Investors Today Await Chrysler's 1960 Report

From Our News Wires
NEW YORK — Amid rumblings of stockholder discontent, Chrysler Corp. reports today on its earnings in 1960.

All other major automakers already have reported profits.

Before the board met, investors bid up the price of Chrysler common stock $2.57 a share Wednesday, apparently anticipating encouraging word on profits — and possibly favorable dividend action.

They were unduly by a rash of litigation and other troubles that have embroiled the corporation management generally and L. L. (Tex) Colbert, board chairman, in particular.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was brisk, with 49,200 shares changing hands. The closing price was $25.50.

All advance signs pointed to a report of this profit for 1960 in contrast with 1959, a losing year for Chrysler when production was severely hurt by glass and steel strikes.

SUIT FILED
The most recent development in the trouble which has repeatedly rocked Chrysler since last spring is a $5.25 million damage suit filed against Colbert by ousted President William C. Newberg.

The action was started Wednesday in a Pontiac, Mich., court.

To Open Wing at Cranbrook

Hope to Make Science Exhibit Available to Public May 26

Plans to open the Cranbrook Institute of Science's $70,000 physics wing to the public sometime in the latter part of May were announced today by Dr. Robert Hatt, director of the institute in Bloomfield Hills.

We are hoping to meet a May 26 target date for the opening, said Dr. Hatt. Once completed, the permanent physics exhibit will be the first of its kind in Michigan. It will trace the growth of physical sciences from their beginning to the present.

Up until now, the Cranbrook Institute has dealt entirely with the natural sciences, presenting these in one of the most complete, highly educational displays in the country.

$70,000 IN DISPLAYS

The same thoroughness in the field of physical sciences is the ultimate goal of the latest plan. However, it will take at least two years to complete, at an additional cost of another $70,000, according to Dr. Hatt.

The first display, expected to be on hand for the May opening, will deal with the spectrum, from ultraviolet to electronic energy. Further displays, which will be added from time to time, have not yet been determined.

Already completed, the new wing measuring 34 by 38 feet, was made possible through subscribed funds in the form of grants and gifts, a benefit dinner last year, and a benefit performance by St. Dunstan's Guild.

In addition to the physics hall, the wing houses a new, fully carpeted lobby, done in contemporary design.

The old lobby, in turn, has been converted into an area of astronomical exhibits which peters around the institute's large model of the solar system.

The change has enabled the institute to present its astronomy display in its entirety for the first time. The display includes some of man's oldest and newest instruments for measuring time and distance.

The new wing formerly was an open terrace on the south side of the science building. The one-story brick addition was designed by William E. Kapp, architect and trustee of the institute.

Holds Desert Testing

PARIS (UPI)—France has decided not to carry out any further nuclear tests at the present French test site in the Sahara Desert, according to sources said today.

1960, after only two months as president of the auto firm, on the ground that he had received at most $300,000 in profits from interests in outside supplier firms.

The corporation was not named as a defendant in Newberg's suit which accused Colbert of trying to destroy him (Newberg) to save Colbert's own job.

However, two Chrysler directors and a Chrysler attorney were named as conspirators. They were W. Alton Jones, chairman of the executive committee of Cites Service Corp., and Louis B. Warren, a New York lawyer, both directors, and Francis E. Biesel, a member of Warren's law firm.

The action touched off a round of stockholders' actions, suits by and against the auto firm and the ouster of another executive, marketing director Jack W. Minor, also on conflict of interest charges.

Colbert described Newberg's charges as "baseless and fantastic." The men were once considered the closest of friends.

The directors also face continued efforts by Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann to touch off an all-out proxy war aimed at ousting the present management on mismanagement charges.

A Royal Oak, Mich., millionaire industrialist, James M. Robbins, is standing on the sidelines considering a proxy war of his own. He is reported to have strong support from New York and Texas financial interests.

Slinks in Mink

HUDSON AT BAY — Rock Hudson gets paid a lot of money to make motion pictures, but there are few men who would appear in this attire the actor must wear for a scene in his latest film — even for a million bucks. In the script of "Lover, Come Back," Hudson gets left on a beach in his swimming trunks and gets a lift home from a furrier, who lends him a $7,000 mink coat.

Fireman Keeps Mustache, but Just by a Whisker

By MAX E. SIMON
Greater love has no man than that of a Pontiac fireman for his mustache.

The devotion of 36-year-old Donald H. Thorpe, a fireman for 10 years, toward his never wavered.

And, as a result, any fireman who fancies himself the mustache type, can wear one. It took an appeal to City Hall on behalf of Thorpe's mustache to settle the question yesterday.

The mustache crisis was created by a recent order of Fire Chief James R. White.

With the centennial celebration nearing, White banned beards, long sideburns, and mustaches of the Fire Department.

Thorpe, the only regular mustache wearer, was mortified.

"Half a lifetime together. Eighteen years of happiness — and now, to be separated," he moaned.

He delayed the parting.

ORDERS IT OFF

Yesterday a phone call from the chief ordered an end to further dilly-dallying.

Thorpe, an engineer, took his case to Lt. Robert Sartell, president of the Pontiac Fire Fighters Association (PFFA).

"My mustache and I went through the Navy together — and 10 years of fighting fires," Thorpe pointed out.

Impressed by Thorpe's loyalty to the mustache, Sartell called a meeting of the PFFA Executive Board.

They, too, felt the mustache should stay.

Sartell took the matter to the fire chief.

Asks Congress to OK Health Aid for Aged

Kennedy Would Solve Controversial Project to Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today urged Congress to approve a controversial health insurance program for 14.2 million Americans 65 or older.

It would be financed by an increase in Social Security taxes.

In a special message to Congress dealing with the "harsh consequences" and sometimes crushing cost of ill health, Kennedy also recommended more federal spending to provide separately for:

An increase in community health services and facilities, such as nursing homes, nursing aid and expansion of hospital research and development; training of more doctors and dentists through federal scholarships; a broader health care program for children and youth; more vocational rehabilitation training of the disabled; and expansion of medical research.

"The health of our nation," the President said, "is a key to its future—to its economic vitality, to the morale and efficiency of its citizens, to our success in achieving our own goals and demonstrating to others the benefits of a free society."

Terming it a matter of national concern, Kennedy said: "The dramatic results of new medicines and new methods — opening the way to a fuller and more useful life — are too often beyond the reach of those who need them most."

EXPLAINS FLIGHT

"Those among us who are over 65—16 million today in the United States—go to the hospital more often and stay longer than their younger neighbors," he added. "Their physical activity is limited by six times as much disability as the rest of the population. Their annual medical bill is twice that of persons under 65—but their annual income is only half as high."

The health insurance program Kennedy proposed for the aged—similar in principle to the one he tried unsuccessfully to pass through Congress last year as a member of the Senate—would apply to 13.7 million over 65 who are under the Social Security program, and to about 500,000 under the Railroad Retirement pension program, administration officials said.

They said further the proposed increase in Social Security taxes, including bigger levies under the railroad program, would pay out about $1.1 billion in health insurance.

JFK AND BILLY TALK — President Kennedy talks with evangelist Billy Graham today at the annual presidential prayer breakfast in a Washington hotel. The event is sponsored by the International Christian Leadership Conference. There were 800 men at this breakfast, and 600 women at a similar affair. Kennedy dropped in and spoke at both meetings.

Says: 'In God We Trust'

JFK Attends Breakfasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today he does not regard religion as a weapon in the Cold War but as the differences separating the Communist and non-Communist world.

Kennedy attended a presidential prayer breakfast with 800 men, dropped in on another similar gathering of 600 women, and spoke at both.

"Each of the nation's presidents," the President said, "has in his own way placed a trust in God. Those presidents who were strongest intellectually were strongest spiritually."

"The guiding principle of this nation has ever been, is now, and shall ever be: 'In God We Trust.'"

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson drew applause when he referred to the men's breakfast to the November election which made Kennedy the first Roman Catholic president.

"In recent months," Johnson said, "our nation has re-examined and reaffirmed the principle of separation of church and state. I am sure that the principle has no stronger defender than the man who sits with us this morning as president of the United States."

VALUES TO STAY

But this separation, Johnson said, does not mean separation of religious values from the affairs of state.

The breakfast, an annual affair sponsored by International Christian Leadership, Inc., brought out members of the Cabinet, diplomats, members of Congress and persons from all over the country.

Similar breakfasts were held in more than 20 states, said Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., president of the International Council for Christian Leadership.

Separate gatherings of men and women were held here. After breakfasting with the men, Kennedy dropped across a hall and spoke briefly to the women.

It was to the women that he said he does not regard religion as a cold war weapon.

"I believe that our cause is just," Kennedy said.

More Areas Put on List of Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department today added 25 major industrial centers to its list of substantial unemployment areas. A spokesman called the life situation "the worst since early World War II."

The new areas reported with an idle rate of 6 per cent or more of their work force included Philadelphia, Cleveland, Baltimore, Los Angeles, Newark, St. Louis and Kansas City.

At the same time, it was announced that Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg will make a five-state inspection of unemployment areas beginning Friday. He is making, at President Kennedy's direction, a series of on-the-spot tours of areas where unemployment is considered a major problem.

The new Labor Department survey of major labor centers showed that the aggregate rise in unemployment in the 130 major areas surveyed increased about 50 per cent between November and January.

Sylvan Hen Coop Fouls Up Council

By DICK SAUNDERS

A kindly little lady and her chickens have the Sylvan Lake City Council over a barrel today.

At their meeting last night the astute councilmen formulated plans for a major storm drain project, invested some $25,000 in government securities, and solved many other lofty municipal problems with tact and wisdom.

But they were completely stymied by Mrs. Oscar C. Baker and her chickens.

The meeting reached its height of suspense when City Attorney Tom Reese rose to his feet and asserted, "She's a nice little old lady but those chickens have got to go!"

For more than 30 years Mrs. Baker, 62, has lived at 1828 Lake and St.

All that time she has kept about a half-dozen hens on her property. "They are the best source I know for fresh eggs," she explained.

"It's gotten so I can hardly eat store-bought eggs anymore," she added.

In recent months, residents of a new subdivision bordering on her property have complained of the chickens to city councilmen.

"And you know," she confided, "one of those complainers told me these eggs aren't fit to eat."

"Now I ask you, what could (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Supervisors Okay Transfer of $1.2 Million

'Surprise' Surplus in County Budget Allows Construction Work

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

County supervisors again found relief in a budget surplus from last year, and voted today to allocate $1,286,432 to build two additions at the new courthouse.

In a move that caught most of the supervisors by surprise, the board's ways and means committee announced that the county was "in a most fortunate position" financially thanks to a smaller social welfare load than anticipated in 1960.

Chairman David Levinson's "out of the blue" announcement followed on the heels of a communication from the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic that 140 emotionally ill children would have to go without care this year due to "lack of funds."

White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheys tried unsuccessfully to steer some of the so-called "unappropriated" non-tax surplus money to the clinic. He received no support.

Supervisors did, however, settle an annual tug of war between city and township supervisors with a compromise allocation of another $100,000 non-tax surplus for the repair of rural roads.

By a vote of 67 to 6, the board of supervisors decided to transfer the $1,286,432 to the building fund for the design and construction of an administrative wing next to the $3.2 million courthouse scheduled to be opened in July in the Telegraph Road County Service Center.

8,566 Cars Produced

Pontiac Motor Output Up

Pontiac Motor Division's passenger car output last week rose by 311 units over the previous week, the Automobile Manufacturers Association (AMA) reported today.

For the week ending Feb. 4, Pontiac Motor's production totaled 8,566 units, as compared with 7,755 for the week ending Jan. 28.

Production gains were recorded for both the Pontiac and Tempest cars. The number of Pontiacs rolling off the assembly lines increased from 4,966 to 5,618, and Tempests from 2,889 to 2,948.

For the month of January, AMA statistics showed an estimated 36,332 units produced by Pontiac Motor — 23,009 Pontiacs and 13,323 Tempests.

Pontiac Motor's cumulative output for 1961 through Feb. 4 totaled 41,724 units, down from 33,822 units in the same period last year.

Pontiac Motor's 8,566 units last week was far ahead of Oldsmobile Division in the medium-priced field. Oldsmobile reported total production for the week ending Feb. 4 at 6,190 units.

Both standard Oldsmobile and compact P56 trailed comparative Pontiac Motor models.

British Hang Murderer, 21

Goes to His Death on Gallows for Confessed Slaying of Woman

LONDON (UPI) — The British hanged a 21-year-old butcher's helper for murder today despite his claims of innocence and an 11th hour attempt by members of Parliament to spare his life.

George Riley went to his death on the gallows at the Shrewsbury Jail for the slaying of a 62-year-old woman, Mrs. Adelaide Smith.

A silent crowd gathered outside the jail at the appointed hour — 8 a.m. — but a strong police detail was on duty and there were no incidents.

Riley's last visitors were his 19-year-old girl friend and his father. They spoke with him in his cell a few hours before the hanging.

Riley was convicted largely on the strength of a confession he made after seven hours of questioning by police. He later repudiated the confession.

The 2,948 Tempests produced last week easily outdistanced P56 output, which totaled 1,692 units.

GMC Truck and Coach Division last week produced 1,546 trucks, down from 1,421 for the week ending Jan. 28. AMA estimates 5,501 trucks as the division's output in January.

For the year, GMC's cumulative truck production of 6,306 units is far below output for the same period last year when 11,988 units were turned out.

Total U.S. motor vehicle production last week hit 123,652 units, up from 115,667 during the previous week.

Cumulative output for 1961 through Feb. 4 totaled 572,331 units, including 476,139 passenger cars, 96,432 trucks and 350 motor coaches.

In the same period last year, 1,004,539 vehicles were produced — 852,993 passenger cars, 151,076 trucks and 470 buses.

Jazz Fete Out This Year After '60 Newport Riot

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — There will be no Newport Jazz Festival this year. The event was accompanied by wild disorder last year, when teen-agers unable to gain admission resorted to beer-can throwing and other rowdiness. The stadium had been sold out. Many were arrested.

The City Council Wednesday night unanimously refused a permit for the event.

Showdown in the Congo Between U.S. and Russia

By PHIL NEWSOM

The showdown has arrived in the Congo.

The time has come for the United Nations to take firm control of the situation, or leave it wide open for one of the world's major powers—the Soviet Union or the United States—to take over alone.

Quiet diplomacy is the order of the day.

And it shows signs that it might work.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has been up to his neck in quiet diplomatic talks since last week when the Security Council took a long recess to let the diplomatic service go to work.

He sees signs of a "consensus" emerging.

That consensus appears to revolve about U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's proposal to take the manifold segments of the Congolese national army out of politics and let the politicians get down to forming a stable government without use of force.

Everything hinges on agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Although Congolese strongman Maj. Joseph D. Mobutu, the strong right arm of pro-Western President Joseph Kasavubu, says that any attempt to disarm his forces would mean war, the United States is counted on for enough influence to whip him into line.

Equally, the Soviet Union. If it can be brought to agreement, is expected to keep under control the sizable forces loyal to ousted leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba.

If those premises are true, it leaves one major problem—and it is a big one: A gentleman named Moïse Tshombe who started the real territorial division of the Congo by declaring his Katanga province an independent state.

All indications are that Tshombe has powerful backing from Belgium.

He also has the largest and most cohesive of the halfdozen "armies" operating in the Congo.

One suggestion at the United Nations is that Tshombe and Katanga should be isolated temporarily, while the rest of the Congo is dealt with. Then, with the United States and the Soviet Union cooperation, Tshombe's turn would come.

A U.N. diplomat who has been privy to the inner workings of the Congo operation from the start says Soviet-American cooperation is imperative.

"If the Congo operation fails, Africa will go down the drain

Area Men to Work on Exhaust Problem

DETROIT—New chairmen have been named for two task groups of automotive engineers working on the motor vehicle exhaust control program of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

D. L. Davis of Studebaker-Packard Corp. is chairman of the exhaust system task group, succeeding Robert T. VanDerwever, 1801 Bedford Road, Birmingham, of American Motors Corp.

E. P. Wise, 1888 Cragin Drive, Bloomfield Hills, of Chrysler Corp.

has been elected chairman of the induction system task group, succeeding Howard H. Dietrich of General Motors Corp.

These and other research and engineering task groups serve under the AMA Vehicle Combustion Products Committee. The committee coordinates the automobile industry's cooperative program of research and development aimed at reducing automotive exhaust emissions contributing to air pollution problems in some communities.

Santa Maria Sails for Lisbon With One Passenger

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI)—Howard Weisberger, 55, of Las Vegas, Nev., sailed for Lisbon today as the only passenger aboard the liner Santa Maria.

Weisberger was one of the 60 passengers held aboard the ship for nearly two weeks when Portuguese rebel Henrique Galvao seized it.

He missed the sailing of the Santa Maria's sister ship, the Vera Cruz, which took other passengers to their destinations Monday.

Weisberger, who says he was the 13th passenger to board the Santa Maria on its fateful cruise, will spend three weeks in Lisbon and Paris before returning to the United States.

He said he has been traveling for 10 months and is in no hurry to get back.

The daily caloric output of a hummingbird leading its ordinary life—eating, flying, perching, sleeping—is equivalent to approximately 155,000 calories if calculated for a 170-pound man.

Suggests Ethics Code for Business

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy suggested Wednesday that American business might borrow an idea from labor unions and set up codes of ethical practice.

"I think it would be very beneficial if business groups would consider what they could do to protect themselves from charges of conflicts of interest of the kind that we have recently seen, and also of the effort made by these large electrical companies to defraud the government," he told his news conference.

He referred to a series of anti-trust cases in which Federal Court Judge J. Cullen Gandy of Philadelphia imposed fines totaling $1,924,000 on 29 manufacturers of heavy electrical equipment who had pleaded guilty or no defense to charges of conspiring to fix prices on government contracts and other business.

The judge also imposed jail terms of 30 days each on seven executives of defendant companies.

Scouting Organization Marks 51st Anniversary

The scouting movement, a youth-serving organization which marks its fifty-first anniversary this week, is one particularly worthy of mention and community co-operation.

For more than half a century, boys have been learning the importance of honesty, trustworthiness and loyalty — qualities that are needed today more than ever.

With the assistance of millions of hours of volunteer supervision by adults who feel that scouting performs a valuable function, the movement has grown, and spread throughout the world.

Like newspapers, Boy Scouts are the first goal of dictators who would enslave the people of a nation. Traditionally, the scouts are replaced by youth groups oriented toward the crushing of individual liberties, and codes of ethics.

As the average citizen grows further and further from the soil, the Boy Scout movement has kept the love of outdoors as a valuable principle, and introduced many city youths to animal tracks, outdoor cooking, and the myriad activities encompassed in the well-rounded scouting program.

A tip of the old-fashioned wide-brimmed hat to the Boy Scouts.

All Residents Obligated to Help Prevent Crime

One of the tenets of the Exchange Club's forthcoming Crime Prevention Week is that this vital idea is a "Do-It-Yourself" project.

The courts and police are not the agencies who can do the most in cutting crime. They take over after the primary unit — the family — has failed in its job.

The difference between right and wrong is not inborn in every person. It is not planted in some corner of the brain with a time mechanism that will release it when the child reaches 10 or 16 or 21. Although through the years of growing-up, children are exposed to examples of fairness, integrity and honesty, this alone does not suffice.

There is a feeling today that trying something illegal or immoral is not wrong, nor is succeeding. The only wrong is being caught.

This kind of thinking, and subsequent behavior, stems from failure to instill basic feelings of honesty. It also comes from poor examples by parents, who are transparently cheating their way through life, often without punishment.

Disregard for the rules of society, fostered in the home, spread to the outside world. It grows from disrespect for the rights of others, to breaking of minor laws, to petty thievery, and on up the legal ladder of consequence.

This rise to serious offenses can be nipped before it starts if parents take the time to discuss these problems with their children as they occur. Punishment alone is not enough. Knowing why it is wrong is just as important.

This "why" should not be delegated from parents to teachers, scoutmasters, and church leaders. Crime prevention does begin at home, with the recognition of basic right and wrong.

Mekong River Survey Not Interrupted by War

Even as the skirmishes in Laos see-saw back and forth a United Nations team surveys dam sites there for containment of the waters of the Mekong River.

Rising in East Tibet and flowing through a part of China before entering Laos, the 2,700 mile long Mekong empties by several mouths into the South China Sea. All along its route tributaries flow into it but the river is not navigable for large ships. For centuries, however, it has been an artery for immigration and river commerce.

Working under three flags — the U.N., Thai and Laos — the team is somewhat handicapped. So far the combatants seem to be interested in having the work continued and have not interfered. Whichever government is in control in the area for the moment provides guards and gunboats.

Plans under consideration would build dams, canals, dikes, locks and bridges for flood control, irrigation and improved navigation. At present there are no bridges anywhere. In the dry season the natives wade across. In the rainy season flood waters roar down to the sea carrying all before them.

Harnessing the Mekong will provide power and the all-important water for irrigation. Both steps would lead to self-sufficiency in underdeveloped areas and a better future for the people.

The Man About Town

Then We Were 1st

Big Change in Our County Production Through Years

General election: What, with none for almost four years, "Now is the time for all good men to come to."

While Oakland County's amazing growth in population has caused home building and industry to somewhat decrease our agriculture, we still are among the top Michigan counties in that respect. However, it now hardly seems possible that we once were the leader among Michigan's 83 counties in the growing of potatoes, apples and cherries. We then stood third on wheat, sixth on corn, and first on all other grains.

In the production of hay we then were third, and were in second place on wool, cheese and butter. In live stock, we were first on horses and second on cows and sheep.

It is interesting to note that after being first on horses, we now are among the top in the world in manufacturing what has nearly put the horse off the farm — autos and trucks.

Finding an early excuse for not having a home garden is

A SOFTER LINE TOWARDS RUSSIA

An Ill Wind?

David Lawrence Says:

There's Never Been a Missile Gap

WASHINGTON — It always was and still is misleading to talk about a missile gap. For in truth there never has been and is not now any such thing if by this is meant there is lacking the power to deter the Soviet Union from attacking America. Whoever originated the phrase perhaps had a cause to champion — political or otherwise — or misguidedly tried to convey the impression that, because the United States may have had fewer missiles at a given time, its deterrent power was also weaker. At last the true story is coming out.

The real question is what is the strength, actual and potential, of the whole military apparatus of the United States at any moment to defend this country and our allies and to threaten such severe punishment in retaliation as to make sure no attack would be sanctioned by any enemy.

STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS
Lately some startling experiments have been completed. The groundwork for these was laid many months and years ago. Those who talked of a missile gap then what was in process.

But they intended to confuse the public with statements of a highly technical nature which have not been understood generally.

Now the early type of intercontinental ballistic missiles contemplated large vehicles weighing many tons.

The Soviets went ahead on that theory, but the United States preferred to wait until 1954 for a breakthrough that would give promise of comparatively lightweight warheads of the nuclear variety.

But, in the meantime, a rather heavy weapon — but not of the weight of what the Soviets developed — accomplished for us a considerable advance in economy of power over that of the Soviet missile.

Meanwhile, United States research made remarkable advances in fuels and in guidance systems. Also, while the big missiles that must be fired from fixed bases were being developed, America made great progress in what are known as migratory missiles — those that function from movable platforms.

The Minuteman, which has just been successfully fired a little over 6,000 miles in distance, is an example of this achievement.

SIMPLE, ECONOMICAL

The advantage in the Minuteman is in its simplicity and economy and in the fact that it can be fired one minute after the receipt of the command. This could be significant in any retaliatory action.

The Country Parson

"I like to think future generations will feel the results of our reason more than our weapons."

Until the Minuteman becomes operational in 15 to 18 months, there are other missiles presently available which carry a larger payload.

Hence, the use of the term missile gap is bound to abate, and the talk will be concerned with the relative destructive power of all the American weapons versus those of the Soviets.

There is little sense in matching numbers of missiles, and much

Dr. William Brady Says:

Heavy Smoking Robs You of Your Normal Breath

Fifteen heavy smokers — each smoked over 20 cigarettes a day — learned how to breathe properly found it possible to stop smoking without experiencing undue difficulty. Each of them had tried to give up smoking, but with no success. Dr. William Brady, Kaufman, Bridgeport, Conn., six years ago.

He rebuffed any suggestion of the use of these smokers' cigarettes. He is still living — cragulous smokers generally don't live long — and still smoke. I hope he or she will write me, in confidence, to assure me about it, not for my benefit, but for the benefit of our readers who are heavy, excessive or cragulous smokers and may want to quit but haven't the gizzard to do so.

Dr. Kaufman made his report on May 22, 1954, so by now, I imagine, the jury should be ready to present a verdict. What say you? Is the method good or no good?

Instead of proper, steady, deep breaths, Dr. Kaufman observed, heavy smokers take short breaths when not smoking. This results in an uncomfortable sense of breathlessness and pressure on the chest, which may make the poor folk (my lowborn language) uneasy, restless, tense, tired and anxious.

Once a heavy smoker has acquired the habit of breathing properly, he can feel relaxed and comfortable when not smoking. Dr. Kaufman asserts. He mentions a breathing exercise "in which the patient is taught to breathe out and then in properly 16 times a minute, for five minutes, eight or ten times a day for a month." The patient thus gradually regains his ability to breathe in a manner that by inspection approximates normal pulmonary ventilation even when not smoking.

I dare not add for more detailed information. But the description of the breathing exercise given in the news release seems wholly adequate, and I venture to say that belly breathing exercise would be more effective as described in my free pamphlet "Belly Breathing," which I'll be happy to send you if you will provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope. At any rate, I know, from the testimonial of hundreds of readers, that regular practice of natural breathing relaxes.

Incidentally, if cigarette smokers take short, shallow breaths while smoking, that's fine — the shorter and the shallower the better for they'll get less carbon monoxide that way, and C.O., which is always present in cigarette smoke, is the harmful factor, not "nicotine."

C.O. anxiety is hard to correct, because carbon monoxide has a greater affinity for hemoglobin than either carbon dioxide or oxygen. But belly breathing exercise, performed faithfully as directed, even only twice a day — before getting up in the morning and after getting into bed at night — does pry loose a wee bit of C.O. each session and build up one's balance of oxy-hemoglobin.

Smoke or not smoke, try the B.B. exercise for a month or two and you will see what I mean. If you write for the pamphlet do not attempt to change the name. If you call it something else I won't understand what you want, at all, at all.

Sign up letters, not more than one per 100 words long pertaining to news, health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be accepted. If you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People:

'Is Too Much Time Devoted to Parking Violations?'

In the Jan. 25 issue of The Press was an article on the rising crime wave, due to the shortage of police officers.

If there is such a shortage of officers, why can't their time be put to better use, trying to apprehend persons causing our crime wave, than by cruising around watching for parking violators?

Do the officers who are patrolling at night and really trying to work on the crime wave get the credit due them, compared to those who write parking tickets?

However, I guess they are doing their duty as just the sight of a parked patrol car could very possibly scare off a prowler.

Just Wondering

'Writer Mixed-Up on Railroad Facts'

The letter writer that talked about railroad subsidies must imagine he lives in Russia. Railroads don't get money from the government except for services performed like other customers and the local railroad's statement last year showed it lost $9 million. If writers haven't the facts they should keep still.

Grand Trunk Worker

Disagrees With U.S. Democratic Policy

Shortly before the Mikoyan visit of 1958, an American plane was electronically lured within Russia and downed.

There were no American accusations. The ambassador of the U.S. was so intent upon making the Russian's visit a happy one, in displaying "sweet American hospitality," that the incident was never made into a major issue. Seventeen of our airmen who might have been saved were lost.

When two men quit the United States — "escaped" to Russia, their pictures and stories were splashed immediately throughout the world's newspapers, due to the zealous efforts of the Russians.

The two men became tremendous Communist publicity, and America could have scored for once on Khrushchev. Why not ridicule the Soviets for making a large issue of this incident, when millions of refugees flood from Russia's gates every year? Because it's against our policy. We are not supposed to show the slightest bit of aggression; retreating under Soviet blows every time.

'Editorial on U.N. Most Depressing'

The Saturday editorial about the importance to us of the United Nations is most depressing and depressing. When we read, "We were independent from the end of the Revolutionary War until the close of World War II. And we were peaceful. We used no hay." We wonder what "successful" means. Can two world wars in one generation come under the caption of success?

'Township Board Should Be Satisfied'

With rising prices along all lines, the Waterford Township Board thinks they should have more pay — that is, all except Elmer Johnson. The chaffins are they are being paid more than ever before. I should think they would be satisfied. It is time for the people to give this some serious thought.

Wondering

'David Lawrence Too Faultfinding'

I, with many of your readers appreciate your editorial of Feb. 2 on President John F. Kennedy. However, I disagree with your David Lawrence column. I hope we will not have eight years of his immensities and faultfinding to look forward to.

London (UPI) — Dame Edith Evans said today flying into London in a transatlantic jet. "They make perfectly quiet reading rooms, these jets."

The Communist Party is a legal party in the United States and has a membership of about 7,000.

Most cities now have a growing suburbia—out where the houses are further apart and the payments are closer together. . . . A budget can really save you money—by the time you get it balanced each day it's too late to go out and buy anything.—Earl Wilson.

Retired Telephone Man, E. M. Stannard, Dies

DETROIT (UPI) — Retired Michigan Bell Telephone Co. executive E. M. Stannard died at his home here Wednesday at 81.

He joined the utility in 1919 after returning from Army service in World War I as a colonel. Stannard retired from Michigan Bell in 1941 as general traffic engineer.

DETROIT (UPI) — Lester Ellerhorst, 56, who was charged with shooting the mayor of Garden City in 1957, walked away from the Northville State Hospital Wednesday.

Psychiatrists who examined Ellerhorst last month said he is "potentially dangerous."

Hospital aides said he apparently walked away after being returned under guard from a Probate Court hearing between noon and 1 p.m.

City Traffic Mishaps 252 With 345 Reported in December

Traffic accidents in Pontiac took a sharp plunge from the 345 mishaps recorded in December, January traffic statistics of the Pontiac Police Department showed today.

The monthlong report showed 252 accidents in January, 55 less than the previous month.

Two pedestrians were killed in separate accidents.

No fatalities occurred in December.

Of the remaining 55 mishaps, 185 involved property damage only, while 57 involved injuries.

The report showed 87 persons sustaining injuries last month, down from 139 injured persons in December.

However, the 252 accidents in January was an increase over the like month in 1960 when 210 accidents occurred.

No traffic deaths were reported in the city in January 1960.

Committee OKs Nominee for 7-Year FCC Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Commerce Committee approved unanimously Wednesday the nomination of Newton N. Minow to a seven-year term on the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

Minow, a former law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, has been tapped by President Kennedy to be chairman of the commission if the Senate confirms his nomination as expected.

Committee members questioned Minow for almost two hours.

European Auto Men Feeling U.S. Compact Crush

LONDON (UPI)—"Things definitely are not what they used to be, old boy."

That comment, from a British executive, accurately spells out how European auto makers—particularly the British and the French—view the American market now that Detroit has invaded the small car field once dominated by foreign manufacturers.

Some European car exporters privately admit that the U.S. compact cars have, surprisingly, developed into much stronger competition than was originally believed likely here.

Even so, those who have suffered a heavy sales drop in the latter half of 1960 still don't pin the blame wholly on compacts.

They point also to the downturn in the U.S. economy and the one-million American auto stockpile from last year.

Today the British auto industry, spearhead of the nation's dollar earners, is working at only about 40 per cent of capacity and the bulk of its labor force is working part time.

Sports cars are still expected to maintain a strong demand in America. The Rootes group is pinning its sales hopes on the new Sunbeam Alpine and Jaguar is even anticipating an increased output.

Board of trade statistics show total exports of British autos to the United States in 1959 dipped from 208,108 in 1959 to 131,805 last year.

While official figures are still awaited from Paris, French auto industry sources said they, too, fell far short of their U.S. sales expectations in 1960.

France's target for car exports to America last year was 225,000 units. But only 90,000 autos were reported sold in the United States.

For example, the state-owned Renault-concern shipped 110,196 units to America in 1959 and had hoped to increase its total to 150,000 in 1960. But instead it was able to market only 60,000, according to figures available here.

CAN'T HURT VOLKSWAGEN

In Germany the picture was different. Volkswagen, as usual, exuded confidence. A spokesman said the advent of American compacts had not affected their U.S. sales.

In 1960, he said, exports to America were 180,000 units as against 150,000 the previous year. "In 1961 we hope to reach the 200,000 mark," he added.

AP Photo: NAMED TO POST — Maj. Gen. Jean E. Engler has been named commanding general of U.S. Army forces in Japan. Engler, currently deputy chief of the staff for logistics at Ft. Monroe, Va., will assume his new post in May.

Reds Say Eisenhower Offered Cash to Mobutu

MOSCOW (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent secret letters offering money and arms to Congo strongman Joseph Mobutu, the Soviet newspaper Izvestia charged Wednesday.

Izvestia, the government paper, said this "secret correspondence" was conveyed by U.S. Ambassador (Clare) Timberlake.

Eisenhower "promised to help with money and arms," it said. "So far," Izvestia said, "it is not known to what extent these promises were fulfilled. Similarly, nothing is known so far about the viewpoint of the new U.S. administration on this matter."

Lansing Will Check Purchases From GE

LANSING (U.P.)—Lansing city officials said today they believe the city may be entitled to triple damages if overcharging can be proven against General Electric Co. in city purchases.

General Electric was one of the firms indicted on charges of price fixing in violation of antitrust laws.

Otto Eckert, chairman of the board of water and light, said the cost of various items purchased from the firm will be carefully checked. A major item recently purchased from General Electric, he said, was a $1.7-million turbine generator.

Sputnik Travels Over Edinburgh as Predicted

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—The Soviet Union's giant new Sputnik passed over Edinburgh early today just as the Soviets said it would.

Scientists at the Edinburgh Royal Observatory spotted the seven-ton satellite after the Soviet government had sent them a telegram telling them when to watch for it. It was Moscow's first information in the Sputnik's course since the announcement Saturday that it was circling the earth.

A spokesman said the Sputnik was seen with the naked eye and had the appearance of a second of a heart attack.

magnitude star as it swung over the city shortly before dawn. But the overcast prevented the observatory photographing it, he added.

Level of Crime Is Unchanged

Same as in December; 250 Offenses Handled by Police in January

The amount of crime reported in Pontiac for January was almost exactly the same as in December, according to the Pontiac Police Department's end-of-the-month report released today.

In all, 250 offenses in seven major crime categories, ranging from murder to auto theft, were handled by police in January, two less than the previous month.

Two murders in January both were cleared by arrest.

Other statistics for January show three rapes, 14 robberies, 26 aggravated assaults, 48 burglaries, 21 auto thefts and 136 larceny complaints.

BURGLARIES DOWN

Burglaries fell sharply from December when 70 were reported in the city.

The number of aggravated assaults was eight more than in December, while the number of auto thefts also was up — eight over the previous month.

For January, police reported 27 per cent clearance of major crimes.

A total of 230 major crimes was reported to police in January 1960.

In contrast, Detroit reported a substantial reduction in major crime in January over both December and a year ago.

New Booklet Details

State Role in 1812 War

LANSING — The State Historical Commission, looking toward the 150th anniversary of an all but forgotten conflict, has published a booklet detailing Michigan's role in the war of 1812.

Prentiss M. Brown, commission president, pointed out the war was the only one since the Pontiac uprising of 1763 in which Michigan was an actual battleground.

HER TRIBUTE — Actress Peggy Wood walks from New York's Hotel Edison Wednesday after a testimonial luncheon marking the 50th anniversary of her debut in show business. Miss Wood, 60, is holding a balloon presented to her. The luncheon was part of the American National Theater and Academy's annual assembly held in New York the past four days.

Low Enforcement Talks Set for Muskegon County

LANSING — A county law enforcement conference has been scheduled by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams for Muskegon County Feb. 10.

Among topics to be discussed are consumer fraud operations in Muskegon County and assignment of probation officers to justice of the peace courts.

Dixie Chose Jeff Davis Century Ago

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — On this day 100 years ago, representatives of six Southern states chose Jefferson Davis as provisional president of the Confederate States of America.

Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, seceding from the Union sent delegates here to form a provisional congress for their nation. A constitution was adopted Feb. 7, 1862, three days after the convention opened.

Davis, a Vicksburg plantation owner, was U.S. senator from Mississippi when his state withdrew from the Union. He had been a colonel in the Army and a hero in the Mexican War, and had served a term in the House of Representatives.

DAVIS RECALLED

Mississippi recalled Davis to make him a major general in command of its army; but he was named president of the Confederacy before he could assume the military command.

Leaving Washington Feb. 10, he arrived in Montgomery a week later and took the oath as president of the Confederacy the following day.

A reenactment of his inauguration Feb. 18 will climax Alabama's official week-long Civil War Centennial opening Sunday.

TOW BUSINESS — Minnie, 50-year-old circus elephant now at Mohawk Park Zoo in Tulsa, Okla., pulls a stolen and abandoned car out of a lake on zoo grounds Wednesday when it couldn't be done by a tow truck summoned by police. The elephant's old circus harness was put on Minnie and after a few grunts and 20 minutes, she pulled the car loose.

Robert Kennedy Kids Red Envoy About Spies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday night invited the Soviet ambassador to visit the Justice Department headquarters — "where we look up all the Communist spies."

The President's brother extended his tongue-in-cheek invitation to Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov at President Kennedy's first White House diplomatic reception.

Menshikov appeared to take the kidding remark with good grace and smilingly replied he might come around to look at the building—"from the outside."

There are 228 institutions of higher education in the United States for men only and 252 for women only. Co-educational institutions number 1,531.

Speedy Justice Meted Out in Ancient Greece

CHICAGO (UPI) — The ancient Greeks meted out speedy justice and kept the court calendars clear a day.

How they accomplished this is told by Gertrude E. Smith, chairman of the University of Chicago's Department of Classical Languages and Literatures, in "The University of Chicago Reports."

For one thing, she said, murder was not considered a crime against the state in ancient Greece, and unless a male relative of the dead person brought charges, the state had no grounds on which to act.

When a charge was brought, the King of Athens, chief of Athenian courts, would conduct three investigations a month apart, and then either assign the case to a court or throw it out for lack of evidence.

If the case went to court, continued Mrs. Smith, "all persons connected with the trial — prosecutors, defendants and witnesses—swore a solemn oath over a sacrifice. Then the trial began.

Four speeches were given, two by each side; the second set formed concluding remarks. A secret vote (of the jury) was taken, with a simple majority needed for conviction. It was all over in a day.

Parking and debts will be discussed at a joint meeting of the City Commission and the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees Feb. 16.

The session will take place at the hospital on the evening of the board's monthly meeting. A 6:30 p.m. dinner is scheduled first in the hospital dining room.

The City Commission asked for the hospital on the evening of the meeting. It is concerned about the lack of employee parking spaces and the $600,000-plus the hospital owes the city for remodeling of the east wing in 1958.

MEN!

Robert Hall announces!

Spending money and saving money is a serious business.

"Robert Hall makes and sells for cash, more men's suits and coats than any other clothing in America."

Why?

Because...

- We save—you save.
- No credit charges
- No service charges
- No fancy fixtures
- No show windows
- Out of the high rent locations

In other words, it makes plain common-sense. Why pay for something you cannot wear?

Therefore, our reasons for saving you money are just as sound today, as when we first introduced these savings to the American public twenty years ago.

Just one more important fact... Our men's suits and coats are made in America by skillful tailors—your assurance of quality.

You will find this "MADE IN THE U.S.A." label only at Robert Hall on every man's suit and coat.

Couple Makes Point

by Moving a House

ROCKFORD, Maine (UPI)—The location here of the "most beautiful house in Maine" is proof that a determined, downstate Yankee will move 125 tons a distance of 35 miles if he has to in order to prove a point.

Following a family feud over ownership, Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Dodge had their family home, known as Spite House, loaded aboard a barge at Philadelphia Center in 1925 and moved to its present location.

Man Tells Women How to Keep House

MOREHEAD, Ky. (AP)—Rowan County homemakers get recipes and sewing tips from their home demonstration agent just as do homemakers in their counties. But there's a difference. Their agent is a man.

Adrian M. Razor, who also is county agricultural extension agent, took on the added duties of home demonstration agent four months ago after Rowan County had been without one for some time.

Carbon Black Useful to Rubber Industry

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Carbon black, used in the manufacture of automobile tires and other rubber products, is made by cracking hydrocarbons—either natural gas, distillate or residual oils.

The Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association says more than 85 per cent of all carbon black sold in this country goes to the rubber industry, and amounted in 1959 to 1.4 billion pounds.

Other uses are for printing ink, paints and phonograph records.

Keep Strawberries Buried Is the Word

BISMARCK, N. D. (UPI)—When the ground is frozen this fall, cover your strawberries with a four-inch layer of clean straw or hay, say horticulturists here.

They suggest leaving the mulch cover on the berries until growth starts. They also suggest leaving part of the mulch remaining between rows to help keep down weeds and to conserve moisture.

California Farm Becomes a Gold Mine

All Come to Knott—It's the Berries

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Nearly 40 years ago, an enterprising young man rented a small farm in nearby Orange County and planted berries which he sold to passing motorists from a roadside stand.

From that beginning, Knott's Berry Farm has grown up into a world-famous tourist attraction that includes the replica of a 19th Century Western town.

Located some 25 miles from downtown Los Angeles near the community of Buena Park, an easy half-hour's drive over the fast Santa Ana Freeway, Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town is a dream come true for Walter Knott, a direct descendant of pioneer Californians, and his wife, Cordelia.

Probably one of the reasons for the success of the farm was Knott's introduction of a new berry which had been developed and then abandoned by horticulturist Rudolph Boyen.

The first, which Knott dubbed the "boysenberry," was spectacular both in size and flavor and soon came in the attention of growers throughout the nation.

Cordelia Knott began making fresh berry pies and jams and jellies which were sold along with light lunches of hot biscuits and sandwiches in a tiny tea room.

After the couple bought up the 10-acre farm in 1927, which was seven years after they had begun their business.

CHECKIN' ADDED

In 1934, chicken dinners were added to the menu. They proved so popular that by 1940 seating space was increased to accommodate 300 persons. It was in 1940 that the Knotts began building their now-famous ghost town, complete with gold mine, wagon camp, railroad and cable cars.

By 1946, the farm had grown from 10 acres to 200 with seven dining rooms accommodating 800 guests at a time. Later, a steak house was added to the restaurant facilities.

Today, the farm employs more than 800 persons with an annual payroll in excess of $2.4 million.

There are 50 acres of free parking for visitors and a combined seating capacity of nearly 1,700 in the restaurants.

Knott, a firm believer in free enterprise, considers each of his employees a business partner—to the point where he shares his profits with them.

A Dancing Fanatic Is Pop, 95

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Dancing is just about the most important thing in Edward Grant (Pop) Curry's life. And he's lived for "quite a spell"—95 years to be exact.

As Pop tells it, "The more I dance, the better I feel."

Pop is convinced his hoarding exploits have a lot to do with keeping him young.

A widower for about 25 years, Pop has lived in lively retirement after working as an automobile salesman and—of course—a part-time dancing instructor. His weekly itinerary these days has even the most avid teen-age dancers gasping for breath.

It goes something like this. Pop attends the weekly Senior Citizens get-togethers at the Starlight Room, and regularly is the star attraction at the Danforth Recreation Center, the Lake Avenue Baptist Church's 30-60 Club (he's an honorary member), and St. Andrew's Episcopal Church functions.

His favorite partner? She's Lilly E. Weltz, a mere 70. Pop and his dancing mate usually swing through a series of three-step, little brown jugs and quadrilles during their "dance."

Pop has issued a standing challenge to all 85-year-olds in the nation to try to out-dance him, but so far no one has taken the dare.

"I don't mean just one dance," he warned would-be opponents. "I mean they should follow me around for a week."

Phone and Doorbell Make Gleeful Peeble Feeble

By HAL BOYLE
YOURVILLE, U.S.A. (AP) — How do modern housewives find enough to do to keep them busy all day?

Why do they complain so often about feeling tired, when they are free to lie down and take a nap whenever they please?

Like most average American husbands, Wilbur Peeble had puzzled over these questions. Now he knows the real answer. He spent a day at home — and found out.

BOYLE

One morning recently he woke up with a cold. His wife, Trella Mae, told him:

"I'm not going to let you go to the office. You just stay home in bed and rest."

"I have a lot of shopping to do in town, so you'll have the place to yourself all day. It'll be nice and quiet."

HE'S GRATEFUL
After fixing his breakfast, Trella Mae left. Taking his morning paper, Wilbur sank back into bed.

"Ah-h-h," he sighed gratefully. Then the doorbell sounded. Wilbur grunted, got up, wrapped his dressing robe around him and padded to the door.

"You get any knives you want sharpened?" said a man.

"No," said Wilbur. Back he padded to bed.

Five minutes later the doorbell sounded again. It was the laundry man. Back went Wilbur to bed.

The doorbell sounded. It was the man from the dry cleaners. Wilbur crawled back to bed. Before he could pull the covers over him, the phone rang.

"NO!" SAID WILBUR
The cookies you ordered from the Girl Scouts have arrived, said a small voice. "Shall we bring them over today?"

"No," said Wilbur. "Give them to the brownies, give them to the elves. I don't care what you do with them."

Back he stomped to bed. The phone rang. It was a lady with a message for Trella Mae. It was a long message. It took Wilbur half an hour to write it down.

The long trip from the bedroom to the front door was wearing him out. He took his covers and moved to the living room sofa.

The doorbell sounded. It was a woman in the apartment building collecting for a charity. The phone rang. It was a little boy asking, "Can I talk to Mabel?"

"Wrong number," growled Wilbur. The little boy with the wrong number called back four more times in search of Mabel.

AH YES, CHARITY

The doorbell sounded. It was another lady collecting for another charity. Before Wilbur could reply to her the phone rang.

"Have you had your insurance policies checked lately?" demanded a deep male voice.

So the day went. If it wasn't the doorbell sounding, it was the phone ringing — or both ringing at once.

When Trella Mae entered at nightfall, she found Wilbur, hunched over, sitting in a chair midway between the door and the telephone, his glance shifting from one to the other like a trapped animal.

"NONE OF THAT, DOC!"
He looked so wild she called the "doctor" who, after checking Wilbur, told him:

"You're suffering from acute physical exhaustion from overwork. Better stay home a few days and take it easy."

"Stay home!" screamed Wilbur. "I could take it easier in a railroad terminal. The first thing in the morning I'm going back to my office, where I know I can get some rest."

Now, whenever a husband wonders about how wives get so tired in a house full of labor-saving gadgets, Wilbur knows.

The housework is easy. It's running from the doorbell to the telephone that really wears them down.

Richard Durnbaugh Heads Railroad Club

The South Oakland Model Railroad Club has elected Richard Durnbaugh of 3320 Richmond Road, Waterford Township, as its 1961 president.

He was installed during a recent meeting in the Grand Trunk Railroad Station in Birmingham.

Other new officers are Edward Badley of Detroit, vice president; John Lindsey of Detroit, treasurer; and Charles Bopp of 1897 Oakridge St., Royal Oak, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Past President Dexter Wright of Pleasant Ridge, Dr. William Konde of Royal Oak, and Robert Clark of Birmingham.

The club, affiliated with the National Model Railroad Association, meets at 8 p.m. Fridays at the Birmingham railroad station.

Snow Removal Trucker Also Goes Into River

NEW YORK — A snow removal truck driver got carried away by his work today — right into the Hudson River.

He was quickly fished out and apparently suffered no ill effect, though he did seem a bit cool toward his type of employment thereafter.

The driver, William Hoffman, 36, a resident of Philadelphia and an employee of the W. F. Fim Trucking Co. of Pennsauken, N.J., was dumping a truck full of snow from city streets into the river.

Some of the snow failed to lodge and Hoffman loosened it with a pole. A big chunk of ice came tumbling down, hit Hoffman and knocked him into the water.

BUILT-IN BUMPS — Here General Motors Corp. construction workers go to work on a new road at the GM Proving Grounds near Milford — mauling it up. The men built in every type of bump which could conceivably appear somewhere on the nation's highways. Once completed, the road served as a good test for GM cars, assuring a smooth ride under any conditions.

A SAFER HIGHWAY — Tomorrow's highways may look like this, where every roadside hazard has been eliminated for a distance of 100 feet on either side. The improved road has been built at the General Motors Corp.'s Proving Grounds to show what can be done to make highway driving safer.

Riding in '61 Pontiac Is Cool, Man, Cool!

By DICK HANSON

"Watch out for that bump!" "What bump?" You brace yourself for the impending jolt. Nothing happens.

If you are interested enough to find out why, you take a trip out to the General Motors Corp.'s Proving Grounds near Milford.

How come you didn't feel that bump in the road while riding in a new 1961 Pontiac?

The reason is, the Pontiac, or Tempest, or any other new GM car, has seen that bump before.

They have one just like it at the proving grounds, duplicated on what GM engineers call the "Ride and Handling Loop."

In fact, just about every road hazard to be encountered anywhere in this country is duplicated on the R & H Loop.

Thus, the engineers not only have been able to take the floor bump out of the Tempest but the bump out of your ride in any 1961 GM automobile.

When still in the experimental stage, '61 models rolled up thousands of miles on the Loop until engineers were able to assure a smooth ride over the worst possible paved roads in the nation.

THAT'S THE ANSWER

So, there's your answer for Pontiac's smooth ride. Incidentally, it cost GM $9,500 a mile more to build the bumpy road than one equal to the best highway being constructed today.

The R & H Loop includes sections of virtually every type of standard road surface — concrete, asphalt, sealcoat — in nearly every condition of wear.

Net result is four miles of built-in potholes, chatter bumps or waves that resemble a washboard surface, "kickups" where two different types of surfaces meet with one higher than the other, concrete with tar strips, a series of intersecting railroad tracks, and cracks in concrete such as are caused by weather variations. GM cars aren't the only ones driven over the course. The firm submits competitors' models to the same grueling test, just to make sure they don't ride better, if that could be possible.

One safety factor incorporated into the R & H Loop, along with the bumps, was the elimination of all roadside hazards.

Trees, ditches, embankments, culverts and all other stationary objects have been eliminated for a distance of 100 feet on either side of the road.

Aside from the humane view of attempting to eliminate killers along the highway, it must be remembered: Today's driver is tomorrow's buyer.

Another safety factor GM engineers expect to add to the R & H Loop in the near future is "Electro Lane."

This device, somewhat comparable to the "beam" by which aircraft pilots keep on course, is intended visibly or audibly to warn the motorist when he's too close to the pavement edge or centerline.

Engineers are undecided yet whether to use a warning light on the dashboard, or a buzzer, or a combination of both, to alert the wavering driver.

Electro Lane would require placing a wire radiating low frequency power in the pavement and attaching ferrite core coils on either side of the car front.

When the coil comes too close to the imbedded wire, either at the centerline or the road's edge, electrical impulses would be picked up and relayed to the warning system.

Once perfected, Electro Lane could be the prelude to the electronics-controlled car of the future when the otherwise "driver" will be able to join in a game of cards with his "passengers" and be whisked safely to his destination.

In the meantime, no one could have a smoother ride than in today's Pontiac and Tempest. Nary a bump all the way.

Fellows: You Want 3 Weeks in Alaska?

It's "on to Alaska" for boys with Kuhn, who teaches at Hazel Park High School.

The three-week trip is available to boys who are willing to work between now and the date of departure to pay part of their expenses. Accommodations are limited to the first 10 youngsters to qualify.

Boys under 12 years of age must earn $25; and for those 12 and over, $50. This will pay a third of the total cost for the trip. Parents will supply the balance.

Reason for the difference in cost, explained Kuhn, is that fares and hotel prices are less for youngsters under 12 years old. Travel is first class.

The group will leave by train from Detroit, visiting Chicago, Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies and Vancouver, B.C., en route.

At Vancouver, they will board a steamer for Skagway, Alaska. From there they will journey by train over the White Pass and Yukon Trail to Carcross, with stopovers at Ketchikan, Juneau and Wrangell.

The return trip will take the boys to Victoria, B.C.; Seattle, Wash.; Rainier National Park; and Portland, Ore.

"The reason I arrange this annual trip," explained Kuhn, "is because I want to make it enjoyable for other boys to enjoy the same experiences I had with Mr. Buchanan at the age of 11."

Buchanan, a Detroit lumber and coal dealer, started his trip in 1929 in behalf of the boys of the nation. Before his death in 1939, he had taken more than 500 boys on the trip.

Kuhn has taken 28 boys on the same journey since he revived it five years ago.

"The steamer trip to Alaska is something the boys will never forget," said Kuhn. "They will see ice fall from the glaciers when the steamer's whistle blows; beautiful moving sunsets, and fjords rivaling those of Norway."

Application can be made by writing or telephoning Kuhn at 2295 N. Lake Avenue Drive, Pontiac.

Pontiac Gideons Plan Banquet on Saturday

Chaplain William A. Swets will speak at the Pontiac Gideon Camp banquet Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church. His subject, "Gideons in Today's World."

Special guests will be Pontiac area pastors and their wives, along with public school officials.

The Navy will be the banquet theme. Special music will be presented by the Redeemer Four, a male quartet from the Redeemer Baptist Church of Detroit.

Cmdr. Walter J. Field, U.S. Naval Reserve, and Rev. Clark B. McPhail, chaplain of the local Naval Reserve unit, will present the ceremony of "piping on board" the naval officers.

Ship No. 5 of the Sea Scouts of First Congregational Church, under T. Boice Parry, will present the ceremony of "piping on board" the naval officers.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Swets received his chaplain's commission during World War II and re-entered service during the Korean War.

Banquet reservations have been made by 325 persons according to Floyd P. Miles, general chairman of the rally banquet committee.

Family Service Plans Annual

Dr. Alpenfels to Speak Feb. 23 at Groves High; Meeting Public

Family Service of Oakland County will have Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, prominent cultural anthropologist and lecturer, as featured speaker for its annual meeting Feb. 23.

The meeting will be held in the little theater at Wylie Groves High School, 26500 W. 13-Mile Road, Birmingham at 8 p.m.

Dr. Alpenfels will speak on "The American Family in a Changing Society." The meeting is open to the public.

Currently teaching at New York University, Dr. Alpenfels has written two books, edited for the Encyclopedia Britannica, and writes frequently for professional journals.

In 1955 she was named "Woman of the Year" by the National Association of Negro Women; and in 1956, "Teacher of the Year" by the American Women's Association.

Dr. Alpenfels won the Medal of Eminence for teaching from the Paphellenic Society of the United States in 1954, and was voted the "Outstanding Woman in Anthropology" in 1958 by the Federation of Jewish Women's Organizations.

Full details on the annual meeting may be obtained by contacting the Pontiac, Birmingham or Royal Oak offices.

Family Service is a Pontiac Area United Fund agency.

Committee Favorable to Speed Limit Hike

LANING (UPI) — A bill to hike the speed limit on controlled-access highways in the state was up for preliminary consideration in the House today after getting a favorable report from committee.

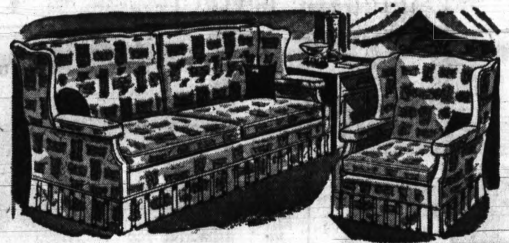

The bill introduced by Rep. Lloyd Gibbs, R-Portland, was amended in committee to provide for a 75-mile-per-hour daytime limit and a 65-mile-per-hour nighttime limit on the controlled-access roads.

Commuters Riot After Bus Strike

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Steel-helmeted police patrolled downtown Naples today after a night of rioting by 4,000 commuters left stranded by a snap transport strike called at the height of the homeward rush.

Streetscars and buses to and from the suburbs reappeared on the debris-littered streets this morning. The transit company re-instated 17 employees whose suspension had caused the strike, and the other workers went back to their jobs.

There were no new disorders. Repair crews started hauling away burned-out wrecks of streetcars and buses fired by angry commuters in a burning window-smashing rampage Wednesday night through the heart of the city's industrial center.

The transit workers had called a two-hour work stoppage Wednesday afternoon as a demonstration for higher wages but it was supposed to end at 3:30 p. m. When the company suspended 17 workers for insubordination, the others walked off the job at the height of the rush hour, leaving thousands from the suburbs with no transport home.

Caught off guard, the company tried to set up an emergency service with hired buses. The tired, restless commuters fought among themselves to get on the relatively few buses available and then turned on the police when they intervened in charging riot jeeps.

From a disorganized mob, the crowd suddenly developed a hard core of about 4,000 fighters. Bottles were filled with gasoline drained from buses and converted into Molotov cocktails that were flung wildly, setting fires. The rioters fought back firemen who tried to reach the burning tramway station.

When club-swinging police drove the rioters from the square in front of the station, adjacent to the railway terminal, the mob surged along Corso Garibaldi, one of the city's main downtown streets.

A three-pronged assault by police in jeeps and trucks, troops in armored cars and infantry moving in from another angle finally brought order about midnight.

Ask Group to Probe State's Financial Ills

LANSING (AP) — Three Republican lawmakers have proposed formation of a 10-man committee to investigate Michigan's financial ailments and propose a treatment.

The group submitted a resolution to the House Wednesday calling for appointment of five House members and five senators to the committee, which would go into business immediately.

The proposal would carry out the recommendations of GOP legislative leaders and the platform adopted at the Republican state convention last weekend.

The committee would "study Michigan's economic situation, develop a specific plan for maximum utilization of human and natural resources and recommend specific action for economic improvement." Its budget for the year could not top $2,500.

PEKE TAKES A PEEK — Although his cohorts crowded him out of a vantage point on the upper level, this curious Pekingese managed to commandeer his own personal peephole in the rear of his mistress' station wagon in Buckinghamshire, England. The perky pokes are being groomed for a London dog show this week where they will be the ones who will be stared at for a change.

Reuther Wants Bigger Program Than Kennedy's

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Automobile Workers Union (UAW), blew hot and cold today on the sweeping antirecession program President Kennedy has urged on Congress.

Reuther said Kennedy's proposals were basically sound, but that they fell short in some respects of what the labor movement believes is necessary to right the sagging U.S. economy.

Reuther, speaking as chairman of the AFL-CIO Economic Policy Committee, appeared before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress. He was one of several witnesses representing different sectors of the economy scheduled to testify in this opening round of a week of hearings on Kennedy's economic program.

Destructive Driver Just Can't Be Stopped

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Bernard R. Intogna, 24, lost control of his car while driving in Tucson and before he could stop the vehicle had:

Jumped a curb, roared through a parking lot, smashed a bus bench, tore down a cyclone fence at a gasoline station, destroyed 12 feet of hedge and smashed into a tree.

Fourteenth Chapter . . . State's Role in the Civil War

Michigan Soldiers on Prison Duty During Trial of John Wilkes Booth

Michigan's Role: This is the 14th in a 15-part series on Michigan's role in the Civil War.

By PAUL PENTECOST
Wayne State University

Written for AP

The celebration of the collapse of the Confederacy with the surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee was cut suddenly short by the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln on April 14, 1865.

The loss of the President, plus the attempted assassination of the other members of his Cabinet, sent Washington into a turmoil.

But out of the relentless search for John Wilkes Booth and his companion, David Herold, came the final capture of the pair by two Lansing men, Lt. Luther Byron Baker and Gen. Fayette C. Baker.

In fact Michigan figured prominently in not only the capture of Booth, but also in the trial of the conspirators. Maj. Richard A. Watts of Adrian was detached from the 17th Michigan to serve at the prison during the imprisonment, trial and execution of the conspirators. Serving with him was Capt. Christian Rath of Jackson.

Lt. Baker who was a cousin of Gen. Baker had served with the 1st District of Columbia cavalry. Gen. Baker was the head of what was then known as the "detective bureau of the war department."

At the time of the assassination the Bakers were both in New York looking for bounty jumpers. They were immediately ordered back to Washington and arrived three days after the tragedy. A concentrated search had failed to yield anything but the information that Booth was accompanied by Herold.

Gen. Baker felt strongly that Booth had escaped South seeking safety among his friends. The first lead was the information from a Negro in lower Maryland who had reported that two men answering the description of Booth and Herold had crossed the Potomac in a fishing boat.

Gen. Baker placed 25 cavalrymen of the 16th New York under Lt. Baker's command and they boarded the tug John S. Ide and steamed down to Belle Plain Landing, near the mouth of Aquia Creek.

A day of posing as rebels led to nothing and they abandoned these disguises and struck out across country toward Port Conway on the Rappahannock, southwest of Belle Plain.

Lt. Baker located a fisherman who had seen a lame man answering the description of Booth cross the Rappahannock with another man resembling Herold.

HE WAS EXCITED
"I cannot describe the thrill of intense satisfaction that came over me," Baker later wrote. "I was positive that I had struck the trail; that I was the fortunate one among all the eager thousands engaged in the search."

Further questioning revealed that the two men had been met by a Capt. Jett and a Lt. Blairbridge who had been Confederate cavalrymen with Mosby's Raiders.

It was known that Capt. Jett had a girl friend at Bowling Green and with the fisherman under arrest for his own protection and for the purpose of guiding the troop, the unit crossed the river.

When they reached the small hotel in Bowling Green, Lt. Baker and a fellow officer, Lt. E. J. Conger, who had served with him in the 1st District of Columbia Cavalry, found only Capt. Jett at the hotel.

Waking Jett, the two officers told him that they knew he had guided Booth across the river and that he could tell them of Booth's hiding place—or die.

Jett knew that they were deadly serious and he agreed to guide the soldiers to Booth if they would shield him from complicity in the affair.

Jett told them that Booth was at the Garrett farm near the river. It was 3:30 a.m. when the troop arrived at the Garrett place.

Baker led his men up to the house and aroused the family. He ordered a light brought and began to interrogate Garrett. He denied that the men were on the farm and said that they had fled to the woods. But his son admitted that the men were still on the farm.

Young Garrett's story was that they were unaware of who the men were and that they had finally agreed to let them stay in the barn. Another son had been posted in the corn crib to keep a watch on them during the night.

The troop surrounded the barn and the son in the corn crib produced the key with which he had locked the two men in the barn. One of the Garrett sons was ordered into the barn to talk to the fugitives and to ask that they give themselves up.

"I'LL SHOOT"

"We could hear voices in a low conversation in the barn," Baker's own story of the capture continued, "and a rustling among the corn leaves. . . I now unlocked the door and told Young Garrett to get in and get the men to surrender. If he could, but, at all events, bring out their arms. . . I closed the door after him. There was low conversation and we heard Booth say, 'Damn you! You've betrayed me. Get out of here or I will shoot you!'"

"I now called to the men in the barn and said, 'We want this young man in whose hands we find you. Give him your arms and surrender or we'll burn the barn and have a bonfire and shooting match.'"

Young Garrett soon came back to the door and hurried out reporting no success. Baker called for the two men to surrender and Booth replied that one of them wanted to surrender. Herold hammered on the door and was let out unarmed since Booth had taken his guns. "You'd better come out now too," Baker told Booth. "Tell me who you are and what you want of me. It may be I am being taken by my friends," the assassin replied.

Baker replied that it made no difference who he was but that they knew he was Booth and that they wanted him. "You can't escape, and we don't wish to kill you," Baker added. Booth asked for time to consider and Baker gave him two minutes.

When the two minutes were up Booth asked that Baker withdraw his men from the door and that he would then come out. "Give me this chance for my life, Captain, for I will not be taken alive," he added. Baker replied that they were ready to set fire to the barn and ordered Conger to start the fire.

The interior of the barn was soon ablaze and through the partially opened door, Baker could see Booth leaning against the mow, crutches under his arms, and a cane in hand. He dropped one crutch and lurched toward the door, then dropped the other crutch, leveled his revolver and leaped.

There was a shot, and Booth fell through the partly opened door. Baker fell on him to keep him from committing suicide and Conger ran to help. But it was obvious that he was dying.

They carried him away from the barn and tried to make him drink, but he couldn't swallow. Baker's report of Booth's last words were: "Tell mother . . . I died for my country. I did what I thought . . . was best. Useless, useless," and he died.

The bullet which had been fired against orders had shattered the spinal column.

The body was sewed up in a blanket and returned along with Herold to Washington. Secretary

DANNY A BABY SITTER?—Comedian Danny Kaye holds the two Irish orphans for whom he acted as baby sitter during a flight from London to New York. Shown with the comedian on arrival at Idlewild Airport Monday night are Kieran Egan, 2, and Pauline Flynn, 22 months. The children have been adopted by an American family but airline regulations require children traveling alone technically to be in the custody of an adult; so Kaye and his wife, who were returning from a business trip to England, accepted the responsibility.

EVER PLAY THE OLYMPIC GAME?

Q. Will you please tell me how you can determine the sex of a turtle? Chuck Sankley, Niles, Ohio.

A. Verse-writer, Ogden Nash pointed out that "The turtle lives twist plaited decks which practically conceal its sex." And in the young turtle it is almost impossible to tell whether you have a male or female.

But there are distinguishing marks in the older turtle. On the lower shell, or plastron, of the male you will see an indentation similar to that which a thumb would leave if pressed in a soft surface. The female's plastron is perfectly smooth. The male's tail is usually longer than the female's.

His front claws are twice as long as those on his hind legs. The female turtle is usually larger than the male.

Anyone for Pizza?

Lebanese Food Is Rare in Cosmopolitan Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—A friend swears he stumbled into the neighborhood's only remaining all-Lebanese restaurant and had this conversation with the manager:

Friend: "How's business?"

Manager: "So who's eating Lebanese food? All you Americans, British, French, Spanish, Italian, Swiss and German imperialists are wrecking the place."

Friend: "You're ruined, huh?"

Manager: "Malish. I'm going to open a Chinese restaurant."

Friend: "But there are two Chinese restaurants in Beirut already."

Manager: "Ba! Communist Chinese!"

It wasn't what the tourist had in mind, but a pizza sales in about as Lebanese as anything else in this mushrooming, hedge-podge Babylon.

A few thousand years from now, the ruins of Beirut probably will drive confused archaeologists up the wall as they turn up chunks of ancient Roman glass mingled with shards of plastic dishes or pieces of Phoenician or Crusader dinnerware alongside ornaments of 1960 sports cars.

NATIONAL MOTTO

The national motto of Lebanon—"an infinitum suggested recently," "ought to be 'Ask for it. If we don't have it we can buy it or build it or dig it up.'"

With a half-million residents—one-third of this tiny Arab country's population—Beirut may be the only boom city in the world where thousands of apartments stand empty for want of takers.

The fact is that gaudy and glittering new buildings are going up faster than prosperous Lebanese and thousands of immigrants can fill them.

The dis of pneumatic hammers breaking ground for still more buildings now downs out the racket from narrow, twisting streets clogged with flashy new taxis.

Along with the building boom has come an incredible array of new bars and restaurants. Within three blocks of my apartment there are at least four Italian restaurants, one German, one Spanish, one Hungarian-Romanian, some French places and a Chinese restaurant with French overtones.

SELL HAMBURGERS

There also is a Swiss restaurant, a glittering place that sells hamburgers and several specializing in "international cuisine."

Heart Assn. Sets Largest Budget for Research

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Heart Association today announced a record $10-million research program for fiscal 1961-62.

The budget, largest in the association's 13-year history, was announced in Heart Research Day, Dr. Oglesby Paul, association president, described it as "our most important single activity" to control heart disease.

Paul announced the award of $2 million in fellowships to 175 scientists in 26 states, the District of Columbia and four foreign countries. He said the rest of the money would be spent in grants-in-aid to be announced at a later date and research awards by local heart associations totaling "several million dollars."

Gives Clear Warning

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An income tax-conscious custodian Wednesday night lighted up the downtown federal building so the offices spelled out "file now" in letters five stories high.

Shipments of rolled carbon steel products in Canada reached 2,557,000 tons in the first half of 1960, against 2,641,000 tons in the same period of 1959.

ENDS HUNGER STRIKE—Donald C. MacDonald Jr., Harvard senior, holds his daughter Laura, 18 months, as he takes his first solid food, a steak, for breakfast after a week-long hunger strike in which he lost 15 pounds. MacDonald embarked on the hunger strike to protest the jailing in Russia of Mrs. Olga Ivinskaya, literary confidant of the late Nobel prize winning novelist Boris Pasternak.

Hit by Runaway Auto Carrier

Walled Lake Woman Gets $5,000 in Freak Accident

A judgment of $5,000 was rendered in Circuit Court yesterday for a Walled Lake woman injured in a freak 1959 accident when a runaway auto transport truck hit her while she was clearing weeds out of the lake.

A jury of 10 women and 2 men deliberated nearly an hour and said the judgment should be paid Mrs. Jeanette B. Roberts, 51, of 584 E. Walled Lake Drive. She had asked for $100,000 for physical damages suffered in the June 5, 1959 accident.

The award was against truck driver Harold H. Sneed, 31, formerly with the E. & L. Transport Co. of Dearborn. Mrs. Roberts said she was clearing weeds from the lake in front of her home when the "only warning" she received that the truck, carrying four new autos, was headed her way was "the faint sound of snapping twigs." She said the truck struck her although she tried to dodge it.

She was later hospitalized with shoulder, hip, leg, and rib injuries for 11 days.

A four-million-dollar U.S. atomic power plant will begin operation at McDurro Sound in the Antarctic in 1962.

Americans Trek to Other Jobs, Homes

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK—Americans are as venturesome today as they were in the early days of our country. To change homes, jobs, occupations and ways of living is a common occurrence, and is one of the key elements in the rapid and continuous transformation of the United States.

The residential mobility of Americans is something to behold. The Chase Manhattan Bank noted that in one year some 35 million Americans move from one home to another, or one person in every five.

Most of these people move a relatively short distance, but 11 million go to a different county and half of these cross state lines, the bank reported in its latest publication of "Business in Brief."

These proportions seem to have held relatively constant over the years, but in prosperous times local moving appears to be somewhat more frequent, according to the report.

A substantial part of this mobility consists of an interchange of people: a stream of people into an area usually is counter-balanced in large part by a movement in the opposite direction.

The bank cited the 1950 figures which showed all of the states had received at least 10 per cent of their population from other states.

The sum of this residential mobility is so great, according to the bank, that it involves the majority of the population within a few years, and nearly everyone in a lifetime.

No more than 3 per cent spend their whole life in one dwelling, and not over 15 per cent always live in one county.

Labor mobility was reported being even greater than residential mobility. Some 8.5 million people a year leave one employer to work for another, and they make a total of 11.5 million shifts.

Surprisingly, the bank stated, nearly half of these involve a change to a different industry and a different occupation. Another 20 per cent is to a different industry and a different occupation, and 8 per cent to a different type of job in the same industry.

On the Social Side

By RUTH SAUNDERS
BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Averill returned Monday to their Glenview road home after three weeks in California.

Last stop was Sausalito where their daughter Judith Louise was married Saturday, Feb. 4, to David D. Otis. He is the son of Mrs. Ralph Holmberg of Creston, Iowa and the late Albert Otis.

The ceremony was read in Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito, and a reception and luncheon were given by Mr. and Mrs. Averill at the Alta Mira Hotel. The bride wore a pearl-white blue suit, a matching flower hat. Her corsage was a cluster of cypripedium orchids.

Mrs. Henry M. Hogan Jr. of Birmingham flew out last week to be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant.

Best man was Morton McMichael.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas the couple will live in San Francisco.

St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands is the embarkation port for six good friends. Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Wallace, the Edward H. Lenchens and the William H. Baldwins are the sailing enthusiasts who will explore the many groups of small islands nearby, on a charter schooner.

The Hugh Marrens Jr. with the Philip H. Maxwells plan to set their course a little later through the Bahamas. They will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Ford Jr. of Grose Pointe.

Mrs. Frederick C. Pew Jr. will be hostess at a tea next Saturday, Feb. 18 to honor her daughter-in-law Mrs. Anthony C. Pew. The affair will be given in the Pew home in Kirkwood road.

Will Expound on Sacred Art

Richard C. Muehlberger of West Long Lake Road will speak on "Sacred Art and Mosaics" when the Pontiac Society of Artists meets at the Adair Shelly Library at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

A painter who specializes in religious subjects, Mr. Muehlberger will have his works on display at his showing at Marygrove College, Detroit from Feb. 20 through March 9.

The Women's Committee of the Detroit Grand Opera Association has appointed (from left) Mrs. John S. French, Lahser Road; Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema, Franklin Road; and Mrs. George T. Trumbull, Dunston Road, chairmen for the Birmingham-Bloomfield area. Association members are sponsoring the Metropolitan Opera's appearances beginning May 22 in Detroit. The three are pictured at an organizational meeting in the Yntema home.

Pick Area Opera Committee Leaders

Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema has been named chairman with Mrs. George T. Trumbull and Mrs. John S. French; cochairmen for the Birmingham-Bloomfield area by the Women's Committee of the Detroit Grand Opera Association.

The association will sponsor the seven Metropolitan Opera appearances in Detroit's Masonic Temple, beginning May 22 with Puccini's "Turandot."

Committee chairmen appointed by the chairmen include Mrs. Paul M. McKelvey, Mrs. Robert L. Graham and Mrs. John W. Sanders. Others are Mrs. Frederick M. Oliver, Mrs. Gordon Hess, Mrs. Henry C. Johnson, Mrs. Jack Klart, Mr. Samuel Lang and Mrs. William G. Lenchens.

Mrs. John F. Gordon of Bloomfield Hills, active worker for the opera committee, will attend a luncheon meeting in Detroit Friday. She will be accompanied by committee members Mrs. Trumbull, Mrs. French, Mrs. Richard Wagner, Mrs. William G. Lenchens and Mrs. Raymond T. Perrine.

Mrs. Max M. Fisher is bringing a group from Franklin to the meeting.

Slate Talk on Antique Decorating

Area antique collectors may be interested in the Henry Ford Museum Antiques Lecture Series which opens at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the museum theater.

Mrs. Ethel Hall Bjerkoe of Essex, Conn., antiques authority, lecturer and writer, will speak on "Decorating with Antiques" in connection with the 1961 series theme "Living with Antiques."

Six lectures are scheduled in the current series. The second is slated Feb. 24.

The museum's galleries will be open at 7:30 the evening of Mrs. Bjerkoe's lecture. Refreshments will follow.

Tickets may be purchased by subscription or for single lectures.

Card Party Set

Zonta-International of Pontiac will sponsor a benefit card party at 8 p.m. this evening at the American Legion Hall on Auburn Road.

At Town Hall

Style Lecturer Fascinating Gal

By JANET ODELL

"Fashion is Fun" was the subtitle of the talk given Wednesday morning to a fashion-conscious audience by Maggie Daly, author, lecturer, TV personality and now newspaper columnist and mother of a Hollywood star.

Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall met at Pontiac Northern High School for the fifth lecture of the current series. Mrs. Paul A. Kern, president, introduced Miss Daly.

One of the four famous Daly sisters who have been making news in the writing and lecturing field for years, Maggie is by her own admission at the beginning of her talk: a 42-year-old ex-fashion model. She appeared Wednesday in a black Dior suit with a straight skirt and blousey jacket. She wore pearls with a jade clasp, and an armful of gold bracelets. On her head was a black bubble veil which she said is her trademark.

"There is no such thing as a woman who doesn't have one point of good looks," said Miss Daly. "Make the good points important." She spoke of her own troubles as an adolescent when she felt she was too tall (5 feet 7 inches), and how that became an asset when she took up modeling.

Although Miss Daly likes and buys expensive clothes—"After all, it's my business"—she thinks money is least important in choosing good fashion. She stressed choosing what is becoming to the individual, not what the individual thought she should look like.

"Find your own niche, fashion-wise," was her terse advice. Good fashion never goes out of style. Many of Miss Daly's clothes have been worn 12 or 13 years, with hems following the styles up and down. Fads do go out of style rapidly.

Tell Her You Are in Town

By the Emily Post Institute

Question: A friend of mine invited me to lunch but did not get a table. She merely said that whenever I had a free day and was in the city, to call and she would take me to lunch. I plan on going to the city some day next week and would like to know if it would be proper to call her and remind her of her lunch invitation.

I am sure her invitation was sincere but somehow I just don't feel right about calling her and "reminding" myself to lunch. Will you please advise me what to do.

Answer: If she is someone you know well, you may properly call her and say that you are coming into town next Wednesday and ask her if she will be free to see you. She will then most likely ask you to lunch with her.

One of the examples given on this subject of good fashions being permanent is the Chanel suit. First introduced in 1929, it is still good style and has been changed only in minute details.

To lend emphasis to the advice she was giving, Maggie Daly presented an array of hats she has been using over a period of time, as well as one or two new ones. Most of them were designer hats like the Dior widow's peak hat, made popular some dozen years ago. She modeled a turquoise velvet wide-brimmed hat with a large rhinestone ornament, saying it gives her a special feeling every time she wears it.

The audience murmured in sympathy when Miss Daly held up that she considered one of her mistakes. Every woman there had gone through a similar experience.

Miss Daly showed an entire collection of pillboxes, ranging from tailored to dressy, and urged her audience to make similar ones if they had a creative impulse. She suggested having that extra piece of fur made into a hat for this season of the year. She discouraged the women from trying to copy the "Jackie Kennedy look."

Hats for 1961 are pulled low over the eyes and make the wearer look like an English poodle. Also, were two examples, one in feathers, the other in satin. A third 1961 hat is more wearable: It's a gold straw shell by Dior. After the luncheon at Devon Gables, Miss Daly spoke at length about her daughter, Bridget Bazlen, Bridget, aged 16, has starred in a number of television shows, winning the Peabody Award one year. She has just completed the part of Salome in the up-coming picture, "King of Kings." Bridget is going to Hollywood next week. Her mother, who is a widow, will fly out for weekends.

Maggie Daly writes a column "Daly Diary" for the Chicago American six days a week. It's the Dorothy Kilgallen type of column, she explains. After she was married, her husband insisted she use her maiden name in her work—"In case I goofed."

When asked to comment on new fashions, she stressed the importance of color this spring. She said also that alligator is returning to favor. "But avoid a pink suit, because everyone will wear one," and "If it doesn't look like you, it's stupid to wear it."

Her witty comments on personalities of the day included: Lucetta, Young—Grecian; and she's 50!

The Duchess of Windsor—"Beautifully dressed, but selfish and unhappy." Marlene Dietrich—"Fantastic and exciting, even at 5 in the morning."

Maggie Daly is an exciting person herself. Having long ago realistically figured out her assets and liabilities, she makes the most of the former and ignores the latter. She's quite a gal.

Hats Rush Season at Town Hall

Maggie Daly, lecturer at Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall on Wednesday, pauses before the luncheon at Devon Gables. Miss Daly, a fashion expert, newspaper columnist and TV personality, wore a black Dior suit. Her hat is a chignon of pink flowers, put on over a Mr. John bubble veil. She wears out two of these veils each month. "Fashion is Fun," says Maggie Daly.

Mrs. John Meddough of Motorway Drive (left) wore a Schiaparelli hat to the Town Hall luncheon Wednesday. Three large pink flowers are mounted on a net frame with green velvet edging. It complemented her delicate coloring. Mrs. Carl Bird's blue straw hat (above) anticipated spring. It was interlaced with blue taffeta ribbon. It matched her eyes exactly, making them seem bluer. Mrs. Bird lives on Onagon Trail.

"It's just beautiful," is what Mrs. W. O. Roeser of Neome Drive seems to be saying to Mrs. Elmer Pettengill of Ridgewood, Mrs. Elmer and formerly of Pontiac. The hat Mrs. Roeser is admiring on Mrs. Pettengill is a

Leslie James model, a pillbox of green tulle and net with three pink roses mounted on top. Mrs. Roeser's hat is a white pillbox with a small red rose on the side.

Marry the Shrimp: Abby

He Is Short, but So Sweet

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Should I marry the man I love or should I try to find a tall, good-looking guy to please my mother?

I fell for this little short fellow named Sammy about two years ago, and I can't forget him. My mother keeps nagging at me to marry a tall man so she can have tall grandchildren. To tell you the truth, this little guy treats me so nice he has spoiled me for everyone else.

I am 24 and have supported myself since I was 15, so I ought to know what's good for me. What do you think?

SAMMY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Mary Sammy. Good things come in small packages.

DEAR ABBY: When I met Larry (not his real name) he was love at first sight. Then the bottom dropped out of my world when I heard he was married. He admitted it, but said his divorce would be final in three months, which was true.

Then I got a phone call from his mother asking me to give him up because he had a child and a reconciliation with his family would be much easier with me out of the picture.

This was the first I heard about his having a child. I called him that night and told him I never wanted to see him again.

It's been four months and I have stuck to my word. But it's killing me, Abby. He is legally free and he calls me every day begging to see me. I think I still love him. Would I be making a mistake to start up with him again?

A FOOL IN LOVE

DEAR FOOL: If you want a man who "forgot" to tell you he was married, and failed to mention he had a child, go ahead and start up with him again. But you would be a fool to trust him.

DEAR ABBY: Does a wife have the right to open her husband's mail when it is addressed plainly to him and him alone? I have no secrets to keep from her, but I do not like to have my letters opened and read before I get home.

DEAR NO: No one, neither wife, husband, parent nor offspring has the "right" to open and read letters addressed to another.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3263, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Waterford Girl Is Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

White satin ribbons marked family pews in Christ Lutheran Church, Dragon Plains, for Saturday vows of Brenda Diane Lewis and Paul Campbell of Ann Arbor. The Rev. Arvid Anderson performed the candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with cymbottom ferns and baskets of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Lewis of Hatchery Road, Waterford Township and the Paul Campbells of Fort Wayne, Ind., parents of the newlyweds, received some 200 guests in the church parlors following the nuptials.

The bridal gown of white silk tulle was styled with subrina neckline and chapel train. Flowers of sequins and seed pearls applied on Alcon lace enhanced the bodice.

A full circular fingertip veil of net illusion fell from a large white silk rose surrounded by sequined lace. The bride wore her husband's gift of a tear drop pearl on a gold chain.

She designed her semicascade of miniature white chrysanthemums, rosebuds, hyacinths and stephanotis around a corsage of white rosebuds.

Midnight blue nylon velvet with cornflower blue overskirt of matching silk organza for maid of honor Sandra Clemence of Waterford Township was worn with Juliet cap of velvet and short veil of French lace.

Elizabeth Worth, of Ann Arbor, attended her college roommate as bridesmaid, with Mrs. Shirley Brezovacki of Fort Wayne, Ind., sister of the bridegroom. Their frocks of light blue velvet were styled like the bride's attendant's dress. White chrysanthemums and blue hyacinth flowers and delicate fern comprised their bouquets.

The bridegroom had Ned Byrer of Fort Wayne for best man, Jerry Lewis, brother of the bride, Richard Swager of Fort Wayne, Edward and Fred Farman of Grand Rapids, ushers.

Leaving on a brief honeymoon, the bride was wearing a gold wool jersey suit and the corsage from her bouquet. The couple will complete studies at University of Michigan before making their home in Fort Wayne.

Belge cymbidium orchids complemented the pale blue satin dress with Chantilly lace bodice for Mrs. Lewis. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in mauve lace over tulle and corsage of dark-throated beige cymbidium orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Van Beckum of Bloomfield Hills were photographed aboard the S.S. President Hoover just before the ship sailed recently from San Francisco for the Orient. The passenger liner was scheduled to visit Japan, the Philippines, Hong Kong and Hawaii.

Spare Those Peelings

Vitamins in, Near Skin

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The food we eat probably has more influence on our health than any other factor. For this reason it also affects our appearance, achievement and happiness.

As most everybody today knows what the essential foods are, but many forget the small ways in which one can build up vitamin mineral and protein intake.

For instance, as a general rule the greatest concentration of vitamins in fruits and vegetables is in the skin and immediately beneath it.

Therefore, whenever feasible, eat the skins as well as the fruit or vegetable or peel very thinly. Also, do not cut or peel vegetables and fruits until just before eating or cooking. Cooking whole cuts down vitamin loss.

LITTLE WATER

As I often have suggested, cook with just as little water as possible and save any water you must pour off for future soups and sauces, because this water is full of health.

Casserole dishes have many values. In the first place these can be delicious. They can be most nutritious and they are comparatively inexpensive. They also get work since they are almost a meal in themselves. They need not be high in calories.

If you are watching your weight or blood cholesterol, use fat-free powdered milk in the sauce rather than cream or whole milk. You can zoom the health value of your casserole by substituting wheat germ for the usual bread-crumbs topping.

WHEAT GERM

Wheat germ, the most valuable part of the wheat, can be used in breading meats and poultry. It also can be substituted for one-third of the quantity of flour called for in a recipe.

Remember the cheaper cuts of meat have just as much health value as the more expensive ones.

They are extremely good if cooked long enough in moist heat and are well seasoned with herbs.

Do not cut or peel vegetables and fruits until just before cooking or eating them. Cooking whole cuts down vitamin loss. Cook with as little water as possible and save any water you pour off for future soups and sauces.

Plan U. of D. Gala Night

Area members of University of Detroit Mothers' Club are assisting with plans for the annual Gala Night Saturday at 8:30 p.m. "Under the Big Top" is the theme for the party at U. of D. where parents will dance or play cards in the Memorial building or "Main Ring" and students will be dancing to a second orchestra in the library or "Second Ring." Circus fare refreshments will be available in the cafeteria or "Third Ring."

General chairman Mrs. James P. Tomlinson and Mrs. Blou Wentworth, cochairman, are of Bloomfield Hills. In charge of decorations are Mrs. John Raymond of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. George V. Hildebrand and Mrs. Edmund T. Nolan of Birmingham.

Mrs. George Malley of Birmingham is chairman of the Mothers' Club scholarship fund to provide a life insurance and pension plan for all lay employees of the school. Mrs. Robert Filiault of West Long Lake Road, is cochairman.

Pontiac mothers helping with party plans are Mrs. Alphonse Baron, Mrs. Nolan R. Heiden, Mrs. William J. Janacek, Mrs. Arthur L. Kelley, Mrs. George Kiefer, Mrs. Myroslav Lapchak, Mrs. Ralph L. Retzlaff, Mrs. Thomas E. Tracy, Mrs. James Bego, Mrs. Grant Carlson, and Mrs. Paul J. Saghy.

From Bloomfield Hills are Mrs. Zachary Endress, Mrs. Jack Foster, Mrs. William Karth, Mrs. Sante Malfant, Mrs. Joseph Monroe, Mrs. Frederick Pierce, Mrs. Edward Porter, Mrs. Samuel Rahm, Mrs. Adolph Salts and Mrs. Gustav Umdy.

Members of the Orchard Lake Mothers' Club are Mrs. George Dimmer, Mrs. Carl Glenn, Mrs. Donald MacLean, Mrs. Lawrence Martin and Mrs. Roger L. Smith.

Boys from Pontiac, Bloomfield, Orchard Lake, Franklin and Birmingham comprise one-tenth of the 1,100 enrolled in the Jesuit school. Proceeds of Gala Night will be used to modernize the faculty lounge and study area for religious and lay instructors.

It's Cheaper if Wife Dresses for Husband

RUTH MILLETT

A man who obviously understands women claims that when they are young, women dress to please men and when they are no longer young they dress to make other women jealous.

What he didn't point out — but should have — is that men, themselves, are largely responsible for this switch in a woman's attitude toward clothes.

As long as a husband is interested in how his wife looks and showers and glistens enough to be an appreciative audience — his wife will go on dressing to please him.

Many a gray-haired grandmother confesses to her hairdresser that she would love to have her hair cut short but her husband likes it the way it is.

And many a wife of a man who refuses to buy a dress or hat except on "approval" — the approval being her husband's —

Such lucky women go on dressing to please their husbands all of their lives and never consider clothes as a means of making other women jealous.

But wives whose husbands have to be asked "How do you like my new dress?" or nudged into noticing a new hairdo, and who even then show little enthusiasm, often do start dressing to impress other women.

MONEY FLIES

And that is when the money starts to fly.

For a woman can please a husband with simple, inexpensive clothes — just so that they are becoming and make her look pretty.

But when she starts trying to impress other women she has to go in for the very latest fashions, the most awe-inspiring labels, and the shops she buys from have to be impressive when she starts name-dropping.

So it's a wise husband who never grows so uninterested in his wife's looks that she stops dressing to please him and starts dressing to make other women jealous.

That is not a happy switch for a woman — and it's a mighty expensive switch for the man who pays her bills.

Caroline Gets Bird; Calls Canary Robin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Caroline Kennedy has added a canary to her growing company of White House pets. With logic discernible only to 3-year-olds, she has named the bird Robin.

Reporters have been trying to find out who the canary belonged to since they saw the bird cage being unloaded from the family plane last Saturday.

Pamela Turnure, Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, said that Caroline bestowed the name on the canary because she likes robins.

Recent visitors to Nassau aboard the S.S. Bahama Star were Mr. and Mrs. W. Marvin Scholof of Highland Road. They are pictured at the railing on boarding-deck before sailing from Miami, Fla. While in Nassau they visited the popular Paradise Beach.

Buyers of New Furniture Are Given Some Pointers

CHICAGO (UPI)—Furniture is a major purchase for most families and one that many home-makers approach with trepidation.

Here are some pointers on how to go about it:

To get the help of store personnel, including interior decorators in many establishments, make a rough sketch of the room in need of new furniture. Note the room's dimensions, where the present furniture is placed, the general period of the decor and the color scheme. If possible, bring along small swatches of upholstery and drapery fabrics.

Judge the quality of furniture under consideration by fabric, cushioning, frame and fastening.

Airline's Strike Hurts Minnesota

Governor Tries to End
Walkout That Is Idling
3,000 in Twin Cities

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Gov. Elmer L. Andersen is seeking a new means of settling the Northwest Airlines strike which has closed a major air route to the Minnesota Twin Cities and cut a $2-million monthly payroll in the area by 80 per cent.

The National Mediation Board this week turned down Andersen's request that a presidential emergency board step into the strike, called Jan. 9 by the International Association of Machinists.

The board said it gave careful consideration to Andersen's request but was unable to find evidence to support his claim that the strike "threatens substantially to deprive any section of the country of essential transportation service."

But the governor is concerned about the economic drain the strike is causing on the state, particularly in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, where more than 3,000 idle workers reside.

Before the strike, Northwest had a $2-million-a-month payroll in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

"It since has dropped to $190,000 a month," William Pollock, Northwest public relations official, said.

Since the 3,000 workers were laid off because of a strike, they are not entitled to unemployment benefits under Minnesota law.

In all, Northwest has laid off more than 6,000 employees throughout the nation. Yet, less than 500 workers—flight engineers—actually are striking.

Holland Furnace Looks Into Charges of Fraud

HOLLAND (UPI)—The Holland Furnace Co. said today it will make an "immediate and thorough investigation" of fraud charges leveled against the firm in the sale of furnaces in Minnesota.

Minnesota Atty. Gen. Walter F. Mondale filed suit against the company Tuesday in Freeborn County District Court at Albert Lea, Minn.

How About Kennedy So Far?

He's the Big Boss, Busy but Moving Slowly

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — How does President Kennedy look after less than three weeks in office?

If he follows the course of his first 30 days, you can expect this: * * *

MIDDLE COURSE

1. His is going to be a middle-of-the-road administration. It will be more liberal than conservative but it will shun extremes.

2. He will be an extremely active president. He already has poured out proposals to get the economy moving.

3. In foreign affairs he will be firm, non-belligerent, imaginative and human. He will try to do business quietly, without playing to the grandstand.

4. He will be very political-minded in dealing with Congress, unlike President Eisenhower who showed distaste for politics and kept hands off Congress.

5. He'll be the boss in his administration.

HE GOES SLOW

Perhaps the best example of his middle-road attitude is in his proposal to raise the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.25. He could have suggested boosting it to $1.25 in one crack. That would have meant trouble with Congress, maybe no raise at all.

So he asked only for $1.15 this year—which is far as the Eisenhower administration would go—and $1.25 two years from now.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's activity was limited to a wheel-chair. President Harry S.

Truman got around in the usual, predictable way without mingling with people much. Dwight D. Eisenhower, except for golf, stayed rather alone in the White House.

Kennedy has hopped all over Washington: to a late movie; to friends' homes for dinner or a party; to the State Department to sit in on conferences.

He has been firm with the Russians in foreign affairs—too firm, they think—but has said nothing deliberately to irritate them.

He has made it clear he wants to deal with them quietly, has offered to cooperate with them on earth and in space. But he isn't rushing toward them.

He and his aides are studying the problems—particularly disarmament and nuclear testing—in the hope of finding answers, perhaps new ones, as he said.

Self-interest will be involved in American foreign policy, but Kennedy hasn't used it as a flag.

Indications are that Kennedy will be the boss in his administration, even if he has to slap down some of his own people to prove it.

When his ambassador to the United Nations, Adlai E. Stevenson, guessed out loud Kennedy would be glad to meet with Premier Khrushchev if he comes here, the White House quickly, Kennedy is not delegating authority as Eisenhower did with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams. There is no White House job similar to Adams'.

Which of these two whiskies is insured for One Million Dollars?

SOLID-GOLD BARS courtesy Handy & Harman, a U.S. Treasury Dept. licensee

Answer: The whiskey in the bottle on the right is insured by a world famous insurance company for one million dollars. This whiskey, drawn from Calvert Reserve's precious "Standard of Excellence," is used for quality control, never sold.
The Calvert Reserve on the left, and every bottle you buy must match this one million dollar Standard of Excellence for superb flavor, aroma, smoothness.

"Good as Gold" quality like this—never varying—means combining at least 18 selected straight whiskies with rare grain neutral spirits. The reason: Nature alone is never precise. All straight whiskies vary as they age.
But thanks to Calvert's one million dollar Standard of Excellence, the taste and magnificent character of Calvert Reserve never vary from bottle to bottle. Always "Good as Gold!"

To Debate Plan for School Head

Whitmer Asks That Art Teachers Take Charge at George Washington

A plan for providing effective administration of Washington Junior High School will be up for approval at tonight's Pontiac Board of Education meeting.

The plan, to be presented by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent, will call for added responsibilities on the part of Traver Miller, an art teacher at the school.

The school is without a full-time principal. At the last meeting, William J. Lacy, then Washington principal, was asked to assume the position.

Miller would fill in to administer the school until a principal has been named, according to the plan developed by Lacy. It would also involve a pay increase for Miller.

In other business, board members will discuss a request by officials of Local 630 of the Theatrical Stage Employees Union to require that union members be used by groups renting school auditoriums to stage shows or show movies.

The board also will discuss a policy statement on benefits available to the families of district employees who die while employed.

The meeting began at 7:30 p.m. at the Board of Education Building, 21 Patterson St.

Caroline, 3, Helps Daddy Entertain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The pretty little girl waved and the guests waved back. Her eyes glowed with excitement as the guests filed into her house. When the band played, she danced.

A charming scene it was last night at the White House and 3-year-old Caroline Kennedy helped turn her father's formal reception for foreign envoys into a diplomatic coup.

President and Mrs. Kennedy were entertaining 17 ambassadors and their wives but Caroline got a lot of the attention. Spruced up in a white, organdy dress embroidered with pink and green roses, she shared in her parents' triumph.

The diplomatic corps left obviously impressed with the warmth and friendliness of the new first family. They were amused and pleased by the antics of the little lady of the house, Caroline.

The Kennedys' lively daughter, pushed at her nurse when she was held too tightly. She danced a few steps when the scarlet-coated Marine Band played "Old MacDonald Had a Farm," especially for her. She paused a bit when she noticed the guests watching.

Milford Man Critical Following Collision

A Milford man is in critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as a result of a head-on collision in Waterford Township at 9 p.m. yesterday.

Kenneth Winship, 21, of 1008 Lakeside Drive was injured while driving in a sports car driven by Alfred Saliba, 21, of 1079 Lakeside Drive, Milford.

Saliba told township police he was driving east on Highland Road and was attempting to make a left turn onto Airport Road.

His sports car was hit by a west-bound car driven by Lloyd J. Newton, 41, of 1298 Highland Road, Highland. Newton told police that Saliba cut in front of his car and there was no time to avoid the accident.

Saliba was treated for minor injuries and released from the hospital, and Newton was uninjured.

More Than 150 Attend Waterford Zoning Session

More than 150 Waterford Township residents jammed the Zoning Board meeting at the Township Hall last night, either protesting or approving drastic changes in a newly proposed zoning map of the township.

All the map was approved with the exception of the rezoning of residential to small farms, the sand and gravel zoning change and commercial No. 2, as proposed these were the three areas to which residents objected, and the map was tabled for further study.

Size Is a Factor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Families with heavy expenditures for health are generally larger in size, have higher incomes than average and a higher-than-average proportion of their health spending is covered by voluntary health insurance, according to the health statistical bulletin, Progress in Health Services.

Police Heed Order

Traffic Tickets Up 60 Per Cent

The number of traffic tickets issued in Pontiac has jumped nearly 60 per cent since Acting Police Chief Joseph Koren called for more traffic enforcement early in January.

The Police Department handed over 3,378 tickets to the Traffic Violations Bureau for processing last month, compared with only 1,965 in December.

In January, there were 1,301 citations issued for moving violations, 1,452 tickets for over-parking and 725 for prohibited parking.

The previous month there were only 774 citations, 528 tickets for over-parking and 653 for prohibited parking.

The step up meant more revenues for the city. There was $9,857 in fines and penalties collected last month, according to a report from Municipal Court Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil McCullum. December's collections came to only $6,021, they said.

Last month, 2,986 tickets were processed, including 1,989 paid at the Public Safety Building, 763 paid through the mail and 234 collected by warrant officers. In December, 1,731 tickets were processed.

Deadline Nears for Paying Tax in Waterford

Waterford Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson has warned that Tuesday is the deadline for paying township taxes without penalty. After that, a 4 per cent penalty will be in effect.

About 75 per cent of the township residents have paid the taxes, Mrs. Olson said. She noted a flurry of payments around the Jan. 29 deadline which later was extended to Feb. 15.

All taxes, with or without the penalty added, may be paid at the township hall treasurer's offices until March 1.

After that, taxes will be paid at the clerk's office in the Oakland County Building with an additional one-half per cent penalty for overdue payment.

The township offices usually are closed on Saturday. However, to accommodate late taxpayers, the township's office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon this Saturday.

Hospital Elevator Being Overhauled

Renovation of the east wing elevator is under way at Pontiac General Hospital. The $30,000 job is expected to take five months.

Overhaul of the 1928 installation had once been contemplated as part of the 1958 modernization program. Trimmed from that as part of an economy move, the job is now being financed from special purpose funds accumulated during the last two years.

The Sashabaw School Parent-Teacher Association in Clarkston will observe Founders' Day at tonight's 8 o'clock meeting.

Mrs. Clifton Copeland, historian, will read the history of the school, and Independence Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall will discuss the effect that the new Chrysler Expressway will have on the area.

A coffee hour will follow the meeting, with home room mothers of first grade and kindergarten pupils, acting as hostesses for the meeting.

Sewage Plant Bid by April 1?

Near End of Revising Plans for Long-Stalled $3.5-Million Project

Engineers' plans for expansion of sewage treatment plant facilities apparently will be completed in time for the city to open construction bids around April 1, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Revisions in the long-stalled $3.5-million project are being wrapped up by Jones, Henry & Williams, the city's engineering consultants. The firm drew up the original plans several years ago.

Under the antipollution order obtained by the State Water Resources Commission, the city must have construction contracts signed by June 1.

Facilities to curb pollution of the Clinton River are to be in operation two years later.

When final construction plans are approved, city commissioners must take steps to finance the project, apparently through a general-obligation bond issue.

Quite a bit of indignation is caused by people having to eat their words.

Truck Driver Found Not Guilty in Fatal Crash

A not-guilty verdict was reached yesterday after three days of trial of Charles L. Zoellig, charged with negligent homicide in the fatal crash Nov. 14 in Troy in which one man died.

A jury of eight women and four men in Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams' court found Zoellig, 24, of 927 E. 11-Mile Road innocent of the charge.

He was the driver of the truck which smashed into a car driven by Wayne T. Heilrich, 55, 1886 Point Drive, Commerce Township, at the intersection of 14-Mile Road and Stephenson Highway. Heilrich was killed.

Zoellig said the air brakes on his truck failed.

Auto Supply Store to Open in Waterford

A new business venture, the Lyon's Auto Supply Co. will open Wednesday morning at 7575 Highland Road in Waterford Township, according to the owner Arthur W. Lyon.

Lyon formerly owned a gasoline service station at the corner of Baldwin Avenue and Montclair Street.

Grand opening of the new store will be held at a later date, he said.

Commission to Begin Improvement Talks at Meeting Tonight

City commissioners, meeting informally tonight, will begin hammering out the 1961 neighborhood improvement program.

They are counting on around $300,000 in capital improvement funds, about $65,000 less than last year.

Added money from special assessments and the state and federal governments should push the amount available to $1 million or more.

From a list of possible projects drawn up by City Engineer James M. Carlisle, commissioners are to select a number within the limits of the capital improvement budget. The selection is expected to take several meetings.

Waterford Deadline for Dog Licenses Set

Waterford Township residents wishing to procure dog licenses must do so before March 1, or the fee will be doubled, according to township treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Olson.

At the present time a $1 fee is charged for male or spayed animals, and $2 for females. All dogs must be vaccinated before a license is issued.

Chemical Firm Reports Banner Year in 1960

WYANDOTTE (U)—Wyandotte Corp. today reported record sales and earnings for 1960. Wyandotte said sales increased 33 per cent from $93,893,786 in 1959 to $125,724 in 1960.

Net earnings increased 14 per cent, the firm said, from $4,501,545, or $2.80 per common share in 1959, to $4,880,333, or $3.19 per common share in 1960.

Nation's Principals to Tour 3 City Schools

Pontiac to Be Prominent at NEA Contab

By DICK SAUNDERS
A record attendance of more than 7,000 is expected at the annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals Feb. 11-15 in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Pontiac will play an active role in the convention, which is expected to draw some 650 secondary school principals from Michigan.

Senior and Junior high school principals from throughout Oakland County will attend the conference.

All Pontiac secondary school principals will attend, and in turn, principals from around the Conklin will tour three Pontiac schools.

A singular honor will go to the Pontiac Northern High School Choir.

The vocal group, under the direction of Melvin Larimer, vocal music teacher, has been chosen to provide the musical portion of the opening program Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 15.

Visiting principals will tour Washington and Madison Junior high schools and Pontiac Northern on Tuesday, according to Conklin B. Bray, principal of Jefferson Junior High.

Bray, a member of the convention visitation committee, will be in charge of the Pontiac tours.

"We expect about 50 principals in each of the three groups," said Bray.

"Each group will operate separately. The principals will be shown through the schools while classes are in session," Bray explained.

EARLY AFTERNOON
The tours are scheduled for early in the afternoon.

Also as an official committee is Philip J. Wargelin, principal at Pontiac Northern.

He is a member of the convention's production committee.

Richard J. Spiess, principal, Bloomfield Hills High School, is a member of the publicity committee in charge of Oakland County.

LIST OF PRINCIPALS
Pontiac principals attending the convention are Francis W. Staley, Pontiac Central High; Theodore E. Wiermsa, Eastern Junior High; and Norman H. Kujala, Lincoln Junior High.

Other junior high principals attending are George Yansen, Madison; and William J. Lacey, Washington.

Lacey also will be attending in his capacity as newly appointed coordinator of secondary education for the Pontiac School District.

This will be the first time that a department of the 45-year-old National Education Association has held a national convention in Detroit.

The theme for this year's convention is: "Individual Competence and the National Welfare."

Detroit is extending a red-carpet welcome to convention delegates and a group of distinguished foreign visitors, including Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary-general of NATO. Spaak will address a session on Tuesday morning on "What Posture for the Free Nations of the World?"

Too many men waste time arguing about religion they haven't got . . . The label in Jack Herbert's suit says "Guaranteed Not to Shrink," and it's true—no matter how wet the suit gets, the label never shrinks. —Earl Wilson.

Barefaced Lie?

Beards Bring War

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—An assistant professor of history at Pennsylvania State College has said with tongue in cheek that beards caused the Civil War and in many cases the general with the biggest beard won the decisive battles.

Ari Hoogenboom, writing in the current Wisconsin Magazine of History, said war "is caused by the aggressive spirit of men and nations, and beards provided the aggressiveness that brought the Civil War."

He said "the key to harmonious relations with Cuba is shaving, not sugar."

And he said the eclipse of the bearded Bulgarian in Russia and rise of clean-shaven Khrushchev "is a harbinger of peace."

Attorneys to Go to Law Institute

16 From Pontiac and 24 From Oakland Bound for Ann Arbor Session

Sixteen Pontiac practicing attorneys will be among more than 250 attorneys from Michigan who will attend the 12th annual Advocacy Institute which opens Friday at the University of Michigan Law School.

Twenty-four attorneys from Oakland County will attend.

The two-day program will feature 26 lectures.

It is sponsored by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education of the U. of M. Law School, Wayne State University Law School and the State Bar of Michigan.

Attendance, including lawyers from out of state, is expected to top 500.

Others from Pontiac are Marshall E. Smith, John B. Wilson, Harcourt S. Patterson, Harold W. Dudley, Robert G. Isgrig, Brinkley J. Orr, Philip Pratt and Dean G. Beier.

Others from nearby areas include Robert H. Nelson of Farmington, David E. Wilson of Farmington, John Katsoulos of Hazel Park and Norman R. Barnard of Troy.

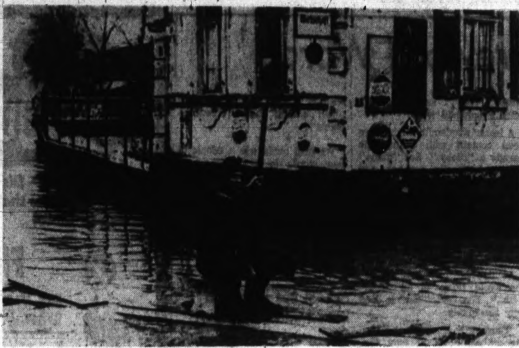

Also registered are George D. Lutz of Lapeer, S. Jerome Bronson of Madison Heights and John G. Hayward, Robert F. Martin and William E. Buchanan, all of Royal Oak.

Wants to Go to Jail — but Only for a Night

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A man ejected from a local rescue mission called police and asked to be put in jail for the night.

Police told him they could arrest him for vagrancy but he'd have to spend several days in jail. "No thanks," he replied, "I'll just leave town."

Washington Building Boom

Capital Eying New Look

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Visitors to the nation's capital will find a new face not only in the White House but also on the city.

The biggest government building boom in the city's history is fast changing the famous skyline dominated by the Washington Monument and Capitol dome.

Fifteen new federal buildings, costing about $24 million are under construction or are being planned for the near future.

Most of them will provide long-needed office space for the country's biggest business.

Old, yellowing temporary buildings are toppling to make way for gleaming new granite structures along both sides of the famous Mall.

The "tempers" were erected during World Wars I and II and have remained as peacetime eyesores. They house about 63,000 workers.

AWAIT NEW HOMES

Some of the agencies scheduled for new homes are the Civil Service Commission, the U.S. Employment Service, the U.S. Court of Claims and Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, and tentatively, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The new marble edifices will harmonize with the classic architecture of Washington and its aura of ancient Greece.

This style was set by the French Maj. Pierre L'Enfant, who in President Washington chose to plan the city.

However, they also will reflect contemporary streamlining, with the omission of decorative columns and capitals.

The biggest tourist attraction will be the Smithsonian Institution's $36 million Museum of History and Technology, to be completed in 1962.

Its steel beam skeleton already is rising along the mall on Constitution Avenue.

RESEMBLE DINOSAURS
Today visitors see only giant, lanky cranes looming over the construction like extinct dinosaurs whose real skeletons are displayed next door in the Museum of Natural History.

When final funds and plans are approved, Independence Avenue will be enriched by five buildings — the Air Museum, three federal office buildings and the $100 million new House Office Building going up at the foot of Capitol Hill.

This $55 million addition to the old State building will consolidate employees now scattered in annexes throughout the city. Already some of its 6,000 occupants are moving in.

Side-Splitting Humor Is Ruled Out by Facts

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Irwin L. Jones was visiting her husband at a hospital following an appendectomy when she declared:

"I feel like my appendix is bothering me."

"Nonsense," said her husband. A week later Mrs. Jones was rushed to a hospital to have her appendix removed.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, derives its name from the fact that Indians used to hold their pow-wows on the site.

Cars Travel Faster Now in Michigan

LANSING — Michigan motorists are stepping up their speed on the highways, the State Safety Commission was told Tuesday.

J. C. McMoragie, State Highway Department engineer, reported to the commission on speed checks made this past January and a year ago.

"We think it may be partly because cars are mechanical, partly because of going faster and also because driving skills have improved," he said. "The more open highway this January also may have something to do with it."

The average car daytime speed was up from 55.8 miles an hour last year to 56.9 this January. The speed at night rose from 53.9 to 55.9 miles an hour.

It also was noted many motorists were exceeding the speed limit. More than 21 per cent of the passenger cars were traveling better than 55 miles an hour on four-lane divided limited access highways compared to slightly more than 11 per cent a year ago.

See Fast Finish to '61

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University researchers say economic activity will lag in the first half of 1961, and then start to finish close to 1960 levels.

Tests show that 59 rats use up the same amount of oxygen as a man in a space chamber.

Babies Off Backs Are Better Adjusted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Many mothers believe newborn infants should be placed on their backs.

But a study showed that infants kept on their stomachs cried less and had less diaper rash.

Self-inflicted scratch marks also were fewer.

The report in Pediatrics, journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics, was based on a study by Dr. H. G. Kettel and associates from the Jefferson Medical College and Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia.

One of the largest art colonies in the Midwest is situated at Sausalito.

Newspapers Invent Screwball Words

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of my tax-exemptions, the one who asks all those questions, cornered me the other night after a problem in lexicology.

The English teacher had assigned the class to bring in a list of words that newspapers had contributed to the language. So how about providing a few examples, Big Daddy?

To tell you the truth, I couldn't think of any offhand, although I did tell my student that I just said it wouldn't be cricket for me, an all-knowing adult, to help a child do homework.

This artful evasion, which I am rather proud of, both saved my face and "kave" the young scholar some ethical fodder to munch on. Of just such stuff is parenthood made.

But if the matter comes up again, I will be better prepared. I saw an item in one of the papers this week that shows how ingenious were journalists can be when it comes to inventing new words.

It was a story about a military ceremony and the writer obviously needed a synonym for "parade." So he hooked a verb and an adverb together to form a new noun. At least it was new to me.

The word that grew out of this comping was "marchpast," as in "a marchpast by 200

Labor Secretary Due in Detroit on Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg will come to Detroit Friday night on his weekend swing through the Midwest to study the unemployment situation.

Goldberg's itinerary, it was learned, calls for him to board a state of Michigan-owned airplane at South Bend, Ind., at 7 p.m. Friday and arrive in Detroit at 7:30 p.m.

He will meet Saturday with Gov. John B. Swainson and other officials and will leave by commercial airliner at 1:40 p.m. Saturday for Columbus, Ohio.

men." Now I ask you, isn't that a splendid word?

A lesser wordsmith might have been content with calling the parade a "fileby." But "fileby" doesn't have the cadence and ring of "marchpast."

I regard "marchpast" as the finest contribution to the language since someone came up with "flyover," which means a ceremonial appearance of airplanes in formation.

A "flyover" is not, of course, the same thing as an "overflight." The "overflight" is used only for spying.

These are but some of the recent examples of how the newspaper business has helped to keep the language abreast of the times. Much, however, still remains to be done.

For instance, we badly need a single word to cover those wide-screen, stereophonic, extra-dimension movies — something that would do the job the way "drive-ins" did for outdoor theaters.

Until someone comes along with a better suggestion, how about calling them "strain-sights"?

We also could use a couple of new words to fit those people who perform "do-it-yourself" jobs and who become hi-fi addicts. Just to get the ball rolling, I propose calling them "smash-thumbs" and "playdolls."

And, for a topical note, here's a new word for the income tax return—"pursedrain."

School Bus Hits Auto but Children Not Hurt

LAKE ODESSA (AP)—Thirteen Lake Odessa school children escaped serious injury Wednesday when their bus collided with an auto on a fog-shrouded Ionia County road just north of this community.

Bus driver Duward Strong, 36, was ticketed by state police for traveling too fast for existing conditions. Police said the bus struck the rear of an auto driven by a rural mail carrier who had stopped on the road for another school bus.

Drinking Drives Reds to Action

Communist Way of Life Causing—East Germans to Turn to Alcohol

BERLIN (UPI)—The East Germans have recognized that communism is driving people to drink and have decided to do something about it.

The East German Health Department has recommended a ban on all liquor advertising, increased production of soft drinks and establishment of police-run sobering-up stations.

The sobering-up plan envisages a physical examination of all drunks to see if they are diseased, their registration and notification of their employers. The drunks would pay the costs.

An antiliqueur campaign run by a committee for healthy living was also recommended.

Statistics backed up the health department's demand for a temperance movement.

It disclosed that one-fourth of the persons brought to hospitals with injuries after 4 p.m. are drunk.

It said last year enough alcohol was sold in East Berlin to give every man, woman and child 4.15 quarts of wine, 4.73 quarts of spirits and 81.1 quarts of beer.

Excessive drinking is not confined to East Germany. It has become a problem throughout the Soviet bloc.

Drinking probably has increased in all nations since World War II. Europe in Eastern Europe drunkenness almost has become a part of the Communist way of life.

It is through that harsh economic conditions, unceasing propaganda and the extreme joylessness of life under communism is driving people to drink.

In Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania and Russia the governments are taking measures to support a temperance movement.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev himself has come out in favor of going on the wagon.

Although he has been known to take a drink now and then he went on record as saying "the time has come to crack down sharply on drunkenness and moonshiners."

The Communists are concerned particularly because youths are leaving the drinkers' movement.

With all free political and intellectual expression barred, they appear to be turning to alcohol for an outlet.

Roommates Ram Each Other on Way to Class

EAST LANSING (AP)—Roommates ran into each other on the way to class at Michigan State University Wednesday morning. The result was a loud crunch and hospitalization for one of them.

East Lansing police said a car driven by Ralph Wolf, 21, collided with one driven by his college roommate, Charles E. Royce, 21, when he stopped for a red light.

Wolf was ticketed for failure to make a proper stop and hospitalized with face cuts and head injuries. Royce was uninjured.

Fresh Pork Tops List of Best Food Buys Today

The thrifty shopper will select some meat from the pork department this week, says the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawry.

A check of local food markets shows that fresh pork roasts are economical choices. The lean Boston butt is available for as little as 13 to 16 cents per serving. The more popular center cut pork chops, from the middle of the loin, are 24 to 30 cents per serving.

Some turkeys are 20 to 25 cents per serving. Small size turkeys weigh 4 to 9 pounds and are young birds under 16 weeks of age. For best results, defrost frozen turkey in its film wrap in the refrigerator. A 10 to 15 pound turkey is ready to serve after 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours of roasting at 325 degrees.

Good ground beef is 12 to 20 cents per serving depending upon whether you serve three or four portions from each pound. Or serve your favorite pot roast of beef for 14 to 20 cents per serving.

Retailers report fractional increases on wholesale costs of lamb this week, but this is not reflected in consumer prices. Lamb shoulder can be served for 13 to 22 cents per person; the more elegant leg for 23 to 26 cents per serving. Include cabbage, lettuce, potatoes and broccoli among the fresh vegetable values.

Look for these cabbage characteristics: solid, firm heads, heavy for their size. Cabbage is best cooked for a short time and served immediately.

If you boil cabbage, wedges are ready in 10 to 12 minutes; shredded cabbage in 5 to 8 minutes. If you sauté cabbage, shred it into a heavy skillet containing 2 to 3 teaspoons of fat. Toss the cabbage constantly and cook until tender but crisp.

BROCCOLI

Good supplies of broccoli will fill the need for a green vegetable on the menu. To figure cost, remember that each bunch weighs 1 1/2 to 2 pounds and each pound will serve three people.

The "citrus season" continues

Grapefruit supplies are especially generous. You may pay 10 or 15 cents for a grapefruit... which depends upon the size and variety. Or you may buy grapefruit in 5 or 8 pound bags at about 8 to 12 cents per pound.

Grapefruit is one way to add vitamin C to daily food needs. One-half a medium grapefruit or one-half cup of grapefruit juice will give the day's vitamin C requirement.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently reported that we eat more citrus in processed form than fresh. Consumption of processed citrus (estimated on fresh-weight basis) has risen from an average of about four pounds per person in 1935 to about 33 pounds in 1960. Use of fresh fruit was about 34 pounds per person in 1960. Tangerines have passed their peak of supply although prices are about the same as they have been for several weeks.

Have you noticed the bright pink Michigan hot-house rhubarb? For the best sauce, use four cups of rhubarb (cut into one inch lengths without removing the skin) and one cup of sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes.

To Plump Raisins

Some recipes call for stewed or plumped raisins. To plump raisins, rinse them and place above boiling water in the top of a double boiler. Cover, steam for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally, and cool before using.

Not All Hambones Go Into Pea Soup

Hambone Soup France
1 hambone with a little meat on it
1 cup (1 1/2 large) green peas
1/2 cup (1 small) grated onion
1/2 cup (1 small) diced carrot
1/2 cup (1 small) diced celery
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 small bay leaf
1 whole clove

Put all the ingredients in a kettle, tying the bay leaf and clove in a piece (1 thickness) of cheese cloth. Simmer about 1 hour; move hambone and spices. Cut any pieces of meat away from bone and return to soup. Makes 4 servings. If ham is very salty, you may need to reduce amount of salt called for.

Instant Potato Joins Cheese in Muffins

Want a "different" muffin? Here it is!

Potato Cheese Muffins
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup instant potato flakes
1/2 cup (1 pound) grated cheddar cheese
1/2 cup (1 pound) grated cheddar cheese
1/2 cup (1 pound) grated cheddar cheese
1/2 cup (1 pound) grated cheddar cheese
1/2 cup (1 pound) grated cheddar cheese
1/2 cup (1 pound) grated cheddar cheese

Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Mix buttermilk and potato flakes; let stand until most of buttermilk is absorbed. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly; stir in cheese.

add potato mixture, mixing well. Add flour mixture; stir just enough to moisten dry ingredients.

Fill greased muffin-pan cups 3/4 full. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 10 if muffin-pan wells are 1 1/2 cup size. Serve hot at once; muffins flatten a little as they cool; they have an interesting moist texture and are good split and toasted.

Garlic Olives

Turn a can of ripe olives into a glass jar with a screw-top cover; add a clove of crushed garlic. Refrigerate overnight so flavors will blend. Drain and serve cold for a flavorful snack, or add to a tossed green salad.

Canada Explains Trade With Cuba

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — We growled here recently to the effect that our ancient pal Canada did not seem averse to making a fast buck dealing with Cuba, thus taking advantage of the Cuban-American break and Castro's seizure of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of U.S. investments there.

R. A. Farquharson of the Canadian Embassy, Washington, sets me more or less straight.

A committee of Canadian and American businessmen have issued a report on this matter, the basic points of which appear to be:

The United States has never requested Canada not to trade with Cuba.

U.S. goods still are reaching Cuba via trans-shipment from Canada, but the United States has not asked Canada to cease and desist. A number of NATO allies are trans-shipment American-made goods to Cuba.

Canadian trade with Cuba is nonstrategic. It is Canadian policy not to ship arms to tense areas.

Canada has no argument with Cuba. Castro has not seized any Canadian investments. Two Canadian banks having substantial operations in Cuba have "by amicable settlement" transferred their assets and liabilities to the Cuban government, and they have been reimbursed in dollars for their capital investment.

"It is our wish, consistent with our relations with other countries to maintain the kind of relations with Cuba, which are usual with the recognized government of another country."

"It is, of course, not our purpose to exploit the situation arising from the United States embargo, and we have no intention of encouraging what in effect would amount to the bootlegging of goods of U.S. origin."

"With respect to other goods of Canadian origin, there can be no valid objection to trade with Cuba as with other countries. The businessmen concerned will have to make their own judgments on the prospects for advantageous transactions."

WANTS RESPECT

... Canada respects the right of every country to determine its own policy toward Cuba; we naturally expect others to respect our right to do likewise.

The prime minister is of the opinion, too, that it is a good thing for Canada to maintain its trade ties with Cuba because if it breaks them — for emotional or other reasons, including the feelings of the United States — the West will be driving Castro deeper into the arms of the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Accident Rate Lower Despite High Figures

NEW YORK, N.Y. — About 92,000 persons died as the result of accidents in the United States in 1960, it is reported by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Last year's accident toll was about the same as that in 1959, but about 1,500 more than in 1958, the statisticians point out.

However, when account is taken of the increase in population, it appears that some progress has been made in reducing the accident hazard.

Provisional figures indicate that the accident death rate last year was slightly below the all-time low of 52.2 per 100,000 population established in 1959.

Says Red China Rates U.N. Seat

Facts of International Life Require the Move, States English Lord

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Lord Home told the House of Lords Wednesday night that the facts of international life require that Red China get a seat in the United Nations even though it has few of the credentials of a peace-loving nation.

Lord Home said Peking has "anothered" Tibet, resisted all attempts at conciliation, and publicly stated its belief in war.

This rise reflects the increase in the amount of travel; the motor vehicle accident death rate per 100 million miles of travel in 1960 may set an all-time low of 53.

Accidents in and about the home took 26,500 lives last year, an increase of approximately 500. The annual toll from public accidents other than those involving motor vehicles continued at the level of about 16,500.

The number fatally injured in accidents arising out of and in the course of employment in 1960 was little different from the figure for the year before at about 13,800.

Lord Home made no mention of a trip by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to Peking next fall to attempt to bridge the gap between Red China and the West. Informed sources said Wednesday such a trip was under consideration but that Macmillan, before going, would have to get President Kennedy's approval as well as assurance of a friendly reception from the Chinese Communist regime.

NAVY GIVES BURROUGHS MILLION-DOLLAR ORDER

DETROIT (UPI) — Burroughs Corp. has received an order in the amount of $1.3 million for additional electronic computers for navigation systems in the amount of $1.3 million for additional electronic computers for navigation systems in U.S. Navy nuclear-powered submarines.

The contract for 10 "stabilization data computers" follows an original order for five of the units, some of which are already installed and operating at sea.

GE Works Out Way to Desalt Ocean Water

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — The General Electric Co. said today it has developed a new process for desalting sea water, intended primarily for use by ocean-going vessels.

The distillation system could be adapted for non-marine uses at a low cost of operation, the company said, but gave no estimate of the cost.

A key feature of the process is vaporization of water without boiling or bubbling. This was achieved by an assembly of revolving blades which spreads salt water in a film one-thousandth of an inch thick.

The system can extract 42 pounds of fresh water from each 100 pounds of sea water, GE said.

Michigan Jobless Jan. 15 at 320,000

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today that unemployment totaled 320,000 on Jan. 15, a gain of 80,000 within a month.

Since mid-January auto manufacturers have announced the lay-off or impending lay-off of more than 80,000 workers.

As of mid-January, MESC said employment equaled 11.2 per cent of the Michigan labor force.

While 320,000 were idle, MESC reported that 2,411,300 were on jobs across the state.

Unemployment compensation paid out in January totaled $24,144,000.

1,102 of 1,285 Guilty of Criminal Tax Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government reports it obtained 1,285 indictments and 1,102 convictions in criminal tax fraud cases in 1960. Both figures represented increases from 1959, the Internal Revenue Service said last night in a summary of its enforcement activities last year.

MOSCOW (AP)—A. I. Fedoseyev was fired as first secretary of the Communist party's Odessa regional committee, Tass reported Wednesday night. Fedoseyev's successor is M. S. Sinits.

The dismissal came in the wake of Premier Khrushchev's crack-down on party leaders responsible for agricultural shortcomings last year.

Marilyn Monroe 'Satisfactory' but in Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Screen star Marilyn Monroe is under treatment for "an illness of undetermined origin," New York hospital said Wednesday night.

A hospital spokesman added that the blonde beauty's condition is satisfactory. He said she entered last Sunday but would give no details.

Miss Monroe divorced playwright Arthur Miller in Mexico two weeks ago. Neither was present when the decree was handed down on grounds of "incompatibility of character." They were married four years.

Swainson Asks for Tax Study

Says Legislature Ought to Take Serious Look at His Proposals

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. John B. Swainson said Wednesday he thinks the legislature should at least take a serious look at his program for revising Michigan's tax structure.

"I think there is approval in the legislature for having a modification of our tax structure," Swainson said.

He proposed a 3 per cent income tax and a 3 per cent corporation profits levy plus lifting of sales taxes on food and prescription drugs as the major points in a tax package which would also lighten the tax load on Michigan business.

"I didn't say it (the tax package) would satisfy everyone," Swainson said, referring to a union leader's blast at the proposal.

Carl Stellato, president of UAW Local 600 in Detroit, came out against the plan in a union publication, saying it was the plan advocated by Republicans in the last election.

"I think my plan is what is best for the state of Michigan," Swainson said.

Kalamazoo College Gets Ford Grant

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—Kalamazoo College has been awarded a $100,000 grant by the Ford Foundation to assist in its transition to year-round operations.

College President Walter K. Hicks said the school would use the money during the changeover from two semesters a year to four quarterly sessions a year.

The plan was adopted by the board of regents Jan. 20 and will go into effect beginning next September.

In awarding the grant, the Ford Foundation cited the school for its important contribution to education.

Eyes Freedom Academy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Freedom Academy" bill, designed to teach Americans how to fight the cold war, was scheduled to be introduced today by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Fame Fast for Paula, a Tall Girl From Tulsa

One day last spring, Paula Prentiss, a tall, attractive, brunette, was relaxing in her sorority house room on Northwestern University's campus. At last, the long-awaited summer vacation was at hand. Bags and trunk were packed and tacked with labels directing them to Tulsa, Okla.

Then the phone rang. It was a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executive calling from New York. Would Paula fly to New York for a screen test instead of training home to Tulsa the next day?

She would, she did and subsequently landed one of the leading roles in the studio's girl-happy comedy, "Where the Boys Are," which opens Friday at the Strand Theater. Plus a long-term exclusive contract! All this in the space of a week and happening to a girl who had never even thought about being in motion pictures.

"The stage was the focal point of my ambition," Miss Prentiss explains. "After studying drama at Northwestern, playing a summer stock at Eagle's Mere, Pennsylvania, and then taking a year of graduate study, I planned to head for New York. Getting in the movies seemed too impossible."

But fate intervened in the form of a talent scout, who was told to find a seasoned comedienne who looked like a college girl — a quite tall college girl.

Paula measured up on all counts. At Northwestern, she had performed in all types of plays from Shakespeare to Sartre, from tragedy to light comedy. She looks like a college man's dream walking and says heels stands at a statuesque 5 feet, 9 inches.

Only a week after all this hubbub, Miss Prentiss boarded a plane for the Fort Lauderdale location of the comedy.

"It was exciting enough getting this break," she says, "but there I was flying all over the country, too!"

Newly Organized Cinder Group Slated for Three Indoor Events

Pontiac Track Club Eers First Meet at Michigan Relays

The newly organized Pontiac Track Club will get into competition Saturday when the University of Michigan hosts the annual U. of M. AAU track relays.

At least 15 athletes from 13 colleges, high schools and track clubs will participate in the relays.

The Pontiac Club will not be the only representative of the city at the first meet. Coach DeWitt Wilson has invited all interested track men in the Pontiac area or Oakland County to join the outfit.

Last year when organized the PTC drew track men from various communities such as Lake Orion and Rochester for the outdoor season.

On February 22nd the club will take part in the Ypsilanti AAU Champions' meet and on the 25th in the AAU Open at Ann Arbor.

Among the entries Sowell, former

PCH track star who recently came out of the service, Sowell will compete in the high and low hurdles and in the broad jump.

While with the Army in Germany, Sowell competed in track events and had a distance of 24 feet-11 in the broad jump. He graduated from PCH in 1958.

He and Douglas and Jim Nelson will compete in the half mile. Douglas was the state half mile champion in 1955-1956 as a teammate of Hayes Jones. His best time was 1:57.7. Nelson was captain of last season's PCH cross country team.

Joe Anderson will be in the novice mile and two mile and Jerry Rank will start classes at Michigan State March 1st will take part in the shotput.

Hayes Jones who has worked out with the club is competing in a New York City meet at Ypsilanti.

While a sprinkling of U-M veterans and newcomers vie for honors in Yost Field House, track Coach Don Canham and what he calls the "guts" of his Big Ten defending champion indoor team will be 1,900 miles away.

Canham has picked eight men-conference hurdles king Benji McRae and two relay teams—to represent Michigan in the Los Angeles Times games at L. A.

"We ought to make a good showing," said the coach. "We won both the one-mile and the two-mile relays out there last year, and I think we're at least as strong again."

And McRae, whom Canham calls the best hurdler in the nation, except possibly Hayes Jones, is in top form for so early in the year.

The slender junior took a long astonishing times in last week's Michigan State relays—at East Lansing.

McRae whipped the meet's strongest field in the low hurdles, placed second in the high (although he matched the winning time of Rex Stucker, Kansas Big Eight champ) and was a tenth of a second off the world record of 7-1/2 in a 60-yard leg of the shuttle hurdle relay.

Michigan interest in the West-

Coast Invitational is enhanced by the expected meeting of Jones, McRae and Rex Cawley, the former Farmington prep star who was called the nation's outstanding college freshman trackster at Southern California last year.

Cawley, now a soph, Jones and McRae will meet in the 60-yard high hurdles.

McRae has always won from Cawley, but Cawley like his U-M adversary, is still improving.

St. Fred Drilling for Tourney

Rams, Sunday Catholic Rival Well Matched

All Comparisons Show Roseville Five, Locals to Be About Even

By CHUCK ABRAH

The next few days will be busy ones for the Suburban Catholic champion St. Frederick's team which faces strong Roseville Sacred Heart Sunday night at the University of Detroit court in the qualifying round of the annual Catholic League tournament.

Coach Gene Wright's contingent finished the regular season in impressive fashion Tuesday at St. James hitting a high for the year of 76 points featuring a 44 per cent field goal shooting mark and a good running game.

Roseville won its final pre-tourney game the same night as scores from both schools came away with glowing reports of their rivals. "Our scout was very impressed. They play control ball style," said Wright today.

One and possibly two scrimmages against outside teams will highlight Ram tourney drills. Injured former St. Fred starter Jim Schachern is practicing and may be available for limited duty Sunday if heavy workouts show he is ready.

The teams will go into the game at evenly matched odds. Both compiled 10-1 records winning their last 3. Each lost its 2nd game of the season by one point. The Class C Rams bowed to Royal St. Mary. Sacred Heart a "B" school, lost to Class A St. Joseph.

Their only common foe was Ulica St. Lawrence. The team won in their lone non-loss, but lost 49-45 in a poor shooting opening night in November. Roseville took the Mustangs 41-40 on the way to the Macomb League crown.

Sacred Heart will take a slight 55-57 scoring average into the battle. The teams will be about even in size at 5-11 per man in both coaches start the same unit they used Tuesday although the Rams would have the two tallest soph in 6-2 and 6-3. Pat Murray is the "big" guy for the Rams at 6-1.

A possible change for the Rams would have yet guard Jim Kennedy returning to the lineup. He starred in reserve at St. Joseph after being benched and could win his job back by Sunday.

The qualifying round starts in the afternoon with Parochial League West Side champ Detroit St. Theresa's at 7:30. The winner of Friday's Detroit St. Thomas-Hamtramck St. Ladislaus dual for runner-up honors in the East Side Catholic hoop at 7:30. Detroit St. Cyril, the Marine Parochial king, vs East Side Parochial victory Detroit Annunciation at 8.

St. Fred and Sacred Heart 20 at 8:15 following a 6:30 contest between Parochial Southwest Little River Rouge Lourdes and Detroit Benedictine or Dearborn Sacred Heart. The latter faces mid-Friday to decide 2nd place in the West Side part of the Catholic League.

Grosse Pointe St. Paul, the Catholic East Side champion, Catholic Central and Harper Woods Notre Dame, one-two finishers in the Central Catholic race, and Holy Redeemer drew eyes into the first round Feb. 13. Redeemer won the West Side Catholic crown. Power Detroit C. C. will meet the Ram-Tourney victor.

The semifinals will be played Feb. 22 and the two teams from Sunday, consolation games are set for Feb. 21 and 22 at sites to be determined. All other action will be at U. of D.

STOCKHOLM (U. S. — Sweden trounced the United States 7-1 last night in a warm-up match for the World Cup Ice Hockey Championships.

Northern, Holy After Clinchers

Pontiac Northern can gain a share of the Inter-Lakes League basketball championship Friday night.

Holly can do the same in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

Title hopes for Avondale and Orionville can blossom or wilt.

Games involving these teams will highlight another heavy cage schedule in the area. The only quiet side will be those from Rochester and Ferndale.

If Pontiac Northern is to clinch a share of the title, the Huskies must win as expected at Southfield and then hope for Waterford to down Walled Lake on the Skippers' floor. Should this happen, PNH would have a 7-0 record and all other teams would have at least three setbacks.

Each school plays 10 league games.

There is one thing about Southfield that the Huskies must not overlook. The Blue Jays are 6-11. But they have lost four games by two points or less. Last place teams always seem to be the ones to knock off the leaders.

East Detroit displayed this tendency by clipping Ferndale.

Farmington can be eliminated from the title picture should the Falcons split at Berkley.

The Holly Broncos, rated the No. 1 Class B team in Michigan by the Associated Press, don't have to depend on another team to help them clinch a piece of the title. All the Broncos need is a win at Milford.

Milford must gain revenge for an earlier defeat at Holly or be eliminated from the race. Northville travels to Clarkston and the loser will be ousted from the title chase. Bloomfield Hills entertains Avondaleville and must win or be eliminated. West Bloomfield is at Brighton in the other game.

Holly can win all the marbles by topping Milford and being triumphant next week.

Avondale travels to Oak Park to meet the team it tied with for first place in the Oakland B League. A win for the Yellow Jackets would put them in a top position to win the championship as their final two league games against Lake Orion and Clawson are at home.

A loss would hurt even though Oak Park must play at Farmington, a half game behind the leaders. Fitzgerald travels to always dangerous Troy and Madison is at Clawson Friday.

Oxford takes its winless mark to Lake Orion.

Imlay City holds the key to the South Central championship. The Spartans enterantly front running Ortonville Friday and a week later take on Millington, a half game out of first place.

An Ortonville victory would just about assure the Black Hawks of a share of the crown as they finish at home against Oxford. But a defeat, coupled with a Millington win over North Branch, would dump Ortonville into second place.

Roseville can break the first place tie in the Tri-County by beating Lapeer at home. Romeo hopes to escape the cellar at L'Anse au Loup.

Birmingham Seaholm and East Detroit can do Ferndale a big favor Friday in the Eastern Michigan League. The Maple play host to second place Port Huron and M. Clemens, tied with the Big Reds, is home to East Detroit.

With Hup Dunne back in harness, Birmingham figures to give Port Huron plenty of trouble. An improving East Detroit could split M. Clemens. Royal Oak Kimball is at Hazel Park in the other league game.

Memphis will be in a position to hurt New Haven's bid for the Southern Thumb title. The teams meet at Memphis and New Haven must win to remain tied for the lead with Cape. At home against winless Almond. Brown City goes to Armada and Anchor Bay is at Dryden.

Pontiac Emmannuel is at Birmingham Groves and Waterford Brookline Old at Wayne St. Mary. The Lakers have a fair chance of recording their first victory win.

Royal Oak Dondero plays at Groves Pointe. Country Day is at Lamphore and Farmington Old Lady is at Wayne St. Mary Friday. Cranbrook plays Saturday at University School.

Summit Trophy Goes to 'All-Around' Point Winner

Cross-Country Races to Draw Skiers From Michigan-Ohio

The second event of the season will take place Saturday when Summit Ski Club hosts the cross country races.

In January, Summit held the grand slalom races. After Saturday's events, the "All-Around" trophy will go to the Michigan skier who has compiled the most points in the grand slalom and cross-country races. The trophy is being presented by the Flint Journal.

All 12 Summit slopes will be open so that the races will not interfere with regular skiing. Competition will begin at 12:30 p.m. and wind up under the lights.

Skiing this far for the weekend is still considered good and a large turnout of Michigan and Ohio amateurs is expected for the races. The slopes have a 10-12 inch base with 1 inch of powder.

Holds Second Ski Event

SLALOM HONORS—Winners in the Annual Granplan Mountain Slalom Races relax with the judges after receiving their trophies last weekend. Left to right are: Walt Rummel, 1st in Men's Division; Joe Schurz, 3rd in Men's Division; Judge and Granplan Mountain Ski School Director Gerry Monod; Janet Ridell, 1st in the Women's Division; Pauline Drouin, 2nd in the Women's Division; Don Leonard, 2nd in the Men's Division and Judge and Granplan Mountain Ski Instructor George Odier. The races were run over a 40-gate slalom course set up on the main slope at Granplan Mountain last weekend.

It Should Be Another Big Skiing Weekend

Michigan slopes will provide a bonanza for ski enthusiasts again this weekend as reports from resort areas indicate fine conditions will prevail.

Two-Man Bobsled Teams Wait for Draw

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Practice sessions speedier than the real thing ended today as competitors for the world two-man bobsled championship awaited the draw for the weekend competition.

The record for the mile-long Olympic run on Mt. Van Hoevenberg was bettered 12 times in the first three days of practice and improved racing conditions forecast more of the same before Friday's draw.

The course will be closed Friday for final maintenance, and Royal T-11 m.s.s. run superintendent, promised between a half inch and an inch of loose snow will cover the ice run for the official competition on Saturday and Sunday.

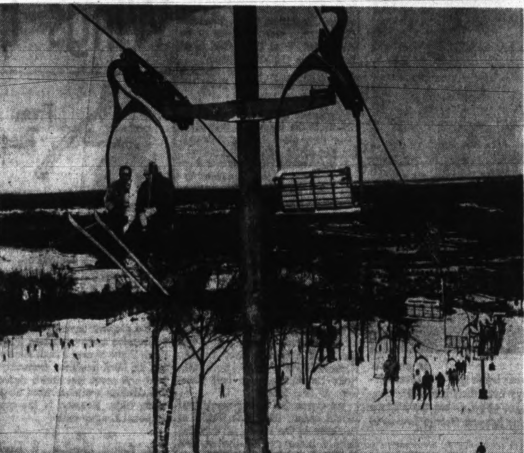

Bobsledders have complained after receiving their trophies last weekend. Left to right are: Walt Rummel, 1st in Men's Division; Joe Schurz, 3rd in Men's Division; Judge and Granplan Mountain Ski School Director Gerry Monod; Janet Ridell, 1st in the Women's Division; Pauline Drouin, 2nd in the Women's Division; Don Leonard, 2nd in the Men's Division and Judge and Granplan Mountain Ski Instructor George Odier. The races were run over a 40-gate slalom course set up on the main slope at Granplan Mountain last weekend.

Monti was joined in the sub-record timing Wednesday by teammate Sergio Zardini, who twice was clocked in 1:11.35; Swiss Hans Zoller, in 1:11.48, and Franz Schelle of Germany, 1:11.57.

Gary Sheffield, of Lake Placid, driving the No. 1 U.S. sled, and Bill Dodge of New York didn't break 1:12 Wednesday after doing it three times the day before. Dodge had the best time, as he did Tuesday, with a pair of runs at 1:12.25. The day before his best was 1:13.07. Sheffield twice went under 1:12 Tuesday.

"I was driving like a beginner," he said. "I made only one good run, and that is bad. I was just not any good."

GOING UP, UP, UP—Mt. Holly's new chair lift with a capacity of 1,020 skiers per hour, making it the highest capacity lift in the Midwest, operates until 11:00 p.m. nightly for the skiers in the Pontiac area. The aerial ride takes less than three minutes to the top of Mt. Holly.

Three College Cage Powers Lose on Road

By The Associated Press
Best advice you can give a college basketball team? Work on your jump shot? Not your playmaking? Fundamentally?

Nope! Just one simple answer: Stay home!

Sixth-ranked North Carolina, and tournament-bound Louisville and DePaul went traveling—and tumbling—Wednesday night. The Heels, losing their second in a row, were beaten 69-62 by a South Carolina team that had lost all eight of its previous Atlantic Coast Conference games. Tenth-ranked Louisville (11-4), attempting to celebrate its all-time berth in the NCAA tournament, was cuffed 80-74 by Eastern Kentucky. DePaul (12-5) went down by a whopping 87-64 to Marquette's sophomore-studded Warriors only 24 hours after accepting a place in the National Invitation Tournament.

The three shockers, the latter because of the 23-point margin.

No Competition in 2 City Loops

Buckner Finance and Town Country Lounge continue to be the class of their respective divisions in the City Basketball League. Both are still unbeaten as the regular season schedule nears the finish line.

Buckner won No. 10 in the Class B loop Wednesday night as Nick Neira collected 21 points to spearhead an easy 83-48 victory over the Baldwin Merchants. Roger Reynolds meshed 18 points to pace the T&C cagers to their third Class C triumph, a 43-38 conquest of South Fisk.

Jim Johnson scored 16 points to feature Doolin's 51-35 win over Booth in another "C" contest and in yesterday's only Class A game. Sam Sales dived 21 points as the Lakeside Royals trounced Van Dikes, 75-58.

Four Elks players hit double figures, led by Leroy Campbell's 25 points in an 82-37 Class D massacre of Northside, which is now winless in 10 tries. The Elks moved into 2nd place by winning. Gary Holtz rifled 21 points as McDonald's quintet defeated the All-Stars, 59-45, in a "D" exhibition game.

Walker's 670 Top West Side Classic Score

Jim Walker anchored his Lake Center Drug team to a three game win over Hazelton Parkizing the 23-225-202 and a big 670 series to lead the scoring West Side Classic this week. Close on Jim's heels was Joe Foster who broke 650 for the "second week in a row" when he rolled games of 202-237-221 for 660. He raised his season average to 200 good for second place behind George Chacovsky at 202.

Other high scores included Ernie Bertram at 204-204-202 in 640 and Al Pietz 626. Bismar Inn had the high team game at 1079 followed by Coca Cola at 1015, Calbi Music 1014 and Lake Center at 1002. High Series were rolled by Lake Center 2965, Bismar 2939 and West Side Mobil 2912.

Other three game winners were West Side Lanes over Judah Lake Mart and Pasquetti's Pizzeria over Slaters Concrete. Two game winners were Mobil over Oakland Coin, Bismar over Blue Cleaners, Calbi from Pizzuti's Lounge and Coca Cola over Triple X Lunch. Tony's Rental and Sparks Griffin split their match.

Junior Wings Slam Windsor Skaters, 8-1

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—The Detroit Junior Wings, with the Borden Cities Hockey League title firmly in hand, crossed the river last night and blasted the Windsor entry in the league, 8-1.

With two games remaining the Junior Wings hold a 10 point lead with a 2-5 record in the league. Dick Devine, Jim Peters and Jimmy Joe Smith each hit twice as the Wing-juniors skated to an easy victory.

The B.C. playoffs start in two weeks with the Detroit team favored.

beat Eastern at home, 70-69. Don Kojis, field to five points in the first half while Marquette took a three-point lead, blitzed the Paul Demons with 19 after the intermission. It was the fifth loss in the last six games for DePaul—all five losses on the road. DePaul had beaten the Warriors, now 10-7, at home in Chicago in overtime last month.

Chet Walker scored 20 points and Timmy Robinson 27 for Bradlee, now 14-4 and trying to fight back from successive losses to Cincinnati, St. Bonaventure, and Drake. Jim Hadnot and Johnny Egan each hit 19 for Providence which will play in the NIT for the third straight year.

Western Kentucky (15-4), leading the chase for the Ohio Valley Conference berth in the NCAA tournament, whipped non-conference foe Xavier of Ohio, 68-61, and Ohio U. fattened its Mid-American conference lead, whipping Miami (Ohio) 91-75 while second place Toledo shot to Bowling Green 67-63.

Jack (The Shot) Foley scored 43 points as Holy Cross (14-1) bolstered its chances for an NIT berth, 106-85 over Dartmouth. Niagara's NIT hopes went up in a 74-32 rout of Syracuse. St. Bernard's 21 points led Army (14-3) over Rider, 67-55 and Navy edged William & Mary 69-67 on Bill Kirvan's jumper with two seconds left.

Chiefs' Top Rebounder Still Could Do Better

By BILL CORNWELL

The finest rebounder in Pontiac Central's basketball history—that's the glowing tribute paid without hesitation to George Fed, who is nearing the end of his high school career at the sprawling red brick building on West Huron Street.

The 17-year-old senior plays his last home game for the Chiefs Friday night when cellar-dwelling Bay City Central invades the PCH court for a Saginaw Valley Conference contest at 8 o'clock.

Fed, a fierce competitor, has compiled some enviable backboard statistics this season, yet he could do better in the opinion of head coach Art Van Ryzin.

"George is not in top-flight physical condition," Van Ryzin said. "If he ever rounded into his form of last season, he would go with a year of experience, there's no telling what he could accomplish."

"He has great potential, beautiful timing on the boards and still may not have reached his playing peak," Van Ryzin went on. "But he's not in proper shape and runs out of gas too easily. He gets tired too soon."

The 150-pound, 6-foot-3 jumping jack got off to a bad start this season, but he still has done an outstanding job for the Chiefs in spite of his troubles.

He missed the first two games of the season due to a fractured right thumb sustained in the Flint Central football game and it took him a couple of contests to get the feel of things on the floor.

If it hadn't been for his absence in those two games, he would probably succeed in setting a new school rebounding record this season.

Harrison Munson, now a sophomore on the U. of D. varsity squad, set the existing PCH backboard mark two seasons ago when he hauled down 272 in 15 regular season contests.

At this stage of the campaign, with three regular season games left, Fed has picked 206 off the boards in his 10 starts, which averages nearly 21 recoveries per game.

He could still break Munson's record, but he'd have to go like a house afire to do it. The agile fellow needs 67 rebounds in Central's three remaining games to beat Munson's mark and that's a mighty fast pace.

Fed owns a 12.2 scoring average on a 10-game total of 122 points. He has an excellent pair of hands and is a constant threat score because of his tipping ability.

Fed and two other PCH starters, muscular Bradell Pritchett and sharp-shooting Clarence Douglas, will make their farewell appearances in the PCH gymnasium tomorrow evening against the Bay City Wolfpack.

The Wolves come to town with a 6-7 Saginaw Valley record and 19 over-all. Pontiac stands 43 in the Valley and 84 altogether.

Dick Savitt Is Favored to Win Indoor Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Savitt, semi-retired and partly ailing, is the favorite to win the National Indoor Tennis Tournament that runs tonight through Monday.

The big New Yorker, runner-up the last two years to Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay, respectively, is seeded No. 1 among the U.S. delegation, and takes on Bailey Brown of Bronxville, N.Y., in his first round match.

Savitt's right arm bothered him all last year and he played very little tennis. But it has been coming around. Ron Holmberg beat him in the final of the Buffalo Indoor Tournament recently, and he whipped Vic Seixas in the Middle Atlantic indoor event.

"My arm is all right now," he said. "It shouldn't hamper me at all."

Savitt has won this tournament twice, in 1952 and 1958 if he wins again, he will retire the trophy.—no mean feat. No one has been able to win it three times in the past 25 years. Some pretty fair players have captured it once or twice.

Don McNeill and Bill Talbert both won it twice, but Jack Kramer, Bobby Riggs and Pancho Gonzalez have only one victory to their credit.

Savitt has the kind of game that makes him strong indoors. His big first service can befuddle his opponent under the tricky lights.

He figures to have an easy time into the third round. But then he probably will run up against Pierre Darnon of France, the No. 4 foreign seed and reputedly one of the finest indoor players in the world.

Behind Savitt on the U.S. list are Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, who plays Evert Schneider of the Netherlands; Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., who opposes Robert Brulot of Belgium; and Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., who plays Sid Schwartz of Long Beach, N.Y.

Only Crawford might have trouble. The veteran Schwartz always has been a good indoor player, and, in fact, was runner-up for the title in 1948.

Orlando Sirola, who along with Nicola Pietrangeli, clobbered the United States in the semifinal of the Davis Cup competition last year, is the No. 1 foreign seed. Then comes Billy Knight of England, Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Darnon.

The 6-7, 200-pound Sirola has a problem at the very start when he plays Crawford Henry of Atlanta in the first round. Henry is a pretty fair operator and could cause trouble. Knight, likewise, will have no cinch against Mike Green of Miami Beach, Osuna tackles Gerald Pilet of France.

Leafs Rout Rangers, 5-2

Mahovich Scores No. 42

By The Associated Press

Apparently all Toronto's Frank Mahovich needs to break Rocket Richard's National Hockey League goal-setting record is to play the New York Rangers often enough.

The Toronto Maple Leafs and Mahovich have played the Rangers 11 times this season and Frank has scored 14 of his 42 goals in those games. He needs nine more to break the NHL mark of 50, set by the now-retired Rocket Richard of the Montreal Canadiens in 1944-45.

Goal No. 42 came early as the Leafs got off to a 4-0 lead in the first period and whipped New York 5-2 Wednesday night. Ma-hovich also picked up an assist for a total of 64 points, only two less than league-leader Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal. But the painful part for him was that he missed at least two excellent chances to score.

The result put the pace-setting Leafs five points in front of idle Montreal while Chicago, a smashing 5-2 winner over the Detroit Red Wings in Wednesday night's other game, trail the Canadiens by seven. But those differences aren't quite what they seem. Toronto and Detroit have played 54 games each, Montreal has played only 51.

The Canadiens play at Boston tonight with Jacques Plante, the masked-goalie, scheduled to return to his old place in the nets. The Rangers are at Detroit to-night.

Toronto wrapped up Wednesday night's game, in which only two penalties were scored, by rapping in four goals in a first period stretch of 8 minutes and 51 seconds.

After beating Ranger goalie Gump Worsley cleanly for the second Leaf goal, Mahovich lost out to Worsley when he had a good second-period opening and he missed a third period shot after Billy Harris set him up with a perfect pass.

Junior Jon Feldman of Newark, for George Washington University, averaged 21 points a game city's basketball team last season.

But He Didn't Like Those 17Gs Space Chimp Smart Enough to Gooft Off

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — It came out Wednesday that Ham, the boy chimp astronaut, is no more than human. He has a detectable streak of laziness.

He also gets tired on occasion and, if you suddenly belt him with enough G-force, he doesn't hesitate to manifest displeasure.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) loves Ham, and in talking about him NASA officials bubble over with such expressions as "very intelligent" and "very, very able."

NASA officials today showed members of the House Space Committee a motion picture taken of Ham during his 16-minute rocket ride over the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Jan. 31.

Ham, 3-year-old native of Cameroon, Africa, was supposed to go into orbit about 115 miles, and into 200 miles. Actually, he went 42 miles higher and 132 miles farther.

The escape rocket went off two minutes and 17 seconds after Ham started his trip and momentarily subjected him to an acceleration force 17 times gravity. It was as though his head sank back into his couch and he bared his teeth in an awesome scowl. George M. Low, chief of manned space flight at NASA headquarters, ventured that Ham "was a little unhappy about it."

He looked, in fact, downright sore, and for an instant he stopped performing his tasks with the lever. But, as the taped data show, he didn't stop long enough to get a shock.

When the Mercury spacecraft peevishness was over as soon as it started, almost. During some 6 1/2 minutes of weightlessness, which set in immediately after the ITG belt, Ham worked with complete aplomb, perfectly at ease.

When the Mercury spacecraft was launched, he wanted to talk politics and business.

"We froze to death making 'Lollita,' shivered Shelley. 'I know the Hollywood films have frozen funds in England—but they also have frozen actors!'"

Shelley — who played Lollita's mother — predicted that the picture, humorously treated, wouldn't be heavily censored and will be great. She's impressed personally with modern youth, which is different than the youth she knew in St. Louis, where she comes from.

"For example," she admitted, "there was a young man I was interested in—until I found he danced a different generation." (She says today's young people dance like robots.)

Shelley in any case is such a JFK fan that she almost left 'Lollita' because she couldn't get back for the Inaugural.

At a party given by Mrs. Lynn Lossner, she mentioned sitting beside JFK at a Garment District rally.

JFK had been late getting to the platform. "What's been all the delay?" she inquired.

Melvyn Douglas was near her. "Being a Method actor," he answered, "you wouldn't understand about making an entrance." Who enjoyed the joke most? JFK's already ready campaigning for his reelection in 1964.

'The Big Splash' All Wet as a Tense Dramatic Play

By FRED DANZIG
 NEW YORK (UPI) — "The Big Splash" was good for some of this TV season's biggest laughs last night.

The fact that this "Steel Hour" on CBS-TV was supposed to evolve goose-humps instead of horse-humps might tend to take the edge off of my enthusiasm, however. The incredible, indescribably atrocious script by Harold Gast was billed as a "tense drama." After this desert-day drama, they should hold their tense and steal away.

The story attempted to evoke sympathy for a penniless character who contrived to live in a 15-room house on a two-acre lot in Westchester, keep three cars and a couple of maids and vacation in Florida with wife and daughter.

They occupied a cottage in Florida and our hero kept busy demanding out big tips. When two books took over his cottage and demanded $10,000 from our boy, he had to admit that he didn't own much more than the $200.33 in his pocket. The hoodlums he was holding out and began threatening all sorts of violence to the spender and his lovely daughter.

I thought our hero might have squared his account by offering to let his tormentors in on his business practices. Just how does one live like a baron and still be broke? Obviously, the man had to be a buccanner, a ruthless wheeler-and-dealer.

The fact that he came out of his implausibly rigged night of terror and truth with nothing more than a bad case of perspiration was something of a disappointment to me.

DIALING AND FILING: "Aquanuts" was supposed to display a new, classy, swinging look with last night's outing on CBS-TV. The heroes now create a beachfront Low said that Ham at this point was getting "a little bit lazy — or perhaps tired." If it was laziness, it just was another sign of how smart Ham is.

"He knew," Low told the congressmen, "that his job was over."

Can't Help Time Lag in Shifting Prisoners

LANSING (UPI) — A time lag between commitment order of a criminal sexual psychopath and the actual transfer to the Ionia State Hospital is inevitable, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said today.

In a letter responding to a query from Detroit Recorder's Court Judge John P. O'Hara, Adams said state policies regarding the interim care of these individuals is "reasonable."

O'Hara asked Adams last August for an opinion on whether local officers were required to hold such prisoners in jail while awaiting shipment to Ionia.

"The sheriff of the county concerned is charged with the duty of custody," Adams said.

Issue State Car to Lt. Governor? Senate Debates

LANSING (UPI) — To provide a state-owned car or not to provide a car for the lieutenant governor — that was the question facing the Senate today. Opinion was not unanimous.

The matter came up with the filing of a resolution by Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, calling upon the State Administrative Board to assign an automobile to the president of the Senate, which is now the title for Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski.

Asked how he stands on the matter, Gov. Swainson said he was in favor of the idea when he was lieutenant governor and when he was a senator before that. He said he's still all for it.

But Lesinski's opposite number in the House, Speaker Don Pears, R-Buchanan, has a different opinion.

Bill Also Would Aid State Firms

Jobless Pay Hike Asked

LANSING (U)—Increased jobless pay benefits and relief for firms with few or no layoffs was proposed in a bill introduced today in the legislature by Rep. Alfred R. Horrigan, D-Flint. The measure also would boost maximum weekly benefits from $24 to $34, the same as proposed by President Kennedy this week.

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI)—Capt. Henrique Galvao, Portuguese revolutionary leader who took over the luxury liner Santa Maria, said Wednesday his goal still is to overthrow Portuguese Premier Antonio Salazar's government.

Won't Suspend Exec Sentences, Judge Declares

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Federal Judge J. Cullen Gandy refused Wednesday to suspend the 30-day prison sentences he imposed on seven top executives indicted for fixing prices and rigging bids on billions of dollars in heavy electrical equipment.

Attorneys representing the defendants talked with Gandy, chief of the U.S. District Court, in his chambers for one hour and informally asked that he suspend the sentences. The jurist fined 41 individuals and 23 companies nearly $2 million for violations of the antitrust laws during two days of sentencing.

The seven are to report to the U.S. marshal here Monday to begin serving their terms at Montgomery County Prison in Norristown, Pa.

Thomas Jefferson took the presidential oath in 1801 in the old Senate chamber in Washington, because it was the only part of the Capitol that had been completed.

Examined in Death of His Steplather

Examination of Earl C. White, 22, of Novi, on charges of first-degree murder began today before Robert K. Anderson, Novi Justice of the peace, in Novi Village Hall. White, 1910 Austin Drive, is charged in the shotgun slaying of his 29-year-old stepfather, William H. Thompson, of the same address, outside a New Hudson bar early Jan. 21.

About 53 per cent of Brazil's people are under age 20.

Intercept Bombs Sent to Adenauer, Strauss

BONN, Germany (AP)—Security officers have intercepted two parcels containing explosives mailed to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss. An interior ministry spokesman said the identical parcels contained a small black powder charge, another substance that has not yet been analyzed and a fuse rigged to explode when the packages were opened. The fuses alone could have at least injured the eyes of the opener and caused severe burns, the spokesman said.

To Introduce Jobless Pay Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill prescribing higher minimum standards for federal-state unemployment compensation was scheduled for introduction today by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich.

The measure would:

—Guarantee payments equal to not less than half the worker's weekly wage, if that amounted to not more than two-thirds the average weekly pay in the state.

—Establish 39 weeks as the uniform period for making the payments.

—Include within the system employers who have one or more employees, except for domestic and agricultural help.

—Allow the states to provide for uniform rate reductions to employers as well as individual experience-rated reductions.

Dingell said the bill, similar to one cosponsored by 117 House members in the last Congress, provides the standard benefit amount recommended to the states for several years by the Eisenhower administration but which none yet has enacted.

Under his measure, the states would be required to meet the minimum standards to qualify for the federal tax offset.

Find Second Driver Shot to Death in Cab

DETROIT (UPI)—A 32-year-old cab driver was found shot to death today in his cab, the second cab driver slain in Detroit in a 12-day period.

The victim, James E. King, who lived at the Fisher YMCAs, was found by Mr. and Mrs. Alburn Gray in front of a home at 11404 Cascade. The Grays live nearby.

Police said King had been shot in the head and a second bullet had smashed the rear-view mirror and gone through the roof.

Another cab driver, Theodore Bittner, 26, was found dead in his cab Jan. 28. He also was the victim of a shooting.

Parke Davis Earnings Lower Despite Sales

DETROIT (UPI)—Parke Davis & Co. announced net earnings were down in 1960 despite record high worldwide sales of $200,002,706, up 4.4 per cent over 1959.

Despite the increase in sales, earnings for 1960 were reported as $30,470,464 or $2.05 a share, compared with $30,960,700 or $2.09 a share in 1959.

Sales for the last quarter of 1960 were reported as $48,751,770 and earnings as $7,964,288.

To Use Surplus for Additions to Courthouse

$1.3 Million Probably Will Finance Building of Wing, Auditorium

A $1,286,432 budget surplus was earmarked for courthouse additions today by Oakland County Supervisors.

The funds apparently will cover construction costs of an administrative wing and an auditorium.

In a vote of 67-6, supervisors disposed of the unexpected windfall within a few minutes after its existence was reported by fiscal officials.

There was first an unsuccessful bid to tap some of the money for the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic.

The Ways and Means Committee, however, recommended putting the full amount into the courthouse.

Officials said the funds represented non-tax surplus monies left over from 1960.

Last year, it was estimated that $4 million was needed to complete existing plans for courthouse expansion, including four administrative wings and the auditorium for the supervisors to meet in.

The additions would allow the county to transfer more offices to the county service center on Telegraph Road, where the $3.2-million courthouse tower is within about eight months of completion.

A special committee of supervisors has been searching since last year for a means to raise funds for more courthouse construction. On Aug. 2, 1960, Oakland County voters turned down a proposed $4-million bond issue for the job.

It was reported then that the building had cost less than $3,000 in it.

Faced with a similar situation when trying to get the courthouse tower started four years ago, county officials came up with about $1.5 million for construction financed by accumulated budget surpluses.

A long legal battle, in which it was charged that the county had been deliberately padding budgets to build building funds, was finally resolved by the State Supreme Court. The ruling gave the county the money to spend on the courthouse tower.

Orion Man Is Killed as Car Strikes Tree

A 73-year-old Orion Township man was killed yesterday in Bloomfield Hills when his car went out of control and struck a tree.

The victim, Clarence C. Stuart of 571 Joslyn Road, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

A witness told Bloomfield Hills police that Stuart was driving north on Woodward in the lane next to the center island when his car jumped the curb and rammed the tree.

The accident occurred just north of Long Lake Road at 6:30 p.m.

Police at first believed that Stuart might have suffered a fatal heart attack, but hospital authorities said he died from injuries sustained in the accident.

Investors Today Await Chrysler's 1960 Report

From Our News Wires
NEW YORK — Amid rumblings of stockholder discontent, Chrysler Corp. reports today on its earnings in 1960.

All other major automakers already have reported profits.

Before the board met, investors bid up the price of Chrysler common stock $2.87 a share Wednesday, apparently anticipating encouraging word on profits — and possibly favorable dividend action.

They were, undamned by a rash of litigation and other troubles that have embroiled the corporation management generally.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was brisk, with 49,300 shares changing hands. The closing price was $42.50.

All advance signs pointed to a report of fair profits for 1960 in contrast with 1959, a losing year for Chrysler when production was severely hurt by glass and steel strikes.

SUIT FILED
The most recent development in the trouble which has repeatedly rocked Chrysler since last spring is a $5.25 million damage suit filed against Colbert by ousted President William C. Newberg.

The action was started Wednesday in a Pontiac, Mich., court.

Newberg was dismissed June 30, 1960, after only two months as president of the auto firm, on the ground that he had received almost $500,000 in profits from interests in outside supply firms.

The corporation was not named as a defendant in Newberg's suit which accused Colbert of trying to destroy him (Newberg) to save Colbert's own job.

However, two Chrysler directors and a Chrysler attorney were named as conspirators. They were W. Alton Jones, chairman of the executive committee of Cities Service Corp., and Louis B. Warren, a New York lawyer, both directors, and Francis E. Bessel, a member of Warren's law firm.

The action touched off a round of stockholders' actions, suits by and against the auto firm and the ouster of another executive, marketing director Jack W. Miner, also on conflict of interest charges.

Colbert described Newberg's charges as "baseless and fantastic." The men were once considered the closest of friends.

The directors also face continued efforts by Detroit attorney Sol A. Dunn to touch off an anti-out proxy war aimed at ousting the present management on mismanagement charges.

A Royal Oak, Mich., millwright, industrialist, James M. Robbins, is standing on the sidelines considering a proxy war of his own. He is reported to have strong support from New York and Texas financial interests.

The most recent development in the trouble which has repeatedly rocked Chrysler since last spring is a $5.25 million damage suit filed against Colbert by ousted President William C. Newberg.

The action was started Wednesday in a Pontiac, Mich., court.

Newberg was dismissed June 30, 1960, after only two months as president of the auto firm, on the ground that he had received almost $500,000 in profits from interests in outside supply firms.

The corporation was not named as a defendant in Newberg's suit which accused Colbert of trying to destroy him (Newberg) to save Colbert's own job.

However, two Chrysler directors and a Chrysler attorney were named as conspirators. They were W. Alton Jones, chairman of the executive committee of Cities Service Corp., and Louis B. Warren, a New York lawyer, both directors, and Francis E. Bessel, a member of Warren's law firm.

The action touched off a round of stockholders' actions, suits by and against the auto firm and the ouster of another executive, marketing director Jack W. Miner, also on conflict of interest charges.

Colbert described Newberg's charges as "baseless and fantastic." The men were once considered the closest of friends.

The directors also face continued efforts by Detroit attorney Sol A. Dunn to touch off an anti-out proxy war aimed at ousting the present management on mismanagement charges.

Would Anchor New Benefits to Social Security

Jack Urges Congress to Enact Legislation Benefiting 14.2 Million

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Kennedy today urged Congress to approve a controversial health insurance program for 14.2 million Americans 65 or older. It would be financed by an increase in Social Security taxes.

In a special message to Congress dealing with the "harsh consequences" and sometimes crushing cost of ill health, Kennedy also recommended more federal spending to provide separately for.

An increase in community health services and facilities such as nursing homes, nursing aid and development; training of more doctors and dentists through federal scholarships; a broader health care program for children and youth; more vocational rehabilitation training of the disabled; and expansion of medical research.

"The health of our nation," the President said, "is a key to its future—its economic vitality, the morale and efficiency of its citizens, to our success in achieving our own goals and demonstrating to others the benefits of a free society."

Termining it a matter of national concern, Kennedy said: "The dramatic results of new medicines and new methods of opening the way to a fuller and more useful life are too often beyond the reach of those who need them most."

EXPLAINS FLIGHT

Their physical activity is limited by six times as much disability as the rest of the population. Their annual medical bill is twice that of persons under 65—but their annual income is only half as high."

The health insurance program Kennedy proposed for the aged—similar in principle to the one he tried unsuccessfully to put through Congress last year as a member of the Senate—would apply to 13.7 million over 65 who are under the Social Security program, and to about 500,000 under the Railroad Retirement pension program, administration officials said.

They said further the proposed increase in Social Security taxes, including bigger levies under the railroad program, would pay out about $1.1 billion in health insurance. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Lady, Vice President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Rusk, standing behind Mrs. Johnson. Pretty little three-year-old Caroline Kennedy attended the party, too, for a short time, and stole the show.

Caroline, 3, Helps Daddy Entertain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The pretty little girl waved and the guests waved back. Her eyes glowed with excitement as the guests filed into her house. When the band played, she danced.

A charming scene it was last night at the White House and 3-year-old Caroline Kennedy helped turn her father's formal reception for foreign envoys into a diplomatic coup.

President and Mrs. Kennedy were entertaining 97 ambassadors and their wives but Caroline got a lot of the attention. Spruced up in a white organza dress embroidered with pink and green rosebuds, she shared in her parents' triumph.

The diplomatic corps left obviously impressed with the warmth and friendliness of the new first family. They were amused and pleased by the antics of the little lady of the house, Caroline.

The Kennedys' lively daughter pushed at her nurse when she was held too tightly. She danced a few steps when the scarlet-coated Marine Band played "Old MacDonald Had a Farm," especially for her. She paused a bit when cooling 8 a.m. The thermometer she noticed the guests watching.

Cranbrook Physics Wing Scheduled to Open in May

Plans to open the Cranbrook Institute of Science's new $70,000 physics wing to the public sometime in the latter part of May were announced today by Dr. Robert Hatt, director of the institute in Bloomfield Hills.

He was hoping to meet a May 26 target date for the opening, said Dr. Hatt. Once completed, the permanent physics exhibit will be the first of its kind in Michigan. It will trace the growth of physical sciences from their beginning to the present.

Up until now, the Cranbrook Institute has dealt entirely with the natural sciences, presenting these in one of the most complete, high educational displays in the country.

70,000 IN DISPLAYS
The same thoroughness in the field of physical sciences is the ultimate goal of the latest plan. However, it will take at least two years to complete, at an additional cost of another $70,000, according to Dr. Hatt.

The first display, expected to be on hand for the May opening, will deal with the spectrum, from cosmic rays to electronic energy. Further displays, which will be added from time to time, have not yet been determined.

Already completed, the new wing, measuring 35-feet by 20-feet, was made possible through subscribed funds in the form of grants and gifts, a benefit dinner last year, and a benefit performance by St. Dunstan's Guild.

In addition to the physics hall, the wing houses a new, fully equipped lobby, done in contemporary design.

The old lobby, in turn, has been converted into an area of astronomical exhibits which centers around the institute's large model of the solar system.

The change has enabled the institute to present its astronomy display in its entirety for the first time. The display includes some of man's oldest and newest instruments for measuring time and distance.

Kennedy to Hear Report on Nikita

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other advisers several times before the ambassador returns to his post, possibly carrying new instructions for further talks between him and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The cold war conflicts over Laos and the Congo are key issues in the consultations now starting here. They apparently take precedence in administration thinking over the possibility of an early meeting between Kennedy and Khrushchev. However, that possibility and Thompson's first hand report on Khrushchev's interest in such a meeting were certain to be discussed.

Kennedy spent more than two hours Wednesday in a White House meeting with Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other top advisers. The subject was the crisis in Laos. Any decisions on new moves are expected to be talked over with other interested governments before any action is taken.

Seek Attacker of Illinois Girl

17-Year-Old Raped, Beaten in Two-Hour Ride of Terror

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)—Police searched Central Illinois today for the muscular, armed abductor of a 17-year-old high school senior who was raped and beaten during a two-hour ride of terror near her home.

Authorities at St. Francis Hospital here said the girl, Doris Ann Smith, had "definitely" been attacked sexually by the stranger who forced her from her home into his car at gunpoint shortly before midnight.

State and local police concentrated their search along U.S. 150 to the Iowa State Line after the gunman forced the girl on a rural road near a farmhouse at Oak Hill, Ill., about 35 miles northwest of Peoria.

Officers notified the FBI at Peoria and said the man was armed with a double-barreled shotgun.

Peoria County sheriff's officers said the gunman, described as about 6 feet tall and weighing 175 pounds, ordered the girl into a dark gray 1959 sedan after an unsuccessful robbery at her home by Edwards, Ill., home.

Reuther Wants Bigger Program Than Kennedy's

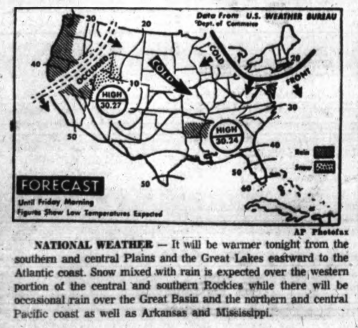

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Automobile Workers Union (UAW), blew hot and cold today on the sweeping anticorporate program President Kennedy has urged on Congress.

Reuther said Kennedy's proposals were basically sound, but that they fell short in some respects of what the labor movement believes is necessary to right the sagging U.S. economy.

Reuther, speaking as chairman of the AFL-CIO Economic Policy Committee, appeared before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress. He was one of several witnesses representing different sectors of the economy scheduled to testify in this opening round of a week of hearings on Kennedy's $100 billion program.

Chicken Feathers Fly to comply and said she would refer the matter to her attorney if she were pressed further, the slightly astounded city manager reported last night.

"What should we do now?" he asked the council.

Councilmen decided to study the ordinance.

"It states that nuisances are things that endanger the health, welfare or safety of the public," said Councilman Howard E. Wideman.

"To not sure the chickens constitute a hazard in any of those areas," he said.

"I was of the impression that she had agreed to remove the chickens," said Mayor William B. Taylor.

"She's just changed her mind. It's as simple as that," explained Reese.

"At least she doesn't have any roosters," offered Woodburn.

All agreed that Mrs. Baker is "a very nice lady."

"I don't want to persecute her, but we must do something about those hens," said Reese.

Neighbors siding with Mrs. Baker said her poultry is confined by a fence and properly housed in chicken coops.

"They've never bothered us. We've been here 20 years and they were here when we came," said Mrs. H. D. Wolcott of 1860 Lakeland St.

"I think she's a very sweet person and her chickens never disturbed me," said Mrs. Gerald G. Wask of 1845 Lakeland.

With councilmen sitting, scratching their heads in wide-eyed amazement, Mayor Taylor admitted the problem was a pretty one that might take some time to solve.

So, the council voted to table the chicken issue for further study.

Furnishings for Airport Due Soon

Final deliveries of kitchen and dining room furnishings for the Pontiac Municipal Airport terminal are expected by the end of next week.

The airport next must sign with some private business to operate the terminal restaurant on a concession basis.

He said a number of area restaurants have expressed interest in the job, but no selection has been made as yet.

Kitchen equipment cost $10,500. The dining room furnishings, including tables, chairs and a counter, came to $2,233. Hoskins estimated electrical and plumbing installations would be another $1,200.

Drapes in the lobby and dining room remain the last big expenditure still unauthorized by the city commission. The terminal lobby was furnished in December.

Fireman's Mustache Is Safe by a Hair

after talking to City Manager Walter K. Willman, the fire chief stated that any exceptions to the rule would have to come from City Hall.

Before Willman, Sartell, asked an act of emergency in the case of Thorpe's beard.

A PART OF HIM
"It's as much a part of him as any nose is of a man," said Sartell.

"It's a matter of individualism, individuality—and the rights of man."

Willman hastily explained it was all a misunderstanding. He had no intention of depriving such a man as Thorpe his right to a mustache.

"After all," he said, "I have nothing against mustaches. Some outstanding men wear them."

"As a matter of fact Mayor (Philip E.) Rowston wears a mustache," he pointed out.

Sartell reported the results of his City Hall talks to the fire chief.

Late in the afternoon, the old order came down and a new one went up in fire stations.

Beards and long sideburns still were taboo.

Not so for mustaches. They were no longer subversive for the city's 130 firemen.

Firemen, knowing of Thorpe's deal, smiled.

Happiest of all was Thorpe himself.

"It sure makes the future look great," he said happily.

"The centennial wouldn't have been the same without my mustache."

Business District Body Redefines Goals Tonight

BIRMINGHAM—The goals of the Birmingham Central Business District Committee will be redefined at a meeting of the group tonight at City Hall.

The 15-member organization was formed in November 1959 to assist the City Planning Board in making studies for the renovation of the downtown area.

According to City Planner Herbert Herzberg, information received by the committee at the 7 p.m. meeting will help guide his group in preparing a more comprehensive redevelopment plan.

A tentative long-range design for the central business district will be submitted to the committee for its consideration and study, the city planner said.

The committee's planning ideas have been based primarily on the present physical limitations of the downtown area, which can only expand so far, Herzberg said.

The meeting is open to the public. Voters here won't get the opportunity to decide a proposed charter amendment on the April 3 ballot.

City Commissioners have learned that the proposal to do away with publishing ordinances in a newspaper can be accomplished without changing the city charter.

Officials had been considering a charter change that would have permitted the ordinance to be published in a newspaper or posted in a public place.

Currently all city ordinances are published in a newspaper in their entirety.

However, James L. Howlett, city attorney, has informed the commission that a state law gives the power to the city to codify ordinances without the necessity of publishing the code in its entirety.

All that is required is publishing of the ordinance adopting the code, as well as any subsequent measures that would repeal or amend the law.

A $37,500 alley improvement project on the south side of Woodward Avenue has been approved by the City Commission.

European Auto Men Feeling U.S. Compact Crush

LONDON (UPI)—"Things definitely are not what they used to be, old boy."

That comment, from a British executive, accurately spells out how European auto makers—particularly the British and the French—view the American market now that Detroit has invaded the small car field once dominated by foreign manufacturers.

Some European car executives privately admit that the U.S. compact have, surprisingly, developed into much stronger competition than was originally believed likely here.

Even so, those who have suffered a heavy sales drop in the latter half of 1960 still don't pin the blame wholly on compacts.

They point also to the downturn in the U.S. economy and the one-million American auto stockpile from last year.

Today the British auto industry, spearhead of the nation's dollar earners, is working at only about 40 per cent of capacity and the bulk of its labor force is working part time.

Sports cars are still expected to maintain a strong demand in America. The Rootes group is pinning its sales hopes on the new Sunbeam Alpine and Jaguar is even anticipating an increased output.

Board of trade statistics show total exports of British autos to the United States in 1959 dipped from 208,108 in 1959 to 131,905 last year.

While official figures are still awaited from Paris, French auto industry sources said they, too, fell far short of their U.S. sales expectations in 1960.

France's target for car exports to America last year was 225,000 units. But only 90,000 autos were reported sold in the United States.

For example, the state-owned Renault concern shipped 110,136 units to America in 1959 and had hoped to increase its total to 150,000 in 1960. But instead it was able to market only 60,000, according to figures available here.

CAN'T HURT VOLKSWAGEN

In Germany the picture was different. Volkswagen, as usual, exuded confidence. A spokesman said the advent of American compacts had not affected their U.S. sales.

In 1960, he said, exports to America were 180,000 units as against 150,000 the previous year. "In 1961 we hope to reach the 200,000 mark," he added.

From Rome statistics showed Italian exports to America slumped from 48,194 in 1959 to only 16,253 last year. But industry spokesmen could not define how much of the loss was due directly to the U.S. compacts.

The Swedish Volvo company's U.S. sales were clipped in half—from 15,000 in 1959 to 7,000 last year—but sales were reported increasing again as the year-end reports were tallied.

Lansing Will Check Purchases From GE

LANSING (UPI)—Lansing city officials said today they believe the city may be entitled to triple damages if overcharging can be proven against General Electric Co. in city purchases.

General Electric was one of the firms indicted on charges of price fixing in violation of antitrust laws.

Otto Eckert, chairman of the board of water and light, said the cost of various items purchased from the firm will be carefully checked. A major item recently purchased from General Electric, he said, was a $1.7-million turbine generator.

Edinburgh, Scotland (AP)—The Soviet Union's giant new Sputnik passed over Edinburgh early, today just as the Soviets said it would.

Scientists at the Edinburgh Royal Observatory spotted the seven-ton satellite after the Soviet government had sent them a telegram telling them when to watch for it. It was Moscow's first information in the Sputnik's course since the announcement Saturday that it was circling the earth.

A spokesman said the Sputnik was seen with the naked eye and had the appearance of a second of a heart attack.

Reds Say Eisenhower Offered Cash to Mobutu

MOSCOW (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent secret letters offering money and arms to Congo strongman Joseph Mobutu, the Soviet newspaper Izvestia charged Wednesday.

Izvestia, the government paper, said this "secret correspondence" was conveyed by U.S. Ambassador (Clare) Timberlake.

Eisenhower "promised to help with money and arms," it said.

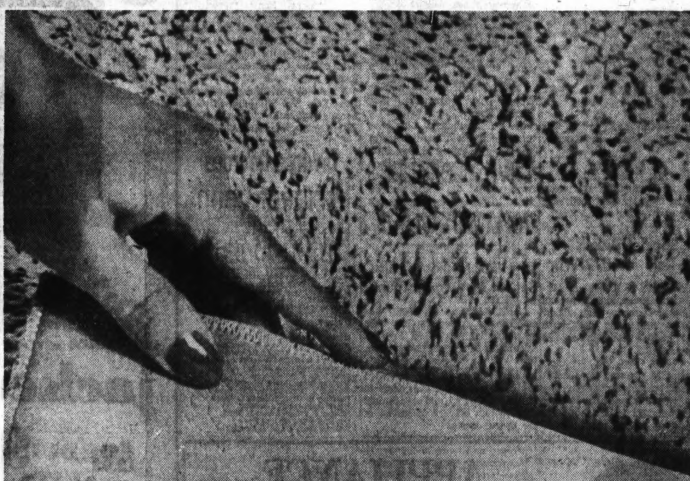

"So far," Izvestia said, "it is not known to what extent these promises were fulfilled. Similarly, nothing is known so far about the viewpoint of the new U.S. administration on this matter."

Phone and Doorbell Make Gleeful Peeble Feeble

By HAL BOYLE

YOURVILLE, U.S.A. (AP) — How do modern housewives find enough to do to keep them busy all day? Why do they complain so often about feeling tired, when they are free to lie down and take a nap whenever they please?

One morning recently he woke up with a cold. His wife, Trellis Mae, told him: "I'm not going to let you go to the office. You just stay home in bed and rest."

"I have a lot of shopping to do in town, so you'll have the place to yourself all day. It'll be nice and quiet."

HE'S GRATEFUL

After fixing his breakfast, Trellis Mae said: "Telling his morning paper, Wilbur sank back into bed, padded to the door."

"Ah-h-h," he sighed gratefully. Then the doorbell sounded. Wilbur grunted, got up, wrapped his dressing robe around him and padded to the door.

"You got any knives you want sharpened?" said a man.

"No," said Wilbur. Back he padded to bed.

Five minutes later the doorbell sounded again. It was the laundry man. Back went Wilbur to bed. The doorbell sounded. It was the man from the dry cleaners. Wilbur crawled back to bed. Before he could pull the covers over him, the phone rang.

NO! SAID WILBUR

"The cookies you ordered from the Girl Scouts have arrived," said a small voice. "Shall we bring them over today?"

"No," said Wilbur. "Give them to the brownies, give them to the elves. I don't care what you do with them."

Back he stomped to bed. The phone rang. It was a lady with a message for Trellis Mae. It was a long message. It took Wilbur half an hour to write it down.

The long trip from the bedroom to the front door was wearing him out. He took his covers and moved to the living room sofa.

The doorbell sounded. It was a woman in the apartment building collecting for a charity. The phone rang. It was a little boy asking "Can I talk to Mabel?"

"Wrong number," growled Wilbur. The little boy with the wrong number called back four more times in search of Mabel.

AR YES, CHARITY

The doorbell sounded. It was another lady collecting for another charity. Before Wilbur could reply to her the phone rang.

"Have you had your insurance policies checked lately?" demanded a deep male voice.

So the day went. If it wasn't the doorbell sounding, it was the phone ringing—or both ringing at once.

When Trellis Mae entered at nightfall, she found Wilbur, hollown-eyed, sitting in a chair midway between the door and the telephone, his glance shifting from one to the other like a trapped animal.

NONE OF THAT, DOC!

He looked so wild she called the doctor, who, after checking Wilbur, told him:

"You're suffering from acute physical exhaustion from overwork. Better stay home a few days and take it easy."

"Stay home!" screamed Wilbur. "I could take it easier in a railroad terminal. The first thing in the morning I'm going back to my office, where I know I can get some rest."

Now, whenever a husband wonders aloud how wives get so tired in a house full of labor-saving gadgets, Wilbur knows.

The housework is easy. It's running from the doorbell to the telephone that really wears them down.

Wives don't need a maid. They need a social secretary and a receptionist.

Richard Durnbaugh Heads Railroad Club

The South Oakland Model Railroad Club has elected Richard Durnbaugh of 3530 Richmond Road, Waterford Township, as its 1961 president.

He was installed during a recent meeting in the Grand Trunk Railroad Station in Birmingham.

Other new officers are Edward Zimier of Detroit, vice president; John Lindsey of Detroit, treasurer; and Charles Bopp of 1037 Oakridge St., Royal Oak, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Past President Dexter Wright of Pleasant Ridge, Dr. William Konde of Royal Oak, and Robert Clark of Birmingham.

The club, affiliated with the National Model Railroad Association, meets at 8 p.m. Fridays at the Birmingham railroad station.

Snow Removal Trucker Also Goes Into River

NEW YORK (AP) — A snow removal truck driver got carried away by his work today — Right into the Hudson River.

He was quickly fished out and apparently suffered no ill effect, though he did seem a bit cool toward his type of employment thereafter.

The driver, William Hoffman, 35, a resident of Philadelphia and an employee of the W. F. Fim Trucking Co. of Pennsylvannia, N.J., was dumping a truck full of snow from city streets into the river.

Some of the snow failed to disintegrate and Hoffman loosened it with a pole. A big chunk of ice came tumbling down, hit Hoffman and knocked him into the water.

BUILT-IN BUMPS — Here General Motors Corp. construction workers go to work on a new road at the GM Proving Grounds near Milford — messing it up. The men built in every type of bump which could conceivably appear somewhere on the nation's highways. Once completed the road served as a good test for GM cars, assuring a smooth ride under any conditions.

A SAFER HIGHWAY — Tomorrow's highways may look like this, where every roadside hazard has been eliminated for a distance of 100 feet on either side. The improved road has been built at the General Motors Corp.'s Proving Grounds to show what can be done to make highway driving safer.

Riding in '61 Pontiac Is Cool, Man, Cool!

By DICK HANSON

"Watch out for that bump!" "What bump?" You brace yourself for the impending jolt. Nothing happens.

If you are interested enough to find out why, you take a trip out to the General Motors Corp.'s Proving Grounds near Milford.

How come you didn't feel that bump in the road while riding in a new 1961 Pontiac!

The reason is, the Pontiac, or Tempest, or any other new GM car, has seen that bump before.

They have one just like it at the proving grounds, duplicated on what GM engineers call the "Ride and Handling Loop."

In fact, just about every road hazard to be encountered anywhere in this country is duplicated on the R & H Loop.

Thus, the engineers not only have been able to take the floor bump out of the Tempest but the bump out of your ride in any 1961 GM automobile.

When still in the experimental stage, '61 models rolled up thousands of miles on the Loop until engineers were able to assure a smooth ride over the worst possible paved roads in the nation.

THAT'S THE ANSWER

So, there's your answer for Pontiac's smooth ride. Incidentally, it cost GM $9,500 a mile more to build the bumpy road than one equal to the best highway being constructed today.

The R & H Loop includes sections of virtually every type of standard road surface — concrete, asphalt, sealcoat — in nearly every condition of wear.

Net result is four miles of built-in potholes, chatter bumps or waves that resemble a wash-board surface, "kicks" where two different types of surfaces meet with one higher than the other, concrete with tar strips, a series of intersecting railroad tracks, and cracks in concrete such as are caused by weather variations. GM cars aren't the only ones driven over the course. The firm submits competitors' models to the same grueling test, just to make sure they don't ride better, if that could be possible.

One safety factor incorporated into the R & H Loop, along with the bumps, was the elimination of all roadside hazards.

Trees, ditches, embankments, culverts and all other stationary objects have been eliminated for a distance of 100 feet on either side of the road.

Aside from the humane view of attempting to eliminate killers along the highway, it must be remembered: Today's driver is tomorrow's buyer.

Another safety factor GM engineers expect to add to the R & H Loop in the near future is "Electro Lane."

This device, somewhat comparable to the "beam" by which aircraft pilots keep on course, is intended visibly or audibly to warn the motorist when he's too close to the pavement edge or centerline.

Engineers are undecided yet whether to use a warning light on the dashboard, or a buzzer, or a combination of both, to alert the wavering driver. Electro Lane would require placing a wire radiating low frequency power in the pavement and attaching ferrite core coils on either side of the car front.

When the coil comes too close to the imbedded wire, either at the centerline or the road's edge, electrical impulses would be picked up and relayed to the warning system.

Once perfected, Electro Lane could be the prelude to the electronics-controlled car of the future when the otherwise "driver" will be able to join in a game of cards with his "passengers" and be whisked safely to his destination.

In the meantime, no one could have a smoother ride than in today's Pontiac and Tempest. Nary a bump all the way.

Fellows: You Want 3 Weeks in Alaska?

It's "on to Alaska" for boys with Kuhn, who teaches at Hazel Park High School.

The three-week trip is available to boys who are willing to work between now and the date of departure to pay part of their expenses. Accommodations are limited to the first 16 youngsters to qualify.

Boys under 12 years of age must earn $425; and for those 12 and over, $520. This will pay a third of the total cost for the trip. Parents will supply the balance.

Chrysler Xway to Have Impact on MSUO Future

Completion of the $75-million Walter P. Chrysler Freeway in Oakland County will make a great impact on the future of Michigan State University.

MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner, after conversations with State Highway Department officials, said that the freeway will put the university within 30 minutes driving time for an estimated 4,000,000 people.

One of the interchanges will be at Mt. Clemens Street and Opdyke Road, in Pontiac Township minutes from the campus.

"By 1967, MSUO will be within easy reach for residents of Wayne and Genesee counties—as well as Oakland, Macomb, and Lapeer counties," Varner said.

Auto Eats Gas just as Quickly as It's Poured

LANSING (AP) — "Fill 'er up," the motorist told the Lansing gas station attendant. And he did—until he tried to.

While wiping the windshield the attendant noticed the gasoline pouring on the pavement as fast as it was going into the little hole in the tank.

"Oh, I forgot to tell you," the motorist said. "The gas tank is in the back seat. And it was."

He explained the move, saying that vandals had been draining the tank at night.

CHAPLAIN W. A. SWETS

Pontiac Gideons Plan Banquet on Saturday

The group will leave by train from Detroit, visiting Chicago, Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies and Vancouver, B.C., en route. At Vancouver, they will board a steamer for Skagway, Alaska. From there they will journey by train over the White Pass and Yukon Trail to Carcross, with stopovers at Ketchikan, Juneau and Wrangell.

The return trip will take the boys to Victoria, B.C.; Seattle, Wash.; Rainier National Park; and Portland, Ore.

"The reason I arrange this annual trip," explained Kuhn, "is because I want to make it possible for other boys to enjoy the same experiences I had with Mr. Buchanan at the age of 11."

Buchanan, a Detroit lumber and coal dealer, started his trip in 1923 in behalf of the boys of the nation. Before his death in 1939, he had taken more than 500 boys on the trip.

Kuhn has taken 28 boys on the same journey since he revived it five years ago.

The steamer trip to Alaska is something the boys will never forget," said Kuhn. "They will see ice fall from the glaciers when the steamer's whistle blows, hear the moving sunsets, and find rivaling those of Norway."

Family Service Plans Annual

Dr. Alpenfels to Speak Feb. 23 at Groves High; Meeting Public

Family Service of Oakland County will have Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, prominent cultural anthropologist and lecturer, as featured speaker for its annual meeting Feb. 23.

The meeting will be held in the little theater at Wyllie Groves High School, 2050 W. 13-Mile Road, Birmingham at 8 p.m.

Dr. Alpenfels will speak on "The American Family in a Changing Society." The meeting is open to the public.

Currently teaching at New York University, Dr. Alpenfels has written two books, edited for the Encyclopedia Britannica, and writes frequently for professional journals. In 1953 she was named "Woman of the Year" by the National Association of Negro Women; and in 1956, "Teacher of the Year" by the American Women's Association.

Dr. Alpenfels won the Medal of Eminence for teaching from the Panhellenic Society of the United States in 1954, and was voted the "Outstanding Woman in Anthropology" in 1958 by the Federation of Jewish Women's Organizations.

Full details on the annual meeting may be obtained by contacting the Pontiac, Birmingham or Royal Oak offices.

Committee Favorable to Speed Limit Hike

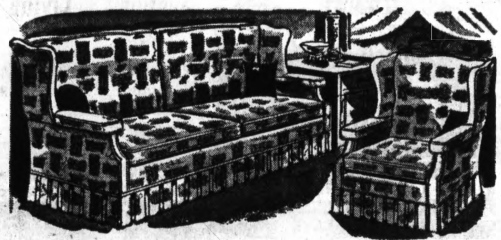

LANSING (UP) — A bill to hike the speed limit on controlled-access highways in the state was up for preliminary consideration in the House today after getting a favorable report from committee.

The bill introduced by Rep. Lloyd Gibbs, R-Portland, was amended in committee to provide for a 75-mile-per-hour daytime limit and a 65-mile-per-hour nighttime limit on the controlled-access roads.

Michigan Soldiers on Prison Duty During Trial of John Wilkes Booth

(Editor's Note: This is the 14th in a 15-part series on Michigan's role in the Civil War.)

By PAUL FENTECOST
Wayne State University

Written for AP

The celebration of the collapse of the Confederacy with the surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee was cut suddenly short with the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln on April 14, 1865.

The loss of the President, plus the attempted assassination of the other members of his Cabinet, sent Washington into a turmoil.

But out of the relentless search for John Wilkes Booth and his companion, David Herold, came the final capture of the pair by two Lansing men, Lt. Luther Byron Baker and Gen. Fayette C. Baker.

In fact Michigan figured prominently in not only the capture of Booth, but also in the trial of the conspirators. Maj. Richard A. Watts of Adrian was detached from the 17th Michigan to serve at the prison during the imprisonment, trial and execution of the conspirators. Serving with him was Capt. Christian Rath of Jackson.

LT. Baker who was a cousin of Gen. Baker had served with the 1st District of Columbia cavalry. Gen. Baker was the head of what was then known as the "detective bureau of the war department."

At the time of the assassination the Bakers were both in New York looking for bounty jumpers. They were immediately ordered back to Washington and arrived three days after the tragedy. A concentrated search had failed to yield anything but the information that Booth was accompanied by Herold.

Gen. Baker felt strongly that Booth had escaped South seeking safety among his friends. The first lead was the information from a Negro in lower Maryland who had reported that two men answering the description of Booth and Herold had crossed the Potomac in a fishing boat.

Gen. Baker placed 25 cavalrymen of the 16th New York under Lt. Baker's command and they boarded the tug John S. Ide and steamed down to Belle Plain Landing, near the mouth of Aquia Creek.

A day of posing as rebels led to nothing and they abandoned these disguises and struck out across country toward Port Conway on the Rappahannock, southwest of Belle Plain.

LT. Baker located a fisherman who had seen a lone man answering the description of Booth cross the Rappahannock with another man resembling Herold.

HE WAS EXCITED
"I cannot describe the thrill of intense satisfaction that came over me," Baker later wrote. "I was positive that I had struck the trail; that I was the fortunate one among all the eager thousands engaged in the search."

Further questioning revealed that the two men had been met by a Capt. Jett and a Lt. Balbridge who had been Confederate cavalrymen with Mosby's Raiders.

It was known that Capt. Jett had a girl friend at Bowling Green and with the fisherman under arrest for his own protection and for the purpose of guiding the troop, the unit crossed the river.

When they reached the small hotel in Bowling Green, Lt. Baker and a fellow officer, Lt. E. J. Conger who had served with him in the 1st District of Columbia Cavalry, found only Capt. Jett at the hotel.

Waking Jett, the two officers told him that they knew he had guided Booth across the river and that he could tell them of Booth's hiding place—or die.

Jett knew that they were deadly serious and he agreed to guide the soldiers to Booth if they would shield him from complicity in the affair.

Jett told them that Booth was at the Garrett farm near the river. It was 3:30 a.m. when the troop arrived at the Garrett place.

Baker led his men up to the house and aroused the family. He ordered a light brought and began to interrogate Garrett. He denied and the son in the corn crib produced the key with which he had locked the two men in the barn. One of the Garrett sons was ordered into the barn to talk to the fugitives and to ask that they give themselves up.

"I'll shoot!"
"We could hear voices in a low conversation in the barn," Baker's own story of the capture continued, "and a rustling among the corn leaves. . . I now unlocked the door and told young Garrett to go in and get the men to surrender if he could, but, at all events, bring out their arms. . . I closed the door after him. There was a low conversation and we heard Booth say, 'Damn you! You've betrayed me. Get out of here or I will shoot you!'"

"I now called to the men in the barn and said, 'We sent this young man in whose custody you find you. Give him your arms and surrender or we'll burn the barn and have a bonfire and shooting match.'"

Young Garrett soon came back to the door and hurried out reporting no success. Baker called for the two men to surrender and Booth replied that one of them wanted to surrender. Herold hammered on the door and was let out unarmed since Booth had taken his guns. "You'd better come out now too," Baker told Booth. "Tell me who you are and what you want of me. It may be I am being taken by my friends," the assassin replied.

Baker replied that it made no difference who he was but that they knew he was Booth and that they wanted him. "You can't escape, and we don't wish to kill you," Baker added. Booth asked for time to consider and Baker gave him two minutes.

When the two minutes were up Booth asked that Baker withdraw his men from the door and that he would then come out. "Give me this chance for my life, Captain, for I will not be taken alive," he added. Baker replied that they were ready to set fire to the barn and ordered Conger to start the fire.

The interior of the barn was soon ablaze and through the partially opened door, Baker could see Booth leading against the now crutches under his arms, and carbine in hand. He dropped one crutch and lurched toward the door, then dropped the other crutch, leveled his revolver and leaped.

There was a shot, and Booth fell through the party opened door. Baker fell on him to keep him from committing suicide and Conger ran to help. But it was obvious that he was dying.

They carried him away from the barn and tried to make him drink, but he couldn't swallow. Baker's report of Booth's last words were: "Tell mother . . . I died for my country. I did what I thought . . . was best. Useless, useless," and he died.

The bullet which had been fired against orders had shattered the spinal column.

The body was sewed up in a blanket and returned along with Herold to Washington. Secretary of War Stanton ordered the body buried in a grave dug under the

DANNY A BABY SITTER?—Comedian Danny Kaye holds the two Irish orphans for whom he acted as baby sitter during a flight from London to New York. Shown with the comedian on arrival at Idlewild Airport Monday night are Kieran Egan, 2, and Pauline Flynn, 22 months. The children have been adopted by an American family but airline regulations require children traveling alone technically to be in the custody of an adult; so Kaye and his wife, who were returning from a business trip to England, accepted the responsibility.

When the two minutes were up Booth asked that Baker withdraw his men from the door and that he would then come out. "Give me this chance for my life, Captain, for I will not be taken alive," he EVER PLAY THE O' SHELL GAME?

Q. Will you please tell me how you can determine the sex of a turtle? Chuck Sankay, Niles, Ohio.

A. Vase-writer Ogden Nash pointed out that "The turtle lives twist placed decks which practically conceal its sex." And in the young turtle it is almost impossible to tell whether you have a male or female.

But there are distinguishing marks in the older turtle. On the lower shell, or plastron, of the male you will see an indentation similar to that which a thumb would leave if pressed in a soft surface. The female's plastron is perfectly smooth. The male's tail is usually longer than the female's.

The front claws are twice as long as those on his hind legs. The female's is usually larger than the male.

As Americans Move to Other Jobs, Homes

By HENRY J. RECHTOLD
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK—Americans are as venturesome today as they were in the early days of our country. To change homes, jobs, occupations and ways of living in a common occurrence, and is one of the key elements in the rapid and continuous transformation of the United States.

The residential mobility of Americans is something to behold. The Chase Manhattan Bank noted that in one year some 23 million Americans move from one home to another, or one person in every five.

Most of these people move relatively short distance, but 11 million go to a different county and half of these cross state lines, the bank reported in its latest publication of "Business in Brief." These proportions seem to have held relatively constant over the years, but in prosperous times local moving appears to be somewhat more frequent, according to the report.

AN INTERCHANGE

A substantial part of this mobility consists of an interchange of people; a stream of people into an area usually is counter-balanced in large part by a movement in the opposite direction.

The bank cited the 1959 figures which showed all of the states had received at least 10 per cent of their population from other states.

The sum of this residential mobility is so great, according to the bank, that it involves the majority of the population within a few years, and nearly everyone in a lifetime.

No more than 3 per cent spend their whole life in one dwelling, and not over 15 per cent always live in one county.

Labor mobility was reported being even greater than residential mobility. Some 8.5 million people a year leave one employer to work for another, and they make a total of 11.5 million shifts. Surprisingly, the bank stated, nearly half of these involve a change to a different industry, and a different occupation. Another 20 per cent is to a different industry and a different occupation, and 10 per cent to a different type of job in the same industry.

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE — St. Louis suffered from too much water Wednesday when a huge water main broke in a northern section of the city. In picture on the left, city employees are up to their waists in cold water trying to break the ice from frozen manholes in an effort to let the water drain out. The group in boat at upper left is having trouble making headway through the ice that formed in the 20-degree temperature. In picture, on right, a wrecker is about to pull a car from water at a place where the highway caved in after the large supply pipe burst.

In Downtown Naples, Italy

Commuters Riot After Bus Strike

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Steel-helmeted police patrolled downtown Naples today after a night of rioting by 4,000 commuters left stranded by a snap transport strike called at the height of the home ward rush.

Streets and buses to and from the suburbs reappeared on the debris-littered streets this morning. The transit company reinstated 17 employees whose suspension had caused the strike, and the other workers went back to their jobs.

There were no new disorders. Repair crews started hauling away burned-out wrecks of streetcars and buses fired by angry commuters in a burning, window-smashing rampage Wednesday night through the heart of this teeming industrial center of a million people—Italy's third largest city.

The transit workers had called a two-hour work stoppage Wednesday afternoon as a demonstration for higher wages but it was supposed to end at 5:30 p.m. When the company suspended 17 workers for insubordination, the others walked off the job at the height of the rush hour, leaving thousands from the suburbs with no transport home.

Caught off guard, the company tried to set up an emergency service with hired buses. The tired, restless commuters fought among themselves to get on the relatively few buses available and then turned on the police when they intervened in charging riot jeeps.

From a disorganized mob, the crowd suddenly developed a hard core of about 4,000 fighters. Buses were filled with gasoline drained from buses and converted into Molotov cocktails that were flung wildly, setting fires. The rioters fought back firemen who tried to reach the burning tramway station.

When club-swinging police drove the rioters from the square in front of the station, adjacent to the railway terminal, the mob night-surged along Corso Garibaldi, one of the city's main downtown streets.

A three-pronged assault by police in jeeps and trucks, troops in armored cars and infantry moving in from another angle finally brought order about mid-night.

The committee, which would go into business immediately.

The proposal would carry out the recommendations of GOP legislative leaders and the post-form adopted at the Republican state convention last weekend.

The committee would "study Michigan's economic situation, develop a specific plan for maximum utilization of human and natural resources and recommend specific action for economic improvement." Its budget for the year could not top $2,500.

Ask Group to Probe State's Financial Ills

Smoke, Shock Claim 3 Lives

Woman Dies Upon Learning Daughter and Grandson Are Dead

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Choking smoke, and shock, turned into a tragic killer of three persons last night.

A mother and a child suffocated in a fire at a large, two-story frame home in suburban Paris Township. The impact of learning of the deaths claimed the life of the dead woman's mother.

Five other children in the home when the blaze broke out before 9 p.m. managed to escape safely.

Mrs. Lois Penham, 34, was found lying on a bed in a second-floor bedroom when firemen arrived. Her son, Kevin, 6, was found in his bed in another room on the second floor.

Mrs. Blodden Mullis, 67, suffered a fatal heart attack when she arrived at the home and was told her daughter and grandson were victims of the blaze. She was dead on arrival at a hospital.

May Be Food for Spacemen

Hardy Brine Shrimp Could Remedy Problem for Astronauts

MIAMI (UPI) — Ed Nichols, a specialist in the feeding of captive fish, is hard at work on a project that could solve the problem of feeding man in space. It might even offer part of the answer to one of the greatest questions facing humanity — how to take care of the food needs of the world's ever-expanding population.

Nichols' project involves brine shrimp, a close relative of the green shrimp. These tiny organisms thrive in such places as the Great Salt Lake in Utah and the salt-seeping beds of California and the West Indies.

At present Nichols is "growing" billions of brine shrimp to feed the fish at Miami's Seaquarium. He has found that brine shrimp eggs can be dried and stored for 10 years. They will hatch after being placed in water for about 24 hours.

Nichols' experience has shown that 98 per cent of vacuum packed shrimp will mature in about three weeks.

RARELY MATURE. But he also has found that these shrimp rarely grow to maturity in captivity.

Once he can get across this barrier Nichols believes he can make a great breakthrough in the field of nutrition.

Brine shrimp lay their eggs in salty water. The eggs float, or are blown by the wind, to shores where they pile in heavy winds.

Nichols collects brine shrimp eggs in shovels, dries them out and then places them in water again to permit them to hatch.

He thinks that vacuum packed brine shrimp would be ideal as a food supplement for men in far away places such as scientific military installations in the Antarctic and on atomic submarines which stay submerged for many months.

While brine shrimp are not as tasty as the true species that show up in your shrimp cocktail, they have a distinct flavor, Nichols said.

Recently he made some soup with brine shrimp.

"Not bad, but not too tasty, although undoubtedly nutritious," Nichols said. "They probably taste better with a little seasoning."

He advises against using salt.

Milford Man Critical Following Collision

A Milford man is in critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as a result of a head-on collision in Waterford Township at 9 p.m. yesterday.

Kenneth Winship, 21, of 1008 Lakeside Drive was injured while riding in a sports car driven by Albert Saliba, 21, of 10279 Lakeside Drive, Milford.

Saliba told township police he was driving east on Highland Road and was attempting to make a left turn onto Airport Road.

His sports car was hit by a west-bound car driven by Lloyd J. Newton, 41, of 1208 Highland Road, Highland. Newton told police that Saliba cut in front of his car and there was no time to avoid the accident.

Saliba was treated for minor injuries and released from the hospital, and Newton was uninjured.

Feast for Birds Can Make Easy Day for Mother

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's a snow-day fun for youngsters, combined with a good deed. Set them to work at preparing a feast for the birds.

In her book, "Fun With Kids," Shari Lewis gives several suggestions: Chains of popcorn, cranberries, apple peel or peanuts.

As a special treat, your small fry might enjoy making a peanut butter cup.

For this, they will need a paper cup — with sides cut down to make it shallow, a loop of thread to hold the tiny bucket and a mixture of peanut butter and bread crumbs.

As soon as the snow stops, this quick-lunch stand can be hung on a bush or low branch.

Scrap Scarecrows to Save Their Crops

BARNWELL, S. C. (AP) — The scarecrow holds no terror for a breed of crows that have been harassing farmers in this area. They have been ravaging crops daily.

Farmers have had to turn to a battery of acetylene guns, rigged to shoot automatically at intervals. The din disrupts the quiet country-side and frightens the birds away.

White House Work Is Steady

Domestic Staff's Status Is Shifted After by Seldom of Tenants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Butlers, maids, cooks, dormen and bottle-washers at the White House generally keep their jobs even though first families come and go.

Some of those on the domestic staff of 25 have been in their present posts since the days when Franklin D. Roosevelt presided in the executive mansion.

Chief Usher J. B. West, the manager of the domestics, maintenance men and gardeners at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., says that traditionally there is not much turnover during a shift in administrations.

But this matter is left entirely to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the White House first lady. The White House help is exempted from military service job-protection regulations.

However, no occupants of the many-pillared mansion want to be without experienced servants to help welcome visiting royalty and heads of state in style.

"It takes years just to learn how to open the front door," said one veteran who has had a close look at White House doings under the Eisenhower administration.

West, who became chief usher in 1956, has served 20 years in the usher's office.

He said there are five butlers, five maids, three cooks, two kitchen helpers, five housemen and five dormen on the White House domestic staff.

Each one works a 40-hour week and that is why it's necessary to have three cooks, West explained.

The president and his wife traditionally bring in their own personal servants — maid and valet. A list of trained waiters, butlers, pantries and kitchen assistants is kept handy for state dinners or other occasions when extra help is necessary.

For a dinner of 100, for example, an additional 10 to 12 servants would be hired.

Starting Time Story: Why Shoot the Missile?

BALTIMORE (AP) — A crew member of the U. S. Canberra, Seaman Gil Jory of Baltimore, wrote home with some startling news after the cruiser's recent goodwill tour.

"A new time barrier was broken," he said, "when Canberra, firing one of her famous Terrier missiles from west to east across the International Date Line, accomplished the hitherto impossible feat of firing a missile on one day and intercepting the missile target the day before."

Biggest Phone Bills

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's biggest telephone bills are believed to be paid by the three television networks for leased program channels. They are estimated to total $43.9 million dollars a year.

You Can Identify Missileman by His Hardhat

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — They say you can't tell the players without a program. But you can tell a missileman by his hardhat.

The colors of the protective headgear worn at this missile base indicate the wearer's position on the missile teams here.

Commanders and deputies of all missile units wear white hats. Students wear yellow. The propellant technicians wear a distinctive orange.

When you see a group decked out in red helmets, it means they are authorized visitors in the pad area.

Munitions workers wear black, and contractor personnel wear brown hats.

Base fire department members wear red helmets marked with white squares, and air police wear blue hats with white stripes.

Medical personnel wear a red cross on their white helmets. The colors have an identifying purpose. The hardhats have a safety purpose.

They have become part of the working garb of the missilemen, taking their place with the flight helmet and the overseas cap as part of the Air Force uniform.

To Debate Plan for School Head

Whitmer Asks That Art Teachers Take Charge at George Washington

A plan for providing effective administration of Washington Junior High School will be up for approval at tonight's Pontiac Board of Education meeting.

The plan, to be presented by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent, will call for added responsibilities on the part of Trevor Miller, an art teacher at the school.

The school is without a full-time principal. At the last meeting, William J. Lacy, then Washington principal, was named coordinator of secondary education for the school district.

Miller would fill in to administer the school until a principal has been named, according to the plan developed by Lacy. It would also involve a pay increase for Miller.

In other business, board members will discuss a request by officials of Local 620 of the Theatrical State Employees Union to require that union members be used by groups renting school auditoriums to stage shows or show movies.

The board also will discuss a policy statement on benefits available to the families of district employees who die while employed.

The meeting begins at 7:30 at the Board of Education Building, 40 Patterson St.

Waterford Deadline for Dog Licenses Set

Waterford Township residents wishing to procure dog licenses must do so before March 1, or the fee will be doubled, according to township treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Olson.

At the present time a $1 fee is charged for male or spayed animals, and $2 for females. All dogs must be vaccinated before a license is issued.

Rough Roads Wreak Havoc With Car Tires

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Rough roads ahead? Slow down for the sake of your tires and your life.

Rubber company engineers point out that the degree of shock when a tire hits a rock or hole is increased by the square of the speed rather than in direct proportion. Thus, the blow received at 30 miles an hour is nine times as severe as at 10 miles an hour, other factors being equal.

Sewage Plant Bid by April 1?

Near End of Revising Plans for Long-Stalled $3.5-Million Project

Engineers' plans for expansion of sewage treatment plant facilities apparently will be completed in time for the city to open construction bids around April 1, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Revisions in the long-stalled, $3.5-million project are being wrapped up by Jones, Henry & Williams, the city's engineering consultants. The firm drew up the original plans several years ago.

Under the antipollution order obtained by the State Water Resources Commission, the city must have construction contracts signed by June 1.

Facilities to curb pollution of the Clinton River are to be in operation two years later.

When final construction plans are approved, City commissioners must take steps to finance the project, apparently through a general-obligation bond issue.

Quite a bit of indigestion is caused by people having to eat their words.

Truck Driver Found Not Guilty in Fatal Crash

A not-guilty verdict was reached yesterday after three days of trial of Charles L. Zoellig, charged with negligent homicide in the fatal crash Nov. 14 in Troy in which one man died.

A jury of eight women and four men in Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams' court found Zoellig, 24, of 932 E. 11-Mile Road innocent of the charge.

He was the driver of the truck which smashed into a car driven by Wayne T. Helfrich, 35, 1806 Point Drive, Commerce Township, at the intersection of 14-Mile Road and Stephenson Highway. Helfrich was killed.

Zoellig said the air brakes on his truck failed.

Neighborhood Plan on Agenda

Commission to Begin Improvement Talks at Meeting Tonight

City commissioners, meeting informally tonight, will begin hammering out the 1961 neighborhood improvement program.

They are counting on around $300,000 in capital improvement funds, about $65,000 less than last year.

Added money from special assessments and the state and federal governments should push the amount available to $1 million or more.

From a list of possible projects drawn up by City Engineer James M. Carlisle, commissioners are to select a program within the limits of the capital improvement budget. The selection is expected to take several meetings.

To Release Jobless Statistics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department makes official today President Kennedy's report that unemployment climbed by 300,000 last month to an estimated 5.4 million.

Kennedy disclosed these figures last Thursday in telling Congress to his economic message that unemployment had reached "serious proportions."

The Labor Department will release the employment and unemployment figures for January at noon EST.

Kennedy told Congress that of the 5.4 million unemployed last month, more than 1.3 million had been continuously out of work for more than 15 weeks. Some 600,000 had been unemployed for at least six months.

Another 1.7 million could find only part-time work, he said.

Day to Ask Regional GOP Postal Executives to Quit Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Edward Day said he intends to remove many of the high-salaried postal executives named to regional offices created by the Eisenhower administration.

Charging that the Republicans filled the jobs "on purely political basis," Day said "we are filling them with persons responsive to and a part of this administration."

Day's formal statement was by way of reply to criticism of the new administration on the floor of the House Tuesday by Rep. August E. Johansen, R-Mich.

Johansen accused the Post Office Department of putting pressure on the 14 regional office directors to resign or retire and otherwise engage in "shenanigans" with the Civil Service System.

Day said the Eisenhower administration had created the top regional jobs under provisions which permitted appointments without competitive Civil Service examinations.

Four Lakes Ports Tell Jump in Ocean Trade

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Four of the five major Great Lakes ports in Michigan reported substantial increases in overseas shipping during 1960, according to the Great Lakes Commission.

Only South Haven showed a decrease in aggregate overseas port-export trade last year as compared with 1959, dropping from 26,538 short tons to 14,334 tons.

The commission's preliminary figures for 1960 show Detroit's overseas shipping increasing from 292,593 to 600,573 short tons from 1959 to 1960. Muskegon's increasing from 47,869 to 68,077. Port Huron from 4,245 to 32,606; and Saginaw River from 8,670 to 71,700.

Parke Davis Earnings, Lower Despite Sales

DETROIT (UPI) — Parke Davis & Co. announced net earnings were down in 1960 despite record high worldwide sales of $300,002,706, up 1.4 per cent over 1959.

Despite the increase in sales, earnings for 1960 were reported as $30,470,864 or $2.05 a share, compared with $30,960,700 or $2.09 a share in 1959.

Sales for the last quarter of 1960 were reported as $8,751,770 and earnings as $7,964,288.

VFW Man Says Jack in Vacuum on China

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) officials say President Kennedy still is in "a vacuum" on whether Red China should be recognized by the United States and admitted to the United Nations.

A VFW delegation Wednesday presented Kennedy with a gold membership card and the 1961 Bernard Baruch Award for contributions to American security, unity and world peace.

May Use Harriman for German Gold Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy probably will send Special Ambassador Averell Harriman to Bonn in an effort to persuade the West Germans to increase and extend their plan for helping the United States close its gold and dollar gap.

Official sources said today the Harriman mission, which would deal directly with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, was what the President had in mind when he told his news conference it would

JFK to Delve Into Cut in Funds for A-Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration has promised Congress a complete review of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's drastic slash in the nuclear-powered airplane program.

It was learned today that Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric wrote Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., that the nuclear plane "is included in a group of certain projects and weapons system which are now under review."

He said the A-plane review

South Had No Chance, Says Civil War Expert

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The South never had a chance to win the Civil War because of the unstable combination of Abraham Lincoln's leadership and the North's devotion to the Union, an expert of the war who is the grandson of a Confederate soldier said Wednesday.

Dr. Bell Wiley, history professor at Emory University in Atlanta and author of seven books on the Civil War period, also told newsmen that the English were never even close to recognizing the Confederacy.

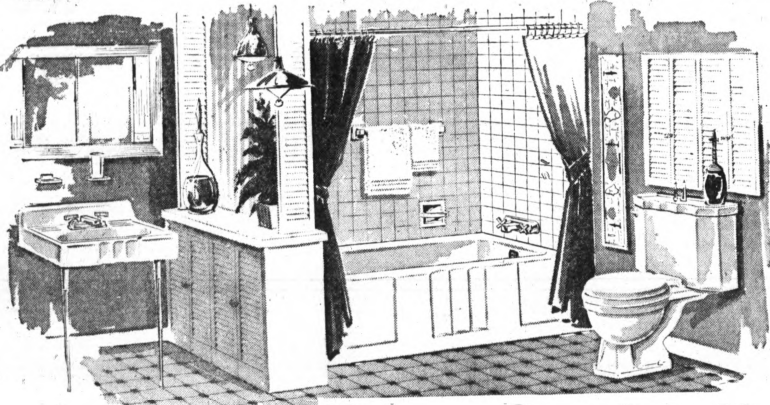

Unidentified Sub Seen?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said today it was investigating the possibility that an unidentified submarine appeared off the eastern coast of the United States Wednesday.
