

Here's 10-Year Story of Your Auto Dollar

Reprinted from U.S. News & World Report, an independent weekly news magazine published at Washington. Copyright 1958 by United States News Publishing Corporation.

The average price of a new American car at this time is $2,833. Ten years ago the average price of a new car was $1,888, or $945 less than now.

Who gets those $945 additional dollars? Also, how is the money that a buyer pays for a car actually divided up?

The accompanying tables help to give answers to those questions. Facts that underlie the tables are based upon annual reports of General Motors Corporation, upon official U.S. statistics of income, and upon reports of the Automobile Manufacturers Association and the National Auto Dealers Association. The figures cover the manufacturer's role in making a car and also the dealer's role in getting it to the customer.

WHAT LABOR GETS

Wages, salaries, bonuses, fringe benefits and commis-

Average Car 10 Years Ago

Cost of Labor	$531
Taxes	383
Material, services	748

Labor cost was 28 cents out of every $1 of the sales price. Materials and services, including advertising, took 40 cents. Net profits represented 12 cents.

sions paid to employees of manufacturers and dealers account for $916 of the $2,833 that a customer pays today for a new car. That is an increase of $385 over the $531 that went to the employees when a new car cost $1,888.

Thus, more than one third of the increase in price is due to increases in direct labor costs.

The manufacturer's bill for wages, salaries and fringe benefits has gone up by about $185, or more than 50 per cent during the decade.

The dealer's pay to salesmen, clerical help and the men in the garage has increased about $200, and is now more than double that of 1948.

COSTS OF MATERIALS

Automobile companies buy materials for the car; they purchase many of its parts and accessories from other manufacturers; they pay for national advertising. Dealers pay for transportation from the factory to the showroom and for local advertising.

Average Car Today
Delivered Price	$2,833
Cost of Labor	$916
Taxes	462
Material, services	1,264
Wear on plants, tools	90
Profit after taxes	161
Labor cost is now 32 cents out of the sales dollar. Materials and services have gone up to 42 cents. Net profits are down to 6 cents.

For such goods and services, the cost comes to about $1,204 on the average new car. Ten years ago, these goods and services accounted for $748 of the purchase price. The increase in cost in these elements, therefore, is $456, or not far from one half of the rise in price over the 10-year period.

Much of that increase in cost stems, in turn, from increases in wages and salaries of the companies producing raw materials, parts and accessories.

Some is due to the fact that the present-day car is bigger and more complex and, hence, takes more material, more parts and more labor.

The quantity of steel in the average car today is not much greater than it was 10 years ago—roughly 1.8 tons. The cost of that steel has gone up from $99 to $172. This is the largest single increase in raw-material costs.

Taxes account for the next-largest slice of the cost of

5 Reasons Why She's 'Mother of the Year'

PROUD MOM — Pontiac's "Mother of the Year," Mrs. Marilyn Bigger, 31, poses with the five reasons she was awarded the title by the Downtown Pontiac Assn. In back, from left, are Alexander III, 9, and Lynn, 11. In front are John, 5, Genevieve, 2, and Gloria, 8. Mrs. Bigger will receive her crown at 9:10 p.m. tomorrow at the Oakland Theater.

Downtown Merchants Honor Mother of Year Here Sunday

Pontiac's "Mother of the Year" has five good reasons why she deserves the title.

Line Mrs. Marilyn Bigger, 31, up with her children and it's evident why the Downtown Pontiac Association is going to present her with the 1958 crown at 9:10 p.m. tomorrow at the Oakland Theater.

Her husband, Alexander A. Bigger Jr., 34, deserves some credit, too, of course.

graduated from the Ovosso Bible College.

She came to Pontiac afterwards to work as a nursing attendant. She met her future husband here shortly after his discharge from the Army. The couple was married 13 years ago and has lived in their present home for the last 12 years.

Raising five children doesn't leave Mrs. Bigger much time for outside activities. Yet she's busy with church work four or five times a week.

If she needs more than five good reasons to retain her crown, Mrs. Bigger is prepared.

She expects to have a sixth on hand in September.

Prepares for Final Concert

Famed High School Band Had Modest Start in '27

By SYLVIA de STEIGER

There's been quite a few changes made since 1927 when less than a dozen Pontiac teenagers walked into the high school auditorium with ambitions of forming a band.

That fall was the first time instrumental music could be included in a student's curriculum in Pontiac. It was the first time the young people got together and learned music on school time . . . during a regular class five days a week.

Friday this band, which now numbers 80 teenagers, will present its 31st and final Spring Band Concert. Next fall, the band will be divided because of the building of a second high school in Pontiac.

The history of a band at the high school goes back to the early 1920's when S. M. Dudley, a mathematics teacher, met with the boys and girls after school on a club basis. About 1925, Howard Monger was hired as an instrumental teacher to cover all of the elementary and secondary Pontiac public schools. By then, high schoolers were meeting three days per week.

Eale C. Harris, supervisor of instrumental music of Pontiac schools, has been conductor of the band since it was organized 31 years ago.

Since then, the instrumental teaching staff has grown from one to 11 and each have their duties instructing various sections of this award winning band.

According to Harris, the schools instrument supply has grown from one bass, two French horns, a

Judge Defies Supreme Court

Refuses to Budge From Saginaw Circuit Bench in Historic Dispute

LANSING (AP) — An historic dispute involving the powers of the State Supreme Court appeared in the making today as a circuit judge stood firm in his refusal to bow to the high court's wishes.

Although split, the Supreme Court renewed insistence yesterday that Judge Eugene Snow Huff, presiding judge of the Saginaw circuit, comply with its instructions that he sit in Detroit for a month starting Monday.

JUDGE REFUSES

Huff has notified the court he "respectfully" refused to do so. He said he planned to report for duty as usual in Saginaw.

Chief Justice John R. Dethmers said that when he advised Huff

All About Men! Watch for 1st Chapter in Press Monday

by telephone late yesterday that the high court "expects" him to yield the Saginaw judge did not back away from his written refusal.

"He did not say one way or the other," Dethmers told newsmen.

Presumably, continued refusal might lead to contempt proceedings.

Justice Dethmers referred to the transfer arrangement as an "agreement voluntarily entered into" at a conference in Saginaw on April 28.

He acknowledged, however, that the assignment of Huff to the Wayne County circuit bench, and the naming of Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn of Caro as his temporary successor as presiding judge, had the force of an order.

Dethmers said he was notified by Judge Quinn that the Caro judge would present himself at the Circuit Court chambers in Saginaw on Monday prepared to assume duties under the assignment order.

Two days after the Saginaw conference, Justice Dethmers said the purpose of the reassignments "is to have Judge Quinn work with the assignment clerk to have cases brought on for trial more rapidly."

Sullenberger Files Appeal to High Court

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger has filed an appeal with the Michigan Supreme Court of the decision by Circuit Judge Timothy Quinn dismissing his damage suit against the Pontiac General Hospital Board.

The doctor's attorney, Harry N. Dell, of Royal Oak, said today the appeal will be heard in the October term of the high court, with a decision possible around Dec. 1.

Old Trick Pays Off

GLASGOW, Scotland (INS) — A girl employee of the Royal Bank of Scotland was walking through the bank carrying a basket of cash. A quiet little man stopped her and called her attention to something on the floor.

She looked. Nothing there. She looked again. Nothing there, either. The little man had disappeared and so had $2,800 in bills from her basket.

Fisher to Keep Tool, Die Unit

Denies Union's Charge of Plans to Suspend Department Here

Fisher Body Division yesterday made public a brief denial of UAW charges that the die room at the division's Pontiac plant was about to be closed, throwing some 500 workers out of jobs.

The division's announcement came after a meeting of General Motors Corp. executives and representatives of Fisher Body Local 596, UAW to discuss the charges. The announcement read:

"Fisher Body Division announced today that tool and die activities at the Pontiac plant are being continued. The level of employment in this activity, as well as others, will depend upon the requirements of the business and many other factors which are unknown or indefinite at the present time.

"The Fisher local was advised of this Friday afternoon at a meeting held in Pontiac."

Signs Indicate U.S. Pulling Out of Slump

WASHINGTON (INS) — The nation's economy showed signs on four key fronts today that it may be ready to move out of the recession doldrums.

The indicators were an increase in homebuilding and retail sales, a rise in farm employment and a drop in unemployment benefit claims for the second straight week.

The Federal Housing Administration said 19,471 mortgage insurance applications were received in April. This is the second highest monthly figure in FHA's history, topped only by 89,764 in May, 1950.

Some 22,000 new dwellings were started in April under FHA's mortgage guarantee program, an increase of 25 per cent over March.

The Veterans Administration reported that 24,800 appraisal requests on new homes were made in April under its GI loan program, a 195 per cent jump over March.

And the business leaders did not agree on whether the government should stand pat on taxes or ask Congress to cut income tax rates as a booster for business.

A special seven-member anti-recession committee of the BAC, named in April at Weeks' request to recommend a prescription for recovery, came up yesterday with a report proposing:

1. That President Eisenhower call on industry and labor for a voluntary, one year moratorium on both wage boosts and price increases.
2. That no tax reduction be asked now, but that "if the decline in general consumption continues, a report proposing:

The dedication will be made by Dr. William J. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church. A large gathering of hospital, city and area officials is expected to be on hand. They will be feted by the board at a reception tea after the ceremonies.

The public is invited to inspect the new facilities. Open House tours will be conducted by the women's auxiliary every half hour from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams was to strike off for the east today after taking part in the Blossom Festival at Benton Harbor.

The Governor had a date tonight in Rochester, N.Y., to speak to the Monroe County Democratic Committee. Early Sunday, he planned to fly to Cleveland, Ohio, for a Polish Constitution Day celebration.

His schedule called for a return to Lansing late Sunday, followed by a plane trip to Seney in the Upper Peninsula, where he expected to spend most of Monday fishing.

Papers Signed by Lincoln Lost in Library Fire

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — A wealth of Illinois historical documents, some papers signed by Abraham Lincoln among them, was lost last night in a fire that destroyed the Galesburg Public Library.

Loss of the 57-year-old building and the 122,000 volumes it housed was estimated at one million dollars.

Failure of two of the city's five water wells hampered efforts to quell the blaze. Firemen were able to play only a single hose on flames licking upward to the second floor where the Lincoln papers and other historical items were stored in a vault.
