Cuban Police Seize University 'Arsenal'

HAVANA (INS)—Cuban police today seized Havana University, alleged arsenal for a student attempt to assassinate President Fulgencio Batista in a revolt that cost nearly 100 casualties.

Forty-six persons may have been killed in the abortive uprising.

Police Commander Col. Martin Perez said a "considerable amount" of arms — machineguns, grenades, rifles and bullets — was confiscated in the raid on the university.

The university is autonomous, with its own police force, but Havana police took it over, along with its hospital, Calixto Garcia.

Batista, it was revealed, personally directed the defense of the palace yesterday from his office. He had a pistol in one hand, a telephone in the other.

This morning, with the revolt crushed and the city almost returned to normal, the president was at Camp Columbia, where he has a home. He went there last night after emerging unharmed from the invasion of the palace.

BUSINESS RESUMES

Havana, which had the appearance of a siege yesterday, was almost normal today. Business life resumed, with shops open, but schools were closed.

Local newspapers reported a death toll of 35 to 40 in the uprising blamed on adherents of former President Carlos Prío Socarrás, Communists, and uni-

Witness Pleads 5th Amendment in Racket Quiz

Refuses to Say When He First Met Gambler James Elkins

WASHINGTON (AP)—William Langley, Multnomah County, (Portland) district attorney, today invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions before the Senate committee investigating rackets.

He refused to answer questions as to whether he had had interests in gambling establishments. He was confronted with purported recordings of his own conversations with racketeers.

Langley was called to the witness chair in an atmosphere of tension and excitement stemming from the arrest last night of James R. Hoffa, vice president of the giant Teamsters Union on charges of scheming to plant a lawyer on the committee's staff to keep him informed of its plans and findings.

In reference to this charge against Hoffa, Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said the committee was prepared to meet any attempted interference from any source.

"We'll probably encounter other obstacles, other difficulties, more interference," McClellan said, "but I want to assure those who plan such courses that we'll meet them and accept the challenge and deal with them accordingly."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) put in, "Goon squad methods applied to the U. S. Senate will not work."

MEMO TO CAESAR

Jesus Recruits Followers

(Eighth in a Lenten Series)

Again, Caesar, I dispense with the usual greeting to report promptly that the Nazarene, Jesus, is recruiting followers. This may be a serious matter.

Our agent Junius says that hundreds of people gather whenever the man pauses to preach or teach, and he is no longer doing so just in places of worship, but by the roadside, in homes, or anywhere he happens to be.

The news is abroad widely that he has healed many sick persons. This alone is enough to bring great groups of anxious friends and relatives of the feeble and infirm wherever he goes. More than this though, many persons come just to hear his magical voice and his interpretation of the ancient scriptures by means of parables which all can understand.

Having heard him, quite a few of these people are ready to give up their families and their business and follow him in this cause.

Charged With Bribery

Took Over Local Here

Hoffa Was Central Figure in Local Teamster Fight

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL Jr.

The name of James R. Hoffa—arrested yesterday by the FBI on an attempted bribery charge—is not an unfamiliar one in Pontiac labor circles.

Hoffa's name can be linked to the turbulent history of the AFL Teamsters Local 614 here, whose members can well remember back to 1949 when two bomb blasts shattered the previous harmony of the history of the local.

Hoffa, 44, stepped into the local's affairs, under orders of International President Dave Beck, and placed it under trusteeship because of its local officers' faced extortion and conspiracy charges. This was in October, 1953.

The two officers, Daniel J. Keating and Louis C. Lintean, pleaded guilty later to accepting bribes in connection with labor contracts. (Keating last year was charged with income tax evasion.)

After stripping Keating and Lintean of their power, Hoffa named himself trustee. This caused a split in Local 614's membership. Opponents of Hoffa and his self-appointed officers circulated petitions asking for their ouster.

Hoffa's foes and their families were threatened with physical violence because of their efforts to drive him from Pontiac.

OPPOSITION GREW

Accused of Attempting to Get Senate Secrets

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit newspaper said today Atty. Gen. Thomas N. Kavanagh had disclosed evidence that the Teamsters Union forced Detroit union officers to wear hidden wire recorders when they went before a one-man grand jury here in 1953.

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, reputed to be the real power in the giant Teamsters Union, was arrested last night on a charge of trying to bribe a lawyer to feed him secrets from the Senate investigation into labor racketeering.

He quickly posted $25,000 bond and was released pending a hearing March 28.

Almost simultaneously the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested Hyman I. Fischbach, 47, a Miami, Fla., lawyer, on related charges of bribery. He made bond on the spot at his Coral Gables home.

Also taken into custody, at Detroit, was Hoffa's red-haired 34-year-old secretary, Mrs. Dorothy P. Dobrescu, held only as a material witness.

She was held under $5,000 bond on a detaining order which said there was a "likelihood she might flee" to avoid testifying.

Today Hoffa denied any wrongdoing and said he will "fight this case until I am cleared."

He left a conference with his attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, to read a brief statement to reporters.

Hoffa refused to answer questions, saying he didn't "want to try my case or present my defense in the newspapers."

"I have been in the labor movement all my life and have had to fight labor's battles on the picket lines and in the courts against the forces opposed to trade unionism," Hoffa said.

"This is not the first instance when a labor leader has been unjustly accused."

The accusation against Hoffa, 44-year-old vice president of the Teamsters Union, was that he hired John Cye Cheasty, a New York attorney, to get a job with the Senate committee and provide Hoffa with information from committee files. The Senate group's inquiry so far has centered on Teamster affairs.

INFORMED PROBERS

Cheasty, the FBI announced, ostensibly took Hoffa's offer but actually informed the committee and the FBI and cooperated fully with them in the month since he was approached.

The FBI said when Hoffa was arrested at his Washington hotel he had important committee papers which were delivered to him only a short time before.

The FBI did not immediately disclose the alleged connection of Fischbach and Mrs. Dobrescu with the matter.

Soon after Hoffa's arrest, he was taken before U.S. Commissioner James Spain on charges of violating the federal bribery statutes. Spain ordered Hoffa freed in $25,000 bond pending a hearing before the commissioner March 28. Hoffa's lawyer protested the bond was excessive. After the proceeding, Hoffa declined comment.

Buses to Stop in Port Huron; 'Losing Money'

PORT HURON (AP) — The Port Huron Bus Co. today notified the city it will cease operation March 30 because of revenue losses.

"Revenue has declined to the extent that the company has been operating at a loss," said company owner Jack Peaton.

"Muskegon, Ann Arbor and Michigan City, Ind., are other cities caught in the same squeeze," he said. "In those cities, however, the cities are subsidizing the bus service."

City Manager J. F. Gibbs said, "Ann Arbor has been subsidizing bus service, but has also found it to be unprofitable." Gibbs said he understands Ann Arbor has put three proposals on the April 1 ballot designed to let voters choose which method they want to subsidize buses.

He said the proposals are: 1. Public ownership. 2. A $150,000 bond issue to purchase equipment. 3. An increased tax levy above Ann Arbor charter limitation to operate bus service.

Keeper of the Doors

For $16,500 — Gee Whiz!

WASHINGTON — The Capitol's well-paid doorkeepers drew the ire of Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) today.

"If we're going to cut the budget, this is a good place to start," said Broomfield, who represents Oakland County.

Broomfield said the present House of Representatives doorkeeper, William M. Miller, draws a salary of $16,500.

His duties are to greet foreign dignitaries and introduce them to Congressmen.

Because the Democrats are in control of the House, Miller earns $4,000 a year more than his Republican counterpart. "Yes, the Republicans have one too," said Broomfield.

He is Tom Kennamer, paid a salary of $12,500 annually. Tom doesn't have "much of anything" to do while the Democrats are in control of the doors. He is waiting until the Republicans win control so he can go back to his former job as "majority" doorkeeper.

Novi Annexation Voided by Doty

Rules That Vote Fraud Cancels Takeover by City of Northville

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty today held that a vote fraud voided annexation by Northville of a 95-acre Novi Township parcel.

As a result, the area — in Oakland County just north of Eight Mile road — reverts to its status before a special election last June 21.

Judge Doty also ruled that the election was illegally delayed by the secretary of state. He noted that petitions had been filed under one law and the election granted under another law a year later.

The annexation had been favored overwhelmingly by Northville voters. Residents in the affected township area voted for it five to one.

The judge ruled on evidence brought out in trial Jan. 3 that at least four if not all of the township votes for annexation had been obtained by fraud.

AGREEMENT SIGNED

Records showed two of the residents had signed an agreement with a Detroit building firm to vote and work for the annexation.

The agreement was between John C. Burkman, 535 E. Eight Mile Rd., and his wife, Ruth, in an option with the D&R Building Co., 1740 James Couzens Highway, to buy their property at $2,000 an acre.

The Burkman, the judge ruled, influenced the vote of their son, Conrad, and of William and Lena Sample, a couple then living in another home owned by the Burkman at 325 E. Eight Mile Rd.

The suit was brought by a small steel stamping firm in the disputed area, the Warren Products Co., 637 Eight Mile Rd. The company maintained municipal taxes would be an overburden.

Lansing Favors 5 County Judges

Report Compromise Bill Requires Filling Seat
in 1938 Election

A compromise bill for a fifth Oakland County Circuit Judge was reported favorably out of the House Judiciary Committee in Lansing yesterday.

It calls for election of the new judge in November, 1938.

Rep. Farrell E. Roberts, Republican of West Bloomfield Township, said he expects the county's six legislators will sponsor the legislation before the House.

The effort towards non-partisan result in amendment of an original bill introduced by Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, Democrat of Pontiac.

Hudson's bill called for a Democratic appointment in January.

elect district attorney with backing from the Steamers Union, gave the committee his background readily.

REFUSES TO REPLY

But when asked when he first met James B. Elkins, Portland, Ore., gambler, the 41-year-old Langley said: "I respectfully refuse to answer the question under my rights under the Fifth Amendment."

Elkins has been the major witness heard by the committee. He told the senators that some Teamsters Union bosses sought to "muscle in" on profits from Portland vice and rackets and were in alliance with Langley.

Langley, when he took the stand, said he was a native of Portland, born there in 1896. He asked that no photographs be taken of him while on the stand.

He related that he had been associated with his father, a former Multnomah County district attorney, in law practice and for a time was an assistant U. S. district attorney in Oregon.

Langley said he was elected district attorney for a term beginning in January 1935 and running to 1939.

CONSPIRACY CHARGES

Langley told the committee he himself is under indictment in Oregon under three charges of conspiracy.

As soon as Langley invoked the Fifth Amendment, McClellan asked him whether "if you honestly told the truth, the truth thereof might tend to incriminate you?"

"In the setting, the answer might tend to incriminate me," Langley replied.

"Do you mean to reflect on this setting?" McClellan pressed.

"Not on the committee," Langley said.

Prodded by McClellan and Mundi for more complete explanation of what he meant by "the setting," Langley said he was simply quoting the language of the Supreme Court.

Continue to Search for Body of Boy, 2

DETROIT (INS) — Searchers continued to drag the Rouge River for missing Bruce Cope, 2½, today in the belief the boy fell into the water.

Police believe Bruce toppled into the river at a spot across the road from his Redford Township home. He disappeared from his back yard late Tuesday afternoon.

Sgt. Ellis J. Potter, commander of the Redford State Police Post, said:

"Everything points to the boy's drowning."

"As a precaution, however, six of our men have been checking the neighborhood for indications the lad was kidnapped."

A second dam was built today to lower waters further. One dam was built yesterday to enable searchers to walk abreast along the river's course.

"Weaver had a good first 24 hours," Dr. Blodgett said. "He ate. His pulse, temperature and blood pressure are good."

Plan Ample Space for Future Storage

With the passing years your family will need more and more storage space. Be sure that your new home has more than enough space for your present needs. Keep these points in mind: 1. Storage for various items should be located where the articles will be used. 2. Storage is best when built into the wall, keeping as many things as possible off awkward shelves and racks. 3. For heavier or frequently used items, a durable material should line the storage area. 4. Storage should be dimensioned to fit specific articles.

of the steps that the gangster elements are undertaking and will continue to undertake to hinder, hamper, obstruct and destroy this committee."

The arrest of Hoffa, head of the Central States Conference of Teamsters, marked a dramatic new turn in the Senate probe, which thus far has been concentrating on allegations that West Coast Teamster officials allied themselves with underworld figures and some public officials in an effort to control vice and gambling.

Thus far, Hoffa's name has not figured in the committee's hearings, although the Senate Investigations subcommittee—which began an earlier probe along the same lines—announced in September it planned to talk with him.

The FBI said Hoffa "is reported to have hired" Cheasty Feb. 13 in Detroit, Hoffa's home city, to obtain a job with the special committee.

"At that time," the FBI said, "Hoffa paid Cheasty $1,000 and offered to pay him a total of $18,000 to report to him during the committee's investigation."

McClellan said in a statement: "The information came to us more than a month ago that Mr. Hoffa was undertaking to plant some one on the committee's staff to represent him, to give him information, to keep him informed of the committee's plans and of any information the committee might obtain or possess that would be of interest to him."

Kennedy said Cheasty had been on the committee staff for about three weeks.

VITAL DOCUMENTS

He described the documents involved in the case as "extremely important." He said they were given to Cheasty by the committee in the knowledge that they would be passed along.

Documents involved, Kennedy said, were "two staff interviews with certain key people, a copy of a telephone interview between a member of the staff and a future witness, and other documents."

The FBI said Cheasty "fully cooperated" in the investigation. McClellan voiced gratitude to Cheasty "for his great courage and patriotic devotion." He said Cheasty would stay with the committee "so far as I know."

Not only does he hold the Central States Conference, but he also controls the Teamster organization in the South and along a large part of the East Coast.

The U.S. Code section under which Hoffa is accused provides maximum penalties of three times the amount of an alleged bribe, three years imprisonment or both. Hoffa's bond was provided by a professional bondsman.

Go! Sinking Feeling—and Who Wouldn't?

George Washington Matteson, 445 Valencia Ave., had a sinking feeling yesterday while he was driving on Kenilworth street.

Investigation revealed that excavation work was done in the area last fall. The frozen loose dirt apparently had thawed out and decided to sink just when Matteson drove up.

U. S. Picks School Plan Designed by Local Firm

BIRMINGHAM—The Waldo E. Lessinger School in Oak Park, designed by Birmingham architect O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach has been selected by the U.S. Dept. of Health Education and Welfare, to be exhibited at the U.S. exhibit of school buildings at the 20th International Conference on Public Education in Geneva, Switzerland.

Selection was made from entries recently displayed at the American Assn. of School Administrators annual convention in Atlantic City. While on exhibit, the Lessinger School was awarded a seal for meritorious design.

The exhibit in Geneva will open in July for one year duration with about 75 countries participating in the display.

The building is a 16 room, one-story structure of contemporary design and was occupied in January of this year.

The model also will travel with the exhibit from Atlantic City to Washington, D. C., where it will be shown at Octagon of the American Institute of Architects, one of the events of the centennial anniversary of AIA.

Birmingham City Commissioners received an estimated bid of $103,800 for complete renovation of the unfinished portion of the Municipal Building.

Feeling the figure is higher than they care to tackle at the moment, commissioners have decided to receive package bids from which less important areas may be dropped if costs are still prohibitive.

Certain for finishing are the police areas and offices of the city.

Final payments totaling $193,000 were made today to eight area hospitals by the Ford Foundation as part of its $200 million program to improve hospital services in the United States.

In all, the eight institutions have received $386,000 from the foundation for expansion, modernization and the purchase of new equipment.

First payments were made about three months ago. The area hospitals that have benefited are listed below. The figures given are today's payments which are half the total grants:

Cranbrook Infirmary, Bloomfield Hills, $5,000; Sister Kenny Polio Hospital, Farmington, $10,250; Ardmore Hospital, Ferndale, $5,850; Mariette Community Hospital, Mariette, $8,150; Sessions Hospital, Northville, $8,300; St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, $98,000; Oakland Center Hospital, Royal Oak, $5,000; William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, $52,450.

Radar Device to Make Airport Traffic Safer

NEW YORK (AP)—Manufacturers of a new electronic radar system claim the device will easily handle the most complex traffic situations at crowded airports. The International Telephone & Telegraph Co. said it provides airport control towers with "practically instantaneous data on planes in flight," and simultaneously exchanges data and messages with pilots.

New Jersey is the only state whose governor serves for a three-year term.

To encourage its growers, Israel has imposed a duty on cotton exports.

Mayflower II to Duplicate Ancestor's Great Voyage

By ALVIN STEINKOFF
(For Hal Boyle)

BRIKHAM, England (AP) — Stuart A. Upham, a weatherbeaten man who believes in wood and canvas, is the builder of Mayflower II. She is a lady, Upham insists, a strong little ship which will duplicate this spring the voyage across the Atlantic made by the Pilgrim Fathers in 1620.

Mayflower II is in her essentials—looks, size and straining ropes—a copy of the sailing ship in which the Pilgrims ventured to the new world. The new vessel is a gift of the British people to the people of the United States.

MOST BEAUTIFUL
Upham and about 35 craftsmen have been working for about a year and a half. Upham sizes up the ship taking final form and says with affection gleaming in his eyes:

"A proper wooden ship is the most beautiful thing man ever created."

And what's the beginning of a good wooden ship?

"The acorn, of course," said Upham. "It's honest oak that we need to withstand the corrosion of salt water, and the battering of the sea."

Upham prowls the Devon and Cornwall countryside, looking for likely trees. They ought to be about 200 years old, and they do not have to be straight and stately. A sturdy, gnarled and twisted oak gladdens his heart, because a wooden ship needs bits and pieces of strange shapes.

Mayflower II is a ship of fine appearance, but not built with beauty a first consideration. It is a faithful copy, and the first Mayflower was a practical merchantman, a 180-ton freighter which hauled wine from the Mediterranean ports before the Pilgrims chartered her.

PRESENTABLE CRAFT
"Mayflower II is not grand as a schooner, or sleek as a yacht, but a very presentable craft," said Upham. "She's a bark, that's what she is. We put every emphasis we could into making this a rugged ship, and she will stand up to storms."

"Mayflower II is a live ship, daintily balanced and full of spirit. When we launched her last September, she slid down into the water eagerly, and then danced on the waves as if she were a ping pong ball. Then we pulled her back into the dry dock. It's her boudoir, where we are dressing her to go calling overseas."

"But she's been a headache. We've never built a 17th Century ship. We had excellent designs from A. Baker, the American naval architect, but we had to feel our way along, rediscovering many of the old techniques."

Upham, who is 49, will sail to America with his ship. In his youth he sailed some of his company's fishing vessels out of Brixham.

"So I know a few tricks on a sailing ship," he said. "There is this business of fresh water, for instance. We'll sail with what we need, and there will be no dis-

Judge Holland Decides Difficult Question Well

Judge H. RUSSEL HOLLAND just faced a very difficult and trying decision. We feel he ruled wisely and well.

A mother placed her baby up for adoption and the youngster was duly taken. A year and a half later, she sought to set aside the action and claimed she acted under duress.

Certainly, a ruling in this case was an unhappy choice for any mere mortal to make and yet we feel the community in general will stand solidly with Judge HOLLAND. The lapse of time weighed heavily against the mother and conversely bolstered the case of the parents in the adoption. The mother voluntarily surrendered the child and yet a change of heart after even so long a time as a year and a half is quite understandable. However, the judge could not be blinded to the love and the rights of the foster parents. Nor could he ignore the child which had now lived its entire life with the couple that adopted it.

HOLLAND

Many cases allow a compromise decision. Judge HOLLAND had no such leeway here. He had to rule "yes" or "no." There was no middle ground.

Oakland County is fortunate to possess judges who are primarily humane, considerate and kindly in addition to their purely intellectual attainments. Over the course of the years, they render society a vast (and un-thanked) service by performing their duties in accordance with the high tenets of right and justice.

Judge HOLLAND characterized his current decision as a "tough one to make."

We agree heartily. We also agree with his finding.

plainly labeled "too hot to handle." Republicans accuse the Dems of playing politics. The Democrats accuse the GOP of bad faith and sheer evasion.

"If the President wants the thing cut, let him cut it himself," says the "loyal opposition."

"Cutting is the business of Congress," rejoins the President's party. Out of the welter of evasion and shadowboxing, one thing stands out prominently.

The people want a reduction. They want it now.

Federal spending is entirely out of hand. We're going to out-Roosevelt the champion and take runner-up honors away from Truman if common sense doesn't prevail immediately. And a token reduction won't count. It must be substantial.

The Man About Town It's Our Birthday Anniversary of Pontiac's Becoming a City in 1861

Centennial: What we have but one chance to celebrate.

Tomorrow is the ninety-sixth birthday of our own.

City of Pontiac, which is quite active for one of that age. Few other cities in the world have had such a growth after they'd passed what in human life is middle age.

It was on March 15, 1861, just at the outbreak of the Civil War, that Pontiac discarded its village status and became a city by special act of the Michigan legislature at Lansing.

The little community at the point where the Saginaw Indian Trail forded the Clinton River had been incorporated as a village on March 20, 1837, by special act of the new Michigan legislature at Detroit. The territory of Michigan had been elevated to statehood on Jan. 27 of the same year.

Pontiac's centennial as a city is now only four years away, and should be celebrated in an appropriate manner. This was first suggested in this column three years ago, and immediately got some enthusiastic backing. It is the wish of Mayor William W. Donaldson and many others that before that time we erect a civic auditorium in which some of the festivities can be held. To accomplish this,

The Pontiac Foundation was formed and has accumulated some funds and promises of more, so that a complete study of the matter is being made.

Other Michigan large cities, and the dates they were incorporated as such, follow: Detroit, 1806; Grand Rapids, 1850; Flint, 1855; Saginaw, 1857; Jackson, 1857; Lansing, 1859; Bay City, 1865; Muskegon, 1869; Kalamazoo, 1883 and Dearborn, 1927. Flint celebrated its centennial two years ago in a rousing manner. Saginaw and Jackson are preparing similar events for this year. This column intends to keep plugging for Pontiac's until it starts on March 15, 1961.

In response to some inquiries, our 1957 baseball contest will be announced on April 1.

One of our County Board of Auditors for over a quarter of a century, the greater part of which time he has been its chairman, Robert Y. Moore finds satisfaction in the fact that he has seen it grow into a billion dollar business.

While he rocked and rolled, one Elvis Presley also has been rocking the merchandising world. The 21-year-old ex-truck driver has endorsed over 60 products through his business agent, on which the sales already have passed the $30 million mark. And Elvis (and his press agent) also got some small change out of it.

"Oh Yes, It Has an Enormous Cellar"

David Lawrence Says:

Misstep Can Destroy U.N.'s Work

WASHINGTON — All the good the United Nations has done by interposing its mediating influence in the Middle East can be wiped out if the administrative responsibilities of the secretary general, Dag Hammarskjöld, are bungled.

The U.N. itself is a deliberative forum. It is not ment. It has no mechanism of its own for enforcing peace except as it may order a military mission or a peace commission, empowered with certain instructions, to take a specific action. The secretary general has been given no instructions to go beyond the resolutions passed by the General Assembly.

Yet today Mr. Hammarskjöld has entered into an agreement with Egyptian President Nasser which upsets the whole mediation process of the U.N. itself. There was no instruction to the secretary general to agree to allow the Egyptian government to send in a civilian or anyone else at this delicate moment to take care of civilian matters in the Gaza Strip.

The general assumption was that the difficult problem of bringing peace within the Gaza Strip would be handled cautiously, slowly, gradually and with due regard to the emotional reactions that could come from both Egypt and Israel if a hasty move were made.

ACT OF WAR

But at the same time that Ralph Bunche, an assistant to the secretary general, was agreeing with Nasser that he could send a civilian governor, an Egyptian, into the Gaza Strip, an act of war had just been committed against Israel through the cutting off of all rail and telegraph communication between the Gaza Strip and Israeli territory.

The moment this happened, it became incumbent upon the U.N. secretary general to stop all further moves and maintain the military units of the United Nations Emergency Force in complete control, with disinterested civilians taking charge until peace and tranquility could be restored.

First reports said "unidentified" bands did the sabotage. This is the same camouflage which was used when the Suez Canal itself was blocked by "unidentified" Egyptians. But the Communists, who are trying to make more trouble in the Middle East, could easily have been behind both these moves.

DENOUNCE U.N.

Thus Moscow Radio was quick to denounce the U.N. force for firing at the mob which was threatening it in the Gaza Strip and, since the Soviets and the Red Chinese both use the device of "volunteers," it is plausible to suppose that there is something of the same kind afoot in the Middle East.

The reports that regularly come out of Cairo through the press and radio seem to have Communist inspiration and differ considerably from what the Egyptian government actually says in its communications to the American government and to U.N. officials.

Now, Egypt did occupy the Gaza Strip before the events of last summer and, under the terms of the 1949 armistice between Israel and Egypt, the right to reoccupy the Gaza Strip is technically vested in the Cairo government. But, knowing this, the U.S. secretary general's staff might better have waited for a plan to be drawn up that would prevent the outbreaks that have occurred.

NEUTRAL NATIONS

Certainly when the rail and telegraph communications with Israel were cut, it indicated clearly that this was no time to be handing over civil administration to the

'Write Your Congressman About Junk Mail Postage'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It has been pointed out that letters to Congressmen from folks back home are important. Our letters definitely influence our representatives.

Our Congressman from the 18th district has introduced a bill to raise postage on all junk mail to three cents. Everyone has an opinion on this, so why not write to William S. Broomfield, New House Office Building, Washington, D.C.? He will be glad to hear from you, and I'm sure if you sign your name and address you will receive an acknowledgment.

Welcomes Comments of Readers

This readership was broken down in to the following groups: Men - 65 per cent. Women - 75 per cent. And what pleased me most was the next category, namely, Under age 18 - 65 per cent.

LET PEOPLE GRIPE

Mr. M. was very fair and scientific, too, for he printed the sample letters of praise and criticism.

That is always good journalism and eminently the American way handling problems, for we should let the public be the jury whenever feasible.

Besides, many splendid new ideas are derived from the candid and publishers who believe a newspaper owes an obligation to its community to stimulate and educate, as well as promote provocative discussion.

So he invited all of his readers to send in their candid opinions of his newspaper.

They were asked to be quite frank and tell what they liked and what they disliked and also suggest what else could be done to make the newspaper more fully satisfy its function as a great educational medium.

The readers were delighted and responded by deluging him with mail. They were quite frank, too, and told him exactly what they liked and disliked.

What do you suppose they said about this column?

Well, some people thought I was too frank in dealing with sex problems. But the average readership of this column was found to be 73 per cent, which is certainly very high.

We applied psychologists have long been urging and even conducting such consumer surveys for business and industrial firms, so we welcome their extension to church and school and newspaper consumers.

One housewife wrote that she thought I was producing delinquency in children by offering sex counsel. She said I was actually causing delinquency and sexual assaults.

I Told You So

Wants Tax Hike to Be Rejected

Wake up, taxpayers, you are being taxed right out of your home. Since I bought my home in 1950 property tax on it has increased one third, while no improvements have been made other than painting. I bought with the understanding that payments would be a set amount. Now they are being raised to meet Pontiac's raises which increase salaries and build this, that and the other thing, while our earnings at GM get less every year. It must have been great to live in the days of the homesteaders. You didn't have to fight anyone but the Indians to survive, not even politicians. Vote down any future raises.

Mother Who Knows

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Now I Nebuchadnezzar praise and extol and honour the King of heaven, all whose works are truth, and his ways judgment; and those that walk in pride he is able to abase.—Daniel 4:37.

Since therefore all things are ordered in subservency to the good of man, they are so ordered by Him that made both man and them—Charnock.

How many of you readers believe that?

Do you think Christ was wrong when He said: "The truth shall make you free?"

Several times I have challenged anybody to tell me he was goaded into delinquency behavior because he was given scientific advice too early or in too large amounts.

Thus far nobody has ever written or told me in person that he was harmed or driven into sexual crimes because his doctor or clergyman or school teacher or Scout leader or parents or my newspaper column had given him too much scientific facts about sex or at too early an age.

If you think I am exaggerating, that challenge still stands. It is ignorance and false notions that prod youngsters into salacious exploration and sex crimes.

I like to see this issue raised, for occasionally an elderly publisher, reared prior to the Spanish-American War, has wondered too, if I am too frank or not.

Oh, I'll admit I often offend the pride of some wives by telling them they are 50 per cent responsible for their straying husbands, either because of their sins of omission, if not their sins of commission.

Dogcatchers, Youths Battle

Gunfight in Galveston Follows Hassle Over Pet Pooch

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Two armed dogcatchers and a dozen policemen were held at bay more than an hour yesterday by two 14-year-old youths who said one of the dogcatchers tried to kill their pet.

Juvenile officer John Kaiser, speaking through a portable loudspeaker, finally persuaded them to give up and surrender a .22-caliber rifle.

The boys holed up in a brushy area. Residents said bullets bounced off their house intermittently for about an hour.

The boys, identified by police as Robert Garcia and Charles Layman, both 14, were jailed and charged with assault on murder and discharging firearms inside the city limits.

Dogcatchers Irving Brown and Otis O'Callahan said they were called to the area to pick up a different dog, and O'Callahan said he was going to check the boy's dog for tags when it bit him.

He said he fired his pistol to frighten it and the boys grabbed the animal and ran after a brief tussle.

Police said they got a .22 rifle at one of the youth's homes. Neighbors heard them threatening to kill the dogcatchers and called police, they said.

Officers chased them into the brushy area and fired into the air. The youths fired at the dogcatchers, police said. No one was hit in the exchange.

Dogcatchers are deputized as special policemen and are allowed to carry guns, officers explained.

Danish Physicist Wins Ford Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Danish atomic physicist Niels Bohr is the winner of the first $75,000 atoms for peace award set up as a memorial to Henry and Edsel Ford.

The award to Bohr, 71, was announced yesterday by James R. Killian Jr., chairman of the trustees of Atoms for Peace, Inc., a nonprofit corporation financed by the Ford Motor Co. Fund.

Bohr won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1922. Since 1920 he has been director of the Institute of Theoretical Physics.

Killian released a telegram sent to the board by President Eisenhower, which said in part: "Seldom has a man dedicated himself more singlemindedly to the search of knowledge for the benefit of mankind than has Professor Bohr in his half century as a scientist and teacher."

Hopes to Repay Antarctic Crew

Adm. Dufek Calls for Medal, Tax Exemption or Extra Wages

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — Rear Adm. George J. Dufek newly arrived from Antarctica, is "determined to get some sort of recognition for the men who build the bases and the men who winter in" on Operation Deep Freeze.

Dufek commanded the forces that worked through the South Polar region's summer—constructing seven widely scattered bases for a four-year scientific study project.

"The men who built the bases, and the men who winter in them deserve recognition," Dufek said in an interview today.

"A medal? Yes. And something more! Exemption from income tax during their polar time, perhaps. Or double-time toward retirement.

"I'm going to try to get them something!"

Dufek's force included 3,000 men, 12 ships and 40 aircraft. The base construction job, he said, "would have been an accomplishment of considerable magnitude, even in a temperate, civilized land. The area in which we worked is larger than the United States."

The United States, Russia and seven other nations have built antarctic bases for observations during the International Geophysical Year officially starting July 1.

"At our bases, when we moved out a few weeks ago, 291 American scientists and military support personnel moved in," Dufek said.

"They will winter in down there, cut off except by radio."

Richards, a Man Careful With Cash, Visits Mideast to Sum Up Possible Aid

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Before bowing out of Congress last year, James P. Richards spearheaded a fight in the House that blocked efforts on President Eisenhower's behalf to restore a 600-million-dollar foreign aid slash.

Today, at the President's request, the soft-spoken South Carolinian is headed for the Middle East to find out for Mr. Eisenhower how to spend 200 million dollars in the strife-torn area.

When the House backed up the quiet, reserved Richards last June, it wasn't the first time members had followed the lead of the former Foreign Affairs Committee chairman.

In 1951, Richards wanted to cut a half-billion dollars from former President Truman's aid bill and the House backed him up. But when there were some would make even deeper slashes in the aid program, it was Richards who successfully stopped them.

ENDORSED PRINCIPLES

He always has endorsed the principles of foreign aid but has kept a firm hand on the purse strings.

Richards' assignment as a special presidential envoy upset the former congressman's original plans for retirement. He decided not to run for re-election last fall, after 24 years in Congress, and told newsmen he would just as soon hunt and fish as legislate.

The prime minister said he was amazed that Dr. Ralph Bunche, U. N. deputy secretary general, had stated that the UNEF was stationed in the Gaza Strip with the consent of the Egyptians.

Ben-Gurion added that the Egyptians were defeated and driven out of Gaza and were not in a position to consent or not to consent to the stationing of UNEF troops.

He criticized U. N. leaders who he charged "are more eager to guard (Egyptian President Gamal Abdel) Nasser's prestige than to evince concern over his observance of the armistice agreements."

There will be little chance for the 62-year-old southerner to do either in the next few months. If the 200 million is to be used, it must be spent before June 30. Furthermore, Congress must be given 15-days' notice on how the money is to be doled out.

One of the stories told about Richards concerned a rebuttal to Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.), several years ago. Williams a foe of foreign aid, was excoriating the program on the House floor when Richards decided he had heard enough.

Interrupting, Richards told the House: "the gentlemen from Mississippi reminds me of those swamp owls they have down in his state. The more light you shine in their eyes, the less they can see."

"British technical training and education is the best in the world," said Russian professor N. S. Ardzanikov, Soviet Minister of Higher Education.

Coyote Raids Numerous

BERWYN, Alta. (AP)—A scarcity of mice and rabbits in this Peace River district is bringing coyote raids on settled regions. As a result, poison pellets are being set out in greater numbers. Last year the control program netted 5,500 coyotes.

Actor Ronald Coleman Suffers Pneumonitis

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Ronald Coleman has been in St. John's Hospital for two weeks with a lung infection but he may be able to leave for his ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif., early next week.

His wife said he became ill with what appeared to be a heavy cold shortly after Christmas. His ailment has been diagnosed as pneumonitis, an inflammation of the lung apparently stemming from an attack of pneumonia he suffered 18 months ago.

Arrest of Union Boss Hoffa May Signal End of Legend

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—There have been two legends about Jimmy Hoffa in the labor field, one that he had guts, the other that he was too smart for the law.

The FBI's arrest of the cocky, hull-shaped Midwest Teamsters Union boss last night, on charges that he bribed a Senate Rackets Investigating Committee staff member, may have proved the one theory and disproved the other.

Hoffa, 44, long has been reputed as the real boss of the Teamsters Union. He has always smilingly denied this and paid lip tribute to Teamsters President Dave Beck. But he has made it clear that with Beck out of the way, he would take over.

climb in Teamsters ranks. Starting out in Detroit, he expanded his Teamsters domain throughout the Midwest and South and extended it along the East Coast and into New York City.

Last April Hoffa was invited to lecture on labor relations at Harvard University. While he was at Cambridge, the New York district attorney, Frank Hogan, made a statement saying Hoffa was supported by "hoodlums and racketeers."

Hoffa, replying with typical bravado, said, "I've been investigated by grand juries and congressional committees. I will submit to any honest investigation anywhere." And he said he had never been indicted.

A House committee in 1954 dug up a few interesting things about Hoffa. One was that he had an interest in an obscure insurance firm, handling the lucrative welfare fund account for the Central States Conference of Teamsters. Hoffa heads the conference.

Killed Children, Mother Says

Admits Murder of Son, Baby Daughter at Home in Massachusetts

NATICK, Mass. (AP)—Two children were found dead in their home last night and several hours later their mother walked into a hospital 40 miles away and was quoted as saying "I have just murdered my family."

The victims were Jonathan Stern 3, and his sister Robin, 6 months. The boy's body was found on a smoldering mattress in his bedroom with an electric cord around his neck.

The baby girl's body was found in a partially filled bathtub.

Their mother Virginia, 27, walked into Addison Gilbert Hospital in Gloucester nearly three hours after the bodies were discovered by her husband Malcolm, 32, a Boston architect.

Gloucester Police Lt. Marshall A. McDonald said Mrs. Stern told hospital supervisor Agnes Webber "I have just murdered my family."

Doctors said Mrs. Stern's wrists were cut as though she had tried to commit suicide.

Police said Mrs. Stern apparently knows no one in Gloucester but drove there because it is as far as Route 128 goes.

Dr. George J. Pohas ordered Mrs. Stern kept at the hospital overnight because of "her physical and mental condition."

Stern, overcome by the tragedy, was hospitalized overnight in Natick.

Neighbors of the Sterns said the young mother, a Simmons College graduate, had not been in good health since the birth of the girl.

Driving Safety Measure Pays for Dance Team

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A riddle: Marge and Gower Champion, the dance team, were driving to the film studio when Gower was slightly injured in a traffic accident. Marge wasn't even shaken up. Why not?

They were driving separate cars yesterday. Since the birth of their son Gregg last November the Champions have always traveled separately so that one of them will be able to take care of the baby if the other is in an accident.

Texan to Look for Snow Giant

Natural History Trek to Include Search for Himalayan Creature

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Texan oil man Tom Slick left today for the wild Himalayan area of eastern Nepal to launch a natural history expedition that will include a hunt for the abominable snowman.

Slick and his party were flying to Biratnagar and will push off from there tomorrow with seven Sherpa guides and 65 porters on an eight-day trek to Iswa Khola. The Texan said the expedition will be interested in any unusual zoological specimens, not just the legendary abominable snowman.

Nepalese living in the area believe the snowman is a huge, hairy two-footed monster that inhabits the slopes of the world's highest mountains. The only purported evidence of its existence ever found has been bearlike footprints in the snow.

Slick told a news conference the expedition is sponsored by the San Antonio Zoological Society and "financed and directed by Tom Slick, San Antonio oil producer and founder of the Southern Research Institute employing some 600 scientists."

Prevent Crime, Sen. Lodge Tells Law Enforcers

State Senator L. Harvey Lodge yesterday pointed to a "police department's obligation" in his talk on "Youth and the Law" before the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association.

"The obligation of police departments is not restricted solely to the apprehension of criminals and their punishment," Lodge told law enforcement executives from all over the county. "They are also to be concerned with crime prevention."

"Juvenile programs should be set up in your respective departments to teach the youngsters sportsmanship, the love of God and fellowman. Youth is basically interested in good government. It is only the few who are wayward."

Captain Joseph Koren, of the Pontiac Police Department, was elected to the board of directors of the association at yesterday's session. The group will meet again April 10 at the CAI Building in Waterford Township.

Site Requires Special Foundation

Army Center Delayed Again

Another snag has been put into construction plans for the new Army Reserve Training Center in Pontiac, it was learned today.

Col. Paul L. Jolley, chief of staff of the Michigan Military District in Detroit, said an additional $32,000 will be needed to put in special footings for the building.

The pilings necessary before the foundation is laid, Col. Jolley said, are mandatory because army officials were unaware the site was a former city sanitary fill. "We were informed that the fill was within 200 feet of where we planned to put the building, but not all over," he said.

The site, a little less than five acres, is east of Orchard Lake avenue across from Beaudette Park.

The $320,000 construction money for the proposed 400-man center was allocated this week.

Jolley said it would be four or five weeks before the extra allocation was approved or disapproved, and a week or two after that before bids could be let on the building.

"Our new plans call for the building to be ready for use, by Feb. 15, 1938," the colonel said.

FIRST ROADBLOCK

The first roadblock thrown in the way of the center was a 1936 Michigan Supreme Court decision which ruled that municipalities, like Pontiac, could not give land to the Government unless the city retained control of the purpose for which the land is conveyed.

Because of this ruling, the city threw out a previously signed 50-year lease for the site and granted a six-months option to the Army to purchase the plot.

Col. Jolley said with the added $32,000, Pontiac would soon be getting a $350,000 reserve center. Present classroom training activities have been carried on for years at 37 W. Lawrence St.

HERBERT SOCKS

termines what countries had the greatest need for vaccine," says Socks, who collected much of his information from the World Health Organization.

He found, for example, that the incidence of polio in Argentina was three times higher in 1935 than it was for the last five year period in the U. S.

Today Argentina is licensed to receive four million cc's of vaccine, a large amount of it has already been given to children six and under and pregnant women.

The highest polio rate in the world occurs in Iceland with Israel a close second. As a result, vaccine is being given out in both these countries on a priority basis.

Less than three weeks after Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks announced last August that the vaccine could be exported, children in Israel and Iceland were receiving shots.

In the case of Iceland, it could not have come at a better time. Enough vaccine to give two shots each to 15,300 persons arrived by plane just days before tough negotiations began on North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases in Iceland.

Arlington Provides Last Port for Byrd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arlington National Cemetery, where the nation's heroes rest in peace beside a quiet river, was the final port today for Richard E. Byrd, admiral of the polar wastes.

The 68-year-old reserve rear admiral—first man to fly over both the North and South poles and, in the words of President Eisenhower, "one of the truly great explorers of all time"—died Monday night at his Boston home.

The national colors flew at half-staff on the ships at sea and the stations ashore, including the lonely, faraway American outpost in the antarctic where Byrd earned his greatest fame.

Dems Predict Victory in 1958

See Party Picking Up 4 to 7 Senate Seats in Next Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee today set its sights on victories in seven states next year in forecasting the Democrats will tighten their control of the Senate.

Chairman Smathers of Florida predicted in a statement that the Democrats will boost by from four to seven seats their present 49-47 margin.

The forecast contrasted with previous predictions by Chairman Schoeppel (Kan) of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee that the GOP will take over the Senate by a margin of one or two votes in the 1958 elections.

Smathers said the Democrats have their best chances to oust Republican senators from Maryland, New York, California, New Jersey, Arizona, West Virginia and Maine.

Republican strategists have indicated they believe their best hopes of unseating Senate Democrats lie in races in New Mexico, Rhode Island, Missouri and Washington state.

Smathers said Republican candidates are going to have to run next year without much benefit from President Eisenhower's popularity—a note that some GOP members also have sounded.

Smathers noted that of 32 Senate seats to be contested next year, 21 now are held by Republicans and 11 by Democrats. He said five of those Democratic seats are in the South and "the remaining six seats also appear sufficiently secure."

Handful of Wife's Hair Seals Lid on Assault

CORUNNA (AP) — Frederick Webber, 40, of Corunna, faced by a handful of his wife's hair attached to a warrant, pleaded guilty to assault and battery and was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail.

Justice of the Peace Homer Bush said deputies who investigated the beating complaint brought in the hair and taped it to the warrant.

Some secretaries are too candid. We heard one who answered a phone at lunch time. "My boss is out for lunch but he won't be gone long—nobody asked him," she said. . . Dan Belloc says there's one advantage to having only one suit: You never have to go back for the keys.—Earl Wilson

Plane Trouble Forces Nixon Back to Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — The U. S. Air Force plane bringing Vice President Nixon to Libya was forced to return to Khartoum today by a partial engine failure.

Nixon's plans to visit Tobruk to meet King Idris of Libya were shelved temporarily. He may fly on directly to Tripoli for a visit to the American Wheelus Air Base after the engine has been repaired or may change his plans further.

Before leaving Khartoum, Nixon said Sudan has not decided yet whether to support President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine. Sudanese Premier Abdullah Khalil expressed interest in obtaining U. S. aid, principally for improving the country's roads and water supply. Nixon added that the Sudan's decision on the Eisenhower Doctrine will be made after Special White House Ambassador James Richards comes here next month to explain its details.

Jordan Hails End of Treaty

Citizens Throng Amman as British Get Ready to Withdraw

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Twenty thousand demonstrators marched through Amman today, celebrating termination of the British-Jordan treaty and the coming withdrawal of British servicemen. King Hussein took the salute from a wooden platform in the main street, flanked by government and service officers.

"We renew our allegiance to the King," read many of the banners. The celebrations rivaled those staged when British Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb was dismissed as army chief of staff just over a year ago.

The government declared a three-day national holiday. Britain will leave behind all permanent installations at two airfields and a land base and a large store of military equipment.

The annual 25-million-dollar subsidy Britain paid to support Jordan's armed forces has ended. Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia have agreed to replace it with 35 million dollars a year.

Security for You

Don't Delay Applying for Disability Pay

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The Social Security's new disability payment program doesn't get its formal christening until July 1 when the first monthly payments start.

But, don't let this hold up your application if you think you're eligible. In fact, you may delay the start of your payments if you don't apply now. It's likely to take the Social Security people at least several months to put your application through the mill.

There's good reason for taking this length of time.

Part of it results from the bumper crop of applications due to the changes Congress made a few months ago in the Social Security law, including the addition of the new disability payment program.

And, part of the time will be due to the steps necessary to decide whether you're entitled to the payments.

In making the decision, the Social Security people will test your application against four general rules. You'll be eligible, if you:

1. Have a mental or physical disability so severe that you can't work and which is likely to last for the rest of your life, and
2. Have had the disability for at least six months, and
3. Have worked under Social Security for five of the 10 years before you were disabled and for 1½ of the three years before you became disabled, and
4. Are 30 or older.

Deciding whether you meet the last three requirements probably won't take much time. It'll be a simple matter of looking at your medical report, checking your Social Security record and your birth certificate.

It's the first requirement which will take the extra time because of the procedure the Social Security Administration has set up for getting evidence that you have a severe, permanent mental or physical disability.

GIVEN FORM

Here's the story: When you apply for disability payments, your Social Security office will give you a medical report form. You must take or mail this form to your doctor and to places where you've been treated for your disability.

In filling out the form, the doctors who treated you will give a medical history of your disability. But, they make no decision as to whether you're eligible for Social Security payments.

After the form has been completed and returned to you, you must turn it over to your Social Security office. It'll be attached to your application and sent to an agency of your state, probably the department of vocational rehabilitation.

At this agency, a group of trained people, including doctors, will look at your application and medical form and decide whether your disability meets the requirements for you to be eligible for payments. If any additional evidence is needed—medical or otherwise—to reach a decision, you'll be asked to supply it.

After the decision is made, your file will be sent back to the Social Security people who'll review the decision. Then a notice of the decision will be mailed to you.

If your payments have been turned down, you'll be told the reason. You may appeal the decision if you have new evidence to support your case or if you feel strongly that an error has been made.

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Gloria R. Harley, wife of Robert A. Harley, an assistant news editor of the Detroit News, died yesterday of a heart ailment in Deaconess Hospital. She was 35.

Sitter Judged Insane in Slaying of Child

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A 23-year-old baby sitter charged with the murder of a 14-month-old girl left in his charge was committed yesterday to the Ionia State Hospital for the criminally insane.

Circuit Judge Lucian F. Sweet issued the committal orders after two psychiatrists, Drs. William A. Scott and Charles D. Holder, reported that Stanley M. Page, the babysitter, was insane.

Page was accused of fatally beating Tina "Dee" Perkins, infant daughter of Mrs. Gloria Perkins. The child died Jan. 30 of internal injuries.

Red China, U.S. Envoys Meet

66th Talk in Stalemated Prisoner-Release Issue Gets Nowhere

GENEVA (U)—Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson of the United States and Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Communist China held their 66th meeting here today and agreed to meet again April 11.

The 20-month-old secret talks have been deadlocked since last summer. The ambassadors now meet only once a month, mainly to restate their positions.

Johnson is trying to negotiate the release of nine Americans imprisoned in China and to get Red China to renounce the use of force against Nationalist-held Formosa.

Wang today reportedly read Johnson extracts from Premier Chou En-lai's recent speech repeating previous Chinese Communist charges that American support of the Chinese Nationalists violates Chinese sovereignty.

Juvenile Court Group Gathers to Discuss Laws

Members of the Southeast Michigan Juvenile Court Officers Assn. met yesterday to hear a report on how their counties can qualify for state funds under recently passed foster care laws.

Some 40 members from Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, St. Clair, Monroe and Washtenaw counties heard speaker Roger Lind of the State Department of Social Welfare detail the effect of the legislation.

Oakland County would have to add 14 court workers to qualify, it was learned.

Albert Casey of the Oakland County Juvenile Court staff reported on the disposition of traffic tickets given juveniles.

Nine witnesses yesterday invoked constitutional guarantees of free speech and press and protection against self-incrimination in refusing to say if they were Communists or to answer various other questions.

Reps. Morgan M. Moulder (D-Mo.) and Gordon H. Scherer (R-Ohio), who conducted the hearing, said afterward that the refusals of most of the witnesses placed them in peril of contempt proceedings.

Dems Predict Victory in 1958

See Party Picking Up 4 to 7 Senate Seats in Next Election

WASHINGTON (U) — The Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee today set its sights on victories in seven states next year in forecasting the Democrats will tighten their control of the Senate.

Chairman Smathers of Florida predicted in a statement that the Democrats will boost by from four to seven seats their present 49-47 margin.

The forecast contrasted with previous predictions by Chairman Schoeppel (Kan) of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee that the GOP will take over the Senate by a margin of one or two votes in the 1958 elections.

Smathers said the Democrats have their best chances to oust Republican senators from Maryland, New York, California, New Jersey, Arizona, West Virginia and Maine.

Republican strategists have indicated they believe their best hopes of unseating Senate Democrats lie in races in New Mexico, Rhode Island, Missouri and Washington state.

Smathers said Republican candidates are going to have to run next year without much benefit from President Eisenhower's popularity—a note that some GOP members also have sounded.

Smathers noted that of 32 Senate seats to be contested next year, 21 now are held by Republicans and 11 by Democrats. He said five of those Democratic seats are in the South and "the remaining six seats also appear sufficiently secure."

CORUNNA (U) — Frederick Weber, 40, of Corunna, faced by a handful of his wife's hair attached to a warrant, pleaded guilty to assault and battery and was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail.

Justice of the Peace Homer Bush said deputies who investigated the beating complaint brought in the hair and taped it to the warrant.

Oxford Area Voting Friday on $1,500,000 Issue

For New School, Extra Rooms

Reorganized District to Erect $1 Million High Building

Oxford Area Community Schools will go to the polls Friday to vote on a proposed $1,500,000 bond issue for the community which reorganized its school district last September.

The money will provide a million dollar high school for 600 students, thus releasing the present building for junior high school purposes.

The other half million will provide for additions to the present Lakeville, Leonard and Thomas Schools.

Each addition will include two classrooms, conference room, general purpose room, kitchen, lavatory facilities and heating plant. Also included are plans for a four or six classroom building with like facilities for the west side of the district.

At a public meeting last evening, community leaders anticipated a heavy vote and voiced hope for approval, although some opposition has developed in the Leonard area.

Only taxpayers will be allowed to vote.

Those in the Leonard and Lakeville areas will vote at the Rowland Hall in Leonard. Others will vote at Oxford High School.

Passengers Safe After Ship Collision

THE HAGUE (INS) — The Dutch passenger ship Waterman and an Italian steamer collided during a thick fog in the north Atlantic yesterday.

The captain of the Waterman radioed that the 800 passengers aboard were all well and that the ship was in no immediate danger.

(An SOS from the Waterman picked up by the U.S. Coast Guard in New York at 5 a.m. was canceled at 5:33 a.m.)

The 9,177-ton Waterman was on its way from Rotterdam to Halifax, N.S., with 312 Canada-bound Hungarian refugees and 250 Dutch emigrants to the U.S. among its passengers when the collision occurred 700 miles northeast of the Azores.

The Waterman's owners ordered the ship to return to Rotterdam. The Italian ship involved was the 7,000-ton Merit.

The president said he would appoint a new premier-designate "as soon as possible."

The Sastroamidjojo government announced its decision to resign several hours earlier, following the withdrawal from the coalition cabinet of two members of the Islamic Party.

The resignation communique said only that the government was quitting because it was unable to reshuffle the cabinet.

Government authority has been crumbling since December, when army officers staged a bloodless coup in Sumatra.

Revolts broke out later in the Celebes, Moluccas, Sumatra and three days ago Borneo defied the government, leaving federal authority unchallenged only on Java, the island on which Jakarta is located.

Bunche Denies Pledging to Cooperate With Egypt

CAIRO (INS) — Dr. Ralph Bunche, obviously trying to keep the new Gaza crisis from resulting in a shooting war, backtracked today on his pledge of "full cooperation" with the Egyptian civil administration of the Gaza Strip.

Before flying to Gaza with the United Nations Emergency Force commander, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Bunche issued a formal statement through the U.N. office in Cairo.

He denied saying Wednesday that the U.N. "agreed to . . . welcome or would cooperate with" the new Egyptian-appointed governor, Maj. Gen. Hassan Abdel Latif, who was to arrive in Gaza today.

Bunche, it was believed, issued the statement through the U.N. Middle East Information Center after he received sharply worded instructions from his boss, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The statement said: "Mr. Bunche stated for the record he has made or has authorized to be made none of the comments attributed to him other than to say as a member of the United Nations Secretariat that he has no authority to comment on any member, state, nor would it be proper for him to do so."

STICK TO STORY
Reporters who talked to Bunche yesterday after the U.N. troubleshooter's 90-minute conference with President Gamal Abdel Nasser insisted he told them the U.N. would give "full cooperation" to the new Egyptian administration in Gaza.

Reuther 'Sad' Over Corruption

Union Leader Pledges All-Out Effort to Get Rid of Racket Conditions

EAST LANSING (INS) — Labor leader Walter Reuther said last night he was "sickened and saddened . . . over corruption in the labor movement."

The United Auto Workers chief-tain promised a "tremendous fight to get rid" of the conditions that produce them. He referred to testimony involving the teamsters union before the Senate Rackets Committee.

Reuther appeared on the Michigan State University campus to give his appraisal of organized labor's future and to predict its situation in 1975. His talk was sponsored by the MSU labor and industrial relations center.

"It's a disgrace that people in labor are involved in corruption," Reuther said.

SET UP GROUP
Reuther said the newly-merged AFL-CIO had set up an ethical practices committee to handle the problem.

"We are going to work on this job," he said. "We are going to fight to drive every crook and racketeer out of American labor. And the Communists are ideological racketeers."

Labor leaders are not corrupt by accident, Reuther said. "Whenever you find a crooked labor leader, there is a crooked official who has bought him off," he declared.

ADJOINING
He suggested that the labor leader and official be put in adjoining jail cells "and be given 15 years to compare notes."

An overflow crowd filled the Kellogg Center auditorium, seating 400, and the speech was piped to eight other points in the building. Prof. Charles Killingsworth estimated that over 1,000 persons heard it.

Reuther foresaw a four-day, 32-hour week for most of industry by 1975, and said "the UAW will get it long before then."

PLAN STEPS
He indicated the UAW would plan steps toward the objective in May at its Atlantic City convention.

Reuther said he believed the convention would decide to push for a three-day weekend rather than the five-day, 30-hour work week.

The UAW's contracts with automobile makers open up again in 1958.

Turning to the future generally, he said that the UAW will successfully launch community-wide programs for the retired and a new health and medical program for all—not just union members.

COST OF LIVING
He said that by 1975 much of the country's economy will be tied to clauses similar to the escalator (cost of living) language in present UAW contracts and the supplementary unemployment benefit concept.

Reuther said the nation's greatest problem of the moment is educational salaries, which he called "terribly inadequate."

Reuther said that from one to one and one-half per cent of the gross national product, or about four or five billion dollars, should be put aside annually by the federal government to provide 600,000 new school classrooms by 1960.

"Free labor and free management must come to clearly recognize that one is not possible without the other and neither can be free until they cooperate in preserving a free society," he said.

DETROIT (INS) — Workmen have already begun the $2,900,000 expansion of the Wayne Major Air port that was to have started this spring.

Briscoe's Irish Charm 'Takes' New York Opens Heart to Dublin's Lord Mayor

NEW YORK (INS) — Lord Mayor Robert Briscoe of Dublin, Ireland, received a tumultuous welcome in New York City.

Shortly after stepping off his Royal Dutch KLM Constellation, the lord mayor lit a huge cigar and spread Irish charm with the simple statement, "I am here to see and to talk to people."

The one-time revolutionary and rebel — known as "Captain Swift" of the Irish Republican movement — arrived at Idlewild Airport on the plane piloted by one of his sons, William.

The big plane taxied up the sunny runway with two flags jutting out of its cockpit, one the green and white of Ireland and the other a Dutch airline bunting.

Briscoe was greeted by New York City officials, and two rows of smartly dressed white-gloved police snapped into salute as he walked toward a color guard bearing New York City, Irish and American flags.

UPSET FORMAL PLAN
But the 62-year-old Briscoe upset the plan by insisting on shaking the hand of every cop on the review line.

A small crowd of yelling newsmen, still photographers, newsreel and TV men impeded his progress into the airport building. But as he walked, the gold chain of his office glittered in the sun as it hung on his chest.

Briscoe, a handsome, smiling man is making a two-month tour of the United States with his wife and one of his sons.

His visit is being sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal and The Irish Societies of America.

BOOSTS IRELAND
But the mayor pointed out that he hopes to encourage Americans to visit Ireland where, he said, "we have lovely food, lovely country and lovely colleens."

Asked about his faith, Briscoe noted that it is a tribute to Ireland that a man of his faith can be mayor of Dublin.

"Ireland," he said, "is one of the countries of the world completely without blemish of persecution of any minority."

Briscoe said he was looking for-

Attempts Suicide, Can't Compete With Wife's Job

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Leo Kotin, 48, was recovered today from what police described as a suicide attempt over his wife's love for her job as private secretary to Dave Beck, president of the International Teamsters Union now under Senate investigation.

Police went to Kotin's Hollywood apartment yesterday and found him unconscious, overcome by gas, after Mrs. Annie Kotin, telephoned friends from Washington and said she was "worried over Leo."

Mrs. Kotin has been Beck's secretary for years.

An unsigned note near Kotin's unconscious form said: "To my wonderful Annie, I couldn't compete with her first love, her career in the Teamsters, there is no room for me."

Kotin and the secretary were married in 1952.

Temperature Hits High
DETROIT (INS) — The thermometer hit 68 degrees in Detroit at 3 p.m. Wednesday, setting a record high for the date, the United States Weather Bureau here reported. The previous high for March 13 was set in 1946 when the temperature rose to 65.

Police Officers Plan State Meet

City Group to Be Host Next Fall to Proposed Michigan Unit

The Pontiac Police Officers Association will be the host for the fourth organizational meeting of a proposed State of Michigan Police Officers Association next fall.

Herbert C. Cooley, president of the association, told members last night that he and the association's treasurer, James L. Carr, attended the third meeting of the group Tuesday in Lansing.

"The purpose of the group is to professionalize the police officers, and to adopt a code of ethics and public relations to be used on a statewide basis," Cooley explained.

Ten Michigan cities already have decided to join, Cooley said. These will be charter members. They include Pontiac, Royal Oak, Berkley, Grand Rapids, Hillsdale, Detroit and Madison Heights.

The association also discussed further preparations for the civil service campaign leading to the vote on April 1.

The April proposal, if passed, would amend the city charter section concerning the present Police Trial Board and unite police and firemen under a code based on state civil service laws.

Drivers Stage Bang-Up Battle for Parking Spot

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS) — Patrolman Bob Beck, undecided who won yesterday's bang-up battle of the parking space, tells this story: Milton Z. Bobler, 30, a salesman from Phoenix, drove up just as a motorist pulled out of the space. Along came Martha Jean Wilson, 24, a tourist from Tampa, Fla., also cying the space.

Bobler leaped from his car, waved his fist at Miss Wilson and warned her to move by the count of three. She stood firm.

The salesman gunned his engine and rammed the front of Miss Wilson's car with the rear of his own. Damage to Bobler's car: $250. To Miss Wilson's: $45.

Temper, temper, chided Beck, advising Miss Wilson to see the county attorney about filing charges. But both drove off in a huff — leaving the space vacant.

Fire Threatens 8 Milford Buildings

MILFORD — Eight houses and a barn were threatened by fire as Commerce Firemen fought to bring a raging grass fire under control near Milford yesterday. Although only 35 acres were consumed, the fire swept through an orchard killing 200 apple trees along with a grove of Blue Spruce pine trees.

For Orion Township Start Police Department

LAKE ORION — The beginning steps for an Orion Township Police Department were taken at the Township Board meeting here but final vote to create the department, along with traffic ordinances were deferred until next meeting.

Following a weekend of many grass fires, Board requested that the fire chiefs check the origin of the fires and determine whether burning permits have been secured from the Conservation Department, Village or Township Halls.

A delegation from Bunny Run Subdivision requested street lights near the club house, ball park and along the dark streets and the township will provide eight lights.

A request for road improvement could not be considered as the roads are private. The board is checking into the possibility of a road assessment to fix the roads in the area, in behalf of residents.

Property most heavily damaged belonged to the Joe Wessinger, Ralph Ransom and Howard Heintzelman families property on Wixom road near Charms road.

Residents in the area called Milford Firemen but found they were fighting a fire on South Hill road and were unable to answer the call.

The Commerce Firemen and their three trucks were called.

Says Popular Version Not Authentic

Craze Will Kill Calypso, Asserts Singer Belafonte

From California up to Maine Calypso songs are on the brain. They sweep the nation, there's no doubt and this is what it's all about.

By HARRY BELAFONTE
As Told to Dick Kleiner

NEW YORK (NEA) — I want no part of the Calypso craze. I'm just afraid that the sudden emergence of Calypso as a popular fad may prove to be a death knell in disguise.

The association of West Indian music with fadists and a cultish hysteria movement may build it up to the heights of a crazed following—and that can only result in eventual shunning of this music form.

I don't want to be involved in that. I don't want to be rock-and-roll's killer nor do I want to be a "Calypso King." I'm basically a folk singer and actor who happens to do some authentic Calypso material.

The interest in Calypso being developed by the opportunists will cheapen the true Calypso form and degenerate the level of Calypso entertainment. Some so-called "Calypso acts" feature a type of music that is more in the cha-cha category.

What is true Calypso?

LIKE NEWSPAPER

Actually it is a living newspaper, with verses telling of events, past and present, that the unique to the Islands. There are many work songs and ballads that are erroneously called Calypsos. In my last album for RCA Victor, called "Calypso," most of the songs were work songs and ballads.

Some people label all songs that originate in Trinidad, Barbados, Martinique, Jamaica and that region as Calypsos. Most people think of my current hit records, "Jamaica Farewell" and "Day-O" (which other groups have recorded as the "Banana Boat Song"), as Calypsos. They're not — "Farewell" is a West Indian folk ballad and the other is a song of the dock workers.

True Calypso is a healthy mu-

It is informative, has a free-swinging style and comments critically upon current events. I'm afraid that Calypso will become a caricature of itself because of the influence being exerted upon it by the fast money men.

MODERATE SUCCESS

Calypso reached a moderate level of success in the U.S. during the '30s, and was kept partially alive by a small group of enthusiasts. Now, however, I'm afraid that the real beauty and meaning of the music will be debased by the imitators and the "bandwagon" element.

The charge has been made that most Calypso is pornographic. This is not true. When people object to the dirty lyrics of some Calypsos, I think what they really find fault with is the debasement of the originally material, or dirt for the sake of dirt.

I will never sing the phony, cliché Calypso material that is already flooding the market. I won't do it, just as I won't become a banner-bearer for those who are looking to make a killing from the current spiraling craze for this special brand of West Indian music.

Officials Meet on Water Supply

Discuss Ways to Solve Pollution in Subdivision in Waterford

Officials of the State Health Department have met with Waterford water system engineers in an effort to help solve the unsatisfactory water supply condition in the Venice of the Lakes Subdivision on Cass Lake road.

State Commissioner of Public Health Albert Heustis has notified residents that the water tested in the subdivision was found to be "unhealthy and polluted, thereby dangerous for public consumption."

A notification was sent to Judson Broadway, president of the Cass Lake Venice Company, and promoter of the 4-year-old development, stating that the well was not adequately isolated from sources of sewage pollution.

At the present time, state-leased emergency chlorination equipment is connected to the well to supply the property owners until the problem is settled.

In a reply to the notification from the state, Broadway claims that the development was originally intended to be a strictly a summer resort, but gradually residents have remodeled their premises into year-round homes.

This has put a strain on the antiquated well and equipment to the point that there is not enough pressure in the system to accommodate the 85-house water connections in the subdivision, he said.

The Attorney General has given the State Health Department, residents of the Venice of the Lakes Company, Judson Broadway and Waterford Township 30 days to arrive at a solution before court proceedings are instigated.

Beck and Wife Roam World; Teamsters Foot Bill

By RICHARD H. SYRING

SEATTLE, Wash. (NEA)—Dave Beck's trip to Europe, even while sought by a U.S. Senate committee investigating labor rackets, was perfectly constitutional as far as the International Teamsters Union goes.

When round-faced Beck succeeded his old boss, Daniel J. Tobin, as president of the teamsters in October, 1952, he made sure that such trips abroad would be financed by the union treasury.

Article V, Section 2, dealing with officers' salaries and expenses says:

"The General President, for the purpose of promoting the interests and welfare of the International and the making of diplomatic contacts with other organizations and institutions, and for the purpose of conserving his health, may in his discretion travel in this country or abroad and may take periodic rests.

"The general executive board shall provide for all expenses of the General President when performing the services mentioned herein or when taking periodic rests; the said expenses shall include travel in this country and abroad, the full and complete maintenance of his wife so that she can accompany the General President, and all secretarial help and services which he deems necessary while engaged as afore referred to.

"The expenses provided for herein are in addition to all other constitutional compensation and allowances. This provision shall apply only to the present incumbent of the office of General President."

Little did Beck dream that when he gave up one "of the best laundry routes in Seattle" to take a $60 a week union organizing job that one day he would be able to tour the world at will—all expenses paid.

Previously, Beck had interrupted a high school career, where he played football on a championship team, to become a machine gunner in the North Sea during World War I. While in the Navy he married Dorothy Leschander of Seattle.

To them was born one son, Warren David, who after his graduation from the University of Washington changed his name legally to David Beck Jr. Norman Gessert, his wife's nephew, was reared as a son and like David Jr. is identified with many of the business enterprises of Dave Beck Sr.

PICKED BY TOBIN

Mustered out of the Navy with a railroad ticket and $1.60 in his pocket, Beck went back to his laundry route until tapped for a union job. After being a union official for a year, he came face to face with Dan Tobin when the teamsters held their national convention in Seattle in 1925. Beck impressed Tobin who named the Seattle man organizer for the Northwest.

From then on, Dave Beck began to build his empire, which included all of the West.

Self-made in both labor and business, Beck was ambitious. His father was a rather unsuccessful carpet salesman. His mother, now 87, worked in a laundry to make ends meet.

Probably contributing to Beck's success is his passion for mental and physical improvement. He read biographies of every successful man he could lay hands on; took courses in public speaking and law at the University of Washington extension school; learned how to read corporate balance sheets.

In the offices here of the Teamsters building, Beck wanted persons fit. In the basement he had built a conditioning room, equipped with electric machines, Turkish baths and a masseur. In addition to a heated outdoor pool at his home, he has a movie projection room, a guest house and a greenhouse.

Beck's offices on the second floor of the Teamsters building in Seattle is gained through a double set of doors. Furnishings are not particularly expensive appearing. There are no pictures except those of his wife and son.

The labor leader consistently refers to himself as a third person "Beck." When aroused he pounds a desk and talks loudly and shouts, and at such times his talk is sprinkled with more and more vigorous curses. His favorite oath with his veracity is: "I hope that mother of mine drops dead right now if every word I say isn't true." This he repeats frequently, with vague motions in the direction of the neighborhood where she lives.

When Beck makes a speech or statement it's pretty much on point. But he'll cut off intruding questions by adding "And I want you to remember . . ." to the end of every sentence.

Two of Beck's pet foes have been Harry Bridges, the West Coast longshore leader, with whom he contested for warehouse workers. Another was eastern brewer, some of whom employed non-union teamsters. For a long, long time eastern beer was barred from the West; at least teamsters would not handle it and that just about stops the movement of anything.

Despite the fact that he is a non-alcoholic drinker, Beck, his son, wife and other relatives have interests in the northwest brewery business. Beck has been the "bankroll" for a lot of relatives and friends. As an example, he backed eight of Dave Beck Jr.'s former football buddies in a variety of business ventures.

America's outstanding success in labor power politics is no subtle diplomat. He says: "I won't lie for anybody." He is proud of the enemies he has made, prouder still that many who opposed him 20 years ago are now his friends.

Nehru's Party Leads Balloting

Almost Half of Votes Goes to Leader's Group in General Election

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's second national election moved into its final and 19th day today with Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party again by far the nation's strongest political force.

Only in Kerala state, on the Malabar coast of tropical southern India, was the Congress party trailing. There it was running second to the communists in the race for State Assembly seats. Incomplete returns gave the Reds 45, Congress 35, Praja Socialists 8 and independents 9.

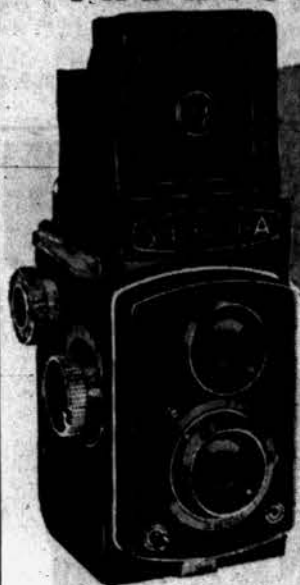

The Reds, however, were not expected to win a majority in the 126-member Legislature. It appeared likely the Congress would dominate a coalition of the other members.

On a nationwide basis, the British-owned newspaper The Statesman estimated the Congress party was polling about 47 per cent of the vote, compared with 42 per cent in the last balloting for State Assembly seats.

Complete returns from the lengthy voting will not be in for another week or 10 days.

Tuesday Musicales Presents Organist, Club Chorus

By CHRISTINE GAENSBAUER
Philip Steinhaus, guest organist, and the Tuesday Musicales Chorus, combined to provide one of the finest programs ever presented for the Pontiac Tuesday Musicales Club. Christ Church Cranbrook was the setting for the Tuesday program.

Young Mr. Steinhaus, organist and choirmaster at All Saints Episcopal Church, already has made for himself an impressive reputation as an organist in other parts of the country. But this was the first opportunity local music lovers have had to hear him perform on an instrument commensurate with his abilities.

The two groups of compositions which Mr. Steinhaus performed demonstrated his brilliant finger and pedal technique as well as the variety of tonal colorings and timbre present in the instrument itself.

The opening "Suite" by Cierambault was an excellent choice for this purpose. Mr. Steinhaus's performance and interpretation of "Fugue in D Minor" made it unfold with a grandeur that provided a memorable experience for the listener.

The second group of compositions was equally satisfying. His musical sensitivity was especially apparent in the quiet and pensive "Pastorelle" by Roger-Ducasse as he developed the theme and mood to a brilliant climax while still maintaining a fine musical balance.

Mr. Steinhaus is a musician of rare ability and a valuable addition to the musical life of Pontiac.

The Tuesday Musicales Chorus gave an inspired performance of a group of sacred compositions under the fine direction of Mrs. George Putnam. They opened with "Let Thy Holy Presence" by Tochesnokoff and "When Jesus Was a Little Child" by Tchaikovsky, which were accompanied by Mr. Steinhaus at the organ.

The last four numbers were unaccompanied and under Mrs. Putnam's direction the chorus sang with fine precision and perfect intonation. They were instantly responsive to her change of dynamics and tonal quality.

It was a program of church music at its best, performed with skill and reverence.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Rebecca Gould, Mrs. Vernon Abbott, Mrs. Martin Wager and Mrs. Henry Purdy.

interesting celebrities in this country and in Europe without having majored in journalism at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Early experiences as a police reporter and fashion writer for the Dayton Herald Journal in her home town of Dayton, Ohio, led to an imaginative curiosity about the lives of actors, diplomats, government officials and their families, and attained for Miss Battelle her present "Assignment: America" column which she writes with feeling and finesse.

Being one of the few successful women newspaper writers to fight through a masculine prejudice, she has rarely had to resort to feminine wiles. But in a few instances her attractive blonde hair and engaging manner have helped her to get scoops on stories.

Her trial assignments have included the Lonely Hearts murders and the Sheppard murder case in Cleveland. Interviews with Helen Keller, Margaret Truman just before her marriage, Elizabeth of England (and Prince Philip) before she became Queen and her sister Princess Margaret Rose rank among Miss Battelle's favorites.

Also memorable subjects were the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and Barbara Hutton (whose next to last wedding Miss Bat-

Courage Never Goes Out of Style

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Sometimes I think that our modern philosophies, some of them, at least, overlook the good, basic human trait of courage.

There's a tendency to blame our misfortune on bad luck, or the way our parents treated us when we were children, and to dwell on the injustice that has been done to us. Meantime, we do nothing about the problem.

I know people who, when bad breaks come, just sit and mourn and complain, instead of courageously facing up to them. They forget that God helps those who help themselves.

Furthermore, when we decide to do the brave thing, all of nature comes to our aid. We soon find that courage really does pay off.

I am reminded of a couple I know, who are perfect examples of this.

When I first met them, the Browns were in their early sixties.

EVERYTHING PLANNED

Mr. Brown had a good job and Mrs. Brown kept house beautifully. They had a nice house and beautiful furniture.

Mr. Brown faced retirement in a year or two and everything was nicely planned for it.

Then, suddenly, Mr. Brown was taken desperately ill.

It was a long and expensive illness, keeping him out of work for two years and taking every penny of their savings.

They had to sell the house and move to a small apartment. But he did eventually get well.

"When I got well," he told me, "I was so grateful, I decided we would just pick ourselves up and start again. It wasn't easy, because we had almost nothing. But we had our health and each other and a small apartment."

LEARNED TO TYPE

"Mrs. Brown, God love her, learned how to type somehow."

while she was nursing me—she'd take a few minutes here and there to peck away at it.

"As soon as I was on my feet, she got a typing job at a company near the apartment and came home for lunch every day. It wasn't easy for her, but it kept us going."

"Then," he continued, "when the doctor gave his consent, I began to be a little more active. A full-time job was out of the question, but he said I could do part-time work. There wasn't any part-time jobs available, but we put our heads together and decided to set up a typing service."

"The community needed such a service and by this time my wife was a good typist, so the bank agreed to give us a small loan."

"I went out and got business—small accounts, people who needed a couple of hours of typing a week. I wrote a small ad and put it in the paper. Gradually, we began to get more customers."

"None of the jobs was very big but, little by little, we got more. Most of our customers have continued to stay with us."

Yes, courage is about the most valuable quality we can have—and it is never out of style! (Copyright 1957)

'Who Needs Money?' One Girl Asks

Teens Favor Security Over Risky Riches

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert
Youth Research Company
Teenagers today want to play it safe. They'll take security, any day, over risky riches.

"It's better always to be sure of a little, rather than risking the lot," says Judy Laws of Brentwood, Mo.

This comment reflected the general attitude of the young people we surveyed across the country.

An overwhelming percentage favored a job offering security and an assured — if modest — income over the job presenting some risks but leading perhaps to future riches.

"I would only prefer security," says a 16-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y., boy whose father is a foreman, "because my expectations are not so great as to demand my taking a risk."

PRIZE FOR AMBITION
Hitching a wagon to a star would seem to have gone out with the wagon. But some young people of course still have praise for ambition.

William Glass of Yonkers, N. Y., says: "The worst thing wrong with America today is the complete reliance on security as the boon of civilization."

And Virginia Floyd of Little Rock says: "I think a person would get stale if he didn't care anything about advancing himself."

One reason teenagers are so sold on security is that they don't think it possible to make much money anyway. They point to high taxes, increased cost of living and military service as hazards to making much of a fortune.

"It's impossible to start nowadays on a small salary and eventually become a millionaire," many say.

"Sure, guys like Ford and Carnegie could create fortunes out of thin air," says a 17-year-old football player. "But they weren't stuck with 70 and 80 per cent taxes."

Three-fourths of the youngsters polled believed it was easier to make a million in the last century than it is today.

"Oh, some small fellow will," says a Brooklyn boy. "He'll be one of the few though. It's pretty tough these days — not to make the money, but to keep it."

Most teens say, though, that they're not dissatisfied. "Who needs money?" one girl asks. "We live better today than any emperor did centuries ago."

With television, home appliances, automobiles and airplane travel accessible to the average American, youngsters say they don't see the need of being a millionaire.

FAIRLY OPTIMISTIC
On the other hand they have what seem to be fairly optimistic ideas about what they ought to earn.

The boys figure they should start in at $75 a week on graduation from high school, $95 a week on graduation from college, $130 a week after age 30, and $145 a week after age 45.

The girls think they should make $45 a week after graduating from high school, $70 a week after college, and $85 a week after the age of 30. Then, for age 45, their sights drop to $60 a week.

Girls, being potential homemakers are somewhat more security-minded than boys.

The percentages on the question about security or risk leading to possible riches broke down this way: girls 82 for security, boys 74 for security. Only 23 per cent of the boys and 11 per cent of the girls voted for risks; the rest weren't sure what they thought.

CONSIDER FAMILY
Three-fourths of the girls say they voted that way because of family considerations.

A 16-year-old lass from St. Louis puts it this way: "As a girl I'd choose security. I don't think it is wise to risk others' security for yourself. If there is no one dependent on you it is different."

Two-fifths of the boys voting for security also mentioned family responsibilities as the reason.

Of the group voting for the risk, a large percentage did so primarily because they wanted to make money.

The comments ranged from "I want to become a millionaire,"

from Richard Bove of Long Island City, N. Y., to the exhortation from C. E. Erbsen of New York City to "live dangerously."

One of the most optimistic of the ambitious group was Don Warnock of Springfield, Mo. "If I failed I could always start over," he says.

RETIREMENT AGE
When do young people think they should retire?

One out of four thinks this should happen by 55 years of age, but more than 50 per cent think retirement ought to occur anywhere from 60 or older.

The large number in favor of retiring after 60 and 65 is surprising. But the teenagers say that older men and women are better fitted today for job responsibilities.

And by the time they themselves are in these age brackets, healthier and more alert than they figure, oldsters will be ever.

Girls, being potential homemakers are somewhat more security-minded than boys.

The percentages on the question about security or risk leading to possible riches broke down this way: girls 82 for security, boys 74 for security. Only 23 per cent of the boys and 11 per cent of the girls voted for risks; the rest weren't sure what they thought.

CONSIDER FAMILY
Three-fourths of the girls say they voted that way because of family considerations.

A 16-year-old lass from St. Louis puts it this way: "As a girl I'd choose security. I don't think it is wise to risk others' security for yourself. If there is no one dependent on you it is different."

Two-fifths of the boys voting for security also mentioned family responsibilities as the reason.

Of the group voting for the risk, a large percentage did so primarily because they wanted to make money.

The comments ranged from "I want to become a millionaire,"

from Richard Bove of Long Island City, N. Y., to the exhortation from C. E. Erbsen of New York City to "live dangerously."

One of the most optimistic of the ambitious group was Don Warnock of Springfield, Mo. "If I failed I could always start over," he says.

RETIREMENT AGE
When do young people think they should retire?

One out of four thinks this should happen by 55 years of age, but more than 50 per cent think retirement ought to occur anywhere from 60 or older.

The large number in favor of retiring after 60 and 65 is surprising. But the teenagers say that older men and women are better fitted today for job responsibilities.

Changes Often Sneak Up on Us

Exercise Restores Lovely Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
I am so in love with life
Even though it's full of strife.
I don't know just why I am.
Maybe I am just a ham.

I may have the glands supreme
And that is why I have this dream
Of youth and joy forever more.
Just before I hit the floor.
Well, reality does come up and lambaste us once in a while. We may suddenly see ourselves in a full-length mirror or catch our reflection in a store window as we walk along the street and realize that our figure has changed much more than we knew.

When a woman is busy and happy and well she feels youthful and the years fly by. She may fail to recognize the changes which are taking place physically.

If this has happened to you and you find that your measurements are out of proportion, exercise is the magic answer. A lovely figure is one thing you can take down the years with you.

The following exercise is slimming to the waist, abdomen and hips! Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, extending out from your armpits, palms toward the floor.

Keep the fingertips on the floor as you bend your right knee up in
and try to touch the right knee to the floor on the left side of your body. Roll back and return leg to floor.

This time bend your left knee up in front of you and roll onto

nating left and right.
Do this one for the abdomen:
Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen. Straighten the legs toward the ceiling. Again bend knees over abdomen. Continue until you have done this 25 times. Rest and repeat the exercise except this time you bend, straighten and then slowly lower legs to the floor.

If you would like to have my exercises for slimming the hips send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Try This Exercise for Flabby Arms."

This exercise is slimming to the waist, abdomen and hips: Touch the right knee to the floor, roll back and return leg to floor, bend left knee up

Lower Chamber OKs Legislation to Ban Sale to State Minors

LANSING (U)—A bill to outlaw the sale of near beer to minors was headed for the Senate today along with a raft of other bills approved by the House in one of the most productive sessions of the year.

Free of Democratic delaying tactics for the first time in eight days, members of the Lower Chamber stayed at their desks past 5 p.m. yesterday, approving nine bills and rejecting another.

By a 96-3 count, they voted to remove exemption of liquids containing less than half of one per cent alcohol from classification as non-alcoholic liquor.

In effect, the measure would prohibit sale of near beer to persons under 21.

SUPPORT BILL
Rep. Harry Litwisch (R-Benton Harbor) reported that some 15,000 letters had been sent to members in support of the bill, and that four secretaries had been kept busy sending replies.

Parents and church groups had objected that near beer, manufactured in Wisconsin, was distributed in beer-type bottles and could start children on a beer drinking habit, even though it had an alcoholic content of less than one per cent.

The house turned down an amendment which would have lowered non-alcoholic provision from one half to one-eighth of one per cent. It was offered by Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe), who said he had been told that the bill might injure certain manufacturers of soft drinks which contain a tiny trace of alcohol.

The measure likely will encounter tougher opposition in the Senate. A similar bill last year coasted through the House but failed by a single vote to win approval in the Upper Chamber.

Prisoner Studies Law, Talks Way to Freedom
RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (U)—Knowledge of the law gleaned while in prison enabled a convict to go free after serving 18 years of a 25-to-70-year term for armed robbery.

Charles Campiglia, 57, yesterday told Suffolk County Judge Edgar Hazleton that the unknown judge, in sentencing him, forgot to ask the routine, rhetorical question:

"Have you any reason why judgment should not now be pronounced?" Hazleton freed Campiglia on grounds he had been "punished enough."

Pets to Breathe Easy

NEW YORK (U)—Your family pet now can have the same precision oxygen therapy that humans receive in surgery and emergency treatment. A new "breath of life" device to aid small animals has been developed by the National Cylinder Gas Co. of Chicago.

Sale of Murals Features Auction at Dodge Villa

PALM BEACH, Fla. (U)—Ballroom murals by the 17th Century painter, Jose Sert, highlight the auction today of the contents of the 80-room Dodge mansion "Playa Riente."

Mrs. Horace Dodge of the Dodge Motors family, is disposing of all the furnishings of the Spanish villa before having it torn down. The home has been a landmark of lavish living at this resort area since 1923.

Mrs. Dodge said she'll have the mansion razed because of tax and maintenance, drain and zoning ordinances which prevent the estate's conversion to a school or club.

The auction so far has netted $70,77. It continues tomorrow. Top price brought in the first two days of bidding was $11,000 for a rug.

Buyers paid out $1,200 for a set of four Venetian chairs, $300 for three Chinese flowering trees and $750 for a Venetian secretary-bookcase.

U. of M. Library Will Cater to All
Contains Audio Room, Facilities for the Blind, Smoking Permitted

ANN ARBOR (INS)—The University of Michigan's new undergraduate library will probably become a haven for students who like to puff away on a cigarette while perusing their books.

Unlike other college libraries, which either ban smoking or reserve special areas for nicotine addicts, the U. of M. facility will permit the use of cigarettes, pipes and cigars throughout the building.

One room will be set aside on each of the structure's four floors for students who like their reading without tobacco.

In addition, the library will have a lounge or coffee shop in the basement.

Scheduled for completion in September, the $3,380,000 library is planned to provide adequate library service for students in the first four years of the University curricula.

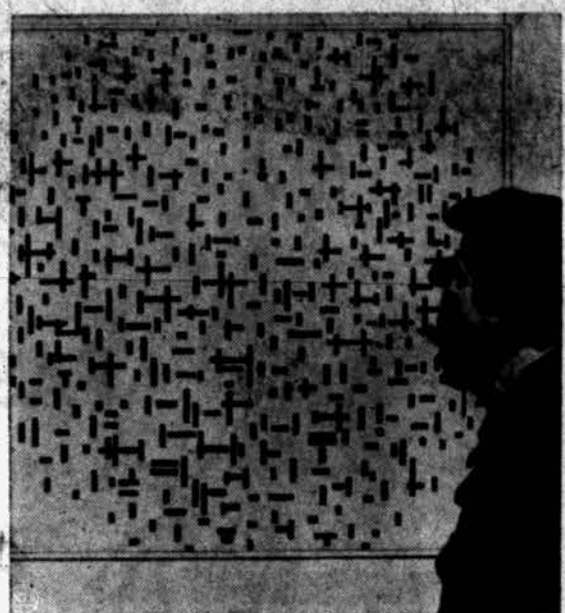

Professor Frederick H. Wagman, director of the University library, says the building is so flexible it can be used for a wide variety of purposes.

Its 24 by 30 feet sections are illuminated and ventilated so they can be partitioned off and used separately.

Each floor will have several small group study rooms for students who wish to converse while working together. There also will be typing rooms and special accommodations for blind students.

An audio room for listening to records will be on the second floor. About 170 people can be accommodated in the room, which boasts facilities at each seat for tuning in a number of recordings being played at the control desk.

On the third floor, there will be a multi-purpose room seating about 200 people. Its equipment will include a motion picture screen and projector.

WHAT'S IT ADD UP TO?—This myriad of pluses and minuses makes little sense to the young lady visiting a Roman art gallery but apparently the creator of the painting, abstract artist Piet Mondrian, knew the answer. The painting is on exhibit with others by the Dutch artist who died recently.

State Offers Bonus to Ferry Workers

LANSING (U)—Straits of Mackinac ferry workers who stay on the job until the last boat sails will receive a 10 per cent bonus.

The incentive bonus, aimed at helping retain the men who man the ferries for the State Highway Department, was approved yesterday by the State Civil Service Commission.

Permanent employees of the ferries will receive a bonus of 10 per cent of their total pay for the 1937 calendar year if they remain on the payroll until the end of the sailing season or until a permanent layoff—expected when the Straits bridge is opened in November.

Arthur G. Rasch, State Civil Service director, estimated the bonus would total around $225,000 for some 400 permanent employees.

"With the ferries going out of business, the commission wants to continue efficient operation by qualified personnel until the time the last boat sails," Rasch said.

To qualify for the bonus, an employee also must be on the payroll before Aug. 1, 1937.

Cutback in TB Hospital Beds

FIRST EASTER SEAL SALE—Lt. Gov. Philip Hart (center) buys the first sheet of Easter Seals Wednesday from Miss Easter Seal, three-year-old Debra Ann Shelton of Pontiac. Looking on are Matthew S. Cammareri, of Birmingham, Oakland County

4,000 Patients Now Under Care

But Facilities for 784 Additional Persons Are Not Being Used

LANSING (UP)—Cutbacks in the number of beds in Michigan's tuberculosis hospital system have been recommended to the legislature by the State Health Department.

The recommendations were made in response to a request for information by members of the legislature.

Principally affected if the recommendations are approved would be the Grandview Hospital at Ironwood, the Sunshine Sanatorium at Grand Rapids and the Northern Michigan State Sanatorium at Gaylord.

The Health Department said there were 4,000 TB patients hospitalized as of the end of January but said sanatoriums have a total of 784 empty beds.

The department asked the authority to declare 180 beds surplus now and to place more in this category later unless sanatorium use goes up.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said this was "no time for the careless closing of sanatoriums."

"But Michigan can't afford to pay for excessive numbers of empty beds," he said.

Recommendations for changes were made by geographical sections. They included:

SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN

A load of 2,602 TB patients in eight hospitals serving the Southeastern Michigan area and only 260 empty beds was reported.

The only recommendation was that the Detroit Metropolitan area continue to expand the present practice of locating patients in other hospitals, when beds are not available in the area.

EASTERN MICHIGAN

A count of 136 patients and 33 empty beds in the Genesee County Sanatorium and 195 patients and 44 empty beds in the Saginaw County Sanatorium was reported.

A relatively high incidence of TB and an intensive case-finding campaign, particularly in the Saginaw area, was reported.

It was recommended that local health officers be encouraged to make full use of local facilities available and that no cuts in the number of beds be made unless the case-finding campaign does not result in the fuller use of these sanatoriums "within a reasonable time."

AIRLIFT FOR SPEEDSTER—A B-36 "Hustler," described as the world's fastest supersonic bomber, is neatly tucked away in the bomb bay of a giant B-36 Air Force bomber as the big plane airlifts its delta-winged passenger with only eight of its 10 engines operating. Propellers were removed from the B-36's two inboard engines and landing gear was left down to make room for the B-58.

Potential Leader of Israel Is Tough Rightist Zealot

By KENNETH GILMORE

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As Israel hotly debates its withdrawal from the Gaza strip, a man to watch in the turmoil is Menachem Begin.

This tough and determined veteran of underground fighting could emerge as Israel's new leader if the tides of fortune turn against the stamp-sized Middle East nation.

A figure who can look both like a typical European professor or an American gangster, Begin is as controversial as the move by Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion to pull out of the Gaza strip.

As head of Israel's most right-wing party, he must be considered a long-shot to become the next Prime Minister.

Beyond that, however, he represents the sentiment of those violently opposed to Israel's withdrawal from Egypt and Gaza.

His supporters claim that he and his Herut (Freedom) Party are in a strong position today to take over should the Israeli government fall. And whenever an election does take place within the next few years or few months, his backers are certain that the Herut Party will make great enough gains to form a coalition government.

Just what manner of man is Begin, described by some as a dynamic and courageous fighter for Israel's rights and by others as a rabble-rousing Fascist type? Perhaps the extent of his importance can be measured by the fact that he recently came to the U. S. for a well-planned seven week speaking tour. When the news of the Israeli withdrawal broke, however, he immediately returned to rally a protest.

"The objective of this visit was to bring the opposition point of view in Israel before the American public," says Nahum Levin, a member of the Knesset (Israel's Parliament) who recently visited Washington to speak in place of Begin. "We want people to meet him because we feel he will become the majority leader in Israel."

After Israel won its independence nearly nine years ago, Begin formed the Herut party. In the first election it won only four seats in the 120-member Knesset, but today it is 15-men strong and the largest opposition party.

HIS PARTY GAINS

By picking up 25 more seats, Begin figures he can muster enough power to combine with other right-wing and religious parties and form a coalition government. His advocates point out that Ben-Gurion's Mapa (Labor) Party with only 40 seats must also count on other groups to control the government.

NEEDS U. S. PRESTIGE

A more realistic explanation for the temporarily cancelled trip comes from an American supporter here and friend of Begin.

"The strategy was to send Begin abroad to build him up as an important leader," he says.

"With a good press in the U. S. his prestige and influence would be far greater in Israel and improve his chances in an election."

A slim man who wears thick glasses on a strong nose, 44-year-old Begin is unquestionably an extreme nationalist and a zealot for his cause.

Even those most violently critical of Begin here in Washington concede that his political stock will sky-rocket if the West backs down on its promises and refuses to support Israel in the event of any new Egyptian blockades or terror attacks.

How Free Is Poland Now? Answer Vital in U.S. Plans

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (UP)—It may be time for Secretary of State Dulles to take a new look at the Polish Communist government. Months ago in a classified letter never made public he told Congress Poland now is not Soviet-dominated.

In last October's upheaval in Poland the Stalinists in control of the government were thrown out and Wladyslaw Gomulka, a Communist jailed for years as a "Titoist" by Stalin, was made boss of the Communist party.

Since then his government has shown signs — although there have been reasons for skepticism — of being independent of Moscow. And several weeks ago it sent a delegation to Washington to ask for American economic help.

Dulles' letter was sent to the House Foreign Affairs Committee weeks before the delegation arrived. Between that time and now most of his attention has been concentrated on the Middle East and getting the Israelis out of Egypt.

But on March 10 the New York Times carried a story from Warsaw which said almost all the leaders of the Stalinist faction which fought Gomulka's return to power have now been reinstated in government jobs.

As a result, the story said, there is a feeling of bewilderment in Poland over the Polish Communists' tactics. And students have posted signs asking: "Are these changes of jobs or of policy?"

There can be no doubt of the desire among Poles — 90 per cent of whom are Roman Catholic — for independence from Moscow.

What isn't known is this: Was the party shift-around in October a real attempt at independence by the Polish Reds themselves or an effort to quiet the wide unrest by putting on a different face?

There can be no doubt that some of the former harsh Communist controls have been relaxed under Gomulka.

But Russian troops are still in Poland. Under a treaty with Russia, they are forbidden to move around without the Polish government's permission, but this agreement could be broken instantly if the Polish people tried to throw out the Communists altogether.

And Gomulka on Jan. 14 said Poland must veer back toward Moscow's orbit. Poland recently voted in the United Nations for a resolution condemning the United States for alleged subversive activities in Iron Curtain countries and Russia.

Mink Industry Full of Hazards, Misfortunes

NEW YORK — The unexpected hazards and misfortunes of raising mink keep the industry — from breeder to buyer — under doctor's orders.

"Minks are as unpredictable as the women who wear them," says the article "What Your Wife Should Know About Mink," in a recent issue of a national magazine. So complex and risky is the breeding of mink, that the industry claims more tension, worry and ulcers than any other on earth.

Despite a boom in the past five years which has seen the mink industry's stock rise 60 per cent and capture two-thirds of the retail fur market—or some $2,000,000 a year—it is described as a "continual compounding of paradoxes" in the article.

From the moment of birth the mink is a constant source of concern. The wily little animal is heir to about 60 different fatal ailments. Among them: distemper, pneumonia, food poisoning, heat exhaustion, frustration and inter-family strife being the most prevalent causes for the demise of the species.

In one instance, a rancher ground a supply of frozen frog's legs along with usual ingredients to feed his minks. The next morning he discovered that not a single one of his 3500 valuable animals were alive.

Another typical example of the hazards of raising mink was pointed out, when one rancher called in a foremost veterinarian to investigate a high death rate in his prize strain of minks. The rancher is hardly surprised at the diagnosis. The minks were dying of Aleutian disease, plus ulcers.

Pencils From All Over

WEWOKA, Okla. (UP)—Mrs. J. R. Cross has a collection of more than 1,100 pencils representing 31 states. She's looking to fill out her collection with pencils from the other 17.

What does it all add up to? It adds up to these questions: Has Poland shaken off Soviet control? If so, will this last or will the pro-Russian Poles take power again?

The State Department isn't saying much. Perhaps Gomulka, with Russia breathing down his neck, has to take it easy in trying, if that's what he's doing, to lead his people further away from Moscow. He may be under great pressures.

If this is a sincere attempt at a breakaway, it would be to this country's advantage to encourage it by economic help, just as the United States' aid to Yugoslavia's Tito helped him stay independent of Moscow.

Before Congress votes any help the Eisenhower administration is going to have to say openly, one way or the other, whether it thinks Poland is now free of Soviet control.

'57 Maps Show Many Changes

Colonies Become States; Research Pushes Back Old Horizons

WASHINGTON — Mountains are higher and oceans are deeper than they were thought to be five years ago. Colonies have become sovereign states, and military occupation zones have disappeared. The men who live on our restless, fast-changing planet have pushed civilization farther north and south than ever before.

A host of such changes are reflected in figures, symbols, and names on the National Geographic Society's new wall map of the world. Backed by recent surveys and scientific research, it shows Himalayan Mount Everest to be 29,028 feet high — a 26-foot jump.

SUBMERGED CHAMPEL

Everest is still the world's tallest mountain in terms of skyward reach. But ocean-roofed Mauna Kea, a Hawaii landmark, is actually the champion in total height. It measures 33,476 feet from base to peak, though only 13,796 feet rise above the sea.

Deepest pocketmark yet found on the face of the globe is the Challenger Depth, southwest of Guam. Located in 1951, this 35,640-foot hole named for its discoverer, the British survey ship Challenger, which in turn inherited the name from a famous 19th-century oceanographic vessel.

NEW NATIONS APPEAR

New place names, boundaries, and political alignments noted on the Geographic's chart point up recent international developments.

The former British colony known as the Gold Coast, for instance, is called Ghana. Morocco, Tunisia, and the Sudan are other one-time African dependencies now shown as independent.

Europe's postwar occupation zones have vanished. Austria is again sovereign. In divided Germany, the Communist-controlled eastern portion appears as the Democratic Republic, the west as the Federal Republic. And once more, by plebiscite, the latter includes the Saar territory.

Perhaps the most striking of all changes reflected on the map are the new names and features that dot once-blank spaces of the Far North and Far South. Even as the 1957 World Map rolled off the presses, additional details for the next were coming from Arctic and Antarctic regions where research scientists and explorers are working on information-gathering programs of the International Geophysical Year.

Prosperous Times Doom for Hock Shop

NEW YORK—The second oldest profession, pawn shops, are well on the way to becoming extinct, reports a recent issue of a national magazine.

In fact, says the feature, the traditional three golden balls have already pretty much disappeared, because as one pawnbroker puts it, "they had come to mean two to one you wouldn't get your pledge back."

With employment at a record high and spending and investment equally so, prosperous times are knocking the bottom right out from under the pawnshop trade.

In other words, what's good for the country is bad for the hock shop.

An outstanding exception to the general decline of pawnshops in America are those shops that deal exclusively with granting loans on diamonds and precious metals.

"Diamonds," points out the proprietor of one such successful business, "speak a universal language. If you land in Timbuktu with a good diamond, immediately you've got Timbuktu money."

Another broker not so fortunate declares: "Maybe I'll go into another phase of financing. After all a financier is just a pawnbroker in a grey flannel suit."

Mayor Pays Fines, Too

ORANGE, Tex. (AP)—Mayor C. H. (Herb) Meek doesn't fix traffic tickets for anybody. He made sure plenty of witnesses saw him pay a $1 fine for parking his car in a restricted zone.

RUSSIAN MOVE IN SUEZ—Russian 1,340-ton ship Poti (bottom) makes its way carefully past sunken ships in the blocked Suez Canal while sailing north, four miles above Kantara. The Soviet ship was one of 13 vessels trapped in the canal which were turned around so they could sail north to Port Said. German salvage ship in center helps clear the waterway.

'Hamburger Function'

Electric Train Delivery Fascinates Hungry Patrons

BALTIMORE (AP)—It may be a heckuva way to run a restaurant, highbaling hamburgers to the customers by mainline fast freight. But it has the small fry ga-ga and Pop on the edge of his seat.

And if Mom doesn't give a hoot for model railroading, at least she can enjoy her food unmolested while her offspring give their attention to Nat Begun's "built-in baby sitter."

At Begun's "Hamburger Junction," on Baltimore's northeast fringe, a model freight train circles the inside edge of the counter.

The chef loads the freight — a hamburger and french fries, perhaps — on the flat cars at the kitchen window. He pushes a button, and a two-unit Diesel engine, its horn tooting, drags the load down the main line.

When the freight reaches its destination, a waitress punches one of the strategically located control buttons beneath the counter and the train stops. After she unloads it, the empty freight dead-ends back to the kitchen window where it stops automatically.

What's the reaction of the customers? One, a regular, bangs through the door each noon and calls: "Start the train!" A kid? No sir. He's over 30.

Another once asked Begun for a job. "You don't have to pay me," he said. "Just let me run the train." A kid? No, again. Full grown.

The junction is the brainchild of a young man liberally indoctrinated in commercial art, GI cookery and practical selling experience.

Begun, a New Yorker by birth, concentrated on art in high school and worked at it following graduation. He was tapped for Army service early in World War II, and went through cooks and bak-

Farms Are Vanishing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Increasing mechanization of the American farm is resulting in fewer but larger farms, says H. R. Moore, Ohio State University professor of agriculture and economics. Moore says a study of census records shows a decided drop in the number of farms since the end of World War II. In Ohio, according to Moore, the number of farms dropped by 43,000 to 177,000 between 1945 and 1954. In the same period, the average farm size increased from 110 to 113 acres.

FBI Puts Finger on Most Wanted Fugitives

WASHINGTON (INS) — Seven men sought for murder, a bank robber, a bandit, and a bad check artist are on the FBI's current list of "ten most wanted fugitives." The "most wanted" lineup reflects today, as it has since the program designed to enlist public aid in tracking down dangerous fugitives was launched on March 4, 1950, the ruthless and menacing character of the hunted criminals.

Water Hyacinths Combine Beauty With Menace

WASHINGTON — Conservationists hope to hang a "beware" sign on a roving southern belle, a water plant — and a menace to navigation, agriculture, industry, and wildlife.

At present the United States Congress is considering new legislation to discipline the beauty. The proposed law would authorize a broad control project, under Army Engineers, in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas.

Increased Federal aid would help these states intensify chemical and mechanical warfare against unwelcome plants.

Water hyacinth copes for itself in an ingenious way, having no helper among insects and birds. A spike of orchidlike blossoms has but a brief burst of glory, perhaps 24 to 48 hours, then starts bending to spill pollen onto the pistils. At last the stalk bows into the water where the seeds ripen and fall. Seeds remain viable seven or more years.

Here, in the order of their appearance on the "most wanted" roster—which has brought 92 desperate offenders to justice in the last seven years—are the present "top ten" fugitives:

1. Henry Randolph Mitchell, wanted for a $10,000 bank robbery committed at Williston, Fla., Jan. 21, 1948. Listed as "most wanted" on June 21, 1951.
2. Frederick J. (The Angel) Tenuto, murderer who escaped from the Philadelphia County Prison at Holmesburg, Pa., Feb. 10, 1947. Listed as "most wanted" on May 24, 1950.
3. James Eddie Diggs, sought for the murders of his wife and two small sons at Norfolk, Va., on May 28, 1949. Listed as "most wanted" on Dec. 7, 1954.
4. David Daniel Keegan, charged with being the ringleader and trigger man of a bandit trio who murdered farmer William Edwards near Mondamin, Iowa, on Feb. 22, 1954. Listed as "most wanted" on June 21, 1954.
5. Flency Payne, sought for the murder of a man with whom he quarreled over a woman at Scott, Miss., on Aug. 2, 1953. Listed as "most wanted" on Feb. 2, 1955.
6. Daniel William O'Connor, U. S. Army deserter charged with passing fraudulent checks in North Dakota, Montana and Oregon in the spring of 1953. Also Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer in British Columbia. Listed as "most wanted" April 11, 1955.
7. Eugene Francis Newman, sought for the attempted robbery of an armored truck carrying $488,500 at Buffalo, N. Y., on Aug. 3, 1955. A guard was critically wounded. Listed as "most wanted" May 28, 1956.
8. Carmine di Biase, being hunted for the cold-blooded murder of Michael Erreciello, 37, in New York City on Dec. 26, 1951. Listed as "most wanted" on May 28, 1956.
9. Ben Golden McCollum, murderer of two fellow inmates at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, sought since his escape on May 1, 1954. Listed as "most wanted" on Jan. 4, 1957.
10. George Edward Cole, charged with the murder of San Francisco Police Sgt. Joseph Lacy during a holdup attempt on Dec. 30, 1956. Listed as "most wanted" on Feb. 25, 1957.

North Dakota, Montana and Oregon in the spring of 1953. Also Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer in British Columbia. Listed as "most wanted" April 11, 1955.

7. Eugene Francis Newman, sought for the attempted robbery of an armored truck carrying $488,500 at Buffalo, N. Y., on Aug. 3, 1955. A guard was critically wounded. Listed as "most wanted" May 28, 1956.

FAMILY HARMONY — Mrs. Katherine Assante, 35, New York City's Polio Mother of the Year, joins in a songfest with her children, Denise, 8, and Armand, 7. Paralyzed in arms and legs seven years ago, Mrs. Assante overcame her affliction enough to take care of the children and do her housework.

Someone's Listening In!

OYSTER, Va. (AP)—The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot says fishermen off shore here are reporting poor catches in their radioophone conversations. Reason, the paper said, is that after telling each other of large catches they found the prices on shore decreased as fast as their reports increased.

Use Milk-White Jar

NEW YORK—A new milk-white glass jar is being marketed as a decorative food, candy or vitamin container. The New York manufacturer says the jar is ideal for housewives who want to keep vitamins on the breakfast table instead of in the medicine cabinet.

4. Gloves for a Boy

It was not only the ladies of olden times who wore fine gloves. Indeed, we have more men's gloves in museums today than those of women.

Men really needed gloves. Knights wore elaborate metal gauntlets to protect their hands and forearms in tournaments. Falconry was a favorite sport and the falcons had sharp wicked beaks and cruel claws. To handle them the falconer needed heavy leather gloves as a protection.

When two men quarreled one would fling his glove at the feet of the other. The other accepted the challenge by picking up the gauntlet. We still say, "Throw down the gauntlet" meaning a challenge.

Here are three old time gloves for a boy of today who has a big challenge.

No. 1 is an English falconer's glove of the 15th Century. It's made of very heavy leather with stitched cuff.

No. 2 is a French glove of the 17th Century.

No. 3 is a piece of 16th Century German armor, hand forged and carefully fitted.

Paste this picture down on thin cardboard and color with crayons. Cut out the parts carefully. Fold back all the tabs and fit the gloves over the boy's upturned hand.

Walks Over 12 Miles a Day

Lady Mailman Stays Slim

RAVENA, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Paul Falkner's social circle is expanding but her waistline isn't.

As a woman mailman she walks an average of 12.5 miles every working day. The official publication of the State Assn. of Letter Carriers says Mrs. Falkner is the only woman letter carrier in New York State.

A solidly built, 32-year-old woman with brown hair and eyes, Mrs. Falkner hefts the 20- or 30-pound mail bags with ease. She is approximately 5-foot-9 and weighs in the neighborhood of 140.

Mrs. Falkner said that "people thought I was crazy" when she started her mail career in this community near Albany in the winter of 1955. She adds, "many people still do."

But they decided she really meant to stick it out when she appeared with ski pants and a hunting pack in subzero weather.

In addition to her job, Mrs. Falkner cares for her three children, 11, 7 and 5, and is active in the fire department auxiliary, a local motorcycle club and the Ravena Letter Carriers Assn. Her husband, 33, also is a letter carrier.

Mrs. Falkner says she "sure wouldn't recommend" her job for most women. Her qualifications include years of truck driving for Railway Express, skating, skiing and motorcycling, and a rugged constitution.

A lady letter carrier, she says, gets some unusual requests. She answers youngsters' homework questions, helps them repair their bikes and straightens out cookie recipes for wives along the route. Once she stayed long enough to rebake a faltering cake.

Truman Library Rites Postponed to July 6

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (INS) — A shortage of rooms in Kansas City hotels has forced postponement of the dedication of the Harry S. Truman Memorial Library in nearby Independence from the former president's 73rd birthday on May 8 to July 6.

Mayor Robert P. Weatherford Jr., dedication chairman, explained that the event was rescheduled for the July date because it was a better time for obtaining quarters for the expected 2,000 guests.

Quakes No Indication of Unusual Increase

ANN ARBOR (INS) — A University of Michigan geologist claims the recent earthquakes throughout the world do not indicate a "rash" of such shakings.

Dr. J. T. Wilson, chairman of the U. of M.'s Department of Geology, said:

"This is no sudden 'rash' of quakes. It just happened that some of the more recent shakes came in places that arouse interest."

"The quakes in Greece occurred in populated areas. They made good reading."

"And when earthquakes in the Aleutians set off tidal waves in Hawaii, that, too, raises the quake above the ordinary."

Dr. Wilson said there is no "pattern" of quakes and no overall increase globally in the shakings.

Wilf Pickering noticed pound sterling notes in the conveyor belt of a London rubbish incinerator and saved $300 in currency from the burning pile.

Russia Developing 'Flying Whale' Plane

LONDON (AP) — Soviet designers are developing a new transport plane already nicknamed "the flying whale."

Moscow radio quoted one of the designers, Oleg Antonov, as saying: "To compare this machine with the whale is apt. The plane reminds one of an amiable whale. A town bus could easily drive in through the rear doors of the aircraft."

The broadcast gave no other details.

India's Capital City Bans Alcohol Ads

Rerieved—and Lost!

SOUTH NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Tracy, a 3-months old pup, was to be gassed if a new owner couldn't be found. Many offers came for the puppy and a four-year-old boy was selected. But after finding the owner they couldn't find Tracy who disappeared on the eve of his reprieve. Mail handling by the U.S. postal service amounts to about 20 pieces of mail each year for every world inhabitant.

All in the Family

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—Circuit Judge Gerald Bolleau, Wausau, a candidate for reelection, was going over his nomination papers when he found one completed sheet that carried only the names of the Theller family of Tomahawk. The paper, containing 21 names, was circulated by Ralph Theller. About 100,000 sea shells are known and named and they range in size from microscopic varieties to 500 pounds in weight.

Donor Was Humble

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The pastor of the Westminster Congregational Church received a pleasant surprise from a $300 contribution in the Sunday collection plate. Nine $100 bills were in an envelope marked "for the building fund." There was no clue to the donor. Adults who do not drink enough milk to get needed calcium for the bones can obtain it from cheese, ice cream and bread made with dry milk.

Troxell Name Synonym for Music in Ashland

ASHLAND, Va. (AP)—Some 200 singers from schools and colleges in this area joined Randolph-Macon College in honoring the Troxell family. Charles Troxell directed the College Glee Club from 1932 until 1942, when he was succeeded by his son William, the present director. Another son, Mark, was student director in 1936-40 and Mrs. Nina Troxell Seymour, a daughter, was accompanist for several years. And the 200 singers at the ceremony were directed by Charles Troxell.

Low Costs, Huge Demand Boom Japanese Builders

TOKYO (INS) — Japan's shipbuilding industry, completely inactive at the close of World War II, has made a fantastic comeback today to rank as the world's largest producer of ships.

The phenomenal revival of Japan as a shipbuilding nation was told forcefully in an announcement by the Ministry of International Trade and Industry which disclosed that Japanese shipyards had under-construction or had completed 4-400,000 tons of shipping in the first three months of 1956.

The announcement also disclosed Japan exported 55 ships between January and June of 1956 with a total value of $100-754,000. This represents a six-fold increase over ship exports during the first six months of 1955.

Transportation Ministry sources report that the nation's 24 major shipyards have enough back orders to keep them busy until the end of 1958.

And foreign orders are still pouring in.

Experts attribute this success story to two main reasons:

1. The upsurge of world demand for ships including tankers.
2. Japanese building costs per ton are considerably lower than in other countries.

Shipping officials say the rush of foreign orders began in autumn 1954—partly because yards in Britain and other European countries were filled and partly because of lower Japanese building costs.

Costs in Japan range from $190 to $210 per ton for a 30,000 ton tanker the average U. S. cost for such a vessel reportedly ranges in the neighborhood of $260 per ton.

Japan's current annual production capacity for ocean-going vessels is estimated at 1,700,000 tons.

On the basis of current building capacity, Japanese shipyards cannot fill new orders for at least two years.

Shipping circles maintain one reason for the boom is that foreign shipowners have come to recognize that Japanese shipbuilding know-how is on a par with European countries.

The only fear marring this bright picture is a possible shortage of steel supplies. The shipbuilding boom has caused steel demand to rocket to the point where many believe strong measures may be necessary to boost steel imports.

Shipping officials note that whereas in 1955 foreign demand came substantially from such Greek shipping magnates as Aristotle Onassis and Stavros Niarchos, recent foreign orders are largely from the U. S., especially for oil tankers.

Schools $2.6 Billion
'56 Record; Up 5 Pct.

WASHINGTON—Some 2.6 billion dollars was spent on public school construction during 1956, accounting for some 63,000 new classrooms and representing an expenditure 5 per cent over the 1955 figure.

Odds Against Robbers

CHICAGO (U) — Bank robbers had tough luck robbing banks in Illinois during 1956. There were 11 bank robberies and 3 attempted robberies, says Thomas Etcheson executive vice president of the Illinois Bankers Assn. Of the total of 30 robbers involved, 17 were captured. Of the $77,890 loot, $24,433 was recovered.

AF Academy Legends Grow

LOWRY AIR FORCE BASE, DENVER, Colo. (NEA) — Here where the U. S. Air Force Academy is teething, legends for the future are being born.

They come from the dorms, dining halls and football fields at this temporary site below the Rockies. And they've already become a part of Academy tradition that will be handed down for years.

Take the classic caper of the cadet who recently sneaked out of his room "after lights" to visit a buddy down the hall. Unfortunately, that night an instructor made a sudden "room check."

In panic the cadet hid in a closet. But the officer had heard two voices. Suspecting something, he went to the closet and slid open the door.

The cadet stood there at attention wearing a silly grin, but he rose to the occasion with the remark:

"Going up, Sir?"

Another evening a new instructor got the treatment. He heard a door slam at one end of the dorm. Just as he started to investigate, another door was opened and shut loudly at the other end of the building, and then another. Not knowing where to turn, he gave up.

Actually, these doings are exceptional, for discipline is strict and a cadet's schedule fills every minute of the day.

Officers in charge are determined that the Academy will come up to and surpass Annapolis and West Point, their Army and Navy rivals.

For one thing, that means instilling freshmen with Air Force tradition. This particularly applies in the dining hall.

For example, the table is a "ramp" and the kitchen is a "hangar." At the end of each meal dishes must be passed to a crew chief, and a navigator receives all the food and obtains more by raising his right hand.

If there is no more coffee the navigator must report:

"Sir, the coffee has had a flame-out," or "Sir, the coffee is on a cross-country."

FUNISH MISTAKES

Explains one officer:

"In the dining hall and elsewhere, when a freshman commits some infraction of accepted custom or makes a mistake of a serious nature, measures are taken to prevent any recurrence."

In one case a cadet accidentally opened his parachute during a training flight. A serious error, he was required to carry the ripcord handle day and night for two weeks.

In its second year of operation the Academy's student body of freshmen and sophomores totals less than 550 cadets.

Still located here at Lowry, it will be moved to its permanent location in the fall of 1958. Construction at the new site is well under way.

In two years the Academy will be playing a big league football schedule which includes the University of Iowa, Stanford, Tulane and Colorado. The first Army-Air Force game is in 1959.

This last fall the Academy's team played a number of neighbors and two schools on the Pacific coast. They have lost one, tied one and won six.

Already a unique form of half-time entertainment has developed. It's a demonstration by the Academy mascot, a prairie falcon.

Released from high in the stands it makes soaring passes at a lure manipulated in the middle of the field by a cadet.

The first time this was tried recently, the bird made eight passes from all directions. One dive was straight down over the main stands just three feet above the spectators' heads.

'Big Deal' in Texas!

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex. (U)—Hopkins County commissioners have purchased .804 acre for widening of a state highway. The land cost 40 cents.

I believe I'd rather not be a Prince than have to answer those questions Philip's gonna be asked by Queen Elizabeth, such as, "What did you do to amuse yourself while you were away, darling?" . . . An office boy who said he'd overslept was told by the boss: "Heavens, do you mean you sleep at home, too!"—Earl Wilson

Button Warfare Relies on Men

Engineer Says Human Element Becomes More Essential Than Ever

VAN NUYS, Calif. (INS)—A missile engineer said yesterday that pushbutton warfare, instead of taking the human element out of flight, demands far more of man than conventional aircraft.

Stanley A. Hall, head of the human factors staff of the Lockheed Missile Systems Division, told a group of visiting Air Force physicians that "missiles present more human problems than do their manned counterparts."

Speaking before 20 visiting officers from the Air Force school of aviation medicine at Randolph, Tex., at the Lockheed missile plant at Van Nuys, Hall said:

"No device small enough to place inside a missile has yet been developed that can perform with the capability of the human being." He added:

HUMAN TOUCH
"In remotely human-controlled missiles you lose the pilot's kinesthetic feedbacks (the feel of the plane), the visual cues, the auditory patterns—all the data and information for which no really effective substitute has yet been found."

Hall reported that one Lockheed study "showed 25 men required on the ground to take the place of one man we took out of the air."

He said to remedy this, the company is "taking a new look at the human being as part of a functional system" and seeking ways to simplify command systems and improve information feedback from missiles in flight.

Navy Airship Claims New Flight Record

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—The Navy airship ZPG2, which left here March 4 on an Atlantic flight, has broken the existing airship record for nonrefueled flight, the Navy announced.

A record of 200 hours and 12 minutes was set in 1954 by an airship of the same type that took off from Lakehurst, N.J., May 17 and after a flight and over the Bermuda - Nassau - Miami area landed at Key West, Fla., May 25. The Navy said the ZPG2, before it lands again, probably will set an unofficial distance record for airships.

The 343-foot ZPG2, carrying approximately a million cubic feet of helium, was commanded on the current flight by Cmdr. Jack R. Hunt of Rolling Hills, Calif. She left here at 6:32 p.m. March 4, passed Portugal, the Canary Islands, the African coast and was in the vicinity of the Virgin Islands when it passed the 1954 record at 2:45 a.m. yesterday.

Backs Admission of Red China to World Body

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Red China should be recognized by the United States and admitted to the United Nations "ultimately, under suitable conditions," Meyer Kestnbaum, special assistant to President Eisenhower, said Tuesday night.

The suitable conditions for recognition would be a "substantial change in the policy of the Red Chinese regime," said Kestnbaum who is stopping over here on his return from a month - long trip to Australia and Hawaii.

He emphasized that his opinions were personal. "I'm not a foreign policy adviser," he said.

Kestnbaum, named a special presidential assistant a year ago to expedite recommendations of the Hoover Commission on Governmental Operations, said he saw no possibility whatever that Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek could regain control of the Chinese mainland.

On grounds of conscience, officials of some West German towns are refusing to register conscripts for the new German Army, Bonn reports.

Commuter to Ends of the Earth

Dufek: Antarctic Expedition Commander

ADM. GEORGE DUFEK
By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Writer

Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, busy commuter to the ends of the earth, first man in history to step from a plane onto the South Pole and tactical commander of the current U.S. expedition in the antarctic, is a big, genial man who more resembles a winning football coach than a rank-conscious admiral or epic explorer.

Although he has made two trips to the arctic and now is on his fourth to the antarctic, the 54-year-old chief of Operation Deepfreeze declines to play the role of explorer.

"I'm an operations man," he says. "You might say I push ships and planes and men around but I am not an explorer. Admiral (Richard E.) Byrd is an explorer. He is Mr. Antarctica. Me, I'm an operator."

On Nov. 1, Adm. Dufek arrived with the first plane to land at the South Pole, where the expedition is now trying to erect one of a half-dozen scientific stations in the Antarctic. The admiral was the first out. As such, he was also the first man to step on the South Pole since 1912.

HEAVY RESPONSIBILITY

He is a man with heavy responsibilities who modestly tries to minimize his role. Asked to describe his job as expedition leader, he once said, "I just sweat and drink coffee."

But in the unpredictable antarctic, where a sunny day can change to a blinding blizzard in minutes, where ice airports can start breaking up suddenly under the force of hurricane winds, the boss man has many crucial decisions to make. Adm. Dufek makes his quietly, delegates authority and then sweats invisibly.

To hide his concern during a crisis—such as the one last year when seven fliers were missing for a week—the admiral begins reading detective novels on an assembly-line basis.

Or he plays poker, wild poker for low stakes, and sees to it that the conversation stays far from the one subject uppermost in everyone's mind.

Despite his two stars, Dufek rarely chooses to confine himself to "admiral's country." More often than not he can be found talking and drinking coffee with the officers and men, on ship or land. Although he has seen much danger in World War II, in Korea (where he skipped a carrier) and on his polar expeditions, the admiral is embarrassed by any attempt to picture him as a hero.

Once during last year's expedition, a Navy artist presented the boss with a symbolic painting of himself. There was Dufek big in the foreground, on the ice, holding an icebreaker in one hand and a plane in the other.

SUBTLE COMMAND

The admiral warmly thanked the artist, praised his technique and later asked an aide to ask the painter to reduce the heroic proportions of the central figure in the picture. "My wife," he said, "would laugh me out of the house with that one."

A 1925 graduate of the naval academy, Adm. Dufek has been a submariner, aviator and skipper of fighting ships.

By special act of Congress he was retained on active duty beyond his retirement date in 1955.

A man who has built bases in both the arctic and antarctic, Dufek is a commanding officer who knows well his men, his equipment and the bleak, dangerous country they must operate in.

No magistrate would have the power to exclude newsmen from a court, under a bill to be introduced by the Government of Northern Ireland.

'Forces of U.S. Atom-Equipped' Van Doren Shuns 'Easy' Money to Continue Teaching, Writing

Normal Part of Gear, Dulles Tells Newsmen in Australia

CANBERRA, Australia (U-P)—Secretary of State Dulles states U.S. forces "almost everywhere" are equipped with atomic weapons.

"It is almost a normal part of their equipment," Dulles told a news conference at the close of the SEATO Council of Ministers third annual conference.

The eight nations banded together against Communist aggression in Southeast Asia ended their meeting with a call for more economic cooperation coupled with continued military vigilance.

U.S. naval and air forces provide the main striking power of SEATO defenses. Dulles did not say specifically whether the U.S. forces overseas are also equipped with live atomic warheads, but it has been disclosed previously that the United States has stockpiled live warheads at its NATO bases in Europe. Russia has accused the United States of planning to set up atomic launching bases in Europe. Russia has accused the United States of planning to set up atomic launching bases in Asia and Europe.

In Southeast Asia, Dulles said there exists about the same danger of a surprise Communist attack as in the Middle East.

Dulles added "I have a feeling more than ever before that SEATO is a really solid, going concern. I am told Communist propaganda is attacking us very forcefully. That at least proves we are not insignificant."

Dulles said officials in Washington are handling the latest Middle East crisis capably in his absence. He said he plans a leisurely trip home, with a one-day stopover in Honolulu. He expects to be back in Washington Saturday or Sunday to make preparations for the meeting in Bermuda next week between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan.

Because "an increase in TV viewers has cut down evening bus traffic," some services in Belfast, Northern Ireland, are being curtailed.

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (U-P)—Before he was tripped by a relatively easy question, Charles Van Doren made some difficult decisions and came up with the right answers on the quiz program Twenty-One.

Now Van Doren has made the most difficult of many decisions—and come up with the right answer. He's turning down the easy money. He will continue to teach at Columbia University and to work for his doctorate in English literature. He is going to write what he wants to write.

Ever since Van Doren, 31, began winning money on the quiz program, he began winning the esteem and literally the affection of television viewers. He became, as they say, the hottest personality on television in this winter season.

Profitable offers inundated him. They have increased since he was defeated Monday evening by Mrs. Vivienne Nearing when he failed to remember that Baudouin is the King of Belgium. There are offers to deliver lectures in all parts of the country, offers to make recordings, to endorse an amazing array of commercial products, to make guest appearances on all kinds of TV programs.

Deer Research May Point Way to Bone Growth

CHICAGO (INS)—Your broken bones may someday heal faster, thanks to a study of deer.

Buck deer shed their antlers each fall and grow a complete new set by spring. And unlike the horns of some animals, the deer's antlers are bone.

The National Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases Council today commissioned the College of Veterinary Medicine at Colorado State College to study antler growth for five years.

The study is expected to yield new information about the chemical and physical facts of bone growth, which could, in turn, make broken human bones heal faster.

Somebody wants him to start his own television quiz program and somebody else wants him to go to Hollywood. There was a $50,000 screen offer. (That was an easy decision; he turned it down on the telephone.) Being a "personality," Van Doren learned, can be a trying experience.

Very wisely he obtained an agent to handle these complex affairs. Now, says his representative at Music Corp. of America, he "will do nothing that is inconsistent with his career." As of this writing he has turned down every offer—except one. He will appear on NBC radio's Conversation, that excellent program which returns to the air March 21 for a regular Thursday evening series.

For one who earns $4,200 a year as a teacher, it is not easy to turn down offers of thousands of dollars. One might say, "But look at all the money he won on Twenty-One. Actually, his take-home winnings after taxes are unofficially estimated at only $38,000 of the $129,000 he won.

The point is that Van Doren is not trying to trade on his name as a popular quiz contestant. He is going ahead, rather, to make his own name as a teacher and writer. Scarcely anyone remembers who won a quiz contest a year ago. But a writer and teacher like Charles' father, Mark Van Doren, has an honored and lasting place in the life of America.

Check 'Drifts' to Stop

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (U-P)—When rural school buses were stopped by snow in this central Idaho area, the assistant county school superintendent got a first hand taste of travel difficulties. While checking on road conditions, Chester Mc-

Arthur's car was stuck for an hour in a snowdrift.

South Africa's Department of Agriculture plans a war on finches. Dr. T. J. Naude declared, in reporting three swarms on the Springbok Flats, each containing more than a million birds.

Ancient, Modern Meet in Exhibit

Relics From Deserts,
Jungles, Sea and Sky
Stand Side by Side

WASHINGTON — Daring and brilliant deeds are commemorated in Explorers Hall, a tribute to man's desire to know the universe in which he lives.

Its scope is wide: the farthest reaches of the universe and the bottom of the sea; primitive head-hunters and great statesmen; polar regions and steaming jungles; desolate wastes and huge cities; ancient artifacts and experimental aircraft.

Most prized is the Robert E. Peary flag. Hand-sewn by Peary's wife, this United States flag accompanied the explorer on all his polar expeditions. Admiral Peary left pieces of it behind him to mark important steps in man's struggle north.

One segment, running completely through stars and stripes from upper left to lower right, was placed at the North Pole itself, which Admiral Peary was the first man to reach. Mrs. Peary gave the flag to the Society for safekeeping shortly before her death in 1955.

At present, a collection of models of planes and missiles in use by the Department of Defense is being shown.

Screens display thousands of color plates from the National Geographic Magazine, symbolizing the Society's pioneer work in color photography, going as far back as 1918.

These pictures were made from pole to pole, in deserts and palaces, in cities and rural areas around the world.

Other exhibits include: Ancient Greek jars brought up by the National Geographic Society-Calypso expedition from a 2,500-year-old resting place on the bottom of the Mediterranean.

The sun compass designed by the Society's late Albert H. Bumstead for Admiral Richard E. Byrd to use in his first flight over the North Pole, where magnetic compasses are valueless.

Problems of Child Labor Again Rising Across U. S.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the midst of modern day prosperity the child labor menace is rising again.

It is not a thing of the past, contrary to public opinion. And officials at the Department of Labor are gravely concerned.

Their main worry is serious gaps in state child labor laws that prevent youngsters from getting the protection they need.

Federal officials also privately fear that the keep-em-busy solution to juvenile delinquency is steering many boys and girls into undesirable employment channels.

Here's a typical example of what's happening:

A 16-year-old boy in Pennsylvania was sent to a school counselor because he was lazy and kept falling asleep in class.

The counselor discovered that the boy was far from lazy, however. He was working as a dish washer in a restaurant from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. That meant he went to school in the morning directly after leaving work.

Yet authorities could do nothing but advise the boy that this schedule was endangering his health and interfering with his schooling since the hours he worked were legal in Pennsylvania.

"In only about a dozen states would the employment of this 16-year-old have been illegal during the night," says a spokesman at the Department's Bureau of Labor Standards.

"And federal laws do not prohibit night work or limit hours for minors 16 and 17."

Another dangerous gap in child labor laws is the lack of protection for children in agriculture outside school hours.

As a result the following pathetic case was reported from the field to Washington:

A 10-year-old orphan named George left Florida with a crew of agricultural migrants to pick beans up north. He had his heart set on going to a special summer school set up nearby for migrant children. Unfortunately, George was a fast picker and his crew leader wanted him to work from dawn to dusk along with the others. Only the poor pickers were allowed to go to school.

So George figured the only way out was to slack off. For this the boss beat him for laziness and refused to let him go.

That didn't stop the boy. He tried the same thing two times and got two more beatings. But finally the crew leader gave in and George was able to go to school.

"George is unusual," comments a child labor expert. "Most kids in that situation would have given up. And the price he had to pay for education is incalculable."

The other side of the child labor coin turns up in the cases of states that do have protective laws.

A surprised official at the New York State Department of Labor received a call the other day from a grateful grocery store owner. The man reported that a state investigator had discovered that his 16-year-old delivery boy did not have a health certificate.

When the boy went to get the certificate, it was discovered that he had a serious rheumatic heart condition.

"I had that boy climbing stairs delivering groceries practically all day," said the horrified man. "Suppose he had died while I had him doing that work? I would have killed him."

The catch is that only nine states require physical examinations to see whether a boy or girl up to age 18 is fit for the job, an employer offers.

Emphasis during recent years on the juvenile delinquency problem has added a new dimension to child labor.

Some so-called experts have been pushing the idea that delinquency can be solved by keeping young people busy at outside jobs.

"In some instances part-time work may be helpful, but this trend is causing a number of juveniles to take on jobs they can't handle. Authorities point out that the long hours of a job often cause teen-agers to drop out of school, one of the best preventatives against delinquency.

Seasoned for 30 Years

AUSTIN Minn. (AP) — When someone asks Mrs. Allen Oxley to pass the salt and pepper shakers, he'd better be ready to duck. Mrs. Oxley has 1700 of them collected over a period of 30 years. "I can't stop collecting now," she says, "it's like a disease. I'll have to get more cabinets."

Cast in Right Role

Branch Status Under Study

Eye Possible Switch to Civil Service for Auto License Offices

LANSING (AP) — The question of whether branch auto license offices now directed by the secretary of state should come under Civil Service is being studied. Secretary of State James M. Hare appeared before the State Civil Service Commission at a hearing Tuesday to urge that all 212 branch offices come under Civil Service with managers on a fee instead of a straight salary basis.

He exempted the 13 branches now under Civil Service, however.

"Basically, political patronage is bad," Hare said.

At present, branch managers are appointed by the political party in power through the office of secretary of state.

Hare recommended the fee basis because he said that putting all the managers on salary and having the state supply office space for each branch would be too expensive.

Civil Service Commission staff members, however, recommended that only 38 additional branch offices where there is a large volume of sales come under Civil Service jurisdiction.

Included in the staff recommendation was the branch office at St. Clair Shores where Mrs. Anne V. Thorpe, then branch manager, absconded with some $75.00 in state funds a year ago.

Start Course to Train Teachers of Science

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — The National Science Foundation is financing a unique experiment at Antioch College here in an effort to help solve the scientist shortage.

Working on the theory that well-taught high school science courses help attract bright students, the foundation is sponsoring a night school for high school science teachers.

If successful, the foundation hopes colleges and universities throughout the country will adopt the plan.

Designed to give instructors advanced knowledge in chemistry, physics, mathematics and the earth sciences, the once-a-week classes also stress teaching methods and demonstrations that can be duplicated in the average high school laboratory.

Tuition is free and the foundation pays each teacher-student $5 a class night to cover his books and transportation.

Skaters Call Hospital

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Although its staff is anxious to keep people healthy, Gill Memorial Hospital personnel didn't feel they had a right to tell all those people who called whether or not to go skating. Then they found out why ice skaters were phoning. The Herald-Star blushing admitted printing the hospital's phone number for skaters to call — instead of the recreation department's.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is building 10,000 kilometers of television relay transmission lines under the sixth five year plan.

Tourist to Find Gas, New Hotels in Europe

PARIS — A tidal wave of Americans, 700,000 strong, is expected to engulf Europe in 1937. Whether they spend their holiday beside the Zuyder Zee, on the shores of the Aegean or along the Black Sea, these Americans will find the welcome mat out and travel conditions favorable.

Some 130,000 tourists, predicts the American Automobile Association will be motoring in Europe. Contrary to alarmists reports, Europe's gasoline supply is adequate. Hotels are well heated and both buses and trains are operating as usual. There are no restrictions on fuel in two-thirds of the countries of Western Europe. The British Isles, France, Denmark and Turkey do require that tourists buy their gasoline with coupons, but rations are generous. Great Britain reports that there is practically no limit on gasoline for Americans, and France allows the purchase of up to 100 gallons, a supply adequate for 2,500 miles of motoring by European car.

Palace, new luxury hotels have gone up in London, Copenhagen, and several other major cities.

Bob Considine Says:

Jet Engine Deserves More Fame

NEW YORK (INS) — Whenever one starts to write a piece about an unsung cog in a larger and more popular person, machine or event, he would do well to recall Charles Lawrence, the engineer principally responsible for the creation of the Wright Whirlwind engine which enabled Charles A. Lindbergh to fly nonstop to Paris.

In the wake of the tremendous hysteria caused by that great event, friends of Lawrence gave him a small dinner honoring him for his forgotten roll in the achievement.

"This is nice," he said, in responding, "and I appreciate it very much. But who the hell ever heard of Paul Revere's horse?"

This, then, is a little piece about the engine that made possible the recent record-breaking transcontinental flight of Boeing's 707 Stratoliner.

The four Pratt and Whitney J57s never missed a beat during the 2,400 miles we traveled at speeds which at times nuzzled 700 m.p.h. Nor did they falter when they recently propelled three B52s around the world nonstop.

BACKBONE OF SAC

We all hail the Strategic Air Command as the keeper of the peace, which it is, but it could never represent the "massive retaliation" doctrine without the engine.

Its B52s, as well as four or our five production supersonic fighters, all use Pratt and Whitney's J57, as does the Boeing passenger jet. So will the Douglas DC8.

A story goes with it. Eleven years ago the Pratt and Whitney Company was relieved by the government of its last reciprocating engine orders, after building an enormous number of such engines for the bombers, fighters and transports of World War II. It found several companies well ahead of it in the matter of jet engines. It had to do something big, and that called for a decision on the part of Leonard S. "Luke" Hobbs.

Competitors, using their own or British designs, had engines producing 5,000 pounds of thrust, the rough equivalent of 5,000 horsepower. This was being stretched to 6,000 and perhaps 7,000.

It called for what engineers refer to as an "overleap." Hobbs had to jump years of normal development, and his associates therefore set out to create a 10,000-pound thrust engine.

KEPT ON TRYING

The first one ran in 1949 and disappointed. The next year they came up with one that nipped 9,000 pounds. They put it aside and tried of 10,000.

The Navy couldn't see the engine at the time. Others said it would be too heavy ever to be put in a fighter. The men persevered.

At one time, Hobbs had 1,500 engineers, mostly young men, working on the job of asking metal, a wheel, a fire and a compressor to do more than each had ever done before.

The Air Force's ears picked up. It liked the effort. It liked the gamble Pratt and Whitney had taken, too: Betting several millions building the laboratory in which the J57 eventually was born.

(Unable to stand the great cost of needed power plants for the J57 operation, Pratt and Whitney's parent company, United Aircraft, bought up turbines from two World War II cruisers and a destroyer (escort about to be junked.)

AND IT WORKED!

Lt. Gen. L. C. Craigie, USAF, went along with the unborn engine. It worked. One might say it worked—and how! Pratt and Whitney has now produced 8,000 of them, the fruit of the brains of 2,500 subcontractors and vendors.

Just under 40,000 men and women are employed building something that once was just a fond dream. Four of these J57s sang a mighty party song for some of us from Seattle to Baltimore. They will one day soon take people from New York to Paris in 5½ hours.

"All you've actually done," a cynic said recently to Wright Parkins of P-W, "is contain and control fire."

Parkins nodded as he patted a J57, "That's right," he said. "But that's all the Devil has done, too, and look what a place he's got."

A Lot of Taurus

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An elderly woman, making her annual purchase of seven horoscopes at $1 each, told the inquiring store clerk that they were for her three cats, two dogs and two parakeets.

To revise Kipling, "A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is about 85 cents." This poem was written by Opal Holloman Melton before Charlie Van Doren came along: "My eyes are tired . . . my mind is not . . . you see I watch . . . TV a lot."—Earl Wilson.

Dislike for Shocking Oats Leads to Career in Law

KANSAS CITY (NEA)—Judge
Charles Evans Whittaker came home to Kansas City the other day after a headline-making weekend in Washington and observed somewhat wryly to friends:
"It looks like I can't hold a job."

This was his own modest interpretation of his rapid rise in judicial circles from a corporate and trial attorney to judge of a U.S.
District Court in July, 1934, to the U.S. Court of Appeals bench in June, 1936, and a scant eight months later, nomination to the United States Supreme Court.

The 36-year-old jurist, who was named by President Eisenhower to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Stanley F.
Reed, can't recall what made him want to be a lawyer, but the law has been his whole life almost since boyhood.

He grew up on a farm near Troy in northeast Kansas, and his dislike of farm chores may have helped him decide his career. Once while shocking oats, he recalled to friends recently, he wiped his perspiring forehead and declared he was going to find another way of earning a living.

TALKED TO HORSES

"When he would be cultivating corn," his brother Sam remembers, Charley would stand up on the plow and speak to the horses as though he were talking to a jury."

Mrs. R. J. Callahan of Troy, who was a grade school classmate of Judge Whittaker, says now he was an excellent arbitrator even in those days.

"There were never any fights around Judge Whittaker," she says.
"He could talk anybody out of

JUDGE CHARLES EVANS WHITTAKER — Shocking oats con-

Answer Near to Solve Control of Cattle Grubs

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS)—Research experts at Oregon State College believe that they may be near the answer to the control of cattle grubs which cost the livestock industry millions of dollars a year.

For half a century experts have been seeking to control the pest that reduces the value of meat and hides and "worries" animals into losing weight.

An organic phosphate chemical which is only slightly toxic to warm-blooded animals, has controlled from 92 to 100 per cent of all grubs in experiments at Oregon State College for the last two years.

The material, known as ET-57, is given to the animals in doses by mouth. It is not available com-mercially.

The costly cycle of the cattle grub begins with the appearance of heel flies in the first warm days of spring, when they lay their eggs on the hair of animals.

The insects cannot bite or sting, but cattle run frantically in vain attempts to get away from them.
Eggs of heel flies hatch and the larvae burrow into the skin, then spend about eight months migrating through body organs and muscular tissue. They finally reach the skin surface of the animal's back, source of shoe leather, and there puncture holes, fall to the ground, mature into heel flies and start the cycle over.

Just Blithe Spirits

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—From the smell of things you'd think the boys were having a high old time at City Hall. That's because the disposal point for moonshine whiskey is the men's washroom in the basement. When the condemned liquor goes down the drain the aroma wafts up to paint the premises with a genuine barroom atmosphere.

Ministers Meet Head-On

PADUCAH, Ky. (U)—Two Methodist ministers were jarred by their first meeting here. Their autos collided head-on. Afterwards, the Rev. Robert W. Lewis, 40, and the Rev. Eddie Cook Whitworth, 67, shook hands and each agreed to pay for the damage to his car.

Dorothy Cousins, weight two pounds at birth, attained health and weighed 10½ pounds after 50 days in City Hospital at Belfast, Northern Ireland.

SPokane, Wash. (AP)—When firemen rushed to Spokane's leading hotel with two big hook and ladder trucks and several hose wagons, they found the smoke was just coming from a kitchen radio. It had heated up during a news broadcast.

Radioactive Traces Scatter Over Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Radioactive dust, rain and snow have been reported in northern and central Japan following the Soviet nuclear test explosion March 8.

Japan for the first time asked Russia Monday to suspend her nuclear tests.

The Soviet Union began a series of nuclear tests last August. Since then the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has reported four nuclear blasts, the most recent last Friday.

Dr. Hironobu Watanabe of Niigata University said jet stream winds apparently carried radioactive particles from last week's test over Japan. Japan recently has made three unsuccessful appeals to Britain to call off the H-bomb tests scheduled for this spring at Christmas Island in the Pacific.

Truth Is Expensive

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Orville Hayworth, 47, was highly indignant when charged in City Court with driving 100 miles an hour. "I was only going 80," he insisted. That was good enough for $10 and costs.

Sees High Sale of School Bonds

City Official Says Total Will Reach $2.7 Million in Few Weeks

The Pontiac public schools will sell $2.7 million in bonds "in the next few weeks," Otto C. Hutziger, assistant school superintendent in charge of business, revealed today.

The money will partially finance "steps two and three" of the school board's 10-year program for new school construction, he said.

In the 1957-58 budget, the money will be added to $2.5 million set aside from expected income to build two elementary schools, additions to two other elementary schools and about three-quarters of the planned new high school, he said.

Part of the loan will pay half of the "step three" building program for the 1958-59 budget. Construction plans under that step will be outlined by Hutziger to the board in May.

ALSO INCLUDES

The 1957-58 budget will include the Harrington Hill and Kenneth Road Schools now under construction and additions to the Malkin and Bethune Schools, Hutziger stated.

Of the total $2.2 million planned for the coming fiscal year, both from the bond issue and anticipated revenue, some $2.5 million will go for the 1,000 student high school which will cost, when it is completed, $3.5 million, Hutziger said.

YMCA Sets April 4 Annual Dinner Date

The 57th annual dinner - meeting of the Pontiac young men's Christian Association is scheduled to be held at the YMCA, 131 Mt. Clemens St. April 4, at 6:15 p.m., according to Earl Maxwell, chairman of the event.

Guest speaker will be Fred Noyes, vice president of Jam Handy Organization Detroit, producers of commercial movies.

The nominating committee, headed by Richard Fisher, will present a slate of proposed officers for the coming year. Election of officers' directors will be conducted during the meeting.

Assisting Maxwell in planning the annual event are Ralph Norvell, Russell Bassett, Dan Murphy, James Corwin and E. R. Pettengill.

Being Ejected From the Stork Is Mark of Distinction

Club Ousts Those Who Really Rate

By PHYLLIS BATTLELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—When an innocent young girl arrives in New York, wrapped in glamorous aspirations and a mink-dyed mole stole, her highest ambition likely is to loll away the nights on the "right" side of Mr. Sherman Billingsley's red velvet rope.

The Stork Club, as seen through the dewed eye, is a veritable heaven ala truffes—and oh, how fabulous appears the escort who can say, "Hi, Sherm," and pass on to the Cub Room without undergoing a social grilling.

These were my thoughts when the mole and I came to New York in 1947. But now my emotions are scrambled. Now I begin to suspect that it is not so great a mark of distinction to be admitted to the Stork, as it is to be ejected.

Actually, when you run down the lengthening list of Billingsley's rejects, you come across many of the town's best-hailed and heeled celebrities.

And you wonder philosophically, a trifle sadly: "Why haven't I made the grade? Why am I not big enough and important enough to be ejected by Billingsley's blue-blooded bouncers?"

"What have I not done to deserve this ignominy of belonging to the dwindling crowd of New Yorkers who may enter the golden portals of the Stork as long as they have the money and a reservation?"

GLEASON'S GONE

This tortured self-beating began in earnest last week when I learned that lovable, if loud, Jackie Gleason had been ordered to leave this plush sanctum of snob appeal.

According to the stories, Jackie received the heave so shortly after his arrival that he'd scarcely had time to say "Hi, Sherm."

After Gleason departed, a crew of cops arrived to answer a phone call reporting that the star, who earns his Stork Club money for being boisterous on TV, was being "bolstered" unappreciated in the SC.

enemy aircraft. It will cost three billion dollars and take many years to complete. It is called SAGE, meaning Semi-Automatic Ground Environment.

SAGE consists of long-range radar which feeds signals into electronic brains.

Although primarily designed to detect enemy aircraft, five CAA experts are now studying SAGE for possible adaption to civilian air traffic control. But the Air Force hasn't indicated whether or not it could or would permit dual usage.

PRESENT ANSWER

CAA's present answer to the growing collision danger is a three-year plan anticipating a four-fold increase in air traffic. The first step is the installation of 23 long-range radars, to start this summer. These radars will extend the "vision" of controllers up to 200 miles from the most crowded terminals.

All radar is use by CAA will be modernized and communications between ground and air also will be improved and extended. Total cost of this three-year project is $46 million dollars.

But there is still some doubt whether it will handle the increase of air traffic, which will then include high speed jet transports.

Full Control Will Take Time

Threat of Air Collisions Expected to Get Graver

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The danger of mid-air collisions caused by overcrowded, under-controlled air lanes is going to get worse before it gets better.

It already reached one tragic climax this winter when a DC7 transport and an Air Force jet—both on test flights—collided over a California school yard killing and injuring children when the flaming wreckage landed.

It could be more than three years before Uncle Sam catches up with the increased hazards caused by the terrific growth of private, military and commercial flying, an investigation of the problem reveals.

Last year overcrowded air lanes, aggravated by bad weather, caused a record number of flight cancellations. And last summer—after the collision of two airliners over the Grand Canyon which killed 128 persons—it was revealed by the Air Transport Association that there were an average of four near-collisions per day over the U. S.

RATE GOES UP

Reports during recent months indicate that this rate has gone up in spite of tightened traffic control procedures of the air lines and Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Longer range radar, the key to the CAA's plan for controlling this danger, won't start being delivered until next summer. It'll be three years before the CAA's new traffic control plan is completed.

Several weeks ago the ATA had to agree to new specifications for radar collision avoidance equipment. This means that it could be several years before the new equipment is generally adopted by the airlines, since the problem has turned out to be far more complex than the experts originally thought.

COLLISION COURSE

At first ATA experts thought radar could be installed in airliners to warn a pilot when he was on a collision course with another aircraft. Several airlines ordered this equipment from Collins Radio Co.

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—State Highway Patrolmen Francis E. Neubauer and Everett Estes now know how it is to be left holding the bag.

They found a suitcase beside the road and opened it to find a gunnysack filled with a strange object that moved. Cutting the string binding at the top of the sack, two cats leaped into the darkness and disappeared.

Girl Scouts Celebrate 45 Years

for the Girl Scouts 45th Birthday. Members of Troop 35, these girls are learning that cake making isn't such a hard process. And the results are so good!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Local Girl Scouts are baking cakes as part of their forty-fifth birthday celebration this week. It's a logical process. Who ever heard of a birthday without a cake?

Three girls from Mrs. David Livingstone's troop got together last Saturday and made a "practice" cake. They're going to make this cake for the Neighborhood meeting later on and they want to be experts. Anyway, the Press photographer was coming to take their picture with a finished cake.

After the accompanying picture was taken, the cake was cut, sampled and pronounced a big success by everyone. These three young ladies will not have to rely on package cakes exclusively when they grow up and keep house.

Cooking and baking have been a major part of the Girl Scout program ever since the organization was formed in 1913. Believing that homemaking is a vital part of every woman's life, the Girl Scouts have included training in this field in all levels of the program, from the youngest Brownies to the oldest Senior Scouts.

Homemaking badges are the most popular ones: Girls in the 7-12 year-old Scout troops are avid cooks. They literally taste the fruits of success and are eager to try new recipes. In inclement weather they concentrate on indoor door cooking. Spring, summer and fall brings a rash of cookouts.

This basic spice cake recipe can be made by anyone in the family. Even Father may try his hand at it. It can be made into a layer cake, a loaf cake or cupcakes.

An orange frosting is suggested for younger cooks, a cooked maple frosting for older ones. Happy

Graham Crackers Add Flavor to Apple Pudding

A delicious apple pudding with a new flavor twist is made with graham crackers, and is both quick and easy to prepare. Combine 1 cup graham cracker crumbs, 4 pared and sliced apples, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, 1/2 cup brown sugar, the juice of 1 lemon and 1/2 cup water. Turn into well greased casserole and bake, uncovered, in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 25 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve warm. Serves four.

Fish Rarebit Is Tasty

Serve this tasty fish flake rarebit over toast points. Cook a bit of chopped onion and green pepper in butter until tender. Add condensed tomato soup, drained canned fish flakes and plenty of grated sharp cheese. Cook over low heat until the cheese is melted.

Brushed or drizzled on ham during the last half hour of baking, honey adds flavor and gives a golden glaze.

Basic Spice Cake

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups pastry flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs
1/2 cup oil

Melt shortening and set aside in a warm place. Fat should be melted, but not hot when it is used. Sift dry ingredients together. Combine shortening, eggs, milk and vanilla. Add to dry ingredients and stir vigorously until well mixed. Pour into two 8" layer pans, or into cupcake pans, or into an 8x12 pan or loaf pan.

Bake in moderate oven at 375 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes. Bake loaf cake at 350 degrees.

Uncooked Orange Frosting

1/2 cup margarine or butter
1 egg yolk
1/2 tablespoon undiluted frozen orange juice
1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup of sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon milk

First, cream shortening until fluffy. Beat in egg yolk, juice, rind and salt. Gradually add sugar and milk, beating until fluffy, and spread on cooled cake.

Teen-agers—or even Dad—can have fun making a maple and nut icing for an elegant layer cake. Only three ingredients are needed: 1 cup of maple syrup, 2 unbeaten egg whites and 1/2 cup of chopped nuts.

First cook syrup to firm-bell stage (242 degrees). Beat in a fine stream into egg whites. Continue beating until icing stiffens. It remains soft enough to frost and fill either whole kernel or cream style corn.

Corn Stuffed Peppers

2 green peppers, cut in half lengthwise
1 can (13 ounces) whole kernel golden corn and one cup medium white sauce or 1 can (1 pound) golden cream style corn
2 eggs cooked ham, ground
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs
Pinch salt

Wash the peppers; remove seeds and seed parts. Place in 1/2 cup of boiling salted water; steam in covered pan 5 to 8 minutes.

Combine corn (white, sauce), ham and mustard. Fill drained green peppers with mixture. Sprinkle with crumbs and decorate with pimiento strips.

Place in a shallow baking dish with 1/4 cup water; bake for 30 minutes at 375 degrees. Serves six.

Rhubarb Adds Flavor, Eye-Appeal to Menu

To put more eye-appeal into meals, try adding hothouse rhubarb. The rosy pink color of rhubarb will liven the most stubborn appetites, says Consumer Marketing Information Agent Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

A pound of rhubarb will make four or five half-cup servings of tart sauce. For an eight or nine inch pie, select 2 pounds of rhubarb.

Either pink or red colored stalks that are crisp and fresh appearing will have the best flavor. The most tender rhubarb has fairly thick stalks.

Tried Honey-Squash?

Arrange 1/2-inch circles of seeded acorn squash in a shallow baking dish. Drizzle honey over them, sprinkle lightly with ground cloves and dot generously with butter or margarine. Bake, covered, in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking 15 minutes longer, or until brown.

Corn has long been a popular and adaptable vegetable. Available in a variety of styles, canned corn can be served often without losing its welcome at the table.

Plump, golden kernels, smooth cream style, corn on the cob, or tender juicy white kernels—choose your favorite, but choose canned corn often. It is the basis of many hearty main dishes.

Corn-Stuffed Peppers are an appealing, easy meal-in-a-dish. Use

The Hills family invites your family to enjoy the first instant coffee that smells like coffee!

If you like the convenience and economy of instant coffee...but miss the fragrance and flavor of fresh-brewed coffee...we hope you'll try our new Instant Hills Bros. Coffee.

Coffee is our only business. We've been blending and roasting fine coffees for three generations—since 1878. And in city after city where it's sold, more people enjoy Hills Bros. Coffee than any other brand.

For the last twenty years, we've been working and testing to create an instant coffee that would equal the best cup of coffee you ever enjoyed. We refused to introduce it until it was right and ready. Now we believe we've got it—and we think you'll agree when you taste and smell Instant Hills Bros. Coffee.

Why did we take twenty years?

That's a long time to wait when other good instant coffee is on the market. But we had two tough problems to lick:

First, we had to find a way to keep the elusive flavor "esters"—the delicate flavor tones that are usually lost in manufacture. We did that by our own special production process, different from anything else in the coffee industry.

Second, we had to preserve aroma and flavor better than anybody had ever done it before. We succeeded by packing our coffee in a flavor-protecting vapor which is locked inside the jar by an inner-seal of aluminum foil that keeps taste in, keeps air out—Hills Bros. original TASTE-LOK®.

Smell—and taste—the difference!

Your first cup of Instant Hills Bros. Coffee will be pleasant and positive proof that our twenty years of work weren't wasted. You'll find aroma and taste combined in the cup to give you all the full-bodied, lingering flavor you've always associated with fine coffee.

In spite of its rich aroma, flavor and freshness, Hills Bros. costs no more than other good instant coffee. You can make it in cup or pot. There's no work, no waste, and you get a wonderful cup of coffee every time.

Instant Hills Bros. Coffee is on your grocer's shelves right now—in 2-ounce and 6-ounce jars. Our family is proud of it. If good coffee is important to your family, we hope you'll try our product and share our pleasure. Today's a good day to start.

Every jar of Instant Hills Bros. Coffee has an aluminum inner-seal that keeps taste in, keeps air out... Hills Bros. original TASTE-LOK®. Look for it when you shop—and be sure of fresh, fragrant, flavorful coffee—No Work... No Waste... Good Taste®.

CHOCOLATE RICE PUDDING — In honor of National Rice Week, March 10-16, a special chocolate rice pudding was created. Its smooth creamy texture closely approaches the custard-like rice pudding that used to be baked in old-fashioned ool ranges. Semi-sweet chocolate adds flavor and interest.

Angel Puff Pudding Fine for Rice Week

Just as nursery rhyme little girls are made of "spice and all things nice," so is this Chocolate Angel Puff Rice Pudding.

Who can forget the creamy, hearty rice puddings of childhood? They brought dinner to such a satisfying conclusion—especially when the main dish was light. Those rice puddings acquired their texture from slow cooking in a kitchen coal-range oven.

Our Chocolate Angel Puff Rice Pudding has a creamy, custard-like quality that closely approaches the smooth, rich texture of old-fashioned Rice Pudding.

Semi-sweet chocolate morsels furnish a flourish of glamour for this favorite of puddings, and meringue puffs are polka-dotted with morsels to make this a wonderful way to celebrate National Rice Week—all year 'round.

Chocolate Angel Puff Rice Pudding
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels (reserve 4 tablespoons for decoration—optional)
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
Combine rice, milk, sugar, salt and spices, and bring just to boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in semi-sweet chocolate morsels till melted.

Beat in egg yolks, one at a time. Stir in milk. Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Bake at 325 degrees for 40 minutes. Remove from oven, stir pudding to distribute rice. Prepare meringue.

Meringue
2 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine egg whites and vanilla, and beat till stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar till stiff and glossy. Drop by teaspoonfuls around edge of pudding.

Sprinkle reserved chocolate morsels over meringue. Bake at 325 degrees 15 minutes. Yield: Six servings.

Bright Unpeeled Apples Dress Up Potato Salad

An easy way to dress up potato salad is to add crisp, fresh red apples for color, flavor and crunchy texture contrast. If you like potato salad served warm, the apple can go right into the dressing.

Start by cooking 3 unpeeled potatoes in boiling, salted water until tender when pierced with a fork. While potatoes are cooking, place 1 cup sour cream in a salad bowl, add 3 tbsps. lemon juice, 1 1/2 tps. salt, 1/4 tsp. dill seeds, 1 unpeeled red Delicious or Winesap apple, chopped, and 1/2 small onion, chopped. Peel and slice hot potatoes right in with this dressing. Serves 4.

Try Irish Luck at Soda Bread

Let's give a culinary tribute to Killarney with a traditional Irish Soda Bread.

This deceptively simple loaf bread is easy and quick to make. Buttermilk and lots of currants give it a subtle flavor.

Be sure to let the baked loaf cool completely before you cut into it. This precaution assures you firm, even slices.

Irish Soda Bread
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup currants or dark, seedless raisins
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 to 2 cups buttermilk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Sift together into a large bowl flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Stir in currants or raisins. Combine eggs, buttermilk and shortening. Add liquid mixture to dry ingredients and mix just until flour is moistened.

Turn batter into greased loaf pan 5 1/2 x 9 1/2 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour. Remove from pan immediately. Allow to cool thoroughly before slicing. Makes one loaf.

Use Packaged Foods for Luscious Dessert

It's wonderful, the delicious dishes we can achieve these days with the aid of modern "convenience" foods. For example, here are the directions for a pie that from chocolate crumb crust to luscious creamy filling is put together from products probably right on your shelf this minute:

Shake-A-Coconut Banana Pie
1 1/2 cups chocolate cracker crumbs
6 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 cup canned applesauce
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup chopped almonds
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 14 1/2 oz. can evaporated milk
1 package instant banana pudding
Heavy cream

Mix crumbs and sugar; blend in butter or margarine. Press into 10-inch pie plate. Chill. Combine apple sauce, coconut, almonds, lemon rind and juice; mix well. Pour into pie shell.

Gradually add evaporated milk to pudding; shake up or beat with rotary beater. Carefully pour over applesauce layer. Chill at least 2 hours in refrigerator. If desired, may be topped with whipped cream. Yields 6-8 servings.

Family Will Like Fluffy Omelet With Salad, Rolls

Omelets will strike the right note for a cozy family supper. Just an omelet, salad, and rolls can make a most enticing meal.

Omelets are easy to prepare when you keep in mind these tips: mix quickly; cook immediately; don't cook too long; serve at once on a heated dish.

When it comes to special omelet mixtures, use your favorite vegetable, diced meat or fish, or cheese—or any combination of these. If your family likes cheese, try your hand at one of these unusual blends.

Add a blend of grated Swiss cheese and grated Parmesan... slice cheddar cheese into strips and add to the omelet mixture... or add diced potatoes, onions and cheddar cheese to the mixture.

Another omelet with a Swiss accent contains diced Swiss cheese and crisply cooked diced bacon. For a Puffy Cheese Omelet, fold grated cheddar cheese into stiff egg whites and add to beaten yolks.

Homemade Bread Will Pep Up Lenten Meals

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Interesting breads, either the quick variety or yeast breads, will make Lenten meals more pleasing to the whole family. We'll try to suggest a few new breads for you to try.

In December when the annual Pillsbury Bake-Off was held, a Michigan woman, Mrs. Leland Ross of Roscommon, was a prize winner. Her Starlight Sugar Crisps are delicious crusty sweet rolls that will double any day as dessert. They can be served with a salad, or used for breakfast.

Starlight Sugar Crisps
1 cake compressed yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
3 1/2 cups sifted flour

1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 beaten eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cups sugar

Soften yeast in water (or use 2 package dry yeast in one-fourth cup very warm water). Sift flour with salt; cut in butter and shortening. Blend in eggs, sour cream, one teaspoon of the vanilla and softened yeast. Mix well. Cover; chill at least 2 hours. (Dough may be stored in refrigerator up to 4 days.)

Mix sugar and remaining vanilla. Sprinkle board with about one-half cup of the mixture. Roll out half of dough to a 16x24-inch rectangle; sprinkle with one tablespoon more vanilla sugar.

Fold one end of dough over center. Fold opposite end over to make three layers. Turn one-fourth way around and repeat rolling and folding twice, sprinkling board with additional vanilla sugar as needed.

Roll out about one-fourth inch thick. Cut into 4x1-inch strips; twist each strip 2 or 3 times. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Repeat entire process with remaining dough.

Bake in 375 degree oven 15-20 minutes until light golden brown. Makes about 5 dozen twists.

Instead of buying cheese crackers the next time, why don't you try making your own? They may be served as either an appetizer or late-evening snack.

Cheese Waterettes

1 cup corn meal
2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup shortening
1 cup skimmed cheese spread
1/2 cup milk

Sift together corn meal, flour and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening and cheese spread until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk; stir lightly until mixture is just dampened. Knead gently a few seconds on lightly floured board or canvas.

Roll dough to one-eighth inch thickness. Cut with floured 2-inch cutter. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 12-15 minutes. Makes 7 dozen crackers.

There's nothing like a hot bread for breakfast, is there? This recipe makes an interesting looking coffee loaf. It looks lots more complicated than it is to make.

Crisp-Cross Scone Loaf

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1 1/2 to 2 cup milk

Melted butter or margarine
Cinnamon sugar
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Combine egg and milk and add to flour mixture to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds.

Roll out to rectangle 1/4 inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Roll up like jelly roll, sealing edge. With sharp knife cut into 14 equal pieces.

Flatten each piece under palm of hand, pressing cut side down. Arrange pieces one end, zig-zag fashion, in greased 4 1/2 x 8 1/2-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 1 loaf.

Morning, noon and night and in-between snacks—they all can be opportunities in which to serve homemade breads. Really, it is worth the effort.

Try basting a chicken you are roasting with cooking sherry. Serving fried oysters for lunch? Allow six to a serving.

'Choice Grade' on Meat Tells Shopper Nothing

When reading the food ads there are a number of terms the wise shopper should look for and become familiar with, says the Consumer Marketing Information Service. Most often the prices are printed in large letters, but the descriptive terms in smaller print tell just as much or more than the price alone.

The words "Choice Grade" beef do not tell much other than the meat was NOT federally graded "U.S. Choice." If it were government graded, the ad would say "U.S. Choice." "Choice Grade" is a descriptive word used by the store. It is only meaningful as the store that is using the term.

Add a little rum or brandy flavoring to packaged vanilla pudding and use as a filling for sponge-cake layers. Frost with chocolate icing.

Stewart Won't Capitalize on Promotion to General

(First of two articles on James Stewart.)
By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U)—Most of Hollywood — and the rest of the nation — was surprised when President Eisenhower recently nominated James Stewart to be a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve. Even his coworkers weren't aware that Stewart had remained active in the Air Force, in which he rose from private to squadron commander in World War II.

That is typical of Stewart. He has refused to capitalize on his military career for publicity purposes. (Oddly, his nomination was announced the same week his new film about a flight pioneer was opening in New York. But Stewart had nothing to do with the timing.)

He will, in fact, make no utterance that isn't in keeping with his quiet dignity. Probably it is this integrity both on the screen and off that has made him one of the most popular film stars in the world — and perhaps the highest paid.

His generalship prompts a fresh look at James Stewart of 1957, a mature, sober citizen who still seems boyish despite his graying, thinning hair. He will be 49 May 20. In usual fashion — halting but sincere — he answered a barrage of questions at his Beverly Hills home:

Q—You've had offers to run for important offices in Pennsylvania and California. Why haven't you entered politics?

A—I don't think I'm equipped.

Q—How do you pick your scripts?

A—Well, I read just about everything that comes along. That's all I have time to read, in fact. Every once in a while you come across something that hits you as worth taking a chance on. I've talked to moviegoers from Chile to Japan and the thing that seems tremendously important to all of them is getting an emotional experience from films. Love, hate, fear, greed, etc. Those are the things we should deal in. I don't think we're in business just to spread the American way of life. If our pictures are good, that's enough to win us friends.

Q—Are there any boring things about your business?

A—Damn few, I'll tell you that. Q—Are you as rich as people say you are?

A—That depends on how rich they say.

Q—They claim you're very well fixed.

A—(After long pause) Yes, I'm well fixed. I'm a wealthy man.

Q—What gives you the most satisfaction in your business?

A—Going into a role and giving it all the know-how that I have accumulated in 22 or 23 years in this business.

Slap Lien on Night Club for Excise Tax Violation

NEW YORK (U)—El Morocco, a plush East Side night club, has been slapped with an $849,085 tax lien by the Internal Revenue Service.

The claim, filed yesterday, was for "excise additional" for the taxable period between October 1944 and September 1951.

Details were not disclosed. However, an Internal Revenue spokesman said it was illegal for clubs to allow patrons to escape the federal excise tax on that part of a bill acquired before 9 p.m. when entertainment starts.

Rock 'n' Roll -- Good? Bad?

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Rock and-roll is moving into its second year of fame and it's still in high gear. But moving along right with it is the criticism of the wild music, a criticism that sometimes gets pretty violent and inspires an equally violent defense from the rock-and-rollers.

This type of pro-and-con — a kind of rhetorical rock-and-roll — often reaches its peak among musicians, singers, composers. Some of them condemn rock-and-roll as unmusical nonsense. Others are surprisingly vehement for the defense.

Here are some opposing views of rock-and-roll by some of today's top singers:

Rosemary Clooney: Maybe there is something to be said for it but, you know, the musicians playing on those rock-and-roll records never tune their horns. They are never with the piano and the records sound like they got a bunch together in a vacant warehouse to perfect their recording technique.

Maybe we should keep the "big beat" of rock-and-roll and get back to music. If our top name orchestras, or possibly one yet to be organized, should develop a big-beat, only blending the harmony, rhythms and melody we have been so accustomed to with our big bands, maybe that would be the answer.

I believe that this style of music is just another one of the passing fads.

TIME IS THE TEST

Teresa Brewer: Rock-and-roll has its place in American music. But the place should not be the dominant one on the pop scene. When it comes to lasting beauty and listenability, nothing will ever replace the plain ballad. Can you imagine "Hound Dog" becoming a standard or "Rock Around the Clock" still a favorite 10 years from now? Time is a good test of quality—and it will soon judge rock-and-roll's place in American music.

See House Approval on Tax Extension

WASHINGTON (U)—Legislation to continue business taxes at their present 30-billion-dollar annual level was called up in the House today for expected routine approval.

With both the Eisenhower administration and House leaders ruling out personal income tax cuts this year, there was little prospect Congress would permit a three-billion-dollar drop in the corporate and excise taxes. Present rates drop April 1 unless they are extended.

President Eisenhower asked Congress to extend until April 1958 the present 52 per cent income tax on corporation profits and existing federal excise, or sales, taxes on liquor, cigarettes, jewelry and other consumer items.

Without the extension, corporate taxes would drop to 47 per cent and excises would go back to levels in effect before the Korean war outbreak in 1950.

This year's tax revenues from all sources are expected to total around 70 billion dollars, of which almost half come from individual income taxes, some 30 per cent from corporation income taxes and about 13 per cent from federal excises.

Boats in New Shades

According to Howard Ketcham, noted color and design engineer, boats and yachts are shedding their traditional color schemes and are blossoming out in a rainbow of new seagoing colors. Boat builders, like automobile makers, are offering customers a wider choice of colors including two-tones.

IT CONQUERED THE WORLD

PLUS JUDY HOLLIDAY PAUL DOUGLAS — IN — "Solid Gold Cadillac"

SAT. "IRON SLAVE" & "MASSACRE CANYON"

A rock-and-roll number is, in most instances, simply a beat dressed up to look like a song. However, after you've heard a few of them, you've heard 'em all.

Tony Bennett: Rock-and-roll music has made it. Its mass popularity cannot be denied. It is the "desperateness" of this popularity that seems to scare people. And I wonder if that desperateness for the youngsters is not due, in part, to the complete condemnation of rock-and-roll by the adults.

Rock-and-roll, I feel, will eventually progress to a greater feeling for melody rather than beat.

Boy Dies of Polio Despite Three Shots

NEW YORK (U)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says a New Mexico boy is the first child positively known to have died of polio after three Salk vaccine shots.

The youngster, Tommy Mohr, Albuquerque, died last January. A foundation spokesman said the boy apparently was a rare individual upon whom the vaccine had no effect.

The spokesman said that doctors in Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore confirmed that Tommy's death was due to polio. He said the youngster received his third shot four months before he contracted the disease and this ruled out any chance that he had become infected by the vaccine.

In three other cases reported of children dying of polio after vaccination, the foundation said, investigation showed the following: One victim had not been vaccinated; a second died of another disease; and in the third case there had been no autopsy and thus no way to firmly determine that the victim had polio.

THE INCREDIBLE SHRINKING MAN

GRANT WILLIAMS & RANDY QUART

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND—Members of the press and radio and the Detroit Tigers were guests of Al Hirschberg writer of the story "Fear Strikes Out" which had its first Florida showing at the Lakeland theatre last week.

In the picture version based on the life of Jimmy Piersall, Boston Red Sox outfielder who suffered a nervous breakdown at the start of his Major League career, Tony Perkins, an exciting young star, does a great job in portraying the part.

His stance, his expressions and his mannerisms, even to the hunched shoulders in the batting stance of Piersall are well played. And despite a few mechanical errors which only the most ardent baseball person would probably catch, Perkins is at his best portraying a man stricken with mental illness.

In the picture, Piersall is shown climbing a screen behind home plate at Fenway Park at the time he finally cracked. Piersall, however, actually did this at Birmingham in the Southern Association and not in Boston.

People who will see the movie will leave it wondering if Piersall has fully recuperated from his illness. The Sox player, although cured, has always been considered by writers as a weird sort of a personality, but a nice guy.

When the Tigers opened the spring season at Sarasota against the Red Sox last week, Piersall did a few strange but harmless things which would cause people to laugh but also to wonder.

Such as, when Michigan writers were standing near the Boston dugout, Ted Williams asked the press men to move over so that he could see the infield warm up. After the writers moved, Piersall quickly came over and said, "Boy, you guys sure jumped when Williams barked!"

Actually it was nothing, yet Piersall would be the only one on the entire team to make an issue over it.

Then a photographer came by. Piersall immediately had to take a look at the various photo equipment he was carrying.

When he hit a foul ball into the stands, he had to turn and watch to see who got it. After the fan caught the ball, Piersall gave him a hand.

While at the plate, the Tigers were ribbing him. Don Lee, rookie Tiger pitcher, threw a curve strike past him, and Piersall then turned to the Detroit dugout and yelled, "Maybe this kid will make me his first Major League strikeout victim."

Lee did. He threw a third strike past Piersall. The Sox star stood there momentarily, then pulled his cap over his eyes and ran into the dugout.

These are the odd things he does. It doesn't mean he's wacky. Most writers actually say he is a very likeable person. He is by no means backward, and as a ball player, you can't deny he's a pretty good outfielder on any team.

He has one of the best arms in baseball and takes good care of centerfield. The Red Sox think so.

City Bowler Hits 300

Veteran sports enthusiast Walter Rennhack became "Mr. Bowler" of the Pontiac area last night when he rolled the 1st 300 game to be posted here in several years.

The 39-year-old tool repairman at GMC Truck & Coach hit the perfect score at the Motor Inn Recreation while bowling in loop play last night with Shaw's Jewelers. He also had the 1st 700 series of his 21-year career with 293-213-300.

Rennhack, who carries a 189 average, called it the "most thrilling experience I have ever had." I always dreamed of doing this but never thought I would," he told the Press.

PERFECT—Walt Rennhack of Pontiac came up last night with the 1st 300 game to be rolled in this area in several years. He hit the perfect total at Motor Inn Recreation, bowling in league competition.

ALL UP IN AIR—All but one Lansing Sexton cager was surrounding Hudson Ray in this 2nd period action at Flint IMA's regional tournament last night. Missing from the "squeeze" is No. 20 at left background, Roy Ferguson. All other Sexton players tried to stop the goal, but Ray was high overhead, and started PHS scoring in that period. All five are off the floor.

'Old Man' Does OK Reese Feels Terrible; Hits Homer, Hot Single

VERO BEACH, Fla. (U)—Pee Wee Reese sipped some orange juice, placed the paper cup on his locker shelf and said "oh man! Let me tell you I didn't think I was going to make it to the plate!"

"I sure was hoping Alston would flag me down at third. I was puffin' and puffin'. I could barely breathe!"

The night before, the "old man" playing shortstop for the Brooklyn Dodgers had a temperature of 100 and felt miserable from a cold "or a virus or something like that." He hadn't played in any of the National League champs' four exhibition games.

But here he was in the dressing room at Dodgerstown, all through for the day after a single and an inside-the-park home run, a two-run job that sent the Dodgers on the way to their 3-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday. Reese unbuttoned the top of his uniform shirt, mopped the sweat from his face and poured another cup of orange juice.

"I didn't even want to make this trip up here from Miami," he said. "I was feeling terrible this morning. But Buzzie (vice president E. J. Bava) asked me to play if I could. Well, I missed all the other games, and Snider (sidelined for the moment with a

According to New Rule Hit Batter Can Strike Out

TAMPA, Fla. (U)—It's a warm July night at Comiskey Park on Chicago's South Side. Minnie Minoso is up with the bases full, two out and the score tied in the last of the ninth. Don Larsen of the hated Yankees hits a fast ball through the strike zone but plate-crowding Minoso is nicked on the arm.

Imagine the fans' stormy reaction when the plate umpire gives the "strike three" sign and motions for a new supply of baseballs for the extra innings.

That is the way it is going to be this summer, a season that may produce the highest rhubarb crop since Ty Cobb left the game.

Cal Hubbard, supervisor of umpires in the American League, was talking about the new rules.

Metz Gulf Coast Favorite

GULFPORT, Miss. (U)—Easy-going Dick Metz, flashing the form that made him the terror of the professional circuit a few years back, was the favorite as the 11th annual $5,000 Gulf Coast invitational golf tournament opened today.

Clear skies and a warm sun greeted the bulky field of 168 for the first round of the four-day tournament.

Metz retired from active competition in 1949 after a decade of following the allure of golfing's jackpots. He now lives at Pike Road, Ala., just outside Montgomery, where he operates a cattle ranch. But he found time earlier this year to win the Alabama Open and the state PGA title.

Chiefs Meet Vikings Friday

By M. GUY MOATS

FLINT IMA—Rolling past Lansing Sexton last night 57-51 on the big IMA basketball court, for its 15th victory of the season, Pontiac's high school cage squad meets an old and very highly respected crew in Friday night's MHSAA

Regional tourney here. Northern's Vikings had an easier time getting by Lansing Eastern, 62-44, Sexton's Big Reds gave Art Van Ryzin's club one heck of a time before the match was clinched in the final period.

Friday's semifinals set the Flint Central-Owosso tilt at 8 p.m. and Pontiac-Northern at 9:30. Winners collide Saturday at 9:30 in the title battle.

Just how tough Clayton Kowalk's Sexton five proved to be is revealed in the fact the count was tied six times before the middle of the 3rd period. Lead changed hands five times in the same stretch. Chiefs grabbed the front place 34-33, stayed ahead rest of the way.

Big Jim Skinner, who did yeoman service on both defense and scoring, drove in for a bucket after a hot under-the-basket scramble, to put Chiefs ahead. Dave Diehm added seven straight points to make the margin stick. The hot-shot, outside push shot artist, had himself a field day with a dozen baskets and a trio of free throws to compile a gaudy 27 point total. Every Chief who got in the game contributed to the score.

Bright spots in the PHS play included Hudson Ray's rebounding, along with big help in that department from Dick Whitmer. Hud took 23 rebounds off the boards, Whitmer grabbed 17. Larry Peet's playmaking stood out, too.

One big "noise" and another smaller edition held much of Sexton's punch, both ways. Six-foot-six John Rowan, with 18 and little Greg Eaton with 13 kept the Lansing club in the fight all the way.

Northern's conquest of Lansing Eastern was practically assured at intermission when the Vikings were 41-38. Jack Martette pulled out all his regulars in the finale. Maurice Woodson (12), Chase Tillman (14) and Reg Gillard (14) led Viking scoring. Mike Penner's 21 was tops for losers, and for the game.

No Deals for Finigan

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Manager Jack Tighe has told third baseman Jim Finigan not to worry about published reports that the Detroit Tigers are eager to "dispose of him in a trade."

For the second day in a row the freshman skipper of the Tigers expressed anger at a story which quoted him as saying the club wanted to get rid of the 28-year-old infielder acquired in a winter swap with the Kansas City Athletics.

Yesterday, Tighe decided to have a chat with Finigan. He called the blond infielder aside just before the Tigers took the field against the Washington Senators in an exhibition game. There, Tighe told Finigan his remarks were misinterpreted.

The Tigers dropped their third straight exhibition game, bowing 3-2 to the Senators.

The Detroit club started fast, picking up two runs in the first inning off Chuck Stobbs. But the first inning was the last as far as the Tigers were concerned and they were helpless the rest of the way.

Steve Gromek gave up five hits and two runs and Washington picked up its winning run in the fifth off Billy Hoelt, using only one hit.

Today the Tigers were scheduled against the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg.

Loquacious Charlie Dressen, manager of the Washington Senators, is biding his time until the rest of the people around the American League quit being optimists and start being realists.

"You can't make a decent trade at this time of the year," said the little skipper. "At least, we can't. All the other teams around the league want our front-line players and want to give us a bunch of dogmeat in return. We don't need any mediocre players—guys who do nothing except sit around and draw their salaries."

Other teams have been especially interested in third baseman Eddie Yost, outfielder Roy Sievers and infielder Pete Runnels—along with the Senator's catchers, Eddie Fitzgerald, Clint Courtney and Lou Berberet.

Dressen doesn't agree with those who think the New York Yankees are going to run away with the American League pennant.

"Sure, they're a fine team," he said. "But don't forget, last year for a while they played .300 ball, and still gained ground. They weren't so good all the time—the rest of the teams just didn't take advantage of the opportunities to make it a good race."

Small College Tournaments

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The big boys of college basketball stepped aside again today as the lesser lights went about the task of reducing the field to two in the NCAA Small College Tournament at Evansville, Ind., and to four in the NAIA competition at Kansas City.

Tomorrow the giants of the court will be back in action in double-headers at Philadelphia, Lexington, Ky., Dallas and Corvallis, Ore., in the NCAA Major College Championship. Winners meet Saturday to determine the four teams which enter the semifinals and finals March 22-23 at Kansas City.

Here's how the small colleges will square off in the NCAA affair tonight:

Mt. St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, Md., vs. Kentucky Wesleyan, Lexington, Ky.

Wheaton vs. Los Angeles State. The championship game will be played tomorrow night.

At Kansas City, where play started Monday with 32 teams, the field in the NAIA Tournament will be reduced to four with these games:

Pacific Lutheran vs. Texas Southern.

Hamline vs. Eastern Illinois.

Western Illinois vs. Tennessee State.

Southeastern Oklahoma vs. Youngstown.

The semifinals will be played tomorrow night and the finals Saturday night.

Wheaton rolled up the highest score of the four small college NCAA games yesterday. The Crusaders eliminated South Dakota 90-80.

But Mt. St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, Md., also looked impressive in downing Rider of New Jersey 86-66 with Jack Sullivan, the nation's third highest small college scorer, tallying 39 points.

Pierce Gets 'Lumps' From Brooks' Hitters

VERO BEACH, Fla. (U)—Billy Pierce, the Chicago White Sox' 20-game winner, got his lumps from the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday in a 9-4 defeat but the nifty lefty and Manager Al Lopez shrugged it off.

Pierce was rocked for seven hits in the two innings he worked including a pair of homers.

Wells in Usual Spot

CLEARWATER, Fla. (U)—Ted Wells, aeronautical engineer from Wichita, Kans., is in a familiar spot in the annual international midwinter snipe regatta. A perennial contender, Wells stands first after posting a first, second and third in the three heats sailed so far.

Pontiac Press Photo

FLYING—Dick Whitmer, PHS forward, and Sexton's Horisany go up together as Whitmer shoots for a 2nd period bucket. Last night, at Flint, The Lansing boy's effort was in vain, although he topped the ball with his hand. Pontiac won.

Drayton, Davis in Final Round

Drayton Drug and Davis Machinery won hotly-contested decisions last night at Isaac Cray Jr. Junior High to move into the final round of the Waterford League basketball tournament.

Davis Machinery came from behind in the last minute of play to defeat Matthews-Hargreaves, 65-63. Chuck and Pete Fabhan sparked the winners with 18 and 15 points respectively. Gene Wright tallied 16 for Matthews-Hargreaves.

Drayton Drug finished strong to eliminate Philgas, 85-79. It was Drayton's 1st win over Philgas this season. Clarence Beers rang up 28 points for the Druggists while Bob Hobson topped the losers with 21.

The Druggists' regular season champion, and Davis, the team they beat in a playoff to gain the title, clash March 21 in the Cray gym at 7:15 p.m. for the tournament crown.

Detroit light heavyweight Chuck Spieser was a captain in the U.S. Air Force.

Spartans Remember Early Loss to Irish

EAST LANSING (U)—Michigan State is hoping there won't be any repeat of early season basketball history in the NCAA regional playoffs at Lexington, Ky., Friday night.

The surprising Spartans, co-holders of the Big Ten title with Indiana and the conference representative in the tourney, play a repeat game with Notre Dame as the opener of the sudden death struggle.

The Irish won their way into the competition by beating Miami of Ohio 89-77—their 10th in a row.

Early in the season during a doldrum of four losses, Notre Dame joined the teams that were kicking the Spartans when they were down.

Michigan had just clipped State 70-69 and then the Irish won 86-76.

After one more loss, to Ohio State, the Spartans surged to the top of the heap with 10 straight wins. But the season's finale Michigan did it again; 81-72, to shatter any East Lansing dreams of an outright title.

Coch Fordy Anderson can be philosophical about it now.

"It could have been a very well disguised blessing," he said. "We hope it eased the tension. You can only wind a watch so far before the spring breaks."

Anderson is almost an oddity as a coach in that he is invariably frankly optimistic.

"We're in good physical and mental condition," he said. "We're real proud to be up in that 'sweet 16' of basketball and to be representing the Big Ten. I think we have as good a chance as anyone."

He still has the philosophy of playing one game at a time. "The next one is always the most important," Anderson insisted. "Right now it's Notre Dame."

If MSU wins Friday night, the Saturday night opponent will be the victor in the Kentucky-Pittsburgh game. Kentucky is favored but Anderson isn't doing any advance figuring.

"It's just not practical in tournament play," he said.

The State squad leaves for Lexington this afternoon by charter plane.

Anderson will start his regular lineup of Larry Hedden and George Ferguson at forward, John Green at center, and Jack Quiggle and Pat Wilson at guard.

Terry Zellhart, (No. 5) Charles Barge were watching a hot scramble under the Chiefs' basket. PHS defeated Lansing Sexton in a hot battle, 57-51.

Vikings Down Utica, 60-50

By BILL CORNWELL.
Walled Lake successfully opened its drive for a Class B regional basketball title Wednesday night with a 60-50 victory over Utica in a foul-ridden battle at Pontiac High.

The hard-earned triumph sent the Vikings into Friday night's semi-final against dangerous St. Clair.

Forty-nine personal fouls were assessed during the rough contest, with Walled Lake's aggressive defense accounting for 25 of them.

Three technical fouls were also called, two against Utica.

Four Viking starters departed with five personals in the 4th quarter. Scoring star Larry Hughes was the 1st to go, followed by John Walker, Larry Dion and Dennis McClelland.

Utica was outscored from the floor by a wide margin, 23 field goals to 10, but managed to stay within shooting distance of the Vikings by sinking 30 free throws in 50 attempts. Walled Lake netted 14 gift tosses out of 31 tries.

In complete contrast with the Walled Lake-Utica game was Grosse Pte. St. Paul's 44-31 decision over Armada in Class C competition. Only 15 fouls were called in that scrap, 11 against the winners.

Grosse Pte. led all the way to earn a shot at Detroit All Saints in Friday night's 'C' semifinal.

Armada trailed at halftime, 20-12, and showed little of the spark that upset Inlay City in the district tournament.

Bill Vermulen, Dan Sheridan and Dave Ayrault handled all of St. Paul's scoring. Vermulen and Sheridan each meshed 16 points while Ayrault bagged the remaining 12. Oddly enough, St. Paul failed to make a foul shot.

Walled Lake was both good and bad last night. The Vikings were impressive in the 1st half as they stormed ahead at intermission, 39-25. They did a turn-about-face in the 2nd half and gave a ragged performance.

The Vikings were in front all the way by margins of eight to 13 points. Hampered by personal fouls in the final period, Walled Lake stalled to ward off the desperate Chiefs.

Hughes paced the Vikings with 18 points, followed by Tom Willwerth with 15 and Walker with 11. Lou Hance and Jim Cole scored 15 and 14 respectively for Utica.

Clarkston and Orchard Lake St. Mary take over the spotlight tonight in a Class B tilt at 8:15. The winner advances to Saturday's final. St. Cecilia and St. Charles open tonight's card with a 'C' game at 7 o'clock.

Maples, Oaks Eliminated

By CHUCK ABRAH

The axe dropped on two more Class A basketball teams in the Birmingham Regional last night as host Maples and Royal Oak failed in strong bids to upset the favorites.

Moving on to a Friday semifinal were Detroit Catholic Central and Berkley. Semifinals get underway tonight with Mt. Clemens battling strong East Detroit. Championship will be decided Saturday.

Catholic Central was pushed to the limit in downing Birmingham by a 55-55 count in Thursday's opener. Berkley, which had walloped Royal Oak easily just last week, gained a hard-earned 45-41 verdict over the Oaks.

Birmingham trailed most of the way but kept the large crowd on the edge of its seats with repeated comebacks. Maples gave the visitors a busy time of it from the opening whistle, but led only in the 3rd period.

Parochials led 12-8 at the 1st period and 28-24 at halftime before a newcomer to the BHS lineup named Tom Estes sparked a big 3rd surge. Playing his 1st game, Lansing Eastern transfer got six key points as Birmingham went in front 40-38 late in the session.

Lead was short-lived as Tom Kramer, who paced the winners with 21, hit four quick points and Central maintained a slight edge rest of the tilt. Bob Isbell led Birmingham with 21.

Royal Oak also used a fine 3rd period to give Berkley a scare. An eight-point spree by John Erickson enabled Oaks to slice a seven-point deficit to two going into the last quarter but the Bears quickly increased that margin to six and held on.

Little guard Ray Tallman was top man for Berkley with 10. Erickson hooped 17 and Fred Wasen 12 for the losers.

Woman 1st Bowlerama Entry

By CHUCK ABRAHAM
A Waterford Township woman was the 1st person to enter the big Pontiac Press Bowlerama to be held here April 6, 7, 13, it was announced today by tournament manager Les Rothbarth.

Mrs. Evelyn Prosser, wife of Dr.

M. G. Prosser, was the 1st to submit an entry for the singles handicap event. The Prossers live at 2854 Orangegrove Rd.

Several hundred other women from the Pontiac area and around Oakland County are expected to follow Mrs. Prosser's lead and take part in this new tournament for both men and women. Many are now competing in the annual women's meet.

Mrs. Prosser is well known in local keg circles. She has been active in league competition for the past nine years and currently holds the top average in the Gay Times League at Huron Bowl with 163. However, her team known as "The Stinkers" ranks only 4th.

So there you are. It took a woman to get things rolling. There will be many more in the near future so you men better get those blanks in if you don't want to be outnumbered.

Tourney officials are expecting the male entries to double the women by the time the March 31 deadline comes around. That leaves just 17 days to get that entry in, fellows and gals.

Blanks can be obtained at any bowling establishment in Oakland County and will also be available at Ackerman's Trophy store on Auburn Avenue. They will be printed in The Press from time to time before the deadline. These may be clipped out and mailed in. All entries should be mailed to Rothbarth in care of The Press Sports Department.

The major things to remember for those interested in competing in the event are that they must be residents of Oakland County and sanctioned with ABC and WIBC. Entry blanks must be filled out completely and the $4.50 fee attached.

PHS Has Five in Finals

Five Pontiac boys will be among 27 Oakland County wrestlers participating in the state mat finals to be held at Michigan State Friday and Saturday.

Dave Payne, 120-pound Saginaw Valley champion, Duke Relyea, 175, 165-pound John Herron, little 85-pound Jack Keller and Mel Nosanchuk, 133, are the local grapplers who qualified for the championship round with strong showings in the Berkeley regional last Saturday. It is the 1st year for the sport at PHS.

Hazel Park is the county school with the most aspirants for state honors with nine going to East Lansing. Berkeley will have eight, Farmington four and Southfield one.

Tournament gets underway Friday at 3 p.m. with the preliminary round. It resumes at 7:30 that night. Semifinals get underway

Saturday afternoon at 2 and the finals that night starting at 7:30. Top teams and outstanding individuals will receive awards. Team trophies go to the champions and runnersup, while the 1st four individuals in each weight class will receive awards.

Says She Will Become a Pro

LOS ANGELES (U) — Olympic star Patricia McCormick, 26, perhaps the greatest woman springboard and platform diving champion, says she is turning professional.

She said her professional debut will be April 4 at the Los Angeles sportsmen's show. An eight-week tour with a bathing suit manufacturer and "other offers" will follow, she said.

Bruins Gain Tie for 2nd on 2-1 Win

Victory Keeps Boston in NHL Title Race as NY Misses Cup Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Bruins, best by injuries and illness to key players most of the season, are right back in the thick of the fight for second place in the National Hockey League.

The battered Bruins rallied for a pair of goals in the final period — the winning marker coming with just 12 seconds left — to edge the New York Rangers 2-1 last night in the only game played.

In posting the dramatic victory, Boston climbed into a second-place tie with Montreal at 75 points each. The two teams still are within reach of pacesetter Detroit, which has compiled 80 points. The Red Wings and Canadiens have five games apiece remaining and the Bruins four.

Fleming Mackell was injured early in the season and Jerry Toppanini was out for over a month with severe facial injuries. Goalie Terry Sawchuk retired because of "nerves" and Leo Bolvin has been troubled with a skin infection. Last Sunday defenseman Allan Stanley was sidelined with torn ligaments in his left knee.

Mackell produced the game-winning goal last night after Leo Labine had tied it up at 12:30 of the third period.

The Rangers could have clinched a Stanley Cup playoff berth had they won. Instead the setback shattered their seven-game unbeaten streak. Dave Creighton scored New York's lone goal.

Toronto visits Montreal tonight and if the Leafs lose, the Rangers would back into the playoff berth.

Detroit Keglers Gain 2nd Place

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U) — The American Junior Bowling Congress of Detroit rolled into second place last night in the open team division of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The Detroit team has a three-game total of 2,895. Howard Vautherot and Vince Hostnik of Detroit moved into first in the doubles with a three-game total of 1,243.

Paul Moss, Terre Haute, Ind., scored 1,838 in the nine-game all-events to take over the lead in that category.

The Syracuse-Colgate basketball rivalry dates back to 1902.

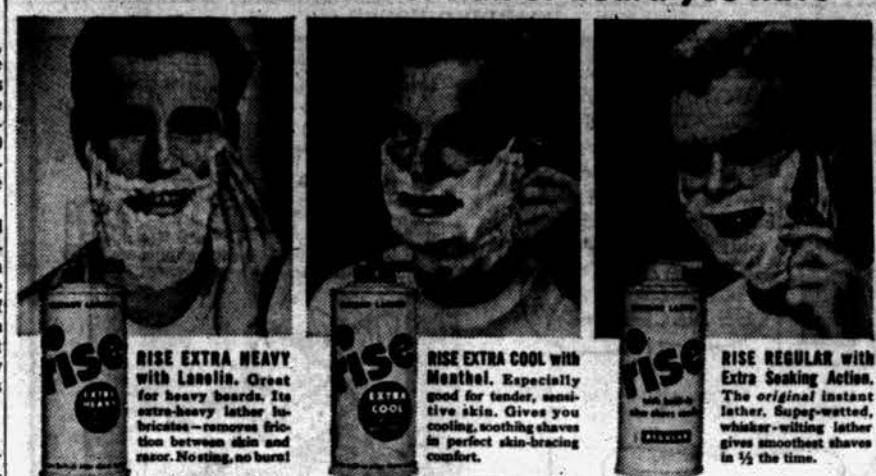

Northerns Win, 45-26

Ron Bailey scored 25 points to lead the Northerns to a 45-26 win over the Coca Cola Hawks last night in a Class D City League basketball game at Lincoln Junior High. John Carter made 12 for the losers.

Marine's Sentence Cut by Two Months

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — A Marine drill instructor, convicted by court-martial last week of illegally touching recruits under his command here, yesterday got two months lopped off his prison sentence.

A special court-martial sentenced Cpl. William R. Walsh, of Lyndhurst, N. J., to three months in prison, reduction in rank to private, and a fine of $10 a month for three months.

Lt. Col. Oscar F. Peatross, Raleigh, N. C., convening authority of Walsh's court-martial, ordered reduction of the prison sentence to 30 days, the Marine Corps public information office here said. Other provisions of the sentence remained effective.

The sentence could be further

Policeman's Thumb Feels Driver's Ire

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Detroit Frank Sugden went 44 years without a traffic ticket but came to grief when he crossed the river to Canada. His car collided with a police cruiser. Sugden, 64, was ticketed for careless driving in the accident Feb. 23. He was fined $20 and costs Wednesday.

That's Life for You!

DETROIT (AP) — Movie star Danny Kaye was named "American of the Year" by students at the University of Detroit for his work as international ambassador for United Nations Children's International Emergency Fund. The award will be presented at the university's Spring Carnival May 3-4.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A cop thumbed down a touchy motorist yesterday and was bitten — on the thumb — for his pains.

Policeman Edward Hegarty, 27, said he was in a patrol car when he saw the driver streak past a red light. Hegarty gave chase; the driver pulled to the curb, but only for a moment. A block later Hegarty again caught up with his man, asked to see his license, but got abuse instead, and even worse, the bite on the gesticulating thumb. Two other policemen helped Hegarty arrest the driver, whose name was given as Stanley Ford, 37, a railroad man. Ford was charged with assault and battery, resisting arrest and driving past a red light. Hegarty went to a hospital for treatment of his thumb.

Robert Young Yearns in Vain to Lead Leisurely Life

Rex and Lilli Planning to Take New Mates

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Rex Harrison'll marry British actress Kay Kendall during the summer — here or in Hollywood — and his ex-wife Lilli Palmer'll wed Carlos Thompson (now in Munich with her) "somewhere in Europe." Rex and Lilli are friendly; he assures others that Kay "is a duck."

Herb Shriner — formerly of CBS — is negotiating to do an hour show with Nanette Fabray at NBC. Hollywood also wants him to do a western, but Herb says, "I come from Indiana — how about making a middle-western?"

"During Perry Como's TV show the other night," said Jack Carter afterward, "Perry accidentally fell awake." Vic Oliver said in London, "When I stayed in Hollywood, I had three swimming pools and 10 bath-rooms. I was known as one of the filthy rich."

BARBARA

"I have a warm spot for my wife," mumbled a stag barfly, "and I sure wish she'd go there!"

Down in Charlotte, N.C., Grady Cole is promoting a St. Patrick's Day Parade led by a priest, a rabbi and a Negro jazz band. (A generalist," says Cole, "is a person who will trace your family tree just as far back as your money will go.")

Follies girl Barbara Hall was telling Roberta Sherwood how times changed with showgirls. "The producers used to put $1,000 bills under Follies' girls' plates," Barbara said. "What do they put under their plates now?" asked Roberta. "Sometimes their notices!" moaned Barbara.

THE-MIDNIGHT EARL...

Monique Van Vooren's insurance company doesn't want to handle her milk stole, says she's a poor risk... Actor William Redfield will wed TV speller Julia Meade's sister, Betsy... Billie Allen's featured in "Take a Giant Step," about to mark its 200th performance.

Carroll Baker, once fired as a TV weather forecaster, tried it again on the Robt. Q. Lewis show... After years of study the FCC is about to crack down on fraudulent TV commercials... Music publishers are amazed — not one girl singer in the top 15 record sellers.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Manhattan's broad one-way streets are great, says Charlotte Rae; now you have a choice of six lanes to get stuck in.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: George DeWitt saw Skitch Henderson wearing that little Van Dyke beard and said, "Skitch won't be happy till he gets his own U-boat." That's earl brother.

TOO BUSY TO LOAF — Robert Young, star of NBC-TV's "Father Knows Best," claims he hates to work. But Young is kept so busy by the family comedy series (Wednesdays at 8:30 p. m.) that he has no time to enjoy a life of lazy leisure.

Veteran Actor Kept Too Busy

Tackles Civic Activities as Well as TV Show, 'Father Knows Best'

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Like most hard workers, Robert Young is a lazy man. He just never gets time to prove it.

What with his NBC television show, "Father Knows Best," voluminous civic and church work, endless speechmaking and the normal demands of a real-life family, Young practically has to negotiate for even a normal amount of rest.

He bears it all with the same infectious grin that has been familiar to motion picture and television audiences since before the screen found its tongue.

But it isn't the life the 50-year-old actor pines for—when he can find time for pining. He would much rather be flying around the countryside in his plane or just uncoupling under a tree somewhere.

"There is nothing I'd like more than to quit," the graying Young said with an abruptness that indicated how delightedly his mind works with the possibility.

"I HATE WORK" "I don't like to work. I hate work. I've been working since I was 8 years old."

Then, like most self-proclaimed lazybones, he dropped the enticing subject and turned to the serious businesses of other demanding projects.

His 3-year-old TV show has not yet been invited back to the home screens for next season, a situation that impels any actor to begin thinking of other shows.

And Young is an actor with four daughters, three of whom are still his financial responsibility.

Young also admitted to a yearning to star in a play, but in the next breath he added that he would "probably get bored with it."

SOME COMPLICATIONS Another television series, he said, involves a number of complications, not the least of which is the possibility that "Father Knows Best" has typed him as a kindly, understanding papa.

"Still, I don't really mind being a sort of father symbol on television," he said.

"It's just that sometimes I get to thinking about it and I begin to feel a sort of responsibility. I have to shake that off right away for two reasons—first, because it's nonsense and second, because it would influence my whole life if I gave in to it."

$600 Check Bonanza for $6 Traffic Tickets

DALLAS (AP)—Corporation Court officials were a little startled to find a cashier's check for $600 in the mail yesterday.

The traffic tickets attached totaled only $6. Chief Clerk Hugh Jones, who wouldn't give the violator's name, said he "evidently paid his $6 for a cashier's check and the bank failed to catch the mistake."

Jones said an officer would return the check to the bank. "No doubt they will be willing to give us a $6 check instead."

Teachers Win Pay Hike

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Teachers in Springfield Township schools will get pay boosts next year ranging from $200 to $250 a year. New salary scales will range from $4,100 to $6,050.
