Cuban Delegate Flares Back at U.S. Charge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

— The U.S.-Cuban crisis flared in the U.N. General Assembly today after U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson referred to an alleged campaign of subversion by Cuba against its neighbors.

Cuban Delegate Mario Garcia-Irujo quickly replied that his country rejected the U.S. delegate's charges.

He said Stevenson was simply trying to "cover up the large-scale aggression which your government is preparing."

Stevenson, in his main policy speech had touched only briefly on the Cuban situation.

"The government of Cuba, with moral and material support from abroad, carries on a campaign of subversion and terrorism against its neighbors in the Western Hemisphere," Stevenson said.

The U.S. delegate demanded that the assembly act immediately to require the Soviet bloc and all other members to pay their share of U.N. costs.

He said "We deem our organization to be impotent" unless steps are taken to put it on a sound financial footing.

"We cannot expect the United Nations to survive from day to day by passing a cup like a beggar in the street," he said.

The chief U.S. delegate urged that the United Nations give its main attention now to making it financially sound so it can meet the task of preserving world peace.

THREATS OMINOUS

There are ominous threats, he said, in Berlin, Cuba, Viet Nam, Red China, Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

"I read most ominous of all, the subversive arms race continues unabated," he said. "These situations raise serious dangers to the peace of the world."

Stevenson avoided direct attacks on the Soviet Union. He appealed to assembly members to "replace stern politics with quiet but determined diplomacy."

Stevenson spoke to some Western diplomats expressed concern over growing indications that the Soviet Union was preparing an all-out attack on the United States, Cuba, U2 flights, Berlin and a number of other issues. There also was evidence that the Russians are going to give Acting Secretary-General U-Thant a hard time.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will make his policy statement Friday.

Act Fast to Warn Russians, Cubans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress approved swiftly today to give solemn warning to "the rulers of Havana and Moscow" that the United States will not tolerate a military force in Cuba capable of endangering U.S. security.

A resolution making this pronouncement, drafted by the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations committees, was approved unanimously by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Its adoption by both Senate and House before nightfall was in prospect.

A main purpose of the resolution was to give an advance show of support for, and national will, behind, any use of armed forces that President Kennedy as commander in chief may decide is necessary.

And in that connection it was disclosed that Secretary of State Dean Rusk had outlined to the Senate committees last Monday some of the circumstances under which U.S. armed forces would act.

Release today of testimony given in a closed meeting showed that Rusk said:

1. If the Cubans or Soviets seek to send arms or armed forces to other Latin-American countries such traffic will be intercepted by U.S. armed forces.

2. The United States is considering, and will enforce the right to conduct, a close surveillance of the Caribbean area, and this could lead to incidents involving use of U.S. armed forces.

3. If there is an attack on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, the President "of course" will "move immediately with the forces necessary to take the necessary action."

In other developments:—The State Department announced that Rusk will meet in New York with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko early next week, probably Tuesday.

—Havana radio said Red China has pledged its full support to Cuba in its fight against the aggression of North American imperialism.

The warning that the United States will not tolerate aggression of a security threat in Cuba was contained in the report of the Senate committees.

Such a threat "could have the gravest possible consequences" and the United States "will not flinch from these consequences," declared the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations committees. All 33 members signed the report.

Would Finance Completion of 3 Center Projects

Oakland Could Build Courthouse Wing on Matching Fund Basis

By DICK HANSON

Oakland County will seek an additional $1.5 million in federal grants under the new Public Works Act to complete three projects proposed at the County Service Center, Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, announced today.

The projects, which would be financed on a matching fund basis, are:

1. An additional wing to the courthouse, new and expanded juvenile facilities, and drain and sewer utilities at the center on Telegraph Road.

According to Hamlin, the federal government would provide approximately a half-million dollars toward each of the three projects, while the county would pay the balance.

Actually, none of the federal funds are available yet.

While the Public Works Act has been approved, the $900 million still must be appropriated by the House Appropriations Committee, and application reforms must be made available to distressed areas including Oakland County.

The act is intended to bolster employment in distressed areas across the nation by creating jobs on new public works projects.

WILL SEEK $4.8 MILLION
The County Department of Public Works today filed an intent to apply for $4.8 million from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, which will be administering the grants.

The money would be spent here for sewage systems to replace septic tanks and open areas for industrial and residential expansion, R. J. Alexander, DFW director, said.

Hamlin has appointed a special steering committee, headed by David Levinson, chairman of the board's ways and means committee, to determine if the county can qualify for the additional $1.5 million.

Hamlin said he expected the steering committee would complete its initial study in time for the Board of Supervisors to approve an intent to file with the federal government when the board meets Oct. 1, in Pontiac.

A more accurate estimate of costs for the three projects should be available by then, he said.

CAMPAIGN STEAMS AHEAD—Gov. Swainson yesterday berated his November election opponent, Republican George Romney for "empty words" regarding a need for state fiscal reform after GOP legislators killed the governor's reform measures during the last session.

The governor was welcomed to the luncheon meeting of the Oakland County Democratic and Professional Association by Martin M. Doctoroff, chairman of the group, Martin M. Doctoroff, at left and George Fulkerson, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 18th District.

Romney Fiscal Reform Talk Empty Words, Says Swainson

Gov. Swainson yesterday berated his November election opponent, Republican George Romney for "empty words" regarding a need for state fiscal reform after GOP legislators killed the governor's reform measures during the last session.

The governor was welcomed to the luncheon meeting of the Oakland County Democratic and Professional Association by Martin M. Doctoroff, chairman of the group, Martin M. Doctoroff, at left and George Fulkerson, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 18th District.

Swainson stated, "in addition, 60 new industries were started during the same period here."

He recalled that a Republican-controlled state legislature failed to support his fiscal reform bill during the last session.

"If my opponent (GOP gubernatorial candidate Romney) really wants fiscal reform now, by all means let's reconvene immediately," said Swainson.

"Fiscal reform is needed now, and four Republicans are the only ones who can call the legislature back at this time," he added.

"While Republicans talk about fiscal reform now," he said "Democrats were the only ones willing to take realistic action before."

"We know that the liberal hour of the Republicans ends at 11 o'clock election night. We haven't been fooled by their tactics in the past and we won't be now."

Fiscal reform is needed to provide economic stability, more equity in taxation and an element of permanency in taxing methods, the governor said.

It would require loosening of personal and property taxes and easing of sales taxes by instituting a state income tax instead, according to Swainson.

NOTES GROWTH
Economic stability is "very necessary" if more jobs are to be provided for the growing work force of tomorrow as a result of a growing birth rate in Michigan today, he said.

He said the birth increase has provided a much larger market for retailers, and has been a major force behind current industrial expansion in the state.

"More than 200 industries in Michigan have expanded in the past 12 months alone," Gov. Swainson said.

Killing Frost to Hit Plants; Put on 'Kivers'

Gardeners are warned by the U.S. Weather Bureau to expect a widespread killing frost tonight.

The bureau's agricultural advisory said "protection will be necessary for tomatoes, melons, cucumbers, celery, potatoes, beans and grapes."

Fair and a little warmer, the high 68, is Friday's forecast.

Temperatures in downtown Pontiac hit 38 at 6 a.m., a new low for the season. The reading at 2 p.m. was 52.

OK Wirtz for Labor Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate confirmed by voice vote today President Kennedy's nomination of W. Willard Wirtz as Secretary of Labor.

Information on arrests will now be available "only from the chief of police or the person designated by the chief," who will give out what he pleases, when he pleases and as he pleases.

The public, the taxpayers and newspapers representing them can go jump in the lake. The Pontiac City Commission is determined to block the public's inalienable right to know.

These records are public property. They do not belong to Mayor Landry or the City Commission. They are written by the employees of the taxpayers, and they concern the taxpayers, and the taxpayers have the "right to know."

An Announcement

This resolution was approved by the city attorney who said it was legal.

WE CHALLENGE THAT 100 PER CENT.

Behind this restriction on freedom is the complaint of the Rev. J. Allen Parker. The Rev. Parker was in a parked car with a woman when he was mistaken for a burglar shortly after midnight.

Rev. Parker didn't like the treatment he got from the police and especially didn't like having the information on his "private consultation" made public.

The Press will print all the news of the city and get all the information you taxpayers need from public records without having to beg for anyone's approval.

The Press refuses to accept the fact that Pontiac has suddenly fallen under the rule of self-appointed czars.

Latest Red N-Blast Series' 2nd Biggest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has fired the second largest nuclear explosion of its current series in the skies over the Arctic, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission reports.

The AEC did not give an estimate of the force of the explosion, describing it only as "multimegaton." Swedish authorities said it was a 17 megaton blast—equivalent in punch to 11 million tons of TNT.

Tempes sales accounted for 27 per cent of the total Pontiac sales, Estes noted, and he said they expect an increase in Tempes sales in '63 with the introduction of a new optional cast iron V6 engine.

Pontiac Division sales this year were up 52 per cent over 1961, while the industry as a whole rose approximately 25 per cent.

Estes said the division is expecting the sales of the luxury Grand Prix line to climb 50 per cent in 1963. The Grand Prix sales in '62 have been about 37,000.

JFK's Cuban Remarks Solved Few Problems

Recent news still leaves the American public in a quandary over Cuba. Perhaps this is all intentional on the part of the U.S. Government and the President.

And further, when the President said, "The American people should stop talking about Cuba," he really touched on a sore spot. Just how can you expect the people to clam up when a sore spot such as Cuba stares them in the face every day?

Currently, it looks like the reverse of the 1960 campaign when Kennedy, then a candidate, hammered away at Nixon and the GOP for the "do nothing" policy toward Castro. He claimed the GOP was suckered into believing Castro was a mild reformer, when actually some believed at that time that he was really a Commie.

The President did not mince his words when he emphasized that if he were elected, a much firmer Cuban policy would be enacted. Well, what have we got?

Most people will agree, even within Mr. Kennedy's party, that we bungled the invasion. And now the President's own "do nothing" policy has the public's temper in an aroused state.

It appears at this time that unless some unforeseen action sets back the Russian build-up in Cuba, the Administration, along with the Democratic party, has given the Republicans a big issue.

Between now and November the GOP will use Cuba just as the Dems' cry for medical care was killed by the Republicans.

America's Cup

It was refreshing to see Australia's Gretel emerge the victor in at least one of America's Cup races.

Before this setback, the American defender Weatherly was rated by many as a shoe-in, with four straight wins predicted.

But the Down-Under boys didn't quit. When the defending skipper BUS MOSBACHER's crew fouled his jib and spinnaker rounding a buoy, that was all the Australians needed.

It was the first race win of a challenger since 1934 and certainly shook some of the U.S. enthusiasts.

We still have faith that our defender will emerge victorious, but we applaud the Aussies' signal victory and their attempt to wrest this trophy from the American grasp which has lasted 117 years.

New Training Program to Aid Businessmen

The image of the U.S. businessman abroad has long been sullied by the fringe element that operates out of the hotel bars and swimming pools of foreign capitals.

Their detachment from the problems of the country and area in which they do business, their ignorance of the language and the customs and their obvious contempt for the indigenous population give the Communists valuable ammunition for the charge that U.S. business is an exploiter, rather than a partner in progress.

Muddying of the flag by the fast buck operators is a problem that will not be solved overnight. But at least one segment of American business is going out of its way to show that it cannot be so easily stereotyped.

It is the Business Council for International Understanding, an organization composed of leading U.S. industrial concerns represented overseas.

This group, formed in July 1958, will sponsor the 17th of its four-week training programs for international business executives Sept. 24 at the American University in Washington, D.C.

More than a dozen business executives will spend their time absorbing background on the country and area in which they are going to live and reviewing as well, the American economic system, institutions and characteristics so they can answer intelligently the probing questions that will be asked abroad.

This sound planning is certainly a step in the right direction. To date, 206 business executives have gone through the B.C.I.U. school. Such firms as Texaco, Ford, IBM and National Bank are participating in the program.

They obviously feel this is the best way to protect their investments overseas. We agree that the enlightened representatives will be a boon for our country.

The Man About Town

Male Logic Is Scorned as Women Pick Winners

By HOWARD HEIDENREND
Tomorrow noon, we blow the whistle on entries for the Football Contest—the first game Sept. 22 and the final Dec. 1. The 13-game schedule appeared in last Tuesday's and Saturday's editions.

So start scrimmaging now for that $500 U.S. Savings Bond prize. Absorb all the lore you can about the 30 teams involved, gaze into your crystal ball, reactivate the old Ouija board—then get your entry in by the time indicated.

Don't take a chance on being caught offside if time for mailing seems short. An entry must be in POSSESSION OF THE PRESS by the deadline, so play safe and deposit it in the drop box at our entrance.

When our Sports Editor kicked off the contest last Saturday, he called on the men for saving face with the Savings Bond. Seems the ladies have been regularly running away with this event, and he can't understand it. . . . Pigeon skin is supposed to be exclusively a male attribute, you see.

I'm a little saddened by my friend's lack of savvy. He's undoubtedly the top sports editor in these parts, but seemingly hasn't gained much ground understanding women—and how they operate.

They do it by their widely-heralded intuition. As for instance, the MAT has on occasion visited a race track in company with some self-possessed expert turfmen. After a pre-race visit around the paddock with much sotto voce, side-mouthed conversation with various trainers, handlers, jockeys and even the horses, our party situated itself in a point of vantage for the races. There, considerable concentration was given to turf publications and other forms of racing lore purporting to take all the uncertainty out of the events about to be run.

After all that, how could you lose? Well, as race followed race, the experts progressively sank deeper into gloom. The cashiers' window remained entirely unswayed by their appearance there.

But while all this was going on, attention would be attracted to a nearby view of merry and animated young matrons breathless from racing to and from the payout department.

Finally, mothering male ego and pride, inquiry would be made about just what form of occult reasoning the gals used in their uncanny selection of winners.

Here are a few typical and authentic answers:

- (a) The jockey's silks were the same color as a dress Aunt Sarah had five years ago.
- (b) The horse's post number was the same as Junior's age when he fell out of a tree and broke his arm.
- (c) A sorrel horse was picked because it matched the living room drapes.
- (d) The name of the horse was reminiscent of a chap who used to go with a cousin.

Political Machines Love Primary

WASHINGTON — Less than 50 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls in Massachusetts on Tuesday to vote in the Democratic and Republican primaries for United States senator.

Why don't more people vote in the primaries — and why do they let the political machines get out the vote and virtually control the election?

Thus, in Massachusetts only 33 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls in November 1960 for the successful senatorial nominee — Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, a Republican — was recorded at the polls this week by both Republican aspirants. In the Democratic primary this year the vote cast was equal to about 77 per cent of what the unsuccessful senatorial nominee polled in 1960.

The Massachusetts results in the primary election of Tuesday show that neither party picked an experienced legislator as its candidate for the Senate. The Republicans passed over Mr. Curtis, 49, a man of maturity and good judgment who is serving his fifth term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

In the previous system of election of U.S. senators by a majority vote of the legislature has been in effect, probably, none of the candidates in either party in Massachusetts this week would have had a chance except Mr. Curtis.

TIME CHANGE
For in past history only persons with long and creditable service in the House of Representatives or perhaps at times the governor of a state would have been considered as a probable nominee by either party in the state legislature.

The system of direct election of U.S. senators, and nomination either by primaries or non-legislative conventions, has turned out to be one that is readily manipulated by political machines. The people generally don't bother about primaries, but the machine politicians do.

Likewise, the candidate with the backing of labor unions or minority groups — which means large campaign funds — has a better chance today to win a nomination and election than a man of real ability and independent judgment.

Election of senators by popular vote has resulted in a deterioration in the quality of the legislators in the upper house because many of them, even with a desire to do a good job, find themselves handicapped by the activities of pressure groups back home. It isn't a democratic system today, but a ward politician's system.

The contest in Massachusetts now is between George Cabot Lodge, Republican, aged 35, and Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, aged 30. The father of Mr. Lodge is former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1960. One brother of young Kennedy is President of the United States and another brother is the attorney general.

The name Kennedy is expected to be a big vote-getter in Massachusetts in the November election — perhaps even more so than the name Lodge. Lodge has been part of the Republican tradition in Massachusetts for a long time. The first Henry Cabot Lodge — great-grandfather of the latest nominee — was in the United States Senate from 1883 to his death in 1924.

It is expected now that young Kennedy will win the race in November. The power of the Democratic machine, which supported him in the primary, will be in full swing in the final election. The Democratic party's argument will be that a defeat would mean a repudiation of the Kennedy Administration in Washington, and that a victory would be a vote of confidence.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Few Cups of Coffee Good for Most Mature Adults

Talk of the excessive drinking of coffee reminds me of one of my patients, or I should say the husband of my patient. He was a Lacksawanna conductor. When he couldn't sleep, he'd brew a pot of strong coffee, drink two or three cups, and then go to bed and sleep soundly the rest of the night.

Coffee and tea are virtually identical in their effects on the heart, nerves, cerebrum, arteries and kidneys.

One cup of coffee is equivalent to two or three cups of tea. The caffeine used in medicine is obtained mostly from tea leaves, which contain a larger percentage of the alkaloid, caffeine than coffee berries do. Cola and guarana also contain caffeine, so do malt leaves.

Children under 16 years of age should not drink tea, coffee, cola, guarana or mate. Such stimulation of heart, nerves and kidneys is harmful to the health of a growing child.

Adults seldom suffer any bad effects from drinking two or three cups of any of these beverages daily. As a rule moderate use of these beverages is beneficial to mature adults.

I'm sure a lot of adults deny themselves a good deal of pleasure and cheer when they do not drink coffee because they have been persuaded it injures the heart, the nerves or the digestion.

Much of the trouble, commonly ascribed to coffee, is really due to tannin, lactic acid, the astringent extracted from tea leaves or coffee beans or berries by boiling. Proper brewing or steeping does not extract tannin, so good tea or good coffee is made with hot, not boiling water.

There are chapters in the red book telling how to make good coffee and wine. For a copy of the red book, "What to Eat and Why," send 35 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Persons with real or imaginary heart trouble, functional or organic heart disease, a tendency to coronary trouble or angina pectoris, should not drink two or three cups of coffee daily as a blessing.

In every showdown on this issue before the majority decision has been reached, the U.S. That was the expected final decision on the U.S. bond issue, although Senate and House bills prescribed different safeguards.

Any compromise between the two versions had advanced assurance of approval by President Kennedy. His purpose has been to keep the U.S. in business instead of allowing it to fall completely by going broke.

Nothing makes you constantly think about how physically tired you are.

Think of me that would be saved on minor lessons if little kids had their way.

Warning Went Unheeded About Bad Intersection

The words of many prophets in the past have gone unheeded because it is usually easier to drift along than to make a change for the better. How starting it is when the prophet's words are fulfilled. Just a few weeks ago the idea of traffic control was put in effect at the MSUO entrance at Squirrel Road, Pontiac Road and East Walton Boulevard intersection. It would be impossible to avoid having some terrific accidents. Since school started the intersection reminds me of dog-eat-dog. Yesterday morning there was another serious accident with four people going to the hospital.

How long will it be before our prophetic editor's voice will be heard?

They Both Agree — Change Is Needed

After voting a straight Democratic ticket for 41 years, the present administration has let down the people of Michigan. Michigan needs leadership and restored faith in government. When labor unions and bosses start dictating, it's time we have representation for all the people. That's why we strongly urge and support George Romney for Governor. He's the only answer to Michigan's problems.

Native Sons of Michigan

How much do you care about Michigan?
Voting time is near and it's time us little people get out and vote instead of letting the bigwigs tell us what to do. What are we getting for our tax dollars? Another new tax will soon be forthcoming unless we get someone in Lansing who cares enough to cut down these expenses and not give increases to the bigwigs as has been commonly done by our past two governors.

What are they doing with our money? Sum up the past few years and see for yourself.

With reference to deer, "carrying capacity" means that over a period of time, usually years, in a particular area only so many deer can survive. If the carrying capacity is exceeded, the deer will have to be killed by man or nature will kill them by not providing enough food.

If our State Conservation Department says that there are too many deer, why not let sportsmen kill them instead of having them starve to death?

If the carrying capacity is exceeded for a number of years, a doe will have one fawn instead of two, a buck may have a smaller rack or be without antlers, and the deer will usually weigh less.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, Sept. 20, the 263rd day of 1962 with 102 to follow in 1962.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1519, Portuguese navigator Ferdinand Magellan, with five ships and 270 men, began his global voyage to find a western passage to the Indies.

In 1973, financial chaos reached a climax in the panic of NYSE and the New York Stock Exchange closed its doors.

In 1981, Vice-President Chester A. Arthur became the 21st president of the United States following the death of President Garfield.

In 1960, the United Nations admitted 13 African countries in the opening of a turbulent General Assembly session attended by several Communist leaders, including Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Cuba's Fidel Castro.

A thought for the day — Swedish statesman Axel Oxenstierna said: "By the way, my soul is little; wisdom the world is governed."

Long June 30 the U.N. was $147 million in debt. It owed this money to the member countries. Whether any of them would turn the U.N. for this debt is doubtful. But the first step towards putting the U.N. financial house in order was to float the loan.

The next step will be to collect unpaid assessments and pay off the loans. This can be done only if the General Assembly approves the World Court opinion that special assessments on members must be paid the same as dues.

The extent to which the White House and State Department now rely on the United Nations is revealed by the fact that the $228 million in this year's budget for support of international organizations, $133 million is earmarked for the U.N.

Of this, roughly $22 million is the American 22 per cent contribution to the net U.N. operating budget of $77 million. Its gross budget, including receipts, is $86.6 million.

Another American contribution of $27 million goes to support U.N. specialized agencies and $143 million more is contributed to their aid programs for underdeveloped nations.

The $193 million U.S. contribution to all U.N. programs is less than 5 per cent of the $4 billion budgeted for all U.S. foreign aid programs this year. And there is some opposition in Congress and around the country to foreign aid that there is to the United Nations itself.

Support for the United Nations by the Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations alike is by no means based on any idea that the U.N. is a perfect instrument.

There are many changes which the United States has wanted to make for the last seven years.

More Interested in Deer Ruling

By what authority does the Conservation Commission have to endorse the future exhibition of our deer? We of the Upper Peninsula are bitter about this action. Why authorize a deer season in the Porcupine Mountains which at one time was regarded as the best deer hunting area in the Midwest? Our party hunted for three days in this area last year and did not see one deer. Again this year the Commission has authorized a deer season in this area.

Let's stop the authority vested in the Conservation Commission and put it into the hands of a competent, political-free board that will restore our deer herd.

The Country Parson

"Some folks are unhappy because they don't have anything they haven't earned."

Since U.N. Charter revision is first considered, Charter revision has been a topic of discussion. But Soviet Russia is blocking any changes in the U.N. until Communist China is admitted to membership.

One factor that may minimize the U.N. issue in this year's American political campaign is that the General Assembly may not get around to passing any resolution of importance — except possibly on disarmament — before the Nov. 8 election.

If the general assembly becomes deeply involved in the Cuban situation during the opening general debate, that might indeed become a hot American political campaign issue.

When the Cubans made their charge that the United States was waging aggressive warfare against Cuba last year, it caused the other Communist delegations some confusion because the idea was so ridiculous.

But this year a number of American congressmen and senators are urging President Kennedy to blockade Cuba or to invade Cuba to wipe out the Communist menace.

This line of talk plays right into the hands of the Cubans and the Russians at the U.N. this year, lending support to their propaganda that the United States is planning to invade the island.

Ex-Envoy to China Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Stuart M. Leighton, 62, United States postwar ambassador to China, died Wednesday after a long illness.

The Presbyterian minister was named ambassador to China in 1946. After the Communists took over the mainland, he served as ambassador to Nationalist China until 1952.

Dayton U. Dean Expires

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dr. H. B. Dean, 63, dean of the University of Dayton School of Business Administration, died Wednesday.

He apparently of a heart attack. He also taught at Tulane and the University of North Dakota. Two-thirds of America's farmers belong to one or more cooperative.

White Dwarfs Old, Old Stars

These Sky Bankrupts Were Once Larger Than the Sun

WASHINGTON — White dwarf stars are the bankrupts of the universe. They have squandered their fuel resources and are living on gravitational capital.

Astronomers believe that white dwarfs once were larger than the sun. Many of these stars are now smaller than the earth.

The crushing force of gravity has compressed the huge masses into incredibly dense material. Just one cubic inch of a dwarf may weigh hundreds of tons.

As dwarf stars shrink, they convert gravitational energy into heat and light. They may glow weakly for several billion years before the last ray flickers out.

Dr. Willem J. Luyten, of the University of Minnesota, recently discovered the smallest known white dwarf. Its diameter is only one-seventh that of the earth. One cubic inch of the star weighs 3,000 tons!

The newly found dwarf is about 35,000 times fainter than the sun. Like other white dwarf stars, it shines so feebly that only powerful telescopes can detect it.

A typical white dwarf placed the same distance from the earth as the sun would appear no larger than a distant star, the National Geographic says.

Got That Tired Feeling? Then Rest Those Eyes

NEW YORK (UPI)—When sewing or doing other close work, rest your eyes by looking up from time to time.

For most people, the distance at which the eyes are most relaxed is about 20 feet, eye-researchers report.

About 77 per cent the Phillips people know some English language.

Nine New Astronauts Picked for Fitness, Adaptability

HOUSTON (UPI) — Our nine new astronauts were chosen from 253 applicants for their flight background, their physical fitness and their all-around adaptability to space travel.

This is the latest information from Stuart Clarke, director of personnel for the Manned Spacecraft Center (MSC).

In order to originally qualify, the prospects had to be experienced jet pilots, having attained that status through the military service, the aircraft industry or the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, or must have graduated from a military test pilot school.

The applicants also had to be no taller than 6 feet, be a U.S. citizen, be less than 35 years old and have a recommendation from the individual's organization.

DETAILS NEEDED

Each candidate who met the basic standards was required to complete forms describing his academic background, flight and work experience in detail.

Each also took a medical examination and forwarded the results to the MSC.

review of each candidate's background, flight and work experience in detail.

Each also took a medical examination and forwarded the results to the MSC.

There followed a comprehensive review of each candidate's background. This resulted in the selection of 31 of the most outstanding

EXTENSIVE EVALUATION

During July and August, the 31 applicants were evaluated in a variety of examinations, tests and investigations and comprehensive medical examinations.

During the week of Aug. 12, the 31 candidates were secretly brought to Houston and given a final evaluation through more tests.

Final selection was made in the following four weeks.

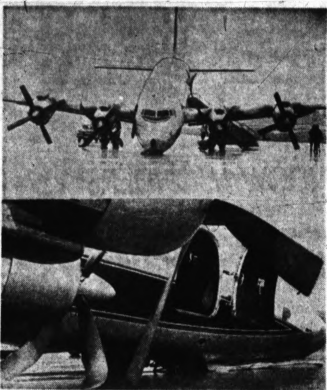

The main difference in qualifications in this group of astronauts and the first were age and vocation. The new specimens had to be under 35; the old, under 40. The old group had to be military men, the new did not.

A composite portrait of America's new astronaut: He is 32½ years old, stands about 5 feet 10 and weighs 161.5 pounds.

He is a college-educated test pilot with military background and has logged more than 2,900 hours of flying time.

He is married and has at least two children.

U.S. Court Throws Out Appeal of Tax Deficiency Assessment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service won a legal round today in its effort to collect taxes from the Communist party.

The U.S. Tax Court threw out an appeal by the party from a deficiency assessment of $261,053.38 in income taxes for 1951 plus a penalty of $65,262.60 for failure to file an income tax return.

The court dismissed the appeal on technical grounds without passing on the merits of the case. It said there was no showing that the party's national committee authorized Philip Bart's appointment as acting treasurer. Bart signed the appeal petition as acting treasurer.

'NO AUTHORITY'

"We conclude that the persons who caused the petition to be prepared and filed were without authority to do so and that therefore we are without jurisdiction of the proceeding," the court said.

So far the Internal Revenue Service has collected only about $7,000 of the money it claims is due. Most of that came from seizing the party's furniture and a small amount of cash.

The next legal round will come in the U.S. Court for the Southern District of New York.

The party contends it is entitled to tax exemption. It also contends that even if it is not entitled to exemption, it can claim deductions sufficient to offset the tax claim.

Congress Gives Up 'Junk Mail' Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress voted Wednesday to take away one of its own privileges.

By roll call vote of 246-125, the House completed action on a proposal to strip legislators of their "junk mail" rights.

The vote, on a Senate amendment to the annual legislative appropriation bill, repealed a 1961 act giving members of Congress the right to use their free-mailing privileges to send literature anywhere without the name or address of the recipient.

Heaters Work Year-Round in Old Street Cars

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (U)—The city of Sarajevo bought secondhand street cars from Washington, D.C. last fall.

The heaters already were on. This was fine.

Then summer came and the mercury rose to 100 degrees. Passengers were astounded to find the heaters still on. No mechanic in Sarajevo knew how to turn off the radiators.

With the first autumn chills, rides now are getting more and more comfortable. But the question is: Will someone solve the secret of turning off the heating system by next summer?

JFK Wants Cut in Foreign Aid Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says a House committee's recommendation that nearly $1.4 billion be sliced from this year's foreign aid funds is an irresponsible action that "poses a threat to free world security."

He asked that the slashed funds be restored.

House leaders, detecting sentiment for additional trimming of the $5,556,852,000 economic and military aid measure, may forego a salvage operation at this time—for strategic purposes. Kennedy originally asked $7.3 billion.

The cut criticized Wednesday night by the President in a statement is the handiwork of the House Appropriations Committee. The stiff opposition a move to restore the money would face was summed up by Rep. Otto E. Passman's declaration that "Not one cent will be put back if I have anything to do with it."

FLOOR MANAGER

The Louisiana Democrat, a persistent advocate of keeping foreign aid spending down, was chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that drafted the bill. He will be floor manager for the measure

In House debate, beginning today. In his statement the President declared: "It makes no sense at all to make speeches against the spread of communism, to deplore instability in Latin America and Asia, to call for an increase in American prestige and an initiative in Eastern Europe—and then vote to cut back the Alliance for Progress, to hamper the Peace Corps, to repudiate our long-term commitments of last year and to undermine the efforts of those who are seeking to stave off chaos and communism in the most vital areas of the world. . . ."

Kennedy concluded: "I cannot believe that those in both parties who have consistently voiced in the course of three administrations to fulfill the nation's obligations of leadership will permit this irresponsible action to go uncorrected."

FEARS FOR LEADERSHIP

Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent letters to House leaders claiming the cut in funds would "paralyze United States leadership" in critical areas at a time when the Cuban and Berlin crises pose serious problems.

House leaders were undecided whether to try to restore the cuts. If they tried now and failed, the chances of restoring some of the money in conference—after the bill clears the Senate—may be jeopardized.

While leaders pondered their course of action, some Republicans talked of proposing reductions of as much as $200 million in economic aid.

Any attempt to further pare the bill almost certainly would draw heavy backing, since most House members are running for re-election this year and the foreign aid bill affords them an opportunity to make an economy showing.

"PREGNANT GUPPIE" TAKES TO THE AIR — A modified Boeing 377 Stratocruiser, nicknamed the "pregnant guppy" takes to the air at Van Nuys, Calif., in its first real flight. The transport has an outsized midsection to meet new space age demands. Its primary mission is to haul space vehicles and components too large for highway or railroad transport.

N. Y., Mass. Voters Play 'The Name's the Same'

By JACK BELL
BOSTON (AP) — November's congressional and state elections appear destined to go down in political history as the battle of highly advertised names.

Massachusetts and New York added some well-known names to the nomination lists already studded by starred billings such as those of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Robert Taff

Jr. and auto maker George Romney. * * * Massachusetts voters decided to pit Edward M. Kennedy, 30, brother of the President, against George Cabot Lodge, 55, son of a former ambassador and senator, for a two-year Senate term.

That's the remainder of the tenure President Kennedy surrendered in 1960 when he moved to the White House from the Senate. Kennedy and Lodge are beretelective office experience. But what memories their names conjure up in a state rich with the political tradition of battles between the Kennedy and Lodge clans.

CLIFF-HANGER
This promises to be a cliff-hanger for the seat once held by Daniel Webster and later by the first Henry Cabot Lodge. It is the job John F. Kennedy wrested away from Henry Cabot Lodge, the present candidate's father, in the year former President Dwight D. Eisenhower first showed Republicans how to sweep a presidential contest.

The Eisenhower name will play a part in the Massachusetts general election campaign, along with President Kennedy's. New York Democrats came up in their convention with a gold-embossed name from the glittering political day of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt as their nominee for governor. The name is Morgenthau—Robert M. Morgenthau.

Morgenthau, 45, son of former Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, could hardly expect that his name would be as well-known as that of his republican opponent, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

But Donovan is backing an expert in keeping his name before the public—Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

There was in both New York and Massachusetts an awareness, shared by different parties in the states, that perhaps the time had come to bid for the sometimes crucial Negro vote by elevating a candidate of that race to nomination to high office.

In New York, the Democrats picked Edward Dudley, borough president of Manhattan, as the first Negro to run for statewide office on a major party ticket. He will oppose GOP State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, seeking another term.

In Massachusetts, the Republicans followed suit by nominating Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, for attorney general. He will oppose former Atty. Gen. Francis E. Kelly, a Democrat who previously held the office two terms before he was defeated for re-election in 1950.

Follow Firm's Rules on Oil Changes for New Cars

By BEN FIELEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

If you're buying a new car it will pay you to read carefully what the manufacturer says about changing oil.

The figures, and advice, probably are different from what you have been accustomed to, especially if your present car is as much as three years old.

The oil change intervals have been getting longer. But they have also become more complicated.

Some makes carry a flat mileage interval, but most combine a time and mileage period. The mileage varies from 4,000 to 6,000 on Domestic cars. The time intervals run from two to six months.

And since the average car still is driven slightly less than 1,000 miles per month, the oil change may be due even when the accumulated mileage is quite low.

All of this has caused increasing concern to the American Petroleum Institute. The API and the auto manufacturers don't see entirely eye to eye. On the whole the API is more conservative.

Not too many years ago the petroleum industry told you to change oil every 1,000 miles. Several years ago this became every 60 days in summer, every 30 days in winter but never exceeding every 2,000 miles.

The up-to-date API pitch "retains the 30- and 60-day limits but has dropped the 2,000 mile interval in favor of this wording: "Never exceed the car manufacturer's recommendation for the driving conditions prevailing."

The importance of these recommendations by the manufacturer was brought home recently when Chrysler Corp. amplified its new extended warranty plan. This covered the engine, transmission, differential and rear axle of all 1963

Chrysler products for five years or 50,000 miles.

In explaining the fine points of the program, Chrysler Vice President Harry Chesebrough said the one significant maintenance operation required of the car owner to keep the warranty in effect was to change the oil on schedule.

Chrysler has a recommended interval of 4,000 miles or two months for all of its new cars. Chesebrough said there are other things which any car owner normally should do during a five-year period but the oil change is the important one from the standpoint of keeping the car running.

For 1963 the standard interval between oil changes was 4,000 miles for all companies except Ford. Ford recommended 4,000 miles.

For 1963 there is more variation. Chrysler says 4,000 miles or two months, which might make it nearer to every 2,000 miles for the average driver. General Motors has moved generally to 6,000 miles or 60 days. In practice this, too, will end up being about every 2,000 miles.

American Motors says every 4,000 miles under normally favorable conditions. Studebaker recommends the same and Ford has the longest interval of all—6,000 miles or six months.

One of the major oil companies will announce next week a super premium oil which it says was formulated especially to meet these longer service periods.

This means other oil companies probably will also be in the long-life field soon.

A major problem in making longer-lasting oil has been to extend life of many of the additives found in modern lubricants. These have become exhausted considerably sooner than the oil itself.

Apparently a solution has been found. And so the oil companies, which had fought valiantly for more frequent changes, will adopt the old axiom of "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em."

Old Will, Poor Will, What's Become of You?

KENILWORTH, England (UPI)—A chap named William Shakespeare was handed a six-month jail sentence yesterday for breaking into a pub and drinking 19 bottles of beer.

Shakespeare, 44, describing himself as a "wayfarer," said he was en route to Stratford-on-Avon — birthplace of another William Shakespeare — when his thirst got the better of him.

Mekong River Rises in Tibet

Cuts Troubled Asian Peninsula, Separates Laos From Burma

WASHINGTON — The Mekong River has been a tremendous natural force for centuries. It now is a prime strategic boundary as well.

The Mekong rises in the forbidding Tibetan highlands and runs southward for 2,800 miles, cutting through the troubled Southeast Asian peninsula.

The mighty river separates Laos from Burma, forms most of the Lao border with Thailand, then snakes through Cambodia and South Viet Nam to empty finally into the South China Sea.

United States strategy in Southeast Asia is based on the Mekong line. American troops have been stationed in Thailand to prevent Communist guerrillas from pushing across the vital river.

JAGGED GORGES

The mysterious upper reaches of the Mekong lie in the land of the legendary Abominable Snowman. The river rises high in the Tangha Range and tumbles through jagged gorges.

Precarious rope bridges away high above the river.

To cross the ravines, a traveler sits in a sling suspended from a hollow log, which slides over the cables. The rope is greased with yak butter.

"A break in transit," one observer noted, "is too unpleasant for contemplation."

Spy Deported to Austria; in Red Plot

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Leopold Ponder, convicted of espionage while serving as an interpreter at the Nuernberg war crime trials, was deported last night to his native Austria.

Ponder, 38, was placed aboard a plane at Idlewild Airport for a flight to Brussels, Belgium. From there he will be taken to his homeland.

Ponder was released yesterday from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., after serving more than nine years for conspiring to turn over defense information to the Soviet Union.

He had been sentenced in 1953 to 5 to 15 years in prison.

Asks Tax Boon on Blue Cross

Medical Society Head Proposes Subsidy for Low-Income Families

DETROIT (AP) — Alfred Whittaker, president-elect of the Wayne County Medical Society, has proposed a tax subsidy for low-income subscribers to Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospital and medical insurance.

Whittaker said he had submitted the idea to Blue Shield Board President Dr. Sidney Adler.

He said his plan calls for subsidization of premiums for low-income families by state or federal taxes from general funds and not through Social Security.

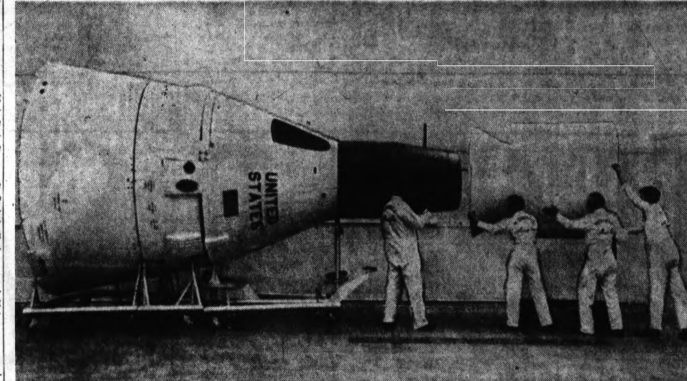

He said administration of the subsidy should be handled at the state or local level.

Dr. Whittaker did not spell out just how the plan would work.

Mexican Fishing Fleet Crippled by Strike

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's 700-boat Pacific fishing fleet has been paralyzed since last Wednesday by a strike, the National Fishing Industry Chamber reported on Wednesday.

The chamber said the strike was caused by a dispute over whether boat owners or fishing cooperatives should have control over the boats. About 8,000 men were said to be involved.

U.S. Sends GIs to, From Berlin

Troop Moves Show Determination to Keep Access Routes Opens

BERLIN (UPI) — The United States sent armed troops today through East Germany again to day in a show of determination to keep Allied access routes to Berlin open.

Two U.S. Army convoys left Berlin for West Germany along the 110-mile Berlin-Helmstedt highway and two others left West Germany on their way to Berlin.

Russian jets rocked West Berlin with a sonic boom by crashing the sound barrier over the divided city. This has become a frequent Soviet tactic since the Communists built the Berlin wall in August, 1961, and is presumably to harass West Berliners.

A total of 107 trucks and jeeps carrying 388 U.S. soldiers moved across the autobahn in both directions through Soviet-held East Germany today.

The troop movements are part of a week-long transfer bringing a 1,500-man battle group from West Germany to replace a similar unit being rotated out of West Berlin. The exchange ran into a Soviet snag in its first day yesterday.

The first convoy of 112 soldiers in 28 vehicles cleared the two Russian checkpoints without incident.

But the second — with 153 soldiers in 38 jeeps and trucks — was held up at the Russians' Marienborn checkpoint, on the western end of the autobahn.

The convoy was forced to wait three hours and 19 minutes before it could go on.

A U.S. army spokesman said later the delay was caused by a "misunderstanding on documentation procedures on both sides." But he refused to explain this.

Woman, 62, Dies Defending Self in Traffic Court

SAGINAW (UPI) — A 62-year-old woman who was defending herself in Traffic Court here yesterday collapsed and died a few minutes later.

Mrs. Ethel Kouns was testifying before Municipal Judge Joseph Friske about an accident that happened last month. She had been issued a summons for failing to yield the right-of-way.

She had just been sworn in and was beginning to relate her side of the case when she was stricken.

A spokesman for the city attorney's office said, "If we had known of her heart ailment we would never have tried the case." Physicians said Mrs. Kouns had a history of heart trouble.

N.Y. Splinter Parties Endorse Dems

GOP Pushing for Victory Under Rocky's Banner

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Confident Republicans marched into the state election campaign today under the banner of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to seek a "smashing victory" that would enhance his presidential prospects.

Amid much shouts of "Rocky for President," the governor was nominated by acclamation for a second four-year term Wednesday night at a quiet and orderly state convention that came alive only in the closing session.

FOUR INCUMBENTS

The Republican ticket boasted four incumbents, all experienced campaigners, including U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

To challenge them, the Democrats earlier this week hammered out a slate headed by two political newcomers, former federal prosecutor Robert M. Morgenthau, the gubernatorial nominee, and prisoner-exchange lawyer James B. Donovan, who will oppose Javits.

The Democrats, who face an uphill fight in the 48 days before the election, received a boost Wednesday night when the Liberal Party, which exists only in this state and is centered in New York City, endorsed Morgenthau and his running mates.

The endorsement was expected and traditional.

Another hopeful note for the underdog Democrats was sounded by David H. Jacquith, gubernatorial nominee of the state's fledgling Conservative party, who said the splinter group had obtained enough petition signatures to assure it of a place on the ballot.

TO FIGHT ROCKY

The Conservative party was created to fight what its adherents consider to be the too-liberal views of Rockefeller and Javits.

Rockefeller, in his acceptance speech to jubilant Republicans, proclaimed "the most fervent and fighting campaign New York state has ever seen" against a Democratic party mortally divided against itself from its occasionally turbulent state convention in Syracuse.

The governor, 54, who has refused to pledge that he will remain in office for a full term if re-elected, described his administration as "the most honest and efficient in the history of the state."

Juice Crystal, Please?

Frozen Kind Is Passe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Orange juice, first squeezed, then canned, then frozen — has reached a new stage in its evolution: crystallization. The juice of 40 oranges makes one pound of spongy crystals, reports Chemetron Corp's Votator division, maker of equipment to remove moisture from the juice. The pure orange crystals, weighing one-seventh as much as canned juice, can be shipped and stored indefinitely in non-refrigerated vacuum-packed cans. To make a glass of juice, just add water.

Mainz, Germany, is a manufacturing and commercial city of about 127,000. It is the center of the Rhensish fine wine industry.

"I ACCEPT" — Gov. Rockefeller waves to the Republican State Convention in Buffalo, N.Y., last night after it nominated him by acclamation to seek a second term. Standing beside the governor is assembly speaker Joseph Caplino, who is permanent chairman of the convention which held its final session last night.

State Astronaut Evaluates Jet

AF Sent McDivitt to France in Spring of NATO Mission

WASHINGTON (U) — Astronaut James A. McDivitt was sent to France last spring to evaluate the Mirage 3C tactical jet plane being developed for NATO forces.

McDivitt spent nearly two months in France at the invitation of that government studying the aircraft for possible use by the U. S. Air Force.

The Air Force said specialists from the flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., have made similar evaluations of European aviation developments in the past. In line with standing policy to keep informed of advances made in Allied countries and to keep the Allies up to date on American progress.

McDivitt was selected because of his qualifications as an aeronautical engineer, the field in which he received a degree from the University of Michigan.

Blankets are now being made on tufting machines. They can be made faster in this way and are said to be warmer and more durable.

It's Harder to Balance Family Than National Budget

By JOY STELLER

(For Hot Topics)

NEW YORK (AP) — Balancing the national budget is more routine compared with my job of trying to get the grocery list and the family's appetite to come out even.

No matter what slide rule computations, horoscope predictions and plain old guesswork I use, I always have either too much food for the family, or too much family for the food.

Take bananas, for instance. Please do take bananas. We have 17 extra ones this week that are rapidly developing a deep Florida tan.

DROP IN POPULARITY
Recently bananas were high on the pantry popularity poll. My daughter suddenly developed an unexplained taste for them. My husband put in an unusual request for a double banana split. And my son went on a binge that would have done credit to a starved monkey.

In the face of the acute banana shortage striking our household I nobly omitted it from my breakfast cereal. But even this sacrifice failed to close the gap between supply and demand.

For days I was subjected to accusing glances and muttered remarks about how some mothers didn't care if their families expired from malnutrition.

Recognizing a mandate when I saw one, I returned from my last shopping trip to the grocery loaded like a banana boat.

BOTTOM DROPS OUT

Suddenly the bottom fell out of the banana market in our house—wrapped in a dollar bill.

My daughter had launched on a snack diet of apples and peanut butter. My husband was demonstrating the newly activated hole in his belt, and my son wouldn't have touched a banana until he had a dollar bill.

Potatoes pose another problem that I face almost nightly. If in the course of human events the young man of the family gets hold of a bowl before his sister does, he piles mashed spuds on his plate higher than Mt. Everest. Anguished cries rend the air as a nearly empty serving dish continues its rounds.

In an effort to make amends, the next time I peel every potato in sight and offer a heaping mound to my starch-hungry child. The amount they skim off on this occasion would fit nicely in a demitasse cup.

Noodles, spaghetti and macaroni received similar unpredictable reactions. And as for meatballs, I've never guessed right yet. There's either not enough or three times as much as anyone wants.

One of these days, though, I'm going to beat the game. I'm going to buy a huge supply of the little bits of frozen food that cook in five minutes. I'll keep the kettle boiling all through the meal and just keep dropping packages in as long as anyone is hungry.

Canada Will Deport Former Trujillo Aide

OTTAWA (U) — The former head of the secret police of the late dictator Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic has been living in Canada in obscurity for 10 months but now has been ordered deported, it was disclosed yesterday.

Asturo Espallat, state secretary for security at the time Trujillo was shot down by assassins May 31, 1961, ending a 31-year grip on the Caribbean nation, failed in a long behind-the-scenes battle to persuade the Canadian government to allow him to remain in Canada as an immigrant.

Since arriving in Canada Nov. 4, 1961, the 49-year-old Dominican—known in his native country as the "razor blade"—has been in Ottawa with his wife, one daughter and two sons.

During this period his presence escaped public notice but he was under close observation by Canadian authorities.

Iran Laughing Again, Trying to Forget . . .

By EARL WILSON

TEHERAN—I have flown half way around the world and come to the land of that disastrous earthquake where the survivors have bounced back fast and are now laughing, and living, as before.

WILSON

These Persians, or Iranians, laugh about the Battle of the Sexes, and their crazy driver—about the same as Californians or Chicagoans or Bostonians—and about old Mullah, the legendary priest, and his donkey . . . but they laugh.

A Persian told a story of Linda Christian visiting here, wearing a bikini, and being told: "You can't wear a two-piece bathing suit here."

"O.K.," responded Linda. "Which piece do I take off?"

"Your cab drivers are worse than those Kamakazi drivers in Japan," I told them—and they howled.

"You sit up front so you can watch the accidents," one native said. You get about six accidents to the gallon here. One Persian, showing us around, protested that these accident stories were exaggerated.

Suddenly there was a crunchy, cranching sound. He'd just scraped another guy's fender.

They're proud—taking us out to feast on the delicious fluffy-rice kebab, this Persian said their caviar's so cheap, but good, that the Russians import it, then export it as their own.

"And," he bragged, with something no Texan ever even thought about, "we have a garlic that doesn't even smell."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Wealthy J. Paul Getty's reportedly a nickel-nurse, but he imported maestro Bill Harrington from N.Y. to work at a dance on the Riviera . . . Duo at the Viennese Lantern: Zsa Zsa Gabor and a one-time beau, ex-New Orleans Mayor DeLesseps Morrison.

Model Vikki Dougan, who gained fame as The Back, now wears silky gowns slit up the side, too . . . Caesar Romero's dating Elizabeth Allen, once Jackie Gleason's "Away we go!" girl . . . Authoress Françoise Sagan's in the health food business in France.

EARL'S PEARLS: Just about the time a man is cured of swearing, it's time to make out another income tax return.—San Diego Tribune.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH One of the model railroad companies has put out a realistic passenger set—locomotive, two Pullmans, bar car and Dean Martin.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Any parent will tell you there are two kinds of little boys—noisy, and not awake yet.

Joe E. Lewis updates a couple of old sayings at the Copa: "Early to bed and early to rise—and you're the type the night club owners despise." Also "Out of the mouths of babes comes—oatmeal." That's earl, brother.

E. Germans Lack Meat

Reich Bid: Save Scraps

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's admission that the forced collectivization of farms was partly responsible.

A government statement distributed by the official East German news agency, ADN, admitted the shortage.

A form of rationing of meat and butter has been in force for some time.

The statement said the bad harvest last year caused a shortage of a million tons of wheat and five million tons of potatoes.

The result was a deficit of 2½ million tons of animal fodder, the statement added.

It also made the unusually frank admission that the forced collectivization of farms was partly responsible.

80 Pct. of Americans

Never in Airplane

MONTREAL (UPI)—Although the United States leads the world in air travel by its residents, 80 per cent of its population has never entered a commercial airliner, according to the International Air Transport Association.

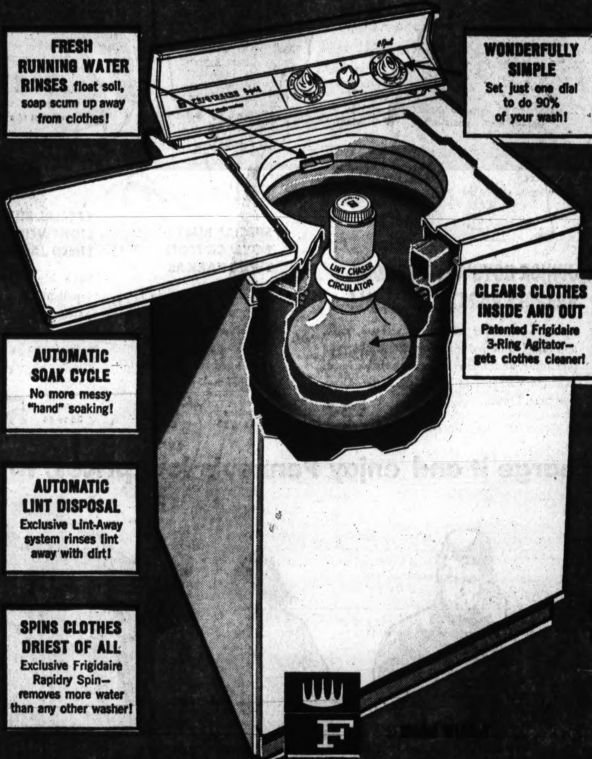

Of the 20 per cent who do fly, two-thirds do so on business IATA reports.

When Europeans arrived in Australia, about 300,000 aborigines inhabited the continent.

men to all back yard chefs who have wrestled with one little chicken to make it edible, or even presentable.

Mrs. Samuel P. Halsey of Clarkston will make the problem seem like child's play Saturday when, as chief cook and bottle washer for the Oakland County 4-H club, she will barbecue 250 of the birds that have given apoplexy to more than just a few keepers of the grill.

Mrs. Halsey, leader of the Andoverville Flying Tigers Club, is in charge of preparations for the undertaking to be held at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center from 5 to 8 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to send a bus load of 4-H members and leaders to Maine next summer.

This year a delegation from the New England state visited Oakland County to learn of 4-H activities in Michigan.

A complete meal will be built around the 250 half chickens that are expected to be served to the public, Mrs. Halsey said.

And for those who want to fool their neighbors into thinking that they're really become expert in the art, barbecued birds will be available to take home.

Lawmakers Set Detroit Session

DETROIT (UPI) — The 12-member joint Michigan legislative committee on Economic Growth was scheduled to meet in the Detroit area tomorrow and Saturday.

During the two-day conference and briefing sessions, the lawmakers will meet with Army spokesmen and educators to discuss bolstering the state's economy through defense contracts and keeping Michigan-educated talent in the state.

The meeting will begin tomorrow morning at the headquarters of the U.S. Army Mobility Command in suburban Sterling Township.

Committee members will hear from Lt. Gen. Frank Benson, commanding general of the Army Materiel Command with headquarters in Washington; Maj. Gen. Alden K. Sibley, who heads the mobility command and Brig. Gen. John G. Cranow, commanding general of the Detroit Army Tank Automotive Command.

The briefing on small business will be conducted by Col. Rex White, chief of the Mobility Command's research development directorate.

In the afternoon, the committee will meet at the University of Michigan Dearborn Center to hear a report from U.S. of M. Prof. Joseph C. Griffin on the results of the defense contracts survey in which 176 of Michigan's larger business firms are participating.

The lawmakers meet Saturday in Toledo, Ohio, with Louis Purdy, executive director of the Toledo-Lucas County Port Authority, for a briefing and tour of Toledo's free port.

The committee is headed by Rep. Gilbert Bursley, R-Amherst.

Dem Candidates to Tour Lapeer Training School

LANSING (AP) — A group of Democratic candidates for the legislature will tour the Lapeer State Home and Training School tomorrow as part of a program designed to inform potential lawmakers on state mental health and corrections problems.

Tom Walsh of the Democratic State Central Committee said the program is the first of its kind to be undertaken by either political party in Michigan.

A total of six tours are planned for groups of Democratic candidates in areas where various state institutions are located.

Some 21 candidates toured the Coldwater State Home and Training School last week on the first tour and more will visit the three state institutions at Ionia next Tuesday, Walsh said.

OKs Loan to Schools

The Dryden School District was given approval yesterday to borrow $15,000 against anticipated $243,430 aid by the State Department of Public Instruction.

By The Associated Press. Formation of a "veterans for Romney" organization to support the gubernatorial campaign of Republican George Romney was announced in Detroit last night.

The announcement came a few hours after a Democratic politician had asserted in a Detroit speech: "Some of us who were wearing a uniform during World War II while he (Romney) was a lobbyist for a corporation feel we are entitled to his definition of Americanism."

The assertion came from Neil Staebler, Democratic nominee for congressman-at-large, and a Navy lieutenant in World War II.

Romney was a Washington representative for Aluminum Company of America prior to joining the Automobile Manufacturers Association as manager of its Detroit office in January 1940.

N. J. Carahan of Detroit was named temporary chairman of "veterans for Romney" and said its membership included representatives of these: Marine Corps League, Spanish American War Veterans, AMVETS, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of World War I, Military Order of the Purple Heart, Colonial War Veterans, Military Order of World War, Jewish War Veterans, Polish Legion of American Veterans, 40 & 8, American Legion and Allied Vet Council.

"They believe," Carahan said, "that not only in Michigan but in the rest of the country, the veterans have a right to be heard and to be heard by the leadership which George Romney can provide this state."

Staebler's demand for Romney's definition of Americanism came at a celebrities luncheon at the Detroit Press Club.

Staebler's demand apparently was triggered by a recent Romney speech in which he pointed out Staebler, now a millionaire Ann Arbor businessman, once had run for the Ann Arbor City Council on the Socialist party ticket.

At the same time, in support of Staebler's Republican at-large opponent, Alvin Bentley, Romney reportedly said: "We need a congressman whose Americanism can't be questioned."

Staebler said his press club audience he had run for city office as a socialist in 1933, "at the depth of the depression, when neither the Republicans nor Democrats had a program for economic recovery." Then he added:

"As soon as the new deal came in and the Democrats got on the high road, I saw the error of socialism and since that time have been devoted to the two-party system."

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges spoke last night at a Detroit "businessmen for Romney" dinner in support of Romney's Democratic opponent, Gov. John B. Swainson. The fee was $10 a plate.

"Today 1,300,000 more people are working than just a year ago,"

ROCHESTER — Because he has to tape his Sunday night TV debate with Guy Nunn, GOP gubernatorial candidate George Romney has had to cancel his scheduled appearance here Saturday noon.

Hodges said, "and corporate profits are up more than $0 billion."

"Here in Michigan recovery has meant rising employment, and a rate of unemployment, which though high, has been cut to more than half since the start of 1961."

For the nation as a whole, Hodges said personal income is at an all-time high and retail sales are nearly $1.5 billion above a year ago. He credited this to the administration of President Kennedy, a fellow Democrat of his and Swainson.

Speaking last night at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, at the Detroit Press Club, Romney said: "One thing I have learned in this campaign is that it is much better to just go to an affair — mingle with people — instead of waiting for an invitation."

"I have found it is no use writing letters, asking for invitations. I prefer to go informally, to show respect for the people there, to meet them."

Referring to his "crashing" of two Labor Day affairs arranged exclusively for Democrats and a United Auto Workers Union picnic for retirees, Romney said:

"People talked to me afterwards, saying that they resented my not being allowed on the speakers' platform — and that's exactly what I had hoped they would think."

To Democratic institutions that he is ashamed of the Republican party and fails to mention the GOP in any of his billboards or pamphlets, Romney said:

"I am a Republican, and I expressed my basic philosophy back in a 1950 speech . . . But I have deliberately not taken a narrow partisan view because I feel that only a nonpartisan coalition of Republicans, Democrats and independents can save Michigan."

ROMNEY carried through last night on one point he has insisted upon — and which Nunn has said he won't accept. But that difference apparently isn't going to cause any UAW black-out.

Romney sent Nunn a check for $1,000 to pay for program air time and production costs. Nunn told a reporter he had received the check, but whether it ever would be cashed was another matter and something the UAW executive board would decide.

"The check," Nunn said, "is unimportant. The important thing is that Mr. Romney be there and submit himself to questions."

Asked about Romney's insistence that he be allowed to "straighten out distortions of fact" which the GOP nominee says Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson made on Nunn's program last Sunday, Nunn replied:

"I think he should be given a chance. It shouldn't take long. Swainson's appearance didn't cover a lot of acreage."

Nunn said, however, he expected to ask Romney questions, and added that "As far as we're concerned it (the show) is on."

That seemed to make it unnecessary, as Romney said in a letter accompanying his check:

WANTS TO APPEAR
"I want very much to appear on the program; first, for the purpose of straightening out the distortions of fact that occurred during Governor Swainson's most recent appearance; and second, to answer any questions you may wish to ask me."

Nunn and Romney, however, took verbal pot shots at one another earlier.

Romney reiterated (without including a check) his insistence upon his campaign committee paying the cost of the UAW show over a Windsor, Ont., television station (CKLW), saying:

"The point is simply this . . . and I thought I spelled it out rather clearly, but I'll try again: I firmly believe that it is neither morally nor right that UAW workers — or anyone else, for that matter — be arbitrarily taxed to pay the cost of broadcasting opinions or promoting political personalities which number of those taxed, however small, may not support."

Nunn fired back, hotly:

"He (Romney) knows perfectly well that no UAW member is taxed arbitrarily to pay the cost of union broadcasts. The UAW constitution provides that any member who for any reason does not want his dues to support the UAW citizenship fund can have the ten cents per month which goes to that purpose diverted to a nonpartisan foundation. Some members have availed themselves of this provision."

Fear of East German Revolution Prevented It

U.S. Seriously Considered Knocking Down Wall

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
It is not generally known, but the United States seriously considered knocking down the Communist's Berlin Wall more than a year ago.

One reason it didn't: fear of a revolution in Red-ruled East Germany.

This presented the United States with the possibility of a terrifying choice: the West could intervene in an East German revolution to help it, and thus risk triggering World War III, or it could keep hands off and thus risk losing all of Berlin, all of Germany and a good deal more.

The U.S. dilemma at that moment brought home forcefully the need for advance planning to anticipate Soviet moves in the dangerous Berlin and German situations.

What should be done now to counter the next Kremlin move, which many believe will come before the end of the year?

The feeling among many informed Americans is that Premier Khrushchev cannot much longer defer action on his threat to sign a separate peace treaty with the Communist East Germans, which turn later withdrawn—some highly he says will automatically nullify Western occupation rights in West Berlin.

The indications have been that Khrushchev will permit the matter to rest only until after the U.S. congressional elections in November.

Among the moves being discussed is one reportedly rejected four years ago by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

When Khrushchev, in November 1958, issued his first ultimatum for the Allies to get out of West Berlin within six months—an ultimatum later withdrawn—some highly placed persons in the United States proposed that the Allies quickly declare West Berlin finally and irrevocably part of the West German Federal Republic.

It would be incorporated in the federal republic, and the Bonn government would be responsible for it.

Apparently Chancellor Adenauer was against such a move at the time, supposedly because he feared it would signal the withdrawal of the western allied occupation forces from the beleaguered city.

In reality, that was no problem. If the Bonn government, had wanted the French, British and U.S. troops to stay in West Berlin under the new arrangement, all it had to do was extend the official invitation. It would have been a matter of Bonn's own sovereignty.

But Adenauer was believed also to be worried that the new arrangement would weaken postwar agreements under which the four-power occupation of all Berlin was brought about. But Khrushchev's activities with regard to Berlin already had done that.

A declaration that West Berlin is part of West Germany unquestionably would raise a storm of Soviet protest. Moscow would denounce it as a provocation.

But Moscow itself has divided Berlin and declared the eastern part the private property of the East German Communists.

Should Khrushchev go ahead and sign his treaty, as he threatens, the Allies could respond with their own declaration as a signal that the West continues to insist upon unimpaired communications with West Berlin.

They could then take the diplomatic and propaganda offensive with a demand that both the Berlin and the German questions be settled on the basis of self-determination of peoples, which is a popular slogan in much of the world today.

Sees Dem Victory in Massachusetts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman John M. Bailey of the Democratic National Committee said yesterday the outcome of the Massachusetts primaries points to Democratic victory there in November, and also indicates national party strength for the general elections.

"The returns at this stage indicate that by a ratio of almost 2 to 1 the voters of Massachusetts cast their lot with the Democratic party," Bailey said in a statement.

"The winner of the Democratic senatorial primary, Edward M. Kennedy, polled more votes than both the candidates in the Republican senatorial primary. The loss in the Democratic contest called more votes than the winner in the Republican primary."

Women, Men Equal in Sick Leave Days

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is remarkably little difference between the average working man and woman in the number of days lost from work because of illness or injury, according to Health Insurance News.

A report based on data for the year July 1959-June 1960, developed by the U. S. National Health Survey, showed the average working man lost 5.5 days from work while the average woman lost 5.6 days.

About one million members of the civilian non-institutional population of the United States have hearing aids.

Gunfight Rocks Algeria as People Go to Polls

ALGIER (UPI)—A gun battle broke out between rival troops today during the first national elections since Algeria became independent from France.

A spokesman for the Algerian army said "several dozen" soldiers were wounded in a clash with Willaya 4 forces in the Babouchen eucalyptus forest east of Algiers.

Willaya 4 is the military district encompassing the capital, whose leaders have opposed strongman Ahmed Ben Bella's bid for power.

Ten truckloads of troops roared through the streets of Algiers, loaded with soldiers carrying sub-machineguns at the ready. They headed for Bain Romain, a small village near the forest.

The trucks rushed past lines of Algerians waiting to vote for a single slate of candidates chosen by Ben Bella's political bureau. Ben Bella set up the bureau to run Algeria until a popular government takes over.

The spokesman said he had called on the bureau to send troops to put down the Willaya forces, reported occupying ridge positions in the forest.

He said the fighting broke out when army soldiers tried to rescue a kidnapped Belgian couple.

There was no further information, but the Belgian consulate confirmed that two citizens had been seized.

Polls throughout the country opened for 18 hours to accommodate 6,480,736 registered voters, most of whom were expected to turn out despite a backdrop of violence.

Yesterday, two persons were reported killed at Tennes in a fight between forces opposed to Ben Bella and civilians supporting him.

Reds Romp Through Migrant Work Camp

By BOB CONSIDINE

HARTFORD, Conn.—We were in what must be the world's cleanest migrant workers' camp, run by the Shade Tobacco Growers Agricultural Association, Inc., near here.

The flags of the U.S., Puerto Rico, Jamaica (black, yellow, green) and the Union Jack of the Commonwealth of the British West Indies fluttered proudly at the entrance.

The Russian group we were accompanying had some questions to ask an unusually muscular MIT man named Mark H. Kravitz, who runs the 700-man (plus dependents) camp for the Growers. They had just been walked through a room in which 50 assorted workers were watching a television show.

"Isn't it dangerous for these people to watch your westerns, your gangster shows, and other such shows where there is so much shooting and use of knives and other weapons that there is one death each minute on American television?" asked a Russian delegate named Viktor Sokolov.

It was a tough spot for Mr. Kravitz, but he answered swiftly. "We have many shows on American TV," he said. "We have comedies, music, education, sports, everything. Maybe if you turned the station dial in a certain way you could find a murder every minute, but I doubt it. These people know that the shootings they see are make-believe. I've been in this place for a couple of years and there's never been a fist fight, much less a knifeing."

It was a challenge to the Russian, and a moment of silence followed.

M. J. Parshikow, head of the Migration, stepped into this void. "The question is not put to the proper man," he said with a suave smile at Mr. Kravitz. "This question should be directed to the producers of the television shows."

GREAT CURIOSITY

The Russians showed great curiosity about the workers. As we walked into the camp's dining room and came upon a table of them eating whitefish and rice ("It's Friday," Mr. Kravitz explained) every Russian waved in friendly style to the migrants, none of whom could speak English. None of us waved, embarrassingly enough.

"Can the men who work here have a union?" Mr. Sokolov asked. He is a nonunion member, if we hazard a guess.

"No, there is no union involved," Mr. Kravitz answered. "They are guaranteed certain things under their contract: 50 per cent of their round-trip passage, free medical care, a minimum of $1.05 an hour, two meals a day in the cafeteria and all they can eat and a box lunch for the fields at $1.4 a week, free housing, TV, hi-fi. Lots of things."

"But no representation," the Russian insisted.

"The Puerto Ricans have a Puerto Rican government representative living here to present their complaints, if any," the American answered. "The British West Indian people have a man of their own here, too."

"Elected by them?" Mr. Sokolov pressed.

"No, by the governments," the American said.

There was a pained pause, then much handshaking and farewelling.

We asked Mr. Parshikow if there was as much talk about lung cancer's possible association with smoking in Russia as there is in the U.S. The cheerful member of the State Planning Committee USSR Council of Ministers shrugged.

"Smoke is not good," people here are trying to build up Soviet smoking.

Reveal Contracts for College Building

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Contracts on bids totaling $706,846 were announced today for construction of a dormitory-student center at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City.

Preston Tanis, NMC director, said the building will provide dormitory housing for 168 students plus dining, kitchen and recreational facilities for the entire student body of more than 900.

The building is designed to cover 36,000 square feet. It is being financed by self-liquidating loans from the federal housing and home finance agency. Revenues for loan payments are to come from rentals and dining facilities over a 40-year period.

GOP Sponsors Special Hookup

Friday Morning on TV Will Train Solicitors for Party Funds

Newspaper and radio advertisements are being used this week to direct attention to a special Michigan network television broadcast Friday morning, Sept. 21, (7 to 7:30) on behalf of the GOP-sponsored "Neighbor-To-Neighbor" fund raising drive.

Purpose of the special Michigan hookup of television stations, according to William R. Dixon, Midland civic leader and state chairman of the "Neighbor-To-Neighbor" drive, is to train more than 20,000 volunteer solicitors for their door-to-door fund solicitation calls on Sept. 25.

Dixon added: "This is the first time, we believe, that any political party has employed open television as a training tool on so vast a scale."

"For the first time Michigan citizens will be given an opportunity to take a 'behind the scenes look' at a major political party's fund-raising operations at the grass roots level."

A professional cast will be used. "But the materials they will use and demonstrate are the same materials our workers will be carrying with them when they make their 'Neighbor-To-Neighbor' calls next week," Dixon said.

Dixon revealed that a second half-hour television program is scheduled for Sept. 25—same time, same stations. "This one," he said, "will be inspirational in character, and will feature a number of party leaders, including Mr. Romney."

Local viewers can see the programs on WXYZ-TV.

Bridges' Widow Seeks Recount for Primary

CONCORD, N. H. — Mrs. Dolores Bridges entered a formal request yesterday for a recount of the ballots from last week's Republican primary for the U.S. Senate.

The official returns showed Mrs. Bridges losing the nomination by fewer than 1,700 votes to U.S. Rep. Perkins Bass.

Her request for a recount, together with a $200 fee, was filed with Secretary of State Robert L. Stark.

Stark indicated the recount would not commence until after tomorrow's deadline for recount requests.

Mrs. Bridges has said she could not bring herself to believe that New Hampshire voters no longer support "Styles Bridges Republicanism."

State Gets U. S. Funds

LANSING (UPI) — Nine candidates for statewide offices accepted invitations by the State Chamber of Commerce to appear at the group's annual meeting in Detroit next month, officials said today.

The Republican and Democratic candidates for congressman-at-large, attorney general, treasurer and auditor general, and the Republican candidate for secretary of state planned to attend the chamber meeting in Detroit Oct. 2.

take their business lunches seriously."

About 54 per cent of the farms in France are operated by their owners.

Ferris Institute Sets Record for Enrollment

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Enrollment has reached a new high at Ferris Institute where 4,320 students were

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The tract house in suburban Mission Hills is immaculate, say police, but it has padlocks on every window and double locks on all doors.

Bonnie Austin, 16, and Karen Austin, 15, claim their father kept them virtual prisoners in the house for seven months — until a home where both parents were employed and where, I thought, supervision was lacking."

"The girls were not prisoners. They could get out through a window any time they wanted to. I read the Bible to them and tried to interest them in meeting young people in church. . . ."

HE TRIED
The father, Eugene Austin, 39, consulting engineer, was charged Wednesday with endangering the girls' health and safety. He told newsmen: "As a parent I tried to do what was right and take care of my daughters."

LANSING UP—The Department of Mental Health reported yesterday that 72 elderly persons have moved out of state hospitals into various community facilities under new provisions of the federal old age assistance program in effect since July.

The girls were placed in protective custody after saying their father heard reports that they were being kidnapped. The girls were released several months ago. Karen was permitted to attend junior high school in Granada Hills, but Bonnie had to remain in the locked home studying correspondence courses. There was no radio, television or telephone.

The girls said their father treated them well otherwise, entertained guests at home and took them to the movies. The girls said they were not being kidnapped.

Mental health director Charles F. Wagg said he was pleased with the progress under the new plan and noted that 804 more people are awaiting placement in county medical care facilities, private rest homes, or their own homes.

Wagg described as a "welcome resource" the new provision of the federal plan which allows old-age assistance funds to elderly people who are unable to get along without constant psychiatric care even though they may not be physically healthy.

Austin, freed on $500 bail, commented: "Bonnie got mixed up with some boys who gathered at

Caroline's Integrated School Opens in White House Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four-year-old Caroline Kennedy's White House kindergarten opens for its fall term today—racially integrated.

One of the new pupils will be 5-year-old Avery Hatcher, the son of Associate Press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher, a Negro.

The White House announced that school bells will ring today at 9 a.m. for about 25 4- and 5-year-old boys and girls — all except Caroline, who resides there.

The President's daughter still is vacationing with her mother, Jacqueline Kennedy, and her little brother, John Jr., at Newport, R.I., and won't be starting her kindergarten classes until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

CLASSES ON 3RD FLOOR

The school holds nursery and kindergarten classes on the third floor of the executive mansion Monday through Friday mornings.

It was set up last year as a co-operative venture by the First Lady and many of her personal friends, who are young matrons with children.

In its announcement the White House said "the names of the children attending the school will not be divulged out of respect for their parents' wish for privacy."

But the White House kindergarten children are known to be children of friends of President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Mothers who declined to be identified said that both the President and the First Lady "were very pleased" that young Hatcher, one of seven children, could join the kindergarten group.

Last semester there was only one class of 14 children. But over the summer another classroom was set up in the solarium and equipped with kindergarten facilities to move the children into a more advanced program.

The school is a cooperative effort with the parents of the children paying around $500 a year to take care of teachers' salaries and other expenses.

Town House Tract Eyed

Planning Commission to Get Proposal for East Side Project

A proposal to construct a modern town-house type of development on a 30-acre parcel to be blighted by future extension of East Huron Street on the East Side is expected to come before the City Planning Commission Oct. 3.

Standard Building Products Co. of Detroit, requested the property be rezoned from Residential-1 to Residential-3 at Tuesday's City Commission meeting.

Following customary procedure, the request was referred to the planning staff for a hearing at its October meeting.

The area lies near East Boulevard in the vicinity of the city's incinerator plant and is bounded by Michigan and Tannan avenues and the Clinton River.

Development in the area, according to City Manager Robert A. Storer, has been discouraged by city officials until a definite route for the East Huron extension and tie-in with the proposed M59 freeway has been determined.

Some rechanneling of the Clinton River may be necessary in the area and the parcel will be cut in two by the rerouting of M59 along the proposed East Huron extension.

Developers said they would be prepared to present a plan for development on the parcel at the October meeting.

In their request, they said only that the town house development would range from one-bedroom $65-per-month units to four-bedroom $95-per-month units.

Roman Senate Up in Arms With Caesar's Latin

ROME (AP)—Even the Romans are having trouble with Latin.

Debate raged Wednesday in the Senate over whether to continue Latin as compulsory in the middle grades.

The school system branches into two parts in the middle grades. One leads to higher education and includes Latin. The other prepares for technical labor with no further education after eighth grade. It omits Latin.

Italian Communists want Latin dropped.

12 Justice Officials Purged in Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Deputy Minister of Justice Ferenc Ando, two vice presidents of the supreme court and nine other justice officials have been ousted from their jobs, the government announced Wednesday.

The official bulletin said they were relieved by order of the presidential council. It was assumed the purge was part of Hungary's de-Stalinization drive.

New Foreign Minister Appointed in Sweden

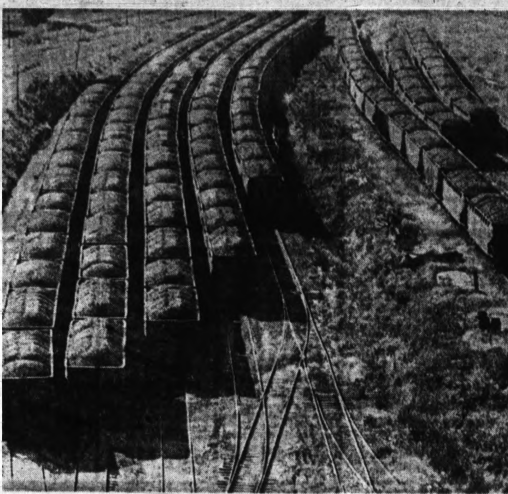

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Torsten Nilsson was appointed foreign minister of Sweden Wednesday to succeed Oesten Unden, 76, foreign minister since 1945.

No reason was given for the resignation of Unden, an uncompromising advocate of Swedish neutrality, but it was understood in political circles it was because of his age and health.

Foreign Steel Makers to Improve Facilities

NEW YORK (UPI) — Foreign steel producers will strengthen their competitive position by spending about $5 billion for new improved facilities this year, according to Steel Facts Magazine.

On the other hand, the trade publication said, U.S. Steel companies indicated they might spend $1.3 billion for the same purposes.

GOING NOWHERE — Loaded coal cars with nowhere to go tell the story at the Midland Electric Coal Corp. strip mine at Middle Grove, Ill., which has been shut down because of the strike-stopped Chicago and North Western Railroad.

The mine, which uses C&NW to move its coal to market, was forced to lay off 300 men Aug. 31, shortly after the strike by railway telegraphers shut down the railroad.

Wall Street Bides Time in Period Labeled Transition

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK — The big stock market plunge of last spring and the current SEC investigation of the entire securities business has left Wall Street in a period of transition.

Wall Streeters use various phrases to describe the present situation: "consolidation," "cooling-off," "watching and waiting."

Hardest hit have been the get-rich-quick element who made fortunes dealing in "hot new issues" of companies selling stock to the public for the first time when the bull market was in its most feverish state.

Not only the market drop but the SEC probe has cooled off the hot issue boys.
"A lot of the fringe operators have been shaken out," said one Wall Streeter, "the manipulators, the corner-cutters, the user-car-salesmen type of security dealer, are more cautious."

While the seasoned stocks in the over-the-counter market have made a recovery comparable to the 40 per cent rebound of issues listed on stock exchange since the debut of the June low, the market for new corporate securities, especially for smaller companies, remains weak.

"There is a definite slackening off in the highly speculative new issues and a stock-buying in the firms who dealt in them," said Llewellyn F. Young, regional administrator of the important New York-New Jersey area of the Securities & Exchange Commission.

The drastic fall in confidence in the market for new issues, however, has affected the deserving as well as the undeserving.

URGES TAX REFORM

In this connection, Keith Funt, president of the New York Stock Exchange, long an adherent of lower taxes which he says would benefit the investment business, has this to say:

"The ability of the small corporation to finance its expansion through the raising of equity capital is one of the most important things for the future of American business."

"At the present time, it's too hard for the small, growing business to get the capital needed for expansion. Tax reform would be a big help in improving this picture."

In June, which for technical reasons is always the biggest month for new corporate issues, this year's monthly total sank to 51 issues totaling $32,888,550 from the record June 1961 total of 147 issues priced at $1,648,788,056.

Between May 1 and Aug. 15 this year, a total of 193 corporate issues totaling some 33 million shares were officially withdrawn from SEC registration. Market conditions were too discouraging.

This meant that many smaller-size companies which wanted to expand plants, get new machinery, branch out into new products and possibly provide employment for more workers, were unable to do so.

At the same time — if the past means anything — it meant that many a fly-by-night operation had dried up.

"The rain falls on the just and the unjust," said one proverb-prone Wall Streeter.

Despite all this, however latest figures showed that American companies still intend to spend $37.2 billion on new plants and equipment, up 8 per cent from the 1961 outlays, and unchanged from their plan of February and May prior to the Black Monday stock plunge of May 28, worst since 1929.

BIG ISSUES UNHURT
This major element of the American economy, therefore, apparently remains unaffected by the stock market shakeout. The big companies naturally have a better reception for their stock issues and can more readily borrow money through bond issues — difficult for a small outfit.

One of the great fears at the time of the swift stock market decline was that the drop in values would kick back against the economy itself, helping to bring about a sharp business outlook, as in 1929-32. Four months after Black Monday, this apparently still hasn't happened.

In Wall Street, itself, the drop-off in the business of underwriting new issues has put some of the "Johnny-come-lately" underwriters out of business, led many fringe outfits in a dormant stage where they employ no salesmen and make no telephone calls, and even caused some staff reductions among the big, solid companies.

The decline in stock market volume — approximately 10 per cent from a year ago — has caused many of the brokerage firms to lay off help.

Here again, the layoffs of personnel in the brokerage business have mainly affected the smaller or middle-sized companies.

"Wall Street is no different from back office help. When business falls off we cut back on employment. It's like eliminating the third shift in a factory."

Meanwhile, there is plain evidence that some 'influential segments of Wall Street are banking on better times ahead.

Tomorrow: Confidence in Wall Street.)

Vote to Nationalize Quebec Utilities Set

QUEBEC (AP)—Quebec Premier Jean Lesage yesterday called a provincial general election for Nov. 14 to seek a mandate for the government to nationalize power systems.

Lesage told a news conference his government, elected 27 months ago, feels that proper planning "demands nationalization of all enterprises which produce power for private consumption."

Among the systems he tabbed for public ownership was the giant Stawinigan Water and Power Company.

There are about 45 private power companies in the province. Many produce power for their own consumption—such as aluminum plants, textile and paper mills.

Ball and Chain Halt 'Robber'; Sentenced to TV

MASON (AP)—Capt. Versile Babcock of the Ingham County Sheriff's Department has ordered his children to play cowboys and Indians from now on instead of cops and robbers.

The Babcock children found an 18-pound ball and chain to use in their cops and robbers game with some neighborhood youngsters yesterday.

Eight-year-old Martha Babcock was a robber and was sentenced to wear the ball and chain. When the game was over, the key couldn't be found and his wife couldn't locate Babcock.

Babcock came home to find his daughter watching television while wearing the ball and chain. The small prisoner had been served dinner in front of the set, since it was too hard to steer her to the table.

Babcock issued a firm directive on the use of police equipment in kid games.

Pincher Gets Pinched Back by Judge—$75

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban refugee was fined $75 Wednesday for pinching a pretty girl.

Luis R. Rodriguez, 17, admitted through an interpreter that he pedaled up on his bicycle and administered the pinch—a regressive form of compliment not unusual in some Latin countries.

"My intentions were good," he said.

Judge Milton J. Wallace said Rodriguez has been in this country six months—long enough to notice the customs are a little different.

Flint Journal Staff Writer

FLINT ON — Edward A. Sand won the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC) in 1943, but he doesn't talk much about it.

So he worked with Helmut Weber as a die maker at the Chevrolet manufacturing plant here for five years without mentioning his wartime experiences. Each was aware that the other had been on the opposing side during World War II. But that was about all.

One day conversation drifted around to the war and it came out that Sand is a DFC winner. "Where did you get it?" Weber asked.

"On the Ploesti raid," Sand replied.

"That's funny," Weber said. "I was at Ploesti, too."

Weber was actually in Misi about 30 miles from Ploesti, on the Sunday morning of the raid, Aug. 1, 1943.

His unit, the 9th Squadron of Germany's third fighter wing, was assigned to defend the vast oil fields in the Ploesti area.

"Some of our fighters got off the ground, but the American bombers were coming in so low that they were helpless," Weber recalled.

Sand estimated that his B24 made passes at altitudes of 50 feet or lower.

SAW NO ACTION
Weber, a corporal, saw no action during the raid. He was a flight engineer and had been assigned to Romania from the Russian front only a short time before the attack.

"We knew the raid was imminent, but we were totally surprised by the low-level bombing tactics," he said.

Sand, who was a waist gunner, had other ideas about the degree of German surprise.

"They told us there would be nothing but Romanian fighters there," Sand said. "Actually, the whole area was loaded with German troops and armaments. We started getting pounded by those 88 (antiaircraft guns) as soon as we came in sight."

Only 11 out of the 39 planes in Sand's unit, the 3rd Bomber Group of the 8th Air Force, returned to the base at Benghazi, Libya.

"The first thing I recall about the raid was seeing peasants on their way to church. They were all in black, except that the women wore colored aprons and the men wore colored vests. When we passed over they waved to us. They probably didn't know which side we were on."

Sand flew in a tight three-bomber formation. On the approach, he said, the other two collided while coming out of a cloud bank. The radio operator on one was Henry C. Lloyd of Flint. All crew members of both planes were killed.

"The thing that stands out in my memory was the noise. It was absolutely deafening," Sand recalled. "I couldn't hear myself think until we got back to Benghazi."

COULD SEE FACES

"We came in so low I could see the faces of the Germans at their guns. Then every once in a while an oil tank would explode, and our plane would suddenly shoot up like someone had jerked a string.

Weber remembers watching the smoke from the burning oil tanks. "The whole sky was black for days," he recalls.

Sand later took part in several raids on Italy and Germany and ended the war as a gunnery instructor at an air base near Savannah, Ga.

Weber was transferred to the tank corps and sent to the Western Front in 1944. The next year he was captured by a Belgian prison camp. He escaped in 1946 and obtained a visa to the United States in 1953. He is now a citizen.

Stravinsky Returns to Russian Homeland Tomorrow

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW — Igor Stravinsky returns to his homeland Friday to demonstrate for the Russians what has come of the musical revolution he took to the West a half century ago and to hear what they have done with music while he was gone.

BACKGROUND

Stretch of City a 'Megalopolis'

Geographers Give This Name to Line From N.H. to Virginia

WASHINGTON — Geographers and social scientists have a word for it — "megalopolis" — from the Greek term for a great city. Megalopolis, U. S. A., is the almost unbroken line of cities, towns and suburbs that stretches along the northeast seaboard from southern New Hampshire to northern Virginia.

Here exploding population, industrial concentration, and transportation links have joined to create a unique urban complex 300 miles long.

Megalopolis is the most populous, richest, busiest and most heavily traveled region of modern America. Its factories produce one-quarter of the nation's manufactures. Its harbors handle half the imports by sea.

In its cities lie the country's financial and managerial centers, publishing and broadcasting headquarters, the largest libraries, museums and art collections — plus the seat of the federal government.

Networks of highways, railroads and airlines crisscross the region, streak along the coast.

Out of what often began as foot trails and post roads, like those between Boston and New York, have sprung modern superhighways — the Massachusetts and Connecticut turnpikes, the New York State Thruway.

A new hallmark of megalopolis is the ring road, or beltway encircling major cities. Such are Boston's Circumferential Highway, and the Baltimore and Washington circles of bypass expressways.

return in 48 years is likely to be with that the Firebird and Rite of Spring — three major works he composed before he left Russia. visit. Stravinsky, Russian-born and California-American by choice, is no less an outgroup individualist than the California-born New Englander Frost.

Stravinsky's triumphal return is a belated and reconciliatory part of celebrations of his 80th birthday, now three months past. In the earlier phases of the four-acre birthday celebrations Stravinsky was entertained by the Kennedys in the White House, and somewhere along the way in Russia he is expected to meet Premier Khrushchev, as Frost did and as the touring good will clarinetist Benny Goodman did before him this year.

Khrushchev was friendly but frankly told Goodman he didn't dig Benny's music, and there is speculation as to whether the premier will comment on Stravinsky. Many others over the world have — often violently.

PREPARE WAY

Soviet arbiters of art have prepared the way for Stravinsky in recent months by permitting for the first time renditions of many of the Stravinsky works that had been unacceptable under Soviet doctrine.

The small, wiry, octogenarian composer will find little of the old Russia on this first visit since 1914 — before World War I. There is a niece in Leningrad, Xenia Stravinsky, whom he will meet.

His father, a famous basso at the old courtier St. Petersburg (Leningrad) Opera, and his first teacher, Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov are buried near each other in Novodevichy Cemetery.

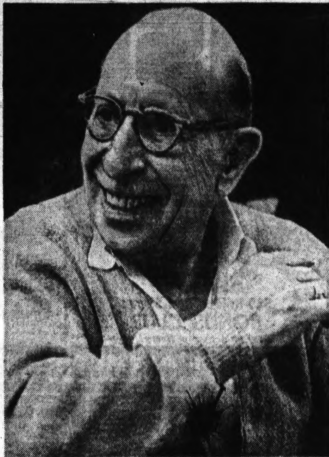

The elder Stravinsky turned Igor away from music and sent him to law school, where he met a son of Rimsky-Korsakov, and then Rimsky himself, and his future was settled.

The classic academic imprint of Rimsky and the avant-garde encouragements of the ballet entrepreneur Diaghilev gave young Igor the sure-fingered grasp and the inventive fire that made him famous — and endlessly controversial — and now welcome in a more tolerant homeland.

Stravinsky will conduct concerts in Moscow and Leningrad, near Crutchevskaya where he was born June 17, 1882.

Yakking of Russ Guests Drowns Out U.S. Newscast

By BOB CONSIDINE
HARTFORD, Conn.—Radio station WRTM, New Britain, Conn., has scored another first. It is the first American station to be jammed by Russians inside the U.S.

It happened the other day as we rode into Hartford with a group of Soviet experts concluding a study tour of our tobacco and vodka centers.

WRTM had been coming in loud and clear, particularly the commercials, when suddenly a Russian turned it down to an almost inaudible level. He had heard the beginning of the hourly news segment.

He and his two associates in the back seat of the air-conditioned Caddy began to converse in Russian. Hamming little phrases from the newscast seeped through between their pauses.

... The President's move was interpreted in Washington as his strongest rebuke to Soviet intentions in Cuba. . . one hundred and fifty thousand reservists face call-up. . . A sharp note was dispatched. . . The Russians talked on.

The only jamming at the reception the Husbels people gave the party at the company plant was the jamming of reporters around M. J. Parshikow and V. N. Sokolov, leaders of the Soviet expedition.

The former, an amiable intellectual who is a member of the important Council of Ministers, found himself somewhat overcome by hospitality. Somebody had put a Bloody Mary in his right hand and a Screwdriver in his left. He shrugged and made a comical effort to drink both simultaneously, and camera flashlights blazed.

"Do it again," a cameraman shouted.

UNDIGNIFIED? George V. Allen, former U.S. information agency chief who now heads the Tobacco Institute, which showed the Russians through eight tobacco states, stepped forward.

"It might be considered undignified," he whispered diplomatically to the State Department interpreter, who swiftly got the message to the Soviet official.

Mr. Parshikow began sipping his colorful drinks, alternately. "The orange juice covers the taste of the alcohol," he said of the Screwdriver. "But the results could be disastrous."

Both glasses were now nearly empty.

"A question," he said to a reporter. "I feel that I am becoming a little tipsy. Which of these drinks is responsible? Never mind the answer. Actually, I prefer a gin and tonic. I hope to have the first gin and tonic concession on the moon. It will mean the end of the drinking of moonshine there, no?" he paused. "That's a joke," he added.

"I represent the vodka manufacturers of Moscow," the swarming Sokolov put in, after sampling the product of both great powers. "You ask which is better. Let me put it this way, the American product is excellent. It is friendly to the stomach. But I represent the vodka manufacturers of Moscow, and thus must say that we have the best. There's an old Russian proverb that applies. It goes, 'Every duck says his pond is the best.'"

Americans apparently now drink more vodka than the Russians do, according to John Martin and Ralph Hart of Husbels. Vodka consumption is passing Scotch in the U.S., and closing fast on gin. Since World War II, at Husbels', it has jumped from little or nothing to a $75-million annual product.

40 CENTS A GALLON
Since no aging, blending or coloring are involved, it can be produced for 40 cents a gallon. The feds alone add $10.50 tax.

It was time to say good-bye to the Russians. "Finessa excused this message to American journalists," Mr. Parshikow asked as he shook hands. "Wherever we have gone in your country they have treated us fairly."

"Their pens have been impartial," Mr. Sokolov added solemnly. "If we were the Bolshoi Ballet we could not have been treated better."

Had they taken in the Bolshoi, while in New York?

State Tries to Help Motorists

Freeways Get Colorful

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department now is using color to help Michigan motorists find their way around on the state's freeway system.

In an experiment at three U.S. 27 freeway interchanges in the Mount Pleasant-Clare area, blue and yellow paint is being used to trim the edges of access and exit ramps.

Blue paint is used for "off" ramps and yellow for "on" ramps. The main roadway is marked with white edges.

Harold Cooper, director of the department's traffic division, said blue and yellow reflectors will be used the same way to aid motorists at night.

Cooper said Michigan is one of five states experimenting with the color system. If it works, he said, it will be used on all freeway ramps in the state, and Michigan will support its acceptance as a national freeway standard.

their survival. The zoo's two female ostriches have laid 37 eggs and only three babies have survived.

JFK Enters Political Arena Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will be hopping into the political arena tonight to open his personal part in the battle for the Democratic campaign cause.

The hop will be by helicopter to Harrisburg, Pa. Kennedy will speak at a rally aimed at raising the financial fortune of the Democratic party and the political fortunes of Democratic candidates.

It will be an outright political speech and people will pay to get in. The White House says it will be political, in contrast with what it termed nonpolitical talks the President made last month in South Dakota, Colorado and California—with Democratic candidates, and a smattering of Republicans, swarming around.

From here to the state and congressional elections of Nov. 6, there probably will be quite a few more Kennedy political safaris and speeches in key states.

Pennsylvania qualifies as a key state by reason of rousing races for the offices of U.S. senator, governor and 27 U.S. House seats.

WILL MEET JFK

Harrisburg will be welcomed at Harrisburg by Gov. David L. Lawrence and all the Democratic contenders who can get there. These include Sen. Joseph L. Clark, trying for another term, and his close political ally, Richardson Dilworth, who resigned as mayor of Philadelphia to try for governor.

A 10-term U.S. representative, James E. Van Zandt, is the Republican challenger against Clark.

A one-term congressman, millionaire William W. Scranton, has taken on Dilworth. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower pitched in for Scranton last Friday.

Pennsylvania has 16 Republicans, 14 Democrats in the House. But reapportionment trimmed the state's 30 House seats to 27.

Illinois is the only state other than Pennsylvania that definitely is staked out for a presidential campaign visit, Democratic Rep. Sidney R. Yates will get a hand-from Kennedy in trying to toss Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen out of the Senate.

Eisenhower was out in Illinois, too, last week, getting in some ticks for Dirksen. Kennedy is to appear at Springfield and Chicago Friday, Oct. 19.

MICHIGAN PERHAPS

For his part, Kennedy has said he is going to try to help elect

Democrats who support his program. He has made it evident at news conferences that he doesn't feel it is incumbent upon him to support all incumbent Democrats or all Democratic candidates.

By the end of the month Kennedy's 1962 campaign schedule should be about complete.

Party politicians here figure it is likely to take in New York, Connecticut and perhaps New Hampshire in the East; Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin in the Midwest; California for sure in the West; and possibly look-in on the campaigns in Idaho, Utah and Colorado.

Maybe there's a chance Massachusetts can be squeezed in now, that brother Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy has romped off with the Democratic nomination for the President's old Senate seat.

Tells Sharp Suggestion for Storing Objects

NEW YORK (UPI)—For a safer home, keep knives, scissors and other sharp objects in holders or some secure place. Also store matches in a tightly closed metal container.

The tips, suggested by Mrs. Lucile Bush in the current issue of "What's New in Home Economics," also included a warning about using pennies in the fuse box when you're out of fuses. She said the practice can lead to dangerously overheated wires.

Moon Ship Must Travel Faster Than 'Mercury'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Apollo program calls for precision and reliability unmatched even by the great emphasis on pilot safety in the Mercury program.

A group of blind youngsters from the Braille Institute saw it Wednesday through the eyes of a clown.

Souped-Up F104 Jets to Train Astronauts

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Future astronauts will use three F104 jet fighters equipped with rockets as their first space flight trainers.

Lockheed-California Co. said Wednesday it is equipping the jets with 6,000-pound-thrust liquid fuel rockets to enable the Starfighters to reach altitudes of 130,000 feet, higher than any airplane that takes off under its own power.

The aircraft will be assigned to the Aerospace Research Pilots School at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

BLUES in the fall by GGG

There's something about blue that always brings out the best in a man. And this season, it brings out the best in GGG. Here's blue in a wealth of imported fabrics—worsteds, sharkskins, silk and worsteds, chevrons. Blue in a wealth of weaves—in lustrous iridescents, plaids, raised weaves, stripes, neat patterns, solid shades . . . in deep and muted variations of tone. And blue in a wealth of new styling ideas—from the 3-button Californian influence to the 3-button at its most conservative; from the newly-classic 2-button to the sophisticated 1-button. But most of all, here is blue at its most elegant, fashioned by one of the tailoring world's most talented hands. $119.50 to $165.

Knight, 11, Offers Aid to Princess

HAMILTON, Mont. (UPI) — A beautiful princess was in distress and the young knight readied to ride forth from the West — even though he is only 11 years old.

The knight was Kirk Peterson, a sixth grader, who has a natural gallantry as a third-generation son of the West.

The princess was Grace of Monaco.

"I am not very big or strong," Kirk wrote Princess Grace, "but if I can help in any way please notify me immediately."

READ OF VOICES

Kirk wrote the princess after reading a magazine article about the trouble her kingdom of Monaco was having with France.

His emotions aroused by chivalry, Kirk wrote:

"From now 'til my death I give my pledge of allegiance to you and to all of Monaco." But in this yet age there are no dragons for knights to fight.

The princess' typed reply, which bore her written signature and an embossed crown, said:

"Dear Kirk, "Thank you very much for your kind letter which I was very pleased to receive."

"Your moral support is much appreciated and means a great deal to me. It is very sweet of you to worry about our problems which I hope will be solved shortly."

"I don't think there is anything in particular you could do to help immediately, but if there is I shall let you know." "Sincerely, "Grace of Monaco."

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: I have been going with a young man for a year and a half. We are not officially engaged but I am presently wearing his college class pin. His family lives in another state and I have not as yet met them. My boy friend would like very much to have me meet them and has suggested that I go with him soon to spend a few days with them.

My parents have strongly advised me against this since an official engagement does not exist. They claim it is not proper to visit my future in-laws without a "diamond on my left-hand-ring-finger."

My boy friend is still going to college and cannot afford to buy me an engagement ring at this time. Must this fact hinder and thus put off meeting and visiting his family?

A: In the first place, a ring is not necessary in order to be engaged, and even if you are not engaged it will be quite proper to spend a few days with the young man's parents if you are invited to do so by his mother.

Q: When using the typewriter to write a letter to a friend, may the signature also be typed, or must one sign the letter by hand?

A: Always sign letters by hand. A typed signature is very rude. The only occasion when it is permissible is when it is printed below a hard-read signature, for information.

Q: My fiancé's father is serving as best man at our wedding. He asked me to find out from you whether or not he should give his father a present.

A: Yes, I think he should. His father will surely be pleased to receive something he can use or wear that will remind him of his important part in the wedding.

The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes details on the wedding procession, the receiving line and other helpful wedding information. Our Food Editor Learning About Tea and Sauerkraut

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

NEW YORK CITY—Can you imagine tasting 250 or 300 sips of tea every day? That's what Herbert Lear, chief taster and assistant tea buyer of Lipton Tea Company does daily.

Lear, an Englishman, gave a demonstration of the way he tests tea Wednesday afternoon in the Lipton hospitality suite. Each kind of tea is brewed exactly six minutes. The tea is poured into a cup and the leaves are placed on the reversed teacup top.

TASTE A FACTOR
Fragrance, color and brightness all play a part in Lear's valuation of the tea.

One interesting fact is that the terms "peko" and "orange peko" refer to the size of the tea leaves, not the variety of tea.

Tea may be the universal drink of the world, but sufficient food is not universal. Two-thirds of the world's population goes to bed hungry every night. What can be done about it?

The next meeting will be Oct. 15 at the West Huron Street home of Virginia Ward.

The Women's Association of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra honored Felix Resnick, conductor, and Mrs. Resnick, at a luncheon Wednesday at Devon Gables Tea Room.

Mrs. Resnick was introduced by Mrs. Dora S. Dawson who commented on his fine musical background, his musicianship and his contribution to the community as a talented conductor of an outstanding orchestra.

As speaker of the day, Mr. Resnick gave a resume of the programs to be played by the orchestra this season and spoke of the guest artists.

Roma Riddell, soprano, will be heard Nov. 27 and Elzye Yockey, harpist, will appear Jan. 29 and Mischa Mischakoff, violinist, on March 5. Dr. Walter Collins will direct the Michigan State University Oakland chorus of 125 voices in concert on April 30.

The great difference between conducting a professional orchestra and a civic group, according to Mr. Resnick is that in the former case musicians perform as professionals and in the latter they participate for the sheer joy of playing.

Dr. Leo Wasserman, chairman of ticket sales this season, was also present and enlisted the assistance of the group in ticket distribution in this area.

Dawson of South Tilden Avenue and Mrs. Horace Hall of Navajo Drive (left to right) scan a scrapbook of the Women's Association of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra prior to Wednesday's luncheon in Devon Gables Tea Room. The association honored Felix Resnick, conductor of the symphony, and guest speaker following the luncheon, which included his resume of the season's programs.

Recommend an Enemy

Just Ease Out of Her Clutches

DEAR ABBY: Just because I am a bachelor, I am always elected when someone needs an escort for a lone lady.

I have been stuck with more of these lessons and am getting tired of it. My immediate superior (I work in an insurance office) asked me if I would take his sister to the Charity Ball. I know his sister as I have been stuck with her here.

ABBY

fore. She is fat and talkative and a real pill. I can't say I am going to be out of town as he knows my schedule. What other excuse can I use?

THE EXTRA MAN
DEAR EXTRA: Tell him you are busy on that evening, and then recommend a friend. (Or better yet—an enemy.)

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are separated and a divorce was filed. I am 50 and she is 48. I started seeing a divorced woman of 30. We planned to marry when I became free.

My wife fell ill and my lawyer advised me to drop the divorce proceedings, saying it would be impossible to get a divorce while she was ill. It turns out that my wife has an incurable disease which could last for years. I have doctor bills to pay and must hire nurses around the clock as my wife is helpless.

I asked my girl friend to forget me and find a nice young single man, but she insists upon seeing me. How can I convince her that there is no future for her with me?

OBLIGATED
DEAR OBLIGATED: You have stated your case as clearly as it can be stated. Refuse to speak to your girl friend on the phone and do not see her again. When repeated efforts to see you fail, she will eventually give up.

DEAR ABBY: I have been driving for years and have never had an accident or a ticket. I have a friend who doesn't drive, so I drive her around quite a bit.

It's no inconvenience as she is a neighbor. But she is a lousy driver of the worst kind! Every minute I hear, "Turn left and use Main Street. Watch out for that car ahead of you! Don't pass yet! We're coming to a stop sign!"

I don't want to hurt this woman's feelings, but if she only knew how her directions lured me! How would you handle this situation?

A "SLAVE" DRIVER
DEAR "SLAVE": Free yourself with one outspoken response: "I am driving this car and you, my dear, are driving me batty. Please be quiet and let me get us both there safely."

Unlabeled your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

MIRACLE MILE

Passage of Bold Trade Bill Due to Common Market

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years ago Sen Harry F. Byrd, after steering an embattled trade bill through the Senate at the request of President Eisenhower, told a newsmen: "I don't believe it will be possible to get legislation like this through ever again."

Wednesday the veteran Virginia Democrat watched the Senate roll the 1958-61 period compared to 15 per cent for the United States. The standard of living of their peoples rose steadily.

In the light of this development,

"A bold new instrument" was needed, Kennedy told Congress and the nation, to force across the Atlantic "a trading partnership with vast resources for freedom."

It was not planned that this country seek membership in the European Economic Community (EEC) or Common Market. But an effective trading partnership was made the key goal of the program.

30 PER CENT

It was pointed out that the EEC—counting Great Britain as a member, and the administration always has assumed she will join—will account for 60 per cent of the non-Communist world's trade in industrial goods.

Some enthusiasts have envisioned the EEC as such a vast market for American consumer goods that it could give as much a lift to the U.S. economy as the development of a mass auto market in the 1930s. It also is looked to as a big consumer of U.S. farm products.

To meet this opportunity, Kennedy put into his bill and has won from both the House and Senate an authority never before sought by a chief executive.

Under it, he can wipe out tariffs on all products for which the United States and the Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade.

This is in addition to general authority for a 50 per cent cut in all present U.S. tariffs, compared to 20 per cent won by Eisenhower.

COUNCILS BRITAIN

The Senate, to insure that this authority is effective, wrote into its version of the legislation a provision permitting Kennedy to count Britain as a member of the EEC even if she does not join.

This same discretionary power would apply to the other six members of the European Free Trade Association.

State Department officials say they expect negotiations with the Common Market under this new legislation to begin next year.

They voice high confidence in the outcome, declaring that the U.S. fared well in trade talks last spring that used up the 20 per cent reduction authority of the 1958 act.

As a result of these negotiations, the EEC external tariff on industrial items has been lowered down to about 5.7 per cent as compared with 7.1 per cent for American duties, department officials said.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said that as a result of the new round of bargaining, "we should find in Europe new trading opportunities of a kind not dreamed of a few years ago."

"Most Europeans," he said, "are only just beginning to enjoy many of the consumer goods Americans have known for years."

automobiles, electric refrigerators, air conditioning."

Senators, however, gave somewhat more attention to the challenge of the EEC and the fear it has aroused in some quarters in their consideration of the bill.

The Finance Committee, noting restrictions already imposed by the Common Market on American farm products such as poultry, gave the President potent new retaliatory powers. He could raise tariffs sharply or impose quotas to counter unjustified and unreasonable measures taken against the United States.

House and Senate conferees still must work out the final version of the legislation. But this is not expected to be hard since the major new powers sought are in both versions.

up a 78-8 vote for the trade bill submitted by President Kennedy with such sweeping powers that it dwarfed the 1958 measure. The House had passed the bill earlier.

WHAT HAPPENED?

What happened in four years to make this possible?

Senators who worked long weeks on the legislation agree that one development overshadowed all others.

This was the phenomenal growth and success of the six-nation European Common Market.

The 1957 Treaty of Rome, which laid the foundation for this six-nation free-trade area, had been signed when the Eisenhower bill was passed. But its significance was not clear at that time.

By 1961 the startling results of the Common Market were fully apparent.

France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg had made great strides in revising their import duties into a common external tariff. They maintained an annual rate of growth of 5 per cent in

Will Let Mother Visit U.S. Son in Red Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Red Cross announced today the Red Chinese have given permission for Mrs. Ruth Redmond, 64, Yorker, N. Y., to make an other visit to her son, held there as a prisoner.

She will be permitted to enter Red China sometime in mid-October to see her son, 45-year-old Hugh F. Redmond Jr., who is serving a life sentence in a Shanghai prison.

Red Cross President Alfred M. Gruenther said he had received word from the Red Cross society of the Chinese Peoples Democratic Republic granting Mrs. Redmond's request to make another visit. She last saw her son in his China prison in 1958.

Redmond has been held on unspecified Communist charges of espionage since the Korean War.

One in five of all employed persons in the U.S. worked in federal, state or local governments, 1960 census figures reveal.

Missile Labor Dispute Settled 'In Principle'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy last night announced an agreement "in principle" that may head off a strike against the nation's big missile manufacturers.

Kennedy announced the agreement after meeting with officials of North American Aviation Co. and the United Auto Workers.

A settlement between those two parties would set a pattern for resolving union disputes with other big missile companies.

A strike by two unions against five companies was set for Saturday.

Kennedy said the agreement was based on his special fact-finding board's recommendation that employees of the missile firms be allowed to vote on whether they want a union shop—the major issue in the dispute.

General Dynamics Corp. and the International Association of Machinists also reached an agreement based on the board's recommendations.

However, Boeing Aircraft and Lockheed Aircraft were reported to be balking at the union shop voting procedure.

Kennedy strongly urged "the remaining companies and unions still negotiating in this industry to display the same sense of responsibility in the public interest."

North American said in a statement released after the White House meeting that it did not want to accept a union shop agreement, but agreed to submit the issue to a vote of its employees.

"This will permit the employees themselves to decide the issue and we sincerely hope that all of our eligible employees will exercise their privilege to cast a secret ballot in the election to be held so that the decision will truly reflect the wishes of the entire group," the statement said.

Kennedy said North American and union officials would continue to meet to translate the agreement on principles into a "specific and detailed" labor-management contract.

He said the old contract would remain in effect until a new agreement had been ratified by the union's membership.

U. S., Sweden, Norway Offer Iran Assistance

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A special government committee said the United States, Sweden and Norway have offered to rebuild three villages in Iran's earthquake zone where 10,000 persons were killed recently.

Iran has agreed to the proposal and the United States intends to build 1,000 houses under its own direction, the committee said.

Cuba Charges U. S. Violated Air Space

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—New violations of Cuban air space and territorial waters by U.S. planes were charged today by Havana Radio.

The newscast, monitored here, quoted a Cuban armed forces ministry note as saying that a U.S. jet plane flew over Rosario Beach in southeastern Havana Province yesterday.

The radio said the plane flew inland over two communities following a northeast course and reached Alacranes in southwest Mantanzas Province, a distance of approximately 10 miles.

Similar charges of violations have been charged almost daily by the Cuban government since early July.

Contract Talks Resume

NEW YORK (UPI)—Resumed contract talks between three Teamsters locals and representatives of 1,400 cartage firms yesterday produced no progress toward heading off a threatened citywide trucking strike.

'You Can't Trust a Crooked Criminal'

NEW YORK (AP)—The trouble with criminals today, says Jesse Hermann, 70, "is that too many of them are crooked." Hermann, who marks his 50th year as a bail bondsman at the end of this month, lamented in an interview today that modern-day criminals can't be trusted the way their counterparts could 30 and 40 years ago. Too many of them jump bail.

"Years ago, when a criminal wanted a bail bond and came to me, the criminal's word was his bond, and he didn't have to put up collateral, because if he said he'd be in court, he was there," Hermann said.

"Today," he said, "the element has changed. Before the 50s, I had maybe a handful of persons who skipped bail. Since then, in the cases I've taken without collateral, I've had hundreds skip on me."

Hermann said he's lost about $60,000 in the past decade, and nearly $3,000 this year alone. "And I've been turning bad risks away from me," he said.

Hermann, who got into the bonding business on the advice of a friend, the then-assemblyman Alfred E. Smith, has bailed out such famous people as madman Polly Adler and a rogue's gallery of top gangsters.

Yet very rarely, he recalls, did a defendant run out on him. "The criminal had a certain code of honesty of their own."

As an example, Hermann cites the case of a bank robber in the 30s who was sentenced to 10 years in prison. For him, Hermann wrote the biggest bond of his career—$50,000—with no more collateral than the $5,000 bank account of the criminal's widowed mother.

The bail bondsman said he trusted the bank robber because he wasn't "the kind of a man who would leave his mother penniless."

He was right.

"Nowadays," Hermann complains, "a bondsman has to be a credit manager, a banker and a psychologist."

He still bails out a man now and again without collateral, but rarely.

He also steers clear of handling the bail of men convicted of crimes against the federal government. He cites the bail-jumping of convicted Soviet spy Robert A. Solchen as the kind of act that can be expected of such men.

"Anybody who would commit a crime against the United States of America I wouldn't touch," he said.

Congress OKs Loan to U.N.

Senate Passes Bill by Voice Vote; Measure Has Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has given its approval to President Kennedy's proposal to lend the United Nations up to $100 million.

The measure, designed to help the world organization weather a financial crisis, cleared the Senate Wednesday by voice vote. It had been approved earlier by the House.

Congress authorized the President to help the United Nations in either of two ways: lend it the money or buy up a half of a $200-million U.N. bond issue.

There are some restrictions. Kennedy cannot buy more bonds than the total of the purchases of all the other member nations. And proceeds from U.S. bond purchases cannot be used for payment of past due debts of other members.

The United Nations ran into severe financial difficulty when Soviet bloc nations and other members refused to pay their special assessments for peace-keeping operations in the Congo and along the Gaza Strip.

Films Incite to Violence? Baloney! Says Bad Guy Actor

By DORIS KLEIN (For Bob Thomas)
"Newton Minow and the PTA don't know what violence is," he growled.
"What we need is more violence."
Marvin, who is too easy-going to strike a woman, wanted to make it clear that he wasn't afraid that opposition, from the federal communications commissioner or parent-teacher groups, would hurt him to his lucrative career as a film bad man.
"This business of films inciting people to violence is a lot of nonsense," said he.
"You don't see real brutality in films. Most of it is in the audience's mind."
"One of the most violent moments in films is Frank Sinatra's fight scene in 'From Here to Eternity.' And all you saw was the two guys' feet. The rest was left up to the imagination."
"You take this brawl I get into with John Wayne in 'Donovan's Reef.' It's really a farce. But when we got through, John Ford, the director, said, 'now they'll think they've seen a helluva fight.'"
IN ISLAND BAR
The cinematic brawl, in a South Sea island bar run by John Wayne is between Wayne, Marvin and a contingent of Australian servicemen. Neither Wayne nor Marvin used stand-ins. The result: 190-pound, 6-foot-2½ Marvin sent 235-pound, 6-foot-4 Wayne sailing through a breakfast table, smack on an old back injury.
"It's really a very funny fight," said Marvin. "When we got through, you really think you've seen one."
"But the best part is when you are making the scene. Everyone goes sprawling. But when the director cuts, they all pick themselves up and stroll out."
"That kind of fight wouldn't deter anyone from violence. It's too much of a farce."
Marvin's fighting experience? He got his lumps in preliminaries on the sidewalks of New York's 15th Street as a kid and in the South Pacific as a Marine during World War II.
NO TROUBLE
His make-believe brawling — even during his television run as a Chicago detective on "M Squad" — doesn't give him any trouble off screen.
"I'm a pretty loose guy. If I'm in a bar and someone tries to put me on, I just say, 'C'mon fella, have a drink.'"
"But if I said, 'I'm gonna push your nose all over your face,' pow, he'd start swinging."
Marvin jabbed a left over the coffee. I ducked.
Trees ripen just like farm crops. If they become overripe, they start to decay and become subject to attack by insect and disease. The farmers harvest trees when they are ripe, making way for a new crop.

Garry Moore Sued by Catcher of Maris' '59th'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television personality Garry Moore was sued for $50,000 yesterday by a man from his home town of Baltimore, who alleged Moore slandered him in a broadcast.
The suit was brought in Federal Court here by Robert S. Reitz, who caught the 59th home run ball New York Yankee star Roger Maris hit Sept. 21, 1961, in a game against the Baltimore Orioles.
Maris asked Reitz if he could have the ball, but Reitz refused. Instead Reitz sold the ball to Sports Boosters of Maryland for $300 and donated the money to charity.
Moore, on his Oct. 2, 1961, "I've Got a Secret" television show, interviewed Sal Durante, who caught the record-breaking 61st homer hit by Maris. During the interview the allegedly slanderous remark was made.

Three of the best known Pilgrims, Miles Standish and John and Priscilla Alden, didn't live in Plymouth. They made their homes in Duxbury, across Plymouth Bay.

Katanga Dilemma's Unchanging

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The new bronze plaque in the General Assembly Building of the United Nations in New York reads:

"In memory of Dag Hammarskjöld . . . and those who with him lost their lives . . . in quest of peace in the Congo."

The unveiling came just one day short of a year after Hammarskjöld died Sept. 18, 1961 in the crash of his chartered plane in a forested wilderness near Ndola, Southern Rhodesia.

His mission had been to negotiate a cease fire between United Nations and secessionist Katangese forces at Elisabethville.

But even as the U.N. in New York paid deference to Hammarskjöld and U.N. and Congolese forces in Leopoldville tipped their hats in his memory, it was almost as if a year had not passed.

For in Elisabethville, the dreary drama of the Congo continued almost without change, almost as if all that were happening now also had happened at least once before.
Hammarskjöld was dead and U Thant of Burma had taken his place.

But Katanga President Moïse Tshombe continued to play his mercurial role and events followed almost a carbon copy of the past. Agreement . . . a cease fire . . . charges of broken faith.

Early this month, Thant presented to Tshombe a plan which went far toward granting self-rule to the provinces of the Congo but which at the same time also contained an ultimatum to go into effect if Tshombe would persist in his refusal to rejoin a united Congo.

The plan provided that Katanga should share its rich mining revenues, which in the last year came to around $50 million, with the central government and that its 12,000 soldiers should be integrated with Congo forces.

The plan, supported by the United States, Britain and Belgium, also provided for stiff economic sanctions against Katanga should Tshombe fail to accept its terms. Close to the deadline set by Thant, Tshombe called his "enemies" to a meeting.

JUSTIFIED SKEPTICISM
Yet Tshombe's record of first agreeing and then twisting away called for a certain amount of skepticism. The skepticism proved justified.

Pointing to the bodies of two dead policemen, Tshombe accused the United Nations of breaking the cease fire. He declared:

"I do not believe in U Thant's good faith any longer, nor in the western nations who guaranteed his plan."

The U.N. quickly denied the charge and one official suggested that Tshombe had arranged the grisly exhibit from start to finish to further his own plans.

In the United States there were strong voices who believed Tshombe should have his way. That, if left alone, he could lead a strong and prosperous Katanga and stand as an anti-Communist bastion in the heart of black Africa.

Officially, U.S. policy continued to call for the reunification of the Congo, by force if necessary, in the belief that, without the wealth of Katanga, the Congo never could stand by itself.

As Tshombe blew hot and cold and U.N. opinion remained divided within itself, there were few who would bet that another year would not find Tshombe just where he is today.

SOVIET SUBMARINE — The U.S. Navy has released this photo of what it describes as a Soviet submarine sighted recently. The Navy said submarines such as this with enlarged conning tower funnels have been sighted in both the Atlantic and Pacific and are believed to be capable of firing three relatively short-ranged ballistic missiles from vertical tubes in the tower. The Navy did not say where or when the picture was taken.

Fry Pickle Slices for Appetizers

Popular pickles again show their versatility in this French Fried Pickle recipe prepared specially for the 1962 Newspaper Food Editors Conference in New York. A happy addition to the appetizer tray or used as a side dish with meals for dinner or a snack with juices, soft drinks or beer in the evening, these delightful little treats are easy to prepare and delicious to eat.

A variation of packaged pancake batter provides the covering for your favorite kind of pickle slice — dill, sweet, candied, although we prefer the fresh cucumber pickle slice for the purpose. Drained pickle slices are dipped in batter and fried to a golden brown in hot oil. That's all there is to it! But, for those who like pickles, French fried pickles and onion rings, this pickle slice will be a boon, try it.

French Fried Pickle Slices
1 cup sweet cucumber pickle slices*
1 cup unsifted pancake mix
2 eggs
½ cup milk
Oil for frying
Drain pickle slices on paper towels, turn once to dry both sides of pickle well. Combine eggs and milk; add gradually to pancake mix, stirring during addition until mixture is smooth. Heat oil in electric fry pan with temperature control set at 375 degrees or in skillet on medium fire. Dip drained pickle slices, one at a time into batter covering pickle slice entirely. Fry in hot fat until a golden brown and turn, about 1 minute. Drain slices on paper towels and serve at once while hot. Yield: 36 to 40 French Fried Pickle slices.
*Use any of the pickle slices... sweet, candied, sweet pickle chips, etc.

COFFEE CRUMB CAKE — The table is set for a relaxing kaffeeklatch with the two most important ingredients — coffee cake and coffee. This delicious Coffee Crumb Cake is quickly prepared from biscuit mix and delicately flavored with coffee.

Put Coffee in the Cake as Well as in the Cup

Most warm and hospitable of all refreshments is homemade coffee cake served with a steaming pot of coffee. When the cake is cut and the coffee poured, guests settle back to enjoy a bit of leisurely conversation. There are all kinds of coffee cakes, of course — some plain, some fancy. But this is an especially wonderful Coffee Crumb Cake. It's easily made with biscuit mix, appropriately flavored with coffee. Even the sweet nutted topping is enhanced by the addition of a little coffee.

Once the cake is out of the oven and ready for your company, you can start the coffee brewing. Just make sure that your coffee is just as flavorful and inviting as the coffee cake!

COFFEE CRUMB CAKE
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons salad oil
½ cup seedless raisins
Combine biscuit mix, sugar and instant coffee powder. Combine eggs, milk and salad oil. Stir into dry ingredients. Stir in raisins. Spoon into well-greased 8-inch layer cake pan at least 2 inches deep.
Spread topping mixture evenly over batter. Bake at 375 degrees for 30-35 minutes. Or use two 5-inch layer cake pans and bake 20-25 minutes.

Topping:
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons biscuit mix
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon instant coffee powder
7 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
½ cup chopped walnuts
Combine all ingredients, except walnuts. Blend with a fork until crumbly. Stir in walnuts.

Tomatoes Can Be Creamed

Here's a different way to use fully-ripe tomatoes. Simmer them in a wine sauce, accent them with Parmesan cheese, and serve them in individual dishes topped with crisp croutons. Extra good, the taste testers report, with meat loaf, beefburgers or baked ham.

Another good idea: Chill the rest of the bottle of wine and serve it as the mealtime beverage. The white dinner wines produced in California are light, dry and flavorful, a pleasant accent for any menu.

CREAMY TOMATOES
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 level tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup rich milk or thin cream
¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
½ cup Sauternes, Chablis or other white dinner wine
2 large tomatoes, cut into eighths
Croutons
Melt butter; blend in flour and salt. Stir in milk; cook and stir over low heat until thickened. Add cheese, wine and tomatoes; heat gently. Serve in sauce dishes with a sprinkling of croutons, if desired. Makes 4-5 servings.

Seafood Soup Made With Canned Crabmeat

A perfect supper soup is this one. Cook ¼ teaspoon chili powder and 1 medium clove garlic, minced, in a tablespoon butter. Add a can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and 1 soup can water; heat until soup thaws.
Stir in a ½ cup once can crab, drained and flaked, and ½ cup drained cooked tomatoes. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Dill Is Surprise Ingredient

Wouldn't you love to come up with a spectacular new luncheon dish for the first bridge fest of the season at your house? Or that fall return dinner to favorite friends? That's exactly what White Cup cooked up for one of its special recipe contributions for the 1962 Newspaper Food Editors Conference in New York.

This is an easy to make, flexible variety that serves as an appetizer for dinner in smaller portions and meets the world as well from a single casserole as it does in individual portions. The flavor is rich and satisfying and the secret is a dilly — chopped dill pickles.

Once you've tried this dish, which is incidentally simple to fix, it will be one of those coveted prizes that rates a place of honor in your menu planning book. You might use large, hollowed out dill pickles halved lengthwise instead of ramekins for a different effect, too.

Round out the meal with a bright green salad and soft, buttery rolls. For dessert, a cool, jellied mousse or tall, frozen in advance fruit parfait is in order. With this menu, you just sit back in ladylike fashion and wait for the raves to roll in... they surely will!

Spiced Punch Made in Percolator
A new and convenient idea — use your percolator to make hot spiced punch.
Hot Percolator Punch
1 tablespoon whole cloves
¼ tablespoon whole allspice
3 sticks cinnamon, broken
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar lightly packed
3 cups water
3 cups pineapple juice
Put pineapple juice and water in bottom part of a 8 cup percolator, and the rest of the ingredients in the top. Perk for 10 minutes until spices permeate. Serve hot in mugs or punch cups. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

dill pickle, mayonnaise, mustard and dill weed; mix well. Sprinkle half of the crumb mixture over bottom of 4 individual casseroles or seafood shells. Top with shrimp; cover with dill pickle mixture. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until heated, about 15 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

BEef STEW BORDELAISE—Bring it to the table in a blaze of burgundy or simply serve it in a colorful stew pot. Either way, Beef Stew, Bordelaise wins the heart of your dinner guest. Tomato ketchup heightens the color and flavor of this old French favorite.

Kitchen Staple — Ketchup Spices Beef Stew

The world's most popular condiment, the world's most convenient source of tomato-and-spice flavor! That was the billing given tomato ketchup at the Heinz Red Magic dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City, Monday evening, September 17.

Instead of being introduced to a new Heinz product, the nation's leading 150 food editors were invited to "ketchup" up with the red magic of tomato ketchup, to see and taste some of the new culinary tricks worked by the company's home economists.

"With tomato ketchup found in 99.4 per cent of the homes recently surveyed by Heinz, how could you have a more convenient source of flavor magic?" the editors were asked.

Beef Stew, Bordelaise

1½ pounds beef chuck, cut into 1-inch cubes
1 tablespoon shortening
1 clove garlic, minced
1 medium onion, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

1 can (16½ ounces) condensed tomato soup, undiluted
¼ cup red wine
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon powdered basil
¼ teaspoon powdered thyme
¼ cup tomato ketchup
3 medium carrots, cut into ½-inch diagonal pieces
1½ cups 1-inch diagonally cut celery
4 medium potatoes, pared and quartered
1 cup cooked cut green beans (optional)

Lightly brown beef in shortening. Add garlic and onion; sauté until transparent. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Stir in soup, wine and water. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Add herbs and ketchup. Arrange vegetables on top of meat and gravy. Cover; simmer 1½ hours or until meat and vegetables are tender. Add green beans during last few minutes of cooking to heat. Add more water if necessary. Makes 6 servings.
¼ cup lemon juice may be substituted for red wine. Increase water from ¼ to ½ cup.

Pineapple Slice Hides Within Hamburger

Drain well 1 (5-ounce) can pineapple slices. Make 8 thin patties from a pound of seasoned hamburger. On four patties, place a pineapple slice and fill the center hole with sweet pickle relish. Cover with 4 thin slices of sharp cheese, trimmed if necessary to fit hamburger patties.

Top with remaining four patties, seal edges well and grill on barbecue or in oven. The golden filling inside these juicy burgers is a savory sweet surprise!

Youngsters usually enjoy cream of tomato soup with "pennies"—thin crosswise slices of frankfurter—floating on top.

Chopped Pickles Add Zip to Salmon

Youngsters' tastes change from generation to generation. As family meals boast wider variety than they once did, boys and girls become accustomed to new flavors, textures and combinations—and take to many of them.

We've seen modern preschoolers gobble up Roquefort cheese. We've watched teen-age girls stuff avocados with seafood and a lavish amount of tomato cocktail sauce to serve up at party luncheons. We know boys who'd just as soon eat grapefruit as the sweet orange, and they'll even take their grapefruit broiled.

But some foods have been favorites for decades and their popularity never seems to wane. Some of these? Snow pudding with custard sauce. Scalloped and mashed potatoes. Fresh-flavored gelatin. Meat loaf—especially when it's baked in doll-size loaf pans. Canned salmon. Pickles.

Combine the last two foods in a biscuit roll for lunch or supper and you'll probably have it made with the younger set. Add a nutritious sauce prepared with the salmon liquid and milk to accompany the roll.

Salmon Biscuit Roll
2 cups biscuit mix
2/3 cup milk or light cream
2 cans (7½ ounces each) salmon

1 egg
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
¼ cup chopped dill pickle
Parsley Sauce

Stir together the biscuit mix and milk; knead gently on prepared pastry cloth about a dozen times. Roll out to make a 15 by 15 inch rectangle.

In a mixing bowl beat egg slightly; add onion, parsley and pickle. Drain salmon, reserving liquid for Parsley Sauce. Add salmon to egg mixture, flaking and mixing with a fork.

Spread salmon mixture over one half of the long side of the biscuit dough; fold short ends over salmon mixture; roll up the long way. Place seam side down in U-shape on a greased cookie sheet. Cut 12 gashes in roll but not all the way through. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Serve with Parsley Sauce.

Parsley Sauce
Add enough milk to reserved salmon liquid to make 1½ cups. Make a white sauce using the salmon-liquid-milk mixture with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons flour. Add ¼ teaspoon (or more) salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper and 3 or 3 tablespoons minced parsley.

Don't forget to grease the broiler rack with a piece of suet before you arrange steak or chops on it.

Yummy Raisin Waffles

Add a cup of sweet raisins and 1 teaspoon cinnamon to waffle batter from a mix or your favorite recipe. Superb topped with dairy sour cream and maple syrup. Round out a delectable summer brunch with fresh strawberries or melon and smoky sausages.

Canned Peas Go in New Dip

Canned sweet peas are a time-honored favorite in the vegetable world. This level of esteem relates in part to their versatility. Casseroles, soups and a score of other dishes continually vie for the addition of peas. — But who would look for them in a tasty potato chip dip? That's where they were discovered by the nation's food editors at a party hosted by the Green Giant Company.

One 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Juice of 1/2 lemon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard

WOR MEIN — Fine egg noodles, pork, vegetables make a sturdy Chinese dish that is a favorite with Monsignor John Romaniello. "The Noodle Priest of Hong Kong." Americans will eat this with a spoon instead of chopsticks, as the ingredients are mixed with a clear soup.

It's No Trouble and Oh So Good

Tender, toothsome patty shells are filled with a savory filling of fresh mushrooms and julienne strips of ham. Spiced crabapples and pineapple in lettuce cups make a colorful and flavorful accompaniment.

Patty Shells with Ham and Mushrooms
1 package (8) frozen patty shells
1 lb. fresh mushrooms
6 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
2 1/2 cups milk
4 ounces Cheddar cheese, grated or cut in pieces
1 1/2 cups cooked ham, cut in pieces

Bake patty shells according to package directions. Wash, peel and slice mushrooms vertically. Sauté in 2 tablespoons butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from pan. Add remaining butter and melt; blend in flour, salt, pepper and mustard.

Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until it comes to a boil. Reduce heat; add cheese and stir until melted. Add ham and mushrooms and serve piping hot in warm patty shells. Makes 6 servings.

A chemical that makes the house sterile has been tried with success. It is now being tested for its effect on humans and other creatures.

Use Fine Noodles in Chinese Dish

Newspaper food editors, at their annual conference in New York, met "The Noodle Priest of Hong Kong" at a meeting sponsored by the noodle-makers of America on September 20. The National Macaroni Institute (made up of manufacturers of macaroni, spaghetti and egg noodles) introduced Monsignor John Romaniello, director of Catholic Relief Services in Hong Kong.

Father Romaniello says he has "lived and breathed noodles" since 1957 when he first began to make noodles from wheat flour, cornmeal flour and milk powder. The ingredients are American Relief supplies, unusable by the poverty-stricken Chinese who have limited cooking facilities.

Father Romaniello's idea of putting the food products together in a food familiar to the hungry people came when he observed a small girl giving a baker a five-pound bag of flour in exchange for two pounds of noodles.

Intensive searching for the right equipment and place to work, tedious experimentation to get a palatable food were necessary before "Romy's" plan could become reality.

Raisin Glazed Carrots

Saute hot cooked carrots in skillet with butter, a generous sprinkling of raisins and a few tablespoons of brown sugar. Ardent with a dash of lemon juice. Heat slowly 10 to 15 minutes, turning occasionally, until prettily glazed. This fresh, colorful vegetable is wonderful with ham steaks.

Coat Oysters With Crackers

September is here and for seafood lovers, it's oyster season at last! Serve a heaping platter of this mellow from the sea, deep fried, as entree or hors d'oeuvres by following this richer, more flavorful new recipe for "Epicurean Cheesed Oysters." The secret of the unusual flavor is to coat oysters with a mixture of crushed inch-square cheese crackers mixed with paprika and oregano. Prepare in minutes this easy way:

"Epicurean Cheesed Oysters"
1 8 1/2-oz. box cheese crackers
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon rubbed oregano
2 eggs
2 tablespoons water
1 pint frying oil, well drained
Fat or oil for frying

Crush crackers into very fine crumbs between waxed paper with rolling pin; mix with paprika and oregano; set aside. Beat eggs with water. Dip oysters into crumbs, then into egg mixture, again into crumbs. Let stand at least 30 minutes to set crust. (If desired, oysters may be prepared much earlier and refrigerated until needed.)

Fry in moderately hot fat, 375 degrees, until crusty, about 4 to 5 minutes. Do not overcook. Drain on paper towels on warm platter. Garnish with lemon wedges and chili pickles. Accompany with tartar sauce if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

All Should Be Crisp Yet Tender to Eat

Chances are your family will enjoy this different vegetable combination, and it's quickly prepared.

Pan-fried Cabbage and Carrots
1 1/2 cups thinly sliced carrots
1/2 cup water
1 quart coarse knife-shredded green cabbage
2 scallions (green onions), thinly sliced with tops included
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
In a 10-inch covered skillet, boil the carrots in the water until almost tender; there should be several tablespoons of water left, if not add that amount to skillet. Add the cabbage, scallions, butter, salt and pepper; mix well and cook gently, covered, until cabbage is wilted and as tender as you like. Makes 4 servings.

Wrap It Well

Note to the bride: If you've used part of a pint or quart of ice cream, give the container an extra slip-wrap before putting back in the freezer. This over-wrap helps maintain good texture.

CHEESD OYSTERS — Grandma, never fixed fried oysters like these. Crushed cheese crackers and oregano give them a new and interesting taste. To avoid last-minute rush, prepare the oysters and store them in the refrigerator until meal time.

Bright Carrots Taste Better Cook Quickly

When buying carrots, look for ones that are firm and clean, and fresh in appearance. They should be smooth and well-shaped. Bright orange is the most desirable color.

If you're cooking carrots you can plan on getting five half cup servings from a pound of carrots. But if you use carrots raw and shredded you can stretch a pound to eight half-cup servings.

If you must pare carrots, pare or scrape them lightly, so you won't waste any food unnecessarily. Young carrots usually don't need paring.

Cook them just until tender... about 15 minutes for young carrots, older ones need at least 20 minutes cooking time.

Greeting Card Building OK'd as Public Shelter

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The international headquarters building of Hallmark Cards, Inc., has been licensed as the first public fallout shelter here, under President Kennedy's new federal shelter program.

The nine-story contemporary structure could accommodate 2,000 persons in an emergency, civil defense officials said.

The industry-sponsored program of growing trees as crops under multiple-use forest management practices gained nearly a million acres in the first four months of 1962, according to American Forest Products Industries.

49ers Find Detroit to Be 'Home'

San Francisco Poor on Road, But Not Here.

John Brodie Recalls '60 Encounter Which Helped His Position

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Detroit Lions may be the team Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers, but they accept this slight advantage with a bit of apprehension.

San Francisco has been considered a poor road team since joining the NFL in 1950, but they doesn't seem to apply to the 49ers success in Detroit.

Tiger Stadium has actually been a home away from home for the coast team which has won seven times in the Lions' back yard. The fans always expecting to see a rough close battle with the 49ers in Detroit, have turned out in record numbers for San Francisco's annual visit.

The biggest crowd ever to see the Lions in Detroit was the 1962 championship year when 55,451 watched the Lions roll to a 48-7 victory over the 49ers.

Two years ago, the 49ers beat the Lions 14-10 in what was considered the key game of the season for Detroit.

The Lions had a 10-0 lead going into the final period when the 49ers rallied for two touchdowns in the last four minutes on passes from John Brodie to Billy Wilson and R. C. Owens.

The TD to Owens came with no time left on the clock and it was argued whether time had run out before Brodie got the play under way.

The Lions finished in a 2nd place tie with the 49ers that year, only one game behind the Packers George Wilson as the "backbreaker" of the season.

Last year's 49-0 rout by the 49ers came when San Francisco was riding the heights of its shotgun offense, which coach Red Hickey decided to junk this year. Brodie is back at the team's No. 1 quarterback and he can think the 1960 game in Detroit as the one which helped him gain the spot.

Y. A. Title was the top quarterback that year and was unable to move the team. Brodie came in put himself in the spotlight with his passing. Title was traded after the season. Game time Sunday is 1:30 p.m. with 7,000 tickets going on sale at 11:00 a.m.

Finals in Softball

STRAITFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Defending champion Aurora, and the host Stratford team are favored to reach the final of the women's bracket tonight in the Men's World Soft Ball Tournament.

Aurora played Clearwater, Fla., and Stratford meets Detroit. In the losers' bracket, Long Island City, N.Y., battles St. Paul, Minn., and Detroit, Ill., plays Philadelphia this afternoon. The winner of the Detroit-Philadelphia game will meet Portland, Ore., tonight.

SPORTS

Even 4th Place Remote for Tigers

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Now the best Detroit Tigers can do in the American League race is tie the Minnesota Twins for second place.

By winning Tuesday night the New York Yankees put first place out of Tiger reach, and by whipping the Washington Senators 8-5 last night they continued a formidable four games in front of the Twins with only eight left to go.

The Tigers were clobbered 12-5 by the Twins yesterday, and the only real concern of the Detroiters is whether they'll manage a fourth-place finish and collect some of the small change (about $600 a man) that dribbles down that far from the World Series.

The Chicago White Sox fattened their fourth-place lead over the Tigers to a game and a half with 32 decision over Boston last night.

While the Tigers got three home runs and a double, they tapped southpaw Dick Sigman for only one other hit, a single, and every man they sent to the mound turned into a scatterball pitcher.

Even some of the tosses that entered the strike zone got fairly well scattered, too. Harmon Killebrew put one into the right field bleachers and drove another home or 375 feet into left field. Vic Power also homered — and with three men aboard in a seven-run sixth inning.

KILLEBREW BELTS Killebrew's homers were No. 41 and No. 42 and raised his run batted in total to 113, making him the league leader in both home runs and RBI.

Norman Cash hit one of Detroit's homers, his 20th, and it came off Frank Knetter's double in the second and gave Detroit a 2-1 edge at that point. Billy Bruns homered for the Tigers in the sixth and Steve Blass the ninth.

Dick McAuliffe got Detroit's only other hit as Sigman became the seventh consecutive Tiger pitcher to go the route and raised his season's record to 11-5.

Starter-Joe Mauer Aguirre, Bill Fane, Bob Humphreys and Tom Kline walked a total of 11, hit three batters and were touched for 12 hits. Aguirre now is 1-48.

Aguirre left at the end of the fourth, having given up four runs, walking five and hitting two batters. Young Fane, a reliever up from Knoxville, fell into trouble in the sixth and was relieved by Humphreys after he'd walked home the inning's second run. Fane left the bases full, and Power unloaded them as the first man facing Humphreys.

Detroit's rookie third baseman Frank Knetter was struck on the right jaw by a hard smash off Bob Allison's bat in the third inning and was removed from the lineup when he became dizzy. He was sent to a hospital for x-rays, although he didn't appear seriously damaged.

In the final of their current three-game series today, the Tigers planned to pitch Phil Regan (10-9) and the Twins Jim Kaat (17-13).

EASY SCORE — Rich Rollins, Minnesota

Twins, slides safely into home as the throw from centerfielder Billy Bruns gets away from Tigers' catcher Dick Brown in a game in Minneapolis yesterday. Rollins tagged up and scored easily while other players also advanced. The Twins won 12-5.

'Kids' in U.S. Amateur Spotlight

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—The "kids" have taken over the 62nd U.S. Amateur Golf Championship. Going into today's fifth and sixth rounds after two rounds Wednesday set the field to 15, light-hearted Bill Joe Patton, Morgan, N.C., lumber broker, was the "old man" of the field at 40.

Bob Allen of West Hartford, Conn., 38-year-old sales engineer for a steel company, and 31-year-old Charlie Smith, Gastonia, N.C., automobile dealer, are the only other survivors over 25. Eight of the others are 24 or less and three still are in their teens. Nine are collegians.

So devastating has been the sweep of the young and hungry set that there's not a former champion around and only three men of the nine on the list being considered for the four-man U.S. team going to Japan next month for the World Championship Team matches. Patton, Smith and Arkansas Dick Sikas, 22-year-old winner of the last two Public Links titles make up the trio.

Such notables as former champions Dick Chapman, Harvie Ward and Deane Beman and Dr. Edgar Updegraff and Marion Mettvin, semifinalist last year, went out during the third and fourth rounds Wednesday.

BEMAN OUT

Beman was vanquished by Romero Blancas, 24, of the University of Houston, in a 24-hole marathon in the fourth round in which each had breezed to victory in the morning.

Blancas, runnerup for the national collegiate title last June, survived five perilous sudden death situations, aided by Beman's inferior putting, and knocked in a 20-foot birdie putt on the sixth extra hole.

Blancas opened the fifth round on the 154th hole, many observers felt the team would be worth as much as $50,000 in off-season endorsements over and above what he may get if he goes to 162 games to break it.

And the odds are against the swift shortstop. He has to get two to tie and three to break the mark on bruised and battered legs and a painful ankle.

Wills faces the same ruing that applied to Roger Malt last season when he sought Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs.

The problem involves the expanded schedules, Ruth and Cobb set their records in a 154-game schedule. With both the National and American Leagues now expanded to 162 games, teams now play 162.

The ruling, by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, is that the record must be broken in 154 team decisions or go into the record book with an asterisk, indicating that it was broken in a 162-game schedule.

Bill Hamilton of the Philadelphia National League team stole 115 bases in 1961 and Harry Stover of the Philadelphia American Association team (then a major league) stole 136 in 1962.

PUTTING PAIN — Hank Rydman, N.C., had this pained reaction as he missed what would have been a winning putt on the 18th green of the 4th round of the National Amateur Golf Tournament at Pinehurst, N.C. yesterday. Newcomb, a U. of M. student from Royal Center, Ind., went into extra holes and won with a birdie on the 21st over Walt Beckford of Cincinnati.

of Athens was at stake, among other things, when Bob Little, Jr., of Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, played Jim Gabelston, 23, of the University of Georgia and Athens, Ga.

The only match without a college headlined the lower half of the draw, Allen meeting Charles Cuddy of Fort Worth, Tex. 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant.

WOLVERINE BOWS

Perky Cullinan of Washington, D.C., a 27-year-old mortgage broker who never before advanced beyond the first round, followed against husky Bill Newcomb, 22, of the University of Michigan and Royal Center, Ind.

Smith was paired with Paul Desjardins, 20, who is playing out this semester at the University of Miami. He's the son of Pete Desjardins, Olympic diver of a quarter-century ago.

Jim Colbert, 21, a Kansas State junior from Prairie Village, Kan., who equaled par twice in winning Wednesday, played against Downing Gray, 24, of Warrington, Fla., an insurance salesman.

The four double winners moved into 36-hole semifinals Friday, with 36 more for the championship match Saturday over the 7,061-yard, par 72 No. 2 course of the country club.

Weather Casts Woe on 3rd Cup Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Steadily worsening weather conditions have cast a pall over the once-weight America's Cup picture for the United States' Weatherly.

The best-of-seven series for the ancient, battered cup stood at 1-1 today as Weatherly went to the starting line against Australia's Gretel.

High winds and heavy seas had the Americans frankly worried and the challenging Aussies jubilant.

"If these conditions get worse, it could be awful bad," said Weatherly's designer, Phillip Rhodes of New York, after the United States team went through a 4-hour drill in winds up to 32 miles per hour Wednesday.

"Naturally, we prefer to race Weatherly in the light air conditions which are most suitable for her," American team spokesman George O'Day admitted.

HAD BIG START
Weatherly scored a resounding, half-mile victory in the opening race in light winds last week.

Tom Dublinski Calls It Quits

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Tom Dublinski, who once caused a courtroom matching of the National Football League against the Canadian Football League, retired from the gridiron game last night.

The one-time Detroit Lions quarterback was on the roster of the Toronto Argonauts when he announced his retirement. A passing star at Utah a decade ago, Dublinski joined the Lions after college.

In 1955 he jumped to the Argonauts, and the Lions went to court in an attempt to prevent his playing in Canada. The dispute dragged on almost two years before the Lions finally won $6,500 for breach of contract on Dublinski's part.

Dublinski, however, remained in Canada, but was injured in a 1956 exhibition game and never regained effectiveness. He shuttled between several Canadian and American teams over the next five years, then returned to the Argonauts as a reserve quarterback this year.

causing many observers to predict a four-race sweep.

But Gretel came back to capture the second race on heavier seas Tuesday as Weatherly's crew had trouble tacking to windward.

Liston Is Unimpressed by Patterson's Speed

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson's speed is vastly overrated, according to challenger Sonny Liston.

"I hear and read how fast Patterson is," Liston said after a rugged workout that impressed visiting newsmen. "What do you mean by fast? The only thing I judge it by is how fast he can knock a man out. Can Patterson knock out a man any faster than me?"

"Then I read about the speed he has with his hands. What do they mean by that? Did he ever catch a bullet with them?"

The question of speed seemed to be on Liston's mind as he continued his routine workouts at Aurora Downs Race Track Wednesday for the title fight with Patterson in Comiskey Park Tuesday night.

He sparred with light gloves and no head gear against Allen Thomas of Chicago and veteran Dan Buccerotti of Philadelphia.

Allen was fleet-footed and quick in ducking in and out as Liston chased him around the ring, deliberately pulling his punches.

Buccerotti bobbed and weaved, backpedaling and clutching. Liston worked him into corners and against the ropes.

GETS OPEN SHOTS
Both sparring men were used to see if Liston could get to them. He did, pulling his punches every time he got an open shot.

Then he pounded the big bag, the light bag, skipped rope to the tune of "Night Train" and hit trainer Willie Reddish throw a 12-pound medicine ball against his stomach 19 times without moving.

displayed slow spinners.

"We're used to much heavier weather than this off Sydney Heads," he said.

The Australians spent most of Wednesday installing a longer traveler, which was taken from the trial horse Vim. They also sent a diver down to check and clean the hull.

The race today, is scheduled on a windward-leeward course, over which Weatherly triumphed Saturday, twice around a 6-mile stretch of sea for a total of 24 nautical miles.

State Boating Gets New Boss for Committee

LANSING (UPI)—A man with 21 years service in the U.S. Coast Guard was named today as boating control administrator by the recently-formed state boating control committee.

James A. Hadley, 41-year-old lieutenant commander in the coast guard, has been chief of the unit's law enforcement branch in Washington, D.C., for three years.

The boating control committee was formed by an act of the 1962 legislature to set controls on use of local waterways at the request of governing units.

Louisville Wins, 3-2

By United Press International
Denver rookie pitcher Leo Martinez hit Jim Bolger with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 10th inning last night to give Louisville a 3-2 victory and a 3-2 lead in their best of seven American Association playoff series.

The losing control committee was formed by an act of the 1962 legislature to set controls on use of local waterways at the request of governing units.

He paused and said: "He is a smart fighter. I can say that much. As for how long the fight will last—well, if it is a cold night it won't be too long."

Richardson Swings for '62 MVP Award

By The Associated Press
Bobby Richardson, first American League to reach the 200-hit mark since 1955, has fired a four-hit salvo in his bid to become the second hit-tem - where they ain't swifter - in 19 years to grab the Most Valuable Player award.

Continuing to upstage the power hitters while playing a key role in New York's drive to its 12th pennant in 14 years, Richardson went 4-for-5 in an 8-5 victory over Washington Wednesday night that moved the Yankees' edge closer to their 27th AL championship.

The Yankee second baseman brought his hit total to 201, raised his batting average to .306, scored his 95th run and drove in his 57th tally while helping the American League leaders reduce their magic pennant-clinching number to five.

Any combination of five Yankee victories and Minnesota defeats will clinch it for the New Yorkers.

Home runs by Leo Burke, Jim Fregosi and George Thomas gave the third-place Los Angeles Angels a 9-4 triumph over Baltimore that snapped a six-game losing streak. The Angels are 7½ games behind with nine to play. The Yanks and 210 Orchard Lake Ave.

Twins have eight games remaining. Elsewhere, Walt Bond and John Romano drove in all the runs while Dick Donovan became the second AL hurler to win 20 as Cleveland outdistanced Kansas City 10-0. Mike Hershberger's leadoff homer in the 10th gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-2 decision over Boston.

Richardson, a 27-year-old South Carolinian, is making a strong bid to join Nellie Fox of the 1960 White Sox as the only single-type hitter to grab the MVP crown from the power hitters. Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra of the Yankees each has won the title twice with Jackie Jensen of Boston, Al Rosen of Cleveland and Fox the other winners in the last nine years.

The Yankees had a battle on their hands against the Senators, but pulled it out with a four-run 11th inning uprising after two were out and the count was two strikes on Berra. Berra doubled, and Hec Hooper followed with a run-producing single, that tied the score. Richardson singled to keep the rally going and Tom Tresh and Mantle followed with walks that drove in the tie-breaker. Maris wrapped it up with a two-run single to Jack Fisher (7-6). Bond drove in six runs with two homers and a double for the Indians while Romano knocked in four with the same production in support of the 34-year-old Donavan (20-9), a 20-game winner for the first time. A's starter Ed Rakow (13-16) lost.

Hershberger, hitting his fourth homer, made it his third-game winning circuit shot when he tagged Rec Sox reliever Dick Radatz (9-6) leading off the 10th. That gave the victory to reliever Mike Joyce (2-1).

Battle in W-O, Oakland A Play Gets Rolling

Holly Invades Lakers; Lake Orion Will Host Troy

Two contests that may have a direct bearing on the outcome of the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland A-Conferences are scheduled Friday night.

West Bloomfield, favored in the W-O, entertains Holly. The Braves have been cast as a "mystery" team.

Powerful Clawson goes to the sparsely attended Fitzgerald. The Spartans could put their forecast role of "spotters" to fast use.

In other W-O action, a good Bloomfield Hills 11 entertains Clarkson. Brighton travels to Milford and Clarksville is at Northville. The Blue-Clawson battle will be in the afternoon.

Lake Orion, fresh from its upset over Pontiac Northern, will attempt to beat another lion in the Friday night when the Oakland A's play at Troy. The other Oakland A contest is an afternoon affair with Madison at Oak Park. Avondale will be home for a Lam-Bond drive in six runs with two homers and a double for the Indians while Romano knocked in four with the same production in support of the 34-year-old Donavan (20-9), a 20-game winner for the first time. A's starter Ed Rakow (13-16) lost.

Hershberger, hitting his fourth homer, made it his third-game winning circuit shot when he tagged Rec Sox reliever Dick Radatz (9-6) leading off the 10th. That gave the victory to reliever Mike Joyce (2-1).

Bloomfield Hills is a heavy favorite to make Clarkson its second straight victim and first in league play. The Barons have a big, mobile line and plenty of speed in the backfield.

The Wolves are still in the "learning stage" of the rebuilding program started by coach Ralph Kenyon.

Brighton posted a surprisingly easy 14 victory over South Lyon in its opener last Friday. This indicates that Milford can expect plenty of trouble.

The Redskins of coach Jerry Gannell appear strong on defense, but the offense sputtered when it came to the field.

Clarksville could be heading for real trouble when the Trojans invade Northville. The Mustangs were stung by Plymouth in their opener and will be looking for someone to take it out on.

Clawson, Troy and Avondale are expected to fight it out for the Oakland A crown.

Those who like to compare scores will be watching the outcome of the game at Avondale. Clawson mailed Lamphere 340 last week.

AVON FAVORIT The Yellow Jackets are favored to hand coach Joe Borovick's Rams their second straight licking. If quarterback Romy Lucero recovers from a leg injury, Avondale's offense may be ready to roll.

Should Lake Orion, Fitzgerald and Oak Park top upsets, all Wayne Oakland predictions would go out the window.

Lake Orion's defense held Northern in check and the Dragons struck through the air to score one touchdown and setup another. Before the season opened, there were suspicions that coach Frank Kowacki may have a stronger team than the ratings showed. Most of the players who administered sackings to Fitzgerald and Lapeer late last season are back.

Proposal for Stadium Received Coolly in KC

KANSAS CITY (AP) — City councilmen generally were cool to Charles O. Finley's proposal that the city build a 50,000-seat stadium for his Kansas City Athletics.

Finley warned Kansas City that he was the A's without a new stadium.

The councilman took a guarded approach after learning the stadium would cost 15 to 20 million dollars. Mayor J. Roe Bartle, who made this estimate, said a tax increase would be required to finance it.

LA Dodgers on Track in NL Pennant Chase

By The Associated Press
With Don Drysdale applying the stop and Maury Wills the go, the Los Angeles Dodgers are back on the track in their stretch drive for the National League winner's circle.

Drysdale put the stopper on the Dodgers' three-game losing streak Wednesday with a five-hit pitching gem for his 25th victory as the front-runners knocked off Milwaukee's streaking Braves 4-0.

And Wills triggered the attack by opening the game with a single, stealing second, moving to third on a bunt hit and scoring the only run Drysdale needed on a double play grounder.

The Dodgers whiplow now has 94 steals, with one game left to match or surpass Ty Cobb's 154-game record of 95. His chance to better the 47-year-old mark will come Friday night at St. Louis against the Cardinals.

By winning, the Dodgers maintained their 3½ game lead over the San Francisco Giants, who powered their way out of a six-game losing slump on homers by Willie Mays and Tom Haller and beat the Cards 7-4. The loss was the eighth in a row for St. Louis.

REDS SLIP In the NL, Bob Friend pitched a six-hitter and Doni Clemons homered as Pittsburgh trimmed Cincinnati 10, dropping the third-place Reds 5½ games off the pace, and Philadelphia edged Chicago 4-3 in a double-header opener shortened to six innings by rain. The second Phillies-Cub game was postponed, as was the twelfth doubleheader scheduled at New York between the Mets and Houston.

Drysdale, whose record now is a glittering 25-7, did not allow a man past second base in throttling the Braves, winners of five straight and two in a row against Los Angeles. The hard-throwing right-hander posted his 19th complete game and struck out nine, boosting his league-leading total to 218.

The Dodgers collected just four singles off loser Bob Hendley in his seven innings of work but used them with great economy, netting three runs. Hits by Wills and Jim Gilliam figured in the first inning run and two more came in the third on another single by Wills, between a pair of walks, and Tommy Davis' single. Davis' two runs batted in increased his season total to 143 and snapped the Dodger record of 142 set in 1953 by Roy Campanella.

Frank Howard rapped reliever Jack Curtis for a 450-foot homer in the ninth, the massive outfielder's 30th.

Mays whacked his 45th homer, high in the majors, and Haller connected for two as the Giants hopped on Larry Jackson and the tailspinning Cards for all seven of their runs in the first three innings.

I-L Contingents Meet Outsiders for 2nd Week

Kettering at Northern, Walled Lake Away; Waterford Idle

Five of the six Inter-Lakes League football teams play their final tuneups tomorrow before heading into the annual loop battle next week.

Only once beaten Waterford will not have a 2nd game before the key contests begin. The Shippers will be idle this weekend.

Walled Lake, the defending champion and an annual area power, was the only I.L. member to open with a victory.

The Vikings squeaked by Kettering while the others were suffering beatings. Friday's games may give a better indication of what to expect the rest of the way — especially in the league.

One of the top games in this 2nd round of the season will involve Pontiac Northern.

The Huskies, upset by Lake Orion, will try to rebound against Kettering. PHN has been working on offense after being held to six points. Kettering worked only 7-0 to Walled Lake and should provide a rigid test. The Captains also are trying to step up their attack. Both played some good defense in bowing.

Southfield and Berkley will debut at home after being trounced by Eastern Michigan powers in road lifelines.

The Bluejays may have another long night of it as host to Ferndale which trounced Berkley while they were being trampled by Royal Oak Kimball. Berkley will try to get even at 1-1 against Livonia Bentley.

The other two will play afternoon affairs to launch another big weekend of prep ball.

Walled Lake will go after triumph No. 2 at Dearborn while Farmington will entertain Plymouth.

Some league coaches were of the opinion football in the Class A Inter-Lakes would be "up" this season but last game scores did not back them up. The six members not only compiled a 1-5 record but were outscored by a combined total of 135 points to 39. Two of the five losers bowed to Class B elevens adding insult to injury.

Seaholm got off to a big start with a romp over Groves as compared with a close win a year ago but making it two straight may be a different story. Kimball is defending champion with plenty of "horses" back. Southfield fans can attest to that fact.

BETTER TEST

Maple skipper Carl Lemle summed it up well with the comment "We'll know better what kind of team we have after the Kimball game."

Ferndale, Mt. Clemens and Hazel Park will last week. East Detroit and Port Huron were blanked in setbacks.

The game at Birmingham will be the last appearance of the new Crane contingent.

JFK Finds It Hard to Outlaw Housing Bias

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next big move in the civil rights field may be the long-promised presidential order outlawing discrimination in federally aided housing.

President Kennedy has delayed for 20 months, waiting for what he has called an appropriate time to sign it. A made-to-order occasion is coming right up.

It is Sept. 22, the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. Yet Washington isn't making any bets Kennedy will find that anniversary appropriate.

Lincoln signed two Emancipation Proclamations—a preliminary one of Sept. 22, 1862, and the final freeing of the slaves on Jan. 1, 1863.

So next New Year's Day also would be symbolic.

But Jan. 1 is months away, and the pressure on Kennedy grows daily. Some advisers are sure that the appropriate time, politically speaking, is before the Nov. 6 congressional elections.

HINDING TIME
These same advisers want Congress out of town before the order comes. They fear it would affront Southern members whose support is needed on major administration bills.

In terms of economic impact, the appropriate time might be even further away. Builders say the order would seriously curtail new construction activity. Housing officials believe the builders exaggerate.

For Negro and civil rights groups growing ever more vocal and powerful, the appropriate time is long-passed. They have criticized the President for not acting.

Back in 1960, when Kennedy was a candidate, it may have looked easy. Kennedy solidified President Dwight D. Eisenhower for not acting. It could be done, Kennedy said, by a stroke of the presidential pen.

Making good on this campaign pledge has become one of Kennedy's most perplexing problems. He decided the political difficulties were far outweighed by the issues of law, equity, and constitutionality. After all, Kennedy had irked Southern politicians when he promised the order. And the nonpartisan Civil Rights Commission, created by Congress itself, has officially demanded it.

HOW FAR?
Still, the question remains: How far can Kennedy stretch his presidential power?

Few have questioned his authority to enforce integration in public housing, where the federal cash is a direct subsidy. Not many challenge his power to ban discrimination by banks and loan companies in dwellings which are financed with Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance or Veterans Administration loan guarantees.

Less clear are situations in which the government merely funnels money, when needed, into the banking system and the savings and loan industry to pump up the supply of mortgage credit; or merely regulates the lenders, or just provides insurance for their deposits, which may in time become mortgage loans.

In these and other ways the government has some strings, however tenuous, on virtually every lender. Can it therefore dilate the terms of its loans? Most government lawyers say yes, in this case. They believe it would be impractical, if not illegal, to issue an order which binds some agencies in the housing credit field and not others.

But even the Civil Rights Commission, now working on a report on "100 years of progress" in anticipation of the Jan. 1 emancipation centennial, is split on the proper scope of an anti-bias order.

REFUSED APPEAL
The State Supreme Court of Washington declared unconstitutional the state's antidiscrimination law because it applied only to publicly assisted housing. The United States Supreme Court refused to entertain an appeal.

To government lawyers it seems apparent that if Kennedy issues anything short of an across-the-board decree he would create new inequities.

How, they ask, can the government exempt commercial banks without creating a situation in which a savings and loan company must lend on a no-bias basis, while the bank across the street is not so handicapped? Or, if the order affected only government-underwritten mortgages, it would have negligible effect in Chicago, for example, because FHA and VA are little used there, but would mean much in Detroit, less than 250 miles away.

The word is being passed that Kennedy probably will go for a sweeping order affecting virtually every home transaction, except those rare deals, cash sales between individuals.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

You don't have to understand the bidding that got the American North-South pair to four spades at the World Championship match. South's two club responses to North's opening bid was the "Drury" convention. This convention is used by a small group of American players, but has never achieved popularity and probably never will.

Normal bidding would have landed them in the same contract. It would appear that four spades is a laydown, but North found a way to go down. He won the heart opening in his hand, led a spade to dummy's king, discarded a club on the king of hearts and led a diamond. West ducked and East won with his king. Then East led a second trump and although declarer was able to ruff two diamonds he had to lose the last two and the ace of clubs and was down a trick.

The discarding of a diamond on the king of hearts and playing West for the ace of clubs would have worked, but the play North tried failed because diamonds broke 5-2 instead of the normal 4-3. It was tough luck for America because at the other table the American East-West stole the contract and played three hearts down two tricks. Thus we lost six International Match points instead of gaining six.

U.S. Student Finds It Difficult to Change Ivan's Mind

Written for NEA
(Last of three dispatches)
There were 40 of us American students in Russia, double the number for the two preceding years.

So, an American who speaks their language and lives in a unit which is still a curiosity in the eyes of most Russians.

We Americans were almost always recognized as foreigners, but few Russians have the experience to guess our nationality correctly.

Dozens of times I was asked my nationality, and when I told them, the normal reaction was disbelief—the smile of one who thinks his leg is being pulled.

When I had, convinced them I was not joking, the next reaction was more varied—but in only one instance in five months was it hostile.

Normally the Russians are very curious and hospitable; for the non-Russian peoples of the U.S.S.R., such as the Armenians or Georgians, this is even more true.

Among Russians there are virtually no bitter feelings toward the American people, but their attitude to the policies of our government is less friendly.

The first thing we were asked is where we learned Russian, and then, if many Americans studied it.

Russians are proud of their nationality, and the fact that we know Russian was naturally flattering.

How we were permitted to study in the U.S.S.R. and wander around without a guide was the next question.

Then they were interested in such simple things as who our parents were, where they worked and what we intended to do after graduation.

It was only then that more serious questions were asked, usually something about the rumored material wealth of the United States. Very rarely did they ask provocative political questions in a group.

If someone did ask, "Why does your country surround us with military bases?" usually another Russian would tell him to shut up, that a friendly gathering was not the place for political arguments.

MOST STUDENTS REEDS

In private, however, political discussion often occupies much of the time.

My neighbor in the dormitory was majoring in the history of the Russian Communist party, so I learned a great deal about the rigidly dogmatic Communist.

He, as most of the university students, belonged to the Young Communist League.

In general, we Americans found it much more difficult to convince Russians of our points of view than we expected.

For one thing the Russian is accustomed to having a simple, direct answer to all questions, a single solution to all problems.

These are provided for him from birth through the official channels of information.

Thus, when he asks why there is widespread unemployment in the United States and how we plan to deal with it, he expects a full answer, an answer which must disprove the one which his Communist doctrine provides for him.

But there is no simple answer to the unemployment problem and I couldn't honestly say that in 20 years everything will be solved.

This is an escape Russians use constantly when they cannot answer a question about some deficiency in their country.

They simply say, "Well, in 20 years things will be different." This puts the argument in the future and the realm of surmise; it is no longer possible to argue logically.

Another favorite question concerned racial segregation in the United States.

"Why is the U.S. blocking disarmament?" was another favorite. Many Russians accept the explanations of "Pravda" that our attempts to establish rules for control are really plans for espionage.

Generally the Russians were upset when our latest series of atomic tests were begun. But few realized the extent of Soviet testing. The hardest questions for Russlans to answer was on censorship. They could only claim that they had to be protected from lies and slander printed in the West.

And I found that most Russians are willing to delegate the responsibility for deciding what is true to some higher authority. Few would admit that it is an inherent right for each person to read whatever he wants to read.

They have no information about the Berlin wall and the escapes to the West; and, in many cases, they were skeptical when I told them about this.

This presupposes that communism can do evil, and they are taught from birth that communism cannot do evil, but only good for all mankind.

I did find one question that no Soviet student ever attempted to answer: "Why are you not allowed to emigrate from the Soviet Union?"

(End series.)

Genesee County Osteopath Assn. Fetes Official

The Genesee County Osteopathic Association last night granted an honorary life membership to Harry H. Whitlow, administrator of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The dinner award was made at a rare meeting at the Durant Hotel in Flint.

Whitlow was honored for his "outstanding work for the osteopathic profession." He has been administrator of the Pontiac Hospital since its inception 9½ years ago.

Under his direction, it has become the fastest growing osteopathic hospital in Michigan and will be the largest in the nation when its current expansion program is completed next year.

Whitlow has also been administrator of Flint Osteopathic Hospital for the past 2½ years. That hospital will open a new 104-bed wing Oct. 1.

Modernization Set by Detroit News

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit News yesterday announced a multimillion-dollar modernization program at its Times Square plant.

The Times Square plant housed The Detroit Times before its assets were purchased by the News in November 1960.

Warren S. Booth, president and publisher of the News, said the improvements, designed to speed newspapers to readers, include installation of 20 new press units, new equipment in the stereotype department and modernization of newsprint handling and mailing room facilities.

Hoffa Forced to Stand Trial

Federal Judge Won't Dismiss or Postpone Conspiracy Charges

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A federal district judge has ruled that Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa must stand trial here on conspiracy charges.

Judge William E. Miller, in refusing to dismiss the charges or postpone the trial, disagreed with defense lawyers' arguments that Hoffa could not receive a fair trial because of adverse publicity.

While there has been some adverse publicity, Miller said, some of it has been engendered by Hoffa himself.

"But it is significant," Miller said, "that there has been no adverse publicity concerning this particular case."

The trial is scheduled for Oct. 22.

The head of the nation's organized truck drivers is charged, in an indictment returned last May, with conspiring to unlawfully receive more than $1 million from a Detroit trucking firm organized in Tennessee.

Hoffa has pleaded innocent, while the transport firm—Continental Carriers Inc.—has entered a no contest plea.

HOFFA DIDN'T APPEAR

Hoffa did not appear in court, but his attorneys presented newspaper and magazine clippings to support their arguments on exonerating publicity.

They also contended that the grand jury that brought the two-count indictment was prejudiced by such publicity.

Z. T. Osborn, a Nashville attorney for Hoffa, offered to call as witnesses Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas and John Seigenthaler, editor of the Nashville Tennessean and former administrative aide to Kennedy.

Osborn said he was willing to call them—if the court desired—"as an offer of additional proof" of Hoffa's contention that he had been subjected to "continuing defamatory and inflammatory publicity."

UAW Clock-Punching Plan Pleases Clerks, Irks Bosses

DETROIT (UPI)—The philosophy who said "put your own house in order" is causing the elimination of time clocks at UAW.

It all started Tuesday when the UAW announced one of its goals for the 1964 contract talks with the automobile industry—mainly the elimination of time clocks.

Well, the 525 girls on the clerical staff at the UAW's solidarity house headquarters have been racing "to punch that damn clock" every morning hour, many hours. It's for them no more.

One secretary said, "It's a drag. When I think of the traffic ticks I've picked up racing that damn clock."

NO PICTURES

UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey became somewhat sensitive about the clock, hanging on a lower hall wall at Solidarity House, and refused to let photographers take a picture of it.

The time clock elimination proposal was made by Ben Bannan, director of the UAW's national Ford department. He immediately became "the most popular guy in the building" yesterday.

One girl said, "Mr. Bannan's proposal made a big hit with us. If you could see those 8:58 a.m. traffic jams in the hall every morning you'd understand why."

Mazey said the time clock "is essential to our operation. The UAW is not like the Ford Motor Co. where the supervisors are on hand to supervise the girls."

CLOCK NEEDED

"Our supervisors have to serve local unions and do great deals of traveling, in town and out. Their jobs are mobile. Without a time clock, we'd find ourselves in a situation where the girls would have to police themselves."

However, there was at least one dissenting voice among the working girls. A private secretary

The report showed a 3 per cent rise in the number of grade crossing accidents from 3,195 to 3,264.

Eyes Statewide Library Cards

SWAINSON PRAISES BIG CITY, COLLEGE SYSTEMS at Conference

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swanson yesterday praised Michigan's big city and college libraries as among the finest in the nation but urged adoption of a statewide card system to give "every resident equal access to good library service."

The governor spoke at the first governor's conference on libraries, a meeting to discuss plans to expand and improve the service in Michigan.

Despite the fact that the state has some of the best libraries and historical collections in the United States, Swanson said, some one million Michigan residents lack legal access to libraries because they live outside cities or townships where libraries exist.

"It is almost equally disastrous to consider that the majority of our existing libraries are so small and so poorly supported that they are utterly incapable of offering the best service in this space age," he said.

"We must also face the fact that over half of Michigan's school children have inadequate school libraries or none at all."

Swanson said the theory of a statewide card system last year was tested by the State Library Board in a pilot program in Detroit and three of its suburbs. The results of the test are now under study, he said.

At the same time, the state is attempting to work out a statewide formula designed to foster a statewide network of independent but cooperative libraries.

"In our planning for better libraries we must preserve our precious heritage of independent libraries, locally supported, locally administered and responsive to the needs of citizens," said the governor.

Lawmakers Join in Cuba Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told Congress that if the Soviets or Cubans attempt to move arms into other Latin American countries the armed forces of the United States will be "used to intercept such traffic."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee joined a Senate panel today in a warning to "the rulers of Havana and Moscow" that the United States will not tolerate a military force in Cuba capable of endangering U.S. security.

The House group unanimously voted to send to the House for action a resolution identical with one approved by a Senate committee acting jointly.

The warning that the United States will not tolerate the development of a security threat in Cuba was contained in the report of the Senate committee.

Such a threat "could have the gravest possible consequences," and the United States "will not flinch from these consequences," declared the Armed Forces and Foreign Relations committees.

The warning was contained in a report to the Senate which votes today on a Cuban policy resolution drafted by the committees.

BACKED UNANIMOUSLY
The report carried unanimous, bipartisan endorsement of the group's 33 members.

The resolution declares the United States will use force if necessary to resist the advance of communism in this hemisphere.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee meets this morning to go over final language of a similar resolution before submitting it to the House for a vote.

The resolution — triggered by congressional concern over the military buildup of Cuba — is expected to be approved today by both houses. It then will go to President Kennedy for his signature.

MAKES UNITY CLEAR

The resolution, said the Senate report, will make clear "the essential unity of purpose, not only of the Congress, but of the President and the American people as well."

The report said "existing military capabilities in Cuba do not endanger the security of the United States and by the rulers of Havana and Moscow: If the Soviet Union attempts to install, or aid in the installation in Cuba of military force capable of endangering the security of the United States, it will create a situation which the United States will not tolerate and which could have the gravest possible consequences," the report said.

"It is of critical importance that this point be clearly understood by the people of the United States and by the rulers of Havana and Moscow: If the Soviet Union attempts to install, or aid in the installation in Cuba of military force capable of endangering the security of the United States, it will create a situation which the United States will not tolerate and which could have the gravest possible consequences," the report said.

The report said the resolution makes it clear "the United States will not flinch from these consequences."

"This determination of the United States, having been made clear in advance, the onus of the situation, if it develops, will be on those who deliberately and knowingly created it," it asserted.

The committee said the situation in Cuba "should be taken seriously, but not hysterically."

FIRM DETERMINATION

The resolution expresses the United States' firm determination to prevent the Castro dictatorship from "extending by force or threat of force its aggressive or subversive activities to any part of this hemisphere."

Senators noted the resolution expresses also the determination of this country to meet its responsibilities under the Monroe Doctrine, Rio Pact and other treaties.

The report cautioned other Western Hemisphere nations "to be firm in their American rights and obligations are reciprocal" — a pointed suggestion that they fall in line against a common danger.

U.S. Demands Reds, Others Pay U.N. Share

Stevenson Tells Group Organization Will Die if Forced to Beg

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Tension between Cuba and the United States flared into the open in the general assembly today with a Cuban charge that Washington is preparing large-scale aggression against Fidel Castro's island.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States demanded today that the General Assembly act immediately to require the Soviet bloc and all other members to pay their share of U.N. costs.

In a major policy speech for the 18-nation assembly, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson declared "We demand our organization to impotence" unless steps are taken to put it on a sound financial footing.

"We cannot expect the United Nations to survive from day to day by passing a cup like a beggar in the street," he said.

The chief U.S. delegate urged that the United Nations give its main attention now to making itself stronger, more efficient and financially sound so it can meet the task of preserving world peace.

THREATS OMINOUS

There are ominous threats, he said, in Berlin, Cuba, Viet Nam, Red China, Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

"And most ominous of all, the suicidal arms race continues unabated," he said. "These situations raise serious dangers to the peace of the world."

Stevenson avoided direct attacks on the Soviet Union. He appealed to assembly members to "replaced ardent politics with quiet but determined diplomacy."

Stevenson spoke as some Western diplomats expressed concern over growing indications that the Soviet Union was preparing an all-out attack on the United States on Cuba, U2 flights, Berlin and a number of other fronts. There also was evidence that the Russians are going to give Acting Secretary-General U Thant a hard time.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will make his policy statement Friday.

The U.S. delegate mentioned names in his demand for financial responsibility of all U.N. members alike. There may have been some doubts in the past, he said, as to the legality of assessments for the U.N.'s peace-keeping operations but these were removed by the recent advisory opinion of the World Court.

Raises Money Issue

Campaign steams ahead — Gov. Swainson yesterday berated his November election opponent, Republican George Romney for "empty words" regarding a need for state fiscal reform after GOP legislators killed the governor's reform measures during the last session.

Swainson Berates Fiscal Cries

Raps Romney's 'Reform' Calls

Gov. Swainson yesterday labeled George Romney's campaign cries for state fiscal reform "empty words" in the wake of a Republican failure to act.

The governor was addressing 300 business and professional people at a luncheon in Bloomfield Township's Devon Gables Restaurant.

He recalled that a Republican-controlled state legislature failed to support his fiscal reform bill during the last session.

"If my opponent (GOP gubernatorial candidate Romney) really wants fiscal reform now, by all means let's reconvene immediately," said Swainson.

"Fiscal reform is needed now, and four Republicans are the only ones who can call the legislature back at this time," he added.

"While Republicans talk about 'fiscal reform now,' he said, Democrats were the only ones willing to take realistic action before."

"We know that the liberal hour of the Republicans ends at 11 o'clock election night. We haven't been fooled by their tactics in the past and we won't be now."

Fiscal reform is needed to provide economic stability, more equity in taxation and an element of permanency in taxing methods, the governor said.

It would require loosening of personal and property taxes and raising of sales taxes by instituting a state income tax instead, according to Swainson.

NOTES GROWTH
Economic stability is "very necessary" if more jobs are to be provided for the growing work force of tomorrow as a result of a growing birth rate in Michigan today, he said.

He said the birth increase has provided a major market for retailers, and has been a major force behind current industrial expansion in the state.

More than 200 industries in Michigan have expanded in the past 12 months alone, he said.

Swainson stated, "In addition, 60 new industries were started during the same period here."

The governor was welcomed to the luncheon meeting of the Oakland County Democratic and Professional Association by Martin M. Doironoff, chairman of the group.

Following his talk at Devon Gables, Swainson attended a surprise luncheon in honor of Mrs. Betty McVay, Democratic candidate for county treasurer in the November state elections.

The luncheon, attended by some 150 Democratic women, was held in the banquet room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Building in Pontiac.

The money would be spent here for sewage systems to replace septic tanks and open new areas for industrial and residential expansion, R. J. Alder, under, DFW director, said.

Hamilton has appointed a special steering committee, headed by David Levinson, chairman of the board's ways and means committee, to determine if the county can qualify for the additional $1.5 million and where the county would obtain its matching funds.

Hamilton said he expected the steering committee would confer with the Board of Supervisors to approve an intent to file with the federal government when the board meets Oct. 1, in Pontiac.

A more accurate estimate of costs for the three projects should be available by then, he said.

He estimated that the courthouse addition and service center utilities projects each would cost $1 million, while the juvenile facilities' cost would exceed $1 million.

The present juvenile facilities of the county are scattered and far inadequate, Hamilton pointed out. The new facilities, to be located at the service center, would be much larger and would ease their administration by bringing them

Would Be Used to Complete 3 Center Projects

Seek Money Under New Public Works Act on Matching Basis

By DICK HANSON

Oakland County will seek an additional $1.5 million in federal grants under the new Public Works Act to complete three projects proposed at the County Service Center, Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, announced today.

The projects, which would be financed on a matching fund basis, are:

1. An additional wing to the courthouse, new and expanded juvenile facilities and drain and sewer utilities at the center on Telegraph Road.

According to Hamlin, the federal government would provide approximately a half-million dollars toward each of the three projects, while the county would pay the balance.

Actually, none of the federal funds are available yet.

While the Public Works Act has been approved, the $900 million still must be appropriated by the House Appropriations Committee, and application forms must be made available to interested parties.

Hamilton said he expected the steering committee would confer with the Board of Supervisors to approve an intent to file with the federal government when the board meets Oct. 1, in Pontiac.

A more accurate estimate of costs for the three projects should be available by then, he said.

He estimated that the courthouse addition and service center utilities projects each would cost $1 million, while the juvenile facilities' cost would exceed $1 million.

Gretel Leaps Into Lead as 3rd Race Starts

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Gretel got off to a flying start over Weathersly today in the third race of the America's Cup.

Shipper Jack Sturrock got his lead across the starting line by about six boat lengths — and 32 seconds in time — ahead of Bus Moshbacher on the American defender.

The first leg was an upwind course of six miles.

The breeze was light — not more than six to eight knots. It was a surprise because yesterday there had been forecasts of winds up to 25 or 30 knots.

Up in Pontiac, Waterford School Enrollment Rises

Substantial enrollment increases in both the public school system in Waterford Township and Our Lady of the Lakes parochial school have been experienced this fall.

Waterford Township public schools now have a total enrollment of 13,969, compared to 13,411 in September, 1961.

The public school system's 24 elementary schools are occupied by 5,883 youngsters while 3,018 attend the two junior high schools and 1,066 are enrolled in the two high schools.

Enrollment at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic school has risen from 555 last fall to 645 at the start of the 1962-63 school year.

High school students number 225 and there are 420 youngsters now enrolled in the elementary school.

Enrollments in city public and parochial schools reached a record total of 23,084 in an early count — nearly 700 more than were recorded in fall of 1961.

A more complete count is expected at month's end.

The increase is accounted for almost solely by Pontiac Public School District enrollments, which increased from 20,756 at this time in 1961 to the present 21,299.

The total for the three parochial schools stayed nearly the same at 1,685.

In two Pontiac senior high schools, there are 3,400 students compared to 2,931 last year. In the junior high grades there are 4,092 against 4,028 last year.

The elementary grades registered 13,037 up from the 13,139 last year.

Emmanuel Christian School reported a total of 399 children, divided almost evenly among elementary and high school grades.

The figure is expected to edge up to last year's 426 at the end of this month.

St. Frederick School lost 65 in enrollment, which appeared to have been made up by a 70-pupil increase at St. Michael School.

St. Michael's total this year stands at 690, it stood at 700 in the 636, 391 were in elementary grades, 1 through 8; 245 were in high school grades, 9 through 12.

St. Michael total this year stands at 690, of which 418 are in grade school and 242 in high school.

Orders Pile Up for '63 Pontiac

Cleanup Sales Going Very Good, Reports E. M. Estes

Before introduction orders of 1963 Pontiac cars are the highest since 1955, Pontiac Motor Division General Manager E. M. Estes said yesterday.

Answering questions at the press preview of the new line which goes on display Oct. 4, Estes said that the sales cleanup on '62 models is going very good, with some dealers "sold right down to the bone."

Quizzed about Pontiac's high sales for the past year, the general manager said he felt Pontiac had "the best balance product in a long time."

"By balance I am talking about styling, reliability, fuel economy performance and all of the things that have something to do with selling cars," he said.

Pontiac Division sales this year were up 52 per cent over 1961, while the industry as a whole rose approximately 25 per cent.

Estes said the division is expecting the sales of the latest Grand Prix line to climb 50 per cent in 1963. The Grand Prix sales in '62 have been about 25,000.

Tempest sales accounted for 27 per cent of the total Pontiac sales. Estes noted, and he said they expect an increase in Tempest sales in '63 with the introduction of a new optional cast iron V8 engine.

Loyal Argentine Troops Capture Band of Rebels

By ROMAN JIMENEZ
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Troops loyal to President Jose Maria Guido have captured a band of soldiers rushing to join military rebels holding out in the shadow of the capital, the government announced today.

The war secretary's communiqué made no mention of shooting in the first encounter between the rebel army factions in a power struggle that has caught Guido in a squeeze.

The communiqué said one officer and 36 soldiers were taken prisoner. They were reported traveling in four troop carriers from the armored base at Magdalena, 60 miles southeast of Buenos Aires, toward the capital.

Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, the rebel leader entrenched in the big Campo de Mayo garrison on the edge of Buenos Aires, broadcast a new defiant communiqué after peace talks with Guido collapsed.

JFK's Elated by Trade Bill

Passage Considered Administration's Top Congressional Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has hailed Senate passage of the foreign trade bill which gives him revolutionary powers to slash or eliminate tariffs.

By a 78-8 vote Wednesday, the Senate approved the measure that would open the way to an economic partnership with the booming European Common Market. The House passed a similar version earlier. House and Senate Trade Expansion Bill in a 78-8 roll call vote.

Conferees must reconcile the differences and work out a final version of the legislation. This is not expected to be a difficult task since both versions contain the major powers the President requested.

BIGGEST VICTORY

The Senate vote on the measure—which heads Kennedy's legislative priority list—gave the administration its biggest victory so far in Congress.

Kennedy, described by an aide as elated, congratulated the Senate for its "significant action."

"It is the strongest trade bill since the original legislation was passed . . . and the new legislation gives us the opportunity to develop closer and more harmonious trade relations with the common market and other nations throughout the world," he said.

Democratic congressional leaders said after their weekly meeting with Kennedy today that he was "very happy with the tremendous victory" for the bill.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic senate leader, also was gratified over the bipartisan support for the measure. Both advocates and opponents agreed that the trade expansion bill is the most far-reaching trade legislation since the 1924 Reciprocity Trade Agreements Act, the nation's basic tariff law, was enacted.

Chilly Canadian air lingering in the central United States today as freezing temperatures were recorded in Minnesota for the second day in a row.

Temperatures in the Plains states and Midwest last night generally were 20 degrees colder than 24 hours earlier.

Minnesota recorded 30 degrees, a record for Sept. 20. Duluth and International Falls, Minn., shivered in 27-degree weather.

Rains persisted in the Gulf Coast and parts of the Atlantic Seaboard. Orlando, Fla., was hit with 2 1/4 inches of rain for the second consecutive night.

Unwrap Weird 1965 X20

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The weirdest-looking space plane this side of science fiction was unveiled here Wednesday by the Air Force.

It's the X20 Dyna-soar, scheduled to be blasted into a 100-mile-high orbit around the earth by a Titan III booster sometime in 1965.

A model of the triangular-shaped black space-glider, 35 feet long and 20 feet across, was shown publicly for the first time at the Air Force Association convention.

Technical men familiar with sketches and photographs of the X20 were startled by the vicious ugliness of the full-scale mockup. With its upturned wings and long snout, the X20 looks like its designer managed to cross a manta ray with a shark.

TELLS PILOTS

The Air Force also announced the names of the first six men who will fly the X20. The pilots, all from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., are: Maj. Henry C. Gordon, 37; Maj. James W. Wood, 38; Maj. Russell L. Rogers, 34; Capt. Albert H. Crews Jr., 33; Capt. William J. Knight, 33, all of the Air Force, and Milton O. Thompson, 36, test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Sometime next year one of these men will be at the controls when the X20 makes its first test flight at Edwards, home of the X15 rocket plane.

For these flights, the X20, like the X15, will be carried aloft by a B52 bomber.

Unlike the X15, which has reached record speeds of more than 4,000 m.p.h. and a height of 114,750 feet, the X20 will set no records at Edwards. These flights will be tests of the X20's ability to maneuver in the atmosphere. Records will come later at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the X20 will be blasted into orbit at speeds of 17,000 m.p.h.

After one or more orbits, the X20 is scheduled to land at Edwards, beginning its long descendent glide somewhere over Hawaii.

Group Fighting to Restore Cuts

Dems Want Loan Fund, Peace Corps Figures Back in Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration leaders decided after a White House breakfast today to make a fight in the House for restoration of amount sliced out by deep cuts in the annual foreign aid appropriation bill.

The House plans to vote on the bill late today.

The leaders' reluctant decision brought threats from some hard-core Republicans to impose even sharper reductions than those recommended by a House committee.

Administration plans were aimed at restoring at least $200 million of the $475 million cut from the development loan fund for which President Kennedy requested $125 million.

Another target was recapture of part of the $11.75 million lost from the Peace Corps allotment.

U.S., Red China Ambassadors Talk About U2

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Ambassadors of the United States and Communist China met for an hour and 40 minutes today in a special session at which the Communists presumably protested the flight of a Chinese Nationalist U2 plane down over Red China Sept. 8.

Another meeting between the ambassadors, John M. Cabot and Wang Ping-an, was scheduled for Oct. 25.

OK Wirtz for Labor Post

County Eyes Funds for Center Projects

together in one area close to juvenile court, he said.

Robert Lilly, secretary of the County Board of Auditors, and a member of the new steering committee said there are two avenues of local financing open to the county at this time.

"Either an authority would be established to raise or share of the cost and loan it to the county, or the county would have to ask the voters to approve additional millage," Lilly said.

"There is no money in next year's austerity budget for these projects," he added.

The authority would be established by the County Board of Supervisors to pay the local share of the cost, he explained, and the county departments would then pay rentals to the authority.

These rental fees would be established to cover the county's budget, according to Lilly.

"It is imperative that the county act immediately towards procuring the federal grants," Hamlin said. He presides, directed areas throughout the nation competing vigorously for the federal money as soon as it becomes available.

"Because of Mr. Alexander's experience to date with the Public Works Act he will serve as coordinator for the county pertaining to all projects which come under the provisions of the act," Hamlin stated.

Alexander is scheduled to meet with HHFA administrators in Washington next week to learn of any new developments as to how the funds will be administered.

Other members of the local steering committee appointed by Hamlin are John Osgood, supervisor from Royal Oak; Luther Heacock, Birmingham supervisor and chairman of the county's buildings and grounds committee; Norman Barnard, corporation counsel for the county; and the other two members of the Board of Auditors, John Austin, chairman, and Robert Y. Moore, vice chairman.

'Will Not Cite Steel Officials'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and four big steel companies girded for another duel today. There were predictions that Kefauver would sue decisively.

An influential Southern Democrat who declined to be identified said there was "no chance in the world" that the Senate Judiciary Committee would cite the four firms for contempt of Congress.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he hoped to close out the arguments today and put the issue to a vote Monday.

Kefauver and four Northern Democrats on his Senate antitrust subcommittee recommended contempt citations Aug. 31 when the four steelmakers refused to honor subpoenas demanding secret cost of production data.

The parent Judiciary Committee is sitting, in effect, as a court of appeals to hear Kefauver's case and answering arguments from Bethlehem, National, Republic and Armco steel corporations.

Five New Models for 1963

A successful first year for the Mercury Meteor has led Lincoln-Mercury Division to expand the car to a full line for 1963.

Five new models, two hardtops and three station wagons, have been added.

The 1963 Meteor will be on display Oct. 4 at Lloyd Motor, 262 S. Saginaw St.

"While we offered the Meteor initially in only two body styles, reduced maintenance, new or improved pistons and accessories, sedan, its sales success proved there is a solid place in the market for quality car of the Meteor size," said Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and Division general manager.

Both new hardtop models, the Meteor Custom and S-33 bucket seat series, are two-door cars with a fleet-appearing low silhouette and a long-rear deck. Both have more trunk space than the Meteor sedans.

Unit for Retarded Youth to Hear Wayne Dean Talk

BIRMINGHAM — Dr. Charles B. Brink, dean of the Wayne State University School of Social Work, will be the featured speaker at the first general meeting of the newly formed Oakland County Council for Retarded Children being held here Oct. 9.

The 8 p.m. public meeting will be at the School High School, 2436 W. Lincoln Road.

A member of the President's Panel on Mental Retardation, Brink will review the work of the panel and report on his survey earlier this year of facilities for the retarded in Western Europe.

Council president Stanford Wallace of Huntington Woods, said that several hundred city, school and community leaders from Oakland County have been invited to the meeting.

"This is in keeping with the council's objective of enlisting support for the needs of the retarded," Wallace added.

"We look upon this meeting as the first step in a long-term effort to mobilize public support to expand opportunities for the retarded in Michigan."

"Our first problem is to meet the needs of the shambly, overworked and understated conditions in our state institutions."

Another speaker at the meeting will be Mrs. Rita Charnoff of Royal Oak, state legislative chairman for the Michigan Association for Retarded Children. She will give a summary of legislative needs.

The council was organized last month as the unified countywide voice of four parent groups.

They are: Friends and Relatives of Retarded Children, Inc.; Pilgrims Project, Hazel Park; SPUR, Walled Lake; and the Association for Handicapped Children, Pontiac.

Cites U.S.-Reich Accord

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Economics Minister and Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard arrived here today after a one-week visit to the United States and said there was no discord with the American government over the Berlin problem.

Erhard, who visited the White House, said the U.S.-Reich accord was a "great-grandson" of the 1945 agreement.

He retired in 1950 after 52 years with the Burroughs Corp., Detroit. He had lived in Traverse City since his retirement.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. G. W. Arnold of Traverse City; a son, S. E. Wirth of Birmingham; two sisters, a brother, eight grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Congress to Polish
City Clamping Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress voted Wednesday to take away one of its own privileges.

By roll call vote of 246-126, the House completed action on a proposal to strip legislators of their "junk mail" rights.

The vote, on a Senate amendment to the annual legislative appropriation bill, repealed a 1961 act giving members of Congress the right to use their free-mailing privileges to send literature anywhere without the name or address of the recipient.

Heaters Work
Year-Round in Old Street Cars

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (U)—The city of Sarajevo bought secondhand street cars from Washington, D.C. last fall.

The heaters already were on. This was fine.

Then summer came and the mercury rose to 100 degrees. Passengers were astounded to find the heaters still on. No mechanic in Sarajevo knew how to turn off the radiators.

With the first autumn chills, rides now are getting more and more comfortable. But the question is: Will someone solve the secret of turning off the heating system by next summer?

JFK Wants Cut in Foreign Aid Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says a House committee's recommendation that nearly $1.4 billion be sliced from this year's foreign aid funds is an irresponsible action that "poses a threat to free world security."

He asked that the slashed funds be restored.

House leaders, detecting sentiment for additional trimming of the $5,566,852,000 economic and military aid measure, may forego a salvage operation at this time—for strategic purposes. Kennedy originally asked $7.3 billion.

The cut criticized Wednesday night by the President in a statement is the handwork of the House Appropriations Committee. The stiff opposition to a move to restore the money would face was summed up by Rep. Otto E. Passman's declaration that "Not one cent will be put back if I have anything to do with it."

FLOOR MANAGER

The Louisiana Democrat, a persistent advocate of keeping foreign aid spending down, was chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that drafted the bill. He will be floor manager for the measure in House debate, beginning today. In his statement the President declared: "It makes no sense at all to make speeches against the spread of communism, to deplore instability in Latin America and Asia, to call for an increase in American prestige and an initiative in Eastern Europe—and then vote to cut back the Alliance for Progress, to hamper the Peace Corps, to repudiate our long-term commitments of last year and to undermine the efforts of those who are seeking to stave off chaos and communism in the most vital areas of the world."

Kennedy concluded: "I cannot believe that those in both parties who have consistently voted in the course of three administrations to fulfill the nation's obligations of leadership will permit this irresponsible action to go uncorrected."

JFK Enters Political Arena Tonight

AP Photos
DONATES $2 MILLION — Arthur R. Belfer, 35, head of a far-flung business empire, yesterday contributed $2 million to New York's Yeshiva University for its graduate school of science.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will be hopping into the political arena tonight to open his personal part in the battle for the Democratic campaign.

The top will be by helicopter to Harrisburg, Pa. Kennedy will speak at a rally aimed at raising the financial fortune of the Democratic party and the political fortunes of Democratic candidates.

It will be an outright political speech and people will pay to get in. The White House says it will be political, in contrast with what is termed nonpolitical talks the President made last month in South Dakota, Colorado and California—with Democratic candidates, and a smattering of Republicans, swarming around.

From here to the state and congressional elections of Nov. 6, there probably will be quite a few more Kennedy political starts and speeches in key states.

Pennsylvania qualifies as a key state by reason of rousing races for the offices of U.S. senator, governor and 27 U.S. House seats.

WILL MEET JFK

Kennedy will be welcomed at Harrisburg by Gov. David L. Lawrence and all the Democratic contenders who can get there. Those include Sen. Joseph L. Clark, trying for another term, and his close political ally, Richardson Dilworth, who resigned as mayor of Philadelphia to try for governor.

A 10-term U.S. representative, James E. Flinn Zandi, is the Republican challenger against Clark.

A one-term congressman, millionaire William W. Scranton, will take on Dilworth. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower pitched in for Scranton with a speech in Scranton last Friday.

Pennsylvania has 16 Republicans, 14 Democrats in the House. But reapportionment trimmed the state's 30 House seats to 27.

Illinois is the only state other than Pennsylvania that definitely is staked out for a presidential campaign visit, Democratic Rep. Sidney R. Yates will get a hand from Kennedy in trying to toss Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen out of the Senate.

Eisenhower was out in Illinois, too, last week, getting in some tickets for Dirksen. Kennedy is to appear at Springfield and Chicago Friday, Oct. 19.

MICHIGAN? PERHAPS

For his part, Kennedy has said he is going to try to help elect Democrats who support his program. He has made it evident at news conferences that he doesn't feel it is incumbent upon him to support all incumbent Democrats or all Democratic candidates.

By the end of the month Kennedy's 1962 campaign schedule should be about complete.

Party politicians here figure it is likely to take in New York, Connecticut and perhaps New Hampshire in the East; Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin in the Midwest; California for sure in the West; and possibly look-ins on the campaigns in Idaho, Utah and Colorado.

Maybe there's a chance Massachusetts can be squeezed in now that brother Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy has romped off with the Democratic nomination for the President's old Senate seat.

Ionia Prosecutor Plans to Quit Electric Post

Van Buren said he was unable to handle both the public post and a growing private practice adequately.

Blind Children See Circus Through Eyes of a Clown

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was opening day for the Barnum & Bailey Circus in the sports arena. This, in circus talk, meant: "Death-defying feats" . . . "Extraordinary equestrianism." "Marvelous mammals." "Marvels, marvels, marvels," and all the other showmen but wonderful come-ons for the "Greatest Show on Earth."

It also meant peanuts and popcorn, sawdust on tankards, the milky glare of a spotlight in a hushed and darkened arena, lithe young aerialists, dainty lady acrobats, gleaming white horses and bulb-nosed clowns.

A group of blind youngsters from the Braille Institute saw it all Wednesday—through the eyes of a clown.

DESCRIBES SCENE

The clown, Bobby Kay, sat in street clothes with the kids and described this scene:

"Now all the pretty girls are climbing high on ropes and now they are all spinning around and around in the air. And now here comes more ponies and these have little dogs on their backs. . . ."

"Here come the camels. They are dromedary camels. That means they have only one hump."

"There is also a zebra. What's a zebra. Well, a zebra is like a small horse and he has black and white stripes. And nobody has ever figured out whether it is a black horse with white stripes or a white horse with black stripes, and whaddya think of that?"

Kay then told them about the clowns. The clowns are pretending to fight like women shoppers at a bargain counter. Now a fat clown has flopped into a washing machine. He shrinks. And out comes a skinny clown. . . .

EXPLAINS TRAPEZE

How does he explain a trapeze to sightless youngsters?

"Take hold of my arm," Kay said. Three pairs of small hands gripped his forearm. Kay swung it back and forth, explaining: "This is a trapeze, only a trapeze is way up in the air and the men and women swing from one trapeze to another."

When the show was over, the children clapped heartily—even as though they had seen every minute of it.

The lesson scheduled is "Art and Science of Salad Making."

Knight, 11, Offers Aid to Princess

HAMILTON, Mont. (UPI) — A beautiful princess was in distress and the young knight readied to ride forth from the West — even though he is only 11 years old.

The knight was Kirk Peterson, a sixth grader, who has a natural gallantry as a third-generation son of the West.

The princess was Grace of Monaco.

"I am not very big or strong," Kirk wrote Princess Grace, "but if I can help in any way please notify me immediately."

READ OF VOICES

Kirk wrote the princess after reading a magazine article about the trouble her kingdom of Monaco was having with France.

His emotions aroused by chivalry, Kirk wrote:

"From now 'til my death I give my pledge of allegiance to you and to all of Monaco." But in this jet age there are no dragons for knights to fight.

The princess' typed reply, which bore her written signature and an embossed crown, said:

"Dear Kirk, Thank you very much for your kind letter which I was very pleased to receive."

"Your moral support is much appreciated and means a great deal to me. It is very sweet of you to worry about our problems which I hope will be solved shortly."

"I don't think there is anything in particular you could do to help immediately, but if there is I shall let you know."

Sincerely,
"Grace of Monaco."

To Stroll Down Avenue of Fashion

Family of Beau OK

Parisian millinery, in the form of ivy set in little French bonnets, formed the individual centerpieces Wednesday during Forest Lake Country Club's style show, Avenue of Fashion. Posing on their way down the "avenue" to admire some of the greenery are Mrs. Edwin J. Dobski (left), Mrs. Alan R. Ploj and Mrs. George A. Greig, all of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Albert E. Conner of Bloomfield Hills (left) and Mrs. Richard Reiter of Ottawa Drive are stopped in their tracks by this very snug Parisian pooch, who appears satisfied with the way events are proceeding during Forest Lake Country Club's fashion festivity Wednesday.

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: I have been going with a young man for a year and a half. We are not officially engaged but I am presently wearing his college class pin. His family lives in another state and I have not as yet met them. My boy friend would like very much to have me meet them and has suggested that I go with him soon to spend a few days with them.

My parents have strongly advised me against this since an official engagement does not exist. They claim it is not proper to visit my future in-laws without a "diamond on my left-hand-finger."

My boy friend is still going to college and cannot afford to buy me an engagement ring at this time. Must this fact hinder and thus put off meeting and visiting his family?

A: In the first place, a ring is not necessary in order to be engaged, and even if you are not engaged it will be quite proper to spend a few days with the young man's parents if you are invited to do so by his mother.

Q: When using the typewriter to write a letter to a friend, may the signature also be typed, or must one sign the letter by hand?

A: Always sign letters by hand. A typed signature is very rude. The only occasion when it is permissible is when it is printed below a hand-to-read signature, for information.

Q: My fiancé's father is serving as best man at our wedding. He asked me to find out from you whether or not he should give his father a present.

A: Yes, I think he should. His father will surely be pleased to receive something he can use or wear that will remind him of his important part in the wedding.

The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes details on the wedding procession, the receiving line and other helpful wedding information. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

To Meet Friday

Members of Pontiac Rebekah Lodge No. 450 will meet for their first gathering of the season Friday, 8 p.m., at the Bemis-Olsen Annexes Post No. 113 on Oakland Avenue. A cooperative dinner at 6 p.m. will precede the meeting.

Our Food Editor Learning About Tea and Sauerkraut

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

NEW YORK CITY—Can you imagine having 250 or 300 sips of tea every day? That's what Herbert Lear, chief taster and assistant tea buyer of Lipton Tea Company, does daily.

Lear, an Englishman, gave a demonstration of the way he tests tea Wednesday afternoon in the Lipton hospitality suite. Each kind of tea is brewed exactly six minutes. The tea is poured into a cup and the leaves are placed on the reversed teapot top.

TASTE A FACTOR
Fragrance, color and brightness all play a part in Lear's valuation of the tea.

One interesting fact is that the terms "polon" and "orange pekoe" refer to the size of the tea leaves, not the variety of tea.

Tea may be the universal drink of the world, but sufficient food is not universal. Two-thirds of the world's population goes to bed hungry every night. What can be done about it?

Alistair Cooke, writer, lecturer, radio-TV personality, and chief of the U. S. Bureau of the Manchester Guardian, announced in a talk Tuesday that a liaison has been formed between the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations and the food processing industry of the United States.

Corn Products Company led the way with a program of helping to improve the corn cereal eaten in Mexico.

Many of our readers will have seen the climax of the Pillsbury bake-off on the air Tuesday. It is always a suspense-filled half hour.

The star of the show was the emcee: Mrs. Eisenhauer, but the youngest contestant, a 12-year-old boy who walked off with junior honors with a recipe for a pizza-like casserole.

Tuesday evening we had a peaceful interlude at the Tavern-on-the-Green, up in Central Park. It was warm enough to be out of doors.

The National Biscuit Company, our hosts, was introducing its "sociables" crackers. And in a series of shadow boxes around the outside walls the company's chocolate cookies were presented against a background of authentic Brazilian objects.

It was probably the first time that a Burns detective found himself guarding a plate of chocolate cookies. They were piled on a handsome silver plate next to the old bottle of Brazilian champagne in the U. S.

On for dinner to the charming Terrace Room of the Plaza Hotel. It was the perfect setting for gracious dining with its magnificent crystal chandeliers reflected in the mirrored walls.

Other new products that have been presented in the past two days are Cut-Rite Plastic Wrap (easy to use and inexpensive), two new Knorr soups, Lax's seasoned pepper and Metrol soup.

Yesterday's sessions were concluded by one with Gerber baby foods and the 25th anniversary dinner of Pennington Farm products. Michigan's Dan Gerber was on hand to tell us about the new research building recently started in Fremont.

Mrs. Margaret Rudkin, president of Pepperidge Farm, Inc., shared with us some of her trials and triumphs of the past quarter century.

Two more days... most of us are getting our second wind about now.

Carrying out the red and white theme during the club's Avenue of Fashion showing were gaily dressed flower vendors such as Sherree Wright of Detroit who were matched in color by the equally gay tablecloths and cards spilling over with carnations. Mrs. Matthew Clevers of Orchard Lake accepts a corsage from Sherree.

Garden Association Opens Season

Mrs. Arthur R. Young opened her new East Hammond Lake home to members of the Pontiac Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association Monday afternoon for the first meeting of the season.

Mrs. William B. Hartman, president, announced that Mrs. Robert G. Isgrigg and Mrs. John H. Patterson will be co-chairmen of the annual Holiday

Tea to be held Nov. 28 in the auditorium of First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland on West Huron Street.

Mrs. Hartman then introduced Mrs. Howard Shelley who spoke on "Homes and Gardens in Alaska." Mrs. Shelley described her visits to the "Siberia," relating many of their experiences and hardships, and exhibiting examples of Alaskan handicraft.

Mrs. Arthur W. Selden and Mrs. John E. Windiate presided at the tea services following the meeting. Mrs. J. Alfred Hubbard arranged the floral centerpiece.

Chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Clifford T. Eklund was assisted by Mrs. Robert A. Armstrong, Mrs. Basil E. Brown, Mrs. Harold B. Eiler, Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Mac T. Whitfield, and Mrs. Stuart E. Whitfield.

Alpha Beta Chapter of Delta Gamma International Society installed new members during Tuesday's meeting, and viewed slides of the Telstar project during guest speaker Robert McAttee's talk.

New members installed were Mrs. Harold Gillow, Mrs. Charles Martin, Mary Lou Robinson and Mrs. Earl Hopeworth. Mrs. Edie Welch and her committee conducted the initiation.

Hostesses for the evening program and buffet at Airway Lanes were Mrs. Harold J. Northern, Mrs. J. P. Kinella, Mrs. Albert Kohn, Hazel Potts, Mabel Double and Catherine Hartman.

Pick Delegates for Convention

Delegates to the National Blue Sanderson Street home of Mrs. Star Mothers' Convention were Mrs. Elva Amidon for their luncheon appointed when Pontiac Chapter and social. Plans were made to No. 4 Blue Star Mothers of America continue sewing for Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Christine Yungke was appointed delegate to the November convention held in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Ethyl Dennis is also the Hazel Park Unit No. 17 in terms.

During the meeting Mrs. C. D. Shaver of Lake Orion was initiated into the group Oct. 2 at her home on Matthews Street home.

The Women's Association of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra honored Felix Resnick, conductor, and Mrs. Resnick, at a luncheon Wednesday in Devon Gables Tea Room.

Mrs. Horace C. Hall welcomed the members and named officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Resnick was introduced by Mrs. Dora S. Dawson who commented on his fine musical background, his musicianship and his contribution to this community as a talented conductor of an outstanding orchestra.

As speaker of the day, Mr. Resnick gave a resume of the programs to be played by the orchestra this season and spoke of the guest artists.

These include several members of the Michigan Opera Company in their presentation of portions of "La Boheme," by Puccini, at the opening concert Oct. 10.

Roma Riddell, soprano, will be heard Nov. 27 and Elyse Yockey, harpist, will appear Jan. 29 and Mischa Mischakoff, violinist, on March 5. Dr. Walter Collins will direct the Michigan State University Oakland chorus of 125 voices in concert on April 30.

The great difference between conducting a professional orchestra and a civic group, according to Mr. Resnick is that in the former case musicians perform as professionals and in the latter they participate for the sheer joy of playing.

Dr. Leo Wasserman, chairman of ticket sales this season, was also present and enlisted the assistance of the group in ticket distribution in this area.

Mrs. John R. Slavsky of Down Ridge, Orchard Lake, will open her home Nov. 12 for the second meeting of the association, with Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer as guest speaker.

Mrs. Collis A. Scott of Franklin Boulevard, Mrs. Dora S. Dawson of South Tilden Avenue and Mrs. Horace Hall of Navajo Drive (left to right) scan a scrapbook of the Women's Association of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra prior to Wednesday's luncheon in Devon Gables Tea Room. The association honored Felix Resnick, conductor of the symphony, and guest speaker following the luncheon, which included his resume of the season's programs.

Films Incite to Violence? Baloney! Says Bad Guy Actor

By DORIS KLEIN (For Bob Thomas)

"Newton Minow and the PTA don't know what violence is," he growled.

"What we need is more violence." Marvin, who is too easy-going to strike a woman, wanted to make it clear that he wasn't afraid that opposition, from the federal communications commission or parent-teacher groups, would hurt him in his lucrative career as a film bad man.

"This business of films inciting people to violence is a lot of nonsense," said he.

"You don't see real brutality in films. Most of it is in the audience's mind."

"One of the most violent moments in films is Frank Sinatra's fight scene in 'From Here to Eternity.' And all you saw was the two guys' feet. The rest was left up to the imagination."

"You take this brawl I get into with John Wayne in 'Donovan's Reef.' It's really a farce. But when we get through, John Ford, the director, said, 'now they'll think they've seen a helluva fight.'"

IN ISLAND BAR
The cinematic brawl, in a South Sea island bar run by John Wayne, is between Wayne, Marvin and a contingent of Australian servicemen. Neither Wayne nor Marvin used stand-ins. The result: 190-pound, 6-foot-2½ Marvin sent 232-pound, 6-foot-4 Wayne sailing through a breakfast table, smack on an old back injury.

"It's really a very funny fight," said Marvin. "When we've got through, you really think you've seen one."

"But the best part is when you are making the scene. Everyone goes sprawling. But when the director cuts, they all pick themselves up and stroll out."

"That kind of fight wouldn't deter anyone from violence. It's too much of a farce."

Marvin's fighting experience? He got his jumps in preliminaries on the sidewalks of New York's 12th Street as a kid and in the South Pacific as a Marine during World War II.

NO TROUBLE
His make-believe brawling — even during his television run as a Chicago detective on "M Squad" — doesn't give him any trouble off screen.

"I'm a pretty loose guy. If I'm in a bar and someone tries to put me on, I just say, 'C'mon fella, have a drink.'"

"But if I said, 'I'm gonna push your nose all over your face, now, he'd start swinging.'"

Marvin jabbed a left over the coffee. I ducked.

Trees ripen just like farm crops. If they become overripe, they start to decay and become subject to attack by insect and disease. The farmers harvest trees when they are ripe, making way for a new crop.

Garry Moore Sued by Catcher of Maris' '59th'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television personality Garry Moore was sued for $50,000 yesterday by a man from his home town of Baltimore, who alleged Moore slandered him in a broadcast.

The suit was brought in Federal Court here by Robert S. Reitz, who caught the 60th home run ball New York Yankee star Roger Maris hit Sept. 21, 1961, in a game against the Baltimore Orioles.

Maris asked Reitz if he could have the ball, but Reitz refused. Instead Reitz sold the ball to Sports Boosters of Maryland for $500 and donated the money to charity.

Moore, on his Oct. 2, 1961, "I've Got a Secret" television show, interviewed Sal Durante, who caught the record-breaking 61st home run hit by Maris. During the interview the allegedly slanderous remark was made.

Three of the best known Pilgrims, Myles Standish and John and Priscilla Alden, didn't live in Plymouth. They made their homes in Duxbury, across Plymouth Bay.

47ers Find Detroit to Be 'Home'

San Francisco Poor on Road, but Not Here

John Brodie Recalls '60 Encounter Which Helped His Position

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Detroit Lions may be the home team Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers, but they are not the home team in the minds of the 49ers' players and fans. The 49ers' record in Detroit is 1-1, but they are not the home team in the minds of the 49ers' players and fans.

John Brodie, who played for the 49ers in 1960, recalls the encounter which helped his position. He was a key player in the 49ers' victory over the Lions in 1960.

The Detroit Lions have been considered a poor road team since joining the NFL in 1960, but they are not the home team in the minds of the 49ers' players and fans.

Even 4th Place Remote for Tigers

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Only other hit as Stigman became the seventh consecutive Tiger to go the route and raised his season's record to 11-5.

By winning Tuesday night's game, the Tigers moved up to 4th place in the American League East.

Starter-losing Hank Aguirre, Bill Paul, Bob Humphreys and Ron Kline walked a total of 11, but three batters and were touched for 12 hits. Aguirre now is 14-8.

Aguirre left at the end of the fourth, having given up four runs, walking five and hitting two batters. Young Paul, a reliever up from Knoxville, fell into trouble in the sixth and was relieved by Humphreys after he'd walked home the inning's first.

The Chicago White Sox fanned the Tigers to a game and a half with a 2-1 decision over Boston last night.

While the Tigers had three home runs and a double, they topped southpaw Dick Stigman for only one other hit, a single, and every man they sent to the mound turned into a scatterball pitcher.

Even some of the tosses that entered the strike zone got fairly well scattered, too. Harmon Killebrew put one into the right field bleachers and drove another home 375 feet into left field. Vic Power also homered — and before three men aboard in a seven-run sixth inning.

Killebrew's homers were No. 41 and No. 42 and raised his run batted-in total to 113, making him the league leader in both home runs and RBI.

Norman Ahn hit one of Detroit's homers, his 38th, and it was a solo home run. Kline's double in the second and gave Detroit a 2-1 edge at that point.

Billy Bruns homered for the Tigers in the sixth and Steve Boros in the ninth.

Dick McCallie got Detroit's first hit in the eighth.

second run. Paul left the bases full, and Power unloaded them as the first man facing Humphreys.

Detroit's rookie third baseman Frank Kustro was struck on the right jaw by a hard smash off Bob Allison's bat in the third inning and was removed from the lineup when he became dizzy. He was sent to a hospital for x-rays, although he didn't appear seriously injured.

In the final of their current three-game series today, the Tigers planned to pitch Phil Regan (10-9) and the Twins Jim Kaat (11-13).

Houston 3rd baseman Bob Aspromonte set a National League consecutive game fielding record yesterday without playing. A doubleheader was rained out but since one game was to complete a previously suspended game, the earlier contest was considered an official game giving him $7 with an error. The AL mark is 73.

The Little Brown Jug was to be held today at Delaware, Ohio with its latest field in history. It is the 3rd jewel in the piling's triple crown.

Grover Rensing has been named manager of Tulsa in the Texas League following the firing of Whitey Kurowski by the St. Louis Cardinals. The Giants have named Andy Gilbert to head their Springfield, Mass. arm club.

'Kids' in U.S. Amateur Spotlight

WALKING ALONG — Deane Beman totes an iron in his caddy as he prepares to putt on the 5th green of the National Amateur at Pinehurst. Beman, the 1960 champion from Bethesda, Md., drew Romero Blanca in the 4th round after ousting Bill Farish of Pebble Beach, Calif. Blanca eliminated Beman in 24 holes in their afternoon match.

Such matches as former champions Dick Chapman, Harvey Ward and Deane Beman and Dr. Edgar Updegraff and Marlon McElvinn, semifinalist last year, went out during the third and fourth rounds Wednesday.

Beman was vanquished by Romero Blanca, 24, of the University of Houston, in a 34-hole marathon in the fourth round after each had breezed to victory in the morning.

Blanca, runnerup for the national collegiate title last June, survived five previous rounds of death statistics aided by Beman's inferior putting, and knocked in a 20-foot birdie putt on the sixth extra hole.

Blanca opened the fifth round today against the "baby" of the field, 18-year-old Dave Mard, Massachusetts schoolboy champion from Milton, who is going to sharpen his game this winter while serving as a bellboy on the staff of a nearby resort hotel.

Patton went up against John McKey Jr., 19, of Orlando, Fla., and Duke University, who won a pair of 1-up matches from Don Albert, a semifinalist nine years ago, and Dick Chapman, the 1960 champion.

The other four spots in the upper half of the draw all were filled by college stars. Larry Harris Jr., 20, of Oklahoma State, won of the professional golfer, met 22-year-old Sikes. The championship

WOLVERINE BOWS
Perry Cullinan of Washington, D.C., a 27-year-old mortgage broker who never before advanced beyond the first round, followed against husky Bill Newcomb, 22, of the University of Michigan and Royal Center, Ind.

Smith was paired with Paul Desjardins, 20, who is playing out this semester at the University of Miami. He's the son of Pete Desjardins, Olympic diver of a quarter century ago.

Jim Colbert, 21, a Kansas State junior from Prairie Village, Kan., who equaled par twice in winning Wednesday, played against Downing Gray, 24, of Warrington, Fla., an insurance salesman.

The 36-hole double winners move into 36-hole semifinals Friday, with 36 more for the championship match Saturday over the 7,051-yard, par 72 No. 2 course of the country club.
