House Takes Up Hotly Contested Tax Cut Issue

Showdown Fight Looms on Dem-Proposed Slash in Income Levy

WASHINGTON (U P)—The big fight over tax cuts moved to the House floor today with the chief issue a Democrat proposal to cut income taxes by upping exemptions from $600 to $700.

The bill called up for debate is a massive tax reform measure backed by Republican leaders and the administration.

The showdown will come Tuesday when the House is scheduled to vote on the Democratic effort to substitute their exemption plan for a provision in the GOP bill that would provide tax relief for stockholders. By any yardstick, neutral observers figure the vote will be very close.

Republicans were "very optimistic" in the words of Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., about their chances of stopping the Democrats' plan. The main reason, said Martin, is the "very effective" tax speech President Eisenhower delivered Monday night.

Democrats, however, refused to concede defeat. They fired back at the President Tuesday night in a nationwide radio-television attack on the GOP bill, charging it favors "the few" and offers "little or no relief" to 99 per cent of the nation's taxpayers.

One Democrat, Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, served notice today that he is against both the Republican and Democratic tax relief plans. He said he advocates "responsible tax reduction" but that until the federal budget is balanced he will oppose tax cuts advocated by either political party.

In another phase of the tax controversy, secretary of the treasury George M. Humphrey was called to appear before the Senate Finance Committee to discuss the House-approved bill to cut federal estate taxes by $912,000,000 a year.

Democrats brought some of their biggest congressional guns to bear Tuesday night in their reply to Mr. Eisenhower.

They were Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, former speaker and now House Democratic leader; Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, chief

Shed That Overcoat; Spring's Due to Stay

Even warmer weather is forecast, with a high of from 53 to 57 expected Thursday. A low of from 30 to 34 is due tonight.

Yesterday's temperature ranged from 23 to 44 degrees.

Irish Bury Political Hatchet in Honor of Good St. Pat

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—St. Patrick's Day came to the Irish Republic today on the brink of a general election—but the politically minded Irish who like to be different forgot politics.

It's an old Irish custom to bury the political hatchet on the national holiday.

Colleen Finds a Treasure

FAIRY GOLD—Many people say the "wee folk" don't exist but this pretty Colleen, Mary Elizabeth Moise, of Altoona, Pa., knows better, especially on St. Patrick's Day. Hasn't she found a leprechaun's treasure . . . a crock filled with gold along a rushy pool? It looks like chocolate disks wrapped in gold foil, but to her it's real gold, and proof that the "wee folk" do remember good Colleens on this day.

Ike Says We Will Counter Sneak Attack Immediately

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower made it clear today that the United States would strike back against any aggressor without waiting for a congressional declaration of war in the event of a surprise attack.

The Chief Executive told a news conference in emphatic terms that any President who did not act in such a situation to protect the nation should be hung.

He said he would take whatever action is best for the United States to most quickly diminish the power of the enemy to repeat its attack.

The President's strongly-worded statement appeared to reinforce the so-called doctrine of "instant retaliation" first laid down by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Mr. Eisenhower also spoke heatedly on the so-called "New Look" in national defense declaring the "New Look" is only an attempt by intelligent people to keep abreast of the times.

He said the huge invasion forces he directed in World War II could not be said to have any great usefulness in a modern war noting that two atomic bombs could have done tremendous damage to the allied concentration at Normandy.

Time Bomb Explodes in Grand Central Station

NEW YORK (AP)—A homemade time bomb exploded at the peak of the evening rush hour in the Grand Central Station men's washroom yesterday, causing a great deal of excitement and one minor injury.

Police found remains of the bomb, a timing mechanism and a length of 1 1/2 inch pipe. They had no further clues.

In Today's Press

Some preliminary campaign blasts have been fired for the election set for May 18.

De Valera—still a formidable campaigner even though 71 and nearly blind—decided to go to the people after his Fianna Fail party suffered setbacks in special elections to fill vacancies in the Dail (Parliament).

Fundamentally, there is little difference in the outlook of Ireland's political parties.

All are on common ground in pushing for more industries and in seeking to incorporate the six northern counties which are part of the United Kingdom.

One-Man Jury to Direct Probe of Detroit Police

Judge O'Hara Takes Job of Ferreting Out Alleged Graft

DETROIT (AP)—A hastily ordered one-man grand jury took over an investigation of suspected gambling graft in Detroit's Police Department today.

Hard upon the suspension of 13 officers, the investigative job was turned over by the Recorder's Court bench to a freshman jurist, newly elected Judge John P. O'Hara.

Judge O'Hara, in office only since Jan. 1, undertook a task of exploring official charges that the 13 officers "openly condoned" commercialized gambling and that some actually participated in numbers rackets.

The charges were brought yesterday by Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien. The officers' suspensions followed immediately.

Indictments may come. It was rumored that more than 50 policemen ultimately might be involved.

The officers' suspensions followed secret raids on three gambling establishments which police said were run by notorious numbers racket operators.

Payouts to some officers were alleged. No sums were named. At the same time all the suspended men denied wrongdoing.

This was the first charge of scandal in Detroit's 4,000-man Police Department since the 1933 corruption exposure which shook the city.

A one-man grand jury investigation by the state judge and present U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) led at that time to prison terms for the late Mayor Richard Reading and numerous other public officials and policemen.

The present allegations, however, do not indicate a scandal of any such extent. Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard said this is a "limited investigation."

He indicated it did not compare with the 1933 probe.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo, meanwhile, said the Police Department has movies of some of the accused men taking money from suspected numbers operators in the area around the Woodward Police Precinct.

Judge O'Hara was named as the one-man grand jury by nine criminal judges who had listened to reports by O'Brien and Leonard.

"I understand it is a laborious task," said O'Hara, who has never had grand jury experience, "but the judges elected me to do it. Whether it is laborious or not, it is my responsibility."

Leonard, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, said a grand jury probe "is needed to clear the names of the honest men" in the department, which numbers a force of 4,222.

O'Hara said he expects to hear his first witnesses early next week. The suspensions followed five months of inquiry and raids Monday on three houses, in which 28 men were arrested on gambling conspiracy charges.

Tests Complete for 3 New Wells

Willman Proposes That $90,000 Construction Be Started Now

All tests for water near Silver Lake have been completed and three wells to produce about 2,700,000 gallons daily can now be constructed for approximately $90,000, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Willman recommended last night to Pontiac City Commission that construction be started right away to get the wells into operation before summer's peak demand.

Willman said the three wells should increase Pontiac's water supply about 15 per cent. More wells might be built in the area later, he stated.

Commissioners instructed Willman to report next week on the contract for construction of the wells.

At present, the city has 19 wells which have produced up to 22,000,000 gallons per day. An extensive reconditioning program on existing wells may increase their capacity about 2,000,000 gallons daily, according to Willman.

After Attack on Dien Bien Phu French Fly In Paratroopers to Help Besieged Garrison

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—The French High Command disclosed today an entire battalion of 800 paratroopers had jumped through a torrent of Communist anti-aircraft shells to reinforce besieged Dien Bien Phu.

Reinforcements for the hard-pressed French garrison landed on the fortress' shell-pitted airstrip Tuesday and hurried to the safety of earthen bunkers and underground passages.

French officers said the successful mass jump had returned the garrison's strength to 10,000—the number of able-bodied men on duty there before the Reds opened their attack Saturday.

The Communists intensified their anti-aircraft operations this morning, however, and no attempt was made to land additional troops.

A few French pilots flew low over defense lines and dropped blood serum to wounded defenders of the garrison.

The paratroopers were flown to the battered fortress 180 miles west of Hanoi in "anything that could fly," from U. S.-built transport planes to requisitioned civilian airliners.

Military circles said they left from bases all over the French-controlled Red River delta.

At the exact moment that the paratroopers jumped, the French artillery opened up with heavy barrages against Vietnamese anti-aircraft emplacements in surrounding hills overlooking the bowl-shaped fortress area.

Chinese-trained gunners manning rapid-firing cannon and heavy machine guns tried vainly to knock the transports out of the sky and pick off the men floating earthward.

The transport flew in over the southern defense of Dien Bien Phu at a rate of one every 15 minutes in order to minimize the risk from the Vietnamese cannoners.

Defeat to Spur Petition Drive for Fall Ballot

Opponents Charge Bill Legalizes Other Types; Organization 'Mad'

LANSING (AP)—The fight to legalize charity bingo in Michigan is not dead—even though the state Senate has killed one phase of it.

The Senate yesterday buried in committee a proposal to submit to the voters next fall a constitutional amendment to legalize charity bingo and lotteries conducted by non-profit charitable, religious, benevolent and fraternal organizations. The vote was 15-16. Twenty-two votes were needed for passage.

But Charles R. McLean of Lansing, counsel for the Michigan Association of Non-Profit Charitable Organizations, said the Senate defeat would spur the organization's petition drive to put the issue on the November ballot.

"This has made our people mad," McLean said. "They felt they were entitled to have the legislature put this on the ballot and let the people decide."

"They feel that if some big corporation had asked for this there would have been no question about it, but when it's just the common people who want it they get no consideration."

McLean said the organization, chief sponsor of the campaign to legalize bingo, already has 100,000 of the 287,000 signatures needed to put the issue on the ballot. He said the group was aiming at 500,000 signatures.

Nine hundred firemen in Detroit went out and got 30,000 signatures in two nights," McLean said, "so I don't think we'll have trouble getting all we need."

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Farmington) spiked the measure in the Senate with a charge that it would legalize many types of gambling besides harmless neighborhood bingo games.

As written, the proposal might legalize slot machines, he said.

Hutchinson declared he opposed giving the voters a chance to pass on the question because they have been completely "misled" into thinking it concerns only harmless bingo.

He objected to the argument that the people generally favor bingo because New Jersey voters last year legalized the game by a 4-1 vote.

The question submitted in New Jersey, he said, specifically (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Pontiac Boy, 15, Is Shot in Chest

Playmate Being Held After Firing .22 Rifle in Argument

A Pontiac boy shot and seriously wounded a 15-year-old playmate last night during an argument that grew out of a neighborhood basketball game.

The victim, John Engleman, 15, of 83 Osburn St., is reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with a chest wound.

His 15-year-old assailant is being held in Oakland County Children's Home for investigation.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said Engleman was shot about 9:15 p.m. in the stairway of the other youth's home after a street basketball game at Park Pl. and O'Riley St.

Ziem quoted the youthful assailant as saying that Engleman had bullied him for three or four months and hit him in the face with the basketball last night.

The youth claimed Engleman was mad at him for leaving the game, and followed him home.

Ziem quoted the youth as saying he meant to shoot Engleman in the legs with his .22 caliber rifle. Ziem took a statement from the youth last night and today is questioning the youths' companions.

State Pays More for Road Lands

Williams Says County Gets Footage in Detroit for Less Money

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams charged today that it cost a lot more to have the State Highway Department buy rights-of-way for Detroit expressways than it did for similar purchases by the Wayne County Road Commission.

He released a preliminary analysis of the Highway Department's report of land acquisitions for the Edsel Ford and John C. Lodge Expressway projects in Detroit.

Williams demanded the report after scandal erupted in the Highway Department's handling of Western Michigan right-of-way purchases.

The governor said the analysis showed the Highway Department paid $1,350,000 in excess of the highest appraisals to buy right-of-way for the Ford Expressway while the County Road Commission paid $340,000 less than the highest appraisals to buy land for the comparable Lodge Expressway.

He said the Highway Department bought the land for the Ford Expressway itself while the Wayne County Road Commission bought the land for the Lodge Expressway on behalf of the state.

"On the face of these figures," Williams said, "it would appear that it cost the taxpayers a lot more money to have the state buy these rights-of-way than it did when the purchases were made by the County Road Commission."

Teachers in Birmingham Seek $400 Pay Hike Next Year to Start New Plan

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Teachers of Birmingham presented the Board of Education last night with a request for a $400 pay hike next year, as a start in increasing the salary schedule.

They sought a boost in the minimum and maximum for teachers with a bachelor's degree from the present $3,350 — $4,850 to $3,600 — $5,100. For those holding master's degrees, the requested increase was from $3,350 — $5,150 to $3,650 — $5,350.

Also sought is a change in the annual pay raise, from $100 a year, reaching the maximum in 16 years, to $200 a year, reaching the salary peak in 11 years.

In a 20-minute presentation to the school board, it was reported by the teachers that Birmingham's current minimum salary ranks ninth out of 14 communities in the area, and the maximum ranks 12th among the 14.

A suggestion was voiced by the teachers that residents of the school district would approve a special millage earmarked to improve teachers' salaries, to maintain a sound education system.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland said the increase would cost, as a rough estimate, $350,000, and with a boost of non-teaching salaries at the same time, the increase would approximate $500,000.

BIRMINGHAM — Details of a parking zoning classification to allow rezoning of residential property to parking where the property abuts or is across the street from a business district, were worked out by Planning Board members last night.

DETROIT — The first wife of Jack Benny's new son-in-law has been accused of trying to extract money from him through the courts and newspapers.

His lawyer, Harold S. Lazar, told State Supreme Court Justice Morris Eder that Joan Scott Baker brought the action "because she wants to use the newspapers to exact a sum of money from him."

Lazar asked that reporters be barred and papers in the case be impounded. He continued:

"One reason we seek to seal these papers is that Joan Benny is an innocent party in this matter. She may be injured by the publicity. Mr. Baker is a stock broker and he can be damaged also."

Tax Cut Proposal Is Now Before House

Democratic spokesman in the Senate on tax matters, and Rep. Jere Cooper of Tennessee, senior Democratic on the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee.

They argued that the Republican tax program would give the greatest tax relief to six families in every thousand. These six families, the Democrats said, are those who receive large incomes from dividends.

Rayburn said in six years the GOP program would mean the "top 30 per cent of taxpayers will get six times as much tax relief as the lower 70 per cent."

Mr. Eisenhower called the Democratic tax cut plan election-year politics but Rayburn said it is "fair to all the taxpayers" and George said it would boost consumer purchasing power.

Cooper said the administration plan is "only the beginning" of special relief for "the few shareholders in America."

Lazar asked that reporters be barred and papers in the case be impounded. He continued:

"One reason we seek to seal these papers is that Joan Benny is an innocent party in this matter. She may be injured by the publicity. Mr. Baker is a stock broker and he can be damaged also."

Eder turned him down, saying: "I am a firm believer in hearing matters in open court, unless there is something that will injure public morals. . . . There is nothing here to arouse public prejudice."

Joan Scott Baker's lawyer, David J. Landau, denied any shakedown attempt and added: "There is nothing lascivious or scandalous about this matter."

Landau said his client, a blonde model, married Baker in Florence, S. C., July 19, 1951, while he was an Army private. They kept the wedding secret from his family, Landau said.

When Baker's father found out about the marriage, Landau continued, he put economic pressure on his son and a Virgin Islands divorce was obtained Jan. 13, 1953.

However, Landau continued, the two lived together for nearly 12 months after the divorce or shortly before Baker met Miss Benny on New Year's Day, 1954.

Hearing Complaints on Property Taxes
Complaints on personal property assessments are now being considered by Pontiac's Board of Tax Review during the final week of the group's annual session, according to James F. Spence, chairman.

Individuals have been informed of their assessments by letter, said Spence, and may come to the City Hall Annex, 35 Hill St., to meet with the board.

In the past two weeks complaints from persons claiming inability to pay taxes and assessments on real estate were considered.

Hearing Set Tuesday for Robbery Suspect
Russell S. Courtney, 31, of 1765 Woodward Heights, Ferndale, demanded examination on an armed robbery charge yesterday when he appeared before Berkley Judge Ralph F. Finley.

Courtney, unable to post a $10,000 bond, was ordered held in Oakland County Jail pending the hearing Tuesday.

Courtney is accused of the March 10 robbery of a supermarket in Huntington Woods. Police said $4,080 was taken in the holdup.

Twins Mark 87 Years
GRAND RAPIDS — Mrs. Agatha Lynch and her twin sister Miss Agnes Noel, who never have lived more than a few miles apart despite marriage for Mrs. Lynch and a school teaching career for Miss Noel, celebrated their 87th birthday in Grand Rapids Tuesday. They were born on a farm near Grandville.

Tax Study Institute Names Pontiac Man

Louis H. Schimmel, Pontiac Board of Education member and director of Michigan Municipal Advisory Council, has been named to Princeton University's National Tax Institute.

The institute's 50 key men in business, government and research meet four times a year to discuss ways to give taxpayers more services for their tax dollars.

This year's meeting topics include financing of public schools, highways, state financing problems and paying for "metropolitan centers," in which a number of cities or townships join together to give a service, such as water, sewers or garbage collection, over a wide area.

Sergeant's Death Confirmed by Army
Mrs. Deloris Hendrick, former Pontiac resident living in Owosso, received U. S. Army confirmation Monday of the death of her husband, Sgt. I. C. Hazen F. Hendrick.

A repatriated soldier who was in the same prison camp with Sgt. Hendrick had told Mrs. Hendrick earlier that her husband had died of malnutrition June 18, 1951.

He was captured by the Reds while serving with the 38th Infantry Division in February 1951.

Sgt. Hendrick saw four years of service during World War II and was recalled to active duty Nov. 26, 1950.

Surviving besides the widow are a son, Hazen Michael at home, and his father, Hazen F. of Durand.

Tax Assessors Pick 1st Officers

Lathrup Man Named Chairman Pro Tem of New County Group

A new Oakland County Assessing Officers Assn. chose Leonard Watchowski of Lathrup Village as temporary chairman at its first meeting Tuesday night.

Watchowski is administrator of the newly formed City of Lathrup Village. George Kostishak, Oak Park city assessor, was named secretary.

The association will elect permanent officers at an organizational meeting April 21 at 6:30 p. m. in Hotel Waldron.

Open to all tax officers interested in assessing property, the new organization hopes to map out a plan whereby all homes, businesses, lands and other property in the county will be assessed by the same methods.

The association named two committees Tuesday. By-laws committee chairman is Cyril Miller, Avon township supervisor, with Theodore Sage, county equalization statistician and Frank Voll, Oakland township supervisor, as committeemen.

Theodore Koella, Sylvan Lake city assessor, is program committee chairman with Merle St. Amour, Berkley assessor; Kostishak and Ed Bloie, Pontiac's deputy city assessor, as committeemen.

ly applied to bingo, defined bingo games carefully and provided for local option. The Michigan proposal, he said, legalizes all types of lotteries on the legal theory that bingo is a lottery.

Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman), the sponsor, said the constitutional ban on lotteries was never intended to apply to bingo. That, he said, came in 1944 under a Supreme Court decision defining bingo as a lottery.

Declaring he was opposed to commercialized gambling, Andrews said there is not enough profit in bingo for commercial operators to bother with it.

Extensive tests by doctors show that Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound or Tablets stop or amazingly relieve periodic discomfort in 3 out of 4 cases. Most amazing, you can enjoy such blessed relief without resorting to pain-deadening drugs. So if you have been suffering pain, headache, mental upset during your period, start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound or Tablets, with added iron. Every day of the year may be a happy one for you.

And Pinkham's is wonderful for functional "hot flashes" and other distress that older women so often suffer during change of life.

Wife Asks Minister's Help and Finds God With Him

By CATHERINE CLARK
Housewife of Oklahoma City
Our new car was like a dream come true. My husband and I had planned on it for so long. Like two kids with a Christmas toy, we inspected every detail—trying out the windshield wipers, tuning in the radio, opening the glove compartment.

Catherine Clark The following weekend, Clark (everyone calls him by his last name) was to drive down and pick me up in our new car.

I shall never forget how my husband looked, when we drove away, as he turned and waved goodbye.

During the five wonderful years of our marriage, we had a pet habit of silently forming the words, "I love you," with our lips. It was a little secret game we played over the heads of our friends at parties or wherever we might be. The one who said it first won the game for that time.

Now, as Clark turned and waved, he beat me at our game.

My week's visit at my sister's home was darkened by a strange fear I could not explain. I was glad when the weekend arrived and I looked forward to my husband.

On Friday night, we sat on my sister's front lawn, waiting. Hours passed. I grew nervously impatient and my eyes were glued to the direction I knew our car would approach—but it never came.

At midnight, feeling some business must have detained him, we all went to bed. I stretched out fully dressed and finally fell asleep. The piercing ring of the telephone woke me at five.

"Long distance is calling..." During the moments that followed tears and words were mixed together; facts jumbled. Then we threw suitcases into my sister's car, and to the steady drone of wheels I tried to piece the story together.

A head-on collision at early dusk. Two killed. Four seriously injured. Some of these might not live—one not more than two hours at the most. And that one was my husband.

I closed my eyes and prayed. The doctors did not want me to see my husband, but they could not stop me.

I looked at him once, then kept staring at his ring. It was the only way I could recognize him. He was so smashed up. Then I reached out to him, but the nurse held me back.

"You mustn't touch him," she said. "The pain will be too much."

I sank slowly into the chair, suddenly realizing that there had been others in the accident. Where were they? How badly were they hurt? Did they look like this? And what about the driver of the other car?

Later I learned about him. My husband and friends had been at a business conference, and returning home in the evening twilight hour they rounded a curve in the highway and saw a car bearing down, on the wrong side of the road.

A man had driven too far. A good man, but a tired one. He had fallen asleep at the wheel.

I wanted to hate him. I wanted to rush to him and demand: "Do you know what you've done to us—all of us? Why didn't you stop when you knew you were so tired?"

Yet something kept reminding me of my own life: the times we had hurried, the times we were tired on the road when, by the grace of God, we escaped being the guilty ones. We had always been lucky.

None of us were bad people, just thoughtless people—sure of our driving, sure of our cars, sure of everything... until we were struck down.

The painful days ebbed away. My mother-in-law and I had taken a room in the nearby home of a minister and his wife. They were wonderful people, and though we were of different faiths, I knew he was praying for my husband.

One afternoon Clark suddenly took a turn for the worse. It was evident that he was dying. His mother and I faced each other across his bed. I asked her if she wanted me to get a minister and she said yes.

I hurried down the street to the minister we knew and, in silence, the two of us ran back to the hospital. Quietly he took my husband's hand and knelt beside his bed.

Something then happened in that small hospital room which is beyond understanding. Although the door was closed, it seemed suddenly that light was coming through it. The brightness pierced my closed eyes so strongly that I opened them and looked around, sensing the nearness of someone else in the room. I stepped to Clark and took his hand. It was growing warmer.

We are home now and my husband is well. I never met the man who caused the accident, but I think of him often. Not with bitterness, for I am too grateful that, despite our great physical, emotional and financial adjustments, once again my husband and I can sit in crowded rooms and play our secret game of "I love you."

Feeling a personal responsibility to do something about the heartaches from traffic accidents that paralyze new families every day, I sat down alone at my desk one night three years ago, and from my heart composed "A Driver's Prayer."

Dear Lord—before I take my place Today behind the wheel, Please let me come with humble heart Before Thy throne to kneel— And pray that I am fit to drive. Each busy thoroughfare, And that I keep a watchful eye. Let some small child be there. And keep me thinking constantly About the Golden Rule When driving past the playground zone. Or by some busy school Then when I stop to give someone His right to cross the street. Let me—my brother's keeper be— And spare a life that's sweet. Please make me feel this car I drive You gave me to enjoy. And that its purpose is to serve Man-kind—but not destroy. I AM SO THANKFUL THAT I TRIED O-JIB-WA BITTERS

Although I had read many wonderful testimonials by O-Jib-Wa users, I was still doubtful if it would help me. I was pleasantly surprised says Mrs. Annie Hamilton, 5354 Vienna Road, Ohio, Michigan.

"I would like to tell all who suffer from rheumatism or arthritis what O-JIB-WA BITTERS has done for me. My rheumatism caused me such great pain that I could hardly breathe. There were times I could not raise my hands to wash my face and to talk or turn my head brought dreadful suffering. If I sat down, I had to pull myself up by the chair or table and even lifting a kettle brought such awful pains in my hands that I would almost drop it. I could barely get in or out of bed and then I couldn't turn over. I had to take sleeping pills to get any sleep at all, and besides all this I was very nervous and had little appetite. Frankly, I thought I was doomed to suffer forever. I tried taking vitamins and they helped a little, but the pains always returned. I kept getting worse until one day I went into a drug store and bought a small bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I had read many wonderful testimonials by its users, but doubted if it would help me. The first bottle I did not help me much, but I knew I should give it a fair trial, so I tried another one. By the time it was half gone, the pains were so slight I hardly noticed them, and I was really surprised and happy. At last, I was free from pain and I've had no pains since. I'm not so nervous any more either and really sleep good. My friends are all amazed to see how well I am. I'M SO THANKFUL THAT I GAVE O-JIB-WA BITTERS A TRIAL."

Man Wants Too Much: Actress as Well as Cook

By BILLY ROSE

They're telling a sad little story around Broadway these days. It's about a businessman whose greatest ambition was to marry an actress. It goes like this:

For the past few years, Oscar Havemeyer, a good-looking gent in a balding sort of way, has been buying an occasional "unit" in this and that theatrical production. (A "unit" is one-fiftieth of the cost of producing a show.)

Oscar, it seems BILLY ROSE made these investments because (a) he could deduct the losses from his income tax, and (b) actresses fascinated him and he figured that somewhere along the line he would meet one who would be fascinated by him...

Well, early this season Oscar bought a small interest in a medium-size drama which featured an attractive girl who had given a good account of herself in summer stock at Cape Cod.

The actress, according to all accounts, intrigued the businessman so much that, for the first time, he began to think seriously about popping the big question instead of the usual small ones.

However, as a man of standing in the textile business, Havemeyer was understandably cautious in his selection of the lady who would grace his name and table. Yes, for emotional reasons, she had to be an actress, but for down-to-earth reasons she, at one and the same time, also had to be a "woman" and a "person." ... A few days after rehearsals started, Oscar was satisfied that his actress was every millimeter a "woman."

He discovered this when he asked her to dine with him at the Colony and the girl countered with the proposal that they go to her flat and she would rustle him up some pork chops.

That she was a "person" of dimensions, Oscar learned the night the show opened in Philadelphia. In the final scene of Act Two, the script called for the actress to fire a revolver at the Rumanian count who had been blackmailing her mother.

It so happened that the property man had forgotten to load the gun, and when the girl pulled the trigger nothing happened.

Instead of getting flustered, she turned to the audience, winked and said, "Bang! Bang!" And thanks to her good humor, the curtain dropped to more applause than even the author had dared hope for.

If this didn't prove that his intended was a real "person," so Oscar told himself, nothing would. During the Philadelphia tryout, the textile man had dinner with the actress every night, and by the time the play came to New York he was so impressed that he had actually picked out a wedding ring.

Of course, he hadn't as yet proposed marriage for he knew how emotional a woman might get under such circumstances, and he was too theater-wise to jolt her nervous system just before her all-important Broadway debut...

And Not for Irish Colleens Only

Wearin' of the Green Is High Fashion

NEW YORK (INS) — Any woman who is wearin' the green today is not only Irish inclined — she's high fashion!

The news from style circles says that green is going to be the hot color of the spring season. (Technically, it's a cool color, but business-wise, it's hot).

The greens which will be promoted in almost every store in the country by April's end range from pale shades of yellow-green for evening to the deeper hues for daytime.

The gay Kelly greens do not figure much in the fashion picture, but almost every other shade of nature and the loom does. For sportswear, the overall favorite will be a green-tinged khaki shade — sort of olive drab — which is slow to show soil.

For dressier daytime wear, experts recommend the medium-to-deep shades of avocado, pine and forest greens. Also the grayish and bluish tones.

The newest silk and cotton prints in the high-fashion salons follow through with the theme.

They're green and yellow, green and, most striking of all, green combined with blue.

Coming Events

Better Home and Garden Club will meet Thursday at 1 p. m. in the YWCA on Franklin boulevard. The executive board meeting will be at 12:45.

Anna Gordon WCTU will meet Thursday at 1:30 p. m. in First Baptist Church.

Group Four, OSM, will meet Thursday at 12:30 in the Masonic Temple on East Lawrence street.

Excellent Musicianship Pleases Audience

Enthusiasm Greet City Symphony

By DORA DAWSON

Genuine enthusiasm greeted the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra at its concert in Lincoln Junior High School Tuesday evening.

A near capacity audience was there, many hoping that the orchestra might become a permanent Pontiac institution, and many were surprised at the excellence of its work in the time it has been established.

Many things enter into the success of such an organization and the choice of Francesco DiBlasi as conductor has been a splendid one.

Out of his thorough training, experience, and innate feeling for interpretation, he imparts confidence to the orchestra members and draws from them their best in ability, resulting in interpretations that are masterly.

Mr. DiBlasi conducts without score, so that his entire thought is given to bringing out details of melody, quality of tone and composition.

The program opened with a Rossini overture, not as familiar as many of his, but containing his usual energy and melodic sense.

In it was used an unusual feature, the rhythmic tapping of the bows of the second violins on their music, at certain intervals, for dramatic effect. At the close of the program, due to the insistence of the applause, this number was repeated as an encore.

The Prague Symphony by Mozart, in four movements, was well done. Especially notable was the unity of the strings in the different sections, coming out as one voice and indicative of excellent musicianship. Mozart keeps musicians busy, and the contrasts between the movements were well developed.

The immortal melodies of Grieg, heard in "Song of Norway," were delightful.

Probably the most difficult number of the evening was Debussy's "Clouds" in which he expresses his great love of nature in new sound combinations that are characteristic of his compositions.

There is a weaving of tone color, similar to the use of color by a painter, suggestive and impressive.

Sensitivity to Criticism Built Up by Extreme Condemnation in the Past

To quote Mainbocher — "I do not consider dressmaking an art, but it is as important as cooking or living."

Young Careerists Usually Sensible

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It is fashionable nowadays to claim that the young people entering business are spoiled weaklings.

"They won't work," people tell me. "They expect everything to drop in their laps."

Yet my experience has been that many of today's young people are more mature, more sensible and more realistic than my contemporaries ever were.

True, they haven't had a depression to cope with as we did. But they've been brought up during two wars, with great uncertainty in their lives, and many of them have developed an admirable inner security.

Take Mary G., for example. Here's what she wrote me:

"I have just got my first job, and I like it very much. I am taking a course at night which will help me know more about my field and my particular job."

"But I know that there's more to advancement than that. I am most anxious to succeed, and I wonder if you can recommend a book that might help me get the right approach and keep me from making any grave mistakes this early in the game."

"I don't know about you, but my mind wasn't working that way when I was 21!"

My advice to Mary G., and to all young people anxious to succeed, is to take a look at a book called "How Am I Doing?"

In it, you find out how to make a long-range plan for yourself, a personal training program, so to speak. There is a self-rating and appraisal chart, which may keep you from self-delusion and the tendency to get into a rut.

The chapters I liked particularly were the ones on "Blueprinting Your Future," "The Boss and I," "Dynamics of Achievement," and "Maturity, Prosperity, Security."

By intelligently planning your course, and by checking periodically to see how you're doing, you can eliminate the element of "luck" and make of your job, and therefore of your life, exactly what you want it to be.

Make an Apron of Terry Cloth

NEW YORK (INS)—Towels are the latest thing the well-dressed woman will wear around the kitchen. Not as sarongs—just as a way of having a handwiper around at all times.

Absorbent terry cloth is better for wiping hands than dish towels, and by making one into an apron, it'll be there whenever needed. Just gather a bath towel and stitch.

Or sew a large curtain ring to the waist of your present apron, and drape a towel through it.

Easter Fashions Bow to Weather

A new look for children's wear fashions in spring, is a result of uncertain Easter weather of past seasons. Everyone talks about the weather, but this season, the young fashion markets are doing something about it.

"Suit weather" Eaters have been few and far between in most parts of the country, leading people to plan Easter wardrobes that can double for chilly or warm days. The long coat, the more-than-one season dress and the lightweight separates suit for under-coat wear are the direct reflections of spring weather worries.

Putting Wax on Floors Takes Skill

By HUBBARD COBB

You'd think that the average person could wax a floor properly if he or she put his or her mind to it, but apparently this is not the case.

There is more to waxing a floor the right way than meets the eye and if you don't believe us, just read on.

Get rid of all the old soiled and worn wax with a solvent. Use a cloth or a long handled wax applicator to apply a thin coat of paste or liquid wax over the entire surface. Now go off and let the wax dry.

This takes 30 minutes or so. It's very important that the wax not be damp when you start the polishing operation, for if it is, the polisher will pick it up from the floor and this is not what is supposed to happen.

An electric polisher is best for the polishing operation and if you don't own one, you can rent one from a hardware store, flooring store or paint store. They cost only a dollar or so per day and one day should do the trick nicely. Run the polisher across the floor in the same direction as the wood grain. You don't have to apply pressure to the polisher because weight in this polishing operation is not important.

Just keep the polisher moving because if you hold it in one spot too long the brush on the polisher will remove all the wax from this area.

You won't have to worry which area has been polished and which hasn't, the polished area will be nice and bright while the unpolished will be on the dull side.

Registration Deadline Nears

Farmington Residents Must Enroll by Friday for School Bond Vote

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Local residents have until Friday night to register for the special school bond issue election March 29.

The proposed bond issue would increase the present tax rate of $52.40 per $1,000 assessed valuation by $3.25 for the year 1954-55 and by $9 for years 1956 through 1973.

Registration may be made with city or township clerks from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. today, tomorrow and Friday. The special election will be held on the 29th in the high school gym on Thomas street, with the same hours as registration in effect.

Under the proposal, 40 elementary and four high school classrooms along with a gymnasium-auditorium, would be constructed.

According to the Board of Education, the need is especially urgent for a 14- to 16-room elementary school in the Middlebelt-Northwestern Highway area, a similar school in the William Grace School area and a 10-room school below the Grand River Cut-off.

It has been announced that half-day sessions will go into effect for some elementary classes next fall and it is expected the number will increase if the proposal fails to pass.

NEW JUNIOR HIGH HONORS EARLY STATE EDUCATOR—Steel for the new Waterford Township Isaac E. Cray Junior High School is being placed this week. Located on M59, the new school is scheduled for September completion. Named in honor of the man who instituted the Department

Two New Waterford Schools Named for Founders of State School System

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Back in the 1830s Isaac E. Cray and John D. Pierce were considered men of great vision in the newly founded state of Michigan.

But these two men, reported to have sat on a log just north of Marshall and discussed the formation of a public school system for the new state, never dreamed that some day Waterford Township school district would name two junior high schools in their honor.

Steel is already on its way up for the Isaac E. Cray Junior High on M59. Completion date for this new school is scheduled for around September in time for school opening.

Naming a school presented a problem to the Waterford Board of Education. They considered prominent local names, but Mrs. Donald Adams, well known Michigan historian who resides in Waterford Township, came up with the names of Cray and Pierce.

John D. Pierce, whose name will be given to the second junior high school to be built sometime in the future in Waterford, was Michigan's first state superintendent of public instruction.

However, this post was created as part of early Michigan government because Cray, a representative from this state to Washington had made a thorough study of education. He believed it was one of the most important functions in the organization of democratic government.

Cray suggested Pierce, an intellimate friend, for the head of the education department.

Michigan, the first state in the nation to appoint a superintendent of public instruction, was acclaimed by neighboring states to be the "educating state."

Pierce, in one of his own records, said "General Cray, a warm friend of education, and I discussed the condition and prospects of our new state and especially schools of various grades, from the highest to the lowest."

"Sitting one afternoon upon a log near Marshall, we decided that education was one of the fundamental principles for the state convention to adopt in founding this government."

Continuing, Pierce records that education was thought, should be a distinct branch of the government and that the constitution should provide for an officer who should have this whole matter in charge, keeping it perpetually before the public mind.

Special ceremonies will be staged by the Waterford Board of Education for its community when the Isaac E. Cray school is completed.

WASHINGTON (INS) — While federal farm planners work feverishly to develop a dairy disposal plan by April 1, government stocks of butter, cheese and dried milk continue to accumulate.

The Agriculture Department reports that the government purchased 34 million pounds of butter; more than 33 million pounds of cheddar cheese, and 55 and one-third million pounds of dried milk during February.

The amounts of cheese and dried milk purchased last month were considerably above those bought under the price support program in February, 1953. Less butter was taken over this February than last.

Dairymen now are rushing to get their products into government hands at 90 per cent of parity price supports before the support level is dropped to 75 per cent on April 1.

Also attending with their wives will be President Rod Wiley, past President Ray Van Wagoner and the Rev. William Hamm.

City OKs Refund on Sewer Jobs

Taxpayers Will Benefit From Low Bid by Action of Commissioners

ROYAL OAK—City commissioners here Monday reversed an established policy of charging property owners for sewer projects on a city-wide special assessment basis to allow the property owners to benefit from the low bid of a contractor.

The Commission by a four to three vote authorized a refund to property owners amounting to 50 cents per front foot on three sewer projects in the northeast section of the city.

Bids on the three projects were less than costs estimated by the engineering department, bringing a savings of $27,700.

City Manager E. M. Shafter pointed out that a policy of assessing property owners $3.30 per front foot had been established, and that the assessments conformed with figures of the engineering department.

Also Monday, the Commission considered inadequate the pensions of six city employees who were retired before May of 1943 and adopted a resolution raising their pensions to 75 per month effective June 1 of this year.

The terms of service of the six employees whose pensions come under the Employees Retirement Ordinance adopted in 1943 varied from 15 to 34 years. Their ages range from 68 to 84 and their pensions at present range from $12.36 to $36.85 per month.

Commissioners said that the increase will be in closer conformity to benefits the employees would have received under the present provisions of the ordinance.

On the auditorium stage several of the troops gave demonstrations and supplied entertainment for the capacity crowd.

Following the circus a court of honor was held with 82 Scouts being promoted and 39 receiving merit badges.

Among those honored was Dick Harrison of Troop 32 who was promoted to life rank.

Holly Council to Conduct Recount of March 8 Votes

HOLLY — The sizzling spring election issue here may simmer down by Friday night when the Holly Village Council will sit as a board of canvassers to conduct a recount of ballots cast March 8.

Crux of the controversy is the village president's seat. In the official tabulation, incumbent President Clare W. Lake edged sticker candidate Worth Hitchcock by a four-vote margin. Lake polled 219 and Hitchcock 215.

Following the election last week, Hitchcock's attorney, Robert A. McKenny of Holly, filed a petition with the Village Council listing four specific charges concerning the election. He alleged:

- 1) That 29 ballots were not accounted for;
- 2) That ballots properly cast for Hitchcock were mistakenly disregarded by election officials "under the erroneous belief that said ballots had not been marked... or were improperly marked";
- 3) That by reason of the closeness of the final count "any slight error in counting would mean a possible change in the outcome of the election"; and,
- 4) That election commissioners and inspectors were improperly appointed and ballots were not printed and delivered to the village clerk at least 10 days before the election, as required by law.

The Board of Election Inspectors told the Pontiac Press last night that its rulings were made according to the Manual of Instructions for Election Officials, issued by the Secretary of State's office in 1952.

Board members quoted the manual as saying an "X" must be placed in the square next to the name of a sticker candidate.

McKenny points to an opinion of the Michigan Attorney-General last year, which he quoted as saying, "when only one name appears on a ballot, it is not necessary for the space next to the sticker to be marked."

Councilman Philip Jackson last night answered that failure to account for 29 ballots could possibly be due "to the fact that split tickets not voted for either candidate for village president were not counted. That could account for the

Tax Is 68c on Dollar, Reports U.S. Steel

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Steel Corp., breaking down the figures on its record 1953 business, says taxation took 68 cents of the dividend dollar.

The company's annual report yesterday said U.S. Steel paid 59 cents in federal taxes out of each dollar potentially available for dividends.

The report added that the remaining 41 cents, when paid out in dividends, was subjected on the average to a personal income tax of 21 per cent. This was equal to 9 cents, raising the taxation total to 68 cents.

U.S. Steel, the world's largest steelmaker, previously had reported that in 1953 it broke its own records for production, sales and shipments.
