

GMC Truck & Coach Division's Newest Beauty: The Luxury Liner

New GMC Bus Crowd Pleaser

One of the most enthusiastic reactions to any new product developed by GMC Truck & Coach Division has greeted the introduction of the new "Luxury Liner" intercity bus.

Calvin J. Werner, a vice president of General Motors and general manager of the division, said orders and commitments representing $13.5 million have been received since the bus was unveiled Sept. 15.

"Operators from all parts of the country have hailed the high-level appearance of this bus and its functional design," Werner said.

"It's 'theater seating' and extra baggage space are particularly popular."

The 35-foot "Luxury Liner" was shown for the first time publicly at the National Association of Motor Bus Owners convention in Chicago. Some 300 operators rode in it during the two-day meeting.

The bus is scheduled for production in December and deliveries will start early in 1966.

THEATER-STYLE

Front seats of the "Luxury Liner" are tiered theater-style, enabling passengers to see over those in front. An observation window gives them clear forward and upward vision.

Upper level passengers sit nearly a foot higher than in previous 35-foot intercity buses. Besides giving passengers a quieter ride and better visibility, this extra height permits greater baggage space.

To handle ever increasing package express business, nearly 300 cubic feet is provided in two under-floor, lightly sealed baggage compartments — a 50 per cent increase over previous compartments at no gain in vehicle weight.

The "Luxury Liner" is powered by a new V-8 diesel engine that boasts better fuel economy and more complete combustion for cleaner exhaust. It delivers 253 horsepower at its factory-governed speed of 1,800 revolutions per minute. Maximum torque is 770 foot pounds at 1,200 rpm.

'Russian Aided U.S. in Crisis' Barry Says McNamara Should Quit

Role Is Revealed in Missile Showdown

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine reports that a Russian spy assured President John F. Kennedy during the 1962 Cuban missile crisis that Soviet nuclear forces were not in a state of war readiness.

In its issue out yesterday the Newsweek story cites the activities of Soviet Col. Oleg Penkovsky, executed by the Russians in 1963.

Penkovsky's memoirs, now being edited for publication, are said to reveal that he passed to Britain and United States some 5,000 bits of military, political and economic intelligence.

"Penkovsky knew full well that eventually the Soviet security apparatus would find him," the magazine article says. "But if the story that has been accepted in intelligence circles over the past few years is correct, he may at least have had the satisfaction of knowing that it was his greatest contribution to the West that led to his final downfall."

Barry Says McNamara Should Quit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Barry Goldwater called today for the resignation of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, urged an all-out bombing of Hanoi industrial complexes and blamed Govs. William W. Scranton and Nelson A. Rockefeller, both Republicans, for his defeat in last year's presidential election.

In a taped television interview with newscaster Vince Leonard of KYW entitled "One Year Later," Goldwater also said the Johnson administration had turned down his request to visit Viet Nam as a reserve general in the Air Force.

Speaking from his home in Phoenix, the former Arizona senator said the resignation of McNamara "would be the best thing that could happen in our war effort. He has had too big a say in making foreign policy."

Goldwater, who was soundly beaten by President Johnson in the 1964 election, said McNamara's policies have reduced the morale in the Pentagon to an all-time low.

"I would like to see him go back to making Edsels," Goldwater said.

NO DIFFERENCE

Goldwater said he couldn't see any difference in the danger of concentrating power whether in military or civilian leaders.

Such power, he said, was more to be feared in the hands of "professional civilians than in the military" and accused McNamara of such an abuse. He said older military heads have been shunted aside for younger men and decisions made by computers.

Goldwater said the war in Viet Nam could be ended in a relative few months if "we would say to Hanoi you are no longer a sacred place."

He urged heavy bombing of "not the city — we are not people" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

The appointment was made by Probate Judge Donald Adams, Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy and Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, all Democrats. Sparks was a Republican.

He gave no reason at the time, but did say there would be an announcement on his future plans this morning.

Seeterlin had been supervisor since April 1, 1963.

The post paid $11,000 a year.

5-3 Vote of Justices Overturns '64 Ruling

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court today reopened the legislative apportionment question, ordering the State Apportionment Commission to draw up another districting plan.

By a 5-3 vote, the court overturned its earlier approval of a Democratic-backed plan that contributed to Democratic sweeps in both houses of the Legislature last fall.

The vote of the five justices was sufficient to order reconsideration of the apportionment plan adopted hastily in June 1964.

The court took its stand in a 76-page ruling. The eight justices issued six opinions in the decision.

Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh and Justices Otis Smith and Theodore Souris opposed any revamping of state district lines.

CALLED BACK

The bipartisan, eight-member Legislative Apportionment Commission was to be called back immediately under the court order and given 90 days in which to come up with a new plan.

Affected are 110 House districts and 38 Senate districts.

The court's ruling came on a Republican-backed suit contesting Michigan's present districting plan.

The suit, filed Aug. 21, 1964, objected that the Democratic-backed plan deprives Michigan citizens of "fair and effective representation and therefore of their rights, without due process of law."

The plan went into effect with the State Supreme Court approval in June, 1964, shortly after the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision.

Gemini Spaceships May Nearly Touch

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 6 and 7 spaceships may maneuver to within inches of each other. Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford may leave No. 6 and walk over to No. 7 during the double orbital flight scheduled next month.

These possibilities came up Monday as the Gemini 7 astronauts discussed the flight with newsmen.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell also disclosed they plan to circle the earth for 10 of their 14 days wearing only long underwear.

The original Gemini 6 flight, with astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Stafford, was postponed Oct. 25 when the Agena rocket they were supposed to orbit up with failed to reach orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided to try the unique doubleheader, which has been dubbed the "Spirit of 76." It calls for Gemini 7 to be launched Dec. 8, with Gemini 6 to follow about eight days later. Gemini 6 is to stay aloft two or three days.

HOW CLOSE? Asked how close the two spaceships might come, Borman said:

"We really feel we could get to within a matter of inches. I'm not saying that yet. But all our simulations show that once you are within 50 to 60 feet, it should be easy to get the rest to the way."

Lovell said he would be pleased if the two Geminis came close enough to prove the basic objective of space rendezvous — "the ability to transfer personnel and materials between two space stations. That would be 25 feet, 50 feet or 100 feet, depending on the method of operation and the length of the tether line used."

According to a plan being studied by the space agency, Stafford would open the hatch of Gemini 6, step out and stroll around to Gemini 7, posing for pictures and perhaps rapping on the window.

A decision is expected within a few days.

Borman said a space walk definitely was out on his ship because of new lightweight space suits he and Lovell plan to wear.

"We plan," he said, "to take this suit off during flight and fly in a shirt-sleeve environment for up to, we hope, 10 days."

Girl Is Slain Baby-Sitting

Detroit Police Hunt for a Mystery Man

DETROIT (AP)—Police were looking today for a mystery man seen leaving a west side flat in which the nude body of an 18-year-old baby sitter was found Monday.

The victim, Julie Pasanen, a blue-eyed blonde from suburban Highland Park, was found sprawled in the bathroom of a flat rented by Mrs. Ellen A. Kadri, 23, of Detroit.

Mrs. Kadri's 18-month-old son, Michael, was found playing near the body, police said. He was not harmed.

Police said they also plan to question several boys who had dated Miss Pasanen recently. Officers also said they sought to locate and question Mrs. Kadri's husband, Najib Kadri, 21, a Lebanese immigrant. Kadri has been separated from his wife for a week, they said.

NUMEROUS WOUNDS The girl was stabbed at least 20 times, police said. Bloody footprints were found throughout the flat, a two-apartment duplex owned by Mrs. Caroline Regula, 51. The weapon was not found.

Mrs. Regula said she saw a man at the back door as she was coming from the basement laundry room but he fled as her brother, Joseph Bosz, 54, of suburban Dearborn, arrived.

Bosz said he opened the door and called police after he spotted the footprints.

While police inspected the flat, a 19-year-old Detroit youth came to the door. He told police he was a friend of Miss Pasanen's and had talked to her on the telephone Monday morning, after spending Sunday with her on a date. He was released.

DIARY, LETTERS Police found a diary and some letters belonging to Miss Pasanen. They indicated she was pregnant.

Treasurer's Aide New Court Clerk

Deputy treasurer Theodore Koella has resigned to become assignment clerk for Oakland County Circuit Court.

Koella, 37, of 1845 Woodland, Sylvan Lake, began his new duties yesterday under the direction of court administrator C. Richard Smith.

He was recommended for the position by the Circuit bench.

Employed in the treasurer's office since January 1958, Koella fills the new position which in the past had been handled in a dual capacity by Smith.

Koella, a Republican, said today that the recent death of a local Republican Charles A. Sparks, county treasurer for 33 years, didn't prompt him to accept the new position.

He said he had been considering the job since early this year.

James E. Seeterlin, a Democrat, was named today to the treasurer's post.

A past president of the County Lincoln Republican Club and a member of the executive committee of the county GOP, Koella served two terms on the Sylvan Lake City Council, 1942-1946.

Earlier this year he was appointed justice of the peace in Sylvan Lake, but resigned four weeks later because of a conflict of interest.

The treasurer's office audits the accounts of all county justices.

Koella has served as a commissioner on the Oakland County Employees Retirement System since 1948 and is a member and director of the National Association of County Treasurers and Finance Officers.

Besides increasing passenger comfort, this new transmission has the advantage of wider combinations of gradeability and top speed. It shifts under full power, with no throttle reduction required.

Driver control is simplified because there is no clutch pedal to operate.

Other engineering advantages include a new high-vision instrument console, improved air conditioning, and simplified maintenance.

SAFETY MEASURES For passenger safety, the new convenient ceiling grab rails are provided, together with eye-level precautionary lights at each tier step.

Lights are combined in one attractive, functional fixture located in the aisle end of the package rack.

Merit System Proposed for Employees of County

A proposed merit system, or competitive examinations to civil service program, for Oakland County employees was recommended today by the County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee.

If the proposal is approved next Tuesday by the full board of supervisors, the merit system concept would be put into practice next Jan. 1.

Formal adoption of a merit system ordinance, however, requires a majority vote of the electorate.

The issue could be placed on the ballot either in the primary election next August or the general election in November, 1966.

Among the advantages of a merit system cited by county officials were that it would aid in recruiting employees, make the county eligible for additional federal matching funds and provide greater job protection.

EXAM TAKERS Presently only 25 to 30 per cent of county employees take competitive examinations, according to John Witherspoon, county personnel director.

"Under the proposed merit system, nearly all would be examined," Witherspoon said. "It provides a more scientific approach to hiring."

Committee members yesterday amended a provision on politics he said the attacks by Rockefeller, of New York, and Scranton, of Pennsylvania, describing him as a trigger-happy and anti-peace-loving Social Security hater, hurt most in his bid for the presidency.

"They said it so often that people believed it," he asserted. "The defection of Republican party has learned a lesson."

KENNEDY VISIT Goldwater decried the visits to Viet Nam of so many civilians "who don't know what they're seeing. They won't let me, but they let Ted Kennedy (Democratic Massachusetts senator) go and he doesn't know which end of the rifle the bullet comes from."

The Arizona also had some words about civil rights, saying that we will continue to have of riots in the streets "as long as the people are told they are supposed to break the law as Dr. Martin Luther King is doing."

Brink's Holdup Suspect Is Held

FBI Charges Another and Identifies Cannon

NEW YORK (AP) — In swift developments, the FBI arrested one man in the $400,000 Brink's burglary in Syracuse, N.Y., charged another still at large and recovered the cannon used to blast open the vault.

Jack Frank, 33, of Freeport, N.Y., taken into custody by federal agents, was to be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner in Brooklyn.

His nephew, Joel Singer, 22, of Chateaufort, Quebec, is being sought in the burglary 10 days ago.

They were charged in Albany, N.Y., with conspiracy to violate the statute on interstate transportation of stolen property. The FBI also charged Singer with a violation of the federal firearms act in connection with the transportation of a 20mm antitank gun from Quebec to Syracuse.

The FBI said that it had recovered, with the aid of the Navy and Coast Guard, the antitank gun used in the burglary from waters near the Meadowbrook Parkway bridge to Jones Beach on Long Island.

CANNON IDENTIFIED The developments were announced last night in Washington, D.C., by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who said laboratory experts positively identified the cannon as the one used in the burglary.

Police said the Brink's building in Syracuse was broken into the weekend of Oct. 23-24 and thieves fired at least 30 rounds from a 20mm cannon to blast open the vault.

The thieves made off with $416,028 from the vault, including $160,774 in cash and $255,254 in checks.

Frank, a bachelor and a mechanic on Long Island, was arrested last night in Garden City, then taken to the FBI office in Manhattan for fingerprinting and other processing. He was lodged in the Federal House of Detention.

CONVICTED IN 1961 Federal agents said Singer, who had been employed as a truckman, had been convicted in Canada in 1961 for shopbreaking and given a suspended sentence. He was described as 6 feet tall, 192 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes.

O'Brien Asking Defense Chief to Run for Governor

Sen. Carl W. O'Brien of Pontiac acknowledged in Lansing today he is asking Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to return to Michigan and run for Governor on the Democratic ticket.

The freshman Democratic legislator said he had sent McNamara a letter last week asking him "to give deep consideration to the possibility of running for governor."

"Many Democrats and independents in the state feel that he is the man for governor," said O'Brien, and added "a high ranking union official" was to meet with McNamara later this week to discuss his political future.

McNamara was not immediately available for comment. However, aides said he apparently doesn't consider the matter important enough to discuss seriously.

Four other Pontiac residents were injured in the accident.

City Woman Dies of Mishap Injuries

Several Key Elections Are on Tap Today

mid weather was expected for today's election in which about 400,000 voters were expected to cast their votes for mayor and other offices.

In addition to the nonpartisan mayoral contest between heavily favored incumbent Jerome Cavanaugh and challenger Walter C. Shamie, voters were to vote for nine candidates for city council, judgeships and other municipal offices. Voters will also decide whether Detroit water should be fluoridated.

New Jersey, Virginia and New York are electing legislators, while Kentucky is filling some seats. In the only congressional contest, Republican Clarence J. Brown Jr., 38, is favored to capture the Ohio 7th District seat held for many years by the late brother. Brown's 35th legislative opponent is James A. Berry, 35, Judge McCullum.

City Accepts Salt Bids; 2 Firms to Get Contract

BIRMINGHAM—Bids on rock salt for city streets this winter were accepted last night by the City Commission, a week after one commissioner suggested that a lawsuit be considered against three companies for submitting identical bids.

Commissioner Carl Ingraham said that he had reconsidered his proposal and voted along with other commissioners to split the contract with two of the three bidders.

"I realize that we are in need of salt and I don't know how it can be bought on the open market," said Ingraham.

In awarding the contract for about 900 tons of salt, the commission accepted City Manager Robert Kenning's recommendation to purchase it from Morton and International.

The action was delayed from last Monday when commissioners failed to agree on motions to accept the manager's recommendation or to reject all bids.

ADJOURN HEARING In other business, the commission accepted the recommendation of the police department to use the single head parking meters in the diagonal parking spaces to be metered on Woodward Avenue.

TELL ADVANTAGES The department had been requested to report on the advantages of the single head meters and the dual head units.

Seeterlin Named County Treasurer by Official Panel

Seeterlin of 4597 W. Walton, Waterford Township, will be officially sworn in at the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' meeting next Tuesday.

SUCCESSOR ON BOARD Seeterlin's successor reportedly will be selected by the Township Board, Treasurer Dorothy Olson said the replacement could be a present board member or an outsider.

Accomplishments achieved during Seeterlin's reign as supervisor include beginning of work on the township's $7.35 million water project, establishment of a public library and just recently plans to construct a sanitary sewer system.

A life-long township resident, Seeterlin is a graduate of Pontiac High School and a World War II veteran. He has taken several courses at Wayne State University.

He was employed by a trucking firm as assistant sales and driver prior to becoming township clerk in 1957.

Seeterlin is married and the father of eight children. His latest, a boy, was born last week.

The shooting followed an automobile chase through the Branch-Cloves area, which ended when a car driven by Taylor slammed into a parked car, according to Gallardo.

The patrolman said Taylor jumped from the car and fled on foot through the housing project into a field.

Gallardo said he and Mutrynovsky each fired a warning shot at the air before aiming at Taylor.

APPEARED TO STUMBLE Taylor appeared to stumble after the first shotgun blast, but then continued running, according to Gallardo. The patrolman searched the field, but said they found no trace of Taylor.

At the time of his escape Oct. 21, Taylor was under a one-year sentence for a previous jailbreak Sept. 14.

On that date Pontiac police reported Taylor removed a glass window at the station's detention room, unlocked the door and walked out.

Later the same day, Taylor gave himself up to the station and came back into custody.

CONVICTED OF LARCENY Taylor was originally convicted of larceny from a building and sentenced to 90 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Following his Sept. 14 escape, Taylor was handed the one-year jail term by Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCullum.

Taylor was discovered missing Oct. 21 when deputies at the Oakland County Jail informed Pontiac police Taylor had not been returned to custody since taken from jail by police officers according to Pontiac policeman Billy Hargraves.

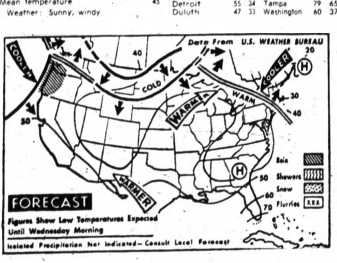

Hargraves said Taylor had been locked in the detention room to await return to the jail late brother. Brown's 35th legislative opponent is James A. Berry, 35, Judge McCullum.

Indonesia Moves to Curb Leftists in Key Positions

JAKARTA (UPI)—Indonesian authorities have moved to curb leftists in the country's courts, defense and security departments, Radio Jakarta said today.

The army-controlled radio said Wirjono Produdukoro, chairman of the supreme court, suspended judges of the sessions and land reform courts who were members of leftist "peoples" organizations.

The order was the latest in a long line of anti-Communist actions since the Communist party was identified as a key force in the abortive coup against the government Oct. 1.

But there were signs that rebel elements were continuing the fight.

President Sukarno yesterday endorsed a previous army declaration of a "state of war" (martial law) in central Java and Jogjakarta, seat of the Indonesian uprising against the Dutch following World War II.

In announcing the order on radio Jakarta, Sukarno said "grave danger" persisted from the rebel elements holding out in the Communist stronghold of central Java.

THOROUGH PURGE

Today the radio also announced that Defense Minister

Abdul Haris Nasution has ordered a thorough purge of his department and the security department.

As another security measure, Nasution ordered the "workers' organization" within the defense department disbanded immediately. No reason was announced, but apparently the organization was packed with Communists and other leftists.

Cremation Is Slated for Klansman

READING, Pa. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan leader who shot himself to death when his Jewish background became public is being cremated and buried today.

Daniel Burros, 28, the grand dragon of the New York Klan, shot himself twice Sunday in the apartment of a Pennsylvania Klan leader after reading his newspaper story revealing his Jewish origin.

His parents identified the body Monday.

Dr. Michael Austin, assistant Berks County coroner, ruled the death a suicide after an autopsy.

NO COMMENT

Police said the parents, George Burros, 71, and his wife, Esther, 62, returned to New York after identifying the body. They declined all comment to newsmen.

Police said they told them their son had been away from home for more than a year and they had been unaware of his connection with what they called "un-American" organizations until July 1964. This apparently referred to Burros' reported membership in the American Nazi party and the National Renaissance party, a New York right wing group.

They told police they did not approve of his involvement with such groups, but could do nothing about it.

ENTERED LUNG

LI, Walter A. Nawoczenski of the homicide department said the autopsy showed that one bullet entered Burros' chest and penetrated a lung, causing a hemorrhage. The second bullet entered the right side of the temple and was the fatal one.

Police said Burros' death occurred in the apartment of Roy E. Frankhouser Jr., 25, named by the House Committee on un-American Activities as grand dragon of the Klan in Pennsylvania. Present besides Frankhouser, said the police, was Frank Rotella, 28, of New Jersey Klan leader, and Regina Kupiszewski, 21, described by police as Frankhouser's girlfriend.

won't go away

It won't until we do something about this crisis in higher education.

Some colleges predict that they soon may have to turn away qualified high school graduates.

If they do have to turn away these potential leaders, it will be because of shortages—in buildings, facilities, and especially qualified teachers.

But we need leaders, more and more. Leaders manage and make wise use of our manpower, resources and human skills.

Good leadership protects our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards.

This is everybody's concern. Make it yours. Give to the college of your choice.

Beware of Changes in Blood-Sugar Level

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY
In a recent piece about high and low blood sugar, I said, "Extremes or excessive reduction of the level of sugar in the blood occurs much more frequently than we formerly supposed, in persons who are not diabetic."

suggested by Abrahamson and Pizet in their book, "Body, Mind and Sugar," published by Henry Holt & Co., New York, N.Y.

To the uninitiated it may seem illogical to attribute low blood sugar to excessive consumption of carbohydrate (starches and sugars), but Dr. Abrahamson and Mr. Pizet, following the pioneer studies of Dr. Seale Harell hypoglycemia with over-is, explain the paradox: Excessive carbohydrate (starch and sugar, such as potato, bread, ice cream, candy) overstimulates the islands of Langerhans in the pancreas which secrete insulin, and this reduces the sugar in the blood to a dangerously low level — a condition which is the same in effect as hyperinsulinism, insulin shock.

Persons subject to hyperinsulinism (low blood sugar) should avoid absolutely sugar, candy, cake, pie, sweet custards, puddings and ice cream; ordinary coffee and beverages containing caffeine or a caffeine-like drug; potatoes, rice, grapes, raisins, plums, figs, date, bananas; spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, waffles, cordials, cocktails and beer.

One doctor suggested an electro-encephalogram to determine whether brain waves follow over a brain tumor. I decided simply to let the tumor grow. Another, noticing that my heart misses a beat two or three times a minute (it has done so ever since Tony was a pup), thought it might skip three or four beats in succession, which would interrupt the supply of oxygen to vital brain centers long enough to produce lapses of consciousness, etc.

I wish he had kept that sage theory to himself — not that it worried me, but just that it made me a little less confident in my own diagnosis.

LAPSES CEASED
Whatever the nature of my blackouts may have been, they ceased, after a year or two, almost entirely. On rare occasions I did have momentary sensations of fright or panic, as for example a year ago when I fell heavily on my back and sustained a fracture of a lumbar vertebra.

Then, a month ago, I had another spell, lapse or seizure — out of a clear sky a sudden feeling of panic, momentary, hard to describe but accompanied with the thought "Oh-oh, this is it."

The panic was over within a few seconds, I think, but for half an hour I lay back extremely weak and in a cold sweat. Then I changed to dry clothing, had a cookie and a glass of milk, and right away felt just fine and dandy.

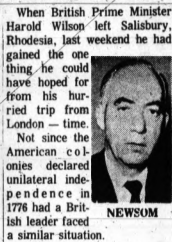

Many readers who are subject to hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) have told me of the great benefit they have derived from following the type of diet

And, indeed, in Salisbury's prosperous shops, on its shaded, pleasant streets and on its golf courses, the whites of Rhodesia, outnumbered 18 to 1 by blacks, talked of Rhodesian independence almost as though it already were an accomplished fact.

In the closing, suspenseful days of October, it appeared that both Wilson and Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith were locked in flexible positions from which neither could retreat.

Smith in his demands that the self-governing colony be given independence now under a constitution which guaranteed continuing rule by Rhodesia's 220,000 whites over its 4 million blacks.

Wilson in his equally adamant stand that independence only could come with guarantees for eventual black majority rule.

WAY OF LIFE

For Smith whose farm had hacked his farm out of the African bush and others like him, for small businessmen and artisans who had emigrated from England to find a new and prosperous way of life south of the Sahara, it was unthinkable that all this now should be turned over to the mercies of a black government.

The alternative was UDI, a unilateral declaration of independence.

For the British, dedicated to a policy of black African independence and with far-flung commonwealth ties, UDI was equally unpalatable.

So intertwined were the issues in national sentiments, that retreat by either Wilson or Smith could mean the fall of a government.

BEYOND BORDERS

The problems went beyond the borders of Rhodesia.

Economically, Britain could halt the import of Rhodesian tobacco, the colony's greatest earner of foreign exchange.

It could cut off Rhodesia's commonwealth preferences such as in the export of sugar, it could freeze Rhodesian assets in Britain and it could block Rhodesian access to the London money market.

Unfortunately, while such sanctions might hurt Rhodesia's white population, it would hurt the blacks even more and could extend across boundaries to Malawi, formerly the colony of Nyasaland, and to Zambia, formerly Northern Rhodesia.

SENDING HOME

More than 150,000 Malawis now work in Rhodesia, sending home around $1 million per month.

Zambia's rich copper industry depends upon Rhodesian electricity and upon transport on the Rhodesian-controlled railway.

In Salisbury, Wilson and Smith agreed that a royal commission would study possible constitutional changes.

Short of immediate power, no changes will satisfy militant black Africans. But Wilson has gained precious time.

U.S. Acts to Conserve One of Nature's Boons

No graver problem today faces the Nation as a whole than that related to water. It is a two-way problem:

- Providing adequate sources of the vital element;
- Controlling its use and eventual treatment with minimal waste and contamination.

The seriousness of the second factor, well covered by the one word "pollution," has intensified until it has assumed national, as well as state and local, priority — and is being so attacked.

During the session recently adjourned, Congress passed many meritorious pollution control bills that lay the groundwork for a progressive campaign against the insidious evil of water pollution.

Foremost of such measures is the Water Quality Act of 1965 that increases by $50 million a year the amount of Federal funds available to assist municipalities in constructing waste treatment facilities.

A secondary provision establishes a four-year program, with an annual appropriation of $20 million in grants and awards to explore the antiquated combined-storm-and-sanitary sewer systems that are found in all or parts of some of our older cities. (It is estimated that to completely correct this condition on a national scale would cost a staggering $30 billion).

As an inducement to orderly regional development, grants under the primary purview of the act may be increased by 10 per cent if the project is certified by a planning agency as conforming with a comprehensive metropolitan area plan.

If a state matches it, the Federal grant for a project, under the revised concept of the new legislation, may run up to 30 per cent of the total cost.

Thus, before enactment of the Water Quality Act, Michigan would have been in line for only a $2.95-million grant against the $4.6 million estimate of the cost of correcting conditions in communities not now providing proper treatment of sewage.

Now, however, the State would be allocated $5 million — enough to cover present needs and provide aid for projects arising in the future.

Other bills involving the Federal government in the Country's water supply and pollution control aggregate $700 million or more annually over a four-year period.

It is good to know that Uncle Sam is marshaling his might against an emergency that is daily becoming more threatening.

Has Nikita's Bluster Gone With the Wind?

Whatever became of the Soviet Union?

Time was when the Kremlin was the crisis capital of the world. Later, when NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV was at the helm, it was both that and the Madison Avenue of communism.

It has now been a year since his colleagues rewarded Mr. K for past services with sudden retirement and a house in the country, and the place hasn't been the same since.

There hasn't been a single crisis — Moscow-inspired, at any rate — worth mentioning. Soviet prestige and influence continue to take a beating at the hands of Peking. The United States has taken over in the field of space spectaculars.

The problems of agriculture and industrial production, which helped bring about KHRUSHCHEV's downfall, still plague his successors. Their solutions to them look more and more like Western-style capitalism.

Denunciation of the United States still emanate from the Kremlin, but they are much reduced in frequency and intensity. In the United Nations, the two countries have even found themselves acting in concert on the Kashmir question.

When one thinks back to the events of only a few years ago — the Berlin Wall, the Cuban missile crisis, Russian strides in missiles and space — the change is startling.

No news may not always be good news, and no one is rushing to say the leopard has changed his spots and turned vegetarian. But the absence of the kind of news we have been used to from Moscow is most pleasant to contemplate — while it lasts anyway!

12 Hopefuls Left in Press Contest

Grid Tussles Take Toll of 15 Buckeye, Ram Fans

The annual Press Football Contest played a double feature over the weekend. As a result, the 27 participating contestants are down to 12 as we look ahead to Saturday's tilt between Alabama and Louisiana State University. Eight dropped out Saturday when Ohio State beat Minnesota 11-10, and seven more were counted out Sunday by the Lions' 31-7 win over the Rams. For the upcoming game, eight will be cheering madly for 'Bama, four exhorting LSU to give their all — except points.

The last-minute field goal that gave Ohio State the decision must have been a heartbreaker for those who had picked Minnesota to keep them on the bond trail.

Then with scarcely time to draw a long breath, the 19 still in contention snapped on the telly Sunday to view another spin of the contest's wheel of fortune.

It turned out to be the quickest spin ever spun. The Lions racked the Rams for two touchdowns — in less than three minutes after kickoff. Although final figures gave the Lions a 31-7 verdict, the outcome was flashed by the early curtain-raising action.

For all practical purposes the game could have been called at that point, enabling players and spectators to spend the rest of the game time following other inclinations — which, with the near-90 degree heat and smog that enveloped Los Angeles would have probably consisted of finding a cool, airy spot.

Saturday's game will be the ninth of the 15-game contest schedule. The season to date gives 'Bama a 5-1 record, while LSU stands 5-2.

Once more no one called a tie. Should one show up, the game will be disregarded, with all hands standing by for the local Waterford-Kettering game the Friday evening following.

The contest clock is ticking its way to the moment of truth, so don't get away. With another double-deal scheduled for Nov. 12-13, we'll soon have the long-awaited answer.

David Lawrence Says:

Hardship Often Follows Strike

WASHINGTON — Public opinion in America is slowly becoming disillusioned about the value of settlements forced under threat of strikes.

Plenty of news space is given by their turning out to be not just a battle between employers and labor unions but often bringing cruel hardships to workers who weeks after a settlement, find themselves without jobs.

Plenty of news space is given to the happenings during a critical negotiation on the eve of a possible strike, but unfortunately the story of what happens in the weeks and months afterwards doesn't get widespread attention — mostly because it develops through fragmentary disclosures, as both unions and management are reluctant to comment on the ensuing events.

What has occurred, for instance, since the big crisis in steel last September, which was settled by presidential intervention?

Steel inventories — piled up in anticipation of the strike — now are being absorbed.

The index of production, based on the years 1967 through 1969, is down from 156.6 in April 1965 to 109.1. There is uncertainty as to how long the decline will continue, but the effects of the downward turn are conspicuous.

AT STANDSTILL

Some of the so-called high-cost units are at a standstill and layoffs have been substantial, especially in the older steel areas.

While skilled workers haven't been as much affected, the damage to the non-skilled is considerable.

Many private estimates by reporters who specialize in news of the steel industry indicate that employment of hourly workers is down about 15 per cent since its peak last summer.

There has been a lesser impact on salaried workers, as they are not readily replaced without a loss for training time. Another consequence of the settlement with the major steel companies has been an outbreak of strikes against the smaller producers of steel, who contend they cannot afford the high wage costs imposed by the recent contracts accepted by the larger companies.

In five small companies alone at least 17,000 workers are idle.

10 SUFFER DECLINES

From the standpoint of earnings and the effects on individuals who have invested their savings in steel companies, a survey by the Wall Street Journal last week showed that, out of 23 companies studied, at least 10 suffered serious declines from the third-quarter figure, though other segments of the national economy made gains.

There is no question but that the economic consequences precipitated by major industrial conflicts will result in steadily rising price scales as the purchasing power of the dollar continues to go down.

Meanwhile, foreign steel producers, with lower wage costs and lower prices to offer, are increasing their shipments to the United States.

What is the answer?

Neither labor nor management has come up with any solution, and the government as an interested bystander prefers to do nothing remedial but to wait instead until the situation drifts into another crisis, when presumably pressure will be applied again without warrant of law.

Bob Considine Says:

Brother-in-Law Stories Prove a Cruel Distortion

WASHINGTON — Over the years I'd guess I've heard 10,000 brother-in-law jokes. They always put the rap on the in-law, who is usually described as a moocher.

My brother-in-law Jack Rowe, who was buried here today, made every brother-in-law joke a cruel inaccuracy.

Jack Rowe paid his own way through life and took a lot of us along on his coastals, his family, a multitude of friends, and an army of acquaintances who knew a soft touch when they saw one. He gave us a wonderful ride.

When he had it real good in the restaurant business, at the track, or took the numbers fellow for a cleaning, it was good for everybody around Jack.

Every day of the year was Christmas for Jack Rowe, and a majority of his nights were New Year's Eve.

ALWAYS ROOM

There was always room for another chair at his table, another stool at his bar.

"Always go first class if you can," he used to say, "and if you can't go first class stay home."

The vicissitudes of life, and now and then a horse with too short a nose, turned Jack into a home-body on occasion.

He made it the happiest home imaginable filled with love and laughter and a bulging ice box, a good and generous wife, wonderful son and daughter and platoon of grandchildren.

REVOLVED AROUND HIM

His life revolved around him as planets around the sun. He cast enough light and affection in his time to warm all of his clan and then some, for many years to come.

Jack Rowe was the kind of fellow I wanted to be like. He always dressed well, never needed a haircut, smelled good, had a roll in his kick, and around the table never suffered from an impediment in his reach.

His eye was on romantic far off places — Colonial Beach, Va.; Atlantic City; New York; Bowie; Laurel; Havre de Grace; Belmont; Jimmy La Fontaine's. He was also exotic.

In later years in New York, it was a joy to try to pay back in some small way for the enlargement he had given my dreams.

He loved Leon and Eddie's, the Copa, and above all, Toots Shor's. The Washington Redskins became his alma mater, come fair weather or foul.

Anybody who was Jack's friend was enriched for life.

Difficult Future Faces Lindsay

By BRUCE BLOSSAT NEW YORK (NEA) — Should

John V. Lindsay win the New York mayoralty, he and the national Republican party probably would not be ready for each other by the time the 1968 presidential race rolls around.

The earlier notion that a victorious Lindsay would be politically impossible is a foreboding prospect for the GOP prospect for 1968 may very well have been consumed in the fires of this battle. Perhaps it never had much validity.

First off, to gain any kind of national stature he would have to bring at least some faint signs of new order to the massive chaos of New York City.

Since New York's life is a tapestry of chronic troubles ranging from too heavy automobile traffic to too heavy narcotics traffic, Lindsay could hardly expect to make decisive headway in the 12 or 20 months before he would have to begin serious presidential campaigning.

Many Republican governors and other party leaders have said publicly or privately that the 1968 GOP nominee is going to have to go the hard primary route to prove himself to all major party elements. This usually requires heavy laboratory campaigning in the early months

Elderly Citizen Replies to Criticism of Driving

To "Lefty," the gentleman who criticizes those of us over 65 years of age on our driving, do you know why there are over 19 million of us in the U.S.A.? Because we drive 32 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone, instead of 60 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone, as you do.

Why drive so fast? You get to the traffic light and are sitting there waiting when we slower drivers catch up to you. You endanger your life and others around you, just to stand and wait.

I pay taxes and if I want to drive within the speed limit, go on around me. Until the patrolmen say to speed it up, I shall drive carefully.

Recalls Statement About Drivers of the Past

The letters in the Voice of the People have been very interesting and I write to recall a very old but very truthful statement. "The cemetery is full of people that had the right of way."

'Most American Drivers Are Courteous'

In reply to the letter written by "Lefty L.," I have driven a car for the past 45 years and really it is too bad that the had to wait five minutes before a driver would let her through.

Perhaps it was when all these hard-working men were coming home and just could not let her through. Most drivers are very courteous and I resent the remark that they are less selfish in Europe. I was in Paris on a trip a while ago — and such drivers!

By the way, has this lady ever been to Europe? Let her go back and do her driving over there.

'Nation's Elderly Are Target of Health Gyps'

Among the serious problems facing the elderly is their financial security. When this is shattered, tragedy strikes. Crooks and scoundrels have devised many ways to fleece the aged for their own enrichment while posing as businessmen.

The elderly are particularly vulnerable to health quackery, one of the more widespread rackets. Illness and disease are greatest among them and their limited funds and desperation make them susceptible to so-called "wonder cures." Sophisticated promoters and quacks are exploiting the aged in such diverse areas as cancer, nutrition, health devices and gadgets, phony and questionable clinics and spas that claim to specialize in the treatment of diseases that primarily afflict the elderly.

A prime target of the health gyp is the arthritis victim. It is estimated that America's 12 million arthritics — most of them older people — are fleeced of $250 million a year for quack remedies and pseudo-scientific claptrap of all kinds. Always, always talk to a doctor you trust.

Substandard Instruction in Detroit?

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Education Association said Monday it is concerned that the Detroit Public School System, faced with a teacher shortage, may be bringing in substandard teachers.

The MEA declared that "the 300,000 children in Detroit schools are just as important, just as valuable, and just as deserving of a quality education as children of any other school district in America."

"Providing them with substandard teachers, or no teachers at all, does not bear out any such attitude of equality in Detroit," it said.

The association said a news release from Detroit public schools indicates "that a very superficial training program is being given to noncertified people prior to placing them in classrooms."

SUPERVISION?
While the release indicates that these new people will be placed under supervision, it is hard to understand where adequate supervision can come from if there is a serious shortage of qualified teachers just to fill classrooms," it said in a statement.

The MEA said it had been told Detroit public schools had a shortage of 1,302 substitutes to fill the classrooms of absent teachers during September.

Cycle Adventure

Area Young Man Goes West

Glen H. Loveland, 18, of 7165 working in a printing plant and Henry, Orchard Lake, a former enjoying mountain scenery.

reached the Pacific Coast Sunday to complete the first part of a 'Go west, young man,' motorcycleing adventure.

Glen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Loveland, left Pontiac Oct. 19.

"Except for the first day, I had beautiful weather all the way," he said by phone. "After visiting relatives, I plan to see more of the West and generally survey job opportunities."

As a co-op student at Wallied Lake High School, Loveland received job training and work experience before graduating in June.

As a result, he earned enough money to buy his motorcycle and finance the trip. He started planning for it last year.

En route Oct. 25, Loveland went mountain climbing near Denver with a friend who was blazing trail for a group to follow. He hiked 11 miles.

Boulder, Colo., impressed him most. He spent three days there

Afro-Asian Summit Dies Amid Red Strife

ALGIERS (AP) — The second Afro-Asian summit conference finally fell apart today, a victim of the fierce political conflict between the Soviet Union and Red China.

Foreign ministers of the Afro-Asian world buried their hopes for the projected meeting and shelved it indefinitely. It had been delayed twice, it was to be opened Friday.

The foreign ministers reluctantly concluded that a summit conference would be boycotted by their most powerful member, Red China, and a number of other members.

Peking stayed away from the foreign ministers' conference and warned that it would not attend any conference which included the Soviet Union.

The Red Chinese point when the foreign ministers declined to adopt India's proposal to bring the Soviet Union into the Afro-Asian ranks now. Nearly all of the 45 countries represented, however, favored inclusion of the Soviet Union if another summit meeting is ever held.

Indian Secretary of State for Foreign Minister C. S. Jha told a news conference this was "a great political consequence for the Afro-Asian bloc and for the entire world."

The debate on Soviet participation raged day and night over the weekend in the committee rooms and corridors of Algiers' new $30-million conference center on a beach 15 miles west of Algiers.

The summit meeting was to have marked the 10th anniversary of the first Afro-Asian conference in Bandung, Indonesia, when anticolonialism was the cement for Afro-Asian unity. Most of Africa and Asia has now achieved independence, and colonialism obviously has lost much of its force as an issue to bind the Africans and Asians together.

Jha acknowledged at his news conference that this meeting in Algiers had impaired the Bandung spirit and would undoubtedly disappoint public opinion in the Afro-Asian world.

92 Reds Said Killed in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat troops reported 92 Communist guerrillas killed and 26 captured in fighting in central Viet Nam today and Monday.

Men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, who arrived in Viet Nam only seven weeks ago, fought three engagements against an enemy force of between 500 and 600 men near the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me, 210 miles north of Saigon.

The airborne cavalrymen reported they killed 88 of the enemy, captured 26 others and picked up 25 suspects. A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnamese regulars were among those killed and captured.

There was no word on American casualties.

The Plei Me camp underwent a weeklong siege before the Communists were routed last week. The cavalrymen have been hunting down Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the area since then.

Bores Ordinary Fellow

Season Jumper Stays Ahead

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals today is the season jumper.

This is the person who prides himself on getting things done ahead of time.

By now he probably already has eaten his Thanksgiving Day dinner and sent out his Christmas cards.

There is a BOYLE tendency in several fields to jump the gun and get a head start on everybody else, and this has become a bore to the ordinary fellow, who by nature is something of a procrastinator.

Magazines hope to get an edge by mailing out their April issues in January. All sports, including baseball and football, appear to be lengthening their season. The idea is to start sooner and stay longer, thus milking every last possibility of profit by remaining on the scene as long as an excuse can be found to do so.

If nature started following this practice of advancing and extending the seasons, soon we'd be swatting mosquitoes in February and throwing snow balls in July.

Fallout Data Computerized

By Science Service

ALBANY, N.Y. — Quick information about radioactivity in milk, air, water, soil and any other material that could pose a health problem is to be transmitted by an electronic computer by a system expected to be in operation by the end of 1965.

By getting data quickly, corrective and preventive action can be taken. Leased telephone wires will send information to the Albany Laboratories.

The new system, which was designed by the New York State Health Department's radiological sciences laboratory, will supplement the department's statewide network of stations that sample materials for radioactivity.

It was designed under a contract with the U.S. Public Health Service, which is considering a nationwide network. About $100,000 of government money has been involved so far.

FIRST STATION

The first station is at Springfield, N.Y., in the western part of the state.

Ready for use are four gamma ray detectors, two alpha detectors and four beta detectors that can examine samples around the clock seven days a week.

Other stations can be added and any station can be used as the central one.

The system operates when radiation causes the detector to send impulses to an analog-to-digital converter in the Springfield Laboratory. This ADC changes the impulse into a signal a computer can read.

Mother of 20 Speaks Up

You Think You're Busy!

NEW YORK (AP) — The trim brunette, neatly attired in brown knit, arrived exhausted after a day in Philadelphia. Homesick for California, she went to her hotel room, slipped on a robe and picked up the telephone to call the children?

Rosemary, Louise, Colleen, Nicky, Thomas, Susan, Janette, Mary Germaine, Jean Veronica, Phillip, Gerald, Joseph, Teresa, Joan and Helen.

Helen Beardsley is the mother of 20, the oldest 21 and the youngest 18 months.

She doesn't look it, act it or talk it. Only by specific questions would you know she cooks breakfast for 20 at 4:45 a.m., orders 35 bread loaves weekly, pays a monthly grocery bill around $1,000, and is an author.

It was to promote her book, "Who Gets the Drumstick?" that she visited Philadelphia and New York recently.

Five years ago Helen Beardsley was heartbroken and saddened, a widow with eight young children. Then came fate, a handsome Irishman named Frank, a widower with 10 children of his own.

Their wedding combining families of 18 children was something of a nationwide fairy tale. Since, the Beardsleys have had two more babies of their own, and three older boys have left for college and the Marines.

She squeals critics. "We have much at our advantage having so many. What goes for one, goes for all. That way, a child is never alone in anything. He doesn't feel picked on or singled out."

"When I say to children underfoot, 'let's move,' the children think, 'she means us,' not 'she means me.'"

"We have problems and we have spats among the children, but we can honestly say they don't fight."

"They're normal. We have lazy ones and eager ones. They are all different. The mood of the day."

Meetings and Party on Agenda

Glenn Wilson showed slides of the Holy Land at a recent luncheon meeting of the Maple Leaf Club, in Devon Gables.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Everett Harris and Mrs. Dale Moats who also welcomed new members, Mrs. George Andrews and Mrs. Glenn Wilson.

Three club members who leave soon for retirement homes in Florida were honored recently for their years of work in service clubs and civic affairs.

TEA PARTY

Afternoon tea in the Denby Drive home of Mrs. Harold D. Babb honored Mrs. Stuart Townsend of Silver Circle Drive. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Turris McCully, Mrs. Lawrence Taylor, Mrs. William Bedard and Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Lawrence Terrien and Mrs. Sadie McLean were feted at a luncheon given by Mrs. H. J. Endries and Mrs. Townsend in Kay Falls Restaurant.

Mrs. Fred Fuller will open her Orchard Lake home for the Christmas meeting. Mrs. Bedard and Mrs. Babb will be hostesses. Guests at the luncheon were: Mrs. John Radenbaugh, Mrs. Richard Taylor, Mrs. Ivan Knight, Mrs. A. O. Carmer and Mrs. A. G. Coleman.

TEAM WORK

The Beardsleys run an organized home in Carmel, Calif., where teams of children take part in the cooking, cleaning, gardening, and entertaining.

"Team A washes the dishes on Monday and Team B does it on Tuesday, and so on," says their pretty mother. "I check over the house after they've all left for school."

"I keep a paper in my apron and write notes if someone left soiled socks on the floor or a skirt on a chair. At the end of the day, I remind them."

"Our children are no different from anyone else's. If I start picking up after them, they'll let me."

"Usually, 75 per cent of the housework is done by the time they've all left for school."

Helen Beardsley is understandably proud of her brood. And the children are proud of her.

Among the greatest gifts a parent can offer a child in a small family or large family, she says, is conversation, the ability to communicate and talk things out.

"We talk to the children a great deal. People often ask how we manage to make each feel individually important. Many ways, really. Most of all, we talk."

GIFT OF FAITH

And there's another gift that shows in Helen Beardsley's twinkling blue eyes and comes through clearly in her book: her faith in God.

"Everyone has to have a faith. You have to believe that there's a reason for living. The important thing in a family is the underlying atmosphere."

Neighbors say the Beardsleys have it.

The Infant Is Blameless; Go Ahead and Give Present

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: One of the girls in our office has a new baby, born out of wedlock. She decided to keep the baby. She worked here for seven months and everyone liked her a lot. Here's the problem. Another girl in the office is taking up a collection to buy a gift for the baby. I am of the opinion that if I give something toward the gift, it will look like I am condoning immorality. If you were in my place, would you give?

ABBY

Now tell me, how can a cat "hold" a baby's nose while covering its mouth? As long as the baby is getting air, no vacuum can be produced.

HIGH MORALS

DEAR HIGH: The baby is here, and it is as blameless as any born in wedlock. You aren't being asked to contribute toward a "medal of honor" for the mother, just a gift for the new baby. If I were in your place, I would give.

DEAR ABBY: After reading many letters pro and con about whether cats DO suck the breath from babies, I am impelled to comment. To suck anything, the sucker must surround with his lips the receptacle from which he sucks in order to create a partial vacuum.

Consider the shape of a cat's mouth. Now tell me how a cat can make a vacuum so that no air is admitted through any side. It's impossible. But even if it WERE possible, the baby could still obtain air through its nose!

Another fact. Cats are naturally curious, and their hearing is especially acute. When a cat puts his nose against something, he is investigating.

In the case of a baby, the cat is probably curious about the "escaping air." A cat will seek warmth, and could conceivably suffocate an infant by lying on its face. But as for the story about cats sucking babies' breath, it is scientifically impossible!

WNFGA Anticipates International Tea

Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, national president, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will open Meadow Brook Hall, South Adams Road, Nov. 10, for the International Tea.

Proceeds from the annual affair go to the International Farm Youth Exchange program, the only rural exchange program in existence.

It is an adult program for persons who have been leaders in 4-H groups, to promote friendship and understanding between peoples.

TWO-WAY

This is a two-way exchange and Michigan farm families have been hosts to many foreign I.F.Y.E.'s.

Mrs. W. K. Goss of Ann Arbor, International Cooperation chairman for the Michigan Division, is planning the party.

Question Remains, Who Shocks Whom

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:
Our 6-year-old boy is picking up ugly words from other children that he brings home and uses whenever he is thwarted.

He is very fond of potato chips and will eat a whole bag of them if I let him. Yesterday he found some in my grocery delivery and, when I told him he couldn't have them because it was nearly dinner time, he yelled at me, "You're not but an old fink!" This is not the way to talk to a parent . . .

ANSWER: No it isn't. And now we've got past that, could we please perceive that he was trying to shock you by his ugly knowledge of the word "fink?" How beautifully you obliged him! How submissively you agreed to be shocked!

Now I'm going to say something that will bring me lots of letters accusing me of undermining the American family.
I'm going to say that were a small boy to call me an "old fink," I should say mildly, "My goodness," you do want to call me a bad name, don't you? But "fink" isn't so awful. It's "rat fink" that's really awful. So you better try again and call me an "old rat fink."

He wouldn't try again. He would be so impressed by the superiority of my worldly experience of bad names that the hope of shocking me with one would be given up as unpromising and unprofitable.

We can't teach children to treat us respectfully if they discover that they can shock us into horrified dismay whenever they feel like it.

Of course, if we let our own parents' definitions of respect for parents determine our opinions of it, being called a fink by a 6-year-old son at once becomes such outrageous disrespect that we can't possibly see what he's up to. We have to feel such shocked resentment at his "disrespect" that we have to remain blind as bats to the fact that our dismay is lovely gratification for the infant effort to shock us.

Instead of making it clear that shock-intending effort is a dismal flop, we have to flounder about trying to remember what punishment our ancestors delivered to similar "disrespect" by children, even to the point of considering grandma's recipe of enforced mouth-washing with yellow soap.

We may get nicely-talked to as the result of punishment—but respect?

How Do You Hanga Rug?

How do you hang a rug?
One method is to fasten a thin 1/4-inch wooden lath to the top edge of the rug, using smallhead tacks or staples applied from the front.

Allow an inch overhang for the rug at each end. Two screw eyes and a piece of picture wire attached to the strip are adequate for hanging, just as you would hang a painting.

ALTERNATE METHOD
An alternate method of hanging is to fasten the same type of wood strip to the wall, using two screws and lead plugs or molly bolts to fit the screws.

Secure the rug by tacking in place with smallhead tacks (start first tack exactly in the center, and work out to the left and right alternately with other tacks until edge is secure).

The rug will hang free at the sides and bottom. If it hangs away from the wall, tack bottom corners directly to the wall.

Tu Do is Saigon's "Fifth Avenue." It is a street of shops, and the word means liberty or justice.

Old-Fashioned Idea Is New

Did you know that those tiny afghan squares have been sewn together and used as the fronts of light-weight jackets to wear with dresses? These squares resemble the old-fashioned ones and are beautiful in unexpected colors. You may use fabric for the back of the jackets as well as the sleeves.

The best way to block these 4-inch squares which are usu-then stretch them on a 4-inch loom to dry.

It's Card Time Again

Condition Mind to 'Think Holly' in Coming Weeks

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

It's November and with Halloween off our minds, we can settle down to make plans for the 1965 holiday season.

While I deplore Christmas decorations in stores and carols on public address systems any time before Thanksgiving, I acknowledge the fact that one must plan ahead.

• If you're mailing packages overseas, they should be ready to go right now.

• If you expect names on your Christmas cards, your order should be in.

• If you make fruit cake and like to have it in season, that chore should be done this week.

In other words, even though there is no snow on the ground and Christmas is seven weeks from Saturday, you have to "think holly" right now.

Ninety years ago, Louis Prang introduced Christmas cards in America.

TOO FRIVOLOUS
The first known Christmas card, designed in London in 1843, was not an instant success. The Puritans frowned upon such frivolous things. But gradually the custom caught on and by 1869 was well established in the British Empire.

About 1845, an enterprising lithographer in Albany, N.Y., made a commercial Christmas card for a local variety store. But Prang holds the honor of being the first publisher of cards in any quantity.

Before 1875 when he had developed a good trade in Christmas cards for export to Britain, he felt daring enough to offer them to his American customers in Roxbury, Mass.

His early cards were usually floral pictures and it was several years before anything resembling the modern Christmas card was produced.

Prang's cards are now collector's items. They are painstakingly done. He once paid an artist $2,000 for a prize design. His cards sold for 25 cents to $3.

REBORN
When cheap imitations of his cards flooded the market, Prang quit. But by the early 1900's, other greeting card publishers were founded and the modern card industry was born.

It's a business, says Steve Shannon, executive director of The Greeting Card Association.

in which designers try to please everybody. There is an almost unlimited choice. He goes on to say:

"The world we see on Christmas cards is a world of peace and good will, as anything born of the Christmas season should be. The people are warmly-dressed, and never seem to mind the weather."

"The Christmas card villages are lined with snug shops, cheerful street lanterns, and invariably a beautiful white church with a graceful steeple. Christmas card candles never flicker out, and the Star of Bethlehem shines in every sky."

"Peace on Earth" was the theme of early American Christmas cards. In keeping with the Victorian era in which they were printed, they were elaborate items. Some were lithographed in as many as 17 different colors and trimmed with colorful silk fringe. This is one of Louis Prang's early cards.

More than ever before the dove of peace is a popular symbol on 1965 Christmas cards. It is a holiday greeting that transcends all religions and all nationalities. These are examples of this year's cards.

Deb's Dad Is Host at 'Do'

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: Will you please tell me the duties and obligations of the father of a debutante at his daughter's coming out party?

A: The rule of the father at a private debut is simply that of the good host at any party.

He does not stand in the receiving line, but he stays nearby, greets friends and acquaintances, and sees that everything is running smoothly.

He dances the first dance with his daughter, and then he dances with his wife, with the grandmothers if they are present and wish to dance, and then with the other guests, young and old alike.

At many collations and community debuts, the fathers participate in a parade and a simple cotillon dance with their daughters.

They cross the ballroom, one couple at a time, and each father presents his debutante daughter to the hostess or to the committee giving the dance.

SECOND WIFE
Q: I'm up against a family situation that is most unpleasant. I'm my husband's second wife and have not been accepted by his family.

Whenever they have family get-togethers, my husband alone is invited. I think that as long as I am not included, he should not go either, but he feels that his place is with his family on these occasions and that I am being very petty in resenting his going without me.

Is it proper for a husband to go where his wife is not welcome?

A: Your husband of course goes to see members of his family without you, but he should not go to any parties at their houses to which you have not been invited.

Ulcers, Success a Team

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE X-425: Hank J., aged 32, is a sales manager.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I enjoy my work but it keeps me so tense that my family physician now says I have a peptic ulcer."

"How common are ulcers?"

"And what can a victim do to get rid of one?"

ULCER FRATERNITY
A peptic ulcer is often the badge of a go-getter who is a fighter in our "free enterprise" system.

Actually, it may thus be a mark of distinction: Loafers and the chronic relief or welfare recipient are not likely to have an ulcer.

Earlier this year Dr. H. M. Pollard, medical professor at the University of Michigan, said:

"If you want a good associate, pick a man with an ulcer!"

Dr. Pollard went even further and added:

"He'll probably be the first man on the job in the morning and the last one out at night."

For the typical ulcer patient is an energetic, forceful personality of the executive sort.

He is definitely not the carefree or Prodigal Son type.

In fact, in that Bible story, it would likely have been the hard working older brother who had a peptic ulcer.

For ulcer victims accept responsibility instead of shunning it.

They do not shun a fight, whether in business or professional competition.

In sports, they are likely to be called the "money players," meaning they bear down hard in a crisis and come through successfully.

Those of a placid temperament or aloof from the real firing line of life, thus are more free from ulcer.

Business executives, for example, have six times as many ulcers as college professors! And the professors have less than the average man, too!

Furthermore, wives have much fewer ulcers than do their husbands.

The chief psychological disadvantage of an ulcer is the fact it makes its victim caustic and irritable, at least before meal time.

But don't decry ulcers! Civilization would be much farther ahead if we had 10,000,000 more ulcer patients in the U.S.A. this very minute!

But to lessen the medical disadvantages of peptic ulcer, learn to let go of your office or factory tension when you head for home.

The ulcer victim is likely to carry his workday worries over into his free time.

That's as foolish as holding your suitcase after you have boarded a plane or train or bus.

Learn to set your suitcase down after you make the plane!

Polly Winner Shares Fancy Cookie Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
Children are so pleased when you go to special pains for them. Mrs. Lavern Lohman says her youngsters like cookies made in the shape of an owl's head.

This recipe which came from a national contest some years ago is a stand-by in the Lohman house.

The mother of four children, Mrs. Lavern Lohman enjoys both cooking and sewing.

HOOT-OWL COOKIES

By Mrs. Lavern Lohman
2½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ squares bitter chocolate
¼ teaspoon soda

Whole cashews or peanuts
Sift first three ingredients and set aside. Cream butter or margarine with sugar, egg and vanilla. Beat well until fluffy. Blend in sifted dry ingredients.

Melt chocolate over hot water and stir in soda. Remove two-thirds of dough to a floured surface. Blend chocolate into rest of dough. Chill thoroughly.

Roll half of light dough to a 4"x18-inch rectangle. Shape half of the dark dough into a long roll and lay on white dough. Fold white dough around. Repeat with rest of dough. Chill thoroughly or freeze.

Slice rolls of dough and place two together on cookie sheet to make an owl's face. Pinch dough at top for ears. Make a beak with a whole nut and put one chocolate bit on each dark circle for eyes. Bake 8-10 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes about 4 dozen.

There will be a collection from the "Magazine Roundup Month" program which will go to the group's chapter house fund.

The Birmingham home of Mrs. Tunis F. Rice will be the setting for the evening unit. Hostesses will be Mrs. William C. Rachwal and John Stone.

She 'Flatly' Tells Them, 'No Parking'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Twenty students of the junior college here had been arguing for days with a housewife about parking in her front yard close to the school. They found two flat tires on each of their cars when they returned from classes one day recently.

Mrs. Alma Simon admitted she and her son Mark, 10, let the air out of the parked cars. Her yard has been clear of cars ever since.

As they show signs of age, remove carefully the under row petals from multi-petaled flowers like pompons. This treatment will make them appear fresh for a longer period of time, says the Society of American Florists.

Located at 7321 Commerce near Green Lake, the building is being remodeled by Mayfair Building Corp. of Detroit at a cost of about $27,000.

Approximately one-third of the cost, $9,300, is being provided by a federal grant under the $50-million Library Services and Construction Act passed in 1964.

When completed sometime next month, the 40-by-45-foot building will replace the branch library which has been located on the second floor of the West-T. Fusco, Ferndale architect.

Devers said the expanded quarters will improve service to West Bloomfield residents, as well as provide service to residents of adjacent townships which don't have a library.

Four members of the auxiliary will be elected to serve on the board of directors.

School Linkup Vote Is Sought

Seek Dublin to Join Walled Lake District

WALLED LAKE — Members of the Walled Lake Board of Education last night recommended that referendum vote be scheduled on a proposal to include the Dublin school system in the Walled Lake district.

The board also recommended that approximately 160 acres in the Waterford Township school system be included in the transfer package to straighten present school system boundary lines.

These recommendations will be referred to the Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee for its consideration.

Dublin offers a program only for kindergarten through eighth grade.

A state law passed last year calls for abolishment of school systems without a high school program.

ON ANNEXATION

If a vote is called, residents of Walled Lake, Dublin and Waterford Township school systems would vote on the annexation of the Dublin system and the small part of the Waterford system to Walled Lake.

A majority vote by the electors of all three districts would determine the fate of the proposal.

A majority of parents at a recent Dublin school PTA meeting indicated a preference for annexation to the Walled Lake district.

Corn Picking Contests Set

ADRIAN — The state and national corn picking contests, twice postponed because of wet grounds, were scheduled to get under way today in Lenawee County.

The state competition was to be held today with the national event scheduled for tomorrow.

Originally scheduled for Oct. 21 and 22, the contests were postponed a week when heavy rains made it impossible for machinery to get into the contest fields.

Bad weather continued to plague most of lower Michigan, however, and the annual event had to be postponed again.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey was originally scheduled to appear at the agricultural extravaganza, which annually attracts thousands of farmers and spectators from all over the Midwest.

Travelogue Set by Rotary

OXFORD — The Rotary Club will present the next program in its Travel and Adventure series at 8 p.m. Thursday in the senior high school auditorium.

Featured will be Robert Brower of Grand Rapids, who will present a travelogue, "America, Of Thee I Sing." Scenic wonders of the country will be presented on stereo slides.

Proceeds from the program will go to community projects of the Rotary Club.

Referendum Vote Hearing Is Delayed

ROSE TOWNSHIP — A Circuit Court hearing at which the Township Board must show cause why a referendum election should not be set aside has been postponed until Monday.

The hearing, requested by Mohave Plantations, Inc., had been scheduled for yesterday before Judge Arthur E. Moore.

The company filed suit against the township last Thursday asking the court to void a Sept. 20 referendum election which resulted in prohibiting the firm from developing a mobile home site.

Land Transfer Talks Sought by Avondale

By JANICE KLOUSER

Two Avondale Board of Education members will try to set up a meeting with representatives of the Bloomfield Hills board in an attempt to decide in which district a small portion of land near I-75 rightfully belongs.

Thomas Galloway and Jack Slater Jr. were appointed to meet with the Bloomfield Hills group following a request from a representative of the subdivision developers who want the Fox Hills Subdivision made part of the Bloomfield Hills district.

M. L. Robinson of Robinson Brothers, Inc., of Bloomfield Township, said his company wants the 30 acres of undeveloped land near South Boulevard and I-75 transferred from the Avondale district to the Bloomfield Hills district.

He said that from a social and educational point of view such a move would make a more logical line of demarcation.

There is no safety factor involved across I-75 to Avondale schools, but Robinson said the expressway would be an inconvenience for those who wanted to participate in extracurricular activities.

ATTEND SCHOOL

He said that while playing and socializing with other Fox Hills children, the youngsters affected would have to go to school on the other side of the interchange.

About 60 homes would be involved which as pupils would be more salable in the Bloomfield Hills district. He indicated that the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education favors the change for the same reasons he outlined.

He said that financially the move would not hurt Avondale as Robinson Brothers would be willing to pay for the modification.

Several citizens attending last night's board meeting objected to Robinson's inference that the Bloomfield Hills district is better than Avondale. They charged "snob appeal."

CONSIDER TRADE

Avondale board president Ray Isanhardt indicated that his group might be more in favor of the move if there were a trade involved.

"We don't like to give up land because we're a small district to begin with," he said.

In other action last night, the board heard a report from Dr. Gerald Boicourt of Wayne State University on the progress of a citizens' study which was started last February.

Boicourt said the original completion target was June, but that for personal reasons he did not get the preliminary report written until last week.

TO CALL MEETING

He said he hopes to call the steering committee together next week and "wrap the whole thing up" by the end of November.

Five committees were formed last February to study aspects of elementary education, secondary education, building, population and finance.

There was also a steering committee which was to cooperate with consultants from Wayne. The board of education allocated a maximum of $5,000 to pay for the consulting service.

Several citizens at the last board meeting complained that they had not been notified of meetings and had not met as a committee for some time.

ONE FOR FINANCE

Boicourt said that only about 25 persons showed up for the study committee. He said that only one volunteered for the finance committee, and that therefore, no meetings were held.

He said the task now is to decide what type of building program the citizens will endorse. He said the whole group will act as a finance committee.

A report was also given on the progress of the present building program in which additions are being made to the junior and senior high schools.

The additions were to be completed by September but the architects indicated that because of a labor shortage and other problems they were delayed.

Roy Rogers' Son, 18, Dies

Asphyxia Is Blamed in Death of Soldier

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A U.S. Army spokesman said today that 18-year-old son of western entertainer Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, died of asphyxia at Gelnhausen Saturday night.

The spokesman said an autopsy revealed that young Rogers had consumed some alcohol but did not reveal the amount.

Rogers, attached to the 3rd Armored Division at Gelnhausen, died from "asphyxia due to vomiting," the spokesman said.

"His windpipes were clogged and he could not get any air," the spokesman explained.

The spokesman gave this report:

The soldier went to a movie Saturday night, and then had supper at a club on the post at Gelnhausen.

LEFT CLUB

The youth complained of nausea as he left the club and was admitted to the Coleman Barracks dispensary at 11 p.m. A doctor checked him at 11 a.m. and Rogers spoke with the doctor during an examination at 4 a.m. but he was dead when another check was made at 8 a.m.

He was the third Rogers' child to die. Roy and Dale in 1952 lost a 2-year-old daughter born to them. Robin Elizabeth, of complications following mumps. Last year another daughter, Debbie, 12, a Korean orphan they adopted in 1955, died in a bus crash.

The couple now live in Apple Valley, Calif., where they operate an inn. They have six other children, ranging in age from 13 to 22.

Woman to End Political Life

Oregon Senator Raps Campaign Financing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., has dropped out of contention for reelection with a blast against the way she said senatorial campaigns are financed.

Mrs. Neuberger, who is really Mrs. Philip Solomon, made it clear in a statement Monday that one other principal reason for quitting was that she didn't want "to be beholden to some group for campaign money and to go begging from friends and relatives."

The Senate seat she occupies will be at stake in next year's election. Oregon Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, a Republican, is expected to bid strongly for it.

The decision of the 58-year-old Oregon member not to run again probably will not be duplicated by her only woman colleague, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. Mrs. Smith, who is 67, has not disclosed her plans but friends expect her to bid for a fourth six-year term next year.

HAD OPERATION

Mrs. Neuberger said that since she had an operation for cancer four years ago she has known she probably would not run again. She said she made "a wonderful recovery," that her health is excellent and that she has been able to carry on the heavy workload of a senator.

She said she wants to travel and to have time to work on her husband's papers. She was married to Dr. Philip Solomon, a Boston psychiatrist, in 1964.

"I wanted to be free from the rigors of public life and the obligations of a campaign, especially campaign financing," she said. "I welcome the freedom to spend my last year in office working just as vigorously as I have in the past and not to have to pay homage to some organization just because it might mean a contribution."

She did not specify any particular organization she had in mind.

MORE LEGAL

She quoted her late husband, Richard L. Neuberger, whom she succeeded in the Senate, as writing in a book about his experiences in politics: "In fact why should a politician ever take a bribe when a donation to his next race for office is so much simpler — and so much more legal."

"The 1966 senatorial election in Oregon is going to cost more than both Neuberger's spent in two elections," she said. "I want to be free from that financial obligation."

The senator said she plans to work with Dr. Solomon in a campaign for the prevention of mental illness.

Two Teens May Have Eloped

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — Police here think there is "a definite possibility" that a St. Joseph High School football star and his girlfriend who disappeared over the weekend may have eloped.

John Hedstrom, 18, center for the St. Joseph Bears, and Rebecca Green, 16, a student at St. Joseph, have been missing since Saturday night.

Skindivers found Hedstrom's car Monday in the St. Joseph River. The ignition was on, the throttle pulled out and the car in first gear. Lt. Gus Damaske of the St. Joseph police department said.

Damaske said there was an 18-inch-high abutment, constructed of two railroad ties, at the place where the car went into the river.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

If the car had crashed at speed through or over the barrier, there would have been considerable damage to front end, Damaske said.

There was no damage except some scuffing of the undercarriage of the car, he added.

Also, some wooden barricades found at the scene seemed to indicate they were leaned against the abutment to form a ramp. The car could have driven up this ramp, over the abutment and into the river, Damaske said.

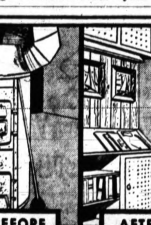

One witness told police Hedstrom and Miss Green were seen in a local department store just before they disappeared buying kitchen utensils, he said.

He added police have released a description of the two teenagers to police in Michigan and Indiana.

BOSTON (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau says 19.9 inches of rain recorded in Boston for the year through October is a record low for the period in the 148 years that the bureau has been taking measurements.

Boston and coastal Massachusetts now are approximately 15 inches below normal rainfall for the year. Normally, the state gets 45 inches of rain a year.

Hold School Sit-In

Parents Turn 'Monitors'

SHERWOOD, Ore. (AP) — Twelve parents of Cipole school pupils are back in the classroom this week, but they don't expect to learn anything.

"They're not teaching the kids anything," said Mrs. Lou Saleen, mother of two pupils.

"We're going to keep a parent watch on the classes until they throw us out or improve the education for our kids."

The eight-grade, two-room school serves 52 children from the community of Sherwood, 10 miles southwest of Portland. Proposals of consolidation with nearby districts have been rejected four times.

VOTE BEATEN

"There are just too many people out here who don't have children in school," said Mrs. Twila Reid. "They beat the merger proposal every time we vote on it."

Another mother, Mrs. Ronald Sims, told why she is participating in the education watch which keeps one parent in each classroom during all school hours.

"I don't plan for my two boys to lead any dropout parade in the future," said Mrs. Sims.

Cyrus Bales, principal teacher at the school, defended its curriculum.

DEFENDS SCHOOL

"The students are getting a good education at Cipole," he said. "They hold their own very well when they are graduated and begin attending Sherwood High."

"In fact, some youngsters who come here from other school districts are behind our kids."

The other teacher at the school is Mrs. Arle Berney. Her work was defended by James Cereghino, a Cipole school board member for 14 years.

"These parents are upset because they send money kids to school and Mrs. Berney puts them in their place," he said.

Pieta Rome-Bound From World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pieta, Michelangelo's masterpiece in marble viewed by 27 million persons at the New York World's Fair, begins its 4,000-mile trip back to the Vatican today.

The priceless statue was moved Monday by truck and barge under heavy police guard to a Hudson River pier from the fairgrounds.

The statue, almost six feet high, will be lashed to a deck of the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo.

Judge Studies Red Party Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A judge's decision to do some boning up in advance has delayed the start of the U.S. Communist party's second trial on charges of failing to register as a Moscow agent.

The case was called up Monday in U.S. District Court, Judge William B. Jones, to whom it had just been assigned, acknowledged that he was unfamiliar with the long, complex background.

Joseph Forer, one of the party's attorneys, gave a long recitation. Asst. U.S. Atty. Joseph A. Lowther, the chief prosecutor, said that, while not going along with everything Forer said, he agreed his account constituted a "fairly accurate background."

Judge Jones then said he wanted time to study various court decisions in the case and other documents, and adjourned court until 1:45 p.m. When he returned, the judge said, "Frankly, I have only got into it," and adjourned the proceeding until 1:45 p.m. EST today.

Word Power to Success—20

Use Common Sense on Even, Only, Just

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 20th in a 30-part series entitled "The Word Power Way to Success." The series is designed to help bring improvement in spelling, grammar and vocabulary.)

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc.
Written for NEA Special Services

Juxtapose you must even, only, just. Before the words they modify. Or else the sense won't satisfy.

"I only have a dime left."
"He even lies to his mother."
"I just came in now."
Just about everyone talks this way, and too many of us write this way. All three sentences above are wrong, grammatically, and they are wrong because all of them violate common sense.

You don't need any technical knowledge whatsoever to find the mistakes above. Just use your head—the brain part, that is.

Let us look at that first sentence: "I only have a dime left." If someone asks you for a dollar donation when your resources are down to a dime, what word are you trying to stress? Have, as the sentence above stresses? Or dime? Clearly you are not insisting that you own (have) the dime; you are trying to make emphatic the extent of your wealth—a dime.

It makes good sense (therefore good grammar) to say "I have only a dime left." In other words, the word only is misplaced, and it should be placed next to (juxtaposed) the word to which it belongs. Similarly, "I only make $50 a week" should be "I make only $50 a week."

EASILY CORRECTED
With this exposure to common sense, the second erroneous sentence above should be very 20

Putting a Word In Its Place

easily corrected. "He even lies to his mother." Now, if you are gossiping with one of the club about someone's defects, you may start out by indicating that he does not clean his fingernails, does not wash behind his ears, once in a while says naughty words, and "he even lies."

Here you are using the word even properly because you are building up a case against the poor fellow and you want to lay stress on the word lies. This is the real climax of your juicy tidbits and you want to stress lies. In this case, you are a mean old gossip, but your grammar is splendid.

Now, back to our sentence. "He even lies to his mother." Here you are not shocked that he lies; you are overcome by the fact that he does not spare even his mother. The word even—as with the word only—is supposed to be juxtaposed before the word it is meant to stress.

Our sentence should now read: "He lies even to his mother." And it is not, as most of us say, "He even would take candy from a baby," but "He would take candy even from a baby."

Not, "He would even steal from his own mother, but "He would steal even from his own mother."

The point should be obvious by now. Apply the same common sense in using the word just. "I just came in now." What should it be? What word is meant to be stressed? The word, now, obviously. Therefore the sentence should read, "I just now came in" or "I came in just now."

A QUIZ

A very brief check on the grammar we have covered in the past few columns. Simply choose the proper word within the parentheses. Then check with the answers below.

1. All the nation (has, have) (its, their) eyes on the election.
2. If you take Route 66, you'll travel (further, farther) than is necessary.
3. It would cause trouble to spread the report, so keep it here (among, between) the six chairmen.
4. (In behalf of, On behalf of) the cause of freedom, I speak to you.

5. I'm wondering if I (may, can) visit the Senate chamber today.

ANSWERS

1. has; 2. further; 3. among; 4. in behalf of; 5. may.

EVEN AT A LOSS

A recent survey showed that a drug store prescription department loses money every hour in which it does not do at least $15 in business. That's how much it reads simply to break even on the cost of operation. The survey also showed that many drug stores are open many hours—especially evenings and weekends—when prescription business averages much less than $15 an hour. Nevertheless, these stores stay open even though they are losing money—to make sure you can get the prescription you need—when you need it. That's why we say...

Secret Held by Disease?

Relationship Sought to Other Sickesses

By Science Service
NEW YORK — "Laughing sickness," a fatal brain disease rampant among primitive tribes of New Guinea, is expected to have broad application to a number of very stubborn illnesses — if its cause can ever be found.

So far, laughing sickness or kuru affects only the primitive people of New Guinea's eastern highlands where it is the major cause of death among women and an important cause in children.

However, the mysterious disease is thought to have significant relationship to multiple sclerosis, hepatitis, Huntington's Chorea, the brain degeneration associated with cancer, and a number of other diseases of the brain and nervous system, reports the Australian News and Information Bureau here.

An explanation of kuru would be a major medical advance, the Australian immunologist, Sir Macfarlane Burnet, was quoted as saying.

Sir Macfarlane, 1960 winner of the Nobel Prize, believes that kuru holds "in unprecedentedly concentrated form, a manifestation of some of the most important problems in general medicine."

The doctor has not himself made any laboratory experiments. He estimated kuru's importance after a tour of the New Guinea area.

Kuru appears to destroy the brain in stages. First, patients lose coordination; then they cannot stand or sit correctly; finally they have difficulty swallowing and eventually choke to death.

It takes its common name, laughing sickness, from the slack facial muscles of its victims, who seem to be laughing during one stage of the illness.

A study of families affected by kuru suggests the disease may be caused by some unknown, possibly infectious, germ. More important, the study also indicates that kuru may operate on genetically susceptible persons.

North Farmington's Raiders have a golden opportunity to of local class A schools is unbeaten Uca which last weekend clinched at least a share of the Bi-County League crown and now ranks 17th. Flint Central, the next PGH foe, is 22nd.

Royal Oak Shrine reached 23rd place in "B" after a very slow start; Ferndale St. James finished unbeaten Sunday and has climbed to 9th in "C-D"; and Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, also having completed an unbeaten season, is 21st in the latter poll.

amount of money to get the star center who once was a cage star at the University of Indiana. Green is an ex-Michigan State basketball star.

AP Photos

Bellamy Is Pleased of Trade to Knicks

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — he was exactly unwanted in Baltimore, or that he had not tried his hardest for the Bullets. He denied that he had let his average sag to force a trade.

The 245-pound Bellamy is a former star for Indiana University. His 24.8 average last season was sixth highest in the NBA.

His professional career average is 27.8. He played for the U.S. Olympic team in 1960. But during the current season Bellamy's average had dropped to 20.3.

EX-MSU STAR
Green, 6-foot-5 and 31 years old, averaged 11 points in games last year. The former Michigan State star has a pro average of 13.8.

Barnes, 24, was the Knicks' first 1964 draft choice, a 6-foot-8 NBA All-Rookie player last year. He played college ball at Texas Western.

Egan, 6-foot, is 24 years old and a one-time Providence star. He came to the Knicks from the Detroit Pistons in 1963. His average last year was 9.2.

Unsung Hawk Scoring Well

Doug Mohns Second in Tallying Goals

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Hull's early scoring spree has raised a few eyebrows around the National Hockey League but teammate Doug Mohns' torrid pace is the biggest surprise of the young season.

Hull, free from the knee trouble that stalled his bid for a NHL goal-scoring record, last season, is off to his best start ever with eight goals and three assists in Chicago's first four games.

He shares the league point lead with Montreal's Bobby Rousseau (three goals, eight assists), according to official figures released today.

In 1961-62, when the Black Hawk ace tied the season mark of 50 goals, he didn't get No. 8 until his 20th game.

Mohns, a converted defenseman who totaled 45 goals over the last four seasons, is the No. 2 marksman with five tallies.

CHICAGO (AP) — Sophomore fullback Bob Apisa of Michigan State has all but locked up the Big Ten football all games scoring race.

With his 20-point performance against Northwestern, Apisa boosted his season total to 56 points, far ahead of teammate Dick Kenney who has 39 and still another Spartan teammate, Clint Jones, with 38.

THE KIND SHE LIKES—Mrs. Ruth Desmond, president of the Federation of Homemakers, displays a jar of peanut butter of the kind she feeds her family at a hearing of the Food and Drug Administration. The hearing is on a proposed FDA rule that peanut butter must contain 90 per cent peanuts. Mrs. Desmond's group contends that any jar containing less than 95 per cent peanuts should be labeled peanut spread.

Nasser May Appeal to U.S. to Help Ease Egypt's Food Lack

By GARVEN HUDGINS

CAIRO (AP)—Facing a food shortage, U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser seems to have found nowhere to turn but to the United States.

Both the Soviet Union and Red China are themselves importing wheat. West Germany and Britain might help, but Egypt no longer has diplomatic relations with Bonn and has antagonized Britain by supporting rebels in South Arabia. Some French wheat apparently is available but only on commercial terms.

Nasser has liberally criticized the United States in the past, but U.S. officials here say that Egypt recently has been trying to improve relations. These officials are urging Washington to act favorably on an approach for help.

The Egyptian approach did not request any specific amount of aid but made known total requirements and sought to learn the prospects for some kind of assistance. It was more a feeling than an outright request. The final decision will be up to President Johnson.

AID HALTED
Americans in Egypt have been encouraged by Nasser's decision to halt direct aid to the Congolese rebels. Restrictions on U.S. firms operating in Egypt also have been eased and the new Cabinet appears to be trying energetically to put Egypt's economic house in order.

Last month Nasser contributed 1,000 volumes from his personal library to a new John F. Kennedy Memorial Library housed in quarters donated by the government for a nominal dollar-a-year rental.

The old Kennedy library was destroyed last November by rioting African students protesting the U.S. role in the rescue of refugees from the Congolese rebels.

The United States has already provided a new $11.6-million food grant under Title II of Public Law 480.

Under this program, food is supplied through such as United Nations agencies as CARE, Catholic Relief and World Church Services. Most of the food is directed to children and all of it is a gift. U.S. authorities report that five million Egyptian children are receiving food under this plan.

Public Law 480 is the basic legislation in the U.S. Food for Peace program. The greatest help for Egypt would come under Title I. This provides for the sale of surplus U.S. food—mainly wheat and corn—for Egyptian pounds.

Since the inauguration in 1952 of the Nasser regime, the United States has supplied $12.3 billion worth of aid to Egypt under Title I, U.S. aid mission figures show.

Most of the Egyptian pounds Knesset at stake, and 17-parties contesting the election.

loaned back to Cairo at three-quarters of one per cent interest for 40 years, U.S. authorities report. Ten per cent of the pounds go for so-called U.S. uses, which includes upkeep of the U.S. Embassy and U.S. participation in the campaign to save the Nubian monuments and temples of the Upper Nile.

Extremists Fail to Halt Election

Israelis Are Balloting for New Parliament

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Several hundred religious extremists tried in vain to halt Israel's national elections in Jerusalem today.

Members of the Naturei Karta extremist sect gathered at several polling places and handed out leaflets calling the elections treason and heresy against the Torah.

A spokesman said they hoped by their presence to halt voters from entering the booths.

The bearded extremists disbanded quietly upon the arrival of police, and no violence was reported.

Most of the demonstrations took place in the Mea Shearim quarter of the capital, a stronghold of Jewish Orthodoxy. But the extremist action apparently had little effect as Orthodox voters continued to arrive at the polls.

COOL WEATHER
With sunny, cool weather prevailing throughout most of Israel, a good voter turnout was reported. The Israelis were voting for a new Parliament, and a political deadlock was possible as a result of veteran David Ben-Gurion's new party.

Ben-Gurion, 79, formed his own Rafi Labor party after the leadership of the ruling Mapai Labor party rejected Ben-Gurion's demand for a judicial inquiry into the 11-year-old political scandal known as the Lavon Affair.

Ben-Gurion's successor as head of the Mapai, Premier Levi Eshkol, 70, has called on Israel's first premier to return to his old party to avoid an inconclusive result which might force the holding of more elections. It appeared unlikely that Ben-Gurion would heed the call of the man he chose to succeed him in 1963.

Rafi informants said Ben-Gurion dislikes the party Eshkol chose to run in coalition with him, the left-of-center Achdut Avodah. They said he also would refuse to play second fiddle in an alliance with Eshkol.

There are 120 seats in the Knesset at stake, and 17-parties contesting the election.

France, Russia Rap 'Outsiders'

Sound Viet Peace Call

MOSCOW (AP)—France and the Soviet Union called today for a Viet Nam peace settlement based on an end to outside interference in the internal affairs of the divided country.

The proposal—restating a position which both the French and the Soviet governments have taken previously—was made in a joint communique at the end of five days of talks between French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and top Soviet leaders.

The communique contained no joint peace formula, however, and made no specific mention of U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

It said the two governments expressed "growing concern" over the "new dangers" for peace stemming from the Viet Nam war.

It said the Viet Nam problem should be solved by strict application of the Geneva agreements of 1954.

FORSEER RESPECT
These agreements, the communique said, "foresee respect for the principles of independence and sovereignty of the states of the Indochina peninsula as well as nonintervention in the internal affairs of these states."

The statement said the French-Soviet talks helped to build understanding between eastern and western Europe in a dialogue both sides said they hoped would continue.

The only specific agreement mentioned was a pact to be concluded later covering Soviet cooperation in space research. It is believed this will apply to joint work on a communications satellite system.

The talks also covered questions of German reunification and the proposed Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF) for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

RETAIN VIEWS
Both France and the Soviet Union oppose MLF, and French sources said both sides exchanged views on these points and retained their earlier positions.

The sources said Couve de Murville repeated the western proposal for unification of Germany based on self-determination by the German people.

The Russians again called for recognition of "both German states," but French sources said the Russians had no expectations that the French would recognize Communist East Germany.

SIMILAR VIEWPOINT
"Generally speaking," a French source said, "the positions taken were very much like those we knew when Gromyko came to Paris" last spring.

"But by keeping contact," he added, "some day something new may emerge. The fact that nothing new or specific came out of the talks this time does not change this fact."

Couve de Murville met three times with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

He was also the first foreign minister from the western Big Three to talk with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev since they succeeded Nikita Khrushchev in October 1960.

RENEW INVITATION
During the talks, the Russians renewed their invitation to President Charles de Gaulle to visit Moscow. The French said the matter could not be discussed until after the French presidential elections Dec. 5.

French sources said there was no talk of a Brezhnev-Kosygin visit to Paris.

They said protocol requires a visit first by the French leader to Moscow since the last such meeting was Khrushchev's trip to Paris in 1960.

Dems Plan to Set Session Date Today
LANSING (AP)—Democratic legislative leaders planned today to set a date for their attempt to reconvene the legislature and override the gubernatorial vetoes of three major money bills.

Their task was not easy, what with a variety of special committee tours scheduled both in and beyond Michigan between now and Dec. 31.

Democrats want to win approval for expanded veterans homestead tax exemptions, a senior citizen rent rebate and a $1.2 million loan to smaller colleges and universities to handle unexpected students.

I. their own votes are solid and on hand, Democrats must win support from three Senate Republicans and one House Republican to get the necessary two-thirds majority to override a veto.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dezeland said the week of Dec. 5 might be the best for the one-day session. He said this would give committees enough time to shift their schedules.

EX-GUARDSMAN RITES
DETROIT (AP)—Service for retired Col. Robert D. Cameron of the Michigan National Guard, owner of the Northwestern Highway Stone Yard, will be held Wednesday. Cameron will be held Sunday in an auto crash in Lansing. He was 69.

Michigan Insurance Chief Being Investigated Again

LANSING (UPI)—A new probe is under way into the business activities of State Insurance Commissioner Allen L. Mayerson, according to State Sen. Bernard F. O'Brien, D-Detroit, chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee.

O'Brien said an investigator for his committee is looking into the relationship between Mayerson and the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of Plymouth.

Object of the probe is to determine if there has been a violation of the state insurance code, O'Brien said.

Mayerson said any implication of wrongdoing was "absolutely ridiculous."

He said he severed all connections with Hamilton Life and other Michigan insurance firms before he was appointed commissioner by Gov. Romney in November 1963.

NO WORK
"I am doing no work for anybody except the insurance commission," he said.

Mayerson said he helped prepare the groundwork for Hamilton Life by working on a tentative wording of insurance policies and advising founders of the firm on rates.

However, he said that work was completed in "early 1963," several months before the company was chartered.

Mayerson, formerly a consulting actuary, said the Hamilton Life charter was signed by Sherwood Colburn, his predecessor as insurance commissioner.

'INSIDE REPORT'
O'Brien said the latest probe was prompted by a report to the committee "from inside the industry."

He declined to comment on the progress of the week-long investigation or to identify the source of the report.

In late September, O'Brien called on Mayerson to either resign or end his employment as an actuary for a New York insurance firm.

Mayerson agreed to suspend his work for the New York company pending a ruling by the attorney general.

NO CONFLICT
Mayerson contended that no conflict-of-interest was involved because the New York firm did not do business in Michigan.

O'Brien said that if Mayerson was employed by Hamilton Life during the time he served as commissioner he would definitely and beyond a doubt be in conflict-of-interest.

He said he had checked that statement with "three or four attorneys," but not with the attorney general.

"I feel that it is not right for any insurance commissioner, no matter who, Republican or Democrat, to be connected with any portion of the industry due to the fact that there can be many pressures brought on him by the industry in the execution of his duties," O'Brien said.

Mayerson, a Republican, attended the University of Michigan. He was picked up on a 15-year-old warrant for a 1950 investigation into the Sutter Street hotel.

Officers found the $116,064 and alerted the FBI.

Soon after authorities arrested two men named Sud. Mayerson said he attempted with two men named Sud. Mayerson said he attempted with two men named Sud. Mayerson said he attempted with two men named Sud.

Switzer and Harker each were held in lieu of $25,000 bail.

$116,064 Recovered by Chance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The chance pickup of a runaway boy led to the recovery here of $116,064 stolen after the owner's death from an empty Seattle house, police say.

Two men, accused by the FBI of burglarizing $200,000 cached by restaurant owner Ray L. Smyser, surrendered in an attorney's office Monday and were arrested.

A third man has been in custody in Seattle since September. Smyser, 78, when he died last year, owned several Seattle apartment houses. He lived alone and his wealth was unknown until bank officials found $175,000 in his home while settling his estate.

THIEVES FIND
Another $200,000, police estimate, was overlooked then and subsequently found by thieves.

Authorities identified the last two men arrested as Donald W. Switzer, 25, a finance company employee from Kennewick, Wash., and Byron W. Harker, 22, a library assistant in Seattle.

Attorney Vander C. Smith, in whose office they surrendered, indicated they would seek transfer to Seattle before entering a plea.

They had been sought on a federal warrant since September, but FBI agents said the search had centered in Pennsylvania, where Switzer had once attended the University of Pennsylvania.

Police picked up a 15-year-old boy early Saturday on Market for an investigation into the Sutter Street hotel.

Officers found the $116,064 and alerted the FBI.

Wounded Soldier Asks More Viet Duty

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP)—Viet Cong, wants to go back to Sgt. Claude W. Spiva, 23, Viet Nam as soon as he is able. His mother doesn't agree.

WANTS TO GO BACK—Sgt. Claude W. Spiva of Decatur, Ga., is treated in a hospital at Ft. Gordon, Ga., for wounds suffered in Viet Nam fighting. Despite his injuries and his mother's objections, Spiva wants to go back. Attending him are Army nurse, Maj. Miriam A. Gately, and Sgt. William A. Whitten, Wardmaster.

"I don't want him to go back," said Mrs. J. D. McMillan of Decatur, Ga. "Of course, it's up to him to decide, but it seems that once should be enough."

She said her son had planned to leave the Army when his enlistment ended in 14 months. Spiva would have six years in the Army at the end of his enlistment.

DOING SOMETHING
"I felt I was really doing something over there," Spiva said from his hospital bed. "I feel I can do a better job for the Army in Viet Nam than here in the United States."

The sergeant was wounded Oct. 8 when guerrilla forces ambushed a 1st Infantry Division truck convoy. He was riding in a truck with his squad when several grenades landed in it.

The grenades killed two of my men, and, in the course of the 20-minute ambush, the company executive officer and machine gunner were also killed," he said.

Spiva suffered a bullet wound in his arm and received grenade shrapnel in his right leg.

SAME OPINION
He said U.S. troops must stay in Viet Nam "as long as we needed to keep the Communists from taking over Southeast Asia. Most of the troops feel the same way. The ones that are gripped are the ones that gripped during basic and advance training."

"They will gripe anywhere," he said.

Spiva, referring to demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, said, "The troops in Viet Nam don't think too kindly about this."

"Most soldiers think as I do that everyone should do a hitch in the service."

THE HAGUE, Netherlands—Premier Jo Cals told parliament today Crown Princess Beatrix will marry former German diplomat Von Amsberg in Amsterdam before March 22.

Cals made the announcement in a written reply to remarks made by parliamentarians in the first reading of the bill on parliamentary approval of the marriage, which is necessary to safeguard Beatrix's rights to the throne.

The premier said the government understands there are people in Amsterdam who will have difficulty in joining in a festive celebration of the marriage because Von Amsberg served in the German army in World War II.

The cabinet has taken "serious consideration of the horrible losses which Amsterdam suffered, more than other parts of the country by the atrocious crimes of the Nazi regime" during the German occupation, Cals said.

After a renewed, extensive and careful investigation, the government maintains its conviction that Von Amsberg, 39, is fully acceptable as the consort of the Dutch heiress apparent, the reply said.

"This entails that it should be possible for the wedding to take place in the capital of the Netherlands (Amsterdam)."

The exact date has not been fixed, but in any case it should be before the March 23 elections for provincial councils, the premier said.

Train Cuts Bus in Half; 28 Die

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A train sliced a bus in two at a crossing near the Teotihuacan pyramids Monday, killing 28 persons and injuring 16 others, officials reported. The train was en route to Mexico City from Veracruz.

Teotihuacan is about 25 miles northeast of Mexico City. It is the site of the famous Pyramid of the Sun and the ruins of the ancient Toltecs and Aztecs.

Police said the bus driver apparently tried to race over the crossing ahead of the train. The driver, among 14 persons trapped in the forward part of the bus, was among those killed.

The bus had left San Cristobal Escutep for Texcoco around 5 p.m. and rescue teams still were searching the wreckage for bodies after midnight.

Wreckage and bodies were hauled 260 feet by the impact of the crash.

Probers Hope to Learn More of Klan 'Offshoot'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional probers hope today to learn more about Nacirema, Inc., apparently an offshoot of the Ku Klux Klan for those who wanted "more violent action."

Nacirema, which is American spelled backward, was described that way Monday by Philip Manuel, an investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Georgia Klan witnesses solidly refused to answer any committee questions about Nacirema schools on how to handle explosives, or parties at a klavern headquarters near Atlanta that resulted in the arrest of five Klansmen on charges of maintaining a disorderly house.

Nacirema's charter from the state of Georgia was placed in the record. It stated as the purpose of the organization "to instill patriotism and reactivate liberty and justice for the body politic." Its address was given as a post office box in Mableton, Ga.

INCORPORATORS—Nacirema's original incorporators were Clyde J. Newberry, Tom Gentry and R. H. Wynn.

Police reports on the disorderly house, also placed in the record, described a series of drunken weekend parties, with men and women staggering out to relieve themselves in the front yard in public.

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Otto Miliken, 49, of Benton Township, was held in Berrien County Jail today as a material witness in connection with the Oct. 13 gunshot death of Charles A. Bujack, 33, of Benton Harbor.

Facing preliminary examination Nov. 8 on a charge of first degree murder in the case is Willard Schubert, 49. The victim was the husband of Schubert's former wife.

Miliken, an acquaintance of Schubert, was subpoenaed Friday as a material witness. His appearance bond was set at $500 by Circuit Judge Carl J. Zick who ordered him held when it was not posted.

The witness and his son, Clyde, 26, found Bujack's body in a Hager Township orchard. Sheriff Henry Griese quoted Miliken as saying he and his son met Schubert at the Benton Harbor fruit market where Schubert told of shooting a man and leaving the body in the orchard.

Bujack was found slain several hours after his wife had reported his unexplained disappearance from their Benton Harbor home with another man. Mrs. Bujack also said she had received threats earlier from her former husband.

Detroit Okays Mile Transit Test Over Woodward

DETROIT (AP)—Common Council yesterday approved a $3 million one-mile rapid transit system test which will cost the city nothing.

The project would be located on Woodward Avenue, Detroit's main street.

The city approval was needed for the federal government to supply two-thirds of the cost.

Developers of the Teletrans system said construction supplier companies will contribute the remaining two-thirds of the cost.

The Teletrans system, a computer-controlled facility that would move passengers through tubes in private cabs, has never been tested.

EAST LANSIN (G/AP)—State Police report 187 persons lost their lives in Michigan traffic last month — a 6 per cent drop from the same month last year.

The October record—following a September rise in deaths—brings the provisional total for the first 10 months of this year to 1,664. That is down 88, or five per cent from last year, police said.

Injuries increased eight per cent in the first nine months to 109,139, and accidents jumped 11 per cent to 219,930 they said.

Limit raises in minor suits are even more logical than in majors. After all if a hand will make a nine tricks with normal luck it will produce 10 with a bit of good fortune but there is plenty of space between three and five.

South has no JACOBY show a profit. If they get to five decent way to respond to his partner's diamond opening ex-play at four the result may be a limit raise to three diamonds—a profit or loss depending on the cards. North looks his hand defense.

Chaplin Plans to Direct Film

Miss Loren, Brando to Star in 'Countess'

LONDON (UPI)—Charles Chaplin announced yesterday that he is getting back into the movie business.

The millionaire comedian told newsmen that he has written and will direct a film starring Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando entitled "The Countess From Hong Kong." He will also write the music. Universal Pictures will handle production details.

Chaplin beamed about the film's prospects. But he lost his smile for a moment when newsmen wanted to know if Chaplin's beatnik problem son, Michael, 19, might get a part in the movie.

"No personal questions," glared the 76-year-old Chaplin said, threatening at the question.

The newsmen persisted, sensing an angle for his story.

"Don't be smart-alecky," Chaplin snapped, speaking with more emphasis.

Michael married against his father's wishes and has since been involved in a lawsuit over a book which was ghostwritten for him, "I Couldn't Smoke the Grass on My Father's Lawn."

SUNING

The younger Chaplin claims his youth and inexperience led him to prattle indiscreetly about his family and he is suing to stop publication of the book.

Getting back to "The Countess From Hong Kong," Chaplin described the script as "a romantic comedy... a riotously funny situation."

"Thank God," Chaplin said, "this time I don't have to worry about producing or the pure springs. I can give my complete attention to directing the film and if it doesn't come off the blame will be all mine."

Chaplin said he might make a brief on-camera appearance, perhaps as a ship's steward.

FLAT-FOOTED

"But make clear it won't be in my character—the flat-footed fellow with the mustache, bowler and cane."

Chaplin said "The Countess" would go into production in London on Jan. 17.

Sydney Chaplin, Chaplin's eldest son, will have an important role. He is an established Broadway actor who appeared with Barbara Streisand in "Funny Girl."

Chaplin's last movie venture was "Limelight" in 1952. He was practically the whole show in that movie. Chaplin wrote it, directed it, starred in it, produced it, wrote the music and handled the choreography.

Funeral Is Set for Rita Johnson, Former Actress

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her former husband, singer Eddie Fisher, have settled out of court their disagreement over his visitation rights with Liza Todd Fisher.

Miss Taylor, now married to British actor Richard Burton, and Fisher agreed to a "compromise" that will permit Fisher to visit the 8-year-old girl.

Liza is Miss Taylor's daughter by her late husband, producer Mike Todd, and was adopted legally by Fisher during his marriage to the actress.

In a settlement filed yesterday in Superior Court, Fisher and Miss Taylor stipulated that he may see the girl during "reasonable hours" at her place of residence, whether in the United States or elsewhere.

The agreement indicated that the stipulation was a "compromise" of "conflicting views" held by Fisher and his ex-wife.

New Film Is Proof: Jane's in Fine Shape

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—There are occasions when time seems to stand still on movie sets.

Like when Jane Russell was taking a bath in "Johnny Reno," her first full-length movie role in eight years.

I can flash back 14 years to another Western, filmed at Paramount, "Son of Paleface." Cecil B. DeMille, master of the bathtub scene, was there to offer technical advice, and costar Bob Hope made some pithy comments, too.

Returning to 1965, I found Miss Russell in splendid shape. She displayed some black-and-blue marks she acquired in the rigorous Western, but she seemed to enjoy being back at work again.

"I was never wild about working," she admitted, "but I did enjoy the studio life. When you're working at a studio, it's like being part of a big family. Paramount was always my favorite studio, and I find that a great many of the people I knew before are still here."

Jane has always brought a studied casualness to her work, and not without reason. "Almost everything about my career has been accidental," she explains, "even back to its beginnings."

OWED SOMETHING

"My agent, Lew Wasserman (now head of the MCA-Universal-Decca combine), said I was crazy to sign with Howard again," she recalled. "But why should I have gone off to MGM and work with people I didn't even know? Howard had been very good to me, and I felt that I owed him something."

Her loyalty paid off in what is one of the dream contracts of Hollywood history. Right now, she is smack in the middle of a 20-year contract that brings her $1,000 a week.

That's why most doesn't have to work, Jane purred.

But she has worked in recent years, touring the world with her own night club act or with Beryl Davis and Connie Haines.

"But the last tour I made with the girls was seven months, and that's too long," said Jane, who has been wed to Bob Waterfield for 22 years. "My kids are 16, 15 and 11 now, and I don't like to be gone too long. Pretty soon they'll be gone, and then where will I be?"

Operations of State Police Streamlining in Reorganization

EAST LANSING (AP)—The State Police, broadened and given a new department name Monday under government reorganization, is streamlining its division structure. Director Fredrick Davids said.

The official change from Michigan State Police to Department of State Police was ordered by acting Gov. William Milliken.

Davids, whose title switched from commissioner to director, said operations would be grouped into two main bureaus—to simplify the chain of command and enable the director to carry out his administrative responsibilities.

The divisions will be field services and staff services, each to be commanded by a deputy director. Present Supt. Melvin Kaufman is expected to become field services deputy director, thus remaining as No. 2 man in the department.

COMMAND CHAIN

Under the field services deputy will be a commander of the uniform division in charge of 56 posts and eight districts. Investigative services will be realigned into a detective division with a captain as commander.

The detective division will include an intelligence security section with intelligence, security, special investigation, narcotics and juvenile units.

An investigative services section in the detective division will include crime laboratory, latent fingerprint, photograph laboratory, polygraph, tradition check, sex deviate file and private detective licensing units.

Under reorganization, State Police were given control of the State Safety Commission, Civil Defense Advisory Council, Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council, State Fire Safety Board and regulation of private detectives.

Sees Heavy Increase in Security Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Raymond F. Cleveland, D-Mich., says this year's amendments to the Social Security Acts will add $10.6 million in benefit payments in calendar year 1966 to residents of Upper Michigan.

This will bring total payments in the area next year to $61.9 million, he said, and in 1967 the Upper Michigan figure will rise to $70.9 million.

Seek to Oust Insurance Chief

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag will try to oust his own insurance commissioner in an unprecedented action prompted by indictments returned by a federal grand jury.

Specific charges against Commissioner Cyrus E. Magnusson were being prepared today by Atty. Gen. Robert Mattson. Rolvaag ordered Mattson to refuse the governor's request to resign.

All three men are members of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor (DFL) party. Rolvaag appointed Mattson and reappointed Magnusson earlier this year.

Magnusson was indicted Friday with 16 others on charges of fraud and conspiracy in connection with the financial collapse of American Allied Insurance Co. of St. Paul.

The indictment charged the defendants with being parties to a scheme whereby $4 million was channeled from American Allied to the personal account of the Philip Kitzler Sr. family of Chicago.

Magnusson, insisting, he would be vindicated in the courts, continued on the job.

Mattson explained there was no clear-cut way under the law by which Magnusson could be removed.

The attorney general said he would proceed under the "common law powers" of the governor's office in setting up a public hearing to determine whether Magnusson should be fired.

The governor will appoint a legal officer—probably a retired judge—to hear the testimony, Mattson said, but the governor will make the final decision on whether Magnusson should be dismissed.

Magnusson, however, will have the right to appeal to the courts if the decision goes against him.

U. S. Weather Mixed With Rain, Cold, Heat

By The Associated Press

Freezing temperatures and some snow hit in the eastern third of the country today, but much of the western two-thirds had balmy temperatures.

Temperatures soared to record highs Monday in cities from Oregon to Nebraska.

"Minnetucca, Nev., had 75, equaling the record for the date. Pocatello, Idaho, had 71, matching a record, and Casper, Wyo., recorded a 71, the highest ever for the city on Nov. 1."

In Pendleton, Ore., and Scottsbluff, Neb., record 74s were posted.

COOL AIR

Cool Pacific air pushed the record-breaking heat out of California but temperatures still climbed into the 90s over the state's interior.

Snow flurries fell through the eastern Great Lakes and the New England hills.

Connecticut received its first widespread snow of the season Monday night. Flurries fell over most of the state, but in Norfolk Connecticut's traditional ice-box—two inches accumulated.

Temperatures plunged into the 20s early Monday night through much of the Northeast and freezing weather moved westward, a combination of the two extremes.

FLASH FLOODING

Torrential weekend rains that caused flash flooding in southeastern Florida eased off Monday. The storm drenched resort areas with up to 20 inches of rain.

Falling leaves, frost-killed vegetation and lack of rain have raised the danger of forest fires in Tennessee. There is no appreciable rainfall in sight before the weekend.

Early morning readings ranged from 19 at Montpelier, Vt., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

GMC Truck & Coach Division's Newest Beauty: The Luxury Liner

New GMC Bus Crowd Pleaser

One of the most enthusiastic reactions to any new product developed by GMC Truck & Coach Division has greeted the introduction of the new "Luxury Liner" intercity bus.

Calvin J. Werner, a vice president of General Motors and general manager of the division, said orders and commitments representing $13.5 million have been received since Sept. 15.

"Operators from all parts of the country have hailed the high-level appearance of this bus and its functional design," Werner said.

"It's 'theater seating' and extra baggage space are particularly popular."

The 35-foot "Luxury Liner" was shown for the first time publicly at the National Association of Motor Bus Owners convention in Chicago. Some 300 operators rode in it during the two-day meeting.

The bus is scheduled for production in December and deliveries will start early in 1966.

Brink's Holdup Suspect Is Held

FBI Charges Another and Identifies Cannon

NEW YORK (AP) — In swift developments, the FBI arrested one man in the $400,000 Brink's burglary in Syracuse, N.Y., charged another still at large and recovered the cannon used to blast open the vault.

Jack Frank, 33, of Freeport, N.Y., taken into custody by federal agents, was to be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner in Brooklyn.

His nephew, Joel Singer, 22, of Chomey, Quebec, is being sought in the burglary 10 days ago.

They were charged in Albany, N.Y., with conspiracy to violate the statute on interstate transportation of stolen property. The FBI also charged Singer with a violation of the federal firearms act in connection with the transportation of a 20mm antitank gun from Quebec to Syracuse.

The FBI said that it had recovered, with the aid of the Navy and Coast Guard, the antitank gun used in the burglary from waters near the Meadowbrook Parkway bridge to Jones Beach on Long Island.

Voting Eyed for Possible GOP Inroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Jersey, Virginia and a half-dozen Eastern and Midwestern cities — including New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland — hold the spotlight in scattered off-year election balloting today.

In most of them, Republicans are trying to supplant Democratic office-holders. The results will be watched closely for possible portents for the 1968 congressional and 1968 presidential elections.

Most interest has centered on New York City.

An estimated 2.5 million of the city's 3.6 million eligible voters are expected to decide a hotly contested mayor's race between Democratic City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame and Rep. John V. Lindsay, a Republican running with Liberal party backing at the head of a fusion ticket.

Straw polls indicate a close vote. The race is complicated by the presence of a third candidate, author-publisher William F. Buckley Jr., the Conservative party nominee.

DEMOS FAVORED

Democrats are favored to capture both governor's contests. In New Jersey, Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes, 56, is expected to defeat GOP State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., 51, while in Virginia Democratic Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., 50, is rated a probable victor over Republican A. Linwood Holton, 42, and Conservative party nominee William J. Story, 55.

Republicans are making strong bids for mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, and district attorney of Philadelphia. Other important mayoral elections are in Detroit, Louisville, Ky., and Akron, Ohio.

In Detroit, generally fair and mild weather was expected for today's election in which about 400,000 voters were expected to cast their votes for mayor and other offices.

Quits Position in Waterford

Appointment Ends Week of Speculation

James E. Seeterlin, Waterford Township supervisor for two and a half years, today was named Oakland County treasurer.

His appointment to the $16,000-a-year post ended a week of speculation as to who would fill the vacancy left open with the death of Charles A. Sparks.

Though the official announcement wasn't made until this morning, it was apparent that Seeterlin had been offered the job and had accepted when he announced his resignation to the Waterford Township Board last night.

He gave no reason at the time, but did say there would be an announcement on his future plans this morning.

Seeterlin had been supervisor since April 1, 1963.

In Dual Gemini Flight

Spacecraft May Nearly Touch

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 6 and 7 spaceships may maneuver to within inches of each other. Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford may leave No. 6 and walk over to No. 7 during the double orbital flight scheduled next month.

These possibilities came up Monday as the Gemini 7 astronauts discussed the flight with newsmen.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell also disclosed they plan to circle the earth for 10 of their 14 days wearing only long underwear.

The original Gemini 6 flight, with astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Stafford, was postponed Oct. 25 when the Agena rocket they were supposed to link up with failed to reach orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided to try the unique doubleheader, which has been dubbed the "Spirit of '76." It calls for Gemini 7 to be launched Dec. 8, with Gemini 6 to follow about eight days later. Gemini 6 is to stay aloft two or three days.

HOW CLOSE?

Asked how close the two spacehips might come, Borman said:

"We really feel we could get to within a matter of inches. I'm not saying that we will. But all our simulations show that once you are within 50 to 60 feet, it should be easy to go the rest of the way."

Lovell said he would be pleased if the two Geminis came close enough to prove the basic objective of space rendezvous — "the ability to transfer

TOP CONTENDER

His name had been among the top contenders being considered by the three county officials who are required under state law to pick a successor.

The appointment was made by Probate Judge Donald Adams, Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy and Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, all Democrats. Sparks was a Republican.

Seeterlin, a Democrat, was mentioned prominently as a possible candidate for the 19th District Congressional race last year before eventual winner Billie S. Farnum announced his candidacy.

Michigan High Court Expected to Revive Apportionment Issue

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Supreme Court was expected to revive the dormant legislative apportionment issue today with a ruling on a Republican-backed suit contesting the state's present districting plan.

Any one justice could delay the handing down of the opinion at the last minute—but it was given a "60-40 chance" by the court sources of coming out today.

Girl Is Slain Baby-Sitting

Detroit Police Hunt for a Mystery Man

DETROIT (AP)—Police were looking today for a mystery man seen leaving a west side flat in which the nude body of an 18-year-old baby sitter was found Monday.

The victim, Julie Pasanen, a blue-eyed blond from suburban Highland Park, was found sprawled in the bathroom of a flat rented by Mrs. Eileen A. Kadri, 23, of Detroit.

Mrs. Kadri's 18-month-old son, Michael, was found playing near the body, police said. He was not harmed.

Police said they also plan to question several boys who had dated Miss Pasanen recently.

NUMEROUS WOUNDS
The girl was stabbed at least 20 times, police said. Bloody footprints were found through the door, a two-apartment duplex owned by Mrs. Caroline Regula, 51. The weapon was not found.

Mrs. Regula said she saw a man at the back door as she was coming from the basement laundry room but he fled as her brother, Joseph Bosz, 54, of suburban Dearborn, arrived.

Bosz said he opened the door and called police after he spotted the footprints.

While police inspected the flat, a 19-year-old Detroit youth came to the door. He told police he was a friend of Miss Pasanen's and had talked to her on the telephone Monday morning after spending Sunday with her on a date. He was released.

DIARY, LETTERS
Police found a diary and some letters belonging to Miss Pasanen. They indicated she was pregnant.

Miss Pasanen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eino Pasanen of Highland Park. They moved to Detroit several years ago from Upper Michigan.

The suit, filed Aug. 21, 1964, objected that the Democratic-backed plan deprives Michigan citizens of "fair and effective representation and therefore of their rights, without due process of law."

The plan contributed to a Democratic sweep of both houses of the legislature last November and was attacked in the suit as "a partisan gerrymander."

The plan went into effect with State Supreme Court approval in June, 1964, shortly after the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision.

The state court had to enter the question because of the inability of the bipartisan State Apportionment Commission to agree on a plan.

Wilbur Brucker, Republican co-chairman of that commission, said:

"We (Republican commission members) haven't been presumptuous enough to draw up another districting plan on the chance that the court would rule in our favor."

"We couldn't act until the court ruled and we knew what yardstick it would lay down," he added.

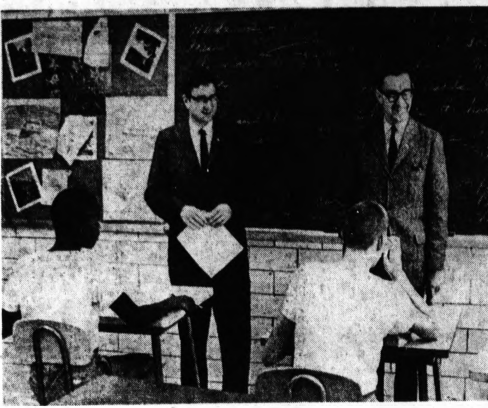

Secretary of State James Hare, under whose authority the redistricting plan was put into effect, was named a defendant in the suit. Labor forces, long-time combatants in the apportionment fight, entered the case as intervenors.

They included August Scholle, president of the state AFL-CIO; William C. Marshall, executive vice president, and Barney Hopkins, secretary-treasurer.

The 34 petitioners in the suit included Stephen Nisbet of Fremont, president of the constitutional convention; James Pollock, University of Michigan political scientist; Maxwell Badgley of Jackson, former president of the State Bar of Michigan; publishers Dale Stafford of Greenville and Link White of St. John; and broadcaster Les Biederman of Traverse City.

They contended the Democratic plan was "void and of no effect for the reason that a plan of apportionment and districting for the Legislature was not adopted by the commission on May 28, 1964, pursuant to an order of the court, dated May 28."

Two Democratic-backed court members had crossed over to the Detroit area several years ago from Upper Michigan.

FBI Arrests Suspect in Burglary

Police said the Brink's building in Syracuse was broken into the weekend of Oct. 23-24 and thieves first at least 30 rounds from a 20mm cannon to blast open the vault.

The thieves made off with $146,028 from the vault, including $180,774 in cash and $255,254 in checks.

Frank, a bachelor and a mechanic on Long Island, was arrested last night in Garden City, N.Y., taken to the FBI of Manhattan for fingerprinting and other processing.

He was lodged in the Federal House of Detention.

CONVICTED IN 1961
Federal agents said Singer, who had been employed as a salesman, had been convicted in 1961 for shopbreaking and given a suspended sentence.

He was described as 5 feet tall, 192 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes.

The thieves who robbed the Brink's office in Syracuse are believed by police to be the same persons who attempted to burglarize a Quebec bank with a cannon last Feb. 28. They were frightened off.

Investigators believe that the thieves purchased two anti-tank guns from an arms supplier in Alexandria, Va., had them shipped to a fictitious address in Pittsburgh, N.Y., then broke into the Pittsburgh express office at night and stole the guns.

Police believe the cannon were taken to Canada first for the attempted burglary in Quebec.

U.S. Says 92 Reds Killed, 26 Captured in Viet Fights

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. combat troops reported 92 Communist guerrillas after the strikes they left killed and 26 captured in the fighting in central Viet Nam today and Monday.

Men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, who arrived in Viet Nam only seven weeks ago, fought three engagements against an enemy force of between 500 and 600 men near the U. S. Special Forces camp at 5,000 feet, 210 miles north of Saigon.

The airborne cavalrymen reported they killed 88 of the enemy, captured 26 others and picked up 26 suspects. A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnamese regulars were among those killed and captured.

There was no word on American casualties.

REDS ROUNDED
The Viet Nam camp underwent a weeklong siege before the Communists were routed last week. The cavalrymen have been hunting down Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the area since then.

The Viet Cong attacked an outpost near Qui Nhon, on the coast 200 miles north of Saigon, but a U.S. spokesman said paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division fought off the assault and killed four Viet Cong. The Americans suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

In the northernmost case, a rescue of the war, Capt. Norman P. Huggins of Mullins, S.C., was picked up after his plane was hit by conventional ground fire over a Communist surface-to-air missile site 35 miles north of Hanoi, a military spokesman reported.

Huggins headed out over the South China Sea and bailed out 57 miles east of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. He spent an hour in a life raft before he was rescued by a plane piloted by Capt. David P. Westernberger of Fairfield, Ohio.

SAMPAN SHOT UP
During the rescue, two U.S. dive bombers shot up a North Vietnamese sampan that was heading for the downed man and firing machine guns at him. Huggins was reported in good condition.

Huggins was on a photo-reconnaissance mission over three days of Democratic rule.

MSU Will Ask $50.6 Million

$4.9 Million Sought for OU Operations

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University said yesterday it will ask the state for $50.6 million to run its 1966-67 operations.

In addition to the $50.6 million it will seek a state appropriation of $4.9 million for Oakland University operational expenses.

OU received a $2.6-million appropriation this year.

MSU will also request $3.2 million for the Agricultural Cooperative Extension Service and $4.4 million for the agricultural Experiment Station.

These two units received $2.1 million and $3.5 million respectively this year.

HIGHER AMOUNT
The initial proposal is more than 30 per cent above the $38.6 million the state granted MSU for the current year.

Almost half, or $5.9 million, of the proposed increase is for new staff, including 342 faculty positions.

The proposal says Michigan State accepted 4,000 new students at its main East Lansing campus this year and expects 2,150 more next fall.

The budget also proposes these increases:

- $1.1 million for supplies and equipment
- $532,388 for academic equipment
- $823,900 for libraries
- $1.2 million for nonacademic areas
- $860,343 for physical plant

Michigan State also asked starts in 1966-67 on these building projects: a new administration building, library addition, pesticide research center, social science building, life sciences and nursing buildings, physics and astronomy building and general classroom-office building.

TOTAL COST
These buildings would cost more than $43 million when completed.

The requested appropriation for general operations plus the school's other sources of revenue — income, fees, federal funds — would provide a $65.2 million operating budget for year compared with $52 million available for the current year.

City Accepts Salt Bids; 2 Firms to Get Contract

BIRMINGHAM—Bids on rock salt for city streets this winter were accepted last night by the City Commission, a week after the commissioner suggested that the contract with two of the three bidders.

Commissioner Carl Ingraham said that he had reconsidered his proposal and voted along with the other commissioners to split the contract with two of the three bidders.

"I realize that we are in need of salt and I don't know how it can be bought on the open market," said Ingraham.

In awarding the contract for about 900 tons of salt, the commission accepted City Manager Robert Kenning's recommendation to purchase it from Morton and International.

The action was delayed from last Monday when commissioners failed to agree on motions to accept the manager's recommendation or to reject all bids.

ADJOURN HEARING
In other business, the commission adjourned for one week at a hearing on the closing of Ridge-dale just east of Hunter.

The city manager requested the postponement so he could negotiate for the purchase of some property needed for an L-shaped turn-around at the end of the street.

Commissioners directed Kenning to return with background information on the proposed vacation of the street as well as suggestions, if any, since a number of affected property owners are opposed to the plan.

The commission, in another action, accepted the recommendation of the police department to use the single head parking meters in the diagonal parking spaces to be metered on Woodward Avenue.

TELL ADVENTAGES
The department had been requested to report on the advantages of the single head meters and the dual head units.

The department advised ahead of the head meters, saying some confusion would be caused in the winter when lines are covered with snow in getting the coin in the right meter.

The Birmingham Psychiatric and Medical Association, Inc., will begin a series of monthly film showings on mental health topics tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Clinic Meeting Room, 625 Purdy.

"Feelings of Depression" is the title of the first film. Members of the social work staff will comment on the film and a question and answer period will follow.

Different films will be featured at the public meetings scheduled for the first Wednesday of each month.

township administration for the first time in 1957 when he was elected clerk.

WON ELECTIONS
He won reelection in 1959 and again in 1961. Success continued for Seeterlin as he defeated incumbent Republican Elmer B. Johnson for the supervisor's job in April 1963.

Last November, Seeterlin again defeated Johnson in a close election.

Active on several county, state and national committees, Seeterlin would have been up for reelection in November 1966, providing he received his party's endorsement.

Seeterlin of 4507 W. Walton, Waterford Township, will be officially sworn in at the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' meeting next Monday.

SUCCESSOR ON BOARD
Seeterlin's successor reported by will be selected by the Township Board, Treasurer Dorothy Olson said the replacement could be a present board member or an outsider.

Accomplishments achieved during Seeterlin's reign as supervisor include beginning of work on the township's $7.35-million water project, establishment of a public library and just recently plans to construct a sanitary sewer system.

A life-long township resident, Seeterlin is a graduate of Pontiac High School and a World War II veteran. He has taken several courses at Wayne State University.

He was employed by a trucking firm as dispatcher and owner-driver prior to becoming township clerk in 1957.

Seeterlin is married and the father of eight children. His latest, a boy, was born last week.

On that date Pontiac police reported Taylor removed a glass window at the station's detention room, unlocked the door and walked out.

Later the same day, Taylor came back into the station and gave himself up.

CONVICTED OF LARCENY
Taylor was originally convicted of larceny from a building and sentenced to 90 days in the Oakland County Jail.

Following his Sept. 14 escape, Taylor was handed the one-year jail term by Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Taylor was discovered missing Oct. 21 when deputies at the Oakland County Jail informed Pontiac police Taylor had not been returned to custody since taken from jail by police officers according to Pontiac policeman Billy Hargrave.

Hargrave said Taylor had been locked in the detention room to await return to the jail following an interview with Judge McCallum.

Besides increasing passenger comfort, this new transmission has the advantage of wider combinations of gradeability and top speed. It shifts under full power, with no throttle reduction required.

Driver control is simplified because there is no clutch pedal to operate.

Other engineering advantages include a new high-visibility instrument console, improved air conditioning and simplified maintenance.

SAFETY MEASURES
For passenger safety, two convenient ceiling grab rails are provided, together with eye-level precautionary lights at each tier step.

Viet-Bound Youth 'Sorry' for Holdup

DETROIT (AP)—An unidentified youth who says he is on his way to Viet Nam promises a Detroit storekeeper that "if it is God's will that I survive what lies ahead," he will apologize in person for robbing the man.

As it is, the storekeeper, Charles Bedore, said that enclosed with the unsigned letter he received from the youth Monday was $52 in cash — money the youth indicated he had stolen in a robbery.

Bedore said he had no idea who the youth was, although the letter indicated its writer had been shot in the holdup. Bedore said his grocery store had been robbed several times in the past few years.

The letter was mailed Wednesday in Los Angeles.

'FORGIVENESS'
"I am writing this letter in the hope that I might gain your forgiveness for the outrage I perpetrated upon you when, at gunpoint, I stole a sum of money from you," said the letter, penned nearly on a piece of lined notebook paper.

"I, more than anyone else, realize that the return of this money can in no way make up for the mental anguish or the inconvenience I imposed upon you by my actions . . .

"Although I cannot, at this time, give any good reasons for my theft, I can try to explain . . . I was totally unprepared to earn an honest living . . . and had but a short time before run away from family and friends.

"I was alone, and I must admit, terribly afraid."

CITES COWARDICE
"Many times since the robbery took place I have passed your business establishment, wanting to make restitution of the money I stole from you, but each time my cowardice again came to the fore."

"You know, each time I shower I see the scars left by your bullet . . .

"When you read this," the letter ended, "I will have already arrived at my destination." The destination, he said, was Viet Nam.

"If it is God's will that I survive what lies ahead, I will come into your store and confess my sins to you personally."

WAS SURPRISED
Commented Bedore: "I was always bugging the police department about getting some of the stolen money back, but I sure was surprised when I got this letter."

Bedore called police after the letter arrived.

"They came out here and read it," he said. "But when they saw where this guy was going, they said to forget it."

Wilson Trip Gained One Thing: Time

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When British Prime Minister Harold Wilson left Salisbury, Rhodesia, last weekend he had gained the one thing he could have hoped for from his hurried trip from London — time.

Not since the American colonies declared unilateral independence in 1776 had a British leader faced a similar situation.

So intertwined were the issues in national sentiments, that retreat by either Wilson or Smith could mean the fall of a government.

BEYOND BORDERS

The problems went beyond the borders of Rhodesia.

Economically, Britain could halt the import of Rhodesian tobacco, the colony's greatest earner of foreign exchange.

It could cut off Rhodesia's commonwealth preferences such as in the export of sugar, it could freeze Rhodesian assets in Britain and it could block Rhodesian access to the London money market.

And, indeed, in Salisbury's prosperous shops, on its shaded, pleasant streets and on its self courses, the whites of Rhodesia, outnumbered 18 to 1 by blacks, talked of Rhodesian independence almost as though it already were an accomplished fact.

In the closing, suspenseful days of October, it appeared that both Wilson and Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith were locked in inflexible positions from which neither could retreat.

Smith in his demands that the self-governing colony be given independence now under a constitution which guaranteed continuing rule by Rhodesia's 220,000 whites over its 4 million blacks.

Wilson in his equally adamant stand that independence only could come with guarantees for eventual black majority rule.

WAY OF LIFE

For Smith whose father had hacked his farm out of the African bush and others like him, for small businessmen and artisans who had emigrated from England to find a new and prosperous way of life south of the Sahara, it was unthinkable that all this now should be turned over to the mercies of a black government.

The alternative was UDI, a unilateral declaration of independence.

For the British, dedicated to a policy of black African independence and with far-flung commonwealth ties, UDI was equally unpalatable.

In Salisbury, Wilson and Smith agreed that a royal commission would study possible constitutional changes.

Short of immediate power, no changes will satisfy militant black Africans. But Wilson has gained precious time.

Beware of Changes in Blood-Sugar Level

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY suggested by Abrahamson, and in a recent piece about high Pizet in their book, "Body, Mind and low blood sugar," I said, and Sugar," published by Henry Holt & Co., New York, N.Y.

To the uninitiated it may seem blood occurs much more frequently than we formerly supposed to excessive consumption of sugar, such as potato, bread, ice cream, candy overstimulates the islands of Langerhans in the pancreas which secrete insulin, and this reduces the sugar in the blood to a dangerously low level — a condition which is the same in effect as hyperinsulinism, insulin shock.

Persons subject to hyperinsulinism (low blood sugar) should avoid absolutely sugar, cake, pie, sweet custards, puddings and ice cream; ordinary coffee and beverages containing caffeine or a caffeine-like drug; potatoes, rice, grapes, raisins, plums, figs, date, bananas, spaghetti, macaroni, noodles; wines, cordials, cocktails and beer.

One doctor suggested an electroencephalogram to determine whether brain waves would show a brain tumor. I decided to let the tumor grow. Another, noticing that my heart misses a beat two or three times a minute (it has done so ever since Tony was a pup), thought it might skip three or four beats in succession, which would interrupt the supply of oxygen to vital brain centers long enough to produce lapses of consciousness, etc.

I wish he had kept that sage theory to himself — not that it worried me, but just that it made me a little less confident in my own diagnosis.

LAPSES CEASED
Whatever the nature of my blackouts may have been, they ceased, after a year or two, almost entirely. On rare occasions I did have momentary sensations of fright or panic, as for example a year ago when I fell heavily on my back and sustained a fracture of a lumbar vertebra.

Then, a month ago, I had another spell, lapse or seizure — out of a clear sky a sudden feeling of panic, momentary, hard to describe but accompanied with the thought "Oh-oh, this is it."

The panic was over within a few seconds, I think, but for half an hour I lay back extremely weak and in a cold sweat. Then I changed to dry clothing, had a cookie and a glass of milk, and right away felt just fine and dandy.

Many readers who are subject to hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) have told me of the great benefit they have derived from following the type of diet

Bore Ordinary Fellow

Season Jumper Stays Ahead

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals today is the season jumper.

This is the person who prides himself on getting things done ahead of time. By now he probably already has eaten his Thanksgiving Day dinner and sent out his Christmas cards.

There is a BOYLE tendency in several fields to jump the gun and get a head start on everybody else, and this has become a bore to the ordinary fellow, who by nature is something of a procrastinator.

Magazines hope to get an edge by mailing out their April issues in January. All sports, including baseball and football, appear to be lengthening their season. The idea is to start sooner and stay longer, thus milking every last possibility of profit by remaining on the scene as long as an excuse can be found to do so.

If nature started following this practice of advancing and extending the seasons, soon we'd be swatting mosquitoes in February and throwing snowballs in July.

ACCEPT CHANGES

One of the ways we achieve wonder and surprise in life is by

Fallout Data Computerized

By Science Service

ALBANY, N. Y.—Quick information about radioactivity in milk, air, water, soil and any other material that could pose a health problem is to be transmitted to an electronic computer by a system expected to be in operation by the end of 1965.

By getting data quickly, corrective and preventive action can be taken. Leased telephone wires will send information to the Albany Laboratories.

The new system, which was designed by the New York State Health Department's radiological sciences laboratory, will supplement the department's statewide network of stations that sample materials for radioactivity.

It was designed under a contract with the U.S. Public Health Service, which is considering a nationwide network. About $100,000 of government money has been involved so far.

FIRST STATION

The first station is at Springfield, N. Y., in the western part of the state.

Ready for use are four gamma ray detectors, two alpha detectors and four beta detectors that can examine samples around the clock seven days a week.

Other stations can be added and any station can be used as the central one.

The system operates when radiation causes the detector to send impulses to an analog-to-digital converter in the Springfield Laboratory. This ADC changes the impulse into a signal a computer can read.

accepting the changes that come our way in their proper order, in a cycle that follows a usual pattern. This is why the sequence of spring, summer, autumn and winter gives us so much pleasure. We like it that way: few of us think the system would be improved by mixing up the seasons so that we had roses in January and icicles in September.

But that is what the season jumpers of this world seem to be doing. They are trying to get a leap ahead of the other fellow.

They plan to fly the flag to celebrate Fourth of July, they run it up the flag staff on May 1.

They buy their furs and topcoats in August; they buy their beachwear and outdoor home cooking equipment in midwinter.

They don't have much fun staying up on Dec. 31 to watch the new year come in as they are too busy coloring eggs for Easter.

Such people regard themselves as clever and efficient, and perhaps they may be. But they are somewhat depressing to many of the rest of us who like to enjoy our holidays and our seasons separately as they come.

Take the Christmas season, for example. When individuals or promotion firms start beating the drums for Santa Claus before Thanksgiving, they are starting the jingle bells atmosphere too soon.

I yield to no man in my admiration of the jolly old saint, but I don't really want to listen to his "Ho, ho, ho!" before the first day of December.

If I do, I get a bit tired of the season of good will: it begins to sound strained and hokey because it has been overdone for selfish reasons. By the evening of Dec. 24 I am annoyed with innocent and kindly old Santa. Along with many of my neighbors I have an inclination to climb to a rooftop and set a beartrap in the chimney.

This, of course, is not any fault of Santa's. It is the fault of the season jumpers. There is a time for everything.

According to the Department of Commerce, there were 100 million of these in the U.S. in 1964. Antidated for 1965.

TAKES DARE, TRIES IT FIRST TIME

Surprise! "Not sour at all," she says

Mrs. Joyce Birmingham has just joined the fraternity of fine cooks who sing the praises of sour cream. One bite opened a whole new world of flavor excitement for her and now she's collecting sour cream recipes from appetizers to desserts. Don't let the name, sour cream, keep you from discovering this delicious dairy product. Sour cream isn't "sour"—but don't take Mrs. Birmingham's word for it. Try some yourself. Start with one of the dishes below.

Why the Name Sour Cream?

Commercially cultured cream, as we know it, is a far cry from the product for which the name was given. Actually, sour cream as mentioned in famous European recipes dating back as far as the 17th century was truly that—cream that had soured.

In fact, today's sour cream was not possible until the advent of the cream separator in the late 1800's. So the first dairy-made sour cream made its debut in 1917. And what a transformation! It was an exciting new product with a name that no longer applied. But the name, nevertheless, "stuck."

Today's sour cream isn't "sour"; it is pasteurized, homogenized sweet cream, cultured, then under controlled conditions allowed to develop acidity to give character—that piquant zest. This delightful dairy product, made fresh daily, is delicate, satin-textured and always uniform. Get a carton of sour cream today.

Women Like Sour Cream's Low Calories

Weight-watchers prefer sour cream to many heavy salad dressings. Sour cream is low in calories compared with most other foods used in similar ways. For instance, the calories in 1 tablespoon of sour cream and 1 tablespoon of similarly used foods are:

Cinderella Act Used on Potential Library in West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWN-put any more books in the space SHIP — An unsightly building we have or they'll be in the which formerly housed the West-basement. Those books are acres Cooperative Market and heavy. We've had to reinforce later a grocery store will soon the floors two or three times."

FIRE HAZARD

The present location of the library's 4,200 volumes is also a fire hazard. Devers pointed out.

Plans for the project began about three years ago. Since that time many groups and individuals, including the West-acres Women's Club, the Countryside Improvement Association, Friends of the Library, Oakland Housing, Inc., and members of the library board have worked to make it possible.

The new branch will have a colonial front designed by Jude T. Fusco, Ferndale architect.

Devers said the expanded quarters will improve service to West Bloomfield residents, as well as provide service to residents of adjacent townships which don't have a library.

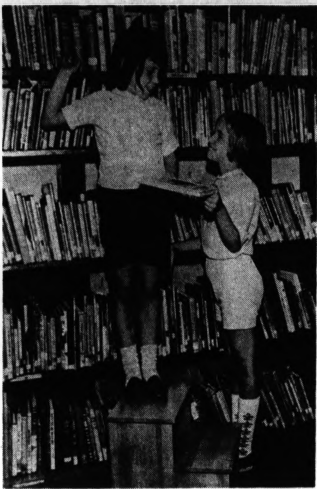

Located at 7321 Commerce near Green Lake, the building is being remodeled by Mayfair Building Corp. of Detroit at a cost of about $27,000.

Approximately one-third of the cost, $8,300, is being provided by a federal grant under the $30-million Library Services and Construction Act passed in 1964.

When completed sometime next month, the 40-by-45-foot building will replace the branch library which has been located on the second floor of the West-acres clubhouse in Westacres subdivision for the past 18 years.

The new location will have about twice as much floor space.

School Linkup Vote Is Sought

Seek Dublin to Join Walled Lake District

WALLED LAKE — Members of the Walled Lake Board of Education last night recommended that referendum vote be scheduled on a proposal to include the Dublin school system in the Walled Lake system.

The board also recommended that approximately 160 acres in the Waterford Township school system be included in the transfer package to straighten present school system boundary lines.

These recommendations will be referred to the Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee for its consideration.

Dublin offers a program only for kindergarten through eighth grade.

A state law passed last year calls for abolishment of school systems without a high school program.

ON ANNEXATION

If a vote is called, residents of Walled Lake, Dublin and Waterford Township school systems would vote on the annexation of the Dublin system and the small part of the Waterford system to Walled Lake.

A majority vote by the electors of all three districts would determine the fate of the proposal.

Corn Picking Contests Set

ADRIAN—The state and national corn picking contests, twice postponed because of wet grounds, were scheduled to get under way today in Lenawee County.

The state competition was to be held today with the national scheduled for tomorrow.

Originally scheduled for Oct. 21 and 22, the contests were postponed a week when heavy rains made it impossible for machinery to get into the contest fields.

Bad weather continued to plague most of lower Michigan, however, and the annual event had to be postponed again.

Referendum Vote Hearing Is Delayed

ROSE TOWNSHIP — A Circuit Court hearing at which the Township Board must show cause why a referendum election should not be set aside has been postponed until Monday.

The hearing, requested by Mohave Plantations, Inc., had been scheduled for yesterday before Judge Arthur E. Moore.

The company filed suit asking the township last Thursday against the court to void a Sept. 28 referendum election which resulted in prohibiting the firm from developing a mobile home site.

Land Transfer Talks Sought by Avondale

By JANICE KLOUSER

Two Avondale Board of Education members will try to set up a meeting with representatives of the Bloomfield Hills board in an attempt to decide in which district a small portion of land near I-75 rightfully belongs.

Thomas Galloway and Jack Slater Jr. were appointed to meet with the Bloomfield Hills group following a request from a representative of the subdivision developers who want the Fox Hills Subdivision made part of the Bloomfield Hills district.

M. L. Robinson of Robinson Brothers, Inc., of Bloomfield Township, said his company wants the 20 acres of now undeveloped land near South Boulevard and I-75 transferred from the Avondale district to the Bloomfield Hills district.

He said that from a social and educational point of view such a move would make a more logical line of demarcation.

There is no safety factor involved as pupils would be bussed across I-75 to Avondale schools, but Robinson said the expressway would be an inconvenience for those who wanted to participate in extracurricular activities.

ATTEND SCHOOL

He said that while playing and socializing with other Fox Hills children, the youngsters affected would have to go to school on the other side of the interchange.

About 60 homes would be involved which, he said, would be more salable in the Bloomfield Hills district. He indicated that the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education favors the change for the same reasons he outlined.

He said that financially the move would not hurt Avondale as Robinson Brothers would be willing to pay for the modification.

CONSIDER TRADE

Avondale board president Ray Isaenhardt indicated that his group might be more in favor of the move if there were a trade involved.

"We don't like to give up land because we're a small district to begin with," he said.

In other action last night, the board heard a report from Dr. Gerald Boicourt of Wayne State University on the progress of a citizens' study which was started last February.

Boicourt said the original completion target was June, but that for personal reasons he did not get the preliminary report written until last week.

TO CALL MEETING

He said he hopes to call the steering committee together next week and "wrap the whole thing up" by the end of November.

Five committees were formed last February to study aspects of elementary education, secondary education, building, population and finance.

There was also a steering committee which was to cooperate with consultants from Wayne. The board of education allocated a maximum of $5,000 to pay for the consulting service.

Several citizens at the last board meeting complained that they had not been notified of meetings and had not met as a committee for some time.

ONE FOR FINANCE

Boicourt said that only about 25 persons showed up for the study committee. He said that only one volunteered for the finance committee, and that therefore, no meetings were held.

He said the task now is to decide what type of building program the citizens will endorse. He said the whole group will act as a finance committee.

A report was also given on the progress of the present building program in which additions are being made to the junior and senior high schools.

The additions were to be completed by September but the architects indicated that because of a labor shortage and other problems they were delayed.

If all goes according to schedule, both additions should be completed within three or four weeks.

Also last night, the board adopted a resolution that the next elementary school built in the district would be named the R. Grant Graham Elementary School.

Graham, a member of the board for 15 years, resigned two weeks ago because of a recent attorney general's ruling that the positions of board member and justice of the peace are incompatible.

Graham is justice of the peace in Pontiac Township.

BACK SHACKLEFORD

The board received a letter

About 10 Elmwood teachers and six other employees expressed the same sentiment in a letter to the board two weeks ago.

Last December, Shackelford was given a one-year extension on his contract to June 1966. The extension was granted at that time over the objections of some board members who said "He does not have the proper qualifications for leadership."
