

OAS Leader Raoul Salan Arrested in Algiers

Not Too Busy for a Prayer

SERVICES TODAY — Thousands thronged Pontiac area churches during the Tre Ore services from noon to 3 p. m. today. Men and women took time out from busy schedules to attend traditional Good Friday services commemorating the crucifixion of Jesus Christ more than 1,900 years ago. Shown are worshippers at the annual downtown service sponsored by the Pontiac Pastors' Association in First Presbyterian Church.

He Is Not Here... ...Tomb Is Empty

(Editor's Note — "He is not here. He is risen" — so came the angel's message, referring to the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. Visiting the traditional, hallowed site holds a special meaning to the Christian. This is the last of five articles on the shrines of the Holy Land.)

Jerusalem, Jordan — It's strange, how minor things become more dear with passing years. A piece of lace, a faded letter, a dog-eared book. A song. A lock of hair. A place.

That's how it is with Christians, seeking out the old immemorial of their Lord's self-offering in men — the hill, the place He died, the tomb He occupied until... until that cataclysmic night that never dimmed.

"...they found the stone was rolled away..."

Believers of the early period weren't particularly concerned with sites, terrain or objects. Apostolic records don't detail exact locations or accoutrements. All that was overshadowed by the unsurpassed event itself. This still is so.

And yet, with passing years, the ground and relics linked with Jesus' sojourn on the earth, like cherished legacies tucked away in some old battered trunk, have come to be a precious memory chest of Him.

That couldn't hold him in. "He is not here."

Today, through long tradition or investigation, two locales are singled out as likely settings of that mystifying day. My wife and I paid visits to them both. And each evokes its special essence of Easter.

One of them was found through late research — a garden-bordered tomb beside a skull-shaped hill 200 yards beyond the city's northern wall, outside the main Damascus gate. Gentle slopes are there, an air of hush and gracious wonder.

The other, first located in 226 A.D. by Empress Helena, the mother of the Roman ruler Constantine, and hallowed by 1,630 years of church tradition, lies enshrouded within the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, inside the city.

A Moslem keeps the door, a task inherited along ancestral lines since Saladin bestowed the right eight centuries ago. Inside, the sundry shrines are held by four of ancient Eastern Orthodox's patriarchates and the Church of Rome, in separate jurisdictions.

Orthodoxy keeps the sepulchre itself, enclosed with a thickwalled block of altar cells, situated at the center of the main rotunda of Rome, in separate jurisdictions.

The church is laden with compelling, somber mystery. That element pervades the semi-dark and winding halls, the chambers, niches, chapels, vaults and stairs. It moves in swaying flares of lamps and candlelight.

It waits on heady waves of incense, curling wreath-like up the banisters. It shows in ancient altars, icons, art treasures. It vibrates, tinglingly, in surging tunes that seem to come from everywhere.

Solemnity of awesome power, fills that intricate and dimly lit sanctuary.

You speak in muffled tones while there, despite the constant movement all around, the monks, the muted patter of the guides, the pilgrims, kneeling figures, shifting shadow-like about within the many-roomed interior, whisp'ers thrashing through the strains of singing male choir.

You hold a burning paper in your hand to find your way.

"...they came into the sepulchre, bringing spices which they had prepared, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus..."

ALGIERES (AP) — Fugitive ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, leader of the terrorist Secret Army Organization OAS, was arrested today in the heart of Algiers. French officials announced.

Salan already was aboard a plane bound for Paris when the announcement was made, the spokesman said. He is under a death sentence.

A government official said Salan was taken when riot troops and police sealed off a small section in downtown Algiers and launched a search of cars, buildings and passersby.

Police sources hinted Salan was picked up in an apartment during a search for a clandestine radio transmitter.

He refused to admit his identity, but he was identified by several former colleagues, including Gen. Charles Allouet, until two days ago supreme commander of French military forces in Algeria.

Some informants said Salan's wife and daughter were arrested with him and that several men picked up in the same building were being questioned.

Capture of Salan, 62, who vowed to keep Algeria French, came as the French government's strategy stepped up action here against his secret army.

There were reports Salan had been captured early in today's search but that he refused to admit his identity and riot police officers who arrested him were not sure themselves it was Salan.

Unofficial reports leaked out that Salan had been taken, but it was not until several hours later that the Rocher North headquarters of the French-Moslem provisional executive disclosed the arrest.

There were rumors Salan had been denounced by one of his followers and that police and troops had been able to start the sealing-off operation in time to net him.

Salan's arrest strikes a hard blow at followers of the secret army.

It might also hasten an end to a period of lawlessness which began when Salan, a leader of the abortive push of the Algiers generals last April, fisted authority and became head of a terrorist organization dedicated to forestalling Algerian independence.

8 Pilots Chosen to Take Training for Moon Flights

Group Selected by AF to Start 8-Month Class at Edwards in June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today selected eight seasoned test pilots for special training that may equip some of them for flights to the moon.

The eight—seven Air Force officers and one from the Navy—will start an eight-month course June 18 at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

They turn the second group to take the "Aerospace Research Pilot" course there. Five officers graduated last Dec. 15.

A spokesman said the new group of eight—all proven graduate engineers—have "quite a bit more background" than the seven original astronauts in the civilian agency's man-in-space program.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said earlier this week it will pick five or 10 more astronauts for later space flights.

Army to Get Probe Job Into Major's Dismissal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution asked a congressional investigation today of the Army's suspension of Maj. Archibald E. Roberts, but Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., said he favored leaving the investigation to the Army at this time.

Thurmond, who has been battling for months against what he called Pentagon muzzling of military officers, said he thought an Army investigation was appropriate.

If Roberts had in fact questioned the loyalty of Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles and Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams.

"I will await the Army's investigation report before passing any judgment on this incident," Thurmond said.

Roberts, in an off-the-cuff speech to the DAR Thursday, said Yorty once was described in the House Committee on Un-American Activities as one member of a Communist faction in the California Legislature. He described Williams, former governor of Michigan, as having leftist leanings.

Yorty replied in California that the allegation went back to an accusation made in the 1930s by Arthur James Kent, "known as the 'Red Burglar,'" who was then in jail.

"I took my public stand against communism many years ago and it has never changed," Yorty said.

Williams is traveling in Africa and there was no immediate reply from him.

The Army suspended Roberts Thursday night, promptly after hearing reports of his speech to the DAR.

He is now under orders not to leave his post, Ft. Lee, Va.

Roberts said he hoped for a hearing before the Senate subcommittee which has been looking into Thurmond's muzzling charges.

"My case will have to be decided with finality," he said. "I can't stop in mid-stream. The Senate committee is the place for it to be heard."

Insists We Call Off Next Week's Firing

GENEVA — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin threatened today to walk out of the 17-nation general disarmament conference if the United States conducts atmospheric nuclear weapons tests in the Pacific in the next week or so.

He made the comment to newsmen after a Good Friday session of the disarmament conference. In the conference room itself Zorin said the American tests would bring about an extremely tense international atmosphere.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean made it clear the United States tests undoubtedly will be held because of what he called the unyielding Soviet attitude.

Dean said the Soviet Union appears to have killed any chance for a quick agreement on an internationally enforced nuclear weapons test ban.

At the same time, the Soviet Union rejected a plea that it accept a test ban.

In a note delivered in Moscow today, Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda appealed to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to agree to a nuclear test halt with international controls.

But Moscow reports said Soviet officials threw cold water on the appeal immediately.

"PREPARING"

Soviet sources indicated Khrushchev is preparing some "diplomatic initiative" for the resumption of American atmospheric nuclear testing.

The nature of the projected move was not disclosed.

It appeared Khrushchev intends to warn the United States and Britain in stern terms just before the tests are resumed.

The warning would be coupled with an appeal to world public opinion and a threat that Russia would take countermeasures.

Both Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Golder repudiated a Russian call for an unpoliced moratorium on tests. The Russians remained adamant against international inspection and control.

The United States, Dean said, "has learned its lesson with regard to a voluntary, unpoliced moratorium which can be broken at will by the Soviet Union no matter how earnestly it is drawn up."

The Big Three haggled again about the testing question.

Then though Zorin had indicated yesterday he might try to force continued sessions over the week-end, the conference recessed for the Easter holidays. It will reconvene Tuesday.

Devout Pilgrims Trudge Twisting 'Way of Cross'

ARAB Christians and pilgrims from around the globe bowed before the traditional site of Calvary at dawn this Good Friday inside the walled city where Christ spent his last day on earth.

Church bells rang out across the hills of Jerusalem, and overseas, drizzling skies helped to recall the day almost 2,000 years ago when the "light of the world" was briefly extinguished.

A few hundred yards from the worshippers in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre — built on the ground where Christians believe Christ was buried — Jordanian desert troops peered from sand-bagged medieval walls across to man's hand to the Israeli sector of Jerusalem. But the frontier was peaceful for the Holy day.

Thousands of devout pilgrims were expected to follow Christ's last walk later in the day, bent under the weight of false crosses along the twisting, stone-flagged Via Dolorosa that marks the Way of the Cross.

Bells were silent and altars bare in Rome's 500 churches as the capital of world catholicism commemorated Christ's passion and death.

The sacred host, removed yesterday from the main altar, was preserved on flower-banded "altars of repose."

No mass was being said and sacred images were draped in mourning purple.

Pope John XXIII, who yesterday marked Holy Thursday by conferring Episcopal consecration on 12 cardinals, planned to lead the world's Catholics in mourning in an afternoon liturgical action.

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Agency said today that only providence and the fact that one plane was faster kept two big airliners apart while they circled for 42 minutes at the same altitude over the Washington area March 31.

The aircraft — an Eastern Air Lines Electra and a United Air Lines Viscount — were reported to have carried 61 persons. They finally came down safely.

Oscar Bakke, assistant administrator for FAA's eastern region, said the faster Electra apparently made a wider circle as the planes sped through an overcast in a holding pattern, and that provided "the margin of separation."

"And providence entered into it, too, intersected N. E. Halaby, FAA administrator.

The faster Electra probably passed the Viscount at least four times in a thick overcast.

Halaby said the controller will be transferred to a less demanding job, at the loss of one salary grade or $200 a year.

He declined to name the controller, although a name has been mentioned in some accounts of the event, because he did not wish to single out an individual as a target for criticism.

Both aircraft were ordered to hold over nearby Springfield, Va., because of traffic congestion. The faster Electra was flying a routine "race track" pattern, making a 90-degree turn every minute.

But they did not know they inadvertently had been assigned to the same altitude of 7,000 feet.

The faster Electra probably passed the Viscount at least four times in a thick overcast.

It was learned that the controller at that had Eastern at 6,000 feet but ordered an immediate climb to 7,000 because a private aircraft was circling at 6,000.

Scientists Try Again to Launch Centaur

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Scientists plan to try again today to launch the Centaur high-energy space rocket on its initial test flight.

After nearly a year's delay because of troubles in developing powerful liquid hydrogen as a propellant, the Centaur was scheduled for its maiden flight two weeks ago. But bad weather wiped out two dates and fuel pressure problems in the Atlas first stage postponed a third.

The first Centaur flight is to be a 15-minute ballistic workout to check rocket systems and determine performance of hydrogen in the weightlessness of space.

The deadline for filing petitions for the June 11 Waterford Township School Board election is May 12 at 4 p.m. Two seats on the board are at issue.

2 More Unions Are Going After Shorter Week

NEW YORK — Two other trade unions, encouraged by gains made by electricians, are seeking a shorter working day.

Six thousand construction plumbers in Manhattan and the Bronx were their current seven-hour day cut to five hours.

Some 11,000 bricklayers, who also work a seven-hour day, are asking that it be reduced to six hours.

The action by the two unions apparently is an outgrowth of the five-hour day, 25-hour week won last January by 8,000 construction electricians following an eight-day strike.

4 Minor Errors Found in Tally by Commissioners

The City Commission met briefly last night to make official the unofficial tally of the election results.

Convening the voters, commissioners found only four minor errors in the tally of the four ballot precincts.

Total votes on the proposed pension plan for policemen and firemen were officially set at 5,182 for and 4,013 against. Unofficial returns previously reported were 5,182 and 4,000, respectively.

On the dog rabies inoculation proposal, the official tally has been set at 5,584 for and 2,564 against. The unofficial totals were 5,581 and 2,546, respectively. The change was due to an error in tallying absent voter ballots.

All candidates' vote totals were confirmed as reported Tuesday morning. There was no change in the total vote.

Would Outlaw Graduated Tax

OK Retaining 15-Mill Limitation, Lifting Sales Levy Earmarking

LANSING — A ban on a graduated income tax, lifting of earmarking of sales tax revenues for schools, and retention of the long-standing 15-mill property tax limitation have been adopted by the constitutional convention.

Moving along on schedule, delegates completed second reading debate on 12 proposals for the finance and taxation article in the new constitution, yesterday before taking a weekend recess for the Easter holiday.

In adopting the prohibition against a graduated income tax, the convention left the question of a flat-rate income levy up to the legislature, which currently is considering such a tax.

The proposal incorporating the ban was adopted, 88-15, after several Democrats assailed the provision. They charged that such a ban would freeze income into the constitution and discriminate against lower-paid workers.

Supporters argued, however, that a graduated tax was a device for social reform and the federal government has nearly pre-empted the field anyway.

A proposal to forbid any form of income tax without prior approval of the voters failed on a voice vote.

One of the amendment's sponsors, Rep. Boothby, R-Niles, said it would merely put an income tax in the same constitutional category of sales taxes, which require a vote of the people before they can be raised.

But James Sterett, D-Detroit, countered that the proposal was neither feasible nor practical. "This is like asking the legislature to reapportion itself," Sterett said. "People just won't vote new taxes on themselves."

He said taxation matters were a responsibility of the legislature. While removing the earmarking of sales tax revenues for schools, at the same time the convention decided to keep a provision dedicating gas and weight tax receipts for highway purposes.

Alvin Bentley, R-Owosso, said that only 45 per cent of the total needed for schools last year came from sales taxes, with the remainder being appropriated by the legislature. He pointed out that the legislature has consistently made up the balance in recent years.

But Mrs. Katherine Cushman, D-Dearborn, contended that the legislature, in effect, was placing roads on a higher level than schools.

Sec. McNamara Under Fire for Reserves Cull

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House armed services subcommittee yesterday accused Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara of weakening too much power in the Pentagon and failing to keep faith with the public in the Berlin crisis reserve cull.

The subcommittee is investigating the armed forces reserves and their mobilization last fall. Subcommittee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., charged that a new plan to eliminate eight National Guard and Reserve divisions was dictated to the Army by McNamara's secretaries.

"The service secretaries are being diluted by the present management of the Department of Defense," Hebert said. "Decisions are being made by nonmilitary men."

In neither instance was any actual boarding of the structures reported.

The closer of the two approaches was the one last autumn in which Maj. George F. Mott, commander of the 40th Texas Tower Support Squadron at Otis Air Force Base, Mass., said today a single vessel came within a half mile. The officer said the ship turned away when a Coast Guard cutter stationed off between the trawler and the tower.

About the only conviction presently held by American leaders with respect to Khrushchev's policies is that they seem to be in a state of transition. This is related to the Sino-Soviet situation as well as to reports of economic difficulties inside Russia itself. It is also related to Khrushchev's failure to move the Western powers away from their announced determination to maintain their forces in West Berlin and their access to it—even though they are prepared to negotiate on a variety of related issues.

This evidence is found chiefly in the recent drop in tensions over Berlin and in the continuing friendly approach of the Soviet government to talks with the United States about a Berlin settlement. The first talk of the present round was held Monday between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin; another meeting is expected to be held soon when Dobrynin gets further instructions from the Kremlin.

Seattle World's Fair Begins Tomorrow

SEATTLE (UPI) — This lovely city bubbled with the most excitement since the 1897 Yukon gold rush today on the eve of a World's Fair expected to draw three times as many tourists as the nation's northwest usually sees in a year.

To the casual eye, it appeared a miracle would be needed to bring about the fair's opening on time at noon tomorrow.

Carpenters were still sawing and pounding. Cement mixers were turning. Painters were splashing; electricians tripping over their cords; scoop shovels scraping.

But so confident were the natives that all would be ready for a first day crowd anticipated at 90,000 that Mayor Gordon Clinton—although a teetotaler—declared that the hour be marked as if it were New Year's Eve, with ringing of bells and blowing of horns and whistles.

Every World's Fair has one feature that is always remembered. Seattle does not have a Sally Rand although it does have a "Backstage U.S.A." where the customers are given the illusion they have stumbled into a dressing room where the showgirls are taking showers and changing costumes.

But the single impression visitors will take home is of the soaring space needle, a 605-foot steel spire that looks like an Eiffel Tower with a bright orange disc atop.

There, in a restaurant which revolves completely once an hour, the champagne was already being served. Just looking up at the space needle from below is going to be enough to make a good many housewives say, "Uhh, not for me." But engineers have seen to it that it can stand twice the seismic load required by the building code and half again as much wind as ever recorded in Seattle.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two incidents in which Soviet travelers made close approaches to a U.S. "Texas Tower" radar installation off Cape Cod, temporarily evacuated in heavy weather, were reported today by Air Force sources.

Both cases involved Tover No. 2 at George's Bank, about 110 miles out in the Atlantic from the tip of the Cape. One occurred last fall and the other in February.

In neither instance was any actual boarding of the structures reported.

Board of Education VP Will Not Be Candidate

BIRMINGHAM — Malcolm Lovell, vice president of the Birmingham Board of Education, has announced that he will not seek another term in the June 11 school election.

Lovell, a board member since 1958 and vice president the last two years, said because of a change of residence he will not be a candidate this year.

The term of board secretary Richard Barnett also is expiring and he already has taken out nominating petitions.

Another office-seeker is Phil Hollingshead, former co-chairman of Independent Citizens for Birmingham School.

Any nominating petitions, along with any other candidates, must be returned to the board office by 4 p.m. May 12. Voters have until May 14 to register for the election.

Papers, Union Clean Up Issues

Long Mediation Session Has Detroit Contracts at Signing Point

DETROIT (AP) — Management and union officials today pressed for a clean-up of a labor dispute which has halted publication of Detroit's two daily newspapers for nine days.

A break in the primary dispute, a Teachers strike that at the morning Detroit Free Press came last night after a prolonged mediation session between the union and the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association.

Teachers President James R. Hoffa and the association, which represents both the Free Press and the afternoon Detroit News in contract negotiations, announced agreement on a new two-year contract with the Free Press.

Members of Teachers Local 372 were to vote on ratification of the agreement today.

The Teachers struck the Free Press April 11. The Union did not strike the News. However, the News suspended publication April 12.

Meanwhile the association today agreed with representatives of other craft unions in an effort to clean up all issues of the dispute.

It was uncertain whether the Free Press could meet its Saturday edition.

Edwin K. Wheeler, general manager of the News, said his paper would not publish Friday editions.

Dem Senator Replies to Charges

GOP Says Kennedy Blackjacked Steel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders have unloaded one of their sharpest criticisms of President Kennedy since he took office, claiming he used police state methods to "blackjack" steel companies into rescinding a price increase.

In a formal statement released Thursday, they charged Kennedy with ordering or supporting nine actions last week that "imposed basic American rights, went far beyond the law, and were more characteristic of a police state than a free government."

These "punitive, heavy handed and frightening" actions amounted to "a display of naked political power never before seen in this nation," said the statement issued on behalf of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and other GOP leaders in Congress.

HUMPHREY REPLIES

It drew a quick reply from the Senate's assistant Democratic leader, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. He said the GOP leaders had again shown "an inborn incapacity to get on the wrong side of major issues."

Humphrey accused the Republican leadership of bitter partisanship and irresponsibility.

"We did not hear much comment from the Republicans while the struggle over the price rise in steel was going on," he said. "They became brave after the fighting was over and the victory was won."

Eight companies announced $8-a-ton price increases last week and later backed down in the face of strong opposition from the President, who said such increases were not in the public interest.

The Republican statement said the steel companies exact their right to make an economic judgment without massive retaliation by the federal government.

"Temporarily President Kennedy may have gained a political victory, but at the cost of doing violence to the fundamental precepts of a free society."

"This nation must realize that we have passed within the shadow of police state methods."

Tells Conventionites of Space Advantages

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said yesterday the United States is "not shooting for the moon merely to satisfy idle curiosity."

But whatever the reason for the project, Capt. Virgil Grissom said he wanted to be the first astronaut to make the trip.

FEATURED SPEAKERS

Johnson and Grissom were featured speakers at the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) convention here yesterday. The convention closes today with talks by comedian Bob Hope and newsmen James Reston of the New York Times.

Johnson said the U.S. space program will give the average citizen a whole new set of products, including pocket television sets and better hearing aids.

By landing a man on the moon, he said, "We will solve many of the problems here on earth and will open new possibilities of peace and prosperity for mankind as well."

The vice president said the Ticonderoga weather satellite already has returned dividends "by giving the state of Texas three days warning on hurricane Carla."

He added, "I do not think those whose lives were saved will ever question the necessity of an intelligent space program."

Grissom was introduced by ASNE President Felix McKnight of Dallas, Tex., as "5 feet 7 inches of patience, courage and faith."

Grissom acknowledged that the United States was recruiting new astronauts, but said the new recruits would "have a lot of competition because I want to go to the moon, too."

Fisher Denying Latest Gossip on Natalie Romance

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Reports of a romance between Eddie Fisher and Natalie Wood drew denials Thursday from Fisher, Miss Wood and her publicity men.

The fact that the publicity men got into the picture Thursday led some suspicious souls to assume publicists were responsible for the whole story.

According to the story when Eddie gets a divorce from Elizabeth Taylor, he and Miss Wood—who recently filed for divorce from Robert Wagner—would marry.

'Drivers Required by Law to Stop for School Buses'

Are you guilty of passing stopped school buses? It's a state law that cars must stop when meeting a stopped school bus with the flashers working. We average 3 to 4 cars daily that do not stop. Women are the worst offenders. Be more careful. Don't make a child pay for your carelessness.

Worried

Give Information on 3rd Class Mail

Dorothy Ferguson has a number of misconceptions regarding bulk rate mail. Bulk mail was instituted as a deferred classification of mail. The post office cost of handling bulk mail is less than first class because it is handled on a deferred basis; the initial cost is made by the mailer and it is delivered directly to the post office, bagged and marked as to destination; 3rd class mail is destroyed by the post office unless return is requested by the sender; bulk mail does not require canceling and generally does not use stamps. The cost of designing, printing and distributing mail is considerable; each bulk mail user pays an annual fee of $20 plus a minimum of 2 1/2 cents per piece; the entire postal system is designed to expedite the handling of first class mail. Without the deferred classification either service on first class would deteriorate or its cost of handling would increase appreciably.

Destroying any class of mail through punitive postal rates or defamatory actions will have a direct and adverse effect on the overall economy and well-being of this country.

Robert Williams

"Junk mail," which is 3rd class mail, does not lose as much revenue for the post office as does 2nd class mail, and without it many post office workers would be out of work. It provides a lower cost means of advertising and while some throw it away, many read it.

Some people overlook the fact that greeting cards when mailed for 3 cents are also 3rd class.

When "junk" mail is refused it is returned to the sender only if the sender has requested its return, and then he would have to pay the return postage.

The Country Parson

"I don't think a man's life is worth anything unless he has as much as he is loved by someone."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Alcohol Often Used as Camouflage

you readers suppose a good father would start going on a binge at frequent intervals?

Why would he stay out late at night to coddle a liquor dealer instead of coming home to cuddle his wife?

SEX FEARS, LIQUOR

There is often a definite connection between sex and alcohol.

A lot of immature females try to do up their dates with whisky so the girls will then succumb more easily.

But a married man like Harold is not in that category.

Such men usually are afraid of their wives. Why?

Not because the women are shrews or naggers or unattractive but because the women may actually be very attractive.

But these husbands have begun to fret and worry concerning their wives' vigor, so their anxiety forces them into a pitiable condition.

But this "burns" the ego of such a male, so he resorts to anything that will divert the attention of his wife from his inadequacy.

"I don't dare let her know I can't respond to her charm," such a husband thinks, "so I must camouflage my real problem."

"I'll get drunk and then if I come home intoxicated, she'll think my lack of ardor is just due to my drunken state."

"Besides, if I have lost my ability to hold her on a steady heart beat, maybe my drunken condition will appeal to her maternal sense. Thus I can still monopolize her interest by making her worry about me all the time."

Alcoholism in a man past 35 or 40 is likely to be a sexual red herring that is used to serve as a smoke screen. It hides the real truth: that is consuming a man's inner ego.

So a smart wife eliminates the need for this escape mechanism by quickly restoring a man's erotic ego to par.

Send for the booklet "How to Prevent Impotence."

Wives, be forewarned and banish this widespread problem of husbands who approach the age of 40.

Easter — Christ's Resurrection

(In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Easter message has been written by Rev. Richard W. Thomas, pastor, St. Benedict Church.)

By REV. RICHARD W. THOMAS
Throughout the centuries all Christians have been very well instructed about the glorious mystery of the Resurrection.

Christ rose by His own power to show He is master over life and death. Christ allowed His enemies to send Him into death, and thus do their utmost against Him. Then, by His resurrection He showed that they were powerless. The Resurrection is a proof that Christ died of His own free will and therefore died, as He said, for our sins.

The Resurrection is the day of the greatest joy in all countries where Christianity has reached and is practiced.

In some parts of the world, the Epiphany is celebrated in much the same manner we celebrate Christmas in the United States. The people of one country will put more emphasis on one mystery which appeals to them and celebrate it with more pomp and ceremony than is done in other lands.

Many countries have a special day to celebrate the saintly men who brought them the message of Christ. The Irish, St. PATRICK; the Slavic countries, SS. CYRIL and METHODIUS; the English, St. AUGUSTINE; the Germans, St. BONIFACE. But the celebration of all religious feasts and all special days in any country give way before the greatest day of all, the day of the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

The feast of the Resurrection holds the first place because it is absolutely necessary as the foundation of our faith. We have all read and heard the inspired words of St. Paul who tells us faith is vain if Christ did not rise, and Christians the most foolish of men.

No wonder that the Resurrection has been so much stressed, beginning with St. PETER's sermon on the first Pentecost Sunday, throughout all ages.

The Apostles were certainly "witnesses of the Resurrection," and certainly they used this mystery as an argument for their faith, but they were witnesses to more than the fact that Christ rose from the dead on Easter Sunday. They now realized that their whole life was lighted with the glory of the risen Christ, who lived in their midst through the powerful presence of His Holy Spirit; in His resurrection the God-Man "ascended" to the heights of His Father's power and received full authority to bestow upon men the gift "par excellence," the Holy Spirit.

St. Peter in his discourse on Pentecost Sunday says, "This Jesus God has raised up and we are all witnesses of it. Therefore, exalted (at the Ascension) by the right hand of God and receiving from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, 'He has poured forth His Spirit which you see and hear.'"

What was true for the Apostles holds true for His followers. Certainly, then, while we are filled with holy joy at Easter, it would indeed be base ingratitude if we did not breathe a fervent prayer of gratitude to the risen Christ.

The Man About Town

The Oldest Policy

Now Covers the Life of Bloomfield Hills Woman

By JOE HAAS
It has been said that a life insurance agent is a man who you think pesters you too much when you're young, but when you're old you wish that he'd pestered you more. In this connection the Pontiac Life Underwriters Association finds that the oldest policy still in force on a person living in this area is held by

Mrs. Rose Lambie of Bloomfield Hills. It was taken out on her by her parents when she was a mere child in April, 1902.

Hobby: What's OK, even if you make hard work out of it—and don't bore your friends with it.

After a close perusal of her dictionary, Paula Ashbaugh of 136 Marquette St., wonders if she hasn't found the longest word in the English language, 45 letters, and would like to hear from anybody who can beat it. The word is: "pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanopneumonitis," and defines a miner's lung disease.

My friend correspondent, who has a "Can Oakland County Beat That?" habit, now revives that multiple grandchild contest. He sends words that Mrs. Rebecca E. Kemp, who recently died at the age of only 78, leaves 214 descendants, 514 great-grandchildren, 127 great-grandchildren and 41 great-great-grandchildren.

With crime on the increase, local officials request that we urge all people to be more careful and take extra precautions. Shop ever from Detroit and ending of pay from factories to men out of work are the prime reasons.

For the coming week, the Old Farmer's Almanac predicts for the Pontiac area: "Foul rain or snow lays everyone low."

The nation's largest maker of men's hats sends out an elaborate parchment scroll on explaining that it's as necessary to a man's wardrobe as his pants, and "sets him apart from the lazy, the careless and the irresponsible, and the making of a man." And I don't own a hat. Anyway, the man who wrote the letter accompanying the scroll is Karl F. Klingelhoelter, who needs quite a hat to cover that name.

"What Is a Hat?"

THE EASTER STORY—IV

"Although the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them, saying, 'Peace be with you.' Then he said to Thomas . . . 'Be unbelieving no longer, but believe.' Thomas said, 'My Lord and my God.'"

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Economic Talk One-Sided

WASHINGTON—Presentation of presidential news conferences by television, with only one side being given to the same audience, can result in a misjudged electorate.

Today, for instance, many economists are stunned by Mr. Kennedy's erroneous statement at his press conference Wednesday. He was asked by a reporter whether he felt that gains made through efficiency and lower costs achieved by modernized plant and equipment—frequently called "productivity"—should be shared by investors as well as labor. The President replied:

"The owners of steel stocks have shared very much in the last 10 years. I don't think there is any question. I think there has been a split of six times in the United States steel stocks since '48-'49, and they have been paid a very good dividend, and they have very strong equity."

"And what is true of U.S. Steel is true, even in greater extent, in other steel companies, and, as I have said, in industry in general . . ."

Also, earlier in the same press conference, in his prepared statement, Mr. Kennedy said:

"I believe that the anticipated profits this year for industry in general, and steel in particular, indicate that these policies are meeting with some measure of success, and it is a fact that the last quarter of last year, and I think the first quarter of this year, will be the highest profits in the history of this country, and the highest number of people working, and the highest productivity."

Now what are the facts? In the first place, steel profits still were low in the last quarter of 1962, and will hardly approach previous records in the first quarter of 1963.

As for the "highest profits" in industry in general, Mr. Kennedy didn't tell the American people the whole story. Numerically, there are, for instance, more people employed today in the United States than ever before.

How does that help, however, the more than four million who are unemployed? Some businesses, to be sure, are prospering, but steel—the center of last week's controversy—isn't prospering.

RECORD PROFITS? But, even on corporate profits for all industries, the President gave a figure that will be disputed. Actually, as he says, corporate profits as a whole for the final quarter of 1962 were a record—at the rate of $2.4 billion before taxes, or about $1 billion higher than the previous record.

But figured in relation to gross national product—as it properly should be to get a real comparison—the profits were only 2.7 per cent, as contrasted with 16.2 per cent ten years ago. This means they have declined by 40 per cent in the past decade.

As to whether the investors have shared in the "productivity" formula, the President's comment is also misleading.

The profits of the primary iron and steel industry—according to Security and Exchange Commission reports—were at 4.59 per cent of sales in 1961. But the 1947-1960 average was 6.14 per cent, or 34 per cent above 1961.

Now, as to the splitting of the stock of U.S. Steel, Mr. Kennedy

Worship of Cross One of History's Strange Paradoxes

By LOUIS CARROLL
United Press International
A visitor from another planet would soon discern that the most widely beloved symbol on earth is a T-shaped cross.

He would see it thrust skyward from the spires of churches, carried reverently in solemn processions, worn proudly in coat lapels.

Within three days, Jesus had returned to them. They were as startled to see him alive as you would be if you met, on the street today a friend whose funeral you attended a few days ago.

No person hearing the story of the resurrection today can possibly be any more skeptical of it than were the Apostles when they first heard about it. The record shows that Jesus had to go to great lengths to overcome their incredulity. Once he ate an impromptu meal of cold fish and honeycomb—the only food at hand—to demonstrate to one who had doubted that he wasn't a ghost.

Once the disciples got over their surprise, they were totally convinced. There is in all history no example of a group of human beings who were more absolutely, unblinkingly certain of a fact than the early church was of the reality of the resurrection.

Any suggestion that their conviction was feigned quickly founders on the cross: of the Christian martyrs which soon sprang up from Jerusalem to Rome! Men do not die joyously to perpetuate a hoax.

Fire Department Orders
Dozen Rolls of Red Tape
RICHMOND, Va. (U)—Remember all those quips about government red tape?

Well, A. E. Berlinghoff, purchasing agent for Henrico County, said yesterday he had received a requisition for 12 rolls of the stuff. He said the county fire department wants the tape for use in a labeling machine.

This community was characterized from the outset by a radically different outlook toward life and death than that which prevailed in the world around them.

Among other things, they were able to look upon a cross as a symbol of victory rather than defeat.

Why? The answer stands forth unmistakably from the earliest records of the Christian community, which have been handed down to us as the New Testament. These men and women had become followers of Jesus of Nazareth because they believed he was sent by God. Then they had seen him arrested, tried and put to death on a Roman cross.

They had fled from the scene of the crucifixion in panic and despair, their hopes crushed, their own lives in peril. If the story had ended there, the cross would certainly have been the last thing on earth they wished to be reminded of.

U.S. N-Test Site a Busy Place

Christmas Island Center of Feverish Activity; Intense Heat Is Felt

HONOLULU (AP) — Christmas Island, the U.S. nuclear test site, is hot, soggy, and a feverishly busy speck of land in the Pacific. Antennas sticking up all over give the coral atoll the appearance of a pin cushion.

Nuclear tests are scheduled at the 222-square mile British possession this month. The antennas apparently are to pick up or emit signals connected with the tests. Workers returning from the island say about 1,800 civilians are employed there and at Johnson Island, 700 miles west. Both will be used for high and low-level blasts.

QUITY JOBS

Some workers, complaining of the heat and humidity, quit their jobs in midcontract. The island is just north of the equator, 1,300 miles south of Hawaii. The 1,600-foot runway at Christmas Island was described as busier than the civil and military runways at Honolulu International Airport.

One worker said the ocean is dotted with submarines. Navy surface ships and transports of every kind.

The intense equatorial heat was said to be affecting many of the 2,000 Americans and 400 British military men who make up Joint Task Force 8, the U.S. nuclear force.

Con-Con OKS Refinancing of Bridge Bonds

LANSING (AP)—The constitutional convention voted yesterday to include in its document an amendment that would allow the legislature to approve refinancing of some $100 million in Macchine Bridge revenue bonds and turn the operation of the structure over to the State Highway Department.

Delegates adopted the amendment after Clarence Delli, 44, St. Ignace, declared that the refinancing could lower interest rates and save as much as $1 million a year.

D. Hale Brake, R-Stanton, supported the provision but said that how much was saved depended on the bond market at the time.

Under the amendment, the legislature would be authorized, by two-thirds vote in each chamber, to issue state bonds to replace the present bridge revenue bonds.

The Machine Bridge Authority Act would be replaced and the operation of the bridge assumed by the State Highway Department, which now is handling maintenance.

80 American Heroes Flew From Out of Nowhere

2 Decades Can't Wipe Out Memory of Doolittle Raid

By BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — Twenty years (and countless words of documentation) later, the Doolittle raid on Tokyo and four other Japanese cities still is hard to believe. It is something out of an ancient epic.

Japan, on the morning of April 18, 1942, was just about as remote as is the moon, at this juncture of the voyaging into space. Pearl Harbor still smoked.

MacArthur had escaped from Corregidor and Wainwright was nearing the day when he must surrender.

Strogholms with names like "Truck" struck us all as absolutely unfathomable and unattainable.

As for the Japanese mainland, well, we'd have to rebuild the fleet and inch toward it for years to come, before we could throw a punch that would even partly make up for the fust blow of Dec. 7 of the year before.

Then, out of nowhere, 80 Americans in 16 B2s launched that punch from a least probable place—the short, curving deck of the aircraft carrier Hornet, plunging 600 miles off the Japanese coast.

Forty-five of the 56 surviving members of the mission gather this weekend at the Del Mar Club, Santa Monica, Calif., to relive the adventure that changed the course of World War II, and relish a story that never ceases to draw fresh details.

You'll perhaps recall that Vice Adm. Bill Halsey, whose flag was on the Enterprise, the other and protective carrier involved in the plucky task force, hoped to move to within 400 miles of the enemy coast before launch.

RADAR CONTACTS
Col. Jack A. Sims, one of the raiders who is chairman of the present reunion and USAF liaison officer at the House of Representatives, throws light on that aspect of the raid in "The Air Power Historian," organ of the Air Force Historical Foundation.

Three radar contacts were made early on the morning of the 18th, and it was decided, after the third, that the Navy had taken the Army bombers as far as it could. To have subjected the Hornet and Enterprise to hand-to-hand bomber attack would have been to risk two of the last hard-hitting ships in the carrier Navy.

The cruiser Nashville quickly sank the Japanese patrol vessel which had caused the third radar blip, but there was a general fear that it had radioed a warning to homeland defenses.

After the war, it was learned that the ship did send out the startling news but had asked for confirmation as to whether the message was received.

Five minutes later when Tokyo Radio continued receipt and asked for details, there was no reply. The ship was sunk. Therefore, the warning was ignored, until bombs began to drop on the sacrosanct cities.

Col. Sims reveals another snafu that had a definite bearing on the loss of all the planes, 15 of them on the coast of China, hours after the bombings:

CRASHED ON WAY

"Chungking did learn of the coming bombers but the airplane dispatched to the preplanned fields in the Chuchow area crashed en route, killing all aboard.

"As a result of this, no radio-homing facilities were provided in the Chuchow area, nor were light beacons or landing flares provided. When the bombers were heard over the China coast, an air raid warning alarm was sounded and all lights were turned off.

This, together with the very unfavorable flying weather over the mountainous China coast, made a safe landing destination impossible.

Yet, incredibly, only three of the 80 were killed outright or drowned in the mass ditchings and bailouts. Three were put to death by Japanese or Chinese puppet captors, and one died in prison.

The remainder of World War II and subsequent years of peace have taken their toll, but not in the case of spirit and dedication. It's a great bunch, headed by a great man, and the nation will never cease to feel a sense of admiring gratitude for what they did at one of the darkest hours in the 80 were killed outright or

Pontiac Transit Reports New Record in Customers

Pontiac Transit Corp. had more patrons in March than in any other month since starting operations here in June 1959.

Buses carried 88,508 passengers last month, almost 9,000 more than the previous record high for a month, said Neel B. Pilson, general manager.

Legislature OKs Bill on Humane Slaughter

LANSING — After four years of legislative battles, a humane slaughter bill modeled after federal standards cleared the legislature yesterday.

By a 69-22 vote, the House accepted Senate amendments to the bill and routed it to Gov. G. W. K. for signing.

The measure confirms with federal standards adopted in 1958 for livestock slaughtered for interstate shipment. The new law would extend the regulations to slaughterhouses with local or state outlets only.

The measure requires livestock to be slaughtered by chemical, electrical or mechanical means only. Hammers, sledges or pole-axes are specifically forbidden.

Livestock slaughtered in conformance with religious beliefs would be exempt.

The previous high was 79,824 in January.

For comparison, total patronage in February was 75,188 and in March 1961 it was 75,988.

"This was the first time we've cracked the 80,000 mark," Pilson said.

"Patronage figures for the first three months of 1962 and particularly March indicated an excellent economic climate."

In carrying the record number of passengers buses drove 41,963 miles and used 7,171 gallons of gas.

Rec Dept. Art Show Slated at City Hall

High Court Treads Water on Bible Ruling

(Editor's Note — The Supreme Court has made clear that public schools must not engage in sectarian religious instruction. But it never has made clear whether this includes Bible reading and prayers.)

By LOUIS CASSELL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court is being pressed for a clear-cut ruling on a constitutional question which it has left unsettled for 170 years.

BIBLE READING?

Does the religious freedom clause of the first amendment forbid prayer and Bible reading in public schools?

If the high court grasps this nettle — which it has refused in the past to do — its ruling could touch off the greatest controversy since the desegregation decision of 1954.

Millions of Americans harbor strong feelings on the subject of religion and its place in the public school program. Some contend that any religious exercise in a tax-supported school violates the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

Others assert that it would be a tragic repudiation of America's heritage to ban the name of God from the classrooms in which most of the nation's children are educated.

The Supreme Court has made clear in the past — most forcibly in the McCollum case of 1948 — that public schools may not engage in sectarian religious instruction, nor even permit such instruction to be given on their premises.

NO RULING

But it has never made a definite ruling on whether Bible reading and prayers fall within the forbidden area.

State laws and state court decisions are sharply divided on the question. Daily Bible reading, required by law in the public schools of 12 states, is authorized, at the option of the local school administration, in 24 others.

Eleven states prohibit Bible reading in public schools as unconstitutional. The remaining three have no specific law or judicial policy on the matter.

In 1951 and again in 1962, the U. S. Supreme Court refused, for procedural reasons, to take jurisdiction of cases challenging the constitutionality of religious exercises in public schools.

In 1959, a three-judge federal court in Philadelphia held unconstitutional a Pennsylvania law requiring that 10 Bible verses be read without comment at the opening of each day's activities in every public school classroom.

This decision was appealed to the Supreme Court. But before it acted, the Pennsylvania legislature amended the law to provide that any pupil might be excused from participation in the religious exercise at the request of his parents.

The Supreme Court in 1960 sent the case back to the Philadelphia court for a rehearing in the light of the changed law. Early this year, the lower court held that the amendment making participation voluntary did not alter the constitutional situation.

The purpose of the Bible reading was clearly "the promotion of religiousness." It said, and public schools had no business doing that.

This case is now returning to the Supreme Court on appeal. Meanwhile, the high court has heard arguments on another case which raises the question of whether public schools may even acknowledge the existence of God.

REGENTS' PRAYER

This case grew out of a challenge to the so-called "Regents' prayer" used in New York state schools. The 22-word prayer was carefully composed to be as non-sectarian as possible, it says:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon thee, and we beg thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Participation in the prayer voluntary and any child may be excused on request.

In the arguments which the court heard earlier this month, representatives of leading Jewish organizations contended that "the first amendment draws no distinction between 'sectarian' religion, but bars 'all' between 'sectarian' and 'non-religious practices in public schools."

The Jewish groups also said that religious exercises in public schools discriminate unfairly against children of minority faiths, including unbelievers, who do not wish to be singled out as "different" by refusing to participate.

And they questioned whether any real spiritual good can be accomplished by "rote recitation" of a nonsectarian prayer "in an atmosphere devoid of religious spirit."

The attorneys general of 19 states urged the court to uphold the New York practice.

"If the voluntary recitation of this non-denominational prayer in public schools is unconstitutional," they said, "then it should logically follow that the public acknowledgment of any prayer to Almighty God must be banished from all governmental functions."

Asserting that the authors of the Constitution would be "profoundly shocked" to have such an interpretation placed on the first amendment, they pointed out that the pledge of allegiance to the flag describes America as a nation "under God"; the nation's coins bear the motto, "In God We

Earmarking Removed From Sales Taxes

LANSING 10—The constitutional convention decided, 85-55, yesterday to remove the earmarking of sales tax revenues for Michigan's schools.

The action was taken shortly after delegates voted to continue the dedication of gas and weight taxes for highway purposes.

Proponents of the provision removing the earmarking for schools pointed out that currently only about 45 per cent of the amount needed for education is now obtained from sales tax revenues, with the legislature making up the difference.

"We're going to have to trust the legislature to appropriate sufficient funds," said Alvin Bentley, R-Owosso, in supporting the removal of earmarking.

Strong Sentiments Show Up in Wires to JFK Over Steel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "You have my permission to step on the steel industry so hard they will never forget it," a citizen from St. Petersburg, Fla., wired President Kennedy.

But the President's battle against a $6 a ton steel price rise last week also drew this telegram from St. Louis, Mo.: "We don't need a Hitler in the White House."

The conflicting sentiments reflected the strong feelings on both sides in more than 2,000 telegrams sent to Kennedy since the U. S. Steel Corp. and other steel companies raised prices last week.

According to the White House, telegrams supporting the President have outnumbered those opposed by about five to two. Thousands of letters also have been flooding in, but there has been no announced count.

The telegrams have arrived in a government control of steel and other prices. Opponents accused the President of wafel government spending, socialism, and worse.

Several dozen of the pro-Kennedy letters were from local and regional steel union officials, with more from other union leaders.

Wires on both sides came from all over the nation, with a number of them attacking the United Steel Workers Union and its wage increases.

"Even though I am a Republican and a small steel shareholder, I salute your stand on the current steel price increases," said a woman from Columbus, Ohio.

On the other hand, several anti-Kennedy messages stressed that the senders owned no steel stock and were Democrats but nevertheless would vote against the President.

'Whizzer' White Wined

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Byron F. (Whizzer) White's recent appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court has touched off a flood of congratulatory messages and gifts of champagne to a San Diego man named Byron F. (Whizzer) White.

"We're both attorneys and we both played football," said the California lawyer. "When he was starting in football at the University of Colorado and became an All-American, I was playing for my high school in Kansas—so I got his nickname, 'Whizzer.'"

The San Diego White has been mistaken for the former deputy attorney general of the United States several times previously.

"Sometimes I go to Washington, D.C. on legal matters and this creates confusion," said White. "When I make appointments, the people think it is the other White coming to make an inspection."

"I really get the plush treatment," White said. "I haven't decided if I'll send the champagne to the other White," the 39-year-old Southern Californian said, "but I suppose it really does belong to him."

Burglary Suspect Will Be Arraigned

One of two men arrested at the scene of a grocery store burglary April 9 will be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday on a charge of breaking and entering.

James W. White, 30, 588 S. East Blvd., was bound over to the higher court Wednesday by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCullum. McCullum also fined White $15 for driving without a license.

Pontiac police, answering a burglar alarm April 9 at Law's Market, 200 Eastmore Blvd., stopped White as he was driving away from the front of the store.

Inside the market they found Nor C. Gamble, 25, 221 Rockwell St. Gamble is awaiting circuit court trial. White is free on $1,000 bond.

FORD'S SEATTLE-ITE—A model of the Ford Motor Co.'s latest experimental dream car, the Seattle-ite XXI, will be introduced tomorrow at the opening of the Seattle World Fair. The 1/4 scale model shown here has four landen-mounted front wheels, jalousie windows and an interior "travel programming computer" visible through the open door. It was created at Ford's Advanced Styling Studio.

At World Fair Tomorrow

To Show Ford Dream Car

A preview of the Ford Motor Co.'s latest experimental car—a model which features four steerable front wheels and a dashboard-mounted computer—will be afforded visitors at tomorrow's opening of the Seattle World Fair.

Named the Seattle-ite XXI, the model represents "an example of the kind of exploration that can lead to key breakthroughs in automotive styling and engineering," said Gene Bordinat, Ford vice president and director of styling.

As visualized by Ford stylists, the car would have a travel programming computer to replace conventional dashboard dials and switches. The computer would have a centrally located viewing screen where engine performance, road and weather conditions and other pertinent information would be projected.

A map which rolls with the progress of the car would show the driver his position. Estimated arrival time at a given destination would be automatically calculated and shown on the screen.

The four front-drive wheels, company officials say, would increase tracking, traction and braking efficiency. They also would allow interchanging of different sized power units, ranging from 60 horsepower for short-trip driving to 400 horsepower for turnpike travel.

A drill that uses a high-temperature nuclear reactor to melt its way through the earth's crust has been proposed.

Schools Chief Lauds Reform

County Superintendent
Cites District Change
Okayed by Senate

The superintendent of the Oakland County School District today hailed as a victory for education the passage in the State Senate of a bill providing for county school district reform.

Supt. William J. Emerson said the bill, which faces minor amendments by the House, "puts school things in a school place, and county things in a county place."

He referred to the separation of the county school districts' budget from that of county government. Beginning in 1963, such budget requests would be sent directly to the County Tax Allocation Board rather than being included in the overall county budget request.

The move would put the county districts on an equal footing with local school districts which make their requests for their millage share directly to the allocation board. To date the county school district budget must compete with other items contained in the county government's total budget.

Dr. Emerson also hailed an enabling clause in the bill which would allow county school districts to be renamed "intermediate" districts to cross county lines and merge with up to two other counties if the voters concur.

Emerson said the bill was the result of a study made in 1958 and backed by the superintendent of public instruction who also recommended the reforms.

Find Live Artillery Shell in Detroit Junkyard

DETROIT (AP)—A live 105 mm artillery shell was found in a scrap company's junkyard Thursday.

The shell, 15 inches long and weighing 30 pounds, was turned over by police to the Army Ordnance Disposal Unit at Fort Wayne.

Police said the shell was American-made and did not appear to have been dismantled. It had a delayed action fuse.

Giant Towers Reach to Sky for Narrows Bridge in NYC

NEW YORK (AP)—Giant twin towers are rising skyward from a man-made island at the entrance to New York Harbor.

Within a few months they will form the western tower of the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, a project long debated and marked by controversy.

When completed in 1965 the suspension span will be the world's longest. By then most people probably will account it a blessing.

It will link Staten Island, the southernmost of New York's five boroughs, with Brooklyn—one of the two situated on Long Island.

It also will provide a fast and easy route south and west from New York, via the present bridge from Staten Island to New Jersey.

Furthermore, as an engineer remarked:

"It is going to be the first great sight of New York, rather than the Statue of Liberty, for people coming to the United States for the first time by ship. It will be there to greet them ahead of the Statue."

That's because the bridge spans the historic Narrows, through which the world's ships pass as they enter New York Harbor. The statue is inside the harbor, on an island off the southern tip of Manhattan.

The western tower now is up part the 20-story level. When completed it will be nearly 70 stories—almost as high as the RCA Building in Rockefeller Center. Construction was begun a few days ago on the eastern tower, off the Brooklyn shore.

John W. Kinney, the engineer in charge of construction, stood on a platform at the 20-story mark as a huge new section of steel was being hoisted to the top.

"We're right on schedule. We haven't had any real snags since we started work in January 1960," Kinney said.

"We lost a lot of time because of weather the first winter but the past one was so mild we more than made up for it."

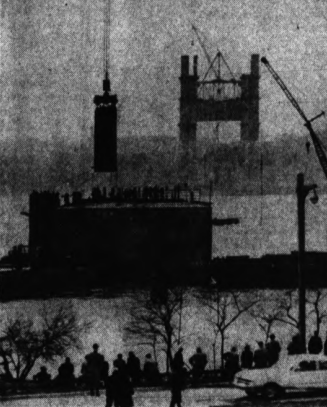

"Our work goes on," said Jim Bowers, chief steel inspector, "even when the temperature drops to zero or below. If it gets really cold the fellows will take a few minutes off every now and then to warm up."

"The wind is the main thing. If it gets up to about 25 miles an hour we have to knock off."

Between the two towers will hang the longest suspension span ever built by man. This section will be 4,260 feet long, or 60 feet more than the previous titleholder, the main span of San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge.

The roadway, divided into two levels of six lanes each, will be held up by four cables. Each cable will be a yard in diameter and made up of pencil-sized wires of the strongest steel ever devised.

If tied end to end those wires would reach almost to the moon.

SPAN SHAPES UP — Steel section for the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge near the entrance to New York Harbor dangled from cables as it was lowered into place last week to become the first steel section erected on the Brooklyn side of the span which will link New York's boroughs of Brooklyn and Staten Island. The bridge will cost about $325 million.

Arraigned Again on Charges in Hit-Run Death

Peter Michalec, 39, was arraigned for the second time Wednesday in Waterford Township on charges stemming from a fatal hit-run accident March 16. He stood mute and is free on bond pending a preliminary examination May 1.

Charges of manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident were dismissed by Waterford Township Justice John E. McGrath due to insufficient evidence following an examination two weeks ago. State Police however, requested that second warrants be issued.

Bond of $500 on each count, the same set at the first arraignment March 19, was established again by McGrath.

Michalec, a resident of Wyandotte, appeared with his attorney at the Pontiac State Police Post March 19. The attorney told police he believed his client's 1960 Buick might have been involved in the accident.

The hit-run victim, Howard Donker, 53, of 4195 Solway St., Waterford Township, died less than an hour after he was struck on Dixie Highway near Silver Lake Road.

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth will deliver the principal address at the launching of the Lafayette — the Navy's largest Polaris missile firing submarine — May 8 at the General Dynamics Electric Boat shipyard.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the President, will highlight the ceremonies when she christens the 625-foot, 7,000-ton Lafayette, named for the French hero of the American Revolution.

Lawsuit Filed on Detroit Tax

Lowyar Holds Cavanagh by Asking Temporary Injunction

DETROIT (P) — The first legal attempt to stop Detroit from creating a city income tax was made yesterday — even as a public hearing to air the pros and cons of such a tax was in progress.

Some 500 persons attended the public hearing in the city-county building and the majority of those who spoke were opposed to the tax plan proposed by Detroit's Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

A lawsuit to stop the income tax was filed in Wayne County Circuit Court by Thomas L. Polndexter, a Detroit attorney, who said he sat through a portion of the public hearing and decided Cavanagh and his aides were attempting to "steam-roll" the tax into existence.

The attorney said he returned to his office, picked up the legal papers he had previously prepared, and filed them at the county clerk's office — thereby becoming the first legal challenger to the tax plan.

SURPRISES DETROIT

Although surprised by the swiftness of the first legal action, Detroit officials said they expected it.

Cavanagh said he has anticipated a number of anti-income tax lawsuits but added that he believes the city's legal position to be "totally sound."

Polndexter's petition asks a temporary injunction to restrain the mayor and Council President Ed Carey from allowing an income tax plan to pass. Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan scheduled a hearing on the request for next Monday.

Polndexter said his suit charges that the city has no specific permission under state law to levy an income tax, has no right to tax income earned outside the city, and would violate the state Home Rule Act by raising tax bills above the 3 percent of assessed valuation maximum.

The City Council is slated to vote on an ordinance to create the income tax next Tuesday, despite passage in the legislature this week of the so-called Bowman bill which would prevent cities from taxing the incomes of nonresidents.

Detroit seeks to tax not only its own residents but the suburban dwellers who work in the city. Polndexter's suit would bar taxing of income earned by Detroit residents outside the city.

Hitler's Birthday Only Bad, Dark, Black Memory

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — West Germany today ignored the 73rd anniversary of the birth of Adolf Hitler, the Austria-born World War I corporal whose ambitions triggered the biggest war in history and brought death and ruin throughout Europe.

Hitler, whose "thousand year Reich" crumbled in less than 12 years, reportedly shot himself to death in his underground stronghold in the flaming ruins of Berlin as Allied troops pushed into the capital of Nazi Germany on April 30, 1945. His body reportedly was burned.

To most older Germans, the reign of the "Fuehrer" remains a bad memory. To the younger Germans, it is a dark period in Germany's history.

There was no public mention of the anniversary — a far cry from the idolatrous birthday celebrations during his heyday.

TURBO-CHARGED BEAUTY—The new Jetfire sports coupe which will be produced on a limited basis by the Oldsmobile Motor Division combines a turbo-charger with an aluminum V8 high compression engine under the hood. Exterior refinements as shown in this view of the new sports car include pillarless construction, dual windshields on the hood and wide aluminum bands along each side of the car.

Oldsmobile's Jetfire

New Sports Coupe Introduced

The Oldsmobile Motor Division's new Jetfire sports coupe, a high compression automobile now in limited production, was introduced to the public today at the International Automobile Show in New York.

The car has a compression ratio of 10.25 to 1. It is equipped with engines by gears, chains or belts which require engine power to run them.

The speedy new addition to the Oldsmobile line features a "turbo-charged aluminum V8 ultrahigh compression engine" capable of developing one horsepower for each cubic inch of its 215 cubic inches of displacement, according to company spokesmen.

Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and General Motors Corp. vice president, said the Jetfire will be available soon on a limited basis at dealerships throughout the nation.

"The Turbo-Rocket engine powering the Jetfire," Wolfram explained, "is like no other turbo-charged engine in the industry. An Oldsmobile first, the Turbo-Rocket combines supercharging with ultrahigh compression for outstanding performance without the loss of operating economy."

"The key to this," Wolfram noted, "has been the development of a system whereby a specially formulated fluid is injected into the engine. This fluid controls combustion by keeping a more uniform burning rate during combustion in each cylinder."

The turbocharger unit is mounted atop the engine. Its major components are a turbine wheel, compressor fan and a horizontal-type carburetor.

Exhaust gases drive the turbine wheel which turns the compressor fan up to 90,000 revolutions per minute at maximum speed. Nor-

Ransom to Help Needy -- Castro

'Funds for Captives in Invasion to Buy Food for Youth, Medicine'

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro said Thursday night ransom paid for the 1,179 prisoners of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion will be spent on medicine, surgical materials and the ransom for producing food for children.

Castro once more described the $2-million price tag put on the Cuban captives as indemnification. He said it must be paid to compensate Cuba for material damage caused by the invasion.

The Castro regime so far has released 60 wounded and ailing survivors on a promise by a committee of prisoners' families to pay an estimated $2.5-million for them.

In addition, a former vice president of Cuba, Guillermo Alonzo Pujol, announced Thursday he has deposited $100,000 with a Canadian bank to meet the price set by the government for release of his son, Jorge Alonzo Pujol.

Castro referred to the ransom in a 24-hour review of the April 17, 1961 invasion. His speech at Havana's Chaplin Theater ended a three-day national celebration of the first anniversary of the abortive invasion.

"The invaders have to return, not with the words of Julius Caesar, 'I came, I saw, I conquered,' but 'I came, I saw, they beat us,'" said Castro.

Speaking in relatively moderate tones, Castro charged that U.S. aircraft carriers swung near Cuba's shores and more than once sent planes over Cuban beaches in support of the rebel landing in southern Las Villas Province.

The U.S. planes on several occasions fired on Cuban troops, he asserted. He said the invaders were supported by "a Yankee squadron that had numerous perfectly supplied bombers."

Pontiac to Show Nine Models

The Pontiac Motor Division will display seven production models and two specially designed experimental cars at the International Auto Show which opens tomorrow in New York.

Among the production cars will be the new Pontiac Grand Prix and the Tempest LeMans convertible. The low slung Monte Carlo and a Bonneville Grand Marquis are the experimental models.

The 1962 Vauxhall Victor super sedan and station wagon also will be shown. The Vauxhall, built in Britain by General Motors, is sold in this country by Pontiac dealers.

Powered by a 32-horsepower aluminum four-cylinder engine, the Vauxhall this year has been restyled inside and out.

Other cars in the Pontiac display are a standard Bonneville convertible, a Catalina convertible and a LeMans sports coupe. The auto show will continue until April 29.

To Allow Extra Rent

DETROIT (P) — Public housing rent for welfare recipients will be increased from $3 a month for one bedroom unit to $6 a month for larger dwellings. It was announced today.

GM'S BRITISH ENTRY — The completely redesigned Vauxhall Victor four-door sedan shown here will be exhibited with a Vauxhall station wagon at the Pontiac Motor Division display at the International Auto Show.

IN PONTIAC DISPLAY — One of seven production cars to be shown by Pontiac Motor Division at the International Auto Show is this sport white Tempest LeMans convertible, a new addition to the division's series of family-size cars.

"We Keep Ronnie's Room 12 Degrees Warmer Than Ours!"

"With electric heat, we don't have to worry about keeping Ronnie covered at night," says Mrs. Raglin. "All we have to do is turn up the thermostat in his room. When we built our home three years ago, we put in all the latest ideas and features to make sure it would stay modern. At that time, electric heat was the most modern way to heat—and, as far as I'm concerned, it still is and will be for a long time. Flameless electric heat gives us clean, quiet, even heat without odors or costly upkeep."

Get After Tree Enemies
at First Sign of Pests

Once leaves have opened, two of spring's hungriest pests get into the destructive act. The caterpillar and tent caterpillars hatch from winter eggs and begin chomping. Attack with DDT, and don't wait until you spot their nests, which will resemble a silky mat on the trunk or branch of a tree.

Eastern tent caterpillars relish wild cherry and apple trees, but if this isn't on the menu you provide, they'll feed on plum, peach, pear, roses, hawthorn and wood-

Transplant Tree
Into Large Hole

There's a science to digging a hole — if it is to contain a tree! Many homeowners handle the barbecue pit more adeptly than the planting pit. They just dig and plant and hope for the best. Davey tree experts frown on this practice. They advise plant-it-yourself enthusiasts to be more exacting if they want their transplants to prosper.

Moving is a shock that can be cushioned for most young trees. Here are the rules Davey experts say should be followed by the amateur spade brigade:

1. Dig a hole considerably wider than the roots and 18 inches or more deep, so that roots can be spread out naturally.
2. If the hole isn't well drained (heavy and soggy soil), drain tile should be run from the bottom of the hole to a drainage point.
3. Note the earth line on the trunk and plant the tree so that it will grow at approximately the same depth.
4. Cut off all broken or injured roots, but preserve the fibrous kind.
5. Fill the hole up to the lower root level with soil mixed with granulated peat moss. Sandy and clay soils need about 25 per cent mixture; heavy clays even more.
6. Fill in three-quarters of the hole with the earth-peat moss mixture and pour in water to help settle it. Complete the fill-in when the water settles making sure the topsoil is loose.
7. Mulch to a depth of two to four inches with peat moss mixed with a little topsoil and attach guy wires to the tree for support.

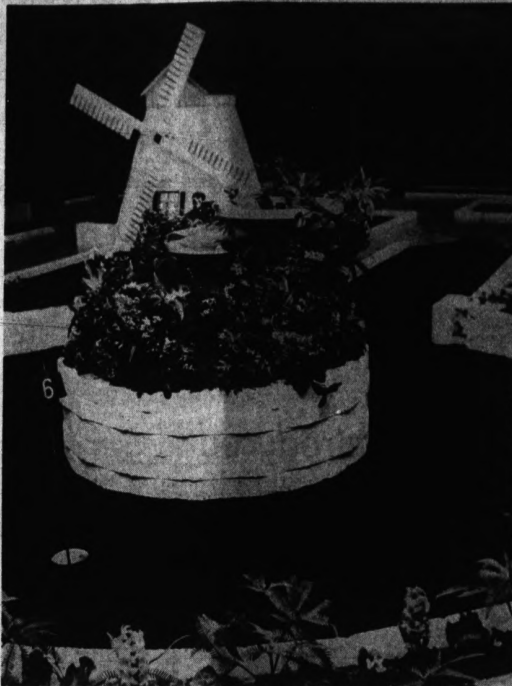

Friendly Insects

Some insects are friendly to trees. The lady beetle feeds on aphids. Wasps, hornets, ichneumon flies, tiger beetles, ground beetles and some other small insects pierce the bodies of unfriendly insects and lay eggs inside. There the eggs hatch and the babies eat their hosts.

Let's Talk English!

Botanically the snapdragon is a member of the large and beautiful figwort family, the Scrophulariaceae. The genus name for the snapdragon is Antirrhinum, meaning nose-like because it was thought the blossoms somewhat resembled noses. Today's cultivated snapdragon is Antirrhinum majus.

Farm and Garden News

FOUNTAIN PLANTER — Here is an idea for indoors or out. Marty Jensen, owner of Mar-Tees Indoor Golf Range in Union Lake Village, made this planter for the middle of the range. The outside is made of bricks cemented together and painted white. An electric fountain occupies the center of the planter. Clinkers from the stoker at Four Towns School fill in around the fountain with permanent plants adding color. No reason why this couldn't be done with living plants.

Have a Potting Shed

Even a modest potting shed need not be unattractive, no matter where it is tucked away in the garden. You can extend the roof of the shed into a trellis type roof and then build shelves large enough for potted plants along the shed wall. Douglas fir or western red cedar are ideal materials for this shed.

Extravagant Claims Need
Checking With Experts

GARDENERS, ATTENTION!!!

Do not be misled during the spring gardening rush by photographs or verbal pictures of climbing vine peaches, stunted peach trees referred to as flowering almond, giant climbing strawberries, or like exaggerations. The files of my Consumer Protection Division and of the Michigan Department of Agriculture indicate that large numbers of complaints are received every spring from disappointed buyers of nursery stock.

In certain instances, Michigan residents have been overpersuaded by high pressure salesmen who have fancy names for ordinary shrubs and plants or have made exaggerated claims — either verbally or by flashy advertisements. In a few instances misrepresentation or other illegal activity has occurred, but in the main the state agencies have found that the disappointed buyer has received what he is legally entitled to, even though what he received is not what the salesman led him to believe he was getting.

I have directed the Consumer Protection Division to work closely with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and established nurserymen, such as the Michigan Association of Nurserymen, to develop maximum protection to the Michigan public in this area.

Pink Rose Wins in 1962

In a test by 10,000 home gardeners, a big, fragrant pink rose named South Sea has been chosen 1962 Rose of the Year at Jackson and Perkins nursery. This rose plant grows three to four feet tall and produces blooms up to seven and a half inches across. The flower has a lustrous quality and is high centered. Hybridist Denison Morey says his new rose is vigorous and tolerant of extreme temperatures.

Grower Would Like to Give Flowers

A flower center in every city! That is the suggestion of L. E. Nichols, a Chilliocthe, Mo., nurseryman.

The flower centers would be used to grow large quantities of flowers in their season, for distribution free to the sick, to shut-ins, churches, hospitals, nursing homes and even to jails.

As a starter, Nichols, a member of the American Nursery Society, proposes to donate 14 acres of land in Chilliocthe (under certain conditions of occupancy) for use during his lifetime. This area already has eight acres of peonies planted on it and thousands of narcissus, tulips, hyacinths, iris, day lilies and other flowers.

All Plantings Must Add Up to Unified Landscaping

You can't plant a shrub here and a tree there without an idea behind each and call it a good landscaping job.

"Work toward a unified landscape. Objects without a purpose are without a place!" a specialist in landscape architecture told couples in Michigan State University's House Remodeling Workshop recently.

"Too many unrelated plants are worse than not enough plants," said Joseph T. Cox, a member of MSU's urban planning and landscape architecture department. "Challenge each new idea. If it's useful, it can be attractive."

In discussing ways of modernizing the appearance of a house, Mr. Cox said owners of established homes must maintain and improve what they already have.

He pointed out that doorways, drives and walks should fit into a total pattern. Walks, for example, can be made to follow alongside the driveway and then curve away from it and lead to the front door. This kind of planning creates unity between the doorway, the driveway and the walk.

GRASS FIRST
The specialist also said that the color of the grass can be considered the primary color in a landscape. The "common denominator," or main planting in addition to the grass, becomes the secondary color.

"It's as important to know where not to plant as where to plant," he said. "Avoiding that draws attention away from the main features of the property bears scrutiny as to its value. Preserve valuable existing features by designing the landscape around them."

The trend today, he indicated, is to put in fewer varieties of plants but to plant larger amounts of a variety.

"This gives the eye more than a fleeting glance," he said.

He also told the couples to keep their landscapes simple. Simple landscapes are easier to maintain.

The season was the closing meeting in the first home remodeling workshop offered by the MSU extension service. "Similar workshops" may be offered by county offices throughout the state at a later date.

Gardener Can Grow Annuals, Perennials

Many beginning gardeners confine their efforts to the growing of annuals. The main reason for this is that results are quicker. Many annuals do not continue to bloom throughout the season, and in any event they must be replanted each spring. Perennials, on the contrary, remain year after year. They lend height, variety of form and color, and a certain air of stability to the garden which annuals alone can never bring.

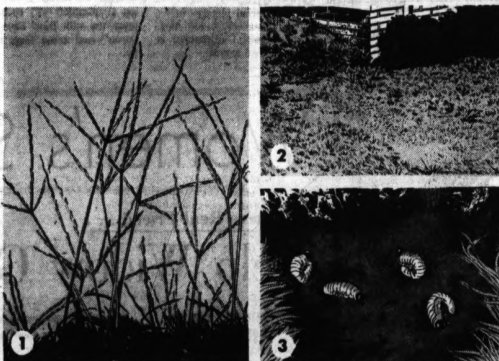

As formerly grown, perennials were best planted either very early in the spring or not until autumn. This was because they were dug and shipped as dormant or semi-dormant roots. With the advent of peat pots many types of young perennials, in active growth, can be shipped, handled and planted like annuals.

This is especially helpful to the amateur with limited facilities who wishes to grow his own plants.

from seed. After starting the animals he requires, he can follow up with an assortment of perennials with the assurance that he can transfer them, whenever they are ready, to his flower beds or borders without fear of losing them.

Virus Can Infect Soil

If all trees, shrubs and plants in an area are dying, it is possible that a virus has infected the soil. Have the soil checked carefully, because new plants put into the ground there also will die.

While vacationing recently in Miami, Mr. and Mrs. Ericson Lewis of Chippewa Road were joined by their son Robert who arrived by plane from Harvard University for his spring vacation.

A son, Todd Alan, was born to the Welland Lotans (Betty Johnson) of Voorhees Road, April 10, in Pontiac General Hospital. The Axel Johnsons of Voorhees Road and the William Lotans of Lounsbury Street are the baby's grandparents.

The Lucky 13 Birthday Club honored Mrs. Ralph Deem Jr. at the home of Mrs. Anderson Bee on Stirling Street. Mrs. Marion Chandler's Easter hat made at the meeting was voted the most attractive.

Mrs. William Daugherty of Prospect Street will entertain the group later in the month.

Announcing the birth of a second son, John Adam, April 13 in Pontiac General Hospital, are Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Rummel (Dee Brim) of Rochester.

Grandparents of the baby are the Melvin L. Brims of Lake-side Street, Waterford Township, and the Martin F. Rummels of Birmingham.

Out-of-town guests at the marriage of Janice Sue Huff to Robert L. Mosher, Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church included the bride's grandparents, the Clarence Johnsons, and cousin, Mrs. F. R. Clark and daughter Debbie, the LaVern Trumps and Mrs. Cleo Thomson, all of Hymers, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. David Donaldson (Marion Fleming) of Mason are parents of a daughter Meg born April 12 in St. Lawrence Hospital, Lansing.

The baby's grandparents are the Ray Flemings of Cottage Street and Mrs. James Donaldson of Royal Oak.

Former Pontiac resident, Mrs. Flora Brackett of North East, Pa. is here on an extended visit with her niece, Mrs. Peter Hudson of Foster Street. She will join her son, Robert J. Crebassa in Royal Oak for the Easter weekend.

The Chester Jaruzels of Beach Street honored his mother, Mrs. Martha Jaruzel of Gaylord Sunday at a surprise party on her birthday.

Joining the group were her sons Stanley, Peter, Clebert and Mitchell and their respective spouses, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hughes, also Mrs. Alex Krapelin, and 25 grandchildren.

Mrs. George F. Grogan has returned to her home on South Shirley Avenue after being in Detroit for two weeks.

Former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Reynolds and son William, now of Lancaster, Ohio, accompanied his brother and sister-in-law, the Charles W. Reynolds of Snelbrook Road on their recent Florida vacation.

Mr. Reynolds attended an insurance leader's convention at the Hollywood Beach Hotel, Hollywood-by-the-Sea.

At Lake Wales, the group visited Florida's Great Masterpiece, the 300,000-piece mosaic of Da Vinci's "Lord's Last Supper."

Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Probert (Sandra Coopes) of Whitfield Court, Waterford, announce the birth of a son, James Carl, April 14, in Pontiac General Hospital.

The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Collins, Birmingham and the John Moyers, Williamstown, Pa.

At Country Day School

Old-Fashioned Fair

An old-fashioned country store, complete with cracker barrel and pickle crock, will transform Detroit Country Day School's auditorium for its annual indoor-outdoor fair and carnival.

News Notes on Area Students

A Wayne State University senior from Pontiac is among 62 college science students chosen to participate in Columbia University's first Summer Institute in Space Physics.

Ronald A. Andrews of East Montclair Street, WSU physics major, will attend the institute following his graduation. The session will run from July 2 to Aug. 10.

The scholarship awarded Andrews will cover tuition, a weekly subsistence allowance, travel to and from Columbia in New York City and field trips to research centers in Huntsville, Ala., and Greenbelt, Md., run by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Among the lecturers at the NASA installations will be Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center. According to Dr. Robert Jastrow, assistant professor of geology at Columbia and director of the institute, the students selected are extraordinarily talented. "It is striking that this new area of space research can attract such a large fraction of the best science students in the country," he explained.

The three-day event will be held on the school grounds. Homemade baked goods, flowers and white elephants, new and used sportswear and equipment will highlight indoor attractions. Outdoor entertainment will again provide the ever popular Happyland Show.

A new feature on this year's program is an art show. Well-known local artists will be invited to exhibit their paintings. A display of objects of art brought in by committee members will also be on hand.

Helicopter rides for both young and old are an added attraction this year too. Strolling artists, a patio and outdoor barbeque complete the festive scene. Detroit Country Day's Yellow Jacket Quartet will serenade.

The Fair and Carnival will run from 1 to 11 p.m. on May 25; 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., May 26; and 1 to 9 p.m., May 27. Project coordinator is Mrs. James Tenney of Woodcreek. Proceeds from the fair and carnival will go toward establishing a scholarship fund.

Alma Alumni to Mark Event

Alma College alumni will observe the school's 75th anniversary during a meeting at Devon Gables at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Dr. Robert D. Swanson, president of the school, will address 200 Detroit area alumni at the anniversary event. Maurice F. Cole, Oakland County Circuit Court Commissioner, will serve as master of ceremonies of the banquet. Mr. Cole is a graduate of Alma College, a member of the college board of trustees and chairman of the trustees' 75th anniversary committee.

What Did We Forget?

Mrs. Alfred Spengeman, president of the Green Lake Women's Club, second from right, discusses plans for a country sale and auction May 2 at Green Lake Community Hall with officers of the Questers, an international antique study club. The Green Lake club is sponsoring the sale in cooperation with the

Queen to Mark Birthday

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth celebrates her 36th birthday tomorrow surrounded by the family she wishes were just a little bigger, say, one more daughter.

Behind the great, gray battlements of Windsor Castle a small luncheon will mark what court circles say will be a particularly satisfying anniversary for the queen.

Her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, is back from his travels in South America — the queen watched her television with wily pride last night while he gave a 45-minute review of his journey to the nation.

Her son, Prince Charles, the 13-year-old heir of the throne, is spending the Easter holidays with her before the great adventure of entering his new school, rugged Gordonstoun in Scotland, next month.

He is growing rapidly and the queen is giving serious consideration to the timing of the biggest event of his life thus far — his formal presentation to the people of Wales, whose liege prince he is, amid the majestic ruins of Caernarvon Castle.

And all the other members of her own family circle are staying at Windsor — her daughter, Princess Anne, 11, her son, Prince Andrew, who is two; her mother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, and her sister and brother-in-law, Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon.

There will be no official national observation of the day although the British Broadcasting Corporation will open its programs with "God Save the Queen" and some flags may fly.

If You're Real Friend . . . Help Widow Get Escort

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: We have a dear friend, a woman around 50, whose husband passed away five years ago. She has made a good adjustment as far as her loss was concerned, but she still wants to be part of the gang of couples she and her husband were friendly with when he was alive.

We included her with the gang the first two or three years so she wouldn't be "alone," but how long is this supposed to go on?

Our husbands think it is time she realized she is a single woman and stopped being a fifth wheel. We like her and don't want to hurt her feelings, but how do we handle this awkward situation?

THE LUCKY ONES
DEAR LUCKY: Your friend realizes only too well that she is a single woman, a fifth wheel, etc. But she accepts your invitations because she thinks you really want her company.

No widow wants to be "included" out of pity. In fact, most of them politely decline, not wanting to intrude, but are begged to go along.

A woman alone cannot easily hunt herself up an escort without being forward. If you are REAL friends, get her an escort to balance the party.

DEAR ABBY: My 11-year-old daughter has been asking me questions about the facts of life. I have been avoiding answering her. Recently I overheard her asking a neighbor woman some of these same questions. I would like my daughter to know these things, but I don't know how much (or even how) to tell her. Can you help me, or should I wait until she is older?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: DON'T WAIT. If you don't know how (or how much) to tell her, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I will recommend some excellent books (available at your public library) on this subject.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper to have a bridal shower and a big wedding with a reception where people dance and whoop it up for days just after there has been a death in the family, even though the deceased was only an infant? My daughter lost her child.

That same week her in-laws went right on with their plans and had the above-mentioned celebrations. Perhaps I am

Some of these relatives I hardly see and care little about. Would it be proper to eliminate these relatives and invite our friends instead?

Q: If these relatives you seldom see and care little about are distant ones, you may properly invite intimate friends in their stead.

Q: I have just recently become engaged and intend to be married this fall. I have many of my fiancé's mother's several times. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to send her some flowers on Mother's Day?

A: It will be best to send her flowers on some other day, such as her birthday, and wait until you are actually her daughter-in-law before sending them on Mother's Day.

God to Hear Them --in Sign Language

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Their world is silent.

About 150 deaf persons, most of them also mute, will begin this evening a three-day Easter revival service at the First Baptist Church.

They will sing hymns noiselessly. They will listen to sermons without a word spoken.

The concluding event will be Sunday afternoon, when Gov. Bert Combs will make a brief speech.

His words will be interpreted in sign language by Mrs. Robert Brandon of Frankfort, who learned the process a few years ago when she vowed to bring more deaf people into the church fold.

The congregation, ranging in age from 16 to 70, will come from Louisville, Lexington, Frankfort, Georgetown and Danville.

WORLD OF PICTURES
"They live in a world of pictures," Mrs. Brandon said. "Each thing must be portrayed."

"They know what goes on. I have seen tears come into their eyes when they are invited to accept Christ."

The sermons will be preached by The Rev. Carter Bearden of the Southern Baptist Convention at Atlanta. He is a deaf mute.

Also participating will be The Rev. Herman Bowers, pastor of the local church, and Rex Purvis, minister to the deaf at Trinity Baptist Church in Lexington.

The song leader, Mrs. Alex Sams of Frankfort, a deaf mute, will give a solo in sign language.

She will lead the congregation in hymns by making signs, then waiting for members to duplicate her action.

"There is a certain rhythm in all this," Mrs. Brandon said. "Spoken words are not the only way to communicate."

Males Get in Huddle but Women Cause It

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A man who reads this column says he has a cure for the feminine complaint that when couples get together for an evening the men get off in a huddle by themselves instead of talking to the women.

"It's the women's own fault," he says flatly. "To lure the men into a general conversation all women have to do is:

"One. Talk about something besides their children — preferably politics, sports or world news. (This, of course, takes a little preparation, like reading the front page, the editorial page and the sports section of their newspapers, instead of just the women's section.)

"Two. Encourage the men to talk, instead of doing all the talking themselves. (This seems to come natural to women before marriage—but to seem quite unnecessary to married women.)

"Three. Keep their voices low and pleasant, instead of letting them grow shrill in order to drown each other out. (When women are so determined to have their say that they keep interrupting everybody else and talking louder and louder, men don't have a chance to get a word in edgewise."

That's not a very flattering picture the man paints, but maybe there's some truth in it.

Next time the men silently steal away and leave the women alone — try checking that list.

Were the women talking about children, clothes, or housekeeping problems when the men started moving away from the circle to huddle with each other?

Were the women doing all the talking when the men suddenly began to ease out of their chairs and head for the kitchen?

Or had what started out as a general conversation suddenly turned into a monologue by the women with the loudest voice when the men suddenly lost interest in the subject?

Married 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Sullivan of Eason Street celebrated their Silver Wedding Anniversary during a party at Waltz Hall Sunday.

Guests enjoyed refreshments and luncheon at the affair which was given by the couple's daughters and their daughters' husbands, the Larry Hollisters of Pontiac Lake Road and the Bud Hewitts of Eason Street.

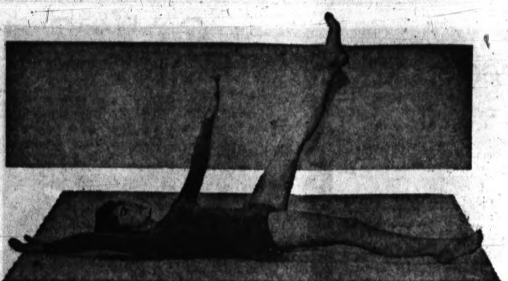

The Sullivans have three granddaughters.

Sisters Reveal Hush-Hush Pals

Secret pals were revealed at a luncheon meeting of the Pioneer Sisters Wednesday in Ted's Restaurant, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Louis G. Kath was re-elected president; Mrs. Richard Raber, vice president; Mrs. Emmett Miller, secretary and Mrs. Thomas Barrie, treasurer.

Devotions on the Easter theme were given by Mrs. Maurice Baldwin.

This exercise, touching hand to leg, will reduce your tummy but, like most of the others, should not be done right after eating as Mrs. Lowman points out to a reader in today's column.

The Question Box

When Should I Exercise?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "Please tell me when I should exercise in relation to mealtime?"

A. It is best to exercise before meals or three or four hours afterward.

Q. "How long does it take for exercises to increase the bust measurement?"

A. Of course this depends on how faithfully you do the exercises. It takes quite a while to build muscle. That is what you must do in order to increase the bust measurement — increase the size of the chest muscles. It takes several months.

Q. "I am 52 years old and weigh 168 pounds. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall. I would like to lose about 30 pounds. Would that be the right amount to lose?"

A. If you have a very small build, 30 pounds would be about right. If you have a medium build, you need to lose only 15 pounds or a bit more.

Q. "I am only 20 years old and have creases around my mouth and under my chin. I don't understand why this happened because I am not overweight."

A. It is hard for me to believe that you are not exaggerating these creases since you are so young. Perhaps they are just creases from laughing. If so, do not try to get rid of them. If you are very much underweight, this might be the cause. Or maybe you have mannerisms which cause the lines. You might massage a little oil or oily cream into the creases each night. So often women are extremely critical of the slightest little defects.

Q. "I am 18 years old and my bust measures 35 inches, waist 24½ and hips 33 inches. I am 5 feet, 2 inches tall and weigh 106 pounds. I am small boned. I am very self-conscious about the size of my bust. I will be most grateful if you will tell me how to reduce it."

A. Your weight is correct. For a perfect figure the bust and hips should be the same measurement. However, judging by some movie stars, I do not think you have to worry about having a bust which is two inches larger than your hips. Actually, don't worry about it! You have no idea how many women would like to have a bust that size, and it is not really out of proportion.

Missionary Society Discusses Easter

Ladies' Missionary Society of First Church of God met at the home of Mrs. E. D. Johnson of East Boulevard recently for a business meeting and Easter talk.

Mrs. Herman Chambers led devotions and used the cross at Easter as the theme of her talk. Refreshments were served after Mrs. Johnson adjourned the meeting.

Syracuse St. Vincent de Paul's Church. He has been playing the organ since he was five.

Red Cross Asks Nurses to Help Plan

Professional nurses in this vicinity are urged to meet next week to assist the American Red Cross in deciding which areas of nursing services should be concentrated, particularly in establishing disaster programs for the communities within Oakland County.

For convenience of the registered nurses one meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Orchard Lake Community Church, the Commerce Road and another at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in room 301 of Walpole Lake Junior High School. Registered nurses may attend either meeting.

At both meetings, Marjorie Gault, R.N., director of nursing services for the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, will relate how demands for nursing services vary with each community, and how the many continuing and new nursing programs in the Red Cross can be fitted into these community needs.

With a complete over-all picture of possible services in mind, the professional nurses will be asked to share their experiences in deciding which programs can be concentrated upon to best serve these communities.

Group action in planning the meetings and enlisting attendance by all registered nurses was taken last week by the following registered nurses: Mrs. John Ashby, North Elder Road, and Mrs. Arnold Thomas, Honeyuckle Road, both of Orchard Lake; Mrs. Charles Palmer, Little Trail Road, Mrs. John Flannery, Wellsboro Street, Mrs. Bernard Nelson, West Wing Drive, and Mrs. Norman Bauck, Lodi Road, all of Walpole Lake.

Others were Mrs. Gerald McDougal, Richardson Road, and Betty Telford of Benstein Road, both of Milford.

More information concerning the meetings may be obtained by contacting Mrs. McDougal or Mrs. Ashby.

Creamy Gelatin Salad Is Filled with Nuts and Fruit

By JANET ODELL, Pontiac Press Home Editor

We told you some time ago that we had had 3 versions of a party salad using ice cream with gelatin. Here is number 2.

Mrs. Norman Raedeke of Clarkston is our cook. A young daughter keeps her busy at home. She enjoys playing bridge and meeting with neighborhood groups.

PARTY SALAD DESSERT
By Mrs. Norman Raedeke

1 package lime gelatin

- 1 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 cup hot water
 - 1 pint vanilla ice cream
 - 1 small can crushed pineapple, drained
 - 1 small jar maraschino cherries, drained
 - 1 cup nuts
- Mix together gelatin, sugar and hot water. Combine other ingredients and add to gelatin. Pour into a square cake pan. Chill until firm. Cut in squares and serve garnished with a whole maraschino cherry. Serves 9.

Mrs. Lewis Cheal will open her home on South Lapeer Road May 1 to members and their husbands for a school-girl luncheon and business meeting.

Guard Against Being Angry If Corrected

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Though the Greeks called her Artemis and the Romans named her Diana, she was a top goddess to both these ancient peoples.

One day, says the myth, she felt exhausted after prolonged hunting in the forest and resorted to her favorite pool for a refreshing bath.

Protected by its screen of pine and cypress trees, her maidens removed all her divine paraphernalia: her javelin, her quiver of arrows, her sandals, her Olympian robe.

When it was interrupted by a young hunter in pursuit of some quarry. He saw her naked, stripped of the glories of her goddesshood. So Diana destroyed him. She turned him into a stag, sent his dogs raving mad and had poor Acteon torn to pieces.

The myth was in mind as I read a reader's letter which said:

"My 12-year-old son has developed an embarrassing habit of correcting me in front of other people. I've spoken to him about it many times and asked him to wait until we were alone to criticize me. But he goes right on doing it."

Yesterday I was telling a neighbor that a woman we both know had kept me on the phone for an hour talking about her troubles when my youngster walked in and said, "You were talking on the phone for only 20 minutes."

"He said he had timed the call because he was waiting to call a friend about their homework. What punishment can you suggest that would break this habit?"

What punishes children for criticizing is the Diana in us.

If we are willing to be human beings instead of goddesses, we do not set our dogs on a child who has exposed our humanness. We say to the child who has rebuked our exaggeration, "You may be right. I may have talked 20 minutes to Mrs. Jones on the phone though it certainly seemed much longer to me." We do not find the possibility that we need correction embarrassing.

But if we have pretensions to divinity, then we will surely get upset when a child challenges it by exposing our faults before others.

Always, behind the resentment we feel at children's criticism is the goddess's claim to perfection.

Myths, some very wise and learned people tell us, are not merely charming fairy tales. In an ancient myth about Diana and the poor young hunter who presumed to see her stripped of her power to command worship, we are not being told a story about a goddess but one about ourselves — about that part of us which demands worship.

Like all myths, it uses symbolic language to tell us that we human beings want to destroy those who see us as we are without pretensions, because symbolic language is less ruthless and less honest than direct language. We can make of it what we are able to make of it.

The reason that myths survive is that they express truths about human beings which are timeless, undying and universal.

Think about it. Who was angry that your child saw you as faulty, human and inglorious? You — or the goddess in you?

9-Year-Old Organist at Easter Rite

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (CP) — A 9-year-old boy, who finds baseball as important as music in his life, will be the organ soloist at a Mass at his church Easter Sunday.

The boy, John Carver Sullivan, attired in a red cassock, will play two chorale preludes by Bach; "The Glory of the Magnificat" by Palestrina; the St. Bernard hymn, and "Concordia Lætitia" from the Gregorian chant.

His father, Don Sullivan, a bank clerk and church organist, says his son is as normal as the next boy in his interests.

"Next week when he's on vacation baseball probably will be the biggest thing in his life," the father said.

John first played the pipe organ at a Christmas Eve service when he was five.

"NOT UNUSUAL!" "We don't feel it's at all unusual," his father said. "He was brought up in a completely musical atmosphere."

Despite a musical atmosphere, John has ideas of his own about a career. His ambition is to run a candy store.

Club Meets to Fill 250 Easter Baskets

Fifteen members of Club 29 gathered at the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults on North Telegraph Road for the April meeting.

The hostess, Mrs. Ollie E. Fletcher, directed the filling of some 250 Easter baskets for Pontiac State Hospital. The next meeting will be May 8.

10-Minute Bravo Greets Casals' Oratorio

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pablo and his shushed and implored Casals stamped his feet at times the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra and University of California Chorus to greater efforts

Thursday night.

And at the end of the first performance of his oratorio, "El Pescebre" (The Manger) in this country under his own direction, the audience stood up to the last man and woman and cheered and clapped for the venerable cellist.

No one left San Francisco Opera House in 10 minutes until the ovation ended. The house, which seats 2,500 was packed.

Casals, 55, perched at times on the very edge of his high stool and worked every muscle in his body and his expressive face getting the performance he wanted.

It turned out to be a brilliant, strange and at times powerful portrayal of the Passion. However the instruments and chorus perhaps overweighed the voices of soloists Olga Iglesias, soprano; Nan Merriman, mezzo soprano; Paulino Saharres, tenor; Stanley Noonan, baritone, and Donald McDonald, bass.

TO GO ON TOUR

Casals will conduct the oratorio again Saturday afternoon. He intends to take it on tour of this country and later of the world as a message for peace.

It turned out to be a brilliant, strange and at times powerful portrayal of the Passion. However the instruments and chorus perhaps overweighed the voices of soloists Olga Iglesias, soprano; Nan Merriman, mezzo soprano; Paulino Saharres, tenor; Stanley Noonan, baritone, and Donald McDonald, bass.

Conducted the United States premiere

Wednesday night in the opera house here.

Casals took over as conductor Thursday night.

The lyrical nature of the music and its varied scope is typical of the collection of poems from which it is fashioned.

They were written by John Alavedra at the request of his 10-year-old daughter around the figures of a creche that contained not only the universally used kings, shepherds and animals associated with Christ's birthplace, but also a fisherman, a plowman and others.

The fisherman to the saintliest of phrasing in light opera time tells of fish whose tails are dancing and ends with a double edged message for the child "that I fish for fishes that he will give to the multitude of men."

SPINNER'S TALE

Typical Passion music illustrates the spinner's account of the now her cloth will be taken to the child bearing a cross.

The three kings from the East bring an oriental theme into the oratorio—music that tells of a world where water is scarce and magic is powerful.

The "Gloria" ending has a seraphic's clear note finally promising: "War shall disappear forever."

Shower Honors Bride-to-Be Sharon Tyrrell

Twenty-one guests gathered at the East Tennyson Avenue home of Mrs. Clark Waters Jr. on Sunday to honor Sharon Tyrrell, May 12 bride-elect of Henry Reinhardt.

Mrs. James Tyrrell of Whittemore Street and daughters Linda and Mary Lou attended the shower with Mrs. Henry J. Reinhardt of South Francis Street and Mrs. James Rash, mother and grandmother of the bridegroom-elect.

Others were Mrs. C. B. Brittain of Dearborn, Mrs. Jerome Imperial, Lincoln Park; Mrs. Morris McNitt, Rochester; Mrs. Richard Mazel, Southgate; Mrs. Dennis Martin, Waterford; Mrs. Richard Waters Jr., and Mrs. C. B. Waters of Milford, and Mrs. Tony Walters and Eileen Walters of Allen Park.

From Pontiac were Mrs. John Cooper, Mrs. John Engelman, Mrs. John Orr, Mrs. James Saunders, Mrs. Arthur Tadlock, Marlene Tadlock and Mrs. Royce White.

Entertains 3 Sorority Chapters

Beta Chapter of Beta Theta Psi Sorority was hostess to the Alpha, Gamma and Delta Chapters Tuesday evening in the club rooms of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland.

Fashions from the 20's and 30's, also present-day styles, highlighted the annual event when one group entertains the other three chapters. Mrs. Duane Hamilton commented on apparel coordinated by Mrs. Lewis Sullivan and modeled by Beta members Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mrs. Myler Trone, Mrs. Farelle Roberts, Mrs. George Zanolli, Mrs. Frank Osterhof, Mrs. Ida Mae Hill, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Donald White, Mrs. Norman Mack and Mrs. Norman Haldane.

Assisting Mrs. Hamilton, chairman, with arrangements were Mrs. Zanolli, reservations; Mrs. Ward Ross, decorations; Mrs. Ralph Bergemann, hospitality; Mrs. Walter Terry, music; Mrs. Kennedy, refreshments; Mrs. Lewis Sullivan and Mrs. Donald Kaiser, entertainment.

Presiding at the tea service were Judy Hamilton, president of the new Delta Chapter and Mrs. C. F. Denison, Alpha Chapter president.

Bethany Unit Holds '62-63 Installation

Women's Society of Bethany Baptist Church inaugurated the new year of service with the officers' installation ceremony in the church sanctuary Thursday.

Pastor Dr. Emil Kontz led the induction and Mrs. Kontz gave the devotional message.

Officers working with the new president, Mrs. Omer Lewis, for 1962-63 are: Mrs. Knatz, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Clarence Myers, conference chairman; Mrs. William Dorris, literature chairman; Mrs. Henry Berry, second vice president; and Mrs. Grace Steves, vice president of missions and special interest missionaries chairman.

Other chairmen are: Mrs. Forest Brown, missionary and stewardship education; and Mrs. Wesley McCulloch, missionary interpreters.

Mrs. William Shirley is vice president of Christian service and chairman of love gift. Assisting are Mrs. Tilton Rogg, chairman of White Cross; and Mrs. Jack Turner, chairman of Christian social relations.

Mrs. Ben Wilton is vice president of Christian training and leadership training chairman. Mrs. Walter Willson is chairman of Christian family life; and Mrs. Charles Richmond, spiritual life chairman.

Vice president of business and professional women is Mrs. Maynard Johnson; Mrs. George Lang, secretary; Mrs. Russell Keale, treasurer; Mrs. Maurice Baldwin, parliamentarian; Mrs. Herbert Learned, auditor; Mrs. James Crew, historian; and Mrs. Shirley, nominating committee.

A stereophonic sound system for drive-in theaters uses a speaker on each side of each car.

DAR Chooses Virginia Woman as New Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Daughters of the American Revolution have elected Mrs. Robert V. H. Duncan of Alexandria, Va., their new president general.

The 21st annual DAR convention's 2,000 delegates yesterday voted Mrs. Duncan a three-year term and heard Maj. Arch E. Roberts, former aide to retired Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, accuse Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty of having a "Communist background." The Army suspended Roberts after he delivered the speech.

The delegates passed a group of resolutions, including declarations against membership in the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

They also went in record opposition to the administration's Alliance for Progress program designed to aid Latin America and protested what they termed "socialistic farm proposals."

Pillar Club Hears Talk

Mrs. B. G. Campbell of Cherokee Road was hostess Tuesday evening to 26 members of the Pillar Club. Mrs. Arno Hulet, dinner chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Paul Taylor and Mrs. Floyd Smith.

Highlights of her recent 80-day trip around the world were told by Mrs. J. A. Rammes of Rosedale Avenue. She displayed several articles purchased in various countries.

Theme for devotions presented by Mrs. Smith was "There Is No Death" by Joseph Fort Newton. May hostess will be Mrs. Robert Tarr of West Troups Road.

Tell Officers at Gathering

Insurance Women of Pontiac met Wednesday at Ted's Dining Room with 14 members present.

Announcement of new officers for 1962-63 was read as follows: Ernestine Neubauer, president; Mrs. John Keimert, vice president; Mrs. Lillian Pickio, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Hall, recording secretary; and Mrs. Annette McDonald, corresponding secretary.

The group also discussed final plans for the Annual Bosses' light party to be held at Rotunda Inn May 9.

Talks Get Nowhere as Nuclear Arms Piles Mushroom

Will Survival Get Lost in Geneva Shuffle?

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In world armament such a balance exists that it is unlikely that any nation would touch off a war deliberately.

Yet that very balance is a negative force, the nature of which was described by United Nations Secretary General U Thant.

The United States and Russia, the world's two superpowers, he said, "may not be able to make the world behave as they wish, but they have the power to destroy it."

And with the prospect that this destructive power may be doubled by 1966, there has come the mounting fear of a war by accident and the pressing realization that a halt to the arms race no longer is a goal for the future but a necessity for the present.

At the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, the United States and the Soviet Union have presented their rival plans for disarmament.

On the surface they bear many similarities.

Both call for arms and troop cuts under supervision.

Both call for a halt to production of fissionable materials for nuclear weapons.

Both would discard the means of delivery of such weapons.

And both call for an international peace-keeping force.

But there the similarity ends abruptly.

The Soviet Union refused to permit verification of arms retained. It also refused to permit international inspection of suspected nuclear test sites and calls for an uncontrolled moratorium on underground nuclear tests.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean curtly told the Russians that the United States, having been deceived once, does "not have any confidence in a Soviet pledge."

seems probable that a first step toward such weapons and could be taken in troop reductions without great risk to either side.

Without inspection no nuclear agreement seems possible.

For, as the United States already has told U Thant, "nuclear weapons are a necessary deterrent to a potential aggressor who is weak."

Meanwhile, at Johnson and Christmas islands in the Pacific, the air strips, the mess halls, the hangars and the warehouses are ready for the next U.S. nuclear tests, now scheduled for next week.

Watch Over Embers of Fire in Woods

WHITEHALL (AP) — Fire crews were standing by early today at the scene of a woods fire that spread over a two-square-mile area yesterday before it was brought under control.

Conservation crews, police agencies, volunteers and fire companies in the area joined in the battle to quell the flames. It was brought under control last night. The fire was located in a sparsely settled region about three miles southeast of here, at the edge of the Manistee National Forest.

Several families in the area were forced to evacuate their homes because of a threat from the fire.

He's a Little Backward

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — A Reno man today claimed a world record after walking backwards the 30 miles from here to Carson City. Asked why he made his record attempt yesterday, Peter Eno explained that he didn't have anything else to do.

Car Production to Hit Record for Week Output

DETROIT (AP) — Automotive News said yesterday domestic passenger car production this week will total an estimated 148,214 units — a new weekly record for 1962.

The statistical publication said this week's production will be up 2.2 per cent from the year's previous high of 145,197 units produced last week and up 19 per cent from the 124,697 units produced in the like week of 1961.

The new weekly production mark will be achieved despite the normal Easter weekend lull. Only Studebaker plans operation shut-downs this afternoon. Ford and Chevrolet will have a number of plants working tomorrow.

U. S. truck production this week will total an estimated 26,006 units compared to 25,395 units last week and 24,822 in the like week of 1961.

At Geneva, the eight so-called uncommitted nations, generally have shown themselves more sympathetic to the Russian proposals than to those advanced by the United States and Britain.

With less to lose, they see less reason to insist upon an international inspection system and positive proof that nuclear test and disarmament pledges are being carried out.

Soviet insistence on veto rights over inspection of suspected test sites and arms reduction has led to two lines of speculation.

One is that the Russians generally fear espionage.

The other is that Russia actually is not interested in calling off the arms race, and merely seeks propaganda advantage from renewed U.S. nuclear testing.

If the Russians were sincere, it

affair with the theme of "Blue Hawaii" will be held Wednesday in the Parish Hall beginning at 7 p.m. A grass hut, swaying palms, tropical flowers and mural scenes will complete the tropical setting.

Complete Junior-Senior Banquet Plans

St. Fred to Bid 'Blue Hawaii,' Aloha

By SUZANNE POLMEAR
A tropical atmosphere is already forming around St. Frederick's High School as plans are nearing completion for the annual junior-senior banquet.

This semi-formal affair will be held Wednesday in the Parish Hall beginning at 7 p.m.

Decorations committee, under the direction of Karen Pape have set to transforming the hall into "Blue Hawaii" complete with a grass hut, swaying palms, tropical flowers and mural scenes.

ALLOHA, HAWAII

Sophomores, who will serve the dinner, will be appropriately attired to carry out the island theme.

Maureen Morrissey's menu committee have decided on a ham dinner topped off by pineapple upside-down cake.

General chairman for the banquet, which is a dinner dance, is Nancy Gaudier, acting junior class president.

Other committee heads are Maureen McLaughlin, entertainment; Tom Bradley, furniture; Judy Fitzpatrick, chaperones; Terry Wright, program; Roberta Hudson, servers; Charley Dean, clean-up.

TO PRESENT LESS

An added feature will be leis presented to each guest. The juniors have spent weeks making them in a variety of colors.

Seniors received results of their aptitude tests this week. Each senior was individually interviewed and shows his strengths and weaknesses and the type of job or profession to which he would be best suited.

Tom Club, largest school club, is planning their annual elections. At the meeting Wednesday night the candidates for various offices gave campaign speeches.

Some 25 students were placed on the eligibility list based on their work done the past year in Tom Club. Elections will be held next month to allow time for campaigning.

This week Moon River was chosen as the 1962 prom theme. Committees will be named soon for this year's prom which is June 1.

To supplement the spring sports schedule this year, a new girls' golf team has been formed. It will be part of a Department of Parks and Recreation program. Any high school may join this sports activity.

St. Mike Pupils Rejoice, Welcome Short Vacation

By SHARON RODDEN

Wednesday left the students at St. Michael's High School rejoicing over the fact that Easter vacation is finally here.

Although the fourth quarter has hardly begun yet the one-week vacation from school will still be welcomed ending April 30 when classes will resume for the last full month of school.

Three senior girls: Rita Clinton, Mary Ann Stark, and Rita Zimmerman took an all-day trip to Nazareth College, in Kalamazoo, this week.

As our representatives joined with students from St. Philip Mary in Detroit and St. James in Ferndale an enjoyable day was spent touring the beautiful new college.

The freshmen bake sale which took place on Thursday proved to be quite a success. A number of the freshmen girls set up business in the lunchroom where the variety of delectable-looking cakes cup-cakes, candies, and cookies took over after French fries and sloppy-joes.

Waterford Township Fair Scores Honors Galore

By MARY KAY STRZELECKI
Honors galore were bestowed upon Waterford Township High School students at the Waterford Township Science Fair held last Friday.

Taking the Grand Prize and the first prize in physics was Alan Watson, Alan, a senior at WTHS, built an atom smasher. The purpose of this is to change the arrangement or structure of the atoms in an experimental material.

On the atom smasher Alan designed and built a valve which, to his knowledge, "has never been used before." This is a highly technical new means of sealing an accelerator tube from a vacuum system and does it to prevent leakage. Instead of it being manual he used a magnetic field.

RECEIVED AWARD

Also he was awarded a plaque and a special award certificate at a recent banquet given by the Detroit Engineering Society.

Al Pavlish, a WTHS science teacher, accepted a reward given to WTHS by the Society of Patent Lawyers at a banquet in Alan's name.

Winners in the physics field were Alan Watson, first place, Roger Tallman, second, and Carol Shole, third.

PLACED FIRST

In the physiography field, Bob Tallman placed first and Shela Paul, of WTHS, placed second.

Placing first and second in biology were Gloria Griffin and Larry Parr of WTHS. Barb Lake, of Waterford, placed third.

Many students had projects worthy of honorable mention. Students from Waterford receiving this award were: Mary Jean Thornton, Pam Clark, Frank Williamson, Richard Toles, and Margaret St. Dennis in the field of biology.

Receiving honorable mention in the physics category were Dennis Harg, Don Stanger, Dave LaBarge, Don Bruce, and Ed Guida.

HONORABLE MENTION

Craig Hanna received honorable mention in physiography, while Bob Hard received honorable mention in chemistry.

"Moments to Remember" has been chosen for the theme of the sophomore class dance to be given next Friday from 8-11 p.m. in the WTHS gym.

Committees for the dance are decorations Carol Kresge, Dick Short, and Dave Ewer. On publicity is Sharon Zannoth and Mary Barningham, tickets is Liz Grimes and Karl Haaseth and attending to refreshments is Rob Lamb.

Tickets will be sold next week. The dress for the dance is casual.

four-day Easter vacation, an annual assembly was presented to them by the Hi-Y Club Wednesday.

A few songs were presented to the classes by the choir under the direction of Robert Crompton, a WTHS music teacher.

Yearbook's Editors Selected at Central

By WADE WILSON

The prospective new editors for next year's Quiver, Pontiac Central High School's yearbook, have been selected.

Editor-in-Chief will be Sue Davis while business manager and copy reader will be Sue Peterson. Ann Mason as index editor, Lela Zimmer as faculty editor.

tor, and Carol Miller as copy editor and added to this list.

Al Ryden will be in charge of the sports department as editor. Judy Stillman will act as activities editor, and Modita Calhoun will be the underclassmen editor.

Completing the list are Ron Austin, photography editor, Sandy Shapiro as seniors editor, and Sue Brown as advertisement editor.

PREPARE QUIVER

These students are busy along with the rest of the staff in the preparation of next year's Quiver. Already a rough "dummy" of the 1963 Quiver is taking shape and a cover contest will begin as soon as a theme is determined.

Pontiac Central High School's magazine drive was the most successful of any held so far as approximately $9,000 was added to the seven school year campaigns. Surpassing the $7,500 goal means that even more money can be channeled to the various projects set as campaign goals.

A special commemorative issue of Pontiac Central High School's bi-weekly school newspaper, the Tomahawk, will be published for release Friday.

UNIQUE PAPER

The paper will be unique in that it will be changed from the regular letter press publication to a offset type of paper which is photographed instead of printed.

Highlights of 10 years of public service to the school will be presented with original photos and articles from past issues.

Featuring the original advertisement of some merchants in business from 1910, the growth of the paper along with the growth of the school is traced through the years.

The actual name of the Tomahawk has changed through the years. In 1891 "The Rambler" served the school. Starting in 1896 the "Oracle" was the school newspaper and continued until 1915.

Northern High Band Plays Majestic Menu

By PAM MORRIS

The Pontiac Northern High School Band presented an enjoyable entertainment for the student body Wednesday morning.

The program included such highlights as "Liberty Bell March" by John Phillip Sousa, "Fiesta for Band" by Vincent Persichelli, and "Broadway From Brazil" by David Bennett.

Performing the majestic "La Virgen de la Macarena" by Mendez was Perry Tison, cornetist. Rick and Bill Granger are cadet soloists who have won many awards and much acclaim.

ADDS VARIETY

A drum duct added toe-tling variety to the program. Sophomores Ron Course and Elwyn Tait performed a snappy arrangement of Yoder's "Hassleless Rascals."

The Hunky Band, conducted by Eldon Resgard, finished the program in traditional style with "On Wisconsin!", the school song.

The homecoming basketball tournament has come to a successful close this week with some 200 boys participating.

COACH TEAMS

Coaches for the various teams were David Schmidt and Richard Hall. Officiating for the tournaments were Varsity and Junior Varsity Basketball players.

The homecoming of Mrs. Christine Gary won the championship for the senior title. Senior All-Stars are Darrell Frazer, Chuck Mick, Larry Norman, Fred Kerns and Bill Sevon.

Junior class champions come from the homecoming of Mr. Hall. Outstanding players for the junior squad are Mike Marum, John Silke, Charles Wilson, John Silke, and Mike Mocaraski.

Eying the Sophomore title are the homecoming of Melvin Larimer and Donald Friebe. The championship match will be played after Easter vacation.

Composing the Sophomore All-Star team is Larry Cheek, Jim Klumel, Mike Lawrence, Lew Smith, and Larry Galtshoff.

Individual medals and trophies will be given to the deserving teams on Wednesday.

The varsity cheerleaders began their annual Cheerleading Clinic Wednesday for girls who wish to tryout for either the varsity or junior varsity.

Captain Sharon Filler and advisor Mrs. Mary Lou Jennings will sponsor the clinic.

Avondale Pupils

Set 'Cotton Capers'

for Friday Night

By RUTH SHERY

The Sophomore class of Avondale High School is sponsoring a spring dance in the high school auditorium. The dance with a "Cotton Capers" theme will be held next Friday from 8 to 11 p.m.

A local disc jockey will supply entertainment for the evening, bringing guest stars and giving away free records.

Pastel colors will add spice to the spring setting centered by a wishing well.

Helping the various committees are the sophomore advisors: Margaret Rose, Faustine Leone, Robert Walton, Edward Kalinowski, and Mrs. Patricia Jones.

Chairmen of the committees are Judy Herman, decorations; Joyce Frey, publicity; Lynn Smith, refreshments, and Gary Baum, clean-up.

The dance will be informal in dress and refreshments will be available. The event is open to the public.

The Future Teachers Association of AHS are busy making monthly calendars of the activities of the school. These calendars are sold to the students body to keep them aware of school happenings.

Future teachers are also participating in a cadet teaching program. Barbara Fowler, Barbara Rick, and Bill Granger are cadet teachers at Avondale Junior High School. Other members of FTA will be cadet teaching at Elmwood Elementary School.

Kettering High Enjoys Program

Students, Faculty Alike

Treasure Easter Treat

Sponsored by Hi-Y Club

By SHERYL LEIGH

Gathering together Wednesday morning, students and faculty of Kettering-Kettering High School enjoyed being "treated to the enriching sincerity of an Easter assembly."

The seasonal spirit drew close to the hearts and minds of many individuals as William Ketter Jr., guest speaker, addressed the audience. While speaking of the Easter holiday, he strived to maintain a non-denominational viewpoint.

Mr. Ramsey from the Evangelical United Brethren Church is presently studying at a seminary in Dayton, Ohio, to become an ordained minister.

Adding to the Easter holiday atmosphere during the assembly were several selections by the vocal groups of W-KHS.

Mrs. Janice Hendrix, music instructor, directed the choral group in the Processional from the Easter Cantata "Olivet to Calvary," "Miserere Mei," "I Sit Down Under His Shadow," and "Pater Noster."

The Girls' Glee Club also presented the Duet for soprano and alto from Cantata No. 4, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death," and the Duet for tenor and bass from the Cantata No. 196, "May God Smile on You."

Receiving due credit for the arrangement of the Easter assembly is the Hi-Y Club and sponsor, Lynn Rohrer. Officers of Hi-Y, who were elected on stage during the 4 o'clock assembly, are Earl Nicholls, president; Larry Lazenby, vice-president; Howard Bertram, secretary; John Putman, treasurer; and Doug Stranahan, chaplain.

Members at W-KHS are now establishing their skill as submers in co-ordination with the Tip-Club candy sale which began Wednesday afternoon.

The candy, now being offered prior to Mother's Day, will be sold again prior to the Christmas holiday.

With Entries in Contest for Egg Hunt Poster

By KATHI GENTLE

Nine members of Mrs. Blossom Coho's art classes at Rochester Senior High School won awards for their entries in the recent annual Easter Egg Hunt Poster Contest, sponsored by the Rochester Jaycees.

First prize ribbons and a $25 bond were won by Claudia Welg, sophomore. Second place winner was Charlotte Osborn, senior, who was awarded $10 in cash. Sharon Ahlstrom, also a sophomore, won third place and a cash prize of $5.

Honorable mention was received by: Sharon Mowlen, Jeff Theobald, Cheryl Schonbeck, Dave Pickering, Ellie Rowland, and Barbara Pryzbyl.

HOLD SLAVE DAY

Last week, the yearly Slave Day sponsored by the American Family Service was held.

Students in Student Council, cheerleaders, members of the Varsity Club, and the basketball team members put themselves up for bid and were bought for a minimum of 25 cent-bidals and 10 cent-bid with their highest bidder as their master.

These slaves were required to do anything from singing at the top of their lungs to carrying stacks of books six feet high.

Name Honor Students

By BONNIE DESTEL

William Hollis Lemay, 17, and Barbara Irene Stone, 17, have been named valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of West Bloomfield's graduating class of 1962.

Bill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Over Lemay of Harris Lane, Orchard Lake, is the valedictorian. He has averaged 3.81 out of 4.0 for his four high school years.

When asked for a quote regarding the honor bestowed upon him, Bill answered profoundly, "The National Honor Society, wouldn't mind being valedictorian if I didn't have to write a speech." This semester Bill's curriculum includes, English composition, shorthand, solid geometry, and physics.

Following graduation June 6 at West Bloomfield, Bill plans to enter the University of Michigan's College of Literature, Science and Arts to major in mathematics.

Among some of Bill's finer achievements are being chosen as a finalist for the National Merit Scholarship, and in his junior year he was awarded membership on the National Honor Society.

Barbara, the daughter of Mr. Vera VanWirt of Keego Harbor and Gerald Stone of Union Lake, has achieved a 3.53 average.

When questioned about her views on being selected salutatorian Barbara replied, "I was real happy and surprised about it."

Barb's day consists of advanced shorthand, bookkeeping, chemistry, personal problems, and working in the school office.

Upon graduation she wishes to enter the secretarial field. Barbara, too, is a member of the National Honor Society.

Group in Huron Valley Getting Hospital Study

MILFORD — A proposed community hospital for this area moved nearer to becoming a reality with the signing of a contract yesterday with a Hazel Park firm for study and consulting services.

The agreement was signed between Benjamin Threlfo, president of the Huron Valley Community Hospital Association, and John Ruppinger, vice president of Professional Facilities Corp., 22014 John R. Road.

Planned for construction is a 100-bed facility that would serve residents of Milford, White Lake, Highland, Commerce, New Hudson, Novi, Wilson and Walled Lake.

The contract stipulates that possible to raise the full $2 million. Threlfo said, "but once we obtain less than a third the consultants would be in an excellent position to contact investors for the remainder."

WITHIN THREE YEARS

The association president said that Ruppinger believed that the hospital could be opened some time within the next three years.

"The firm look over the responsibilities of obtaining a hospital knowing full well that the need and potential of raising funds is here," Threlfo added.

"In fact, it has been conducting preliminary studies of the area the PLAN PARTY — Members of Immaculate Heart Guild of St. Patrick Church, White Lake Township, discuss plans for the guild's 11th annual luncheon and card party to be held Wednesday at the church hall, 5088 Hutchins. Alt. Proceeds from the noon program will go to the church altar society.

Against Income Tax

Four Start Talkathon

LANSING — "The four horsemen"—leaders of the anti-income tax Republican conservative group in the Senate—have pledged they will talk and talk and talk and talk.

Their hope is to talk to death the bundle of the tax bills before the Senate, built around a 3 percent income and 5 percent corporate income tax.

The strategy was successful yesterday in stalling the first try by a combine of Democrats and Republican moderates to start action on the tax bills.

Sens. Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo, John P. Smeekens of Coldwater and Paul C. Younger of Lansing carried the load by doing most of the talking yesterday.

Opponents quickly termed them the "unholy three."

Smeekens corrected this by saying Sen. Clyde H. Gerding, R-Holland, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, also is a member of the team.

Following a 7:30 p.m. reception in the chapter room, a program on the Michigan Masonic Home at Alma will begin at 8:45 p.m.

Frank A. Lane, member of the board of general purposes, Grand Lodge of Michigan, will give a talk and present a film on the Masonic Home.

Several members of the Grand Family of Eastern Star are expected to be among the guests.

'Fair Season' to Open in Less Than 3 Months

LANSING — It's less than three months till fair time, the State Department of Agriculture has announced.

The season will start June 30 at Lake Odessa, the department said.

Other fair dates on the department calendar include the Upper Peninsula fair at Escanaba, Aug. 2-20; the Iowa Free Fair, Aug. 5-11; the Saginaw Fair, Sept. 9-15; and the State Fair at Detroit, Aug. 26-Sept. 3.

City Manager of Lapeer Killed

Howard R. Gohlke, 36, Dies as Car Runs Off Road, Hits Tree

LAPEER — Howard R. Gohlke, 36, Lapeer city manager since 1955, was killed early this morning when the car he was driving ran off a road and hit a tree south-west of here.

Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies said Gohlke's car went through a stop sign where Hunt Road ends at Lake Nepezing Road about 3 p.m. today.

Gohlke, 488 E. Nepezing St., also was one of four city representatives to the Lapeer County Board of Supervisors.

Police said Gohlke was apparently en route home from the Lapeer Country Club when the accident occurred.

Before coming to Lapeer, he was city manager at Alpena and Harbor Springs. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, the local American Legion post, the Lapeer Lions Club, and the International City Managers Association.

He is survived by his wife Ullila and two daughters, Cary, 16, and Janet, 12.

The Lapeer City Commission was scheduled to meet this morning to appoint an interim city manager until a successor to Gohlke could be selected.

Gohlke's body is at Baird Funeral Home.

2 Lapeer Men Killed in Crash on Van Dyke

IMLAY CITY — Two Lapeer men were killed and a North Branch man injured in a car-truck collision on Van Dyke Road six miles north of here yesterday afternoon.

Dead were Patrick A. Grumley, 27, of 8881 Mann Drive, Detroit, the car, and Edward A. Madden, 24, of 2852 Burdick Road, a passenger in the car.

In fair condition today at Mercy Hospital in Port Huron was Albert Burdick, 73, of 6800 Jefferson Road, North Branch.

Burdick was driving a panel truck that crossed the center line of the road and smashed head-on into the car, according to Lapeer County sheriff's deputies.

They said they have not been able to question Burdick.

Instructor Will Attend Institute on Psychology

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Don Lance, education instructor at Central Michigan University, will be among 30 college and university faculty members who will attend a 5-week institute on psychology at the University of Iowa this summer.

An alumna of CMU, Mrs. Lance is currently working on her doctorate. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Filer of 9815 Marmora Road.

League to Honor Africa at Annual Dinner, April 28

The Oakland County Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will hold its seventh annual International Dinner April 28, with its theme honoring "Africa's March to Independence."

The 7 p.m. program will be held in the community room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland, Pontiac.

Each year, the branch, comprised of three chapters, North Oakland, Birmingham and South Oakland, sponsors the dinner using motifs of different parts of the world.

Africa was selected this year since the Oakland branch and other Michigan branches are raising funds to bring a woman delegate from one of the new African nations to the triennial Congress of the League. The convention will be held in California in July.

A number of African students attending Michigan universities will be guests at the dinner and will present a program of songs and dances of their countries.

Mrs. Marvin Bruck of Southfield is general chairman of the dinner.

Schedule Blood Bank

TROY — The Troy Community Blood Bank will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday at Troy High School, 3175 Livernois Road. Appointments can be made by calling Mrs. Laurence A. Longcore, of 7073 Tolt St.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Morgan, of 6131 Overlook Drive, Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter Sally Jean to Michael Edward Zook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton R. Zook of Kalkaska. A fall wedding is planned.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Set Budget Hearing in Rochester Monday

ROCHESTER — Local residents will get their chance Monday to direct useful criticism at their village government's spending habits.

Monday's 7:30 a.m. Village Council meeting at the Municipal Building will include a public hearing on the village's proposed 1962-63 budget of $418,100.

The budget proposal calls for a 1½-mill tax increase from 17 to 18½ mills. If approved, it will be the first tax boost in Rochester since 1946.

The increase is necessary to maintain the present level of city services and pay for additions and improvements in services, according to City Manager Paul York.

"Rochester is to maintain a high level of services to residents, a tax millage increase cannot be delayed any longer," York said. He cited recent improvements in the trash pick-up schedule, recycling facilities, police protection facilities, street lighting and sewer systems.

A 1½-mill tax increase would add some $12,000 to city revenues, but cost the average homeowner only $4.25 a year, according to York.

The one- and one-half-hour meeting, held at the Federal Building, Detroit, was the first since 25 members of the local struck the plant March 31.

Another meeting has not been scheduled, said Bennett, who along with federal mediator Archie Sims, had called the session yesterday.

The outcome of the first meeting was predicted yesterday by the local's president George Clark who said that he didn't believe anything would be accomplished because the union and management had met several times before the strike and nothing could be agreed on then.

The dispute over a new contract stems from that proposed deletion of wording that would guarantee that members of the local could work in any other plant owned by Paragon in Novi or the vicinity, according to Clark.

"Naturally, money is involved but that will come later, after we have ironed out the wording of the contract," he said.

Schedule Hunt for Easter Eggs

YOUNGSTERS in Utica to Comb Grant Park; Prizes Offered

UTICA — The case of the hidden Easter Eggs is nearing a solution. Location of some 90 dozen gaily colored eggs that must be found before Easter has been narrowed to the vicinity of Grant Park.

A posse of youngsters from 1 to 10 years old is expected to track down exact locations of the eggs between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. tomorrow.

The posse will be split into two groups, one for the 1-to-5 age bracket, and the other for searchers between six and 10.

At stake are rewards offered for capture of the most eggs, with prizes in each age group and for tots who can't keep up with older and more experienced trackers but whose enthusiasm for the chase is second to none.

Any youngster between 1 and 10 in the Utica-Sheboy-Stirling area may join the posse. Only requirement is that children be accompanied by an adult.

Culprit in the case is the Greater Utica Junior Chamber of Commerce, members of which have hidden eggs cooked and colored by the Jaycettes, their wives, throughout the park.

More specifically, the culprit is a Jaycee committee in charge of the Easter Egg Hunt headed by Chuck Cumba.

Get Nowhere in Labor Talks

NOVI Firm, Local 508 Meet With Mediators for Hour and a Half

NOVI — The first attempt at negotiation between union and management of the Paragon Bridge and Steel Co., proved ineffective yesterday, according to a state labor mediator.

Leonard Bennett said there was "no progress" between representatives of Paragon and Detroit Shopmen's Local 508, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Workers, AFL-CIO.

The one- and one-half-hour meeting, held at the Federal Building, Detroit, was the first since 25 members of the local struck the plant March 31.

Another meeting has not been scheduled, said Bennett, who along with federal mediator Archie Sims, had called the session yesterday.

The outcome of the first meeting was predicted yesterday by the local's president George Clark who said that he didn't believe anything would be accomplished because the union and management had met several times before the strike and nothing could be agreed on then.

The dispute over a new contract stems from that proposed deletion of wording that would guarantee that members of the local could work in any other plant owned by Paragon in Novi or the vicinity, according to Clark.

"Naturally, money is involved but that will come later, after we have ironed out the wording of the contract," he said.

MSU Horticulturist to Receive Award

EAST LANSING — Roy E. Marshall, well-known Michigan State University horticulturist, will receive an outstanding achievement award from the University of Minnesota May 5, MSU spokesmen said today.

Marshall, 72 and retired from the MSU staff developed the type of posturization that enabled the development of the apple juice industry. He served with the MSU horticulture department from 1920 to 1950, and worked seven years as assistant director of the agricultural experiment station.

Maps Retirement After 28 Years in Highway Dept.

LANSING — There's a man retiring from the State Highway Department who really knows his way around.

Charles W. Thompson, head of the department's mapping and graphic section, retires May 1. The department has announced.

Thompson, who began his career in the city engineer's office at Ironwood, his home town, has been with the department 28 years. He said he's confident the map of Michigan highways and interest spots is about the best of its kind in the country.

A good map, he said, could "offer an added incentive to the prospective vacationer who will visit Michigan."

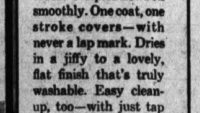

Cancer Films to Be Run for Ortonville Women

ORTONVILLE — Two educational films on cancer will be shown for Ortonville women at 8 p.m. Monday at Brandon High School.

No admission will be charged for the showing of "A Breath of Fresh Air" and "Out of the Darkness." Dr. Carl H. Birkelo of Clarkston will be presented to an-

Runyon Cancer Fund Put $15 Million in Research

NEW YORK (UPI) — Damon Runyon's guys and dolls are letting in his name that they'll help come up with a winner to benefit mankind.

Their investment is hard work, for free, in behalf of the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research. The payoff would be a victory over cancer and with a Runyon-like story twist, would wipe out the memorial they have established in his honor.

The fund has invested more than $15 million in fighting the disease that killed the famed "poet laureate" of Broadway 15 years ago. When the cause and cure of cancer is found the fund will go out of business.

John H. Teeter, an engineer and investment broker who oversees the fund's activities, said it operates much the same as other charitable foundations, but with several differences.

One is low overhead. Money contributed by individuals or organizations goes directly into the fight against the killer disease. The fund has one office, of modest size, with an executive director, four full-time workers and one part-time worker.

All administrative costs are met with proceeds from benefit sales of tickets to sporting events, as a contribution earned solely for that purpose. Columnist Walter Winchell has given heavily to this department.

Another difference is diversification. Teeter, a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and husband of Christine McGuire, one of the three singing McGuire sisters, has established a policy of trying to spread scientific expeditions in every state in the country. He calls this a "seeding" operation.

"We believe in going to areas where nothing is going on and encouraging the development of cancer research," Teeter said in an interview.

"Our grants to the University of Miami and the University of Florida were the first research grants in medicine in Florida. They formed the nucleus for medical schools. That is a seeding operation."

Other such operations have involved Tuskegee Institute, a Negro school specializing in nutrition, and institutions in Nevada, where the fund established cobalt bomb research. Teeter said the fund enabled the organization of the first medical school in New Jersey and helped Dartmouth start a two-year medical school.

"SPREAD TALENTS"

"One day, if we ever have an atom bomb problem, all the big medical centers will be gone," he said. "We may have to rely on a horse doctor in Arkansas. We never should have all our talent in one place."

"Besides, we may find the answer in Kokomo or Nevada. Some little guy, not a high-priced team may be the one who will find the final answer to the cancer problem."

Guys such as Milton Berle, Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, Jimmy Durante and Sugar Ray Robinson and dolls such as Dagmar, Marlene Dietrich and Lucille Ball, have given generously of time and money.

Winchell, as treasurer, has signed his name to every check for the 1,214 research grants and 189 fellowship awards involving work in 315 institutions in the 50 states, Washington, D. C., and 25 foreign countries.

Three Flint Men To Be Arraigned in Station Theft

Three of four persons charged with the armed robbery of an Independence Township service station this week are scheduled to be arraigned Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

The fourth, Gloria J. Yager, 18, Flint, faces examination at 2 p.m. Thursday before Springfield Township Justice of the Peace Emmett J. Leib.

Ronald W. Schuman, 18; Ronald D. Wilson, 20; and Clifford E. Johnson, 20, all of Flint, also demanded examinations before Leib but they later changed their pleas and were bound over to circuit court.

All four are being held on bonds of $10,000 apiece in the $71 robbery of the Red Fox Gas Station, 684 Dixie Highway.

An attendant, Leonard Ballard, 49, 971 E. Glass Road, Orionville, said he was struck over the head with a pistol by the bandits who robbed him early Monday morning.

Wilson was arrested a few hours later in Flint while the others were picked up by police in Pontiac.

Pontiac 'Y' Slates 2nd Easter Egg Hunt

The second annual Easter egg hunt and program for children from 3 to 14 years old will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Pontiac YMCA, 131 Mt. Clemens St. John Miller, YMCA youth director, said "hunting licenses" for children taking part in the program now are available at 10 cents for members and 15 cents for non-members.

Rev. Harold Johnson, associate minister of Central Methodist Church, will speak briefly on "The Real Meaning of Easter" after the egg hunt.

She's Never Met an Overwhelming Man

Kim Novak Likes Being a Loner

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Hollywood's most eligible bachelor girl says her state of single bliss has only one big problem.

"It's the people who keep asking me why I haven't married," said Kim Novak, the world's most lovely lavender blonde.

"They accept singleness in a man but in the case of a woman enough for some strange reason."

"In my case it's quite simple. I haven't married—by choice."

BOYLE

"I've met a lot of men in my life, and I expect to meet a lot more, but I haven't met an overwhelming one."

ENGAGED IN STRUGGLE
She isn't presently in the mood to be overwhelmed by anything or anybody. In the wake of a most meteoric rise to fame, she is still engaged in that struggle that comes to all who are new to renown—the struggle to retain one's own identity as a human being.

Just a few years ago she was an obscure model. Today she's a top star, has her own film company, two homes, and presumably enough in the bank to tide her over a long lifetime of rainy days.

Law Allowing 2 Commissioners for County Signed

Gov. Swanson signed into law Wednesday a bill which allows Oakland County to continue to operate with two circuit court commissioners.

The new law says a county must have 750,000 population before it can use four commissioners. Wayne is the only Michigan county in that category.

Under the old law, any county over 500,000 was required to have four commissioners. Oakland passed this mark in the 1960 census when it reached over 600,000 but it is felt the county does not require additional commissioners.

Serving in the two existing posts are Verne C. Hampton and Maurice F. Cole. They handle matters involving tenancy, real estate and land contracts.

OK $1.2-Million Loan for MSUO Building

A $1.2-million college housing loan for Michigan State University Oakland has been approved by the Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Michigan, announced today.

A university spokesman confirmed that the approval on the same loan already was given by the agency's district office last year. The money is divided approximately half and half for use on dormitories and to extend the MSUO Student Center, according to Loren Pope, assistant to the chancellor.

Such being the situation, she is in a good position to fight against being destroyed by the whims and strains of success. She doesn't want to be possessed or dominated by others.

RESENTS PRESSURE

That is why she vigorously resents pressure on her to marry. "Above all I prize being an individual," she remarked. "People are always trying to change you."

"I don't feel we have the right to destroy our lives by wrong compromises, by settling for less than we believe in. But you can hold on to yourself—if you just do."

While stardom has cost her much in terms of lost privacy, she said frankly that the money that goes with it has given her more freedom to stay herself.

"But it does get on my nerves—this constant questioning about why I don't marry," she said.

EVERYTHING SIMPLER
"Being single has certain advantages. Everything is simpler and less complicated."

"I've always been a loner. I adore privacy and being alone. "The things I like most in life—painting and writing—are the kind of things you don't do with someone looking over your shoulder."

"I'm far happier than if I were married to the wrong person—or even a half-way wrong person. I don't want to get married just because it's the thing to do."

"I don't believe in compromising in that. There are too many other things in life you do have to compromise on."

HAPPINESS RARE

She believes happiness in marriage is relatively rare because marital partners too often try to change each other.

"If people realized that true love consists in a real willingness to put up with each other's imperfections," she said, "only about 5 per cent would be married—and perhaps that would be better. Perhaps that's all that really should marry."

"A good marriage should relieve tension. But most marriages

8 Firms Fined for Price Fixing

Major Manufacturers of Office Furniture Plead No Contest

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Eight major manufacturers of metal office furniture were fined $220,000 in U.S. Dist. Court yesterday after pleading no contest to charges of conspiracy to fix prices and eliminate competition in the $134-million-a-year industry.

Sperry Rand Corp., New York City, named in three indictments, was fined $75,000 by Judge John O. Henderson. Shaw-Walker Corp., Muskegon, Mich., which answered two indictments, was fined $35,000.

ALL FINED
Varying fines were imposed on six other companies, all named in a single indictment. They were: General Fireproofing Co., Youngstown, Ohio, $35,000; Globe-Wernicke Co., Norwood, Ohio, $20,000; Yawman & Erbe Manufacturing Co., Rochester, $20,000; Steelcase Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich., $15,000; All-Steel Equipment, Aurora Ill., $10,000; and Art Metal Co., Jamestown, $10,000.

Henderson accepted April 2 the no-contest pleas instead of innocent pleas entered by the companies earlier.

Indictments returned by a federal grand jury in 1960 charged that the companies agreed to divide the country into sales zones, to set prices in each zone, and to limit the colors of furniture produced by each manufacturer. Maximum penalty on the charges in each indictment was a $50,000 fine.

Ten Years Ago Today, Jackson Prisoners Ran Wild

By DON DURST
Jackson Citizen Patriot
Written for the AP

JACKSON—For most inmates at Southern Michigan Prison today was just another monotonous day as the calendar—one day nearer the end of their terms in the world's largest walled penal institution.

But for a handful of veteran guards and long-term convicts, April 20 marks the 10th anniversary of the start of a devastating riot which shook the walls of the prison for some five days.

Rioting inmates seized guards as hostages, took over virtual control of large areas of the institution and inflicted damages estimated at $5 million before giving up.

The riot led to the eventual ouster of the institution's warden and started a series of major revisions in State Corrections Department policies.

A dining room incident the morning after the rebellion began touched off a wave of destruction that rocked everything inside the prison walls.

DEFIANT HOOTS

For five days the air was rent by the sound of shattering glass . . . clanging metal . . . sporadic gunfire . . . hoots and yells of defiance . . . the sirens of prison and township fire trucks moving about the prison grounds to extinguish burning buildings . . . and other noises associated with rampaging crowds.

Details of the 1952 riot are still fresh in the minds of many persons, especially the guard hostages and members of their families.

They recall how the mutiny began the evening of April 20 when convict Ray Young, now at Marquette Prison, induced a rookie guard in 15 block to open his cell door on the pretext of returning another prisoner's property.

Young flashed a knife and ordered the guard, Thomas A. Elliott, to drop his keys.

Hurriedly opening the cells of fellow inmates, it wasn't long before the convicts took over 15 block.

Holding four unarmed guards assigned to that block as hostages, the mutineers added more to the list the following morning when leaders of the riot turned other custodial officers over to inmates entrenched in 15 block.

Upward of 12 guards were held there at different times, facing the constant threat of death from an unpredictable group headed by psychopaths Earl Ward and Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt.

But when the end came, only eight guards remained as hostages to force concessions on the inmates' terms. The others had been released unharmed for various reasons during the mutiny.

With tension mounting inside the prison on the morning of April 21, Warden Julian Frisbie decided to let the general inmate body go to the main dining room for breakfast.

It was there that the riot broke out when inmate James Hudson

Ex-Congressman From Texas Dead

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Former Rep. Hutton W. Summers, D-Tex., who served 34 years in Congress and was a recognized authority on constitutional law, is dead.

He died of a heart ailment Thursday at the age of 87.

Summers for many years was chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and one of the most influential men in Congress. He retired in 1946. Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman knew him as friend and adviser.

A sister, Mrs. Willis J. Davis of Atlanta, Ga., survives.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Highland Park Methodist Church. Burial will be at Garland, a Dallas suburb.

Fiedler Adds $10,000 Step to the Twist

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra has added a $10,000 step to the twist.

The famed conductor, who was offered $1,000 to conduct a twist orchestra at a summer charity ball, has consented to conduct one twist number if someone contributes $10,000 to charity.

Fiedler was made the offer by the Westhampton Bath and Tennis Club. The club wants Fiedler to lead a twist orchestra at its annual pink and white ball, June 23, for the benefit of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research.

yelled: "They've put salt in the coffee."

Swarming into the prison yards, inmates looted prison store rooms and set up barbecue pits for outdoor feasts while an inmate wrecking crew roamed through the institution bent upon destroying everything in sight.

RIPPED OUT PLUMBING

They ripped all plumbing fixtures from the walls of cells and tossed them through windows on the yard side of the wall, set fire to the gymnasium, main auditorium and greenhouse, and smashed everything else within reach.

These were the wanton acts of the destroyers who moved freely inside the prison until state police called in from throughout Michigan and directed by Com. Donald S. Leonard forced the inmates out of the yard and back into their cells.

With the general population locked up, attentions were directed toward 15 block's 173 mutineers.

Dr. Vernon Fox, assistant deputy warden in charge of individual treatment, became the mediator of a dispute in which Ward and Hyatt registered these complaints to reporter Ed F. Smith of the Citizen Patriot:

"Racial treatment, poor medical service, long punishment for minor infractions of rules and sex psychopaths being thrown in with the general prison population."

Mennen Williams agree to these terms:

- Change the unlimited power of the minimum term set by court.
- Revoke cell block 15.
- No reprisals would be taken on mutineers.
- The governor yielded to their demands and said there would be no reprisals from the executive department.

Finally, the mutineers insisted that newspapers print Williams' letter to them and that Frisbie feed them a steak and ice cream dinner when they surrendered.

Michigan's indeterminate sentence procedure hasn't been changed. The parole board still says whether a convict puts in his minimum or maximum sentence. And the only alteration to 15 block is the addition of a gun turret to cover anything that goes on there.

Since Warden William H. Bangham assumed control of the prison in July 1952 he has ruled with a fair but strong hand.

"Discipline is necessary," Bangham says, "and without it you will have no treatment program. Many of the programs that have backfired in the past did so because the new programs superseded custody."

"Under this system the prison has been quiet for years. It took less time to blow it into a riot when custody and discipline were disregarded."

"We cannot say that we will not have any more trouble in the future. But if we do, we feel we are in a better position to control it because all divisions work together with a common goal."

Boy Discovers His Free Ride Is No Bargain

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven-year-old George Rosenstein was watching fibermen Thursday near the Spuyten Dey stop of the New York Central, where the Harlem River joins the Hudson. A freight came by, stowed and George decided to grab a ride home to Riverside, the next station.

But the train picked up speed. Some 10 stations later, George still hanging grimly to the side was spotted by a conductor of a commuter train who had the freight whistled to a stop.

Sternally lectured, George was taken to Tarrytown in suburban Westchester County, and turned over to police to await his mother's 20-mile drive home.

What she did wasn't reported.

Gerber Reveals Plan for Research Center

FREMONT (AP) — Gerber Products Co. yesterday announced plans to build a corporate research center near its headquarters at Fremont. Completion of the new unit is anticipated within two years.

Ray B. Wakefield, vice president for research, said most of Gerber activities in the field now are conducted at Oakland, Calif., with a limited amount done at Fremont.

Major departments of the research division are nutritional research, new product development, process engineering, engineering research and agricultural research.

The popular early American flintlock called the "Kentucky Rifle" actually was developed in what is now the state of Pennsylvania.

Some Schools Have Special Classes

Retarded Children Can Be Helped at Home

By LESLIE J. NARON, ED. D.

Professor of Education,

University of Southern California

Many school systems have special classes for children who cannot keep up with their classmates. But what can be done about those slow children who live in areas where such classes are not available? I got this letter recently:

Dear Dr. Naron:

We live in a small community with school facilities for the first six grades.

Our 7-year-old Tommy, is a slow learner. At the suggestion of the teacher we took him to the county health department for testing. He is a borderline retarded case. There is no special school for these children in this area.

Tommy writes, and he draw very well, though he seems to stay about to go to school. She seems normal and bright enough, though her teacher says she puts forth little effort to learn. We are worried but don't know what to do.

Mrs. H. T. Oxford, Mich. Your daughter apparently is not taking enough responsibility for her own actions. I suggest that you stop thinking of her as your "baby" and expect more of her.

Dear Dr. Naron: Doug has been a fragile and ill child the first six years of his life, having allergy and asthmatic attacks often. However, even after missing much school, he is according to his teachers, "a very brilliant boy" and they promoted him to second grade.

We moved to a new school area and Doug seemed to have much trouble second to the class. What can we do to help our boy before it is too late?

Mrs. I. A. Smithville, Mo.

Until there is some change as far as the school is concerned, suggest you help Tommy at home.

Group Working on Swainson

Committee Pressures Governor Not to Veto Nonresident Tax Bill

LANSING (AP) — A group backing a bill to forbid cities to impose an income tax on nonresidents yesterday put pressure on Gov. Swainson not to veto the bill and received a noncommittal answer. Swainson has been handed the bill, a political hot potato, sponsored by Rep. John T. Bowman, D-Roseville, forbidding cities from imposing an income tax on nonresidents. The House and Senate passed it by convincing majorities.

Swainson has said he will not make a decision on the measure until he sees how it fits into the entire tax picture.

Mayor George W. Kuhn of Berkeley said because Detroit is determined to enact a payroll tax on nonresidents who work in the suburbs, the Vigilance Tax Committee was formed to fight the proposal.

He said the group has 75 members, including 60 mayors, township supervisors, village presidents and 15 city attorneys.

He declared the group was ready to fight the issue to the state Supreme Court and has lawyers already working in case the governor does not forbid taxing nonresidents.

"This form of taxation is totally unsatisfactory," Kuhn said. "To enact such a tax would create many Berlin walls, hatred and resentment in the various core cities of Michigan. I'm sure the people of Michigan do not want this kind of situation."

Astrological Forecast

By STONEY OMAR

For Saturday

"The who men driving his destiny astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Your mood isn't to be expansive. But best to fulfill this desire today could be a little costly.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Today better for giving than receiving. This is better to be certain than to go out seeking entertainment. Give others a home and see friends.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): So many people offer advice. Try to listen to all. Don't be confused. Best to listen to all. If friends or loved one is confused, be sure to help.

Cancer (June 22 to July 22): Romance. You might find new book. Don't be sure. Pull down a book. LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23): Just because you don't want to be related to give up, or to three distinct areas. If you are self-confident, you could cause a great deal of trouble.

Virgo (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Do you want to relax with friends tonight? Don't forget for evening. But to get minor loss compared EARLY. Powerful sign of life.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Power. You will be convinced you are right. But arguing the point against each other. If you are sure, and remain logical, you will win.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): You must understand attitude, courage to share. A conference or social gathering tonight could go well.

Sagittarius (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): You are not just today you later. It is time to talk about what must be done. Share your opinion. Do not let it be impossible.

Capricorn (Dec. 24 to Jan. 23): Allow affectionate, warm side of nature to be known. You will win. Your life can be cold, meaningless. Make a change and travel if necessary.

Quadrant (Jan. 24 to Feb. 23): Amation could lead you astray. If you hesitate relative for "holding you back." Don't. In actuality you have what you need, but may not be using it right. Think clearly.

Pisces (Feb. 24 to Mar. 23): Payable in real aspect, but you must. "See" person today to attract them. You can really bring you happiness. Be positive. Be sure you have money. And they will arrive to live up to what you say.

IF SATURDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY, you could be one in which you are. Be sure, better late than never. True of friends, romantic side of life. Don't you make decisions.

GENERAL REMARKS: Day in which rumors concerning financial situation before making decision to invest. Be in use tonight.

Soviet Paper Blasts Private Shows by Actors

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura yesterday denounced a group of prominent Soviet show business personalities who, it said, had been performing in illegal privately organized variety shows.

The entertainers were taken to court for earning money "on the left" illegally by performing in shows arranged by two producers who were accused of setting up clubs and army camps without going through bureaucratic formalities. They pocketed sizeable profits from fees paid by social groups, the newspaper said.

The producers had a stable of entertainers — singers, acrobats, magicians, dancers and actors — including some Soviet box office stars the paper went on.

Hospital Director Dies

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Joseph B. Morrow, 70, for 30 years director and administrator of the general hospital at Paramus, N.J., died Wednesday of a heart attack.

Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His garments and made four parts, to every soldier a part; and also His coat: now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout. They said therefore among themselves, Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be: that the scripture might be fulfilled which saith, They parted my raiment among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did.—St. John 19:23, 24.

He Is Not Here... ...Tomb Is Empty

Editor's Note — "He is not here. He is risen" — so came the angel's message, referring to the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. Visiting the traditional, hallowed site holds a special meaning to the Christian. This is the first of five articles on the shrines of the Holy Land.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
(AP) Belgrade Wire
JERUSALEM, Jordan (U) — It's strange, how minor things become more dear with passing years. A piece of lace. A faded letter. Dog-eared book. A song. A lock of hair. A place.

That's how it is with Christians, seeking out its old memories of their Lord's self-offering to men — the hill, the place He died, the tomb He occupied until... until that cataclysmic dawn that never dimmed.

...they found the stone was rolled away... Believers of the early period weren't particularly concerned with sites, terrain or objects. Apostolic records don't detail exact locations or accoutrements. All that was overshadowed by the unsurpassed event itself. This still is so.

A PRECIOUS MEMORY
And yet, with passing years, the ground and relics linked with Jesus' sojourn on the earth, like cherished keepsakes tucked away in some old battered trunk, have come to be a precious memory chest of Him.

Especially that tomb, the tomb that couldn't hold Him in. "He is not here..."

Today, through long tradition or investigation, two locales are singled out as likely settings at that mystifying day. My wife and I paid visits to them both. And each evokes its special essence of Easter.

One of them was found through late research — a garden-bordered tomb beside a skull-shaped hill 200 yards outside the city's northern wall, beyond the main Damascus gate. Gentle silence, there, an air of hushed and gracious wonder.

The other, first located in 326 A.D. by Empress Helena, the mother of the Roman ruler Constantine, and hallowed by 1,500 years of church tradition, lies ensconced within the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, inside the city.

WITH SOMBER MYSTERY
The church is laden with compelling, somber mystery. That element pervades the semidark and winding halls, the chambers, niches, chapels, vaults and stairs. It moves in awaying flares of lamps and candlelight.

It waits on heavy waves of incense, curling wreathlike up the pillars, curling through the straits of the pilgrims, kneeling figures, shifting shadowlike about within the many-cornered interior, while they had prepared, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus... .

Solemnity, of awesome powers, fills that intricate and dimly lit sanctuary.

You speak in muffled tones while there, despite the constant movement all around, the monks, the muted patter of the guides, the pilgrims, kneeling figures, shifting shadowlike about within the many-cornered interior, while they had prepared, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus... .

You held a burning prayer in your hand to find your way.

...they came unto the sepulchre bringing spices which they had prepared, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus... .

A Muslim keeps the door, a task inherited along ancestral lines since Saladin bestrode the right eight centuries ago. Inside, the sundry shrines are held by four of ancient Eastern Orthodox's patriarchates, and the Church of Rome, in separate jurisdictions.

Orthodoxy keeps the sepulchre itself, enclosed with a thickwalled block of altar cells, situated at the center of the main rotunda.

The tomb is covered with a marble slab. You stoop beneath a squaring arch and edge along a narrow space to reach the hallowed spot.

A nun and little infant boy were praying there. By accident, those confining quarters, tall from my candle dripped upon the

Boy's Death Sparks Curb in Race Fight

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U) — Police claimed a "light security" bid in this east Georgia city today after the fatal shooting of one white teen-ager and the wounding of another in a predominantly Negro section.

Seventeen persons, including 14 teen-agers, both white and Negro, were arrested as extra-duty policemen seeking to stem a four-day tide of racial disorder rounded up carloads of youths carrying knives, clubs and iron pipes.

The slaying victim was 15-year-old Leslie Lee Luttrell. He was killed last night by a pistol bullet under the left eye and was peppered in the back of the head by a shotgun charge.

Luttrell was sitting beside George Lewis, 15, driver of a car in which three youthful students were riding. Lewis was wounded by the shotgun fire, Eddie Gay, 16, on the back seat, escaped injury.

Devout Pilgrims Trudge Twisting 'Way of Cross'

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

Arab Christians and pilgrims from around the globe bowed before the traditional site of Calvary at dawn this Good Friday inside the walled city where Christ spent his last day on earth.

Church bells rang out across the hills of Jerusalem, and overcast, drizzling skies helped to recall the day almost 2,000 years ago when the "light of the world" was briefly extinguished.

A few hundred yards from the worshippers in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre — built on the ground where Christians believe Christ was buried — Jordanian desert troops peered from sand-bagged medieval walls across no man's land to the Israeli sector of Jerusalem. But the frontier was peaceful for the Holy day.

Thousands of devout pilgrims were expected to follow Christ's last walk later in the day, bent under the weight of fat-strewn crosses along the twisting, stone-flagged Via Dolorosa that marks the Way of the Cross.

Bells were silent and altars bare in Rome's 500 churches as the capital of world Catholicism commemorated Christ's passion and death.

The sacred host, removed yesterday from the main altars, was preserved on flower-banked "altars of repose."

No mass was being said and sacred images were draped in mourning purple.

Pope John XXIII, who yesterday marked Holy Thursday by conferring Episcopal consecration on 12 cardinals, planned to lead the world's Catholics in mourning in an afternoon liturgical action.

'I'll Leave Talks'--Zorin

Threatens U.S. on Tests

Major Is Suspended Following DAR Talk

WASHINGTON (U)—Maj. Archibald E. Roberts has been suspended by the Army while it investigates a speech he made without Pentagon clearance. The swift, stiff Pentagon action recalled that taken last year against his former boss, ex-Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Roberts, 46, got a standing ovation from the Daughters of the American Revolution Thursday for an off-the-cuff talk in which he charged some government officials have leftist leanings.

He applied that label to G. Mennen Williams, former governor of Michigan who is now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, and to Mayor Samuel Yorty of Los Angeles.

Yorty issued a statement in Los Angeles saying the charge was ridiculous. He said it "serves mightily the Communist objective" by causing confusion which aids subversives.

Williams is traveling in Africa and was unavailable for comment. Thursday night, Roberts got word from his commander at Ft. Lee, Va., Col. John B. Hines, that he "has been suspended from the performance of military duty pending further investigation of statements made in a public speech in Washington."

Roberts said he had not been under orders to submit his speech for Pentagon clearance. And he told a reporter "an investigation to me means that they will hear both sides. I hope that we will have the truth. I've made my position clear."

HAIR'S INVESTIGATION
He added "It has been said that Sen. Stennis' investigation of military mutiny is one of the last surviving freedom forums in America. I hope to prove it."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., is chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee which is investigating charges that the Pentagon and the State Department have silenced outspoken anti-Communist military men. Walker appeared before the Stennis group earlier this month and fired a broadside of charges against several government officials.

Roberts delivered his off-the-cuff talk to the DAR after the text of his originally planned address was denied clearance by the Pentagon. It was to have dealt with the "pro-blue" troop information program which Roberts says he drafted for Gen. Walker.

Board president Eldon Rosengart and trustee Edmund Windler, whose terms expire in June, have both taken out petitions. Rosengart is completing his first term as a board member and Windler is a veteran of more than 30 years.

Set Deadline to File for School Election
The deadline for filing petitions for the June 11 Waterford Township School Board election is May 12 at 4 p. m. Two seals on the board are at issue.

FAA Starts Proceedings To Demote Air Controller
By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor
WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has started demotion proceedings against a veteran air traffic controller whose mistake exposed two airliners to a potential collision course for nearly an hour, it was learned today.

2 More Unions Are Going After 25-Hour Week
NEW YORK (U) — Two other trade unions, encouraged by gains made by electricians, are seeking a shorter working day.

Six thousand construction plumbers in Manhattan and the Bronx want their current seven-hour day cut to five hours.

Some 11,000 bricklayers, who also work a seven-hour day, are asking that it be reduced to six hours.

The action by the two unions apparently is an outgrowth of the pre-hour day, 25-hour week, won here last January by 9,000 construction electricians following an eight-day strike.

SPEAKS TO DAR — Army Maj. Archibald E. Roberts is shown as he addressed yesterday's session of the 71st Constitutional Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The Army has announced his suspension from duty pending investigation of the talk.

12-Town Drain Project May Be In for Shutdown

The possibility of complete shutdown of all work on the $40-million 12-Town Drain project loomed today as union officials reacted negatively to an appeal from mayors of a half-dozen South Oakland municipalities.

In a letter to George F. Molnar, business manager and financial secretary for Laborers Local 1076 (AFL-CIO) in Pontiac, the mayors asked the Union to come to terms in a contract dispute with the Associated Underground Contractors.

"The mayors have evidently been misinformed," said Molnar. "Our position has been distorted."

All tunnel work has been at a standstill due to a strike of tunnel workers for 43 days.

Work has been proceeding on all open cut sewer work, but the contract with open cut sewer workers expires April 30. A walkout of the open cut workers would shut down all operations.

Adding to possibilities of a strike is the fact that after April 30 all Oakland County open cut sewer laborers will come under the jurisdiction of the Pontiac local. They are now under Local 1191 in Detroit.

General 102 Years Today
STAMFORD, Conn. (U) — Maj. Gen. Henry Clay Hodges UPI, the oldest living graduate of the U.S. military academy, celebrated his 102nd birthday today.

A walkout could affect 5,000 workers in the Oakland area, Molnar said. He denied that wage demands concerning tunnel workers were "exorbitant" or "unrealistic" as previously charged by contractors.

"Our men working underground are subject to far more dangers than building trades laborers on the surface, yet they are being paid 25 cents an hour less. Our original demand was for a 30-cent per hour hike."

"We have lowered our demands five times since negotiations started. We now are asking for a 10-cent hike this year and 10 more next year."

Tense Atmosphere Seen by Delegate but Dean Shrugs It Off

From Our News Wires
GENEVA — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin threatened today to walk out of the 17-nation general disarmament conference if the United States conducts atmospheric nuclear weapons tests in the Pacific in the next week or so.

He made the comment to newsmen after a Good Friday session of the disarmament conference.

In the conference room itself Zorin said the American tests would bring about an extremely tense international atmosphere.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean made it clear the United States tests undoubtedly will be held because of what he called the unyielding Soviet attitude.

Dean said the Soviet Union appears to have killed any chance for a quick agreement on an international ban on forced nuclear weapons test ban.

At the same time, the Soviet Union rejected a plea that it accept a test ban.

In a note delivered in Moscow today, Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda appealed to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to agree to a nuclear test ban with international control.

But Moscow reports said Soviet officials threw cold water on the appeal immediately.

K PREPARING
Soviet sources indicated Khrushchev is preparing some "diplomatic initiative" on the eve of resumption of American atmospheric nuclear testing.

The nature of the projected move was not disclosed.

It appeared Khrushchev intended a Russian call for an unpoliced moratorium on tests. The Russians remained adamant against international inspection and control.

Both Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber repeated a Russian call for an unpoliced moratorium on tests. The Russians remained adamant against international inspection and control.

"The warning would be coupled with an appeal to world public opinion and a threat that Russia would take countermeasures."

Both Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber repeated a Russian call for an unpoliced moratorium on tests. The Russians remained adamant against international inspection and control.

"The Big Three huddled again about the testing question. Then, though Zorin had indicated yesterday he might try to force continued sessions over the week end, the conference recessed for the Easter holidays. It will reconvene Tuesday."

TALKS WOULD HALT
Zorin told the closing session the projected American tests would collapse the conference and no body would forgive the United States and Britain if this happened.

"The tests would bring about the cessation and failure of these negotiations," the Russian delegate said.

OAS Killers Busy Despite Holy Day

PARIS (U) — The French news agency said today fugitive Gen. Raoul Salan has been arrested in Algiers. It quoted unofficial reports from Quet Noir, an administrative headquarters outside the city.

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Secret Army Organization (OAS) killers raked the streets of Algeria's cities with bullets and bombs today despite the solemnity of Good Friday.

Authorities prepared for a bloody Easter weekend as Moslems threatened bitter reprisals for the OAS attacks.

In an effort to end the violence and head off the reprisals, French High Commissioner Christian Fouchet announced that the new 40,000-man Moslem "local force" will be used in the heavily-European cities to fight the OAS terrorists.

By noon, OAS gunmen had killed at least seven Moslems and wounded at least one in scattered attacks. OAS saboteurs also were blamed for blowing up a section of the railway line between Algiers and the government administrative headquarters at Rocher Noir, 30 miles to the east.

In the port city of Oran, an OAS stronghold, police announced they would shoot OAS commandos on sight. The order becomes effective Monday.

The police commission, which repeated one of last week, emphasized that law forces were to open fire on any suspected OAS commandos spotted on the roofs or balconies of apartment houses or public buildings.

The communiqué said French aircraft also were under orders to shoot at any OAS troops parading in the downtown part of the city.

gun and a sack of rocks in the car, owned by Gay's father.

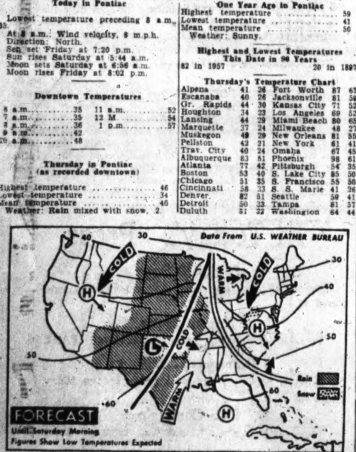

Gay said he and his companions were going to a miniature golf course and lost their way. The shots came without warning, he said, and the other two boys slipped in the seat.

"I leaned over and grabbed the steering wheel and managed to keep the car from wrecking," said the prep school athlete.

Would Outlaw Graduated Tax

OK Retaining 15-Mill Limitation, Lifting Sales Levy Earmarking

LANSING (U) — A ban on a graduated income tax, lifting of earmarking of sales tax revenues for schools, and retention of the long-standing 15-mill property tax limitation have been adopted by the constitutional convention.

Moving along on schedule, delegates completed second reading of a 16 proposal for the finance and taxation article in the new constitution yesterday before taking a weekend recess for the Easter holiday.

In adopting the prohibition against a graduated income tax, the convention left the question of a flat-rate income levy up to the legislature, which currently is considering such a tax.

The proposal incorporating the ban was adopted, 88-15, after several Democrats assailed the provision. They charged that such a ban would freeze inequalities in the constitution and discriminate against lower-paid workers.

Supporters argued, however, that a graduated tax was a device for social reform and the federal government has nearly re-emerged the field anyway.

A proposal to forbid any form of income tax without prior approval of the voters failed on a voice vote.

One of the amendment's sponsors, Lee Boothby, R-Niles, said it would merely put an income tax in the same constitutional category of sales taxes, which require a vote of the people before they can be raised.

But James Stettin, R-Detroit, countered that the proposal was neither feasible nor practical.

"This is like asking the legislature to reappropriate itself," Stettin said. "People just won't vote new taxes on themselves."

He said taxation matters were a responsibility of the legislature.

While removing the earmarking of sales tax revenues for schools, at the same time the convention decided to keep a provision dedicating gas and weight tax receipts for highway purposes.

Alvin Benley, R-Owosso, said that only 45 per cent of the total needed for schools last year came from sales taxes, with the remainder being appropriated by the legislature. He pointed out that the legislature has consistently made up the balance in recent years.

But Mrs. Katherine Cushman, D-Dearborn, contended that the convention, in effect, was placing roads on a higher level than schools.

Stuck in War on Peronists

Argentina's President Caught Between Army and Constitutionalists

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina's tug of war between anti-Peronist military leaders and constitution-minded politicians continued today with President Jose Maria Guido caught in the middle.

Guido was reported still reluctant to go along with the military's anti-Peronist demands unless the measures are approved by Congress. He reportedly sought assurances from leaders of the dominant, Intrinsigant Radical party that Congress would endorse any moves the military might force him to make.

It appeared doubtful that the Intrinsigant Radicals of deposed President Arturo Frondizi would give such assurances. Other factions in Congress were openly conferring with the Peronists in an effort to stave off the military.

A meeting between Guido and the military bosses scheduled for early today was called off at the last moment. A presidential spokesman said Guido had asked that it be postponed until later in the day because he was suffering from the flu and fatigue brought on by two virtually sleepless nights of crisis conferences.

The armed forces chiefs are demanding that Guido issue presidential decrees to (1) Ban political activity by Peronists and other elements of the military consider subversive, (2) Nullify the March 18 election results in which the Peronists scored sweeping victories, (3) End the current emergency session of Congress and (4) Call new elections for president and vice president.

Backed by the Communists—who already are banned from political activity—the Peronists pulled more than 2.5 million votes and won nine provincial governorships and 43 congressional seats in the March 18 elections. They have threatened violence unless they are allowed to take office on schedule May 1.

The Communists, staying at the beach estate of C. Michael Paul—the same house they used over the Christmas holidays, thus far have had ideal weather for their Easter vacation.

Nikita to Aid Red China?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some highly placed U.S. officials are becoming concerned over signs that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is hardening his policies toward the West and moving back into a closer relationship with Red China.

This concern is still speculative. It arises out of a careful analysis by diplomatic experts during the past week of an intensely personal letter, which seems to reflect indignation and frustration, that Khrushchev sent to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The feeling is reinforced by a knowledge that Red China is in difficult economic circumstances.

due to the failure of Peiping's Great Leap Forward program. Chinese officials "admitted the failure taken in the past week. This is taken to mean that in addition to reorganizing its development program, China has an urgent need for outside assistance which can only come from Russia and other Communist bloc countries.

As Western leaders see the situation, any intensification of the long-term, Soviet-Chinese dispute can be expected to produce Soviet maneuvers for an improvement in relations with the West. Conversely, an accommodation between Peiping and Moscow, which now seems to be in Peiping's temporary interest, may produce a toughening of Soviet policies toward the Allies.

Officials said speculation that Khrushchev is hardening his attitude, however, is so far offset by other evidence that points in a contrary direction.

This evidence is found chiefly in the receipt drop in tensions over Berlin and in the continuing friendly approach of the Soviet government to talks with the United States about a Berlin settlement. The first talk of the present round was held Monday between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin; another meeting is expected to be held soon when Dobrynin gets further instructions from the Kremlin.

President Kennedy developed at his news conference Wednesday the uncertainty which is felt

HAVE THEIR CAKE — Mrs. May Belle Butler, who helped bake it, points to the 20-foot, 15-ton cake which will serve as the centerpiece at the Seattle World's Fair Food Circus. Topping the cake are replicas of Paul Bunyan and Mt. Rainier. The cake was baked by students at Edison Technical School. School and restaurant officials pose with Mrs. Butler.

Seattle World's Fair Begins Tomorrow

SEATTLE (UPI) — This lovely, 90,000 that Mayor Gordon Clinton city bubbled with the most excitement since the 1897 Yukon gold rush today on the eve of a World's Fair expected to draw three times as many tourists as the nation's northwest usually sees in a year.

Every World's Fair has one feature that is always remembered. Seattle does not have a Sally Rand although it does have a "Backstage U.S.A." where the customers are given the illusion they have stumbled into a dressing room where the showgirls are taking showers and changing costumes.

But the single impression visitors will take home is of the soaring space needle, a 600-foot steel spire that looks like an Eiffel Tower with a bright orange disc atop.

There, in a restaurant which revolves completely once an hour, the champagne was already being.

Just looking up at the space needle from below is going to be enough to make a good many housewives say, "Uh-uh, not for me." Bus engineers have seen to it that it can stand twice the normal load required by the building code and half again as much wind as ever recorded in Seattle.

Rare Sentence Handed Rapist

'Harsh' Term Calls for Solitary Confinement, Hard Labor in Jackson

A convicted rapist was handed a rare "severe and harsh" sentence in circuit court today which orders him to solitary confinement and hard labor for nine to 30 years in Jackson Prison.

Judge William J. Beer, who handed down the sentence against Michael Griffin, 26, of Detroit, said it was only the fourth time he can remember imposing such conditions.

Beer said a special state law permits judges to specify "severe and harsh" conditions such as solitary confinement and hard labor.

The conditions were imposed in Griffin's case, Beer said, because of his past criminal record and the nature of the conviction against him.

Griffin was found guilty by a circuit court jury April 6 of the statutory rape of a 14-year-old Southfield girl last December.

Earlier, he served three terms for breaking and entering and was returned to prison once for violation of parole, according to Civil Probation Officer Arthur P. McNamee.

333 Die in State Traffic

EAST LANSING (U) — Traffic accidents have killed 333 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll on the same date a year ago was 413.

Throughout the administration here about whether the Berlin wall would hold. He recognized that "the temperature has been lowered." But he said this is a very dangerous area which could blow up any time.

About the only conviction presently held by American leaders with respect to Khrushchev's policies is that they seem to be in a state of transition. This is related to the Sino-Soviet situation as well as to reports of economic difficulties within Russia itself. It is also related to Khrushchev's failure to move the Western powers away from their announced determination to maintain their forces in West Berlin and their access to it—even though they are prepared to negotiate on a variety of related issues.

The Day in Birmingham

Board of Education VP to Seek Another Term

BIRMINGHAM — Malcolm Lovell, vice president of the Birmingham Board of Education, has announced that he will not seek another term in the June 11 school election.

Lovell, a board member since 1958 and vice president the last two years, said because of a change of residence he will not be a candidate this year.

The term of board secretary Richard Bernard also is expiring and he already has taken out noncontingent policies.

Another office-seeker is Pell Hollingshead, former cochairman of Independent Citizens for Birmingham School.

Their nominating petitions, along with any other candidates, must be returned to the board office by 4 p.m. May 12. Voters have until May 14 to register for the election.

Henry W. Valliant, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Valliant of Academy Row, Bloomfield Hills, will infer in medicine at the Boston City Hospital, Boston, Mass.

A fourth-year student at the Harvard Medical School, Valliant received his A.B. degree from Harvard University. He is married.

The annual meeting of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will be held at 8 p.m. May 3.

Officers will be elected and reports of various boards and committees' activities during the past year will be presented to the congregation.

The Future Planning Committee, under the chairmanship of Austin Miller, also will submit a report.

The Community House will sponsor a garden class beginning Monday at 9:30 a.m., with Mrs. Alice W. Burlingame as the instructor.

The five classes will be held in local gardens and instructions will emphasize design.

The Birmingham Village Players will end its 39th season with the production of "Auntie Mame," May 4, 5, 6, 12 and 13.

It will be directed by Florence Neil and produced by LeRoy Branstetter.

because of traffic congestion. They began flying a routine "race track" pattern, making a 90-degree turn every minute, and they inadvertently had been assigned to the same altitude of 7,000 feet.

The faster Electra probably passed the Viscount at least four times in a thick overcast.

It was learned that the controller at first had Eastern at 6,000 feet but ordered an immediate climb to 7,000 because a private aircraft was circling at 6,000.

Apparently the controller, a 15-year veteran, forgot he already had United at 7,000 and also failed to make a traffic warning strip with Eastern's new altitude.

Chawners of the other's presence the two planes cruised on instruments for 42 minutes before the United pilot heard the Eastern pilot message that he was leaving 7,000.

Both were observed on radar but radar depicts only speed and direction, not altitude.

Detroit Dailies Still Waiting as Strike Concludes

DETROIT (U) — Some doubt as to when this city's two daily newspapers would resume publication remained today, despite the settlement late yesterday of a strike by the Teamsters Union at The Free Press.

Wheels to resume publication were put in motion late yesterday at both the morning Free Press and the afternoon News. The papers reached tentative agreement with the Teamsters on new two-year contracts, and the union withdrew its pickets at the Free Press.

Members of Teamsters Local 372 employed at The Free Press were to vote this morning on ratification of the new agreement.

But officials of several newspaper craft unions were uncertain as to exactly when their members would return to their jobs at the News.

High Court Treads Water on Bible Ruling

Editor's Note — The Supreme Court has made clear that public schools must not engage in sectarian religious instruction. But it never has made clear whether this includes Bible reading and prayers.

By LOUIS CASSELL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court is being pressed for a clear-cut ruling on a constitutional question which it has left unsettled for 170 years. The question is:

BIBLE READING?

Does the religious freedom clause of the first amendment forbid prayer and Bible reading in public schools?

If the high court grasps this nettle — which it has refused in the past to do — its ruling could touch off the greatest controversy since the desegregation decision of 1954.

Millions of Americans harbor strong feelings on the subject of religion and its place in the public school program. Some contend that any religious exercise in a tax-supported school violates the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

Others assert that it would be a tragic repudiation of America's heritage to ban the name of God from the classrooms in which most of the nation's children are educated.

The Supreme Court has made clear in the past — most forcibly in the McCollum case of 1948 — that public schools may not engage in sectarian religious instruction, nor even permit such instruction to be given on their premises.

NO RULING

But it has never made a definite ruling on whether Bible reading

and prayers fall within the forbidden area.

State laws and state court decisions are sharply divided on the question. Daily Bible reading is required by law in the public schools of 12 states, and is authorized, at the option of the local school administration, in 24 others.

Eleven states prohibit Bible reading in public schools as unconstitutional. The remaining three have no specific law or judicial policy on the matter.

In 1951 and again in 1953, the U. S. Supreme Court refused, for procedural reasons, to take jurisdiction of cases challenging the constitutionality of religious exercises in public schools.

In 1959, a three-judge federal court in Philadelphia held unconstitutional a Pennsylvania law requiring that 10 Bible verses be read without comment at the opening of each day's activities in every public school classroom.

This decision was appealed to the Supreme Court. But before it acted, the Pennsylvania legislature amended the law to provide that any pupil might be excused from participation in the religious exercise at the request of his parents.

The Supreme Court in 1960 sent the case back to the Philadelphia court for a rehearing in the light of the changed law. Early this year, the lower court held that the amendment making participation voluntary did not alter the constitutional situation.

The purpose of the Bible reading was clearly "the promotion of religiousness," it said, and public schools had no business doing that.

This case is now returning to the Supreme Court on appeal.

Meanwhile, the high court has heard arguments on another case which raises the question of whether public schools may even acknowledge the existence of God.

REGENTS' PRAYER

This case grew out of a challenge to the so-called "Regents' prayer" used in New York state schools. The 22-word prayer was carefully composed to be as non-sectarian as possible. It says:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon thee, and we beg thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Participation in the prayer is voluntary and any child may be excused on request.

In the arguments which the court heard earlier this month, representatives of leading Jewish organizations contended that the first amendment draws no distinction between "sectarian" and "non-sectarian" religion, but bars "all religious practices in public schools."

The Jewish groups also said that religious exercises in public schools discriminate unfairly against children of minority faiths, including unbelievers, who do not wish to be singled out as "different" by refusing to participate.

And they questioned whether any real spiritual good can be accomplished by "rote recitation" of a nonsectarian prayer "in an atmosphere devoid of religious spirit."

The attorneys general of 19 states urged the court to uphold the New York practice.

Asserting that the voluntary recitation of this non denominational prayer in public schools is unconstitutional, they said, "then it should logically follow that the public acknowledgment of any prayer to Almighty God must be banished from all governmental functions."

Constitution would be "profoundly shocked" to have such an interpretation placed on the first amendment, they pointed out that the pledge of allegiance to the flag describes America as a nation "under God"; the nation's coins bear the motto, "In God We Trust"; Congress and state legislatures open their sessions with prayer; and even the Supreme Court convenes to the intonation of a marshal: "God save the United States of America. God save this honorable court."

It has been widely expected that the court would hand down its ruling before the present term ends in June. But the recent appointment of a new justice, Byron White, who did not participate in the hearing, could give the court a reason to defer action by ordering reargument of the case next term.
