Ward Dies, Leaving Note; Playboy GuesSED Verdict

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward died Saturday, leaving a final note saying that he had taken his own life. "It's a wish not to let them get me," he wrote. "I'd rather get myself."

The note was released by Jack Wheatley, lawyer for the playboy-osteopath who took an overdose of drugs Wednesday just hours before he was convicted of two vice charges in Britain's biggest sex and political scandal of the century.

Ward never regained consciousness to be told about his conviction, but he anticipated the verdict.

"After Justice Archie Marshall's summing up, I've given up all hope," he wrote.

Ward had lain in a coma at St.

Stephen's Hospital since being rushed there Wednesday morning. The jury rendered its verdict of guilty in Ward's absence.

SENTENCE POSTPONED

But the sentence—which could have been up to 14 years in prison—was postponed.

Court officials marked the case closed with Ward's death.

Ward, 56, spent his last night before the trial climax at the Chelsea apartment of Noel Howard Jones, one of the few friends who testified for him at the hearing.

The note released by Wheatley was addressed to Jones. It was written in spidery handwriting which trailed off to near-illlegibility toward the end. His letters, at first were upright, then began tilting over.

Several other notes also are expected to be handed to the coroner for the inquest.

"It's really more than I can stand—the horror day after day at the court and in the streets," Ward wrote. "It's not only fear. It's a wish not to let them get me. I'd rather get myself."

CAR NEEDED OIL

He had sufficient presence of mind to remind Jones that the Ward car needed oil in the gear box.

"Be happy in it," he wrote. "Incidentally (sic), it was surprisingly easy and required no guts. I'm sorry to disappoint the vultures. I only hope this has done the job: Delay resuscitation as long as possible."

His life ended in a flower-filled but guarded room at St. Stephen's Hospital.

Ward was convicted of living off the earnings of two call girls propelled into notoriety by the scandal, as was Ward himself. They are Mandy Rice-Jones, 18, and Christine Keeler, 21.

Miss Keeler, long a friend of Ward, testified against him when he testified against him with John D. Profumo, who resigned as secretary of war because of the scandal. Ward introduced them.

A prison ward watched over Ward in the room on the top floor of St. Stephen's Hospital.

Technically, Ward had been in custody since the trial judge canceled his $3,400 bail and reserved sentence until the osteopath was well enough to attend court.

An electronic lung pumped air into his lungs through a tube in his throat.

Another carried nourishment in the form of saline, vitamin and glucose solution into his wrist.

Beside his bed an electrocardiograph machine measured his faltering heartbeats.

Train Derailed; Crash Kills 30 in S. America

Unknown Saboteurs Injure More Than 100 Near Uruguay Capital

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—At least 30 persons were killed and more than 100 injured yesterday night in a passenger train derailment which the state-owned railroad said was staged by saboteurs.

The three-coach train, carrying 200 passengers, veered onto a siding at 45 miles an hour and smashed into freight cars parked at a fertilizer plant.

Crews worked through the night to rescue passengers trapped in the twisted coaches along the little-used siding in a suburb eight miles from Montevideo.

Juan C. Funes, president of Uruguay's National Railroad, said that "criminal hands forced the lock of the track points system" and held the switch open by placing stones between the rails and the switch lever, shunting the train onto the siding.

ROCKS ON TRACKS

Another railroad official said the saboteurs also had placed heavy rocks on the tracks.

Engineer Nestor Martinez said he had seen the switch pointed the wrong way about 20 yards before the train reached the siding. He said he slammed on the brake but it was too late.

The coaches snapped from the locomotive and were smashed. The engine hurtled into the freight cars.

The siding turns off the main track at a sharp angle; Martinez said freight trains using the siding negotiate the turn at 10 miles an hour.

Bodies were taken to a nearby army barracks and morgues for identification.

U.S. Fights Harsh Action on S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States held out today against punitive action by the Security Council, but African states pressed doggedly for a harsh boycott aimed at white-supremacist South Africa.

African diplomats said they have drawn up a tentative resolution that would have the 11-nation

LONDON (P)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home said today Britain will continue selling arms to South Africa despite the decision of the United States to impose a boycott.

council put South Africa under an arms and oil embargo and crack down with a full economic and diplomatic boycott. The measure also would call for South Africa's suspension from U.N. membership.

Sponsors of the move said that Ghana, Morocco and the Philippines were consulting other council members to see how much of the resolution would win approval.

The United States was understood to feel that a council call for a break in diplomatic and economic relations would constitute enforcement action which it could not support.

But the Americans reportedly held that a recommended arms embargo would be a means of peaceful adjustment of the situation, which they could vote for.

Hearings Completed on JFK Rights Plan

WASHINGTON (P)—President Kennedy's civil rights program has passed the first turn in the long winding road toward enactment—completion of lengthy hearings by two congressional committees.

The committees are expected to start writing their bills soon. The prospect in the House is that the floor battle over civil rights legislation won't be started until after Labor Day.

The outlook in the Senate is even cloudier.

The House Judiciary Committee concluded three months of hearings on the President's seven-point program yesterday while the Senate Commerce Committee was winding up five weeks of hearings on one plank—a bill to prohibit racial discrimination in places of public accommodations.

A total of 114 students completed high school requirements in summer school, but only part of them participated in last night's ceremonies in the Pontiac Central auditorium.

Arnold W. Embree, director of guidance and pupil personnel for Pontiac schools, was the commencement speaker. Embree's address was entitled "Not for Sale."

Is Determined to Insure Peace

MOSCOW (P)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Moscow today with a declaration that the United States is determined to follow up the signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty Monday with other steps to insure peace.

"This could be the turning point in the affairs of mankind," he said. Foreign Secretary Andrei A. Gromyko, who will sign the treaty for the Soviet Union, said "it would be good if this could be the starting point for big events. I hope it will be," he said.

Rounding out the Big Three group, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home arrived from London. He hinted to London reporters before taking off that dealings of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union eventually may lead to a summit conference.

Gromyko welcomed Rusk and a party of top Washington administration officials and six U.S. senators on their arrival in a U.S. Air Force jet plane at Moscow's Vnukovo Airport.

In his arrival speech, Rusk said the government and people of the United States are determined to seek other steps to ensure peace.

"The agreement we are about to sign," he said, "could prevent the world from becoming more dangerous."

He said this was his first visit to the Soviet Union and more over that it was the first visit here by a secretary of state in 16 years.

"I carry a greeting from the President and people of the United States to the government and the people of the Soviet Union," Rusk said.

"We come here with hope and resolve to try to make the treaty a turning point in the affairs of mankind."

Rusk and Gromyko pumped each other's hands warmly when they met at the foot of the plane ramp. They posed for photographers briefly with their hands clasped together.

Both men swapped jokes and threw their heads back in laughter.

Some wives of Russian officials handed wives of the American delegates bunches of red and pink carnations.

Rusk is hopeful that during his stay the Russians will spell out precisely what Khrushchev had in mind in his suggestions for a nonaggression pact, stationing of inspectors on each side of the Iron Curtain to prevent a sneak attack, freezing or reducing military.

Thant to Unveil Plan at Confab

Seeks Reduction in World's Tensions

NEW YORK (P)—United Nations Secretary General U Thant today left for ceremonies in Moscow marking the signing of the partial nuclear test-ban treaty and announced he was taking with him a plan under which the United States, Russia and Great Britain could further relax world tensions.

Thant said he hoped to outline his steps to reduce tensions to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the U.S. and British representatives at the treaty signing.

The secretary general said "the necessary steps" which he would like to propose "could be taken without their (the three powers) losing any strategic, political or ideological positions."

"I feel that the atmosphere will be congenial for the presentation of these views," Thant said.

Thant said that he hoped to voice his proposals during the ceremonies marking the signing of the treaty. Thant said if the opportunity did not arise during the actual ceremony, he hoped to bring up the subject at either lunch or dinner.

The ceremony will be held on Monday afternoon.

Thant declined to spell out the content of his proposals.

"I don't want to reveal my thoughts at this stage," he explained.

Severe Storms Due in South of State

KANSAS CITY (P)—A severe weather forecast was issued today for southern Lower Michigan, the extreme northeast portion of Indiana, most of northern and a portion of east central Ohio, the extreme west portion of Pennsylvania and the extreme north tip of northwest West Virginia.

The forecast:

"Scattered severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds are expected this Saturday afternoon and evening from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m. Pontiac time in the area 60 miles either side of a line from 20 miles southwest of Grand Rapids, Mich., to 20 miles northeast of Pittsburgh, Pa."

The development takes in more than 27-acres by the eastern and western loops of the perimeter road between Water Street and Whittemore.

Langs said the plans will be modified according to the needs of residents and local businessmen. He expects most of the buildings, except the shopping center, to be multistory; but the size of each depends on the demand.

For example, the developer said one 120-unit apartment building is planned, but if enough people indicate they would like to live there a second building will be erected.

Inquiries should be directed to the urban renewal office, Pontiac city hall.

U.N. Warns North Korea Amid New Battle Reports

PANMUNJOM, Korea (P)—Amid reports of new fighting on the uneasy Korean truce line, the U.N. Command warned today that Communist North Korea must curb its "bloodthirsty marauders" immediately or it will invite its own destruction.

Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior delegate from the U.N. Command on the armistice commission, charged the North Koreans with deliberate, malicious assaults in U.N.-controlled territory which have killed three Americans and wounded a fourth since July 29.

"North Korea brushed aside the charges as 'fabrications'—in one of the hottest exchanges in 10 years of armistice commission meetings.

Earlier Cloud said Communist troops had intruded into the U.N. Command portion of the demilitarized zone at 4:30 a.m. today and fresh firing had broken out between American and Communist troops.

Cloud said the clash had taken place about 180 yards south of the military demarcation line running through the center of the demilitarized zone. He did not elaborate and mentioned no casualties.

An American officer told news outside the armistice meeting that he had thrown eight hand grenades in the latest reported clash. He said an American patrol had been flanked in the fighting and forced to withdraw.

No major casualties were reported on either side. An American soldier was treated for a shrapnel splinter in one hand, but it was believed it might have come from a U.S. grenade.

Cloud, a Marine, said 50 Soviet-made cartridge cases had been found at the scene along with an unexploded Soviet-type grenade.

For New Development

Public Support Needed

Public reaction is the key to the success of the proposed development of urban renewal lands in downtown Pontiac.

Charles L. Langs, exclusive developer for the central business district properties, disclosed plans last week for a multimillion dollar commercial complex in the area.

Langs' plans include an apartment building, "prestige" office building, a shopping center, and a combined shopping and parking area.

Race Strife Appears to Ease in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago's worst racial outbreak in two years appeared to be easing today after a day of rioting and police activity curbed sullen demonstrators in what had been feared would be a night of violence.

Only minor incidents flared in the old Irish neighborhood on the city's South Side, where for five consecutive nights large crowds have gathered to protest the move of three Negro families.

Police, who said their tolerance was wearing thin, roared down sidewalks on motorcycles and swarmed over the community to break up gatherings of demonstrators.

Forty-seven persons were arrested, 26 minors and 21 adults, bringing the five-day total to 180.

Authorities feared last night would be the most explosive of the week. It was pay day for most of the working class residents and the weekend stretched before them. The citywide curfew was in effect.

Police especially feared the end of the college All-Star football game would send people streaming into the streets from in front of television sets in taverns and homes. But the final gun sounded and nothing happened.

TAUNTING TEENES
Earlier in the evening, white teenagers roamed the neighborhood in packs. Some flaunted swastika armbands and taunted bus officers.

The Nazi emblems read "America First" and "Gods for Blacks." Police ripped the armbands from the youngsters.

Priests and ministers circulated through the crowd, asking people to return to their homes.

"We don't want integration," one man yelled at a priest. "We've heard enough from you blinsheds."

Most of the demonstrators were teen-agers. When police tried to disperse them, they taunted the officers, "What did I do? What did I do?"

A Negro youth was seized by police when a group of Negroes overturned a white man's car.

Massive civil rights demonstrations also continued in New York City yesterday where alleged job hiring discrimination is being protested at city construction projects.

Police arrested 34 persons on charges of disorderly conduct or resisting arrest at Brooklyn's Downstate Medical Center construction site, raising to nearly 700 the number of arrests at the site.

In the South, the racial situation was relatively quiet, and Negro leaders hailed a major break through at Charleston, S.C., where 27 merchants gave in to desegregation demands. Integrationists also hinted that a similar agreement was near at Savannah, Ga.

"Begin complying with every provision of the armistice agreement, which your side has so flagrantly violated for over 10 years. The patience of the people of Korea, the U.N. Command and the world is not without limits. I demand that your side provide positive assurances that these provocations will cease and that your side will begin to comply with the armistice agreement," signed July 27, 1953.

Gen. Chong Hwang, the North Korean delegate, said his side had investigated the charges, which he called "fabrications."

Cloud later put two Soviet-made submachine guns and two automatic pistols on the conference table and said they had been taken from the North Korean raiders.

Fire Destroys Restaurant on Woodward

A partially demolished restaurant in Bloomfield Hills was gutted by fire during the early hours today, causing damage to telephone lines.

The former Bloomfield Bar-B-Q, at 1620 Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, was destroyed by the blaze. In addition, a dump truck parked next to the building was badly damaged.

Bloomfield Hills firemen said problems with telephone, gas, and power lines kept them at the scene until shortly after 6 a.m. today. The fire broke out at 1:45 a.m.

The fire burned out an estimated 150 circuits, hampering local calls between Pontiac and communities south of the fire.

A Michigan Bell Telephone Co. testman said crews were sent to the scene about 2 a.m.

Service was being restored this morning.

The former restaurant was vacant. The roof had been removed by demolition crews who are readying the site for a gas station.

Capt. R. Wachtel said that with the roof gone "it made a nice furnace." He said the firemen concentrated on protecting the neighboring buildings.

Lizards Hit Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Entroncamento, a town in central Portugal, reported yesterday it has been plagued by "countless

Six Persons Die in Collision of Auto and Truck

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (AP)—A head-on collision of a station wagon and a pickup truck on a rain-slicked, narrow canyon highway Friday killed six of the seven persons in the two vehicles.

State patrolmen said the truck driver, Paul A. Graziade, 21, of Boulder, Colo., riding alone, had lost control while passing three cars on two-lane U.S. 6 about 54 miles west of Denver.

The truck skidded broadside and slammed into the oncoming station wagon driven by William G. Felix, 46, Lafayette, Colo., the patrolmen said.

Rescuers worked three hours freeing the bodies and the lone survivor, Gene Dain Frayle, 16, Lafayette, from the crumpled station wagon. Graziade's truck plunged over a 15-foot embankment and landed on its top.

Beside the drivers, others who died were Felix's wife, Margaret, 44; their son, William G. Felix Jr., 6; Mrs. Felix's father, Floyd T. Blankenship, 72, also Lafayette; and Mary Merritt Decatur, 33, who was visiting the Felix family.

U.S. Proposals Eyed by Rails

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad negotiators consider today new government suggestions for trying to reach a settlement of the labor dispute that threatens a nationwide rail strike before the month is out.

The suggestions, given to both sides by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz in separate meetings Friday night, dealt with key issues in the work-rules dispute which both Congress and the White House are trying to help solve.

Wirtz said afterward that he had not offered recommendations for settling the issues themselves but made suggestions to labor and management representatives to "permit them to negotiate in the most effective fashion."

He declined to give details but had said earlier that his suggestions would deal with the key issues of firemen's jobs and the makeup of train crews.

The new work rules planned by the railroads would eliminate thousands of jobs, mostly those of the firemen. The five on-train unions say they would strike the minute the rules were put into effect.

The latest deadline for the postponed showdown is Aug. 29. The railroads agreed to postpone the new work rules until that date in order to give Congress time to consider President Kennedy's proposal to turn the rail dispute over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Both House and Senate Commerce committees have completed public hearings on the President's proposal and have scheduled closed sessions next week to consider the legislation. Union leaders oppose Kennedy's formula for settling the four-year dispute on grounds it would amount to compulsory arbitration.

Legislature May Form Ethics Unit

LANSING (AP)—Establishment of a three-member bipartisan committee on ethics may be proposed to the legislature to review questions of conflict of interest involving state officers and lawmakers.

The proposal was approved tentatively yesterday by a joint legislative subcommittee planning for implementation of the administrative agency and executive provisions of the state's new constitution which goes into effect Jan. 1.

Under the plan, the ethics committee would be named by the governor to serve under the attorney general's office. It could issue advisory opinions in advance on possible conflicts of interest and make findings where an official is accused of such an offense.

Decisions of the committee would be based on a code of ethics to be formulated by the legislature.

No more than two of the three members of the ethics committee would be from the same political party and their length of term would be at the pleasure of the governor.

If the committee decided that a conflict of interest existed in the case of a contract with the state, the agreement could be declared void.

A provision would be included, however, which would allow a contractor to recover money already spent on a project — but not to make a profit.

In drawing up a code of ethics, the legislature would establish a statutory definition of a "state officer" and describe the transactions, conduct and actions that would create a conflict of interest.

There Is Indeed a Tide in the Affairs of Men ...

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—As the tide rose yesterday, a man edged up the steps to the beach one-by-one until the water came to his neck.

Investigating police said he had gone for a swim in his undershorts, lost them, then found that the tide had washed away the rest of his clothes.

City's Airport Problem Similar to New York's

Currently this area is giving thought and study to the airport problem. In this connection, it's interesting to see what New York City is doing.

If Idlewild isn't the biggest airport in the world, it will give stern battle to anyone that claims it's larger. And Idlewild is barely completed. In fact, many sectors haven't been finished. Then New York has La Guardia which handled the New York traffic by itself before Idlewild was built. Currently, they're re-doing La Guardia. Also, New York steadily uses the Newark airport which is just across the river.

Idlewild, the great giant, is so crowded four hours every day right now that a traffic jam results and becomes a positive menace. Air authorities are declaring that New York needs another huge field. They assert that unless an entirely independent port of gigantic size is completed within four years, additional flights will have to be waved away from New York for a lack of space to land.

Pontiac's municipal airport is very busy. But it's a long way from completed. We only possess one runway and that's a tremendous stumbling block just in itself. Secondly, the strip we possess is too short to handle the big planes.

Either the new airport to the north will have to be built, or the current spot increased in every dimension. We are woefully inadequate to handle the onrush of air traffic that we can expect in the future.

All Aid to Indonesia Should Be Restricted

"Defend me from my friends. I can defend myself from my enemies" said Frenchman MARSEILLE VILLARS, the victim of a pretty sinister, political plot during the reign of LOUIS XIV.

To that Uncle Sam can say "Amen" as he eyes attempts of Indonesian's President Ahmed Sukarno, professed neutralist and beneficiary of much U.S. economic and military aid, to sabotage the nascent grouping of states known as the Federation of Malaysia.

Broomfield

The federation, to become effective Aug. 31, comprises Malaysia, Singapore, Sarawak and British North Borneo. It has been hailed as a significant move in the preservation of peace among the 140 million people continually at swords' points in Southeast Asia.

But Sukarno seems bent on terrorization of neighboring countries and pursuit of ambitions for expansion and conquest.

To this end he is engaged in flagrant obstructionist tactics in North Borneo. A considerable portion of his large naval fleet soon will begin maneuvers in adjacent waters. And within the past few days, the Borneo government arrested 21 Indonesian nationalists and expelled 2 counselor officers in charges of subversion.

Congressman WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD, member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, has expressed strong disapproval of our state department's supine attitude toward the intransigent SUKARNO.

Charging that the "new Hitler of the Orient" is attempting to wreck the federation before it is born, the congressman, despite Administration disagreement, would eliminate the foreign aid bill under consideration all further aid to Indonesia until such time as its ruler forswears disruptive international adventures. We agree with the congressman.

Kennedy's Vague on U.S. Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's very vagueness about two of his constant headaches, France and Red China, one an ally and one an enemy, show the depths of an American dilemma which may last for years.

1. The Chinese Dilemma — What to expect when the Red Chinese have nuclear bombs; although they may make plenty of trouble before they do, and what to expect when the present generation of old-time leaders is gone.

2. The French Dilemma — How to get along now with President de Gaulle, in order to keep the Western alliance together, and then what to expect when this old-time is also gone.

MARLOW

Last Monday, a few days after the United States, Britain and Russia agreed to a limited nuclear test ban, de Gaulle said he would not join so long as they continue to produce nuclear arms. They didn't agree to not.

He also said he wanted no part of something else. This was Premier Khrushchev's suggestion of a nonaggression treaty between the Western partners and their opposite number, Russia and its European satellites.

Ever since Monday — and it is understood the orders came from the White House — the State Department has clammed up on the subject of de Gaulle, saying practically nothing about his obstructionism.

Reporters told President Kennedy would do the talking at his news conference Tuesday. He talked but in a very real sense said nothing, giving no indication this country has yet figured out how to get de Gaulle to play ball.

What he seemed to express was bafflement.

Was this country considering giving some of its nuclear secrets to de Gaulle, secrets which might make it unnecessary for him to test, in order to persuade him not to? Kennedy glossed over this.

He said what was already long known: That de Gaulle had turned down this country's offer of Polaris missiles, an offer the British accepted. He said this country had made some suggestions to de Gaulle about cooperation but got no reply.

But even if the icy de Gaulle melted a bit, cooperation and stopping being a problem, this country couldn't even guess at what might come when de Gaulle, now 72, is out of the picture.

The French government has been the most chaotic and unstable in Western Europe since the war. De Gaulle had to come out of retirement and take over the presidency to put it on its feet. That may be strictly temporary.

When he finally departs any one of a number of things may happen: More chaos, civil war, a dictatorship of the right or left. The Red Chinese, breaking with Russia and determined to make their own nuclear weapons, not only refuse to join the test ban agreement but call the whole thing a fraud.

Kennedy said he thought it a menacing situation that (1) China's population, biggest in the world, is exploding, (2) it is almost surrounded by smaller and weaker nations, (3) it wants to achieve world communism, and (4) in 10 years or so it may be a nuclear power.

Kennedy considers all these factors together a "potentially more dangerous situation than any we faced since the end of the war." So he doesn't know what to expect, now or later, but particularly later when China has nuclear weapons.

The original Chinese Communists, who began their lifelong campaign for the domination of China in the 1920s, are all old or elderly men now. They're dying out.

These were the fanatic revolutionaries who split with Khrushchev for even talking about getting along with the West.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

"But thou shalt remember the Lord thy Gods for it is He that giveth thee power to get wealth, that He may establish His covenant . . . Deuteronomy 8:18.

These words hold special significance to R. Stanley Tam, president of the State Smelting and Refining Corp. of Lima, Ohio. In 1936, the young and scientific minded Mr. Tam learned of a method of reclaiming the silver from photographic film emulsion that was washed down the drain in photographic laboratories. His first venture to sell the process failed. Discouraged and disappointed, he prayed, "Lord, if You'll take the business and make it succeed, I will honor you in any way I possibly can."

By 1940 Stanley Tam turned over 51 per cent of the profits to missionary and church work. In 1950, 60 per cent was turned over; and in 1955, through a legal transaction, 100 per cent of the business went to the Lord's work, making him not owner but manager of the business.

The profits now go for the support of seven full time missionaries, and partial support of seven others.

In addition, Mr. Tam travels some 30,000 miles a year in speaking engagements. He has made one trip around the world to speak and visit missions, and plans another. He and his wife made a similar trip to four countries in South America in 1955.

Mr. Tam's philosophy: "I came into this world without anything. I leave without anything. I create nothing. What God created I am only trustee of, and the material things I have are my pulpit."

Days of All Faiths:

Saint Afra Once a Prostitute

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

"I happen to know," said the judge to St. Afra, "that you are a prostitute and cannot be accepted by the God of the Christians." She was before him for refusing to sacrifice to the Roman gods. As her reason, she gave the fact that she was a Christian.

The judge was half right also, and more importantly, half wrong. She was indeed a prostitute. But that did not mean she was unacceptable to God. She corrected the judge. "My Lord Jesus," she told him, "has said that He came down from Heaven to save sinners."

It is hard to weigh which is more surprising: that an intelligent man in those days (this was the year 304) had not observed that Christians see themselves as sinners led by God in spite of the evil that is in them, or that now, sixteen centuries later, there are still many church members who make the same mistake.

What would happen—? your congregation today if you found out one of your members was a prostitute? Wouldn't you people feel just about the way the judge did in 304?

So, because she stubbornly refused to sacrifice to the Roman gods, St. Afra was sentenced to death. She was taken to an island in the river, stripped, tied to a stake, and burned.

At this point in the account it appears that Afra was not only a lady of the evening herself, but that she was also a "madame," with three other ladies on her faculty. These three girls watched the martyrdom, waited until it was dark, then came and got the charred body and buried it.

The judge, relentless, heard about this, and sent soldiers to tell them to sacrifice or be burned alive. The result, of course, was that they were put in the vault where they had placed Afra's body, and all were consumed by fire.

that there was a St. Afra and that the record is true in general if not in detail.

TRANSFIGURATION

Can you imagine how hard it would be to recognize God if He were walking down the street in a human body? This was one of the great problems of the Apostles. There was Jesus with them all the time, looking and talking like a man, and yet with some baffling, mysterious difference.

The Lord, knowing better than they did what was bothering them, chose three of them—Peter, James, and John—and took them to a mountain top to let them see for themselves the only possible answer that he was God.

Here on tradition says—Mt. Tabor. He let these three see Him "transfigured," with His divine nature showing through so that there could be no question in their minds about who He was.

They wouldn't understand it until more than a year later, but that did not matter. When the time came that they needed the strength of knowing they were on the right and eternal side, they would remember then that they had been eyewitnesses to this divine statement of His Sonship.

This was Jesus' strategy. He did not want a great public demonstration, but He did want these three of His leaders to know.

The Feast of the Transfiguration began in the Eastern part of the Church. It was observed there by the fourth century, but was hardly noticed in Rome and the West until around 850.

Probably because of the time of year, the Feast was for centuries connected with the new rain.

You may recall, also, that the enemy always seemed to occupy the high ground in positions that were difficult to locate; that the weather ran heavily to rain; heat or cold; and the terrain—over which you moved, invariably tended to be uphill, consisting of either a wet or dry mixture of earth which both the dictionary and the

Against Proposed Change in U.S. Immigration Law

Senators Hart of Michigan and Humphrey of Minnesota made long speeches for an immigration bill to replace the law now in force.

Their bill would open the gates to a flood of Chinese, Siamese, Burmese, Indians and Africans. It would not only increase the quotas but the expectations would make it easier to get in simply by ignoring the quota system.

Aussie Matches JFK's Ancestry

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Australia's Labor party leader Arthur Calwell was able to match Irish ancestry with President John F. Kennedy when he called at the White House to pay his respects.

Calwell's grandfather migrated to Australia from Ireland. The brother of Calwell's grandfather migrated to the United States and settled near Harrisburg, Pa.

The Australian political leader — who just missed becoming prime minister by one vote in the House of Representatives — has been in the United States for 17 years. He stopped off in Pennsylvania to renew ties with his American cousins.

Army chief of Staff Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, reminiscing before the American Legion convention in St. Louis, Mo., observed that: "Those of you who are army veterans will recall that your lot in war was determined largely by three ever-present factors: the enemy, the weather and the terrain."

You may recall, also, that the enemy always seemed to occupy the high ground in positions that were difficult to locate; that the weather ran heavily to rain; heat or cold; and the terrain—over which you moved, invariably tended to be uphill, consisting of either a wet or dry mixture of earth which both the dictionary and the soldier call mud and dust, respectively.

The general added, "the dictionary probably describes them in more refined terms than the soldier does."

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the National Broadcasting Corp., had a bad time of it when he testified before a congressional committee in favor of permitting radio and television stations to editorialize on the air.

"If you were to put the U.S. Constitution up for adoption by this Congress," he observed later, "I don't think you could get even the First Amendment ratified." That's the one that guarantees freedom of speech.

Gen. Jayanta Nath Chaudhuri, chief of staff of India's army, came to the United States at the invitation of American army officers who are advising him on equipment and training to hold back the Red Chinese. He picked June because it is the monsoon season back home.

But he hit Washington in a week of 85-degree temperatures with the humidity near the 100 per cent mark. His observation: "It's worse than the monsoons."

Asked what American military equipment India was buying, Gen. Chaudhuri replied: "Helicopters are no good; high altitudes. Trucks and Jeeps are no good in the mountains because there are no roads. But we've bought Missouri mules from almost every country that had any, except the United States."

"With the present patchwork of farm legislation now in effect, nobody could be a good secretary of agriculture," says American Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman. "If anybody proposed me for secretary of agriculture," he adds, "I'd run so fast and so far they would never find me."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, is showing two photographs taken at the National Draft - Goldwater-for-President rally in Washington to prove there were a few Negroes in attendance.

Commenting on the rally, NEA columnist Peter Edson had noted there were no Negroes inside the army, an observation confirmed by a number of reporters covering the rally.

Hoosier Republican Rep. Richard Roudsback's newsletter lambasting a government expenditure of $21,000 to study the mating calls of toads got quite a response:

The constituent wrote Roudsback to ask: "Why not, also study donkeys? The researchers wouldn't even have to leave Washington."

Sub to Arrive With Survivors

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The submarine Razorback was scheduled to arrive here tonight with eight survivors from the stricken luxury yacht Freedom II.

The Navy yesterday ended its search for the $220,000 vessel, which apparently sank about 600 miles west of Morro Bay, Calif. No lives were lost in the mishap.

Retired Vice Adm. Gerald Bogan, skipper of the yacht owned by Frank G. Jameson, a vice president of Douglas Aircraft Corp. in Los Angeles, said the ing distress signals. The crew climbed into a 16-foot lifeboat.

Cmdr. W. G. Davis, skipper of the Razorback, said the survivors were in good condition when picked up, but that their lifeboat was damaged by high seas.

Legal Expert Expires

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel Klaus, 58, State Department legal expert, died Friday night. Klaus came to Washington in 1934 as special assistant to the general counsel of the Treasury Department. He joined the State Department in 1945 as an assistant general counsel. At the time of his death he was special assistant to the department's legal adviser.

U.S. Curtails All Economic Aid to Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has ended all formal aid to Haiti.

The Agency for International Development (AID) said yesterday the action emphasized U.S. opposition to Haitian dictator Francois Duvalier. It also was hoped that other countries would follow a similar policy.

The move all but ends formal diplomatic relations between

Washington and Port-au-Prince. A U.S. envoy has not been named to replace U.S. Ambassador Raymond H. Thurston who returned to the United States in June.

Token U.S. support will be continued for a malaria eradication project under the Pan American Health Organization, and a food distribution project through Private Charity Organizations.

The United States started to cut aid to Haiti in June 1962, and last month canceled an important $2.8-million project to build an airport near Port-au-Prince.

The earliest reference to stained glass dates back to the 10th Century.

Hospital Executive Named to 3 Posts

Harold B. Euler, administrator of Pontiac General Hospital, has been appointed to three committees of the Michigan Hospital Association by Neil McGinniss, association president.

Euler was named to two hospital relations committees, one left by plane today for Bucharest after a 70-hour visit in Poland.

Each committee is made up of five members. The local administrator was also appointed to the association's 13-member legislative committee.

All three terms run for one year.

Bucharest Is Next Stop on Freeman Europe Trip

WARSAW (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman left plane today for Bucharest after a 70-hour visit in Poland.

Freeman was to spend two days in Rumania and then travel to Bulgaria. He is the first U.S. cabinet minister to visit those two nations since World War II.

Trieste to Renew Search for Thresher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy's deep-diving baby-scaphe Trieste will renew its search for the lost submarine Thresher within a few days, the Navy said yesterday.

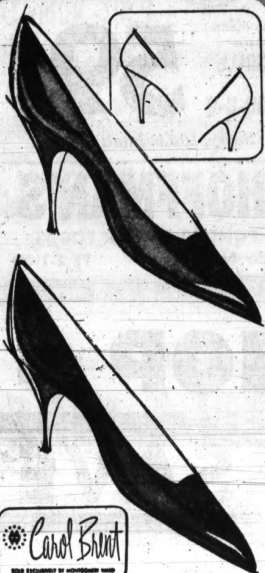

Weather permitting, the Trieste will be towed from Boston Naval Shipyard Aug. 12 to search for the submarine which disappeared April 10 with 129 persons aboard.

Every day four new motels are opened along America's highways.

PROVIDENCE
Rev. Claude Goodwin, pastor of Providence Missionary Baptist Church, has returned from a three-week vacation to the Holy Land. He will show pictures of his trip later.

There will be a service of Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Rev. Roy A. Allen, pastor of Chapel Hill Baptist Church in Detroit, will be guest preacher at revival services Monday through Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Pastor Allen who received his ministerial training at Bishop College in Marshall, Texas was pastor of the St. John Baptist Church in Marshall before coming to Detroit.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN
Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blair and the Robert Fritchets will be hosts at the coffee hour following the 11 a.m. worship service tomorrow in First Presbyterian Church.

During this month both morning worship and church school will be held at 11 a.m. each Sunday.

Rev. Galen E. Hershey back from a vacation in Northern Michigan, will preach tomorrow on "To Be a Christian." Carl Leedy will sing "Come Ye Blessed of My Father" by Scott.

SILVERCREST
Rev. John Toroni, minister of visitation at First Baptist Church, will present his talking violin program at the meeting of Jet Cadets at 6 p.m. tomorrow in Silvercrest Baptist Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Toroni will present a musical program at the 7 p.m. worship service. Pastor Toroni will also bring the Bible message.

"What a Little Fire Can Do" will be Pastor Wayne E. Smith's sermon theme at the 11 a.m. service. Sunday School will be at 9:45 a.m.

The pastor will direct the Conservative Baptist Bible Camp at Island Lake State Park next week. In his absence Walter Lucas will conduct the Bible study Wednesday evening. Youth groups will have Bible study the same evening.

DONELSON BAPTIST
William Goodwin, former marching band leader of Waterford High School, and his wife will provide special music at the 7 p.m. service tomorrow in Donelson Baptist Church.

Rev. Lee LaLone will preach on "A God Foretold Man." Holy Communion will be observed tomorrow morning with the pastor preaching on "The Forgiveness of Sin."

Sunday School will be at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all ages.

NEW HOPE
The Missionary Society of New Hope Baptist Church will present a literary missionary program in the church at 284 Bloomfield at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Bessie Dyer, a graduate of the School of Missions program taught by Dr. Tom Malone at Emmanuel Baptist Church, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Avery Arnold, president of the society, said the public is invited.

Farewell for Family
Accepts Call to Melvindale

John P. Erhard preached his last sermon as pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church here today.

Pastor Erhard has accepted an appointment to the Oakwood Boulevard S.D.A. church in Melvindale.

Mr. Erhard has been pastor of the Pontiac church since 1960, when he and his wife and three children came here from Lapeer.

Two boys have been added to the family since then. Mark Wayne and Paul Allen. Under his leadership the new Pontiac Junior Academy at 5725 Pontiac Lake Road has been completed and many new members added to the church.

Members of the church will hold a farewell party for the Erhards at 81 E. Howard tonight.

Jeremia B. Florea of Grand Haven will replace Mr. Erhard as the pastor of the church here. He is expected to arrive for services Aug. 17.

Pastor Amos G. Johnson Returns From Vacation
Rev. Amos G. Johnson, pastor of New Bethel Baptist Church, will be back in the pulpit for the 11 a.m. service tomorrow. Pastor and Mrs. Johnson have just returned from a tour of several weeks in Africa, Europe and the Holy Land.

"Conditioned for Every Burden" will be the theme at 11 a.m. A service of Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

KIRK ABBEY — The new building now under construction just west of the Kirk in the Hills, 1340 W. Long Lake Road will house the Christian training of boys and girls, and provide fellowship needs of the entire congregation. This Christian Education Building and Rectory will be known as the Kirk Abbey.

For Christian Education

Plan Kirk in the Hills Wing

Never before has there been a greater, more imperative need to instill in the hearts of our young people the unassailable truths of Christ's teaching than today.

The hope of the nation — the future of our nation — all depend on the inspired Christian education of our boys and girls.

The Kirk in the Hills at 1340 W. Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, completed and dedicated four years ago, broke ground this week for a $2 million Christian Education Building and Rectory. It will be known as the Kirk Abbey. This amount includes furnishings for both buildings.

Dr. Harold C. DeWindt, minister of the Kirk, said of the building "To build the abbey is a choice privilege that comes once in a lifetime to lift your Christian stewardship to a higher plane, to show your personal gratitude to God for the blessings He has bestowed on you and your loved ones. And it is a rare opportunity to invest in tomorrow — to help build a spiritual training ground for Christian leaders of the future."

Situated to the west of the Kirk House and linked to it by an underground passage, the new abbey will harmonize with the Kirk's Gothic design with Indiana limestone facade and sloping slate roof.

Stretching from the Kirk Drive

Cathedral Trio to Sing at Evangelical Church

The Cathedral Trio of Cathedral Church of Tomorrow in Akron, Ohio, will be featured in a Gospel Song Fest at 7:30 p.m. next Saturday at Evangelical Missionary Church, 2800 Watkins Lake Road.

The group consists of former Pontiac resident Bobby Clark, Danny Coaker and My Glenn Payne.

to the lake, the abbey provides separate entrances for each age group. A galilee or entrance porch, connects the main three-story classroom section with the rectory or dining room at the rear.

Rooms for kindergarten children are located off the galilee and a spacious gathering place. St. Andrew's room joins the rectory.

26 CLASSROOMS

With 20 classrooms to serve the present and future needs of the Kirk, the abbey will eliminate current overcrowding. Classes will rarely exceed 15 pupils. The average room will be 25x20 feet.

With the entire church school in the abbey, the present Kirk House will be used for all administrative offices, a conference room, expanded religious library available to all members, and an enlarged and remodeled Bride's Room opening into the circular staircase in the Tower of the Apostles.

Answering a long felt need for a dining area large enough to hold congregational dinners and other fellowship functions, the rectory with its high beamed ceiling will seat 250 comfortably for church suppers.

The well equipped kitchen will contain every modern convenience to assist the women in preparation of luncheons or dinners. The rectory will also be used for wedding receptions and children's pageants.

St. Andrews Room will provide an area for informal receptions and small group meetings. Coat room facilities will be off the lobby.

Earl A. Maxwell, chairman of the building committee, and Roger M. Kyes, president of the board of trustees, worked closely with Dr. DeWindt in reviewing and revising building plans.

'Faith to Believe' Topic

"Faith to Believe" will be the theme of Rev. Malcolm K. Burton's sermon at First Congregational Church tomorrow. Mrs. Carl Leonard will sing "The 91st Psalm" by MacDermid. Guest organist will be David C. Wilson, son of Charles Wilson, church organist.

Van Allen Named Secretary

Rev. J. E. Van Allen, secretary of the Eastern Michigan District Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene for the past 14 years, was re-elected to the office at the conference in Howell.

He was also one of five ministerial delegates chosen to attend the Quadrennial General Assembly of the denomination to be held in Portland Ore. in June 1964.

Another delegate from this area is Dr. E. W. Martin of 458 Elisen Drive, superintendent of the Eastern Michigan District. The pastors' wives were elected to represent the assembly at the General Missionary Convention in Portland.

During the past year, which closed July 29, the district comprised of 13 counties in southeastern Michigan raised for all purposes more than $1, a per capita giving of $180 per member. Seventy-five churches are included.

Rev. Mr. Van Allen reports that the final payment on the indebtedness on the property of First Church of the Nazarene was to be paid this week. During the past 15 years the congregation has paid approximately $150,000 on buildings and improvements.

A building fund is now being emphasized to prepare for future expansion. More than $10,000 has already been received.

Dr. Buttrick Guest Speaker Tomorrow

The Rev. Dr. George A. Buttrick, celebrated author, editor, lecturer and preacher, will be in the pulpit of the Kirk in the Hills at both the 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. services tomorrow.

Dr. Buttrick, who has appeared at the Kirk several times in past years, is visiting professor at Garrett Biblical Seminary in Evanston, Ill.

He formerly was pastor of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City, professor and guest preacher at Harvard University, and visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

He also will preach at the Kirk September 1, concluding the series of Sunday services featuring six of America's outstanding preachers. The Kirk is located at 1340 West Long Lake Road in Bloomfield Hills.

Somers Plans to Start Choir

Young People Leave for Camp Co-Be-Ac

Philip W. Somers Jr., a graduate of the Detroit Bible College in June with a degree of bachelor of religious education, will be minister of music at Marlmont Baptist Church.

Mr. Somers will have charge of the Youth and Senior Chorus. In September he plans to start a Junior Choir. He will also work with a Ladies' and a Men's Chorus, and organize a brass ensemble.

The new minister of music will also assist his pastor in the calling program and work with young people.

Junior high boys and girls leaving Monday for Camp Co-Be-Ac at Owens Lake near Houghton include Mary and Cathy Matthews, Kathy Douglas, Susan Marks, Debbie Taber, JIM Case, Claudette and Jo Ann Johnson.

Other campers will be Debra Adler, Paula Vogel, Debbie Bland Kim Callahan, Karen Love, Cynthia Ward, Janice Dunnam, Mike Vaught, David Somers and Larry Gavette.

Rev. Orval Dunkeld, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church, will speak at both the morning and evening services tomorrow. Robert Gavette will have charge of the Wednesday evening service of Holy Communion.

The board of trustees will get together at 7 p.m. Friday.

Plan Bohemian Holiday

Discussing plans for the Circumnavigators Summer Safari are (from left) John D. Richardson of North Glen-garry Road and Dr. Ferdinand Gaens, bauer of North Hammond Lake Drive. The Richardsons will open their home tomorrow for the subscription party.

"A Bohemian Holiday" will highlight the Circumnavigators Summer Safari tomorrow at the North Glen-garry Road home of the John D. Richardsons.

Guests will gather around an outdoor swimming pool for cocktails and gypsy music, witness a diving exhibition and dine on a sumptuous cuisine at a subscription party.

Membership in the exclusive Circumnavigators Club requires not only one continuous trip around the world, crossing both international datelines, but a continuing interest in foreign affairs and acting as good will ambassadors abroad.

John D. Richardson Jr. has an import-export business with affiliations and agents in every principal city of the world, which leads to a great deal of travel.

He says that after 31 years in his business he gets the greatest thrill out of meeting people he has corresponded with for years and then getting to know them personally.

Since World War II, travel to the Asiatic countries has become more popular; the European continent was practically overrun by American visitors following the war.

Richardson is sure the main factor is the timesaving jet travel which has opened many new avenues. You can now reach your destination in hours instead of days.

On every trip, Mr. Richardson says he runs into some friends as was the case in the small town of Atomi in Japan. Here he met his chief petty officer in the European theatre of World War II, Patrick Mallory, who owns one of the largest electronic manufacturing companies in Japan.

Other area residents who are members of the Circumnavigators include Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer and Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ekelund.

Nurses Plan Benefit Party

The Pontiac chapter of Psychiatric Attendant Nurse Association of Michigan will sponsor an old-fashioned ice cream social Thursday on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

Ice cream, homemade cake and coffee will be served from 1 to 8 p.m. Proceeds will be tagged for the Patients' Benefit Fund. Tickets may be purchased on the grounds.

"Hemlines and Horsepower" is the title of the seventh annual fall fashion show for the benefit of the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills.

The event is being sponsored by the Convent's Janet Stuart Association and the Alumnae Association.

Elegant clothes and furs reflecting the colors and styles of fall and winter will be featured in the outdoor presentation against a backdrop of automobiles.

The program this year will be Sept. 25 on the Convent grounds with students at the school assisting in the modeling of new creations for women and children during the afternoon performances.

The "Hemlines and Horsepower" committee has added an evening show this year. This performance will highlight special attractions of interest to men while the afternoon presentation will be devoted to the interests of women.

Mrs. Don E. Aherns of Bloomfield Hills, is general chairman of the event, with Mrs. Don J. Stein, president of the Janet Stuart Association, and Mrs. Norman Fredericks, president of the Alumnae Association, as co-chairmen.

Couple Wed at St. Hugo

A reception in the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club followed the vows of Juanita Martin Christie to William Gustave Berghoff today in St. Hugo of the Hills.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Christie, West Maple Road, Norbert G. Berghoff, Fort Wayne, and the late Mrs. Berghoff.

Brussels applique edged an heirloom lace mantilla for the bride who carried Amazon lilies and Alstromeria atop a satin mistle.

Her gown of camellia white whisper taffeta with cathedral train was previously worn by the bride's sisters and honor matrons, Mrs. Vincent J. Bronsing, Clarkston, and Mrs. Harold P. Mueller Jr., Mobile, Ala.

They carried Carol Myling roses, pink carnations and ivy as did maids of honor or Leah Koester and Susan Weed.

June Berghoff, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid with Mrs. Richard E. Ryan and Margaret McGovern, Chicago, Ill.; Patricia O'Connor, Morristown, N. J.; Mary Ann Brake, Indianapolis, Ind.; Marianne Welsh, Columbus, Ohio.

Pink carnations and matching picture hats complemented their gowns of white silk organza.

Alfred J. Edwards of Toledo, Ohio, was best man. Ushers were Edward A. Christie Jr., Vincent J. Bronsing, Richard E. Ryan, James Lassus, Thomas A. McKiernan and Daniel J. Kitch, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Robert E. Thibodeau, Birmingham; William C. Wester III and Thomas J. Conway, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Richard F. Stegemeier, Indianapolis, Ind. After a northern honeymoon.

moon, the couple will live in Cincinnati where he will continue graduate studies at Xavier University. The bride was graduated from Academy of the Sacred Heart and attended the College of Mt. St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio.

today in Our Lady of the Lakes Church. Rev. Frederick J. Delaney officiated. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Willis of Chantilly Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Metz of West-Berkshire Road.

A bodice touched with pearls, and sequins highlighted the bride's colonial gown of Chantilly lace and white silk organza, styled with deep tucks, and chapel train. Finger-ring veiling fell from a jeweled crown. White gladioli, Stephanotis and pink rosebuds were arranged in a bridal cascade.

With honor maid, Miriam Mohrloff, Bloomfield Hills, were bridesmaids Barbara Metz, Ann Lowrie and Laura Willis, her sister's junior attendant.

Their bell-shaped sheath dresses were of nubby white cotton. Bouquets of white carnations tipped in aquamarine matched their accessories.

William Metz was best man for his brother, William Price, ushered with Thomas Laramore of Detroit and Thomas Amos.

After a reception in the Clarkston Independence Hall, the couple left for a northern honeymoon.

Mr. Metz is a graduate of the University of Detroit. The couple will live in Waterford.

What's Rule at a Small Wedding?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am going to be married shortly at a very simple wedding with only about 30 or 35 people present. My fiancé and I will each have one attendant.

There will be no processional up through the church; instead we will enter from a side door up front.

In this case, do the bride and groom come in together, and if so, when do the best man, maid of honor and the bride's father come in?

A: Even in this plan, the conventional procedure is followed: The groom and best man would come in first and stand at the head of the right aisle, then the maid of honor would enter alone followed by the bride on the right arm of her father.

Q: While walking on the street with his sister and me, her brother insisted on walking between us. I always thought that when two girls and a boy walked together, the boy was supposed to walk on the outside. Which way is correct?

A: You are right; he should walk on the outside. If he walks between them, he has to turn away from one girl whenever he speaks to the other; whereas on the outside he can talk to both without turning away from either.

Q: I have been a patient of my doctor's for the past ten years. He recently lost a brother.

I would like to know if I should send a note conveying my sympathy to the doctor. My relationship with him is strictly professional.

A: If you wish, you may quite properly write a short note to him expressing your sympathy for the loss of his brother.

Sing-Along Music Lover Doesn't Know the Score

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this is too trivial to answer. I have recently begun to go out with a distinguished bachelor who is in his fifties. I am a widow in my forties.

ABBY

He has escorted me to the ballet, concerts, and symphony. He is a patron of the arts and I love music. But, Abby, when he sings along with the performing artists, or orchestra, I want to run and hide.

I haven't the courage to tell him how much this annoys me, and the "looks" he gets from those seated near us don't seem to penetrate. Is there a polite way to tell him how I feel? I don't want to lose him.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: He appears to be a man who wants everyone to know that HE knows the score. Tell him in a friendly way that his "singing along" bothers you and those around you. If he has done this unconsciously, he'll appreciate knowing. If he is aware that he's disturbing others and doesn't care, he's selfish and inconsiderate, in which case, if you lose him, you haven't lost much.

DEAR ABBY: My husband

(and I spew the words out of my mouth) was found dead with a woman, in a suicide pact.

I made all the necessary funeral arrangements, but did not attend the rites, nor did I send flowers.

It may seem hard to believe, Miss Abby, but in the 16 years we were together, right up to the day of his death, I had no knowledge that there was another woman.

His family, and mine, con-dem me for the stand I have taken, but I cannot be a hypocrite. I have debated writing this letter to you for over a month but, somehow, I feel that your wise counsel will help me. Sincerely,

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR MRS. — Under the circumstances you should not be condemned for refusing to go through the motions of a grieving widow. You have suffered enough humiliation. Don't let his family, or yours, punish you further.

Maternity Wear Enjoying Boom

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The annual baby crop means a harvest of profits for all business catering to the carriage set.

The latest to enjoy a boom because of the high-birth rate — 4.2 million expected this year in the United States, including one addition at the White House — are the makers of maternity wear.

No longer is the expectant mother's apparel a matter of a few maternity frocks borrowed from friend or relative or made from regular dresses.

Today's woman buys a whole maternity wardrobe, with the result that sales in the United States should reach $250 million in 1963, reports William Ryan, buyer for one national chain of stores.

The range in style is from daytime clothes to swim suits, cocktail dresses to tapered slacks. Ryan, buyer for 1,700 stores, said Mrs. John F. Kennedy's chic dress during pregnancy is one factor in the style consciousness of other mothers-to-be.

But he says the strongest factor is "removal of old shackles. Today's woman doesn't go in hiding."

"Instead, she goes bowling, dancing, boating, swimming..." All, he said, with the blessing of her doctor.

Dozens of high-priced couturiers who once would design for the very slim only now are busy also creating accented-pleats, concealed seams and hidden folds in an effort to add style to maternity dress.

Maternity apparel is old as Eve, but it wasn't until the 17th century that the French began designing clothes specifically for the pregnant. They introduced the Watteau, a pretty shapeless number, named for the French artist who was partial to the style in his paintings.

Ryan said research at the Costume Institute of the Metropolitan Museum of Art indicated Marie Antoinette popularized maternity fashions by designing her own, sweeping negligees with a wide, flowing front.

The wrappers, hanging loosely from shoulder yokes and tied as the wearer wished, came along in the 1890s. As late as 1902, Vogue Magazine was advising its readers to make their dresses from such stiff materials as linen "... with a skirt that can be easily lengthened in the front."

Talk of emancipation for women called for a new style so the "pouch gown" appeared in 1913, a dress that permitted the timid mother-to-be to hazard at least an appearance on the front porch. Today, the best seller in the one-piece garment is the unbelted shift, said Ryan. It's a favorite with the First Lady.

"Patent leather" jewels are the latest adornment for spring. Shown are a double strand of uniform-sized beads worn below a matching short two-strander. Bangle bracelets and loop earrings are all available in black, white, red, coral, yellow, green, pink and blue. The patent satchel bag comes in the same colors.

Area Couple Speaks Vows at St. Owen

Breakfast and a garden reception today at St. Owen followed the vows of Judith Anne Johnson to Frank Raymond Rome Jr. at Birmingham in St. Owen Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Johnson Jr., parents of the bride, will be hosts at a family buffet dinner in their home on Sandy Lane, Foxcroft. The bridegroom is the son of the senior Romes of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Imported white silk organza overlaid with Chantilly lace fashioned the bride's bell-contoured gown and chapel train. A rose headpiece topped her illusion veil and white orchids with Stephanotis is comprised her bouquet.

Wearing turquoise chiffon were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Alton P. Rogers, Niles, Ohio, honor matron, and Suzanne Lynn Johnson, her sister's honor maid.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry Seaman, Farmington; Mrs. Wayne Fellers, Milford; and Kathleen McIntosh of Wheeler.

They carried white carnations and ivy with turquoise-tipped carnations for the honor attendants.

Best man was Alton P. Rogers with ushers Robert Harburn, Grand Blanc; Richard Dodge, Clio; and Wayne Fellers and David Shattuck, East Lansing.

Cathy and Danny Cragado of Southfield were flower girl and ring bearer.

Mr. Rome holds a degree from Michigan State University where his bride was a former student. They will live in Birmingham following a northern honeymoon.

Nurses Visit Cape

At Cape Canaveral nurses make daily visits to the launching pads to give counsel, answer questions and demonstrate first-aid and self-aid techniques.

MRS. F. R. ROME JR.

Vows Said at Morning Ceremony

Carol Elaine Latimer exchanged vows today with Gerard D. Barnhart before Rev. W. E. Snokell in the chapel of St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham.

Her parents, the Angus L. Latimers of Birmingham, were hosts at the reception in the church undercroft, immediately following the morning ceremony.

With her pale yellow silk cocktail suit, the bride wore a veiled circle headpiece and matching silk shoes. She held a tailored semi-cascade of ivory gladioli.

Susan Baker, Birmingham, maid of honor and only attendant, appeared in a pale blue-green silk dress. Her bouquet was yellow Snowdrift pompons.

Wayne C. Barnhart assisted his brother as best man. They are the sons of the Gerard W. Barnharts of Savoy Drive.

The bride attended the University of Michigan and Wayne State University. Her husband, a graduate of Albion College, is a member of Kappa Mu Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta fraternities.

They will reside in Birmingham and plan a winter honeymoon in the south.

Series E or H Bonds? Plan for Retirement

By MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley: I have been thinking of investing and hope you can advise me as to Series E or H bonds. I should like something that will help at retirement time. I am 46 now, so have 20 years to plan for. Mrs. M. M., Phoenix, Ariz.

Dear Mrs. M.: If you buy E MARY bonds now, the FEELEY interest will automatically accumulate. If you do not cash them in at maturity, which is seven years and nine months, interest will continue to accumulate.

Then when you are approaching retirement, you can convert them to H bonds and receive semi-annual interest checks to supplement your income.

If you buy H bonds now, the interest will be paid semiannually, with the checks sent direct to you. The hazard here is that even though you now might still feel tempted to spend it as you receive it—defeating your aim of saving for retirement.

Both E and H bonds pay off at the rate of 3.75 per cent over the lifetime of the bonds. However, H bonds pay a lower interest rate on the first three semiannual checks—2.5 per cent—then start paying 4 per cent and continue at this rate for the remaining period. That's to discourage people from cashing them in early in the game.

If you want your H bonds to be paying off at the 4 per cent rate when you retire, then convert your E bonds two years before retirement day.

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband own a home and 160 acres of land. He has nine living children. I am wife No. 2. We have been married 14 months now and my husband has not yet put my name on anything.

He keeps saying that he will, that he wants me to have the home if anything should happen to him. Yet he does nothing about it.

I am told that if things go on as they are, that his children would be the ones who would get the home and land—that all the work I've put into it would mean nothing.

I've told my husband this but he just laughs and says they don't know what they are talking about. I don't feel like working my life away and getting nothing out of it if I should be left alone.

I have helped pay off the mortgage, skimped and saved to pay off other debts, but my signature is nowhere, not even on the savings account. Please tell me where I stand. Mrs. M. L. M., Croseyville, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. M.: That's one for a lawyer, and I suggest you try to persuade your husband to go with you to discuss the problem with one.

If your husband wants you to have the home, he will have to say so specifically in writing.

The law of New York State declares that one-third of the estate shall go to you as the widow, and two-thirds to the children—after taxes, if your husband does not have a will.

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband will soon be retired; and our income will be $300 a month. Our rent is $115 a month. Our car is paid for and we have only current expenses.

The question is, is there any way of keeping our apartment on such a small income? We would like so much to keep it. How could we budget our money in order to do this? Mrs. L. W., Chicago.

Dear Mrs. W.: Since that rent of $115 is high for your retirement income, you'll have to "earn" it—by paring other expenses right down to their minimum. However, since your apartment means so much to you, I believe you could keep it.

Study these budget figures, and see if you feel you and your husband could hold to them, month in, and month out:

Household operating costs, $20; food, $42; medical, $18; miscellaneous, gifts, church, $10; car operating costs, $30; clothing, $20; recreation and personal allowance, $25.

With the rent, that totals $300. Why don't you and your husband give the above plan a "dry run"; and see how you come out? Many a couple has found that practicing for retirement is the best way to get the answers first hand.

(You can get Mary Feeley's budget suggestion leaflet by writing her in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing self-addressed and stamped long envelope.)

New Lamps Slim, Trim

The fashionably slim look has reached our homes. New lamps have had their figures trimmed down to eliminate most of the bulk and bulges. Say The Lamp and Shade Institute of America in a survey of new designs from the country's lamp manufacturers.

With trends in furniture moving toward larger and heavier pieces, often influenced by Spanish styles, the new lamps are a perfect way to counterbalance any overwhelming effect. The well-proportioned designs are long-stemmed and sleek, rarely taller than 36 or 40 inches.

Shades that top the slimmed-down bases contrast the new trend away from clutter. Most of them are slim, deep drum shapes in natural textured fabrics. Decoration is unobtrusive.

The breaking of the style barrier is noticeable as traditional styles take on a cleaner look and contemporary designs develop a formal restraint. This provides homemakers with a flexibility in lamp choice, although Early American or eighteenth century styles still appear in authentic reproductions for decor of a definite period.

MRS. JOHN W. GLYNN

The Elks' Temple was the setting for a luncheon - reception following the vows of Patricia Agnes Dearing to John William Glynn today in St. Benedict Church.

Daughter of the Herbert C. Dearings, South Cass Lake Road, the bride chose a gown of white satin with bodice of Rochelle lace and a chapel train.

A shallow satin pillbox held her bouffant veil of illusion. Her cascade bouquet included white roses, carnations and ivy.

Mrs. Gerald W. Schell, her sister's honor matron, wore pale aquamarine embroidered nylon organza. Judy Ann Schell and her brother Jerry were flower girl and ring bearer.

James Glynn, best man for his brother, and ushers Airman 3. C. Michael Glynn, Ellsworth AFB, S.D., and Patrick Glynn are sons of the John E. Glynn of North Johnson Avenue. A younger brother, Gregory, served as altar boy.

The newlyweds chose northern Michigan for their honeymoon and will make their home in Pontiac.

NEW CENTER—This former gatehouse on the campus of Oakland University will be converted to an interfaith religious center. The two-story white building located along

Squirrel, contains seven large rooms which will be used as offices for representatives of Catholic, Jewish and other faiths.

OU to Convert Gatehouse Into Religious Headquarters

A 30-year-old house perched on the edge of Oakland University property along Squirrel will be converted to an interfaith religious center.

University officials recently announced the establishment of the center, which will include Catholic, Jewish and other faiths.

The Pontiac Civic Club gave OU a $400 gift to start redecorating and furnishing the center.

The seven-room house will be used as a headquarters for work with students and campus groups. No religious services will be held there.

Robert W. Swanson, director of business affairs, said the house needed about $5,000 to $6,000 worth of repairs to make it "suitable" as a religious center.

The two-story structure, which formerly served the Alfred G. Wilson estate as a gatehouse, needs redecorating as well as "a fair amount" of repairs, the OU official said.

Swanson said the furnace would be converted to automatic heat, some ceilings would be replaced, and the outside would be painted.

He said the interfaith center grew out of requests from the various religious groups for office space on campus.

The University Christian Federation (UCF) has already taken steps to have offices in the interfaith center. Rev. James P. McAlpine of Rhode Island has been appointed minister.

The Rev. Mr. McAlpine, 32, arrives here this weekend. He formerly was rector of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Rumford, R. I.

The UCF, created by eight Protestant denominations in the area, has raised $10,000 for its activities in the OU interfaith center. Swanson said current plans call for the house to be ready for use by all faiths in September.

The five, seized in a rented car shortly after the holdup, were brought into court yesterday on charges of armed holdup.

All were jailed in lieu of bond ranging from $10,000 for the girls to $25,000 for the men.

Wanted for robbery in Michigan, the men are Patrick G. Gregory, 28, of East Jordan, Mich.; Terrence J. Brandt, 28, of Detroit; and Kenneth L. Wesley, 38, of New York.

The girls, both booked as Adrian residents, are 17-year-old Shirley Jean Blackley and 18-year-old Virginia P. Patrick.

Authorities in Jackson County, Mich., said the girls lived in Jackson, and a baby with the Patrick girl was her 7-month-old daughter.

The Jackson County Sheriff's Department said the three men have been implicated in a series of robberies and burglaries.

Stunt Pilot Is Killed

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Rolly G. Cole, 23, one of the nation's top stunt pilots, was killed Friday when his souped-up biplane lost a wing and crashed near Greater Rockford Airport.

Cole was a member of a famous flying family. His father, Duane Cole, organized the Cole Flying Circus, which performed throughout the United States from 1947 to 1957.

Automobiles are made of more than 30 animal, vegetable and mineral products, the most common of which are steel, rubber, aluminum, glass and oil.

The bodies were found seated at the controls of the 54-car freight train. Both had been shot in the head and Overstreet in the neck.

Police were mystified by the slayings for which there appeared to be no explanation or motive.

Police said the mysterious slayings occurred during a 15-minute period while a switchman talked to a freight dispatcher.

The victims were identified as Roy Bothorff, 61, Lansing, Ill., the engineer on an Indiana train, and Paul Overstreet, 45, Hammond, the fireman.

The shooting occurred in the Columbia west side yards.

If Proposal Adopted

County a Single Court District

Oakland County would stand alone as one of nine districts of a new state appellate court created by the new state constitution if the State Legislature adopts the recommendations of a committee headed by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

Roberts' committee, which previously considered tacking Washtenaw County onto Oakland County in a district, abandoned that idea before disclosing its final report yesterday.

Oakland County had no objection to Washtenaw County, but Washtenaw County was concerned about being outnumbered in appellate judge elections, according to Roberts.

The combination also "would cut across Circuit Court districts," Roberts said.

All nine districts follow Circuit Court district lines except the three districts in Wayne County, which follow congressional district lines.

Equalizing district populations as required by the new constitution made three districts necessary in Wayne County, which comprises only one Circuit Court district.

SMALLEST DISTRICT
Oakland County's district, with a population of 690,000 on the basis of the 1960 census, would be the smallest district. Even if it, estimated current population of some 750,000 would be less than the 690,000 average for nine districts.

"But the county is growing fast," Roberts said.

Pontiac would be the headquarters for the three-district suburban division as well as for the Oakland County district, according to the proposal by Roberts' committee.

One of the two other districts in this division would contain Macomb County and the Thumb area. The other would have Washtenaw, Ingham, Jackson, Monroe, Barry, Eaton, Calhoun, St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties.

Detroit would be headquarters for the division comprised of the three Wayne County districts. Grand Rapids would be home base for the out-state division containing the other three districts. Head office for the entire appellate court would be in Lansing.

The proposed legislation is one of some 15 or 20 bills Roberts' committee worked out in discharging its duty to make recommendations for implementing the new constitution's judicial provisions.

The proposals will be presented to a larger interim study committee of which Roberts' group has been working as a subcommittee.

Roberts said he planned to recommend to Gov. George Romney that the bills be introduced at the special legislative session this fall. The final decision on whether they will be introduced this fall or next year will be up to the governor, he said.

The first elections for the new appellate court would take place in November 1964. Roberts is expected to give up his Senate seat to be a candidate.

DOUBLE TROUBLE — Howling Samuel Fries gets a smallpox vaccination on his left arm in a Los Angeles hospital while his twin brother Daniel gets the same treatment on his right arm. The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fries, asked some help so they could tell the 6-month-old twins apart. The inoculation will serve double duty.

Plan Institute at Oakland U.

Eye Ending Conflicts of Groups, Individuals

Focusing on ways of reducing conflicts between groups and individuals in today's urban and suburban communities, a five-day Institute on Inter-group Relations begins Aug. 12 at Oakland University.

The second annual institute is cosponsored by the OU Division of Continuing Education and the Michigan region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

In daily 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. sessions, various leaders in the human relations field will discuss areas of tensions, group dynamics and emotional aspects of prejudice.

Dr. Robert M. Fries, executive director of the Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will keynote the week's program.

Fries will discuss "Areas of Tension and Concern." He recently was awarded an honorary doctor of humanities degree for his work in the human relations field.

Other speakers during the week will include Dr. Alvin Zander of the University of Michigan; Dr. Mel Ravitz, Detroit councilman and Wayne State University professor; and Ester L. Middlewood of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

Actor Spencer Tracy Is Out of Hospital

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Spencer Tracy, 63, has been released from St. Vincent Hospital, where he was taken July 18 with a respiratory ailment.

Attendees said Tracy was "feeling fine" when he left the hospital yesterday. The Academy Award-winning actor walked from the hospital unassisted. He was accompanied by his brother.

Tracy, stricken at the beach home of actress Katharine Hepburn, originally was believed to have suffered a heart attack. Doctors later said diagnosis indicated the illness was a congested lung condition.

Danny Thomas' Daughter Gets Role

Play Sends Starlet on Her Way

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Mario Thomas is finding out that a good role in a showcase play can do more for you than a famous father.

The actress is starring in "Sunday in New York" at the Civic Playhouse. The other day she was signed for an episode on television's "Wagon Train" after a casting director had spotted her in the play.

"Everything is opening up for me in show business since I went into the play four months ago," says the pretty daughter of Danny Thomas. "Before that, things were tough."

ENGLISH TEACHER

Mario, 23, started out to be an English teacher. For her thesis at the University of Southern California, she did a paper on "acting," as an approach to teaching.

Her logic was so convincing that she gave up the idea of teaching and has been in show business ever since.

"Of course, I have never been out of the business—not in our house," Mario says. "For years."

I was the only teen-ager who regularly received lectures from her father on a coast-to-coast television show.

When she was 15, she was a tomboy and consistently beat her boyfriends at tennis and golf. A few weeks later, she tuned in her father's show and heard him lecture her.

"Mario got the message — and went on a dress-buying spree. Mario's godmother is Loretta Young—the absolute expert at making entrances."

"Loretta came to my opening night at the play. Everybody was backstage with the usual compliments."

"Loretta said: 'Mario, you make a lousy entrance. You should never turn your back to the audience on your first entrance.'"

"I argued that a sweeping entrance was all right for a star like Loretta but not for an unknown like me."

"She argued right back that I should come on as if I were the only one the audience is waiting for. I tried it the next night—and it worked."

"There's nothing like a good play—and a good godmother—to get you started in this business."

Customs authorities, the government said, "may not be fully competent to decide such cases correctly without advice from properly qualified persons."

Not Seriously Hurt

Blonde Aerialist Falls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I was rushing my act," the pretty blonde circus aerialist said. "I knew it toward the end. And the next thing I knew I had fallen."

As thousands of spectators gasped, Donna Welsh, 29, of Sarasota, Fla., plummeted 22 feet yesterday onto the arena floor at a performance of Ringling Brothers Barnum & Bailey Circus at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Attendees said later only foam rubber padding on the arena floor and Miss Welsh's saving maneuver of tucking up her legs had prevented serious injury.

She landed on her right side. Hospital attendants said she had hurt her right shoulder, hip and leg, fractured her pelvis and right heel.

"All I knew was that I was falling," she said after she had regained consciousness. "And I thought, 'Oh, you stupid fool.'"

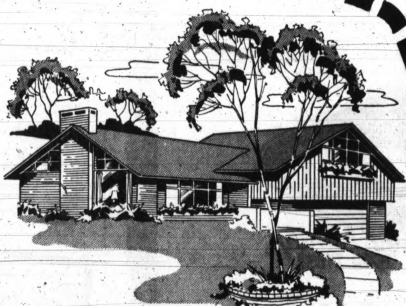

Miss Welsh was trying to swing by her heels from one bar to another when she fell.

Since 1947, about 70 different issues of stamps have carried the likeness of George Washington. The latest is the five-center introduced in January 1963.

"I don't know why you feel so upset about it, Ronald. After all, George Washington wore a wig and they built a monument to him."

"Here comes Old Goldilocks himself."

"He's so absent-minded that some mornings he puts it on backward—and then I can't tell whether he's going or coming."

"Oh, don't feel so sorry for yourself. They say the first Queen Elizabeth of England was bald as an eagle and had to wear a wig a foot tall."

"I know it must itch terribly in this hot weather, Ronald, but for heaven's sake quit scratching. Everybody's watching."

"Don't sit too close to the electric fan, dear. Remember when it blew out the apartment window and landed in a tree, and you had to pay that little boy 50 cents to climb up and get it?"

"Sorry I missed it up, darling. I was just tidying the floor, and when I saw it lying there it gave me such a fright I hit it twice with the mop before I realized what it was."

"If it shrunk, sir, I'm afraid it was your own fault. This model does not carry a drip-dry guarantee."

"Don't wear the crew-cut one, Ronald, if you plan to ask for a raise today. Wear the one with the streaks of gray in it. That'll remind your boss of the long years of service you've given the company."

"Gee, fellow, I'm new in the office. I don't see why you have to fly off the handle when all I asked you was where there's a good barber around here."

"It was positively eerie, Mabel. I was taking dictation from him. He gave a big sneeze—and then it flew through the air and lit right in my lap."

"I can't find the hairbrush, Ronald. Can't you use the clothes brush on it?"

"Yes, sir, shall I wrap it up—or will you wear it home?"

"Hairpiece, hairpiece, toupee, moopay! He can call it what he wants to. I still say it's a wig."

"Wonder what happens when he reads a hair-raising mystery?"

"Yes, it looks fine, Ronald. But my advice is to grow a beard. That would kinda balance it."

Continue Probe in Check Theft

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Police here today continued their search for 800 checks still missing out of the total 2,000 stolen last week from the Recon. Corp., 46364 Dequindre, a firm which rebuilds gasoline pumps.

Waterford Agenda Includes Rezoning

Two requests for property rezoning, already approved by the zoning board, will be considered Monday night by the Waterford Township Board.

Proposed for rezoning from R-1A (single residential) to R-2 (multiple family) is a five-lot parcel in Krivitsky's Lake Oak land subdivision.

The other request seeks to change zoning on two lots in Acre Heights subdivision from R-1A to C-2 (general business). In other business, the board will review the monthly cemetery department report and receive first notice of a request for rezoning of a parcel of land at Cooley Lake Road and Hiller from agricultural to commercial.

check was turned over to Shelby Township police by the West Utica branch of the Bank of Commerce. All 13 have been cashed for $86.40.

Presently police are holding Harold J. Nieman, 26, in connection with the theft.

They arrested the Hazel Park man Wednesday after tracing an automobile license given by a grocer who cashed one of the checks.

He was found in a Hazel Park apartment along with $530, and 1,140 checks, many of them made out for $86.40, according to police.

Chief Robert W. Smith said a check protector, also taken in the burglary, and miscellaneous false identification papers were found in Nieman's apartment.

Police are also holding Donald Kirby of Warren.

In addition to the 8,000 checks stolen from the Recon Corp., a dictaphone—valued at $450—a briefcase containing more checks and 50 ballpoint pens were also reported missing.

Both of the men being held refuse to discuss the crime, Smith said.

Police Break Car Parts Ring

10 Juveniles Follow 19-Year-Old Leader

FERNDALE (AP)—Ferdale police believe they have broken up what Chief Neil J. McGillis described as an auto parts theft ring of 10 juveniles masterminded by a 19-year-old.

Lt. Donald Holmquist of Birmingham police said yesterday a warrant would be sought against Gary L. Kasko, 19, of both Birmingham and Ferndale, who already is in jail in Madison Heights and awaiting trial on a federal warrant charging him with selling forged draft cards and driver's licenses to juveniles.

Kasko is serving five days in Madison Heights for disorderly conduct. He is under $1,000 bond in the federal case.

Chief McGillis said two patrolmen traced a 16-year-old runaway youth to Kasko's Ferndale address yesterday, and after the youth opened the door spied 16 auto tires and wheels stacked in a front room.

Under questioning, McGillis said, the youth admitted he was a member of a 16-juvenile gang and identified Kasko as their leader. Besides the tires and wheels, police said they found three auto seats and a dozen cans of oil.

McGillis said it was determined operations had been going on more than a week, although nothing taken more than a week ago had been found. He said parts had been taken from new car lots in Birmingham and Ferndale and from a stolen car in Royal Oak.

McGillis said juvenile authorities would be asked to take charge of the 10 juveniles named by the 16-year-old as working for Kasko.

background for LIVING

UNUSUAL FRONTSIDE — Wolfe had much fun putting these quaint horse's-head posts along his front sidewalk, and they are the conversation pieces of the neighborhood. Mrs.

Wolfe (above) is a garden enthusiast, and the many varieties of brightly hued flowers around the house reveal her love of brilliant colors in the yard.

SPACIOUS GROUNDS — The Wolfes' rambling big house with its new wrought iron balcony railing in Devonbrook stands on a hill just east of Telegraph. Its long, horizontal lines reflect those of its setting; then from the patio, the ground gently drops away from the house in a graceful sweep. Colorful petunias spill out of a mammoth old iron kettle on the terrace, and at one end, a formal rose garden commands viewers' attention.

Decor Change Livens Home

STORY AND PHOTOGRAPHS BY REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When the Henry Wolfe family decided to change the decor of their rambling home in Devonbrook, they really went all the way.

Throughout the years, when their children were growing up, the couple had good, practical furnishings that were a mixture of "just about every period."

That was until a year ago when they decided to "go Early American."

Wolfe, a General Motors executive who has a talent for woodworking, wiring and creating special effects, decided the best way to get things done was to do it himself. And so he did.

Carpeting was torn up and replaced with fireside plank flooring. White wainscoting was topped with tiny printed wallpaper in the bedrooms and big braided wool rugs on the floors added to the pioneer atmosphere.

Wolfe didn't replace the plain birch doors. He figured out a design, then installed artistic wooden molding reminiscent of early America.

The entry reflects the spirit of the Wolfe home—friendly, casual, practical. Louvered closets are wide ones, and a little gold-framed mirror beckons passers-by.

The house is only a couple of city blocks away from busy Telegraph Road, and there is a definite feeling of "up north" in the view from the living room.

A wide open stairway lined with English paneling and painted white leads to the big playroom downstairs. This is a just-right place for Peggy, 16, and Betsy, 13, to hold overnight pajama parties.

Jim, 21, also entertains friends from Oakland University in the playroom and on the patio.

ENTERTAINING AREA — Glistening white walls set the pace of this upstairs living room, and the open stairway invites guests down to the playroom and spacious patio. The gold sofa is flanked by two French Provincial end tables in white and gold. Colors in the oil paintings above the sofa and fireplace mantel blend with every other soft color in the room. The living room forms a space that is somewhat L-shaped in plan, wrapped around two sides of the glassed-in fireplace. The area is bent at entry foyer to the right of the picture.

KITCHEN'S COLORFUL — Provincial wallpaper, with tiny salad bowls and tea kettles bouncing gaily on a robin's egg blue background decorates the end of the oblong-shaped kitchen. The same blue was carried on to the counters, and overhead painted beams. Touches of black and brass and the white curtains make this a happy eating and working area.

PEGGY AND PIERRE — A well-mannered little pup is the family's Pierre. Although it's prohibited, he occasionally jumps up on Peggy's bed with its white coverlet. The wallpaper in Peggy's room has tiny gold circles on a cranberry background. The white ceiling, shutters and curtains are accentuated by big wool-braided rugs.

FORMAL COMFORT — Beside the dining area, these two big chairs woo relaxation. Huge pumpkin-colored flowers are woven over the soft down-filled cushions. White tailored cafe curtains on long brass rods extend from one end of the room to the other. They are all reflected in the satiny finish of the plank flooring.

Got a Plastic Sewer?
Tasty, Says the Gopher

Are gophers using your house sewer as a teething ring? They might be if your house sewer is made of a nonmetallic material.

Research experts at the University of California ran gophers through varied tests and learned that these members of the rodent family enjoy munching on plastic to keep their rapidly growing teeth worn down to a comfortable length.

Fake Wood
New in Design

Wood, one of the oldest building materials, is very much in the decorating news these days. Traditionally a high-price luxury floor and wall covering, wood has inspired designers and chemists in the home furnishings manufacturing field to develop synthetic products which have the appearance of wood, yet offer modern advantages which the natural product cannot duplicate.

The most popular wood substitutes are solid vinyl tile and planks which, in addition to being economical, are easy to install on and above grade, more flexible, and more resistant to strong detergents than natural wood.

Highly resistant also to stains and soiling, as well as practically grease-proof, the new floor and wall covering is easy to clean and maintain. In addition, "wood hue" will not shrink, chip or shatter.

Decorators and builders find that solid vinyl planks and tile answer their needs for lower-cost yet visually exciting building materials.

If you've been thinking about doing away with that old garage this summer, why not consider extending its years of usefulness by converting it into a versatile second home.

Porcelain Enamel Blooming as High-Fashion Beautifier

Porcelain enamel, a material once considered little more than a utilitarian finish for bathtubs and major appliances, is suddenly coming into bloom as a high-fashion glamour additive for the entire home.

Just within the past two years, product designers and home decorators have begun striking creative sparks with this rugged, jewel-finish product which no one would have dreamed of a decade ago.

For example, not long ago the National Design Center in New York produced an entire porcelain enamel pantheon aimed at exploring the remarkable uses the material could be put to in interior home design.

A striking kitchen motif was created with such innovations as an easy-to-clean range hood sheathed in yellow porcelain, black-and-white porcelain enamel counter tops which would defy burns, stains or cut-marks and an all-porcelain "battery" of appliances in complementing colors.

To demonstrate the decorative possibilities possible with modern porcelain finish, the refrigerator featured interchangeable door panels in both a unique silk-screen print and solid tones.

Accessories such as cookware, measuring cups and canister sets were done in brilliant colored porcelain-on-steel and cast-iron. Even the walls were of gleaming porcelain-on-aluminum.

Thanks to improved enamels, more color latitude and new techniques such as silk-screening and decaling, the gap is now narrowing. Some of the semimass-manufactured porcelain enamel items available to designers today not only add color and glamour to the home, but they actually approach the quality of art.

Home air conditioning, once considered a luxury, is continuing to grow throughout the United States, and today's home owners are discovering that an air-conditioned home can be both comfortable and economical.

We'll Help You Open the Door to "HAPPY HOME" OWNERSHIP

It is of great importance when buying a home that you select a financing program that you can live with comfortably . . . basically sound, arranged to your individual needs at the time you assume it, yet flexible enough to take changing circumstances in stride. Rates should be convenient with terms that never make home ownership a burden. We feel that ours is just such a plan because it is personally arranged. Come in today and let one of our loan officers show you how easy owning a home can really be!

Some Hedges Free of Care

Many trees and shrubs can be used for hedges and privacy depending on what the home owner wishes them to achieve, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Do you wish a low border planting? A thorny barrier? A wind break? A tall hedge for privacy? It is important to decide which before you plant.

For low hedges requiring almost no maintenance, there are certain varieties of barberries, boxwoods, cotoneasters, euonymus, ligustrum, physocarpus, ribes, spirea, taxus, or yew and viburnum.

There are many more. You are aiming for a compact, dense, low-growing hedge requiring little or no care. It should be evergreen if you desire all-year color.

Some flowering hedges grow reasonably low and informal, are needing clipping perhaps only once a year, or maybe every two years.

Among these may be included varieties of abelia, chaenomeles, hibiscus, hypericum, ligustrum, myrtus, nandina, philadelphus and others.

For windbreaks and screens, include varieties of acer, carpinus, fagus, juniperus, taxus, ligustrum, picea, tsuga or hemlock and others.

Many additional hedge plant materials are available in the more southern areas, including cryptomeria, ilex, nerium oleander, osmanthus, pittosporum, and others.

Set Aside Home Area for Use as Office Space

Bills, grocery lists, letters, income tax, bank records, investments, bills and more bills. The paper work involved in running a home today is getting to be a full-time business.

To handle it efficiently, many families are setting aside a specific area of their home as a home office. In smaller homes, in which an entire room can't be devoted to an office, the next best solution is simply to create an office area within another room.

Silence Noisy Home With Acoustical Ceiling

In many homes, the kitchen is the noisiest of all rooms. The sometimes deafening clatter of pots and pans and the chatter of young children can be reduced, however.

Sound conditioning authorities suggest acoustical ceiling tiles as an escape from bedlam.

Bathroom Murals Are Decorative, Durable

Looking for a dramatic way to add visual appeal to your bathroom decor?

Many homeowners are following the lead of designers and architects by selecting one of the new five-foot Maritite Murals for the tub-shower recess.

These exciting new pictorial panels, which feature gold designs on a white background, have a hand-crafted appearance.

Practical as well as decorative, the plastic surfaced hardboard panels are highly-resistant to heat, moisture and humidity. They can be damp-wiped clean.

Matching white panels also are available for the ends of the tub-shower area. Striking gold modulated moldings give the entire installation a distinctive appearance.

Nine scenes and designs are available in this line of murals. Included are Aquatic, Seascape, Desert, Oriental, Fleur-de-Lis, Rangoon, South Pacific, Catalina and Snowflake.

This plastic-surfaced paneling can be applied with adhesive right over old, cracked wall areas.

House of Week Shows Blend of Taste, Talent

Every home, in some measure, is a reflection of the person who designed it. So don't be surprised if you recognize something of your own personality in today's House of the Week.

Architect Herman H. York decided to combine in this design the characteristic features of his six most popular house plans. The result, he trusts, is a blend of his talent and your taste.

The design, J-87 in the weekly series, offers the desirable aspects of both a split-level and a two-story. It has three bedrooms, four if necessary, and its dimensions are a modest 67 feet 5 inches wide by 33 feet 8 inches deep. The width can be reduced nine feet (58 feet 5 inches) by substituting a single-car garage.

"Homeowners seem to like the dramatic effects of multi-level living," York said, "but at the same time housewives don't like to be chasing up and down half flights of stairs all day long. In this respect, they prefer a two-story."

In today's plan York provided a slight three-step separation of the living room, dining room and kitchen from the rest of the downstairs — foyer, family room, den (or fourth bedroom) and laundry. The upstairs is eight steps above the raised portico. The exterior carries out an

A beam ceiling, fireplace, wood storage box and book shelves give the family room the sort of farmhouse charm anticipated by the exterior of the house.

Architect York suggests a wood grained material for the walls, but if the budget would permit brick could be used for the entire fireplace wall; and it also is possible to steal some space from the garage workshop area for a built-in TV or hi-fi in the family room.

The living and dining rooms are set apart in a formal wing, with the large kitchen separating them from the informal area. A fireplace, shown as an optional feature, would greatly enhance the living room and simplify furniture arrangement.

A floor-to-ceiling bow window assures plenty of natural light in the kitchen and makes an excellent setting for a breakfast table.

The kitchen work area is well planned and has plenty of counter and cabinet space.

The most interesting feature upstairs is the bathroom ensemble. One economical unit is split three ways so that the master bedroom has an adjoining bath which shares a tub with the family bathroom. It's possible for three persons to use the bathroom at the same time, each with absolute privacy.

All three bedrooms are nicely proportioned and each has ample closet space. The upstairs hall also is large enough for the vacuum cleaner, clothes basket and other paraphernalia which collects there at housecleaning time, with elbow room to spare.

Architect York suggests a simple monochromatic color scheme for the exterior — red brick, white trim and wood shingles of either natural cedar or painted white. If the side walls are white, York recommends black roof shingles; if the side walls are natural the roof should be white or light gray.

Teeing Off

By
BRUNO L. KEARNS

Waterford Hill opened the doors to its par-3 lay-out officially to the public today.

It's a picturesque little course setting at the foot of "The Hill" on Dixie Highway with nine holes ranging from 55 to 155 yards.

The hilly contour can cause some tricky rolls from tee to green.

Yesterday, the first "competitive" match took place when 85 year old Bob Dawson, former U. S. Seniors champion, and Jackie Debbis, 10-year-old tournament "veteran" from Orlando, Fla., played the course.

Debbis, who started playing golf at the age of three and who has the national pee-wee title to his credit at five, edged his opponent, 75 years his senior, 32 to 33.

Dawson, whose love for golf had to take him out on the wet, drizzling morning, despite a recent illness, blew a 2-foot putt on the final green which would have given him a tie.

Whether he missed the putt intentionally only Dawson himself knows, but from appearances he was certainly more than happy to concede a one-stroke victory to his young opponent.

PRE-ARRANGED MATCH
The match which was somewhat pre-arranged during the Florida meeting last winter brought out a nice crowd and many of the golfers watching had to readily admit that the Pee Wee Debbis or Senior Dawson would be a strong challenge to any of them.

Next spring, Waterford Hill hopes to open its regulation par-36 nine of 3,100 yards. The layout will have two par-3s, two par-4s and five par-5s.

Right now the par-27 layout measures 1,075 yards. These are the hole measurements: 120 yards, 115, 140, 125, 85, 135, 90, 110 and 155. Lights are currently being installed.

Also on the course is a putting lounge, driving range, cocktail lounge, dining area, banquet room and pro shop.

SHORT PUTTS
Dr. Larry Stocker won the Warren Orlick trophy at Tom O'Shanter by defeating Dr. Mort Yarrow, 1-up in match play. Sixteen members competed for the trophy.

More of a variety in golf is often said to be the double eagle, although nothing offers more of a thrill than the hole in one to a golfer.

Eugene Harry of Pontiac fired a double eagle on the 265 yard 11th hole, a par-4, at Bald Mt. this week. He used a four wood and fired a 71 for the round playing with Mark Barnowski, Joe Kallis and Sid Schaer.

Byron Nelson won 11 tournaments in a row in 1945 to set PGA Tour record which still stands. He started his string in the Miami Four-Ball March 8-11 and ran it through the Canadian Open August 24.

Joe Gilliam tossed a perfect game for Denver. He almost had to do so since his teammates were held hitless, also. Two errors and ten walks helped the winners immensely.

A second game saw Denver lose, 6-2, to Charleston, collecting only three hits in the loss. The Ravens topped the Fence Busters, 6-3, in Indian ball.

Colavito's Heroics Save Tiger Victory

DETROIT (AP)—It was one time you couldn't knock the Rock.

This has become a popular pastime at Tiger Stadium, for Rocky Colavito no longer is the idol of the Detroit fans. He has been the target of the loudest boos this drab season.

It's not the same as when he was winning games with his bat, his arm and occasionally with his glove.

Last night the Rock won one with his head. His bat, glove and arm—were big weapons, too, as the Tigers staved off the Cleveland Indians, 10-9.

Colavito prevented what could have been the most distasteful defeat of a season in which the Tigers already have lost 10 games. He made a thinking man catch after the Tigers had squandered seven runs of an eight-run lead. Cleveland was threatening to tie, or maybe go ahead, with runners on second and third.

The Rock made a risky catch of a foul when it could have been just as prudent to let the ball drop untouched in the left field bullpen.

"I passed my mind and then I decided to catch it because I KNEW I could make the play," he said.

It was the key play as the Tigers stopped a three-game losing streak in which they'd tallied only two earned runs.

Detroit's 10-2 lead, seemingly insurmountable as the eighth inning started, had been cut to 10-9 when Colavito made his catch for the second out.

Max Alvis hooked a twisting foul above the bullpen dugout with Larry Brown, representing the tying run on third and Willie Kirkland on second.

Colavito bunched the ball, smashed into the dugout and straightened up to make a strong throw in the vicinity of home plate. Brown tagged up, took a couple of steps toward home and retreated. The play drew the life from the Indian counterattack and Brown eventually died on third.

"I knew when I went to the wall I'd be moving toward home plate, so I knew I could get something on my throw," said Colavito, "I was taking a chance, but if I dropped the ball it wouldn't have hurt any thing anyway."

Colavito's heroics saved the Tigers' victory over the Indians, 10-9, last night at Tiger Stadium.

"A smart play," said manager Charlie Dressen, an occasional critic of Colavito's habit of taking several steps before unleashing his hard throws. "The way they were hitting the ball we had to get them out anyway we could."

"Rocky got the ball away quicker than he does on balls on the ground. His throw wasn't near the plate, but Bill Freehan had plenty of time to get back and Brown would have been out by 15 feet."

JOHN C. BATTICE
TROY—John C. Battice, 53, of 3264 Livernois, died early today at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following a long illness.

"His body is at the Price Funeral Home."

The former Harvard University Law School dean, who headed three federal agencies at various times, pleaded guilty Friday to charges that he had failed to file returns from 1956-60, a period when his income was said to exceed $500,000.

Landis, 63, has paid the government $94,492—three-fourths of the taxes due and the rest penalties and interest.

He could draw as much as five years in prison.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau, who brought the case against Landis, is the son of former Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., a colleague of the defendant during the New Deal days of the 1930s.

Asked if Landis had paid his taxes before after the government investigation of the case, Morgenthau replied that prosecution usually does not result of delinquent taxes are paid before the Internal Revenue Service gets to them.

The federal grand jury's five-count indictment against Landis was announced to the press only after Landis had been arraigned before U.S. Dist. Court Judge Edward C. McLean. McLean released Landis in his own custody on guilty pleas to each count.

In a statement read to the court, Landis' attorney, William Warren, dean of the Columbia University Law School, said his client had become "so confused in public affairs he never got around to filing tax returns for the five years until after the IRS prompted him."

Boy on Bike Injured in Pontiac Township
A 10-year-old boy was injured yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the path of an automobile on Baldwin near Collie in Pontiac Township.

Astronaut Flies Low, Says Highway Patrol

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom, who received the world's acclaim for his suborbital flight at more than 5,000 miles an hour, is in trouble with the law for driving his sports car at 75 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone.

Court records reveal that Grissom was arrested July 27 near Apopka by State Highway Patrol trooper W. R. McIntyre. McIntyre said he had clocked Grissom at 75 in trouble for two miles before stopping him.

Studebaker Reports Decline in Losses

DUNBAR, W. Va. (U-P) — Studebaker Corp. reported to stockholders yesterday its losses were cut to $1,154,576 in the second quarter of 1963, representing a sharp decline from the first quarter's $6,413,943 loss.

The six-month loss of $7,568,419 on sales of $205,342,065 compares with a profit of $776,430 on net sales of $180,433,979 in the first half of 1962.

Sherwood H. Egbert recalled that a series of strikes seriously delayed the 1963 model cars, and he said plans for bringing out the 1964 models are comparatively far ahead.

The common expression "black as ebony" applies only to the heartwood. The outer wood, or sapwood, is white or grayish or pinkish-white.

Noted Author Succumbs

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Oliver La Farge, 61, nationally known author, historian and anthropologist, died Friday of a heart ailment. La Farge, who won the 1929 Pulitzer Prize for "Laughing Boy," a study of Navajo Indian life, was a noted defender of the American Indian.

Guide Service to Open FDR's Home to Tourists

CAMPOBELLO, N.B. (AP) — The Franklin D. Roosevelt summer home, now equipped with a guide service, will be opened to tourists beginning Monday. Tourists this year expressed disappointment when the house remained closed to visitors through lack of an adequate guide service.

Doctor Ward Dies in Coma, Unaware of Vice Conviction

DR. WARD

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward died today, still unaware he was convicted on two vice charges in Britain's biggest sex and political scandal of the 20th century.

The 50-year-old playboy-osteopath had been in a coma since Wednesday, when he took an overdose of drugs a few hours before he was to appear in court for the windup of his vice trial.

He thus never knew a jury had convicted him.

His life ebbed away in a flower-filled but guarded room at St. Stephen Hospital.

Ward was convicted of living off the earnings of two call girls propitiated into notoriety by the scandal, as was Ward himself.

U.N. Official Warns N. Korea Invites Disaster

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—Amid reports of new fighting on the uneasy Korean truce line, the U.N. Command warned today that Communist North Korea must curb its "bloodthirsty marauders" immediately or it will invite its own destruction.

Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, senior delegate from the U.N. Command on the armistice commission, charged the North Koreans with deliberate, malicious assaults in U.N.-controlled territory which have killed three Americans and wounded a fourth since July 29.

North Korea brushed aside the charges as "fabrications" in one of the hottest exchanges in 10 years of armistice commission meetings.

Earlier Cloud said Communist troops had intruded into the U.N. Command portion of the demilitarized zone at 4:30 a.m. today and fresh firing had broken out between American and Communist troops.

Cloud said the clash had taken place about 500 yards south of the military demarcation line running through the center of the demilitarized zone. He did not elaborate and mentioned no casualties.

An American officer told newsmen outside the armistice meeting that he had thrown eight hand grenades in the latest reported clash. He said an American patrol had been flanked in the fighting and forced to withdraw.

No major casualties were reported on either side. An American soldier was treated for a shrapnel splinter in one hand, but it was believed it might have come from a U.S. grenade.

Cloud, a Marine, said 50 Soviet-made cartridge cases had been found at the scene along with an unexploded Soviet-type grenade.

Train Derailed; Crash Kills 30 in S. America

Unknown Saboteurs Injure More Than 100 Near Uruguay Capital

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—At least 30 persons were killed and more than 100 injured yesterday night in a passenger train derailment which the state-owned railroad said was staged by saboteurs.

The three-coach train, carrying 200 passengers, veered onto a siding at 45 miles an hour and smashed into freight cars parked at a fertilizer plant.

Crews worked through the night to rescue passengers trapped in the twisted coaches along the little-used siding in a suburb eight miles from Montevideo.

Juan C. Pines, president of Uruguay's National Railroad, said that "criminal hands forced the lock of the track points system" and held the switch open by placing stones between the rails and the switch lever, shunting the train onto the siding.

ROCKS ON TRACKS

Another railroad official said the saboteurs also had placed heavy rocks on the tracks.

Engineer Nestor Martinez said he had seen the switch was pointed the wrong way about 20 yards before the train reached the siding. He said he slammed on the brake but it was too late.

The coaches snapped from the locomotive and were smashed. The engine hurtled into the freight cars.

The siding turns off the main track at a sharp angle. Martinez said freight trains using the siding negotiate the turn at 10 miles an hour.

Bodies were taken to a nearby army barracks and morgues for identification.

PET BOBCAT—Mrs. June Coltrane, Casper, Wyo., housewife, has a battle on her hands to hold her pet bobcat for a picture. She raised the 3-year-old bobcat in her home from the time it was 2 weeks old. It now weighs 25 pounds.

Hearings Completed on JFK Rights Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's civil rights program has passed the first turn in the long, winding road toward enactment—completion of lengthy hearings by two congressional committees.

The committees are expected to start writing their bills soon. The prospect in the House is that the floor battle over civil rights legislation won't be started until after Labor Day.

The outlook in the Senate is even cloudier.

The House Judiciary Committee concluded three months of hearings on the President's seven-point program yesterday, while the Senate Commerce Committee was winding up five weeks of hearings on a plank—a bill to prohibit racial discrimination in places of public accommodations.

The accommodations sections was separated from the rest of the program in the Senate in an effort for quicker action than could be expected from the Senate Judiciary Committee, long the burial ground for civil rights measures.

The committee has been holding hearings on the other points with no sign of a windup in view.

Graduation ceremonies were held last night at Pontiac Central High School for summer school graduates.

Donald McMillen, summer school principal, and William H. Anderson, Pontiac school board president, awarded diplomas to 88 seniors.

A total of 114 students completed high school requirements in summer school, but only part of them participated in last night's ceremonies in the Pontiac Central auditorium.

Arnold W. Embree, director of guidance and pupil personnel for Pontiac schools, was the commencement speaker. Embree's address was entitled "Not for Sale."

U.S. Fights Harsh Action on S. Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States held out today against punitive action by the Security Council, but African states pressed doggedly for a harsh boycott aimed at white supremacist South Africa.

African diplomats said they have drawn up a tentative resolution that would have the 11-nation council put South Africa under an arms and oil embargo and crack down with a full economic and diplomatic boycott. The measure also would call for South Africa's suspension from U.N. membership.

Sponsors of the move said that Ghana, Morocco and the Philippines were consulting other council members to see how much of the resolution would win approval.

The United States was understood to feel that a council call for a break in diplomatic and economic relations would constitute enforcement action which it could not support.

But the Americans reportedly hold that a recommended arms embargo would be a means of peaceful adjustment of the situation which they could vote for.

Pact Initiates Hope for Series

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Moscow today to sign a nuclear test-ban treaty and to try to learn if "it will prove to be the first of a series of steps leading toward peace."

Before leading a 12-man American delegation aboard the Russia-bound military jet airliner Friday night, Rusk told newsmen at Andrews Air Force Base, Md.: "This treaty is an important one."

We hope it will prove to be the first of a series of steps leading toward peace. But that we cannot tell for certain. There's much unfinished business ahead of us. Perhaps during this visit we shall find out. We hope so."

Envoys to Eye World Issues

Rusk expects to find it out in talks with Premier Khrushchev after the ceremonial signing of the treaty Monday.

While the test-ban negotiations were still under way in Moscow, Khrushchev proposed other steps for easing East-West tensions.

Rusk hopes the Russians will spell out precisely what Khrushchev had in mind in his suggestions for a nonaggression pact, stationing of inspectors on each side of the Iron Curtain to prevent a sneak attack; freezing or reducing military budgets; and reducing forces in Germany.

Accompanying Rusk to the treaty ceremony were half a dozen senators—four Democrats and two Republicans. Rusk noted it will be up to the Senate to ratify the American, British and Soviet agreement to ban all nuclear tests except those underground.

Democratic supporters of the treaty Friday voiced their belief that the forthcoming Senate hearings will clear away most Republican doubts about the wisdom of ratifying it.

For New Development

Public reaction is the key to the success of the proposed development of urban renewal lands in downtown Pontiac.

Charles L. Langs, exclusive developer for the central business district properties, disclosed plans last week for a multimillion dollar commercial complex in the area.

Langs' plans include an apartment building, "prestige" office building, a shopping center, and a combined shopping and parking area.

The development takes in more than 27 acres by the eastern and western loops of the perimeter road between Water Street and Whittemore.

Langs said the plans will be modified according to the needs of residents and local businessmen. He expects most of the buildings, except the shopping center, to be multi-story, but the size of each depends on the demand.

For example, the developer said one 120-unit apartment building is planned, but if enough people indicate they would like to live there a second building will be erected.

Inquiries should be directed to the urban renewal office, Pontiac city hall.
