Test Salk Vaccine in West as 8 Children Suffer Polio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Public health authorities expressed anew today their confidence in the Salk polio vaccine, even as they checked the possibility that some batches from one of six makers may have been faulty.

Intensive tests were ordered after it was reported that eight children had been stricken by polio—one fatally—within a week of receiving their first polio shots. Four other suspected cases of the disease were reported.

In each case, the vaccine used was manufacturd by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., which said more than 750,000 doses of its product had been issued.

(In Pontiac, Dr. John D. Monroe, health commissioner, said all vaccine used in this area is manufactured by Parke, Davis & Co.

Enough Salk polio vaccine made by the Cutter Laboratories of California to give 882 shots has been distributed in Detroit, Adrian, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

No ill effects, however have been reported and no Cutter-made vaccine was used in Michigan's inoculation of school children.

The U. S. Public Health Service yesterday ordered use of Cutter-made Salk vaccine held up. Six children in western states developed polio after being inoculated with Cutter vaccine. The government agency emphasized, however, it had not been determined whether the vaccine was to blame.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit health commissioner, said the Cutter laboratories notified him enough vaccine for 882 shots had been shipped to Michigan for private use.

Molner said all of it had been traced to distributors, doctors, drugstores and hospitals and that all children who were vaccinated with it would be watched closely.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, of the state Health Department, reemphasized in Lansing, however, that no Cutter-made vaccine had been used in Michigan inoculation of school children. All of that, he said, came from Parke, Davis & Co., of Detroit.

Edward J. Lear, general manager of Ingram, said that of the 138 cubic centimeters of Cutter vaccine received, 36 CC's went to Ingram employes. The rest went to about half a dozen doctors.

Lear said that his own two children, 10 and 16, each had a shot Monday and Fred Kowalchuk, an employe, said his three, aged 13, 8 and 18 months, had shots last Thursday. None has shown any ill effects.

Lear could recall immediately names of only two doctors who got the Cutter vaccine, Dr. H. A. Polk, of East Detroit, and Dr. Donald Young, of Detroit.

Dr. Molner said names of children injected with Cutter vaccine would be obtained and their conditions watched closely.

Cutter products are distributed in Michigan by the Medical Arts Supply Co., of Grand Rapids, and the Flint Medical & Surgical Supply Co., of Flint. Spokesmen for those companies said they had distributed none of the Cutter vaccine.

As a "precautionary measure," all further use of Cutter vaccine was ordered halted pending tests, and the inoculation program was stopped in most of the West Coast areas where it was supplied for free use in the schools.

But Surgeon General Leonard Scheele of the Public Health Service called for continuance of the program in other areas of the

Paris Treaties Clear Hurdles

Dutch Senate Approves Pacts Rearming Bonn for Western Defense

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The Paris treaties cleared the final Parliamentary hurdle today. The Dutch Senate approved the pacts — previously ratified by the legislatures of all 14 other countries affected — to rearm West Germany for Western defense.

The vote was 32-2. The Dutch House endorsed the treaties 71-6 March 30.

The West Germans expect the Allied occupation to end, and their sovereignty to be restored, early next month. Their enrollment in a seven-nation Western European Union and in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is planned for meetings scheduled to begin in Paris May 7.

All of NATO's present 14 members and West Germany signed one or more of the four Paris agreements.

The pacts are to (1) end the Allied occupation while authorizing Allied troops to remain on duty inside Germany; provide for the Bonn Republic's armed partnership with the West in (2) WEU and (3) NATO; and (4) give WEU political control of the Saar, the German-speaking border state which has been linked economically to France since World War II.

With final Parliamentary action on the pacts in all countries completed, they must be signed by the various chiefs of state and deposited in various capitals.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government is slated to build up an army, air force and navy totaling a half million men. German and Allied military experts calculate, however, it will take at least three years to make the West German armed forces ready for combat.

Senate May Vote Today on School Building Loans

LANSING (AP) — The Senate may vote today to set up machinery for loaning the 100 million dollars in school construction funds which the voters approved at the April 4 election.

A bill to implement the ballot proposal—No. 4—went through debate in the Senate yesterday.

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) attached an amendment banning state loans for school auditoriums, gymnasiums and athletic fields.

The bills are aimed at making certain the state loans are used to expand classroom space.

They specify that the state superintendent of public instruction, who will approve the loans, may grant them only for projects meeting reasonable cost standards fixed by the state Board of Education, are actually needed, will not hinder school district reorganization in the foreseeable future, and are for projects of not less than six classrooms unless he finds that for reasons of location, topography, transportation or population density a smaller unit would be advisable.

The bills forbid giving state school aid or primary school funds to any school district which fails to meet its annual repayment of the state loans.

Continuing debate on a new pharmacy code, the Senate wrote in amendments to make certain that the sale of patent medicines, common household drugs, vitamins and similar items cannot be limited to drug stores.

Crash Injuries Fatal to Woman

Miss Eileen Sopp Dies After Car Rolls Over on Walton Boulevard

Miss Eileen Sopp, 37, of 45 W. Huron St., died at 5:30 this morning in Pontiac General Hospital of injuries suffered four hours earlier in an auto accident on Walton boulevard, five miles east of here in Pontiac Township.

Riding in the same auto, Mrs. Myrtle Williamson, 31, of 505 Heights Rd., Lake Orion, suffered a broken leg, and John D. Shelp, 30, of 23 Lexington Pl., driver, was admitted with neck injuries. Both were reported in fair condition.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies quoted Shelp as saying he swerved the auto on a curve to avoid an oncoming car and lost control, going into a ditch and rolling over. Deputy Ross Miller said Shelp was held today, pending a statement to the prosecutor's office.

Ike Challenges Zhukov Power and Friendship

Asks Marshal's Help in Freeing 15 Airmen Held by Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has posed a tough test of the power and good will of Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov, comrade-in-arms of 10 years ago.

Ever since Eisenhower became President there has been speculation that the friendly relationship which existed between the two men in the rule of occupied Germany might some day, in some way, help to bridge the gap between Moscow and Washington.

This speculation was stimulated last February when Zhukov stepped up to the post of defense minister after Nicolai Bulganin became Premier.

Now the President has written Zhukov saying to him something like this:

"Why don't you help obtain the release from Red China of 15 American airmen held over from the Korean War. Why don't you persuade the Chinese Reds to let other Americans come home?"

That was the sense of what Eisenhower is reported to have written Zhukov about two weeks ago. At a news conference yesterday he declined to disclose the contents of the correspondence he said had taken place.

From other sources it was learned that Zhukov initiated the correspondence about three weeks ago with an appeal to the President to bring about the return to his parents of a Russian schoolboy who fled from East Berlin to West Berlin March 18.

The boy, Valery A. Lysikov, son of a lieutenant colonel in the Soviet air force, was returned April 9. U. S. authorities at Berlin announced he had decided he wanted to go home.

Zhukov had forwarded to the President a letter he received from Col. Lysikov. Zhukov had called the President a great humanitarian, according to a responsible account of the exchange, and said he knew the President would realize the anxiety of the family.

Immediately after the boy's return, Eisenhower wrote Zhukov calling it to his attention. He added that he hoped Zhukov could realize the anxiety of people whose sons were being detained in jails in Red China.

Such words, going from the President to a member of the Soviet government, constituted not only an appeal but a challenge. They raised the question whether Zhukov would want to do anything about Americans held in Red China, whether the Soviet government would agree, and whether Soviet influence would prove persuasive with Red China.

Conant Named Envoy to Bonn

High Commissioner to Be Full Ambassador to German Republic

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated James B. Conant to be ambassador to the new Federal Republic of Germany.

Conant, former president of Harvard University, has been serving as U. S. high commissioner to West Germany under the Allied occupation since Feb. 7, 1953. He assumed the personal rank of ambassador on June 17, 1953.

The White House said the nomination today is for a full ambassadorship in view of restoration of sovereignty to West Germany under recently ratified treaties.

75 Dead Cats Among Rubble in Man's House

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A 74-year-old eccentric was held for hospital observation today while authorities took steps to clean up a mountain of junk and filth in his three-story home.

When health officials and firemen, equipped with gas masks, entered the home of Bayard Martin yesterday, they were greeted with a waist-deep pile of trash from cellar to attic. The smell was insufferable.

Included in the rubble were at least 75 dead cats, many of them "embalmed" in mothballs. Thirty-four live cats and three dogs were found penned amidst litter and filth in the basement.

Martin, a bachelor, said he had lived alone since his brother married five years ago. He said he was an insurance broker who had "paid $22,500 in city taxes this year."

A city judge ordered him to a hospital for examination.

Veto Proposed by Broomfield

Amendment Would Give Cities Chance to Reject Turnpike Route

LANSING (AP) — Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), saying his bill to repeal the toll road law is dead in committee, today proposed giving municipalities veto power over toll road routes.

Broomfield made a last try to get the Senate Highway Committee to report out his bill to abolish the Michigan Turnpike Authority and stop the state's first proposed toll road between Saginaw and Flat Rock.

Tmorrow is the deadline for committee action.

Broomfield said, however, that he had assurances from a majority of the committee that it would permit him to amend another bill which would give the legislative body of any municipality the right to veto a toll road route through its community.

Broomfield said Detroit city officials had suggested that the veto power be restricted so that a toll road could be built if 75 per cent of the communities on a proposed route approved it.

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), chairman of the highway committee, issued a formal statement saying that he was sympathetic to the southeastern Michigan opponents of the toll road route but that he thought they were taking the wrong approach.

Nichols said "the repeal of the toll road authority would prevent further study on the proposed turnpike to Chicago and the proposed turnpike from Detroit to Muskegon.

"In the interests of all the citizens of Michigan, it is most respectfully urged that those feeling the toll road authority should be repealed should reappraise the entire situation with the possible view of directing their protests by proper legal proceedings or by protesting the route direct to the toll road authority."

Diem Declares Fight to Finish Against Rebels

Government's Forces Attack Private Army of 5,000 Men

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — Flames burned a square mile of Saigon tonight and hundreds were killed or wounded in bloody fighting for control of South Viet Nam's government.

The American-supported Premier Ngo Dinh Diem declared war to the finish against the rebel Binh Xuyen society after a triple attack on Diem's palace, army and police headquarters.

Three battalions of Nationalist infantrymen and parachute troopers, supported by tanks, pressed the attack on the 5,000-man private army.

At nightfall, with Saigon under a pall of smoke, the Premier appealed over the government radio for calm. He said the government troops had the situation in hand.

He accused Binh Xuyen Gen. Le Van Vien of touching off a civil war and disobeying an order from Chief of State Bao Dai to refrain from violence.

After six hours of fighting the army said it had disengaged the Binh Xuyen from both Nationalist army headquarters and the headquarters of the National Surete, or security police, where there had been some hand-to-hand fighting.

Massed Nationalit forces were pressing the Binh Xuyen back toward the bridge which leads to their territory in Cho Lon, about

Jelke Sent Up for 2 to 3 Years

Oleo Heir's First Vice Conviction Thrown Out Due to Press Absence

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Jelke today was given a prison sentence of two to three years on his conviction in the cafe society vice case.

The sentence was imposed on the young heir to an oleomargarine fortune after a 13-minute plea by defense attorneys for leniency.

His first conviction was thrown out because the trial judge excluded press and public during presentation of prosecution testimony.

The sentence given in the second trial was less than that imposed after the first—three to six years. He could have received a maximum of 40 years. Jelke is 25 years old.

Judge Francis L. Valente, who heard both trials, said before the sentencing today that there never had been any question of Jelke's guilt.

PGE ONE 3-17 Dems Reluctantly

LANSING (AP)—Still blowing sour notes, Democrats jumped on a Republican bandwagon yesterday to push a liberalized workmen's compensation bill through the House by a 106-0 vote.

Democrats gave reluctant but unanimous support to the Republican-sponsored measure after both parties closed ranks solidly in a two-hour battle over amendments.

If the upper chamber approves the measure and it is signed by Gov. Williams, maximum weekly payments for an unemployed worker with five or more dependents would be raised from $42 to $54.

The new rate schedule calls for increases of from $1 to $13 weekly, depending on the size of the family.

Single men or men with working wives, however, would continue to receive a maximum of $30 weekly.

The bill makes no change in the maximum length of payments, which will remain at 26 weeks.

Rep. Ed Carey (D-Detroit), Democratic floor leader who led the fight against the bill, called it an "empty box tinseled up by the Republican Party."

Carey insisted throughout debate that the increases would affect only a small percentage of workers. He called repeatedly for a new rate schedule which would give all unemployed workers 50 per cent of their average weekly earnings.

Republicans said their bill would meet the 50 per cent figure in most cases.

"I think this will be one of the most liberal and best unemployment compensation laws in the country," said Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston.)

Republican sponsors said the new rates were "realistic" ones, based on cost of living figures supplied by the Department of Labor.

Democrats finally accepted a Republican proposal that would allow a worker to retain his credits when he quits to get a better job.

The House bill also extends coverage to meet standards of the federal law.

It calls for coverage of all employers hiring at least four employes. Under the present law, coverage is required only of employers hiring at least eight workers.

Trouble Dogs Young Owner of Frisky Puppy

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Barbara Ann Grady, 17, didn't want her frisky pup on the seat of her automobile, she told police.

She was trying to put the dog onto the car's floor when the vehicle:

Jumped the curb,

Knocked down a no-parking sign,

Cracked a utility pole and damaged a 13,000-volt transformer,

Knocked out several teeth for Miss Grady and fractured her shoulder,

Shooting Ruled as Justifiable

Coroner's Jury Lists Royal Oak Death as Self Defense

The shooting and resulting death of Norman B. Heneka, 43, of Harper Woods, April 13 was ruled justifiable homicide today at an inquest directed by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. John D. Monroe.

Heneka was shot by Mrs. Betty Barardi, 26, in her home at 1123 Royal St., Royal Oak. His estranged wife, Donna, and five-year-old daughter were staying with the Barardis.

Mrs. Barardi told police Heneka first appeared, placed a revolver against her chest and pulled the trigger three times with no result. Heneka then left with his daughter.

When he returned an hour later, still angry and threatening the girl, Mrs. Barardi said she fired a .25 caliber pistol. Heneka died later in Beaumont Hospital.

The six-man jury today ruled that Mrs. Baradi shot "in defense of her person and persons dependent upon her," according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Bloody Fight Rages in South Viet Nam

seven miles from the French residential business area.

Binh Xuyen, a society of former river pirates which controls Saigon's gambling and vice spots, started the battle at 1:10 p.m. with two mortar bombardments of the Nationalist Premier's palace.

Diem met the challenge promptly by declaring all-out war on the Binh Xuyen. He had held off direct military intervention because of French fears such action would touch off civil war.

Initial fighting appeared to be favoring the well-equipped Diem forces, which outnumber by far the estimated 5,000 men of the Binh Xuyen.

This, in brief, is the background behind the struggle for control of non-Communist South Viet Nam, upon which the West and particularly the United States is counting to hold the tide against the Communist North:

The Binh Xuyen, along with two religious sects, the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai, have been demanding that Diem quit in favor of a coalition in which they would have increased representation. Diem has refused. Last March 30 the Binh Xuyen touched off an attack in which at least 26 persons were killed. A truce ended that fighting, but Diem did not relent in his efforts to put his government in complete control. To gain that control Diem sought to take over the security police, called the National Surete, from the Binh Xuyen.

Today's fighting broke out within 90 minutes of a deadline set by army Col. Nguyen Ngoc Le to get the Binh Xuyen troops off the streets. He was named head of the surete two days ago by Diem.

An American source who refused to be named commented:

"Diem must meet this challenge firmly and with force. If he stops now he might as well resign because he will not be able to govern later."

Although the French had opposed direct military action against the Binh Xuyen, the Premier's secretary said Diem gave the order to attack after consulting with Gen. Paul Ely, the French commissioner general.

In parts of the French residential area life went on normally with shops staying open, sidewalk cafes filled and traffic moving.

But a block of houses and commercial buildings near the residence of the Canadian-Indian-Polish armistice commission burst into flames late this afternoon, causing clouds of smoke to choke the streets and billow into the sky. Thousands of Diem's troops and dozens of armored cars pushed ahead slowly and in good order.

Ambulances sped to the hospitals with dead and the dying.

School Appraisers Value Site at $21,039

Appraisers testifying for the Birmingham School District yesterday set a high figure of $21,039 on three parcels of land the district is attempting to condemn in Southfield Township.

The district seeks nine parcels containing 30 acres at Lahser and 14-Mile Rds. Six owners already have agreed on a sale price. Appraisers who took the stand were Richard Jeffery of Detroit and David Levinson of Birmingham.

Superintendent of Birmingham Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland testified as to need for the site. Both an elementary and junior high are planned in the location, he explained.

Acquiring 30 acres is necessary, he stated, because state law requires at least 10 acres for an elementary school and 20 for a junior high.

country, where vaccine supplied by five other drug firms have been used without reported incident.

"We believe that the immunization program against poliomyelitis should continue," he said in a statement, "and I urge that parents and children scheduled to take part in the vaccination program continue to follow their plans."

He said his own 7-year-old son will receive his first shot as scheduled early next month.

Meantime, federal and state authorities worked in California to determine whether it was faulty vaccine or merely coincidence which caused the polio cases at this time.

Five of the eight diagnosed cases and three of the suspected ones occurred in California. Two other cases were reported from Pocatello, Idaho, and one from Chicago. Another suspected case was reported from Denver, where a 13-month-old child had been inoculated with vaccine supplied through commercial channels.

Officials said it normally takes 10 to 14 days after exposure for polio to develop, and emphasized it is possible that all the stricken children were developing the disease before they received their shots.

The Cutter vaccine was supplied for mass inoculations in parts of California and in Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, Hawaii and Nevada. Much smaller shipments for commercial use were made to other areas of the country. All the Cutter-manufactured vaccine bears the company's name.

The mass inoculations were halted immediately in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Idaho, but health officials in Nevada said they already had completed the giving of first shots and that no cases of polio had been reported among the children vaccinated.

Neighboring Utah, supplied by another firm, suspended its program "to clear the air and to allow time. . . to reassure people." No polio cases were reported in Utah.

Philadelphia, supplied by still another firm, first ordered a halt in its own program but rescinded the order, and administration of the shots was to be resumed on schedule today.

The National Biologics Control Laboratory, the health service agency which checks the safety of vaccines and similar substances, sent two experts to California last night to help test the Cutter vaccines.

ATLANTA (INS)—A Columbus, Ga., child who had been inoculated with Salk polio vaccine made by the Eli Lilly Laboratories, was reported today to have been stricken with paralytic polio.

Georgia health officials, in making the announcement, urged that the public not be alarmed. State Health Director Dr. T. L. Sellers said:

"It was to be expected that one or more cases of polio would develop during the period of vaccination."

Mrs. Shirley Kill, 23, of 247 W. Longfellow Ave., was reported in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today after suffering internal injuries in an auto accident at Mansfield Ave. and Hollywood Dr. last night while a passenger in an auto driven by her husband, John R., 27.

The Kill auto collided with one driven by Vern E. Keller, 71, of 204 Dresden Ave., said Pontiac Police. Patrolman Gerald L. Gaedt, investigating the accident, recommended in his report that stop signs be posted in the intersection.

White Canes Symbol of Lions' Project

Miniature lapel pins, in the form of white canes, are being sold this week by the Pontiac Lions Club in observance of White Cane week, sponsored by the Lions everywhere.

The persons for whom money donations are being made, will never see the pins or the money, for they are totally blind.

John Benson, Pontiac chairman, says any donation will be accepted but a 25 cent minimum is necessary on the lapel pins. The Lions hope to sell 5,000 pins here.

There will be no street solicitors. Donations may be given to any Lions Club member, Pontiac policeman, the local League for the Blind, or to blind persons themselves.

The pins bear a watchword for all people with normal vision: "Thank you, salute the bearer of the white cane by being observant, responsible and thoughtful."

Free eye examinations and surgery for those who cannot afford to pay are a few of the services the Lions give the partially blind.

White Cane Week donations will aid the totally blind. The Leader Dog League in Rochester is also helped through the Club.

Oysters can switch sexes in middle age.

Dad, 3 Children Die in Apartment Blaze

CHICAGO (AP)—A father and his three small children were killed in a fast-spreading, extra-alarm fire in a four-story apartment building early today. The mother and another child escaped from their fourth-floor apartment.

About 50 other residents of the building at 658 N. May St., on the city's near Northwest Side, also fled to safety.

* * *

In another extra-alarm fire in a hotel in the same neighborhood, an unidentified woman was killed and 16 persons injured, none seriously. Two firemen were among the injured.

Firemen found the victims in the May Street fire in their fourth-floor apartment and said they apparently died of suffocation. They were John R. Irving, 30, his daughters, Susan, 6, and Helen, 4, and a son, Charles, 2.

The second fire wrecked the upper floors of the Green Mill Hotel at 518 N. Green St. More than a score of residents fled.

The cause of neither fire was determined.

9 More Red Leaders Arrested by Jap Police

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP) — Police yesterday seized another of nine Japanese Communist leaders who went underground in 1950.

Hiroshi Hasegawa, once on the party's central committee, was found at work in the Communists' West Japan bureau. He was charged with refusing to answer a subpoena.

Two others of the nine have been captured. A fourth, Yoshio Shiga, came out of hiding last year and was elected to the Diet (Parliament). He never was prosecuted.

Automation Down on the Farm

A rural version of automatic vending machines, a Rube Goldberg type of device that gives out eggs rather than soda pop or cigarettes, has caused a boom in egg sales at a farm near Colon, Mich.

A motorist driving along M78 first sees a sign which reads "in One Minute." Before the driver has a chance to check his watch, another sign looms up and says, "You Can Buy." The third sign proclaims the community, not shaving cream, but "Eggs!"

And the motorist can buy those eggs without even getting out of his car.

The prospective egg-buyer who stops his car at the farm of Robert Mowry merely pulls up to a tube protruding from the basement of the Mowry home. He then drops the current egg price into a container, lifts up the cellophane flap on the dispenser tube, and out pops a dozen fresh eggs.

What's more, the junior-size version of a metropolitan supermarket even has a dispenser that gives the motorist the correct change. On the principle of the honor system, a tray of change is located alongside the dispenser.

When the egg carton is removed from the dispenser, the change in weight starts off a small drill motor in the Mowry basement that starts a conveyor in motion, and, presto, another dozen of eggs is ready for the next motorist.

You needn't worry about getting spoiled eggs. A heating element operating on a thermostat heats the eggs on chilly spring nights. And the Mowrys put just one day's supply of eggs into the dispenser at one time.

Parts for the contraption cost the Mowrys only $25, in one four-week period, they sold 124 dozen eggs.

And the customer needn't worry. Since gambling in Michigan is illegal, the egg machine always pays off.

Susan Slams Door on Husband's Hopes

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie actress Susan Hayward has slammed the door shut on the reconciliation hopes of her ex-husband Jess Barker.

The actor, who flew here from New Orleans after Miss Hayward was found near her death from an overdose of sleeping pills Tuesday, still hasn't been able to see her.

* * *

She refused to see him in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Through a press agent of her movie studio she issued a statement yesterday, saying: "There is not the slightest possibility of a reconciliation, but if Mr. Barker can discuss the future of our children (Timothy and Gregory, 9-year-old twins) in a rational manner, I shall always be willing to confer with him."

Miss Hayward was reported well on the way to recovery.

Mean temperatures in the southern part of Ontario are about the same as those prevailing in the Pacific coast area centered about San Francisco.

Boy, 15, Confesses Bombing Skillman

DETROIT (AP)—The mystery of the homemade bomb set off near the home of Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman Tuesday night has been solved, police said today.

Detectives quoted a 15-year-old boy who lives in the judge's neighborhood as saying he did it "just for the fun of it."

The boy told police he made the bomb from a six-inch lead pipe stuffed with chemicals taken from a high school laboratory. It did no serious damage. He was ordered to report with his parents to the youth bureau.

Wins Mate From Mom

LAUREL, Miss. (UP) — Mrs. Charlie McDonald went to court to get her husband back from his mother. She testified that her mother-in-law insisted on caring for McDonald while he recovers from injuries suffered in a fall. The court gave the younger Mrs. McDonald "possession and custody" of her husband.

Ike's Atom Ship Plan Is Warmly Received

There is imagination and vision in President Eisenhower's plan for an atomic powered merchant ship to cruise the world in the interest of peace.

The President unveiled this idea in his address at the annual Associated Press luncheon in New York. After saying he would ask Congress for the necessary funds, he outlined the purpose of this epoch making vessel.

Its mission, he said, would be to cruise the world to "bring to all men the truth of our assertion that we seek only a just and lasting peace."

Though we are 10 years into the atomic age, this will be the world's first nuclear powered merchant ship. Besides the hope that it will lessen world tension, it will inaugurate a new era in maritime transport.

So far the USS Nautilus is the only atomic powered ocean craft. But the Navy has plans for three more submarines of the same general type. Plans also are afoot for the construction of several nuclear driven surface war craft but they still are in the drawing board stage.

Initial reaction to the President's announcement suggests that he will have little trouble in persuading Congress to vote the necessary money. It strikes us as a splendid idea to send to all world ports an atomic powered peace ship as dramatic proof that our major interest in nuclear fission is to devote it to the well being of the human family.

British Abraham Lincoln Warring Against Slavery

For most Americans it no doubt is surprising news that human slavery still persists outside the Iron Curtain.

The continued existence of this evil is being brought to world attention by C. W. W. Greenidge, retired British colonial official. Because of his crusade carried on through the British Anti-Slavery Society, of which he is the secretary, Greenidge has been called Britain's Abe Lincoln.

It is worth noting that his chief weapon is publicity and that he hopes to embarrass countries still tolerating slavery into finally driving it out.

Slavery has been legally abolished nearly everywhere. Yet a dispatch from United Nations headquarters quotes Greenidge as saying that 70,000,000 persons still are human property in many lands.

Among the countries in which human bondage still is practiced are French West Africa, French Equatorial Africa, French North Africa, all of British Africa and the Belgian Congo. Others are Saudi Arabia, Yemen, the Aden protectorate, Bahrein, Kuwait, Oman, India, China, Japan, Ecuador, Bolivia and Peru.

Greenidge views his fight realistically. Though he admits that his crusade suffers because it lacks value as ammunition in the cold war, he still believes that it is only a question of time until slavery will disappear from the earth.

People of good will everywhere owe him a debt of endorsement and best wishes for success in his highminded crusade.

Fingerprinting No Insult

One can't help wondering what was the real reason behind Russia's rejection of an invitation for student editors, farmers and Red army veterans to visit the United States.

The reason announced in Moscow is our State Department's insistence that the visitors be fingerprinted on arrival as required by the McCarran-Walter law. This the Kremlin considered an indignity and called off the projected trip.

★ ★ ★

It is difficult for us to understand why the Russians are so perturbed over the fingerprinting requirements. Our law makes it mandatory for all visitors to submit to this procedure. Moreover, while no American unaccused of crime has to submit to it, many do in the belief that it helps build an excellent system of identification.

Our guess, therefore, is that the Russians may be far less worried about fingerprinting than they are about the impact on their editors, farmers and army veterans of our free way of life.

It is reasonable to believe they might fear that our abundance of consumer goods, freedom of movement and democratic system might raise dangerous questions in the minds of these Soviet nationals.

Their "Happy Valley" series on the same Detroit station last year was run at the same hour as "What's My Line?" on another Detroit station, but still brought such a response that they were booked for further appearances. Hal Boyle Says:

Bourbon Gained a Draw for Gen. Bradley at Elbe

NEW YORK (AP)—America introduced a secret weapon to win a draw with the Russians in an odd hospitality war fought along the Elbe River 10 years ago.

That weapon, it now may be revealed, was Kentucky's bottled breakfast of champions — 100-proof bourbon.

As soon as the two Allied armies linked up, a number of celebrations were held. In the first flush of enthusiasm they were largely spontaneous get-togethers between small groups of individuals or officers from both armies, marked by cordiality and good will on both sides.

* * *

But as the parties went up, echelon by echelon, from division to corps to army level, the atmosphere subtly changed. The cordiality and good will became formalized.

In this exchange of hospitality the Russians held a big edge. We wealthy Wall Street imperialists had little more than stern canned combat rations to offer. The simple virtuous peasant Soviet warriors, on the other hand, seemed to have a pipeline of plenty that led straight to Moscow. When they were hosts, the tables groaned with piles of caviar, fat cheeses, fresh cucumbers, all kinds of rich tidbits you usually find only in expensive restaurants — and ah endless number of carafes filled with vodka.

* * *

The Russians took a rude delight in trying to toast the Americans under the table. And it must be admitted that many of our men, worn down by months of clean living in the field, were ill-prepared to face the Soviet vodka barrage. As one officer remarked weakly after the 20-umpth toast:

"I thought Russian roulette was played with revolvers, not vodka glasses."

The lavishness reached its peak at a party thrown by Marshal Ivan Zonev, now Russian deputy minister of defense, for Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley and his staff.

Forewarned on the insidious impact of vodka, Bradley and his officers had guarded against it by swallowing quantities of canned milk and mineral oil.

Konev himself, a bald, powerfully built man, proved the first loophole in the Russian hospitality siege. He turned down the vodka and reached for a glass of white wine as an interpreter explained, "the marshal has stomach trouble."

* * *

Bradley, who is no drinking man himself, immediately switched to white wine, too, and had no trouble matching Konev toast for toast. Grinning, Bradley leaned over to a correspondent friend and whispered, "How'm I doing?" He was doing perfectly. So were his mineral-oil-fortified staff. They easily met the Russian officers on equal terms.

Following a tremendous repast, a Red army chorus sang the 'Star Spangled Banner," but apparently were safe from being corrupted by it as they had memorized the lyrics without understanding them.

A ballet troupe, obviously professional, then put on a splendid performance, but when Bradley praised the dancers, Konev merely remarked blandly:

"Just a few girls from the Red army."

* * *

When it came time for Bradley to hold a return courtesy party, a question arose over what liquid refreshments to offer.

"They served us their national drink," Bradley said, smiling. "We'll introduce them to one of ours—bourbon."

Although it was evident the Russian officers had been warned to be on their best behavior, two of them quickly wilted under the belting of bourbon toasts. After a polite snifter, Konev turned to his interpreter with a strained look and muttered, "too strong, too strong."

* * *

After dinner a violinist who had been specially flown there from Paris entertained the group. When Konev praised his playing as magnificent, Bradley replied with a straight face:

"Oh, it's really nothing. He's just one of our American soldiers."

The violinist happened to be a guy named Jascha Heifetz.

Ten years later Gen. Bradley still feels that — thanks to bourbon and Heifetz — the Americans earned at least a draw in their hot hospitality war with the Russians on the river Elbe.

Patient Explains State Hospital Procedure, Invites Public to Visit During Open House

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

As you, the public, are conducted on tours of the hospital you will see our way of life and the good care we receive, but you may wonder how all this is accomplished.

I would like to give you a rundown on a patient's entry here and of the many things the hospital does for him until he is well enough to go back into society. Through the Social Service Department we are assigned to one of the receiving wards, where over a period from two to four weeks we are observed by a doctor who is both an M. D. and a psychiatrist. He treats our physical condition along with helping us solve our mental problems. After his diagnosis we go before the entire hospital staff who take our case and assign us to the ward that is best suited to our individual problems.

Our care and treatment is continued by a doctor who comes into our ward daily. A program of work and recreation is lined up for us. Each week we have a good movie, we attend dances and other activities that are sponsored by our Social Service Department. We attend church in our Chapel and all the wards have television.

Yes, this is our community and we live here as you live at home. We are proud of our hospital as we know you will be as you tour our wards. You, as taxpayers, provide all this for us. We thank you. Please come out and visit us during Open House Week.

'Court Takes Too Long Discharging Its Duties'

I understand that being a resident of Oakland County, I should get protection from Michigan laws.

Then why do the people dibble dabble around spending the time to get just one more judge added to the district. By the time one judge gets here, things will be stacked so deep the courts will need three new judges to wade into the cases so they can all be heard before they die of old age.

I happen to be a wheelchair patient with two young children to support. Not being able to get out and take care of my affairs, I left my separation and support up to lawyers and courts. And speedy they were. In fact, they were so fast keeping their noses to the grindstone that my means of support, appointed by the court, is now three or four months behind.

By the time the state can help one without support, I could be dead, buried and have the coroner suing for his bill. I often wonder if the people on the Humane Society aren't getting better laws passed for animals than those passed for humans.

What I'd like to know is who is passing the buck in the Michigan Legislature? Maybe instead of making new laws, we should do a little checking to see that ones already passed are being carried out. By a little more enforcement, these out-of-date laws could prove progressive while waiting for new laws to be passed.

David Lawrence Says:

Giving Tunisia Freedom Would Produce Chaos

PARIS—Somebody might well write a guide for Americans entitled, "How Not to Make Enemies and Alienate Allies." It might start with a chapter on the loose employment of the word "colonialism." This word too often is bandied about carelessly with the implication that a nationalist movement seeking self-government or independence must suddenly be heeded irrespective of whether it will produce chaos internally and upset the country's economy.

* * *

France has a serious problem in Tunisia, but there is a tendency in the United States to link it with all other nationalist movements in other countries and to argue that it's a trend of the times.

What is astonishing is that no similar solicitude seems to be expressed concerning the peoples who already have had their independence but have had it taken away from them by the Soviet dictatorship. Moscow, of course, counts on the superficial and uninformed attitudes of Westerners and hence sows the seeds of propaganda throughout North Africa and elsewhere in an effort to cause a split between Paris and Washington.

It is a curious thing, but many Westerners — including Americans — never seemed to devote much thought to Tunisia until the cold war gave the issue momentum. At the very time when France needs the economic support which Tunisia can give her and when it is essential that America's allies not be disintegrated from an economic standpoint, the drive is on to plague the French government with more problems than it can possibly solve in North Africa.

* * *

Under pressure from the outside world, a plan has been drawn up by the authorities here in conference with Tunisian representatives which would give Tunisia self-government. It goes farther than any previous proposal to grant autonomy to the Tunisian people. It gives them complete control over their domestic affairs but enables them to lean on the French government for international defense and security.

The problems that lie ahead, however, are more difficult than those which have been solved. Thus, there are about 3,000,000 Moslems in Tunisia but there are 330,000 Europeans, Mostly French and Italians. The latter include those who are responsible for most of the economic progress of the country which they now will see regulated by Moslems without similar experience.

Fears are emerging that confiscation of private property will occur, and already there is to some degree a flight of capital to Europe from Tunisia.

* * *

How can these people who have lived together under French rule and under French legal codes suddenly achieve security or stability? A transition period with certain safeguards is envisaged, but it is a fertile spot for Communists to stir up the extremists.

They recognize all too well that North Africa has become the soft underbelly of Europe and that America's chances to maintain firm air bases along the northern coast of the African continent are related to the political conditions existing there. If pro-Communist factions control local governments, this could upset American military strategy.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Burning Match Tests Speaker's Ability to Organize Thoughts, Stick to Subject

Judge Braude likes the match test to stimulate concise thinking instead of the loose, fuzzy sort so often demonstrated by verbose salesmen. So try the match test if you want to weed out the men who can't think straight. And ponder Shefferman's expose of governmental waste.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-316: Judge Jacob M. Braude is a leading Chicago jurist who has just finished a very interesting new book, chockfull of anecdotal material and direct quotations.

Among the items which he has reprinted from this column, I was pleased to have him select one that deals with compression of ideas.

You regular readers may recall the experiment which I cited some years ago to compel voluble talkers and verbose salesmen to be concise.

"Sales managers might well subject their men to the match test," I had recommended.

"Give each individual a pad of safety matches. Ask him to light one and hold it between thumb and forefinger. Then have the salesman state the essential virtues of his product before the match burns down to the point where he must drop it.

"This provides a period of 60 to 90 seconds at most. So it forces quick concentration on essentials. It indicates which men follow the main line versus those who are likely to get sidetracked."

Woodrow Wilson once said that if he was asked to deliver an hour's lecture, that might take him a week's preparation.

But for a 3-minute address, he'd need a month's time!

And most writers, as well as speakers, realize the truth of such a paradoxical statement.

For you must make every single word count when you are restricted to a 100-word contest letter or a 3-minute speech.

Nathan W. Shefferman wrote a very challenging little book that was printed in the summer of 1954, entitled "Labor's Stake in Capitalism."

He tersely drove home the point that our average American worker now devotes 81 days out of his 235 working days per year just for the tax collector.

And out of the 62,572,000 employed workers in the U. S. A., more than 6,390,000 derived their salary from the local or federal government.

To show the need for greater efficiency, Shefferman cites the waste and duplication in government. To highlight this point, he says:

"The Ten Commandments contain 70 words. The Lord's Prayer contains 68 words. But the OPS order setting the price of cabbage contains 26,911 words."

Psychologists who specialize in efficiency engineering, always try to reduce the unnecessary movements involved in factory production. They also try to eliminate red tape.

Shefferman also points out the fact that the paper work on every government purchase order costs more than $10 in labor and materials.

But half of the many millions of purchases each year by Uncle Sam are for less than $10.

Thus, adds Shefferman, it often costs Uncle Sam more than $10 in red tape charges to buy a 50c typewriter ribbon!

The Hoover Commission was appointed to help solve this crisis of rapidly rising costs of government.

But Republican and Democratic parties need to unite in streamlining the business operation of our government, for when we average voters must devote 81 working days just to pay our taxes, out of a total of 235 work days, it's time to stop and reorganize.

There is a rule that the more a nation spends on its government, the less efficient is its government.

Send for my booklet, "Republic vs. Democracy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. See that your children know why we call this a republic in our pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Vertigo Is Closest Brady Came to Sea-Sickness

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

You may not believe it, but every night, in the interval between the Lord's Prayer in Latin and the 23rd Psalm in English I confer with God and Hippocrates about today's column—if enough of it was printed to speak of—and ask for guidance for tomorrow's.

Hippocrates observed about 400 B. C. that "sailing on the sea shows that motion disorders the body"—the first recorded description of seasickness.

If you have ever been seasick you may believe the legend that Cicero fleeing by sea from the decapitation decreed by Mark Anthony became so seasick that he went back and submitted to beheading rather than suffer further . . . I suppose you may as well make it a good one while you're at it. Now it will be obvious that I have never been seasick.

Well, no, maybe it wasn't seasickness, but when you are quite finished describing your motion sickness, whether it is brought on by ship, plane, train, bus or automobile travel, just stand back and let me tell you about my vertigo.

Vertigo, according to the medical dictionary, is "a sensation as if the external world were revolving around you.

One fine morning I got up, did my six rolls and half dozen movements of the "Last Brady Symphony" as usual — the symphony is the group of setting-up exercises described and illustrated in Little Lesson No. 6, for which send 25 cents and s.a.e.—and started to dress. Suddenly everything was revolving around me and I sprawled on the floor, all fours extended to prevent falling off the madly whirling world.

The only vertigo I had ever experienced lasted perhaps half a minute. Presently it was over, I resumed dressing, and I have experienced no disturbance since, although I have done some 25,000 forward rolls—somersaults, as I call 'em.

For years I have recommended the use of effervescent magnesium citrate solution (pleasant saline laxative) and small doses of atropine sulfate before sailing and in the first day or two of the voyage, as the best preventive against seasickness.

In the course of the last war a new seasickness remedy was introduced—dimenhydrinate tablets, 100 mg. It bears the trade mark "Dramamine." It gave fairly good results in many cases, but had some unpleasant effects in others. It can be obtained only on prescription.

The latest and, I believe, the best seasickness preventive and relief, available without prescription in drugstores, train, plane and ship lines around the world, is a combination of atropine-like scopolamine and an antihistamine prophenpyridamine), in such minute doses that no serious harm would be done even if the entire tube of little tablets were swallowed by mistake.

It is called "Vertigon." To be sure, in mild seasickness there may be little or no vertigo, but I gather that in many cases—anyway the name "Vertigon" is easy to remember when you're going on a trip.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Chou En Route Back to China

Last of Bandung Chiefs Leaves Indonesia After Signing Joint Pact

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai left for home by air today after several days of talks with Indonesian officials. He was the last of the top delegates at the Bandung Asian-African conference to go.

Chou and Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo signed a joint statement at Jakarta's Kemajoran Airport before the Indian Airline Constellation took off with the Communist chief.

The statement was not made public immediately. A reliable source said it was aimed at strengthening the mutual friendship of the two countries on the basis of a good neighbor policy.

* * *

Chou and Sastroamidjojo announced soon after the Bandung parley opened that an agreement on the touchy question of the nationality of the three million persons in Indonesia of Chinese extraction.

The treaty they signed April 22 gives such persons a year to choose Indonesian citizenship or be considered Chinese citizens. China previously had insisted that all persons of Chinese descent, no matter where they lived or had been born, were Chinese citizens.

Bevan Returns to Labor Party

Leaders Vote to Accept Ousted Member Back Into Fold

LONDON (AP)—Left-winger Aneurin Bevan, whose feud with Clement Attlee cost him his Laborite label in Parliament is being welcomed back—just a month before the general election.

The party leadership, headed by Attlee, voted last night to recommend that Bevan be restored to full membership in the parliamentary Labor party, made up of Socialist members of the House of Commons. Such recommendations are accepted automatically.

Bevan was expelled from the Labor ranks in Parliament March 16 after he and former Prime Minister Attlee, leader of the party, had clashed repeatedly on Attlee's moderate policies. He was not voted out of the party itself, although he never recanted his criticism of its leadership.

Last night's decision means that Bevan will have a full voice in plotting Labor strategy for the May 26 election.

On the Conservative side of the fence, meanwhile, reliable informants said Prime Minister Eden is hoping his government and its allies can pull off a diplomatic triple play before election—Formosa peace talks, Austrian independence and an approach to a Big Four conference on other world problems.

Body of Trapped Miner Found After 32 Hours

POTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The body of an independent coal miner, buried for nearly 32 hours 150 feet below the surface at a small mine near here, was recovered by rescue workers last night.

Michael Chervenak, 45, who worked the operation by himself, was trapped Tuesday morning in a cave-in. His wife and several other members of the family had kept a vigil at the mine entrance until word was received he was dead.

Jap Court Frees Red Jailed for Blasting U. S.

TOKYO (AP — Japan' supreme court yesterday freed a Communist member of the Diet who was given a one-year sentence for accusing the United States of "atrocities" in Korea.

The high court held unconstitutional a law sponsored by the U.S. occupation forces in 1950 which prohibited "false or destructive criticism" of the Allied powers.

The Communist, Kanichi Kawakami, was sentenced by a lower court for a series of magazine articles.

U. S. Publishers Re-elect Leader

Philadelphia Newsman Unopposed for Second Term as President

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard W. Slocum is slated for re-election as president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. at its concluding convention session today.

Slocum, executive vice president of the Philadelphia Bulletin, is unopposed for a second term. ANPA presidents customarily serve two terms.

Membership in the ANPA rose to 801, with 27 newspapers elected to membership.

The convention adopted a resolution expressing regret at the death of 69 editors and publishers since the last meeting.

"These men and women, so well endowed by temperament, judgment and comprehension, helped to make and maintain the American press as the great institution it is today," the resolution said.

The work of the ANPA Research Institute laboratory at Easton, Pa., was to have been televised live via closed circuit yesterday from the laboratory to the convention. However, reception of the program broke down and the show could not be presented.

Slocum smilingly commented:

"It is disappointing that we have to call it off, but it is now demonstrated that the printed word is still the most effective means of communication."

Franklin D. Schurz, of the South Bend (Ind.) Tribune(president of the research institute, said in his report:

"Most of the new inventions tend toward a greater mechanization of the mechanical departments. With the installation of more complex machines, more machinists will be needed."

Nylon was the first synthetic to show promise as a textile substitute.

Navy Prepared to Aid Hunt for Drowning Victim

Had not the body of the Hamtramck sailor who drowned in Round Lake Friday been recovered Tuesday, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies would have had the assistance of the U.S. Navy.

Naval authorities at Great Lakes Training Station near Chicago had notified local Navy officials that they were sending two divers and equipment to aid in the hunt for the victim, Robert Golebiewski, 20, of Hamtramck.

Chief Hospitalman S. S. Stone, of the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center, said he had just completed arrangements with the came in from the lake near Lake-Sheriff's Dept. when the report ville that the youth's body had been recovered after four days of dragging.

Stone said he made a hurried telephone call to Chicago just in time to halt the plane with 3,200 pounds of diving equipment. Besides the divers, a doctor and four assistants were flying here.

Golebiewski died in a vain effort to save a fishing companion, George Hunt, 16, of East Detroit, after their rowboat capsized. Another sailor, Kenneth Carneal, 18, of Roseville, swam to safety.

Local Man Completes Water Safety Course

Recently completing the water safety instructor's course at Albion College was Gerald F. O'Brien of Pontiac.

The 15-hour safety course in teaching methods dealt with techniques of life saving, swimming and diving.

O'Brien, a freshman at Albion, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Brien, 4926 Maycrest.

Towns to Mark Mine Reopening

Copper Country Boom Will Be Celebrated at Ontonagon, White Pine

ONTONAGON (AP)—A giant celebration has been set to mark the start of copper production at the White Pine mine and smelter after a lapse of that industry of more than 30 years.

A planning committee, with the cooperation of the Michigan Economic Development Commission, said events will be held June 9, 10 and 11 at White Pine and at Ontonagon.

The first two days will include "open house" at the White Pine mine. June 11 was designated as "Morris F. LaCroix Day" in honor of the president of the Copper Range Co. and the White Pine Copper Co.

It was the White Pine firm that brought about development of the 80 million dollar mine and mill project after many years of research and study of the area.

The celebration committee said it will urge Ontonagon officials to petition the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., to return here the "Ontonagon Boulder."

This is a huge mass of native float copper that was taken to Washington from the Ontonagon River more than a century ago after long controversy about its ownership.

Mines in Ohio produce more coal than all of India and Pakistan combined.

Search for Clue in Double Killing

Dentist's Socialite Wife and Maid Murdered in West Virginia

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Police looked to autopsy reports today to give them some clue in their search for the slayer of the socially prominent wife of a Clarksburg dentist and the family's part-time maid.

The two women, Mrs. Frances Laughlin, 44-year-old wife of Dr. Carl A. Laughlin, and the maid, Mrs. Joan Bland, 31-year-old divorcee, were found shot to death in the Laughlin's fashionable ranch-style home yesterday.

* * *

An 8-year-old son, Mark, discovered the bodies when he came home from school for lunch.

"We're not holding anybody at the present time," State Police Sgt. T. A. Welty said early today. "We still have troopers out checking several angles right now. But we don't have a thing yet."

Dr. Laughlin, 42, said he knew no reason why anyone would want to kill his wife. Preliminary investigation failed to show anything of value had been taken, but robbery was not ruled out as a possible motive.

* * *

Laughlin was reported overcome with grief and shock.

The dentist, well known throughout northern West Virginia and recently elected to the national examining board of the American Dental Assn., was at his office, about six blocks away in downtown Clarksburg, when a neighbor telephoned him what had happened. He called the fire department rescue squad, which in turn notified police.

Coroner Kenna Jackson, who examined the completely clothed bodies about 1:30 p.m., estimated the two women had been dead about three hours.

Each had been shot in the head.

"It looked like there might have been a struggle," Jackson said. He said there was a bruise on the chin and face of Mrs. Laughlin and her lips were cut inside, "like she had been struck in the face." Her hands and shoulders were badly scratched.

Seek U.S.-Canada Treaty in Lamprey War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee yesterday heard pleas for ratification of a treaty between the United States and Canada to rid the Great Lakes of the fish-destroying sea lamprey.

Witnesses from the State and Interior departments, testifying before a foreign relations subcommittee, said practical means to eliminate the eel-like parasite have been found.

But, to make the program completely effective, cooperative action by the two countries is necessary.

Such action is possible under the terms of a Great Lakes fisheries convention between the two countries. Ratification by the Senate and the Canadian Parliament is required.

Warren F. Looney, a special assistant in the State Department, told how the Fish and Wildlife Service has devised an electric wire and mechanical barriers to destroy the pest.

Looney gave the committee startling figures on the destructive ability of the lamprey—particularly with respect to lake trout and whitefish.

The lamprey—at maturity it reaches a length of 18 inches or more—entered the upper Great Lakes from Lake Ontario after construction of the Welland Canal.

Prior to that the creature, which has existed in Ontario since prehistoric times, was denied access to Lakes Erie, Huron, Michigan and Superior by the Niagara Falls.

The lamprey destroys fish by attaching itself to them with the suction-like cup of its mouth. It subsists by draining off the blood of the fish.

Looney said that before the lamprey infested Lake Huron the 1935 catch of lake trout totaled 1,743,000 pounds. But by 1951 the total catch was down to 50 pounds.

The toll in Lake Michigan, from which a 1943 catch of 6,800,000 pounds was made, was equally drastic. By 1952, Looney said, the catch had dwindled to 3,000 pounds.

The lamprey has now penetrated into Lake Superior—the most westward and largest of the Great Lakes.

"The first adults from the scattered early spawning have now grown up in that lake," Looney said, "and the 'explosion' of population characteristic of this prolific creature . . . may shortly be expected to occur and may even be taking place now."

He said the lamprey loss to U. S. fishermen in Lakes Huron and Michigan alone is about 3½ million dollars a year.

Looney said the control program instituted by the fish and wildlife service in 1950 show that the lamprey can be largely eliminated.

The electric barriers, placed in potential spawning streams, can prevent the movement upstream of would-be spawners, which then perish without spawning.

He said 71 streams flowing into Lakes Superior and Michigan have been barricaded, and that 151 more on those lakes and Lake Huron require similar action.

Driver Proves Eyesight Is Not What It Used to Be

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Otto Wolfersberger, 71, drove to the St. Clair County courthouse to take a driver's license test.

He didn't pass: "Poor eyesight."

When Wolfersberger got outside yesterday he found a ticket on his car—which he'd parked on the sidewalk. He told police he noticed signs on the sidewalk next to the curbing designating parking spots for license applicants and thought the sidewalk was the proper place to park.

He was fined $1.

Treasury Building Gets Scrubbed Up

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Treasury Building, one of Washington's oldest government structures, is having its grime-blackened exterior scrubbed and washed for the first time in its history. It was occupied in 1839.

Officials report that as fast as the cleaned granite emerges from the chemical steaming process, bird-proofing operations will be used to discourage pigeons and starlings that normally roost on the massive porticoes.

The treasury's clean-up and bird-proofing program, ordered by Secretary George M. Humphrey, is estimated to cost about $52,350. The cleaning is expected to take six months.

Practice Writing to Music

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — It is not altogether flattering to be told that your handwriting is reminiscent of the skillful scrollwork of the Ming-period Chinese.

On the surface, it sounds nice. But underneath is the hint of an insult. Especially when the handwriting expert follows up with the casual remark, "and I presume that the friends to whom you write can read Chinese?"

Well, at that point you begin to take offense and the penmanship expert — a 71-year old fellow with a fluid hand named Max Rosenhaus—has to start watching his step.

"Please," he says, "I am only a man who is interested in teaching more people how to write legibly. It is almost a lost art, you know, writing legibly. Surveys shows us that more than $70,000,000 was lost by American businesses last year because of confusion in the writing of numbers."

And think of all the friends that were lost, he added, because the post office couldn't read the addresses on envelopes. Or because people couldn't make out from whom their letters came, much less what their garbled-named correspondents had to say.

Since before World War I, when penmanship was a routine high school subject, Rosenhaus has been teaching the art of the curvaceous upstroke and the straight downstroke, and reminding students to dot their I's, cross their T's and close their O's.

In the last three years, since his retirement, he has helped form the Handwriting Foundation, a non-profit organization to promote penmanship teaching in schools and homes. He has many methods for teaching the art (Rosenhaus teaches it to teachers in the more than 1,000 New York City schools), but his favorite is the "write-to-music" system.

"Now anybody who practices his handwriting with a record playing in the background is doing it the smart way," he says. "If he has a good sense of rhythm, that is. If you write in the rhythm of the tango—drawing one letter for each beat—you are writing just about perfectly, speedwise.

"You see," he says, putting a recording of "El Chocio" on his portable wind-'er-up Victrola, "the trouble with most people is they write too fast, and this makes them scrawl. If they do a letter-per-beat on the tango ("El Chocio" spun into action, accompanied by the pen of El Rosenhaus) they will be just ... about ... perfect."

Rosenhaus tapped a sprightly foot on the floor in time to the easy, precise movement of his writing fingers. With the last beat of the record, he tapped out a period. His T's were meticulously crossed, I's dotted.

The teacher recommends that anybody who possesses a good phonograph and a bad pen-hand should practice this way. He warns, however, that there are five waltz-time letters in the alphabet which simply are not conducive to the tango beat.

"In other words, when practicing your K's, your M's, your P's, your Q's and your W's," insists Rosenhaus, "use waltzes. For all the rest of the letters, the tango's the best."

And never, he warns, use fox trots, slow blues or any variety of bop with which to rehearse your penmanship.

"These will throw you off balance and tend to make you a worse penman than before." Although, in the case of some people, he said (laying on the accent rather too heavily) that might be hard to imagine.

Chanteys, Hornpipes Taught to State Kids

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Short drag chanteys and sailor's hornpipes have taken their place in the curriculum of some 25,000 youngsters in rural Michigan schools.

The nautical ditties are being broadcast by some 20 radio stations throughout the state through tapes supplied by the University of Michigan Broadcasting Service. The songs are designed to provide a musical introduction to the 1955 Soo Locks Centennial celebration. The programs have become a standard part of the students' classroom work.

First Milking Tough on Cow, Attendants

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Officials presented the zoo with a purebred Holstein cow.

They were more pleased when she became the mother of a frisky calf — her first. That's when the trouble began. Mother soon had to be milked twice a day.

As they nurse their bruises the attendants will tell you what dairymen long have known — cows kick when they are milked for the first time, especially by amateurs.

Marriage rate in the U. S. in 1954 was 9.1 per 1,000 persons.

She's Got Rhythm

QUINCY, Mass. (UP) — Mrs. Sylvia Barry, entertaining a church group here, described herself as a "real gone" drummer. Then she demonstrated with jazz and swing on a snare drum. She's 76.

Files Antitrust Suit Against Hilton Chain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell has filed suit to whittle down the size of the Conrad Hilton hotel empire.

The action under the antitrust laws was brought against the world's largest hotel owner in Federal District Court here.

It specifically charged the Hilton Hotels Corp. with violating the antimerger section of the Clayton antitrust law when it acquired the Statler hotel chain late last year.

* * *

The suit also named as a defendant the Statler Hotels Delaware Corp., newly organized to hold some of the acquired Statler properties.

The Attorney General asked the court to order Hilton to dispose of some hotel properties in Washington, D. C., St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Haunting Experience

BOSTON (UP) — An arsonist, convicted of setting the fire in a vacant building that spread and burned down four homes, had a ready explanation for the judge: "The place was an eyesore. It haunted me."

A TRIP TO THE CIRCUS—4
The Girl on the Flying Trapeze

"The music begins. Look up there, boys and girls. It's Cherita, our senorita from Spain. She swoops through the air on the flying trapeze in thrilling, death-defying dips.

"Watch her swing back and forth. She learned this act when she was just a little girl. Her parents were famous circus performers and they taught her how. Many of the performers begin when they are young and to them the circus is their real home.

"For an act like this, at first, they wear a safety harness to swing them to safety in case of trouble, or have strong nets under them to catch a fall. The ropes and fastenings are tested before every performance.

"Cherita is now one of our brightest and loveliest stars. Just one more leap and we'll watch her slide down to the ground. Here she is. A fanfare for our brave senorita Cherita."

Color Cherita and add her to your collection of performers so you will have your own three ring circus by the end of the week.

Tomorrow: The girl who walks on a wire.

Find Doctor Guilty on License Charge

WINDSOR, Ont. (INS) — Dr. John Emil Hett, 84-year-old director of the "Hett Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation" in East Riverside, Ont., has been found guilty of practicing medicine without a license.

The doctor's license was suspended in 1952 by the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, but an indictment pressed by the medical group charged that Dr. Hett had illegally treated hundreds of patients since then.

Dr. Hett, who claims to have invented a secret serum for cancer, was fined the maximum $100 by Windsor Magistrate A. W. MacMillan.

Hett then pleaded guilty to a second count of using the professional designation "doctor" and was given the minimum fine of $50.

Retirement Is Beginning for Ex-College President

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Retirement failed to stop Dr. Charles E. Diehl, 79, who started getting a hospital built after he quit being a college president.

Since he retired as president of Southwestern, Diehl has:

1. Raised funds for Japan Christian University.
2. Talked Tennessee into allocating about $1,000,000 for a state hospital for the feeble-minded at Dickson, Tenn.
3. Helped with a program to rehabilitate ex-convicts.

A Bit Literal-Minded

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — J. E. Jaffe made a delivery of heating oil to a customer who wasn't at home. Jaffe left a note telling the customer where to send the check. The envelope containing the check was addressed exactly as his message had said: "P. O. box 292 and oblige."

People Past 65 Find Life Rough

Sociologist Says That Society Shoves Older Citizens Into Loneliness

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—Our society "pulls the ladder of life" from under persons reaching 65 years of age, according to a Southern Illinois University sociologist.

J. S. McCrary, who has done much research into problems of old age, said our society forces loneliness on our older citizens.

He added that even young persons become lonely when made to feel society is merely tolerating their presence.

"At the age of 65," McCrary noted, "society arbitrarily strips a man of the status he has spent his life gaining.

"It pulls out the ladder of life from beneath a man, causing him to lose his work, a large part of his income, and most of his useful activity.

"He can only feel that society is finished with him."

McCrary said older women usually are hardest hit by loneliness because "rejected by society, most of them also live out their lives mateless."

The SIU sociologist pointed out that most men at least have their wives to take care of them after retirement, but only 16 per cent of women over 75 years of age have husbands. Nearly 50 per cent of men that age have wives.

McCrary said the situation often forces the aged into a "psychological corner" where the older person nurses a feeling of isolation and often escapes into a fantasy world of the happy past or becomes overly concerned with bodily ailments.

McCrary believes society is hurting itself by this attitude toward the older citizens.

He warned that "privately or through government agencies we are supporting thousands of persons who are quite capable of supporting themselves."

The sociologist admitted that the solution of the old-age problem is not simple and "we must explore new ways of fitting old people into our society so they can play useful and satisfying roles until the very end of their days."

SAUGATUCK (UP) — The Island Queen, not to be confused with the Bogart-Hepburn movie of a similar title, is ready to steam May 10 for her second season of tourist cruises.

The Island Queen was constructed at a Saugatuck dock a year ago.

Bay City Times, Schools to Take Part in Study

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—The Bay City Times and the Bay City school system will be represented at a special summer conference at Harvard for newspapermen and educators.

The three-week conference, from July 25 to Aug. 15, was called to discuss ways to report educational matters to the public more effectively. It will be conducted by the Nieman Foundation on a grant from the fund for the advancement of education.

The participating schools administrators and newspaper editors plan to follow up the discussions by co-operating in their own communities to provide adequate information on education.

U.S. tobacco production in 1954 was 998,000 tons, an increase of 7 per cent to an all-time record.

Bob Considine Says:

General Maitland Blazed Pacific Air Trail

LAS VEGAS (INS)—Col. Lester Maitland, who blazed the aerial trail from California to Honolulu in 1927, and later commanded a B26 bomber group in World War II, will soon become an Episcopal minister, Iron River, Mich., has been tentatively chosen as his first parish.

Maitland, still youthful looking though her served 28 years in the service before retiring in 1945, is in Las Vegas as one of the foremost civil defense figures in Michigan. "Operation Cue" is a Civil Defense Administration project. Maitland has lived in Lansing since leaving the Air Force.

He and another young Army Air Force lieutenant, Albert Hegenberger, made aviation history 28 years ago when they flew a 3-engined Fokker monoplane to Hawaii nonstop in 25 hours and 45 minutes. The feat was hailed with that of Lindbergh's flight to Paris, which shortly preceded it.

"It wasn't any one thing that brought this on," he told me the other day at Doom Town, the simulated American village which was built to be destroyed by the A-bomb. "In recent years I've felt an increasing urgency to enter the priesthood. I think I can do more good that way."

Maitland made application for a postulant's status a year ago. After passing psychological and physiological tests he embarked on an extensibe study period. In the near future he will be ordained a deacon, and, after more training, will be advanced to ministerial status. A former wife and married daughter, who now live in Jackson, Miss., have approved the step, Maitland said.

Hegenberger, also retired, now lives in—of all places—Maitland, Texas.

Why go to the trouble and expense of testing the A-bomb on, among other items, a trailer camp? Very simple. Trailers (the trade perfers to call them "mobile homes") have become an integral part of U.S. housing. If there is a way to make them a more proper abode in the atomic age, the manufacturers want to learn it.

In 1930, trailer sales in the U.S. amounted to $1,300,000. By 1937 sales had jumped to $17,000,000. In 1946 the figure was $146,000,00. It zoomed to $216,000,000 in 1950 — and in 1953 amounted to $321,00,000. It's still going up.

More than 2,000,000 Americans now live on wheels. They are construction workers and craftsmen, military personnel and their families, defense workers, students and their families, retired couples, salesmen, engineers, teachers and business men. Mobility is a part of their plans, their present and future.

The emphasis in the trailer has long since passed from that of a perpetual nomadic life to something more intrinsic and substantial. The expensive ($7,000) trailer of today contains built-in air-condition, television, garbage disposal, bathrooms (includes a model with an upstairs bath) and sleeping accommodations for eight. We know of a family that lives in a trailer and drives off to work and play in a Cadillac.

The value of the trailer was enhanced by World War II when tiny towns and often unpopulated areas suddenly mushroomed into huge industrial centers — as was the case with Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Trailer folks aren't poor folks, a recent survey showed. The average annual income per mobile home family exceeds the national average by more than $1,000.

Hence the trailer's place in the sun—the sun born aloft a 500-foot tower on Yucca Flat.

Unlocked Safe Cracked by Thieves for $12 Loot

WHITESBORO, Tex. (UP) — Burglars entered the Strong Truck and Tractor Co. by forcing the door, moved a heavy office safe to the rear of the building and battered it open.

Deputy Sheriff John Evridge said the effort must have taken two men about two hours. Their loot was only $12. And the safe didn't need to be battered open—the proprietor had left it unlocked so burglars wouldn't damage it trying to get in.

Antennae Match Cars

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Now the antenna for the automobile radio can be produced to match the colors of the car. A plastics company here has produced what it calls the "Dura-ramic" antenna. It is made of fiber glass. It can be bent double without breaking and will not rust or corrode.

Geese Outfox Fox

NARRAGANSETT, R. I. (UP — A fox in search of dinner made a dash for a goose standing with some colleagues on a frozen pond. The fox drowned. The geese were standing around a hole in the ice.

WAHOO, Neb. (UP) — Sheriff Joe Divis gave chase when he saw a youth leave a dance hall here, jump into his car and speed down the road. Divis said the young man told him he was dancing with a girl when a "big guy" tapped him on the shoulder and suggested he leave in a hurry. No charges.

Japanese Chief Accused of Two-Faced Diplomacy

By FORREST EDWARDS

TOKYO, (AP) — Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama was accused in the Diet today of two-faced diplomacy in his policy of maintaining close friendship with the United States while negotiating trade and diplomatic ties with Red China and Russia.

The attack came in both houses of Parliament from members of former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal (conservative) party, which has opposed ties with the Communists.

• • •

Hatoyama must have Liberal party support if he is to push any program through the Diet. His equally conservative Democrats hold only 185 seats in the all-powerful lower house — 49 less than a majority. The Liberals hold 114.

Liberal Yoshiaki Sato told the upper house that Hatoyama's "two-faced diplomacy (puts) Japan in a position where she may be resented by the free world and fooled and tricked by the Communist world."

• • •

Hatoyama called the attacks deliberate attempts to misunderstand.

"It is necessary," the Prime Minister told the lower house, "to restore trade and diplomatic relations with Communist nations because it will contribute to slackening the tension of the cold war between the free and Communist camps — a tension that must be relaxed or the cold war may flare into a hot war at any moment."

• • •

Hatoyama repeated his contention that negotiations can be undertaken with Communist nations without endangering U.S. friendship and without the risk of Japan going Communistic.

Gas found in salt mines was piped in bamboo tubes and used for illumination by the ancient Chinese.

Traffic Tickets Lead to School

Seattle Offenders Save $5 Bail by Appearing at Safety Program

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP) —There was standing room only in the Police Department's lecture hall.

The speaker for the evening was Officer Richard Watson. The 400 or more persons who came to hear him ranged from pert high school girls to white-haired men with hearing aids and canes.

It wasn't that Watson was the world's best public speaker or that there was no admission charge for his one-hour show. But everyone there did have a ticket.

Most of the tickets were for jaywalking. The ticket along with a white slip of paper was good for one performance of the department's Pedestrian Safety School, one of the reasons Seattle had the lowest traffic death rate in the nation among cities of its size in 1953 and 1954.

The white slip said something about either attending the lecture or posting $5 bail. How many paid to stay away, only time will tell.

Those who came early got seats and saw all of a full-color cartoon on bad driving and walking habits.

The not-so-early missed the cartoon and had to stand in the back of the room for Watson's lecture on how not to become a statistic.

Midway in the lecture, Officer Bill Turner broke in with his guitar and sang the "Pedestrian's Lament," a sad ballad about a jaywalker who not only gets knocked down but also gets tossed into jail.

Turner looked over "this crowd of smiling faces," and quipped: "You know this is an entertainer's paradise—all this audience and no one can leave."

(There was another officer standing at the exit to make sure no one walked out.)

Actually, the master of ceremonies didn't hold his audience a full hour. As Watson explained:

"You're earning five dollars an hour by being here, and we can't afford to pay you overtime."

Seriously, Seattle's police hope their school does more than save a traffic violator $5 in an evening. They hope it saves a life or prevents an injury every day.

'Old Man of Mountains' Observes 150th Birthday

CONCORD, N. H. (UP) — New Hampshire's "Old Man of the Mountains" is observing his 150th anniversary this year.

The "Old Man" is a huge natural profile formed on the upper cliffs in Franconia Notch. He was immortalized by the poet Hawthorne in his classic, "The Great Stone Face."

It was in 1805 that the "Old Man" was discovered by surveyors laying out the first road through the Notch. Since then hundreds of thousands of American tourists have viewed the famous profile.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UP) — Alderman Robert Bittner and his wife doubled up in a novel idea for his political campaign in the spring elections. Bittner wore a pair of pottery cuff links with the slogan, "Bittner for Mayor," baked in. Mrs. Bittner wore earrings bearing the same slogan. They said they didn't start out half-baked.

Scientist Blames Military Tests for '52 Floods

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The man who fathered the science of making rain said today he believes armed forces experiments may have caused the disastrous Missouri Valley floods of June 1952.

Dr. Irving Langmuir, a Nobel Prize winner and consultant for General Electric Co. experiments with rainmaking, also declared:

1. An Air Force test on a tornado off the eastern coast Oct. 17, 1947, may have turned the twister off its course and pushed it into Savannah, Ga., with damage of five million dollars.

2. There is evidence that rainmaking in some areas may create drought in others.

Langmuir was interviewed while attending the International Arid Lands Symposium, where scientists from 18 nations are seeking answers to the rapidly growing arid regions which already cover a third of the earth's land surface. He declared that he thinks now—and insisted at the time—that a single silver iodide generator operating at Alamogordo, N. M., under Project Cirrus caused the steady downpours which drowned the Missouri Valley three years ago.

"We had been seeding for some time, and the storms kept getting bigger and better. I told them (the armed forces heads administering the project) that I felt we ought to stop seeding as the rains in the Missouri Valley kept falling.

"But the administrator of the project was on vacation at the time. No one would take responsibility for ordering the seeding stopped.

"Finally, I told them we must stop, things were getting serious.

"We stopped on July 2. On July 7 the flood just about devastated Omaha."

Langmuir explained how a lone cloud generator in New Mexico could affect the weather so far away: The silver iodide particles are sent into the air, say, in New Mexico. Winds from the west blow them across the Mississippi, where they come in contact with moist air masses coming in from the Gulf of Mexico.

A particle of silver iodide about the size of a pencil dot is enough to affect a cubic mile of air weighing 100 million tons, Langmuir said.

Once a storm has been started, it triggers other storms. And if the cloud seeder is restarted at intervals, you get rain at about the same intervals.

"If we had stopped our generator two weeks earlier," Langmuir said, "the Missouri Valley floods would not have happened."

Langmuir said that on Oct. 17, 1947, an Air Force plane seeded a tornado heading north off the East Coast.

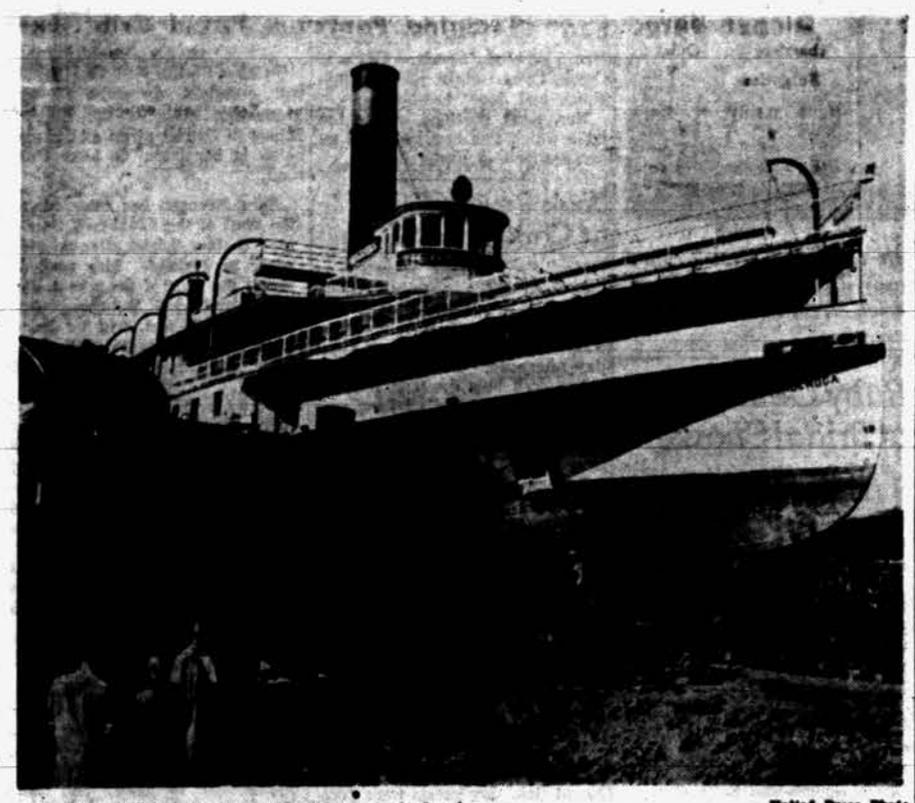

The twister turned 120 degrees, "which the Weather Bureau said was impossible," and smashed on to Savannah.

"There was not one chance in 7,000 that the tornado would have turned if it had not been seeded," Langmuir said. "I had suggested that we wait until the storm was further north and out to sea to experiment."

Project Betters Pupils' Diets and Arithmetic

SAGINAW (UP) — Second and third grade pupils at the South Intermediate School here are saving cereal boxes, but not for prizes.

The class project is part of their teacher's program in how to have a good time while learning arithmetic.

Miss Jepha Gulliford says she has converted her students into avid arithmetic enthusiasts by making a game of their lessons.

Miss Gulliford says she has her students engage in all types of games from bean bags to bowling on the theory that they must learn arithmetic to keep score.

Parents approve of her theory not only because their children readily sit down to their arithmetic home work, but also because the pupils are eating more cereal and drinking more orange juice and milk than ever before.

Frozen fruit juice containers, milk cartons and cereal boxes are only a few of the items used in the games. And each child must supply his own materials.

Railroad Strike Idles Kentucky Coal Town

6,500 Laid Off in Mining Area

Louisville and Nashville Walkout Kills Economic Heart of Harlan

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—This community's economic heart died March 14.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad was struck that day and one of the first casualties was Harlan County's 6,500 coal miners.

All are out of work. They're worried; the operators are worried; and some businessmen are preparing for a slump.

• • •

Since he is losing $18.75 a day in wages, the miner must fall back on unemployment compensation—$28 a week. Before the strike the county's average claim load was about 2,000 cases a month. Now it is four times greater.

Most of the coal firms are helping by extending credit to their men at the company stores. Some $4-$5 a day.

• • •

Privately, some miners will admit their sympathy lies with the strikers. When the coal mines were strike-bound during the war years, it was the railroader who suffered.

What about the miner's boss?

"Until March, our picture looked better than it had for two or three years," says George S. Ward, secretary of the Harlan County Coal Operators Assn.

"We had prospects of increased shipments to the Great Lakes but the strike has gone on so long, some firms have lost these orders."

• • •

The Harlan field ships 8 million tons or more of coal a year and has shipped as high as 14 million. But Ward says the operators are afraid customers will turn to another field next year.

Time is also a factor. The railroad plans a 35 cent a ton rate increase on steam (fine) coal on June 20 and most operators want to get their orders filled before then.

• • •

Ward says, however, the "frame of mind here isn't as low as it was in February 1954, when there were no coal orders."

Some merchants disagree.

Their customers come from the 4,786 residents here and the 65,000 in the county. "Up until two weeks ago," said one, "optimism was high and people continued to trade because they expected the strike to be settled."

Today, he continued, "people are holding on to what little they've got until work starts again. I'm worried about the future. Remember, the miners won't get a payday for some time."

Home-Made Automobile Has Nothing but Engine

TOLEDO, O. (UP)—Police were not at all pleased when they found a high school pupil giving his home-made car a test run.

In the first place, two patrolmen almost ran into the car because it didn't have any lights. Upon investigation they learned the vehicle did not have brakes, license plates, or normal steering equipment. It had a washing machine motor which put it into the motor vehicle classification.

Police impounded the car and ordered the 15-year-old driver into juvenile court.

Waterford Set to Open First Home, Garden Show

Rapidly growing Waterford Township will hold its first home and garden show at the Community Center on Williams Lake road Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Sponsored by the Township Junior Chamber of Commerce, the show will feature displays by 70 township merchants. Included will be home decorating supplies, garden needs, sports equipment, appliances, hardware, plants, shrubs and building supplies.

Admission is free and doors will be open Friday from 6 to 11 p.m., Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 11 p.m.

John Chase, chairman of the show's planning committee, said a number of prizes will be given during the 3-day show.

Firms that will have display booths are:

Dawson Hardware, L & V Awning & Window Co., McNeil Nursery, O'Brien Heating, Burke Lumber, Temco Machine, Dean Hardware, Shell Cabinet Shop, May Mac Windows, Lee Sales and Services, Goodwill Automatic Heating, Paddock Film Service, Don Carter Home Decorating, Lakeland Glass, Joe's Army and Navy Store, Fillmore Hardware, and Drayton Floor Fashions.

Others are the Town-Country Garden Center, Benson Lumber, Poole Lumber, Automatic Sewing Center, Williams Trollabout, Clarkston Farm Supply, Ruth Kellogg Drapes-Slip Covers, Spencer Floor Covering, Oakland Heating, and Sefanski TV-Radio.

Completing the list are Greens' Mens Wear, Keene Seal-N'-Vent Products, Tony's Marine Sales, Haskins Chevrolet, Beattie Ford, Pontiac Retail Store, Moon Valley Rustic Furniture, Alwindow Co., Slaybaugh's Sporting Goods, and Tru-Bilt Block Co.

The haberdasher insists that it is more than a novelty, saying it is ideal for fishing, golfing and baseball bleachers. Modeling the hat is a Cleveland reporter.

A-Bomb Test Put Off Again

Postpone Big Explosion for 3rd Time Because of Unfavorable Winds

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—Unfavorable winds today caused the third postponement of the big atomic test of the current series.

Operation Cue thus became Operation Miscue to the more than 5,000 persons who braved another chilly desert night for exercises designed to test this nation's civil defenses.

The 40-kiloton test was called off at the last minute, just before the bomb was scheduled to go off at 5:15 a.m.

• • •

The postponement came after a weather conference starting at 4:45 a.m.

Observers and participants were at their stations on Yucca Flat near this model community when the announcement was made. It was the second straight day that all had been ready for the long awaited shot, only to have weather prevent it.

An unacceptable fall-out pattern, potentially dangerous to three small communities in north central Nevada, caused the postponement this time.

• • •

Another weather evaluation is to be made today, but the chances of a shot tomorrow or Saturday were considered doubtful. Another bad weather front was reported moving in from the Pacific.

The main fall-out danger was to Alamo and Elgin, two communities which already have received considerable radiation this series. There was also some danger of fall-out to Caliente, another small community northeast of the test site.

Same Names Befuddling to Ohio Real Estate Men

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—A real estate transaction here had courthouse workers and bank and title company employes talking to themselves for a time. Mrs. Anna Pekar sold her home to Mrs. Anna Pekar.

The two women, not related, were introduced by a realtor, Ed Noble, who didn't know what he was in for.

Both Mrs. Pekars signed the sale papers and funds were put in escrow. Officials involved finally managed to overcome the complications due to the identical names and Mrs. Anna Pekar paid Mrs. Anna Pekar $9,450 for house.

Charges 'Fear Campaign'

Union Chief Blasts NAM

DETROIT (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther says the National Assn. of Manufacturers is conducting a "fear campaign" against the guaranteed annual wage.

Reuther told the CIO United Paper Workers convention yesterday the NAM "has been resisting progress so long they can't get out of the habit."

And he repeated earlier charges by the union, denied by the NAM, that the NAM is raising a 20 million dollar "war chest" to combat the annual wage.

The union chief also said he will "very soon" enter the CIO United Auto Workers negotiations with General Motors Corp. and the Ford Motor Co. for a guaranteed wage. Reuther heads the UAW as well as the CIO.

Reuther's charges against the manufacturers' association was in reply to an attack on the year-around wage in Detroit Monday by Charles R. Sligh Jr., Grand Rapids, Mich. furniture manufacturer and chairman of the NAM's executive committee.

Sligh asserted acceptance of the guaranteed annual wage as proposed by the auto workers union would mean "the end of life in America as we know it."

Commenting on Sligh's statement that a guaranteed wage would destroy free enterprise, Reuther declared the NAM thinks only "of dividing up scarcities."

"What we need to think about is dividing up economic abundance," he said.

The union does not oppose a $400,000-a-year executive making $500,000 a year if he can get it," Reuther said.

"But," he added, "if a worker making $4,000 a year tries to make $5,000 he is accused of trying to destroy free enterprise."

The union goal, Reuther said, is to provide a better life for all from advanced science and technology, including automation. He said the union is not opposed to automation but believes a guaranteed annual wage would relieve whatever unemployment develops.

Miss Shelly Is Honored at Banquet

Annual Affair Held Wednesday Evening at Devon Gables

By MARILYN SHEARER

"Water Wonderland" was the theme of a Founders' Day banquet held Wednesday evening by members of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. The group gathered at Devon Gables to honor Walter W. Ross, who founded the sorority 24 years ago on April 30, 1931 in Kansas.

The sorority has grown through these years from seven to over 100,000 members.

An international honorary membership in Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was conferred on Miss Adah Shelly at the banquet attended by members of eight local chapters.

Miss Shelly attended her first Founder's Day banquet April 7, 1934 at Rotunda Inn. Prior to the banquet, on Aug. 20, 1933, one of the first meetings of Phi Chapter was held with Miss Shelly attending as education director. This began her life with Beta Sigma Phi 22 years ago.

Up until the last four years Miss Shelly has continued as their director even though she was installed as an exemplar member of Xi Pi Chapter in November 1948. At this time she was also made an honorary member of the sorority along with Myrtle Shore, educational director of Alpha Omega Chapter.

Miss Shelly was honored Nov. 3, 1954, when Xi Pi Chapter staged an Adah Shelly Night. They presented her with a hand painted scroll and book for the new Adah Shelly Library. The inscription on the scroll was written by Dessie Black of Xi Pi Chapter.

Mrs. George Pudduck was introduced as new president of the sorority's city council. She will be assisted by Mrs. Carl Leedy, vice president; Helen Baldwin, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Markham, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. William Doyon, treasurer.

Lois McIntyre, city council president, presented Miss Shelly with a bouquet of the sorority's flower, the yellow rose.

New chapter presidents were introduced to members at the dinner. Doris Ball is president of Alpha Omega; Joyce Amann of Epsilon Rho; Betty Bryan of Gamma Psi; Mrs. Robert Shorey of Phi; Jean Brown of Zeta Eta; Mrs. Robert Knight of Zeta Lambda; Margaret Luther of Xi Pi; and Mrs. Willard Sovey of Xi Alpha Nu.

Directors introduced were Mrs. M. A. Calbi, Mrs. Theodore Wierzeina, Miss Shelly, Mrs. Mabel Root and Mrs. Robert Terry.

A movie entitled "Water Wonderland" was shown to the group by Donald Richards. He has been with the state conservation department for nine years in the field administration division.

Each rose in the bouquet given to Miss Adah Shelly of Washington street (left) represents one of her 22 years of service to Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Lois McIntyre of Green street, city council president, made the presentation Wednesday evening at the Founder's Day dinner. Miss Shelly was named an international honorary member.

On behalf of Quill and Scroll, David Tarr, coeditor of the Tomahawk, present honorary Quill and Scroll memberships to John Thors Jr., high school principal; to Iama C. Hook, adviser of the PHS Latin paper, Epistolae Scholae; and to T. E. Carlson, head of the school printing department.

Principal Thors also received from the speaker of the evening a citation from the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association for his support of student publications and journalism education in the high school.

Prof. Zeisler, a former member of the Pontiac Press editorial staff, used as his topic "It's Earlier Than You Think." He reminded his audience that at the opening of the present century many people assumed that most of the world's work was finished; all inventions had been made, all progress was behind man; there was not much else to be done.

Relating some of the major developments of the years since then—mass production, radio and electronics, atom power, progress in medicine—he asserted that much of the world's work is still to be done; and a myriad of problems await today's young people for solution.

He also told the future journalists that in the past few years schools across the nation have had far more job openings in publications fields than they had graduates to fill.

Complete staff appointments for the coming year revealed at the banquet are as follows:

Quiver—Normalee Braid and Nancy Nicholson, coeditors; Dale Hannan, seniors editor; Ann McDonald, underclassmen; Ronnie Brown and Lynda McCurdy, organizations; Fred Roeser, features; Jane Austin, faculty; Bob Keavy, boys' sports; and Linda Scheliesberg, girls' sports.

Speaking briefly on work of the students during the past year were the four faculty advisers: Miss Hook, Carlson, Mrs. Charles Fournier for the Quiver and Robert F. Beauchamp for the Tomahawk.

Music on the program included a cello solo by Anton Simson; songs by the senior boys' ensemble; and a piano solo by Judith Dickstein. Robert Keavy was toastmaster and Garth Johnson gave the invocation. The Y-Teens served the dinner.

Visit Town Before Making Decision

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"My husband and I are having a battle," a woman writes, "and we would like your opinion.

"He is due to retire from his job in about two years. We will have enough to live on, very simply but quite comfortably.

"We own a small home here in the community where he has worked for 28 years. He favors staying here, since we have many friends here and know the place well.

"But I think that when we retire, we should go back to the town we grew up in. It's in another state, about 800 miles away.

"It is a lovely place, and we not only grew up there, but were married there. All our old friends are still there, or, at least, I suppose they are.

"We haven't been back in 20 years, but I cannot get it out of my mind. I was so happy there.

"We argue about it all the time," she concluded, "and I wish you would tell us what you think."

All I can say is that I'm awfully glad they have another two years before the husband retires. Because the very first thing this couple should do is to take a trip out to the old home town and look at it the way it is now; not the way it is in their memories.

Towns change radically. They may find that they still love it, but they may find that they don't even recognize it.

Sometimes people make this mistake: They sell the house in the community they've been living in, and go out to retire in the old home town, only to find that nobody they know is there; that everybody has moved away, and that the old brook is gone, and the elm-shaded streets have been replaced with big highways.

The way to find out is to visit the place on vacations. Then you know what you're getting into, before it's too late.

The problem of location after retirement is a very important one, and nothing to decide on at a moment's notice.

Because more and more of my readers are giving this, and other aspects of retirement, some good thinking in advance, I have prepared a list of books in the field which might be helpful.

If you would like this list, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of the Pontiac Press, and I will send it to you.

Girl Wants Romantic Prom Date

Neither Father Nor Cousin Would Be Right Escort

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: My daughter is looking forward to her Senior Prom in June, but the problem is that she has no boy friend.

"She has had boys and girls from school here in the evening, but the behavior of the boys was such that both my wife and daughter disapproved of them.

"I have suggested that I escort her to the prom. But even though I am youthful looking (comparatively speaking) my daughter says she would feel embarrassed because her school chums know me.

"On the other hand, she has a cousin who is in his middle 20's and who lives out of town. Both my wife and daughter like him. If he would be an inappropriate escort, what other advice have you?"

A girl's Senior Prom is not like any old Saturday dance. There's only one of its kind in her life. She'd rather stay home than go with the wrong person.

And much as she loves you, you'd be the wrong person. She wants to go with a boy her friends know, or someone her friends would glow over.

She wants to go with someone who would make the night romantic and exciting for her. She wants an escort who would consider the prom as glamorous as she does. Someone on whom she could "dawn" that night so she could have a boy friend from then on.

Her cousin might be a dazzling importation. He might impress the other girls. He might be a wonderful dancer. He might show her a wonderful time. But he's not a romantic possibility.

Put your three heads together once more on the subject. Does she know anybody, any son of friends of yours, who doesn't go to her school? A boy who would be the right age, right height, right sort of personality to make a prom an event? It doesn't matter if she doesn't know him too well.

Is she on friendly terms with any of the junior boys, one of whom she might invite? Does she know anyone who lives out of town but who might include the prom in a visit for the weekend?

If such a conference doesn't turn up a leading man, then press the cousin into service.

"Dear Miss Woodward: As of now I have no one to go to the June Prom with. But I know a boy I'd like to ask. I met him last summer, went out with him a lot, but haven't seen him lately.

"I know where he lives and his phone number. Could I write him or phone him, or should I skip it? Would it be forward of me? I wouldn't want to offend him!"

But you wouldn't offend him when you invite him to be your guest on that biggest of dancing evenings. He'd be pleased that you thought of him. Take a chance, anyway, and phone him your invitation.

Character Building Discussed by Official

The "Who, What, Why, When, Where and How of Character Building," was the theme of a talk given by Mrs. Frank Deaver as she addressed the Emor L. Calkins Chapter of WCTU.

Mrs. Deaver is chairman of the character building department for the 18th District Federation, WCTU. She was introduced by Mrs. Frank R. Hardenburg, club president.

On a six week honeymoon trip through the west are Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Chaffee who exchanged marital vows on Tuesday at the First Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cherrington of Tacoma court. Parents of the bridegroom are the Frank M. Chaffees of Clarkston.

MR. and MRS. FRANCIS M. CHAFFEE

Bride's Aunt Here for Rite After Trip From England

A trip from London, England to Pontiac was made by Ethel Cherrington, so that she might attend the wedding at 7:30 Tuesday evening of her niece, Shirley Ann Cherrington, to Francis M. Chaffee.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cherrington of Tacoma court. Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Chaffee of Clarkston are the bridegroom's parents.

A traditionally white bridal gown of embroidered nylon net over satin was selected by the bride for the ceremony performed by the Rev. Paul Havens at First Methodist Church.

The high neck of her dress was accented by a Peter Pan collar of pearls, with push-up sleeves complimenting the bodice and bouffant skirt. Her headpiece was a gathered illusion veil edged in pearls, which secured her finger tip veil.

A cascade arrangement of white roses with a white orchid insert was carried by the bride.

As her single attendant, Janet McConnell chose a shrimp-colored gown styled after the bride's. It was of embroidered nylon net over taffeta and was set off by her bouquet of violets and trailing ivy. White roses encircled the violets.

Best man for the bridegroom was Kenneth Sturdevant. Serving as ushers were Jerry Monte and Ray La Forest of Berkley.

For the reception which followed in the church parlors, the bride's mother was gowned in a teal blue two-piece nylon dress, with navy and white accessories.

A navy blue lace dress with scalloped linen insert was the selection of Mrs. Chaffee. Both mothers pinned corsages of pink rose buds at their shoulders.

The new Mrs. Chaffee donned a blue wool flannel suit trimmed in black velvet. Black accessories completed her outfit. Following a honeymoon trip through the western states, the couple will reside in Clarkston.

Kid's Door Saves Cleaning Time

While you're working over those plans for the new house, here's a thought to consider: an outside door to the first floor bathroom. Then the children can pop in and out without tracking dirt through the house.

Just think what life would be like if the children all appeared in the living room every afternoon with clean hands and faces!

Mrs. Nathan P. Warrener was hostess to the group which gathered Tuesday at her home on Foster street. She had made a special table arrangement for the school girl luncheon.

A short talk on "World Government Affairs," was given by Mrs. Sadie Patten. Group singing preceded the business session and Mrs. L. H. Rubey conducted the scripture study.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Archie Karr reported on chapter activities. Financial matters of the group were taken up by Mrs. Bradley C. McCoy. Mrs. Karr closed the meeting with a prayer.

Mrs. McCoy's Shore View drive home will be the scene of the May meeting.

Sorority Honors Mrs. Donald Bryson

A pink and blue gift was presented to Mrs. Donald Bryson of Drayton Plains when Beta Theta chapter of Lambda Chi Omega Sorority gathered at the Beverly road home of Mrs. Don Wilson.

Assisting with entertainment and refreshments at the recent meeting were Mrs. L. B. Callely, Mrs. Robert Campbell and Mrs. Ohmer Vaught.

Thomas Brigance Wins Annual Cotton Fashion Award

NEW YORK (INS)—Thomas F. Brigance, the young designer from Texas who is winning every fashion award in sight, calls himself "the most behind-the-scenes designer there is."

Brigance, shy with people and lion-hearted with styles, hides from buyers and customers alike in a small tunnel-shaped gray room in New York's garment district. Behind the door, the immaculately dressed, dark and slight designer apologizes:

"I can't bear that out-front push. But I don't mind talking to one person behind closed doors."

Yet when Brigance gets to talking about styles, the shyness goes. His brown eyes flash, and his hands wave as this three-time prize winners expounds his favorite theory:

"Clothes aren't sacred. They're just something for your back!"

Brigance, named winner of the 1955 Cotton Fashion Award by the National Cotton Council in Washington, adds:

"It's the woman in the clothes that matters. I like it best when somebody looks at a woman wearing my clothes and says, 'Doesn't she look well?'

"Let's face it. We're designing for figures. A dress has to do something for the body, regardless of the year or the season. There's just no sense to this business about slim skirts this year or high necks next year—all my collections have various skirt and neck shapes because they have to fit various figures!"

When Brigance speaks of his collections, he is speaking of one of fashion's phenomenons. This designer, who served three years in the Pacific with the Air Corps Intelligence (he says: "I went from Guadalcanal to Okinawa and didn't even see a woman for two whole years") can turn out an extraordinary number of fresh ideas each season.

He does about 100 designs for each collection, and creates for two firms, making sportswear for Sportsmaker and coats and suits for Frank Gallant. His designs carry only his last name — "Brigance" — in addition to the firms' names.

It was Brigance who launched the bathing suit with bloomer bottom, the "covered-up" look in sportswear, and is most recently credited with the "miniature dress"—a dress that comes to mid-thigh, and is worn with matching bloomers. Brigance dreamed this one up for a simple reason:

"I thought women might like to have a sports dress that looked like a dress and still would allow them to get their legs suntanned."

All his designs are noted for a youthful, understated simplicity—a designing talent which won him the Coty American Fashion Critics Award and the International Silk Salute. The 1955 Cotton Fashion Award, however, particularly pleases Brigance, who explains:

"Cotton was the first fabric I ever worked with."

Deciding to become an artist, young Tom Brigance went to New York to study, and then to Paris, where he sold sketches to the French couturiers.

When he returned to the U. S. a few years before World War II, Brigance had chosen a fashion designing career. He was being hailed as a promising young designer when he enlisted in the Army, and his career went into high gear after the war.

Brigance not only designs clothes, he designs 60 per cent of the fabrics he uses.

Brigance gets indignant at the idea that money has anything to do with good taste in fashion.

"I loathe this class distinction in clothes," he says excitedly. "Money has nothing to do with it—it's just having good taste for your own way of life.

"It's not the right dress that make a woman well-dressed. It's the right dress on her!"

Decorators, Spare That Furniture!

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Bracelets that crawl around your wrists and flower pins that open and close their petals were predicted as future jewelry fashions (by Dali probably) a few years ago, but I never saw anybody wearing them. I suppose the items died a-borning as so many do that are included in such prognostications.

It would be pleasant to feel that the bedrooms foreseen by some of our wackier decorators would also fail to materialize—built-in swimming pools and no windows are among the less alarming features proposed.

But then, who am I to carp—I who am completely out of step? My bedroom, believe it or not, is still furnished in maple. I don't even have a quilted headboard.

The few times interior decorators have managed to get into the room (I keep the door carefully shut when one is on the prowl in my apartment), they are either too dazed with shock to speak or else they break at once into patronizing plans to do me over a la Recamier.

Long ago my little maple pieces would have been consigned to the garbage heap if I had not resisted stoutly. This I have done because I like my room the way it is, and besides I am sustained by the conviction that on a day not too far distant, another generation of decorators will swoon with rapture when they come across my beat-up dresser hidden under the gable of some old barn.

Remember when the brass beds stylish in my extreme youth became castoffs fit only for cheap hall bedrooms? Well, they are back in favor—the designing boys and girls call them quaint and smile brightly as they prescribe them at tariffs 10 times the sum my mother paid in butter and egg money the birthday she made me the happiest little girl in the world by giving me a brass bed for my room.

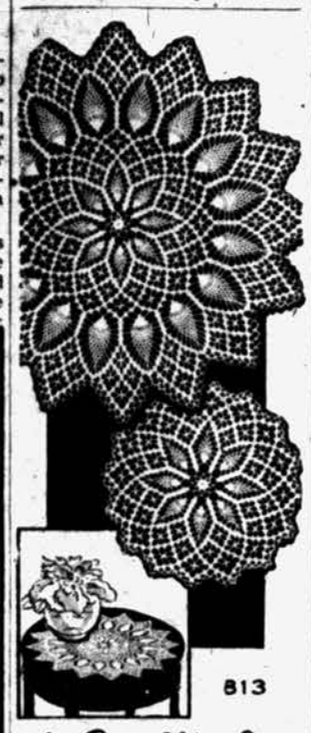

Victorian homes and furniture were in disgrace when I was young and it was only a little while ago that a big, fussy old house with gingerbread on the outside and an iron deer on the front lawn was considered so bad that strong men turned away from the sight and it could be sold only for a convalescent home.

Now iron deer bring premium prices, I'm told, and horsehair, plush, what-nots and curliques are eagerly sought by the children of those who scorned them.

The situation confuses me as I suppose it does many others, and I was relieved the other day when a well-known architect clarified the situation a bit. He said that progress comes because certain enterprising people get a hate on what they have.

But did Henry Ford, working away in his shop, really hate the surrey with the fringe on top? At least the surrey has the last laugh. Today for a good authentic surrey you pay automobile prices. Also, I know a town where it's a mark of being one of the First Families to ride around in horse-drawn vehicles instead of motor-driven ones.

I wish I could feel that it's a mark of something or other that I cling to my maple suite!

Garbo: The Legend and the Lady

Stiller's Influence Launches Career

By JOHN BAINBRIDGE

IV

Greta Gustafsson's first semester in the famed Royal Dramatic Theater Academy in Stockholm, the seedbed of practically all important Swedish theatrical talent, began in September, 1922.

With her six classmates, she received instruction in acting, voice culture and diction, the history of the theater, dancing, rhythmics, posture, fencing and make-up.

During her first few weeks at the Academy she was a puzzle to her classmates. About all they knew about her was that she came to school by streetcar from somewhere on the South Side. At lunch and between classes she kept mostly to herself and made little attempt to join in the general conversation. Greta had already developed a talent for keeping part of herself a mystry.

One afternoon in the late spring of 1923, a couple of weeks before the end of her first term at the dramatic school, Greta was unexpectedly summoned to the office of the Academy's director, Gustaf Molander.

Already there when she arrived was another student named Mona Martenson, a beautiful young woman who had entered the Academy a year before Greta. Molander explained that he had received a request from Mauritz Stiller, the film director, to select two actresses from the Academy to be tested for parts in Gosta Berling's Saga, a picture he was casting.

If they were interested, he said, they should report the following morning at ten o'clock at the studios of Svensk Filmindustri. Greta and Mona Martenson, making no effort to conceal their excitement, said they would be there. Stiller, as they were both well aware, was then the foremost figure in Swedish films and easily the most colorful.

It is always rash to designate any single event in a person's life as the most fateful one; the turning points of lives are usually too hard to discern. Occasionally, though, there is the single critical occurrence that stands out boldly as the one that made all the difference. Such an event was the meeting of Greta Gustafsson and Maurice Stiller.

When they met, Stiller was forty, worldly and famous; Greta was seventeen, innocent, unknown and still in the larval stage. At this point Stiller took command of her destiny. He gave her a name, taught her, bullied her, encouraged her, fought for her and made her into a world-famous actress.

Here is an attractive silk scarf for any girl of any age. The pure silk scarf comes in shock print colors against a pure white background—perfect for the classic sweater.

But he was far more than her professional mentor. He was an intimate friend who exerted more influence than anyone else in shaping her character and personality. He told her how to dress, what to think, how to behave — there was almost nothing he didn't tell her. She listened and obeyed. The relationship was Svengali and Trilby all over again.

Mauritz Stiller, a Russian Jew, was an arresting figure in many ways. In appearance he was curiously imposing. Over six feet tall and thickly built, he had an abnormally large head, the feet of a giant and hamlike hands. His hair was iron gray and closely cropped, and his eyes, under thick, black eyebrows, were gray and brooding. He had a prominent, bulbous nose and a long upper lip on which he wore a full mustache.

His manner was attractive, though his temperament was mercurial. He was intense, ambitious, talented, noisy, egotistical, troubled; cultured and brutally outspoken. To use the phrase his colleagues have most often applied to him, Stiller was a born director. He enjoyed telling people what to do, and he had taste, a rich imagination and a love of beauty.

Like most people who go in for ostentation, Stiller was trying to make up for something he had missed. Born in Helsinki, Finland, when the country was a Russian grand duchy, he was the fifth of six children in the family of a musician in the Russian Army.

His given name was Moses; though he later changed it, his close friends usually called him "Moje." He was orphaned at four, when, within a month, his father died and his mother committed suicide.

Adopted into the family of a Jewish merchant, young Stiller received eight years of schooling before he quit to go to work for his foster father. A conspicuous failure in business, he drifted into the theater, where he managed to make out for five years playing bit parts.

When he was twenty-one, and being hunted by the police for failure, as a Russian citizen, to report for compulsory military training, he fled from Helsinki and reached the Swedish border. Eventually he joined a group of young actors who rented a small theater and formed a company called The Little Theater.

With Stiller as its director The Little Theater developed into an avant-garde stage. He received some critical attention for his directorial work, but the theatrical enterprise failed after a few months.

Meanwhile Stiller had seen his first movies, a French film with Sacha Guitry and a couple of American two-reelers, and his interest in the new medium was aroused. He applied for work as an actor with Swedish Biograph, a motion picture company which had recently opened studios in Stockholm. He didn't make the grade as an actor, but he talked himself into a job as a director. It was soon apparent that films were his metier.

Between 1911, when he went to work as a movie director, and 1923, when he encountered Greta Gustafsson, Stiller turned out some forty motion pictures, a number of which gave him an international reputation.

Though Stiller was not, as one of his friends has put it, "normally attracted to women," he had a mental image of what he regarded as the perfect female The ideal woman he was seeking, as he described her to intimate friends, would be not only beautiful but "supersensual, spiritual and mystic."

Being an egotist, he became dedicated to the fancy that if he could find a woman who fitted his dreamlike specifications he could mold her into an actress such as the world had never seen.

"Stiller, like Eisenstein, dreamt of capturing the world, but by choosing other paths," Stiller's friend and Sweden's leading film critic, Dr. Bengt Idestam-Almquist, has written. "If he only could find a suitable female type, he would make her a 'star' for whom the world would irresistibly fall."

Stiller asked his manuscript assistant, the future doctor of philosophy and professor of history, Mr. Arthur Norden, to find a suitable name for this visualized international star. Norden came to think of the Hungarian king, Gabor Bethlen, and suggested the name Mona Gabor. Stiller was delighted and tried the pronunciation in different languages—Gabor, Gabor, Gabro, Garbo..."

For the actress who was to fulfill his fanciful dream Stiller now had a name and a plan. When Greta Gustafsson answered his summons to appear for a screen test, he had the woman.

On the morning they were to report for their tests Greta and Mona Martenson together took the streetcar to the studios of Svensk Filmindustri, situated in the suburb of Rasunda. After she had been made up, Greta, who was wearing a plain, tailored suit, was conducted to a set, where Stiller and a couple of his colleagues were waiting. When she was introduced to Stiller, she curtsied.

"If you want the part," Stiller said, uttering his first words to her, "you'll have to lose at least 20 pounds." Greta blushed. "But look," Stiller went on, turning her around and talking partly to her and partly to his associates, "isn't she beautiful? . . . Did you ever see such eyelashes?. . .Notice her feet—such beautiful heels, one straight, fine line."

The writer, Ragnar Hyltén-Cavallius, who was working with Stiller on the script of Gosta Berling, was not impressed by Greta's personality and risked incurring Stiller's displeasure by telling him so. "She is shy," Stiller replied. "She has no technique, so she can't show what she is feeling. But she will be all right. I'll see to that." Stiller exercised complete authority over his productions. He alone made the decision to cast Greta as Elisabeth Dohna, the second female lead in Gosta Berling.

The picture was based on a novel that is loved by all Swedes. Written by Selma Lagerlöf and awarded the Nobel Prize, the novel recites the adventures of the Byronic hero Gosta Berling, a minister with a well-developed thirst for hard liquor and the inclinations of a Casanova, who is fired from the pulpit, sinks to the depths and is redeemed by the love of a pure and beautiful woman, Elisabeth Dohna—the role assigned to Greta Gustafsson.

Once the shooting had begun it was clear to everybody around the studio that Stiller had an obsessive interest in the quiet, diffident young woman who played Elisabeth Dohna. He devoted hours to the scenes in which she appeared, taking them over and over again.

Alternately patient and explosive, he kept the camera turning until Greta and the other members of the cast were ready to drop—and he had gotten what he wanted. "Making Gosta Berling was torture for her—and she cried a great deal," a man closely associated with the production has said.

As the weeks passed, Stiller's sway over Greta's life began to extend beyond the studio. On increasingly frequent occasions the two were seen together at the theater or in fashionable restaurants like Bern's, where Stiller had a table permanently reserved. Often, when he was invited to a social function, he asked permission to bring his young friend.

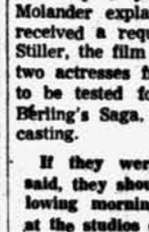

The impression that Greta created on the rather sophisticated people to whom Stiller introduced her was not one of deep mystery but of plain simplicity. She seemed to them amiable and physically attractive, but almost totally lacking in personality.

What her new acquaintances of this era did not know was that she had subjugated her natural childish charm and buoyancy in an effort to conform to Stiller's conception of what the character of "The Star" should be. Having shed the one and not yet taken on the other, she presented only a colorless facade.

By the time the filming of Gosta Berling had been completed, Stiller's dominion over his eager protegee was secure. She did nothing without his permission, saw only the people he wished her to see, and had assumed the name he wished her to bear. Having taken the necessary legal steps, she was now Greta Garbo. In name, at least, "The Star" had been born.

Jokester Goes Too Far in Dealing With Police

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UP) — Police said Gary Sanders, 22, of Palm Springs, Calif., successfully eluded sheriff's deputies in a highway chase when they tried to arrest him for drunk driving.

But Sanders was arrested later when he sneaked up on the sheriff's squad car as it was parked in front of a roadside cafe and tied a knot in the radio aerial.

Truman Warns Against Losing Sacred Rights

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman last night called for vigilant watchfulness in the protection of rights to individuals in a free society.

Terming the Bill of Rights the "most sacred part" of the Constitution, he cautioned against taking the rights for "granted."

"They are so much a part of our lives that they may seem dry and uninteresting," he declared in an address to the Decalogue Society of lawyers. Earlier he received the 1954 award of merit from the organization for outstanding service to humanity.

* * *

He said the recent Fascist and Nazi ideologies have "demonstrated that the unrestrained use of force by government is just as great a danger to human progress now as it was ages ago."

"The only guarantee against such a society of fear and cruelty is the principle that the government is not above the law," he declared.

He told the lawyers' group to "keep a constant lookout" against any attack on the people's rights "even at times when the people grow a little weary of being reminded about the dangers to their rights."

At a news conference upon his arrival in Chicago, Truman pictured Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic party's 1952 presidential nominee, as the "outstanding candidate" for the 1956 nomination.

The use of lime for the correction of acidity in soils was known very early in the history of agriculture.

No Silver Lining in Atom Clouds, Flight Reveals

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The inside of a boiling atomic cloud is brick red in color and smells like the air after a lightening stroke, scientists making daring flights through the radioactive mushroom declared today.

They have swooped through the cloud in jet planes within 40 minutes or so after the bomb bursts in vital new studies of radiation, atomic testers announced.

* * *

Scientists and pilots are hit by radiation, for they don't wear special clothing or protective shielding. Their plane is only in the cloud for a few seconds, however.

How much radiation penetrates their bodies is measured by film badges worn outside the body, and by badges contained in capsules which they swallow. Later the capsule is pulled up from the stomach by a string. So far, the scientists have not been exposed to dangerous doses of radiation.

Eleven men from the research directorate of the Air Force special weapons center at Kirtland Air Force base, (APSWC) New Mexico are making the tests.

"We consider these flights routine," said Capt. Paul M. Crumley, Lawrenceville, Ga., project officer.

Man Tries Suicide After Gun Spree

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Charles Klevis, 28, captured by police after a shooting spree yesterday in which he held his own mother hostage, tried to kill himself in a prison hospital.

When left unattended for a moment late yesterday Klevis, an unemployed coal miner, broke a window, then used a jagged piece of glass to slash his wrists and throat.

Klevis was expected to live.

Klevis was captured in nearby Frackville, as he tried to escape as police surrounded his mother's home. He had shot and wounded a sister-in-law, Mrs. Cecilia Klebash, 41, and her daughter, Charlotte, 15.

The fracas started over divorce plans of Klevis' wife, Betty, who was staying with Mrs. Klebash.

Police bullets wounded Klevis, but not seriously. He was charged with assault with intent to kill.

Florida Senate Sidelined

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—The Florida Senate, commenting it had no business playing "Monday morning quarterback," yesterday defeated a bill to force the University of Florida and Florida State football teams to play each other annually.

5 Boys Escape Railway Tunnel After Close Call

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Five boys, aged 14 and 15, dawdling along on their way home from school were seen entering a railroad tunnel here yesterday.

A horrified witness called police, shouting a warning that a fast-moving streamliner train was due in a few minutes.

* * *

Police and firemen from all over town started moving toward the entrance to the 2,440-foot tunnel. Railroad officials waited helplessly—the streamliner had left the yards and couldn't be stopped. Police reached the tunnel just as the train roared into it, and too late to stop it.

As soon as the train was through, they entered from both ends. Inside were five scared and grimy boys. They had thrown themselves into a muddy ditch just in the nick of time.

After a stern lecture, the youngsters were turned over to their parents for "further action."

Modest Utah Farm Widow Named Mother of the Year

PLEASANT GROVE, Utah (AP)—A modest Utah widow, mother of eight grown children, left for New York City today to accept the title of American Mother of the Year.

She is Mrs. Lavina Christensen Fugal, 75, who knew hunger as a child and since has shrugged off adversity to raise a family and become a teacher, homemaker, churchwoman, farm leader and grower of prize flowers.

Mrs. Fugal modestly accepted congratulations from her neighbors for the honor and said "a wonderful husband and eight unusual children" were responsible.

A daughter of Danish immigrants, Mrs. Fugal obtained a teachers certificate at 18 and began giving lessons in Pleasant Valley schools. In 1900 she married Jens Peter Fugal, who died in 1945.

'Mom could get work out of a broomstick," one of her daughters said. "And she made that work fun. She was liberal with praise. But when we needed punishment we got it."

* * *

Mrs. Fugal, though busy with family and church work, has served as director of the Utah County Farm Bureau; president of the local farm bureau; board member of the Utah County Fair and the Utah State Fair; chairman of the Home and Community Department of the Utah State Farm Bureau; and a member of the Utah County Planning Board.

She outlines her theory of raising children this way:

"I didn't believe in too any do's and don'ts. I tried to make the chores fun. And we always worked together as a family.

"When it was time to pick fruit, thin beets, dig potatoes we all went out together and did it. We even took the babies along.

"There were times when I would lose my patience and resort to spanking. But usually I would be sorry afterward.

"I feel that in punishing children you must make the result of the misdeed overbalance the satisfaction they get out of that deed."

All of her children attended college, often on money raised in part by their mother.

Nixon Criticizes Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the House was "penny wise and pound foolish" when it cut almost 50 per cent from funds asked by the State Department to expand its exchange-of-persons program. If he had to pick one information program as indispensable, Nixon said, it would be that one.

Cows Respond to A-Treatment for Eye Cancer

CHICAGO (UP)—A radioactive material has been used successfully in treating cancer of the cornea in cattle.

A recent report in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association said that of 35 cattle treated with radioactive isotope, strontium-90, only one has had recurrence of the disease.

* * *

The report said strontium-90 was more effective than radiation originating from X-ray equipment because radiation provided by the former penetrates tissue to a depth of one inch, while the X-ray radiation penetrates deeply into the tissue.

"The advantage in cases dealing with the eye is apparent because the tissue of the more deeply situated lens is especially radi sensitive and excessive exposure could lead to cataracts and loss of sight," it said.

The report added it is extremely important to detect the cancerous growth during the first several months since during this period it will respond readily to treatment with radiation.

Psychology Fails, but Nickel Works

TOPEKA, Kan (AP) — Dr. Karl Menninger, helping administer Salk polio vaccine shots in a grade school yesterday, had great success in convincing the children the shots wouldn't hurt — until he reached third grader Allen Burggren.

The noted psychiatrist used all sorts of psychological persuasion but 8-year-old Allen refused to submit to the needle.

Finally Dr. Menninger reached in his pocket and handed Allen a nickel. It worked.

Asks Border Patrol

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has urged the United States and Britain jointly to ask the United Nations for a voluntary police force to patrol the borders of Israel and Egypt. Mrs. Roosevelt, who spoke here, returned recently from a visit to Israel.

Ten Bodies Found After Crash of B29

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—An American B29 bomber groping through an overcast crashed three miles from Naha airport today.

Ten bodies were recovered. There was no indication whether this was the complete crew. No names were released.

Four Okinawans were burned and hospitalized when the big B29, apparently letting down for a radar-controlled approach to the field, smashed into a series of ridges. Wreckage was scattered over a 400-yard-wide area.

Publisher Still Ailing

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Highland Hospital reported today that the condition of Frank E. Gannett, 78-year-old newspaper publisher, remained critical.

Million Listen to Billy Graham

Loudspeakers Relay Service in 700 Halls Throughout Britain

By GEORGE BURNHAM
Chattanooga News-Free Press Staff Writer

BELFAST—The gay city of Belfast, where smiling Irishmen put their best into a zest for living, saw something Saturday night that probably never will be duplicated by any city in America.

Over 4,000 citizens, most of them young people, overflowed two big assembly halls to hear a preacher. This is unusual enough in itself on a Saturday night, but the preacher was not in Belfast. He was in Glasgow, Scotland.

The restless Irish, who like to sing or dance a jig at the drop of a plumed hat, sat quietly in the two halls for over an hour and a half as they listened to a loudspeaker relaying the Billy Graham evangelistic service from Glasgow 200 miles away.

An estimated 1,000,000 people in about 700 halls throughout Great Britain were doing the same thing. In one community a woman who lived across the street from the hall was stubborn about giving up her telephone line, but finally yielded.

Billy Graham stepped onto the platform and faced three different mediums: 17,000 in Kelvin Hall, several thousand by closed circuit TV in the adjoining hall and about 1,000,000 at relay points. After warming to his difficult task he lashed out at the world's indifference to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

At the finish of his message in Kelvin Hall Billy asked the people to come forward who wanted to receive Christ. He asked those watching on TV and those listening to the relay to do the same thing. Several hundred moved forward at Kelvin, about 20 walked to the front in Belfast, an estimated 1,500 went to the front of halls throughout Great Britain.

In the face of all this, some cynics continue to insist that the people are moved by hypnotism or emotionalism instead of God. A leading writer in Britain says, "It is something in the eyes of Billy Graham that does it." Maybe so, but Billy hasn't been in Ireland since 1947.

Feet Endure Great Abuse, Say Doctors

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—If you have "beat feet," it's probably your own fault.

At least, that's the opinion of Minnesota doctors who reported in a State Medical Association bulletin that the feet take abuse few other parts of the body have to take.

First, feet are not necessarily a "foot long." They stretch during the day, become longer in the evening than they were in the morning.

They are also longer when you walk on them than when you sit down. And they swell when they are hot.

The doctors said shoes should be purchased with an eye to this process of lengthening and swelling, and that alternating pairs of shoes also is a good idea.

Cramming feet into shoes that don't fit, the bulletin warned, invites corns, bunions, hammer-toes, fallen arches and flat feet. And what's worse, a disposition to match.

Virginia Man Jailed for Faking Kidnaping

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — James C. Stanley, 23, was given a one-month jail term yesterday after being convicted in Fairfax County Trial Justice Court of trying to obtain $5,000 by faking a kidnaping.

Stanley's wife received a series of threatening telephone calls from a stranger who demanded the money if she wanted to see her husband alive again. During the calls, she talked to Stanley, who said he was "tied up" and suggested she try to get the ransom from his parents.

Police later exposed the attempt and Stanley admitted paying a man $5 to call his wife. He told police he wanted the money as a down payment on a house and figured his folks owed him the money.

Which Twin Has Pills?

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP) — One of Mrs. Cecil Van Dusseldorp's 1-year-old twin daughters swallowed several aspirin tablets, so she rushed them to a hospital. When she got there, she couldn't remember which twin needed the treatment. Both got their stomachs pumped out.

Fisherman Loses Owl

INDIANA, Pa. (UP) — Richard Simpson of Smicksburg nearly caught an owl when he went night fishing recently on Little Mahoning Creek. He had just made a cast when the owl swooped out of the darkness, grabbed the plug and took off for the tree. Simpson found the plug among some rocks nearby where the owl had dropped it.

Damage Suit Alleges Tam O'Shanter Workers Destroyed Fruit Trees

A $500,000 damage suit is under way in Oakland County Circuit Court against the Tam O'Shanter Country Club at 5051 Orchard Lake Rd. in West Bloomfield Township.

Owners of an 80-acre apple orchard adjoining the golf course claim a fire started by groundskeepers swept out of control April 5, 1954, destroying 296 apple trees plus damaging numerous others.

Beatrice Roberts Raymond is suing as guardian of Thomas T. Roberts and John R. Roberts, both minors.

In a bill of particulars, she asserts the trees destroyed were "quality apple trees" which had "reached the age of maximum productivity." She charges the country club with negligence in leaving "the fire unattended and unsupervised."

The fire impaired last year's crop, she alleges, plus cutting the fertility of the land. No hearing date has been set in the suit.

Study by Telephone

ANSLEY, Neb. (UP) — Two grade school girls, both stricken with polio, are continuing lessons via telephone. Darlene Rookstool, 12, and Connie Johnson, 10, have telephones in their homes which are direct lines to their school rooms.

In some oil fields of the older type, the average production per day is less than one standard barrel.

Personal Police Duty

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — Policeman Reginald J. Violette drove his patrol car straight home when the police radio dispatcher told him to answer a maternity call. His wife was having a baby.

The Violettes beat the stork to the hospital.

Ireland, Denmark and Canada are the main exporters of live cattle, shipping 480,000, 329,000 and 228,000 head, respectively, of world exports of 1,900,000 head in 1951.

Solves Problem of Mining Waste

Kennecott Copper Uses Brine to Prevent Ore From Sticking

BINGHAM, Utah (UP)—Engineers at the Kennecott Copper Corporation's huge Bingham mine have tentatively solved one of their most perplexing problems—how to get waste ore from a dump car on a cold day.

Thousands of tons of waste earth and rock are hauled daily from the Bingham open-cut copper pit, the nation's biggest hole in the ground.

The operation involves low-grade ore that is covered by thick layers of useless material. Before the copper ore can be dug out with gigantic electric shovels and taken to mills, the waste must be removed.

When temperatures are warm, there's no special problem—just drop the waste into the cars, haul it to dumps well outside the mine, and leave it there.

But sub-freezing winter days cause the waste to stick in the dump cars—and getting it out has proven costly.

Over the years, crews tried various methods.

Electrical heating was discarded because it increased the potential hazard of the operation. Mechanical shaking proved impractical.

Oil sprayed into the cars would not penetrate snow, ice and mud and was dangerous to crews, because of the slippery film it left on platforms and "grab-irons" on the sides of the cars.

Engineers suggested using the heavily saline water of nearby Great Salt Lake as an anti-freezing spray This clogged lines with precipitated salt—and it froze too soon.

Finally, this winter, they mixed up a solution of comparatively inexpensive magnesium chloride and water.

Technicians like Bob Ford stand beside the tracks and, with a long wand-like pipe with three heads on its tip, spray the brine on the sides of the empty cars as they come into the pit to be loaded.

The new method, called "freeze-proofing," was found to be the most effective yet. The brine has a freezing point of 22 degrees below zero, well under temperatures reached in the pit area.

In addition, the new solution was described as readily available and easy to handle and store.

Airport Runways Could Be Cheaper

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Two University of California engineers say they can save money on airport runways. Make them thinner on the edges, and save $100,000 or more on each, they suggest.

Robert Horonjeff and Prof. John Hugh Jones found that the center part of the strip takes nearly all of the punishment. They installed electric traffic detector taps on several runways. On strips 150 to 200 feet wide, they found, 95 per cent of the traffic stays in a center area 60 feet wide. Concrete runways can be made the usual 36 inches deep in the center and only 30 inches thick on the edges, they say.

Savings would vary depending on the soil, the weight of aircraft involved and the amount of traffic, but on the average could be $103,000 or an 8,000-foot runway 200 feet wide, they say.

Quote Out of Contest

STILLWATER, Minn. (UP)—An account of the chaplain's sermon at recent Sunday services, reported in the Prison Mirror, publication of the state penitentiary here, noted in part: "Let us not be ashamed of our faith, nor fear our enemies who laugh at us, but fear wordly judges, as they are fickle and unjust."

Formosa is 245 miles in length and about 88 miles across at its maximum width.

SECRET'S OUT—A secret for 10 years, antiaircraft guns like this one are being made for the Navy at Westinghouse Electric's Sunnyvale, Calif., plant. Built for automatic, split-second firing, the huge guns are capable of downing enemy bombers or planes in a suicide dive on the ship. Barrels are not made at the plant, so a short barrel with counter-weighted tip is used for balancing.

Emotional Types Likely to Lose Crowning Glory

ANN ARBOR (UP)—You may lose your crowning glory, if you're the emotional type, according to Dr. Thomas Jansen of the University of Michigan's Medical School. He thinks the sudden loss of hair is directly connected with nervous conditions.

Little can be done for hereditary baldness, he said, and you might as well reconcile yourself to the inevitable.

You can't blame baldness on the barber either. Cutting or shaving the hair doesn't affect its growth, but beware of home waves or dyes that cause skin changes. Odds are you'll lose you hair, if you continue using them.

For dandruff sufferers the doctor advised a shampoo of your hair brush as well as your hair. Germ carrier, you know.

He advised that hair be dried with a dryer and not a towel. Towels have a tendency to break the hair ends, he explained.

Hunters' Alibi Backfires

OLD LYME, Conn. (UP) — A game warden arrested two duck hunters for shooting a swan. The hunters explained in justice court that they thought they were shooting at a white goose. The judge informed that there is no open season on swan or white geese and fined them $25.

Actual photographs of transparent automatic washers prove:

No thick-suds detergent can wash so clean yet rinse as free as all

How can clothes possibly move around freely in all these thick suds? Thick suds smother free washing action so necessary to get clothes clean. Clothes can't slosh through water the way they should. And these suds can overflow, ruining expensive parts.

Now see how all with "controlled suds" permits free, easy movement of clothes through wash water. all has no thick, soapy suds to slow down either the washing or rinsing action. That's why all, the original "controlled suds" detergent, was actually asked for by the makers of automatics.

Wash water's been drained off... but look what remains! Thick, sticky suds are clinging stubbornly to freshly washed clothes. That's what happens with thick-suds detergents. That's why colored clothes can turn out so disappointingly dull and white clothes so grey.

But look at the difference with all! Again, wash water has been drained out of the tub. But no all remains to dull your freshly washed clothes. all with "controlled suds" just won't stick to fabrics. That means your automatic washer can rinse your clothes completely, scrupulously clean.

That's why automatic washer makers prescribe all with "controlled suds"!

More clean clothes for your money! You get more washes from one 10-lb. box of condensed all than you do from three "giant" size boxes of the thick-suds detergents. Besides, no thick-suds detergent can wash so clean yet rinse as free as all with "controlled suds."

No wonder most automatic washers contain a box of all when they leave the factory... to get you off to the best possible start.

Your grocer carries all in just the right size for your family, including handy, money-saving 25-lb. packages and pails. Buy all today... for best results.

Healthy Child Is Happy One

Mrs. Dika Plans Food Whole Family Likes; Adds Prunes to Cake

Our candidates for future Miss Americas are Marie and Ann Dika, aged 22 months and 8 months respectively. Daughters of the Robert Dikas of Williams Lake, they are delightful specimens of babyhood.

Good food plays an important part in raising healthy children.

Modern babies have as wide a choice of foods as do their elders. A finer texture and less pronounced seasoning is often the only difference. But milk remains a standby for all ages. Mrs. Dika laughingly threatens to have a pipe line run into their home from a local dairy.

There are two older children in the Dika family, boys in grade school. Considering the wide spread of ages that each meal must appeal to, one knows Mrs. Dika's daily task is not simple. We know she is efficient and manages well.

Of Bohemian ancestry, Mrs. Dika likes to make an Americanized version of Kolacky (there are half a dozen spellings of this dish): The filling for this delicious coffee cake contains a jar of baby strained prunes. All the family except the youngest member enjoys this type of sweet bread; Ann, no doubt, will crumbl a bit of the Kolacky and aim at her mouth.

FILLED COFFEE CAKE

By Mrs. Robert Dika

2½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup sugar
⅓ cup shortening
1 egg
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar, add egg and beat well. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Spread half the batter in a well greased and floured 8-inch pan. Cover with half the filling below, spread rest of batter over filling and top with remainder of filling. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 25 minutes. This is excellent served warm.

Filling

½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ jar baby strained prunes
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup chopped nuts

Mix sugar, flour and cinnamon. Add melted butter, nuts and prunes.

LET'S EAT, MOMMY!—Marie Dika is all ready to eat the macaroni salad on her plate whenever her mother says to go ahead. Little sister, Ann, can't be bothered to wait; she is cramming her mouth full of bread while she keeps an eye on the photographer. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dika of Williams Lake are the parents of these young ladies.

Junior Loves to Find Bananas in His Lunchbox

Junior will tell you a banana split is the dish in which bananas really shine, but he looks forward to them in his lunchbox, too.

It is fortunate that the flavor and texture of bananas are so universally popular because the fruit is so nutritious. Many natives of the Pacific Islands and of Africa look on them as a staple part of their diet.

Bananas contain fruit sugars which are readily assimilated, as well as vitamins, minerals and bulk. It is possible to sustain life for long periods on a diet which consists solely of bananas.

The next time you prepare a chicken or shrimp curry, toss a few half-inch thick slices of banana into the sauce just before serving. Heat just enough to warm the bananas through. The smoothness of the bananas, as well as the sweet flavor, makes them a delicious addition.

A favorite dessert of children in the tropics is a banana whip. And it couldn't be easier for Mother to make!

Simply whip mashed ripe bananas into stiffly beaten, sweetened egg white. Sprinkle with cinnamon if you like. That's all there is to it.

A simple frosting for a plain white cake can be made by mashing ripe bananas, adding a teaspoon or so of fresh lemon juice and sugar to taste. Spread on the cake and eat at once. It's delicious!

Mix mashed sardines with chopped egg and a little prepared horseradish for a zesty lunchbox sandwich.

Grapefruit Baked With Sweet Topping

Baked Grapefruit

2 grapefruit
4 teaspoons light brown sugar
4 teaspoons butter
4 generous dashes cinnamon.

Cut grapefruit into halves. Remove seeds if any with small sharp side membranes.

Blend brown sugar, butter and cinnamon together in small container with back of spoon. Spread mixture over surface of grapefruit halves as best you can — it won't spread too well.

Place in shallow baking pan (or one made of aluminum foil) and bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until heated through — about 15 minutes.

Wheat Flavors Spoon Bread

Perhaps you've eaten Spoon Bread for as long as you can remember. Or maybe, like so many people, you've never tasted it.

In either case, you'll want to try this recipe in which whole wheat cereal—the kind with extra wheat germ added—is used to give hearty flavor to "the bread that you serve with a spoon."

Spoon Bread

2 cups milk
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2-3 cup uncooked instant whole wheat cereal or ⅔ cup uncooked regular whole wheat cereal
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs

Heat oven to moderate (350). Grease 6-cup baking dish. Heat milk slowly to boiling in 4 - cup saucepan. Add salt and sugar. Stir in instant or regular whole wheat cereal slowly so boiling does not stop.

With the instant whole wheat cereal, boil and stir 10 seconds. With the regular, boil slowly five minutes, stirring often. Remove from heat. Stir in butter. Cover and let cool 10 minutes.

Separate eggs, putting yolks into 6-cup bowl and whites into 4-cup bowl. Beat whites until peaks bend over slightly at top when beater is removed. Without washing beater, beat yolks well. Slowly stir the cereal mixture into the yolks. Then fold in the beaten egg whites.

Pour into greased dish. Set in pan of hot water. Bake on rack slightly below center 45 minutes, or until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

Serve at once, spooning from baking dish. Top with butter or gravy. Makes four large servings or six average servings.

GREEN BEAN STEW — Right off the pantry shelf comes a hearty one-dish meal. Green Bean Stew makes a delightful main course for the whole family in just a few minutes. Listed as one of this season's plentiful foods, canned green beans are good to have on hand.

Try Vegetable Sauce

Add drained canned whole kernel corn to a can of stewed tomatoes and heat for a good vegetable dish to offer with meat loaf. The vegetable combination will serve as a sauce.

Stew Accented by Green Beans

A delicious, steaming green bean stew is as near as your pantry shelf on a crisp spring day. Keep the five basic ingredients on hand for an emergency main course for luncheon, dinner, or supper.

All you need is to add a crisp green salad, rolls and beverage and sound the call to the table.

GREEN BEAN STEW

1 1½-pound can beef stew
1 8-ounce can cut green beans
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon meat sauce for gravy (use commercial gravy aid or bouillon cube)
1 tablespoon catsup

Turn stew and remaining ingredients into skillet. Bring to a boil and lower heat. Cook stew covered 15 minutes, or until heated through. Makes four servings.

Good Company Dessert

Fill individual sponge cake shells from the bakery with drained canned apricots; top with a fluff of whipped cream and garnish each dessert with a whole sweet strawberry. Nice for company and quick, too.

Orange Raisin Sauce Enlivens Tongue or Ham

This fruit-flavored sauce will make smoked tongue (or ham) extra good.

Orange Raisin Sauce

½ cup light or dark raisins
½ cup water
2-3 cup orange juice
¼ cup firmly-packed light or dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Rinse raisins in hot water and drain. Put raisins in 1-quart saucepan with one-half cup water; bring to a boil; simmer (do not boil) five minutes. Add orange juice; remove from heat.

In a small bowl, mix brown sugar, flour and salt thoroughly; stir into hot mixture. Return to moderately low heat; cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly.

Add orange rind and butter; stir until butter melts.

Versatile Cider Vinegar Is Homemaker's Best Pal

One of the oldest manufactured foods known to man is also one of the most versatile ingredients a homemaker can keep on her pantry shelf. That's cider vinegar.

Not only does it serve as a basic ingredient in scores of tempting recipes but its use as a household helper and as a useful aid in solving minor medical problems makes cider vinegar a real homemaker's pal.

Grandma knew it, and a recent check of America's pantry shelves indicates that the modern homemaker knows it too, for practically every home had a bottle of cider vinegar in the pantry.

To give you an idea of the many uses for this versatile product other than in salads and other recipes, here is how that bottle of cider vinegar can be helpful to you.

First, as a household helper it is marvelous for removing stains on sinks, on metal things, on rugs, clothing, and even on hands. It will come to your rescue in removing strong odors from your pots and pans and if necessary will soak away any burned foods that may prove stubborn.

If you haven't tried cider vinegar as an ingredient in your husband's window-washing solution, or in your own dishpan, you have a treat waiting for you. Your windows and glassware will take on a new sparkle.

While you may not want a bottle of cider vinegar in your medicine cabinet, its many uses in solving minor physical irritations would almost make the medicine cabinet as good a place as your pantry.

For example, now that spring is here and summer on the way you will find that the same cider vinegar that relieved your chapped hands last winter will be quick to take away the pain of your first sunburn. If mosquitoes bother you, an application of this wonder liquid will drive them away.

Cider vinegar also can be used in your vaporizer to help chase head colds that members of your family may catch from time to time, or in a footbath to relieve that tired feeling after a hard day. It has been used for hiccoughs, insect bites, as a compress, and even to stop uncomfortable itching.

Versatile? Well, in addition to its many uses in recipes, these examples mentioned above are only a few among 311 various uses reported in a survey.

So next time you are adding cider vinegar to your favorite salad, just leave the bottle out—you may want to try it for some of these interesting uses.

Tuna, Nuts Make Crunchy Spread

Perfect for hurry-up lunches are Tuna Almond-Crunch sandwiches. The tasty filling can be prepared ahead of time. Comes the noon hour, the filling is refrigerator-ready and just right for sandwich spreading.

The combination of canned tuna and toasted almonds is wonderful.

Tuna Almond-Crunch Sandwich

1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
¼ teaspoon celery seeds
2 teaspoons lemon juice
⅓ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tablespoons chopped toasted almonds
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients; chill, covered, to blend flavors. Makes 1½ cups.

Paprika Brightens Up Sour Cream Cookery

The Hungarians use sour cream lavishly in their cookery. And they also use paprika generously. Flavor is only one of the reasons for this combination. The other is that the rosy red spice adds attractiveness to sour cream dishes which might otherwise look insipid.

Whether you are making a Hungarian Goulash or merely using sour cream in your favorite American dish remember that paprika adds mightily to the eye-appeal of all sour cream dishes.

A wedge of lime adds color contrast and flavor interest to seafood cocktails.

DUTCH RHUBARB PIE — A rich mixture of partially diluted evaporated milk, butter, spices and flour is poured over sliced fresh rhubarb for a delectable Dutch rhubarb pie. A topping of sugar and cinnamon is sprinkled over the filling before baking.

Bake Dutch Pie With Rhubarb

One of the nicest forerunners of spring is fresh rhubarb. And it's especially nice when that rhubarb is baked into luscious Dutch rhubarb pie.

The pie is a very pleasant combination of sliced fresh red rhubarb and a spicy-sweet milk mixture. Partially diluted evaporated milk is used to give added richness and smoothness to this liquid filling.

Over the open face of the pie is sprinkled a topping of sugar and cinnamon. The tartness of the rhubarb and the sugar and spices blend delightfully in this springtime dessert.

Dutch Rhubarb Pie

1 pound red rhubarb, cut in ½ inch slices (about 3½ cups)
1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell
1 cup sugar
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Place sliced rhubarb in the unbaked pastry shell. Mix together in a small mixing bowl the 1 cup sugar, flour, salt, cloves, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, milk, water and butter. Pour over sliced rhubarb.

Mix the 2 tablespoons sugar and the one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle over top of pie. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) until rhubarb is tender, about 55 minutes. Cool before serving.

Makes one 9-inch pie (six to eight servings).

Onion Casserole Sparks Any Meal

Onion casserole can be an appetizing addition to any meal, as in this recipe which will make four servings:

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 13½-ounce can whole onions, drained
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs

Melt butter over low heat; add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper. Add onions and mix well.

Heat to serving temperature. Turn into greased 1-quart casserole Combine cheese and crumbs; mix well. Sprinkle over other ingredients.

Cinnamon-Grape Jelly Answers Spring Need

Bring to boiling point again and boil one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam and pour into sterilized glasses. Cover with melted paraffin. Yields six 6-ounce glasses.

English Cookbook Offers Interesting Recipe Ideas

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

My English friend has sent me a cookbook that I'm delighted to add to my collection. It is "Mrs. Beeton's Cookery."

Mrs. Beeton is known as "the mother of English cookery," and her cookbooks have served several generations of English cooks. Her publishers say hers is "the only cookery book to have survived two World Wars and emerged at the end with its indispensability unaffected."

She has improved recipes and methods, modifying wherever necessary, but always stressing economy.

Many of the terms mean nothing to me; they are definitely English. The methods of measuring are also different and need translating into American measurements.

I think you may like a sampling of recipes. The first is a method of using leftover chicken or other fowl.

Fowl, Hashed, a L'Indienne

Divide the cold remains of a fowl into pieces convenient for serving, and when stock is needed simmer the bones and trimmings for at least one hour in just as much cold water as will cover them.

Make 1 cup of curry sauce (see below), put in the pieces of fowl and allow the mixture to simmer for about half an hour. Serve with boiled rice.

Curry Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
1 small onion sliced
1½ teaspoons flour
1 tablespoon curry powder
1½ cups stock
1 sliced tomato

Melt butter; fry onion until lightly browned, add flour and curry powder. Stir and cook gently for a few minutes, then add stock and bring to a boil. Put in tomato and seasoning to taste. Simmer gently about 20 minutes, then strain and serve.

This sounds like an interesting way to bake apples.

Baked Apples

Pare and core five or six apples, keeping them whole; roll up an apple paring tightly and place it in the center of each apple. Brush over with white of egg and put aside until it dries; then re-coat, sprinkle with sugar.

Put apples into a baking dish, cover with a greased paper and bake in a slow oven until tender. Be careful not to overcook or they may break.

When done, remove the apple paring and fill the cavity with jam, jelly, or butter and brown sugar mixed.

* * *

As a good, light summer dessert this Lemon Cream should be popular.

Lemon Cream

Whip one-half pint of cream stiffly, gradually adding 1 tablespoonful of lemon juice, 1 tablespoon ground almonds and one-half teaspoonful grated lemon rind. Sweeten to taste. Serve in sherbet glasses.

* * *

For a Sunday night supper you might like to try this recipe for an English omelet.

Omelet, Savoury

Beat two eggs until light, add 1½ teaspoons milk, one-quarter teaspoon chopped parsley, one-eighth teaspoon finely chopped shallot or onion and a pinch of mixed herbs. Season with salt and pepper.

* * *

Melt 1½ teaspoons butter in an omelet pan, pour in the mixture, stir with a fork until the eggs are on the point of setting; then with a spoon, draw it quickly toward the handle of the pan in the shape of a crescent. Turn over on a hot dish and serve at once.

Here's one last recipe for quick biscuits.

Milk Scones

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons butter or shortening
1 teaspoon sugar
½ cup milk

Sift dry ingredients, except sugar. Rub butter or shortening into flour mixture, add sugar and milk. Roll out on floured board and cut with a small cutter. Bake in a moderate oven about 15 minutes.

Serve Fruit, Shrimp

Sticks of fresh pineapple and cooked shrimp make a wonderful first course when company's expected. Alternate the pineapple and shrimp on a flat plate and put a small bowl of homemade mayonnaise in the center for dunking. Enliven the mayonnaise with lemon or lime juice, Bahama-type mustard and paprika.

1955 Americans Get More Food for Their Money

Americans spend 25 per cent of their income for food today, just as they did 30 years ago, but now they get a lot more for their money.

In a new study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture it is shown that today we are "eating more and better foods" at the same proportion of national income.

An hour's "take home" pay in 1935 would buy 5½ loaves of bread, or 3½ quarts of milk, or 1½ pounds of steak or a dozen oranges. An hour's "take home" pay today buys 10 loaves of bread, or 7 quarts of milk, or 2 pounds of steak, or 3 dozen oranges.

Families benefit in many other ways, comments the Soya Food Research Council.

"For instance, 30 years ago most foods were prepared in the home at an average of 5.5 hours work each day for a family of four. Today the family pays more money for services and prepared foods, but the housewife spends only 1.6 hours kitchen time preparing the day's meals."

"Research on the farm and in the food-processing industry," says the Soya Council, "has been the major factor in improving today's diet. Future years are expected to show even greater progress, particularly in the field of protein supplements."

Change Canned Pears Into Luxurious Dessert

Change canned pear halves into a luxurious dessert using toasty enriched yeast-raised bread cubes and rich dark chocolate.

Toast 1 cup small bread cubes until crisp and golden brown. Combine with one-half cup confectioners' sugar and one-quarter cup coarsely chopped walnuts. Blend with 2½ squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Spoon into the hollow of six canned pear halves. Top with whipped cream and garnish with chopped walnuts.

For Late Breakfast

For a late Sunday breakfast that will carry you right through to early supper time, try this: Canned apple slices, well chilled, and served with sugar and cream, liver and bacon, coffee cake or hot muffins and plenty of hot coffee.

...look for it on the shelf or in the freezer

Simmer Pot Roast in Savory Catsup

Slow cooking — that's the rule to follow from the start of browning the pot roast until it is done. Let the beef simmer in the cooking liquid, catsup, until tender. This provides a wonderful gravy for the meat.

Pot Roast With Catsup

3 to 4 pound beef arm or blade pot roast
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup catsup
6 medium potatoes

Dredge meat with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Season and add catsup. Cover and simmer three hours or until tender.

Add potatoes the last 45 minutes. Remove meat and potatoes and make gravy.

APPLESAUCE BUFFET — Fill a big, deep bowl to the brim with your favorite brand of ready-to-serve applesauce. Then around it set out smaller bowls each containing a different topping for the applesauce. Guests help themselves.

Vary Toppings for Applesauce

Come one, come all and help yourselves to this dessert! Applesauce Buffet will gladden the heart of any hostess and delight any and all guests.

It's so simple, it belongs in the "why didn't someone think of this before" category. And it's so good tasting, everyone will enjoy it.

And, of course, an idea as good as this needn't be confined to parties. Serve it for family meals, too, with each member eager to fix his own special dessert.

The toppings suggested here are coconut, peanuts, sour cream and crumbled peppermint candies. But you can think of literally dozens of others. You might for instance offer raisins, candied chopped ginger, crunched peanut brittle, marshmallow cream, maraschino cherries, mixed citrus fruits, slivered almonds, just to mention a few.

The canned applesauce with its just-right consistency and lively tang takes on new glory with toppings like these. It all adds up to a bright, light dessert suitable for many occasions.

Applesauce Buffet

6 cups canned chilled applesauce
½ pint heavy cream, whipped or sour cream
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup salted peanuts
1 cup crushed peppermint

Serve applesauce in large bowl. Put whipped cream or sour cream, coconut, peanuts and crushed peppermint candy in small bowls. Place small bowls around large bowl of applesauce.

Let your guests fix their own combination of applesauce. Yields eight-ten servings.

Follow Rules When Freezing Cooked Potatoes

Would you like to freeze potatoes? Here are a few basic rules, suggested by home economic experts of a freezer company.

1. Do not overcook potatoes for the freezer; in fact, slight undercooking is preferred for most potato products.

2. If potatoes are to be used in any combination dish which is to be frozen, such as soup or stew, the potatoes should be slightly underdone since they tend to soften during freezer storage.

3. Like other prepared foods, cooked potatoes should be seasoned slightly. Additional seasonings should be added before serving.

4. Do not attempt to freeze potato salad.

Macaroni and Tongue Are Tasty Twosome

Join up cans of macaroni with a jar of thin sliced tongue. And you have a perfect partnership. You'll need two cans of the macaroni (in cheese sauce) for this. First cut the tongue into chunks or strips. Also chop up a medium onion.

Brown tongue and onion in butter or margarine in a skillet. Then stir in the two cans of macaroni. If desired, blend in one-half teaspoon of prepared mustard for extra seasoning too. Heat all well and serve to four hungry folks.

Note: One cup of cooked whole kernel corn may be added to macaroni also; this makes it a complete meal in a dish.

Curved Teething Biscuit Will Be Big Boon to Baby

Baby rates a special gift in his own week. On the market—just in time for National Baby Week—is a new crumble-proof teething biscuit. It's horseshoe-shaped like a good luck charm, and is it delicious!

This cleverly shaped cookie will be a big help to the baby with teething problems, for he can grasp one curved end in his tiny fingers and maneuver the other to whatever spot in his mouth is giving him trouble.

The cookie is firm, so it will not break or crumble. Shape and texture are actually safety measures, for it's almost impossible for a child to get too much cookie in his mouth at one time.

Not too sweet so as to dull an appetite before mealtime, the horseshoe cake is still most pleasant to taste. The ingredients are: Wheat flour, eggs, whole wheat flour, brown sugar, salt, soy flour, honey, corn syrup, iron, defatted milk solids, wheat germ, niacin, dicalcium phosphate baking soda, thiamine and riboflavin.

Fortified with extra vitamins and minerals, one cookie supplies an infant with 21 per cent of his minimum daily requirement of thiamine and 15 per cent of his minimum daily requirement of riboflavin.

Baby will like the colorful tubular container as a playtoy. Mother will appreciate it because it keeps the cookies fresh and sanitary.

A pull-string opener is another convenience. There are 12 biscuits in the 4½-ounce package.

For weight-watchers: Try yogurt over salad greens. The yogurt may be mixed with a little minced onion and paprika if you like.

Macaroni Cooler Contains Surprise

There's a surprise in Macaroni Cooler. It comes in the form of blue cheese used in the salad dressing. You will find this another delightful way to use luscious fresh fruits.

Macaroni Cooler

4 ounces elbow macaroni
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
½ teaspoon grated onion
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1½ cups diced fresh fruit (such as apples, bananas, oranges)
½ cup coarsely chopped pecans

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender (about eight minutes). Drain, rinse with cold water and chill.

Blend mayonnaise or salad dressing with cheese, onion and lemon juice. Mix with macaroni and let chill at least 30 minutes longer. Fold in fruit and pecans. Serve on crisp greens. Makes four servings.

Ever dress up everyday applesauce with scoops of vanilla ice cream?

Milk Method Favored

Tomato soup, prepared with milk, won top spot in a popularity poll on ways of serving this dish. Homemakers report that at least 70 per cent of the tomato soup served is prepared with milk.

Egg-Olive Mix Served on Rolls

Luncheon menus composed of sandwich, salad and beverage are just what you're looking for in the way of easy spring meals.

Deliciously new in sandwich fillings is an egg salad made with pimiento-stuffed green olives and served on crisp rolls. Sliced olives are used to garnish the sandwiches to add a decorative note.

Egg 'n' Olive Sandwiche Treats

6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
⅓ cup chopped celery
¾ teaspoon celery seed
2 tablespoons chopped onion
⅓ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup mayonnaise
4 hard rolls, cut in half
Sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
Paprika

Combine eggs, celery, celery seed, onion, one-half cup olives, mustard and mayonnaise; mix thoroughly. Spread on bottom half of rolls.

Garnish with olive slices, as desired. Dust with paprika. Cover with top half of rolls to serve. Makes four servings.

Artificial Ice Available

Looking forward to spring outings? You can get artificial ice to keep cold foods cold. The artificial ice is a gelatin-type compound; freeze it in your freezer or freezing compartment of your refrigerator before putting it in your picnic basket or insulated picnic bag.

Buy Large Beef Cut, Use for Several Meals

Homemakers with small families often find it advantageous to purchase a large beef cut and plan on using it for several fresh meat meals rather than have leftover cooked meat for a second meal. Try purchasing a large arm pot roast and cutting it into three cross section for three fresh meat meals.

For the first meal, use the boneless piece of beef from one end of the potroast and cut this into cubes for a beef stew. The second meal can be a potroast from the center section, and for the third meal, split the remaining section and prepare it as country-fried steak, Swiss or Italian steak. selves.

For Sunday Supper

Good Sunday night supper fare: Serve a big chef's salad—assorted greens, thin strips of ham or tongue along with some of Swiss cheese and French dressing.

National Baby Week Puts Spotlight on Young Eaters

Pontiac Press Food Editor

For 27 years Child Health Day has been celebrated on May first. The week following is the annual National Baby Week. With over three million babies being born in the past year, the week assumes a major importance. This year we celebrate from April 30 to May 7.

All these junior citizens need good meals. The commercial canners who put out the great variety of canned baby foods have done a magnificent job of assuring their small customers of nutritious food. It's up to the mothers to carry on from there.

Dessert is an important part of any meal. While we do not want our children to have too many sweets, we realize that some sugar is essential in their diets. Let's talk about some simple dessert recipes for these young eaters.

Rennet custard is one of the oldest of baby desserts. As you know, it is a custard-like milk dessert, made with whole fresh milk. It helps small babies become familiar with new textures and flavors.

Use the mild fruit flavors until the child is older. We suggest two recipes below, one for the very young and one for the older infant.

Cereal Rennet-Custard

Put 1 tablespoon prepared baby cereal or cooked farina in each dessert dish. Pour rennet-custard mixture over it.

* * *

Maple Bread Pudding Rennet-Custard

Cut two slices fresh bread into small cubes. Mix with one fourth teaspoon cinnamon, if desired. Divide among dessert glasses. Make maple rennet-custard following basic directions. Garnish chilled desserts with whipped cream.

Gelatin is always an excellent choice for children. They respond to the color in this dessert. Here is a new version of a whipped gelatin dessert using nonfat dry milk.

Pink and Red Dessert

1 3-ounce package strawberry gelatin
1½ cups hot water
⅓ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
⅓ cup nonfat dry milk

Dissolve gelatin dessert in 1½ cups hot water. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour one third cup water into a 1-quart bowl; add lemon juice.

Sprinkle nonfat dry milk powder over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff enough to stand in soft peaks, about 8 to 10 minutes.

Pour three fourths cup slightly thickened gelatin mixture into an 8-inch square pan. Beat remaining gelatin mixture until light and fluffy. Fold in whipped milk. Spread evenly over gelatin in pan.

Chill until firm. Unmold and cut into squares. Serves eight.

* * *

Strained baby fruits are eagerly eaten by babies. Mothers like them equally well for their versatility as an ingredient in other recipes. They make excellent sauces for puddings, ice cream, cake or gingerbread.

Banana Marshmallow Sauce

¼ pound marshmallows, cut in pieces
2 jars strained bananas
¼ cup concentrated frozen orange juice

Steam marshmallows until soft in top of double boiler. Add strained bananas and orange juice and cook over hot water until marshmallows are melted.

Serve hot with hot puddings or cold with ice cream or chilled desserts.

* * *

Fluffy Fruit Sauce

1 jar strained apricots and apples
2 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt

Combine apricots and apples, sugar and beaten egg yolks in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water until thick. Remove from heat. Cool.

Add flavoring and fold in beaten egg whites. Serve warm or cold.

How to Serve Turkey

Know how to serve turkey? A slice of white meat and one of dark, plus a spoonful of stuffing, on each plate. Don't ladle the gravy over the turkey and stuffing. Let guests help themselves.

Cube Steaks Mean Easy, Fast Dinner

Club day, shopping or whenever you arrive home late and there's the family dinner to prepare, cubed beef steaks come to the rescue. Here's a bit different way to prepare them.

Breaded Cubed Beef Steaks

1 pound cubed beef steaks
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup fine cracker crumbs
1 beaten egg
3 tablespoons lard or drippings

Combine salt, pepper, and cracker crumbs. Dip cubed steaks in egg and then in cracker mixture.

Melt lard or drippings in frying-pan. Brown cubed steaks on both sides, cover closely, and cook slowly for 30 minutes, or until tender. Four servings.

Sauce Browns Steaks, Chops

Have you longed for a professional-looking charcoal-brown crust on the steaks and chops you prepare for the family dinner table? If so, try brushing your meat liberally, before cooking, with plain kitchen bouquet, just as it comes from the bottle.

Broil as usual and you will be amazed with the rich dark brown crust that you achieve. Even at weight-saving moderate temperatures, kitchen bouquet guarantees this "charcoal-broil" effect.

Kitchen bouquet is equally effective when preparing roasts and pot roasts.

Simply pre-brushing the meat with the undiluted kitchen bouquet will assure you of a succulently browned roast and in addition provide you with richly colored drippings to make an attractive and appetizing gravy to accompany the meat.

California Pork Chops

4 loin pork chops, 1 inch thick
1½ teaspoons kitchen bouquet
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon marjoram
3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
1 unpeeled lemon, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons sherry, vermouth or water

Brush chops on all sides with kitchen bouquet. Melt fat in frying pan over moderate heat. Add chops and brown quickly. Sprinkle in onion, salt and marjoram. Cook one minute longer.

Add contents of can of mushrooms and lemon slices. Cover, lower heat and simmer until chops are done, about 35 to 40 minutes.

When chops are done remove lemon slices and discard. Combine and add cornstarch and sherry. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thick and clear. Makes four servings.

Try Beef-Rice Loaf for Hearty Supper

Complete your menu with a tomato juice appetizer, buttered frenched green beans, hashed brown potatoes, a jellied vegetable salad, hard rolls and a dessert of blueberry pie.

Meat-Rice Loaf

1½ pounds ground beef
1 cup cooked rice
1 egg
1 tablespoons chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup milk
⅛ teaspoon poultry seasoning

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Pack into a greased 5x9-inch loaf pan and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for 1½ hours. Eight to 10 servings.

Cook dry beans in the water in which you have soaked them. You save nutritive values this way!

STUFFED SHOULDER OF LAMB—With fresh vegetables, a stuffed shoulder of lamb makes an excellent family budget meal for spring. Have your dealer bone the shoulder for stuffing and fill it with a tomato-rice dressing.

Stuff Shoulder of Lamb With Savory Tomato-Rice

High on the lists of good buys at most dealers are lamb shoulder roasts. This fine-flavored cut makes an excellent family budget roast, with leftovers for sandwiches.

They come in several forms. The most economical is the bone-in square cut roast which weighs 4 to 5 pounds.

This cut also may be boned and sold either rolled and tied or as a cushion shoulder with a convenient "pocket" for a favorite stuffing.

The boned shoulders usually weigh between 2½ to 4 pounds. Because these roasts are economically priced, better make certain yours carries a packer's brand.

Here are suggestions for stuffing shoulder roasts. Try a bread stuffing to be baked with the roast or in the pocket of the cushion, flavored with finely mashed garlic and celery. Or, a stuffing of rice and tomatoes, seasoned with bay leaf.

Rub such herbs as rosemary, sweet basil, or ginger on the roast before baking.

To roast the shoulder of lamb, place the meat fat side up in an open pan in a slow (325 degrees) oven until a roast meat thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the meat registers 182 degrees for a well-done roast.

A 3-pound shoulder of lamb will require approximately 1¾ hours and a 5-pound roast three hours. A 4-pound cushion of lamb will take 2½ hours.

A boned and rolled shoulder of lamb weighing 3 pounds will require two hours and a 4-pound rolled roast 2½ hours.

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb

4 pounds shoulder of lamb
1 cup rice
2 tablespoons fat
2 bay leaves
1 onion, finely chopped
1 green pepper, finely chopped
1½ cups quartered tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt

Have shoulder of lamb boned to make pocket for stuffing. Cook rice in boiling salted water. Drain. Melt fat in skillet, add crushed bay leaves, onion and green pepper. Cook until tender.

Add tomatoes and salt and cook about five minutes. Stir in the rice. Fill the pocket of the roast with the rice stuffing. Fasten with skewers.

Place on a rack, fat side up, in an open pan in a slow oven (325 degrees). Roast about 2½ hours or to 182 degrees by a roast-meat thermometer. Serves five-six.

Pimiento-Apple Stuffing Adds to Chop Appeal

Honest Abe Yokum won't be the only one calling for "po'k chops" once you serve them with Pimiento-to-Apple Stuffing. Stuffed Pork Chops may sound like a gourmet dish — and it tastes like one too — yet all the while it's easy on the pocketbook as well as on the cook.

The Pimiento-Apple Stuffing is truly stuffed with special flavor—pungent with pimientos, crisp with apples, and delicious through and through.

Pimiento-Apple Stuffed Pork Chops

4 pork chops, 1-inch thick
1 can or jar (4 ounces) pimientos, chopped
1 cup bread crumbs or prepared stuffing
1 cup grated raw apple
1 teaspoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon celery salt
Salt and pepper to season

Ask the butcher to cut a pocket in the pork chops for stuffing. (This can also be done at home by cutting the chops in half, horizontally, down to the bone.)

Mix together all the other ingredients and stuff a portion of the mixture in each chop pocket, fastening the pockets together again with toothpicks.

Put the chops in an uncovered baking dish and bake them at 325 degrees for 45 minutes to one hour, turning them at half the baking time.

Add a flourish to the serving platter with a garnish of broiled apple slices topped with bright pimiento rolls.

To make the pimiento rolls, take fairly large pieces of pimientos (from an extra can), tuck bits of parsley at both ends, and roll them up. Quick as a wink and twice as eye-catching!

Takes to the Freezer

Pies made with canned apple slices are a "natural" for freezer storage. Make two at a time (that takes two cans of the apple slices). Then bake and serve one, and quick freeze the other, unbaked, for another day. No thawing is required for the frozen pie. Just bake it for a little longer time.

Any saffron in the house? Use it with chicken, veal, rice and fish.

Dressing Converted to Sandwich Filling

This sandwich filling contains some of the same ingredients that go into popular Thousand Island Salad Dressing.

Thousand Island Sandwiches

4 hard-cooked eggs
⅓ cup drained sweet pickles
⅓ cup ripe olives
¾ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt, bread

Chop eggs and sweet pickles fairly fine. Cut olives from pits in small pieces. Mix chopped eggs and pickles, olives, mayonnaise and salt. Makes about 2 cups.

Spread filling thickly between slices of bread for hearty sandwiches.

Fresh Pineapple Reaches Market in the Springtime

Fresh pineapple is a springtime fruit. April through July usually brings the lowest prices for fresh pineapple.

Keep in mind the size. They range from 8 to 18, which simply means the number of pineapple per crate. The smaller the number, the larger the pineapple.

Large 8 and 9 sizes are now selling for about 33 cents—a real budget saver.

Pick heavy plump fruit with rich fragrant aroma; greenish gold or deep yellow orange color. The leaf-like top spines pull out easily from ripe prime fruit. For sweet flavor choose fruit that is hollow-eyed.

Handle pineapple as little as possible and store in a cool dark place.

Tricks for "Fixin'"

Cut off base and twist out top. Cut into slices three-quarters to 1-inch thick. Peel by cutting around the edge, about one-quarter inch deep to remove rind and eyes. Cut into cubes, fingers or shreds. Discard core.

Add a bay leaf to tomato juice you are heating to use in an aspic. Gives interesting flavor!

CHERRY 'N' CHEESE BLINTZES—Here's a dish that combines hotcakes, cottage cheese and canned dark sweet cherries. Blintzes are glorified pancakes. While these are not cooked a second time as the traditional blintzes are, they will make a hit whenever you serve them. Good Lenten fare.

Cherry-Cheese Blintzes Are Guaranteed to Please

You can thank Mr. Bing for the delightful concoction pictured! No, not Bing Crosby. . .not even Bob Hope would accuse him of being as old as the Bing cherries in this recipe.

The Mr. Bing we speak of was a Chinese gradener, who, with his employer, a Mr. Lewellyn, set out to develop finer quality cherries. They planted a thousand seedlings and, as the plants grew, the poorer ones were weeded out.

But one particular tree, though small, had won the heart of Bing. Over the protests of his employer, he babied it along. When the tree blossomed and bore fruit, the cherries on it were so sweet, so dark, so delicious, that Mr. Lewellyn abandoned all his other carefully nurtured trees and set about producing more and more "Bing" trees.

All this happened in Oregon, and to this day the finest sweet dark cherries are produced on the Pacific Coast, where the rich volcanic soil produces a particularly fine fruit—a versatile fruit, too.

Canned dark sweet cherries combine with almost any other food you can name. . .are delicious served any time of the day.

Because their flavor is so distinctive, they can turn the most prosaic fare into a real gustatory treat! Here, for example are Cherry 'N' Cheese Blintzes.

Cherry 'N' Cheese Blintzes

1 No. 2 can dark and sweet cherries with juice
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 recipe for blintz batter (or use 1 recipe prepared pancake mix and 2 cups liquid)
1 pound cottage cheese
¼ cup almonds, blanched and slivered

Drain and pit cherries. Combine cornstarch and sugar thoroughly and add to cherry juice and lemon juice. Add butter. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cherries and heat through.

Make pancakes and keep warm in oven until ready to serve. Heap cottage cheese on half of pancake and fold over. Serve with cherry sauce and top with slivered almonds. Serves six.

Nutmeg Boasts Numerous Uses

Nutmeg is a surprisingly versatile spice. We use it traditionally in baking, but too often forget that its flavor enhances many other foods.

Spinach, a vegetable which is all too frequently relegated to everyday meals, becomes a special occasion dish when served with a lemon-butter sauce to which a generous amount of nutmeg has been added. Sweet potatoes are also glamorized by the addition of nutmeg.

We can learn much about nutmeg from the Dutch, who once controlled the world's market in this aromatic spice.

For instance, the Netherlanders use nutmeg to bring out the best in a meat loaf which, surprisingly, they cook on top of the range instead of in the oven. They also add the delightful flavor of nutmeg to sauces for chicken or seafood and use it as a seasoner of vegetables.

Nutmeg Meat Loaf
(Dutch-Style)

1 pound ground lean beef
½ pound ground lean pork
¾ cup coarse stale bread crumbs
1½ teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 egg
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon shortening
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Mix the first eight ingredients together. Shape into a loaf. Roll in fine, dry bread crumbs. Brown meat loaf on all sides in shortening heated in a Dutch oven.

Then place the rack under meat loaf. Add the water. Cover. Cook over low heat 75 minutes or until done. Yield: Six servings.

Serve Corn Chip Dunk

Mix cream cheese with mayonnaise, grated onion, garlic powder and minced parsley. Serve as a dunk with corn chips. Makes a nice first course for company when served with a tomato juice cocktail.

Rhubarb Chiffon Tarts Are Gala Lunch Finale

Fresh rhubarb lends an appetizing tartness to springtime meals. Serve rhubarb chiffon tarts for an extra-special luncheon finale.

Cook 2 pounds rhubarb, cut into 1-inch pieces, in one-half cup water until tender. Beat three egg yolks with one-half cup sugar until fluffy. Fold in cooled rhubarb. Beat three egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add one-half cup sugar and continue to beat until meringue holds stiff peaks.

Fold into the fruit mixture. Fill baked tart shells. Makes enough filling for eight tarts.

Include Cookies in Every Lunch

Nowadays, cookies approach confection heights. No school lunchbox is complete without crisp, good cookies for dessert.

Crumb Macaroons offer tantalizing crunchiness by combining dry enriched bread crumbs and chopped nuts. Spicy Pecan Cookies have an old-fashioned flavor reminiscent of the cookies "Mother used to make."

Crumb Macaroons

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 eggs, beaten

Combine crumbs, sugar, salt and nuts. Add vanilla extract to beaten eggs. Add to crumb mixture and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a well-greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Remove from baking sheet to cooling rack at once. Makes about 40 2-inch cookies.

Spicy Pecan Cookies

2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup chopped pecans

Sift together flour, soda, cream of tartar, salt and cinnamon and nutmeg. Cream together butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla extract. Beat well. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture. Add nuts and mix well.

Shape into rolls and wrap in waxed paper or press into cookie molds. Chill until firm, about three hours. Slice about one-fourth-inch thick.

Bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes about 8 dozen 2-inch cookies.

Prepare Crab Salad for Your Bridge Club

When it is your turn to entertain the bridge club, make up some crab salad: Crabmeat, diced celery, mayonnaise. Fill unpeeled avocado halves with the salad. Put the stuffed avocados in a shallow baking pan and pour a little hot water into the pan. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until hot—10 to 15 minutes.

Serve with potato chips, sprigs of watercress inserted in rings of raw carrot and hot rolls. Dessert might be pineapple chiffon pie.

New-Style French Toast Boasts Parmesan Flavor

Eggs are still big budget and nutrition news. Using them to give the family a new version of an old favorite — French toast — is a good idea.

Kathryn B. Niles, home economics director of the Poultry and Egg National Board in Chicago, dreamed up this recipe and has this to say about it:

"The departure (and we feel improvement) from plain French toast is in the crispness and the pleasantly unusual Parmesan flavor. The former is the result of using thick slices of heavy-bodied French bread (called Vienna in some markets).

"There's no mushiness when you bite into this crisp toast. Honey combines well with the Parmesan cheese, although Parmesan French toast is equally good 'as is.'

"A delicious menu suggestion is scrambled eggs with Parmesan French toast, an excellent Lenten luncheon."

Parmesan French Toast

2 eggs
½ cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
10 or more slices Vienna French bread ¾-inch thick (amount varies with loaf size and shape)
Fat for browning
Honey, if desired

Beat eggs slightly with the Parmesan cheese. Blend in salt and milk. Dip bread in egg mixture, turning to moisten slices completely to center. If necessary, drain against edge of bowl.

Brown on one side over medium heat on well-greased skillet or griddle. Turn and brown the other side.

Add additional fat as necessary to keep bread from sticking. Makes about 10 large slices.

Eggs-in-Mustard Sauce Served in Toast Cups

Served in golden-brown toast cups, Eggs-in-Mustard Sauce make an attractive and satisfying luncheon dish.

To make toast cups, trim crusts from slices of fresh enriched bread. Press gently into muffin pans and brush with melted butter or margarine. Bake until toast is lightly browned.

While toast cups are baking, make Eggs-in-Mustard Sauce. Add about 2 teaspoons dry mustard to a creamy white sauce. Chop hard-cooked eggs and add to the mustard sauce. Heat thoroughly and pour over toast cups.

PARMESAN FRENCH TOAST — Here is a brand new kind of French toast. Thick slices of French bread are dipped in the usual egg and milk mixture that has grated Parmesan cheese added to it. Clear golden honey is served with this delicious toast.

Today's Bride Can Make Chicken Gravy With Ease

"When you can fry chicken to a T, you can set a fine table."

Such words of wisdom are the kind of adivce many a fond mama will give her bride-to-be daughter at this season.

Needless to say, making gravy to go with chicken is also important in learning this way to a man's heart. For one dish sure to make a man smack his lips and beam on his bride is crisp golden-fried chicken — next to fluffy mashed potatoes —, slathered with hot chicken gravy.

Happily, today's beginner cook has gravy made for her. It comes perfectly blended . . . in a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup (or celery or chicken).

She simply heats soup in the skillet, with flavorful drippings from the fried chicken. And presto, there's the most savory gravy. Mashed potatoes also come without effort; either the frozen or dried kind give worthy results.

The method for chicken and gravy is as simple as this.

Fried Chicken, Presto Gravy

1 fryer chicken (2 pounds or more) cut up
Flour (seasoned with salt and pepper)
¼ cup shortening
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup (or cream of chicken or celery soup)
¼ cup water (or milk)

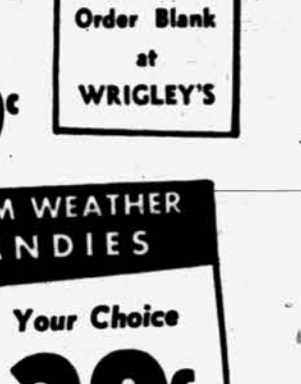

Dust pieces of chicken well with seasoned flour. Brown chicken in the hot shortening in a skillet. Cover pan and let chicken cook until tender. Uncover pan last few minutes of cooking to re-crisp bird.

Remove chicken from pan; pour off all but 2 tablespoons of drippings from skillet; pour in soup and liquid. Heat and stir well to loosen browned bits in skillet. Serve gravy with chicken and mashed potatoes. Makes about 1½ cups gravy.

'Universal Diet' Satisfies Animals, Plant Life Alike

NEW YORK (UP) — No one has to be told that the diets of cats and rabbits are quite different. The food of a tomato plant would do a monkey no good, obviously. What would support a cockroach hardly could do much for an opossum, and that goes, too, for a bacterium and a mouse, a gold fish and a fungus, a pig and a chick.

All this sounds quite right, but Dr. Thomas D. Luckey of the biochemistry department of the University of Missouri's medical school, has proven that it isn't true. With one "universal diet" he nurtured most successfully, all the animals mentioned and the tomato plant, and also dogs, snails, mice, and guinea pigs.

He measured success by maintaining the same growth rate in all of them that they would have had if they had been on their own. He succeeded with four consecutive generations of mice and cockroaches; he "carried" the guinea pigs and the snails through reproduction.

The "universal diet" was 'semi-synthetic." To purified casein, (casein is a phosphorous protein to be found in the milk of mammals), corn oil, cornstarch, cellulose and sugar, were added the salts of an assortment of minerals and amino acids and liberal amounts of the vitamins.

"Large amounts of vitamins were incorporated in the diet in order to satisfy an extraordinarily high requirement that might be encountered," he explained. "The diet was made with special considerations for the salt requirements of chicks and guinea pigs, the fiber requirements of rabbits, the high protein requirement of chicks, and the fat requirement of dogs. Sugar was added to give good acceptability of the diet."

This diet was labeled "Universal Diet No. 1" and he indicated that No. 2, at least, was already being formulated. It should be understood that the universal diets are experimental and are not intended to have any other than laboratory applications. What would be the value of rabbits and cats having the same diet in the big world? But in the laboratory, "the eventual use of a universal diet would be of value in many ways."

"Diet could be considered as a unit variable instead of as a complex variable in biological research," he said in a technical publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. "Inter-species comparisons of nutritional requirements, metabolic products, physiological tests and so forth, and interlaboratory comparisons might be more valid if a standard diet was used."

He granted that "a diet with the proper formulation of all nutrients required to rear all species may never be known. In our present state of biological understanding, we would not expect to rear most parasites, viruses, fastidious micro-organisms, or mammalian tissues with a semi-synthetic diet. Their complete nutritional requirements are not yet known."

Nevertheless, his demonstration dramatically underlined a fundamental of scientific philosophy — that there is universality in nature. It is science's task to find the keys. In this connection, he quoted L. A. Maynard, a well-known authority on nutrition:

"Superficially, the rations of man and animals have little in common since the kinds of food eaten are so different. Yet the essential constituents of these rations, that is, the elements required for adequate nutrition, are largely the same whatever the species. The general principles of nutrition are identical."

Although use of cigarettes in the United States has decreased slightly in the last two years, their use in most other countries is increasing, says the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Illinois Works Hard to Keep Roads Open

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — The work of keeping 14,000 miles of Illinois roads open to traffic during the winter is no small chore.

The State Highway Division mobilized 2,000 maintenance men and a fleet of 1,850 mechanized vehicles to do battle with winter.

Workers installed 300 miles of snow fence and stockpiled 300,000 cubic yards of sand and cinders 1,000 tons of calcium chloride and 10,000 tons of salt at strategic spots.

The highway division estimates it spends more than $1,500,000 a year to keep roads passable during the winter.

Deep Plowing No Help for Alfalfa, Corn, Oats

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—An agronomist at the University of Nebraska said studies show it doesn't help alfalfa to plow deeper than normal, nor does such a maneuver aid growth of corn and oats.

The agronomist, Dr. M. D. Weldon, said the studies covered a five-year period and included ordinary plowing at a depth of six inches, and plowing to a depth of 12 inches.

Briton Who Made Man Out of Monkey Rates as the World's Greatest Hoaxer

LONDON (NEA)—Next to the crown jewels, the Magna Carta and a few other knick-knacks, a thick, grayish-yellow skull known as the Piltdown Man was until recently regarded as Britain's most priceless treasure.

Discovered in 1912, it was supposed to be the skull of "the earliest Englishman," a beetle-browed chap with a murderous jaw who roamed the forests of Sussex 500,000 years ago.

So valuable was the Piltdown skull that it was kept locked up in a special safe in the British Museum of Natural History — which was a mistake.

For had the scientists been able to get at him, they might have detected years ago that Piltdown Man was a two-bit phony.

As it was, it took them 40 years to discover that the Piltdown skull was in reality, a not-so-old human cranium matched up with the jawbone of a young champanzee.

Still no one suspected Charles Dawson, the man who discovered the Piltdown skull, as the hoaxer. Dawson, who died in 1916, was a highly respected lawyer in Uckfield, Sussex, who dabbled in fossils as a hobby.

Today, mention the name Dawson to a nervous museum curator and he will drop a trayful of pterodactyf eggs. For "Piltdown Charlie," as he now is known, stands revealed as the greatest faker of all times.

Charlie wasn't content with just one masterpiece — Piltdown Man. He doctored up the fossil remains of elephants from Tunisia, hippopotamus bones from Malta, and planted them in the gravel pits of Piltdown, where they could be "discovered" easily by himself and other eminent scientists.

He also "seeded" the gravel pits with flint instruments some of which he made himself, some of which he bought from "Flint Jack," a character who made them to order.

The demand for Charlie's phony artifacts was exceeded only by the credulity of British scientists.

In 1938 they erected a monument to Dawson, "the amateur to whom professional men of science take off their hats."

But the British Museum of Natural History wasn't the only one on Charlie's sucker-list. In Hastings, the Dawson collection of fossils and flints, which the Hastings Museum bought from his widow, has been curtained off from public view. Reason: Over half of them are fakes.

There is the Roman statuette that Charlie claimed was "the oldest example of cast-iron in Europe," but experts now say that it's worthless junk.

Then there's the Water Bailiff's Tipstaff. The Prince of Wales was given a replica of this same tipstaff when he visited Hastings in 1927. Now, it turns out that Charlie bought it in a pawn shop.

When he wasn't busy faking fossils, Charlie tried his hand at a bit of literary forgery.

The Piltdown gravel pits themselves became a sort of national shrine, with pilgrims from all parts of the world gazing down into the glassed-over trenches from which Eoantropus Dawsoni, or or "Dawson's Dawn Man," had been dug.

Charlie was preparing to unload more happiness onto the world when death overtook him. During his last illness he was investigating a development of incipient horns in a cart-horse.

Putting horns on a horse would have been child's play for the hoaxer who made a man out of a monkey.

Bagpiper Marches GI Buddies to Class

FT. KNOX, Ky. (UP)—It's a long way from the hills of Scotland to Kentucky, but it would do any Scot's heart good to hear the skirling of the pipes as a unit of the Third Armored Division marches to class.

Pvt. Lowell Thomson, the Army's only semi-official bagpiper, has the job of piping his fellow GI's to class, assisted by a drummer. Thomson played with the Clan McNaughton band in his hometown of Rochester, N. Y. His buddies think his rendition of the division's marching song is real crazy.

Ax, Cow, Plow Create Desert From Rich Soil

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — A University of Wisconsin scientist says man's impact upon the world's natural plant life in most parts of the globe can be described in four words—"ax, cow, plow, desert."

John T. Curtis, professor of botany and a well-known ecologist, said this is "not entirely a pessimist's view of the world, but a nearly true reporting of Babylon, of Jerusalem, of Carthage, and of parts of China and the Orient."

He added that "it is too close to the truth for dangerously large areas in the United States."

Curtis said man tends to cut down the trees, domesticate animals which need grain which, in turn, converts the fertile soil into arid wasteland.

He said soil conservation in the future may "insure that the ax-cow-plow cycle does not go to completion" and create a desert.

Policemen Keep Up on Comic Reading

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UP)—Police in this western Massachusetts city make a habit of reading comic books.

Every day except Sunday an officer is detailed to visit the warehouse of the Holyoke News Co. to check on incoming comic books, pocket books and other literature available to teenagers. If the books do not meet the approval of the officer, they are not sent to local newsdealers.

The censorship started Aug. 9 with the full approval and cooperation of the news company's officials in an effort to find a way of halting distribution of crime and horror.

Jap Chief Uses U. S. Gift

TOKYO (AP)— Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama used a new collapsible wheel chair when he appeared in the Diet today. He said it was a gift of P. Deferrari, chairman of the U.S. Amateur Athletic Union's wrestling committee. The Prime Minister was crippled by a stroke several years ago.

City Manager, 80, Oldest in America

JASPER, Ala. (UP)— J. S. Freeman, 80, father of a retired admiral, is believed to be the nation's oldest active city manager.

Freeman, who has been a county commissioner, city commissioner and a mining company executive, became city manager here in 1953.

According to records of the International City Manager's Association, Freeman has the edge in age over all of his colleagues.

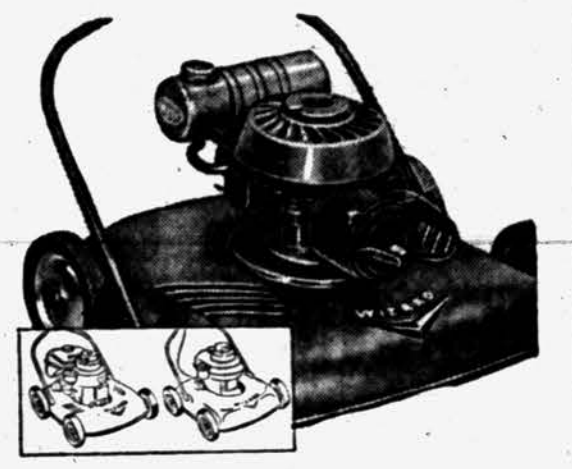

Freeman says he has no plans for retirement, but probably will stay on the job as long as the city commission will let him.

Italy Choosing New President

Parliament Beginning Close Battle to Select Ceremonial Leader

ROME (AP)—The divided Italian Parliament gathered today to elect the second President of Italy's young republic. A close, possibly lengthy, battle of votes was expected.

Two avowed candidates were in the ring for the largely ceremonial job.

* * *

Voting began without formal nominations from the floor. The senators and deputies filed one by one up to the ballot urn to drop in their secret choices. There was little expectation the first round would be decisive.

Premier Mario Scelba's powerful Christian Democratic party picked Cesare Merzagora last night as its choice to succeed 81-year-old Luigi Einaudi May 11 in the job paying $20,000 a year. Merzagora, 56, is the popular president of the Senate. A former banker, he is a political independent.

Italy's Communist party, largest outside the Iron Curtain, decided earlier to back Ferruccio Parri, land, Repuvhliqttttteshrdluemfwyfr 65. A non-Communist World War II partisan leader, Parri served briefly as premier in 1945. He has not been active in politics lately.

Bed Bugs Bring Family to Court Seeking $20,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bed bugs that allegedly came in a rented hospital bed and worked their way into a patient's leg cast are the subject of a $20,000 damage suit filed in Superior Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Cohen and their son Thomas brought the suit against Earl W. Wolverton, who rents beds, stretchers and other hospital equipment. They charge Wolverton failed to keep the bed he rented them for their invalid son in sanitary condition.

It was infested with bed bugs that overran clothing and bedding and even worked their way under the son's plaster leg cast and bit him, they said.

The Grocery Bag

Frying Chicken Best Buy as Picnic Time Arrives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frying chickens will offer outstanding value for shoppers in the nation's food stores this weekend.

After rising sharply at wholesale for the past several months, there was a definite downturn this week in the price of the birds and most retailers plan to make fryers their No. 1 feature. Prices will be down as much as six cents a pound from a week ago.

"Frying chicken prices are getting back to normal again," commented one meat specialist. "And they may go a little lower next week."

Looking ahead to May, the U.S. Department of Agriculture notes that supplies of broilers and fryers are expected to average two per cent larger than a year ago. The USDA remarks that fried chicken is a picnic favorite and that barbecued chickens are popular in early summer.

Shoppers will also find a broad selection of beef cuts among advertised specials for the weekend. Items mentioned by a number of markets include prime ribs, pot roast, rump roast, round steak and corned beef.

Legs of lamb will be featured in a number of markets, but in most sections of the country, prices will be unchanged from a week ago. In the pork line, there will be specials here and there on smoked hams and fresh picnics. Lower prices on veal shoulder roast and legs and rumps of veal were mentioned by a few stores.

Egg prices may be lower in your market. Reductions of two to four cents a dozen are being made in many areas.

Are you eating more shrimp these days? Someone is. The Shrimp Assn. of the Americas reports that during the first two months of this year, Americans consumed more than 21 million pounds of shrimp. In the same two months a year earlier, the figure was only 14 million pounds.

There's lots of variety on the vegetable counters. Onions are cheap, although quality is mostly ordinary to fair. An exception is the new crop Texas onion, which sells at a slightly higher price.

Spinach, cabbage and nearby greens such as radishes, kale, rhubarb and leeks offer good value, too. Produce men also favor escarole, endive, corn, asparagus, carrots, small and medium peppers, old crop potatoes, beets, celery, iceberg lettuce, cucumber, squash and beans. The quality of beans is improving.

The best buys in fruits are the old standbys—oranges, grapefruit and apples. Strawberries are a little lower than a week ago because supplies are increasing.

Do You Know When Kangaroo Has Little One?

BALTIMORE (AP)—How does one know when a lady kangaroo has had a baby?

That's the burning question at the Baltimore Zoo.

Director Arthur R. Watson says, "We're sure the baby is there." But the next minute he hedges: "At least, we think it is."

Watson and the keepers have noticed movement in the mother's pouch for several weeks. And once they thought they saw a tip of tail sticking out. But they can't be sure—the pouch movements might be the mother's nervous reflex twitches.

At birth, baby kangaroos are no bigger than a man's thumb. So until junior grows a few inches and gains enough strength to peek out at those trying to peek in, the secret belongs to Momma.

As for Watson and the rest—they're still hoping. There's never been a kangaroo birth in the history of the zoo.

His Sad, Sad Story Convinces Jurors

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Raymond Lawrence Fitzgerald, 26, pleaded guilty to burglarizing a bar he had been patronizing. But jurors suspended his five-year sentence after he convinced them that:

He was a childhood polio victim.

He later had tuberculosis and was released from a Denver hospital last year.

His wife is expecting a baby in July.

He will walk the straight and narrow in the future.

Fitzgerald admitted taking $95 and a box of cigars after forcing the front door of the bar.

Mothers Urged to Keep Eyes Open for Defective Hearing in Children

Editor's Note: National hearing week begins May 1. This first of a two-part series tells of a handicap under which at least three million American schoolchildren suffer—and how you can make sure that your child is not among them.

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—At least three million schoolchildren have impaired hearing.

The trouble with these statistics is that they tell us how many—but not whom. We don't always know if it's Johnny Jones or Mary Smith who needs help.

Why?

The American Hearing Society got the three million figure by applying the number of children with impaired hearing in certain tested areas to the total school population across the country.

* * *

If Johnny or Mary happen to live in one of the 24 states where hearing tests are not required by state law, their deficiency might go undetected indefinitely.

You'd be surprised how many youngsters are trying to live normal lives with a hearing impairment no one knows about or admits. They are often called inattentive, unmanageable, even stupid. Either they think they have normal hearing or they are too sensitive to tell anyone.

* * *

Billy was one of the latter. And his is a more or less typical case.

He was a shy, quiet child, of a large family. After scarlet fever at 3 he became even more reticent. Often he didn't respond to directions from his parents. His father thought he was disobedient and should be spanked.

"He's not a bad boy," his mother always would say. "It's just Billy's nature to be absentminded. Maybe he'll outgrow it."

The next time she told him to do something she almost shouted. Billy heard her and did the errand. So his mother concluded that if you just impress it on Billy, he'll do what you say.

* * *

When Billy started to school he didn't play much with the other children. Since he was a bright lad he managed to do passing work in his overcrowded class.

Once when he saw the teacher ask him a question he said timidly he hadn't heard her. She smiled at him reproachfully, said, "How could you, Billy? You weren't listening." After that he just shook his head that he didn't know the answer.

Billy lived in a state that left the problem of hearing tests up to the individual communities. When he was 9 his town's school board decided to institute audiometer tests.

* * *

He was found to have a serious hearing impairment, stemming from an infection that didn't clear up after scarlet fever. With a hearing aid, he is at last able to hear everything said to him. There is hope too that proper medical care will improve his natural hearing.

Not every case has such a happy ending. Even if there is a state law requiring testing, and even if it is properly enforced, treatment does not automatically follow.

"The weakest point at present is not in the testing program, but in the follow up," says Mrs. Eleanor Ronnei, head of the educational service of the New York League for the Hard of Hearing.

* * *

"You test, you put a card in the file, and you go somewhere else to test. But what happens after you leave? Do the parents and schools follow up what you've told them? That's the crux of the problem."

Even this may be too late to avoid permanent impairment, says Dr. Edmund Prince Fowler Sr.

"The mother is the logical person to notice impaired hearing," Fowler maintains. "And she should do it long before the child enters school. All she'd have to do is put him in the next room and speak to him and see if he acts like other children. Then she'd know. But some parents won't face it."

* * *

Dr. Fowler, a pioneer in hearing conservation, helped invent the audiometer more than 30 years ago. Here are some tests he suggests for mothers to use in simple home checks every few months:

1. Does your baby react to sudden noises like a telephone ringing, a door banging, loud clapping of hands, dogs barking? He should, with normal hearing.

2. Does your baby react if you suddenly come into his line of vision, as if he hasn't heard you enter the room? This would indicate impaired hearing.

3. Are there discharges or odors from your child's ear, or deformities or swellings in or about the external ear canal? These are danger signals.

4. If your child is old enough, does he respond to spoken directions while he is out of sight in another room? He should, if he can hear satisfactorily.

5. Is he learning to talk normally and is his voice natural? Children learn to talk from hearing others talk. If they can't hear properly, they obviously won't be able to talk properly either.

Not That Desperate

KENDALLVILLE, Ind. (UP) — City officials, tired of hearing complaints of motorists about no place to park, blocked off two lots and offered to rent spaces for $2.50 per month. There were no takers.

3 Small Boys Find Snake Pit in Heart of City

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — Three small boys, with the courage of big-game hunters, have found a veritable jungle in the heart of Winston-Salem.

From a vacant lot in just two days, the trio has brought back more than 50 wriggling reptiles alive.

Clay Victor, 8, Curtis Motsinger and Eddie Pennell, both 6, say they hope to sell their snakes, "if we get a chance."

They added, however, they had received no offers.

But until such offers come, they're making the most of their prizes. The snakes make them the envy of every boy in the neighborhood, and besides, one of the boys said, "You sure can make girls run."

Free Chinese 5th Column Recommended by Yoshida

TOKYO (AP)—Former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today recommended that the non-Communist world use 10 million Chinese outside Red China as a fifth column to detach Red China from Soviet Russia.

He called splitting the Communist bloc the best way to overcome the Communist threat in the Far East. It appears strong, he said, because of the long common frontier China and Russia share.

* * *

He said the overseas Chinese in Southeast Asia could be shown through freedom and world trade that communism does not pay and then they would become "an effective fifth column for the freedom and welfare of mankind by calling out to their compatriots at home.

"It would have great impact on the (mainland) Chinese people and contribute much toward detaching Communist China from the Soviet Union."

* * *

Yoshida's advice was in a text prepared for a speech to the Tokyo Foreign Correspondents Club.

He left that portion out of his talk, but told The Associated Press that was inadvertant and he stood by the text.

In the packed club dining room, he said communism threatens all Asia and criticized as extremely dangerous the present Japanese government's policy of trying to deal with the Reds.

* * *

At the same time he said he did not believe the Soviet Russia-Red China bloc was as strong as "some fearful-minded persons in the free world believe."

"If Soviet Russia and Communist China were truly that strong," he said, "they would attack the United States, which is the mainstay of the free world."

Tot Loves His Cigars

BETHALTO, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Earl C. Welton admits she made a mistake in teaching her son Gene to smoke more than a year ago "as a stunt." She says Gene, now 3½, "spends one dollar a week for cigars. He would rather have them than candy. He stands and bawls until I get him one. That's how much he likes them." She said the family doctor told her the smoking wouldn't hurt the boy.

Primary colors used in color television are red, blue and green, rather than the conventional red, blue and yellow. The combination is used to reproduce white in proper balance.

Hong Kong Has Industrial Boom

Registered Firms Rise 40 Per Cent Over 1950 and Employes Double

HONG KONG (UP) — The number of persons in this refugee-jammed British colony who are employed by local industries has more than doubled since 1950.

A government survey said the sharp jump was due to a 40 per cent increase in the number of registered industrial firms.

Exports of locally made goods, for instance, account for some 30 per cent of the colony's trade, compared to 1 per cent before World War II.

The magazine, Far Eastern Economic Review, in commenting on the government statistics, said:

"About 92,000 persons were employed by 1,752 factories and workshops at the end of 1950, and these figures increased to 111,879 workers and 2,418 establishments by the end of September 1954. Besides, there were about 100,000 persons engaged in unregistered workshops.

"New industrial developments during 1954 included the establishment of a large flour mill and the manufacture of aluminum hand torch cases by the cold extrusion process," the Review said, adding:

"At the recent exhibition of Hong Kong products, more than 50 kinds of new and improved products of 46 factories were displayed. The most notable ones were electric clocks, biscuit-making machine, refractory blocks, air conditioning equipment, steel wire ropes, waterproof watch cases, sales, detergents, 'stretch' type nylon socks and shirts.

"The outlook for Hong Kong industries is reasonably bright. So far there has been not too much difficulty in getting raw materials.

"As a free port, no customs duty is paid in Hong Kong on imported raw materials or the export of industrial products. Besdies, the rate of income tax levied in Hong Kong is much lower than in Britain, the United States and Japan. In other words, manufacturing costs are lower than in many countries.

"Wage rates for employes in Hong Kong are much lower than those prevailing in Europe and America and not higher than those in Japan and Southeast Asia.

"On the whole, the machinery and equipment of Hong Kong factories are more advanced than those of factories in Indonesia, Burma and Thailand."

Frenchman Raps Soviet Champagne

RHEIMS, France (UP) — Henri Germain, president of the Rheims football team, returned from matches in Russia to report that the Soviets are now making their own champagne. The call it cobetckoe Illamilahckoe, but Germain called it "Horrible!—A very poor quality of sparkling wine."

French law states that the only wine that can be called "champagne" must come from grapes grown in the Champagne district of France and must be made from these grapes in a very specific way.

According to Germain, the Russians like their wine sweet and have loaded their "champagne" with from five to 10 per cent of sweep syrup. This news was enough to cause the authorities in this champagne capital of the world to shutter with horror. The French, and most American connoisseurs, feel champagne is best when "brut," or very dry.

Antioch Offering Job Experience to Teaching Staff

YELOW SPRINGS, Ohio (UP)—For 33 years Antioch College students have combined job experience off-campus with study on-campus. Next autumn the school will begin a "job experience" program for its faculty members. The program will make it possible for each faculty member to be off-campus once every six years. College president Samuel B. Gould said he had already discussed the plan with a number of business leaders and reported he found them enthusiastic about the idea.

"Sabbatical years and leaves of absence for research should always be a privilege of the teacher," commented Gould, "but how frequently has he been similarly encouraged to leave the campus for a period of time to make himself a part of the practical society for which he is training his students?"

Blackout for Traditional Black

Colorful Parade of Cars Brighten Highways

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (UP) — Thousands of colors and color combinations marking 1955 model automobiles are pushing old-time solid black exteriors almost off the road.

Recently a small city in the Detroit metropolitan area advertised for bids on a new police car. Cream finish was specified.

"Black," said a city official, "has become conspicuous."

Black isn't necessarily the badge of an old car. But it is being used on a steadily dwindling percentage of today's new cars. Most recent surveys indicate perhaps 10 per cent of 1955 cars are painted black.

And even this percentage isn't as black as it used to be. More glass and chrome are being used where paint once was applied.

In the auto industry's early days no color other than black was thought about in the paint shops. Then came a few gray, green and blue finishes. Of course there were some experimental two-tone finishes as much as 25 and 30 years ago, but they were exceptional and produced only on special order.

Today two-color finishes account for about 80 per cent of all the cars built. Fifteen years ago more than half of all the cars built were black.

* * *

Whether the great variety of colors and color combinations have added anything to retail sales volume is a debatable question. Certainly every car maker is conjuring up new hues. Few, if any, of the car designers look upon the color splurge as a passing fancy.

Most designers and sales executives say there will be even more color combinations in 1956. The sales chiefs say any producer who believes otherwise will be risking a sales slump.

The color combinations, of course, have been carried into the car interiors. Interiors once were drab affairs. Now they are designed to harmonize with exteriors. Colored leather, plastic, combinations of plastic and fabric and numerous other materials have replaced the time-honored mohair upholstery.

For the automobile retailers and their service departments the demand for bright hues and varying combinations has brought a lot of headaches. The car dealers find difficulty providing exactly the color combination desired. The service departments have to stock huge quantities of different colors for repair work or the emergency refinishing of a new car that doesn't quite meet the buyer's wishes.

Several leading car makers advertise as many as 60 single colors and two and three times that many combinations. And these are what might be called "stock" colors. Many other combinations are possible.

Added to the "stock" hues and totaled up for the entire industry the number of possible combinations runs into almost astronomical figures.

Almost as bewildering as the variety of colors introduced by the car makers in the last five years are the names given them. One maker has a Sierra rust combined with San Pedro grey; another has Caspian cream that combines attractively with Juneau grey. Other colors are called Sarasota sand, cypress brown, Pompano peach and equally fanciful names.

And for those who really fancy colors, tinted tires now are on the market. United States Rubber Co., which announced them in three shades a few weeks ago — at premium prices—reports the demand is greater than the supply.

General's Log Birthplace Is Doomed in Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (UP)—The log cabin birthplace of Gen. William Rugus Shafter, commander of the United States forces in Cuba in the Spanish American War, is going to be torn down.

A special committee of the county Board of Supervisors decided the building is a "disgrace to the general in its present condition."

The committee said the cost of restoring the pioneer monument would be excessive.

Sen. Humphrey Slated for Address at MSC

EAST LANSING (UP)—Sen. Hubert M. Humphrey (D-Minn) will be a featured speaker at a centennial symposium on "freedom and security" May 2-3 at Michigan State College.

James W. Miller, state controller; David Fellman, professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin; Bruce Smith, director of the Institute of Public Administration, New York City, and Wilbur I. Newstetter, dean of the School of Social Work at the University of Pittsburgh, are scheduled as other speakers.

He Knows a Bargain Even When He's Drunk

HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP)—A loud clattering awoke Walter Good at 1:30 a. m. He went to the front door and found a half-tipsy man standing on the front porch.

"I'll take it," the stranger said.

"Take what?" Good asked.

"That car out front."

Good had picked up a card as he left his store to put against his windshield to keep it from frosting over.

The card read, "Special — 98 cents."

Simply beautiful... beautifully simple!

Chevrolet's modern beauty, like that of modern architecture, springs from clean, uncluttered design

Fortunately, good taste is not shackled to price, and no car in America . . . not even the most costly . . . can surpass the sculptured elegance of Chevrolet's lines. They have the classic purity that is the mark of all superb design—and the secret of its lasting appeal.

The crisp simplicity of the grille, for example, says tomorrow, unmistakably. And, when tomorrow comes, today's Chevrolet still will warm its owner's heart with pride. It will not be outdated by exaggerated "massiveness" or bolted-on decoration—and that is a dividend only truly modern design can pay!

Nor is styling all . . . it is merely a clue to the radical advances made in every single phase of performance, roadability and handling ease. We have said that the new Chevrolet is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars . . . and we would be deeply pleased to show you, on the road, exactly what that means. Why don't you call us, soon, and set a date for a demonstration?

Bengals Blast Orioles, Now Flirt With 1st Place

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers—those springtime dandies—were only a half game out of 1st place as they prepared to meet the Washington Senators tonight in the 1st after-dark game of the season in Briggs Stadium.

But 1st place wasn't the only goal of these April hotshots. Tigers were seeking their 5th straight victory—which would be their longest winning streak since some time before the 1952 season.

Record books are misty on such accomplishments, but it's definitely known that the Tigers haven't won more than four in a row in the last four seasons.

Last year they captured four in a row on one occasion and did it four times in 1953. They put together four straight wins twice during the dismal last-place finish of 1953, when they only won 50 games all year.

Tigers tied their "modern" streak yesterday, thumping the Baltimore Orioles, 11-3, for their 4th straight as catcher Frank House provided the big punch with a bases-loaded home run in the 3rd inning.

Now the job of winning No. 5—and possibly 1st place—is placed in the erratic left hand of Billy Hoeft, who pitched a dazzling three-hitter in his last start.

Manager Chuck Dressen of the Senators has named Dean Stone, a young Tiger killer, to oppose Hoeft. Last season Stone whipped the Tigers four times without losing.

But that was last season. This time Stone will be facing the new, frisky Tigers—a team which has won seven of its 1st 12 games and is pressing the big guys like Cleveland, New York and Chicago for the league lead.

* * *

The fact that the Tigers are in 4th place is of little consequence. If both New York and Chicago lose tonight, and the Tigers win, Detroit will find itself in a 1st-place tie with Celveland.

A little confusing? Maybe. But the Tigers aren't worrying about it. They've got four in a row and are eager to make it five.

No. 4 came with rather ridiculous ease. House lined his bases-loaded home run to cap a six-run outburst in the 3rd inning, and that was that as far as the Orioles were concerned. It was their 11th loss against three wins and secured their position at the bottom of the American League.

Steve Gromek went all the way and gave up nine hits—most of them well-scattered until the 9th inning — to record his 3rd win against one loss. Gromek, obviously tiring, gave up two runs in the 9th but choked off a bases-loaded situation by fanning a batter by the name of Jim Pyburn and getting the veteran Billy Cox to slap into a game-ending force out.

Baltimore pitchers generously walked three runs and Jim Delsing, Tiger leftfielder, closed out the field day by rapping a two-run single in the 8th.

Aggies Back in Drake Relays

DES MOINES (AP) — The annual Drake Relays open their 46th run tomorrow and a wholesale revision of records is anticipated if the weather is good.

Shooting for new marks will be a field of 2,024 athletes in the university, college and high school divisions. There will be representatives from 28 universities, including all Big Ten Conference schools for the first time 1950, and 44 colleges.

Among the universities will be Oklahoma A&M, resuming its appearances at the relays following a mutual agreement with Drake not to compete with each other on the athletic field as a result of the Johnny Bright football incident in 1951.

The Aggies are likely to make a glittering return. They have fleet quartets entered in seven relays and are listed as probable record smashers in three—the mile, four-mile and sprint medley.

Drake dopesters also peg Oklahoma A&M with the "possibility" of new records in the 880-yard and the two-mile relays.

Over-all they are talking about eight "probable" records. In addition to the three in which the Aggies are favored, the events are:

Mile run—Wes Santee of Kansas, American record-holder at 4:00.5, appears certain to go under the Drake mark of 4:14.5 and there's always the chance Wes may get the 4-minute mile he has been after.

Shot put—Tom Jones of Miami, Ohio, who set the Drake mark of 55 feet, 10½ inches last year, will be back. His chief challengers are listed as Bill Nieder of Kansas and Don Vick of UCLA.

Javelin throw—Les Bitner of Kansas, Joe May of Louisiana State and Don Sneegas of Kansas rated in that order.

College 440-yard relay—Abilene Christian, anchored by Bobby Morrow, a freshman flash, top favorite with North Texas State a strong challenger.

College sprint medley — North Texas State and Emporia, Kan., State Teachers.

The Friday program will have seven finals and eight preliminaries in the university and college classes.

But Ex-Champ Won't Quit

Unrated John Holman Upsets Ez Charles on Technical Knockout at Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—They call the Miami Beach Auditorium "Upset Arena" because so many well-known fighters are beaten there. One of the most popular victims is Ezzard Charles.

Last night, an unrated, 27-year-old Negro from Chicago, John Holman, launched a thunderous surprise attack in the ninth round to stop Charles, a 4-1 favorite, on a technical knockout.

"I've got no excuse," Charles said later. "I really blew that one. He was a hard hitter and he wore me down."

It was the second bitter upset for Charles in Miami Beach. Two years ago, in the same auditorium, he was outpointed by Nino Valdes, an unknown Cuban underdog who went on from there to become the top contender for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown.

"This won't stop me," said Charles, who still has hopes of winning a third shot at Marciano's title. "I'll keep right on fighting."

Holman dropped Charles in the first round with a right behind the left ear but the 33-year-old former champion was up at the count of three and immediately took command of the fight.

* * *

Charles hurt Holman with a consistent body attack and was leading on all cards when the fight went into the ninth round. Then a sudden left-right-left barrage by Holman staggered Charles and another left flattened him for a count of nine.

Referee Eddie Coachman stopped the fight at 2:48 of the ninth after Holman had nailed Charles with three straight solid rights to the head and seemed on the verge of putting the ex-champ down for good.

* * *

It was the 16th knockout for Holman in 37 fights and his third straight victory this year. The glass-jawed Chicagoan' last loss was to Bob Satterfield, who knocked him out in the first round.

A crowd of 3,136 paid a gross gate of $9,042 to see Holman upset Charles. The fight was televised nationally (CBS). Holman weighed 203¾, Charles 193½.

Army Honors Lt. Shea

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lt. Richard (Dick) Shea Jr, who won the IC4-A cross-country championship three straight years while at West Point, today was awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously by the Army.

Shea, 26, was killed on July 8, 1953 in the last weeks of the fighting in Korea.

South and Midwest Battle for Dixie's Amateur Title

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — The North and South Amateur golf tournament was scaled down to a South vs. Midwest struggle today as the quarter-finals shaped up like this: Dave Smith, Gasonia, N.C., vs. Dale Morey, Indianapolis; Don Bisplinghoff, Orlando, Fla., vs. Glenn Johnson, Grosse Ile, Mich.; Bill Campbell, Huntington, W.Va., vs. Alex Welsh, Rockford, Ill.; Ed Gravely, Rocky Mount, N.C., vs. Ed Meister, Willoughby, Ohio.

Winners today will move into 18-hole semifinals tomorrow over the 7,000-yard layout of the No. 2 course of the country club.

Medalist Smith squeezed his 240 pounds past Harry Welch, Salisbury, N.C., 1-up, in a second round match yesterday in a rather unimpressive performance that saw him four over par.

He also put out stylish Bill Yyndman of Abington, Pa., 4 and 2.

Walker cupper Morey didn't have to extend himself, winning two matches in which he never trailed. He put out Howard Everitt, Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., 4 and 3 and Maj. T. F. Gallagher, Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., 6 and 5.

Bisplinghoff moved into the title picture with a 5 and 4 lacing of Frank Strafaci, Mineola, N.Y.

Walker Cup captain Bill Campbell slowly returning to form after a December accident in which his hands were badly burned, had his uncertain moments and found par elusive, but advanced with a 3 and 2 victory over George Mountcastle, Winston-Salem, N.C., and a 4 and 2 decision over Jim Pilz, Dearborn, Mich.

The tournament marked another in a seies of disappointments here stretching back more than 25 years for Pinehurst's Dick Chapman. The former U.S., British and Canadian Amateur champion ran afoul of Ed Gravely and went down, 4 and 3.

Corey Sparkles in UM Backfield

Scores 2 Touchdowns in Scrimmage; Meads Doing Well at Tackle

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Observers agreed today that right halfback George Corey, Baden, Pa., senior, has been the outstanding backfield performer in the University of Michigan's spring football drills.

Corey, who weighs in at 175 pounds, scored two touchdowns yesterday in another game-condition scrimmage ordered by head coach Bennie Oosterbaan. The pair of touchdowns were the 3rd and 4th for Corey in the past two practice sessions.

Wolverine captain G. Edgar Meads, Oxford, Mich., senior, appeared certain to be in the Michigan starting lineup next season as a tackle. Meads, who held down a guard spot last season, worked out at tackle again yesterday and impressed Oosterbaan with his line play at the new position.

Maple Golfers in Record Win

Palying over North Hills tricky layout Wednesday afternoon Birmingham High School's golfers hung up a new school record for 4-man teams with a fine 308 total. Mt. Clemens was loser in this 1st EML contest, on a 343 total.

Medalist Tim Baldwin set the pace with 75, followed by Mike Conroy (son of North Hills pro, Leo Conroy) with 76, Sandy Siegel, 77, and Bob Goldsmith, 80.

Ray Puffpaff led the Bathers with a good 76.

Joe Borovick, Maples' coach, is starting his 2nd year as links mentor for Birmingham.

Golfing Clinic Starts at PHS

First of four golf clinics was held at Pontiac High School last night under the guidance of John Maturo, and Dean Wilson, golf coach at the high school. Between 25 and 30 persons signed up for the classes to be given the next three Wednesday nights, but unsigned persons still interested can enroll by reporting at PHS next week. Sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, the clinic will end May 18.

Islanders Seek Woodchucks to Dig Bunny Holes

BEAVER ISLAND (AP) — Beaver Islanders have asked the state to provide emergency housing for cottontail rabbits.

The rabbits (there are only a few of them) don't have enough rabbit holes to go around.

To ease the shortage of both rabbits and holes, the Beaver Island Game Club has asked the State Conservation Department to export woodchucks to the island.

Rabbits, in case you didn't know, don't dig their own holes. They live in borrowed holes, which woodchucks are very adept at digging.

Island sportsmen have been trying to increase the cottontail population for a long time now.

Musial Hitting Only .227 but He, Stanky Unworried

NEW YORK (AP)—There are at least two people who aren't worried about Stan (The Man) Musial's slow start in the National League batting race.

Those two are Eddie Stanky, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Musial himself.

Stan, who owns a .344 lifetime batting mark with the Cards, said today he never was a good hitter in the spring with the exception of last season. He's hitting only .227 with 10 hits in 44 trips to the plate.

Musial said rainy weather coupled with postponements isn't conducive to good timing at the plate but pointed out:

"I'm a straight-away hitter and I'll be back in stride before this trip is over."

Since the season opened the Cards have played only 10 games. They've had four open dates and three games rained out. Their next home game is May 6.

"The players would rather play every day at this stage of the season," the six-time National League batting champion said. "They'll look forward to a day of rest later on, but right now they want that every day action."

Stanky, who knows all about Musial's work at the plate, commented:

"I wish my only concern was Musial's batting. I'm not worried about it at all."

Eaglets Score Heavy Victory in 3-Way Meet

St. Mary Athletes Set Up 100½ Point Total; Lose on Links

Orchard Lake St. Mary was an impressive, lop-sided winner Wednesday afternoon in a quadrangular track meet at the University of Detroit track.

St. Mary's tallied 100½ points in the meet to be far in front of runnerup Redford St. Mary and 3rd place Cathedral Central, who scored 40 and 38½ points respectively. Shrine, the 4th member of the meet was blanked.

Stan Majewski was a triple-winner to lead the Eaglets. He triumphed in the 120-yard high hurdles, the 180-yard lows, and the broad jump.

Next honor went to Dan Lazowski, who won the high jump and tied for 1st in the pole vault. Versatile Gerry Leszcznyski was below hi.. usual form this meet, but won the 440-yard dash. St. Mary's took seven firsts.

In golf, Eaglets were defeated by Grosse Pointe St. Paul in a close one, 215-217, over the layout at River Rouge. St. Paul held a two-stroke edge in medal play and a three-stroke lead, 38-41, in best-ball play. St. Paul's Joe Brisson was medalist with a 40.

OCSC Hears Trout Expert

An excellent crowd attended Wednesday night's meeting of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club to hear Dr. Justin Leonard, generally accepted as Michigan's greatest trout authority, talk on "How to get more fun out of fishing."

Dr. Leonard, research chief for the state conservation department, showed the audience colored slides taken by himself at various trout streams throughout the state. He illustrated to the audience the many ways that they can enjoy their fishing trips.

After Dr. Leonard's illustrated talk, a question-and-answer session was held. Many questions were asked concerning fishing and stream conditions.

SAN FRANCISCO—Joe Perry of the 49ers carried 173 times for 1,049 yards in the 1954 season to lead the National Football League in rushing. His average was 6.1 yards for each carry attempt.

Snead Favorite as Play Starts in Vegas Event

Slammer Missed in 1st Two Tourneys, but Is Still Favored

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Easy swinging Sam Snead and 20 other topflight professional golfers tee off today in the first round of the $37,500 Tournament of Champions.

This is the third edition in Las Vegas' annual splurge into the major league of golf, and as in the past, it's a wide open affair.

* * *

The field is limited to winners of at least one major PGA tournament in the past year, and leading the troupe off the first tee at 1 p.m. (PDT) is the 1954 Las Vegas winner, Art Wall Jr., and former National Open champion Julius Boros.

* * *

Snead, the favored but unsuccessful threat in the first two tournaments, once again was a top challenger to win the $10,000 first money. But as usual, the opposition is tough.

Play is at the Desert Inn Country Club, stretched out to 7,102 yards with par 36-36—72.

"It plays tougher than it did a year ago."

So commented an expert on any kind of course, U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol.

Furgol's National Open victory qualified him for this event, and last year his win in the Phoenix Open, in play-off with Cary Middlecoff, qualified him for Las Vegas.

* * *

Middlecoff, the 1955 Masters champion, is, of course, a solid favorite. He finished fourth, with 285, last year, and the year before third with 285.

* * *

The current field is loaded with talent. In addition to such players as Middlecoff, Furgol, Wall and Snead, the list includes the PGA champion, Chick Harbert; 1954's leading money winner, Bob Toski; and former National Open king Lloyd Mangrum, as well as Boros.

Host pro Howard Capps is responsible for making the course harder than before. Dog-legs were fashioned into two holes, no less than 55 new palm trees were planted around the course and the rough is rougher than ever.

No contestant will starve out the week, however. Each is guaranteed at least consolation prizes of $1,000.

RIDE IN ENCLOSED COCKPIT—Jack Beckley, a Los Angeles mechanic-engineer, stands beside the enclosed-cockpit racer he helped build for the Memorial Day 500-Mile race at Indianapolis. The car was built by Kurtis-Kraft for Sandy Belond, who has signed veteran driver Jim Rathman as his driver. The cockpit is completely encased, giving the driver relief from engine heat and air turbulence. Two-way radio provides communication between driver and pit crew. The engine exhaust is enclosed inside the fenders.

Oxford, Rochester Score Triangular Track Wins; Maples Rout EML Rivals; Keego, Troy Teams Bow

They broke up the Tri-County league a year too soon for the track teams at Oxford and Rochester.

* * *

Romeo dominated Tri-C track before the league's break-up last year. From the results of a pair of triangular meets Wednesday, either Oxford or Rochester — or both — would have the stuff to dethrone the Bulldogs, if there were a league meet.

Oxford scored 75 1-3 to 50 1-3 for Lapeer and 11 1-3 for Holly. Lapeer's outstanding young Tom Wilson took 3 firsts (broad jump, high jump and high hurdles), but Oxford had too much overall strength.

Mike Benedict, a four-sport star, won the low hurdles and added 2 seconds.

At Romeo, Rochester ran up 54¾ points to Lake Orion's 47½, and Romeo's 34⅝. The Falcons took 4 firsts and tied for tops in 3 other events. Best individual performance was the 22.7 turned in by Romeo's Curt Moore in the 220-yard dash.

Birmingham's potent Maples scored a surprisingly easy 77½ to 31½ victory over Mt. Clemens, despite 3 firsts by the Bathers' Bill Thomas. He won the broad jump, 100-yard dash and 115-yard low hurdles, tying the Pierce Field record in the latter event in 13 seconds.

Mal Malzahn took 3 events to pace Utica to a victory at Fitzgerald. The Chieftains tallied 56 points, Warren 42, Fitzgerald 38. Lutheran took 1st and 4th in the broad jump, the meet's final event, to edge Clarenceville and West Bloomfield. The Detroiters scored 48 9-10, Clarenceville, 46 1-5, and Keego, 43 9-10.

Center Line defeated Troy, 62-47, taking 9 firsts. Floyd Bailey won the 440 and tied for first in the pole vault in the Colts' losing cause.

In a triangular at Imlay City, Millington took 6 firsts and 7 seconds for 64 points to Imlay City's 40 and 33 for Ortonville.

* * *

Leon Gibbard of Imlay won the high jump and broad jump, while Charles Suchy of Ortonville swept the dashes.

Chisox Take 1st, Tribe Wins in 17 Innings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It may be those Kansas City steaks, but the Athletics are sprouting biceps and a home run punch. Trouble is, they were better off as puny singles hitters back in Philadelphia.

The A's have swatted 17 home runs so far, yet have won only 5 of 12 games. A year ago, with a mere four homers, they were 7-5. And in '53, with nine home runs, they also were 7-5.

The A's have a three-game winning streak going now, of course, and may be set to pad it. But the 1954 crew had won three straight after their 12th game too.

* * *

Bill Renna, Gus Zernial and Bill Wilson connected for homers yesterday as the A's, with a dandy three-hit performance by sore-arm Cloyd Boyer, knocked off the Boston Red Sox 6-2. That left the A's, despite their 5-7 mark, in a tie for sixth place with Washington, just 2½ games behind the White Sox in a surprisingly tight AL race.

Chicago took first by clubbing the New York Yankees 13-4. The Yanks slipped to a second-place tie with Cleveland—only 21 percentage points back—as the Indians beat Washington 6-5 in 17 innings. Detroit replaced Boston in fourth place by beating Baltimore 11-3.

* * *

In the National, Brooklyn beat Cincinnati 7-2 last night to stay three games up on Milwaukee. The Braves whipped the New York Giants 9-6 in a day game. Pittsburgh slipped out of the cellar as the Redegs fell in, beating Chicago 4-1.

Boyer, a St. Louis Cardinals castoff and brother of Redbird rookie Ken Boyer, was troubled only by his own wildness and Faye Throneberry's home run as he beat the saging Red Sox. He walked the bases full in the fifth after Norb Zauchin's leadoff double, and Billy Goodman's sacrifice fly scored the other Boston run.

The White Sox got four-hit relief work from Billy Pierce over 6 2-3 innings after Virgil Trucks' departure. Pierce won it, with Walt Dropo hammering home three runs with fourth and fifth-inning homers. Sherm Lollar homered for two as the Sox routed Whitey Ford with five runs in the first.

The Yanks also lost hard-hitting Bill Skowron for an indefinite time when he pulled a leg muscle running out a triple. The young first baseman leads the AL with a .451 average.

Cleveland didn't shake off Washington until Bobby Avila lifted a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and one out in the 17th inning. Both clubs used four hurlers. Chuck Stobbs lost it and Art Houtteman won it. Mickey Vernon batted in four of the Nats' runs with a three-run homer off starter Early Wynn in the third and a single that tied it in the seventh.

Pitching was the big thing in the National League games. Bob Purkey gave up just four hits as Pittsburgh snapped a three-game Chicago winning streak.

At the Polo Grounds, big Gene Conley held the Giants to two hits for eight innings and had a 9-1 lead that withstood a five-run New York rally in the ninth. Five Milwaukee runs chased starter Ruben Gomez in the second and Hank Aaron, Bobby Thomson and Danny O'Connell followed it up with home runs. Willie Mays homered for New York in the second and Hank Thompson capped the too-late, too-little heroics with a three-run pinch homer.

Majors Showing Interest in Three Oaks Southpaw

THREE OAKS (UP)—Some people in this southwestern Michigan community are saying George Tessman is a second Hal Newhouser.

Although he's only a junior in high school, three major league clubs—the Detroit Tigers, Milwaukee Braves and Chicago White Sox—are keeping a close eye on him.

In the last three years, he has won 45 games and lost only four and his victory string now stands at 31 straight, including two no-hitters. He hasn't lost a game since he was a freshman.

Tessman will go after his 32nd straight win tomorrow when Three Oaks, a class C school, meets Niles, a class A team, at Niles.

Zigmont (Ziggy) Belzowski, who has coached Tessman since he entered high school in 1952, said a scout from the Milwaukee Braves plans to watch Tessman in action against Niles.

More than half of Tessman's victories have been shutouts, Belzowski said.

Belzowski, who will leave Three Oaks after this year to become coach at Lakeville School (Oakland County) near Lapeer, said he has urged Tessman to wait until after college to think about playing pro ball.

*

Although Tessman lives only a few miles from the campus of Notre Dame university at South Bend, Ind., he seems to prefer the University of Detroit, Belzowski said, and will go to U. of D. May 7 with Belzowski and a Three Oaks senior to meet officials in the athletic department. Belzowski said Detroit Tiger officials also may look over Tessman during his visit to the Motor City.

Junior Circuit Shows 50 Per Cent Increase in 4-Baggers

NEW YORK (AP)—Is the American League out to regain its reputation as the "home run league?"

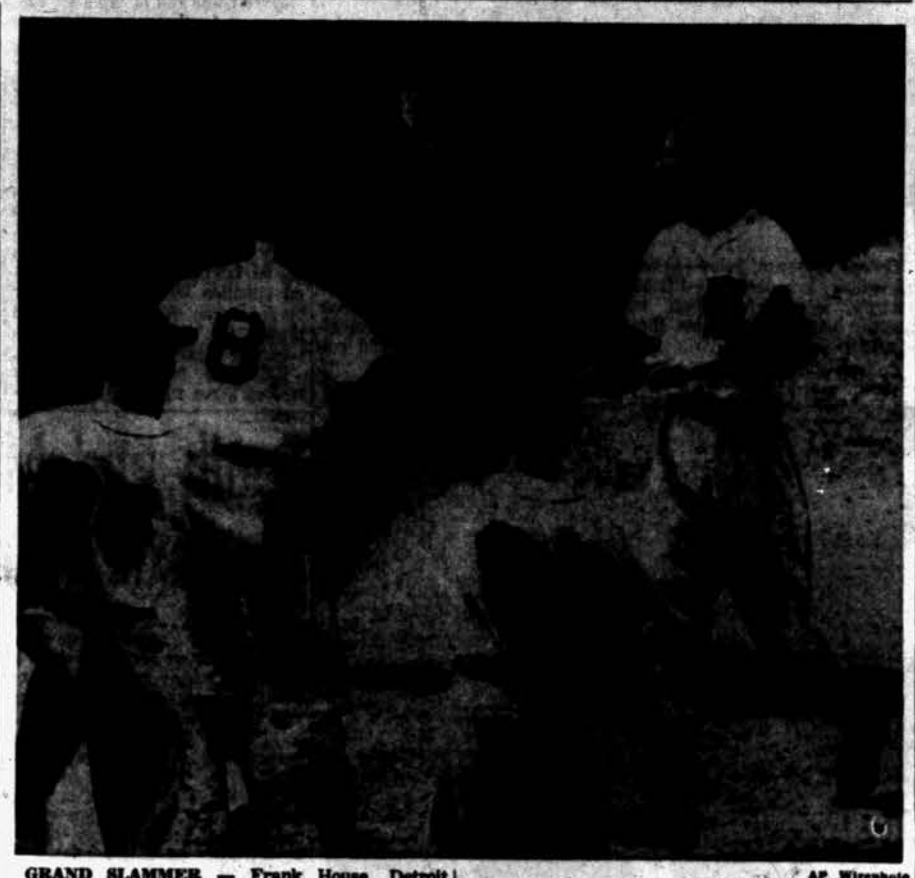

For almost two decades, the American League was recognized as the sluggers' circuit, but starting with 1947 the National League took over, reaching the heights last season with almost 300 more homers than its rival league—1,114 to 823.

But today, both leagues were tied with 105 homers apiece and the American showed better than a 50 per cent increase over last year. The National was down 6 per cent.

Every American League club except Washington shows an increase over its 1954 totals.

Only the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies are ahead of last year's pace in the National League.

The Giants are five ahead (16-11) the Phillies four (10-6) and the Dodgers two (22-20). The Dodgers are the National League club leaders while Chicago and Kansas City are tied in the American with 17 each.

GRAND SLAMMER — Frank House, Detroit catcher, is greeted at home plate by Jimmy Delsing (24), Ray Boone (8) and Bill Tuttle (5), as he scores his grand slam home run which paced the Tigers' to an 11-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles at Briggs Stadium Wednesday. Eaddy Is Hitting .677 for Start of Big Ten Season

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's baseball team is riding a string of three straight victories after the opening weekend of the Big Ten season.

Tied with Minnesota for the league lead, Wolverines have counted heavily on their pitching and the bat of 3rd baseman Don Eaddy.

In his final year in a Michigan uniform, Eaddy is leading the league's regular batters with a .677 average. He has one double, one home run and four stolen bases.

If Eaddy holds up, and the Michigan pitching, which rests precariously on four sophomore pitchers, doesn't fail, the Wolverines could take another crack at the NCAA and Big Ten titles.

As a team, Michigan is batting .348. Below Michigan State's .417. But State, the defending conference champion, is having serious pitching troubles.

Michigan has had good service from southpaw Marv Wisniewski, a senior, and four sophomore hurlers: Don Poloskey, Glen Girardin, Bill Thurston and Jim Clark.

As sophomores, they've all turned in creditable performances against league batters, but only Thurston and Giradin have scored victories.

Wolverines play non-conference Notre Dame today, and return to the conference schedule against Illinois Friday, and a doubleheader with Purdue Saturday. All four games are away.

2 Bowling Teams Get Matched Games

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Two rival bowling teams came up with a kegling oddity that will be hard to match.

Competing in a regular league match, five-man teams representing the Lebers and the Industrials rolled an identical 849 total. One man on each team committed a foul while making a strike.

The rivals thought that was quite an oddity until they finished their second game. This time the two teams wound up with an identical 899 total. And again each team had committed one foul, both coming on strike balls.

Otter Take in '55 Trapping Sets Mark

LANSING (UP)—The 1955 trapping season yielded a record number of otters and the second highest beaver take in state history, conservation game officials said Tuesday.

Trappers took 16,685 beaver and 606 otter.

The previous record on both species came in 1953 when 17,517 beaver and 533 otter were taken.

Officials said ideal weather, higher pelt prices and liberal trapping regulations all contributed to the peak year.

Jeffs' Lawson Soars Over 6-1 in High Jump

A tremendous high jump effort of 6 feet, 1⅝ inches highlighted Wednesday's two junior high school track meets at Wisner Field. The feat was turned in by Gene Lawson of Jefferson Junior High, whose team defeated defending junior high champion Washington, 55-22.

In the day's other meet, Eastern romped over Wever, 60⅔ to 16⅓.

Lawson's leap far surpasses both regular meet and league meet records of 5-10½ set last year by Washington's Alex Barga, now a member of Pontiac High's fine team.

The mark is better than the state Class C high school record of 6 feet, ⅛ inch, set last year by Clarkston's Al Warman, and is only ⅝ of an inch below the state Class B mark, which dates back to 1942.

Lawson also tied for 1st in the pole vault at 9 feet. John Herron of Jefferson tossed the 8-pound shot 50 feet, 7 inches, only an inch shy of the oldest city junior high record on the books, 50-8, set by Jerry McKay in 1949.

Herron also teamed with Jim Keller, Roosevelt Alexander and Hastings Martin on the Jeffs' 440-yard relay team which turned in a 48.9 second clocking, .4 off the league record.

In the Eastern-Wever meet, Bill Hayward and Ken Beattie were double winners for the Indians and Charlie Seyler did likewise for Wever. Hayward took the 75-yard dash and the broad jump, while Beattie won the high jump and tied for 1st in the pole vault.

Seyler's wins came in the 100-yard low hurdles and pole vault.

St. Fred's Bows in Season Opener

Two runs in the last half of an extra 8th inning enabled Highland Park St. Benedict to come from behind and edge Pontiac St. Frederick, 6-5, in a Suburban Catholic League baseball game yesterday afternoon at Ford Field in Detroit. It was St. Fred's first game of the season.

Track Meet Canceled

Wednesday afternoon's scheduled dual track meet at Avondale between Pontiac St. Michael and Avondale was postponed because of wet grounds. A new date for the meet has not been set.

Pontiac Man to Judge Far Western Show

Named to judge the Richland, Wash. all-breed obedience dog show, this weekend, Pontiac's Rudy Buchmann today prepared to fly to the coast city, highly delighted with prospects for the trip. This will be Buchmann's 5th obedience show of the season, his last being at Columbus, O., where the class included some 69 dogs. There will be 59 in the Richland show, representing all five classes.

Show will be at the Richland Bomber Base near Spokane. Buchmann plans to make a quick trip to Coulee Dam, prior to returning home 1st of the week.

Conservation Group Fights Cut in Lamprey Control Budget

LANSING—Michigan's conservation commission has objected to congressional attempts to reduce sea lamprey control work in the Great Lakes.

A congressional move now under way would cut planned appropriations from $450,000 to $150,000.

The state conservation department budget for 1955-56 asks $329,000 for this work, about three times the annual outlay of the last several years.

Much of this increase is aimed at solving problems of sorting fish from lampreys at control weirs, a nettlesome task that has fisheries workers scratching their heads.

Also, Canada plans to increase its lamprey work substantially during the coming year.

One Michigan Man Still in Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C. (UP)—Glenn H. Johnson of Grosse Ile, Mich., was paired with Don Bisplinghoff, Orlando, Fla., amateur who already has won three major amateur tourneys this year, in today's semifinals of the North and South Amateur golf tournament.

Johnson reached the quarterfinals yesterday by defeating Jack Matthews of Wilmington, Del., 4 and 3.

Three other Michigan golfers were eliminated in yesterday's competition. James Pilz of Dearborn, Tom Draper of Birmingham and Randall Ahern of Detroit all failed to qualify for today's semifinals.

WEDNESDAY'S HOME RUNS

Bauer, Carey, Yankees; Lollar, Dropo 2, White Sox; Vernon, Paula, Senators; Rosen, Indians; Dierking, Orioles; Kuenn, Tigers; Throneberry, Red Sox; Renna, Zernial, Wilson, A's; O'Connell, Thomson, Aaron, Braves; Mays, Thompson, Giants.

Tiger Notes

DETROIT (AP)—Both Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn hit safely yesterday to preserve their hitting streaks. Both now have hit in every Tiger game—12 in all.

Kaline got a single in the 3rd inning, but Kuenn, bothered by a bruised wrist, didn't get a hit until the 8th, when he also singled.

Kaline was charged with an error on a line drive hit by Washington's Gil Coan in the 9th inning. It was a hairline play. Kaline and president Spike Briggs of the Tigers didn't like the official scorer's decision one bit, and told him so after the game. But the scorer stood firm and the play goes into the books as an error for Kaline.

The play reminded Tiger coach Jack Tighe of a similar occurence when he played in the Texas League in the 1930's.

"I hit one of my infrequent line drives," he recalled. "It sailed out to left field like a bullet.

"The leftfielder—a guy named Jim Pool—was only about five feet high and the ball tipped off the top of his glove and rolled to the fence for a home run. It was the only run of the game and we won, 1-0.

"But the next day the papers said we won on a four-base error. When I saw the official scorer I asked him how he possibly could have given the left fielder an error on the play.

"He said, 'because he's a bum—that's why.'"

Trout Season Opener 'Better Than Usual'

LANSING (UP) — Some 150,000 Michigan anglers are gambling on a good start to the trout season Saturday, but old man weather is holding his usual fistful of trumps.

Early indications are that Saturday's opener will be a better-than-usual one in most parts of the state, barring heavy rains.

Reports are that streams are generally below their normal level for this time of the year, with water temperatures lower than usual also.

The state conservation department said today fishermen should find most trout streams accessible. Back roads were reported passable in most parts of the state.

Although the early rainbow season was disappointing, department wildlife men say the fish are there—in plentiful supply.

When the lid goes off the season at midnight Friday, the department says, some 250,000 legal sized trout will have been planted in Michigan waters.

The Saturday opening will attract not only trout fishermen, but muskie, walleye and northern pike anglers as well.

Based on a trout stamp sale of 310,000 last year, an opening day turnout of 150,000 is a conservative guess, the department says.

Fishermen should encounter neither ice nor snow in any part of the state when they take up their equipment Saturday.

Reports from various parts of the state agree on this: Spring is considerably ahead of schedule this year, which should give fishermen a break on water conditions and in the scenery that surrounds them.

As usual, Michigan trout anglers will have their best luck with brooks and rainbow, with browns running a poor third.

Because of the poor recovery on browns, the department has planted a greater proportion of brooks and rainbows.

State health department warned opening day fishermen to be on the lookout for poison ivy. If you're exposed, the department said, wash with strong laundry soap, let the lather dry and rinse. Then see a doctor.

Area Recreation Sites Are Set for Developing

Bald Mountain, Holly, Ortonville Included on List of Eight Parks

Long-range development plans for eight state recreation areas in southeastern Michigan in the Oakland County area were presented to the parks committee of the conservation commission recently.

The work will be done in the next 10-15 years, dependent on funds and on how quickly key lands can be purchased for public use.

Twenty-eight water impoundments have been planned in the eight areas to make up for a general scarcity of lakes and swimming areas.

The eight areas are Bald Mountain, Brighton, Holly, Island Lake, Metamora, Ortonville, Pinckney and Proud Lake.

All are located within 30 miles of Detroit.

Hurons Outslug U-D Titans for 11-7 Win

YPSILANTI (UP) — A six-run 1st inning outburst started Michigan Normal to an 11-7 baseball victory over the University of Detroit yesterday.

Mike Jones and Gerry Wedge homered for the Hurons, each with a man on base. Al Baumgart lashed out two round-trippers with the bases empty for Detroit. Guy Sparrow homered with one on and Sam Ursini hit one with nobody aboard.

Prince-Noor Packed With 126 Pounds at Keeneland

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP) — Prince Noor drew top weight of 126 pounds—the full Kentucky Derby impost—against nine other derby hopefuls in the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes today at Keeneland. With 10 starters the winner would get $32,437.

Hasty House Farms entered Prince Noor, winner of the Everglades Stakes, and Alibilt yesterday despite reports that Prince Noor would pass the Blue Grass for the Derby Trial next Tuesday at Churchill downs.

The Blue Grass, a furlong short of derby distance at 1 1/8-mile, and the trial are figured the last chances for hopeful 3-year-olds to earn a spot against heralded Nashua and Summer Tan in the May 7 Downs classic.

Post time for the feature of Keeneland's final day of spring racing was 4:30 p.m., (CDT). The weather forecast was for partly cloudy skies, with a chance of late afternoon showers.

Second weighted for the Blue Grass at 123 pounds each were Murcain Stable's Jean's Joe, winner of the San Felipe Stakes and second to Swaps in the Santa Anita Derby, and C. F. Morriss' Munchausen, a winner at Gulfstream.

Drawing 121 pounds were Alibilt, Hutcheson, Racing Fool, Speed Rouser, Nabesna, Make Ready and Shannon Comet.

Clifford Mooers' Nabesna, a chestnut son of Stymie, was the only real surprise entry. The others were expected to bid for a derby spot today.

Kolff Quits Cage Job at Lafayette

EATON, Pa. (UP)—Lafayette College was looking for a new basketball coach today to replace Bill Van Breda Kolff, who resigned after leading Lafayette to its most successful basketball season in its history.

College officials said his resignation yesterday came as a complete surprise.

The Leopards won 27 and lost three in the 1954-55 season and for the first time entered the National Invitation Tournament, held in New York's Madison Square Garden. They were eliminated in a early round.

Edward and Richard Knapp, brothers from Newark, N. J., rolled a 1,314 total yesterday to move into 2nd place in the doubles.

Pfeiffer's Beer of Detroit still led in team competition with 3,136. Bernie Schoof of Mt. Clemens, Mich., had a 670 yesterday for high singles of the day.

ALL EVEN—Four junior high school hurdlers hit the first barrier in the same stride Wednesday in the meet at Wisner Field between Washington and Jefferson Junior Highs. From the left are Jim Mathis of Jefferson, who finished 3rd; Willie Pearson of Washington; John Herron, who won the event; and Nick Shorter, who took 2nd, both of Jefferson. The Jeffs defeated Washington, 55-22.

Ted Reported in Phone Talks With Sox Owner

Slugger Believed to Be Still Wanting to Get Back to Game

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Globe today quotes Boston Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey as saying that he believes retired slugger Ted Williams "may be here again."

The story reports that Yawkey has talked to Williams by phone since the regular season began. Previously there had been no word of communication by Sox brass with Williams since mid-February.

* * *

At that time Ted, who quit baseball last fall, said he would inform Yawkey and General Manager Joe Cronin if he changed his mind about playing.

* * *

The Globe says Yawkey spoke to the heavy-hitting outfielder "after the club had played a couple of games at the start of the season."

Asked if he thought Williams would return, Yawkey is quoted in the article as saying:

"Yes, I think there's a chance he'll be back. I know his problems (referring to Ted's marital difficulties). But—well—I think he may be here again."

Yawkey was asked if he thought Williams still wants to play baseball.

"I think so," was Yawkey's reply. "Of course he's a peculiar guy in some things. He might think he wouldn't be able to hit that .345 he hit a year ago. He might be like that, you know."

* * *

The Globe story says Yawkey was asked if Williams wouldn't have to go on the voluntary list for 60 days if he didn't report by the May 12 player-limit deadline. Though he didn't elaborate, according to the story, Yawkey said he didn't believe that was true.

* * *

The May 12 deadline means the team must cut to 25 players plus returning servicemen (Faye Throneberry and Dick Brodowski). Williams is on the team's regular roster. He can be kept if the player-limit is met though it means giving up an extra player on the chance Ted will report.

UM Professor Advises Anglers to Keep Moving

Here's some fishing advice from Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the University of Michigan's department of fishing.

Don't—he says—sit in one spot and use one bait if you expect to catch anything.

"You'd never find a hunter sitting in one spot all day," says Prof. Lagler, "and yet look at how many fishermen just sit and wait for the fish to come to them."

Prof. Lagler suggests casting the shoreline with a floating-diving lure on the 1st try.

If the water is clear, start the bait moving the second it hits the water, he says. If the water is cloudy, wait for five or 10 seconds —then start retrieving.

* * *

"This gives the fish time to find what caused the splash if visibility isn't good," he says.

If you don't hook any near the shore, cast into deeper water with a sinking bait, he advises.

* * *

Then try heavier cover such as lily pad fields, weed patches or moss beds. Use a slow sinking lure this time, making a steady retrieve.

Harbert, Mangrum to Play in Palm Beach Tourney

NEW YORK—Melvin (Chick) Harbert and Lloyd Mangrum, two 40-year-old members of golf's supposedly-fading "old guard," challenged the onrushing youngsters of the fairway to "come and get us" as they accepted invitations to play in the Palm Beach Golf Championship at the Deepdale Golf Club June 1-5.

"I'm not trying to tell the young fellows that golf life begins at 40, but I know I did pretty well at 39," chuckled Harbert, who last year won the PGA championship after twice being runner-up. "They'll discover that we 'old-timers' can still swing a club in the big ones."

At least two members of the youngster brigade, Gene Littler and British open champion Peter Thomson, will be in the select 16-man field when the Palm Beach is played. They already have accepted invitations, along with defending champion Sam Snead and the recent Masters winner, Cary Middlecoff, for the unique match-medal play tournament.

Harbert and Mangrum figure to be tough rivals for the entire star-studded field in this event where each member meets every other player once, points being scored on a plus and minus basis as members of each foursome match medal scores.

Solons Want 3 on Commission

LANSING (AP)—The House had before it today a bill providing for a three-man racing commission to replace the present single commissioner.

The bill, introduced by Rep Leonard Wood (R-Detroit), was reported out yesterday by the state affairs committee.

The three-man racing commission would be appointed by the governor. No more than two of its members could be of the same political party.

Under the bill, the commission would appoint a director, who would take care of administrative matters.

Rocky Attracts Fans for Sparring Sessions

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP)—There's a county fair atmosphere, complete with the smell of frying hamburgers and onions, about Rocky Marciano's training quarters.

* * *

The reason is simple—his base is the Napa County Fairgrounds.

The world heavyweight boxing champion wanted quiet surroundings in which to train for his May 16 title defense at San Francisco against England's Don Cockell. That's why he set up his camp in this country town of 1,100 in the heart of the wine country, 75 miles from San Francisco. And that's what he gets most of the time.

* * *

Only at 3 p.m. daily, except Monday and Friday, is there much doing. That's the time Marciano, who's on a five-day week, comes in from his living quarters at a modest motel on the edge of town to work out at the Fairgrounds. It's the time too, when boxing fans march up and plunk down $1 a head to see the show—several hundred daily, as many as 1,600 on weekends.

The ring is set up in the middle of the grounds' largest exhibit building. Bleachers and chairs circle it. Off to one side is the hamburger stand where patrons may purchase a hot snack, with or without the always-frying onions.

It takes Marciano some little time to get into his boxing togs in the dressing room at the rear of the barn-like building, but a ringside announcer fills in the gap with a prepared spiel over a public address system. This includes a year-by-year account of the champion's won-lost record.

The introduction of sparring partners precedes Marciano's entrance. Then comes the business of anointing the titlist's tender nose with a mixture of alcohol and olive oil, a task handled by trainer Charley Goldman. Adjustment of the big headgear, which protects not only forehead and ears but has a special attachment to keep the nose from being touched by an errant glove, follows.

After that, there's the sparring, two rounds with one man, one each with the other two. Then a session of bag punching, with Marciano whipping bags of assorted sizes in a violent tattoo.

When it's all over the announcer advises the customers that Marciano will be glad to give autographs "but please don't stop him as he leaves the ring."

"He'll do it for you after he's dressed," says the voice, "if you'll wait around for the hour it takes him."

Utah's Gardner 'Spanked' for Luring Players

NCAA Reprimands Coach for Encouraging Transfers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The NCAA verbally blistered Utah basketball Coach Jack Gardner yesterday for obtaining players by methods it termed unsportsmanlike and unethical.

It said Gardner "resorted to deception, himself, and encouraged devious and deceptive behavior by advising student-athletes to collaborate in not revealing" to officials they were planning to shift from one school to another.

The action by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s policy-making council grew out of an incident two years ago that led to the transfer of two Big Seven Conference basketball players to Utah of the Skyline Conference.

Gardner resigned as head coach at Kansas State College in September, 1953, to take the Utah position.

The council said that during the summer of 1953 Gardner "actively but covertly carried beyond reasonable limits his contact with three Kansas State College varsity basketball players in an obvious effort to persuade them to transfer" to Utah.

Gary Bergen, a Kansas State center, transferred to the Salt Lake City school. A University of Colorado player, Art Bunte, also shifted there. Jerry Jung and Roger Craft were the other K-State athletes involved but they remained at the Kansas college.

Gardner was not available for comment on the NCAA's action.

No fault was found with either the University of Utah or Kansas State by the Ethics Committee which conducted the investigation.

The committee said the student-athletes "involved were not unknown prospective transfers to be handled in a routine fashion; rather, two of the potential four transfers were among the finest basketball players in the Big Seven Conference."

Bunte and Bergen were instrumental in leading Utah to the Skyline Conference championship last year. It was their first season of play after waiting a year to gain eligibility. The Utes had a 13-1 league record and a 24-4 overall mark.

Berkley Reties for I-L Lead; Maple 9 Wins

Berkley rejoined Waterford and Southfield atop the Inter-Lakes Conference baseball standings Wednesday with a 9-2 victory over Farmington. Bob Blackwell worked for the Bears and registered a 2-hitter, fanning 15 while walking only 2.

His no-hitter was broken up with 2 out in the 6th when Farmington collected a pair of singles. Bill Yoder had a double and 2 singles for Berkley.

In a Wayne - Oakland League game, Brighton whipped Milford, 10-3. Larry Raub yielded 7 hits, but struck out 13 and collected 3 hits at the plate. Birmingham downed Mt. Clemens in an Eastern Michigan League contest, 10-1, with Dick Sheldon hurling 5-hit ball and striking out 11.

Tom Beck had 2 triples among 3 hits, batted in 4 runs and scored 3 for the Maples.

PGA FUNDAMENTAL 3—One-Piece Swing

I and most pros start my swing with a slight forward press. This is a tiny, but tremendously important, movement of hands, hips and right knee to the left, before actually starting the backswing. Like the waggle, it helps to break up tension, and also is a good way to put the 1-piece swing into action.

From there on the swing becomes a single, powerful movement controlled by the left side. To make this clear, in the PGA film they first black out a player's left side, so all you see is his right side in action. From this it is obvious that your right side plays only a supporting role in the swing—until the club reaches the hitting area, of course, where the right side explodes into action.

Then we see the player's right side blocked out and only his left is visible in a swing. This really proves that the authority lies in a player's left side. It not only controls and limits the backswing, but also leads the downswing.

Alma Beats Olivet

ALMA (UP)—Jim Barson held Olivet College to three runs and two hits, both of them home runs, yesterday as Alma College won its 2nd baseball victory of the season, 5-3, in an MIAA conference game.

Otter Trappers Break Record in Past Month

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Department said today Michigan trappers took 608 otters last month, setting a new record.

Trappers also caught 16,685 beaver, almost breaking a record, the department said.

The previous high was in 1953, when 17,517 beaver and 533 otter were bagged.

Department game men said ideal weather, higher pelt prices and liberlized regulations contributed to the peak year.

Bears Sign Lawson

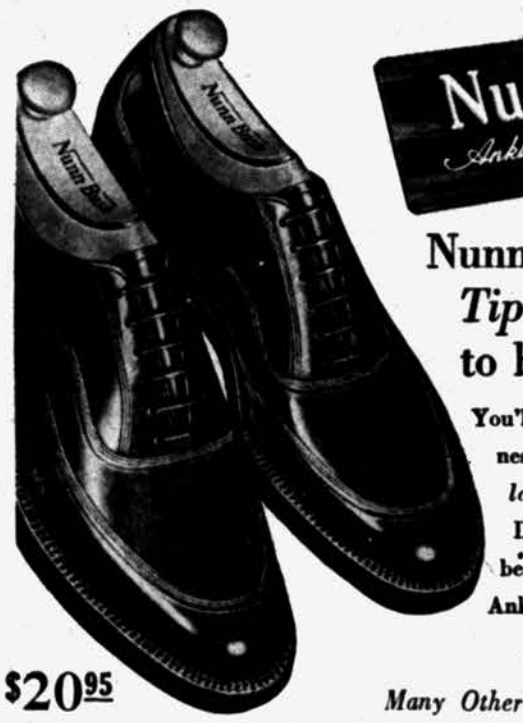

CHICAGO (AP)— The Chicago Bears today signed a new lineman, Ernest (Big Red) Lawson, 6-4, 250-pound offensive tackle, who played service football the past three seasons with the Bolling Field Air Force Generals. Previously Lawson attended Winston-Salem College.

Macias, Mario Signed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Paul (Raton) Macias, undefeated NBA world bantamweight champion, will fight here May 12, Promoter Tony Padilla has announced.

Padilla said Macias' manager, George Parnassus, had agreed to a bout with Baby Moe Mario of Reno, Nev. It will be 10 rounds, non-title.

coach Royner Greene also coaches the varsity baseball team.

Peter and Mary Try Out Arthur Godfrey's Hot Seat

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—One of the world's most talented couples—Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy of Hollywood and New York—who took over for Arthur Godfrey for a week, are great rooters for the redhead although they seldom see him. Peter told Mary, "I saw Arthur the other day. He sure did have fire in his eye."

"Godfrey's seat is still warm," Pete added. "Strange—'cause they always tell me he was hot-headed."

They added "The Mascots," from Houston, and Don Cheery, the singing golfer from Wichita Falls, Tex., to the show, and Pete suggested calling the show "Godfrey and His Texas Friends." Pete, by the way, tells about a lady who brought a large economy size box of "Poof" and blew her arm off.

Stage Actress Treated After Pill Overdose

BOSTON (UP) — Actress Diana Barrymore, 34, was reported recovering early today from what a Boston City Hospital doctor said was "drug intoxication—an overdose of sleeping pills."

Miss Barrymore collapsed last night in her room at the Hotel Touraine and was taken by police ambulance to the hospital, where she immediately was placed in an oxygen tent.

* * *

Her husband Robert Wilcox denied the doctor's report to police that Miss Barrymore had taken sleeping pills.

"It's exhaustion," he said. "This collapse was brought about after six months of touring under adverse circumstances. One can't take too much of this knocking yourself out night after night."

A hospital report, signed by Dr. Ellis Singer, said, however, that Miss Barrymore had taken an overdose of the pills.

* * *

Miss Barrymore's name was taken off the danger list early today and a hospital spokesman said she was "resting comfortably."

The actress, daughter of the late John Barrymore, is appearing in Boston in the play "Pajama Tops." Her husband also has a part in the play. The production was staged last night with an understudy.

Accident Sparks Street Resurfacing

GUTHRIE, Ky. (UP)—This city has a newly surfaced street that cost little because of the enterprise of city officials. It came about this way:

Some prankster released the brakes on a railroad tank car which was filled with oil. The car rolled down the tracks and banged into a railroad car. The oil tank sprang a leak.

A switch engine promptly pulled the leaky car away, parking it near Front Street. All the oil then leaked onto Front Street, which badly needed a repair job.

City officials, unwilling to miss out on a good thing, got road repair crews out. The crews promptly spread gravel over the spilled oil, and tamped it down into a solid new road surface.

GOP Parakeet Disturbs Dyed-in-Wool Democrat

DES MOINES, Ia. (UP) — A parakeet flew into the Polk County Republican headquarters and workers held it for the owner, George Marchant.

But Marchant wasn't very happy.

"I've been a Democrat all my life," he said, "and now I discover I've got a parakeet with Republican leanings."

Sweden's Anita Ekberg Bewails Hiding of Assets

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Anita Ekberg, a blonde Venus from Sweden, today lamented that Hollywood covers up a girl's best assets.

What's more, she claims this is due to this country's distorted view of sex appeal.

Miss Ekberg, who was Miss Sweden of 1952, is filmland's latest sexboat. Her cheesecake is being broadcast in a volume that recalls the early days of Marilyn Monroe. Unlike Miss Monroe, she is a talkative type and excites easily. Her latest passion is what she considers an unfair cover up.

"It's ridiculous!" she exclaimed. "When a girl comes to Hollywood, the first thing she is asked is her measurements. If she happens to have a good figure, the men whistle and carry on. The wardrobe women marvel about how great it is to have such a fine figure to dress.

"So what happens? If a girl has a beautiful bust with a nice curve to it, she shouldn't be covered up. She should be allowed to show her beauty. I don't mean that we should go around with nothing on above the waist. But she shouldn't be completely hidden either."

The 24-year-old actress, who said her own measurement is 39 inches, said this overzealous censorship is due to the American attitude toward sex. She declared that Swedes have a different viewpoint.

"The whistle at a pretty girl is an international language," she said. "But in this country men whistle at girls with more of an evil intent.

"It is different in Sweden. The body is considered a thing of beauty. Its beauty is to be enjoyed, not considered in an evil light.

"That's why nudity is featured in some of the movies made in Sweden. Boys and girls appear nude on the beaches up to the age of 8 or 10. I think it's ridiculous to see 2-year-old girls at the beaches here wearing pants and little strips of cloth across their chests."

UM Survey Shows What People Want

ANN ARBOR, Mich (UP) —A University of Michigan marketing survey shows people like functional homes, automatic gear shifts, frozen orange juice and gas stations that emphasize service.

Of 60 home buyers, the survey found the hugh majority checked the floor plan first, the outside second. And most of them ended up paying more than they had planned to.

Convenience brings customers to gas stations, the report said, but service keeps them. Brands of gasoline don't make much difference, it said.

The survey found 61 per cent of persons interviewed used frozen orange juice regularly. All but 11 per cent had at least tried it.

In gear shifts, the survey found women outnumbered the men in favoring the automatic style although both prefer it. The main objection was the price.

Planes Use Zippers to Prevent Leakage

NEW YORK (UP) — The versatile zipper has been put to a new use — giving an added measure of protection against high-altitude leakage of liquids in the baggage of passengers on Lockheed's Super Constellation planes.

Thirty-three planes in two lower-fusleage baggage compartments of each new Super Constellation are closed by pressure-sealing zippers.

Thus, the compartments are afforded virtually the same pressurization as the cabins. Cabin pressure at 33,000 feet altitude is roughly the equivalent of the pressure at an altitude of 8,000 feet in a non-pressurized plane.

Poker Enlivens Jungle Life

By MARGARET LATROBE

There was a pause in the poker game. The players listened to a plane circling the tiny field cut from the jungle.

"Boys," shouted the foreman, wadding a stack of money into his pocket—"I think we got us a new man!"

Poker is fun on Saturday night, whether suburban penny ante in Oak Park or on an oil well drilling location in Venezuelan jungles, where American crews bet in bolivars.

They don't wait for Saturday to roll around for a slight game of draw, since one day is just like another. The jungle is forbidding. Camp is dull — tent houses on 10-foot stilts above sluggish snake-filled swamp, connected by a catwalk. Chinese cooks doing a fair job of chow for the 14 crewmen; lots of laughter and story-swapping and oil talk. And poker—that was about it.

So when the tiny plane put off the new man, they were glad. The company banked all but a fraction of the crew's salaries, but this accumulated tidbit made a substantial poker game. The bets sometimes ran to thousands of bolivars (three to a dollar). And no drawing light. When you were broke, you were out. The new man would arrive with fresh funds; might even be one of those innocent bridge-playing types.

Just so!

"Fellows," he pleaded. "I never played a hand of poker in my life —don't know the first thing about it . . ."

All right, they would teach him to play. A man can't expect to get far in the oil business unless he gives up boyish ways. Especially that namby-pamby bridge. Sit down, boy, we'll teach you.

Well, now—first there is a "pair," and to open the betting a man ought to at least have a pair of jacks. See? Then up the scale—two pairs, three of a kind, straight, flush, full house.

"And after that — "You won't need to know this, probably"— they added, but it's straight flush and royal flush.

It was all written down for him on a paper, which was a great help to a nervous poker freshman. When he picked up the ace and king and queen and jack and 10, by consulting the list of winning hands, he knew if they were all hearts or spades he had what the crew considered a passing good chance at the pot. He learned the trick of bluffing and deceptive discard. That time he drew four queens, throwing in one card, they assumed he was trying for a low inside straight. Interesting game, poker.

The plane came to fetch him after a week. Fortunately one of the Chinese cooks had some rubber bands, Bolivars, when carried in large bundles, sometimes scatter. Glancing down at an occasional boa writhing through the slime was enough to make a man wrap his money with care — wouldn't want to go after it, you know.

The foreman helped load the lad's money into the cramped cabin. "Better get in, then you can hold the other two packages on your lap," he said glumly. Like a gnat skimming the green tanglewood the plane buzzed off, laden with every shred of currency they had. Pay day was four long weeks away.

"Boys," said the foreman, coughing ostentatiously, "let's us catch us some snakes. They pay good money for big ones at that museum in the States."

Interest Groups Alter Rural Life

Sociologist Warns of Dangers in New Type of Farm Community

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Modern living has changed rural America from a closely knit society to a series of specialized "interest" groups.

That's the conclusion A. F. Wileden, University of Wisconsin rural sociologist, has drawn from a study of current farm life.

The old-time country neighborhood is not as strong as it used to be, Wileden said. In some places it has disappeared completely.

In its place is a new kind of group made up of people who are interested in the same or similar things. Wileden calls these "special interest" groups, and he feels there are some things about them that need watching.

One danger is that many people do not become active in such groups. Wileden said that in some areas as many as one-third of the people 10 years of age and over don't belong to any group at all.

This leads to much of the antisocial behavior in our society, he concluded.

Interested groups also tend to establish and strengthen class emphasis, according to Wileden. It was found in New York state that the major farm organizations atract owner families and those with higher educations and incomes.

He said there weren't enough farm groups where tenant families or those with lower incomes could feel at home.

Some people fear that the special interest groups among farmers might become "pressure groups" that could damage the nation's welfare, Wileden added.

A female house fly can lay from 600 to 1,000 eggs during her lifetime.

Give Fund Idea to Legislator

Leslie Hudson Says Credit for Resolution Goes to Class

Legislation seeking federal financial backing for such pioneering scientists as Dr. Jonas Salk may have part of its origin with the sixth grade class at Four Towns school, Waterford Township.

The youngsters, among those who will benefit most from the discovery, even offered to contribute their meager class treasury to insure the future progress of science.

This has been revealed in a letter from State Representative Leslie H. Hudson of Pontiac, to Four Towns teacher Jack Perry.

Perry's students wrote Hudson asking him to recommend a bill giving the discoverer of the polio vaccine a lifetime income to be used for further research.

"We deeply feel that this (vaccine) has been a great advance in medicine that will affect all our lives," the children wrote.

"We would like to suggest that you recommend to the Legislature a bill granting Dr. Salk an annual lifetime income which he could use for further research."

The letter pointed out that the saving in hospital costs and aid to crippled children would be far greater than a $1,000 or even $5,000 grant.

"We, in the class, have earned $23.17 which we planned to use to buy things for our room, but, we feel that it would be better used if we could contribute it towards a fund of this sort which would help all people instead of ourselves alone," the letter concluded.

Hudson has introduced such a resolution, asking Congress to establish an annual income for Dr. Salk to enable him to continue to devote his career to research in the field of medicine.

"I am very proud of your students," Hudson replied to teacher Perry by a later letter. "They have displayed a humanitarian desire to further the research in deserving projects."

Hudson stated in his answer that his resolution seeking the income for Dr. Salk "was through your interest."

He added "my congratulations to a most deserving group."

Grains Develop Mixed Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains developed a mixed trend after early easiness on the Board of Trade today.

At the outset the major declines were in soybeans, but even in that cereal they stopped at about a cent. New crop wheat deliveries, strong yesterday, started out a little lower and then recovered.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, May $2.10⅛; corn ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.43¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, May 73½; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, May 99½; soybeans unchanged to ⅝ lower, May $2.49¾; and lard 3 to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $12.35.

GM Sales Gain by 39 Per Cent

1,244,059 Cars Sold During First Quarter; Defense Work Down

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. reports it sold a record 1,244,059 passenger cars during the first quarter of 1955, boosting its total civilian sales 39 per cent above a similar period last year.

"The public is in a buying mood," the company said in the quarterly report which will be mailed soon to stockholders.

Civilian dollar sales through March have exceeded total sales of all GM products for any quarter except the second in 1953 when defense sales were at a near-peak.

In contrast with civilian volume, defense sales in the first quarter this year were 26 per cent below the 1954 period and accounted for only 9 per cent of total dollar sales.

In a joint statement yesterday, Harlow H. Curtice, GM president, and Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, disclosed that civilian sales totaled $2,812,000,000 for the quarter. For the same period in 1954, sales were $2,019,000,000.

Defense sales amounted to 289 million dollars this quarter as compared with 391 million through March, 1954.

As previously announced, GM's first quarter net income totaled 309 million dollars, equal to $3.43 a share. In the 1954 period, it amounted to 189 million dollars, or $2.13 a share.

Curtice said the quarterly earnings were obtained after provisions for 375 million dollars for domestic and foreign income taxes. Last year taxes amounted to 202 million.

Newspapers Report National Ad Boom

NEW YORK (AP)—The expenditure for national advertising in newspapers is showing an upswing this year.

This was announced today by the bureau of advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

The bureau said last year's dollar total was $594,120,000, or 1.2 per cent below the 1953 record total of $601,224,000.

First quarter linage this year was 12.2 per cent ahead of the 1953 pace, the bureau said.

Suggestions Pay Off for Pontiac Employes

Pontiac Motor Division employes have been paid more than a half million dollars for 41,000 suggestions submitted since the program was begun in 1942, according to William Malinowski, Suggestions Chairman.

Past records were broken during the first quarter of 1955 when 2,930 suggestions were submitted as compared to 1,667 for the first quarter in 1954, said Malinowski.

Fourteen persons received more than one thousand dollars apiece for single suggestions submitted during the first three months of 1955.

Will U. S. Steel Lose Fairless?

Industry Is Wondering If Chairman Plans to Step Down at 65

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Benjamin F. Fairless retires as board chairman of United States Steel Corp. next week?

That was a prime question in the steel industry yesterday in the wake of the first quarter report by "big steel" which disclosed an all-time company record for first quarter earnings.

The net income was $72,652,402, equal to $2.49 a share, compared with the previous record of $61,329,757, or $2.11 a share, set in the first quarter of 1917.

U. S. Steel also declared another $1 a share dividend on common stock, payable June 10 to holders of record May 5—the second dollar dividend since the payment was hiked from 75 cents last January.

The question of Fairless' possible retirement came up at his news conference following the directors' meeting. Fairless, who looks ten or fifteen years younger, reaches his 65th birthday next Tuesday—the day after the annual stockholders' meeting—and 65 is the traditional retirement age at U. S. Steel although some exceptions are made.

Fairless replied that he would have an announcement about it at the stockholders' meeting, adding, "I think that would be the appropriate place to make such an announcement."

Fairless has served as board chairman since May 1952, succeeding Irving S. Olds—who retired at 65.

Willys Registrations Up 79 Per Cent Over 1954

TOLEDO (AP)—Willys Motors reported today retail registrations of its commercial vehicles for January and February this year were 79 per cent above those of the same period last year.

It also reported it built 7.73 per cent of all commercial vehicles made during the first three months of 1955 compared to 5.48 per cent during the same 1954 period.

Unit figures were not given either in the January-February registrations or the first quarter production.

NEW YORK (INS)—Shell Oil Co. reported today net income for the quarter ended March 31 of $28,584,792, equal to $1.04 a common share. This compared with $33,197,154, or $1.21 a common share, in the same period last year.

CHICAGO (INS)—Pullman, Inc. announced net income for the quarter ended March 31 of $1,275,873, equal to 58 cents a common share. This was sharply below the $4,197,701, or $1.91 a common share, reported in the same period last year.

PITTSBURGH (INS)—Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. reported net income for the quarter ended March 31 of $16,026,948, equal to $1.73 a common share. This was more than double the $7,179,978, or 79 cents a common share, recorded in the same period last year.

Hint at Proposal Letting Dealers Sell Ford Stock

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York newspaper states that a plan is being proposed to the Ford family and the Ford Foundation to make available through Ford dealers the new Ford shares which are to be offered to the public for the first time in 51 years of corporate existence.

The paper said the suggestion is that full-page advertisements be placed with newspapers throughout the country, saying, in effect, go to your nearest Ford dealer who will take your subscription to whatever number of shares you want.

The plan envisages that the stock will not only by split 10 to 1, from $600 to $60 or thereabouts, but that the units will be reduced further to sell at $10 or $15 a share in order to make possible widest distribution.

It is said the planners do not intend to hurt Wall Street underwriters of the issue since they propose to have a stand-by fee paid on them.

Symposium Told:

Most Rain in Arid Areas Never Put to Use by Man

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Of every hundred drops of rain which fall on the dry mountain areas of the western United States, only two are ever put to use by man, scientists from 18 nations were told today.

John H. Dorroh Jr., with the Albuquerque office of the Soil Conservation Service, was one of eight experts presenting prepared papers today to the International Arid Lands Symposium here.

* * *

The symposium, sponsored by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, represents the first meeting of world scientists on the international problem of growing deserts and declining food supplies.

Dorroh, reporting on studies in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah, said that the four states had an average annual rainfall of only 13 inches.

* * *

And of that meager amount "98 per cent of the water that falls . . . is either consumed where it falls or is lost in transportation to points of downstream use."

The high, dry air was blamed for much of the loss.

Even an estimate of 2 per cent "is probably high." In especially dry-air areas, only 1 per cent of the rain and snow may ever be used. The rest is sucked back into the air. Arid regions of the four states were found to have a potential of evaporating 29 inches of rain a year.

* * *

Dorroh said the best means to solve the problem would be to plant "beneficial" forage grasses which would make use of the water when it fell before it could be evaporated, and to clear the streams of water-consuming plants which suck up water before it can be run on irrigated fields.

Railroad Center Inherits Carved Train Models

CRESTLINE, O. (UP)—It seems proper that this village, which was one of the first railroad centers in the United States, also has one of the finest collections of carved historical train models.

Ned Reed, who died recently, carved out the little locomotives, cars and tracks as a hobby. The collection went to the Crestline-Shunk Museum after his death.

Railroads reached here in 1851. Today it is the site of one of the Pennsylvania Railroad's big diesel repair and service shops, as well as one of the roundhouses.

Railroads cut across the main street in several places, but despite the bustle of the yards, Crestline itself has remained small.

Doubts If Bricker and Ike Can Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) today voiced "strong doubts" that Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and the Eisenhower administration could agree on a constitutional amendment to limit the treaty power.

And in the absence of such an agreement, George said in an interview, he thinks it will be impossible to get any amendment dealing with the subject through the Senate this year.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added that he won't be able "to take the initiative or the burden this year" of trying to work out a compromise, as he did last year.

He said he had so advised Bricker when the Ohio senator talked to him recently about the possibility of a compromise.

Winners May Split Home Won at Show

DETROIT (AP)—They're not sure now, but Mrs. Irene Simon, 53, and Mrs. Caroline Moffatt, 49, say they're going to split the home they won at the Detroit builders show.

In order to win, visitors to the show had to guess how many nails were used in the house.

There are 58,535 nails in the house. Mrs. Simon, an optimist, guessed 58,536. Mrs. Moffatt, a conservative, guessed 58,534.

Both women said they would rather take half a house than risk a runoff contest. Contest officials say they don't care.

Mayor to Sift Ticket Charges

Check Commissioner's Claim of Needless Police Rigidity

Mayor William W. Donaldson today promised "to find out more" about charges police officers are issuing needless quantities of traffic violation tickets and "molesting" businessmen in District 1.

"Maybe some of the younger officers are getting kind of cocky and then again maybe it's on the other side," he said. "I want to find out more about it.

"I don't want anyone pushed around and I don't want to let it go until the string snaps."

Donaldson said he will confer with City Manager Walter K. Willman and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley on the allegations. (Willman currently is attending the civil defense atomic bomb exercise in Nevada.)

The charges were made at Tuesday night's City Commission meeting by the commissioner from District 1, Dr. Roy V. Cooley.

Donaldson also said he plans "to check with others in the district and see how they feel about it."

Area Fire Departments Schedule Exhibitions

Pontiac's Fire Dept. and four others in Oakland County, members of a mutual fire aid plan, will converge on various cities in the near future in a show of might exhibition, according to Hazel Park Chief Frank S. Durbin, chairman of the plan.

Cities included in the plan, known as the Oakland County Fire Aid Reciprocal Agreement, are Birmingham, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Hazel Park and Pontiac.

Cock Pheasant Chases Autos Just Like Dog

IRONTON (AP) — A tough cock pheasant is startling motorists as he rushes out of a nearby field and chases autos along M66, much like a dog chases cars in the city.

Glenn Williams, Ironton gas station operator, believes the bird is one of a flock he raised last July as a sportsman's club project.

Williams says the pheasant may be guarding a harem in the field.

Motorists report the feathered bully has claimed a one-mile section of county roadway connecting with M66 for his domain. Cars approach the area rather slowly, drivers say, then the pheasant charges out to run along beside the front wheels.

Its hackle feathers bristle and the bird crows and cackles while stomping along at about 10 miles an hour.

Williams says "he gets about five to eight hours of running every day."

Since the story of the strange bird has circulated, a stream of motorists has kept the pheasant busy defending his territory.

The bird apparently has one more quirk, Williams notes.

"White sidewall tires send him berserk—he's like a real fighting cock then."

Learns Even Kinky Hair Better Than None at All

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Joe Hamilton didn't like his kinky hair but he's convinced that it was better than what he's got today—none at all.

He told officers he tried a friend's solution to straighten kinky hair and came out with a bald, baked noggin. But he said he didn't want his friend, Leon Stamps, prosecuted. He said he would be satisifed if Stamps would pay the hospital bill and find some other solution to get his hair back.

The solution: Mashed potatoes, petroleum jelly, soap and lye.

East Germans Hike Fines on Truckers

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) — Communist East German authorities tightened pressure on Soviet-surrounded West Berlin last night by hiking fines on overloaded trucks more than 600 per cent.

The increased penalties were announced shortly after West Germany turned down a Red offer to negotiate previous steep increases in road taxes with the East German government. Refusing to recognize the Eastern regime as a sovereign government, the West Germans said the issue should be negotiated by the Western-occupying powers and the Soviets.

The Communists, in what many feared was the start of a new blockade, on April 1 hiked taxes on West Berlin's truck traffic as much as 10 times over former tolls.

West German officials said the Reds last night began fining drivers supplying West Berlin $12 for each 220 pounds excess weight. Previously they were penalized $18 for each 2,200 pounds overweight.

A total of five press runs, starting April 4, were needed to produce the anniversary edition which contains a comprehensive history of Lansing and the central Michigan area for the past 100 years.

The play, to be televised Tuesday, ABC-TV, shows how Mrs. Lloyd won the hearts of the suspicious mountaineers and started a school at Caney Creek, Ky., which now teaches thousands of young people a year.

'Mr. Citizen' Has New Ideas

Producer Will Rely on Newspapers for Story Material

NEW YORK (AP)—One of TV's biggest problems has been its insatiable demand for fresh, new material. What's the answer?

The extraordinary things that happen to ordinary people as reported in daily newspapers and by news services, says producer Ed Byron.

Byron is relying on newspapers and news agencies for his latest venture, Mr. Citizen on ABC television Wednesday nights. They were the chief source of material for his Mr. District Attorney show on radio, and later on TV.

Byron says that in telling about unusual occurrences in the lives of ordinary people, the problem is not in making them seem dramatic. It's in trying to convince viewers that they are fact and not fiction.

"Our problem is to keep from saying, 'This couldn't happen in real life,'" says Byron, a former reporter himself.

He is particularly excited at the moment over the third in his new series of programs, scheduled for next Wednesday, on the plight of epileptics.

"We're going to break the story of the American epileptic," he says. "He's a second-class citizen."

"The epileptic is discriminated against. He's only allowed to drive a car in one state (Wisconsin). In six states he can be sterilized. In a number of states he isn't allowed workmen's compensation. In 26 states he can't get a marriage license.

"It has been shown that 80 per cent of cases of epilepsy can be controlled by medication."

Bubble Gum Racket Busted by Gumshoes

CHICAGO (AP) — Gumshoes have the Maxwell Street police district have solved the big bubble gum mystery. They rounded up nine lads, aged 7 to 13, gave them a good talking to and freed them yesterday.

The Topps Gum Co. of Brooklyn had advertised it would give prizes for coupons packed with the company's bubble gum. For 1,750 coupons a child could get a bike, for 125 a knife.

A few days ago stacks of coupons began flowing into the company—all from one neighborhood in Chicago. The company became suspicious and notified police.

Prospective prize winners were rounded up and related one of the group a year ago had broken into a Chicago paper company that had printed the coupons.

Entire Capital Stolen

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP) — Thieves broke into a place and took a box containing $32. It was the entire capital of the North Muskegon Junior Police Lodge.

Who? Woo? Whoa!

PEORIA, Ill. (UP) — Assistant Fire Chief Rudy Kneer radioed a police dispatcher to check the owner of Woo's Laundry here and ask him to open the door.

The fireman had answered an alarm at the laundry address, and wanted to get in to see if the place was okay.

"Who's laundry?" asked dispatcher Roy King.

"That's right," Kneer replied.

King consulted a city directory.

Writing Sentence

GROTON, Conn. (UP)—William J. Sinton, 16, was found guilty of speeding. Town Court Judge George E. Kinmouth Jr. ordered him to write a theme on his arrest and court appearance. The judge gave him two weeks to write it, with the condition that if the theme was good no fine would be imposed.

In motion pictures, the eye does not detect flicker or other sense of discontinuity when the pictures are shown at the rate of 20 per second or faster.

Some Nosey Facts

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—An art instructor at Rhode Island School of Design, Walter I. Duphiney, advances the theory that long noses are usually found in cold regions and short noses in warm ones "because long noses are needed in cold climates to warm the air when it is inhaled."

The "Carey Act" provides for grants of desert lands to states by the federal government, such lands to be irrigated or reclaimed by the states for disposal to bona fide settlers.

Gas Threatens History

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP) — Should a house built in 1627 by one of the Mayflower passengers be torn down to make space for a filling station? That is the question North Plymouth residents must answer. Edward Doty built the house just seven years after the pilgrims landed here. Now a gasoline firm wants to use the site for a filling station.
