Red China Blasts U.N. Hopes

Chou's Boycott Creates Need for New Action

Diplomats Eye Peace Parley Arranged Like Geneva Conference

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. diplomats consulted today on the next step in their quest for peace in the Formosa Strait. They generally agreed the U. N. can do little in the face of Red China's boycott of the proposed Security Council cease-fire talks.

Three courses appeared to be open:

1. Make another effort to persuade Premier Chou En-lai to send a representative here.

2. Debate the Formosan problem without the participation of the Chinese Communists.

3. Try to arrange a conference outside the U.N.—like the Far Eastern parley in Geneva last spring— at which the whole China problem could be discussed. This appeared the likeliest prospect.

In view of Chou's declaration that he would not send a representative to the U.N. unless the Security Council ousts Nationalist China and gives Peiping that seat, many delegates saw no chance for compromise here. The council was expected to stick to its previous firm refusal to replace Chiang Kai-shek's representative. Chou also was not expected to back down.

The British government today wrote off all immediate chances of a United Nations cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

Instead, it turned to Asian leaders of the worldwide British Commonwealth, meeting in London, in the hope of finding a solution and averting a major shooting war in the Far East.

Shocked and disappointed by Red China's refusal to come to the U.N. and talk things over, Prime Minister Churchill's government saw the best prospect of peace in secret, behind-the-scene diplomacy instead of public negotiation through the U.N.

The British hopes rested mainly on India's neutralist Prime Minister Nehru, who has been in constant touch with the Chinese Communist government and has been Did Rubinstein Die in Kidnap Attempt?

Was Serge Rubinstein's murder the "accidental" by-product of a fantastic scheme to whisk the multimillionaire out of the country on a freighter and then deliver him to U. S. immigration officials as a stowaway? In Earl Wilson's column on page 25 today, read what a confidant of the hated financial wizard has suggested to police as a possible solution to one of New York's most mysterious slayings.

Likes Locks

'But Why Put 'Em There?'

LANSING (AP)—The Soo locks may be all right in their way—the biggest in the world and all that—but some folks think they're in an awfully out-of-the-way place.

The Michigan Senate sat in bewildered silence when it heard read a letter from a Chicago lady to State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. The letter said:

"Last summer my husband and I decided to take a trip in Michigan to see the Soo locks. After driving several hundred miles arriving at Mackinaw City we learned that there was an hour's ride on the boat and another hundred miles by auto.

"In disgust we turned around and drove back to Chicago.

"Can you tell me why the locks were built so far away from metropolitan cities, thereby depriving a great many people of this wonderful sight?"

Newspapers Hit New High With 55 Million Daily

NEW YORK (AP) — The trade magazine Editor and Publisher reports that total 1954 daily newspaper circulation in the United States topped 55 million for the first time in history.

As of Sept. 30, 1954, the average net paid circulation of 1,765 morning and evening newspapers in the country was 55,072,420.

The amount E. & P. said represented a gain of 600,194 or 1.1 per cent over 1953 and was achieved despite a net loss of 20 daily newspapers during the year.

Evening dailies had a total circulation of 33,367,044.

Pontiac Press circulation likewise is at an all time high mark. In 1954 its circulation topped 54,000 for the first time in its history. With average readership somewhere between three and four readers per paper this represents a readership of some 200,000 people.

American GIs on Quemoy Isle

Small U.S. Detachment Serving Within Range of Chinese Mainland

QUEMOY (AP) — A grim, tight-lipped crew of American officers and soldiers are stationed on this bleak red clay island within sight and easy gun range of the Chinese Communist mainland.

A Chinese Nationalist army spokesman said the U.S. contingent numbered 10, but the Americans themselves would not specify their exact number.

Many asked that their names not be used because they have not informed their families they are stationed here on the island that chokes Communist Amoy Bay.

The Reds have shelled Quemoy "fairly consistently" since Sept. 3 when they touched off their bombardment of Quemoy from some 400 gun positions that ring the island. Two Americans were killed in that shelling.

Capt. William S. Donald, La Platta, Mo., one of the few who allowed use of his name, said Americans have comfortable quarters, food shipped from Formosa, "good American coffee and beer made right near my old home

Fires Plague Pennsylvania

Downtown Carbondale and Shenandoah Hit by Million-Dollar Blazes

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP)—Wind-fanned fires, fought for hours in sub-freezing weather, destroyed large sections of the business districts of Carbondale and Shenandoah.

Fire officials of the two communities—80 miles apart in eastern Pennsylvania's anthracite region—estimated the damage from each fire at more than one million dollars.

In each case all but two buildings of an entire square block were leveled. Hundreds of persons were left homeless.

In Shenandoah, the flames consumed 11 stores, dozens of apartments above them, and 30 row houses. Some 300 persons were made homeless.

In Carbondale, 28 business places were destroyed or badly damaged and 40 persons were left without living accommodations.

Firemen in both towns were hampered by four below zero temperatures, icy streets and low water pressure. It was one of Pennsylvania's coldest nights in years.

Both fires burned for more than six hours as hundreds of chilled firemen fought to hold the flames to single blocks.

The six-weeks' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Lucas of 5645 Hilsboro, Davisburg, was killed this afternoon when the car in which Mrs. Lucas and the infant were riding went out of control at Andersonville Rd. and White Lake Rd. and struck a tree, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies. Mrs. Lucas, 19, driving the auto, is reported in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital with multiple internal injuries.

39 Cattle Killed in Barn Blaze; Damage $50,000

Firemen Battle Flames All Night on Malberg Farm Near Addison

Thirty-nine Holstein cattle died in their stalls as a $50,000 fire destroyed a barn outside Addison yesterday.

Fire departments from Oxford, Lake Orion and Addison fought the blaze for three hours with six pieces of equipment and kept it from igniting nearby buildings on the 400-acre farm of Aloysius Malberg at 861 Lake George Rd.

Modern milking equipment, hay and feed, and farm equipment were also destroyed.

Tenants Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warnke discovered the fire, turned in the alarm and tried to rescue the cows. One cow was led from the blazing structure, but had to be destroyed due to severe burns.

According to owner Malburg, water pipes in the milk house inside the barn had become frozen, and an electrical heater was being used to thaw them out.

He added that apparently the heater touched off the blaze.

Firemen remained at the scene throughout the night, as flames continued to spurt from the wreckage.

Malberg said his loss was partially covered by insurance.

Snow Is Predicted for Area on Weekend

Although it's warming up a little, there's plenty more winter in sight for Pontiac. The weather outlook is for snow Saturday, Saturday night and Sunday.

In a five-day forecast, the U. S. Weather Bureau says that temperature will average near normal, with the normal maximum at 32, minimum 18, until about Monday when it will be somewhat colder.

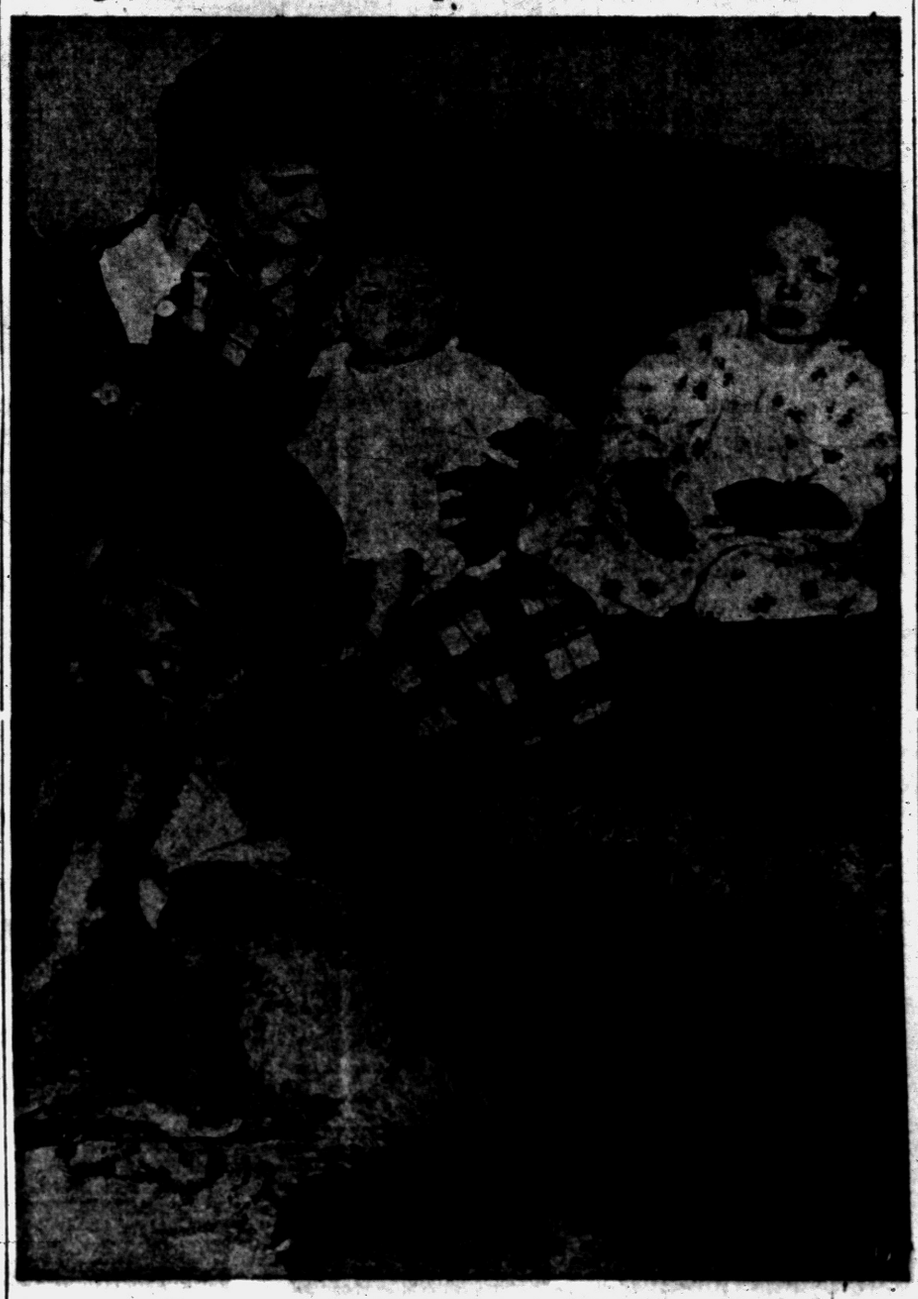

Snow on Sunday and Monday will total from one quarter to half an inch, with snow flurries after that.

Tonight will bring increased cloudiness continuing tomorrow with snow and a little warmer. Tonight's low will be from 16 to 20 degrees. Saturday's high 26 to 30. Saturday night will have gentle northerly winds with a low of 18 to 22.

Yesterday in downtown Pontiac the mercury ranged from a low of 4 to a high of 19 with sunny skies most of the day.

Light snow flurries were seen this morning and at 8 o'clock the temperature was 17 degrees. By 2 p.m. the reading was 26.

Only Tiny Addition Needed

Our Water Already Has Some Fluoride, U. of M. Dental Professor Reports

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (AP) — You can lead a city to the idea of fluoridated water, but you can't make it drink.

Dentists and doctors have testified that fluoridation is effective and harmless. Very few dentists and doctors have said it isn't. The controversy continues to flare up.

To Dr. Philip Jay, professor of dentistry at the Universtiy of Michigan, it is hardly understandable.

"Fluoridation is an effective and safe procedure for partial control of dental decay," Dr. Jay said, "all scientific professional health agencies have recommended its use."

Dr. Jay himself drinks fluoridated water. Ann Arbor has been adding fluorides to its water supply since Christmas Day, 1953. But, Dr. Jay said, "it's too early to see the results yet here."

A child, he said, must be given fluoridated water roughly from birth to about the age of five before the results are noticeable in his teeth, but fluoridation can make itself felt on children considerably older.

Although Ann Arbor is no indication as yet of the value of fluoridation, Dr. Jay said that Grand Rapids, the first city in the world to fluoridate, is.

"They've had fluoridation for the last 10 years," he said, "and in 1944, the year before fluoridation, 80 per cent of the kindergarten children had some decayed teeth."

"Last year," Dr. Jay said, "only 50 per cent of the kindergarten children had some decayed teeth."

And among eighth graders, the doctor said, "twice as many lost teeth in 1944 as did last year."

"I wish I could give you some data to cast doubt on fluoridation," Dr. Jay said, "but I can't." He added:

"I don't know of any dangers. It's probably the only subject in dental research that is not controversial. The problem has been studied by diverse groups all over the world and they all found the same thing."

Dr. Jay said that fluorides are "something that occur in water naturally and you simply adjust it so that it does the job of preventing some dental decay."

"Most city officials favor it," he said, "but some groups have been fighting it."

The objections to fluoridation,

Expect Mendes Defeat Tonight

Fall of French Premier Predicted as Ballot on Africa Policy Nears

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France's hours as French premier appeared numbered today as the National Assembly headed for a post-midnight vote on confidence on his North African policy.

Mendes-France demanded the vote—on which defeat would topple his seven-month-old government — after two days of bitter debate highlighted by a rift in his own Radical Socialist party.

The defection among his nominal followers made the prospect of his ouster so great that some of his own ministers privately voiced hopelessness.

The vote will be on Mendes-France's whole North African policy, including Tunisian home rule, an increased share in government for Algeria's Moslem majority and certain "reforms" for Morocco.

But the critical issue was home rule for the Tunisian nationalists,

Schools Closed, Roads Blocked in Many Areas

Relief Is Promised to Shivering East; Hudson River Frozen Over

By UNITED PRESS

One of the winter's worst storms swept northeastward across the great plains today, dumping more than a foot of snow on some sections of Kansas.

Many schools were forced to close and several highways were drifted as heavy snow spread across Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa and South Dakota.

The Lower Michigan weather forecast: Increasing cloudiness and not quite so cold tonight, with snow beginning tomorrow. Low tonight 0-10 north to 10-15 south. High tomorrow generally in the 20s. Snow will end by late Sunday and little temperature change Sunday.

Meanwhile, warmer weather was promised for the shivering East Coast, where the Hudson River was frozen all the way across near New York City.

In the city itself ice floes clogged the river and delayed the French liner Liberte from docking for two hours. The ice posed a serious navigation problem for tugs.

In Kansas, 13 inches of snow was reported at Norton and the fall was continuing. Wamego and Lincoln, Kan., reported 12 inches, and Tescott and Ellsworth 10.

Two inches of sleet and freezing rain preceded the snow at Wichita, Kan., where power failures occurred intermittently throughout the night.

All Wichita schools were closed and the Boeing aircraft plant laid off one shift.

Near blizzard conditions at St. Joseph, Mo., closed the airport where drifts piled up on the runways. Most schools in suburban areas of Kansas City were closed.

In Nebraska, 9 inches of snow had fallen at North Platte with no sign of a letup. The snow was expected to end by Saturday noon over most of the state, and already was approaching a record depth.

Some highways were drifted in eastern Nebraska.

The forecast called for 4 to 7 inches of snow in southwestern Iowa but that much already had fallen Friday morning and the fall was not due to stop until Saturday night, continuing into Sunday in central and eastern portions of the state.

Strong easterly winds whipped the snow into drifts, and some highways in southwestern Iowa were open only to one-way traffic. At least 30 schools were closed throughout the area.

Three to six inches of snow fell on South Dakota.

New York shivered in Manhattan's worst cold wave in seven years.

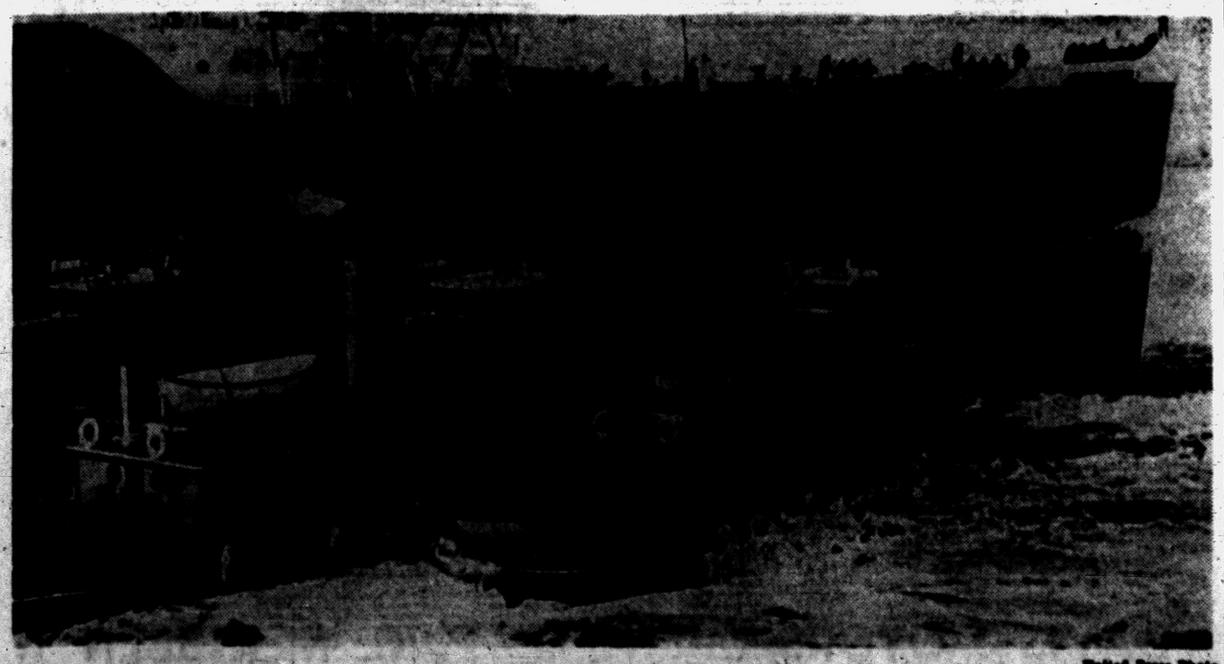

At suburban Tarrytown, N.Y., the three-mile-wide Hudson was frozen over solid. The ice was from 4 inches to 2 feet thick and it was the first time since 1918 that the river had frozen so far south.

A Coast Guard icebreaker was needed to free two lighters stalled in the Tarrytown ice with 100 crates of new automobiles aboard.

French Liner Battles Ice to Reach Dock in New York

ICE CLOGS HUDSON RIVER—Tugboats are shown above as they combine their power to nudge the 51,840-ton French liner Liberte through ice-packed floes in the Hudson River, as frozen snow and ice in the river delayed the ship's scheduled docking. Sudden temperature drop brought zero-degree weather to New York City.

Clear Officers in Assault Case

Four Pontiac Policemen Upheld in Use of Force to Make Arrest

Four Pontiac policemen who had been accused of false arrest and assault and battery were cleared last night when a five-man trial board dismissed charges brought Sept. 29 by Oliver Tademy, 49, of 258 W. Wilson Ave.

Part of the board's formal report states:

"An officer has the right, in making an arrest for a misdemeanor, to use such force as is necessary to complete the arrest, but must not use excessive force."

Continuing, the report also notes:

"However, in this instance, the board finds that in view of all the facts in this case, that excessive force was not used."

The officers involved, Sgt. Donny Ashley, Detective Herbert C. Cooley, and Patrolmen Leroy Hartman and Hall B. Mercer, arrested Tademy Sept. 26 in front of 310 W. Wilson Ave., where the officers were conducting a vice raid in which 29 were arrested. During the seven trial sessions before the board, the officers, except Cooley, admitted they used force in restraining Tademy.

Tademy later was charged with being drunk and disorderly and found guilty by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

The board reported that its finding from the testimony shows ". . . Officer Cooley was not involved during the alleged incident with Oliver Tademy . . ."

Board members added:

"The testimony showed that the arrest was made incident to a search of premises under a warrant . . . Tademy was informed that he was being placed under arrest. The testimony showed that Tademy's language and shouting would, in the Board's opinion, justify arrest.

"However, the board considers that the matter of the amount of force used in this case to effect the arrest was a close one and has cautioned officers concerned as to the limits of the use of force in making an arrest."

a specter which alarms the important French landowners and businessmen living in the protectorate.

Mendes-France bluntly told the Assembly last night he planned to continue the African policy he launched when he visited Tunis last July.

To quiet terrorism stemming from nationalist discontent, he promised "local autonomy" to the protectorate's 3½ million people. So far he has been unable to conclude an agreement with the nationalists, though, the only alternate, he said, was police repression to put down violence and unrest.

His remarks failed to rally much evidence of support.

Burglars Drink Cocoa to Fortify an Icy Getaway

Thieves broke into the lakefront home of Robert C. Underwood of 1932 Cass Lake Rd., West Bloomfield Township, last night, stole a pearl necklace, valued at $85, apples and oranges, and helped themselves to a heaping drink of cocoa, Oakland County sheriff's deputies reported today.

Breaking in the front door to gain entry, the thieves also stole $2 in change, but overlooked $1,000 worth of photography equipment. Police said the Underwoods are in process of moving to another home.

Deputies said that there was evidence in the kitchen that the thieves made hot cocoa before braving the night's cold air.

town." Donald, a slim, moustached Missourian who bites off his words, said:

"I like it here. The tour of duty is 90 days and I've been here six months. I've already extended once. The Communists could not do anything to me in Korea, so I thought I'd give them another chance here."

Another Korea veteran stationed here is Sgt. Richard Hoover, Tampa, Fla., who has served two months on Quemoy. He says he's "happy" on Quemoy and quite unconcerned about the Red guns.

"They can hit just about the whole island from there," he said, indicating the Communist mainland about three miles away, where Red soldiers could be seen through binoculars.

Asked if Red threats of invasion of Quemoy worried him, Donald snapped: "Negative.

"I'm damn proud of the units of this island and mean that sincerely. They can take care of themselves."

Plane Brings Home Man in Iron Lung

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A Big Rapids merchant who contracted polio while on a business trip to Palm Beach, Fla., last fall was returned in an iron lung to Grand Rapids yesterday aboard a C131 military transport used for air evacuation.

Robert Boyden, 42, the merchant was taken to Blodgett Memorial Hospital here for convalescence.

Boyden was brought here in a new-type iron lung recently developed by the Army Medical Corps for movement of polio patients in aircraft and ambulances, according to Ernest L. Bates, Grand Rapids representative of the National Foundation for Infatile Paralysis.

Bates arranged the transfer of Boyden to Grand Rapids. The Air Force ptu the C-31, at Bates' disposal.

Fire in Downtown Flint Causes $100,000 Loss

Reports City Water Contains Fluoride

he added, stem from the most part from ignorance of the facts.

Some people believe that because fluorine is a poison, the fluorides in the amount used in fluoridation are poisonous too, he said. This, he added, is incorrect.

Another argument is money.

"That's one that always comes up," Dr. Jay said. "Some people say that because it's only good for children, why should I, an adult, pay for it."

But he explains, the cost is small. In equipping a town the size of Grand Rapids today, he said, the initial cost would be about $12,000, something more than a nickel a head. The $10,000 annually it would cost to operate the system would be still less.

In a metropolitan area like Detroit, the system could probably be installed for about $50,000, Dr. Jay thinks, and it would take something like $300,000 a year to operate it.

Many cities, Dr. Jay explains are already drinking naturally fluoridated water and don't know it.

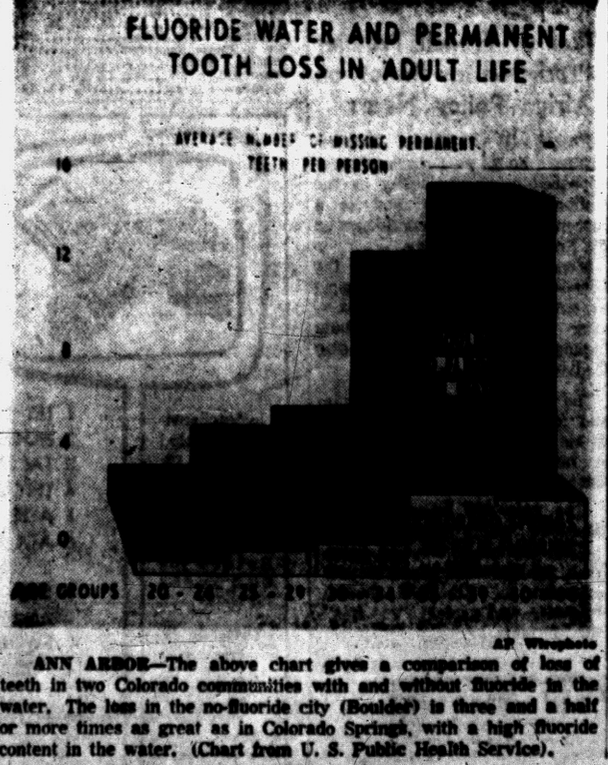

Areas near the Maumee River Valley of southeastern Michigan and Ohio have considerable quantities of natural fluorides in their water.

Even in Pontiac, where fluoridation is currently being discussed, six-tenths of a part per million exists naturally. This would only have to be increased to one part per million to reach the desired goal.

The State Health Department says that 36 Michigan water supply systems in both peninsulas are serving fluoridated water to 46 communities and about one million persons.

At least three large cities, Philadelphia, Baltimore and San Francisco are fluoridating their water, Dr. Jay said—and many cities have acted as control areas to study the effects of fluorides.

Studies show that people between 40 and 45 years of age in fluorideless communities have lost more than three or four times as many teeth as their counterparts in cities with fluoridation, Dr. Jay said.

AP Wirephoto

ANN ARBOR—The above chart gives a comparison of loss of teeth in two Colorado communities with and without fluoride in the water. The loss in the no-fluoride city (Boulder) is three and a half or more times as great as in Colorado Springs, with a high fluoride content in the water. (Chart from U. S. Public Health Service).

The Day in Birmingham

City's 1954 Construction Shows Slight Decrease

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham, which became a boom town for builders back in 1950 when 1,092 construction permits were issued to the tune of a $13,323,140 valuation, held its own last year in comparison with 1953 totals.

In 1954, 628 building permits totaled $6,452,420, compared to 664 permits and $6,175,350 in 1953. Only six less homes were built in 1954, compared to 1953, and the valuation difference of the homes for the two years was only approximately $200,000 less.

This leaves only about 600 lots in the city for single residences, according to Building Inspector Thomas Brien. "This year there will be no production houses," Brien said. "There just isn't the space for mass development here anymore." Sale of the Perritt property ended that era, he commented.

"Business building, I think, will increase," he added, "but homes, churches and schools within the city limits are on the decline."

Brien said he looks for a "sharp drop-off" in home building at some future date, probably two or three years away.

A look at old yearly building reports brought out some interesting comparisons. For example, the sole permit issued for a one-family residence back in 1934, valued the home at $3,500. When Birmingham was still a village in 1932, the only home built that year cost $2,500.

It was in 1930 that the Grand Trunk Western Railroad commuter station was constructed for $100,000.

Driver to Be Arraigned Following 2-Mile Chase

David E. Render, 23, of 57 Kimball St. was scheduled for arraignment in Municipal Court on a reckless driving charge today after leading Pontiac Police on a two-mile chase yesterday at speeds of up to 90 miles an hour.

The officers said they chased the auto on Rapid street and Nebraska avenue.

a chief negotiator between East and West in the past.

The Commonwealth prime ministers began a series of urgent consultations this morning on new ways to bring a quick end to the shooting between Red China and Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

Chiang's warplanes ranged the East China Sea round the tense area last night, bombing and shooting up Chinese Communist shipping and the newly won Red base of Yikiangshan Island.

Official reports said the bombers destroyed two vessels near Nantien Island 30 miles north of the Tachens, scored hits on two more about 11 miles northeast of the Tachens and bombed nearby Yikiangshan with excellent results.

RICHMOND, Va. (UP) — Mayor Thomas P. Bryan, Jr., said yesterday he received the following telephone call from a stranger in Claggett, Ont.

"Is this the governor of Virginia?"

"No," replied Bryan, "I'm the mayor of Richmond."

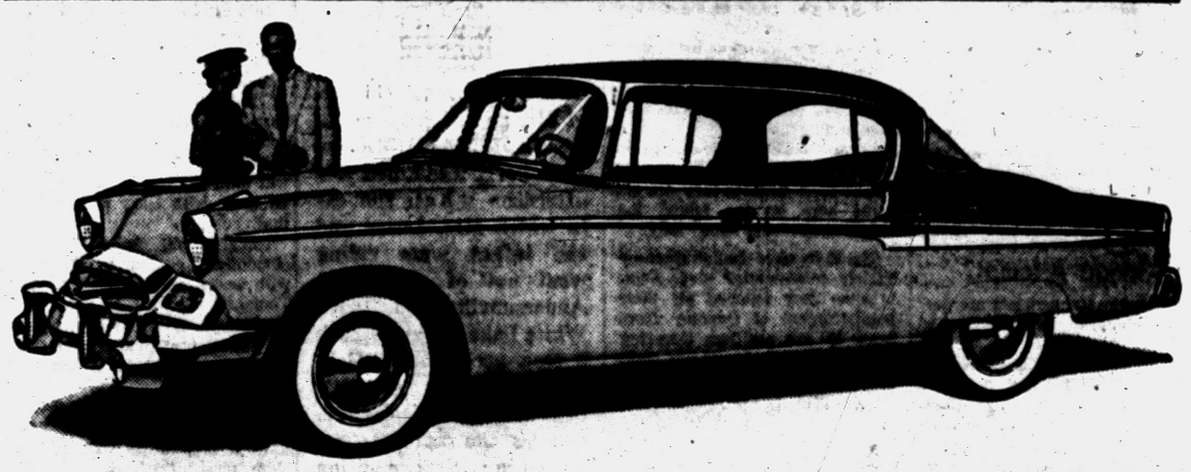

"You'll do," the caller said. "I just called to tell you I've been reading about a man you have down there — Stonewall Jackson. I certainly admire the way he marched his men and fought.

"I want to tell you that you're doing a good job down there. Keep it up. Good-bye."

Hoffman Airs Gripes

House Restaurant Upsets Disposition and Digestion

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman has complained that the crowded House restaurant is upsetting his disposition and digestion.

What's more, he said, "insufficient nourishment" in the dining room has resulted in his colleagues "dropping off like flies."

The Michigan Republican told a reporter he intend to put an end to this menace to congressmen's health by introducing a bill calling for construction of a new and larger restaurant.

He said the present dining room is entirely too small and inadequate to take care of 435 congressmen.

"The President has sent us a health plan for everybody and we're taking care of people all over the world," he said. "Well, it's about time we House members took care of our own."

Hoffman's bill would call for the building of a restaurant large enough to handle congressmen, their guests and staff, and newsmen on the side of the Capitol facing the famous mall. Hoffman said that there is plenty of room available for such a venture.

Under Hoffman's proposal, the new restaurant would be operated by the government, but designed to make a profit. The present restaurant — located on the ground floor of the Capitol — operates at a deficit, which the House makes up out of its operating funds.

Hoffman said congressmen generally would be willing to pay more for their food in return for a little comfort.

His chief complaint, however, is that the present restaurant is too crowded to enable a lawmaker to eat a decent meal. He noted that from noon on, the corridor outside the restaurant is jammed with congressmen waiting for an empty seat.

"The time of a congressman is supposed to be valuable," he said, "and here we have scads of them standing around doing nothing but just waiting to eat."

He also noted that some House members have adopted the practice of crowding close behind the seat of a colleague who looks as if he might be nearly finished with his meal.

"I generally never finish a meal," he said. "With someone breathing down my neck, I usually just get up and let the other fellow sit down."

He said this is hard on a lawmaker's digestion and disposition.

Hoffman said that more comfortable, adequate surroundings also would help congressmen in considering legislation.

"When we sit down together, we'd naturally get to talking about a bill,' he said. "But now there just isn't time."

They Asked for It

English Livestock Must Outdo Marilyn

DAVENTRY, England (AP) — A livestock marketing director advised farmers today that they must improve the appearance of their cattle if they want to get the best prices. This, he said, was the idea:

"The beast must be young, showing no more than two broad teeth. It must be round as an apple with a smooth finish and its flesh must be that perfect cherry red color with just a marbling of fat through the lean."

One farmer in the audience commented gloomily: "That's even better than Marilyn Monroe."

The marketing director agreed.

There were 4,060,000 babies born in the United States in 1954, setting a new record.

SIX-MILLION-POUND CHURCH MOVES — The six-million-pound Old Mariners Church (top, center) inches its way along rails and rollers to its new resting place 850 feet from its original site by the Detroit River in Detroit. Structure will be moved over the excavated area center to a new foundation, but it is still a good 700 feet away. Two months is estimated time for moving job.

Detroit Won't Part With Her

Old Mariners Church Creeps Along Toward New Site Amid Skyscrapers

DETROIT (AP) — The sentimental journey of Old Mariners Church is slow and very painstaking. It goes inch by cautious inch.

Movers are rolling the 106-year-old stone landmark across an elaborate bridge of steel and heavy beams to a new location where fond admirers are sure she'll stand another fine century or more.

Old Mariners, described as the oldest stone church in Michigan and thus one of the oldest of her type in the nation, has had to get out of the way of modern progress.

Her ancient place hard by the Detroit River front is a part of the great new multimillion dollar Civic Center development, now aborning along lower Woodward avenue.

But where broad Woodward dips toward the famed river, Old Mariners still must stand.

Civic affection has seen to that. The humble edivice, rich in history, was saved from extinction because she was so close to Detroiters' hearts.

Thus the moving. It's only a distance of two blocks, or approximately 880 feet, but it requires extreme care.

Tender to her grimy old walls of stone and lime mortar, engineers say it will take probably until mid-February to complete the job. It is costing an estimated $265,000.

The care is to guard against the calamity of a collapse of the walls, 3 to 4 feet in thickness.

The church is being inched along on hard-steel rollers. Steel rails lie across a bridge of heavy timber. In some places the bridge spans the chasms of abandoned building foundations.

Two diesel - power trucks, operating with winches, pull Old Mariners' 3,000 tons gently, a bit at a time. Five feet in an hour is the estimated top maximum.

At her new home, tucked off in a corner of the big Civic Center, Old Mariners will look up to great, gleaming skyscrapers.

In days past the church was herself a center of attraction.

She was a place of solace to tired seamen of the Great Lakes — at other times an integral part of city fashion, in an older Detroit.

Actually, the proper name is Mariners Episcopal Church. With the years, she became popularly known as "Old Mariners."

The archives tell her story.

Of "perpendicular gothic" with pinnacles, a bell tower and "Tudor style" front, she was built in 1849 from a bequest by two sisters.

The two, Charlotte M. Taylor and Mrs. Julia M. Anderson, widow of a U. S. Corps of Engineers colonel, provided that the church be dedicated to the service of sailors. It cost $13,000 to build.

Experts say the rectangular, plain building isn't of any great architectural significance. But Detroit loves her and won't give her up.

California Will Pay Half Prison Forest Fire Bill

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — The California state board of control has finally decided to pay half the cost of putting out a fire in the Los Angeles National Forest.

The federal government had billed the state for the entire cost, claiming the fire was started by state convicts, but the state department of corrections wouldn't have any part of the charge. The federal government said the convicts started the fire while distilling liquor at a state prison forestry camp.

Churches Label Prejudice 'Sin'

Racial Discrimination Is Strongly Denounced by National Council

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Council of Churches says that anyone who condones or practices racial prejudice of any kind "sins against God."

In one of the strongest church denunciations yet of color - line discrimination, the council of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations declared yesterday:

"Racial prejudice in any and all forms is contrary to the will and design of God. It is not merely bad, unfortunate, unrighteous—it is sin."

The message, approved by the council's 125 - member General Board and addressed to the 35½ million Christians belonging to its member bodies, said that "all life is one" by God's act of creation.

"As a child of God, a man is a member of one family, the human family," the message said.

"Any and all attitudes, moods, concepts, feelings, customs, practices, laws, personal and collective acts, that arbitrarily separate men are against the human family," it said.

"If they are against the family, they are opposed to the will of the father. If they are against God, then, whatever may be the basis for them—ignorance, fear, prejudice, or aught else—they are sin."

The message was drawn up for use in connection with the churches' 33rd annual observance of Race Relations Sunday Feb. 13. It was adopted last fall, but its text was not released until yesterday. It will be read from pulpits in many of the 147,000 churches embraced by the council.

It urged opening the church's membership, services, organizations and facilities to all men, regardless of race, and conducting of study groups to deepen understanding.

Town Has Everything — — Except a Name

AURORA, Minn. (UP) — Minnesota's newest community has everything but a name.

More than 1,200 people live in the new town being created for the Erie Mining Company's new taconite, (low grode iron ore) development five miles south of here.

Two hundred homes have been built and 2,200 more are in the planning stage.

The town has a citizen's committee governing body which has set up traffic laws and other ordinances, a fire engine, and streets with names. But the town still is nameless.

Host of the early residents call their community Partridge Lakes, but there is talk of making the official naime Hoyt Lakes. The official name may not be decided until the new community incorporates as a village or city.

science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose
So you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but NOW, right NOW, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier, you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...
counteracts hunger
Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but all the recognized proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.
fat goes fast
You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Ghee Production Studied to Cut Butter Surplus

It is interesting to learn that a proposal to reduce our butter surplus by converting part of it into "ghee" has been under study for more than a year.

Ghee, unknown to most Americans, is an edible oil which can be produced by boiling butter. The potential market for this product is enormous. Some 600,000,000 people in the Middle and Far East, now suffering from a grave shortage of edible fats, would benefit greatly if ghee were added to their diets.

Most of these 600,000,000 don't use butter. They wouldn't like it if they could afford it. But part of our butter surplus could be transformed easily into the stronger tasting ghee they'd prefer, without in any way depressing the world butter market.

The idea has special appeal to dairy producing countries like Denmark. Copenhagen is alarmed by every suggestion that we dispose of our butter surplus on the world market at give away prices.

It is interesting to note that five other countries have been in consultation with the United States on the ghee proposal. Experts believe the world's butter market would remain undisturbed while this great market for our butter surplus in the ghee consuming countries is developed.

Everything is wrong with a situation in which our butter surplus built up at taxpayers' expense, can't be used to feed millions lacking edible fats. Any process that promises to solve this problem without any danger of "dumping" deserves complete exploration.

Ohio Should Say "No"

After years of agitation for abolition of our national electoral college, it's surprising to discover that an Ohio State Senator wants such an institution for that commonwealth.

Author of this proposal is Sen. FERGUSON, a rural Republican. It isn't surprising, however, to learn that if his proposal were adopted, control of the legislature and the governorship would be in the hands of 69 rural counties.

Under the constitutional amendment he proposes, Ohio would acquire an electoral college of 136 members. Each of the 88 counties would have at least one member of the electoral college so that the 69 rural counties would have a clear majority in it. Thus the FERGUSON plan would end direct elections.

Happily, there is a really formidable obstacle to this long step backwards. Even if the amendment could get by the assembly and the governor, it still would have to face its toughest test. Under the State's constitution any amendment to it must have the approval of the majority of voters.

Ohio should say, and we believe will say "no" to the FERGUSON plan. We can't imagine the majority in 19 urban counties would vote to turn over control to the minority in 69 rural counties.

DDT Routing Malaria

Dispatches from New Guinea report very encouraging progress in the effort to combat malaria in that distant South Pacific Island.

Tests so far have shown an almost incredible reduction in infant and juvenile illness. This has been accomplished by spraying with DDT to kill off New Guinea's Anopheles mosquitoes, the carriers of this widespread and crippling disease.

Few people in this part of the world realize how serious malaria is. In the opinion of experts on tropical diseases, it is by far the most deadly of all the communicable illnesses.

Not only do millions more contract it each year, but no one who has seen a child with deformities produced by early malaria, can consider this affliction complacently.

It is true this progress is the result of voluntary effort on a relatively small sector of a worldwide front. But the accomplishments in New Guinea prove that with sufficient financial support and the personnel to carry on continuous effort, malaria could be wiped out.

Michigan Man at the Met

The name of 24 year old' THOMAS SCHIPPERS, a native of Kalamazoo, figures prominently in some important musical news.

He has been made a conductor of the world famous Metropolitan Opera Company's orchestra for the 1955-56 season. Thus he gains two distinctions — of being the youngest conductor since WALTER DAMROSCH at 22 was signed in 1885 and of being the Met's third native born American conductor.

It is interesting to note that one of the two other Americans was MAX BENDIX, a Detroit born violinist.

Mr. SCHIPPERS made his debut as a conductor at 19 and rose to prominence as a conductor of the New York Opera Co. Currently he is conducting GIAN-CARLO MENOTTI's "Saint of Bleecker Street," the newest sensation of the operatic world.

Feeding the Birds

Suggestions on Assisting Them Through the Winter

Boxer: The man who often finds it difficult to keep up with the vivid description of his fight on the air.

Several bird lovers have written this column with suggestions about feeding our outdoor feathered friends in winter. These letters generally point out that if you start to feed them you must keep it up, as they learn to depend on you. Two feedings a day are quite essential, the best hours being as soon after daylight as possible, and again about four o'clock. More robins than ever before seem to be spending the winter here, according to

of Keego Harbor, who is feeding several pairs. Again we are reminded by

Mrs. Martin Oglesby

of Huron Gardens that left over cold pancakes are greatly appreciated by the birds. Once very plentiful here, but in recent years supposed to be extinct in Michigan, three-toed woodpeckers are back in the Pontiac area, as of Walled Lake has been feeding a pair all winter. Ten beautifully colored pictures of bird feeding stations were shown in a recent issue of Ford Times, and I have word from its editor, that he will send a free copy to anybody writing him at 3000 Schaefer Road, Dearborn.

Mrs. Bernard Groome

Bill Kennedy,

It is a hard fact to face, but the figures show that crime cost $20 billions in our nation in 1954—ten times the amount given for the support of all of our churches.

Himself a prime mover in the organization and development of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club,

County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks

now feels that it is time that we give more attention to plugging for the winter recreational facilities of this area.

When you go away for a few weeks in winter, according to

it is just as advisable to leave your forwarding address with your mail carrier as it is when you do the same thing in summer.

They're Experts at Refined Torture

David Lawrence Says:

Union's Vote Registration Edict Threatens Liberties

WASHINGTON — The evil effects of compulsory unionization and its impairment of civil liberties in America were never more vividly illustrated than in the latest action of a labor union in Pennsylvania which says no man can have a job hereafter unless he registers for voting.

Whether a citizen wishes to vote or to refrain from voting has hitherto been a prerogative that nobody could interfere with. But evidently a labor union now can impose a penalty and put into effect what amounts to compulsory voting.

Although the Associated Press conveyed this news about what was happening at Johnstown, Pa., throughout the length and breadth of the land earlier this week, one hasn't heard a peep out of the so-called "liberals" who are usually quick to protest whenever anyone mixed up in some way with communism is asked an impertinent question by a congressional committee.

Maybe the reason is that modern "liberals" believe in compulsion, especially where the process of invisible government by labor unions is involved. Recently, for example, they have raised a cry against the "right to work" laws of several states, with a demand for their repeal. It is unfortunate that Pennsylvania doesn't have a "right to work" law. For evidently in the Quaker state labor-union arrogance has reached the point where it now feels it can even impose laws governing the rights of the citizen at the public polls and take away the right to work.

It so happens that the AFL Construction and General Laborers' Union in Johnstown, Pa., is headed up by Pete Livolsi, who announced the action which will affect 2,900 members in an 11-county area of southwestern Pennsylvania. He says that he is not interested in party affiliation but he wants to get the men registered.

Now, Mr. Livolsi, by reason of the dual personality set-up in the labor world, is also head of a political action committee which embraces many unions in the area. As such, he was active in the recent political campaigns. It is a short step from telling a man he has to register and telling him how to vote after he has registered. Many workers fear there is some way by which their votes can be checked on by the union.

Never before in America has anybody dared to carry the "closed shop" doctrine to the point of imposing a penalty on a non-voter. Hitherto a man's voting or non-voting habit has been considered his own private concern but, if it is to be tied to his job opportunity, then a new form of despotism has arisen to emphasize what compulsory unionization can do in free America.

The "closed shop" was declared unlawful by the Taft-Hartley Act, but a modified form, which is called the "union shop," is permitted. Under this, any man can be hired, whether he is or is not a member of a union, but at the end of a short time, usually 30 days, he must make up his mind to join the union or the employer is obliged to fire him. He may have conscientious objections to the joining of a labor union, but he will lose his job if he does not abide by the dictation of the union.

There are many persons who are not entitled to vote because they have not lived in the United States long enough or have not applied early enough to become citizens. Are they to be debarred from working just because they have not had time to achieve their citizenship?

What it all adds up to is a form of coercion which the Taft-Hartley act and many state laws, like the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act, were designed to eliminate. Nobody ever thought a "union shop" rule could be used to cover anything but membership in a union.

If the state of Pennsylvania or the federal government wants to pass a law requiring all citizens to register for voting, that is understandable. But no private organization like a labor union ought to have the economic power to deny a job opportunity to anybody. Hiring ought always to be a management function. For management takes the risks and deserves the right to choose its employes.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It's a delight when you print articles concerning local girls being crowned a queen of something or other at one of our colleges. You are so right to boast our homegrown products, whether they are products of beauty, talent or are mechanical.

Recently something very significant occurred in New York City of which America in general and Michigan in particular should point with pride.

For the first time in its 70-year history, the Metropolitan Opera House has appointed an American-born and American-trained conductor. Thomas Schippers of Kalamazoo, Mich., who is 25 years old and a brilliant musician will be the first American-born and the youngest maestro to conduct in that world famous institution.

America should be proud that in that highest form of art we are less and less dependent on imported talent and more and more we are raising and training our own. Thank God, we are coming of age.

'Citizen' Also Pleads Social Security at 60

I fully agree with the person "Nearing 60" that the Social Security law should be changed to 60 years of age instead of 65.

For example take a married couple. In most cases, the man is a few years older than his wife. Say a man is 65 and his wife is 59.

Well, he can retire if he has another source of income, but he would not receive a penny from his wife till she reaches 65. Then most likely, he might have passed away and his poor wife gets nothing.

Wake up! Write your senator a nice letter for Social Security for all at 60.

Citizen

Editor's note — According to the Social Security office, if a man 65 or over dies before his wife reaches 65, the wife is paid a lump sum based on his computed retirement per month benefits, $255 being the maximum amount paid. Then when she reaches 65, she is paid three-quarters of his monthly benefit rate continuing until her death or remarriage.

I have just read another answer in your column about the question of Social Security at age 60 instead of 65.

Will you please write me a petition to the above effect so I can have it copied and get started on signatures. I believe in this project and certainly think something should be done since many people think the same way.

Mrs. Elmer Collins
5356 Sashabaw Rd.

Editor's note — Those interested in the Social Security question would have to get up their own petitions. Just state at the top what your idea is and then get a considerable number of signatures. Send the petitions to your representative in Washington.

William Taylor Protests Retirement Action

This is an open letter to Union 594, and GMC Motor Company. I, William Taylor, have been a member of Local 594 for 12 years, Badge No. 800243. I feel I have been given an unfair deal.

The company and union claimed that the company and union had come to an agreement to give me an early retirement. This was done behind closed doors, without my asking for it or consenting to the agreement.

Does Anyone Know This Blind Girl?

About eight months ago, I heard of a blind girl who lives in Keego Harbor for whom several people were saving cigarette package bands to help purchase a seeing eye dog for her.

Since that time I cannot locate anyone who remembers her name.

Many have written and asked me for her name and address. I have tried every way I know of to find her.

Perhaps someone will read this who knows her. She would be between 11 and 16 years of age, I believe.

Asks What Will Happen to the Working Man

What is to become of the working man? He goes to a factory to obtain work and is told that he must join the union at a fee sometimes as high as $20, with monthly dues as high as $7.50.

He calls a plumber and is charged $8.50 ($4.50 in many communities) just for him to call and look over the situation. The TV repairman charges $4.50 merely to look at the TV set, and after one has spent around $50 it still will not operate properly.

It becomes necessary to call a doctor: he charges $7 for the call. A farmer gets 8 cents a quart for his milk but when I buy it, the cost is 23 cents per quart.

Now Congress has joined the club and voted itself $1,000 a month more salary and a judge says he cannot live on a yearly pension of nearly $7,000.

What does the union man get when he goes on strike? I think the government ought to take over those dues, the same as is done in Belgium, and handle them like Social Security payments and see what the honest workingman gets a fair deal.

Will Fluoridation Change the Taste of Our Water?

I would like to ask the Pontiac Press one simple question. Can you taste fluoridation in the water?

Curious

Editor's Note — Positively not.

"Dental Office Worker" said Mr. Keeling shouldn't try to become an authority on health and dentistry in addition to religion and the law. Why not? Isn't he as competent as those other self-starters?

I'm for Mr. Keeling. His only fault lies in the fact that he's on the wrong side of fluoridation.

I can't prove it, but I'm sure the Lord favors fluoridation. He fluoridates some water completely and much more (including ours) in part.

School Grading System of 'E' for Effort Gives No Incentive to Bright Students

Jack's mother has a valid criticism of many public schools. Beware of communism in education. For whenever output is disregarded in favor of protecting the pride of dullards, that reverses America's formula for world leadership. School grades should be based solely on honest output instead of "attitude" or "effort".

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-341: Jack B., aged 12, is in the sixth grade.

"Dr. Crane, Jack is a very bright boy," his mother began.

"But he gets the same grades as other pupils in the class who do not know half as much as he does.

"I'm not exaggerating. Nor am I a prejudiced mother. Our school has adopted the system of grading everybody in the class with an 'E' for efficient work.

"Thus, the dull student gets an 'E' if he is working as well as the teacher thinks he can, with his limited ability.

"Meanwhile, the brilliant pupils likewise are given an 'E.' Thus, a boy like Jack who makes 98 in geography or spelling is given no higher grade than the dullard who would rate only 68 or 70 if arithmetical scores were used.

"Isn't this unfair? The teachers say it protects the pride of the duller pupils. But why lean over backwards to save the feelings of the dullards when we rob brilliant boys and girls of incentive?"

This method which Jack's mother attacks, is a form of communism that has invaded our schools.

We've had it in our Chicago schools for years. And it is a reversal of our entire free enterprise system in America where the rewards have gone to those who won them.

It would be far better pedagogy and certainly far more typically American to use arithmetical grades and thus specifically show students that they got 75 vs. 98, instead of giving everybody an "E".

How would our baseball and basketball teams like it if they played hard throughout a game and then both were awarded the same score, or an "E" grade for effort?

America has been brought to the forefront of world powers because men like Edison or Henry Ford could receive a greater reward, when they earned such, than the bum who sat in a tavern swilling down his beer, while his family was on relief.

Output should always be rewarded, and output should not be confused with effort.

Yet many teachers penalize the bright pupils because they say: "You haven't worked as hard as you could."

That cuts no ice if they have spelled more words correctly or answered more questions with the proper replies!

In a track meet, a shotputter may not throw the 16-lb. ball as far as he ought, but if he beats the rivals in that same meet, he gets the first prize, doesn't he?

So this modern trend in education of mollycoddling the weak and dullards for fear of giving them a complex if they receive a 70 when the leaders would have scored 98 to 100, is not only psychologically unwise, but it is unfair.

One Edison does more for mankind than a million "workers with the hoe" so we dare not penalize leadership if we want to remain strong and ahead of Russia in scientific invention. Dullards invent no H-bombs!

You PTA groups should analyze the grading methods in your schools and get back to the most efficient one of all, namely, the use of numerical scores based on actual answering of questions, instead of on attitude or effort.

It is honest output that demands rewarding regardless of attitude or effort!

Doctor Criticizes Neglect of Health Training in U. S.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

I have yet to find a newspaper writer who makes more frequent use of the first person singular pronoun than I do.

The 19th century affectation "we," "the writer," "your correspondent" etc. is as quaint as saying "limbs" when you mean legs.

As an avowed quack I hereby serve notice on all concerned that I invented the degree P. H. D. before any university or other institution ever thought of it, much less granted it to any one.

So I alone know what P. H. D. denotes, although many readers have guessed correctly about it since I first mentioned it here last Monday. P. H. D. stands for Doctor of Personal Health.

As I have already stated, no university is authorized to grant the degree, but it wouldn't be difficult to persuade me to accept the first honorary P. H. D. degree from an accredited school, provided the school first sets up an honest course or department of personal health, hygiene and prevention of disease under a professor who has had not less than forty years of teaching experience.

No. You're wrong this time. I couldn't afford to take the job, although I've always wished and I wish now that I could have such a job.

I'm not facetious about it. I believe neglect of this field of education — that it, physiology, hygiene, personal health and prevention of disease, all disease, not just a few infectious diseases — in America is a great sin.

For instance consider how pathetically ignorant and unfit most high-school and college graduates are for marriage, maternity, paternity, childbirth, infant care and feeding.

Another instance is the abdomen. Intellectual snobs do not use the word in conversation — they are uncertain about the pronunciation. Many persons who pretend to be educated resort to facetiousness when they don't know whether to say abdomen, diaphragm, stomach, belly or epigastrium. They say "tummy," which, like "definitely," gives the snob away every time.

All this nonsensical talk about a degree for the teacher (doctor) of personal health, hygiene and prevention of disease (all disease, not just infectious or epidemic diseases) leads nowhere. This column or department represents probably the nearest approach to the practice of personal health that we are likely to see in America.

Signed letters not more than one page or 300 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, and to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed. etc.

General Finds Spending Billions Is Man-Size Job

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

DAYTON, O. (INS) — If there's anything a lady admires, it's a handsome and affable gentleman who spends money freely. So meet Gen. Edwin Rawlings—the biggest single spender in the U.S.

Gen. Rawlings, the 51-year-old Gable of the Air Force, is commander of the Air Materiel Command, and he disposes of—in his handsome, affable way—up to 16 billions of dollars annually. This is more than the top five business corporations, put together, can get rid of in their most frivolous fiscal year.

"It's a terrible feeling," he says. "A terrible feeling of responsibility." In other words, it's no fun spending money when, as General Ed puts it, "You can't look upon dollars as dollars per se—because that would be dangerous."

You've got to look upon money as something that can take lives and save lives. You've got to be prepared to divide up your government-alloted budget (for '55, Air Materiel Command's budget is about 13 billion dollars), into just the right sized pie-pieces that will buy all the necessary planes and equipment, repair and maintain those already on hand, pay the 166,000 employes of AMC, train new personnel and aid friendly nations throughout the world.

To sum up, Gen. Rawlings—the professional billionaire—muts build and maintain an air combat force that is ready to fight at a moment's notice, all over the world.

"Our product," he says, "is striking power ready to go the instant we are attacked." And he believes that should there be a next war, it "could be decided in a matter of hours or days." The equipment he buys, through Air Materiel Command, must be of the supersonic speed and intensity to strike immediately and devastatingly.

To obtain such equipment, "under a limited defense budget," requires constant probing and planning. It is not fun.

"And I," he says, "entered the Air Force because I wanted to fly."

That was 26 years ago, and it was the gesture of an action-loving young man. Unlike most of his four-star associates at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ed Rawlings of Milroy, Minn., didn't go to West Point.

He did the things fortunate, athletic boys do. In Hamline University, the won letters in football, basketball and track, and majored in economics. Then in 1927, B.A. degree in hand, he went to work for the Dayton Company in Minneapolis—a department store. But after two years in the coat-suit set, life seemed dull.

He dropped business (he thought) and enlisted in the Air Force as a flying cadet.

Actually, Ed Rawlings never spent as much time in the air as he would have liked. He was too blasted smart on the ground. Although he ranks as a command pilot and his medals to prove his heroism in flight, the majority of his career has been in responsible posts that require business savvy.

Today it is well-known that Gen. Rawlings has turned down business offers which would have paid him well over twice the $18,000 he collects as a four-star general, which iis not exactly gravy when you have four sons to put through college and a general-type house to support.

But it would be impossible, as a friend put it, for Gen. Rawlings to deal in dishwashers after he's spent 25 years dealing in the preservation of men. And what's more, he'll be too far away from flying.

As it is, he flies on all his business, visiting logistics forces here and abroad and manages to slip into the cockpit for 500 or 600 hours a year.

"After all," Gen. Rawlings explains, "you can't just sit behind a desk and get the work done. And it is relaxing for me to fly, so it seems logical."

ABINGTON, Mass. (UP)—Mrs. Chester Strong, doll shop owner, was en route home with the day's recipts when her car was forced to the curb by a holdup man who ordered her to turn over the money. She handed over a bag. The thief fled before discovering that the bag was empty.

WHAT THIS COUNTRY NEEDS IS A GOOD 55 DOLLAR SUIT

An Important Announcement by Osmun's Men's Wear

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE! A suit of the quality we demanded could never be made to sell for $55, they told us.

WELL, WE PROVED THE EXPERTS WRONG! With the arrival of the OSMUN "55," OSMUN'S introduces an entirely new concept in clothing distribution. By joining hands with a top American manufacturer whose streamlined operation produces the entire suit under one roof, by placing our orders well in advance, and by cutting our profits to the bone, we have effected economies never before achieved.

EAGLE-EYED INSPECTORS rule every operation with an iron hand. No skimping, no "hurry-up" methods—every suit has a high count rayon lining . . . every seam, every fold, every piece of fabric is pressed as it's put together, to make one of the best fitting, well balanced suits we've ever seen.

IMPORTED WOOLS, ORLONS AND WOOLS—the very finest handpicked fabrics in the rich basic shades you want. Plenty of charcoal flannels, sharkskins, gabardines, herringbones, and diagonals.

THE TRUE TEST OF A SUIT is the way it fits you. See how we've avoided exaggeration . . . the flattery is all in the tailoring, in the fabrics and the detailing. Yes, if you're accustomed to spending $55 for a suit, we say, "STEP UP TO AN OSMUN'S 55." And if you usually spend more, don't let the low price fool you, because . . .

We Believe the OSMUN'S "55" Is the Best $55 Suit You Can Buy!

Orvie's Nancy Reported Wed

Dearborn Mayor Says He Knows Nothing of Daughter's Elopement

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Mayor Orville L. Hubbard's attractive, platinum-haired daughter apparently didn't need the free services of her father's recently established Dearborn Marriage Bureau—designed to help people find mates.

Reports had it today that Nancy Anne Hubbard had eloped with John D. Dmytryshyn, 22-year-old record company representative from Detroit.

The mayor and Mrs. Hubbard said they did not know whether their daughter was married.

But the Rev. C. C. Amendt, minister of a Methodist church in the Cleveland suburb of Brecksville, Ohio, said he married "an attractive blonde" named Nancy Anne Hubbard to a John R. Dmytryshyn Jan. 13.

"I heard she was going around with a man with a name something like that" sputtered the mayor. "Mrs. Hubbard and I didn't care for him and told her so, but parents can't tell a 22-year-old girl much any more."

Dmytryshyn's mother Mrs. Dmytryshyn said her son, who has a son by a previous marriage, had married the mayor's daughter.

Hubbard said Nancy Anne quit her job with the city of Dearborn early last month and he hasn't seen her for several weeks.

But when asked to confirm the elopement report, the mayor said he couldn't, and told a reporter, quite typically, that "if you print she's married you'd better have the facts or I'll throw you out of City Hall."

Comic Books, TV Affect Learning Little, Study Says

CHICAGO (AP)—Don't worry too much about Junior's apetite for television and comic books.

A Northwestern University educator said today his study shows they have little effect on the educational level and behavior of youngsters.

Paul Witty, Ph. D., reporting on his fifth annual survey of TV and his 12th year of studying the effects of comic books, said:

"Although television does not on the whole appear to influence educational attainment adversely, there are individual cases in which teachers and parents report undesirable effects. On the other hand, there are children who have been stimulated to do better work in school through use of interests engendered by TV."

Between the third and sixth grades, he said, the average number of hours devoted to TV weekly ranged from 20 to 26 hours.

Regarding comic books, he said his study showed the average educational attainment of those who devoted the greatest time to this pursuit was "almost identical" with those who devoted the least time.

Writing in Today's Health, published by the American Medical Assn. he urged parents and children to work together to plan balanced programs of good TV and comics plus time for reading.

Hal Boyle Says:

Men Edging Out Women in Grocery Store Lines

NEW YORK (AP)—There has been a quiet revolution in the American family's food buying habits.

Wives may select most of their husbands' clothing, but more and more husbands now do the grocery shopping. They have to. It's the only way they can get what they want to eat.

"About a third of the sales in the average supermarket now are made to husbands who do the family food shopping alone," estimates Frank Packard, "and another third to husbands and wives who shop together."

Packard, a cherubic, well-fed businessman who gallivants about the country in his own private plane, operates a pioneer supermarket at Hackensack, N.J. which for many years claimed it did the biggest food business under one roof of any store in America. This was before Texas started building supermarkets.

His long experience has led Packard to develop an interesting theory about women. They simply don't have as good taste as men—in food.

"I've never heard of any great professional women tea or coffee tasters—or chefs either," he said. "A man's taste for food is more glamorous than a woman's, because his taste buds are more sensitive.

"If you gave them a physiological test, I'm sure you'd find women's taste buds are inferior to men's. That's probably why women are inclined to overseason food."

He has found women are less adventurous than men in trying new foods. A supermarket push cart brings out the Marco Polo in a man.

"Most of the free recipe leaflets are picked up by husbands, not wives," Packard said. "Men like to experiment. They are more likely to buy things like Japanese octopus, buffalo steak or canned rattlesnake meat.

"They buy the rattlesnake meat as a gag usually—to fool a friend, or startle a visiting mother-in-law. I don't know of anyone who eats rattlesnake meat regularly. At $1.50 a can it isn't exactly habit-forming."

Here are some other differences he has noted between men and women grocery shoppers:

"Women enjoy buying new clothing, but buying food is just a chore to them. They get it over as quickly and efficiently as possible. But it's fun for the men—a holiday.

"Women stick strictly to the household budget in buying food. Men throw the budget overboard. Sometimes they go on such food-buying jags our clerks actually have to discourage them.

"Children behave better when they are with their father. They never get lost and they stick close to him. But they are more used to mother. When they come in with her, they run and romp all over the store.

"Left to his own choice, a man will rarely buy fowl or fish. He'll buy beef. And he won't even go near the bakery table unless it's to get something on his wife's list.

"There's a reason for this. The psychology of food is imbedded in our language. Tell a man he's a bull, and he's flattered. Call him a creampuff, he's insulted."

Packard predicts changing food habits will doom the home-delivery milkman within 10 years—because of the labor cost—and that frozen precooked foods such as fried chicken and pizza pies will hike in popularity. So will standardized, prepackaged steaks and chops.

"The trend is toward what is easier, easier, easier," he said, and added:

"There is no longer much class distinction in food buying. A low income man today brags about the quality of the meals his wife cooks. But some rich people now serve the worst food in the world. Many wealthy people don't know or appreciate good food."

The origin of meteorites is still controversial. Generally they are believed to be lumps from an exploded planet or perhaps two that collided.

Big Game for Parochials; PHS Elects Club Heads

Parochial school students are anticipating the big St. Mike's-St. Fred's basketball game tonight, while Pontiac High is in the midst of appointing and electing new club officers and members.

PONTIAC HIGH

This week started the new semester here, and new faces were seen throughout the halls as the brick tepee welcomed the arriving sophomores.

Schedules were arranged and rearranged in the early part of the week, and throughout the week a long line of eager faces could be seen as students waited to buy books and equipment at the bookstore.

Club elections were held this week, with Dolphin Club naming Marianne Crozier as president. Barbara Calhoun is the new vice president and Marsha Stapp takes the job of secretary Geraldine Worthman, club adviser, also announced that Carol Donaldson is to be the new treasurer.

Burton Belant takes the presidency of Playcrafters this semester, with Bob Crandall as vice president. Recording secretary is Leah Mae MacNutt; corresponding secretary, Carolyn Hawn, and treasurer, Leonard Barry.

Young artistic hopefuls added finishing touches to paintings, jewelry, clay work and other arts this week, as Art Department students entered various objects in local Arts Scholastic Contest.

Seven new chemistry lab assistants were named by Forrest Brown. They are Fred Reeser, Helen Rendziperis, Shirley Arnhart, Barbara Calhoun, Janet Deem, Bob Everson and Jerry Young.

Radio Workshop adviser Vera Mae Adams announced new members of the group. Among them are Ellen Wagner, Judy Levine, Judy Lacy, Day Ruchner, Sharon Boyce, Dave Robinson and Burton Belant. Others are Chuck Hutula, Charles Williams, Cecille Dumbrigue, Donna Brosted, Dan Grimm and Benny Williams.

Completing the list are Paul Hagle, Larry Dunn, Jackie Pyle and Pat Ronan.

Social science students in particular and all other students are brushing up on their knowledge of the United Nations as they prepare to enter the annual U.N. Contest. In an examination testing their knowledge of the U.N., they will compete for cash prizes, scholarships and trips.

ST. MICHAEL

Headline news on the North Side this week is divided between the juniors' Coronation Ball and plans for the soon-to-be-presented senior play.

Nominations for king and queen of the pre-Lenten dance were made this week. Representing the senior class are Marlene Cook and Ed Sutherland. Junior nominees are Marge Bateman and John Adams.

The campaigning is going fast and furious as of now, and campaign managers are planning the platforms for their respective candidates. The Michaelite features interviews with the four candidates and this election has all the earmarks of one of the biggest competitive events of the year.

Ask any St. Mike's senior "Whither goest thou?" and the reply is sure to be, "To play practice." The presentation of the senior play is drawing near and practice sessions have been considerably stepped up.

Feb. 5 will be red-letter day for St. Mike's sophomores who will be guests at a teenage fashion show in Detroit. Following the show they will enjoy a social hour and refreshments.

It took little short of an hydraulic jack to lift the long faces of Michaelites this week. Report cards, of course.

Seniors are getting a little tired of saying "cheese" as more pictures are taken for the play-book.

Congratulations are in order for Colleen McEnery, who was elected Ice Queen last Sunday night. Colleen is the sixth girl from St. Michael to hold the honor in the past seven years.

Junior achievers from St. Mike's embarked on several industry-sponsored field trips this week. The groups enjoyed a luncheon and toured a General Motors plant.

Freshman science class members displayed their handiwork in the halls this week. They exhibited colored drawings of the principle of light refraction.

Basketball fans haven't had any cause for disappointment this season. Shamrocks are tied for first place now, and they will surely retain this coveted position when they meet their crosstown rivals, St. Fred's, at the PHS gym tonight. A pep rally was staged this afternoon featuring the "crowning" of St. Fred's team.

St. Mike's cheerleaders, all cleaned and pressed, will exhibit several new cheers at the game tonight.

St. Michael girls' basketball team travels to Ferndale St. James this Sunday.

ST. FREDERICK

Books and social affairs took a back seat the first three days of this week as a peace and quiet settled over the whole school with the annual high school retreat getting under way. Father John O'Conner, retreat master, gave many interesting and enlightening lectures which left students with food for thought.

Between lectures students were buried in books and pamphlets on marriage, courtship and other problems confronting teenagers.

Wednesday morning, the last day of the retreat, students attended a Solemn High Mass and procession in honor of Our Blessed Mother. The Mass was ended with singing of the Magnificat by the students.

Hotel Fire Kills Man in Virginia; 17 Flee

HOPEWELL, Va. (UP)—One man died early today in a fire that burned through the top floor and roof of the Chesterfield Hotel. Seventeen other guests fled to the street in near-zero temperatures.

Police said the body of Percy Hatchell, about 53, was found in his bed after firemen had put out the stubborn blaze that began after midnight and for a time threatened to spread to other buildings in the center of this town of 20,000 about 22 miles south of Richmond.

The roof of the four-story brick building caved in, police said, and the top floor was gutted. Extensive water damage was said to have been done to the lower floors.

Firemen from five communities battled the flames for more than four hours.

Police said the fire apparently broke out in a top floor room.

MSC Honored by House in Centennial Greeting

WASHINGTON (UP)—In an unusual action, the House yesterday passed a resolution extending greetings to Michigan State College on the centennial of its founding.

The resolution was introduced by Rep. Hayworth (D-Mich). It was acted upon immediately without the customary procedure of going through committee.

Democratic House Leader McCormack of Massachusetts told the House the move was "most unusual and a tribute to the great university."

The Funk Part Is OK; but Dig That Trombone

NEW YORK (UP) — A press agent named Mario Trombone today touted a model he toasted as a "green funk."

Trombone said Miss Vickie Hayes has been walking around New York in green hair, green clothes, green fingernails and green toenails, smoking green cigarets and drinking green creme de menthe.

The purpose of this, trumpeted Mario Trombone, is to promote a song entitled "Green Fire."

Ardent Commie Fails as Lover

Young Reds Told Saga of Swain Who Tried to Swap Fiancee for Job

MOSCOW (INS)—Yuri Kochetov was a young Communist in a hurry who had no time for romance.

At 29 he had risen in the ranks of the Young Communist League and taught Marxism-Leninism at an institute in Saratov, his home town.

But Saratov was only a provincial capital 500 miles southeast of Moscow. He would have to get to the big city—Moscow.

And the only way he could see of getting to the capital was to marry into it.

What happened then was described in intimate detail by "Komsomol Pravda," newspaper of the Young Communist League.

Yuri was supposed to wed a local girl in a couple of days.

"Do you love me very much?" Nelya asked Yuri as they held hands on the bank of the Volga that evening.

"I have already explained my position on this question," the young instructor in Marxism replied stiffly, "But love isn't everything.

"A wife cannot be merely a companion in love, she must be a comrade in the socialist struggle as well."

Nelya knew a stall when she heard one.

"Stop talking like a newspaper clipping," she teased. "Are we or are we not going to the registry office the day after tomorrow?"

Yuri announced that he had decided to postpone the date until the anniversary of the great October socialist revolution, as that "would be more suitable."

When he returned home that night, Yuri began a letter to a girl he knew in Moscow:

"I am very eager to get a teaching post in Moscow . . . but I don't have either relatives or friends in the capital who can help me find a job and an apartment.

"I hope to overcome these handicaps by making the right kind of marriage . . . and since I am 29 already, there's no time to waste bothering about romance."

Yuri asks his confidant to scout around for an eligible mate:

"Her parents should be either influential in Marxist-Leninist circles or else very high state or party workers."

Otherwise he wasn't too particular except that she should be serious-minded like himself and "Have a pleasant appearance without any repulsive features, such as be missing an eye or a leg, etc."

Yuri's drive on Moscow didn't affect his relations with Nelya, however. She was his ace in the hole if his other campaign didn't succeed.

So the next evening found him back on the Volga embankment lecturing poor Nelya between caresses.

At this point in its account, "Komsomol Pravda" could withhold its editorial opinion no longer.

"We have no bourgeoise," thundered the voice of young communism, "but we still have the self-seeker who conceals his true intentions behind a mask of decency while at the same time pursuing his own selfish ends."

Komsmol Pravda doesn't reveal what happened next, presumably to hide the identity of its informant. But Nelya somehow got hold of Yuri's letter to Moscow.

She was "horrified" at first. But when her temper cooled, Nelya decided she still loved the guy even though he was a pompous lout. And so they were married.

End of story? Not quite. Komsomol Pravda has the last word:

"Yuri asumed that this newspaper wouldn't print this story if he married Nelya. He even wrote a letter to the editor suggesting that publication might 'Cause anguish among decent married people.'

"This cunning self-seeker thinks his mask of respectability will conceal the deformed nudity of his dirty intentions.

"He is wrong!'"

LIFE IN THE ARCTIC
Fishing Through the Ice—5

Eskimo boys, like Upak, learn to fish almost as soon as they can walk. Upak, dressed all in fur, is sitting on a chunk of ice. He has cut a hole through the ice beneath him so he can drop his fishing line into the cold water. You can help him get his fish.

1. With crayon or paint color Upak's coat and trousers. They may be of different shades of brown and tan, with white fur around his face and a band of brightly colored decoration above the fur.

2. Paste the picture smoothly on cardboard. Cut out the boy, his arm and the fish. Cut the slit in the coat as shown. From the back of the picture, slip the hand and arm through the slit as far as the curved end will let it go.

3. Put a string through the hole in the mitten and tie the fish to it with a string about two inches long.

4. Fold back the panel at the left. Set the figure up on a cardboard box. Make a hole in the box at Upak's feet large enough for the fish to go through. Drop the fish into the hole. When you raise Upak's arm—up comes the fish.

Begins Routine Chores Marking 105th Birthday

TRYON, N.C. (UP)—Frederick C. Penney, a native of Canaan, Maine, got up early today as usual, puttered around the house, carried in some kindling, walked down to his rural mail box.

But his sisters, Mrs. Cecil Heard and Miss Edith Penney, each over 90, invited everyone in the community in to see him. After all, it isn't every day that someone observes his 105th birthday.

Socialite Pays for Dali Portrait to End Wrangle

NEW YORK (UP)—Socialite Mrs. William Woodward has paid surrealist Salvador Dali $7,000 for a portrait she says she can't stand and won't have in her home.

The attractive Mrs. Woodward sat for Dali for a year, agreeing not to look at the painting until it was completed. Came the finish — in April 1953 — and after one look Mrs. Woodward said take it away.

Dali sued for "the reasonable value of his services."

Yesterday Theodore Miller, Mrs. Woodward's attorney, said Dali got a $7,000 check and agreed to withdraw the suit.

The painting shows a woman resembling Mrs. Woodward standing on a beach in front of a coral cave.

Commented Dali: "She has now paid the agreed price. The painting will be delivered to her. I have no further comment."

Rubinstein Murder Baffling Authorities

NEW YORK (UP)—The search for Serge Rubinstein's killer continued today, with authorities apparently as baffled about the crime as they were when the playboy-financier's body was found Jan. 27.

The Russian-born, 46-year-old Rubinstein was trussed, gagged and strangled in his bedroom. A ruthless businessman, a heavy spender on luxuries and glamor girls, Rubinstein was in so many deals and knew so many people that his slaying left police with a maze of details to untangle.

Gorilla's Death Blamed on Diet

Research Team Tells Results of Autopsy on 550-Pound Ape

CHICAGO (AP) — It seems that Bushman, Chicago's fierce-visaged, world-famous 550-pound gorilla, died because he didn't get the right kind of gorilla food.

This was the opinion expressed today by a medical team which did a detailed autopsy on Bushman immediately after his sudden death in 1951 at the age of 22.

They found that the giant male gorilla, although he looked as sturdy as a rock, was just a weakling behind his muscular facade.

The immediate cause of death of the 6-foot-2 gorilla was acute congestive heart failure. However, he also suffered from arthritic-like symptoms, degeneration of the spinal cord, liver and spleen, atrophy of the leg muscles, a chronic ulcer on his left heel, stomach hemorrhages, hardening of the brain arteries and swelling of the kidneys.

Bushman was regarded as the world's most prized zoo animal. He had been the single biggest attraction at any Chicago zoo for more than 20 years.

What vital food source Bushman needed, the researchers couldn't say. A non-meat eater, he put away 22 pounds of fresh fruit, vegetables and whole wheat raisin bread each day. He also had three quarts of fresh milk daily and multiple vitamins were added to his diet. He was a little overweight, by wild gorilla standards.

But the researchers said the widespread degeneration "suggests that the gorilla may have some unique species nutritional requirements."

Convicted Kidnaper Tells Identity of Accomplice

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Jack Brand, confessed accomplice in the 10-year-old kidnaping and robbery of Pat Heavey, manager of the State Theater, yesterday identified Dan Ben Thomas, Georgia ex-convict, as his partner in the crime.

Thomas was returned to Kalamazoo a few weeks ago to face trial on the charge. He had been serving a sentence in Georgia as a prison fugitive.

Brand now is serving a sentence at Southern Michigan Prison for his part in the kidnap-robbery.

Youngest Supreme Court justice was Joseph Story, who became a justice at 32 and served from 1811 to 1845.

PEO to Celebrate 86th Birthday

On Monday Oakland County Cooperative group of PEO Sisterhood will celebrate PEO's 86th birthday at a luncheon for members at the Birmingham Community House.

On Jan. 22, 1869 seven girls attending Iowa Wesleyan College founded PEO. From that beginning, PEO has grown into a band of women well over 100,000 strong. PEO's primary objectives are cultural and educational.

Cottey College, a junior college in Nevada, Mo. is owned by PEO. An educational loan fund and an international peace scholarship are supported by the association.

In Michigan alone there are over 80 chapters, and in Oakland County there are 12 chapters. At this birthday party the featured speaker will be Mrs. Walter J. Teeuwissen Jr. She has chosen as her subject "Women are Here to Stay."

Mrs. Teeuwissen is the wife of the pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of Drayton Plains. She studied at Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Temple University and Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

She has written poetry, fiction and curricular material for several United Presbyterian publications and is a corresponding editor of the adult weekly, 'The United Presbyterian' in which she writes a weekly page of family interest entitled 'You and Your House.'

Her home state is New Jersey. She became a PEO in Indianola, Iowa in 1944 where the Teeuwissen's lived before coming to Michigan in 1948. She is now a member of Chapter AW, Pontiac.

Tribute to the founders will be paid by a group of women from several chapters. Garbed in costumes of the period of the founding, they will symbolize the founding in a tableau, the script, for which was written by and will be narrated by Mrs. J. D. Hagey, a member of Chapter AX, Birmingham.

Mrs. Anson Laufer, of Chapter P, Pleasant Ridge will direct the program.

Mrs. T. C. Morgan of Chapter AX, Birmingham is general chairman of the Oakland County Cooperative to which all the chapters in the county belong.

Mrs. G. D. Warriner, of chapter P, Pleasant Ridge is chairman of the day for the luncheon.

'Queen of Queens' Interviewed at MSC

By DELORES WEST

When asked how does it feel to be the "queen of queens?" Judy Bradley, the lovely 19 year old Michigan State College coed who was recently chosen Miss Michigan State replied, "It doesn't feel any different. I feel like the same me."

Miss Bradley, who reigned as queen of the Harvest Ball last fall, was chosen from five finalists competing for the title.

In order to be a candidate for the Miss MSC title each girl must have been chosen queen of an all-college affair in which candidates were nominated from all coed living units.

The queens were judged by members of Blue Key, the junior-senior men's honorary. Sunday afternoon, Blue Key members met with the five candidates and interviewed each of them before selecting Miss Bradley by a closed ballot.

The standard upon which coeds were judged was a 40 per cent personality and 60 per cent appearance basis.

Miss Bradley first learned of her selection at about seven o'clock on Sunday evening when the president of Blue Key, Dan Webster, brought the Miss Michigan State trophy to her residence, the Delta Gamma sorority house.

At the time he arrived, she was helping make preparations for the pledging ceremony to be held that evening. New pledges were upstairs and the sorority house was a scene of much activity.

Upon coming downstairs, she was greeted with warm congratulations from the Blue Key representative.

When asked what were her first reactions to the presentation, Miss Bradley smiled and modestly replied, "I couldn't think of anything to say except, 'thank you'."

By this time the sorority house was in an uproar and her sisters were gathered around her expressing congratulations. When a degree of order was reached, they sang some of their sorority songs to her concluding with a song sung at pinnings.

"Golly," Judy said, after this song, "I didn't even have to become pinned to have it sung to me." Of course, Miss MSC was terribly excited but she said that she just had to settle down so that the sorority could proceed with the pledge ceremony.

"Later in the evening, I studied, between phone calls," Miss Bradley, who is a sophomore, medical technology major, said.

Attendance at several dinners and teas will occupy some of Miss Michigan State's time between now and the time when she will represent MSC in the Miss Big Ten contest.

She will compete with seven other university queens for the title. Miss Big Ten will be announced at the MSC J-Hop on the evening of Feb. 5.

It's in the Weaving

Clothing Life Extended, Denim Takes to Process

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Birmingham scientists have discovered a new way to weave cloth that may double the lifespan of wearing apparel.

Experiments to date have been made only on denim, but scientists believe the new method will work on other textiles also.

Denim processed by this method shows promise of lasting possibly more than twice as long as ordinary denim.

Life of the material is actually lengthened by washing and ironing.

Denim products processed in the new way will probably be on the market within a year.

The new material is said to be fade-proof, thus offering to manufacturers the opportunity of making women's dresses from denim trimmed in white. Abrams said denims presently must be made of the same color because they tend to fade.

As a material for work clothes, the scientists believe the new denim would be unsurpassed.

The process consists of coating the yarns that go into denim with a synthetic rubber substance tradenamed Hycar.

Ordinary denims are treated with starch while being woven. The new substance replaces the starch, and in large scale manufacture would cost little more per yard than ordinary denims.

Winner of Society's Highest Award Speaks to Zonta Club of Pontiac

Dr. Helen W. Dodson spoke on Solar Terrestrial Relationships Thursday to members of the Zonta Club of Pontiac gathering at Hotel Waldron.

Associate professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, Dr. Dodson is assigned to the research staff of McMath-Hulbert Observatory.

The speaker told of the founding of McMath-Hulbert Observatory, the growth of its solar research program, and its development as an integral part of the University of Michigan.

Although many aspects of solar study are conducted at the observatory at Lake Angelus, Dr. Dodson's own work deals especially with the transient or temporary phenomena that can be seen and photographed with the specialized equipment of the observatory.

Solar flares, brightenings that occur suddenly and last for only a half hour or so are of particular interest to those beyond astronomical circles because of their association with interruptions in radio transmission and other aspects of world wide communications, the speaker noted.

The detailed association between events on the sun and events on the earth constitutes the field of investigation known as solar - terrestrial relationships, she said.

"Observations of solar flares in the light of hydrogen and calcium atoms are being supplemented by records of solar emission in the part of the spectrum that is usually called radio waves," Dr. Dodson said.

It was during radar observations in World War II, the speaker noted, that it was first realized the sun and other stars actually emitted the long wave length radiations that we generally associate with radio and radar.

The study of these emissions from the sun and stars forms the new field known as radio astronomy Dr. Dodson explained, and she expressed hope that solar observations in radio wavelengths would eventually help to clarify some of the very complicated problems presented in the field of solar terrestrial relationships.

"The sun is the only star that is close enough to the earth to permit observation of detailed activity on its surface.

Dr. HELEN W. DODSON

"However, there are many ways in which the sun is a quite average star. Therefore, it is possible that what happens on the sun may be typical of what happens on many stars."

Solar research thus plays a dual role. It helps us understand why certain things happen on the earth, and it also provides a very special insight into the nature of stars in general, said Dr. Dodson.

In conclusion the speaker said that McMath-Hulbert Observatory with its continuing efforts to improve the methods of solar research takes a leading part in the world - wide efforts to learn more about this nearest and sometimes "disturbing" star.

Dr. Dodson is to be the recipient of the Annie Jump Cannon Prize, the highest award given to women in the field of astronomy. This international award was presented to Dr. Dodson by the American Astronomical Society which this year elected her to its council.

During the business meeting Zonta president Mrs. Adrian Ish announced a change in the Feb. 10 meeting from the CAI building to Hotel Waldron.

Rabbi Sanford Saperstein was speaker for the Jan. 27 meeting.

4 Out of 10 Lose Their Job Chance

Appearance Causes Girl Most Trouble, Be Conservative!

Nervous days of interviewing are upon us. On the day it's slushiest or raining hardest, there's sure to be a most important school or job interview slated.

It seems as though these dismal days were selected for the interview season just to test your mettle — do you really want that job enough to get rained on? Are you really eager enough about this college to have your hair fall on the way.

As far as they're concerned, the answer ought to be yes. Even if it's your second choice job or school, every interview you get makes you more at ease and is therefore important. Besides, you just might need that second choice very badly.

One shouldn't need to be told how important your appearance is at this time. According to the director of the National Institute of Career Consultants, four out of ten career girls lose out on jobs because of their appearance.

Later, preparation for a cool, poised interview will be discussed, but right now, get ready for the first interview by concentrating on your looks. Airtight grooming will aid you in keeping your calm and help keep your morale high.

Be conservative. The first interview of this life-and-death sort is generally as nerve-tingling as the midnight horror show. But you can cut down on this by being sure the most moss-covered interviewer can find no fault in your looks.

The dress you know looks right is the correct choice. If you aren't much on hats, spend a dollar on a beret to cover your head.

You may never wear one again, but do it this once. Gloves, yes, and absolutely clean. Shoes, medium or flat heels, but not loafers. Conservative, well - maintained handbag.

Well - cleaned coat, minus bits of things on the collar and shoulders. Tuck a clean handkerchief in the coat pocket and one in the handbag, for nothing is more miserable than fumbling for a handkerchief while trying to maintain an interested, unrabbit-like face.

Best Not to Heed Financial Advice of Well-Meaning Friends, Writer Says

McBride Urges Family to Burn the Mortgage

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

"Well, we paid off our mortgage the way you are always telling us we should and as a result we have become business as well as social outcasts in our formerly friendly circle," writes E. N. L. from White Plains, N. Y.

"From time to time in your column," E. N. L. goes on, "you've told us how you, as a child, thought of the family mortgage as a demon spitting fire and devouring innocents.

"Since we'd been lucky and thrifty in recent months, we decided to empty our savings account and pay off the $6,500 mortgage. Having made the decision, we felt very virtuous but not for long.

"Our closest friend, a shrewd businessman, blew up when he heard the news and complained exasperatedly that we could better have used our money to buy blue-chip stocks and get dividends for our investment.

"Also there was something complicated that I never did understand about deducting the mortgage interest from income tax to bring down the percentage.

"The bank that held the mortgage didn't exactly argue but seemed rather aggrieved to find that we had a clause in our contract that let us escape a penalty for paying off before the mortgage ran its full course.

"Our parting, therefore, was cold and an hour later an engineer friend shook his head and sighed: 'That's too bad. Now you have no one who is really interested in protecting your interests. A big bank, with a stake in your property, would do something if the state or city wanted to raise assessed valuations or taxes.'

"The only ones to congratulate us so far were an elderly couple who, in time of financial difficulties, were foreclosed."

I am delighted, E. N. L., to join the elderly couple in commending your far-sightedness. No matter what the best brains tell you, I say pay off the mortgage when you have the cash or you'll be sorry.

I surely must have told you about the time just before the famous stock market crash in 1929 when I had all those paper profits and did not pay off the mortgage on that little house in Florida. And why didn't I? Because all my financially sage friends advised against it: They said that instead I must use my money to make more money.

Of course, the crash came, my paper profits and everything else I had—except the mortgage — were swept away and I had to ask for a moratorium because I couldn't even manage the interest—much less the monthly payments of principal. In fact, it was at least a year before I was back to normal.

Even then, do you think I could get my money-wise friends to admit that they had given me bad advice? Not for a minute. They didn't want to talk about it but when backed against the wall, they stubbornly murmured that such a thing happens only once in a hundred years. The implication was that this exception merely proved the rule. But I still say hurrah for you, E. N. L.

Round Pie Tin Now Replaced

DETROIT (UP) — Hardware stores have replaced the traditional round pie pan with a new type in the interests of equality.

The battles which formerly raged over whether the pie was cut into equal slices have been made obsolete by the new pan.

Shaped roughly like a rectangle, the pan holds seven cuts of pie and has notches on the rim to make sure that all seven cuts of pie are mathematically equal.

Sump Pump Functions Explained

By HUBBARD COBB

As we've said before, there are some basements which in spite of all you may do in the way of water-proofing, have the bad habit of filling up with water at certain times of the year.

This sort of infrequent flooding doesn't necessarily harm the house proper but it can ruin equipment in the basement such as the furnace burner, washing machines and other stuff of this sort. The way to prevent the basement from flooding is to install a sump pump.

A sump pump is a combination pump and electric motor with a float which starts the motor running as soon as the water level begins to rise.

The sump pump is usually installed in a sump which is usually nothing more than a hole in the basement floor. The best place to make this hole is at the lowest point of the basement floor.

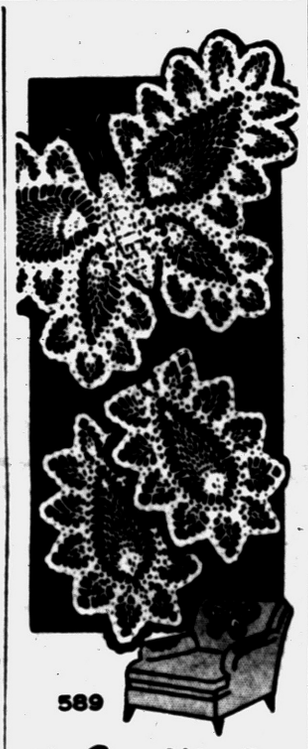

You can cut through the concrete with a cold chisel and then dig down about 30 inches. A section of 12 by 12 inch tile can then be inserted into the hole so that the top of the tile comes flush with the top of the basement floor.

Seal the bottom of the tile with a few inches of concrete and also seal the joint between the tile and the concrete floor. Now the sump pump can be set down into the tile and connected into an electric outlet.

A hose from the pump can be run out through a basement window to carry off the discharge from the pump. If all goes well when water starts coming into the basement it will flow over the floor into the sump pit. When the water in the pit begins to rise the sump pump starts to work and pumps it out.

It's all very simple. It's best not to anchor the sump pump down in anyway because if there should be a failure of electricity when you have a flood, the pump itself would be submerged and this doesn't do it any good.

Apothecary originally meant "warehouseman," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Teenagers Feel Like Wallflowers

Rarely Invited to Parties for Their Age Group

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Please tell us how we can be socially accepted instead of rejected. We're a group of average 16-year-old girls and we're rarely invited to the parties the girls and boys at school have.

And if we are, we seem to be what is commonly known as wallflowers. We try to be friendly and act as other teen-agers do, but we just seem to be out of place. Can you help us?"

Lots of people feel "out of place" when they're anywhere but on their own home ground. When the circumstances are different, the surroundings are strange and the companions are not too well known, they tend to freeze up with timidity and flutter with awkwardness.

They feel definitely out of their own element — like fish out of water.

But in a situation where they know the rules and the players, they're very much at ease, completely comfortable, gay and full of fun.

But, you ask, why should other kids your own age whose backgrounds are similar to your own, whose interests are like yours, make you feel so uncomfortably out of things? You all talk the same language, you ought to be able to have fun together.

Perhaps you're not intimates, you and your group, of the boys and girls who've invited you to parties. And perhaps the other guests are. On the surface it would look as though they have more to say to each other, and can say it more easily, just because they know each other better.

But, you know, they may stick together in self-defense. They may feel shy and timid, too, with you, the girls they don't know quite so well.

Frankly, it does seem silly to me to convince yourselves that you're forever rejected just because a couple of parties you've gone to have been flops. And because party invitations have been few and far between.

For all you know maybe no one had any real fun at those parties — they just weren't organized or run well. And perhaps there aren't more invitations because nobody knows how to entertain.

So why not make your own fun for yourselves instead of wishing others would do it for you? You're not alone in this — you're part of a group that feels as you do.

You've a nucleus for having your own parties, and you can include in them whichever of the boys and girls at school that you'd like.

Take turns having your parties on your own home ground where you'll be comfortable. And remember how it feels to be a stranger and see to it that your guests have real fun.

As your ability to have fun at parties increases, and your reputation for planning fun gets around, you'll find more and more invitations coming your way. Those wallflowers will be blooming right in the center of things!

Adults Can Not Expect 'Mommy Justice' in Life

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. K.'s brother makes nearly three times as much money as her husband. Her children resent the contrast between what their father can give them and what their uncle gives his family.

Recently, her ten-year-old son made a bitter attack upon his father when he was denied a duplicate of his cousin's expensive movie projector.

Mrs. K. writes, "After the boy was in bed, my husband accused me of also wanting the advantages my brother gives his family. He said he knew that I was jealous of my sister-in-law's new fur coat. . . ."

Is his accusation true?

Maybe. Lots of us resent the fact that we cannot share the money that belongs to adult brothers and sisters.

This is not surprising. Didn't we spend our most impressionable years with them? As children, didn't we learn to expect to share equally with them?

As a little sister, Mrs. K. got one wing of the turkey from which her brother was served the other. Her dessert was sliced from the same cake from which his was cut. And if she complained that her portion was less, didn't Mommy rush to make it equal?

Why then should she be surprised to find herself now expecting Life to behave like Mommy? Or to discover herself living with a bitter sense of injustice that it failed to mete Mommy-protection to her and make her grownup brother be "nice" to Sister?

Such hold-over childish expectations are in us all. The trick is knowing their source in dependence on Mommy. So that when we discover ourselves expecting fur coats from grownup brothers, we can recognize the infant in us yelling, "Mommy, come and make Buddy give me a bite of his cookie!"

And then we'll stop expecting, knowing that Mommy cannot make Buddy give us anything any more.

Let's come down to grownup earth here. Mrs. K.'s brother is not going to give her a fur coat. He's not going to buy his nephew a movie projector. When she accepts these facts, her son will. Like her, her children will recover joy in what they have in reality instead of losing it to dreams of something better from their uncle.

Now, everyone's appreciation is being thieved from them by Mrs. K.'s demand for Mommy-justice from Life.

She must try to see its infantile quality. Otherwise, she may go on respecting her discontent as important and tragic instead of seeing it as wasteful and unrealistic folly.

Wife Told to Attend Reception

She Can Be Polite to Sister-in-Law and Keep Peace

By EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "My husband's parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and his sister and her husband are giving a large reception at their house for them.

"We received an invitation to this party. However, this sister-in-law and I never got on very well and I haven't seen nor spoken to her for some time. My husband does see her on occasion alone.

"He would naturally like to go to this reception but says he will not go without me. I do not think it would be proper for me to go and accept the hospitality of someone with whom I am not on friendly terms.

"He thinks it would be far more improper for him to go alone and that my absence would be very noticeable and hard to explain to those who do not know the circumstances. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter."

On such a special occasion I think your absence would be very much noticed by everyone who knows the family and I think you owe it to your husband to go. It certainly should be easy enough to greet your sister-in-law quickly and say politely "how do you do" and pass on.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and girl (not engaged) stop seeing each other, what should be done about presents that she has received from him—particularly expensive items (such as a wrist watch and a portable radio)?

Are they to be returned? I have had several different opinions on this subject and would appreciate knowing what is correct.

Answer: Since they were not engagement presents but merely friendship presents, they do not have to be returned.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to eat bacon. May it be picked up and eaten in the fingers? It's almost impossible to eat very crisp bacon with a fork without it going into crumbs.

Answer: Bacon should not be picked up in the fingers, but if it is so crisp that it breaks at a touch of the fork, you may do so—especially at your family breakfast table.

Pork Chops Bake Well

Mrs. Jacobsen Adds Vegetables to Meat; Tops With Crumbs

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The Associated Press says that pork is one of your best bets for economical buying this weekend. With that in mind you might take advantage of a bargain and prepare pork chops the way Mrs. Leonard Jacobsen of Walled Lake does.

As a member of a Home Extension group, Mrs. Jacobsen is interested in crafts and home projects. She and her husband are both devotees of flying. Sharing the family spotlight are two small daughters.

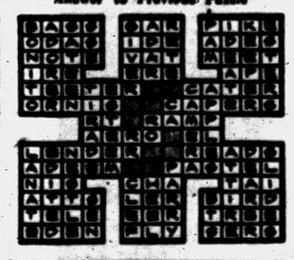

PORK CHOPS, CORN DRESSING

By Mrs. Leonard Jacobsen

4-6 pork chops
1 cup celery, chopped
1 cup onions, chopped
1 cup green pepper, chopped
1 can corn
1 cup white sauce
½ cup bread crumbs

Brown pork chops and place in a baking dish. Brown celery, onions, and green pepper. Place over chops and add corn and white sauce. Top with crumbs and bake in moderate oven 1 hour.

Northern Birds Spotted Recently in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Flocks of evening grosbeaks, rarely seen south of Canada, are being spotted in Ann Arbor.

Audubon Society membes have turned in 15 counts on the brilliantly hued black and yellow birds.

Dr. Harry W. Hann, assistant professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, reported seeing one flock of 29 in his backyard.

The finch-like warblers, named for their large beaks, have been seen as far south as Owosso and Sturgis in the past 25 years, but never in large numbers.

An Audubon spokesman said severe weather conditions in the north may account for the birds' presence this far south.

Warns Skiing Mishaps Common in Afternoon

LANSING (UP) — The Tourist Council had a warning for skiers today:

"Most accidents occur late in the afternoon; mainly because skiers are tired, snow conditions have become faster and growing shadows tend to conceal treacherous spots on the hill—for this reason: never take one more run."

Game, Elections Keep Schools Busy

every step, and toothpicks were needed to hold open the eyelids of seniors Monday morning. A toboggan party at Barbara Johnson's house left them too tired for words, but in spite of it all, the seniors want to do it again.

A gleam showed brightly in the eyes of the girls' basketball team this week as they eyed their perfect four-year record with the remark, "Better luck next year, St. Mike's." The Lambs outplayed the Michaelites 28-10 last Sunday and are now seeking another victory this Sunday against St. Mary of Mount Clemens.

There weren't quite so many "nervous breakdowns" Thursday night when parents of juniors and seniors reported for grade cards as there were after the freshman and sophomore get-together.

"We're beginning to get into the swing of it," said parents, while juniors and seniors gave silent sighs of relief as they looked over their parents' shoulders and realized the final exams came out better than they had expected.

Freshmen and sophomores collected their report cards and IQ tests early Thursday morning and then joined upper classmen in celebrating their free day.

Walls echoed this morning with cheers—being practiced by cheerleaders. The girls say only perfection will do for the big game against St. Mike's tonight, while Captain Jerry Bradley commented that only a win would satisfy his teammates. The only regret being held by the team and the high school is the loss of Del Chavez, who is unable to play because of too many semesters.

5 Fires Cost Only $46

GREENVILLE (UP) — Fire Chief Frank Van Atta reports a total of only $46 in losses were recorded in five Greenville fires for the month of January.

New calculations place the height of Mount Everest at 29,028 feet above sea level.

An Oakland County Circuit Court order is being sought by the City of Royal Oak to force removal of a building at 203 E. Farnum Ave., Royal Oak, which it terms "unfit for human occupancy" and a fire hazard.

The structure, the city alleges, is owned by the Falcon Investment Co., of Pleasant Ridge. No date has been set for the onwers to appear and attempt to show the building should not be condemned.

Your Heart's in Your Hands

Here's How Nature Works to Heal Coronary Attack

By DR. WILLIAM A. BRAMS

NEW YORK (NEA)—The world's most miraculous engine is the powerful human heart. And the persons who know this best are those who have had a heart attack.

As they fight their way back to health, they begin — and are often surprised — to learn that their greatest ally is often the heart itself.

In few diseases does Nature herself do so much to make amends as in coronary thrombosis. In many, many cases, a man has a heart attack but does not know it, gets better, has another and perhaps more than that, recovers each time and lives to a ripe old age. When he dies, it's from something else.

His heart has been healing itself, without waiting for help from either patient or doctor.

Just because this can happen does not mean you don't have to bother with competent medical care. Every case is a law unto itself, and your attack may be bad enough to call for supplementary measures, such as medicines and rest in bed.

But the stories of people who have got better by themselves are encouraging. They testify to the fact that, apart from measures you and your doctor may take, your heart is making tremendous efforts to mend itself.

Before you can understand this, you must know why the heart is ill. And what explanation simply, is that one of its vital feed lines has been blocked by a clot of blood.

The coronary arteries, with their fine mesh of capillaries, form a network all around and through your heart. The obstructing clot may lodge itself anywhere in the system. If it forms in either main artery, or one of their branches, the situation is bad indeed.

The network from that point on must suddenly go without its oxygen-bringing blood, and the tissues begin to die. Whatever their work, they now perform it badly. Unless they can in some manner recapture a blood supply very quickly, they will not function again at all.

But your heart has amazing power to make the best of a bad situation. Soon after your attack, a tremendous burst of activity starts as it finds new modes for carrying on.

It begins to re-route its fuel, building new roads to by-pass the block.

By the time the process is finished, an entire section of your heart may be linked with a whole new highway system for bringing in needed blood.

At the same time, your body's policemen or soldiers — the white cells of your boood — are attacking the damaged tissue, as well as the clot itself.

You will remember that soon after your attack, your temperature rose one or two degrees. You may think of fever as a sign of illness — as indeed it is — but in a subtle way it is also a sign of health.

It shows that bits of the clot, and bits of the damaged tissue, are being reduced to fluid and absorbed by the many white blood cells.

The healing process is slow. Very often, however, the efforts are so successful that the clot is done away with entirely, so that the artery is virtually restored to its previous condition. This is the best possible outcome.

Very often, too, the repair work ends in a compromise; not complete recovery, but a good working solution.

While the clot has not been removed, at least it is shrunken in size, or the new vessels growing into it have formed a series of tunnels.

This is the place for a word of caution. Let us suppose you are very fortunate: that the clot is removed completely and your heart heals well. You must not forget, however, that the hardening of the arteries is not undone.

That condition, which brought on the clotting in the first place, will not improve and we know of no measures to stop it. Thus you must face the fact that the stage is set for a possible second clot.

But in one way you're better off — for now at least you know that your arteries are not in good order, and can take proper heed of the warning. We have no way of detecting the process of hardening of the arteries, and your heart attack was he only means of learning what was going on.

Finally, as elsewhere in your body, a strong scar forms over the injury — in roughly five to eight weeks.

This is the bright side of coronary thrombosis: the fact that in this disease, more than in any other, you can safely count on your body to make every effort to mend things.

Tomorrow: How you—and the doctor—can help.

Margaret's Hair in Upsweep Style Dazzles Trinidad

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—Trinidad society buzzed today over Princess Margaret's new evening hairdo—an "Empress Josephine" upsweep that's just the thing to support a tiara.

Margaret wore the coiffure last night at a state banquet Gov. Sir Hubert Rance gave in her honor.

A royal party spokesman said the hairdo was the creation of Rene, noted London hairdresser who is accompanying the princess on her month's good will tour of the British West Indies.

Rene, the spokesman said, wanted to match Margaret's "gay" personality. He raised the back of the hair to "give a touch of sophistication" and to support the diamond tiara she wore.

Margaret planned to see a good deal more of Trinidad today. The schedule included opening a new highway to be named after her and attending a children's rally.

Hartrick Asserts That Good Citizens Must Speak Out

Probe Puzzle Up to Senate

Role of Budget Bureau in Dixon-Yates Contract May Be Investigated

WASHINGTON (UP)—It was up to the full Senate today to determine whether the budget bureau's role in negotiating the Dixon-Yates power contract should be investigated.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee said the matter was the responsibility of the Government Operations Committee.

The chairman of that committee, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), said he would investigate only if ordered to do so by the full Senate.

Charges that the budget bureau, an agency of the presidency, "overstepped its legitimate authority" and interfered in the contract negotiations were made yesterday by Democrats on the Atomic Energy Committee.

Under the controversial contract, Dixon-Yates would build a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., and transmit power into the government-owned Tennessee Valley Authority system, replacing TVA power now furnished to the AEC at Paducah, Ky.

Democrats recommended that the AEC withdraw from or cancel the Dixon-Yates agreement and that Congress investigate the budget bureau's role in the negotiations.

Other congressional developments:

Patronage—Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt) gave his explanation of why Republicans are having patronage troubles.

He said an inner circle of career employes from former Democratic administrations sets up job qualifications so only Democrats with prior experience in the federal service can get jobs.

He said he doubted that this was "a party matter" but that "it works out that way."

CIA—The hush-hush Central Intelligence Agency's operations were delved into secretly last year by a Senate subcommittee.

This was revealed yesterday when Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), of the Senate Armed Services Committee, announced appointment of a new subcommittee.

The new subcommittee will "keep in touch with the operations" of the government's top intelligence outfit.

Civil Defense—Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo) have introduced legislation that would establish a Joint Congressional committee on civil defense.

The committee would be composed of seven members each from the House and Senate.

U.S. Personal Income Hits Peak in 1954

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spendable personal income—the amount left after taxes—reached a new record of 254 billion dollars last year despite increased unemployment, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

The figure was about 3½ billions above the previous record set in 1953, largely because of reduced income tax rates which became effective last year, the department said.

Total personal income also reached a new high of 286½ billions, up 400 millions over 1953. The Department said increased dividend and interest payments and unemployment benefits offset a drop in wage and salary payments.

Farm income continued its decline, dropping from $16,100,000,000 in 1953 to $15,800,000,000 last year.

Judge Explains 5th Amendment

Says U.S. Should Seek Balance Between Duty, Personal Liberties

Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick yesterday answered "No" to the question, "Can a good citizen, for self - interest, expediency or moral scruples, refuse to speak?"

Addressing Pontiac Rotarians at noon in the Hotel Waldron, Judge Hartrick summarized the background of, and current problems relating to, the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

A clause in the controversial amendment preventing persons from being forced to testify against themselves has allowed many to avoid answering questions put to them by congressional committees investigating subversive activities, the judge explained.

Other salient features of the amendment listed by the judge are, a person must "be presented with the charge against him" and not be "deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

He pointed out that congressional investigations to develop legislative programs and uncover fraud in government and elsewhere have paid off in the past.

"What presently may be wrong may not be the investigation itself, but the way in which it is conducted. . .There is nothing that warrants going on fishing expeditions into private affairs and matters having no significance or relationship to public welfare or national security."

Congressional investigations are often not conducted in an atmosphere which makes for accurate testimony from witnesses, he indicated.

"A witness cannot acquit himself well, it would seem, in the face of cameras, microphones, flashing bulbs and numerous other disturbing circumstances."

Publicity given to calling of witnesses seems often to infer guilt simply because a person is summoned to testify, Judge Hartrick stated.

"Everyone who opposes the senator from Wisconsin (McCarthy) is not a Communist nor is everyone who favors him an enemy of civil liberties."

Unlike a grand jury, a congressional investigation has no power to grant a person immunity from prosecution if he answers questions, the jurist said.

He believes this may be the reason why many stand behind the Fifth Amendment and refuse to speak out.

Once the amendment - cloak is waived, a witness must answer all queries and may "by false testimony. . .be guilty of contempt and perjury."

A person who then admits he attended a meeting can't refuse to tell who was there, "and by so doing becomes an informer, unwillingly, against persons he holds to be as innocent of wrongdoing as himself."

If a person attends a meeting where there are known subversive participants "he may not be believed as to his innocence of intent and be subjected to indictment as a joint participant in a criminal conspiracy."

On the other hand, the judge explained, refusal to answer "may result in loss of social standing, his pob and public disrepute all because he may have become involved in what appeared to be . . . a harmless association."

In the face of this, despite self-interest and the desire to protect friends, the good citizen still must speak out, Judge Hartrick declared.

"We have duties as freedom-loving individuals to speak for the public good and in times of peril. This does not mean we have to. . .discard our personal liberties which are our heritage.

"There is a logical balance between duty and privilege. We must find it so that good will in human relationships will catch up with scientific discovery."

JA Firms Buzz as Local Youngsters Learn Business

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

If it weren't that there were as many girls as boys inside, a casual passerby might think the converted double store at 53 Mill St. was a transplanted high school woodshop.

And if he walked inside, whiffed the fresh sawdust zipping from one of the power saws, then saw a teenage lass operating the machine, he blinks his eyes even more.

But in Junior Achievement youngsters of both sexes chose the jobs they like best and work at them to their heart's content.

Through JA the youngsters learn both the theory and practice of the business world.

Before getting down to the process of assembling or packaging their product, the members of a JA company hold a 20-minute strategy meeting.

They hear financial reports and plan what is to be done that night, or afternoon. (Most groups meet from 7 to 9 p. m., but two meet from 4 to 6 p. m. because of space and equipment limitations.)

Then they get to work. Everybody has a task.

If it's a manufactured item they sell, the members begin producing, assembling and packing the items. Others take to the streets, hawking the wares door to door.

This is Junior Achievement Week, and in Pontiac this year, JA is comprised of 12 separate companies, each sponsored by a local business, industrial or civic organization.

The firms went into business with approximately 30 members each in October and will close their books in May.

If they make a profit, the holders of the $100 worth of 50-cent stock will get a dividend. If they don't, it will be no great loss to anyone, since no one can buy more than five shares.

In either case, the experience will have been worth plenty to the high school-age youngsters.

William J. Dean, of the JA-sponsoring Rotary Club, describes the organization's purpose this way:

"The 4H teaches kids what goes on in farm life, as does the Future Farmers of America organization. Schools teach the trades through the manual training department.

"But there was never anything to teach the youngsters about business. Junior Achievement, through its learn-by-doing activities, fills that need."

When a JA firm is formed, it is not completely on its own. The sponsoring company provides advisors to offer counsel on sales, finance and production.

The products of the Pontiac JA companies are diversified and, with one exception, have no connection with the product manufactured by the sponsor.

Jarmco, sponsored by Baldwin Rubber Co., is the exception. It produces rubber door mats, using material supplied by Baldwin.

The E-Z Sausage Shovel Co., sponsored by Community National Bank, makes a heavy-duty spatula, while Sojac Specialty Products, sponsored by Standard Oil Co., turns out wooden bread trays.

Other firms, their sponsors and products are:

Teensco (Pontiac State Bank), traction sand for motorists; Handi-Dandi Novelty Co. (Pontiac Motor Division), miniature wheelbarrow planters; PFM Enterprise (Detroit Edison Co.), door decoration.

Rite-O-Pad (Fisher Body Division), memo pad holder; Plastico (GMC Truck & Coach Division) plastic hook holder; Match-O-Matic (Michigan Bell Telephone Co.), wooden match pack holder; Jaco Novelty Co. (Exchange Club), costume jewelry, and Kacteen (Rotary Club), formerly Christmas ornaments, now bird houses.

A complete exhibit of JA products is on display at the Consumers Power Co. main office on West Lawrence street.

Youngsters at County Children's Home Are Forgotten by Public Most of Time

Youngsters at the Oakland County Children's Home, swamped with attention at Christmas and some of the other big holidays, are mostly forgotten by the general public during the rest of the year.

So says Supt. William O. Moulton Jr. in issuing an appeal for persons with entertaining skills or hobbies to share them with the children.

Moulton is trying to organize special evening classes for the youngsters, who range in age from infancy to 16.

He is seeking persons with skill in such things as painting, dancing, singing, wood-working or piano-playing to take part in the classes for an hour one evening a week.

Men or women talented in the sports field or familiar enough with athletics to talk on the subject and give pointers are also sought by the superintendent.

He explains that the home works with limited funds for schooling, no money being allotted for special training in the arts, handicraft or recreation.

The home welcomes, too, any person or group wishing to present a program or skit which might help break the routine of life at the home.

For instance, last Tuesday Dave Norton of WPON came out and treated the tots to a magic show. On Valentine's Day, Neil Kimler and his band will play for a party there.

Residents of the children's home are chiefly dependent or neglected children. They live in a main house, accommodating 100 youngsters, and two cottages, each housing 20.

They go to school right there, from kindergarten through 10th grade. Education is supervised by the Waterford Township school system.

Moulton may be contacted at the home, 2050 Telegraph Rd., or by telephone, FE 2-8313.

Adlai Stevenson Feted in Capital

Steals Spotlight From Margaret Truman at Dem Club Tea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Margaret Truman lost the spotlight to Adlai Stevenson at a party in her honor yesterday but she took it with good-humored grace.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee was invited to stop by the Woman's National Democratic Club, and did.

Stevenson, officially in town to get admitted to practice before the Supreme Court, was spearheaded through the crowd of women—plus some men—at the club to greet its president, Mrs. Oscar Chapman.

"What do I do now—where is the receiving line?" asked Stevenson.

Former President Truman's quick-thinking daughter spoke up: "I've got news for you. You're it."

And he was. Margaret, Mrs. Chapman, Rep. Leonor Sullivan (D-Mo), and Mrs. Stuart Symington and Mrs. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., wives of Missouri's senators, were eased into the background as he was welcomed.

Miss Truman, guest of honor at a Kansas-Missouri tea at the club, looked smart in a black frock and off-the-face mauve-pink satin hat with gloves to match.

Talking to friends and reporters, she said she was returning to New York for some TV appearances and contracts for vocal record-making. In April she sets out on a concert tour in the midwest and south. No, she isn't engaged

Broken Leg Can't Keep This Man Down Long

BARTON, O. (UP)—Andrew Timko fell on the icy walk in front of his home yesterday and broke his leg.

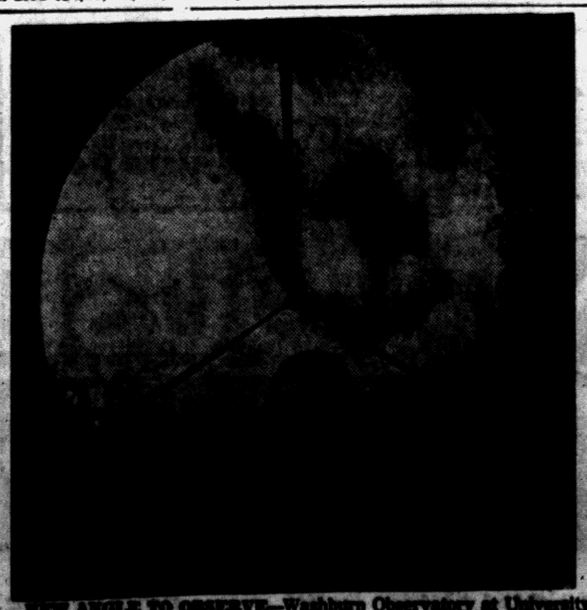

A few minutes after he crawled into the house he amazed witnesses by walking back out to his car and driving away.

The broken leg was an artificial one.

JUST LIKE MARY—Tommy has a little lamb, just like Mary did, and it follows him wherever he goes. Tom Parker of Monahans, Texas draws the stares of passersby as he walks down Houston streets followed by his pet, named South Bound. Tom, 12, and the lamb were in Houston for the fat stock show.

NEW ANGLE TO OBSERVE—Washburn Observatory at University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., looked like this to a very wide-angle camera (140 degrees). Picture was taken at night without artificial light—a four-minute exposure at F-2.

7th Fleet Waits and Wonders Near Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The U.S. 7th Fleet, cocked and primed for heavy duty and vast risks, rode at anchor or cruised at marktime today, still waiting and still wondering.

The fleet built around several large carriers has been on station for well over a week now for some action in support of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese and to put a stop to Red encroachment in the Formosa Straits.

At first, the job seemed to be merely the removal of troops and equipment plus some 15,000 civilians from the Tachen Islands, 200 miles north of here.

This, to a fleet like the 7th, was a small operation, but it held billion-dollar dangers because it would thrust American forces for the first time into direct participation in the Chinese civil war and would certainly take them into close shore waters that the Reds consider theirs.

Whether the Communists would do anything about it was the question. If they did, almost certainly some kind of war would be touched off, maybe just a localized three-party air-sea scrap or maybe a global atomizer.

The evacuation decision first seemed to be snagged by disagreement between the United States and the Nationalists. President Eisenhower, in his fight-if-we-must resolution passed by Congress, agreed to help deploy Chiang's troops and to hold such other territory as might be essential to the defense of the major island bastions—Formosa and the mid-channel Pescadores. After the Reds took the islet of Yikiangshan, eight miles north of the Tachens, the United States feared those islands could not be held longer except at unwarranted cost.

The United States reportedly wanted the Tachens evacuated and the troops and gear saved for use elsewhere. Chiang reportedly was willing, although he felt the islands could be held. But in exchange he wanted the United States to promise specifically to help him hold two other sets of offshore islands, Matsu and Quemoy. The United States seemed unwilling to go beyond the wording of the Eisenhower resolution.

With a stalemate developing in this area of negotiation, another cause for delay developed when the United Nations, and to some extent the Commonwealth prime ministers' meeting in London, began urging and exploring possibilities of a cease-fire or at least of an agreement for an unchallenged withdrawal. Now Red Premier Chou En-lai has refused unequivocably to consider a cease-fire and hopes for any other agreement from Peiping look measly.

However, news from London indicates that new efforts are being made.

Stevens Starts 3rd Year in Job

Hassle With McCarthy Continues; Army Head Refuses to Oust GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert T. Stevens starts today on a third year as secretary of the Army, having survived two of the roughest years served by any top government figure in recent times.

When Stevens came to the Pentagon two years ago today, he was hailed by the Army as a man who had worn its uniform in two world wars and by the Eisenhower administration as a successful industrialist who could place the Army's far-flung enterprises on a business-like basis.

But Stevens got personally involved in a bitter quarrel, which is still continuing, with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The secretary has heard Congressmen say he should quit in the best interests of the Army. There have been many rumors he is on the way out.

The textile industrialist from New Jersey made a hit with the Army when he moved into his Pentagon office because he promptly took up the crusade for better treatment of all men in uniform.

And when Stevens early last year accused McCarthy of abusing one of his generals, the secretary's stock rose further among Army men grown restive under the senator's charges that the Army coddled Communists.

Two reports from the subcommittee which umpired the row criticized Stevens, with the Democratic minority less severe on him than the GOP majority.

Just yesterday the Pentagon made public a letter in which the secretary told McCarthy he would not—as the senator had demanded—give a dishonorable discharge to Pfc. Marvin Belsky, due for discharge today.

Belsky, a draftee, has declined on grounds of possible self-incrimination to answer questions about communism before the subcommittee McCarthy headed in the last Congress. He once was promoted to corporal, but the promotion was later revoked and the colonel who authorized it reprimanded.

Stevens' new letter, dated Feb. 1, asked McCarthy to submit before today "any evidence or information upon which evidence can be developed with reference to any alleged subversive conduct on the part of Belsky." McCarthy could not be reached for comment.

Stevens acted on his own initiative in the early stages of his feud with McCarthy. But as the row blew up into storm proportions, Secretary of Defense Wilson and President Eisenhower voiced full confidence in him.

Top Motto for February: I Like Me Best of All

CHICAGO (AP) — The motto for February by a Chicago group known as "Let's Have Better Mottoes Assn." is: "Of all my wife's relations, I like myself the best."

Edwin A. Rowland, the association's secretary, said the slogan took first place in a photo finish with: "It's only 18 inches between a pat on the back and a kick in the pants."

Rowland said the club meets once a month—"for no particular reason."

Tornados have been reported in every U.S. state and in every month of the year.

But What About Levine?

GIs Pick Up Black Eyes From Anything Moving

By MARGARET LATROBE

The Army is still having its troubles. Last year McCarthy gave them an earful. Now, apparently, they are giving themselves an eyeful. The post hospital of an Eastern Army center reports that trainees have been struck in the eye with the folowing objects:

"Exploding boiled egg. Top of fire hydrant. Spinning top. Ice pack. Blade of propeller of toy airplane. Corner of studio couch. Tail of German shepherd dog. Lunch pail. Yellow paint. One chicken. And Irving Levine."

From this oddly irreveiant collection of optical mishaps there would seem to be plenty of ammunition for a full-scale investigation. How can you get hit in the eye with a toy airplane or a dog's tail, senator? On an Army post?

Of course, at home it is much simpler to receive a poke in the eye, either inadvertence or intent. The next-door neighbors for instance were entertaining relatives for a week and courteously gave up their own bedroom. And in reporting what happened I have no wish to incur the wrath of double bed manufacturers. Some people prefer the double. Others favor the single.

The one in question was a hinged arrangement of twin beds attached to one headboard. Whereupon the guests slept easily, while their haggard hosts repaired to a three-quarter couch in the dining room.

It seems tht the lady's husband slumbered restlessly in the makeshift bunk, and was wont to flail his arms about as he dreamed of unpaid bills and trouble at the office.

Without any intention of blacking anyone's eye, let alone his innocent wife's, he nonetheless succeeded in giving her a shiner which nothing but time could erase. They tried beefsteak and plenty of pancake makeup, to no avail.

And in order not to give the visitors a guilt complex about having taken the best beds, the lady had to pretend she collided with a door in the dark.

From which the only conclusion is — don't ask the relations to spend the night. Or join the Army and see the world through your good eye.

The post hospital at least keeps accurate records of how these things happen, and doubtless stands ready to apply the poultice. My only worry about the Army is — you can avoid explosive boiled eggs and German shepherd dogs, but what about Irving Levine?

The coed's trip followed a magazine article about Prince Ranier's interest in American girls.

Says U.S. Air Force Can Meet Red Attack

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The top U.S. Air Force officer in the Far East today declared Red China had the capability of starting a war and said, "We have to be ready to fight if it starts. We are maintaining that readiness."

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Far East Air Forces, dodged the question whether in his opinion there would be a war with these words:

"I can only say we are ready."

Partridge told a crowded news conference the Chinese Reds had an estimated 2,000 planes and said about half of them could be readily disposed against the Chinese Nationalists.

He estimated that Chinese Communist and Soviet air strength in the Far East at 8,000 planes, numerically far superior to the U.S. Far East Air Forces, but added, "In combat we could take care of them."

AFL Grocery Clerks Fighting Store Group

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A strike which may idle 1,000 grocery clerks and close stores was called yesterday by the AFL Grocery Clerks Union. It posted picket lines at two of the 400 member stores of the Retail Grocers Assn.

In a "one for all and all for one" retaliation, the association called on its members to lay off all AFL clerks for the duration of the strike.

The union seeks a $3-a-week raise and limitations on store managers taking over clerks' duties. The association offered $2 but refused to accept the managerial limitation.

Last night the association announced that hundreds of clerks had been laid off. Francis Tessier, association secretary, predicted that all of the 1,000 to 1,100 clerks of Local 648 would be idle today.

The strike offers no threat to the San Francisco food supply, since the city has 1,700 grocery stores.

Ruling Ups Enlistments

WASHINGTON (INS) — The end of GI benefits after Jan. 31 brought a fourfold increase in the number of enlistments in the Army during January, the Pentagon reports. The Air Force also benefited from increased enlistments by those anxious to get in under the gun. The Pentagon said there were 6,000 enlistments in the Army during December and 25,000 in January.

Jets Collide, 1 Killed

Colombia Quiet Despite 'Siege'

President Keeps State of Emergency in Effect After 20 Months

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—All is quiet and peaceful in Colombia these days, but President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla continues to maintain the state of siege under which he has ruled for 20 months.

And he has made it clear that he has no intention of holding congressional elections and restoring normal political life before his own term expires in August 1958. What will happen after that is the subject of wide speculation in Colombia.

Under the constitution, a president is not eligible to succeed himself, but some liberal opponents of the 54-year-old President say that a new party, similar to the Peronista organization in Argentina, is being organized quietly with the aim of perpetuating Rojas Pinilla in office.

Supporters of the president deny this, but they are wary about discussing 1958 and afterwards.

This correspondent recently accompanied the president and his leading cabinet members on a sort of airborne whistle stop tour of Colombia's great eastern plains.

Everywhere the presidential party promised flag-waving throngs new roads, new schools and other improvements amid cheers of "Viva Rojas Pinilla."

He credits music for the life he has lived since then at his home in Hillsboro, Ind. Propped up on a wheeled cot, he spends hours at the piano. He is author of 300 copyrighted songs, mostly religious with titles like "Jesus at My Side," "My Supplication," "Ring Out, Church Bells, Ring Out" and "Christ Was Born in Bethlehem." But also writes popular-type songs. One of the best known has a title which tells his story—"I Feel Like Living."

For Ray It's Just 'Bye, Old Wife, Hi, New Flame

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Band leader Ray Anthony is due back in Hollywood from Mexico City tomorrow with a divorce decree in his pocket and a new flame at the airport to greet him.

A spokesman at 20th Century-Fox Studio, where Anthony is making a movie, said he went to Mexico to divorce his former band vocalist Dee Keating. They were married in Denver in 1939, separated in New York last August and have no children.

The studio source said a financial settlement was reached, giving her a cash sum plus $1,000 a month until she remarries. Anthony, who played 251 one-night stands last year, blames the breakup on incompatibility.

The girl at the airport is to be Mamie Van Doren. Some close friends say she and Anthony are planning to wed, but she says "Definitely not."

French Conflicts Fan Fire of Arab Unrest in Africa

ALGIERS, French North Africa (AP)—The problems arising from a divided and almost immobile French National Assembly are complicated by a conflicting two-way policy for North Africa. At the same time that France is trying to graft Algeria onto herself, she is agreeing to early home rule for Tunisia and, later on, for Morocco.

If Tunisia gets home rule first, will the nationalists in Algeria sit quietly by?

Just to make France's problems more difficult, the Communist radio in Budapest and the pan-Arab radios in Cairo, Beirut and Karachi bombard North Africa with daily broadcasts inciting nationalist demonstrations and terrorism. Even Franco's radio in Spanish Morocco takes a daily kick.

Aside from petty party squabbles in the Assembly itself, the government is heavily influenced by hundreds of thousands of French colonists in North Africa. They live there. They are tough people. They have little sympathy with the nationalist yearnings for self-rule. They admit they have a privileged position and intend to keep it if they can.

They have brought high-quality farming to North Africa which the Arabs would not likely have produced. The increased yields from French farming provide much of the food for the increasing Arab population. And the more Arabs there are, the more they cry for a share of the land the French are farming.

It is a problem which calls for money, might and a clear policy. France is short of all three.

Many Arab eyes are turned toward America to help. Much American capital is ready to go into Morocco if it can be assured of stable conditions. Millions of dollars of foreign capital moved into Morocco right after the war and Casablanca boomed like a mining town. But the flow has almost stopped.

I met one American investor hoping to buy resort property in Agadir, on the south Atlantic coast of Morocco.

"It's the future Miami of Europe," he said, "if these charters wouldn't scare away all the tourists." He was pretty unhappy.

American military figures have a worried eye on the problem. America has important air bases, not only in French Africa but in nominally independent Libya, farther east.

Those bases are also part of the daily Communist radio target.

"The Russians are afraid of those bases. They can't get at them directly, but they can endanger them by stirring up France and Morocco," That was the analysis of Abdel Hai el Kittani of Fez, often referred to as the "Moslem Pope of the West."

America is backing France in North Africa, hoping evidently against hope that she will make those decisions which will restore a happy and progressive climate in North Africa. But France is handcuffed by her own internal conflicts and animosities, especially in the Assembly.

In one big sense, France is in a better position than she was in Indochina. Indochina was far away. Africa is close. Moreover, there is no big unfriendly power close to Africa in the way that Communist China was close to North Indochina, to bring in arms and to train the rebel fighters. That is important.

But in other ways France is worse off. Her prestige went down with defeat in Indochina. Moreover, home rule or independence is going to African territory on all sides—in Uganda, Libya, the Gold Coast, and in the Sudan.

As you wander through these three North African territories, so isolated from Paris and yet so heavily involved in its petty internal squabbles, you begin to sense the hopelessness felt by many Moslems, and by many French.

You see the naked and abandoned columns of ancient Roman cities and you begin to wonder if you aren't witnessing another "decline and fall of the Roman Empire."

It isn't that bad yet. It isn't as bad as was Indochina, but there are many of the same unsolved problems and contradictory situations, the same bewildered local populations waiting to see which way to jump. The time to act won't be there forever.

Maybe the Air Force Saw a Gooney Bird

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—This may disappoint the Air Force a bit, but that story about eagles nesting on Cathedral Rock just ain't so.

Air Secretary Talbott had mentioned a report at a news conference last week of eagles atop this dominant landmark of the new Air Force Academy site. He appeared pleased at the natural symbolism.

Newsmen hovered over the rock in a helicopter yesterday and found it barren of nests. But an odd formation at the east end of Cathedral Rock looks like a big nesting bird when viewed from certain points.

Police Top Victim's Tale With One of Their Own

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Harold L. Candelara, 29, had a sad story to tell police early yesterday: He said a man whom he had offered a lift home tried to beat him up on the way, then drove off in his car.

But Candelara's story was even sadder today. He's in Salt Lake City jail. Police, in a routine check of their records, found he owed them nine days for an unserved traffic conviction.

Auto Show Attendance Breaking 1953 Records

DETROIT (INS)—Attendance at Detroit's Auto Show today was more than it was for a comparable period a year ago.

Yesterday's attendance was 23,028.

The over-all total is now 186,638 compared to 184,845 for a similar period last year.

Senator Calls Trade Bait for Chou in U.N.

DENVER (AP) — Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev) says that "many high government officials in Washington are committed to the recognition of Red China" and are "dangling free trade as the bait."

Malone made the remark at a panel discussion at the Colorado Mining Assn. convention. He later told a newsman:

"Many substantial people in Washington, including Supreme Court Justice Douglas, want recognition of Red China. They're conditioning industrialists throughout the nation with the idea of more trade to get them ready for recognition."

Dog Could Be Arrested for Destroying Evidence

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore plainclothesmen Edwin Taylor and John Cunningham reported that on a routine check of a poolroom yesterday they saw the operator throw out a scratch sheet and a bookmaking slip.

The poolroom man's dog immediately began eating up the evidence, they said. However, they managed to salvage enough to show $53 in payoffs and $26 in horse plays.

Fined for Cleanliness

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP)—A woman who said she needed a bath admitted shoplifting a bar of soap from a store here. She was fined $15.50 yesterday.

Rita, Dick Duck Out of Spotlight

Crooner's Ex - Wives Complicate Return to Hollywood

The secrecy may be due to the $2,500 bench warrant that has been outstanding against Haymes since last July, when he failed to appear in court and explain why he should not be held in contempt for alimony arrearage to one of his former wives, Mrs. Nora Eddington Flynn.

Haymes has had considerable child suport legal trouble with his other ex-wife Mrs. Joanne Dru Ireland. But he is scheduled to be a script writer for a film that Miss Hayworth will make soon at a Hollywood studio, so there may be negotiations to settle his legal obligations.

The crooner's lawyer Bartley Crum said he had reached agreement with Mrs. Flynn's counsel S. S. Hahn so that Haymes could return to California. But Hahn said this was predicated on Miss Hayworth guaranteeing payment of the back alimony the singer owes Mrs. Flynn.

"Otherwise, there will be no settlement and the bench warrant will be served," said Hahn.

Tax Receipts Show Value of Tourists

LANSING (AP) — What the tourist seasons mean in terms of money to Michigan's northern vacationland was outlined in a report just issued by the Michigan Tourist Council.

The council compared January 1954 sales tax receipts with receipts of July 1954 in 50 northern counties and came up with these findings:

January receipts totaled $1,832,398. July receipts were $2,912,478 — an increase of 59 per cent.

In the Upper Peninsula, July receipts were about 51 per cent greater than the January receipts.

July receipts in some counties were 300 per cent higher than the January receipts.

Was Rubinstein's Death Result of Kidnap Plot?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Serge Rubinstein was to have been kidnaped and taken out to sea on a tramp freighter—not murdered.

Enemies in the business world had hired kidnap experts to tie him up, toss him aboard this freighter which was in their hire, and shanghai him.

Then the ship's skipper—he was also a part of the plot—was to notify the Coast Guard that he'd found "some stowaway aboard."

The hated financial wizard was then to have been delivered to U. S. immigration authorities.

And for the rest of his life he would have been "a man without a country," beating his head against the technicalities of the law, trying to get back into the U. S. to resume his money-grabbing ways.

This theory of Rubinstein's sensational death—fantastic as it may seem—has been turned over to police—seriously—by one of his few associates, who remained a friend to the last, this writer learned.

This man—one of the few Rubinstein intimates willing to talk candidly—thinks Rubinstein may have died of a heart attack in the excitement of the plot which he believes went wrong.

Or—says this informant—the kidnapers may have had to kill him when he refused to go along with what revenge-seeking competitors considered the cruelest joke they could ever play on a man without business ethics.

The Russian-born Rubinstein had his own troubles over deportation. Up to the time of his death, he'd resisted successfully, but a deportation order against him still was pending in the courts.

In the 30s, he had picked up a Portuguese passport—by fraud—and entered this country by way of Canada in 1938. This government never recognized the passport.

During his draft-dodging troubles, he belatedly claimed that he was exempt from service because he was a citizen of Portugal, a neutral country.

Tuesday, Rubinstein's friend described the strange plot concocted as a means to succeed where the government failed.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I heard this plan outlined in detail some weeks ago by a top business man as coming from a business rival of Serge's," this informant told this writer Monday night after returning from the funeral.

"It seemed so weird I couldn't credit it then.

"I didn't tell Serge because he wouldn't have spent $400 or $500 a month on bodyguards anyway.

"And now I hear it from others in Rubinstein's own business circles who also believe that may have happened.

"The tying of his hands, you'll notice, appears almost to have been done in a friendly fashion.

"The kidnapers may have said to him, 'You cooperate and nothing serious will happen to you.'

"Then I believe they may have found it necessary to kill him to silence him."

★ ★ ★ ★

This informant, who insisted upon anonymity lest he be asked to tell the story over and over again, asserts that the paid kidnapers doubtless used Rubinstein's girl friends—"he had a hundred of them, not just two or three"—to help them get inside the Fifth Av. mansion.

Rubinstein's enemies probably paid $50,000 or $100,000 for this job, this friend contends—and even that price wasn't too high, he feels.

"I saw him at 6:45 p. m. the day he was killed. He was never more buoyant.

"He had eight people in his office discussing a $5,000,000 oil and uranium deal in Colorado and Utah.

"He was the world's greatest con man. He would appeal to people's greed and then get them so entangled in the web they couldn't get out.

"He had a meeting scheduled in his office at 10 a. m. the day of his murder to go further into the oil and uranium deal."

This associate of Rubinstein's was blind to none of his practices, business or social.

"I'm sure his two or three close girl friends didn't know the extent of his love interests. At least one of them loved him dearly. I saw her at a party almost falling down drunk recently and saying, 'Where is Serge? Where is Serge? I love that man!'

"As for Estelle Gardner—she had a date with him the night he was killed—I think she only had been out with him two or three times. She hardly knew the man—perhaps fortunately for her."

More Politics Seen for AFL

Union President Says Labor Has No Intention of Starting 3rd Party

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL President George Meany said organized labor plans to play an increasingly active role within the present two-party political system and has no present idea of forming a third party.

Meany told reporters at winter meetings of AFL leaders here that workers may consider forming their own party if and when they find themselves unable to achieve progress with the two existing parties.

He indicated belief that by alerting workers to the political issues they will elect candidates to carry out organized labor's aims.

"After all," Meany said yesterday, "we're not politicians and we make no pretense of being politicians. We don't want to run the country or its policy.

"But we are convinced that if we tell the workers what's going on they will vote for what is their own best interests. That's what we are trying to do and we feel we succeeded quite well in the 1954 elections."

Meany conceded the AFL and CIO mainly supported Democratic candidates in 1954 but he said that was only because the Democratic candidates generally stood for labor's objectives.

"We are not wedded to the Democratic party," he said.

He said he felt American workers are too independent to accept a labor party—"independent not only of politicians but in their unions, and I hope they will always remain that way."

"But I think the American worker will go as far down the road as necessary to see that his political aims are carried out," he added. "That may eventually take him to his own labor party."

Six AFL railroad unions announced yesterday they will seek a guaranteed annual wage in bargaining negotiations this year for 350,000 workers in railroad maintenance shops throughout the country.

Ban Parking Meters?

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—State Rep. Manning Hathaway (D-Detroit), declaring parking meters are little more than "organized extortion," has proposed a constitutional amendment that would require approval of voters before cities could install the meters.

Jimmy Stewart Takes Bit Part in Holden Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jimmy Stewart is going to play a bit in "Picnic," which stars Bill Holden at Columbia. When I first heard this, I could hardly believe it. But it's true.

Stewart, who with his percentage cuts makes millions out of his pictures, has told Josh Logan that he'll do the minor part of the middle-aged businessman in "Picnic" because Josh is one of his best friends and this is his debut as a movie director.

It isn't the first time Jimmy has done a small role out of friendship. Remember he played a clown bit for C. B. De Mille in "The Greatest Show on Earth."

David Wayne, who's been merely a sensation in "Teahouse of the August Moon" on Broadway, returns to Hollywood over the weekend, and Eli Wallach replaces him in the New York hit.

Don't say I told you, but it's all but signed for David to star in the MGM movie version of this charming play.

John Forsythe, the other top actor in the Broadway show, remains in the cast until July, when he's due to report to Paramount for his new contract.

If Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski is in the frame of mind to accept, she can pick up $10,000 a week—not hay even to an heiress—on the same show with the Ritz Brothers at the Flamingo in Las Vegas.

The Ritz Freres' agent has already put Harrison Forman to work on a semi-dramatic skit for Gloria, who is now all-out "dedicated" to a career.

She'll have to make up her mind in a hurry as the Ritizes have a March opening date at the Flamingo.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Joan Crawford was all over the Red Book awards party touching up everybody's hair with a brush dipped in a little bottle of silver she carried in her purse. Yes, her own hair is silver tipped, too.

The funniest conversation of the week—Marlon Brando seriously advising James Dean not to be too eccentric!

Roz Russell, who has had one article printed by Readers Digest, has sold the magazine another based on the advise her father gave her when she was in her teens:

After sandblasting all the white paint off their house next door to Jack Benny's, Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz decided to paint it white again!

After their TV show, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, who seldom go nightclubbing, went with Dolores and Bob Hope to hear Perez Prado at the Crescendo.

Lana Turner is down to 108 pounds for "Dianne." That's all today.

Offer New Legislation for Rehabilitation, Curb of Delinquent Youths

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two bills designed to aid in rehabilitating juvenile delinquents and another intended to keep teen-agers away from vice spots in Mexico were proposed by Senate investigators today.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he and Senators Hennings (D-Mo) and Langer (R-ND) were joining in introducing the measures as a result of an inquiry conducted last year.

They were members of the special Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee which was headed by former Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ).

One of the bills provides for the waiver to state authorities of juveniles who also have violated federal law. In explanation of this, Kefauver said in a statement:

"Welfare and correctional authorities unanimously subscribe to the principle that a delinquent boy or girl is most effectively rehabilitated when he can be kept close to his own home, family and community.

"Unlike an adult, a released juvenile offender usually returns to his parental family. His effective rehabilitation, therefore, requires that the family, as well as the juvenile, be worked with to the end of creating a home situation in which the juvenile can eventually find himself."

Kefauver said also that transporting a youngster hundreds of miles to the national training school for boys here involved "unnecessary and unproductive expenditure of federal funds."

A second bill would permit foster parents to claim income tax exemption for foster children, in an effort to encourage families to take in homeless children.

The third bill would restrict unaccompanied juveniles from crossing the nation's borders—a measure Kefauver related to conditions along the Mexican border.

"Despite sincere efforts to curb vice in certain communities along the border," Kefauver said, "our respected neighbor Mexico is still confronted at points with a serious traffic in narcotics, prostitution and other vices from which juveniles should be protected."

College Quarantined Over 4 Liver Cases

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Holy Cross College early today was placed under quarantine because of four known cases of infectious hepatitis. No students will be permitted to leave the campus.

The quarantine was ordered by Dr. Alexander Witkow and announced by the Rev. Jeremiah Donovan, dean of discipline at the Catholic institution.

Father Donovan said "some other" students also are ill but their ailments have not been completely diagnosed.

Infectious hepatitis is described as an inflammation of the liver.

Chiefs Hit Road, Parochials Take Over Gym

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's basketball team journeys north tonight to meet Flint Central, and St. Michael and St. Frederick move into the vacated PHS gymnasium for the 2nd game in their 1954-55 intra-city parochial rivalry.

Both Pontiac and St. Michael have title aspirations hanging in the balance in tonight's games.

Chiefs, now two full games behind Saginaw Valley Conference leader Arthur Hill, must win in order to remain in connection. Mikes are in a more advantageous position in the Suburban Catholic League race, currently sharing 1st place with St. Benedict.

However, both co-leaders have but two games left, and an unexpected loss by either team would doom it to a 2nd-place finish.

PHS Coach Art Van Ryzin will throw a revamped lineup against the high-scoring Indians. With 5-foot 11-inch Walter King replacing lanky Dick Blacklaw at center and 5-foot-4 Clay Williams subbing for injured guard Bob Johnston, the Pontiac starting lineup will be the smallest of the season.

Fowards John James (6-3) and Rod Treais (6) and guard Walt Poe (5-11) round out the lineup that will average only 5-10½. Tonight's game marks the first starting assignments for both Williams and Treais.

Central, seeking its 7th victory in nine starts, will have Ken Lucas (6) and Chuck Crickmore (6-3) at forwards, Joe Quarles (6-2) at center, and Dale Kingsbury (6) and Ed Nyberg (5-11) at guards.

Contest is scheduled for 8 p. m. in Bellanger Fieldhouse, which adjoins the Flint Central campus on Court street.

St. Frederick will be handicapped by the probable loss of Capt. Lionel Bradley against its cross-town rival. Bradley, 6-foot 2-inch senior center, injured his ankle last week and isn't expected to be ready for action tonight. He is the team's top scorer, boasting a 16.2-point average.

Coach Ken Hulslander will be forced to juggle his lineup to compensate for the loss of Bradley. He probably will move Dick Doyon from forward to guard to fill another vacancy created recently when Del Chavez completed his eligibility.

Larry Morrow will take over Doyon's former spot and Jesse Ramirez, who didn't play last semester, is expected to start at center. Forward John Bradley and guard Jim Krouse will be at their usual posts.

Shamrocks, aiming for their 10th victory of the season and their 9th in a row, will have John Keller and Joe Wilhelm at forwards, Bud Schwartz at center and Marty Keller and Bob Anderson at guards.

Game time is 8:15 p.m.

3 Newcomers Make Showing on Point List

Keller, Taulbee and Kelly Climb on Single Game Spurts

Three Oakland County prep cagers who went on individual scoring sprees in the past week have spots among the top 10 scorers.

John Keller of Pontiac St. Mikes, Myrel Taulbee of Walled Lake and Bob Kelly of Royal Oak have taken over the 8th, 9th and 10th positions in the county scoring "derby."

Keller's sensational 43-point effort against St. Rita raised his mark although he made only eight points in his next start. He has a 10-game average of 15.8 points.

Taulbee, who marked up a school record 32 points against Waterford, and Kelly, who netted 28 against Ferndale, share 9th with 15.3.

The top six remain unchanged although there was some shuffling. Frank Rogers of West Bloomfield jumped from 8th to 6th on the strength of his 22-point effort against Clarenceville, and Hugh Kirtek of Shrine took over 4th moving Lionel Bradley of St. Freds back to 5th.

Milford's Jim Davidson clings to the lead with 206 points in his 10 games, but his teammate Tom Gould keeps moving closer. Gould is 2nd with 194 points and a 19.4 average.

Five of the top 10 will see action against each other in two of tonight's games. Rogers will be matched against Davidson and Gould as West Bloomfield plays at Milford.

Bradley and Keller will hook up as the Pontiac parochial fives clash in the Pontiac High gym.

Other leading games tonight have Birmingham at Ferndale, Waterford at Southfield, Walled Lake at Farmington, Clarkston at Holly, Lapeer at Rochester, Oxford at Romeo, Northville at Lake Orion and Madison at Roseville.

The scoring leaders:

	G	Pts	Avg.
Jim Davidson, Milford	10	206	20.6
Tom Gould, Milford	10	194	19.4
Jim Simer, Madison	9	159	17.7
Hugh Kirtek, Shrine	10	171	17.1
Lionel Bradley, Freds	10	169	16.9
Frank Rogers, W. B'ld	9	151	16.8
Ron Troy, Shrine	10	164	16.4
John Keller, Mikes	10	158	15.8
Myrel Taulbee, WL	11	168	15.3
Bob Kelly, Royal Oak	9	138	15.3

Avila Says He'll Try for .400 Mark in '55

CLEVELAND (AP) —"I try for .400 this year," second baseman Bob Avila of the Cleveland Indians promises.

"Hornsby did it. He's just a human. If one person can do it, why not another?" argued the stocky Mexican who won the American League batting crown last season with .341.

"It's only four hits in 10 times at bat. That's not impossible. I try for .400 this year."

Third of a series

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — Our Redleg team should be a powerful run-scoring team. If our younger ball players produce we should be in contention all the way. Any one of six teams has a chance to win the pennant in 1955. Cincinnati is one of those teams.

If the Giants could move up from fifth place, 35 games behind the pennant-winning Brooklyn Dodgers in 1953 to win the pennant the next year, then I see no reason why one of the first six teams last season could not win it in '55. We finished fifth, only 23 games away from the top.

We are not conceding anything to any club in advance of the pennant race. To win, naturally, we will have to make a big improvement. I think we have the players with which to make this improvement. Our lineup, and especially our batting order, is not set for 1955. Everybody has a chance.

Our Cincinnati team last year did not have outstanding weaknesses but the overall strength of the league was so great that our pitching staff was not numerically strong enough to compete with the stronger clubs. The experience gained by Art Fowler and Corky Valentine and the showing of Joe Nuxhall will tend to strengthen our staff.

The addition of Gerry Staley from the Cardinals may give us a rotation which will allow us to compete with the best of them. Johnny Klippstein, whom we obtained from the Chicago Cubs and Bill Werle, purchased from Louisville, should help. Then we have several fine looking young pitching prospects who may come through.

Sparrow's Mark Fails to Avert Titans' Upset

Pontiac Cager Bags 33 Points, but Drake Wins, 93-86

DES MOINES (AP) — Even Guy Sparrow's new field house scoring record of 33 points couldn't pull the favored Detroit Titans out from under a 93-86 upset by Drake last night.

Drake took a quick 6-0 advantage and kept Detroit in its wake rest of the game. The closest the Titans came was 35-34 in the 1st half before the Bulldogs widened the spread to 42-36 at halftime.

The victory avenged a 91-76 Drake defeat by Detroit last month.

Drake took the initiative after the intermission and piled up a 70 - 55 margin before Merlin Peter, Tom Tagatz and Terry Olmstead fouled out within a five minute span to weaken the Bulldog offense.

Sparrow, who accounted for 11 of Detroit's 1st points in the game, paced a Titan rally late in the 2nd half to bring the score to the 87-84 with two minutes remaining. Drake recouped in the waning minutes to build up the 7-point final margin.

Sparrow's 33 points bettered by one point the mark established at the Drake Field House last season by Gus Ollrich of Drake.

Marty Marion to Wear Appling's Old Uniform

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox Friday pulled playing uniform No. 4 out of retirement for the first time since 1949 and bestowed it upon Manager Marty Marion.

No. 4 was worn by former Sox star shortstop Luke Appling, but it was the same number which adorned Marion when he was "Mr. Shortstop" for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Braves, Jeffs Remain in Tie

Washington's Win Over Eastern Cuts 3-Way Knot at Top

Washington and Jefferson both came through with victories yesterday afternoon to remain deadlocked for the City Junior High School Basketball League lead.

Braves knocked Eastern out of a 3-way tie for 1st place, handing the Indians their 2nd loss in five starts, 39-34. Charley Barge led Washington with 10 points, while Eastern's Alex Billashaw took game honors with 11.

Jefferson routed Lincoln, 53-8, as center Roosevelt Alexander collected 12 points. Lincoln's reserves surprised the Junior Jeffs in the preliminary game, handing them their 1st loss in two years, 29-26. Gerald Andrews paced the win with 10 points.

Colleges Aid Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States has the biggest kid baseball program ever developed, but major league clubs are relying more and more on college players to fill their lineups.

That thought was reflected today by Carl Hubbell, the Giants' farm boss, who in turn was reflecting on the success of Paul Giel, who came to the Giants last summer fresh out of the University of Minnesota.

If Giel had been a shortstop or an outfielder, the Giants probably wouldn't have signed him to a bonus contract. But since ball clubs always can use good pitchers, and since Giel's age and experience made it easier to judge his potential value, they were willing to pay $50,000 to get him.

Here's how Hubbell explained it: "When a player is 22 or 23 years old and has gone to college, he thinks like a man. He's matured and knows what he wants to do. That makes it a lot easier to tell how he'll develop. Baseball isn't played entirely with the hands and legs, a lot of it is up here in the head."

The famous "meal ticket" of the Giants, one of the greatest left-handed pitchers ever to play in the big leagues, should know a bit about that. He was only 20 years old when he broke into professional baseball at Cushing, Okla. Twenty years later he still was using his head and his famous screwball to win in the majors.

"You take a kid of 17 or 18, just out of high school," Hub continued. "He still thinks like a boy. You don't know what they're thinking or how they'll develop."

Another point in favor of the collegians is that there's almost no "between" age so far as the ivory hunters are concerned. Military service takes care of that."

"We have the greatest kid program ever developed," Hubbell said. "There are more kids between 12 and 16 than ever before playing ball in the Little Leagues, the Babe Ruth Leagues and the Legion program. Then they have to skip two years while they're in service. We lose so many that way."

Anderson Says It's Still a 5-Team Race in Big Ten

EAST LANSING (AP) —"The team that can win consistently on the road can win the Big Ten title."

That's the estimate of Michigan State basketball coach Forddy Anderson, currently encouraged by the move of his Spartans up to 2nd place in the Big Ten standings.

"We looked bad even in beating Purdue Monday night," Anderson admitted, "but it's a good thing if you can get a bad one out of your system and still win."

Anderson has been using his starting lineup for nearly the full 40 minutes in the last few games, only alternating Bob Armstrong and Duane Peterson at center.

He admits the lack of depth has hurt.

"When you play games Saturday night and then Monday night as we do in the conference, your starters are likely to be dragging a little by the 2nd half of the 2nd game," he said.

MSC currently is riding it's longest win streak of the season—three in a row. The Spartans now take to the road for four games to play Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Northwestern and Illinois before returning for a home game with Iowa.

Anderson figures it's still a five-team race between Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan State and Northwestern.

"This road trip will decide how we will do," Anderson said, "but I'm still including us as among the possibilities."

Pontiac Team Holds Lead in State Elks Tournament

No Pontiac teams are in action this weekend at the 35th annual Michigan Elks' Bowling tournament in Battle Creek. However, keglers from other state cities will be shooting at a mark posted last weekend by a Lodge No. 810 quintet.

Five Bucks moved into 1st place in the team event with a 2,962-pin total. Team is comprised of D. Hempton, H. Colwell, Joe Botan, S. Hylla and Art Mansfield.

Other Pontiac teams placing high were Long Horns, 2,942 (2nd place); Antlers, 2,900 (4th), Straight Horns, 2,897; Flags, 2,877; and Eyes, 2,856.

In doubles, Don Wilson and Earl Stemmer took 3rd place with 1,264. Doug Menzel placed 2nd in handicap singles with 695 and 3rd in actual singles with 641.

Corke Paces Win

Sam Corke piled up 31 points last night to lead Local 596 to a 57-32 triumph over Local 898 in Oakland County UAW-CIO basketball play. Corke personally outscored the opposition in two of the four periods.

Local 653 downed Local 594, 44-33, in the 2nd game as Smith and Marlow collected 12 points apiece.

2 Rookie Outfielders Sign With Bengal Nine

DETROIT (AP) —The signing of two rookie outfielders leaves the Detroit Tigers today needing 17 more signatures for a full house at the start of spring training, three weeks from now.

Coming to terms yesterday were Fred Flemming, who hit .309 at Wilkes-Barre in 1954 and Rufus Crawford, a .272 hitter from Little Rock of the Southern Association.

It took 48 hours or more for the sailing craft to cross the Gulf Stream from Florida. Hoot Mon finished fifth and won on corrected time.

Del Ennis Signs Contract for Estimated $30,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Veteran outfielder Del Ennis signed his 1955 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday for an estimated $30,000.

General Manager Roy Hamey said the native Philadelphian would become one of the highest paid National League players under his new contract. Neither he nor Ennis would discuss the salary figure.

Graham Won't Consider Job With Wildcats

Wave of Applicants Expected to Bid for Voigts' Post

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — With Otto Graham reportedly eliminating himself as a candidate, the way appeared cleared today for a rush of applications for the head football coaching job at Northwestern.

Bob Voigts, 39, Thursday abruptly resigned after an eight-year tenure as coach of his alma mater. He declared his action was prompted "for the good of the university" because of criticism of his coaching.

His contract was to expire September 1956.

Voigts' Northwestern teams won only one Big Ten game in the last two years, defeating Illinois 20-7 in the 1954 finale. Criticism was leveled at him from Northwestern's lettermen group, the "N" club.

Soon after Athletic Director Ted Payseur accepted Voigts' resignation there was a wave of alumni enthusiasm for offering the post to Graham, the one-time Northwestern star who announced his retirement from pro ball six weeks ago after a fabulous career as Quarterback of the Cleveland Browns.

Graham, however, reportedly withdrew from consideration by this statement from a vacation spot in Delray Beach, Fla.:

"I am not available for any football coaching job, anywhere."

Payseur said that each of Voigts' assistants, if he applies, will be given consideration for the head job.

Voigts said he had no definite future plans.

"I haven't decided whether I'll stay in football coaching or not," he said. "I'll have to give it a lot of thought before I make a decision."

Snow to Help Weekend Skiing at Teeple Hill

The light snowfall which started this morning may save Pontiac area skiing enthusiasts from another "ski-less" weekend.

James Marble, who is in charge of the Pontiac Ski Club's layout at Teeple Hill in the Highland Recreation Area, said this morning that there was not at that time sufficient snow for good skiing. The season's largest turnout, about 300 skiers, last weekend wore most of the snow off, Marble said.

If additional snow does fall, one or two tows will be in operation for Saturday and Sunday.

Benton Harbor Risks Mark Against MH

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BENTON HARBOR — One of Michigan's two unbeaten high school basketball teams—risks its perfect record tonight against rebounding Muskegon Heights.

This is the featured game of a schedule which finds many key conference games on tap.

Benton Harbor, led by its one-two scoring punch of Don Arend and Howard Rodgers, has rolled up eight straight victories, averaging almost 80 points a game.

Muskegon Heights, defending Class A champion, lost to Grand Rapids Christian Jan. 14, but since then bounced back with three impressive victories. Their overall record is 8 - 1.

'Pressure' Puts Jim Duffy Out of Umpiring

Ex-AL Arbiter Says Chisox, Boston Sped His Release

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — Jim Duffy was out of the baseball umpiring profession today amid denials by American League President Will Harridge and two member clubs of the ex-arbiter's charges of "pressure."

Duffy announced he was quitting, Thursday, saying that he had been sent to the International League during the 1954 season after three years in the AL because of "pressure from the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox."

He added that if he couldn't be in the major leagues he had to quit because he couldn't make enough in the minor leagues.

Duffy, an umpire since 1946, charged he couldn't get back in the American League because President Harridge didn't want "to offend any club owners."

General Managers Frank Lane of Chicago and Joe Cronin of Boston denied pressure of any kind from their respective organizations.

Class B Cage Leader Outlasts GM in City League Encounter

Griff's Grill, undefeated Class B leader in the City Basketball League, last night again displayed its ability to win the close ones.

Grill five outlasted 2nd-place General Motors, 54-52, in overtime to post its 8th consecutive victory. It was the 4th time this season that Griff's has won a contest by three points or less and its 2nd overtime battle.

Trailing by 32-25 at halftime and 40-37 at the 3rd-quarter mark, Grill rallied to tie the count at 52-all at the end of regulation time.

Marv Caswell, who recently joined the team after graduating from Pontiac High at the semester, scored the only basket in the extra session to clinch the victory.

Homer Harrison led the winners with 12 points, while Dallas Nelson had 11. Bill York and Lynus Grant had 11 apiece for the losers.

But Income Is Unsure

Rice Institute Athletics May Get Benefit of New Oil Field Discovery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rice Institute's athletic department soon may be receiving income from what is believed to be a multi-million dollar oil field discovery.

A Limestone County wildcat was completed last week with a daily flow of 964 barrels of oil. Other wells are to be drilled.

A group of Houston oilmen acquired leases on the property seven years ago. Three thirty-seconds of any income was earmarked for special Rice Institute projects, with the athletic department to receive first consideration.

Since then the 1,600-student Southwest Conference school has constructed a 70,000-seat stadium and a 6,400-seat field house but the board of trustees is expected to follow the oilmen's wishes in apportioning the new income.

Long-range income from an oil discovery is very unpredictable but Jack Frazier, who conceived the idea for aiding Rice, believes there is much room for optimism.

The discovery is in a new pay zone some 5,500 feet below the old Mexia oil field.

"The original Mexia field produced over 100 million barrels," Frazier said. "I think the new one should produce very well."

Jess Neely, the Rice athletic director, is counting no money until it is received.

"Let us get that money in our hands," he said, "and then we'll start thinking what to do with it. Until then we aren't worrying."

Neely does not deny, however, that whatever money the department receives will go first to the stadium.

Kid Gavilan Makes 'Comeback' Effort Against Ernie Durando in Tonight's TV Ring Card

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK (INS) —Can Gerardo do the mambo with Durando the bango?

Hit us up a little of that South American music with plenty of srings in it, professor, and we'll step this one off for you like Arthur Murray going around an icy corner.

The question before the house at Madison Square Garden tonight, and probably at your house and my house, too, will be whether that dancing man Gerardo (Kid) Gavilan, of Camaguey, Cuba, can do some steps that will befuddle and bewilder "H-Bomb Ernie?" Durando, of Bayonne, N. J. The bout is on NBC, TV at 10 p.m. EST.

"This can be a tough fight for the former welterweight champion in what has aspects of a comeback try, even though the kid vehemently insists in his quaint and scarce English, "how can I come back when I'm not been away?"

Which is a logical question and one in which there is a reasonable question of doubt so far as Gavilan is concerned.

After all, the kid's last fight took place no longer ago than last October. It was a title defense against Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia and quite a lot of folks, including Gavilan himself, thought that he had won it. As did this TV viewer.

But just ahead of that one, Gerardo had failed quite convincingly in a lunge at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown in Chicago.

He now has a new proprietor named Yamil Chade, who is said to be a banker from Havana.

With a new pilot, two losing fights behind him, the fact that he is 28, has been busy at the boxing trade for almost 12 years, and always loved to play, Gavilan cannot entirely laugh off the belief of those on the boxing beat that tonight's fight is by the way of being a comeback effort on his part.

Nor is he picking any touch in Durando, as I see it. They say that all "H-Bomb Ernie" can do is hit.

Always having liked Gavilan and his way of fighting, it is natural that I still should. Never has he been beaten three times in a row. This leaves him with one strike and I doubt he'll take it this evening. But he could.

Burkemo on Littler's Heels at Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — Youthful Gene Littler, who came out of the Navy a year ago to become a pro golfing leader, calmly leads a crowded field into the second round of the $15,000 Phoenix open today.

Littler, 24, reached the 18th green Thursday needing an 8-foot putt for a birdie to finish with a 66 and take the lead from three other professionals. With the coolness of a seasoned veteran, he sank it to finish four-under-par.

That left him a stroke ahead of Walter Burkemo, former PGA champion from Franklin, Mich., Johnny Palmer, veteran from Charlotte, N. C., and Jack Fleck the head pro for Municipal Courses at Davenport, Iowa.

All had finished earlier with 67s over the 6,684-yard Arizona Country Club course with its par of 34-36—70. Because greens were frosty early in the morning and the start was delayed, nine of the 150 golfers failed to finish. They'll complete their rounds today.

At 68 was Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., and 10 were bunched at 69. Included was Cary Middlecoff, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., who lost in a playoff to Ed Furgol here last year. Furgol, the U. S. Open champion, had a 70 for his first round.

A chilly breeze bothered the golfers throughout the day despite the bright sunshine.

Littler, the amateur champion in 1953, turned pro after leaving the Navy in January, 1954. Last year he was runner-up in the U. S. Open and the All-America event at Chicago. He started 1955 in winning fashion by hauling down the $5,000 first prize in the Los Angeles Open.

From San Diego, Littler now plays out of Palm Springs, Calif. his round Thursday included six birdies and putts of 18, 15 and 12 feet.

Shelley Mayfield, playoff winner of the Palm Springs tournament Monday, came in at 71, and Tommy Bolt, the victor at San Diego, was well back at 74. The veteran Jimmy Demaret, twice the winner here, had a 73.

Four of the Milwaukee Braves' farm clubs won loops pennants during 1954.

About 1,200 horses are stabled at Hialeah for the current season's 360 races.

Colby-Berger Gain in Tourney

Victory in 'Marathon' Advances Champs Into Quarter-Finals

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UP) — After winning one of the longest golf matches on record, defending champions Vonnie Colby and Cookie Swift Berger faced another tough battle Friday in the quarter-finals of the Women's International Four-Ball tournament.

Miss Colby, of Hollywood, and Mrs. Berger, of Buffalo, N.Y., met Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, N.C.

The Colby-Berger team won their first-round match Thursday on the ninth hole of a "sudden death" playoff with Carol Diringer of Mid Pines, N.C., and Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich.

Miss Colby, the Trans-Mississippi titlist, blasted out of a sand trap and into the cup on the 27th hole of the marathon match. The ball hit about 18 inches from the cup, then bounced in on the fly for a birdie-3.

Only one of the Braves hit over .300 in 1954. He was Joe Adcock with .308.

America Relies on Sprint Stars for Skating Honors

ST. PAUL (UP) — America blueprinted its longshot strategy for international speed skating honors today by jamming its Olympic and world championship entries with as many top-drawer sprinters as it could find.

Both the Olympic team and the two-man squad which will represent the United States in the world event at Moscow Feb. 18-19 follow this country's historic reliance on dash men in world compeititon.

Don McDermott, Englewood Cliffs, N.J., and Ken Henry of Chicago, named Thursday as American representatives in the Russian event, are the swiftest skaters over the short haul in the country. McDermott this week streaked to the fastest 500-meter time ever registered in the United States, :42.8.

Unquestionably they are among the best in the world. Four years ago Henry won the Olympic 500-meter and McDermott was the runner-up. One Olympic official said they might be good enough to finish 1-2 at Moscow.

But they probably won't be enough to stand off the over-all strength of countries like Russia and Norway, which have been allotted four skaters. The U.S. hand appears considerably weakened by an ironic lack of enough funds to send a third man—Johnny Werket of Minneapolis—also a sprinter and a strong 1,500-meter skater as well.

Titans Offer Plan for College Bowling

University of Detroit Bowling League has set up plans to initiate an inter-collegiate bowling tournament to be held in Detroit on Saturday, April 9.

Last year a bowling tourney held in Detroit was limited to Michigan colleges and Wayne University emerged as the winner. However this year, officers of the U. of D Bowling League, headed by president Pat Carollo, have extended invitations to all colleges in the Midwest to form an Inter-collegiate Bowling Council which will set up plans for an annual tourney to be held in different cities throughout the country.

Lyons, Schalk Take Part in Hose Opener

CHICAGO (UP)—The feared Chicago White Sox battery of yesteryear — pitcher Ted Lyons and catcher Ray Schalk — will be back in action again at the start of the 1955 baseball season.

The two former stars, named recently to the Hall of Fame, have been listed by the Sox as their battery in the opening-season game April 14 against the Kansas City Athletics in Comiskey Park.

Wings Skid on 1-1 Tie

DETROIT (AP) — When Jimmy Skinner's days as coach of the Detroit Red Wings are over, he probably can find himself a job as a fortune teller. He'd be pretty good at it too.

Twice this season Skinner forecast trouble for his Red Wings — and twice his predictions came true.

After the Wings butchered Montreal 7-1 last Sunday night, Skinner warned of a letdown against the Boston Bruins. Some thought he was being overly cautious, but last night the Wings were held to a costly 1-1 tie by the Bruins.

The deadlock dropped the Detroiters 2-points behind Montreal, which wouldn't be so bad except for the fact that the Red Wings play on the road for virtually the entire month of February. And in hockey, it's almost impossible to gain ground on the road.

A 20-year-old rookie named Don McKenney gave Boston its tie with the Wings before 10,797 in Olympia stadium. He deflected his 16th goal at the start of the 3rd period, offsetting a tally by Tony Leswick midway in the 2nd period.

Leswick's goal, a 10-foot golf shot, was his 1st since Dec. 16 — a slump of 22 games.

It was the 2nd time in Leswick's career he had gone through 22 games without scoring. The 1st occurred when he was a member of the New York Rangers.

While the Bruins were holding the Wings to a standstill, Montreal rebounded from Sunday's drubbing by beating the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 on Jean Beliveau's 3rd-period goal.

Last month, Skinner warned his players to be wary of an impending three game road trip. The Wings lost all three games and almost fell out of contention.

Maybe Skinner ought to stop making predictions.

Laurel Track Wins in Court Slander Suit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Washington jeweler Abraham Sures will get $42 for the four torn-up horse race tickets he recovered from a busy street.

Sures recovered the winning tickets after they lay seven hours in a Washington street — which was flushed by cleaning crews during the time — and took them to a Laurel track window. He claimed he was slandered and threatened with arrest when the cashier questioned their validity.

In a federal court here Wednesday, a jury ruled in favor of Laurel Race Track in a $20,000 slander suit filed by Sures, but a track attorney advised that if he would send in his pasteboards, he would get $42 back for the winning ducats.

Wildcats 'Vote' for Rupp, Thrash Florida

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp has himself a vote of player confidence today, whether he needs it or not.

The controversy involving Linville Puckett, starting guard on the No. 1 team in the Associated Press college basketball poll, left some loose strings dangling. Particularly since his departure from the squad in a training rules squabble with Rupp a gentleman who has not had much chance to learn how to lose—followed Georgia Tech's second upset of the Wildcats.

Puckett got off a parting shot about basketball being a matter of life or death on the Lexington campus. That left the question of whether Puckett was the only player out of step with Rupp.

The question was answered last night as Kentucky rolled over Florida 87-63 in what Rupp termed the Wildcats' best effort in a month.

Kentucky worked smoothly and with team finesse. It was 45-35 at the half and the Wildcats—who dropped both games to Georgia Tech at the foul line—hit on 27 of 33 free throw attempts.

Phil Grawemeyer led the assault with 20 points. Bob Burrow, just recovered from a sinus infection, chipped in 16, as did Captain Billy Evans.

Puckett's replacement Gayle Ross scored 12 in his first starting job. Jerry Bird, the other starter, also hit for 12.

All in all, a very neat job for Kentucky's 13th victory in 15 games.

Florida, incidentally, was fresh from an upset of Alabama, the Southeastern Conference leader. Kentucky is No. 2 in the league.

In other games, George Washington, No. 7 nationally, knocked off highscoring Furman 76-71 after a scare; fifth-ranked Utah won No. 16 with an 81-49 job on Los Angeles State; and Dayton, No. 15, disposed of Murray (Ky.) State 49-45.

At New York's Madison Square Garden, Cincinnati had trouble but won its seventh straight, 88-78 over Seton Hall, and Manhattan ran its streak to nine, 88-61 over St. John's of Brooklyn.

Two upsets occurred too. John Carroll, 8-12 for the season, knocked off St. Francis (Pa.) — the team that surprised high-ranked Duquesne earlier and had bopped John Carroll 115-94 a week ago. And Drake surprised Detroit 93-86 despite Guy Sparrow's 33 points that set a Drake field house record.

George Washington, defending Southern Conference champ, stayed within reach of a repeat with its victory, but the Colonials made the mistake of underrating Furman.

Darrell Floyd, top scorer in the nation, joined Fred Fraley in a shooting exhibition to pull Furman into a 46-39 lead after seven minutes of the second half, and it was only the great floor work of 6-5 Joe Petcavich that enabled George Washington to rally.

Sax Elliot Still 'Sold' on 'Ripple Rebounder' Shoes

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Santa Claus of basketball, Sax Elliot, didn't even flinch Thursday night when his latest gift—the elevator shoe—got the cold treatment from coaches.

Even the second straight loss to Utah by his Los Angeles State College team, 81-49, failed to depress him.

"Say what you will, the team that goes into play with the 'Ripple Rebounder'," as Elliot calls his new shoe, "will have an advantage."

Elliot startled the basketball world Wednesday night by using his elevator shoes for the first time. One player wore shoes with soles six inches thick. The Diablos lost to Utah anyway, 77-38.

But they didn't wear the elevated shoes Thursday night.

Elliot's "Ripple Rebounder" adds only about two inches to a player's heighth. The sole is cemented on a regular basketball shoe. The corrogated teeth are made of plastic rubber.

Various members of the NCAA Rules Committee have criticized the new shoe. Some said it was dangerous. Others said it violated the spirit of the rules or was unsportsmanlike.

7 Records Tumble in MSC-Illini Meet

EAST LANSING (AP) — John Dudeck swam the 200-yard breaststroke in 2 minutes, 32 seconds to set a new Michigan State College varsity and pool record last night and lead the Spartans to a 54-39 victory over Illinois in a Big Ten dual swimming meet.

Seven meet records were toppled during the competition. MSC posted four new marks and Illinois accounted for three.

Auburn Back Ready to Sign With Lion Club

But Detroit's Trade With 'Skins May Be Knocked Out

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions have satisfied their No. 1 draft choice, lost their 18th selection and were faced today with the blowup of a two-for-two trade with the Washington Redskins.

Dave Middleton, handsome Auburn halfback, made a flying trip here yesterday to discuss prospects with coach Buddy Parker and general manager Nick Kerbawy.

He said later he was all set and will sign a contract as soon as he finishes his track eligibility this spring. Middleton was the first selection by the Lions in last month's draft.

Pat Oleksiak, Tennessee halfback who was 18th on the Lion's list, said yesterday at Knoxville, Tenn., that he will play next season with Winnipeg in the Canadian League. Although his class graduates this spring, Oleksiak has another year of college eligibility and the Lions had not figured to get him until 1956.

Lavern Torgeson, veteran linebacker traded to the Redskins last week, said in Tacoma, Wash., he may bolt to the Canadian League with Vancouver.

"I won't know just what I'm going to do until I talk some more with Stukus" (coach Annis Stukus of the British Columbia Lions,) Torgeson said.

Also in the deal were halfback Jim Hill of the Lions and end Walter Yowarsky and guard Jim Ricca of the Redskins.

Veeck Says His Job Finished on Coast

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck has resigned as "advance man" for major league baseball on the West Coast, saying his 14-months-long job "is done" and that a 'practical and workable plan" has been developed.

"It is now up to one of the major leagues to get up its collective nerve and expand into this wonderful new territory in Los Angeles and San Francisco," said the former front office kingpin of the Cleveland Indians.

Veeck Thursday submitted his resignation as a Chicago Cub representative to owner P. K. Wrigley. The cost of his exploratory work was underwritten by the Cubs.

Bob Considine Says:

Artist to Complete Statue After Lapse of 26 Years

NEW YORK (INS) — Benny Bufano, the veteran San Francisco artist who designed the buffalo nickel and sometimes has been reduced to same, flies to Paris tomorrow to resume the slightly interrupted work on his 32 ton black granite figure of St. Francis of Assisi. He has not seen it since he completed two and a half years work on it in 1929.

The remarkable little sculptor who was Sun Yat Sen's friend in the Chinese revolution, and who later lived with Gandhi and visited Nehru in jail in India, and spent some time at the White House painting F. D. R.'s portrait, plans to draw the blinds as the TWA Constellation drums out over the Statue of Liberty. He thinks it's very bad art.

Benny's trip to Paris to polish the face and hands of the 20-foot statue of the founder of the Franciscans is being financed by public-spirited San Franciscans. Half of the statue will be shipped home by the French Line, half by the U. S. lines, and in time will stand before the church of St. Francis in San Francisco.

For a long time, Bufano dreamed of fashioning a great St. Francis to stand on Telegraph Hill where the Coit Tower now rises. But one thing and another interfered. The depression, a couple of wars, and, most notably, the Coit Tower.

The years he spent in Paris "chipping away from the block of Belgian granite everything that didn't look like St. Francis" cost Benny about $20,000 and a wife — who, the old newspaper clippings show, seemed to resent his not coming home one night for three years.

A considerable storage bill ran up during the quarter century since his chisel last touched the figure. But all that is being taken care of and the great day soon will dawn. There will be no profit for the artist, but he is not a man to worry about such trivialities.

"I was the only dollar-a-year-man with Roosevelt who didn't have a buck," he recalled while here.

St. Francis will come home by slow boat through the Panama Canal, affording Benny an opportunity to go to Florence to be on hand when a book of his works is published, and then on to Rome. Much-traveled, much-storied, legendary Benny Bufano has an especial fondness for Rome. His father was its mayor.

Photographer Joe Rosenthal's story of the events before, during and after his immortal news picture of the raising of the flag on Iwo Jima's Mt. Suribachi, just 10 years ago, is almost as stirring and heart warming as the great picture itself. Joe tells it in the current Collier's with Bill Heinz.

It is a story that sings with such lines as "No man who survived that beach can tell you how he did it. It was like walking through rain and not getting wet, and there is no way you can explain it."

The story of the raising of a smaller and earlier flag is told, I believe, for the first time, as is the story of THE picture, and what befell those who played a role in its snapping. The magazine went to press before the tragic death of Ira Hayes, the Pima Indian found dead recently from exposure and alcohol.

Modest Joe concludes, touchingly:

"I can best sum up what I feel after 10 years by saying that of all the elements that went into the making of this picture, the part I played was the least important. To get that flag up there, America's fighting men had to die on that island and on other islands and off the shores and in the air. What difference does it make who took the picture. I took it, but the Marines took Iwo Jima."

Grains Ease, Losses Small

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains eased a bit on a very dull trade on the Board of Trade today, losses being confined to small fractions in practically all cases.

At the outset there was a little buying in soybeans which appeared to be eased mainly on apprehension over the manner in which the Formosan situation is developing. But demand was light and after the first few minutes beans gave up their advance.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ to ⅝ lower, March $2.29⅜; corn unchanged to ½ lower; March $1.53⅝; oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, March 77⅝; rye unchanged to ⅛ lower, March $1.25⅛; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, March $2.80⅝, and lard 5 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $12.67.

Firm Tackles GM Stock Issue

J. P. Morgan Prepares for One of Biggest Jobs in Financing History

NEW YORK (AP)—J. P. Morgan & Co. Inc. is preparing to deal with one of the biggest precision jobs in financial history — the handling of hundreds of thousands of subscriptions to the huge stock issue planned by General Motors.

As principal subscription agent for the offering, the Morgan Bank may be called upon to handle 80 per cent or more of the transactions resulting from the exercise of stock purchase rights by GM's 460,000 stockholders, the bank said. The rest will go to subscription agents in Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

General Motors will offer 4,385,000 shares of new common next week to raise around 325 million dollars to pay for part of its expansion program. Each stockholder will get "rights" to purchase one new share at a price below the stock market quotation of each 20 shares of presently-outstanding stocks that he holds.

In exercising these rights, a stockholder sends them, along with the money necessary, to the Morgan Bank. It advises GM, which prepares a stock certificate and sends it back to the bank for delivery to the subscriber.

Special quarters comprising nearly two floors of building space have been set up to accommodate the flood of rights. Some 250 employes will be assigned to the job during the peak stages in the month-long subscription period.

The rights will be mailed to stockholders by GM shortly after Feb. 8. The subscription period ends March 7.

4-H Representatives to Study Recreation

Representatives from the 61 4-H Clubs in Oakland County will attend the first annual county-wide recreation school conducted by Jack Worthington, 4-H Club agent, at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the recreation hall of the Social Welfare Building, 1260 West Blvd.

Worthington said Detroit counselors will be on hand to help teach club chairmen and others the "basic philosophy of recreation, so that they may teach others."

"The theory that 'all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy' is a sound one," he said and the purpose of the meeting, is to demonstrate various games, mixers, dances and songs, that can be passed along at individual club gatherings.

Mrs. Freida Bennett, county home demonstration agent, conducted a similar school yesterday for representatives from the 94 home demonstration groups throughout the county. However, games and other facilities taken up for this session will be an attempt to relax the housewife busy with her daily routines.

Bogus Check Warrant Ordered by Prosecutor

A bad check warrant was ordered today against Curtis Tillis, 42, of 344 Howard McNeill St., by Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Gerard A. Poehlman.

The warrant accuses Tillis of cashing a forged check for $75 at the Oakland Upholstering and Furniture Co., 104 S. Saginaw St., last April 23. No arraignment date has been set, said Poehlman.

Stocks Advance After Indecision

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced a little today in the early afternoon after spending a considerable time milling around in an indecisive manner.

Demand for steels, motors, and railroads, together with several individual issues, helped send the market along the higher course.

The better prices brought out an expanded demand that put the pace well ahead of yesterday's 2,890,000 shares.

General Motors and DuPont both forged strongly ahead on the announcement that DuPont would subscribe for the million shares of General Motors stock to which it is entitled under the new GM offering. DuPont, which owns 20 million shares of GM, can subscribe to one new share for each 20 shares it now holds.

Bell Aircraft, which shot ahead 4 points yesterday on the announcement of a new vertical lift jet plane, didn't open until near the start of the third hour today because of the heavy crush of buying orders that flooded in on the New York stock exchange.

Birmingham Man Hurt as Truck Overturns

Leslie M. Schafbuch, 50, of 23011 W. 13-Mile Rd., Birmingham, was treated by a private doctor for injuries suffered last night when a pickup truck, in which he was riding, overturned on Franklin road south of 13-Mile road.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies quoted the driver, Stillman C. Lawrence, 54, of 26051 12-Mile Rd., as saying when he swerved the truck to avoid an oncoming car, it skidded on the shoulder of the road and rolled over.

Solons Consult Neighbors

Pay-as-You-Go Road Plan Gaining Favor in Lansing

LANSING (AP)—Sentiment for a "pay-as-you-go" highway construction program, rather than Gov. Williams' bond issue plan, appeared to mount in the Legislature today as members went home to see what their neighbors thought.

The lawmakers ordered a weekend recess after caucuses designed to brief the Republican majority on alternative plans.

Pressure for immediate action was lightened when the state elections division reported it could wait until Feb. 23 to get a highway plan on the April ballot. Earlier, the division had set a mid-February deadline.

After a closed Republican caucus in the Senate, leaders said the majority appeared to favor building more roads with a tax increase on a pay-as-you-go basis, rather than by the 500 million dollar bond issue Williams advocates.

House Republican leaders said they would press ahead with plans to pass by next Thursday the Peltz "package" of a two-cent a gallon gasoline tax increase and permission for local governments to bond themselves for road improvements.

The fate of the Peltz bill was clouded by reports House Democrats would block immediate effect for the bill, thus making it impossible to get it on the spring ballot.

Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston), the House majority leader, said the Republican strategy might be to avoid an initial vote on immediate effect, send the bill to the Senate for passage and an immediate effect vote there and then bring it back to the House for a showdown.

Rep. Emil R. Peltz (R-Rogers City) accused Williams of campaigning last fall on a promise of more roads without tax increaase, but now advocating more taxes. Williams has proposed a half-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax boost and a 25 per cent increase in truck license fees.

The governor vetoed a gas tax increase in 1951 on the grounds that 120 million dollars a year was enough for highways. Now the governor is demanding 218 million a year, Peltz said.

Lattimore's Perjury Dismissal Contested

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government announced today it will appeal the decision by Federal Judge Luther W. Youngdahl dismissing a new perjury indictment against Owen Lattimore.

The decision to take the issue to the U.S. Court of Appeals was announced by U.S. Dist. Atty. Leo A. Rover.

Lattimore, controversial Far Eastern affairs specialist, was accused in the indictment of lying when he denied to a Senate committee that he had ever been a follower of the Communist line or a promoter of Red interests.

Judge Youngdahl in a decision Jan. 18 described the charges as "formless and obscure." He said that to require Lattimore to stand trial on them would "make a sham" of the Sixth Amendment which requires that a defendant be advised specifically of charges against him.

Lattimore had been scheduled to go on trial Feb. 14 but Rover suggested that in view of the appeal the trial be continued to some indefinite date or set far enough ahead to allow the Court of Appeals to rule.

Dems Pick Chicago as Convention Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Subject to National Committee approval, Democrats will nominate their presidential candidate next year at a convention opening Aug. 13, 1956, in Chicago.

Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler announced last night the selection of Chicago as a site, and said National Committee members will be asked to approve it in a mail poll. The tentative date had been announced earlier.

He said a site subcommittee unanimously selected Chicago over Philadelphia, the only other city bidding, after Chicago representatives agreed to certain suggestions made by subcommittee members.

The Republican National Committee will meet here Feb. 17 to decide on a place and date for the GOP convention. The last three national conventions of both parties have been held in the same cities.

Suggestion Plan Sets Records

GM Employes Turn In 192,030 Ideas in 1954; 46,995 Are Adopted

General Motors employes during 1954 set new records in the corporation's employe suggestion plan for the third straight year, it was revealed today.

In 1954, GM workers dropped 192,030 ideas into suggestion boxes, an increase of 10,000 over 1953, said Harry W. Anderson, vice president in charge of personnel staff.

"In addition, last year 46,995 suggestions were adopted and put into effect," he said. "For each adopted suggestion an award was paid and these awards totaled $2,467,513. Both of these totals also are new records."

Employes of Pontiac's three GM divisions turned in 2,751 acceptable ideas during the year worth awards totaling $165,833. The bulk went to Pontiac Motor Division workers who earned $107,678 through the plan.

The GM employe suggestion plan was started on a company-wide basis in 1942.

Since that time, workers have submitted 1,318,400 suggestions, 310,511 of which have been adopted, Anderson said. They have earned awards amounting to $14,119,764.

Emerson Alston, Automobile Club manager, will go to Detroit Monday for the annual statewide conference of auto club officials on 1955 Michigan motoring and touring activities.

Assistants who will accompany him include Henry McNalley, Kenneth Long, Robert L. Taft, Richard Warken, Edward Tynan, Kenneth Keener, Norlyn Schoof and R. M. Perry Jr.

GM Head Denies Stockpiling Cars

Curtice Tells Newsmen Sales, Not Strike Threat Make High Output

MIAMI (UP)—General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice yesterday denied that his company was stockpiling cars to "create a hedge" against any possible work interruption during pending negotiations with the CIO United Auto Workers.

"We do not plan production against contingencies of that kind," Curtice said. "At no time have we had in mind to provide inventory against a possible work interruption. We hope that GM and the United Auto Workers will resolve our differences at the bargaining table peacefully, as has been out custom in the past."

The question was put to Curtice by a reporter who said the possibility had been mentioned by "experts" in both labor and Wall Street circles.

Curtice said GM's current high rate of production was prompted by a great demand from dealers. He said GM has not yet been able to provide its dealers with a "comfortable selling stock" this year.

"The cars are going into the hands of the public at substantially the same rate as we are producing them despite the very high rate of production currently," Curtice said.

Trio Asks Hearing on Burglary Charge

Three 18-year-old Royal Oak youths, charged with nighttime breaking and entering of three Oakland County business establishments, demanded examination yesterday when they were arraigned by Springfield Justice Emmet J. Leib.

The trio, Mrs. Rosemary Anderson, Robert Isaacs and David LaMaster, were returned to the county jail when unable to post bonds of $7,500 each, pending the hearing Feb. 10.

Mrs. Anderson was arrested by Detroit Police while sitting in a parked car which contained five rifles police said were taken from the Waterford Hardware earlier this week. The trio is also accused of stealing from the Deer Lake Lumber Co. and a Berkley grocery store.

Isaac was arrested as he approached the auto and LaMaster was apprehended at his home by Royal Oak Police.

State Police of Pontiac Post are seeking another youth allegedly involved in the breakins.

OK School Plan at Waterford

11-Classroom Structure to Go Up at Hatchery, Crescent Lake Rds.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Final plans for the first of four new elementary schools have been approved by the Board of Education, after a special session with architect Eugene Cleland. The one-story structure will be built on the southeast corner of the site located on Crescent Lake and Hatchery Rds.

The project will be financed by the bond issue approved by the voters last year to allow the school district to acquire three additional school sites and construct four elementary buildings.

The new school will have 11 classrooms besides the kindergarten room, a teachers' lounge, and a suite which will include the principal's and secretary's offices and a waiting room.

Two rooms, having a folding partition, will adjoin the lobby, also by a folding partition, making an extra large auditorium.

The exterior will be of light red brick, and the interior walls of clay block which is of finer texture than cinder block. Acoustic ceilings with exposed laminated wood beams will be featured.

Landscaping will include a playground, a kindergarten play area, and a softball diamond. Lavatories will be accessible from the outside because of summer recreational possibilities.

This same plan, modified to fit the lay of the land, will be used on the three other sites. All four schools are expected to be finished by next January.

The Board of Education plans to advertise for bids February 18.

Student Swims to Safety in Icy Lake Michigan

GRAND HAVEN (UP)—Henry Miller, 24, a University of Illinois student, swam to safety in icy waters of Lake Michigan yesterday when an ice floe from which he was taking pictures of ice formations broke loose.

Miller, who was visiting a friend here, took off his shoes and parka before leaping into the water from the drifting floe north of municipal pier. He swam to solid ice and walked to shore in his stocking feet without any ill effects.

Navy Lowering Flag on Oldest Warship Afloat

BOSTON (AP)—The oldest warship in the world afloat, the USS Constellation, went into decommissioned status today for the fourth time in her 157-year career.

Lord Nelson's flagship, Victory, is older, but she long has rested in drydock at Portsmouth, Eng.

The Navy said it decided to haul down the Constellation's pennant for the last time so her token complement of sailors could be released for other duty.

The naval shipyard will maintain the Constellation in minimum repair pending possible transfer to civilian interests for restoration as a national memorial.

She was launched at Baltimore on Sept. 7, 1797, six weeks before her sister ship, the Constitution, better known as Old Ironsides. The latter vessel also is at the Boston Naval Shipyard, restored as a naval memorial through the contribution of pennies by school children.

The Constellation previously was decommissioned from 1837 to 1840, from 1858 to 1859 and from 1893 to 1914.

Youth Night Getting Favorable Reception

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Township Recreation Department sponsored "Youth Night" is meeting with a large response from area teenagers, according to Thomas Belton, superintendent of recreation.

Membership cards entitling the owner to admission to the weekly Thursday night sessions and a chance to participate in the planning of the program, have been popularly received.

"More than 100 were purchased the first night they were offered, which reflects a future potential of 400 to 500 members," Belton added.

The program is designed to provide facilities and program for high school students to dance, play games and have fun in a supervised atmosphere. Also available for the youngsters is table tennis, shuffleboard, and a dairy bar.

Fears Congress Would Become Show on Video

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) today was accused of favoring turning Congress sessions "into a show."

The 79-year-old Michigan Republican yesterday declared himself in favor of televising Congress. He said the House has a number of "young, eloquent" men who would profit by television, even to the point of putting across "illogical" arguments.

That, commented Rep. Leo O'Brien (D-NY), is exactly what he is afraid of, O'Brien, a man of wide experience as a radio-television commentator, said cameras in the Capitol would turn it "into a show."

He said committee might go so far as holding night sessions "when the real audience is around" and hiring TV star Lucille Ball as a "consultant."

Dr. Butcher will speak on "Some Problems of Desegregation" at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 9, under the sponsorship of the AAUW. A luncheon at the Community House, for which reservations must be made by Feb. 7, will precede the lecture.

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Thomas J. Whinery (R-Grand Rapids) said today he may have to send a subcommittee out in the field to get information on a bill to outlaw nudist camps.

Whinery is chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which is studying the bill.

"I can't say right now how I would vote on the bill," he said. "It may be we'll have to send a subcommittee out to one of the camps when it gets warmer."

2 Groups Slate Fashion Show

Event Set for March 23 to Help Pay Mortgage on CAI Building

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Plans for a spring fashion show were detailed yesterday when the Waterford branch of the National Farm and Garden Association met at the CAI Building. The project, which is co-sponsored by this group and the CAI Women' Auxiliary, is being planned to help pay off the mortgage on the community activities building.

Last summer, nearly $20.00 was still owing on the mortgage. The Women's Auxiliary contributed $3,000 but $1,800 was allocated for repairing the roof.

The annual fair netted beween $3,000 and $4,000, a number of "mortgage lifters" and life memberships at $100 a piece were secured, and a few other small projects helped to whittle the amount still owing down to less than $12,000.

The two women's groups have 600 tickets which they are selling at a dollar apiece for this event which is to take place March 23, at 8 p.m. in the CAI Auditorium. The fashions will be by Alvins' and additional attractions will include entertainment and door prizes.

Mrs. F. S. Jennings is the general chairman from the garden club and Mrs. Richard Hawke heads the Women's Auxiliary group.

164,295 Autos Mark for Week

Output in Current 7-Day Period Only Little Less Than Record Figure

DETROIT (AP) — Ward's Automotive Reports said today the nation's auto plants will build 164,295 cars and 18,601 trucks this week.

This compares with 160,666 cars and 22,588 trucks built last week. In the like 1954 week 108,150 cars and 19,846 trucks were built.

Despite the sharp decline in truck output this week, Ward's said, the combined car and truck total is only slightly under the record weekly mark of 196,348 units produced in the week ended June 17, 1950.

Ward's said the car makers are scheduling a February volume of 666,000 cars. It put January output at 659,457 cars.

Canadian vehicle assemblies this week will come to 6,614 cars and 721 trucks, Ward's estimated. Last week dominion plants built 6,524 cars and 690 trucks. In the comparable 1953 week 9,019 cars and 2,027 trucks were produced.

Police Hold Four in Inn Burglary

Pontiac Police and Oakland County sheriff's detectives today are holding four youths in connection with a breakin at West Bloomfield Township's Cloverleaf Inn early this morning when thieves stole an estimated $160, smashed about 20 bottles of liquor and damaged nine vending machines.

Police reported th eyouths already have admitted some 14 breakins in the city and county.

Herbert Dobson, owner of the inn, said liquor was poured over the floor and bar and mixed with beer. The vending machines were damaged beyond repair, he said.

Detroit Files Suit in Drainage Case

The city of Detroit yesterday filed suit in an attempt to get a Circuit Court order restraining Oakland County and the city of Huntington Woods from collecting an $864.30 special drainage assessment.

A drain built by the county in 1925 services land in Royal Oak Township including Horace Rackham Municipal Golf Course and Detroit Zoological Park which are owned by Detroit.

Payment of special assessments to retire bonds issued to finance the project fell behind and a refinancing plan was worked out in 1941, the city states in a bill of particulars.

Detroit was billed for $864.30 under the refinancing plan Dec. 9 last year, it states. The city claims the zoo and golf course are used for "governmental" and "public" purposes and asserts it is not required to pay the assessment under the law.

No hearing date has been set for Oakland County to attempt to show why an order stopping collection should not be issued.

Money in Laundry Bag Gets Taken to Cleaners

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Joe Lopez, a bartender, thinks he may have been taken to the cleaners — or something.

Lopez told police he put $81 in change in a bank sack after he closed the tavern early Tuesday. He said he hid the sack in a laundry bag in the basement.

The laundryman picked up the bag Tuesday afternoon.

Police said weary laundry workers searched through thousands of pounds of soiled clothes but the money still was missing yesterday.

Mystery Veils Baltimore Death

Body Supposed to Be Doctor-General; Army Lists No Such Officer

BALTIMORE (AP)—A man died in bed without a sign of violence. It was as simple as that, but the case plauging police here and in New York is loaded with mystery.

The body was found sprawled across the bed in a room at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. The clues:

The room was registered to a Dr. Edward James Phillips, of New York City. But New York medical directories list no Dr. Edward James Phillips.

A New York acquaintance who had known Phillips for two years said he was a brigadier general in the Army Medical Corps stationed at Ft. Jay in New York harbor. But no such officer is listed or known by officials at either Ft. Jay or the Pentagon in Washington.

A dinner honoring Phillips reportedly was to have been given at the Waldorf-Astoria Wednesday night. But the banquet department at the Waldorf said there were no reservations for such a party.

Dr. Russell H. Fisher, state medical examiner, said a preliminary autopsy showed the man's death was due to a "potent-acting group of barbiturates" or a simple overdose of phenobarbital.

But police found no indications that the man had been taking phenobarbital—no pills or pill bottles.

And here's the "piece de resistance" for the amateur criminologist: Phillips' wife said in New York he called her from his hotel room at 12:42 a.m. Wednesday—17 minutes after a telegram announcing his death was phoned from a pay station in the lobby.

The telegram was sent to Dr. Erna Gutenstein, a New York dentist, who told police Phillips was a general. She said she had been invited to the testimonial dinner, but had received a telegram saying:

"It is with sincere regret that I must inform you that dinner will be canceled Wednesday evening due to sudden death of Edward James Phillips from heart attack in Baltimore." The wire was signed "Robert Ritter."

Police found from Western Union records that the telegram had been sent from the pay station at 12:25 a.m. Wednesday. The body was discovered about 5 p.m. Wednesday after Dr. Gutenstein called the hotel to ask details.

Dr. Gutenstein said ft was her understanding a retired Army colonel by the name of Robert Ritter was to have been guest speaker at the dinner.

Detective Lt. George Klemmick quoted Mrs. Phillips that her husband called her at 12:42 a.m. to say the dinner might have to be canceled. She said he told her the guest speaker had died.

A woman at the Phillips apartment in New York said Mrs. Phillips was in a state of collapse last night after hearing the news and was unable to talk to anyone. She was scheduled to come here in a few days to identify the body.

Army Offers Plan for Assured Duty

Under the new program, "Operation Gyroscope," enlistees, veterans or present U. S. Army personnel, can now sign up for the 10th Infantry Division, with assurance that after a three-year stay in Europe their permanent home base will be Fort Riley, Kan.

In making the announcement M. Sgt. Raymond Barriault, of the Pontiac Army recruiting service, explained that the 10th Infantry is scheduled to replace the 1st Infantry Division in Europe this summer.

In turn, the 1st will return to Fort Riley for three years.

This is the first in a series of division switches to be made each year, Barriault said. The program has been designed to eliminate many of the uncertainties a career soldier faces, he said.

Those interested in the new three-year rotating system may contact Barriault at the recruiting station, 53½ W. Huron St.

They Might Meet Again, but Not if He Can Help It

SEOUL (UP) — Police searched today for two burglars who robbed a minister and then handed him a note which said "Let us meet again in heaven."

The reverse side of the note cautioned the minister not to inform the police because "you are a clergyman."

Public Reaction Biggest Problem

Would Mean That FCC Must Remove Present Ban of Fee Services

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest battle in television's short history may break out shortly when the Federal Communications Commission begins formal consideration of subscription TV.

Fighting more heated and intense even than that which raged over color is in prospect over the proposal to put a tollgate on channels over which the public has been receiving free entertainment.

Proponents of subscription TV say it would not interfere with free programs but would enable viewers, by paying a fee, to see first-run films, hit Broadway plays and other features not now available. And they say their surveys indicate the public would be willing to pay for premium entertainment, free of commercials.

Public arguments have been raging for months over the practical and technical aspects of pay-as-you-see video but those points will remain immaterial until the FCC approves or disapproves.

Many complexities cloud the issue, but the overriding problem is public reaction to any change by the FCC of its historic ban on the use by any fee service of channels reserved for home listeners and viewers. It could well become a hot political issue.

Consequently, all signs indicate that it may be years before the issue is settled.

With subscription TV a station would be allowed for a certain number of hours a week to scramble its telecasts for premium-type shows. Only viewers who had paid their fees, and had the required unscrambling devices for their sets, would be able to watch. Three companies have conducted tests of toll TV systems, Zenith Radio Corp. of Chicago, Skiatron Electronics of New York and International Telemeter Corp. of Los Angeles, affiliate of Paramount Pictures. One type of unscrambler provides for the viewer to insert coins in a slot. Another operates with a coded punch card the viewer would buy at a corner drugstore or order by mail.

New York Cops Using Color Photos for Files

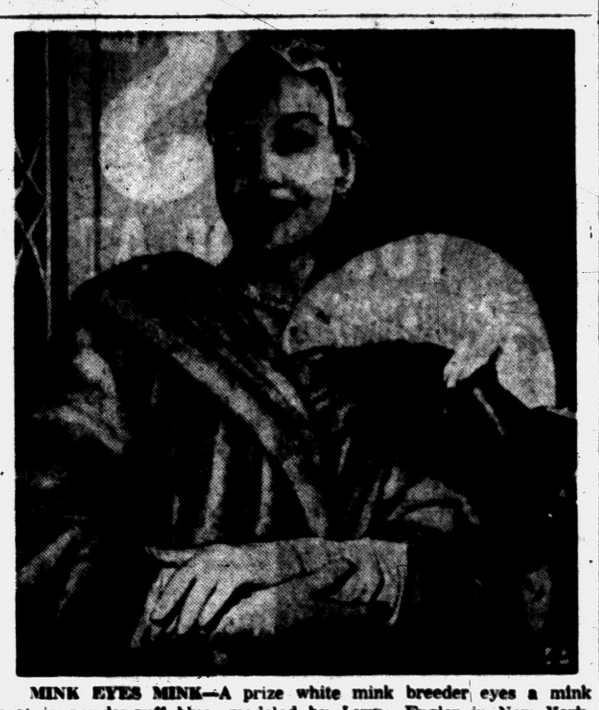

NEW YORK (AP)—The Police Department's Bureau of Criminal Identification is photographing suspects in color.

Police photographers said today the 35-mm. transparencies, seen through a viewer, give more depth to the photos and cause identifying marks such as scars to show up more clearly.

Thus far the bureau is taking only full-length shots in color. The so-called "mugging" photos of a suspect's face still are being made in conventional black and white.

He Proved His Point

BOISE, Idaho, (AP) — State Sen. Andreas Aikele received new support yesterday for an argument he put up earlier in the legislative session that the Senate's chairs were "obsolete." One of them fell over with him during a session recess.

MINK EYES MINK—A prize white mink breeder eyes a mink coat in powder-puff blue, modeled by Lynne Engler in New York. The coat costs $10,000, has spiral pushup sleeves and a large collar. The animal costs as much as the coat.

TV Court Fan Urges Encore for 'Bad Actor'

DETROIT (INS)—Televiewers in the Detroit area enjoyed actor Ralph Evans' performance on traffic Judge John D. Watts' TV show Tuesday night—all except one, that is.

TV fan Henry Cooney, 42, of Detroit, telephoned police after the show and announced: "I just saw a guy on television who strong-armed me the other night."

Judge Watts was amazed when police asked him to check up on the cast of his show, which is called "Traffic Court" and re-enacts actual cases tried in Detroit's Traffic Court.

Evans was brought in for a showup at police headquarters today and Cooney declared: "That's the man. He and another map robbed me of $6 on Jan. 11."

The 27-year-old Evans is a clerk in traffic court and was asked by Judge Watts if he'd like to appear on the show.

Evans was booked on a charge of armed robbery today.

Said Judge Watts:

"He played the part of a man who got a ticket for speeding on private property, and was acquitted because he knew his rights."

After hearing the full story Watts exclaimed:

"I thought he was a pretty good actor, but it looks like he's a bad actor."

However, the judge was pleased at the thought Evans' skit had been last on the program. He said: "Well, anyhow, it shows they watch the program to the finish."

Police to Wear Yellow

DETROIT (AP)— Detroit motorcycle cops soon are going to wear bright yellow raincoats with blue collars when they're on nighttime duty. But the new garb has nothing to do with fashion. Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins said the bright yellow will make it easier for motorists to see the policemen.

Determine Disaster Aid

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA) says its regional offices at Thomasville, Ga., and Denton, Tex., are surveying recent tornado damage in eastern Arkansas, northern Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee to see if federal aid is required.

Modern Rip Van Winkle

Noble Looks at U. S. Life With Wonder, Puzzlement

DETROIT (UP) — John Noble, who spent nearly a third of his 31 years in Russian prison camps, said today that life has been one surprise after another since he returned to America.

The modern Rip Van Winkle said most of the new things he's encountered have been "wonderful," but he said others were puzzling and some of them downright distasteful.

Noble had a lot of nice things to say about American automobiles, airplanes, expressways and television. Not so with popular music and women's short haircuts.

"Popular music is like Russian music," he said. "When you first hear it you don't think you can stand it. But after you listen to it long enough you reach the point where you no longer hear it."

Noble said some women "look as if their hair had been gnawed off by a rat."

"When I left this country in 1938 women really looked like women because they wore their hair at shoulder length," he said.

Noble, who lived in Germany for seven years before the Soviets imprisoned him, said he was "very much impressed" by the number of Americans who own and drive automobiles. In Russia, he said, only the rich and the politically powerful have cars.

The only thing wrong with the new Detroit models, according to Noble, is that they all look the same.

"They are beautiful but they all look alike, except for the color," he said. "When I left this country the autos were of the old square type, but at least you could tell one from another."

Noble said the Russians patterned their cars after German and American models but said that the Soviet cars were not as well built. He said most Russian cars had to be cranked because they didn't have self-starters.

"And unlike Americans, the Russians ruin their autos quickly because they lack the mechanical knowledge which every American schoolboy takes for granted," he said.

Noble said the first time he realized how out of touch he had been with the world during his 10 years captivity was when he boarded the airliner which carried him from England to the United States.

Except for some Soviet jets flying thousands of feet up, he said the plane was the first "really modern" one he ever saw.

The former Communist prisoner's first taste of television came early last month when he appeared on telecasts originating in New York and Detroit.

"I appeared on television before I ever saw it," he said.
