Americans Throng to Election Booths Today

John XXIII Reigns as 262nd Pontiff

Pope Crowned in Glittering Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII was crowned today in glittering medieval ceremonies investing him as the 262nd spiritual ruler of the Roman Catholic Church.

A mighty roar went up from some 200,000 persons in the great square of St. Peter's at the climactic moment in the coronation of the successor to Pope Pius XII.

★ ★ ★

A threat of rain was in the air and an occasional sprinkle fell.

Nicola Cardinal Canali, aged prodean of the College of Cardinals, placed the beehive-shaped tiara of jewel-encrusted gold on the head of the sharecropper's son from a little north Italian village.

There were more than four hours of impressive religious rites inside the vast St. Peter's church.

The coronation took place on the same central balcony overlooking the square on which Pope John made his first appearance a week ago today after his election by the College of Cardinals.

All the pomp and ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church were mustered for the coronation rites. But there was humility, too, in the presence of the pontiff's family. Three brothers, a sister and numerous nephews and nieces were present, dressed in their black peasant Sunday best. They watched in awe, weeping with emotion, as their kinsman, the former Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, went through the coronation ceremony.

Through it all the 76-year-old former patriarch of Venice remained serene, often smiling benignly. His voice throughout the long Mass and his greetings to the Catholic hierarchy of the world remained clear and resonant.

The crowd began to roar as 84-year-old Cardinal Canali took the crown in his hands and prepared to place it on the pontiff's head. The pontiff adjusted the crown himself and looked solemnly out into the crowd.

The Pope rose slowly and chanted his "urbi et orbi"—the traditional blessing of the pontiff to Rome and the world. The crowd remained silent throughout his recitation, delivered in a firm loud voice.

For the first time in history, millions of West Europeans witnessed the coronation of a Pope through the agency of television. The Vatican radio also broadcast the long ceremony.

★ ★ ★

The Pope granted a plenary indulgence not only to all those present but also to those listening to the radio or watching television. The Pope slowly made the sign of the cross in several directions at the end, and after the "amen," the crowd thundered wildly, shouting "viva il papa"—long live the Pope—over and over.

Mingling in the roar, the great campanone, the master bell of St. Peter's, began to toll. The lesser bells of Rome's churches took up the carol of triumph.

More than 50,000 persons had jammed the vast reaches of St. Peter's for the solemn Pontifical Mass and other religious rites which preceded the outdoor coronation.

★ ★ ★

St. Peter's was resplendent with red damask and gold, blazing with 350,000 electric light bulbs and flickering candles. The vast audience included prelates of the church, representatives of foreign governments, papal nobility—and simple priests, nuns and Romans. Some had stood in the rain for hours to gain admittance.

President Eisenhower was represented by Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, and Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former ambassador to Italy.

The impressive spectacle began with a long procession of prelates and nobles into the portico of the church. Purple-clad bearers car-

Cuban Victory Seems Sure for Batista's Choice

Early Figures Lopsided After a Light Turnout, Bloodshed During Vote

HAVANA (AP) — Former Premier Andres Rivero Aguero has won election by a wide margin to succeed his political sponsor, President Fulgencio Batista, incomplete returns showed today.

A light turnout and bloodshed marked the heavily guarded balloting in the revolt-torn nation Monday, but lopsided early figures from the four-man race indicated a landslide for Rivero Aguero.

Unofficial tabulations from 3,717 — or 43 per cent — of the island's 8,521 precincts gave: Rivero Aguero 439,991 votes; Carlos Marquez Sterling 100,528; former President Ramon Gau San Martin 68,649; Alberto Salas Amaro 7,754.

Returns were lacking on other races. But government quarters expressed belief most of their candidates for the Senate, House, six governorships and 126 mayoralties were being swept into office with Rivero Aguero.

Hundreds of thousands of the nation's 2,870,000 eligible voters—perhaps as many as 60 per cent—stayed away from the polls. Apathy and fear were factors.

CALLS FOR BOYCOTT

Rebel leader Fidel Castro had called for a boycott. With eight candidates killed during the campaigning, Castro threatened death to all other candidates and reprisals against Cubans who voted.

Government sources predicted, however, that final returns would show about 65 per cent had disregarded Castro's warnings and voted.

Election day bloodshed included a mistaken exchange of fire between troops and a police patrol car at Marianao, the national military headquarters. Soldiers shot at the police under the impression they were rebels. One man was killed.

A rebel suspect was killed by police fire in Havana.

Two gunmen fired from a car at the home of Vice President Rafael Gaus Inclan. One was captured. The vice president was not at home.

Two soldiers guarding a polling place in western Del Rio province were wounded by gun-

Balloting Heavy in County; Mark May Tumble

Gubernatorial Race Is Top Drawing Card at Michigan Polls

Voting was reported "heavy" this morning as Oakland County voters turned out in large numbers to join the throngs across most of the nation casting ballots today.

First indications in several of Oakland County's 295 precincts were that a record off-year voter turnout might be in the making.

Two hours after the polls opened at 7 a.m., reports of "quite heavy" turnouts came from numerous precincts.

But the trips to the voting precincts were expected to taper off as customary during mid-day and then pick up again toward the latter part of the afternoon.

The number-one drawing card for Michigan voters is the hot battle between Gov. Williams, seeking an unprecedented sixth two-year term, versus Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell, a Michigan State University professor.

Major issue batted around between the two is the state's industrial climate. Bagwell contends that Williams' policies are anti-business and have driven industry from the state.

BLAMES WASHINGTON

The governor's answer is that the Republican administration in Washington is responsible for the economic recession.

Oakland County voters have given keen attention to the race for the county's seat in Congress, and whether Democrats will place a winner in a county position for the first time since 1936.

Besides picking a U.S. Congressman, local voters will select a state senator, state representatives and six county officers. Numerous local issues face county voters in 15 communities.

The state has placed on the ballot the question whether a Constitutional Convention shall be called to revise Michigan's 50-year-old Constitution.

Beautiful voting weather, with the temperature climbing in spots toward the 60-degree mark, greeted Michigan voters. It has been estimated that this good weather will tempt 2,250,000 voters to exercise their privilege.

As in Michigan, mild, Indian summer weather plus vigorous 11th-hour campaigning by candi-

Expecting 48 Million to Vote Across U.S.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Approximately 48 million, or 63 per cent of the estimated eligible voters, are expected to cast ballots today.

More than 1,000 candidates are seeking 33 seats in the U.S. Senate, 432 in the House, 32 governorships.

Weather forecast: Sunny and mild in most of the nation, with temperatures ranging from the 50s to the 70s.

Maine held its election Sept. 8, when the Democrats picked up a Senate and a House seat, and Alaska holds its first election Nov. 25.

Thus, the new Congress opening in January will have 98 senators, including 62 holdovers, and 436 House members, with 50 needed to control the Senate and 219 the House.

Democrats now control both houses, the Senate 49-47, and the House 235-200, not counting the Maine results. To win back control of Congress, Republicans would have to show a net gain of 3 senators and 19 House members.

★ ★ ★

Counting Maine and Alaska, 34 governors are being elected this year. Democrats now hold 79 governorships, Republicans 19.

★ ★ ★

Polls close today as early as 4 p.m., EST, in parts of Rhode Island and Tennessee and as late as 11 p.m. on the West Coast.

Warmer for Tonight Through Tomorrow

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts fair and a little warmer tonight. The low will be near 43 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and continued mild with the high reaching around 64. The outlook for Thursday is partly cloudy and cooler with little or no rainfall for the next few days.

★ ★ ★

The lowest temperature recording preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 39. The mercury rose to 62 at 2 p.m.

Votes to Appeal Court Decision

City Commission Seeks Final Ruling on Three Officers' Promotions

City commissioners voted 6 to 1 last night to appeal the Circuit Court decision ordering three Pontiac police officers promoted.

City Attorney William A. Ewart was instructed to file an application for leave to appeal the decision to the State Supreme Court. The application will go before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, who originally ordered the promotions and yesterday denied the city's motion for a new trial.

Judge Adams granted a 10-day stay of execution in an order promoting Sgt. Fred Goines and Dets. Herbert Cooley and James Bale. Goines would be a lieutenant under the order, and Cooley and Bale sergeants.

The three placed high on civil service lists after tests more than a year ago.

But when they were not promoted, Goines and Cooley went to court charging City Manager Walter K. Willman and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley with violation of the state civil service law.

Hurt in 'Scrub' Game

Birmingham Boy Dies Following Head Injury

An autopsy was to be performed today to determine what caused the death of Birmingham High School's senior class president Harry Klimushyn Jr.

He died last night at Grace Hospital, Detroit, several hours after undergoing surgery for removal of a blood clot on his brain.

Harry, 17, who stood 5-foot-6 and weighed 135 pounds, was injured when he tackled a 200-pound youth Sunday afternoon in a scrub football game at Pershing High School field in Detroit.

He had brought a helmet and shoulder pads to the game but didn't put them on because the other players didn't.

The two teams were made up of teenaged dancers on a Detroit television show, on which Klimushyn and his girl friend, Linda McMaster, 17, were regular performers.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klimushyn of 13555 Eastlady Dr., Southfield Township, were at the sidelines watching the game when the accident occurred.

A brief memorial service was read at the morning assembly today at Birmingham High School.

Barefoot Sanders Challenges Texas Republican

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Bruce Alger, lone Texas Republican in Congress, faced a challenge from a Democrat with the unlikely name of Barefoot Sanders in one of today's warmer election contests.

Their Dallas County race was expected to bring a turnout of 100,000 voters.

Alger sought his third term in Congress from the 5th District.

Sanders, whose full name is Harold Barefoot Sanders, is finishing his third term in the Texas Legislature. His middle name, which he has used since college days, is his mother's maiden name.

Ike Casts His Ballot at Gettysburg Polls

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower caps his campaign for a Republican Congress today in the privacy of a voting booth at Gettysburg, Pa.

The President ballots in secrecy at Cumberland Township's Barlow fire hall near his farm home. But it's no secret he is going all out for the GOP ticket, having stumped from coast to coast against Democrats he calls radical spendthrifts and advocates of harebrained schemes.

The President's wife plans to go to Gettysburg by automobile later in the day to vote.

Eisenhower plans to fly back to Washington shortly after voting and maybe a brief stop at the farm. He and his wife and perhaps a few friends will get election returns at the White House tonight.

Press Will Furnish Returns by Phone

The Press will give election results by telephone tonight, starting at 9 o'clock. Polls throughout the state close at 8 p.m. and returns are not expected before 9. The phone number is FEderal 2-8181.

1 Killed, 3 Escape as Jet Bomber Falls

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — One airman died and three parachuted safely as their B47 medium jet bomber crashed in flames today.

★ ★ ★

The ship cracked up in a pasture 11 miles southwest of here in west-central Texas shortly after takeoff from Dyess Air Force Base.

★ ★ ★

Air Police temporarily detained newsmen and several others. They said this was done to permit a check for radiation effects.

★ ★ ★

A Dyess spokesman declined to say whether the B47, a Strategic Air Command craft, carried a nuclear weapon. Air Force authorities in the past have said SAC bombers are so armed.

★ ★ ★

The Dyess information office said that control tower personnel warned crewmen their ship was afire during takeoff but it was airborne within seconds.

Fifteen Tons of Steel Dumped at Dixie and Telegraph

Pontiac Press Photos

NARROW BRUSH WITH DEATH — Crash shown above occurred on Dixie Highway yesterday shortly after 12:30 p. m. The truck, pulling two trailers loaded with an estimated 30,000 pounds of steel in rolls, was turning left off Telegraph road when the weight of its load shifted. One of the trailers and the truck overturned into a ditch. The driver, Robert Compeau, 38, of Dearborn, (right) calmly crawled from the driver's seat with only a slight bruise to his left knee and elbow. He was pictured a few moments later standing in front of the crushed cab from which he emerged.

Senate Contests to Watch for National Voting Trend:

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you're looking for a possible nationwide trend tonight, watch the returns from key election contests in certain early reporting states.

For example, keep an eye on these Senate contests (all seats now Republican, with Democrats given a chance to win):

Connecticut polls close 7 p.m. EST, New York 7 p.m., Pennsylvania 8 p.m., and West Virginia, two seats, 7:30 p.m. Races in Maryland, 7 p.m., and New Jersey, 8 p.m., are rated tossups by the experts.

Other Senate contests in which Democrats could score overturns are in Arizona, California, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Nevada.

Two Eastern governorships that could change hands politically are New York and Maryland. Signs indicate New York might go Republican, Maryland Democratic. Ohio also could switch to the Democrats, as well as California. Republican North and South Dakota, particularly the latter, have governorship races running closer than usual.

Party experts say early trends might be noted in House races in the Connecticut 1st and 3rd districts, Delaware's lone contest, Indiana 11th, Kentucky 3rd, New Jersey 1st, and Pennsylvania 6th district,—all now Republican.

Dr. Sullenberger to Drop Appeal

Decides to Withdraw Supreme Court Petition in Hospital Case

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger announced yesterday that he has decided to end his court battle with Pontiac General Hospital.

The 43-year-old heart surgeon, who was dropped from the hospital's medical staff after a lengthy and sometimes sensational court fight, ordered his attorney to withdraw Michigan Supreme Court appeal proceedings.

Dr. Sullenberger was not available for comment today on his reason. His attorney, Harry N. Dell, said that there appeared to be "little practical benefit" in making an appeal.

"We might win an academic victory," Dell said.

In the background lies the fact that victory in the State Supreme Court might not assure Dr. Sullenberger of being reinstated at the hospital. Although Dr. Sullenberger charged in Circuit Court that the hospital couldn't regulate his professional life, the surgeon was booted out this summer on grounds of personal misconduct.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Sullenberger once vowed to continue the fight until his name had been cleared of charges of professional misconduct. These charges have been dropped.

SUSPENDED LAST YEAR

The Pontiac physician was temporarily suspended by the hospital's board of trustees last Nov. 13 on recommendation of the medical staff. He then brought suit, demanding reinstatement and $250,000 damages.

★ ★ ★

In reply to the suit, former hospital director Carl I. Flath charged Dr. Sullenberger had violated professional standards in 25 cases, in six of which the patient died.

Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn, of Caro, tossed out the surgeon's suit on grounds he had not appealed the suspension to the board. Dr. Sullenberger made the appeal and at the same time prepared an appeal to the Supreme Court.

After a long hearing, this summer, the doctor was permanently suspended by the board. This time, however, the medical staff made no charges of professional misconduct.

They emphasized that Dr. Sullenberger was being charged with personal misconduct "detrimental to the efficient operation of the hospital."

Since his dismissal from the hospital, Dr. Sullenberger has opened his own clinic at 494 W. Huron St.

"The surgeon is busy in his new office. There seems to be little reason to continue the court fight," Dell said.

United Fund Division Gets 44.9 Pct. of Quota

Commercial Division leaders today reported collections totaling $80,453 or 44.9 per cent of their $179,371 quota to Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign Chairman Philip J. Monaghan.

Some twenty-four of the division's leading workers met at GMC Truck & Coach this noon to discuss ways and means of obtaining the remaining $98,919 before the November 11 deadline.

Monaghan praised those workers making early reports, yet cautioned the group that time is now working against them with only seven days remaining until the end of the campaign.

The employes and United Fund company solicitors of eight downtown firms were cited by Monaghan as examples of what can be done when workers use the giving yardstick as a pledge guide.

Cited were Sears, Roebuck & Co., $1,664 in 1958, $1,577 in 1957, with Alfred Yates as solicitor; Kresge's (downtown), $1,424 in 1958, $1,085 in 1957, with Mrs. Velma Davis as solicitor; and Waites, with $1,039 in 1958, $448 in 1957, and Helmut Wolff soliciting.

Also named were Winkelmans, with $503 in 1958, $438 in 1957, with Mrs. Ann Hughes as solicitor; Buckner Finance, $340 in 1958, $279 in 1957, and Merle Voss soliciting; General Motors Acceptance Corp., $336 in 1958, $289 in 1957, and H. W. Sanders soliciting; Stewart-Glenn, $297 in 1958, $186 in 1957 with John Stewart as solicitor; and Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union, $211 in 1958, and $61 in 1957, with James Harrington soliciting.

"The men and women employed at these eight firms are to be commended for their fine job," stated Monaghan. "I'm disappointed however at the slow pace of returns from the Commercial Division in general. We should be much closer to our goal at this stage of the campaign," Monaghan added.

The agencies providing services to the crippled, aged, sick and less fortunate of this area depend on the success of this year's Tenth Anniversary Appeal for their continued operation through 1959, he said:

Approximately $322,000 of this year's goal is earmarked for the support of the 13 local Community Chest agencies. They include: Boy Scouts, Boys' Club of Pontiac, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, YMCA, YWCA, Visiting Nurse Association, Michigan Children's Aid Society, Oakland Child Guidance Clinic, Family Service of Oakland County, Catholic Social Services, Salvation Army and the Urban League.

Crown Pope John XXIII in Glittering Vatican Rites

ried the Pope, who sat on a portable throne.

A blast of silver trumpets, in the triumphal strains of Palestrina's "Tu es Petrus"—Thou Art Peter—heralded Pope John's entrance. Alternatively solemn and smiling, he frequently raised his hands in slow gesture of benediction as the throng thundered "viva il papa" and waved banners and handkerchiefs.

Accompanying the pontiff to pay him homage again and again during the ceremonies were 48 of the Church's 53 cardinals. Jose Maria Caro Rodriguez, archbishop of Santiago, Chile, attended the ceremony but did not walk in the procession because of his 92 years. Two other cardinals who participated in the Pope's election were unable to be present because of poor health, and two are behind the Iron Curtain.

The papal procession halted first at the chapel of the Holy Sacrament, where the Pope left his throne to pray. Then it moved to the chapel of St. Gregory where Pope John was invested with his coronation robes and received homage from the cardinals, each coming forward in his red silk robe and ermine cape to kneel and kiss the papal ring. The Pope, smiling, leaned over each and said a few words.

Then the Pope chanted a prayer, the choir responding. After a benediction, he resumed his throne. His hands were ceremoniously washed to symbolize spiritual cleansing and then he was vested for the solemn Pontifical Mass, with a double cape of silk and gold, and miter of white damask.

As the procession moved toward the main altar, flax three times was burned before the Pope to remind him of the passing glory of the world. Each time the throne moved forward, the crowd broke into thunderous roars of tribute and waved banners and handkerchiefs.

At the main altar of the church the cardinals were seated on the left of the papal throne. The statue of St. Peter, known to millions of tourists, was dressed in ancient robes, glittering crown and jewels from the Vatican treasury.

★ ★ ★

After chanting the confiteor to open the solemn high Pontifical Mass, the Pope sat on a temporary throne. Escorted back to the papal altar, he blessed the incense thurible, spread incense about the altar and then was escorted to his white and gold throne under St. Peter's chair. He mounted the seven scarlet-covered steps and there received still another individual homage from the cardinals.

In the Mass that followed he took repeated parts. His voice was loud and strong.

At the conclusion of the Mass the procession again formed and was escorted to an elevator to be raised to the balcony overlooking the square. Then came the final act of coronation and the blessing to the world.

Even three unexpected explosions did not disturb his composure. Three times during the ceremonies, huge floodlamp reflectors high in the dome over the papal throne exploded loudly. He did not budge or turn his head, even when tiny bits of glass showered down around him.

Sunday Liquor Sale Sought by Miriani

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor Louis Miriani planned today to ask the State Liquor Control Commission to change the law and permit the sale of whisky for private functions on Sundays.

Miriani said he saw no harm in allowing hotels or similar places to serve liquor to private gatherings on Sundays, and he said easing the Sunday ban on liquor could help the motor city's convention trade.

But the mayor said he would not recommend a change in the law requiring bars to stop selling whisky at 2 a.m. and close at 2:30 a.m.

Michigan law prohibits sale of all beverages more than 16 proof from 2 a.m. to midnight on Sundays.

Miriani said he would discuss his proposed change with Joseph L. Wisniewski, liquor control commission chairman.

Injured Unitas Will Miss 4 or 5 Games

BALTIMORE (AP)—Johnny Unitas, Baltimore Colts quarterback, will miss the next four or five games because of fractured ribs, Colts General Manager Don Kellett announced today.

The Colts' leading aerial strategist was two games shy of the record of touchdown passes in 23 consecutive games set by Cecil Isbell while he played for the Green Bay Packers.

Unitas and halfback L. G. Dupre were injured during last Sunday's rain-soaked 56-0 win over the Packers here. Dupre will be out of action for at least one week, and possibly two, with a dislocated shoulder. Kellett said Unitas was suffering from pneumothorax due to fractured ribs, meaning he has air in the chest cavity.

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Revel, 52, noted composer and pianist, died today at his Manhattan home.

His death resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Revel, who wrote the score for the Ziegfeld Follies of 1931, also composed, among others, the songs "Stay as Sweet as You Are" "Love Thy Neighbor," "Paris in the Spring," "May I?," "You Can't Have Everything," "With My Eyes Wide Open I'm Dreaming" and "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?"

Storm Batters Pacific Coast, Moves Inland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stormy weather which lashed Pacific coastal areas headed eastward today, losing some of its fury as it moved inland.

Generally clear skies, with cool weather in the Northeast, prevailed in broad areas of the country. However, rains continued in sections of the Southland.

★ ★ ★

The rapidly moving Pacific storm center moved into Washington with gusty winds which reached as high as 66 m.p.h. at Pendleton, Ore., and 60 m.p.h. at The Dalles, Ore. Winds with hurricane gusts were recorded at the Naselle Air Force radar station on the north side of the Columbia River.

★ ★ ★

Trees were toppled, blocking highways. Boats were swamped and cities blacked out as the strong winds swept the area. The rain belt expanded eastward during the night into central Montana and southward into the northern California coastal sections.

Say Nationalists Use Poison Gas

Chinese Reds' Charge Denied; Seen as Way to Retaliate

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist China today accused the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy of firing poison gas at the Chinese mainland.

The Nationalists denied their forces were using gas and in turn accused the Communists of laying the propaganda groundwork to use poison gas themselves.

The Communists claimed the gas attack occurred during Monday's blazing artillery duel during which the Reds pounded Quemoy and its smaller neighbors with 39,162 shells in 18 hours. The firing subsided at midnight and the Quemoy area was reported quiet today — an even-numbered day of the month on which the Communists are pledged not to attack landing areas.

Peiping radio claimed 14 Communist troops were "affected" by the alleged gas attack and said: "Should the Kuomintang troops dare to continue to use poison gas shells, our troops will reply with severe punitive action."

Quoting a spokesman of the Red Defense ministry, the broadcast said: "The Chinese People's Liberation Army expressed the greatest anger over this crime of the United States and of the Kuomintang (Nationalist) troops."

★ ★ ★

The broadcast in effect accused the United States of cooperating in the alleged gas attack, declaring that it had come after the meeting of Secretary of State Dulles with President Chiang Kai-shek and after "the supply of large amounts of ammunition by the United States to the Chiang troops."

Pontiac Voters Get Free Rides to Polling Booths

Response to the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce offer of rides to voting precincts today has been good, according to Robert Oliver Jr., chairman of the program.

Oliver said during the first 1½ hours there had been requests from 20 persons for rides. These may be secured by calling FE 5-6148.

"Nobody seems to want a ride in the ambulances we have standing by," said Oliver.

Free rides have been provided in cars loaned by Oliver Motor Sales Inc., Pontiac Retail Store and Matthews-Hargreaves, Inc.

Skilled Trades Rally Aimed at Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit area skilled trades workers are planning a mass meeting Thursday to carry their demands to United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

Eugene Hoffman, chairman of the meeting, said the rally will be held in front of Solidarity House, the UAW's headquarters building in Detroit.

He said a delegation will go from the meeting to Reuther with demands including a ban on overtime while UAW journeymen are laid off.

Hoffman added that the skilled trades members of the UAW also are opposed to the hiring of other than UAW journeymen in skilled classifications, and upgrading trainees and adding new apprentices until employment picks up

W. L. MITCHELL

HARLEY J. EARL

W. L. Mitchell Succeeds Earl as GM Styling Chief

The General Motors Board of Directors today elected William L. Mitchell vice president in charge of GM Styling Staff, effective Dec. 1.

Mitchell will succeed Harley J. Earl, who will retire on that date after a 32-year GM career which has established him as the acknowledged leader in American automotive styling.

He will continue to serve General Motors as a consultant.

★ ★ ★

Mitchell has been director of GM Styling, under Earl, since May 1, 1954. His General Motors career began in 1935 when he joined the styling section. Subsequently he served as chief designer in the Cadillac studio, and as assistant director of styling. He served as a Navy lieutenant commander for three years during World War II.

★ ★ ★

A native of Cleveland, O., Mitchell grew up in Greenville, Pa., and New York City. He attended Carnegie Institute of Technology and took art training in New York.

Mitchell and his wife, Nancy Jane, have two daughters. They live in Bloomfield Village.

Earl has supervised the styling of almost 50 million GM cars and trucks since he styled the 1927 LaSalle, built by GM's Cadillac Motor Car Division. That car now is regarded as an automotive milestone because it was the first production automobile whose contours from headlight to rear bumper were designed by a professional stylist.

Earl also is acknowledged as the pioneer of the experimental or "dream car" idea in the auto industry. Beginning with GM's "Y-Job" in 1937, he and his staff have styled 37 experimental cars of which the latest is the gas turbine powered, electronically-controlled Firebird III, introduced at the General Motors Motorama of 1959.

In addition to automobiles, Earl has directed the design of a variety of other products ranging from household appliances to futuristic trains and off-the-road highway equipment. His staff also styles GM's famed Motoramas and other shows.

★ ★ ★

Born in Los Angeles in 1893, he learned body design in the Earl Carriage Works there, a firm headed by his father. After obtaining an engineering degree from Leland Stanford University in 1918, he established a reputation as a stylist by designing custom car bodies for moving picture stars.

He joined General Motors in 1927 and was elected a vice president Sept. 3, 1940.

Earl and his wife, Sue, have two sons, J. Milton and J. Courtney. The Earl residence is in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Fails to Obtain Absentee Ballot for Ailing Wife

A Huntington Woods man attempted unsuccessfully yesterday to obtain an absentee ballot for his ailing wife.

This was the only unusual election incident reported so far by State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery.

Marvin Frenkel, of 26323 Hendrie Blvd. first obtained a writ of mandamus from Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty ordering city officials to issue the ballot.

But last night, after talking with Huntington Woods city attorney, Judge Doty reversed himself and withdrew the writ, according to Dep. City Clerk Mrs. Dorothy B. McQuater.

She said that Frenkel applied for the absentee ballot too late. The deadline was 2 p.m. Saturday, set up in the state election laws, she said.

Frenkel said his wife, Barbara, had taken sick yesterday and would be unable to get to the polls today. When Huntington Woods officials turned him down, he went to Circuit Court for the writ.

Mrs. McQuater said that Montgomery was backing up the city. "I'm sorry about Mrs. Frenkel, but the law's the law," she said.

Precinct Returns In

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Less than two hours after the polls opened at 6:30 a.m. the tiny mountain precinct of Cataloochee reported the 1958 general election completed. The precinct's six Democrats and one Republican voted straight tickets.

High School Students 'Elect' 13 of 16 Dems

High school students in Pontiac yesterday "elected" 13 of the 16 Democratic candidates running in today's general election.

The mock election, sponsored by the social studies departments of Pontiac Central and Northern high schools showed 78 per cent of those registered at Central and 69 per cent of those registered at Northern cast a ballot. The printed ballots were provided by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The student selected incumbent Gov. G. Mennen Williams for a sixth term and Philip A. Hart to replace Charles E. Potter in the U.S. Senate. The vote for Williams at Central was 916 against Bagwell's 569 and 331 at Northern compared with 190 for Bagwell.

Hart received an 819-659 edge over Potter at Central and at Northern, 291 to 219.

Leslie H. Hudson won over William S. Broomfield in the U.S. representative's fight by 188 votes.

The Republican candidates who won the students' support were: L. Harvey Lodge for state senator; Fred Ziem for prosecutor and Frank Irons for sheriff. The vote at Central in favor of Lodge was 765 against 667 for Leo P. Meagher and at Northern 263 to 247 respectively.

In the prosecutor's race at Central, Ziem, 768 and James P. Lawson, 698; at Northern, the vote was 254 for Ziem against 260 for Lawson.

Irons won the total vote of the high school students by 12 votes. At Northern, it was 231 to 246 in favor of George D. Hicks; at Central, 750 to 723 in favor of Irons.

The Democrats also won the posts for lieutenant governor; secretary of state; attorney general; state treasurer, auditor general, state representative, clerk and register of deeds, county treasurer, drain commissioner and surveyor.

★ ★ ★

The high school began the mock election more than 20 years ago as a learning aid for civics students. Since then it has grown into a school-wide project.

Americans Throng to Voting Booths

dates have spurred voter turnouts in the nation.

Despite aggressively partisan campaigning by President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, the Democrats were heavily favored to hold and enlarge their present House and Senate majorities.

Political eyes in the nation seemed to be mainly focused on California and New York. However, Michigan returns haven't been omitted from this scrutiny as Democrats say Williams needs a landslide victory over Bagwell if he is to be considered at all for the 1960 presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

New York voters were deciding whether to return Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, to the governor's mansion, or put there instead Republican nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller, known more as a millionaire than a politician.

The New York race held great significance for the 1960 presidential race. Political observers felt if Rockefeller won he might be a challenger to Nixon for the GOP nomination.

Harriman's long-known presidential aspirations appeared doomed if he lost. On election eve the New York bet-takers were giving 9-5 odds on a Rockefeller victory.

★ ★ ★

Across the country in California the political fight for governor was just as hot as in New York. Here retiring Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland was bidding to take over the state mansion and put himself in the running for the presidency in 1960 or 1964.

★ ★ ★

Knowland's defeat would virtually erase him from the GOP political picture unless he found some spectacular way to stage a comeback. As the polls opened, he was rated the underdog against the popular Democratic State Attorney General Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

Set Teenage Record Hop

A record hop will be held tomorrow night at the Elks Temple for all Pontiac area teenagers, with proceeds going to the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Wednesday night's hop, billed as the first annual Torch Light Dance, is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. and run until midnight. Admission price is 50c per person.

★ ★ ★

Chuck Lewis will be on hand to spin the records.

The Elks Temple is donating its facilities for the evening, and has made preparations to accommodate upwards of 400 dancers.

Vernor's Ginger Ale will turn over all the money collected from the sale of its soft drinks to the United Fund.

The Day in Birmingham

Nativity Figures Purchase OK'd by Commissioners

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners voted last night to purchase 15 new moulded-rubber figures for Birmingham's Shain Park nativity scene displayed each Christmas.

★ ★ ★

They will replace those given to Birmingham by the Catholic Parish Council 18 years ago. The old ones had become badly chipped and faded.

The new figures plus the stable will cost about $400. The creche will be placed at the foot of the tree, planted in honor of Donald Egbert, former city manager and engineer.

The tree will be lighted and will become the center of the annual Christmas Eve sing, sponsored by the Birmingham Musicale.

★ ★ ★

At the suggestion of Commissioner Charles Renfrew, the Chamber of Commerce proposal for free parking on two city lots during the Christmas Men's Shopping Night, was referred to city Attorney James Howlett.

Renfrew believed legal advice should be sought since the parking lot ordinance does not permit any action which will lower meter revenue.

The C. of C. has offered to pay the city $25, estimated revenue that would come from the two lots that night.

★ ★ ★

City Manager L. R. Gare was asked to return a report on Louis E. Riccardi's request for city water. Riccardi, who lives at 1219 Quarton Rd., Bloomfield Township, told Birmingham officials water from the well on his property is too salty for household use.

The application of Mrs. Irene Mortensen to operate a dancing school at 859 Forest St., was approved.

Registration for hockey league players has been extended until Nov. 14, according to Robert Girardin, city recreation director. Tryouts for junior and intermediate leagues will be held Dec. 8 at Eton Park rink.

Continuing through Nov. 9 revival services are being held at Grace Baptist Church on Lincoln avenue in Birmingham. The Rev. Charles Brooks, pastor of Linville Baptist Church of Detroit, is conducting the special services at 7 p.m. each evening.

Ticket reservations for the "Sea of Paradise" must be made at the YMCA office before Monday, according to Miss Marion Cannon, chairman of the Young Adults group of the "Y." The cinerama film will be shown Nov. 21 in Detroit.

Mrs. Charles Renshard

Service for Mrs. Charles (Carrie) Renshard, 76, of 980 Hickory Heights, at 2 p.m. Thursday at St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Renshard died unexpectedly at her home Sunday of a heart ailment. Her body is at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Surviving are a son, Lewis L. of Birmingham, with whom she made her home; two brothers and two grandchildren.

Driver of Death Car Placed on Probation

Frederick W. Swords, convicted of negligent homicide in the auto crash death of a friend, yesterday was placed on two years probation, assessed $150 court costs and ordered not to drive during his probation by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Swords, 18, of 737 Ludlow St., Rochester, could have received a prison term, but Judge Adams, in pronouncing sentence, said, "No purpose would be served in imprisonment in your case."

A jury of nine women and three men found the youth guilty Oct. 14.

Swords' car, carrying five of his chums, roared off Orion road in Oakland Township April 2 and struck a utility pole. Crushed to death by the accident was Gary Bridge, 16, of Rochester.

Just prior to the fatal crash, Swords was to appear for examination which could have meant revocation of his driver's license. In 1957 he had been convicted four times for speeding and once for reckless driving.

City Kiwanis Offering 2 Shows for Price of 1

Season ticket holders to the Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis Club Travel and Adventure Series will get two shows for the price of one tonight as the 1958-59 series opens at Pontiac Central High auditorium at 8 p.m.

Curtis Nagel, nationally prominent film producer, will present his color films of the Brussels Worlds Fair, taken this summer, as an extra added attraction to his scheduled show, "Song of Switzerland."

No tickets will be sold at the door. The Crofoot School athletic field will be open for parking.

Modern Lady Godiva Prefers to Take Bus

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Wearing a pair of glasses and nothing else, a woman boarded a bus in Toronto's East End, rode a dozen blocks without a word and got off.

The driver told police the woman appeared to be about 35 and completely at ease. She paid no attention to his look of surprise.

Police were unable to find the woman. The temperature was 40 degrees.

Right-to-Work Touchy Issue

6 States Vote on Shop Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The question of compulsory union membership undergoes its biggest popularity test today as voters in six states ballot on proposals to ban the union shop.

An estimated 10 million voters in California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Ohio and Washington are expected to ballot on the propositions, which their sponsors have promoted under the name "right-to-work."

Although 18 other states, mostly in the South and West, have enacted such laws, this will be the largest number of voters to act in one day on the issue.

The outcome may well influence potential later battles in other parts of the nation.

The right-to-work proposal is similar in each of the six states — whether to adopt a state ban against management-union contracts or similar agreements which require employes to become union members.

In advance of today's voting, both advocates and opponents indicated uncertainty over the outcome.

Both sides said they expect the voting to be closest in Ohio, Kansas and Idaho.

For the most part, the union shop ban is opposed by organized labor while the bulk of support for it has come from business groups.

Both sides have spent heavily on the fight, concentrating their efforts chiefly in Ohio and California.

The fight has been bitter in both states—particularly in California, where it became involved in Sen. William F. Knowland's Republican campaign for governor. Knowland advocates right-to-work as part of what he calls a program to provide democracy to union members.

Opponents contend right-to-work is a disguise for union busting and a move to wreck unions.

Town Will Borrow Portable Jail Cell

SOUTH SHORE, Ky. (AP)—The town is going to borrow a jail.

It's only a two-bed portable job, but Marshal Levi Blankenship says it will help ease a problem in this community of 800.

It has no jail and prisoners have to be sent 17 miles to Greenup.

Blankenship found out Catlettsburg, 40 miles away, has a prefabricated cell and asked if he could borrow it. The City Council agreed and now all he has to do is pick it up.

The seven-foot square cell, which weighs a ton, probably will be carried by truck and set up in the fire station.

Perhaps the longest prison sentence on record was imposed on a man in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1903. He was sentenced to 1,000 years for criminal assault, plus 25 years for burglary. He died in prison in 1915.

Will humans ever live to 150 years? It was Jonathan Swift who observed; "Every man desires to live long, but no man wants to be old."

3rd U.S. Moon Shot Slated Within Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will launch its third Air Force lunar probe "within a week or so" the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was coupled with an estimate that the third effort has "one in 25" chances of reaching the vicinity of the moon.

The announcement was made by Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the civilian space agency which has assumed responsibility for all scientific investigations of space.

★ ★ ★

At a news conference, Dryden cautioned against any great optimism about the shoot.

"If we are very fortunate, we may achieve trajectory and velocity control sufficient to position the probe in the vicinity of the moon," he said.

★ ★ ★

Standard reference books that set forth the phases of the moon and the times of the year when it is relatively nearer the earth indicate the best time to shoot for the moon would come up in the period of three or four days starting Nov. 7.

About 10 per cent of India lies more than 7,000 feet above sea level, mostly in the inland regions.

Probe Clouds Arizona Voting

Goldwater, McFarland Run for U.S. Senator; Being Investigated

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Republican Barry Goldwater or Democrat Ernest W. McFarland?

The echoes of bitter words and the promise of more federal investigation accompanied Arizonans today as they decided which of these men would represent them in the U.S. Senate.

Goldwater, 49, seeks return to the Senate seat he took from McFarland in 1952.

McFarland, 64, wants to resume a senatorial career started in 1940 and capped by election as majority leader before the 1952 setback.

Their efforts to woo support of the 391,590 registered voters has been marked by intense bitterness.

The dying hours of th campaign were sparked by a furor over the report of a Senate investigator called to the state by McFarland to probe anonymous handbills bearing a cartoon of the late Joseph Stalin and the exhortation, "Why not vote for Goldwater?".

★ ★ ★

James H. Duffy, chief counsel of the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections, reported it had found no concrete evidence that either candidate was responsible.

Goldwater and his supporters bitterly assailed a portion of the report alleging the Republican's campaign manager Stephen Shadegg had mailed 400 to 500 of the leaflets.

Goldwater said the report was "totally untrue." He said the whole investigation was planned by union bosses out to get Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

The gubernatorial battle between Democratic Atty. Gen. Robert Morrison and Republican Paul Fannin, Phoenix Businessman, and an initiated measure to change the name of Arizona State College at Tempe to Arizona State University have stirred the most interest outside the senatorial race.

Recipe for Making Gold

SINGAPORE—Gold can be created from brass, according to Malay natives. This is the recipe: Slaughter a wild pig, remove the entrails and stuff the carcass with brass. Then sew back together, cover with wood, and burn down to embers. Wait till the charred wood is covered with freshly grown grass. Then start digging and the brass will have turned into pure gold.

Senator's Race Tepid in Jersey

Dem Lawyer Trying to Unseat Veteran GOP Congressman

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A young Democratic lawyer took on a veteran Republican congressman today as New Jerseyans cast ballots for a U.S. senator.

The election was rated a tossup.

It followed a gentlemanly and lackluster campaign between Harrison A. Williams Jr., 38, the Democrat, and Rep. Robert W. Kean, 65, the Republican.

At their most partisan, Williams said his opponent had shown isolationist tendencies during 20 years in the House, and Kean referred to what he called Williams' "rather radical voting record" as a congressman from 1954 to 1957.

The Democrats have not won a Senate seat from New Jersey since 1936. They buck an even stronger tradition in the 14 congressional races since they have not dominated the New Jersey House delegation since the 1912 election. At present there are nine Republican and five Democratic representatives.

★ ★ ★

Williams topped off his bid for voter support with a noon-to-midnight telethon and then went home to his wife and five children in Westfield.

Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner, as he has done throughout the campaign, gave Williams a big assist during the television show.

No matter how the race turns out, observers are certain to interpret it as affecting Meyner's chances for a place on the national Democratic ticket in 1960.

Senate Seat Fight Close in Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—A dramatic contest for a Senate seat and a gubernatorial fight expected to produce a Democratic victory commanded the attention of Maryland voters today.

The electorate will decide whether Republican J. Glenn Beal gets six more years in the Senate or whether he will be replaced by Democrat Thomas D'Alesandro, mayor of Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

D'Alesandro, whose current city hall term is his third, went into the senatorial race with a string of 23 election victories. They include campaigns for City Council, the Legislature and Congress.

★ ★ ★

So close and so important was the race regarded that President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon made speeches two weeks apart in the Baltimore area to spur the Republican cause. Former President Harry S. Truman exerted himself on behalf of D'Alesandro and his running mates.

Sentenced 2 to 15 Years for String of Burglaries

A 30-year-old Pontiac man, Donald Ritter, of 64 S. East Blvd., was sentenced to 2 to 15 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson yesterday for a ring of burglaries in the Pontiac area in July.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams sentenced Ritter, who in 1956 was sent to Jackson for violating a probation term for another burglary. A jury found Ritter guilty last month of the latest felony.

Hoover Group Praised for Work Well Done

Two of the most important recommendations of the disbanded second Hoover Commission—defense unification and modernized Federal budgeting—became law in 1958.

The first commission was authorized by Congress in 1947 to go into matters of policy and 72 per cent of its recommendations have been adopted. Questions of organization and management were explored by the second group and 64 per cent of its suggestions are being put into effect, many of fundamental and major importance. All told 121 pieces of legislation were based wholly or in part on the Hoover Commissions reports.

In a message praising second committee members, former President Hoover, honorary chairman, stated that a savings of $7 billion could be traced to the First Commission and upward of $3 billion a year as a result of the second group's recommendations.

Volunteer Citizens Committees for the Hoover Report were active in all communities. Americans of both parties joined forces aided by scores of civic groups who kept the public interested and informed on the purposes of recommended proposals.

In a letter to Chairman FRANCIS, President EISENHOWER declared although the committee had fulfilled its mission this "does not mean that no further effort is needed in this field. Quite the contrary . . . Representative Government requires the day by day interest of thoughtful and able citizens who are alert to the organization and management problems of good Government and are willing to devote attention to them."

Chairman FRANCIS credited the newspapers of the country with conducting a vigorous and successful campaign for the HOOVER reforms and hoped they would continue their work of spreading information on those not yet adopted. Congressional leaders of both parties have pledged further action on many commission proposals.

The success of the Hoover Commissions was due to three things—active Congressional support, bipartisan teamwork between Executive and Congress in two Administrations and vigorous, informed citizen support. All those who worked for adoption of reform legislation are to be congratulated on a job well done.

Soviet Economic Aid Problem for Free Asia

At Seattle representatives of 18 Colombo Plan nations are attending the seventh conference and the first to be held in this country.

This organization was formed to assist economic development and to promote co-operation and self-help particularly in Southeast Asia. Members outside that area include the United States, Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Ceylon and Pakistan.

The United States has provided nearly $3 billion of the $3.7 billion which has gone to Asian countries under this plan. Great economic strides have been taken but population gains and the low living standards of many of the countries have offset much of the progress.

Some of these nations have political problems which overshadow their economic problems. Indonesia hasn't settled its civil strife and has no definite plans for its future. Pakistan and Burma are under military dictatorships. Viet Nam is spending most of its money to guard against attacks from the north and Communists threaten Laos.

★ ★ ★

Worst of all, perhaps, Red China and Russia have entered competition with supporters of the Colombo Plan countries in the field of economic aid. Throughout Southeast Asia these Communist programs are being offered or already are in operation. They no doubt will be stepped up to counteract the main purpose of the Colombo plan — to help keep independent nations free of Communist control.

This serious political problem will be among the most important issues discussed at the meeting and much depends on its solution.

Contest Brought Out the Current Excellent Spirit

Vote: What every good citizen should do—the bad ones do.

The contest sponsored by the Pontiac Downtown Merchants Assn. in boosting the Pontiac car brought many hundreds of entries. It was for the best completion of the sentence, "I like the 1959 Pontiac because ——."

They are a testimonial to the observation, appreciation, loyalty and good citizenship of our people, according to

John Hirlinger,

Executive Secretary of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The prize was a Bermuda trip for two, with all expenses paid, and was won by of 171 South Shirley Ave. His entry may not appear so impressive until you understand it: "Pontiac's outstanding new technical ideas and comfort have again shown wonderful ingenious designs, engineered right to reveal a car that is outstandingly new."

But when you take the first letter of each word in the sentence you get:

"Pontiac has wider traction."

The three judges who milled through the entries, and had a difficult time in deciding upon a winner, were

Mayor Philip E. Rowston,

It Feels So Good When He Misses

David Lawrence Says:

Present Voting System Obsolete

WASHINGTON — This is the time when there is lots of criticism of those citizens who don't vote. But much of the criticism is unjustified. For the real reasons why many people don't vote are usually overlooked by the critics.

LAWRENCE

The estimates are that when the final totals are tabulated in a few days it will be found that about 48,000,000 people voted in the congressional and state elections this week. This is about 48 per cent of the total number of persons of voting age.

Then when the victorious party counts its total it may be found—according to Gallup surveys—that perhaps 57 per cent of the 48,000,000 or about 27,360,000 voters have been responsible for the decision of the electorate.

In percentages this means that about 27.3 per cent of the people have selected for the other 72.7 per cent the kind of Congress which is to govern everybody.

★ ★ ★

Those who don't like public opinion polls sometimes argue that because everybody doesn't participate, the polls don't mean anything. But, even if there were 100 per cent participation, it is most likely that the remaining voters would divide almost exactly as did those who were in the original 48 per cent who did vote. In other words the 48,000,000 figure presents a fair sample of how the 100,000,000 vote would also divide.

★ ★ ★

What isn't generally realized is that many people refrain from voting because it is inconvenient. America's voting system is obsolete.

The idea of compelling the voter in some states to go to the polls twice—once to register and once to vote—is cumbersome. The idea also of using one day for the final election to fulfill so important a duty is unrealistic.

It would be a very simple matter for the states to appropriate enough money for attendants and other facilities to carry on the voting process through three and even five days, thus giving time for both registration and voting to be accomplished simultaneously.

Voting could be arranged systematically so that persons with last names beginning with certain letters of the alphabet would go to the polls the first day and others on designated days. A uniform system in each state could be established and publicized in advance so that voters could come to the polling booths at convenient times.

The main trouble today is that voting booths are crowded at the early morning hours and in the late afternoon and evening. By extending the number of voting days the polls would not be so crowded.

Why don't people who registered go to the polls to vote on election day? One reason is temporary illness. Another is inconvenience, such as lack of transportation. Many mothers who are eligible to vote can't get baby sitters. Still other voters are permanently bedridden. Other citizens are traveling on necessary errands.

In some states arrangements have been made for absentee ballots to be cast by persons who are physically unable to be at the polls. Not enough states have passed laws on this phase of non-voting.

Also, it is estimated that 33,000,000 people change their place of residence every year. Those of voting age in this group should not be disenfranchised.

But there is another reason for the absence from the voting places of many millions of voters. They just plainly aren't interested—they dislike both parties or both candidates or else they take it for granted that other people in sufficient numbers will express the same view they hold as to the merits of the parties or the nominees.

★ ★ ★

There are some people who stay home as a protest. This is their right. They will not choose between what they consider two evils. They will never vote for the opposition party and they happen at the moment to be opposed to both the candidate and their own party on current issues.

Dr. William Brady Says:

I'll Give Doctor One for 3 on Arthritis Definitions

"You are correct," writes an esteemed colleague, "in stating that the arthritis of older people is associated with a degenerating or aging process affecting the whole organism." However, this physician, teacher, medical author continues:

DR. BRADY

"Early in this process, erosion of cartilage occurs in various joints, setting up an irritation, followed by inflammation causing a swollen painful joint. This is properly designated as an acute arthritis of the degenerative type.

"As the process continues, with spur or osteophyte formation, the inflammation subsides but lameness of varying degree is left, the degree depending on stress and strain to which the joints are subjected. At this stage the condition is properly designated as chronic arthritis or the degenerative type, or . . . arthrosis.

"Please do not introduce any new terms. We have enough trouble teaching our interns and residents the old ones. Rheumatism is never used as a diagnosis now, because it does not describe either an anatomical or a pathological lesion.

(Signed) ....., M.D."

I'd give a good deal for an opportunity to sit down with the doctor and thrash it out with him. It may be that he could show me some light where I haven't been able to see any. On the other hand I flatter myself I might make him conscious of malnutrition as a factor of chronic joint disability.

If the good doctor will dig up a copy of an early edition of Osler's Practice, he will find, in the chapter on chronic rheumatism, a description of the morbid anatomy or pathology of chronic rheumatism that describes rheumatis (my name for degeneration of joint tissues) more clearly and accurately than any present day authority can or will describe the pathology of "chronic arthritis."

If the good doctor doesn't agree with me about this, maybe he will settle my hash, confidentially or otherwise, as he may prefer, by describing the morbid anatomy or pathology of chronic "arthritis."

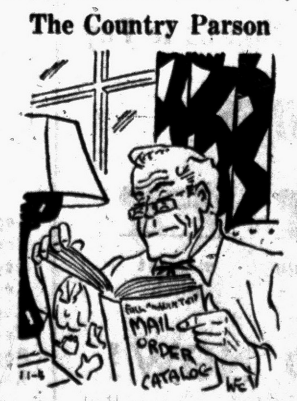

Far from introducing new terms, I offer one term, namely, RHEUMATIZ, for degeneration of joint tissues, to take the place of "chronic arthritis," "osteo-arthritis" and "rheumatoid arthritis."

Acute arthritis happens, of course, but when it does the victim knows just what day or hour the trouble began, and it runs its course in days or weeks. It does NOT develop insidiously nor does it last months or years, getting progressively worse.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 300 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Issues Public Invitation to Free Geese Sanctuary

Fifty-two years ago the late Jack Miner founded the world famous Jack Miner Sanctuary where Canada Geese have made their way to his home for food and protection. During the next couple weeks the fall migration will be at its peak where men, women and children can make their way to see the greatest demonstration in conservation as the birds come and go from the Sanctuary.

The property is all private, but Jack Miner's sons carry on the tradition of their late father and leave the place open to the public every day except Sunday and advise friends to be there between 3:30 and 4:30 to see the afternoon flight at 4 p. m. sharp when the birds are fed.

No admission fee is charged and nothing is allowed to be sold, not even a post card. Jack Miner said, "In the name of God let us have one place where no money changes hands." The sanctuary is located near Kingsville, Ontario, some 30 miles from Detroit, near Highway 3.

Urges Everyone to Vote Today

I hope every qualified voter who has lived for some time in this area will go to the polls today. Since a newcomer must only be a resident for six months in order to vote, they cannot fully understand the local issues and personalities, no matter how sincere the voter may be. The mid-term elections can be more important than a presidential year. This one, in particular, is frought with grave consequences for the future. It isn't the party label which counts, but the philosophy, character, and record of those running for office.

Who does that man in Friday's paper think he's kidding, saying the "union-won" raises have paid dues many times over? Our union-won strikes and unemployment for months at a time lose us more money than all the raises put together. I'm getting sick of my husband losing weeks and weeks of income just to win a few pennies raise. Maybe those weak-livered men are going to keep on voting for the men the union tells them to, but you can bet most of their wives are ready for a change from those union-run Williams-Reuther Democrats.

'Will He Condone Doings of West?"

In your Oct. 30 editorial you say Pope John XXIII will be a friend of the Western World. "Beat your swords into plough shares and spears into pruning hooks" does not mean he will condone the doings of the West.

The Russians want morals without faith and the West wants faith without morals. Show me your works by your faith and I will show you my faith by my works. All that the newsmen have shown me is that their master is psychology.

Answers Letter on Right-to-Work

The recent letter referring to the sad state of affairs in Indiana where the right-to-work law prevails was an insult to our intelligence. It hardly warrants a reply, but since Forced Member has already commented on same, it seems a good idea to do so myself.

★ ★ ★

A few years ago a man was free to belong or not to the union; either way his job wasn't in jeopardy. During this time most all of us felt we needed a union and practically all of us joined, not because we were forced, but of our own free will. This is the true American way. In union there is strength, this we know, but when it becomes necessary to make all employes pay for the privilege of having a job, it ceases to be our democratic way of life.

★ ★ ★

We Americans have always had considerable pride in our freedoms and as our nation was founded with this in mind, it seems that all of us should strive to maintain them. Why is it necessary for the people of any state to have to vote on the right-to-work law, the necessity of doing so being in every way contrary to our Constitution.

★ ★ ★

The only members who would be lost if the right-to-work law were invoked would be the ones who are looking for a free ride. Those members are not a valuable asset to us anyway. If all of us who believe in right-to-work law were to be sent to states where it is now accepted, the exodus from Michigan would be terrific, without a doubt.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Fear Motivates Woman's Drinking

Evelyn's case deserves close attention, for she is typical of wives who sneak out of their homes for clandestine "affiars". Scrapbook this case and watch for the follow-up tomorrow. You married folks must learn to play the game according to the rules, which are as precise as those of baseball.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 362: Evelyn Q., aged 37, is the erring wife mentioned yesterday who got drunk every month to have an affair with strange men.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," she tried to defend herself, "I don't know what I am doing when I drink a few cocktails."

"Don't try to kid me," I bluntly got down to brass tacks, "for when an unattached woman enters a tavern, she knows what she has in mind.

"And it is usually an affair with some man she can pick up at the bar. But she wants to alibi her conscience with a few drinks so society will partly excuse her for her misdeeds, if she later gets caught.

"So let's face the facts. You have three youngsters. And you know you owe them a good upbringing.

"You can't engage in an extramarital affair while sober, for your thoughts of your children would stab your conscience wide awake.

"So why do you crave a flirtation and even a nasty affair about once per month with some barroom pickup?"

Maybe you teenagers think I am unduly harsh in my treatment of women like Evelyn, but I have seen so many thousands of them that I no longer care to waste time listening to their alibis.

★ ★ ★

And Evelyn was true to type. She confessed many affairs with men whom she had met at the taverns.

"I get panicky at the thought I will soon be at the menopause," she said. "It makes me desperate to think I may soon be on the shelf and unattractive.

"I feel a great desire every few weeks to prove to myself that I am still all there as a woman. So I go to the tavern in order to have a few drinks."

SEXUAL INFERIORITY

Please notice that Evelyn did not say she was hungry for erotic stimulation in its own right. She wanted men as cosmetic aids to her deflated ego.

★ ★ ★

Her sexual escapades were NOT motivated by a specific localized yearning for sexual stimulation.

No, she simply desired male admirers to banish her secret fear that she was losing her charm and would soon be "on the shelf."

And that is the typical attitude of such women. For women are not basically sexual creatures in the sense that men often are.

An erring woman is generally motivated either by a desire for money and gifts which she receives for erotic affairs.

Or else she is panicky because of advancing years or some other inferiority complex that makes her crave masculine attention as a sop to her wounded female ego.

Sometimes a minor physical deformity may thus be so magnified that a woman feels she may not be able to win masculine admiration.

So she "tests" herself at periodic intervals "just to make sure of my charm," as Evelyn later added in her confession to me.

"Your husband says he is getting a divorce unless you begin to live as a good wife should," I added, and Evelyn nodded her head, for she knew his intentions.

★ ★ ★

"He's been more forgiving with me than most husbands ever would have been," she admitted.

"But I just get an overwhelming desire to make sure of my ability to attract men. It is what you might call a compulsion, Dr. Crane.

"So what can I do to behave myself? I know I am doing wrong and I am so ashamed when I get home and face my three children!"

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Victors in State Face Problems

Saddled With Crises in Finance, Schools and Mental Health

By GEORGE WEEKS

LANSING (UPI) — It will be no simple task for winners in today's election to make good on campaign promises.

★ ★ ★

To the victors will go a multi-million dollar election hangover in the form of crises in finance, schools and mental health.

To the voters will go the ultimate responsibility for a remedy in the form of taxes.

A proposed revision of Michigan's patchwork tax structure shapes up as one of the major post-election developments in state government.

Much of the action on tax revision hinges on recommendations of a house tax study committee which should be ready by early December.

The committee has enjoyed bipartisan support but the 144 lawmakers elected today can be expected to have various views on such questions as whether there should be an easing of business taxes, an increase in intangibles taxes, or creation of a personal income tax.

There has been considerable pressure for calling a special session of the legislature to deal with school and mental health problems before the regular session starts in January.

More than 700 schools already have had to borrow more than 30 million dollars against future state aid payments since the fiscal year started July 1.

★ ★ ★

Money is not coming into the state school aid fund fast enough to meet scheduled payments to school districts.

A committee of probate judges, headed by Oakland County's Arthur E. Moore, have urged either a special session of the entire legislature or a meeting of appropriation leaders to find space for those on waiting lists for mental hospitals.

Mental health will be a primary subject for today's victors for two other reasons. One legislative committee has been investigating alleged mistreatment of patients. Another has been drafting a revision of commitment procedures.

A deficit in welfare funds also looms as a major problem.

Whereabouts of Woman From Pontiac Baffling

Pontiac police detectives reported today they have come up against a blank wall in their efforts to trace the whereabouts of Mary Ann Soutar, 30, of 56 N. Anderson St.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Soutar disappeared from her home June 12 and has not been heard from since.

Her husband, Arnold Soutar, told police that she left home in a sports car that day headed in the direction of Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

The car was found abandoned a few days later at Willow Run Airport.

4 in 5 Work for Wages

NEW YORK—Increasing American industrualization is reflected in new employment patterns. In the 19th Century a large number of people were self-employed. Now, in a labor force of almost 70,000,000, four out of five work for wages or salaries.

Flier Realizing Dream to Fight Cancer

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Some people are just plain plucky and unlucky.

All their lives they work like beavers and, like beavers, what do they get? One dam thing after another.

This is the story of Gene Tanner. All he ever wanted to do was be of service—to his country, his community, medicine, science. Improbable as it would appear, he had a hard time selling himself as a slave to these ideals.

Now, finally, he's made it. He came into this office, self-conscious, quiet, with the gentlest eyes this side of your church pulpit, to explain.

"The American Cancer Society is finally going to let me do it," he said softly, "and I'll start out next April 1st. It'll be the biggest thing in my life, I guess—sort of getting it out of my system. You know so many people want to do something to get rid of cancer, but they don't know how.

"Well, I do. Iv'e got a plan."

What Gene Tanner is going to do is try to set a new endurance flight record over the 49 states, in a small plane flashing with red neon insignia, "Fight Cancer." For 51 days (the record now is 50) he will stay aloft, picking up gas and food from moving trucks with a haul-rope contraption he devised himself.

At his own expense, he has installed an amplifier in his little plane, through which he'll echo across the countrysides the ACS slogan, "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check." It took him three years to work out the flight plan, and the expenses are almost all on him—though his salary as instructor in a flying school out West is not of philanthropist's proportions.

Asked how he managed the high cost of being a Samaritan, he looked mildly startled. "Saved up," he said.

In spite of his generous offer to publicize the crusade against disease made years ago—in memory of "my grandfather, my aunt and uncle and I couldn't name how man friends, who died of cancer"—the society wouldn't accept.

Who knows why, unless maybe the idea of a flight endurance test seemed to them frivolous (even Tanner admits such tests resemble, vaguely, the flagpole-sitting pattern of getting publicity.)

But more likely, Tanner had to "sell himself because of the old American tradition of distrusting unsolicited favors that come free."

It's often been this way with the stocky, 38-year-old pilot from Spokane, Wash. From the age of 10, he haunted the local airport doing all sorts of work—washing, greasing, sweeping—in the hope that someday somebody would give him a flying lesson.

Somebody did. When he was 15. He soloed the next year.

He joined the U.S. Marine Corps in 1938 and almost immediately broke his back during maneuvers. He tried hard to stay in, but they discharged him.

Then he tried to join the Eagle Squadron, and they turned him down. For 10 years, he daily exercised his back so that he could get a flying license again. It was too late to fight for his country, so he started his drive to fight for medicine.

He doesn't talk much in an office, but wait'll Tanner gets in his plane next spring.

You'll hear him. And it's hoped you'll listen to what he has to say.

During the last 10 years farm production per man in Britain has increased more than 40 per cent.

SOMETHING TO SQUEEZE?—Pretty Karin Black of Barrington, Ill., wonders if you can guess what this old-looking instrument she holds was ever used for. It's a lemon squeezer, common in households in the early 1800s, which was on display at a Chicago antique show. The wooden device was designed to close over a lemon half set on the knob.

High School Concert Called 'Best Yet'

Acclaim Student Vocalists

By CHRIS GAENSBAUER

The "best yet," was the phrase frequently heard at the 12th annual High School Vocal Music Concert presented, in Pontiac Central High school gymnasium Monday evening.

Few high school vocal music departments attempt a full scale concert only eight weeks after the opening of school.

A DIFFICULT TASK

To do it and maintain a consistently high quality of performance standards demonstrates the superior organizational ability and musical leadership of George Putnam, music director of Pontiac High School, and his staff, Mrs. Doreen Voltmann and A. Michael Dempsey of Central High School and Melvin Larimer of Northern High School.

Under the direction of guest conductor John Raymond, the massed chorus sang, "There's a Meetin' Here Tonight," (arr. Simeone) in a way that left no doubt that it would be a jolly one.

★ ★ ★

From this, the chorus went to three distinctly contrasted numbers representing the finest in religious music. The first, "Blessing Glory and Wisdom," by Bach, began with a glorious chorale followed by an Alleluia in florid contra puntal style.

★ ★ ★

"Go, Song of Mine," by Cookson expressed the same lofty idealism, in a moving modern setting, of words centuries old. The massed chorus closed this group with the spiritual, "Plenty Good Room" (In God's Kingdom), with its sometimes plaintive, sometimes rhythmic, proclamation of faith.

The combined Boys Glee Clubs were directed by Mr. Raymond in the sea chantey, "Shenandoah," and an American Folk Song, "Cindy."

ENSEMBLES PERFORM

The central portion of the program was made up of performances by small ensembles and the choir. The music for the small groups was light and each group was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Central's Junior Girls ensemble directed by Mr. Dempsey sang a medley from Rodgers and Hammerstein, and the Junior Boys Double Quartet under Mrs. Voltmann harmonized on "Kentucky Babe" and "I'll Be Dar," with Don Mann as capable soloist.

Mr. Larimer led his Northern "Choral-belles," in "Nocturne" and "In the Still of the Night," and the Central Senior Boys Ensemble trained by Mr. Putnam earned cheers for "If I Had My Way," and "The Street Urchins Medley." This last number indicated that these 11 boys will be ready for some good extemporaneous "barbershopping" when they move on.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac High School Choirs excel in their singing of unaccompanied religious music and gave a polished performance of "He Watching Over Israel" (Elijah) and "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" with Mr. Larimer conducting.

Mr. Putnam led the same group in the smoothly expressive "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," by the 16th century composer, Palestrina, which was dramatically followed with "O Clap Your Hands," by the late contemporary composer Vaughn Williams.

A brass ensemble, tympani and cymbals supporting the chorus made this number one of the most thrilling experiences of the evening.

★ ★ ★

The familiar "Lift Thine Eyes" and a new arrangement of "Drifting and Dreaming" were beautifully performed by Mrs. Voltmann's Senior Girls Ensemble.

TOUCH OF HUMOR

Humor and action contributed to audience pleasure of "There's Nothing Like a Dame" by the Norsemen, a small boys' group with Mr. Larmier. Their "Whiffenpoof Song" was sung with considerably more restraint than is customary but qualifies them also for the barbershop songfest when they dispense with piano.

A new small mixed group from Central showed promise in its fine presentation of "Psallite" by Praetrius and "Shuckin' of the Corn." Mr. Dempsey directed.

★ ★ ★

The guest conductor again took charge for the final numbers. The voices of the combined Girls Glee Clubs soared in "Could My Songs on Wings Go Flying" (Hahn-Ringwald) and became delightfully playful in "Fiddle-Dee-Dee" (Johnson).

For the closing group, the massed chorus swung into a typically Waring arrangement by Hawley Ades of the old favorite, "Dream." Kenneth Hamilton on string bass and Frank Merwin on drums accented the "swing and sway."

Johnny Schmaker and his assorted instruments was fun for everyone with 1,200 singers booming, tinging, zinging and fiddling—and hardly anyone boomed when he should have zinged.

★ ★ ★

Outstanding student accompanists were Gary and Deannea Relyea, Lynne Thompson, Nancy McKoun, Santhy Annas, David Brien, Linda Libby, Dianne Williams and Carol Wargelin, pianists; and Sam Hartmand and Judy Hinkley, organists.

MR. and MRS. LEVI L. THOMPSON

Apparently Protecting His Head—Abby

Barefoot Man in Pajamas Tips Hat to Woman Driver

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Every morning when I drive my son to school I pass a certain house and I see a man come out to get the morning paper in his pajamas. This is not all. He is barefoot but he wears a hat. He recognizes me by my car and he always waves and tips his hat.

ABBY

"I am so embarrassed for my little boy that I nearly lose control of the car. Do you think a man who wears a hat when he goes out to get the morning paper in his pajamas and bare feet is quite right in the head? Should I report him, ignore him, or what?"

SHOCKED DRIVER

DEAR SHOCKED: His attire is a little startling, I admit, but it doesn't indicate there is anything the matter with his head (he's protecting it, anyway). If this shocks you, take another route.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and my husband is 22. We were married only three weeks when his Mama came to our apartment with an empty suitcase, packed his clothes and moved him out. He stood there like a dummy while she told me to my face I didn't know anything about feeding a husband and she needed him worse than I did.

"He stayed away three days so I went to his Mama's and we had a big battle and I asked him to come home with me. He said he'd think it over. He's still thinking it over and it is going on a week. My folks signed for me to get married although they weren't very crazy about him, so I can't go home and tell them they were right and I was wrong. My money is running low. Where can I turn?" NEWLYWED

DEAR NEWLY: Admit you misjudged him and go home to your parents. A meeting with your parents, his parents and your husband should be arranged at once, and invite a clergyman, too. If this boy is not prepared to accept the responsibilities of a husband, an annulment now is better than a reconciliation followed by a divorce five children later.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My employer's daughter is being married in an evening ceremony in November. It will be a very fashionable affair. My husband and I were invited to the wedding and reception but my husband does not want to attend because he has only one suit—a charcoal grey tweed with a fleck of red in it. He feels he would be conspicuous in this suit.

"We cannot afford to buy him a new suit for this occasion. Should I attend the wedding alone? If I didn't attend, my employer would wonder why. Any advice will be appreciated." IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Your husband could borrow (or rent) a dark suit or tuxedo for this occasion if he feels his only suit would be inappropriate. You should both attend.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is about clothes. My clothes are so old and everybody's seen them because I wore them last year in the seventh grade. My mother sews quite well, but lately I have a more developing figure.

"She makes them so square and loose I won't wear them. She says if I won't wear what she has made me she won't make me any more and she won't buy me any new dresses either. I asked for an allowance to buy my own clothes, but she won't give it to me. What should I do?"

WITHOUT CLOTHES

DEAR WITHOUT: You're not really "without clothes"—you simply refuse to wear the clothes your mother has made for you. If I were you I would trust my mother's judgment.

Literary Club Has Meeting

Mrs. Floyd Smith was guest speaker at the meeting of the Woman's Literary Club held Monday at the Pine Lake Road home of Mrs. Norman Buckner. Mrs. Smith's topic was "Does Michigan Need a Revised Constitution?"

Mrs. Hope Gorman, Republican candidate for State Representative also spoke.

A report on the 40th annual SE District Convention held in Lansing was given by Mrs. Mabelle Wilson, delegate.

The club voted a donation to the General Hospital Auxiliary, and plans were made for the Christmas party and gifts for Pontiac Hospital Library Club.

Members plan to attend the meeting of Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs at Berkley, Nov. 7.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. V. E. Nelson, Mrs. Fred Manes and Mrs. Bessie Slaybaugh. Mrs. Fred Bohlman presided at the tea table.

Situation Changed for Girl

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I was married last year and had a close friend of mine as my maid of honor. Shortly before the wedding she gave me a shower. This friend is now going to be married and I am not included in the wedding party. In fact, I have been told that I am not going to be invited to the wedding. I bought her a very lovely present which I intend to send anyway.

"However, word has gotten to me that her family thinks I should give her a shower since she gave me one at the time I was married. But she was in my wedding party which I think makes it quite different. If I were asked to be her matron of honor, I would in all probability give her a shower but under the circumstances I don't think I should. Will you please tell me if I have an obligation to return the shower?"

Answer: In the situation you describe, there is absolutely no obligation to return the shower.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I had a birthday recently and was sent a gift by a young man from whom I would rather not accept a present. Will you please tell me if it would be proper to return the gift to him, and if so, how can I do it tactfully?"

Answer: You can return the gift saying that your mother will not let you accept presents from young men. If it were a gift of little value brought by the young man to your birthday party it would be very rude of you not to accept it with thanks.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and want to have a marker put on my husband's grave. His name was John Henry Wells, and I have a son named for him. Will you please tell me if it would be proper to have the marker read John Henry Wells Sr.?"

Answer: John Henry Wells is sufficient. The date of his birth and the date of his death establishes his generation.

Rogers School to Hold Fall Festival and Show

A Fall Festival and Variety Show will be presented at Will Rogers School Friday evening. General chairmen of the event are Mrs. John Zoch and Mrs. Bernard Giroux assisted by Mrs. John Adomitis and Mrs. Glen Hartung.

Main feature of the variety show will be a performance by "Milky," the clown. Dennis Fisher, ventriloquist, will be in the show and a mock fashion show will be given by parents and teachers.

Rides on a covered wagon and fire engine will be given before the festival and dinner. Mrs. Bruce Lewis and Mrs. Roy Hardy are in charge of the rides.

Tickets for the show and popcorn sales will be supervised by Mrs. Glenn Weiller.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. William Billiter is directing the game room and silhouette booth and Mrs. Burton Bartholomew and Mrs. Richard Avery will serve in the snack room following the show.

In charge of the fish pond is Mrs. Ernest Rhodes, with Mrs. William Cartier in charge of the needlework and white elephant booths.

Fish or barbecued hamburg dinners will be served under the direction of Mrs. Keith Parker, Mrs. Robert Cartier and Mrs. Adomitis.

Nurse Anesthetists Plan State Meeting

Michigan State Association of Nurse Anesthetists will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit.

Dr. Steve Gurdagin will speak on "Newer Developments in Neurological Surgery." Dinner is planned for 5:30 p.m. at the Ponchartrain Wine Cellar.

More and more emphasis is being placed on shoes this season as hemlines rise and more leg is on view. This slender and soft suede pair feature the newest T-strap and medium-height illusion heel.

At Least He's Home!

Count Sleeping Spouse a Blessing

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I receive so many wonderfully interesting letters from readers that once in a while I like to give all of you a peep at the mail.

There are AT LEAST two viewpoints for every situation. Not long ago I wrote about how many women are unhappy because they have no companionship with their husbands. The men work hard, come home, eat the evening meal, read a bit or look at television and then go to sleep.

In today's column a reader expresses appreciation for her husband. She sympathizes with his desire for rest when he comes home from the office.

This is certainly not ideal nor is it conducive to the greatest marital happiness. I think that it is a great loss to both husband and wife. However, the letter I am going to print is a heartwarming one. I think it will make you feel better if you are a wife in the situation described above.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: With regard to the letters which you receive from wives whose husbands come home, read the newspaper, eat dinner, look at TV, and then go to sleep, with only a few minutes in between, I would feel the same way except for two experiences I have had.

"First, I watched my mother suffer through having my father come home, eat dinner and then go out with the girls, returning home long past time for any companionship with his family. Finally, he just left and did not come back at all. She did not quit because she loved him very much.

WORKED

Second, I worked for several years before my marriage. This is an experience I believe every wife should have so that she can have a better understanding of what her husband goes through. I would come home dragging my feet, weary from jangling telephones and jangling voices.

"My mother, who never went anywhere, was lonely and met me at the door, wanting company, wanting to visit. She wanted to hear all about my 'interesting' day when, as much as I loved her, all I wanted to do was to flop, not move a muscle but just rest.

"When I look over at my husband whom I love as much as my mother loved my father, and he is snoring in his easy chair, and I think of all of the places we could go, the shows we could see, the friends we could visit, the books we could read and discuss together, I think of my childhood and pick up my book and thank the Lord for the greatest blessing a woman can have—a husband who wants to come home—and does."

Wake Up, Decorators, This Is the Need

By RUTH MILLETT

News item with a New York dateline: "The American Institute of Decorators has inaugurated an educational program to convince the public that decorating service is for the middle class instead of millionaires."

From what I know of decorators, if they want housewives whose husbands are in the middle-income bracket to turn to them for help in increasing numbers, it's the decorators who will have to be educated, not the housewives.

If the housewife of average means is timid about taking her problems to the plush shop of an interior decorator—it's the decorator's own fault.

He has probably been doing everything possible to make the woman of average means feel awkward and out of place in his tastefully decorated retreat.

Without asking her how much she wants to spend on "doing over" a room he starts showing her fabrics whose price makes her want to run. And without batting an eye he shows her furniture that he calls "nice little pieces," that cost more than her husband's weekly salary.

All the while, he is acting as though anyone can afford expensive fabric on the living room sofa, and he is tossing words around that irritate, rather than enlighten. This is "amusing." That is a "conversation piece."

And that low dining room table whose height would be more convenient for a midget than her six-foot husband will give her room an "oriental atmosphere."

Not all decorators behave this way, to be sure. But there seems to be plenty of them scattered around the country who are considerably out of tune with the true wishes of the modern housewife who is intent on dressing up her home at a minimum cost.

The homemaker of moderate means is not the person to be educated in this respect. Rather, the decorators should awaken to the problems of the housewife.

With the dollar becoming smaller and smaller, the woman's job has become compounded. The question: How to make the home comfortable and attractive on the money left over after Johnnie's teeth are straightened and Sis gets a new dress for her first junior prom?

Ripe Olives and Corn Go Into Beef-Noodle Dish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

What to serve for a buffet supper is always a problem. If you like one-dish main courses, you will like this recipe for an old favorite, Tallarene.

★ ★ ★

It comes from Mrs. Roy Axling of Walled Lake. She calls it her standby recipe. A full time job and working around her home and garden keep her busy.

TALLARENE
By Mrs. Roy Axling

2 heaping cups uncooked noodles
1 pound ground round steak
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 medium onion, chopped
Same amount of chopped celery
1 pint fresh mushroom
1 can whole kernel corn
1 can ripe olives
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 heaping tablespoons butter
1 cup water

Mince and fry onions and celery in butter until brown. Add meat and brown. Add tomato soup and water. Add noodles.

Cook and stir until noodles are tender. More water may have to be added to keep mixture moist. Salt to taste. Add olives, corn and mushrooms, cut in pieces.

Pour into buttered casserole. Top with cheese. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Let stand in oven 15 minutes with the heat off before serving.

Hollywood Newcomers Win Top Billing

Lady Luck Waves Wand and Stars Appear

(Who will be the feminine movie stars of tomorrow? This is the third of a series in which a Hollywood columnist tells about the "new girls in town.")

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—Such phenomenal luck as has brushed (brushed? bowled over) two of the brightest shining new girls in town, 18-year-old Millie Perkins and 19-year-old France Nuyen, should not be disparaged by the word "fluke." If you ask me, what has happened to both girls is miraculous.

Not far behind in a sensational "break" is Israeli actress and former rifle bearer in the Israeli Marines, Haya Harareet, never seen on the American screen, and now carrying the feminine lead of Esther in MGM's $14,000,000 "Ben Hur" in Rome.

Still another pretty belle who can thank her lucky stars (in this case Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin) is Carmen Phillips, the brand new charmer in "Some Came Running," fortunate still to be in the cast because Frank and Dean insisted on waiting for her to recover from a serious illness during production. That's how good Carmen is.

But head and shoulders above all these lucky ladies headed toward stardom is Millie Perkins.

That a girl completely unknown (except as a teenage magazine and fashion model in New York), without one iota of dramatic training or previous acting experience, can step into the starring role of a picture as important as "The Diary of Anne Frank" is unheard of in recent years.

How then comes Miss Millie carrying on her untrained shoulders the role of the martyred Jewish heroine of World War II in George Stevens' 20th film production of the celebrated Broadway hit?

Stevens, master producer-director, said he had a preconceived idea of what Anne should be entirely apart from Susan Strasberg's fine stage portrayal, and after a search through 10,000 aspirants throughout the world, "I found her in Millie, the magazine model."

★ ★ ★

Her picture in fashion magazines for teenagers had attracted one of several of Stevens' scouts. But the financially independent junior miss from Passaic, N. J., wasn't movie struck.

"I'm no actress," she protested at her first interview. "I saw the play and that's a difficult role."

It wasn't until Stevens' casting director, Owen McLean, came to New York that the heat was really turned on Millie at least to make a test. She shrugged and agreed. Privately she thought these Hollywood people were a bit daft.

She's a very "cool" young character anyway, this pale brunette with the smoky gray eyes, who has hit the jackpot in her first try. Now that the picture is completed, Millie surprised her studio confreres by saying, "I'm still not sure that a screen career is for me."

Perhaps her disconcerting composure in the teeth of such fantastic fortune is due to the knowledge that she can still earn upwards of $50,000 yearly as a model without the physical and emotional stress of acting.

Or, it could be that she's found an important new romance in the person of George Stevens Jr., son of her director-discoverer. The young people became really serious during the making of the picture.

ANOTHER LUCKY ONE

Almost as lucky as Millie is France Nuyen, the half-Chinese, half-French beauty from Marseille who, just about the time the great Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "South Pacific" was bought for the screen, was working as a maid for a couple living on Riverside drive in New York.

France's childhood years in postwar Paris were so poverty stricken that her mother, Julie Manaut, a French seamstress, never has recovered from the effects of malnutrition and is still an invalid. Her father, Louis Nuyen, a Chinese seaman-navigator, could not reach or help his family during the war years and even now is constantly at sea with his ship.

"I think I have seen my father 10 or 12 times in my life," France says.

But after the war he did manage to get money to his wife and daughter, enabling them to make the trip to New York. France enrolled with a model agency. And it was through the kindly aid of Mrs. Conover (of the famed agency of the same name) that France was brought to the attention of Josh Logan, then at the casting stage of the film "South Pacific." Logan had been looking for a girl who was "part flower, part human." He didn't look any farther after France.

★ ★ ★

But if Miss Nuyen seems to have come a long distance from her homeland in Europe to fame and fortune in Hollywood, Haya Harareet came even farther from her highly tensioned spot on the globe, Israel.

Haya served in the Israeli armed forces, the Marines to be exact, when she was 16 and then went on the stage in Tel Aviv with a repertory group.

William Wyler, director of 'Ben Hur,' glimpsed her first in Cannes when she was on a vacation and she impressed him so much as the perfect Esther that he arranged an introduction.

★ ★ ★

The blue-eyed, black haired Carmen Phillips, another beauty who has made it fast, is a product of Chicago who came up the dancer-nightclub route (plus two years as mistress of ceremonies at the Latin Quarter).

She appeared in a small role in just one picture, "High School Confidential," before she was given the big femme dramatic lead in "Some Came Running" with Frankie and Dean.

Fragrant Locks

If you wear bangs, chignons, switches, or wigs, these can be excitingly perfumed. The best way to do this is to apply the fragrance to the (woven stems) onto which the hair is secured. This will not only bring the fragrance to your head and hair, but will add the scent to everything around it.

Dems Predict California Win

Knowland-Knight Feud, Right-to-Work Issue May Defeat GOP

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California votes today to decide a 17-month-long campaign that split the Republican party and raised bright Democratic hopes for a smashing victory.

In the early hours of Wednesday, returns from the 58 counties will tell whether the surprising Democratic tide in the primary was a fluke or forerunner of a change in state political control.

Democrats predicted a sweep of landslide proportions.

They based it largely on belief that Republican Sen. William F. Knowland, who seeks to become governor, alienated the crucial independent vote by his controversial "right-to-work" program and his clash with GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

Everything seemed to point to Atty. Gen. Emund G. Brown's election as the state's second Democratic governor of this century. All the signs favored Democratic Rep. Clair Engle over Knight for the Senate and a Democratic gain of one to four congressmen.

Democratic optimism grew out of what they detected as a new California trend to vote the party ticket. Registration leans Democratic by 1,199,000, and Knowland, a conservative Republican, has not adhered to the be-kind-to-Democrats philosophy that helped former Gov. Earl Warren and Knight overcome the GOP's voter deficit.

Pointing up the division in Republican ranks, Knowland advised voters in recent days, "It is not necessary that you vote the way you are registered. You can vote for a Republican candidate for one office and a Democratic for another office."

Labor unions threw their organization into a house-by-house drive to get out the vote against Proposition 18, the "right-to-work" initiative measure which Knowland embraced as the overriding issue in his campaign. The measure would outlaw the union shop.

"Right-to-work" provoked the big split in Republican ranks. Gov. Knight, long friendly to labor, gave his differences on this issue as the reason for not endorsing Knowland.

★ ★ ★

The extra-long campaign actually began Jan. 7, 1957, when Knowland announced he would not seek re-election to the Senate. A scramble began that culminated in Knight's switch to the Senate race —a post he had said he didn't want.

Approves Grants to Help Alcoholics

DETROIT (AP) — The State Board of Alcoholism has approved grants for treatment of alcoholics and studies of alcoholism in Detroit and Flint.

The board set aside $5,180 to assist the Detroit Health Department, Wayne State University and Detroit Receiving Hospital in establishing a clinic for treatment of alcoholics and training medical students in treatment of alcoholism.

A grant of $2,383 was voted Hurley Hospital of Flint for a group therapy program for alcoholics.

Strange Disease Affecting Skin Strikes Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — An unidentified infectious skin disease, which already has affected thousands of Germans, was reported spreading today.

★ ★ ★

West German health authorities have called on doctors to help them trace the source of the epidemic. The disease, generally described as harmless, is characterized by small itching blisters erupting on the skin of patient. It lasts four to eight days.

★ ★ ★

Fever, sometimes high, usually accompanies the rash. Lower Saxony health officials said the disease was last observed in Germany about 50 years ago.

Officials said it was believed to be a form of German measles. Patients are of all age groups up to about 50.

Social Security Advice

Old People Must Speak Up

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The United States has:

—Outmoded practices of compulsory retirement which is wasting the skills and experience of older people.

—Many older people who don't have enough to live on, stay healthy or to enjoy normal human relations.

—Outdated employment practices which deprive many middle-aged persons of work and an adequate standard of living.

—Failed to provide adequate housing for elderly persons at prices they can afford to pay, forcing many to live under conditions in which they can't maintain decency and health.

—Not offered opportunities for middle-aged persons to learn how to prepare for the later years of life.

That's just part of the picture Congress drew this year of the problems of today's older people. It was drawn in a law which set up a million dollar study over the next two years to try to solve the problems.

The money will be used to hold meetings in every state to hunt solutions for the problems and to hold a special White House Conference on Aging in Washington in January 1961.

The whole project will be directed by the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Recently, I asked Welfare Secretary Arthur Flemming what he hoped would result from the White House conference. He said:

"We shall regard the conference as a great national forum providing opportunities for the presentation of many points of view growing out of our increasing knowledge of older people and out of the experience that has been gained in trying to meet their needs.

"I know the delegates will have the common objective of striving to create a social climate favorable to the continuing usefulness, self-sufficiency, health and well-being, family life and spiritual satisfactions of the older members of American society."

But, whether the money will be well-spent depends — in part, at least — on how active older people themselves are in the meetings throughout the country.

Obviously, without a push from a good share of the 15 million people 65 or over, the best that can result is another lengthy document which will gather dust in some government office.

How can you, as an older person, be active?

Get in touch with the officials of your state who will be working out the details for the meeting in your state. Chances are you can find out who the officials are or will be by writing to the governor of your state.

In your letter, ask how you personally can help in making the meeting in your state a success. There may be a need for organizing a local group to represent your city and your views.

After all, who knows better about the problems of older people than the older people themselves.

Bob Considine Says:

Reigns Tough for Past Popes Named John

ROME — Popes named John have had reigns not nearly as simple as their names.

★ ★ ★

John III and John VIII fought at the head of their armies. The former is credited with saving Italy from the barbarous and looting Longobards.

The latter turned back the awe-inspiring Saracens at Terracina with a hastily-formed and trained Roman army. John X beat the same crowd at Garigliano. That, too, was some years ago. John X died in 928.

John XIV was poisoned to death on Aug. 20 in the year 984. John XV saved his own life by fleeing to Tuscany in the nick of time.

John XVI got in much trouble with temporal crowned heads and was shelved by his successor, Pope Gregory V, who excommunicated him and then jailed him. John XVI tried to escape and was killed in the attempt.

John XVII reigned for six months during the year 1003, but he left behind him no painting of himself, no marble, and not a scrap of information as to how he administered his flock.

(John VII, on the other hand, can be seen in a priceless and unique mosaic by any visitor to the crypts under St. Peter's. The forgotten artist gave him a square halo.)

John XX made a harrowing mistake in counting. He called himself John XXI. He built himself a fine palace at Viterbo, 50 miles north of Rome.

★ ★ ★

On May 20, 1277, it collapsed and killed him. John XXII was a victim of the schism of Pisa. His right to the throne of Alexander V was successfully challenged at Constance in 1415 and he was declared an anti-pope.

But that particular John landed on his feet. In exchange for a letter renouncing all claims to the papacy, he was made dean of the sacred college of cardinals and served four years as a cardinal before his death 73 years before the discovery of America.

Not until a week ago was the name of John returned to papal annals.

Among other facets, Pope John XXIII is a student of names and the lore attached to them. He will ask a child his name and no matter what the moppet answers, the Pope has an anecdote about the name of the saint or historical figure involved.

As patriarch of Venice he would occasionally invite newsmen to attend his mass in the incredible Basilica of Saint Mark and then take them up to his apartments, break out the wine and coffee, and submit to an interview.

A friend tells me that the only time he ever saw Cardinal Roncalli riled during one of these interrogations came when one particularly dogged reporter kept going over him with a querulous finetooth comb.

★ ★ ★

When the man was done with the questions of a personal nature, Roncalli looked at him steadily and said "Aren't you going to ask me how many buttons I have on my cassock?"

THE PONTIAC PRESS

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1958 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN, FIFTEEN

Action Postponed on Incorporation

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Oakland County supervisors Monday will be asked to postpone any action on a request to incorporate a seven-square-mile area of the township as the village of Woodcroft until residents of the proposed village have their say.

The Boundaries Committee of the Board of Supervisors yesterday decided this, feeling the committee didn't know enough about the proposal.

Committee members will suggest a public hearing in the area on Dec. 11 so the pros and cons of the incorporation move can be aired by residents.

Some 2,419 residents of the area in the southwest portion of the township have submitted incorporation petitions.

They were submitted under the original 1895 Michigan village law which does not require the customary vote of the populace. Village seekers said they didn't have enough residents to qualify under newer incorporation laws.

The area in question is the same which the city of Farmington tried to annex unsuccessfully in August.

The petitions are the latest of several which have been submitted this year seeking territory changes in Farmington Township. Voters today are deciding on the proposed incorporations of Clarenceville and Farmington Woods as two new cities.

Albert Gain, former township supervisor and one of the petitioners for Woodcroft Village, said the results of these two votes will have a bearing on their move.

He said the major purpose behind it was to prevent any further attempt of Farmington city to annex the area.

Dairy Workers Appeal to City

Plead for Protection From Detroit Firms Seeking to Compete

An appeal for economic protection was made to the city commission last night by United Dairy ers Local 183, AFL-CIO.

Jack O'Keefe, local president, said unless the city took action approximately 400 Pontiac dairy workers were threatened with loss of jobs.

"The dairies may close down here, throwing hundreds out of work," he warned.

O'Keefe appeared at last night's meeting as the spokesman for a group of Pontiac dairy workers, who said they were worried because the city's milk pasteurization ordinance was in jeopardy.

The ordinance, which requires milk sold here to be pasteurized here, has been challenged in Wayne County Circuit Court by Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy Co., a Detroit firm that wants to sell milk here.

★ ★ ★

The firm says the 1951 Pontiac law is discriminatory and unconstitutional. City Attorney William A. Ewart last night conceded the city has little chance of seeing its law hold up in court.

"The State Supreme Court already has ruled against such a law in another case," he admitted.

A hearing on the suit is scheduled for Nov. 21.

Ewart was authorized to study a new Port Huron milk ordinance as a model for a possible substitute law here. He said that its strict requirements made it economically prohibitive for outside dairies to sell milk in Port Huron.

"It requires dairies to pay for inspection of all the farms they gather milk from, which in the case of alarge, outside dairies might amount to thousands of farms," O'Keefe explained.

He warned that the city's dairies might find it more profitable to produce Pontiac milk in their Detroit plants, with the result that the Pontiac plants would close down.

Pontiac's main milk suppliers are the Detroit Creamery and the Borden Co., both of which have plants here and in Detroit. There are several small, independent dairies, too.

Hearing Will Explain Road Location Plan

FARMINGTON — A public hearing will be held at 2 p.m. Nov. 20 at Groves-Walker American Legion Post 346 for the purpose of explaining the proposed location of part of 11½-Mile road from U.S. 16 near Haggerty road east to Northwestern Highway.

Called by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, the meeting was scheduled to hear testimony regarding the economic effect of this project on the community.

Mail Designation Changed

Commerce Put on Map

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Commerce has been placed on the U.S. Post Office map.

Township residents receiving their mail through the Milford Post Office no longer will use a Milford rural route designation, according to Andrew H. Berry, D.O., of the Commerce Commercial Committee.

Although, their mail continues to flow through the Milford office, it now is labeled "Commerce."

Stanley L. Larson, acting regional operations director of the Chicago postal branch, informed the Commercial Committee:

"Commerce, Mich., is given the same prominence in the Michigan general scheme as Milford. Therefore, postal clerks performing distribution of Michigan mail anywhere in the United States will have knowledge of the change, and you on longer should be plagued wtih mail being returned for 'insufficient address.'"

Colleges Beating Bushes for Crop of Eggheads

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The American egghead appears to be coming into his own. Colleges and universities are giving him the big rush once reserved for fast halfbacks.

State university officials meeting here welcomed that trend. "Those fellows from the Ivy League are beating the bushes everywhere for the best brains. If there is a really good student at a high school in these parts, you are sure to find someone from the Ivy League down here to recruit him," one Texas dean said.

Rules of the conference are that the university officials may not be identified.

One college president warned that the schools must not go overboard in stressing intellectual achievement.

"The University of Chicago," he said, "became so intellectual that it lost much of its general support. Now it is trying to move in other directions to get across the idea that you don't necessarily have to be a genius to go to the University of Chicago."

Community High School

IMLAY CITY — The new Imlay City Community High School will be dedicated Sunday in ceremonies at the school gymnasium.

The program will begin at 2:30 p.m., with open house scheduled from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Imlay Fireman Retires

IMLAY CITY—Frank A. Bulke, of 540 N. Almont Ave., has retired after 25 years of service with the Imlay City Volunteer Fire Dept. For 23 years, he was secretary of the department.

Willman Gains Time on Meters

Sees at Least 12 Weeks Before Lansing Passes on Parking Bond Issue

City Manager Walter K. Willman last night gained more time for study of the Oneida road-Seminole avenue parking meter problem.

He said the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing won't get around to passing on the proposed $175,000 Pontiac General Hospital parking lot revenue bond issue for 12 weeks at least.

Residents of Oneida and Seminole have protested locating parking meters on their streets in connection with the lot.

Willman indicated he was dissatisfied with a compromise plan offered by the city's bonding attorney. It would rule out all parking on the two streets unless it was metered parking.

Willman said he expected another conference with the attorney, Claude Stevens, in Detroit this week.

★ ★ ★

In planning for the financial success of the lot, Willman reported, Stevens is against keeping free parking in the area immediately adjacent to the hospital lot, which would be south of the hospital between Seminole and Johnson avenue.

"We don't want free parking in competition with the metered parking in the lot," he explained.

City officials have explained that metered parking on Oneida and Seminole won't be necessary unless parking lot revenues don't come up to expectation.

Provision for on-street parking meters was included in the revenue bond ordinance as a financial "safe-guard," Willman noted. The city has also laid the groundwork for meters on W. Huron street and Johnson.

★ ★ ★

The city canot sell its revenue bonds until the Municipal Finance Commission approves its financial plans. The lot would cost a total $225,000 and have 214 parking stalls. It's scheduled for completion July 1.

Boy Struck by Auto in Good Condition

SOUTHFIELD — A 12-year-old Southfield boy was in good condition at William Beaumont Hospital today after being struck last evening by a car and thrown 85 feet.

James W. Couttes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Couttes, 28489 Everett St., darted into the path of a car driven by Ralph Leland, 21, of 118 Cambridge Rd., Pleasant Ridge.

The boy was hit at the corner of Everett and 12-Mile road while helping a friend deliver newspapers.

According to Southfield police, James came to rest 85 feet from the place of the impact. He suffered a broken leg and cuts about the arm.

The driver was not held.

Suing Four Firms for 'Malicious' Ads

A Holly manufacturer has sued the E.I. du Pont de Nemours and Co. Inc. and three other firms for allegedly advertising that his company's auto cooling products were harmful.

Fred D. Barton, owner of the Bar's Products Supply Inc., 720 Rose St., sued the four firms for 33 million dollars in the U.S. District Court in Philadelphia, home of two of the companies.

The suit says the firms violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Act by conspiring to "maliciously disparage" the local company's automative leak-proofing and anti-rust products it manufactures.

The suit says the companies, partly through a pamphlet, tried to show that soluble oil used in Barton's products was harmful to a car's cooling system.

Texas Mishap Kills Ferndale Youth, 21

FERNDALE — Charles A. Taber, 21, a former Ferndale resident, was killed Sunday when his truck overturned Sunday near Monahans, Texas.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Tabor, 1597 W. Hazelhurst St., he was to have been married this week to Betty Crosby, who had arrived in Texas from Ferndale for the wedding.

State Police said Tabor's truck went into a ditch and bounced back onto the highway before overturning. Two men riding with him escaped with minor injuries.

A 1955 graduate of Ferndale's Lincoln High School, Tabor had been making his home in Odessa, Tex., for the past several months since leaving here.

Man Pleads Guilty

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Ignatius J. Schiros, 25, of Mt. Clemens, has pleaded guilty to an armed robbery charge in the Feb. 25 holdup of a St. Clair Shores license plate office. He was arrested shortly after the robbery with a companion, Daniel E. Jedlenski, 19, who pleaded guilty to the charge last week.

SAFETY HELMETS — Huron Valley Elementary School Safety Patrol boys and girls will stand out at their posts now. Some 85 bright yellow crash helmets, matching their yellow raincoats, were donated to the schools by John Oakden of Milford. He is a representative of the Wynn Friction Proofing Co. of Indiana, which manufactures the helmets. Here, Mrs. Oral Stubbs, Safety Patrol unit organizer, adjusts head-gear for Greggory Richter. Oakden is looking on.

ANITA RUTH CASTELLUCCI

Mr. and Mrs. Francis a Castellucci of 72121 Campground Rd., Romeo, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anita Ruth, to Robert E. Spier, son of Judge and Mrs. James Spier of Mount Clemens. The marriage will be solemnized Dec. 18 in the First Presbyterian Church, Mount Clemens. The bride-elect is a graduate of Eastern Michigan College. Her fiance received his bachelor's degree from the University of Colorado and was graduated from the University of Michigan Law School.

Minstrel Show Set Nov. 11, 12

'Gentlemen Be Seated' to Be Staged by PTA of West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Featuring a male chorus of 30 voices and a host of other acts, West Bloomfield High School PTA will present an old-time minstrel show entitled "Gentlemen Be Seated," Nov. 11 and 12 at the high school.

Under the direction of Walter Gendron, the cast is made up largely of PTA parents and teachers.

No minstrel show is complete without the "end men," who in this case will be Sam Whitmore and John Warren. Hugh Hollier will have the role of "Mr. Interlocutor."

Joe Sharpley will perform with the banjo, and Fred Fuller will be introduced to the audience as "Ole Man Fuller" for a baritone solo. A novelty Negro preacher skit will spotlight William Laitinen.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Betty Pruse and Mrs. Dotty Hogen will do a soft toe dance routine. A lighted baton number, "Mississippi Mud," by Arlene and Marilyn Dreyer will round out the program.

The chorus will sing several minstrel show songs between acts under the direction of Merle Aspin, vocal music instructor at the high school.

Charles Urquhart will be in charge of lighting. Mrs. Neal Hargrave heads a committee providing costumes.

Tickets may be purchased at the box office or from Keith Thorpe, ticket chairman. Curtain time for each performance will be 8 p.m.

Oslo Loans to Students

OSLO—For 10 years Norwegian college students have been able to borrow without collateral from the Government-operated Student Loan Fund. More than 20,000 students — about one third of all eligible— have borrowed money from the fund. Repayment need not start until the student has finished his study. The interest rate is 3¾ per cent.

Your PTA Is Planning

School Board, PTA Meetings Coincide

GINGELLVILLE—Proper School Parent-Teacher Association has planned its next meeting to coincide with the monthly meeting of the Lake Orion Community School Board.

The Board meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 13 at the school, will be observed by the PTA. This is "Father's Night."

All persons, whether members of the PTA or not, may attend. A question and answer period will follow, and refreshments will be served.

The Board of Education each month holds its meeting at a different school in the district in order to make it more convenient for parents to attend.

Almont

The Almont Community Schools Parent-Teacher Assn. meets for a study of Michigan Schools at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Four Towns

A polio clinic will be conducted today and tomorrow from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Four Towns School, sponsored by the PTA. Shots will be available to all area adults and children at one dollar a person. Completion of the series has been scheduled Dec. 1 to 3 and June 1 to 3, according to Mrs. Robert Bruce, school health chairman.

East Oakland

The November meeting of the East Oakland Area PTA Council will feature "Opportunities Unlimited" as the topic at the 8 p.m. Nov. 11 at the Oppleton Elementary School.

The discussion will be presented in three phases: "How Your Council Can Help You," by Mrs. William U. Porter, president of EOAC; "A Study of Michigan Schools," by Mrs. Martin Parker, program chairman, and "Equal Opportunities for All Children," by Clifford Smart, superintendent of Walled Lake Schools and the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers legislative chairman.

All members of the Oxford, Orion, Avondale, Troy and Clawson PTAs are invited to attend.

North Branch

Circuit Judge Timothy Quinn will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the North Branch PTA Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

North Hill

Parents of children attending the North Hill Elementary School will be served the same meal their children received Monday at the PTAs regular meeting at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Thursday is the deadline for dinner reservations.

A short business meeting will follow the meal. Parents unable to attend the dinner may attend the business meeting and book exhibit at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Edward William will speak on the value of having good books for children in the home. Parents will have the opportunity to purchase books for their child or one in his name for the school's library.

Orion Township

Webster School PTA meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday will feature a discussion of retarded and handicapped children.

Mrs. Vena Kirkpatrick, administrative assistant in charge of special elementary education in the Lake Orion Community School district, will be guest speaker.

The Webster PTA will sponsor a ham dinner in the school's cafeteria Saturday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Proceeds of the affair will go into the general fund to replenish money used recently to buy a movie projector for the school.

New Hudson

New Hudson School PTA will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school gymnasium. Supt. Frank Bartlett and members of the Board of Education will explain future high school building plans.

State Health Controls Not on All Hospitals

LANSING (AP)—All hospitals don't come under the state health commissioner's authority to set up and enforce hospital maintenance and operating standards, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams held today.

The authority covers only hospitals required to meet federal requirements dealing with payment of old age assistance, aid to the blind or aid to the disabled, Adams said in an opinion sought by Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner.

These may include convalescent homes and homes for the aged; county infirmary hospitals, hospitals with maternity departments, general hospitals and University of Michigan hospital.

Other medical institutions, Adams said, may set up entrance requirements barring admission of patients who get federal help under those three programs.

Tech Receives Grants

HOUGHTON (AP) — The Michigan Tech Foundation reports the college will receive grants totaling $22,335 this year. The foundation's income is derived primarily from gifts from alumni.

School Districts Get Loan OK

6 in County to Borrow Against Anticipated Aid of State Funds

Six hard-pressed Oakland County school districts today have the official go-ahead from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to borrow against anticipated state aid money.

Loan applications approved were:

Lamphere, $32,000; Troy, $150,000; Hazel Park, $50,000; Oak Park, $250,000; Walled Lake, $150,000; and West Bloomfield Township, $50,000.

Utica Community Schools received permission to borrow $300,000 against tax anticipation notes.

★ ★ ★

The local borrowings were among a total of $2,042,600 approved by the Commission, raising state aid applications from school districts past the 34-million-dollar mark since the beginning of the 1958-59 fiscal year, July 1.

Milford Man Sentenced for Theft of Tools

Jack W. Hood, 21, of 2324 M-59, Milford, yesterday was sentenced to 18 months to 5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for the theft of carpenter's tools from a Milford home in August.

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland sentenced Hood, who pleaded guilty in August to breaking and entering of the home.

Pontiac City Affairs

May Drop Perry Street Meters

A study of parking meters on Perry street to end the traffic bottleneck south of the widening project was called for last night by Commissioner Wesley J. Wood.

★ ★ ★

"Four-lane traffic north of Huron street jams up between Huron and Water street," the District 5 Commissioner complained.

No parking is allowed on Perry north of Huron. There are parking meters between Huron and Water, meaning that only two lanes are left open for moving traffic there, said Wood.

With an eye toward abandoning the Perry street meters, City Manager Walter K. Willman was authorized to study their revenues. If the revenues are not great, the meters may be dropped, it was indicated.

ASK DRIVING ORDINANCE

Commissioners also asked City Attorney William A. Ewart to prepare a sample careless driving ordinance, that would replace in part the present reckless driving code.

"A careless driving ordinance, covering some of the lesser infractions now heaped into the reckless driving category, might be a help in solving our traffic problems," said Ewart.

He believed that such a step would fit into Michigan's new point system covering moving violations.

Willman was authorized to spend an estimated $17,000 for installation of a manhole and four meters to measure sewage flow from Waterford Township. Installation is part of a new agreement between the city and township, whereby the township pays for treatment service on metered rates.

A hearing was scheduled for Nov. 12 on a special assessment roll covering a sidewalk on the east side of Stirling avenue, Madison to Baltimore.

Another was scheduled for the same time on intention to lay sidewalk on the south side of Linda Vista drive, Joslyn to Vernon. The estimated cost includes $1,221 in one special assessment and $791 to the city.

ACTION DELAYED

The city is also planning to lay sidewalk on the north side of Madison avenue from west of Arlene to Perry. But action was delayed last night to give time for a revision in cost estimates.

The Linda Vista project would serve Mark Twain school and the Madison project near Pontiac Northern High School.

Emmanuel Baptist Church, 645 S. Telegraph Rd., was granted permission to cross city property with a 30-inch storm sewer to carry storm water into Crystal Lake.

Wixom Mayor to Speak at Civic Group Meeting

WIXOM — Mayor Joseph T. Stadnik will speak on Wixom city affairs when the Wixom Civic Assn. resumes its regular monthly meetings at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting will be held at Wixom Elementary School.

Guest of the evening will be Ed Bova of Northwest Orient Airlines, who will present and narrate a colored film on Alaska, entitled "Valley of the Smokies."

Election of officers by ballot will be held. The new officers will be installed at the meeting.

Refreshments will be served.

Shirley Marmon of Utica Marries Rochester Man

ROCHESTER—In a candlelight service Saturday evening at the Auburn Road Mission Church, Shirley Mae Marmon became the bride of Gary W. Haddrill. The rite was performed by the Rev. Albert Eddy.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Marmon of 1222 24 Mile Rd., Utica. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Haddrill of 2551 N. Harrison Rd., Rochester.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of net and lace, with a scalloped neckline and long, pointed sleeves. Her white fingertip veil was attached to a cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis centered by a white orchid on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wanda Griffin of Rochester. Mrs. Diana Wray of Warren and Mrs. Grace Church of Utica were bridesmaids. Flower girls were Trudi Knust of Rochester and Becky Rumer of Lake Orion.

★ ★ ★

Robert Griffin of Rochester was the best man, while attendants were James Wray of Warren and Larry Flanigan of Rochester.

The reception was held at the Avon Pavilion.

The newlyweds are making their home at 421 E. Flint St., Lake Orion.

MRS. GARRY W. HADDRILL

MR. AND MRS. FRED C. PARKS

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Parks will hold open house from 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday at the home of their parents, 2583 Newberry Rd., Waterford Township, honoring the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary. Married Nov. 4, 1908, in Milford, Mr. and Mrs. Parks have spent their entire life in this area. They have five daughters, Mrs. Margaret Williams of Lansing, Mrs. Hazel Fox of De Witt, Mrs. Evelyn Haddon, Mrs. Thelma Momany and Mrs. Lorna Beauchamp of Pontiac, and two sons, Glenn in California and Gerald of Pontiac. There are 16 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

UF Supported Clinic Rids Child of Allergy

When Karen was a tot, her parents didn't take much notice of the frequent chest colds she seemed to pick up. Although they were frequently harsh, the colds and sniffles seemed normal for a youngster.

Karen was just put in the class of being "susceptible" to chest colds. When she reached the age of 10, it became apparent that her colds were often more complicated than with most children of her age.

Then she frequently had sudden fits of coughing and sneezing and, for a half-hour or so, would have trouble breathing. These were finally recognized as "attacks" of some sort, after they had become more frequent.

Karen's doctor suggested to her parents that she might be suffering from an allergy. The many tests and prolonged treatment would cost more than the parents could afford, so their doctor suggested they make several visits to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Clinic.

★ ★ ★

The clinic, a United Fund agency, was a community service Karen's parents had never heard about. As it turned out, the clinic was the best thing that ever happened to Karen.

UNDERGOES TESTS

Trained doctors and nurses ran Karen through two sets of tests. These skin tests, where the skin is scratched slightly and a fluid corresponding to everything from dust to foods is placed on the scratch, took several months to complete.

The tests showed Karen's trouble was due mainly to an allergy for house dust and certain types of feathery fabrics.

Then Karen remembered that most of her "attacks" came after she had been in the basement or attic or places where dust was most likely to collect.

★ ★ ★

Education, a most important factor, followed. Doctors told her parents what she must try to stay away from.

For example, foam rubber pillows were much safer than those stuffed with feathers. Naturally, dusty places were to be avoided. Finally, treatment was prescribed and begun.

Karen's parents were told what medicines to use to relieve any sudden attacks. They were told how best to control and stop any head cold before it spread to Karen's chest, which in her case it would most likely do.

Then long-range treatment was begun at a fee suited to their budget. Karen came to the clinic for three shots each week for awhile. Then it became necessary to give her only two a week in effort to immunize her to the effects of dust and feathers.

Karen is now 14 years old. She may suffer somewhat from asthma all her life. She may outgrow it. But at least she is improving every day and rarely suffers any "attacks."

This is but one of the many services offered by the clinic through United Fund contributions. Both adults and children are accepted for treatment, whether suffering a disease or other disabling condition.

Nixon Finishes Tour of Alaska

Gives Strong Support to GOP Candidates in Coming 49th State

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon ended a three-day tour of Alaska Monday with the strongest words of his campaign in support of Republican candidates in what will soon be the 49th state.

★ ★ ★

He emphasized the youth of former Gov. Mike Stepovich and said he would make "one of the greatest senators Alaska will ever have."

★ ★ ★

He described John Butrovich Jr. as a man who seeks the governorship with a background of experience, character and knowledge of Alaska's problems.

It was election eve when Nixon and his family returned to the United States by chartered plane Monday night, but Alaskans won't vote until Nov. 25.

The Nixon party enjoyed a quiet flight aboard a chartered plane although a violent wind storm had swept the Pacific Northwest shortly before the group arrived at Seattle.

The vice president said a final Republican drive had reversed the apparent Democratic trend in the States and said the same thing was happening in Alaska.

Stepovich, 39, ran 5,700 votes ahead of former Gov. Ernest Gruening, 71, in the August primary balloting for one of the two U.S. Senate seats open to Alaska next year. Many observers feel Gruening's well-organized campaign has reduced this margin and some rate the race a tossup.

★ ★ ★

Butrovich ran more than 12,000 votes behind Democrat William Egan in the primary.

The picture shows parajump expert Lew Vinson coming in to a stand-up landing at Lake Elsinore, Calif. Secret of the radical new 'chute is a series of rings with crescent-shaped slots in each nylon gore. It reduces landing shock by at least 35 percent. It was designed and developed for the Navy by Radioplane, a division of Northrop Aircraft, Inc.

Germans Import Food

BREMEN, Germany — Foods, valued at 2.4 billion dollars, accounted for 32 per cent of West Germany's imports last year. Fruits and vegetables were the largest food items, being valued at nearly $500,000,000 compared with nearly $400,000,000 in 1956. Grain and grain products were second and fats third.

—In 10 or 20 Years

Computers May Speed Vote Figures

LANSING (UPI) — After the election polls close tonight, it will be hours before total counts are available based on unofficial totals and days before the official totals are ready.

But, in 10 or 20 years, it's entirely possible the results — official ones — may be known in a few hours after the polls close.

★ ★ ★

State Elections Chief Robert M. Montgomery said today such a speedy, totally efficient operation may be possible in some future time, but perhaps not practical.

"If you really want to speculate," Montgomery said, "it might be that in 10 or 20 years vote results from all over the state will be flashed to computing machines so we will know the return totals in a fraction of the time it now takes."

This is not all fancy but has a hint of fact. After all, if a few years ago someone guessed voters wouldn't have to use paper ballots, but could have partisan wishes cast and counted by a machine, they might have been shoved into a corner as having read too many fairy tales.

61 PER CENT AUTOMATIC

Today, about 61 per cent of Michigan voting precincts have the automatic voting machines and other machines even faster are being developed.

The fact that returns are relatively slow has plagued elections division workers for a long time.

Once a county board of canvassers decided its members might go deer hunting before sending in the results. This ended with state elections people having to contact them at the hunting spots to get the vote count.

★ ★ ★

The returns, printed by newspapers and sent over radio and television the day after the election, aren't the counts of the official elections division, but are computations of newspapers and press services.

Montgomery credited the unofficial news tabulations with being "remarkably accurate, especially considering the possibilities there are for error."

One elections expert gave an example of why votes are slow in coming.

NEED 'BIG CHANGES'

"Take the case of voters on one of Michigan's islands," he said. "Say the person delivering the vote count to the county clerk is a woman. She isn't going to be anxious to hop into a boat and row across a stretch of dark water to the mainland."

"This kind of thing slows down the count," he said. "But in many instances, there just isn't any way of speeding things up unless changes are made — big ones."

The legislature tried to hurry things up recently by requiring that vote totals must be reported to county boards within 24 hours after the polls closed.

★ ★ ★

So, about 1 a.m. tomorrow when you're getting mad because more complete returns aren't there, take pity and be patient, maybe in 20 years election results will be available an hour after the last voter has pulled the lever.

Executives Slim Down

NEW YORK—A study of 5,000 American business executives show that in the last 15 years the number of overweight executives has been cut a third. Now only 15.2 per cent of the executives are more than 10 per cent above normal weight compared with 29 per cent in 1943, according to a report of the Health Insurance Institute.

Gets 5-15-Year Term for Statutory Rape

A West Bloomfield Township man, who pleaded guilty last month to statutory rape, Monday was sentenced to 5 to 15 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Sentenced was Patrick Cremer, 37, of 6885 Playfair Ave.

MSUO Course Will Highlight Japanese Film

"Gate of Hell," a Japanese film which received an award for excellence in color photography, will be one of the highlights of an informal liberal arts course beginning at Michigan State University Oakland this month.

The film is one of five of the most significant foreign films of the last 25 years which will be featured in a noncredit class in "Motion Pictures in Perspective." The course is presented by Michigan State University in cooperation with the Pontiac, Birmingham and Rochester Public Schools.

Interested adults can still register at the MSUO Continuing Education Center, Adams and Butler roads, Rochester. The class will meet Wednesday evenings for five weeks from 7:30 to 9:30, beginning Nov. 5.

"Gate of Hell" is based on a true story from the 12th Century and has received numerous European and American awards for production and photography, according to Dr. A. Nicholas Vardac, course instructor from the MSU College of Communication Arts and formerly associated with the motion picture industry.

★ ★ ★

Other films to be shown and discussed as international art forms are the early French sound film, "Le Million"; the whimsical British satire, "Tight Little Island"; the neo-realistic Italian classic, "Bicycle Thief," and a Swedish treatment of the problems of the younger generation, "Torment."

The class is being offered under the MSU Program of Liberal Arts Education for Adults.

4000 MORE BRIDES DAILY MEAN MORE BUSINESS COAST-TO-COAST

4000 new families a day! They'll need homes—and everything that goes into them. Meeting these needs means bigger-than-ever opportunities for all of us.

In 1956 America's 53 million families spent an average of:

$1350 for Food $475 for Clothes
$1300 for Homes $575 for Transportation

Now multiply these figures by 60 million—the number of families there will be by 1965. This will give you some idea of America's growing needs—and your opportunities.

7 BIG REASONS FOR CONFIDENCE IN AMERICA'S FUTURE

1. More People . . . Four million babies yearly. U.S. population has doubled in last 50 years! And our prosperity curve has always followed our population curve.

2. More Jobs . . . Though employment in some areas has fallen off, there are 15 million more jobs than in 1939—and there will be 22 million more by 1975 than today.

3. More Income . . . Family income after taxes is at an all-time high of $5300—is expected to pass $7000 by 1975.

4. More Production . . . U.S. production doubles every 20 years. We will require millions more people to make, sell and distribute our products.

5. More Savings . . . Individual savings are at highest level ever—$340 billion—a record amount available for spending.

6. More Research . . . $10 billion spent each year will pay off in more jobs, better living, whole new industries.

7. More Needs . . . In the next few years we will need $500 billion worth of schools, highways, homes, durable equipment. Meeting these needs will create new opportunities for everyone.

Add them up and you have the makings of another big upswing. Wise planners, builders and buyers will act now to get ready for it.

Martha to Wed Her Bodyguard

To Be Miss Raye's 6th Marriage, His Second Trip to Altar

TEANECK, N.J. (UPI) — Comedienne Martha Raye, 42, and former Westport, Conn., policeman Robert O'Shea, 31, applied for a marriage license yesterday, climaxing a long romance.

★ ★ ★

The couple appeared at the city license bureau, quickly dispensed with the formalities and departed, Miss Raye rushing off to a New York television rehearsal.

This will be Miss Raye's sixth marriage and O'Shea's second. O'Shea's wife sued Miss Raye for "alienation of affections" in 1956. The suit was settled for a reported $200,000.

Later, O'Shea's wife divorced the private detective on grounds of "intolerable cruelty."

★ ★ ★

Nick Condos, Miss Raye's manager, said he didn't know when the couple would be married. Actress Joan Crawford gave a reception for the couple in New York last night.

O'Shea was the comedienne's former bodyguard. He now runs a New York Private Detective agency.

Youths Get 1-4 Years for Beating City Man

Two Pontiac area teenagers, who beat up a stranger because he refused to give them a cigarette, received prison terms of from 1 to 4 years from Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

★ ★ ★

Clarence E. Hargreaves, 18, of 764 Alpena Ave., Pontiac Township, and Spencer Padgett, 19, of 24 Norton Ave., pleaded guilty last month to felonious assault in the beating of Gerald Alden, 21, of 154 Lincoln Ave.

★ ★ ★

Police said the two boys and another companion, who stood mute to the assault charge, spied Alden as he walking down a street in Pontiac and noticed a package of cigarettes in his shirt pocket. When they got out of their car and asked for one, Alden reportedly refused and the beating took place, police said.

Styling and Engineering Advances in '59 Mercury

DETROIT (AP)—The 1959 Mercury cars, the company's 20th anniversary models, boast new styling and engineering advances, including a sharp reduction in the transmission tunnel hump within the car.

The hump has been reduced about 50 per cent by moving the engine forward. The instrument panel also has been moved forward giving six inches more knee room. The hood has been lowered 2½ inches and the windshield is more than 60 per cent larger than in previous models.

★ ★ ★

An innovation is the electric windshield wiper system. The wipers operate in tandem, both longer blades moving in the same directional sweep at the same time. This gives full-width cleaning including the center portion of the windshield.

★ ★ ★

More interior foot room has been obtained by widening the rear foot wells 4½ inches and narrowing the door sills.

The Mercury comes in the Monterey, Montclair and Park Lane passenger car line and one station wagon line.

★ ★ ★

Sedan models have a flat roof, with overhang above a full wraparound rear window. The side projectile theme is emphasized. The projectile starts at the front door and swept along the side to blend into a massive tail light assembly. A die cast front grille forms a wide span of rectangular segments.

★ ★ ★

Mufflers are of aluminized steel and tail pipes are made with steel 25 per cent thicker.

35 Ballots in New Hampshire

GOP Tops First Returns

WATERVILLE, N. H. (AP) — This tiny community in central New Hampshire today was the first in the nation to report election results.

Its tabulations were completed a few minutes after midnight after the town's 22 voters cast ballots at the home of Town Clerk Wendell Stevenson.

★ ★ ★

The vote for governor was 15 for Republican candidate Wesley Powell, six for his Democratic opponent, Bernard L. Boutin, and one blank.

★ ★ ★

On the rest of the ballot, the voters went solidly Republican, except for two votes cast for a Democratic candidate for the Governor's Council.

All 13 ballots cast in Waterville in 1956 went to Republican gubernatorial candidate Lane Dwinell and the rest of the GOP ticket.

★ ★ ★

Right behind Waterville in the completion of vote tabulations was Ellsworth, N.H., which had hoped to be the first in the nation — except that the ballot clerk there overslept.

★ ★ ★

In Ellsworth, all 12 votes went to Powell and Rep. Perkins Bass (R-NH), shutting out Boutin and Democratic House candidate Stuart V. Nims.

Ellsworth usually votes straight Republican. It gave all 12 votes to Eisenhower in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Elaborate plans for Ellsworth to be first in the nation to announce vote results went awry when Mrs. Richard Murphy, the ballot clerk, failed to show up at midnight, as planned.

★ ★ ★

Before the voting got under way at 12:20 a.m., she explained she had fallen asleep and had forgotten all about the plans to vote at midnight.

★ ★ ★

In 10 minutes the results were ready, but Chief Selectman Allie Batchelder, who was to announce them, explained his glasses were broken. He turned the warrants over to Town Clerk Ida Clark, who finally announced the results.

Waterford Youth Gets 1½-5 Years for Theft

The theft of eight bottles of beer and five dollars from a Pontiac grocery store in September has cost Joseph C. Roell, 17, of 4855 Filer Ave., Waterford Township, his freedom.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty yesterday sentenced Roell to from 1½ to 15 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for the burglary of the beer and cash from the store. Roell pleaded guilty to breaking and entering during the nighttime Oct. 20.

IS COLLEGE FOR THE BIRDS?

Absolutely! For smart birds, that is. And in another ten years even they may have trouble getting into the college of their choice.

For in less than ten years college applications are expected to double. This means many able youngsters may be turned down simply for lack of room.

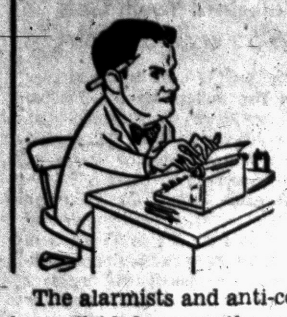

To make matters worse, preposterously low salaries are driving too many gifted teachers into other fields of work.

This is a serious situation. Something must be done about it before it is too late. Won't you help by contributing to the college of your choice now? The returns will be greater than you think.

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The alarmists and anti-college propagandists are having a field day over the recent incidents at Ann Arbor in which a couple of athletes were arrested for playing football pool cards.

Already the busybodies are trying to drum up campus scandals in regard to college football and meanwhile the big-time gambler sits back with a smirk and a pocket full of greenbacks.

The entire situation as it broke on the U. of M. campus was a farce. No one got hurt but the little men and they got hurt real bad.

Not one of the responsible hoodlums was apprehended, but for Tony Rio and Jack Lewis, the respective football and basketball players, there will be a black scar for life.

The joke of the whole mess is that these football cards are played on every college campus in the country. You can find them in the shops, in the offices, at the games and we've seen them used as a marker for the prayer book even in church.

So, that makes every person who handles one by law a criminal. Let them arrest every person who has a football card in his possession and every seat in University of Michigan Stadium plus every other inch of the playing field would not be big enough to hold these so-called law breakers.

OURS A GAMBLING SOCIETY

We have to admit and face the fact that ours is a gambling society. The money put on horses, sweepstakes, bingo and football cards encompasses a tremendous majority of the American population.

But so is life and business a gamble. Our society provides corrective means in the form of medicine and money when our gambles in life and business fail.

Unfortunately, the money across-the-board gambling is pushed into the shady corners because our society, by form of legislation, fails to cut the apple to the core.

We can go to the track and throw ten dollars on a horse and lose in a minute's time under the protection of the law, but we put a circle around five teams at 16 to 1 odds and we're criminals. This is consistency?

The state gets a cut of the 10 dollars lost at the window, but it never sees even a cent of the buck lost on the football ticket. In one case the buyer and seller are legalized, in the other they are both illegal.

More inconsistencies? Every person who has an Irish sweepstakes ticket in his possession is really violating gambling laws. Yet, just last week one Detroit paper ran a full page of pictures of all the big sweepstakes winners.

If the law is to be upheld each person should have been arrested. What is our society doing? It will point at the sweepstakes winners and say, "you lucky people," but at the same time it will point at Rio and Lewis and say, "you dirty gamblers."

College athletics need not take the pointed finger of ill-repute which some people are now directing. Let the state and its laws take the blame. We hope the University of Michigan lifts its suspension on these students which would serve notice to the state to sweep out the corners as well and not only the middle of the floor.

Fair Weather Fans 'Hang' Woody

Hayes Declines to Comment on Campus Incident

Dagger-Pierced Effigy Draped From Tree on OSU Grounds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Fair weather fans at Ohio State have erected a campus monument to coach Woody Hayes.

The "monument" was a stuffed dummy with a rope about its neck, dangling somberly from a tree limb.

A dagger was plunged into the dummy's chest, near the heart. A sign on the monument reads —"Hayes—we lost."

A football spot card was pinned to the figure.

★ ★ ★

A courageous group of students braved the daylight hours yesterday to hang Hayes in effigy, undoubtedly as a result of the Buckeyes' 21-0 loss to Northwestern last Saturday.

Hayes, wearing a black tie and a scowl to match, declined comment on the "hanging." He apparently consoled himself with his old motto—"When you're winning, you don't need friends. And when you're losing, you don't have any anyhow."

Bob White, the Buckeyes' leading ground gainer, voiced the team's opinion with, "Gee, I sure hate to hear that. We didn't know it at practice last night. I didn't see it and I don't think anybody on the team saw it either.

"I hate to hear it," he repeated.

Hayes apparently was unaware that he had been "strung up" until late last night. He went through the usual Monday practice and made his usual victory prediction for Saturday's game with Purdue.

He said little about Ohio's loss except to say Ara Parseghian will get "my vote as coach of the year."

★ ★ ★

Of his team, he said only that end Jim Houston was magnificent in defeat. "He's the best end we've had in eight years," Hayes said.

When word of the "lynching" spread over the campus and into downtown Columbus, opinion was divided. But most Main street quarterbacks defended Hayes.

"You can't knock success," one noted. "And ol' Woody sure has had success."

That was putting it mildly.

The Northwestern loss was Ohio's first in 15 games. The 7-7 tie with Wisconsin was the only other blot since TCU beat the Bucks 17-14 in the 1957 opener.

Hayes' seven-year reign at the football-mad school has produced two Rose Bowl winners and two national champions—1954 and 1957—and three Big Ten titles in the past four years.

PRICE OF DEFEAT — An effigy of Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes was hung with a dagger in its heart high in a tree on the OSU campus in front of the administration building yesterday. Attached was a football pool betting card that read "Woody, we lost." It referred to Saturday's first defeat for the defending Big Ten champions.

Olympic Winter Schedule Ready

Planners Arrange 11 Days of Ski, Skating, Hockey in February '60

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Olympic planners came up Monday with a thrill-packed 11-day schedule for the 1960 Winter Games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Spectators at the Feb. 18 - 28 spectacle will have a choice of 15 skiing and ski jumping events, eight speed skating races, three figure skating competitions and at least 28 hockey games.

More than 1,000 athletes from 33 nations are expected to compete.

The schedule also includes colorful opening and closing ceremonies plus ski jumping exhibitions. Olympic planners are investigating the possibility of holding dogsled races and curling exhibitions.

Two Olympic firsts are scheduled. They are the biathlon, a 20-kilometer event combining skiing and shooting, and women's speed skating.

All events except cross country skiing and the biathlon will be conducted in the Valley proper. The cross country events are scheduled at McKinney Creek, 12 miles south.

STAR AT WORK — Northwestern's star quarterback Dick Thornton sweeps leaves from sidewalk in campus fraternity area before working out in preparation for the Wisconsin game Saturday. The sophomore's leadership has been the key factor in the startling success of the Wildcats in compiling a 5-1 record. He accounted for all 21 points in the upset of Ohio State.

To Go or Not to Go, That Is the Question

Onward to Bay City?

By BILL CORNWELL

What student of William Shakespeare can ever forget Hamlet's famous soliloquy which begins:

"To be or not to be, that is the question."

The Pontiac Central High School football team could easily write its own version of the immortal words penned by the great English dramatist.

Pontiac is scheduled to clash with mighty Bay City Central on Friday night at Bay City and the Chiefs' new approach to the classic speech might well read something like this:

"To go or not to go, that is the question."

★ ★ ★

One could hardly blame coach Jesse MacLeay and his gridders for not relishing the trip to the up-state city. It would probably be much healthier for them to stay home and forget the whole affair.

Nothing worthwhile is ever accomplished that way, however, so Pontiac's battered forces will undoubtedly muster their courage and make the northward trek. But it's liable to be a long, miserable evening.

If ever a football squad was an underdog, PCH fits the role to the fullest extent. The general feeling is that Bay City can just about write its own ticket.

★ ★ ★

The opinion prevails that the Wolves can run the final score to almost any figure they choose, depending upon the mercy of Bay City coach Elmer Engel who has never enjoyed a reputation for merciful qualities.

Bay City will put an awesome gridiron record on the line against the Chiefs this Friday.

Currently rated Michigan's No. 1 Class A team, Bay City is undefeated in seven games. The Wolves have amassed a total of 295 points—bettering 50 on four occasions—while yielding only 26.

★ ★ ★

The lone blot on Bay City's 1958 schedule is a 13-13 tie with Flint Central, presently the state's 2nd ranked "A" team and a good bet to share the Saginaw Valley Conference championship with the Wolves if both schools can get past dangerous Flint Northern.

Pontiac, it may be added, has to face Flint Central on Nov. 14 in the season finale at Wisner Stadium.

Aside from the 13-13 deadlock, Bay City's slate reads as follows: Owosso, 51-6; Lansing Sexton, 46-0; Bay City Handy, 57-0; Arthur Hill, 60-0; Midland, 12-7, and Saginaw, 56-0.

★ ★ ★

As the record shows, the defending Valley champions have scored a minimum of seven touchdowns in every game except the Central and Midland outings when they were held to a pair by strong defensive units.

Marshall Raps Hamilton for 'Willy Nilly' Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — If pro football is willy nilly, George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins mused alond today, then people must like willy nilly football.

Marshall, a pro pioneer and owner of the Redskins, was commenting on a remark by Adm. Tom Hamilton, athletic director at Pitt.

Hamilton said during the weekend that the pros "play a wild game, throwing the ball willy nilly all over the place, with little purpose."

★ ★ ★

Marshall would not let such an aspersion pass unchallenged.

First he said he wasn't sure what kind of football his Redskins have been playing this season but if it's willy nilly, "then there has been too much nilly and not enough willy."

Washington has lost four of six contests to date.

Then the chief Redskin had a word for Hamilton, who was a star player and later coach and athletic director at Navy before taking the Pitt job.

"Although the admiral has seen a lot of professional football, I still don't think he is qualified to comment," Marshall said.

"After all, professional football has no taxpayers to support it, with the exception of the citizens who do so voluntarily. Obviously they like the type of game the National Football League plays."

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell spoke the same piece in Philadelphia yesterday. Bell was not discussing the willies and nillies but the season's high of 291,000 or so who paid to see the six pro games Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Bell said the NFL enjoys such large patronage "because we give the public interesting, wide open, clean football."

Marshall, for his part, said he was happy to see Hamilton recommend that colleges move the goal posts up to the goal line. Hamilton had said this would make the game even more fascinating.

Marshall claimed credit for bringing about that change in the pro league some 25 years ago.

"I love college football and only became associated with professional football because of my interest in college and high school football," Marshall said.

"Everything we have done we can attribute to college football. Anything I could do to help it, I would do."

He had a suggestion: Colleges should allow free substitution, as the pros do.

Bennie Moore, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, yesterday came out in favor of returning the goalposts to the goal line in accordance with the professionals. He said it would mean more field goals and stronger offensive play.

Warn Packers Axe Will Fall

'Scooter' McLean Says 'Bad Roots' to Be Cut Before Sunday

Reacting swiftly in the wake of Sunday's humiliating 56-0 defeat at the hands of the Baltimore Colts, McLean told The Associated Press:

"We've got to cut out some of the bad roots. They're getting to be a problem because they're starting to affect the rest of the team. We know who some of them are and we're going to do something about it."

★ ★ ★

McLean, who is in his first year as head coach of the Packers, said seven or eight players on his 35-man squad have "a defeatist attitude." He mentioned no names.

Hamilton Says Colleges Lack Sports Facilities

NEW YORK (AP)—A national Collegiate Athletic Assn. committee charged Tuesday that American colleges are suffering from a critical lack of facilities for sports and physical activities and are making inadequate use of the facilities available.

★ ★ ★

Thomas J. Hamilton, chairman of the NCAA Youth Fitness Committee, added that "there has been a continual disregard for the physical welfare of the student."

These conclusions were drawn from a study made by the special NCAA committee appointed in 1957 to help implement President Eisenhower's youth fitness program. The study covered the sports, physical education and recreation programs for the 1956-57 academic year at 396 of the 476 NCAA member institutions.

★ ★ ★

Replies to a questionnaire revealed that seven of the 395 institutions do not have a gymnasium—not even a basketball court, 50 lack diamonds for softball, one of the most popular intramural sports, and that only 33.5 per cent of college men undergraduates are enrolled in physical education courses.

★ ★ ★

Hamilton, a retired Navy admiral who is director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, commented:

"The advent of Sputnik caused a wild rush to produce scientists and mathematicians at the expense of other vital educational objectives. While no one can quarrel with these aims as such, there has been a continual disregard for the physical welfare of the student."

The survey showed that intercollegiate sports employ only a small percentage of the student bodies; that the smaller institutions do a proportionally better job of providing sports activities than the large ones but the biggest schools offer more and better facilities.

★ ★ ★

Basketball was the No. 1 sports activity, both intercollegiate and intramural but football had the greatest number of intercollegiate players. Where 394 basketball teams took in 12,232 players, 324 football teams provided activity for 23,520 players. Intramural basketball at 383 schools attracted 129,005 students. Softball and touch football were next in popularity.

Hawks' Player Snaps Monopoly

MONTREAL (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks' Ed Litzenberger refuses to be impressed by the prowess of the Montreal Canadiens big guns.

★ ★ ★

National Hockey League statistics released today show Litzenberger breaking a five-player monopoly the Canadiens held on the top scoring spots in play to date. The big Chicago forward scored once and had three assists last week for a season total of 13 points, tying him for runner-up spot with the Brothers Richard, Maurice and Henri of Montreal.

Jean Beliveau moved into a tie for the lead with teammate Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion, each with 15 points, when he scored once and picked up four assists. Both Canadiens have six goals and nine assists.

Detroit's Terry Sawchuk is the leading goalie with a 2.27 goals per game average.

The top scorers:

		G	A	Pts.
1.	Beliveau, Montreal	6	9	15
2.	Geoffrion, Montreal	6	9	15

Arcaro to Ride Foreign Mount in Laurel Race

By The Associated Press

Eddie Arcaro, America's premier jockey, will have a foreign mount in the $100,000 International Nov. 11.

Arcaro was engaged yesterday to ride one of Ireland's entries, Tharp, in the seventh International. Although this will be his fifth outing in the Laurel event, it marks the first time Arcaro will ride a foreign thoroughbred.

Riding C. V. Whitney's Fisherman in 1954, Arcaro scored the first U.S. triumph in the race.

Andrews Beats Dixon

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Eddie Andrews, using the tactics of a fellow New Englander — Rocky Marciano, won a split 10-round decision last night over Artie Dixon of Los Angeles.

UNDER FIRE — Joe Kuharich is under fire in Washington because his Redskins have lost four of their first six games. He says he uses as varied an attack as anyone in the NFL but injuries to key personnel have hindered the offense.

Yardley Leads NBA Scorers

Pistons' Ace Back on Top

NEW YORK (AP)—Jump-shooting George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons, the leading scorer in the season, is taking over where he left off—right back atop the listings.

★ ★ ★

Yardley, who is nicknamed "bird" because he leaps as "high as the sky," has collected 170 points in seven games. He has led the league every week since Dec. 31, 1957.

★ ★ ★

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks ranks second with 146 points in five games, figures released by league headquarters disclosed today. Pettit, who led the loop in scoring in 1955-56, boasts the best average, 29.2 points per game.

Gene Shue of the Detroit Pistons is third with 124 points, followed by teammate Phil Jordan with 122. Both have played seven games.

★ ★ ★

Pettit is the rebound leader with 99. Bill Russell of Boston, holder of league rebound records for both game and season, is sixth, but he has only played two games. His average of 27.5 rebounds per game is tops.

Dick McGuire of Detroit, who last won the assists title in 1950, has been the leading play-maker with 55 in seven games.

The scoring leaders:

Player, Team	G	FG	FT	Pts.	Avg.
1. Yardley, Detroit	7	62	46	170	24.3
2. Pettit, St. Louis	5	49	48	146	29.2

Dutchmen's Offense Is Most Productive

By The Associated Press

The Hope College Dutchmen — with only two foes standing in the way of a perfect season — have the state's most productive offense.

The Dutchmen have a powerful running game that has accounted for most of the team's touchdowns — and coach Russ Devette can turn loose any one of a half-dozen backs capable of breaking a game open.

Hope has rolled up 210 points in seven victories with fullback Ron Bekius accounting for 73 of the points on 12 touchdowns and one conversion. Six other players have scored two or more touchdowns and the team has counted at least two touchdowns in each victory.

Bekius ran for one touchdown and an extra point and his 73-point total puts him only 15 points behind the state scoring leader, Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan. Coleman had one touchdown in Western's victory over Ohio University and has 88 points. Central Michigan's Walter Beach has 72 points.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — "I'm thrilled and surprised," said the Washington Senators' relief pitching ace, Dick Hyde.

He added:

"It will be a good bargaining point when contract signing time comes around."

The 30-year-old right-hander, who works in a service station during the off baseball season, had been informed he was voted the American League sophomore of 1958. He won 10 games and saved 19.

Burton Retains Lead for Big Ten Scoring

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Burton of Northwestern continues to hold his lead in the Big Ten all-games football scoring race after adding eight more points in a 21-0 victory over Ohio State.

Burton ran his total to 9 touchdowns and 4 extra points for 58 points. Purdue fullback Bob Jarus took over second place with 9 touchdowns and 54 points while Ohio State's Bob White dropped to third place with 8 touchdowns and 48 points.

M-L Prepares for Club's '59 Election

Nominations for 1959 officers will be held Wednesday by Multi-Lakes Conservation Association, with an interesting bit of entertainment to follow. Selection of the slate for the annual election is set for 8 p.m. and candidates will be named for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and directors. Welbon Payne is the current prexy.

Hunter, photographer Dennis Haver will show his latest motion picture of the famed moose hunting area, Ontario's Algoma district. Wednesday's general membership session is being held two weeks earlier than usual.

Southpaw Golf Pro Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ben Richter, golf pro at the Bellerive Country Club here, died Monday of a heart condition. He was 63.

Richter was a southpaw and had been called the best left-handed golfer in the country. He twice won the national southpaw tournament.

No Rest for Victims of Grid Upsets

By The Associated Press

Someone once said, "The worst thing about being upset on Saturday is next Monday's practice."

Monday is always a day for rectifying mistakes—generally without pads— but when you have to face the ones you weren't supposed to make then it becomes downright uncomfortable.

★ ★ ★

Ask Texas A&M. They took a 21-8 lacing from hitherto winless Arkansas last Saturday night in a Southwest Conference game. Yesterday, they put on full practice gear for a night session. The Aggies meet upcoming Southern Methodist Saturday, and must face its star passer Don Meredith.

The Aggies also counted tri-captain Rich Gay, their blocking back, out for the season with a bum knee. End Travis Nvill will miss the SMU game, also with a knee injury.

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, never a pleasant loser, had his Buckeyes out for a full workout, following their 21-0 loss to Northwestern, their first Big Ten loss in 20 games. Hayes replaced 209-pound Oscar Hauer with senior Danny James. Hauer, a soph, had the most playing time on the Buck's squad.

Houston's Hal Lahar also shook up his squad, after they lost 25-20 to Tulsa in a Missouri Valley game Saturday night. He named 10 changes in playing personnel, six on the first team. Moved to the No. 1 lineup were quarterback Don McDonald, halfbacks Hal Lewis and Bill Dickey, guard Dewey Wade, end Randy Dorsett and center Dan Cranford.

Houston also lost its No. 1 ground-gainer, Don Brown, with a cracked elbow bone. Brown is out for the season.

Injuries rocked some of the other upset victims. Pitt, a 16-13 victim to Syracuse, had quarterback Bill Kaliden out with a charley horse, halfback Dick Haley suffering from a twisted knee and tackle Ken Montanari under observation for a possible head injury.

All three are expected to be ready for Notre Dame Saturday as the Panthers went through a full-scale workout.

★ ★ ★

South Carolina, which lost 10-6 to Maryland in an Atlantic Coast Conference game Saturday, went through offensive and defensive contact drills, with special emphasis on punting, pass defense and pass protection.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota lost two more veterans prior to its game Saturday with Big Ten leader Iowa. Left end Perry Gehring and tackle Norm Sixta join an elaborate list of teammates that have left the Gophers, a 6-0 victim of Indiana last week, decimated.

★ ★ ★

Harvard, a 19-6 loser to Penn, went through some mental anguish, having to watch films of the game, with an extended session tacked on. Quarterback Charley Ravenel, shaken up against the Quakers, was pronounced fit for Princeton Saturday.

Claims Coercion Forced Dropping of Injury Charge

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) —A Grand Rapids doctor charged last night that another physician was forced to withdraw charges that Catholic Central High School's football team played dirty football in a game against Ottawa Hills High.

Dr. Howard P. Porter Jr., Ottawa's team physician, made the "dirty football" charges following the Oct. 25 game which Catholic won 27-6 before 10,000 fans.

In a letter to the board of education, Porter implied injuries suffered by seven Ottawa players were caused deliberately by Catholic players. Porter, a surgeon, withdrew the charges and apoligized to the parochial school after viewing game films which officials of both schools said showed there was no foul play by Catholic players.

Dr. E. E. Schumacher Jr., in a letter read at last night's board of education meeting, said, "I am deeply distressed that coercion apparently was brought to bear upon this fine young physician in an attempt to make him retract his statements."

Epee King to Attend City Fencing Clinic

Richard Barry of Royal Oak, two-time national epee champion, will be a guest of the City Parks and Recreation Department's fencing program Wednesday night in the girls' gymnasium at Pontiac Central High School.

Barry, a member of the American team competing in the world epee bouts at Philadelphia this year, will be present at PCH from 8 to 10 p.m. to discuss the art of fencing and to fence with any interested person. The public is invited to attend and participate.

A Michigan State University graduate, Barry has held the NCAA title and was a member of the Navy team for international competition in 1953 and 1954. He is former president of the Michigan Division of the Amateur Fencing League.

Louisiana State, Iowa and Army held their places on top of the weekly Associated Press football ranking poll today, but after that it was a case of anything—and anyone—goes.

Ohio State and Colorado went clear out of the top 10 after last Saturday's lickings. Auburn, barely victorious, went down a notch in the rankings to make room for astounding Northwestern. And Mississippi, after losing for the first time, dropped three places.

LSU, one of two unbeaten and untied major college teams, maintained its slender lead over once-tied Iowa in the balloting of 165 sports writers and broadcasters by a margin of 1,443 points to 1,379. Those teams virtually monopolized the first-place votes, the Tigers from Louisiana drawing 82 and Iowa's Hawkeyes 54.

Army, the leader two weeks ago before it was tied by Pittsburgh was named first on only seven ballots, but piled up 1,105 points for third place.

Points are counted on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, etc.

The first three places continued to reflect the results. LSU conquered Mississippi 14-0 in their struggle for the Southeastern Conference lead, Iowa routed Michigan 37-14 and Army ran over helpless Colgate 68-6.

An even sharper reflection of results gave Northwestern fourth place by a bare three points over Auburn. Northwestern's Wildcats, who had dropped out of the top 10 after losing to Iowa, beat Ohio State for the first time in 10 years, 21-0. Auburn just scratched out a 6-5 decision over Florida.

★ ★ ★

Ohio State, rated fifth a week ago, dropped clear to 16th after its defeat. Mississippi dropped from sixth to ninth after losing to the leaders. Colorado, a 23-7 victim of Oklahoma, fell from ninth in the rankings clear out of sight.

As a result Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Purdue, Mississippi and the unbeaten Air Force Academy team filled the last five places in the top 10. Texas Christian, tied for the Southwest Conference lead after a 22-0 victory over Baylor, was 11th in the point totals.

The Top Ten teams with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. LSU	(82) (7-0)	1,443
2. Iowa	(54) (5-0-1)	1,379
3. Army	(7) (5-0-1)	1,105
4. Northwestern	(5-1)	815
5. Auburn	(7) (5-0-1)	812
6. Oklahoma	(8) (5-1)	733
7. Wisconsin	(4-1-1)	584
8. Purdue	(5-1)	465
9. Mississippi	(6-1)	279
10. Air Force	(5-0-1)	228

Spartans Battle to Dodge Big 10 Cellar

'M' Faces Illini Speed

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The late Bob Zuppke once said — "Some backs run very fast on one spot."

Zuppke's teachings remain gospel at Illinois, where he coached over a span of nearly three decades.

Ray Eliot, who succeeded Zuppke in 1942, still enforces the theories of the old master. The erratic Illini, Michigan's opponent Saturday, will present a back field of three sophomores guided by a junior. It's a backfield that can go from one spot to another downfield.

Banished to the second string this season were halfback L. T. Bonner and fullback Jack Delveaux. They combined for all three touchdowns in Illinois' 20-19 victory over Michigan last year.

★ ★ ★

Halfback Dick McDade and fullback Bill Brown have taken over in their places, Joe Krakoski, another sophomore, has become the left halfback, where Bobby Mitchell cavorted for three years.

Coupled with Illinois' fair speed is a new-found passing attack. Last year the Illini passed only four times against the Wolverines. Now quarterback Bob Hickey throws often. End Rich Kreitling is his favorite target.

The Illini and Wolverines have met two common foes — Michigan State and Minnesota. The comparative advantage must go to the Illini.

★ ★ ★

"We played way over our heads to tie Michigan State," said Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan. "Illinois beat them easily, 16-0."

The Illini also handled the Gophers with little trouble, winning 20-8. Michigan beat Minnesota 20-19 after a difficult struggle.

Those, however, were Illinois' only victories. They lost to UCLA, Duke, Ohio State and Purdue.

The Wolverines came out of their defeat by Iowa with little banging up. End Walt Johnson was the only absentee at yesterday's session.

"His knee isn't as bad as we first thought," said Oosterbaan. "But it's still problematical if he can play Saturday."

EAST LANSING — Only a battle to keep out of the Big Ten basement is in the future this fall for the Michigan State football team.

After three conference losses and one tie, the sagging Spartans can't climb out of the second division. The two remaining league games are with a couple of other have-nots, Indiana and Minnesota.

Michigan State won't even have the incentive of attracting attention by playing the role of spoiler against the teams still in the running for the title and Rose Bowl.

State now goes on two road trips, to Indiana this Saturday and to Minnesota a week later.

Indiana surprised this last weekend by its first conference victory in two years, a 6-0 edge over Minnesota. The tarnished Golden Gophers have lost all four Big Ten starts this fall.

In a lineup switch yesterday, coach Duffy Daugherty put senior Mike Panitch back in as No. 1 quarterback — apparently on the strength of his direction of the one touchdown drive against Wisconsin. Junior Greg Montgomery dropped back to second string.

Coaches learned yesterday that George Perles, sophomore starting tackle from Allen Park, probably is through with football. Perles, who thrashed around the field with an injured knee last Saturday, was operated on to repair torn ligaments in the left knee.

★ ★ ★

Larry Cundiff, junior tackle from Honolulu, was moved up to a starting position.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

Lady bowlers in particular, and some men, too, don't get enough speed on their ball. I mean the ball rolls so slowly down the alley, that it's got no stuff left when it hits the pins. Such a slow ball will not likely set up enough pin action — it'll usually deflect off after it strikes the first pin.

I recommend increasing the speed of such a ball naturally. Not forcing the arm or raising the backswing above the shoulder. One method is illustrated today—increasing the length of the push-away motion.

By pushing the ball straight out in front of you a little farther, you'll create a longer arc in your armswing. This longer arc will bring your backswing higher (but still not above shoulder height), and will allow you to get more speed on your ball as you release it.

This longer armswing arc will take a bit more time, so be sure to adjust your footwork. Either slow down your steps or increase the size of them, to keep your armswing and footwork coordinated.

Japanese Stars Swamp Cardinals

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—The Japan All-Stars, with Pacific League slugger Futoshi Nakanishi driving in six runs, battered Bob Blaylock and Jim Brosnan for nine hits Tuesday and a 9-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the All-Stars' second victory in eight games against the big leaguers. Eight games remain in the Japan tour.

Wings' Hendrickson Returns to Minors

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings have sent defenseman Jack Hendrickson back to the minor leagues.

After a three-game trial, the Red Wings yesterday assigned the 21-year-old defenseman to the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League on 23-hour recall.

$700,000 in PGA Tour

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — The Professional Golfers' Assn. announced Monday a 1959 spring and summer tour with prizes totaling more than $700,000.

★ ★ ★

Golfers will hit the spring-summer circuit at the Greater Greensboro Open Invitational at Greensboro, N. C., April 9-12, and close with the Kansas City Open, Sept. 4-7. In all there will be 18 PGA co-sponsored tournaments and 10 other events. The PGA earlier announced a 1959 winter tour. The fall tour has not been completed.

★ ★ ★

One new PGA co-sponsored tournament next spring is the $25,000 Oklahoma City Open May 7-10. The PGA championship is set for July 29-Aug. 2 in Minneapolis. The USGA National Open championship will be June 11 - 13 at Mamaroneck, N. Y.

★ ★ ★

During two weeks of the spring-summer tour, PGA co-sponsored and PGA approved events will run concurrently. The Lafayette, La., Open Invitational and the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions are scheduled for April 23-26. The Arlington Hotel Open at Hot Springs, Ark., and the Sam Snead Festival at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., are to be played May 14-17.

Other cities on the tour are New Haven and Wethersfield, Conn.; Chicago and LeMont, Ill.; Houston and Fort Worth, Tex.; Montreal and Toronto, Canada; Grand Blanc and Northville, Mich.; Cleveland and Akron, Ohio; New York City; Memphis; Louisville; Baltimore; Milwaukee; Camden, S. C.; and Pittsburgh.

She 'Wiggles' Too Much

Purdue's 'Golden Girl' Won't Visit Columbus

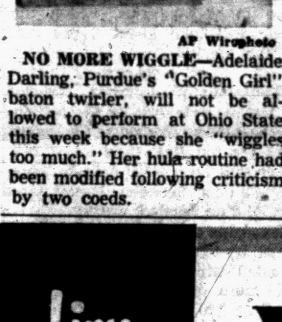

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue University's much-publicized "Golden Girl" won't make the trip Saturday to Columbus, Ohio, for the Ohio State football game, the school announced Monday.

But Band Director Al Wright denied that Adelaide Darling was being left home because she wiggles too much in doing her Hawaiian war dance specialty number.

Arrangements were made a year ago to take only a 41-piece pep band to the OSU game instead of the full 275-member outfit, Wright said. He added that no coeds will make the trip with the band.

Two Purdue coeds in a letter to the campus newspaper accused the Golden Girl of excessive "wiggling" at halftime of the Purdue-Notre Dame game.

Although her performance last Saturday at the Purdue - Illinois game was toned down somewhat the blonde Miss Darling still attracted so many photographers that officials asked her to move away from the Boilermaker bench so they could procede with the game.

NO MORE WIGGLE—Adelaide Darling, Purdue's "Golden Girl" baton twirler, will not be allowed to perform at Ohio State this week because she "wiggles too much." Her hula routine had been modified following criticism by two coeds.

Coach Suggests Demonstrators Join Grid Squad

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings suggested Monday that students who hanged him in effigy Saturday night report for football and play out the season with the Cornhuskers.

He said he could assure the demonstrators they'll see action against Kansas, Pittsburgh and Oklahoma, the remaining opponents.

"We are lucky to have 35 healthy players right now," he noted. "We could use some more.

"How many male students are there? Five thousand? You would think we could find more players."

No Coasting for Ferrer With Work on 2 Coasts

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

Busy man, Mel Ferrer. After a hard day's work directing "Green Mansions" on a Friday, he hopped a plane for New York and spent the weekend acting in retakes of "The World, the Flesh and the Devil." Then he hopped plane, returned here to resume directing "Green Mansions" Monday.

★ ★ ★

Ferrer filmed a fight with Harry Belafonte in a deserted New York for "The World etc." It was originally made on the MGM back lot, but the studio decided it looked too phony.

That's the picture that concerns three survivors of an atomic holocaust. Wonder how that will affect Stanley Kramer's big-budget "On the Beach," which concerns the same theme. . . .

★ ★ ★

There will be a small-scale Hollywood invasion of Australia with "On the Beach" and "Summer of the 17th Doll" shooting there soon and the Deborah Kerr-Gary Cooper film "The Sundowners" slated for next summer. . . .

Audrey Hepburn is finishing up "Green Mansions" and hopes to rest until next summer. After this one and "A Nun's Story," she's got it coming. Her next film will be another with Billy Wilder, and she hasn't even seen the script. "I trust him," she says. . . .

★ ★ ★

Milton Berle says he has been making almost 10 trips a day between Good Samaritan Hospital in Hollywood and his TV studio in Burbank. Reason: His wife Ruth is recovering from major surgery.

Hollywood gave an affectionate welcome to Red Skelton in his concert show, "The Clown and the Baton," costarring Dave Rose and his slick music. Red works hard, and the result is an hour of steady laughter. His Japanese routine adds new lustre to an already accomplished artist. If he ever wanted to give up TV, he could doubtless tour the world for years with this show. . . .

Right-to-Work Spurs Ohio Vote

Union Shop Ban Uproar Sets Stage for Record Off-Year Turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio voting headed today for a new off-year election high under the spur of a right-to-work issue.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said seething sentiment over the proposed union shop ban might pop the lid on his earlier forecast of 3½ million votes.

★ ★ ★

Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill, rematched for a second term against Democrat Michael V. DiSalle, former President Truman's price controller, embraced the work issue late in a slow-moving campaign.

O'Neill's all-out drive for the state constitutional amendment proposal brought confusion to political veterans who earlier professed to see a Democratic trend in nominally Republican Ohio.

Until advent of that overriding issue, Democrats appeared confident of loosening the 17-6 Republican advantage in Ohio's 23-member congressional delegation and the GOP stranglehold on elective statehouse offices.

The state Democratic platform opposed the work issue. The GOP state platform was neutral.

Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker, running strong for a third six-year term, said he would vote for right-to-work legislation but devoted his campaign mainly to a review of his record in Washington.

★ ★ ★

His Democratic opponent, former Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, attacked that record as reactionary and criticized Bricker for his work stand.

Democratic U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's only five-term governor, said he would vote for right-to-work legislation but he campaigned for election of DiSalle. Lausche's Senate seat is not at stake in this election.

★ ★ ★

Carry Pranks Too Far

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — County Judge Bill Ward issued breach of peace warrants for some Halloween pranksters he said carried things too far. Ward said several youths, none younger than 18, set up roadblocks, then tossed rocks and cans at the stopped vehicles, breaking out about six windshields and sending one man to a hospital.

Americans Drinking Less

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — America's changing drinking habits are giving the distillers some concern today.

For one thing, the total consumption is running behind last year's, which in turn was off from 1956, and well below the peak year of 1946.

For another, a smaller percentage of adult Americans touch the stuff today (55 per cent) than at the end of World War II (67 per cent). Temperance groups may be pleased that the biggest drop has been in the younger age groups.

Those who do imbibe have changed too. Before the war 70 per cent of sales was to bars and restaurants. Now 70 per cent is to package stores, presumably for home consumption.

The industry is hoping for a pickup in sales during the approaching holiday season, the period when the greatest volume is traditionally sold. It will lure customers again with an array of gift decanters and fancy packaging. And this year it will have some advertising outlets open to it for the first time. It also counts on the business recovery putting consumers in a festive mood.

The big switch in tastes during the 1950s has been toward straight and bonded whisky at the expense of blends, and the rapid rise in vodka sales, which this year will take about 8 per cent of the market.

Benjamin W. Corrado, director of market research for the National Distillers Products Co., says that for the first time since 1943 there will be a 50-50 split in whisky sales between blends and straight or bonded whisky.

Straights are 80 to 110 proof and must be aged at least two years. Bonded whisky must be aged a minimum of four years and bottled at 100 proof. Blends are a mixture of whisky and distilled spirits. During the war no whisky was produced and stocks on hand were pieced out by blending with distiller spirits.

★ ★ ★

Lewis S. Rosenstiel, head of Schenley Industries, predicts that bourbon should capture half this year's sales and is launching a drive to increase its sale abroad. He points out that while America imported 148 million dollars of distilled beverages last year, it exported only four million dollars worth.

Seagrams officials predict a 15 per cent rise in sales in the final months of this year. Hiram Walker believes that sales in December will reach 550 million dollars, compared with 546 million last year.

Corrado says that in 1940 domestic whisky took 77 per cent of the U.S. market, gin 10 per cent, scotch less than 7 per cent, with brandy, cordial and rum taking the rest.

Now a larger population is drinking almost twice as much Canadian and scotch as in 1940, twice as much brandy, almost twice as much cordials, one third more gin, and 15 per cent more rum.

Prewar consumption totaled 150 million gallons; in 1946 it was 238 million and now about 195 million. Despite the drop, Americans drink about 80 per cent of the world's whisky production.

★ ★ ★

The distribution now is domestic whisky 63 per cent, gin 11 per cent, vodka 8 per cent, scotch 7 per cent, Canadian 5 per cent, brandy and cordials 5 per cent, and rum 1 per cent.

Another consumer habit is changing. Distillers are selling more of their expensive brands, presumably because of the increase in customers' disposable incomes.

Invention of gloves was probably first reported in Homer's Odyssey where he describes peasant clothes as having "long sleeves over his hands by reason of the brambles."

Sea Germ Is Deadly

LONDON (UPI) — British scientists have discovered a deadly sea microbe in Plymouth Sound that could turn the sea blood-red, kill every living thing in it, and render sea-spray dangerous to humans.

★ ★ ★

The microbe, a dinoflagellate, is believed responsible for the incident recorded in the Old Testament Book of Exodus:

"And all the waters that were in the river were turned to blood, and the fish that were in the river died."

Mrs. Biddy Happer, a botany lecturer at Bangor University in Wales, said the microbe was dangerous only if it "bloomed." Specimens culled so far from British waters are in a bud state.

Said Mrs. Happer: "Nobody has yet found out the exact conditions which cause the organism to bloom, but the situation is being carefully watched."

★ ★ ★

Another of the scientists working on the threat, Dr. Mary Parke of the Plymouth Marine Laboratory, recalled that the microbe bloomed in large quantities along the Florida coast during the 40s.

At that time dead fish piled up in heaps along the Florida shore. Sea spray was so dangerous to human life that hotels and schools along the coast closed.

GOP 'Underdog' in Pennsylvania

Dems Shooting for 3 Top Offices in State After Narrowing Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Democratic party shoots today for power and prestige it has never had before in Pennsylvania.

For the first time since the 1860s the Republicans entered a state election in the unaccustomed role of underdog. Their voter registration lead has been narrowed to 217,606. It was nearly a million four years ago.

Democrats, in control of the statehouse for the past four years, never in history have been able to win the governorship two terms in a row. But never before have they had a better chance than today.

Observers have forecast a Democratic victory, particularly in the contests for the five statewide offices. If the prediction comes true — and the Republicans hope it won't — it will be the first time since the Civil War that the Democrats will hold Pennsylvania's three top offices. Democrat Joseph S. Clark won the other U.S. Senate seat two years ago.

Contending for the governorship were Democrat David L. Lawrence, now serving his fourth term as mayor of Pittsburgh, and Reading pretzel manufacturer Arthur T. McGonigle, the Republican. It was an old pro, 55 years in politics, against a political novice who never held public office. Lawrence is 69, McGonigle 52.

In the race for the Senate seat being vacated by retiring Republican Edward Martin were Democratic Gov. George M. Leader, a York County chicken farmer, and veteran Philadelphia Congressman Hugh Scott, a lawyer who has served 16 years in the U.S. House.

Leader, at 40, four years ago was the youngest man ever elected governor and only the second Democrat. Scott, 57, was the first Republican to win a congressional seat in Philadelphia since 1950.

Voting also chose today a lieutenant governor, a secretary of internal affairs, a State Supreme Court justice, 30 congressmen, 210 members of the State House of Representatives and 26 of 50 state senators.

Republicans now control the congressional delegation, holding a 17-13 edge, but from 2 to 6 GOP seats might be lost.

Paper Withdraws Harriman Support

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Post, only major New York City newspaper to endorse editorially the re-election of Gov. Averell Harriman, has withdrawn its support of the Democratic-Liberal party candidate.

Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, publisher, wrote a front-page message "to Post readers" Monday urging them not to vote for Harriman.

★ ★ ★

In the message, which appeared only in the paper's final edition, she attacked the governor for what she called his "recent snide insinuation that Nelson Rockefeller is pro-Arab and anti-Israel." She added that it "should not be condoned by any fair-minded person."

Mrs. Schiff did not endorse Rockefeller, the Republican candidate for governor, nor any other candidate, in the article.

★ ★ ★

Harriman immediately denied he had ever accused Rockefeller, a former White House adviser under President Eisenhower, of being pro-Arab or anti-Israel. Harriman added, however, in his statement of denial that "I do charge him with his share of responsibility for the Dulles-Eisenhower policies" in the Middle East "which have had a serious adverse effect on the interests of our country."

Accident Figures in Traffic Exceed Those Published

NEW YORK (UPI)—An insurance association official maintains that "the accident toll on our streets and highways is shockingly higher than the figures that are published."

★ ★ ★

Thomas N. Boate, manager of the Accident Prevention Department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, said statistics being released by several national groups are completely inaccurate.

He pointed out that traffic accident injury estimates range from 1,400,000 by the National Safety Council to 4,500,000 by the U.S. Public Health Service.

"There is no way of telling how inaccurate these estimates are," Boate said, "because records kept by states and cities throughout the country are known to be grossly incomplete.

"Until accurate state and local records are kept and tabulated, nobody can do more than guess at the total number of traffic accidents, and these guesses invariably are on the very conservative side."

Actress Gets Annulment

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Weeping, actress Barbara Lang won an annulment of her two-year marriage to actor Alan Wells. Miss Lang, 26, obtained the decree on grounds that Wells, 32, married her in Ensenada, Mexico, 10 months before his divorce from actress Claudia Barrett was final.

Who'll Run for President in 1960?

Voting Will Influence GOP Future

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever hopes three Republicans have for the presidency — or at least a crack at it — will be influenced by today's election results.

The same is true, perhaps to a lesser extent, for some Democratic hopefuls. But take the case of the Republicans — Vice President Nixon, Sen. Knowland of California and Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

So far in President Eisenhower's two terms Richard Nixon has looked like the fair-haired boy with the inside track for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. No other Republican in sight had such an edge.

And no Republican since Eisenhower's first election worked harder for the party and, of course, in the long run, for himself then Nixon. He had campaigned tirelessly. He had lined up the Republican pros on his side. Things looked good for him in 1960. Then seemingly out of nowhere came Nelson Rockefeller, Millionaire Republican, trying to take the New York governorship away from another millionaire, Democrat Averell Harriman.

And, as this day dawned, surveys suggested that Rockefeller, a 50-year old glamor boy and a newcomer to politics, had a good chance to beat Harriman.

If he does, this one victory will put him in a prime spot to challenge Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, particularly since he'll be top Republican in the state with the most votes, New York.

Going into the Republican convention two years from now — as head of the New York delegation —would give him a key place for bettering his own political ambitions.

And no matter how hard Nixon has worked for the party, if the delegates thought Rockefeller had a better chance to win the presidency than Nixon, they wouldn't waste much sentiment on Nixon. They want a winner.

Further: Nixon's home state of California is next to New York in political size and importance. And if it's lost to the Democrats this year, Nixon's hopes for sweeping it in 1960, if he get the nomination, would suffer.

The surveys heavily indicate a Democratic victory this year in California where a Republican defeat would spell the end of any presidential hopes held by Sen. Knowland, probably the end to his whole political career.

Knowland gave up his Senate seat to run for the governorship of California. If he won, he could head his state's Republican delegation to the party's 1960 convention and, if he chose, could work to push Nixon aside and get the presidential nomination for himself.

But in his driving ambition to be governor he has split the Republican party in California, jeopardizing both his own chances and those of his Republican runningmate, Gov. Goodwin Knight, who's trying for the Senate.

Knowland's Republican allies muscled aside Knight—who wanted to run for another term as governor — and left him only the choice of running for the Senate.

Knight won't forgive Knowland for this. And the two men are split on California's proposed right-to-work law which would ban the union shop, with Knight against it and Knowland for it.

The surveys don't hold out bright hopes for a Knowland victory, and not much for Knight either. If Knowland loses, he's dead as a presidential prospect in 1960.

Russia Gets Her Way

U. N. Disarmament Unit to Include All Members

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union's return to the U.N. Disarmament Commission was assured today after approval of a compromise enlarging the group to include all 81 U.N. members for the next year.

★ ★ ★

After U.S. and Soviet agreement on the compromise, the U.N. Political Committee voted 78-0 Monday night to approve the omnibus commission. France and Cuba abstained, and Jordan was absent.

A plenary meeting of the Assembly was called for this afternoon to give final approval.

★ ★ ★

The outcome of the long dispute was a reverse for the West and a feather in the Soviet cap. It remained to be seen whether it would bring disarmament any closer.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets for the past year had boycotted the commission, which the last Assembly expanded from 12 to 25 members. The Soviets contended the commission makeup was weighted against them.

★ ★ ★

The United States and Britain had maintained that an 81-member commission would be too unwieldy for useful negotiations. They said it would become another propaganda forum.

★ ★ ★

With the Soviet Union adamantly holding out and smaller nations anxious for some break in the deadlock, the Western Allies finally agreed to try the enlargement for a year.

Kierdorf Given Sentence Delay

Judge Adams Grants 1-Week Postponement for Lawyer's Return

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams yesterday granted a one-week delay in the sentencing of Herman Kierdorf, former aide to Teamsters' boss James R. Hoffa.

Kierdorf, uncle of human torch victim Frank Kierdorf, was convicted by a jury Oct. 22 of possessing a pistol silencer.

The sentencing postponement came after it was announced that Kierdorf's Detroit attorney, Eric E. Zisman, was out of town. Zisman's co-counsel William F. Dohany of Pontiac, then suggested sentencing be advanced a week so both he and Zisman could be present.

★ ★ ★

Judge Adams agreed to pass sentence on the 68-year-old Madison Heights man at 1:30 Nov. 10. He allowed a posted $15,000 bond to continue until then.

Maximum sentence for owning a pistol silencer is five years in prison and a $2,500 fine.

Children Must Learn to Overcome Failure

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Classroom failures "should be accepted as part of growing up," says University of Michigan professor of education Stanley E. Diamond.

"All children fail at times," he reminded parents. "They lose at games; they do not do arithmetic problems correctly; another child reads better, jumps better, wears better clothes.

"It is probably impossible to mature in our society without experiencing failure. The good is not in the failure but in the overcoming of failure. . ."

$14,000 A YEAR ...NOW I AM REALLY LIVING!

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

A few years ago I was going broke on $9,000 a year. High prices and taxes were getting me down. I had to have more money or reduce my standard of living.

So I sent for a Trial Subscription to The Wall Street Journal. I heeded its warnings. I cashed in on the ideas it gave me for increasing my income and cutting expenses. I got the money I needed. And then I began to forge ahead. Last year my income was up to $14,000. Believe me, reading The Journal every day is a wonderful get-ahead plan. Now I am really living!

This experience is typical. The Journal is a wonderful aid to salaried men making $7,500 to $25,000. It is valuable to the owner of a small business. It can be of priceless benefit to young men who want to win advancement.

The Wall Street Journal is the complete business DAILY. Has largest staff of writers on business and finance. The only business paper served by all three big press associations. It costs $24 a year, but you can get a Trial Subscription for three months for $7. Just tear out this ad and attach check for $7 and mail. Or tell us to bill you.

Published daily right in the Midwest to bring you vital business and Washington news immediately. Address: The Wall Street Journal, 711 W. Monroe St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Singer's Wife Critically Ill After Pills, Fall

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An overdose of sleeping pills followed by a fall from a stretcher has left singer Allan Jones' heiress wife in critical condition.

Police said Mary Florsheim Picking Jones, 38, apparently attempted suicide after an argument with her husband. But Jones denied it.

"There was no suicide intent. It was just an unconscious accident," he said.

Mrs. Jones is heiress to the Florsheim shoe fortune. She and the singer were married last December—the day he divorced actress Irene Harvey, his wife of more than 20 years.

A daughter by a previous marriage, Ellen Picking, 17, told police she believed her mother had taken 12 sleeping pills.

Jones said attendants carrying his wife out of their Westwood home Sunday "dropped her on her head on the sidewalk from a height of four or five feet. Her head split open and there was blood all over everything."

A spokesman for Miller's ambulance service, which transported Mrs. Jones to the UCLA medical center, said she fell only six inches.

Overtime at Fisher Body

LANSING (UPI)—A big backlog of orders has pushed the Fisher Body Plant of General Motors here into an overtime production schedule. The backlogs were in the GM Chevrolet, Pontiac and Oldsmobile divisions but it wasn't known how long the overtime schedule would last.

Buick Adding Shift Beginning Nov. 17

FLINT (AP)—Buick motor division today announced it will add a second shift to its assembly plant operations Nov. 17, recalling an additional 600 workers.

Buick previously announced the recall of 3,300 workers for a second shift in all productive plants except final assembly.

Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager, said dealer orders were running about three times what they were a year ago. He said that until the second shift operations start the assembly plant will operate on a six-day week.

Buick operations were hampered severely during October by strikes. It built only 13,379 cars compared with 24,365 in the same month last year.

STUDEBAKER LARK — Here is a hardtop model of the Studebaker 1959 Lark series. The hardtop comes in the Regal trim version with a six or V-8 engine. The new Larks will be on display here at Mazurek Motor Sales, 245 East South Blvd.

GM '58 Output Drops Sharply

October, Year Reports Show Decrease in All Six Divisions

General Motors produced 77,964 passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada during October, a GM production report revealed today.

During the same period of 1957, 172,125 units were produced. Through the first 10 months of the year, GM made 1,981,551 units, compared to 2,724,234 during the same months of 1957.

All divisions showed less production in October than they did last year in the same month. Pontiac reported 6,572 for the past month, and 10,732 for October of 1957. Truck & Coach rolled out 3,313 in October, and 6,391 for October 1957.

GM division and their October and 10-month totals for 1958 and 1957 are shown below:

	Oct. 1958	Oct. 1957	10 mos. 1958	10 Mos. 1957
Chevy	24,979	69,861	931,394	1,194,378

New Move Denied in Du Pont Case

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal judge has turned down a government request for a temporary restraining order to prevent E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. from voting its stock in General Motors Corp.

★ ★ ★

Judge Walter J. La Buy in federal district court yesterday denied the petition on grounds that "the end of this protracted litigation is in sight" and it would be a mistake to determine the issues on a "piecemeal" basis.

The government request also would have prevented Du Pont from acquiring more General Motors stock and from having interlocking officers and directors with GM.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court has ruled that Du Pont's 23 per cent interest in GM tends to violate anti-trust laws. La Buy is scheduled to open a hearing on Jan. 26 on disposition of Du Pont's interest in General Motors.

Compared With Last Year

Near 2 Million Less Cars Made in Past 10 Months

DETROIT (AP) — Car production the first 10 months of 1958 totaled 3,137,099, compared with 5,002,147 in the corresponding period last year.

Strikes in General Motors and Chrysler plants and industrywide production cutbacks designed to reduce inventories were the causes of the reduction.

★ ★ ★

Passenger car production in October totaled 361,696 units compared with 327,363 in October 1957.

General Motors, troubled by work stoppages, built only 56,768 cars and 13,350 trucks in its U.S. factories last month. The figures compare with 124,648 and 38,613 truck assemblies in like 1957.

The October volume brought GM's assemblies for the first 10 months of 1958 to 1,579,701 cars and 256,312 trucks. In a similar 1957 period, GM's U. S. factories produced 2,228,115 cars and 348,401 trucks.

Chevrolet, GM's biggest division, built 24,979 cars and 10,037 trucks in October, compared to 69,861 cars and 32,222 trucks in the corresponding 1957 month. Chevrolet's total for January-October this year was 931,394 cars and 206,834 trucks. In like 1957 it produced 1,194,378 cars and 289,038 trucks.

Ford Motor Co. reported its October output was 112,962 cars and 29,649 trucks, compared with 85,542 cars and 24,748 trucks in the same month a year ago. Its 10-month total this year was 886,959 cars and 185,400 trucks. In the first 10 months of 1957, it built 1,568,576 cars and 287,771 trucks.

Ford Division accounted for 764,851 car assemblies against 1,250,596 in January-October last year.

Chrysler Corp. built 57,144 cars last month against 92,380 in October last year. Its truck output last month was 4,818 units compared with 6,206 a year ago. For the January-October period Chrysler output was 478,908 cars and 45,695 trucks against 1,056,442 cars and 65,172 trucks in the like 1957 period.

★ ★ ★

American Motors, only auto maker to build and sell more cars this year than in like 1957, reported it produced 159,177 cars in this year's January-October period against 87,121 in 1957. Its October volume totaled 26,124 Ramblers compared with 14,529 units, including some Nash and Hudson models, in the same month last year.

Studebaker-Packard built 8,689 cars and 983 trucks in October, compared with 10,264 cars and 821 trucks in the like 1957 month. For January-October this year it assembled 32,354 cars and 7,763 trucks. This compared with 61,893 cars and 8,194 trucks in similar 1957.

Popularity Issue in Connecticut

Backing for Other Dems Hinges on Standing of Gov. Ribicoff

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Connecticut voters today answer a big political question: How popular is Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, Connecticut's lone Democrat in high state office?

The answer is expected to have big effect on the fortunes of the other members of the state Democratic ticket.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff is widely favored over Republican Fred R. Zeller, 59, the state comptroller, and his fellow Democrats hope he will get a big enough plurality to give them a healthy assist.

At stake are a Senate seat, six congressional seats and five other state offices. Republicans hold them all and hope to retain them —in addition to grabbing the governorship.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff, 48, is bidding for a second four-year term. Observers generally agree that a landslide Ribicoff victory could give the Democrats five of the six congressional posts and control of at least the State Senate, now heavily Republican.

The size of Ribicoff's plurality could also affect the Senate race. Thomas J. Dodd, former two-term Democratic congressman, is favored over Sen. William A. Purtell, the Republican incumbent.

Lower Food Prices, Higher Profits Seen

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Higher corporation profits and lower food prices were the optimistic forecasts of a pair of economists at the conference on the economy outlook at the University of Michigan yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Edmund A. Mennis, research director of Wellington Co. of Philadelphia, predicted a profit gain of 25 per cent next year if the automobile industry comes through with an upswing.

But, even without counting the automobile industry, Mennis said he expected a gain of 18 per cent in corporation profits next year.

Mennis drew his figures from a survey of profit prospects for 110 large firms.

★ ★ ★

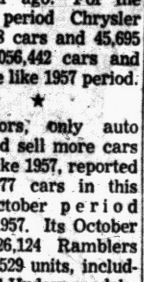

At the grocery counter, prices are going down because the 1959 agricultural outlook is one of abundance, said Willard D. Arant, economist for Swift & Co. of Chicago.

Arant coutioned against expecting a sharp decline, however, because of a rise in the costs of food processing and distribution.

He said hog and pork prices will be appreciably lower next year but cattle and sheep will remain about the same.

Ford Plant Advances Birmingham Man

Appointment of F. A. Wagoner, of 1911 Saxon Dr., Birmingham, as manager, Plant Engineering Department, Ford Motor Company Tractor Plant, Highland Park, was announced today by plant manager C. M. Rhoten.

WAGONER

Wagoner first became associated with Ford in 1928 at the Rouge Plant. He joined the Highland Park plant in 1945 and has remained there except for a year as production manager of the Rochester Gear Co., in Goodison.

He became general superintendent of the plant in 1953 and has been production manager since January of this year. Wagoner is married and has one daughter.

Contract Given to Detroit Bank

Able to Finance Pipeline in Waterford at Rates of 4½, 4¾ Per Cent

Two sealed bids for a $35,000 bond issue for extension of a water supply line in Waterford Township were submitted at last night's regular board meeting.

Low bidder, the National Bank of Detroit, was awarded the contract for the bonds at 4½ per cent on $20,000 and 4¾ per cent on $15,000. The other bid was submitted by the Judson Bradway Realty Co. of Pontiac with a straight bid of five per cent interest.

The bonds will cover cost of installation, of a one mile long pipeline south on Cass Lake road from Lincolnshire avenue to the Venice-of-the-Lakes subdivision.

Contracts totaling approximately $29,000 for the extension work have been awarded to low bidder, the Utilities Construction Co. of Clawson and work will begin in the very near future, according to Clerk James Steetrlin.

Township board members approved $120 from the general fund for printing of the water supply bonds by the Northern Bank Note Co. of Chicago.

In other business, two representatives of the Drayton Plains merchants were at the meeting to discuss parking lot blacktopping work. Supervisor Elmer Johnson was authorized to get construction drawings for blacktopping the entire area as well as drawings for a portion of the one acre site in back of stores on Dixie Highway.

A hearing date regarding sidewalks along Maceday drive has been set for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 17. The meeting has been called to allow the supervisor to proceed with plans to establish a special assessment district for the walks.

The board approved $3,000 for the recreation department and also decided to close the township hall's offices Veteran's Day, Nov. 11.

Business Notes

A former Pontiac resident, James P. Cuthbertson, Chartered Life Underwriter and agent for the College Life Insurance Co., has been named his firm's most valuable agent for the second consecutive year, it was announced today.

Cuthbertson, who now lives in Okemos, Mich., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cuthbertson, of 529 Whittemore St. He also achieved the distinction of being the company's sales leader for the third consecutive year.

F. J. Stacy, Pontiac representative of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. and member of the Frank Antrobus Agency, has won membership in the company's top honorary sales organization, the Minute-Men Club.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORIES OF Mother and Grandmother, Bertha M. Evans who passed away November 4, 1957.
We cannot think of her as dead,
Who walks with us no more;
Along the path of life we tread,
She has but gone before.
Sadly missed by Kenneth and Arlene Evans; grandchildren, Greg, Kyle and Gayle.

HERE'S HOW T.A.S. CAN SAVE TIME AND MONEY FOR YOU

1 Someone calls your number—it may be important!
2 The call goes through The Telephone Exchange to your Phone.
3 Your Phone rings in vain when you are away from it—you may lose a vital call!

But...

4 As a subscriber to T.A.S. the call automatically rings in our office AT THE SAME TIME YOUR PHONE IS RINGING . . . When you are out the call is answered in your own name and is taken care of in exactly the same manner as your own private secretary would.

OWNER MOVING to California. Will sell his beautiful 3 bedroom, 1½ bath home at only $2,000 down. 2½-car garage. Beautifully landscaped lot too. Expensive carpeting and drapery will stay. May be seen anytime. Call now before it's too late.

NORTH END — $300 Down will move you into this cute and cozy 2 bedroom home. The lovely landscaped yard has plenty of flowers and shrubs and is completely fenced. There is a paved drive with a practically new 1½ car garage. Very easy monthly payments.

3 BEDROOM all brick 1 story and just $12,600. Basement has good recreation possibilities. Excellent location near good beach with lake privileges. Takes about $2,400 down. One of the better buys for the money.

BRICK & Kentucky Stone combined to make a home of unusual exterior beauty. The 22 ft. living room with its stone fireplace and gold carpeting complete a pretty picture. There's a 13.3x13.5 master bedroom with wardrobe closets. The ¾ acre is completely fenced and particularly well landscaped. Why don't we look? You'll love it!

IF YOU'VE BEEN searching for a lifetime, aluminum sided, extra large 2 bedroom bungalow with a dining room this may fill the bill. Rich tweed carpeting covers the 22 ft living rm. wall to wall. Colored fixtures, tile and a double medicine chest in the bath. Bedrooms are each more than 12x13! Lake privileges on a good beach. $2,500 down and $75 per month. It's vacant; let's look.

It's Impossible to Name Star

When Last Seen He Stood 6'3", Brown Hair and Weighed 224 Lbs.

NEW YORK — Recently, in London's busiest section, staid Britishers were treated to the spectacle of a motorcycle careening down a street, riderless, but apparently well-guided.

While some Londoners gaped, and others yelled or tried to head off the seemingly run-away machine, the cycle raced for several blocks, slowed, turned itself around, and then calmly roared back.

It was not the Armageddon of machine against man, the work of secret government experimenters or inventors, but merely a motorcycle driven by television's newest star — "The Invisible Man."

He is the subject of a new, unique series produced in England by Official Films in association with the CBS television network. The program premieres this evening, 8 to 8:30.

★ ★ ★

How the motorcycle was guided, as well as the numerous other cars and bicycles which have haunted the city's streets since the series was begun, is known only to its production crew.

As for the star himself, the most viewers will see of the series' hero will be a suit of clothes and a bandaged head, and then only rarely. For the most part, the leading man will not be there. He will be "invisible."

His movements can be followed as doors open, a cigarette is puffed, and a glass of wine is sipped into thin air.

"To name the star is an impossibility," explains Ralph Smart, who is producing the television series.

"There are so many who could receive the credit — the man whose voice is heard, the man inside the clothes, the trick-work specialists, the cameramen, the property men who work so much of the magic. They all contribute to the one invisible star."

The unnamed star, however, does have a fictional identity. He is Dr. Peter Brady, a young scientist rendered invisible during experimental work on light.

He was born June 15, 1958, in Sussex, England, the son of an English medical practitioner and an American mother. When last in sight, he was 6-feet, 3-inches tall, weighed 224 pounds and had brown hair.

★ ★ ★

H. G. Wells wrote the original "Invisible Man" novel, which became a highly successful Hollywood film. The new television production is based on Wells' fanciful creation, but brought up to date with modern scientific aspects that Wells never dreamed of.

As a result, strange things are happening at the National Studios, Elstree, England, and on location in London's streets.

But the star of the series will hand out no autographs, and there will be no fan pictures mailed out. For the leading man of "The Invisible Man" is simply the man who isn't there.

2 Fliers Still Aloft in Try for Record

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Two fliers completed a week in the air Monday in their attempt to break the 50-day endurance record.

Hoping to extend their flight pattern to California cities and possibly Yuma, Ariz., Robert Timm and Chuck Kaskella summoned a California crop-duster to try air-to-air refueling of their light plane.

So far they've refueled by hoisting a hose on a hook from a truck speeding along a dry lake bed.

4,000 Lansing Women Aid Centennial Drive

LANSING (AP)—Promoters of the Lansing centennial celebration next year have enlisted 4,000 women in an unusual drive for funds to finance the event.

On Thursday, the women will canvashteir neighborhoods to sell centennial stamps at $1 a sheet of 100. Besides raising money, the stamps are intended to publicize the celebration, Feb. 15 to June 30.

A goal of $30,000 has been set for the stamp sale. An overall budget of $755,000 has been drawn up for the centennial observance, which will feature a giant history of transportation parade May 23.

Eartha on Stage, Queen Demands Turn Off Heat

LONDON (AP)—Dusky Eartha Kitt slunk sexily onto a London stage Monday night and Britain's Queen Elizabeth II sent out an SOS to turn off the heat.

But the plea went to the boiler room of London's vast Coliseum Theater—not to Eartha. Her appearance at the time apparently was purely coincidental.

In an eye-popping, skin-tight dress of flame-colored chiffon, the American girl was one of 500 entertainers taking part in this year's biggest-ever royal command performance. Singer Pat Boone was another.

★ ★ ★

As Eartha purred out her throaty "I Wanna Be Evil," Prince Philip, the Queen's husband, leaned attentively over the red plush edge of the royal box.

After the show, the top date in Britain's show business calendar, the Queen and Philip congratulated Eartha on the performance.

"He's all man," said the American star of Philip. "A very nice man. And witty, too."

"She spoke to me as if I were a person she had known for a long time," Eartha continued. "She is so warm and vibrant, so very much younger looking than I imagined. So simpatica."

The well-heeled audience paid up to $200 to see the charity show billed as mixing "grand old timers with brand new climbers." The oldest old timer was G. H. Elliott, a 75-year-old vaudeville veteran.

★ ★ ★

The show put the entire casts of three London musicals on the theater's revolving stage at one point. The curtain finally came down on "My Fair Lady" stars Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews leading the entire company in "I Could Have Danced all Night."

LOOK, MA, NO FACE! — Young actress Deborah Watling touches the face of her invisible uncle on the CBS-TV network's new show, "The Invisible Man," which premieres this evening, to appear regularly on Tuesdays. The series is adapted from the H. G. Wells novel of the same title.

You Get No Criticism From Don Ameche

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Don Ameche's such a gentleman that when I interviewed him, I attempted the impossible — to get him to knock somebody.

★ ★ ★

WILSON

And due to my cleverness, he did go to Knockville on somebody.

"What do you think of Barry Sullivan?" was the way I began.

Don suddenly replaced Barry in the Broadway show "Goldilocks" when it was trying out in Boston. Barry didn't think he was right for the part. "I never had the opportunity to meet Barry," beamed Don with a smile that lit up Dinty Moore's whole restaurant.

"Must be rough working with a drama critic as playwright and director," I said, referring to Walter Kerr. Probably never see him."

"Was in last night!" exclaimed Don. "He and Robert Whitehead are just plain high class people in my book."

★ ★ ★

I didn't despair yet. "Do you think Hollywood exposed you too much when you were making pictures?" I asked. (After all, everybody knocks Hollywood.)

"In order to make a star, the studio has to show the public what somebody looks like," Don answered. "There was a period when Alice Faye and Ty Power and I did ALL the pictures. I guess it was due to the fact that I made 'Bell' (Alexander Graham Bell) that my face is well known anywhere."

That was when Zanuck was running 20th," I said. "Real weirdo, wasn't he?"

"They can say what they want to about Zanuck, but he's one of the smartest showmen I ever knew!" Don said.

★ ★ ★

But when Don discussed his improvement as an actor—due to his three Broadway shows—he got the hammer out.

AMECHE

"When anybody shows up at our theater, they're going to get the best show I can do. That isn't always true in some shows," he said. "I've seen some Broadway hits where the actors were so lackadaisical they cheated the people."

"They laid down, huh?" I said.

"Yes, they just didn't care."

★ ★ ★

"Which shows are thoses?" I asked Don, pouncing on him hard.

"Oh, these weren't contemporary shows!" Don assured me. "This was years ago." And suspecting that I was going to ask him precisely when, he said, "years and years ago, before you were around!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Chiropodist's slogan: Hell hath no fury like a woman's corn." — Henna Arond Zacks.

Orion Man Sentenced for Violating Probation

A Lake Orion man, whose arrest by Pontiac police last month for allegedly being drunk and disorderly violated a Circuit Court probation term he was serving, yesterday was sentenced to 1½ to 5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for probation violation.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty handed down the sentence to William Engleman, 21, of 676 Lake Ave. The court placed Engleman on probation in July for larceny from a motor vehicle.

Allies Will Approach Russia

To Try for Inspection System

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Allies will ask the Soviet Union to join in developing a vast military inspection capable of blocking a surprise nuclear attack by any great power for perhaps 10 years.

Any system worked out now would have to be overhauled after a decade, it was explained, to take into account new weapons.

★ ★ ★

The proposed system would mean an end to much secrecy in the Soviet Union, and officials are not optimistic.

The first round of talks opening Monday in Geneva, Switzerland, is designed to be highly technical — to see whether Communists and Western experts can agree on the requirements of a workable inspection arrangement.

If the meeting makes progress, officials indicated, the United States is prepared to provide the Soviets with some now-secret information about radar and probably other devices which could be used in detecting military mobilization moves, missile and aircraft flights and the like.

The technical meeting may be followed—again depending on its success—by later political negotiations. The powers then would be confronted with specific questions of the local and area of inspection zones to begin putting the proposed system into operation.

The Soviets have said they intend to raise the question of zones at the conference beginning next week. American and Allied negotiators will not agree to deal with such matters at this time, informants here said. Hence the first round of talks at Geneva may be a wrangle over what should be talked about.

On Television Tonight:

Brain Machines Will Vie in Predicting Elections

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's major television networks will match electronic wits tonight in trying to pick election winners long before all the votes are counted.

★ ★ ★

Remington Rand's latest model of the electronic computer Univac for high speed computations of election data will be used. It would take 400 human clerks to perform the same task.

International Business Machine's newest data processor, Ramac, which prints 150 lines a minuate, has also been recruited. Its conclusions will be flashed on a new tote board, dubbed the "tote-vote" machine.

Oedipus, also known as the Underwood Election Data Processing System, can make 15 calculations faster than a mathematician can raise an eyebrow.

None of these machines has been billed as an election forecaster. They will merely make mathematical calculations and produce odds for the election of various candidates.

The Univac model being used this year is smarter than the ones used in past vote analyses. On election day in 1952, Univac quoted odds of 100-to-1 in favor of an Eisenhower victory—and was right. The machine also called the shots in the 1954 and 1956 elections. The new model is expected to be as successful and is geared to think things through faster than ever.

For the last several months, Univac has been devouring a daily ration of vote analyses for every county in every state all the way back to 1950.

Tuesday night's returns will be fed into Univac, which will then set to work digesting them along with election outcomes of the last 18 years. It then will come up with its highly educated guests on the odds on the big key races.

Ramac is crammed with statistics on every precinct in every state. As election returns pour into TV headquarters, workers will write all the information on IBM cards. The data then will be punched in code on other cards, which will be slipped to Ramac.

The machine then will do the necessary mathematics, discard outdated low figures and come up with the latest tabulations and odds. This information will be flashed on a tote board for the benefit of home audiences.

Political analyst Louis Bean has been giving the ABC machine, Uedps, (Oedipus) a selected diet of off-year election data, culled from voting over the last 30 years. The machine will use this mass of information to spot trends on election night.

★ ★ ★

Network spokesmen had one word of caution. They said that the electronic brains never make mistakes of their own. If the machines turn out to be wrong, officials said, it will be because their dieticians fed them the wrong food for electronic thought.

Pontiac Savings Branch Opens

Trap-Proof Vault Is Unique Feature at New Waterford Office

There is no chance for a Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn. employe to be trapped in the vault in their new Waterford Township branch office on Dixie Highway, which opened yesterday.

If the big steel door accidentally swings shut when an individual is inside, a special emergency device can be put into operation to disconnect the locks.

There are only three known vaults of this type in Michigan, according to executive vice president James Clarkson.

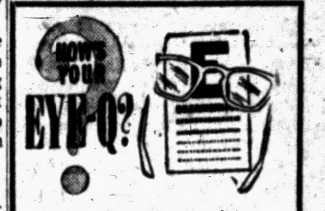

From the spacious spun-aluminum entranceway, through the bright yellow lobby with its light birch woodwork, right on down to the comfortable lounge in the basement, the new branch combines ultra-modern simplicity and cordiality.

Soft background music floats through the 120 by 70 foot building, and special bubble-domed lights from California gives the effect of sun shining from the ceiling.

With five tellers cages and one outside drive-in window, there will not be much waiting, according to new branch manager William Deike of 2971 Chrysler St., Waterford Township.

Although the new branch in the Drayton Plains area is open for business, there are several last-minute details to complete before the tentative grand opening date set for Nov. 17, Clarkson concluded.

Q. My husband and I bot' wear glasses. Are weak eye hereditary and will all of ou children have to wear glasses? S.J.K.

A. Heredity is not as important a factor in eyes as was once thought to be. However, to be on the safe side would pay to have your children's eyes examined periodically.

Q. Could there be any tie-i between poor teeth and wea eyes? My son's teeth were foun to be badly decayed at the sam time that he had to get glasses S.J.K.

A. It has been found that children who become progressively more nearsighted are very often in need of dental work. Periodic eye and dental check-ups for children will catch these conditions before they progress too far.

Q. My little boy narrowly missed getting a piece of broken glass in his eyes last week when a stone hit his lens. I've heard that there are glasses made that won't shatter. What are they called? B.T.W.

A. You are probably referring to safety glasses which many factories now insist that their workers wear while on the job. The only objection to safety glasses are their added thickness and weight. Modern, lightweight plastic lenses are being used more and more for children's protective eye wear. Contact lenses, which are the safest of all eye-wear, could also be considered.

Boost-or-Break Arrives for Two

Presidential Hopes of Knowland, Harriman Rest With Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any remaining White House ambitions of two of the nation's better known political figures reach the boost-or-break stage today as 32 states elect governors.

The two, Democrat Averell Harriman of New York and Republican William F. Knowland of California, have sought their parties' presidential nominations in past years. Both insist they are now seeking only to be governor.

★ ★ ★

In their current races, both are rated by pollsters and political observers as underdogs — Harriman considerably less so than Knowland.

In what has come to be dubbed the Battle of the Millionaires, Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller is rated a slight favorite to unseat Harriman.

In California, the Democrats say they are confident in their candidate, Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown.

On the other hand, a victory for either man automatically would rank him a potent prospect as a presidential candidate. That also would be true of their opponents if they win.

★ ★ ★

Although this is his first bid for elective office, Rockefeller already is regarded — if he wins today — as a possible contender with Vice President Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

Dearborn Man Gets Sentence in Prison

A sentence of 2½ to 15 years in prison was imposed yesterday upon Arthur R. Bouffard, Dearborn Township man who nearly killed his estranged wife and her friend whom he blamed for breaking up his marriage.

"But for the grace of God you didn't murder these two persons," said Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams in handing down the sentence.

A jury found Bouffard, 47, guilty of assault with intent to murder last month.

Wounded by Bouffard's .22 caliber rifle in May was Leonard Ederle, 69, of 1320 White Lake Rd., Highland Township. Narrowly escaping being shot when the rifle jammed was Bouffard's ex-wife, Margaret, 39, who had been maintaining Ederle's house trailer since he had a leg amputated a year ago.

Given Two Jail Terms for Drug Store Burglary

Two prison terms, which Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams recommended be served concurrently, were imposed upon Jack Swartzbaugh, 24, of 5240 Pine Knob Rd., Independence Township, for receiving stolen property and burglary.

Judge Adams yesterday passed out two 2½ to 5 years prison terms to Swartzbaugh, who was free on bond awaiting trial for taking four cases of whisky when, last month, he broke into a Waterford Township drug store and made off with a safe containing $1,100.

Union Recommends Rejection

Striking Mechanics Vote on Capital Airlines Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid union predictions of a unanimous rejection, striking mechanics begin voting today on a company offer aimed at settling a 19-day-old walkout against Capital Airlines.

The International Assn. of Machinists scheduled balloting on the Capital offer for today in Washington and Pittsburgh and tomorrow in Chicago and Detroit.

The union recommended rejection. Robert T. Quick, president of the Machinists' Capital District, said:

"It looks like we'll get a unanimous 'no' vote."

Capital, whose entire operations have been halted by the walkout, is offering a 30-cents-an-hour pay increase, plus fringe benefits and an additional 8 cents an hour next Oct. 1. Before the strike, Capital mechanics averaged $2.54 an hour.

Capital spokesmen said the offer matches one made a week ago by Northwest Airlines and exceeds an offer by Eastern and TWA.

Quick said balloting also is under way on the offers by Eastern, Northwest and TWA. After scheduling strikes against Eastern and TWA, the union postponed walkouts indefinitely.

Meanwhile, a union of flight engineers said it will ask the Civil Aeronautics Board to veto a mutual aid pact by six big airlines for sharing of strike losses.

George R. Petty Jr., president of the Flight Engineers International Assn., denounced the pact as a union busting plan. If it gets CAB approval, he said, airline unions also will have to pool resources during a strike.

The aid pact, announced Sunday, calls for the lines to turn back any net extra profits during a walkout to the airline that was struck. Signing the agreement were American, Eastern, Capital, TWA, United and Pan American.

"We will not stand by and see our unions and years of efforts submerged in an airline profit pool," Petty said. "If we are engaged in a strike with one airline and five others offer that airline economic aid to break our strike, then we have no other course but to strike the other five."

University TV Rule Due

JACKSON (AP) — A Jackson County circuit court judge says he will decide "as quickly as possible" whether Michigan State University has a right to operate a television station. The Jackson Broadcasting and Television Corp. has contended the university cannot legally spend public funds for a TV station without formal consent of the legislature.

1 Dies, 7 Hurt as Ship Hit by Heavy Seas

No details on the accident were available.

The World Glory, 700 miles northwest of Midway, gained Navy permission to enter Midway Harbor to obtain treatment for the injured.

Barbers Union Hearing Reset

Legal Tieups Prevent Airing in $150,000 Suit by Ex-Labor Leader

A new date has been set for the hearing of a $150,000 damage suit against the International Barbers Union by a former Pontiac labor leader, after legal entanglements prevented the case from being heard yesterday.

★ ★ ★

C. Richard Smith, assistant clerk for the Oakland County Circuit Court, said the new date will be Nov. 19 at 1:30.

Judge Frank L. Doty was scheduled to listen to arguments Monday in the often-postponed show cause hearing, but it was later discovered Judge Clark J. Adams had signed the show cause order.

Smith explained that the signer of the order usually heard the arguments. Judge Adams' docket was full for the day.

Robert P. Scott, 52, former Pontiac Teamsters 614 vice president and Michigan Federation of Labor official, filed the suit in August claiming the county local of the union and its officers wrongfully expelled him for what they termed "dual unionism."

Judges Adams and Doty will sit jointly on Nov. 19 for the hearing, a common court practice, Smith said, for cases relating to labor unions.

More than 70 per cent of all rum consumed in the U.S. comes from Puerto Rico.

Waterford Residents to Get Assessed Valuation Report

A report of Waterford Township property tax assessed valuation for the last four years will be sent to residents, along with their annual tax statement, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Also included will be an explanation of how the property owner's tax dollar is spread in order to help him understand the distribution procedure better, Johnson added.

The report applies to Waterford Township school district taxpayers, only.

According to figures set up by the Oakland County Equalization Board, property owners will pay a total of $71.72 per $1,000 assessed valuation in 1958 as compared to $69.50 for last year.

BUILDING TAKES BIG CHUNK

As in most every township, the school operating and building program consumes most of the property tax dollar, with $28.39 per $1,000 for school operation, and $26.57 per $1,000 for school building. County Special Education is $1.09 per $1,000.

Another bulletin regarding tax collection penalties will also be included with the annual tax statements ,Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson said.

Because of numerous complaints from various taxpayers in several townships, a study was made to clarify the adding of collection fees to unpaid taxes on Jan. 20.

In previous years, the 4 per cent penalty for taxes paid after Jan. 20 has been waived by the township board, and payment deadline was extended to Feb. 28—without penalty.

This year, due to interpretation of the Attorney General's opinion, the township must collect a penalty fee on and after Jan. 20.

It was pointed out that the township board does not have the authority to extend the time for tax payments, and no extension periods without penalty will be permitted.

Star Hates Women, Says Former Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden hates women, his former wife says.

Mrs. Betty Ann de Noon, 36, filed in Superior Court Monday an affidavit that says in part: "If he had devoted the attention to our lives that he did to hating his first wife (actress Madeleine Carroll) and his mother and women generally, maybe we could have had a successful marriage, . .

"I stood by him for many years while he unsuccessfully consulted analysts about his very serious sexual problem."

Hayden, 42, and his ex-wife are battling in court over custody of their four children. They were married in 1947 and divorced in 1955.
