

Live Grenade Pulled From Throat of GI

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — A Navy surgeon pulled a lethal M79 rifle grenade from the throat of a U.S. Marine private last night and showed it around the operating room before he found out it might kill the eight persons in the room.

“I didn’t know what it was,” said the surgeon, Lt. Cmdr.

James Chandler of San Francisco. “All the military training I ever had was a couple of weeks where they say, ‘Okay, this is a gun.’”

The 20-year-old patient is doing fine, Chandler reported.

The Marine, who also had a compound fracture of his right leg from a bullet, was brought to the Da Nang “Charlie” medical hospital at 9:30.

The M79 round — dome shaped, an inch and a half in diameter and two inches long — had crashed through the Marine’s right lower jawbone, traveled through the thick part of the tongue and stopped a fraction of an inch from the soft

HAD NO IDEA

Chandler said that before the five-hour operation he had no idea what he was going after. Had the grenade exploded, it could have killed all eight persons in the operating room.

He would have sandbagged

the operating table and sought expert advice if he had known, Chandler said.

The doctor could see part of the grenade’s shiny dome at the rear of the patient’s mouth. Two attempts with forceps failed to get it. He reached in with his fingers and “it popped out.”

As he showed it around the operating room, Chandler said. “The eyes popped out of the people who knew what it was.”

“We’ve got to get it out of here,” Chandler said when he learned what he had.

“I tried not to look at it, but I had to, because I might have bumped something walking out.”

“We got it out to the helicopter pad (about 30 yards from the hospital). I put it down, took about four steps slowly, then ran like hell.”

Demolition experts arrived and exploded the grenade.

The soft tip was dented from hitting bone.

Commissioners Lash at War on Poverty

By L. GARY THORNE

Pontiac city officials last night indicated that their support of the Great Society’s war on poverty is on shaky ground. City commissioners lashed out at the antipoverty program while voting 5-2 to continue to pay the rent for the opportunity center at 7 W. Lawrence.

Voting against renewing the rent for six more months at $800 per month were Commissioners Robert C. Irwin and Leslie H. Hudson.

Hudson was particularly critical of the poverty war. He charged that “We’re fostering generations of welfare recipients.”

Hudson said, “The federal government is extending its tentacles to every phase of our lives, and I’m not so sure we’re doing our people a favor by extending that arm from the cradle to the grave.”

The district 4 commissioner said people seem to think the money is coming off the trees just because it comes from the federal government.

Pontiac has spent nearly $10,000 in 1966 to pay the rent on the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) quarters on the second floor of a downtown office building.

OEO officials had requested the commission renew its rent payments for two more years, but the commission rejected this in approving the six-month extension.

Dear Boss:

Attached hereto is a bill for $6.20—long underwear, boss, not generally essential to a reporter but essential in this case.

“Find a Christmas tree lot,” you said “and ask the owner if you can help him out for a couple of hours.”

Boss, you should have paid him.

There’s one thing I want to say right now. Tom and Ed Ritter, who operate the Ritter’s Market lot at 6884 Dixie, are real gentlemen.

They even managed a smile when I sold one of their nursery grown spruce trees at $2 less than I should have.

SALESMAN’S JOB

You see, at this Christmas tree lot, the trees didn’t have price tags. That was the salesman’s job.

With some coaching, I finally developed a rather perceptive eye for the spruces, but the pines — there’s something about a pine that throws me.

A Scotch pine that looks like $5.50 to me can range all the way from $4 to $7 — and I’m not even sure which direction it’s going to head off to.

You might say the high point of my visit there was Louise. I

Yank's Sentence Is Called Harsh

MOSCOW (AP) — The acting head of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Minister-Counselor John C. Guthrie, today called a three-year prison sentence on a young American harsh and asked higher Soviet authorities to commute or suspend it.

Guthrie issued his statement shortly after the Leningrad City Court reached its verdict on Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. and Buel Ray Wortham. Wortham was given three years in prison. Gilmour was fined 1,000 rubles—$1,111.

“We are of course glad that after over two months of confinement Mr. Gilmour can return home,” Guthrie said.

“As for Mr. Wortham’s sentence, the embassy regards it, and I am sure most Americans will regard it, as harsh and out of all proportion to the relatively minor legal infractions with which he was charged.”

“In our view his more than two months confinement has already been more than ample punishment.”

“I would hope, therefore, that the proper authorities will find it appropriate to commute or suspend Mr. Wortham’s sentence.”

The two city parochial schools with vacation schedules identical to Pontiac public schools are St. Trinity and St. Michael’s. Students of all Pontiac and Waterford Township schools will return to classes Jan. 3, 1967.

Commissioner Lauds Taubman

City Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson last night said he was even more confident in developer A. Alfred Taubman after visiting the latter’s shopping center at Hayward, Calif.

Hudson said he visited the 125-acre center while vacationing on the West Coast.

Called “Southland,” the center with 65 to 70 retail outlets serves a blue collar population similar to Pontiac’s, according to Hudson.

The District 4 commissioner said he talked to both merchants and shoppers. The shoppers liked the parking and the large concentration of stores.

“He’s done a magnificent job there,” Hudson said.

HAS AGREEMENT

Taubman currently has an agreement with Pontiac city officials to deliver within a year’s time two major tenants for the enclosed mall-type shopping center on downtown urban renewal land.

In related business, the commission last night received a letter from the Cit-zens Committee for Pontiac’s Positive Progress.

The self-appointed committee proposed that the city attempt to secure a “model city” designation by the federal government under recent legislation.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the city was aware of the legislation, but that only planning funds were available and the program could be drastically altered by the new Congress.

In fact, downtown Bangkok is now like any American city: everywhere you look, there are French restaurants, Japanese motor bikes, and German automobiles . . .

Bangkok offers wonderful bargains in jewelry and precious gems. I picked up a terrific buy today: a string of emerald pearls for $2.75 . . . The string turned out to be genuine.

Milford Student Business

School Project Is Palatable

MILFORD — Students at Milford High School are going to reach their quota but had to declare a dividend, operate a bar — a breakfast bar, that is.

The 40 students, members of the general business and retailing classes, are supplementing their book learning with practical experience.

They have formed a mock company which they call the Breakfast Bar Corp. and will put it into actual operation after the Christmas holidays.

The breakfast bar will be open from 7:30 to 7:50 a.m. every day selling hot chocolate, rolls and juice to students who arrive at school early.

In order to set up their mock business, the students had to violate school board policy which prohibits the sale of items not connected with school.

GOT PERMISSION

Because the project was of an educational nature, however, the students sought and obtained permission for their bar from the Huron Valley Board of Education.

All corporations need capital to start out so the students decided to obtain their own way their real counterparts do — they sold stock in the company.

They planned to spend three days selling 400 shares of stock at 25 cents a share to the student body but before noon of the first day, they had not only hope, at the end of the year, to well accepted by the student body."

GOOD EXPERIENCE

"We're interested in seeing

In order to follow as closely the students getting practical as possible a real business experience like this," said Vicki Gates, president of the mock corporation. "Everybody likes share-holders meetings and

"The whole idea seems to be it."

The participants also heartily endorse the project.

"It's really great," said Vicki Gates, president of the mock corporation. "Everybody likes

Board Ratifies Secretary Pact

MILFORD — A three-year contract with the Huron Valley Education Secretaries Association was ratified by the Huron Valley Board of Education last night after several months of often controversial bargaining.

The contract, which grants raises retroactive to July 1, was ratified by the secretaries last Thursday.

The raises, which had been the main point of controversy during negotiations, average $250 a year.

In other action last night, the board approved plans for its proposed new East Elementary School to be built at Osborn and Elizabeth Lake roads in White Lake Township.

Bids will be taken on the 20-room building in about two weeks.

SCHEMATIC DRAWINGS

The board also approved schematic drawings for its proposed new central office building but asked for a breakdown of funds remaining from the spring bond issue before proceeding further.

A new central office building was part of the $3.3-million bond issue.

Auburn Heights Area JCs to Burn Trees on Jan. 7

The Auburn Heights Area Jaycees will conduct their second annual Christmas Tree Burning at 7 p.m. Jan. 7 on Squirrel Road across from the Auburn Heights Elementary School.

The Jaycees will pick up Christmas trees Jan. 6 and 7 in the Auburn Heights area bounded by Featherstone, South Boulevard, Adams and Opdyke.

Everyone is asked to place the tree on the curb for easy accessibility, said Thomas Lawson, project chairman.

Pick Avon Man for Rights Board

AVON TOWNSHIP — George Gullen Jr., 5245 Adams, vice president for university relations at Wayne State University, was named to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission yesterday.

Gow, Romney named Gullen, 52, former American Motors executive to succeed William Gossett of Bloomfield Hills whose term expired Dec. 31, 1965.

Gullen's term will expire Dec. 31, 1968. Senate confirmation is required of the appointment.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP

The nine-member township planning commission has four new members as the result of township board action last night.

The appointments also bring the commission back up to full membership. It has been short one man since George Pah resigned about two months ago.

Following C. Stanley Previle's resignation from the commission last night, the board appointed Robert Burmister to replace him.

Previle resigned because of the press of personal business.

James Cunningham was appointed to replace Pah.

Three terms which expired Monday were also filled last night. Charles Harris was reappointed, Gerald McNally was named to replace Clarence Reading and Raymond Stemple replaced Donald Von Rase.

of the primary grades—Why not set a little time aside to bring your students in for this special Christmas program.

Research Project Screens Rochester Kindergartners

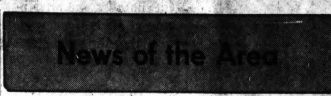

ROCHESTER — A project which researchers believe could eliminate a high percentage of the learning and behavior problems encountered by students is being launched here.

It's the screening of kindergarten students to detect minimal brain damage — a malfunction now thought to be more prevalent than anyone has heretofore suspected, according to Mrs. Sonya Friedman, Rochester schools psychologist.

The board of education has voted funds which would pay for the research, and has at the same time applied for a $10,500 federal grant to push the project.

According to Mrs. Friedman, Rochester might well be the only school district in the country set up to take advantage of the many new materials and training systems for detecting and helping such children.

Full of enthusiasm for the work which is being done under the auspices of Wayne State University, Mrs. Friedman hopes to win her doctorate with the project now under way.

7 VOLUNTEERS
Seven Rochester women, all with college experience, have volunteered for training in the area of testing and as teacher aides while the project progresses.

One kindergarten group from each of Rochester's elementary schools has been selected for the program. Some of these will be used as control units — the testing given, but no training follow-up made.

Two classes will be given training in auditory discrimination.

two in visual motor aids; and two in a combined program of both.

A follow-up at the end of the first grade will determine the impact of the program on the child's reading achievement — believed to be the basis of most learning.

PRESENT SYSTEM
As Mrs. Friedman explains, these are children who might well have high intelligence quotients, but who through a malfunction of the brain are unable to forge learning patterns under the present system of schooling.

These are the students, she points out, who accustomed to failure, are apt to be the drop-outs in later years.

It is her idea that should the research prove fruitful, the whole system of education for these children might be altered.

A child through with kindergarten, but as yet unready for first grade work as now prescribed, could enter what she calls a K-plus room where further training to overcome the handicap would be available.

She said if the research disproves her theories, it could mean serious reconsideration of perceptual development as now practiced in many schools.

Mrs. Friedman believes that a child with such a problem must be caught between the ages of 4 and 7 in order to completely overcome handicaps pertaining to learning.

"We expect to spot and help at least four or five students in each kindergarten group," she said.

Historian Named to State Position

ORION TOWNSHIP — John B. Fortier of Lansing, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fortier, 3947 Lapeer, has been appointed deputy historian of the Michigan Historical Commission.

He will head the historic sites program and will be assistant editor of "Michigan History" magazine.

Before assuming his current job, Fortier was historian of the Fort Massac project, near Metropolis, Ill.

He has also served as senior staff historian with the Fort of Louisbourg restoration in Nova Scotia.

Name Change Urged for Avondale District

By JEAN SAILE

In an attempt to rid it of a stigma from past controversy, schools within the Avondale District have begun a move to change the district's name.

Said Mrs. William M. Bergin, 1664 Ledbury, Bloomfield Township, "We don't want to create any kind of disturbance like we've had in the past."

"While I feel a change in the name is terribly important, I do not feel it's important enough to tear the district asunder again," she said.

The Avondale School District has had its ups and downs over the past few years — a series of downs beginning with a split board which in 1962 fired Leroy Watt, then superintendent of schools.

George Shackelford was then elevated from an elementary school principalship, and the board continued as divided as ever — to the point at one time where a board member took a swing at a teacher.

ON WAY UP
The election of 1965 gave the district a unified board and with the advent this spring of Schools Supt. John W. Dickey the district feels it's on its way up.

Mrs. Bergin appeared with G. C. Augsburg, 3631 E. South Bloomfield Township, before the board of education to cite reasons for the name change.

They asked that the names of Oakland Hills, University Hills and South Hills be considered.

The attempt at renaming the district, citizen-motivated, will have to be approved by a resolution of the board and approved by the county, according to Mrs. Bergin.

OTHER REASONS
Other reasons cited for the request was the name's effect on property values and on enticing new teachers to the district.

The request was summed up by Mrs. Bergin's statement: "We have changed the book and now it's time to change the cover."

Board members have not committed themselves on the name change idea.

Club, Dump Move Nearer in Addison

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—Prospects for a teen club and a dump, both new to the area, loomed larger at last night's zoning board meeting.

Provisional approval was given Ernest D. Cotter, 128 Army, for turning a huge barn on his property into a teen club.

The board required that Cotter enter into an agreement with the township regarding licensing and proper policing of the property.

Scheduled to open as soon as formal township approval is obtained, the barn, to be known as 'The Limberlost,' features a 35-by-100-foot dance floor.

The ground floor will provide lounge and kitchen facilities, according to Cotter. Remodeling of the property has been going on since last summer.

RETAIN MINIMUM
The zoning board voted to retain the 40,000-square-foot minimum in its suburban farm category.

Richard Young, chairman, reported the board adopted a resolution "concerning garbage dumps and sanitary landfills in the township."

The township at this point has no dump, he said, but in view of consideration being given the matter by the township board, a set of restrictions was felt to be necessary.

Banking Confab Post

About $100 million worth of coupons a year are redeemed at grocery stores for credit or purchase price of various items, according to the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

Milford Clerk Quits Post, Blames Lack of Assistance

MILFORD — Village Clerk Mrs. Margaret L. Knight has resigned, effective Friday.

She said she was resigning because she doesn't have enough help in the office.

Mrs. Knight was hired as treasurer six years ago and a year later became clerk.

A replacement has not yet been appointed but the council will have to take action soon, according to Village Manager Joseph S. Brophy, because "this is a critical time with the village primary elections coming up in February."

In other action the council voted to have the River Street Bridge repaired.

NOT IN BOND ISSUE
The bridge, which is currently closed, was destroyed when a truck fell through it. The bridge was not included in the bond issue on the September ballot which, if it had passed would have provided money for bridge repair work.

Brophy explained at the time that it was too close to the Huron Street bridge and not really necessary.

After plans and specifications for the bridge are drawn up, bids will be taken.

Troy Schools' Citizen Group Is Reactivated

TROY—As a first step toward solving a deficit of more than $250,000, the board of education has voted to reactivate its Citizens' Committee.

Though the matter is to be discussed more thoroughly at the next board meeting Dec. 27, the committee's job has already been outlined.

It will be expected to update enrollment projections, study architectural planning and a bond issue for completion of the second part of the district's five-year plan, prepare a long-range secondary organization plan, and work out the arrangements for financing.

The budget for this year leaves the district with a $239,000 deficit next June 30.

Dr. Rex B. Smith, schools superintendent, said that last month when the budget was adopted that "something had better be done about it this year."

ROCKY MOUNTAIN

Alton H. Smith meted out the sentence. Prince, employed by Mrs. Reimann at a Romeo nursery, changed his plea to guilty Dec. 11, the third day of his trial.

Mrs. Reimann, 71, was found bludgeoned and stabbed to death.

"Prince was one of three prisoners who tried to break out of the Macomb County jail Dec. 11, using home made knives and blackjacks fashioned of soap and socks. Two sheriff's men were injured in the aborted escape attempt. Prince and the two other prisoners were charged with attempted jailbreak and assault with intent to murder."

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: About what year was history started?

ANSWER: Everything that has happened is really history. However, we often use the word to mean human events which have been put down in some kind of writing. One can not give an exact date for the beginning of writing, but written records are in existence which are about 5,000 year old, so this would put the beginning of history at about 3000 B.C.

The earliest word writing (upper left) was developed by the Sumerians in Mesopotamia about 3000 B.C. or before; and from this came cuneiform writing, made by pressing the end of a tool into wet clay.

Meanwhile the Egyptians were developing their own form of picture writing, which later was called hieroglyphic.

The period of ancient history goes on to include the Greek and Roman civilizations, ending about 500 A.D.

From this to about 1500 is the Medieval period, the days of knights and castles. Modern history then begins, running from about 1500, the days of the great explorers, through the beginnings of science and industry, into our own times (4).

Apollo Maturing Process Seen as Nearly Complete

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON—Two of six fuel cell units were out and 4 of 16 maneuvering and control rockets failed.

"I think you could recognize that that is acceptable for Earth orbit where you can get back home in a relatively short period of time—in effect, push a button and you're down."

"But for the Lunar program, when it's three or four days before you can actually get back, that class of problems which was acceptable in Gemini would not be acceptable in Apollo."

"So, in effect," Shea said, "Apollo has a requirement for hardware maturity that is significantly higher than the similar requirements that we have had in Gemini."

To get that maturity, engineers first put Apollo equipment through rigorous ground testing to weed out as many trouble spots as possible before declaring a craft ready for flight.

Even the program's four-day Gemini 12 finale had troubles.

Louie disappeared.

"I'll take it," said Louie's mom.

"Louie, I got the tree!" she called.

"I don't want it," yelled Louie from the other side of the lot where he'd spotted a big, fat spruce. "I want this one."

He got it — the tree, I mean.

I had a certain awe for the man whose whole family arrived and stayed in the car while he — and he alone — picked and bargained for a tree.

NO SALE

After a half-hour he and Tom were within 50 cents of each other and the fellow — no wishy-washy haggler he — left minus tree.

They do that — they come and they go — some know immediately what they want — some take forever and still don't buy.

It's a funny business.

One thing, though, I'd forgotten about noses. Mine reacted to the cold weather like snow to heat.

You might say it was sort of a January thaw in December.

Fever Cases Up

WARREN (AP) — Health officials have reported three new cases of suspected scarlet fever in Warren's Holland Elementary school, raising to 36 the number of children infected by the disease.

LANSING (AP) — Higher rates became effective today on new and renewal policies of 188 companies writing 20 per cent of Michigan's auto insurance coverage.

Liability rates advanced an average of 7.1 per cent and $100 deductible collision rates an average of 4.9 per cent, after allowing for cuts in the cost of so-called comprehensive coverage.

The companies involved are affiliated with the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters or the National Automobile Underwriters Association, or both.

Michigan's top auto insurers — the Automobile Club of Michigan, State Farm and Allstate — are not affiliates.

The Automobile Club of Michigan announced it sees "no probability for a rate increase" in 1967 by its Detroit Automobile Insurance Exchange, the state's No. 1 insurer with 640,000 policies in force.

The auto club's agency has advanced its rates an average of 14 per cent since September 1965 and reported Tuesday that "this year we will show our first underwriting profit in 10 years." Its last increase was in March of this year.

Collision insurance with a $100 deductible clause, goes up $9 in most of Detroit; $10 in Pontiac; $8 in Flint and $6 in Ann Arbor, Monroe and Port Huron. Increases range from $5 down to $3 elsewhere.

There was no indication of rate increases by either State Farm or Allstate.

EFFECTIVE TODAY

State Insurance Commissioner David J. Dykhouse approved the new rates made effective today by the 188 companies, which boosted liability rates on commercial vehicles 14 per cent and advanced by 6.9 per cent the price of collision and comprehensive (fire, theft, windstorm, etc.)

Ruby's Condition Stays Unchanged

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, stricken with cancer, is reported to be receiving chemical treatments well.

Physicians at Parkland Hospital, where he is confined under guard, said Tuesday his condition was unchanged and he was resting.

The 55-year-old former Dallas nightclub operator has been in serious condition since being taken to the hospital from his county jail cell Dec. 9.

U.S., Russia Hail U.N. Gains

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Most U.N. delegates agreed today that the 21st session of the General Assembly had been a productive one with some notable achievements.

The United States and the Soviet Union, which joined forces to pave the way for unanimous approval of a treaty banning the use of outer space for war, both endorsed the accomplishments of the session that ended Tuesday.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg described the assembly as a constructive one. He expressed regret that it had witnessed no forward movement on Vietnam but said he believed progress had been made on disarmament, outer space and human rights.

Goldberg said the reappointment of U. Thant as secretary general "will stand first on the list of outstanding accomplishments of the session."

"GOOD ATMOSPHERE"

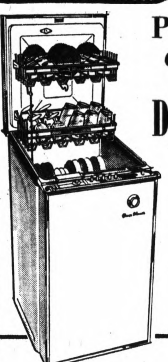

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the assembly had "considered important questions in a serious and urgent manner."

"As far as outer space is concerned," Fedorenko smilingly told a reporter, "the atmosphere was good."

Many delegates felt that the space agreement was the outstanding step taken during the three-month session and might pave the way for eventual East-West agreement on arms control on earth.

One out of three new U. S. cars has air conditioning.

School Center Plans Okayed

5-Story Facility to House County Service

Site development plans and the exterior color scheme for the proposed Oakland Schools educational center were approved yesterday by the building and grounds committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Final plans for the $2.5-million five-story facility in the county service center are scheduled for completion early next year.

The intermediate school system has entered a contract with the county for lease of 20 acres of service center land for the building.

Included in the agreement is a clause specifying that the school system's site plans be accepted by the county.

Completion of the 89,000-square-foot structure is anticipated by Aug. 31, 1968.

Grant to Bronson

JUDGE DECORATES — Magistrate Arthur L. Dunne of Chicago has unusual decorations for his courtroom tree. He uses items confiscated in gambling raids. On the tree are chains of policy slips, numbers game slips, varicolored dice and, at the top, a fake private detective badge.

Bonds on Ballot

LANSING (AP) — Two bond proposals totaling $10 million will be submitted to Lansing voters in the February elections. The proposals would be used to repair and build streets, buildings and parks.

Heating Equipment Installation Rules Passed

A new ordinance governing the installation of heating equipment was approved last night by the City Commission.

Object of the ordinance is to set up standards for the installation and service of heating equipment.

Specifically, the ordinance is aimed at combating scare tactics used in the selling and servicing of such equipment.

One innovation — termed the first in the state — is a provision whereby all heating systems for future new homes be designed for the addition of air-conditioning.

The new ordinance also covers many areas not covered by the former ordinance, such as the distribution system or ductwork.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the commission sold for $3,106, the appraised price, a portion of the old city-owned incinerator site at East Boulevard and Featherstone. The property was sold to the Northeast Community Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The commission approved removing the residential deed restrictions on property in South Park subdivision proposed for a future industrial park development.

A hearing was set for Jan. 10 on the $9.5-million budget approved by the Pontiac General Board of Trustees for 1967.

A series of alleys and streets were vacated in conjunction with the city's urban renewal plan.

AREAS INCLUDED

These included the west alley, Pike to the Clinton River; the east alley, Auburn to the river; Wessen, East Wide Track to West Wide Track; Parks, Judson to Auburn; and on Osburn and O'Riley, part of the alley north of Osburn between O'Riley and Perkins. Public hearings were ordered for Jan. 24.

Three public hearings were held last night: on vacating part of old Cass, north of Orchard Lake and west of East Wide Track; on vacating the alley south of and parallel to Mount Clemens, Kenilworth to Cameron; and on vacating part of Patterson, old Cass to South Saginaw, excluding the portion within West Wide Track.

The commission ordered a public hearing Jan. 3 on special assessments for a sanitary sewer on Durant from Pershing to a point 250 feet northwest.

Establishment of a 20-foot alley parallel to Osburn between O'Riley and Perkins was approved.

City Affairs

Application Unready

No Action on Revenue Bonds

The application to the Municipal Finance Commission for approval to issue $1.8 million in revenue bonds was not on last night's City Commission agenda.

The commission previously had been expected to take action on the application to provide financing for the Galloway Creek trunk sewer and a trunk line along a portion of Opdyke.

City Engineer Joseph E. Nepling said the paperwork was not complete to permit commission consideration.

4 Fall Into Hands of Law--Literally

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Four men literally fell into the hands of the law Tuesday.

The quartet fell through a ceiling of a home after a canine squad member led police from a burgled grocery to the residence.

The four were picked up on preliminary charges of burglary.

East, West Don't Meet

Nigeria Still a Torn Country

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP) — For a foreigner, arriving in the eastern region from another part of Nigeria is like entering another country. At Enugu's airport, police go through luggage, read every letter or document they find, frisk travelers and occasionally ask to see passports. Even Nigerians do not escape the police search. At a crossing point from western Nigeria, police and soldiers search Nigerians and confiscate any food they may be carrying; exports of foodstuffs from the eastern region are banned.

At a tiny airfield at Port Harcourt, the eastern region's oil seaport, Mark Lewis pleaded diplomatic immunity, as head of the Africa division of the U.S. Information Agency, and refused to submit to a search. He was carted off at gunpoint to a police station.

There Lewis won his point and was released. The U.S. Embassy in Lagos, the federal capital, has instructed its personnel to resist search.

PROTECTIVE WALL

All this is part of a protective wall the easterners have thrown up around the region as the result of a feud that has been going on for 300 years. It reinforces the regional government's line that it can break with the rest of Nigeria.

Industrious Ibo tribesmen dominate the eastern region, one of four virtually autonomous regions that make up the Federation of Nigeria.

Under British rule, which lasted nearly 100 years until 1960, Ibos emigrated to other parts of Nigeria, establishing themselves in business and commerce. Mostly they went to the northern region.

In recent months, resentful northerners have brought into the open charges that the Ibos want to dominate the north. As a result, thousands of Ibos fell victims to massacres while thousands more fled eastward to ancestral Ibo tribal homes.

TAX RESOURCES

This tremendous influx of refugees—eastern officials say there are a million of them—has taxed the resources of the land-cramped east. But it also has given the east a bargaining tool to get what it wants in current efforts to draw up a new constitution for the Nigerian federal government service to re-federation. It wants a loose turn to the east, estimates the federation of the four regions, value at more than $28 million, permitting the Ibos to rule their own area without fear of domination from other groups. An eastern secession could hurt Nigeria. Eastern officials say 42 per cent of the federal government's revenue, including 75 per cent of the $81 million of oil revenues, is generated in the east. But eastern investment in the rest of Nigeria is vast and eastern region has a population of 12 million. Some areas have population densities of 1,700 per square mile.

Dr. Pius Okigbo, who fled from the eastern region, said the Ibos have never seen their ancestral homes. Not counting refugees, the easterners stand to lose it if of 12 million. Some areas have population densities of 1,700 per square mile.

Customized Superpenicillin Is Said Feasible

By SCIENCE SERVICE

NEW YORK — The scientist who first synthesized penicillin says that the "molecular engineers" are becoming so good at tinkering with the structure of compounds they should be able to tailor-make a superpenicillin to combat any disease. Penicillins of one kind or another are already fighting their way back against the tide of other miracle drugs that make up the doctor's arsenal of broad-spectrum antibiotics.

These were among the findings reported by 900 medical scientists at a New York Academy of Sciences meeting here this week on the "comparative assessment of broad-spectrum penicillins."

The situation is complicated, they said, "by a fixed and mystical belief that if one antimicrobial agent is good, two must be as effective when used alone against bacterial meningitis. Ampicillin, a synthetic penicillin in use in this country for about two years, was described as effective when used alone against bacterial meningitis. One group reported the mortality rate was halved when Ampicillin was used alone instead of with chloramphenicol and streptomycin.

Was Cured of Punning, Then He Tried Just 1...

By DICK WEST

United Press International
WASHINGTON—A week or so ago I wrote that I had taken the pledge to abstain from punning.

As I explained at the time, my weakness for puns, the only flaw in an otherwise sterling character, was causing my family severe mental anguish. In short, I had become what sociologists refer to as a "problem punster."

For several days not a single pun passed my lips and I felt I was making real progress toward rehabilitation. Then who should hove into town but Ray Geiger of Lewiston, Maine, editor of the Farmer's Almanac.

As anyone can tell from reading his publication, Geiger is in the advanced stages of punsterism. When he is on the road he often starts punning before breakfast and keeps it up all day. Some day he puns alone in his hotel room at night.

He called me up and suggested we get together, but I wasn't sure I could trust myself in his company.

Finally I said to myself, "Look here, old boy. You can't just withdraw from the world. Sooner or later you've got to be around other people who pun."

You might as well start now."

Brave words. Nevertheless, when Geiger arrived for our appointment, my hands were trembling and my mouth was so dry it felt like my saliva glands were pumping antiperspirants.

He promptly started telling me about the 150th anniversary edition of the Farmer's Almanac, which is not to be confused with the 175th anniversary edition of the old Farmer's Almanac.

"We've got some real goodies this time," he said. "How about this one? The candlemaker still has the best job. He works only on wick ends."

STEADY, BOY

I had to grab the edge of the chair to steady myself.

"Here's one with a seasonal twist," Geiger continued. "Christmas shoppers are people with the spirit of brotherly shove."

I licked my lips, which were quivering. There was reddish film over my eyes.

"Yes sir," Geiger was saying. "When people go out Christmas shopping they lose all their shell control."

At this point I told myself that one quick one wouldn't hurt me. Christmas just isn't Christmas without a pun or two.

"Geiger," I said, "I rule be the death of me yet."

There is no recounting what happened after that. The last "Look here, old boy. You can't just withdraw from the world. Sooner or later you've got to be around other people who pun."

You might as well start now."

London's Miniskirts High All Winter Long

LONDON (AP) —The dolly girls of swinging London are ushering in the first long winter of the world's shortest skirts. Paradoxical as ever, the London scene on the eve of winter is a phantasmagoria of bearskins and bare skins.

In their lofty headgear known as bearskins, the guards guard Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham Palace, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester at St. James's Palace, and the royal jewels at the Tower of London.

But out in front of the royal establishments, and indeed, all over London, thousands of the sovereign's miniskirted subjects trip to work showing vast expanses of sheer-stockinged bare skins.

COURAGEOUS OR CRAZY?

And on this misty, chilly, soggy, island, that's not style — it's sheer courage. Or craziness. Or both.

How do they do it? A personal poll of some of the pretties revealed a lot.

They do it because the clothing manufacturers actually brought back old-fashioned underwear, craftily camouflaged as a space age style gimmick. Called tights, they're really fashionable longjohns from long ago.

Sold in a multitude of colors, with silver the most favored, they begin at midlength and, hugging flesh every inch of the way, stretch upward to clutch her waist.

VARIETY OF DESIGNS

These smarted-up longjohns, which could more properly be called longjigs, retail in a variety of designs — diamonds, flowers, vines, birds, boats, bees, serpents, dragons, flaming goes, spiders and just plain old fisherman fish nets.

The all-enveloping body stocking, reaching from loofies to toes, is another comforting gadget for winter.

In Britain's wintry blasts, however, tights and body stockings are not enough. Beneath the tights and body stockings, in the middle altitudes, the girls wear a shortie version of real heavy drawers, disguised as tailored briefs or panties.

London designer Mary Quant has introduced knickers to match minidresses and miniskirts. These are really streamlined bloomers from yesteryear.

PROCLAMATION

Let no one ever say the British dollys wear no more beneath their miniskirts than the Scot is supposed to wear beneath his kilt.

As a fashion writer has proclaimed: "Under the miniskirt there have to be stocking tights and decent panties. Under the skinniest sweater there's got to be a bra, though it holds rather than molds and never, but never, protrudes."

Well, the London dollys may be mini-d and moulded and never protruding and even willing to talk about the winter, but in a personal poll only Rosemary Williams would talk about it all by name.

"My hem is now 11 inches above my knees," she said, "or 2½ inches down from the top of my thigh."

And what's underneath? "Plenty," she smiled, "but like coconuts, those garments are up near the top of the tree."

DON'T MIND TALKING

Other girls questioned along Skipton Road — the main street of Chelsea — said they didn't mind talking about winter and the miniskirt but didn't want their names printed.

"Daddy would die," said a pert redhead, "if he read of me talking about my undies. Why, he still calls them unmentionables." A dark-haired, doe-eyed girl from Dublin, who said she'd been working in London and living just off King's Road for two years, answered: "Get cold in a miniskirt? No. Men never understand why or where a girl gets cold. My feet get cold, and as you can see I'm wearing boots. So there now," Mister Questions-and-Answers.

Lab Instrument Expert on Gin

By Science Service LONDON — An instrument used in the laboratory of the British government chemist has qualified as a master gin-taster, capable of distinguishing between different brands.

The story of how the instrument, a gas chromatograph, proved its worth in court has just been revealed here.

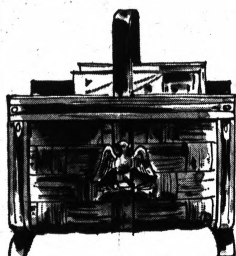

The London Metropolitan Police and the customs were trying to trace the disappearance of some casks of gin. It was thought it had been bottled and was being sold as a well-known brand.

Samples from 17 bottles of suspect gin were fed to the instrument, which drew graphs demonstrating the chemical content. The chromatograph was then fed some authentic samples of the branded gin and a set of profiles was produced with noticeably different features.

The suspect gin was thus found to be a different brand from that on the label and a successful court prosecution followed.

20-Year-Old Girl Plays Lead Role in Staging

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
Barbara-Mae Phillips must get a little tired of being asked, "Aren't you rather young for the job of stage manager?"

But she smiles politely and answers, "Yes, I am young," and lets it go at that. She is stage manager of the Meadow Brook Theatre, scheduled to have its premiere performance in two weeks.

But this young woman in a big job is experienced beyond her 20 years.

Before her graduation from high school in Levittown, Pa., she had worked in every theatrical production the school presented and in summer stock. She was always backstage on the production staff.

She apprenticed at Philadelphia's Playhouse in the Park and earned a $250 technical scholarship. This was theatre in the round.

That fall, failing to find a theatrical job in New York City, Barbara took a nine-to-five job in the communications department of Family Circle Magazine — and hated it.

The next spring she quit and went back to the Playhouse for the summer as property mistress and "ran the show from the floor."

A third summer at the Playhouse saw her in a more responsible position as unofficial stage technician.

STUDIED ACTING

In between these summers Barbara-Mae studied acting at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City.

A year ago she did the props for a touring company of "Porgy and Bess." She served three months as assistant treasurer in the Mineola Theatre (in Long Island), studied a bit more at the academy and returned to Philadelphia for her fourth summer.

This time she was officially the show technician, the first woman to have this title in the non-Equity position.

It was there that she worked with Eric Berry, a friend of John Fernald, director of the Meadow Brook Theatre. Berry is now a member of the John Fernald Company.

HER JOB

What does a stage manager do, we asked.

"I'm the watchdog," says Barbara-Mae.

When the show rehearsals start, she blocks out all action with the director and then makes sure the actors stick to that plan.

She sees that rehearsal props are on hand.

She cues in lights with the assistant stage manager.

She knows the sound cues and uses a tape recorder for them during rehearsal.

She gets the actors on stage on time and watches out for Equity rules.

Actors Equity Association is the actors' union. This is her first Equity position.

Michigan is the farthest from home Barbara-Mae has ever been. She'd never flown before her arrival last month and she didn't like that flight.

She shares one of the trailers in the former Wilson barnyard with Angela Wood, a Canadian actress. Their living quarters are much to her liking, except for the eternal mud surrounding "trailer town."

The two girls will have a tree for Christmas. They're invited to the Fernalds' home for Christmas night. The rest of the three-day holiday they'll relax or trailer hop.

What Barbara-Mae will probably miss most of all this Christmas is seeing her five-year-old brother. She also has an older brother who's married.

This Reader Got Wrong Impression

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I heartily disagree with your information on how to introduce a mother-in-law. My father and my husband always introduced their mothers-in-law as my wife's mother or as Stella's mother, and it is so much nicer and does not involve that much maligned phrase "mother-in-law."

I do the same for my father-in-law and introduce him as John's father. I think you must agree that it brings the family into a much nicer vein of thought. John's Wife.

Dear John's Wife: You misunderstood my answer. I simply do not think it friendly to introduce your in-laws as "Mr." or "Mrs. Jones" without explaining the relationship. I heartily agree with you — "my husband's mother" or "Mary's father, Mr. Smith" is as nice a form, or more so, than "my father-in-law, Mr. Smith."

THEATREGOER

Dear Mrs. Post: I wish you would comment on members of a theater audience who go out during intermissions and return after the lights are out and the curtain has gone up.

It is most annoying to those of us who remain seated, and it seems to happen more and more often. Lucille K.

Dear Lucille: All I can say is that I agree with you one hundred per cent. It is not only infuriating to the people trying to watch the performance, it is disconcerting to the actors.

INTRODUCTIONS?

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I went to call on new neighbors recently. I knew them both slightly but my sister did not. When we arrived Mr. Smith was not in, but came in shortly thereafter.

I would like to know whose place it was to introduce my sister to him — mine or his wife's? Helen

Dear Helen: His wife's, as hostess. But if she hesitated or it appeared that she did not remember your sister's name, then you should have stepped in and done the honors.

"How to plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this new 16-page booklet will help in preparing for the "perfect" wedding.

She'll Be Hostess

Mrs. Truman Lamphere of Genella Street will host the annual Christmas cooperative dinner Thursday at 6:30 p.m. for the Fashion Your Figure Club of Pontiac.

At home in the trailer she shares with one of the actresses in the John Fernald Company, Barbara-Mae heats soup. She's delighted with the living arrangements, her first experience in a mobile home. For the life she leads, Barbara finds this olive green corduroy pants suit ideal.

AAUW Has Chinese Dinner

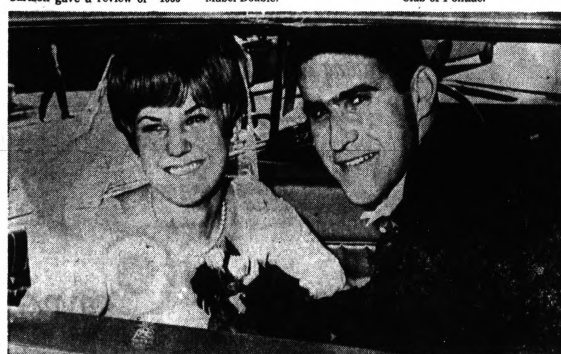

A new twist to the annual Christmas party of the Pontiac branch, American Association of University Women, came Monday evening when members and guests gathered at Joy Gardens for a Chinese dinner.

The Gourmet and the Arts and Crafts units arranged details.

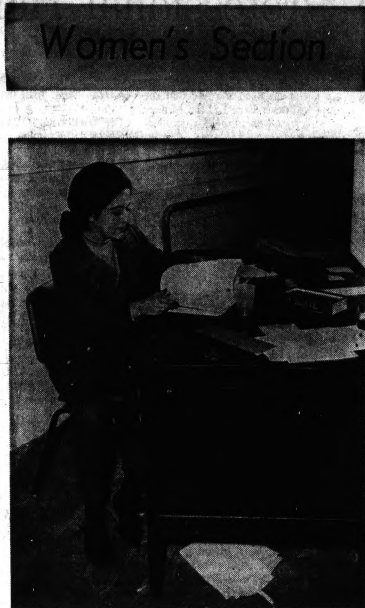

Following dinner, Mrs. E. C. Carlson gave a review of "1000 Springs" by Anna Chennault, the Chinese wife of the late Gen. Clare Chennault of Flying Tiger fame.

The hostess committee included Mesdames Gerald Frericks, Tom Metzdorf, Stewart Kenney, Charles Colberg, Tom Reese, Donald LaVire, Robert Lawyer, Francis McDowell and Miss Mabel Double.

Personal Notes

The Robert Glens of Bloomfield Hills will have Christmas dinner for their mothers, Mrs. Howard D. Glenn of Franklin Boulevard and Mrs. Victor E. Nelson of East Iroquois Road.

Their eldest son David will be home for the holidays from his studies at Michigan State. Helping to celebrate will be the Glens' other children, Richard, Barbara and Phyllis.

Coming from Providence, R.I. to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Biallas of Croft Hill Drive, will be Dr. and Mrs. Michael Biallas and infant daughter, Laurie.

Accompanying them will be Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown of Newcastle, England.

Dr. Brown is engaged in postdoctoral research at Brown University where Dr. Biallas is an instructor.

On Christmas day Mrs. Biallas has planned a traditional holiday feast with the above group and the Thomas Chapdelaines with their children, Terri, Peggy, David and Michael.

FAMILY REUNION

The Gerald Hunts of West Iroquois Road will have a household of relatives over the Christmas weekend.

On Thursday, their son David will arrive from Houston, Tex. A second son, John, with his wife and son Jay, is coming from East Lansing.

Mrs. Hunt's aunt, George P. Curtin, her sister Janet and her brother and sister-in-law, the Rex Curtins will come from Houston and Baytown, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Curtin and their three children of Albuquerque, N.M. are also expected to arrive on Friday.

Mr. Hunt's aunt, Miss Bertha Hutson of Onida Road, will join the group on Christmas Day.

Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Hathaway of Bloomfield Hills will be the Christmas day guests of their son Lee, his wife and three children of Schwartz Creek.

They will return to host their daughter and son-in-law, the Darwin Spearings of Ann Arbor and their son Dana, for the duration of the holiday season.

FROM WEST

Spec. 4 and Mrs. Dennis L. Levitt have arrived from Fort Lewis, Wash. to spend Christmas evening with members and guests gathered at Joy Gardens for a Chinese dinner.

On Christmas Day, Mrs. Dunigan's mother, Mrs. Levy Harrison and son James of North Perry street will be dinner guests.

See Marriage Counselor

Need Professional Help

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife's best friend gave her a tip. She should aggravate me real good so I would sock her. Then she would have a case against me and wouldn't have any trouble getting a divorce and a nice settlement.

Our marriage is far from perfect, but if I can stand her, she can stand ME until we get our kids raised. We have five who are still in school. I can't raise them alone, and I don't intend to let her take them away from me. After 12 years of marriage she decided we don't have anything "in common."

How do you like that? Five kids, two cars, a $65,000 home, and I'm insured for $125,000, and we have "nothing" in common. What is your advice?

NO DIVORCE
DEAR NO: I recommend a marriage counselor... and right now! And tell your wife to tell her friend to quit practicing law without a license.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old college male who has been dating a sophomore girl exclusively for nearly three months. I thought things were fine until we had a talk last night. She said she liked me and that she had never been treated so nicely by anyone, but that my kindness, respect, and sincerity "scared" her so we shouldn't date each other "for a while."

I always thought girls liked to be treated with kindness, respect and sincerity. What does a guy have to do to please a girl these days—punch her in the mouth?

"BRISTLING" AT MSC
DEAR "BRISTLING": Take her advice, and date someone else "for a while." (P.S. Quit bristling, Buddy, I think you're getting the brush.)

DEAR ABBY: We are considerably upset by a letter recently published in your column signed SEATTLE, who suggested that everyone who drives a motorcycle is a bum.

We are college students who find motorcycles to be a convenient and inexpensive means of transportation. They present a minimum of parking problems, and are relatively "safe" as they are not driven by people who are busy listening to the radio and paying attention to things other than driving.

Please print this in defense of all the sane, responsible people who drive motorcycles. Thank you.

MARK, SAM, LARRY, MIKE, SCOTT, TOM, AND WAYNE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STANDING FIRM": Examine your position objectively. Stubbornness we criticize, but firmness we condone. The former is our neighbor's trait, the latter is our own.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BILL JOHNSON IN IOWA CITY: You're half right. I am indeed from Sioux City, Iowa. But I did not attend the University of Iowa. My alma mater is Moraine College.

Depression Is Symptom of Suicide

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The normally efficient, neat housewife suddenly begins to let her work slide and neglects to put on makeup or comb her hair.

She finds it difficult to sleep at night and wakes up with a backache. She loses weight and feels generally worthless and guilty.

CLASSIC SYMPTOMS

Her outward complaint may be a backache, but she presents the classic symptoms of depression. And she is a potential suicide.

So suggests Dr. Bryant H. Roisum in "GP," journal of the American Academy of General Practice. Dr. Roisum is assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Wisconsin medical school, Madison, and chairman of the psychiatry department at Madison General Hospital.

Suicide is a major public health problem, ranking among the 10 leading causes of death in the U.S., Roisum says. And depression is a frequent cause of suicide.

"The diagnosis of depression is not difficult," Roisum says, "yet it is one of the most frequently missed diagnoses in medicine."

Although it sometimes takes other forms, its clear-cut signs are insomnia, slowing down of physical and mental activity, loss of appetite and weight loss, and feelings of guilt and worthlessness.

NEED TREATMENT

"All depressions must be considered potential suicides," Roisum says. "Psychiatric consultation and treatment may make the difference between life and death."

Won't Slip Away

Fold a piece of sandpaper, rough side up over the edge of a table or counter before fastening food chopper in place. Prevents chopper from slipping even when pressure is applied.

Time Enough for an Angel

Here's an idea for an extra holiday accessory that can be made those last few days before Christmas. The youngsters too will enjoy this holiday project as they await Santa's visit.

In this angel pattern, or any design you choose, paper-mache ornaments, to hang on doors or walls, suspend from the ceiling, or use as package ties-on, are easy and fun to make.

Cut holiday shapes from cardboard. Tear dinner napkins in strips (torn edges blend better than cut). Soak napkin strips in white glue and water, mixed half and half. Apply to cardboard, building up the paper-mache to desired thickness and texture. Let dry overnight. Add designs and features with tempera paints. Cover with lacquer or clear varnish, if desired.

Yet Another Wedding Site Found

ROBINSON, Ill. (UP)—There have been all kinds of settings for weddings, but a Ft. Wayne, Ind., couple came up with a different one.

Janet Elaine Dehnert, 18, and John Kent Peterson, 25, were married in a local drug store. Witnesses were the pharmacist and a drug store customer.

They attempted to get married in Bloomington, Ind., where the bride is a student, but they were told Indiana law made it necessary that they marry in Ft. Wayne where the license had been obtained.

When they were advised they could get married in Illinois, the couple drove to Robinson, near the Illinois-Indiana border, where they obtained another license. Magistrate Ray Wesner was contacted and met them at Thompson's Drug Store at 7:30 p.m.

To the strains of recorded formal music, Wesner performed the marriage ceremony.

Successful Therapy Hinges on Trust

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I have been in therapy with a clinical psychologist for over a year. I went into treatment for nervousness after my mother's death and my father's almost immediate remarriage.

But I do not think my doctor has helped me. If I do not agree with what he tells me about myself, he accuses me of "resistance." As you seem to know something about psychotherapy, please tell me if you think I should leave this therapist and find another one.

ANSWER: It's not my business to tell you that. However it is my business to say that I wouldn't spend 10 minutes with a psychotherapist who talked his professional language to me. I'd say to myself, "My goodness, I am not paying this man to teach me his language. I'm paying him to talk to me in mine."

In an article by Dr. Howard Kelman, a distinguished psychoanalyst, I find this statement:

"You will not turn out to be a rubber stamp of your analyst's thinking. It is not important that you agree in details, but it is important that you be in agreement with the essentials of his view of life."

With this cue, you should be able to make up your own mind about this man. It would certainly end him for me for I do not like bullies of any kind, with or without psychology degrees. So, were I involved with a therapist who used the authority-packed word "resistance" to compel me to agree to some opinion he advanced, I'd be gone like a shot.

I would know that essential agreement on a basic view of life did not exist between us.

The goal of psychotherapy is our self-trust. It is a development of our trust in the therapist or teacher. If one feels this trust, one could not possibly use the word "accuse" in reference to his opinions.

One is too conscious of his benevolent and enlightening concern for one's growth to be able to even think of such a word in connection with him. So, though I'm not going to let you trick me into bullying you by "telling" you to quit this man, I am entitled to say that I think he sounds horrid.

A good therapist does not waste time by scolding us for "resistance" to him. He knows that sooner or later our trust of him will compel us to give serious consideration to what he said. Never does he bully. NEVER.

Nassau Trip for Couple After Vows

Off on a Nassau honeymoon are the Dominick David Vocinos (Bonnie Arlene Marlowe of Detroit) who were wed Sunday in the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

A champagne reception in the Grill Room and dinner in the Athenian Room followed the noon ceremony performed by Rabbi M. Robert Syme and Cantor Harold Orbach of Temple Israel, Detroit.

The bride is the daughter of Philip V. Marlowe, recently of Pontiac, and the late Mrs. Lillian Marlowe. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Matteo Vocino of Detroit and the late Mr. Vocino.

Over her sheath gown of re-embroidered Alencon lace over silk, the bride wore a sleeveless coat of white peau de sole, and a bouffant veil of illusion.

ROSES, IVY

Cascading white butterfly roses and ivy rested on her Confirmation Bible.

Lynne Marlowe was her sister's honor attendant with Nancy Karch as bridesmaid. Richard Sparr of Detroit was best man. Herbert Spiwak of Oak Park seated the guests.

The couple who attended Michigan State University will live in Detroit.

Hate to Iron, This May Be the Answer

Can you imagine the luxury of ironed sheets — without the ironing? Or corduroy slacks that never get baggy in the knees? Both are possible if you look for durable or permanent press articles when you shop.

What kind of things are being made permanent press? Just about anything that can be made of one of the man-made fibers or a blend of cotton or rayon and a man-made fiber — cotton and Dacron or rayon and Fortrel, for example. Even all-cotton durable press is beginning to appear.

Most garment manufacturers agree that tumble drying is a must for maximum no-iron performance. A modern automatic dryer has a wash-and-wear cycle that provides the heat and tumbling necessary for removing wear wrinkles. For best results, avoid overloading the dryer and be sure to remove the articles as soon as the dryer stops.

Of course, permanent press articles can be line-dried, but in that case they will usually need touch-up ironing. The washing procedure is also much more critical when a dryer is not used. Care must be taken to avoid wrinkling during the spin portion of the wash cycle.

A wash-and-wear cycle on a washer is designed to give this special care, either by cooling down the washwater before the spin portion of the cycle starts, or by providing a slow spin. If you don't have a washer with a wash-and-wear cycle, you can duplicate either of these two procedures by manually adjusting the washing controls.

Try Imagination

DEAR POLLY — Those who find it difficult to wrap attractive gifts for a nominal cost might try my idea. I buy rolls of shelf paper which is less expensive than gift wrap.

This paper comes in plain colors and patterns, too, but I prefer working with plain colors as this leaves room for more imaginative trimming. I always save artificial flowers, broken jewelry, bits of lace and rickrack, scraps of net and so on. Even plastic mesh bags that come filled with fruit or vegetables come in handy.

Flowers, kittens, puppies or anything attractive may be cut from greeting cards received throughout the year, then use your imagination as you "play" with all the things at hand that may be utilized for the loveliest and most economical packages you have ever had.

Do not forget the possibilities for using cutouts from Christmas cards, gummed stars and tiny tree ornaments which can be used to great advantage on Christmas gifts. —MRS. P. C.

DEAR POLLY — If you have several small children, wrap each child's Christmas gifts in a different color of tissue paper — red for Tom, green for Tim and so on. This makes for faster sorting on Christmas Eve and faster distribution on Christmas morning.—JANET

DEAR POLLY — I am a nine-year-old reader of the column and have a Pointer that may help other little girls like me. I make clothes hangers for my Barbie doll clothes out of bobby pins.

I bend each end out flat and hang the curved center over the rod in my Barbie doll case. All her clothes are then hung neatly on these hangers.—LINDA

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — Can anyone tell me how to wrap a package with a bow on top so it can be sent by mail without mashing the bow? All I can think of is to wrap the bow with tissue paper or to cover it with a small box. Any other ideas? —MRS. R. H.

DEAR MRS. R. H. — Just the other day a package was safely delivered to me with a piece of cardboard around the bow on top. The cardboard had been cut in a strip that was as wide as the bow was high and then taped together in a circle that would fit right over the top of the bow. —POLLY

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Felt is really "in" with the fun fashions and what better time than when we're all running around in circles trying to get ready for the holidays. You can whip up some dresses for the children or yourself in nothing flat.

Felt is a pressed type fabric, therefore the grain isn't too important. However, always check on this to be sure the cross-grain doesn't appear to be a different color. For real quickies eliminate the hem, just cut it off. Neck facings can be made in a firm cotton, or better yet, bind the neckline and the armholes with the bias, woven braid-type binding (be sure to cut off 1/2 inch seamline first).

Zippers may be inserted the regular way, however, for small girls' dresses, just slit the back of the neckline and close with a snap or tiny button. Let your imagination run wild, after all, this is going to be a fun dress.

You may try a full length hostess dress of pastel felt for a real party stopper. Complete this picture with a bouquet of felt flowers attached loosely at the hem with yarn. Finish with a velvet ribbon around the hem, ending with a bow at the end of the flowers.

If you use a poinsettia trim or any other design, remember that felt can be glued on in minutes and works beautifully that way.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Maybelle White of Willis, Mich., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following suggestion.

In working with bonded fabrics, I've found that the neck and armhole facings of the same fabric turn out rather bulky. After cutting the facings, just peel off the bond or backing before sewing to your garment. You will have a much smoother fit and also a facing the same color of your garment.

Dear Eunice Farmer,

What makes my darts pucker on the end in the skirts I make. I am large through the hips! Mrs. B. G.

Dear Mrs. B. G.:

The size of your hips is not the reason the darts pucker. Darts pucker at the end simply because they are too "fat" at the end. In other words they have not tapered gradually enough. Actually, you shouldn't be able to tell just where the dart ended; it is run off to narrow at the end.

The darts at the front of your skirts should never be more than 1/2 inch long. Try remarking your darts and stitching them in this manner, and I don't think you'll have any more trouble. Also, be sure to begin at the wide end and stitch to the point (never begin at the point).

Dear Eunice Farmer,

A collar I just finished was so thick and bulky, and I am wondering if it is because the interfacing and the under-collar were both cut on the straight grain? Mrs. B. H.

Dear Mrs. B. H.:

This could definitely be the reason. The undercollar and the interfacing should both be cut with the center-back cut on the bias grain. You will be delighted with your new collars. They conform to the curve of your own neck much nicer.

Economical Beauty Aid

Latest Department of Labor statistics indicate that two of every five women in the United States are wage earners. This totals up to approximately 27 million business and professional careers.

Both white collar and blue collar girls learn quickly how much personal appearance adds to their ability to earn a living. That is why a goodly portion of their earnings goes toward cosmetics and other personal improvements. This is not a luxury nor mere vanity. It is a sound career investment.

With cosmetics and other beauty treatments, as with business investments, there are bargains that the thrifty gal seeks out. Take the all-important facial mask, for example. Here are three beneficial masks that can be made from ingredients to be found in the refrigerator, pantry or medicine chest.

Dry Skin Mask. Place three tablespoons of powdered milk in a saucer. Add one teaspoon of boric acid. Stir in enough good quality witch hazel to form a creamy paste. Spread over the face and allow to dry. Remove with warm water.

Tonic Mask. Make a paste of a half-cup of buttermilk and cornmeal. Spread over the face with a massaging action. Let dry and remove with water. This mask removes flakiness from skin and tones the face.

Instant Mask. When there isn't time for the luxury of a long-drying mask, spread the white of an egg over the face. It dries quickly and is easily removed with plain water. Pat the face dry and splash with witch hazel. Let the solution dry by itself. This completes the toning action and closes the pores.

Use a Towel

In fixing a tray for an ill person, cover it first with a small, bright, terry-cloth towel. It gives a bright note to the meal and keeps dishes from sliding. It is easily laundered.

He'll think of you tenderly every morning all year long!

Because you gave him a cord/cordless REMINGTON 500 SELEKTRONIC

This dial makes the difference. It has 4 positions that adjust the shaving heads for any combination of skin and beard. Dial TRIM for perfect sideburn trimming. Dial CLEAN for instant cleaning. The 500 has 3 of the thinnest, sharpest shaving heads that ever came near a face. In fact, he'll get a shave so close, he'll need the dial to protect him. The 500 SelektroNik shaver's cord/cordless sure-on-rechargeable energy cells work with a cord too.

Brochure Answers Floor Questions

Ever wonder how to remove a troublesome stain from the kitchen floor? Or how to go about selecting the proper wax? Or how to save time caring for wood floors? Wonder no more! A new brochure, "What Every Homemaker Should Know About Floor Care," answers these and other questions concerning floor maintenance. Prepared by the Armstrong Cork Company, a leading manufacturer of floors and floor-care products, the brochure contains valuable, time-saving information for housewives.

According to Armstrong, more than 10 million homemakers are puzzled by the wide variety of floor-care products and conflicting claims as to what each one will do. The brochure is designed to end the confusion by providing easy-to-understand suggestions.

The first section of the five-part brochure deals with maintenance tips for vinyl flooring. It reviews the kinds of wax that are available, then tells how to wash and wax floors with clean-and-polish or self-polishing waxes.

Section two centers on caring for wood floors, with particular emphasis on how to save time with one-step, self-polishing cleaner-waxes.

The third section goes into the problem of selecting a good wax for resilient floors. Of particular interest here, says Armstrong, is a discussion of what makes waxes different and what to look for when choosing a wax.

Hints for removing spots and stains from floors make up the fourth portion of the brochure.

For a free copy of "What Every Homemaker Should Know About Floor Care," write to Floor-Care Information Service, Armstrong Cork Company, Lancaster, Pa. 17604.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Delgado of Ojista Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Amelia Maria, to Lance Cpl. David Rojas Jr., son of Mrs. Angela Rojas of Judson Street and David Rojas of Portland Street, West Bloomfield Township. Her fiancé is stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Men's Clothing Takes on Daring

Men's slack fashions for Fall-Winter 1966 are more imaginative and daring than ever! Two fabrics, corduroy and hogsback, are generating the biggest excitement in texture.

Men can expect more emphasis on coordinating slacks with sport jackets, sweaters and blazers of the same color family, one garment in pattern and other in a solid color.

Although it is a national military cemetery, Arlington is the resting place of hundreds of distinguished civilians.

Mocha Flavored Mold Full of Dates, Nuts

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

If yours is a family that does not care for a dessert as heavy as plum pudding, perhaps you will like this gelatin dessert. It will have a holiday air about it if you mold it in bell or tree molds.

Mrs. N. K. Buch of Lake Angelus Golfview Estates is our cook of the day.

DATE DELIGHT

By Mrs. N. K. Buch

1 envelope plain gelatin

1 cup cold water

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1 cup strong hot coffee

1/4 cup sugar

1 tablespoon cocoa

1/4 teaspoon salt

1 cup sliced dates

1/4 cup coarsely chopped nuts

1/2 cup heavy cream whipped (or 1 cup dessert topping mix)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add sugar, salt, cocoa, hot coffee and lemon juice. Stir until dissolved.

Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add dates and nuts.

Prepare whipped cream or dessert topping mix and fold into chilled mixture with vanilla.

Pour into oiled molds. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream or topping and nuts.

If used as a salad, top with sour cream and garnish with prunes filled with cream cheese. Makes six servings.

Disney Scorned by Financiers

Empire's Early Years Shaky

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Walter Elias Disney was a very special man, even in Hollywood, headquarters for offbeat types. This is the third of five stories about Walt Disney by AP columnist Bob Thomas.)

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD — At the time of his death last Thursday, Walt Disney's entertainment empire was so wide-spread and prosperous that it seemed impossible he had known times when his studio had faced extinction.

THOMAS

Yet until the last decade of his life, Disney was scorned by many financial minds who considered him a poor risk, a visionary who would bring his company to the edge of insolvency to accomplish dreams.

For the first 30 years of his film enterprises, the pattern was the same: Walt got the ideas and his brother Roy got the money. But more than once the ideas outdistanced the money.

It started as early as 1923. Walt had come to Hollywood with plans of breaking into the movies. He originally wanted to be a director, but no studio wanted to hire a 22-year-old Kansas City boy with no experience. So he decided to do the thing he knew: make cartoons.

RELUCTANT LOAN

"Where can we get the money?" he asked Roy. The older brother found a source: an uncle who made a reluctant loan of $500. They were in business. Later when Walt had trouble interesting major studios in his new character, Mickey Mouse, he thought of a way to put it across: with sound. Talkies were coming in, but nobody had put sound to cartoons and experimenting would cost money. Roy found the cash and Walt recorded the sound track in New York. Mickey Mouse became a star.

The Disney resources were again pushed to the limit with the first all-cartoon feature, "Snow White." Walt had hoped to make the film for a million dollars, but the total came to WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, in its final survey of the year, has estimated this year's production of corn for grain in Michigan at 94,269,000 bushels and of winter wheat at 30,480,000 bushels.

Michigan ranked third in the nation in production of apples, behind Washington and New York.

The acreage harvested, the yield per acre and production, respectively of important crops in Michigan included:

Corn for grain—1,407,000; 67 and 94,269,000 bushels.

Winter wheat—762,000; 40 and 30,480,000 bushels.

Oats—563,000; 44 and 24,772,000 bushels.

Soybeans for beans—480,000; 22.5 and 10,800,000 bushels.

Sugar beets—73,720; 15.4 and 1,135,000 tons.

Apples—(production only)—16,000,000 bushels.

Peaches—(production only)—1,000,000 bushels.

Potatoes—43,000; 185 and 7,965,000 hundredweight.

Dry beans—644,000; 1,260 and 8,114,000.

$1.7 million because of his search for perfection. The treasury was depleted for an unproved project; nobody knew if audiences would sit still for a full-length feature with cartoon characters.

The euphoria that followed the success of "Snow White" sent Walt on a spending spree: "Bambi" cost $1.7 million, "Fantasia" $2.2 million, "Pinocchio" $2.6 million. Then Roy called a halt.

NO MORE MONEY

"There isn't any more money, Walt," he told his brother. "Those new features wiped out all the profits that 'Snow White' made, and our foreign market is knocked out by the war. We've got to tighten our belts."

The Disney studio limped through the war, making training films and propaganda movies.

Walt had a rough time, gearing the studio for the peacetime market. He experimented with films that were a musical vaudeville and with movies that combined animation with live action. None seemed to click.

Walt moved boldly into non-cartoon features and scored a hit with his most expensive film, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." The cartoons were succeeding, notably "Cinderella" and "Lady and the Tramp," and so were the nature films such as "The Living Desert."

The Disney fortunes were climbing, but Walt had another dream: an amusement park full of fun and imagination. But he didn't know how to finance it.

TELEVISION

"I've got it," he decided one weekend night. "The networks have been wanting me to go into television. I'll give them a show—if they'll help me build the park."

ABC agreed to help finance Disneyland, but Walt still didn't have enough to finish the park. He borrowed on his life insurance for added money.

"Disney's folly," as the scoffers called it, opened its gates July 17, 1955, and proved one of the great successes of entertainment history. Thereafter, Roy Disney had little trouble finding the money to fulfill Walt's dreams.

Next: The Disney philosophy in its own words.

Rhodesia Holiday Will Be Limited

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — White Rhodesians, about to enter their second year of sanctions, are determined to make the best of things with a "compromise Christmas."

"There's virtually nothing people want for Christmas presents that we can't get," said the manager of a leading city store.

"It may not always be the exact make or brand they want. Customers are having to compromise and take something that's similar. They are doing so without grumbling."

Sanctions, he said, have not prevented Rhodesian businessmen from getting most imports they seek. Government import controls, limiting the amount of foreign exchange available to pay for them, have reduced the quantity available. Controls are heaviest on goods classed as "luxury and nonessential."

STORES BUSY

Stores are full of people. One try to forget the fact that most carries 200 different children's countries of the world are challoos instead of the usual several. Another has only steadily worsening economic some of the brand names in problems.

For white Rhodesians, from the city dweller to the farmer, the prospects for 1967 are not bright. With the sanctions getting tighter, the economic situation is hardly likely to improve.

But at Christmas, they will try to forget the fact that most carries 200 different children's countries of the world are challoos instead of the usual several. Another has only steadily worsening economic some of the brand names in problems.

One of the best things about a clearance at HHS is that so many famous brands are featured: brands nationally famous for quality, style, and value. And because they're excellent values at their regular prices, they're outstanding at these reductions. The size of the selection is rewarding, too: 1-, 2-, and 3-button suits in many style variations; topcoats and outercoats in raglan, split raglan, and box coat models. The fabrics are excellent, the tailoring is superior, the selection of shades and patterns outstanding, and the size range most complete.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Billy gets into the castle by hiding in Goko's boot. When the giant, pleased with his polished boots, relents and orders supper for the giants, Billy sneaks after him into the kitchen.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Green Pea Soup

It was supper time and the giants guarding the castle were faint from lack of food.

"To bash in our heads is all right," they muttered. "But to starve us is quite another thing."

Then word came that Goko had relented and they were to have food after all. The giants were to remain at their posts and Goko would send them each a bowl of green pea soup.

A bowl of soup — even green pea soup — is to a giant what a peanut is to an elephant. Still it was better than nothing and the giants dared not complain.

BILLY HIDES

All the time Goko was eating Billy was hiding behind the kitchen stove. It had been easy enough to slip into this hiding place. Goko's face was hidden behind the roast hippopotamus and the giant who was cooking the soup was so envious of Goko's succulent dinner he kept his eyes screwed shut so he couldn't see it.

Billy waited his chance. When the soup was nearly done he took out the bottle of Ha-Ha the Ghost's tears and dumped it in with the bubbling peas.

The pot of soup hissed and sizzled and spluttered and fizzed like a truckload of fireworks gone off at one time. The cook opened his eyes and staggered back in alarm. Goko leaped up from the plum pudding he had just finished and roared.

"Dunce! Can't you see? It's done!"

"Y-yes, yes," stammered the giant. He ducked his head to avoid a green pea that shot out from the pot.

STALKS AWAY

"Then serve it to the clods!" barked Goko and he stalked away to his den.

The trembling cook hastily dashed the gurgling, frothing soup into bowls — including one for himself — and dashed away to feed the giants. Every giant downed his bowl in one big gulp. They declared it the best soup ever served at the castle.

Five minutes later they had turned into pigs.

Billy came out from behind the stove and led the grunting animals into the kitchen. He dragged all the food out of the refrigerator and set it on the floor. Then he left them happy as well-fed pigs always are.

Billy tiptoed through the castle until he came to the den where Goko sat before the fire. Billy peeped through the half-closed door.

Every few minutes the giant heaved himself out of his chair and went to look out the window. He was waiting for the moon to rise.

"No one could hurt me," he muttered to himself. "What does shins? It's all nonsense. It does shins? It's all nonsense."

All the same he couldn't sit still. He had to keep checking on the moon. When he got up for the 18th time to look out the window, Billy ran in and laid the Harp-Witch's necklace on the giant's chair. Then Billy ducked behind the chair.

Goko came back from the window. He saw the Rosanna Ruby gleaming in his chair. He picked it up and held it to the light.

He could not imagine where it had come from but he grunted "Pinders, keepers! It is mine!"

He started to fasten the necklace around his neck. Billy waited, holding his breath.

"It will tighten around his throat as the Harp-Witch said," he thought. "Goko will die and Santa and all of Fairyland will be saved!"

Tomorrow The Night.

In five minutes, the giants had turned into pigs!

Steamed Pudding Is Grand Finale

CHOCOLATE PUDDING — Garland a steamed chocolate pudding with frosty white grapes, red maraschino cherries, and green angelica leaves to give it the season's color

Flavorful, moist Steamed Chocolate Pudding, rich with unsweetened chocolate and served with Sunshine Foamy Sauce, is a fine finish for your holiday dinner.

To steam pudding use a Dutch oven or large kettle with tight-fitting lid in which a rack for the pudding and an inch of water can be placed. Cover pudding tightly with aluminum foil or several thicknesses of wax paper tied with string, and steam 1½ to 2 hours, or use your pressure cooker.

Follow directions that come with the cooker; generally for new models — that's 25 minutes with vent open, 15 to 20 minutes vent closed, for a two-quart pudding. New cookers don't specify pressure; older models say 10 pounds.

Whichever steaming method you use, let the pudding stand 5 minutes after removing the foil so top can dry off. Serve pudding warm. To reheat before serving, place foil-wrapped pudding on a baking sheet in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Grapes frosted with snowy coconut are a flavorful garnish for Steamed Chocolate Pudding.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding
3 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt

½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sunshine Foamy Sauce

Melt chocolate over hot water. Sift flour with baking powder, soda, and salt. Cream butter. Gradually add sugar; cream together thoroughly. Add egg and melted chocolate, beating until smooth.

Add flour mixture alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in vanilla. Pour into greased 2-quart mold or two 1-quart molds.

Cover tightly with lid, aluminum foil, or several layers of wax paper and steam 1½ to 2 hours. Serve hot with Sunshine Foamy Sauce.

If desired, garnish with clusters of raisins, whole pecans, and maraschino cherries or with angelica, candied cherries, green leaves, and small clusters of Frosted Grapes. Makes 12 servings.

Pressure Cooker Method. Prepare Steamed Chocolate Pudding as directed, pouring batter into a greased 5-quart mold; cover tightly. Pour about 3 cups water into a 6-quart pressure cooker, or until water reaches a depth of ½ inch.

Set rack in cooker and place mold on rack; close cover of cooker securely. Place over high heat until steam begins to flow from vent pipe. Reduce heat, allowing a gentle steady flow of steam for 25 minutes.

Place pressure regulator on vent pipe and cook 15 minutes longer over medium heat with regulator rocking slowly. Cool cooker at once; remove pudding and unmold as directed.

Frosted Grapes.
Small bunches of grapes, any variety
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Packaged grated coconut

Brush grapes with egg white. Sprinkle with coconut to coat on all sides. Chill. Use as garnish for steamed puddings or other desserts.

Sunshine Foamy Sauce
2 egg whites
Dash of salt
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 egg yolks
½ cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites with salt until foamy throughout. Add half of the sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition until sugar is remaining sugar and beat until blended. Continue beating until very thick. Whip cream just mixture will form stiff shiny until soft peaks will form. Fold together egg mixtures, whipped cream, and vanilla. Makes yolk until thick and light. Add about 2 cups sauce.

FIRE AND ICE DESSERT — Spoon vanilla flavored, chocolate, strawberry twirled ice cream with almonds into eight serving dishes and hold in freezer. Cut one-inch cubes from an angel food cake. Dip cubes into heavy cream, roll in coconut and thread on eight long skewers alternately with drained maraschino cherries. Toast kabobs until coconut turns golden brown. Remove ice cream from freezer and add contents of one skewer to each dish. Serve at once.

Nut Brittle Is Orange Variety

Orange Almond Brittle
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sliced almonds, toasted

Butter sides of heavy 3-quart saucepan. In it combine sugar, corn syrup, and orange juice. Cook over medium heat to hard-crack stage (300 degrees), stirring occasionally.

Remove from heat; stir in butter and almonds. Pour in thin layer onto a buttered 15½ x 10½ x 1-inch pan. When cold, break into pieces. Makes about 1½ pounds.

Decorate Dough

Here's an easy holiday decor for rolls of refrigerator cookies — before refrigerating roll your favorite refrigerator cookie dough into multicolored nonpareils, chocolate shot or decorators' sugars.

Batter Coats Chicken-Nut Mixture

Let Oriental Walnut Puffs set the theme for your next party. Chicken and California walnuts are sparked with the flavor of soy sauce and lemon, then shaped into small balls and dipped in a batter similar to that used for Tempura.

Cooked in deep fat they assume individual shapes with melt-in-your-mouth centers. These tidbits illustrate the pleasing harmony of flavor and texture common to Oriental cookery.

California walnuts, fresh and flavorful, are toasted in this recipe for extra crispness.

Just drop kernels into rapidly boiling water and boil three minutes. Drain well. Spread kernels evenly in shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees, stirring often, about 15 minutes until kernels are crisp and golden brown.

Brushed with butter and sprinkled with salt or any seasoned salt these make a delightful addition to a party.

Oriental Walnut Puffs
¾ 4½-ounce can chicken spread
¾ cup finely chopped walnuts
¾ teaspoon finely grated lemon peel
¾ teaspoon soy sauce

Combine ingredients; shape into 18 small balls. Chill or freeze.

Prepare batter:
1 large egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon salad oil or melted butter

Mayonnaise Takes the Place of Fat

These fragrant, honey cookies must surely have originated in one of those folksy country kitchens that we see on Christmas cards year after year.

But whether you bake them in a rural New England kitchen with snow piled high outside or in a sleek, modern city apartment, you are certain to savor their old-fashioned goodness.

Liquid for Beans Is Apple Cider

An oven favorite, completely different from grilled spareribs, includes dried lima beans and apple cider.

Prepare the beans first. Add one teaspoon salt to one cup dried lima beans. Cover with three cups water. Boil two minutes.

Remove from heat and cover tightly. Let stand 1 hour. Simmer one hour or until tender. Place in a greased baking dish with two large onions, sliced, with one cup apple cider or juice.

Top with three pounds spareribs cut in serving-sized pieces and browned, if desired. Cook, covered, 1½ to 2 hours or until ribs are done.

If you don't find roasted dried almonds in the stores where you shop, it's easy to prepare them yourself. Start with whole natural (unblanched) almonds. Chop them in a nut chopper or in a bowl so they won't go skittering all over the kitchen. Then roast them for about 15 minutes at 300 degrees in a pan that has been lightly coated with vegetable oil or butter, stirring now and then.

Christmas Card Cookies

½ cup sugar
¼ cup honey
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1¼ cups diced almonds, roasted

1 teaspoon lemon extract
2¼ cups sifted unbleached flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon or pumpkin pie spice

Combine sugar, honey and mayonnaise; beat well. Stir in eggs, milk, ¼ cup almonds and lemon extract. Sift flour with salt, soda and cinnamon; blend into sugar mixture.

Drop by level tablespoons about 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Sprinkle tops of cookies with remaining almonds. Bake at 375 degrees 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 2½ dozen (3-inch) cookies.

Date Pieces a Surprise in Dressing

Serve "Nutty Date Stuffing" either inside poultry or separately, shaped into balls. It's fine both ways. Coarse pieces of fresh California dates give it a most welcome moistness and a highly distinctive flavor.

Nutty Date Stuffing

¼ cup fresh dates
¼ cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 qt. bread stuffing mix
¼ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup vinegar
1 egg
Garlic salt

Cut dates into coarse pieces. Heat water to boiling; mix in butter until melted. Combine dates, stuffing mix, nuts, onion, vinegar and egg in bowl. Gradually add hot liquid, tossing lightly to mix. Add garlic salt to taste.

Use to stuff 5- or 6-lb. capon, or form into 8 to 10 balls and bake on cookie sheet in oven with any poultry during last 20 minutes of roasting time. Makes 5 cups.

Spiced Peaches

For the coming holiday season hot spiced peaches add a festive note when served with turkey or ham. Heat canned cling peach halves in their syrup with whole spice and a dash of vinegar. Keep them warm in a chafing dish.

A survey of merchants indicated that although holiday receipts probably will increase an average three to five per cent over last year's record pace, the rise won't be as big as predicted previously.

In early November, most retailers said they expected a 10 per cent boost in sales this Christmas over 1965. The Retail Merchants Association of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce explained that the slowdown in the auto industry "has a tendency to make almost everyone a little bit hesitant."

A spokesman said most stores are trying to lure shoppers and boost Christmas volume by offering special sales that ordinarily would be held after the holidays.

Obstetrician Chief of Staff

Elected to Year Term at Pontiac General

A Pontiac obstetrician has been elected chief of staff at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Charles R. Sempere, 45, of 35 S. Johnson will serve a one-year term. He succeeds Dr. James Blakeney.

Other staff officers include Dr. Edward E. Elder, vice chief of staff; Dr. George Kinsley, member at large; and Dr. Joseph I. Nosanchuk, secretary.

Three new department chiefs were elected by the medical staff. These are Dr. Carl H. Birkelo, surgical; Dr. Robert L. Segula, obstetrics-gynecology; and Dr. Murray B. Levin, medical.

Dr. Sempere, a University of Michigan graduate, interned at Highland Park General Hospital and Rochester General Hospital, Rochester, N. Y., and completed his residency in obstetrics at Pontiac General in 1961.

He is married and the father of four children. His residence is 1940 S. Hammond and Lake, Bloomfield Township.

First Viet Victim's Dad Has No Pity for Protesters

LIVINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — James Clarence Davis has no sympathy for draft-card burners and antiwar demonstrators. Five years ago Thursday, his oldest son became the first American soldier to die in Vietnam.

Spec. 4 James T. (Tom) Davis was killed near Saigon Dec. 22, 1961, in a Vietcong ambush.

"American boys are fighting and dying in Vietnam so demonstrators can burn their draft cards and protest," his father said in an interview. "If it were up to me, I guess I'd line those demonstrators up against a wall."

"The New Face of War," a book by former Associated Press correspondent Malcolm Browne, lays on a table in the Davis home. It tells how their son shot back at the enemy before he died: "Davis was alive and mad."

Davis was 25 when he went to Vietnam in May 1961, a voluntary assigned to the U.S. military advisory group.

Shortly before his death, Davis wrote his family "It looks like the bad guys have gotten the word to start giving us hell. It breaks the daily routine even though it could become a bit dangerous."

Davis' daughter, Cindy, was seven months old when he shipped overseas, and he longed to see her and his wife, Geraldine, now remarried.

The father, a druggist and World War II veteran, had written his son saying he wished they could exchange places for a while so Tom could see his family and go hunting and fishing.

"I know how you feel, dad," there, but after we're in a war, Tom wrote back. "I feel a little proud about this deal, too. I just hope that our little bit will help to ease things in this part of the world. I don't feel too badly about having to be here when I think of all the potential good it will have for this country."

Tom was killed the day his sister celebrated her 15th birthday. Each year since, the family has observed Jane's birthday and held a brief meditation in church.

The elder Davis said he believes the United States is "doing the right thing by being Davis said he probably would push the "big button" if I were running the show."

Bombing of N. Viet Fails, Says Church

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has just concluded three months as a member of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly. In this interview, he discusses the world organization and other important issues.)

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, says the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam not only has failed to achieve its objectives, it has stiffened the resolve of the North Vietnamese and is dimming the chances for a negotiated settlement of the war.

In an interview after he wound up his work as a U.S. delegate to the U.N. General Assembly, Church asked:

"If we were to put the shoe on the other foot, can anyone conceive of the President of the United States going to the (conference) table while an enemy was dropping bombs on the United States?"

URGES HALT

The Idaho senator, often a critic of the administration's Vietnam policy, called for a halt in the bombing and also urged an indefinite cease-fire beginning during the Christmas holidays and lasting long enough to explore peace possibilities.

"I would hope," he said, "that a way could be found during the Christmas season to achieve a cease-fire and to prolong it for a sufficient length of time to adequately assess the possibilities for getting negotiations under way . . .

"In strictly military terms the bombing (of North Vietnam) has failed to achieve its own stated objectives. The infiltration of troops and supplies from North Vietnam has not only continued, but it has substantially increased while the bombing has gone on.

"As for demoralizing either the people or the government of North Vietnam, it has obviously failed also.

'HARDENS RESOLVE'

"If anything, it appears to have hardened their resolve and, accordingly, I think we would pay no serious military price for a suspension of the bombing provided that we continue to give our forces full aerial support in South Vietnam where the fighting is taking place."

He warned against action which might provoke military intervention by Red China.

"There is no question," Church said, "but what China has engaged in menacing military moves in the recent past as in the case of the border war with India, and we have reason to be disturbed about the political upheaval inside the country epitomized by the fanatical actions of the Red Guard, but up to now China has not intervened with any fighting forces in the Vietnam war and we must avoid expanding that war by acts of our own in such a way as to provoke Chinese intervention.

"This is what happened to us in Korea and we should do everything that we can to avoid another Korea."

SEATING PEKING

The senator had this to say about seating the Peking government in the United Nations:

"Mainland China is imposing conditions which make its admission to the United Nations presently impossible. China should not be admitted at the expense of Taiwan (Nationalist China). Universality for the U.N. is not achieved by taking one government in while forcing another out."

Trial Ordered for Pontiac Businessman

A Pontiac businessman faces arraignment Dec. 28 in Circuit Court after being ordered yesterday to stand trial on a charge of receiving stolen property.

George J. Felice, 32, owner of George's Market at 327 Midway, was bound over following a 2 1/2-hour preliminary examination before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Key prosecution witnesses called to the stand by Asst. Prosecutor Bernard Rosser were two teen-agers, both of whom testified they sold quantities of stolen wallets to Felice.

The juveniles, aged 14 and 16, said they sold the wallets at the defendant's market on several occasions following theft of the goods from trailers at a city trucking yard.

The transactions, both witnesses said, were in cash, with one sale for "a case" of wallets gaining them $40.

INITIAL SALE

Defense attorney Robert Carr, noting the initial sale was made by a youth who said he was selling the wallets "for a church," unsuccessfully moved to have the case dismissed.

Carr said Felice — who resides at 981 Boston, Waterford Township — "had no knowledge" of the fact that the wallets were stolen.

McCallum denied the defense motion for dismissal, said the evidence warranted a trial, and granted a prosecution motion to bind the case to Circuit Court.

Coed's Anger Seems Abated

'Boy Crazy' Claim by Male Editor Answered

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP) — The men at Clemson apparently are back in the good graces of the girls at Winthrop.

A furor erupted between the two South Carolina schools when Ken Agnew, editor of the Clemson newspaper, the Tiger, wrote that all Winthrop girls "appear to be boy crazy," and added that while they make good dates, they don't always make ideal wives.

A collective anger surged across the Winthrop campus. Some girls fired off letters of indignation to the Tiger. Others complained to Joan McKinney, editor of the Winthrop paper, the Johnsonian.

"We felt the contents of the article hardly merited any comment other than pointing out it was a case of overgeneralizing and bad journalism," Miss McKinney said.

IRATE REACTION

Agnew's article also drew ire from the University of South Carolina and the Citadel, the state military college of Charleston, seemed delighted to defend Winthrop's honor. Most girls at Winthrop date men from Clemson or USC, she said, adding that there has been no noticeable decline in dating among Winthrop and Clemson students.

The Winthrop girls have been placated in some measure by an apology sent to the Johnsonian by Harry Tinsley, news editor of the Tiger. He said Agnew's article was "poorly researched and written," and added: "I prefer Winthrop women to any other women from any other college."

Miss McKinney said that as far as she is concerned, Tinsley's letter ends the controversy.

AEC Eying Use of Aleutian Site

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The possibility of Amchitka Island in the Aleutians being used as an underground nuclear test site is under study by an Atomic Energy Commission survey team now on the island.

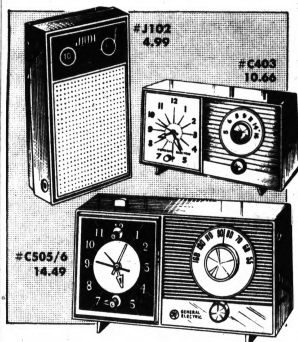

The team "will soon be followed by crews drilling exploratory holes if the surface geology makes underground exploration appear desirable," an AEC spokesman said Tuesday.

COUPLE OF CUTIES—Mrs. Barbara Loy, a teacher at Parsons (Kan.) Junior High School, got an early Christmas present from the pupils of her 7th grade social studies class — the kitten on her shoulder. Members of the class knew she had lost a pet kitten, so they trooped to the animal shelter and brought back three from which to choose.

ZIP Codes Speed Gifts to GIs Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — ZIP codes are important on packages to servicemen overseas, too, says the Post Office Department.

Without a ZIP code, packages can be delayed from three to six days. If the designation of the servicemen's military unit is also missing, the package will come back to the sender.

Most of the department's publicity about its ZIP code program has been aimed at domestic mailings. But in January 1965, a spokesman said Tuesday, the old Army Post Office — APO — and Fleet Post Office — FPO — numbers were also changed to ZIP code designations.

Packages for servicemen overseas are sent to APO and FPO addresses in the United States for shipment overseas. The delays result from postal clerks having to look up corresponding ZIP designations for old APO and FPO numbers.

What's Doing in Washington

By the Associated Press

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., says 16 House members have joined him in writing President Johnson urging that he use the Christmas truce period to pursue peace in Vietnam.

The State Department has named 18 advisers for its Bureau of Near East and South Asian Affairs.

Visitors from overseas this year should spend $460 million for food, lodging and entertainment in the United States, says the Commerce Department.

Charles S. Murphy will continue as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board through 1967, says President Johnson.

Governorship Votes Show GOP Edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican candidates received approximately 51.1 per cent of the 41,446,532 votes cast for governor in the 35 such races Nov. 8, a tabulation showed today.

The Democratic vote was about 45.1 per cent. The remaining 3.8 per cent was collected by minor party and independent candidates. The bulk of this was a million-plus votes in New York for the Conservative and Liberal party candidates.

The Republicans elected governors in 23 states and the Democrats in 11.

LACKS MAJORITY

In Georgia, Republican Howard Callaway ran slightly ahead of Democrat Lester C. Maddox but failed to get a majority. The Supreme Court has upheld a state constitutional provision that in such a situation the legislature shall elect the governor.

The 23 states electing Republican governors have 280 electoral votes in a presidential year, or 10 more than the number needed to elect a president. The 11 states carried by Democrats have 93 electoral votes.

Skilled Trades Salute Templin

The International Society of Skilled Tradesmen (ISST) of Oakland County last night honored newly elected County Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin at a dinner at Villa Inn, Lake Orion.

Clarence Rossman, former Lake Orion Village president, presented a gavel to Templin at the dinner attended by some 40 tradesmen and friends.

Also present were two other successful candidates supported by the tradesmen's group, Jack H. McDonald, elected U. S. congressman from the 19th District, and Donald Bishop, elected state representative from the 63rd District.

Templin, a Republican, won a six-year term in the nonpartisan judicial race Nov. 8. He defeated his incumbent Democratic opponents.

Youths Face Arraignment in Burglary

Accused of burglarizing a Pontiac cleaning firm, two city youths face arraignment Dec. 26 in Circuit Court on charges of breaking and entering.

Wilber D. Cash, 17, of 383 N. Saginaw and Michael D. Cochran, 18, son of Ivan Cochran of 636 Cedarlane, each waived examination at their Municipal Court arraignment yesterday.

Judge Cecil B. McCallum released the two in bond of $200 each.

Cash and Cochran were arrested early yesterday by Pontiac police following a break-in at Wardrobe Cleaners, 1033 Baldwin.

Patrolman Thomas H. Crandall took the two into custody after spotting them in a car said by a witness to have fled the scene of the burglary.

Crandall said clothes and a cleaners' tags from the firm were found in the suspects' automobile.

Pontiac Collision Injures Woman

A Lake Orion woman is under observation at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as the result of an accident on Baldwin about 5:45 a.m. today.

Hospitalized is Mrs. Josef Pettig, 35, injured when the car driven by her husband collided with a car driven by William R. McClure, Jr., 26, of 84 Illinois at the intersection of Kennett.

Psychological Test Curbs Hit

Proposal Needs Study —Birmingham Official

A bill to prohibit psychological tests in schools without parental permission would to some degree hamper the work of the special services, a Birmingham school official said today.

Walter Piel, administrative assistant for the Birmingham schools, said the proposal would need a lot of study.

The bill, proposed by Rep. William Hampton, R-Birmingham, met with opposition at a public hearing Monday at the Birmingham Community House.

Opponents, particularly the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals and the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, claim the bill would restrict psychologists and diagnosticians in their work.

The measure would ban, without written permission of parents, any tests relating to a student's personality, environment, life, parental or family relationships, economic status, religious beliefs, patriotism, social behavior or attitudes, sociological or psychological problems.

Hampton said the main complaint from parents is that some of the questions asked on the tests might constitute invasion of privacy.

There are more than 130,000 ornamental outdoor gas burning lamps in use in this country.

County Township Group Adopts Resolution

Supervisors Urge Tax Reform

Citing the ever-growing tax burden on real property owners, the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association yesterday called for tax reform action in Lansing "at an early date."

The association members, supervisors in the county's 24 townships, concurred at a general discussion on taxation that reform is urgently needed.

They adopted a resolution drafted by William L. Mainland, supervisor from Milford Township, that recommends that members of the State Legislature and Gov. Romney combine their efforts in a study of the current tax structure.

Also asked by the supervisors is that tax reform be developed from this study that will relieve the "oppressive proportions" of present taxes on real estate.

John L. Cary, supervisor from Springfield Township, said that the present tax load on people's property is too heavy and an awesome burden to those living on moderate fixed incomes.

MEASURES DISCUSSED A state income tax and a sales tax boost were discussed by the supervisors as tax reform measures that could reduce the real property obligation.

Seelye Tinsman, Holly Township supervisor and president of the Supervisors Association, said he felt the income tax would be the best method of providing equitable tax reform.

Several members of the association said that the rising property valuations resulting from the high economy in recent years has made property taxes more burdensome.

The association's recommendation will be referred both to the State Association of Township Supervisors and to the legislative committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

OTHER BUSINESS In other business yesterday, the association criticized the State Tax Commission's practice of including sales commissions, point payments and possibly even some personal property valuation in its real property sales surveys.

The association passed a formal resolution asking that these factors be eliminated in sales studies undertaken to establish real property valuations because they distort the true value.

$3,000 Damage Done by House Fire in Waterford

Damage was estimated at $3,000 following a house fire yesterday morning at the James A. Talley home, 2094 Crescent Lake, Waterford Township. Firefighters estimated damage at $1,500 each to the building and contents.

Confined to the basement, the fire was attributed to a defective electrical extension cord by firemen.

Firemen remained the alarm at 10:55 a.m. and worked at the scene for 50 minutes.

Avon Twp. Fire Damages Home

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Rochester Fire Department was called last night to douse a grease fire on an electric stove at the Theodore Beck home, 6069 Ronocco.

Fire Chief Lyle Buchanan said that while the fire was limited to the stove and to a rug used to fight the blaze, smoke damage in the house would probably amount to $2,000 to $3,000.

Other districts receiving over $500,000 are Farmington, $671,160, and Birmingham, $628,000. Oakland Schools, the intermediate school district, will receive $25,400.

The largest single appropriation, $984,000, is earmarked for Waterford Township Schools.

Royal Oak's $932,500 share is the next highest followed by Pontiac Schools which will receive $920,000.

State aid bonds are released six times a year to the school districts through the treasurer's office.

Apportionment of funds is determined by a complex formula which takes a school district's tax base, pupil population and several other factors into consideration.

Trucking Firms Won't Try to Keep Hoffa Out of Jail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trucking employers say they will not attempt to influence the makeup of the Teamsters union negotiating committee — meaning they won't try to keep union President James R. Hoffa out of prison during negotiations early next year on a nationwide contract.

Hoffa and some union officials claim that Hoffa is indispensable to the negotiations. But the Trucking Employers, Inc., in effect said Tuesday they won't try to delay Hoffa's going to prison for a conviction and eight-year sentence on a charge of jury tampering, which the Supreme Court upheld last week.

Hoffa's attorney, Joseph A. Panelli, tried Tuesday to at least delay his client's trip behind bars. He sought a 30-day extension until Feb. 4 of the time limit for asking the Supreme Court to reconsider its decision.

The court presumably would take some time beyond that to rule on the request for reconsideration — time during which Hoffa could remain free on bail. Negotiations on the national master contract are expected to begin Jan. 17 in Washington. The present contract expires March 31.

Trio Takes $6,789 in Detroit Holdup

DETROIT (AP) — Three gunmen held up the Royal Detroit Federal Credit Union on Detroit's East Side Tuesday and fled with $6,789.50.

The bandit trio fled on foot after forcing a customer to lie on the floor and making an employee open the vault.

Strike Idles Firm

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A strike has idled some 3,000 workers at the Algoma Steel Ltd. plant in this Canadian city. The walkout was called by members of Local 29 of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union. When members of the railroad brotherhood refused to cross the picket lines, the company laid off 2,600 plant employees, plus another 700 construction workers.

Jackie, Magazine Seen Nearing Accord

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Look magazine appeared today to be approaching an agreement on her demands for exclusion of her personal recollections in the Kennedy book.

One high source said it is possible there may be an announcement today.

The same source said that efforts were being made to edit word-by-word author William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President," which is about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Look is making every effort to safeguard the personal feelings of Mrs. Kennedy, "other sources said."

SECRET NEGOTIATIONS Secret negotiations were held Tuesday in the offices of Cowles Communications, Inc., the publishers of Look, by top editors and Richard Goodwin, a former aide to President Kennedy who is acting as one of Mrs. Kennedy's advisers during the meetings aimed at settling the case out of court.

Another round of negotiations was set for today in hopes of effecting a settlement before Cowles and Harper & Row, publishers of the book, go into court Thursday to answer charges made by Mrs. Kennedy last Friday in her suit to block publication.

Attorneys for Mrs. Kennedy have drawn up a memorandum of law that they prepared for court today citing legal precedents for her suit and outlining the legal basis.

A hearing on the suit is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Tar Heels Roll, 81-54

Tourney Title for N.C.

By the Associated Press
Third-ranked North Carolina and eighth-ranked Houston not only avoided the pitfall into which Michigan State fell, they didn't even come close to it.

While the Spartans were being upset 74-70 Tuesday night by Loyola of the South, the undefeated Tar Heels hit on 48 percent of their shots and whipped Florida State 81-54 in the Tampa Invitational basketball tournament. It was North Carolina's seventh victory.

And Houston's Cougars, capturing their seventh victory in a row for a 9-1 mark, stomped the University of Washington 87-65.

Larry Miller and Bob Lewis, who led the Tar Heels to the tournament championship, were named to the all-tournament team. Miller scored 22 points—while many of the shots fell—by playmaker Lewis who scored 12 points.

The Cougars outbounded Washington despite efforts of 6-foot-10 Huskies postman Gordy Harris.

Western Kentucky won the Ohio Valley Conference tourney title for the sixth time by defeating East Tennessee 72-50 in the final at Louisville. The Hilltoppers had to go overtime to beat Morehead 80-77 in the afternoon semifinals.

Hillsdale Five in Cage Finale

Dales Meet Aquinas at Spring Arbor

SPRING ARBOR (AP)—Hillsdale and Aquinas scored easy victories Tuesday night to qualify for today's championship finale of the second annual Spring Arbor Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Hillsdale defeated Jackson CC 99-83 and Aquinas downed Spring Arbor 60-50 in the second round of play.

In the loser's bracket, Ashland trounced Cedarville 74-36, while Olivet triumphed over Malone 78-65.

Marchel McGeehe and Wayne Brown, with 23 points each, shared high scoring honors for the victorious Dales. Dave Page of Jackson was 31.

The Aquinas attack was led by Paul Jagels, with 20 points, and Dennis Alexander, who had 16. Rocky Kent's 10 points were high for Spring Arbor.

EASY GAME
Ashland's rout of Cedarville was paced by Tim Russell, who had 15 points. Cedarville's Al Knott had 14.

Rex Thwaites racked up 19 points in leading Olivet to victory, while Don Andres of Malone topped his Malone teammates with 14.

Seymour Hits 26 for Shrine

With Paul Seymour collecting 26 points, including nine field goals, Royal Oak Shrine scored a 64-51 victory over Redford St. Mary last night.

The Knights led 32-19 at halftime and 47-35 after three quarters.

Helping Seymour with the scoring was Wally Swartz with 15.

Jim Walters paced the losers with 14 points.

Boston College knocked Syracuse out of the unbeaten ranks 57-75 in the first round of the Boston Garden Invitational tourney after Massachusetts had whipped Manhattan 86-76.

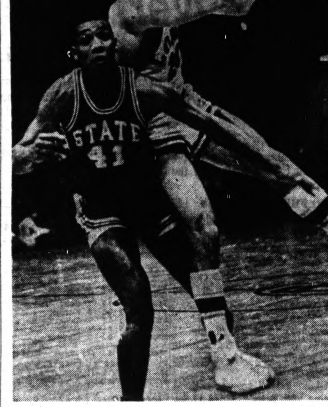

Iowa State bowled over Texas defeated Arizona State 93-81 in the first round of the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz.

In the opening games of the Rubber City Classic at Akron, Ohio, Bucknell downed Washington of St. Louis 82-66 and Akron overcame Hofstra 79-61.

St. Joseph's of Philadelphia had to go overtime for a home court victory over Rider 91-88 while Indiana edged Notre Dame 94-91 at Fort Wayne.

Brigham Young whipped Chicago Loyola 113-88 at Provo, Utah. In other home court triumphs, Denver beat Texas Tech 76-62, Bradley drubbed Oklahoma 114-88, Ohio State turned back Texas Christian 84-78 and Marquette downed Minnesota 74-61.

On the road, Wake Forest beat Maryland 68-59, Cornell defeated Buffalo 76-63 and Brown toppled Georgia 75-68.

UPSET BOUND—Loyola (of New Orleans) University's Barry Geraghty is about to take a spill after being body blocked last night by Michigan State forward Art Baylor (41), but it was the nationally ranked Spartans who were really upset, suffering their first loss, 74-70, to the unbeaten, unrated Loyola quintet. Baylor drew a foul on this play.

Hostile Indians Don't Agree to 'Shore-Line'

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League continued on the warpath today after the sport's first full-scale walkout in 40 years entered its third day.

The team's 23 players showed no indication of breaking ranks in their revolt against suspensions handed out by club owner Eddie Shore, one of hockey's most colorful—and controversial—figures.

Veteran forwards Brian Kilrea and Gerry Foley and center brought together by an unidentified neutral party, met briefly Tuesday without reaching an agreement.

Kilrea and Foley, acting as team spokesmen, insisted that suspensions of four players be lifted. Shore refused and said he will not consider anything until the Indians, with exception of the four suspended, return to practice.

FOURTH LOSS
The Indians, who suffered a fourth straight defeat last week-end, practiced at 8:30 a.m. Monday, then walked out prior to a scheduled afternoon workout after Shore refused to meet with them.

The players acted after Shore suspended defenseman Dale Rolfe, Bill White and Dave Amadio for alleged "indifferent play." Kilrea was suspended for the same reason after the walkout.

Foley said, "We will pack up and take our families home unless an agreement is reached."

Kilrea said the players "feel we should be given the chance to win games and perform as a unit without constant harassment from the management."

Orchard Lakes held off Lee's Lawn and Garden Center, 53-49, in the other I-L game. Lee's, trailed, 42-32, after three quarters, but closed strongly. Jim Skinner of Orchard and Lee's Boyd Daniels each had 13 points in the game.

Pulled Away in 2nd Half

Country Club pulled away from the defending International League city men's recreation basketball champs, Coulacons Inc., in the third period for a 50-42 win Tuesday night.

Jim Hudson ripped the cords for five field goals as the chefs outscored Coulacons, 14-5, in the third period after the teams were tied, 23-21, at intermission.

Hudson led all scorers with 24 points as Country Club won its third straight in preseason play. Bud Hayward had 12 in the insurance.

Orchard Lakes held off Lee's Lawn and Garden Center, 53-49, in the other I-L game. Lee's, trailed, 42-32, after three quarters, but closed strongly. Jim Skinner of Orchard and Lee's Boyd Daniels each had 13 points in the game.

Spartan Five Falls, 74-70, Visits Tulane

New Orleans Cougars Outscap Invaders; Late Sub Key Man

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—There were silent snickers aplenty when Ron Greene, rookie coach of New Orleans Cougars, quietly said, "We're capable of beating Michigan State" a few hours before the Wolves met the fifth-ranked basketball Spartans.

When the clash between the Spartans and Wolves was over Tuesday night, it was Greene's turn not to knicker, but to laugh out loud.

Loyola upset Michigan State 74-70. It was the first loss in five outings for the touring Spartans from the Big Ten, who move 100 yards down Willow Street to night to play Tulane University.

The victory boosted Loyola's stock in the cage world and with it the stock of the 27-year-old Greene, a Murray State grad who took over as the Wolves' head coach on Oct. 1—just 15 days before practice started.

Loyola is now 6-0 and the only undefeated team among the South's major college independents.

COMPLETE EFFORT
"It was a complete team effort," said Greene in postgame comments. "Every man that played did his job."

Jim Jacksonski, a 6-foot-6 junior from Dubuque, Iowa, barely got into the game, but his 14 minutes on the court were critical. Jacksonski, who teamed with Barry Geraghty, Loyola's captain, fouled out with 1:30 to go.

After Michigan State tied the score 70-70 at 1:59 left, the Wolves went into a delay and with nine seconds left Jacksonski dropped in a field goal from the baseline.

The Spartans took the ball, fouled downcourt through Loyola's zone press and fired wildly in a desperate attempt to knot the score again.

FREE THROWS
Jacksonski pulled the ball off the Spartan backboard, was fouled and calmly sank two free throws with one second remaining after officials cleared the court of jubilant Loyola supporters.

"They outscraped us," said Michigan State Coach John Benington. "Loyola's got a fine club. This is the first time this year we've been beaten on the boards."

Loyola outrebounced Michigan State 43-31.

When Greene, who was an assistant last year at Loyola under Jack Gardner, took over in October, he began drumming into his players this thought: "Loyola men don't lose."

And they haven't, yet.

DETROIT BLEW A 12-POINT LEAD IN THE FOURTH QUARTER IN BOWING TO THE CELTICS. THE LOSS WAS DETROIT'S SIXTH IN A ROW.

Boston won on Sam Jones' three-point play with 1:20 remaining in the overtime period. Jones made up for a cold-shooting night by hitting from the corner to push Boston ahead 114-113. He was fouled on the play and added a free throw. Tom Sanders sank another foul shot, leaving the Celtics to seal the Detroit defeat.

DROPPING GRID GAME
WASHINGTON (AP)—George Washington University plans to drop intercollegiate football and concentrate on basketball, a member of the university's Board of Trustees said Tuesday.

NO. 8—USE OF BRIDGE
When the cue ball is in a position where it can't be reached comfortably by the cue stick, you must use the mechanical bridge. This is the correct way to use the bridge.

Place the bridge flat on the surface of the table at an angle far to the left of the intended direction of the cue.

Put the left hand on the handle of the mechanical bridge, holding it firmly against the table to maintain proper balance.

Use the right hand to hold the end of the cue with the thumb on one side and the index and

Seattle Gaining Team in NBA

CHICAGO (AP)—Seattle has become the first city in the National Basketball Association's expansion plan for adding eight new teams over a four-year period.

A franchise to begin operation in the 1967-68 season was awarded Seattle Tuesday in Chicago by unanimous vote of NBA owners.

Still Going Strong After 50 Years

Weak Market Fails to Dim Veteran Trapper's Enthusiasm

By DON VOGEL

The heyday of the wild fur market went out with the Roarin' 20s, but for a 64-year-old White Lake Township man trapping always will be a way of life.

Robert M. Fisher, 6261 Thornyside, has spent over half a century matching wits with muskrats, raccoons, foxes, beaver and coyotes. During a good many of those years he was dependent on trapping for a livelihood.

Now retired after 13 years at Pontiac Motor Division, Fisher is busy this winter putting a dent in the area's fox population.

"There are more foxes down here than there are up north," he said.

Fisher had just returned from a stay at his cabin near Tower in Cheboygan County. He succeeded in trapping 10 foxes and two mink before returning home.

Since then he has added about 20 fox pelts to his collection. Muskrat and raccoon hides are also being prepared for the fur dealers.

"If the bounty was still on foxes," he said, "I would invest in 100 to 150 traps and set up a regular trapline that would take a couple of days to cover. But it's not worthwhile now."

A good fox pelt that brought a high of $32.50 on the New York market in 1927 is now worth about $5, he pointed out. "And then it takes some talking to get that much. Most buyers are paying $4."

MISSED OUT

There was a brief flurry in the fox market last winter, but Fisher wasn't in on it.

"I was working 10-12 hours at Pontiac six or seven days a week so I didn't trap," he related, "and they were paying up to $12 for a fox."

Fisher presently is setting 25 traps near his home. It takes five hours for him to run the line. All but three of the sets are for fox.

"Now that the water has gone down, I'm going to do more muskrat trapping," he said. "There are two problems with trapping rats down here. Small streams are a good place, but the foxes know this and patrol these streams regularly."

"A rat isn't hard to catch on land and the foxes keep them down. There are some other trappers who like to go down a stream and steal your traps."

"Anyone who says there aren't any wild mink left doesn't know what he's talking about. A few years back I took 17 mink pelts to a buyer at Howell and now he knows who to contact when he wants mink. In 1953 I took 22 in the area of my house."

Once in great demand with a high price on each pelt, wild mink have just about been replaced by the domestic variety. The price this season is $3-$11.

Fisher started trapping in 1915 when he was 13 years old and living on Grosse Ile. Two years later he gathered over 1,000 muskrat pelts. Prices in 1916 and 1919 were $6-$8, he said. Even with the increase in demand this winter the price is only averaging $12.50.

In 1920 he went to the Upper Peninsula and spent the next 11 years running traplines during the winter. He usually had quartered at Ozark in Mackinac County.

HIGHER PRICE

He met a state trapper in 1921 who gave him several useful tips and he later caught two timber wolves along the Carp River and traded them to the state man for fox pelts.

The wolves were bringing only $11 while the foxes were $22.50. One of the wolves was a male that tipped the scales at 126 pounds, one of the largest ever taken in the U.P.

Fisher's traplines run up to 15 miles and took a week to cover via Model 7 and snowshoes, even with a helper along. Much of the work was done in deep snow, thick ice and temperatures that ranged from freezing to over 20 below zero. He worked alone nine years.

His base of operation moved south of the Straits when he married and purchased 40 acres near Tower at a tax sale for $115. Fisher and his wife Anna built a log cabin in 1934 that cost $35 and went into the cattle feeding business—with trapping still on the winter work schedule.

An adjacent 40 acres was later added and the Fishers settled down to the everyday routine of life in the north. But in 1945 they sold the cabin and land for $1,500 and moved to Oregon on the advice of doctors because of their daughter Marie's health.

Fisher worked as a lumberjack and lumber salesman in the Northwest, but Marie's problem still persisted. A doctor in Oregon then came up with the right medicine—easily obtainable in Michigan—and the family moved back in 1949.

"We really didn't have to go to Oregon," said Fisher who pointed out that he was able to buy the original home and land back for $4,500.

He worked on stream improvement for the Conservation Department until work slowed in 1962 and the family moved to Pontiac. Marie, now Mrs. Ronald Freeman, lives in Pontiac, and a son Fred, lives near his parents. There are five grandchildren.

Fisher said the simplest way to trap a fox is to bait a hole and then set a trap on the edge. "If you get the trap too far back the fox will trip it with the upper part of his legs and get away."

IN DEMAND

Occasionally a raccoon gets one of the fox sets. These pelts in 26-inch tubs will become bring about $4 and the carcasses available at a later date.

are in high demand. "There's even a good demand for muskrat carcasses," Fisher said.

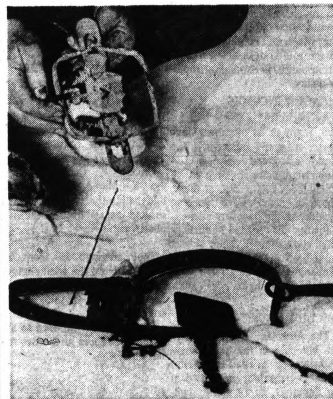

During the spring he traps beavers near Tower. Last year the price for an adult beaver blanket averaged $28. He stretches and dries his own hides. Asked how long it takes him to skin and stretch a muskrat, he replied:

"Less than a minute." The mink, muskrat and badger trapping seasons in Southern Michigan end Jan. 31. Raccoon season closes Dec. 31. Foxes are legal all year.

Hunters Active

Ice Fishing Started

Outdoorsmen who receive hunting or ice fishing equipment as Christmas presents should find conditions nearly ideal for checking out the gifts.

Several area lakes contain safe ice, but the snow makes the situation tricky. Anglers are warned to take extra caution when stepping on the ice of any lake.

Bluegills and pike seem to be most active just after "first ice" and veteran anglers try to take advantage. Action is expected to pick up along the edges of Lake St. Clair and at Saginaw Bay where some good perch have been taken off the mouth of Muddy Creek near Sebewaing.

Tourist Trade Above Straits Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite a national rise in tourism and recreation, Michigan's Upper Peninsula is losing money as a playground, according to a federal report published today.

The report, prepared by Michigan State University for the Commerce Department, said the peninsula's tourism income declined from $138 million in 1957 to $118 million in 1964.

Traffic figures from the state highway department attest to the decline, the report said.

The report offers a 10-point program, including development of "large tourist-oriented complexes . . . to contribute to the creation of a vacation-land image."

It also suggests a continuing study to keep the peninsula's tourism-recreation industry apace with "any changes in the character of the tourist."

The report says the "wild vastness of undeveloped forest and water-blessed land" is the Upper Peninsula's dominant characteristic and urges exploitation of the area's "history and lore."

Thirty-three Oakland County lakes will be open until the end of February for taking rainbow trout and brown trout by ice fishing.

No lakes in the county have been stocked with brown trout in the years, but a few have migrated to the bigger waters after being stocked in streams.

Following is the list of lakes: Alderman, East and West Bridge, Cedar Island, Cemetery, Chamberlain, Commerce, Cooley, Crescent, Crochet, Deep, Deer, Dollar, Elizabeth, Graham, Green (Bloomfield Twp.), Greens, Horseshoe, Lotus, Maceday, Mohawk, Moss, Orchard, Oxbow, Pine, Shoe, Little Silver, Square, Stony, Sugden, Tepee, Union, Van Norman and Wormer.

Show Riders From Area Gain Honors

Oakland County residents were in the forefront again when it came time to pass out Michigan Horse Show Association awards for 1966.

A big winner was teen-ager Katie Monahan of Birmingham who received the Sinkule Equitation Trophy and the Grant's Perpetual Trophy for Hunter Seat Equitation events.

Another girl from Birmingham earned the first Blyth Davis Memorial Trophy. She is Pat Smith who was voted the honor by her opposing junior equitation riders.

The Michigan Hunt's Junior Challenge Trophy was taken by Karen Sheppard, also of Birmingham.

This year's best green jumper in the state is owned by Ortonville's Sue Ludington and Mrs. Murray Straith of Hadley Hills.

Neil Humphreys of Birmingham led the riders 14-17 in horsemanship over fences.

In the MHSA's Morgan horse competition, Walt and Rita Kane of South Lyon earned four of the trophies; while Jack's Stables of Utica had the state's best parade horse.

The Tennessee walking horses class brought two awards to H. Twp.), Greens, Horseshoe, Lotus, Maceday, Mohawk, Moss, Orchard, Oxbow, Pine, Shoe, Little Silver, Square, Stony, Sugden, Tepee, Union, Van Norman and Wormer.

The MHSA had 29 shows this past year. Re-elected at the recent meeting in Lansing as a vice president for 1967 is Birmingham's Norman Ellis.

Flyway Council Slates Meeting at Haven Hill

The annual spring meeting of the Mississippi Flyway Council will be April 1-5 at Haven Hill Lodge in the Highland recreation area.

Waterfowl experts from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Missouri, Alabama, Iowa, Minnesota, Mississippi, Ohio, Arkansas and Louisiana will be joined by federal specialists at the meeting. Canadian experts also are expected to attend.

Major purpose of the sessions will be to compare notes on the 1966-67 duck and goose hunting seasons, present winter count figures and discuss special projects and research.

The council will meet again in August to recommend hunting dates and bag limits for the Mississippi Flyway during the 1967-68 seasons in the member states.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

MOTHER, SON REUNITED — Prayers and dreams of 22 years were realized at Seattle-Tacoma Airport when Mrs. Heinrich Gedicks was reunited with her son, Horst, 37. They were separated when the Russians took him prisoner in 1944. The father, mother, three daughters and another son fled East Germany ahead of the Russians and later came to Bremerton, Wash. They didn't know Horst was alive until 1960. Monday's reunion resulted from five years of negotiations.

'Greatest Gift': Reunion With Son After 22 Years

SEATTLE (AP) — "My son, my son!" sobbed Mrs. Heinrich Gedicks as she clasped her oldest boy in her arms, ending a 22-year separation that began when he was taken prisoner by the Russian army in World War II.

In 1944, the Gedicks lived in East Germany. Horst, then 15, was living on a farm in East Prussia, apprenticing as an agriculture specialist.

When the Russians invaded Horst was interned and sent to Siberia. The rest of the family fled.

For years the family sought news of Horst's fate. They continued their search from Bremerton, Wash., where they were brought under sponsorship of that city's Our Savior's Lutheran Church.

Six years ago they learned

Horst was alive, married and the father of a son.

The family tried to find a way to bring him home. His sister, Christel, wrote former Premier Nikita Khrushchev, but without success.

Three times Horst and his family were refused exit visas. Three months ago the visas were granted. The family attributes the change to improved American-Soviet relations.

Horst, his wife, Angelica, and their son, Wolfgang, 7, arrived here Monday and were met by his parents and two brothers. "I'm so happy I can't talk," said his weeping father.

"I think God has answered our prayers," Horst's mother said. "This I know: It is the greatest Christmas gift a mother could have."

State Road Toll Near High

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's traffic death toll this year will be about 2,300 and will break the 29-year-old record, State Police predicted Tuesday.

Automobile injuries are also expected to set a record, totaling about 160,000 compared with the previous high of 155,258 last year.

These and other estimates are contained in the annual roundup of State Police activities reported by Col. Frederick Davids, State Police director.

The report said 1966 would be the fifth year in a row in which total traffic fatalities increased and the eighth in a row to see an increased number of injuries.

Firm Idled Briefly in Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Barton-Blessing Co., maker of soda fountains and other food service equipment, was struck Tuesday by about 100 union members before a settlement was reached.

Terms of the settlement of a wage dispute were not revealed.

State Work-Safety Unit Urged

LANSING (AP) — The governor's Special Occupational Safety Study Task Force Tuesday recommended creation of a safety council in state government to coordinate an attack on occupational injuries.

In a 37-page report to Gov. George Romney, the task force recommended creation of a council to coordinate work of all state departments that set or administer occupational safety rules and standards.

The 21-member task force was appointed by Romney last March to suggest new approaches to occupational safety and a reduction in industrial injury rates.

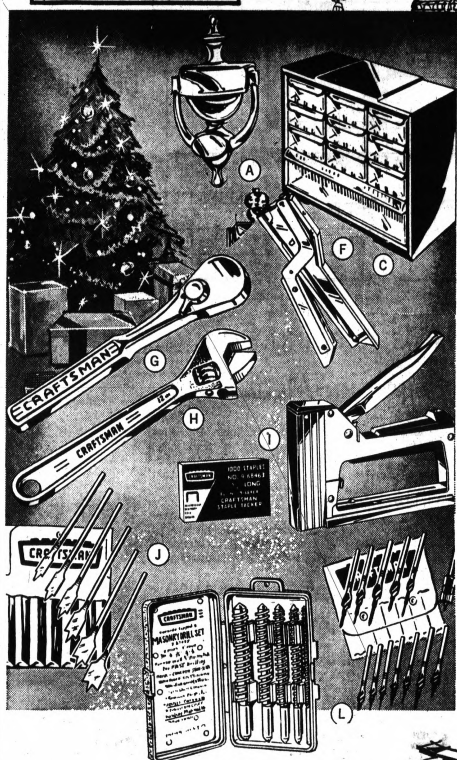

The task force reported that although the incidence of occupational injuries in Michigan is below the national average, such injuries are still of grave concern to employers, organized labor and state government.

Candy Dandy as a Gift for State Workers

LANSING (AP) — State officials grappled with a traditional Christmas question Tuesday—acceptance of gifts by state employees—and decided that candy was a proper gift.

"It would be a sad commentary if a state employee could have his integrity compromised with a piece of candy," said Robert A. Derengowski, state solicitor general.

Secretary of State James Hare raised the question at a meeting of the State Administrative Board. He asked whether his department could accept boxes of candy to pass among the employees.

Gov. George Romney said heads of state departments have the authority and responsibility to decide what Christmas gifts their employees may accept from individuals and organizations doing business with their department.

Romney said the intent of his executive order on the subject was that employees may not "accept gifts of such consequence that they influence their actions or decisions."

Dr. Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction, suggested that if an employee has any doubts, don't accept the gift.

He said he had received one gift which he thought would be improper and was turning it over to a local social service agency to give to a needy family.

Allison Green, state treasurer, said his office also had received a gift which was "more than I thought we should accept" and had sent it to the Salvation Army.

"We advised the giver, with our thanks what we were doing," he said.

Live Grenade Pulled From Throat of GI

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — A Navy surgeon pulled a lethal M79 rifle grenade from the throat of a U.S. Marine private last night and showed it around the operating room before he found out it might kill the eight persons in the room.

"I didn't know what it was," said the surgeon, Lt. Cmdr.

James Chandler of San Francisco. "All the military training I ever had was a couple of weeks where they say, 'Okay, this is a gun.'"

The 28-year-old patient is doing fine, Chandler reported.

The Marine, who also had a compound fracture of his right leg from a bullet, was brought to the Da Nang "Charlie" medical hospital at 9:30.

The M79 round — dome shaped, an inch and a half in diameter and two inches long — had crashed through the Marine's right lower jawbone, traveled through the thick part of the tongue and stopped a fraction of an inch from the soft

HAD NO IDEA

Chandler said that before the five-hour operation he had no idea what he was going after. Had the grenade exploded, it could have killed all eight persons in the operating room.

He would have sandbagged

the operating table and sought expert advice if he had known, Chandler said.

The doctor could see part of the grenade's shiny dome at the rear of the patient's mouth. Two attempts with forceps failed to get it. He reached in with his fingers and "it popped out."

As he showed it around the operating room, Chandler said, "The eyes popped out of the people who knew what it was."

"We've got to get it out of here," Chandler said when he learned what he had.

"I tried not to look at it, but I had to, because I might have bumped something walking out."

"We got it out to the helicopter pad (about 30 yards from the hospital). I put it down, took about four steps slowly, then ran like hell."

Demolition experts arrived and exploded the grenade.

The soft tip was dented from hitting bone.

Vacations at Schools Coming Up

Students at all public and two parochial schools in Pontiac will begin Christmas vacations when they are dismissed from classes Friday.

Last day of classes for students of the Waterford Township School District, Our Lady of the Lakes and St. Benedict's schools will be tomorrow.

For one city parochial school, Emmanuel Christian, today is the last day of classes. Students at St. Frederick's School will attend their last classes tomorrow.

The two city parochial schools with vacation schedules identical to Pontiac public schools are St. Trinity and St. Michael's. Students of all Pontiac and Waterford Township schools will return to classes Jan. 3, 1967.

Baker Attorneys Get Recordings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will hand over to Bobby Baker's attorneys this week a secret recording that evidently figures large in the government's prosecution of the former secretary to Senate Democrats.

Plans for the transaction were disclosed following a ruling by U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch that Baker's lawyers are entitled under the federal rules of criminal procedure to any such recordings or written statements in government hands.

SHE'LL BE REGENT — Mrs. George J. Huebner Jr., 275 Gullford, Bloomfield Hills, takes her oath of office for the post she will assume on the University of Michigan Board of Regents Jan. 1. Officiating at yesterday's ceremony is a family

Private Foundations Target of Attack by Texas Democrat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman has charged "profit and comfort, not charity" have been the main business of many private foundations. He called on the new Congress to tighten the requirements for such institutions to be tax-exempt.

Patman, a Texas Democrat, made the comments in the report filed yesterday with a House Small Business subcommittee he heads. The subcommittee staff studied the books of 575 foundations for the years 1961-1964.

During this period, the report said, the foundations received $4.6 billion, including "capital gains, mostly from stock market transactions, of $1.3 billion."

But Patman contended that much of this increasing popularity since less than half — $2.2 billion — was disbursed to the various causes served, while nearly $500 million went for expenses.

President Johnson asked Congress last January to legislate against abuses of the tax exemption privilege. The Treasury submitted such legislation, but Congress adjourned without completing action.

Reds Sentence Two Americans

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet court today sentenced Buel Ray Wortham Jr. to three years in a restricted labor camp and fined Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. 1,000 rubles — $1,111.11.

Wortham was sentenced to two years on the theft charge and three years on the currency charge, the two terms to run concurrently.

Wortham first learned of his sentence after it had been read in Russian in the courtroom, when a spectator held up three fingers.

The North Little Rock, Ark., resident shook his head sadly and knowingly but otherwise showed no emotion.

As the sentence was later read in English, he occasionally lifted his eyes to look toward the translator.

SHOWS NO EMOTION

Gilmour showed no emotion during the reading. He said later, "I am thankful for the outcome in my case, but that is tempered by the fact that my good friend Buel is not able to return home to the United States with me."

Vote to Pay OEO Office Rent Hesitant

Commissioners Lash Out, Cast Doubt on Success of Program

By L. GARY THORNE

Pontiac city officials last night indicated that their support of the Great Society's war on poverty is on shaky ground.

City commissioners lashed out at the antipoverty program while voting 5-2 to continue to pay the rent for the opportunity center at 2 W. Lawrence.

Voting against renewing the rent for six more months at $800 per month were Commissioners Robert C. Irwin and Leslie H. Hudson.

Hudson was particularly critical of the poverty war. He charged that "We're fostering generations of welfare recipients."

Hudson said, "The federal government is extending its tentacles to every phase of our lives, and I'm not so sure we're doing our people a favor by extending that arm from the cradle to the grave."

The district 4 commissioner said people seem to think the money is coming off the trees just because it comes from the federal government.

OFFICE RENT

Pontiac has spent nearly $10,000 in 1966 to pay the rent on the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) quarters on the second floor of a downtown office building.

OEO officials had requested the commission renew its rent payments for two more years, but the commission rejected this in approving the six-month extension.

The majority commission opinion appeared to be that since the 90th Congress, fashioned in last month's elections, may deal harshly with antipoverty programs, the rent should be extended for only the short term in light of the city's fiscal condition.

Reporter Tries Selling

Yule Tree Saga Related

By JEAN SAILE

Dear Boss:

Attached hereto is a bill for $6.20—long underwear, boss, not generally essential to a reporter but essential in this case.

"Find a Christmas tree lot," you said, "and ask the owner if you can help him out for a couple of hours."

Boss, you should have paid him.

There's one thing I want to say right now. Tom and Ed Ritter, who operate the Ritter's Market lot at 6884 Dixie, are real gentlemen.

They even managed a snile when I sold one of their nursery grown spruce trees at $2 less than I should have.

SALESMAN'S JOB
You see, at this Christmas tree lot, the trees didn't have price tags. That was the salesman's job.

With some coaching, I finally developed a rather perceptive eye for the spruces, but the pines — there's something about a pine that throws me.

A Scotch pine that looks like $5.50 to me can range all the way from $4 to $7 — and I'm not even sure which direction it's going to head off to.

You might say the high point of my visit there was Louie. I (Continued on Page A-8, Col. 1)

Snow Flurries Will Continue

Snow flurries will dot the Pontiac area tonight, tomorrow and Friday.

The weatherman forecasts possibly two inches of snow accumulation farther south in Detroit by tonight but just flurries is the local prediction.

Temperatures are expected to dip to a low of 16 to 24 tonight, then climb into the low 30s tomorrow.

East to southeasterly morning winds at 8 to 14 miles per hour will become northerly tonight.

The low prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 26. The mercury had edged up to 31 by 1 p.m.

Gift for Boss Can Be Expensive

By JEANNE NELSON

Buying a present for the boss is usually a group project with funds collected from a number of employees. Hopefully, the collection is large, for the gift can be expensive.

You can impress him with a genuine alligator wallet for $25. It's lined in black kid and styled in the slim-line fashion.

For something a little different, there are gold-filled cuff links and pocket lighters both containing a timepiece. Either one would cost about $30.

For the businessman there are attache cases of lightweight structure in brown or black with sturdy fasteners of chrome to insure the contents. They begin at less than $13.

A new electronic pocket lighter uses no fuel or flints and recharges overnight in a wall plug. The cost is under $15.

ALPACA CARDIGAN
Please the golfer with a 100

A gift certificate ranging in value from $75 to $225 would let him choose a suit of his own liking.

per cent alpaca cardigan. It comes in a variety of colors at under $30.

Rounding out this shopping list, the whole gang could shout "Merry Christmas" with a projector table of metal featuring a vinyl surface. It collapses for easy storage and costs only about $16.

Woman's Arsenal at NY Airport

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Louise Thoreson simply wanted to ship a few crates to Chicago. But when a pistol fell out of one box, the crates were opened.

Mrs. Thoreson was held today in lieu of $12,500 bond for possession of contraband weapons: Several pistols, a flame thrower, three riot guns, bazooka shells, machine gun parts and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

The 35-year-old Tucson, Ariz., woman refused to say anything.

Police said Mrs. Thoreson had stored four boxes of arms at United Airlines' lost and found department at Kennedy International Airport Dec. 4.

Usually the airline doesn't permit the storing of packages there, but Mrs. Thoreson told personnel that her husband flew more than 100,000 miles a year with United.

PISTOL FALLS

A few days later, when a clerk tried to move one of the boxes, the pistol, a German luger, fell out and police were called.

About 1 p.m. yesterday, the woman showed up with four more boxes, which she asked to be shipped to Chicago.

She was arrested and held while authorities sought to solve the mystery of Mrs. Thoreson's arsenal.

Policeman's Acting Job Is Successful

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Capt. Francis Pierce of the Grand Rapids vice squad could have a promising career as an actor.

Pierce said he was told Saturday two women were working at a jewelry store on a street corner.

Going into his act, Pierce staggered against a building as if he was inebriated, muttered to himself, and staggered a few feet farther.

He said the women rushed up to him and began going through his pockets.

Almost simultaneously one girl found his wallet and badge and the other came up with his pistol.

Both pleaded guilty Monday to disorderly charges, were fined $100 each and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Hope, Wife in Thailand

Asian games was another name for dodging the traffic here, but I discovered it is a kind of regional Olympics for this part of the world.

Seriously, drivers here are really fierce. It's the first place I've ever seen a two-ton truck screeched off the road by a rickshaw, and the little ole ricksha lady didn't even look back.

This is a seemingly happy city, bustling, purposeful, and all going about its business. But behind the facade of gaiety and "business as usual" the feeling of conflict just around the corner is affecting the lives of everyone here.

We're just a couple of gallons of fuel's worth away from where the action is, but nobody in our little group is worried. We all feel especially secure, this trip, because Billy Graham is one jump ahead of us, and Cardinal Spellman is following along behind us... that's the kind of travel insurance I like.

Grand Jury's Jurisdiction Questioned at Cheyz Trial

The jurisdiction of the grand jury to investigate White Lake Township Supervisor Edward W. Cheyz was questioned yesterday by his attorney, Joseph Louisell of Detroit.

Cheyz is on trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on charges of conspiracy to bribe and bribery brought against him by one-man grand jury Philip Pratt.

The jury trial before Judge William J. Beer is in its fourth week, and the defense has not yet started its case.

Under cross-examination yesterday, State Police Detective Edward Seath, assigned to the grand jury, told Louisell that when he first spoke to Judge Pratt about Cheyz he knew that Pratt's jurisdiction did not extend to White Lake Township.

The grand jury was first authorized in June 1965 only to investigate crime and corruption in Royal Oak Township.

ENTERED FEB. 18

Official records in the Oak and County Clerk's office reveal that the document, signed by other members of the Circuit Court bench, approving the expansion of the inquiry was not entered until Feb. 18 at 1:20 p.m.

Louisell indicated that the Marines, Reds Clash

B52s Pound N. Viets

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded at North Vietnamese troops just north of the demilitarized zone today in a continuation of raids to smash a fresh Communist drive south before it starts.

While the big bombers struck less than half a mile above the buffer area, U.S. Marines clashed with Communist forces about 15 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Fighting for an hour and a half in heavy fog, the Leathernecks beat off a Vietcong mortar and small-arms attack and reported killing 54 of the enemy and capturing four. Marine casualties were termed light.

U.S. Army units elsewhere reported killing 25 Red soldiers in sporadic contacts during three operations ranging from Saigon to the northern border.

CONC KILLED

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 49 Vietcong in three widely separated engagements. But the government forces took losses in two other actions, the Vietnamese military command said.

The Vietnamese headquarters said a 30-vehicle convoy of construction troops was ambushed by the Vietcong 214 miles northeast of Saigon and suffered moderate casualties. A government infantry platoon was ambushed 18 miles southwest of Saigon and took heavy casualties, a Vietnamese spokesman said.

It was learned that Westernland's headquarters also issued orders to U.S. forces to resume "normal military operations" after the 48-hour Christmas truce comes to an end at 7 a.m. Saigon time next Monday.

The order was sent out as fresh public appeals were addressed to the combatant countries to use the Christmas truce as a means of arranging peace talks. The latest appeals came separately from Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and from Abdul Rahman Pazhwak, of Afghanistan, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, told his troops in a Christmas message that the "world's Christ sought to build a more peaceful world. We continue to assist the Vietnamese people in their search for peace and tranquility."

In homes, on mountainsides, at night beside campfires, on a bench in the Temple court, on lakesides, in synagogues, in street-side encounters, the Galleian spun yarns with sparkle and permanent point.

And he did it buoyantly. "Be of good cheer," he kept telling the crestfallen. "Take heart, my son."

OPTIMISTIC MAN

Despite the travail he eventually endured, and the consequent melancholy portraits of him, he actually was an optimistic man. "Let not your hearts be troubled."

Pointing toward the brilliant, delicate anemones decorating the valley of Esdras, he exulted: "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they neither toil nor spin; yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

EARTHLY REALITIES

To explain his mission, he used such plain, earthy realities — the commonplace circumstances and situations which, if given the close observation which He gave them, take on a sunburst of meaning.

"What do you think?" He would begin, and then He would tell a story. "A man had two sons. The man told each of them, 'Son, go and work in the vineyard today.' The first said, 'I will not,' but he went anyway. "The other said, 'I go, sir,'

Areas Avoided by Soviet Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says Soviet submarines are steering clear of U.S. coasts, the South China Sea off Vietnam and other sensitive areas.

"They don't want to be caught inadvertently in any embarrassing position," said Vice Adm. Charles B. Mortell, head of the Navy antisubmarine program.

He said the Soviet program, however, includes perhaps 400 subs and involves increasing operations around the world.

He said about 45 Soviet subs are nuclear-powered and that about 120 missiles are mounted in about 40 of the more modern subs.

It intrigued His contemporaries, including the intellectuals.

His subjects ranged widely — farming, family life, lawsuits, wealth, poverty, lending, borrowing, management, labor, criminals, weddings, kings, soldiers and slaves — drawn in dramas of fear, love, betrayal, duty, hate, courage and sometimes comedy.

Asked once why He used parables, Jesus said it was so people would sense the truth even though not fully comprehending it.

ABUNDANT MATERIAL

He had an abundant store of material, from imagination and experience. About 40 different stories are recorded, but there must have been many more, since the gospels were set down from notes and memory about 30 years afterward.

Education Board Revises '66-67 Operating Budget

BIRMINGHAM — Recent contract agreements with employees and additional income from a state aid funds made it necessary for the board of education to revise its 1966-67 operating budget last night.

The budget was increased from $11,972,000 to $12,588,832 to cover the cost of salary increases granted to employees.

Income estimates were revised from $11,854,000 to $12,049,000. Additional state aid was available because of a higher student enrollment count.

In other action, the board approved preliminary drawings for the proposed new junior high school to be built on Inkster Road.

Jet Missiles May Have Hit Red Planes

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Two U.S. F4B Phantom jets fired air-to-air missiles Tuesday at the enemy planes that were flying toward the U.S. border.

Long Beach and the enemy craft vanished from radar screens, an American spokesman announced tonight.

Were the enemy planes shot down? The spokesman said he could not confirm or deny it. The encounter took place in early morning darkness.

The enemy planes were tracked from over the city of Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi, the spokesman said. The Long Beach, guided missile cruiser, was operating in the Gulf of Tonkin 25 miles northeast of Thanh Hoa.

FROM KITTY HAWK

"When first sighted, the aircraft were headed toward the Long Beach," the spokesman said.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk launched the two Phantom jets.

These locked onto the other planes with radar and fired air-to-air missiles. The number of missiles fired was not reported in Saigon.

A Pontiac cabdriver lost $40 last night to two male passengers who grabbed him around the neck and demanded his money change, Pontiac police were told.

George Olson, 44, a driver for the Yellow Cab Co., said he picked up the two men, both in their 20s, at Pontiac General Hospital shortly before midnight.

Olson said he was directed to the intersection of Bloomfield and Luther, where his assailants grabbed him and fled with the money.

Telephone Lines at County Center Temporarily Out

Telephone service to the Oakland County service center was temporarily interrupted yesterday when a truck snagged and cut a cable at a Pontiac State Hospital construction site.

Service to the County Health Department was completely shut off by the 10:30 a.m. incident. It was temporarily restored at 2:15 p.m.

The cable cutting also hampered service to the county courthouse by terminating incoming calls on 50 per cent of the trunks.

All service was completely restored by 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

Pontiac Officials Criticize War on Poverty

Meanwhile, local poverty chief James M. McNeely said through the discourse by commissioners last night without commenting. Outside the OEO executive director offered a rebuttal.

"If he'd at least take two minutes to investigate the facts," said McNeely in an apparent reference to Hudson.

The OEO chief said that in December 1965 there were 2,500 people on welfare rolls in Oakland County. This December there are 1,000.

"We take no claim for the entire thrust of this, but if it is at least half..." muttered McNeely.

McNeely also said more than $4 million has been pumped into the Oakland County economy by some 2,000 persons helped through OEO.

Commenting on the commission discourse, McNeely said, "It's economic idiocy, it's almost unbelievable."

McNeely also disputed a claim by Irwin that OEO programs duplicated services already given to the poor by existing agencies.

STUDIES MADE

poor just don't get the services," said McNeely.

Irwin, who said he did not oppose the OEO goals, added that many people feel the anti-poverty effort is a duplication.

Commissioner James H. Marshall said he would support the rent extension "until Congress decides on it."

District 1 Commissioner - T. Warren Fowler Sr. said he had been critical of some OEO programs, but had seen people that have benefited.

Hudson appeared the main critic last night. He said, "We're creating a welfare state that is weakening this nation."

He complained that people weren't taught to stand on their own two feet.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., while supporting the rent extension, pointed out that the city faced a crucial time and that many programs may have to go by the wayside.

"The support is not going to be there unless the city can get additional funds," concluded Taylor.

Milford Student Project

Have Breakfast at the 'Bar'

MILFORD — Students at Milford High School are going to operate a bar — a breakfast bar, that is.

The 48 students, members of the general business and retailing classes, are supplementing their book learning with practical experience.

They have formed a mock company which they call the Breakfast Bar Corp. and will put it into actual operation after the Christmas holidays.

The breakfast bar will be open from 7:20 to 7:50 a.m. every day selling hot chocolate, rolls and juice to students who arrive at school early.

In order to set up their mock business, the students had to violate, school board policy which prohibits the sale of items not connected with school.

GOT PERMISSION
Because the project was of an educational nature, however, the students sought and obtained permission for their bar from the Huron Valley Board of Education.

All corporations need capital to start out so the students decided to obtain theirs the way their real counterparts do — they sold stock in the company.

They planned to spend three days selling 400 shares of stock at 25 cents a share to the student body but before noon of the first day, they had not only hope, at the end of the year, to well accepted by the student body.

GOOD EXPERIENCE

In order to follow as closely as possible a real business operation, the students will hold share-holders' meetings and

"We're interested in seeing the students getting practical experience like this," said principal James G. Druce.

"The whole idea seems to be it."

The participants also heartily endorse the project.

"It's really great," said Vicki Gates, president of the mock corporation. "Everybody likes

Board Ratifies Secretary Pact

MILFORD — A three-year contract with the Huron Valley Education Secretaries Association was ratified by the Huron Valley Board of Education last night after several months of often controversial bargaining.

The contract, which grants raises retroactive to July 1, was ratified by the secretaries last Thursday.

The raises, which had been the main point of controversy during negotiations, average $280 a year.

In other action last night, the board approved plans for its proposed new East Elementary School to be built at Oxbow and Elizabeth Lake roads in White Lake Township.

Bids will be taken on the 20-room building in about two weeks.

SCHEMATIC DRAWINGS
The board also approved schematic drawings for its proposed new central office building but asked for a breakdown of funds remaining from the spring bond issue before proceeding further.

A new central office building was part of the $8.3-million bond issue.

Auburn Heights Area JCs to Burn Trees on Jan. 7

The Auburn Heights Area Jaycees will conduct their second annual Christmas Tree Burning at 7 p.m. Jan. 7 on Squirrel Road across from the Auburn Heights Elementary School.

The Jaycees will pick up Christmas trees Jan. 6 and 7 in the Auburn Heights area bounded by Featherstone, South Boulevard, Adams and Owyke.

Everyone is asked to place the tree on the curb for easy accessibility, said Thomas Lawson, project chairman.

4 New White Lake Planners

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — signed about two months ago. The nine-member township planning commission has four new members as the result of township board action last night.

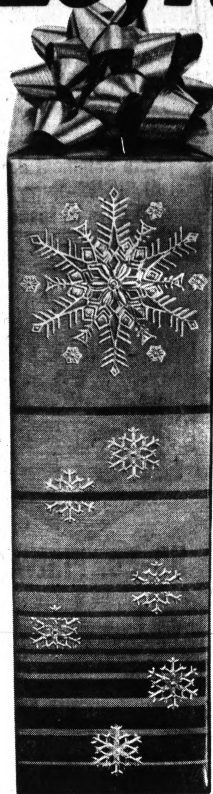

Following C. Stanley Freville's resignation from the commission last night, the board appointed Robert Burmeister to replace him.

James Cunningham was appointed to replace Pahl.

Three terms which expired Monday were also filled last night. Charles Harris was re-appointed, Gerald McNally was named to replace Clarence Reading and Raymond Stempien replaced Donald Von Rase.

Barbara-Mae Phillips, stage manager of the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre, works in a tiny irregularly shaped office that isn't finished. It doesn't take brains to be a stage manager, just brains. Beauty is no drawback.

20-Year-Old Girl Plays Lead Role in Staging

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
Barbara-Mae Phillips must get a little tired of being asked, "Aren't you rather young for the job of stage manager?" But she smiles politely and answers, "Yes, I am young," and lets it go at that.

She is stage manager of the Meadow Brook Theatre, scheduled to have its premiere performance in two weeks. But this young woman in a big job is experienced beyond her 20 years.

Before her graduation from high school in Levittown, Pa., she had worked in every theatrical production the school presented and in summer stock. She was always backstage on the production staff.

She apprenticed at Philadelphia's Playhouse in the Park and earned a $250 technical scholarship. This was theatre in the round.

That fall, failing to find a theatrical job in New York City, Barbara took a nine-to-five job in the communications department of Family Circle Magazine — and hated it.

The next spring she quit and went back to the Playhouse for the summer as property mistress and "ran the show from the floor."

A third summer at the Playhouse saw her in a more responsible position as unofficial show technician.

STUDIED ACTING

In between these summers Barbara-Mae studied acting at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City.

A year ago she did the props for a touring company of "Porgy and Bess." She served three months as assistant treasurer in the Mineola Theatre (in Long Island), studied a bit more at the academy and returned to Philadelphia for her fourth summer.

This time she was officially the show technician, the first woman to have this title in the non-Equity position.

It was there that she worked with Eric Berry, a friend of John Fernald, director of the Meadow Brook Theatre. Berry is

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I heartily disagree with your information on how to introduce a mother-in-law. My father and my husband always introduced their mothers-in-law as my wife's mother or as Stella's mother, and it is so much nicer and does not involve that much maligned phrase "mother-in-law."

I do the same for my father-in-law and introduce him as John's father. I think you must agree that it brings the family into a much nicer vein of thought, John's Wife.

Dear John's Wife: You misunderstood my answer. I simply do not think it friendly to introduce your in-laws as "Mr." or "Mrs. Jones" without explaining the relationship. I heartily agree with you — "my husband's mother" or "Mary's father, Mr. Smith" is as nice a form, or more so, than "my father-in-law, Mr. Smith."

THEATREGOER

Dear Mrs. Post: I wish you would comment on members of a theater audience who go out during intermissions and return after the lights are out and the curtain has gone up.

It is most annoying to those of us who remain seated, and it seems to happen more and more often. Lucille K.

Dear Lucille: All I can say is that I agree with you one hundred per cent. It is not only irritating to the people trying to watch the performance, it is disconcerting to the actors.

INTRODUCTIONS?

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I went to call on new neighbors recently. I knew them both slightly but my sister did not. When we arrived Mr. Smith was not in, but came in shortly thereafter.

I would like to know whose place it was to introduce my sister to him — mine or his wife's? Helen

Dear Helen: His wife's, as hostess. But if she hesitated or it appeared that she did not remember your sister's name, then you should have stepped in and done the honors.

"How to plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this new 16-page booklet will help in preparing for the "perfect" wedding.

She'll Be Hostess

Mrs. Truman Lamphere of Genella Street will host the annual Christmas cooperative dinner Thursday at 6:30 p.m. for the Fashion Your Figure Club of Pontiac.

now a member of the John Fernald Company.

HER JOB

What does a stage manager do, we asked.

"I'm the watchdog," says Barbara-Mae.

When the show rehearsals start, she blocks out all action with the director and then makes sure the actors stick to that plan.

She sees that rehearsal props are on hand.

She cues in lights with the assistant stage manager.

She knows the sound cues and uses a tape recorder for them during rehearsal.

She gets the actors on stage on time and watches out for Equity rules.

Actors Equity Association is the actors' union. This is her first Equity position.

Michigan is the farthest from home Barbara-Mae has ever been. She'd never flown before her arrival last month and she didn't like that flight.

She shares one of the trailers in the former Wilson barnyard with Angela Wood, a Canadian actress. Their living quarters are much to her liking, except for the eternal mud surrounding "trailer town."

The two girls will have a tree for Christmas. They're invited to the Fernalds' home for Christmas night. The rest of the three-day holiday they'll relax or trailer hop.

What Barbara-Mae will probably miss most of all this Christmas is seeing her five-year-old brother. She also has an older brother who's married.

All dogs should have it so good. This part cocker — part Labrador retriever was found abandoned. Adopted by the company, she has been named Grusha for the heroine in the first play, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," Barbara-Mae stops to pet the little mascot.

Personal Notes

The Robert Glens of Bloomfield Hills will have Christmas dinner for their mothers, Mrs. Howard D. Glenn of Franklin Boulevard and Mrs. Victor E. Nelson of East Iroquois Road.

Their eldest son David will be home for the holidays from his studies at Michigan State, helping to celebrate will be the Glens' other children, Richard, Barbara and Phyllis.

Coming from Providence, R.I. to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Biallas of Cresthill Drive, will be Dr. and Mrs. Michael Biallas and infant daughter, Laurie.

Accompanying them will be Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown of Newcastle, England.

Dr. Brown is engaged in post-doctoral research at Brown University where Dr. Biallas is an instructor.

On Christmas day Mrs. Biallas has planned a traditional holiday feast with the above group and the Thomas Chapdelaines with their children, Terri, Peggy, David and Michael.

FAMILY REUNION

On Thursday, their son David

will arrive from Houston, Tex. A second son, John, with his wife and son Jay, is coming from East Lansing.

Mrs. Hunt's father, George P. Curtin, her sister Janet and her brother and sister-in-law, the Rex Curtins will come from Houston and Baytown, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Curtin and their three children of Albuquerque, N.M. are also expected to arrive on Friday.

Mr. Hunt's aunt, Miss Bertha Hutson of Oneida Road, will join the group on Christmas Day.

Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Hathaway of Bloomfield Hills will be the Christmas day guests of their son Lee, his wife and three children of Schwartz Creek.

They will return to host their daughter and son-in-law, the Darwin Spearing of Ann Arbor and their son Dana, for the duration of the holiday season.

FROM WEST

Spec. 4 and Mrs. Dennis L. Levitt have arrived from Fort Lewis, Wash. to spend Christmas with her parents, the Harry H. Dunigans of Voorhees Road. Quentin Dunigan is also home for the holidays.

On Christmas Day, Mrs. Dunigan's mother, Mrs. Levy Hartsoe and son James of North Perry street will be dinner guests.

At home in the trailer she shares with one of the actresses in the John Fernald Company, Barbara-Mae heats soup. She's delighted with the living arrangements, her first experience in a mobile home. For the life she leads, Barbara finds this olive green corduroy pants suit ideal.

AAUW Has Chinese Dinner

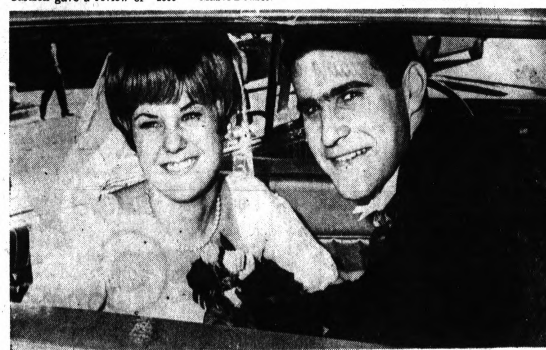

A new twist to the annual Christmas party of the Pontiac branch, American Association of University Women, came Monday evening when members and guests gathered at Joy Gardens for a Chinese dinner.

The Gourmet and the Arts and Crafts units arranged details.

Following dinner, Mrs. E. C. Carlson gave a review of "1000 Springs" by Anna Chennault, a Chinese wife of the late Qing Emperor of Flying Tiger fame.

The hostess committee included Mesdames Gerald Frericks, Tom Metzger, Stewart Keeney, Charles Colberg, Tom Reese, Donald LaViere, Robert Lawyer, Francis McDowell and Miss Mabel Double.

The former Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, daughter of former White House aide Walter Jenkins, and her husband Peter Clayton Alandt of Grosse Pointe, pose in the window of their car following their wedding in Austin, Texas, yesterday.

Stores Feeling Auto Lag

DETROIT (AP) — Lagging, flected Christmas shopping in car sales and cutbacks in auto production apparently have affected the Detroit area.

A survey of merchants indicated today that although holiday receipts probably will increase an average three to five per cent over last year's record pace, the rise won't be as big as predicted previously.

In early November, most retailers said they expected a 10 per cent boost in sales this Christmas over 1965.

The Retail Merchants Association of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce explained that the slowdown in the auto industry "has a tendency to make almost everyone a little bit hesitant."

A spokesman said some stores are trying to lure shoppers and boost Christmas volume by offering special sales that ordinarily would be held after the holidays.

DR. CHARLES R. SEMPERE

Elected to Year Term at Pontiac General

A Pontiac obstetrician has been elected chief of staff at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Charles R. Sempere, 45, of 35 S. Johnson will serve a one-year term. He succeeds Dr. James Blakeney.

Other staff officers include Dr. Edward E. Elder, vice chief of staff, Dr. George Kinley, member at large, and Dr. Joseph T. Nosanchuk, secretary.

Three new department chiefs were elected by the medical staff. These are Dr. Carl H. Birko, surgical; Dr. Robert L. Segula, obstetrics-gynecology; and Dr. Murray B. Levin, medical.

Dr. Sempere, a University of Michigan graduate, interned at Highland Park General Hospital and Rochester General Hospital, Rochester, N. Y., and completed his residency in obstetrics at Pontiac General in 1961.

He is married and the father of four children. His residence is 1940 S. Hammond Lake, Bloomfield Township.

First Viet Victim's Dad Has No Pity for Protesters

LIVINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — James Clarence Davis has no sympathy for draft-card burners and antiwar demonstrators. Five years ago Thursday his oldest son became the first American soldier to die in Vietnam.

Spec. 4 James T. (Tom) Davis was killed near Saigon Dec. 22, 1961, in a Vietcong ambush.

"American boys are fighting and dying in Vietnam so demonstrators can burn their draft cards and protest," his father said in an interview. "If it were up to me, I guess I'd line those demonstrators up against a wall."

"The New Face of War," book by former Associated Press correspondent Malcolm Browne, lays on a table in the Davis home. It tells how their son shot back at the enemy before he died: "Davis was alive and mad."

Davis was 25 when he went to Vietnam in May 1961, a volunteer assigned to the U.S. military advisory group.

Shortly before his death, Davis wrote his family "It looks like the bad guys have gotten the word to start giving us hell. It breaks the daily routine even though it could become a bit dangerous."

Davis' daughter, Cindy, was seven months old when he shipped overseas, and he longed to see her and his wife, Geraldine, now remarried.

The father, a druggist and World War II veteran, had written his son saying he wished they could exchange places for a while so Tom could see his family and go hunting and fishing.

"A LITTLE PROUD"

"I know how you feel, dad," Tom wrote back. "I feel a little proud about this deal, too. I just hope that our little bit will help to ease things in this part of the world. I don't feel too badly about having to be here when I think of all the potential good it will have for this country."

Tom was killed the day his sister celebrated her 15th birthday. Each year since, the family has observed Jane's birthday and held a brief meditation in church.

The elder Davis said he believes the United States is "doing the right thing by being there, but after we're in a war, I'm for winning it. I'd rather stop those dudes over there rather than here at home."

Davis said he probably would push the "big button if I were running the show."
