Sheppard Trial Threatened by Six-Day Week

Long Cross-Examination by Defense Attorneys Slows Down Testimony

CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge's threat of a six-day week for the Sheppard murder trial faced defense lawyers today because of their long cross examination of the state's first witness.

As the third week of the trial closed yesterday, Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan still was doggedly questioning Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson, who had been on the witness stand all day.

And the attorney said he would need at least another hour Monday to complete his cross examination of the witness.

Judge Edward Blythin announced that if the pace of the trial continued to be slow, he might start holding Saturday sessions. Court sources later said the six-day court week is never popular with either lawyers or jurors.

The grueling session yesterday appeared to be just about as hard on the defendant, osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, as on the witness. Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death last July 4 after an affair with a pretty hospital technician, fought hard for control as some of the more gruesome details of the slaying were discussed.

While Corrigan was questioning Adelson about the wounds found on the battered head of Marilyn Sheppard, the defendant gripped his hands, bit his lip and closed his eyes tightly. His mouth quivered as the attorney used such terms as "splintered bones," "split skull" and "layers of bone."

The jurors divided their attention between the witness on the stand and the defendant. Once, several turned their heads away quickly as Sheppard looked up and faced them with misery in his eyes.

Corrigan, whose relentless questioning hammered Adelson into making nervous and somewhat defiant answers, tried to discredit the autopsy the deputy coroner made of the body.

The lawyer told a reporter later: "The police and these people from the coroner's office simply went out to that (Sheppard) house and decided that Sam Sheppard killed his wife. After that, they never made an attempt to see if anyone else did it."

'55 Plates on Sale Here Monday

NEW PLATE READY—Mrs. Gloria Bottom of 65 Williams St., covers this year's license plate with the new '55 green and white plate which goes on sale Monday at the Secretary of State branch office at 65 N. Perry St., according to Roy Kellogg, assistant manager. The new plates, Kellogg said, will be the same size but will have GA through GZ prefixes instead of the usual EA-EZ letters which were assigned for distribution in Oakland County in the past. Kellogg said the letters were changed because car registrations in Wayne County soared making it necessary for all plates with the letters AA through FZ to be sold there. Kellogg expects to sell 70,000 plates of all types in 1955.

Top U.S. Men Testifying; Favor Dixon-Yates Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—More top government officials were called today to testify in support of the controversial Dixon-Yates plan to feed private power into the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, pushed the group's study of the proposed contract with an unusual Saturday session.

Baby Is Killed in Auto Mishap

Michael Williamson Dies as Car Rams Tree on Commerce Rd.

A 10-month-old boy was killed and his mother was critically injured yesterday when the car which she was driving apparently rammed a tree on Commerce road near Green Lake road in West Bloomfield Township.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital was Michael Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williamson of 3151 Evergreen, Walled Lake.

Mrs. Williamson, 24, was unable to give police any statement following the accident in which she suffered a possible fractured skull. Another son, David, 3, also in the auto, suffered possible head injuries and is reported in fair condition.

West Bloomfield Township Patrolmen Richard G. Helgemo and Calvin C. Baxter said that Mrs. Williamson apparently lost control of her auto, before crashing into the tree about seven miles west of Pontiac. Helgemo said Mrs. Williamson will make a statement when her condition improves.

West Readies Resolution on Atoms-for-Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western representatives today put final touches on a resolution seeking U.N. endorsement for President Eisenhower's plan for peaceful sharing of atomic energy as diplomats anxiously awaited Russia's reaction to the program.

The resolution—for submission to the U.N.'s 60-Nation Political Committee—was drafted last night by seven Western nations which have been negotiating on atomic energy.

It is expected to ask:

1. Full U.N. cooperation in developing the international use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.
2. The U.N. to call an international scientific conference next year to discuss the possibilities of an atomic agency.
3. The conference to advise the U.N. on progress made towards peaceful atomic production by nations who have developed nuclear energy or have uranium resources.
4. A U.S. spokesman said the resolution was written by the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium and South Africa.

Professor Sees Gov. Williams as '56 President

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (UP)—One of Britain's top experts on American affairs predicted this week that Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan will be the next President of the United States.

Prof. Dennis Brogan, former Oxford scholar and longtime student of American affairs, said he believed Williams will be nominated and will win the 1956 election "because he has the overwhelming support of the U. S. labor movement."

He also predicted a Democratic victory in the 1956 congressional elections.

France Refuses to Join Parley

Foreign Office Denies Reported Negotiations on Saar Issue

PARIS (UP)—France refused today to send a diplomat to Germany next week to reopen negotiations on the Saar but announced that some points of the historic pact between the two nations still must be settled.

A French foreign ministry spokesman denied a West German announcement that the diplomat would go to Bonn and reopen talks on the pact between German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

The spokesman said neither chief of cabinet Jean-Marie Soult nor any other French diplomat would go to the West German capital, as Adenauer had indicated Friday night.

But the spokesman said it had always been agreed that certain points in the Saar accord still had to be completed.

The spokesman said it always had been understood that "arrangements" must come later on four articles of the Saar accord.

The articles included the key section of the economic relations the 991-square-mile territory will have with both France and Germany.

Main points of the Saar agreement include that it shall be placed under a neutral commissioner at least until the German peace treaty is signed.

Security Firing May Whip Up Public Storm

Dulles Ousts Veteran Diplomat John Paton Davies for 'Lack of Judgment'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The security firing of veteran diplomat John Paton Davies Jr. on grounds of "lack of judgment, discretion and reliability" threatened today to become a new center of public controversy.

Secretary of State Dulles, announcing the immediate dismissal of a key figure in the 10-year-old dispute over America's China policy, said yesterday he was affirming the unanimous findings of a special five-man security board.

Dulles said neither he nor the panel found Davies "disloyal in the sense of having any Communist affinity" or that he "consciously helped" an enemy of this country.

Dulles announced he had decided with the board that "the continued employment of Mr. Davies is not clearly consistent with the interests of national security."

Davies, who had been cleared eight times under the Truman administration, announced he would not contest the decision. But he declared in a statement he did not feel there were "adequate grounds" for it. Davies had been in the diplomatic service 23 years, much of the time in China.

He got the word of his dismissal in a personal talk with Dulles and shortly before a public announcement.

The announcement did not say on what specific points in Davies' record the decision against him was based.

State Department officials were unable to say what effect the dismissal would have on Davies' retirement benefits, but the New York Times said he loses those benefits which he otherwise could have collected in less than four years.

Davies, 46, has been a diplomatic and political storm center for years because during the latter stages of World War II he urged that the United States take firm steps to "revitalize" Nationalist China's Kuomintang. State Department records already published show that Davies said such a revitalized party could be a "significant force" in a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

With the opening date only three days away, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas flew into Washington last night for a Saturday conference with Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California on what order of procedure to follow. Time and place of the meeting were not announced.

One main subject known and Johnson were expected to take up is whether they can set the early target date some senators are asking for a showdown vote on the censure issue.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, told reporters "I personally will be disappointed if it (the special session) lasts more than a week." He said the Senate is reconvening to do "one specific thing"—dispose of a special committee's report recommending that McCarthy should be censured on three counts.

McCarthy gave further indication yesterday that his often-asked question, "Who promoted Peress?" will be a rallying cry in the presentation of his side of the case.

Student Nurse Murdered

VICTIM—Student nurse Marilyn Kraai, 21, (above) was criminally assaulted and slain Friday night in a basement laboratory at Kalamazoo Michigan State Hospital. State Police reported this morning that Louis M. Smith, 18, a patient at the hospital, had confessed the slaying.

Senate Chiefs Plan Talks on Procedure of Censure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders planned last-minute talks today on procedure for the Senate's special session amid predictions a final vote on whether to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) will come in a week or two.

McCarthy and his staff members meanwhile were reported arranging strategy meetings with senators friendly to his cause.

McCarthy has said he plans a detailed presentation of his side of the case for the benefit of the public, but has declined to call it a defense.

The Wisconsin Republican has predicted the Senate will vote to censure him at the session starting Monday, saying only a few members of the 96-man "jury" will go into the proceedings with an open mind.

With the opening date only three days away, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas flew into Washington last night for a Saturday conference with Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California on what order of procedure to follow. Time and place of the meeting were not announced.

Lures Student Into Basement on Card Ruse

Miss Kraai Assaulted, Then Strangled by Tie; Body Found in Lab

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—State police said today a patient at the Kalamazoo State Mental Hospital had confessed the sex slaying of 21-year-old nurse Marilyn Kraai last night.

The patient is Louis Maurice Smith, 18, committed to the hospital from Parchment, a Kalamazoo suburb.

Beck said Smith admitted luring the girl to a basement hydrotherapy room on the pretext of regaining a pack of playing cards he had left there.

He told Beck the girl volunteered to accompany him to the room to recover the cards.

Beck said Smith told him he killed Marilyn after the assault, then took her key ring and flushed it down a toilet. Afterward, he locked the door to the room, Beck said Smith related.

Marilyn's body was found in a search after other nurses became alarmed at her failure to keep a supper date with them.

Coroner Horace Cobb said the tall, blonde nurse had been criminally assaulted and then strangled with a red hospital issue necktie.

Most of the girl's clothing had been ripped off, but state police said there were no signs of a struggle in the laboratory where her body was found. The only outward sign of violence was the girl's bruised throat.

Hospital employees told police they heard no screams or indications of a struggle.

Hospital Safety Director Charles Mindeman ordered a search for Miss Kraai when three fellow student nurses said she failed to meet them for supper. She was off duty at 5:30 p.m.

In her purse was a letter addressed to a friend. She ended the letter by writing "It is now 5:25 p.m. and I have to go."

Her body was found at 8:45 p.m. A student at the Mercy Central School of Nursing in Grand Rapids, Mich., she had started a three-months tour of duty at the State Hospital, last Oct. 4.

Sister Mary Xavier, superintendent of the Grand Rapids school, described the girl as a "faithful nurse, of engaging personality, well liked by her fellow students and hospital patients and an excellent person in every way."

Weekend to Be Dry but Cloudy in Pontiac

Pontiac residents can plan on a weekend without rain or snow, although it will be cloudy for the next few days.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says it will be warmer tonight and Sunday, with a low of 38-42 tonight, high tomorrow near 55.

Downtown temperatures yesterday ranged from 30 to 40 degrees with cloudy skies but no precipitation.

This morning at 8 o'clock the mercury stood at 35 degrees, rising to 42 by 2 p.m.

Parking Lot Assessments Win Commissioners' Nod

From Our Birmingham Bureau
City Commissioners came into the home stretch on parking lot plans last night when they reviewed the assessments as set up by City Assessor Elmer Haack for an off-street parking lot, and found themselves in agreement.

The race will tighten Monday night, however, when the lawmakers are presented with new entries in the form of affected property owners and merchants.

For this Monday night marks the first public hearing since the latest proposed assessment district was drawn up.

Property owners on the east side of Woodward avenue and the north side of Maple avenue have been drawn into the competition, for they are now included in the district which will help pay for the lot on the east side of Pierce between Brown and Merrill streets.

As it stands now, the city would pay an equal share of the costs City Manager Donald C. Egbert said today that one of the biggest hurdles facing the city is how to "handle the property used for parking lots."

"For example," he said, "the city has leased the S. S. Kresge Company's parking lot on a five-year basis—how should it be assessed, or should it?"

Commissioners decided last night that no formula could be set up to cover all situations and agreed that "problem" properties would have to be considered individually, with the city using its best judgment.

On the question of property acquisitions for the lots, Egbert said these "are moving very well." The first option was approved last week and Egbert said, "We are now at the point of signing two more." There are eleven pieces of property involved and eight property owners.

Returning to the pulpit tomorrow for the first time in several months, will be Dr. Arnold Runkel, minister of the First Methodist Church. Still recuperating from a serious illness, Dr. Runkel will preach at the 9:30 a.m. service only, using as his sermon topic, "The Detours of Life."

Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland will be the guest speaker at Monday's meeting of the Pembroke School PTA. Having no school of its own to meet in as yet, the group will gather at 8 p.m. at the Torrey School auditorium. A short business meeting will follow the program, when committee chairman of the new PTA are introduced to parents.

In lieu of an open house, there will be an informal gathering of the parents and teachers, with refreshments furnished and served by mothers of fifth and sixth graders.

A current drainage problem has brought to light a request made by the city seven years ago, when the Oakland County drain commissioner's office was asked to solve the lack of storm drainage facilities in the north-east section of Birmingham.

The question was brought up again at this week's City Commission meeting, when the lawmakers were asked what could be done to eliminate the health problems created from a newly-constructed sewer which ends and drains into a low area in Pembroke Manor subdivision.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert will forward another resolution to the drain commissioner, embodying all phases of the first one, and adding the latest difficulty.

Meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Community House, St. Columban Church's Sodality of Our Lady will choose a nominating committee for elections to be held in January.

The annual Walnut Lake School PTA open house is slated for 8 p.m. Monday, when parents and teachers will meet one another, and the arts, crafts and other talents of the children will be displayed. The open house is for parents and the community.

Dr. Cyril Barker, well-known Baptist organist, will be presented in an organ recital sponsored by the sanctuary choir of the First Baptist Church at 7:30 tomorrow night at the church. Dr. Barker will present a program of sacred music.

Rotary Club members will honor their district governor, Harold Doer, at a noon luncheon Monday at the Community House. Doer will outline the district's Golden Jubilee plans.

An 11 a.m. meeting of directors and officers will precede the luncheon.

Churches interest in supporting teams in the YMCA-sponsored church basketball league have been asked by Edwin F. Kirbert, Y secretary, to have representatives at a meeting at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow at the First Baptist Church.

Tentative dates and play schedules will be discussed, as will rules governing play. Church players must be under 19 years of age by Jan. 1.

Guests at Monday's meeting of Unit No. 3 of MOMS of America, Inc., will be Margaret Hartnack, special services officer of the Grand Rapids Facility. She will show a colored film on life at the facility. Mrs. H. M. Kordenbrock will open her Lakeside drive home to the group at 7:45 p.m.

Election laws and the reforms projected by a report of the governor's study commission on elections will be taken up at this month's unit meetings of the League of Women Voters.

The commission's recommendations will be analyzed since it is expected that this report will be the basis of legislative action in the next assembly. The program has been prepared by the election law reform committee of the league, headed by Mrs. Donald Howarth.

Times and places of the meetings are: Unit 2, 1 p.m. Nov. 8, home of Mrs. R. Thoreson, Quentin drive, Lathrup; Nov. 9 meetings are: Unit 1, 10 a.m., home of Mrs. Brooks, Marshall, Gordon Lane; Unit 3, 1 p.m., Franklin Community Church; Unit 4, 8 p.m., home of Mrs. Robert Fredericks.

Survivors include his widow, Lou Watters Sells; and one son, Edgar L. Sells, of Detroit.

Top U. S. Officials Favor Power Plan

One bitter foe of the Dixon-Yates proposal, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), testified yesterday.

Another critic, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), said today President Eisenhower could show his willingness to work with the Democrats who will control the 84th Congress by withdrawing the Dixon-Yates contract. He suggested the President "tear up the contract and start all over from scratch."

The Dixon-Yates proposal, center of a 13-day senate debate last July and a bitter issue in a number of congressional campaigns, provides for construction of a 107-million-dollar private power plant in Arkansas to supply 600,000 kilowatts of energy to TVA at Memphis. This power, which would be used to serve TVA customers in the Memphis area, would replace a like amount of energy TVA supplies to atomic plants at Paducah, Ky., and Oak Ridge.

Critics contend the proposal would cost the government over four million dollars a year more than if TVA built its own new power plant. They say the plan is an attack on TVA. Supporters say it is the best way to get the needed power.

Yesterday's session brought sharp disagreement between Cole and Gore about the ability of Congress to kill the contract which President Eisenhower ordered AEC to negotiate.

Cop Misses Good Bet as Driver Gets Fine

BLACKPOOL, England (UP)—Police Constable Thomas Wilkinson told Judge T. Stopford today that when he arrested Frederick Greenhalgh for speeding Greenhalgh said, "I bet you two to one I get off."

"Did you take him on?" inquired the judge.
"No," the policeman said.
"You should have," said the judge. He fined Greenhalgh $2.80.

REV. FRED R. TIFFANY

Baptists to Hold Members' Day

Pastor Will Be Assisted at Thanksgiving Service by Church Deacons

The Junior High School Choir directed by Mrs. Louis Tiffany with Elda Sutter, organist, will present the special music for the 9 a. m. worship service at the Bethany Baptist Church Sunday.

The Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, pastor, will preach on the theme "Jesus, the Gifted Child." Sunday School will follow with classes for all young people. The College of Christian Living, a class for adults will be held at the same time. This class has an enrollment of 200.

Membership Day will be featured at the 11 a. m. service. The Thanksgiving Season of Communion will be observed with the 17 deacons of the church assisting the pastor. The Rev. Mr. Tiffany will use as his sermon topic, "Peter and the Phobia of Fear."

Beginning tomorrow the Bethany Baptist Church will offer a brief course on the subject, "Life Can Be Changed by Mind Direction." The course will be based on the book "Mind Alive." The basic thesis is that stated by St. Paul, "Be Ye Transformed by the Renewing of Your Mind." Romans Chapter 12.

The course will be taught Sunday evenings at 7 p. m. by the Rev. Mr. Tiffany.

Masked Bandit Robs, KO's Man

Pontiac Restaurateur Left Unconscious After Handing Over $2,000

A lone, masked bandit robbed a Pontiac restaurant owner of nearly $2,000 yesterday and fled after slugging the victim and leaving him unconscious in the rear of the restaurant.

Charles Palaian, 33, of 635 Jollyn Ave., told police yesterday that he was returning from the bank when the bandit approached him behind the building.

The bandit, described as being about 6 feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds, forced Palaian toward the building, demanding his money.

Palaian gave the robber $1,810 in cash which was to be used for check cashing and four envelopes containing an undetermined amount of United Fund money. Palaian also is a collector for this year's U.F. drive.

Palaian told police the gun discharged when he was hit on the head and knocked unconscious. Police said the bullet went through Palaian's hat.

France Won't Enter Saar Negotiations

Adenauer had agreed at Paris to internationalize the coal-rich Saar which is populated mostly by Germans but has been attached economically since the end of World War II to France.

A settlement of the Saar dispute to the satisfaction of France had been Mendes-France's price for French approval of German rearmament.

Two of the four parties in the Adenauer coalition — the Free Democrats and the Refugees — balked at approving any agreement which would separate the Saar borderland from Germany.

Mendes-France also has called on the national assembly for a vote of confidence on his handling of the 1955 budget.

The premier asked the vote, which will be taken Tuesday when the Assembly reconvenes, to support his opposition against proposed budget increases for the post office, telephone and telegraph department.

YOUTH, 15, Confesses Brutal Slaying of Girl

NORWOOD, Mass. (UP)—Dist. Atty. Myron Lane said today that a 15-year-old boy has confessed the brutal slaying of Geraldine.

See Early Story on Page 12.

Annesse, also 15, whose body was discovered yesterday in a garage near her home.

Lane named the boy as Peter Makarewicz Jr., a former altar boy, who lived around the corner from the Annesse home.

The boy re-enacted the crime before a horrified crowd including his own mother.

Lane said the boy admitted after all-night questioning he killed the girl in the cellar of her own home and then dragged the body to the garage.

The boy was taken to the garage handcuffed and was set upon by the dead girl's stepbrother, Philip DeRose. DeRose grabbed Peter and had to be pulled away by police.

DeRose shouted at the boy: "My sister's dead. My mother's dying."

The girl's mother has been grief-stricken since learning of the tragedy.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Felix DeJager

Mrs. Felix (Sidonie) DeJager, 83, 262 Prospect, died yesterday after an illness of six years.

Born in Belgium, she was married there in 1894. She was the daughter of Ladevius and Barbara Wallaer Pozolo.

She was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church and resident of Pontiac since 1919. She belonged to the League of Catholic Women and was a charter member of St. Vincent de Paul Altar Society.

Surviving are five children—Julius and Constant, at home; Mrs. Cyril Vandendriesche, Monroe; Mrs. Alfred LaValley, North Branch, and Mrs. Benjamin Budwitz, Pontiac.

Also surviving are 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at the Grace Funeral Home Chapel 8:30 p.m. Sunday. Funeral will be Monday at 10 a.m. from St. Vincent de Paul Church, followed by burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Domonick Lorinne Fortino

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 p.m. from Donelson-Johns Funeral Home for Domonick Lorinne Fortino. He was the baby son of Domonick and Joan Guest Fortino of 1203 Burnett St., Wichita Falls, Texas. Burial was in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Born Sept. 27, 1954, the baby was 36 days old and died in the Sheppard Air Force Hospital in Wichita Falls, Texas.

Hugh McBride Graham

Hugh McBride Graham, 73, 1125 Lockhaven, died this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after an illness of one week.

Born in Scranton, S. C., he was the son of Harold and Jane Gaskins Graham. A retired GM Truck and Coach division employee, he came to Oakland County 26 years ago.

Surviving are six daughters—Mrs. William Howard, Darlington, S. C.; Mrs. James St. Croix, Birmingham; Ethel Graham, Pontiac; Mrs. Perry Dick, Pontiac; Mrs. Theodore Sevigny, Pontiac; and Mrs. Howland Gary, Alexandria, Va.

Also surviving are a son, Julian Graham of Pontiac, and nine grandchildren.

Others surviving are two brothers, D. Z. Graham of Lake City, S. C., and John Graham of Scranton, and two sisters, Mrs. Cleveland Goforth, Charleston, S. C., and May Graham, Scranton.

Funeral services Monday at 4 p.m. will be from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel, with Dr. H. H. Savage officiating. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Carl Rice

Funeral for Carl (Bill) Rice, 57, of 19 N. Marshall St., will be Sunday at 3 p.m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel. He will then be sent to Bicknell, Ind. for burial.

Mr. Rice died yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after an illness of three years.

Mrs. J. Frank Thomas

Mrs. J. Frank (Grace B.) Thomas, 70, of 228 Florence Ave., died yesterday afternoon at Pontiac General Hospital. She had been ill nine days.

Mrs. Thomas was born Feb. 14, 1884, and had lived in Pontiac all her life.

She was the daughter of William A. and Kitty Brewster who also were lifetime residents here. Mr. Brewster was active in politics and served as alderman.

Mrs. Thomas was married to the late J. Frank Thomas, a building contractor here. He died in 1951.

She was a lifelong member of the First Congregational Church and active in the Pilgrim Group.

Three children survive, John J. Thomas of Castro Valley, Calif.; Mrs. Mary Jane Lloyd, Port Huron and Mrs. Ellen Reynolds of Pontiac, and eight grandchildren.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Barker of Los Angeles and Mrs. Wilbur Rowston of Pontiac.

Funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel, Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, her pastor, will officiate. Burial will follow in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Donations to the building fund of the First Congregational Church, in-lieu of flowers, would be appreciated by the family.

REV. MALCOLM K. BURTON

Pontiac Pastor Given New Post

Rev. Malcolm K. Burton Heads Opposition to Church Merger Move

Appointment of the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton as executive director of the Committee for the Continuation of the Congregational Christian Churches was announced in Chicago Friday evening.

"This appointment does not mean my resignation as pastor of the First Congregational Church here," said Mr. Burton today, upon his return from the Chicago meeting. "I hope to continue to serve as pastor, but will ask the church to grant me a release of time and relinquishment from pastoral duties aside from preaching."

"The continuation committee has voted to pay the full salary of an associate pastor for our church here, to be selected by the church."

"Merger of the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical & Reformed Church was voted in 1949 by the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches and the Synods of the Evangelical & Reformed Church."

"The General Council has admitted that it has no authority to bind any individual Congregational Church to participate in such a merger. Nevertheless the plan of merger provides that every Congregational Church will be a part of the merger unless it takes official action to the contrary."

"The Continuation Committee has been set up to give counseling advice to churches which wish to continue as Congregational Churches."

"Grounds of the opposition to the merger are that churches entering the union will lose their individual freedom and autonomy. This has been denied by leaders in the General Council, but the merger plan provides for a constitution for the united church which would have governing and defining powers. Hereafter each Congregational Church has been governed only by its own constitution and by laws and by the votes of its congregation."

"The action at Chicago provides also for the appointment of a part time worker in New England and another on the west coast. Dr. Howell D. Davies, who has served as executive secretary of the Continuation Committee since June, 1950, will continue in the Chicago office located at 100 North LaSalle St."

"Also voted was the establishment of a missionary society to serve the churches which vote to continue as Congregational Churches."

Macomb Games Court Dismissed

Former Flint Mayor Given Stinging Rebuke as Case Is Thrown Out

MOUNT CLEMENS (UP)—Gambling conspiracy charges were dismissed in Macomb County Circuit Court yesterday against William H. McKeighan, former mayor of Flint.

Judge Edward T. Kane, of St. Clair County, said lack of evidence forced him to dismiss the case against the 68-year-old defendant.

At the same time he accused McKeighan of "being part and parcel of this whole deal." And in a stinging lecture which ended the trial, Kane told McKeighan that "in society you cannot hold your head up any more than a worm that crawls out from under a log."

McKeighan was charged with conspiracy to violate state gambling laws in being the payoff man between Macomb County gamblers and policemen who allegedly took bribes in return for protecting gamblers.

McKeighan fled to Florida eight years ago after indictment by a grand jury. Until he returned voluntarily to Michigan last August, he avoided extradition on the ground he was unable to travel because of a serious heart ailment.

"This case has been a stain upon the history of this county and a sore spot in the state," Judge Kane told McKeighan. And he added:

"You have been in a position of great power. It is a sad commentary on justice when one person can, for a long period of time, resist justice as you have done and then be able to pick your spot after people have been taken by the divine providence—those who could have testified against you."

Kane was referring to men involved in the case who since have died.

Earlier in the day the judge threatened to file perjury charges against Arthur P. Sauve, a former slot machine operator in Macomb County and a witness at the trial.

Sauve signed an affidavit in 1947 naming McKeighan as a payoff man for Macomb County gamblers. Yesterday, however, he said the affidavit was false, claiming he signed it only after a "brain washing" by the grand jury which indicted McKeighan.

London Sees Rise in Coffee Houses

LONDON (INS) — The new coffee houses which have suddenly sprung up all over London in the past year — today there are over 70 operating — are now attempting to create "a new literary atmosphere" in the British capital.

The original coffee houses of the 17th and 18th centuries — there were nearly 2,000 in London — drew the leading personalities of the literary, artistic, business and political worlds to their cozy quarters for "gossip."

Johnson, Boswell, Pope, Addison and Steele were among the literary lights which frequented the coffee houses.

The 1954 coffee houses are now publishing a weekly periodical entitled "Intimate Review" edited by John Rety to "encourage young writers and artists," provide "information regarding coffee houses and their inmates," and to "create a new literary atmosphere in London."

Family and individual photographs are a cherished item in every home—especially pictures of Johnnie and Mary growing up! Knowing this "gyp artists" are constantly preying on unsuspecting people.

Be sure you know your photographer! Fly-by-night "picture takers" may either take your money and never deliver or, which is more probable, give you inferior prints.

BOOT CAMP—Caught by curiosity, these two blue Persian kittens climbed into a pair of boots in their Paris home. As always, it's much easier to get into trouble than out of it, and the two found themselves camping there until rescued.

The mercurial barometer is considered the most accurate type of barometer.

Native Dancer May Earn More During Retirement

NEW YORK (AP)—Fatherhood to a successful race horse often beats an old age pension.

Take Native Dancer, for example. The big gray stallion, fourth biggest money winner in American turf history, racked up $785,240 in 22 starts and lost only one race—the Kentucky Derby, by a nose.

Now retired, he may earn even more money through planned parenthood in his leisure years than he did during his brief, fabulous track career.

"It's quite possible, if he lives long enough," said his owner, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. The Dancer, whose stud fee is $5,000, already has a full calendar for his first year as a sire. He has been booked for 40 engagements.

Whether he continues to earn $200,000 a year as a career father depends on whether he transmits to his offspring his own dazzling qualities—speed, heart and strength.

Only time can determine that. But the Dancer's own tremendous record has given him a head start in his new vocation. In developing thoroughbreds, owners generally follow the maxim, "you breed the best to the best and hope for the best."

Native Dancer's $5,000 stud fee is high, but there have been higher. There are perhaps 20 American stallions that get a $2,000 to $3,000 stud fee. In some cases the fee is paid only if the breeding results in a live foal.

The influence of a stallion's age on the quality of his offspring is highly debatable.

Native Dancer's famous grandfather, Discovery, was put to stud at the age of six. He will be 24 next spring, and is still active, although the number of his engagements has been cut gradually from 40 a year down to 12.

"But he's got more good horses the last five years than he did the first five years," remarked Vanderbilt.

Great track performers don't always go on to become the greatest sires. The fabulous Man O'War, still regarded by many as the racehorse of the century, led American sires only one year. In 1926 his offspring won 49 races and $408,137.

The most successful living sire, Bull Lea, not yet old enough to vote, never set any big money records in his saddle-wearing prime.

He was put out to stud in 1940 at the age of 6. Since 1947 he has led the sire list every year except 1950 and 1951. Bull Lea's offspring earned at least a million dollars in four of those years. In 1947 they set the modern record in track winnings—$1,630,655.

Like racing itself, siring is an unpredictable industry, and every colt is an expensive gamble.

But Vanderbilt, at 42 one of the kingpins of racing, no longer has to dip into his 20 million dollar inheritance to support his expensive stable. It has run to 80 or more horses. Now he trims to 40 or 45 in training season.

"In the last four or five years it certainly has been paying for me," he said, cheerfully. "But more people will lose money with a stable than win.

"It has to be that way. The percentage is against you."

Red Peace Offensive Rapped by Yoshida

NEW YORK (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida of Japan says the United States should not be deceived by the Communist peace offensive in Asia and that the Reds regard Japan as the "ultimate prize of their Pacific conquests."

In a speech to the Japan Society Friday night, Yoshida also said a stumbling block in his country's economic expansion is "widespread use of tariff barriers and import restrictions."

Yoshida was imprisoned by Japanese authorities during World War II as a pacifist and a "liberal."

The Prime Minister was scheduled to leave today by plane for Albany, N.Y., to be a luncheon guest of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

New York City Begins Probes

Fire, Police, Housing Departments Eyed After Bribes Are Uncovered

NEW YORK (AP)—Probes of the city's fire, police, and housing departments were under way today.

Graft charges against three Brooklyn fire battalion chiefs expanded into the Police Department yesterday, with Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams denouncing "traitors" under his command.

Adams, at promotion ceremonies for 18 officers, told more than 300 of his high-ranking subordinates:

"I'll mince no words. We have traitors, men and women, who have not hesitated to sell us out for a few dollars. They have not only degraded themselves but have attempted to destroy us all through their conduct."

"It will not go on if I have to emasculate this entire department."

In other developments yesterday, Housing Commissioner Bernard J. Gilroy said an inquiry was under way "to see if any of our people were involved" in graft-taking charged against the three firemen.

Suspended Thursday were Fire Battalion Chiefs Daniel M. Regan, Joseph A. Massaro, and Edward T. Heeg—all charged with accepting $100 each from a contractor who wished to use fire to speed a building demolition job in Brooklyn.

Shoes shaped differently for the right and left feet were first made just before the American Civil War.

Reflections

"I DON'T HAVE TIME"

You've heard that expression hundreds of times; quite often that remark is rationalization.

Mrs. Ted Young is one of the truly busy women in town. She has two boys and a girl who are either hungry, asking ten thousand questions, or crying with a skinned shin, hand or cheek. She helps her husband, does all of her own sewing, her home is immaculate, yet this lady is active in many social and civil affairs. I have never heard her say, "I don't have time."

A 66 year old man and his wife 65, are two of the happiest persons I know. When he retired time hung heavy on his hands, every ache was magnified. His doctor told him, "You have too much time to think, about yourself." You'll find them, going to or returning from someone's house where they have merely listened, inspired or read to a shut-in.

When you don't have time, take it. You'll be happier.

Area Schools to Open Doors for U.S. Education Week

Parents Urged to Participate

Like Proclamation Asks Citizens Visit Classes Sometime Next Week

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE
"Good Schools are Your Responsibility!"

This theme for the 1954 American Education Week (Nov. 7-13) officially opens the classroom doors of every school in the county and the nation, with a special invitation for public visitation during the annual event.

Classrooms of Pontiac, Waterford, Walled Lake, Rochester, Birmingham, Oxford, Lake Orion, Clarkston, Avondale, Troy, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Hills, Holly, Dublin and the several others of Oakland County are joining in this "open door" program.

President Eisenhower issued a proclamation this week asking all citizens to become better acquainted with their schools.

"Because our schools help shape the mind and character of our youth," the President said, "the strength and weakness of our educational system today will go far to determine the strength or weakness of our national wisdom and our national morality tomorrow."

"That is why it is essential that we have good schools. And their quality depends on all of us."

National sponsors of the event include the American Legion, National Education Association, U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. The Michigan Education Association is also a joint sponsor.

William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools, joined with the other school administrators of the county, today to invite the parents and all interested citizens to participate in the event by visiting their schools.

"Citizens are always welcome in their schools, but we especially urge them to call on the classroom during this coming week," said Emerson.

"When you invest your time and your money in good schools," he continued, "you are investing in prosperity for our people, national security and successful self-government by free men."

Mayor William W. Donaldson of the City of Pontiac, today issued a special proclamation stating:

"I urge that during American Education Week all citizens not only visit their schools but pause and pay tribute to those builders of democratic American citizens — our teachers!"

Special programs that have been planned include:

Walled Lake Elementary set its PTA meeting for Nov. 10 at 7:30, to be launched with an open house. Wixom follows same procedure on Nov. 8, and at Union Lake the morning of Nov. 11 will be dedicated to a special reading demonstration class.

At Twin Beach, invitations have gone out to parents to visit anytime during the week and the elementary grades located in the new high school will follow the same procedure.

Commerce PTA holds its program Nov. 10 at 2 p.m. and the Junior high school and the senior high school will welcome citizens all through the week.

Nov. 8 from 7 to 10 p.m. has been designated for open house at the Novi School. At 8 p.m., Dr. Claire Holt of Detroit will speak on "Vision and Education."

Other schools will announce programs throughout the week.

County Calendar

Troy Township
The Troy Township Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

There will be an executive meeting of the Troy High School PTA at 8 a.m. Monday at the school.

A committee meeting of Cub Scouts of Log Cabin has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Larry J. Salzman Takes Nancy E. Jeffries as Bride

MRS. LARRY J. SALZMAN
OXFORD — Nancy Elizabeth Jeffries became the bride of Larry Joseph Salzman this afternoon in a ceremony at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Jeffries. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Salzman of Oxford are the parents of the bridegroom.

For the ceremony the bride wore a floor-length princess line gown of Chantilly lace and tulle with a pleated front panel and scooped neckline. Her veil was of scalloped illusion lace.

Mrs. James E. Jeffries of Atchison, Kan., was the matron of honor. Sheila Flannery of Orchard Lake, Nancy Hawkins of Birmingham, Ann Debatte of Edwardsville, Ill., and Mary Lou Salzman, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaids.

Al Schoenheit of Hermosa Beach, Calif., served as best man.

James and Thomas Jeffries, brothers of the bride, Al Slendak of St. Clair, and Ralph Pence of Detroit seated the guests.

After a trip through Wisconsin and Northern Michigan the couple will live in Oxford.

Fire Kills Mom, Four Children

Two Others Escape as Blaze Destroys Home in Toronto's East End

TORONTO (U.P.) — A mother and four of her six children were killed today when fire swept their three-room flat in Toronto's east end.

Two other children escaped in night clothes.

John Walton, 33, husband and father of the family, did not know of the tragedy. He was on a deer hunting trip in the Sault Ste. Marie Ont., area and had not been located.

His wife, Rita, 31, two sons, Vernon 1, and Leslie 2, and two daughters, Barbara 6, and Rosemarie, 11, perished. A son—Jimmy, 12—and daughter, Elaine, 8, escaped unharmed.

Both upstairs and downstairs flats were ablaze when firemen arrived. Gordon Baker, his wife and three children, who occupy the downstairs flat, escaped without injury. Jimmy Walton turned in the alarm.

Two efforts to save the woman and children were made before firemen arrived but the searing heat blocked both.

The fire broke out in the early hours of the morning.

County Engineers to Meet Tuesday

The regular meeting of the Oakland County Engineering Society will be held at the Birmingham Community House at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Walter L. Clark, chief building superintendent of the Smith-Hinchman and Grylls, Inc., will outline the various phases of planning and executing the construction of the General Motors Technical Center.

His presentations will include colored slides showing the various stages of construction from the starting date to the present time.

Thomas PTA to Present Film on "Knowledge"

THOMAS — "Man's Right to Knowledge and Free Use Thereof" is the title of a film to be shown at the 8 p.m. Monday meeting of the Thomas PTA.

Leonard, Lakeville and Oxford PTA groups have been invited.

STILES—A "Friendly Market" will be staged by the members of the Stiles Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association on Nov. 18 in the Community Building on Auburn road.

To feature handicrafts of all kinds, the market will be open to the public from 8 to 10 p.m. on that date.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. John Hoffman and publicity director is Mrs. Orin L. Romigh.

Double Fatality Starts Weekend

2 Jackson Youths Die as Car Hits Pole; Auto Accident Kills Woman

By UNITED PRESS

An automobile accident which took two lives in Jackson Friday night got the Michigan weekend off to a grim start today with at least three highway deaths already reported.

Two youths died in Jackson when the car in which they were riding went off of control and hit a telephone pole.

The two youths killed were James Blackwell, 17, and John McKinney, 20, both of Jackson. McKinney's brother, Wiley, 24, driver of the car, and Joe Powell, 17, Jackson, another passenger, both suffered critical injuries.

Mrs. Mary Estella Clark, 49, Saginaw, was killed Friday night while walking on M-13 south of Saginaw. William Latoski, 23, Saginaw, driver of the car, said he didn't see the woman, who was walking along the road just two blocks south of the city limits.

Latoski said he stopped the car when he heard it bump into something and found Mrs. Clark lying beside the road.

Lone Bandit Gets $1,100 in Holdup

A lone bandit pulled a daring daylight holdup about 2:30 p.m. yesterday when he walked into the General Public Loan Office at 2248 Woodward, Ferndale, and took $1,100 after forcing two employees and five customers to lie on the floor.

Ferndale Police said the man was about 29, 185 pounds, five foot eleven, blond, wearing a blue suit and trench coat. A man answering this description, except that he was described as "older," held up a grocery store four hours later on East Nine Mile in Macomb County, according to Michigan State Police.

The gunman, who had a scar under his right eye, walked out of the loan company in the heart of the shopping district, and walked north, witnesses said.

A committee is now working on developing the seven-acre site into a complete recreation area.

India has only one trained doctor for every 6,000 people, as compared to one for every 1,000 in the United Kingdom.

GROUND BROKEN — Work has begun on the new four-story $1,100,000 office building of the Michigan Life Insurance Co., to be located on a three-acre site on the west side of Woodward avenue in Royal Oak, just south of Coolidge Road. Of modern design, the building will be completely air-conditioned, and faced with Indiana limestone. Facilities for a banking office of the Wayne Oakland Bank of Royal Oak will be provided on the first floor.

2 Sites Being Considered for New Macomb Hospital

ROMEO — Forward strides toward the construction of a new hospital to serve communities in northwest Macomb County were noted today with the report that the Community Hospital Foundation would soon give a yes-or-no answer on two proposed sites which have been offered by Almont citizens, and with the indication of mounting interest on the part of physicians in the area.

Foundation President David M. Ross stated that surveys of the sites have been made and the board of directors will give a decision by Dec. 1.

One of the properties offered is owned by Dr. G. Clare Bishop and is located just south of Almont; the other, farther south on M 53 is owned by Ross Lawrence.

Doctors from surrounding towns have indicated a strong interest in the proposed hospital, and many have promised to attend the next meeting of the foundation, scheduled for Nov. 17 at the home of Dr. L. R. Newton, vice president of the foundation, on south Van Dyke road.

In addition to seven Romeo doctors, physicians from Armada, Imlay City, Utica, and Surviving are his widow, Grace C.; a son and daughter, Alan and Ann Elizabeth, both at home; four brothers and four sisters.

Corn Acreage to Be Limited

Benson Will Restrict Commercial Allotments to 805 Counties

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department announced today that corn acreage allotments will be in effect in 1955 and that the commercial-producing area will be limited to 805 counties in 21 states.

Farmers in the commercial area must plant within individual allotments to qualify for price supports, which Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson is expected to establish at about 88 per cent of parity.

Farmers outside the commercial area will be eligible for supports at 75 per cent of the national support level.

The four Arkansas counties included in the commercial producing area this year will be eliminated from next year's list. Additional switches will bring a 29-county net reduction from this year's 834 commercial counties in 22 states.

In 1954, an allotment of 46,995,504 acres was in effect for the commercial area and corn was supported at 90 per cent of parity.

Under the Agricultural Act of 1954, however, Benson is given discretion to set 1955 supports between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity.

Botany Professor to Give Lecture at Garden Club

BOTANY professor Felix G. Gustafson, will be the guest speaker at a 7:45 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Royal Oak Organic Farm and Garden Club, at the Royal Oak High School.

He will discuss photosynthesis, detailing how the green portions of the plant manufacture food with the aid of sunlight.

Music Will Be Topic for Pre-School Group

TROY TOWNSHIP — Music appreciation will be the topic at the Poppleton pre-school group when it meets at the home of Mrs. Ed Burkett, 3179 McClure, at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Lois Tiffany, supervisor of music in Waterford Public Schools, will speak and demonstrate different instruments.

Home Development Starting Near Romeo

ROMEO — Ground has been broken for the largest home development ever undertaken in the Romeo area.

The site, one mile north of the village, surrounds Burlington's State Park. The $2,500,000 project will include 160 homes in the $15,000 price range.

Work has already begun on four models, to be completed by Christmas. The homes will be face brick ranch type, with or without carports.

Basements will be optional in the three and four bedroom homes, to be located on one-acre lots.

Officials to Tour New Incinerator

Open House Ceremony at South Oakland Plant to Be Held Today

Officials of 12 cities and townships in southern Oakland County will tour the new $1,900,000 incinerator at John R. and 12½ Mile Road Saturday in open house ceremonies slated for 2 p.m.

A project of the South Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority, the incinerator will consume the trash of the member communities which banded together in the authority to create a solution to their problem.

The plant is scheduled to go into operation by Dec. 1.

A section of Birmingham-owned land in Troy Township is being used in a sanitary land-fill method of disposal until the plant is ready.

Two Churches Schedule Time for Services

LAKE ORION — The Rev. Raymond E. Bierlein, curate of St. Alfred Episcopal Church at 857 Lapeer Rd. and St. John Episcopal at Dryden announced service times for both churches.

At St. Alfred's, both Sunday school and worship service will be held at 11:15 a.m. Sunday. A potluck family dinner for the parish will follow the morning service.

Meetings for the week include a bishop's committee meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, choir rehearsal at 7:15 p.m. Thursday and confirmation class at 8:15 p.m. Thursday.

At St. John's Church, Holy Communion will be observed at 9:30 a.m. and church school will meet at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in the evening the UMCY meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday's schedule includes Holy Communion at 10 a.m., choir rehearsal at 7:15 p.m. and adult confirmation class at 8:15 p.m.

Service Society Plans Autumn Bazaar Today

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Southfield Methodist Church is sponsoring an autumn bazaar from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. today.

Mrs. Evelyn Folsom, chairman, has announced that booths of fancy work, aprons, baked goods and home-canned foods will also be shown.

Plastic Road Signs Will Last Longer

CLEVELAND (INS) — The "stop" sign, which hasn't been edited for decades, is undergoing material change.

It and other traffic markers are now being made of a new high-impact vinyl plastic that won't rust and is said to last considerably longer than the approximate three-year life span of metal highway signs.

Engineers at B. F. Goodrich Chemical Company who developed the special plastic say it's waterproof and can be made in any color without being painted.

The engineers say the plastic signs will snap back into shape after they've been bent. They'll also partially seal up holes caused by stray bullets, and won't shatter, regardless of the number of times they're hit.

Crew-Switching Saves Moving Bills for Navy

PEARL HARBOR (U) — The Navy has found a new way to save money in the submarine service—switching entire crews. It works this way:

The snorkel sub USS Stetler recently was sent from San Diego to replace the USS Besugo at Pearl Harbor. Crews of the two subs also were switched, thereby eliminating the need of transporting dependents to the new station.

Clay keeps soil fertile from season to season and is considered a necessary ingredient.

Mae West Says She's Good to the Last Drop

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Mae West gave me a hurt look when I mentioned age to her. "I never talk about age, honey," she said. "I thought it might make a good story," I explained. "You know, how sex appeal doesn't depend on age. You've got people lined up for a block waiting to see you, and yet you're not so very . . ."

I stammered, and Mae, who's now in her early sixties, saved me the embarrassment of finishing the sentence. We were in her undressing room at the Latin Quarter where she's bustin' all records.

"I never think about age, honey," the Diamond Lil of yesterday said. "I'm health-minded. 'If you take care of your health and you're interested in positive thinkin', you'll be O. K.'"

"You're talking like Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's book," I said.

"I've read so many books on it," she answered. "You have to keep bein' constructive. You build, build, build! Instead of bein' angry at somebody about something, you wipe it out of your mind. If you don't you'll just wear yourself down."

Mae hunched her shoulders up close and almost whispered. "I like to be happy, I like to feel good all the time," she said.

"But what kind of philosophy or religion do you call it?" I asked, trying hard to get at the secret of her sexiness.

"You got to feel your best to get over what I get over," she shrugged. "It's been called many things, but all I know is I gotta feel good to get it over."

Mae's sex appeal and box office appeal had astonished even show-wise Lou Walters, owner of the Latin Quarter, who booked her for four weeks and extended her to seven.

Mae drew a $70,000 gate in one week . . . more even than "Pajama Game." Working on a straight salary of $12,500 a week for her entire act, including several muscle-men, Mae didn't balk at working three shows on Wednesdays and weekends, even though it meant no more money for her personally.

As for her romances at this stage, Mae says, "It's not the men you see me out with—it's the men you don't see me out with." "And about your age?" I asked, once more.

"Honey," she said, "why don't you just say, 'Good to the last drop.'"

THE WEEKEND WIND-UP . . . "DON'T PRINT THAT!": A famed director yelled at his cast, "If you don't get down to work, I'm going right back to the sanitarium!"

Wonder Drug Discoverer Sued by Woman Scientist

NEWARK, N. J. (U) — A five million dollar patent infringement suit has been filed by a woman researcher against Dr. Selman A. Waksman and others in connection with the discovery and production of streptomycin.

Besides Waksman, who is co-discoverer of the antibiotic, the suit names the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation, and Merck & Co. of Rahway, N. J., a pharmaceutical firm, as defendants.

Mary A. Marcus, described as a scientific researcher and investigator, filed the suit in federal court yesterday. She claims she discovered in 1937 a new species of actinomycete organism which she said Waksman used in developing streptomycin.

The suit says Waksman used the organism after Miss Marcus collaborated with him in research.

Waksman holds the Nobel Prize for his part in the discovery of the wonder drug and its development for therapeutic use. His patent for streptomycin and other discoveries were turned over to the Rutgers Foundation, which in turn licensed Merck & Co. to manufacture the antibiotic.

In her suit, Miss Marcus says she patented her discovery before Dr. Waksman patented streptomycin. Consequently, the suit alleges, Waksman's patent is an infringement of Miss Marcus'.

Miss Marcus seeks to have the defendants enjoined from further distribution of income, profits and royalties in the sale of the antibiotic.

From trustees of the Rutgers Foundation came a statement last night saying that Miss Marcus' charges were without foundation, and asserting they would be refuted in court.

The funds derived from royalties on streptomycin and other antibiotics has enabled Rutgers to build an institute of microbiology, of which Waksman is director.

Says Industry Is Using More Ceramic Material

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—A leading industrial scientist says that ceramic materials are replacing metal parts more and more in industrial and military applications.

George J. Easter, research director of Electro Refractories and Abrasives Corp., explained that ceramic materials can resist extremely high temperatures and are more economical.

As accomplishments, he pointed out use of ferrites to replace electro-magnetic metals in the electronics field, ceramic coating of metals for jet engines and rocket propulsion, replacement of metal cores in electro-magnets and use of silicon carbide blocks as skid rails in steel mills.

24 More Added to Casualty List

Revision Boosts Total U. S. Dead in Korean War to 142,091

WASHINGTON (U) — The Defense Department has raised the tentative total of American battle casualties in the Korean War to 142,091.

This was 24 more than the number reported on July 22.

The new summary, which will be the last issued by the Pentagon until all casualty books on the Korean fighting are closed several years from now, listed 24 Americans still missing.

Of these 15, all Air Force fliers, are definitely known to be alive. The remaining nine missing are members of a Navy plane that was shot down in South China Sea waters in January, 1953. The Reds have denied holding these Navy men, but reports have been received that they were paraded through the streets of Swatow, China.

The Army and Marine Corps no longer list any men missing.

The new report placed the total killed in action at 23,300, a decrease of 45. The revised wounded total was 105,785, an increase of 17. The new missing total was 13,006, an increase of 52.

The new casualty report reflected revisions and restudies of casualty information received since the start of the fighting in Korea in July, 1950. This audit will continue until all possibility of error has been removed. Families will be notified promptly of any change in the casualty status of their relatives.

Patients Refuse to Leave

WARWICK, Va. (U) — Mrs. U. S. Savage started her bird hospital after finding a wounded jay and the patient population is now 29 birds which have fallen from nests or been injured in some way. There is only one trouble—the discharged patients don't want to leave after they are released from the cat-proof cage. Mrs. Savage admits she likes it that way and willingly provides food.

Sousa's Centenary

Saturday, November 6, has special significance for all lovers of band music for it is the 100th anniversary of the birth of JOHN PHILIP SOUSA, the March King.

The son of a Portuguese father and a German mother, this prolific composer first saw the light of day in Washington, D. C. in a house near the Marine barracks.

The young Sousa showed musical aptitude early in life. At six he was taking violin lessons. At 13 his father, a Marine Band trombonist, enlisted him as a band apprentice to forestall the boy's acceptance of an invitation to join a troop of circus musicians.

As he neared manhood, Sousa's musical stature grew rapidly. At 20 he was conducting orchestras in theaters and publishing marches. A violinist who could double in brass, Sousa was made conductor of the Marine Band in 1880 at a salary of $1,500 a year.

In the next 12 years under his leadership the band became one of the best and most popular in the country. When in 1892 he organized his own band, it was an instantaneous success, winning wide acclaim at home and in Europe.

Sousa wrote more than 100 marches, for the first few of which he was paid as little as 100 printed copies of the composition. When he finally got things on a royalty basis, one of his marches — The Stars and Stripes Forever, netted him $300,000. He also composed 50 songs, 10 comic operas and a number of waltzes, overtures and suites.

His death on March 6, 1932, ended one of the Nation's most noteworthy musical careers.

Sights Worth Seeing

A dispatch from Washington tells how Britain's Queen Mother went touring with MAMIE EISENHOWER in Washington.

And what was one result? Why, Mrs. EISENHOWER saw some interesting sights in Washington she never had seen before.

The same thing is true of people everywhere. Many fail to see the worth while sights that are all about them. Yet they travel long distances to see places and things they have read or heard about.

At one time it was said that far more outsiders than Detroiters had gone through the huge Ford plant at River Rouge. In the same way, there are probably thousands of Pontiac residents who have never taken the trouble to tour the Pontiac Motor Division.

There are still many Pontiac residents who fail to realize that the city has made substantial progress in the past few years in the development of its parks. Many have never visited the fine beach at Pontiac Lake, or the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's beautiful Kensington Park layout.

Cranbrook, with its beautiful church, schools and grounds, attracts thousands of visitors from distant cities and even from foreign countries, yet many Pontiac people never have taken the time to enjoy its beauties.

We might well take a leaf from MAMIE EISENHOWER's book and look about us. It shouldn't be necessary to have visitors from away to induce us to go to see these beauty spots. There are worth while sights to see right here at home.

Nehru and Red China

Nothing Prime Minister NEHRU said in Calcutta about his visit to Peiping indicates his trip has changed his policy of neutralism or modified his benevolent view of Red China.

In fact he told a welcoming crowd of nearly 2,000,000 that the friendship of India and Red China is essential to the peace of Asia and the entire world.

Thus his message could have disappointed only those who expected that the Prime Minister's closeup view of Chinese Communism would make him more of a realist. Instead, he returned to India apparently convinced that China's preoccupation with its enormous problems of industrialization would keep it too busy to devote any energy to aggression.

This is a reminder that not so long ago many thought Russia would be too busy with reconstruction to seek foreign military adventures. Events proved otherwise about Russia as Chinese intervention in Korea proved about Mao Tse-tung.

India's leader, however, did have the good sense to reject Peiping's attempt to lure him into a "peace alliance" directed against the new Pacific defense pact and the United States. He may yet be jolted into realizing what the West already knows — world conquest still is Communism's No. 1 aim.

The People's Business

GOP Lost Early Couldn't Have Done Much to Halt Dem Sweep Here

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING—Michigan Republicans should stop bewailing: "If only we'd—", or "Why didn't we—"

In the light of the tremendous majorities rolled up by Democrats in last Tuesday's election, it can be said that there was little the Republicans could have done to change the picture very much.

The whispered protests of more than a million persons combined to create a whirlwind which would have wrecked any party or any candidate.

That is the way observers analyze the Tuesday ballot holocaust—a deep and largely silent disillusionment and doubt about national Republican policies, accentuated by the political magic of Gov. Williams.

Michigan was the national election picture focused more sharply by one of the most experienced, shrewd and adroit political organizations this state has ever seen.

Republicans are busy now grumbling about their leadership, their candidates, their factions, their ineptitude.

Well, for the record, they had as good a ticket as any party normally produces and better than many. With the exception of Leonard, all had been proven vote getters in previous elections.

There is evidence that Republican campaign leadership was not too effective. It apparently relied too heavily on advertising and public relations experts—a national Republican failing these days—and not enough on seasoned political operators.

There were rivalries and factions within the party, but they really seemed to be less troublesome this year than in several recent elections and cannot be blamed for Tuesday's disaster.

The Republicans didn't have nearly as much campaign money as the Democrats said they did—but they had enough.

But with a million dollars to spend, the best ticket they could have fashioned, a crack campaign headquarters, it still is doubtful if they could have prevented the re-election of Williams and at least part of his ticket.

Political dopesters failed to estimate the depth of the anti-Republican feeling before the election. But so did the Democrats themselves, including Gov. Williams from all reports. Everyone knew it was there, but few realized how strong it was.

It should be remembered that Williams and his shrewd crew have been fostering doubts about federal economic policies for the past two years. Aided by the astutely labor unions, the Democratic high command has emphasized every lost war contract, every hour of unemployment, every slip in milk prices, every rise in the cost of living, every tightening of the economic belt.

The Democrats talking to the people in a language they understood about matters vitally affecting every dinner table. The Republicans really did not start answering until two weeks ago.

In addition, the Democrats did a magnificent campaign job in Michigan—and well they should have with six years of experience.

Their campaign was tightly focussed on the issues they had decided to make the issues of the campaign. They chose the battle ground.

Having learned by long and painful and costly experience, the Democrats made more effective use of television. The governor's press agent, Paul Weber, poured out speeches till his fingers bled—speeches which were tailored expertly to his candidate and his theme.

The Democrats had the advantage of continuity in their campaign leadership—not the hastily fashioned organization which pulled and hauled the Republican candidates until they reeled.

But, from hindsight, it seems likely that the Republicans were pretty well licked before they started.

The people had doubts about the Republican national administration—no matter where or how they got those doubts—and they socked the Republican state ticket to — as the Democrats said — "make it emphatic."

Norman Buckner Tells About Zionists and the American Council for Judaism

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

The Zionist Organization has received much publicity recently regarding its attempt to fight "anti-Israel propaganda and the enemies of Israel." Some of its releases have implied that the American Council for Judaism is one of these "enemies of Israel."

It is time readers were acquainted with some basic facts about Zionists and the much-maligned American Council for Judaism:

Although Zionists today number but 10 per cent of American Jews they still try to speak for all Jews. One of the principles of the Council is that "No Jew or group of Jews can speak for, or represent, all the Jews of America."

The Council is neither pro nor anti-Israel. The Council hopes that Israel develops as a democracy in peace and prosperity along with the rest of the Middle East, and that its citizens enjoy life, liberty and happiness. But the nationalism of Israel must be confined to the boundaries of that State.

The Council rejects any "historic kinship" between Americans of Jewish faith and the State of Israel, and it also rejects the concept that Jews outside of Israel are in "exile." The "homeland" of Americans, whatever their faith, is the United States of America.

A postcard with your name and address, sent to Room 209 National Building, Pontiac, Mich., will bring a pamphlet containing more information about the Council.

Would Help Organize 'Lonely Folks' Club

Having seen the letter from the "Lonesome Widow," I am with her 100 per cent and would be only too glad to help her organize a group or at least try. I know of several men in the same circumstances.

Just Lonesome

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: Thou maintainest my lot. — Psalms 16:5.

Faith in the hereafter is as necessary for the intellectual as the moral character; and to the man of letters, as well as to the Christian, the present forms but the slightest portion of his existence. — Southey.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Most Divorces Develop From Lack of Knowledge About Proper Behavior

Margery proves the fact that newspapers render an educational service to every community. Literally tens of thousands of teenagers obtain their only sexual counselling via this column and the bulletin.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-360: Margery Q., aged 16, is a high school junior.

"Dr. Crane, I am an only child," she began diffidently, "and my parents have never told me anything at all about sex or where babies come from."

"But I am not the only one who has had such a sheltered life, for several of my girl friends in high school don't know much more than I do. We are embarrassed about asking our parents at this late date, and it is rather hard to go up to a teacher and confess our ignorance."

"So would you please tell us some of the facts of life?"

The modern newspaper has taken over the education of American youth in thousands of homes by its excellent educational columns.

Margery's comment is duplicated thousands of times in my own experience with this "Worry Clinic" feature.

In fact, one reason why I launched this column dealing with clinical psychology, was to help teenagers solve problems which their parents had too long ignored.

That evasion or ostrich "head-in-the-sand" policy, in bad. The only teenagers can be good is to be told precisely how and what to do when confronting the everyday problems that arise.

And that is equally true of adults who are married. Most of our divorces develop from lack of knowledge about the proper behavior of the married couple toward each other.

On their wedding day, they never dream of divorce or unhappiness. Yet they often drift into quarrels and feuding.

Most divorces start in the bedroom. This basic maladjustment is glossed over under the terms mental cruelty or incompatibility. But those are simply euphemisms. The real reason why husband and wife begin to quarrel and make sarcastic remarks about each other, is because one has deflated the ego of the other.

Many an innocent wife causes a violent outburst from her husband without knowing what it is all about.

"He just started criticizing me and accusing me of affairs with other men," they will tearfully explain in my office, "yet I haven't given him the slightest cause for jealousy."

Yet such wives have given their mates cause, at least according to the male standard.

For the average American male has a wrong notion about female armor. He thinks a woman is just as passionate as a man.

But the usual wife is comparatively frigid when measured by the masculine standard.

So when such a husband finds that his wife is rather indifferent to his advances or unenthusiastic, he may suddenly grow angry.

"If she is cold toward me, maybe it is because she is having a secret affair with somebody else," such a husband may immediately decide.

So he upbraids her and accuses her of misconduct. Or he may feel belittled in his own ego, and thus try to whittle her ego down to an even lower state, so he exclaims: "No man would ever take an interest in you. You couldn't stimulate anybody."

But that is really an indication of his own wounded ego and his desire to gain revenge.

So send for my booklet, "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus a dime. Pass it along to all teenagers or use it in high school hygiene classes.

Mother Wonders If Son Who Twitches and Grits Teeth in Sleep Has Worms

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
THE MAIL BOX

Son, 8, very nervous, twitches and jumps in his sleep, grinds his teeth. Am told that it is a sign of worms, but some worm medicines are too dangerous—please give the symptoms of worms and . . . (Mrs. B. J. H.)

Answer—The only justification for the notion that a child has worms is the finding of worms, or their eggs by microscope, in the stool. In most instances presence of round worms produce no symptoms. There is no sign or symptom that warrants giving worm medicine. Send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address, for the booklet "Unbidden Guests." Besides bedbugs, cockroaches, ants, fleas, flies, spiders etc. it deals with pinworms, tapeworms, ringworms.

Habit
Seventy good habits, have all but two of my teeth intact, only trouble is constipation which has bothered me for fifty years . . . (B. R. A.)

Answer—Now you've got me feeling my radial artery and inspecting my temporals in the mirror, for I have to think on waking in the morning, I don't care so much which day of the week, but whether it is play day (howling on the green) or just a day of pounding on the Smith-Corona. Days of All Faiths

St. Martin of Tours Honored Next Week

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Any Frenchman who turns up with a stomachache about November 11 is likely to be suspected of having "St. Martin's sickness," which means that he has, frankly, had too much to eat and drink. St. Martin's Day, since earliest times, has been the occasion of excessive feasting.

This is no reflection on St. Martin — it came about simply because there was plenty of new wine at that season and plenty of food stored up from the recent harvest.

Traditionally the goose was the chief item on the St. Martin's Day menu, and there was a legend that said this was a punishment that fell on all geese because one of their remote ancestors had once betrayed St. Martin by its squawking when the good man was hiding from enemies who were pursuing him.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

This winds up election week with the outlying precincts still in the suburbs. It was closer than squint eyes.

President Eisenhower got out and shilled like a fellow selling bicycles in a land where it's uphill both ways.

Ike seems scared of a hostile Congress on the remote end of Pennsylvania Avenue. They're nearer to Union Station than Ike.

There are three branches of government: The executive, the judicial and the filibuster.

Against this we have checks and balances. There are unloading platforms in Washington which will take your check and sue you for the balance.

We concede that a house divided against itself must have two coal bins. But government is not a one-man orchestra. We require strong yes-men with impediments in their nodes.

The founding fathers figured on a powerful minority to ballast the old merry-go-round. The trouble with a powerful minority is it eventually fissionizes into a weak majority.

This election proves a fact that stands out like a llama in a herd of sheep. The job is not self-funding, perpetual nor inheritable. The Democrats did work up an amateur dynasty from 1932 to 1932. But sooner or quicker the pitcher goes to the well not often enough.

We see no reason why the legislative, the executive and the appointive should dove-tail like pigeon feathers. It's the difference of opinion that makes hoos races, it's the black beans in the hat that makes the soup taste better.

We never get too excited about campaigns which are cross-town transfers for the same ride in different directions.

Portraits

By JAMES J. METCALFE

What is more irritating than . . . To wait upon a phone . . . While it is being kept in use . . . By someone young or grown? . . . The person in a public booth . . . Who hesitates and stalls . . . Or keeps on putting coins in slots . . . To make a dozen calls . . . Or in the comfort of your home . . . The daughter or the son . . . Who has a most important date . . . Or homework to be done . . . You get exasperated and . . . You want to yell or whine . . . And there is mayhem in your heart . . . As you would grab that line . . . You do not want to cut them short . . . With only half a cup . . . But in all fairness to your ears . . . You wish they would hang up.

Actually, of course, it was only because most people like roast goose, and the unfortunate fowl was in especially good condition in the autumn season.

Martin, who was bishop of Tours (in France) in the Fourth Century, started his adult life as a soldier, following in the footsteps of his Roman father. He gave up the military profession, however, and entered a monastery, from which he emerged in 371 to become bishop.

So greatly was he loved by his people, and so many were the wonders he was said to have performed, that for centuries after his death he was perhaps the most important saint in the whole calendar, with so many pilgrimages being made to his tomb that the place was called "a second Jerusalem."

In 1896 a writer in an American religious magazine suggested that St. Martin should be the official patron saint of the United States. The main reason behind this idea was that a secondary festival in honor of St. Martin is celebrated on the Fourth of July (the day on which his body was moved to a new tomb), and the writer thought the Independence Day saint would be an appropriate patron for this country. There is no evidence that the suggestion was ever taken very seriously.

Two days after St. Martin's Day comes the festival of a saint who gave poor old Martin a tremendous amount of trouble. His name was Britius, sometimes called Brice.

From all that is left of the records, it is hard to see how Britius ever got to be a saint at all. Only the worst things about him are known.

When Britius was a baby his parents set him outdoors and abandoned him, leaving him there to die. This was a fairly common practice in those days — it often happened to unwanted babies. The custom was called "exposure."

But before the baby suffered any ill effects, St. Martin came along and found him, and there must have been many times thereafter when the good man wished he had taken a different route that day.

Britius grew up to be one of the most unpleasant little boys in history, completely scornful of the kind old man to whom he was indebted for food, shelter, education, and for his life itself.

The problem child grew into a resentful, arrogant adolescent. He openly referred to St. Martin as "the old fool." But for some reason St. Martin loved him anyway. He even prayed that Britius might be his successor as Bishop of Tours. Britius did become Bishop of Tours, but his term of office was a sad one. Much of it was spent in exile.

Hardship must have chastened him, for in his later years he gained a great reputation for both brilliance and sanctity, and his people loved him and forgave his youthful failings.

Nowadays when we speak of red-letter days we mean any gala or memorable occasion. "This" a man will say "will be a red-letter day in my life" — and he may be speaking of anything from falling in love to holding a lucky Sweepstakes ticket.

Originally, however, like so many of our expressions, the term was specifically a part of the Church vocabulary. It simply goes back to the time when the biggest and most important festivals and saints days appeared in red print in calendars and prayer books, while minor days appeared in black.

Letters Tell That Much Good Is Done by Volunteers.

Many letters received by the Needlework Guild have expressed the appreciation of the Oakland County Department of Health, St. Nursing, Red Cross and of Pontiac General Hospital for the assistance the guild has offered to them.

The letters state that the layettes are placed in many homes where the nurses find that families, due to some circumstances, have not been able to prepare clothing for a new baby.

"It helps to know that in case of such emergencies our cupboard is not bare and that we can use one of the Needlework Guild layettes. The same is true of the other articles of clothing and bedding which are received."

Another letter states that the group gave out its last layette six weeks ago and that at the present time one mother is in need of one.

"Often the nurses meet families with school age children who need clothing and it helps if we can assist the families with garments donated by the guild. We indeed thank you for your efforts in furnishing clothing for some of the group which need it."

"Our home service department is in constant need of clothing and household items," states another letter. "This year, for the first time we need layettes for the babies of active servicemen."

Our calls have increased so that our sewing volunteers have been unable to keep pace. We also have customary needs for clothing and household items for both adults and children. All you can do for us at the time of the ingathering will be deeply appreciated.

Organizations who sew and donate articles to the ingatherings each year are doing a great service for the people of this area. Thursday is ingathering time.

Small Fry Creations End Fourth Annual Preview

This is the last in a series of articles from Los Angeles, California, where Judith Clemence, Pontiac Press Women's Editor has been attending the fashion previews at the fourth annual Press Week through today.

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

LOS ANGELES—California fashion creators wound up their fourth annual press week Friday with the announcement that a weekend in Mexico is in store for visiting editors.

So, after a busy week of continuous showings and sight-seeing, arranged by this group, we are looking forward to a bit of relaxation. Today's showings were concentrated on small fry's fashions. Like women's fashion, there is a wide collection of mix and match separates—and this year designers have used some black in children's clothes. But there always is a touch of white.

Only one middy dress was shown which was quite a contrast to the women's line where they are such favorites.

Denim in tiny sizes (3 to 6) was dressed up and even the plastic raincoats took on a new face. These had full skirts and cinched waists with scattered rhinestones on the skirts.

Party dresses show lots of nylon ruffles and lace. A particularly pretty one is called "Scarlet O'Hara." This design was copied from one of the dresses Scarlet wore in "Gone With The Wind." It has an embroidered organza with ruffles around the neckline and has a velvet belt—just right for that teenage daughter.

A very successful introduction into children's clothing is the use of the duster, a pretty outfit has a bouffant nylon dress with a separate faille duster in dainty pastel shades.

Artmobiles Take Culture to Nation's Communities

WASHINGTON (INS)—Fine art stands if experiments prove that the nation's small fry and their parents prefer to gaze at the MoMa Lisa and other famous art works outside the dusty corridors of a museum.

Experiments are being conducted with trailer museums, popularly known as artmobiles, in such states as Virginia, Ohio and Illinois. They carry what amounts to a regular gallery full of original art treasures carefully selected by civic groups and educators.

The idea behind these mobile museums was explained by Barbara Chapin of Syracuse, N. Y., one of the foremost supporters of the project, at a meeting of the American Association of University Women in Washington.

Primarily, the artmobiles were intended to serve communities without access to an art museum.

But, Miss Chapin pointed out, the rambling big city museum often overwhelms both school children and adults on their first visit. She continued:

"For this reason many educators feel that small doses of art brought to the community would help folks develop a more personal interest in the past as it relates to their present."

Miss Chapin, director of Carnival Caravan, a privately sponsored exhibit of creative art, is certain the public has an in-born appreciation of fine painting. She observed:

"We have learned never to talk down to the public. People know good work when they see it and they will discard any rubbish that is offered to them."

The most pressing problem now is to find sponsors with the money to carry on the artmobile movement. State aid is desirable.

In New York state the Art Teachers Association is conducting preliminary research on public interest and the types of exhibits that will have general appeal.

They also are considering a new type vehicle to replace the trailer museum. It resembles a school bus with its built-in motor, and has a space 140 by 160 feet for display purposes.

Although the initial cost of such a museum on wheels is high—$34,000—Miss Chapin pointed out that it is safer and more convenient to operate than trailers. She explained:

"The bus could be serviced at any garage and would travel better over icy roads during the winter."

"Also, the middle section of such a bus is more stable, permitting exhibits of ceramics with little danger of breakage."

Vehicles now in operation are driven by curators. Lengths of stay in one community depends upon the sponsor.

There were no short shorts brought back in this spring collection, but Bermuda shorts are very popular. News in pants is in the tight cuffs around the knees. This afternoon's activities include a trip to Universal-International Studios where your reporter will interview a few actors and watch a film being made.

Next week we'll tell you something about activities around studio as well as bringing you news in men's wear from the Men's Apparel Guild in California.

Slim fitting, calf-length pants topped with brief over-the-head bolero are fashionable as can be for the young miss. The outfit is cinched with a wide, waist-defining cummerbund and it's equally at home on the patio or continental terrace.

Gloves Brighter This Fall

This fall finds the color and texture range in gloves brighter and more interesting. The seasonal shades include bright red, orange (in several hues), charcoal gray, sapphire blue and the pastels—pink, blue yellow and green.

Making their return again are gloves made of suede nylon and dacron. In a more delicate vein, you have the luxurious-looking Angora, soft wool jersey and vicara gloves. Fancy string gloves (plain or trimmed with pearls or rhinestones) add a bright note to any glove wardrobe.

Shortie gloves are even more popular than ever with bracelet trimming at the wrist. Some are trimmed with beadwork and metallic braid, while dressier shorties feature intricately designed pearls and rhinestones.

To complement the popularity of velvet wardrobes, a new rayon fabric resembling thick piled velvet has been introduced for gloves with a velvet look, and this fabric is entirely washable.

The time-conscious woman will be interested in knowing there's a shortie glove that has an open curve at the wrist for easy watch glancing.

Jeweled gloves are safe to wash, provided you don't rub the gloves and scratch the fabric with the decorations.

For badly soiled gloves, wash them on your hands. (It's easier to spot tiny finger tip smudges this way.) Use warm soapsuds and give your gloves at least three sudgings and four rinses to remove all grime and soap.

Squeeze (never wring) excess water from your fabric gloves. Then, roll them in a towel and shape them gently.

Pearces Expect Guest, Hathaways Plan Travel

Arriving Monday for a week's visit with the Harry Pearces of Oneida road will be Mrs. Walter J. Morgan of Newton, Iowa. She has been visiting her son in New York and also spent some time in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hathaway of North Saginaw street will leave Monday to spend the winter months in Ft. Lauderdale.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Leroy Kountz of Panama Canal Zone and Mrs. Kountz's mother, Mrs. I. C.

Austin of Fairhope, Ala. are visiting the Galen Roods of Warwick road, Sylvan Lake.

Anita Molina of Pontiac will be among coeds at Olivet College who will be competing in a campus extemporaneous speaking contest to be held Thursday.

Virginia Ann Beresford, daughter of the James A. Beresfords of Bloomfield Hills, was a recent participant in "Inferno Yours," a musical comedy written and produced annually by the junior class at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass. A French major, Miss Beresford is a dormitory officer and was the recipient of freshman honors awarded for high academic achievement.

Anna Marie Baldwin, daughter of the James Baldwin of Augusta avenue has been elected president of the Masque Guild at Mercy College, Detroit. The guild is a campus organization composed of students interested in speech and drama. Miss Baldwin recently played one of the three "snob sisters" in a play entitled, Mrs. McThing.

Donna Ritter of Auburn Avenue, Ruth Slavin of Woodbine drive, Sheila Balz of Marquette street and Maureen Moloney of Colonial Trail will be among the freshmen invested in academic cap and gown at Marygrove College's Founder's Day celebration on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis of Drayton Plains are announcing the birth of a son, Jeffrey Lynn, Oct. 22 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Moore of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Charles H. Davis of Lawley drive.

Femininity Enhanced by Right Scent

The mature woman often suppresses a great deal of her own personal charm by regarding herself as "too old" to wear perfume and toilet water.

Or, she may feel that spraying herself with a crisp scent or flowery fragrance is ridiculous if she's only going to the market or out on the lawn to chat with her next-door neighbor.

Wearing her own particular fragrance gives a woman, no matter what age, a sense of poise and femininity. It's also a good morale lifter. So, it should be worn every day, the final touch to good grooming. During the day you can wear a light cologne, saving the heavier scent for evening.

If you've just come across that small precious bottle you received for a gift recently, you might have trouble opening it after months of being stored away.

First, hold the bottle in your one hand, and with another stopper or small wooden mallet tap the stopper on the side, at the same time turning the bottle slowly so the tapping is evenly distributed. Be patient, and tap the stopper firmly, but gently.

After you've opened the bottle, apply it at the pulse spots where the heat of the skin enhances the fragrance.

Spray it about you when you've finished dressing, but never directly on a fabric. Put a few drops of perfume on a handkerchief and place it in your purse, so that each time you open it you'll get a refreshing whiff.

Progress Heard by Volunteers

A progress report on the Central Volunteer Bureau was given by Mrs. C. A. Dennison, at the advisory board meeting held Thursday in the YWCA.

Mrs. Dennison spoke of the many volunteers now working on the United Fund Drive. Mrs. George Petroff announced that letters are being sent to local organizations for the recruitment of volunteers.

It was announced that the constitution and by-laws will be drawn up at the next meeting. It was pointed out that anyone interested in doing volunteer work should contact the bureau.

Buy Washable Garb

For the budget, as well as sanity, get your children's winter clothes in washable fabrics. No cleaning bills, no sweater missing for a week when it's dirty. Miracle fabrics can be warm as well as light.

Jeans Are All Gone

The wonderful variety of campus wear makes the blue jeans of yesterday seem ever more dreary. This time it's knickers in wool tweed, worn with a middy blouse. Nice with the high socks, but possible without, too.

Get a Real Coat

If you live on a windy corner, the coat that just wraps around, no matter how lovely, is not for you. You'll need a hand for your purse and maybe the other for a flapping coat in a cold wind.

Elizabeth Brode Leitch became the bride of Robert D. Pierson this afternoon in Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church of Dearborn. She is the daughter of the George Brodes of Seminole avenue and he is the son of Walter Pierson of Dearborn and the late Mrs. Pierson.

MRS. ROBERT D. PIERSON

Elizabeth Brode Leitch Weds Robert D. Pierson

An heirloom handkerchief of lace and silk, was carried by Elizabeth Brode Leitch as she approached the altar of Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church of Dearborn this afternoon to become the bride of Robert Duane Pierson.

She was wearing a waltz length gown of lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with strapless bodice and topped by a lace jacket. She wore a lace and pearl pink hat and carried a cascade arrangement of pink roses and carnations with ivy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Brode of Seminole avenue and he is the son of Walter G. Pierson of Dearborn and the late Mrs. Pierson.

White flowers banked the altar as the Rev. Frank J. Irvine performed the four o'clock ceremony before 50 guests.

Bette Reid of Drayton Plains attended the bride as maid of honor wearing a strapless gown of aqua and white tulle with a white organza jacket. A rhinestone band secured her small veil and she carried an arrangement of yellow and bronze pompons.

William G. Brode, brother of the bride, served as best man and Edward Sharkey of Detroit seated the guests. William G. Leitch, the bride's son, served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother received her guests at a reception held in the church parlors wearing a wedge-wood blue lace and taffeta dress with black and white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's aunt, Ruth Pierson of Dearborn, wore a steel gray taffeta dress with black and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride changed to a pink knit suit with pink and brown accessories and an orchid corsage for a tour of Canada and the Eastern and southern states. Upon their return they will reside in Redford.

The bridegroom attended Wittenberg College at Springfield, Ohio, where he was a member of Phi Mu Delta fraternity.

Fade Those Elbows

Once upon a time, the young lady who craved lovely elbows was made to sit with them firmly planted in halved lemons, a half an hour at a stretch. No more. But a few drops of lemon juice may fade that brown tone elbows get.

MSC Coeds Claimed by Sororities

By ELVIRA BISOGNI
EAST LANSING — Nearly 2,000 coeds were introduced to sorority life at Michigan State College last weekend as the fall introductory teas got underway. Formal rushing will begin with the winter term.

Students at MSC were able to hear the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam, Holland which performed modern and classical works in its concert October 28, in the auditorium.

This past week was highlighted by the London Festival Ballet which opened Monday evening.

The Festival ballet brought out an outstanding group of dancers including guest artists Tamara Toumanova and Russian-trained Hungarian dancers Nora Kovach and Istvan Rabovsky.

Presidents of the freshman and sophomore classes began the annual competition between the two classes for the possession of the "little brown jug" which has been won by the frosh for the past five years Thursday in a tree sitting contest in a maple tree across the Union Terrace.

The official opening Frosh Day begins today with a canoe race down the Red Cedar River and a tug of war.

A cheering contest held for the Washington State — MSC football game was the feature event of the Frosh - Soph Day. It was a new contest this year and was judged by President Hannah, Dean of Students Tom King and Athletic Director Biggie Munn.

Beta Theta Phi Sees Pictures

Beta chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority had as their guest speaker Thursday evening Mrs. Paul Kern, who showed pictures of her tour through Europe. The meeting was held at the Rutherford road home of Mrs. John St. Clair.

Mrs. George Zannoth and Mrs. Norman Mack were appointed chairmen to represent Beta chapter at the Needlework Guild annual breakfast, Thursday.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Donald Kaiser, Mrs. Ward Cummings, Mrs. Frederick Stipert and Mrs. Charles Bender. The Nov. 18 meeting will be held at the Berkshire road home of Mrs. Ward Ross.

Kay Currier of South Jessie street; Mrs. Pierce Rydman of Whittemore street; Christine Zaffina of Henry Clay avenue and Art Capogne of Henry Clay avenue (left to right) are about to announce that plans are completed for the third annual St. Frederick Alumni dance to be held this evening in the St. Vincent de Paul Parish Hall.

Sorority Group Plans Projects

Mrs. Hugh Stevenson will be chairman of volunteer services for the Birmingham Branch of Collegiate Sorosis for the coming winter, it was announced recently by the group.

At a dinner meeting held recently in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Arthur P. Wilkinson, plans were made to assist with the occupational therapy program for patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

Mrs. Hugh D. Grove and Mrs. William S. Isgrigg of Pontiac will serve on the committee.

Another project of this alumnae group is the senior activity program at Birmingham Community house.

Class Holds Dinner

The Berean Class of First Baptist Church met in the educational building recently. A Thanksgiving dinner was served to 32 members and guests.

St. Frederick Alumni to Mark Homecoming

Alumni of St. Frederick School are looking forward to this evening's third annual home coming dance to be held in St. Vincent de Paul Parish Hall.

Sponsors of the dance announce that the event will benefit the first communicants of St. Vincent de Paul Parish. Donald McCracken and Kay Currier are co-chairmen.

They are being assisted by John Curry, Mrs. John Dean, Armand Currier, William Brown, Christine Zaffina, Don Raymond, Mrs. Pierce Rydman and James McCracken.

Among those entertaining at pre-dance parties will be the William Browns of Oliver street, the McCrackens who reside on Argyle avenue; the Rydmans, who entertain in their Whittemore street home and the Raymond's Brookdale Lane home will be the setting for another party. The Raymond Maloneys are entertaining in their West Huron street home before this dance which will create a football atmosphere through its decoration theme.

Norwegian Unit Elects Officers

Norwegian Ladies Aid met Wednesday evening at the East Colgate avenue home of Mrs. Carl Gustavson to elect officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Gustaf Persson will serve as chairman; Mrs. Carl Westnes, vice chairman; Mrs. John Wenger, secretary, and Mrs. Gunnar Gustavson, treasurer.

Mrs. Kaare Haaseth was welcomed as a new member of the group. Mrs. Jack Malmquist and Mrs. Westnes will visit the infirmary this month and will be the guests of Mrs. Claude Parcells and her Girl Scout troop in December.

Plans were completed for a Christmas party to be held at the Drayton Plains home of Mrs. Persson on Dec. 15.

Project Scheduled by MOMS Unit

Mrs. David Edwards was hostess in her South Jessie street home for the recent meeting of MOMS of America, Inc. Unit 2. Plans were made for a money making project to be held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Edgar Thomas. A Christmas party will be held in the home of Mrs. Emory Clark on Dec. 10. Reports were given on the recent state convention held in Detroit.

23rd Birthday Is Celebrated by Yomar Group

Yomar Group of First Presbyterian Church celebrated its 23rd anniversary at Colonial Tea room in Birmingham on Thursday.

New members of the group are Mrs. Troyace Doolin, Mrs. Steve White and Mrs. Dorothy Turner. Guests for the day included Mrs. Fred Roberts, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mrs. David Crocker and Mrs. Wilfred Beebe.

A special guest of the group was Mrs. Alvin Booth, the group's second president who talked on "Reminiscences of Yomar's First Years."

Mrs. Robert Burnes gave the horoscope for 1955 and Mrs. Emil Bruestle led the missionary study. Musical games for the evening were led by Mrs. Howard Wide-man.

In charge of arrangements for the dinner meeting were Mrs. Neil Gray, Mrs. George Stinnett, Mrs. Howard White and Mrs. Fred Hoenstine.

Sorority Group Meets

Jean Sheridan opened her home on Ottawa drive Thursday evening to Psi chapter of Sigma Beta sorority.

Mrs. Eddie O'Brien reported on a convention held recently in Chicago where Mrs. Charles Fournier was elected to the office of national recording secretary and Mrs. Wallace Williams was named Sigma Beta Girl of the Year and received a national award.

Mrs. Morgan Spel was appointed as new chapter editor. It was decided that the sorority members will entertain at a party honoring their husbands, Dec. 4.

A surprise party honoring Mrs. Fournier and Mrs. Williams was held following the meeting. The group will gather for its next meeting Nov. 18 at the Rundell street home of Mrs. Thomas Thornberry.

Why The Catholic Church Says "INVESTIGATE!"

Probably not more than a handful of people hate the Catholic Church as it really is.

But many have heard anti-Catholic calumnies from sources they have been taught to respect, and have come to fear and suspect the Church as it has been falsely represented to them.

It is hardly reasonable to believe that 25 millions of Americans would remain in the Catholic Church if the rumors circulated against the Church are true. Nor would thousands of others become Catholics every year if they believed such things—without inquiring into the facts.

That is why the Catholic Church says again and again to people everywhere: "Investigate! Investigate!"

The Church makes this appeal not merely to settle an argument, nor primarily to win the good-will of the non-Catholic people, although this is a hoped-for result. Its more important aim is to invite people to inquire into Christ's truth as taught and preserved by the Catholic Church down through the centuries. For no man, seeking the salvation of his own soul, can conscientiously discount the Catholic claim to be Christ's Church on the basis of mere rumor and slander when the truth is so readily at hand.

The Catholic Church therefore invites you to inquire into its teaching and practices to find out for yourself if what you believe about the Church is true or false.

Learn for yourself, for instance, if it is true that Catholics give divine worship to Mary, the Mother of Christ... or if this is not just another calumny. If you have been led to believe that Catholics worship idols and statues... buy and sell the divine worship of the Mass... are opposed to the religious freedom granted all religions by our Bill of Rights, then you have been deceived and misled.

If you have harbored these or any other false beliefs about the Catholic Church and its teachings... and if, above all, such misunderstanding has kept you from examining the Catholic claim to be the Church established by Christ Himself... you owe it to yourself in good conscience to seek the truth.

We shall be glad to send you free on request, a booklet dealing with the points mentioned here and many others... including the attitude of the Church toward Birth Control... secret societies... the salvation of non-Catholics... why Catholic priests are called "Father"... the Inquisition and the alleged goings-on behind convent walls. Write today... ask for your copy of Pamphlet No. 7—KC.

Missionary Offers Spiritual Insurance

UGANDA, BRITISH EAST AFRICA (INS) — Brother John Baptist, C. F. X., a missionary stationed here, has offered supernatural insurance to a Chicago insurance firm.

A recent note from the missionary to the American Motorists Insurance Company requesting 150 copies of its Christmas Carol booklet said:

"You won't sell any insurance here by sending any odd booklets you might have, but you sure will be gaining in supernatural insurance which we all can use."

He reports he got the booklets.

Methodists Set Up Career Clinics to Aid Students

By Religious News Service
ATLANTA, Ga. — Methodist leaders here have set up a series of career clinics for high school students in an effort to "combat the waste of human energy and the frustration of those whose labor becomes a burden."

Dr. Sam C. Webb of Emory University's testing and guidance service, who is taking a leading part in the program, said the move is an outgrowth of "the feeling among many educators and counselors that too many people are unhappy because they work at jobs which offer them no real challenge or satisfaction."

The clinics, held at Emory University, are jointly sponsored by the North and South Georgia Methodist Conferences and the division of educational institutions of The Methodist Church's Board of Education. They are designed to help the students achieve a better understanding of their abilities, aptitudes and interests, Dr. Webb said.

Dr. W. M. McGuire
Is Sunday Speaker

The Rev. W. E. Varion, pastor of the Zion Church of the Nazarene, announces that the speaker Sunday morning, Nov. 7th will be Dr. W. M. McGuire.

Dr. McGuire serves the Church of the Nazarene as Superintendent of the Eastern Michigan District with offices in Pontiac. He was ordained to the ministry in 1920 and served in the Province of Ontario until 1941. During that time he was instrumental in the organization of many new churches and was District Superintendent of the Ontario District for five years. The McGuires have seven children and have their home at 62 Wenonah Drive.

"The Whole Gospel to the Whole World"

Everyday Religion

By DON D. TULLIS

A Curt Command

I am told that when a plane was about to be abandoned in the late war the order was given, "STAND BY! LOOK UP! FOLLOW ME!" Loyalty, faith, action—the three essentials to a good and useful life.

Loyalty is one of the rare jewels in the crown of character. One day, recent I stood in the Opera Salon of the Palace of Versailles and mused on a scene that had taken place there on October 1, 1789.

A banquet was being given for some military heroes. When the king and Marie Antoinette entered, even though they were doomed to feel the bloody blade of the guillotine, there was an uproar of cheers, and in one voice the soldiers sang, "O king, the universe forsakes thee; and on earth I am the only one that careth for thy cause." Loyalty reaches to the very verge of human limitations.

But loyalty is not enough. The members of a gangster band are loyal one to another. Evil men stand by while evil deeds are done. Tyrants have followers who are ready to die for them. Satan's soldiers are seldom AWOL.

It is the direction of one's loyalty that determines its worth. It must be a devotion to good rather than evil. To this end comes the command "LOOK UP!" This means a vision of Right, and a commitment to it, a high idealism and loyalty to the things that are above, the eternal values of life.

This upper look is father of our faith, and faith is the master of our fears. A paratrooper says, "I was never afraid to leap if I looked up, but if I looked down I was scared pink." Faith in the Right leaps fearlessly into the dark unknown. It rushes headlong to difficult duties and daring deeds.

This upper look prepares one for the final order, "FOLLOW ME!" This following is discipleship in action, expressing itself in works rather than words. And it is right action, for it charts its course in keeping with the guiding finger of the highest weather vane that points always in the direction of the winds of God.

We are all aviators struggling through the charging currents of this mortal life. Anything may happen. The hurricanes of hates are always hovering near, but we shall stem the storm if we but hear and heed the Master's command, "STAND BY! LOOK UP! FOLLOW ME!"

Churches Map Book Cleanup

Protestant Campaign Is Outlined by Emrich; Catholics Plan Rally

DETROIT (AP)—Strategy to eliminate obscene and lewd books and magazines from Michigan was mapped today in a letter to 2,600 Protestant churches.

The Detroit Archdiocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, meanwhile, announced an inter-faith rally against indecent literature for tomorrow. Edward Cardinal Mooney will be principal speaker.

The letter going to Protestant churches was drafted by the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan and chairman of a special committee of the Detroit and Michigan Council of Churches.

"The problem of juvenile delinquency is not a simple one," he said, "but it is absurd to suppose that the reading of cheap literature does not have both obvious and subtle effects upon our children."

Bishop Emrich suggested that the book "Seduction of the Innocent" by Frederic Wertham be made must reading by parents.

He also suggested that an eye be kept on comics, magazines and books carried by local stores, saying that "a quiet word to the owner may well change the policy of the store."

Bishop Emrich advised parents, too, that "if you feel that certain books, magazines and radio and television programs are inimical to public life, say so. Remember the church should be the conscience of the community."

Spiritual Life Quest to Be at Flint Church

The Flint District Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold a Spiritual Life Quest at Court St. Methodist Church in Flint tonight at 7:30 p. m.

About 1,000 young people, including 150 from Pontiac, are expected for this special service. This program is a part of the Spiritual Life Mission which has been in progress in all the Methodist Churches this week.

The meeting will open with a song service led by Evelyn Andre, director of Religious Education of the Court St. Church. The Rev. John Rozeboom, Christian Education Field Worker for the Flint District, will lead the discussion of "Deepening the Spiritual Life through the Holy Habits."

The inspirational challenge will be given by Dr. Harold F. Carr, president of Illit School of Theology. Dr. Carr is a former pastor of the Court St. Methodist Church.

Yearbook, Sound Color Film Portrays Christian Leader Training

The Rev. Harry Hardwick will show "Yearbook," a sound-color documentary film, at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The film describes the training of leaders for the Christian church. It was produced over a period of two years at Nyack, America's First Bible School located on the Hudson River, 25 miles from New York City. More than 700 people took part in the production.

Life at the Nyack Missionary Training Institute is presented as it actually takes place day by day. Four years of training from first year registration to graduation is shown in the 30 minute film. Students are seen speaking in world-famous Carnegie Hall, witnessing to the Chinese in Chinatown, living in dormitories, studying in the classroom and preaching in nearby churches.

The student body of more than 500 will be heard singing the school song. Portions of music recitals given by the students from the School of Music will also be heard.

Nyack graduates will be shown as missionaries in French Indochina. The film also portrays white-robed Mohammedans as they try to keep Christian missions out of Africa.

Youth Rally Tonight at Memorial Baptist

The film, "Call of the Navajo" will be shown at the Memorial Baptist Church on Prospect St. at the Youth Rally tonight at 7:30 p. m.

This 42 minute film is in color and portrays present day life and conditions among the Indians of the Southwest.

The rally is sponsored by the newly formed Oakland Youth Fellowship. Doug Brown of the host church will lead the singing and Jane Fulcher of the Silvercrest Baptist Church will be at the piano. Special music will be furnished by the Trumpet Trio. Supper will follow the service. All young people are invited.

EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM

Billy Graham Film Shown

His 'London Crusade' to Be Offered Nov. 10 at First Nazarene

"London Crusade," an hour-long documentary of the three month campaign held by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown at the First Church of the Nazarene, 60 State St., Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Filmed entirely in England, "London Crusade," is Britain's own story of the campaign. The narrator is the Bishop of Barking, a leader of the Angelical Church.

Beginning with scenes of the Grahams' arrival at Waterloo Station, the film moves on to the opening night at Harringay Arena. It then covers the entire series of history making services, concluding with the White City and Wembley Stadium meetings. A total of 200,000 gathered here for the closing rallies of the Crusade.

This service is open to the public with no admission charge. The Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson is pastor of the church.

Primitive Tools Build Boys' Town Basketball Court

In Bangkok, Thailand,—an area of the world where it is not polite for "nice" people to get their hands dirty — some 45 campers, representing Christian groups of 15 countries, worked for two weeks recently with heavy, primitive tools to construct an outdoor basketball court at a "Boys' Town" for underprivileged youth. Two young Presbyterian missionaries were among the camp workers. As the group shoveled dirt, crushed stone, and poured concrete to the rhythm of choruses and hymns, they demonstrated the love of Christ for all people, and that work is not only for coolies." Bangkok newspapers carried front page news releases and pictures. Buddhist monks in the shade marveling at or silently mocking the workers. One group of Thailand university students was so impressed that they joined the campers, not only in their work, but in their worship.

Yugoslav Wins U. S. Sanctuary

Ike Signs Bill Helping Woman Terrorized by Secret Agents

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Eisenhower signed a bill giving permanent sanctuary in the United States to a Yugoslav woman who last year told a Senate subcommittee she had been terrorized by Yugoslav secret agents because she joined an Orthodox church in New York.

She is Stajka Petrovic, 48, a native of Mrs. Serbia, who was drafted by Yugoslav officials to come to the U. S. in 1930 as a domestic servant for the Yugoslav U. N. delegation.

The bill signed by the President was introduced by Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-NJ), a member of the subcommittee whose interest in Miss Petrovic's plight had been enlisted by the Rev. D. J. Shoukietovich, pastor of New York's Serbian Orthodox Church of St. Sava.

She told the subcommittee that her employers had not permitted her out of the buildings in which she worked and forbade her to see other Serbs or to attend church. After more than a year, however, she managed to get to a service at Father Shoukietovich's church, joined it, explained her plight to the pastor and entrusted her passport to him for safekeeping.

When the Yugoslav officials later learned of this, Miss Petrovic said, they began persecuting her and eventually forced her to go to the Yugoslav consulate to sign a document saying she had lost her passport and requesting that she be issued travel papers to return home.

Fearing she would be imprisoned or put to death in Yugoslavia, she went instead to the church, and Father Shoukietovich sent her under an alias to Pinewald, N. J., where he asked Mrs. Elizabeth Davidoff, a cook at a rest home, to watch over her.

Miss Petrovic said Yugoslav secret agents traced her to Pinewald and, when Mrs. Davidoff refused to surrender her, attempted to seize her by force as she was walking alone on a street in the town. The men fled, she added, when her screams attracted neighbors.

Sen. Hendrickson disclosed that she has changed her name and that the location of her present home is being kept secret for fear of "Communist reprisals."

Women's Group Leaders Named by New Church

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Henry Wrobel, wife of the pastor, has been named president of the Women's missionary fellowship of the newly formed Calvary Baptist Church which is meeting in the Waterford High School. Mrs. Paul Banta has been named vice president, Mrs. Delphert M. Wright, recording secretary, and Mrs. Louis Long, treasurer.

Sunday services are being held at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with Sunday School at 9:45 a. m.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. John A. Mackay, right, former missionary, now president of Princeton Theological Seminary and the Presbyterian World Alliance and chairman of the International Missionary Council, is shown receiving the citation for outstanding leadership in the field of World Christian Fellowship awarded annually by The Upper Room, International and Interdenominational daily devotional guide. Dr. J. Manning Potts, of Nashville, Tennessee, editor of The Upper Room, presented the citation at the National Press Club here before more than two hundred churchmen and leaders in the field of World Christian Fellowship. In accepting the award, Dr. Mackay called The Upper Room, with its 27 editions and 22 languages and in Braille, "the most truly ecumenical publication issued today." This daily devotional guide is part of the ministry of more than 65,000 churches in the United States. It is also part of the ministry of hundreds of chaplains serving with the armed forces. New editions established this year include Finnish, Chinese and Russian. In all of the editions readers use the same Bible reading, the same meditations and the same prayers each day.

Individual Potential Raised by Thinking Positively

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A friend of mine, who lives in Rhode Island, told me recently about one of her neighbors who has just bought a jeep. The salesman who sold this particular woman her jeep assured her that it could go anywhere. She wasted no time in testing out his statement.

On that hard-packed sand at Daytona Beach in Florida you can drive for miles. Unfortunately, this is not true of Rhode Island's beaches and, before too long, this woman had her jeep up to its hubcaps in sand. There she was, quite annoyed and blaming the salesman for having misrepresented the jeep's powers. Then a farmer happened by, noticed that she had not shifted into low range, told her how to get into this more powerful gear and, very soon, she was able to pull out of the sand easily.

As she sped down the beach and on to the high ground, the farmer turned to my friend, who had been standing nearby, and commented, "It's strange, but she's just like all the rest of us — she had more power than she knew, but she wasn't using it."

It's easy to smile about a foolish woman with her jeep stuck in the sand, but perhaps we ought to smile at ourselves also, because each of us has more powerful gears within us that we do not use. As Louis M. Grate of Los Angeles writes in his fascinating little book, "Get Rich in Spite of Yourself": "Many rich and successful men and women have no more brains or energy than anyone else. They are usually driven to success. Frequently they are so helpless they can't stop moving ahead even when they want to. Their money is made in spite of themselves!"

We can state as a proposition that everyone has greater potential power within him than he has ever realized or been able to measure. For many of us, this power lies dormant — it never helps to get us out of the rut — because we have never learned that it exists or discovered how to use it. For others, this vast potential is activated and, once set in motion, drives on to success in every undertaking.

Consequently, the fundamental principle of success is the activation of the great personality that lies within each of us. But it is important that the thoughts that activate you must be right ones, for wrong thoughts, strongly held, can be very destructive. The father of psychoanalysis, Sigmund Freud, wrote, "We are what we are because of what we have been." And the Bible, in its ancient wisdom, says, "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he."

So, if you want to be sure that you are going to release all your powers, that you are going to develop the drive to success, never think a false thought, never think a dishonest thought, never think a negative thought. You may ask, "How can I prevent such thoughts from coming into my mind?" You can't, but it is up to you whether or not they stay there. You can practice emptying your mind of such thoughts and replacing them with true thoughts, honest thoughts, positive thoughts. These fresh creative thoughts will properly activate your real potential.

No one has to stumble or whine his or her way through life. Fill your mind with the great thoughts your religion teaches. These will help release your full potential. This is a way to learn the fundamental principle of success.

Hold Children's Church
During Worship Hour

The First Presbyterian Church offers a "Children's Church" during the Morning Worship Service beginning tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Edward D. Auchard, wife of the associate pastor of the church, will be in charge of the service which will be held in the Primary Rooms. Dick Catterman will assist with the music.

Mrs. Auchard was trained at Kansas State Teachers' College in Pittsburg, Kansas. She studied Christian Education at Eden Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., and in the Laboratory Training Schools of the Metropolitan Church Federation of Greater St. Louis.

For several years, Mrs. Auchard taught in rural schools in Kansas. She also taught an ungraded group of exceptional children in the public school system in Dayton, Ohio for one year.

Mrs. Auchard has taught in all departments of the Church School and has served as superintendent of the nursery and primary grades.

The Children's Church is planned for the first, second and third grade children.

"Parents' Class," is offered adults whose children are enrolled in the church school at 9:45 a. m. This is the largest single class and is taught by Dr. William H. March, pastor of the church.

Ex-U-Boat Chief Backs Pacifism

German Pastor Warns That Third War Will Lead to Annihilation

By Religious News Service
GERMANTOWN, O. — Pastor Martin Niemöller, foreign secretary of the Evangelical Church in Germany, publicly reaffirmed his absolute pacifist convictions in an address to the annual conference of the Fellowship of Reconciliation at Camp Miami here.

The former U-boat commander of World War I said "no war" is today's only alternative to total annihilation.

Asserting that "war is madness," Dr. Niemöller said he had once turned to pacifism out of what he felt to be practical necessity. Now, he stressed, he finds himself a pacifist "in principle" as well.

Dr. Niemöller told the 300 Christian pacifists at the meeting that he recently joined the German Fellowship of Reconciliation.

"War must not come," he said, "but this does not mean it cannot come." Observing that "the attitude of the American press is that a third World War will come," the German churchman said that Americans, especially, must work hard to make sure war does not "just happen."

Dr. Niemöller came here from Evanston, Ill., where he attended the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches. He told the FOR conference that although no radically pacifist statement was made by the Assembly, its atmosphere differed markedly from the First Assembly at Amsterdam, the Netherlands, six years ago. The main difference, he said, was that less confidence was expressed at Evanston in military force.

3 Churches to Hold Confirmation Rites

LAPEER—The Rt. Rev. Archie Crowley, Episcopal suffragan bishop of Michigan, will visit this area Sunday to confirm classes in three Episcopal churches—Grace Church at Lapeer, St. Dunstan Church at Davison, and St. John Church at Otter Lake.

The confirmation ceremony at Grace Church will be at 10 a. m. At 1:30 p. m. a potluck dinner at the church will honor the bishop and the new members. Both dinner and service will be open to the public.

The confirmation at Davison will be held at 11:30 a. m. At Otter Lake, the confirmation will be at 7:30 p. m. A reception will follow at 8:30 p. m.

Boost Churches in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Youngsters here soon will be getting church-sponsored "commercials" along with cereal advertisements on television.

Several Fort Worth churches and the Downtown Kiwanis Club are working together on the filming of 20-second "shorts" urging children to attend the church of their choice.

The Kiwanis Club will contribute about $2,000 to pay for the filming of 10 such shorts to be shown over WBAP-TV here. Various local churches are supplying the talent for the films.

Cryptic Note, Foot Prints May Lead to Sex Slayer

By RICHARD J. INNOTT
NORWOOD, Mass. (U-P)—A hastily scribbled note, a cigarette butt, a plaster set of footprints and a dismantled auto fender may lead police to the savage sex murderer of pretty 15-year-old Geraldine Annesse.

The bruised body, unclad except for her socks, of the vivacious high school sophomore was found yesterday on the dirt floor of a two-car garage in the back of her home.

Her clothing had been strewn about the garage and the contents of her handbag dumped over her body. Dist. Atty. Myron Lane labeled her death "murder by a sex fiend."

Six attempted attacks on girls have been reported to police in Norwood in the last two months.

As detectives sought a 25-year-old rejected suitor who lived near the Annesse home, police chemists studied clues which they believe may have formed the pattern of murder.

A small scrap of paper containing a penned note was termed by Police Chief Mark Folan as "a definite clue."

The cryptic message found near Geraldine's ripped clothing read in one part: "Let's take her. Yes." Police said the other part of the note, written on white, lined paper, and apparently an answer, replied "I don't care."

A cigarette butt found on the garage floor was also considered a possible clue.

Folan said that plaster casts taken of footprints found in a muddy lawn leading from the garage to an adjacent yard were "of major importance."

"We think they may be the prints of Gerry's murderer," the police chief said.

While chemists examined a fender taken from an automobile parked in the garage for possible fingerprints, police continued to question three 16-year-old boys whom Geraldine had been with the night of her slaying.

The brown-eyed brunette had been on a double date Thursday night with two of the boys and a girl friend. A third boy joined them during the evening in a round of amusement spots in nearby towns.

Police said the companions drove her home about 9:45 p.m., letting her out of the car about 75 yards from the house.

Communist MP Elected in Syria

Pro-Russian Delegate Polls Third-High Vote Among All Candidates

DAMASCUS, Syria. (U-P)—Khaled Bekdash is the first Communist ever elected to an Arab Parliament. He polled 16,000 votes, third highest among all candidates in Damascus.

Bekdash ran as an independent, because the Communist party is outlawed in Syria. But there was no doubt about his true colors politically, nor about his Bekdash having Russia's blessing. Most Syrian voters know that Bekdash has visited the Soviet Union the last time in 1953. Many Damascuses have heard his voice broadcast over Moscow Radio.

Many Arabs supported Bekdash as a symbol of anti-Westernism. Nearly a million Arab refugees from Palestine blame the United States for loss of their homes, and they applaud anyone opposing the West.

Bekdash's influence in Parliament is expected to be largely negative. He has been appointed to the Foreign Affairs Committee and is expected to join other anti-Western elements in fighting any pro-Western moves by Syria.

The Communist deputy admits the time is not ripe to try to "Sovietize Syria." Certain Syrians believe Bekdash will serve the purpose of keeping the West from taking Syria for granted.

"One Communist in Parliament can't do much harm," they explain. "But he should give America a good scare."

Doctor Wants to Borrow Phantom Police Skeleton

OKLAHOMA CITY (U-P)—The Oklahoma City Police Department insists it doesn't have a skeleton in its closet.

A man, who identified himself as a physician, called and said he had heard the department had an extra skeleton of a body it rented out occasionally and asked if he could borrow it.

Officers assured him they didn't know of any skeletons around police headquarters. So the man hung up the phone without explaining his motives.

Canvassers Continuing Check of Vote Here

The Nov. 2 vote in 65 of Oakland County's 210 precincts had been checked yesterday afternoon by the official canvassing board with only a few minor errors detected.

The board has 14 days after election to complete its report. Its members are Mrs. Sarah F. Garrett of Commerce Township, Mrs. Minnie Sherwood of Pontiac and Carlos Richardson of Waterford Township.

from the Annesse home. To reach her house Geraldine had to pass a vacant lot and the two-car garage in her yard.

When Geraldine failed to be home at 11:30, her father, Joseph, a roofing manufacturing plant laborer, reported her missing.

About 7:30 Friday morning, the shocked shriek of Joseph Freund, 26, who rented a stall in the garage, and the frantic cries of Geraldine's older sister, jolted the awakening neighborhood.

Both had seen the body almost simultaneously.

Freund spied it as he went to enter his car. The sister, Mrs. Jean Garneau, 22, saw it as she looked out a window of the Annesse's second floor apartment.

Sacred Cattle Issue in India

Government at Impasse With Hindus Over Plans for Slaughter of Cows

NEW DELHI (U-P)—India's cattle, sacred and plentiful, have been classified by the Nehru government as an urgent domestic problem.

Politics, religion and economics are all wrapped up in the bovine issue. The problem takes its most dramatic form in the almost daily parades through New Delhi by Sadhus (Hindu holy men), demanding "a national ban on all cow slaughter."

Garbed in saffron robes, their hair and beards curled, these Hindus are as much a part of the capital's landscape as the cattle they seek to protect.

Agitation for a ban on "cow slaughter" is basically religious, for the cow and the bull are the most sacred of animals to the Hindu. The movement popularly refers to "cow slaughter," but its aim is protection of all cattle.

Hindu orthodox opposes any cattle slaughter, even of diseased and aged animals, on the grounds sacred beasts should be allowed natural deaths.

Hindu beliefs forbid the eating of beef, provide a role for cows in temple ceremonies and require the cow be worshipped in every home. Sacred cattle are allowed to wander freely through city streets, where they often snarl traffic and upset bazaar stands.

India depends on cattle, perhaps more than any other country, as an important prop of the economy. With much of India agricultural as minus mechanization, the bull pulls plows or hauls loads to markets. Dairy products provide millions of Indian vegetarians their only protein.

Marilyn to Have Minor Surgery, Doctor Reveals

HOLLYWOOD. (U-P)—Marilyn Monroe is going to the hospital tomorrow for what her doctor says is "minor surgery."

The operation will be performed Monday by Dr. Leon Krohn, gynecologist.

While Miss Monroe is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital a complete diagnosis will be made to determine the reason for her recent ill health.

The actress, who divorced the one-time Yankee clipper, Joe DiMaggio, last Oct. 18, has just completed a movie and is on vacation from Twentieth Century-Fox Studio. DiMaggio, Marilyn said, was not affectionate as a husband. He was not available in San Francisco for comment on her hospitalization.

Famed Weathervane to Go on Tour of U. S.

NEW YORK (INS)—The 214-year-old weathervane of Boston's Old North Church which was blown down with the steeple last Aug. 31 by a hurricane, went on exhibit yesterday at Grand Central Terminal in New York. The historic weathervane display, unveiled by financier Bernard Baruch, will be exhibited until Nov. 12.

Then it will go on a tour of major U. S. cities as part of a campaign to raise $150,000 to restore the steeple to the Old North Church. It was from the church's belfry that signal lanterns were hung by Paul Revere on his famed ride.

Morse repeated to a news conference his intention of voting with the Democrats to organize the Senate and added that he will sit with them, too.

Hospital Board Plans Meeting on New Addition

Meeting informally with City Manager Walter K. Willman last night, the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees set Nov. 18 for a joint meeting with the City Commission to discuss plans for a $3,000,000 addition to the city hospital.

The new addition is expected to extend westward along Huron street.

Transatlantic Flights Increase

Civil Aviation Planners Recommend Increased Use of Safety Devices

MONTREAL (U-P)—The International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) says more than 60,000 flights will be made over the North Atlantic this year and the figure will jump to 90,000 the next five years.

That kind of overseas traffic, says ICAO, makes additional safety devices necessary. The North Atlantic Regional Air Navigation Section of ICAO tackled the problem and came up with some recommendations.

To remedy this situation the regional meeting advised the installation of additional radio beacons in Iceland, South Greenland, the Azores, Eastern Newfoundland, Labrador, Nantucket Island and Atlantic City. These stations would be in addition to those already operating in Europe.

Canada was called upon to consider installation of a number of visual omiranges on the routes between New York and Gander, Nfld.; New York and Goose Bay; and Montreal and Gander. The visual omiranges are improved short distance radio navigation devices, operating on a static-free high frequency, which give the navigator a much more complete picture of flying conditions.

About 55 per cent of fatal traffic accidents in the United States occur at night.

Brother George Is Taboo in Liberace's Film Debut

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (U-P)—Liberace's first starring motion picture for theaters will feature his candelabra, ignore brother George and have a plot that's a combination of "Poker Hand" and the life of Beethoven.

This news was revealed today at Warner Studio, where "the television idol's" debut to the big screens is in the oven.

Screenwriter Irving Wallace is being over a hot typewriter on the script, which goes before the cameras in February.

Wallace and producer Henry Blanke believe Liberace fans will not be disappointed in his film because, for one thing, the idea for the picture came from the pianist himself.

"Every studio was after him but they hadn't come up with a story he liked," Wallace explained. "He didn't want to be kidded in a movie, and he didn't want to do his life story. He thought that would leave him with nothing more to do in pictures, and he's interested in acting as a career. He wanted a challenging role."

Wallace wrote this into a modern story of a lonely, nearly deaf pianist who watches people pass by his Central Park apartment window in New York. He becomes "involved in their lives" and helps them solve their problems through his piano playing, in the manner of Jimmy Stewart's window peeping in "Rear Window."

"He gets the courage to face an operation, his hearing is saved and at the end he plays in Carnegie Hall," the writer concluded.

This picture's tentative title is "Sincerely Yours."

Besides performing the classics, Liberace also will play boogie-woogie and indulge in some light comedy. Brother George, a mainstay on the Liberace TV program, will be absent from the movie cast. "We've received a lot of mail from Liberace's fans," added Wallace.

Guilty on Morals Count

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday found Floyd Einder, 28, of 2369 Lakeville, Oxford, guilty of the statutory rape of a 12-year-old Oxford girl. Judge H. Russel Holland set sentencing for Nov. 15.

London Clock Chokes Winder

Attendant Is Strangled When Coat Becomes Tangled in Mechanism

LONDON (U-P)—Twice a week for the past 7 years Thomas Manners, 52, climbed to the bell tower to wind the great clock at the Law Courts Building. Yesterday the clock choked him to death.

The clock—a London landmark—kept right in operating but stopped tolling the hours. Manners' body was discovered by two repairmen who were summoned to investigate the clock's striking apparatus.

Manners' long brown coat got caught in the clock's mechanism and was drawn tight until he strangled.

The clock has been ringing out the hours since 1882 when it was placed some 120 feet above the Strand near Fleet street on the law courts, where most of Britain's important civil cases are heard.

The repairmen discovered Manners lying in the winding room about 20 feet below the big clock's face.

The clock's mechanism consists of long chains which operate the hands and reach down into the winding room. Heavy weights operating on the principle of the old-fashioned grandfather clock and a big drum which is revolved to readjust the level of the weights also are in the room.

Until recent years the weights readjustments were done by hand by two men. The drum now is revolved by electricity and Manners did the job alone.

Water in Gas Tanks Makes Drivers Fume

WEBSTER, Mass. (U-P)—When irate motorists began turning up in droves last night, two local gas station owners found out they had been filling gas tanks with water.

After much confusion, a great deal of free towing and carburetor cleaning, the blame was placed on a tank truck shipment made by a Worcester distributor — 1,000 gallons of water to one dealer and $50 gallons to the other.

The explanation was that an empty truck had been filled with water to make it ride more easily when returning from a delivery.

However, someone overlooked that when the truck was hauled out of the company yards to make the Webster delivery.

Eleanor Ducks as Light Blows on Movie Set

HOLLYWOOD. (U-P)—A big spotlight exploded while Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was visiting a movie set yesterday. She was unhurt.

The widow of the late president had just walked onto a Paramount Studios set when the 1,000-watt light exploded with a roar during the making of the film "The Desperate Hours."

Humphrey Bogart, one of the stars in the picture, was cut by flying glass, as were three crew members.

Mrs. Roosevelt was only three feet away when the big light exploded. "I ducked," she said.

Mac Welcomes Old Pal Yoshida Now Visiting U. S.

NEW YORK (INS)—Two old friends met at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, one-time Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers in Japan, and Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida sat down for a quiet talk.

The meeting between the two men took place in the general's private suite, although MacArthur was on hand at a downstairs entrance to meet the premier when his entourage arrived at the hotel.

The two went immediately to the general's suite. They posed briefly for news cameramen, but television and newsmen were barred from their session.

There was no immediate report on what the two had to talk about, but a source said that Yoshida had expressed a wish to simply renew "an old and lasting friendship," and to thank the general for his contributions to the new Japan.

Abbott, Costello Plan Pictures Around World

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U)—Around the world with Abbott and Costello. That's the nature of a film project being dreamed up by Lou Costello. The zany comics have but one more film to do under their contract to Universal-International after their current "Abbott and Costello in The Mummy."

"Then I want to take a skeleton crew and shoot features in various capitals of the world," says Lou, the once fat member of the team. He has slimmed down since his recent illness. "I already have a script for our first film, which will be made in Paris. And I'm working on another one to be made in London."

"The Paris story has me, and Bud as a couple of bums trying to get off the boat and into France. The only way we can do it is to have the zany situations we can get into. The London story concerns the stealing of the crown jewels from Westminster Abbey. And I've got other stories in mind for other foreign cities."

After their next picture for U-I, A&C will be free of all commitments for the first time in 15 years. They will be able to call their own shots, and travel appears high on their preferences. Lou said he would go to Europe after "The Mummy" to scout the filming situation.

He doesn't plan to make any more TV films at present. He now has 52 in circulation, and a big soup company bought up the first 26 for Saturday morning showings all over the country. Some of these films have already been shown four or five times, Lou said, so there is apparently no saturation.

Heart Massage, Iron Lung Keep Tot Alive After Breathing Stops

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Three-year-old Nicky DeWitt is still alive although he was considered "medically dead" by his physician Wednesday and stopped breathing again Friday morning.

Nicky was bitten on the upper lip Wednesday by a cocker spaniel owned by Willie Pep, former featherweight boxing champion. George Dewitt, Nicky's father, is a nightclub comedian and neighbor of Pep.

The lip was badly torn and Nicky was taken to Victoria Hospital for plastic surgery. He was put under ether and as the operation was completed, the doctors noticed Nicky had stopped breathing.

They opened Nicky's chest cavity and massaged his heart. Nicky began breathing again. The doctors said the child "rocked along" the rest of the night, and by Thursday seemed to be "coming along," but Friday he stopped breathing again, although a slight heart action continued.

Emergency drug and oxygen treatment didn't start Nicky breathing again and he was rushed to Variety Children's Hospital and placed in an iron lung.

Nicky remained in a critical condition today.

Democrat Holding Up in Oregon Tabulation

PORTLAND, Ore. (U)—Democrat Richard L. Neuberger of Portland held a 2,027 vote lead over his Republican opponent, Sen. Guy Cordon, as tabulating of Oregon's crucial U.S. Senate election continued yesterday.

The vote was 283,258 for Cordon and 285,285 for Neuberger according to unofficial but double-checked returns from 2,496 of the state's 2,499 precincts.

The three outstanding precincts do not have 50 votes among them. Cordon has refused to concede the election to Neuberger. The veteran senator said he would await an official canvass of the tally expected to be completed about Dec. 1.

Judge Asks Ordinance Banning Comic Books

LOS ANGELES (U)—Superior Judge William B. McKesson has asked the Board of Supervisors for a county ordinance outlawing the sale of crime, sex and horror-type "comic" books.

"The increase in violence of juvenile acts of delinquency seems to indicate that the minds of children continuously exposed to a comic book diet are affected by the details of horror crimes so prevalent in certain types of such books," said a resolution signed by Judge McKesson.

AF Sergeant Rolled by Patriotic Robber

OAKLAND, Calif. (U)—Air Force Sgt. William C. Lawson, battered, bruised and nursing what he called "the granddaddy of all hangovers," is convinced some thief had a slight element of patriotism.

Thursday night, the 23-year-old airman began a tour of Oakland taverns, celebrating his re-enlistment into the Air Force. He had $1,600 in bonuses, back pay and travel expenses in his pocket.

He forgets exactly what happened. But he awoke early yesterday after being dumped from an automobile near the Oakland Naval Supply Depot.

His eye was blackened, his clothes torn—and his wallet missing. However, the thief left him $150 in cash, his travel orders and train tickets for today's scheduled trip to Lawrence Hanson Air Force Base at Bedford, Mass.

Hearing Slated on Funds Paid Gl's Survivors

NEW YORK (U)—Rep. William H. Bates (R-Mass.) says a congressional public hearing will be held in Washington this month on government benefits paid to survivors of Americans who died in military service.

Bates, chairman of a five-man committee to study the subject, said yesterday his committee had concluded three days of executive sessions here and had slated the public hearings for Nov. 17.

Bates said the hearings, expected to take about 10 days, will be the first "over-all appraisal" of benefits paid to about 65,000 widows and other beneficiaries.

The object of the inquiry, he said, is to provide a "more equitable program" and eliminate overlapping of five separate survivor benefit programs now operated by the federal government.

Soviet-Held Europe Decried by Canadian

TORONTO (U)—Foreign Secretary Lester Pearson said Friday night Canada could not accept permanent Soviet political domination over Eastern Europe.

Speaking at a political rally, Pearson declared:

"I don't think we can accept in this country the permanence, politically, of a situation where whole peoples are enslaved, any more than we can accept the permanence, spiritually, of a system which tries to choke and kill the individual human soul."

mission brick, the house is trimmed in soft pastel yellow. This trim color is also used for the shutters and the all-season awnings. Ten rooms and a two-car garage offer areas for both family fun and family privacy in this model. Lower right hand photo shows the living room.

Your Neighbor's House

Antique Mission Brick Forms Exterior of Colonial Trail Home

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

"We were practically pioneers out here nine months ago—but look at the surrounding hills now."

This statement was made by Lawrence Moloney of 2897 Colonial Trail, Colonial Estates in Bloomfield Township, as he looked out the front window of his new home spotting 10 recently completed new homes with 10 more under construction.

Located west of Woodward Avenue, one-half mile south of Square Lake Rd., Colonial Estates has rolling terrain which offers a natural invitation to split-level houses—the type chosen by the Moloney family.

One teenage son, two young adults and their father, Lawrence Moloney, comprise the household and from the enthusiasm exhibited collectively by the group, planning their new home was indeed a family project.

"We wanted room for family fun and room for individual privacy," claims Robert L.

now a student at the University of Detroit.

Spacious bedrooms take care of study and quiet hours; a large recreation room, a library, hobby shop and two-level outdoor patio offer space and facilities for group activity.

From the roadway, the Moloney house tells "one story." From the deep, wooded ravine in the back, it reveals "three stories." Building into a hillside achieved this type of design.

An L-shaped living-dining room combination fronts the house and it has a large ledger-rock fireplace with a mantel-to-ceiling mirror to give additional perspective.

Painted a cocoa tone with a definite mauve cast, this same hue is used for the central hallway and reception foyer of the house.

Foil for living room furnishings in deep hunter green, gold velvet, beige background floral prints in draperies, this cocoa shade complements carpeting also in a beige note with a mauve overtone. An off-white ceiling highlights the L-shaped room which has windows facing the roadway plus wide windows overlooking the sloping backyard.

A library, accessible from the center hallway, is done in gray walls with built-in bookcases lined in deep red. Green carpeting covers the floor.

TV is consigned to this room and again in the recreation room thus reserving the living room for conversation hours.

Other rooms located on the first floor include the master bedroom, a ceramic tiled bathroom and a spacious kitchen with breakfast area.

Gray-tiled counter tops in the kitchen provide an abundance of work area. Walls are done in a pale yellow. Outlined in painted white frames, the cupboard doors are finished in natural birch.

The ground floor has a recreation room paneled by Moloney and his sons. They chose mahogany with its interesting grains for this project.

"This level was a do-it-yourself project and we certainly enjoyed doing it," says Moloney.

Floored in terra cotta and black tile, the Moloneys selected comfortable contemporary chairs in fiberglass with colors ranging from flamingo to pale beige.

Hi-fi, installed in an adjoining room, has concealed speakers in several different areas. One appears to be a small wrought iron register.

Probably one of the most popular rooms in the house—at least for the men folk—is the hobby room which is large enough for several work benches, a 6 by 14 foot train table and extensive floor-to-ceiling storage cupboards lining one wall.

On the third floor, two bedrooms with study areas are finished in natural oak floors and offer the ultimate in walk-in closets and other storage space.

Daughter Maureen Adelaide chose lime oak for her furnishings and color accents in rose and blue.

Designer of the Moloney house was William E. Lewis of Detroit and the contractor was the Cooke Construction Company.

LEDGER ROCK FIREPLACE—An L-shaped room which is a living and dining room combination was selected by the Moloney family. Windows facing each other overlook Colonial Trail and in the dining room, the deep, wooded ravine in the rear of the house. Above photo shows a corner of the mahogany paneled recreation room located on the ground level. This room was a do-it-yourself project for Lawrence Moloney and his two sons.

ROOM FOR BOYS—Bob Moloney relaxes on his bed in the room he shares with his brother, Charles. Green walls and natural oak floors are highlighted with red for accent colors at the windows, in the plaid bedspreads and in throw rugs. Two of everything in this

'Holey' Paint Paddles Are Better Mixers

For home painting jobs, it's a good idea to have on hand several paddles. Ones cut in the usual shape from tempered presedwood with quarter-inch holes drilled in the working portion will break up lumps of pigment and mix the paint thoroughly and quickly.

Study Reveals Helps for Working Wives

Chances are that you are one of the 9,000,000 American housewives who also hold jobs outside the home. For you the job of homemaker is twice as difficult as for the average wife, but you still find your double role exciting and rewarding.

A study of working wives reveals three big "helps" in doing this: (1) they keep an orderly list of "things to do" and stick to it. (2) In the kitchen they insist on a maximum of modern appliances and quickly cleaned materials in floors, walls and countertops. (3) Last but not least, they usually have understanding husbands who pitch in with some of the chores.

Longest railroad bridge structure in the United States is the 12-mile pile-trestle bridge forming a part of the Lucin cut-off across Great Salt Lake.

Today's Smaller Rugs Set Off Gleaming Parlor

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

Today's smaller rugs may be area rugs, large enough to tie together a fairly large grouping of furniture. Or they may be accent rugs, the smaller ones which are used for a dash of color or emphasis.

Waxed and gleaming wood floors are again in fashion.

Asbestos and rubber tile are seen in every room in the house, and the new vinyl tiles make rapid gains in favor. Cork, ceramic tile, waxed brick, the composition tiles set with strips of brass—all these point out a new interest in floors. New rugs on them are interesting, too, but they leave plenty of the floor showing.

The largest of the fashionable small rugs outline the area where a sofa and chairs and their accompanying tables are arranged in a living room.

Use the rug to emphasize the friendly grouping, to give the various pieces of furniture a special look of belonging together. The conversation grouping is never more clearly defined than with its own rug, which sets it apart from the rest of the room.

An area rug, too, is especially useful in the combination living and dining room when it's used to set a dining table and chairs apart from the living-room furniture.

This type of rug is often round for a round table, and is best in the round or a rectangular shape when it's big enough to go under the chairs when they're pulled back.

Area rugs may be of wool, cotton, synthetic fibers or combinations of these, and they may be ready-made in area sizes or cut from broadloom carpeting in the right size. They may be plain or simply patterned, often in squares, diamond shapes and stripes. The smaller accent rug may be of any of the same materials, but it takes more pattern and color. The accent rug is sometimes seen in striking contemporary designs, and all new floor coverings may be tweedy or textured mixtures of two, three, or more colors.

A small accent rug can be boldly designed and colorful when it's used under a desk, as it is in the sketch, or with another small grouping of furniture.

It may help to emphasize a center of interest in front of a fireplace, or draw the eye to a chair and table arrangement in front of a window.

U.S. Realtors at Cleveland

47th Annual Conclave
Draws 4,000 to Hear of Real Estate Trends

Realtors from across the land were arriving in Cleveland today to attend the 47th annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The yearly conclave, to run from Nov. 6 to 11, will hear of new developments and trends in the real estate field, and provide talks by government leaders who are intimately acquainted with housing and realty.

More than 4,000 members of the association, traveling from virtually every state in the Union and from Canada, are to be present. Presiding will be president Ronald J. Chinnock, Chicago. Earle E. White, Cleveland, is chairman of the convention committee.

Subjects to be taken up during six days of general sessions and conferences include the impact of the Housing Act of 1954, availability of mortgage loan money, the new era of home modernization and neighborhood improvement, the farm outlook, and methods of making real estate trades, a growing popular transaction in the realty field.

Architects Have Way of Beautifying House

Architects have a clever way of dealing with an unsightly jog or projection, or even a free-standing column, when they start in to remodel. They install a matching, dummy column to make a decorative feature of the two, or they repeat the projection or the jog along the same wall, or across from it, to give balance and even to add character to the space.

They add usefulness, too. The new space may easily be used as a stow-away spot for the cleaning apparatus, with no one being very much the wiser.

Scrabble Addicts Can Make Turntable

Scrabble enthusiasts, irked by the nuisance of moving the board from one player to another, can easily make a lazy susan that will solve this problem.

Parts required are two discs of masonite 1/4" tempered presedwood, 14 to 16 inches in diameter, the top of a coffee can, a dozen marbles, a nut and bolt to hold the parts together, and four metal chair leg buttons.

The tin can top, loaded with marbles, serves as a turntable. Through a hole drilled in the center of the masonite hardboard discs and the coffee can lid, pass a bolt having a flat head that can be countersunk. Attach the metal buttons to the bottom disc. They will provide clearance for the nut.

Decorate the upper disc by priming and painting. Then glue on, if you like, a copy of the Scrabble rules or some suitable symbols or pictures.

Watkins-Crescent Area Model Home to Open

Watkins-Crescent Subdivision opens its model home this Sunday for public inspection. Located at the corner of Ross Drive and Crescent Lake Rd., showings opening day will be from 12 to 8 and daily thereafter from 2 to 8 p. m.

This is the first of an ultimate 105 to be located in the Ross Rd. area (two blocks north of the Waterford Township Hall).

Built by local contractor, Ward W. Ross, Inc., the three bedroom house is one of four available designs in all brick exteriors.

One-story ranch styled homes, they have been designed by Raymond Smith, designing engineer from Detroit.

Thirty-four will be completed immediately and the balance of the project, 81, will be constructed on the north side of Watkins Lake.

On lots measuring 100 by 118 feet, these houses offer a variety of brick color.

are vinyl counter tops in the kitchen and the purchaser can select color choice in these facilities.

Full basements are designed so that the heating plant (forced-air and oil) is placed at the side leaving a large area for future recreation room space.

Exclusive sales handling for this project is by the Wm. A. Kennedy Realtor agency located at 3097 W. Huron Street.

Building Drops Here in October

City Department Issues
Construction Permits
Valued at $271,818

Building in the City of Pontiac dropped off during the month of October with 136 permits issued in place of the 209 granted during September.

Valuation of the permits, according to the Pontiac City Building Department, totaled $271,818. September total was $914,664.

October listed 25 one family dwellings valued at $149,500; 21 residential garages, $13,721; 78 residential alterations and repairs, $35,297; one new commercial building, $40,000; three new commercial alterations and repairs, $27,000; one wreck, $100; one moving, $200; three tanks, $1,050; two fences, $450 and one construction permit for nine telephone booths at $4,500.

New Automatic Device Removes Air From Pipes

Air in pipes or radiators is a real trouble-maker in any hot water heating system. The system works more efficiently, heats better with less fuel, when air is removed.

A new device has been introduced which automatically removes the air from coils of radiant panel systems, from baseboards, radiators, or convectors, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

You Can Make This Santa in Time for Christmas

By STEVE ELLINGTON

Most people say that Christmas is for youngsters, but I don't believe it. Lately there have been a string of grandfathers visiting our pattern ranch, and I'm convinced, Christmas was really meant for them. Every one of these old duffers comes into the office with a twinkle in his eye and a mischievous grin on his face. First he tells all about his grandchildren, then about the surprises he has planned for Christmas.

I wish lots of older folks could have seen the old timer that dropped in yesterday. He was over 80 and said he wanted to take up this buldin' idea to make the 'prime of his senility' more 'interestin'.

I said, "How come you're beginning a new hobby at such an advanced age?" He replied, "It's the youngest age I have left and I don't propose to waste it." Then he went on to tell that he belonged to the Over-Eighty Club.

It seems they had taken quite a progressive step recently, they had taken in for membership two men who were only 78. They had given the matter serious consideration for several meetings, but finally decided every organization needs young blood.

Since this old granddad wanted to build a Santa Claus to put in his yard for the holidays, it occurred to us that others would like to do the same thing. It's a very easy project made with plywood.

We asked T-Venus Dawn Oney and her little boy to be in the picture with old Santa and you can tell from the little boy's face that he likes it.

Building Santa is no trick at all. You merely trace the full size pattern on plywood, then saw it out.

It gives the colors and everything else you need to know. As a matter of fact, this whole project can be completed by any inexperienced amateur in an afternoon or evening. You couldn't find a better father and son project, or one for a Sunday School class.

To obtain the full sized Santa pattern No. 138 send 75c in coin to Steve Ellington, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California. Be sure to send to the California address for prompt service.

Smoke Pipe Check-Up Due Before Winter

By HUBBARD COBB

The reason why a lot of people have trouble all winter long with their furnace is not through any fault of the furnace or of the chimney — it's in the smoke pipe that connects the chimney and furnace together.

Smoke pipes are usually made out of light metal and after a few seasons in a damp basement they begin to rust.

Eventually holes appear in the metal and these allow air to enter the smoke pipe which spoils the chimney draft or they allow the fumes from the heater to escape into the house which can be dangerous.

Before the heating season begins the stove pipe should be checked over carefully for holes. Holes, of course, can be patched with iron cement but if the entire pipe appears in poor condition — toss it out and get a new one.

The stove pipe should slant upward from furnace to chimney. If it is level or has a downward slant the draft won't function the way it should.

Many otherwise excellent chimneys have a poor draft because the stove pipe enters into the chimney flue. The stove pipe should just come to the face of the flue for if it extends even a short distance into the flue, it reduces the efficiency of the chimney at this point. It's also a good idea to be sure that the joint where stove pipe enters the chimney is tight. This can be sealed with asbestos cement which won't be harmed by the heat from the stove pipe.

New Roofing Idea Retards Fire Spread

A new roofing idea being used in industrial buildings offers an inexpensive "ounce of prevention" for homeowners, too.

It is a thin layer of fire-retardant Koroseal film sandwiched between the roof deck (ceiling) and the roof insulation. The B. F. Goodrich company which makes the film says it's designed to prevent combustible roof materials from dropping into the house during a fire.

The film, only four-one-thousandths of an inch thick, is waterproof, which in itself could mean savings of hundreds of dollars of interior damage from firemen's hoses in the event of a roof fire. It's also said to be an aid to insulation.

Use of the film in industry grew out of large losses from fires in "fireproof" concrete and steel buildings. In some of these fires, roofing materials melted and dripped through to feed flames inside the plant, helping the fire spread throughout the building.

The company says the film is easy to install, adding that this type of roof construction is no more expensive than conventional roofs.

Panels Protect Counter

If you wish, stainless steel panels can be set into the countertop of your steel base cabinets, beside the range, so you can set hot utensils there without damage to the counter. Maple cutting board counters, too, can be installed on steel base cabinets to provide variation in work surfaces.

Panel Door in Demand

Contemporary Creates Demand for Style in Tune With Trend

Contemporary architecture has created a demand for panel doors in keeping with the latest trends in interior decoration. A variety of doors are available that offer modern styling, the warmth and beauty of wood, and a range of alternate decorative possibilities.

For the most part, the new ponderosa pine panel doors feature equal-sized panels in symmetrical arrangement, in keeping with the clean-lined dimensions of modern furniture.

Attractive three dimensional patterns are formed by subtle shadow lines created by the panels. The doors range from those with three square panels of equal size to those with squares numbering up to eight.

A popular type is the "Rancho." It is especially designed for interiors of contemporary ranch-type houses.

The warmth of wood can do much for a room finished in natural materials. A room with a stone floor or paneled walls is enriched by panel doors finished in one of the many colored stains now available.

Like Ice Fishing? Plan for Shelter

Winter fishermen can build a windtight shelter in a few hours with masonite tempered pread-wood.

For an easy-to-follow working drawing, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago, Ill., and request free plan No. AE-239.

The shelter is fastened with screen couplings for quick assembly and dismantling.

Newest Trend Is More Color in Bathroom

The trend in bathroom designing definitely is toward more and more extensive use of color in fixtures, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

During the past decade the demand for colored fixtures has risen so sharply that occasionally manufacturers have found it difficult to keep pace. Each year finds plumbing fixture manufacturers devoting larger and larger percentages of their total production to colored fixtures.

Most fixture colors are soft, pastel shades which allow homeowners a wide choice of harmonizing colors for decoration of their bathrooms and kitchens.

Bathroom fixtures are now available in pink, blue, green, gray, yellow, peach, tan, ivory and many other colors in addition to white. Kitchen fixtures also come in a variety of colors.

PAINTER'S DELIGHT—Laverne Mather, a Bloomington, Ill., painter and decorator, isn't exactly the most popular man in his neighborhood after he finished painting his home. He painted the house a shining black enamel; the chimney, white; the driveway, a lettuce green; and the front door and porch railing, aqua blue. Mrs. Mather holds a sign which reads—"Maybe We Don't Like the Color of Your House. We Like Ours This Way."

Design Home for Top Value

Gee-Gaws and Frills
Don't Help; Clean Line
Draws Future Buyer

Spending money doesn't always add to the value of a home.

More and more American families are learning this as they put the "for sale" signs out in front of their homes.

They have learned sadly that expensive frills on houses don't help to sell them. Scalloped cornices, fancy cupolas, exotic shrubbery and other gee-gaws cost money but most of them are matters of personal taste. They suit the home owner's fancy, but when the time comes to sell he finds that other people aren't very excited about them.

Whether you're building a new home or remodeling your present home, it's a good idea to keep within the bounds of what's generally accepted in home design. Then you have a product that will bring its full value in the market place.

Here are some principles to keep in mind in designing the home exterior.

Use straight, clean lines — Make the roof lines simple. Don't add scallops around windows and doors. If you use planters, make the design practical. Make the general layout of the house as near a square or rectangle as possible — the layout that provides maximum value for your building dollars.

Pick a few building materials and stick to them — Many people make the mistake of using too many materials. The result is a conglomeration that's both expensive and unattractive. Too many materials make the house look smaller than it really is.

Provide for outdoor living — You don't need a terrace or porch right away but your original plan should provide a ready entry to the proposed porch or terrace. Let's face the fact that the majority of Americans like the trend to more outdoor living.

Build for the future — This advice applies especially to selection of materials. Use those that are durable and easily maintained. Regardless of age, your house will always look in good condition. Among the newer materials, insulating siding is a good example of a building material with attractive color which will stay fresh through the years.

Have an attractive entrance — The entry way is the trademark of the home. A well-designed doorway provides protection from the weather and invites people to enter. If possible, design your home so that front door doesn't open directly into the living room. You thus save your living room carpet from dirty feet and you make the room more comfortable by taking it out of the path of winter drafts.

Install Splashbacks When Redoing Kitchen

Remodeling your kitchen? If so, you should by all means install splashbacks. Home experts say that properly placed splashbacks can save about half the time normally spent in kitchen cleanup. When splashbacks are made of stain-proof durable tile, wall are protected from flying grease or food stains.

The tiled splashback can be wiped clean in a jiffy with only a damp cloth. Splashbacks should be at least one and-a-half feet high.

Whence Cometh Corn?

The origin of corn is still a mystery after many centuries of research. Harvard botanists have unearthed in North America fossilized corn pollen judged to be more than sixty-thousand years old.

Homes More Livable in Today's Convenience

Builders today are putting more "living" into homes by creating multiple functions for rooms and locating them for convenience. For example, kitchens also serve as laundries and nurseries, as well as dining centers. And kitchens, too, do not necessarily have to be at the rear of the home if it's more sensible to have them at the front.

What makes multiple function possible is the new, original use of versatile materials such as tile for surfacing throughout the house. Because of the tremendous varieties of tile it is possible to complement any design in the house.

28-House Plan Heads Building

Permits During Week
in Pontiac Reach
$270,520 Total

A 28-house project in Washington Park valued at $252,000 headed the building permit list on file at the Pontiac City Engineer's office yesterday.

To be constructed by Sherwood Home Builders, the houses will be located on three streets. Twenty will be on Canterbury drive, with four each on Roland and Avon roads.

An unofficial tabulation of permits issued this week for projects estimated at more than $500 totals $270,520. The listing, exclusive of the 28-house project, follows:

Home, 435 First, Bender Building Co., $4,000.
Garage, 1113 Berkley, Joseph Blank, $800.
Garage, 709 Lounsbury, Bob's Building Service, $600.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PLAN #212H
FLEXIBLE—Growing children are provided for in this flexible plan for economical construction without basement. A folding partition, indicated by wavy line, can separate sleeping quarters for boy and girl, or permit opening into one large playroom. Lavatory-powder room at front door is a feature. Carport can serve as covered porch. House proper covers 1,665 square feet. This is plan 212H by Paul T. Haagen, architect, 360 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

Rex Cleaners Add Drayton Store to Growing Chain

Number four in the Rex Cleaner chain of stores has been erected at 4432 Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains.

Equipped to be the main plant of this locally owned cleaning business, the new building measures 20 by 92 feet and has a brick front with modern plate glass windows.

Located in the front of the structure is a service office decorated in green and black.

Owned by Wayne T. Bridwell of Drayton Woods, the other stores are located at 1116 W. Huron, 277 Baldwin and at 388 Nelson.

"Our specialty," said Mrs. Bridwell who helps manage the business, "besides all of the standard types of clothing and household dry-cleanables, will be the multitude of new synthetics now being used so widely in the manufacture of clothing."

Storybook Characters
Come to Life in School
Realism of storybook characters is important to Mrs. N. D. Nelson, first-grade teacher in Edison school, Carlsbad, New Mexico. She had built for her classes some life-sized figures of tempered pressedwood.

They were painted like Dick, Jane, Sally and Spot in the readers. Reports are the figures march with the children, have stellar roles in the playhouse, inspired original stories and join the reading circle to help introduce new words.

First mechanical washing machine to be patented was by Hamilton E. Smith, in 1858, and was a hand-cranked affair.

Paint House One Color to Make It Look Larger

On a small house of the ranch type, it's wise not to use more than one paint-color on the body of the house, unless you want your home to look even smaller. The maximum impression of size can be created with white or a light tint.

Color accents which harmonize with the roof and adjoining structures can best be introduced on shutters, doors, window boxes and garden "furnishings."

Trees Thrive This Way

Trees grow better in "upside down soil" reported scientists in a popular home magazine. When rich topsoil is planted at the base of a tree, and the subsoil is thrown on top, trees make better growth. The report adds that the effect is

Chinese Trying to Update Tibet

Many Refugees Flee From the Most Isolated Country on Earth

WASHINGTON — Strange things are happening in Tibet, the forbidden land of central Asia, the Roof of the World.

Tibet's spiritual and temporal rulers, the young Dalai and Panchen Lamas, have made the long journey to Peiping where they have been embraced by China's Red leaders.

Red Chinese armies, marching softly and almost bloodlessly into Tibet three years ago, recently changed tactics. They now seek to uproot Tibet's age-old way of life.

Consequently, the National Geographic Society points out, thousands of Tibetans are seeking sanctuary in India, which shares an 800-mile border with Tibet.

Many refugees are Buddhist monks. Tibet is the homeland of Lamaism, and Lhasa — seat of the Dalai Lama — is its holy city and the nation's capital. The land has at least 400,000 priests in a population of less than 4 million scattered thinly over an area almost twice the size of Texas.

Almost every village has a monastery. Some houses as many as 1,000 celibate monks. Until the infiltration of the Red Chinese, they were free to perform their religious duties.

When the Chinese took over, Tibet was probably the least industrialized and most isolated country on earth. There were no wheeled vehicles — except for one automobile the British had presented to the Dalai Lama.

There were no railroads or airfields and there are still none although the Chinese have built a few auto roads from the east and there is talk of building an airport five miles out of Lhasa.

Refugees report that farmers, herders and tribesmen are becoming increasingly restive under the goad of their new Red Chinese masters. But primitive weapons are almost futile against the modern arms of China.

Moreover, the Tibetans are probably a static or a dying race.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission Holds Official Canvass of Tuesday Vote

The official canvass of votes cast on two city proposals Tuesday was made at this week's City Commission meeting.

Official results show that the hospital proposal polled 9,687 "yes" votes and 5,903 "no" votes. The new city employee pension plan was approved by a 14,281 to 5,542 vote.

The hospital addition measure, which needed at least 60 per cent approval by property owners, passed by 62.1 per cent.

In other action the board recognized petitions of property owners on Allen and Adams streets and canceled scheduled street improvements.

The petitions showed that nearly 71 per cent of the property owners on Allen between Osburn and the Michigan Air Line Railroad, and on Adams, from Jessie to Allen, opposed improvements at this time.

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work had been scheduled for the streets.

In other business, the commission received a report from City Manager Walter K. Willman, outlining the general capital improvements program for 1935. The outline will be studied and revised by the commission.

A resolution was passed authorizing execution of a deed from the city to the Detroit Edison Co. for a 100-foot strip of land on the north side of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad right-of-way, from Joslyn avenue west.

The land will be used for erection of Edison power line towers.

Two of three communications were referred to the City Plan Commission for study and recommendation. One was from Antonio Craparrota, asking rezoning of the corner of North Perry, School and Lexington Sts., for commercial use.

The other was from Louis H. Cole and asked rezoning of lots 264 to 266 and lot 269 of the Civic Improvement Co.'s Marquette subdivision 1 to manufacturing 1 classification. The land is on the south side of Montcalm street and on the north side of Harris street.

The third communication—a bid from Robert C. Costello for purchase of city-owned property on LeGrand avenue—was referred to the newly formed property committee.

The committee was formed at the meeting at Willman's recommendation. It is comprised of Willman, City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn and a member of the commission.

The commissioner in whose district the property in question is located will fill the third seat. Engineer's estimates were reported and public hearing set for Nov. 16 for the following:

Combined sewer on Stanley from Dearborn to Kennett.
Sanitary sewer on Oakland from Northview to Kinney. Kinney from Oak and Stanley and Stanley from the trunk sewer to Kinney.
Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Whitfield from Saginaw to Edison.

Hearings were held on special assessment rolls for the following projects, with confirmation deferred:

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Hamilton and McNeill from Baldwin to Russell.
Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Drexel from Paddock to South Boulevard.

grading, graveling and related work on Pleasantview from Hills-mont to the east line of lot 181, Woodward Estates subdivision.

Confirmation of special assessment rolls for the following was made:

Combined sewer on Barkell from fourth to Columbia. Columbia from Barkell to 140 feet east of Joslyn.
Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Summit from Hudson to Montcalm.
Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Wolfe from Edison to Glenwood.
Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on First from Barkell to Fuller.

Dick Haymes Loses Deportation Appeal

WASHINGTON — Singer Dick Haymes today lost his appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals from a deportation order.

An attorney for Haymes, who now lives at Crystal Bay, Nev., announced that a further fight against the deportation order will be made in the Federal District Court here.

The 36-year-old singer was ordered deported in March of this year after a hearing before an Immigration Service inquiry officer.

Chrysler Bares $12 Million Loss

Drop in Third-Quarter Revealed in Report to Stockholders

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. officials have disclosed the company lost $12,067,277 in the third quarter of this year.

The heavy loss was reported yesterday in the auto firm's report to stockholders on operations for the first nine months of 1954. It was the second time in Chrysler history the company sustained a quarterly loss.

Chrysler's net earnings for the first nine months of the year were $3,794,583. This was a drop of $51,962,165 from net earnings of $38,756,748 for a similar period in 1953.

The firm's dollar sales fell off almost half. Dollar sales, for the January - September period this year total $1,402,925,592 as compared with $2,576,760,130 for the same period in 1953.

The report to stockholders came as Chrysler was preparing for the public showing Nov. 17 of its new Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler and Imperial automobiles for 1955.

The company said the report reflected in decreased output and increased expenses in the third quarter the "effect of a change-over to new models that is perhaps the most complete and diversified in the history of the automobile business."

The firm said it has scheduled production of about 250,000 cars during the first quarter of this year.

Despite the third quarter loss, directors of the corporation declared a 75-cent dividend on common stock, the same that was paid at the end of the second quarter.

Weighty Woes Keep Sax Man Huffing, Puffing

HONOLULU (AP) — The Royal Hawaiian Band has fired its 5 foot 7 tenor saxophone player, Peter M. Kane Jr., because he weighs 355 pounds and has trouble walking up stairs.

Dr. Thomas M. Mossman, city physician, says Kane can blow his horn all right but he shouldn't have to walk up stairs in his condition. Bandmaster Domenico Moro says that's part of his job.

As it is, Moro told a Civil Service Commission hearing recently, Kane has been excused from marching with the band the last four years. He has been with the band 14 years.

Kane is appealing the dismissal order and the commission is considering the weighty problem. Meanwhile it has suggested he try to reduce.

Girl Trouble Serious With Elephants, Too

AUGSBURG, Germany, (AP) — Bosco, a dangerously love-sick circus elephant, was shot down last night by U. S. soldiers manning 50 calibre machine guns mounted on two jeeps.

The troops had been called on to guard the four-ton beast after he went berserk Thursday, breaking loose and injuring his trainer.

Man Appeals Sentence After Pleading Guilty

A $100 appeal bond was furnished to Farmington Justice Court by Bernard Steckschulte, 33, of Detroit, who earlier yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in jail for each of two traffic counts to which he pleaded guilty.

Steckschulte, who was arraigned before Farmington Township Justice Allen C. Ingle, was also ordered to pay $20 costs each for an old traffic warrant and for not having an operator's license.

Appeal of Steckschulte's case will be heard Dec. 6 in Oakland County Circuit Court.

U. S. Census figures indicate that American men average 8.3 years of schooling while women get 8.5 years.

ADVERTISING FOR BIDS

For the purchase of Police Cars and Equipment. Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Township Clerk, Waterford Township Hall, 400 West Huron Street, Pontiac, Michigan, Oakland County, Michigan until 10:00 a. m., November 22, 1954, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read and the different items noted.
