

Stolen Art Worth $7 Million Is Recovered in Britain

LONDON (AP) — The $7 million worth of paintings stolen from the Dulwich College Gallery have all been recovered, police said today.

The eight paintings included three Rembrandts, three by Rubens and one each by Gerard Dou and Adam Elsheimer.

One of the Rembrandts was the "Girl at a Window," said to be worth $2.8 million. All the Rembrandts and Rubens were world famous.

Scotland Yard, announcing that the paintings had been recovered, said they were identified by the curator of the gallery.

The paintings were stolen Friday night from the college art gallery, the oldest public gallery in Britain.

BIGGEST IN HISTORY

It was the biggest art theft in history.

Police said they recovered Rembrandt's "Girl at a Window" and his portrait of his son Titus as well as the "Three Graces" by Rubens on Monday night. The other five paintings were found last night.

All the paintings were recovered in London. Officials said some were damaged but the damage was comparatively slight.

The announcement of the recovery did not say how the paintings were traced or whether anyone had been arrested.

SEVERAL QUESTIONED

Scotland Yard announced earlier that several persons were being questioned.

The Yard did not announce the recovery of the first three paintings for fear the thieves might destroy the others.

A hoard of other stolen property and some weapons was found with some of the paintings.

Scotland Yard said inquiries were continuing in an attempt to establish the identity of the art thieves.

The thieves removed a panel from a seldom-used door in the Dulwich Gallery, and one of them was small enough to slip through it.

He apparently handed the paintings out to his confederates. Those on canvas were removed from their frames and those on wood panels were lifted off their racks.

Concession on '68 Car Safety Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage is set for some give-and-take between the automobile industry and the federal government over safety features to be included in 1968 model cars.

The four major U.S. producers and many foreign manufacturers notified the Commerce Department yesterday of their inability to meet all 23 safety standards proposed for next year's cars.

See Related Story,

They indicated some could be met immediately, but requested a modification of some proposals and a delay in putting others into effect to allow for design and production changes.

Dr. William Haddon Jr., administrator of the National Highway Safety Agency, withheld judgment on the thousands of pages of comments he received from manufacturers and suppliers.

But there already were indications the differences would be negotiated.

EVALUATION TIME

Haddon said it will take two weeks just to evaluate the industry comments. He said he won't know until that time whether negotiations will be held on possible modification of the 23 proposed standards.

Under law, his agency must publish by Jan. 31 its final standards for 1968 model cars, a time schedule Haddon said he intends to keep.

But the administrator already has voiced a willingness to modify the substance and timing of the proposed standards if necessary. And Alan S. Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, has said the department doesn't plan to be hard-headed about its proposals.

The domestic manufacturers asked yesterday for a meeting with Haddon. They will likely get it since it has been the agency's policy to keep an open door.

Crowd Enthusiastic at Fernald Premiere

A lustrous capacity crowd — studded with stars of Michigan society — last night enthusiastically welcomed the state's first professional resident theater company to Oakland University.

advanced the first 21-week season of the John Fernald Company of Meadow Brook Theatre.

Following presentation of "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," the more than 600 theater-goers attended a champagne afterglow at Meadow Brook Hall.

Hostesses for the reception were the honorary cochairmen of the community leadership committee for the theater, OU's "first lady" Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and Mrs. George Romney, wife of Michigan's governor.

Among other dignitaries attending the event were multi-millionaire philanthropist C. S. Mott, UAW President Walter Reuther and high-echelon representatives of the Big Three in the auto industry.

PUBLIC OPENING

The premiere preceded to-night's public opening of the first of five plays in the season.

Speaking before the performance last night, Charles F. Adams noted the theater "wasn't even an idea six months ago."

Adams, who with his wife serves as general chairman of the community leadership committee, reported almost 6,000 season tickets thus far have been sold for the initial season.

This represents about 40 per cent of the total capacity for all performances in the 600-seat auditorium of Matilda R. Wilson Hall.

The theater and the 22-member company were established after the July announcement that OU had attracted John Fernald, former head of England's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

Hoffa Busy on Teamster Wage Goals

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, with time fast running out for his final legal efforts to stay out of prison, busied himself today in shaping up nationwide trucking contract demands.

"I guess that's how he stays sane," said a close associate about the grueling work pace maintained by Hoffa despite the eight-year jury tampering sentence hanging over him.

Hoffa kept aides working long hours wrapping up final details on wage demands he said will range from 5 to 7 per cent for some 500,000 teamsters, employees of 12,000 trucking firms.

Contract talks start in Washington Jan. 17, but unless successful in winning a new Supreme Court hearing or a new trial, Hoffa could be in prison before the March 31 contract deadline.

The Supreme Court has already rejected his appeal.

Some Teamsters sources expressed concern that the trucking negotiations might bog down if Hoffa is not around to complete them, but the 53-year-old union chief expressed confidence that a settlement will be reached without a strike.

Hoffa added that some trucking firms might have to raise their rates to pay the new labor costs.

Slayer Returns in Death Today to Windy City

Assassination Facts
Forever Clouded After
Fatal Blood Clot

CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Ruby, who grew up on Chicago's tough West Side, returned home in death today after gaining international notoriety as the slayer of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin. He will be buried beside his parents.

The plane carrying Ruby's body landed at O'Hare International Airport shortly after midnight after a flight from Dallas, where he died Tuesday at Parkland Memorial Hospital — the same hospital in which Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald died.

His death from a blood clot in the lungs forever clouded the international doubts surrounding the assassination of president Kennedy. Until the end, Ruby insisted he acted alone in fatally shooting Oswald.

Ruby, 35, had extensive cancer, but Dr. Earl Rose, the Dallas County medical examiner, said it was a massive blood clot that would probably have killed him even if he had not been weakened by cancer. Rose said, however, that cancer would be listed on the death certificate as a contributing cause.

Rose, who performed an autopsy, said the blood clot apparently formed in Ruby's leg Tuesday morning and traveled through the heart to the lungs.

Ruby's coffin was taken from the plane as soon as the doors were opened. Twenty policemen quickly placed it in a hearse for the drive to a North Side funeral home.

ACCOMPANY BODY

Ruby's brother, Earl Ruby of Detroit, and two sisters, Eileen Kaminsky of Chicago and Eva Grant of Dallas, accompanied the body on the plane.

They appeared composed as they walked quickly and silently past a waiting crowd of some 50 newsmen.

Hershey Weinstein, president of the Original Weinstein & Sons Chapel, said services and burial would be held Thursday afternoon or Friday morning.

Occasional Flurries Due Through Friday

Occasional snow flurries is the forecast today through Friday.

The weatherman reports temperatures will be somewhat warmer for the next five days with the high averaging 2 to 8 degrees above the normal high of 30 to 34, and a low of 15 to 19.

Precipitation will total one-quarter to one-half inch in rain or snow mostly Friday or Saturday.

Morning southwesterly winds at 7 to 12 miles per hour will increase to 10 to 18 miles later today and tonight.

A low of 22 was recorded at 6 a.m. today. The temperature reading at 1 p.m. was 25.

FIRST BABY OF THE YEAR — Mrs. Thomas L. Wallis of 2775 Deland, Waterford Township, holds her daughter, Michelle Lynn. The 6-pound, 14-ounce girl was the first 1967 baby born in the Pontiac area.

Area's 1st Baby of '67 Is Born on Sidewalk

Michelle Lynn Wallis was born on the sidewalk outside Pontiac General Hospital.

"She was in a real hurry," related Mrs. Thomas L. Wallis, mother of the Pontiac area's first baby of 1967. The 6-pound-14-ounce girl, born at 12:19 a.m. Sunday is the winner of the first baby of the year contest sponsored by The Pontiac Press and the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The parents and daughter will receive gifts ranging from bonnet and booties to dinners for two from 30 area businesses.

Mrs. Wallis of 2775 Deland, Waterford Township, was driven to the hospital by her husband, a traffic department clerk at Fisher Body plant. They left home at 12:10.

"I didn't even have time to sit down on the sidewalk by the hospital," Mrs. Wallis said. "The baby was born as my husband lowered me to the ground."

Hospital attendants ran out and placed the mother and baby on a cart, according to Mrs. Wallis.

ANOTHER BABY?

When asked if she would like to have another baby in a similar situation, Mrs. Wallis replied: "Not particularly."

The Wallis' have a daughter, Margaret Ann, 3, and a son, Timothy, 1.

Among the gifts are money to start a savings account, a bond, shoes, dry cleaning certificates, milk, food, and baby clothing and equipment.

Any baby born to married parents living north of 14 Mile Road in Oakland County after midnight, Dec. 31, 1966 was eligible.

Hunt, of 1650 Rathmoor, Bloomfield Hills, was an executive vice president of GMC at the time of his retirement in September 1949.

He was born in Saranac, attended the University of Michigan and entered the automotive industry in 1909, two years after his graduation.

Shortly after being hired by the Packard Motor Car Co., he was named chief engineer of that firm's car division, a position he held until 1918.

In the same year — with the United States involved in World War I — Hunt was tabbed by Liberty Aircraft to supervise en-

MAKE OVER Pilot Shortage Forces 2,300 Older Men Back to Flying

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pilot shortage has driven the Air Force into restoring 2,300 older airmen to the cockpit they abandoned in 1960-61, a Pentagon source said today.

An Air Force spokesman confirmed the 2,300 figure while noting that the Pentagon has denied officially the existence of a pilot shortage.

Even so, the Air Force announced Tuesday a program to train 3,247 pilots annually, an increase of 487 over the present rate. It also announced the reactivation of Randolph Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex., as the ninth pilot training base.

To man the ninth base, the Air Force has been authorized an additional 891 officers, 2,472 enlisted men and 766 civilian employees. The Air Force estimates cost of the expanded program at $300 million over the next five years.

All of the Air Force's 2,300 aging airmen — most are on their third war — are 45 years old, or older, and held flight status for 22 years, or longer, before stepping down in the big pilot curtailment program of 1960-61.

The Air Force spokesman said some grandfathers are among these older airmen. He told of one who is flying a twin engine C47 cargo plane in Vietnam while his son flies an F4 Phantom fighter from the same airfield.

To meet pilot needs, especially for the multiple engine cargo planes, the Air Force reportedly has striped its middle-management echelon of nearly all men who once held a pilot rating and who can still pass a flight physical.

This had left the support of air operations in many instances in the hands of nonfliers with little Air Force experience. Some of these new managers, the spokesman said, are first lieutenants.

In 1963 as part of its career management program, the Pentagon set up the so-called 45-22 club. Members of this club could at age 45, and after 22 years of jockeying aircraft, step into desk jobs and still retain their flight pay.

Whether the Navy is to get an increased pilot training program still is uncertain. Navy sources have reported the training of only 279 carrier qualified pilots annually, but say the need is around 750.

The subject of pilot shortages is to be investigated by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, headed by Sen. C. John Stennis, D-Miss., shortly after Congress reconvenes. The subcommittee already has in hand reports that the Army is short of helicopter pilots.

The over-all pilot need in all the services has been placed by some sources as high as 8,000. It takes about 18 months and $500,000 to turn out a fully qualified jet pilot.

Successful Debut Made by Theater Group at OU

By DICK SAUNDERS

Staging Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" as the premiere performance of a premiere season is like cracking a tough nut.

That's what the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre did at Oakland University last night — and did it well.

Brecht's play is not one for amateurs, but it blooms in the hands of professional actors and actresses.

Last night's performance by Michigan's only resident theatre was outstanding in view of the fact that it was the first production by a theatre which was nonexistent only three months ago.

Since Oct. 1 the company has had the job of building a theatre from scratch, as well as molding the premiere performance.

IN COMMAND

If one must pick stars, the nod in this play must go to Eric Berry for his excellent portrayal of Azdak. Berry is thoroughly at home on the stage and clearly in command from the moment he appears in Part 2 of the two-part production.

The delicate art of timing — so essential to comedy — is lacking in some instances but not with Berry. His timing is superb. He makes the most of Brecht's biting humor.

Other highlights are sparkling performances from Lorna Lewis Terence Scammell and Angela Wood. Curt Dawson plays an uproarious drunken monk and George Guidall a wonderfully evil corporal.

Tom Aston's set is one of functional beauty and rates special mention, as do the lighting and costumes. In all three departments, much was accomplished in a short time.

Audiences should go away well pleased by Fernald's premiere production and look forward to an exciting and stimulating season.

Cong Frees 2 Americans and Filipino

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Two American civilian construction men and a Philippine woman released by the Viet Cong were found today by Vietnamese militiamen, U.S. officials announced.

A U.S. spokesman said a militia patrol found Thomas R. Scales, 44, of Matamoras, Pa., Robert W. Monahan, 41, of Bellport, Long Island, N.Y., and Ophelia Gaza, wife of an Air America employee, near Xuan Loc, 40 miles northeast of Saigon.

The spokesman said Mrs. Gaza's Filipino husband died in captivity Dec. 30.

The Viet Cong radio announced Tuesday night that Scales and Monahan would be released. They disappeared May 27, 1966, while driving to Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. Their jeep was found later.

A jury found Belcher guilty of first-degree murder and Circuit Judge Philip Pratt sentenced him to a mandatory life term in the state prison at Jackson.

Serving as Belcher's court-appointed attorney is Jerome K. Barry of Pontiac, now serving as a special prosecutor to the one-man grand jury investigation being conducted by Pratt.

Opposing Barry's motion will be Assistant Prosecutor James Roberts, who was the chief prosecutor during Pratt's first grand jury probe into crime and corruption in Royal Oak Township.

Barry was appointed to defend Belcher after his attorney, John McIntosh, died while his motion requesting permission to seek a new trial was pending before the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Belcher was arrested and charged 10 days after his 35-year-old wife Catherine and the children, all under 10 years of age, were asphyxiated in the Jan. 25, 1965 blaze.

Following the war, he worked briefly for Hare's Motor in New York and, in 1921, joined Chevrolet Motor Division as chief engineer, the beginning of his 48-year association with GM.

By 1927, he had worked with Chevrolet Sales Manager Richard H. Grant and General Manager William S. Knudsen to make "Chevy" the largest automobile producer in the U. S.

Staff engineers and production experts under Hunt's supervision by 1928 had developed Chevrolet's first 6-cylinder engine.

NAMED TO POST

Two years later, he was named GM's first vice president in charge of engineering.

In that capacity, he led the nation's largest corporation in developing vast technical facilities, including the Milford proving ground, a new device and patent section and product study groups.

Succeeding promotions for Hunt included a position in 1934 on the GM board of directors and appointment in 1942 as executive vice president.

His talents in wartime once again served the national interest through his contribution in World War II to engineering of the famed Allison aircraft engine.

MERIT CERTIFICATE

For his work in the manufacture and mass production of aircraft equipment, he was awarded the President's Certificate of Merit on Jan. 26, 1949.

His executive abilities following his retirement were from 1954 to 1963 utilized on the Bloomfield Hills Planning Commission.

Hunt's professional group activities included membership in the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Detroit Engineering Society and Tau Beta Phi, an honorary engineering fraternity.

Numbered among his social affiliations were the Detroit Club, the Recess Club, the Detroit Athletic Club and the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Tree Spraying Okayed Again

BIRMINGHAM — The apparent success of spraying trees from a helicopter to combat Dutch Elm Disease prompted the city commission last night to authorize its use again this year.

Darrel C. Middlewood, superintendent of the Forestry and Parks Department, reported to the commission that tree losses due to Dutch Elm Disease during the 1966 season were far below the previous year.

Last year, a total of 258 trees became infected and required removal while in 1965 the total was 412.

Middlewood said he could not state definitely if the aerial spraying was the prime reason for the reduction, but that he did believe the new method of application had considerable bearing on bringing about the control of the disease.

Had it not been for the helicopter, said Middlewood, his department would have been unable to complete the control program last spring with a ground sprayer because of poor spraying conditions.

Approximately 10,000 trees were sprayed in 1966 at a total cost of $9,345, compared to the $7,000 sprayed from the ground in 1965 at a cost of $6,600.

Tree losses on city property last year represented about one per cent of the total elm population, a percentage considered to be excellent by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Middlewood said.

Losses in many communities in the Detroit area and out of state were as high as 10 to 15 per cent of the total elm population, according to Middlewood.

The board of education last night authorized construction of a central administration building on a portion of the Baldwin School property.

Smith and Smith Associates, architect, was directed to design plans for the building.

The present Hill Building is to be demolished when the new one is completed.

The board also approved schematic drawings for a proposed elementary school at 13 Mile and Fromm and preliminary drawings and specifications for the addition to Walnut Lake Elementary School.

Eberle Smith Associates, architect, was authorized to proceed with designs for the new elementary school and with final drawings for the Walnut Lake addition.

Jaycees Set Tree Pickup

Johnson said trees will be burned at 7 p.m. Sunday on the northwest corner of Crescent Lake Road at M59.

Residents also are invited to bring trees to the bonfire.

An Academic Dream Comes True

Tuesday marked the 10th anniversary of one of the most significant events in the history of Oakland County. For it was on Jan. 3, 1956, that Oakland University was born.

It was born of the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. ALFRED G. WILSON. An interest in education and young people inspired a grant of 1,400 acres of their beautiful Meadow Brook estate together with an endowment of $2 million to found, in conjunction with Michigan State University, this dream school of higher education.

The dream has abundantly come true, far beyond the vision of its creators. It has grown from an opening student enrollment of 570 to today's 3,142—expected to reach 4,000 in the future.

Needless to say, this fantastic evolution of the dream did not materialize without brick and mortar to give it reality and dedicated academic leadership to give it character.

The first was underwritten by the flow of public and private funds that saw the institution spread from its modest two-building start to its present complex of 18 halls of learning and auxiliary structures.

The second found expression in the fortuitous appointment of DURWARD E. VARNER, Vice President of Michigan State University at the time, as Chancellor of OU. "Woody" has seen his initial faculty grow from 22 members to its 1967 complement of 175.

But the undying spirit of its gracious, 83-year-old benefactress, Mrs. WILSON (now widowed), will forever be a venerated presence animating the educational dream of the century.

The Press extends its warm felicitation to this gentlewoman on the 10th birthday of the institution she cradled.

Inaugural Address Blueprints a Better State

In his inaugural address for a third term as governor of Michigan, GEORGE ROMNEY outlined many long-term objectives for the well-being of the State's citizenry.

Stressing that the groundwork for great progress had been laid during the past four years, he pointed to many areas awaiting expansion or innovation.

Chief among them are:

- A climate wherein individuals could flower to full capacity aided by broadened state programs conducive to social, educational and economic advancement.
- The erosion of urban centers and the need to rehabilitate them, with emphasis on meeting demands for new concepts in public transportation.
- Rebirth of moral values among the people and strengthening of the fabric of family life, and a vigorous attack on the lawlessness that is gaining a foothold nationally and locally.

● Less dependence on government and more on individual initiative, with reversal of the trend toward concentration of Federal power.

Pointing out that half the population of Michigan is less than 30 years old, ROMNEY said that a new generation of people must provide much of the driving faith, imagination, intelligence and resolve that the future will require.

He translated his landslide victory for the governorship last November into a mandate by Michigan voters for "a government that serves us, not one that makes us dependent and stifles us — a government we can control, not one that manages our lives."

The Governor's message was a thoughtful one aimed at thoughtful people. Never in the history of the Republic has there been greater need for enlightened government on all levels than our parlous times cry for.

We have every confidence that George Romney will effectively meet the stern challenges of his office. We wish him well.

Gadget Seen Ruling on Drivers' Sobriety

The decision as to whether a person is sober enough to drive home after drinking, something that is the source of many a postparty argument, may be taken out of human hands entirely.

Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine Dr. CARL S. ALEXANDER suggests that a drunkometer could be linked directly to a car's ignition system. To start the motor, the driver would first have to breathe into the drunkometer, which would measure the alcoholic concentration of his breath.

If it were above a fixed level, the meter would not permit the ignition circuit to function. Such a device, says the doctor, would take the decision to drive or not to drive away from the drinking person, whose overconfidence is often directly proportional to his overimbibing, and insure that the car be operated only by a sober driver.

Most Foreign Policy Is Successful

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the exception of Vietnam, the Johnson administration is generally optimistic about America's foreign relations in the new year.

Washington policymakers hope for notable progress in the negotiations with the Soviets for a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons. They figure the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has survived the initial shock of its military divorce from France and, from its new headquarters in Belgium, will reshape its policies to meet new realities.

They expect that the years of Kennedy Round tariff talks will wind up in mid-1967 in agreement on a significant reduction of trade barriers.

They find the Latin-American scene so heartening that President Johnson plans to journey to Uruguay for a summit meeting in mid-April.

Good progress reports are coming in from most of America's friends in Asia.

Red China's potential threat to the outside world is still submerged in her internal turmoil.

Prospects from African and Middle East areas are mixed, but there is no great power crisis.

The biggest blot in the picture, from the U. S. diplomatic standpoint, is Vietnam. And it could cloud prospects elsewhere.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk both view the inability to achieve peace in Vietnam as a prime failure in 1966. They blame this on the Communists.

Without a diplomatic settlement, the Vietnam conflict promises to go on far beyond this year. Neither the U. S. military commander there, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, nor the top civilian, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, is predicting by what year the Reds will be quelled.

Very cautiously, Lodge forecasts enough headway on the military, political, economic and pacification programs in South Vietnam during 1967 to see "light at the end of the tunnel."

Washington's foreign policy will take more pounding from non-Communist critics who disapprove of U.S. actions in Vietnam.

American diplomats freely acknowledge that they must focus on the continuing Vietnam question, until peace comes. It is much effort that they would rather devote to furthering U. S. policy in other areas of the world.

—For Good Behavior!

David Lawrence Says:

Presidential Burden Is Too Big

WASHINGTON — Maybe it's more logical to look ahead—instead of retrospectively—in choosing a "man of the year."

As 1967 begins, unquestionably "the man with the burden of the year" is Lyndon Baines Johnson. While he is the President of only one country, he has on his shoulders the weight of a troubled world.

Even if the domestic problems were not so complex, an awesome responsibility still is imposed today on a chief executive as he strives to prevent the big war which might come suddenly or seeks to make the big peace for which mankind yearns.

Are the tasks of the presidency too much for one man?

The answer in at least one respect is obvious. No single individual can be expected to handle the presidential burdens by himself.

Since two or more heads are better than one, it would be a good thing to set up a cabinet group with five of the best qualified persons in America to act as a day-by-day advisers on foreign policy.

NONOPERATIONAL

They would not have the job of operating any of the regular departments. Their nominations, moreover, would be submitted to and confirmed by the Senate so that they would be responsible to Congress as well as to the president.

In domestic affairs, the same formula could be applied. The problems of the United States—both at home and abroad—are important enough to require the concentrated attention of at least 10 outstanding individuals serving alongside the president.

They could meet daily, as the executive committee of the board of directors of many a large corporation does nowadays.

Under the suggested supplement to the existing system, the routine business of government could be managed by career personnel, and these administrative managers of the different departments and agencies would report periodically to the president through a cabinet committee.

NOT ONLY WEAKNESS

Insufficient help at a president's side, however, is not the only weakness. There is, unfortunately, a tendency to let so-called political judgments rule the day.

It was the late President Kennedy who said in his inaugural address: "Ask not what your country will do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

This is still the doctrine which should motivate a president as he asks himself not what a particular decision will do for him politically, but what it will do for the country.

If Mr. Johnson decides in favor of all the people, he could become the "man of the year" not merely in 1967 but on election day in November 1968.

Bob Considine Says:

Friend and Foe Are Alike to Medical Missionary

NEW YORK—Jim Turpin is probably the only medical missionary ever launched on his mission by a racetrack.

His zeal and achievement have improved the breed. Of missionaries and doctors, if not horses.

John Alessio, who operates Agua Caliente, CONSIDINE cranked up Turpin with a round trip airline ticket to Hong Kong.

Dr. Turpin had become interested in needy Mexicans. He didn't come in contact with very many of them in his $50,000-a-year practice in Coronado, Calif., so he spent a day a week working in Tijuana.

It gave him a yearning to see and attend to even graver human need. And so his friend Alessio sent him on his way. That was 1961.

It resulted in a pure chain reaction. Suffice it to say that now his organization, Project Concern, operates two floating clinics among the teeming and sorely neglected Chinese inhabitants of the Aberdeen section of Hong Kong, has clinics elsewhere in the crown colony, including the notorious walled city of Kowloon, and has moved on to Vietnam to perform unique tasks in that tortured land.

DARING INNOVATIONS

Project Concern's work in Vietnam is characterized by daring innovations.

Its doctors, nurses and technicians are from a dozen nations. It moves into regions in Vietnam where not only angels but heavily armed troops fear to tread.

It gets along without the firepower of armed security. It treats wounded Vietcong as readily as it treats the friendlies.

It is giving the enemy, and families of the enemy, a totally new view of the free world's great heart and honorable intentions.

"I'm no do-gooder," Dr. Turpin said. "I was restless, ill at ease, all the time that I was doing so well in Coronado."

"I need the people we now help. They need me. Trouble with us, over the years, is that we've often been

'United States Must Fight to Win War in Vietnam'

Some of our clergy may well go down in history as the modern Benedict Arnolds. We all pray for peace but not at the price of a Communist takeover. If we were right to go into Vietnam then we owe it to the ones who died or are prisoners to fight with every weapon at our command, and fight to win.

The Communists are wily, they place their supplies amid civilians for the purpose of making the U.S. seem cruel, and misguided civilians hamper our generals in their fight to win. If the Communists win they will show you no quarter even if you wear a sign saying you are a civilian and were in favor of their takeover. No one trusts a traitor.

This country was born on the battlefield of freedom and I'd like to believe my grandchildren will enjoy their heritage.

Reader Is Disillusioned by Recent Events

What a sad state of affairs when an honest man like Edward Cheyz can be indicted by a one-man grand jury, lose his job and reputation as a result, suffer four weeks through a jury trial during which the prosecution couldn't produce any evidence, just because someone thought a business letter "looked fishy." Only those responsible for ruining this man's life know the reason this tragedy occurred. Are they to go unpunished for their misdeeds?

DISILLUSIONED

Wants Simpler Method of Collecting Taxes

Most taxpayers realize the need for extra monies in the local, state and federal treasuries and would be willing to pay this extra if it could be quietly taken from our payroll without filing long forms and the intimidation that follows, such as the Federal government's present policy to file by a certain time and be called in for investigation. Certain classes could be examined but the average payroll deduction without long forms would be far more acceptable. The motto could be "quick and easy."

TOO MUCH RED TAPE

Suggests We Listen to Current Rumblings

There is a tendency to blame all violence and crime on public apathy.

There is a rumbling arising against the judges who so nobly assess $5 fines, coddle hoodlums and search diligently for legal loopholes to free criminals. There's a rumbling against clergymen who preach sedition — love thyself and protect thyself first and foremost and let the country go hang. There is a rumbling against beatings and stabbings that go unpunished.

Listen for it — you'll hear it.

Call the violations bureau and report it. They keep a record of the number of the meter and the time it was out of order. Then if you are ticketed during that time, the ticket will be voided.

On the Go
The New Canaan (Conn.) Advertiser
People do all right today as far as income goes—no matter which way they turn it goes.

Handy Gadgets
Bay City Times
One of the big attractions at the modern supermarket is something the proprietor doesn't even advertise — the grocery cart.

So irresistible is the lure of this handy gadget that each year almost 1,000,000 supermarket shoppers craftily stow the cart into their car along with the groceries they have just bought and head for home. Such mass dishonesty is appalling.

The result is that the grocery cart is fast emerging as the top all-purpose item of the space age.

Outdoor diners have discovered that it makes a wonderful portable charcoal grill.

Service stations use it for battery-testing equipment, and building custodians for hauling cleaning supplies.

Gardeners ingeniously line it with plastic sheeting and have a wheelbarrow. And housewives couldn't get along without it for laundry or as a planter.

Young mothers adore it as a stroller for baby. (Baby likes it, too, because it's nice and shiny.) And if dad is a do-it-yourselfer, he knows nothing can beat it as a mobile tool chest.

To an important degree, this soaring ascent of domestic-civilian spending is attributable to federal programs which benefit the states and localities and couldn't be terminated without evoking a tremendous howl from the governors.

Thus it isn't the prospective tax increase which is getting in the way of the proposed turnback of federal tax collections. It's the proliferation of federal programs which require ever-increasing federal spending.

The impending tax boost is an effect of the increased spending rather than a cause of anything.

If the federal government turned tax money back to the states while increasing its domestic-civilian outlays it simply would increase its deficits which it then would have to wash out in quickening inflation.

Federal Spending
The Daily Oklahoman
Governors attending a national conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., say they believe a tax increase to finance the war in Vietnam would preclude any state sharing of federal revenues.

But of course the influence of Vietnam is comparatively small in the total scale of federal spending which conceivably could produce a "conventional" budget of $140 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Federal domestic-civilian spending is increasing faster than military spending. Non-military spending has risen more than $40 billion to $95 billion since 1961, whereas military spending has risen only by $27 billion to nearly $72 billion.

'Opening Night' at Meadow Brook Puts Localites in Bright Spotlight

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

When Oakland University puts on a "gala", it is done in top style. Tuesday's opening of the Meadow Brook Theatre was no exception.

Guests at the premiere performance of the John Fernald Company in Bertold Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" came in formal gowns and tuxedos. It was a glittery evening.

VARNERS, HOSTS

Chancellor and Mrs. D. B. Varner entertained at dinner in Vandenberg Hall preceding the play. It honored not only the new performing arts project of the university, but also the 10th anniversary of its founding.

The charm of a Texan when he puts his mind to it is equaled only by someone who has kissed the Blarney stone. And Woody Varner was in his usual good form Tuesday evening.

After a brief review of how OU came into being and the ensuing 10 years, he paid special tribute to Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, who with her late husband gave both land and money to start the school.

Mrs. Wilson has been the "first lady" of the University since the charter class entered. To mark this 10th year, she was presented with a gold charm — the seal of Oakland University set with 10 diamonds.

"The diamonds are small, Mrs. Wilson," said Varner, "but many carats of affection come with them."

Other charms went to Mrs. Ben D. Mills for her chairmanship of the Meadow Brook Music Festival in 1966 and to Mrs. Charles Adams, cochairman of the Meadow Brook Theatre.

FROM VIRGINIA

Among special guests at the dinner was Helen Marie Taylor of Richmond, Va. who was responsible for persuading John Fernald to come to OU and establish a repertory theatre.

After the play — which started late and ended near midnight — most of the audience went to Meadow Brook Hall for an afterglow. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. George Romney were cohostesses.

The mansion never looked lovelier. There were flowers everywhere — hundreds of roses, carnations, lilies, tulips, chrysanthemums, blue flags and even white lilacs.

Refreshment tables were set not only in the enormous dining room where the Stuart portrait of George Washington overlooks the party, but also in the ballroom on the lower level.

Fires burned in all the fireplaces, a cheering sight on a snowy evening.

CAST ARRIVES

The cast of the Fernald Company joined the guests at Meadow Brook.

There were both long and short gowns and more color than neutrals.

Mrs. Varner was in green crepe; Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald in black with beaded bodice. Mrs. Walter Reuther's auburn hair was complemented by her turquoise and gold sari gown.

Mrs. John Fernald was in rosy red and Mrs. Harry Wieting who headed the ticket committee with her husband, was in beige lace with matching coat.

Mrs. Robert Critchfield wore emerald green; Mrs. Virgil E. Boyd and Mrs. S. E. Knudsen both wore midnight blue; Mrs. Wilson had on a gown and coat of green and gold brocade; Mrs. Mills wore a pink beaded gown. And Mrs. R. Jamison Williams had on a black lace cage over a beige shift.

As we said, it was a gala glittering evening.

Urge Preparation for Loss

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My sister has a 12-year-old son who was born with one deaf ear and about one third hearing in the other ear. His doctors have informed my sister that in the very near future the boy will be totally deaf.

Don't you think the mother is being extremely unfair to hide the truth from her son? She is a college graduate and a prominent socialite and she seems almost ashamed of her son's handicap. She said she couldn't bear the thought of his wearing a hearing aid or studying lip-reading so young.

She thinks highly of your advice, Abby, so please answer.

DEVOTED AUNT
DEAR AUNT: That mother is doing her son a shocking disservice. The boy should start preparing immediately to live in a silent world. It will be much more difficult for him to learn after he has suffered a total hearing loss.

Urge your sister to talk to her son's doctors and to follow their recommendations. And I hope for the boy's sake she acts at once.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and a boy I know who is 14 asked me to be his girl and I said yes.

Then he asked me if he could kiss me on the lips. Abby, I told him that I had never let a boy kiss me on the lips and I wasn't going to let him either. Well, then he said he was sorry, that he guessed he was just a little bit more grown up than I was, and he would have to find someone more grown up to be his girl.

Well, I didn't really care that much about him, so there wasn't too much heartbreak. But, Abby, I am still confused. SHOULD I have let him kiss me on the lips?

PRIVATE NAME

DEAR PRIVATE NAME: I think you used excellent judgment.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is dead and I had two enlarged pictures of him nicely framed and I keep them in my living room. The other day a neighbor came in and saw them and she said personal pictures did not belong in the living room.

Abby, I haven't had much education and I would appreciate it if you would tell me if I am wrong to keep his pictures there.

I get a lot of pleasure out of looking at his pictures in the living room, but if they really don't belong there I suppose I could put them somewhere else. Thank you. JUST DUMB

DEAR JUST: Personal pictures should be enjoyed. And they "belong" where ever they afford the most pleasure.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WITS END WIFE": Yours is the curse of being married to a man who appears to be younger than his years and also younger than his wife. Don't for goodness sake, try to let people know in some "subtle" way that he is really older than you. It is bound to create the opposite impression.

Noted newsman and author, Sydney J. Harris will speak at Thursday and Friday's Birmingham Town Hall on "The Search for Values in an Affluent Society."

A product of London, England, Harris began his journalistic career as a copy boy. He later joined the editorial staff of the Chicago Daily News as a reporter and then drama critic, a post he still holds.

Harris who has authored four books is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, the Headline Club, Chicago Press Club, and Arts Club.

Luncheons will be held on both days in the Bloomfield Open Hunt. Birmingham Town Hall begins at 11 a.m. in the Birmingham Theatre.

Scott Romney Plans to Wed Ronna Stern

Mr. and Mrs. Will Harry Kraus of Bloomfield Village announced the engagement of her daughter, Ronna Eileen, to George Scott Romney, son of Gov. and Mrs. George Romney Tuesday evening.

The announcement was made at a dinner in the Kingsley Inn.

Scott Romney is the elder son of the governor. He attended Stanford University for three years before spending two years in England as a representative of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

In June he received a B.A. degree in economics from Michigan State University. He is now a first year law student at Harvard. While at Stanford he was affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

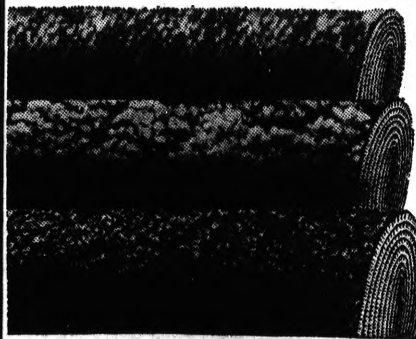

Miss Stern is a senior at Oakland University. She had previously attended Michigan State University and the University of Arizona where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority.

DECEMBER VOWS
The couple will be married in December.

In addition to the young couple and their parents, guests at the dinner were the bride-elect's two sisters, Terry and Mrs. Ernest Jones II (Toby); her brother and sister-in-law, the Michael Sterns; James Schulte, Ronna's uncle, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones.

Concluding the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Keenan and Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Robinson. The women are Scott's sisters.

Students to Learn About Today's World

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — A novel experiment in teaching college students about today's world begins a three-week trial today at Bluffton College.

Before the experimental "interterm" ends Jan. 27, all the college's 650 students and 50 faculty members will have explored the general topic of "The City" in formal and informal discussions.

During the 3½ weeks the students will hear televised lectures by Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, Sen.-elect Charles H. Percy of Illinois, and Gov. George Romney of Michigan, all Republicans, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, a Democrat.

They also will hear several other experts, from municipal officials to newspapermen.

'NO SOLUTIONS'

"We're not going to solve the problems of the city," said Don Pannabecker, a teacher of philosophy and religion who is director of "interterm."

"We just hope we can educate the students, make them aware of the problems, just kind of open their eyes to the world."

The idea of interterm, a period between regular semesters devoted to special study, originated from a desire "to get students out of the academic compartments they're being put in," Pannabecker said.

Students at Bluffton, a Menonite-affiliated college, selected the city as their topic. A committee of 12 students and 12 faculty members worked out details, which include 10 seminar areas — such things as physical problems, the role of the church, education, politics, culture, economics, and family groups.

TWO SEMINARS

Each student will attend two seminars, writing a paper in one area and taking an examination in the other.

The entire college will gather for major speakers, starting with Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh of Detroit. Each seminar group of about 100 will hear specialists and then split into groups of about 20 for discussions and field trips.

Although Bluffton is a Menonite school, only 30 per cent of its students are members of that religious denomination.

Some students are already traveling, at their own expense,

Still on Drawing Board

Superplane Is Far Off

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The awards of contracts for the U.S. supersonic airliner were not all they seemed.

Although the government designated Boeing as contractor for the craft and General Electric as the supplier of engines, no announcement was made of a schedule for the project.

As it stands now, the supersonic contracts do not even lift the project off the drawing boards, President Johnson said he could not even predict when construction would begin.

Some observers still are disturbed by the fact that the tremendous thunderclap that will trail the supersonic may make it almost useless for domestic flight.

Any project of this size, especially one which involves innovations that have been proven only on paper or in the laboratory, is wide open to criticism. And the critics aren't silent.

Among the chief criticisms is that the supersonic airliner is not needed. Another is that it is unproven technologically. And still another is the method and cost of financing.

GOVERNMENT COMMITTED

Present indications are that development costs will come close to $5 billion. The government is committed to pay at least 75 per cent of this amount — a sum that has been growing, as seems always to be the case in financing large projects.

Some feeling also exists that one company should not be entrusted with sole responsibility for such a project. And the fact that the thunderclap problem has not been solved, and won't be until a prototype is built, lends credence to suggestions that Lockheed still might be in the picture.

The reasoning here is that most of Boeing's supersonics might initially be used for transoceanic flight. The noise factor isn't so important over water. The big plane could cruise from its takeoff city at subsonic speed, reaching sound-breaking speed out over the ocean.

If the Boeing supersonic is used only across oceans, it is possible that a smaller, slower supersonic might be built for domestic use. The assumption is that a small plane would be less of an aural nuisance.

OVERRIDING ASPECT

Balanced against these negatives is one overriding positive aspect: the demand of the U.S. balance of payments situation.

A supersonic airliner could make a tremendous difference in our trade balance. If we exported supersonic planes our trade balance would improve by billions of dollars. Without a supersonic we would have to import, and our trade deficit would deepen.

Three other nations are involved in building supersonics: the Soviet Union, Britain and France. American companies already have signed contracts to buy the supersonic Concorde, a product of a French-British alliance.

These initial orders already total $6. At $16 million a plane that means an outgo of U.S. dollars totaling $76 million.

SMALLER, SLOWER LINER

The French-British version, a smaller and slower liner than the planned U.S. liner, is expected to be ready for testing about a year from now and to be available commercially in three years, well ahead of ours.

Critics argue that this country can afford to delay a bit and let others make the big mistakes. Almost everyone agrees, however, that the United States cannot afford to give up the commercial airliner market, a market it now dominates.

Siamese Twins

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — Margaret and Mary Gibb, 54-year-old Siamese twins, are reported in "fair to good" condition at Holyoke Hospital for treatment of an undisclosed ailment.

Hospital officials said Tuesday the sisters were admitted last Friday.

The unmarried sisters are joined at the base of the spine and share the same blood supply. They have separate organs and do not feel each other's pain.

Q "My husband is 60 years old and I am 50. We have accumulated $9,000 in cash, own our home and have no debts outstanding. Recently my husband retired and began to draw a good pension. I still work so we don't need this money right now. Are we too old to start investing?" L.M.

A) Short selling is a timely subject and I'm glad to comment. Basically, the argument runs like this: any trader having shorts outstanding must eventually cover his position. Therefore, he is a potential buyer of stocks. Since most short selling is done after a decline in well under way, it follows that the overall short position will usually be largest at or close to market bottoms. As a result, the outlook brightens—as it always does—the normal upswing will be accelerated by the frantic covering of the bears who waited a little too long.

Deny Bombing N. Viet City

Pentagon Rebuttal to NY Times Dispatch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has officially denied that U.S. planes deliberately bombed civilian areas of Nam Dinh, North Vietnam's third largest city.

The statement was contained in a Defense Department letter to Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., that amounts to an official rebuttal of some portions of a New York Times dispatch about U.S. bombing of the city.

Dated Dec. 30 and made public Tuesday night, the letter was signed by Phil G. Goulding, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs. It came in response to Reid's request for a restatement of U.S. policy on bombing and targeting in North Vietnam in light of recent Times' dispatches reporting widespread civilian deaths and damage.

Harrison E. Salisbury, a Times' assistant managing editor, said in one dispatch from Hanoi last week that U.S. planes have systematically attacked nonmilitary targets including a textile plant and dikes in Nam Dinh, killing 89 persons. He added: "No American communiqué has asserted that Nam Dinh contains some facility that the United States regards as a military objective."

DOUBTS ACCURACY

Goulding said this statement "is without accuracy." He added: "The New York Times simply did not take the time to research the matter themselves — or, indeed, to ask our assistance."

The Times, however, said in today's editions that before Salisbury's dispatch was published Dec. 27 "it was read to Defense Department officials."

"In a statement printed in the same issue of the New York Times," the newspaper said, "administration officials conceded for the first time that American bombing raids against North Vietnam were accidentally causing damage to civilian areas."

"The officials also said that there were military targets in Nam Dinh and that American aircraft had repeatedly bombed them."

HIT SIX TIMES

Salisbury also reported last week that a dike on the Red River near Nam Dinh had been hit by U.S. bombers six times.

More Views Seen Against Rep. Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investigating subcommittee's criticism of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell can't help but produce more votes to prevent the Harlem Democrat from taking his seat in the new Congress next Tuesday, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin said today.

Van Deerlin, a California Democrat, has announced that he will ask that Powell stand aside when the other members-elect are sworn in. He said he is sending every House member today an outline of further proposal to keep Powell from taking his seat while a special committee looks into his qualifications.

CREDIT CARDS

The House Administration Committee published Tuesday its subcommittee's finding that Powell used official travel credit cards deceptively.

It said Powell used an assumed name for some of his own travel and that a staff employee, Corinne A. Huff, did likewise. Travel was provided at the expense of the Education and Labor Committee, which Powell heads, for persons unconnected with Congress, the report said.

Waterford Township police are investigating a break-in at Alice's Tel-Huron Gulf Service, 5 N. Telegraph, in which $32 was taken from a cash box.

Richard Roberts of 3400 Fremont, Waterford Township, reported to township police yesterday the larceny of tools, valued at $60, from his car parked at his home.

Lawsuit Faced by Waterford

Former Policeman Demands Job Back

A Waterford Township policeman who was fired in November for refusing to sweep floors filed a suit yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court asking for reinstatement.

The suit was started by Ronald Freeman, a patrolman with seven years on the department.

Freeman is requesting the court to order the township board to give him back his job and to pay him back wages.

A hearing is scheduled for 9 a.m. Jan. 23 before Judge William J. Beer.

Freeman contends that the procedure followed by the township officials in discharging him was improper.

STATE STATUTE

A veteran of World War II, Freeman says that the charge of insubordination for which he was discharged is not proper grounds for the dismissal of a veteran under a state statute.

He was fired Nov. 10, three days after disobeying an order to clean the police station floor.

The dismissal was ruled justified by the township board last month and several days later by the township Civil Service Commission.

Woman Held Without Bond in Slaying

A Detroit woman is held without bond at the Oakland County Jail following her arraignment yesterday in the fatal shooting of a Pontiac bar owner.

Mrs. Margaret Overton, 39, a former city resident, demanded examination at her appearance before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

McCallum set hearing on the charge of first degree murder for Jan. 10.

Mrs. Overton was taken into custody by Pontiac police detectives late yesterday after being arrested by Detroit police at her home Monday.

Foster, owner of Foster's Bar at 335 Wessen, was found early Sunday, shot once in the chest with a 22-caliber pistol.

Witnesses told investigators they saw Mrs. Overton flee Foster's apartment at 379 S. Paddock following an argument between the two.

Former Head of Rubber Union Is Dead at 72

Classes Start March 6

OCC Police Academy to Begin

The first class for the newly established Oakland Police Academy of Oakland Community College will begin March 6 at the college's Auburn Hills Campus in Pontiac Township.

Upwards of 50 police officers representing 18 communities are expected to enroll in the six-week program which offers six hours of college credit.

Agencies who are cooperating with personnel of the academy include the Michigan State Police, Secretary of State, Liquor Control Commission, Michigan Department of Education and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The establishment of the academy for the training of county law enforcement officers stems from a recommendation made by a committee appointed by the County Board of Supervisors Sept. 16, 1965, to study law enforcement problems in the county.

Royal Oak attorney John B. Osgood was chairman of that committee and members were attorneys John S. Slavens and Robert A. Frye, Ralph Moxley, Birmingham police chief; William Hanger, Pontiac police chief, Sheriff Frank W. Irons and Prosecuting Attorney S. Jerome Bronson.

TOOK POSITION

Slavens later assumed the chairmanship of the committee when Osgood resigned to accept a position as a member of the County Board of Auditors.

After several meetings with law enforcement officers, it became apparent to the committee that if long-range training was to be made available to members of municipal police agencies additional training facilities would be needed.

Last August Slavens, Hanger, Moxley and Frye met with representatives of Oakland Community College to discuss the possibility of a training program at the college.

Confident that the police science program being conducted by associate professor Eugene M. Freeman was of the caliber needed and that the college could provide the necessary facilities, it was the decision of the committee to establish the academy at OCC.

A curriculum committee, chaired by Hanger, met with Freeman to draft a curriculum and help provide instructors for the academy.

The six-week session will consist of a five-day, 40-hour week and will deal primarily with fundamentals of police operations and principles and applications of criminal law. It will also include other police and related subjects.

This basic police training program is designed to provide new police officers with a firm understanding of the application of sound law enforcement practices.

According to Moxley, the committee hopes to expand the program in the future to offer intensified training in courses of one or two weeks duration covering such topics as police supervision, crime investigation, police administration, riot control and in-service training.

AREA OFFICERS

Expected to enroll in the March 6 course are police personnel from Pontiac, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Farmington, Farmington Township, Huntington Woods, Keego Harbor, Madison Heights, Milford, Oak Park and Pleasant Ridge.

Others are personnel from Rochester, Royal Oak, Royal Oak Township, Southfield, Troy, Waterford Township and the Kensington Park Rangers.

Occult Look at 1967 Taken by Our Seer Without Peer

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Here we go with our fearless forecasts for 1967... George Hamilton & Lynda Bird won't get married in '67, nor will Ann-Margret and Roger Smith (both couples could even break up), nor will Jackie Kennedy... but Comedian Joe E. Lewis, who will work again, might possibly trip to the altar with Lynn Palmer whom he gave a big gold ring for Christmas.

Jane Fonda, who's naked about 1/4 of the time in "The Game Is Over," will establish herself as the nudest U.S. actress... A top entertainer who has four or five bodyguards will worry himself sick about being messed up by parties he owes $250,000... Cary Grant will be telling old friends he'd see them more often, "but I don't want to leave my lovely baby and my darling wife."

Paula Prentiss' husband Richard Benjamin will be acclaimed for his stage role in the "Star Spangled Girl." Paula will be equally acclaimed for her decolletage... The football Giants may win as many as two games, the Mets'll be the Mets, and the '67 sports hero could be Lew Alcindor, U.C.L.A.'s basketball star.

Eddie Fisher will prove he's serious about still being married to Liz Taylor by swearing it's true in a deposition or at a hearing. (So how can he be thinking of marrying Connie Stevens right now, as we keep hearing?)... Melina Mercouri'll be the Angela Lansbury of '67 in "Ilya, Darling" which'll make Orson Bean a star. Florence Henderson'll work cafes and become a big night owl money-maker.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Bearded Maestro Colin Romoff married beautiful Peggy Connolly, ex-wife of Comedian Dick Martin... Joey Heatherton, appearing in Viet Nam with Bob Hope, was booked — via long distance phone — for a Dean Martin TV'er... Barbara Streisand's husband Elliott Gould will star on Broadway in Alex Cohen's "Little Murders"... Sybil Burton Christopher OK'd an Arthur duplicate for Chicago (with others to follow elsewhere)... Mike Nichols, last year's Cue Award winner, will fly in to present it to '66 winner Barbara Harris.

Paul Anka asked songwriter Sammy Cahn to see him off to Puerto Rico — then "shanghaied" him at the airport and took him along... Warren Beatty will produce and star in a film called simply "Hair"... Nancy Sinatra'll write a book titled "My Father"... Ursula Andress invested in a Swiss beauty parlor — for men.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Heavyweight comic Jackie Vernon figures some guy could get rich inventing a scale that takes off five pounds for good intentions.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The average fellow keeps squawking that his girls wears too much make-up — till the day he sees her without any.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A college education is one of the few things a person is willing to pay for and not get." — William Lowe Bryan.

EARL'S PEARLS: Yesterday's nest egg can barely buy today's birdhouse.

Sammy Javis Jr. told a jam-packed Copa audience, "I've done three command performances in London — and have yet to be invited to the ranch!" That's earl, brother.

Marine Corps
Recalls Actor
Glenn Ford

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Glenn Ford, a commander in the U.S. Navy Reserve, has been called to active duty with the Marines and will leave Thursday for a special assignment in Vietnam.

A Marine Corps spokesman would not divulge the nature of Ford's assignment, but said it would last "approximately 30 days."

He said Ford would report to the commanding general, 3rd Amphibious Force, Vietnam. The 50-year-old actor took the assignment voluntarily, he added, and would be able to tour Vietnam on a flexible schedule and visit any area he chooses. Ford, who was married to actress Kathryn Hays, 32, last March, enlisted in the Marine Corps on Dec. 13, 1942.

First 1967 Infants
Near-Neighbors

DETROIT (AP) — Two couples who live on the same street and less than a mile apart on Detroit's North Side shared honors in the city's 1967 New Year's baby derby.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Loberg at 12:01 a.m. and the first twins of the year were born to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Earl shortly after 7 a.m.

Onetime Boy Wonder Returns

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Five years ago Darryl F. Zanuck was producing movies as an independent in Europe, and 20th Century-Fox, the company he had fashioned into a giant, was tottering. Today Zanuck is the No. 1 man at Fox, and Fox is the biggest grossing studio.)

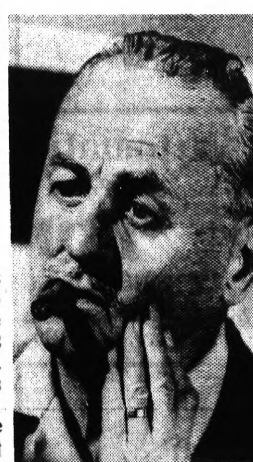

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
NEW YORK — The jacks of Hollywood, ever ready to pounce upon a fallen lion, were saying in 1962 that Darryl F. Zanuck was washed up. The onetime boy wonder from Wahoo, Neb., they said, was more interested in wooing young European actresses and waging fortunes at chemin de fer than he was in making movies.

"Zanuck is finished," said executives and agents who had sought his favor when he was one of the half-dozen most powerful men in the film industry. They pointed out that Zanuck's five films as an independent producer had run a deficit of $4 million. The critics reckoned without the driving force that had elevated Zanuck from a script writer for Rin-Tin-Tin to studio boss. His energies revived, he abandoned independent production, returned to 20th Century-Fox, and in four years drove it from the edge of bankruptcy to the top grossing film company in the world.

PROVIDED SOLVENCY

One movie alone — "The Sound of Music" — could have provided solvency that other studios would envy. But under Zanuck's presidency, 20th Century-Fox produced a string of winning films and the most successful television operation in Hollywood, including such a series as "Peyton Place" and "Batman."

The fall and rise of Darryl Francis Zanuck dates from 1957, when he shocked the film world by stepping down as production chief of 20th Century-Fox. Movie moguls relinquish power only by dying or being deposed. No one could figure why Zanuck would voluntarily abandon control of the domain he had ruled imperiously for the 20 years after he had merged his tiny 20th Century Co. with the giant, ailing Fox. A wiry, nervous man with a brush mustache, he established his foot-long cigars and polo mallets as trademarks on the Hollywood scene.

"Darryl enjoyed power as much as any studio boss," says an intimate. "But he was 55, and he felt his life ebbing away. His marriage had gone sour, and he wanted the excitement of living in Europe. He also figured he could do a better job of making two or three hand-crafted films a year instead of supervising 40."

That proved to be an error. Zanuck's independent films, some starring then girlfriend, Juliette Greco, were failures. An associate analyzed: "Darryl was like a great muralist who turned to painting miniatures."

REALIZED ERROR

Zanuck realized his error and began work on "The Longest Day," a panorama of D-Day at Normandy.

At the time, 20th Century-Fox was coming apart at the seams.

Three production chiefs in four years had failed to combat the falling market. Ebullient, Greek-born Spyros Skouras presided as company chief in New York, but he was ailing, and his hold was unsure. Wall Street men on the board began assuming more power.

Stockholders were growing restive, and with good reason. Skouras had put most of the company's eggs into one basket: "Cleopatra." The Rome-

Revise Your Photo Habits

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newfeatures

With the start of a new year, an opportunity to begin better photo habits presents itself to camera fans.

Like opening a new book of accounts, it's a logical time to start fresh, to keep things neat and orderly and to attend to photo details currently, like filing negatives and identifying slides and pictures, instead of letting them accumulate to "attend to later."

By itself, each new batch of picture taking isn't hard to deal with normally. First eliminate the faulty ones as you come across them... now!

This raises the caliber of your picture taking greatly and people never miss what they don't see.

Then sort the remainder in storytelling order, date and identify them for future reference, and put them in a place of their own. Prints belong in albums, slides in trays or magazines, movies on a larger reel and negatives should be filed in uniform envelopes in a file box.

PREVIOUS FORAYS

Success in dealing with current pictures might inspire you to tackle some of the accumulated results of previous photo forays.

Certainly, the sooner you try to make some headway with it, the better are your chances of remembering dates, names and events.

Another New Year resolution to make and live up to, is to follow through on picture promises. We all make promises to relatives, friends and our picture subjects to send them prints or duplicate slides... "later."

At the moment, our intentions are perfectly sincere. But with the passage of time, good intentions become diluted and tend to evaporate.

DUPLICATE PRINTS

One way to overcome this is to order duplicate prints or slides immediately on first seeing them... when your thought of sharing good pictures is strongest... and sometimes even before you promise prints.

If you get a batch of pictures from a camera store, follow your impulse and leave the negatives for duplicates then and there.

If you make prints in your own darkroom, make duplicates of the pictures you like while you're working on them. Both methods are a headstart to guarantee your good intentions will be followed through.

Congress Liaison

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reba Shoaf, a member of the office staff of Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., who was defeated in the November election, has been appointed congressional liaison officer for the Agriculture Department.
