Thompson Says Consul Reports Man Charged as Spy Treated Well

MOSCOW — Marvin William Makinen, 24, a student from Ashburnham, Mass., charged with espionage charges last May, has had his first interview with a U.S. official.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson disclosed today that U.S. Consul Joseph Norbury had a 90-minute meeting with Makinen Thursday in the Soviet court building in Moscow.

"He seemed to have been well treated," Thompson said. "And he has been getting his mail regularly."

A native of Chassel Mich Makinen attended the University of Pennsylvania for three years, completed his premedical studies at Free University in Berlin under a Fulbright Scholarship, and was about to come home when he was arrested. Fulbright awarded before resuming his studies, however, he took a trip to the Soviet Union and was picked up in the Ukraine, charged and tried.

Asked if Makinen had any major complaints, Thompson replied: "He seemed to be quite satisfied."

Ghanon Named Top Man in U.N. Congo Forces

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Robert K. Gardner of Chicago was temporarily appointed chief of the U.N. Congo force in the Congo today in the wake of the liner of Sweden.

A 43-year-old economist, Laker asked to be relieved for a period of time, informed sources said this was illness of his wife.

Troops Threaten Priests in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese mutineers have threatened to massacre Catholic missionaries at the Kivu Province town of Kindu just as they did in Kongolo on New Year's Day, the United Nations reported today.

A U. N. spokesman said the world body is making plans to deal with the latest threat to European lives. Pressed for details, he said the U.N. Command had called headquarters in New York for instructions. But he could not specify no military preparations under way.

"SITUATION DANGEROUS"
The reported threat to Kindu reached the United Nations through British Maj. Dick Lawton, who said the uneasy town briefly on his return from investigating the Kongolo massacre of 19 or more white Roman Catholic missionaries.

"The situation at Kindu is dangerous," Lawson reported. He said unarm Congolese troops moving back and forth through the town had created mounting tension among the European population of about 80.

PRIESTS REPORT THREATS
Priests of a Roman Catholic mission came to the airport to report to Lawson during his stopover. They said the threats of massacre had been made "within the last few days" by soldiers passing through the area.

No civil aircraft was now landing at Kindu, Lawson said, and there is a dangerous shortage of food and other supplies. Kindu airport was abandoned by U.N. troops on Jan. 15, after the bulk of the international force had already been pulled out to help in the December Katanga campaign.

BALUBA DANGEROUS
There was no further news of Red Cross officials who had been sent to the town by Katanga but canceled the trip because it seemed too dangerous.

"The most dangerous people in the area," Lawson said in a report sent to the U.N. secretariat, "are about 100 Baluba youths between 16 and 19, many of them accompanied by women."

"Calling themselves the 'civil army' of Kongolo, they are armed with bows and arrows and wear feathers and animal skins."

"SOLDIERS TERRIFIED"
The remaining mission staff and even the soldiers are terrified of them."

Lawson added that he knew the arrows were not poisoned because one of them had been thrust into his back and nothing had happened to him.

In Elisabethville, a traveler just returned from north Katanga reported that the rampaging troops in the town had killed at least 20 native villages and killed or wounded an estimated 900 to 1,500 Congolese.

The session, arranged by Oakland County House Republicans, attracted 42 of the 55 GOP House members. It was closed to the press.

Police Uniform Gone
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Authorities are looking for a thief who entered an unmarked car and stole a policeman's uniform.

The thief reported the Social Security plan as leaving too much up to Russian good faith. Both sides have called the two-week meetings since then trying to persuade each other to back down.

Western delegates said today the Soviet side had been unacceptably intransigent.

No serious negotiating has been done here since then.

The West rejected the Soviet demand for a Russian good faith. Both sides have called the two-week meetings since then trying to persuade each other to back down.

The Day in Birmingham Indonesian Educator Here to Study School System

BIRMINGHAM — An Indonesian educator began a two-week visit to Birmingham public schools today to study administration for the development of English curriculum.

He is Achmad Almasrati, director of the English department, office of vocational education, ministry of education and culture, Djakarta, Indonesia.

Almasrati is visiting Birmingham as part of a six-month tour of the United States under the auspices of the International Teacher Development Program.

The program is designed to familiarize visiting teachers with the American people and their way of life and to further a better understanding of the nation's character and purposes.

Another aim of the program is to acquaint the educators with the educational principles and methods of instruction, administration and organization as it is developed and practiced in the U.S.

Almasrati will have his headquarters at Groves High School during his tour.

While here he will interview teachers and administrators, personnel and visit classrooms.

Almasrati is a guest at the home of Schools Supt. and Mrs. Otis M. Dickey.

The Indonesian educator will be a member of community leaders at a luncheon Monday at the Community House.

Karl Robinson, world traveler, will show his color film "The Glories of Spain" Feb. 2 and 3 at the Birmingham branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The 8 p.m. programs will be held at the Birmingham Community House.

Robinson's film will take armchair travelers to Seville, Granada, Toledo, Segovia and Barcelona.

Also to be shown are the less familiar areas — the Basque country at the western end of the Pyrenees and the Costa Brava, or Spanish Riviera.

The Junior High Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold a hayride and supper at Blanchard's Ridge in Rochester on Saturday, Feb. 3.

Those taking part will meet in front of the church, 388 N. Woodworth Ave., no later than 6:15 p.m. for transportation.

The deadline for reservations is Thursday.

Device Watches for Trouble in Atlas

'Silent Sentry' Guards Glenn's Life

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

CANE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — In the tortured moments when John H. Glenn Jr. rides 120 tons of burning rocket fuel into space, his life will depend on the silent sentry no man can match.

The huge Atlas rocket which, if all goes well, will boost Glenn into a 44-hour flight three times around the world Saturday, is a little more than a metal balloon. Its gleaming skin is thinner than a dime, so thin that a blow from a sledge hammer would drive a hole in it.

The whole structure would collapse under its own weight if it were not held rigid by internal pressure. This pressure is supplied by helium until the tiles come to replace that inert gas with the rocket's fuel-kerosene and liquid oxygen.

Less than 8 feet away from where Glenn sits in the Mercury spacecraft, and near the mighty rocket engines themselves, is a match-sized electronic sentry, attached to the skin of the Atlas.

MONITORS ROCKET

It reaches out with slender fingers of wire to feel the pulse of the mammoth rocket, to measure the pressure that keeps it whole, to watch the electrical cells, to monitor the actions of the steering equipment that guides the rocket's flight.

Should any of these systems fail, the sentry is designed to trigger the alarm in 30 to 50 thousandths of a second. In a flash of sudden fury barely a second long, the escape rockets would yank Glenn and his spacecraft to safety, 2,400 feet away from the fiery death imminent in the rocket.

Even before the Atlas is launched, the sentry, called ASIS, watches for tell-tale signs of trouble. It finds any, the count-down stops.

Once the Atlas is two inches off the ground, ASIS takes over full control, watching the great beast of a rocket for signs that it may run amok.

Poll Shows Most Favor Vehicle Safety Checks

DETROIT (UPI) — A poll by the Michigan Highway Safety Association showed today that 94 per cent of more than 12,000 persons questioned favor vehicle safety inspections.

The poll also showed that 74 per cent of the persons questioned favor compulsory driver-training as a requirement for obtaining a driver's license.

And 50 per cent of those polled favor stricter tests for new drivers.

The questionnaire was prepared by Fletcher Pratt and results will be sent to state traffic authorities.

Gas Dealers Directors To Review Gasoline Bill

KALAMAZOO (UP) — The 70-member executive board of the Michigan Retail Gasoline Dealers Association will meet in Lansing, Feb. 5, to review proposed legislation affecting state gasoline prices.

John W. Neelinger Jr., executive secretary of the association, said the board will decide whether or not to support a proposed public utility bill aimed at eliminating gasoline price wars in Michigan.

Bible Cited as Possible Road to Christian Unity

Growing Number of Catholics Reading the Scriptures

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International

Catholics ARE growing to read the Bible, and a growing number of them are doing so.

That answer to a question often asked by Protestants comes from Fr. Walter M. Abbott, a distinguished Catholic biblical scholar.

Fr. Abbott is a black-haired Jesuit priest whose accent renders unnecessary his proud acknowledgment that he was born in Boston.

No to managing editor of the scholarly journal, "New Testament Abstracts," and an associate editor of the weekly Catholic magazine America.

He shares with Pope John XXIII

in passionate desire to re-unite the divided Christian family. And he is convinced that the Bible, which has been the subject of so many violent quarrels between Catholics and Protestants during the past 650 years, can now become a bridge to mutual understanding and brotherly love.

"The Bible, as it should be, is a bond between us," Fr. Abbott said in an interview over coffee cups. "There is only one Bible, and both Catholics and Protestants regard it as the word of God. By going back to the Bible, as common ground, we can listen together for the voice and direction of the Holy Spirit."

STAND CLEARER

The reporter remarked that some Protestants would be startled to hear such words from the lips of a Jesuit priest.

Fr. Abbott agreed with a smile. "Yes, I know there is a widespread belief among Protestants that the Catholic Church is 'stranded' of the Bible, and that it discards or even forbids its lay members to read the Scriptures."

Isn't there some historical basis for that belief?

"Yes," said Fr. Abbott. "There and the Bibles acting with him as the teaching authority of the church.

"In reacting to the Reformation, Catholics became leery of private study of the Bible. The church has never forbidden laymen to read and ponder the Scriptures, but I must admit there has been a tendency, since the Reformation, for Catholics to feel that it was safer and more orthodox to rely on their priests to tell them what they should know about the Bible."

Have modern Popes encouraged Catholics to read the Bible?

"They certainly have. Beginning with Leo XIII, every Pope in this century has sought to stimulate interest in the Scriptures. The late Pope Pius XII was especially active in this field.

"He brought out an encyclical letter in 1943 urging Catholic scholars to prepare new translations of the Bible, directly from the original Greek and Hebrew texts.

"He also instructed them to take full advantage of all the new knowledge that has been gained from archaeological discoveries, newly found manuscripts and other scientific studies which shed much light on the languages, events and customs of biblical times."

What has been the result of this papal encouragement?

"There has been a tremendous flowering of Catholic biblical scholarship, reflected in several good modern translations of the Scriptures and a stream of excellent commentaries on the sacred books."

"Bible study has become an important part of the curriculum in many Catholic colleges and universities. And there is a general movement in Catholic parishes to make the teaching of religion, in catechism classes, and parochial schools, more biblically oriented than ever before.

Is there any evidence that adult Catholics in the United States are reading the Bible?

"Yes. One outstanding example is the Christian Family Movement. Its members—totaling about 200,000 Catholic men and women—hold regular, bimonthly meetings for Bible study."

Are Catholics expected to read the Bible in the light of the church's defined teachings?

"Yes, but this is not, as many Protestants and some Catholics suppose, a matter of running to the priest for an official interpretation of every verse. There are actually only about two dozen verses in the whole Bible that do

FALSE TEETH RELINER

The Bible, he said, became a major bone of contention during the Reformation, with Protestants asserting the right of each individual to interpret the Scriptures for himself. This Protestant doctrine of "private interpretation" was branded a heresy by the Catholic Church.

"Catholics held that there is, by our Lord's ordinance, an official interpreter of the Scriptures in the world, which is the Pope

Nuclear War Will Send Them Back to the Caves

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (U)—Should nuclear war come, East and Middle Tennesseans may find themselves back in man's earliest home—the cave.

The state division of geology has released a study of the more than 70 limestone caves lying the area and civil defense experts have pointed out they make excellent fallout shelters.

The caves are good for this purpose because they meet two basic requirements—shelter and uncontaminated water—CD experts say.

The Murderers—10

Physician Addicts Special Problem in War on Dope

By HARRY J. ANSLINGER
U. S. Commissioner of Narcotics
AND WILL OUBLES

Oozy was the quintessence of all informers. I have never known a man who was at once so repulsive, so beguiling — or so valuable. Among his talents was his ability to spot another addict, anywhere, any time.

One day Oozy saw coming down the street a milk-cow woman. Aware with his peculiar intuition that the woman was an addict, he struck up a conversation with her, and said: "You're desperate, aren't you?"

The woman nodded. She said, "Can you get me anything?"

"I might. I have some stuff. At my place."

In most cases, dope adds the addict's sex urge, but Oozy was the exception. He and the addicted lady became intimate, needle-swapping friends. They trusted each other. When funds were down, however, Oozy reverted to his old character.

TURNED WOMAN IN

"Listen, I've got a hot one for you fellows," he reported. "I can buy heroin from the classical broad in town. She's the daughter of a state supreme court judge. Her husband is the finest doctor in the city."

Our agents made a buy of an ounce of heroin from the lady in mind, and brought her to my office. She was charming, soft-spoken, obviously cultured.

"How did you get yourself into this filthy mess?" I asked her.

"We go out a lot," she said. "Every night it's something else. I began drinking, and would wake up with the worst kind of hangovers. So my husband would bring out a shot of morphine and that would fix me up."

"Then one morning when I told him I wanted a shot, he wouldn't give it to me. He said: 'You weren't out last night. I'm not going to make you an addict.'"

"I told him he had to give it to me or I'd get it myself, somewhere," he said. "My God, you're an addict." When I heard him say that, the way he said it, I felt like I was dead.

The husband sent her to a sanatorium for a cure.

"But the minute I was released," she said, "the party routine started all over again."

RELIEVES IN FIRMNESS

I have known a number of women who became addicted and plunged from high positions to complete ruin. I am convinced that sentimental dogmatism is no way to bring these people to their senses.

"You have said heroin," I said to the doctor's wife. "This is a serious crime. It means disgrace — headlines for you and your family, plus a stretch in federal prison."

I could see, in the woman's face, the realization of the terrible trouble she had gotten herself into. Then I said: "You can help yourself, however, and your family. From the amount your supplier gets for you, your guy must be big time. He's the one I want."

I felt pity for her. Yet I had offered her the only course I considered fair to her, or to the public.

"I may be killed for what I am going to tell you," she said finally. "But I'm going to tell it."

When she gave me the name of her supplier, I was stunned. He was one of the most notorious operators of the district. He served as a wholesale procurer of women for fancy houses. He was known to have smuggled guns into state penitentiaries for use in prison breaks; he owned a hotel in which only bona fide criminals were allowed to register. Yet for years he had avoided punishment because of his "connections."

SENT TO PRISON

We sent this big shot away for a long stretch. The physician's wife went away for a "rest" and when she returned her addiction was cured. This time there was no relapse. Oozy did not see her again. But he did brag to the supervisor: "Where would she be now if I hadn't turned her in?"

Physician addicts present a major problem in the medical profession.

Because of the continual availability of narcotics, and because of the life and death strain under which they live, some doctors surrender themselves to dope. Not only doctors but also those on the fringes of the medical profession — doctors' wives, nurses, the children of physicians — represent a large percentage of the addicts than do most other groups.

Yet we are only talking about one in a hundred. The other 99 do not only keep themselves free from addiction, but are constantly on guard against the wiles of addicts.

Addicts come to the doctors' offices with an insidious variety of ailments: pains, aches, and diseases. They bite their check and spit blood to make a doctor believe they have tuberculosis.

They steal prescription pads so that they can write their own prescriptions.

Or an addict will go to a pharmacist with a counterfeit prescription, and have the druggist call the "doctor" at the number printed on the pad. The prescription has been specially printed: the doctor and his address are real, the phone number is that of a public phone where a confidential source of the addict waits.

UNIQUE FRAUD

A male addict developed the unique device of using a small pebble as a kidney stone. He would complain that he was in agony; when the physician took an X-ray the "patient" would slip the pebble into a little pocket of scar tissue on his back.

This method obtained quantities of drugs until the day the pebble fell out of the scar-tissue pocket and rolled across the floor as the nurse and the doctor were setting up the apparatus.

Addicts also resort to holding up drug stores. In Houston, at a pharmacy that had been burglarized eight times by criminals seeking dope, a pharmacist waited in the dark one night and fired. The would-be burglar, an ex-convict, would be burglar, an ex-convict.

and dope addict, was dead on arrival at a hospital.

OFFER MANY SCHEMES

Many theorists offer schemes for the control of crime associated with drugs. Most revolve around giving drugs freely to all who ask. This is fallacious on two points. First, many criminals are criminals long before they get on drugs.

Second, if we feed drugs to addicts, we will only confirm their addiction, make their habit more demanding, spread it, and increase the role the syndicates play, by putting a government stamp of approval on dope itself.

Proponents of the "clinic plan," under which registered addicts would be given a daily drug ration at government expense, claim that in this way crime would be curtailed, addiction put on a limited basis, and the underworld profits eliminated — thus driving the underworld out of the business.

They cite the fact also that a dope clinic plan has been developed with some success within the socialized medical program in England.

I don't think any of this is applicable to the United States. But in my opinion, these solutions present greater danger to the American people; they sound so reasonable that even experts can be lulled into acceptance.

A committee of experts advising the Federal Bureau of Narcotics explored the entire subject of England's so-called system. One committee expert noted: "What will produce good law enforcement for England will not necessarily produce good law enforcement in the United States of America."

Included in this exploration by the expert committee was a report pointing out that in England, "those who can obtain the drug with ease have an addiction rate that is 500 per cent greater than do those who do not have the drug readily available to them."

And per capita narcotic consumption in the United Kingdom is double that of the U.S. When clinics were tried in 1920 in the United States, addiction rates soared to a point where one person in every 400 was addicted, and worse than that, corruption took over in many dealings of doctors and druggists. The whole plan bogged down in a welter of vicious after-effects and had to be abandoned. In an era of highly organized profit-wise criminals, consider the clinic plan an open bid for disaster.

'Lost His Way' Is Poor Excuse

A few days after the Russians shot down our U2 observation plane, NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV delivered the following:

"The Ministry of Defense . . . was told by the government that an aggressor knows what he risks when he enters the territory of a foreign state. If he is unpunished, he will try new actions. That was why it was necessary to act, in other words, to shoot down the airplane. And this act was fulfilled. The airplane was shot down."

That was May 5, 1960.
How do you feel now, KHRUSHCHEV?

You know a Bulgarian military airplane just crash-landed in Italy adjacent to our own bases. Two years ago you blustered all over the place and threatened us with rocket retaliation for such a dastardly and infamous crime.

Your Bulgarian satellite now explains weakly that the poor chap "lost his way." It was really a full scale loss, Nikita, for he was more than 400 miles from his own territory with Albania, Yugoslavia and the Adriatic Sea intervening. That gives him first claim on the title of Bulgaria's "Wrong Way Corrigan."

Mr. K, you blew your bloody top over our FRANCIS POWERS, clapped him in the brig and summarily canceled a summit meeting with President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER. This

Our Forefathers Faced Similar Circumstances

Sometimes it is startling how our founding forefathers earmarked tendencies of their times that we face again today. The Phoenix Gazette prints an interesting editorial that brings this out sharply and we reproduce it herewith:

"The United States prospered for about 150 years when along came a few politicians who began changing it from a democracy, owned and operated by the people, to a welfare state, owned and operated by willful men in Washington, D. C.

"These men are political devils who have much to gain from their plans. In a very real sense they are trying quietly to overthrow constitutional government and put in a centralized bureaucracy which they will operate as they think best.

"Anyone who speaks against their radical schemes is called a 'right wing extremist.' Seldom have the freedom-loving people been so severely tongue-lashed by their President as when he called them 'right wing extremists' because they resist present attempts to take away their rights and express their concern over the steady advances of communism.

"The New Frontier can be regarded as a movement of secession from constitutional government. It attempts to abrogate much of that contract between the states, and set up a different sort of government in place of the one agreed to. The following words of THOMAS JEFFERSON sound as though he were talking today:

"I see . . . with deepest affliction, the rapid strides with which the Federal Government is advancing toward the usurpation of all the rights reserved to the states, and the consolidation in itself of all powers which, if legitimate, leave no limits to their power. Take together the decisions of the federal court, the doctrines of the President, and the misconstructions of the constitutional compact acted on by the Legislature and it is too evident that the three ruling branches of that department are in combination to strip the state authorities of the powers reserved by them and to exercise themselves all functions foreign and domestic.

"If THOMAS JEFFERSON were living now, he would doubtless be looked upon by some as the greatest 'right wing extremist' of all."

last was a defection of the first water.

The Man About Town

Plight of Railways

Local Situation Typical of Passenger Patronage

Weather: What everybody talks about, but nobody does anything about — not even the weather bureau.

The curtailment of railroad passenger service throughout the nation has gone the way of that in our own Oakland County.

The patronage has dwindled with the growth of the auto era, to a point where the railroads cannot afford to carry what's left.

The three railroads operating in our county before gasoline and rubber took over maintained a total of 62 passenger trains every week, with a somewhat lesser number on Sunday.

The three lines now owned by the Grand Trunk, which furnish Pontiac's only service, had 24 of these trains, many with extra coaches.

The present Chesapeake and Ohio system, which has a line through our western tier of townships and a another across the county's southwest corner had 22 passenger trains.

The present New York Central System, which has a line through Rochester and Oxford, had 12 passenger trains.

Now a majority of these lines do not run any passenger trains. The discontinuance of a few more trains appears to be in the immediate offing.

So it now seems that the only passenger trains, besides the Pontiac-Detroit shuttle service, soon will be the two in each direction on the Grand Trunk between Detroit and Durand, through Pontiac.

This is a drop from 62 to 4, and shows what other land and air transportation has done to the railway passenger service.

Oakland County figures prominently in the annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association which opens at East Lansing today, as Dale Stafford of Greenville, who got his start on The Pontiac Press, is president of the association, and James Tagg of Alma, who will succeed him in that office, formerly was publisher of The Farmington Enterprise.

With Ground Hog Day only a week away, Orson Kefauver of Birmingham phones that any woodchuck who even peeks out must have a wooden head.

With a wish that some of you astronomical experts will tell us when it will happen again,

George N. Wain of 2728 Pontiac Road, points out that in February, 1961, there was no full moon, while January and March each had two.

Driving through Flint the other day, Peery Ambrose of Holly reports that he saw a manhood snow man in the front yard of a residence, built in a very good imitation of a care man, and bearing a crude sign, "Crushed."

JFK Fails to Understand Industry

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy is relying on the power of public opinion, rather than the restrictive powers of government itself, to bring about "statesmanship" in the field of labor-management relations.

But somehow he fails to speak out forcefully against labor unions before they strike for unfair wages, while he issues sharp warnings to management to forego price increases based on rising labor costs.

A good example of this omission is the case of the Electrical Construction Workers' Union in New York City which has just extorted an agreement for a 25-hour week at higher wage rates, with overtime pay for at least an additional five hours per week.

This means the electricians now will get approximately the same pay for 25 hours as they previously were getting for 33 hours, plus higher overtime pay for the additional hours expected to work in view of the shortage of union electricians in the area.

President Kennedy knew all about the electrical workers' demands and their strike, which caused the shutdown of practically all construction in New York City for a time.

Plainly, the irresponsibility of labor union leaders in certain instances is growing into a serious threat to the economic welfare of the country.

The President still is reported as being perplexed over why so many businessmen consider the administration hostile to business.

It is a cause for worry at a time when the closest cooperation is needed on all sides to deal with the economic problems that are international in scope as well as national in their scope.

The only remedy is to treat labor union leaders and management alike.

A belated step has just been taken by the President with respect to the electrical union's agreement for a 25-hour week.

SAID NOTHING

Although the strike ended Jan. 19 after a week of disruption of the construction industry in the largest city in the country, and although an agreement was signed almost a week ago, the White House said nothing before or immediately afterward.

The issue was really untouched until editorial comment generally criticized the administration for its obvious one-sidedness. Then came the following exchange at the President's press conference on Wednesday of this week:

"Q. Mr. President, in the face of your economic message urging both management and labor to moderate their policy regarding price and wage increases, would you tell us how you feel about the electricians' union's contract in New York which calls for a 25-hour week?

"A. I have stated before—I think at the steelworkers convention be-

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International
Today is Friday, Jan. 26, the 26th day of the year with 339 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.
The evening star is Mercury.
On this day in history:

In 1815, the library of Thomas Jefferson was purchased for the beginning of the Library of Congress.

In 1837, Michigan joined the Union as the 26th state.

In 1861, Louisiana seceded from the Union, joining the South in its fight against ending slavery.

In 1925, a syndicate, headed by Larry McPhail and Dan Topping, purchased the New York Yankees baseball team for $1.1 million.

It is written in the Old Testament's book of Proverbs: "A man's pride shall bring him low; but honor shall uphold the humble in spirit."

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Normal Life Is Possible for Victims of Epilepsy

The word "epilepsy" means a seizure or a fit. Epileptic fits were as familiar to our prebiblical ancestors as they are to us in this modern era.

Actually we know little more about the "falling sickness" than our forefathers did.

We can't prevent it or we wouldn't have almost a million of the afflicted in our present day population.

We can detect it with great accuracy through tracings of brain waves (electroencephalogram or EEG). We can control the seizures with so great a measure of success that an estimated 85 per cent of the epileptic population attend school and colleges, hold responsible jobs, contract good marriages and raise healthy children.

There are some suggestions that may help you to join the huge army of those who refuse to let their condition handicap them.

Place yourself under the care of a physician-friend who will first assure himself and you that your seizures are not the result of some organic brain disease that may be responsive to more direct forms of treatment such as surgery.

Next, cooperate with your doctor as he tries out several drugs, alone or in combination, to find which drug or combination is best for you.

DON'T DESPAIR

Don't make matters more difficult for him and yourself by becoming depressed when control is not achieved as fast as you would like it to be.

Carry a card or wear a locket that states your condition and the fact that you are under treatment. Acquaint your relatives, friends, associates and employer of the nature of your affliction.

No informed or decent-minded persons will shun you, refuse your friendship or turn you down for a job if you take them into your confidence.

Try to recognize the aura that comes just before an attack. It may take the form of spots or flashes before the eyes. Or a feeling of dizziness or faintness. Or it may be visible to others, such as a curious movement that is unrelated to what is going on at the moment.

Most of our applicants for the Scientific Marriage Foundation are happy, and I am also eager for my life to have a good mother to take my place.

"Dr. Crane," she said, "I hope you will give personal attention to my request at once."

"For the doctors tell me I am dying of cancer."

"My husband doesn't know I am writing, but I want you to send DR. CRANE me an application blank for him to use after I am gone."

"We have been happily married for 26 years and I do not fear death. God has been good to me and I am grateful for these 26 years of marriage."

"We have a daughter, aged 31, who is engaged to a fine young man. After things settle down following her funeral, I know she will then get married and be very happy."

"But I worry about my husband and our 7-year-old son. My husband would reject any idea that he might ever become interested in marrying again, for he is devoted to me."

"But I know the time will come when he will feel lonely and desirous of companionship."

"And I don't want him to make a mistake like I did when he does marry again."

"For I love him with my whole heart and want him to be

'Bulgarian Pilot Should Be Tried'

In the new matter of the Red spy plane, the United States, along with its allies, should demand trial. If the Bulgarian pilot was defecting to the West for freedom, he would not have taken evasive actions to avoid contact with the Italians.

If the pilot was avoiding contact, then he was spying for the West.

He should receive the same end as so many unscrupulous heroes of the United States have received.

The doctor said he has cancer of the pancreas and "within six to eight months the inevitable will come."

TO VISIT EUROPE

The native of Istanbul, Turkey, is to be released from Jewish Hospital at St. Louis Sunday, said Rusten Huffman, editor of the Highland weekly paper.

"He plans to remain here until he regains his strength, then, he and his wife and three children are supposed to go to Europe," Huffman said.

Mrs. Guy Michael termed the doctor "Perfect." Dr. Kavar delivered two of her four children. "He was always so proud when one of his patients had a boy," she said.

"His patients and friends of mine that I've talked to all are stunned at the news. They don't know what to think or who they should go to."

'America Will Oppose Any Violence in Angola'

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has served notice that nations using force to settle colonial issues in Angola or anywhere else "can expect vigorous opposition from the United States wherever they may be."

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson issued the warning Thursday after telling the General Assembly that if opponents of Portugal take up arms to wrest the African colony of Angola from Lisbon's control, the results could be disastrous for the U.N.

'NO VIOLENCE'
Britain's Sir Patrick Dean also was expected to urge moderation in an address to the assembly today on the Angola crisis.

"In Angola the broad character of the solution is clear," Stevenson said. "It does not lie in a fruitless attempt to repress inevitable change. Nor does it lie in the fostering of violence and excitement."

"The use of force in colonial questions is no more justified than in any other question," Stevenson declared, "and any effort to establish a dual standard of conduct with respect to them could not fail seriously to endanger the entire structure of the United Nations."

"Where states resort to force they can expect vigorous opposition from the United States," he declared.

Delegates interpreted this as a reference to India's recent takeover of Portuguese Goa and Indonesia's threat to seize West New Guinea from the Netherlands.

Stevenson expressed hope that the assembly would adopt a resolution embodying the powerful principles of the U.N. charter and that Portugal "in its wisdom will respond."

'Discrimination' Suit Postponed in Detroit

DETROIT — U.S. District Judge Fred W. Kaess today postponed indefinitely a hearing on a suit brought by parents to prevent transfer of 148 Negro children from one Detroit elementary school to another.

Judge Kaess said the postponement resulted because the board of education already had called off the proposed transfer.

The parents charged racial discrimination. The board denied it and blamed overcrowding.

Youth Must Have Its Day for Dreaming

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The father was obviously deeply distressed. "I'm worried about my son," he said. "He's 18 and can't make up his mind what he wants to be. Oh, he's doing well enough in his studies, and he doesn't get into trouble. But he can't seem to decide on a career."

What's the matter with the younger generation today? So many of them seem lost and drifting. Don't they realize the world is getting more competitive every day? They can't dawdle forever about what they want to do in life.

"Why, when I was his age," the man went into a long harangue about how early in youth, he had decided on a profession, stuck with it, and everything had turned out pretty well for him—all things considered.

Unconsciously, what he really was saying was, "Why can't my son be like me?"

FATHER'S BOSSY

I couldn't help feeling sorry for the father. His distress was easily understandable. Every parent wants to see his children pick a worthwhile life goal as soon as possible, and buckle down to the pursuit of it.

But I couldn't restrain a deeper feeling of kinship and sympathy for that particular man's son. It seems to me that too many parents today try to hurry their daughters into marriage or their sons into a safe niche in some big safe corporation.

"I just want to see them settled in something," they say of their children.

They overlook the fact that nothing can be more unsettling to a young person than to find, a few years later, he has settled in the name of security for a role he isn't really suited for. Such a person often comes to disaster in middle age.

MORE IMPORTANT

What is the real rush to pick a lifelong career so early anyway?

While it is important for anyone to find out what he really wants to do with his life, it is equally important for him to find out what he doesn't want to do with it.

Youth is a reaching, questioning, uncertain time. Youth is the best time for trial and error. Youth is the time for trying on separate dreams until you find one that fits you, and can be worn over after.

Many famous people have switched their ambitions before choosing the final vocation that won their renown.

Benjamin Franklin was a lad wanted to run away to sea and be a sailor. He became a printer, scientist, statesman.

Dwight D. Eisenhower wanted to be an aviator, tried to get into Annapolis, but wound up at West Point—and the White House.

PLAYBOY TO SAINT

Francis of Assisi was a wealthy playboy. An illness turned his thoughts to a life of service and poverty that led to sainthood.

In most parts of the world a young man doesn't have to worry about a career. He does what his father did.

The glory of America is that it is a land of many choices. A young man or woman is lured by opportunity and change. Each can choose from a hundred or more callings, if he has the will and energy to do so.

It is no wonder—and indeed it is a good and great thing—that he hesitates before making up his mind finally into what field he wants to pour his yearning and achievement.

The real human tragedies are those who settle too soon for less than they could be, purely for the sake of regular bread and butter and assured shelter. It is

Senate Battle Starts With Voting Tests

Civil Rights Skirmish Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year battle over civil rights legislation began shaping up today in the Senate.

The first move came unexpectedly Thursday when Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana introduced what he called an administration bill to prevent literacy tests from being used to deny voting rights.

Mansfield also pledged that if the measure should get bogged down in committee, he would move to attach it as a rider to some other legislation up for Senate action.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a leading advocate of civil rights legislation, promptly said that Mansfield's move would throw the door wide open for action in this field.

PREPARED FOR RIDERS

He told newsmen he would be ready to offer riders providing federal aid to schools that desegregate, naming the attorney general with authority to bring injunction suits for the protection of civil rights generally, and eliminating poll tax payments as a voting requirement.

Five states — Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia — require payment of poll taxes.

Mansfield's bill would make the completion of six grades in an accredited school the test of whether a person is qualified to vote, in congressional and presidential elections.

Last September, in a report on voting, the Civil Rights Commission said six years of schooling should meet any state literacy requirement.

CIVIL RIGHTS 'FIRST'

The measure was the first offered by the administration in the civil rights field since President Kennedy took office a year ago. However, in his State of the Union message earlier this month, Kennedy said there is much to be done by Congress as well as by the executive branch and the courts to secure the constitutional rights of all citizens.

He made no specific recommendations except to say that "the right to vote, for example, should no longer be arbitrarily denied through such iniquitous local devices as literacy tests and poll taxes."

Waterford Twp. Youth Pleads Guilty to Theft

A Waterford Township youth accused of stealing an outboard motor, trailer and boat to go hunting, with two accomplices pleaded guilty to a grand larceny charge yesterday.

Cary L. Skrobeck, 19, of 4146 Lamont St., admitted his guilt before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem during a pretrial examination.

The two accomplices, Thomas L. Duford Jr., 25, 6615 Sahabaw Road, Independence Township, and Darrell O'Neil, 19, of the same address as Skrobeck, pleaded guilty earlier.

They were sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams to three years probation and ordered to pay $150 court costs each. Skrobeck remains free on $2,500 bond pending sentencing March 8.

The stolen equipment was recovered in November from woods near Houghton Lake where it had been cached by the trio.

Praises Provision for Press Freedom

EAST LANSING (AP) — Directors of the Michigan Press Association (MPA) have sent a message to the constitutional convention commending delegates for supporting a provision to guarantee freedom of the press.

The MPA adopted a resolution Thursday supporting the convention "for maintaining the basic concept of Michigan government." The message was sent in support of a clause already in the constitution that reads:

No law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press."

British Tax Records Show 60 'Millionaires'

LONDON (AP) — Britain's income tax collectors said the island kingdom had 60 millionaires on record last year — six fewer than in 1960.

In the eyes of the inland revenue commissioners, any person with a taxable income of 100,000 pounds ($200,000) is a millionaire.

Visit Russia but Read Rules Before Starting Out

LONDON (UPI)—Know what Russia is like? Go to glorious Russia for tourists.

Travelers need a change of scene? Go to glorious Russia and relax.

Don't ask why, but the Iron Curtain was lifted Thursday and tourists were invited, may urged, WIRECRACKS—A White House briefing took place as usual with one exception—milk was served. Pierre Salinger (right), presidential secretary, called in photographers to record the scene. It was all in line with President Kennedy's announcement that milk would be served at White House meals to encourage its consumption. The bottle of wine (foreground) was presented for any milk abstinence. It remained unopened during the photographing session. Douglas Corneil, AP staffer, is third from the left.

to visit the Communist nations. Two full pages of the Communist London Daily Worker were devoted to feature stories and advertisements aimed at the tourist.

They gave it the works with pictures of Commie bathing beauties, sunny beaches, historic monuments, hymns to Russian food and beverages served by polite, smiling waiters.

You are urged to go by rail, plane or automobile—and bring your camera.

It all sounds easy and wonderful until you start reading the fine print. Suppose you are going by automobile.

You are warned that:

— You have to get special vouchers for gasoline and you must realize that filling stations are not too plentiful on the steppes. Best idea, says the article, is to carry extra gas in the car trunk.

— Some thing with spare parts. You are urged to buy something called a "communist kit" which makes it possible to rebuild your car entirely in case you break down on the miles from the nearest garage.

— The author notes that if you do come across a garage or filling station, there may be some complications about language. Seems Russians speak Russian, not English, and you must devise some way to get across the message. "Fill her up and check the oil and water." Then he drops the subject, leaving you on your own.

The author assumes there will still be room for some people after the car has been loaded with cans of gasoline and oil, the continental kit and a camera. He has this advice for parents of small children:

"Very small ones soon get fed up if they are not constantly amused. Sooner or later dolls and cups are flying around the car. Little Bobbie discovers that the best way to stop the car and get out is to shout: 'I want to go.'"

"Best advice: If your children are going along with you, take things to amuse them and get to your destination as fast as possible."

He does not explain where that leaves Bobbie.

At first glance the article on Iron Curtain food makes Russia sound like a gourmet's heaven, but the fine print discloses that you will never get any cream in your tea or coffee unless you demand it. Oranges are scarce and expensive. Advice: Eat peaches.

Breakfast is served early in Russia and you had better eat it because lunch is a sometime thing.

The author recommends this two-course breakfast:

"First course—smoked fish, roe, caviar, cold meats, tomato salad and cucumbers. Second course—mint and potatoes, a hot dessert plus yogurt or buttermilk or fruit juice, and tea or coffee."

If Bobbie demands cereal for breakfast, hit him on the head with an empty gasoline can.

Mob Threatens U.S. Embassy

Congolese Police Guard Building From Backers of Antoine Gizenga

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congolese police armed with rifles surrounded the U.S. embassy in Leopoldville today to protect it from a slogan-chanting crowd demonstrating in favor of leftist Antoine Gizenga.

Authorities rushed out a water truck and 50 police when the demonstrators, and 100 youthful supporters of the ousted vice premier, marched on the embassy building shouting, "Down with Imperialism" and "Long Live Gizenga." They had gathered on the banks of the Congo River.

Police rioted the marchers and channeled them past the building after warning Americans inside to stay away from the plate glass windows.

But there were no clashes, no injuries and no damage. Not a stone was thrown.

RUMORED DEAD

The demonstration followed rumors that Gizenga, who is being held by Premier Cyrille Adoula's government, had been killed or beaten up by central government paratroopers.

The government issued a statement saying that Adoula and two of his top legislators had visited Gizenga Thursday and that he was in good health.

The communists denied that Gizenga was under "preventive detention" and said he was being held "for his own protection."

It was learned that a medical commission was being formed to visit him at frequent intervals.

Outdoors Hero to Go Home to a Fishless Dinner

CLARE, Wis. — Tony Wedal is ready to come out of the woods Saturday and collect a $150 bet for staying there eight days. Wedal set up camp last Friday on Lake Beebe in a wilderness area near Clare. His wife Sandra and 14 friends bet him $10 each that he couldn't take the cold weather and deep snow for eight days.

His goal now is in sight, but rather than collecting the bet he is looking forward most to a home cooked meal. His diet has consisted mainly of dehydrated foods, supplemented by fish he catches in the lake.

Bulgarian Pilot Will Be Tried

On Spy Charge, Airman May Get 15 Years if He's Convicted

ROME (UPI) — An Italian government source said today that 2nd Lt. Miluso Solakov, the Bulgarian pilot who crashed with his jet near a secret NATO base in Italy, will be tried for espionage. The source said the 22-year-old pilot would be tried in a civil court under Italian peacetime procedures.

He would face a possible penalty of 15 years imprisonment if convicted.

Just Thursday night the government had issued a communique saying that "all elements gathered so far (in the investigation), as well as the examination of the material and the questioning of the pilot, increasingly strengthen the opinion that it is a true and real case of aerial espionage."

The decision to put Solakov on trial apparently was made after Italian counterespionage agents subjected him to a 90-minute interrogation Thursday night at Acquafredda Hospital where he is recuperating from crash injuries.

The defense ministry announcement said Solakov had fallen into numerous contradictions which "cast strong doubts on his declarations" that he sought asylum in Italy to escape Communist Bulgaria.

Schoolteacher Slugged, Robbed Near Hospital

A Pontiac schoolteacher was slugged and her purse containing $104 was taken last night as she left a medical center near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The 37-year-old victim, Mrs. Melvin Stonewall, of 863 Lenox St., was treated at the hospital afterward for an injured left eye where the mugger hit her with his fist.

Her screams for help summoned a hospital watchman who arrived in time to see the assault and dash off with Mrs. Stonewall's purse.

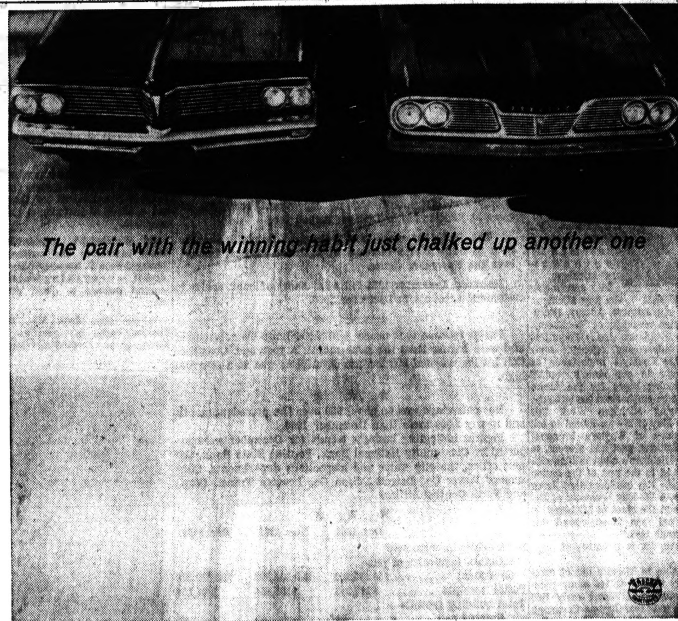

Pontiac police were unable to find any suspects. A teacher at Emmanuel Baptist School in Pontiac, Mrs. Stonewall told officers her attacker was seated in her car, parked next to the Woodward Medical Building, when she approached.

She said the man indicated that he mistook the car for his own and then hit her in the eye and snatched her purse.

Halt Search for Boat 'Fired On by Sub'

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Coast Guard units have called off a search for a shrimp boat reported to have been fired upon by a submarine 10 miles off the Georgia coast.

Coast Guard officials in New York said today the search was halted, "pending future developments." Civil Air Patrol units in Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia picked up the report earlier in the day, the Coast Guard said. Lt. Cmdr. Alan Rose, captain of the Port of Savannah said, "There is a good chance the report is a hoax."

The pair with the winning habit just chalked up another one

Pontiac (who else?) wins Grand Prix award in Pure Oil performance and economy trials!

January 21, 1962, Daytona Beach, Florida. It's an all-out test of combined fuel economy, traffic-passing performance and stop-and-go driving held annually at Daytona International Speedway. Every entry is a finely tuned production car with a skilled driver at the wheel. These tests really separate the men from the boys. This year, Pontiac and Tempest teamed up to walk away with the top over-all honor. Their percentage of earned points to possible points topped every other combination. This may come as a surprise to some—but not to Pontiac and Tempest owners. They know they've got a winner. Give it a try soon!

Named Chairman of Wayne County Michigan Week

The appointment of Jerry Moore, managing director of the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel, civic leader and dean of Detroit and Michigan hotelmen, as Wayne County chairman for Michigan Week in 1962, is announced by Charles F. Adams, regional chairman for southeastern Michigan. In announcing the key Michigan Week appointment, Adams, executive vice president of MacKenzie, John & Adams, Inc., Bloomfield Hills advertising agency, said: "Wayne County's importance as a factor in our state's rapidly brightening hopes for the future cannot be emphasized too strongly. "During Michigan Week this year—May 20-26—we intend to tell the story of Wayne's immediate contributions, past and present, to all of Michigan's eight million citizens and to the rest of the nation as well. I'm confident that Jerry Moore, a life-long promoter of Detroit and the state of Michigan, is the ideal man to spearhead this important task."

Moore, 38, is a native of Saginaw. Notable in Moore's list of community efforts is his comprehensive study and report early this month to Mayor Jerome Cavanagh on ways and means to revitalize Detroit's great Civic Center complex.

Find Surprise Storm Would Cripple Boston

BOSTON (AP)—A crew of Boston Public Works Department inspectors went out Thursday night to see what conditions would be if the city had an unexpected snow storm. The survey showed 791 streets where automobiles had been parked so that plows or fire engines could not pass. Inspectors counted on fewer than 16,553 illegally parked cars.

5 Killed in 3-Car Crash

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—Five persons were killed when three cars piled up in a crash for 25 miles south of here on U.S. 77 Thursday. Seven were injured.

Business in Pontiac Area Shows December Spurt

December's traditional spurt in spending in the Pontiac area was evidenced in last month's business reports.

December usually gives a shot in the arm to a tight winter economy and last month was no exception. Production increases at Pontiac Motor Division helped too.

The fact that more money changed hands is shown in a $3-million plus increase in business at local banks over the November figure.

However, December 1961 fell a bit short of bank debits to customers' accounts in December 1960.

Postal receipts took nearly a $100,000 jump over November and were higher than the same month a year ago. Construction hit its seasonal low but use of utilities was at a seasonal high.

Bus patronage was up about 300 over the preceding month and nearly 2,000 more than December 1960. Figures indicating business trends for December were reported by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, the post office, the city water and inspections departments, Consumers' Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., Pontiac Transit Corp., and North Central Airlines.

	Dec. 1961	Nov. 1961	Dec. 1960

Newsman Throws President Into a Cold Fury

By ARTHUR L. EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nobody—and especially a president of the United States—has ever been able to ignore Sarah McClendon.

This plump, red-haired correspondent for 14 newspapers from Texas to New England has always had a knack of irritating a chief executive.

At Wednesday's presidential news conference she suddenly changed John F. Kennedy's easy-going, everything-goes-around control manner to quiet, cold fury.

As she often does, Mrs. McClendon began her question by stating as an accepted fact something he prepared to substantiate.

Kennedy said that he and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had looked into these cases, "and in my opinion Mr. Miller and Mr. Wieland—the duties that they've been assigned to, they can carry out without detriment to the interests of the United States and, I hope, without detriment to their characters by your question."

FURIOUS REACTION

In print the words seem mild enough. But anyone who heard Kennedy speak then knew that it should be prepared to substantiate.

Interest nationally. They may con-

A man close to the President said Thursday that normally questions never irritate Kennedy.

"Irritation isn't the word to describe his reaction here," this man said. "He thought the question most unfair to the two individuals involved."

There was no immediate explanation of how the question ever got asked in the first place.

Mrs. McClendon often asks questions which may be of prime interest to her papers, but of little

When other reporters tried to ask her why she had brought up this question, or if she was worried lest a libel or slander suit be filed, she said she felt it would be foolish for her to make any comments now.

But for Sarah McClendon controversy is nothing new. Her friends like to remember that when she was a girl reporter down in Texas a preacher became incensed at articles her paper was running about him.

He was a direct action sort of preacher, and he came into the office one day, and was busily pounding the editor until Sarah put the visitor to flight by hammering him over the head with a telephone.

To this day her old editor greets her with the cry: "Here's the girl who saved my life."

MRS. MCCLENDON

(thing a president might not agree with at all.)

"Mr. President, Sir," she said, "two well known security risks have recently been put on a task force in the State Department to help reorganize the office of security."

Instantly, Kennedy's attitude changed.

He cut in coldly with: "Well, now, who?"

Mrs. McClendon named names, William Arthur Wieland and J. Clayton Miller.

The President said: "The term you've used to describe them is a very strong term, which I would think you

Family-Test a flameless electric water heater!

DETROIT EDISON GUARANTEES SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK!

Want a water heater that's "satisfaction guaranteed"?

Here's all you do: Buy a flameless electric water heater that bears the H₂O_T guarantee. Family-test it. Call on it for plenty of hot water day after day. Get all the hot water you need, or your money back!

What does "satisfaction guaranteed" mean? Just this—if at any time within one year after purchase of your flameless electric water heater you are dissatisfied with its performance, just let us know. We'll remove it and return the full purchase price, including any installation charge. This guarantee covers any Edison-approved electric water heater, sized according to the recommendations given at right, and installed in the Detroit Edison service area. This Edison satisfaction guarantee is in addition to the manufacturer's own warranty.

Where to buy? That's easy, too. At appliance dealers, plumbing contractors or Detroit Edison offices where you see the H₂O_T satisfaction guaranteed seal.

Family-test a flameless electric water heater for yourself. Get all the hot water you need or your money back!

Youth Has Too Many Troubles of Its Own

Why Should Any Boy Aspire to the U.S. Presidency?

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — "Every boy should try to be president," says former President Eisenhower. "They should live their lives as if they were trying to fit them selves to the role."

This thought (quoted in Seventeen Magazine) is undeniably noble, but how can you impress it on a boy?

How, in this age of the quick success and the fast gun and the international fear that makes the average man think primarily in terms of self-preservation, can you honestly expect a teen-ager to entertain the thought?

I don't suppose there are any couples in the country who haven't cooed fondly that their first born male "can be president—if he wants to be."

And I suppose most males between the ages of 5 and 10 decide, briefly, that to be president is their ambition.

But as soon as they can read the papers, watch TV, and observe their parents realistically, they cannot be blamed for changing their minds and deciding to be doctors, lawyers, pop record singers or members of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

SECURITY WANTED

A recent survey of hundreds of teen-agers, in fact, indicated that what they wanted most from their future jobs was "security."

Next, good side benefits such as health and retirement plans and nice vacation privileges. Third, good money.

The life of a politician offers no such assurances. And even if a boy should make his way fitfully to the presidency, what does he have?

Well, the salary is fair, but not comparable to the earnings of a hot record artist or actor.

PRESIDENT IS WORK

And look at all the work there is to being president. It is almost un-American, the boy is advised from childhood, to be overworked. Bad for your health, inconvertible to your union.

There is another problem that mitigates against a boy's ambition to be president of the United States.

He has so many more present and pressing needs on his mind. The chief ambition of the teen-ager is, in fact, quite simple: To get to be 30 without cracking up. I remember teen-age well—and mine was in the comparatively placid days before the Cold War, or even the second hot war. Nature and parents were stacked against you—the former prodding you to kick up your heels, the latter ordering you to watch your step.

Teen-age is the time when details give you braces, spring give you longings, society gives you complexes, books give you dreams, parents give you rules, policemen give you the fishy eye, and just about everything gives you the willies.

It is hard to imagine being president, and acting toward that goal when you develop pimples and fall in love for the first time and she is taller than you, when you work hard and still cannot get into Yale.

It is difficult to look beyond the next day when you are afflicted with the passions, the galls, the fears, the frustrations, the "D's" in chemistry, that go with teen-age.

And then there is another thing. A teen-ager—particularly in this age of teen-age criticism and worry—operates consciously or subconsciously with a prime objective to be liked and approved of.

He fights for approval. If his parents won't approve of him, he finds a gang that will.

In such an atmosphere, why should he form a concrete desire to be president of the United States—a job wherein a man goes to all that trouble, all that work only to be constantly disliked and disapproved by some faction or other?

But the most devastating blow of all to President Eisenhower's inspiring idea is the attitude of the adult generation. In another survey, a great majority of Americans admitted they thought of politics as being "dirty."

It daddy thinks politics is dirty, and if he publicly expresses either disapproval or sympathy for the president of the United States—as what father doesn't?—is Billy expected to stick his neck out for a dream?

Not on his sweet (make that bittersweet) life!

The Old Testament refers to Byblos, Lebanon, as Gebel. The town's Phoenician name is Jubayl. But Greeks and Romans called it Byblos because of the scrolls of papyrus (biblos) manufactured there.

Hills Group Plans Party for Rodgers

Site: Recess Club;
Day: January 29
for Musician

By MARY ELLEN MEAD
BLOOMFIELD HILLS — There's always a thrill in walking through anything as beautiful as the Fisher Building lobby. But with the advent of the new theater, watching show people stroll by is as exciting as a downstairs table at Sardi's.

The presence of Richard Rodgers — in town preparing "No Strings" for Broadway — recently prompted a Bloomfield group to plan a party in his honor.

Because Mr. Rodgers is a graduate of Columbia and a trustee of Barnard, alumni members of these two colleges will be the hosts. Cocktails and buffet will take place Monday at the Recess Club.

Among those planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gossett, Mr. and Mrs. Parbury P. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Beer, Dr. and Mrs. David H. Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. James Paris.

Others include Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Avison Jr., Alan L. Gornick, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Brashner, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Jacoby and the Rev. and Mrs. Carl R. Sayers.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chivers, Hanover, N. H., were recent houseguests of Dr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Lambert of Gulliver Road. During the summer Mr. and Mrs. Chivers operate Camp Keweenaw on Lake Timagami in Ontario.

Jerry Lambert is an alum of the camp, and so is Bob Chambers Jr., so they were delighted to see recent credentialed pictures which the Chivers brought along. Movie party took place in the Chambers' new home on Vaughan Road.

Incidentally, while Jerry was in camp, Dr. and Mrs. Lambert became so entranced with the Hawaiian country, they purchased a 10-acre island within tanning distance of the boys. So it's there they'll be spending their summers from now on.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Loppnow, Franklin Road, left last night for a Saturday marriage of his niece, Sandra Loppnow, in Milwaukee.

The Loppnows were accompanied by Ed Jr., Diane and Deborah, the latter to be a bridesmaid for her cousin.

Completing the list of chairmen are Mrs. William Ford, John, Mrs. Paul Vanhook, equipment; Mrs. Ralph Behler and Mrs. Thomas Moffatt, decorations; Mrs. Baer, publicity; and Mrs. Burt Roswell and Mrs. Kenneth McIntosh, cleanup.

PARIS (UPI) — Fashion experts today waited for the smoke to clear in the 1962 battle over the hemline and feminine curves.

As the Paris spring fashion show went into their final day the question of whether the hemline would rise or fall seemed to have become deadlocked. The House of Dior took a middle of the road approach by dropping the hemline just below the knee.

Nevertheless, models who showed off Dior raincoat for 1962 yesterday put up resistance to the hemline drop and showed a bit more leg than in earlier days.

And as far as beauty queen curviness, Dior — unlike other designers — flattened their faces and airt.

Italian designer Roberto Capucci was showing his first Paris collection, an endeavor almost as dangerous as jumping into the lions den, today followed by Gabrielle "Coco" Chanel and Lanvin's designer Antonio Del Costello.

For several seasons now the indomitable Chanel suit styles have become the "laid and latter fashions" with all chic Parisiennes and most women on the best-dress list.

JACKIE WEARS 'EM Only recently photographs of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy wearing a Chanel suit appeared in newspapers the world over.

Even France's pin-up number one, actress Brigitte Bardot, has turned to Chanel to cover her well-known curves with nubby tweeds and flowing chiffon.

The Chanel suit styles, with their braided-trimmed cardigan jackets and easy-to-wear skirts, can be seen today in the original version on rich women who paid $800 for one outfit.

Chanel copies are worn by all women who want to look chic without changing their suit style from one season to the other. The "Chanel look" can be bought everywhere, for $100 in the de luxe boutiques down to $20 in the bargain basement.

Since her return to the Paris fashion scene six years ago, Chanel has set also a definite style with her chiffon dresses.

Opera Group to Witness Scholarship Competition

Two successive events Tuesday will inaugurate activities pursuant to the 1962 Metropolitan Opera season in Detroit.

Some 300 members of the general committee will attend a luncheon in the Crystal Ballroom of Masonic Temple. They will then move into the Scottish Rite auditorium to witness the finals of the 17th annual opera scholarship competition of the Grinnell Foundation of Music and the National Council of the Metropolitan Opera, Detroit Division.

Mrs. George W. Romney, Bloomfield Hills, general chairman and Mrs. John F. Gordon, general co-chairman, will preside. Patricia Robinson, assistant manager of the Metropolitan Opera will speak. Frank Donovan, president, Detroit Grand Opera Association, will report on plans for the ticket campaign for the seven operas to be presented May 21 through May 26.

Gamma Group Laying Plans for Card Party

Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi Sorority is completing arrangements for a benefit card party at 8 p.m. Wednesday in First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland's building.

Among committee heads assisting Mrs. Joshua Madden, general chairman, are Mrs. William Baer and Mrs. Roscoe Lund, tickets; Mrs. William Baer and Mrs. William Grubbs, table prizes; Mrs. Robert Lohf and Mrs. Daniel Roper, door prizes; and Mrs. Gerald Martin and Mrs. Walter Bjelken, refreshments.

Mrs. Elwyn Tripp of Voorhees Road, an industrious mother of four, has been named "Volunteer of the Month" by the Pontiac Area United Fund's Central Volunteer Bureau.

Tripp has been a community leader in youth activities, currently serving as president of Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

Brownie leader, Mrs. Tripp has held the posts of day camp chairman, helping to establish the council's first summer session, and troop camp chairman, planning wholesome outdoor program experiences for thousands of area girls.

Later she became vice president for northern Oakland County's Girl Scout Council, with her efforts centering on plans for a program suited to the needs of girls 7 through 17. "This position proved to be challenging and required increased dedication and devotion to the purpose of inspiring girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service," said Mrs. Raymond Meggitt, Volunteer Bureau publicity chairman.

ELECTED COUNCIL CHIEF

In 1959 Mrs. Tripp was elected president of the northern Oakland Scouting council. "As leader of the 10,500 member body her administrative duties are effected with enthusiasm and confidence in the informal educational program of Girl Scouting to which she devotes at least 30 hours weekly," Mrs. Meggitt said.

How does an already busy homemaker find time for hours of volunteer work? Mrs. Tripp answered, "Time for volunteer work is easier to find when one has personally experienced a richer life because of her association with the Girl Scout movement. As a mother I naturally desire that my family and other girls of the community may have the same opportunity. There are many opportunities and great need for volunteers to serve even a few hours in many phases of volunteer work."

Dennis, the Tripps' son, attends Western Michigan University. Daughters are Jane, a Waterford High School junior and senior Girl Scout; Elwyn, 11, an intermediate Girl Scout at Oakland County School; and two who must wait three years for Brownie membership.

Mrs. Allen Priestley, chairwoman, may be called by area residents interested in community service. At present there are no need for volunteers to drive blind persons to Braille classes Wednesdays at Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Crayon Will Help Identify Boxes

To identify their contents readily, use washable crayons to mark the opaque plastic shoe or hat boxes in your closet.

Then, when you switch to a new pair or pair of shoes, just wash the "old" lettering off with a sponge dipped in soap or detergent suds and write a new identification.

Personal News

Mrs. Allen Neville of Boston Avenue entertained Wednesday at a buffet supper to welcome Rev. Father Max Murphy and Greta Branker who had just arrived from Trinidad, British West Indies.

Mrs. Branker will be a student at the Dominican Sisters' Academy, St. Mary's, at Oxford. She is the first recipient of a foreign aid scholarship given by the scholarship fund of the Pontiac Missionaries Society of which Mrs. Neville is chairman.

Other guests included Mrs. Angus McDonald, Mrs. Joseph Zelenski and Mrs. Gertrude Anderson who is executive director of the Missionaries.

Among guests at The Holly Inn, Pinchurst, N.C., this week are a trio of sisters from the area: Kendall P. Anderson of Lancaster Road, George Balm, Rochester and William Hane, Farmington.

The David D. Robinsons (Hendra K. Gilbert) announce the birth of a son, David Dorman Jr., Jan. 25 in Sparrow Hospital, East Lansing. Mr. Robinson is doing graduate work in psychology at Michigan State University.

Grandparents of the infants are the Mack R. Gilberts, Medina, Ohio and the Alfred H. Robinsons of East Troups Road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Seddon of Michigan Avenue attended graduation exercises Sunday at Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, where their son Joseph received his bachelor of science degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Corbat (Stella Bray) of Williamsburg, Va., are parents of a daughter, Barbara Lynn, born Jan. 16 in Williamsburg.

The baby's grandparents are Mrs. Albert Bray, Iron River and the Louis D. Corbats of Vinewood Avenue.

The birthday of Mrs. Ralph Deem of Robinson Avenue was honored when members of the Lucky 13 Club met at the Garland Avenue home of Mrs. Lewis A. Lingie.

YMCA Sets Family Dinner

YMCA's first winter cooperative family dinner is set for 6 p.m. Saturday at the headquarters on Mt. Clemens Street followed by fellowship singing, led by Robert Lidson.

The singest will precede participation in organized YMCA activities in the building.

Co-chairman of this month's cooperative dinner sponsored by the YMCA's Mothers' Club are Mrs. Lenworth Miner and Mrs. Lena M. Barling.

The next cooperative dinner is slated for Feb. 4.

Abby Says: I'm With You!

Trust Must Be Earned

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-ager who is not trusted by my parents. I don't know why they don't trust me but I know they don't.

Will you please tell me how I can prove to my parents that I am dependable and can be trusted?

I know lots of other teenagers with the same problem.

NOT TRUSTED DEAR NOT TRUSTED: Trust must be earned. Your parents should give you a few added privileges and then let your actions determine whether you are able to handle them.

If you prove to be unreliable, then those privileges should be withheld for a while. Most parents would be pleasantly surprised to know how dependable their teen-agers could be if given the chance.

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from the wife who wanted to leave her husband because he had an affair with another woman. Perhaps my story will help her and others like her.

My husband had an affair with a married woman for about 6 years. They enjoyed their "secret love" for one year. And he spent the next 2 years trying to get rid of her. Legally she was doing nothing, but she made life miserable for him, threatening to tell me if he quit seeing her.

Finally, in desperation, he came to me with our marriage and told me. He had been such a wonderful husband and father that I thought he was joking.

Oh, how he suffered inside for his mistake! That was 18 years ago, Abby. We since have reared 4 wonderful children in the happiest home you could imagine. My pride and joy, now, but only for a day, for I know he really loved me. He has made up for that hurt in a thousand ways. I am glad I forgave him.

WIFE DECISION DEAR WIFE: How very wise were a magic mirror for grand-children. No one should be punished a lifetime for one mistake.

DEAR ABBY: I wish three parents who bring about their grand-children. I can exercise grandparently who are still thrilled with their first grandchild, but I cannot for the life of me understand people who have had four and five grand-children and continue to bore their friends with their picture and tale sayings.

Don't think I am jealous because I have six grand-children of my own and, believe me, I could brag plenty, but I have too much consideration for others. Please print this. I want to buy 20 newspapers, and clip this from and send it to some of my friends.

BORED STIFF How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding," send 20 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Sharon Louise Davies, daughter of Mrs. Leonard Davies of Judson Street and the late Mr. Davies to Gerald A. Klobnack, son of the John Klobnacks of Emerson Avenue.

Discusses U. S. Trade for League

Mrs. John Barwood of the League of Women Voters of Pontiac discussed U.S. foreign trade policy before some 19 members Wednesday evening in the Community Service Building. A budget committee session followed.

Julia Dabell directed a "call to action" project and Laura Belz reviewed highlights of league influence and activities on the local level and in other states.

League President Lillian Davidson showed charts of area con-con delegates, committees in which they are serving and the subjects being considered by these committees.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. B. W. Gabel, assisted by Miss Belz and Mrs. Frances Coons. A cake decorated with small American flags and a map of Michigan, inscribed with "The League of Women Voters" centered the tea table. Mrs. Eva Clark was a guest.

The league board will meet Feb. 6 and the next membership meeting is set for Feb. 28, when county government will be the study topic.

Offers 'Individuality for Masses' Miami Couturier Goes From 'Rags to Riches'

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Kooky fashions of the black-stockinged, pony-tailed beatnik type may be replaced by "individuality for the masses," if a Miami designer's steadily growing popularity continues. Bruce Sobel is a handsome, tanned 43-year-old bachelor who has literally made riches from what he calls rags that provide style-conscious young mistresses with a new kind of uniqueness.

"That word, Kookie, reminds me of the unwashed masses. Immature dilettantes trying to be different by dressing exactly like each other," he claims.

When Sobel was simply a dress shop retailer two years ago it annoyed him not to be able to stock his racks with something besides the mass-approved styles. That's when he made up some designs, bought some fabric and hired a seamstress to execute "clothes with taste and a sense of humor."

To add a little prestige, he invented the Stracel label which is a shortened Italian word meaning rag.

Before long his "rag line" had created such a fashion furore with Florida's tourists as well as the home folk that New York buyers were searching out Sobel's little suburban shop to discover where he was getting his stock.

NEW LABEL

Within months Sobel had a drawer full of orders, a squat little factory in the Miami garment district, and more sewing machines and seamstresses. He also added a junior line tagged Richeze, an appropriate Italian word meaning riches.

Describing his designs as difficult, Sobel admits, because each dress is cut so that every woman looks different in it, depending upon her figure and the way she interprets wearing it.

Not every dress is belted, or unbelted, or ruffled, or pleated or with a swinging skirt, or a straight skirt. There is a strange mixture of everything. "The Stracel look isn't the same thing throughout the line because we don't have the mechanical and sales problems that force the big manufacturer to do this," he says.

But at the rate he's growing isn't Sobel likely to reach the same proportions, and therefore inherit the same snags that limit individuality?

"I'm a happy man and my wants are few. I've got enough money now and I don't care enough about being so rich I have to sacrifice being different."

Musicale Group Listens to Flute

Dr. James Haden, faculty member of Michigan State University, Oakland, presented an informative program on the fipple flute, commonly called the recorder, before members of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicales Workshop at this week's meeting.

Mrs. Haden accompanied her husband at the piano for selections by Telemann, Handel and Bach, played by Dr. Haden on the alto fipple flute.

Mrs. Victor Lindquist of Chippewa Road was hostess, assisted by Mrs. James Forman.

Won't Get Much Sleep

Astronaut's Wife Is Very Excited About Space Shot

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The slim, dark-eyed lady of the house at 3833 North Harrison Street in suburban Arlington, Va., says she isn't a bit nervous. But she does not expect to get much sleep tonight.

Her husband, John H. Glenn Jr., is scheduled Saturday morning to orbit three times around the earth in a satellite. The Glenns live across the tree-lined street from a junior high school, and Glenn is growing in the neighborhood of rambling brick homes.

SHE'S EXCITED

Anna Glenn admits she gets excited when she thinks of her husband's historic journey, and their two children, 16-year-old David and 14-year-old Carolyn, say they are "thrilled." But nevertheless the three Glenns go normally through their daily routine. Mrs. Glenn visits her neighbors, goes shopping and has her hair fixed. The frequent post-nouncements of the shot have failed to ruffle her.

Aside from frequent calls from friends and reporters, she has managed to withdraw into some seclusion in the company of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Custer, who have come from New Concord, Ohio, to be with her when her husband blasts off.

TO WATCH WITH FRIENDS

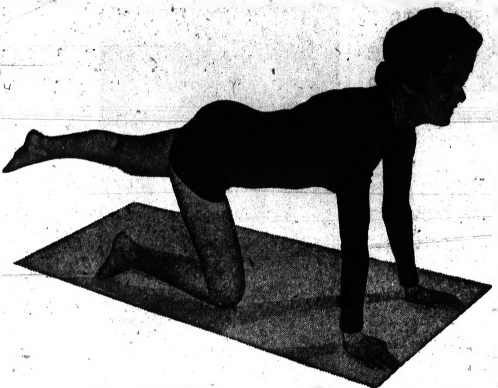

Saturday morning, two neighbors—also the wives of Marine lieutenants—come—will be at her side. They are Mrs. Ida M. Miller and Jeanne Brown, whom she considers her best friends.

The women will watch the launching over television at the Glenn house.

The children will go next door to watch it in the recreation room of the Miller house, with the Millers' children—Don, 16, Jacqueline, 14, and Jo Ann, 12.

Mrs. Glenn, an early riser anyway, confesses sleep will come hard tonight.

A total of 391,000 Volkswagen buses were produced in 1959, compared with 13,000 in 1947.

This is how to add inches to the hips: Lift the leg up and down, keeping knee stiff. Repeat with other leg.

Well, Try Exercise

She WANTS to Put On Fat

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

"Please print an exercise to add inches to the hips. I have a small build, am 5 feet, 2 inches tall and weigh 103 pounds. My measurements are bust 36 inches, waist 22 and hips 34. When I married, I weighed 115 pounds."

A. Even if you have a small frame, you should weigh more—about 115 pounds. Do the following exercise. Kneel on both knees. Place your hands on the floor, elbows straight. Straighten your left leg. Lift your left leg up and down with a straight knee. After a while, kneel on your right knee and straighten your right knee, and lift the right leg up and down, keeping the right knee stiff.

Q. "You have mentioned two ways of removing hair. One was electrolysis. Please tell me what the other was."

A. There are several ways of removing superfluous hair, but electrolysis (chemical decomposition by the action of the electric current) is the only permanent one. Some other methods are by shaving, use of cosmetic wax and use of a depilatory.

Q. "I like to wear nylon, but don't because my ankles are too skinny. What can I do to fatten my ankles?"

A. I do not think that nylons necessarily make the ankles appear thinner. I suppose cotton stockings would, however, make them look heavier. Wear seamless stockings; they make the legs look larger. You might also take this exercise. Sit in a chair. Raise the legs up off of floor. Turn the soles of the feet in toward one another. Turn the soles out. Continue, turning them in and then out.

Q. "I am 11 years old, 5 feet, 3 inches tall and weigh 112 pounds. All my girl friends are always teasing me about being fat and I want to diet, but my mother and father say that this is ridiculous, that I am not fat at all. Who is right, my family or my friends?"

A. Your family. Your weight is ideal.

Advertising Cause of Women's Worry

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. "Women are introspective and worried even when there's not much cause. Over half feel there's something wrong with them, even if they themselves don't know what it is." So says an advertising executive.

Well, if we women feel there is something wrong with us—even if we aren't quite sure what it is—modern advertising has had a big hand in making us do so.

There's the scary advertising that asks us important questions, plain blank, meant to frighten us into buying whatever the advertiser is trying to sell.

There is the glamour advertising that makes the average woman feel like a tramp. In this respect, never had created by advertising, women are all young and beautiful, even as they do the dirtiest chores. The chores, of course, are no longer dirty chores when done with the advertiser's product. Or so it reads.

"CHILDREN ANGELIC"

In these advertisements, houses, too, are always spotless—children are always scrubbed and starched and sitting quietly like little angels.

Then there are all the "easy does it" advertisements, where the laundry does itself, windows get washed with a flick of the wrist, fancy clothes do the cooking, and so on.

With the housekeeping made so easy, is it any wonder the housewife who works 10 hours a day and never seems to catch up, whose children act more like little devils than like little angels, feels there must be something wrong with her?

And then she looks in the mirror—and she doesn't see a glamorous girl. She sees a tired housewife and she is sure that she is a failure.

First, the Madison Avenue boys make the housewife aware of herself.

Then, they act surprised when their research tells them that housewives as a group are introspective and worried and feel there is something wrong with them—even when they have no idea just what it is.

Ruth Millett unscrambles more puzzles for the men in her book, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 400, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Don't Make Big Fuss at Nothing

By the Emily Post Institute

Q. My husband and I and two other couples with whom we are very friendly, planned to go out to a night club and have ourselves a big evening. We were all looking forward to this very much as we do not get out very often.

Last night the wife of one of the couples called and said she asked her sister and her husband to join us, adding, "the more the merrier." I know her sister and her husband and do so care for them and I know the other couple does not care for them either, and frankly I would rather stay home than to be in their company.

I am very much annoyed over this and think she had a lot of nerve inviting them to join us without at least first consulting us.

My husband thinks I am making a fuss over nothing and sees no wrong in what she did as we are all young and on our way. I would like your opinion on this matter.

A. It seems to me that your husband is probably right and that you are taking this too seriously, even though your friend was inconsiderate in not asking the opinion of the rest of you before adding to your party.

Q. When a boy takes a girl to his school dance and they are seated with a group of friends, must he always find a partner for his girl in order for him to dance with other girls?

A. If they are sitting in a group, it would be quite natural to ask one of the other girls in the group to dance with him, and that would surely prompt another boy to ask the boy's friend to dance.

Even if no one asks her to dance, it would not be wrong to leave her for a short time sitting with others; but he must never leave her sitting alone.

Q. Would it be proper to send a birthday card to the mother of my boy friend? She lives in another city and I have never met her, although I feel as though I do know her because she speaks of her often.

A. As you have not met her it would be inadvisable to send her a birthday card which could only make her think you are running after her son.

Help Child Fight School-Induced Pressure

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
Our older boy has always been a conscientious student and got good marks at school. But his 10th grade homework is so heavy that he complains about it as soon as he gets home.

I help him all I can, hearing his French verbs, checking his compositions and working with him on his history outlines. But the next day he is as upset and irritable as ever. Do you advise my speaking to his teacher?

ANSWER: No. It's his homework, his teacher and his obligation to do the speaking.

The help he needs, in my opinion, is not help with his excessive homework but support for his resistance to it. As of now, he is just diffusing it in useless irritation and complaint.

As adults, we should know that school is a place that introduces a child to the world as well as to history and grammar. In it, as in the world, work people who, plished themselves, deal with pressure by transferring it to the next person in line.

To get along in it, children have to learn to say, "That's enough sales than we can give them or school is a place that not only teaches Johnny math and French verbs but the limits of his obligations to other people."

Have You Tried This?

Add Frozen Asparagus to Round Steak, Simmer

By JANET ODELL

Feature From Home Editor

Last Saturday in the beauty shop we overheard a teenager talking about the wonderful way round steak was fixed at her house. Of course, we got into the conversation and got the recipe from the young lady, Judy Williams. She says it's "real good."

We found out that Judy is an officer in Jobs Daughters. She is talented with her hands and makes many of the gifts she gives at Christmas. Needlework is one of her hobbies.

REAL GOOD STEAK

By Judy Williams

round steak
1 box frozen asparagus
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
salt and pepper

Brown meat in a little fat in a dutch oven or skillet with tight fitting lid. Season with salt and pepper. Separate asparagus pieces and add to meat. Mix soup with one cup can of water. Pour over meat and asparagus. Cover and simmer 2 1/2 hours, or until meat is fork tender.

So, to a child overloaded with homework, I would say, "Have you really made the best history outline you can? If so, close your book—and eat and have some cocoa."

If there was ever a time when children needed help in resisting school pressure, it is right now.

Because of demands made on them, our colleges are constantly warning that they will be able to educate only the most gifted applicants. Becoming nervous in their turn, our secondary schools transfer the colleges' pressure to our boys and girls. In this crisis someone has to keep his head. If children's love of learning is to be protected, we parents have to teach them how to resist the strains that can result in its destruction.

Instead, we co-operate with the pushers. We are afraid of the consequences of resistance. Like passengers in an overcrowded bus, we prefer to ride and complain to pulling the cord, getting off and walking home.

Business Club Has Fun Night

Tuesday was Fun Night for members of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club in the home of Mrs. M. D. Stapp on Inverness Avenue.

Bonnie Davidson served as chairman for an evening of games, stunts and music, after which lunches auctioned by Mrs. Norman Dyer were opened. Assisting with hospitality were Mrs. G. A. Flessland, Mrs. Leo McDonald, Mrs. Fritz Stoddard, Vera Bassett and Margaret Harth.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Alfred Harwood, Mrs. Eva Clark and Lillian Davidson.

Couple Entertains Child Study Club

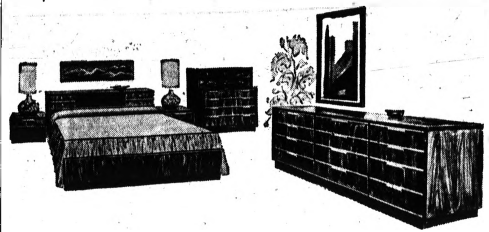

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Worster of Erie Drive, Orchard Lake were dinner hosts to members of Child Study Club III and their husbands on Tuesday. Sharing hostess honors were Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mrs. Roy Jones, Mrs. Donald McCandless and Mrs. Maynard Ray. Film strips of Dr. Worster's safari to British East Africa were shown with running commentary and trophies collected on the trip were on display.

Michaelites Launch Projects in Preparing for Science Fair

By SHARON RODDEN

Whether it is writing a research theme, drawing an illustrative poster, tri-secting an angle, or whipping up an ultra mechanical invention the whole atmosphere is a

"scientific" one at St. Michaels High School this week. Grasping for ideas and searching for answers to numerous puzzling questions, many of the Michaelites who are concerned with the "why's and the how's" of things are getting into the act of preparing for the Science Fair which will be held in the early spring. A colorful exhibit, the fair will display many unique scientific projects ranging from mathematical equations to actual "crystal growing."

ON FIELD TRIP

Away on a field trip to Lansing

this afternoon are Sister Mary Clarence and four of St. Michaels' best history students, seniors: Shannon Donnelly, Judy Lamphere, Jim Huron, and Dana Hantusky. They went as guests of the "Senior Seminar in Government Action Organization," a group of Detroit's finest history enthusiasts from both the public and parochial schools.

The organization is under the direction of Sister Mary Thomasina, Sister of St. Joseph, who is a faculty member at St. Rita's High School in Detroit. They participate in many projects of this sort and their primary purpose is to study government while it is in action.

On the trip, the group will have the privilege of meeting Governor Swainson personally, visiting the legislature and sitting in on a session of council. Their trip will be climaxed with a tour of Michigan State University.

Bringing a big bag of relief—semester exams are all over with!—Katie and the staff reviews can be cast aside at last while the "tiddling thumbs" routine of waiting for report cards time is here.

One consolation is the semester vacation which is now being thoroughly enjoyed by every student at St. Michaels and considered in the broad sense of the word a more than welcome "refreshment."

St. Fred Pupils Focus on Grades

Open House on Sunday
Gives Parents, Faculty
Chance for Discussion

By SUE POLMEIR
Student attention focused on semester exams and several quarter report cards at St. Frederick's High School this week.

As is customary, these second quarter reports will be given to the parents who will then have an opportunity to discuss the student's progress with the teachers and counselors. An Open House for parents will be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 1:30 p.m. St. Frederick's students have also captured the spotlight with outside activities and honors.

CHOSEN JR. MISS
Tina LaLoe, a senior, has been chosen Pontiac's Junior Miss of 1962 on the basis of her talent, poise, appearance, and personality.

During her high school career, Tina has been outstanding in scholastic, social, and athletic activities. She is a member of National Honor Society. She has also been active in extracurricular activities such as cheerleading, Student Council, Future Nurses, and Ramrod staff.

As representative of Pontiac she will compete for the state title, Feb. 3, at Pontiac Northern High School. State winner will receive a scholarship and other prizes plus a trip to nationwide finals at Mobile, Ala.

W. Bloomfield Class Orders Name Cards

By BONNIE DISTEL
Seniors at West Bloomfield ordered their announcements and name cards Wednesday. The announcements cost 15 cents apiece and the name cards were $2.50 for a hundred.

A sign of relief could be heard by students of all grades Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 as exams ended. Four days of vacation were ahead for skiing, tobogganing, or an assortment of other activities while teachers corrected papers and read report cards for Monday.

Discovers Pupil Expense
The Education Research Service, sponsored by National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators, surveyed 526 urban school districts recently to discover their current expenditure per pupil. Answers ranged from less than $200 per pupil in 11 districts to more than $900 in four districts.

Kettering Enjoys 'Rec Night'

By SHIRLEY LEHIGH

Relieving the tension of final exams, students enthusiastically participated in the second "Rec Night" at Waterford-Kettering High School Wednesday evening.

"Rec Night" was designed to help raise money for the Senior class and at the same time offer a wholesome activity.

Various sports were played in the gym including basketball, volleyball, and table tennis. Alternating each half hour, students acted as disc jockeys while guests danced to popular recordings.

PLAN REG NIGHT

Responsible for planning the Rec Night program was the senior class board. Officers of the board are Doug Lyon, president;

Rick Biggers, vice president; Bob Allen, treasurer; and Joyce Conis, secretary.

Members of the board representing the seven senior honor houses include Howard Berram, Cynthia Krucko, Sharon Martin, Earl Nichols, Rick Rosegar, Sandy Rayman and Mike Pender.

Pick 6 Vocalists at Walled Lake

Audition Success Due to Long Hours Training for Michigan Choral

By JEANNE SPENGEMAN
"I-static" is the word used to describe six Walled Lake Senior High School students. The long periods of vocal training have helped them complete successful auditions for the Michigan Choral society which will tour Europe this coming summer.

Lester McCoy, director of the University Musical Society and also of the Michigan Choral, has chosen 71 Southern Michigan high school students to represent the United States in Europe this coming summer.

Sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches, the choral group began in 1937. Walled Lake has participated every year since then, sending representatives to Europe in 1938 and 1959, and to South America and Mexico in 1960 and 1961.

Necessary training has been achieved by senior Jack Boye through singing in St. Williams Church choir and four years of church classes in school. Ken Colton is an active senior. By singing in the Commerce Methodist Church choir, rhythmic choir, and school chorus classes for four years, Ken received the needed vocal training.

Pat Lysinger, another senior, has had four years of choral in school, sings in the Westminster Choir at Orchard Lake Presbyterian Church, and takes private singing lessons.

Singing in school music classes since ninth grade, Kathy McBreom has also had experience with choral at the Walled Lake Methodist Church and with private vocal lessons.

Now the student has only three exams per day instead of the usual six, and completes a certain subject in two hours during one day instead of dividing the exam in two parts and more than separate days.

Exams for the "Green Valley" were held Tuesday. Presentation of this comedy-fantasy play is scheduled for March 9 and 10.

"Green Valley" is based on the story of a young fellow, Eldon, and his struggle to keep his land John Anderson portrays his lead role.

Troy High Group Sells Paperbacks to Raise Funds

The National Honor Society of Troy recently conducted a paperback book sale in the school library.

Books ranging in price from 25 cents to 75 cents were available and included subjects of interest from mathematics and science to reading "just for fun."

All proceeds derived from the sale went toward setting up a fund for a scholarship to be given by the society.

The school's yearbook campaign to boost subscriptions to the 1962 Chladator has been a high success. Coeditors Patricia Kelly and Deborah Steinback say this will make possible the largest yearbook Troy has ever had.

Each division of the school will have their own section in the Chladator. New sections such as club histories and faculty backlogs will be given. The largest section is expected to be the sports section where all of Troy's sports will be given special attention.

HONORS AWARD WINNERS — The student body and faculty of Our Lady of the Lakes High School this week congratulated (left) Darryl Stephenson of 626 Wing Lake Road and Margaret Borys of 2405 Lake Avenue Road. They are pictured receiving the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award and the Betty Crocker Home-maker Award, respectively, from Sister Mary Anthony, school principal. Both students are eligible to compete for 1962 national honors in their respective contests.

1962 Award Winners Named

Honor Lady of Lakes Pair

By LAURA FRENTELE

Our Lady of the Lakes High School honors Darryl Stephenson and Margaret Mary Borys, award winners, this week.

In announcing Darryl Stephenson as the 1962 winner of the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award, evidence of superior scientific aptitude, Sister Mary Anthony, principal, said "These awards are especially significant."

"Today, everyone realizes the importance of the study of science in our secondary schools. The Bausch & Lomb honorary science award provides appropriate recognition to senior students with the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

GIVEN AT GRADUATION

The science award — a handsome bronze medal — is presented at graduation in more than 7,500 schools. Since its introduction in 1933, there have been 151,000 winners. Surveys have revealed that more than 30 per cent of the winners have been encouraged by the award to follow scientific careers.

Winners of the Honorary Science Award are eligible to compete for science scholarships, sponsored by Bausch & Lomb Inc., at the University of Rochester. Three or more scholarships are provided annually.

Scholarships are based on need and have a total combined value of $21,000. The award winner is usually selected early in December, so that his or her application for the scholarship competition can be filled out and returned to the University before the Feb. 1 deadline.

TWO HOME-MAKERS

Margaret Borys, senior, is winner in the school's 1962 Betty Crocker Search for the American Home-maker of tomorrow. She achieved the highest score in the examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by senior girls Dec. 5.

Margaret becomes eligible to compete for the Betty Crocker National Home-maker Award, which is held annually in New York City, Washington, D.C., and Columbia, Md.

The girl named State Home-maker of tomorrow will join with other state winners in an expense paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D.C., and Columbia, Md.

The national winner will have her scholarship raised to $5,000 with second, third and fourth place winners being granted scholarships of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

The knowledge and attitude test, prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Chicago is the basis for selection of local and state winners with personal observation and interviews serving as factors in national judging.

The 1962 Betty Crocker Search reached another all-time high in enrollment with 46,132 girls in 12,871 schools participating.

The program now is in its eighth year. By the end of this year, more than two and a half million girls will have participated and scholarship awards will have totaled more than three quarters of a million dollars.

Pontiac Chiefs Breathe Easier Following Tests

By WADE WILKINSON

This week has been a busy one for the students of Pontiac Central High School. Students took their final exams Tuesday and Wednesday and received their final grades Friday morning.

Central basketball boosters are preparing for the big game tonight. The Pep Club has made arrangements for over four buses to take students and parents to Saginaw to see the game. Only a few hundred tickets were available so only students riding the buses were sold tickets.

This is one of the services of the Pep Club to the school—organizing trips for the various physical contests during the year to support and bolster school spirit.

The Caribbeens, the male vocal group led by Jerry Lallo, vocal music director, sang for the teachers of the Pontiac School system Thursday afternoon at Washington Junior High School. The senior girls' ensemble combined with the Caribbeens on some numbers.

The combined Caribbeens and Pontiac Northern High Schools will be presented along with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra in a program this coming Tuesday.

The program will be held in the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

The Pontiac Central High School spring foreman class of 1962 senior will soon be on the move. Students will find this class beneficial if they desire to gain the abilities of effective speaking and verbal communication.

Superior development, training in public speaking, reading, original oratory, and extemporaneous speaking will be five skill developing objectives.

The best of these students, determined by competition, will make up the Spring Foreman Team, which competes in the Saginaw Invitational.

Supper, the Caribbeens, Pontiac Northern High Schools will be presented along with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra in a program this coming Tuesday.

U.S. Tourists Top Foreigners by $1 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges reported Thursday American visitors spent a billion dollars more abroad than foreign tourists spent here.

But Hodges told the National Association of Travel Organizations that the new U.S. travel service plans a major effort in the next 18 months to sell abroad its theme — "Travel a new world — see the U.S.A."

Under the international travel act passed seven months ago, Hodges said, important progress already has been made toward stimulating tourism.

Travel promotion officers now are on the job in seven foreign cities — London, Paris, Frankfurt, Sao Paulo, Mexico City, Sydney and Tokyo. Posters, booklets and other promotion material in seven languages are now on the presses.

Wife Says Kovacs Was Deeply in Debt

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Even though his estate is valued at $2.1 million, Ernie Kovacs' widow says the comedian was deeply in debt.

The actor's widow, singer Faye Adams, offered this explanation Thursday: "The gross value doesn't represent a true picture of the estate at all. Ernie had been working with the government for a long time trying to untangle his affairs. There is a tax lien on the house and its contents. We don't know where we stand until the government gets through going over the books."

Miss Adams said Kovacs had been advised how much tax he owed for 1956 and 1957 but the family still doesn't know how much he is owing for the four years since then.

Kovacs died in an automobile accident Jan. 13.

Claim Witness Will Be Bombed

Livonia Contractor Put Under Police Protection
Following Threat

DETROIT (AP) — Police are guarding the home of Rocco Ferrara, a contractor in Livonia, following a bomb threat. Ferrara is a key witness in an Ohio graft case.

A man called Ferrara's office Wednesday and told his office manager:

"I'm going to bomb his house and office some time this week."

Ferrera is president of Rocco Ferrara, Co.

Police protection also was provided at Cleveland, Ferrara's partner, and Eugene Brady, president of the Boon Co., a construction firm in Livonia.

Ferrera is scheduled to testify at the trial of Paul Lamonte of Niles, who was indicted by a grand jury in Warren, Ohio, last September on shakedown charges.

RECEIVED THREAT

Ferrera said he received a similar threat two months ago before he testified in the trial of Frank Cickelli, Trumbull County, Ohio, Democratic chairman.

A jury convicted Cickelli Jan. 21 of arranging for a $35,000 political contribution from Ferrara, Cleveland and Brady.

Cickelli, 51, is free on $10,000 bond pending a hearing on a motion for a new trial.

Three Warren councilmen pleaded guilty to soliciting bribes from other contractors and were sentenced to one-to-10 year prison terms.

Sinatra Starts New Movie as Juliet Plans Trip Home

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Frank Sinatra started a new movie this week as Juliet Prowse prepared to fly home to South Africa to plan their wedding.

Producer-star Sinatra was hard at work at Goldwyn Studios with "The Manchurian Candidate." The word was out that he didn't want to speak publicly about his forthcoming marriage, but one has to take chances in this game.

I learned that his choice of a bride was his smartest move since playing Maggie in "From Here to Eternity." Juliet is much admired in this sector of the press corps as bright, charming and talented.

Sinatra failed to bridle, instead confirmed, "Yes, she's a wonderful girl."

Encouraged, I pressed on: "And will it be a June wedding, as has been reported?"

"Up to the brides,"

"I dunno," he replied. "She's going home to South Africa this weekend, and she'll work it out with her mother." Then, lapsing into Sinatra: "These matters are up to the brides."

And what of reports that Juliet will give up her career after her marriage?

"That's right; I think it will be better if she doesn't work."

Show business' loss, I said.

BUT MY GAIN

"Yeah, but my gain," he retorted.

It's doubtful if the wedding will take place before Sinatra finishes his new film, he being on-track minded. It will go at least until April 1, including a one-week location in New York City.

If Frank seems subdued these days, it's not merely because he has found his Juliet. He is taking an increasing interest in the business end of his enterprises, having activated his film and record companies in the past year.

He admitted that "The Manchurian Candidate" was his guest role since "The Man with the Golden Arm." The new film is taken from the Richard Condon novel about the Korean War veteran who returns with a Communist brainwashing.

The film also stars Janet Leigh, Laurence Harvey and Angela Lansbury, with TV's boy wonder, John Frankenheimer as director.

Goldfish Drawing Gulls
50 Miles From Atlantic

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sea birds have taken to visiting the University of Pennsylvania campus, some 50 miles from the Atlantic Ocean, Charles Wiley, superintendent of the University Museum, said Thursday.

He attributes the gulls' presence to the goldfish in the huge pool in front of the museum. He said the gulls dive in, gobble the fish and fly away in the direction of the Schuylkill River.

CARE, Medico Plan Merger to Cut Expenses

NEW YORK (AP)—CARE and Medico are merging to cut the costs of their relief work in furnishing food and medicine to foreign countries.

Plans to merge CARE, Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere and Medico, Medical International Cooperative Organization, Inc., were announced by officers of the two voluntary relief agencies Wednesday.

CARE, founded in 1945, operates in 30 countries. It sends food, farm implements and other necessities to needy persons.

Medico operates in 12 countries with 20 medical teams and programs. It was founded in 1958 by the late Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, the young naval officer who resigned his commission to set up medical stations in Laos, and Dr. Peter D. Commendatore.

Immunity to Suits Is Urged Restored

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan State Association of Supervisors asked Thursday for a return of governmental immunity against damage suits, a doctrine killed by a recent decision of the State Supreme Court.

The request was one of a number of resolutions drafted at the final session of the 63rd annual meeting of the county supervisors group.

Some 600 delegates also asked for state control over water levels of inland lakes and streams, county control over antlerless deer hunting and opposed any increase in fishing license fees.

They defeated a resolution that would have taken justice of the peace courts out of the state constitution.

State GOP, Dem Heads to Hash Over Policies Toward Society

LANSING (AP)—Party attitudes toward the semisecular, ultraconservative John Birch Society will get an airing here this weekend at meetings of the State Republican and Democratic high commands.

A resolution urging Republican policy makers to "unequivocally repudiate" any support from the John Birchers and other extremist organizations will be submitted at the GOP State Central Committee meeting here Saturday.

The GOP 16th Congressional District organization on Detroit's West Side adopted the resolution earlier this week and Irvin H. Burdick, district chairman, said the full State Central Committee will be asked to take a similar stand.

The Democratic State Central Committee will meet Sunday and party sources said a resolution reaffirming the party's opposition to the John Birch organization in strong terms is expected to be up for adoption.

Main purpose of the parties is to work on party finances, map out preliminary strategy for the 1962 campaigns, review activity at the constitutional convention and talk over action likely to develop in the legislature.

Bloody Algeria Sees Death of Innocent by Terrorists

ALGERIA (AP) — A French World War I veteran died of a dagger wound, a Moslem gasoline station attendant was cut down by a submachinegun.

They were among some 430 persons who have died at the hands of terrorists—French and Moslem—in Algeria's cities since Jan. 1.

Perhaps only 10 per cent of the victims were involved with either the Moslem National Liberation Front, the FLN, or the European Secret Army Organization, the two opposing terrorist groups.

Most were caught in the vicious circle of Algerian violence, reprisals, and massacres that started as a warning but has only provoked more killing. Among the victims buried in Moslem and Christian cemeteries are men and women whose only crime was to belong to their ethnic group.

A European painter, Emile Coleman, was working on a construction site in the Oran suburb of Delmona when death struck him. A Moslem quietly crept from the back and plunged a knife in his neck.

dark alley near his home. A dagger had killed him. A Moslem gas station attendant, Ali Djafri, 41, was finishing his work on Boulevard Gallieni in Algiers when a bullet struck him in the forehead. His European assailant sped off in a car.

In the Algiers suburb of Hussein Dey a car loaded with Europeans slowed down before a Moslem grocery. A hail of bullets sprayed the store, killing three Moslems. Their corpses were taken by other Arabs and their names were never reported to the authorities.

Henri Baurin, 70, lived in the Oran suburb of Quatre Chemins. He was a World War I casualty and on national holidays carried the flag of his veterans' association. His body was found in a

Nike Zeus Gets OK on Test Run
Missile Killer Scores Hit in Simulated Shot at Enemy ICBM

POINT MUGU, Calif. (UPI) — The Army's Nike Zeus anti-missile weapons system was given a good shot in the arm today on the basis of a successful intercept of an electronically simulated enemy intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

Army mislennmen were jubilant about the success of the intercept test Thursday.

A Nike Zeus was launched with a fiery roar from this Pacific missile range headquarters and theoretically "shot down" an incoming enemy ICBM heading toward the United States at a speed of 14,000 miles an hour.

Success in this first full-scale test prompted an Army spokesman to say, "This proves the Nike Zeus will do its job."

ONLY MISSILE KILLER
Nike Zeus is the only weapons system in the free world designed to destroy an enemy ICBM.

Later this year — at a date which the Army is keeping secret — a Nike Zeus will be fired from Kwajalein atoll in the far Pacific against a real target — a rocket engine by an Atlas rocket from the West Coast.

An Army briefing officer explained that in the test yesterday the Nike Zeus computer or "brain" reacted just as it would if it were aiming at a real target.

The electronic target tape fed into the Nike Zeus computer was authentic. It was made at Avenston Island in the Atlantic Ocean by a radar track of a missile launch at Cape Canaveral, 4,500 miles away.

Mother's March for Dimes Fund Will Be Tuesday

The 1962 Mother's March slated for Tuesday in the Pontiac area is the final and major event of the New March of Dimes campaign, according to Mrs. Charles Neidrett, chairman of this year's march.

Last year some $461.12 was raised through the Mother's March efforts. Mrs. Neidrett, now serving her second year as chairman, hopes this figure will be surpassed in the 1962 campaign.

Funds from the drive will be used by the national foundation to help provide support for its research program, patient aid and professional education — all aimed at conquest of the three disabling diseases.

"More than 11-million persons in America are afflicted by arthritis or the rheumatoid diseases," the Mother's March chairman points out. "There are 250,000 infants born every year in this country with birth defects."

250-Bed Hospital Planned in Farmington Twp.

Proposed Site Rezoned to Allow Construction

By JIM LONG
FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A 250-bed hospital proposed for construction here cleared its first obstacle last night.

The Township Zoning Board paved the way for the hospital by rezoning its future site. The 20-acre parcel north of Botsford Inn, Grand River Avenue and Eight Mile Road, was changed from residential to a medical use classification.

AREA NEWS

The action of the board must now be approved by the Oakland County Coordinating and Zoning Committee and the Township Board. Both usually have followed the recommendations of the zoning group.

Proposing the new hospital is the Ziegler Osteopathic Hospital at 4241 Livernois Ave., Detroit.

Freeman Plans Dash to Lansing

Jet to Whisk Secretary From St. Louis in Time for 'Farmers' Talk

'Farmers' Week at Michigan State University has entered the jet age.

Next Wednesday's featured speaker, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, will appear on the program with an assistant from the U.S. Air Force. In the face of a tight travel schedule, as yet will whisk the secretary from a noon meeting in St. Louis to appear on the afternoon program on the MSU campus.

Freeman's address, "Meeting in new scheduled for 3:45 p.m. in the university auditorium rather than at 1 o'clock as originally planned."

Farmer H. Good announces that all Wednesday afternoon sessions scheduled after 2 p.m. have been shifted to begin promptly at 1 o'clock.

SURVIVAL LUNCHEON

A survival luncheon featuring foods that might be used in event of nuclear attack will be served in the auditorium from noon to 1 p.m. The unique luncheon, open to the public, will provide a menu for an estimated 2,500-3,000 persons. A special program on the dairy industry and civil defense will follow.

Secretary Freeman will give his address immediately after the award of the annual Distinguished Service to Agriculture citation. Freeman, whose 1962 farm program is expected to be presented to Congress early next week, has been a key figure in national farm policy.

Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president, will preside at the special program on Jan. 31, Wednesday. It is traditionally one of the "big days" for the annual Farmers' Week (next Monday through Friday). Plans are being made to welcome an estimated 40,000 visitors to the East Lansing campus.

Methodist Men's Rally Slated Tuesday Night

A Pontiac area Methodist men's rally and dinner will be held Tuesday at the Oakland Park Methodist Church, 36 E. Montclair St., Pontiac Township.

Following the 6:30 p.m. dinner, the program will feature Rev. Orville H. McKay, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Midland. The two-hour event is sponsored by the men of the Lake Orion Methodist Church.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ayling of 17 Country Drive, White Lake Township, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday. The couple has lived in the Osborn Lake area 31 years. They have four children, 19 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

WALLED LAKE JAYCEES — J. Richard Murphy, right, accepts a Distinguished Service Award from Walled Lake Junior Chamber of Commerce President Charles Davis for outstanding service to the community and church during the past year.

Walled Lake Jaycees Select Top Young Man

WALLED LAKE — The first president of the Walled Lake Junior Chamber of Commerce when it was established in 1955 was named the outstanding young man of the year by the organization last night.

J. Richard Murphy, 34, of 192 Springpark St. was presented the Distinguished Service Award for his achievements during 1961. Jaycee President Charles R. Davis made the presentation at a banquet at Rotunda Inn in Orchard Lake.

It was the first time the local Jaycees had awarded the plaque to one of its own members. Murphy, married and the father of two children, 3 and 9 years old, is the manager of the D & C Variety Store in the Maple Plaza Shopping Center.

There was no single accomplishment as the basis of Murphy's nomination, said Davis, but rather for his complete concern with the community and his church.

He is a member of St. Williams Catholic Church, where he leads prayers during the dialogue Mass. He is an usher and a member of the church's Mens' Club.

The citation was the fifth presented by the Walled Lake Jaycees since it organized.

Last year the award was made to Wilford Hook, city policeman. Prior to that, those cited were Gene Schuele, Justice of the peace, 1959; Harry Carlson, principal of Walled Lake Junior High School, 1958; and Russell Mack of the Detroit Edison Co., 1957.

Special awards were presented to three new members of the Jaycees who had contributed the most during the past year. They are Richard Barbach, Thomas Mooney and Charles Duff.

Another award presented last night went to Samuel Smith, who was named the outstanding young farmer in the area. It is the second year in a row that Smith has won the award. He operates a 550-acre dairy farm in Commerce Township.

Richard Meyerson of Kalamazoo, former president of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce, was featured speaker at the annual event.

ROSEVILLE THINKS OVER Tax Relief for Retired — The Roseville City Council has ordered a survey to see whether the city can give tax relief to persons who "live entirely on Social Security, a small pension or some other aid."

Councilman Glen Alsip, who proposed the survey, said the city must decide whether such a tax cut would be possible without increasing the taxes of other property owners.

Event Scheduled Labor Day Week

Date Set for E. Michigan Fair

IMLAY CITY — A new date has been set this year for the 64th annual Eastern Michigan Fair, the most expected attendance by 25,000 people and leave "no limit" on the number of exhibitors, a fair official said today.

The fair will be held Labor Day week, from Sept. 3-8.

According to Kenneth D. Ruby, secretary and manager of the society, the fair will follow on the heels of the Michigan State Fair this year and will just precede the Saginaw Fair, enabling exhibitors to move smoothly from Detroit here and on to Saginaw.

In the past, the fair has been held the first week in August and has lost exhibitors and viewers to wheat harvesting. The sponsors intend to hold onto the new date from now on, Ruby said.

The six-day show will be held at the 40-acre Eastern Michigan Fairgrounds on M53 one-half mile south of M21.

PROGRAMS SCHEDULED

The program of events will include two days of rodeo shows, tractor and horse pulling contests, harness racing, "Hill Drivers" performances, appearances of television personalities, B'wana Don and Bongo Billy, for the children, and singer Eddie Hodges and the Casuals.

Other fair highlights will be professional wrestling matches featuring "Leapin' Larry Chen," and a "Grand Old Opry" show with The Duke of Paducah, and local entertainment by the Almost Rube Band.

"Rain or shine," Ruby said, "this fair will go on." The society has rented a cover for the stage, the track will be sand in case of showers and the grandstand has a roof.

Fair sponsors are enthusiastic about the date for the 1962 production, Ruby said. He expects the attendance, previously some 50,000 viewers, to hit 75,000 this year by avoiding the wheat harvesting season and conflicts with other county celebrations.

Although the fair has netted from $5,000 to $10,000 a year, depending on the weather, Ruby estimated, he said he couldn't make a guess how much business it brings to the LaPeere County area.

All proceeds from the fair are returned to the maintenance of the fairgrounds, he said.

TRAINING HORSES

In preparation for the fair some 60 horses are being trained at the fairgrounds and the society has already sold some exhibition space.

Ruby, who was elected vice-president of the Michigan Association of Fairs and Exhibitions last week, said he expects this to be the "greatest fair we've ever had."

"We hope to be snowed under by exhibitors from the state fair. There's no limit on what we can do this year—except space," he added.

The society is planning a fair boosters banquet to be held about March 15.

Joy Evans, Robert Hatton Wed in Lutheran Church

COMMERCER TOWNSHIP — Ceremony was Rev. Ronald A. Michel, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Evans of 829 Flagstaff Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Robert V. Hatton of Ohio and Mrs. Mabel Clemens of Florida.

For her wedding the bride chose a white silk organza gown, delicately trimmed with lace, and featuring a chapel train and scalloped neckline.

Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a five-point pearl tiara.

Maid of honor was Pat Koch of Pontiac with William Rainey of Union Lake serving as best man.

The 150 guests were seated by Robert Harrington of Union Lake and Harold Windberg of Orchard Lake.

Immediately following the 7 p.m. ceremony a dinner reception was held at the Westlakes Club House in West Bloomfield Township.

The newlyweds are residing at Union Lake.

YMCA Banquet Orbits 2 Member Drives in Area

Two area communities launched their first YMCA membership campaigns last night, setting an eventual goal of 1,200 members and planning a building and full program of Y activities.

Officials from both Troy and Walled Lake attended the kick-off banquet at the Birmingham YMCA, which will be headquarters for both of the four-week campaigns.

William H. Beck, extension secretary for the Birmingham YMCA, said an extension branch set up in 1961 serves the entire City of Troy and will begin its first program of activities there in February.

Beck said the extension branch in the Walled Lake area would serve the entire Walled Lake Consolidated School District and had been named the West Oakland YMCA.

Sale of memberships in both communities will raise funds to finance the new branches' activities. Three-year goals set by founders for each branch include a full-time professional YMCA secretary, a full family program, 1,200 members and a building with space for activities and programs.

Richard Schilsky of 1810 Dawn Ridge, Walled Lake, is chairman of the board for the West Oakland extension branch and chairman of its membership campaign.

Heading the campaign in Troy are Robert F. Beaver, 72 South, and Mrs. Michael Borden, 885 E. Square Lake Road. Boyd Laxon, assistant superintendent of Troy schools, is the Troy branch board chairman.

YMCA activities scheduled to begin in Troy in February include a Thursday adult gym night at Baker Junior High School.

Also scheduled is a Saturday morning fun club for boys and girls in fourth through sixth grades at Johnson-Niles, Leonard and Monroe elementary schools.

For teen-agers, clubs are being organized for junior and senior high school boys (Junior Hi-Y and Hi-Y) and girls (Junior Tri-Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y). A similar program for the West Oakland branch will be announced soon.

Death Takes Ex-Colonel
 CHICAGO (AP)—George Taylor Langhorne, 41, a retired Army colonel and acting governor of Puerto Rico in the Philippines, died Thursday of a heart attack.

Sen. Jackson Brings Up Idea of Board to Go Over Officers' Talks
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara may be asked to create an advisory panel of former Pentagon officials and retired officers to review military speech censorship procedures.

Subcommittee members have suggested that former President Truman be asked for a letter on the beginning of the present speech review policy.

Stigma also has indicated that former President Eisenhower might be asked to clarify his statement with no question the policy of curtailing the speeches of "opinion" civilian and military leaders to speech review.

At issue is how many officials would rank as "opinion" in Eisenhower's view.

U. of M. Political Scientist Says Plan Step Backward

Delegate Rips Into GOP Reapportionment Proposal

LANING (AP) — The constitutional convention was under way today from one of its leading delegates that a tentatively approved Senate reapportionment plan has placed hopes for a modern constitution in jeopardy.

The warning came from Dr. James K. Pollock, 44, an attorney, a world-known University of Michigan political scientist.

Pollock objected in a plan which has been adopted tentatively by the committee on legislative organization, headed by Michigan State University President John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing.

The plan would leave Senate districts as they are now, adding four additional seats — one each for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genesee counties.

It would put off until after the 1970 census any full-scale reapportioning. Then redistricting would be carried out by a bipartisan board on a county formula theoretically giving a weight of 80 per cent to population and 20 per cent to area.

Big College Football Get Ultimatum

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Fuoss, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, reported today that group of major universities worldwide had told him their student bodies, if they were to vote on it, would elect overwhelmingly to bar down their stadiums and discontinue big-time football.

Fuoss' remarks were in a speech prepared for the Detroit Afton Club. It was his first speech since his recent appointment as editor of the Post.

The college presidents told him, Fuoss said, their student bodies think big-time football "is for us adults — and the politicians who vote the university's budget."

"It is an anachronism in the modern college atmosphere, and minutes if the students had their way."

LOST ABILITIES
 "We have lost more than fine black and white concept of good and evil."

Pollock added that the proposal, drawn up originally by William Hanna, R-Muskegon, contains what he described as a "fatal defect in that it embodies a mechanistic and totally unrealistic concept of area representation."

SENATOR FOR SWAMPY
 He said the Hanna plan literally takes representation to forests, lakes, swamps and parks.

"My calculations show that Mr. Hanna has determined that 19.86 acres equal one human being. Frankly, I find such a formulae in absurd."

"This ratio of 19.86 acres per human being is with human habitation."

"If a county should happen to be submerged beneath one of the Great Lakes, it would still have representation in the Senate, so long as it remained legally a county."

Pollock denounced the plan as similar to the type of rotary suffrage system which was eliminated in Great Britain in 1832.

"I am shocked to think it is seriously proposed to introduce it into the State of Michigan in 1962."

At the same time, Pollock modified his own reapportionment plan which originally called for redistricting the Senate on a population basis after 1970 and was acceptable to the Democrats. Under his plan, he would agree to guaranteeing the Upper Peninsula three senators, three for the northern Lower Peninsula and what he said was "effective representation" in outstate southern Michigan in a 35-seat body.

MCUB Budget Cut Likely to Affect Enrollments

Enrollments and library acquisitions will be most likely to suffer from the $200,000 cut made by Gov. Seawater in the 1962-63 budget at request of Michigan State University Oakland, Chancellor D. B. Turner said today.

The university had asked an $804,000 increase. The governor turned this to $550,000 in his recommendations to the State Legislature. The total request was $1,783,990.

Varner said the budget request was based on a projected total enrollment figure in fall of this year of 1,000 students. Of this number, about 700 to 750 would be entering freshmen.

"It would be too early to say how many entering freshmen would be cut off by the budget cut," said Varner. "We still have to examine other alternatives when the budget is finally approved."

FIRST TO BE CUT
A request for a $125,000 grant to acquire a basic collection for the university's new library would be the other item to suffer, Varner said.

"This item, I suspect, would be the first to be cut by us," he said. Varner emphasized his disapproval of enrollments and library acquisitions.

Without having had an opportunity to give the governor's recommendations full study, Varner still said that "this budget plan would enable us to operate our new three-tier system at an enrollment of 1,400 to 1,500."

He added that, "We hope to have an opportunity to visit with Oakland and Macomb county legislative delegations at an early date."

Budget Assumes Rise in Spending
Congress told Kennedy Plans on 7 1/2 Pct. Hike in Coming Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisors says the President's budget anticipates a 7 1/2 percent increase in personal spending by Americans.

Walter Heller, chairman, told the Senate-House Economic Committee Tuesday that spending by Americans is expected to rise some $25 billion this year to a record high of $284 billion. That would be about 7 1/2 percent more than last year.

Kennedy in his budget message last week predicted the gross national product in 1962 will total $250 billion, an increase of $20 billion over last year. The budget is based on tax collections on $250 billion gross national product, which is the national value of all goods and services produced.

Heller said the extra $30 billion GNP is coming from:

- The $25 billion anticipated increase in personal spending.
- An expected $10 billion hike in spending by federal, state and local governments to $119 billion.
- A $15 billion increase anticipated in spending for inventories, new equipment, capital goods, plant and residential construction.

Heller said the $30 billion increase would be in line with those recorded following the past two recessions.

State to Rest Case in Newberry Murder
NEWBERRY (AP)—The State planned to complete its presentation of evidence today at the first-degree murder trial of Joseph Yenik.

Yenik is accused of slaying Michael Richmond, 14, of Newberry at a roadside crossing 13 1/2 miles east of Newberry last July 28. The boy was shot twice in the head.

Prosecutor John P. Shimmens said his final witnesses would include Dr. Edgar Kivela of East Lansing, head of the State Police Crime detection laboratory.

Yenik, a bachelor whose hobbies are hunting and gun collecting, is expected to testify in his own defense next week. Yenik says he was 20 to 30 miles away from the scene at the time of the killing.

Whitehall Police Chief Heart Victim at Age 48
WHITEHALL (AP)—James Hill, 48, named Whitehall police chief, died today of a heart attack, two days ago, died today at his home after suffering a heart attack.

He was found dead by the attending physician, Dr. A. M. Engstrom, arriving in answer to a call from Hill's wife.

Dies of Heart Attack
JACKSON (AP)—Denny Ferguson, 42, a musician playing at a local hotel, died of a heart attack today after a permanent heart attack in leading night clubs and hotels across the country and had done radio and television work.

To Retire From Post
JACKSON (AP)—James Sikes, assistant postmaster, will retire Jan. 31 after 41 years with the local post office.

Market Owner Fined by Liquor Commission
The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has ordered the owner of a Rochester market to pay a $150 fine for selling alcoholic beverages to minors.

The commission ruled that Theodore W. Maag, owner of the Towne Market, 425 Main St., would have six packages here and wine license suspended for 30 days if the fine is not paid.

200 to Examine County's Future

Special Plan Confab at MSUO to Focus on Over-All Picture

At least 200 persons are expected to look into Oakland County's future next Thursday during a special planning conference to be held at Michigan State University Oakland.

First of its kind here, the conference will focus on the county as a whole, delving into problems anticipated by a continuing spread of suburbs through previously rural areas.

As cosponsors of the conference, the Oakland County Planning Commission intends to show what advance action can be taken to ease the effects of population growth and demands for more public services and utilities.

Already some 200 members of various township zoning boards and interested observers have made reservations for the conference which will include a dinner in the university's Oakland Center Building.

Further reservations can be made until Monday through the continuing education division of the university.

The conference will last from 3 until 10 p.m.

Among speakers will be Paul Oppermann, executive director of the Northeastern Metropolitan Area Planning Commission; J. Robert P. Swanson, county planning commission chairman; and Paul M. Field, executive director of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Oppermann, long active in the community planning field, will be main speaker at the dinner.

Names Red Cross Month

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Kennedy... designated March as Red Cross month. He urged all Americans to support the organization "as a channel of his humanitarian assistance to their neighbors in need."

To Retire State Post

Motors, Aerospace Issues Up

Stocks Rally in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors and aerospace issues were strong in the stock market rally in active trading early today.

Gains of key stocks ran from fractions to about 2 points.

The list following shows movement that came at the close of Wednesday's trading session. Prices had not expected support around the level of 100 in the Dow-Johns industrial average and the rebound was even more vigorous than some souls had hoped.

Bonds Yawn in 1st Action

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond prices were generally unchanged at the start of trading today.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. Government securities put no changes in their quotations or long-term issues. Activity was a minimum.

There was a little trading in rail and industrial bonds in over-the-counter market.

Among corporate bonds, Atlantic City added 1/8 at 104 1/2. Fractional changes were almost everywhere. Utilities were unchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange opened with a strong rally in active trading early today. Gains of key stocks ran from fractions to about 2 points.

25-Hour Week Hit by Kennedy

N.Y. Electricians' Pact Criticized for Failing to Help Meet 'Obligations'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 25-hour work week just negotiated for 8,000 electricians in New York City has drawn the censure of President Kennedy.

The President told his news conference Wednesday that before he was elected he stated a conviction that the present 40-hour week is proper for American workers in view of the nation's many obligations of home and abroad—and he still feels that way.

Kennedy's response to a reporter's question was seen as an attempt to nip in the bud attempts by other labor unions to seek shorter work weeks in the wake of the New York electricians' success.

A Charleston, W. Va., local of the same union that won the 25-hour week in New York, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, announced it may strike in the near future for a six-hour day and 30-hour week in place of its present 40-hour week.

Asked about the 25-hour week in New York, Kennedy reiterated that he stands for preserving the 40-hour week for the time being and for labor-management settlements. "In the realm of productivity increases," he said, "I am not sure that the 25-hour week is the answer."

"Now this contract does not meet either one of those standards, and therefore I regret it," the President said.

The New York contract called for a 26-hour weekly wage boost in the 25-hour week. The electricians' new regular wage is $136 an hour, exclusive of fringe benefits.

Chrysler Has Big Hope for Gas Turbine Cars

And when developers of the engine add that it requires no anti-freeze, uses a single spark plug and has no oil, it is certain to get a full hearing.

The type of engine in question is a gas turbine and the particular version is one under development by Chrysler Corp. for passenger cars.

In the first of a recent 2,000-mile cross-country test by a two-man-supplied Dodge Dart, Chrysler has said it will build 50 to 75 turbine-driven cars within the next 18 to 24 months and offer them to selected private customers.

Its eventual aim is volume production for the general passenger car market.

At the moment, Chrysler is doing among the auto companies in the public relations field for turbine-powered automobiles.

General Motors and Ford, which have been involved on turbine projects as long or longer than Chrysler, see the power plant as a definite possibility for the military, and possibly for heavy-duty trucks, but not as a replacement for the conventional internal combustion engine in cars.

George J. Lombardi, Chrysler's executive manager of research who heads the gas turbine project, said just prior to the cross-country run last month that the other companies have aimed too low.

"Our enthusiasm for the gas turbine as a passenger car power plant," Lombardi said, "may be viewed inside their organizations with consternation."

"Our announcements will be greeted with frequent incredulity, but the fact remains that they have yet to do what we have done."

Since a turbine was forthcoming last week, Lombardi's assistant general manager of Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. in a speech in the Washington section of the Society of Automotive Engineers, said Ford's turbine research indicates that presently, or in the immediate future, gas turbines are not economically feasible for passenger cars.

GM Profit Zips to $365 Million

Lost 3 Months of '61 See More Money Than Any Period Since Formed

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. showed a profit of $385 million in the last three months of 1961. This was more money than the company has earned in any other quarter since it was organized in 1908.

It was $12 million more than in the third quarter of 1959, the previous record.

But the 1961 record of $1.18 billion for an entire year still stands. GM's entire 1961 earnings totaled $893 million.

A preliminary financial report for 1961 showed the profit was down from $59 million a year ago. The 1961 earnings were equal to $1.1 a share against $1.35 in 1960.

Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President John F. Gordon said the figures are subject to a final audit next month.

Dollar sales for 1961 came to $11.4 billion compared to a record $12.7 billion in 1960.

The company estimated total worldwide sales of GM cars and trucks at 4,637,000 in 1961 compared with 4,661,000 in 1960.

THREE DIVIDENDS
Despite the slightly lower earnings, General Motors paid higher total dividends in 1961 than in 1960—$2.50 a share against $2.

American Motors Corp. is the only other automaker which has reported its October-December earnings. AMC's net dropped from $10.1 million to $9.2 million for the quarter.

For the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, American Motors reported a net of $23.5 million against $18.2 million in fiscal 1960.

The rest of the auto companies will report earnings next month.

Royalists Holding Town in Laos Despite Attacks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Loyal army defenders still hold the vital northwest Laos provincial capital of Nam Thut but Communist attackers have gained ground and the situation is "more serious," informed military sources said today.

Nine battalions closed in on the town Thursday and began a four-day shelling. Government troops holding a ridge about 10 miles east of Nam Thut.

Some forward government units fell back and last-arrived weapons were hurriedly distributed to the town militia.

Today the enemy "continued to apply pressure" on the ridge but government troops had not yet abandoned it, officials said. The total enemy force was reported as 10 battalions.

If Nam Thut falls, a huge chunk of northwest Laos will fall under control of communists. Nam Thut has the best airstrip in the region.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In the clipped lingo of rocketry, "everything is go" for America's first try to put an astronaut in orbit Saturday.

Which means that, barring some snag now unknown, Marine Corps Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. will fight his duel with the cosmos — an attempt to orbit around the globe three times in 4½ hours.

Expected launch time is somewhere between 7:30 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and 12:30 p.m. If Glenn departs skyward early in this period, he and the ground controllers will aim at three global circuits. If later, the number of orbits will be cut to two or even one.

This is because the rescue teams must have plenty of daylight to fish him and his data-crammed capsule out of the western Atlantic Ocean.

TO SNAP MOON

Meanwhile, about a mile and a half from the pad where Glenn's great Atlas rocket stood in readiness today, an even bigger booster was prepared for a reconnaissance mission to the moon.

The Atlas-Agena B, 102-feet tall, was assigned the task of carrying a Ranger 3 spacecraft to the moon, sending back TV pictures as it scanned the earth's satellite, and then landing a package of instruments on the lunar surface to flash tidings about any moonquakes.

This fantastically complex experiment was on a tight schedule. Unless the rocket can be gotten off on its 66-hour journey this afternoon or Saturday, the shot will have to be put off until about Feb. 20.

This is because the moon will have moved out of proper target position.

CALLS READY ROLL

As for Glenn's Mercury astronaut mission, a big hurdle was held at this missile range headquarters Thursday and Walter C. Williams, Mercury operations director, called the roll:

The Air Force reported the Atlas D booster was "go" ready to go. This Atlas, plus the spacecraft atop it and a 16-foot escape tower on top of that, stands 161 feet tall.

Another officer mentioned that the worldwide tracking system has some minor problems—(Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Soviet Refusal to Halt N-Talks Surprises West

Reds Reject Proposal to Adjourn and Refer Issue to Arms Parley

GENEVA (UPI)—The Soviet Union refused to abandon the three-year-old nuclear test-ban talks today in a maneuver which apparently took the United States and Britain completely by surprise.

Soviet Delegate Senyov K. Tsoungin turned down an Anglo-American proposal that the test ban issue be referred to a global disarmament conference at the 32nd session of the nuclear talks.

"We must not fail," he told newsmen later.

The Russians thus appeared, in effect, to have made an advance on their frequent demands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's turnaround proposal on nuclear test negotiations is regarded as official quarters here as a maneuver to kill off all prospects of a test ban treaty and hang the blame on the West.

The test-ban issue was discussed in a wider forum — just as the West had come at least partly around to the Soviet point of view, (AUGUST BY SURPRISE)

British and American sources admitted later the Soviet rejection caught them completely by surprise.

The test ban delegates scheduled another meeting for Monday. But American chief delegate Charles C. Steele said there was no point in going on with the hopelessly deadlocked talks "since we no longer have any common ground."

The rejection came as a complete surprise. The U.S. and Soviet delegations had gone into today's meeting expecting it to be the last of a fruitless series that stretches back over three years.

Because of the stalemate, the West finally suggested that the question of a nuclear test ban be discussed by an 18-nation disarmament conference scheduled to meet here March 11.

Tsoungin charged in a 30-minute statement today that the West was just trying to "deflect that (disarmament) conference from its basic task" by including the nuclear issue.

The West had assumed the Russians would accept its suggestion which was in line with earlier proposals by the Russians themselves, both here and in the United Nations.

hemisphere trade relations with Cuba and setting up a watchdog committee to curb the financial work of the OAS council as a sort of political consultative body. This could be regarded as watering down the impact.

OTHER OBSERVATIONS
There are also objections to the process by which Cuba would be read out of OAS bodies. Working groups were trying to devise a formula that would be acceptable to most.

The main point in this is that Brazil, Mexico and the others of their group stand on the legitimate ground that Cuba is a member of the OAS and cannot be read out within terms of the OAS charter. If they have their way,

40 Taking Home Goodies

Late this afternoon the curtains were to come down on the final session of The Press cooking school.

Forty different dishes were to be prepared in front of the audience and 40 lucky people were to go home with those tempting goodies.

Many Metag and Anne Skelton, home economists from the National Livestock and Meat Board, have given Pontiac area women a short course in buying and cooking meat. This is their job for about 40 weeks out of the year. Next week they will be in Canton, Ohio, for a school.

Thursday was poetry day.

Earlier in the week Miss Metag had asked for volunteers to write eight-line poems to be read on Thursday. The stipulation was that the verse contain the words, "Pontiac Press" and "cooking school."

The four who responded to the poetic invitation were Mrs. William Graves, 311 Oak Street; Mrs. Richard Green, 322 Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Horton, Walnut Lake; and Mrs. Sanford Sweet, 1641 Petrolia, Union Lake.

The audience judged Mrs. Horton's poem the best.

On Friday's show the audience was expected to sign with appreciation over the standing rib roast. Other luscious meats, Swedish tea ring, squab and special and Mexican lunches.

Laughter came readily when Miss Metag shouldered Bernard Salvatore from The Press advertising department and the major deuce of the cooking

There was still talk of a prospective deal between the point of view of the seven nations advocating a go-now approach and the other 11, including the United States, looking a tougher line. Governor Proposes $306-Million Plan

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson today called for a $306 million tax program keyed to flat rate taxes on personal and corporate income.

For the most part, the blueprint submitted by the governor at a joint session of the legislature is a retreat of the tax program the lawmakers totally rejected last year.

This time, however, he urged enactment of both, a state and local income tax, the latter to be administered by the state.

Swainson, warning legislators that citizens "will no longer tolerate inaction" in long-expected tax revision, recommended a three percent flat levy on personal and corporation income.

He estimated the personal tax would yield $240 million and the corporation tax, including a proposed 5 percent levy on financial institutions, $66 million.

He also proposed state earned income tax of 1 percent on corporate and personal income, the revenue to go directly to local governments. This would be a 5 percent levy on financial institutions, $66 million.

Swainson indicated the personal income tax would be based on the federal income tax levy, permitting a $600 allowance for each taxpayer and industry's share of the federal tax.

Muzzling Panel Now Suggested

Sen. Jackson Brings Up Idea of Board to Go Over Officers' Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara may be urged to create an ad hoc panel of former Pentagon officials and retired flag officers to review military speech censorship procedures, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) first announced the possibility during Thursday's Senate Armed Services subcommittee hearing on charges that military officers are being "muzzled."

Sen. Jackson said today he had discussed the plan with Chief of Staff Gen. Lyman B. Lamm. He said he suggested that the subcommittee might consider proposing it to McNamara.

The subcommittee also at a news today with no date set for resuming its hearings. However, Sen. Jackson said he would be back in the Senate on Thursday.

The Senate group, which already has heard from Gen. Lamm, L. B. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, now expected to hear next from the Army, Navy and Air Force chiefs.

Sen. Jackson said he would deal with some forms of censorship but was not involving two former presidential speechwriters.

Subcommittee members have suggested that former President Truman be asked for a letter on the beginning of the present speech review policy.

Sen. Jackson also indicated that he would ask President Eisenhower to issue a statement on the subject of censorship of the press.

Algerian Rebels Get Ultimatum

De Gaulle Threatens to Create New State Without Them

By HARVEY HUDSON PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle reportedly has warned the Algerian rebel government unless it agrees quickly to a cease-fire in the seven-year civil war he will go ahead without it to create a new Algeria.

The newspaper Paris-Press said the French leader gave the rebel National Liberation Front until the end of February to join a new provisional administration for the North African territory.

De Gaulle's proposition to the rebel regime reportedly amounted to an ultimatum.

As outlined by Paris-Press it was this: If the FLN representatives accept his plan and join in a new administration, the FLN will be established in which the FLN will have three seats, other Algerian groups three, and the French three.

The newspaper said the rebels reject this proposal, an executive will be set up without them to chart Algeria's path to independence.

De Gaulle reportedly made it clear France has gone as far as it can in making concessions. The French leader, who reportedly outlined his hold move to his cabinet Thursday, is scheduled to make a television speech Feb. 3, and may disclose the details of his plan to the nation.

dozens of events which must occur on a six-day mission. Included is the firing of another engine 16 hours after launching to jockey the spacecraft into a collision course with the moon.

On the odds for success, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the assignment is so complex that it has "assigned three identical spacecraft to the task in the event at least one will be successful."

Rangers 1 and 2 were launched last fall to test techniques for the moon-landing attempt. Ranger 1 crashed on the moon and was only partially successful. However, the space agency felt they provided sufficient data to proceed with Ranger 3.

The Day in Birmingham

Indonesian Educator Here to Study School System

BIRMINGHAM — An Indonesian educator began a two-week visit to Birmingham public schools today to study administration for the development of English curriculum.

He is Achmad Almatier, director of the English department, office of vocational education and ministry of education and culture, Djakarta, Indonesia.

Almatier is visiting Birmingham as part of a six-month tour of the United States under the auspices of the International Teacher Development Program.

The program is designed to familiarize foreign educators with the American people and their way of life and to further a better understanding of the nation's character and purposes.

Another aim of the program is to acquaint the educators with the educational principles and methods of instruction, administration and organization as it is developed and practiced in the U.S.

Almatier will have his headquarters at Groves High School during his tour.

While here he will interview teachers and administrative personnel and visit classrooms.

Almatier is a guest at the home of the Indonesian educator who is a guest of community leaders at a luncheon Monday at the Community House.

Robinson's film will take armchair travelers to Seville, Granada, Toledo, Segovia and Barcelona.
