In Viet Nam Struggle

Rusk Asks NATO Support

Troop Cuts in Europe May Result

PARIS (UPI) — The United States may be forced to pull some of its military forces out of Europe to meet the growing demands of the Viet Nam war, authoritative sources said today.

Officials said there are no plans at the moment to cut down the U.S. military commitment in Europe.

But they said the absence of western allied support for the Viet Nam war could force a change.

American officials have made it clear to their North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) allies that they expect the Western powers to pull their weight in Europe while the United States is shouldering the main burden in Southeast Asia.

They have said the United States will stand by its commitment for the continued defense of Europe and does not want to pull out.

GROWING IRRITATION
But there is growing irritation with what is considered "free dragging" by the European allies who have refused to carry what the U.S. considers a adequate proportion of the Western defense burden.

The Americans say this is happening while Europe's economic strength is greater than at any time since World War II.

But so far there has been little response to U.S. diplomatic prodding.

There is no possibility of European nations making troops available for Viet Nam, and the United States is not asking for them.

Husband and Wife Meet by Accident

A Commerce Township mother driving on a wet road yesterday afternoon slowed for a stoplight with one hand on the steering wheel and the other hand keeping her 2-year-old daughter safely in the front seat.

Mrs. Forest G. DePew, 22, of 4544 Arlis told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies she didn't see the car stopped in front of her. Mrs. DePew ran into the back end of the other car. It was being driven by her husband, Forest, 21.

No one was injured in the accident, which occurred about 3 p.m. at the intersection of Commerce and Union Lake roads.

Birch Society Said Object of GOP Rejection

Idaho's Gov. Smylie: No Names Mentioned but Target Apparent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie says Republican chieftains were talking about the John Birch Society when they rejected extremist organizations—but named no names.

Smylie spoke out after a Birch Society leader praised yesterday's resolution in which the Republican Coordinating Committee said party members should "reject membership in any radical or extremist organization."

In Lansing, Michigan Gov. George Romney backed Smylie's statement today and also saying that the Republican statement refers to the Birch Society.

Romney told a news conference that "as far as I am concerned, the resolution applied to the Birch Society and is much stronger than if we had specifically mentioned three or four groups."

The GOP policymaking council also urged President Johnson to set up around North Vietnam the kind of naval quarantine President John F. Kennedy once used against Cuba.

RECOMMENDATION
The committee recommended "maximum use of American conventional air and sea power against significant military targets" in the Communist north.

"Since it appears that the major portion of North Vietnamese military supplies arrive by sea," it added, "our first objective should be to impose a Kennedy-type quarantine on North Vietnam."

Republican resolutions on extremism and Viet Nam were unanimously adopted yesterday at a day-long committee session.

John Rousselet, the Birch Society public relations man, said the coordinating committee acted wisely in dealing with the question of extremism.

"We're pleased they have taken this stand," he said.

SENATE LEADER
"Who is Rousselet?" asked Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen.

"If John Rousselet endorsed this statement," House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford said, "I have brave doubts that he fully understood the importance of it."

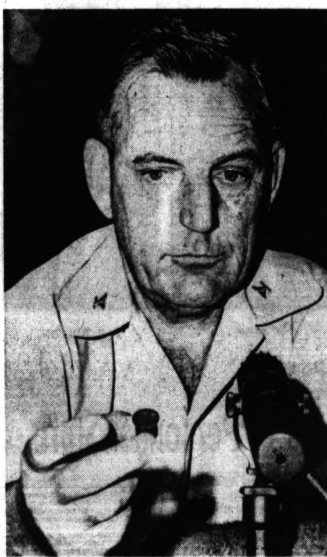

Smylie put it this way in an interview: "To us, the resolution that was adopted means the John Birch Society is an extreme and radical organization."

DUST COVER — Col. Richard C. Dineen displays a plastic dust cover similar to the one found on a line in a Gemini 6 engine after the malfunction Sunday on a launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla. The malfunction caused a cancellation of the launch try and postponed a space rendezvous try between Gemini 6 and Gemini 7 spacecraft until tomorrow.

Space Champs Set for Gemini 6 'Date'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Cosmic champions Frank Borman and James Lovell, padding their new time-in-space record, watched a fiery run by the world's most powerful sled today and sped on toward a planned "date in space" tomorrow with Gemini 6.

While ground crews at Cape Kennedy were receiving a tentative "go" from an Air Force safety board to launch Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford at 8:37 a.m. EST, the Gemini 7 pilots streaked toward their 11th day aloft — un-bathed and feeling "a little crummy," yet still alert.

Borman and Lovell, demonstrated they were still sharp when, nearing the end of their 148th trip around earth, they looked down and spotted a rocket sled with 100,000 pounds of thrust make a 35,000 foot dash across Holloman Air Force Base, N.M.

Gemini 7 began its 150th trip around the world at 1:18 p.m. At Houston, Space Agency officials reported that "everybody is happy with conditions" for the Gemini 7 mission.

"Roger, we have it," Lovell said. Borman added "We can't see much about the sled. We saw a beautiful view, though."

The rocket sled is used for testing machinery under stresses comparable to those of a blastoff into space.

Allies Urged to Send Doctors, Engineers as a Token Contribution

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called today for greater allied understanding and support of the American war effort in Viet Nam and warned that the fate of the North Atlantic alliance might be decided on the distant battlefields there.

Rusk told the annual meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's foreign, finance and defense ministers that a Communist success in Viet Nam might lead to new Communist adventures elsewhere.

Rusk spoke behind closed doors at the opening of the 15-nation policy review. Spokesmen relayed his words to newsmen.

British Defense Minister Denis Healey, representing alling Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, supported Rusk's argument.

Rusk said U.S. commitments in various parts of the world to halt the spread of communism represent a "main pillar of peace."

While Southeast Asia is a long way from the frontiers of Europe, he continued, the United States cannot and will not choose between various commitments.

DEFENSIVE SHIELD
He implied that to do so would destroy the credibility of NATO itself as a defensive shield for the Western world.

He asked America's allies what would happen to the confidence and conscience of the American people if they were asked to pick and choose which of their solemn commitments to maintain.

What would it mean, Rusk went on, if Americans honored a commitment in one part of the world and set it aside in another. Rusk asked the allies to provide doctors and engineers for Viet Nam. This apparently was an appeal for a psychological demonstration of support. He made no call for any military commitment.

Further, Rusk urged the NATO allies to give their sympathy for what the United States was doing at the meeting.

Passage of GI Bill for Viet Veterans Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, the father of the GI Bill of Rights for Korean war veterans, predicted today early approval of a new bill which would grant similar benefits to American fighting men in Viet Nam.

Teague, a Texas Democrat who heads the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said in a telephone interview from Waxahatchie, Tex., he expected Congress to pass by the end of February a bill extending education and home-buying benefits to veterans of more than 180 days' active duty since 1955.

Such a bill already has been approved by the Senate. He said he hopes the Johnson administration will retreat from its opposition to the measure when his committee resumes hearings next month on the measure.

"There is reason to believe they have changed their views," Teague added, noting that conferences have been under way in Washington to ease administration objections. "We want to try to pass something they can live with," he said.

Explaining why the administration opposes the bill, Teague said: "Money is the whole thing." He estimated the bill would cost several hundred million dollars in the first year.

Like the previous bills which helped millions of World War II veterans go to college and buy homes, the new bill would pay college or vocational school expenses and guarantee loans for purchase of homes, farms and farm equipment for veterans with more than 180 days' active service since Jan. 31, 1955, when the Korean GI bill expired.

Maximum education payments would be $160 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents for up to 36 months. Maximum guarantees of home purchase loans would be $7,500.

Pontiac Sales Setting Mark
Pontiac Motor Division today announced its sales are currently running 21 per cent above last year's record pace.

General Sales Manager E.R. Pettengill said a total of 783,623 Pontiacs and Tempests have been sold this year, compared to 645,151 in the same period last year.

"Our 1966 model sales are off to a running start," Pettengill added.

In the first 10 days of December, a total of 25,978 units were sold.

This year to date, 38 month and 10-day divisional records have been established by Pontiac Motor Division.

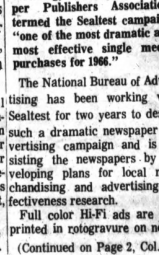

Radar Guides Santa's Way

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A helicopter which takes Santa Claus to shopping centers would have been unable to make its flight last weekend because of poor visibility.

Several hundred children were waiting at a shopping center across town from the Municipal Airport. So the Federal Aviation Agency came to their aid by using radar to guide the helicopter to its destination.

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The Pontiac Press is one of 200 leading newspapers selected to carry the most extensive preprinted color newspaper advertising campaign ever devised, according to the Sealtel Foods Division of the National Dairy Products Corp.

The first national advertiser ever to devote the bulk of a full year's advertising program to preprinted color newspaper advertising, Sealtel next year will feature a series of 16 special newspaper promotions for its milk, milk products, ice cream flavors and novelties.

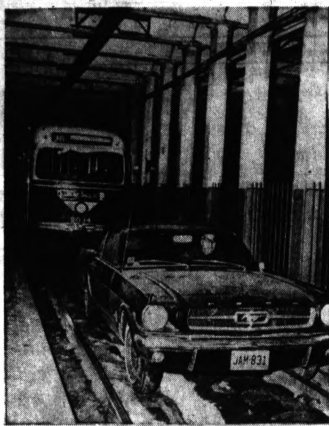

The campaign, which will begin in January 1966, will involve an estimated 320 million advertising "impressions" — or individual color pages. All color ads will be in Hi-Fi, a new reproduction method that makes it possible to reproduce brilliant, lifelike color on newspaper.

Waterford Presents Plan for Retirement

The Waterford Township Board last night introduced an employee pension plan despite the objections of Trustees Leonard Anderson.

The veteran Republican board member expressed opposition to the proposed ordinance because it would include retirement benefits for elected township officials.

However, the other six board members overrode Anderson, voting to introduce the retirement plan at its stands.

The board will either adopt or reject the plan following a public hearing, probably within the next month. No date has been set.

Ronald Smith of A. J. Gabriel and Company, consulting actuary, attended the meeting, explaining provisions of the proposed plan.

Approximately 40 township employees would benefit from the plan. The only excluded employees would be policemen and firemen who already have a similar plan.

Recent state legislation allows townships to set their own pension programs.

Under the plan, five per cent of a township employee's earnings would be deducted. The pension proposal specified a monthly contribution of 15.56 per cent of the annual payroll.

$280 Robbery at Restaurant

Two Employees Forced Into Walk-In Cooler

A well-dressed gunman with a stocking mask over his head robbed a Pontiac Township restaurant of $280 early today after threatening to kill two employees and then forcing them into a walk-in cooler.

Sammy Wickcliffe, 56, maintenance man at the Blue Star Drive-In Restaurant at 2008 N. Opydyke, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies the bandit came into the restaurant about 5:15 a.m.

The gunman — described as a Negro, about six feet, weighing 200 pounds and wearing a coat and tie — pointed a .38-caliber pistol at Mrs. Sheila Hughes, 33, a waitress, and ordered her to open two cash registers, deputies said.

Mrs. Hughes said the bandit emptied the registers of $280.34 and then demanded that she open the safe.

She told the gunman she didn't know how, whereupon she and Wickcliffe were forced to lie on the floor and then ordered into a cooler.

PAIR THREATENED

"Don't come out, I'll kill you," Wickcliffe quoted the gunman as saying.

Wickcliffe said he waited a few minutes, then forced open the door to find the robber had fled apparently on foot.

Sheriff's detectives are investigating the case, similar to the holdup of a stocking-masked gunman of a Bloomfield Township service station over the weekend.

EMPLOYEES COVERED

A township employee not covered by the police and fire pension plan and who receives at least 50 per cent of his earnings from the township would be included, according to Smith.

Under the plan, employees would be eligible to retire at age 55 if they had at least 25 years service and at 60 if they had five years service.

Pension benefits would be based on length of employment and salary the last 10 years of work, observed Smith.

Smith explained that the annual pension would be derived by taking two per cent of an annual average salary for the best five consecutive years of the 10-year period and multiplying this figure by years of service.

An employee, with eight or more years of service who leaves his job, is eligible to apply for benefits at age 60 providing he left his money in the retirement system, noted Smith.

A committee — comprised of a township treasurer, two township employees and two other citizens — would administer the plan, according to Smith.

Five Moves Proposed to Reduce Traffic Flow

BIRMINGHAM — Five major recommendations read at a meeting of the Birmingham Area Traffic Commission last night by the city's traffic consultant.

They will be reviewed at a Jan. 10 public hearing on a related matter, the closing of Oakland between Hunter and Adams.

The consultant, John J. Dobelek, submitted the proposals in answer to commission criticism of a traffic study presented two weeks ago.

The commission refused to accept the report at that time and requested that Dobelek appear last night to answer questions regarding the study.

Commissioners said the report had not offered any firm methods of solving the traffic problems in the area.

SURVEYED AREA

The survey was taken in the area bounded by Maple, Hunter, 16 Mile and Adams.

It was initiated after residents complained that increased traffic was posing a safety hazard and destroying the residential character of the neighborhood.

Suggestions to alleviate the problem were made by residents, and though a few were acceptable to Dobelek, he concluded that through traffic on the residential streets was not a major factor and that traffic volumes were not unduly excessive.

Among his additional recommendations, he said the two most important were the improvement of the Maple-Adams intersection and the widening of Adams from 36 to 40 feet to correspond with the width of the pavement north of the city limits.

ALTER ROAD

"With these two improvements, motorists would not be inclined to cut through the through traffic in the northeast residential area were proposed to the City Commission last night by the city's traffic consultant."

Following the presentation by Dobelek, one of his critics Commissioner Carl Ingraham said the report was acceptable. "I wasn't satisfied before but I am now since he has made recommendations," he said.

The Birmingham Board of Education will hold a special meeting at 8 tonight to consider construction bids for Covington Junior High School.

The Pontiac police vice squad assisted by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies raided an alleged illegal gambling operation at 217 Branch early today, arresting 54 persons.

Lt. Fred K. Goines of the Pontiac police led the raid, which hit the "Surfside Club" about 3 a.m.

It was the fourth mass arrest by vice squad officers in the last two weeks.

Johnnie Green, 41, of 451 Moore was charged with running an illegal gambling operation; Charles L. Turner, 27, of 19 Hibbard, with aiding and abetting an illegal operation; and Walter Drake, 57, of 506 Howland, with illegal sale of liquor.

Fifty-one others apprehended in the raid were charged with loitering at an illegal gambling establishment.

FREE ON BOND

Green was released on $100 personal bond and Drake and Turner released on $50 personal bond.

Those charged with loitering were also released on bond. Arraignment of all 54 was set for Dec. 23.

"I'd love to be back home and in politics," he mused.

'EXCELLENT CHANCE'

Williams said Romney has an excellent chance to be the next Republican nominee for president.

"I could beat Gov. Romney if he ran against me in the Senate race," Williams said, "but I might have trouble beating him for governor. They'd bring up that old fiscal stuff..."

At the same time, Williams affirmed previous statements that he would not run for the Senate unless Sen. Patrick V. McNamara did not seek a third term.

'NEGLECTED INFLUENCE'

Merged Back-Up Force Due by June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of the National Guard Bureau predicted today that the 150,000-man "selected force" of Army National Guardsmen and Reservists will be fully ready to back up the regular Army for crisis duty by June 30.

"There is no question in my mind that we are going to meet the eight-week goal by June 30," Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson said in an interview.

Wilson referred to the objective of having the "selected force" in shape to deploy within eight weeks of mobilization. This would be significant from the point of view of how the selected force might fit into any long-range military buildup plans of the Defense Department related to the growing war in South Viet Nam.

COMPOSITION OF FORCE

Composition of the force was announced on Oct. 13. It comprises 119,000 men from the National Guard and about 31,000 from the Reserve.

The heart of the selected force is made up of three Guard divisions and six independent brigades.

Wilson told the Associated Press that Guard units in the selected force are already built up to more than 97 per cent of their combat strength. This has been done by absorbing volunteers from lower priority units in the Guard and from the Reserve.

Builders of the selected force have tried wherever possible to draw into its ranks trained men who have seen at least two years of active military duty.

EXPANDED TRAINING

All 50 states now are conducting expanded training for their selected force units. This represents about 24 hours of drills a month.

Some states, Wilson said, are combining these periods into three-day weekend training which permits field exercises.

The Guard Bureau is in the process of shifting equipment from low-priority, under-strength units to the selected force elements to give them the required level of gear for training.

Where necessary, Wilson said, equipment will be shifted across state lines.

ADDED EQUIPMENT

By March 15, the Guard Bureau chief said, officials hope to complete earmarking of enough additional equipment, either in Guard stocks or regular Army depots, so that if the selected force is called to active duty it will have all of its gear for combat in fairly short order.

Some units will be taking two weeks of annual training as early as February, and the whole selected force is expected to have that training under its belt by June 30.

Near-Panic in Indonesia Money Crisis

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Merchants closed their stores in the Jakarta market and near-panic broke out among the people today after the government announced it is slashing the face value of Indonesia's currency.

Radio Jakarta broadcast repeated appeals to the population to remain calm and to shopkeepers to reopen. Development Minister Chaerul Saleh warned merchants not to raise their prices and threatened to punish those who did under the subversion act, which provides for capital punishment.

The government announced it will issue a new rupiah worth 1,000 of those now in circulation in an effort to deal with the country's rising inflation.

The announcement did not peg the new currency in terms of the U.S. dollar or any other hard currency. The official rate of the old rupiah ranged between 45 and 8,000 to the dollar, but the black market rate in recent months was 20,000 to the dollar.

In another economy move, President Sukarno ordered that most government cars be sold to high-ranking civil servants who will have to maintain them at their expense.

CARTAGENA, Spain (AP) — The Panamanian freighter Vesper was reported as fire and sinking in the Mediterranean today after all but one of her 35 Italian crew members were brought to this port by the Norwegian ship Rubstream.

The survivors said the missing sailor died in the fire.

TOKYO (AP) — Domei, the moderate Japan labor federation, ended a two-day executive meeting today after adopting a policy statement opposing the presence of U.S. troops in Japan in peacetime.

Domei, organized last year, is affiliated with the middle-of-the-road Democratic Socialist party and has a membership of 1.8 million.

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Police say they have recovered $500,000 worth of stolen art works and smashed a ring of art thieves after eight years of investigation.

The 65 art pieces recovered include a Madonna of the Botticelli school. The works were taken from more than 50 churches and homes in northern Italy.

Police filed charges against 11 Italians and said they were checking whether 29 antique dealers in Rome, Genoa, Florence and Milan had accepted the stolen goods.

National Leaders Are Needed, Not Being Produced—Gardner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner says the United States desperately needs national leaders but isn't doing anything to produce them.

In fact, he says, there is an "antileadership vaccine" being used to immunize "a high proportion of our most gifted young people against any tendencies to leadership."

In an essay written while he was still president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York and published Monday, Gardner said:

"The academic world appears to be approaching a point at which everyone will want to educate the technical expert who advises the leader, or the intellectual who stands off and criticizes the leader, but no one will want to educate the leader himself."

Elaborating on this in an interview today, Gardner said, "The colleges and universities ought to honor what they say in their catalogs and from the commencement platforms."

"They say they are training leaders, but they are only paying lip service to the idea. If they lived by what they say, I'd be satisfied."

"Every professional field ought to assure that some small fraction of their best men would move toward positions of leadership, and be encouraged to do so. But this doesn't happen."

"College faculties, for instance, are traditionally critical of college presidents, but they do nothing to encourage their best young people to aspire to administrative positions of leadership."

In his essay, Gardner said that contrary to the popular notion, there is no "power elite" or "establishment" making the big national decisions. Instead, he said, national leadership is fragmented into many fields.

In the interview, Gardner said he did not think there should be a "national establishment."

Hearings Open Today on Special Education

School Addition OK'd in Novi

NOVI — By a better than two-to-one majority, property owners yesterday started the Novi School District on its way toward a high school program.

The vote was 254 to 117 in favor of a $735,000 bond issue to finance construction of a high school addition to the Novi Secondary School.

School officials are hopeful that their plans will stave off the possibility of Novi's being annexed to another district.

In Elementary School Class

Utica Will Use 18 Seniors as Teachers

By JANICE KLOUSER
UTICA — Eighteen high school seniors will become teachers as well as students next February.

They are preparing for their dual role by taking a special course in teaching elementary school children.

The course is part of the Community School Program set up with a grant from the Mott Center for Community Affairs at Oakland University.

Instead of using faculty members to teach the after-school enrichment classes at most communities do, Utica is employing high school students.

The philosophy, according to director Joseph Rivard, is to improve the teen-ager's image of himself. It gives him an opportunity to contribute something in an adult world, the director said.

NEAR THEIR HOMES

The student teachers are from all parts of the school district and will be placed in schools near their homes. Thus they will be familiar with the area, with the school and with many of the pupils in their charge.

The seniors will teach classes in wrestling, gymnastics, sewing, hand pottery, embroidery and puppetry.

Each student teacher will have a faculty member with him in the classroom to lend a helping hand if necessary and to observe and evaluate his ability to work with children.

The five-week instruction course includes classes on the characteristics of elementary children, techniques of teaching, how to prepare a lesson plan, an orientation period and placement.

$1 AN HOUR
The seniors will be paid $1 an hour.

"We're real pleased to have 18 students at this early stage," said Rivard, "and we hope to have more in future years as the word spreads."

He said he also hopes that those who go to local colleges will remain to help out in the program. The plan is to have these students around to help out with the summer programs.

The community schools program includes classes in art, Spanish and French for elementary pupils, three pre-school programs, a men's club, a women's club and a recently formed teen club.

VOLUNTARY BASIS
The elementary classes, all on a voluntary basis after school, help children become aware that there is more to do after school than go home and watch TV, said Rivard.

The men's and women's clubs include such activities as volleyball, basketball, a social period and guest speakers. The classes are set up according to what the participants want.

The teen club, which started Dec. 1, provides chess, checkers, dancing, ping-pong, bumper pool, badminton, volleyball, basketball and tumbling.

The philosophy behind the community schools program, said Rivard, is to get the people involved in the schools and let them see what the schools are trying to do. It also gives them an opportunity to try new activities.

"Education is the responsibility of the local community," he said, "and this gives us a chance to see if we're on the right track as a school system."

News of the Area

trict would be disbanded was made by a 1964 state law abolishing school systems which do not offer 13 years of study. Novi now provides a kindergarten through ninth grade program.

The Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee was established to study the three Oakland County districts affected by the law — Novi, Dublin and North Oxford.

TOOK NO ACTION

While recommending that Dublin be annexed to the Walled Lake system and North Oxford to Oxford, the committee decided to take no action concerning Novi because the district was planning to expand its program.

If the State Reorganization Committee concurs, Novi district will remain intact.

The program approved yesterday calls for the high school facilities to be completed by the fall of 1967.

Novi now sends 211 students in 10th through 12th grade to Northville High School on a tuition basis.

OPENED IN 1964

The Novi Secondary School on Taft at 11 Mile was opened in September, 1964.

Novi property owners approved the $855,000 bond issue for its construction after the Northville Board of Education warned it was running out of space for Novi students.

This is the last year Northville will accept new students from Novi.

The schedule indicates Novi will accommodate its own 10th graders in 1966-67, provide 11th grade instruction in 1967-68 and 12th grade in 1968-69.

FIRST GRADUATES

The first Novi High School graduates will be members of the class of 1969.

With a current enrollment of 276, the secondary school was built to handle 350.

Expansion will increase the capacity to 650.

The building now includes some central facilities that can be used by both junior and senior high students — a library gymnasium and student commons.

TO EXPAND FACILITIES

The new building program will expand the library and physical education facilities.

A senior high academic wing will include six classrooms, a physics area, chemistry laboratory, metal shop, commercial suite, instrumental music suite and an independent student center.

Also in the package is a cinder track, bleachers at the football field and fencing around the field.

A decision has not yet been made on the method of financing the new bond issue.

LEVYING 7 MILLS

Because the district now is levying 7 mills for debt retirement, it could borrow funds from the state at a low interest rate and maintain the present tax level.

If the school board added the necessary amount to the property taxes, it would raise the debt retirement portion to about 10 mills.

Superintendent Is Appointed

Paying First Official Visit to District Today

NOVI — It wasn't just a building program that Novi property owners approved yesterday — they also set up a $735,000 wellcome for their new school superintendent.

The appointment of Robert Young as superintendent was officially announced Friday after several days of negotiations between himself, the Novi School Board and the board of the Freehold School District which he now heads.

He is paying his first official visit to the district today, meeting the members of the staff he will head and a learning about the building program he will administer.

The 39-year-old educator has been superintendent of the Freehold district since 1962.

A graduate of Oxford High School, he holds a bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University and a master's from Wayne State University.

TAUGHT IN ANCHOR BAY

He taught in Anchor Bay from 1951 to 1957 and was an elementary school principal there from 1957 to 1960.

For two years prior to going to Freehold he was an elementary principal and superintendent of the Peck School System.

Young and his wife have four sons.

Former Novi Schools Supt. Thomas Culbert vacated his post here in September.

Gerald Hartman, Novi Secondary School principal, has been acting superintendent in the interim.

Rochester Orchestra

Plans Concert Sunday

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Community Orchestra will present its Christmas concert at 7 p.m. Sunday at the high school.

The group was formed a year ago and musicians interested in joining are asked to attend rehearsals at 7:30 p.m. each Thursday at the high school.

Committee on Cityhood Established

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A citizens committee was established here last night to spearhead the campaign to convert Farmington Township to a city.

Ten township residents were appointed to the committee, leaving two vacancies yet to be filled.

Among those named to the group last night were township attorney Joseph T. Brennan and trustees Thomas Duke and Thomas Nolan.

Also appointed were Charles Stevenson, president of Wood Creek Farms, and two Farmington Township Planning Commission members, Russell Nankervis and Charles Lorin.

Others named were Richard Gaul, Douglas McArthur, Clifford Moorhead and Calvin Oppenheimer, who will be at-large members.

MEETING SOON

Supervisor Curtis H. Hall said the committee would begin meeting soon, possibly Monday. The committee is to study advantages of cityhood and present information to voters prior to an expected election on incorporation.

The Township Board has filed petition seeking the election with the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Suspension Hearing Set for 5 Inspectors

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A hearing on the suspension of five township building inspectors will be held before the Township Board Monday night.

The men were suspended by Supervisor Curtis H. Hall yesterday on the grounds that they were "absent without leave" Thursday and Friday.

Township trustees last night adjourned their regular meeting at 8:20 p.m., held a two-hour executive session on the matter and reconvened to pass a four-part resolution.

Involved in the incident were five of the township's six building inspectors — George Crook, John Drury, Arthur Maki, Gerald Banfield and Raymond Melvin.

Chief building inspector Albert Gain was on duty Thursday and Friday, Hall said.

MET IN PARKING LOT

The supervisor said the other five met in the Township Hall parking lot Thursday morning and then left.

Head of Schools Quits Avondale

Avondale Schools Supt. George E. Shackelford resigned his position last night, six months before his contract was due to be terminated.

Shackelford's resignation came after the board voted unanimously not to renew his contract after June 1966. He could not be reached today for comment.

He submitted the resignation in a four-page statement which listed his accomplishments in the district since he became superintendent.

Assistant Supt. Charles Johnson will act as superintendent until a replacement for Shackelford is found.

Shackelford came into the job on the heels of a controversy following former Supt. LeRoy R. Watt's resignation in August 1962. The board voted 4-2 to give him a two-year contract.

FORMER POST

Before his appointment as superintendent in 1962, Shackelford had been principal at Elmwood Elementary School for 11 years.

His contract has been under fire for more than a year. Last December he was told the contract would not be renewed after June 1966.

The board was warned last month by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that it could not terminate his contract without giving him a written evaluation.

Board President Ray A. Isanah said the board members felt they were doing Shackelford a favor last December by telling him of the proposed termination and giving him a chance to look for another job.

NOTIFIED GROUP

Shackelford, however, notified North Central Association and the board was told to put its reasons in writing. If it failed to do so, it stood a chance of losing the district's accreditation.

The board then gave him a written evaluation which judged him on public image, self-development, communication, development of subordinates and public and personal relations.

Shackelford charged that the evaluation form "gives an opinionated picture of the superintendent without any substantial evidence that he is or is not a capable administrator."

He said that "in no instance was there any suggested approach to improvements."

The board has been looking for a new superintendent for several months.

Shackelford said last week that he found out in August that the board had sent several letters to placement officers at various state universities advising them of a vacancy in the superintendents' position.

SALARY OFFER

The salary offered was $14,500 to $16,000. Shackelford is making $13,000.

Shackelford said the first he heard of the letters was when he received phone calls from persons interested in the job.

He also said last week that he has not been looking for another job because he felt it unethical to do so while he was still superintendent.

Board Secretary Thomas Galoway said today that the board has some prospects, but will not make a hasty choice.

Brandon Votes to Renew Levy

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — School district voters yesterday approved renewal of an 8-mill tax levy for three years by a margin of 179 to 32.

The levy, the district's only extra-voted operating millage, amounts to $8 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The district's total tax rate is 29.70 mills or $29.70 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. Of this 9.7 mills are allocated by the county, 12 are for building debt and 8 are voted by the taxpayers.

The 8 mills were first approved for one year in 1959. Yesterday was the third time the levy has been renewed.

Florida Trip Won by Girl

ROCHESTER — A Rochester High School girl will be one of 120 honor society students from 70 high schools throughout the country who will attend a Science Convention in Florida during the Christmas holidays.

Sara J. Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Chapman, 311 Walnut, will join the group when it meets in New York City Dec. 24 to start the trip to Florida.

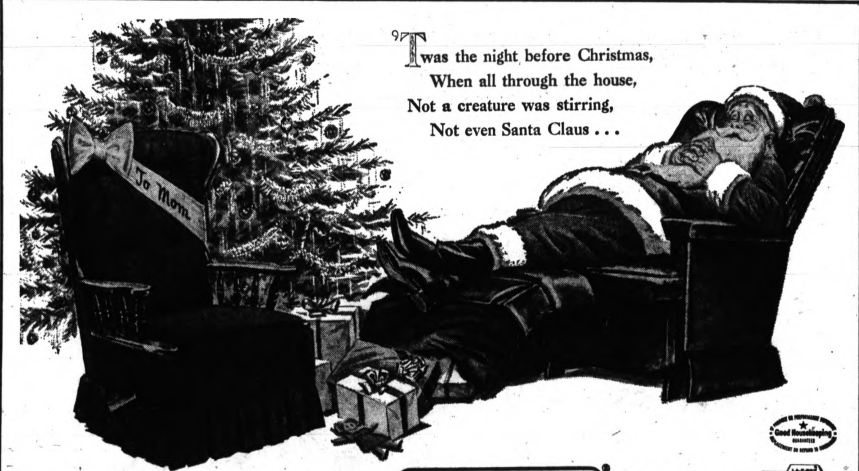

The students were selected on the basis of scholarship, character and scientific interest.

Detroit Union Agrees to Open Vote Records

DETROIT (AP)—Local 705 of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union, threatened with a federal court order, agreed Monday to turn over the records of its last election to government investigators.

The Department of Labor subpoenaed the records to investigate reported irregularities in the election.

Filmed Hellos for Viet Dads

PORT HUENEME, Calif. (AP)—The cameras rolled as family after family paraded across the stage, talked briefly to Santa Claus, then turned to wave at the cameraman.

Most youngsters, asked what they wanted for Christmas, said: "Daddy."

They might not get daddy for Christmas, but daddy will get them—via the sound movie filmed by the U. S. Navy.

The filmed greetings from nearly 600 wives and children will be flown to Viet Nam where the dads, all Seabees from this base, will view it Christmas Day.

Blockheads for Sale in Philadelphia Store

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Philadelphia hat store owner has 200 blockheads for sale.

Joseph W. Duff Sr., 70, says he is trying to sell 200 of the egg-shaped blocks of wood, which are used as forms on which felt hats are steamed and fitted. Duff is closing his business next March after 58 years in the city.

Draft May Reclassify 8th Student

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An eighth University of Michigan student may face reclassification in the military draft after involvement in the Oct. 15 anti-Viet Nam mass draft board sit-in at Ann Arbor.

Sam Freedman, 23, graduate student from Washington, D.C., said Monday he had received notice from his draft board No. 2 at Washington that he has been declared "delinquent" under the Selective Service Law.

Usually, such notification precedes reclassification as 1A, or immediately eligible for military service.

Seven other students, all participants in the sit-in, have been reclassified 1A with their student deferments canceled.

QUICK ACTION

In Washington, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of the Selective Service, told a newsman: "Reclassification is quicker at stopping sit-ins than some indictment that takes effect six months later."

Hershey said state draft boards of each of the eight draft age participants had been informed of their actions.

"We are not interested in demonstrations," Hershey said, "but this was forcible entry. There is a provision in the law that makes it illegal to obstruct the workings of the Selective Service system."

Hershey said in similar cases, reclassification "is the normal thing likely to happen to these kids."

The demonstrators said their sit-in was a protest against U.S. policy in Viet Nam and not a challenge of the Draft Act.

DECISION PENDING

The reclassifications have created controversy. Two reclassified students have appealed their local Detroit draft boards action. A board decision is pending.

University President Harlan Hatcher warned that Selective Service should not be allowed to become an "instrument for punishing political dissent."

Michigan's draft director, Col. Arthur Holmstrom, said he had received anonymous telephone calls threatening reprisals against his family.

More than 30 young people, mostly students, were convicted of illegal trespass in the draft board sit-in and given jail sentences and fines. Most are appealing.

VIOLATES LAW

Col. Holmes recommended reclassification of the draft status of the offending students in the light of possible interference with draft board procedures, a violation of the Selective Service Law.

Freedman, a Harvard graduate and teaching fellow in sociology at Michigan, said his draft board letter only informed him he had been declared "delinquent." He said he anticipated now a notice of 1A reclassification.

Committee to Check Use of Lie Detectors

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has set up a committee to look into the federal government's widespread use of lie detectors, it was announced yesterday.

Aid Will Be Important to New Nation

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Georgetown, British Guiana, is a clean, pleasant city of broad, tree-lined streets intersected by many canals. Next May, it will become the capital of the newly independent nation of Guyana.

Up to the United States early in December came a tall, smiling but tough-minded man who will lead the new state, which for the past 10 years has been noted for its bitter racial strife between descendants of former Negro slaves and indentured East Indians who replaced them on the sugar plantations.

The man is Forbes Burnham, 43-year-old leader of British Guiana's 200,000 Negroes, a lawyer who graduated with honors from London University and a bitter political opponent of Marxist Cheddi B. Jagan, friend of Fidel Castro and leader of 320,000 East Indians.

Burnham's mission—to assure himself of massive U. S. economic aid when independence arrives on May 26.

Considering the size of the tiny colony on the northeast coast of South America—only 35,000 square miles—such aid in the last year already has assumed important proportions.

$3.5 MILLION
In April of this year, the United States turned over road building and sea defense equipment as the first installment of a $3.5 million gift.

Other U. S. aid is contributing to the colony's river defenses.

In June, the U. S. agency for international development announced it would give guarantees to private U. S. firms pro-

Bank Robber on List of 10 Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawrence John Higgins, a bank robber whose career as a lawbreaker stretches over 30 years, was listed today by the FBI as one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals.

Higgins has been hunted by police since Feb. 15 when he robbed a Covina, Calif., bank only two weeks after being released from prison. The FBI cautions that he should be "considered armed and extremely dangerous."

The wanted man is talented both as an amateur chef and as a trumpet player. As a cook, he is known to carry with him a collection of favorite recipes. As a trumpeter, he has played in prison bands.

A native of Lynn, Mass., the 32-year-old Higgins has arrest and prison records in five states—Washington, California, Texas, Kansas and Arkansas. For a brief period he served in the Navy.

viding desperately needed funds to exploit rich deposits of bauxite, other minerals and lush timberlands.

For nearly 20 years, nationalists of British Guiana have been agitating for independence.

FORMS NEW PARTY

At first, Burnham and Jagan were joined in this effort but in 1955 Burnham broke away from Jagan's Peoples Progressive Party to form his own Peoples National Congress.

In the bitter political strife that followed, rivalries broke down into strictly racial lines, urban Negroes against the more numerous East Indians of the countryside.

In 1964, bitter racial strife cost 176 lives and with Jagan as Premier, the country threatened to become a second Castro-Cuba.

In late 1964, a proportional representation system of voting imposed by Britain finally broke Jagan's grip and Burnham became premier.

Late this year at a constitutional conference in London, boycotted by Jagan, plans for an independent Guyana were completed.

HIT U.S. PROPERTY

The ouster of Jagan did not end all violence. A time bomb laid to followers of Jagan completely destroyed the library of the U. S. Consulate in Georgetown last June.

Guyana begins life embroiled in a border dispute with Venezuela. Besides territory, oil exploration rights also are involved.

But the Burnham government had managed to ease racial tensions and some economic progress has been made—enough so that both Britain and the United States decided they could take a chance.

"1966 Ford quieter than my Jaguar? Not jolly likely!" said Rob Walker ... then he drove the Ford.

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently demonstrated the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses the '66 Ford LTD with Rob Walker at his family's estate in Wiltshire, England.

"Astonishing... I believe this Ford of yours really is quieter!" exclaimed Rob Walker, famed British automotive sportsman.

Ford's quiet ride is the result of built-in quality and overall engineering excellence. Other examples of this engineering magic from Ford are: ■ New Stereo Tape Player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New Magic Doorgate on wagons—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ Optional Safety/Convenience Panel that warns when doors are ajar or fuel is low. ■ Silent-Flo Ventilation, standard on Ford 4-door hardtops, gives open-window freshness with all windows closed. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford, at your Ford Dealer's today.

Tree Cutting Is a Wet Project

By MARGARET BROWN
'Twas a "mantle of mud," rather than white, when the John M. Fitzgeralds of Crane Street faced a dismal December drizzle to cut their own Christmas tree.

Saw in hand, the family good-naturedly donned rain gear and high-top boots for the soggy trek through the Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls' Camp Oweki near Clarkston.

The council's annual Christmas tree sale is under way there for the first three weekends in December.

Mrs. Fitzgerald stayed home to prepare hot chocolate and tea while her husband and four lively youngsters made their selection from among the hundreds of luxuriant conifers blanketing the camp site.

Spirited youth workers, John and Ruth Fitzgerald have had years of experience in Camp Fire and Scouting leadership. A former den mother, Mrs. Fitzgerald was second session day camp director at Camp Oweki last summer.

Fitzgerald has been active in adult Boy Scouting for the past 20 years, having been accorded Vigil Honor in the Order of the Arrow.

A process engineer for Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp., he and his Scout troop currently are helping at Camp Oweki—handling repairs and clearing for a nature trail and camping site.

BUSY FAMILY

Although the Fitzgeralds have "something going every minute," they remarkably also make time for tropical fish, amateur radio, the Lakeland Players and the St. Benedict Catholic Church choir.

"They're just a grand family," commented a beaming Mrs. James Hensel, newly appointed field director for the local Camp Fire Girls council, who joined the group for their appointment with Pontiac Press photographer Eddie Vanderworp.

Keeping pace with their peppy parents are: Ruth Ann, 18, a freshman sociology major at Oakland University and former Girl Scout; Michael, 14, an Explorer Scout and Pontiac Press carrier; Eileen, 10, Camp Fire Girl; and Patrick, 8, Cub Scout.

CHILDREN'S PROJECT

As Eileen and Patrick added final tinsel to the ceiling-high tree, Mrs. Fitzgerald laughed, "I guess it's not decorated too evenly, but I told the children

I wasn't even going to touch it; this is their project."

"We're all ready for 'Angie' now," exclaimed Eileen. "Angie" is a somewhat worn but cherished spun glass tree-top angel the family has had for years.

"We're a little short on lights, as most of them went to OU for the tree at Pryle House dormitory," said Mr. Fitzgerald smiling drolly at a flushed Ruth Ann.

Hours for cutting trees at Camp Oweki are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sunday. All trees are $2.00.

The sale is a joint project of the Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls and the Men's Club of the Church of the Resurrection. Additional information is available through the Camp Fire Girl's office.

Study Club Meets

Members of the Parliamentary Study Club will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple on East Lawrence Street.

Youths Sing for Women on Monday

A Christmas program by sixth graders at LeBaron School highlighted the Monday meeting of the Junior Pontiac Women's Club. Rosamond Haebler directed the choir.

Mrs. George Brinkman, president, reported on a donation for an artificial Christmas tree for the Oakland County Children's Center and gifts to patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

Social chairman, Mrs. Eugene Wellman was assisted by Mrs. Clark Adams, Mrs. Everett Garrison, Mrs. James Clarkson and Hazel Potts.

Others assisting were Mrs. Everett Reese, Mrs. Eleanor Pearson, Mrs. Harry Richards, Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. Allen McLintock and Mildred Burgess.

Guests included Mrs. William Dawe, Mrs. Harvey Perry, Mrs. John Maddaugh and Mrs. Philip Nye.

Others were Mrs. Leo Bumgardner, Mrs. Harvey Johns, Mrs. Theo Carlson, Mrs. Quentin Sweet, Iama Hook and Mrs. Leo McDonald.

Soroptimists Hold Party

Members of the Soroptimist Club of Pontiac gathered for a Christmas dinner-party and gift exchange Monday in the Elks Temple.

Lantern candles, Scotch pine roping and satin Christmas tree balls decked the table arranged by Lucy S. Veler.

A new shipment of a book containing some 600 "Favorite Recipes of Michigan Women" was distributed to the membership to fill Christmas orders.

Dishes Are Useful, Even Dirty Ones

When next you feel like complaining that dishwashing is a chore, remember to rejoice that we have pretty dishes to eat from — and easy means of washing them.

Dishes were unknown in the 15th century, and people ate from scooped-out pieces of stale bread — which needed no washing but did little to increase an aesthetic enjoyment of food!

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Body of Adams Road, Pontiac Township, were feted recently with a surprise reception in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. Hosts were their daughter and son, Mrs. Jack B. Muir of Troy and Andrew J. Body of Clarkston. The couple who were wed on Dec. 19, 1915 in Sarnia, Ontario, have two other children, Gordon of Farmersville, Ohio, and Mrs. Ted Shamie of Bronxville, N.Y. There are 13 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Redmonds Honor Pair at Buffet

The newlywed Barron Craig Redmonds (Glenna Ruth Bowen) were honored by his parents, the Donald E. Redmonds of Fortress Road, at a reception Sunday in the John D. Pierce Junior High School.

Buffet supper was served in the cafeteria foyer.

Dr. and Mrs. Elbert R. Bowen of Mt. Pleasant are parents of the bride who chose an Empire gown of white chiffon velvet for the recent ceremony in the First Methodist Church, Mt. Pleasant.

She wore an illusion veil with velvet Dior bow and carried a cascading crescent of white Frenched carnations, ivy and yellow Sweetheart roses.

Bonnie Bowen attended her sister at the rite performed by Rev. Robert C. Smith.

On the esquire side were Gary Russell, best man with John Ryan and Gerald Mudge as ushers.

The couple are alumni of Central Michigan University. She is a graduate student at University of Michigan and he is extending at the Fordson Senior High School, Dearborn.

They are at home in Ann Arbor.

Gay Round of Parties for Bride

Three bridal showers have honored Carolyn Marie Johnston who will wed Pfc. Norman Joseph Raupp Jr., Saturday, in Our Lady of Refuge Catholic Church.

Their parents who reside in West Bloomfield Township are the Howard H. Johnstons of Hickock Street and the senior Raupps of West Long Lake Road.

Sharing hostesses honors at a recent shower in the Raupp home were Mrs. Charles English, Mrs. Richard Layman and Mrs. Eugene Rutkowski.

The bride-elect's aunts, Mrs. Carl Follis, Mrs. Donald Hamilton, Mrs. Donald Frank, Mrs. Roger Hanson, Mrs. Richard Frank and Mrs. Robert Frank were cohostesses at a recent shower in the Follis home in Clawson.

Barbara Donohue's shower in her Orchard Lake home completes the list.

More Outfits

A basic dress, always a wise choice, is even a better one if it has a jacket. Get another dress and jacket outfit of the same pattern in color that contrasts well with the first one. Switch jackets whenever you wish, for additional outfits.

Register for fashion flat-tery this fall in a leather-trimmed shaker knit shift of pure Orion. A dress by Bobbie Brooks heads the class with a snappy leather bound collar and two giant pockets. Contrast stitching and a slash of leather on each pocket help set off the figure-skimming style . . . and a matching tie belt sashes it into shape.

On those brisk fall days, this bonded knit shift will keep its good looks fresh and wrinkle free. On order locally.

Sheet Substitutes

If unexpected company drops in and you do not have a clean tablecloth, a laundered, colored sheet makes a good improvised one. Such sheets also are fine to use on table when only the family is eating. They provide a pretty effect and are easy to launder.

Though a latecomer to Christmas, almost every Japanese knows the word and its meaning. Pageant plays of the Christmas story are popular in Sunday school celebrations. And, Christmas carolling, a most picturesque sight with red Japanese lanterns illuminating the scene, begins as early as 3:30 a.m. in the morning.

Comments by Waitresses
May Be Helpful to Others

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those "STUPID WAITRESSES" who can't read the minds of customers to determine whether they want separate checks or not.

Don't customers realize that all our checks are numbered? And when they tell us at the end of a meal that they wanted separate checks, we have to void the original check and start all over again? THIS TAKES TIME!

If some customers weren't so stupid, they could divide up the check themselves.

"ANOTHER STUPID WAITRESS"

DEAR ABBY: Put me down as another "stupid waitress," after the fact, who not only can't read minds, but who can't tell when people are kidding. When cocktails are being ordered before the meal, I have been told that the party was going to be on "Old Joe." I was asked if I couldn't take a joke. Then I've had to unscramble the bill and give everyone separate checks.

On other occasions, I've had the guests loudly demand, "Separate checks!"—and when it came time to pay, one man will disgustingly take them all and say to me, "Where's your sense of humor? You know when I'm in the party, the party's always on me!"

EGG ON MY FACE IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: You said, "Waitresses are not mindreaders." So, since the waitress is the one who makes up the check, she's the one who should ask how it should be done, and not after the fact.

After all, one man did not eat all the food, so why should the waitress have the gall to assume that one man is going to pay for it? And in some cases, the waitress even takes it upon herself to decide which man should be the host.

BEN STUCK IN TACOMA

DEAR ABBY: At last you have proved to me forever that no man ghost-writes your column, although on the question of restaurant checks you could have used a man's advice.

No woman understands the problem as a man does. No waiter is likely to make the mistake a waitress makes in assuming that one man is picking up the check for the entire party unless he is told that he is.

A waiter always makes out separate checks for each couple in a dinner situation, as well as situations involving a group at lunch from an office or something similar.

Only a waitress would do it the "easy" way and stick one man with the bill.

Jewish Families Plan Chanukah Celebrations

At sundown on Sunday American Jews and Jews the world over will be observing the Festival of Lights. The eight day holiday season will be celebrated with special services in synagogues and with prayers and hymns in religious schools and homes.

In homes there will be too, the delighted laughter of children ferreting out gifts hidden about the rooms for them.

And relatives and friends will gather around the festive table for perhaps a tea party with the traditional holiday delicacy, potato latkes with a sour cream or apple sauce, perhaps a buffet, perhaps a completely elegant formal dinner, perhaps all three at different times during the season.

ALWAYS CANDLES

But always the deeper meaning of the season is symbolized by the lighting of the candles. It marks the first recorded struggle for religious freedom.

Chanukah — the Hebrew word means dedication — commemorates the rededication of the Temple in Jerusalem — over two thousand years ago — after Judah Maccabee and his followers had triumphed over the armies of Syrian tyrant, King Antiochus, who desecrated it and tried to force paganism on the Jews.

Legend has it that at this time a crane holding just enough oil to light the Temple Menorah (candelabrum) for one day lasted eight days.

Thus today candles are lighted each night of the holiday, one on the first night, two on the second, three on the third and on on until eight candles blaze in the special Chanukah Menorah.

A Chanukah table gives the place of honor to an antique Chanukah Menorah (candelabrum) in a straight line arrangement in which big yellow dahlias march in a row along a slim ecru embroidered and appliqued linen table runner. The decorative silver flatware is Reed & Barton's new "Spanish Baroque," a strikingly rich elaborate baroque carving of curving acanthus leaves. Plain silver plates and fruit cups stand on china plates rimmed in deep blue and small gift boxes are wrapped in deep blue and tied with a silver cord.

Music Is Big Part of Dutch Yuletide

Music is an indispensable part of the Christmas celebration in Holland. On Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, carols are sung at home with friends and family joining in.

And, on Second Christmas Day — the day after Christmas — practically all the Dutch music societies, radio groups, school choirs, etc., take part in some musical performance.

New Math Has a Few Wrinkles

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Elementary schoolchildren are capable of learning mathematics at a faster rate than they do. But that doesn't mean they should, a Stanford University math professor says.

"The early years are the time to develop as fully as possible the child's intuition of things mathematical and scientific," says Prof. Harold M. Bacon. "More formal treatment can come later."

In a report for the Council on Basic Education, Bacon praised the advances in the teaching of math which have come in the past several years.

"In the not too distant past, the junior high school years, especially the seventh and eighth grades, were a mathematical disaster area," he said.

"To many of us, the unconscious waste of time and the inefficient organization of material in the first grades were appalling."

Since the introduction of the "new" math this has changed. "But the new concepts have brought their own problems," he said.

TEACHERS
One is maintaining a supply of "mathematically literate" teachers in the primary grades "where the length of time now spent in a teaching career is, as a nationwide average, approximately five years."

Another problem: avoiding the temptation to compress too many mathematical topics into too short a time.

Holiday Hairdos Reflect Ladylike Trend

By MADELINE DOEREN

Curls that go to your head continue to make big news in hair styles for the holiday and winter picture.

The first meaningful use of curls came for the fall season as a concerted revolt against the demurely straight hair. Women wanted to look like girls, not boys.

Now, the lively little girl curls are growing up into a truly ladylike arrangement. They are neither coy nor pert; the curls convey a note of excellent grooming.

The Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association has designed three different moods combed from one basic setting. Two are pictured.

Your hairdresser undoubtedly can show you even more. All add up to a strikingly different coiffure as you go to it in one social engagement after another during the busy season.

What length is hair? This depends on individual needs and requires a professionally executed haircut, as well as a soft and gentle permanent wave, professionally prescribed.

The shaping technique includes tapering of the hair strands to give desired easy care and curl control.

Soft ladylike colors of muted shades will be especially popular for coiffures during the winter and holiday season. They will run the gamut from browns and soft reds, with delicate shades of blonde enjoying special appeal.

Naturalism is enhanced or dramatic accents defined by using several tones of a single color. The overall appearance must, however, be ladylike.

For the 'total' ladylike look, lip colors will be vivid and vital and eyes will be emphasized. New, too, is the use of dramatic accent colors for lips and eye shadow to pick up accent colors used in the new wardrobes.

This classic off-the-face effect for a smart coiffure can be made even more formal by adding height with hair pieces. An easy flip of the comb or brush sweeps the curls off the forehead, either upward or to the sides. Another version of this basic style is made with softly rounded waves and curls brushing the forehead and covering the ears.

BPW Unit Has Annual Yule Brunch

Members and 27 guests attended the recent annual brunch of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club. The event took place in the Village Women's Club, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Roland Diemer gave readings from Helen Keller's book, "Lights and Sounds of Christmas in a Dark and Silent World."

Jo Ellen Crawford presented several musical selections, accompanied by Floyd Bunt. Gifts were brought to be distributed by the Visiting Nurses Association to the elderly in the area.

Hostesses, under the direction of co-chairman, Mrs. Floyd Bunt and Mrs. Clifton Gables, were Mrs. Fred MacGuire, Mrs. Edward Eickmeier, Miss Crawford and Eva Clark.

Lost Trainees Found

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Eight Peace Corps trainees, lost in the Manzano Mountains one time down to 15 degrees of central New Mexico came back today. They are in their ninth week of training to be volunteers in Chile.

That was the way the four men and four women were described by Dr. David Benedetti, head of the Peace Corps Center at the University of New Mexico. They were found Monday after

SPIRITS HIGH

The eight trainees, between the ages of 21 and 28, kept their spirits high — even though they were lost almost from the beginning of a hike across rough mountain terrain nearly 9,000 feet high.

They ran out of food Monday morning, finishing up a breakfast of dehydrated ham and eggs. It was 12 hours until their next meal, hamburgers and hot coffee at Albuquerque.

An organized search was started Sunday after they failed to arrive at their destination on the fourth day, but the hunt was almost entirely on the opposite side of the Manzano Mountains.

The trainees' instructor left the group Thursday to take a girl with an injured foot back to Albuquerque. When he returned, he couldn't find the group.

HUNGRY AT START

Miss Whitmore, who said the group was hungry from the start of the trek although they had been supplied with food for four days, said the experience was invigorating.

"We all had normal temperatures and not even a runny nose," she said after checkups at the university medical center. "I'm on my third hamburger now."

"We were just plain lost," she said.

When did they discover this? "Almost from the beginning," she replied.

EIGHT TRAINEES

The trainees were Mike Mitchell, 21, Bronx, N.Y.; Tom Jacobs, 23, Columbus, Ohio; Bruce McCracken, 25, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Linda West, 28, Hurst, Tex.; Judy Johnson, 21, Pleasantville, N.Y.; Sue Selbin, 22, St. Paul, Minn.; Bill Pastreich, 24, New York, and Miss Whitmore.

The group walked to a locked ranch house on the west side of the Manzanos Monday, near where they stayed.

They waited outside for help, hungrily eyeing some turkeys in the farmyard, McCracken said.

After three hours, a ground unit of the search party passed by and carried them to Albuquerque where they resume their Peace Corps training today.

33 Ships Stop at Cuba

From Non-Red Nations

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thirty-three ships from non-Communist countries called at Cuban ports during November, the exile organization Revolutionary Unity, which checks on such movements, reports. The others: Lebanon 6; Cyprus 4; (EST) to study characteristics of the sun, the region between Finland and Malta 1 each.

The Pioneer 6 satellite tentatively is scheduled to blast off between 1:45 and 2:15 a.m. (EST) to study characteristics of the sun, the region between Finland and Malta 1 each. The sun's atmosphere and interstellar space and magnetic fields.

BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY. 40 PROOF. IMPORTED IN ORIGINAL CASKS BY McMASTER IMPORT CO., DETROIT, MICH.

A $7.00 Scotch
for only $4.97?
What's the gimmick?

Here it is:

One fine day the McMaster's people discovered that, simply by importing their Scotch whisky in barrels instead of bottles, they paid a lower tax — and saved their customers money.

Big tax savings, that's the reason McMaster's comes to America only in barrels.

You'd expect to pay $7.00 for an imported Scotch with the flavor and mellowness of McMaster's. But we save on taxes and other costs — so you pay only $4.97 a fifth, only $2.50 a tenth (tax included).

Now available in a new 1/2-gallon size for just $12.95. Sorry, they won't let us sell it by the barrel.

A $6.50 Canadian for only $4.80?

Sure. McMaster's gives you the same big tax savings on its fine imported Canadian whisky, too. (Tax included.) Also available in 1/2 gallons at only $11.95.

Former Nazis Face Charges

FRANKFURT, Germany, (AP) — West Germany's second Auschwitz trial opened today with three former guards accused of a part in the deaths at the largest Nazi extermination camp.

The new hearings started four months after the end of the marathon trial of 20 other Auschwitz guards and functionaries. Two more smaller Auschwitz trials are to follow next year.

The top defendant today was Wilhelm Burger, a former SS major who was head of the camp administration for a time. He is accused of being responsible for the supply of the lethal cyanide that was used to murder inmates in the gas chambers.

Burger is free without bail because of illness.

EX-SERGEANT

Another defendant is former Sgt. Josef Erber, 68. The indictment charges that he helped select gas chamber victims. It also accuses him of shooting an undetermined number of inmates along with Wilhelm Boger, another guard who was sentenced to life imprisonment in the first trial.

The third defendant, former Sgt. Gerhard Neuber, faced the court for eight months in the first trial but became ill. He also is charged with helping to select prisoners for the gas chambers.

Murder Case a Mistrial in 4th Attempt

DETROIT (AP) — Record's Court Judge Elvin L. Davenport Monday declared a mistrial in the fourth murder trial of George Darryl Flatter, charged in the 1960 death of an East Side housewife.

It was the second time a mistrial was declared. Flatter, 26, is charged with killing Mrs. Elizabeth Moughler, whose body was found near her home Jan. 22, 1960.

Davenport's ruling came after a 47-year-old woman, a member of a jury panel awaiting assignment in another case told him she overheard three jurors discussing testimony heard in the Flatter case.

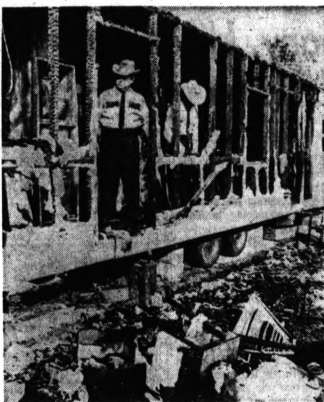

After asking other jury members whether they knew about the alleged conversation—denied by all five jurors—Davenport granted the mistrial motion of defense attorney Albert Sumner.

FORCED MISTRIAL

"There is danger that other members of the jury heard this conversation so I'm forced to call a mistrial," Davenport said.

Flatter was sentenced to 35-45 years imprisonment in his first trial when he was convicted of second-degree murder.

The conviction was set aside when Davenport learned the jury had used information not brought out in testimony in arriving at the verdict.

FOUR CHILDREN VICTIMS — Deputies of St. Tammany Parish Sheriff's Office probe the charred remains of a house trailer at Pearl River, La., where four children burned to death yesterday. The trailer belonged to two families, and the flames trapped the children while the two mothers left it to pay the rent. A faulty gas connection has been blamed.

AFL-CIO Reelects Meany, Hikes Salary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The AFL-CIO, its aging top leadership about to take on a more youthful appearance, pledged today to renew its fight to win a better life for "all the little people of America."

"They have no one else to represent them," said 71-year-old George Meany, unanimously elected to a new two-year term as president of the giant labor federation and voted a $25,000 salary boost to $70,000 a year. He is the only president the federation has had in its 10-year history.

There were a few "no" votes from the floor Monday on Meany's pay raise. The nearly 1,000 delegates to the 16th anniversary convention vote today on a virtually unopposed slate of candidates that will chip about two years off the 64-year average age of the federation's powerful executive council.

LONE MAVERICK Patrick Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union, is the only maverick opposing a Meany-backed slate to replace eight retiring federation vice presidents on the council.

Gorman, 72, was given virtually no chance of election.

"The American trade union movement is the conscience of America," said Meany in a speech accepting his new term of office and voicing the federation's aims.

"We can look around with some satisfaction at the record of the trade union movement," Meany said. "We see good contracts, we see good wages."

STILL HAVE WORK

But, he added: "We have a great deal of work to do for all the little people of America. There are still too many people in America who are not sharing in the property of this great nation. There are too many people who are suffering from poverty, the lack of education and disease."

The convention passed resolutions Monday recommending $10 billion more in federal funds for education, pledging to help wipe out discrimination in all areas of American life and to work politically in the 1966 elections to reelect labor's friends in Congress.

A resolution to invite James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union, Harry Bridges International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the United Mineworkers and all other unaffiliated unions into the AFL-CIO was pigeonholed without a murmur of dissent.

The federation also condemned Senate Republican

Leader Everett M. Dirksen and what it called his "strange coalition of conservatives, right-wing extremists and obstinate traditionalists" who seek to water down the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling on reapportioning state legislatures.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Howard Macleod, a Scotsman from Santa Barbara, and Dean G. Boyle, an Irishman from Oakland, Calif., have been exchanging the same Christmas card since 1931.

Who'll put this college program together?

The colleges are facing rapidly increasing enrollments every year.

That's the problem.

Higher education needs financial help for the equipment, facilities and teachers to educate this crop of potential leaders.

It's really our problem. Without enough leaders to plan use of our resources, manpower and skills, we will go downhill.

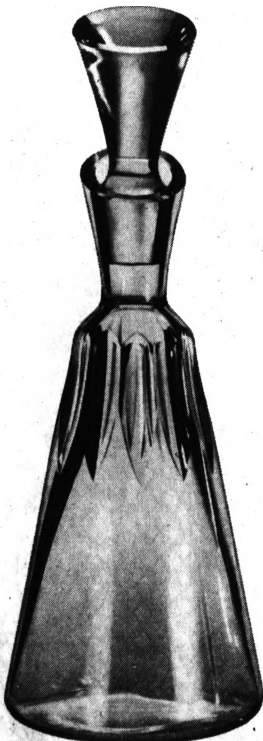

Without strong leadership we cannot maintain our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards. The colleges are doing our job—let's get together on the problem. Give to the college of your choice.

Graves Said Hard to Trace

'Maps Inaccurate'
—Ex-Cemetery Exec

DETROIT (AP)—"You'd have to dig up half the cemetery" to find some of the bodies buried there, a former superintendent of Brookdale Cemetery said Monday.

Maps showing grave sites in the cemetery are inaccurate, Harvey Grode added at a hearing called to look into the problem of untraceable graves.

Mrs. Angeline Ferdikes died Dec. 31, 1964 and was buried at Brookdale.

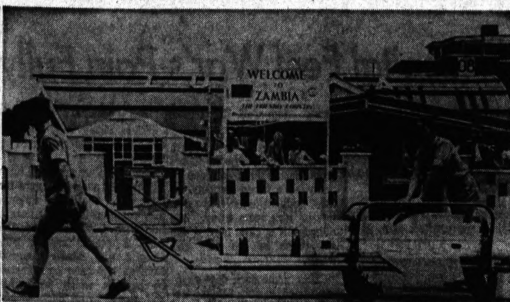

Her daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Exarhos of Detroit, obtained a court order giving her permission to open the site where she believed her mother was buried. She found nothing.

The hearing was called by Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid, who ordered Grode and Sidney List, Brookdale Cemetery Association president, to help relatives locate graves of relatives buried at Brookdale.

Grode guessed that map of the cemetery were "at least three to four feet off." He said it was also possible that Mrs. Ferdikes' body may not have been buried until April 1965, three months after the funeral.

Grode said when he assumed superintendent's duties in March there were 187 adult and 36 child caskets in a shed awaiting burial, including 12 unidentified ones.

List said the graves could be located. He blamed the problem on cemetery workers who he said regraded the area without using stakes to mark grave sites exactly.

De Gaulle Jabs at U.S. in Election Talk

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle, in a campaign jab at the United States, has blamed the U.S. balance of payments deficit for France's economic woes.

De Gaulle made the statement last night in a television speech that indicated the 75-year-old general hasn't changed his attack on U.S. monetary policies since his failure to win outright reelection Dec. 5.

The United States has no inflation at home, he said, because, "Thanks to what is being called the 'gold exchange standard', it is able to export its inflation."

"We have no such opportunity," he added.

De Gaulle's remarks reflected his government's criticism of the U.S. balance of payments deficit as the main cause of the deficiencies of the International Monetary System.

TELLS OF GAINS

De Gaulle, in a television appearance before the French public, reeled off a long list of government accomplishments in domestic affairs in an effort to counter criticisms that his seven-year presidency has plunged France into an economic quandary.

Leftist Francois Mitterrand, De Gaulle's rival in the election runoff next Sunday, appeared on television before De Gaulle and criticized the French president's foreign policies as being inconsistent and shifting.

Mitterrand has received the support of the powerful French Communist party.

Meanwhile, in a radio interview, Communist Party Secretary General Waldeck Rochet said his party has some differences with Mitterrand's support of the NATO alliance, friendship with the United States and united Europe.

Dies of Mishap Injuries

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Ayres, 41, of Battle Creek, died Sunday of injuries suffered Dec. 6 in an auto accident.

Despite Planner Approval

Waterford Denies Zoning Bid

The Waterford Township Board last night denied a rezoning request for establishment of a restaurant at Telegraph and Haddrell, reversing recommendations by the Township Planning Commission and Oakland County Coordinating Zoning and Planning Committee.

Trustee Rudy Mansfield was the lone dissenter in the 6-1 vote.

Residents of Haddrell and other nearby streets in Ramona Terrace Subdivision attended the meeting to argue against rezoning the two parcels covering 25,926 square feet from R-1 to C-2.

They remarked on the increased traffic and health problems the drive-in type restaurant would bring to the area.

The applicants countered, arguing that almost all other property along Telegraph is zoned commercial and that the narrow depth frontage of the two parcels is not conducive to office buildings.

UNAWARE OF ZONING

The owners of the land, R. L. Harris and Percy Secord, said they were unaware that the property was zoned R-2 when they had their houses torn down. The land was rezoned from commercial to restricted office district in 1963.

Exponents of the rezoning request indicated the restaurant, proposed by an Okla.-based chain known as Mr. S, would cater to a family trade and that there would be a substantial amount of inside seating.

They promised there would be no car-hop service. The operation would have been opened from 11 to 11.

SUSPENDED — Vicki Norman, 15-year-old 9th grader in Irving, Tex., peers from behind the long bangs she says resulted in her suspension from classes. The principal wants them trimmed.

$8,000 in Coins Stolen

DETROIT (AP)—A rare coin shop on Detroit's West Side Monday was robbed of $8,000 worth of valuable coins by two men, one of them armed with a gun. Shop owner John Abbott said they took the coins from a safe which they forced him to open.

A spokesman said that if Harris and Secord were unable to collect rent on the lease, they would be in serious trouble.

BACK APPROVAL

The planners previously recommended approval of the request, providing that access to the restaurant be limited to Telegraph and that the island on Telegraph not be removed.

The applicants had promised that there would be a green belt area along Haddrell, a dead-end street with six homes, and a wall along the back of the property.

In other business, the board granted tentative approval for transfer of a resort license from the White Lake Inn on Ormond Road to 7605 M59.

Final approval hinges on acceptance by the liquor control commission. The business is owned by James and Donald Osborne.

Reappointed to the township board of canvassers last night for two-year terms were Frederick M. Thompson, 5882 Dubay and Robert C. Beattie, 3357 W. Walton. Their present terms expire Dec. 31.

New School Created at Brandeis University

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP)—Brandeis University has announced the creation of the Philip W. Lown School of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies, made possible by a previously undisclosed gift of Philip W. Lown of West Newton, Mass.

Brandeis plans to consolidate several departments into the new school and to expand study and research programs in these areas.

Pray for Quick Death

Viet Nam Civilians in Hospital Feel War's Pain Fully

By TOM TIEDIE
CAN THO, Viet Nam (NEA)—There are five of them, all wrapped in the blood-red sheets of the same bed. A father, mother and three kids. "This fellow's whole family was hit," says the doctor.

"How?" someone asks him. "In a bombing raid," he answers.

"Viet Cong?"
"No, United States. Explosives don't discriminate."

A LOUD GROAN

From the rear of the long, unbelievably dirty corridor, a woman groans loudly. She is dying of a bullet wound in the stomach. Her baby is dying beside her of malnutrition.

A young child plays with spiders in an empty plasma bottle. A startled chicken squawks and scurries under the antiseptics table. A mountain of flies feasts on a spilled bowl of rice.

There is a grim joke among Vietnamese peasants that if you are hurt, pray for death. Otherwise you must go to the hospital.

The civilian hospital in this Mekong Delta community isn't really as bad as that. Filthy, yes; foul-smelling, certainly; understaffed, of course.

NOT ALL DIE

But not everyone dies here. Only about 30 or 40 per cent.

"Well, I'm not entirely sure of the percentage," says Capt. Alberto Hayek of New Haven, Conn., one of several U.S. surgeons who assist Vietnamese physicians here. "But I'd guess probably close to that many . . . in the eight months I've been here, anyway."

"The trouble is we always seem to get them either too late or too dirty. Even when they are brought in relatively soon after they are hurt, their wounds are infected to a terrible extent."

"Our surgical room is clean and modern, of course, but the rest of the hospital is in the dark ages. They don't even bathe here. Some of the patients have never bathed in their lives."

FULL OF MISCHIEF

A handsome 9-year-old girl hobbles up mischievously and clouts the doctor playfully with her crutch. He laughs. Everybody laughs. Including the young girl, who almost topples over because she has lost a foot.

"How long she been here, doc?" someone asks.

"Six months or more," he answers.

"It take that long for an amputation to heal?"

"Not normally, but when we cut the foot off it infected. Then when we grafted skin, it infected. And, well, like I said, they never bathe."

The hospital is crowded. Three to a bed. Ten by 15-foot rooms house three cots and as many as a dozen patients. It must be this way, says the doctor, or turn them away. And although it is close now, it will get worse as the war gets worse.

More come each day—shot, mutilated, in pain, praying for life or merciful death.

In this bed an old, scraggly whiskered man whimpers wofully and feels for a left arm that had been blown off earlier in the day. In that bed a pregnant woman bleeds from a profusion of shrapnel holes.

An otherwise pretty girl has had her lip shot off. Gangrene has eaten into an infant's shoulder. Missing hands, arms, legs . . . and insects flocking to the stumps.

TWO NURSES

There are several buildings in the compound, several hundred patients—and two nurses. The attendants, must of course, remain in the emergency ward and thus the other buildings are largely understaffed. If someone needs help, they scream and hope a nurse has time to come.

And if none have time . . . ?

"Then they may just die alone," mumbles the doctor bitterly.

The mid-afternoon air is thick as relatives pack in to care for their sick. Chattering children play catch-me-if-you-can near a father who has been shot in the head. A husband fans and comforts a wife whose wounded stomach has been complicated by bacteria which penetrated and spread to all parts of her body.

They are civilians, innocent, of course.

But this is war.

ANIMATED—Animated cartoons bring the movies into the playroom. This version animates skits by a turn of a knob, without batteries.

'Late Show Talk Too Risque'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A member of the Federal Communications Commission said today that some of the chitchat on late-night television shows is beginning to border on the indecent.

FCC Commissioner Robert E. Lee expressed concern over the situation in an interview with UPI. He said he planned no official action, but hoped to stir dialogue within the broadcast industry which will lead to clear guidelines for decency.

"I don't want the industry to degenerate into indecency," he said.

Lee's concern centered on the National Broadcasting Co.'s "Tonight" show, hosted by Johnny Carson. He said he often watched the program, which is shown in more than 150 cities around the nation.

"I don't want to say anything against Carson," Lee said. "He is a great talent and has a good program. But there have been four or five incidents on his show over the past year which would raise some eyebrows."

MILLAND CITED

On one show, he said, movie actor Ray Milland told an anecdote about his use of a pool on a movie set as a comfort station during the filming of a swimming scene.

"I'm not a prude," said Lee. "In fact, I'm one of the greatest dirty-story tellers in town. I haven't been offended and maybe nobody has."

"After all, Carson has a sophisticated show at an hour when the kids are in bed. I'm not exercised enough over this to make a crusade out of it."

"But I do feel that late-night shows are getting pretty close to the line of indecency and broadcasters might tend to think, 'If we can get away with this, maybe we can go a little further.'"

MIGHT SPILL OVER

In New York, Carson's producer, Art Stark, said, "Any free-wheeling, ad-lib show tends to spill over sometimes."

"I don't know what you can do to stop it," Stark said, "unless it is to stop the show entirely. I think, in the main, the show is really kept within the bounds of good taste."

"I would like for the broadcasters themselves to talk it over now and decide what's right and what's wrong," Lee said. "I hope they'll police themselves and keep everything within bounds."

Lee said there was clear distinction between publishers who publish during magazines or books and broadcasters. "A person has to seek out and purchase a publication of questionable taste."

Hall said the flash flood, which created washes and a stream eight feet wide and six feet deep, occurred about 10 p.m. PST following several hours of steady rain, which burst one or more culverts.

The cast and crew of the movie, which stars Lee Marvin, Burt Lancaster, Robert Ryan, Jack Palance, Ralph Bellamy and Claudia Cardinale, were reported to have been caught briefly between two of the four or more washes down which water rushed.

Hall said all of the movie company personnel were okay and could remain in the area during the night without harm. However, most were expected to return to Las Vegas.

"Taking the Lord's name in vain is profane," he said. "Appealing to the prurient interests is obscene. But what is indecent?"

Indians' Ban on Two VISTA Workers Aired

RED CLIFF, Wis. (AP) — A Washington official powwowed far into the predawn hours today with Red Cliff leaders to decide whether to try to resume a domestic peace corps project on a remote Indian reservation where two coeds have been barred.

No decision was announced by Alfred P. Johnson, field support officer for Volunteers in Service to America — VISTA.

The tribal council's meeting to determine whether to continue the ban on the two VISTA workers was postponed Monday night because it had not been called the required three days in advance. The meeting was reset for next Monday night.

Johnson, who arrived from Washington Monday, said that even if the council should revoke its edict, the project might not be continued if it lacked popular support among the tribe.

COUNCIL VOTE

The council voted 5-2 last week to bar the VISTA workers, Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., and Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill., from the reservation. Three other VISTA workers at Bad River Indian Reservation, near Ashland, have been criticized by a Roman Catholic priest there as inexperienced and unneeded.

Critics have charged youth clubs operated by VISTA on the reservations did no more than stage dances. But Johnson said both clubs were being used as stepping stones in education projects.

VISTA backers claimed signatures of adults in 39 of the 52 Red Cliff households on a petition asking that the project be resumed.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Jewish Congress has called on the federal government not to finance the war in Viet Nam at the expense of the war on poverty at home.

In a policy statement, the AJC said: "Our country dares not seek to resolve the Viet Nam situation at the price of losing the war in Watts, in Appalachia, and in every other area where hunger and despair grip our citizens."

Sultry Star Makes Cowboy Film

Swedish 'Dish' Western Style

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD — It's a long distance from the explicit dramas of Sweden to an American Western.

Bibi Andersson has made the transition with what appears to be highly satisfactory results. Bibi is the striking blonde who achieved fame as leading lady in Ingmar Bergman films, some of which have run afoul of American censors. Producer-director Ralph Nelson admired her work and cast her with James Garner and Sidney Poitier in "Duel at Diablo," which was made entirely on location near Kanab, Utah.

Westerns have progressed beyond the era when the cowboy star kissed only his horse.

"Four men try to tear my clothes off in one scene," reported Bibi. "But of course this is a Western, and the hero resists."

NO STAND-INS

"In Sweden we have no stand-ins," she commented. "The actores me before they can succeed."

I asked if a European version was filmed, in which the hero arrived late. No, she said, expressing interest in the practice of some American producers to franker or nude versions for the overseas trade.

FULLY CLOTHED!

"We do the same thing in Sweden; we make American versions," she said. "For the version here, the girl wears pants and a bra."

Bibi Andersson seems capable of playing both sides of the ocean. Her English is flawless. She admitted enjoying the location, grunting though it may have seemed.

"For the first eight weeks the sun shone," she said. "Since I am from Sweden, that's all I needed to keep me happy. Later it rained, and I was not so lucky. But I managed to keep my spirits up."

Even on a rugged location, filming in America is easier than in Sweden, she said.

NO STAND-INS

"In Sweden we have no stand-ins," she commented. "The actors have to stand under the hot lights until the scene is ready, and that is very tiring."

"My stand-in on 'Duel at Diablo' was so good she was doing half my part. She is an excellent rider, and she performed the action scenes. I got worried that she would take the part away from me."

It should be noted that Bibi possesses a puckish sense of humor, and one is not sure how much of what she says to believe. For instance, she talks of winning $90 from Jim Garner in a card game. Yes, Jim (Maverick) Garner.

Bibi had been joined by her husband, Professor-writer Kjell Grede, for a brief vacation before returning to Stockholm. He enjoyed the lush life at the Beverly Hills Hotel, although she was slightly piqued when she was not allowed to enter the polo lounge in slacks.

"It is so beautiful here," she commented as she gazed out at the sunshine and palm trees. "I have the feeling that Los Angeles is like a weekend. Sweden is a long Monday."

WANTS CREMATION

His secretary, Alan Searle, said the writer had expressed the wish he should be cremated — and the hope his ashes could rest in England's historic Canterbury Cathedral.

Searle held no hope for Maugham's recovery. He said Maugham's remains would be taken to London after Christmas.

Writer May Go Home to Die

Temporary Gains Seen for Maugham

NICE, France (UPI) — British writer Somerset Maugham may be taken home from the Anglo-American hospital to his beloved "Villa Mauresque" to die, his doctor said today.

The 91-year-old author has been hospitalized in a coma since he suffered a stroke Saturday.

Two specialists and his personal physician, Dr. Georges Rozanoff, today found that Maugham's condition had improved slightly during the night.

He said after examining his unconscious patient this morning that treatment under an oxygen tent last night had eliminated fluid which had accumulated in the lungs, that the fever had abated, and that the old man's reflexes in the lower portion of the body had returned.

But Dr. Rozanoff warned that such a temporary improvement was no cause for hope that Maugham would ever regain consciousness.

ON THE RIVIERA

The doctor told newsmen he hoped to be able to move Maugham in an ambulance the four miles from the Anglo-American hospital to his Riviera estate once it is known that death is imminent, which could be a matter of hours.

Maugham would be taken to his big bed in the second story bedroom with a view of the Mediterranean and the pines of a private park surrounding the Moorish style villa.

The doctors had said from the beginning they could do little or nothing to prevent Maugham's death, and his brain already had suffered damage from the stroke.

Death would not be unwelcome to Maugham. With his faculties declining in recent years, he had often expressed the wish his life should end before returning to Stockholm.

WANTS CREMATION

His secretary, Alan Searle, said the writer had expressed the wish he should be cremated — and the hope his ashes could rest in England's historic Canterbury Cathedral.

Searle held no hope for Maugham's recovery. He said Maugham's remains would be taken to London after Christmas.

Moving of OCC Facilities Completed Ahead of Schedule

Oakland Community College yesterday completed the move of its administrative facilities from the Highland Lakes Campus to the newly acquired building on Opdyke and Hickory Grove.

The move had been planned during the Christmas holidays but was advanced when the college turned over the property to the college last Wednesday, according to an OCC official.

Members of the college's board of trustees authorized the purchase of the nine-acre parcel containing a 25,000 square foot building last Tuesday night for $241,000.

Marines Battle to Block Cong Escape

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines called today for heavy blows from the skies to cut off Communist escape routes on the seventh day of Operation Harvest Moon, 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. jets seared the ground with napalm after the elusive Communists fired on U.S. Marine helicopters lifting a Leatherneck infantry unit into blocking positions to prevent the flight by river elements of the big Communist force.

As the massive U.S.-Vietnamese sweep south of Da Nang attempted to tighten the vise, U.S. Air Force B-52s pounded suspected Communist positions for the third straight day, blasting huge craters in the rice valley battleground.

"Beautiful," exclaimed the commander of the Marine task force, Brig. Gen. Jonas Platt, as the aerial barrage rained down on targets near the town of Viet An, 32 miles south of Da Nang.

CONG CHASED

While the Communists played hide-and-seek with several thousand Leathernecks and Vietnamese troops, helicopter carriers lifted Marines from Viet An to lookouts over the Chang River to overtake Viet Cong trying to escape to Laos.

The airlift drew bullets from across the river, but the Marines retaliated with artillery, mortars and an air assault that sent up huge balls of fire over the valley.

Johnson Meets With Pakistani

Talks Likely to Focus on Kashmir, Asia Ills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan arrives today for talks with President Johnson that are expected to focus on the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan and other Asian problems such as the war in Viet Nam.

Johnson and Ayub were to meet behind closed doors with top advisers after the late morning arrival from New York of the strapping soldier-statesman.

A red carpet welcome with full military honors was being planned for Ayub on the south lawn of the White House.

President and Mrs. Johnson will give a state dinner for Ayub tonight. The Pakistani leader also plans to lay a wreath on the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

RED ADVOCATE

With Ayub on his U.S. trip his foreign minister, Z.A. Bhutto, considered an advocate of closer Pakistani ties with Communist China and stronger moves against India.

Ayub, who has labeled his mission here a "quest for peace," told the U.N. General Assembly Monday that Pakistan was willing to sign a no-war pledge with India, if India agreed to self-determination for the people of Kashmir. The two nations have been feuding over rival claims to the border province for years.

Indian Ambassador Gopalaswami Parthasarathi immediately denounced Ayub's speech as partisan and tendentious, and said he should not have even raised the Kashmir dispute before the 117-nation General Assembly.

With little prospect of an early solution to the Kashmir problem, official sources here said they did not see much likelihood of any immediate U.S. response to Ayub's request for resumption of American economic and military aid.

STOP AID

Since 1964, the United States has supplied $1 billion in military aid and $3.2 billion in economic aid to Pakistan.

The 22-day border war between India and Pakistan in September brought a freeze on U.S. military assistance to both countries.

U.S. officials see little chance of resuming aid while the dispute remains that fighting may break out again.

On Viet Nam, U.S. officials reportedly feel that Pakistan, a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, has been more friendly to Peking and Hanoi than this country would like it to be.

The two countries also disagree on the issue of Red China's admission to the United Nations, which Ayub favors and the United States opposes.

Two Passenger Trains to Be Cut at End of Year

Grand Trunk Western Railroad will discontinue two passenger trains between Detroit and Durand at the end of the year, according to a company official.

The trains, 22 and 57, both serving Pontiac, reportedly have been operating at an annual net loss of over $72,000.

Harry A. Sanders, Grand Trunk Western vice president and general manager, said that Train 57 will make its last run Dec. 28 at 11 p.m. from Detroit and Train 22 will make its final trip at 5:30 a.m. the next day from Durand.

The company will continue to operate four commuter trains between Detroit and Pontiac, Sanders said.

Since Train 22 which passes through Pontiac at 6:35 a.m. was used by some commuters, a revised schedule for the remaining four trains serving Pontiac will be established and announced soon, according to Sanders.

MOVE APPEALED

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) authorized discontinuance of Train 22 and 57 last August but this ruling was appealed by the Michigan Public Service Commission and the trains continued running.

The ICC denied the request for a rehearing and authorized discontinuance of the trains by the end of the year.

A lot of squeeze situations depend on your ability to count your opponents' hands. Almost all squeeze endplays fall into this category. West opens hearts and continues until South ruffs the third lead. South leads a trump to dummy, ruffs the last heart, and plays another spade to dummy.

It really isn't too difficult. He must discard down to the king of diamonds, whereupon South throws him in with a diamond and makes him lead a club. If he guards the king of clubs, South simply cashes the ace and queen.

An expert West will see this and play coming and will endeavor to get out of it by deceptive discarding. He is likely to discard the nine of diamonds, then the deuce of clubs and then the queen and jack of diamonds in an effort to convince South that he is down to the singleton ace of diamonds.

Sooners After Georgia Coach

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Vince Dooley, who led coach of the Georgia football team, has become the top prospect in the University of Oklahoma's search for a head coach.

Dooley, who in two years has rebuilt Georgia into a Southeastern Conference contender, planned to fly today to Norman, Okla., to meet with Oklahoma President George L. Cross.

The 33-year-old Georgia coach said Monday night Dr. Cross called twice to set up the interview.

"I wasn't even considering going out there until Dr. Cross called me the second time," said Dooley, who in an afternoon statement said he had been offered the job.

"Oklahoma has made me an attractive initial offer," Dooley said in the statement, "and, although I am very happy at Georgia, I may accept the gracious invitation to visit them."

Later, when he was contacted, Dooley announced he was going to visit the Oklahoma campus, but said he was "at liberty to say" whether he had a flat invitation to take the Sooner job vacated by Gomer Jones, who remains as Oklahoma athletic director.

Dooley said the second call made by Cross was so attractive "I just can't ignore it."

FRINGE BENEFITS

There were reports out of Oklahoma that Dooley was being lured by a $20,000 to $25,000 salary and a fancy fringe benefits. Dooley reportedly makes about $16,000 a year at Georgia, where he has four years left on a five-year contract.

Dooley probably was recommended for the job at Oklahoma by a close friend, Texas Coach Darrell Royal, who turned down an offer to become the Sooner coach Monday.

Oklahoma is the first school that has made public overtures to Dooley, who took over as Georgia coach before the 1964 season. In his two years here, Dooley has guided the Bulldogs to 13 victories, seven losses and one tie.

That record was built with teams thought to be a few years away from maturity. Georgia had won a total of only 10 games in the three years before Dooley took over after an eight-year hitch as an assistant coach at Auburn.

Dooley's first season was capped by a 7-0 victory over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. This fall the young Bulldogs opened the season with an 18-1 upset of defending national champion Alabama, and climbed to fourth place in the national rankings before injuries

ATTEND RITES — Jackie Robinson (right), the first Negro in Major League baseball attended the funeral of the man who hired him for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Branch Rickey. On the left with him is Frank Duncan, manager of the Kansas City Monarchs, from whom Rickey obtained Robinson. Funeral service was held yesterday.

Final Tribute Accorded Rickey

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Branch Rickey was given a final tribute Monday by just a few of the men on whom he left his mark as one of baseball's most brilliant and far-seeing executives.

Some 500 persons attended the funeral services in Grace Methodist Church for the front-office genius, who revolutionized baseball by creating the minor league farm system, introducing Negroes to the major leagues and forcing expansion.

Rickey, who died Thursday in Kansas, Mo., at the age of 83, will be buried today in the family plot in Lucasville, Ohio.

Among those listening to the praises heaped on the Mahatma in the eulogy by Dr. Ralph Dooley, who picked Sisker out of college, brought him to the old St. Louis Browns and was rewarded with a star who played his way into the Hall of Fame.

Musial was one of the many St. Louis Cardinals greats turned out by his farm system that supplied players and helped the Cardinals to nine pennants.

And the now grey-haired Robinson was the man he picked to break the major league color barrier with the old Brooklyn Dodgers. His farm system followed the likes of Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges and Duke Snider, who brought success to Brooklyn.

Also attending the service was Bill Shea, with whom Rickey proposed the Continental League, a third major league. It never got off the ground, but it did force major league baseball to expand its operations to other cities.

EXECUTIVES PRESENT
National League President Warren Giles, Cleveland Indians' President Gene Paul and Cincinnati owner Bill DeWitt were among those executives in the audience whom Rickey helped get a start in baseball.

"How could it be that a boy born in an obscure Ohio village should so extend his life that it became entwined with the heart strings of a hundred million people...?" asked Dr. Sockman, retired pastor of Christ Church Methodist in New York and an old friend of Rickey.

"Because of his courage and his vision he became a pioneer. He was adventurous enough to explore new trails.

"He has been called the mastermind of baseball. His brotherly spirit made him that."

"He so spoke, he so played, he so worked, he so lived that he has left Americans standing more upright."

Paul Assured $300,000 in Pay

Will Richards Take Life Easy?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paul Richards can sit back, relax and rake in $300,000 for the next five years without so much as moving a muscle, but you can bet he'll be in the oil wells in Texas he won't.

To understand why he won't, you first have to understand Richards, which is no small job in itself.

Here's a man who has disciplined himself like few others have in baseball. For all that discipline, however, he finds he still has to be where the action is and there is none at all for a man who simply sits home and collects monthly checks from a ball club for doing absolutely nothing.

Make no mistake, Richards has a deep, abiding appreciation for money.

On a few occasions, he has confessed to intimates that he has never made any "real money" until the last few years.

He has more than enough now to pay his green fees for the rest of his life and since he can only play one golf course at a time, that $60,000-per-year contract that the Houston Astros are committed to pay him off through 1970 will not actually be the prime factor when it comes time for him to determine his own future.

Right now, that $60,000 a year has a natural tendency to provide Richards with that heady, independent feeling.

NO PAY LOSS

Check him a year from now, though. Chances are he'll be working at another baseball job without losing a nickel. The Astros have a natural tendency to provide Richards with that heady, independent feeling.

Indiana Kegler Takes Top Spot in Tourney

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — In their match to decide who should roll against Rhoda, Big Gene Rhoda of Valparaiso, Ind., walked off with all the honors, including $5,000 in cash Monday night by winning the championship of the $30,000 Charlotte Chrysler-Plymouth Open Bowling Tournament with a 289 final game.

Norm Meyers of Los Angeles, Calif., picked up second-place money of $2,500 with a 208 score against Rhoda in the roll-off.

Rhoda, the qualifying leader, opened his championship bid with an eight-spare, came back with five strikes, a nine-spare, and added five more strikes to down the stylish Meyers.

Drama was added to the finals when Meyers and Detroit's Dave Soutar picked up a 190 tie in their match to decide who should roll against Rhoda.

EXTRA FRAMES

In a two-frame roll-off, Meyers edged the lanky Soutar, 46, in a tiebreaker.

Soutar picked up $1,500 for his third-place finish.

Buzz Fazio, 57-year-old veteran of the Professional Bowlers Association tour, lost his first two games in the finals despite posting scores of 202 and 213. Fazio, from Detroit, wound up fourth. He won $1,400.

The win was the third PBA Tournament victory for Rhoda, who has one sanctioned 300 game and holds the world record of 1,533 for a six-game tournament bout.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Mr. D and the passengers on the Zabbazara bus finally reach Santa Land, but the Voodoo man has already arrived and turned the elves to stone.

AFTER EIGHT

AP Newsfeatures
"The Voodoo man has been here!" cried the little boy. "He's turned them all to stone!"

"It can't be!" cried Mr. D. He ran into a work shop. It was the doll shop. A dozen elves sat at their work benches.

They had hammers and nails and needles and thread in their hands. But the hammers did not hammer and the needles did not sew.

The workers had frozen into statues. They were as lifeless as the dolls on the tables before them.

REINDEER STILL

It was the same in every shop. Mr. D went through them all. Even the reindeer in the stables were still.

And the elves who stood outside were as motionless as the rest — stopped in the midst of whatever they were doing and wherever they were going.

Tears welled up in Mr. D's eyes. He said it was the most dreadful day in history.

The little boy wept. So did the donkey and the crocodile. But the Fabulous Dunklebum said, "What about Santa Claus? Maybe he's not turned to stone."

VOODOO MAN HATEFUL

"But, he'd be the first," protested the little boy. "The Voodoo man hated him most of all."

"All the same," said the Fabulous Dunklebum, "I think I will go and see."

He waddled off, his long arms dangling and his lights blinking off and on. The others followed, though they were sure there wasn't any hope.

But they were wrong.

Because suddenly and for the first time they saw smoke curling up out of the chimney of a little red house that stood alone in a faraway field.

Santa Has Strange Group

They all saw it at the same time, and they ran as fast as they could across the field and up the steps of the little red house.

Mr. D banged with both fists on the door. He shouted, "Who's there? Oh, speak up! Is anyone there?"

The door opened. There stood Santa Claus! He was plump and ruddy-faced.

His eyes sparkled and his mouth turned up at the ends. He breathed and he moved. He was very much alive.

"Of course I'm here," he said, as calm as you please. "What did you expect?"

SURPRISED
The visitors were so stunned with surprise not one of them could find voice to speak. Their mouths worked but no words came.

Santa was used to strange visitors, but he had never seen as strange a group as this.

But he thought there was nothing a warm fire and a cup of hot chocolate couldn't cure, so he said, "This seems to be my day for visitors."

State Court LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS Eyes CMU Writ Plea

LANSING (AP) — With few legal precedents to follow, the State Court of Appeals today is studying Central Michigan University's petition to suppress a Senate committee report on faculty-administration relationships.

A three-judge panel declined Monday to take immediate action on the CMU petition for a writ compelling a special committee to observe the university's constitutional autonomy or issue an injunction blocking the committee's issuance of a report on its findings.

The court was being asked to rule on basic legal "questions that have never been settled before," said Presiding Judge John Fitzgerald.

The court gave Gerald Cotter, attorney for the CMU Board of Trustees, one week to file additional briefs. It gave Robert Derengoski, solicitor general for the state, another week in which to file answers. It was to rule before the legislature returned for its final adjournment, Dec. 30.

FOLLOW SANTA
The visitors came to life. They crowded around Santa into the house. Mr. D, seeing the package on the kitchen table, stammered, "Who brought it to you?"

INVOLVES AUTONOMY

"We're being asked to rule on a broad question involving university constitutional autonomy of state universities, the scope of legislative investigatory power," Fitzgerald said later.

"This is a matter of first and primary impression—that is, one that has never been settled before," he said. "We are being asked to declare a legislative committee null and void and to prevent it from issuing a report."

"It's a rather serious matter, and as was pointed out by the defense, we are being asked to inject ourselves, rather forcefully into another branch of state government," he said, adding: "Also, the material presented to us was prepared in a hurry and is fragmentary."

Although CMU asked for immediate relief, the fact that the report cannot be issued officially until the legislature again in session "obviates somewhat the need for immediate action," he added.

Peter quickly sold the first five trees. "When I sell the last I'll have enough to buy medicine for mother," he said.

He went to the home of Farmer Gottlieb, a big, happy fellow who had worked hard and was a man of property.

"Come in!" Gottlieb roared in answer to Peter's timid knock.

"I wonder if I could sell you a Christmas tree," said Peter.

Snow and Rain Are Prevalent

By The Associated Press

Snow, rain or fog covered most of the United States today. There was freezing drizzle in the New England coastal area during the early hours which coated streets and roads of Greater Boston and Rhode Island, and extended into southern New Hampshire.

A widespread snowstorm deposited moderate cover over the central Rockies and Plains. Lander, Wyo., reported three inches of snow accumulation in six hours. Denver, Colo., and North Platte, Neb., had two inches, and there was an inch or so in the central mountain area. Flurries, light snow and drizzle fell from the Great Lakes to New England.

WEATHER DISTURBANCE
Another weather disturbance over southern Texas and Louisiana drummed rain. About one half inch was reported at Cotulla, Tex.

In the middle Atlantic and central Gulf coastal regions, travel was impeded by heavy nighttime fog. There was some light fog in upstate New York where drizzle was the rule.

Skies cleared on the West Coast after western Washington experienced the season's first snow Monday, an inch spreading over north suburbs of Seattle for a few hours before rain washed it away. The snowfall brought a rash of traffic accidents, including one on Interstate highway 5 north of Vancouver, Wash., which involved nine automobiles.

British-Irish Trade Pact Near

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Ireland reached agreement in principle early today on a free trade pact, political sources reported. The signing, expected this afternoon, will be a landmark in three bitter centuries of British-Irish history.

The sources said the agreement was reached after midnight by Prime Minister Sean Lemass of the Irish Republic and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. It came after a year of undercover negotiation from which few details have emerged.

The main lines of the pact are clear, however. Ireland's economy over the coming years will be ever more closely integrated with that of Britain, and political ties should also draw closer.

For Lemass, 61, and Wilson, 49, the agreement represents both achievement and political hazard. Lemass was a messenger boy in the 1916 uprising that led eventually to the republic's independence. His extremist critics now say that free trade represents a surrender to the old English enemy.

On the plus side he can argue that it will give Ireland's farmers free access to the British market, which is their main export. Against this, he has to persuade Irish manufacturers that they can benefit from the competition of British industrial giants from which they are now protected.

Wilson has long hankered to be the British statesman who finally solves the "Irish question" — a history of feuding and fighting that dates from the 17th century.

He also can use an immediate political success. Rhodesia is producing a sort of present-day Irish question, and the Irish vote in Britain might be decisive in the next parliamentary elections.

But Wilson will have to persuade British farmers that the Irish will not cut them out of business. This will also have to be put over to such other supporters as the New Zealanders and the Danes.

The agreement represents a major advance in British-Irish thinking. Only 30 years ago, L-mass' boyhood hero, the current Irish President Eamon De Valera, erected a tariff barrier against Britain and declared an "economic war" as a means of ending Ireland's partition.

Lemass, son of a storekeeper, has spent his six years as prime minister trying to persuade the Irish that their best hope for prosperity lies in a businesslike accommodation with their neighbor and biggest customer.

He has pressed the point in speeches that Britain buys 70 per cent of all Ireland's exports and nearly 90 per cent of her farm exports. Britain also supplies half of what Ireland buys abroad.

Trading Active

Market Advance Is Moderate

NEW YORK (AP) — Airlines and defense-related issues were strong in a moderately advancing stock market early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains of fractions to 2 points or so prevailed among the favored issues.

Steels also continued to gain ground, resuming their rise yesterday on brighter prospects for the industry. Most of the gains were fractional.

Motors continued to give a spotty performance despite predictions of another big car-selling year in 1966.

Rubbers, drugs, rails and non-defense-related issues were higher on balance. Utilities were higher on RISE.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 8.8 to 354.8 with industrials up 1.8, rails up 2 and utilities off 1. After some hesitation at the opening, stocks began to move higher. Big blocks were traded in such issues as American Phosphate, Southern California Edison, Sperry Rand, Eastern Airlines, A.J. Industries and General Aniline, most of these at fractionally higher prices.

Biggest transaction was 69,500 shares of Goodyear, off 1/4 at 53 1/2.

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex and American Book were up about 3 each. Mack Truck warrants and Revco D.S. Inc.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading. U.S. decline in stock transactions over the counter.

30 Planes Hunt Space Doctor

Cloud Cover Grounds Part of Air Search

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — About 30 New Mexico aircraft were in the air today while cloud cover grounded airplanes in Colorado in the search for a missing plane carrying the U.S. director of space medicine.

The airplane, missing since Sunday on a flight from Aspen, Colo., to Albuquerque over the rugged mountains of New Mexico and Colorado, carried Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace II, 57, his wife Mary, 53, and pilot Milton Brown, 27, of the Cutter Flying Service, Albuquerque.

BIG WINNER — Willfred D. Osman (center) receives the maximum $5,000 award under the General Motors suggestion program from John Z. DeLoane, a General Motors vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager. Osman's wife, Jean, an employee in Pontiac's organization and analysis department, joined her husband for the presentation.

VERSATILE COPTER — A workhorse helicopter which can carry passengers or cargo has been developed in Bremen, West Germany, as a joint German-American project. Dubbed the "flying crane," the copter can be fitted with a cabin between its gawky legs to carry 45 passengers. Or it can lift up to eight tons of cargo. In successful tests, it has placed high-tension towers, picked up aircraft in inaccessible terrain and been used in air-sea rescue operations.

Newest Cameras Do All but Pick Out the Subject

Perhaps the most exciting that can be plugged in anywhere, to provide instant illumination for indoor color or black and white movies.

The light is designed to ride sort of a "piggy-back" on an Instamatic movie camera without in any way interfering with handling otherwise.

CAMERA DOES IT ALL
Again it's a case of the equipment doing everything but deciding what is to be photographed.

Yet, this year's cameras are truly "gifted."

With all due respect to the growing photographic sophistication of confirmed hobbyists, they too are interested along with hordes of beginners in the new equipment.

Just as in the case of the beginner, the built-in improvements eliminate so many complexities and inconveniences of the past that all the photographer need to do to get good results is to concentrate on pointing the camera.

Two major advances account for all this. One is the improved engineering of exposure control which means that, in many instances, you can't even click the shutter if the light isn't right.

The other is the introduction of loading systems that eliminate the need for "threading" the film into position. Just open the camera, drop the film cartridge into position — and you're all set to shoot.

The camera does everything but select the subject matter.

Some new models variously identified by terms such as "instant" loading and "Instamatic" also are powered to automatically advance the film after each shot, thus making the camera ready to take the next picture without further ado.

BUILT-IN FEATURE

The Instamatic line has introduced another built-in feature which greatly simplifies use of flash for still camera.

Instead of using the one-shot bulb system these new models are designed to accept a "flash cube."

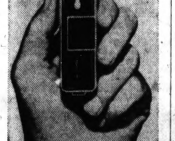

The new models are engineered to rotate the cube, to position a fresh flashbulb for the next shot — and this, too, is done automatically. Each cube has four flash bulbs.

Newest among the movie cameras is engineered to use the recently introduced Super 8 mm film in, of course, "drop in" containers.

Thus, with this new film furnishing larger image area, and the new models endowed with sharper lenses and automatic exposure control throughout the sequence, better, sharper, more vivid pictures result, even for the dub.

WEIGHTLESS LIGHT

Another development here is the creation of an almost weightless light with a long cord

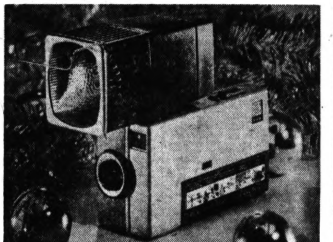

SUBMINIATURE — Cameras which can weigh as little as five ounces are now available in economy-priced models. This one uses 16 mm film in "drop-in cassettes." By

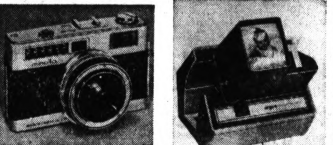

A budget priced camera is available also among the Polaroids which produce finished prints in seconds.

It's for black and white. Other models also make finished color prints.

Best bet is to seek the advice of the experts in the camera department doing everything but de-

BETTER MOVIES—Making better home movies indoors, on the new 8 mm film furnishing larger picture area, gets still another assist from new compact "instamatic" light that rides piggy-back, as shown above, aboard the new instamatic movie cameras. Both light and camera by Kodak.

COMPACT — Full frame 35 mm cameras with semi-automatic exposure control come in new compact, lightweight designs. Above, a Minolta.

ADDED CONVENIENCE — Four-flash cubes add convenience to the new inexpensive "drop in" loading cameras which come with spring-wound film advance, and some with automatic features eliminating need for any complicated exposure calculations. Above, Kodak Instamatic 404.

Increased U.S.-Red China Struggle Seen for 1966

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following dispatch, UPI's chief Washington diplomatic correspondent reads the portents of the coming year in the troubled Far East.)

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
WASHINGTON — The year ahead is likely to bring an intensification of the struggle between the United States and Red China for dominant influence in the Far East.

Although the war in Viet Nam is the most dangerous and costly front in the struggle, it is only one of many trouble spots in which the two powers are locked in hostile confrontation.

One of the most confident predictions that can be made about U.S. policy in 1966 is that more American troops and air power will be committed to the fighting in Viet Nam.

President Johnson is determined to press the military effort in the hope of persuading the Communists to talk peace on reasonable terms. But U.S. officials are reluctant at this point to make any forecasts about the ultimate success of this policy.

The United States now realizes that, for the foreseeable future, the Communists are not impressed by the growing American commitment.

INCREASED EFFORT
Red China and North Viet Nam are making obvious preparations to increase the strength of the forces battling U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

Third parties undoubtedly will continue efforts to get the combatants to the peace table. But the prospects appear dim.

The United States is willing to hold "unconditional discussions," but its terms for final settlement — complete elimination of Communist influence from South Viet Nam — add to a demand for unconditional surrender so far as the Communists are concerned.

Red terms for settling the dispute, on the other hand, call for giving the Communists a political victory which they have been unable to achieve by military means.

GROWING WAR

In this situation, the two sides seem to be locked in an escalating conflict which could well erupt into general war unless considerable caution is exercised by leaders on both sides.

President Johnson still is resisting pressure from military officials and some congressmen to bomb the North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, which some claim would bring the Reds to terms.

When the new Congress convenes, pressure of this type is bound to mount and the American public may grow restive under the impact of mounting casualty lists in a still "limited" war.

Red China, for its part, has been very careful not to become directly involved in Viet Nam with its own troops.

But Peking is increasing its material support of the North Vietnamese, has some engineering troops in North Viet Nam and could be pulled into the conflict if American actions appear to threaten the continued existence of the buffer Communist state of North Viet Nam.

Here is a brief rundown of other trouble spots or potential trouble spots which may add to the general disorder in Asia:

INDONESIA: This vast archipelago, whose position flanks American forces in Viet Nam and British military strength in Malaysia, will continue to cause concern.

The present government is continuing the strong leftist and anti-Western policy which has been followed since 1959.

British have assured Washington that their military forces in the area, which include 50,000 men and more than one-third of the entire British fleet, can handle Sukarno.

MALAYSIA: Sukarno's efforts to carry out his threat to "crush" of the British Commonwealth of Malaysia, now bereft of the major city of Singapore, have been somewhat in abeyance since the domestic Indonesian turmoil claimed his full attention.

It is expected that Sukarno will resume this campaign, which U.S. officials see as an effort to divert attention from domestic troubles, as soon as he feels firm in the saddle again.

However, London's current review of its defense budget, aimed at reducing expenses, poses the threat that the United States may be called upon for assistance.

INDIA-PAKISTAN: The United States is attempting to use the leverage provided by its huge aid programs, presently suspended, to force these two countries to adopt a more rational approach toward the solution of the Kashmir conflict and their multitude of other disputes.

President Johnson will try in forthcoming talks with the leaders of the two countries to make it clear that the United States does not propose to provide further economic or military aid in any considerable amount unless there is major progress in settling disputes.

U.S. officials acknowledge that prospects are not too good for reconciliation between these two countries divided by problems which have their roots deep in history, religion and economics.

RED CHINA: U.S. officials believe that Red China cannot be a real nuclear menace for six or seven years at earliest because of its lack of a sophisticated missile delivery system.

They acknowledge, however, that Peking's progress in exploding nuclear devices has given the Chinese a "blackmail" weapon, particularly insofar as India is concerned.

Even a nuclear bomb could be carried over a major Indian city by one of the jet bombers the Chinese have.

The United States, which is seeking to prevent the further spread of nuclear weapons, is not at all certain that India will continue to refrain from manufacturing its own.

India has the scientific know-how as well as the resources to do this and pressure is increasing on the government to undertake such a program.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHIMNEY SWIFTS

QUESTION: What do chimney swifts use for food?

ANSWER: Chimney swifts are common birds, but few people see them at close hand or know much about them. This is because swifts are either fluttering high in the air at a dizzy speed or concealed within the dark chimneys where most of them nest.

Sometimes a swift will work his way down the chimney and emerge through a fireplace into a room.

One can catch them in the hands and admire the extreme grace and beauty of their streamlined bodies, before setting them free in the open air.

Swifts are very useful little birds because of the great numbers of insects they catch for food while darting around in the air.

Their menu includes many mosquitoes. In the nesting season, swifts snap off twigs as they fly by and carry them inside a chimney to stick against the wall with their saliva, building up a nest in this way.

Look at the flying swifts in the picture and you will see a set of spines on the end of the tail. Inside the chimney, the swifts uses these to prop himself against the wall, also using his claws to hang on with.

The swift's sooty coloring matches the odd location in which he chooses to live, which is at least a safe one, since other animals are not equipped to enter it.

FOR YOU TO DO: Cut out this article to be pasted in your scrapbook. Swifts have a special interest because they can fly so fast, up to 60 miles an hour. Certain species in Asia are said to be able to fly even faster than this.

Lifelike Dolls Highlight Santa's Newest Crop

The child's dream of a "living doll" comes closer than ever to reality, this Christmas. Santa's newest crop adds spectacularly to the scope of dolls' almost human performance.

And conversely, Santa's 1965 pack holds a record variety of dolls inspired by sheer fantasy, ranging from whimsical fairy Gnomes, inspired by Op Art and bearing a hep philosophy of life, to character dolls from juvenile literature, such as Mary Poppins and Cinderella and bizarre monster types.

Significant advance in the almost human category of dolls is evidenced by the muscular virtuosity of the newest plastic babies. Posi Playmate, for example, has a soft, cuddly foam body and ingenious wiring of arms and legs.

This new construction endows Posi with astonishing flexibility. Moving side glance eyes and pixie hair add to the charm of this versatile baby.

Bubble Bath Baby is another manifestation of the realer-than-real styling in the doll sector of Toyland. This fully jointed doll arrives under the Yule tree in a two-piece terry-cloth towel ensemble, holding a sponge accompanied by a plastic bathnet.

ALL BABY NEEDS

Bath toys, bubble bath makings and all the good grooming accessories baby needs are included.

This season the baby doll is setting a record, outpointing in numbers and variety the glamorous category. Larger size dolls of all ages, too, appear to be on a rising wave.

Sniffles is another new baby doll with an added touch of realism. Tears come after the bottle is finished and baby lies down; to need to squeeze this baby to start off the weeping — it's a gravity trick.

A record crop of walking dolls will parade around 1965 Christmas trees. A trend setter is Annette who boasts a slender silhouette than previous walkers and long, long hair.

She illustrates a new approach to gift packaging that dramatizes doll talents realistically. For example, Annette, packed in a walking position, is shown buying from a flower cart.

BLEACHES, TOO

Santa caters to the young hairdresser with Peggy Anne who boasts a wide choice of wigs. Hair coloring aids are featured, too, for teen-age doll sophisticates.

Patty Duke is the only star of the entertainment world to gain stardom in the doll world, too. The replica of the talented young actress features poseable limbs, rooted side-flip hair do and a two-piece casual outfit.

In line with the almost human dolls' fuller participation in family life is Carry Baby, a new tote doll that arrives in a travel crib with handles and a smartly scalloped hood. Wispy styled hair gives another touch of realism.

In the literary sector of the greatest variety of representation. Costumes modeled after the costumes Julie Andrews wore in the film include a nandoll category. Larger size dolls of all ages, too, appear to be on a rising wave.

Birch Society Said Object of GOP Rejection

Idaho's Gov. Smylie:
No Names Mentioned
but Target Apparent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie says Republican chieftains were talking about the John Birch Society when they rejected extremist organizations—but named no names.

Smylie spoke out after a Birch Society leader praised yesterday's resolution in which the Republican Coordinating Committee said party members should "reject membership in any radical or extremist organization."

The GOP policymaking council also urged President Johnson to set up around North Viet Nam the kind of naval quarantine President John F. Kennedy once used against Cuba.

The committee recommended "maximum use of American conventional air and sea power against significant military targets" in the Communist north.

"Under our present policy in Viet Nam," the coordinating committee said, "there is a growing danger that the United States is becoming involved in an endless Korean-type jungle war."

SUPPLIES BY SEA
"Since it appears that the major portion of North Vietnamese military supplies arrive by sea," it added, "our first objective should be to impose a Kennedy-type quarantine on North Viet Nam."

Republican resolutions on extremism and Viet Nam were unanimously adopted yesterday at a day-long committee session.

John Rousselet, the Birch Society public relations man, said the coordinating committee acted wisely in dealing with the question of extremism.

"We're pleased they have taken this stand," he said.

SENATE LEADER
"Who is Rousselet?" asked Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen.

"If John Rousselet endorsed this statement," House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford said, "I have grave doubts that he fully understood the importance of it."

Smylie put it this way in an interview: "To us, the resolution that was adopted means the John Birch Society is an extreme and radical organization."

Passage of GI Bill for Viet Veterans Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, the father of the GI Bill of Rights for Korean war veterans, predicted today early approval of a new bill which would grant similar benefits to American fighting men in Viet Nam.

Such a bill already has been approved by the Senate.

He said he hopes the Johnson administration will retreat from its opposition to the measure when his committee resumes hearings next month on the measure.

"There is reason to believe they have changed their views," Teague added, noting that conferences have been under way in Washington to ease administration objections. "We want to try to pass something they can live with," he said.

Explaining why the administration opposes the bill, Teague said: "Money is the whole thing." He estimated the bill would cost several hundred million dollars in the first year.

Like the previous bills which helped millions of World War II veterans go to college and buy homes, the new bill would pay college or vocational school expenses and guarantee loans for purchase of homes, farms and farm equipment for veterans with more than 180 days' active service since Jan. 31, 1955, when the Korean GI bill expired.

Maximum education payments would be $10 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents for up to 36 months.

Maximum guarantees of home purchase loans would be $7,500 for commercial loans and $15,000 for direct government loans where private financing is not available.

JULY '67 CUTOFF

The Senate bill, sponsored by Teague's fellow Texas Democrat, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, sets a July 1, 1967 cut-off.

Rusk: U.S. Role 'Pillar of Peace'

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called today for greater allied understanding and support of the American war effort in Viet Nam and warned that the fate of the North Atlantic alliance might be decided on the distant battlefields there.

Rusk told the annual meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's foreign, finance and defense ministers that a Communist success in Viet Nam might lead to new Communist adventures elsewhere.

Rusk spoke behind closed doors at the opening of the 15-nation policy review. Spokesmen relayed his words to newsmen.

British Defense Minister Dennis Healey, representing Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, supported Rusk's argument.

Rusk said U.S. commitments in various parts of the world to halt the spread of communism represent a "main pillar of peace."

While Southeast Asia is a long way from the frontiers of Europe, he continued, the United States cannot and will not choose between various commitments.

DEFENSIVE SHIELD

He implied that to do so would destroy the credibility of NATO itself as a defensive shield for the Western world.

He asked America's allies what would happen to the confidence and conscience of the American people if they were asked to pick and choose which of their solemn commitments to maintain.

What would it mean, Rusk went on, if Americans honored a commitment in one part of the world and set it aside in another?

Rusk asked the allies to provide doctors and engineers for Viet Nam. This apparently was an appeal for a psychological demonstration of support. He made no call for any military commitment.

'END CARPING'

Further, Rusk urged the NATO allies to give their sympathy for what the United States was doing in Southeast Asia and to end any carping and criticism.

The French, in particular, have been critical of American actions in Viet Nam. Some of the other NATO allies also have had whispered reservations.

Conference sources said this was Rusk's basic thesis: If the Communists are going to continue to believe that the United States will fight to defend Western Europe, the Reds must be shown that the Americans will not allow Southeast Asia to be overrun.

Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin agreed with Rusk that threats of peace outside the NATO area inevitably were of concern to members of the alliance.

He said there was a need to deepen and broaden exchanges on world problems, especially

Warn of Troop Cuts in Europe

Allied War Aloofness
Could Force Cutback

PARIS (UPI) — The United States may be forced to pull some of its military forces out of Europe to meet the growing demands of the Viet Nam war, authoritative sources said today.

Officials said there are no plans at the moment to cut down the U.S. military commitment in Europe.

But they said the absence of western allied support for the Viet Nam war could force a change.

American officials have made it clear to their North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) allies that they expect the Western powers to pull their weight in Europe while the United States is shouldering the main burden in Southeast Asia.

They have said the United States will stand by its commitment for the continued defense of Europe and does not want to pull out.

GROWING IRRITATION

But there is growing irritation with what is considered "foot dragging" by the European allies who have refused to carry what the U.S. considers a adequate proportion of the Western defense burden.

The Americans say this is happening while Europe's economic strength is greater than at any time since World War II.

But so far there has been little response to U.S. diplomatic prodding.

There is no possibility of European nations making troops available for Viet Nam, and the United States if not asking for them.

5 Directors Elected by Local C. of C.

Five new members have just been elected to the board of directors of the Pontiac-area Chamber of Commerce.

They are: Edward E. Barker, president of Pontiac State Bank; Howard Hildenbrand, editorial writer for The Pontiac Press; Richard L. Mine-weaver, Pontiac representative for Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S.; Robert W. Swanson, business affairs director Oakland University; and William P. Whitfield, a Pontiac attorney.

The board will meet tomorrow to elect officers for 1966.

Big Ad Campaign Set

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The Pontiac Press is one of 200 leading newspapers selected to carry the most extensive preprinted color newspaper advertising campaign ever devised, according to the Sealtest Foods Division of the National Dairy Products Corp.

The first national advertiser ever to devote the bulk of a full year's advertising program to preprinted color newspaper advertising, Sealtest next year will feature a series of 16 special newspaper promotions for its milk, milk products, ice cream flavors and novelties.

The campaign, which will begin in January 1966, will involve an estimated 320 million advertising "impressions" — or individual color pages. All color pages will be in Hi-Fi, a new reproduction method that makes it possible to reproduce brilliant, lifelike color on newspaper.

Scattered Snow or Flurries Due in Pontiac Area

Snow for Christmas?

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts snow is on the way. There's a chance of a scattered light snow or snow flurries before morning. Lows will fall to 30 to 35.

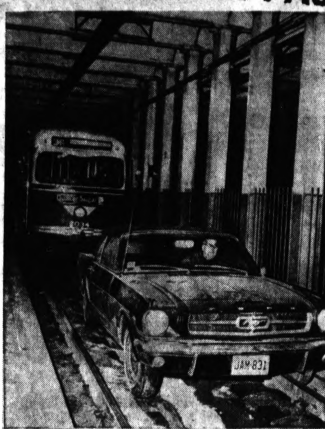

Occasional light snow or snow flurries with little temperature change, the high 35 to 45, is tomorrow's forecast, and a little snow with temperatures continuing in the 30s is the outlook for Thursday.

Morning westerly winds at 10 to 20 will become west to northwest late today diminishing to variable at 8 to 15 miles tonight. A low of 33 was the recording at 6 a.m. today. At 1 p.m., the reading was 35.

CAMPAIGN SLATED — Checking plans for Sealtest's record advertising campaign in newspapers next year are (from left) Jack Kauffman, executive vice president of the bureau of advertising, American Newspaper Publishers' Association; Albert I. Supplee, Sealtest vice president; and Stuart Minton, vice president of N. W. Ayer and Son, Inc.

LOST HER TROLLEY? — A car that was driven four blocks into a Philadelphia subway by a New Brunswick, N.J., girl is being towed out by a trolley bus. Miss Judy Jacobson, 21, a stranger in the city, thought she was following a bus, but was apparently trailing a trolley car. "It made a couple of turns," she said, "and went into the tunnel — I followed."

Waterford Presents Plan for Retirement

The Waterford Township Board last night introduced an employee pension plan despite the objections of Trustee Loren Anderson.

The veteran Republican board member expressed opposition to the proposed ordinance because it would include retirement benefits for elected township officials.

However, the other six board members overrode Anderson, voting to introduce the retirement plan as it stands.

The board will either adopt or reject the plan following a public hearing, probably within the next month. No date has been set.

Ronald Smith of A. J. Bahriell and Company, consulting actuary, attended the meeting, explaining provisions of the proposed plan.

Approximately 40 township employees would benefit from the plan. The only excluded employees would be policemen and firemen who already have a similar plan.

Recent state legislation allows townships to fund their own pension programs.

Under the plan, five per cent of a township employee's earnings would be deducted. The pension proposal specified a township contribution of 15.56 per cent of the annual payroll.

Governor Plays Santa to Our V. Nam Soldiers

We think that Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY's idea that none of Michigan's 5,000 soldiers fighting in Viet Nam go unremembered at Christmas is a heart-warming one.

It is likely that a great many of them would have been remembered by their homefolks without the governor's organized plan in that direction — but then again an unknown number of others would have spent Christmas Day in loneliness, sunk in dejection as their comrades found happiness in Stateside thoughtfulness.

Not one of our boys in far-off Viet Nam fighting one of America's dirtiest wars should have that depressing experience added to his daily burden of danger and tribulation.

Thanks to Michigan's governor, "Operation Michigan Christmas in Viet Nam," headed by Burroughs Corp. executive RICHARD HEADLEE will see that none does.

Branch Rickey

America lost one of its most colorful sports figures when death claimed BRANCH RICKEY days short of his 84th birthday.

For half a century, he stood at the top of the baseball world, responsible for many innovations that have kept the game alive as one of the Nation's most appealing pastimes.

His diamond career began and flourished in St. Louis, first with the departed Browns, later with the Cardinals — where he won seven league pennants and five world championships. Later, he moved to Brooklyn and kept his string going with two more league pennants.

Considered a genius in the arts of front office administration, playing strategy and trading manipulation, RICKEY was the first to develop the major league farm system and the first to sign a Negro player.

Typically, he was stricken while relating a story of courage as he acknowledged his induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame a month ago.

U.S. Economy Sails on an Ocean of Oil

During the last session of Congress, there was a good deal of discussion over proposed measures that, allegedly, are needed in the name of "consumer protection." And during the coming session this matter promises to be a prominent one.

The proposed "protection," in almost every instance, consists of giving a Federal bureau sweeping powers over the goods from which the consumer may pick and choose. They involve labeling and the size and kind of packages. The whole idea is to impose a dull and sterile uniformity on a long list of consumer wares, including foods.

No one objects to laws which demand honest statements of weights and measures and what is inside the package. These laws are in effect everywhere, and if in some instances they need to be strengthened that certainly can be done without lessening competition and arbitrarily restricting the consumers' freedom of choice.

But there is no conceivable need for a ukase from Big Brother which will tell a producer what kind of package he may use in an effort to stimulate sales, and what a retailer can offer.

These proposals, it seems, are predicated on the idea that consumers are generally incompetent and just aren't able to look out for their own interests. Actually, as just about any storekeeper can tell you, the situation is utterly different.

The housewife is a wily shopper. She compares, judges and selects. If she ever feels she has been deluded or exploited, she is through with that particular brand of merchandise — and, possibly, with the store which sold it.

She is her own best policeman.

The distance a person has to go to borrow trouble is getting shorter all the time.

Pro-U.S. Regime Controls Turkey

By LEON DENEN

NEW YORK (NEA)—The war in Viet Nam and trouble in Rhodesia have completely overshadowed the election of Suleyman Demirel as premier of Turkey.

Yet the overwhelming victory of his Justice party in Turkey's national elections considerably strengthens the United States' position in the strategic Mediterranean.

It also bolsters the nations in NATO and in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) that are opposed to French President De Gaulle's apparent anti-American policies.

Demirel, 42, is a pragmatic pro-Western politician and the ablest leader Turkey has had since the death of Kemal Ataturk, the founder of modern Turkey, in 1928.

Ever since the overthrow and execution of Premier Adnan Menderes in 1961, Turkey, though traditionally anti-Russian, has been moving closer to an alliance with Moscow.

RUSSIAN AGENTS

Scores of Russian agents and assorted Marxists in the army and the universities have tried to exploit U.S. neutrality in Turkey's dispute with Greece over Cyprus in order to drive a wedge between Washington and Ankara.

Their main target is some 42 million square yards of Turkish land on which American bases, the U.S. contribution to NATO, are located.

They also advocate, in line with Russian policy, Turkey's withdrawal from the Western alliance and a neutralist foreign policy.

However, Premier Demirel made it clear that Turkey intends to honor her agreements with NATO and SEATO. "The American military bases are set up for Turkey's defense," he told his Marxist opponents. "They will remain on Turkish soil as long as they are needed."

JOHNSON'S POLICY

Turkish diplomats are convinced that the victory of the Justice party was a direct result of President Johnson's determined policy in Viet Nam. It convinced the warping that the United States is not a paper tiger and that the Johnson Administration means to stand by American obligations not only in Viet Nam but also in Turkey.

The pro-Russian Turkish Labor party thus received an insignificant vote in the elections. The Republican People's party of former Premier Ismet Inönü, that wants closer ties with Russia, was swept out of power.

Turkey, though a key nation in NATO and SEATO, is an extremely poor country. She is trying desperately to emerge as a modern nation after decades of corruption and mismanagement.

Premier Demirel is strong in power, must inject new life into the country's economy. He must carry out his promised agricultural reforms.

Demirel's success or failure will thus depend largely on the United States. Will American officials who administer foreign aid rise to the occasion and bring speedy help to a firm ally rather than to dubious neutralist nations like Egypt and Poland?

David Lawrence Says:

Extremism Issue Is Boondoggle

WASHINGTON — Both the Republican and Democratic party organizations can hardly find a better way to waste time than to preoccupy themselves with resolutions condemning "extremists."

In the first place, nobody can be a good judge of what constitutes an "extremist" except the person who is attacked, and he naturally is prejudiced.

The moment anybody undertakes to write definitions, he finds himself in a quandary.

Unfortunately for the protagonists, what was "radical" 20 years ago is "conservative" today, and what is "liberal" today is in some respects so revolutionary that phrases truly descriptive cannot be found in the political dictionaries of the hour.

The "extremism" problem seems to bother the Republicans quite a bit.

In the latest meeting of what is called the "Republican Coordinating Committee," a resolution was unanimously adopted which endorsed the position of National Chairman Ray C. Bliss and declared that "all Republicans should reject membership in any radical or extremist organization, including any which attempts to use the Republican party for its own ends or any which seeks to undermine the basic principles of American freedom and constitutional government."

SEEK PRESERVATION — Most "extremists" will immediately contend that they want to preserve "American freedom" as well as "constitutional government," and that "extremists" today are to be found on a Supreme Court which repeatedly ignores or overrules the established precepts of constitutional government.

As for seeking to undermine the "basic principles of American freedom," the John Birchers, for example, can argue that they are entitled to a forum for their views just as much as the demonstrators who engage in "civil disobedience" or the exhibitionists who want to stop the war in Viet Nam by surrender.

The most constructive thing that could be done in American politics would be to arrange for some organization to conduct a study on what makes "extremists" run and how they get some of the so-called "wild ideas" that they utter with such intense feeling.

"Extremists" and dissenters with deep feelings are created every day. Often they are mistakenly or inadequately informed.

STEP FORWARD

There are plenty of "teach-ins" by university professors who try to expound a dissent from government policies, but it would be a great step forward if seminars and conferences and "teach-ins" could be organized just to argue things out with those sincere but misguided individuals who sign their names to petitions without reading or understanding them.

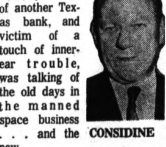

But, after all, the "extremist" groups are truly insignificant.

Bob Considine Says:

Remember the Old Days of Pioneers -- in Space?

CAPE KENNEDY — Capt. Alan Shepard, USN, astronaut, co-chairman of the First National Bank of Baytown, Tex., president of another Texas as bank, and victim of a touch of inner trouble, was talking of the old days in the manned space business — and the new.

Chuck Von Fremd, CBS's first-rate space reporter, had asked Alan's first man in space to compare them with now.

He said, as if he, too, had given it some thought, "The troops are the same dedicated group. There are a lot more of them today (Ed. Note 28) but the dedication is the same."

"The training is different today. For example, when we started out back in 1959 there wasn't any thought of spending hours in a rendezvous simulator."

"The whole country held its breath when you went up on May 4, 1961," Chuck said.

Voice of the People:

'Need Drastic Reduction in Foreign Aid Spending'

In our foreign aid program are entanglements in the psychological, economic, political, and military affairs of recipient countries. From these arise widespread antipathy, violent rioting, and even war against the U.S.

Including interest on the money we have borrowed to give away, foreign aid has cost American taxpayers more than $136 billion. Plans exist vastly to increase our foreign aid domestic spending. Meantime, estimates on the cost of our undeclared war in Viet Nam run some $10 billion annually. It appears that the Administration has no slightest intent to balance the budget.

During December, while your Representative and Senators are home, please make known your views on the absolute necessity for drastic foreign aid reduction.

Reader Gives Suggestion for Peace Program

I believe "Peace on earth, good will toward all men" could be attained if the heads of all countries could be induced to act together, work together, pool all available assets and channel those assets into aiding the have-not nations by supplying machinery, manpower and know-how to build power plants, direct agricultural programs and otherwise help these people help themselves. We pour billions into foreign aid of all description, including arms, which could better be expended on such a peace program.

Undeniably, we are the aggressor in Viet Nam, so why not pull out of Viet Nam and explore thoroughly every avenue of peace. This may be asking too much, as pulling out might cause some red faces in the upper echelon of our government.

'Law of Decency Should Prevent Smoking'

Is there a law that prevents women from smoking on Saginaw Street? The law of decency ought to.

Believes Ancients Had 'Handout' Programs

Perhaps there really is nothing new under the sun. Even the ancients must have had something akin to our misguided handout programs, Vietnamic demonstrators and the like, judging from the following quotation:

"Bitterest stroke of all we feel it, that an idle brood be fed at our cost, who never handed out or jay'lin, never bled, nor so much as raise a blister in their sultry country's stead."

Aristophanes wrote that sometime around 400 B. C.

'School Children Need Walkway at Railroad'

A recent article reported Grand Trunk spending $500,000 for expansion. Surely if Grand Trunk can afford an expansion like this, they can afford the walkway for our children which they promised about ten years ago.

Invariably a train is crossing at the same time kindergarten children reach the crossing on their way home at noon. Weaver School is exactly a mile's walk from here and with the walkway the children would only have to go three blocks. How long will they keep putting this construction off?

CONCERNED PARENT

'Underpass Needed at Railroad Crossing'

If ever this continent had a railroad crossing with a natural underpass, it's the Grand Trunk on Huron Street. The highway slopes sharply enough to make a perfect roadway beneath the tracks. With traffic tie-ups there getting worse and worse, why doesn't the City move right away? What does Mr. Warren think of this?

After reading Shane Murphy's front page plea, we voters may stop protesting until election time. Shane should learn on his own time and money and work up through the clerk jobs he now has charge of. Comments on U.S. Support for Cubans

We hear that the Cubans coming here are getting $100 a month and we're paying for them to be relocated. Why doesn't President Johnson pay that out of his own pocket? Everyone thinks our country is a great big fantasy land with everything free. Why don't we help our own poor people first? Castro sure won't give us a welcome like they are getting here.

DISGUSTED

Comments on Veto of Tax Exemption Bill

Why are we having protest marches over Viet Nam? Could it be because our legislative war bills that benefit veterans? Men are being wounded and dying for this country and our Governor has the nerve to veto a tax exemption bill for veterans. I am for support of our fighting men in Viet Nam and all over the world and getting rid of Republican governors like Romney.

Viet Nam Civilians in Hospital Feel War's Pain Fully

By TOM TIEDE

CAN THO, Viet Nam (NEA)

—There are five of them, all wrapped in the blood-red sheets of the same bed. A father, mother and three kids.

"This fellow's whole family was hit," says the doctor.

"How?" someone asks him. "In a bombing raid," he answers.

"Viet Cong?"

"No, United States. Explosives don't discriminate."

A LOUD GROAN

From the rear of the long, unbelievably dirty corridor, a woman groans loudly. She is dying of a bullet wound in the stomach. Her baby is dying beside her of malnutrition.

A young child plays with spiders in an empty plasma bottle. A startled chicken squawks and surries under the antiseptic table. A mountain of flies feasts on a spilled bowl of rice.

There is a grim joke among Vietnamese peasants that if you are hurt, pray for death. Otherwise you must go to the hospital.

The civilian hospital in this Mekong Delta community isn't

yes; foul-smelling, certainly; understaffed, of course.

NOT ALL DIE

But not everyone dies here. Only about 30 or 40 per cent.

"Well, I'm not entirely sure of the percentage," says Capt. Alberto Hayek of New Haven, Conn., one of several U.S. surgeons who assist Vietnamese physicians here. "But I'd guess probably close to that many . . . in the eight months I've been here, anyway."

"The trouble is we always seem to get them either too late or too dirty. Even when they are brought in relatively soon after they are hurt, their wounds are infected to a terrible extent."

FULL OF MISCHIEF

A handsome 9-year-old girl hobbles up mischievously and clouts the doctor playfully with her crutch. He laughs. Everybody laughs. Including the young girl, who almost topples over because she has lost a foot.

"How long she been here, doc?" someone asks.

"Six months or more," he answers.

"It take that long for an amputation to heal?"

"Not normally, but when we cut the foot off it infected. Then when we grafted skin, it infected. And, well, like I said, they never bathe."

The hospital is crowded. Three to a bed. Ten by 15-foot rooms house three cots and as many as a dozen patients. It must be this way, says the doctor, or turn them away. And although it is close now, it will get worse as the war gets worse.

More come each day—shot, mutilated, in pain, praying for life or merciful death.

In this bed an old, scraggly whiskered man whimpers woefully and feels for a left arm that had been blown off earlier in the day. In that bed a pregnant woman bleeds from a profusion of shrapnel holes.

An otherwise pretty girl has had her lip shot off. Gangrene has eaten into an infant's shoulder. Missing hands, arms, legs . . . and insects flocking to the stumps.

TWO NURSES

There are several buildings in the compound, several hundred patients—and two nurses. The attendants, most of course, remain in the emergency ward and thus the other buildings are largely understaffed. If someone needs help, they scream and hope a nurse has time to come.

ANIMATED—Animated cartoons bring the movies into the playroom. This version animates skills by a turn of a knob, without batteries.

The drink "mate" is prepared from the leaves of a South American species of holly.

2 Hospitalized in Local Crash

A semitrailer truck collided with a car at the intersection of East Wide Track and Auburn early today, hospitalizing two passengers in the car.

Listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital are William Campbell, 33, 358 S. East Blvd. and Mary Gonzales, 19, unable to give her address because of her condition, according to a hospital spokesman.

Daniel Perry, 26, of 83 Wall, driver of the car, was put under observation in the hospital's emergency unit.

Perry's car collided about 4:30 a.m. with a truck driven by Joseph A. Bonfiglio, 36, of Garden City.

Bonfiglio was injured slightly, but did not require immediate medical attention.

Woman Is Fined $75 for Selling Liquor Illegally

Mary S. Gibson, 25, of 241 W. Wilson was fined $75 yesterday in Municipal Court after conviction on a charge of illegally selling liquor.

She was arrested Dec. 4 along with 30 other persons in a raid by the Pontiac police vice squad on two alleged illegal liquor establishments.

A charge against the defendant of maintaining and operating an illegal liquor establishment was dismissed.

Most of 29 other persons arrested in the raids have paid fines of $15 for loitering at an illegal establishment.

Sarah Calvin, 49, of 201 Hughes, is to be tried Thursday in Municipal Court, a 14-pleading innocent to a charge of maintaining and operating.

Retired Pastor Dies After Long Illness

Rev. Slade Freer of 241 Airport, Waterford Township, retired minister of the Free Methodist Church, died yesterday after a two-year illness. He was 97.

Service will be 1 p.m. Thursday at the First Free Methodist Church with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy, by Donaldson-Johns Funeral Home.

Surviving are two sons, William H. of Pontiac and Slade Jr. of Toledo, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Garner T. Baldwin of Columbus, Ohio; six grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Mr. Freer was a minister of the Free Methodist Church from 1885 until he retired from active service in 1928. He served pastorates in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Ohio.

He also served as district elder for the State of Oklahoma and Texas, and as an evangelist for the Ohio Conference. He established many churches in Oklahoma.

Moving of OCC Facilities Completed Ahead of Schedule

Oakland Community College yesterday completed the move of its administrative facilities from the Highland Lakes Campus to the newly acquired building on Opdyke and Hickory Grove.

The move had been planned during the Christmas holidays but was advanced when the sellers turned over the property to the college last Wednesday, according to an OCC official.

Members of the college's board of trustees authorized the purchase of the nine-acre parcel containing a 26,000-square-foot building last Tuesday night for $241,000.

In conjunction with the transaction, the OCC board accepted from seller George A. Bee a large brick house and 2½ acres scheduled Monday.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines called today for heavy blows from the skies to cut off Communist escape routes on the seventh day of Operation Harvest Moon, 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. jets seared the ground with napalm after the elusive Communists fired on U.S. Marine helicopters lifting a Leatherneck infantry unit into blocking positions to prevent the flight by fire elements of the big Communist force.

As the massive U.S.-Vietnamese sweep south of Da Nang attempted to tighten the vice, U.S. Air Force B-52s pounded suspected Communist positions for the third straight day, blasting huge craters in the rice valley battleground.

"Beautiful," exclaimed the commander of the Marine task force, Brig. Gen. Jonas Platt, as the aerial barrage rained down on targets near the town of Viet An, 32 miles south of Da Nang.

CONG CHASED

While the Communists played hide-and-seek with several thousand Leathernecks and Vietnamese troops, helicopters carried Marines from Viet An to lookouts over the Chang River to overtake Viet Cong trying to escape to Laos.

The airlift drew bullets from across the river, but the Marines retaliated with artillery, mortars and an air assault that sent up huge balls of fire over the valley.

Marine officers said the air blows halted movement across

Man, 21, Hurt in Car Crash

David L. Terry, 21, of 560 Sterling, is reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after a rear-end collision early this morning.

Walter L. Bradley, 33, 6125 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, told Pontiac police he saw Terry's car too late to avoid hitting him.

The accident occurred at the intersection of East 28th Blvd. and Plainfield about 12:30 a.m.

President and Mrs. Johnson will give a state dinner for Ayub tonight. The Pakistani leader also plans to lay a wreath on the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

RED ADVOCATE

With Ayub on his U.S. trip is his foreign minister, Z.A. Bhutto, considered an advocate of closer Pakistani ties with Communist China and stronger moves against India.

Ayub, who has labeled his mission here a "quest for peace," told the U.N. General Assembly Monday that Pakistan was willing to sign a no-war pledge with India, if India agreed to self-determination for the people of Kashmir. The two nations have been feuding over rival claims to the border province for years.

Indian Ambassador Gopalaswami Parthasarathi immediately denounced Ayub's speech as partisan and tendentious, and said he should not have even raised the Kashmir dispute before the 117-nation General Assembly.

With little prospect of an early solution to the Kashmir problem, official sources here said they did not see much likelihood of any immediate U.S. response to Ayub's request for resumption of American economic and military aid.

STOP AID

Since 1954, the United States has supplied $1.1 billion in military aid and $3.2 billion in economic assistance to Pakistan. The 22-day border war between India and Pakistan in September brought a freeze on U.S. military assistance to both countries.

U.S. officials see little chance of resuming aid while the chance remains that fighting may break out again.

On Viet Nam, U.S. officials reportedly feel that Pakistan, a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, has been more friendly to Peking and that this country would like to be.

The two countries also disagree on the issue of Red China's admission to the United Nations, which Ayub favors and the United States opposes.

2 Area Commuter Trains to Be Cut at End of Year

Grand Trunk Western Railroad will discontinue two passenger trains between Detroit and Durand at the end of the year, according to a company official.

The trains, 22 and 57, both serving Pontiac, reportedly have been operating at an annual net loss of over $72,000.

Harry A. Sanders, Grand Trunk Western vice president and general manager, said that Train 22 will make its last run Dec. 30 at 11 p.m. from Detroit and Train 22 will make its final trip at 5:30 a.m. the next day from Durand.

The company will continue to operate four commuter trains between Detroit and Pontiac: Sanders said.

Since Train 22 passes through Pontiac at 6:35 a.m. was used by some commuters, a revised schedule for the remaining four trains serving Pontiac will be established and announced soon, according to Sanders.

Proposed is a consolidation of Battle Creek and suburban Springfield, plus the townships of Battle Creek, Bedford, Emmett and Pennfield into a single new governmental unit of approximately 100,000 persons.

Battle Creek Area Will Vote on Cityhood

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Voters of the greater Battle Creek area will decide at a primary election next August on proposed consolidation of six governmental units including Battle Creek into a single new city.

Proposed is a consolidation of Battle Creek and suburban Springfield, plus the townships of Battle Creek, Bedford, Emmett and Pennfield into a single new governmental unit of approximately 100,000 persons.

To Air Police Criticism

CADILLAC (AP) — The City Commission is expected to hold a special hearing this week to hear complaints from nine city police officers on the police department's operation, City Manager Emil Meyer said Monday.

Johnson Meets With Pakistani

Talks Likely to Focus on Kashmir, Asia Ills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan arrives today for talks with President Johnson that are expected to focus on the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan and other Asian problems such as the war in Viet Nam.

Johnson and Ayub were to meet behind closed doors without advisers after the late morning arrival from New York of the strapping soldier-statesman.

A red carpet welcome with full military honors was being planned for Ayub on the south lawn of the White House.

President and Mrs. Johnson will give a state dinner for Ayub tonight. The Pakistani leader also plans to lay a wreath on the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

Indian losses were reported as two killed and seven missing.

The Communist New China news agency said Sunday that one Chinese was killed in the clash and that five Indians were killed and two captured.

The fighting Sunday was described as the most severe since the Sino-Indian border conflict in the fall of 1962.

Dead Teens Are Identified

Pair Were Suspects
in Auto Theft Ring

FLINT (UPI) — Police from Gary, Ind., and Michigan questioned two Flint, Mich., men today about the slaying of two teen-age boys a year ago and their connection with an interstate auto-theft ring.

The two boys were identified for the first time yesterday as Carlos Reeves, 18, and Dwight Burke, 16. Both were found dead Nov. 13, 1964, in Gary with bullet wounds in the head.

Lt. Francis Polaron, of the Flint police department, said a continuing investigation of an auto-theft ring led police to the identity of the youths. Both boys were believed connected with an auto-theft ring and were shot to keep them quiet when police began checking on them.

Parents of the two boys also made positive identification yesterday.

Gary police were baffled by the slayings. All means of identification had been removed from the bodies of the two boys when police found them.

FOUND IN GUTTER

One of the youths was found dead along a roadside gutter, the other behind a housing project.

Police said they also were checking two weapons which were found on the two suspects.

One was a .32-caliber revolver and the other an automatic pistol.

Names of the two men being questioned were withheld pending further investigation.

Police said they believed the shootings were done partly to protect an interstate auto theft ring which was stealing cars in the Midwest and New York and returning them to Michigan for sale.

County Teachers Better Trained, Report Indicates

Oakland County public school teachers are better prepared now than they were five years ago, according to figures which show that the number of non-degree instructors has decreased sharply over that period.

Statistics provided by Oakland Schools officials indicate that 335 instructors, or five per cent of the total teaching force, did not have degrees in 1960.

This year, by contrast, only 165 teachers, or 1.1 per cent of the entire staff, do not have degrees.

Altogether, there are 9,582 certified teachers in the county this year. The student enrollment is 211,064.

In 1960, the faculty numbered 6,975, while enrollment totaled 175,160.

Congress Probe Discusses Anti-Inflation Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The problem of how to control a speeding economy in wartime has emerged as a key issue in a congressional probe of the Federal Reserve Board's decision to raise interest rates.

The Senate House Economic Committee resumes the inquiry today after getting into a discussion of possible other weapons against inflation. Board members have cited the danger of inflation as a major reason for the board's action raising the discount rate, the basic element in determining interest rates on money lent by the Federal Reserve to banks, from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent.

Some of these other anti-inflation weapons, mentioned Monday in day-long questioning of the board's chairman, William McChesney Martin Jr., and four of the other six board members, were controls on consumer time payments or tightening reserve requirements on certain kinds of high interest bank deposits.

The committee had planned to take today off but Martin was asked to return when the committee finished Monday's lengthy session with several members still waiting to ask more questions.

NOT TOO INFORMATIVE

Martin gave some not-too-informative replies to questions inspired by rumors he might resign if a majority of the board disagreed with his policies.

He refused to say whether the board has any further actions in mind that would affect interest rates, arguing that he can never make predictions without setting off disturbances in the money market.

Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., Martin said that has only one remedy for financial disturbances — higher interest. Martin retorted that Patman has only one answer — lower interest.

Other members, however, took up the questioning and wondered whether, in case a true wartime economic situation developed, Martin would favor restoring things such as the former limits on the length of time purchases by consumers.

"In a case like that, you'd have to use everything," Martin replied.

Football Followers Interviewed

Grid Fans Sound Off on Lions

Fans Prescribe Treatment for 'Sick Lion's'

By FLETCHER SPEARS
There's a lot of football knowledge sitting in those stands on a Sunday afternoon watching the Detroit Lions lose another one.
They're the fans, the folks whose opinions are seldom solicited by management but whose dollars are welcomed since it's their money that makes it possible for management to continue fielding a loser.

They get mad, those fans, but they're loyal. Sunday when the Vikings mauled the Lions, 23-7, they booed and cheered both teams.

The Lions are a better team than that, insist most of the fans. If that's true, then something's lacking along the coaching or administrative line.

WHAT'S WRONG?

Just what is wrong with the Detroit Lions?

To find out, we called the Monday Morning Quarterback Club and asked local fans to give us the answer or answers to the Lions' problems.

Here we go.

JERRY PALMER, 300 Main, Fenton — "They don't have a quarterback. I think they traded away the wrong one (Morrill)."

SID GREGORY, 6820 Hatchery, Pontiac — "They're in the wrong league. Should be in Saginaw Valley Conference."

NORMAN ANDRESS, 4608 Meigs, Drayton Plains — "I feel they need more variation in their offense as well as a coach and a strong leader in the quarterback position."

KENNETH C. CRAFT, 6451 Church St., Clarkston — "I feel the Detroit Football Company would be better off in selecting their coaches from the roster. Mr. Gilmer came into a good sports town knowing the stadium would be filled regardless of what he as a coach did with the team."

FRONT OFFICE?

ELLIOTT P. HENRY, 6763 Desmond, Waterford — "Have the feeling that the administration of the team may be at fault. Could it be that there is too much 'quarterbacking' from the front office?"

SHARON FOWLER, 88 Crawford St., Pontiac — "Why don't they play the rookies?"

PAUL DELLERBA, head coach, Pontiac Central — "They don't have the personnel. They haven't come up with any real good draft choices."

STEVE SZABO, assistant coach at PCH — "Paul and I were talking about it, and we feel pretty much the same. In the last four or five years, they haven't come up with a real big draft choice."

ED BLUNDEN, 1462 24th, Detroit — "It's got to be the coaching. Man for man, the Lions would seem to be a strong contender, but in the last season's action, they completely lacked cohesion."

new head coach next year. It's their only hope."

DON BRAUNAGEL, 81 E. Longfellow, Pontiac — "Any spirit and desire the team had in the early season has been lost by the reported failures of the offense. I don't know if the rookies will provide the answer but they should be given a chance, since the Lions aren't going anywhere with their veterans."

VICTORIA CANFIELD, 6300 Williams Lake Road — "They should have more female intuition in their players."

JANICE JOHNSON, 3062 Bald Mountain Road — "Need more enthusiasm."

ED NOBLE, 329 Wordsworth, Ferndale — "They stink! They give up too soon."

NEW COACH

DAVE COOK, 9480 Garforth, White Lake Township — "Gilmer hasn't done the job with the talent he's had and hasn't gotten talent where he's needed it. He should be replaced."

CHET REYNOLDS, 1284 Florence St., Watkins Lake — "I would put Gilmer to pasture with his horses and beg Buddy Parker to return."

PAUL PARKS, 388 S. Saginaw, Pontiac — "There's too much discussion on the team... they just don't seem to have the drive they should have."

TONY MITCHELL, Cass Lake Road, Pontiac — "Quit using playing system... use the offense on offense, too."

Obviously, the fans are unhappy with their losses. One faithful watcher, who preferred to remain anonymous, summed up perhaps all of the Lions ailments with this comment: "They just seem to be getting outscored all the time."

And another who never watches asked: "The Lions... who are they?"

Abel's Switch Lifts Wings

Moving Ullman Helps Detroit Scoring

MONTREAL (AP) — Sid Abel's decision to play his aces back-to-back is paying off in spades for the Detroit Red Wings.

Two weeks ago the Detroit pilot switched flashy Norm Ullman from center spot on the Wings' No. 2 line to the left wing post alongside Alex Delvecchio and Gordie Howe. The Wings have won seven straight since then while the Ullman-Delvecchio-Howe combination has become the National Hockey League's most productive unit.

During the unbeaten string, which started Nov. 28, the Wings trio has accounted for 18 goals and 29 assists, according to weekly NHL statistics released today.

Ullman, who had played center exclusively in 10 previous NHL seasons, led the point parade with six goals and 12 assists — and vaulted into third place in the individual scoring race behind Montreal's Bobby Rousseau and Chicago's Stan Mikita.

Rousseau picked up five points last week and moved two points ahead of defending point pick Mikita with a total of 33. He tops the playmakers with 19 assists. Ullman has one less assist than Rousseau and 12 goals for 30 points.

But the Celtics' over-all balance overcomes the lack of a single high scorer. Boston has seven players averaging 10 or more points per game and that kind of consistency keeps the Eastern Division race a Celtic playground almost every year.

John Havlicek, with 482 points, is Boston's leading scorer and 17th in the NBA according to league figures released today.

Kettering, Waterford Face W-O Cage Opponents

St. Mike, Fred Play Loop Foes in Road Games

West Bloomfield Hosts Skippers; Clarkson St. Takes on Captains

Kettering and Waterford face dangerous Wayne-Oakland League opponents in the top games on tonight's light area basketball schedule.

Clarkson (1-1) will play at Kettering (2-0) and Waterford (0-2) travels to West Bloomfield (2-0). Walied Lake has an engagement at Highland Park and Cranbrook goes to Oak Park.

Key Macomb Catholic League tests have St. Frederick playing at Marine City Holy Cross, St. Michael traveling to Richmond, St. Augustin and New Baltimore St. Mary playing at Waterford.

Orchard Lake St. Mary plays at Detroit St. Rita in a Northwest Catholic League game.

Kettering has slipped past North Farmington and whipped Milford in its two outings while Clarkson has handled Brighton and lost a two-point decision to West Bloomfield.

The Captains will present a fairly well balanced attack. Clarkson's major problem has been finding scoring help for Dan Fife who has netted 59 points in two games.

Waterford will be favored to hand West Bloomfield its first loss, but the Skippers could be walking into an ambush. The Lakers have good rebounding spearheaded by Tim Motter and Bill Burt and this is one area where Waterford is weak.

West Bloomfield's offense is well-balanced while the Skippers have been paced by Rick Ziem.

St. Michael and St. Frederick will be hoping to increase their lead on first place in MCL. Both are favored to chalk up victories and so is WOLL.

Surprises on College Front

Rutgers Pulls Cage Upset on Princeton

By The Associated Press
Bill Bradley's smiling face still greets Princeton fans everywhere they go to watch their beloved Tigers play. The only thing is once they get past the ticket taker, there's no more Bradley and it certainly makes a difference. Just ask Rutgers.

Bradley, of course, is the two-time All America and Player of the Year who led the Cinderella Ivy League representatives into the semifinals of the National Collegiate playoffs last season.

The big guy was a senior though and, like all good things, his career came to an end. But Princeton, being somewhat sentimental, kept his picture plastered on tickets for this season's games. It's a pleasant reminder of things past.

Things past now include a 13-year winning streak against arch-rival Rutgers which ended Monday night when the Scarlet Sprinters pulled off a 66-66 upset.

It was the biggest surprise on a strange night that had such odd goings-on as an Arkansas player, averaging just eight points per game, breaking a 25-year-old scoring record as the Golden Griffins whipped Centenary 90-61, and a Canisius guard outscoring the entire Western Ontario squad as the Golden Griffins won 109-33.

Bob Lloyd, a 6-foot-1 junior, was the chief architect of Rutgers' shocker against Princeton. He scored 30 points and engineered the late-game slowdown that held the Tigers off. Princeton combatted the semi-finals with a full court press and Lloyd converted four foul shots in the final four minutes that proved decisive.

The last time Rutgers beat Princeton was during the 1953-54 season when Bill Bradley was still in grade school.

Ricky Sugg, off to a slow start in Arkansas' first three games and averaging just eight points per game, ran wild against Centenary, scoring 41 points and smashing a 25-year-old school record.

Sugg, who led the Porks with a 16.5 average last season, hit on 11 of 12 shots in the first half, almost all of them from the foul line with 13 for 13. John Morrison played only 18 minutes for Canisius but scored 34 points — one more than the entire Western Ontario squad managed in 40 minutes against the Golden Griffins.

ROUTINE JOB
While things were out of kilter elsewhere, Vanderbilt's Clyde Lee and Boston College's John

Austin performed routinely. Lee, who's 6-0 1/2, scored 32 points and pulled down 20 rebounds leading fourth-ranked Vanderbilt through a 102-82 romp against Wake Forest.

There were other individual standouts. Penn's Stan Pawlak went over the 1,000-point mark with 22 as the Quakers eased past Delaware 88-57. The 6-3 senior is the seventh player in Penn history to go over the 1,000-point plateau.

Nick Pino a 7-1 sophomore, made the difference for Kansas State scoring 27 points and grabbing 23 rebounds in the Wildcats' 103-76 victory over Indiana.

Joe Lalli hit 34 for George Washington in an 87-90 victory over Furman. Wes Balaskouski netted 32 as Connecticut whipped Maine 84-69 and Ron Coleman's 34 led Missouri past Rice 96-87.

Boat Safety Topic at Michigan Show

DETROIT — Boating safety will take the spotlight when the eighth annual Greater Michigan Boat Show opens at Detroit Artillery Armory Jan. 22.

Safety on the water will be the topic of a daily "Skipper Skool" at which experts will present illustrated talks. Also, ten safety agencies are cooperating to put on a combined exhibit.

Among these agencies are the American Red Cross, Michigan State Police, several sheriff's departments, the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, and the U. S. Power Squadrons.

UCLA Readies Football Plays

Spartans' Rose Bowl Foe Starts Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA Bruins opened football practice Monday on dummy defensive and offensive plays they'll use against rugged Michigan State in the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl classic.

Coach Tommy Prothro said his squad seemed a bit slower than usual after its 10-day layoff, then added he plans to correct that in short order with workouts every day this week.

But he said, the Bruins will practice only 14 of the 16 days Rose Bowl contenders are allowed.

The entire squad reported, and in good condition, Prothro said. The only handicapped man was defensive end and co-captain Jim Coletto, who is still sporting a cast on a dislocated wrist. But Coletto will be back in shape to start against Michigan State, Prothro said.

State 'B' 11 Gets Award

JACKSON (AP) — A special assembly Monday to honor the Jackson St. John's football team was capped by presentation of a trophy by The Associated Press.

The Gaels were named the state's No. 1 Class B school by the AP's sportswriters and sportscasters after finishing the season with a 9-4 record.

Presentation of the trophy to head coach Jim Crowley was made by Frank Warwarzsek, president of the Ypsilanti Breakfast Optimist Club, and Bernie Kennedy, AP sports editor for Michigan.

Sooners After Georgia Coach

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Vince Dooley, whiz kid coach of the Georgia football team, has become the top prospect in the University of Oklahoma's search for a head coach.

Dooley, who in two years has rebuilt Georgia into a Southeastern Conference contender, planned to fly today to Norman, Okla., to meet with Oklahoma President George L. Cross.

The 33-year-old Georgia coach last Monday night Dr. Cross called twice to set up the interview.

"I wasn't even considering going out there until Dr. Cross called me the second time," said Dooley, who in an afternoon statement said he had been offered the job.

"Oklahoma has made me an attractive initial offer," Dooley said in the statement, "and, although I am very happy at Georgia, I may accept gracious invitation to visit them."

Later, when he was contacted, Dooley announced he was going to visit the Oklahoma campus but said he was "not at liberty to say" whether he had a flat invitation to take the Sooner job vacated by Gomer Hines, who remains as Oklahoma athletic director.

Dooley said the second call made by Cross was so attractive "I just can't ignore it."

There were reports out of Oklahoma that Dooley was being lured by a $20,000 to $25,000 salary and fancy fringe benefits.

Dooley reportedly makes about $16,000 a year at Georgia, where he has four years left on a five-year contract.

Dooley probably was recommended for the job at Oklahoma by a close friend, Texas Coach Darrell Royal, who turned down an offer to become the Sooner coach Monday.

Oklahoma is the first school that has made public overtures to Dooley, who took over as Georgia coach before the 1964 season. In his two years here, Dooley has guided the Bulldogs to 13 victories, seven losses and one tie.

That record was built with teams thought to be a few years away from maturity. Georgia had won a total of only 10 games in the three years before Dooley took over after an eight-year hitch as an assistant coach at Auburn.

Dooley's first season was capped by a 7-0 victory over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. This fall the young Bulldogs opened the season with an 18-7 upset of defending national champion Alabama, and climbed to fourth place in the national rankings before injuries

ATTEND RITES — Jackie Robinson (right), the first Negro in Major League Baseball attends the funeral of the man who hired him for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Branch Rickey. On the left with him is Frank Duncan, manager of the Kansas City Monarchs, from whom Rickey obtained Robinson. Funeral service was held yesterday.

Final Tribute Accorded Rickey

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Branch Rickey was given a final tribute Monday by just a few of the men on whom he left his mark as one of baseball's most brilliant and far-seeing executives.

Some 500 persons attended the funeral services in Grace Methodist Church for the front-office genius, who revolutionized baseball by creating the minor league farm system, introducing Negroes to the major leagues and forcing expansion.

Rickey, who died Thursday in Columbia, Mo., at the age of 83, will be buried today in the family plot in Lucasville, Ohio.

Among those listening to the praises heaped by the Mahatma in the eulogy by Dr. Ralph Sockman were George Sisker, Stan Musial and Jackie Robinson.

HALL OF FAME

It was Rickey who picked Sisker out of college, brought him to the old St. Louis Browns and was rewarded with a star who never got off the ground, but it did force major league baseball to expand its operations to other cities.

Musial was one of the many St. Louis Cardinal grunts turned out by his farm system that supplied players and helped the Cardinals to nine pennants.

And the now grey-haired Robinson was the man he picked to break the major league color barrier with the old Brooklyn Dodgers. His farm system followed the likes of Roy Campanella, Gil Hedges and Duke Snider, who brought success to Brooklyn.

Also attending the service was Bill Shea, with whom Rickey proposed the Continental League, a third major league. It never got off the ground, but it did force major league baseball to expand its operations to other cities.

EXECS PRESENT

National League President Warren Giles, Cleveland Indians' President Gabe Paul and Cincinnati owner Bill DeWitt were among those executives in the audience whom Rickey helped get a start in baseball.

"How could it be that a boy born in an obscure Ohio village should so extend his life that it became entwined with the heart strings of a hundred million people..." asked Dr. Sockman, retired pastor of Christ Church Methodist in New York and an old friend of Rickey.

"Because of his courage and his vision he became a pioneer. He was adventurous enough to explore new trails."

"He has been the mastermind of baseball. His brotherly spirit made him that."

"He so spoke, he so played, he so worked, he so lived that he has left Americans standing more upright."

Paul Assured $300,000 in Pay

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paul Richards can sit back, relax and rake in $300,000 for the next five years without so much as moving a muscle, but you can bet all the oil wells in Texas he won't.

To understand why he won't, you first have to understand Richards, who is no small job in itself.

Here's a man who has disciplined himself like few others have in baseball. For all that discipline, however, he finds he still has to be where the action is and there is none at all for a man who simply sits home and collects monthly checks from a ball club for doing absolutely nothing.

Make no mistake, Richards has a deep, abiding appreciation for money.

On a few occasions, he has confided to intimates that he never made any "real money" until the last few years.

He has more than enough now to pay his green fees for the rest of his life and since he can only play one golf course at a time, that $60,000-per-year contract that the Houston Astros are committed to pay him off through 1977 will not actually be the prime factor when it comes time for him to determine his own future.

Right now, that $60,000 a year

Indiana Kegler Takes Top Spot in Tourney

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Big Gene Rhoda of Valparaiso, Ind., walked off with all the honors, including $5,000 in cash, Monday night by winning the championship of the $30,000 Chrysler-Plymouth Open Bowling Tournament with a 289 final game.

Norm Meyers of Los Angeles, Calif., picked up second-place money of $2,500 with a 208 score against Rhoda in the roll-off.

Rhoda, the qualifying leader, opened his championship bid with an eight-spare, came back with five strikes, a nine-spare, and added five more strikes to end the stylish Meyers.

Drama was added to the finals when Meyers and Detroit's Dave Soutar fought to a 190 tie in their match to decide who should roll against Rhoda.

EXTRA FRAMES

In a two-frame roll-off, Meyers edged the lanky Soutar, 40-39.

Soutar picked up $1,500 for his third-place finish.

Buzz Fazio, 57-year-old veteran of the Professional Bowlers Association tour, lost his first two games in the finals following scores of 202 and 213.

Fazio, from Detroit, wound up fourth. He won $1,400.

The win was the third PBA Tournament victory for Rhoda, who has one sanctioned 300 game and holds the world's record of 1,532 for a six-game tournament block.

The obvious club for Richards to take over now would be the Chicago White Sox. Not only because they are the club with which he enjoyed his most consistent managerial success from 1951 through 1954.

Time and again, the White Sox have said they're looking for the best man available. No one could argue that Richards isn't that man.

What happened at Houston was a clear-cut case of the irrefragable force meeting the immovable object.

Meaning Richards and club president Judge Roy Hofheinz. Both men like to have things their own way and since the Judge had the last say in this particular case, he merely exercised his right and said it.

NFL Western Race No Simple Figuring

NEW YORK (AP) — It takes a math major to figure out all the permutations and combinations in the National Football League's Western race but Green Bay can make it simple by winning Sunday at San Francisco.

Baltimore also can win it outright if it can beat or tie Los Angeles Saturday and Green Bay loses on Sunday.

The only chance for Chicago to get into a tie situation is for the two teams to lose. Here are the tie possibilities:

(A)

Green Bay wins 10-4

Chicago wins 10-4

Baltimore loses 9-1

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Mr. D and the passengers on the Zabbazara bus finally reach Santa Land, but the Voodoo man has already arrived and turned the elves to stone.

CHAPTER EIGHT

"The Voodoo man has been here!" cried the little boy. "He's turned them all to stone!"

"It can't be!" cried Mr. D. He ran into a work shop. It was the doll shop. A dozen elves sat at their work benches.

They had hammers and nails and needles and thread in their hands. But the hammers did not hammer and the needles did not sew.

The workers had frozen into statues. They were as lifeless as the dolls on the tables before them.

REINDEER STILL

It was the same in every shop. Mr. D went through them all. Even the reindeer in the stables were still.

And the elves who stood outside were as motionless as the rest — stopped in the midst of whatever they were doing and wherever they were going.

Tears welled up in Mr. D's eyes. He said it was the most dreadful day in history.

The little boy wept. So did the donkey and the crocodile. But the Fabulous Dunklebum said, "What about Santa Claus? Maybe he's not turned to stone."

VOODOO MAN HATEFUL

"But, he'd be the first," protested the little boy. "The Voodoo man hated him most of all."

"All the same," said the Fabulous Dunklebum, "I think I will go and see."

He waddled off, his long arms dangling and his lights blinking off and on. The others followed, though they were sure there wasn't any hope.

But they were wrong.

Because suddenly and for the first time they saw smoke curling up out of the chimney of a little red house that stood alone in a faraway field.

Santa Has Strange Group

They all saw it at the same time, and they ran as fast as they could across the field and up the steps of the little red house.

Mr. D banged with both fists on the door. He shouted, "Who's there? Oh, speak up! Is anyone there?"

The door opened. There stood Santa Claus! He was plump and ruddy-faced.

His eyes sparkled and his mouth turned up at the ends. He breathed and he moved. He was very much alive.

"Of course I'm here," he said, as calm as you please. "What did you expect?"

SURPRISED

The visitors were so stunned with surprise not one of them could find voice to speak. Their mouths worked but no words came.

Santa was used to strange visitors, but he had never seen as strange a group as this.

But he thought there was nothing a warm fire and a cup of hot chocolate couldn't cure, so he said, "This seems to be my day for visitors."

State Court Eyes CMU Writ Plea

LANSING (AP) — With few legal precedents to follow, the State Court of Appeals today is studying Central Michigan University's petition to suppress a Senate committee report on faculty-administration relationships.

A three-judge panel declined Monday to take immediate action on the CMU petition for a writ compelling a special committee to observe the university's constitutional autonomy or issue an injunction blocking the committee's issuance of a report on its findings.

The court was being asked to rule on basic legal "questions that have never been settled before," said Presiding Judge John Fitzgerald.

The court gave Gerald Cotter, attorney for the CMU Board of Trustees, one week to file additional briefs. It gave Robert Derengski, solicitor general for the state, another week in which to file answers. It was to rule before the legislature returned for its final adjournment, Dec. 30.

The visitors came to life. They crowded after Santa into the house. Mr. D, seeing the package on the kitchen table, stammered, "W-who brought it to you?"

"I did not see him," said Santa. "I was asleep and he left it inside the door." He picked up the present and tore off the wrapping. In his hands was the Voodoo man's jewel-encrusted mirror.

"Don't look!" shouted Mr. D. He tried to snatch the mirror from Santa's hands.

"But it's beautiful," said Santa. He held the mirror straight out to keep it away from Mr. D. The face of the mirror was turned toward the Fabulous Dunklebum and before the poor monster could help himself he had looked in the mirror and turned to stone.

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

Peter quickly sold the first five trees. "When I sell the last I'll have enough to buy medicine for mother," he said.

He went to the home of Farmer Gottlieb, a big, happy fellow who had worked hard and was a man of property.

"Come in!" Gottlieb roared in answer to Peter's timid knock.

"I wonder if I could sell you a Christmas tree," said Peter.

Snow and Rain Are Prevalent

By The Associated Press
Snow, rain or fog covered most of the United States today. There was freezing drizzle in the New England coastal area during the early hours which coated streets and roads of Greater Boston and Rhode Island, and extended into southern New Hampshire.

A widespread snowstorm deposited moderate cover over the central Rockies and Plains. Lander, Wyo., reported three inches of snow accumulation in six hours. Denver, Colo., and North Platte, Neb., had two inches, and there was an inch or so in the central mountain area. Flurries, light snow and drizzle fell from the Great Lakes to New England.

Another weather disturbance over southern Texas and Louisiana drummed rain. About one half inch was reported at Cotulla, Tex.

In the middle Atlantic and central Gulf coastal regions, travel was impeded by heavy nighttime fog. There was some light fog in upstate New York where drizzle was the rule. Skies cleared on the West Coast after western Washington experienced the season's first snow Monday, an inch spreading over north suburbs of Seattle for a few hours before rain washed it away. The snowfall brought a rash of traffic accidents, including one on Interstate highway 5 north of Vancouver, Wash., which involved nine automobiles.

British-Irish Trade Pact Near

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Ireland reached agreement in principle early today on a free trade pact, political sources report. The signing, expected this afternoon, will be a landmark in three bitter centuries of British-Irish history.

The sources said the agreement was reached after midnight by Prime Minister Sean Lemass of the Irish Republic and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. It came after a year of undercover negotiation from which few details have emerged.

The main lines of the pact are clear, however. Ireland's economy over the coming years will be ever more closely integrated with that of Britain, and political ties should also draw closer.

For Lemass, 61, and Wilson, 49, the agreement represents both achievement and political hazard. Lemass was a messenger boy in the 1916 uprising that led eventually to the republic's independence. His extremist critics now say that free trade represents a surrender to the old English enemy.

On the plus side he can argue that it will give Ireland's farmers free access to the British market, which is their main export. Against this, he has to persuade Irish manufacturers that they can benefit from the competition of British industrial giants from which they are now protected. Wilson has long hankered to be the British statesman who finally solves the "Irish question" — a history of feuding and fighting that dates from the 17th century.

He also can use an immediate political success. Rhodesia is producing a sort of present-day Irish question, and the Irish vote in Britain might be decisive in the next parliamentary elections.

But Wilson will have to persuade British farmers that the Irish will not cut them out of business. This will also have to be put over to such other suppliers as the New Zealanders and the Danes.

The agreement represents a major advance in British-Irish thinking. Only 30 years ago, Le-mass' boyhood hero, the current Irish President Eamon De Valera, erected a tariff barrier against Britain and declared an "economic war" as a means of ending Ireland's partition.

Lemass, son of a storekeeper, has spent his six years as prime minister trying to persuade the Irish that their best hope for prosperity lies in a businesslike accommodation with their neighbor and biggest customer.

He has pressed the point in speeches that Britain buys 70 per cent of all Ireland's exports and nearly 90 per cent of her farm exports. Britain also supplies half of what Ireland buys abroad.

VERSATILE COPTER — A workhorse helicopter which can carry passengers or cargo has been developed in Bremen, West Germany, as a joint German-American project. Dubbed the "flying crane," the copter can be fitted with a cabin between its gawky legs to carry 45 passengers. Or it can lift up to eight tons of cargo. In successful tests, it has placed high-tension towers, picked up aircraft in inaccessible terrain and been used in air-sea rescue operations.

Newest Cameras Do All but Pick Out the Subject

Perhaps the most exciting that can be plugged in anywhere, to provide instant illumination for Christmas giving, is broad-scale development of cameras — still cameras and movie cameras alike — that make it possible for the uninitiated to make good pictures from the start.

And, most happily, improvements aimed at completely curing the timidity of "little old butterfingers," are engineered into budget-priced models as well as the fine precision equipment.

Yet, this year's cameras are truly "glided."

With all due respect to the growing photographic sophistication of confirmed hobbyists, they too are interested along with hordes of beginners in the new equipment.

Just as in the case of the beginner, the built-in improvements eliminate so many complexities and inconveniences of the past that all the photographer need do to get good results is to concentrate on pointing the camera.

Two major advances account for all this. One is the improved engineering of exposure control which means that, in many instances, you can't even click the shutter if the light isn't right.

The other is the introduction of loading systems that eliminate the need for "threading" the film into position. Just open the camera, drop the film cartridge into position — and you're all set to shoot.

The camera does everything but select the subject matter.

Some new models vary identified by terms such as "instant" loading and "Instamatic" also are powered to automatically advance the film after each shot, thus making the camera ready to take the next picture without further ado.

BUILT-IN FEATURE — The Instamatic line has introduced another built-in feature which greatly simplifies use of flash for still cameras.

Instead of using the one-shot bulb system these new models are designed to accept a "flash cube."

The new models are engineered to rotate the cube, to position a fresh flashbulb for the next shot — and this, too, is done automatically. Each cube has four flash bulbs.

Newest among the movie cameras is engineered to use the recently introduced Super 8 mm film in, of course, "drop in" containers.

Thus, with this new film furnishing larger image area, and the new models endowed with sharper lenses and automatic exposure control throughout the sequence, better, sharper, more vivid pictures result, even for the dub.

WEIGHTLESS LIGHT — Another development here is the creation of an almost weightless light with a long cord

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
WASHINGTON — The year ahead is likely to bring an intensification of the struggle between the United States and Red China for dominant influence in the Far East.

Although the war in Viet Nam is the most dangerous and costly front in the struggle, it is only one of many trouble spots in which the two powers are locked in hostile confrontation.

One of the most confident predictions that can be made about U.S. policy in 1966 is that more American troops and air power will be committed to the fighting in Viet Nam.

President Johnson is determined to press the military effort in the hope of persuading the Communists to talk peace on reasonable terms. But U.S. officials are reluctant at this point to make any forecasts about the ultimate success of this policy.

The United States now realizes that, for the foreseeable future, the Communists are not impressed by the growing American commitment.

INCREASED EFFORT — Red China and North Viet Nam are making obvious preparations to increase the strength of the forces battling U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

Third parties undoubtedly will continue efforts to get the combatants to the peace table. But the prospects appear dim.

The United States is willing to hold "unconditional discussions," but its terms for final settlement — complete elimination of Communist influence from South Viet Nam — add to a demand for unconditional surrender so far as the Communists are concerned.

Red terms for settling the dispute, on the other hand, call for giving the Communists a political victory which they have been unable to achieve by military means.

GROWING WAR — In this situation, the two sides seem to be locked in an escalating conflict which could well erupt into general war unless considerable caution is exercised by leaders on both sides.

President Johnson still is resisting pressure from military officials and some congressmen to bomb the North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, which some claim would bring the Reds to terms.

When the new Congress convenes, pressure of this type is bound to mount and the American public may grow restive under the impact of mounting casualty lists in a still "limited" war.

Red China, for its part, has been very careful not to become directly involved in Viet Nam with its own troops.

Lifelike Dolls Highlight Santa's Newest Crop

The child's dream of a "living doll" comes closer than ever to reality, this Christmas. Santa's newest crop adds spectacularly to the scope of dolls' almost human performance.

And conversely, Santa's 1965 pack holds a record variety of dolls inspired by sheer fantasy, ranging from whimsical fairy Gongs, inspired by Op Art and bearing a deep philosophy of life, to character dolls from juvenile literature, such as Mary Poppins and Cinderella and bizarre monster types.

Significant advance in the almost human category of dolls is evidenced by the muscular virtuosity of the newest plastic babies. Posei Playmate, for example has a soft, cuddly foam body and ingenious wiring of arms and legs.

This new construction endows Posi with astonishing flexibility. Moving side glance eyes and pixie hair add to the charm of this versatile baby.

Bubble Bath Baby is another manifestation of the realer-than-real styling in the doll sector of Toyland. This fully jointed doll arrives under the Yule tree in a two-piece terry-cloth ensemble, holding a sponge accompanied by a plastic bathnet.

ALL BABY NEEDS

Bath toys, bubble bath making, and all the good grooming accessories baby needs are included.

This season the baby doll is setting a record, outpointing in numbers and variety the glamorous category. Larger size dolls of all ages, too, appear to be on a rising wave.

Sniffles is another new baby doll with an added touch of realism. Tears come after the bottle is finished and baby lies down; no need to squeeze this baby to start off the weeping — it's a gravity trick.

A record crop of walking dolls will parade around 1965 Christmas trees. A trend setter is Annette who boasts a slenderer silhouette than previous walkers and long hair.

She illustrates a new approach to gift packaging that dramatizes doll talents realistically. For example, Annette, packed in a walking position, is shown playing from a flower cart.

BLEACHES, TOO

Santa caters to the young hairdresser with Peggy Anne who boasts a wide choice of wigs. Hair coloring aids are featured, too, for teen-age doll sophisticates.

Patty Duke is the only star of the entertainment world to gain stardom in the doll world, too. The replica of the talented young actress features poseable limbs, rooted side-slip hair do and a two-piece casual outfit.

In line with the almost human dolls' fuller participation in family life is Carry Baby, a new tote doll that arrives in a travel crib with handles and a smartly scalloped hood. Wispy styled hair gives another touch of realism.

In the literary sector of the greatest variety of representation. Costumes modeled after the costumes Julie Andrews wore in the film include a nan-doll outfit, a traveling costume, including the wondrous umbrella and carpet bag.

But Peking is increasing its material support of the North Vietnamese, has some engineering troops in North Viet Nam and could be pulled into the conflict if American actions appear to threaten the continued existence of the buffer Communist state of North Viet Nam.

Here is a brief rundown of other trouble spots or potential trouble spots which may add to the general disorder in Asia:

INDONESIA: This vast archipelago, whose position flanks American forces in Viet Nam and British military strength in Malaysia, will continue to cause concern.

American officials are gratified by the strenuous measures to suppress the pre-1965 Indonesian Communist party in the wake of the abortive Sept. 30 attempt to overthrow President Sukarno's government.

They felt this action was long overdue. However, they believe that whatever emerges will provide no great comfort for the United States.

The present government is continuing the strong leftist and anti-Western policy which has been followed since 1959.

MALAYSIA: Sukarno's efforts to carry out his threat to "crush" of the British Commonwealth of Malaysia, now bereft of the major city of Singapore, have been somewhat in abeyance since the domestic Indonesian turmoil claimed his full attention.

It is expected that Sukarno will resume this campaign, which U.S. officials see as an effort to divert attention from domestic troubles, as soon as he feels firm in the saddle again.

The British have assured Washington that their military forces in the area, which include 50,000 men and more than one-third of the entire British fleet, can handle Sukarno.

However, London's current review of its defense budget, aimed at reducing expenses, poses the threat that the United States may be called upon for assistance.

INDIA-PAKISTAN: The United States is attempting to use the leverage provided by its huge aid programs, presently suspended, to force these two countries to adopt a more rational approach toward the solution of the Kashmir conflict and their multitude of other disputes.

President Johnson will try in forthcoming talks with the leaders of the two countries to make it clear that the United States does not propose to provide further economic or military aid in any considerable amount unless there is major progress in settling disputes.

U.S. officials acknowledge that prospects are not too good for reconciliation between these two countries divided by problems which have their roots deep in history, religion and economics.

REDCHINA: U.S. officials believe that Red China cannot be a real nuclear menace for six or seven years at earliest because of its lack of a sophisticated missile delivery system.

They acknowledge, however, that Peking's progress in exploding nuclear devices has given the Chinese a "blackmail" weapon, particularly insofar as India is concerned.

Even a crude nuclear bomb could be carried over a major Indian city by one of the jet bombers the Chinese have.

The United States, which is seeking to prevent the further spread of nuclear weapons, is not at all certain that India will continue to refrain from manufacturing its own.

India has the scientific know-how as well as the resources to do this and pressure is increasing on the government to undertake such a program.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHIMNEY SWIFTS

QUESTION: What do chimney swifts use for food?

ANSWER: Chimney swifts are common birds, but few people see them at close hand or know much about them. This is because swifts are either fluttering high in the air at a dizzy speed or concealed within the dark chimneys where most of them nest.

Sometimes a swift will work his way down the chimney and emerge through a fireplace into a room.

One can catch them in the hands and admire the extreme grace and beauty of their streamlined bodies, before setting them free in the open air.

Swifts are very useful little birds because of the great numbers of insects they catch for food while darting around in the air.

Their menu includes many mosquitoes. In the nesting season, swifts snap off twigs as they fly by and carry them inside a chimney to stick against the wall with their saliva, building up a nest in this way.

Look at the flying swifts in the picture and you will see a set of spines on the end of the tail. Inside the chimney, the swifts use these to prop himself against the wall, also using his claws to hang on with.

The swift's sooty coloring matches the odd location in which he chooses to live, which is at least a safe one, since other animals are not equipped to enter it.

FOR YOU TO DO: Cut out this article to be pasted in your scrapbook. Swifts have a special interest because they can fly so fast, up to 60 miles an hour. Certain species in Asia are said to be able to fly even faster than this.

36 Million Pupils Said Taught by TV

EAST LANSING (AP)—Nearly 37 million students across the nation are receiving at least some of their instruction from educational television, a Michigan State University educator said Monday.

More than 90 per cent of the 36,788,625 educational TV enrollments were in the kindergarten through 12th grade, said Dr. Lawrence E. McKune, director of MSU's Continuing Education Service. McKune compiled the figures for the 12th annual National Compendium of Televised Education.

CHAPLIN DAUGHTER RETURNS — Geraldine Chaplin, daughter of comedian Charlie Chaplin, is greeted with a kiss by her brother, Charles Jr., upon her arrival in Los Angeles yesterday to attend the Hollywood premiere of the movie "Dr. Zhivago" in which she has a starring role. It's her first visit to Hollywood since 1952 when she left with her parents for Switzerland. She was born in Santa Monica.

NBC Names New Chairman

Kintner to Replace RCA-Bound Sarnoff

NEW YORK (AP)—The appointment of Robert E. Kintner as chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Co. was announced yesterday.

Kintner, 56, president of NBC since 1958, will take over Jan. 1, succeeding Robert W. Sarnoff. Sarnoff will move to the presidency of the Radio Corp. of America, NBC's parent organization, in a major executive realignment.

The announcement dispelled published rumors that Kintner planned to leave the organization.

NBC had announced early in September that when Sarnoff went to RCA, Kintner would become both president and board chairman of NBC.

OFFICES SEPARATED

NBC said yesterday that Sarnoff and Kintner "had reviewed the executive structure and future operation of NBC" and had agreed "on the separation of the offices of president and chairman of the board."

The announcement said the NBC board also approved a number of other new assignments yesterday.

Walter D. Scott, 50, now president of NBC's television network, becomes president of NBC and will serve as the company's chief executive officer.

Julian Goodman, 43, now executive vice president of the NBC news division, will become senior executive vice president of operations and will be the chief administrative officer of NBC.

EXECUTIVE JEEP

Don Durgin, 41, now vice president of television network sales, will be an executive vice president of NBC and will succeed Scott as president of the television network.

Durgin's sales post will be filled by John M. Otter, now a sales vice president.

Reports that Kintner would leave NBC were published a week ago, but network executives have refused to confirm or deny them and Kintner himself was reported by his family to be out of reach in the Mountains of Pennsylvania.

Secret Rite in the Light

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — Joe Pantano and Helen Hench said they had planned to keep their wedding a secret for a while. But it just didn't work out that way.

It seems they were the 6,000th couple to obtain a marriage license this year in Coeur d'Alene, and the north Idaho community rolled out the red carpet for the Ren-ton, Wash., pair Monday.

The Pantanos got a free blood test, their marriage license was paid for, flowers were provided, and there was a free tank of gasoline, lodging for the night and even a wedding cake.

Refrigerator Full of Lightning Bugs

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U-P) — Les Schnable, fire chief at an industrial center here, opened his refrigerator door one night and found hundreds of lightning bugs flying around inside.

His children had heard that a chemical company was offering a penny for each bug for experimental purposes. They had heard that putting the bugs in a cold place would make them "dormant."

But the lid had loosened, and the bugs had escaped. However, the bugs were recaptured—and the youngsters sold them to the chemical company.
