Capital Honors Sen. McCarthy at Funeral Mass

Wife Sobs Quietly as 2,000, Including Nixons, Attend Service

WASHINGTON (INS)—The nation's capital paid final tribute to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today at funeral services in which he was eulogized as a "watchman of the citadel."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and about 2,000 other mourners attended a High Requiem Mass for the senator at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral prior to state services in the Senate chamber where McCarthy rose to prominence but lost his biggest political battle.

The Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, conducted the solemn mass and Monsignor John K. Cartwright, rector of the cathedral, delivered the eulogy.

"To God we surrender what God gave only in part to this world — a soul that was made for God and Heaven. We take confidence in the hope there will be rest for the weary, reward for the faithful, and honor for the brave, he said.

Mrs. McCarthy, the senator's 21-year-old widow, appeared well composed but had difficulty suppressing sobs during the hour-long service and while she followed the flag-draped casket from the cathedral to the cortege which took it to the Capitol building.

Mrs. McCarthy, attired in black mourning dress with a black hat and purse, sat with the senator's three brothers and sister in a front row pew to the right of the casket.

As the casket was lifted back into the hearse for the trip to the Senate, Mrs. McCarthy gazed silently at it, her arm in that of the senator's brother, William.

SOBBED QUIETLY

She sobbed quietly, obviously trying to contain her emotions, as she entered the first limousine with William, brothers Howard and Stephen McCarthy, of Appleton, and Mrs. Roman Kornely, also of Appleton, the senator's sister.

Sitting next to Mrs. McCarthy was her colored maid, who broke down and cried on the widow's shoulder as the cortege drove away from the church.

Across the aisle were Nixon and his wife, Pat, as well as Senate

Drayton Wife's Waiting Ends

Find Body of Missing Hunter

STANLEY STREETER

For Mrs. May Streeter, of 4746 Clinton Dr., Drayton Plains, a long 5½ months of waiting is over—and the worst is known.

The body of her husband, Stanley, 65, missing since a snowstorm struck during a hunting trip in the Porcupine Mountains of the Upper Peninsula last Nov. 17, has been found.

To Mrs. Streeter, 63, it marked the end to fears and also to hopes.

"When I heard the news," she said calmly today, "something told me inside that that's the way it had to be

"All those months without hearing from him and yet I kept on hoping that somehow, somewhere Stanley was still alive.

"Now I know the truth."

Streeter's body was found Saturday at the climax of a wide search by more than 100 volunteers, State Police and deputies.

It lay by the side of an old logging trail, about seven miles from the camp which Streeter left during a blizzard on the first day of the deer hunting season.

Efforts to find him at that time were hampered by deep snow.

With spring, authorities determined on an intense search. They put up a $500 reward for the discovery of Streeter's body. Mrs. Streeter did the same.

"And yet, when the State Police told me three weeks ago that they were starting the search again, I was shocked, I suppose. I was scared to know the truth," Mrs. Streeter said.

Among the searchers was Mrs. Streeter's son-in-law, Tony Mileski of Kingston. He identified the body and broke the news to his mother-in-law by long-distance telephone Saturday night.

Authorities planned an autopsy, then the body was to be returned to Drayton Plains.

Funeral service was set for Tuesday afternoon at Coats Funeral Home. The exact hour had not yet been scheduled, however.

Burial will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

Pickets Parade at Vernor Plant

Detroit, Marysville Hit by Union Walkout in Firing Dispute

Detroit pickets today were blocking deliveries from the Pontiac Vernor Ginger Ale Co. distribution plant at 490 S. Telegraph Rd.

According to John C. Rogers, plant manager, the four pickets were part of similar walkouts at Detroit and Marysville. They began in Detroit Friday when workers left their jobs over the firing of two employes for alleged rules infractions.

The Pontiac branch receives its shipments from Detroit and distributes some 1,000 cases daily throughout the Pontiac area.

Rogers said of the 10 members of the branch's "winter staff," six are members of striking Local 297 of the Beverage Workers Division of the United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes union. But all deliveries have stopped, he added.

The walkout, Rogers said, is "wildcat" as the 30-day strike grace period doesn't expire until May 27.

The Detroit workers fired were committee members who were seeking to negotiate a new union contract. The previous contract expired April 27.

A meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow in Detroit in an effort to settle the dispute.

Schimmel has the longest record with the board of any member, having served 20 years, while Oliver is not far behind with 16 years.

To get on the ballot, petitions must bear the signatures of 50 property owners in the school district.

At the June 10 election, the two candidates receiving the most votes are elected. There is no primary or run-off. School board terms are four years.

ROME (AP)—A member of Prince Rainier's staff today denied reports Princess Grace of Monaco may be expecting another baby.

"There's nothing to them," said the spokesman.

"Of course," he quickly added, "we would all be very happy if the princess were to have another child, especially a boy."

Grace and Rainier are vacationing in Rome. They plan to leave tomorrow by car for north Italy.

One report abroad said Grace was believed to be expecting another baby about Christmas. The report said it had been noted the princess requires considerable rest.

The Italian magazine Incom also reported rumors that Grace might be expecting.

Strife Rides Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Unrest continues in Bogota despite occupation of the Colombian capital by 35,000 troops.

Police used tear gas and streams of dyed water over the weekend to break up demonstrations against President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla's reported plans to have himself re-elected by a hand picked Constituent Assembly.

★ ★ ★

The disorders continued yesterday, even though the armed forces had seized the capital in what was described as routine military maneuvers.

Police threw tear gas shells at a crowd gathered around a Roman Catholic church where a priest renewed his attacks on the government. The gas seeped inside, halting the Sunday mass.

The government declared last night the country was quiet, although some "isolated, antisocial individuals" had been jailed.

But the high school and university students at the forefront of the demonstrations appeared determined to continue a protest strike in defiance of an official warning to return to classes or face possible loss of their army-exempt status.

Outside the capital, student strikes have also been reported in Cali, Medellin and Popayan.

The student demonstrations began last week in protest against the arrest of Guillermo Leon Valencia, candidate of the opposition Liberal party and an opposition faction of the Conservative party for president in 1958. He was released after two days, but the demonstrations kept on.

A political crisis has been building up since Rojas' supporters initiated plans to have him re-elected next year by the Constituent Assembly, which he named to rewrite the constitution. Rojas took over in a military coup in 1953. Under the present constitution he could not succeed himself.

The army, which has remained loyal to Gen. Rojas, moved in Saturday night during the anti-government demonstrations. The troops declared the city secured in only 13 minutes.

In a series of radio broadcasts the military commander warned the people to stay in their homes after 9:30 p. m. He said firearms would be used during the "maneuvers" but without danger to the civilian population.

Any massing of the populace was forbidden.

Culvert Trip Ends Holiday for Family

ATLANTA (UP)—A flash flood in a small south Georgia stream ended a vacation trip for the W. E. Tyndales—and almost ended their lives.

The flood washed their auto from a highway and the family of four was suddenly battling death in swift churning waters.

Tyndale, his wife and their two children, Nancy, 7, and Billy, 5, were sucked through a 42-inch steel culvert beneath a railroad track.

A cloudburst Friday night forced them to stop their auto just south of Nashville, Ga., on U. S. 129.

"Suddenly the car moved sideways and we saw water coming in through the floorboards," said Tyndale. "I tried to open the door but the water was nearly to the windows and I couldn't get it open The car was settling fast. We each grabbed one of the kids and dived headfirst out the windows."

Tyndale held to the car and removed a leg brace he wears as a result of a polio attack five years ago.

★ ★ ★

"We held to the car until the front end began to sink and we decided to try to swim back to the highway," said Mrs. Tyndale. "He took Nancy because she is the biggest. I held Billy and we struck out."

In the darkness and rain the Tyndales did not know they were swimming toward a strong whirlpool twisting at the end of the railroad culvert.

The suction which grabbed them "was the most brutal force I've ever experienced," said the 31-year-old Atlanta engineer. "We were swept into the culvert, tumbling end over end under water, banging against the side, and then we were spewed out the other side. We didn't know if we were alive or dead, or where we were."

"At the time it (the culvert) seemed the most horrible thing in the world," said 27-year-old Mrs. Tyndale. "But we're sure now it saved our lives. We could't have survived in the deep water. The children were fighting us. But we were sucked through the culvert to shallow water."

Water pressure forced Mrs. Tyndale out of the culvert into calm water. Billy popped up beside her.

"I grabbed Billy and managed to climb up on the railroad tracks," she said. "I could see my husband holding to a tree branch with that terrible current pulling at him. I just knew Nancy was gone." But Tyndale felt something bump his leg under the water. It was Nancy.

"Dick Walter, a member of the Valdosta baseball team, who was on his honeymoon, heard Mrs. Tyndale's cries for help. He ripped off his clothes and swam to Tyndale's aid.

2 Drown as Car Plunges 30 Feet Into Detroit River

DETROIT (AP)—A car carrying a man and a woman crashed through a heavy wire fence in Riverside Park today and plunged 30 feet out into the Detroit River.

The driver was tentatively identified as James McWharter, 26, of Cleveland, who had borrowed the car Saturday to look for work in Detroit.

The woman was not identified. Neither body has been recovered. Harbormaster police were conducting dragging operations at the park at the foot of West Grand Boulevard near the Ambassador Bridge.

Witnesses said the victims were hanging to the rear of the car a few moments before it sank in 30 feet of water. The car was pulled up by a wrecker and harbormaster police at 7:30 a.m.

Sol Woods, who had been fishing at the park, said the car roared by him at about 3 a.m. going about 40 miles an hour.

"He hit an 18-inch high log, got stuck for a couple seconds, then gunned it to get started again," Woods said.

The car careened six or eight feet and crashed through the fence into the water.

AFL-CIO Unit Lashes Inaction of Teamsters

Truckers Boss, Hoffa Chat, Pose for Pictures Outside Hearing Room

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ALF-CIO Ethical Practices Committee put it up to the Teamsters Union today to say what it is doing to find out whether President Dave Beck has in fact misused union funds.

What the committee called "the apparent failure of the international union to investigate" charges against Beck and other officers was a main point in accusations against the union itself by the committee.

It was stressed in a bill of particulars to a general accusation that the union is dominated by corrupt influences.

This was given to reporters soon after the five-member committee began a closed-door session with the Teamsters Executive Board. Beck is a member of the board.

On its part, the Teamsters Board goe out a statement calling the general charges "malicious and unfounded slander." This was given to newsmen as the members went into the meeting.

In addition to Beck, the committee's bill of particulars specifically named two Teamster vice presidents — Frank W. Brewster, boss of the Western Conference of the union; and Sidney L. Brennan of Minneapolis—and what it said was the apparent failure of the Teamsters to take action.

22 PAGES LONG

The Ethical Practices Committee's 22-page bill of particulars noted that Beck repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination when questioned by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee about his handling of union funds.

The document then said: "His constitutional right to do so is recognized.

"It does not appear, however, that the international union has undertaken, or proposes to undertake, any investigation into whether its president was in fact guilty of personal corruption in the handling of union funds and in the conduct of union affairs and invoked the Fifth Amendment to conceal that fact."

All major figures in the Teamsters Union, except for Brewster, attended the meeting with the AFL-CIO committee.

BECK, HOFFA CHAT

Beck, who is under indictment on income tax evasion charges, and James R. Hoffa, a Teamsters vice president who is under indictment for conspiracy to bribe a Senate Rackets Committee investigator, chatted and posed for pictures with hands on each other's shoulders outside the AFL-CIO headquarters.

The AFL-CIO hearing could lead to ouster of the Teamsters Union from the federation. In that event, the AFL-CIO might

GOP leader William F. Knowland and about a dozen or so other Senate colleagues of McCarthy.

President Eisenhower, one of McCarthy's prime targets in recent years, was represented by L. Jack Martin, an administrative assistant.

Former GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall was there. So was State Department security chief Scott McLeod, whose appointment as ambassador to Ireland has been under fire and is still awaiting confirmation by the Senate.

A member of former President Harry S. Truman's cabinet attended — Ex-Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, who was one of the first notables to arrive.

A 50-man Marine Corps honor guard snapped to attention outside the cathedral when the 11-car procession arrived at 8:55 a.m. (EDT) from the funeral home where thousands of saddened admirers had viewed the body over the weekend.

Eight Marines in dress blues served as pallbearers.

The body will be flown to Appleton, Wis., later today for further services and burial Tuesday.

In his Eulogy, Monsignor Cartwright declared that numerous people "who did not share the privilege of (McCarthy's) personal friendship will feel stirrings both of gratitude and of regret at the passing of his public testimony to clearminded citizenship."

He said: "There are millions who will never forget what he did for our country in this time of the testing of the nations . . .

"Sen. McCarthy filled in the last few years a role which will be more and more honored as history unfolds its records. It was his privilege in a time of great confusion to have clear vision on the great political problem of our time.

Cartwright said that while "everybody has become aware" of communism's threat, not everyone saw it from the beginning.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does falling soot indicate approaching rain? Or is this old saying so much weather lore, without scientific foundation?

★ ★ ★

Interestingly, the old expression is not without basis. As you know, good, clear weather is usually produced by a high pressure system. When the pressure is high, soot in the chimney has a tendency to hold in place.

That is because the layer of gases above the earth's surface (the weather) is piled high, and pushing down heavily. But when that layer is thinner and pressure (weight) is lowered, soot might flake off and fall.

Also, when moist air arrives, soot takes on weight and, therefore, has a tendency to flake off. So the familiar old saying is not meaningless. Like so many weather omens, which have been observed through the centuries, this one is rooted in a scientifical principle.

Nation's Outlook: Warmer Weather, Clear Blue Skies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pleasant spring weather, with clear skies and rising temperatures, was the outlook for most of the nation today.

There were only a few wet spots during the night. The most widespread precipitation was in the far Northwest, from western Montana and Idaho westward to the Pacific Coast. However, rainfall was light.

Light showers fell in eastern Wyoming and western sections of South Dakota and Nebraska. Showers also sprinkled Miami and Glenwood, N. M., and in scattered areas along the California coast.

The flood situation in Texas appeared easing, with most rivers receding and no heavy rainfall indicated. However, in Louisiana, the surging Red River forced hundreds of persons from their homes and flooded thousands of acres of land.

The big river was near flood levels along a 60-mile stretch as the crest swirled past Shreveport and threatened Powhatan and Clarence, between 50 and 60 miles south of Shreveport.

LONDON (AP) — A freak cold snap gripped Europe today. Snow fell over much of the Continent. There was heavy damage to crops in Britain, France and Italy.

The northern Yugoslav city of Ljubljana had a May snow for the first time in 58 years. Widespread damage was reported in Italy. In Lombardy, after a night of cold, near-gale winds trees lay uprooted and blossoming flowers collapsed. In the rich Po valley north of the Rovigo, hail destroyed 80 per cent of crops.

The board statement given to newsmen spoke of the Teamsters long tradition in the labor movement and success in achieving collective bargaining gains.

★ ★ ★

It said the AFL-CIO charges were based on a "belief this democratic organization is 'dominated, controlled or substantially influenced in the conduct of its affairs by corrupt influence.'"

★ ★ ★

The Teamsters' board said it was not attending the meeting to answer the charges but to get a detailed explanation of them. It said the proceedings "smacked of a medieval inquisition and witch-hunt."

TO SUPPLY DETAILS

The Ethical Practices group, headed by President Al J. Hayes of the Machinists' Union, was expected to provide the union with a bill of particulars detailing the basis for the charges.

A squad of four attorneys accompanied Beck and his fellow Teamsters leaders to the hearing.

All members of the Teamsters' board except Frank W. Brewster, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, were on hand.

Tommy Manville Repeats 'I Do' for Tenth Try

NEW YORK (AP) — White-haired Tommy Manville said "I do" again yesterday and married a towering Texas showgirl.

Blonde Patricia Gaston, 27, became the newest Mrs. Manville in a 60-second ceremony at the fashionable Hotel Pierre. It was the first marriage for the San Antonio girl.

Manville, a sag in his shoulders but a champagne sparkle in his eyes, said of his latest marital adventure:

"It was the fastest ceremony and it will last the longest. I knew I wanted to marry her the minute we met. She says it's a chemical reaction."

The 63-year-old asbestos heir met Miss Gaston about three weeks ago.

Asked what she liked best about her husband, the beaming bride replied: "His sense of humor."

As an historical aside, Manville told newsmen his first nine wives have cost him about 2½ million dollars in alimony and other settlements.

The latest Mrs. Manville retired last week from the "Ziegfeld Follies," where she served as one of the lovelier sets. She is almost six feet tall.

Labor Signposts Say 'Rough Road Ahead'

(Is labor facing the same hostile public attitude that rose against big business half a century ago? What is its future? Here is the first of five articles on where labor stands now and what its prospects are in the light of congressional inquiry and growing concern among its leaders.)

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is organized labor nearing a new crossroads in its relations with the federal government, management, and its own members?

To many leading figures, in and out of unions, the answer already is at hand—an emphatic "yes."

Not since the fiery debates the Taft-Hartley Act, a turning point 10 years ago, has sharper controversy flared over questions of new legislation to meet the problems of union and employer.

How to supervise pension, welfare and union funds? What about a federal "right-to-work" law banning the union shop? What penalties for corruption initiated by either management or labor? What rules to govern their respective financial contributions and activities in political campaigns?

BLAST OF CRITICISMS

Testimony in the Senate on malpractice in the Teamsters Union highlighted the problems and touched off an explosion of jagged-edged words, "betrayal of public trust . . . scandal . . . serious crisis . . . shock."

They came from union officials, men describing themselves as friends of labor, many newspapers.

Some segments of labor acted swiftly.

Newly elected officers of the Fashion Your Figure club in Waterford Township are, Mrs. Jerry DeMasellis, president, Murial Maline, vice-president and Ruth Van Wrinkle, secretary.

Elta Bowdin will be treasurer, and Mrs. Wayne Ostran will be recording secretary.

Trophy for losing the most weight was awarded Doris Hammel and pigs for most weight gained went to Mrs. John Frost, Esther Patrick, Mrs. Murial Malone and Jean Smith.

Induction Via Lottery

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — A birthday lottery is to help decide what youths will be drafted for Australia's armed forces. Service minister Harold Holt told the House of Representatives 18-year-olds born on certain dates, to be decided by ballot, will be called up. With about 60,000 Australian youths reaching 18 annually, only one in five will be needed.

The AFL-CIO Executive Committee suspended Teamster President Dave Beck as one of its vice presidents, and set his hearing for today. Among the letters applauding AFL-CIO President George Meany was one signed by over 200 members of Teamster Local 604 in St. Louis.

The UAW appointed a watchdog committee of prominent nonunion men and gave it authority to investigate and review union actions.

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, set a 10-day period for officers to disclose whether any had accepted gifts from employers. One did.

The central figure in all this is a dry, slow-spoken, hard-working Arkansas lawyer, Sen. John L. McClellan. He is chairman of the Senate Racket Committee.

MORE TO COME

"The magnitude of this picture hasn't yet appeared," he says. "A conservative estimate would be that we have at least 100 complaints of major proportions that should be investigated."

He pointed to a stack of letters on his desk. The total is now over 30,000. "Most are from union men," he said, "and they're giving us still more information all the time."

TOMORROW: Labor's trowth — From weakness to strength.

Sen. Goldwater Accepts UAW Debate Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) has accepted a challenge to a radio or televised debate with the United Auto Workers union on labor-management relations.

★ ★ ★

The date of the debate was left to be fixed later as was the selection of the union spokesman. The invitation was extended by Guy Nunn, the UAW's radio director. It was accepted by Goldwater yesterday.

Photographs Virus Causing Hepatitis

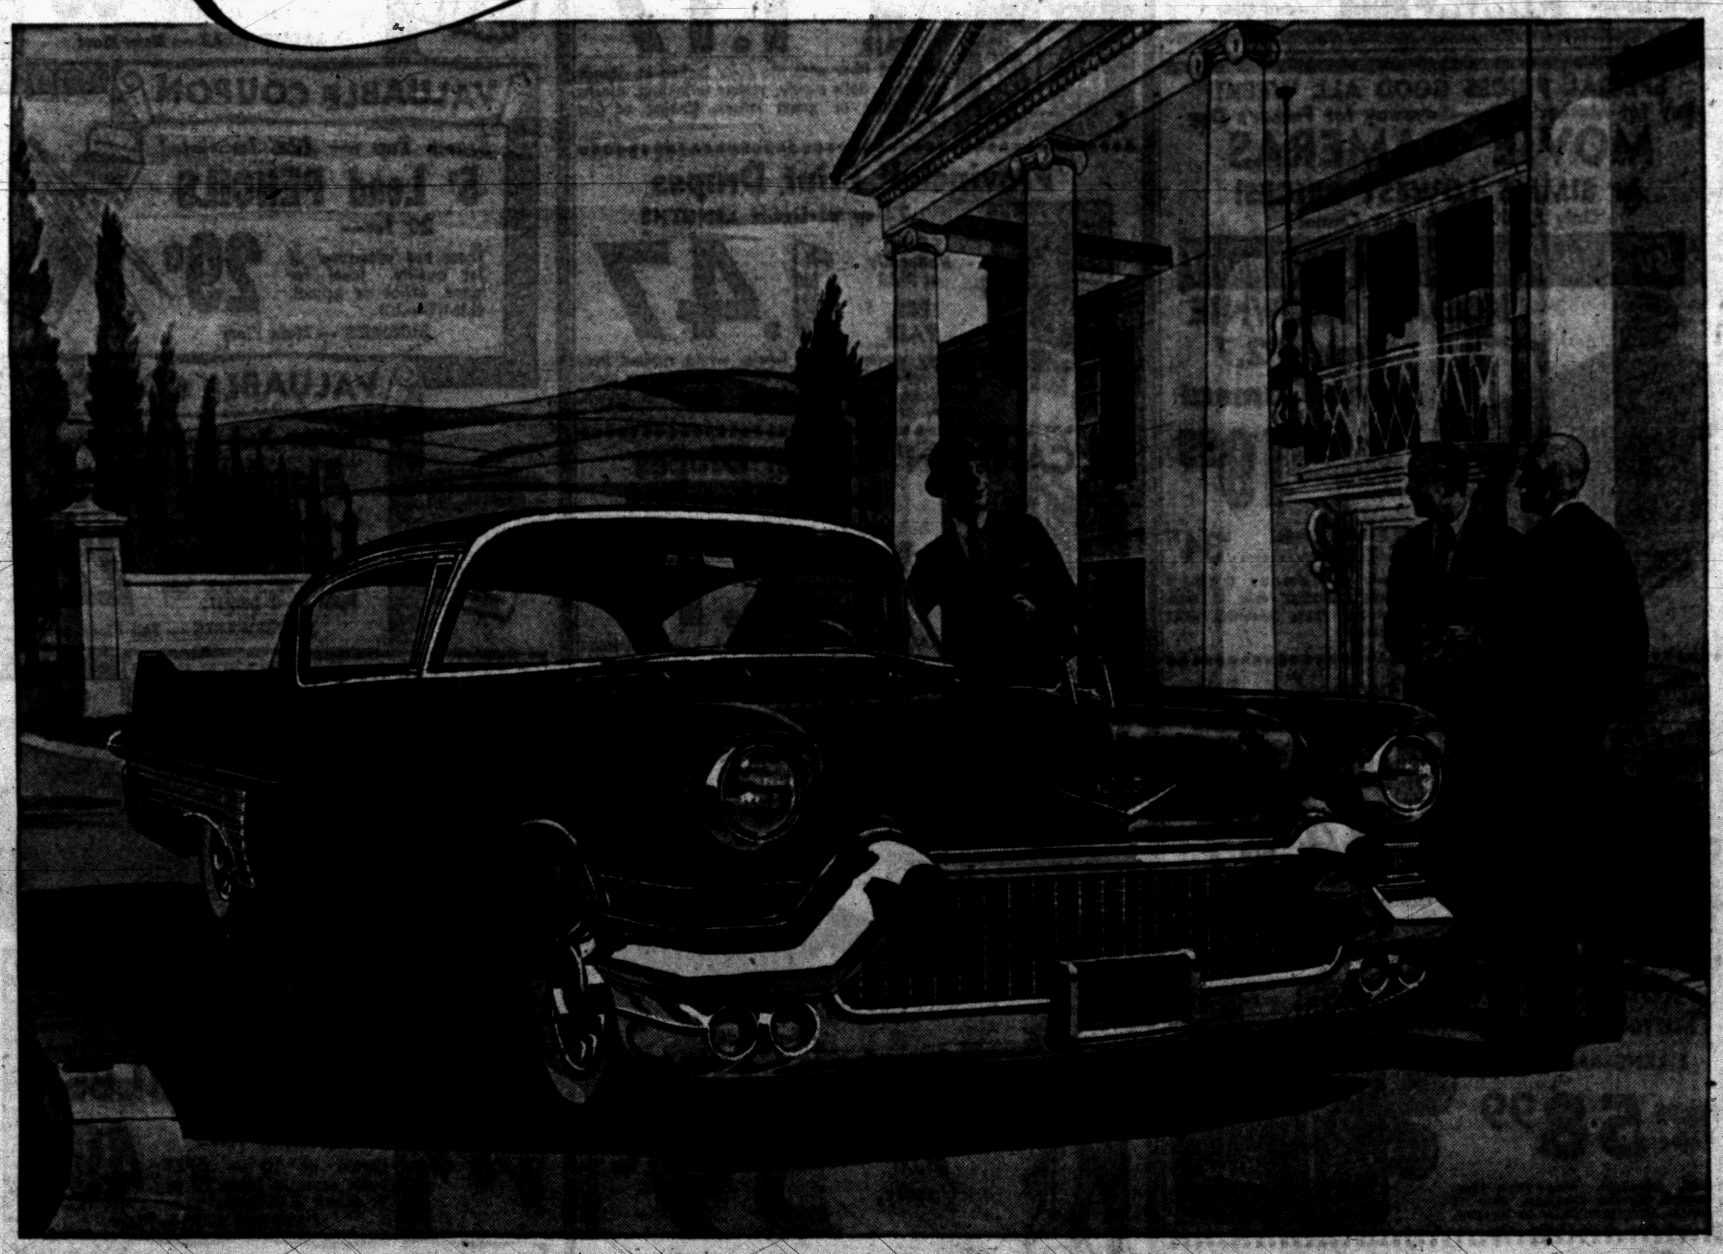

TOKYO (INS) — A Japanese scientist was reported to have made the first photograph of the elusive virus believed to be the cause of the infectious form of hepatitis (liver inflammation).

The micro-organism research laboratory of central Japan's Okayama University announced that Dr. Sakae Murakami used a 50,000-volt electron microscope to obtain a "clear portrait" of the virus.

★ ★ ★

The epidemic type of hepatitis has long been a killer in Japan. The Okayama Research Center said Murakami's development of a technique to photograph the virus was expected to make it possible to spot the ailment in its early stages.

Cadillac

Third Generation at the Wheel!

"Like father, like son", the poets say.

And never was it truer than in the case of a great many fine Cadillac families.

For there are, in our land today, a number of families that currently boast as many as three generations at the wheel.

We mention this simply to underscore a great and dramatic truth about Cadillac—and we have reference, of course, to the fact of its unchanging goodness and quality.

For fifty-five years, the Cadillac name has signified one and the same thing to motorists everywhere—a motor car created at the very highest level that automotive science would permit.

Over that time, Cadillac has attracted to the ranks of its owners the finest list of names to be found anywhere on the American scene.

And it can be said that those who have followed the path to Cadillac in 1957 are enjoying the most abundant blessings of this ceaseless crusade for quality.

The new "car of cars", with coachcraft by Fleetwood, is beautiful and luxurious to an unprecedented degree. Performance and handling ease are a revelation!

Certainly, the Cadillac car has now become an even wiser investment for an even wider circle of America's motorists.

If you have yet to acquaint yourself with these brilliant Cadillac virtues for 1957, your dealer will be delighted to give you the full details on how easily you can make Cadillac a fine family custom of your own!

Safety Council Praises Pontiac Traffic Record

Three cheers for Pontiac's traffic record.

According to a recent report from the National Safety Council, Pontiac was one of four Michigan cities which marked up a perfect traffic record during March. Even more impressive is the fact that Pontiac has not had a traffic fatality since October, 1956.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Police Department, citizens of Pontiac and our neighbors driving through the city all deserve a word of praise for this outstanding record.

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and Capt. Joseph Koren, head of the Traffic and Safety Bureau deserve much of the credit for this fine showing.

Regulating traffic in a city the size of Pontiac is not an easy task. The entire Police Department should be commended for the diligence they have shown in performing this work.

★ ★ ★

Our perfect record for March is proof that their work has paid off. Also quite obvious is the fact that the driving public has cooperated to the extent that Pontiac could be honored with this fine safety record.

We should all work together to continue this fine record and give Pontiac the distinction of leading the state in traffic safety.

U.S.-Philippine Amity Reaffirmed by Garcia

President Carlos P. Garcia of the Philippines who succeeded to that office after the tragic death of the deservedly popular Magsaysay, says frankly that he expects to be the candidate of his party in the November election.

He has been carrying out the Magsaysay policies of progressive reform at home and close relations with the United States. His opponents claim that the Philippines have been too dependent on the United States. In a speech on February 14, Garcia said:

"The Philippine Republic . . . set down as a cardinal and fundamental policy the preservation and maintenance of close Philippine - American relations and the continuing effort to improve the same . . . So long as the basis of Philippine-American relations will continue to be that of equality, mutual respect of national dignity and justice, so long will the Philippines and the United States of America stick together."

★ ★ ★

President Garcia was graduated in 1924 from the Philippine law school and served his native province of Bohol as governor for nine years. He was elected to the Senate in 1941 and was a delegate to the world conference to form the United Nations in 1945 and helped draft its charter.

The people of the Philippines are fortunate in having such a candidate for the Presidency.

NATO to Stockpile Nuclear Equipment

The 15 Foreign Ministers of NATO have concluded their Bonn meeting which was marked by a tense atmosphere due to Soviet threats.

NATO's strength is being shifted from ground forces to nuclear weapons. This has angered the Russians who recently threatened West Germany, Norway, Denmark, The Netherlands, Greece, Turkey, Iceland and Britain with dire consequences if they took steps to protect themselves with nuclear weapons.

★ ★ ★

These NATO nations are finding the strength they need in unity and have replied to Moscow's threats by asserting their individual right to self defense against Soviet Russia. They are considering a plan whereby nuclear weapons and guided missiles would be available at once wherever needed for the defense of Europe.

★ ★ ★

A NATO official said that the idea would be to designate the Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Europe, now Gen. Lauris Norstad, as a holding agent for the armaments in peacetime. This would avoid the need to equip national allied armies with live nuclear weapons and would sidestep U.S. laws that prevent American nuclear arms and secrets going to foreign powers.

★ ★ ★

Britain's Lord Ismay, the retiring Secretary General, pointed out that since NATO was formed in April, 1949, "not a square inch of territory in Europe has fallen beneath the Russian heel" and that peace has been kept. NATO no doubt has contributed to the effort but the real deterrent to war is the nuclear bomb.

A dyed-in-the-wool Democrat has just sounded off with, "The cost of living has risen almost every month since the Republican administration stabilized it many long months ago."

Safety on a High Plane

David Lawrence Says:

McCarthy Fought for His Beliefs

WASHINGTON — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy is gone—but he has left behind a legacy of controversial issues that it may take years to resolve.

LAWRENCE

The Wisconsin senator was a relentless fighter for what he believed to be right. He might have won the "censure" battle in the Senate in 1954 if, while under severe strain during the proceedings, he had not tactlessly antagonized many senators who were disposed to be objective about the issue.

★ ★ ★

For the Senate was dealing with a delicate question—the right of free speech in Congress uninhibited by threats of punishmept. Never in the history of the Senate had any member been "censured" for expressing his opinions, no matter how distasteful or unpopular they were. The Senate finally abandoned the word "censure," with its historical connotation of punishment, and substituted the milder word "condemn."

Even so, the Senate resolution set a bad precedent of interference with free speech. For to condemn a man because of the opinions he expresses is what has been called "McCarthyism at its worst."

If ever a man was hounded to death because of his beliefs, it was Senator McCarthy. His health was impaired by the strain and tension arising out of the tactics and methods of his enemies. They ganged up on him from the days when they saw he was making headway with his crusade against communism in government. The Communist newspaper, "The Daily Worker," in New York was the first to give persistent publicity to the word "McCarthyism."

There was no limit to the innuendoes, baseless charges and whispering campaigns directed against Senator McCarthy in an effort to discredit him. For it was assumed by many of his opponents that, if McCarthy the man were discredited the whole drive against communists in the government would collapse.

VICIOUS RUMORS SPREAD

Some strange chapters remain yet to be fully explained. One is the vicious spread of rumors that Senator McCarthy had cheated on his federal income tax returns, though it turned out in the end that the Treasury Department owed him money and sent him a refund check for overpayment of his taxes.

Yet, before the Internal Revenue Bureau could complete its investigation, the campaign to maneuver McCarthy into a public hearing in which his enemies would have a chance to impugn his honesty was participated in by a Senate subcommittee consisting mostly of his opponents. Although McCarthy was reelected senator by the people of Wisconsin in November, 1952, after his refusal to testify before that same committee, his opponents in 1954 nevertheless used that refusal —which had occurred in a previous term of office—as a basis for the start of "censure" proceedings.

Another episode, still unexplained, is the case of Paul H. Hughes, who posed as a member of McCarthy's staff and, over a period of several months, collected big sums of money from various sources high up among the so-called "liberals" with the promise of "revelations" derogatory to McCarthy personally. At any moment during that long period, the fact that Hughes was not an employe of any congressional committee could have been established through the careful inquiries of an alert newspaper man.

But the record in the perjury case that followed in the courts reveals a paradoxical example of "McCarthyism" in reverse. So is the current persecution of Scott McLeod, once a close friend of McCarthy and a stalwart fighter against communism in the government, who has been nominated by President Eisenhower to be ambassador to Ireland. Vice President Nixon has also been a victim of the same kind of tactics by the so-called "liberals," who in 1952 spread false accusations about him.

Radio Moscow's "tribute" to Senator McCarthy is to denounce him as responsible for "the preparation of new military ventures by the United States." To have helped alert America to the menace of communism is to have earned Moscow's hatred—which is the most eloquent epitaph that could be written for Joe McCarthy.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Here Are Qualifications as Expert in Health Field

Readers who are familiar with this column should have no illusions about the qualifications of the conductor. If you missed it before, let me repeat.

DR. BRADY

I began the study of medicine at the age of 16 in the office of my preceptor, the late Dr. Daniel A. Eiseline, Shortsville, N. Y. Dr. Eiseline nearly drove me out of the profession the very first day, by handing me Gray's Anatomy and telling me to familiarize myself with it, in preparation for my first quiz at the end of the week.

Fortunately I had already had two years of Latin in Canandaigua and that, I think, was all that kept me from chucking the idea of studying medicine and going out to look for a job.

I shudder sometimes at the very thought of it—working, I mean. I have never forgotten the week or two I served at hard labor in the brickyard. It gave me a feeling of respect for all the honest working people of this world.

For nearly two years after I received my degree at University of Buffalo medical school, which I entered upon high school graduation —look, Ma, no college—I was an intern in Erie County Hospital.

In the course of my internship, I took the state board examination for a license and received my license (No. 5087) to practice any and all branches of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, or whichever specialty I preferred.

NO 'KLINICK' CONNECTIONS

There you have my pedigree. I was never an employe of the American Medical Association, I can boast of no present or past connection with a "klinik." I have been quacking it in the public prints for way over half my lifetime.

Since I served two years internship in hospital and four years in horse-and-buggy practice in Penn Yan, at the foot of Keuka Lake in western New York, I have specialized exclusively in health . . . note I say "health," and not medicine. This qualifies me as an expert in the field.

So please remember that it is only after long and thorough study and a fair amount of experience that I assert that functionally efficient teeth are essential for sound health, vite and longevity; that every man, woman or child—or cat or canary or cow or tree—needs an iodin ration; that every sedentary adult should practice belly breathing and morning rolls as a routine; that we have yet to discover a medicine that cures a chronic disease.

As a health expert, I do not diagnose—I merely try to teach you how to prevent the chronic disabilities for which, I'm afraid, there are no cures.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Gives Facts of Annexation of Area Property by City

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Mr. Paul A. Kern Jr., recently criticized the Pontiac City Commission for annexing 32 acres of land belonging to the Emmanuel Baptist Church, and for not annexing a nearby taxpaying shopping center.

Her are the facts: On this church property, a new church and a new school are to be built. The parent church is paying the full cost for the sewage connection and the usual water assessments. Churches and schools are exempt from paying general property taxes.

When the annexation of the shopping center was proposed to the Commission, a powerful downtown lobby was arrayed against it. Final decision on the matter was delayed two weeks to enable the Commission to reveal its plans for vastly expanding the municipal parking program downtown.

The developer then announced that he would proceed with construction and attempt to furnish his own utilities. Upon hearing this the township reversed itself and refused to give its consent to the annexation.

Disgusted Taxpayer

Offers Suggestion to Stop Inflation

In a recent article, Herbert O. Jarvis says when the government took your $18.75 for a U.S. Government savings bond in 1947, it contracted to pay $25 in 1957 and will fulfill that contract. Unfortunately, the dollars you get back are worth 13 per cent less than the dollar you loaned the government in 1947. Your real pay for lending the government that money is not $6.25, but only $2.50 in buying power. Your earned interest was barely one per cent.

That is the result of inflation.

This same shrinkage in buying power is happening to every dollar you have saved, whether it be in life insurance, savings banks, bonds or any other so-called safe investment. So these hard-earned dollars for your old age won't buy peanuts if this inflationary spiral is not stopped or at least slowed down.

A big contributor to this runaway inflation is the habit of unions demanding large wage increases annually, regardless of economic conditions. The government should pass laws to make it necessary for unions to justify their demands. Unions are big business now and should be controlled the same way corporations are.

The government should materially reduce foreign aid. It is 12 years since World War II and many countries are in such competitive positions they can deliver their products to the U.S.A. cheaper than we can make them ourselves.

How about it, friends? Write your congressman today.

I agree with Mr. DeWolfe in thanking Congressman Dawson of Utah for trying to arouse the people in their viewpoint on the inhumane way animals are slaughtered. 'Family Education Badly Needed'

We all know that great civilizations are no more, through an inner demoralization of ethical standards. Statistics prove 48 per cent of major crimes were committed by those under 18. Qualified authorities should make ten or fifteen minute education recordings, designed to teach subjects vital to proper character moulding and the importance of close family relationships. These necessary directives can be run in places of employment; at such alert attentives states while being paid a salary, responsibility and knowledge can be readily assimilated in consciousness, resulting in awakened parents.

'Sarah Initiated Arab, Jew Fight'

It is written that Abraham had two sons, one of a bondswoman and one of a free woman. After a son was born of the free woman, Sarah, she said that the son of the bondswoman, Hagar, would not be heir with her son, Isaac. Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Tells Ideal Gift for Man

Marsha wants to surprise her father with an unusually helpful gift. See what I suggested. It will add extra years to his lifespan and make him more romantic, too, when his wife suggests a movie date. To perk up a man, give his heart daily vacations as outlined below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-373: Marsha Q., aged 17, raises a common question.

"Dr. Crane, my Daddy has a birthday in a few weeks and I don't know what to give him," she began.

CRANE

"What do men like? And I'd prefer to get him something that would be distinctive, as well as helpful.

"Have you any suggestions? He already has plenty of ties and socks and things like that."

PRACTICAL GIFTS

Give him a hassock (footstool).

For a hassock actually prolongs your life by giving your heart a vacation every time you prop your feet thereon.

And here's why: since a man has about 6 quarts of blood which must be pumped through the heart in much less than a minute, the heart does a lot of work.

And its only vacations are the little "heart naps" which it catches between beats.

But you can give it more rest by slowing down the pulse rate and also by lowering the blood pressure.

When Marsha's daddy is standing, he is six feet tall, so his heart must force his blood that high above the ground.

When he sits in an ordinary chair, with his feet on the floor, his vertical height is about four and one-half feet, so his heart benefits by not being compelled to force the blood so high.

A hassock, however, lets him lift his feet off the floor and stretch them out horizontally, thus giving him a total vertical height of only about three feet.

This is only half his height while standing, so you can easily see why his heart does not need to maintain as high a blood pressure.

Furthermore, it then tends to slow down in its rate. Instead of beating maybe 74 times per minute while he is standing, it now is reduced to 73. That means it gets a vacation of one whole beat per minute, or 60 beats per hour.

PERK UP DADDY

If he props his feet on the hassock for an hour and a quarter as he reads the newspaper before dinner, his heart thus salvages 75 beats, which means it obtains an entire minute's rest.

But daddy will perk up faster in another respect, too, for when the feet are in the horizontal, the fatigue products flush out of the legs better, thus making him feel peppy.

If you wives also wish to get your tired husband to pick up your cue about attending a movie, be sure you see that he sits with his feet on a hassock.

★ ★ ★

The numbness in his tired legs will be much reduced so he may react more like a younger man when you want him to show more romance.

Wives, too, will profit from using a hassock, for not only do your feet get more rest thereby, but your ankles tend to become smaller.

So the next time you wish to purchase a gift for an adult member of your family, think of a hassock. In fact, better get several for there should be one in front of every easy chair.

They are especially essential for dentists, barbers, salesmen and others who stand most of the time in connection with their daily work.

★ ★ ★

We have no exact experimental data on this point, but the regular use of a hassock should lengthen your life by several years through the extra rest afforded your heart.

See tomorrow's Case Record for more data on the heart.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Lax Handling' Charged

View Soil Bank Payments

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators say some farmers have collected federal insurance for crop failure on the same land for which they received soil bank payments not to grow crops.

A House Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee listed this and other instances of what it called "lax handling" of federal soil bank funds last year in a report of hearings made public today.

The general reply of Agriculture Department officials was that the soil bank law was passed late in the season last year and rushed into effect with the result that some unusual payments undoubtedly were made. They termed this a "1956 peculiarity" that they said "won't happen again."

The subcommittee's investigators also reported, according to the hearing testimony, that in other instances, farmers were paid for not planting corn on land on which they were legally forbidden to plant corn.

And in some cases, investigators say, farmers were paid for taking land out of one type of wheat and then in turn were paid a premium for planting it in another type of wheat.

These reports were the subject of sharp criticism from committee members considering Department of Agriculture requests for a billion dollars to pay farmers during the 1958 fiscal year to place part of their surplus producing cropland in the soil bank.

People of Town Honor Their Family Doctor, 81

EAST GREENWICH, R. I. (AP)—The people of East Greenwich gathered yesterday to pay tribute to Dr. Fenwick G. Taggart, 81, a family doctor for 53 years.

"Doc" Taggart stood for three-and-ahalf hours in Varnum Armory shaking hands with the men and kissing the women.

More than 2,500 persons, some from as far away as North Carolina and Virginia, dropped in to say hello. Many of those he delivered also were there—the youngest aged 2 and the oldest 52.

Teenage Son Kills Mother in Accident

WAYNE, W. Va. (AP) — A woman tentatively identified as Mrs. Grace Hysel of Wayne County was killed last night by a blast from a shotgun when she was mistaken for a prowler by her teenage son.

Funeral home attendants said the boy, who was not otherwise identified, told police that prowlers had been stealing gasoline from the family car recently and that he fired at a shadowy figure which he believed to be a thief.

Was Determined to Make Great Political Comeback

Death Robbed Joe McCarthy of His Fondest Dream

(This is the second of two articles on "The Real Joe McCarthy," highlighting the remarkable personality of the Communist-fighting Senator who died Thursday at the age of 47.)

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

Death robbed Joe McCarthy of what had become his fondest dream—a great political comeback.

There were two reasons for the senator's ironbound determination to scale again the heights of fame and influence he once achieved only to tumble into comparative obscurity.

★ ★ ★

One was Jean Kerr McCarthy, the woman he loved. The other was blue-eyed, winsome Tierney Elizabeth McCarthy, the adopted baby daughter who entered his life just five months ago.

"I owe it to them," he told a friend last March, during the labor rackets hearings. "Jean thinks I'm the greatest. She's going to bring our little girl up to think the same thing. Maybe she's wrong. But I'm going to try to prove she's right."

McCarthy brushed aside the suggestions of cynical non-admirers that the Senate's 1954 condemnation vote and his feud with President Eisenhower had washed him up politically.

★ ★ ★

"Hell," he snorted, "I've just begun to fight. I'm going back to Wisconsin and run for reelection next year and I'm going to win. Then I'm coming back to the Senate and you're going to hear a lot, lot more about McCarthy."

WHY CONFIDENT

Asked what made him so confident, he pointed to a framed picture on his desk. The photograph showed Joe, beaming with pride, giving Tierney Elizabeth her bottle, with Mrs. McCarthy steadying the tot.

The inscription on the photo—in Jean's handwriting—read: "To my dad, the sweetest and greatest in all the world. X X X Tierney Elizabeth."

"Those X's," the dark-jowled gladiator of political combat explained seriously, "stand for kisses."

McCarthy, whose death of a liver disease Thursday shocked his ordinarily shock-proof colleagues, had conceded that he faced powerful enemies in Wisconsin.

"But," he said gleefully, for he really relished a battle, "I'll make monkeys of 'em."

A senatorial election campaign can be a costly thing. McCarthy once was asked where he would get funds for his "comeback" fight. He replied: "Where I always got 'em—from the people I represent, the farmers and the working guys and the storekeepers."

"What about fellows like Sid Richardson and Clint Murchison?" he was asked.

Richardson and Murchison, Texas oil giants, are two of the richest men in the world. They were close personal friends of McCarthy. He visited their haciendas, rode in their private airplanes, hunted game on their shooting preserves, traded belly laughs with them.

"Listen," McCarthy said. "Sid and Clint have nothing to do with Wisconsin. My support comes from my own people, in my own state. I don't owe Richardson or Murchison or anybody like them a damned cent, and I never will."

★ ★ ★

McCarthy — who accused one president of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, of a "shrinking show of weakness" toward Red China, and who charged that another chief executive, Harry Truman, was "stupid and stubborn"—was no hero worshipper.

But he did have a personal hero. He did not wear the feeling on his sleeve, but he regarded FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover as the greatest living American.

"Hoover," McCarthy once said during a particularly intensive phase of his anti-Communist crusade, "understands the Communist menace as well as I do." Grinning, he added: "And he's a better investigator."

McCarthy's gift for the baleful phrase enraged his foes.

When ex-Sen. William Benton (D-Conn) introduced a resolution for McCarthy's expulsion from the Senate because of his campaign tactics, the Wisconsin senator shrugged it off with a biting reference to the millionaire Benton as "a curious little mental midget."

When Republican Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont, then 74, notified Joe during the Army-McCarthy hearings that he was starting censure action, the fork-tongued man from Wisconsin suggested that Flanders was suffering from "senility."

★ ★ ★

McCarthy once referred to another fellow Republican, ex-Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey, as a man "without brains or guts." He taunted handsome, dignified Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) by calling him "Sanctimonious Stu."

★ ★ ★

He labeled the proceedings of the select committee headed by Sen. Arthur Watkins (R-Utah) which recommended his censure, "a lynch bee."

But a strange thing was that most of his victims found that the wounds he inflicted healed quickly under the balm of the Irish charm he could apply with effortless good will.

Senators who were targets for his roughest language could be found, a few hours later, sitting around with him nibbling on chunks of the Wisconsin cheese with which he always kept his office refrigerator well stocked.

NEVER DISTURBED

McCarthy, despite his vitriolic retors, never was much disturbed by attacks in which such epithets as "witch-hunter" were hurled at him. In fact, he joked about being a "witch-hunter" and so did his intimate friends.

This recalls the comment of ex-Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho) at McCarthy's wedding to the stunning Jean Kerr at St. Matthew's Cathedral on Sept. 28, 1953.

Gazing upon the radiant Jean, an eyeful in her bridal finery, Welker remarked in a stage whisper, "Well, if Joe's a witch-hunter, he sure found a beautiful witch."

Despite the premonition of early death of which he sometimes talked, despite the vicissitudes which befell him in the Senate, despite the sinus infection and the wartime leg injury and the intestinal troubles that plagued him constantly, Joe McCarthy was a happy man after love and marriage came to him.

Happy enough, anyway, as he ambled along a capitol corridor with his rock-and-roll gait a few days before he entered the hospital, to tell reporters, "I'm in great shape, boys, never better—got a good, tough fight on my hands next year, and I'm going to win it."

Hal Boyle Says:

What Memories Luchow's Holds!

NEW YORK (AP)—Just 75 years ago this month August Luchow, a waiter from Bavaria, borrowed $1,500 and opened a restaurant that soon became and remained a world famous celebrity haunt.

★ ★ ★

A roll call of its clientele is an index of Manhattan's fabulous past—studded by such names as Victor Herbert, Caruso, O. Henry, Al Smith, Ziegfeld, O. O. McIntyre and, of course, Mike Todd.

The names change — but the pig knuckles on the menu still come steaming hot and elephant sized.

What was Gay Gotham like back in May, 1882, when August served up his first plate of sauerbraten with a seidel of foaming Wurzberger beer

Here is one Luchow patron's idea of what a gossip column of that vanished heyday of the full stomach might say—if the gossip column had been invented then:

Handome Lord Randolph Churchill will be guest of honor at a party that Mrs. Astor and Ward McAllister are throwing next week. He left his beautiful wife, the former Jenny Jerome, and their young son, Winston, at Marlborough Castle.

There's a good chance that a federal civil service law will pass. The Post Office scandals and job buying have the voters up in arms. Health Department worried about outbreak of typhus and smallpox on East 47th St. There ought to be a compulsory vaccination law.

★ ★ ★

Medical circels here excited about Prof. Koch's theory that tuberculosis is caused by a parasite he calls a bacillus. He's working on a TB vaccine now. Paderewski and Joseffy feuding? Brooklyn Bridge to be finished soon.

Critic Jim Huneker predicts that young Steve Crane will be one of our top novelists when his "Red Badge of Courage" is finished. A sure bet for the best seller list. Newsmen lift their eyebrows at the respectable Times calling the police commissioner a "blatherskite".

Three more muggings in Central Park. Much indignation over Russia's new anti-Semitic laws. The Nathans calling the blessed event George Jean, P. T. Barnum discloses over a dish of noddle soup that nearly half a million people visited Madison Square Garden to see Jumbo, the elephant he imported from England. "There's a sucker born every minute," the showman told us.

★ ★ ★

The police believe German Socialists were behind the infernal machines mailed to W. H. Vanderbilt and cable Tycoon Cyrus Field. Oscar Wilde winds up his American tour next week and returns to England. The ladies and the lifted pinky set both sad. Washington insiders say that President Arthur's sister, Mary McElroy, is feuding with the wives of two senators and won't let them come to White House parties.

Wall Street selling kerosene stocks short because Edison will open his electric station on Pearl Street soon. John D. Rockfeller not worried, his intimates say. Smart money betting that Charles Guiteau won't beat the rap for shooting President Garfield. Critics nix the first play of David Belasco and suggest he ought to go back to Frisco. No future for him on Broadway.

At Bustonoby's, architect Richard Hunt says that the new William K. Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth Avenue will cost more than three million dollars. At Rectors, Col. Jim Mapleson says that he's not worried about what the new Metropolitan Opera will do to his Academy of Music. Adelina Patti will still pack them in even if the upstart millionaires move over to 39th and Broadway.

Local Irish divided on question of Parnell and the troubles with England. John L. Sullivan got a three month sentence for beating up an innocent bystander in a bar. Henry Ward Beecher Still preaches to SRO at Plymouth Church. The scandal didn't hurt him at all. Keep your eye on the new actress Minnie Maddern. She's sprinkled with stardust. The hep set says the new Gilbert & Sullivan musical "Olanthe" will be a bigger hit that "Patience" when it opens next fall.

Lillian Russell joins Diamond Jim Brady at host August Luchow's stammtisch after finishing her stint at Tony Pastor's across the way and watches him polish off three wienerschnitzels at once. They're joined by Lily Langtry wearing a neckline that would make Anthony Comstock swear out a warrant.

TOY BANKS — 1. The Balky Mule

It's a smart idea to save money. One way to do this, and have some fun, too, is by using a toy bank. Probably you've seen this one — usually a container with a slot for coins and adorned with figures of men or animals of plastic, wood, or metal. Big banks sometimes give them to young customers to encourage thrift.

The toy bank has a long history. The Aztecs of old Mexico had treasure chests for their children. Ancient Greeks made metal urns to hold children's spare coins. Even before the Christian era, the Chinese invented mechanical devices which moved in some amusing way when a coin was dropped into them. Simple mechanical banks were used in Europe since the middle ages and later they reached great popularity in the United States.

This week we are going to show you pictures of mechanical toy banks that delighted children long ago. Each will show a simple movement that was part of the mechanism of the real bank.

On this one, paste the picture on cardboard and color it. Fold back panels on dash lines. To make it more like the real thing, fasten a small box behind the figure to collect the pennies dropped in through a slit in the saddle cloth. The boy on the balky mule was a favorite toy bank character. Fasten him to the mule by a brass fastener through the indicated holes. Put his sash behind the animal to hold him in place. Then you can make him topple off as you put the penny in the box.

(John Kirkpatrick of Cleveland, Ohio, won $10 for this suggestion. Send your ideas in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Syrian Leftists Win Elections

Anti-Communist Group Loses Three Contests to Pro-Egyptian Forces

DAMASCUS (AP) — Syria's pro-Egyptian leftists have won three important parliamentary by-elections, downing a new anti-Communist coalition. The government forces lost a fourth contest, but it involved only local issues.

★ ★ ★

The government-backed candidates scored victories in weekend elections marked by a light turnout of voters and charges of political foul play. All three seats in the 142-member Parliament previously were held by right-wingers now in jail on charges of trying to topple the government of President Shukri Kuwatly.

★ ★ ★

In Damascus, victory went to handsome, 32-year-old Riad el Maliki, who stumped on a platform of all-out support for Egypt and condemnation of the Eisenhower Doctrine. El Maliki polled 20,929 votes to 18,457 for right-winger Mustafa Sibai, leader of the Moslem Brotherhood in Syria and Jordan.

Supporters of rightist publisher said Tellaway conceded defeat by leftist Jamal Kalaleeb in Homs, central Syria.

In Suweida, leftist Abou Asali defeated rightist Sitan Nassr 3,671-2,160.

Dairies Cut Milk Prices

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The price of milk has been cut a half cent a quart by four Ann Arbor dairies, bringing it to 23½ cents for home delivered and 20 cents for non-delivered. The cut, similar to one in Pontiac and Detroit, followed a reduction in the price paid farmers for whole milk.

Completion Will Give Access to Ocean Vessels

Great Lakes Channel-Dredging to Begin

DETROIT (AP) — Army engineers will begin deepening connecting channels of the Great Lakes May 28.

The 136-million-dollar job, when completed in 1962, will make room for 80 per cent of the world's ocean-going cargo ships to move through the 1,200-mile Great Lakes route.

The giant project of dredging 44 million cubic yards of dirt from bottomland will rank second only to the 150-million-dollar St. Lawrence seaway job in money spent to help Great Lakes shipping.

The first deepening work will be done on the Amherstburg, Ont., channel in the lower Detroit River connecting Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie.

MARK START

Formalities and festivities will mark the start. About 1,500 dignitaries, including President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, have been invited to watch the first mass of rock blasted out to make way for the enlarged channel.

Col. Peter C. Hyzer, head of the Detroit district of the Army Corps of Engineers, told a news conference yesterday that technically the connecting channels are in no way connected with the seaway project.

But deepening the channels to 27-30 feet in effect will complement ships to reach the rich ore, grain and coal fields of states around the Great Lakes, he said. The seaway is scheduled for completion in 1959.

TONNAGE GREATER

"Great Lakes tonnage already is greater than that handled by the Panama and Suez Canals combined," said Hyzer. "There is no limit to the traffic which will be handled when channels are deepened."

By June 4 bids will be left for dredging the middle Neebish Channel in St. Mary's River which connects Lake Huron and Lake Superior, said Hyzer. Its cost, Hyzer said, will run just under 20 million dollars—somewhat less than the 23 million dollars to deepen the Amherstburg Channel.

"This project will cost more than the money spent on connecting channels in the past 100 years, said Hyzer, "and we've been working on channels for that long."

★ ★ ★

Walker Cisler, chairman of the Great Lakes connecting channels inauguration committee and Detroit Edison president, said, "the Great Lakes waterways are just as vital to Midwest states as the ocean is to its major world ports."

Channels will be dredged in Detroit River, Lake St. Clair, St. Clair River, the Straits of Mackinac, and St. Mary's River.

Hyzer, whose engineers computed cost factors before Congress gave its go-ahead March 21, 1956, said the deepening project will return an average of $1.74 to the nation's economy for each dollar invested until the 136 million dollars is paid off over a 50-year period.

INSURE GROWTH

"This will insure economic growth of the United States through increased tonnage at less cost," he said.

He said the Amherstburg channel will be completed in 1960 and will be slow work because of ledgerock involved. Other dredging portions, he said, will be less expensive because of the type of earth to be removed. He estimated three million cubic yards of bottomland will have to be removed from both the Amherstburg and Middle Neebish Channels.

"We also are making studies of controlling water levels on the Great Lakes," said Hyzer. "This can be done, but so far there has been no necessity to warrant the expense."

★ ★ ★

Hyzer said a plan to divert Breat Lakes water via the inland waterway at Chicago would have little effect on the deepening.

Lower the water level one inch means a ship's cargo is cut by 100 tons, he said.

★ ★ ★

"The water diversion plan would drop Lake Huron seven-eighths of an inch and Lake Erie five-eighths, but we have taken that into consideration," he said.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Month's 30 Days Eventful Weather-Wise

April Crowded With Activity of Nature

By MARGARET BROWN

April has been described as a season ". . . crowded with nature's activity," and the 1957 visitation of this month certainly was no exception to this expression.

Among nature's activities occurring during the 30 eventful days were (naturally) rain, traces of snow, extreme highs and lows, and several tornado alerts, one of which gave way to a "baby twister."

★ ★ ★

Fittingly, a forecast of occasional rain ushered in the traditional shower season, and throughout the month precipitation figures indicated that April was living up to its reputation.

From the 1st through the 16th nightly lows below the freezing point predominated, and on April 12 the mercury plummeted to a nippy 22. Daily highs averaged no more than 53 degrees. Thunderstorms, high winds and traces of snow were the prevailing elements.

Friday, April 19, the temperature hit 75 degrees, offering a prelude to summer weather, and bringing the weatherman's report for a fair Easter. Bright sunshine and clear skies allowed promenading in the Easter Parade minus drenched finery.

★ ★ ★

However, sharply rising temperatures, though enjoyable, brought spring's number one menace—tornadoes.

Pontiac's first twister alert and highest temperature of 83 degrees came on April 24. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted a tornado and severe thunderstorm warning for this area.

Local residents became jittery when three funnel-shaped clouds were sighted in the Milford-Brighton area, but the funnels failed to dip below cloud level.

Turbulent weather continued. On April 25 the city was shrouded in darkness as a severe thunderstorm smashed into this area. A tornado funnel appeared at Jackson but dissipated in a deluge of rain. Five twisters were spotted in southeastern Michigan, but apparently none touched the ground.

On April 26 a tornado alert again was sounded at 5:30 p.m., lasting five and a half hours, but no twisters were sighted in this area.

★ ★ ★

A "baby twister" appeared on the scene on April 27. On a brief spree, it lifted 15 to 20 pieces of lumber from the Pontiac Lumber Company's yard at 831 Oakland Ave. and hurled several of the two-by-eight, 16-foot-long boards through the front window of the Father and Son Market, 856 Oakland Ave.

One city resident said that wind blew a boat into his back yard from several lots away.

The mild twister apparently was the last of the tornado siege.

Temperatures dropped noticeably on April 28, shifting from a high of 81 to one of 62. The Detroit Weather Bureau reported that rainfall for this area had exceeded the normal figures by 1.53 inches.

April bowed out with a forecast of just plain "nice" weather, sunny and mild with a high near 70.

Statistically, the weather may be summed up: Average high, 56.9; average low, 39.9; mean temperature for the month, 48.4, and precipitation, 4.44.

Auditorium Plan Being Prepared for Display Here

A large, color scale model of Pontiac's proposed civic auditorium is being prepared and its first showing is expected "within a three week period," Ralph T. Norvell, chairman of the Centennial Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, announced.

★ ★ ★

He said the original May 1 exhibit date has not been met "due to additional conferences committee members have had with the architects."

The model is being constructed from preliminary drawings prepared by Smith, Hinchman, Grylls, Inc., architects.

The committee is working toward completion of the auditorium by Pontiac's 100th birthday in March 1961.

Super Shell with TCP

The most powerful gasoline any car can use!

A new grade of gasoline—the successor to Shell Premium

Modern cars are wonderful performers—no question about that. Yet many cannot deliver their full power even on premium-grade gasolines. Because of their higher compression ratios, they require a more powerful gasoline.

This is the reason Shell developed a new, higher grade of gasoline—the successor to Shell Premium. It is Super Shell with TCP*—the most powerful gasoline any car can use!

Higher than "high test"

Super Shell, more powerful than premium grade gasolines, will satisfy perfectly today's most powerful cars as well as the still more powerful ones in the future.

Furthermore, Super Shell will give motorists who have used premium-grade gasoline more power than they ever imagined their cars could deliver.

More aromatics—the power ingredients of aviation fuel

Shell is the nation's leading supplier of fuel for commercial aviation. And aviation fuel gets most of its great power from ingredients known as aromatics, such as benzene, xylene, and toluene. These are the most precious ingredients that can be used in making gasoline. And they give Super Shell greater energy—make it the most powerful gasoline any car can use!

Full octane value to meet every driving condition

Super Shell instantly and automatically gives any engine the full octane value it needs for knock-free power under every driving condition. This means that you get maximum acceleration from a standing start or for safe passing at highway speeds. However, when you're just cruising, Super Shell's extra energy converts automatically to extra miles in every tankful.

TCP unleashes the full power of high octane

In modern automobile engines, harmful deposits form after only a few thousand miles of average driving. These deposits can cause substantial power loss due to pre-firing and spark plug miss.

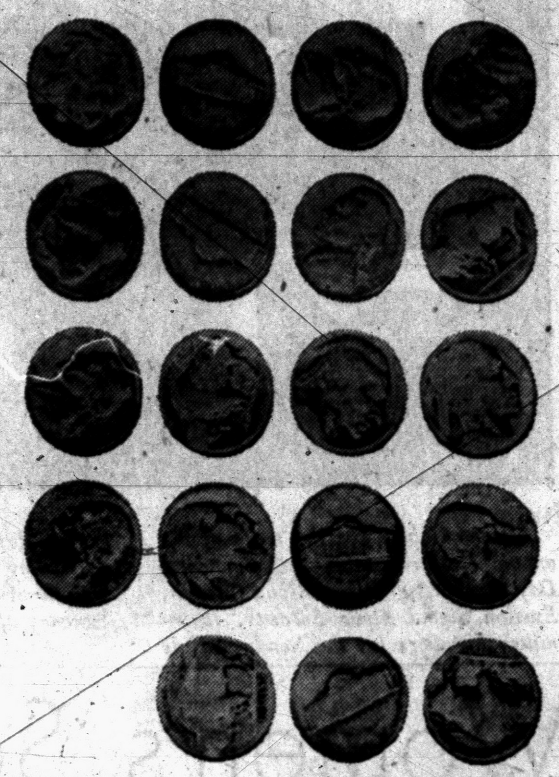

This is why Super Shell contains TCP additive—to neutralize these harmful deposits—to keep a car delivering its full power, mile after mile.

Look for the new white pump at your Shell Dealer's. That's the Super Shell pump—containing the most powerful gasoline any car can use.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Save your nickels

—to save your dollars!

Everyone's talking about living costs going up and up. Here's something you can do about them.

One of the main causes of rising prices is overspending. If each of us will save only an extra nickel out of every dollar we earn, we will put a strong brake on inflation.

For this will produce billions of dollars in savings—money which is urgently needed to finance more factories, homes and schools.

And, of course, you get a personal bonus from your extra savings—the feeling of independence and security that a growing nest egg brings . . . the feeling that your house is in order.

As a second step to fight inflation, all of us should support every reasonable move to reduce government spending—federal, state and local.

Sure, all this means a sacrifice. But isn't it worth it, if this means continuing our prosperity—and keeping it sound?

Talks Given on World's Womenfolk

Wives of Diplomats Conduct 'Journey' Around Globe

WASHINGTON—In Thailand it's not who "wears the pants" in the husband-wife relationship, but who is the "front legs of the elephant."

★ ★ ★

In England, the average woman does NOT have the club habit. Because the population is so packed together on the island, everyone goes to "great pains to preserve a rugged individualism."

Dutch women prefer home life over all outside activities. When they do venture forth from the hearthside, their interests are more social than political.

In Sweden, 23 per cent of the women are employed. There is a woman ambassador. In the last 10 years there have been three women cabinet members. Of the 300 members of the Swedish Parliament, 39 are women.

★ ★ ★

These and other revealing facts were gleaned in a "trip around the world in 45 minutes" during which a group of congressional wives was taken into "the hearts and homes of women who face much the same problems as they do."

EMBASSY WIVES

The revealing journey came in brief talks given by three Embassy Row wives, and one woman diplomat.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. John Coulson, wife of the minister of Great Britain, said Americans and Englishmen don't speak the same language — at least not exactly.

"For instance, an Englishman if approached by an American who tells him 'I've got a flat,' thinks the American's real estate problem has been solved." To the British, Mrs. Coulson explained, an apartment is a flat."

Mrs. Margareta Soderblom, assistant counselor of the Swedish Embassy, says once diplomats think they've mastered a language, they want to use all the "fancy words" and they get into trouble. "Like I did," she said, "when I told the shopkeeper I thought his prices were exuberant."

'THE HIND LEGS'

Mrs. M. L. Sun Snidvongs, wife of the first secretary of the Thailand embassy, says women are content to be the "hind legs of the elephant."

★ ★ ★

"That's because we know we guide the front legs," she said.

Mrs. C. Th.R. van Baarda, wife of The Netherlands first secretary, says she rarely gets homesick.

She is delighted with her husband's job, "which takes us to so many interesting places."

Beta Mu Chapter Holds Banquet, Installs Officers

Officers installed along with Pat Tatham, president, were Miss Crigler, vice president; Miss Brown, recording secretary; Miss Nelson, corresponding secretary and Karen Newton, treasurer.

Appointed to serve as committee chairmen are Virginia Flath, ways and means; Judy Steinhelper, publicity; Mary Kendall, social and Gloria Rose, contact chairman.

Final Meeting Held by Madison PTSA

The final meeting of the year was held by Madison Junior High PTSA in the little theater of the school recently.

They Make Woman Seem Older Than She Is

Some Mannerisms Signify Aging

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Every once in a while I call your attention to the fact that women are apt to fall into mannerisms associated with age. Naturally this makes a woman seem much older than she is.

★ ★ ★

Some of these characteristics come from stiffening joints, from poor coordination, from lack of exercise, from overweight, from poorer sight than in youth, from fallen arches, poor posture and such defects.

However, we all are unconscious mimics and I believe firmly that many of the mannerisms of age are unnecessary and only psychological. Women adopt them without realizing it. They see most of the women in their age group indulging in them. If you think of yourself as older you are certain to fall into this error.

One of the humorous signs of a certain age is in evidence when we watch a bunch of women fanning themselves. I have known many of my sex who observed these hot flash gestures and who would rather smother than fan. Now, since hormone therapy is available, we see less of this.

★ ★ ★

Here are some of the characteristics you may have picked up unknowingly:

1. Too many meaningless gestures while talking.

Mannerisms often are associated with age. Josephine Lowman lists some of these which come simply from "thinking old."

2. Extreme grimaces—signs of futility and frustration.

3. Chin pushed forward rather than head lifted and alert.

4. When looking up, you may lean back. The young woman only lifts her head. This of course is sometimes due to eyeglasses or arthritis.

5. Allowing the corners of the mouth to go down when talking.

6. Eyebrow raising.

7. Tapping the fingers together when you talk.

★ ★ ★

I also have noticed that middle-aged and older women often have their feet separated when sitting. This may be due to overweight or fatigue. Nothing is less graceful.

Many of these mannerisms come simply from thinking "old. They are apologetic and defeated. Even if you do not feel that way, you may have fallen into this rut because many of those you see do so.

If you would like to check yourself against my whole list, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 67 "Mannerisms' of Age." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Relatives Keep Using Old Name

Woman Asks How to Handle Situation Tactfully

By EMILY POST

A young woman writes me as follows: "I have always disliked my first name intensely. It is rather long and unusual and so I decided to drop it completely and use my middle name as my first name.

"However, my relatives insist upon calling me by my original name and it really irritates me. My parents think I am being unreasonable in expecting them to call me a name other than the one they have been used to calling me all my life.

"Am I wrong in expecting them to call me by the name I now use, and if not, how can I tactfully handle this situation?"

Answer: I think they are being very inconsiderate and they should certainly call you by the name you like. If they do not, you could say, "Please don't call me by that name, I dislike it intensely," and then tell them the name you like.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I and four other couples went to dinner at a very nice restaurant recently. The total bill came to 71 dollars.

"The person who took care of the bill gave the waiter who served us an 11-dollar tip and 4 dollars to the captain. The waiter was obviously not very pleased with the amount he received. Will you please tell us if this tip was sufficient?"

Answer: The amount you gave was quite sufficient and the waiter had no cause to be displeased. If the captain took pains to give you good service, a four-dollar tip to him was sufficient. On the other hand, if he did nothing for you, no tip was necessary.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married the end of May and would like the men in the wedding party to wear white dinner jackets. I have been told that it is much too early for them. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: The very end of May should not be too early for white dinner jackets.

Nancy Kay Johnston Wed

The Seventh Day Adventist Church in Jackson was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Nancy Kay Johnston and Harold V. Racine. The ceremony was read by the Elder A. K. Phillips in the presence of 250 guests.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Johnston of East Prospect street. Mr. and Mrs. William G. Racine of Euclid avenue are Harold's parents.

Nancy wore a worn of embroidered nylon tulle, with fitted bodice accented by a Sabrina neckline. Her veil of French illusion was held by a crown headpiece of pearls and sequins and she carried white roses in a cascade arrangement.

Jerilou Johnston, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Helen Racine, Georda Mason, Nancy McKenzie and Louis Bellore. Their gowns were fashioned identicially in five different shades of blue.

Edwin Racine served his brother as best man. Ushers included Alvin Rollins, Robert Kearney, Erich Bekowies, and Vernon Butler.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Seventh Day Adventist Youth Academy.

Mrs. Johnston greeted her guests at the reception wearing a beige sheath dress. Her corsage was of deep purple violets. Mrs. Racine chose a navy dress with a corsage of white and pink roses for her son's wedding.

★ ★ ★

For traveling through the East, the bride changed to a gray sheath dress with black patent accessories and a corsage of yellow roses, the newlyweds will reside on East Kennett road.

Beauty Hint

Ideas of beauty differ in various countries. The long claw has never been considered beautiful in our country. To be really pretty, your fingernails should be tapered gently, kept to a moderate length.

This Chili Has Unusual Seasonings

Watkins Lake Cook Uses Tomato Soup and Parsley Flakes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Chili is always a good one-dish meal. It is an ideal thing to serve when you entertain a bunch of young people; they can eat unlimited amounts of it. Mrs. George Hopps' receipe calls for tomato soup.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hopps lives at Watkins Lake. For the past two years she has devoted hours of her time to planning the decoration of her new home. For the garage she designed unusual paneled doors with cut-outs of maple leaves on alternate panels. There is one boy in the Hopps' household.

CHILI

By Mrs. George Hopps

1 pound ground round steak
1 can kidney beans
1 can tomato soup
2 green peppers, chopped
2 medium onions, chopped
Salt and pepper
Chili powder (to taste)
Parsley flakes
Paprika
Dash of Worchestershire sauce
Vegetable flakes (optional)

Cook meat, onions and green pepper. Add soup and one soup can full of water. Add beans and half the can full of water. Add rest of ingredients as desired.

★ ★ ★

Simmer at least one hour. Serves four. A tossed salad with roquefort dressing, plus onion sticks or hot rolls are good to serve with chili.

Great-Grandma Takes Up Typing

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Just because a proverb has been around for several thousand years it isn't necessarily true. This seems especially true of the saying—"You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

Every day of my life I hear from people who have learned new tricks when they were in their 50s, 60s, 70s and 80s. Perhaps this happens because age has so little to do with whether or not you're old.

For example, there's the case of Mrs. M. J. Bennett of Blairstown, N.J.

Some time back, I wrote a piece about typing as a valuable thing to know. I also said that almost anybody who wants to learn it can do so.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bennett wrote me:

"Your article on typing prompted this letter.

"I'm only a beginner, 75½ years young, and the great-grandmother of 12.

TRY YOUR LUCK

"A short time ago, my daughter, who is a grandmother, was given a typewriter. She was not interested in it so she passed it on to me, saying 'You like to correspond so much, try your luck on this gadget.'

★ ★ ★

"I write from six to seven letters a week to my oldtime pals. They, in turn, get a good laugh from my letters, which is fine for all concerned.

"I must say typing is fascinating. I spend many hours just picking at these keys.

"I'm sure there are many who would overcome a lot of their troubles if they'd just give the typewriter a trial. They, too, would find it a useful way to pass the lonely hours."

★ ★ ★

Next time you find yourself thinking, I'm too old to do this or that, remember Mrs. Bennett.

MAKING EXCUSES

And the next time you find yourself wishing you could type, but making excuses, remember her, also.

★ ★ ★

Typing is not only a good deal of fun, and a wonderful convenience, it can also lead to a really good job.

More than that, not to be able to type in this day and age makes you seem old-hat.

If you're ready to learn this important skill, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet, How to Learn Typing at Home.

MRS. GLEN M. DICK

Married Saturday evening at Kirk-in-the-Hills were Helen M. Schmidt and Glen M. Dick. Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Schmidt of Birmingham and Glen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David M. Dick of Walled Lake.

Helen M. Schmidt Wed at Kirk-in-the-Hills

Dr. Harold C. DeWindt of Kirk-in-the-Hills officiated at the Saturday wedding of Helen M. Schmidt and Glen M. Dick. Two hundred guests attended the six o'clock service.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Schmidt of Birmingham are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. David M. Dick of Walled Lake are Glen's parents.

For the ceremony, the bride chose a gown of silk and Chantilly lace with a wide-shouldered neckline scalloped with lace. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with a lace insert.

Her headpiece of lace and pearls secured a fingertip-length veil of silk French illusion. She carried a nosegay of white feathered carnations and roses.

★ ★ ★

Bridal attendants, Mrs. Richard E. Hoehner, Joanne M. Schmidt of Birmingham, Mrs. Robert Wallace, and Mary Ann Perkins of Cleveland wore gowns of white dotted sheer over aqua. Their gowns featured a flowing back panel of solid aqua and were fashioned with Sabina necklines.

They carried nosegays of pink feathered carnations and roses.

Richard Hoehner served as best man. Glen's other attendants were Bert Bryant of Walled Lake, Lee Percy of Union Lake and Fred Perkins Jr. of Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

For the reception held at the home of the bride, her mother wore a beige lace dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Dick chose a navy blue gown with pink accessories.

The bridegroom is attending Wayne State University Graduate School and she formerly attended Ohio State University.

For traveling to Washington, D. C. the bride changed to a gray linen sheath with red and white accessories.

Topping for slim, black, at home slacks this spring comes in form of the vivid print shirt with cummerbund.

Wear comfortable shoes when walking, and stop walking before you become tired. Driving yourself to the point of exhaustion defeats the purpose of striding in fresh air.

Wife Just Can't Keep Up Unless She's Appreciated

Husband Has Obligation to Give Her Encouragement and Guidance

By RUTH MILLETT

Wives are always being told that if they want their marriages to last and to be happy they must "keep up with their husbands" and stay as attractive as possible.

★ ★ ★

There is nothing wrong with that advice. Only someone ought to tell husbands to offer their wives some incentive and encouragement along the way.

If a man refuses to talk shop to his wife and let her know the important things about his work, how can he expect her to keep interest in his career?

If a husband doesn't bother to try to sell his wife on whatever leisure-time activities he most enjoys, how can he blame her for not being more companionable?

★ ★ ★

If a husband doesn't show his wife that he is proud to introduce her to his friends and that he has complete confidence in her as a hostess, he shouldn't be surprised if she fails to grow in graciousness and charm and self-confidence.

MUST NOTICE HER

If a huband never seems to notice when his wife looks pretty or has on a new dress or has her hair done in a different way, how is she expected to know that her looks are important to him?

★ ★ ★

And if a man grumbles every time a woman spends money on clothes, he ought not to be shocked if she begins to look dowdy.

A wife can't keep in step with her husband through the years unless he is willing to pick her up when she stumbles, encourage her when the going is rough, and pause now and then to pay her a compliment.

When more husbands understand their obligation to help their wives, there will be fewer wives who quit trying somewhere along the way.

Oakland county enlistees from this area were Eli Dennis Cooper and Leonard A. Sage, both of Walled Lake; Richard P. Green of Milford, David D. Kage of Troy, Dennis P. Green of Wixom, Lloyd W. Boreland Jr. of Lake Orion and James E. Barrick, a Birmingham man.

The report also lists one woman, Patricia K. Haynes, 226 Ora Rd., Oxford, who enlisted in the Navy WAVES.

Boy Falling in River Triggers Tragedy

MARYSVILLE, Kan. (AP)—A boy fell into the Blue River yesterday, triggering a swift tragedy that took the lives of a father and three of his seven sons.

The victims were Clarence Koch, 35, a power company line foreman, and his sons, Alan, 8; Darrell, 7, and Bryan, 6.

Koch, Alan and a friend, Jack Ryan, were setting a trotline from a boat when one of the boys on the bank fell into the river and the other leaped in to help him.

Koch dived in to rescue his sons, upsetting the boat as he jumped. The father became entangled in the trotline and sank with his three sons clinging to him. Ryan was the only survivor.

Six Propositions on May 20 City Ballot

By GEORGE T. TRUMBLE JR.

Six separate propositions will make up the ballot for the May 20 special election in Pontiac.

Primarily, the balloting will be on a $4,550,000 general obligation bond issue to pay for the completion and equipping Pontiac General Hospital, and for enlarging the city's sewage treatment plant system.

(The Press is publishing today the six propositions as they will appear on the voting machines.)

The first three propositions, City Charter amendments, will be voted on by all qualified electors. Propositions 4, 5, and 6, dealing with the issuance of bonds, will be voted on by property owners and their spouses only.

★ ★ ★

This restriction is set forth in the Michigan Constitution. It says that any question involving "the direct expenditure of public money or the issue of bonds" can be voted on by only those residents assessed for property.

City Clerk Ada A. Evans said the voters must sign a form at their precinct certifying whether they fall into this category.

The three questions on the bonds will be "locked out" by the precinct workers thus preventing non-property owners from voting on these issues, she said.

Of the first three propositions, No. 1 probably most concerns voters. Essentially, it will add another dollar to the tax structure for the hospital and treatment plant costs.

To this dollar will be added another half mill (50 cents) per thousand of assessed valuation. The total $1.50 will be the amount added to city taxes per $1,000 of valuation. The half mill is from an unlevied portion of the 1954 hospital bond vote.

The dollar to be voted on will be broken down into 35 cents to pay interest and principal on the hospital bonds, and 65 cents to cover treatment plant bond payments.

City Manager Walter K. Willman emphasized that both this millage and the bond vote must pass for either to become effective.

(The reverse of this occurred in 1954 when the millage passed, but the bonds didn't. A second vote in November carried the necessary bond vote.)

A majority of those voting is necessary for the first three propositions to pass May 20. Sixty per cent majority of property owners voting the bond issues is necessary for approval.

Mrs. Evans pointed out that all six propositions will be considered separately to determine passage or disapproval.

Propositions 2 and 3 may be termed the least important of the six as they pertain to voters. Willman said both amendments bring the City Charter in line with state law relative to the issuance of bonds.

★ ★ ★

What Voters Face

PROPOSITION NO. 1

Shall Section 13 of Chapter IX of the Charter of the City of Pontiac, Michigan be amended so as to include provisions (1) for the levy of $1.35 (now $1.00) per $1,000 of assessed valuation to pay principal and interest on bonds heretofore or hereafter issued for hospital construction, equipment, site and parking lot, and (2) for the levy of 65 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation to improve, enlarge and extend the city's sewage disposal system or to pay principal and interest on bonds therefor?

PROPOSITION NO. 2

Shall Section 3 of Chapter X of the Charter of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, be amended to provide that the City Commission may by resolution instead of ordinance submit bond propositions to the electors and to eliminate the necessity of specifying therein how and when the bonds shall be due and payable and the rate of interest thereon?

PROPOSITION NO. 3

Shall Section 4 of Chapter X of the Charter of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, be amended so as to provide the bonds shall be payable within the times prescribed by state law in lieu of the present requirement that they be payable in equal annual installments not exceeding thirty in number, the first installment to become due not later than two years after date thereof?

PROPOSITION NO. 4

Shall the City of Pontiac, Michigan borrow the sum of $1,500,000 and issue its full faith and credit bonds therefor, for the purpose of completing the construction and equipment of the City Hospital?

PROPOSITION NO. 5

Shall the City of Pontiac, Michigan borrow the sum of $350,000 and issue its full faith and credit bonds therefor, for the purpose of acquiring a parking lot for the City Hospital?

PROPOSITION NO. 6

Shall the City of Pontiac, Michigan borrow the sum of $2,700,000 and issue its full faith and credit bonds therefor, for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of improving, enlarging and extending the city's sewage disposal system?

"Both were recommendations of our bond attorney Claude Stevens," he said.

Proposition 2, if approved, will allow the City Commission to submit bond proposals by resolution instead of by ordinance, as now required by the Charter. In the past, general obligation bond ordinances had to list when the bonds were due.

★ ★ ★

The second so-called routine proposal—Proposition 3—will permit the city some leeway in the bond payments. "It will space principal payments and save us from having to pay the usual large interest rate at the beginning of the bond period," the city manager explained.

"And it will save the city money in interest payments," he added.

The "meat" of the vote consists of Propositions 4, 5, and 6. If approved, they will permit the city to issue $4,550,000 in bonds to finance the hospital and plant projects.

No. 4 will approve $1,500,000 for finishing the city hospital. It is necessary, a Volunteer Hospital Committee points out, because the 1954 three million dollar bond issue has proved insufficient because design complications and "the spiral of rising costs."

Proposition No. 5 will finance construction of a 300-unit parking lot near the hospital. It is required by Pontiac's zoning ordinance. The lot will be used by visitors, staff, and employes.

The last proposition will provide $2,700,000 to partially finance a new sewage treatment plant at Opdyke road and Auburn avenue. The money will also be directed toward enlarging the present East boulevard plant and tieing in both.

The balance of the $3,091,000 plant project will be financed through the issuance of revenue bonds, which does not require a public vote unless referendum action is taken.

Israel Parades Military Power

Young State Celebrates 9th Independence Day With Armed Spectacle

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel celebrated her ninth independence day today with the biggest display of military strength in her short history.

All branches of the armed forces paraded five miles through Tel Aviv. The feature exhibit was booty captured from the Egyptians in last fall's Sinai war, including Soviet T34 tanks and American Shermans.

Half a million Israelis, close to a third of the nation's population, converged on Tel Aviv to watch the two-hour spectacle.

★ ★ ★

The captured equipment also included Czech 57mm. antitank guns and Soviet SU1000 self-propelled guns.

Detachments of girls in Israel's army, air force and tiny navy also paraded, but the biggest applause was for the paratroopers, many of whom jumped in the initial stage of the Sinai invasion.

★ ★ ★

Low-flying French Mystere jet fighters buzzed overhead as the air force also put on a show. The entire foreign diplomatic corps was in the reviewing stand.

Israel honored her soldier dead yesterday with flags at half staff, and air raid sirens signaling two minutes of silence.

In a special broadcast, Prime Minister David Ben - Gurion, warned that, despite the military defeat of Egypt last fall, there was no certainty over the fate of the Gaza Strip or freedom of Israeli navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba.

★ ★ ★

Ben-Gurion said that in the next few years at least half a million Jews must be transferred to the Negeb Desert—including new immigrants. He appealed for help from abroad in settling the 100,000 immigrants he estimated would come here this year.

Four ships arrived in Haifa yesterday with 2,600 immigrants, including 450 from Egypt. It was the largest number in a single day in the last six years.

★ ★ ★

Border incidents continued. Israeli authorities charged that Syrian fire wounded three Israeli fishermen on the Sea of Galilee Saturday. It was the 14th shooting incident reported on the Syrian-Israeli border since March 20.

Wealthy Builder Plus 67 Guests Enjoyed Sweden

CHICAGO (AP) — Ragnar Benson and his 67 guests on a European holiday enjoyed their trip so much that Benson says he may "do it all over again" in a couple of years.

Benson, a wealthy Chicago contractor who emigrated from Sweden in 1912, footed the bill for the round trip to Sweden—estimated at about $50,000.

★ ★ ★

Benson, who rose from a $15 a week bricklayer, said of the trip: "I'm grateful to God. It was the most wonderful trip a man could dream of. It was a lifelong ambition fulfilled and I might do it all over again in two years."

★ ★ ★

Benson, 57, was born at Almhult, Sweden, and arrived in the United States as a boy of 12. He invited members of his family, relatives and other friends to accompany him on the visit to his homeland.

★ ★ ★

The group left Chicago April 14. Many toured other European countries after sightseeing and renewing friendships in Sweden.

Large Civil Defense Evacuation Ends

DEPOSIT, N. Y. (AP) — Fifteen hundred persons from Binghamton, 28 miles away, moved into this rural village yesterday in the largest civil defense evacuation ever attempted in the nation.

Local homes and schools were opened to the visitors, who fled their homes because of a mock H-bomb attack.

★ ★ ★

In effect, the affair turned into a pleasant Sunday picnic.

Civil defense leaders came here from across the country to see whether such a test would work. They left praising the "remarkable cooperation."

★ ★ ★

A top federal civil defense official said he was "satisfied" that many of the operations worked out in the exercise could be adapted to the U. S. program for survival against an H-bomb attack.

★ ★ ★

The exercise, labeled "Evac 12," had been planned by the New York Civil Defense Commission for more than a year.

Ex-President to Mark 73rd Birthday

Truman Leaves Capital Abuzz After Crack at Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Truman, in high good humor after three days in the capital, headed homeward today to Independence, Mo., and a 73rd birthday celebration.

The former President left by train last night after a series of Democratic strategy huddles and a couple of rip-roaring attacks on President Eisenhower and the Republican party.

★ ★ ★

Truman told newsmen yesterday that an off-the-cuff criticism of Eisenhower during an early-morning walk Saturday had drawn some return fire at home.

★ ★ ★

On Saturday, he remarked to newsmen that "you guys would have fried and boiled me in oil if I'd spent that much time away from the White House."

★ ★ ★

Sunday morning, he reported that "the boss"—Mrs. Truman—"gave me hell" for this observation.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty also suggested "the record" should be studied to see who spent the most time away from the White House—Truman or Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

Records show that Eisenhower spent an average of 112 days a year on trips and vacations—not counting the 81-day convalescence from his 1955 heart attack—compared with Truman's 86-day average of absences.

★ ★ ★

Truman, who will be 73 Wednesday, said he guessed he'd spend his birthday working, "like I always do."

★ ★ ★

"I suppose I'll have lunch with some Republicans in Kansas City," he added with a chuckle. "You know Kansas City is a suburb of my town."

Dems to Attack Fiscal Policies in '58 Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders agreed today the Eisenhower administration's "tight money" policies will be a principal target for their effort to retain control of Congress next year.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Smathers of Florida, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said three days of party meetings indicate principal issues in 1958 will be "tight money, government economy and tax reductions."

★ ★ ★

In separate interviews, seven Democratic governors generally agreed the party can win both the 1958 congressional elections and the 1960 presidential race if they can convince the voters that higher interest rates are damaging the farmers, home buyers, small business men and consumers.

Adlai E. Stevenson, 1956 presidential nominee, said he also expects the money situation to be a potent issue. But he said he believes the Democrats will win on Republican handling of foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

He accused Republicans of placing "domestic matters above all others in their consideration of world problems." And in a television interview, he said the administration has misled the American people and lost some respect and confidence abroad.

South American Fighting Halts

Nicaragua, Honduras Agree to Cease-Fire Along Borders

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Nicaragua and Honduras have agreed to halt their border skirmishing. President Luis Somoza signed the cease fire last night. It became effective upon word that the three-man junta governing Honduras also had been signed.

A peace mission of the Organization of American States negotiated the agreement. It was flying to Tegucigalpa today for a formal signing ceremony there.

★ ★ ★

Ricardo Arias of Panama, chairman of the five-nation OSA committee, signed with President Somoza. The agreement calls on Nicaragua and Honduras to "refrain from any activity including troop advances susceptible of aggravating the situation."

The OAS committee was given four days to present a plan for withdrawal of troops from the disputed frontier and creation of a buffer zone.

★ ★ ★

The cease-fire halts the fighting between rival border patrols that has been going on the past five days in a large tract of jungle called the Mosquito Coast, which both Nicaragua and Honduras have claimed since the 19th century. Although the area is undeveloped and inhabited mostly by the Mosquito tribe of Indians, there have been reports in the past year that oil deposits had been found there.

The ground fighting never involved more than 300 soldiers of both sides. Up to 50 have been claimed killed.

Over the weekend both countries claimed that the other's air force had bombed and strafed Indian villages in the disputed territory.

★ ★ ★

Somoza, 36-year-old successor to his assassinated father, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, showed the OAS peace mission rifles, grenades and helmets he said were captured from Honduran troops at Mocoron, where the conflict began.

Marilyn Monroe Expects Child?

Call Pregnancy Reason for Turning Down Role in 'Brothers Karamazov'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe today was reported to have turned down—because of pregnancy—the role she's always wanted most to do.

For months the blonde glamour queen has been rumored expecting a baby. Both she and her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, have denied it.

★ ★ ★

But a top-most source at MGM, the studio which is making "The Brothers Karamazov," said:

"We recently approached Marilyn for the role of Grushenka and were turned down because of two reasons—she said she is expecting a baby, and also she wants to be near her husband for his upcoming trial."

Marilyn's husband is free on $1,000 bail pending trial on contempt of Congress charges based on his refusal to answer questions at a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing last June.

Marilyn long has been quoted as saying the Grushenka role is her histrinic ambition.

★ ★ ★

The source said that when the studio couldn't get Marilyn it went after Carroll Baker, star of Warner Bros., which has her under contract, couldn't come to terms with Metro for a loanout, the spokesman said.

The picture is due to go into production shortly so the studio signed Maria Schell, the German actress. She is due in from Munich this week to start the film.

★ ★ ★

The rumors of Marilyn's pregnancy first started when she was in England costarring in a film with Sir Laurence Olivier. She and Miller are now in New York.

Fat Boys Eying Plan for Operation 'Diet'

Six men who carry a lot of weight in the community have formed a club to do something about—a Fat Man's Club.

Fed up with causing scales to flash "tilt" and tape measures to slither away and hide, the heavyweights have launched operation "Reduce" and are counting on each member to lend the others moral support in the lean days ahead.

The idea of the fat men's club sprang from the expansive brow of a Pontiac resident, George Molnar of 342 Wittemore Ave., who tips the beam at 240 pounds.

Molnar came out of the Army 12 years ago a trim 185 pounder with a whetted appetite for civilian cooking.

"I have been on and off diets ever since," he said, "but I just can't follow through. I blame it all on my wife's wonderful cooking."

★ ★ ★

"Finally," he continued, "I got my great idea. There are clubs of all sorts for every purpose, why not a fat man's club to encourage reducing."

The thought gave way to prompt action and Molnar wrote a letter to the Voice of the People column in The Pontiac Press calling for fellow stylish stouts to join up.

On April 12, the club was launched at a meeting in the Union Hall, Pike and Tasmania Sts., with six charter members.

In addition to Molnar, there are Harold Hubbell of 2777 Mann Rd., Waterford Township at 243 pounds; James Clark, Roosevelt Hotel, 208; Joe Novak, 1133 Holbrook, Waterford Township, 238; Stanley Sherman, 1150 Jay St., 191, and Joe Giannotta of Roseville, 200.

The beef trust is now in action. They have a heavy duty scale and a diet and each member is seeing his doctor to make sure all is going well as the pounds start to melt.

★ ★ ★

"The tall ones are aiming to break 200, and the short ones have set their sights even lower," Molnar said.

"Anyone who wants to shed some blubber is welcome to come to our Friday night meeting at the hall."

"All we need is a little cooperation from the wives and you'll see some real disappearing acts."

Plutonium Discoverer Dies of Cancer at 40

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Joseph W. Kennedy, one of the discoverers of plutonium—an atomic bomb ingredient—died yesterday of cancer.

Dr. Kennedy was head of the chemistry department at Washington University in St. Louis. He was 40 and had been ill since last fall.

He and three associates did experimental work at the University of California in 1940 and 1941 which led to the discovery of plutonium. In 1955, the Atomic Energy Commission awarded them $400,000 for their plutonium separation process.

Dr. Kennedy later was director of the Chemistry Division of the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos, N. M.

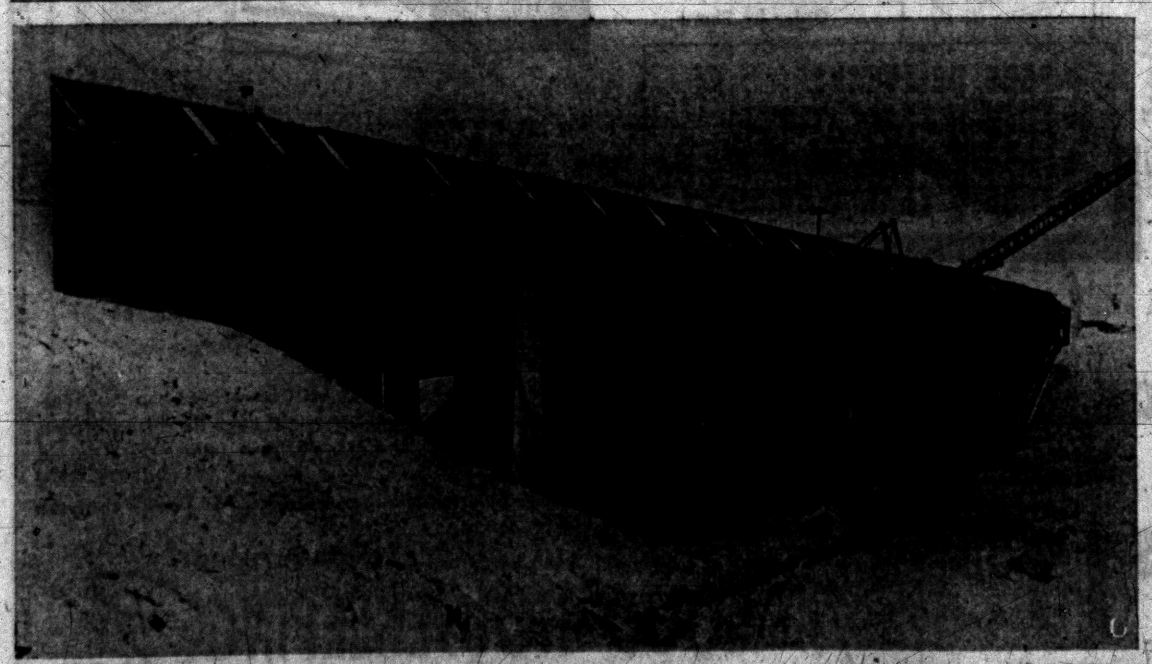

He was a native of Nacogdoches, Tex.

Ku Klux Klan Operating in Northern States

NEW YORK (AP)—The leader of the Ku Klux Klan says the hooded group has a chapter in New York City and needs a grand dragon to head it.

Edwards appeared on The Mike Wallace Interview over the ABC-TV network. He wore traditional KKK regalia except for the mask.

CONSTRUCTION PROCEEDS — This latest view of the Orchard Lake-Telegraph road underpass shows the completed steel bridge over which Orchard Lake traffic will pass. The concrete roadway has been laid, and workers now are completing sidewalks and a median strip separating east and west traffic. The addition of steel railings will complete the bridge, a state highway department spokesman said. Then construction crews will tackle the job of grading and paving Telegraph road approaches to pass under the bridge.

Waterford Eyes Blacktop Project

Crescent Lake Road Paving to Be Topic at Township Meeting

The possibility of blacktopping the remaining strip of Crescent Lake road by the township will be discussed at the regular Waterford Township Board meeting tonight according to Elmer Johnson, supervisor.

Last fall, the three-quarter-mile strip of road was covered with a thin coat of tar to retain the surface until such time that the township could blacktop, according to former township board officials.

Since that time men and equipment have worked almost continuously repairing holes with tar and gravel due to heavy traffic and bus transportation of the Monteith School.

The controversial Sylvan Shores sewer system will also be discussed by board members. Contractor Joseph Mancinelli halted work last winter due to freezing conditions and has promised property owners that work will be resumed May 31.

★ ★ ★

People in the Lake Oakland subdivision are complaining to township officials that the 12 inch pump in their area has again broken down, the pressure is low and many people are without water today.

A six inch well pump is still in operation however, this does not adequately supply the 44 homes in the subdivision, according to James Seeterlin, township, clerk.

The Lennox Construction Company, who installed the wells in February, have guaranteed a one year service before the township takes over the water supply operation, Seeterlin said.

Your Cab Driver May Be Royal Runaway

America Humbles Refugee Nobility

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Possibly the most disappointed and humbled people in America are its immigrant royal runaways. Counts, princes, duchesses, marquises — especially those who ducked out of Iron-Curtained castles — don't do any better here than the local cab drivers.

★ ★ ★

In fact, a lot of them are local cab drivers. If you get in a New York hack and the chauffeur maintains dignified silence from Radio City to the U. N. Building, you well may be riding with a guy who could have been living it up, if they hadn't hacked down the old order, in his home town.

Unless he has friends among the Rockefellers, Vanderbilts or Joneses, an immigrant nobleman is likely to find America a land that is singularly unimpressed with his heritage.

So it is with Ladislao de Torok, a baron with a countess for a wife.

★ ★ ★

You walk into his den of liquidity and find the baron tending to his lemon peel, in a distinguished mustache and a soignee red pique jacket. He eyes you respectfully and, if you are a lady he has met before, he reaches across mahogany where on soon will rest an aperitif, and takes your hand. Then he kisses it.

ENDEARING GREETING

"Good evening, madame," he says, "your pleasure?"

To New Yorkers, more accustomed to phrases like, "Hi there, what'll you have?" from their friendly neighborhood drink mixer, this is endearing to the ladies and a source of vaguely troubling fascination to the males. The 42-year-old baron is just as vaguely troubled and fascinated by his clientele as they are with him. He sums it up:

"I lie if I say I enjoy being a bartender. . . I was too long a lawyer and money-owner in Hungary to like being in a uniform like this." The handsome gent thumbs his red lapels, then puts his hands round his throat. "But I like Americans. They don't hang you up."

The threat of being "hanged up" was what made De Torok escape into Austria in 1948. It was a good, realistic fear. During the war he had been a captain in Hungary's cavalry division, fighting with the Germans against the Russians.

After the war, when the Communists began to filter into his country he was a power in the underground, helping to spirit away members of the clergy into Austria and Italy.

In private life—overground—he was a successful attorney, but always under surveillance by the Reds, who never appeared to trust such intelligentsia, with doctorates in law, politics and economics. His father was a senator, his wife wealthy and titled, and they lived in a plush palace.

THAT 'NONSENSE'

The Communists don't approve that sort of "nonsense."

When the Vatican awarded him a citation (Grande Ufficiale al Merito) for his underground activities, the baron knew 'twas time to take leave. With his wife and daughter, now 18, he escaped and finally got to America.

★ ★ ★

"First I went to Los Angeles and worked in a furniture factory two years," he says, "because they say I can't be a lawyer till I am a citizen. Then somebody suggests I go to bartender school because there is plenty of money in it. So I do and learn about 200 drinks, and now I'm here."

"Here" is one of those chic French restaurants on the East Side where the customer's kissable hand is well-manicured — and where tipping is liberal.

The baron is now a citizen of the United States, but he realizes that in order to practice law he would have to study for a year and perfect his English, his legal procedure and his contacts.

At his age he is not certain he can afford it. So temporarily, at least, he must be content with this other kind of "bar association."

Meantime, he concedes that although "America is the greatest country in the world," he would quite naturally return to Hungary if it were to become free again. It's not pure homesickness. It's a man's need for personal pride.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know," he explains, "how to say it. But it is hard to remain proud when five men are saying to you—'Give me a shot of . . .'"

Savage Note From Reds Embitters West Germany

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Soviet Russia's savage note to West Germany may mark the end of any constructive German effort to negotiate with Moscow.

★ ★ ★

Anger and astonishment swept the Bonn federal republic offices because of the note which said that conversion of West Germany into a NATO atomic base would expose the nation to the danger of becoming "one big cemetery."

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was especially incensed because days before Moscow fired the note at him he went out of his way to see the Soviet ambassador, Andrei Smirnov, to explain to him that there was no question of an early decision on equipping the country's armed forces with nuclear weapons.

Adenauer also told Smirnov that he favored general nuclear disarmament and would do all possible to bring about such disarmament.

★ ★ ★

Yet Moscow ignored all that in the note obviously aimed to frighten the government, all the German people and to make Adnauer's job harder in trying to win next September's elections.

SOVIET HYPOCRISY

The Bonn regime is embittered because of the hypocrisy it sees in this latest Soviet action.

★ ★ ★

Moscow's note contained the unwarranted assumption that the federal republic already is an atomic power. But the Soviet army in East Germany of 22 divisions already has been equipped with nuclear weapons.

With the full collaboration of the puppet East German regime it also has established nuclear rocket-firing sites at Peenemuende and other points.

West Germany has other charges against Moscow. One is Russia's refusal to return the German nuclear scientists who are forced to labor on Soviet projects along the Black Sea, and the 100,000 men forced to work in the uranium ore mines in the Erz Gebirge Mountains between the East German state of Saxony and Bohemia in Czechoslovakia.

★ ★ ★

This spot is estimated to provide the Soviet Union with at least one-third of the present Russian uranium deposits. And the ore clearly is not being used for peaceful purposes despite Soviet posing as the world peace champion.

BITTER REACTIONS

The Soviet note produced bitter anti-Adenauer repercussions among the chancellor's political opponents But Adenauer is a shrewd man and may be able to turn Moscow's blast into a personal victory.

★ ★ ★

The NATO conference late this week may endorse his policy, raising his domistic prestige. And he may be able to capitalize on the feeling of Germans offended by the harsh Soviet note.

Student Driver Smashes Car in Auto Exhibit

WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—Miss Joan E. Ahlstedt, 18, of Cranston got into a convertible at the Mayfair Motors showroom to move it.

Police said Miss Ahlstedt, who got her learner's permit to drive 11 days ago, apparently stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake.

Result: The car crashed through four plate glass windows and struck a 1957 model car.

She was not injured.

Sells Polish City Hall

WARSAW (AP) — Remember the character who sold the Brooklyn Bridge? Stanislaw Witcczakow faces trial this month on a charge of selling the City Hall at Wroclaw to more than 20 customers.

Police said Witcczakow's sales pitch was that the City Hall was to be demolished and he had a concession for resale of the bricks. Bricks are scarce in Poland. People want them for do-it-yourself housebuilding. Just how much the 20 forked over was not disclosed.

Scion of Outstanding Family Takes National Spotlight

(In politics and business, diplomacy and war, the Kennedy family of Boston has made a strong impression on the American scene. A whole new generation of this remarkable dynasty is coming into its own now—a generation with a colorful heritage, wealth, brains and good looks. This is the first of five articles in which a famed reporter who has interviewed members of the family introduces you to "The Amazing Kennedys.")

By BOB CONSIDINE

In Sen. John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Roman Catholic Massachusetts Democrat, one of America's best-known families may have produced the man who will bring the dreams of three active generations of politicians to full flower.

Possessed of a passion for public service, bright, handsome, decorated young (39) Jack Kennedy has become a major spokesman for his party, a trusted figure on Capitol Hill in bi-partisan work, and a man most prominently mentioned for a Democratic presidential nomination—perhaps as early as 1960.

Unlike Topsy, he didn't jes' grow. Kennedy reached his present position partly because of, and partly despite, his proud and purposeful father, and grandfathers who were—on his mother's side—mayor of Boston and a member of the House of Representatives and—on his father's—Massachusetts State Senator.

His life has been shaped additionally by the warmth of a house filled with brothers and sisters (he was one of nine), and by the chill of the deaths of an especially beloved brother and sister, his war wounds and an uncommonly early maturity.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Timing means almost everything in politics," the boyish looking senator said recently. "I was elected to the House right after the war because I was the only veteran in the race.

"If my brother Joe hadn't been killed, he would have been the Congressman, then the Senator.

JOE, THE HERO

"Joe had everything," he said, quietly. (Joe, a navy pilot, was killed in Europe in 1944). Then he half-smiled and continued, fondly but searchingly, "the delegates to the Chicago Convention last summer would have given Joe the vice presidential nomination. And today he'd be busy trying to gather up the pieces of a shattered career."

★ ★ ★

He is frank about the effects of his religion upon his political future. It will militate in his favor when he runs for reelection to the Senate next year; tend to lessen his appeal if he later seeks national office. But Kennedy is not one to subscribe to the hardy legend that Catholics are tacitly barred from high office by the influential southern wing.

Kennedy's whole life now is wrapped up in politics. Once he yearned to be a reporter. He worked for a time on the staff of the Chicago American, and covered the San Francisco and Potsdam confereinces for International News Service after a medical discharge had ended his storybook career as a PT-Boat commander. The death of his older brother ended all such dreams.

At 23, he was a successful author with a reputation on both sides of the Atlantic. His "Why England Slept," published in 1940 by Funk and Wagnalls at the recommendation of Arthur Krock, the Washington correspondent of the New York Times, was a sombre study of why Britain failed to arm properly as Hitler's power and ambitions became unbridled. Henry Luce wrote the foreword. The book sold 80,000 copies, a smash success as book sales are measured.

GAINS PRESTIGE

As chairman of the subcommittee formed to implement Hoover Commission proposals, he reported out 12 streamlining bills, and secured passage of 11 of them. As chairman of the special committee empowered to select the five outstanding U.S. Senators of the past, he gained fresh insight on factional, regional and personal jealousies inherent even in human flesh as renowned as that of colleagues in "The World's Most Exclusive Club."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy has called the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act "the most blatant piece of discrimination in the nation's history." He, who was given surprising southern support in his near-miss of the vice presidential nomination last summer, repeatedly calls upon his party to take a forthright stand in support of the Supreme Court decision ending segregation in public schools.

He recalls to the timid and the discreet that a man named Truman rolled back into the White House in 1948 on just such a stand.

Kennedy was married September 12, 1953, to Jacqueline Lee Bouvier at St. Mary's Church, Newport, R.I., with Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston officiating. Present in the sanctuary were, among other clergy-men, the Very Reverend John J. Cavanaugh, former president of Notre Dame, and Father James Keller, head of the Christophers. Pope Pius XII sent his blessing.

Jackie, as the attractive young Mrs. Kennedy is called in the family, worked for a time as a photographer with the Washington Times-Herald. She is unquestionably the only Senate wife in history to break a leg playing football.

(Next: The day they held the requiem mass for Lt. J. F. Kennedy, U.S.N., an epic of survival.)

Pretzel Value Spirals in U. S. Retail Sales

WHITE HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — The national retail value of pretzels will spiral to $90,000,000 this year, an industry spokesman estimated today.

"The drama of this," he said, "lies in the fact that pretzel sales in 1952 were only $35,000,000. You might call this the era of the pretzel. Thanks in large part to TV viewing, the munching habit in taverns, and the popularity of pretzels at picnics and in lunches taken to work."

Tigers Get Into 1st Division With 4th Straight

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitchers have yielded only 13 earned runs in the club's last 10 contests and the mound staff that not long ago brought on a major managerial headache now is buoying the club's second-place hopes.

★ ★ ★

"When you're getting the kind of pitching we are with a few base hits tossed in at the right time, there's only one way a team can go—and that's up," said manager Jack Tighe after the Tigers' 3-1 triumph over Baltimore yesterday. Coupled with Boston's doubleheader sweep over Cleveland, it lifted the Tigers into a tie for 4th place.

"It looks like a lot of our worrying was unnecessary," said the manager, "and best of all, Harvey Kuenn and a couple of the other fellows are starting to hit real well."

Riding a four - game winning streak, the Tigers are in a choice spot to move into the American League's first division this week. They'll wind up the three-game series against the Orioles today before tackling the tail-end Washington Senators in three contests.

"This could be the first big test of the season for us," said Tighe, whose club reached the .500 mark for the first time.

The manager recalls that a year ago the 1956 Tigers didn't reach the .500 mark until June 3.

"Yeh, but we slipped pretty bad and lost 10 straight," he recalled, "and it was September (the 7th, to be exact) before we struggled back up to even our wins and losses. We're not going to slip that way this year."

The reason?

"Confidence," said Tighe. "We have lots of clubhouse meetings and these boys know they can do the job—and we're just starting to do it like we know how."

★ ★ ★

The Tigers have won seven of their last 10 games, outscoring their opponents 35-19. And eight of those 10 games were against teams now in the first division.

★ ★ ★

Frank Lary became the third straight Tiger hurler to go the distance in yesterday's triumph. He spaced six hits—all singles—losing what would have been the club's third consecutive shutout in the fourth inning when the Orioles strung together singles by Al Pilarcik, Gus Triandos and George Kell for their only run.

Harvey Kuenn, who has regained his batting eye with six hits in his last 10 at-bats, led the Tiger attack with a first-inning home run (his first of the season), a fifth-inning double and a seventh-inning single.

★ ★ ★

It was Kuenn's single that started the Tigers' winning rally. Frank Bolling doubled to right, sending Kuenn to third, and Charlie Maxwell's single to right on a 3-1 pitch from Connie Johnson produced the two runs that wrapped up the decision.

Ray Moore, who whipped the Tigers five times without a loss last season, opposes rookie Don Lee today.

Dollars to Pesos!

DeVicenzo Wins Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Roberto de Vicenzo, the "play for fun" golfer who wins the big checks incidentally, went home to Mexico City today ready to convert $5,000 first money in the Colonial National Invitation Tournament into pesos.

★ ★ ★

"It weel be somethin' like 60,000 pesos," he smiled and licked his lips as he left the PGA golf tour. Other professionals rolled on to Hot Springs, Ark., for a tournament starting Thursday.

★ ★ ★

De Vicenzo won the Colonial yesterday with the highest score ever recorded—284 for 72 holes—but his devil-may-care play down the stretch as Dick Mayer of La Jolla, Calif., saw his castle of dreams felled by bogies under the pressure, was of championship caliber.

★ ★ ★

De Vicenzo had a two-under-par 68 in the third round and he closed out with a 70 on the final while Mayer, who had taken a four-stroke lead to start the last 18 holes, wilted to a 75.

The payoff came at the 17th hole where Mayer, to preserve a tie with de Vicenzo, had to blast out of a trap and get down in two. He came out of the trap but was too far from the hole to sink the putt.

Even on the 11th, Mayer still had a chance to tie. Again he was in a trap but this time he had to hole out. His blast rolled by the pin by inches, however, and he finished second with 285.

Third was Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., who had 71-72 for 286, while down in a tie for 11th place at 291 was Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., who blew a two-stroke lead he held at the halfway point with 75 and 76 on the last two rounds.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-six holes were played yesterday to bring the rain-plagued tournament to an end. One round was washed out Friday.

Beach Wins 100 as Chips Place 2nd at Beloit

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—Central Michigan was runnerup to Iowa Teachers in the 18th Beloit College Relays over the weekend. Iowa Teachers scored 87 1/3 points; Central Michigan, 68 1/6. Eighteen teams competed.

Capturing first places for Central were Willie Atkins in the broad jump, 22 feet 10 inches; Don Ellis in the high jump, 6 feet 1⅜ inches, and Walter Beach in the 100-yard dash, 10 seconds flat. Central won the 440-yard relay, was second in both the two-mile relay and low hurdles shuttle relay, and third in the 880-yard relay.

MSU Varsity Tied, 20-20

Spirit Overcomes Fat

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

EAST LANSING—Balding heads, sagging stomachs and only three days of practice couldn't stop a spirited squad of Michigan State "Oldtimers" from battling down to the wire to gain a 20-20 tie with the Spartan varsity at Macklin Field Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The game was a climax to the 4th annual coaches clinic and 15,000 fans, a record for a MSU spring game, cheered as the Old Timers rallied from a 20-6 deficit to gain the tie against Duffy Daugherty's 1957 contingent.

It was fullback Jerry Planutis, fullback on the 1955 squad, who could hardly be called an oldtimer, who was the Alumni's most valuable player as he scored all three touchdowns and led the team in ground gaining with 64 yards.

Planutis, a 27-year-old from West Hazelton, Pa., will take over the head coaching job at Monroe High School next fall.

★ ★ ★

Other former Spartan greats such as Al Dorow, Earl Morrall, Buck Nystrom, Paul Dekker, Hank Gullough, Dick Tamburo, Bill Quinlan, Lynn Chandnois, and little George Guerre, a 1948 grad, carried the colors for the Oldtimers.

Dorow, from Imlay City and now of the Washington Redskins, threw for 209 yards of the passing total of 247 and completed 14 of 23 serials.

The varsity had a 14-0 lead at halftime, with Walt Kowalczyk, Blanche Martin and quarterback Jim Ninowski sparking the drives. Kowalczyk, who had a disappointing season last year, looked like the 1955 sophomore who won most valuable honors in the 1956 Rose Bowl, as he picked up 131 yards rushing including a 70-yard touchdown dash. Martin scored on a 1-yard buck in the 2nd period.

★ ★ ★

The tying TD came in the 4th period after a varsity fumble with less than two minutes to play. Planutis went over from the two and one of MSU's great ends Bob Carey, later with the LA Rams, kicked the tying point.

Daugherty was happy with the showing of his varsity. "I wouldn't mind having some of those so-called oldtimers on the squad today," he said. The Spartan coach, strong advocate of the free-substitution rule, said "I would like to go back to the two-platoon system," as he watched the Oldtimers substitute freely in gaining the tie.

Coach Muddy Waters, who holds an impressive string of 25 wins at Hillsdale College, jested about the tie. "At least my winning string as coach is still intact with the tie," he laughed.

"We used only six plays in the game," said Waters, "with only three days of organization, the boys did pretty well."

More than 600 high school coaches attended the coaches clinic and the game as guests of the MSU athletic department.

SHINES AGAIN — Michigan State's Macklin Field had a homecoming effect on ex-Spartan fullback Jerry Planutis. Planutis was the most valuable player for the Old Timers in the 20-20 spring game against the MSU varsity Saturday.

Pfeiffer's Bowlers Take Over State Tourney Leads

SAGINAW (AP)—There were new leaders in three divisions of the State Men's Bowling Tournament today and all of them were from Detroit and all from the same team, Pfeiffer's.

★ ★ ★

The Crack Pfeiffer's team itself, however, could do no better than take over sixth place in the team actuals with 2956.

Ed Lubanski and Steve Nagy are the new doubles actual leaders in the 16-weekend tournament that has only one weekend to go.

Lou Sielaff is in first place in singles actual and Lubanski in all events actual.

Lubanski and Nagy, who are rated a scratch team without any handicap, rolled 1341 as a doubles team to displace Harold Pelot and Dean McKnown, also of Detroit, who had led in doubles actuals since March 3 with 1298.

The Lubanski-Nagy score was good enough to give them third place in the handicap doubles. Lubanski had 677, including a high game of 279, while Nagy had 664. Lubanski was tied, however, for the high game of the tournament by Claude Loe of Lake Odessa who fired a 279 in singles and whose handicap of 34 gave him a theoretical 313, which is 13 more than a perfect mark.

Sielaff had games of 268, 224 and 213.

Therman Gibson, also of the Pfeiffer team, took over sixth place in the actual singles with 668, and teamed with George Young to capture sixth place in actual doubles with 1270.

Silver Lakers Open Loop Play

First action of the season for members of the Silver Lake Women's Golf League is set for Tuesday morning. The league has 48 members, plays on a handicap basis in a season lasting into October.

Last year's champion was Mrs. Max Richardson of Pontiac.

Current officers include: president, Mrs. Grant McDonald; secretary, Mrs. Fran McCallum and treasurer Mrs. Louise Daniel, all of Pontiac.

League plays every Tuesday.

Openings for Players

Softball players desiring to try out for a Class B City League club are invited to attend a practice session Tuesday night at 5 o'clock at Beaudete Park. Manager Dick Stafford of the Eddie's Bar club says there are a number of spots open for capable players.

Hazel Park Nine Wins

Staving off a late rally by Detroit Catholic Central, Hazel Park's baseballers eked out a 5-4 non-league verdict Saturday for their 3rd win in four starts. Oscar Lewis paced the attack with a homer and two singles, while Lou Golinski was the winning hurler.

Cranes Keep Winning in Inter-State League

Cranbrook's baseball and tennis teams continued their winning ways in the Inter-State League Saturday, defeating Western Reserve at Hudson, O. The Cranes now stand 2-0 in each sport.

Cranbrook won on the diamond in eight innings, 3-2, behind the one-hit pitching of Dave Campbell. Chuck Grube scored the winning run when catcher John Wagner dropped the throw at home plate.

The Crane netters whitewashed the Ohioans, 5-0.

McFarlen Tops State Vault Mark at Albion Invitational

Birmingham's high school track team took on a terrific and very unusual project Saturday, when Coach Kermit Ambrose's crew took part in two big track meets. One meet in one day is generally plenty of action.

In the course of the day Maples' ace pole vaulter, Bill McFarlen, topped the current state prep mark with a 12-foot 8-inch leap, a half inch better than the MHSAA mark. It was also an Albion College Invitational meet record. Then, with three others, Bill moved over to Monroe for the 1st Dick Waters' Relays to win the vault with an 11-0 jump.

Maples placed 2nd at Albion behind Jackson with 36½ points. Winners had 39.

In the Monroe meet Birmingham was 4th, behind a six-man Highland Park team (22½) with a 12½ total.

Maple point-makers at Albion included besides McFarlen, Bob Stephenson, winner in the high jump (5-11⅝); Steve Hunter, Jim McDonald, Mark Hall, Steve Pew, medley relay (2nd); Chuck Gibson, 2nd in shot; Dick Boyd, 2nd in 880; Jim MacDonald, 4th in broad jump; Tony Evangelista, 5th in 100; Pat Berry, 5th in 220; Evangelista, MacDonald, Hall and Perry, 5th in 880 relay; Bill Alcorn, tie for 2nd in vault (11-6), and Rich Riley, 2nd in mile (4:47.4).

Gene Lawson, Highland Park, a transfer from Pontiac High, set the pace for the Monroe winners with 11¾ points. He was high man for the event.

Stephenson tied for 1st in the high jump at 5-11. Gibson was 3rd in the shot for Maples' other points at Monroe, besides the first by McFarlen.

Maples go to Ferndale Wednesday for a dual, run in the EML reserve meet Friday at Mt. Clemens and Saturday take part in the MHSAA regionals at Fitzgerald.

Sweep Series From Chisox

Yanks Open Pennant Drive

NEW YORK (INS — Casey Stengel's proud and powerful world champions were slow to get started, but now they look ready to make their expected runaway of the American League pennant race.

The Yankees arrived in Chicago Saturday 2½ games behind the high-flying White Sox and needing a sweep of the three-game series to assume their accustomed position atop the league.

In little more than 24 hours, the Bronx Bombers burst the White Sox bubble by taking all three games and now are in first place, leading the very Pale Hose by a half-game.

After winning 3 to 2 Saturday, the Yanks swept a pair yesterday by the scores of 4 to 2 and 3 to 0. The first two wins were chalked up by the Kansas City acquisitions, Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz, while Johnny Kucks applied the whitewash brush for his first win of the year.

★ ★ ★

Shantz outpitched Billy Pierce to win the Yankee opener. Mickey Mantle, who was forced to leave the second game with a groin injury, homered off Pierce with a man on.

Kucks allowed only three hits in the nightcap as the Yanks beat Jack Harshman with the aid of El Howard's two-run triple. The Yanks stretched their winning streak to six games before 41,304 persons — the largest crowd of the A.L. campaign.

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox snapped a four-game losing streak as they swept a doubleheader from Cleveland, 5 to 1 and 4 to 3. Harvey Kuenn's three hits sparked the Detroit Tigers to a 3 to 1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and Tom Morgan hurled Kansas City to a 7 to 2 win over hapless Washington.

★ ★ ★

The Red Sox hammered Bob Lemon for four runs in the first inning and the Cleveland righty suffered his third loss of the year. Willard Nixon effectively scattered 12 hits for Boston.

Dave Sisler won the nightcap with the aid of Jackie Jensen's two-run homer. Mike Garcia lost the game and the Red Sox lost Ted Williams when the slugger was hit on the right elbow by a thrown ball in the first game. X-rays proved negative.

Johnson-Deckard Take Early Lead in Elks Tourney

The combination of Al Johnson and P. Deckard rolled a 1289 to take the lead yesterday for the 1st of three weekends in the 1st annual Elks Mixed Doubles Tournament being held at the local lodge. The event continues through May 19.

★ ★ ★

Johnson also posted the high actual game of 269 and top series of 647. N. Wood hit the high actual series for women at 514.

Jones Still Going Strong

Pontiac's Hayes Jones and Kerry Keating, formerly of Waterford High, were the sparkplugs as Eastern Michigan College opened its outdoor track season with a 95⅓ to 26⅔ victory over Baldwin-Wallace at Berea, Ohio Saturday.

Jones was the outstanding individual of the meet with 11 1-3 points. He won the high hurdles in 14.4 seconds, the lows in 23.2 and tied for 2nd in the high jump.

His low hurdle time fell just 1-10th of a second short of equaling the school record. It was the 1st time Hayes had competed in a full flight 220-yard event in college.

Keating won the 440 in 49.6 seconds and led the school's highly-rated mile relay unit to another triumph as Eastern took 13 of a possible 14 1st places.

The Hurons are at Marquette Wednesday.

Final Softball Meeting

The final organizational meeting of the Church Softball League will be held tonight at the Marimont Baptist Church at 7:30. All entries must be in at this meeting. All managers or church representatives are asked to be present.

Wolverines Take Two From Wildcats; Move Into 1st Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan held first place in Big Ten baseball today after scoring two lopsided weekend victories over Northwestern.

The Wolverines belted Northwestern 10-3 and 12-5 Saturday, giving them a 5-1 record. Ohio State also won a twin bill, sweeping two from Indiana 6-2 and 2-1.

Defending champion Minnesota trounced Illinois in the first game 16-3 but slipped to second place by losing the second contest 6-3. The Gophers have a 4-1 mark. Wisconsin beat Michigan State 7-6. Then lost 11-4, and Purdue defeated Iowa, 19-9, then fell 9-6.

Michigan pushed the Wildcats off the undefeated list and into the second division. The Wolverines got 24 hits and Capt. Ken Tippery drove in four runs in the two games.

★ ★ ★

The Wisconsin-MSU game moved both teams up one place in the league's second division.

A full slate of single games is scheduled Friday. Minnesota travels to Iowa, Ohio State is at Northwestern, Indiana goes to Wisconsin, Michigan plays at Purdue, and Michigan State will be at Illinois.

Iron Liege Good but 'Lucky'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Something trainer Jimmy Jones learned less than a week ago and the 101st way to lose a horse race carved a niche in Kentucky Derby history for Iron Liege, the equine buck private from Calumet Farm.

Iron Liege, considered merely a good horse in Calumet's well-armed 3-year old division of which Gen. Duke was the supreme commander, won America's most glamorous horse race Saturday in a fighting nose decision over Ralph Lowe's Texas-owned Gallant Man.

The victory was considered lucky by some today as they reviewed the running of the 1¼ miles on a raw, blustery day in 2:02 1/5. Willie Shoemaker, veteran jockey riding in his sixth Kentucky Derby, misjudged the finish line and stood up in Gallant Man's saddle momentarily some 70 yards from the end.

"MISJUDGED" DERBY FINISH — Veteran jockey Willie Shoemaker reads the headlines of a sports section about the Kentucky Derby after Iron Liege came in the winner because of what Shoemaker claimed was "misjudgment" on his part. Shoemaker said he thought the 16th pole was the finish and he eased his horse, then realized the race wasn't over. He was second in a photo finish on Gallant Man. AP Wirephoto

Others, however, were of the opinion that the little Irish-bred Gallant Man never would have headed Iron Liege as Willie Hartack whipped Calumet's son of Bull Lea to victory in the tightest finish in 24 years.

Not since Brokers Tip edged Head Play in the 1933 Churchill Downs "rodeo" has there been such a close finish.

★ ★ ★

The 1933 derby, however, was, in contrast, a roughly run race with Don Meade, up on Brokers Tip, and Herb Fisher, astride Head Play, grabbing each other's saddle cloths and whipping the other's horse through the last sixteenth of a mile.

★ ★ ★

"I thought we had a terrific chance except for Bold Ruler even with Gen. Duke unable to start because of his injured front foot," said Jones. "But I discovered something in last Tuesday's Derby Trial that may have been the difference between victory and defeat."

Iron Liege was far back in the trial, won by Clifford Lussky's Federal Hill with Gen. Duke second. And Jones was far from happy.

★ ★ ★

Jimmy, who was saddling his first derby winner to run Calumet's total to six, declined to say what he learned about Iron Liege.

"We managed to cover it up well Saturday," Jones added, "and I prefer not disclose it."

★ ★ ★

But it was believed Jones decided that Iron Liege could not be rated as Dave Erb had done in previous races. With Hartack replacing Erb in the saddle after Gen. Duke was withdrawn, Iron Liege ran close to Federal Hill's pace from the start. He never was more than three lengths back. He disposed of Federal Hill and Bold Ruler, the 6-5 favorite who wound up fourth, at the top of the stretch and staved off Gallant Man's stirring finish.

In a one-set preliminary, Pancho Segura beat Denny Pails 8-5.

Johnson's Win Surprises Everybody

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The question is: "Who did Ernie Johnson surprise the most—Brooklyn or his own manager, Fred Haney?"

The righthander ranked somewhere back of everybody else on the Milwaukee pitching staff. Haney hadn't used him in a month—and the last time was in an exhibition game, against the Dodgers, in Fort Worth.

★ ★ ★

And when the Dodgers knocked out Bob Buhl, who had beaten them eight times last season, for a 5-2 first-inning lead yesterday at Ebbets Field, Ray Crone was Haney's relief selection. It wasn't until the fourth, after hittin' Henry Aaron had belted a three-run homer to cut the Dodger lead to 7-6, that Haney gave Johnson, 32, a call.

★ ★ ★

He didn't have to ring twice. Johnson hustled on, set down the first 16 men he faced and wound up with a 10-7 victory—knocking in the clincher himself with a single in a three-run fifth—that pushed Milwaukee into a two-game lead over the Brooks again in the National League race.

If Johnson had been troubled by a sore arm or wildness, it didn't show. He struck out five, walked one and permitted one hit, Gino Cimoli's blooper to left in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati put together the season's longest winning streak in either league, beating Pittsburgh 6-2 and 7-3 for seven in a row that hoisted the third place Redlegs within a game of the Dodgers.

Elsewhere in the NL, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia 8-2 and 4-0 with ex-Philly Del Ennis driving in five runs. The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs split, the Cubs winning 8-3 in 10, then losing 6-2.

Edges Betty Dodd by One Stroke in Peach Blossom Test

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Having a golf tournament named in her honor doesn't keep Betsy Rawls in the back seat.

Miss Rawls, 29, a Spartanburg native and veteran of women's golfing wars since 1951, beat down a determined finish by her nearest competitor, Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., to win the fifth annual Betsy Rawls Peach Blossom Open yesterday with a 54-hole total of 213.

Miss Dodd faltered on No. 17 with a one over par five to finish second at 214.

Betsy, winning her second straight title, bagged $880 as the winner's share. Her total score came on rounds of 67-73-73 over the par 71, 6,319-yard Spartanburg Country Club course.

Miss Dodd, with rounds of 70-71-73, earned $616.

Marlene Bauer Hagge of Dallas, Tex., finished third at 216 winning $528. She was followed by Betty Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., who shot 217 to earn $440; Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., 218 for $374; Bonnie Randolph of Naples, Fla., 221 for $309 and Betty Jameson of San Antonio and Mickey Wright of San Diego, each with 222. Each earned $245.50.

Boxer Who Died OK Before Bout

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — H. C. Liebenburg, secretary of the Transvaal board of boxing control, said his board is satisfied that Jimmy Elliott, who died yesterday after being knocked out by British Empire middleweight champion Pat McAteer Saturday, was 100 per cent fit when he entered the ring.

★ ★ ★

"Elliott was the most carefully examined boxer in the country and everything was always done to make sure he was fit to fight," he said.

$10,000 Race Opens Brief Pimlico Meet

BALTIMORE (AP) — Venerable Pimlico race track, second oldest in the nation, launched a brief spring meeting today with the $10,000 Spring Handicap.

The 12-day meeting ends May 18 with the $100,000-added Preakness, middle jewel in the triple crown of racing.

Noahoda, making his first start since last November, headed a 10-horse field for today's feature. The 4-year-old, assigned top weight of 124 pounds in the six-furlong sprint, was a sensation among the sophomores last summer.

Pimlico, an 87-year-old track which this year survived another effort by its owners to close it, has scheduled five featured events for the brief meeting.

Lansing Fencer Triumphs

The score was: Michigan 57, Marquette 51½ and Western Michigan 42½.

Western Michigan took six events, but placed only five men in others. Ira Murchison won the 100-yard dash and the 200-yard dash for the Broncos and Ed Henley took both hurdles.

Marquette couldn't match Michigan's depth either, although it won four events and placed 14 men in others.

St. Clair Driver Wins Nascar Race

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich., took the lead on the 150th lap and held it to the finish to win the 100-mile Nascar Grand National Race at the Virginia State Fairgrounds here yesterday.

Goldsmith, driving a 1957 Ford, wound up the 200-lap grind in one hour and 36 minutes, an average speed of 62.50 m.p.h.

Big Guns All Below .300

The Tale of Four Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—The four Detroit Tiger regulars who batted over .300 last season are under that mark at the moment.

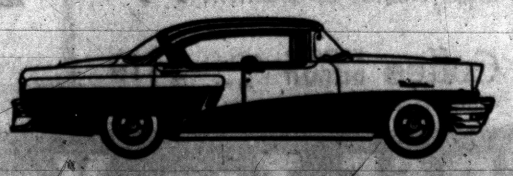

★ ★ ★

"Where would the club be if they were hitting at their 1956 pace?" someone asked manager Jack Tighe.

"We have a half-dozen pitchers with tremendous earned run averages," Tighe responded, "and I think we'd be pretty comfortable in first place right now if our hitters had started a little earlier."

Harvey Kuenn (.333 last season) is batting .241; Al Kaline (.314) is hitting .286; Charlie Maxwell (.326) has a .288 mark and Ray Boone (.308) is batting .254. After a sensational start, Boone has hit safely only once in his last 19 trips to the plate.

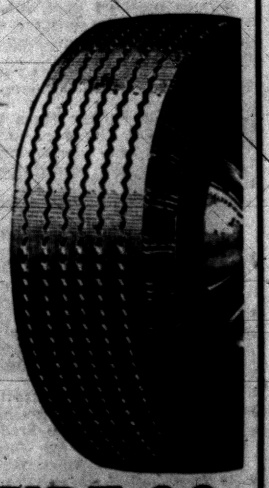

Reno Bertoia's five-game hitting streak came to an end when he failed to get the ball out of the infield in three trips. Kaline now has a five-game streak going.

Right Numbers Write a Check in Pot-O-Gold

That's right, the right combination of numbers on your entry to Pot-O-Gold means that a check for $700 may be written for you. That's what the pot amounts to now, after several weeks of steady growth. Even if a winner is found for last week's puzzle, the check will still be made out for $100, plus $25 if you'r a Press subscriber. Read directions, rules and clues below and see if you can be the lucky winner.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Italian Consul's Wife Waits for Missing Son to Come Home

CHICAGO (INS) — Beautiful Countess Olga Barattieri, wife of the Italian consul general in Chicago, spends her waking hours hoping—and searching her memory—for some clue that would lead to her missing, teenaged son.

The 14-year-old lad, handsome and big enough to pass for 16 or 17, set off for school last April 16 and vanished.

Because the youth carried 90 dollars he'd saved from his allowance and earning money mowing the consulate lawns and washing the family car, police said he could be a runaway—or an amnesia victim.

"I do not know whether Victor ran away or suffered a loss of memory," said Countess Barattieri today in an interview, "but I do know he's alive. I'll never give up hope."

LEAVING FOR ITALY

"Please put it high in your story that Victor's father is leaving Sunday for Italy," she pleaded. "Maybe Victor will see it and come back before his father goes."

The Countess originally had planned to return to Italy with her husband for a few weeks but she is staying behind now "to wait for my son." She said:

"All I want is a note from him, telling me he is safe.

"I don't mind if he wants to stay away."

Although her husband, Count Ludovico Barattieri, leans toward the amnesia theory, his wife is not discounting the runaway possibility.

The boy has her promise, she said, that "there will be no punishment and no questions asked. If he comes back tonight, for instance, I would not ask where he had been unless he wants to tell me."

The Countess can accept her son being a runaway, but she cannot find a clue, either in his actions or in the things he left behind, that could serve as a reason. In a puzzled voice, she said:

"The police tell us that teenaged boys run away from home usually because they are not good in school or have unhappy parents.

"There was no reason like this for Victor to run away. He was very good in school. Even when he had a cold he never, never stayed away from classes."

Because the Barattieris moved to Chicago from Philadelphia only last September, the Countess said her son had few friends. He spent most of his leisure time reading news magazines from cover to cover every week and books on history and politics with a few pocketbook Westerns thrown in.

★ ★ ★

Like many American youths, her son went to the movies every Saturday afternoon, she recalled, but added:

"He usually went by himself."

Both parents have made a point of letting their other child, Monica, 7, go out to play and to school "as if her big brother had not gone away." The Countess said:

"I want Monica to have lots of friends."

ATTENDS FUNCTIONS

The Countess said that she herself has kept on attending diplomatic functions — luncheons, teas, banquets, receptions — because "these are my obligations—I cannot isolate myself."

However, even her patrician dignity can not completely mask her worries about her son's whereabouts and welfare. She said:

"What is he doing? What is he eating? He loved Italian food and had such a big appetite.

★ ★ ★

"He probably doesn't weigh 145 pounds anymore if he has been trying to earn a living somewhere."

★ ★ ★

As for herself, the tall brunette said "I am eating and I am sleeping.

"If I permitted myself to give in, my husband and my little girl would need to take care of me instead of looking for Victor."

Johns Hopkins Fame Girdles the World

BALTIMORE (AP) — You couldn't blame Dr. Moses Paulson, associate professor of medicine at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, if he felt the world is awfully small.

Returning from a trip around the world, in which he lectured under auspices of the State Department, Dr. Paulson noted:

1. In Instanbul, the young Turkish woman who was his interpreter had taken part of her training in the Johns Hopkins tissue laboratory.

2. In Bangkok, he met Mrs. Frost Parrish, cultural attache at the American Embassy and the daughter of a pioneer public-health scientist at Johns Hopkins.

3. In Tokyo, a clipping from the New York Times pasted to the wall of an optical plant told of some American medical-optical research. One of the researchers mentioned was Dr. Moses Paulson.

4. In Hong Kong, the consul general was Everett Drumright, a former patient of Dr. Paulson's at Johns Hopkins.

Song Writer Unites His Dual Personality

NEW YORK (AP)—After years as a dual musical personality, Vernon Duke has decided he is Vernon Duke.

A collaborator on Broadway shows and the author of such hits as "April in Paris" and "Autumn in New York," Duke has until now done popular tunes under that name and also written serious compositions under the name of Vladimir Dukelsky. Both swing or symphony henceforth, he says, will be written under the name Duke.

Punishment Should Fit Crime—or Prevent It

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Traffic Judge James Demopolos sentenced an 18-year-old chronic traffic law violator to spend two hours a night for the nxet 30 days in the emergency room of Mercy Hospital.

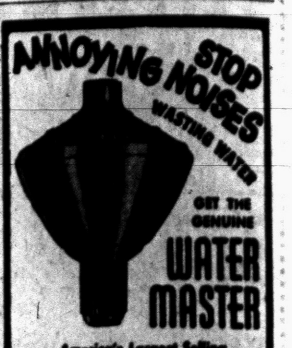

James Nix was brought before him with a record of nine traffic accidents and 40 driving citations.

The judge also told the youth to give a pint of his blood to the Red Cross. "That will be symbolic of the blood that could have been spilled on the highway," he said.

Says Top Movie Stars Have 'Audience Fever'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Top movie stars can never retire successfully because they have "audience fever," says a Hollywood psychoanalyst.

Dr. Mason Rose said great doctors or writers face retirement realistically. But great entertainers?

"With their audience fever they have to remain 'on stage' throughout their lives," he said.

Average yield of corn on U. S. land is 33 bushels an acre, but yields of 140 bushels to the acre are not uncommon and there are some reports of yields up to 225 bushels an acre.

Helen Hayes' Son to Star in Movie for Walt Disney

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The sort of break Helen Hayes has wished for her talented son, 19-year-old James MacArthur, comes to him with Walt Disney. As soon as young Jimmie begins his summer vacation from Harvard, he'll join the Disney company on location for "The Light in the Forest."

Walt has been looking for months for a young actor to play the star role of true son, a lad forced to return to his white parents after being brought up as a Delaware Indian, in Conrad Richter's classic adventure novel. Disney took one look at Jimmie in his screen debut in "The Young Stranger" and said, "That's the right boy."

As for Helen — she's just "bustin' her buttons" with pride over Jimmie and knowing his father, the late Charles MacArthur, as well as I did, I know he would be happy, too.

Our Hollywood "Fair Lady," Anne Rogers, flanked by representatives of the William Morris Company, was out on the MGM lot Friday to talk about starring in "The Boy Friend." MGM owns the rights and Anne played it on the London stage.

She's a real beauty with a lovely singing voice. Arthur Freed, who saw her opening night, is eager to get her on the lot, but, then, she's had offers from Jack Warner and Harry Cohn, too.

It all depends on when she'll be free of her commitment for "My Fair Lady." I'll wager we'll be talking about her as a top movie star next year.

Very much on the qt, on a closed stage, a new young actor named Yale Wexler is making a long test at MGM tomorrow for "Ben Hur." Producer Sam Zimbalist is so interested in Wexler that he's asked top director Sidney Franklin to direct the test, which gives you an idea of what they think of his chances.

Wexler, a tall, good-looking and well-groomed graduate of the Actors Studio, made his original mark on Broadway as Tony Perkins' pal in "Tea and Sympathy."

He appeared on TV and in summer stock before Richard Widmark brought him to the coast for "Time Limit." If he picks off "Ben Hur"—on which millions will be spent—Yale will be a mortal "lock" for stardom.

I was curious about seeing "Abandon Ship!", the picture Tyrone Power made for Richard Sale in London. I was on the set when they were filming one of the most dramatic scenes — the death of Lloyd Nolan.

Mary Anita and Richard and Ted Richmond invited some of their friends to see the picture at the Screen Directors Guild. It's a powerful story, but terribly tragic and almost shocking.

Based on "Seven Waves Away," it's the true story of a ship captain who had to drown the weak to save the strong after a shipwreck, since the small lifeboat would only hold a limited number.

Later the guests, including Natalie Wood, Clifton Webb, Perle Mesta, the Walter Langs, Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis, went to the Sale home for a late supper.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: It's wedding bells for Sue Randall, Katharine Hepburn's protegee who played her first role in "The Desk Set," and Peter Powell, a U.S. Air Force jet pilot.

Mary Morrison's tossing a cocktail party at the Mocambo on Wednesday for Monte Proser.

Looks serious between Doodles Weaver and Rita Green who are holding hands almost nightly at the Sportsman's Lodge.

The title on Jesse L. Lasky's upcoming book, "I Blow My Own Horn," doesn't mean he's bragging. It comes from the fact that he's a cornet player—still plays it for relaxation.

Actress Shelly Winters Marries Leading Man

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Actress Shelly Winters and Anthony Franciosa, a leading player in a film being made here, are honeymooning today.

The blonde, 34-year-old actress and Franciosa, 28, were married Saturday night under their real names. Justice of the Peace Dan Murphy said he had no idea that Shirley Schrift and Anthony Papaleo were film stars.

"I didn't tumble to who they were until today," he said.

LONDON (INS)—Aly Khan has announced that he is selling his art collection in Paris on May 23.

In reply to the suggestion that the fabulous collection would bring almost $1.5 million, Aly said:

"I have no idea of the market value of the paintings. All I can say is they have got to go.

"Now that father has been so ill, I have more responsibilities to share. I'm handling lots of his affairs. Now is the time to get rid of the pictures."

Prices of Grain Holding Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grains held steady on the Board of Trade today. There was little news of significance to the trade and most dealings were quiet at the start.

Wheat started mainly a shade higher than last Friday's close as traders anticipated a reduction of last week's visible supplies due to the shipment of 53 cars of red winter wheat out of Chicago over the weekend. Most of this was believed intended for the export trade.

Near the end of the first hour old wheat was 1/8 to 5/8 higher, May $2.18½, new wheat 1/8 to 3/8 higher, July $2.09⅛, corn was ¼ to ⅛ lower, May $1.29½, oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 65⅝, rye unchanged to ⅝ higher, May $1.18¾, soybeans were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, May $2.42⅝, and lard was 7 cents lower to 5 cents higher a hundred pounds, May $13.45.

Standard Announces New High Test Gas

CHICAGO (AP) — The Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) today announced development of a new higher octane gasoline designed for modern high-compression automobile engines.

The new gasoline — to be known as Gold Crown Super Premium — features additives which nullify surface combustion "pings" and correct spark plug fouling, researchers said.

Chairman Robert E. Wilson and President Frank O'Prior said the new gas will be available in midwestern states — including Michigan — by May 15. The company's former premium product — White Crown — will be discontinued.

A higher octane Red Crown king size regular gasoline also will be introduced, they said, having an octane rating higher than that of Standard's premium brand sold four years ago.

Trend Upside on Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued irregular early this afternoon with a slight tendency to the upside.

Leading stocks were ahead from fractions to around a point.

The market was hovering just below the 1957 highs but trading was slightly less than the end of last week when the market almost penetrated the year's high.

Rails made a somewhat better showing than other major division. There were also fair gains among some of the oils. Motors were firm. Steels were mixed as industry reports were of fewer incoming orders than anticipated.

Wall Street observers looked for some consolidation after last week's vigorous market action and there was little in the way of news to shur prices one way or the other.

Northern Pacific rose more than a point. Gains of close to a point were made by New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio. Pennsylvania Railroad was up fractionally. Santa Fe, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific were steady.

Gulf Oil stepped ahead around a point while Amerada added a major fraction. Royal Dutch was firm. Sinclair dropped a small fraction as did Texas Co.

Confederate Vet Puts in Bid for Cool Uniform

SLANT, Va. (AP) — "General" John Salling has put in his requisition for a summer - weight Confederate uniform. The current issue, he says, is just "too hot for all this summer weather."

There is a good chance the 110-year-old Civil War veteran will have his wishes fulfilled. His Scott County friends and neighbors say they will see to it.

* * *

On May 15 Salling will be saluted in birthday festivities that have just about become tradition in the hills of southwestern Virginia.

* * *

The honorary title of "General" was bestowed during a ceremony last November, in which Salling was presented a gold medallion by the Department of Defense. Only two other medallions of this kind are in existence.

One is worn by Salling's "senior"—113-year-old W. W. Willians of Franklin, Tex. The other is held by the "junior" in this proud trio — 108-year-old William Lundy of Laurel Hill, Fla.

Chrysler Calls Workers Back

Wildcat Walkout Ends Pending Result of Vote Scheduled Wednesday

DETROIT (AP) — Production resumed at Chrysler Corp. plants today as truck drivers ended a four-day wildcat walkout that had idled more than 40,000 workers.

Officers of Local 212, United Auto Workers Union, ordered the return to work pending outcome of a strike vote set for Wednesday on a job security dispute and other issues.

The strike of 5 stamping division truck drivers last Thursday caused shutdown of all Chrysler production by halting movement of materials between the company's Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth plants.

At issue, a company spokesman said, is the transfer of some stamping operations from Detroit to a new plant in Twinsburg, Ohio. The union said it is seeking a written agreement covering salaried employes who may wish to transfer.

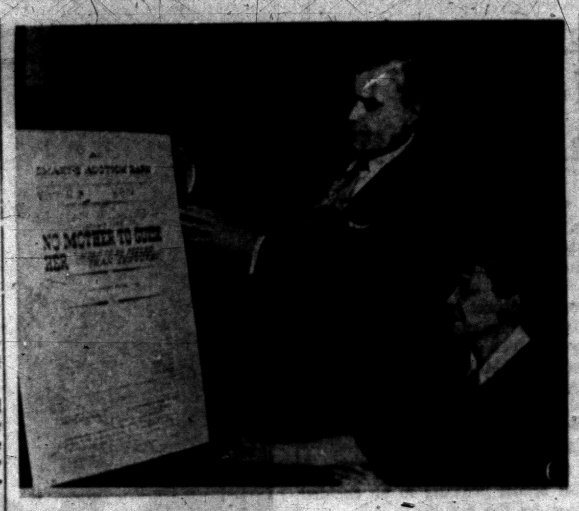

The truck drivers walked out after discharge of two union committeemen and a steward in the dispute.

The company sent home more than 40,000 workers Friday and canceled overtime work for 8,000 others on Saturday.

Mother Raccoon Forces Couple From Bedroom

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Adams can't get into their bedroom because their pet raccoon Nicey is so mean.

Adams said Nicey was a fine pet until the mating season last February.

"We noticed about then that Nicey started to get mean," he said.

Last weekend Nicey gave birth to some baby raccoons in a dresser drawer in the Adams' bedroom. She spat and raged at Mr. and Mrs. Adams until they left the bedroom.

"We decided to sleep in the living room," Adams said.

Asked how his wife plans getting rid of the babies, he replied: "She isn't. She's going to keep them all."

Jet Crashes; AF Man Dies as 'Chute Fails

NEW YORK (INS) — An Air Force officer was killed early today and another landed uninjured when a jet training plane from Suffolk Air Force Base, L. I., lost power on takeoff and crashed.

Dead was Lt. James E. Roberts, 26, of Lafayette, Ind., whose parachute failed to open.

Capt. Thomas D. Soapes, 32, of Triumph, Minn., piloting the T-33 jet trainer on a routine night flight, said his engine flamed out at 1,500 feet as he was circling out of the Suffolk base pattern.

He attempted to turn the plane around to the field for an emergency landing but saw he couldn't make it. Seconds later he ordered Roberts to jump and headed the crippled plane into the woods. He then parachuted himself.

He then parachuted himself.

The plane crashed into the woods about three miles north of the airfield and was wrecked. There was no fire. Roberts' body was found tangled in the shroud lines of his chute.

Fire Ruins Trailer but Tire Is Changed

ROMEO—A cigarette tossed out of a car by a passing motorist is suspected as the cause of a fire which destroyed a trailer load of household goods on Main street near midnight last night.

The trailer belonged to Earl Jerome Wilber of Bad Axe who had a flat tire as he was driving through town. He pulled over to the curb and as he unhitched the trailer, noticed it was smoking. He drove to a nearby gas station, called the fire department and changed the tire.

When Wilber returned to the scene, the entire contents of the trailer had been consumed by the blaze. He and a fireman then hitched up the trailer again, drove to the city dump and unloaded the charred contents.

Even Wilson Worries About His Son on Date

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I find it hard to cogitate about Big News because I've just seen my son Slugger in his first dinner jacket (rented)—complete with plaid tie and cummerbund.

When he wasn't home from the dance at 3 a.m., I not sure who was more nervous—his two grandmothers, or my wife or his father.

★ ★ ★

At 3:30 he came in full of news about a wondrous cab driver named Shortie, who'd taken them to a hamburger spot.

"You shouldn't go into those places late at night," scolded the B.W.

"Oh, it was safe," replied Slug. "Shortie came in and had one with us!"

★ ★ ★

Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller met with Photog Richard Avedon ("Veep" Milton H. Greene's successor as MM's personal photog) to plan a joint portrait.

"For that," said Miller, who's never been anxious to pose, "I'll even shave . . . for my mother's sake."

MARILYN

★ ★ ★

TV star Sam Levenson told Vic Hammer of Hammer's Art Gallery, how three little ragged teen-agers wandered into a gallery, and stared in amazement at a "collage," (miscellaneous objects such as shells, coins and junk pasted up on canvas).

"Let's get out of her fast!" said the oldest boy. "They'll say we did it.!"

★ ★ ★

Homer Croy, the humorist and novelist, has the craziest hobby yet.

He gets stationery from Alcatraz, Sing Sing, the Dept. of Internal Revenue, and even African ivory hunters—and writes to apprehensive friends.

"How do you get stationery from prisons?" I asked him, and he said, "Well, I send them in some pistols and they bring me some stationery out."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

GIA

Jack Gordon of Fort Worth said, "It's so wet in Texas, farmers are writing to Ike for rowboats so they can boat into town to collect drought relief checks." . . . The Joe Louises are reported busting up again . . . Bulganin and Khrushchev tour Europe, starting June 6 in Finland . . . Pretty Gia Scala's first American staring role is in "Garment Jungle."

Steve Lawrence stage-door-Johnnied for Eydie Gorme at the Jonathan Winters show . . . Singer Laverne Baker finally got the expensive mink coat she ordered in September—just in time to storage it.

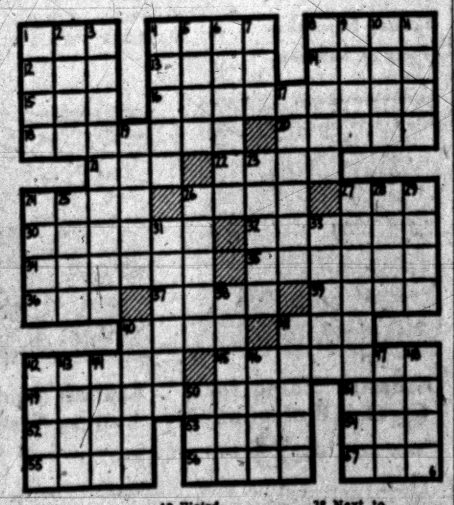

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: Before you start criticizing the younger generation, consider who raised them.

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: American motorists take fine care of their cars—and they keep the pedestrians in good running condition, too. That's earl, brother.

Show Lauded for Being Fun

Big Money Programs Are Passed Over by Columnist O'Brian

BY JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Don't ask us yet which quiz show we think rates the "best of the year" title because we'd like to think about it for a bit over the typewriter.

★ ★ ★

In the first place, and we mean first, Groucho Marx and "You Bet Your Life" must be ruled out because we maintain it is not a quiz show at all but a sneaky plot to keep Groucho in a constantly changing set of stooges.

Last year it was "The $64,000 Question," and in some degree this year it still is, but we aren't yet certain.

"The $64,000 Challenge" also is getting slightly out of cerebral hand.

"I've Got a Secret" doesn't rate inclusion as quiz show.

"What's My Line" still stays at the top of the heap without much trouble, and without changing much beyond an occasional chair.

SLIM PICKINGS

Its top prize of $50 now seems silly in comparison with the fancy philanthropies of the newer quizzes, but no one shows any indication of fattening up the lure which seems sturdy enough to keep it among the top-rated shows on the air.

★ ★ ★

"Masquerade Party" is another transparent device to catch laughter and well-know participants.

Jack Barry, fired from "The Big Surprise," rallied from that emotional setback to see "The Big Surprise" fall and fall into the discard while his own new TV creation, "21," come on like Gangbusters, mostly because of Charles Van Doren, the Elvis Presley of the intelligentsia.

"To Tell the Truth" is an amusing and interesting panel game, in which the panelists attempt to figure out which of three claimants is the one he says he is.

★ ★ ★

Daytimes, Jack Barry grins and bounces genially through "Tic Tac Dough," a modest but amiable question bee.

Muscal quizzes keep popping in and out of TV.

"The Big Surprise" lost its surprise, and its prize, and its sponsor, and its network.

THE BIG DECISION

Still, we must finally make up our mind, and we hereby select "What's My Line" as the best quiz show of 1956-57 on the simple basis of consistency.

★ ★ ★

Familiarity breeds comtempt, and a number of our readers write in regularly to bemoan its presence on the air. Some hate John Daly.

Others want to know how Dorothy Kilgallen can stay out so late when she has to be up so early next day to have her regular breakfast of radio and doughnuts with Dick.

Bennett Cerf's puns destroy others, always did.

But we notice on Sunday nights we generally turn on "What's My Line" and watch it for the fun of the game.

That's about all it's meant to be — fun, and it succeeds. We're all for fun.

British Engineer Dies on Flight to Detroit

DETROIT (INS)—A 44-year-old British engineer was found dead early yesterday aboard Pan American World Airways flight 59, en route from London to Detroit.

The victim was Ronald G. Hamilton, chief hydraulics engineer for Stein, Atkinson, Vickers Ltd., London, England.

★ ★ ★

Hamilton's body was discovered in his berth on the clipper when the stewardess tried to wake him for breakfast.

The body was taken to Wayne County General Hospital where doctors said Hamilton died of coronary thrombosis.

The engineer was planning to meet John Johnson of his firm, who arrived in Detroit from London last Tuesday. Johnson said he had arranged a two-week visit for Hamilton to Detroit industrial firms, including Vickers, Inc., of Detroit.

Before joining Vickers three years ago, Hamilton was works manager for the LaPointe Machine Tool, Ltd., near Watford, England.

He is survived by his wife and two children.

Use Solar Energy for Heat, Cooling

DALLAS (AP) — Texas can use solar energy for heat and cooling when it runs out of oil and other resources, a chemistry professor predicted yesterday.

Dr. Farrington Daniels, chairman of the chemistry department at the University of Wisconsin, said the "sun is a tremendous asset for the future."

★ ★ ★

"Solar energy cannot compete with the present cheap electricity, coal and oil in industrial countries like ours," he said. "But these won't last forever."

He said the immediate future for utilizing the sun's energy is in non-industrial countries such as India and Mexico, where, he said, fuel is costly and transportation difficult—but sunlight is abundant.

He will speak today at the 59th annual convention of the American Ceramic Society.

Catfish Once Again Abound in Stream

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An old time "delicacy" is available once more from Wissahickon Creek here.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission dumped 3,500 catfish into the stream today and plans to deposit the same number there tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Years ago catfish were a favorite snack (with waffles) at inns in the neighborhood of Philadelphia's sprawling Fairmount Park.

Among the bullhead fanciers were poet Walt Whitman who used to come from Camden, N. J., to nibble the Wissahickon catch; Diamond Jim Brady and actress Fanny Kemble.

★ ★ ★

Pollution of Fairmount Park streams in recent years has male catfish a rarity. Now, once again anglers can satisfy their tastes for something different with the waffles.

Miss Elizabeth Davenport put the shot 33 feet 3 inches for a new all-Indian women's record, at the recent National Games at Patiala.

1 Dies, 2 Trapped Exploring Mine

1 Plunges to Death in Old California Shaft as Air Gives Out; 2 Saved

RANDSBURG, Calif. (INS) — A miner was killed and two others were trapped for three hours in a shaft last night in the Blackhawk Gold Mine southeast of Randsburg.

The three miners who were trapped were overcome by lack of oxygen while on a "busman's holiday" exploring the mine—one of the original shafts of the historic Rand mining district.

★ ★ ★

Francis R. McCormack, 34, of Randsburg, the father of seven, was killed when he plunged 200 feet from the 450-foot level to a flooded tunnel floor.

His companions, Ray Guyett, 35, and Eugene Manning, 38, both of Randsburg, were revived by resuscitators after being found unconscious at the 450-foot level.

The three were inspecting the shaft when the carbide lamps on their helmets went out—the sign of bad air.

★ ★ ★

McCormack apparently attempted to clamber up the shaft timbers and was overcome and lost his grip and fell. Another man, Dan Prlia, who was with the men, went for help.

Rescuers pumped air into the shaft and the two trapped men were brought out.

Missionary, 63, Dies at Church Ceremony

DETROIT (INS)—A retired missionary died of a heart attack yesterday in the Emanuel Baptist Church in Detroit at the height of a ceremony held in her honor.

The victim was Otillie Peckous, 63, of Detroit, who collapsed as she took the podium to accept and give her thanks for a sum of money collected in the congregation for her.

★ ★ ★

Miss Peckous, director of the Gleiss Memorial Center in Detroit, retired after 38 years of service as a missionary for the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

She was born in Chicago, educated at the Baptist Missionary Training School there and served in missions in Cleveland, Chicago and in Nebraska before coming to Detroit eight years ago.

★ ★ ★

Miss Peckous is survived by three sisters and two brothers. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Costello Murder Attempt Probed

Police Seek Witnesses of Assassination Try in Gambler's Home

NEW YORK (INS) — The giant, 'round-the-clock police probe of the attempted assassination of one-time gambling kingpin Frank Coctello has shifted its main effort to a hunt for witnesses to the shoot-and-run attack.

Police admitted yesterday, "We have yet to find a motive."

★ ★ ★

Costello reportedly still was not supplying this, or any other information, on the bullet that creased his scalp Thursday when he returned to his New York apartment building after dining out.

A force of 66 detectives, led by Deputy Chief Inspector Edward W. Byrnes, switched tactics from station house quizzing of gangland figures to paying calls on tenants, employes and shopkeepers in the swank Costello neighborhood.

They sought chiefly some description of the gunman who was driven away in a Cadillac car after his pot shot at the retired racketeer.

★ ★ ★

As a possible lead, police were hunting the cab driver who brought Costello and a companion, Model agency head Philip Kennedy, to Costello's residence. The driver sped off as the shot was fired.

Chinese Fight Law Altering Citizenship

SAIGON (AP) — More than 1,000 locally born Chinese again stormed Nationalist China's legation today to protest a law making them Vietnamese citizens.

About 200, most of them youths, managed to reach the legation's second floor. They surrounded Minister Yuan Tze Chien and First Secretary Shen Tzu Chen and refused to leave until the two harassed diplomats told them what they were going to do about the controversial law.

★ ★ ★

Yuan announced he had instructions from home to close the legation and return to Formosa unless a peaceful solution to the issue could be worked out. The rioters then withdrew.

The controversial law was passed about two weeks ago and makes all locally born Chinese Vietnamese citizens. The Chinese here have asked that they be given a choice in the matter.

★ ★ ★

The Chinese previously had broken into the legation and wrecked the first floor, smashing windows, desks and chairs.

After the invasion today, police cordoned off the legation area for four blocks in every direction, preventing any approach to the building.

Dem Advisers Swing at GOP

New Council of Party Completely Organized at 3-Day Gathering

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Democratic Advisory Council was in business today after adopting a "plan of operations" and firing a couple of rounds at the Eisenhower administration.

The council, which held a preliminary meeting in San Francisco last February, completed its organization yesterday at the end of a three-day gathering of party leaders.

★ ★ ★

The advisory group has 24 members, 14 of whom also serve on the Democratic National Committee's Executive Committee. Among the remaining 10 council members are former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956. Eighteen of the council's members were on hand yesterday.

Last Friday, after something of a tussle, the national committee authorized the council to formulate party policy statement, provided they stay within the limits of the Democratic platform.

Making use of this new power, the advisory council yesterday unanimously approved statements charging the Republican administration with substituting "appeasement for leadership" in foreign affairs, and with falling down badly in efforts to curb inflation by raising interest rates and restricting credit.

But differences cropped up within the advisory group during consideration of a third statement expressing "regret" at what it said were efforts being made to enact federal "right-to - work" legislation. The statement was adopted, but two Southern members voted against it.

The party platform condemned "right-to-work" laws, enacted in 18 states. These laws bar the union shop, under which workers must join a union within a specified time after going on the job.

The Democratic leadership in Congress has been cool to the advisory council, but has agreed to consult with it from time to time.

Book 60 Years Overdue

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A library book 60 years overdue has been returned to Western Michigan University. William Sprague, 82, found "The Works of The Rev. Isaac Watts," which had been borrowed in 1899 by his sister. Dr. Weimer K. Hicks, college president, decided Sprague didn't have to pay the overdue charges, which would have totaled more than $600.

U. S. to Supply Funds

LONDON (AP) — Two destroyers which Britain gave Pakistan several years ago are back in British shipyards for refitting, with the United States to foot the bill. The Admiralty explained funds for work on the destroyers, the Tughril and Tippu Sultan, will be provided under the U. S. Mutual Security Act.

The first elevators in New York City in 1857 had rich carpets, large mirrors and luxurious sofas on three sides.

Deny 'Speed Trap'

OAKLEY (AP)—Village officials say there is no "speed trap" on M47 in Oakley. Clarence Welch, village president, said arrests have increased in the past year but still average less than 10 a month. Last week six motorists paid $90 in justice court fines for exceeding the 35-mile speed limit.

Fifty-one cadets at the U.S. Air Force Academy have fathers who also are in the Air Force, 20 of the fathers being pilots.

Hikes 60 Miles on Leg

PARIS (AP)—Gilbert Durieux, a one-legged war veteran, hiked the 60 miles from Chartres to Par yesterday in 20 hours. He helped himself along with two canes. He said he just wanted to prove that cripples could "almost live a normal life."
