Contests Board Action

Straley Asserts Promotions OK

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley today took issue with action of the Civil Service Commission in revoking promotions he had made of four police officers. Chief Straley asserted the promotions were "legal and will stand on the books as is."

Objecting to the commission action, Straley said the promotions will stand "until I have a written order from the civil service commission after they have received information and an answer from me about these promotions."

Straley said all of the promotions in question, that of Captain Joseph Koren, Lts. Harry E. Nye and Charles Gale and Lt. John A. DePauw were legally made by him.

The commission, in the discussion Wednesday night, requested these officers take competitive examinations in their respective rank provided the promotions did not comply with the civil service act.

Theodore Carlson, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, said today the four officers involved were provisional officers and had not taken the necessary examinations.

He added that although Nye and Gale were promoted before October, they were temporary measures made in emergencies since they had the prefix "Provisional" before the rank.

Straley said he had no comment concerning the provisional question.

"All of these men, with the exception of DePauw, were permanent in status as of April 4, the time of the enactment of the civil service law," he said.

"DePauw was made a full lieutenant May 11," he added.

Straley said the four questionable promotions were made "legally and for the good of the department." He claims they comply with the requirements of the Civil Service Act.

"There was no partiality, contrary to the thoughts of Mr. Carlson and the Pontiac Police Officers Assn.," he added.

The material for the commission's move to revoke the promotions were furnished by the liaison committee of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn.

Carlson, who represents the police and firemen on the commission, introduced the motion, which was unanimously passed.

In its monthly meeting Wednesday with the police, the commission also moved to have city personnel director Harold Marshall set the time, dates and eligibility list of the lieutenant and captain ranks which would be open if the questionable promotions did not comply with the act.

Commissioners Gerlad Guinan and Stuart Austin, were not available for comment today.

Straley had asked the commission to table the move until he could answer formally the illegal promotion charges, but the commission did not comply with his wishes.

12,000 Answers Fail to Claim $1,700 Treasure

Puzzle contestants really led our Pot-O-Gold judges a merry chase this week. Judges received nearly 12,000 entries, and never before have so many been so close to the correct solution. Although they didn't find a winner, it was certainly encouraging, and they're almost certain to find a winner soon if answers keep coming in the way they did for last week's Pot-O-Gold.

Remember, you still have four more days to get your entry postmarked for this week's puzzle. It appears on page 31 of today's Press.

If you want to check your answers for last week's Pot-O-Gold, turn to page 10. The explanations may give you some help for future puzzles. Be sure to get your entry mailed on time, because what could be worse than to have a correct solution and have it disqualified?

Orchard Lake Bridge Open to Full Traffic

Traffic was routed over the two westbound lanes for the first time yesterday. The two southbound lanes were put in use 10 days ago.

Opening of the bridge has all but completed the first phase of the project, a state Highway Department spokesman said.

The second phase, including the widening of Orchard Lake and the relocation of Telegraph under the bridge, started in May and is proceeding on schedule, the spokesman said.

The whole project is scheduled for completion in December.

Public Works Head Named

Birmingham's Manager Resigns Post to Direct County Department

Birmingham City Manager Harold K. Schone resigned last night to become acting director of Oakland County's new Department of Public Works.

Scheduled to take over the $17,500-a-year county post Aug. 1, Schone asked the Birmingham City Commission to relieve him of duties as soon as possible.

PLANS PROJECTS

As the acting DPW director, Schone will be in charge of planning and co-ordinating inter-community sewer and water projects.

His appointment, made yesterday, should hasten the first two projects assigned to the department, DPW board chairman Delos Hamlin said.

These are the proposed Evergreen and Farmington Interceptor Sewer systems, long-delayed projects that have been assigned top priority by the DPW board.

Schone has had experience in the preliminary planning for both projects, Hamlin pointed out.

The new acting director also was instrumental in bringing the new sewer and water agency into existence, Hamlin added.

As chairman of the Board of Supervisors' Legislative Committee, Schone helped obtain passage by the legislature this spring of the act which authorizes larger counties to set up public works departments.

Schone said in a letter of resignation that he was sorry to leave his Birmingham post, but

Hoffa's Future Placed in Hands of Trial Jury

Would Have Chance of Getting Beck's Post if Acquitted

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON—The future of Teamsters Union vice president James R. Hoffa will be placed in the hands of a jury of seven women and five men today.

Hoffa, charged with three counts of conspiracy and bribery, faces a possible penalty of 13 years in prison and a fine of $21,000.

If he should win acquittal, the Detroit Teamsters boss stands an excellent chance of succeeding Dave Beck as the $50,000-a-year president of the 1,400,000-member union.

The case will go to the jury after U. S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews instructs the jurors on the legal issues involved in a conspiracy case. She estimated that the instructions will require one hour.

Final arguments wound up late yesterday with the government contending that Hoffa had challenged the "legislative process of the country," while the defense declared that Hoffa was the victim of a "diabolically clever effort to trap" him.

Much of the closing arguments revolved about the personality and testimony of the government's key witness, John Cye Cheasty, who testified he was the man hired to provide Hoffa with secret information and documents from the Senate Rackets Committee's files.

Defense Attorney Edward Bennett Williams called Cheasty a "self-confessed falsifier" who contradicted himself 40 times in his testimony.

He said Cheasty was "careless with the truth where it affects another man's liberty and reputation."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Edward P. Troxell in rebuttal told the jury that Cheasty had spent nine full days on the witness stand and that the inconsistencies were minor.

Williams declared the prosecution could not find a "single inconsistency" in the testimony by Hoffa, and asserted that Troxell abruptly closed off his cross-examination because "you cannot cross-examine the truth."

Williams said Cheasty's story that Hoffa and Atty. Hyman I. Fischbach of Miami induced him to get a job with the committee, then bribed him to give them its secrets, was "so fantastically incredible that it scandalizes your intelligence."

Troxell, insisting that Cheasty "showed strength and character and courage to do what he did," said Hoffa "wanted a spy and he got one."

Hoffa testified that Fischbach recommended Cheasty as his co-counsel—and for no other purpose—in connection with Senate hearings into labor racketeering. He said that he didn't know until after his arrest March 13 that Cheasty had a job with the committee.

But Troxell argued that the evidence established that Cheasty told Hoffa Feb. 22 that he had been sworn in as an investigator for the committee.

Car in Which Three Lost Lives

The parents and an uncle were killed. The accident was a short distance from the park entrance.

Miss U.S. Is a Missus, Will Lose Her Title

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The stately, stunning Miss United States in the Miss Universe contest was disqualified today for being married.

The Maryland girl who gave her name as Miss Leona Gage but actually is the wife of an airman and mother of two sons, will be stripped of her title and prizes worth thousands.

NOT ELIGIBLE

Heir to the crown as fairest in the land is beauteous Miss Utah, runnerup in the Miss United States finals last Wednesday night. However, Charlotte Sheffield, 20, of Salt Lake City, can't be among the 15 finalists in Miss Universe judging tonight.

Contest officials said this is because she did not compete against 32 foreign beauties in the preliminaries last night, and thus could not be compared with them in official judging.

Leona was one of the 15 to enter the finals. Her place will be taken by the girl who was 16th.

DENIED REPORTS

Leona denied tearfully last night and again this morning that she was married—even in the face of reports from relatives and friends that she was.

Finally, this morning, she broke down and sobbed out the story to contest officials. Then she went into seclusion.

This is the first year contest rules have required that entrants be single.

Leona, who gave her age as 2., actually is 18. She was married in Wichita Falls, Tex., Feb. 3, 1954, to Gene Norris Ennis, 28, Air Force sergeant now stationed at Friendship International airport at Baltimore. They have two children, David Nathan, 2, and Gene Jr., 3.

Her winnings would have included: a $1,000 wardrobe, an $1,100 trailer, a $2,000 contract with a cosmetics firm and a trip to Europe.

Miss Utah inherits all these, with the possible exception of the wardrobe, which Leona already has picked up.

"We don't know what to do about that," a contest official said.

Another official added: "She's young and pretty and once she got into this thing, one thing just led to another."

Oscar Meinhardt, director of the international beauty pageant, said:

"She swore to us that she is not married and her sponsor insisted she is not."

Mrs. Clarence Long of Crisfield, Md., Leona's mother-in-law told newsmen that the girl came to her three weeks ago with the children and said she was going to try for the contest.

Mrs. Long kept the oldest child and the other was turned over to a family on a farm near Baltimore. Mrs. Long said Leona told her contest officials knew she was married.

After winning her title, Leona told a story of a rags to riches path to the contest. She said she and a cousin with whom she lived near Baltimore pooled $45 in savings to buy a dress to enter the Maryland contest. After winning that, she said the two of them split her round trip ticket and came here together, with practically no money.

She won the title in a dress borrowed from a Long Beach merchant and said afterward she had but $2 in cash.

A girl who gave her name to newsmen Wednesday night as Barbara Gage said she was Leona's cousin and told part of the rags to riches saga. She could not be located today and officials expressed doubt she is related to Leona.

Confirmation of the marriage came from the Air Force and Leona's mother, Mrs. Walter Briggs of Dallas, Tex.

Last night there was a scene of confusion after the rumors started flying.

The reports caused a backstage uproar unparalleled in the history of the contest. Newsmen, photographers and television cameramen closed in on the dark-haired Glen Burnie girl the moment last night's pageant—the selection of 15 semifinalists—drew to a close.

New A-Weapon Fired in Nevada

First Air to Air Rocket Flares in Target Area at 15,000 Feet

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The first air to air atomic rocket fired from a plane burst over the desert today with a flash that paled the morning sun.

WEAPON EXPLODES

The Air Defense Command's newest and most powerful weapon exploded at 7 a.m.

The vivid fireball flared in the target area at an altitude of more than 15,000 feet and sent up a pink doughnut-shaped cloud.

VAPOR TRAIL

As the rocket's cloud rose in stately fashion into clear blue sky, the vapor trail of an airplane, probably the launcher, cut sharply away to the north.

Col. J. H. Atkinson, commander of the Air Defense Command, disclosed before the test that air to air rocket with atomic warheads already are in the inventory of his force. The weapons are designed to knock down invading bombers.

Col. Atkinson said defense command planes do not carry these weapons but they could be put into use in a matter of minutes.

When the rocket exploded, five defense command officers were on the ground directly beneath it to study blast and flash effects. They had no protection, and were not expected to need any.

Mrs. Don Weiss of Flint, four-time state women's amateur champion, was on her way to winning her 5th title at Orchard Lake Country Club today.

Mrs. Weiss held a 5-up lead over Marge Watkins of Grosse Pointe after 14 holes. The play would continue this afternoon toward 36-holes until the match was decided.

In the mixed best ball feature tourney, Lloyd Syron and Mrs. Harold Martell, Bob Babbish and Mrs. Joseph Koss, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hilkene of Birmingham all finished in a three-way tie for first with scores of 76.

Burkemo Shoots 33, Leads 4-Up in PGA

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Claude Harmon, a successful businessman golfer with a great short game, took the sting out of Tommy Bolt's attack today and led, 1 up, at the nine-hole turn in their fourth round match in the 39th PGA championship.

Bold-playing Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., who won the PGA in 1953 and was finalist two other times, fired a dazzling 33 on the out nine and led veteran Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., 4 up at the turn.

Lionel Herbert of Lafayette, La., led massive Mike Souchak of N. Y., 1 up, at the ninth.

Car Demolished When Leaving Kensington Park

Parents, Uncle of Boy on Way to Get Help for Injured Lad

Three persons were killed and a three-year-old boy was injured Thursday night as their car left a Kensington Metropolitan Park roadway, smashing into a boulder and rolling nearly 300 feet.

Dead are Gary W. Story, 23, and his wife Frances May, 21, of 19405 Indian Rd., Redford Township; and Story's brother, James, 14, of 18274 Wormer St., Detroit.

Their son, Mark, 3, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with a fractured skull and leg, but was reported in satisfactory condition this morning.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, the Storys were rushing Mark to a hospital for treatment of a head cut. The boy had hit his head on a picnic grill.

Park police said there were no known witnesses, but the car apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed. The boulders were about 30 inches in diameter, blocking an unfinished road.

Gary Story was killed instantly. His wife was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital at 10:38 p.m. and died at 12:40 a.m. Story's brother was dead on arrival at the hospital at 10:30 p.m.

Deputies said the car, a convertible with the top down, was demolished. It traveled 291 feet after leaving the road, striking the boulders and rolling over and coming to rest on its top.

All four passengers were thrown from the car.

The accident took place at about 9:15 p.m. on the main park roadway, approximately 500 feet from the Grand River Ave. exit.

Several Score Injured When Express Derails Near Avignon

AVIGNON, France (AP)—Eleven persons were killed and several score were injured early today when a speeding Riviera-to-Paris express train switched onto a side track and derailed.

The train, which originated across the Italian border at Ventimiglia, ordinarily carries a large number of foreign tourists to the French capital.

But several hours after the accident railroad officials said they had no indication of the identity of the dead or injured passengers.

Four persons were killed outright when the engine and nine cars left the tracks. Another seven died in hospitals.

The train went off the tracks 25 miles north of Avignon in the yards of the Rhone Valley town of Bollene-la Croisiere. Two of the nine cars overturned.

English Queen Eager to Visit U.S., Canada

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II said yesterday she and her husband, Prince Philip, are looking forward eagerly to their trip to the United States next October.

She told Harold E. Stassen, U. S. disarmament delegate, she is eager to see President Eisenhower, Williamsburg, Va., and the United States generally.

Stassen was presented at a tea party given by the Queen for 8,000 on the lawn of Buckingham Palace. The emphasis seemed to be on Americans and Canadians at the party, perhaps as a gesture to the two countries before the royal couple visits them in October.

One Russian, Soviet disarmament delegate Valentin Zorin, was presented to the Queen. Zorin and Stassen are attending meetings of the U. N. disarmament subcommittee here but it was in recess this afternoon.

Armed Prospectors Hunting Uranium

Dash for Colorado Land

NUCLA, Colo. (AP) — Law officers took positions in full view today of more than 400 uranium prospectors, armed and eager to dash for possession tomorrow of nearly 100,000 acres of land.

Their claims to the land, being returned to public domain by the Atomic Energy Commission after nine years' exploration, can be filed after 10 a. m.

It's the largest land opening in Colorado history.

ROCKY TERRAIN

The rocky terrain in southwestern Colorado is barren and thick with sagebrush but high-grade uranium ore deposits have been reported in varying amounts.

Although the AEC has drilled without success in several areas, Chamber of Commerce Manager Ed Nelson said, "there are reports of some good stuff out there."

The big majority of prospectors were well equipped, Deputy Sheriff T. J. Franks said, with geiger counters, drilling rigs and trucks. He said many also tote six-guns.

Franks said, "they've been fairly orderly, and there's no law against them carrying guns—unless the weapons are concealed or they try to use them."

The rules call for every truck, jeep or car to race off together at 10 a.m. No claims can exceed 600 by 1,500 feet.

James Sutherland Was Caught by Undercurrent in Dive From Spillway

A 15-year-old Utica boy drowned Thursday afternoon when he was caught in an undercurrent while swimming at Yates Cider Mill, Avon and Dequindre roads, in Avon Township.

James Cecil Sutherland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sutherland, of 45669 Cass St., Utica, dove from a spillway into swirling waters under a waterfall, sheriff's deputies said.

Four teenage friends attempted to rescue Sutherland as he surfaced once and shouted for help, but could not get near enough to help, deputies said.

Deputy skin - diving specialist, William Jackson Jr., said "It may have been a good thing they didn't get to him, since they too would have been sucked under."

Jackson, with the help of other deputies, tried for 1½ hours to recover the boy's body, caught in a verticle swirling of the waters and held in a hole created by the falling water.

His body was freed and found floating downstream in shallow water, after Jackson succeeded in breaking the action of the undertow while dangling from a rope stretched across the creek.

The boy was taken to Milliken's Funeral Home in Utica.

Same School Tax for Waterford

Rate Slightly Lower but Valuations Are Higher This Year

For the third consecutive year, Waterford Township School District taxes will stay the same.

At their regular meeting last night, the board of education established the 1957 tax rate at $25.60 per thousand on state equalized valuation. This compares with a total rate of $27 for 1956.

Superintendent William Schunck pointed out that while this is a rate reduction of $1.40, it does not mean that taxes will be lower, as reduction in rate would offset the increase this year in valuations. Property owners will therefore pay the same amount of money as last year, he asserted.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What were the lessons learned from Hurricane Audrey? How can loss of life be reduced by the weather bureau, and local authorities, as a result?

Hurricane Audrey proved once again, if that was necessary, that the weather bureau still cannot track the course of a hurricane accurately. When the weather bureau thought Audrey was over 100 miles south of Cameron, La., Audrey was right on the town, before daylight, leaving residents no time to get away.

Water was in homes on Thursday June 27th, in the early morning—though most of the people there, told the storm would strike Thursday afternoon, had planned to evacuate Thursday. The center of Audrey picked up speed at the last minute and approached the coast faster than anyone expected.

The storm center had been inching northward only five or ten miles an hour until the last day, before it struck the coast. Obviously the speed increase surprised weather officials, and Audrey must have been rambling along at better than twenty miles an hour when she passed inland.

Mrs. Liberace Beaten, Kicked by Two Men

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The mother of Liberace was brutally beaten and kicked by two hooded men who attacked her last night in the garage of the Liberace home in nearby Sherman Oaks.

Police said that Mrs. Frances Liberace, 65, went on an errand into the garage adjoining the home she shares with her pianist son. She tried to return to the house when she saw two men in the garage.

Mrs. Liberace said they pushed her to the floor and began kicking her.

"Hit her again, we'll have something to laugh about," she quoted one of the men as saying.

Liberace was not home when the attack occurred.

Police said there was no apparent motive for the attack.

House Increases Foreign Aid Money

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House gave President Eisenhower a preliminary victory today by voting to restore 300 million dollars in defense support funds to his foreign aid authorization bill.

A vote of 172 to 154 reversed action taken by the House Wednesday in tentatively approving a proposal by Rep. Alvin Bentley (R-Mich) to slash the funds from 800 million dollars to 500 million.

Eisenhower had asked for 900 million dollars in the measure to provide military and economic aid to nations abroad.

Waterford Unit Accepts Resignation of Teacher Wishing to Work in Flint

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night accepted the resignation of Charles Pappas, a township school teacher the past six years.

Pappas said he wants to join the Flint school system in the retail cooperative training program there. He was director of a similar training program at Waterford Township High School.

Pappas, a trustee on the township board, said he will continue to live in the township.

In other business, Superintendent William Shunck presented a teacher poll on salary payments. He said that 250 of the township's teachers prefer being paid on a 12-month basis and 63 want their pay spread over the 10-month school term.

A savings of $56,298 in building costs has been made, Shunck said, at the new John D. Pierce School on Hatchery road.

The architect made certain changes in the building specifications, he explained. As a result, plumbing contractor Eames and Brown showed a credit of $13,260 and the Schurrer Construction Co., which has the general construction contract, showed a $42,038 credit, Shunck said.

Byron Merritt will succeed Wayne McMeans as director of adult education at the Isaac Crary Junior High School. Both teachers will continue to teach other academic subjects.

Chairman of the personnel committee will be Edward Windeler, who will be assisted by the board president, Mrs. Donald Adams, and by Superintendent Shunck.

Frederick Poole was appointed chairman of the building committee. Marshall Smith, James Denherder, and Edward Hills were named as members.

Poole and Lester Carlson were appointed representatives to the recreation board.

Car, Truck Collide on Single Lane Road

A headon truck-car collision on Ellis Rd., a private dirt road in Springfield Township, sent two Pontiac teenagers to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Thursday afternoon.

Theeringer was admitted with minor injuries and is to be released today, said hospital authorities. Morris was treated and released.

Find Bodies of 2 Killed in Plane Crash; 3 Missing

PLATTSBURG, N. Y. (INS)—The bodies of two of the five missing crewmen from a crashed Strategic Air Command KC-97 tanker plane were found today in Lake Champlain.

Three of the eight men aboard survived the ditching uninjured as the huge four-engined craft, loaded with thousands of gallons of jet fuel, plummeted into the lake last night and exploded in flames, off Port Kent, 14 miles south of Plattsburg.

The Plattsburg air force base public information office identified the recovered bodies as those of S/Sgt. Jackie Jamesson, 24, of Riverdale, Md., and First Lt. Malcolm L. McCoy, 27, of Plattsburg and Clayde Landing, Ky.

Divers searched the plane and the lake bottom for the three missing airmen while scores of small craft cruised about searching for a trace of them. They were identified as Capt. Roger V. Smith, 38, of Dade City, Fla., First Lt. Jack L. Hagans, 24, of Robertsdale, Pa., and First Lt. Thomas W. Cravens, 26, of West Plains, Mo.

NOSE IN REEF

The tail of the wrecked plane was protruding from the lake water, and the nose was buried in a reef.

Lt. Col. Edward Kandel, public information officer, said two engines failed shortly after the tanker plane took off from the field for a renrezvous with a B-47 jet bomber on a routine training mission.

Kandel said M.Sgt. John F. Morgan, 34, of Garfield, N. M., rode the plane down and was rescued. M/Sgt. Chester J. Kazminski, 32, of Chicago, and S/Sgt. Eli S. Radanovich, 39, of South Bend, Ind., parachuted to safety.

One of the three survivors was rescued by a boatman, who had seen the crash.

Catholics' Rolls Grow

BOSTON — Enrollment in Roman Catholic elementary schools in the United States has increased from 2,086,794 in 1945 to about 3,625,000. Forecasts are for 4,023,000 pupils in 1958 and 4,448,000 in 1960.

REV. GASS

A native Detroiter, Rev. Kenneth H. Gass, will become the rector of St. James Episcopal Church, effective September 15. He will replace Rev. Harold E. Towne who is leaving to become rector of a Pittsburgh, Pa. church.

Mrs. Grass comes to Birmingham from St. Paul, Minn., where he has been rector of Christ Church, served as secretary of the Standing Committee, member of the Bishop's Council, member of the Board of Examining Chaplains, special member of the Department of Missions, Dean of the St. Paul Deanery and Chaplain to St. Luke's Hospital. He was born in Highland Park.

Admits 'Using' Union's Funds

Senate Probers Told 2 Officials Purchased Homes With Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lloyd Klenert, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers Union, acknowledged today that he and union President Anthony Valente used $57,000 of union funds in purchasing Washington homes.

He told the Senate Rackets Committee the money was entered on the union books as an "organizational expense" but insisted there was nothing wrong with this.

It was, he said, just a "Politically astute" means of concealing from a rival faction in the union "what could be termed a slush fund."

Klenert told the committee the union is not "out" any money from the deal. He was not immediately asked whether or how he and Valente had repaid the $57,000.

He said the union's Executive Council had authorized him and Valente to employ some "layaside" device to conceal the fact from possibly dissident unionists that UTW had borrowed $95,000 from a bank in anticipation of a costly and "tremendous" organizational campaign.

"The board," he said, "considered it politically astute to conceal the fact that we were creating what could be termed a slush fund."

Issue Bear Warning

LANSING (AP)—"Bears are not trustworthy and have prodigious strength." Thus the State Conservation Department warned tourists and everybody else to keep their distance from bears that roam Michigan forests.

The Day in Birmingham

Chamber Plans Campaign to Recruit New Members

BIRMINGHAM — Chamber of Commerce President Richard Wilson of Wilson Drugs announced today that the organization is planning its first membership campaign in over two years. All business and professional people not now members are being invited to join. Members are asked to report any prospects to Wilson or the Chamber of Commerce office so an immediate follow-up can be made.

The Chamber also announced that Foster Toothacker, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee said that plans are now under way for the fall and winter programs for business promotion in the city. He said that several outstanding suggestions had already been made and will be carefully considered by the committee before any decision is reached.

A further announcement from the group explains clarification of their membership plaques. Since their fiscal year runs from May 1 to April 30, plaque dates have been confusing in that they mentioned but one year. New plaques are being ordered for distribution probably within 30 days. Instead of reading "1957" they will read "1957-58."

Det. Sgt. Robert Schaule today warned Birmingham merchants to be on the alert for a "short change artist" working in the area. Schaule said several complaints received recently have carried the same description.

The man, a Negro, is described as about 6'1", weighing about 180 pounds. In his appearance here yesterday he was wearing a short sleeved sport shirt, blue trousers and a dark blue panama hat.

Schaule said his technique is to present a bill considerably larger than the amount of the purchase. During the making of change the man changes and offers either a smaller bill or the correct change depending on confusion during the transaction to enable him to pocket the extra money.

A native of Detroit, Mrs. Genevieve Simirily, of 23225 Floral Ave., Farmington, died at her home Wednesday after a long illness. She was a member of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, Birmingham. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Lawrence T. White, Marie, and a brother, Charles DeMark.

Rosary service will be at 9 p.m. tonight from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Service will be held at noon Saturday from Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

felt "obligated" to take the county job to help, if he can, speed the solution to the area's "great sewer, drainage and water problems."

He pointed out that Birmingham is vitally interested in the Evergreen project, since it will relieve pollution on the River Rouge. Birmingham and six other communities are involved in this project.

Schone has been city manager at Birmingham one year. Before that he was Oak Park city manager for five years.

Heavy Drinkers in U.S. Number Seven Million

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP)—Seven million adult Americans, says a report, are heavy, addictive drinkers.

The report, released yesterday at the Annual Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism, said the number of adult drinkers is increasing at the rate of 250,000 a year.

Air Reserve Seeks Training School Here

An intensive 6-week recruiting campaign has been launched by the 9613th Air Reserve Squadron. Details were outlined to squadron members by Major Hercules Renda, recruiting officer for the unit.

The campaign is designed to increase the number of airmen in the squadron in order to enable the unit to establish an Air Force specialized training school in Pontiac.

This would enable air reservists in this area to participate in a long range educational program designed to develop new skills. Reservists will be payed while participating in such Specialized Training.

"Many Air Force veterans are not aware of the benefits which are obtainable as members of the U.S. Air Force Reserve," Major Renda declared, "and we welcome any inquiries that they may have regarding our program."

The 9613th Squadron Headquarters is located at 67 Oakland Avenue and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday as well as Thursday evenings from 8 to 10 p.m.

Legal to Bar Non-Residents

High Court School Ruling May Push Consolidation

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court decision that high schools need not admit non-resident students was seen today as giving an added push to the snowballing trend of consolidation of school districts in Michigan.

"The decision probably will have the effect of making school districts without high schools realize they must face up to and solve the problem," commented Roland S. Strolle, chief of the School Facilities Division of the State Department of Public Instruction.

The high court held unanimously in a test case yesterday that Grand Ledge High School, under the state school code, "may" admit non-resident pupils but is not required to do so.

Petitioners from a group of outlying school districts that had refused annexation to the Grand Ledge District sought to have the Supreme Court order that their pupils be admitted.

Strolle estimated that there are some 2,200 primary school districts — those without high schools — compared to the 542 secondary school districts that provide kindergarten through high school facilities.

POLITICAL ENTITY

"The Supreme Court decision recognized that the school district is a separate political entity and as such has the sole responsibility for the education of the children in its district," Strolle said.

"The trend in education in Michigan today," Strolle observed, "is toward consolidation of school districts — 600 were eliminated by reorganization last year — and toward each district providing a complete school program."

In view of the decision, Strolle said, the primary school districts will have only three choices:

1. To provide high school facilities of their own.
2. To join with a school district of their choice that will provide high school facilities.
3. To send their pupils on a tuition basis to a high school district willing to accept them.

"The trouble with the last choice," Strolle said, "is that such agreements generally are just a year-to-year basis. High school districts are becoming more reluctant to take outside tuition pupils, as in the case at Grand Ledge, because of their own overcrowding."

Haircut Subject of Court-Martial

Young Airman Refused Order to Get Clipped by Superior Officer

FUCHU, Japan (AP) — Haircuts, the description and definition thereof, today claimed the solemn attention of a four-judge court-martial trying a young American airman who said he didn't want to "look like a shaved jackass."

The charge of disobeying an order against Airman 3. C. Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., didn't say anything about haircuts. The Air Force says it's all a matter of routine military discipline, involving disobedience of a "lawful order of his superior officer."

But Wheeler and his lawyer say he was charged after refusing to get a "white sidewall" haircut.

The fourth session of the court-martial today brought the admission from the airman's commanding officer, Lt. William N. Shortt of Seattle that he couldn't define a "white sidewall." He added that the only description he could give "is what is in the newspapers—a type where the hair is shaved from ear to crown with only a fringe on top."

Under cross-examination by Murray Sprung of New York, Wheeler's civilian attorney, Shortt said the 20-year-old airman had told him: "I don't want to look like a shaved jackass."

It was brought out that the members of the honor guard company, to which Wheeler formerly was assigned, were under order to have a "uniform haircut that is short." There was no definition of how short is short.

Wheeler was among six airmen transferred last week from the honor guard at U. S. Forces Headquarters in Tokyo to the Air Police detachment at Fuchu Air Base. Air Force spokesmen said the transfers were made because the honor guard is being dissolved and that the transfer "had nothing to do with haircuts." Wheeler said he previously had requested transfer.

Conviction of disobeying a lawful order could bring a maximum penalty of a bad conduct discharge, six months' imprisonment, reduction in rank and forfeiture of two-thirds pay for six months.

The cost for most "white sidewall" haircuts by a military barber—25 cents.

The coast guard's cutter Lincoln was the first U.S. ship to enter Alaskan waters after the territory was purchased from the Russians.

Certain Filter Tip Cigarettes Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A researcher said today some tobacco companies are producing filter cigarettes which have as much or more tar and nicotine than unfiltered cigarettes.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said "a safer cigarette can be made today by using an effective filter plus the proper blend of tobacco."

But, he added in testimony prepared for the House Government Operations subcommittee, some companies have taken advantage of the public desire for filtered cigarettes by marketing "increasingly ineffective filters" on cigarettes containing tobacco which yields greater quantities of what he said was cancer-producing tar.

Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said about 25,000 persons will die of lung cancer this year. He added that at least 80 per cent of these deaths could have been prevented if the patients had not smoked.

A pathologist, Dr. R. H. Rigdon of the University of Texas Medical School, also was invited to testify today.

Recent studies, Wynder said, indicate "the majority of filtered cigarettes currently on the market have a tar and nicotine content which is at least as high, if not higher, than that of standard regular-sized cigarettes."

Wynder defined an "effective filter" as one which would remove at least 40 per cent of the tar and nicotine from tobacco smoke of the average regular-size cigarette.

He said that was based on laboratory findings and statistical studies which indicate that "the value of a filtered cigarette in reducing cancer risk is directly related to the decrease in tar content of the smoke. . .

"In a recent laboratory study, attention was called to a new development in the filtered cigarette industry which seems to be encouraging — a filtered cigarette with a good pressure drop and satisfactory tobacco taste can be produced which would yield 40 per cent less nicotine and tar than the cigarette.

"Uniform acceptance of a filter in this range will be a partial answer to the present problem..."

The research spokesman also recommended:

1. The possible lowering of the burning temperature of cigarettes since, he said, virtually no cancer-causing substances are produced when tobacco is burned at 620 degrees. The present burning is 880.

2. "Dry cleaning" tobacco leaf to remove the waxy coating. Wynder said the coating apparently was a major source of most of the cancer-causing substances.

Attempt to Plug Up Hole in Colorado Reservoir; Many Farms Threatened

CAPULIN, Colo. (AP)—A thousand persons, their homes and land in jeopardy, watched apprehensively as workmen tried to plug a gaping hole today in the face of Terrace Reservoir.

Employes of an irrigation district, which owns the dam, opened valves that allowed water to escape, lessening pressure. Part of the water backed up by the dam is the result of a record snow melting in the mountains.

Looks for Moonshine, Runs Across Alligators

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — A State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board agent, Albert Russell of New Bern, was poking around a swampy area near Cherry Point looking for moonshiners.

He saw a trail which looked as if it had been made by a boat. He cautiously guided his own motorboat into the swamp grass.

Senate Approval Given of O'Sullivan for Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The confirmation of Clifford O'Sullivan of Port Huron as a U. S. District Judge for eastern Michigan has been recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

O'Sullivan, who resigned last week as Michigan's Republican National Comitteeman, was nominated for the post June 6 by President Eisenhower to replace retiring Judge Arthur A. Koscinski of Detroit.

Dutchman Wins Pipesmoking Contest Easily

FLINT (AP) — The Dutch seem to have it over Flint when it comes to making a pipeful of tobacco go a long way.

Two smokers, Robert Fudl, 40, of Flint, and Bouke Dijkstra, 27, of the Hague, Holland, lit 3.3 grams of tobacco simultaneously yesterday for the international goodwill pipesmoking championship.

But from then on in it was the Dutchman all the way. Dijkstra, the Dutch pipesmoking champion, made his pipeful last for 110 minutes, 10 seconds while Rudi's flickered out in 66 minutes, 39 seconds.

To keep abreast of the situation, contest officials had a trans-atlantic telephone hookup between the two points, but interverence delayed the announcement of Dijkstra's time for 45 minutes.

NEW BEAUTY PRODUCTS

Glamour for Every Woman

by CORA BRADFORD

Beauty & Health Editor

Now it's possible for every one of us girls—from 16 to 60—to have the alluring, attractive figure of the movie stars. Today, I've got wonderful news about a fast, easy way to have the slim, trim figure that makes a $10 dress look like an exclusive Paris creation. And in no time at all, you can also have a silhouette that looks like a million in a bathing suit. A fabulous new reducing aid has recently been discovered to help you get rid of all those extra inches and bulges of ugly fat—without any special diets, without drugs or exercises!

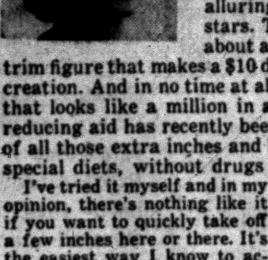

I've tried it myself and in my opinion, there's nothing like it if you want to quickly take off a few inches here or there. It's the easiest way I know to actually lose weight the very first day without giving up all your favorite foods or going on a calorie-counting diet. It's the perfect answer for overweight people who want to lose weight fast — without any trouble or fuss.

IMAGINE A REDUCING PRODUCT THAT DOES THIS FOR YOU

Just think how thrilled and happy you'd be... how much more attractive you'd look if you gave yourself a chance to lose 10 pounds, 15 pounds or even 25 pounds... or if you could lose as much as 45 pounds and keep them off! Imagine your delight, if in no time at all — you saw ugly fat vanish wherever you needed slimming down. And you can do it without any harmful reducing drugs, starvation diets, silly steam baths or tiring exercises.

MEDICAL SCIENTIST DISCOVERS NEW SAFE, FAST WAY TO LOSE WEIGHT

help members of his own family reduce, this amazing reducing product soon began to be used by doctors, nurses, and their friends. Clinical tests on patients who were overweight showed amazing results! It was not long before these remarkable weight losses came to the attention of leading Medical Authorities. This reducing aid was so different and so unique, the U. S. Patent Office soon issued a patent number to protect this Medical Scientist's brilliant discovery.

Desirous of having the fruits of his labors made available to every person who was overweight, this eminent Medical Researcher formulated a reducing product for sale to the public—which required no doctor's prescription. Since this astounding discovery, no other type of product has been able to show such significant weight losses in such an easy-to-take way.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO LOSE POUND AFTER POUND AND KEEP THEM OFF!

Just before each meal all you do is chew two pieces of a delicious-tasting gum. Yes, that's all you do and pounds vanish like magic. I saw doctors' charts that showed how big, round, roly-poly women reduced to a fashionable size 10—without any special diets. As far as I'm concerned, the change it made in my own figure was truly a miracle. All I did was pop two pieces of this special, pleasant-tasting, reducing gum into my mouth about half an hour before mealtime. I was simply amazed at what happened. I had the feeling my appetite was satisfied—before I was even half way through my meal. I continued to eat all the foods I love... I still enjoyed my favorite dishes as much as ever—but I did not have the urge to overeat which I formerly did.

OVERWEIGHT ?

This wonderful new kind of sweet-tasting gum had curbed my appetite, yet allowed me to feel fully satisfied. And whenever I became hungry between meals, I'd just chew a piece of this gum to discourage those extra-calorie snacks.

And now I'm going to tell you the name of this chewing gum which has been approved by doctors... and where you can get a free trial box.

THE NAME OF THIS AMAZING REDUCING GUM

It's called FERGUSON'S FORMULA 71. Believe me, it's the safest and best reducing product I know for practically everyone with an overweight problem! This remarkable weight reducer is now being featured at Waite's, on the street floor, Cosmetics Department.

What's more there's a FREE 10 DAY TRIAL and a MONEY BACK GUARANTEE WITH ALL PURCHASES! I suggest you take advantage of this wonderful offer today! For now's the time to get in shape for the bathing suit season — this safe, easy, clinically-tested chewing gum way to REDUCE!

Martin Gets Top Post

Michigan's Republican Central Committee made a sound choice when it selected John B. Martin Jr. of Grand Rapids as the State's representative on the Republican National Committee. Martin replaces Clifford O'Sullivan of Port Huron, who has resigned to become a federal district judge in Detroit.

Martin has been a loyal party worker for many years. He is a Grand Rapids attorney and served as Auditor General of Michigan for two terms. He was defeated last November by James M. Hare in the race for Secretary of State.

Martin is well and favorably known to many residents of the Pontiac area. He is a man of unquestioned integrity and a lifetime of political experience from the grass roots up should qualify him for his new post.

At the meeting at which Martin was named, it was brought out that ill feeling has existed between Martin and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, a former Republican National Committeeman in Michigan.

If the Republicans hope to win in the State and Congressional elections' little more than one year hence, they will have to bury all such feelings. There may have been a time when the Republicans were so strong in Michigan that they could fight among themselves and still defeat almost any candidate the Democrats chose to put up.

That time has long since gone, however. The Democrats have developed a smoothly working party organization and candidates for State office who have swept everything before them. Thus Mr. Martin and the state committee face a big job.

If they are to be successful, they will need the active and hearty support of the entire party organization. Party infighting would kill any chance the Republicans may have in 1958.

Red Controlled Unions Purged by Italian Labor

Communist unions in 1945 so completely controlled the large Fiat industries in Italy that they were able to lock out management and take over the company's plants.

As late as 1954 Communist backed labor leaders polled 33,000 union votes against 13,000 for anti-Communists. But in a Fiat election this year Communists elected only one member of a six man union control committee.

The change began in 1955 when the United States, because of these Communist controlled unions, threatened to cancel Fiat contracts for aircraft ordered by NATO. Fiat workers promptly threw out Communist leaders and other Italian industries followed suit. Events in Hungary and Poland also helped turn the workers against Communism.

It is said that at Fiat, employes enjoy more fringe benefits than almost anywhere else in the world. Other industries are gradually adopting the Fiat program and Italian workers are asking themselves what Communism can offer them that they haven't got already.

At long last Communists are out of favor in Italy's labor unions.

Nothing Too Good

Congress has passed three bills providing funds for expanded and modernized Senate offices.

One adds $3 million to the original $20 million for a second Senate Office Building now under construction. Another authorizes the purchase of furniture and furnishings for the new building and the third provides for remodeling of the present building so that every Senator can have a five room suite.

When the bills came up in the House charges were made that there had been no competitive bidding for the furnishings; that the price of chairs ranged from $400 to $800 each and that some had vibrating appliances attached.

An attempt to recommit the second and third bills was defeated by the Democratic majority with Speaker Rayburn explaining that "there has never been a time in my experience . . . when the House of Representatives voted something for itself that the Senate has ever changed one word of it." He implied that this courtesy should be reciprocated.

It all sounds a bit luxurious in the light of drastic budget cuts in guided missile and aircraft production programs.

Court house: What we may get finished for our children—or children's children.

Always alert to anything of a local historical nature, Pontiac City Director of Law hands me a copy of a Pontiac writeup in a Michigan directory of 1883. Then we had under 5,000 population, tax rate of three-quarters of a mill, assessed valuation in the "handsome" amount of $2,500,000, a new school that cost $70,000, and two newspapers, both weeklies, Gazette and Bill Poster.

In that period of nearly three-quarters of a century ago Pontiac's largest factory was a woolen mill employing 400. We also made buggies, wagons, flour and tile, and had planing mills and foundries. Most of their power came from dams in the Clinton River.

We had "several business blocks," including the Gazette and Crofoot, and the best hotel in Michigan, the Hodges House. Attention also is called to the hundreds of charming lakes in the area, and the finest roads in the state. Good land was selling at $80 per acre, and our two banks had an aggregate capital of $200,000.

Yes, it's Wednesday, Aug. 7, from 1:30 until ???. I'm talking about the annual gives me positive assurance that it will be something to be cherished in the memory long after the seven-buck charge is forgotten.

Comparative values were given in local news items that appeared together in our Tuesday's Press. One told of a $750 bond for murder and the other of a $10,000 bond for stealing a kiss.

If old MAT appears quite chesty, there's a reason, as a new street in Holly has been named

Not Done Yet!

David Lawrence Says:

What Would Charlie Tell Zhukov?

WASHINGTON — There was something characteristically human in President Eisenhower's bit of reminiscence concerning his talks with General Zhukov in 1945.

It raises this question: Must a man who happens to be discussing current affairs during a social evening with someone from another country keep on a level of politeness and courtesy and refrain from citing facts that would reflect on the other man's government, especially if the other individual is an important diplomatic or military representative of that very government?

As told in the press conference here this week, the President admitted he was somewhat flustered when he was arguing with Zhukov on the subject of communism. The two men had just emerged from a joint military operation that ended World War II, and they spent a lot of time together in Berlin.

But the reporters at the press conference felt that there was an impression that the President had been devoid of arguments against communism, so one asked: 'Do you want to leave the inference that it is difficult to defend the proposition that democracy is a more idealistic system than communism?"

DON'T FORCE CONTRIBUTION

To this Eisenhower replied by explaining further Zhukov's claims about idealism and "sacrifice for the state—giving to the state," and then the President added this comment:

"In other words, he (Zhukov) takes the attitude that they don't force this contribution, they are teaching a people to support that contribution. So, when you run up against that kind of thing—look, I think you could run into people you would have a hard time convincing that the sun is hot and the earth is round. I don't say that I don't believe it, I am merely saying that against that kind of a belief you run against arguments that almost leave you breathless, you don't know how to meet them."

Eisenhower is a kindly man and, even when shocked by misstatements, doesn't speak words of criticism to persons he is meeting socially, especially in the diplomatic world. He doesn't question their motives or imply they are supporting scoundrels in government. Theoretically, Eisenhower might have said:

"Look here, General Zhukov, you know you have been deceived. There isn't any 'sacrifice to the state' in the Soviet Union. It's a forced sacrifice of individual liberty to satisfy Stalin — a power-hungry dictator — and you know it. Look around you—see how people are torn from their homes and denied any trial. See how many are killed for expressing dissent.

"See how the worker is robbed of the food he produces on his farm. Can the word 'sacrifice' ever cover up or excuse tyranny and cruelty? Hitler also argued that what he was doing was for the benefit of the people, but he killed hundreds of thousands of innocent persons inside his own country who disagreed with him.

NOW, IN AMERICA . . .

"In America we believe that 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' is what the individual must be guaranteed, and that no dictator or dictatorial clique can lawfully take away the rights of the individual.

"We believe that the amount of 'sacrifice' the individual makes for the nation must be determined by him through his representatives chosen in a free election, which is something you don't have."

But Eisenhower was too polite to say anything of this kind. He was truly up against it — trying to be courteous and listen at the same time to the argument that idealism rather than absolute materialism is the basic philosophy of communism.

If the proposed meeting between our Secretary of Defense and Marshal Zhukov is held soon, there is no reason why the blunt-speaking Charlie Wilson can't say a few things of this sort when the discussion take a pholosophical turn.

Ways of Motion Sickness Veiled in Wordy Mystery

Some victims get it when they go to sea. Some get it when they go out fishing on lake or river in a rowboat. Some get it riding in a train. Some, riding in an automobile. Some, flying, even at low level.

DR. BRADY

Some — well, I haven't heard from anyone who gets "seasick" riding an elevator or an escalator, but now I'll probably hear from several who do.

If there were not so much bowling to do, I suppose I might devote an hour or two to a survey of the medieval authorities and render into tolerably understandable language their scientific explanations of motion sickness.

But it wouldn't do a bit of good, and, bowling or no bowling, I still try to follow the injunction of Hippocrates. Up to the present moment, I know of no plausible theory to account for the susceptibility of some persons and the apparent immunity of others to motion sickness.

One reader says:

"We have tried everything imaginable to keep our son from becoming carsick . . .including (names of three proprietary remedies). Nothing seemed to help at all, until we received your pamphlet on Motion Sickness.

"We tried your remedy and it has solved the problem. Now we can take the boy on short or long drives, and he enjoys it as much as we do . . ."

For a copy of the pamphlet on Motion Sickness send a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Please sign your request.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Modern Painting of Nativity Ludicrous, 'Christian' Says

They have unveiled a painting in the Anglican Church in England showing some Biblical characters in modern dress. Joseph is wearing a yellow sweater and Mary is kneeling over the crib with a haircut known as the "urchin." I think this is ludicrous and a denial of true faith.

Joseph never wore a yellow sweater in the manger and Mary's hair was done in accord with the proper usages of the times. Why do some people always try to be so "modern?" And if they want to become grotesque, why pick on the Bible? Can't we have anything sacred in this country any more?

I didn't think the English were as "free and easy" as Americans. Our disrespect for everything is known all over the world. Let's move back towards restraint, decency and respect.

In answer to Two Restless Teenagers, count your blessings. You live in God's country when it comes to recreational possibilities. In all seasons the field is wide open for fun, but it won't be handed to you on a silver platter. Taxpayers in this town have had it. Many are out of work, others just scraping by. We have a hospital to finish, school and drains to build, etc., etc. Intelligent junior citizens can realize these things must come first.

One of the greatest faults of modern society is the attitude of young adults that every minute must be filled with excitement. Take a look a yourselves and see if you aren't too dependent on someone else to provide it for you. And of course I can blame teenagers who seek pranks and vandalism for fun. Who do you think you are to excuse such behavior on grounds that you have nothing else to do?

Kids around my house can't be bothered with passive entertainment — they're too busy doing things. Before you sing the nothing-to-do blues, let's see what kind of stuff you've got to offer. In your editorial you express concern and agree with Mr. Hoover's statement concerning hitchhikers. This is all very well and good, and I agree with you that far too many crimes occur in connection with hitchhikers. But you say nothing of legitimate hitchhikers, those who are honestly looking for a friendly ride. You suggest no solution to this problem, so are we to assume that none exists?

Must those who are hitchhiking to and from college, as I often do, and to and from work or other places, stand waiting for hours because people are afraid to pick them up? Surely something can be said in favor of these persons who do need and appreciate a ride.

I will say that I shall continue to hitchhike whenever necessary and hope that there are people who will continue to give a ride to a legitimate hitchhiker.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams. —Acts 2:17.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Praises Salesmen's Role

Jim is in a jam! His wife is justifiably irritated and nagging. But Jim likes his new sales position and would prefer to stay in that great profession! Should he give it up and go back to a higher paying factory job? What would you advise in this case. And what about sending a "golden pen" letter to insurance salesmen?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-341: Jim W., aged 34, has tried a number of jobs, but for the past two years, he has been selling insurance.

"Jim doesn't make enough to support us, so I've had to work full time at the factory a few blocks from our home," his wife told me in front of her husband and their six children.

DR. CRANE

"I tell Jim he should go back to a factory job for he could make more money that way.

"However, his sales manager keeps coaxing him to stay with insurance. But our children need me at home. Dr. Crane, what do you think about his chances as a salesman?"

THANK A SALESMAN?

Salesmanship is a wonderful profession. It demands brains and tact, plus a great deal of physical vitality.

"The salesman is the spark plug of civilization," said the late Dr. Glenn Frank, and that has been proved true innumerable times.

We would not have automobiles and bath tubs, TV and the other luxuries of modern American life if it were not for the rugged efforts of salesmen.

So they deserve far more appreciation than has ever been accorded them in the past.

Most of us have protected our wives and children via insurance policies, but did we deliberately telephone an insurance salesman to come and sign us up?

Usually not: The hard working salesmen must try to ferret us out and show us not only that insurance is an ideal way for us to protect our family while laying up our meager savings in insurance premiums, but the salesmen must exude enough surplus enthusiasm to prod us laggards into signing on the dotted line.

Almost every widow and orphan who has benefited from insurance policies, would not be so protected if it had not been for an insurance salesman.

By the way, how many of you widows and children ever wrote salesmen who have made your life so much easier via the insurance benefits you now receive?

CLIENTELE BUILDING

Some of the best types of selling are low paying at the outset. For it often takes years to build up a flourishing clientele.

The late Dr. Charles Kendall, of Milwaukee, said a young dentist must work on the teeth of 500 different patients in his operative chair before he has enough of a practice to keep him fairly busy.

"And it requires 800 different patients to keep you rushed," he added.

Dentists and lawyers and physicians and life insurance salesmen all must take time to recruit these first clients or patients and customers.

In the long run, the selling of helpful goods or services, is really a religious act, for it helps produce the more abundant life that Christ said He came to this earth to promote.

This can bolster the morale of beginning salesmen like Jim, who has a large family to support.

In such cases as Jim's, it is often better to take a factory job and try to build up your clientele as a side line for the first year or two.

Pigeon's Best Friend? History Says It's Man

WASHINGTON — Confidently striding the gutters and sidewalks of the world's greatest cities, pigeons go about their business of living with people.

The birds have been making a good thing of the relationship since before history was written, the National Geographic Society says. Men have enjoyed it too, not alone for food and sport, but for their companionship and beauty.

In front of the White House in Washington; in the squares of Rio de Janeiro; on the monuments of Paris; around the Imperial Palace in Tokyo; in the streets of Buenos Aires; in London's Trafalgar Square; in Venice and before St. Peter's in Rome, the blue-gray birds make themselves at home.

In New York's Times Square, they have so far adopted the habits of their human associates as to sleep by day and play by night.

COMMON PIGEON

The common pigeon of city streets is the blue rock dove, native to Europe, Africa and Asia. The bird's best friend, man, brought it to the New World. Ledge-nesting birds from olden times, rock doves find the ledges and crannies of city buildings irresistible.

All the homing pigeons, tumblers, carriers, fantails, pouters, and other specialized breeds developed by loft-keepers stem from this species, scientists believe. Left to breed indiscriminately all revert to the blue rock.

Street pigeons show great ability to adapt themselves to their human companions, even seeming at times to obey "'Keep Off the Grass" signs in parks. After some study, experts announced that the birds can not read; they just stay where their friends are. If crumb-dropping humans obey the signs, pigeons follow suit.

Krause, who was driving, told sheriff's deputies that an unidentified car forced him from the road into a bank of dirt.

Meet to Decide Crusade Length

Large Crowds Suggest Continuation of Billy's New York Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—Final decision on whether Billy Graham's New York crusade will be extended once again was to be reached today at a meeting of the campaign's executive committee.

The evangelistic crusade at Madison Square Garden which began May 15, was originally scheduled to end June 30. It was extended to tomorrow night, but because of the large crowds attending, the question of a further stay was again raised.

The extension time likely would be another week or two.

Roger Hull, chairman of the executive committee, made the announcement of the special meeting to 19,200 persons in the Garden last night. Total attendance to date is 1,096,100.

The normal capacity of the garden is 18,500. Despite the fact that 19,200 were accommodated, another 3,000 persons were turned away.

The slim evangelist from North Carolina preached briefly to the street crowd before going inside for the regular service.

Among the guest ministers on the platform with Graham was The Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the Negro bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala. The Negro minister read the opening prayer.

He was praised by Graham as a man who had contributed to a "great social revolution" in the United States.

At the close of last night's services, 736 people came forward to make "decisions for Christ," bringing the total of such decisions so far to 34,622.

Man Facing Suit Takes Own Life

NEW YORK (AP)—A young father of four, worried over a $30,000 auto accident suit against him, killed himself last night, police said.

His wife, who is expecting a fifth child, found him dead with a bullet wound in his head in his company's office.

Robert Stoltz, 36, of Richmond Hill, Queens, telephoned his wife, Dorothy, 34, that he was working late and had had a few drinks.

Since her husband normally did not drink, Mrs. Stoltz told him she would go to the office and drive him home.

She found him lying dead on the floor in his office. An Italian-make pistol was at his side.

Mrs. Stoltz told police her husband had been depressed over the damage suit which stemmed from an auto accident last April 1. His insurance company reportedly had told him he was not protected in this specific case. Trial of the suit is pending.

May Change DSR Fares

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo has indicated approval of a fare system for the Department of Street Railways which would eliminate ticket discounting and set a flat fare of 20 cents. The tentative plan, announced after a discussion between Cobo and DSR General Manager Leo J. Nowicki, also would permit patrons to travel at a reduced fare inside Detroit's central business district.

Americans consume upwards of eight million tons of sugar per year.

Here Is Correct Puzzle Solution

The following are correct answers and explanations for the Pot-O-Gold puzzle which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press:

A. (2) REQUEST. "Sometimes" suggests REQUEST rather than Bequest. You'd expect an eccentric old man to leave an odd legacy, but it is only occasionally that his will contains an od dREQUEST, his will contains an odd REQUEST, for example, to buy sirloin steaks every day for his three dogs.

B. (4) DOODLING. The phrasing "while neglecting his homework" implies that Junior is doing something besides wasting time or Dawdling, and that something is scribbling a i m l e s s l y or DOODLING.

C. (5) CASTING. The producer of an all-star picture is engaging a lot of expensive talent for his CAST. Since this is usually a promotion stunt for his picture, he does not feel that he is Wasting all that talent, some of which may be used—and paid—only for brief scenes.

D. (8) THRIFTY. A Shifty man is deceitful and not to be trusted; he's the type who often grows rich by rather shady methods, and could afford a fine allowance for his wife. The THRIFTY man watches every penny, and is likely to dole out pin money to his dependents, including his wife.

E. (9) PADRE. Because of the word "might" in the clue, PADRE is the better choice as a possibly enjoyable companion. Obviously, a genial French officer would certainly enjoy the companionship of fellow-officers and men of his Cadre.

F. (12) TINKLE. A baby crying usually has his eyes at least partly shut, so that he could not see the Twinkle in his mother's eyes. But the bell-like sound of a TINKLE might arouse his curiosity and cause him to stop crying.

G. (13) VENDER. If the owner of the desk is desperate for money, he would take whatever he could get, so the young couple might well have a bargain. Veneer is a thin layer of fine wood as the outer coating of a piece of furniture; if the veneer is poor, the p i e c e should not be worth much and is no great bargain.

H. (16) DINGHY. A small or Dinky boat often has a motor and would certainly be better in rough seas than a DINGHY, which, generally speaking, is a rowboat that would give passengers a really bad time in rough water.

I. (18) EMERGENCE. With families crowding into the suburbs, many communities start the school year with the EMERGENCE, of sudden appearance, of hundreds of new children for whom the schools have no room. This is the underlying cause of the Emergency, or pressing need for action; something must be done about it.

J. (19) REACTION. It's the REACTION that follows swiftly after an unwise statement by a government official. The immediate response is a storm of protest; it is only later—and because of the protests that the official may make a Retraction, or, as they say, eat his words.

K. (22) CLOTHES. For some years recently, women's hats have been tiny things perched on the head; only in the season just past have milliners made any attempt to bring back those bell-shaped Cloches of the twenties. One attempt does rate the phrasing "keep trying." Designers do "keep trying," however, to bring back the dresses, the middies — i.e. the CLOTHES of the twenties.

L. (24) OVERSEAS. The chance to go abroad always sounds romantic, and a newly graduated engineer would consider it a great opportunity. A job as Overseer varies as to skill, and an engineer's willingness to accept it would depend on what type of work he was expected to supervise.

M. (25) DESERTS. Having worked hard to keep slim, a woman may feel she has earned, and deserves, a brief fling at eating anything. In that case Desserts would be part of her DESERTS.

N. (28) HANNIBAL. The Carthaginian general who defeated the Romans in 218 B.C. had a very adventurous military career. His story, if vividly told, can be fascinating for a boy. A Cannibal rarely appears in the singular in a story; he is one of a tribe of CANNIBALS, who eat humans.

O. (29) CURT. A Court decision is stated in legal terms and is usually impersonal; in the case of a juvenile delinquent, he has gambled and lost. But it's a personal humiliation when the judge delivers a CURT decision, which can be sharp and have a real sting.

P. (31) ADULT. "May seem silly to a man" suggests ADULT, in the clue; the husband does not believe in spiritualism, and thinks that his wife, as an ADULT, should know better. Occult applies rather to spiritualism itself, as a mystic belief, than to the wife's preoccupation with it.

Q. (33) CRUMPLED. The word Crumbled (disintegrated or fallen into small pieces) would better apply to all four fenders, which are as old as the car and which would all have decayed at the same rate. Since only one fender is mentioned, the assumption is that it has been CRUMPLED or crushed together in an accident.

R. (36) BRAWNY. The wife of a Brainy man is likely to have the same mental outlook, and it's the intellectual people who are humble about all the things they don't know. The BRAWNY man lives by muscular strength; he can "lick anybody," and his wife probably thinks so too.

S. (37) LOPING. A steady, easy, gait is often good for a race horse during the first laps. It saves his strength for a spurt toward the finish line, when other horses are tired. A Losing gait would indicate that he was going too slow to catch up.

T. (40) DEFACE. If a policeman saw someone trying to mar the surface of a signboard poster, he w o u l d certainly stop and ask "What do you think you're doing?" A man who tried to Efface a poster might get away with it; it's easy to assume he is planning to put up another instead.

Storms to Hurt Future Crops

MSU Expert Predicts Lower Yields on Land Eroded by Rains

EAST LANSING (AP—Farmers must figure in more than just this year's crop loss in estimating the damage caused by heavy rains, a Michigan State University specialist said today.

R. H. Hill, extension specialist in soil and water conservation, said farmers will suffer in future years from lower crop yields on land eroded by the storms.

Hill said the rains caused unusual soil damage because they came in such rapid succession, beat so hard and dropped such a large volume of water. Usually, he said, Michigan has only two or three of these downpours a season but this year farmers were hit by three or four in a few weeks.

The result, he said, was serious erosion damage even on flat land less subject to washing. The beating rains broke down the soil structure and the tremendous volume of water washed away the smaller particles.

"In many cases," Hill said, "the most fertile parts of the soil, organic matter and plant food, were washed away."

Repair of the soil can't be bought in a bag of fertilizer, Hill said, since it will take years to rebuild the soil structure and replace organic matter.

Artists to appear are members of the Detroit Symphony. The concerts are open to the public, at a small admission charge.

Hit Treasury Department's Interest Rate on Securities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress today fired charges of "immoral" and "inflationary" at new Treasury offerings of government securities bearing an interest rate of 4 per cent — a new post-depression high.

But a Republican, Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, said the government must "compete for money just like a corporation or an individual."

A flurry of partisan criticism built up in the wake of public announcement by the Treasury yesterday that it will pay 4 per cent interest on 24 billion dollars worth of debt refinancing coming due in August and October.

Not since October 1943, when it refunded an issue of the Fourth Liberty Loan, has the government paid an interest rate on its debt as high as 4 per cent.

A Treasury spokesman said this was the lowest rate "at which we thought we could sell government securities of these maturities."

The 4 per cent rate was offered for one-year and four-year securities, with an alternative of 3⅝ per cent for a four-month certificate maturing Dec. 1.

Martin commented that "if these are the best terms the Treasury department can secure, I don't see anything else it can do."

But Congressional Democrats, already critical of the administration's "tight money" policies and high interest rates, were quick to attack the Treasury move.

Rep. Multer (D-NY), a member of the House Banking Committee, said Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was "leaving a great heritage behind — the heritage of the greatest increase in the government debt since the depression."

Multer said the hike in interest rates now "sets the trend for all private lending," and declared: "I can't think of any one thing that would be more inflationary."

Rep. Patman (D-Tex), also a banking committee member, called the new interest rate "terrible" and "immoral".

Patman charged that Humphrey, soon to leave his Treasury post to enter private business, "set the pattern" when he first took office by "arbitrarily" upping interest rates on long-term bonds from 3 to 3¼ per cent.

"The interest has been going up ever since," Patman said. "It just helps the banks and the investment people."

Across the capitol, where Humphrey has been on the hot seat before Senate Finance Committee Democrats in recent weeks, the reaction was equally vigorous.

Jamboree Scouts Homeward Bound

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — Some 50,000 Boy Scouts were homeward bound today from their week-long fourth national jamboree at historic Valley Forge Park.

But for some 1,700 picked scouts and leaders representing every state and U.S. possession, there was still another adventure ahead.

This is the jubilee contingent—the group which leaves now for Sutton Park near Birmingham, England, for the international jamboree.

They leave in two groups, the largest from Ottawa on the S.S. Fairsea on Monday and a spillover of 186 who leave today aboard the S.S. Castel Felice from New York.

There are 969 accredited universities and colleges in the U. S.

City in Texas Searching for Old-Style Planes

DALLAS (AP) — Anyone have a Curtiss carrier pigeon, or maybe a pinch-back Fairchild, stored away in an old hangar somewhere?

Dallas would like to borrow several dozen types of airplanes for the opening of the new Love Field Terminal Oct. 20-27. They want to display all types of aircraft operated in and out of the field by airlines since the first scheduled airmail flight in 1926.

Flip of Coin Determines Contractor for Project

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — Official of the Leavenworth National Bank opened bids on a conversion project to find that George Collins and Julius Kaaz had submitted identical bids of $9,950.

Collins and Kaaz are friends. Furthermore, both are cusutomers of the bank and both are fellow Rotarians with Bank President Frank Carroll.

Ike Appoints McKay to Joint Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has appointed Douglas McKay, former Secretary of the Interior, to a $20,000-a-year-job as a member of the International Joint Commission representing the United States and Canada.

McKay served in the Eisenhower cabinet until last year, when he resigned to run for the U.S. Senate from Oregon. He was defeated in the election last November.

On the joint commission McKay succeeds former governor Len Jordan of Idaho who resigned.

The commission has two members each from the U.S. and Canada. Its assignment is to prevent international disputes dealing with boundary waters, and to settle certain other questions affecting the two countries.

The appointment has no specific tenure. Members of the commission serve for as long as the heads of their governments desire.

Auto Production Up Over Previous Week

DETROIT (INS) — Automotive News reported yesterday auto production is estimated at 117,334 units this week—an increase of 4.8 per cent over the 111,936 units built last week.

The trade publication said production for the same week in 1956 was 113,416.

Men Missing on Bay Return to Port OK

BAD AXE (AP)—An air and sea search for two missing Port Austin men was called off shortly after noon yesterday when their 21-foot cabin cruiser arrived in Port Austin.

Aboard were Adrian J. Martin and Theodore McMahon, who were reported missing Wednesday night when they failed to arrive at Port Austin on a trip from Tawas City.

The men told Coast Guard officials that the boat ran out of fuel near Au Gres, about 15 miles south of Tawas City on Saginaw Bay, and they decided to wait until morning before going on.

State Supreme Court Upholds School Decision

LANSING (INS) — Michigan Supreme Court ruled yesterday high schools can refuse to take students from other districts.

The ruling climaxed a bitter battle in Grand Ledge, Eaton County, and upheld a Sept. 17 decision of Circuit Judge Archie D. McDonald.

Egypt Holds 14 Men for Plotting Coup

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's semiofficial Middle East News Agency has confirmed reports that 14 men are being held on charges of plotting to assassinate President Nasser and members of his regime.

Salah El Din, foreign minister in the last Wafdist party government before the overthrow of King Farouk in 1952, was named as the ringleader.

The announcement said nine former military officers and five civilians were arrested in April and are awaiting trial in a military court.

No trial date was mentioned. They were rounded up, the agency said, just before they were reported ready to invade Nasser's government offices during a Cabinet session, assassinate the entire group and set up a government.

Registered letters were first accepted by the U.S. postoffice department in 1855.

Lie Detector Indicates Truthfulness

Sheppard Suspect Tested

DELAND, Fla. (AP)—A lie detector expert says Donald Wedler has told "the truth or what he believes to be the truth" about the slaying of Mrs. Samuel Sheppard in Cleveland, Ohio.

Alex Gregory of Detroit made the report yesterday after a second examination of the 23-year-old prisoner who on Monday "confessed" a crime resembling the Sheppard slaying in July, 1954.

POLICE SKEPTICAL

The "confession" is regarded with skepticism by Cleveland police.

Gregory, representing a nonofficial group of criminologists who call themselves the Court of Last Resort, will be joined here today by Erle Stanley Gardner, the mystery writer and head of the court.

Gregory said his tests of Wedler have been completed and that Gardner will decide whether to continue the investigation. The court, whose aim is to prove innocent persons it feels wrongly convicted, has been interested in the Sheppard case for some time.

Mrs. Sheppard's husband, a doctor, is serving a life sentence for the slaying although he maintains he is innocent.

Gregory declined to give details of exact questions he asked Wedler in 3½ hours of testing Wednesday night and almost 4 hours yesterday. However, he said he asked Wedler whether he had killed a woman and that the subject replied, "Yes."

Gardner asked Gov. C. William O'Neill of Ohio for permission to give Samuel Sheppard a lie detector test but the governor has not acted.

Sheppard refused a lie test prior to his trial and conviction but since has told his attorneys he would permit it.

Wedler, awaiting trial on a charge of escaping from a 10-year sentence for robbery at Tampa, told Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby in his "confession" that he hit a woman on the head two or three times with an iron pipe while ransacking her home in July, 1954.

Cleveland police pointed out several discrepancies between the confession and facts in the Sheppard slaying. She was hit 35 times, they said, and the house was not ransacked.

Sheppard, who claims an intruder committed the crime, says the intruder he grappled with was large and dark haired. Wedler is 5 feet 1 and has light hair.

Center Will Provide Cure for Poisonings

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—"Name you poison!"

That is exactly what the Connecticut Health Department intends to do.

It also will supply information concerning emergency antidotes, as soon as its newly-authorized poison center is set up.

Robert Keehn, director of vital statistics, says it's not the Lucrelia Borgias who are worrying health officials, but the many new, and often unlabeled products flooding the market.

All too often they prove taste tempting for the younger children.

"The chief purpose of the poison center," Keehn explained, "is to provide doctors with a central clearing house of information on products and harmful substances they may contain.

"When plans are complete there should be someone available in regional offices throughout the state to answer inquiries at all times."

Underlining the need for a center to relay emergency information is a National Safety Council report which says over 1,300 persons die each year from accidental poisoning.

The report lists such killers as bleach, permanent wave solution, shampoo, nail polish remover, kerosene and weed killers.

Often such products are not required to list on the label any harmful substances which they may contain. However, the poison bureau's files will carry a listing of all such products and the antidote to be administered for any dangerous ingredients.

PRIMARILY FOR DOCTORS

Keehn said the bureau was needed because "organic chemists are developing new compounds faster than toxicity can be determined."

"Although the center will be primarily to assist doctors," Keehn said, "calls from laymen will not be turned away.

"If a mother should find her child, say, with stove polish smeared on its face, and calls up, the person in charge (a professionally trained advisor) will check the files.

"If the compound is dangerous, he would, of course, give the emergency treatament, and advise the parent to hurry to a doctor or hospital."

However, the parent is open to a good scolding, Keehn points out, even if the substance is not dangerous, for leaving it within reach of the child in the first place.

Bohn Grand Jury to Wind Up Activity

LANSING (AP) — Circuit Judge Theodore Bohn's one-man grand jury investigation of Detroit area communities was headed today toward an Aug. 1 windup.

Under the state's one-man grand jury law, Bohn's investigative powers end at midnight, July 31, a year after the probe began.

Bohn told Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh yesterday there would be no need for him to apply to the Wayne County Circuit Court to reinstate the jury.

Kavanagh called Bohn and members of the grand jury staff to a meeting to determine the status of the investigation and results so far and to talk over legal battles that remain to be settled.

Fishing Violations Lead

LANSING (AP)—Violations of state fishing laws accounted for nearly seven of every eight arrests by conservation officers during May, the state conservation department said today.

The 388 persons convicted paid a total of $3,941 in fines, plus $3,090 in court costs, the department said. Fish law violations led to 330 arrests and of these 179 persons were picked up for fishing without a license.

Pontiac Suggestion Awards Near Million

Some lucky Pontiac Motor Division employe with a flair for new ideas is in line to receive a Hi-Fi record player along with his suggestion award payment.

In the near future Pontiac employes will have received $1,000,000 in suggestion awards since the program was inaugurated in 1942.

To commemorate this historic milestone when it is reached, S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac general manager, will present a Hi-Fi record player to the fortunate employe whose suggestion award puts the Division over the million dollar mark.

Pontiac Motor employes to date have received over $950,000 in suggestion payments.

Year-Long Observance of TR's Birth Planned

NEW YORK (AP)—A year-long program of national observance of the 100th anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birth will be launched Oct. 27.

Hermann Hagedorn, director of the Theodore Roosevelt Centennial Commission, said yesterday the program aims to publicize the many-sided activities of the 26th president.

Tenor Fails in His Bid to Play Ball

But Japanese Hail Richard Tucker's Vocalizing

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — Richard Tucker has returned from a tour of the Far East bearing gifts, glad tidings of a triumphant trip — but no baseball contract.

Most people thought Tucker went to Japan and the Far East under United States Information Agency auspices, in order to present the Orient with a genuine, born-in-Brooklyn American tenor.

But Tucker had a secret ambition all his own — he wanted to try out for a Japanese baseball team.

"I went out to play ball with the Mainichi Orions," Tucker said. "They took pictures of me with their No. 1 homerun hitter. We had about an hour's drill.

HE'LL BE SINGING

"Then," Tucker said sadly, "they told me to tell Rudolph Bing (general manager of New York's Metropolitan Opera) that he had nothing to worry about. I'd applied for a baseball contract, but I'd be singing at the Met next season.

"I was dying to go to a Japanese ball game, but there wasn't time so I watched on television. They're very good ballplayers."

Tucker may be regretful about his baseball failure, but on the serious side of the ledger, he is delighted with his reception.

"In Japan alone," he said, "I must have signed 1,000 autographs after each concert. The Japanese students were crazy about me.

BURST INTO SONG

"At my farewell concert abut 40 kids stood outside the door and when I came out they started singing a Japanese song for me. Japanese children love music, but they're so shy they need someone to show them the way — then they burst into song. They love to sing.

"There were always flowers and presents for me on the stage, and kids with more presents at the station when I left town. They'd give me small gifts — who knows where they got the money — like dolls, chopsticks, clay bowls, ceramic things, anything to show appreciation."

Tucker brought back with him music from seven Far Eastern countries which he hopes to put together in an album.

"It's hard to put into words the difference between Japanese songs, for instance, and ours," Tucker said. "They are far more poetic and more philosophic.

"Their philosophy is you've got to be sincere and truthful in everything you do. We don't think that way here. We're brought up differently."

SHARON MARIE SUTTON

The engagement of their daughter, Sharon Marie, to Thomas Eugene Walton, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Sutton of South Tilden avenue. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Walton of South Josephine avenue. No date has been set for the wedding.

Bride-Elect Entertained at Shower

Kathryn Kramp, bride-elect of Thomas J. Schmidt, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Marshall Bellows and her daughter, Mrs. John Collins, at Mrs. Bellows' home on Beachland drive Thursday evening.

Kathryn will wed Thomas, son of Mrs. Corinne Schmidt of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the late Mr. Schmidt, Aug. 17 in the First Congregational Church.

It's Fur Feet for Feminine Fall Fashion

Not Fido's, Ma'am.

Yours.

Fur feet for fashionable females are the latest in house slippers, and for $29.95 you can case your toes in real fox or raccoon.

It takes a whole darn fox or raccoon to make a pair of these shaggy slippers, and it takes a furrier to clean them. But they're the most wonderfully luxurious slippers yet.

You can have black fox, white fox or brownish raccoon wrapping your foot from toe to ankle, sole included. If you insist on having exclusive fur feet, the makers of these bizarre booties, Capezio, will do them in mink or the fur of your choice.

Regular fox or raccoon feet will be in the stores this August for the back-to-college crowd. They'll be sold in shoe sizes.

A good brushing will keep them clean through the winter, says Capezio, and next summer you can have a furrier glaze them back to looking new.

Royal Dates Considered Important

LONDON (INS)—The London Daily Express reported today that court circles are giving "increasing importance to the friendship" between Princess Margaret and handsome Lord Patrick Beresford.

The polo-playing Beresford, 23, and three years Margaret's junior, is one of the princess' latest escorts.

He spent Ascot Week with the royal family at Windsor and squired Margaret to the races, polo matches and theater.

FLIES TO IRELAND

Hickey reported that Beresford flew to Ireland Wednesday where his brother, the Marquis Waterford, next week is marrying Lady Caroline Wyndham Quin, 20, daughter of American-born Countess Dunraven.

Beresford, who will be best man, is presently staying at a shooting lodge in county Wicklow.

He had been scheduled to return Thursday for the black-tie dinner-dance at Buckingham Palace celebrating Queen Mother Elizabeth's return from a tour of Rhodesia, but canceled his air passage and will not return until later today.

Margaret's last serious "friendship" was the long, much-reported romance with Peter Townsend. She finally had to let him go because the former RAF group captain was a divorced man.

It Started in 1829

The detached collar industry started in 1829 in Troy, N.Y., after a Mrs. Hannah Montague of that town snipped the collar off her husband's shirt and made it into a separate garment. Shirt collars won't scratch if rinsed in fabric softener.

Marie Under Treatment Since May

Hospital Releases Quint

MONTREAL, Que. (INS)—Marie Dionne, the shyest and frailest of the four surviving Dionen quintuplets, was disclosed today to have been released from the hospital.

Obedient Child Avoids Disapproval

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

After breakfast 12-year-old Joyce went upstairs to get ready for Sunday School. When she came do she was wearing her new red-and-white-check dress — and some of the bright scarlet lipstick her aunt had recently given her.

Her mother said, "You'd better wipe that red off your mouth. You can't wear lipstick to Sunday School."

"Then I won't go to Sunday School!" Joyce flashed back. She was running back upstairs when her father took over, ordering her to wipe her lips and go out to the car. She obeyed, but so resentfully that her obedience wa as disagreeable as her disobedience had been.

This was because Joyce believed that obeying her parents was doing them a favor, that it had no connection with her own safety.

She was wrong. At 12, Joyce hasn't developed the moral strength required to withstand the sharp disapproval she'd incur by wearing lipstick to Sunday School.

Why wasn't she told this? Why hasn't she been taught the truth: That obedience is not a favor to her parents but the preservation of her still uncertain self-assurance?

Her mother and father themselves have not registered the peril of incurring too much disapproval.

They know the peril of incurring too much physical danger. So when Joyce was 3, they found it easy to explain that she musn't play with scissors lest she cut her hand. They knew that she hadn't developed the physical controls required to manage the scissors safely.

But at 12, when she wants to play with more sharp criticism than she has the moral controls to manage safely, they're not ready with the truthful explanation of why she mustn't.

They don't say, "You can't wear lipstick to Sunday School lest your self-respect get cut up too painfully."

MORAL PROTECTION

The secret of teaching obedience to older children is teaching it as moral self-protection.

To so teach it, we ourselves must be aware of the peril of incurring more hate than we have love to overcome. All children have experienced the pain inflicted by intense disapproval. They appreciate obedience only when it is shown to be protection against this pain.

Yellow Growing in Popularity for Bathroom

Yellow has always been a favorite for kitchens because it's so cheerful and now it's getting popular for bathrooms, too.

Yellow bathroom fixtures were introduced three years ago but have only "caught on" recently. Spokesmen for the plumbing industry report that four times as sold now than in the last few many yellow fixtures are being years.

Other popular fixture colors are gray, pink or coral, tan, ivory, blue and green—and, of course, white.

Shower curtains, meanwhile, are getting more decorative all the time. Women no longer need buy old-standby patterns like flowers, fish or swans and water lilies. The latest patterns feature lace-like stripes, shaving mugs, travel posters and some are even decorated with real sea shells.

May Wear Mourning at Wedding

But Widow Ought to Lighten Costume With Flowers

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I've been wearing all black for my husband who passed away two months ago. I do not mean a heavy crepe veil, but an all-black dress and almost-black stockings.

"My niece is having a large wedding, with reception afterward, and as I do not wish to discard my black, I thought since everyone wears so much of it anyway, I would not be too conspicuous.

"But my sister says it would be out of place sitting with the nearest relatives up front. It seems very curious to me to go out of mourning for one day and then back to it again."

Answer: Solid, deep mourning in a front pew would not only be conspicuous, but an unhappy omen to any who might be superstitious.

You can, however, perfectly well lighten the effect of your black by wearing a corsage of purple or white flowers and perhaps add a matching flower to your hat. This would take away the somber effect and yet quite plainly proclaim your mourning.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is to be a delegate at a convention here next month. There will be a banquet supper and dance afterwards. Would it be proper for me to attend as I am expecting a baby in three months?

"My family thinks it would be in very bad taste for me to go to a large public gathering at this time. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: Unless your condition is much less obvious than is usual when a baby is due in three months, I'm sorry but I must agree with your family that you had better avoid a large public gathering, and especially a dance.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a lady is out dining with a gentleman, is it correct for him to give her the money to tip the maid in the powder room, and if he does offer it should she accept it (regardless of whether it is correct or not)?"

Answer: It is certainly not correct! But if she should on occasion happen to be without money, she might have to borrow from him.

Consider Driver

If a friend takes you to a party in her car you should let her be the one to decide when to leave. Telling her you have to leave the party before she is ready to go is not very considerate. If you know ahead of time you must leave early, say so when she offers to take you.

Ovens, Ranges Feature New Metallic Tones

Metallic color tones such as gold, copper, bronze and gunmetal are now being offered in porcelain enamel finished built-in ovens, ranges and refrigerators.

The new metallic colors are favored by homemakers who want the richness of metal with the easy upkeep that is a recognized advantage of the porcelain enamel finish.

Metallic toned porcelain enamel won't scratch or tarnish so there's no need to rub or polish, and it's heat-proof, acid-resistant, and easily cleaned with soap and water.

Plan Ahead for 'Second Chance'

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Somebody called retirement, "Operation: Second Chance."

For the fortunate people, that's just what it is. However, the fortunate people are mostly not the ones born under a lucky star; they're just the ones who realized early enough that retirement years would eventually come and did something about it.

We tend to feel that we'll never be 65 — never in a million years — but the overwhelming evidence is that we will be.

If you look at it as a second chance, a time to go in for things you never had time for before, you don't have to dread it.

And if you don't dread it, chances are you'll begin to plan it while you're still young enough.

Ideally, about 10 years before retirement age, you ought to start thinking about it.

Make a list of the dreams you had when you were young, the things you always wanted to do "when I have the time."

Start a scrapbook. In it, paste clips of newspaper stories of fields or jobs that interest you; box number ads of jobs which sound fascinating; reviews of books you mean to read.

Let the scrapbook grow. It will begin giving you good ideas for retirement projects.

Second, see if you can afford some good vocational tests. They won't give you a magic answer, but they'll help you uncover interests or abilities which may now be lying unused.

It will make you feel like a real bundle of talents, just the mere process of taking tests. It's a good cure for the you-can't-teach-old-dogs-new-tricks blues.

ACCREDITED AGENCY

If you'd like the name of an accredited agency near you, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope and I'll send it to you.

Third, begin to take a course, one evening a week. You can find the time if you try. When you know there's talent in them thar hills, it's fun to mine it out with a night course.

Fourth, begin to take on some volunteer work along the lines of your interests.

This will help cultivate the outline of "your second chance," and it will bring you in contact with new people, new friends, who may in turn open out new horizons for you.

If you'll do these things, you'll find that the last of life is really a fascinating and wonderful time.

He Battles for Short Shirt Sleeves

Eisenhower Aide Dresses Informally in Humid Capital

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Dr. Shane MacCarthy believes a man can do a better job in his short shirtsleeves when heat and humidity conspire to undermine comfort.

Executive director of the President's council on Youth Fitness, he wears a sports shirt to work, on calls to the White House, and to conferences around town.

He believes the physical fitness of men in general would be improved if they dressed sensibly in sweltering weather. He says he hopes other officials will follow shirt!

"I feel that what I'm doing is completely in the viewpoint of aiding your responsibilities," he told me.

"So many men go home after a long hot day, take off coat and tie as soon as they're in the house and sigh, 'There, I feel better.' Why not feel better all day long at work?"

NOT SHOWING OFF

MacCarthy says he's not aiming to be conspicuous, or trying to start a trend toward tackiness.

"There's nothing eccentric or radical in a clean, open-neck short-sleeve sports shirt," he said.

When MacCarthy has to go to the White House he reaches for a tie and puts on a jacket.

He also does same when attending luncheon meetings in restaurants that require these items, though he thinks it's all nonsense.

"Men are slaves to habit," he scoffs. "They live on a very thin crust of custom. They're afraid of adult guts.

"Women don't have ropes around them. Most of them wear what they please whenever they please, especially in hot weather."

SON OR IRELAND

MacCarthy, who was born in County Cork, Ireland, blew his jacket after weathering many Washington summers.

His open defiance of custom has started a revival of what government employes call the "Brotherhood of Sensible Men" started about 10 years ago by one Charles Planck of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

One could be a member by just taking off tie and unbuttoning shirt collar. Wearing a sports shirt would get a daring young man to the inner sanctum.

The initial hullaballoo over the organization got becalmed, but membership in BSM has increased by thousands as men quietly develop what McCarthy calls "adult guts."

Reader Asks About Movie Stars' Exercise

Will Front Bends Improve Figure?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Is there anything to be gained by doing 100 front bends each morning and each night? I have heard that movie stars do this, and that's the way they keep their good figures. I am not overweight but I have thickened through the waist and my abdomen protrudes."

A. The front bend is a good exercise and will reduce the waist some. However, there are better ones for both waist and abdomen slimming. The front bend is usually done incorrectly. Most women bend up and down rapidly, reaching for the ceiling from their shoulders.

The arms should be relaxed. The trunk should be raised slowly, and the RIB CAGE lifted, in order to give the essential stretch. When done this way the front bend is splendid for slenderizing the diaphragm.

Q. "What can I do about some scars on my face? Is there any cream which will remove them?"

A. I do not know of any. Some folks believe that nightly massage with cocoa butter will help. Time usually dims them.

Q. "Please tell me how much overweight I am. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 145 pounds. What should I weigh? My measurements are bust 36, waist 28 and hips 40 inches."

A. You weigh about 10 pounds too much. You should lose 2 inches from the hips. Take hip-slimming exercise while you diet.

The front bend is good exercise if done correctly. Don't forget to keep the arms relaxed. The trunk should be raised slowly, and the rib cage lifted, in order to give the essential stretch.

Q. "I have a friend who eats much more than I do and has a much thinner figure. I cannot understand why this is."

A. Individual metabolism makes a difference. Also, your friend may be much more active than you are.

Q. "Why does hair turn darker as one grows older?"

A. Hair color usually changes just as skin tone does. It is no doubt a question of changes in the bodily functions and organs, a natural part of aging. Some day they may find out how to overcome the whole process, or at least to delay it far longer than we can now.

Q. "Does it make any difference in which direction one pulls when removing hair with the tweezers from the brows or the chin?"

A. You should pull in the direction in which the hair grows. This makes the process less painful and is less likely to cause irritation.

If you would like my exercises for the waist and abdomen, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Type, Fit of Undergarments Makes Difference in Figure."

Keep the middy short for five-foot-two but you'll seem taller and longer limbed with the tuck-in top. Makes skirt seem longer, which is best on short women.

Middies and overblouses with sheath or pleated skirts make up the relaxed two-piece dresses for juniors and women, too. And for those who prefer natural curves, the overblouse can be tucked in to give a longer-legged and taller look.

Do Away With Television to Insure Summer Peace

Let Your Youngsters Enjoy a Lazy, Happy, Old-Fashioned Vacation

By RUTH MILLETT

Want to give your children the kind of lazy, happy summer you remember from your own childhood?

Well, here are a few suggestions for how it can be done. First of all, make it a TV-less summer. Just getting rid of the continual noise of gunshots and canned laughter will make your home seem like a suddenly restful, peaceful place.

And instead of the kids sitting sprawled in front of the TV set all day long, they'll have to start thinking of ways of entertaining themselves.

Building a playhouse in the backyard, cultivating a small garden plot, playing baseball or selling lemonade to the neighborhood kids will keep them happier than anything TV can offer.

Cut down on your own chauffeuring so that you can have a little more time to help the children bake cookies, make a freezer of homemade ice cream or find some old dresses of your own and some old high-heeled shoes for the little girls to play in.

If you aren't driving one child to a playground, another to a swimming pool, and another across town to play with a friend, you'll have some time to keep them busy and happy at home.

Start at least one family project in house or yard so that there is a little work and accomplishment mixed in with the hours of loafing.

Plan some picnics away from home. Eating on your own patio or in your own backyard isn't the same thing for children as packing a picnic meal in a basket and exploring country roads until you find a picnic spot.

No wonder the summer months seem to drive so many modern mothers close to distraction, with the TV blaring, the kids demanding to be chauffeured here and there and never any end to the noise and confusion.

But old-fashioned summers can be duplicated by any mother who is so fed up she is willing to make a change.

Reinoculation for Polio Asked

Children Getting Shots in '54 Should Be Given Series, Doctor Says

DETROIT (INS)—Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, urged today the more than 30,000 children who participated in the 1954 salk polio vaccine experiment be reinoculated.

His statement followed a recommendation by Dr. Jonas Salk, scientist who developed the vaccine, that all "polio pioneer" children should be given the entire series of shots again.

Dr. Salk issued his recommendation simply because the original vaccine was not as effective as that which has subsequently been produced.

More than 60,000 children in 11 Michigan counties were included in the 1954 test which preceeded the history-making announcement of the vaccine's effectiveness.

Half of these children received the actual vaccine, while the other half were used as a control group, receiving shots in which no vaccine was used.

Commenting on the recommendation, Dr. Heustis said:

"The vaccine is in such short supply now that we're not attempting an all-out reinoculation campaign until it becomes more plentiful."

He pointed out there is "no urgency" to Dr. Salk's recommendation and described it as merely "precautionary."

Bob Considine Says:

Maugham-Type Tale Ends Happily

NEW YORK (INS) — A couple of weeks ago I got a letter from a Mrs. Edith Taylor of Waltham, Mass., and wrote a little piece about it without revealing her name or where she lived.

What she wrote was, to repeat, "meat for a Maugham," but unlike a good percentage of the novelist's works this one apparently has a happy ending.

Mrs. Taylor had a bizarre problem. Her husband, Karl, to whom she had been happily married 23 years, was assigned by his employers to work on Okinawa. Many excited plans were made for her to join him, once he was settled.

But one day there arrived in Waltham a letter from him somewhat along the lines of the "Dear John" letters of World War II.

This was his news: He had obtained a Mexican divorce, was now happily married to a Japanese girl named Aiko Azuma. He hoped the original Mrs. Taylor would understand.

Well, as it turned out, Mrs. Taylor, the first, was as understanding a woman as any man would hope to meet. Taylor died of lung cancer a couple of years ago, five years after arriving on Okinawa.

Before he died he wrote to his first wife and asked her if she'd be willing to raise his two little girls by the Japanese wife, if the Japanese girl would let them go to Waltham.

LOVED CHILDREN

Mrs. Taylor, first, said fine. The dear little children arrived in time and were as loved and cared for as if they were her own. But after a short period, Mrs. Taylor, first, began to worry about the mother. "Okinawa Mama," the little girls called her.

She learned that the Japanese girl, after agreeing to give up the children because they might be raised better in the United States, grieved constantly for them.

Mrs. Taylor, first, with limited resources, went through the tedious procedure of government red tape, seeking a visa for the mother to come to Waltham and not only be reunited with her babies but live with her, Mrs. Taylor, first.

Highly irregular, the State Department said. There were such things as immigration quotas.

Mrs. Taylor, second, could not be given a visitor's visa. She must apply for a permanent visa, but the quota from Okinawa was such that it might take years for her name to bob up on top.

I called Managing Editor Jim Murphy of the Boston Daily Record to tell him about the letter. He assigned a reportorial team headed by his assistant, Arthur J. Good, and a sensitive and fine reporter named Jean Cole.

I asked that they first sound out Mrs. Taylor, and not print a word about the case if it in any way distressed her. But as it turned out, the good-hearted woman was as unselfish as her letter indicated.

MOVED SWIFTLY

The Record ran a news story on the remarkable case. Things moved swiftly after that. There were many calls, wires and letters from all over the country, either offering help or expressing sympathy and a tender appreciation of what the divorced wife was doing for a girl she doesn't know.

Three Japanese girls from Okinawa who are married to Americans who served there and now live in the Boston area offered to serve as guides for the Americanization of the second Mrs. Taylor.

Congressman Harold Donohue, Worcester Republican, took the case to U. S. Immigration Commissioner J. H. Swing, who now has ruled that the Japanese widow may enter the U. S. as a parolee.

Mrs. Taylor, second, will remain with her children at the home of Mrs. Taylor, first, while a bill introduced by Donohue and supported by the entire Massachusetts delegation in the House goes through the congressional wringer.

Similar bills previously have been offered chiefly in behalf of famous educators, medical men, scientists and the like.

But the loneliness of a Japanese girl, her natural hunger for her children, and the ability of an American woman to put the human heart ahead of all other considerations, has changed the governmental script. Plainly, all is not lost in an otherwise cynical world.

Family With 11 Children Visits Detroit in Airliner

DETROIT (AP) — Admiring clerks at one of Detroit's biggest hotels still are shaking their heads over the fortitude displayed by a Massachusetts father of 11 who transported his brood a third of the way across the country by plane.

The father, George D. Noble Jr., arrived in Detroit after a trip in which his impressive family made up half the passenger list on a DC-6 airliner.

It took two station wagons to carry Noble, his wife, Ruth, and their 11 youngsters to the hotel (Sheraton Cadillac) where they are staying in a six-room suite.

The family, which lives in Wellesley, Mass., is spending a week in a visit with relatives. The childrens' ages range from 14 years to nine months.

Noble admits that a father of a large family runs into plenty of big problems, and the biggest is the general idea among outsiders that because a family has quantity it lacks quality.

DISCIPLINE EFFECTIVE

The visitor says the key is discipline. The kind used in the Noble household is so effective that only one baby sitter is needed when the parents are away.

"They don't trip old ladies or fall down elevator shafts, either," says Noble. "We are just like any other family—there's just more of us."

One of the comments Noble hears most is, "That guy must own a bank." Noble is an employe of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The Nobles, who were married in 1942, lived in Huntington Woods until he transferred to the East. He is 37.

The children in the family include Cynthia, 14; George III, 13; Cheryl, 10; Mark, 8; Kathryn, 7; Patrick, 6; Michael, 5; twins, Ruth and Mary, 3; Ann, 2, and Robert, 9 months.

The Meridian highway which extends from Winnipeg, Canada, southward to Laredo, Texas, covers a total distance of about 1,769 miles.

FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1957 — PONTIAC, MICHIGAN — TWENTY-ONE

"I RECOMMEND"—Miss Roberta Quello (right), bookmobile librarian, suggests to the Pruett girls, Linda, Susan, and Vicki, of 695 E. Mansfield Ave., a book as they search the bookmobile for a good bit of reading. Miss Quello assists users of the bookmobile in their selection from among 5,000 books.

Services of Bookmobile Reach Outlying Readers

If you see a big, green van roaming in your neighborhood, don't shudder thinking it's the mortgage company coming after the furniture. It's a truck full of knowledge and entertainment for you and your children.

Although the exact date of its beginning is indefinite, the Pontiac City Library's bookmobile has been taking books to city doorsteps for 10 to 15 years.

LIBRARY EXTENSION

"It's just like a library extension or branch to us," explained Miss Phyllis A. Pope, city librarian. "It reaches parts of the city where residents find it difficult to come downtown to the main library or to our two branches."

Illustrating the popularity of the "library on wheels" are library circulation figures of last year. Of the total circulation of 246,430 books, nearly one-third, or 75,855 books, were borrowed from the bookmobile.

"It sometimes gets so crowded in here that our two clerical assistants, myself, and the driver are cramped for space," said Miss Roberta Quello, of 23 Williams St., and bookmobile librarian since January.

The large truck with the balcony-like entrance at its rear, contains nothing more than an aisle lined by shelves on each side containing 5,000 books.

Driver of the van for the past 10 years, Thomas Bush, positions himself at a desk in the rear at all stops. Here, users file in and return any borrowed books.

CATERS TO CHILDREN

Although the bookmobile material caters to both children and adults, examination of the shelves show younger children have the big choice. There are also reference books.

After a book has been selected, it is checked out at a desk in the front of the van where the two clerical assistants sit.

The bookmobile operates 12 months a year, and makes 11 stops a week. It remains at each stop about an hour.

Most stops are in the vicinity of outlying elementary schools and playgrounds. This accounts for the fact that 75 per cent of the bookmobile's circulation is children's books.

There is an average of 6,000 books borrowed monthly, Miss Quello said.

Today there are about 1,000 similar bookmobiles in operation in this country.

FIRST IN 1905

The story is told that the first one appeared in 1905 when an Allegheny farmer watched a high, black wagon turn into his barnyard. He called out:

"Yer needn't stop here. We ain't got no use fer the dead wagon here."

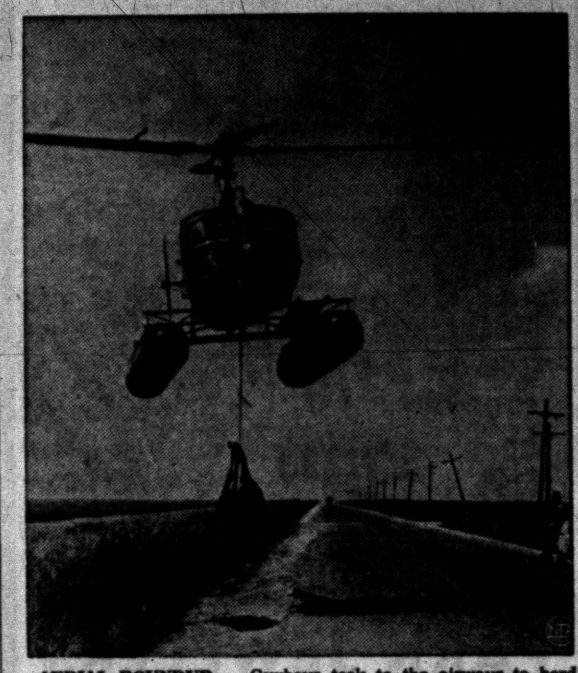

But the wagon stopped. This was the granddaddy of the bookmobile.

Its primary purpose was to truck reading materials to the dusty, black roads of the country. Here, people lived who seldom traveled to town.

Today's bookmobiles, Miss Pope said, often replace library branches. "They also help cities determine just where a future branch might go by showing its highest center of users in the community," she continued.

"Ours is so popular," she added, "that we could easily use another."

AERIAL ROUNDUP — Cowboys took to the airways to herd hundreds of storm-stranded cattle in the wake of Hurricane Audrey recently. The cattle were picked up in rope slings and carried to the highways. Ranchers report several hundred cows and calves were saved in this manner.

LIBRARY ON WHEELS—This group of youngsters about to enter the bookmobile is proof that 75 per cent of its circulation is children's books.

A SUMMER BOOKWORM — Just give little Donna Swan, of 370 Second Ave., an armful of good books like she has here, and she's set for a summer of enjoyable reading. Donna is talking to assistant bookmobile driver Joe Hupka, of 203 Voorheis Rd., who in addition to his driving duties, checks in returned books at the rear of the van.

Sweet Daddy Having Troubles

Detroit Residents Claim His Church Services Are Too Boisterous

DETROIT (AP) — Sweet Daddy Grace is having legal trouble with his neighbors. One hundred thirty-seven of them claim that his baptism services at the United House of Prayer for All People are a shade too boisterous.

Residents of the west side Detroit neighborhood near Sweet Daddy's church charge, among other things, that services are conducted over loudspeakers mounted on trucks and include such practices as drum beating and mass hand-clapping.

A petition signed by 137 householders said Sweet Daddy's exotic form of worship constituted a public nuisance. The 78-year-old Negro cultist has been ordered to appear in court July 26 to answer the charge.

Sweet Daddy acquired the church when it was sold to him by Prophet Jones, the leader of another cult, who left Detroit after running into various legal troubles.

A spokesman for the residents said services at Sweet Daddy's church often lasted until midnight and were conducted to the clanging of tambourines, punctuated with an occasional bugle blast.

The petitioners frowned, too, on the use of fire hoses in conducting mass baptisms outside the church.

"The traffic problem was terrific," commented one petitioner.

Boy Hangs Self Attempting Trick Seen in Comic

LEBANON, N.J. (AP)—A youngster trying to duplicate a trick he had seen in a comic book hanged himself in his home here yesterday, police reported.

Detective Norton Euart said the victim, Daniel T. Dmytheshin, 12, of New York City, had hanged himself.

The lad's body was found hanging from a rafter in the family's summer home by his mother, Mrs. Paul Dmytheshin.

Euart said he found an open comic book on the boy's bed. The book showed a scene in which rabbits rigged up a dummy in such a way that it would jump up suddenly when a door was opened.

Euart said the boy had apparently tried to duplicate the trick and accidentally hanged himself in the process.

Reactions Mixed on Newsmen-to-China Offer by Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' offer to allow a "limited nuumber" of American reporters to visit Red China for a trial period got a mixed reaction on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) called it "the first break in the paper curtain" and "better than no American coverage at all of Red China." He commended Dulles for proposing it, but news representatives who received the offer yesterday balked at the limitations it contained.

Mansfield expressed hope the limits would be sufficiently large to insure a square deal for all elements of legitimate communications media."

In a separate interview, however, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) objected to the idea of the State Department saying "who could, and who couud not report."

"Under a free press a government official is not permitted to say what segments of the press should be permitted to cover the news anywhere," he said.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said in another interview that neither the Red Chinese government nor the State Department should "handpick the reporters who would visit Red China."

The State Department, which controls passports, now bars all Americans from going to Communist China, which this country does not recognize.

Dulles proposed a six-month trial of his limited plan yesterday at a meeting with five representatives of American news organizations. But they disagreed with his proposal that the number be limited to perhaps 12 or 15 newsmen.

The result was a decision to determine how many newsmen actually would be interested in going.

The State Department will poll newspapers, news services, magazines and radio and television companies shortly to find out how many want to send correspondents to Red China.

Asst. Secretary of State Andrew Berding said Dulles argued that unless the number was controlled, a very large group of reporters might go to Red China and he is opposed to that.

But William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and one of the five who conferred with Dulles, said the cost of sending a reporter to Red China and maintaining him there, will provide "an automatic check" on the number.

Dwight and the other news organization representatives told Dulles that no arbitrary limitation should be placed on news gathering operations by the government.

Berding made clear in discussing the conference later with reporters that Dulles already had made the policy decision to let some reporters go in, assuming that details can be worked out. The problem is how many should go.

Aiken told a reporter that if the Red Chinese officials aren't insisting on specifying what American reporters could enter the mainland, the State Department should not limit their number.

He said he liked the idea of a six-month trial period to test the sincerity of the Chinese invitation.

Believe Forest Fires Held Down by Rains

LANSING (AP) — Heavy rains, though damaging to farmers, helped to hold down forest fire losses last week, the Conservation Department reported today.

Eight fires, seven of them in the Upper Peninsula, damaged some 23 acres, raising the toll for the year to 5,354 acres.

STPO SIGN—The sign painter who did this sign in Pomona, Calif., must be the same one who recently spelled school "scoohl" on the new Will Rogers Elementary School here in Pontiac. Unemployment Reserves Used

Drain Insurance Funds

ALBANY, N.Y. (INS) — The head of a New York Employers' Association has claimed that unemployment payments to workers laid off in summer vacation shutdowns are draining the state's unemployment insurance reserve funds.

Joseph R. Shaw, president of the Associated Industries of New York, branded the situation a "summer gold rush." In a recent statement, Shaw declared factory workers could draw benefits totaling more than $250,000 in addition to their vacation pay.

State Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin said about nine per cent of an estimated 152,000 upstate workers affected by plant closings have filed for unemployment benefits.

The claims started coming in after a recent court decision held vacation pay was a bonus for past services rather than salary. The court ruled, therefore, that employes were considered unemployed during plant vacation shutdowns.

To qualify for the benefits, however, a claimant must be available to take another job if offered; his claim must be approved by the industrial commissioner's office, and there is an unpaid waiting period of one week.

Car and Train in Collision

Nurses' Aide Injured in Crossing Crash Here Thursday

Kathleen Carringer, of 50 Close St., was reported in fair condition today. Her injuries are fractured ribs and a fractured collarbone.

Driller told police the train's bell and whistle were operating as well as the signal at the Sanderson avenue crossing.

Smash London Catnaping Ring

Find Filched Felines Being Sold to Dealer for Experiments

GREENWICH, Eng., (INS) — A British catnaping ring was smashed yesterday with the imprisonment of a woman and two men who confessed snatching 720 cats in the London area.

Police said Raymond Hardinges, 26, admitted he, his wife, Diana, 24, and his brother Alfred, 29, admitted grabbing cats and selling them to a dealer for hospital experiments. They got 12 shillings sixpence (about $1.75) per cat.

Alfred Hardinges, police said, told them: "After a while I forgot they were cats. All I saw was 12 shillings sixpence on four legs."

A Greenwich judge sentenced each of the trio to six months' imprisonment. So widespread was the feline reign of terror, a detective testified, that the cat owners of Brixton formed a vigilante committee against catnaping.

A parade of cat-owners passed through the meow-filed courtroom in search of their pets. Police had saved several of the felines when they arrested the Hardinges.

There were several happy reunions between owner and tabby. Not so happy was a detective who arrested the catnapers. He was nursing a scratch on the hand from one of the ungrateful kitties he had rescued.

Incurable Cancer Kills 6-Year-Old Boy

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Six-year-old Chuckie Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brewer, died yesterday at Mahoning Valley Hospital, where he had been confined for many months with incurable cancer.

Chuckie received hundreds of cards and gifts on his birthday last April, including many from Canada and other countries.

Although never told of the seriousness of his illness, the child told his parents he knew he was "going away" and said he was going on a "vacation to heaven to see Jesus."

Man Jerks Car Door, Falls, Injuring Head

Police report Johnson said he was attempting to open the door of his car. He struck his head when he fell back after jerking the door, he said.

The accident occurred on Baldwin Avenue.

Scouts Honored for Best Gateway

By DICK ROGERS

Busy, busy, busy. That's how it is at the Jamboree.

From the time the aerial bomb went off to open the Jamboree Friday we have been busy walking the historic trails, swapping, seeing shows in the big arena, camping and . . . just loafing around.

Friday night a big show was staged at the main arena. Following Vice President Nixon's opening address, a pageant was performed telling the history of Valley Forge.

The show opened with the national anthem and a salute to 1,200 American flags. There was a spectacular fireworks demonstration for a finale to the evening. It sure was the largest I had ever seen and probably will ever see again.

The next day we woke up to find we were celebrities.

Our gateway (Clinton Valley Council) had won a place in a newsreel of the Jamboree.

GATE FALLS

Our glory did not last long. Tuesday our gateway fell to the ground in a crumbled mass. It was 30 feet high and 20 feet wide. It snapped in the middle and fell precisely where it had formally stood.

The gateway had been one of the Jamboree's most impressive sights. It was built of screen and metal tubing into the form of the Michigan mit. So much for the gateway . . . may it rest in peace.

DICK ROGERS

Here at the Jamboree to keep cool, we take showers. The only water around here to go swimming in is polluted. We take an average of three showers a day.

Most of our swapping is done at the big swapping tent. Some is done at any time or place you see a scout who has something to trade.

We trade such items as horned toads, bull whips, scout patches, lobster claws, white mice and snakes. Some of the rarer things were Albino rabbit skins, rattlesnake skins and their rattles, and stuffed alligators.

The most wanted items at the Jamboree are patches and horned toads.

Several guests, including Pontiac Press' Joe Haas and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Forman, of Pontiac, have visited us during our stay at Valley Forge.

Junior Editors Quiz on PLANTS

QUESTION: Do Plants Eat Insects?

Answer: As everybody knows, many insects eat plants. But did you know that a few plants eat insects?

Some of these plants entice insects into pockets from which they cannot escape. Others grab them as a mousetrap grabs a mouse. Then they digest their victims in fluids, just as we digest things.

A common insect-eating plant is the pitcher plant. Like most of the others it lives in swampy places. A vine, it sends out shoots that develop pitcher-shaped traps. Insects, and especially ants, are attracted to these pitchers by sweet smelling nectar. As soon as they start smelling around inside, they lose their footing on the slippery surface and tumble down inside and can't get out.

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a collection of the weeds you can find in vacant lots near your home. You probably won't find a pitcher plant, but you'll be surprised at the many interesting kinds you do find if you look closely. You can save them by pressing them between leaves of books.

'Tell Other Side' in Clinton Trial

Segregationists Defense Will Seek to Disprove Two Vital Charges

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The defense in the "Clinton trial" set out today to demolish two vital points —violence and conspiracy—in the U.S. government's case against 11 advocates of all-white schools.

"We are going to call some eyewitnesses—people who saw that alleged violence," said Chief Defense Counsel Robert L. Dobbs of Memphis, Tenn.

They will tell "the other side of the story," he said.

The defense battery professed not to be disappointed over having lost their hard-hitting plea for a directed verdicted to acquit the 10 men and one woman.

After hearing hours of argument from both sides, U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor made a long analysis of the case. At the end of it, he said gravely, "I am constrained to overrule the defense motion."

He said evidence exists to support the major sections of the government's accusation—that the 11 knowingly, and with common purpose, acted to circumvent a federal order to integrate Clinton High School last fall, and that "overt acts" followed.

Whether the evidence is sufficient to prove guilt, Taylor said, is not for him to decide. That is in the hands of the all-white jury. But he held that the evidence does exist.

Thereupon, the defense immediately began calling witnesses.

"Call Mrs. Sybil Davis," said Grover S. McLeod, a defense lawyer from Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Davis, tall, slim, with an oval face and auburn hair, was sworn in. She said she was secretary of the Tennessee White Citizens Council, segregationist body.

"How many members does the council have?" McLeod asked.

"Oh, hundreds," said Mrs. Davis.

He handed her a sheaf of wide, portfolio-size papers, which he identified as the roll of members, and told her to read the names.

"All of them?" Mrs. Davis' eyebrows went up in a high arch.

"All the names," said McLeod.

It took Mrs. Davis 50 minutes to read the whole list, 495 names and addresses.

"Now then," said McLeod, "I notice that many of the council members are women." Mrs. Davis agreed.

"And many of them are respectable businessmen." She assented.

"Did it take you long to get all these people?"

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Davis. "We didn't really work hard or we could have gotten the names even more quickly."

"Did you ever talk violence in council meetings?"

"Certainly not," she said firmly. "Do you believe in segregation. I believed in it before John Kasper (Northern segregationist organizer and a defendant) ever came to Anderson County."

Report Boy 'Satisfactory' After Bicycle Accident

William F. Slonaker, 7, of 1073 Berwick Blvd., received multiple bruises and a possible concussion yesterday after he was knocked unconscious when the bicycle he was riding hit a curb.

The boy was reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

He told Pontiac police he fell against a tree after his bike hit the curb on Berkley avenue near Orchard Lake avenue about 5:15 p.m. yesterday.

Recover Missing Body

ALGONAC (AP)—The body of Mrs. Irene Kaatz, 51, Marine City, was recovered from the north channel of the St. Clair River near here Thursday by state police. Mrs. Kaatz was reported missing by her husband, Fred, on Feb. 10 of this year. At that time police found her footprints in the snow leading out onto ice covering the river and ending at a hole about 50 feet from shore.

Steals Moonshine Still While Visiting at Jail

BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP) — Willard Lloyd Dorsey, 23, of Bryson City, received a six-month suspended sentence after pleading guilty to stealing a moonshine liquor still from the county jail.

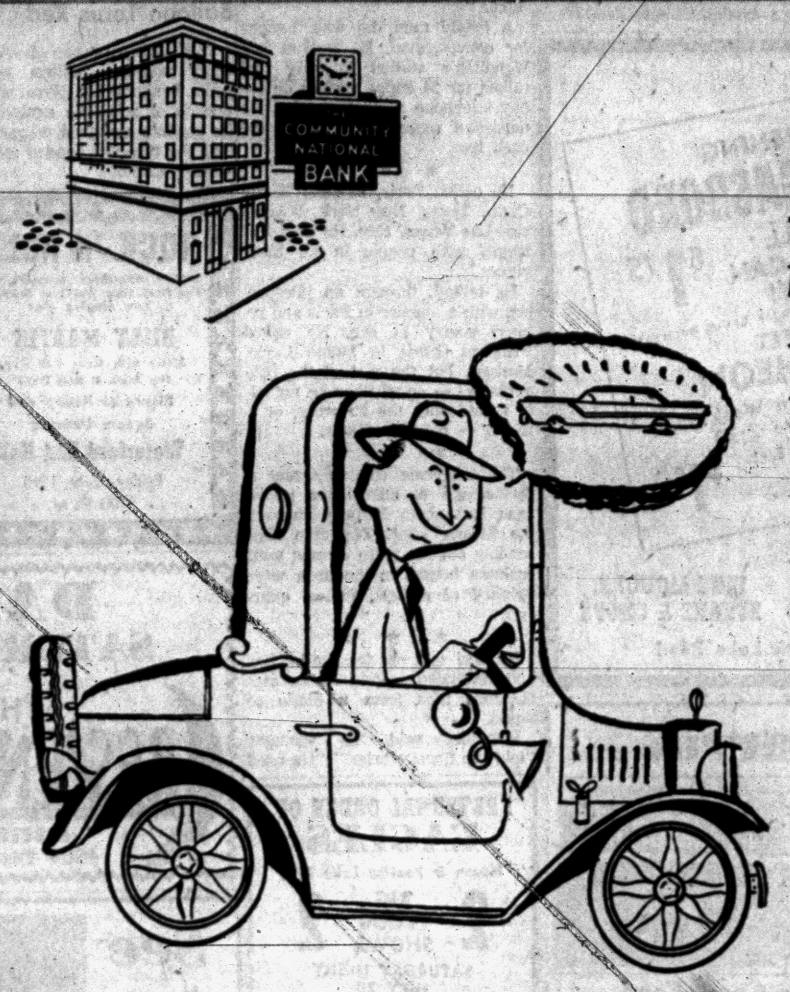

Police said Dorsey took the still, which had been confiscated in a raid, as he was leaving the building after visiting a friend.

New Airline Service

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of Illini Airlines have announced plans to inaugurate five-day service from the Detroit City Airport and Meig's Field in downtown Chicago. President Douglas G. Harvey says the service will begin Aug. 23 and will consist of three flights daily except on Saturday and Sunday.

Electricity was first made from atomic energy at the atomic energy commission's testing station located in the state of Idaho on December 20, 1951.

No License in 25 Years, Says Driver at Accident

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A motorist revealed yesterday he had been driving for 25 years without a license.

Police said Harold Strill, 49, told them he was refusued a license because of poor eyesight.

He related the story after his first encounuter with traffic police —when he lost his grip on the steering wheel while lighting a cigaret and ran over an embankment near Canadensis, Pa. He was unhurt.

Telephone Calls at Filling Station Cost Man $300

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Folks around Clarence Wendling's filling station on the outskirts of Springfield were still speculating today about a most amazing man—"the talker."

A lonely man, he was, hungry for conversation. He walked into Wendling's station Tuesday and talked for 24 hours, mostly on the pay telephone to distant cities. He deposited more than $300 in the cash box.

He called Paris, France; Monte Carlo, Texas, New York, Wisconsin—Las Vegas, Nev. He talked at length with people in all those places.

He talked, through an interpreter, with a teacher in Paris and recited poetry to her. He called Princess Grace in Monte Carlo, Monaco, but the gist of the conversation — or whether he actually talked with the Princess, or a friend — nobody caught.

The telephone company sent a serviceman to unload the phone cash box about halfway through the 24-hour stint. The man kept sending out for more change until business houses in the area were stripped of nickels, dimes, quarters.

He also sent out for sandwiches and continued talking as he ate. He took nips from a bottle of liquid.

Wendling said the stranger "told the finest stories." "He used big words. Sometimes he'd spell the big words out. And he'd recite wonderful poetry."

Wendling, who described the talker as about 35, and dressed plainly, said he showed his credentials to him, indicating he was a "quite important" figure, "but not a real big shot." Wendling declined to disclose his identity.

Fire Fighters Containing Brush Fire in Texas

SAN SABA, Tex. (AP)—Firefighters contained a roaring brush fire in all but "two or three places" in the tinder dry ranchland southwest of here today.

Mayor J. W. Shook of San Saba said the blaze was confined to the Yates ranch. He said the fire was out of control at "two or three places," but was being fought with 25 or 30 pieces of equipment.

India has about one-third the total world acreage under rice.

Hollywood Headlines

Tyrone Power Decides to Make 'The Lost Steps'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Whatever other commitments Tyrone Power has between now and October 1958, he is going to wedge in "The Lost Steps," a novel by Cuban newspaperman Alejo Carpentier, to be published by Alfred Knopf.

Ty read it from the galley proofs and fell for the strange, almost allegorical story of a New Yorker sent to the jungles of South America on an expedition to compare the primitive life of the jungles to the jungles of the modern city. He will star in the film, to be made largely on location.

If Julie London is waiting for her career to cool down a bit before she marries and takes a honeymoon with Bobby Troup, I'm afraid this wedding is in for another postponement.

On Aug. 5 (that's practically here) she reports to Universal-International to co-star with Richard Egan in "This Day Alone," a powerful drama of an alcoholic who hits bottom before he is saved by the devotion of his wife. Gordon Kay is the producer.

Julie's last picture at U-I was "The Great Man," and since then she's gone far as a singer and an actress.

MARLENE SAYS NO

$150,000 is a lot of money to turn down, but that's what Marlene Dietrich did when a current magazine wanted her life story.

Marlene emphatically declared that she will never allow her biography to be written while she is alive, but she is carefully making notes to leave to her daughter.

Dean Jennings, former San Francisco Examiner reporter, was assigned to the Dietrich story. He is writing the George Raft life story, and I am told it is shockingly frank.

I hadn't heard from Daisy (Mrs. Paul) Lucas in years until I received a letter from her from New York.

Daisy, of the famous Hungarian Benes family, writes, "Because I know you are a woman who always believed in and fought for freedom and liberty, you should know how happy I am that my brother Paul Benes, his wife and 11-year-old daughter, Victoria (named for Victory), escaped from Hungary after having been through the most horrifying and dreadful experiences during the Communist regime.

"They are now enjoying this wonderful country, thanks to all of us wonderful Americans."

When I visited Budapest in 1932, I met some members of Daisy's family, which is very prominent. At that time Paul was called the John Barrymore of Hungary.

MOUNTIES COMING

We haven't had a thriller about the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for so long that Sam Engel thinks it's high time we bring the red-coated lads in to rescue the box office.

That's why he is changing the locale of "Captive," by Mildred and Gordon Gordon, from northern Arizona to British Columbia.

So when you see Don Murray in this 20th Century-Fox thriller, you will see him as a Mounty hero instead of working for the FBI, as is described in the original story.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Peggy Lee has been released from UCLA Medical Center after a few days' hospitalization.

Apparently Mary Murphy cannot live with or without Dale Robertson. For the umpteenth time she has instructed her attorney, Paul Schrieman, to seek an annulment.

REVIVES CACTUS PLANT — Mrs. Lawrence Colbeth of 278 E. Wilson St., Pontiac, here shows her California Cactus Plant which is blossoming for the second time in 30 years. She bought the plant about 1927 and it flowered only once before, in 1932. Mrs. Colbeth reports that she didn't water the plant all last winter and after doing so this summer it began to sprout.

Protecting Landscape Plants

BY WAYNE B. SIEFERT

If you made new plantings of trees and shrubs this spring they will need care throughout their entire first year, and especially during July and August. Because of the extreme heat and rapid drying conditions these months are an especially difficult time for young plants.

Remove all injurious grass or other competing plants from around the trees or shrubs. The space to keep cultivated around the newly-set plants will depend on the size of the plant, but ordinarily would be half as wide as the spread of foliage.

While nature has been overgenerous with water recently, do not be deceived that the supply will be sufficient for all summer. Water all new trees and shrubs deeply once a week their first year, even if there has been rain during the week.

Building surfaces and glass reflect heat strongly enough to injure plants within 3 or 4 feet from the foundation. About the only thing that can be done is to supply enough water to offset the heat. Plants should be planted out from the building if possible.

Apply mulch on the surface around plants to conserve moisture, reduce extreme temperatures, reduce soil cracking, discourage weeds and improve soil texture during the summer months.

Burlap sun shades may be hung up on stakes to reduce the midday sun on plants that show signs of heat injury such as dry and falling leaves.

PRUNING PINES

Mid-June to mid-July is the time to prune pines to get the shape and density you desire in ornamental trees. Pines should be pruned to shape only during the candle stage of growth.

After the new terminal top growth has reached 10 to 15 inches, the terminal should be clipped off to 8 to 12 inches in length. The lateral side candles around the terminal should be clipped evenly 2 to 4 inches shorter.

The lateral branches should then be sheared lightly overall, confining the cuts to the new growth except that exceedingly long branches should be cut back to a lateral twig to shape the tree.

An additional year's growth the following season should be allowed following the last pruning to permit growth of buds set as the result of pruning.

Pruning or shearing in many cases is essential to produce top quality, compact symmetrical trees. Some trees may require considerable pruning while others may require little, if any.

PRUNING VEGETABLE PLANTS

There's no advantage in removing suckers from sweet corn plants. In fact, under certain growing conditions, it would be harmful to do this.

The leaves on these suckers are actually food producing parts of the plant. To remove them would cut the plant's ability to produce food for growth and development of the ear, in the case of sweet corn.

Pruning is not recommended for most truck crops. An exception would be staked tomatoes where it is necessary to train the plant to go up the stake. Even then, a minimum amount of pruning should be done to accomplish the training.

Another possible exception to the "no pruning" recommendation is when unusually large fruits are desired on pumpkins or squash. In that case, removal of some of

Michigan Interest Grows

Tree Farming Is Popular

MANISTEE (Special)—The pride and profit that comes from growing trees as a crop—tree farming—continues to attract Michigan landowners.

Already, Michigan has 439 certified Tree Farms enrolled in the industry-operated American Tree Farm System of growing timber as a crop on taxpaying lands, and their green-and-white Tree Farm signs are becoming a familiar sight along Michigan's highways and byroads.

Eight woodland properties have just been certified into the Tree Farm program bringing the state total of privately-owned forest acreage in the program to 1,073,313 acres.

Harvests of mature timber, improvement cuts and thinnings have been made. Open and understocked areas have been planted to trees, plantations and forest areas have been protected from fire. Insect infestations have been controlled by spraying and other means. Cattle have been fenced out of the woodlots to eliminate destructive grazing.

Each area was inspected by a forester, and a full report submitted to Michigan forest industries' Tree Farm Committee. Many areas fail to attain certification, but foresters always offer expert advice to help woodland owners bring their forestry practices up to standards.

Woodland owners interested may write to Tree Farm Committee, Filer City, Mich.

Patience Is Grower's Weapon

By GARDNER ZADE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Anyone who sets out to grow things must resign himself to an endless battle against insect pests and plant ailments.

The weapons for defense are chemical ones. The winning ingredient is the gardener's willingness to take the time and have the patience to follow a regular schedule in applying chemicals.

Unfortunately, there is no one spray for all insects. In the main, the gardener must have two types, one for a stomach poison to combat the chewing insects and the other a contact poison to fight the sucking insects which stick their tiny bills into stems and leaves to extract the juice.

Chewing insects are present when leaves are eaten on the margin or holes appear within the leaf. The culprit most likely is the larva of some bug, incorrectly called a "worm."

The true worm is the earthworm and its presence should be encouraged since it improves the soil.

The moment insect damage is observed, spray or dust should be applied. An outbreak of insects in one part of the garden may become epidemic.

Chewing insects, according to kind, can be controlled with chlordane, malathion, rotenone, pyrethrum and DDT.

Sucking insects, on the other hand, can be controlled by lindane and nicotine sulfate.

Slugs, snails, cutworms, ground beetles are killed with poison bait. This is scattered through the garden just before the seed is sown and every 10 days thereafter until pests are gone.

There's a specific "bullet" for each insect and there are many different ones on the market. Beginners will need the advice from their local seed man.

DDT is one of the recent boons to gardeners. Sucking insects like leaf hoppers and beetles which attack dahlias, carrots, potatoes and vine crops are particularly manageable with DDT.

DDT is not as poisonous to humans as calamity howlers have claimed. In a recent test 51 experimenters ate 35 mm. of DDT daily for one year. This is about 200 times as much as one could pick up from sprayed vegetables and fruits.

At the end of the year it was found that the 51 had no more DDT in their body fat than those not on the test.

Rose fanciers must be especially vigilant in using proper sprays. Worse plague is blackspot disease. This is caused by a fungus rather than an insect. A new fungicide called captan is proving effective.

Be sure to follow directions for dilution of solutions containing it. Constant dosage is the only sure way to prevent the spread of this damaging disease. Pick off and burn all badly spotted and yellow leaves.

All Trees Need Eleven Elements in Their Diets

As an adequate human diet must contain certain basic vitamins and minerals, so a tree diet must have a variety of chemical elements.

At least 11 of these elements are necessary for proper growth. They include oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, sulfur, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium, potassium iron and manganese.

A professional treeman usually can tell if a tree is suffering from a dietary deficiency, and what elements are needed to bring back health and vigor. He also will recommend the right fertilizer to insure a balanced diet.

Two in Dryden Own, Operate Tree Farms

A retail lumber dealer, Floyd Havens has owned a 43-acre woodland for five years. It is located three miles southwest of Dryden village.

Fifteen acres of plantations have been established in addition to his woodlot of oak and cedar. There is no evidence of fire or grazing damage, and cattle are fenced from the entire area. Havens' planting program calls for regular addition of about 5,000 trees per year.

Dr. Benjamin Jeffries, Grosse Pointe psychiatrist, purchased property two years ago, and already has supervised a harvest cut of the mature timber, under forester's recommendations. The 16-acre Tree Farm is primarily oak timber, and is part of a 180 acre farm six miles southwest of Dryden village, managed for him by a farm family.

Reports Tree of Nectarines

Waterford Man Tells of Growing Rare Fruit in Michigan

Michael Palazzolo, 2596 Desmond at Williams Lake, reports a nectarine tree on his property, which has blossomed for the past three years. Nectarines are a cross between peaches and plums.

While purchasing it from a nursery in 1952, he was told that it was an apricot tree. However, both nectarines and apricots are rare in this part of the country. The reason for this is that they bloom very early in the spring and the tree usually freezes before fruit has a chance to grow.

Palazzolo said that he usually gets about four or five nectarines each year.

The warmer the atmosphere the greater will be the respiration of trees, which has a moderating effect on the immediate climate, says the National Arborist Association.

Rods Are Safeguard Against Tree Ruin

The violent storms of the season pick trees as targets for lightning bolts because trees usually are the tallest things handy.

The best insurance against lightning loss is to outfit the largest trees on your grounds with lightning cables.

Besides protecting the tree to which they are attached, lightning rods lend a measure of protection to smaller trees and buildings nearby.

Lightning protection systems are usually installed by tree experts. The job is too complicated and dangerous for most amateurs.

Begonias Grow in Popularity

The tuberous rooted begonia has become in the last few years one of the most widely grown flowers in this country, rivaling the gladiolus. Formerly this popular plant was grown by few home gardeners east of California.

Tuberous begonias combine great beauty with ease of culture, when their basic needs are understood and supplied. They reward the gardener not with a single flower, as do most summer bulbs, but with a succession of blossoms all season long.

Their liking for shade has helped make them popular, since a majority of home gardeners have shady spots for which it often is difficult to find attractive plants.

Begonias thrive on the north side of buildings, where they get a few hours' summer sunshine mornings or late afternoons, or in places where trees or shrubs shade them from the midday sun.

"We have a nearly veteran ball club," Howell continued. "We expect to be in good shape for the game. The All Stars have one of the best clubs in some time. They have the size this year and we're looking for the team to give us a rough time.

Series Sweep Is Typical Yank Story

Tighe Criticizes Umont for Call on Pitch in Disastrous 8th

DETROIT (AP)—Most anybody will tell you that a single pitch can mean the difference between winning and losing a baseball game.

And that's just what manager Jack Tighe said was the difference between the Detroit Tigers winning and losing yesterday against the New York Yankees. The Yankees, of course, won it. Their 3-2 triumph achieved in typical Yankee fashion completed a sweep of the three-game series attended by 106,004 spectators.

Tighe made particular reference to a pitch called against Mickey Mantle while the Yankee slugger was batting in the disastrous eighth inning. With one man out and Jerry Coleman on first base as a result of a single—only the third hit off Bill Hoeft at the time—plate umpire Frank Umont called the second pitch to Mantle a ball.

That made the count 2-0 and Hoeft proceeded to walk Mantle, who later scored on Hank Bauer's long double to right center. The Yanks scored three runs in that inning on Yogi Berra's single and Bauer's double and as far as Tighe and Hoeft were concerned, the one call on Mantle did the damage.

"Hoeft had to pitch carefully to Mantle after that—he was too careful," said the manager. "It was a lousy call, and you can quote me as saying that guy Umont is a Yankee all the way."

It isn't the first time Tighe has criticized American League umpiring.

Hoeft said Umont told him later "it was a pretty good pitch to Mantle and I missed it." I'm sorry."

The umpire denied he said that. "I walked toward the mound while Berra was batting to throw a ball out to Hoeft and I told him it was a pretty fair pitch but that it sailed around the plate. It definitely wasn't a strike and I didn't apologize for anything."

The Tigers made no mention of the fact that they had runners on second and third with nobody out in the eighth inning—and failed to score. Or that they had three different men on base in the fourth inning without scoring or that they had the bases loaded in the fifth inning and didn't score.

"Best trip we've had to Detroit in a long time," was Yankee manager Casey Stengel's only comment.

Mrs. Weiss After 5th Women's Title

4-Time Champion in Finals

By H. GUY MOATS

A school teacher who is making her first bid for the title and a seasoned campaigner shooting for her fifth championship today were battling over a 36-hole marathon finish in the 41st Michigan Women's Closed Golf Championship.

Orchard Lake Country Club's 6,186 yard layout has been tough all week for the best of the swingers and none has even cracked the 76 par.

Margie Watkins, the surprising brunet teacher who stopped the defending champion, Sally Sharp, to get her chance in yesterday's semifinals went on to oust another favored former titlist. Margie had a real battle all the way down to the finish against the left-handed Mrs. Fonnie Reynolds, but grabbed her victory on the 18th, one up. Margie carded an 85, Mrs. Reynolds 87.

Four time winner Mrs. Don Weiss of Flint was more impressive in her 4-5 win over Washtenaw CC's Betty (Mrs. C. U.) Courtright Wilson. The smooth-playing Flint woman jumped to an early lead and never was threatened by the 1951 champion. After the third hole, the Flint readhead didn't lose a hole until the twelfth, where she had a double bogey. Mrs. Wilson also bogeyed this hole, but was down in six to Mrs. Weiss' seven.

Indicating how tough Orchard Lake's layout was for the private club players in the semifinals yesterday, not a single birdie was listed on the four cards (women's par figures). The course played long all week, and the 18th green was played twice each round because of the soaked condition of the ninth fairway. This reduced the course par to 76. No. 9 is a par 5 hole normally.

While the championship contest goes the full 36-hole route, all other finals were over an 18-hole distance, as follows;

Championship consolation —Helen Grinnel (DGC) vs Mrs. Bruce Hilkene (WMGA).

Fifth flight — Mrs. G. R. Angle (Oak. Hills) vs Mrs. Robert Bowles (Lochmoor).

Conner Was PHS All-Stater

Remember the Sports Stars of Yore?

(This is the eighth of a series of articles about outstanding athletes from Pontiac and Oakland area and what they are doing today. We feature today Alger Conner, former Pontiac and Michigan State gridder who is now in the Labor Relations field at Fisher Body. Tomorrow, one of Ortonville's fine sports stars, Joseph French.)

One of the few Pontiac High School athletes ever to gain All-State honors in football was Alger Conner of the 1941 team.

He gained state and Saginaw Valley honors as a tackle during his senior year when he captained the Chiefs to a 4-3-1 season under Coach Harold Smead.

Alger went on to Michigan State from high school and held starting line positions on the Spartan elevens of 1942 and '46 with the years in between spent in the Army during World War II.

"I was a tackle in 1942 when we had a winning season and was playing guard in 1946 when we finished 5-5 for the year," recalled Conner today looking back at his college days.

He dropped out of sports entirely in his last two years of college to devote more time to school work.

During his two years playing under Charley Bachman, Conner played with such MSU greats as Lynn Chandnois, Ed Bagdon and "Muddy" Waters, the present Hillsdale coach.

He graduated from State in 1948 and has had little connection with the grid game since with the exception of 1953 when he served as line coach at St. Frederick while working at the Pontiac Fisher Body plant.

Yankee Lead Now at Five Games as Chicago Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The American League took on a look of complete collapse yesterday as the World Champion New York Yankees opened up a five-game lead, their largest bulge of the season, with a comeback 3-2 win over Detroit while Baltimore was cutting down Chicago 6-2.

Boston defeated Kansas City 3-1 and Washington's Camilio Pascual three-hit Cleveland for a 4-0 triumph in the other games.

It was a day of frustration for the White Sox and pitcher Jack Harshman. Baltimore managed only three hits off the lefthander until the 9th when a five-run uprising dropped Chicago another game off the pace. Three of the five runs were unearned making it that much worse.

Bully Goodman's two-run pinch single was the big blow of the frame as George Zuverink picked up the victory in relief. Walt Dropo had the only home run.

The Red Sox scored two unearned runs and Ted Williams batted in another with a triple to beat Tom Gorman. Tom Brewer won his 11th, giving up a Billy Martin homer in the 3rd.

Pascual, who has pitched both of Washington's shutouts this season, no-hit Cleveland for six innings in posting his 7th triumph against 10 reverses.

He dueled Indian rookie Stan Pitula for seven innings before the Nats put the verdict on ice with three in the 7th.

Tiger Veterans Must Sink or Swim—Tighe

DETROIT (AP)—Unable to claim a victory in the series against the first-place New York Yankees, the Detroit Tigers take on the tailend Washington Senators in a weekend series starting tonight at Briggs Stadium.

Tiger manager Jack Tighe has announced the 1957 club will "sink or swim" with the veteran lineup that started the season.

"We'd better start swimming tonight against the Senators," said Tighe.

"All my experiments have gone down the chute," said the disappointed manager. "We're through with experiments. We're gonna sink or swim with these guys."

By that, Tighe means Ray Boone at first, Frank Bolling at second, Harvey Kuenn at short, Reno Bertoia at third and Charlie Maxwell, Bill Tuttle and Al Kaline in the outfield. He will continue to platoon catchers Red Wilson and Frank House.

Tighe was informed that the Yankees now enjoy their biggest lead of the season and retorted: "I'm through worrying about the Yankees. I'm worried about Cleveland, Baltimore and Boston right now."

And well Tighe should be worried about Baltimore. The Orioles are in sixth place but only a half-game behind the Tigers. And the two clubs are all even in the vital loss column.

Tighe said New York manager Casey Stengel told him at home plate before the second game of the series: "I really feel for you, son. Your pitchers ain't pitchin' and your hitters ain't hittin'—and that's a pretty bad combination."

Pontiac Oldtimers Go After Fourth Straight

The Pontiac Oldtimers go after their 4th straight victory in the Oldtimers International League Saturday meeting Diz Trout's Detroit team in a 7:30 p.m. contest at Myers and Five Mile Rd.

All members of the Pontiac group are asked to meet Saturday at 5 at the VFW 1370 rooms before departing.

2 Teams Share Medalist Honor

Qualifying round for the annual Birmingham CC Invitational best ball golf tournament yesterday wound up with a pair of teams sharing medalist honors at 68. Chuck Kocsis and Jimmy Nick are defending titlists.

Jim Funston and Mason Brown of Plum Hollow posted 33-35—68 with the aid of four birdies on the first six holes.

Veteran Tom Draper and A. J. Lobestaeal of Red Run also turned in a 68, with a pair of 34s. They played steady golf, putting together 15 pars and three birdies for their medal score.

Today's championship flight pairings and qualifying cards:

Latest headache brewing for the majors is the threat to organize a Triple-A league formed by Los Angeles' outlying communities, each of which boasts a hefty population total.

Ex-big league names studded the lineup of the PCL All-Star-Hollywood benefit at Gilmore Stadium, L.A. Gene Tunney's steady sniping at Floyd Patterson for failure to box oftener has churned up the champ's camp to the point where Gus D'Amato dug up Tunney's record . . . Dodgers Drop St. Louis

Braves Ahead Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you've got the idea the National League contenders have rolled over and played dead once they made the top, you're right. Nobody loses like the leaders these days.

Since the scramble really got tight early in June, the lead has changed hands no less than 10 times, with Milwaukee's Braves moving back in with a one-game edge last night on a 4-2 victory at Philadelphia after Brooklyn socked St. Louis out of first with a 10-9, 11-inning stunner.

All five of the contenders—Milwaukee, St. Louis, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Cincinnati — have been in the lead since June 8, and in that time, they've played at a combined .400 rate while in first place.

Cincinnati's Redlegs, who have managed to stay within two games of the top although losing eight of their last 12, remained a close fifth with a 2-1 decision over the New York Giants yesterday. Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5 with four in the ninth.

The Braves, who have won six of nine since the All-Star break to take the lead for a fourth time, were without slugging Hank Aaron for the windup of the three-game sweep at Philadelphia. But Del Rice drove in three runs, two with a homer off loser Curt Simmons, to take up the slack as Aaron rested an injured ankle and joined Joe Adcock, Del Crandall, Felix Mantilla and Bill Bruton on the injury list.

The Dodgers, winning six of seven, moved past the Phils into third, 1½ games behind, left the Cards all shook up with an unearned run in the 11th. The Brooks rallied for five runs in the ninth—capped by Gil Hodges' 12th grand-slam homer for a share of the NL record with Rogers Hornsby and Ralph Kiner—to rub out a 9-4 deficit after the Cards had put together a seven-run comeback in the top of the ninth.

Gus Bell rapped a two-run homer and added two singles for the Redlegs as Johnny Klippstein won his fourth with relief from Raul Sanchez in the ninth after Bobby Thomson's leadoff homer junked a shutout. Stu Miller was the loser.

GRAND SLAMMER — Excited Gil Hodges does a juggling act with four bats at Ebbets Field after he lashed out a grand slam homer in the 9th inning yesterday to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-9. The homer put Gil into a tie with Ralph Kiner and Rogers Hornsby for grand slammers.

Roberts on Suspension

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phillies righthander who has lost six straight games for a 6-12 record, has taken his latest adversity philosophically.

"It could have been worse," said Roberts last night, sitting out the first day of a three-day suspension imposed by National League President Warren Giles. It was the second time in nine seasons Roberts had to be disciplined.

The "they" mentioned was Phils Manager Mayo Smith and several teammates who collared the husky pitcher before he could commit mayhem on umpire Jocko Conlan in the midst of a rhubarb here Wednesday night.

Roberts received a telegram from Giles yesterday advising him of the suspension and that he would be fined $50.

Arnold Edges Boys' Club in 7th, 13-12

One of the best scoring battles of the local baseball season occurred yesterday in Class F ranks with Arnold Drugs emerging the 13-12 victor over the Pontiac Boy's Club No. 2 team.

The BC contingent went ahead by one in the 7th only to have Arnold score twice in its half without a hit to pull it out. Larry See pitched the win and belted a single, double and triple.

Other scores:

CLASS E

Woman Pays His Fine

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Miss Hope Siffel, a redhaired fan of the Philadelphia Phillies and pitcher Robin Roberts says she has sent a $50 check to Warren Giles, National League president, to cover a fine levied on Roberts.

OCSC's skeet ranges were open today for practice rounds in advance of the two-day, seventh annual Chief Pontiac open skeet championships, beginning Saturday.

Only Burkemo From State Still in PGA

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills was the only Michigan golfer left in competition today as the PGA golf tournament ground into its fourth round.

All of Michigan's other entries were eliminated yesterday in second and third round battles.

Burkemo moved into the big time by whipping Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., 1-up, in a third round match and Bill Heinlein, Carmel, Ind., 1-up in a second rounuder.

Burkemo has been in three PGA finals in six years and won in 1953.

Eldon Briggs of Lansing was the loser of the most one-sided margin of the tournament as Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles whipped him, 7 and 6. Bolt won six of the first nine holes from Briggs, five in succession, and closed out the match on the 12th. It was a quick comedown for Briggs, who had upset former National Open champion Jack Fleck of Rochester, 1-up in the second round.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., conquered Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., 4 and 3, in the second round and was among those favored to win the title.

Bob Gajda of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., trimmed Jim Browning of Weston, Mass., 4 and 2, but was eliminated in the third round, 3 and 2, by Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y.

Several darkhorses, who surprised everyone including themselves by getting this far in the man-to-man combat, were scattered through the list. But plenty of tournament-tested talent was still around, too.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequestra, Fla., and Athens, Ohio, one of the brightest of the young stars, was the big road block in 45-year-old Snead's path today. The 27-year-old youngster hasn't been out of the money in 56 straight tournaments and has $21,447 to show for his 1957 club-swinging.

Ford, 34, and the year's big-money man with $37,946, tangles with the elder half of golfdom's star brother act, Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla. Hebert, 34-year-old ex-marine, was the hottest thing on the winter tour.

Milton Marusic, 42, Webster Groves, Mo., who followed the tournament trail for three years without a victory, and Donald A. Whitt, 26, of Alameda, Calif., were foes in one fourth-round match. Marusic ousted defending champion Jackie Burke by 2 and 1 yesterday.

The other pair are 51-year-old Charles Sheppard of West Newton, Mass., and Warren Smith Jr., 41-year-old pro at the Oak Hill Club in San Antonio.

Junior Golfers All Eliminated

Veterans, Youngsters Make Up Final Group in Western Amateur

OMAHA (AP) — Veterans Ann Casey Johnstone and Polly Riley were matched with Ann Richardson and Meriam Bailey, two of golf's younger celebrities, in the semifinals of the Women's Western Amateur today.

Mrs. Johnstone, who has won the Iowa title five times and went to the semifinals of the National Amateur in 1956, arrived in the semifinals with a two up victory over Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., the tournament medalist.

Miss Richardson moved into the semifinals with a two up victory over Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore.

Miss Riley stopped Mary Mills, 17, of Ocean Springs, Miss., 3 and 2 with a one-over-par performance for 16 holes.

Miss Bailey, all square at the end of 11 holes, won three of the next four holes for a 3 and 1 triumph over Andrea "Andy" Cohn, 17, of Waterloo, Iowa, the state junior champion.

Ace at Forest Lake

Bill Egensterber of Birmingham, who has played golf for nine years, made his first ace on the 140-yard 10th hole with the number-7 iron yesterday. He was playing with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Warnick. It was the third this season at the Forest Lake course.

Doubleheader at Wisner Sunday

Plans Set for City Amateur Day

All is in readiness for the annual Amateur Day doubleheader featuring some of the area's outstanding baseball performers Sunday at Wisner Stadium starting at 1:30.

Funds derived from the games will be used to send Pontiac's Class A champions to the state tournament next month. Profits from admissions, a concession stand and parking will be used for the tournament trip.

Shaw's Jewelers, current "A" leaders, will play Dizzy Trout's Detroit All-Stars in the feature contest of the twin-bill. The 1st game will send 2nd place CIO Local 594 against an All-Star team comprised of members of the other four teams in the league.

Paul Parks has named seven certain starters for Shaw's against the talent-packed Trout combine. Only the battery assignments are still undecided.

The Shaw's starters will include Les Stone at 1st base, Bob Swindell, 2nd base, Dave Kringe, the league's top hitter, at shortstop and Bud Thomason at 3rd. The outfield will have Bob Hamilton, Terry Thomas and Warren Scheibner.

The starting pitcher will be selected from Herman Bishop, Jerry Taylor and Ted Reaver. Daryl McGlashen or Dick Kleinsmith will do the catching.

Trout and former Chicago White Sox star Mike Tresh are expected to form the Detroit battery.

Player-manager Gene Cox will be able to pick from a 25-man squad when the All-Stars meet CIO. The starting lineup has been chosen already in a vote by the loop managers.

Cox will hold down one of the outfield positions along with John Smith of the Giants and Glenn Funck of Thomas Die & Stamping. Judge Booker and Joe Sato of the Jets, Dave Zittel and John Shanks of Griff's Grill will make up the infield for the 'stars.

Jet pitcher Ron Falkenhagen, who recently flipped a nohitter, will get the starting mound assignment with Tom Moore of Thomas catching. All starters must play at least three innings.

Reserves include Ted Wharry, Dick Ayling, Marv Caswell, Bill Graham, Ken Stanick, Jim Jones and Dewayne Sheffer, all of Griff's, Jim Moore, Bob Uhan, Monroe Moore and Rocky Forton of Thomas, Lou Seay and Ben Robison of the Jets, and Giant players Ernie Nelson, Forest Hairston and Ellie Catchens.

Art Hearns, manager of the CIO contingent which has a 10-4 season record, has named Jim Wagner as his starting mound choice with Don Picman and Sam Walwork ready for relief work.

The rest of the lineup will have Roger Johnson catching, Dave Sebring, LeRoy Baines, Dave Cooper and Hal Trott around the infield, Ron Woodhull, John Fleser and Neil Rickets in the outfield.

Hoad Suffers 1st Loss of Pro Meet

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (INS)—Lew Hoad, who left amateur tennis as undisputed king and who probably ranks no worse than No. 2 in the pro world, is beginning to wonder what he has to do to beat Ken Rosewall.

The last time the former Davis Cup sidekicks met in amateur ranks, Rosewall beat Hoad in the U. S. finals to prevent the blond bomber from completing a tennis grand slam.

Yesterday, the two Australians met for the first time as pros.

Rosewall won again, 6-3, 9-7, 4-6, 6-3, to hand Hoad his first pro defeat at Forest Hills.

Meanwhile, pro tennis king Pancho Gonzales lifted his spotless record in the tourney to 3-0 by outlasting Australia's Frank Sedgman, 5-7, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, in a two-and-a-half-hour marathon.

Musial in 4th Place Tie With 2,895 Hits

BROOKLYN (AP) — Stan "The Man" Musial made another move up among baseball's all-time hitters yesterday, with two hits—one his 600th double—as his St. Louis Cardinals lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Musial has 2,895 hits for his career, good for a fourth place tie with Rogers Hornsby in the National League list. He's 13th in the major league records.

Giants Set for Coast Move

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants is dead.

By next year the National League club will have shifted to San Francisco, or Minneapolis, or someplace.

Club President Horace Stoneham laid it on the line yesterday, announcing he will recommend to his board of directors that the Giants quit the Polo Grounds at the end of the season. He indicated there is very little chance of the club finding another ball yard in New York.

Stoneham also made it clear that the Giants already have league permission to transfer their franchise, even if the Brooklyn Dodgers choose to stay behind.

League permission for the Giants to switch to San Francisco and the Dodgers to move to Los Angeles—when the two clubs decided to do so—was thought to be a package deal, with one move hinging on the other.

"That is not true," said Stoneham. "They are two separate deals, one not contingent upon the other. We were given permission to move irrespective of what the Dodgers do. But that pertained only to our moving to San Francisco.

"Should the Giants desire to move to Minneapolis, for instance, we would have to seek league permission all over again."

Stoneham indicated San Francisco and Minneapolis are the prime possibilities for a new Giant home, but left the door open for any "satisfactory deal"—which he defined as a new and adequate ball park and a rental rate based on a percentage of the attendance.

Mayor Christopher of San Francisco is on his way to New York on other business, but with plans to meet with Stoneham to present a proposal.

Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said last night the American League club "wouldn't stand in the Giants' way if they wanted to draft the San Francisco territory." The Red Sox own the San Francisco franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

Another California mayor, John Purchio of Hayward, will fly here today to offer the Giants an 8½-million-dollar stadium in the community located about 30 miles from San Francisco.

Stoneham said the club "would be stupid to stay" here from a money viewpoint. "I don't think New York can support three clubs," he said, "and I'm not so sure it can support two. From what I've been given to understand, the city of New York is bankrupt."

The Giants president also said that it "would not be feasible" for the Giants to play at Yankee Stadium because of the reported $800,000 yearly rental requested by the American League club.

And he agreed with New York city officials who had turned down suggestions that taxpayers' money be used to build a stadium for either the Giants or Dodgers.

Aussie Netter Irked as Crowds Cheer Foe

CHICAGO (AP) — After a day of upsets that featured the elimination of the Australians Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser, only Japan's national champion today remained in the way of U. S. players in the national clay courts tennis tournament.

The meet, spiced by an official protest lodged against the court behavior of Cooper, Wimbledon finalist, entered the quarter finals with all top seeded domestic performers remaining, led by defending champion Herb Flam.

Also on hand was Kosei Kamo of Japan, third seeded in the foreign entry behind Davis Cuppers Cooper and Fraser.

Cooper displayed temperament yesterday as he fell before Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Irked by linesman's calls and nettled by the crowd cheering for Golden, the Australian several times kicked or batted balls into the gallery at the staid River Forest Tennis Club.

Near the end of the match, he literally gave away the last two games, batting returns high into the air or not bothering to retrieve them.

His apparent lack of interest in the match and behavior brought about a formal protest to the U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn. by George Barnes, clay courts committee chairman.

Later Cooper said he was "mentally tired" and was weary after four weeks of competitive tennis.

Seventh seeded Barry Mackay of the University of Michigan won his 4th round men's singles match yesterday by defeating Robert Macy of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-2, 6-3.

Pro Al Collins Makes Study

Getting Old, Golfer? Use Longer Clubs

SCARBOROUGH - On - Hudson, N. Y. (AP)—A few years ago Al Collins, a golf professional approaching 60, discovered with some misgivings that his shots off the tee were getting progressively shorter.

He checked his grip. That was as strong as ever. He could still put speed and impact into his swing. But aging muscles prevented his getting the full force of his pivot and turn.

Just one of the inevitabilities of age, he reasoned philosophically. But he wasn't happy about it. There must be ways to remedy the diminishing tee shot.

He began making studies. He checked with an engineering friend from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. And he found his answer and a cure! Longer club shafts.

"I have increased my yardage by some 20 yards," Collings said today. "Not only that I wrote a little article on the idea in a magazine. I got letters from golfers from all over the country. I got orders for longer club shafts.

"Now we have a regular little club of older men who have shifted to longer shafts and are happy with their new found distance. We correspond and swap tales of our prowess."

The normal length of a driver shaft is 43 inches. Collins, now 61, changed to a 46-inch shaft, which he built himself, and then tried one of 49 inches. Finally he came back to the 46-inch club.

"I found it suited my swing better," he said, "but technically, by arithmetical formula, twice the length of the club twice the distance. But there are practical reservations because the longer the club the greater the area for error."

The veteran pro, who has been at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club here 17 summers and at the Bahamas Country Club in Nassau for 14 winters, said there are two ways to generate distance on a golf shot: (1) increase the speed of the clubhead; (2) increase the size of the shaft, or the arc of the swing.

The pro suggests going from 43 to 46 inches and then to 47 or 48, even into the 50's, depending on the individual swing.

"This isn't a new idea at all," Collins said. "But it seems no one else has pursued it quite as rigorously as I have. Bobby Cruickshank has been using a longer club for years because of his short stature.

"Chick Evans, former Open and Amateur champion who is now in his 60s, has written me for special longer clubs. Bing Crosby is using a longer shaft. So are scores of others, who report excellent results.

"There is just one thing to redon't press on the swing. Try to keep the swing rhythmic. The longer arc will provide the distance."

Bone Fires 66 to Equal Tam's Scoring Mark

Tam O'Shanter golf club's young assistant professional, Gene Bone, yesterday added another record round to his string of sub-par cards of the season. Gene chalked up a pair of sizzling 33s on his home layout to equal the course record of 66 hung up last fall by his boss, Tam's genial pro Warren Orlick. Herb Marcussen of Lansing also equalled it, in the first pro-am of the spring.

Gene was playing with the club champion, Asher Tilsin, in what started out to be a late-in- the-day nine hole round. Bone lost two strokes on an out-of-bounds shot on No. 6, three-putted No. 7, but still managed a 33 for the round.

Bone's card:

Par	434	544	434	35
	534	443	544	36—71
Bone	324	435	533	33

IL 1st Place Duel Tonight

The most interesting battle in local softball circles of late has been the International League scramble for 1st place between the Pontiac Police and Franklin Products.

They have taken turns in the top slot and have also been tied during the past two weeks since State Hospital handed the Police their 2nd setback. Tonight it could all be settled when they clash at 7 at Northside Park.

Both returned to action last night and added victories leaving Franklin one-half game ahead. Franklin won its eighth contest by downing Dostal Foundy 7-3 as the Police were rocking Lane's Drive-in 13-2 in five innings.

Deni's Corner, meanwhile, also remained in contention for IL honors by trouncing the Hospital nine 17-7. In the National League, Richard's Tavern moved another notch towards the championship by beating Louie's Tavern 8-2 dropping the latter from 2nd to 3rd.

Franklin had to overcome a three-run Dostal 1st in its triumph. John Mayer hurled the win and scored two runs. Irwin banged out four straight hits to pace the Police.

Richard's broke up a tight tussle with five big markers in the 6th to pull away from Louie's and extend its record to 12-3. A bases-loaded triple by Hayward, who also had a single and double, was the big blow of rally that wrapped up the win.

The NL game was featured by one of the outstanding plays of the year when Richard's fly chaser Bob Volk made a running, back-handed catch of long drive by Wayne O'Shaughnessy.

Four makeup games are slated for tonight. At Beaudette Park, State Hospital plays Dostal in the IL and Oxbow meets Eddie's in the National. Pontiac Select-A-Drink battles Local CIO 653 in a National game preceding the Police-Franklin tiff at Northside.

Giants Wallop Jewelers 13-5

At least there is one team in Pontiac's Class A baseball league that can handle Shaw's Jewelers. That is the Michigan Giants.

The Giants chalked up their 2nd triumph of the season over the front-runners last night by romping to a 13-5 victory at Wisner Stadium. Shaw's has lost only one other game in 16 starts.

Four different players garnered two hits and Bill McGuire pitched all the way and blasted a two-run triple as the improving Giants won their 2nd straight after a slow start. The win moved the victors into 3rd place and tightened up the loop race as the idle CIO 594 club moved to within 1½ games of the lead.

Three different hurlers worked for the Jewelers in an effort to silence the Giant bats. Starter Ted Reaver, who gave up four of the 13 hits, was the loser. Warren Scheibner had three hits for the losers.

Discontent in Egypt Reported by Paper

LONDON (INS)—The Times of London noted yesterday that unofficial reports from Egypt indicate growing discontent among the business and land-owning classes.

The Times said the wealthy classes had no sympathy or interest in the revolutionary philosophy of the government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The Times said it had received repeated reports telling of the arrests of leading members of the WAFD party and of a group of army officers. The reports say they may be charged with plotting to overthrow the Nasser regime.

Can You Spare A Few Minutes to Win $1,700?

Well, if you can't spare a few minutes to win that much money, you're not like any of the people we know. For a little effort, you might be able to make the down payment on that house you've been wanting. Or maybe you want to be sure of your son's next year in college. And a lot of people would welcome just a good spending spree. Any of these will be yours if you can select the correct numbers for this wyeek's Pot-O-Gold. Even if someone wins last week's puzzle and the big prize is taken, you can't complain too much about $100 for a consolation.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Reach $5,000 in Club Goal

REACH $5,000 MARK — Parents, officials and members of the Auburn Heights Boys Club, seeking to erect a club building and playground, have chalked up $5,000 for the fund after an intensified house-to-house drive. Here, Albert Spadafore, board member, and Steve Navarre, vice president of the club, record the figure on the giant thermometer.

Group Seeking Building Fund

Auburn Heights Group Planning New Home and Park Area

For a month or more, Auburn Heights Boys Club parents have been campaigning from door to door for funds for a Boys' Club building.

Besides the parental efforts, the boys themselves have gone all-out in a concerted candy sale to swell the fund and also to buy camping equipment.

Now, the big thermometer which records the results has reached the $5,000 mark and Boys' Club leaders are ready for the last and biggest portion of the drive.

They are in process of organizing to solicit larger gifts to bring their building fund to the point where construction can be started.

"Things are looking good," according to Charles Cresswell, Boys Club director, "especially since a site for the new building recently was donated by Kenneth Crisp." The land lies along the Clinton River, south of Auburn Road.

"Sometime, in the not-too-far future," says Cresswell, "we hope to put up our building plus a playground and park area there, which will also be open to the general public."

He added, "We need to raise enough to put up the prefabricated steel building which we plan, plus playground and park equipment. Also, we must provide enough for the operation of the Boys Club until such time as it may be admitted to the United Fund."

Cresswell, who has directed the boys club here since May 1, reviewed the summer program in operation since June, and open to 6 to 16 year old boys of the area:

"There is swimming every Monday and Wednesday afternoon at Walters Lake he said. The parents provide transportation, and Carl Pike, who is on the Boys Club board of directors has given permission for the use of his beach."

The rest of the time, the regular summer program, boasting sports, arts and crafts, is in progress at their borrowed home, which is in the American Legion Building on Churchill road.

Cresswell said that recently the Auburn Heights group has been fortunate in getting some great tips from Alfred Wilson of the National Board of Directors and from Addison K. Oakley, president of the Pontiac Boys Club, when they met with the local board. Both men have shown great interest in the Avon group, he said.

Bomb 'Threats' Ground Planes

Three Airliners Make Emergency Landings Because of Hoax

BOSTON (AP) — Three airliners carrying more than 100 passengers made emergency landings in widely separated spots last night because of a bomb hoax.

Three Air France Constellations were in the air when a woman telephoned the line's reservation desk at Idlewild Airport in New York that a bomb was on one of its planes.

One Constellation landed here. Another, bound for Mexico City, came down in Montgomery, Ala., and a third at Sydney, N. S. No bomb was found.

The plane which landed in Boston was about 50 minutes out of New York, bound for Paris, when it received radio orders to land. FBI agents, state police and customs men searched the plane.

The 59 passengers were taken to hotels for the night.

Earlier in the day, two Air National Guard fliers were killed at Worcester, Mass. when their jet plane crashed and exploded in the middle of a residential area. Six dwellings caught afire, but none of the residents were injured.

Killed in the crash were Capt. John F. Murphy Jr., 32, of Worcester, and 1st Lt. Lawrence C. Build, 26, of Quincy, Mass.

Jump Expected in Job Layoffs

Official Says 235,000 to Be Idle by Aug. 15; Pickup Seen in Fall

DETROIT (AP)—Unemployment in Michigan is expected to soar to 235,000 by Aug. 15 and the situation isn't expected to get better until 1958 auto production gets under way in the fall.

James W. Jones Jr., a Michigan Employment Security Commission aide, told the governor's emergency industrial production commission yesterday that there were 199,000 idle workers in Michigan on June 15. He said this figure was expected to hit 235,000 by Aug. 15 compared to a peak 250,000 unemployed in the state last year.

In the 30 days ending June 15 Jones said unemployment increased by more than six per cent in the Detroit, Bay City, Flint, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Port Euron areas with 110,000 out of work in Detroit alone.

Willis H. Hall of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce told the meeting Michigan was the only large industrial state to suffer losses in manufacturing jobs since 1950.

Hall said a recent U.S. Department of Labor report showed that only Michigan, Rhode Island and the District of Columbia had fewer manufacturing jobs in 1956 than they did in 1950. He said Michigan had 1,800 fewer such jobs in 1956 while other states, such as Indiana and Ohio, had healthy gains.

Hall said Michigan would continue to lose manufacturing jobs unless it did something to improve its industrial climate.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A surplus of $1,645,000,000 was recorded by the federal government for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The balance for fiscal 1957 was the second successive black-ink showing. A third balanced budget recommended by President Eisenhower now is pending before Congress.

METAMORA—About 50 persons attended the Stocker family reunion held at the home of A. P. Stocker here Sunday. Officers were re-elected. They are: Elton Stocker of Lapeer Township, president; Rae Simpson of Lansing, vice president; Berniece Travis of Detroit, secretary-treasurer.

McKeachie Reunion

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The 35th annual reunion of the McKeachie family was held at Davisburg Park on Sunday. Sixty-one members were present and officers were elected. The slate reads as follows: Elmor Ruggles, president; Harlod Richardson, vice-president; Mrs. Ronald Clements, secretary-treasurer.

Stock Market Trade Sluggish

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged narrowly to the downside early this afternoon in the most sluggish trading of the week.

Key stocks showed fractional changes. The market was slightly higher in an active opening. Then prices became irregular as turnover slackened. The decline became more widespread early in the afternoon.

Steels, aircrafts and oils still kept some of their initial gains but losses began to appear in these divisions.

Hesitation was apparent, brokers said, as Wall street looked over the U. S. Treasury's new refinancing offer which is at the highest interest rates in more than 24 years. The boost confirmed further the tight money-high interest rate situation which has acted as a depressing influence on the stock market.

Aside from this, there were encouraging items in the rise of personal income in June to a record and the increase in freight traffic above year ago levels.

Lukens Steel kept a major fraction of its initial rise of more than a point. U.S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet stayed narrowly on the upside. Bethlehem fell a good fraction and Republic Steel was about unchanged.

Boys and girls who join the Swim and Swing Club" will pay 35 cents for each night. Those joining the parties who are not members will pay 50 cents.

Beans Show Sharp Advance

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures advanced sharply today on active buying and short covering influenced by reports of poor crop prospects and good processor demand.

Prices climbed three cents or more on the Board of Trade. Strength in beans caused some buying in wheat, which also advanced major fractions at times.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was ⅝ to ⅞ higher, corn was ½ to 1 cent higher, July $1.31⅞, oats ⅝ higher to ⅛ lower, July 68⅝, rye was unchanged to ¾ higher, July $1.33, soybeans were 3 to 3¾ higher, July $2.54, and lard was 10 to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $14.07.

SOMEONE NEW—Television quizmaster Hal March and his wife, former model Candy Toxton, admire the new arrival in their family, son Peter. Hal, who is now in Hollywood making a movie, is emcee of "The $64,000 Question" on Tuesdays at 9 p.m. over CBS-TV.

Danny's 'Honeymoon' Has Record Crowd

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS—Danny Thomas came to the desert on his honeymoon and I came on his honeymoon with him.

Oh, lots and lots of people came along on his honeymoon. It promises to be the most widely attended honeymoon ever honeymooned.

MARJORIE

Of course, it's for his TV show, which takes over the "I Love Lucy" spot in October. Purportedly, Danny comes here for his honeymoon. He brings the essentials—his TV bride, pretty blond Marjorie Lord. To make it real honey, they haul along their children by previous marriages.

"Doesn't everybody?" says actor Les Tremayne.

So the chubby little son says, "Gee, it's gonna be a great honeymoon," and the teenage daughter also thinks it's ducky.

It was only about 120 in the shade when they were filming this make believe. The director, Sheldon Leonard, was in shorts.

"Did you find a sponge?" Danny kept yelling to a make-up man. Then they would unlather Danny. The TV bride, Miss Lord, who's a San Franciscan, said, anyway, she didn't have to wear a mink coat, which she usually does in some acting jobs this time of year.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Martha Raye admitted she'd had a heart attack a few months ago, despite denials by her mgr., Nick Condos; she added that Nick had had two slight attacks, too . . . Thelma Ritter's out with a throat ailment, and Bibi Osterwald's subbing in "New Girl in Town" . . . Joan Crawford and husband Al Steele missed a train to Chicago, so Steele chartered a huge airliner.

Sophie Tucker agreed to let a Denver specialist examine her ailing leg, but insists on finishing her Las Vegas engagement . . . Jean Pierre Aumont and Marisa Pavan are enroute from Paris, so their first child can be born here.

Perle Mesta's a frequent visitor to Billy Graham's meetings . . . Frankie Laine's salary at a N. J. cafe: $42,000 for 11 days . . . Jackie Cooper, nabbed for driving 125 miles an hour, is now insured by Lloyds of London, with an $800-a-year premium.

Funny sight in front of the Ed Sullivan TV theater: A woman giving away Steve Allen show tickets . . . Bob Hope's new picture, "Paris Holiday," runs 2½ hours—and is still being filmed . . . When Jack Benny worked in Las Vegas the management, as a gag, installed a penny slot machine in the lobby.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Sometimes, says Jan Murray, a college education for youngsters has a beneficial effect on parents. It cures 'em of bragging about the kids . . . That's earl, brother.

$64,000 Emcee Ranks as Star

He Played Bit Roles in Movie-Making Venture Two Years Ago

By BOB THOMAS

That was two years ago. The personable emcee played a punch-drunk fighter in "It's Always Fair Weather." He got no billing for the role—until the TV show broke big and he was hailed as a "special added attraction."

At the same time, he was doubling in "My Sister Eileen," playing a one-day bit as a drunk. Today he's the star of "Hear Me Good" and he appears in every scene of the picture.

The role is in sharp contrast to his down-to-earth, fair-and-square approach to his job as $64,000 emcee. In "Hear Me Good," he plays the fastest-talking, sharpest-dealing con man who ever came down Broadway. How will he reconcile that with his TV fans?

"Oh, well," he said with a nervous cough, "the show may be over in a year."

STILL TOP-RATED

That's not likely. It still manages to stay among the top-rated shows, thanks to its steady stream of engrossing treasure seekers. Hal's contract extends another year, but the show can stay on the network for three. And he can remain with it if he chooses.

Why shouldn't he? Hal admitted the assignment was not far removed from stealing money.

"There's no rehearsal," he pointed out. "The camera positions remain the same each week. I don't have to study the questions because I don't see them until they're handed to me on the show.

"The show actually takes an hour a week. But I get there at 8 so I can do a little preparation on the pre-question interviews. I'm through at 9:35.

"So when the $64,000 show hit big, I got a great review from Jack Gould of The New York Times."

Liars Now Thriving, Author Declares

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — The sudden rise of mass communications has made this a golden age for liars, says Author-Critic Bruce Bliven.

The former editor of the New Republic Magazine spoke to the Pacific Coast English Conference on "How to Lie and Get Away With It."

Bliven said there is about the same proportion of liars in all centuries but modern mass communications — radio and television — "make it possible for liars to reach an audience thousands or millions of times larger than in the past."

The worst liars, he said, are the Communists, but few outside Red countries believe them.

Lost Ice Cream Sales Returned in Toll Form

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—When cars and trucks started cutting across his parking lot to get around a section of street closed for repair, Lyle Dixon said his ice cream sales went to pot.

Vehicles were coming through bumper to bumper, blocking off customers from his stand. So Dixon closed his business nights and started charging the motorists a 10-cent toll.

Drivers protested — but police ruled they were trespassing.

There is evidence Alaska's climate once may have been considerably warmer.

Grease Fire Stumps Sacramento Firemen

At 4:50 p.m. yesterday they were called to Cap's Coffee Shop. They doused a grease fire.

At 6:10 there was another call. Cap's grease fire.

Firemen had just returned to their base when a third call came from Cap's.

"It turned out there was a leaking grease drain," explained owner Lois Thompson.

Ask Reversal in Miller Case

Judge Hears Arguments for Playwright Based on High Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The judge who convicted Playwright Arthur Miller of contempt of Congress hears argument today on a new motion asking a reversal of Miller's conviction.

If the motion is denied, Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin indicated he would impose sentence on the 41-year-old New York writer, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe.

The motion asking for a verdict of acquittal is based on the June 28 action of the U.S. Court of Appeals here in reversing the contempt of Congress conviction of Marcus Singer, Cornell University zoology professor.

In overturning Singer's conviction, the Appelate Court merely cited the Supreme Court's June 17 decision striking down the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, a labor organizer of Rock Island, Ill. That opinion put limits on the questions that can be asked by Congressional committees.

McLaughlin convicted Miller May 31 of unlawfully refusing to answer two questions before a House subcommittee on un-American Activities in June 1956. The questions dealt with the identity of persons with whom Miller said he attended meetings of Communist writers in New York in 1947.

On June 28, McLaughlin, acting on the basis of the Watkins decision, threw out one of the two counts upon which he had convicted Miller. He rejected Miller's plea for acquittal on the other count on the ground Miller failed to question the pertinency of the question.

After the court of appeals upset Singer's conviction, Miller's lawyers for a second time asked McLaughlin to reconsider. They said Singer, in refusing to name persons with whom he attended Communist meetings while he was on the Harvard faculty in the 1940's, did not raise the issue of pertinency.

Hail storms may cause several times as much property damage in the U. S. as tornadoes in a year.

If She Goofs, the Show of Life Falls Apart

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Next to keeping her mouth shut when she has every right in the world to nag, the hardest thing for a woman to do is laugh at herself.

Hate herself, yes. Pity herself, definitely. But laughing at the smallness of herself and the meagerness of her miseries—almost never.

As a rule, men seem considerably more able to sit back and study themselves objectively, then work up anything from a wry smirk to a noisy guffaw at what they see.

A good-humored man, in fact, can actually parody his position in the battle of life—there he is, the awkward little guy on the jackass in a Cecil B. De Mille spectacularanza.

With the vision in mind, he can bring himself to figure what the heck, the show will go on even if I goof this part.

NO SUCH HUMILITY

But even the most outwardly effervescent, fun-loving female can't see herself with such humility. When she sits back to look at the battle of life, she visualizes a more intimate scene—there she is, the tortured heroine in the Elia Kazan pathetique.

Why most women take themselves more seriously than most men is a puzzle, although a few psychiatrists have firm ideas. It no doubt has something to do with the fact that females are born with the instincts and intuitions of mothers, which involves keeping up the sober guard to protect the nest.

Another consideration is that women, as a sex, have been pampered ever since Eve. Undeniably they are prettier than men and this fact has contributed even further to their being flattered, waited upon and imbued from babyhood with a strong sense of their personal importance.

Add to all this the fact that women are idiotic romantics and you've got at least part of the answer. There's nothing like ill-timed laughter for killing a romance, and there's not a girl alive who would risk THAT.

Teenagers, neither male nor female, can laugh at themselves and mean it. They are too recently out of the stage of being cooed-at, and their sense of personal proportion in the world about them has not yet sunk in.

It is at this age that one is almost always laughable to others, but vital to oneself.

HUMOROUS VERSE

Twenty years ago, a shrewd high school teacher of mine tried to snap me out of this serious self-indulgence by introducing me to doggerel.

Her theory was that if you could write a humorous verse about yourself, you might be able to kid yourself out of your worries. The following ode, well-taken in point if shabby in rhyme, is my only recollection of that course in anti-narcissism:

"A movie star
I would I wert,
Bet Greta Garbo's glad I'm nert."

No. 2 Man in Russia

Zhukov Praised by West

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

A meeting between U. S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Soviet Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov—which President Eisenhower said Wednesday might be possible — would be well worth hearing and seeing.

On one side would be the husky, straight-speaking capitalist, one of the most successful business men this country ever produced; on the other, the husky, straight-speaking Communist, described by President Eisenhower as the general who gave "the most significant performance" of World War II.

Alone among the Soviet leaders—he is now regarded as the No. 2 man behind Nikita S. Khrushchev—Zhukov's abilities and past performances have been praised by top Westerners.

In fact, the tributes to Zhukov by such men as President Eisenhower and British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery might have led to his sudden downgrading by the jealous Joseph Stalin in 1946.

World War II ended with Zhukov as Russia's best-known and most popular military hero. He was credited with the Soviet victory before Moscow, the relief of Leningrad and the capture of Berlin.

But, before another year was ended, Zhukov was fired by Stalin as army commander-in-chief and exiled to the insignificant post of commander of the Odessa Military District.

But he did his job and stayed out of the spotlight and, a few hours after Stalin died in March 1953, Zhukov was summoned to Moscow to become first deputy defense minister.

Two years later, Zhukov was made defense minister and alternate member of the Communist Party Presidium.

Each step up was to the accompaniment of choruses of hosannas from the Soviet press. They reached full pitch when the marshal became a full Presidium member and Khrushchev's closest collaborator in the startling recent purge of Soviet Stalinists.

Zhukov now stands near the top of the Soviet pyramid. He seems secure because of his undoubted popularity with the Red Army. He would be able to speak for the Kremlin in Washington.

But he would have to do some listening, too, if Charles E. Wilson was across the table.

Railway Express Drivers End Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—About 3,500 teamster union drivers for the Railway Express agency in seven cities will return to work Monday, ending a strike started April 21.

Settlement of the dispute was announced yesterday by Francis A. O'Neill, chairman of the National Mediation Board.

Embargoes on shipments to the seven cities directly affected and to adjacent areas were lifted immediately.

Local Teamster unions in Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco, Cincinnati and Newark, N. J., previously had approved the contract proposal on which settlement was finally reached, but Philadelphia and St. Louis locals had rejected it until yesterday.

The new contract provides for a total wage increase of 29 cents an hour for the drivers. This includes 15 cents immediately, retroactive to Jan. 16, 1956, when the old contract expired; 7 cents next Nov. 1, and another 7 cents Nov. 1, 1958.

The contract also contains a cost-of-living escalator clause Prestrike wages ranged from $1.56 to $2.21 an hour.

Councilmen in Denver Receive Good Advice

Stop turning your backs on the public.

Tom Millisack, general services director, said six of the nine councilmen sit with the audience behind them. And too many have weak voices, he added.
