Grand Trunk Moves Division Headquarters to Pontiac

Grand Trunk Western Railroad's largest operation — the Detroit Division — has moved its headquarters to Pontiac from Detroit.

Effective yesterday, the shift is aimed at improving over-all administration and service to Pontiac area shippers.

The new offices for the division will be in leased quarters in the Kay Building at 3½ S. Saginaw. Previously the offices for the division had been at Grand Trunk's Milwaukee Junction near Detroit's New Center Area.

A spokesman for the railroad said the relocation affects the division superintendent and nine employes who head up the operations of 2,800 employes, 400 of them in the Pontiac area.

DETROIT OPERATIONS

An assistant superintendent will continue to administer operations from the Milwaukee Junction office.

Grand Trunk does a major part of its business in Pontiac, serving more than 90 shippers, including three General Motors plants.

The Detroit Division, Grand Trunk's longest, covers 580 miles of track, with the largest portion between Detroit and Muskegon. Other lines on the division branch out from Pontiac to Jackson, Caseville and Richmond.

Also included on the division are lines from Detroit to Port Huron, Green to Ashley and Durand to Bay City.

The company said that its other unit, the Chicago Division, will remain in Battle Creek.

BARBRA STREISAND JACK ALBERTSON

'Oliver' Is Best Picture

Oscars Feature Tie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The second tie in the 41-year history of the Academy Awards gives Oscars to both Barbra Streisand of "Funny Girl" and Katharine Hepburn of "The Lion in Winter" and makes Miss Hepburn the first three-time winner.

Cliff Robertson in the role of the mentally retarded man whom doctors turn temporarily into a genius in "Charly" was named best actor of 1968 at last night's presentations.

"Oliver:," a musical spectacle based on Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," was voted the year's best picture. It won in five categories, including best-director laurels for Sir Carol Reed with his first musical.

For supporting performances, the honors went to Jack Albertson as the blustering father in "The Subject Was Roses" and Ruth Gordon as the meddling neighbor and part-time witch in "Rosemary's Baby."

LOOKED STUNNED

Ingrid Bergman, presenting the best-actress Oscar, looked stunned and unbelieving as she opened the envelope containing the winners' names and exclaimed: "It's a tie!"

A tie happened only once before, in 1932, when best-actor awards went to both Fredric March and Wallace Beery.

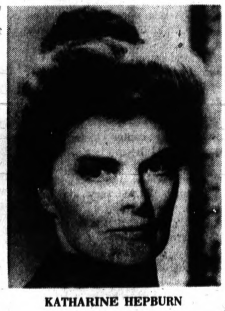

The Oscar for best song went to "The Windmills of Your Mind," from "The Thomas Crown Affair."

The Soviet Union's 6½-hour spectacular, "War and Peace," collected the award for best foreign-language film.

Martha Raye won the Jean Hersholt award "for great humanitarian service."

Motion on Sale of Airport Fails

A motion to consider the sale of the county-owned Oakland-Orion airport narrowly failed this morning on an 11-11 vote of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The motion to refer the airport matter to his planning, building and zoning committees for study was introduced by Chairman Niles Olson, D-Orion Township.

Olson cited estimated development costs of $40 million to $150 million in relation to other county needs as his reason for requesting a sale study.

The Federal Aviation Administration recently approved air space at the airport which, in effect, placed any development action back in county hands.

Olson's motion followed defeat of an attempt by Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, to prevent spending of current budget funds at the airport. O'Brien's resolution was considered not pertinent in view of county appropriation rules.

Reds Claim They Downed U.S. Spy Craft

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — A U.S. Navy spy plane with a crew of 31 was lost over the Sea of Japan today, and North Korea jubilantly claimed to have shot it down. President Nixon was awakened early to hear the bad news.

A broadcast by the North Korean Communist radio said the plane was downed at 1:50 p.m. Korean time (11:50 p.m. EST) after "infiltrating deep into the airspace of the republic." The Pentagon said the plane was missing and a massive search was under way.

The plane was identified by the Defense Department as an EC121. It is a four-engine, propeller-driven craft built for sophisticated intelligence gathering. It carries six tons of electronic equipment and requires a big crew to operate it.

The North Korean broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said the plane was downed "with a single shot at high altitude." There was speculation a missile was used, but a Pentagon spokesman later said the craft was 90 miles out to sea when last heard from. That is out of range of ground-to-air missiles.

ONE-SHOT THEORY

While the Communists did not explain the "single shot" claim, they have Soviet-built MIG21 jets carrying 30-millimeter cannon.

The MIG21s have two cannons each, firing shells more than an inch in diameter. One shot—or burst—from a single plane's cannon could have brought down the U. S. plane.

The Pentagon did not immediately confirm that the North Koreans shot down the huge electronics-packed aircraft but said only that a broad search was launched for the plane and its crew of 31 in the Sea of Japan.

At the Capitol, however, Vice Adm. J. B. Colwell, deputy chief of naval operations, called the incident "a clear case of international piracy and a breach of international law." He talked briefly with newsmen before going into a closed session of the House Armed Services Committee. He declined to give further details in public.

PLANE IN COMMUNICATION

At the Pentagon, Daniel Z. Henkin, the Defense Department's chief spokesman, dodged all questions on what may have happened but said "the aircraft was in communication with its base during its mission."

A large group of planes and ships concentrated a search for the plane and its crew in an area 95 miles southeast of Chiongjin, a North Korean seaport not far from the borders of Red China and Russia.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow passed on a request to the Soviets to help search for the plane. Vladivostok, the old Russian seaport, is about 250 miles north of the area where the search was under way.

President Nixon was awakened early by his national security adviser, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, to hear the news. The White House said Nixon was keeping in close touch with the situation.

ORDERS ABOUT COURSE

The Pentagon said the pilot of the missing plane was under orders not to come closer than 50 miles of the North Korean coast during its reconnaissance flight.

The U.S. spy ship Pueblo was said to have operated in that general area in the Sea of Japan before heading south along the North Korean coast prior to being captured by Communist gunboats in January 1968.

The North Korean broadcast said the plane "was reconnoitering after intruding deep into the territorial air of the northern half of the Republic" when it was shot down.

The broadcast did not reveal whether any of the crew survived or where the plane went down. The Pentagon said a list of crew members was being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

In the case of the Pueblo, 82 of the 83 members of the crew survived and were held prisoner for a year by the Communists. They were released last December.

To Launch Housing Project

Harambee Awaits Okay

Harambee, a black community development organization, was to be launched on its first large housing project today.

Up for approval tonight by the Pontiac City Commission is the purchase of 4.7 acres of city-owned land on which Harambee plans to build some 60 housing units at a projected cost of $1 million.

The land purchase, for $40,700, got unofficial approval of the commission last night. The land, formerly known as the Lake Street Yards, used by the Department of Public Works, has been advertised for bids during the last month. Harambee was the only bidder. The purchase amount equaled the appraised value of the land, city officials indicated.

The acreage is northeast of Lake and Orton streets and adjacent to the railroad tracks.

William E. Jackson, Harambee executive director, announced that a series of meetings had been held with involved citizens of the nearby southwest side and that basic planning had met with their approval.

Further consultation with citizens groups is planned to determine the family sizes and types of units appropriate for the development.

When plans and specifications have been approved by citizens groups, application for funds for the project will be made to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Jackson said.

Jackson said Harambee plans to begin construction this summer and have units open by next spring.

PLANS FOR PROJECT

Plans call for 30 per cent of the site space to be devoted to housing with provision for parking, green belts and small recreation areas. In addition, the proposal allows some additional parking space for the Lake Street Church of God.

Jackson said the management and maintenance of the units is to be done by a local private management company. Responsibility for selection of this company will rest with the local citizens mortgage corporation, he said.

Harambee, a West African word meaning "let us work together," was formed last spring primarily by black citizens. In its planning stages it was financed by metropolitan area organizations including the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority.

The organization plans to build various types of housing particularly in the city's south side neighborhoods. Harambee has been working closely with city planners on long-range proposals.

Area Showers Due to Leave Tonight

Showers are expected to diminish by evening, then leave Pontiac area skies partly cloudy through tonight.

Temperatures, dipping to a low of 50 to 55 tonight, will become warmer tomorrow, the high climbing to 65 to 70.

There's a chance of showers returning Thursday.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are 60 today, 30 tonight and 20 tomorrow. The temperature at 2 p.m. was 58.

Plan to Control Flooding in 2 Counties Is Approved

A plan to control flooding in Oakland and Macomb counties — particularly Clinton Township and Warren — was approved yesterday by Oakland and Macomb intercounty drain boards and the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Approval was given at a public hearing in Mount Clemens.

To be paid for by the counties, the State Highway Department and some 60 communities involved, the plan provides for better storm-water runoff along the Clinton River and the Red Run Drain.

Involved are improvements along an eight-mile section of the Clinton River and on the Red Run Drain from Stephenson Highway in Madison Heights to the Clinton River.

ONE PROJECT $16.6 MILLION

Several Lapeer and St. Clair County communities also are affected by the $16.6-million Clinton project. Cost of the Red Run improvements has not yet been estimated.

The costs should not be levied on Pontiac, Pleasant Ridge Almont, Avon and Brandon townships, representatives of those communities said.

They contended their cities would not benefit because of prior flood prevention plans.

Alger H. Strom, Pontiac deputy city attorney, said the city has spent millions to take care of its end of the Clinton River.

'DON'T CONSIDER US'

"We don't think we should even be considered for assessment," he said.

Following yesterday's hearing, the next step in pursuing the project is to develop engineering plans and to apportion costs among the various governmental units involved.

Drainage board members declined to estimate when work might begin.

More Details Provided on Nixon Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveiled today more details about budget cuts. The only agency to wind up with more money is the Justice Department.

Announcing new spending figures for each agency under a revised budget calculated to produce a $5.8 billion surplus in the fical year starting July 1, Nixon revealed that $1.1 billion of the $4 billion in reductions he is claiming come out of defense and military-aid programs.

Another $1 billion of the reductions was attributed to whittling down a plan of President Johnson — never transmitted to Congress but included in his January budget — to increase Social Security benefits.

Two departments with heavy responsibilities in dealing with social ills — Health, Education and Welfare and Housing and Urban Development — shared in the budget cuts. HUD spending estimates were cut by $74 million while HEW's forecast outlays, apart from Social Security, were reduced by $179 million.

Meanwhile, the domestic program that Nixon outlined in broad terms yesterday was drawing a predictable reaction in Congress. Republicans hailed the domestic outline as "significant" and "fundamental," while Democratic leaders said they would await specifics before taking a stand.

In the Senate, neither Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, nor whip Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts commented, and aides said they would have to wait for details.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen had no immediate comment.

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan hailed the message as "highly significant."

News in Brief

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Police Officers Association (DPOA) whose members are still incensed at recent actions of George W. Crockett Jr., yesterday began a campaign to remove the Recorder's Court judge from the bench.

The DPOA plan is to ask Michigan citizens to sign petitions asking the Senate and House of Representatives to adopt a concurrent resolution directing Gov. Milliken to remove Crockett from office for "gross misconduct . . . persistent failure to perform his duties . . . and conduct clearly prejudicial to the administration of justice."

'Lawmaker Hit Officer'

DETROIT (UPI) — Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., defied a police officer's traffic signals, then hit the officer with his car March 31 on the way to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's funeral, the Detroit Free Press said today.

In a story from its Washington bureau, the Free Press quoted police reports in the District of Columbia that said the congressman from East Lansing sped away from the scene of the accident and was stopped by a passerby.

Secret Viet Talks Seen

PARIS (UPI) — Secret talks between the South Vietnamese government and the Vietcong could begin early next month, a Saigon official close to the peace negotiations said today.

The official said Saigon's invitation for such talks had put pressure on the Vietcong to respond.

State Senators Won't Wait for House on School Aid Bill

LANSING (AP) — Citing failure of the House to act, the Senate Education Committee announced yesterday it would break a long-standing precedent and begin work on a state school aid bill.

"We'll hope to report out something Friday if the House Education Committee doesn't get out a bill before then," said Senate committee chairman Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo.

Rep. Lucille McCollough, D-Dearborn, chairman of the House committee, replied:

"We've been hearing that for the last week or so. We're working on the bill."

'BY END OF WEEK'

Mrs. McCollough added that the committee hoped to report out its own measure "soon, maybe by the end of the week."

"This is the eve of the first birthday of the signing of last year's school aid bill," Stamm said, "and there has been no effort yet to assure schools they will have figures soon.

"I don't think school districts can wait any longer."

The State Board of Education and other organizations have warned that any further delay in passage of the school aid bill would trigger teacher strikes this fall.

FEW STRIKES

This bill was passed relatively early last year and few teacher strikes were reported, the board noted recently. Once the school aid bill is signed into law, the board added, local districts know how much additional money they will receive for the coming school year.

This enables negotiations to proceed at a faster pace, the board added.

"By mid-May the districts have to file a budget to justify their real estate tax," Stamm continued. "Then they know if they need to ask for more money."

Stamm said the committee would work on the governor's school aid bill, which proposes an increase of $85 million over last year's allotments.

EXTRAS PLANNED

"We'll put in a few little extra things," Stamm said. "The inner city needs some extra money. We may rework it a little."

Gov. William Milliken has termed his proposed budget "sacrosanct" and called for immediate passage of his school aid plan.

At the same time, he promised to establish a blue-ribbon commission to study the state's education program and make recommendations to be implemented by the Legislature later this year.

House Planning 14-Hour Session

LANSING (AP) — The House today planned to conduct a marathon 14-hour session in an effort to process more than 1,000 bills.

The last minute flurry of activity came as the midnight deadline for bill introductions rapidly approached. Nearly every legislator reportedly had measures waiting to be introduced this session.

Majority floor leader George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, said House Clerk T. Thomas Thatcher would accept bills until the witching hour.

Although the House would be formally in session most of the day, many members were expected to remain off the floor during the time Thatcher read the long, long list of bills.

DEADLINE ADVANCE

Meanwhile, House members were expected to advance Friday's deadline for committee action on bills.

Under the present calendar, the 32 House committees have until Friday to review all bills and decide whether to report them to the floor.

Montgomery, however, predicted that the deadline would be extended in view of the heavy crush of bills expected to be introduced today.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow is predicted for tonight in parts of New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota. There will be rain in parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska and in a belt extending northwest from eastern Virginia to the Great Lakes. Clear to partly cloudy skies will prevail elsewhere.

PLEASE DON'T HURT — Karen Codd, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Codd, 3475 Whitfield, Waterford Township, couldn't care less at this point about the long-range benefits of a three-day measles inoculation. One of the first to undergo the needle in Oakland County's pilot program, she is a kindergartner at Schoolcraft School.

Teacher Hits Suspension for Trying to Aid Police

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Marlynn Marcks, 33-year-old Highland Park High School social studies teacher, says she has become a "sacrificial lamb" since supplying information to Detroit police concerning the New Bethel Baptist Church shooting.

Miss Marcks began a one-week suspension yesterday from her teaching duties. At a hearing next Monday, officials of the Highland Park school district will decide if she should be allowed to remain on the staff.

"I now understand the hesitancy of many citizens to come forward with information that may aid police, since I have personally effected the consequence of such an action," she said in a letter Sunday to Gov. William Milliken.

In the letter she asked the governor to investigate the suspension.

PROBE CONDUCTED

Paul H. Emerich, Highland Park superintendent of schools, said the suspension was made in order "to conduct a complete investigation and get all sides of the story."

"I dared to speak out because an injustice had been done," Miss Marcks said. "Because I dared to speak out I have become a sacrificial lamb."

The problem began when Miss Marcks said she received information about the March 29 fatal shooting of Patrolman Michael Czapski and the wounding of his partner at the New Bethel Church in Detroit. She said one of her students claimed to be at the church during the incident.

The student denied to authorities that she had any knowledge of the shooting or that she supplied information to Miss Marcks.

"My daughter denies Miss Marcks' statements," said the mother of the girl. "Any schoolteacher who deals with teenagers should realize that they do get carried away. When they do make statements, their validity should be checked before taking any action such as Miss Marcks did."

Meanwhile, a group of Highland Park citizens yesterday questioned "the future effectiveness in the Highland Park schools" of Miss Marcks in a letter to Emerich, the president of the board of education, Mrs. Kathleen Bright, and Gov. Milliken.

Jury Deliberating on Fate of Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fate of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan rests with a jury that must weigh this question: how ill was he, mentally, when he killed Robert F. Kennedy?

The 25-year-old Jordanian Arab watched stolidly as the jury of seven men and five women filed from the courtroom yesterday to fix the degree of his crime.

The jury was instructed by Judge Herbert V. Walker to be "uninfluenced by pity for the defendant or by passion or by prejudice against him."

The defense contended that Sirhan's mind was so blurred that the crime didn't meet the legal definition of first-degree murder. But it did not ask for the other possible verdicts of manslaughter or acquittal.

Consumers Substation Is Hit; Bay City Area Blacked Out

By the Associated Press

Some 1,500 residents of the Bay City area were without electricity for a few hours last night after apparent vandalism at a Consumers Power Co. substation near Bay City.

A spokesman for the firm, which has been struck by the Utility Workers Union, said the power was lost when a stick with a metal ball attached was pitched into equipment at the isolated substation.

The company said UWU pickets at a Bay City service center interfered with repair vehicles manned by management personnel as they attempted to drive to the substation for repair work.

The incident followed by several hours discontinuation yesterday of contract negotiations which lasted just 12 minutes. State and federal mediators called both sides to the meeting at Jackson, but there was no progress reported after the short conference.

Chief issue in the strike is money, an official said. The union has asked for immediate pay increases, cost-of-living raises, premium pay for Sunday work and shift differentials.

A Consumers spokesman said the blackout last night of the northern Lower Peninsula communities of Leroy and Tustin were definitely unrelated to the strike. The spokesman said a utility pole burned through and snapped a key cable when it fell. The fire probably spread from a grass fire, the spokesman said.

Area Vandalism Tied to Strike

A fire-bombing in Waterford Township and window smashing in Pontiac were major incidents reported in a flurry of vandalism in the area connected with the Utility Workers Union strike against Consumers Power Co.

In addition, a second attempted fire-bombing and two gas shutoffs at apartment buildings were reported.

Township police said a Consumers Power station wagon was damaged extensively by a Molotov cocktail early today while parked on the 1300 block of Bielby south of Pontiac Lake road.

Patrolman Carl Solden described the device as a vodka bottle filled with fuel oil with a rag for a wick. He said the blaze, which burned much of the vehicle's interior, was reported about 12:40 a.m.

ATTEMPT FAILS

An attempt at a similar fire-bombing against a Consumers Power station wagon parked on Sleaford, reportedly failed police said.

Pontiac police were told early yesterday that two plate-glass windows at the company's offices at 28 W. Lawrence were destroyed apparently by pellet guns. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Gas shutoffs were at apartments at 484 Miller, Avon Township, and at 602 Madison, Clarkston.

Tornado Hits Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — A freak tornado from the Bay of Bengal ripped through Dacca yesterday, killing at least 165 persons and injuring 1,200 in East Pakistan's capital.

Rescue workers were still digging through the debris for bodies today.

Birmingham

Attorney Gets Commission OK as Mayor

BIRMINGHAM — Charles F. Clippert was unanimously elected mayor last night by the City Commission at its organiztion meeting.

Clippert, who was first elected to the Commission in 1964, replaces David Break of 752 Willits, who served as mayor for one year. Clippert, an attorney, resides at 586 Fairfax.

Mrs. William McNamee of 1271 Lakeside was chosen mayor pro tem. She has been on the commission since 1965.

The commission for several years has traditionally established a rotational system for the mayoralty designation.

RESURFACING OK'D

In other business, the commission voted to resurface Adams from Villa north to Buckingham at a cost of $18,000. The project, to be financed from the city's general fund, is set for completion this summer.

Commissioners also reviewed a report from the engineering department on construction drawings for the improvement of the Maple-Adams intersection.

The improved intersection will provide left-turn lanes in all four directions from the intersection. The Adams portion of the improvement will extend from Yosemite to Yorkshire.

The commission approved an application from a group of local high school students to solicit funds for aid to Biafran children.

JUNE 7 SET

The youngsters will solicit in the downtown business district during business hours on June 7. Money collected will be sent to Operation Outrange Inc., a Washington, D. C., organization which sends food and medical supplies to Biafra.

About $1,800 has been collected by students thus far through door-to-door solicitation in Birmingham and at the Pontiac Mall shopping center.

Chrysler Execs Point to Growth

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corp.'s top officials told stockholders today that their company would leave the 1960s more than twice as big as it entered the decade.

Lynn Townsend, Chrysler board chairman, and Virgil E. Boyd, president, ignored the 5 per cent drop in Chrysler sales during the first quarter of this year and the 25 per cent drop in earnings and repeated their prediction that car sales this year would reach about the same level as in 1968, 9.6 million units including about 1 million imports.

This despite the fact, Boyd said, "that most of the problems facing the economy and the industry at the start of the year —including Vietnam, high interest rates, tight money and inflation—show no signs of disappearing in the immediate future.

Townsend hinted, as has been reported, that Chrysler is preparing a new minicar to enter the battle against import cars in the United States.

'NEW PRODUCT ALIGNMENT'

He said that the company was preparing "a new product alignment to provide vehicles for every part of a diversifying market."

Looking to the future, Townsend said that the automobile industry in the '70s would be reaching an output of 15 million cars and trucks each year in the United States, and by the end of the '70s the worldwide demand for cars and trucks would approach 40 million vehicles.

Boyd reported that in 1968, Chrysler sales reached new highs in its overseas subsidiaries in Europe, South America and the Far East with sales totaling $1.5 billion for a 16 per cent gain over the previous year.

County Panel Examines Barriers to Nonwhite Hiring

By JEAN SAILE

How do you get more nonwhite workers at every level of county government?

Where are the roadblocks?

These were among the questions discussed openly and sincerely yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors Personnel Practices Committee as it reviewed a recent race relations study undertaken by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC).

The course to be taken will depend largely on recommendations by County Personnel Director John Witherup. He will report to the committee May 12.

MCRC RECOMMENDATIONS

The MCRC report recommended:

- A racial census to determine the number of white and nonwhite employes in all job classifications.
- Affirmative action programs to recruit and upgrade nonwhite employes.

- Job opportunities posted in all sections of Pontiac, including nonwhite areas.

The latter recommendation is being carried out by the county to a degree and will be extended further, Witherup said. He also noted that all county advertising is now carrying the "equal rights employer" phrase.

CENSUS, RECRUITING

But whether the county wants to carry out a racial survey, and the four committee members present indicated that it does, and whether the county, in effect, will attempt to enter the social service field by direct action to encourage more nonwhite employes remains to be determined.

Neither of the two projects will be easy — because of roadblocks in both white and black communities, Witherup told the committee.

Programs to lure black and Spanish-American people to seek county employment are not easy to carry out. "There is a high cost, but it may save us dollars in the long run," said the personnel director.

Witherup said county hiring practices have concerned themselves with getting the best help at as much savings to taxpayers as possible.

INDUSTRY PROGRAMS

He said that employment programs undertaken by private industry have concerned themselves with motivation (getting employes out of bed and busing them to the factory) and education (pay for learning).

Committee Chairman William L. Mainland, D-Milford Township, suggested an emphasis on equal opportunity — leading to discipline of department heads who fail to hire minority group members, but he wanted no county social service approach to hiring.

Although between 5 and 6 per cent of the 1,700 county employes are estimated to be nonwhite, both administrators and committee members felt "playing the numbers game is wrong."

"Having a completely black janitorial force is not the way to solve the problem," Witherup noted.

SURVEY PITFALLS

The survey requested may have its pitfalls, too, the personnel director said. "There are long-time employes here, and we don't know what race some of them are," Witherup said. "Are you going to ask them now?"

The county has operated under a rule in which it is illegal to designate a person by race, he reported. The committee could take such a survey, he noted, but county administrators can't.

A specific recruiting program among minorities could cause some people to feel reverse discrimination, he said. He noted the county already seeks black and white high school graduates in its recruitment program.

Witherup made several observations, based on 14 years experience with the county:

- The quickest kiss of death for a would-be or present employe is to have been recommended by a member of the Board of Supervisors.

- The man doing the hiring generally hires someone he feels most comfortable with (and often someone who has been recommended by someone he knows).
- Even where specific recruiting programs for minority group employes are carried out, they aren't having an overwhelming amount of success.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

Regarding the lack of minority race employes in the sheriff's department, Witherup pointed out two necessary items.

- The county must take steps to show nonwhites that all policemen aren't ogres.
- The sheriff's department must be convinced that all blacks are not their enemies.

Part of the problem is getting the black man to apply for a county law enforcement job, Witherup said.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Supervisor James Mathews, D-Pontiac and a Negro, agreed that a public relations program is most important.

Supervisors James Brennan, D-Berkley, pointed out that if the county can't bridge the gap in the law enforcement area, it can never solve its racial problems.

And Witherup pointed out one more fly in the ointment. "When you hire a non-white, you feel you're hiring an investigative staff and a crew of attorneys who second-guess everything you do in connection with the new employe. It's one more subtle thing to influence the hiring decision."

"Getting a job is the hardest thing most people have to do," the personnel director said.

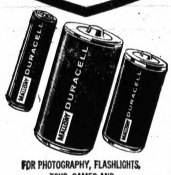

"And some people have the built-in philosophy that it's never going to happen," added Mathews.

No Decision in Lake Orion Tavern Dispute

LAKE ORION — "I've beeen thrown out of every place in town and the customer should be heard," was the comment of one elderly patron of the Verwood Hotel and Bar.

And everyone was heard last night on the Verwood controversy.

Other speakers included a minister, the owners, a couple of concerned mothers, village councilmen, the fire and police chiefs and the plumbing and building inspectors.

Despite the gaggle of words, council came to no decision at the packed meeting on the question of whether to approve or deny renewal of the tavern's SDM (beer and wine) license. A motion to table the matter for executive session discussion April 23 was passed.

TARGET OF PETITIONS

The Verwood, located at Broadway and Front, is the target of two church petitions calling for its closing. About 50 persons showed up for debate last night.

Deadline for local approval of a license renewal is May 1. At a March meeting, the council objected to the renewal of a license on the grounds that the Verwood Bar was in violation of a multitude of building and plumbing code standards.

Defending the Verwood last night were the owners' attorney, James Lawson of Farmington, statements by building and plumbing inspectors that the owners had taken swift action to correct several of the many code violations, personal testimonies to the good character of owners John and Yvonne Hoffman (the third owner is Raymond Kirby) and Lake Orion merchant and bar owner Robert Krebasa.

If the Verwood is to remain in business another year, the council must make special approval for license renewal and forward such to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

RAPS OBJECTIONS

Attorney Lawson termed the council's initial objections "inquisitorial" and declared that a second and final council objection "would be tantamount to putting these people out of business."

Village attorney Robert V. Parenti countered that "ownership of a bar is a privilege, not a right."

A concerned mother complained of the motorcycle rider clientele of the Verwood, stating that she was "afraid to walk on the sidewalk at night between the motorcycles and the bar."

Another concerned mother pointed out: "I would challenge the persons who want to close this bar to consider where we will make up the loss in tax revenue. Alcohol pays for much of our school costs!"

Rev. Robert J. Hudgins of the Lake Orion United Methodist Church offered his congregation's objections to the bar: "We are rather sensitive to the fact that there are four bars within three blocks of our church."

"Compared to the condition of the bar under its previous owners, the Verwood is now a Taj Mahal!" Lawson snapped.

"I don't think that you should close the Verwood except as a last resort," merchant Krebasa declared. "I'm a respected businessman and I should think that your inspectors would find many code violations at my establishment (the Royal Bar). It takes time to renovate these old buildings, time and money."

Councilmen acted as referees during the free-wheeling debate, taking all points "under advisement" until April 23.

ISSUE CLARIFIED

Clarification was reached on one issue regarding police activity at the Verwood. At the March council meeting, an auxiliary officer said that he would be "afraid to walk into the Verwood alone at night."

Lawson pointed out, with the agreement of Police Chief Neil Leonard, that no police officer enters an establishment or a home alone at night when called on a complaint, thus negating the implied severity of the earlier statement.

Harvey Ferrando Issues A 'Call To Action' To Lapeer Farmers

Lapeer Farmers Urged to Press Tax Reforms

LAPEER — County farmers and rural property owners were told last night that organization is the key to accomplishing tax reform.

About 600 persons assembled in the County Center Building to outline a protest against soaring property valuation assessments. Delegates from each township in the county were selected to form a central action committee.

Last night's meeting is part of a growing effort of Michigan farmers to establish a statewide organization as a means of pressuring legislative action on several proposed bills for rural tax reform.

Farmers are asking for a ceiling on farmland assessment based on land production. Similar tax reform measures have been established in 14 other states.

RISING ASSESSMENTS

Rural property owners have been prompted into protest action here in the face of rising farmland reassessments ranging from 15 to 100 per cent.

Lyle Ferrier, North Branch Township supervisor, said farm income has increased only 17 per cent in 20 years while the farm property tax has doubled. The answer, he said, is "Change the law. Get mad."

He and other speakers urged the audience to launch a massive letter-writing campaign to legislators in an attempt to get the several tax reform bills out of committee by the May 1 deadline for action this year.

The Lapeer County Tax Reform Committee, which sponsored the rally, said the foundation of the tax protest is based on these points:

THE PONTIAC PRESS
Area News
TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1969 A—4

- Michigan's present real estate taxation system is destroying the ability of the small farmer to survive.
- The same system encourages land and home ownership by the average citizen.
- Taxes as presently assessed discourage the upkeep and improvement of private property.

- Further escalation of assessments and tax levies is inevitable under Michigan's present tax system and will soon make the ownership of private property impossible for many state residents. This particularly applies to retired persons and those with fixed incomes.
- School operating revenues must be shifted from property tax to a source that is fair to all. School operation is the direct responsibility of all persons and institutions. Property owners can no longer be expected to shoulder the major burden of this problem.

'PRESSURE GROUPS'

Who is to blame for the tax dilemma of the rural landowner?

The farmers claim pressure groups have forced excess and unwarranted spending by state and local governing bodies.

Teen Nightclub Wins Approval

LAKE ORION—A teen nightclub won approval—in concept—at last night's Village Council meeting amid the cheers of nearly 50 Lake Orion teens crowded shoulder-to-shoulder to hear their elders' verdict.

Partners in the third teen night-spot venture for Lake Orion, to be located at the present Youth Center, will be Jim Barnowski, a local businessman, and teen entertainment entrepeneur Dale Leonard, owner of Birmingham's highly sucessful Village Pub.

Recalling two recent troublesome teen spots — the Liverpool and the Jaycee-sponsored Youth Center—village officials gave cautious approval.

The green light was given, although subject to a quick red light at the slightest hint of trouble.

ALL THE WAY

"We feel that the kids have nothing in the way of their preferred entertainment. The kids here tonight understand that we'll go all the way for them if they will cooperate all the way with us," Barnowski assured councilmen.

Leonard promised adequate supervision and strict adherence to village ordinances and "the common rules of decency."

Oldster Charles Bell commented: "We old people ought to go along with this wonderful plan of activity."

Specific plans will still require council approval.

Rochester Council Okays Street Paving Assessments

ROCHESTER — Little in the way of strong protest was registered at last night's council hearing on proposed South Street paving, a project more than a year in the making.

Despite the lack of strong objections, however, some residents registered surprise that their single-family homes were in an area zoned for light and heavy industry.

The zoning reaction comes six years after the fact, according to city officials who said the area was rezoned when the zoning map was adopted in December 1963.

The biggest obection to the paving assessments was raised last night by a representative of Grand Trunk Western railroad.

1926 AGREEMENT

A railroad spokesman claimed a 1926 agreement with the County Road Commission provided the railroad would be exempt from special assessments for providing the bridge in the area.

City officials essentially said the city, only two years old, was not a party to that agreement and indicated the railroad should approach the road commisson for relief on its $8,000 assessment.

Some residents questioned whether South street couldn't qualify for some federal funds since it is one point of access for the city's urban renewal area.

Robert Smalley, assessor and urban reneal director, doubted it would because Second was the main thoroughfare to the renewal land. He agreed to check, however, with federal officials.

ASPHALT QUALITY

Still other residents questioned the higher cost of constructing deep-strength asphalt for projected truck traffic and passing the total cost along to homeowners. City officials responded that the added cost resulted from the industrial zoning on the land and would be an item to be considered when a resident sold his home.

The South street assessments were approved by the council. Payment can be made in 10 annual installments at an annual interest rate of six per cent.

Total cost of the project is $141,228. Assessments will be on a basis of 50 per cent per front foot or 50 per cent per square foot. The per-front-foot cost is $10.06, while the per-square-foot levy is .0278 cents.

A petition from 11 Alice street residents for speed limit signs and a stop sign for Alice and Roselawn was tabled. The request was referred to the city's traffic and safety committee.

URBAN RENEWAL

Council approval was given to hire Driker & Associates to provide site-plan reviews for urban renewal development. No cost was specified.

Also approved was a $5,000 advance payment to the Avon Township public library. The payment is part of the city's share of the library's operating budget. The total contribution for 1969-70, according to the proposed budget, is $12,000, compared to $10,000 in the current year.

In other business last night, a proposed 1969-70 budget of $835,255 was received virtually without comment from council. The budget hearing was ordered for May 5.

Based on the current 12-mill tax levy, the budget is $24,841 higher than the current year's. Most of the increase comes from increased properaty values.

Opinions Split on Reappraisal

ROCHESTER — Should real estate here be reappraised for tax purposes?

The chairman of the board of tax review, Mrs. William C. Chapman, thinks so. However, City Assessor Robert Smalley doesn't agree.

In a report submitted to the City Council last night, Mrs. Chapman said the board of review was able to correct only a fraction of the inequities in property assessments after 40 hours devoted to hearing 75 appeals.

Relief is needed particularly for senior citizens, according to Mrs. Chapman, who urged that the Legislature be asked to increase the senior citizen exemption.

OUTSIDE FIRM ADVISED

She recommended that a citywide reappraisal be undertaken before preparation of the 1970 assessed values, indicating this should be done by an outside firm.

The board this year granted value reductions totaling $28,200.

Smalley, meantime, contended the city could correct inequities itself. Council last night seemed to agree. Smalley was only appointed assessor last December.

City officials did agree that further relief is necessary for senior citizens.

Brothers of Brush Bristle With Plans

ROCHESTER — Brothers of the Brush will hold an organizational meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the banquet room of Knapp's Bar and Restaurant, 327 Main.

Chairman Harold Milton said men's service clubs have been notified of the meeting, which is to organize beard and moustache growing in conjunction with the city's centennial celebration.

Council Reelects Chrysler Exec as Farmington Mayor

FARMINGTON — Wilbur V. Brotherton of 23622 Beacon was reelected mayor at last night's council meeting while John A. Allen of 32293 Shiawassee was elected mayor pro tem.

Brotherton, a general sales manager at Chrysler Corp. Simca-Rootes Division, has been on the council for 11 years and mayor for the past four years.

This is Allen's second term on the council.

City Manager John Dinan presented the council with the 1969-70 general fund and water and sewer fund recommended budget, for consideration. No date was set for a public hearing.

BUDGET FIGURE

Total recommended budget for the general fund is $792,156, while the actual budget for 69-70 is $747,141.

The manager also recommended a budget of $308,916 for the water and sewer department in the upcoming fiscal year. The current budget is $295,726.

The council directed the manager to seek an attorney's opinion on the legality of demolishing an unoccupied two-story dwelling on the northwest corner of Grace and Grand River.

The building has been condemned for occupancy for about a year, said city officials.

Dinan also reported that some 160 trees were planted throughout the city last weekend and 125 more would be delivered and planted shortly. He warned residents to water the trees daily for the first 10 days after planting to insure growth.

Oxford Schools Okay $1,773,057 Budget

OXFORD — The board of education has approved a tentative $1,773,057 budget for the 1969-70 school year.

The tentative budget will be submitted to the tax allocation board for approval. When state aid figures are available, the budget will be finalized, probably next fall.

'No Marble Towers, More Services'

200 at Informal County Budget Session

Some 200 Oakland County residents appeared before nine dissident Democratic supervisors last night to tell them they don't want any more "marble towers," but they do want increased public services.

The occasion was the informal public hearing on the county's $30.8-million tentative 1970 budget.

Called by Philip O. Mastin of Hazel Park, supervisors' Democratic caucus leader, the hearing was conducted in the Congregational Church of Birmingham. The group was refused use of the County Courthouse auditorium for the hearing, with the board of supervisors voting to wait until June to conduct budget hearings.

The crowd noted the absence of the remainder of the 27-man board of supervisors.

County residents in attendance represented such tax protest groups as the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, Taxpayers Voice, and PROBE.

There were representatives of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, Aid to Dependent Children mothers, senior citizen organizations and the United Auto Workers.

Prime concern seemed to be the county's responsibility to furnish low-cost transportation countywide. The consensus expressed was that there are services available, but for many people they are impossible to reach.

There was talk about roads and the alleged failures of the Oakland County Road Commission, the county's clothing store and its inadequacy in meeting needs of ADC and welfare clients and the need for more health facilities for senior citizens. There was also talk about poverty — people living on $72 a month total income.

Opposition was expressed to the county's building program both current and long-range, and the proposed development of the Oakland-Orion Airport caught its share of the dissent. The latter has long been a subject of controversy.

The taxpayer groups made such requests as cutting — or holding the line on — the budget and giving more money to the schools.

George Williams, president of the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers, asked for adherance to the 15-mill limit in taxing. He won assurance from Supervisor Dennis Aaron, D-Huntington Woods, that the supervisors will hold the tax lexy within that limitation "at least this year."

The meeting lasted four hours.

Corporations Attempting to Rehabilitate the Alcoholic

NEW YORK (UPI) — The author of a new book on how to conquer alcoholism said yesterday at his research in the field indicates that 35 of the top 100 U. S. industrial corporations have alcoholic rehabilitation programs and many more big businesses can be expected to initiate such programs this year.

Vincent F. Sullivan, formerly a senior executive at the New York Daily News and author of "How to stop Problem Drinking," said business concerns were finding it no longer economically feasible to either live with the porblem of alcoholic employes or to fire them.

Sullivan said it is estimated that there are more than 5 million alcoholic employes in the nation who cost industry more than $4 billion a year. To help solve the costly problem, he has devised the Sullivan 21-day plan by which employers can apply personal pressure in a friendly, cooperative mood to get the alcoholic employe to seek aid from Alcoholics Anonymous (AA).

Meet Your Neighbors

Stratford Knolls Visited

By BARBARA GRIBBON

Stratford Knolls is another of the up-and-coming new subdivisions in Avon Township. Located just off Walton Boulevard, the area has homes in a variety of styles including ranch and two-story Colonial.

People told us they especially like the woodsy atmosphere surrounding Stratford Knolls which gives them a feeling of being far removed from city life.

THE OSCAR KASTNERS

One family that keeps very busy is that of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kastner, who moved here two months ago from Bloomfield Township. They're originally from Patterson, N.J. The Kastners have three daughters — Deborah, 14; Sandra, 12; and Gale, 7.

Kastner is a sales executive with Leckie & Co. He likes to spend his spare time working on such projects as making a Tiffany chandelier for the dining area of his new house. It's a time-consuming job, but the finished effect will be worthwhile.

Mrs. Kastner introduced us to her daughters who are excellent gymnasts. So is mom. She coaches the Acronauts, a team sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills Parks and Recreation Department. The team has won many honors in Michigan competitions and Sandra took first place in the state for all-round gymnastics. Her sister, Deborah, placed third in the same event. Little Gale hasn't entered competition yet, but loves the sport as much as the others. The girls are also avid skiers.

When she has spare time, mom likes to sew along with daughter, Debby. The Kastner family attends the Lutheran Church.

THE RICHARD LORENZES

Across the street lives the Richard Lorenz family which moved here from Clarkston. The family includes, Cheryl, 10; Gregg, 7; and Denise, 5.

Lorenz is a draftsman with Chevrolet at the Tech Center in Warren. He likes to play golf in his spare time. Mrs. Lorenz told us her children all took swimming at the local YMCA last year and that it's their favorite sport. She likes to knit and sew for her family in her spare time.

THE THOMAS COTES

The Thomas Cote family moved here from Warren in February. The Cotes have two married children, and three at home — Debra, 17, a senior at Warren High, Thomas, 14, and Bryan, 11.

Cote is an engineer for Chevrolet at the Tech Center. He belongs to a golf league at the office and is an all-round do-it-yourselfer at home.

Debby, a National Merit finalist, plans to attend Michigan State next year. She had the lead in her school's senior play, Brigadoon, and is active in the Warren Varsity Chorus, as is her brother, Thomas.

Bryan is an electronics enthusiast whose room is completely wired for sound. He has installed an FM radio and stereo with extra speakers, and earphones so he won't disturb the rest of the family.

Mrs. Cote attends Oakland University to work on her teaching degree.

THE DAVID KOSTOWSKIS

The David Kostowski family moved to Stratford Knolls from Rochester. They have three children, David, 18; Denna, 16; and Dawn, 12. David is a member of the ski team at Rochester High. Denna is a tennis player and Dawn likes roller skating.

Kostowski is a contact engineer with Premier Engineering. He's an avid hunter who once bagged an antelope in Wyoming. Both he and his wife enjoy golf and bowling.

Mrs. Kostowski is a member of the Women's Auxiliary of Crittenton Hospital where she does volunteer work. She is a member of Rochester Town Hall where she is on the ticket committee. She told us she and the girls all like to sew and that together they make most of their clothes. The Kostowski family belongs to Church of Christ in Rochester.

THE GEORGE STALEYS

Mr. and Mrs. George Staley moved here from Detroit a year ago. They have a married daughter in California and two grandchildren. Their other daughter, Denise, is a senior at Rochester High School. She is a swimming enthusiast and likes to sew with her mom.

Staley is a printing salesman for Printing Service, Inc. At home he likes to spend virtually all his spare time working on the house. He is building a large patio with a beautiful brick walk along the back of the house. Raising dahlias is another of his hobbies. Inside he enjoys building things for the house including a built-in cabinet in the foyer. He likes to bowl and play golf.

Mrs. Staley works part-time in the office of St. Ireaneus Church, where the family belongs. She said she makes all her own draperies and enjoys decorating her home. The family has a beautiful Collie named Lady Bird.

THE LYNN JENKINSES

From Youngstown, Ohio came the Lynn Jenkins family which includes two children, Kevin, 7, and Katheryn, 4. Jenkins was transferred here by GMC Truck & Coach Div.

Jenkins and his son are active in Indian Guides in Rochester, which is trying to introduce the boys to all types of transportation, so they have taken a commuter train to Detroit. They also hope to ride in a plane soon. Kevin is interested in collecting rocks, which he does in the area. He is identifying them now for a science project.

Mrs. Jenkins told us the family likes to do a lot of sightseeing in any area they live. They try to learn the history and interesting spots and spend most weekends visiting local places. She is a member of Newcomers Club here. Mrs. Jenkins also likes to sew for her family. They belong to St. Ireaneus Church.

THE CLAYTON SPADES

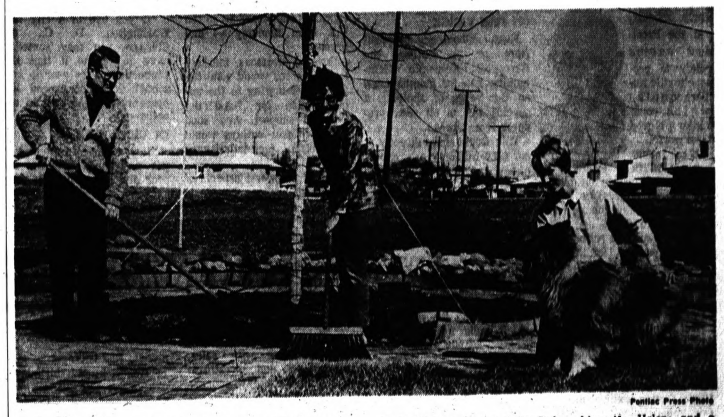

Auburn Heights was the former home of the Clayton Spade family which moved here five months ago. Their children are Rene, 16, a ski enthusiast, and Denise, 14, who likes dancing.

Spade is an engineer at the GM Tech Center. The family loves swimming and are members of the Bloomfield Surf Club.

Mrs. Spade enjoys arranging artificial plants and flowers as a hobby. She also likes real flowers and enjoys yard and garden work in the summer. Both she and the girls are interested in sewing. Mrs. Spade is a part-time secretary at the Methodist Church in Bloomfield Hills.

Next week we'll be telling you about some newcomers who live in Potomac Green in West Bloomfield.

HARLEY J. EARL, a retired General Motors styling pioneer who died recently in West Palm Beach, Florida, left his mark in the auto industry where he added flair and "good looks" to the stereotyped box-like design.

EARL

Probably our sleek modern-day automobiles are the direct result of Mr. EARL's early pace-setting trend which was the first touch of class and beauty aimed at appealing to the feminine side of the car market.

The aptitude for high style and beauty came naturally for Mr. Earl. In his younger days he was often referred to as one of the real dapper individuals in what was known as a pretty staid industry.

In his later years, and as recently as this last Christmas, HARLEY EARL had a certain dash and attractive appeal that caused heads to turn when he entered a room.

The first full-time styling department in the auto industry was established by Mr. EARL for General Motors Corporation. When he retired he was a GM Vice President with a list of styling innovations that went from erasing running boards to the concept of the first experimental "dream cars."

Harley Earl had eclat and was able to translate it to the industry he loved so much.

NATO a Viable Entity

There was much more to last week's gathering in Washington of foreign ministers from the 15 NATO nations than met the eye in the official communiques covering the event.

All too often in recent years the news out of NATO has emphasized only the problems—repeated failures to bring troop strength up to planned levels for the European defense shield, the continuing disagreements with France and, most recently, the dilemma posed by the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia and Canada's decision to scale down its military contribution.

The impression frequently has been that the alliance is in imminent danger of disintegration.

The opposite is the case, however, and the fact that the Washington meeting took place at all is the evidence.

It marked the organization's 20th anniversary, something of a longevity record as alliances go. History can show few, if any, similar examples of such a broad grouping of nations maintaining both their mutual independence and an effective alliance over such a lengthy period.

This is not to gloss over NATO's flaws. It has never functioned exactly as blueprinted—human institutions rarely do. But it has served its original purpose with undeniable success, containing Communist expansion that in the years immediately following World War II threatened to engulf all of Western Europe.

Certainly, differences among the Allies will continue. But rather than signals of imminent collapse, these should be viewed as growing pains. And if NATO is anywhere near as successful in growing to meet the challenges of the next decade as it has been in the past two, it must go down as one of history's outstanding success stories.

Satire Smothers Smothers

There are those who are complaining that the Smothers Brothers, whose weekly television program was canceled by Columbia Broadcasting Company, are victims of arbitrary censorship, summarily dismissed because they dared to speak out against the Establishment and make light of so-called middle-class values.

There is no argument that the Brothers Smothers stepped on some complacent toes in pointing up the foibles of American society—toes that perhaps deserve to be stepped on occasionally.

But their attempts at sociopolitical satire more often than not came through the tube as tasteless, low-grade sarcasm that offended mass segments of their audience.

Quotas on Textile Imports Are Unwise

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Inflation clearly has become the great bugaboo of the Nixon administration's early months, yet the President seems ready to propose textile import quotas which could make it a good deal worse.

BIOSSAT

Economic specialists suggest that prices on clothing and on fabrics for home furnishings may bound upward from 15 to 25 per cent, if European and other nations exporting textiles to America agree to the "voluntary" quotas Nixon appears to be seeking.

But the danger is much greater than that. The countries exporting to us cannot be expected to agree to curb their shipments of manmade fibers (cotton textiles already are under voluntary restriction as result of a John F. Kennedy move), without drawing some of our economic blood in return.

If Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans' mid-April visit to Europe starts us toward quota talks in Geneva, as presently indicated, then we may look for hard retaliation.

ON THE VERGE

Even without any proposal from us on textiles, the European Economic Community has for months been on the verge of applying a special tax to oil seed products from abroad.

This would strike directly at our $500 million yearly export of soybean items to Europe.

One sees the matter most clearly when it is understood that one-quarter of all this nation's harvested-crop acreage is presently cultivated for foreign markets.

Those countries include many among the sizable list which sells us textiles and counts heavily upon those sales.

WOULD BE IMPAIRED

Even without any retaliatory restriction by them, their ability to buy farm and other products from us would be impaired if quotas on textiles should be accepted. They need dollars to buy from us.

It is plain, then, that any protectionist quotas which either lead to retaliation or diminish foreigners' ability to buy here could have enormous repercussions in the U.S. farm economy — and beyond.

Reduced overseas markets for U.S. crops would send the farmers clamoring to the administration for backup financial support. Any such added federal outlays would only further fuel inflationary fires.

One of the worst aspects of the whole perilous matter is that the textile industry has not made out a good case for general damage from imports.

A U.S. Tariff Commission study published in 1968 said U.S. producers have enjoyed unparalleled growth since the 1960s and that corporate profits — along with sales, employment and investment — had increased.

And, while imports are indeed growing rather rapidly, they still represent a small part of the American market (5.2 per cent of its wearing apparel in 1966).

To The Rescue!

David Lawrence Says:

Ruling on School Integration Hit

WASHINGTON — Congress, in 1968 law, forbade utilization of federal funds as a means of coercing public-school systems to bus students or take other action in order to overcome racial imbalance.

LAWRENCE

The Supreme Court has ruled against deliberate segregation but has not, in effect, compelled integration in the schools where racial proportions vary according to residential circumstances. The school boards of the country nevertheless are perplexed as to what they can and cannot do.

Dr. Carl F. Hansen won high praise as superintendent of schools in Washington, D. C., when he put an end to intentional segregation of public schools in the nation's capital following the desegregation decision of the Supreme Court in May 1954.

He continued to work toward integration for more than a decade, but retired in 1967 rather than comply with an opinion rendered by Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

ON OWN INITIATIVE

Dr. Hansen on his own initiative has just written an article on the situation, and he says in part:

"If you live in a small Nevada town — or in one in Iowa or Ohio, for that matter — and your schools are mostly white, you may actually be flouting a court ruling that says that racially imbalanced schools run against the Constitution of the United States.

"If your schools have all-white faculties, you may someday be ordered to hire 13 per cent black teachers to make the percentage fit in with the ratio of blacks to white in the national population.

"If you live in a city like Washington, D. C., or Chicago, you may someday have to see to it that the proportion of the poor in any school does not exceed the percentage of the poor in the entire city.

IN VIOLATION?

"If you refuse to attempt to get a balance between the poor and the nonpoor in your schools through voluntary exchanges across school-district and even state lines, you may find yourself in contempt of court."

Dr. Hansen says that these requirements may ultimately result from a doctrine of "de jure integration," which means integration imposed by judicial edict or law.

He points out that Judge Wright did not confine himself merely to racial factors but dealt with "social imbalance as well."

Dr. Hansen, describing a situation in the school systems in various parts of the country, says, "The new and important discovery was that when a formerly all-white school approached 30 per cent black membership, the rate of change increased.

"Within two years, the black membership reached the 50 per cent point, from which it moved to 75 per cent within the next two years. The important finding is that the starting point for rapid white exodus is 30 per cent."

The emphasis at first was placed on eliminating intentional segregation. The courts have been reluctant, however, to say that, if a school district happens to be in a predominantly white or Negro area, it is obliged to bus children from other parts of the city or suburbs to bring about a racial balance.

Now the question is arising as to how far the states and cities, on their own accord and in response to local demands, will find themselves moving in the direction of artificial integration.

"Only late in human history did governments come to rely on taxes for the bulk of their revenue," notes the Encyclopedia Britannica. "For centuries . . . it was the duty of the unprivileged classes — slaves, vassals, peasants, colonists and conquered peoples — to support the ruling classes, whether they were the free citizens of Athens and Rome, the lords and nobles of the feudal barony, or the courtiers of Louis XIV. Taxes as a badge of freedom rather than a mark of bondage are a modern phenomenon."

'Christ Was Great Revolutionary Character'

We hear much about revolution and revolutionary characters these days. Easter brings to our attention one of the most revolutionary characters of all time—Jesus Christ. Throughout the short three and one-half years of His ministry He was constantly at odds with the establishment. People listened to His unusual ideas. At one time when He entered Jerusalem He was greeted as a conquering hero by the multitudes, but He never stormed an administration building. He never demanded His "rights."

Jesus truly used love as His weapon. Nothing provoked Him to anger. He made no strident noises in His own defense, but meekly submitted to the agony of the cross. If the young people of today are honestly looking for something better than the establishment, they don't need to ask strange religions for the answer. It is right there in the Holy Bible—the greatest example of love of all time.

Has Additional Facts on License Plates Fees

A recent letter gave some figures regarding license plates fees. Trailer plates in Michigan did drop from $300 or $400 to $10, but the letter failed to say that highway tractor plates have in some cases more than doubled. The tractor owners are now buying license plates on the gross vehicle weight they wish to haul. The truck I drive must have the largest plate (130,100 pounds plus). My tractor plates cost $980. I pull two trailers at $10 each so I still pay $1,000 for license plates.

Question and Answer

I'm very interested in the new apartments for elderly being built on Michigan and Anderson. How soon could a person rent one, and whom do you contact to make application? If they're due for completion in late 1970, won't some be ready for occupancy before the completion date?

ELDERLY WIDOW

REPLY

Mr. McAfee at the Housing Commission says it's possible some might be available a couple of months early. He points out Carriage Circle apartments, also for elderly, will be available in early 1970, possibly some late this year. Applications for all elderly housing will be taken at City Hall in late June or July. Watch The Pontiac Press for announcement of exact dates. For further information, call the Pontiac Housing Commission, 338-0472.

Question and Answer

My brother and I disagree on how much training is required for an Osteopath and for an M.D. Can you give us the answer?

MRS. BILLY J. FORD

REPLY

An M.D. must have four years pre-medical schooling, four years medical school, one year internship. Residency depends on the specialty, from two to eight years. An O.D. must have three years pre-med (we're told 85 per cent have four years) four years osteopathic training, one year internship and residency for specialists from two to five years.

The Canadian Clubman's Code: Rule 10

Canadian Club is the Club that keeps you in good company. Because Canadian Club is the one whisky with friends everywhere.

That's because it's the one whisky bold enough to be lighter than them all.

So from now on, practice the Canadian Clubman's Code, Rule 10: "Make sure your Club is Canadian."

Cavanagh Tax Hike Boosted, Still Faces Two Big Hurdles

DETROIT (AP) — Three key proposals that would allow Detroit to raise more money have received qualified endorsement from Gov. William Milliken, but the multi-million-dollar package still faces two formidable hurdles.

They are the Common Council and the Legislature.

Among the proposals are an increase in the Detroit resident and nonresident income tax by ½ per cent, a 5 per cent excise tax on hotels, motels and amusements, and a 25 per cent boost in the present limitation issuance of bonds.

The income tax increase would raise an estimated $26 million a year, earmarked for public safety, the excise tax would be worth about $3.1 million a year, and the bond change would allow Detroit to sell another $25 million in bonds.

The proposals are contained in a $545.7-million budget for 1969-70 submitted to the City Council by Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

"It is the mayor's responsibility to first sell his budget to the council," Milliken declared, "and for the council and the mayor to sell these proposals to the Legislature."

But Milliken said that officials of Detroit and the state must work together.

"Together we will save this city or together we will perish in its decay — or in its flames," Milliken said.

Cavanagh also has asked the council to boost city property taxes $3.038 per $1,000 valuation, bringing them to the legal limit of $27.109.

Observers say this proposal and the income tax increase both appear headed for trouble in the Council.

Council President Ed Carey, who has announced he will oppose Cavanagh in this year's mayoralty election, branded the property tax an onerous levy that falls most heavily on senior citizens and others with fixed income."

Milliken said in a radio and television address that it would not be responsible for the state to deny the city the capacity to help itself, "if it wishes to do so."

CAVANAGH PLEASED

Technically, Milliken pointed out, the governor is not required to make a decision on proposed legislation until presented with a bill by the Legislature.

"But on a matter so critical to the largest city in Michigan, I will not hide behind that formaility," Milliken declared.

Cavanagh said he was very pleased with the governor's stand.

"He recognizes the very bad fiscal situation we have here and the need we have for help from the Legislature," Cavanagh said.

But even if the Cavanagh proposals get a go-ahead from the Council, legislative approval may be difficult.

CAUTIOUS, NONCOMMITAL

Reaction of some legislators was cautious and noncommittal.

"The proposals are worthy of consideration," said Rep. Russ Strange, R-Mount Pleasant.

Strange was one of some 65 legislators who toured Detroit as guests of a television station to witness some of the city's operations and problems firsthand.

Station WJBK-TV hosted the tour.

They visited ghetto schools, slum housing areas, police headquarters and Receiving Hospital, which has been threatened with a withdrawal of its accreditation because of its run-down condition.

Many suburban legislators expressed sympathy for Detroit's problems, but indicated they would not support the proposed income tax increase for nonresidents.

Milliken said that in addition to Common Council support, the money-raising proposals must have strong support from Detroit's legislators in Lansing or they "will have very little chance of success."

Mediterranean Treasure

TRADE CENTER — Byblos, a Phoenician trading center established about 5,000 year B.C., still is home port for small fleets of fishermen who sail the deep-blue Mediterranean.

Unheralded Wonders Abound in Lebanon

FISHERMAN — Wrinkled and tanned by the yellow sun of the Middle East, fishermen still extract a living from the warm waters off Lebanon.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Scenic grandeur greets the visitor to this tiny Middle East democracy. Tourists find unheralded wonders in this land of archaeological treasures, pleasant climate and dazzling landscape.

The cosmopolitan capital city is Beirut where the deep-blue Mediterranean almost laps against the modern highways that stretch across Lebanon's 120-mile length.

With only four hours travel time the tourist can visit Baalbek, which features the immense columns and temples built by the Romans; Byblos, a Phoenician center established about 5,000 years B.C.; and the Cedars of Lebanon where Solomon got the timber for his temple.

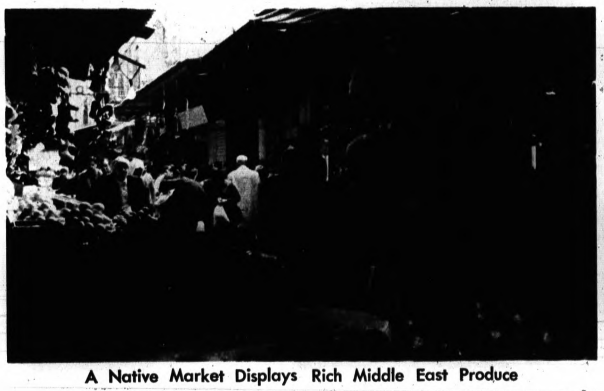

The scenery of Lebanon is made all the more colorful by the great mountain range that runs like a spine through the center of the country.

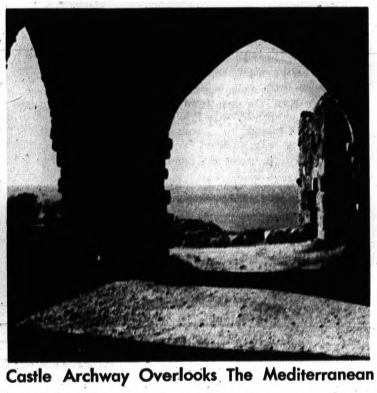

TEMPLE OF BACCHUS — Lebanon exhibits the heavy imprint of the one great Roman Empire, which features giant columns as strong evidence of a former splendor.

Luck of the Irish Won't Last Forever, Girl Fears

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm an Irish-Catholic, and my father doesn't allow me to date fellows who aren't of my faith. Well, I'm going with a very good-looking Jewish guy. He has blue eyes and dark curly hair and he could pass for Irish. His name is "FEINBERG" but I introduced him to my father as "FINNEGAN."

They only got to say hello and good-by, but pretty soon I'm afraid they'll get into a conversation and my father will find out the boy's not Irish, and then what will I do? I don't want to be the first teen-ager to land on the moon.

IRISH EYES

DEAR EYES: Tell your father the truth before he finds out himself. You may be the first teen-ager to land on the moon, but you'll get there with a clear conscience.

DEAR ABBY: Never before have I written to a newspaper column, or sent an unsigned letter, but that letter from the 41-year-old virgin who was still waiting, came so close to home, I had to tell my story:

In 50 years of marriage I never once saw my wife naked. She is a closet disrober and wears long, heavy nightgowns. Some years back I bought her a lovely, fairly sheer nightgown, and she took it back to the store and exchanged it for one exactly like those she's always worn.

She's been a wonderful mother to our children, and has many fine qualities, but she's a "touch-me-not." Hands are not for patting or caressing, and should be kept to one's self.

I know my wife will never change, so I have learned to live with things as they are, and have kept myself busy with outside activities.

If women like "waiting" (and my wife is one of them) could have learned early in life to shake loose from their Pollyanna ways, their lives would be so much richer.

People who have never learned how to give love or accept it, miss the best part of life.

I assure you there isn't a normal man living who doesn't want a warm, responsive, uninhibited wife. God bless you, Abby.

NOT DEAD YET — BUT DYING

DEAR NOT DEAD: The two most tragic aspects of your letter are (one) Timing. It should have been written 50 years ago. (Two) It should have been addressed to your wife. At least you'd have tried while there was still time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TED: Yes, I've heard that the best way to overcome one's fear of horses is to get right back on the horse that threw you, but marriage is a horse of a different color, and once you've been thrown, either stay off horses for a while or try another horse.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Professor to Speak on China's History

Secrets of China's ancient past unearthed by archaeologists will be described in a special illustrated lecture, "Archaeology in Communist China" at the Detroit Insititute of Arts lecture hall today at 8 p.m.

Dr. Richard C. Rudolph, professor of Oriental languages at the University of California, will speak from his own experiences of excavations in northwest China and studies of cliff-tombs in Southwest China.

Yields of the past 15 years have given new information on early China from neolithic villages to 16th century mausoleums. Present finds include paintings, objects and murals decorating royal tombs dating to the Shang period — the first historic dynasty of China.

Dr. Rudolph was previously on the faculties of the University of Chicago and the University of Toronto, and Assistant Keeper of Far Eastern Antiquities at the Royal Ontario Museum. Twice a Guggenheim Fellow, and twice a Fulbright Scholar (China, Formosa, Japan), he has published studies on Chinese archaeology and currently is preparing a book on painted tombs.

This event is presented jointly by the Detroit Society, Archaeological Institute of America, the Education Department of the Detroit Institute of Arts and University Center for Adult Education. The lecture is open to the public. Tickets at the door.

Annual Antique Show Begins at All Saints

The 17th annual All Saints' Antique Show begins today and runs through Thursday with daily hours of 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. Proceeds from the sale, which draws dealers from this and other areas, will be used by the women of the church to help support the many missionary projects at home and abroad.

Buffet luncheon will be served each day from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and in addition, there will be a snack service in the balcony tea room. Mrs. Charles Crittenden and Mrs. Arnold Thingstad are general chairmen of this year's event.

Coffee Meeting Set

Brookside branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold a coffee for members on Wednesday.

Hostessing the 10:30 a.m. event will be Mrs. Harold Cousins of South Hills Road, Bloomfield Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis of Curtis Antiques in Okemos are no strangers to the annual sale. The pair has displayed their wares every year of the 17 and this year is no exception even though Mr. Curtis had to come on crutches.

A moment's rest is taken by William T. ApMadoc whose wife, Fontie, and Betty Hall are partners in the Wooden Peg located in Clarkston. Bill's talents were put into service during the carting-in process at the church Monday.

Changes in Law Scored by Group

LANSING (AP) — Formation of a Michigan Committee for Social Legislation, an interfaith group opposed to any change in the state's abortion laws, was announced Monday.

Chairman of the group is Dr. Edwin Weber of Fraser, president of the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church.

Members of the board of directors of the committee include the Most Rev. Alexander M. Zaleski, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Lansing; Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Rubbin, president of the Council of Eastern Orthodox Churches of Greater Detroit, and Rabbi Joshua Sperka of Oak Park, secretary-treasurer of the Council of Orthodox Rabbis of Detroit.

Weber said the committee is opposed to any change in Michigan's abortion laws "because it is a threat to man's most fundamental right — the right to life."

"The issue is whether or not the law should sanction the destruction of innocent human life," Weber said. "Neither sound law nor sound morality has ever accepted the idea that this can be done."

Weber said the group is committed to the strengthening of the family as the basic unit of society and to supporting the dignity and worth of disadvantaged persons.

The committee, Weber said, "will defend the interest of the physically and mentally handicapped, the security of our senior citizens and the delinquent and dependent children, including the rights of the unborn child."

'Tis Party Season by Land or Sea

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Parties, parties, everybody's giving parties!

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jayne will lead off the weekend line-up with a little dinner party Friday at their home in Bloomfield Hills. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Colombo, the Frank Audettes and the Paul McKenneys.

Bill and Carol Baldwin of Lone Pine Road will have a sizeable group of friends over for cocktails Saturday evening.

YACHT GALA

Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Parsons of Birmingham, in town for the moment, will host a party Sunday somewhere off Palm Beach aboard the yacht they have a quarter interest in.

The other three share-owners — Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fisher of Bloomfield Hills, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Holmes of Birmingham, and the Thomas H. Wagners, also of Bloomfield Hills — will be there, of course.

The Parsons family, along with Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, just spent ten days cruising in the Caribbean aboard the yacht, fondly dubbed "Arbitrage" by its banker owners.

The sailors set out from Grenada, an island at the top of South America, and wound up in Martinique. They made a point of searching out the smaller, almost isolated islands, the kind we all dream sometime of getting away to.

With the Parsonses were their three — Jim, 12; Sarah, 10 and Donald, 6 — matched one for one by the three Holmes offspring, Jim, 14; Stephen, 11 and Billy, 8.

SPLIT UP

At Martinique, the Holmes clan stayed aboard while the Parsons family headed for their Palm Beach home for 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Matthaeis Jr., of Bloomfield Hills, were also at the little French island, chartering a sailboat named "Lord Jim."

Another couple from the neighborhood, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Kilborne, were sunning themselves in Palm Beach. They are back in town now.

Unit to Aid Lions Club at 'White Cane' Sale

Psi chapter, Sigma Beta Sorority, will assist the Pontiac Lions Club with their "White Cane" sale scheduled for April 25, 26 and 27, for the benefit of the Pontiac League of the Blind building fund.

A millionaires party will be held April 19 at Roma's. Mrs. Thomas Thornberry is in charge of ticket sales. Others heading committees are Mrs. Homer McMahon, Mrs. Ezio Bisogni and Mrs. Carmen Tosto.

Mrs. Bisogni is Psi's candidate for Lt. Governor of Province I in the election to be held May 18 at Pine Knob Resort.

Vows Exchanged by Couples

Temple Israel, Detroit, was the setting Thursday for marriage vows uniting Joanne Elizabeth Stout and Donald A. Gottlieb.

For the candlelight ceremony, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Stout of Watkins Lake chose a marquisette gown accented with peau d'ange lace appliques. White orchids and rosebuds comprised her bouquet.

Mrs. Thomas Mettler was matron of honor for the bride with Mrs. Vernon P. Hovis and Vizma Strazdins as bridesmaids.

On the esquire side, Marvin Gottlieb was best man for the son of Mrs. Morris Gottlieb of Flint and the late Mr. Gottlieb. Daniel McLario and Harvey Jacobs were ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Temple hall.

Beach-Dafoe

A reception at the Amercian Legion Hall, Auburn Heights, Saturday feted newlyweds, the Dan B. Beaches (nee Kayleen Dafoe) following their wedding in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Carrying a bouquet of yellow roses with white orchids, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle W. Dafoe of Village Drive, was attired in peau de soie with lace accents.

Nine Mayhew was maid of honor with Kay Beach of Port Huron and Mrs. Michael Workman as bridesmaids. Wendy Stein was flower girl.

Best man was Michael Schmidt of Port Huron with Michael Bowers and Michael Dillar, both of Port Huron, as ushers.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Beach of Port Huron and his bride are honeymooning in New York.

Leaf-Dunnigan

Newlyweds, the Charles Nicholas Leafs (nee Susan Carol Dunnigan) were feted at the Metropolitan Club of Pontiac following vows Saturday in St. Michael's Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Dunnigan Jr. of East Newport Street. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Frances M. Leaf of Keego Harbor and Charles M. Leaf of Royal Oak.

Attired in an Empire waisted gown with lace accents, the former Miss Dunnigan carried a bouquet of white roses with Stephanotis.

Honor attendants were Lesley Rollison and Larry Walczyk with Janet Vandecar and Lillian Sexton as bridesmaids and Daniel Steward, Michael Williams and Michael Dunnigan as ushers.

Gerald Dunnigan IV and Mary Pruente were ring bearer and flower girl.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Arizona.

Pythian Sisters Hold Confab

Pythian Sisters of Michigan from District 8 met in an all-day convention today at the Elks Temple. Members attending this annual convention came from Port Huron, Flint, Oxford, Birmingham and Detroit. Mizpah Temple No. 7 of Pontiac was the hostess group.

Among the reports was one on a joint project to send 32 underprivileged girls to camp at the Michigan Pythian Children's Camp at Burt Lake.

Cochairmen for the day were Mrs. Reino Perkio and Mrs. John DePauw. Their assistants were Mesdames: Elton Losey, Karl Erickson, William Barrette, Glen Pittenger, Adelbert Ayres, Harry Harrington and Harry H. Pattison.

Mrs. Clement E. Nelson of Walled Lake, a Grand Temple officer, took part in the meeting.

Whittier PTA Sets Panel Discussion

A panel discussion on 'Housing' will be featured Wednesday at the Whittier School PTA meeting.

Joining community school director Harold Rose, who will moderate the discussion, will be Clayton Jones, assistant director of Lakeside Housing, Bill Jackson of Harambee, and James Kirk, relocation specialist for Pontiac.

The meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will also include the election and installation of officers for the coming school year. The public is invited to attend.

Here's Worksaver

To remove old linoleum easily, place dry ice in a burlap bag. Lay the bag on the linoleum to be removed and move it about over the surface as you work. The dry ice makes the linoleum brittle, so that it will slip up and come off in large pieces — saving you hours of labor.

Pre-Cut Fringe for Decoration

Now there's a pre-cut, prefringed skirt that can be pressed onto a regular window shade to produce an easy-do custom look in minutes. It is made to match translucent window shades called "Sunchex." These give privacy and light filtered of glare. Each kit contains directions showing simple steps for attaching the selfadhesive skirt.

Spice canned beef bouillon with lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce and serve over ice as a before-dinner offering.

Naval Officer Has a Big Day

WHITE

Naval officer Jack M. White, the son of Mrs. Viola M. White of 94 Dwight, was promoted to commander and selected for a top Navy assignment on the same day last week.

Cmdr. White received a detachment for a new assignment as public affairs officer for the commander of naval forces in Vietnam and news of his promotion Friday. He will be headquartered in Saigon on the staff of Vice Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr.

He previously served as public affairs officer for the U.S. Naval Academy for 32 months. Before his detachment from the academy, White was presented a Naval Academy plaque by the superintendent, a certificate of appreciation from the Annapolis Navy League chapter and a plaque from the Annapolis Chamber of Commerce.

White holds a B.A. in journalism from Central Michigan University, an M.A. from the University of Michigan and a Ph.D. in mass communications from Michigan State University.

AT RADIO STATION

White served two years of active duty at the Naval Radio Station in Pearl Harbor after graduating from college, then returned to civilian status and spent eight years in educational public relations.

Holding the rank of lieutenant in the Naval Reserve, he was recalled to active duty in 1964.

White's decorations include the National Defense Service medal with star, the Armed Forces Expeditionary medal, the Vietnam Service medal with two stars, the Armed Forces Service medal and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign medal.

His wife, Joanne, and their two daughters, Lisa, 14, and Christine, 12, will make their home in Orlando, Fla., while White is stationed in Saigon.

Cost to State of Campus Strife Is Eyed

The full cost of campus disturbances, including damage and time loss, will be made known to the public if Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township, has his way.

ANDERSON

In a letter to Gov. William Milliken, Anderson asked for the financial accounting and for meetings between the governor's staff and school administrations and organizations in an attempt to head off further trouble.

He urged Milliken to "take immediate steps to improve communications with school administration . . . and legitimate student organizations." He asked for meetings on a regular basis.

Regarding the cost of disturbances, Anderson said, "To my knowledge, the economic cost to the public has never been given, but it surely is high time it is made known."

Now, while the sky is blue

....think about tornadoes. They cannot be stopped. But they can be seen. People can be warned. Lives can be saved.

When your area receives a tornado watch, tornadoes are expected to develop. Watch for the funnel cloud. Listen for its roar. If you see it - and there is time - report it by telephone as quickly as possible to your Weather Bureau or the nearest public safety office.

SKYWARN

When your area receives a tornado warning, one has been sighted. You are in danger. Take cover below ground level or in a strong building. Open windows, but stay away from glass. Curl up. Shield your head. If you are caught outside, lie flat in the nearest depression.

Remember, seconds save lives. The few seconds you have just spent reading this may save yours.

Seminar on Cancer Shows Some Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Is cancer research winning payoffs?

Once a year, the American Cancer Society stages a kind of annual checkup into this question — at a seminar where scientists report their latest findings to science writers.

Early this month, 51 scientists spoke at such a seminar in New Orleans. Many, in effect, lighted new candles of hope for better detection, treatment and prevention of some kinds of cancer, and new insights into the puzzling behavior of cancer cells.

But, as in the past, only time will tell whether initial hopes will sputter out or become enduring contributions to resolve the mysteries of cancer.

Cancer is not just one but probably many diseases, depending partly in what organs or tissues it occurs, specialists point out. An immense challenge is to learn why a "wild" cancer cell behaves differently from the normal, well-behaved cell.

PECK AWAY

Faced with this, researchers peck away at bits of the huge problem.

They place bets across a wide board, since no one can be sure there is one big payoff number.

The "answer" might come in knowledge of causes — and therefore means of prevention — or in cashing in on ways in which a drug or radiation could kill a cancer cell but not harm a normal one, or through basic understandings of normal life processes among the billions of cells that make up a living body.

Thus, this year's research checkup produced a number of optimistic reports on small pieces of the cancer attack. Among them:

- A blood test might become able to detect cancers of the bowel almost before they really become started. That could mean early removal or special treatment before the cancers spread, even before radical surgery might be needed. Cancers of the colon and rectum are expected to afflict 73,000 Americans this year, killing 46,000 of them. That toll will be second only to lung cancer deaths.

The basis for this preliminary hope is discovery by Dr. Phil Gold and associates of McGill University in Montreal of a detectable chemical substance — characteristic or specific only to bowel cancers — that circulates in the blood stream. Testing for it, they were able to identify a small number of patients with bowel cancer.

Dr. Gold expressed a proper caution. It's easy, he said, to bat 1.000 in a few times at bat, but it's the total season record that counts. In other words, several thousand patients must be tested before the value of such a blood test can become clear.

- Cancer cells growing in test-tube cultures are found to connect themselves by bridges of their own cellular material. They apparently communicate this way.

Some Vaccine Within Year?

By Science Service

NEW ORLEANS — Evidence that at least some human cancers may be caused by viruses is mounting so rapidly that researchers in the field predict that a vaccine to prevent them might be produced within a year. It would be many years after that, however, before such a vaccine could be in widespread use.

Circumstantial evidence shows that viruses clearly cause cancers in mice and other animals, and they are associated with some human cancers.

But proof of a causative role in human malignancies has eluded the most careful researchers, partly because they cannot inject a suspect virus into a patient and wait to see whether or not he develops a lethal disease, as they can with white rats.

Nevertheless, in at least one type of human cancer, the circumstantial evidence is rising fast. The cancers are leukemia-like malignancies of the lymph system; the suspect is the EB or Epstein-Barr virus.

Skipper With a 'Roving Eye'

He Has His 3rd All-Girl Crew

LOS GATOS, Calif. (UPI) — For skipper Lee Quinn, sailing around the world is one pair of nylons after another hanging from the yardarm.

While many men merely dream of surrounding themselves with beautiful women and sailing to faraway places, Quinn has made a reality of this reverie.

Twice the boyish-looking, 42-year-old steeplejack turned sailor has circled the globe with an all-girl crew. Now he is selecting a new group for yet another voyage.

Applicants need meet few qualifications. They "must want to sail like crazy," be able to pay for their own food and cut a trim figure in deck pants. In addition, they must deposit enough money for their return fare if they tire of the trip.

Why all-girl crew?

'WHY NOT?'

"Why not?" answers Quinn with a chuckle. "If I could think of a nicer way to spend my time, I'd do it. Girls are really a lot of fun, you know."

Besides, he said, they are "more docile, take orders and don't cause trouble at sea like some men."

Quinn speaks from experience. Since he began his unusual cruises in 1962, 78 crewwomen have accompanied him on voyages aboard the Neophyte and its successors, the 48-foot cutter Neophyte Too.

"Some of them haven't worked out and left," Quinn said. "But as a group they've been a hardy lot. They have to be since there's no place to stop and rest in the middle of an ocean. There aren't any parking meters out there."

'Feeding Curbs Breast Cancer'

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian Eskimo women have supplanted Japanese as having the world's lowest incidence of breast cancer, and a Canadian medical specialist attributes this to breast feeding.

Dr. Otto Schaefer of the Northern Medical Research Unit of Edmonton's Charles Camsell Hospital said Canadian Eskimos traditionally nurse a child three or more years, and the mothers are usually in continuous lactation from age 17 to 50.

A 15-year medical study of the Canadian Eskimo population, which increased from less than 9,000 to more than 13,000 in that time, turned up only one case of breast cancer—a 40-year-old woman who nursed seven of her 10 children for less than the normal period.

In Japan and among Greenland Eskimos, said Schaefer, breast feeding had declined in popularity and as a result he said, the incidence of breast cancer is increasing. Japan's mortality from breast cancer almost doubled between 1910 and 1950, he said.

Schaefer didn't rule out heredity as a cause of breast cancer, but added: "The common contributing factor appears to be either the decrease in the duration of breast feeding or its complete elimination—a result of assimilation by Western culture."

Ship to Rehearse Apollo Recovery

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The USS Ozark will stage a rehearsal off Charleston Wednesday for recovery of Apollo 10 astronauts and their command module.

The Ozark is a mine countermeasures support ship based in Charleston. She will be the first ship of her class to participate in the mid-South Atlantic as a contingency recovery ship should the astronauts be forced to land in that area rather than in the Pacific landing area.

GM
MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Nobody takes your pleasure as seriously as we do.

(A lot of hard work goes into making Chevrolet driving a soft job.)

One of the reasons you can take off in a Chevrolet with hardly a worry in the world is that we have some pretty good guys to do your worrying for you. They try to anticipate just about any driving problem you may face, and design Chevrolets in such a manner as to leave you one up. Here are some examples.

Super Scoop for the Camaro

As engine temperatures escalate, so does the need for air. Hence, Super Scoop, a good-looking addition to the Camaro SS or Z/28 hood shovels up cooler outside air and shoots it to the carburetor to boost performance. And get this. The door of the scoop is power operated so it lets in more air whenever you need it.

Side Guard Door Beam

Ever drive along a freeway and notice that heavy guard rail in the center that separates you from the oncoming traffic?

Well, now a new Side Guard Door Beam is in every full-size Chevrolet—Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood Estate, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood.

It puts a guard rail on either side of you—inside the doors. And not surprisingly they look a good deal like the ones you see along the road—heavy bars of corrugated steel.

Headlight washer

Face it. Into each vacation a little rain will probably fall, and it's going to mess up not only the window glass but the headlights of your car. Chevrolet has a slick device you can order that washes your headlights as you drive.

You just push a button and pulsating jets of washer-solvent flush the grime and road dirt off your outboard headlight lenses. A great foul weather friend.

Anti-Theft Lock System

There's nothing quite so distressing as coming out of a restaurant in a strange town, heading toward your car and discovering it's gone.

Which is why we've made the '69 Chevrolet such a tough car to steal. When you take your ignition key with you (and we have a buzz to remind you to do just that) you lock not only the ignition but the steering wheel and transmission selector lever as well.

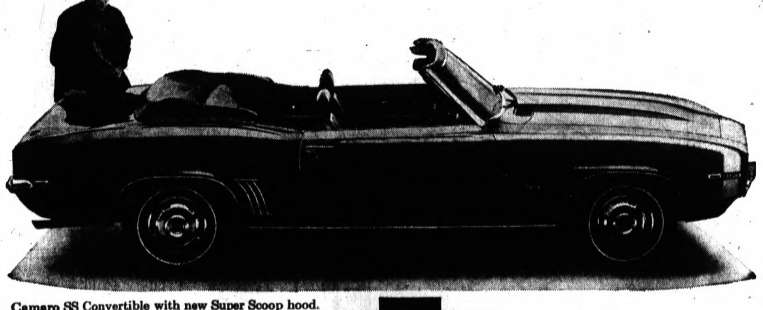

Bigger and better base engines

To keep you out of trouble you need an engine that's as quick as your reflexes. That's why Chevrolet installs the biggest standard V8 and Six in its field on its full-size models.

By the way, these are the regular gas base engines we're talking about. If you want to order the most powerful V8 engine in its field, period, Chevrolet's got that, too. It's one of many choices you have in Chevrolet's Sports-Recreation Dept.

Now that you know about a few of the ways Chevrolet assists you, why not stop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and learn about a good many more. Nobody is going to spoil your good time, if Chevrolet has anything to say about it.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

The Roth-Stone system developed by Alvin Roth and his old partner Tobias Stone possessed two basic features that set it apart from Standard American.

The first feature was the sound opening bid. They would pass hands in first or second seat that almost anyone else would open. The second was their unwillingness to open the bidding before partner had passed without a five-card suit. In other words, they did not open four-card majors.

Of course, we seldom open four-card majors ourselves, but we don't absolutely refuse to do so. We like our partners to assume that our opening major suit is at least five cards in length.

In "Modern Bridge Bidding Complete," Roth sticks to his five-card majors but has reduced his minimum opening bid requirements to 14 Roth points, including at leaast 10 high-card points. The difference between a Roth point and a Goren or Jacoby point is that he adds one point for a six-card major and two points for a seven card major, and the same one or two points for a good six-or-seven-card minor.

Today's South hand is an example of the new Roth-Rubens minimum opening bid. South had 14 Roth points made up of 10 for high cards, three for the singleton and doubleton, and one extra for the sixth spade. North raises game and South has no trouble making 10 tricks, since he can trump his queen, seven and deuce of hearts in dummy.

We made up the hands since the book only showed South. We chose them carefully. East and West each held 11 high-card points. Neither has an opening bid so that if South does pass, the chances are that the hand will be passed out.

What do you do now?

A—Just bid three hearts. Your partner does not have to hold any hearts at all.

Your partner rebids to three spades. What do you do now?

21 Likely to Begin Jail Terms Tomorrow

Twenty-one men free on bond since their convictions on gambling charges years ago probably will begin serving their prison sentences tomorrow.

Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Dennis Donohue said that he was informed yesterday by their attorney that they will turn themselves over to authorities at the county jail.

The only thing that might block the mass surrender would be if the Michigan Supreme Court either today or tomorrow overrules an Oakland County Circuit Court order canceling the bonds.

Last month, Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem revoked the bonds after the convictions were upheld by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

TIME FOR APPEAL

He gave defense attorney Carlton Roeser of Pontiac 20 days to appeal the decision, and to date no reply has been received from the high court.

Donohue said that based on past experience it is unlikely that the Supreme Court would overturn Ziem's order.

Twnety of the defendants were convicted in August 1965 of gambling offenses at the Steren Assembly Club in Madison Heights.

The other is Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi of Detroit who was found guilty in June 1966 of bribing a Pontiac police officer who was working undercover to break up a gambling operation at the now defunct Seaway Civic and Social Club in Pontiac.

BRIBERY, CONSPIRACY

Lombardi was sentenced to two to four years for the bribery and two to five years for a second count of conspiracy.

In the Steren case, 16 of the defendants received from one to five years while the others were placed on probation with the first 90 days to be spent in the county jail.

Lombardi, and two men in the Steren case, Eddie Guarella and Joseph Brooklier, have been linked to the Mafia in the Detroit area in testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee.

City Police Probing Shooting of Man, 24

Pontiac police detectives said they are investigating the shooting of a city resident early yesterday.

Barry Whittake, 24, of 61 Orton is at Pontiac General Hospital in serious condition in the intensive care unit with a bullet wound in the abdomen. A hospital spokesman said he is improving.

Police said a gunman got into an argument with Whittaker at a dance at Lull and Wessen, then shot Whittaker when he went outside.

3 Men Injured in Area Mishap

Two men are in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital from injuries received in a truck accident yesterday in West Bloomfield Township.

Township police said Charles T. Miller of 135 Maudlin, Novi was driving his pickup truck north on Haggerty when a large piece of equipment fell off a tractor - trailer driving ahead of him and onto his vehicle. The accident occurred at 4:43 p.m.

Miller, 43, and his two passengers, John Miller, 40, of the same address and William Shelton, 38, of 1635 W. Lake, Walled Lake, were injured.

Shelton was treated and released while John Miller will undergo surgery today.

William D. Blackledge, 34, of 7035 Locklin, West Bloomfield Township, was driving the tractor - trailer owned by D. & H Richman Excavating Inc., Union Lake.

Youth in Hospital as Driver Has Mind on Golf

A West Bloomfield Township driver looked at his golf scorecard while leaving a golf course and crashed his auto into a tree, sending his passenger to the hospital last night.

Christopher Baldwin, 18, of 7380 Honeysuckle, West Bloomfield Township, is in satisfactory condition after undergoing surgery at Pontiac General Hospital.

The driver, Michael T. Ryan, 17, of 7679 Barnsbury, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies he was driving down a driveway at Edgewood Country Club in Commerce Township when he took his eyes off the road to look at his scorecard.

He was treated at the hospital and released.

County Units Facing Curb on Lobbyists

The boom is about to be lowered on enterprising county departments which reportedly send their own lobbyists to Lansing — sometimes in direct opposition to board of supervisor policy.

A letter is going out to department heads from the legislative committee of the board, requesting that county policy be followed.

The committee yesterday discussed what Chairman Carl O'Bien, D-Pontiac, called a prevalent practice — the lobbying for special legislation by departments. "The Oakland County Health Department is the worst offender," O'Brien charged.

Steps were taken to rectify the situation in which department budgets are available for department lobbying expenses, but county's legislative representative, John Grubba, is bound to a modest expense account.

SUM RECOMMENDED

The committee recommended that the finance committee set aside a sum ($5,000 was mentioned but not officially) for Grubba's use.

In other business, Grubba told the committee that Oakland County has been included on a new Department of Natural Resource's list making it eligible to share in $285 million of voted water pollution bonds. He said the county could receive as much as $13.5 million.

The committee went on record favoring Gov. William Milliken's plan for a 30-30-40 split in recreation bonds.

Under the plan Oakland County would share in the first $30 million with all counties of the state, and it would share in the second $30 million with just 18 counties. The remaining $40 million is earmarked for the Conservation Department.

County Seeks Bids on Drains

The Oakland County Drain Commission will accept bids May 19 on four projects estimated to cost nearly $2.7 million, according to James Nichols, deputy drain commissioner.

The projects include the Levinson Drain, estimated at $2.2 million to be constructed at South Boulevard and Opdyke in Pontiac Township. It would serve Pontiac Township, Pontiac and Bloomfield Township.

Other projects are the Osgood Drain in Lake Orion, estimated at $140,000; the Kollar Drain around Walnut Lake in West Bloomfield Township, estimated at $60,000; and the Jilbert Drain in Southfield, estimated at $185,000.

Nichols said only the Lake Orion project is prepaid. Bonds will have to be sold to construct the other projects. He said work should be started on the drains sometime this fall.

U.S. colleges and universities graduated about 630,000 students this year.

Crash Kills Man

MIDLAND (AP) — Larry Diener, 23, of Merrill, apparently fell asleep and his car slammed into a bridge abutment north of here, killing him instantly, police said Monday. There were no skid marks to indicate Diener had tried to stop the car, officers said.

Court Verdict Is Awaited on Antismoking-Ad Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — A verdict on the government's power to force radio and television stations to use antismoking messages could come from the Supreme Court, perhaps within the next few weeks.

While Congress contemplates new legislation, the court could guide the lawmakers by ruling on the claim that the Constitution's broad guarantee against government censorship can be used as a shield against regulation of radio-TV advertising.

The tobacco and broadcasting industries are banking heavily on First Amendment freedom of speech and press guarantees as they try to cut down the 1967 Federal Communications Commission rule requiring antismoking messages.

Successful in court so far, the FCC has moved on to propose a flat ban on all cigarette commercials on radio and television — with the possible exception of cigarettes "low in tar and nicotine and related filter aspects."

The fate of this stiffer fiat probably rests as much with the Supreme Court as with Congress.

The FCC, for its part, has brushed aside the First Amendment argument and pitched its case to protecting the public against "the powerful blandishments" of cigarette advertising.

The agency argues that one side to the debate over smoking, the cigarette manufacturers, have "economic interests and resources unmatched by any opponent."

Teens to Vie for Driving Honors

Five area teen-agers will participate in the state finals of Operation Driver Excellence Saturday in Grandville. The traffic safety program is co-sponsored by the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp. and AMVETS "partners in safety."

The Jimmy Day Post No. 12 of the Pontiac AMVETS and Spartan Dodge, 855 Oakland, will jointly sponsor the trip for the five safe-driving candidates selected from area high schools by the heads of driver education departments. The students are: Charles R. Clancy of Pontiac Northern, Wayne Generaux of Pontiac Central, Debbie Jones of Waterford Mott, Jeffrey Irvin of Waterford Kettering and Frank Ballard of Waterford Township High School.

Each state winner, accompanied by a chaperone of his choice, is awarded a weekend trip to the national finals in Detroit May 18. The program is conducted under strict supervision including a written test and the judging of driving skills.

The national winner receives a new Dodge, a $1,000 scholarship and a trophy. The two runners-up are each awarded a $1,000 scholarship and a trophy.

The center would allow many of the area's mothers to take jobs.

Other items on the agenda include several street improvement projects.

Drug Sentence

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Harlan Piercey, the son of Muskegon County Circuit Judge John Piercey, was sentenced Monday to one year in county jail for sale of LSD. Piercey, 24, was arrested twice in Ottawa County last year on various narcotics charges. Piercey, who pleaded guilty in December to the sale of LSD, was given credit for 231 days already spent in jail.

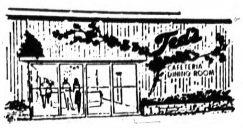

Dirty oven? Set the controls, then go — anywhere! The '69 gas oven will clean itself — no matter how dirty. And quick as a wink, you've done one less back-breaking, time-consuming chore. What else does a gas range do besides clean up after you? Everything from starting dinner while you're gone to keeping a complete meal deliciously ready-to-serve when you're late. The flame's the same on the '69 gas range, so cooking with gas is still a matter of good taste.

Investors Remain Cautious

Stock Market Drifts Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Investors continued cautious early this afternoon, and the stock market drifted lower in moderate trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.80 at 929.84.

Declines led advances by a bit better than 150 issues.

The market apparently was continuing in a consolidation phase that set in late last week, brokers said.

They said the market's latest peace hope rally peaked late last Thursday and was followed the by the current consolidation period, which the market closed kind of pattern, barely on the upside Friday and lost a bit of ground Monday.

"Many individual investors be sitting on the sidelines, just watching and waiting for a solid piece of stimulating news out of the Vietnam peace talks," an analyst said. "With nothing in the headlines to spur the market, it's just following a dull

COMMUNIBANK 500

The total banking plan from Community National Bank

Ever wished you owned your own bank? Meet the next best thing —CommuniBank 500.

Basically it's a special time savings account with maximum permissible interest. But there's a lot more to it than that.

Put a minimum of $500 in a CommuniBank time account and you get all this as well:

FREE PERSONAL CHECKING
And no minimum balance required! So there's never a service charge, no matter how much money is in your checking account.

5% INTEREST COMPOUNDED DAILY
The maximum interest the law allows, automatically credited to your account every quarter, providing money remains on deposit 90 days.

AUTOMATIC PERSONAL LINE OF CREDIT
As long as you're a CommuniBank customer there's a revolving $500 line of credit available for your use at low bank rates.

CHECK GUARANTEE CARD
This handsome card, with your color photograph on it, tells merchants that CNB guarantees your personal checks up to $100.

That's total banking. And no other bank in the Oakland-Macomb area can come close to matching it. All you need to do is make a trip to one of the 21 convenient Community National offices. Stop in today and be one of the original CommuniBankers.

Car Care
Put fresh zip in the old car now!

Driver Education 'Father' Speaks

'Safety a Three-Legged Stool'

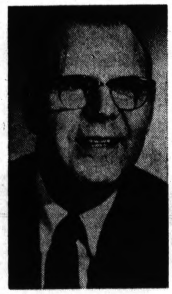

Amos E. Neyhart, for more than 35 years a tireless ambassador for traffic safety, likens his field to a three-legged stool.

"You take a properly educated driver, give him a well-engined vehicle and then design a modern highway that can handle the traffic and you'll see a terrific reduction in the accident rate," says the director emeritus of the institute of public safety at Pennsylvania State University.

"Eliminate one of these factors and you're in trouble. It's like a three-legged stool, knock a leg out and the stool will fall."

For all his considerable achievements in his chosen profession, Neyhart is best renowned as the father of driver education in the nation.

AMOS E. NEYHART

DRIVER EDUCATION

For it was in 1933 that Neyhart, equipping his 1929 Graham Paige with dual controls and footing the bills himself, taught the first driver education course in the country.

There were 34 state college and high school pupils in that class. Today the estimate is that almost 15 million students have learned to drive from courses modeled after Neyhart's original edition of 36 years ago.

At last count, 13,311 of the nation's 17,954 high schools — or 74 per cent — offer approved courses in driver training. By the same token, latest statistics also show that 56 per cent of the nation's pupil population — 1,725,380 of 3,093,348 students — are enrolled in driver education programs.

How did the whole thing come about?

"Well," said Neyhart as he sipped a cup of coffee in the campus offices of the institute, "I'm an industrial engineer by profession.

"But from my years in industry, I learned that you made no headway with your safety programs until you convinced the employe that he had a personal stake in accident prevention.

"The same thing applied to driving. If we were going to make traffic safety work, we had to work with the individual.

"We had to get 'em before they learned bad habits. And when was the best time for that? Just as soon as they're old enough to drive, and that meant high school."

STILL ACTIVE

Today, at an age (69) when most men would be thinking of a relaxing afternoon on the front porch, Neyhart is almost, if not quite, as active.

"I just can't sit back when there's a lot of work to be done and potentially a lot of lives to be saved," he said at the time of his retirement.

Looking back, while Neyhart is impressed with the variety of sophisticated aids and machinery to be utilized through the years in the teaching of safety education, he still acknowledges some shortcomings.

"Why don't we teach people how to drink and drive?" he asked recently. "We know they're not going to stop drinking so why don't we teach 'em that it takes the physical system 1½ hours to throw off a jigger of whisky?

UNEXPLORED AREA

"For the incorrigibles, there's only one way to handle them — with a stiff jail sentence and a high fine."

Another area which has been left unexplored, Neyhart says, is teaching people to drive at high speeds. "With these new superhighways, everyone should know how to decelerate a vehicle from the legal speed limit," he theorizes.

And finally, he advocates the construction of community driving areas — simulated obstacle courses to give drivers experience in handling an automobile when "they go into a skid; when their tires blow; when they run off the shoulder; when their brakes give out on a windy roadway, things like that."

He says: "We've been teaching manipulative skills; how to start, steer, back up, make turns.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE — Today's driver training courses include plenty of behind-the-wheel instruction. Driver training is offered in more than 13,000 high schools. Participating in approved classes are 1,725,380 students. Since 1933, some 15 million have attended driver education courses.

Proper Maintenance Can Cut Car Costs

Are you driving an economy car on a luxury car budget?

Chances are this is the case if you aren't driving and servicing your car properly. Getting the best performance from your car at the least possible expenditure depends on how you drive and how you care for your car.

Take the matter of gasoline consumption. Tests conducted on an international basis by Champion Spark Plug Co. last year showed how condition of the car affects gasoline mileage.

Champion transported a dynamometer on wheels to shopping centers in the United States, Canada and Mexico to test effects of tune-up on gasoline mileage.

RESULTS OF TEST

Cars were tested for gasoline consumption before tune-up, after installation of new spark plugs and after a complete tune-up.

Average improvement after installation of new spark plugs alone was 6.2 per cent in the U.S. and Canada. Average improvement after complete tune-up was 8.2 per cent.

Thus, close to two gallons in every tankful of gasoline can be saved when the engine is kept in tune.

Proper maintenance can also save as much as 20 percent in tire life.

IMPROVES MILEAGE

Keeping tires at recommended air pressures not only saves wear on tires but actually helps improve gasoline mileage. Underinflated tires, especially, are thieves of gasoline.

In addition to proper inflation, balancing the wheels and correct wheel alignment are essential to maximum tire wear.

Experts estimate that tires subjected to unbalancing and wrong alignment could easily wear out six months prematurely.

Another ingredient to economical driving is using the best grades of oil available and changing that oil and filter at recommended intervals.

Good oil, properly maintained, can save inestimable yet substantial wear on vital engine parts. Neglect of oil could lead to a premature deterioration of rods and pistons and could require a major engine overhaul.

In fact, any program of preventive maintenance is the most economical investment you can make. Lubrication performed on time saves steering and chassis components.

Attention to brake condition makes each service reasonably priced instead of excessively costly as in cases where drums are scored through neglect.

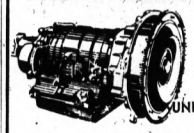

The above are but a few examples of potential savings through systematic preventive maintenance.

The biggest payoff for a well-cared-for car would come at trade-in time.

An untuned car is horns in your ears.

Horns in your ears . . . a missed appointment . . . a tow-truck ride . . . a pounding head and a lot of other things to spoil your driving. That's what an untuned car is.

Untuned car trouble results from old worn spark plugs in an untuned engine. The cure is quick and effective. It's a Champion Tune-Up: a new set of Champion spark plugs plus other basic tune-up items you may need.

You'll feel the difference pronto. Trouble-free starting. Quicker acceleration for safer highway passing. More power. Dependable performance. And an average saving of over a gallon of gas per tankful—proved in United States Auto Club certified tests.

For trouble-free driving, get a Champion Tune-Up now—and every 10,000 miles. Because an untuned car is trouble!

Periodic Tune-Up Helps Cut Air Pollution

Good car care takes on added importance these days — to you, your pocketbook, and the air you breathe. This is especially so if you own a car built during the past seven years, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

If your car is a 1963 or later model, it is equipped with a device to control pollutants that would otherwise come from the engine crankcase.

If you own a 1968 or 1969 model, it also has a system for reducing tail pipe emissions.

These devices and systems, however, will continue to work properly — and, what's more, allow the engine to perform satisfactorily — only if you have your car checked regularly.

CRANKCASE CONTROLS

A periodic tune-up will save you money in fuel and repair costs, give you a smoother running car, and help cut down on air pollution.

The first device to control automotive pollution was installed nationally in all 1963 cars.

The device — called the "positive crankcase ventilation," or PCV valve — was designed to recirculate unburned hydrocabrons back to the engine where they have another chance to burn.

Formerly, these unburned gases (called blowby gases) escaped past the piston rings into the crankcase, where they were vented into the air.

CUTS EMISSIONS

Installation of the PCV device cut total hydrocarbon emissions from the typical car by 24 per cent, compared with cars without the device.

The PCV valve will continue to do its job in controlling hydrocarbon emissions if it's periodically inspected and serviced as required under your car warranty.

Other wise, you may be in for trouble.

Over a period of time, crankcase fumes tend to build up gums or varnishes. These could cause the valve to stick and not function.

If the valve gets stuck in the open position, the carburetor will feed the engine too lean a mixture of fuel and air. The result: poor starting possible frequent stalling while you wait and idle at a stoplight.

FUMES TRAPPED

In the more likely event that the valve sticks in the closed position, crankcase fumes will be trapped in the crankcase.

These fumes will either escape through the oil filler breather cap (if the breather cap is clean), or form sludge in the crankcase. This can create corrosive acids, which ruin engine bearings.

The best way to prevent formation of these acids is to have the valve checked each time you have your oil changed or engine tuned.

Most car manufactureres recommend periodic replacement of the PCV valve. This can be done inexpensively and easily by your service station mechanic. This preventive maintenance can prove to be cheap insurance against an expensive bearing replacement job.

The second significant step in automotive pollution control occurred, nationally, with the installation of exhaust control systems, beginning with 1968 cars. These systems are designed to control both hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions.

In most 1968 and 1969 cars, the exhaust control system is based on modification of the engine to achieve a lean fuel mixture and retarded ignition to produce higher combustion temperatures.

These exhaust control systems, together with the PCV valve, reduce total hydrocarbon emissions about two-thirds.

Exhaust controls also cut carbon monoxide emissions by around 60 per cent, compared to earlier cars without such controls.

MAINTENANCE REASONS

These systems are thus very efective in reducing tail pipe emissions but they make regular maintenance all the more essential. Here's why:

- Your spark plugs run hotter and may have to be replaced more often.
- Only periodic tune-ups can keep the pollution control system and its parts (air pumps, pump drive belts, air hoses and other hardware) working at top efficiency — both to insure satisfactory and economical engine operation and to minimize exhaust emissions.

The auto and oil industries are continuing to work to further reduce auto pollution.

The 1970 models will have improved exhaust controls to reduce hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions by some 30 per cent below the levels of the 1968 and 1969 models.

REDUCTIONS

The 1971 models are expected to have devices that will virtually eliminate evaporation of fuel from the carburetor and fuel tank.

With this step, total hydrocarbon emissions will have been reduced by around 85 per cent. And farther on down the road are systems, now in the experimental stage, that have the potential to control auto pollution even more.

Today, less than half the cars on the road do not have any pollution controls. In another 2-3 years, this will be true of only 25 per cent of the nation's cars.

As more pre-1963 cars are scrapped, at least one part of the auto pollution problem — crankcase emissions — will be fully solved before too long.

Meanwhile, even if your car has no pollution controls, it will emit fewer pollutants if it's kept in good operating condition.

An engine — no matter what its age — with one bad spark plug will not only perform poorly; it may also emit up to 25 times more hydrocarbons than a properly tuned engine.

And a faulty carburetor or choked adjustment can cost you money by permitting one gallon of gasoline out of every tankful to pass into the air unburned.

Whether your car is old or new, it will perform better, last longer, cause les air pollution, and — most important — save you money in the long run, if you make sure it receives proper, regular care.

What's a safe distance to follow another car? Experts recommend one car length for every 10 miles per hour of speed on dry roads. When roads are slippery, the distance between should be doubled.

Trucker Strong Believer in Concentration

The last time you took the car out for a spin, did you:

- Leave parking lights burning upon your return?
- Leave a turn signal blinking unnecessarily?
- Drive off without sufficiently wiping or scraping windows in inclement weather?

NOT POINTING FINGERS

Those are common enough, everyday lapses, to be sure. And Daniel W. Hodowanes isn't pointing any fingers. But he said these are signs of a driver "not concentrating," and a driver not concentrating is not doing his best to drive safely."

Hodowanes is not a nitpicker. He takes this business of concentrating at the wheel very seriously.

He's Michigan's Truck Driver of the Year as selected by the Michigan Trucking Association and thus is eligible to compete with drivers from 30 other states for the American Trucking Association's National Driver of the Year award this spring.

Hodowanes, 45, married and father of two, is a soft-spoken but not timid Warren resident who has been driving a truck 21 years for Chrysler Corporation.

TOP DRIVER—Michigan's truck driver of the year, Dan Hodowanes of Warren, is concentrating on getting ready to compete for the honor of National Truck Driver of the Year later this spring. Hodowanes has been driving a truck for Chrysler Corp. for 21 years.

STUDIES BULLETINS

At home evenings, he will actually study monthly safety bulletins distributed by Lou Blanchard, safety manager at Chrysler's Inter plant Transportation Office.

That may explain why Dan excelled in a lengthy oral safety exam given by state officials during Driver-of-the-Year competitions.

They asked: "When should you stop for a school bus?"

Hodowanes wasn't biting. First he inquired: "On a two or four-land highway?"

Then he was able to give the right answer.

SAFETY CHECK

Hodowanes knows also that a good truck driver checks all the safety equipment — flares, pots, and flags — required in case of a breakdown. He's especially watchful for loose wheel lugs on his multitired 55-foot Dodge tractor and van.

He is hip to speed limits, traffic signs in all shapes and colors, and knows all sorts of valuable driving information that he can apply instantly when split second reaction may avert an accident.

Dan regards himself as almost a natural born truck driver because he has wanted to drive a truck ever since he was a toddler. By 16 he was operating heavy trucks and tractors on his father's farm. At 21, he owned his own truck and hauled cement.

He put his talents to work for Chrysler in 1948 and since has logged over one million miles without a blemish on his record.

NO SECRET TECHNIQUE

"I don't have a secret technique," said Hodowanes. "Today's vehicles are well manufactured with all the safety features to make it easy.

"Our highways are built more safely. Safe driving is promoted more. And I think that most people today honestly are trying to do a better job of driving.

"The challenge is to stay clear-headed and not get behind the wheel in a depressed state. A wife can be very helpful to her husband by seeing that he doesn't leave home each morning with a lot of problems on his mind. If you're preoccupied, you don't give driving the proper attention."

Dan averages driving 100 miles a day, mostly on two and four-lane roads, shuttling between Chrysler plants in the metropolitan Detroit area. There are a lot of stops and starts, plenty of tight cornering.

EXTRA CAREFUL

Because he is so extra careful with his 55-foot unit, his sedan handles like a kiddie car after work.

Hodowanes isn't so wrapped up in trucks and driving that he doesn't have time for a well-rounded, civic-minded life. His pastor, Father Gerome, of St. Josephat Ukrainian Catholic Church, said: "Dan makes running a parish easy."

Hodowanes is president of the Ushers Club and manages the church maintenance program without pay. He has worked through the parish Dad's Club and with the Detroit Police Traffic Safety Bureau to improve child safety programs, which helped him earn a National Safety Council award.

And he spends as much time as possible with his wife and family, which includes a son, Robert, 9, and a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Carol of Garden City.

Hodowanes is big on model car building. When he finishes a model, it goes in a glass case along with his favorites — including many model trucks, naturally.

And to add to the zest of everyday living, Hodowanes looks forward to weekends, holidays or vacations when he can put his family into the car, slide behind the wheel and drive away — on a nice, long, relaxing trip.

Fiber-Glass in Tires Gains

DETROIT (UPI) — The tires on your new car next year will give you much longer mileage, will let you stop better and give you more control in tight situations.

Auto companies are switching to fiber-glass belted tires.

General Motors is switching gradually this year. Starting in May, GM is shifting some of its car lines to the glass-belted tires, and more will be switched over as production of the tires increases until all lines are equipped with the belted tire.

Ford also is planning to switch to the new tires beginning with its 1970 cars, and industry sources say Chrysler and American Motors will too.

FEW HAVE TIRE

Right now, only a few low volume lines, including the American Motors sporty two-seater — the AMX — have the glass-belted tires as standard equipment, although some other makes offer them as optional equipment.

Fiber-glass belted tires are relatively new. They were offered to the public first only three years ago, at a time when the so-called radial ply tires, imported from Europe, were beginning to gain some headway in this country because of their longer-wearing qualities and better car-control characteristics.

But radials had one big drawback. They gave a much harsher ride than American tires, which are bias-plied.

American tires are built with the plies running at an angle to the tread, down to the bead. Radial tires have the plies wrapped at right-angles to the tread. They reduce so-called tread-squirming as the tire touches the road, and there is far less tendency for the tire to lean sideways off the rim in a sharp turn, thus giving superior control.

But the two big drawbacks were the harsh ride and much higher price.

Then came the glass-belted tires. These are built with two bias plies like the standard American tire, but with two additional belts running around the tire under the tread, made of fiber glass.

These tires are less expensive to build than radials, but virtually duplicate the wear and control characteristic of the radial. But they also offer nearly as good a soft ride as the bias-built tires.

The bias-belt tires will cost more than the conventional American tire, but considerably less than the radials. That probably means some increases in the price of the car.

But the increased cost can be more than recovered by the increased wear if they are properly maintained. Proper maintenance, of course, is a requirement for getting maximum wear out of any tire.

How much more wear will the bias-belt tire give over a conventional tire?

Estimates vary anywhere from 50 to a 100 per cent more wear.

Sprays Lighten Car Care Tasks

Cars need care, and the Aerosol Division, Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association, lists dozens in spray form to do the various jobs needed to keep your auto in the best possible running order.

The place to start your car care is under the hood, with an aerosol engine cleaner. A de-rusting spray will loosen nuts and bolts and remove any rust, and a carburetor and choke cleaner will spray away the carbon buildup.

A high-heat engine enamel, specially made for cars will make the oldest engine look factory-fresh, and also provide protection against rust and weathering.

You can also buy aerosol coating for your battery terminal, fan belt and ignition system which will cut the wear and tear on these parts, saving you some costly repairs and a lot annoyance.

Has the paint been marred or scraped? You can buy touch-up paint to match almost any U.S.-made car, a lot cheaper than a bodyshop paint job.

A combination cleaner-wax will save you the time and trouble of scrubbing the car, and for a really high sheen, use your cleaner-wax first and spray over it with plain auto wax. Then spray a chrome protector on your fenders and other metalwork.

An aerosol windshield washer is next — antifreeze additives make this another double-duty product — and it's time for the finishing touches.

There are aerosol cleaners for almost every type of upholstery, and a tire cleaner to brighten up those whitewalls.

Teflon spray-glide can be helpful in dozens of places — window frames, hood trunk and door latches, accelerator, brake and clutch pedals and many others. Finally, tuck a car deodorizer spray into your glove compartment and you're ready to roll.

Controversy on Warranties

Maintenance Up to Driver

While some controversy rages over new car warranty provisions for 1969 cars, there is one area in which there is agreement. The motorists will bear more responsibility for keeping his car in condition.

Actually, even with the more liberal warranties of previous years, routine yet important maintenance was always the responsibility of the new car owner.

However, in many instances the owner lulled himself into believing the warranty was a pay-all in case of trouble. This is not the case.

The major difference in 1969 new car warranties lies in the length of time most parts (excluding tires and tubes) are covered.

New provisions call for 12-month or 12,000-mile coverage. In 1968, the warranty called for two-year or 24,000 miles.

Still intact is the five-year or 50,000-mile protection on components generally referred to as the drive train. (Items like internal engine parts, transmission, rear axle and differential.)

To protect their warranties, motorists must do the following:

1. Change engine oil and oil filter and clean filler cap at specified periods (Typically, every six months or 6,000 miles.)
2. Clean the carburetor air filter and replace it at specified intervals. (Usually, six months or 6,000 miles for cleaning; 24 months or 24,000 miles for replacing an eight-cylinder engine — 12 months or 12,000 miles for six-cylinder engines.)
3. Service the crankcase emission control system every six months or 6,000 miles and replacing the emission control valve every 12 months or 12,000 miles. Parts must be cleaned or replaced when needed.
4. Replace the engine coolant at recommended intervals. (Tpically, every two years.)

Other owner responsibilities for service are vital to good operation but no time periods are specified.

One such item is the tune-up, including replacing spark plugs, points and condenser. Common recommended tune-up procedure is every 10,000 miles.

Other typical services that are the motorists' responsibility, including the following:

Wiper blades, brake servicing including linings, lubrication, aligning of lights and front wheels, wheel balancing and other car components which are subject to normal wear.

What's Your Car Care Q-U-O-T-I-E-N-T?

Even if you can't tell your differential from your defroster, it's important to know what makes your car tick or stop ticking. Since the safety, pleasure and value of your car depends on keeping it in good shape, it's wise to keep up with the upkeep. This quiz is designed to test your car care quotient as well as inform you on how to care for your car.

1. A spongy feeling when you apply the brakes is a sign that:
   A. The rubber on your brake pedal is getting soft.
   B. Your shoes are wearing thin
   C. There is something wrong with your braking system.
2. If your tires show pronounced wear at the "ribs" on the middle of the tread it probably indicates:
   A. They are overinflated
   B. They are underinflated
   C. Your hub caps are mounted improperly.
3. Windshield wiper blades should be replaced:
   A. After every heavy rain storm
   B. Twice a year
   C. Every two years.
4. All but the following adversely affect gasoline mileage:
   A. Worn spark plugs
   B. Clogged air cleaner
   C. Worn shock absorbers
   D. Improper tire inflation.
5. It is important to change radiator coolants periodically because:
   A. Rust inhibitors in the coolant eventually lose their effectiveness
   B. Overaged coolants create hard starting problems
   C. Water only should be used in warm weather.
6. Most likely source of deadly carbon monoxide entering the passenger compartment is:
   A. Through a leaky gasoline line
   B. Through a defective exhaust system
   C. By keeping windows open in industrial areas.
7. One sign that the shock absorbers are defective is:
   A. More "play" develops in the steering wheel
   B. There is a thumping noise in the rear tires
   C. The car continues to bob after a stop.
8. All but the following are part of a complete tune-up:
   A. Service the distributor system
   B. Lubricate the main bearings
   C. Service or replace spark plugs
   D. Check primary and secondary wiring system.
9. Chief dangers of preignition or detonation in the combustion chamber include:
   A. You'll get a traffic ticket
   B. Serious overheating of the cooling system
   C. Potential damage of the piston heads.
10. All but the following should be checked every six months:
    A. Wheel alignment and balance
    B. Brake system
    C. Ignition system
    D. Dimmer switch.

ANSWERS: 1) C. 2) A. 3) B. 4) C. 5) A. 6) B. 7) C. 8) B. 9) C. 10) D.

Tourists Rediscovering the Irish Hills

ADRIAN (AP) — The Irish Hills, draped in natural splendor, are once again becoming a tourist mecca.

Almost forgotten during the depression and the years following World War II, this northwest corner of Lenawee County is growing again with vigor.

It was in 1840 that an Irish Episcopal priest first viewed the area, claiming it "the nearest thing to Paradise on earth" he could imagine.

"It wasn't until 1920, however, when the old "Chicago Turnpike" connecting Detroit and Chicago, was paved that many outsiders had a chance to view the area.

Still, tourists were infrequent and almost nonexistent during the winter months. The area finally began to boom in the summer of that year when a war started.

WAR OF HAMMERS

It wasn't a war of guns and bullets, but one of hammers and nails. It started when the Michigan Observation Co. bought a piece of high ground overlooking Iron Lake. There it erected an observation tower some 50 feet high.

The tower, with a 24-foot square base, was built on ground purchased from Thomas Brighton. But before the paint had time to dry on the new structure, a second tower was being erected a few feet west by Ed Kelly. When the hammers stilled on the second tower, it stood 60 feet high.

The war was on. Michigan Observation called its carpenters back and they added a square cap, some 15 feet high, to the original tower, raising its height to 55 feet.

Tourists flocked to the area to watch the two growing giants. First one tower, then the other, would add to its height until the Kelly Tower stood 64 feet and the original tower 62.

Deciding not to go any higher, the two owners then began importing various attractions. Monkeys, alligators, bears and other animals were used to attract business.

CONNECTING PASSAGE

Today, the two towers, owned by Anthony Moustakas of Grosse Pointe Farms, both stand 64 feet. A passage way connects the two onetime rivals and visitors have a choice of which to climb.

The towers, like in the past, are also the hub of the tourist area.

The summer months are by far the busiest. Tourists flock to such attractions as Frontier City, Stage Coach Stop, Pre-Historic Forest, Autorama, Mystery Hill and St. Joseph's Shrine. Another favorite is Historic Walker Tavern, recently purchased by the State of Michigan and now undergoing renovation.

The newest attraction in the area is Michigan International Speedway. This $4-million track, completed in 1968, will be the scene of five big races in 1969. The first will be the four-hour Wolverine TransAm on May 11. The Motor State 500 for stock cars is scheduled on June 15, with the Yankee 600, also for stocks, to be run Aug. 17.

SHORT AND HILLY

Outdoor activities abound in the area in both the winter and summer. For golfers there is the short and hilly, but challenging nine-hole golf course at the Irish Hills Sports Park. It is lighted for night play in the summer and in the winter is turned into the southernmost ski resort in Michigan.

Other winter activities can be found at Frontier Highlands. A new toboggan slide was opened this winter.

Snowmobiles made the scene here this winter as a sanctioned race was held at Juniper Hills. Plans are now afoot to bring the Nationals to the area in the future to race around the two-mile oval speedway.

Another outdoor facility that attracts visitors is Hidden Lake Gardens, located on M59 near Tipton. It is owned by Michigan State University. A tour of the area will turn up almost every type of plant, shrub or tree native to the area.

STATE PARK

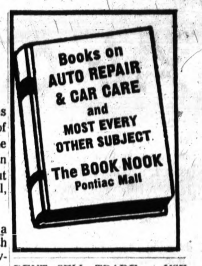

Then there is Walter J. Hayes State Park on Wamplers Lake. In 1968 over 105,000 campers used the facilities there.

Lakes such as Evans, Sand Iron, Wolfe, Washington, Allen Meadow, Marr, Kelly and Twin are teaming with bass and pan-fish. Allen also is stocked with trout.

The hills and wooded areas also provide homes for plenty of whitetail deer. Some of the state's largest racks are shot in the area. Other hunters seek out pheasants, rabbits, squirrel, quail, racoon or fox.

The life expectancy for a scout or attack dog in South Vietnam on duty with the servicemen is only three years due to the heat and danger.

Highway to Alaska Still an Adventure

By JIM CROSSLEY

Yukon adventure didn't die with the last of the 1896-99 gold hunters. It beckons the intrepid from the Alaska Highway. The 1,532-mile trip is still an adventure.

Some travel people think a drive to Mexico City is easier than combating the gravel surface of the Alaska Highway. Less than 400 miles is paved.

To make it from Dawson to Fairbanks, the autoist must take special precaution for the underside of his car.

The bottom of the gas tank must be armored with a rubber guard and, in fact, a fresh layer of undercoating all over isn't silly.

Warnings from Canadian highway people go further.

Drivers are encouraged to pack inner tubes in case the wheel rims become bent. Headlights must be protected from breakage.

When the objective is hauling a vehicle trailer, Canada has specific recommendations for the towing vehicle to be sure it is powerful enough. Trailers 35 feet and over need one-ton pickup trucks, for example.

Naturally, the time of year is the primary influence on the trip. June through September is the recommended period.

Even during this mild season, the Yukon experts have little pockets of advice for the resolute adventurer. Bring warm clothing — particularly if camping is involved — because nights are cold. Have adequate insect protection. Keep headlights in excellent condition, ready for use when the dust diminishes visibility.

Oddly enough, the best driving of the year comes in December, January, February. The packed snow surface makes the going smoother.

Tourists are discouraged, however, in midwinter. Canada advises that vehicles be winterized to 60 below.

March, April and May are the poorest months. Melting snow brings ice, and sometimes travel delays while road crews fudge up repairs.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET

An auto club should be your guide if planning a trip. Or a travel agent can make proper reservations. At least, write to the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, Ottawa, Canada, for its booklet on the Alaska Highway.

All but 300 miles lie about equally divided in two Canadian areas, British Columbia and the Yukon Territory. Canada makes Americans welcome and smooths their way to the best of its ability.

No passports are necessary for permanent American citizens, though a document establishing citizenship is reassuring to have along.

There's no fee for a car.

DUTY ON ITEMS

Reasonable amounts of food, alcoholic beverages, tobacco and gasoline are duty free (50 cigars, 200 cigarettes, 40 ounces of liquor per person).

There's no trouble with normal baggage, cameras, sporting goods and the rest. Rifles, shotguns and fishing tackle are registered on entry and cleared on departure.

Fifty rounds of ammunition are admitted duty free. Revolvers, pistols or fully automatic weapons are prohibited.

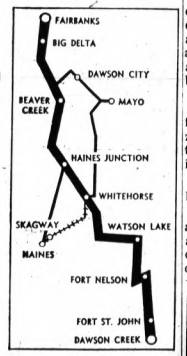

Top speed limit is 50. Gas costs 45 to 69 cents for the larger imperial galon. There is a bus service on the road.

OWN RADIO PROGRAM

Also, the highway is probably one of the few to have its own radio program. Travel conditions are broadcast by a number of stations.

Anyone contemplating the trip should get details of an interesting shortcut. Traveling by ship between Vancouver and Haines-Skagway, the excursionist can use the railway between the coast and Whitehorse on the highway. It costs $65 for two people and their car, all traveling on the same train.

Finest Test Track Dates Back to 1915

Proving grounds were introduced by the industry in 1924. But what probably was the first test track designed specifically to test and evaluate production vehicles was built by a Detroit auto maker back in 1915.

A half-mile planked track circled a steel-fabricated "hill" more than 40 feet high, which cars had to climb prior to leaving the factory.

Cars were also required to plow through a sand pit and travel around the track at all speeds before being approved for shipment. Before the track was built, newly assembled vehicles were tested on nearby city streets.

Air-Conditioner Needs Care

The pleasures derived from owning an auto air-conditioner are many and varied. However, as with any mechanical unit on your car, there are ways to increase satisfaction and improve performance.

The Automotive Air Conditioning Association offers these suggestions on the care and service of your car air-conditioner.

During hot summer days always park in the shade — or leave your windows open. Your car will cool down much quicker if the interior doesn't become super-heated.

Parked in the sun on a 90-degree day with windows closed, the temperatures inside your car can soar to a tremendous 140-degree — the highest degree to which most people are ever subjected.

TURN ON 'HIGH'

Should the interior of your car become superheated, turn your air-conditioner on "high" and place the temperature control at its highest setting.

Drive a few blocks with all windows rolled down. This quickly removes hot air and permits quicker cooling.

Air must circulate through the condenser coil before your unit will function at maximum efficiency, thus your car must be moving for it to cool properly.

When you park, remember to turn your air-conditioner off — this makes starting your car much easier.

SEE SERVICE MAN

If unit doesn't cool, move termperature control to coldest setting. If cooling doesn't occur then, turn unit off (to avoid possible damage) and see your service man for a check-up.

Sometimes on a long trip, frost may form on the cooling coil. This may be evident by a lack of cold air, since frost will prevent air circulation.

To correct, move temperature control toward off position and turn fan control to high. This will melt ice and allow unit to again cool properly.

Don't be alarmed at water draining from under your parked car. This comes from the condensate drain hoses and has been removed from the air inside your car by the dehumidifying action of the evaporator coil.

Service and maintenance of all air-conditioners is necessary to maintain maximum performance.

Periodic checks for the purpose of routine preventative maintenance will assure satisfactory operation of your air unit.

Help Your Car Keep Its Cool

While most cars made today have cooling systems that are "sealed" in the factory, a wise motorist still takes precautions against engine overheating. Here are some basic precautions to take to make sure your car keeps its cool.

Test the antifreeze to make sure it hasn't lost its rust-inhibiting elements. If it has, drain and flush the cooling system before installing new antifreeze.

Test the condition and tension of all drive belts as well as radiator hoses. Check the radiator hoses for leaks. Also check pump gaskets and tightness of the pulley hub on the water pump.

Check to see that there is no foreign matter on the cooling fins and that the overflow tube is not obstructed.

In cleaning your windshield, don't forget the inside. Tobacco smoke can put a film of residue on the glass and distort vision. So, if you smoke, periodically clean the windshield with a window-washing solvent.

YOUR BEST ASSURANCE IS INSURANCE

EVEN A CAREFUL DRIVER CAN HAVE AN ACCIDENT!

Why does it always happen that the careful driver becomes involved in an accident? Don't trust your future to luck . . . even if you are a most cautious driver. Get enough auto insurance before it is too late.

Test Brakes Regularly

Brakes, like all-day suckers, have a habit of wearing away slowly. So, it's a good practice to test your brakes periodically to make sure they can stop your car safely.

Every week, test the hydraulic system by firmly pressing your foot against the pedal.

If the pedal moves gradually towards the floorboard, you are losing vital pressure. Have the problem corrected immediately.

Periodically, test stopping ability in a flat, open area where no other cars or obstruction are present.

Accelerate to 30 miles per hour, then apply the brakes with your hands off the steering wheel. If the car pulls to one side, you may have brake trouble.

In any case, have your serviceman perform a complete inspection of the brake system every six months.

Panel Lighting Brighter, Better

Instrument panel designs featuring front-flood lighting and convenient front accessibility for replacement of light bulbs have been developed by AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors.

The front accessibility feature permits much faster and easier replacement of burned-out telltale warning light or illumination lamps, AC engineers explain.

With this design there is no need for partial or complete removal of the instrument cluster when replacing a bulb. The "quick change" panels are being installed on Chevrolet and Camaro models.

The front flood lamps on a standard-size Chevrolet can be replaced simply by removing three screws under the instrument panel overhang and lowering a service plate. The serviceman can then remove a defective bulb and quickly insert a new one.

LAMPS CONCEALED

Telltale lamps on the standard Chevrolet are concealed behind a decorative bezel which can be removed without disturbing other instrument cluster compontents. The four screws which hold the bezel in place are hidden by snap-on covers.

This design permits replacement of a telltale warning lamp (temperature, oil pressure, brake warning, etc.) in a matter of minutes.

All illumination and telltale lamps on Camaro models become accessible simply by removing the instrument cluster lens which is held in place by four screws.

The lens can be removed without disturbing other instrument cluster components, permitting quick and easy replacement of bulbs.

Pay Attention to Tires

If you hear your tires talking, perhaps a few days fishing will help—or a week in the mountains.

On the other hand, if you see them talking, you're tire-wise, and you'll heed their message.

Talking tires. They'll tell you when your pocketbook is being hit. And in most cases they can tell you exactly who the culprit is, too. Like improper alignment, worn shocks, overinflation, underinflation, and many other conditions that rob you of the tire mileage that you pay for.

Besides accelerated wear, there's also the safety factor—something that's even more important than the money you may waste.

What are the tires on your car telling you? Study the pictures and try the little test below, then check the answers to find out how tire-wise you are.

When the tire is worn in patches, particularly on the shoulder, it means:
(1) the brakes tend to grab
(2) the tire is out of balance
(3) the tire is overinflated

The tire is worn evenly, but the treads are feathered. It means:
(1) the tire is overinflated
(2) too much front end toe-in
(3) you take corners too fast

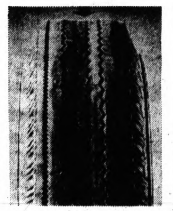

Both shoulders are worn while the center still has some tread. It means:
(1) new shocks are needed
(2) slow down on corners
(3) tie rod is loose

Tire is wearing more at each shoulder; tread is "stepped" from the center tread toward each side. It means:
(1) tire is out of balance
(2) tire is underinflated
(3) tire is overinflated

Tire shows extremely uneven wear. It means:
(1) faulty brake system (needs fluid, adjustment)
(2) faulty wheel alignment (too much camber)
(3) tires need rotation (including spare)

The center treads of the tire are wearing faster than the shoulders. It means:
(1) worn out shocks
(2) overinflation
(3) wheels need balancing

ANSWERS

The answers, in all cases, are No. 2.

Sports Car Roar? Better Check the Exhaust System

Has your family sedan started to develop a sports car "rap"? Instead of taking it to Watkins Glen or Lemans, better check your exhaust system.

That deep-throated roar under the chassis undoubtedly means your exhaust system is defective.

Not only might it earn you a traffic ticket for making too much noise but it could mean a death sentence for you and your family. A leaky exhaust is a potential source of lethal cabron monoxide.

When you hear a noisy exhaust, head straight for your favorite service outlet. Better yet, have a mechanic check your exhaust system next time your car is on the hoist.

The average spark plug will fire 15,000,000 times in 10,000 miles of driving. The effects of the electrical charge wear down the plug's firing end. Plug manufacturers recommend servicing plugs at 5,000 miles and replacing them at 10,000 miles.

U. S. Industry Gearing for Minicar Assault

By KARL MANTYLA

DETROIT (AP) —Like Trojans fighting to defend their city after the wooden horse was wheeled inside the gates, the nation's auto makers are tooling up for a massive assault against the import invasion of foreign cars.

At least six new smaller cars —four of them direct challengers to imported compacts selling for about $2,000— will be put into the front lines within the next two years by Ford Motor Co., American Motors Corp., General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp.

Two of the six are sporty cars. An AMC entry planned for the fall of 1970 is described by insiders as radically different from any production car in U.S. auto history, with its engine centered between the axles—not in front, not in back.

On the home front, the auto makers are performing widespread styling changes in their current intermediate-sized and sports-luxury models for 1970 and 1971. Ford is giving its Mustang is first major revamping since it launched the "personal sporty car" craze in spring 1964.

CHIEF WORRY

The chief worry of U.S. firms for the next two years is to recapture the market by Volkswagen and other foreign cars.

The imports—many of them selling near or under $2,000—topped one million in sales in 1968 for the first time. They captured more than 10 per cent of the total market of 9.6 million.

Domestic auto makers watched millions of dollars slip through their fingers as foreign-car buyers increasingly ignored first-generation U.S. compacts such as Ford's Falcon, Chrysler's Valiant, Chevrolet's Corvair and AMC's American. The latter was the only U.S. car still selling at less than $2,000.

Volkswagen (which means "people's car") alone sold nearly 570,000 vehicles in the United States last year, far exceeding the total of 377,548 foreign makes imported just 10 years ago in 1958.

MAVERICK FIRST

The U.S. counteroffensive begins April 17 when Ford Motor Co. introduces its Maverick two-door sedan, priced at $1,995 and ballyhooed in a $2-million advertising campaign pointed toward the "youth" market.

Sources say Ford also has targeted for introduction in April 1970 a two-door compact aimed to compete head-on with the Volkswagen "beetle" in size (about the same as VW's 158.6 inch length) and price (the VW sells for $1,799 in New York).

The Ford minicar, codenamed the Phoenix, is expected by insiders to be powered by a front-mounted engine within an American-style fastback body highlighted by a pointed grille. Some other reports have indicated Ford is considering use of a rear-mounted V4 in a new compact. Price is expected to be less than $1,900.

AMC will tap the under-$2,000 market again this coming fall with its Hornet. A four-passenger car, slated for two- door and four-door models with a station wagon to follow, it will carry engine options ranging from a six-cylinder to V8s of more than 300 cubic inches. Styling will follow lines of the sporty Javelin.

GM COMPACT

A 1,900-pound compact tentatively called the XP 887 will emerge from GM's Chevrolet Division in July 1970. GM Chairman James M. Roche says the firm plans production of up to 400,000 for the first year of the minicar. The two-door XP 887, seating four to five persons, will be powered by a new four-cylinder engine. Rumors are that the powerplant will be an in-line, aluminum engine.

Chrysler alone among the major auto makers plans no domestic entry to fight imports, with its chairman, Lynn A. Townsend, doubting the "economic feasibility" of building one. The firm, instead, will push harder for sales of its Simcas Sunbeams, made by subsidiaries in France and England.

Generally speaking, compacts now are defined as autos having a wheelbase of about 95 to 110 inches and length of about 155 to 185 inches.

Here is how the new compacts are expected to compare in some respects with the Volkswagen beetle which is 158.6 inches long, weighs 1,807 pounds, has a wheelbase of 94.5 inches and sells for $1,799; Ford Maverick, 103-inch wheelbase, about 178 inches long, weighing about 2,500 pounds, $1,995; Ford Phoenix, about 160 inches long, less than $1,900; Chevrolet XP 887, about 1,900 pounds, about 170 inches long, about $1,930; AMC Hornet, about 178 inches long, about $1,925.

RACY NEW DODGE

The demand for smaller but more sporty looking cars seems to be affecting cars outside the compact area.

Tool-and-die sources at Chrysler report the firm is working seven days a week on a racy new Dodge car called the Challenger. It will be offered as a 1970 model, they say, to compete alongside Mustang, Firebird, Mercury's Cougar and others, filling a gap between the Plymouth Barracuda and Dodge Charger. It will have a wheelbase of 111 inches, just a couple inches into what generally is known as the intermediate class.

Other new styling changes: Sheet metal reportedly will be completely different in 1970 models of GM's intermediates —the Chevelle, Pontiac Tempest, Olds F85 and Buick Special. Its Camaro and Firebird sporty cars will be revamped fully.

Talk among industry people indicates Chevrolet's new general manager, John Z. DeLorean, plans to put a new skin on the Corvette sports car in 1971 and introduce a new Chevrolet called the Monte Carlo, on a 118-inch wheelbase as a 1970 model. Buick reportedly is slated to rework its Riviera for 1971. Most other GM cars will get minor facial changes.

FLATBACK MUSTANG

At Ford, sources say the fastback Mustang will become a flatback in 1971, with a roof line sloping back ever so slightly to a two-foot, vertical drop to the rear bumper. The standard Mustange, insiders reveal, will have a squared-off roof and vertical rear window. The 1970 Mustangs are due for minor grille and other changes.

Much the same is in store for AMC's cars, although a two-door hardtop is to be added to the Rambler Rebel series. Insiders say, though, that many styling features of AMC's experimental AMX II, unveiled this year, will be found in the center-engine auto slated for 1970.

Perhaps the biggest one-man influence in Ford styling is Semon E. Knudsen, former GM executive vice president who became Ford president last year.

Knudsen spends a lot of time in the styling departments where frequently he has shown up to inspect models at 7 a.m. and earlier, say knowledgeable sources.

NEW T-BIRD GRILLE

Result: Thunderbird in 1970 models is slated to have a snoutlike, protruding grille similar to those on the Pontiac Grand Prix, and Lincoln will get a more massive front-end treatment, somewhat like Cadillacs.

Minor changes are indicated for most of Chrysler's 1970 cars, although the Barracuda will be all-new. Industry observers expect new front and rear ends on Valiants and Dodge Darts, with grille, hood, deck or fender facelifting on other models.

A crucial question: will the compacts built in America cut into sales of domestic models more than they hurt foreign sales? "Of course there will be some substitution. There is bound to be," the head of Ford Division, John Naughton, recently told the trade magazine Automotive News. "But we think the Maverick will help Ford's total sales, and that is the name of the game."

Roche says he "hopes" the XP 887 won't cut sales of the Opel, GM's German-made minicar which ranked second behind Volkswagen, with 84,680 sold in 1968.

BIG SHARE FORECAST

Smaller cars—including sporty models, compacts, foreign makes and intermediates —will gain 55 per cent of the market in the 1970s, predicts William V. Luneberg, AMC president. The smaller autos got 50 per cent of 1968 sales, compared with 40 per cent in the industry's record sales year of 1965.

Thus, the bulk of the industry's styling changes for the 1970 and 1971 models will be aimed at this market proportion.

Safety experts advise never driving more than three hours without stopping to rest on a long trip. Getting out of the car to stretch or stopping for coffee is recommended to avoid excessive driving strain.

Funds Are Sought for Dealer School

The National Automobile Dealers Association, representing the majority of franchised dealers in the nation, has announced a $3-million fund-raising program to establish a national educational center for the development of young men who seek professional education in automobile and truck dealership management.

The program will be established at Northwood Institute in Midland, where a Certified Automotive Merchandiser (CAM) Program has been in progress for the past three year, established by NADA grant of $150,000 in 1966.

The new program will provide for construction of an academic building, a conference center, and an endowment fund.

Plans call for completion of the fund-raising effort this year, with the anticipation that the building program will get under way in 1970. The entire program is intended to prepare present and future dealership management personnel to meet "the sophistication of a computerized society and a college-educated clientele," NADA spokesmen stated.

APPROVED BY NADA

The plan was finalized and approved by the NADA at a board of directors meeting held last month in conjunction with the association's annual convention at Houston, Texas.

Study and analysis of the dealer educational educational needs have been under the direction of the NADA Dealer Personnel Education Committee for more than a year of which Don L. Brubaker, NADA director for Illinois, is chairman.

"In establishing this program, NADA recognizes the opportunity and the need to give full structure, substance and meaning to the educational program of young people, we expect to come into our industry," Brubaker said in announcing the plans for the new center for dealership education.

THREE GOALS

The program has three goals:

1. The construction of an NADA Academic Building at Northwood Institute.

2. Construction of a NADA Conference Center at the same location.

3. Endowment of NADA chairs in automotive marketing at the Northwood campuses in Midland, West Baden, Ind. and Cedar Hill, Tex., and for the endowment of the CAM executive secretary's office.

A solicitation campaign will be conducted by volunteer dealer groups, with a nucleus of NADA members. A chairman of each state and metropolitan area, solicitors for each state or area, and an advance gifts chairman and small solicitation committee are being set up to conduct the fund-raising campaign.

Many NADA members have expressed an interest in this new educational project and have volunteered to be active participants by contributing their own funds and the time to solicit other sources for contributions.

WORK WITH NORTHWOOD

NADA has been working with Northwood for the past three years in a program for the development of an educational and certification procedure.

The development of the Certified Automotive Merchandiser (CAM) program, now in effect; the writing, editing and producing of a six-volume set of specialized automotive marketing textbooks for the educational program and the establishment of an educational program to provide automotive courses which could be offered through correspondence, extension centers, accelerated seminars and college credit programs have been accomplished.

These programs have been in effect for the past three year, and more than 300 students are currently enrolled in the college course, with more than 200 who have taken various seminar programs.

There are also more than one hundred enrollments in correspondence courses.

This newest move by NADA is another demonstration of franchised dealer efforts to improve the retail automotive industry by attracting high caliber young people to enter the business as a career.

Northwood Institute is a private, nonprofit, independent coeducational college.

Scenic Drives Add Beauty to Vacation Trips

BY LEN BARNES
Associate Editor, Motor News

Getting there — to a vacation, that is — can be more than half the fun, if you go by car. And if you include one of a handful of America's great drives in your route.

Once accessible to only a few who had unlimited time, all these drives are now easy to reach for most Americans and Canadians on a two-week vacation, thanks to distance-whittling limited-access, divided Interstate highways.

The writer has not driven every mile of North America roads, or even every route that has some fame or is beautiful. But I will recommend the following 10 as outstanding on anyone's list of great motoring experiences.

MORE VISTAS—Other eye-filling vistas include the Upper Tahquamenon Falls in Michigan's Upper Peninsula (top) and the necklace of 750 keys linked by Florida's Overseas Highway (bottom).

CALIFORNIA'S OCEAN ROAD — Numbered U.S.-101 with frequent cuts west on California 1, this road curves through a variety of spectacular scenery from sea level to 2,000 feet and down again on the way from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

It goes through or past sand, mountains, cliffs, arroyos, ocean fishing villages onion fields, grape arbors, remote and beautiful Big Sur country, rock coves, crooked cypress trees (among the world's oldest living things) and plenty of palms.

CANADA'S BANFF-JASPER DRIVE — This road seems to have been built over animal trails, it turns so often as it follows five great river valleys through a virgin wilderness along the most spectacular portion of North America's grandest mountain chain — the Canadian Rockies.

Banff-Jasper has been called the most scenic highway in the world, and hundreds of varishaped mountain peaks, from needled spires and inverted ice cream cones to saw-toothed piles and razorback edges give this claim credence as they stand watch on both sides.

COLORADO'S MILLION DOLLAR HIGHWAY — Anyone who picks just one Colorado highway will get arguments, there are so many great ones. But U.S. 550 from Durango to Ouray has got to make even the most sophisticated motorist catch his breath at least once a minute.

Blasted out of sheer rock, this road offers just enough room for two cars to pass in places, and a scarcity of guard rails.

In places the top of the cliff cannot be seen from one side, or bottom of the canyon on the other.

Its spectacular switchbacks keep one constantly in view of soaring peaks.

FLORIDA'S OVERSEAS HIGHWAY — One can go over the Atlantic Ocean in his car for most of the way from Miami to Key West on U.S. 1.

Taking off on a series of hurdles sometimes skipping at water level, sometimes vaulting 75 feet above the ocean, this concrete thread holds together a necklace of 750 keys, or small, low, narrow spits of limestone, coral and sand that poke their heads a few feet above saltwater in the highway's path or alongside it. There are 49 bridges totalling nearly 18 miles.

GREAT LAKES STATES, ONTARIO'S LAKE SUPERIOR DRIVE — The essential appeal of this drive is it makes wilderness easily accessible.

It meanders through muskegs, rifles through rock, snakes through swamps, curves through rock canyons, roars through rock gorges, is sometimes smooth as a billiard table, sometimes bumpier than a chuckhole-filled street in spring.

From it one sees magnificent sweeps of Lake Superior, vast vistas of mountain and valley, glimpses of gemlike lakes hidden in the trees, many of which have never been fished, and which are visited by moose and bears regularly.

This is a drive of such variety that everyone will bring home a different impression.

HAWAII'S CIRCLE OF OAHU ISLAND DRIVE — Toughest job I had was deciding which to describe of many drives the Hawaiian Islands offer.

For they are all lovely, and most feature essentially the some things; breathtaking vistas of the ocean in its many colors, accessibility to beaches which are little-used, roads edged with everything from stately cocoanut palm trees to flowers ranging in color from white to red seemingly growing wild, roads which cut through lush green sugar cane fields higher than one's car, or which edge sugar pineapple fields rich and red.

Volcano country with black rock along shore, rock crumbling to red and turning into rich earth inland.

MONTANA'S GOING-TO-THE-SUN HIGHWAY — Of all the roads I've ever driven, this one bisecting Glacier National Park is my personal favorite.

I have driven it both ways eight times and always see something new.

The late Stephen T. Mather, first director of the National Park Service, wrote of it:

"It is doubtful if in any other road in America can in the same distance unfold . . . such a grand array of beautiful forests, dashing torrents, wonderful gorges and valleys, towering cirques, and a vista of bold, needle-peaked mountains and serrated escarpments . . ."

"It's probably the only road in the world so engineered that one can climb 4,000 feet with numerous switchbacks in less than 25 miles, cross the Continental Divide, descend 4,000 feet in 25 miles, and never have to change driving ranges once.

Even those who fear mountain driving should have no trouble here.

NORTH CAROLINA'S OUTER BANKS HIGHWAY — Many call this drive on State 12 the "road that beat the sand dunes," for it makes accessible a remote, 150-mile stretch of pencil-thin sand islands constantly moved about by the wind from the Atlantic Ocean on the east.

To the west is Pamlico sound, which separates the islands from the mainland by eight to 30 miles of water. From its inland end at Elizabeth City it goes through towns with salty names like Nags Head, Hatteras, Ocracoke.

There are 70 miles of clean, white, uncowded sand beach for surf and boat fishing, bathing and just beachcombing in this National Seashore park.

There are two free and one toll ferry rides of 45 minutes each.

One can explore quaint fishing villages, hear Bankers converse in Elizabethan-flavored English, cast for a variety of ocean fish at Gamefish Junction where massive warm and cold ocean currents collide, see the shipwreck-studded beach along the "Graveyard of the Atlantic" and five of America's lighthouses, including its tallest.

NORTH CAROLINA-TENNESSEE-VIRGINIA'S BLUE RIDGE PARKWAY — Some of the most graceful mountain scenery in the world is unfolded from a car window on this motoring thrill ride which often takes one through or above the clouds.

When completed, it will be a 470-mile scenic drive connecting Shenandoah National Park in Virginia and Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina and Tennessee.

State and U.S. highways connect the portions not finished.

The road twists and turns like a garter snake in following the crest of the Blue Ridge Mountains at elevations from 2,000 to 6,050 feet.

It is undoubtedly driven, at least in part, by more persons than any of the other drives listed here.

Automotive Bits and Pieces

Station Wagons Popular

DETROIT (UPI) — Here and there on the automotive beat:

Station wagons are making it big in the American new car market. Last year, nearly one in every 10 new cars sold was a station wagon, giving them a larger slice of the new car market than ever before.

A total of 925,623 new station wagons were sold in 1968, up from nearly 773,000 the year before. Ford was the wagon leader, with more than 310,000 sales, and Chevrolet was second at 230,000.

Mobile homes also scored big gains in sales during 1968. The Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association says more than 300,000 units were sold during the year, an increase of more than 25 per cent over 1967.

AVERAGE PRICE

Average retail price of all the mobile homes sold was $5,700. completely furnished. And mobile homes accounted for about 80 per cent of all new homes sold at less than $15,000.

Gear-shift cars are all but disappearing. Automatic transmissions, now 30 years old, have virtually taken over. The first completely automatic transmission was the hydramatic introduced by Oldsmobile in 1939.

Nine years later, about one-third of all cars built had automatic transmissions and it took about 22 years before 50 million were built. But they have become so popular that in the next eight years, another 50 million were built.

In 1969, just about nine out of every 10 cars sold had an automatic transmission. And this despite the fact that four-on-the-floor manual transmissions are still popular among many young performance-minded buyers.

IMPROVEMENTS

However, there's evidence that even the performance-minded are now switching to the automatic because of improvements which give automatic transmissions as much jackrabbit starting capability as clutch jobs.

In fact, Ford has built some road-racing cars with automatic transmission which upshift and downshift with more precision than driver judgment can achieve.

In the world of luxury cars, Ford Motor Co's. elegant Mark III has far outstripped its forebears.

The First Mark car, the Mark I, was built in 1939 and the company continued the model practically unchanged through 1948. In those nine years, Ford sold just 5,324 of them.

Then Ford produced the Mark II in 1955 and continued the line through 1957, selling about 3,000.

The laht modle, the Mark III, was introduced less than a year ago, in April of 1968. By the first week in March, the 20,000th Mark III was delivered to a customer, and the demand is still as strong as it was when the car was first introduced. M. S. McLaughlin, general manager of Ford's Lincoln-Mercury division, says there is still a two-months backlog of unfilled orders.

GREAT OUTDOORS — Nothing restores the joys of motoring more than getting away from everyday driving chores and traveling through unspoiled countryside. Adding to the spirit of freedom is having a car that is in top shape. Car care is an important prerequisite to either an extended vacation or just a Sunday afternoon drive in the country.

Get off the Beaten Track

Driving Can Still Be Fun

William Lyon Phelps, the celebrated educator and author, once remarked, "What I wouldn't give to read 'Huckleberry Finn' for the first time again." It was Phelps' way of yearning for the thrill of discovery, in this case one of America's greatest novels.

The typical motorist could well paraphrase Phelps' remarks, "What I wouldn't give to be driving for the first time." The thrill most of us felt the first time behind the wheel is hard to capture ever again.

Perhaps too much driving has jaded our appreciation of the miracle that is the automobile. Maybe too much time in traffic jams, too many through-the-windshield vistas of monotonous stretches of freeways have robbed us of our enthusiasm.

However, there is a way to bring back the days of driving. Some time this year, get out of the traffic jams and off the superhighway. Take your family on some lightly traveled road.

UNSPOILED STRETCHES

Even in the most populous areas of this nation, there still remain unspoiled stretches of green fields, blue sky and water — just a few hours from home.

Travel through these areas with a light foot on the gas pedal, stopping often to enjoy the view and savor the fresh air. Make your car, not a conveyance to get you from here to there, but a kind of magic carpet to lift you above the humdrum and the state of tension.

There is also a way to bring the maximum enjoyment of motoring into everyday driving. And that is by maintaining your car in showroom condition. By doing so, your car can feel like a new car no matter how long you drive it.

For example, there are those who swear that their cars, seem to drive better after a wash. While this may be a matter of vivid imagination, it is no secret that a car that is running sluggish could feel like a new model after a thorough tune-up.

VITAL COMPONENTS

Also maintaining other vital-to-comfort components like tires, shocks, front-end alignment and smooth transmission are indispensable to a smooth, enjoyable ride.

There is at least one more factor in maximum enjoyment of a car. That is the security of mind in knowing that yours is a safe car.

It is not enough to know your car has just passed vehicle inspection. While passing inspection is a good sign that all basic safety components check out, there are other factors to be considered.

The day after inspection, hitting a jarring pothole could help put headlights back out of alignment. An unexpected leak of brake fluid could pose a serious hazard.

STAY ATTUNED

The answer is to stay attuned to the condition of your car. More important, maintain a regular system of car care to forestall possible troubles.

This Care for Your Car section is intended to help you recapture the total pleasure that motoring can offer.

Paint Big Item for Car Makers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — More than 38 million gallons of paint, enough for a rainbow-hued ribbon nearly eight feet wide from Detroit to the moon, will be used by American's auto makers on their 1969 models.

The volume of paint could provide a ribbon 7.54 feet wide in a multitude of colors, particularly yellow, golds and greens, according to Dr. Elmer C. Larsen of PPG Industries, a leading producer of automotive finishes.

Larsen, vice president and general manager of PPG's Coatings and Resins Division, said the U.S. automotive industry expects to turn out about 8.5 million cars for the 1969 model year, with each car using 4½ to five gallons of coatings.

He said he believed the recent interest in subcompact cars would lead to a new domestic market, now being served mainly by imports, rather than a reduction in sales of full-size American autos.

The requirements of this new market should result in an increase in the auto makers' total paint consumption, he said.

According to requisitions by the auto industry, the most popular colors for the 1969 models probably will be in the yellow gold, yellow green, lime and olive hues.

Red orange is expected to be popular in 1970 models, along with an increase in the two-tone color effect, particularly in sports car striping.

Black, once a mainstay, has fallen drastically in popularity.

In 1964, nearly seven per cent of all American cars had black finishes. The percentage for the 1969 models probably will be about one per cent.

Serviceman Like Family Doctor

In certain respects the automotive serviceman and the family doctor have much in common.

One notable similarity is the problem of interpreting the patient's complaints. Often, it is not easy for a person to describe his body's ailments, or the ailments of his car.

In neither case is the patient expected to do his own diagnosing, but in both cases it helps when the doctor or mechanic has some descriptive information with which to begin him symptomatic analysis.

Independent Garage Owners of America offer some advice for car owners regarding the portrayal and interpretation of their car troubles.

Most mechanical problems follow set behavioral patterns, they say, and often it is easier for the owner to observe and recognize these characteristics than it is for the mechanic.

Some problems, for example, occur only in wet weather; others disappear in dampness.

An elusive engine miss may come and go under certain specific conditions and a real tipoff to your mechanic may be the circumstances under which that miss occurs.

Is it always on a heavy pull? Or when the car is first started in the morning? Or when it gets hot?

* * *

The most critical clues to ca troubles are:

• ROAD SURFACES . . . is the symptom more noticeable on asphalt or concrete? Washboard? High crowned road or flat?

• SPEED . . . this has a bearing on most diagnoses.

• LOAD . . . Is trouble more pronounced with full passenger load? On a long grade? Downhill?

Number of Defective Vehicles High

Failure to Pass Safety Check Not Unusual

There are several subjects which are being more commonly discussed in recent years. Certainly not the least of these subjects is highway safety, and automobile inspection.

And usually, some questions are raised.

Like — did you pass?

The query is often posed by one who has recently been exposed to PMVI — periodic motor vehicle inspection. And the answer, in a surprisingly high percentage of cases, is no! However, the answer may not be so surprising, when you consider one expert's opinion.

In testimony before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, H. C. Stivers, then president of the Motor and Equipment Manufacturers Association, estimated that 42 per cent of the cars on the highways have defects that affect the safe operation of the vehicle.

STUDY ADDS SUPPORT

Supporting this figure is a study conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. It reports that 42 per cent of the vehicles brought in for inspection, voluntarily or in spot checks, do not pass the minimum requirements for mechanical safety.

The Institute's study was categorized in four groups: Vehicles up to one year old (25 per cent rejection rate); two to five years (40 per cent rejection rate); six to 10 years (51 per cent rejection rate); and 11 years or older (53 per cent rejection rate).

In another report, the City of Detroit utilized a specially developed test lane to ferret out defects in automobiles.

A voluntary inspection program of two weeks duration last May, involving approximately one thousand cars, showed that four out of 10 cars were mechanically unsafe.

Major defects centered around improper wheel alignment and steering assembly. Other components that inspection teams check closely for defects include shock absorbers, windshield wipers, headlight aim and wheel vibration.

Without question, they all affect the safe operation of a vehicle.

Just across the border from Detroit, in Windsor, Ont., automobile inspection has been an annual occurrence for the past six years. It's conducted both on a voluntary basis, and in spot checks during May.

The vehicle test equipment is owned by the Provincial government; tests are conducted by Windsor police.

PLEASED BY VOLUNTEERS

Police Chief Gordon Preston and his department are very pleased by the growing number of Windsor motorists who volunteer their cars for inspection.

Their most recent test period showed that of 4,700 owners who voluntarily put their cars through the check lanes, almost half couldn't pass the test.

Owners failing the test were instructed to have their cars repaired to bring them back up to the standards set down by the provincial government.

However, the point is that by volunteering, motorists are showing their concern with the safety of their vehicles — moreover, they're doing something about it.

In the Windsor program last year, safety officials also ordered 327 vehicles through the test equipment — vehicles that were obviously in disrepair, and from appearances, unsafe.

Fifty-seven were approved, 145 were rejected and had to have repairs made, while 125 were totally condemned.

It would seem, after a lot of talk about automobile safety and vehicle inspection, something really concrete is being done about it.

* * *

All states now are required to implement a program of vehicle inspection, within guidelines issued by the National Highway Safety Bureau — or take the chance of losing some of their federal highway construction funds.

MUST BE INSPECTED

In some Canadian provinces (like the law that was passed in Ontario effective November 1968) motor vehicles must be inspected and certified safe before the vehicle title can be transferred to another owner.

Does that sound like blackmail? Consider the benefits. Under PMVI, accidents and, more important, fatalities are reduced.

A study by a New York consulting firm in 1967, found that in areas without an inspection plan the fatality rate was nearly 10 per cent higher than in areas with a vehicle inspection program. That is mighty strong evidence in favor of PMVI.

And with new legislation to encourage safety inspection programs together with a more aware and increasingly concerned motoring public, the wheels are in motion to help make our highways safer from automobile mishaps due to mechanical failures.

Digestive ulcers are rarely found in pregnant women or in other women of childbearing age because, it is believed, these women secrete certain sex hormones which grant them relative immunity to ulcers.

FAILS TEST—In Windsor, Ont., a policeman removes the tags from a car following a safety inspection. Brakes were defective and alignment components worn. Repairs had to be made before plates were returned to the owner. A more careful motorist would have been able to avert this embarrassment if he were in the habit of having his car checked periodically by competent mechanics.

*Indicates inspections are performed at government-owned stations. Otherwise state-designated stations perform inspections.

The following states have random inspection: Alaska, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon and Washington.

NOTE: THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO has enacted a law where every used car placed for resale must have a Certificate of Inspection supplied to the purchaser. Inspections are performed by private service outlets with no set fee charged for the work. Elsewhere in Canada, random inspection is generally the rule.

Quiz Will Test Your Ability to Detect Trouble

Car troubles can be deceiving. It often takes an astute, well-equipped technician to track down the real culprit when a problem arises.

Try your hand at troubleshooting with this quiz, prepared by the Car Care Council. In each case all but one answer is correct.

1. If the tread on your tires is wearing unevenly, it could be because:
a) your tire pressure is incorrect
b) your car has binding ball joints
c) your car's frame is out of line
d) you've got a sagging spring
e) your wheels need aligning
f) your wheels are out of balance

2. If your turn signal doesn't flash properly, the reason could be:
a) a burned-out bulb
b) a bad connection
c) a burned-out fuse
d) your flasher does not work
e) ignition switch is defective
f) a defective turn signal switch

3. The reasons your car may be a gas-eater are:
a) low tire pressure
b) dirty carburetor air filter
c) improper brake adjustment
d) your engine needs a tune-up
e) incorrect fan belt tension
f) worn piston rings or valves

4. The reasons your brakes may grab or pull are:
a) you ride the brake pedal
b) there's oil on your brake linings
c) tire pressure is wrong
d) faulty wheel cylinder
e) restriction in a brake hose
f) incorrect wheel alignment

5. A battery goes dead because:
a) of old age
b) the generator or alternator has failed
c) you run it down with the starter
d) the generator belt is loose
e) of short circuit
f) you drive too fast too long

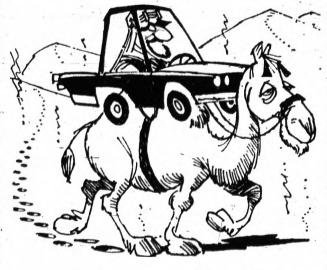

ANSWERS

1) All but "b"; 2) All but "e"; 3) All but "e"; 4) All but "a"; 5) All but "f."

After Severe Weather

Your Auto's Out of Shape

By JOHN ECK
Director, Emergency Road Service,
American Automobile Association

A long winter of commuting back and forth to work, schools and shops—often under severe weather conditions—has left your automobile "out of condition" just at a time when you're all set for the pleasure trips of spring and summer.

JOHN ECK

To plan well for warm weather travel you need to know what has happened to your automobile during the stresses of winter, and how to help insure that the trips you plan to take will be safe and trouble-free.

Nearly 72 million U.S. motorists had some problem with their automobile in 1967, the American Automobile Association's annual survey showed.

Forty-three per cent of them were due to battery, starter and ignition system failures, an increase of 20 per cent over the previous year.

The 14 million flat tires motorists had in 1967 was the second highest figure on the list of all troubles. There also were 581,000 incidences of brake failure.

The Emergency Road Service Department of the AAA suggests you consult a good auto mechanic early this season.

A check list has been developed for your use in working with him to discover and correct any problems which may have developed during the colder months.

Sixty years of experience in auto repair, and our day-to-day observation of the repair needs of 11 million AAA driver-members, lead us to recommend:

● Tune-up—An engine tune-up is a wise investment. Have the ignition, points, spark plugs, battery, voltage regulator, generator and all wiring checked.

● Lubrication—A thorough lubrication job will lessen wear on vital moving parts. Change to the grade of oil recommended for the driving conditions you expect to encounter. Install a new oil filter cartridge. Check all hydraulic fluid levels.

● Cooling System—Have the cooling system cleaned and flushed; refill with a good permanent-type antifreeze or add a rust inhibitor. Have the thermostat, fan belt and water pump checked.

● Brakes, Tires and Wheels—Have the brake linings inspected and check the brake seals. Have the tires rotated; replace worn or damaged tires to eliminate blowouts and flat tire worries. Check the wheel alignment and balance—unaligned and unbalanced tires cause excessive and uneven wear.

Be sure shock absorbers are in good condition. In addition to causing discomfort, bad shock absorbers can be dangerous.

● Vision—Windshield wipers, headlights, turn signals, back-up and brake lights should all be checked for perfect operation.

MINIMUM PRECAUTIONS

That is a fairly thorough examination! You may have reason to believe that your car is essentially in good working order—that you do not have the time or the need for the entire checkup routine.

There are certain minimum precautions AAA suggests before any long-distance travel by automobile, however. They also can be presented as a check list, which we call a "Trip Check."

The points constitute a simple "make-ready" to assure you of a dependable car:

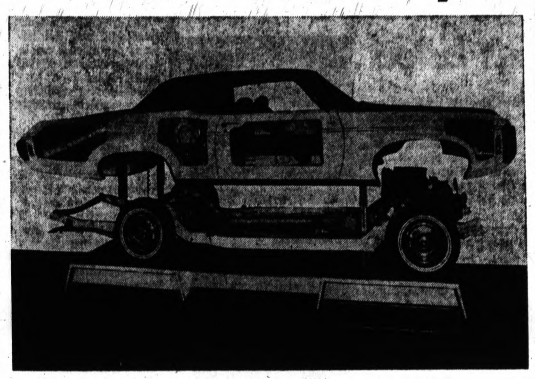

- Inspect and adjust all fan belts.
- Check and align front end.
- Load test battery and clean terminals.
- Inspect and tighten all hoses.
- Inspect all tires.
- Adjust brakes, check linings.

You should consider these additional services, and have your mechanic perform them according to your car manufacturer's recommendations:

- Drain and flush cooling system, adding rust inhibitor with refill.
- Change motor oil.
- Lubricate.
- Clean or change air, gas and oil filters.
- Clean and check crankcase ventilation system.
- Check or change transmission and differential fluid.
- Check and grease front wheel bearing.

These are the preventive measures, taken frequently, which will not only give you peace of mind while traveling this summer, but will also increase the life of your car and help it to give you top-notch performance in all seasons and under all conditions.

INSIDE STUFF—If more motorists could see the inner workings of their cars, perhaps there would be more attention paid to upkeep. Engine and drive train components require special attention, according to experts at AAA. The motoring organization answered 72 million calls for road service in 1968. Most were due to battery, starter and ignition system failures.

Don't Assault Your Battery

Blaming starting trouble on the battery can be like blaming a broken leg on bone failure. In both cases, something is wrong but something other than the affected part is causing the problem.

A well-maintained battery that hasn't outlived its usefulness should not cause starting problems.

More likely some other electrical component is at fault and is draining the battery power. For example faulty wiring, worn spark plugs or malfunctioning distributor may be overworking the battery during starting.

As a result the battery wears down to a point that it may seem dead.

BATTERY POINTERS

The alert service man will look beyond the battery as the cause of the starting failure, especially when he is reminded to do so by the customer.

To keep your battery in top operating condition, here are some pointers: A quick visual inspection every time you gas up and a voltage test every six months should assure you maximum efficiency battery life.

It's a simple job for the service attendant to check battery water level and condition of cables and terminals. This should be done at least once a week to guard against premature deterioration.

Twice a year, the battery should be tested. At the same time, terminals should be cleaned thoroughly to get rid of corrosive materials and dirt.

FOREIGN MATTER

Foreign matter on the terminals or cable clamps can cause battery failure.

If the battery shows premature loss of power, chances are other components may be at fault. For example, wiring may be short circuiting or you may have a problem in the charging. Have your service man conduct an electrical check.

Corroded terminals can shorten effective life of your battery. Clean off the corrosion with a solution of baking soda and water, applied with a stiff wire brush.

All Ages Ignoring Use of Seat Belts

Young people, supposedly at odds with the older generation, have at least one area of agreement with their parents. Both are ignoring the lifesaving use of car seat belts.

Champion Spark Plug Co., through its highway safety program, queried nearly 12,000 high school seniors on seat belt wearing habits. In cars equipped with belts, well under 50 per cent use the restraining devices.

Only 14.8 per cent said they always use belts. Another 29.8 per cent they used them most of the time. The biggest percentage, 37.5 said they seldom used belts. Some 17.7 per cent said they never used seat belts.

There was little difference in use between boys and girls, with less than a percentage point difference in their answers.

MANY HAVE NONE

In addition to youngsters driving cars equipped with seat belts but not using them, large percentages are driving cars which have no seat belts.

Of those driving their own cars, less than half of the vehicles are equipped with belts. Over 63.6 per cent of all cars, including those belonging to parents, were equipped with belts.

The students' failure to wear seat belts was not because of their failure to recognize the consequences, the survey found. Almost two-thirds of them identified not wearing belts as a major contributing cause to traffic fatalities.

Estimates by the National Safety Council show that about one out of five fatalities could have been avoided if seat belts were being worn.

INDIANAPOLIS DRIVERS

According to J. R. McGeorge, Champion's public relations manager and director of the highway safety program, "In our presentation to school groups we have Indianapolis race drivers stress the responsibilities as well as the skills of operating a car.

"A race driver would no more think of operating a car without a seat belt than he would without a steering wheel," McGeorge said.

The 1968-69 Champion highway safety program, to be conducted in schools throughout the U.S. and Canada, is stressing seat belt use as well as other safety aids.

Education Effort Made

Don't Drive on Pills

Drugs and driving don't mix, says the National Association of Retail Druggists (NARD).

So important is respect for drugs in insuring highway safety that NARD is providing fact sheets for driver education teachers in and out of high school, according to executive secretary Willard B. Simmons, who represents 40,000 independent drugstore owners.

Druggists are teaching the public the power of drugs. Drugs save lives, Simmons points out. He adds facts of interest to all drivers.

"When doctors prescribe some valuable medications they insist that no driving be done for a specified number of hours," he says. "Heed their advice and the advice of the druggist who reminds you of that fact."

PROFESSIONAL EFFORTS

In addition to urging respect for the lifesaving drugs of daily life, members of NARD are lending their professional efforts to schools to forward the work of drug education.

The dangers of drug abuse are being brought to students' attention at the request of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs of the Department of Justice.

● Barbiturates, for example — known as "goofballs" and by other terms — produce slurred speech, impaired motor responses, sensory distortion and more.

A person withdrawing from barbiturate abuse may have spasms and convulsions, particularly dangerous behind a car wheel. Barbiturate overuse plus alcohol can cause sudden death.

● Amphetamines — stimulants which have respected medical uses but are known as "pep pills" or "co-pilots" to drug abusers — can cause severe hallucinations on the road.

Truck drivers, vacationers, long-distance drivers may take too many amphetamines to stay awake. Too frequently the driver will then hear "voices," see "ghost vehicles" and have other aberrations that can cause a crash.

● Marijuana, thought by some teens to be harmless, is a major villain when it comes to highway safety.

Unlike an ordinary cigarette, "grass" causes sensory distortions. A car 10 feet away may seem 100 feet away. Sideswipe accidents are common and more serious collisions can occur.

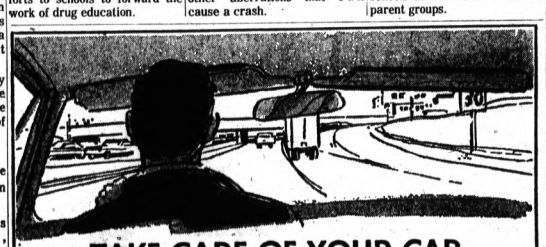

● LSD presents double danger. Not only does taking it cause an immediate disoriented "high" and bizarre hallucinations, but the same effects can occur with no warning six months or a year later.

The "afterflash" effect can jeopardize not only the driver but his passengers as well as other drivers and pedestrians nearby.

If a driver exhibits drunken behavior, but there is no aroma of alcohol, drug abuse may be suspected.

These and other facts are being called to the attention of students and faculties at all schools as well as to concerned parent groups.

Showers Hike Skidding Peril

Summer showers, especially after a long dry spell, can make road surfaces as slippery as winter ice, a special safety bulletin issued by the Rubber Manufacturers Association warns.

The danger of skidding is greatest, says the trade group, during the first 15 to 30 minutes after it starts to rain; up to an hour or more in a light drizzle.

This is due to the little-known fact that rain tends to float up onto the road surface a greasy film of oil, gasoline and rubber residue which becomes a treacherous ice like lubricant between the tires and the road until enough rain falls to wash it away.

The possibility of an accident on a wet road, says the association, is between 5 and 10 times as great as on a dry road, in terms of the likelihood of a skid and loss of control of a car.

In terms of stopping distance, it may take up to four times as far to stop on a wet road as a dry road.

Driving Safely Can Save Money

An Australian television network staged a two-car run where one car was driven in a normal, safe manner and the other was driven hard to make faster time.

While finishing the 238-mile course in 40 minutes quicker time, the hard-driving motorist used 86 per cent more tire tread (91 cents worth); 55 cents more in fuel and 31 cents more in brake wear.

So, the 40 minutes saved cost him $1.77. The moral: take it easy and save.

Dirt an Enemy

Dirt can be an enemy of good car operation in more ways than appearance. Small particles of dirt on the battery terminals can stop your car cold. To prevent this from happening, make sure battery terminals and connections are cleaned thoroughly during routine battery checks.

Tips on Saving Fuel

Two drivers of the same automobile may get different gas mileage due to the differences in driving habits. Other factors include driving conditions and mechanical conditions of the automobile.

It costs almost 50 per cent more to drive 80 mph than it does to drive 50 mph. Costs of driving 60 mph is 25 per cent higher than cost of driving 30 mph.

● Wet driving conditions: Slowing down under wet or snowy conditions conserves fuel. Wet pavement can reduce mileage by 1 mile per gallon.

● When parked, turn off engine. One minute of idling uses more fuel than restarting uses.

● Starting and stopping. Avoid "jack rabbit" starts, sudden stopping and racing on the green light.

● Windy conditions. Drive slower if you're interested in better fuel economy.

Here are some suggestions on care and mechanical condition of your car for better fuel economy:

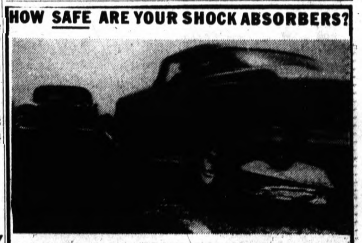

● Use good grade of gasoline recommended by the manufacturer of your automobile.

● Be sure the thermostat isn't stuck in the open position. A warm-running engine is more efficient (uses less fuel) than a cold-running engine.

● Be sure tires are inflated properly.

● Balance and align tires.

HOW SAFE ARE YOUR SHOCK ABSORBERS?

Shock absorbers are as important to safety as they are to comfortable riding. They stabilize your car, keep wheels from bouncing off the road, prevent erratic steering and side sway. If your speedometer now reads 20,000 miles or more, there's a good chance you're already driving on "dead" shocks—shock absorbers that are worn to the danger point. And dead shocks are deadly!

TAKE THE 60-DAY FREE RIDE! Have a set of Monro-Matic shock absorbers installed today and try them for 60 days. If you're not completely satisfied, return them for a full refund and reinstallation of your old shocks.

Our car the movie star.

Incredible as it sounds, you are looking at the romantic lead of a big new Hollywood movie.

Please, no autographs.

The picture is Walt Disney Studio's "The Love Bug." And our VW appears (in all its real life splendor) as Herbie, the main character.

Why should a big film studio want to make a movie star out of a bug?

Why not?

Signing one up for a lifetime costs only $2034.67. That's less than they have to pay other movie stars in a single day.

Once signed up, the bug won't suddenly start making crazy demands. (A gallon of gas for every 27 miles or so is all.)

No studio could ask for a less temperamental star. (It'll work any time, anywhere and in any weather.)

Or one with fewer bad habits. (It doesn't even drink water.)

Or one that ages more gracefully.

And of course, there isn't a performer around that's better known to the public.

Who else makes three million personal appearances on the road every day?

Our car can be seen in Walt Disney's Production of "The Love Bug."

Your "Love Bug" button and sticker are waiting for you.

Key to Maintenance Plans

Know Car's Trouble Spots

The tip of this coil was so badly eroded it had completely disappeared on one side. Plastic tape to the rescue . . . temporarily.

When the air filter is so badly clogged with dirt it can't be cleaned any more, you have two choices: buy a new one or ventilate it, as was done here.

This is an oil filler cap. It is supposed to breathe through a wire mesh filter. This one choked to death long ago and its engine suffered the consequences.

What do you do when the spark plug insulator breaks? Wrap it with some plastic tape and keep on driving . . . but probably not for long.

Main Causes Listed

In planning your car maintenance, it's wise to know where trouble is likely to strike. A list of the most frequent causes of trouble is contained in a survey of the Missouri Auto Club.

The club's recently opened St. Louis diagnostic center tabulated defects found on the first 1,603 cars to pass through its lanes.

According to the results revealed by F. B. Oldham, club technical services director, these were the most frequent critical faults:

- IGNITION—(points, condenser, dwell and variation, coil, timing, spark plug performance, ignition under load)—1,500 defects or .94 per car.
- FRONT END—(including alignment, front suspension pivots and shocks)—1,450 defects or .90 per car.
- BRAKES—(including brake lining thickness and condition, adjustment, hand brake, drum or disc condition, brake hoses, pedal pressure, brake balance and progression)—1,354 or .85 defects per car.
- HEADLAMPS — (including candle power, aim, warning lights and refraction)—1,055 or .66 defects per car.
- TIRES — (including tire pressure, tread depth and walls)—922 or .58 per car.
- STEERING LINKAGE—(including steering box, tie rods, steering arm and ball joints)—402 or .25 per car.

The St. Louis facility, first of its kind ever run by an auto club, performs only diagnostic work. Repairs, if needed, are performed at area facilities with the club making no recommendations on where to go.

The club will perform rechecks of work performed, consulting, on request, with the mechanic doing the repair work.

Heavily encrusted with deposits, this spark plug was still firing . . . sometimes.

This distributor rotor was so badly cracked it was falling apart. The owner wrapped it with cord so that it managed to hold together and somehow kept on delivering its spark.

Save Cash With Good Auto Habits

Two drivers of the same automobile may get different gas mileage due to the differences in driving habits. Other factors include driving conditions and mechanical condition of the automobile.

It costs almost 50 per cent more to drive 80 m.p.h. than it does to drive 50 m.p.h. Cost of driving 60 m.p.h. is 25 per cent higher than cost of driving 30 m.p.h.

- Wet driving conditions: Slowing down under wet or snowy conditions conserves fuel. Wet pavement can reduce milleage by 1 mile per mileage by 1 mile per

CARE SUGGESTIONS

Here are some suggestions on care and mechanical condition of your car for better fuel economy:

- Use good grade of gasoline recommended by the manufacturer of your automobile.
- Be sure the thermostat isn't stuck in the open position. A warm-running engine is more efficient (uses less fuel) than a cold-running engine.
- Be sure tires are inflated properly.

How often should spark plug cables be replaced? According to ignition system experts, the cables should be replaced after every third spark plus change or at 30,000 miles — which ever comes first.

Today's Mechanic a Technician

AIM FOR A JOB IN AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE, by Dawson Taylor and James Bradley; Richard Posen Press, Inc. 138 pp.

The days have passed when the automobile mechanic was called a grease monkey and ranged low on the occupational ladder. Today, with the automobile being an increasingly complex machine, tremendous skills and thorough training are required.

For the man servicing your modern car, the term technician is more appropriate than mechanic.

One indication of how the auto service man's stature has risen is the advent of this volume by Dawson Taylor and James Bradley.

Taylor is an auto dealer as well as a writer. Bradley is the director of the automotive history collection at the Detroit Public Library. So it is with authority that the authors approach their subject.

29,000 A YEAR

In describing auto service careers, the authors point out that there are 33,000 franchised car dealers, 72,000 general repair outlets and 200,000 gasoline service stations that have technicians on their payroll.

One automotive firm estimates that it will need 29,000 technicians this year to replace normal personnel losses.

As for earning potential, "Service technicians' wages compare favorably with those of other skilled trades and should continue to do so in the future."

In a survey taken by the authors, wages of $200 and $250 or more were offered in newspaper ads. Some technicians interviewed were earning around $15,000 a year.

A technician's job is a stepping stone to business ownership. "Many a successful dealer or independent businessman can trace his start back to experience as an automotive service technician," the authors say.

With the great demand for qualified technicians, more firms are offering technical training, often at no cost to the trainee.

Many high schools offer automotive shop training and some schools devote entire curricula in automative technology.

Qualified graduates of these courses usually receive several offers each from repair facilities to come to work as trainees.

On-the-job education often involves advanced courses at training schools, paid for by the companies. All major auto makers have such training schools.

Independent organizations like the Independent Garage Owners Association (IGOA) also have training facilities, with individual garages, often paying tuition for trainees.

In addition, individual firms who make specialized automotive components offer training courses in their specialties. These courses are free of charge.

Expos Defeat Cardinals, 8-7

Confusion in Montreal's Major League Home Debut

MONTREAL (AP) — "There is," said the voice booming over the loudspeaker, "nothing wrong with this game."

"We won."

The voice was partly correct.

The Montreal Expos had won, edging the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 Monday in the first major league baseball game ever played outside the United States.

But there were things wrong.

The voice over the loudspeaker was trying to explain one of them to many in the standing room only crowd of 29,184 who stayed after the game to witness the curious ceremony taking place between home plate and the pitcher's mound.

TAPE MEASURES

There, kneeling, were the umpires, measuring distances to see that everything was in order — a routine that should have been finished prior to the game but couldn't be accomplished because of the confusion surrounding Montreal's maiden effort in the majors.

General Manager Jim Fanning, who had started the day by helping install folding chairs in sun-drenched Jarry Park ended it by calling a staff meeting to iron out the list of 22 "Bugs" he had scribbled on an envelope during the opening day operation.

But while Fanning could do something about the groundskeepers not wearing their hats, the mini-skirted usherettes gathering in knots and the organ music not being jazzy enough there wasn't much he could do about the condition of the playing field.

And that had been blasted by Curt Flood, the all-star St. Louis center fielder.

"The officials went through so much pain for the fans it's a shame they didn't take the players into consideration," Flood said. "I've played on some bad diamonds, but this is the worst. I pray I don't get killed out there."

Flood's complaint concerned the condition of the field, which was soggy and lumpy from the thawing frost pushing up from underneath. It was so soft that plate umpire Mel Steiner was standing ankle deep in the turf behind home by the end of the game.

"They're going to work on things," Steiner said. "There's a problem because the ground is soft. I've told them to try and pack it down.

Besides the condition of the field—which naturally enough will improve as the weather gets better later in the year— there were only minor problems on opening day, such as too many dignitaries and not enough chairs.

The dignitaries were headed by Jean-Jacques Bertrand, the Premier of Quebec, and ran the gamut through the mayor and the club's board of directors and from baseball people such as Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to Stan The Man Musial.

Gets Game Winning Hit

Boston Welcomes Tony C.

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro's dramatic return to Fenway Park had it all—two heartwarming, standing ovations followed by a game-winning single, even if he did call it later "the weakest hit I've ever had."

The courageous young Boston Red Sox slugger, playing his first game in Fenway Park since his near-tragic beaning on Aug. 18, 1967, was cheered for about a minute as the players were introduced prior to the club's home opener against Baltimore Monday.

AP Wirephoto

LEAVES TRIBE — Cleveland Indians' outfielder Jimmy Hall became a New York Yankee yesterday after the Indians sold him for cash and a minor league player to be named later.

The record crowd of 35,341 then repeated its tribute when he came to bat in the first inning.

"I had goose pimples all over," he said afterwards. "I had to hold back the tears. It's pretty tough to cry and hit at the same time."

Tony C., who said later he was "nervous and too anxious," flied out and grounded out in his first two plate appearances.

But in the fourth inning with the score 3-3, the bases loaded and two out, he beat out a topped roller down the third base line as pitcher Ray Culp scored what proved to be the winning run in a 5-3 victory.

"Imagine getting all this ink for a 15-foot hit," he said as reporters mobbed him in the clubhouse. "I'll take it, though."

Conigliaro said he "kept waking up" Sunday night and didn't sleep one solid hour, then felt sick to his stomach when he got to the ball park 2½ hours before the game with his whole family coming along to root for him.

"I think it was just nerves," he said. "The anticipation of everything. I knew this was going to be the greatest day of my life —and it was."

Tony C., whose vision in the left eye was impaired for more than a year after the beaning, said he had no doubts that his comeback this spring is now a fact.

Angel Knuckler Smeared, 4-3

ANAHEIM (AP) — What do you tell a player who has never batted against knuckle-baller Hoyt Wilhelm when he comes to bat against him with the go-ahead runs on base?

"I just told him to go up there and swing," said Chicago Manager Al Lopez.

So that's exactly what Pete Ward did. He pulled an inside knuckler to the right center field wall for a double that drove in the winning run as the White Sox edged the Angels 4-3 Monday night.

It was the final game of a six-game California home stand in which the Angels went 3-3.

The Angels took a day off before playing a single game in Oakland Wednesday. George Brunet, 1-0, is scheduled to face Oakland's Chuck Dobson, 0-1. The White Sox open their home season Wednesday with one game against Kansas City. Veteran Joe Horlen goes to the mound for Chicago.

PLENTY OF STUDY

"I'm going to clip out the box score and frame it," said Ward, happily after Monday night's win. "I've been watching him throw for years, and I've seen batters fall down trying to get a hit. I once saw Brooks Robinson, who is a pretty good hitter, swing at a pitch the catcher had to dive for."

The White Sox went into the eighth inning trailing 3-0. Starter Jim McGlothlin, who shut out Chicago on one hit through seven innings, allowed three straight singles for one run.

Angels manager Bill Rigney brought in Wilhelm, who struck out pinch-hitter Duane Josephson, but allowed a double by Carlos May that narrowed the margin to 3-2. Wilhelm then saved a run by throwing out runner Walt Williams at the plate on a comebacker by Luis Aparicio.

Then came Ward.

"The pitch was inside, but it kind of jumped on me and I didn't hit it as well as I wanted to," Ward said. It still

Greyhound Race Bill Introduced

LANSING (AP) — Eight greyhound racing sites — at least one in the Upper Peninsula — could be established under a bill introduced Monday by Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit.

The measure calls for the governor to appoint three racing commissioners who would license eight race meetings, each at least 75 miles from the nearest horse racing track.

Preference would be given to corporations with a majority of stock owned by Michigan residents.

Knicks Fight Off Celtics in Keeping Hopes Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — With their backs against the wall, the New York Knicks have resorted to thievery to make sure their no tomorrow wasn't today in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Stealing time by swiping the ball, the Knicks fought off elimination in their Eastern Division final series against Boston by beating the Celtics 112-104 Monday night to cut their deficit to 3-2 in the best-of-7 series.

"But we still have to get that game back we lost here," said Dick Barnett, thinking ahead to the Knicks' next all-or-nothing test in Friday's sixth game in Boston while looking back to their series opening loss in New York which cost them the home-court advantage.

Boston still needs only one victory to eliminate the Knicks and advance to the NBA final against the Western Division winner—Los Angeles or Atlanta.

THIRD GAME

The Lakers take their 2-0 lead into the third game of that best-of-7 set, which continues tonight in Atlanta.

Despite the figures which show only an eight-point victory and Boston outshooting the Knicks from the field, 52.5 per cent to 44.3, New York rebounded from a one-point loss Sunday in Boston for an easy victory Monday.

The Knicks forced Boston to give up the ball 17 times in the first half—when New York surged into a 60-46 advantage— and 25 for the game.

Wilson, McLain, Lolich to Hurl Against Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians haven't won a ball game this year, and the Detroit Tigers are hoping the law of averages doesn't catch up with them here today.

Earl Wilson, who lost to New York Friday, was named starting pitcher for Detroit, while Sam McDowell was the Indians' starter. McDowell got pounded hard Thursday when Detroit pasted Cleveland 12-3.

Normally, Mickey Lolich would have started today if the regular Tiger rotation was followed. But Lolich will report to his Michigan Air National Guard unit for two weeks of duty starting next Saturday at Savannah, Ga. Because of that, said Detroit Manager Mayo Smith, Lolich will pitch Thursday instead.

"That'll give him less of a span away from pitching," Smith said.

Denny McLain will work Wednesday's game.

ROAD TRIP

Today's game is the first of a 10-day swing that is crucial to the Tigers because all the teams they face are in the East Division. These are the teams that have the most chances to try to wrestle Detroit out of a chance for the pennant.

Detroit plays three games in Cleveland, three in New York, two in Washington and two in Baltimore before returning for a seven-game series April 25. Detroit's first game against a West Division team is May 6 at home against Kansas City.

The Tigers have scored 28 runs in their first five games, collecting 42 hits.

"Norm Cash and Al Kaline are swinging good, and Bill Freehan most of the time," said batting coach Wally Moses. "And Don Wert, even though he hasn't got many hits yet, has been swinging good and that's what I look for. If you hit the ball good the hits will come."

Meanwhile, Dick McAuliffe has done a standout job in his leadoff batter spot. He has reached base 11 times in 24 trips to the plate.

"I figure any leadoff man who gets on base twice a game must be doing a heck of a job," he said. Last year McAuliffe led the Tigers with 95 runs scored after reaching base 226 times.

Steady Play Helps Mowry to Victory in Magnolia Golf

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Larry Mowry's steady game brought him first prize of $5,000 in the $35,000 Magnolia State Golf Classic.

Mowry was one over par with a 71 for the first round, then turned in a 67 and finished Monday with rounds of 66 and 68 for a 272 total.

Thursday's opening and Sunday's 36-hold final over the 6,731-yard Hattiesburg Country Club course were delayed by rain.

Larry Hinson and Alvin Odom finished in a tie for second at 273. Jim Bullard, the early leader wound up in a tie with Jerry Abbott at 274.

Mowry, who had only three bogeys in 72 holes, said, "I was getting good drives all day. My putting was sharper in the morning round. I had better lies in the afternoon but I couldn't get them to go down."

Namath Admits 'Cussing' at Officer

Joe 'The Jet' Jugged by Miami Police

MIAMI (AP) — Super Bowl hero Joe Namath admits he "cussed the cop out" after his arrest on a drunken driving charge, but contends he hadn't had a drink in two hours and only had three or four to begin with.

"Sure I cussed the cop out and I was wrong to do it," the New York Jets' quarterback declared after the incident early Monday.

"But I was sober," he said in an interview at the exclusive Palm Bay Club, his residence when in Miami.

"I had two here at the Palm Bay Club and either one or two at the Harbor Lounge before we left there about 2 a.m."

About 4:05 a.m., Namath's rented 1969 Cadillac was pulled over on the 79th Street Causeway, a swinging nightclub strip, by officer Ray De Santis of the North Bay Village Police Department.

THREE COUNTS

De Santis said Namath was speeding at 70 miles per hour. He charged the football star with drunken driving, careless driving and driving without a valid license.

"I got mad when he refused to allow me the courtesy of going back to the Palm Bay Club to get my driver's license. In Pennsylvania they give a person 48 hours to do that. I could have done it in 10 minutes," he said.

Namath's residence is on the mainland end of the causeway which links North Bay Village to Miami. Halfway between is Broadway Joe's Restaurant, a quick service eatery owned by Namath.

De Santis reported when he stopped the car, Namath said "You know me. You know who I am."

Bosox Manager Figures $200 Fine Amounts to 'About $50 Per Word'

BOSTON (AP) — Loss of a couple of hundred dollars would hurt most people, but Manager Dick Williams can laugh it off — when his Boston Red Sox win.

Williams was notified by American League President Joe Cronin that he had been fined $200 for uncomplimentary remarks to umpire Emmett Ashford after the Red Sox' 2-1 loss in 13 innings at Baltimore last Thursday.

"The letter said I was abusive to him — and I was," Williams admitted. "I guess $200 worth is about right. It came to about $50 a word."

Williams became angered in Baltimore when Ashford ruled a line drive down he right field line a fair ball, giving the Orioles' Frank Robinson a double on a shot most observers considered foul. Robinson scored the winning run a few minutes later.

Southpaw Pitcher Hurls Cubs to Top

CHICAGO (AP) — Ken Holtzman, the Chicago Cubs' flashy left-hander, is hoping for a long, quiet summer so that he might help pitch his ball club to the National League pennant.

Holtzman who has yet to have an uninterrupted season in the majors, hurled the Cubs into first place in the East Division of the National League Monday with a 4-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Although he walked four of the first eight men he faced and yielded seven hits in a steady drizzle, Holtzman gained his second victory of the young season and helped the Cubs to their sixth in seven games.

Holtzman's career has been somewhat odd. He broke in with the Cubs at the end of the 1965 season and put in his first full year in 1966 with an 11-16 record but managed to get 171 strikeouts.

The following season Holtzman, because of school commitments, became a weekend pitcher and posted a nifty 9-0 record in only 12 games with a 2.52 earned run average.

Holtzman looked eagerly toward the 1968 season. But hampered by calls by the National Guard, Holtzman finished with a disappointing 11-14 mark.

Nevertheless, he proved he could pitch when allowed to get into the groove as he hurled three straight shutouts at midseason.

There's little chance that Holtzman will go throughout the 1969 season without being called by the National Guard but he has hopes the calls to duty might be limited.

Pilots Beaten by Royals, 2-1

SEATTLE (AP) — Crushed by Chicago homers Sunday afternoon, the Seattle Pilots succumbed to Kansas City driblets Monday night by a score of 2-1.

It was no consolation to have visiting Manager Joe Gordon say "this is no home run park on a cold night."

The victory by one expansion team over another kept the Royals on top in the West Division of the American League.

Roger Nelson, picked from Baltimore as Kansas City's first choice in the expansion draft, justified the faith in his ability by limiting the Pilots to six hits and accounting for all but the last out.

Nelson walked the bases full in the ninth and Gordon sent in Dave Wickersham to strike out pinch hitter Steve Whitaker and end the threat.

THREAT ENDED

"Nelson was still strong but starting to come in a little high with the pitch," Gordon said.

The only extra-base blow of the game was the double with which Tommy Harper opened the Seattle first. He stole second and was pushed on home by two infield outs.

Joe Foy made the evening miserable for Seattle.

The Kansas City third baseman hit safely in all of his four appearances—the first a topped shot down third, the second a clean blow to left and the third a fall-away poke past first base that sent Jack Hernandez home from second with the tying run in the sixth inning.

Hernandez had singled and moved up on the first of two errors by Pilots' shortstop John Kennedy, whose other miscue on Jerry Adair's grounder let Foy score from second with the winning run in the eighth inning.

Astros Whip Dodgers, 11-5

Seven-Run Explosion Wins for Dierker

HOUSTON (AP) — Doug Rader and John Edwards knocked in two runs apiece in a seven-run third-inning explosion that carried the Houston Astros to an 11-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night.

Right-hander Larry Dierker blanked the Dodgers on two hits until the eighth, when Wes Parker crashed a two-run homer, and ignited the third-inning burst with a single.

A walk and Jim Wynn's single produced one run and Rader singled two more across. Rader scored on Curt Blefary's triple and Denis Menke followed with a single, chasing Dodger starter Don Sutton.

Reliever Joe Moeller walked Gary Geiger and Edwards ended an 0-for-18 slump with a two-run double, capping the flurry.

Rader also drove in a first-inning run with a ground out and Wynn poked a two-run single in the three-run eighth.

The victory was the Astros' second of the season after five straight setbacks.

Expos Defeat Cardinals in Home Contest

There were so many of them, in fact, that the game started about 15 minutes late, which helped the workmen complete the installation of the 6,000 folding chairs that had to be used because there was no time to bolt the permanent seats into place.

Rich Allen Does 'Tip' After Homer 'Tap'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rich Allen socked the ball at least 500 feet to help the Philadelphia Phillies win a ballgame. But the discussion afterwards centered around whether the controversial slugger did or did not tip his cap to 13,070 cheering fans.

Allen ripped one over the left field roof in the third inning with John Briggs on base to snap a 1-1 tie with the New York Mets and key a 5-1 Philadelphia victory Monday night.

After the inning, he went to first base amid cheers and applause from the fans. He turned and in an exaggerated manner, tipped his cap a foot over his head. The fans responded with more applause and cheers.

The boos that had descended on Allen's head from the hometown fans for the past several years were silent, at least for the moment. Allen was showing the fans he wanted to let bygones be bygones, right? Wrong! Why did he tip his cap to the fans for the first time in the memory of most press box habitues?

WRITERS TOLD

"I was letting you know you can't find anything worthy of writing," he told one writer who pressed him on the subject.

Then he said: "If I told you why I tipped my hat, they'd shoot me in the morning."

When another wave of reporters surrounded his locker, Allen denied he tipped the cap.

"I'm not looking to change my image around here," he said. "I'm only living for me and my family, and I'm satisfied the way I'm living. I don't care a thing about the crowd."

Still another question on the hat-tipping brought the reply:

"I'd rather not comment."

FIRST BLAST

Allen had a great chance to start a job of changing his image, and he blew it with his post-game remarks. The fans were receptive. They cheered him everytime he came to bat after the home run.

Allen's home run—his first of the season—was his 26th against New York, a team against which he has compiled a lifetime batting average of .330.

Southpaw Woody Fryman of the Phillies went the distance for his first victory of the season. Mets' young Jim McAndrew was the loser.

Johnson's second home run of the season tied it in the second and Allen's sent the Phillies ahead to stay.

Kentucky Edge Cut in Playoffs

Indiana Hopes Alive After Victory

By the Associated Press

Indiana and Dallas, with barely enough time to take a deep breath after avoiding elimination from the American Basketball Association semifinal playoffs, start panting again tonight when they face another do-or-die situation.

Indiana kept alive in its Eastern Division semi by crushing Kentucky in the final period for a 116-97 victory Monday night in Indianapolis that cut the Colonels lead to 3-2 in the best-of-7 series.

Dallas also pulled within 3-2 of New Orleans in its Western Division semi by pulling away early to a 123-112 triumph at New Orleans.

The scenes for the sixth games now shift to Louisville and New Orleans tonight, while Minnesota also tries to avoid elimination in its sixth game against Miami in another East semi at Minnesota. Miami leads that one 3-2.

Indiana led only 80-78 after three periods, but Kentucky went more than 10 minutes without a field goal in the final quarter to hand over the decision as Bob Netolicky scored 35 points and Roger Brown 34 for the Pacers.

BEATS OUT BUNT — Kimball's Bill Turkington beats out a bunt to load the bases against Walled Lake yesterday in their game at Walled Lake. Catcher Wally Williams threw to Jack Lewis, covering first, but not in time. Umpire is Hal Lakin. Kimball won a 4-3 decision.

Mott, Rochester Triumph

Seven Errors Help Sink Walled Lake

Seven errors were too much to overcome for Walled Lake and, despite a 3-run rally in the final inning, the Vikings took a 4-3 loss at the hands of Kimball yesterday.

In other high school games, Waterford Mott defeated Holly, 7-3; and Rochester trimmed Bloomfield Lahser, 8-3.

Kimball scored on a three base error and single by Bud Hurst in the third and a single by Doug Nikkila after a walk and steal in the fifth.

Three more errors in the 6th helped Kimball to two more runs.

SACRIFICE FLY

Walled Lake's rally in the top of the 7th fell short after Pat Piilo and Jack Lewis singled and Jerry Mattack hit a pinch triple. He then scored on a fly ball.

Jerry McNair and Danny Sheldon each had two hits and two rbi's for Mott as Bill Poe pitched a two hitter and struck out nine Holly batters.

Mott stands 2-0 for the season.

Rochester had four batters, Dany Snyder, Stan Babiuk, Ted Malkasian and Terry Robtoy with a pair of hits, plus 'home runs by Mike Scally and Al Thomas.

Five runs in the bottom of the 6th after Lahser tied it 3-3 did it and the big blow was Thomas' 2-run homer.

Brannigan had two hits for the losers.

Indiana Center Near Unanimous in ABA Voting

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana center Mel Daniels missed by just two ballots of becoming a unanimous selection on the American Basketball Association All-Star team announced today.

Daniels received 965 points out of a possible 1,000 in the voting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters covering the league. Joining Daniels on the first team were guards Larry Jones of Denver and James Jones of New Orleans, and forwards Rick Barry of Oakland and Connie Hawkins of Minnesota.

Named to the second team were Miami's Don Freeman, Louis Dampier of Kentucky, John Beasley of Dallas, Doug Moe of Oakland and Austin Robbins of New Orleans.

2 Films Slated at Club Meeting

Valley of the Swans and The Michigan Coho Story will be films shown Wednesday at the monthly meeting of the Oakland County Duck Hunter's Club.

The meeting will be at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club at 7 p.m. and is open to the public.

Playoffs on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The sixth game of the Eastern Division final playoff series between Boston and New York will be televised nationally Friday night as an extra National Basketball Association Game of the Week. The telecast from Boston will begin at 7:30 p.m., EST on ABC-TV. Boston leads the best-of-7 series 3-2.

Ayondale Golf Victory

Ayondale defeated Romeo 246-274 in its opening golf match of the season with Larry Davis' low of 44 at Romeo Golf Club.

Clarkston Thinclads Win; Country Day Meet Slated

Jim Bentimiglia led Clarkston to its first track victory of the season yesterday.

He won the low hurdles and long jump and anchored the winning 880 relay team to score 11¼ of the Wolves points in the 64-54 decision over winless Lake Orion. Both teams have lost three times.

Despite a double victory by Jeff Wilson in the 220 and 100 yard runs, Country Day's track team lost a 65-51 decision to Troy in the season opener for both teams.

Wilson went 24.2 in the 220 and 10.6 in the 100 and also ran a leg of the 880 relay as his team won in 1:36.7.

A 11-6 pole vault by Fons of Troy was the best individual effort for the winners.

The annual Country Day Invitational Meet involving 15 schools from six states is set for a 9:30 a.m. preliminaries start Saturday.

The host Yellow Jackets are the defending champions. Other Michigan schools entered are Grosse Pointe University School and Leelanau. There'll also be entries from New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Many of the contestants will arrive Friday evening in time for the pre-Invitational dinner and then are housed in the homes of the Country Day students.

The host school is rated a contender again in what is expected to be a close meet. Pete Risdon in the 880, sprinter Jeff Wilson, shot put specialist Jack Zwemer and pole vaulter John Bromley are threats to score for Country Day.

Chargers Pay Stadium Rent

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers football club was ordered Monday to pay the city of San Diego $215,466 in rent owed for use of San Diego Stadium in 1968.

The order was issued by Superior Court Judge Hugo Fisher who also refused to issue an injunction sought by the Chargers against the city in the dispute over use of the stadium.

Other issues before the court, including the American Football League team's liability for rental of the stadium beyond 1968 under its original contract, will be set for trial, Fisher ordered.

Fisher also had been asked for a court order to prevent the city from interfering with the football team's preseason schedule that conflicts with games planned by the Padres National League baseball team.

City attorneys said the city would not interfere with the Chargers' schedule against the New Orleans Saints Aug. 9 and the Los Angeles Rams Aug. 30.

The baseball team has scheduled games against Pittsburgh Aug. 9 and Montreal Aug. 30 but they will be rescheduled or canceled.

W-O 9s Start Play

Wins for Clarkston, Andover

Clarkston and Bloomfield Andover started Wayne-Oakland League baseball play yesterday with victories, while Northville and Kettering battled through 11 innings before their contest was called 3-3 because of darkness.

Andover scored two runs in the top of the 8th inning and then halted a Brighton rally to score a 6-5 triumph as nine of the 10 who played collected hits.

Bob Heussner had two hits for the winners, while Larry Appleby homered.

The two runs in the eighth came on a double by Dick Souther and single by Bob Foreman putting runners on second and a third. A squeeze play and sacrifice fly accounted for the two runs.

Clarkston's 6-4 win over West Bloomfield was also decided in the late innings.

The Wolves picked up runs in the top of the 5th and 7th by almost identical methods.

DOUBLE STEAL

Tom Lane doubled, advanced on a groundout and after Jeff Keyser walked, a double steal scored Lane.

In the 7th, Lane singled, stole second, went to third on a grounder, Keyser walked and the double steal again scored a run.

A misjudged fly ball scored two of the three runs in the 4th inning.

West Bloomfield scored on a forced run in the third; singles by Ron Van Gorder and Mark De Silvio and fly by Robin Brennan in the 5th; then an error, double by Van Gorder and another double by DeSilvio in the final frame to fall one run short.

Northville tied the game in the top of the 7th after Kettering had gone ahead in the bottom of the 6th with Ron Waldrup and Dennis Wooster each driving in runs.

THREE STRANDED

Kettering had a chance to win it in the bottom of the 8th with the bases loaded and no outs, but pitcher Jeff Taylor struck out two batters after a short fly.

Both Taylor and Wooster had 12 strike outs in going the distance.

Milford took advantage of nine walks and four Clarenceville errors to win a 5-4 verdict.

Larry Diamond's single and double for the losers getting two rbi's led all the hitting in the game.

Kettering, Lahser Gain Golf Victories

Waterford Kettering and Bloomfield Hills Lahser posted golf victories yesterday.

The Captains turned back Waterford Mott, 208-215, led by Sid Graves' 37. Bob Rohrig shot a 39 for Lahser as the Knights slipped past Madison Lamphere, 201-231.

In a Wayne-Oakland League tennis match, Northville defeated Bloomfield Hills Andover, 3-2.

Muscatine Keglers 3rd in ABC Tourney

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Muscatine Produce of Muscantine, Iowa, took over third spot in the regular team standings of the annual American Bowling Congress tournament Monday night with 3,094.

The best contribution was a 639 series by Harold Hetzler.

The Muscantine squad trials leader Haefner Auto of St. Louis by 31 pins. Haefner has been the leader since March 7.

Triple Winner Helps Victory

Led by triple winner Gary Scheffler, Marysville (9 1½) defeated Imlay City (45½) and Almont (11) in a triangular track meet at Imlay yesterday.

Scheffler won the long jump, pole vault and high hurdles.

Imlay's Ron Harsen was a double winner as he won the 220, tied in the 100 and ran a leg of the 880 relay.

O. J. Rejects Offer for UFL Contract

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — O. J. Simpson has turned down an attractive offer to play minor league football to continue negotiations to play in the major leagues.

In a telegram to the Indianapolis Capitols dated April 11, last year's Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California said he would continue to pursue a spot in the American-National Football League.

The Capitols had offered Simpson $150,000 salary for one year plus a $250,000 loan for investment purposes. They set the deadline for acceptance at midnight tonight.

Child, 4, Saves Mother's Life

ARVADA, Colo. (AP) — Four-year-old Sean Schadler of Arvada was credited by police Monday with saving his mother's life after she fell in the snow and struck her head on a rock.

Authorities said Sean and his mother, Mrs. Jeanine Schadler, walked for help after their car went out of control and slid off a dirt road.

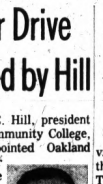

Mrs. Schadler fell and hit her head on a rock during the walk.

The youngster continued on by himself.

After walking some four miles, he spotted a cabin owned by Denver policeman Joe Breuch. Breuch backtracked and found Mrs. Schadler lying in the snow.

Cancer Drive Headed by Hill

Dr. Joseph E. Hill, president of Oakland Community College, has been appointed Oakland County Cancer Society crusade chairman for 1969.

HILL

The educational and fund-raising crusade w#l be held April 24-27.

The goal for the Oakland County Unit for this year is $125,000. About 12,000 volunteer crusaders will participate in the door-to-door drive.

Hill helped kick off the campaign by donating $100 to the crusade.

The American Cancer Society's program consists of a three-pronged attack — research, education and service — against cancer, the nation's second leading cause of death.

Suspect Is Talked Into Jail Cell

The power of persuasion led to the arrest of a man accused of breaking into a Pontiac home last night.

Eugene Wood, 28, and his wife arrived home at 974 Dewey, found a window broken and surprised an apparent burglar in the house. Wood chased him down the street.

"Stop," Wood yelled, hot on the man's heels.

"I didn't get nothin'," the fugitive answered.

"You busted my window," Wood shouted. "How about paying for it?"

The burglar suspect, identified by police as George R. Edwards, 29, of 101 Raeburn, stopped and returned to the scene where police, called by Wood's wife, arrested Edwards. He is in Oakland County Jail awaiting arraignment.

Man May Get New Trial in Area Slaying

A Lapeer County man convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of an Oxford Township coed in 1965 may receive a new trial.

The Michigan Court of Appeals has ordered Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem to hold a hearing April 21 to hear new evidence in the case of Kenneth R. Cooke of Lum.

The information is to be provided by Dr. Roger Olive, chief psychologist at Ionia State Hospital, where Cooke was committed in 1966, and Dr. Warren Wille, psychiatric consultant for the department of corrections.

* * *

Both say that examinations of Cooke have revealed that Cooke was not mentally capable of standing trial, and that the information they have gathered was not available when a sanity hearing was held prior to his trial.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY

Two weeks prior to the trial Ziem heard conflicting testimony from two psychiatrists about Cooke's ability to stand trial, and then decided that Cooke, then 26, would be able to assist his defense counsel.

Cooke was found guilty in September 1965, of killing Barbara K. Hodges, 22, a student at Central Michigan University.

She was beaten and then shot in the head. Her body was dumped on a desolate Oxford Township road.

* * *

Cooke, who was a friend of Miss Hodges, first told police that a hitchhiker she had picked up was responsible, but then a short time later admitted the killing.

Parish Meeting

A meeting of all St. Vincent de Paul Church parishioners has been called for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the parish hall to gain support to keep open and sustain St. Frederick School next year.

Half the population of the United States is now under 27.7 years of age.

Sewerage Pact to Be Signed

Action Is Authorized by Waterford Board

The Waterford Township Board last night authorized the signing of the township's contract with Oakland County for construction of the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal interceptor.

Several minor changes in the agreement were made, but major facets of plans for the development were left unaltered, according to township officials.

The Clinton-Oakland, a main transmission line, will serve the eastern half of Waterford.

The board also updated the township's insurance policy with the Fire Fighters' Association, raising compensation for injury days and increasing death benefits from $5,000 to $10,000.

LIQUOR LICENSE OK'D

Amendments to the zoning ordinance were discussed, pending action by the Township Planning Commission at a future public hearing.

A new liquor license for Dale Drugs, 7140 Cooley Lake, was approved and the police department report for March was accepted.

First notices were given in three rezoning cases.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Garnet Poulton, who passed away April 14, 1968.
You're not forgotten father, dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by wife Frances, son Jack, daughter Helen and families.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Phyllis J. Rumph who passed away 3 years ago April 15, 1964.
Gone is the face I loved so well,
Silent is the voice I loved to hear.
Even tho' we are far apart
Many a memory binds us.
Your life was full of kindly deeds
And thoughts of others.
Sadly missed by a loving and lonely
Aunt Ethel.

WE WANT
2 "GREEDY"
SALESMEN

Due to expansion, we are looking for two men in this area who are presently earning. The men we seek know that they're CAPABLE of making a lot more and WANT to make a lot more.

You CAN with us!

Most of our new salesmen increase their income 200-400 per cent in their first year. Are you "greedy" enough to want to do this?

We're one of the world's largest individual-study organizations and we offer you the opportunity to attain financial independence.

We'll supply the leads you need from our multi-million dollar advertising campaigns.

No higher commissions are paid in our field. We offer company paid insurance, company paid major medical and the opportunity to climb our management ladder.

So, if you are over 23 and "greedy,"

AP Will Honor 15 Radio, TV Stations in State

LANSING (AP) — Fifteen Michigan radio and television stations will be honored tonight for outstanding work in various news fields at the annual Associated Press Awards Banquet in Lansing.

Gov. William Milliken will present the awards as well as a special award for Newsmaker of the Year to Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

The Newsmaker of the Year award will be presented to Griffin in connection with his leadership in blocking Senate confirmation of the nomination of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Keynoting the awards banquet will be Richard Wald, vice president of NBC News, New York. More than 120 broadcasters from throughout Michigan are expected at the banquet.

NEW YORK — The difference between Monday night's Oscar Awards ceremonies on ABC and the ones that preceded it on television was that they finally presented awards as a show instead of a news event.

But even if the new production team was able to inject some form and shape to the motion picture industry's annual big blast, its very nature and purpose still makes it unwieldy in TV terms.

This time out there were 10 top film stars economically opening the envelopes without the usual palaver and endless entrances and exits of celebrities. Heartfelt speeches of thanks were kept to a blessed minimum, although a few recipients still insisted on mentioning everyone but their bookies and dentists.

There were also rehearsed and entertaining bits between the presentation ceremonies. The costume design award, for instance, was preceded by a series of brief dance numbers in which performers modeled clothes that won nominations.

There were some comedy numbers, too, including one in which five very important women stars lined up and ruefully complained about the shortage of parts for mature actresses—and then handed the Oscar to Sir Carol Reed for directing "Oliver," which won the Lion's share of statuettes including top prize for best film.

Bob Hope had a funny, pseudo-bitter monologue before presenting the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian award to Martha Raye, obviously a popular decision by the academy board of directors.

Paula Kelly starred with the UCLA marching band in a bright dance-marching production number built around one of the nominated songs.

Critical reception of the show ought to be better than usual, although as far as the general public is concerned it always is one of the most popular programs of the years. Even so, the audience can still get pretty bored by those technical awards and meandering acceptance speeches. And viewers may have missed the usual chance to look over masses of celebrities—for the first time the famous faces in the audience played a very small part in the proceedings.

It should be noted, that the show went on and went off precisely on time.

NY's Worker Explosion Seen as Boon to Husband Hunters

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Broadway and Times Square will become the secretaries' and stenographers' paradise where they work and hunt husbands.

WILSON

Red, the newsdealer with kiosk outside the Hotel Americana at 53rd and 7th, pointed to one new skyscraper already up, and another going up.

"There's gonna be 20,000 more people working around this corner. And"—he jerked his thumb toward the subway—"they're all gonna be trying to get down in that little hole."

But Red understated it. Within three years, new skyscrapers between 44th and 59th Sts. on Broadway and 7th will not only drive out the honkytonk pornography parlors and taxi dance halls but will bring the total new Times Square office population to a startling 200,000 (mostly young females).

"We have a rule of thumb that you have one person for every 100 sq. ft. of space," Jerry Cohen, president of Williams Real Estate, says.

So you can figure it. New 1700 Broadway Bldg. across from Ed Sullivan Theater—5,400 workers. Upgoing 810 7th Ave.—6,000. Planned 888 7th Ave.—8,000.

But the new Uris Bldg. across from Lindy's where the Capitol Theater stood will teem with 20,000 or as many as work in the Pan-Am Bldg.

Crowded as Broadway of 1972 will be, it won't be as packed as the Grand Central Area.

"Broadway is just in its infancy," Jerry Cohen said. God help it when it grows up. To think, the Uris Bldg. will house 20 times as many office slaves as lived in my entire home town of Rockford, Ohio.

But I thought computers were taking the place of office gals.

"Forget computers!" scoffs Bob Tisch of Loews Hotels. "With shorter hours and 12 vacation days, it now takes two people to do what one used to do."

It may not be quite right to say the secretaries will have a paradise.

Mamie Van Doren's 12-year-old son (father Ray Anthony) slipped and crashed down a stairs 15 feet high at Newport Beach, Calif., suffered a brain concussion, but has recovered. It resulted from slippery soles on some new shoes.

Steve Kuehl

DREAMS COME TRUE FOR A PONTIAC PRESS CARRIER SALESMAN.

Steve Kuehl has been a Pontiac Press Carrier-Salesman for 26 months. The 14-year-old attends Washington Junior High School where he maintains a B average. He is pictured above with the 16-foot boat and motor he purchased with profits from his Pontiac Press route. Steve also finds time to play lead guitar in a rock and roll band. He plans on purchasing a new guitar and amplifier in the near future with more profits from his business as a Press Carrier-Salesman.

Steve is a prime example of the responsible financial training that can be gained from participating in the Pontiac Press Carrier-Salesman program.

Completing this application is the first step toward putting your son in a picture like this!

Grand Trunk Moves Division Headquarters to Pontiac

Grand Trunk Western Railroad's largest operation — the Detroit Division — has moved its headquarters to Pontiac from Detroit.

Effective yesterday, the shift is aimed at improving over-all administration and service to Pontiac area shippers.

The new offices for the division will be in leased quarters in the Kay Building at 3½ S. Saginaw. Previously the offices for the division had been at Grand Trunk's Milwaukee Junction near Detroit's New Center Area.

A spokesman for the railroad said the relocation affects the division superintendent and nine employes who head up the operations of 2,800 employes, 400 of them in the Pontiac area.

DETROIT OPERATIONS

An assistant superintendent will continue to administer operations from the Milwaukee Junction office.

Grand Trunk does a major part of its business in Pontiac, serving more than 90 shippers, including three General Motors plants.

The Detroit Division, Grand Trunk's longest, covers 580 miles of track, with the largest portion between Detroit and Muskegon. Other lines on the division branch out from Pontiac to Jackson, Caseville and Richmond.

Also included on the division are lines from Detroit to Port Huron, Green to Ashley and Durand to Bay City.

The company said that its other unit, the Chicago Division, will remain in Battle Creek.

The railroad's corporate offices are in downtown Detroit.

31-Man Plane Lost; N. Korea Gloats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U. S. Navy spy plane with 31 men aboard was lost today in the Far East, and the North Korean Communists gleefully announced they shot it down "with a single shot at a high altitude."

The Defense Department said only that the plane was missing. It was identified as a version of the Air Force EC121, a four-engine, propeller-driven craft loaded with sophisticated intelligence-gathering equipment.

A broadcast by North Korean Radio saying the plane entered North Korean air space and was downed with one shot at high altitude hinted an antiaircraft missile may have been used.

The Pentagon said a search was under way for the plane in the Sea of Japan 95 miles south of Chongjin, a port city in North Korea's northeast panhandle about 75 miles from Red China and about 150 miles from Vladivostok.

PUEBLO MISSION AREA

The U.S. spy ship Pueblo was said to have operated in that general area in the Sea of Japan before heading south along the North Korean coast prior to being captured by Communist gunboats in January 1968.

The North Korean broadcast said the plane "was reconnoitering after intruding deep into the territorial air of the northern half of the Republic" when it was shot down.

The broadcast did not reveal whether any of the crew survived or where the plane went down. The Pentagon said a list of crew members was being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

In the case of the Pueblo, 82 of the 83 members of the crew survived and were held prisoner for a year by the Communists. They were released last December.

'FIRST' FOR NIXON

The White House was being kept closely informed of developments. It is President Nixon's first encounter with an incident of this type.

The Pentagon said the plane, reported capable of carrying six tons of special electronic equipment, took off from the U.S. Navy base in Atsugi, Japan, at 5 p.m. EST yesterday and was last heard from about midnight.

The Defense statement said the pilot was under orders to approach no closer than 50 miles to North Korea. The purpose of the mission was not discosed. The statement only called the plane a "reconnaissance aircraft."

The North Koreans said the plane was downed at 1:50 a.m. EST.

MONITORED IN TOKYO

The broadcast was monitored in Tokyo.

The plane carries so much equipment, sources explained, that it takes an unusually large number of men to operate it.

The missing plane was said to be capable of flying above 25,000 feet.

The "single shot" claim appeared to indicate a missile may have been the weapon. North Korea, like Communist North Vietnam, has been supplied with Soviet-made surface-to-air antiaircraft missiles.

'SINGLE STROKE'

The North Korean broadcast as monitored by the State Department mentioned a "single stroke" success in downing the plane, but the version as monitored in Tokyo spoke of a single shot.

Oscars Feature Tie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The second tie in the 41-year history of the Academy Awards gives Oscars to both Barbra Streisand of "Funny Girl" and Katharine Hepburn of "The Lion in Winter" and makes Miss Hepburn the first three-time winner.

Cliff Robertson in the role of the mentally retarded man whom doctors turn temporarily into a genius in "Charly" was named best actor of 1968 at last night's presentations.

"Oliver:," a musical spectacle based on Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," was voted the year's best picture. It won in five categories, including best-director laurels for Sir Carol Reed with his first musical.

For supporting performances, the honors went to Jack Albertson as the blustering father in "The Subject Was Roses" and Ruth Gordon as the meddling neighbor and part-time witch in "Rosemary's Baby."

LOOKED STUNNED

Ingrid Bergman, presenting the best-actress Oscar, looked stunned and unbelieving as she opened the envelope containing the winners' names and exclaimed: "It's a tie!"

A tie happened only once before, in 1932, when best-actor awards went to both Fredric March and Wallace Beery.

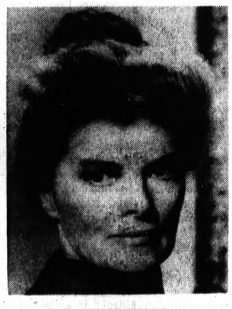

The Oscar for best song went to "The Windmills of Your Mind," from "The Thomas Crown Affair."

The Soviet Union's 6½-hour spectacular, "War and Peace," collected the award for best foreign-language film.

Martha Raye won the Jean Hersholt award "for great humanitarian service."

2-County Plan OK'd to Control Flooding

A plan to control flooding in Oakland and Macomb counties — particularly Clinton Township and Warren — was approved yesterday by Oakland and Macomb intercounty drain boards and the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Approval was given at a public hearing in Mount Clemens.

To be paid for by the counties, the State Highway Department and some 60 communities involved, the plan provides for better storm-water runoff along the Clinton River and the Red Run Drain.

Involved are improvements along an eight-mile section of the Clinton River and on the Red Run Drain from Stephenson Highway in Madison Heights to the Clinton River.

ONE PROJECT $16.6 MILLION

Several Lapeer and St. Clair County communities also are affected by the $16.6-million Clinton project. Cost of the Red Run improvements has not yet been estimated.

The costs should not be levied on Pontiac, Almont Township, Pleasant Ridge, Avon and Brandon Townships, representatives of those communities said.

They contended their cities would not be benefited, because of prior flood-prevention plans.

Alger H. Strom, Pontiac deputy city attorney, said the city has spent millions to take care of its end of the Clinton River.

'DON'T CONSIDER US'

"We don't think we should even be considered for assessment," he said.

Following yesterday's hearing, the next step in pursuing the project is to develop engineering plans and to apportion costs among the various governmental units involved.

Drainage board members declined to estimate when work might begin.

To Launch Housing Project

Harambee Awaits Okay

Harambee, a black community development organization, was to be launched on its first large housing project today.

Up for approval tonight by the Pontiac City Commission is the purchase of 4.7 acres of city-owned land on which Harambee plans to build some 60 housing units at a projected cost of $1 million.

The land purchase, for $40,700, got unofficial approval of the commission last night. The land, formerly known as the Lake Street Yards, used by the Department of Public Works, has been advertised for bids during the last month. Harambee was the only bidder. The purchase amount equaled the appraised value of the land, city officials indicated.

The acreage is northeast of Lake and Orton streets and adjacent to the railroad tracks.

William E. Jackson, Harambee executive director, announced that a series of meetings had been held with involved citizens of the nearby southwest side and that basic planning had met with their approval.

Further consultation with citizens groups is planned to determine the family sizes and types of units appropriate for the development.

When plans and specifications have been approved by citizens goups, application for funds for the project will be made to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Jackson said.

Jackson said Harambee plans to begin construction this summer and have units open by next spring.

PLANS FOR PROJECT

Plans call for 30 per cent of the site space to be devoted to housing with provision for parking, green belts and small recreation areas. In addition, the proposal allows some additional parking space for the Lake Street Church of God.

Jackson said the management and maintenance of the units is to be done by a local private management company. Responsibility for selection of this company will rest with the local citizens mortgage corporation, he said.

Harambee, a West African word meaning "let us work together," was formed last spring primarily by black citizens. In its planning stages it was financed by metropolitan area organizations including the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority.

The organization plans to build various types of housing particularly in the city's south side neighborhoods. Harambee has been working closely with city planners on long-range proposals.

Area Showers Due to Leave Tonight

Showers are expected to diminish by evening, then leave Pontiac area skies partly cloudy through tonight.

Temperatures, dipping to a low of 50 to 55 tonight, will become warmer tomorrow, the high climbing to 65 to 70.

There's a chance of showers returning Thursday.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are 60 today, 30 tonight and 20 tomorrow. The temperature at 12:30 p.m. was 56.

Jury Is Deliberating on the Fate of Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fate of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan rests with a jury that must weigh this question: how ill was he, mentally, when he killed Robert F. Kennedy?

The 25-year-old Jordanian Arab watched stolidly as the jury of seven men and five women filed from the courtroom yesterday to fix the degree of his crime.

Instructed by Judge Herbert V. Walker to be "uninfluenced by pity for the defendant or by passion or by prejudice against him," the jury can return any of four possible verdicts:

- First-degree murder—asked by the state—with the penalty of life in prison or death. The penalty would be determined by the jury in a separate session.
- Second-degree murder—asked by the defense—with the term of five years to life in prison.
- Manslaughter, one to 10 years.
- Acquittal.

'MIND BLURRED'

The defense contended that Sirhan's mind was so blurred that the crime didn't meet the legal definition of first-degree murder. But it did not ask for the other possible verdicts of manslaughter or acquittal.

Prosecutor Lynn D. Compton, in his final argument, said:

"The psychiatrists say if you hate a man a little bit and kill him, you are responsible and mature; but if you hate him a lot and kill him, you are not responsible and not mature."

Compton wound up with a plea to the jury not to "put a premium on hate" by returning a verdict of less than first degree.

More Details Provided on Nixon Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveiled today more details about budget cuts. The only agency to wind up with more money is the Justice Department.

Announcing new spending figures for each agency under a revised budget calculated to produce a $5.8 billion surplus in the fiscal year starting July 1, Nixon revealed that $1.1 billion of the $4 billion in reductions he is claiming come out of defense and military-aid programs.

Another $1 billion of the reductions was attributed to whittling down a plan of President Johnson — never transmitted to Congress but included in his January budget — to increase Social Security benefits.

Two departments with heavy responsibilities in dealing with social ills — Health, Education and Welfare and Housing and Urban Development — shared in the budget cuts. HUD spending estimates were cut by $74 million while HEW's forecast outlays, apart from Social Security, were reduced by $179 million.

Meanwhile, the domestic program that Nixon outlined in broad terms yesterday was drawing a predictable reaction in Congress. Republicans hailed the domestic outline as "significant" and "fundamental," while Democratic leaders said they would await specifics before taking a stand.

In the Senate, neither Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, nor whip Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts commented, and aides said they would have to wait for details.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen had no immediate comment.

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan hailed the message as "highly significant."

News in Brief

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Police Officers Association (DPOA) whose members are still incensed at recent actions of George W. Crockett Jr., yesterday began a campaign to remove the Recorder's Court judge from the bench.

The DPOA plan is to ask Michigan citizens to sign petitions asking the Senate and House of Representatives to adopt a concurrent resolution directing Gov. Milliken to remove Crockett from office for "gross misconduct . . . persistent failure to perform his duties . . . and conduct clearly prejudicial to the administration of justice."

'Lawmaker Hit Officer'

DETROIT (UPI) — Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., defied a police officer's traffic signals, then hit the officer with his car March 31 on the way to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's funeral, the Detroit Free Press said today.

In a story from its Washington bureau, the Free Press quoted police reports in the District of Columbia that said the congressman from East Lansing sped away from the scene of the accident and was stopped by a passerby.

Secret Viet Talks Seen

PARIS (UPI) — Secret talks between the South Vietnamese government and the Vietcong could begin early next month, a Saigon official close to the peace negotiations said today.

The official said Saigon's invitation for such talks had put pressure on the Vietcong to respond.

State Senators Won't Wait for House on School Aid Bill

LANSING (AP) — Citing failure of the House to act, the Senate Education Committee announced yesterday it would break a long-standing precedent and begin work on a state school aid bill.

"We'll hope to report out something Friday if the House Education Committee doesn't get out a bill before then," said Senate committee chairman Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo.

Rep. Lucille McCollough, D-Dearborn, chairman of the House committee, replied:

"We've been hearing that for the last week or so. We're working on the bill."

'BY END OF WEEK'

Mrs. McCollough added that the committee hoped to report out its own measure "soon, maybe by the end of the week."

"This is the eve of the first birthday of the signing of last year's school aid bill," Stamm said, "and there has been no effort yet to assure schools they will have figures soon.

"I don't think school districts can wait any longer."

The State Board of Education and other organizations have warned that any further delay in passage of the school aid bill would trigger teacher strikes this fall.

FEW STRIKES

This bill was passed relatively early last year and few teacher strikes were reported, the board noted recently. Once the school aid bill is signed into law, the board added, local districts know how much additional money they will receive for the coming school year.

This enables negotiations to proceed at a faster pace, the board added.

"By mid-May the districts have to file a budget to justify their real estate tax," Stamm continued. "Then they know if they need to ask for more money."

Stamm said the committee would work on the governor's school aid bill, which proposes an increase of $85 million over last year's allotments.

EXTRAS PLANNED

"We'll put in a few little extra things," Stamm said. "The inner city needs some extra money. We may rework it a little."

Gov. William Milliken has termed his proposed budget "sacrosanct" and called for immediate passage of his school aid plan.

At the same time, he promised to establish a blue-ribbon commission to study the state's education program and make recommendations to be implemented by the Legislature later this year.

House Planning 14-Hour Session

LANSING (AP) — The House today planned to conduct a marathon 14-hour session in an effort to process more than 1,000 bills.

The last minute flurry of activity came as the midnight deadline for bill introductions rapidly approached. Nearly every legislator reportedly had measures waiting to be introduced this session.

Majority floor leader George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, said House Clerk T. Thomas Thatcher would accept bills until the witching hour.

Although the House would be formally in session most of the day, many members were expected to remain off the floor during the time Thatcher read the long, long list of bills.

DEADLINE ADVANCE

Meanwhile, House members were expected to advance Friday's deadline for committee action on bills.

Under the present calendar, the 32 House committees have until Friday to review all bills and decide whether to report them to the floor.

Montgomery, however, predicted that the deadline would be extended in view of the heavy crush of bills expected to be introduced today.

PLEASE DON'T HURT — Karen Codd, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Codd, 3475 Whitfield, Waterford Township, couldn't care less at this point about the long-range benefits of a three-day measles inoculation. One of the first to undergo the needle in Oakland County's pilot program, she is a kindergartner at Schoolcraft School.

Teacher Hits Suspension for Trying to Aid Police

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Marlynn Marcks, 33-year-old Highland Park High School social studies teacher, says she has become a "sacrificial lamb" since supplying information to Detroit police concerning the New Bethel Baptist Church shooting.

Miss Marcks began a one-week suspension yesterday from her teaching duties. At a hearing next Monday, officials of the Highland Park school district will decide if she should be allowed to remain on the staff.

"I now understand the hesitancy of many citizens to come forward with information that may aid police, since I have personally effected the consequence of such an action," she said in a letter Sunday to Gov. William Milliken.

In the letter she asked the governor to investigate the suspension.

PROBE CONDUCTED

Paul H. Emerich, Highland Park superintendent of schools, said the suspension was made in order "to conduct a complete investigation and get all sides of the story."

"I dared to speak out because an injustice had been done," Miss Marcks said. "Because I dared to speak out I have become a sacrificial lamb."

The problem began when Miss Marcks said she received information about the March 29 fatal shooting of Patrolman Michael Czapski and the wounding of his partner at the New Bethel Church in Detroit. She said one of her students claimed to be at the church during the incident.

The student denied to authorities that she had any knowledge of the shooting or that she supplied information to Miss Marcks.

"My daughter denies Miss Marcks' statements," said the mother of the girl. "Any schoolteacher who deals with teenagers should realize that they do get carried away. When they do make statements, their validity should be checked before taking any action such as Miss Marcks did."

Meanwhile, a group of Highland Park citizens yesterday questioned "the future effectiveness in the Highland Park schools" of Miss Marcks in a letter to Emerich, the president of the board of education, Mrs. Kathleen Bright, and Gov. Milliken.

Nixon Bolstering Support for ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration has moved to shore up Republican congressional strength behind President Nixon's Safeguard defense program.

A White House conference was called today for Republican leaders to produce a party strategy for getting approval of the embattled Safeguard system, which has been under strong attack in the Senate by members of both parties.

Maryland Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, new Republican national chairman, said yesterday national committee will assemble background information and prepare speeches in support of Safeguard.

But, he said, he hoped the system can be eliminated as a political issue.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow is predicted for tonight in parts of New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota. There will be rain in parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska and in a belt extending northwest from eastern Virginia to the Great Lakes. Clear to partly cloudy skies will prevail elsewhere.

Consumers Substation Is Hit; Bay City Area Blacked Out

By the Associated Press

Some 1,500 residents of the Bay City area were without electricity for a few hours last night after apparent vandalism at a Consumers Power Co. substation near Bay City.

A spokesman for the firm, which has been struck by the Utility Workers Union, said the power was lost when a stick with a metal ball attached was pitched into equipment at the isolated substation.

The company said UWU pickets at a Bay City service center interfered with repair vehicles manned by management personnel as they attempted to drive to the substation for repair work.

The incident followed by several hours discontinuation yesterday of contract negotiations which lasted just 12 minutes. State and federal mediators called both sides to the meeting at Jackson, but there was no progress reported after the short conference.

Chief issue in the strike is money, an official said. The union has asked for immediate pay increases, cost-of-living raises, premium pay for Sunday work and shift differentials.

A Consumers spokesman said the blackout last night of the northern Lower Peninsula communities of Leroy and Tustin were definitely unrelated to the strike. The spokesman said a utility pole burned through and snapped a key cable when it fell. The fire probably spread from a grass fire, the spokesman said.

Area Vandalism Tied to Strike

A fire-bombing in Waterford Township and window smashing in Pontiac were major incidents reported in a flurry of vandalism in the area connected with the Utility Workers Union strike against Consumers Power Co.

In addition, a second attempted fire-bombing and two gas shutoffs at apartment buildings were reported.

Township police said a Consumers Power station wagon was damaged extensively by a Molotov cocktail early today while parked on the 1300 block of Bielby south of Pontiac Lake road.

Patrolman Carl Solden described the device as a vodka bottle filled with fuel oil with a rag for a wick. He said the blaze, which burned much of the vehicle's interior, was reported about 12:40 a.m.

ATTEMPT FAILS

An attempt at a similar fire-bombing against a Consumers Power station wagon parked on Sleaford, reportedly failed police said.

Pontiac police were told early yesterday that two plate-glass windows at the company's offices at 28 W. Lawrence were destroyed apparently by pellet guns. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Gas shutoffs were at apartments at 484 Miller, Avon Township, and at 602 Madison, Clarkston.

Tornado Hits Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — A freak tornado from the Bay of Bengal ripped through Dacca yesterday, killing at least 165 persons and injuring 1,200 in East Pakistan's capital.

Rescue workers were still digging through the debris for bodies today.

Attorney Gets Commission OK as Mayor

BIRMINGHAM — Charles F. Clippert was unanimously elected mayor last night by the City Commission at its organiztion meeting.

Clippert, who was first elected to the Commission in 1964, replaces David Break of 752 Willits, who served as mayor for one year. Clippert, an attorney, resides at 586 Fairfax.

Mrs. William McNamee of 1271 Lakeside was chosen mayor pro tem. She has been on the commission since 1965.

The commission for several years has traditionally established a rotational system for the mayoralty designation.

RESURFACING OK'D

In other business, the commission voted to resurface Adams from Villa north to Buckingham at a cost of $18,000. The project, to be financed from the city's general fund, is set for completion this summer.

Commissioners also reviewed a report from the engineering department on construction drawings for the improvement of the Maple-Adams intersection.

The improved intersection will provide left-turn lanes in all four directions from the intersection. The Adams portion of the improvement will extend from Yosemite to Yorkshire.

The commissin approved an application from a group of local high school students to solicit funds for aid to Biafran children.

JUNE 7 SET

The youngsters will solicit in the downtown business district during business hours on June 7. Money collected will be sent to Operation Outrange Inc., a Washington, D. C., organization which sends food and medical supplies to Biafra.

* * *

About $1,800 was collected by students thus far through door-to-door solicitation in Birmingham and at the Pontiac Mall shopping center.

Hearings Open on Cigarette Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharply divided House Commerce Committee opened hearings on the explosive issue of cigarette advertising today with a wary eye on the courts and the calendar.

After reserving the first day of testimony to hear members of Congress, the committee has slated witnesses ranging from the American Cancer Society to the tobacco industry.

Related Story, Page B-8

The central issue: Should the Federal Communications Commission be allowed to ban cigarette advertising from the airwaves.

Even while the two weeks of hearings are in progress a ruling could come down from the Supreme Court on a directly related case involving the government's power to force radio and television stations to use antismoking messages.

GUIDE TO LAWMAKERS

The court's decision would be a guide to lawmakers on how it applies to the whole area of cigarette advertising the Constitution's broad guaranty against censorship.

In Congress there are basically three approaches being considered: Extend the ban on FCC action, allow it to stiffen existing regulations that require a hazardous warning label on cigarette packages or give the FCC a free hand by allowing the current curbs to expire.

No Decision in Lake Orion Tavern Dispute

LAKE ORION — "I've beeen thrown out of every place in town and the customer should be heard," was the comment of one elderly patron of the Verwood Hotel and Bar.

And everyone was heard last night on the Verwood controversy.

Other speakers included a minister, the owners, a couple of concerned mothers, village councilmen, the fire and police chiefs and the plumbing and building inspectors.

Despite the gaggle of words, council came to no decision at the packed meeting on the question of whether to approve or deny renewal of the tavern's SDM (beer and wine) license. A motion to table the matter for executive session discussion April 23 was passed.

TARGET OF PETITIONS

The Verwood, located at Broadway and Front, is the target of two church petitions calling for its closing. About 50 persons showed up for debate last night.

Deadline for local approval of a license renewal is May 1. At a March meeting, the council objected to the renewal of a license on the grounds that the Verwood Bar was in violation of a multitude of building and plumbing code standards.

Defending the Verwood last night were the owners' attorney, James Lawson of Farmington, statements by building and plumbing inspectors that the owners had taken swift action to correct several of the many code violations, personal testimonies to the good character of owners John and Yvonne Hoffman (the third owner is Raymond Kirby) and Lake Orion merchant and bar owner Robert Krebasa.

If the Verwood is to remain in business another year, the council must make special approval for license renewal and forward such to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

RAPS OBJECTIONS

Attorney Lawson termed the council's initial objections "inquisitorial" and declared that a second and final council objection "would be tantamount to putting these people out of business."

A concerned mother complained of the motorcycle rider clientele of the Verwood, stating that she was "afraid to walk on the sidewalk at night between the motorcycles and the bar."

Another concerned mother pointed out: "I would challenge the persons who want to close this bar to consider where we will make up the loss in tax revenue. Alcohol pays for much of our school costs!"

Rev. Robert J. Hudgins of the Lake Orion United Methodist Church offered his congregation's objections to the bar: "We are rather sensitive to the fact that there are four bars within three blocks of our church."

"Compared to the condition of the bar under its previous owners, the Verwood is now a Taj Mahal!" Lawson snapped.

"I don't think that you should close the Verwood except as a last resort," merchant Krebasa declared. "I'm a respected businessman and I should think that your inspectors would find many code violations at my establishment (the Royal Bar). It takes time to renovate these old buildings, time and money."

Councilmen acted as referees during the free-wheeling debate, taking all points "under advisement" until April 23.

ISSUE CLARIFIED

Clarification was reached on one issue regarding police activity at the Verwood. At the March council meeting, an auxiliary officer said that he would be "afraid to walk into the Verwood alone at night."

Lawson pointed out, with the agreement of Police Chief Neil Leonard, that no police officer enters an establishment or a home alone at night when called on a complaint, thus negating the implied severity of the earlier statement.

Harvey Ferrando Issues A 'Call To Action' To Lapeer Farmers

Lapeer Farmers Urged to Press Tax Reforms

LAPEER — County farmers and rural property owners were told last night that organization is the key to accomplishing tax reform.

About 600 persons assembled in the County Center Building to outline a protest against soaring property valuation assessments. Delegates from each township in the county were selected to form a central action committee.

Last night's meeting is part of a growing effort of Michigan farmers to establish a statewide organization as a means of pressuring legislative action on several proposed bills for rural tax reform.

Farmers are asking for a ceiling on farmland assessment based on land production. Similar tax reform measures have been established in 14 other states.

RISING ASSESSMENTS

Rural property owners have been prompted into protest action here in the face of rising farmland reassessments ranging from 15 to 100 per cent.

Lyle Ferrier, North Branch Township supervisor, said farm income has increased only 17 per cent in 20 years while the farm property tax has doubled. The answer, he said, is "Change the law. Get mad."

He and other speakers urged the audience to launch a massive letter-writing campaign to legislators in an attempt to get the several tax reform bills out of committee by the May 1 deadline for action this year.

The Lapeer County Tax Reform Committee, which sponsored the rally, said the foundation of the tax protest is based on these points:

THE PONTIAC PRESS

Area News

TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1969 A—4

● Michigan's present real estate taxation system is destroying the ability of the small farmer to survive.

● The same system encourages land and home ownership by the average citizen.

● Taxes as presently assessed discourage the upkeep and improvement of private property.

● Further escalation of assessments and tax levies is inevitable under Michigan's present tax system and will soon make the ownership of private property impossible for many state residents. This particularly applies to retired persons and those with fixed incomes.

● School operating revenues must be shifted from property tax to a source that is fair to all. School operation is the direct responsibility of all persons and institutions. Property owners can no longer be expected to shoulder the major burden of this problem.

'PRESSURE GROUPS'

Who is to blame for the tax dilemma of the rural landowner?

The farmers claim pressure groups have forced excess and unwarranted spending by state and local governing bodies.

Teen Nightclub Wins Approval

LAKE ORION—A teen nightclub won approval—in concept—at last night's Village Council meeting amid the cheers of nearly 50 Lake Orion teens crowded shoulder-to-shoulder to hear their elders' verdict.

Partners in the third teen night-spot venture for Lake Orion, to be located at the present Youth Center, will be Jim Barnowski, a local businessman, and teen entertainment entrepeneur Dale Leonard, owner of Birmingham's highly sucessful Village Pub.

Recalling two recent troublesome teen spots — the Liverpool and the Jaycee-sponsored Youth Center—village officials gave cautious approval.

The green light was given, although subject to a quick red light at the slightest hint of trouble.

ALL THE WAY

"We feel that the kids have nothing in the way of their preferred entertainment. The kids here tonight understand that we'll go all the way for them if they will cooperate all the way with us," Barnowski assured councilmen.

Leonard promised adequate supervision and strict adherence to village ordinances and "the common rules of decency."

Oldster Charles Bell commented: "We old people ought to go along with this wonderful plan of activity."

Specific plans will still require council approval.

Rochester Council Okays Street Paving Assessments

ROCHESTER — Little in the way of strong protest was registered at last night's council hearing on proposed South Street paving, a project more than a year in the making.

Despite the lack of strong objections, however, some residents registered surprise that their single-family homes were in an area zoned for light and heavy industry.

The zoning reaction comes six years after the fact, according to city officials who said the area was rezoned when the zoning map was adopted in December 1963.

The biggest obection to the paving assessments was raised last night by a representative of Grand Trunk Western railroad.

1926 AGREEMENT

A railroad spokesman claimed a 1926 agreement with the County Road Commission provided the railroad would be exempt from special assessments for providing the bridge in the area.

City officials essentially said the city, only two years old, was not a party to that agreement and indicated the railroad should approach the road commisson for relief on its $8,000 assessment.

Some residents questioned whether South street couldn't qualify for some federal funds since it is one point of access for the city's urban renewal area.

Robert Smalley, assessor and urban reneal director, doubted it would because Second was the main thoroughfare to the renewal land. He agreed to check, however, with federal officials.

ASPHALT QUALITY

Still other residents questioned the higher cost of constructing deep-strength asphalt for projected truck traffic and passing the total cost along to homeowners. City officials responded that the added cost resulted from the industrial zoning on the land and would be an item to be considered when a resident sold his home.

The South street assessments were approved by the council. Payment can be made in 10 annual installments at an annual interest rate of six per cent.

Total cost of the project is $141,228. Assessments will be on a basis of 50 per cent per front foot or 50 per cent per square foot. The per-front-foot cost is $10.06, while the per-square-foot levy is .0278 cents.

A petition from 11 Alice street residents for speed limit signs and a stop sign for Alice and Roselawn was tabled. The request was referred to the city's traffic and safety committee.

URBAN RENEWAL

Council approval was given to hire Driker & Associates to provide site-plan reviews for urban renewal development. No cost was specified.

Also approved was a $5,000 advance payment to the Avon Township public library. The payment is part of the city's share of the library's operating budget. The total contribution for 1969-70, according to the proposed budget, is $12,000, compared to $10,000 in the current year.

In other business last night, a proposed 1969-70 budget of $835,255 was received virtually without comment from council. The budget hearing was ordered for May 5.

Based on the current 12-mill tax levy, the budget is $24,841 higher than the current year's. Most of the increase comes from increased properaty values.

Opinions Split on Reappraisal

ROCHESTER — Should real estate here be reappraised for tax purposes?

The chairman of the board of tax review, Mrs. William C. Chapman, thinks so. However, City Assessor Robert Smalley doesn't agree.

In a report submitted to the City Council last night, Mrs. Chapman said the board of review was able to correct only a fraction of the inequities in property assessments after 40 hours devoted to hearing 75 appeals.

Relief is needed particularly for senior citizens, according to Mrs. Chapman, who urged that the Legislature be asked to increase the senior citizen exemption.

OUTSIDE FIRM ADVISED

She recommended that a citywide reappraisal be undertaken before preparation of the 1970 assessed values, indicating this should be done by an outside firm.

The board this year granted value reductions totaling $28,200.

Smalley, meantime, contended the city could correct inequities itself. Council last night seemed to agree. Smalley was only appointed assessor last December.

City officials did agree that further relief is necessary for senior citizens.

Brothers of Brush Bristle With Plans

ROCHESTER — Brothers of the Brush will hold an organizational meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the banquet room of Knapp's Bar and Restaurant, 327 Main.

Chairman Harold Milton said men's service clubs have been notified of the meeting, which is to organize beard and moustache growing in conjunction with the city's centennial celebration.

Council Reelects Chrysler Exec as Farmington Mayor

FARMINGTON — Wilbur V. Brotherton of 23622 Beacon was reelected mayor at last night's council meeting while John A. Allen of 32293 Shiawassee was elected mayor pro tem.

Brotherton, a general sales manager at Chrysler Corp. Simca-Rootes Division, has been on the council for 11 years and mayor for the past four years.

This is Allen's second term on the council.

City Manager John Dinan presented the council with the 1969-70 general fund and water and sewer fund recommended budget, for consideration. No date was set for a public hearing.

BUDGET FIGURE

Total recommended budget for the general fund is $792,156, while the actual budget for 69-70 is $747,141.

The manager also recommended a budget of $308,916 for the water and sewer department in the upcoming fiscal year. The current budget is $295,726.

The council directed the manager to seek an attorney's opinion on the legality of demolishing an unoccupied two-story dwelling on the northwest corner of Grace and Grand River.

The building has been condemned for occupancy for about a year, said city officials.

Dinan also reported that some 160 trees were planted throughout the city last weekend and 125 more would be delivered and planted shortly. He warned residents to water the trees daily for the first 10 days after planting to insure growth.

Oxford Schools Okay $1,773,057 Budget

OXFORD — The board of education has approved a tentative $1,773,057 budget for the 1969-70 school year.

The tentative budget will be submitted to the tax allocation board for approval. When state aid figures are available, the budget will be finalized, probably next fall.

'No Marble Towers, More Services'

200 at Informal County Budget Session

Some 200 Oakland County residents appeared before nine dissident Democratic supervisors last night to tell them they don't want any more "marble towers," but they do want increased public services.

The occasion was the informal public hearing on the county's $30.8-million tentative 1970 budget.

Called by Philip O. Mastin of Hazel Park, supervisors' Democratic caucus leader, the hearing was conducted in the Congregational Church of Birmingham. The group was refused use of the County Courthouse auditorium for the hearing, with the board of supervisors voting to wait until June to conduct budget hearings.

The crowd noted the absence of the remainder of the 27-man board of supervisors.

County residents in attendance represented such tax protest groups as the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, Taxpayers Voice, and PROBE.

There were representatives of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity, Aid to Dependent Children mothers, senior citizen organizations and the United Auto Workers.

The prime concern of the UAW seemed to be the county's responsibility to furnish low-cost transportation countywide. The consensus expressed was that there are services available, but for many people they are impossible to reach.

There was talk about roads and the alleged failures of the Oakland County Road Commission, the county's clothing store and its inadequacy in meeting needs of ADC and welfare clients and the need for more health facilities for senior citizens. There was also talk about poverty — people living on $72 a month total income.

Opposition was expressed to the county's building program both current and long-range, and the proposed development of the Oakland-Orion Airport caught its share of the dissent. The latter has long been a subject of controversy.

The taxpayer groups made such requests as cutting — or holding the line on — the budget and giving more money to the schools.

George Williams, president of the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers, asked for adherance to the 15-mill limit in taxing. He won assurance from Supervisor Dennis Aaron, D-Huntington Woods, that the supervisors will hold the tax lexy within that limitation "at least this year."

The meeting lasted four hours.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm an Irish-Catholic, and my father doesn't allow me to date fellows who aren't of my faith. Well, I'm going with a very good-looking Jewish guy. He has blue eyes and dark curly hair and he could pass for Irish. His name is "FEINBERG" but I introduced him to my father as "FINNEGAN."

They only got to say hello and good-by, but pretty soon I'm afraid they'll get into a conversation and my father will find out the boy's not Irish, and then what will I do? I don't want to be the first teen-ager to land on the moon.

IRISH EYES

DEAR EYES: Tell your father the truth before he finds out himself. You may be the first teen-ager to land on the moon, but you'll get there with a clear conscience.

DEAR ABBY: Never before have I written to a newspaper column, or sent an unsigned letter, but that letter from the 41-year-old virgin who was still waiting, came so close to home, I had to tell my story:

In 50 years of marriage I never once saw my wife naked. She is a closet disrober and wears long, heavy nightgowns. Some years back I bought her a lovely, fairly sheer nightgown, and she took it back to the store and exchanged it for one exactly like those she's always worn.

She's been a wonderful mother to our children, and has many fine qualities, but she's a "touch-me-not." Hands are not for patting or caressing, and should be kept to one's self.

I know my wife will never change, so I have learned to live with things as they are, and have kept myself busy with outside activities.

If women like "waiting" (and my wife is one of them) could have learned early in life to shake loose from their Pollyanna ways, their lives would be so much richer.

People who have never learned how to give love or accept it, miss the best part of life.

I assure you there isn't a normal man living who doesn't want a warm, responsive, uninhibited wife. God bless you, Abby.

NOT DEAD YET — BUT DYING

DEAR NOT DEAD: The two most tragic aspects of your letter are (one) Timing. It should have been written 50 years ago. (Two) It should have been addressed to your wife. At least you'd have tried while there was still time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TED: Yes, I've heard that the best way to overcome one's fear of horses is to get right back on the horse that threw you, but marriage is a horse of a different color, and once you've been thrown, either stay off horses for a while or try another horse.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Professor to Speak on China's History

Secrets of China's ancient past unearthed by archaeologists will be described in a special illustrated lecture, "Archaeology in Communist China" at the Detroit Insititute of Arts lecture hall today at 8 p.m.

Dr. Richard C. Rudolph, professor of Oriental languages at the University of California, will speak from his own experiences of excavations in northwest China and studies of cliff-tombs in Southwest China.

Yields of the past 15 years have given new information on early China from neolithic villages to 16th century mausoleums. Present finds include paintings, objects and murals decorating royal tombs dating to the Shang period — the first historic dynasty of China.

Dr. Rudolph was previously on the faculties of the University of Chicago and the University of Toronto, and Assistant Keeper of Far Eastern Antiquities at the Royal Ontario Museum. Twice a Guggenheim Fellow, and twice a Fulbright Scholar (China, Formosa, Japan), he has published studies on Chinese archaeology and currently is preparing a book on painted tombs.

This event is presented jointly by the Detroit Society, Archaeological Institute of America, the Education Department of the Detroit Institute of Arts and University Center for Adult Education. The lecture is open to the public. Tickets at the door.

Annual Antique Show Begins at All Saints

The 17th annual All Saints' Antique Show begins today and runs through Thursday with daily hours of 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. Proceeds from the sale, which draws dealers from this and other areas, will be used by the women of the church to help support the many missionary projects at home and abroad.

Buffet luncheon will be served each day from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and in addition, there will be a snack service in the balcony tea room. Mrs. Charles Crittenden and Mrs. Arnold Thingstad are general chairmen of this year's event.

Members of the board of directors of the committee include the Most Rev. Alexander M. Zaleski, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Lansing; Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Rubbin, president of the Council of Eastern Orthodox Churches of Greater Detroit, and Rabbi Joshua Sperka of Oak Park, secretary-treasurer of the Council of Orthodox Rabbis of Detroit.

Weber said the committee is opposed to any change in Michigan's abortion laws "because it is a threat to man's most fundamental right — the right to life."

"The issue is whether or not the law should sanction the destruction of innocent human life," Weber said. "Neither sound law nor sound morality has ever accepted the idea that this can be done."

Weber said the group is committed to the strengthening of the family as the basic unit of society and to supporting the dignity and worth of disadvantaged persons.

The committee, Weber said, "will defend the interest of the physically and mentally handicapped, the security of our senior citizens and the delinquent and dependent children, including the rights of the unborn child."

'Tis Party Season by Land or Sea

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Parties, parties, everybody's giving parties!

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jayne will lead off the weekend line-up with a little dinner party Friday at their home in Bloomfield Hills. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Colombo, the Frank Audettes and the Paul McKenneys.

Bill and Carol Baldwin of Lone Pine Road will have a sizeable group of friends over for cocktails Saturday evening.

YACHT GALA

Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Parsons of Birmingham, in town for the moment, will host a party Sunday somewhere off Palm Beach aboard the yacht they have a quarter interest in.

The other three share-owners — Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fisher of Bloomfield Hills, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Holmes of Birmingham, and the Thomas H. Wagners, also of Bloomfield Hills — will be there, of course.

The Parsons family, along with Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, just spent ten days cruising in the Caribbean aboard the yacht, fondly dubbed "Arbitrage" by its banker owners.

The sailors set out from Grenada, an island at the top of South America, and wound up in Martinique. They made a point of searching out the smaller, almost isolated islands, the kind we all dream sometime of getting away to.

With the Parsonses were their three — Jim, 12; Sarah, 10 and Donald, 6 — matched one for one by the three Holmes offspring, Jim, 14; Stephen, 11 and Billy, 8.

SPLIT UP

At Martinique, the Holmes clan stayed aboard while the Parsons family headed for their Palm Beach home for 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Matthaeis Jr., of Bloomfield Hills, were also at the little French island, chartering a sailboat named "Lord Jim."

Another couple from the neighborhood, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Kilborne, were sunning themselves in Palm Beach. They are back in town now.

Unit to Aid Lions Club at 'White Cane' Sale

Psi chapter, Sigma Beta Sorority, will assist the Pontiac Lions Club with their "White Cane" sale scheduled for April 25, 26 and 27, for the benefit of the Pontiac League of the Blind building fund.

A millionaires party will be held April 19 at Roma's. Mrs. Thomas Thornberry is in charge of ticket sales. Others heading committees are Mrs. Homer McMahon, Mrs. Ezio Bisogni and Mrs. Carmen Tosto.

Mrs. Bisogni is Psi's candidate for Lt. Governor of Province 1 in the election to be held May 18 at Pine Knob Resort.

Mrs. Myrtle Sherck Oxender, 61-year-old grandmother of 12, was named Michigan Mother of the Year during a luncheon at Northland Center in Detroit Monday. Mrs. Oxender is equally at home knitting or operating a tractor on the 500-acre farm she works with her husband Harry in Constantine.

GM Gals Spoof New Fashions

Pontiac Press Photos

Didn't you know that bell bottom pants are all the rage now? Mrs. Columbus E. White of South Marshall Street modeled an unusual pair at Monday's GM Girls' Club Mock Style Show held in the Elks Temple.

Just one more swip and she'll be right in style for any show. That's Mrs. Hazel Stileski of Mary Day Street who wears this year's version of the "sack."

After Severe Weather

Your Auto's Out of Shape

By JOHN ECK
Director, Emergency Road Service,
American Automobile Association

A long winter of commuting back and forth to work, schools and shops—often under severe weather conditions—has left your automobile "out of condition" just at a time when you're all set for the pleasure trips of spring and summer.

JOHN ECK

To plan well for warm weather travel you need to know what has happened to your automobile during the stresses of winter, and how to help insure that the trips you plan to take will be safe and trouble-free.

Nearly 72 million U.S. motorists had some problem with their automobile in 1967, the American Automobile Association's annual survey showed.

Forty-three per cent of them were due to battery, starter and ignition system failures, an increase of 20 per cent over the previous year.

The 14 million flat tires motorists had in 1967 was the second highest figure on the list of all troubles. There also were 581,000 incidences of brake failure.

The Emergency Road Service Department of the AAA suggests you consult a good auto mechanic early this season.

A check list has been developed for your use in working with him to discover and correct any problems which may have developed during the colder months.

Sixty years of experience in auto repair, and our day-to-day observation of the repair needs of 11 million AAA driver-members, lead us to recommend:

- Tune-up—An engine tune-up is a wise investment. Have the ignition, points, spark plugs, battery, voltage regulator, generator and all wiring checked.
- Lubrication—A thorough lubrication job will lessen wear on vital moving parts. Change to the grade of oil recommended for the driving conditions you expect to encounter. Install a new oil filter cartridge. Check all hydraulic fluid levels.
- Cooling System—Have the cooling system cleaned and flushed; refill with a good permanent-type antifreeze or add a rust inhibitor. Have the thermostat, fan belt and water pump checked.
- Brakes, Tires and Wheels—Have the brake linings inspected and check the brake seals. Have the tires rotated; replace worn or damaged tires to eliminate blowouts and flat tire worries. Check the wheel alignment and balance—unaligned and unbalanced tires cause excessive and uneven wear.

Be sure shock absorbers are in good condition. In addition to causing discomfort, bad shock absorbers can be dangerous.

- Vision—Windshield wipers, headlights, turn signals, back-up and brake lights should all be checked for perfect operation.

MINIMUM PRECAUTIONS

That is a fairly thorough examination! You may have reason to believe that your car is essentially in good working order—that you do not have the time or the need for the entire checkup routine.

There are certain minimum precautions AAA suggests before any long-distance travel by automobile, however. They also can be presented as a check list, which we call a "Trip Check."

The points constitute a simple "make-ready" to assure you of a dependable car:

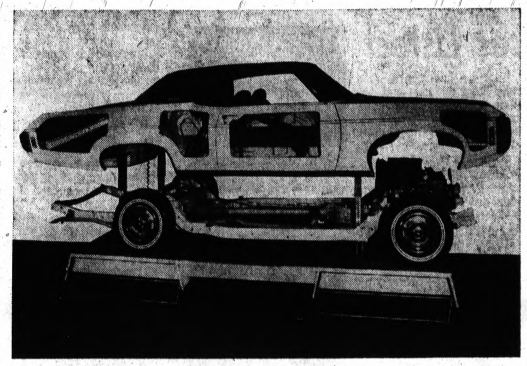

- Inspect and adjust all fan belts.
- Check and align front end.
- Load test battery and clean terminals.
- Inspect and tighten all hoses.
- Inspect all tires.
- Adjust brakes, check linings.

You should consider these additional services, and have your mechanic perform them according to your car manufacturer's recommendations:

- Drain and flush cooling system, adding rust inhibitor with refill.
- Change motor oil.
- Lubricate.
- Clean or change air, gas and oil filters.
- Clean and check crankcase ventilation system.
- Check or change transmission and differential fluid.
- Check and grease front wheel bearing.

These are the preventive measures, taken frequently, which will not only give you peace of mind while traveling this summer, but will also increase the life of your car and help it to give you top-notch performance in all seasons and under all conditions.

INSIDE STUFF—If more motorists could see the inner workings of their cars, perhaps there would be more attention paid to upkeep. Engine and drive train components require special attention, according to experts at AAA. The motoring organization answered 72 million calls for road service in 1968. Most were due to battery, starter and ignition system failures.

Showers Hike Skidding Peril

Summer showers, especially after a long dry spell, can make road surfaces as slippery as winter ice, a special safety bulletin issued by the Rubber Manufacturers Association warns.

The danger of skidding is greatest, says the trade group, during the first 15 to 30 minutes after it starts to rain; up to an hour or more in a light drizzle.

This is due to the little-known fact that rain tends to float up onto the road surface a greasy film of oil, gasoline and rubber residue which becomes a treacherous ice like lubricant between the tires and the road until enough rain falls to wash it away.

The possibility of an accident on a wet road, says the association, is between 5 and 10 times as great as on a dry road, in terms of the likelihood of a skid and loss of control of a car.

In terms of stopping distance, it may take up to four times as far to stop on a wet road as a dry road.

Tips on Saving Fuel

Two drivers of the same automobile may get different gas mileage due to the differences in driving habits. Other factors include driving conditions and mechanical conditions of the automobile.

It costs almost 50 per cent more to drive 80 mph than it does to drive 50 mph. Costs of driving 60 mph is 25 per cent higher than cost of driving 30 mph.

- Wet driving conditions. Slowing down under wet or snowy conditions conserves fuel. Wet pavement can reduce mileage by 1 mile per gallon.
- When parked, turn off engine. One minute of idling uses more fuel than restarting uses.
- Starting and stopping. Avoid "jack rabbit" starts, sudden stopping and racing on the green light.
- Windy conditions. Drive slower if you're interested in better fuel economy.

Here are some suggestions on care and mechanical condition of your car for better fuel economy:

- Use good grade of gasoline recommended by the manufacturer of your automobile.
- Be sure the thermostat isn't stuck in the open position. A warm-running engine is more efficient (uses less fuel) than a cold-running engine.
- Be sure tires are inflated properly.
- Balance and align tires.

Driving Safely Can Save Money

An Australian television network staged a two-car run where one car was driven in a normal, safe manner and the other was driven hard to make faster time.

While finishing the 238-mile course in 40 minutes quicker time, the hard-driving motorist used 86 per cent more tire tread (91 cents worth); 55 cents more in fuel and 31 cents more in brake wear.

So, the 40 minutes saved cost him $1.77. The moral: take it easy and save.

Dirt an Enemy

Dirt can be an enemy of good car operation in more ways than appearance. Small particles of dirt on the battery terminals can stop your car cold. To prevent this from happening, make sure battery terminals and connections are cleaned thoroughly during routine battery checks.

All Ages Ignoring the Use of Seat Belts

Young people, supposedly at odds with the older generation, have at least one area of agreement with their parents. Both are ignoring the lifesaving use of car seat belts.

Champion Spark Plug Co., through its highway safety program, queried nearly 12,000 high school seniors on seat belt wearing habits. In cars equipped with belts, well under 50 per cent use the restraining devices.

Only 14.8 per cent said they always use belts. Another 29.8 per cent they used them most of the time. The biggest percentage, 37.5 said they seldom used belts. Some 17.7 per cent said they never used seat belts.

There was little difference in use between boys and girls, with less than a percentage point difference in their answers.

MANY HAVE NONE

In addition to youngsters driving cars equipped with seat belts but not using them, large percentages are driving cars which have no seat belts.

Of those driving their own cars, less than half of the vehicles are equipped with belts. Over 63.6 per cent of all cars, including those belonging to parents, were equipped with belts.

The students' failure to wear seat belts was not because of their failure to recognize the consequences, the survey found. Almost two-thirds of them identified not wearing belts as a major contributing cause to traffic fatalities.

Estimates by the National Safety Council show that about one out of five fatalities could have been avoided if seat belts were being worn.

INDIANAPOLIS DRIVERS

According to J. R. McGeorge, Champion's public relations manager and director of the highway safety program, "In our presentation to school groups we have Indianapolis race drivers stress the responsibilities as well as the skills of operating a car.

"A race driver would no more think of operating a car without a seat belt than he would without a steering wheel," McGeorge said.

The 1968-69 Champion highway safety program, to be conducted in schools throughout the U.S. and Canada, is stressing seat belt use as well as other safety aids.

Education Effort Made

Don't Drive on Pills

Drugs and driving don't mix, says the National Association of Retail Druggists (NARD).

So important is respect for drugs in insuring highway safety that NARD is providing fact sheets for driver education teachers in and out of high school, according to executive secretary Willard B. Simmons, who represents 40,000 independent drugstore owners.

Druggists are teaching the public the power of drugs. Drugs save lives, Simmons points out. He adds facts of interest to all drivers.

"When doctors prescribe some valuable medications they insist that no driving be done for a specified number of hours," he says. "Heed their advice and the advice of the druggist who reminds you of that fact."

PROFESSIONAL EFFORTS

In addition to urging respect for the lifesaving drugs of daily life, members of NARD are lending their professional efforts to schools to forward the work of drug education.

The dangers of drug abuse are being brought to students' attention at the request of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs of the Department of Justice.

- Barbiturates, for example — known as "goofballs" and by other terms — produce slurred speech, impaired motor responses, sensory distortion and more.

A person withdrawing from barbiturate abuse may have spasms and convulsions, particularly dangerous behind a car wheel. Barbiturate overuse plus alcohol can cause sudden death.

- Amphetamines — stimulants which have respected medical uses but are known as "pep pills" or "co-pilots" to drug abusers — can cause severe hallucinations on the road.

Truck drivers, vacationers, long-distance drivers may take too many amphetamines to stay awake. Too frequently the driver will then hear "voices," see "ghost vehicles" and have other aberrations that can cause a crash.

- Marijuana, thought by some teens to be harmless, is a major villain when it comes to highway safety.

Unlike an ordinary cigarette, "grass" causes sensory distortions. A car 10 feet away may seem 100 feet away. Sideswipe accidents are common and more serious collisions can occur.

- LSD presents double danger. Not only does taking it cause an immediate disoriented "high" and bizarre hallucinations, but the same effects can occur with no warning six months or a year later.

The "afterflash" effect can jeopardize not only the driver but his passengers as well as other drivers and pedestrians nearby.

If a driver exhibits drunken behavior, but there is no aroma of alcohol, drug abuse may be suspected.

These and other facts are being called to the attention of students and faculties at all schools as well as to concerned parent groups.

Don't Assault Your Battery

Blaming starting trouble on the battery can be like blaming a broken leg on bone failure. In both cases, something is wrong but something other than the affected part is causing the problem.

A well-maintained battery that hasn't outlived its usefulness should not cause starting problems.

More likely some other electrical component is at fault and is draining the battery power. For example faulty wiring; worn spark plugs or malfunctioning distributor may be overworking the battery during starting.

As a result the battery wears down to a point that it may seem dead.

BATTERY POINTERS

The alert service man will look beyond the battery as the cause of the starting failure, especially when he is reminded to do so by the customer.

To keep your battery in top operating condition, here are some pointers: A quick visual inspection every time you gas up and a voltage test every six months should assure you maximum efficiency battery life.

It's a simple job for the service attendant to check battery water level and condition of cables and terminals. This should be done at least once a week to guard against premature deterioration.

Twice a year, the battery should be tested. At the same time, terminals should be cleaned thoroughly to get rid of corrosive materials and dirt.

FOREIGN MATTER

Foreign matter on the terminals or cable clamps can cause battery failure.

If the battery shows premature loss of power, chances are other components may be at fault. For example, wiring may be short circuiting or you may have a problem in the charging. Have your service man conduct an electrical check.

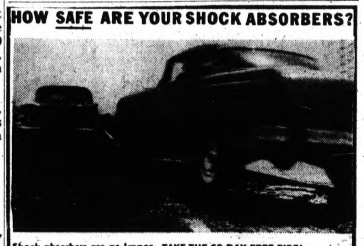

Corroded terminals can shorten effective life of your battery. Clean off the corrosion with a solution of baking soda and water, applied with a stiff wire brush.

HOW SAFE ARE YOUR SHOCK ABSORBERS?

Shock absorbers are as important to safety as they are to comfortable riding. They stabilize your car, keep wheels from bouncing off the road, prevent erratic steering and side sway. If your speedometer now reads 20,000 miles or more, there's a good chance you're already driving on "dead" shocks—shock absorbers that are worn to the danger point. And dead shocks are deadly!

TAKE THE 60-DAY FREE RIDE! Have a set of Monro-Matic shock absorbers installed today and try them for 60 days. If you're not completely satisfied, return them for a full refund and reinstallation of your old shocks.

Our car the movie star.

Incredible as it sounds, you are looking at the romantic lead of a big new Hollywood movie.

Please, no autographs.

The picture is Walt Disney Studio's "The Love Bug." And our VW appears (in all its real life splendor) as Herbie, the main character.

Why should a big film studio want to make a movie star out of a bug?

Why not?

Signing one up for a lifetime costs only $2034.67. That's less than they have to pay other movie stars in a single day.

Once signed up, the bug won't suddenly start making crazy demands. (A gallon of gas for every 27 miles or so is all.)

No studio could ask for a less temperamental star, (It'll work any time, anywhere and in any weather.)

Or one with fewer bad habits. (It doesn't even drink water.)

Or one that ages more gracefully.

And of course, there isn't a performer around that's better known to the public.

Who else makes three million personal appearances on the road every day?

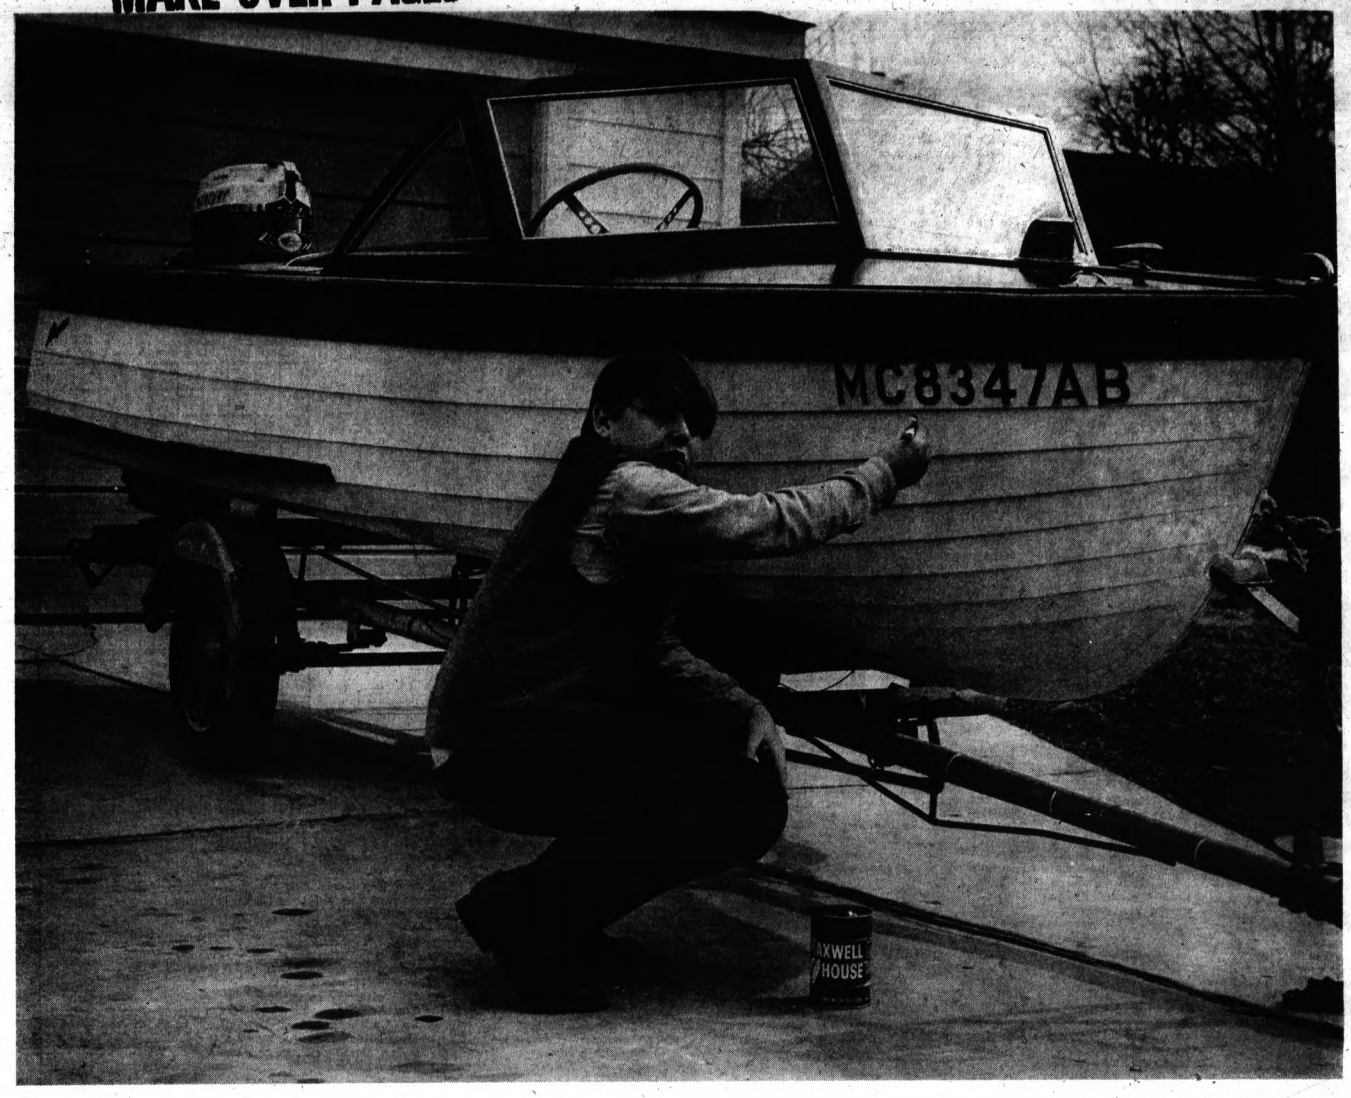

Our car can be seen in Walt Disney's Production of "The Love Bug."

Your "Love Bug" button and sticker are waiting for you.
