County Delegation Has Deciding Vote at GOP Parley

By JOE HAAS

In the only hotly contested nomination for state offices in the Republican convention at Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon Oakland County's delegation was in the thick of the fight.

Its 141 votes, the largest of any of the 18 Congressional districts in the state, proved to be the turning point in the selection of a nominee for the office of Secretary of State. When they swung over to a dark horse who did not enter the race until late that forenoon, all other candidates for the place tossed in the towel.

GOP Ticket Marked by New Faces

By ROGER LANE

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Michigan Republicans, heartened by their peepiest state convention in years, today buckled down for the fall campaign with a state ticket built around new political faces.

Of the four nominees chosen over the weekend none, has stumped the state before.

One, John V. Clements, 45, L'Anse au Loup man, provided the Upper Peninsula with its first GOP candidate for statewide office in a fall election since 1944. Clements was nominated for auditor general.

And Jason L. Honigman, 54, wealthy Detroit attorney, became the first Jewish leader ever advanced by the GOP for a top office. He was the choice for attorney general.

The other novices picked by 1,500 shouting delegates were Raymond A. Plank, 42, Ludington radio station owner, for secretary of state, and Allan G. Weatherwax, 51, Jackson druggist, for state treasurer. They will team with three selections in the Aug. 5 primary—Paul D. Bagwell of East Lansing for governor; U.S. Sen. Charles E. Potter seeking re-election, and Rep. Donald A. Brown of Royal Oak, the lieutenant governor nominee.

Bagwell, who got a big hand when he arose for his convention speech, obviously was pleased with the Saturday results.

He had promised an unboasted convention. After Plank won a three-way floor fight for the first nomination of the afternoon, he came to the platform to tell delegates that that was what they were getting.

Plank, who didn't get into the running until a few minutes before the convention was gavelled to order, rocketed past two better known contenders—Arthur J. Hannah of Grand Rapids, a brother of the Michigan State University president, and State Sen. Robert E. Faulkner of Coloma.

Clements also won his nomination after a floor fight—a nip-and-tuck duel with Vincent J. Murray, Detroit unionist.

Earlier, Bagwell had fired the gathering with a slam-bang attack against Democrats generally and Gov. Williams in particular.

He asserted Williams had done nothing in his 10-year reign to "drive out corruption and hoodlumism."

He blamed Williams for alienating business and jobs and taunted him for refusing unlimited face-to-face debate of the election issues.

Police Disclose Link With Mafia, Alleged Bet Ring

Race Results Service of Secret Society Tied to Operations Here

Links between the alleged Pontiac bookie ring and the Mafia were disclosed yesterday by state police detectives who conducted the raids which led to the arrests of five persons Friday.

Officers said the ring which did an estimated $1 million a year in horse betting, subscribed to a race result service controlled by the Mafia.

Tomorrow the five, being held for investigation of conspiracy to violate the state gambling law, will be arraigned in Pontiac Municipal Court. The prosecutor's office is expected to seek warrants for them tomorrow morning.

Still held in the Oakland County Jail are Basil Burke, 59, of 29 Salmer St.; LaRue Gullett, 41, of 301 Dick Ave., and his wife, Gladys, 35; James Pruzor, 54, of 4 S. Saginaw St.; and Charles D. Apley, 44, of 29 Salmer.

Reports that Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley helped secure a parole for Burke from a 1-5 year sentence for a gambling conspiracy in 1951 caused the chief to give the following voluntary statement to George Taylor, chief assistant prosecutor:

"Yesterday's raids were the culmination of several months of good police work by the officers concerned. The investigations were commenced several months ago after certain information came to the attention of Chief Straley which indicated a gambling operation for which assistance of the state police racket squad was requested through Captain Jack Warner and Lt. Robinson of the state police.

"Discussions were held on the matter at Captain Warner's office at the Redford State Police Post several months ago. Subsequently the state police and Pontiac Police vice squad officers worked together to develop the case which finally brought about the raids and arrests.

"He had confidence that his officers, regardless of whom the principals were engaged in the gambling case, would with help of State Police, break the case.

"The Chapman Hotel was believed to be the location where some of the gamblers hung around. The identity of the principals was kept confidential with the officers working on the case. There were implications that Basil Burke and China Boy Pruzor were involved, but it was left up to the officers to tie them in definitely, as well as all others.

110 M.P.H. Winds of Hurricane Ella Menace Jamaica

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Ella stormed between Jamaica and the southwestern tip of Haiti today, threatening to smash Jamaica with her 110-mile-an-hour winds.

The fast-gathering hurricane was located less than 150 miles south of Port Au Prince, Haiti, early today, traveling west-northwestward at 19 miles an hour. But the capital of the Negro republic was protected by a range of mountains between it and the hurricane's center and less likely than Jamaica to be hard hit.

"It looks now that the hurricane will stay south of Cuba, passing about 100 miles south of Havana, and miss Florida," one forecaster in the Miami bureau said. But he added quickly, "The situation could change momentarily."

Flint Arsonist Dies of Burns

Prank House Firing Costs William Mosley His Life

A 17-year-old youth who severely burned himself in an arson of a vacant house in Holly Township died last night in Hurley Hospital, Flint.

The victim, William Mosley, of Flint, suffered burns over 80 per cent of his body Saturday morning when he and a companion, Robert Guth, 25, of Flint, used gasoline to ignite the frame-house.

Guth, in a statement to Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George Taylor said they set the blaze as a prank.

He said the gasoline fumes exploded as Mosley set a match to a home-made wick.

Taylor said Guth will be charged with arson. The house had been used by Flint area teenagers for parties.

Weather to Remain Partly Cloudy, Cool

Partly cloudy weather is in the offing for Pontiac and vicinity tonight and tomorrow. The mercury will drop to 53 degrees.

Tomorrow will be somewhat warmer with the temperature reaching a high of 76.

The outlook for Wednesday is considerable cloudiness and cooler. In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a. m. was 51. At 1 p. m. the thermometer read 66.

Bride Proves Overeager

Where Is the Groom?

WANTAGE, England (UPI)—Eager bride-to-be Gwen-doline Arlott, 24, turned up at the registry office with 40 wedding guests here today and found no sign of her intended groom, Albert Ebsworth.

No, Ebsworth hadn't changed his mind. Miss Arlott had simply turned up for the wedding a month early.

"We made a mistake with the date," she said, blushing as her 40 guests drank a toast to her, wedding or no wedding.

Ebsworth, seeing that Miss Arlott was that eager for her marriage took out a special license and rescheduled the ceremony for Tuesday.

A Thought for Labor Day

Labor Day rolls around again and we pay just tribute to the workingman's vital contribution to the rich cornucopia of American life. Yet—headlines from the nation's capital tell us all is not serene in the House of Labor. Its leaders might recall U. S. Grant's succinct comment: "Labor disgraces no man; unfortunately you occasionally find men disgrace labor."

Nation Honors Working Man

Cleanup Urged for Labor

By The Associated Press

The nation paid its annual respects to the U. S. working man today. But much of the Labor Day tribute was coupled with renewed pleas for action to oust hoodlums and racketeering union leaders from the labor movement.

Congress also was rebuked for rejecting legislation aimed at curbing shady tactics underscored by the Senate Rackets Committee in its investigation of labor-management relations.

At the same time, Congress got a new invitation from President Eisenhower to get busy at its next session and enact laws to halt such abuses.

Eisenhower, vacationing at Newport, R. I., said in a Labor Day message yesterday:

"The members of employer and employee organizations have the right to demand from their leaders and administrators complete honesty, integrity, trustworthiness and loyalty."

The President didn't specifically mention the labor control proposals he recommended to the recently adjourned 85th Congress.

But in urging guarantees to protect the nation's working men and women from improper labor-management practices, Eisenhower's statement was plainly an invitation to Congress to pass legislation along those lines.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell said he deeply regretted that Congress didn't act this year to curb racketeering and dictatorship in labor unions.

"I have every hope that the succeeding Congress will see fit to do so," Mitchell said in a statement. "Until such help is available, however, labor's own efforts must continue."

In another Labor Day statement, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler praised cleanup efforts by unions, saying:

"Courageous labor leadership moved swiftly, without fear or favor, to meet its own internal problems and thus maintain the integrity of the American labor movement."

In Detroit, Walter Reuther blamed the defeat of a labor control bill on "an unholy alliance of big business, reactionary, anti-labor politicians and a few corrupt labor leaders."

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, was referring to the bill by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Irving M. Ives (R-NY) which was passed overwhelmingly by the Senate but rejected by the House in the closing days of the session.

Reuther again called on Eisenhower to convene a national conference of labor, management and government leaders to draft a program for full employment and to fight inflation.

AFL-CIO President George Meany touched on a different problem in his Labor Day statement. Attacking racial segregation in schools, Meany said:

"The segregated school poses an artificial barrier to our nation's progress in education."

Meany also urged a federal school construction program to provide new jobs, higher teacher salaries and government-financed scholarships.

Albert J. Hayes, AFL-CIO vice president and chairman of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, said in a television interview, "We can look to the end of corruption in the trade union movement." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Labor Day Toll Running Ahead of Estimates

Millions Jam Highways to Average Ten Killed Per Hour Across U.S.

By The Associated Press
Traffic 275
Drownings 61
Miscellaneous 54
Total 390

The nation's traffic deaths, mounting at a fast pace during the late hours yesterday, appeared running at a trend above the estimate for the Labor Day holiday.

Millions of motorists jammed highways in summer's last long weekend and traffic deaths averaged 10 per hour from 3 p.m. yesterday to 1 a.m. today. Earlier, the trend appeared averaging below the estimate of 420 deaths for the 78-hour holiday period which started at 6 p.m. local time Friday and ends at midnight tonight.

The National Safety Council, which had predicted the toll, expressed concern at the sharp upturn in motor vehicle deaths during the late afternoon and night.

If the rate continued, the council said, the total would surpass its pre-holiday estimate of 420. The council said such a toll would be 70 deaths more than the 350 that occur on a weekend in which there is no holiday.

The heaviest traffic of the three-day holiday period was still to come—with millions of motorists homeward bound during the afternoon and evening.

The council, cautioning motorists to use extreme care in driving in the crowded highways, said the increase in deaths was due to the heavy traffic and carelessness by motorists.

Traffic deaths during last year's three-day Labor Day holiday period totaled 445 while the record toll for a Labor Day weekend was 461 in 1951.

In two earlier three-day holiday periods this year, Independence Day and Memorial Day, deaths on the highways totaled 370 and 371, respectively.

In a survey for purposes of comparison, The Associated Press counted 300 traffic fatalities for the nonholiday weekend of Aug. 15-18 in covering the same hours as the Labor Day travel period. There were 78 drownings and 94 deaths from miscellaneous types of accidents, including fires and plane crashes.

One of yesterday's worst highway accidents occurred south of Newport, Ark. Six persons were killed in a head-on collision of two cars.

Local Holiday Road Toll at 1 as Rush Hours Begin

The number of highway fatalities for the Labor Day holiday in Oakland County remained at one this morning although a Pontiac man died Sunday night of injuries received in a crash north of Lapeer.

Wiley V. Gibson, 42, of 2761 Vendome St., died at Lapeer General Hospital Sunday of injuries suffered in an accident 24 hours earlier, according to Lapeer County Sheriff's Deputies.

Gibson's car apparently went out of control on M24, about 12 miles north of Lapeer, crashing through five guard rails and smashing into a concrete bridge.

He was alone in the car.

Traffic in the county has been reported "a little heavier than for a normal weekend" since Friday night when a Walled Lake man, John G. Paget, 40, was killed in a Farmington Township collision.

Paget, of 8309 Dickert Rd., was alone in his auto when it collided with another at 14-Mile and Halstead roads. He was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital.

Traffic was reported heavy at all points Friday night as the

19,500 Expected in Public System

New Buildings Ready for School Opening Thursday

By SYLVIA de STEIGER

Thursday is back-to-school day for more than 19,500 students who will attend Pontiac public schools this fall, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent. The public school system will operate 29 elementary, five junior high and two senior high schools this year.

It is also the day in which the three city parochial schools, St. Frederick's, St. Michael's and Emmanuel Christian, which enroll 1,760 students, will open.

The city kindergartners will attend their first day of school next Monday.

rollment means an increase of more than 400 students over last year's record. Two new schools and a large addition to another will help "barely keep pace with the educational facilities needed in Pontiac," Whitmer added.

For the first time in the history of Pontiac, teenagers will attend two high schools this fall, the former Pontiac High School, now named Pontiac Central and the new $3,500,000 Pontiac Northern High School, at North Perry and Arlene streets.

Although the two high schools will have a combined football team this fall, starting with the basketball season, each of the two schools will have their own teams.

One marching band is also scheduled jointly for the two schools this fall. A concert, as well as general band will be organized at each school.

Approximately 1,050 students will attend Northern and 2,100 will go to Central this year.

A new elementary school on Franklin road and Fern street also will open this week. The $450,000 single story structure will provide educational facilities for 360 students. It contains eight classrooms, two kindergartens and a multi-purpose room.

This school, located on an eight-acre site, will relieve the crowded conditions which have occurred at the Whittier Elementary School.

In another building project, five classrooms and one kindergarten, costing $160,000, have been added to the Owen Elementary School.

This addition will enable the removal of the substandard portable classroom buildings which have had to be used to operate the school located on East Columbia and Baldwin avenues.

The Owen school attendance will also increase from 450 to 660 students this fall.

Remodeling has been done at Eastern, Jefferson and Lincoln junior high schools during the summer.

Next spring construction will begin to increase the student capacity at Madison Junior High by 400 and at Washington Junior High by 250 more students.

Approximately 800 teachers will be employed throughout the public schools this year. This includes 130 new teachers of which 28 are from out of the state.

Bandeau Bob

Dare to be different in an attractive way. Before your busy fall schedule gets under way, you should arrange for a new hairstyle. So perfect for the "chemise" is the bandeau or head-band bob. Bangs fall in wisps over the forehead and emerge from the band which disappears into soft curls. Of primary importance is the manner in which they are thinned, tapered and shaped. Since the warm weather is still with us, you'll want a short comfortable haircut. If your tresses lack body, you'll want a soft, springy permanent for foundation. Dear Abbie...

Can't Faze Elephant With a Peashooter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 "DEAR ABBY: There is a couple who have gotten to be such pests every Sunday (we live near their church unfortunately) that I hate myself for not being able to handle them better. We don't like to hurt people's feelings, so my husband and I leave the church early (we sit in the back) and rush home, go through the back door and hide in the basement. We have to be quiet like two criminals in our own home so as not to be imposed upon by this couple.
 "For a solid year they 'called on us' every Sunday and sat seven and eight hours until I either cooked them dinner or took them out. How can we get rid of them without 'hiding'?"
 PESTERED
 DEAR PESTERED: You can't faze an elephant with a peashooter. These people are inconsiderate, presumptuous and free-loaders. Tell them plainly that your Sundays are spoken for. If they get mad and never speak to you again, you are lucky to lose them.

 "DEAR ABBY: Your letter about the little boy named Jimmy who had his wagon and tricycle run over by the retired Army officer rang a bell with me. You said this was a pretty severe way to teach a boy a lesson. About six years ago we lived in an apartment house where a little boy named Jimmy also lived. He kept his toys scattered all over the place. "He left a roll of skate on the steps and a young mother was coming down the steps and didn't see it. She tripped and fell, breaking her back. She is now paralyzed from the waist down and will be confined to a wheel chair for the rest of her life, never to walk again. Now, was this retired Army officer's 'lesson' too severe?"
 JUST WORRYING
 "DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. I am 18 and people tell me I have more brains than my mother. She has been married three times and is now looking for a fourth husband. My father left her some money and the first thing she does when she meets a man is tell him about her securities, holdings and property. Her last two husbands took her for a good ride. How can a daughter advise her own mother not to rush into a fourth marriage?"

 WORRIED FOR MOM
 DEAR WORRIED: You'd think that after three strikes, Mom would give up the game. A mother is not inclined to take advice from her daughter—at any age. Assign a clergyman, or a respected friend to the task of advising her.
 "DEAR ABBY: "How old should a bachelor be to be considered 'eligible'?"
 JUST ASKING
 DEAR JUST: A bachelor is considered eligible at ANY age. Where there's LIFE there's HOPE—and where there's HOPE, there's LIFE.
 "DEAR ABBY: My wife is 24 and I am 33 and we have three kids. She says she wants one night a week out, so I let her go, thinking she will take in a movie with her girlfriend or something harmless like that, but now I find out that she and her girlfriend go out of town and dance with old men. I asked her about this and she said there is nothing wrong with it. Am I old-fashioned or is this the style these days?"
 OLD-FASHIONED HUSBAND
 DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: You are NOT old-fashioned—and this is NO way for a married woman (and a mother of three) to behave if she wants to keep her marriage in one piece.
 CONFIDENTIAL TO FRANKIE: You will not find scotch and soda the right "solution" for your problems. Your parish priest has more of the right answers than your bartender.

 For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
 If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your book dealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Jumper Popular This Season

St. Louis designers say this is the season of the jumper for the younger set.
 The loosely-belted low waist-line — a mere band below the hipbone, or an under-the-bust trim on Empire lines mark the wide range of the waist-line in this youthful style. And the jumper can be worn without blouse for late day or night.

Most Complaints Are Women's Own Fault

By RUTH MILLETT
 Don't blame anybody but yourself:
 If your husband forgets your wedding anniversary. A thoughtful wife subtly reminds her husband of important dates, instead of letting him forget and then acting hurt.
 If your husband never wants to take you anywhere. If you make the most of your looks, so that your husband is proud to show you off, and if you are a gay and amusing companion you won't find the TV set and the easy chair unbeatable competition.
 If you are bored and frustrated because your life is a dull routine. Nobody but you can shake it up and add a little interest and variety. A bored person is almost always a lazy person, who isn't willing to make the effort to make things happen.
 If your husband gives you money instead of going out and selecting a gift for you, himself. If in the past you always received any gift from him with unqualified enthusiasm he would probably not have the feeling that you will be satisfied only with something you pick out.
 If your children never accept anything you say without an argument. That's a pretty good indication that you've been afraid to make what you say stick.
 MORE ATTRACTIVE
 If you feel less attractive than you were 10 years ago. It's a woman's duty to replace youth with such lasting qualities as charm, understanding, new interests and skills. The woman who conscientiously follows this course doesn't grow less attractive as she grows older.
 If you are feuding with your in-laws. It takes two to start a fight and keep it going, and a woman can get along peacefully with her in-laws if she is determined that she is going to.
 If you feel that you have been a good wife but just aren't appreciated by your husband. Chances are that means you have tried to be what you think a good wife is instead of trying to do the things your husband considers important.

Too Much Clutter Not Effective

Clothes and accessories, no matter how expensive, lose their effect when they give a cluttered look.
 This occurs when clothes and accessories are unrelated. Thus they draw attention to themselves rather than giving an ensemble look.

Give Children Toys All Year Round

Parents and doting relatives often overwhelm a child with toys on birthdays and at Christmas and neglect their toy needs during the rest of the year.
 It is a good idea to put away a few of their toy gifts and then introduce them one at a time. Children may be confused when they're allowed to play with too many toys all at once, and will grow bored with them very quickly.

Facial Pick-Up Easily Achieved

A quick pick-up after a busy day at home or in the office can be achieved in ten or 15 minutes.
 Thoroughly cleanse your face, give yourself a facial massage for five minutes. Then place cotton pads soaked in witch hazel or cold water over your eyes and lie down for another 10 minutes.

Clean Shoe Clips

Shoe clips should be as sparkling as the rest of the shoe. Often it is difficult to get into crevices around gay flowers, beads or jewels. Usually a sudsy toothbrush takes care of this task.
