICKS

Oakland Hills Country Club was transformed into "A Bit of Hawaii" when women members and their guests gathered Wednesday for a gala bridge-luncheon.

Mrs. Louis M. Rich, Bloomfield Hills, entertained Mrs. Claud F. Wilson, Kennebec Court Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Cyril H. Arnold, Birmingham and Mrs. Ralph L. Tweedale, Southfield.

Included in a party of eight, guests of Mrs. Orra B. Crego, Birmingham, were Mrs. Charles DeVleig, Porter Lane Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. King Gates, Farmington and Mrs. Bell Connolly, Detroit.

Art Show to Feature State Work

Trends in Michigan painting and sculpture will be explored in the Bloomfield Art Association's show "Prominent Painters and Sculptors in Michigan" opening Sunday.

The invitational show will display the paintings, sculpture and prints of some 47 of the state's significant working artists. It will stress recent artistic development in southeastern Michigan.

A reception for the featured artists will be from 2 to 6 p.m. on opening day at the Art Association's headquarters, the Birmingham Arts Center on South Cranbrook Road.

Hours for the exhibit which continues through May 26 are from 2 to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday.

According to Mrs. Eliot F. Robinson of Birmingham, who, with her husband, is cochairman, some of the pieces will be on loan from other galleries and private collections.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on the show's emphasis on the state's southeastern section, BAA Director Albert H. deSalle said "We are one of the organizations working for the artistic development of southeastern Michigan. We feel that this is the area we can best represent in line with our position in the art world.

Boys of Girls, Vice Versa

What Do Teens Talk About? Others Teens

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

You teen-agers have been tabbed as all-time, nonstop, marathon talkers.

Surely you've heard adults claim that teen-agers seem to be jabbering like a cage full of monkeys, and commenting, "Wonder what there's so much to talk about?"

We wondered about the same thing. What do you talk about? What subjects seem to occupy your attention and thought?

In our latest national survey we found — to no one's great surprise — that when girls get together topic "" is BOYS. Nearly 71 per cent of you said that that's bound to be the subject at hand.

And what do boys have on their minds when they get together? GIRLS! That was the answer given us by 69 per cent of the boys.

Another overriding subject is school. It's bound to be the subject of any general talk when you get together.

We asked more than 1,000 of you to list three topics most discussed when among friends of the same sex.

We were a bit set back by Joseph Hollinger, 17, of Playa Del Rey, Calif., who said:

"I don't feel this is a fair question. I think you're trying to develop the fact that teen-agers aren't aware of the world situation. This is untrue."

NOT "PROVING" ANYTHING

The fact is, Joe, that we don't set out to prove anything.

Our goal is to find out objectively what America's teen-agers think about the myriad things that occur in the world today, whether it is acceptance of a fad, planning for marriage, going into the armed services, or picking movie and TV favorites.

Our survey shows that world affairs, or current events, are NOT likely to be among the three topics discussed by teen-agers.

This does not mean that teeners are not informed, or don't care, but that in ordinary circumstances the subject doesn't seem to come up very often. World affairs ranked 14th in the list of topics mentioned.

★ ★ ★

"Education because there's usually a test most of the time and we try and discuss what it will be on. Girls because they're very fascinating creatures to us (at this age). Sports because I play football, basketball and run track and so do most of my friends."

Cars, girls, communism and school were listed by Bill Alvord, 17, of Tacoma, Wash. He explained: "Most of my friends have cars and girls so we naturally talk about them. Communism is a big affair."

Renee Reade, 17, of Sioux Falls, S.D., said the three topics were clothes, boys and dating, and commented, "I find, to my dismay, that these are about the only three things girls my age are interested in."

WORLD PROBLEMS

Susie Bowrds, 16, of Canoga Park, Calif., noted that world problems, education, friends and boys were the typical topics among her girl friends. "The possibility of nuclear war; where we want to go to college; just gossiping, sometimes about school activities," Susie said.

We then asked what you talk about when you're with someone of the opposite sex.

More than half listed school as a common subject. Then came friends and people, sports, cars, personel interests, sex, records and music, the future, and so on down the line.

Toby Prager, 15, of New York City, says the three likely topics when she is with a boy are world history, love and college. She explained:

"History because it's my favorite subject. Love because it's usually their problem. College because that's in my future."

★ ★ ★

"If it's a first date," said Bruce Deaton, 17, of Canoga Park, Calif., he'll talk about sex, school, sports or movies. Bruce added, "But if you're seeing the girl you should have things straight about sex."

In mixed groups, the most mentioned topics were school, social activities, sports, records and music, other friends, movies and TV, current events.

Lee Lagerquist, 15, of Gig Harbor, Wash., said the topics are apt to be teachers, parties, records, and explained: "Girls are more interested in parties, records, etc., so I don't bore them by talking about guns, etc."

A 16-year-old Los Angeles girl told us "I am in mixed groups mostly at parties where everyone is less inhibited and politics or school talk is just a precursor to telling off-color jokes."

John Shepard, 17, of Sioux Falls, S.D., said in his group the top topics are local problems, school and people. John explained that "most of us take an interest in our town government and other activities. We discuss our school and its clubs, ball games, etc. We discuss the traits of people we have met in our groups."

If All Else Fails Heed the Vikings

The Viking Medieval Reader—a book published some 600 years ago—has a chapter on the "Care of a Husband." In this, a wife is urged to keep her husband in clean linen—and to have his feet washed.

If a clean shirt and a good bath have lured men home for 600 years, the formula won't fail in 1962.

And a Magnifying Mirror

Need Light for Making-Up

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This pretty girl is on the trail of beauty defects with this magnifying glass. It's also a great aid to her when she shapes her brows and applies make-up.

It is not only important to know how to apply make-up, but to have the proper tools and lighting.

Practically all women have emory boards, nail scissors, tweezers, a razor, cuticle snippers, nail brushes and all of the most usual equipment for good grooming. However, there is an item which too often is missing; namely, a really good, large, magnifying glass!

I must warn you that this is not for you if you are neurotic, because it is most discouraging even to the greatest beauty.

Every pore stands out and a superfluous hair may look like a telephone pole, but you can do a wonderful job of shaping your brows and applying eye make-up.

This mirror is also a fine thing to have, if it doesn't "throw" you, because it does show up every defect. You see the shadow of things to come sooner than you otherwise would.

The light in which you apply your make-up is also an important factor in how you look. Women sometimes fail to realize that the make-up which looks beautiful at night may appear garish in the daytime.

Daytime make-up should be much lighter. Therefore, it is not reasonable to put on your make-up for daytime in artificial light and expect the best.

Fluorescent lights are awful for making up, and soft lights at your dressing table may deceive you concerning the way you really look. Have good, unshaded electric lighting for nighttime making up, and good daylight for applying your cosmetics for daytime wear.

You can ride all over town and still not find the bargains we have at...

LUNCHEON FARE — Something new in the luncheon line are tomatoes stuffed with meat, chicken or seafood and shredded wheat crumbs. Topped with cheese, these tomatoes are baked before serving. Good use for leftovers.

Shredded Wheat Crumbs Help Fill Tomatoes

With Spring in the air, and summer not far behind it, you gals will really appreciate this luncheon idea . . . "Herb Stuffed Tomatoes." Shredded wheat is the basis for this moist and savory stuffing, which is economical as well as nourishing.

Whoever thought that this favorite breakfast cereal could play such an imaginative and tasty role in your other daily meal plans?

So, the next time the gals gather around for a quiet luncheon before the hectic summer holidays begin, be sure to try Herb Stuffed Tomatoes with shredded wheat. To complete the menu, serve a crisp tossed salad, bread sticks and a Lemon Meringue Pie for dessert.

Herb Stuffed Tomatoes

6 medium firm tomatoes, washed
3 biscuits (1½ cups) shredded wheat, finely crumbled
2 tablespoons minced parsley
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons granulated sugar
4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon tarragon
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup chopped cooked ham, chicken, shrimp or crab meat
½ cup sliced mushrooms (optional)

Meanwhile, prepare the stuffing. Combine crumbled shredded wheat with the reserved tomato pulp and the remaining ingredients, until well blended. Fill tomatoes with the stuffing mixture. Top with more Parmesan cheese. Arrange in baking pan and add ¼ cup water, or just enough to cover the bottom of the pan.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for 30 minutes or until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

Fig Meringue Torte Is Easy to Make, Store

A torte is a meringue-like dessert. This recipe produces a delicacy that can be stored in the freezer compartment of a refrigerator.

Beat 4 egg whites until foamy. Add ½ cup sugar gradually. Continue beating until the egg whites are stiff. Fold in 1 cup chopped walnuts, ½ cup corn flake crumbs, a cup of finely cut figs and a teaspoon of vanilla.

Spread in six 6x8-inch, greased baking pan and bake 25 minutes in an oven preheated to 350 degrees. Cool, cut in squares and serve with whipped cream. Serves 6 to 8.

Raisin Toast Is New

For a delightful taste surprise, serve creamed ham or chicken over crisp slices of raisin toast. Tangy cheese sauce, too, complements raisin toast wonderfully.

Sauteed Food Jumps Around in Frying Pan

The term "saute," often found in recipes, is derived from the French verb "sauter" which literally means to leap or jump. This pretty well describes what happens when a food is sauteed — fried quickly in a small amount of fat.

That's one reason why a thick aluminum frying pan is best for sauteeing. Because aluminum transmits heat quickly and evenly.

Filled Peaches for a Garnish

Chopped eggs give a fresh-as-a-daisy look to "Daisy Peach Halves" — heated canned cling peaches filled with a mixture of eggs, celery, curry powder and seasonings. Serve them hot as perfect partners for beef patties, chicken, sausages, meat loaf and fish. Canned clings lose none of their sunny color and luscious flavor when heated; in fact it helps emphasize their natural fragrance.

Daisy Peach Halves

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves
½ cup finely-diced celery
¼ teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon flour
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
2 tablespoons peach syrup
½ teaspoon salt
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Drain peach halves, reserving syrup. Place peach halves cup-side up in shallow saucepan or skillet. Pour about ¼ inch of syrup into bottom of pan. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes to heat through.

Meanwhile, slowly cook celery and curry powder in butter 2 to 3 minutes; stir in flour, onion, 2 tablespoons syrup and salt. Gently mix in eggs and heat through. Spoon mixture into hot peach halves. Makes 6 or 7 servings. (1 cup filling).

Molded Tuna Salad Just Full of Things

Garden salad loaf makes a tasty lunch entree. Add 3 cups of boiling water to 4 (6 ounce) package of lemon-flavored gelatin. Stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add ½ teaspoon of salt and 2 tablespoons of vinegar. Chill until it is the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Mix gently into thickened gelatin: 2 (6½ or 7 ounce) cans of tuna, drained and broken into chunks, 20 small radishes, thinly sliced, 1 cup of crushed canned pineapple with its syrup, ¼ cup of walnuts, 2 small tomatoes, cut into thin wedges, 6 pimiento-stuffed olives, sliced, 2 large carrot, cooked and diced, 4 chopped scallions and 1 chopped green pepper.

Turn into well-oiled 9 by 5 by 3-inch loaf pan. Chill until set. Unmold. Makes 8 servings of 232 calories each.

Mushrooms Hold Filling of Blue Cheese

The pungent flavor of American blue cheese and tang of sherry point up fresh mushroom caps marvelously in this elegant vegetable dish. Serve the cheese-stuffed mushrooms for a special dinner occasion with broiled steak or roast beef.

Blue Cheese Baked Mushrooms

2 pounds large, fresh mushrooms
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Dash minced chives
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
¼ cup sherry
⅓ cup heavy cream

Wash mushrooms and remove stems. Place a small piece of blue cheese in each cavity. Cook bread crumbs and chives in butter just long enough to coat crumbs nicely. Toss crumbs with remaining crumbled blue cheese.

Place a layer of crumbs in a buttered casserole. Lay mushrooms, cavity side up, on crumbs. Drizzle wine on top. Sprinkle with remaining cheesed crumbs. Pour cream carefully on mixture.

Choose Chicken or Pork for Early Barbecues

If the weather is warm, this may be the week to barbecue chicken outdoors. If the weather does not cooperate, try an oven barbecue. Heavier supplies of broilers are available and prices are lower to attract your attention reports the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Retailers report rather unsettled price conditions for other meats, but there are good values from a price standpoint when you choose among the meat specials.

There is a scarcity of top grade beef. Since it is not so important for ground meat, chuck roast, or corned beef to be of top grade, specials on these seem particularly welcome.

There are larger shipments of pork and light customer demand. As a result several cuts including the shoulder roast, spareribs and bacon are given special emphasis this week. The Boston butt is the leanest of al pork cuts and makes a fine rotisserie roast if boned, rolled, and tied.

Although wholesale lamb prices are up, retail prices remain at about the same levels they have been. One may find rib and shoulder lamb chops at less than usual prices in some stores. Retailers say that veal prices are unchanged, and that more quality veal is beginning to arrive at this season.

Fish catches are improving with warmer weather. Especially economical buys are perch at 39 to 49 cents per pound and smelt at about 19 to 23 cents per pound.

HIGHER PRICED

Total supplies of fresh vegetables are below those of a year ago this spring. For example, it is forecast that the production of tomatoes for the early spring states is about one-third less than last year and average. Cucumber production is 30 per cent below 1961 and 27 per cent below average. This explains why prices of some produce items continue high.

On the other hand, some spring crops are increasing in supply and one can notice lower prices as a result. Approximately 1,100 more carlots of fresh fruits and vegetables were unloaded at the larger terminal markets this past week than during the previous week. Wholesale prices for cabbage, onions and new crop Florida potatoes were lower due to larger supplies.

Fresh fruit supplies are a little larger. There are heavier supplies of Louisiana and California strawberries. Strawberry production in the early spring states is forecast at 20 per cent more than 1961 and 9 per cent above average. The increase in production is all in Louisiana as the result of increased acreage and yields.

Puerto Rico and Mexico are shipping larger supplies of fresh pineapple. Remember that the Mexican pineapple is green in color when fully ripe. Its sugar content is high, and for that reason it does not keep long at room temperature. Use it before it becomes overripe.

Bananas represent a good fruit buy when you consider cost compared with other fruits. Avocadoes are also at a low seasonal price.

Morning Sandwich

Hard-cooked egg slices and crisp bacon between slices of buttered toast and served with jam is a Breakfast Sandwich suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for the younger folk.

Although wholesale egg prices have risen slightly, you will find retail egg prices about the same as a week ago.

Cheddar cheese and oleomargarine are listed among features in some stores this week.

Youth Group to Serve Breakfast

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Until this year, the young people of the Newman AME church followed a tradition on Palm Sunday. They served a sunrise breakfast to all who came to early service. We don't know how many years they had done this, but the church has had many traditions in its more than a century of existence.

On Sunday, April 29 ground is being broken for a new church. As you know, the old one was in the area of urban renewal and is to be torn down. Church members are attending a day of services, from 7:00 a.m. through an afternoon service. The youth group is serving their annual breakfast after the early service.

Forget your stories of juvenile delinquents for a while. Here are young people who will get up even earlier than on a school day to get the food ready for the crowd they expect. They're having a simple menu — juice, doughnuts and coffee — but they have to work and serve in a test. Even so, they are anxious to have everything proper.

About 23 of the younger generation will work next Sunday. Adults supervising them are Mrs. L. C. Smith, Mrs. William S. Davis and Mrs. Billy Battle.

Company for breakfast is fun. You don't have to have them at 7:00 o'clock; any time before noon is fine. Ask friends back from an early church service. Serve them something like Golden Nugget Muffins.

Golden Nugget Muffins

1 cup enriched corn meal
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
⅛ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup shortening, soft
1 cup finely-chopped dried apricots

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees). Sift together dry ingredients into bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening. Beat with rotary beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Stir in apricots.

Fill greased muffin cups 2-3 full. Bake in preheated oven (425 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. If desired dip tops of hot muffins in melted butter and then in granulated sugar. Makes 12 large muffins.

If you don't want to bother with making bread, buy a loaf of unsliced raisin bread, treat it as described below and prepare yourself for compliments.

Raisin-Cinnamon-Nut Brunch Cake

1 loaf unsliced raisin bread
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons dark corn syrup
¼ cup chopped pecan or walnut meats

Remove crusts from bread; cut loaf in half, horizontally. Place bread on a greased baking sheet; brush with melted butter. Blend cinnamon, salt, and brown sugar. Cut in butter until mixture is crumbly; mix in syrup and nut meats. With a spatula spread brown sugar mixture over the top of each piece of bread.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for twenty minutes, or until topping is bubbly and bread is golden brown. Cut each piece of bread into 5 or 6 slices.

Yield: 10-12 servings.

DRESS REHEARSAL—Ann Burrell (left) her sister, Dorothy, of 529 Nevada Street and Wayne Lee, 23 Warner, go over the way they will act when they work with a group of other young people at the Newman AME Church Sunday morning to serve breakfast. Juice, doughnuts and coffee will be ready after the 7:00 a.m. service celebrating ground breaking for the new church at the corner of Bagley and Brush Streets.

Sugar and Butter Will Glaze Onions

Small white cooked onions get unusually delicious treatment.

Glazed Onions

1 jar (1 pound) boiled white onions
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar

Drain onions thoroughly; gently dry on paper toweling. In an 8-or 9-inch skillet over low heat, melt butter; stir in the sugar; add onions. Cook gently, turning onions occasionally, until onions are lightly browned and glazed. Serve onions with the sweet butter-sugar sauce. Makes 3 servings.

Don't Freeze Cheese

Cheeses with aromatic or strong odors should be stored in a jar or container. These are best used soon after purchase. Normally, cheese should not be allowed to freeze as this may damage its body and texture, causing mealiness.

PARTY PRETTY — Fill a rice ring with little ham balls and whole mushroom caps. For a colorful garnish pull sprigs of watercress through carrot rings. This is a dish that will appeal as much to the eye as the tongue. It's really no more work to present food attractively.

Rice Makes Container for Meat, Mushrooms

Are you looking for an attractive, appetizing way to use baked ham leftovers? If not, perhaps there is a can of luncheon meat on your supply shelf. You could just serve these ham balls over cooked rice or noodles, but for just a little more effort, you can mold your rice in a ring mold and combine your ham balls with mushroom crowns and have an eye appealing dish.

★ ★ ★

For garnishing with watercress or parsley, why not take just a bit of time to make bouquets? To make the carrot rings, you will need fairly large carrots. Peel and slice the carrots, then cut the center out of each slice. Just push a few sprigs of short cut watercress or parsley through the hole. They will stand up pert and pretty and the color scheme looks like springtime.

Ham Balls in Rice Ring

2 cups ground cooked ham, about 12 oz.
⅓ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1 can (6 oz.) broiled mushroom crowns
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup dry white wine or water

Put enough cooked ham or luncheon meat through food chopper to make 2 cups. Add bread crumbs, egg, milk, mustard and Worcestershire sauce to ham. Mix together thoroughly and shape into 16 small balls.

Place ham balls in shallow baking pan and brush lightly with kitchen bouquet. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven until lightly browned, about 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine in small saucepan mushrooms, including broth, cornstarch, vinegar, sugar, salt and wine. Bring to boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Pour sauce and mushrooms over ham balls and continue baking for 15 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Ground Beef Is Cheese Flavored

Economical meals need not be skimpy.

For example, if sirloin steak for dinner sounds too expensive, serve blueburger steak. This interesting entree is budget priced.

BLUEBURGER STEAKS
(Four servings)

2 pounds ground beef
1 egg
¼ cup coarse dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 beef bouillon cube
Water
1 4-ounce can mushrooms, liquid drained and saved
½ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)

Mix beef, egg, crumbs, and hot pepper sauce lightly. Form into eight patties. Crumble blue cheese on four patties, pressing edges together to seal in cheese. brown on both sides in butter.

Remove meat and blend in flour. Combine mushroom liquid, bouillon cube and enough boiling water to make 2 cups. Add to pan and cook until thickened and smooth. Add mushrooms and heat 5 minutes. Return blueburgers to gravy and heat thoroughly.

County Awards Given to Art Assn., Bryant

Oakland County achievement and product of the year winners were announced today by Robert J. Huber, mayor of Troy and county chairman for the two Michigan Week contests.

Bloomfield Art Association was chosen for the county achievement award for its conversion of the former Birmingham sewage disposal treatment plant into the Birmingham Arts Center.

Bryant Computer Products of Walled Lake, a division of the Ex-Cell-O Corp. won the product of the year competition for its electronic measuring system for fast reproduction of records and data.

Tying for runner-up position in the achievement category were the Southfield Community Building and Lake Orion Youth Center.

Another Walled Lake firm, Williams Research Corp., won second place for product of the year with its Williams Science Desk. A Milford firm, A. F. Holden Co., won third place with an illuminous wall.

MORE COMPETITION

The art association and computer firm will be entered with winners, to be announced early next month.

Sixteen regional titlists will compete for state honors during Michigan Week, May 20-26.

Judges for the county product and achievement contests were George Kuhn, mayor of Berkley; Cornelius Ray, president of Ray Industries, Oxford; and Frederick Erb, president of Erb-Restrick, Birmingham.

The achievement award was a new feature for this year's Michigan Week observance. It was designed to afford recognition for group effort in a significant community development.

OTHER ENTRIES

Other entries in the county achievement contest were the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Hazel Park Youth Protection Committee, the Pontiac Mission Aides, Inc., and the Mulberry Hills Country Club.

Other firms entered in the product category were Sundberg-Ferar, Southfield; Sea-Ray Co. Boat Division, Oxford; AMT Corp., Troy; Vickers, Inc., Troy; Roter-Matic Corp., Madison Heights; and Fertilizer Lawn Spray, Royal Oak.

Huber said 4,100 letters were mailed to organizations, clubs, service groups and businesses in the county requesting suggestions for entries.

Bloomfield Art Association rented the old sewage plant from the City of Birmingham at a yearly fee of $1 and is remodeling it into an arts center. Several exhibits have already been held in the center.

Each summer, the association sponsors the Birmingham Arts Festival.

Return Ends Frantic Search

Seven From Shelby Safe After Night Adrift on Lake

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Seven local residents were cold, hungry and hoarse — but safe — this morning after a night adrift in an outboard motorboat on Lake St. Clair.

The seven, in a boat owned by former township clerk William R. Peper, turned up at Thomas Boat Livery northeast of Selfridge Air Force Base about 8:30 a.m. this morning after a night on the lake.

The seven were identified as Peper and his wife, Jean, of 51044 Baltree; Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Fritchie of 49565 E. Valley Circle; Fred E. Darter of 8680 E. Valley Circle; Edna Bastien and Charles Seymour, both of 49567 Iris St.

RAN OUT OF GAS

State police said Peper told them he ran out of gasoline about 11:30 last night in the vicinity of Harsen's Island at the mouth of the St. Mary's River.

Flares sent up to attract attention and shouting failed to bring anyone to their rescue.

A party identified only as Sears by state police found the seven adrift in Goose Bay about 7 a. m. today and towed them to land where they obtained gas.

The boat had left the boat livery about 8 p. m. yesterday for a restaurant on Harsen's Island, according to state police.

Utica City Council Completes Budget

UTICA — The City Council last night completed details of the proposed 1962-64 general fund budget of $125,434 that will come up for final approval May 8.

The proposed budget is about the same as the current budget, according to City Clerk Mrs. Pauline Kraft.

It will be available for public examination at the city hall prior to the council's May 8 meeting.

Also prepared at last night's special meeting was a library budget of $7,617.

KICKOFF HOSPITAL DRIVE — Frank R. Chapman (center), chairman of the Memorial Gifts division of the Rochester unit of the Crittenton General Hospital building fund campaign, accepts a donation pledge from J. W. Robertson, business administrator for the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, at last night's kickoff dinner for the three-week drive while William T. Arlund, chairman of the Troy area drive, fills out his pledge card. About 35 community leaders from the area attended the kickoff dinner in the Student Center at Michigan State University Oakland.

Mrs. Oaks was in critical condition today with head injuries. Both drivers were treated for minor injuries and released.

Flint Tavern Owner Reports $21,354 Theft

Lang told police the money was taken from Beecher Gardens Tavern sometime between 7 p.m. yesterday and 4 a.m. today. He said entry was gained through a second-floor window.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Holly Voters Give OK to 7-Mill School Tax

HOLLY — A seven-mill operational tax was approved yesterday by voters in the Holly School District, just two months after they had rejected a similar proposal.

* * *

The new tax, which is one less mill than had been requested in February, was accepted by a vote of 525 to 360. It was one of the lowest votes recorded in the district in recent years.

Six of the seven mills are an extension of taxes that will expire with the school year in June.

The additional mill, which will provide about $19,000 annually, will be used to hire three new teachers, thus upgrading the instructional program, according to Supt. Raymond Barber.

Barber explained that the one additional mill will provide as much additional service as the two mills requested earlier because at that time one of the mills was to have been used to operate a proposed elementary school.

The building program, which needed a $950,000 bond issue, however, was defeated along with the millage request and there was no need for the extra one mill, the superintendent said.

The total school tax in the district will now be 22.75 mills for each $1,000 of assessed valuation, one mill more than was levied last year.

According to Barber, the new tax is still one of the lowest in Oakland County school districts.

* * *

Had the seven-mill proposal been defeated the school board had warned it would have been necessary to reduce the present teaching staff by 16.

The board is considering another election on the bond issue in the fall but no date has been scheduled.

* * *

If the bond proposal had passed in February, the money would have been used to finance the construction of a 13-room elementary school, north of Holly, and a seven-room addition to the Holly High School.

Adults to Exhibit Crafts

WALLED LAKE — An adult education open house will be held at the Walled Lake Senior High School Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Nine arts and crafts classes plus six homemaking classes will exhibit their work.

Set Saturday Meeting for Pontiac Township

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The township annual meeting will reconvene here at 1 p.m. Saturday to approve a budget, hear a treasurer's report and take up other matters pertaining to finances.

* * *

The regular annual meeting March 31 was adjourned until Saturday because the treasurer's report had not been completed. The adjournment affected only matters depending on the state of township finances.

* * *

Also on the agenda are the township's millage request to the County Tax Allocation Board and renewal of a two-mill levy for fire department operation.

Area Resident Heads Manito Scout Council

Other officers elected were Wilford Stevens of 402 Wesley St., Rochester, vice chairman; Royce Hyatt, 6512 Church St., Clarkston, district commissioner; and Rev. William Richards, pastor of the Clarkston First Methodist Church, chaplain.

Believe It or Not, a Nickel Still Buys Romance

In this mecca of the high-priced, you can buy an escape from the thundering throng, fresh air, sea views of the Statue of Liberty and the most impressive skyline in the world — all at one time.

You drop the nickel into a slot as you pass through a turnstile to board a Staten Island ferry boat, an odd-shaped barn-red craft that looks like a barge with three dance pavilions stacked on top.

Nine — sometimes 10 — of these vessels daily ply between Manhattan's lower tip and St. George on Staten Island, five miles to the southeast.

It's easily the busiest water-borne passenger service in the world. In 1961, 25,694,244 persons and 1,712,240 vehicles were transported on almost 33,000 round trips. For 40,000 residents of Staten Island, it's the only direct link to jobs.

IT'S A HAVEN

But the Staten Island ferry is more than a passenger line. It's one of the metropolis' major tourist attractions, a get-away-from-it-all haven for the city's tired — a stage, the ferry crewmen say, where a hundred dramas are played daily.

When a ferry churns out of a U-shaped slip at Manhattan's Whitehall Terminal (it'll always be South Ferry to the natives), it's pointed directly at Governor's Island, so named because the king's representative in the colonial days resided there.

Before the bow is a panorama including on the right the lady of Liberty Island; on the left, the low skyline of Brooklyn and the Narrows that lead to the sea; and straight ahead, the building studded hills of the craft's destination.

On the right, too, is the industrialized New Jersey shore — and in a bay off Bayonne, lie the gray warships of a era just passed, sleeping in "moth balls."

Close to 3,000 persons cram aboard each ferry during the morning and evening rush hours, and the crafts depart each terminal every 10 minutes.

Comes the spring with the tourists and the daytime loads increase until they reach a peak in the late summer. Last August, for instance, 2.5-million persons took the ride.

THE ROMANTIC

The spring also brings out a universal character — the romantic. Through the long spring and summer nights, the ferry decks are dotted with strolling couples.

Often, they come directly from college or high school proms, still wearing white jackets or billowing dresses. To them, the harbor is a world apart from that seen by the daytime rider.

Years ago, musicians roamed the decks, and more recently, bongo drummers from Greenwich Village. Both went the way of time, with law-minded city officials supplying the impetus.

Babies have entered the world on the ferries, and once a forgetful collegian left a skeleton on one. It was returned by the lost and found department, which also has returned dental plates, cats and dogs, a horse and even autos.

★ ★ ★

The ferry has a sad side, too. It's a place for suicide attempts and a dozen are successful each year. Many are caught before they clear the railing, still others are pulled alive from the waters.

★ ★ ★

In 1928, a rush-hour crowd crushed forward as a ferry entered a St. George slip. The bow sagged and a wave swept over the deck, carrying off five passengers, three of whom drowned. Today the bow is roped off to passengers during the rush hour.

The question often is asked how the Department of Marine and Aviation can afford to run the ferries at 5 cents a passenger. It can't. The deficit last year was $9.12 million. The actual value of the ride is about 40 cents.

But while commuters in other city boroughs have subways linking them with Manhattan, Staten Island residents have only the ferry.

In the not-too-distant future, a bridge will tie Staten Island with Brooklyn. But observers say that will only bring additional development to Staten Island, and cause an additional load on the ferry.

It's a losing cause, says a city spokesman, but any city administration would be committing political suicide to attempt to raise the fare.

AP Photofax

BARGAIN RIDE — The Staten Island ferry, plowing into New York's upper harbor from its Battery terminal at Manhattan's lower tip (background), is still the best transportation bargain in the City of New York. The ferry, which plies between Manhattan and Staten Island, still costs just five cents. It chugs across the world's busiest harbor, past the Statue of Liberty, and not only serves thousands of commuters but also is one of the city's top tourist attractions.

Swainson, Romney to Address Meeting

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Likely opponents for the office of Michigan governor are scheduled featured speakers at a weekend meeting of the Michigan Credit Union League at Grand Rapids.

Republican aspirant George Romney addresses the organization's luncheon tomorrow, Gov. John B. Swainson, who has yet to make formal his plans, speaks at the opening business session Saturday.

To Act on Move Ousting Judge

House Unit Reports Out Measure Without Recommendation

LANSING (AP)—The House was scheduled to act today on a resolution calling for the ouster of Tuscola County Probate Judge Henderson Graham.

The House Rules and Resolutions Committee reported out the resolution, sought by the State Supreme Court, without recommendation yesterday.

Chairman Walter G. Nakkula, G-Gladwin, denied rumors the committee was sitting on the resolution. Rep. Ernest Murphy, D-Detroit, charged that "someone is deliberately sitting on this resolution."

Meredith H. Doyle, State Supreme Court administrator, was scheduled to testify before the committee at the windup of its three-day hearing yesterday, but declined to appear.

The resolution, a directive to Gov. Swainson, would have to be approved by two-thirds of both chambers. Swainson would be forced to follow the directive.

The State Supreme Court, after a hearing last January, agreed unanimously Graham should be removed for attempting to get a $20,000 loan from the administrator of an estate under his jurisdiction.

The estate is the property of Mrs. Edwina Gering Green, whose parents were killed in an automobile accident in Tuscola County in 1958, before she turned 21.

Seat Belt Law in Wisconsin Stirs Interest

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's new auto seat belt law is stirring outside interest in quantities usually reserved for matters having to do with beer, cheese or baseball.

Wisconsin is the first state to put into effect a law requiring seat belts in new automobiles, but a dozen or more have some sort of similar legislation pending.

New York State, which has passed a seat belt law but set back the effective date of 1965 to allow for an educational campaign, is one of a half dozen parties asking for information.

Americans Friendly During Past Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — People in the United States were friendlier than ever in 1961. They sent a record 6 billion greeting cards during the year — about half of them for Christmas.

This does not include the tremendous number of various other types of personalized greetings, including such things as home-made cards, floral wreaths, "living letters."

An estimated 3 million of the "living letters," tape - recorded greetings, were exchanged during the year. Most of these went our at Christmas, Valentine's Day and Mother's Day.

Hang Korean Smuggler

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The South Korean military government today hanged Han Pil-kook for large-scale smuggling. He was the eighth man executed since the military junta established the special revolutionary court last July.

Correspondent Wins Newspaper Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jules Dubois, Chicago Tribune Latin American correspondent, has been named winner of the Inter American Press Association (IAPA) Tom Wallace award.

Dubois was cited yesterday for his "unceasing and untiring fight for freedom of the press" and his "revealing and objective reporting of the Latin American scene." Dubois and six other IAPA award winners each will receive $500 and a scroll.

The Wallace award is presented "in recognition of work done by a United States or Canadian newspaperman in behalf of inter-American friendship and understanding."

Visit to Neighbor Has Tragic Ending

HARRODSBURG, KY. (AP) — Farmer Ed Higginbotham ended his visit to a neighbor's farm by climbing into his truck, waving so long and driving away.

Behind him lay his host, Allen Woodard, 51, injured when the truck struck him. Woodard's brother, J. C., said the injured man, who later was hospitalized, had been sitting in front of the truck while the men talked and apparently Higginbotham didn't see him there when he left.

Nobody got a chance to tell Higginbotham, 50, of the mishap. He was killed about 20 minutes later when his truck ran off U.S. 68 and overturned Wednesday.

Single Misconception Leads to Double Trouble

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — An 83-year-old motorist was traveling in the left lane of a one-way street when he decided to turn right. A 71-year-old driver was in the right lane and turned left.

★ ★ ★

Patrolman Robert Scott, who investigated the head-on crash, said both men were convinced a driver could turn any way he desired on a one-way throughfare.

Asks Assembly OK on De Gaulle's Plans

PARIS (UPI)—Premier Georges Pompidou went before the National Assembly today to seek its formal approval of his government's program, including plans to crush the Secret Army Organization (OAS) in Algeria.

In a 35-minute speech, Pompidou served notice on President Charles de Gaulle's foes in Algeria that the army campaign against them would be "pursued without letup."

"What has happened (the conclusion of a cease fire with the Arabs) is inevitable and irreversible," the premier said.

★ ★ ★

Most of Pompidou's speech was devoted to economic matters. He drew moderate applause from De Gaulle's supporters in the assembly, but almost none from the left wing.

Named to Commission

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Swainson has appointed Erwin Klenk of Sparta and Henry J. Dongvillo of Fountain to the Michigan State Apple Commission. The appointments, requiring Senate confirmation, expire April 1, 1965.

'Unseasoned' Newsman Heads Back Home

The day of his anticipated arrival came. Instead of a new staffer came this telegram: "Got 34 miles west of Casper (about 66 miles from Riverton) and ran into a snow storm. Sorry can not take job. Am returning home."

Science at the Fair

Exhibit Offers Feast

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

SEATTLE, Wash. — Just about everyone here has agreed that what makes the Century 21 Exposition a world's fair is the U.S. science exhibit.

THOMAS

It should be great—at an outlay of $10 million. But it wasn't only money that went into the six acres of buildings and lagoons. It also displays a great deal of talent, imagination and learning.

The design of the science pavilion was by Detroit architect Yamasaki. His soaring Gothic arches, lacy grills, pools and fountains add up to a striking visual image — certainly one of the most beautiful public buildings anywhere.

First you enter a large hall with a few hundred other fair-watchers and sit down on the thick carpet. On the side wall is projected a film depicting the history of science and its present status. Actually there are six films showing simultaneously, dazzling the mind with science's many faces.

WIND AND SUN

Next you pass through a hall with graphic illustrations of what aroused man's curiosity: wind, sun, waves, lightning, etc. Another passageway illustrates how man's senses can be wrong. There are a series of optical illusions, including a whole Western town on a slant. Folks come reeling out of that one. Then they stand in a railway car that appears to be moving because of optical and audible illusions.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES

You come next to a large exhibit depicting the development of science — the major discoveries and what they mean. You pass through a depiction of the Brazilian rain forest where Charles Darwin conceived his "Origin of the Species."

You go next to the Spacearium where you are hurtled through space by means of the world's largest projection screen, an eight-ton aluminum dome suspended in a theater. Asteroids, planets, suns and galaxies whiz over your head.

Now you climb down some stairs to the junior lab. This is a Disneyland for brainy youngsters, who can measure impulses from electric fish, run an atomic pinball machine and try to hit the moon with a rocket.

The methods of science occupy the next great hall. Here you can find the answers to such questions as: What makes fireflies light up? What does the microscope reveal about cultured gangla?

For the less scientific there are educated pigeons that peck three lights in regular pattern to get a new grain of feed, and monkeys that cuddle up to artificial mothers.

The Department of Commerce, which sponsors the scientific splash, obviously aimed high. The layman might understand only a quarter or less of what is offered. But for the scientist and the science-minded youngster, the pavilion offers a feast for the mind.

U. S. University in Beirut Notes Enrollment Jump

BEIRUT (UPI) — The American University of Beirut has an enrollment of 2,970 from 54 countries, according to the university's registrar. That is nearly half again as many students as registered for the last school year.

Women students this year number 654. Arab students account for about 78 per cent of the student body. The university dates back to 1866.

Find Diamonds Useful for Burnishing Surfaces

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new use has been found for diamonds, both natural or man-made, according to a spokesman for a Research Laboratory in Schenectady, N. Y.

He said that diamonds are a useful material for burnishing — one of the oldest methods for improving the surface finish of metals.

Leaky Defense Plagues Detroit Efforts

Tigers Stumble to 9-8 Setback in Sloppy Game

Fielding Miscues Play Key Role in Wild Win for Kansas City

DETROIT (AP)—A tighter defense in Bob Scheffings's words, is the key to another strong pennant challenge by the Detroit Tigers.

The manager stressed this in his comments throughout spring training.

"We have to improve our infield defense," he repeated often down in Florida. "We have to get better second line pitching. Defense and relief pitching were the only places the Yankees outplayed us last year."

After 10 games of the new season, Scheffing has seen little to encourage him. The Tigers, now 5-5, have been terrible in the field. To say the relief pitching has been mediocre would be a generous appraisal.

Scheffing's worst nightmare came yesterday as the Tigers kicked away a 9-8 decision to the Kansas City Athletics. Tiger infielders committed five errors. A passed ball and a wild pitch permitted the A's to score twice.

GAVE 6 RUNS

"I guess we gave them six runs all together," said Scheffing, who saw little humor in the sandlot play of the Tigers. "This is one game I'd like to forget right now."

Sloppy fielding figured at least indirectly in every Kansas City scoring inning but the last one. That was in the eighth and relief-er Paul Foytack allowed what proved to be the deciding run to score on a wild pitch.

Scheffing employed 21 players in a late and futile effort to pull out the victory. Five pitchers and three shortstops appeared in the box score along with a succession of pinchhitters and pinchrunners. The A's used 14 players themselves, including four pitchers.

* * *

Bob Grim, a veteran making a comeback after recovering from 1961 arm lameness, finally stopped the Tigers. He halted a four-run rally that brought the Tigers within one run of tying in the eighth. Then he retired Norm Cash, Rocky Calovito and Steve Boros in order in the ninth.

ROUGH DEBUT

Rookie Doug Gallagher made his first start for the Tigers—and he must have thought he was back in the minors. Jake Wood's throwing error helped the A's touch Gallagher for one run in the first. Steve Boros made two errors in the second as the A's again scored one run.

Gallagher finally was removed after the A's scored three runs in the fifth. He issued three walks and three singles in the inning and Scheffing mercifully lifted him after Dick McAuliffe made a boot of a third-out grounded. Sam Jones came in with the bases full and the A's promptly scored another run on Dick Brown's passed ball.

That made it 6-0 and Jerry Walker was breezing. The Tigers managed to get to Walker in the sixth when they scored their first four runs.

* * *

Walker walked Billy Bruton and Al Kaline singled. Norm Cash's single to right produced the first Detroit tally. A walk to Rocky Colavito loaded the bases and the second run was forced in when Walker hit Boros.

FORCED IN RUN

Danny McDevitt rushed in to rescue Walker and forced in another run by walking Bubba Morton, pinchhitting for McAuliffe. But then McDevitt enticed Brown to hit into a double play with the Tigers' fourth run scored.

The A's went right to work to boost their 6-4 lead against Foytack in the seventh. He walked two batters before Dick Howser singled one home. Howser tried to advance to second on the play and was out by a mile until he kicked the ball out of Chico Fernandes' glove for another error. Another run scored on the play.

The Tigers made it interesting in the eighth with their four runs. Bruton's two-run single was the key blow. Vic Wertz' pinch single and pinchhitter Larry Osborne's force out drove in the other run.

Big Pitcher Wins for Red Sox

Cager Conley Gets Fast Start

By The Associated Press

Towering Gene Conley, rescued from mayhem on the hardwoods by the arrival of the baseball season, is rewarding the Boston Red Sox with a quick start that could propel the 31-year-old right-hander to his best season in the majors.

* * *

The multi-talented Conley won his second in three decisions Wednesday, limiting Washington to five hits and smashing a two-run homer to aid his own cause in a 7-1 Red Sox triumph that sent the Senators reeling with their seventh consecutive defeat.

* * *

TOP SHAPE

Now, in top shape from his early arrival and taking his regular place in the rotation from the start of the campaign, Conley is hopeful of posting his top mark. His previous best was 12-7 in 1959 with Philadelphia. He was 11-14 with Boston in his American League debut last year.

Cleveland held first place despite a 6-2 loss to the Los Angeles Angels, the New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 7-6, Minnesota snapped Baltimore's four-game winning streak with a 3-1 triumph and Kansas City outlasted Detroit 9-8 in other games.

The Red Sox struck for five runs in the fourth against Senators' rookie Jim Hannan, getting three on Frank Malzone's homer and two on Conley's shot. Gene had Washington blanked on two hits for seven innings before singles by Bob Johnson and Ken Retzer and John Schaive's double brought a run across in the eighth.

* * *

The Angels snapped the Indians three-game winning streak with rookie right-hander Bo Belinsky hurling a four-hitter and allowing only one earned run. Leon Wagner's fourth inning homer off Pedro Ramos, making his first start since he was acquired by Cleveland in a trade with Minnesota, put Los Angeles ahead to stay.

LOPEZ HERO

Hector Lopez' two-run single with the bases loaded in the ninth capped a four-run rally that won it for the Yankees and Rollie Sheldon. The White Sox had built a 6-3 lead with a 17-hit attack that chased Whitey Ford as Jim Landis led the offensive with a homer, triple and double. The loser was Ed Fisher, working in relief of Juan Pizarro.

* * *

Jim Lemon's pinch-hit two-run homer with two out in the ninth beat the Orioles and Chuck Estrada. Don Lee won it, limiting the Orioles to three hits for eight innings before coming out so Lemon could hit. Ray Moore pitched the ninth. Baltimore's lone run came on Jackie Brandt's homer in the seventh.

Adams Decides on Retirement After 35 Years

Decision Is Announced This Morning Following Confab With Norris

DETROIT (UPI) — Jack Adams, colorful general manager of the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League for 35 years, today announced his retirement from professional hockey.

Adams, 66, a native of Fort William, Ontario, originally came to Detroit in 1927 to take over as manager-coach of the then one-year-old Detroit Hockey Club. He had just completed a ten-season National Hockey League career with Toronto, Vancouver and Ottawa.

* * *

His name has been on the Stanley Cup nine times — twice as a player, as manager-coach three times and as manager four times.

Adamas announced his resignation after a meeting this morning with club president Bruce A. Norris. He issued a statement which said:

"I now feel that the time has come to bow out. I have talked this over with Bruce Norris this morning at the Olympia, who went along with my decision to retire."

Adams said Norris had asked him to be available in an advisory capacity "so I will not be completely out of the picture."

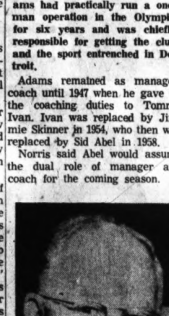
HOCKEY GROWTH

The association of Adams and Bruce Norris' father, the late James Norris, signaled the real birth of pro hockey in Detroit.

The Norris family purchased the franchise in 1933 after Adams had practically run a one-man operation in the Olympia for six years and was chiefly responsible for getting the club and the sport entrenched in Detroit.

Adams remained as manager-coach until 1947 when he gave up the coaching duties to Tommy Ivan. Ivan was replaced by Jimmie Skinner in 1954, who then was replaced by Sid Abel in 1958.

Norris said Abel would assume the dual role of manager and coach for the coming season.



RETIRES — Jack Adams today announced his retirement as general manager of the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League. Sid Abel will assume joint duties as coach and general manager while "Jolly Jack" will continue to serve the club in an advisory capacity.

Roberts, Labine Receive Their Walking Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of right-handers who once possessed two of the proudest names in baseball — Robin Roberts and Clem Labine — have been given their walking papers.

Roberts, who was baseball's winningest pitcher over one six-year period for the Philadelphia Phillies, drew his outright release from the New York Yankees Wednesday. Labine, a top relief man and pitching mainstay of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, was released by the New York Mets today.

Roberts is 35. Labine is 36. Each was overlooked in the expansion draft. Their outright release is the second for each. Each may be at the end of his baseball career, though Roberts says he doesn't intend to quit. Labine was not immediately available for comment.

Roberts, who won 234 games with the Phillies, was near tears as he packed his bag in the Yankee dressing room.

WANTS TO STAY

"I want to stay in baseball as an active player," he said. "Naturally, I am a little shocked at this release, but I think I am still capable of pitching."

He didn't pitch an inning for the Yankees this season. New York picked him up after he had been given his outright release by the Phillies after a 1-10 season last year.

"He didn't fit into our relief plans and I couldn't work him into the starting rotation," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said. "It is our feeling that he should have every chance to get another job and it is for that reason that we are releasing him at this time."

Labine, who made a career as a relief man, played on four National League champion teams —Brooklyn in 1953, '55 and '56, and the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959.

He and catcher Joe Ginsberg were released from the Mets to make way for catcher Harry Chiti, purchased outright from Cleveland, and right-handed pitcher Dave Hillman, purchased from Syracuse.

Bloomfield Nets Clarkston

Larry Hull and Larry Parrott defeated Wilbert and Hetherington in the A doubles match, 8-6 and 7-5. In the other doubles, Dave Baumhart and Jim St. John won over Theakston and Hetherington 8-6, 6-4 and 9-7. Singles winners for the Hills were Jason Hall, Eddie Anderson and Bob M. Smith. Overall the Hills team is 3-3.

Freshman Charles Clark accounted for 14 points in a 106-18 dual MIAA track victory for Albion over Alma yesterday.

Mike Joyce, former Michigan star from Royal Oak, is the only rookie on the Triple-A Indianapolis Indians. Luis Arroyo is out for a few days. The Yank relief ace has a strained ligament in his throwing arm. The Cubs have farmed out hurler Morris Stevens.

Keg 'World Series' Listed for Detroit

Detroit, long regarded as one of the nation's top sports centers, will host the first world series of professional bowling on the lanes of the ultra-modern Thunderbowl Arena, 4200 Allen Road in suburban Allen Park.

That was the announcement of Don Rogers, president of the National Bowling League, who indicated the Detroit Thunderbirds would meet the Minneapolis Twin Cities Skippers in a best of five game series starting on Friday, May 4.

The dates were delayed until the Skippers had clinched the second round championship. The T-Birds walked away with the first half honors and were second in the last half.

The series schedule calls for single matches on Friday, May 4 and Saturday, May 5, starting at 8:30 p. m.; a doubleheader on Sunday, May 6 at 7:30 p. m. and the fifth match, if necessary, on Monday, May 7, at 8:30 p. m.

Softball Team Entries Accepted Until Monday

A total of 27 men's softball teams have registered for the city recreation program, however, additional entries are still being accepted but entry fees must be posted by 5:00 p.m. Monday April 30th.

Entry fees for out of city sponsored teams is $85.00 and for city teams, $60.00.

The final managers' meeting for the league will be held Thursday May 3rd at 7:00 p.m. at Pontiac Central high school, room 216. League entries should attend this meeting. It will cover team classifications, scheduled, rules and procedures for playoffs. The regular season is set to start May 14th.

Larsen Stops League Leaders

By The Associated Press

Don (perfect game) Larsen, who had the world on a string in 1956 but was all tied up in knots four years later, has successfully retraced his path and stepped in as a stopper for the pennant-hungry San Francisco Giants.

Making his third appearance, the 32-year-old right-hander came on in the sixth inning Wednesday night with Pittsburgh threatening, struck out the side and allowed only one run the rest of the way in the Giants' 8-3 victory over the National League leaders.

It gave the only pitcher ever to hurl a perfect game in World Series history — he accomplished the feat for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in '56—a record of one save and two victories in his three outings.

The save by Larsen, who couldn't find the plate in 1960 when he was 1-10 at Kansas City, further enhanced the trade by the Giants that sent young pitchers Dom Zanni and Ed Fisher plus outfielder Bob Farley to the Chicago White Sox for Larsen and Billy Pierce.

VETS 2-0

Pierce, like Larsen, has a 2-0 record for four of the 10 San Francisco victories between them, and they've added the pitching depth Manager Al Dark wanted. Zanni is 1-0 with the White Sox, Fisher 0-2 and Farley 0-for-7.

* * *

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs knocked off the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6, Milwaukee topped Philadelphia 7-2, Cincinnati added to the New York Mets' problems 7-1 and St. Louis and Houston played to a 5-5 tie in 17 innings. The game was halted by curfew and will have to be replayed.

Orlando Cepeda, who has been troubled with a groin injury, drove in four runs to pace the Giants attack, doubling home the first run in the fourth, then putting it out of reach in the sixth with a three-run homer off Pirates' starter Bob Friend. Rookie Gaylor Perry picked up the victory with Larsen's relief.

After Cepeda's homes, Friend sailed a pitch over Ed Bailey's head and the Giants' catcher took a couple of steps toward the mound but Pittsburgh receiver Don Leppert grabbed him. Both benches quickly emptied. Order was just as quickly restored. And Bailey then homered.

BIG 8th

The Cubs won it with four in the eighth off reliever Larry Sherry, Ernie Banks tying it 6-6 with his fourth home run and Andre Rodgers clinching it with a three-run homer. Rodgers wound up with five runs batted in and provided Don Elston with the victory. The Dodgers built their edge on homers by Duke Snider and Willie Davis.

Ron Piche making his first start for the Braves, kept the Phils at bay with a four-hitter while Eddie Mathews' sixth homer, in the third inning, followed by Joe Adcock's solo smash tagged Chris Short with the defeat. Piche gave up two hits and two runs in the first inning, but was virtually untouchable thereafter.

Vada Pinson stroked a double and two singles, against the Mets in support of Bob Purkey's four-hit pitching. Purkey went the route for the first time this season. Bob Miller took the loss.

The Cardinals forged the 5-5 tie in the ninth when Ken Boyer drove in the run that knotted it with a single off Dick Farrell. The Colts, who trailed 4-0 after four innings, had moved ahead in the eighth on Merrit Ranew's first major league homer and a run-scoring double by pitcher Jim Golden.

The game was the longest extra inning night game, by time, ever played in the NL.

Gomez Didn't Make Hall but Helped Many Others

BALTIMORE (AP) — Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, a former New York Yankee in civilian clothing, took the play away from the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday.

The one-time star southpaw pitcher, now a salesman for a sporting goods firm, tossed out more than his share of verbal curves while speaking at luncheon honoring the Orioles.

"I didn't make the hall of fame," Gomez said, "but I helped some other players to get there.

"Jimmy Foxx hit more than 500 home runs — and about 36 must have been off of me.

"No one knew Joe DiMaggio could go back on a ball in center field until he started playing behind me."

Gomez said one of the main lessons he learned as a pitcher was: "while you've got the ball in your hands, you're safe."

"One play I got down pretty well," Lefty said, "was the one where I pitched and then ran to back up third base. If I got there before the runner, I was ready in case of an overthrow."

Gomez said as a batter he had only one weakness—a pitched ball. "When I went to the plate, fans used to yell, 'fool 'em lefty — hit a foul'."

"One day I hit the third double of my career—counting high school ball—and then I was picked off second base."

"Manager Joe McCarthy asked 'what happened out there?' and I said, I don't know, I've never been out there before."

Recalling his term as a manager at Binghamton, N.Y., Lefty said he clinched last place "on opening day."

"During one stretch we lost 11 games in a row, and then we had a game postponed, I threw a victory dinner for the team."

ABC Team Titles Back in Midwest

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—All of the American Bowling Congress Tournament team championships were back in the Midwest today.

Two of the three 1961 ABC team titles went to California and Texas. This year two of the five-man championships were captured by squads from Illinois and another by one of the game's most renowned outfits—Don Carter Gloves of St. Louis

Carter Gloves, which succeeded Brentwood Bowl of San Francisco, beat 37 other teams with its 6248 total to win the Classic Division crown and $2,000 top money in the professional group.

* * *

Strike 'n Spare of Chicago, replaced Meyerland Builder, Houston, Tex., as the regular division champion. The Chicagoans won $2,500 for their 3128 total.

The booster division team title stayed in the Midwest. Carroll Lanes of Mount Carroll, Ill., became the 1962 booster champion with its 2861 total worth $250. Sylvania Electric, Ottawa, Ohio held the title last year.

Competition in the five-man event, which drew 5,292 teams, wound up Wednesday night. L & L Castle Lanes of San Francisco, the final Classic team to bowl, finished with a 5441 total after shooting 2737 for its final three games.

The 69-day meet ends today when champions in doubles, singles and all-events will be crowned. Leading in the Classic Division are Bob Poole, Pueblo, Colo., in singles, 759; Glenn Allison-Dick Hoover, St. Louis, doubles, 1431, and Jack Winters, Philadelphia, all-events 2147.

State Golfers Make Their Exit

Dick Whiting, Schubeck Ousted in North-South Amateur Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) —Michigan's two remaining hopefuls reached the end of the trail Wednesday in the 62nd renewal of the North and South Amateur golf tournament at Pinehurst Country Club.

Dick Whiting of Lathrup Village, veteran Red Run amateur, fell by the wayside yesterday afternoon in the 3rd round of match play after winning his 2nd-round match in the morning.

Whiting scored a 2-1 victory over Bob Wallace of Norfolk, Va., then bowed to Dudley Wysong of McKinney, Texas, 5-4.

John Schubeck of Grosse Pointe former Michigan State University golfer, lost a 6-5 decision in the 2nd round to Bob Cochran of St Louis.

Quarter-final matches were under way today with two ex-North and South champions, Billy Joe Patton and Charles Smith, colliding in the feature attraction.

'Prosperity' Sale for Ball Players Banned

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — State authorities today were to issue a temporary order banning securities sale by a real estate firm whose 115 stockholders include 80 present and former major league baseball players.

Robert Cronson, Assistant Illinois Secretary of State, said he would act as head of the State Securities Department in prohibiting stock sale by CIA Inc., a Delaware-based corporation which owns buildings on Chicago's South side.

CIA Inc. is one of 14 enterprises headed by R. Patrick Wagner, 31, Chicago, a one-time semi-pro baseball player, which owns 23 buildings. He told United Press International that CIA Inc. is the same as Consolidated Investment Associates, which state officials said was listed in their records as a partnership and was not authorized to offer stock for public sale.

Wagner said he has met with officials of the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission concerning his dealings and would meet today with state officials.

DENIES WRONGDOING

Wagner denied any wrongdoing. He said his real estate dealings, which returned dividends of 20 per cent to the stockholders, were only aimed at making his baseball player friends prosperous.

"We've acted in good faith. Our actions have been distorted, twisted until it made us look like slum landlords instead of a group of fellows who got together to buy real estate," he said.

Wagner said the board of directors of Consolidated Investment included pitcher Billy Pierce of the San Francisco Giants; third baseman Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals; pitcher Bob Shaw of the Milwaukee Braves; Milwaukee coach Jimmy Dykes; former Cleveland Indian catcher Jim Hegan; and Oakland Raiders football player Harry Jagielski.

Wagner refused to name the other baseball players among his investors. "Due to the unfair publicity that has been received—the persecution—this would be unfair to our investors."

SEVERAL VIOLATIONS

Chicago building inspectors said they found a large number of building code violations in 10 of the buildings owned by the combine. Wagner replied that his company eliminates such violations as soon as improvement loans can be made.

Cronson said he also was "contemplating" turning over his files from a six-weeks investigation of Consolidated Investment to the Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney and the state attorney general for "possible injunction action."

Dropo said he had visited several of the buildings and "they seemed in comparable condition with others in the same area."

Pierce said he has seen "one or two" of the structures "and I would not call them slum buildings."

Dykes said that "as far as I knew everything was above board. I was only in one building and it looked fine to me."

Boyer said he has never voted as a director of the firm.

Debusschere's Recess Spent With White Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the boys went to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. during Easter vacation. Others whooped it up in Bermuda. One of the boys, Dave Debusschere of the University of Detroit, is spending the holiday with the Chicago White Sox.

Debusschere was a great basketball star at Detroit. He averaged 26 points a game during the career that ended when Detroit lost to Western Kentucky in the first round of the NCAA championships.

When the basketball season ended, Debusschere was swamped with pro offers both in baseball and basketball. He chose to combine the two. The White Sox paid him a fancy bonus, probably about $70,000, with the understanding that he could also play pro basketball.

DECISIVE FACTOR

"That was one of the decisive factors," said the 21-year-old collegian. "Detroit, for one, wouldn't consent to my playing basketball in the off season. Chicago agreed to let me try it both ways for a year or so and see how it goes."

Debusschere was drafted by the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association and the Chicago Majors of the American Basketball League. He said he probably would sign with his home town club, Detroit, although the offer was considerably less than the reported $25,000.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think there will be any problem in playing the two sports," he said. "Gene Conley did it with the Boston Red Sox and Boston Celtics. Actually, I think it was tougher in college because you had to make up classes and you had to get up early to go to classes after playing at night. Then we would go right into baseball, too. The baseball team always would have been working out a long time before I joined them.

"With two sports there shouldn't be any problem keeping in shape all the time."

Early Wynn took one look at this 6-6½ right-hander and observed, "he ought to be good. When he cuts the ball loose he's two feet closer to the plate than I am."

FIRST LOOK

The White Sox got their first look at the collegian in action last Sunday while losing two to the Kansas City A's. Al Lopez didn't pick any soft spot for the rookie. There were men on first and second and one ball and two strikes on the hitter when he called for Dave. He retired the batter on a fly ball, wild pitched a run in while walking a man and then mowed down the next two.

★ ★ ★

"He really can throw hard," said Lopez. "I like what I have seen of him." Ray Berres, Sox pitching coach, echoed Lopez' thoughts. Eddie Short, the general manager who signed him, said he expected DeBusschere would remain with the club after he graduates in June.

Falcons, Kettering Track Winners

Rochester and Kettering breezed in a Tri-County double dual and Milford did the same in a Wayne-Oakland triangular in area track meets yesterday.

Rochester blasted Romeo 81½ to 27½ led by Chris Allen and Pete Long with two 1st places each and two relay triumphs. Allen took the 100 dash in 10.7 and the 220 in 23.4. Long had a 5-8 high jump and 10.5 time in the high hurdles. Bob Shelton, Brian Crotty, Doug Sloan, Jim King and Dennis Kosteckl were other Falcon victors. Joe Walker and Bruce Sabel won for Romeo.

Rick Jackson's low hurdles win spoiled a sweep of 1st by Kettering in an 88½ to 19½ swamping of L'Anse Creuse. Orv Mullens took the 100 in 10.4 and the 220 in 22.0 and Mike Popovich had a 4:40.8 mile to pace the Captains. Mike Campbell, Anderson, Buchanan, Bill Haviland, Reinhardt, Peterson and Havilen all triumphed.

KELLY STARS

At Oxford, Dan Kelly won the high jump at 5-6, the mile in 4:41.8 and helped the mile relay team set a school record in 3:47. Jerry Risinger, Gary Winterton and Dennis King were the other relay boys. Bob Powell won both hurdles for OHS. Dick Sefcovic had a 1st and tie for one to head Imlay.

Milford piled up 81½ points to 32 for Northville and 23½ for West Bloomfield. Dick Nichols won the 100 in 11 seconds flat, 220 in 24.5 and was in a three-way tie for high jump honors sparking the Redskins. Ted Nelson of the victors set a new school and Milford field record with a 2:00.1 880. Bathey of Northville took both hurdles.

Ortonville won both relays and got two 1sts from Larry Jackson in its opening dual. Tom Sherman, Mile Moore, Ron Kassuba and Tom Parker also won. Parker led a 220 slam.

Paced by medalist Warren Hall's 42, West Bloomfield defeated Clarenceville, 181-210, at Pontiac Country Club. Hall received solid support from Bob Thompson and Dan Armistead, who posted 43s.

Milford scored a pair of victories at Highland Hills. Larry Hoy took medal honors with a 39 as the Redskins trimmed Holly, 167-190, and Hoy and Tim Barnes carded 40s to feature a 213-227 five-man win over Northville.

Chiefs Drop SVC Opener; Cranes Downed by Hamtramck

Lake Orion Pitcher 'Stingy' With Hits but Still Loses

Lefty Bill Jackson, Lake Orion pitcher, has given up only eight hits in three games but has been a loser twice. Yesterday his two-hitter was to no avail as Clarkston scored a 1-0 victory with the winning run crossing the plate in the 5th inning without a hit.

Mike Applegate got on base by an error, went to second on a passed ball, stole third and when Jerry Powell attempted a squeeze bunt the ball got by the catcher and Applegate scored.

Jackson struckout five and walked four while winner John Williams struck out eight and walked five.

In other baseball games yesterday, Pontiac Central lost its opener in the Saginaw Valley, 4-1 to Flint Central; Hamtramck defeated Cranbrook, 6-4 and L'Anse shutout Fraser, 3-0.

ALL UNEARNED

All the runs in the Pontiac Central-Flint Central game were unearned. The Chiefs got their lone run in the second when Ray Collins singled, moved to second on an error and scored on a single by Bill Mondor. PCH had four hits and four errors.

Flint Central scored in the first inning and three in the 5th frame. Rob Farms, PCH pitcher, struck out 9 batters while Bligh for Flint Central had 10 strikeouts.

BIG COSMO

Hamtramck first baseman Phil Tucker collected a single, double and triple to score once and drive in two runs in leading the win over Cranbrook.

Crane pitcher John Billesdon went all the way in giving up six runs and nine hits. Cranbrook managed only two hits but forced winning pitcher Art Deas off the mound in the 6th inning. Cranbrook is now 2-4 for the season and plays its first Inter-State League game Saturday at Cleveland University School.

Pitcher Eddie Stivers gave up only two hits and had 10 strikeouts in defeating Fraser. He also drove in two runs with a single and double. Mike Deriemeacker scored twice on Stivers' hits and also had an rbi. L'Anse plays host to Kettering next week.

'M'-MSU Baseball Teams Rout Non-League Rivals

By The Associated Press

Warm temperatures and sunny skies brought out the best in Michigan college baseball batters Wednesday.

A heavy slate of college games saw batters dominate pitching in most conference and non-conference games.

At East Lansing, Michigan State, taking an off-day from Big Ten competition, routed Alma twice. The Spartans took the first game of a doubleheader 23-5 and came back to take the nightcap 14-2.

At Ann Arbor, Michigan stomped Notre Dame 18-7. The Wolverines collected four home runs — two by catcher Joe Murello—in an 18-hit attack.

In MIAA play, Albion opened its 1962 conference season with a doubleheader victory over Hope. Albion took the first game 2-0 and won the nightcap 6-1.

Kalamazoo matched Albion with a doubleheader sweep over Adrian. A home run by Frank Stuckey gave Kalamazoo a 5-3 triumph in the opener and four-hit pitching by John Mason boosted the Hornets to a 4-3 decision in the second game.

Hillsdale batters powered out six runs in a big sixth inning and went on to an 11-6 victory over Ohio Northern in an inter-state game at Hillsdale.

GOING HOME—Boxer Tunney Hunsaker wears big smile yesterday before leaving hospital. Knocked out April 6, he underwent two brain operations.

Polynesian Filly Brings Top Price at Keeneland

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Polylady, a 3-year-old Polynesian filly who won the Astoria Stakes last year, was sold Wednesday for $120,000 at the annual spring sale of thoroughbreds at Keeneland.

THE DAY IT SNOWED — The Brendel Lake Ski Club on M-59 in the Lakewood subdivision got an early start this year. The club already has its jump and slalom course out in the lake.

Annual Holly-Fenton Canoe Race Set

Starting Point at Mill Pond for Paddlers

Racing in 2 Divisions to Start at 1 o'Clock for Juniors

The 2nd annual Holly to Fenton canoe race on the Shiawassee river will be held Sunday with entries for junior and senior divisions.

The race will start at Mill Pond in Holly and conclude at Bush Park in Fenton which is about 1 hour and 45 minutes of paddling.

It is the first race of the season sanctioned by the Michigan Canoe Racing Association. Entries can register up to an hour prior to the draw which will be held at 1 p.m. after which the junior race will commence. The senior racers will start at approximately 2 p.m.

Trophies will go to the first six places with a trophy and $25 for the winning team.

Boat Numbering Curbs Thefts, Recklessness

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Perhaps the biggest change in the appearance of small boats in the last five years is the addition of numbers.

Registration letters and figures are shown on each side of the bow if the boat uses more than 10 horsepower.

Some states are even more strict, so new buyers and oldtime owners alike should recheck the rules.

A dealer, Power Squadron or Coast Guard branch can advise where to apply for the number. In 11 states, where the Coast Guard handles numbering, any post office will provide an application.

The numbers, in block characters at least three inches high and in contrasting color to the hull, are attached.

The aims of the numbering law in 1958 were to give smaller craft some means of identification. Too often when a boat went adrift or was stolen, the owner could give no more than a vague description.

While large slow cruisers were numbered, the small hot rodders that raced through swimming areas could seldom be identified.

Numbers haven't yet stopped boat theft or cured reckless operation, but they have been a great aid. Money from registration fees have been spent on patrol craft and better facilities.

Owners have two new complaints. Police in busier areas are so active tracking down improperly numbered boats that they spend no time chasing reckless operators. Some states are not using boat registration income to improve conditions for boatmen but are, instead, funnelling it into the general fund.

But boat numbering, overall, has progressed smoothly.

Inflated Balloons Make Handy Buoys in Boating

Customers always appreciate tips to make their boating more enjoyable. Here's one you can pass along:

Suggest they carry several toy balloons in their tool kits. Then, if they should drop equipment overboard, a weighted balloon can serve as a buoy to mark the spot.

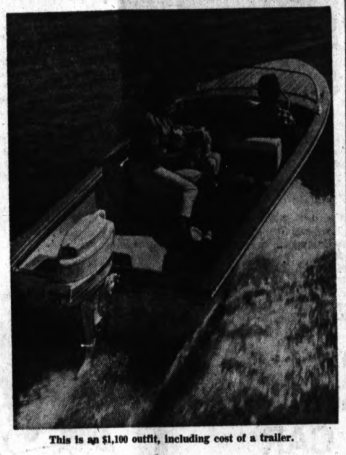
Balloons also can be used to mark hidden rocks or sunken debris, providing a warning for themselves and other boaters.

Or if your customer is fishing and spots a school of fish and wants to troll repeatedly over the area, balloons can chart the route.

YOUR BOAT



This is an $1,100 outfit, including cost of a trailer.

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

J. P. Morgan said that a man who had to ask if he could afford a boat, couldn't.

This oft-quoted remark has done more to scare people away from the water than the sinking of the Titanic. Morgan was referring to luxury yachts — really ocean-going liners — in vogue during his era when small boating was impractical.

Today, such monsters, requiring immense crews, are out of the reach of everybody but royalty and shipping tycoons, so if that's your idea, give up now.

A boat now is no more expensive than and can be financed just like a car. If you're in the $6,000 to $16,000 car range, you can afford a big boat, with all the trimmings.

If you're in the compact car range, around $1,100 — less than the cost of the cheapest paddle jumper — will put you happily and safely in the water.

For this, you can have a 14-foot runabout, roomy enough for four, with space for lunch basket, water skis and fishing gear, a 25-horsepower motor for brisk cruising and skiing, a trailer and such accessories as lifejackets, buoyant cushions, lights, fire extinguisher and horn. Boat and motor will cost about $825, trailer $200, accessories $75.

If you're close enough to the water not to need the trailer, you've already saved $200 — and you're a boatman.

NEXT: BIGGER BOATS.

Lower Deep V-Hull Is Boating's New Twist

There is talk about catamarans and hydroplanes, skimming dish designs and hydrofoils. Some predict that these are the boats of the future.

Meanwhile, boatmen are spending money on sturdy and almost old-fashioned hulls carrying a deep V from bow to stern. This boat shape uses water as a shock absorber instead of an anvil. It speeds through waves rather than pounding off the top of them. A more comfortable ride.

Nine companies are now building deep-V variations.

John Collins, power and sail boatman who tours the countinland waters have craft of this try, reports that both coasts and design in sizes from 15 to 30 feet.

The boats are anything but flashy looking. Each builder uses his own modifications of a creation naval architect Ray Hunt introduced in 1958. He had found the deep hull could give a more comfortable and non-skid ride. He added little runners. The hull rose up to plane along on the surface.

Tests in rugged offshore races proved that the little boats could safely handle big waves. Boating families seem to want the same seaworthyness in more protected waters.

The introduction of workable outboard drives for inboard engines came along at the same time. They are particularly suitable for the Veed hulls. The boat lifts considerably when it gets up on plane, but inboard outboard motors can deliver power from both heights without the cut-down transom necessary with outboard motors.

For small hulls, twin motors for outdrives can be tucked in the stern without taking up considerable cockpit space as standard inboards might do.

Any twin engine boat with engines placed too far apart tends to lift one free of the water on turns, and cause the roaring overspeed called cavitation. With the V hull, inboard outboards take little space so they can be placed close together.

★ ★ ★

Unfortunately, the hulls look more like boats than birds or airplanes and don't have quite the glamor of flashier designs.

Nothing Heard From Warriors

No Formal Application Received by NBA for Moving to Frisco

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors of the National Basketball Association adjourned its spring business meeting Wednesday without receiving a formal application from Eddie Gottlieb, president of the Philadelphia Warriors, to move his club to San Francisco.

A spokesman, however, said the possibility of such a move was discussed informally when other owners asked Gottlieb regarding newspaper accounts of such a shift.

Some newspaper stories have Gottlieb selling his Philadelphia franchise to San Francisco interests with Syracuse then moving to the Pennsylvania city. Los Angeles already is a member of the NBA and a second West Coast city would cut travel costs.

The directors do not expect to begin the search for a successor to Maurice Podoloff as president until late this year. Podoloff told the directors at their opening meeting Tuesday that this was his final year. He is 71 and has been president of the organization since 1946.

Palmer Favored as Texas Open Gets Under Way

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A field of 150 started today in the opening round of the $30,000 Texas Open, with Arnold Palmer the heaviest pre-tournament favorite in the event's 38 years.

There wasn't anybody else mentioned, although there are as many top golfers here as the tournament ever saw. Winners of 16 of 21 tournaments this year, National Open Champion Gene Littler and more than 100 from the star-studded tour slashed at par 71 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Palmer was seeking his third Texas Open championship in a row and he had a record back of him to indicate that he was playing about his finest golf.

Deflected Shot Nets 1-0 Win for Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The player who made the shot got an assist and the teammate who unwittingly re-directed the shot into the goal was credited with the winning goal.

That's part of the story of how Buffalo defeated Springfield 1-0 in sudden death overtime Wednesday night in the fourth game of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs.

The action moves to Springfield tonight where the Indians, leading 3-1 in the best-of-7 series, hope to wrap things up with their unprecedented third straight playoff crown.

Regatta at Lake Lansing

The Lake Lansing regatta will be held May 13th for power boats. Sanctioned by the APBA, Lake Lansing is located near East Lansing off Haslett road. Racing will be held in four classes of runabouts and four classes of stock hydros.

Lawyers Sum Up Their Arguments in Pro Grid War

NFL Attorney Claims That Rival AFL Tried to Stifle Competition

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National Football League claimed Wednesday it was the rival American League that tried to stifle competition.

"The AFL was the one that wanted a common commissioner and player draft," argued Gerhard Gessell, NFL lawyer.

"The records show that NFL action was to compete—not to preclude."

The two lawyers were summing up their arguments in trial of a suit that started Feb. 26 in which the AFL is suing the NFL for $10 million damages on anti - trust charges.

The summaries will be finished Thursday, then each side will have five days to file more written briefs before the judge starts weighing his decision.

The AFL suit is based on NFL expansion to Dallas in 1960 and Minneapolis-St. Paul the next season. The AFL, which started operating in 1960, also fielded a team in Dallas and was considering one in Minnesota when an NFL franchise was accepted.

Baker argued the NFL expansion moves were "conscious and deliberate" to cause AFL owners to suffer financial losses. He said the power of the NFL, which had been without a rival league since 1949 when it absorbed the All-America, was such that it could "preclude" the success of a new team by moving into the same city.

As for the AFL claimg that its growth was being inhibited by the NFL, Gessel said that "their view is that they must become a General Motors overnight. Or else the NFL conduct must be something to prevent them from coming from nothing to full bloom."

Gessell defended the move into Dallas a year ahead of the expansion schedule as the necessity to compete. The AFL had announced a team there for 1960 and Gessell said NFL owners wanted to start out on an equal footing.

Couple Quits Careers to Become Teachers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herbert Mager has sold his gasoline station, which grosses $480,000 a year, to become a high school teacher.

Mager, 41, and his wife, Daisy, a free lance commercial artist, attended Western Reserve University last summer. She also is giving up her art career to become a teacher.

Bridge Blue Bloods Turn Feud Into Personal Battle of Barbs

(Editor's Note — Within the past several months, two U. S. bridge masters have swapped the national leadership back and forth, along with barbed personal comment. AP staff writer Leo Anavi, whose 40 years of bridge play embraced the nation's first tournaments, examines the competition between the two masters — both of whom he has played.)

By LEO ANAVI

NEW YORK (AP)—The continuing feud between two monarchs of bridge has remained personal rather than dynastic. Charles Goren of New York and Oswald Jacoby of Dallas, Tex., are still slugging it out in a battle of words.

Goren points out that he has been the nation's leading master point winner for 19 years. Jacoby, who once lorded it over the lesser princes, believes he has caught up or is about to catch up.

★ ★ ★

The two were friendly once, as friendly as bridge blue bloods can be—distant and with reservations. They are now exchanging barbs and epithets with abandon.

★ ★ ★

Goren will not hear of a direct match or a comparison of points at the same tournament or at different ones. There are so many of these regional affairs that one gets confused.

BASIS OF COMPARISON

Jacoby believes master points acquired at future matches could form a basis of figuring as to who is mightier at the game. He suggests that the coming tournaments in Cincinnati and Wichita might do in this respect.

Goren will be playing in Cincinnati, probably with Mrs. Helen Sobel, an outstanding woman player. Jacoby will be jousting in Wichita, and he says he will pair up with local talent. Anyway, neither king is playing this hand as though the ace were right on top of him.

Leaders of the game will not take sides officially. Some of them believe that the quarrel is unseemly.

Alphonse Moyse, editor of the Bridge World, has declined to pass judgment but thinks the bitter exchange is regretable. Moyse has been around the higher bridge echelons for years, a constant innovator and impeccable critic—of bidding and the play of the hand, that is.

EYE COMPUTERS

The one 20th century note in the game is that the American Contract Bridge League in New York computes national standings with an IBM machine. There has been some discussion of using the computers in the field.

There is no hot stove league in tournament bridge, by the way. It goes on 24 months a year. The players sweat at the tournament table. Post-mortems go on till all hours of the morning. Some players have been known to play a series without a wink of sleep.

The tournament people are not too annoyed by the Goren-Jacoby feud. They remember the Culbertson-Lenz matches of the late thirties, which definitely put bridge on the map in a national sense. Jacoby played with Lenz and lost that contest through a combination of unfortunate circumstances.

'Anti-Intellectualism Biggest U. S. Threat'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan philosophy professor told a student political rally yesterday that anti-intellectualism is a greater internal threat to the United States than is communism.

★ ★ ★

More than 150 students attended rally to hear Prof. Arnold F. Kaufman attack proceedings of the House Un-American Activities Committee in Los Angeles. The rally was sponsored by a student group known as "voice political party."

★ ★ ★

"What the committee has done is not justified," said Kaufman. He called some testimony during committee hearings "flat-out intimidation." He said the testimony contained slanderous insinuations.

Find Five Murdered in Tennessee Fire

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—City officials said today five members of a Nashville family were shot to death and their house was set afire in an effort to cover up the slayings.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey B. York, their two children and his mother were found in the York home after firemen answered a call to put out a blaze in the four-room brick house.

Lt. Howard Boyd of the Nashville Fire Department said all five of the victims had been shot and their bodies had been slashed.

★ ★ ★

"It was definitely a case of arson to cover up murder," Boyd said.

York was an insurance salesman.

The victims, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. York, were their sons, Benny, 14, and Don, 3; and Mrs. Lette Plake, 74.

There are four main human blood groups as major divisions but scientists estimate blood group factors are capable of producing about 132,710,400 combinations.

Anti-Commie Bill for State Vetoed by Swainson

Swainson said it also would give too much power to the attorney general.

The governor, issuing his second veto of the current legislative session, said the measure gives "enormous and undefined powers" to the attorney general.

"In direct terms," he said, "it authorizes a single official, acting in awesome solitude, to determine whether any political party — by whatever name it be called — has as its purpose the overthrow of our government by force or by violence.

Faces Possible Life Imprisonment

Found Guilty of Hit-and-Run Assault

Robert Hackney was found guilty yesterday of assault with intent to murder in the hit-run injury of a Pontiac Motor Division engineer.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero announced his verdict after a four-week trial delay during which Hackney was examined by a sanity commission.

Hackney, 20, of 469 Orchard Lake Ave., faces a maximum penalty of life imprisonment when he is sentenced by Dondero May 15. The defendent and his attorney, George Fulkerson, waived a jury trial.

Taking the stand in his own defense yesterday, Hackney admitted leaving the scene last September after his car struck Mark Lightfoot, 45, of 2669 McClintock St., in a parking lot at the Motorcar Transport Co., 1280 Joslyn Ave.

Hackney claimed, however, he did not deliberately try to hit Lightfoot. He said his car struck Lightfoot as it swerved to avoid another vehicle in the lot.

Rebuttal witnesses called by Asst. Prosecutor Richard P. Condit said there was no other car in the lot as Hackney claimed.

As a result of injuries suffered when he was struck, Lightfoot is confined to a wheelchair.

Hackney also faces charges of statutory rape, brought against him while he was free on bond in the hit-run case. Condit said an investigation is under way to determine whether to prosecute Hackney on the rape charge.

Meanwhile, Hackney is held in Oakland County Jail in lieu of a total $55,000 bond in both the hit-run and rape cases.

Charged With Theft, Two Held in Jail

Two men charged with the theft of $418 April 12 from Richardson Farm Dairy, 7350 Highland Road, Waterford Township, were bound over to circuit court yesterday by Justice of the Peace Patrick K. Daly.

Melvin Spooner, 6221 Barnes Rd., Brown City, and Bartholemew Paladino, 2274 Evadna St., Waterford Township, both pleaded innocent at yesterday's examination to charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime and safe burglary.

Both men are being held at the Oakland County Jail on bond of $5,000 awaiting arraignment in circuit court May 7 at 9:30 a. m.

MUNICIPAL CEMETERIES
A NEW POLICY

Flowers come from God and are a fitting symbol of life in all its beauty. Flowers are the embodiment of our hope of eternal life. The use of flowers, therefore, is an eloquent testimony of love and respect, and is a beautiful and attractive memorialization.

To display this affection and respect, authorized bed plantings and floral urns, with annual flowers only, can be used, from April 1st to November 15th, the grass growing season. Fresh flower bouquets and potted plants will also be permitted on such specific days as Easter—Mother's Day—Father's Day—Memorial Day—Armed Forces Day and at time interment and may remain for a period of seven days before removal. Potted annual plants, not called for, will be placed and cared for in the "Flower Bed of Memories."

Imitation flowers, wreaths, "treated" blossoms and everlasting flowers, are man-made, and can never provide the same symbolism or the same beauty as God's flowers. As they become dirty and unsightly, they create an impression of neglect, rather than remembrance. Such so called "everlasting flowers," not only become very unsightly from weather conditions but create a serious problem in the care and maintenance program of the cemeteries in general.

For these reasons, it is not possible to permit any of these imitation flowers as decorations.

Artificial wreaths, winter wreaths and winter blankets are permitted from November 15th to April 1st. We respectfully insist that these regulations be observed. Additional questions regarding them will be answered at the Cemetery office. We thank you for your cooperation.

U.S. Chooses Plane for Allies

Northrop N156 to Take Place of Old, Obsolete Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon announced yesterday that it has chosen the Northrop N156 as the plane to be provided to allied countries which need an economical, versatile aircraft to replace older planes becoming obsolete and difficult to maintain.

★ ★ ★

An unspecified number of Northrop's N156, which can fly 1,000 miles per hour, will be produced by the firm's Norair division at Hawthorne, Calif., under the Military Assistance Program.

First deliveries will be made in about 14 months.

Air Force spokesmen said they hope the cost will be about $600,000 or less for each plane. They declined to say which countries would get the new planes.

1,700-MILE RANGE

The twin-jet N156 weighs about 12,000 pounds and can carry more than 5,000 pounds of weapons or a combination of weapons and fuel. It has a range of about 1,700 miles.

It will be armed with bombs, air-to-ground missiles, guns and air-to-air missiles such as the sidewinder.

The N156's missions include close support of ground troops, interception of enemy aircraft, destruction of enemy communication and supply lines and high-speed reconnaissance.

The plane can operate from short runways or rough airstrips.

Each of the 2,000 species of frogs has a distinctive call which lures only females of the same kind.

Astrological Forecast

BY SYDNEY OMARR

For Friday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): What must be done today becomes a matter of priorities. Do not let financial consideration rule actions. Live up to your ideals.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): At social affair you could make excellent impression or you could do something foolish. The choice is yours. Self-control is the key!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): If you permit yourself to be bored, you are not living up to your potential. Decide today to do your best! Move ahead with confidence.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Responsibility can be salvation today. Be willing to do your share, and more. Your key is COOPERATION. The spotlight will come another day.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Be receptive to ideas of others. If you push your way the doors close. You gain by being RECEPTIVE. Patience advised today.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): You may feel your vitality is being drained. But, tonight, there could be exciting contacts. A social affair which "revives" you. Be flexible.

LIBRA (Sept. 21 to Oct. 23): If single, you might meet mate tonight. If married, a perfect time to show loved one your generosity. During day work with VIGOR.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to May 21): You may be tempted to try so-called strong-arm methods today, but astrological cycle points to LIGHT touch. You gain nothing by forcing your way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Delay social engagement and attend to details. Otherwise, evening might prove a "bust." Go slow. Make sure your desires are PRACTICAL ones.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Go after EXTRA VALUE. Do not be satisfied with second best. You can gain more today than you think. Press forward. IMAGINATION, CONFIDENCE WIN THE DAY.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18): Day could result in tremendous feeling of satisfaction IF you show loved ones you put them first. A generous attitude could boomerang in your favor.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You could hit "jackpot" if you draw line between wishful thinking and intuitive intellect. Don't "force" hunches. Fine line today between what you WANT to feel. . . . and what you WANT to feel.

★ ★ ★

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you have great sympathy for underdog and can gain much from very little encouragement. You actually do better when odds are against you. This year you benefit from advice offered by older individual who cares about your interests.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for CAPRICORN, AQUARIUS, PISCES. Tendency is for most persons to break traditions. Look for news in connection with aviation and sea journeys. The unusual is highlighted.

'Couldn't Let Him Fry'

Honor Three Michigan Heros

By ROBERT IRVIN
United Press International

"Sure you get scared. But it all happens so fast you don't have a chance to think about dying. You just see a man laying there and you can't let him fry."

Donald S. Nowak, of Manistee, was recalling the night last July 6 when he saved another man from being electrocuted.

For his deed in rescuing Wayne L. Biers of Flier City, Nowak today was awarded a bronze medal by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission in Pittsburgh.

Two other persons from Michigan also were cited for risking their lives to save others last year.

William H. Peck, of Mason, was singled out for dragging Carolyn M. Conorton, 17, of Holt, from her burning car before it exploded.

Clarence V. Smith, of Saginaw, was honored for rescuing 14-year-old Richard J. Haller after the youth fell from a railroad bridge into the Saginaw River.

Nowak, 26, was on guard at a Manistee filter plant when Biers, another worker, called to report a grass fire outside the building. Biers started to fight the flames with a small extinguisher.

But the 35-year-old Biers didn't notice a sagging power line in the field. He fell across it. The 7,200-volt line knocked him unconscious. Sparks crackled over his body.

★ ★ ★

Nowak arrived and after several tries grabbed Biers' jacket and dragged him away. Biers was hospitalized for severe burns but recovered.

OTHER HEROICS

Smith, 25, a railway signal maintainer, saw the Haller boy in the water calling for help. Smith jumped in, struggled with the frightened boy and then towed him 45 feet to shore.

Peck, 33, a power company tree trimmer, was sitting in his house one night last June when a car driven by the Conorton girl crashed into a tree across the street and overturned.

The car burst into flames. Peck heard the girl screaming. He ran across the street and tried to put out the flames with a fire extinguisher. The doors were jammed so he kicked out a window.

★ ★ ★

Peck reached in, grabbed Miss Caronton and pulled her from the car. The tires blew out from the heat and minutes later the fuel tank exploded, enveloping the car in flames.

Two-Day Fete to Salute Nation's Medal of Honor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will open a two-day observance here Saturday of the first presentation, in 1863, 'of the nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.

Some 275 descendants of the six Union spies who received the first medals are expected to be on hand for the White House ceremony. There also will be a special program at a Washington park and commemorative services at the Washington Cathedral.

The six winners were part of a group of 21 Ohio soldiers and a professional spy who commandeered a Confederate train north of Atlanta, Ga. in 1862. Their plan was to burn railroad bridges and wreck telegraph lines on the 100-mile route to Chattanooga, Tenn., but Confederate soldiers gave chase and foiled the plan.

The medal was given freely until the turn of the century. Now it is given only for extreme personal bravery or self-sacrifice in combat or for outstanding peacetime exploits beyond the call of duty.

You can't win. If you praise your wife too much she thinks she's too good for you; if you stop praising her, she thinks you don't love her any more. . . . Taffy Tuttle says her roommate is very athletically inclined—she's been divorced from a football player, a baseball player and a boxer.

—Earl Wilson.

Boat Finds Berth in Swimming Pool

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The heated waters of a motel swimming pool provide a snug winter berth for Norman Sherman's 25-foot cabin cruiser.

The motel borrowed it for use as a Christmas decoration and then decided, along with Sherman, it would be mutually beneficial to leave it there until summer. Sherman won't have to worry about ice damage to the hull. And the motel plans to offer it on a charter basis for cocktail parties.

Says Freeways Not a Cure-All

Mayor Cavanagh Tells Senate Probers Mass Transportation Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh has told a Senate Housing subcommittee that freeways are not the complete answer to relieving traffic congestion.

★ ★ ★

In a statement read to the committee by Glenn Richards, commissioner of the Detroit Department of Public Works, Cavanagh said freeways being built as part of the interstate system are doing much to relieve traffic congestion but that mass transportation also is badly needed.

The subcommittee is holding a hearing on President Kennedy's request for $500 million stretching over the next three years to tackle the problems.

Sabotage Is Suspected in Bank of Cuba Blaze

HAVANA (AP)—The Communist newspaper Hoy said it was presumed that saboteurs set the towering fire that broke out Tuesday night on scaffolding surrounding the incomplete 20-story National Bank of Cuba.

Six persons were reported treated for smoke inhalation from the fire, which firemen controlled after several hours.

Cleveland, Ohio, is served by five railroads, 11 airlines, eight inter-city bus lines and 150 motor-freight lines.

Quarter-Cent Gas Tax Asked to Pay for Bridge

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — The Cheboygan County Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution Wednesday asking the legislature to levy a gasoline tax of one-fourth of a cent with the anticipated revenue being allocated to the Mackinac Bridge Authority for retiring outstanding bridge bonds.

Board spokesmen said the tax would be a means of reducing tolls on the bridge.

Seek Man Who Robbed Midtown Detroit Bank

DETROIT (AP) — Police and FBI agents today sought an unidentified gunman who fled from a midtown branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. Wednesday with $1,990.

★ ★ ★

Police said the gunman fled from the Grand River and Warren branch bank in a 1957 Ford. Witnesses said the man carried a revolver.

Auto Prices Muddled

Steel Issues Recover Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—A slight recovery by steels and gains by selected issues featured a mixed stock market early this after noon. Trading was moderate.

Gains and losses of most key stocks went from fractions to a point or so.

* * *

The steels, battered down in yesterday's selloff, were priced attractively enough to attract some buyers, but there was little emphasis in their comeback and gains were strictly limited.

* * *

Record earnings for General Motors was accompanied by a fractional gain in that stock but a muddled price pattern in autos as a group.

RESPONDS TO RFK

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's announcement that the Government will not appeal the final judgment in the decision on how du Pont must divest itself of its 63 million shares of GM stock was received well by the market. Du Pont recovered more than 2 points, adding some beef to the stock averages.

* * *

The background of corporate earnings was good but stocks continued to show little appreciation. Other news also was favorable. Higher auto sales this month and a jump in machine tool orders were reported.

* * *

Studebaker - Packard reported its quarterly loss was only $2.6 million compared with $6.5 million in the year ago quarter. The stock was firm, as was American Motors. Chrysler dipped a fraction and Ford, off nearly a point, continued backing away from its spurt of a couple of days ago.

Prices were irregularly lower in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange. Mead Johnson dropped more than 2. Losses of more than a point were taken by Anken Chemical, Aerojet-General Bell Telephone of Canada, and Murray Ohio Manufacturing. New Haven Clock was an active fractional loser. Also on the downside were R. C. Williams, Occidental Petroleum and Valspar. Canadian Javelin, Syntex, Sunset were fractional gainers.

Bonds Mostly Unchanged

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices were mostly unchanged at the start of trading today despite an unexpected drop in the British bank rate.

Normally such a move would help bond prices but today investors were holding off commitments until after the treasury discloses plans for the May refunding program. The terms were due to be made public after the close of today's session.

The British reduced their bank rate to 4½ per cent from 5 for the fifth cut since July and the third in six weeks. The rate sets the interest pattern for all lending in the country.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities said the only price changes at the start were a few small advances by the longest issues. Volume was at a minimum.

Robert Pullem, 38, was held on $25,000 bond on a charge of aiding and abetting a bank robbery.

Both Fry and Pullem demanded examination at their arraignment in U.S. District Court yesterday. It was set for May 24.

Police said Pullem drove Fry and a second man sought in the bank robbery, Josephus Mance, 30, of Flint, in a car after the robbery.

★ ★ ★

Fry and Pullem were arrested in Flint Tuesday night. Mance still sought by FBI agents and Flint police.

Fry, police said, also is wanted on federal warrants for two holdups of the Damen Savings and Loan Association in Chicago.

Nuclear Tests May Hinder Pacific Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. atomic tests are likely to interfere with certain communication circuits and force cancellation of some airline flights over the Pacific.

Planes will be unable to transmit vital information on the affected radio frequencies, making it unsafe for them to fly,

The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) said yesterday that the interruption of communications will be a byproduct of tests at Johnston Island.

The first blast in the American test series was set off yesterday near British-owned Christmas Island. The Atomic Energy Commission has staked out a danger area around Johnston Island effective next Monday.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Ayer Cup for excellence in newspaper typography, make-up and printing has been awarded for the second time to the Christian Science Monitor.

The Boston newspaper won the award in 1943 and has been cited in 14 previous contests.

The cup is awarded by N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc.

A total of 776 daily English-language newspapers were judged on their March 14 issues. The date was chosen by lot after all issues of that week were published.

★ ★ ★

The Milwaukee Journal copped honorable mention for newspapers of more than 50,000 circulation. The New York Times won second honorable mention and the Arizona Journal third.

"Rapid Progress Being Made in Use of N-Power'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rapid progress is being made toward the control of thermonuclear fusion—to harness the power of the hydrogen bomb for the production of electricity, an Atomic Energy Commission scientist said Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Arthur E. Ruark, chief of the thermonuclear research division of the AEC, told newsmen that laboratories in this country and in western Europe were solving many of the problems.

★ ★ ★

But he tempered his optimism by saying that so far it was not proved that this sort of reaction could be controlled for the production of usable power. He held a news conference shortly after speaking to the American Physical Society.

Orange Hair Gets 17 Youths Sent Back to Parents

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Orange hair is improper for school, 17 high school boys here were told. The principal, J. Earl McCall, sent them home earlier this week when they returned from Easter vacation with their hair dyed various shades of orange.

PREDICTED FALLOUT BELT — The shaded area on each side of the U.S. nuclear test sites in the Pacific — Christmas and Johnston islands — illustrates the expected tropospheric fallout belt around the globe in the early stages of the forthcoming nuclear tests. Prevailing wind patterns in the equatorial regions of the islands indicate troposphere fallout will extend 1,000 miles north and 1,000 miles south of Christmas and Johnston islands as it drifts around the earth. Darker area indicates fallout overlap.

Would Separate New Document for Voters

Dems to Fight Apportiement Plan

LANSING (AP) — Democrats have set in motion a plan which they hope will kill off a Republican-sponsored legislative reapportionment proposal which won 81-45 adoption in Michigan's constitutional convention yesterday.

The Senate would be increased four members to 38; the House continued at 110, Oakland County would get another senator immediately and probably another after the 1970 census.

Nine Democrats, headed by convention Vice President Tom Downs of Detroit, submitted a resolution calling upon the convention to put its new constitution to the voters in separate section.

To be effective, however, their resolution must win committee approval to get to the floor and then be adopted by the convention.

It proposes that items which have won overwhelming bipartisan approval be lumped into a single package for submission to the voters "and those highly controversial be submitted as separate items so that voter antipathy to one controversial item will not jeopardize" passage.

Downs declined to say whether he might oppose the whole new constitution if his separation plan fails. But among those in the gallery as yesterday's apportionment adoption came was AFL-CIO President August Scholle, a power within the Democratic party.

Before the vote was taken, Scholle said he would "vigorously oppose" any new constitution carrying the Republican-written plan in which weight is given to area as well as population in laying out districts.

Republicans, who hold two-thirds of the convention's 144 seats, left no doubt, however, they want a four-year, 38-member Senate elected from districts laid out on a formula that gives 80 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent to area.

They also, over Democratic protests, approved continuation of a two-year, 110-member House of representatives — but under an apportionment plan which they said would give the Democrats more nearly what they're demanding.

Downs and other Democratic delegates have insisted both houses be apportioned on a strict population basis, and at times have adopted Scholle's "one-man, one-vote" battle cry.

George Romney, a convention delegate and Republican candidate for governor, insists the new plan "importantly improves" apportionment of both houses and allocates House membership "almost on a strict population basis."

Democrats, if they can beat the new apportionment proposal, pin their hopes on the courts for reapportionment on a strict population basis.

JFK Asks Copy of Editor's Talk With Khrushchev

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy has asked for a complete transcript of the interview Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave Gardner Cowles, American newspaper and magazine executive.

Khrushchev talked for nearly three hours last Friday with Cowles and told him among other things that he agrees with Kennedy that accord on crucial issues must precede a new summit meeting.

Word that Kennedy had asked for a transcript of the interview came from sources here where the President is vacationing. These informants said the President had no comment on the interview and probably would have none after reading the transcript but desired to see it.

Bomb Hoax Disrupts House Unit Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bomb scare sent members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities hurrying into the street where 150 persons were picketing them.

★ ★ ★

"A bomb has been put in the building and will go off in 25 minutes. It'll blow you to kingdom come."

All 2,100 of the building's employes and 700 visitors also were removed. All filed back after authorities searched the premises.

Senator Offers 33 Feet of Names Opposing Tax

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Riemer Van Til, R-Holland, has presented the House with "33 feet of opposition to an income tax."

The lawmaker yesterday unrolled a petition containing some 1,400 names of persons—mostly from the Holland area—calling for a statewide vote on a state income tax.

Van Til described the petition as "a ground swell of grass roots opposition to an income tax." It indicated "opposition not only to the tax, but to wild state spending," he said.

★ ★ ★

To Check Water, Food From Pacific

Set Tests for Radioactivity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tuna, coconuts, seawater and milk will undergo intensive scientific testing to determine how much radioactivity is being generated by the U.S. atmospheric nuclear test series that began yesterday in the Pacific.

A far-flung weather network was in operation to determine wind movements. Aircraft, ships, balloons and rockets were being used at 15 special weather stations.

Scientific monitoring personnel were stationed on such Pacific islands as Tutuila, Viti Levu, French Frigate Shoal, Penrhyn and Tongatapu.

The precautions taken by the United States underscored the administration's determination to allay as much as possible world apprehensions over the dangers of radioactive contamination both in the Pacific test area itself and throughout the world.

Guido Announces He Will Organize a New Cabinet

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Jose M. Guido announced last night he will form a cabinet within 48 hours to help steer Argentina back to normalcy.

★ ★ ★

He announced also that new elections, previously promised within 90 days, will not be held until Oct. 27, 1963.

Teacher Asks for Mark Twain Books in Africa

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Burton Rudman, formerly of St. Louis and now a school teacher in a remote section of Africa, has asked his home state for a set of books by Mark Twain, a native of Missouri.

He said he wanted the books to introduce something new in the form of lectures, believing Mark Twain would be most applicable of all American writers.

Rudman said the school doesn't have sufficient funds to order the books from abroad."

Missouri Gov. John Dalton said he hoped "some kind-hearted Missourian" will accommoderate Rudman, who gave his address P.O. Box 262, Kampala, Uganda, East Africa.

'Shelters Built So We Can Come Out Fighting'

LANSING (AP) — "If the only reason to build a shelter is to save your life—you might as well die in it," a leading health official said here.

★ ★ ★

"We must build shelters so we can come out fighting," said Dr. Kirk Mosley, Oklahoma state health commissioner.

Mosley, addressing a Michigan health mobilization tra ing course in Lansing, said the chief problem in interesting the general public in civil defense is one of "moral fiber and integrity . . . that medical men can't control."

★ ★ ★

It is the same problem involved in deaths caused by the misuse of automobiles, food, alcohol and cigarettes, he said.

Living 'Clock' Aid to Science

Astronomer Introduced Dating Device With Reading of Three Rings

WASHINGTON — Thirty-odd years ago, a distinguished astronomer demonstrated the use of a living 'clock' that put a new tool into the hands of archeologists and students of climate.

The scientist was Andrew Ellicott Douglass, whose recent death at the age of 94 has ended a long and fruitful career. By developing a method for reading tree rings—a technique called dendrochronology after Greek words for tree and time—he introduced an ingenious dating device.

Dr. Douglass worked out his system in the 1920s in a series of expeditions sponsored by the National Geographic Society to excavate and study long-abandoned Indian settlements of the Southwest. With its guidance, he established the age of many pre-Columbian ruins.

Dendrochronology is based on the fact that a growing tree adds a layer to its trunk each year. Cut across, the layers resemble rings, each with varying width and make-up caused by seasonal breaks in temperature or rainfall.

Where changes are sharp, the marks are as distinctive as fingerprints.

By counting the rings of trees whose felling time is known, and matching overlapping patterns with successive older generations, experts can trace a chain of living timepieces hundreds of years back.

TEMPORARY TENANTS — Mr. and Mrs. Robin don't operate this maternity shop in suburban Bridgeville near Pittsburgh but they like its sign. This is the second straight year they have made their home on top of the sign.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Are you growing weary of the Roman fling of Liz Taylor and Richard Burton? Getting sort of sick to your stomach of it and them?

Have you been thinking that maybe Dickie's as daffy as Liz is? And wondering where one would leave a great big bottle of rat poison out for both of them?

It's rather hard to keep your sense of humor about these two. Shelley Winters—being female, and an actress—has her private theory.

"Maybe she's just doing this," said Shelley, "so she can make Burton 'friendly' and steal all the scenes from him in 'Cleopatra.' Everybody'll be asking, 'what happened to Burton?'"

"Is that the way you'd do it?" we asked Shelley — who sniffed.

WILSON

Shelley—self-producing "Faster, Faster" on Fire Island this summer — says it'll be difficult while she's starting in "Iguana" — she adds: "I'll have to act faster." The film'll roll as soon as Henry Weinstein finishes producing the Marilyn Monroe film begun Monday. Meeting MM at a party here, Shelley shook her bodice at her and said, "I need Henry for my picture — so SHOW UP FOR WORK, will you?"

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP)—Dresses made of paper and disposable paper shirts will be worn within a few years, a forestry expert predicts.

B. E. Allen, manager of the woodlands division of the Union Bag Camp Corp., told the fifth annual Ware County Forestry Festival Wednesday that paper shirts will be on sale at coin-operated machines in the near future.

Teamsters Eye Master Contract

Hoffa Would Bargain for 1.7 Million Men at One Time

CHICAGO (UPI) — The International Brotherhood of Teamsters, biggest union in the country, plans to seek a master contract for the vast majority of truck drivers in the 1.7-million member union.

The execution of the contract would give the giant union vast new powers in the transportation industry through collective bargaining with employers on a nationwide scale.

The prospect of such a contract has sparked congressional efforts to curb the power of the Teamsters Union by bringing it under provisions of antitrust laws applicable to business.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., recently urged passage of a bill he introduced in the Senate putting both the Teamsters and the West Coast International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union under antitrust laws.

He said the Teamsters Union "is now powerful enough by itself to put a strangle hold on all of our nation's economy by calling a nationwide strike."

Harold Gibbons, union vice president and Hoffa's executive assistant, said the proposed master contract would be negotiated "around 1964" when most of the Teamster contracts expire.

Antisocialistic, Racist Teaching Urged in Schools

JACKSON (UPI) — Mississippi High School students would be taught that socialism is evil and Negroes are biologically inferior to whites under two bills passed by the House of Representatives yesterday.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The other would provide for a series of seminars to teach students and instructors "the evils of socialism and the basic philosophy of communism."

Fertilizing Pays Off, Says Farm Specialist

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — One dollar will get up to $10 in returns from cultivated pasture fertilization, extension pasture specialist George McBee of Texas A&M College says.

McBee says a pasture, like other crops, needs enough plant food. A soil test is the best means of finding out what the pasture needs, he adds.

A ton of grass hay contains about 30 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphoric acid and 30 pounds of potassium, whereas a ton of legume hay has 25 per cent more of these elements.

OAS Bombs Airliner, Steps Up Terrorism

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Terrorists blew up a four-engine airliner at Algiers' Maison Blanche Airport today and staged a series of hit-and-run raids in the city itself despite reinforced security patrols.

★ ★ ★

Nine Moslems were killed and 11 others wounded in scattered attacks by commandos of the Secret Army Organization (OAS) in Algiers by 11 a.m.

★ ★ ★

A powerful bomb ripped through an American-built Lockheed Constellation owned by Air Algerie parked on the airfield outside Algiers. There were no reports of casualties.

Feels Teachers Can Play Key Ecumenical Role

DETROIT (AP) — A public school administrator said today teachers can play a key role in fostering ecumenical spirit in the nation's youth.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Charlotte Gmeiner, supervisor of Detroit public kindergartens, said in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the National Catholic Education Association that teachers can promote the ecumenical spirit without violating the traditional doctrine of separation of church and state.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gmeiner said children can learn the ecumenical spirit through the direct actions of the teacher because each child can see "what you believe in."

★ ★ ★

"What you believe is the woven plaid of how you work with others. How you work with others pointedly affects learning," she said.

Burt Lancaster Defends Walkout on TV Program

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Burt Lancaster, who walked out on a television show, says he felt that Mike Wallace, his TV host, "was more interested in sensationalism rather than the area of discussion agreed upon."

★ ★ ★

Thieves No Worry for Beekeepers

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI) — One thing a beekeeper doesn't have to worry about is thieves, according to the New York State Extension Service.

"Because bees sting, beekeepers have little trouble with vandals or curious people," the service's publication said.

It also said some beekeepers make a living by traveling to Florida for the winter. The beekeepers rent their charges out to citrus grove owners for pollinization.

Bees in New York state this past year produced about 10 million pounds of honey for their 300 keepers.

Long-Titled Shows Blossom on Video

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The hour-long television program really blossomed last season, but this has been the year in which titles became almost as long as the programs themselves.

For example, there was a "Naked City" episode called "Today the Man Who Kills the Ants is Coming." There is an upcoming "Route 66" show called "There I Am, There I Always Am."

Eight and nine word subtitles are routine.

LONG-TITLE PRONE

Producers of "actuals"—documentaries, public affairs and educational shows—are the most long title prone of the lot. CBS recently had a program whose official title was "The Great Challenge—U.S. and U.S.S.R.: Coexistence or Collision?"

★ ★ ★

NBC doesn't try to save words, either. A typical title for one of its documentary shows is "NBC White Paper No. II—Arms and the State," followed by an explanation of what the title means.

TRYING FOR PLUG

(Sponsors are forever trying to get little extra bonuses of plugs into official program names—"Perry Como's Kraft Music Hall" "Hallmark Hall of Fame," "Alcoa Premiere" and the like—but the device usually fails and the program is referred to as "The Perry Como Show," "Hall of Fame," and "The Fred Astaire Show.")

Ranger 4 Crash-Lands on Far Side of Moon

City Chiefs See Downtown Plan

Newsmen Told Craft More Complex Than Any Tried by Reds

GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP)—The U.S. spacecraft Ranger 4 crash-landed on the far side of the moon today and a space official called the feat another of the long strides in space made in the past year.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told newsmen Ranger 4 was much more complex than anything the Soviets have attempted.

Dr. William Pickering, director of NASA's jet propulsion laboratory which built Ranger 4, said that despite the failure of a key electronic system in the spacecraft the fact that it hit the moon "gives us confidence we can send instruments to the moon with the accuracy needed."

He said another Ranger to take close-up television pictures of the moon's surface will be launched by the end of the year.

★ ★ ★

Ranger 4 was this country's first success in seven attempts to land a piece of hardware on the moon, and virtually duplicated the Soviet accomplishment when Lunik II hit the moon Sept. 12, 1959.

64-HOUR TRIP

★ ★ ★

Although there was no way of seeing the actual impact, scientists said Ranger 4's trajectory before passing behind the moon assured that it would land in the predicted area.

★ ★ ★

OOPS! — This truck dumped its load of scrap tubing at the wrong address yesterday when its brake line broke near the top of a hill on E. Third Street in Rochester. The truck, driven by George F. Steiger of 5015 Durham, Pontiac, slid backwards down the hill into the 211 E. Third St. home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hall, who were not home. Steiger was not injured, but the house was scarred and the sidewalk crushed.

Need for Jet Area Airport 'Uncertain,' Claims Hamlin

A possible change of direction on the proposed county jet major airport was expressed yesterday by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and one of the original promoters of the controversial plan to establish the airfield in Pontiac and Orion Townships.

NEED UNCERTAIN

Speaking at a meeting of the board's aviation committee, Hamlin declared the projected need for a major airport in the metropolitan area is uncertain at this time.

He pointed out that there is a two-year lapse since the survey to ascertain the need was completed for the county by Landrum & Brown, aviation consultant firm.

"Since then thinking might have changed to where only one major airport (Wayne Metropolitan Airport) ever will be needed in the area," Hamlin said.

Committee member Ray Lahti, supervisor from Wixom, moved that the county rehire Landrum & Brown to supplement their report with information covering the interim.

The motion died with the opinion that the Federal Aviation Agency will take into consideration latest trends in aviation in deciding whether to approve the proposed airport location a mile north of Pontiac.

At any rate, the county has no intention of proceeding further with the plans, which would mean the purchase of additional property, without FAA approval, committee chairman Phillip Rowston, Pontiac supervisor, stated. "Such efforts could be all in vain," he said.

The county already has purchased 445 acres, including the Allen Airport, a private enterprise, on Giddings Road. This will serve as a nucleus for further expansion, Hamlin has said, in the event the county goes ahead with plans to develop a major airport here.

In view of the waiting action, pending the FAA's decision, the committee decided to table a study of likely costs for the airport. The study was ordered by the board of supervisors April 10, to be completed within five months.

Word of the FAA's decision is expected by late June or early July, according to Hamlin. If the decision favors establishing the proposed airport, the committee is expected to follow up with the cost estimates.

The committee agreed, meanwhile, to prepare a form letter explaining the board of supervisors' airport plans and actions to date. The letters will be sent to municipal governments in the county.

Pictures of Gleaming Shoppers' Plaza, Park Painted for Leaders

By DICK SAUNDERS

How would you like to park on a multistory parking ramp above a half-block north of the Pontiac Press, step from your car onto an escalator and ride it up to an air conditioned arcade spanning three city blocks and overlooking a gleaming shoppers' plaza we used to call N. Saginaw Street?

This is but one of many fantastic pictures of the future Downtown Pontiac painted yesterday for city, business and professional leaders in the $40,000 Central Business District Plan.

The plan, for which the Downtown Development Group and city each paid half, has been in preparation since early 1961 by a team of the nation's top flight planning specialists under the direction of Greer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

The central business district lies entirely within the proposed perimeter road scheduled also to be under construction late in 1963.

DETAILS METHODS

Basically, the plan lists present negative and positive facts about Downtown Pontiac. It details methods of overcoming the negatives and of emphasizing positives.

The plan breaks the CBD into three sections: North, central and south downtown. North downtown is north of Huron Street, central downtown is between Huron and Pike Streets and South downtown is south of Pike.

Suggested features here include an air conditioned arcade which would be the main pedestrian route, stretching from Pine Street on the west to Perry on the east along a line just north of Warren Street.

The arcade would be fed at both ends by escalators from the bus station, vast parking lots and multistory parking ramps.

It is described as "a very pleasant walk lined with small shops, giving entrance to large department stores and overlooking a central shoppers plaza."

Saginaw Street would end at Huron, North of that it would become a series of small plazas and malls leading to the central plaza in the heart of the North section. The shopping district here would be surrounded by vast parking areas.

Parking areas would also surround the central section, but to a

SHOT TO DEATH — Coroner and police examine this sports car in which two men and a woman were shot to death by what police believe was a machine gun or a repeating rifle as they drove through Elmwood Park, Ill., near Chicago this morning.

Shots Ring Out, Kill Three on Quiet Illinois Street

ELMWOOD PARK, Ill. (AP)—A volley of gunshots killed two men and a woman before dawn today as they motored along a quiet residential street in this Chicago suburb. The car crashed into a house.

Neighborhood residents said they heard a number of rapidly fired shots. The victims were identified tentatively by police as Phillip Scavo, 36, of Elmwood Park; Ronald Scavo of Chicago; and a woman first identified as Marianne Martarono because of the name on an identification card, in a wallet she carried.

The owner of the wallet, however, said she had lost it a month ago.

Phillip Scavo had $1,118 in cash on his person, police said. Ronald Scavo carried $207.

Police said Phillip Scavo was shot once in the left side of the neck, the woman twice in the head, and Donald Scavo had a neck wound. The three victims had bled profusely.

POLICE CALLED

Police Sgt. Robert Olsen said the bodies were found after he received a telephone call to investigate an auto accident.

Mrs. Kornfeind told the Associated Press she was awakened about 3:45 by a loud crash and a screech of brakes.

"My husband and I jumped out of bed and then we heard shots. My husband called police and I looked out the window," she said.

★ ★ ★

Olsen said skid marks made by the victims' sports car indicated the auto had been jammed into reverse gear, plowed across the Kornfeinds' lawn and smashed into the house.

Test Purpose: Most Efficiency

Check Data on N-Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the United States will make every possible effort to achieve a treaty banning nuclear tests in spite of the new round of atmospheric tests in the Pacific.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists today checked preliminary data from the first blast in the new U.S. nuclear test series to see if it yielded significant information on improving the efficiency of American atomic weapons.

The new series got under way Wednesday over remote Christmas Island in the Pacific with the explosion of a research and development device, rather than a finished atomic weapon.

A similar device likely will be used for the second blast—expected in a few days — as the United States pursues one of the major goals of the new test series: greater weapons efficiency.

REACTION

Reaction in the wake of the opening blast was as expected. In Congress, Democratic and Republican leaders said there had been no alternative but to test again in the atmosphere, the Soviet Union loosed a vehement attack on the United States and from other nations there was a mixed chorus of denunciation and approval.

Some U.S. officials predicted anew that Russia would now follow through—and soon—with another test series of her own.

Adams Retires as Wings' GM

Sid Abel to Succeed Hockey Veteran and Double as Coach

He will be succeeded by coach Sid Abel, who will be both coach and general manager in the 1962-63 season.

Adams said he will serve in an advisory capacity to the Detroit team in the National Hockey League.

Adams said in a statement issued in Olympia Stadium, home of the Red Wings:

"After being happily engaged in professional hockey for 44 years, I now feel that the time has come for me to bow out. I have talked this over with Bruce Norris, owner of the Wings, and he went along with my decision to retire.

"I am very satisfied and happy with the financial arrangements for my retirement. I wish to take this opportunity to thank the press, radio and TV for the many kindnesses and cooperation throughout the years.

HOPE FOR FUTURE

Mr. Norris has asked me to be available in an advisory capacity so I will not be completely out of the picture. The cycle has turned for the Red Wings with regard to young players and I feel they will be back in the top position in the not too distant future."

Adams, 66, a native of Fort William, Ont., originally came to Detroit in 1927 to take over as manager-coach of the 1-year-old Detroit hockey club. He had just completed a 18-season NHL career with Toronto, Vancouver and Ottawa.

During Adams' long career in Detroit, his name has been on the Stanley Cup nine times — twice as a player, as manager-coach three times and as manager four times.

Abel, 44, has been with the Wings since 1938. He spent 12 years as a player and was center of the famed Gordie Howe-Abel-Ted Lindsay line. He has been coach for four and a half years.

ZOO'S NEWEST — The little one's name is Harvey, and momma casts a weary eye at newsmen during its debut at the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak. She thinks Harvey is something very special — and she's right. Weighing 75 pounds at birth, April 19, he is only the fifth rhinoceros born in the United States. Mother Manda and the papa, named Colo, were presented to the Zoo in 1957, when two years old. The zoo opens May 10.

Zorin Charges Aggressive Act

Claims U. S. N-Tests Pushing World Closer to 'Inevitable War'

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin angrily charged today that the new American nuclear tests were "an aggressive act directed against the whole world which has pushed us closed to the abyss of inevitable war."

Zorin told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union was now compelled "to take the necessary measures to protect its security"—presumably a new series of Soviet atmospheric tests.

But neither Zorin nor any of the other four Soviet bloc delegates walked out of the conference, as they threatened last week to do if the United States launched its new test series. Western officials believe the Soviet government is anxious to conduct more atmospheric tests and has only been waiting for the start of the American series to provide a convenient propaganda pretext.

REASSURES CONFERENCE

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean assured the conference that a quick and permanent ban on nuclear testing remains a "prime objective" of United States policy. He stressed that the new test series was made necessary by the Soviet Union's violation of the three-year-old test moratorium last September and its refusal to negotiate a properly safeguarded test ban treaty.

★ ★ ★

The delegates of Brazil and the United Arab Republic, speaking for the eight nonaligned nations at the conference, deplored the American test series but urged that the negotiations should be speeded up to bring the nuclear arms race to a halt.

American officials said Dean privately told the eight middle-road delegations Wednesday that the new American tests should not be permitted to halt the test ban negotiations.

City Scout District Re-Elects 3 Officers

Harold B. Wright of 145 E. Huron St. was chosen to serve his second year as chairman. Re-elected to new terms as vice chairmen were Kenneth Goff, 241 Douglas Drive, Bloomfield Hills, and Norton R. Graham, 705 Joslyn Ave.

Lester McKinney, 1149 W. Huron St., was recommended to the Clinton Valley Council executive board to take over as district commissioner from retiring Glenn Lackey, 113 Kemp St.

Heading the awards, Lackey was presented with a special plaque for long service and "coffee pot" lamp for his role as "Chief Coffee Maker."

Lackey also was named district representative to the executive board with Gilbert Pierce, 618 Rasbob St.

Receiving scouter training awards were Edwin Boadway, 14 Cooley St.; Howard Bone, 1634 Inverness St.; W. Cleg Bordeaux, 664 Nichols St.; Howard Crawford, 27 N. Ardmore St.; Charles Duncan, 1239 Featherstone St., and Samuel K. Dow, 625 Cameron St.

Dow also received a veteran award for 10 years' service, as did Robert Bach, 416 Kuhn St.

More than 200 persons attended the annual meeting. Guest speaker was Circuit Judge Frederick Ziem, who discussed "Scouting and the Law."

Papers, Union to Resume Talks

Bargaining Meeting Slated Today; No Word Given on Progress

DETROIT (AP) — Management and International Typographical Union officials were scheduled to resume negotiations today in an effort to end a labor dispute which has halted publication of Detroit's two daily papers.

★ ★ ★

ITU Local 18 and the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, which represents both the morning Detroit Free Press and the afternoon Detroit News in contract negotiations, met yesterday for two hours.

There was no statement on progress toward ending the 15-day labor dispute and ITU picketing continued at both papers.

ITU members have picketed the Free Press and News since April 20 claiming they were "locked out" of their jobs because of a Teamsters strike at the Free Press.

CLAIM STRIKE ACTION

The association said ITU members as well as other craft union members had been asked to return to work April 20 and termed the picketing a strike action.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile the association also met yesterday with Local 13 of the Pressmen's Union. Members of that union have not reported for work since April 20.

Joseph Eckhout, Local 13 president, said the union made the publishers a new contract offer covering job substitutions, seniority and pensions.

The Pressmen and the publishers association agreed to meet again May 2.

However, Eckhout said the Pressmen would "return to work immediately" if the ITU withdraws its picket lines.

★ ★ ★

Old Wood Bridge Over Railroad on Fire Today

METAMORA — All trains were stopped short of a bridge south of town here this morning while fire departments from three neighboring villages helped local firemen fight a blaze that threatened to destroy the old wooden bridge.

NYC Chief Dispatcher E. J. Ross said he ordered all trains to stop and make sure of safety before proceeding under the bridge.

★ ★ ★

Con-Con Nears Talks on Rights

Delegates Cover Range of Subjects to Clear Way for Proposals

LANSING (AP) — Delegates to the constitutional convention, keeping a wary eye on the calendar, covered subjects ranging from atomic energy to eminent domain yesterday clearing the way for debate today on controversial civil rights proposals.

The convention was scheduled to take up a proposed section which supporters claimed would be the most advanced civil rights clause in any state constitution. It read:

"No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of race, religion, sex or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation."

As the convention kept pace with its self-imposed timetable aimed at a May 11 preliminary adjournment, delegates met yesterday in a session lasting from 9 a.m. to 11:30 p.m., with time out for lunch and dinner. They adopted proposals that would:

—Apportion the legislature along a Republican-sponsored plan, with Senate districts based on population and area factors and the House mainly on population.

—Provide that private property owners must get just compensation when their land is taken for public purposes.

In a terse announcement, similar in style to those that followed 29 announced underground tests, the Atomic Energy Commission described Wednesday's blast as "in the intermediate yield range." Other sources said word from Task Force 8 in the test area was that the firing was successful.

The device apparently was 5 to 25 times more powerful than the bomb that leveled Hiroshima toward the end of World War II.

But it was weak in comparison with some of this country's hydrogen bombs, rated at an explosive equivalent of 20 million tons of TNT.

The opening test device was dropped from an airplane, probably a B52 or B47 bomber. This indicated the explosion may have occurred below 30,000 feet—a relatively low-level blasts.

Later shots, around Johnston Island, will include some at high altitudes ranging from 30 to several hundred miles above the Pacific. These probably will be propelled upward by missiles.

A breakfast at 9 a.m. in the social hall will be followed with a meeting in the sanctuary.

Speaker at the meeting will be Rev. Gerald O'Grady, minister of Christ Church Cranbrook.

Leaders View Plans for Developing City

On this site, the plan says, a park, construction of pavilion displaying Pontiac products and an office building would be ideal.

Saginaw, south of Huron, becomes an automobile access area, not merely a street. "This central zone . . . gives values no shopping center, even the largest, can offer," the plan asserts.

The South section should be devoted to smaller stores, or stores with special lines of merchandise, and housing.

It is here that consultants suggest the development of an "executive motor hotel and prestige restaurant," and a landscaped parkway along Water Street from Saginaw to the Civic Center.

In the CBD fringe area, consultants suggest construction of "hi-rise apartments oriented toward couples, single persons, and retired persons, as well as development of a community college.

Planners emphasized that it is important that the State Highway Department put the M-59 link from the perimeter road to I75 freeway back in their immediate program plans. The link was dropped in January.

Opening last night's presentation, Mayor Robert Landry assured the capacity crowd "the City Commission will be behind this 100 per cent. There's a job to be done and only one thing to do. Let's get at it and get it done."

Monroe Osmun, president of the Downtown Pontiac Association (DPA), which now takes over the job, announced that Walter K. Willman, former city manager, will be executive director of the program for action sponsored by the DPA and chamber.

In answer to the consultants' warning that the whole plan hinged on private capital investment as its major source of financing, Osmun said "our entire program is geared for action. It's action that we need now and we intend to get it."

There is one motor vehicle for every 2.5 persons in this country. If the present trends continue, there will be 114 million motor vehicles in the United States by 1976.

10 Bills in Package Still Await Vote

Senators Return to Tax Battleground

LANSING (AP)— Thirty-three state senators, refreshed by food and sleep, take up today where they left off in a slam-bang verbal battle over attempts to give Michigan its first income tax.

The key skirmish ended yesterday after a 14-hour, all-night session when a coalition of Democrats and Republican moderates pushed through an income tax bill, 18-15, the minimum passage requirement.

It would produce $350 million a yaar by levying a three per cent tax on personal income, a five per cent levy on corporation income and a seven per cent tax on earnings of financial institutions.

Still to be put to a vote, however, were 10 other bills in the tax package worked out by the coalition. All or nearly all must clear the legislature before Gov. Swainson will sign them.

The Senate was scheduled to reconsider the income tax vote but Sen. Frank D. Beadle, R-St. Clair, deposed as Senate majority leader, predicted it would not be upset.

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols, R-Jackson, posed a further problem for the income tax contingent. The veteran lawmaker voted with the moderates on the question but served notice he'll withhold his vote — the crucial 18th — on the other measures unless the coalition backs a bill to exempt manufacturing machinery and equipment from local personal property taxes.

The bill, designed to spur industrial growth, is part of Gov. Swainson's tax reform program but was dropped out of the coalition package.

The next income tax test will be in the House. Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, R-Tipton, chairman of the House Taxation Committee and long-time advocate of an income tax solution to Michigan's fiscal woes, said the bills should have little trouble clearing his committee.

If the 54 House Democrats stick together, only Conlin and one other Republican will need to vote for the income tax to put it through the legislature.

Swainson, who stayed up all Tuesday night to follow the Senate debate, hailed passage of the income tax bill as "an enormous victory for the people of Michigan." But he added:

GOP Senators 'Taking Chance'

By JAC KBELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divided Senate Republicans fought a rear guard action today against a $2.6-billion public works proposal they called a raid on the Treasury and a potential presidential political weapon.

★ ★ ★

The tactical difficulty faced by the six GOP members of the Senate Public Works Committee—and it was shared by most of their party colleagues—lay in opposing the administration's proposal without being tagged as against public works.

PROMISES ALTERNATE

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-N.H., who foresaw possible effective political use of the program by President Kennedy, promised to come up with an alternative when the committee-approved measure is laid before the Senate later.

Prouty's aides said this was likely to be in the form of an amendment to limit presidentially directed expenditures to $600 million for chronic unemployment areas and to projects already authorized by congress.

The Republicans generally appeared willing to take the political chance of opposing a long range provision under which Kennedy would be authorized to spend up to $2 billion on projects he would select if a recession threatened.

Apportion Plan Faces Big Odds

"I'd say the odds are about 50 to 1 against it," said House Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan.

★ ★ ★

Pears made the prediction after House Republicans agreed informally in a closed-door caucus yesterday to stand firm against the Senate-approved proposal.

The measure would make a single congressional district out of all the Upper Peninsula but Chippewa and Mackinac counties in the eastern end. Those two counties, plus 22 counties in the northeastern lower peninsula, would form another, consolidating all but Bay and Midland counties in the present 10th District.

★ ★ ★

Other districts would be substantially altered.

"They're bad amendments," said Pears, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination in the south congressional district of southwestern Michigan. The incumbent, Rep. Clare Hoffman of Allegan, has announced he will retire.

Pears objects strongly to proposed addition of Kalamazoo County to the Fourth District, clearing the way for Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, author of the new plan, to enter the race.

The House speaker said Kalamazoo County would upset the even balance between industrial and rural voters in the district.

Bride Dies in Crash; Parents Off on Trip

TORONTO (AP)—Two Canadian couples were touring the eastern United States today, unaware that their children's brief marriage had ended in tragedy.

★ ★ ★

The honeymooning couple's car ran off the road six miles north of Port Henry, N.Y., Wednesday and smashed into a tree. Annette was killed and Joseph was taken to a hospital in Burlington, Vt., in serious condition.

Steels Picking Up

Wall Street in Uncertain Mood

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels recovered partially in a mixed stock market early today. Trading was moderately active.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Fractional gains were posted for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Inland. Jones & Laughlin recouped a point or so.

Buyers once again were nibbling at the steels which have been battered down to what some regard as "bargain" prices.

★ ★ ★

General Motors was up a fraction after reporting record earnings but motors as a group were irregular. Chrysler and Ford took small losses. American Motors was steady.

★ ★ ★

Mail order-retail stocks were up moderately, with Woolworth (ex dividend) recovering about a point but chemicals, nonferrous metals and oils, rails, utilities and tobaccos were mixed. Building materials and rubbers were mostly lower.

The business news background was fairly good but the Wall Street mood still remained uncertain. The scattered evidence of selective recovery was regarded as chiefly technical.

★ ★ ★

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange. Losses exceeding a point were shown by Mead Johnson and Aerojet-General. Insurance Co. of North America gained about a point. Losers included Anken Chemical, Snytex, Draper, Louisiana Land and Ogden.

Bonds Mostly Unchanged

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices were mostly unchanged at the start of trading today despite an unexpected drop in the British bank rate.

Normally such a move would help bond prices but today investors were holding off commitments until after the treasury disclosed plans for the May refunding program. The terms were due to be made public after the close of today's session.

The British reduced their bank rate to 4½ per cent from 5 for the fifth cut since July and the third in six weeks. The rate sets the interest pattern for all lending in the country.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities said the only price changes at the start were a few small advances by the longest issues. Volume was at a minimum.

Makers Report Top Auto Sales

Pontiac Division Sets New Record for First 20 Days of April

DETROIT (UPI) — Record and near record sales of automobiles in the first 20 days of April were reported today by the leading car manufacturers.

Pontiac sales of 36,544 units in the 20-day period were the best in the company's 36-year history. Oldsmobile reported a 64 per cent increase in sales over the same period last year, with 27,018 cars delivered to customers.

Dodge sales of 13,369 were the highest for a first 20-day selling period in six months and Cadillac sales of 8,778 units established a new April high in the division's 60-year history.

SETS NEW RECORD

Chevrolet sales for the 10-day period of April 11-20 set a new all-time company record of 66,607. That was almost 16 per cent higher than the previous record for the period set in 1960.

Buick also reported sales increases during the middle 10 days of the month. Buick dealers delivered 14,392 cars to show a 72 per cent increase over the same selling period last year.

Chrysler-Plymouth dealers posted big sale gains over 1961 as they sold 7,443 Chryslers and 17,656 Plymouth-Valiant units. The Chrysler sales were the best for that period in seven years.

Ford said its sales during the 20-day period were the highest for any 20 days in its history. Sales totaled 98,900 units, or an average of 5,800 per day. The previous high was the first 20 days of December, 1954, when Ford dealers delivered an average of 5,582 cars a day.

$2.6-Million Loss Reported in 1st Quarter by S-P

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Studebaker-Packard Corp. today reported a loss of $2.6 million for the first quarter of 1962, compared with a loss of $6.5 million in the first quarter of last year.

★ ★ ★

President Sherwood H. Egbert told the company's annual meeting "it is our belief that, although it is somewhat difficult to predict, the second quarter will be in the black."

Sales in the first quarter totaled $72.6 million against $61.6 million in the first three months of 1961.

Vehicle sales also were up despite a 40-day strike that halted auto building from Jan. 1 until mid-February.

★ ★ ★

Homemade 'Slingshot' Slays Bank Goliaths

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

★ ★ ★

Actually, the bank survived as did Morris. But if the bank emerged wiser from the fray, Morris emerged richer — almost $2 million worth.

For years the Bank of America had won the lion's share and then some of the underwriting of California State Bonds. That means the state of California floats a bond issue and the firm that submits the bid with the lowest interest charges to California gets to market the bonds.

The delicacy involved for the bidder is to offer the lowest interest rate for California yet still sell the bonds at a high enough return to entice buyers. It involves figuring out to four decimal places and somewhere in there the underwriter must allow for his cut for services rendered.

The Bank of America played the game so well that no one had bid against it for California bonds since 1956. Until last fall.

Morris, who had formed a partnership in 1959 with one Thomas C. Plowden-Wardlaw, an Albany, N. Y., attorney, had been a very minor member of the big Bank of America team. Morris' firm, which started with capital of $120,000, would get tossed a few bones. But as their capital grew, Morris thought the growth merited a little meat.

"We assumed the bank would give us a couple of hundred more bonds," Morris recalled. "One thing led to another, however, and the bank finally sent Morris a letter freeing him from his ties to its syndicate."

NOT TOO SORRY

"I was not overly sorry to see this," said Morris, who was already looking for pebbles for his sling.

Morris, 45, had graduated in 1937 from Princeton University with honors in math. He took a job in the actuarial department of the Equitable Assurance Society — "it was about the only opening for a mathematician then" — and eventually ended up working on their bond portfolio.

After World War II he worked for several Wall Street firms in bonds until he set up his own firm in three small rooms overlooking an air shaft.

All the while he was selling bonds, Morris saw a growing field for computers to cut corners in figuring interest charges in submitting underwriting bids.

"I never took any computer courses but I read a lot of books

It's a long trip to New Canaan," said Morris who lives on the commuting fringe in Connecticut.

$100-MILLION PACKAGE

The battlefield he chose was a $100-million portion of a $225-million underwriting California put up for bid last August.

He couldn't afford to bid on the whole thing because the required $100,000-good faith bond on the first $100 million took up most of the firm's capital.

Use of his computers and 15 minutes rental of an IBM computers' time down the street for $20 helped Morris cut his bid very fine.

The surprise of the Bank and California treasurer Bert Betts when they found a second bid had been entered turned to astonishment for the bank and pleasure for Betts when they found it $1.8 million lower than the big syndicate's.

There was some doubt on Wall Street Morris would be able to sell all his bonds but he did and, as he says with a modest smile "we made a little over a million."

SECOND KILLING

The next month Morris and Plowden-Wardlaw underbid the Bank on another $100 million issue, saving California over $1 million in interest charges and making $700,000 for the tiny firm.

The Bank has recouped since, outbidding Morris recently. But Betts has hailed the "restoration of competitive bidding in California bond sales."

From one side of his modern marble-top desk you can look out over the Hudson. From the other you can see the $600,000 IBM computer being installed behind glass partitions in the heart of the office suite.

Trim secretaries glide through the thick carpets and around the polished wood and metal desks. Where Morris used to have six employes B. C. — before California — he now has 18.

But if success has made him, it hasn't spoiled him.

He's bought a new house. "But outside of that it hasn't changed us much. We go out to dinner a little more, maybe. But I get the same train."

★ ★ ★

GM Earnings Set Record

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, the world's largest automobile producer, set new corporation earning and sales records in the first three months of 1962.

GM said yesterday its profit of $374 million in the January-March quarter equalled $1.31 a share and was up $9 million over the previous record quarterly earnings of $365 million or $1.28 a share set in the last three months of 1961.

Sales for the first three months of this year totaled $3,065,000,000 compared with $3,658,000,000 in the previous record quarter of January-March, 1960.

In announcing the earnings and sales figures, GM President John F. Gordon and Board Chairman Frederic G. Donner attributed the record level to a high level of general economic activity and strong customer preference for GM products.

SUM ON RECORDS

Donner and Gordon noted that $38 million of the first quarter profit came on a dividend from Ethyl Corp., paid on earnings of previous years. Both termed the dividend nonrecurring and said it amounted to eight cents a share for GM stockholders.

The GM officials said the customer demand for passenger cars in the first three months of this year "continued trends that had become evident in the last quarter of 1961."

Donner and Gordon also attributed higher earnings to the fact that hard top and higher priced models in all company lines have become hot sellers of the year.

Also noted by the GM executives was a slackening in the demand for less profitable compact models. Compacts have leveled off to about 33 per cent of the market in contrast to the 37 per cent they were holding last summer.

All GM divisions continue to report record sales for mid-April. April Chevrolet said its sales in the April 11-20 period totaled 66,607 units, up 41 per cent from a year ago and up 15.6 per cent from the previous record period of 1960.

Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Buick also reported high sales in the April 11-20 period. Cadillac reported a record; Olds its best since 1955 and Buick its best since 1956 and Pontiac said its sales were the highest in the 36-year history of the division.

Takes Option on Property for Plant at Eaton

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Owens-Illinois Glass Co., headquartered at Toledo, Ohio, has taken option on 159 acres in nearby Eaton Township with tentative plans to build a new glass container manufacturing plant.

R. H. Mulford, president, said the site selection was one outcome of a four-year study of national marketing conditions, location of existing industry, capacity and availability of fuel, raw materials, transportation and labor.

Mulford said whether his firm eventually decides to build on the optioned site depends upon several factors. They include results of current subsoil tests for construction purposes, rezoning of the tract for industrial use and further consideration and authorization of the project by the company's board of directors.

Indict Farm Tycoon in $828,577 Fraud

PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — Farm tycoon Billie Sol Estes was under indictment today on state charges of allegedly stealing $828,577 from six west Texas farmers by selling them phantom fertilizer tanks.

The eight indictments handed down last night by the Reeves County grand jury were the latest action against the 37-year-old boy wonder financier who already has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of fraud.
