Are You Trained to Aid if N-Attack Comes?

EDITOR'S NOTE: What chance of survival do people in Pontiac and the surrounding area have should an all-out thermonuclear attack ever be launched against this country? Stirred by a growing public awareness of the possibility of such an attack, The Pontiac Press has begun a concerted study of the local defense posture in search of the answer. The following article is the fifth in a series.)

By DON FERMOYLE

Who in Oakland County would be responsible for restoring order from the chaos that would develop following a nuclear attack?

If a bomb or missile hit Detroit, who would treat the wounded survivors expected to flee northward through this area?

Who would keep escape routes open, fight fires, decontaminate areas of radiation, bring together separated families, feed the hungry and prevent mob rule?

Who would be responsible?

It could be Oliver R. Allison, 632 Balboa Place, Pontiac — a meter reader for Consumers Power Co.; or Mrs. Edward Schons, 200 Tower Road, White Lake Township, a housewife; or Ray Genereux, 317 Jackson St., Lake Orion an assistant postmaster.

CD VOLUNTEERS

These three people, all from different parts of the county, have one thing in common. They all are actively engaged in Civil Defense volunteer programs.

Genereux is director of the Lake Orion-Orion Township Civil Defense organization. Allison is a company leader of Pontiac's CD Auxiliary Police. Mrs. Schons is enrolled in her township's emergency CD medical course.

They are but three of many Oakland County residents with Civil defense training.

In addition, there are four 200-bed emergency CD hospitals supplied by the federal government located in the county.

Half of one of the portable hospitals is located in Royal Oak and the other in Waterford Township. They are used for training purposes.

The others are in Lake Orion, Oxford and Milford.

A staff, headed by Dr. Edgar J. Geist of 1473 Pontiac Road, Avon Township, has been appointed for CD Emergency Hospital No. 1.

But more than doctors and nurses are needed.

Some electricians, carpenters and transportation men are training but more are required to set up the hospital and move it to its operational site.

Dr. Geist pointed out at the first staff meeting of the CD hospital that the flood of injured and sick persons pouring into the northern part of the county would be staggering if Detroit, a primary target, is attacked.

Some clerks, typists and persons with various office experience are training already but more are necessary to register and process the evacuees coming into the area.

Oakland County residents, as in the case of infantrymen preparing for combat with basic training, need training in civil defense.

The Oakland County Survival Plan, approved by the Michigan Office of civil Defense, recommends that at least one person from each family be trained in first aid.

However, participation in American Red Cross first aid classes and in emergency medical courses offered by the County Civil Defense Office is far short of that goal.

The Pontiac Police Department last month inaugurated a 40-week course for CD Auxiliary Police. It includes instruction in radiation detection with a geiger counter, use of firearms, traffic control, crowd control, disaster and rescue work and essentials of basic police work.

It is open to qualified men living within a 10-mile radius of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

In every township there are civil defense courses available, but there is a lack of citizens interested in them.

U.S. Awaits Fallout From Big Bomb

Unable to Tell if Significant Health Hazard

Weather Bureau Says Radioactive Cloud May Miss on First Pass

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public health authorities are geared to detect the first fallout in North America from the Soviet Union's massive nuclear explosion of Monday.

But they declared it is too early to forecast if it will create any significant health hazard either in the following few weeks or next spring.

A Weather Bureau scientist said it was possible the early fallout from Monday's test may even pass north of the continental United States in its first pass around the earth. It likely will extend over the entire nations in its second time around about 10 days later, he added.

HIGH FALLOUT RATE

There is a possibility, health officials said, that within the next month levels of radioactive iodine from the bomb debris might equal or exceed levels produced by the 21 previously announced tests in the current Soviet series.

It isn't known yet whether this cumulative total of fallout would constitute any significant hazard, said Dr. James Terrill of the Health Service in an interview.

Radioactive iodine is considered a threat because if enough of it get into a person's system, it could cause thyroid cancer.

Terrill said that most of the radioactive strontium—a potential cause of bone cancer—loosed by the bomb will be delayed in falling until next spring. The strontium from the big blast will fall with the strontium remaining in the stratosphere from other tests in the series.

It remains to be seen whether the strontium from all tests would constitute any widespread hazard, Terrill said.

"It should be borne in mind, however," he added, "that even the present or expected levels of both strontium and iodine are and will be producing some adverse

UF Women's Drive Near Halfway Point

Taking advantage of good weather, Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign women have raised $12,844.33 of their 1961 goal.

"This amount represents 48 per cent of the $27,000 we expect to raise by Oct. 27," said Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, woman's campaign committee chairman.

"With less than three days remaining in our house-to-house canvass, we urge all solicitors to complete their calls and report as soon as possible."

Mrs. Joseph Fox, Pontiac campaign co-chairman, in the women's division, announced $7,175.05 or 48 per cent of the city's $14,835.85 goal has been reached, with four Pontiac district chairmen over the top.

They are Mrs. Sherman Sedeak, District 4—145 per cent; Mrs. Leslie Sugden, District 5—136 per cent; Mrs. Robert Wisdom, District 35—616 per cent; and Mrs. Lyle Henretty, District 40—164 per cent.

Waterford women's co-chairman, Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson, recorded $3,367.28 or 38 per cent of Waterford's $9,395.49 goal, raised to date.

Tshombe Accepts Cease-Fire Terms

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe has formally accepted ratification of the Katanga-U.N. cease fire and agreed to hand over about 190 Irish and Scandinavian prisoners this afternoon, the U.N. Command announced.

★

U.N. envoy Mahmoud Khiar at the same time will return to Katangan control the Elisabethville post office and radio station taken by U.N. troops during the week of fighting last month; also hand over 210 Katangan prisoners captured in the fighting.

FEARED OBJECTION

The U.N. Command had feared that the strong-willed Katanga president might object to conditions attached to the accord by the U.N. secretariat so that it would in no way recognize Tshombe's claim to independence from the central Congolese government.

Chou's Cohorts Take Leave Too

3 Follow Their Leader Out Red Congress Door; Return Is Uncertain

MOSCOW (AP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's delegation has followed him in leaving the 22nd Soviet party congress.

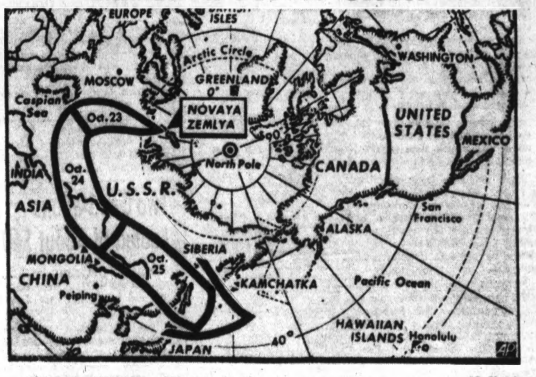
Tass did not say whether they intended to return to the Kremlin meeting, which continued to hear a string of speakers denouncing Albania and believers in the Stalin cult of personality.

FOR APPEARANCE SAKE

Chou left for home Monday after a public airing of differences with Premier Khrushchev over Khrushchev's attacks on Albania's Communist leaders as Stalinists.

When Chou left there were efforts to maintain at least an appearance of harmony. Khrushchev saw him off at the airport, and Moscow radio said Chou would return after consultations in Peiping.

Radiation Moves Closer



AP Photofax

HEADING EASTWARD — This map, based on one realeased by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington today, shows the path of radioactive fallout from Russia's Monday blast over the Novaya Zemlya region in the Artic. The fallout, the weather bureau says, passed over parts of Japan today and is heading eastward over the Pacific Ocean. The initial fallout of radioactive dust brushed parts of Russia.

Push Entry Rights to East

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army insisted today on the right of civilian entry into East Berlin but then lea the East German authorities turn back two U.S. Army sightseeing buses heading for the East sector.

East Berlin border guards stepped aside when armed U.S. Military Police escorted an American civilian car into the Communist sector.

A few hours later the guards refused entry to two U.S. Army sightseeing buses which had no armed escort.

The buses turned back to West Berlin near a spot where American tanks and armored personnel carriers were stationed with guns pointed at the East German police.

★ ★ ★

The East German police held up the buses carrying U.S. military personnel and civilians for more than an hour demanding that the officer in charge identify his passengers to authorities of the Communist East German regime. The American officer refused.

KEEP PAIR OUT

In an earlier incident the East Germans refused to allow two American civilians in an Army-licensed private car to pass through the checkpoint without identification. But the U.S. command ignored the East Germans and sent the car through with the armed escort in assertion of Allied rights to free movement in Berlin.

★ ★ ★

Then, in a gesture of conciliation, the U.S. commander said it was temporarily restricting the passage of American civilian vehicles into East Berlin.

The announced American restriction on movements to East Berlin apparently applied only to civilian vehicles. The buses were U.S. Army vehicles carrying military personnel, although there were about 20 persons in civilian clothes, including two women, in the lead bus. The second bus had about six passengers in U.S. Air Force uniforms.

BULLETIN

Your paper is very late today.

At the time of this writing, we do not know just how late.

At 1:22 p.m. two 4800-volt switches of Consumer Power Co. located in the vault of the Pontiac Press failed, cutting off power for 20 per cent of the downtown area, according to Gordon A. Low, electrical distribution superintendent for Consumers.

The affected area was bounded roughly on the north by Lafayette Street, on the east by Wayne Street, on the south by Auburn Avenue and Orchard Lake Avenue, and on the west by the Grand Truck railroad tracks.

Attempts were made to shunt around the faulty switch, and some firms were back in business in 30 minutes. At this time, The Press had been without power for more than an hour.

The Press regrets the delay.

Weather Expected to Be Near Normal

For the next few days temperatures will average near the normal high of 57 and normal low of 39 with only minor but frequent day to day changes. Tonight's low will dip to 42 with tomorrow's high rising to 58.

Rainfall will total near .4 of an inch in scattered light showers, mostly Friday, Saturday and again Monday.

Morning southwesterly winds at 11 miles per hour will become 8 to 15 m.p.h. From 10:15 yesterday morning until today .2 of an inch in rain fell in downtown Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Fifty was the lowest temperature before 8 a.m. The reading was 62 at 1 p.m.

U.S. Wages War on 40 Kings of Crime

BY RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's new nationwide drive on crime is centered on 40 "crime kings" whose names the Justice Department warily refuses to announce until the men are "roped and tied."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's aides believe these unnamed men are bankrollers for a good share of the organized crime in the United States.

The drive on these "crime kings" is under way now, say Justice Department deputies. Most of the impetus comes from four anti-crime laws Congress passed shortly before adjournment.

★ ★ ★

These laws give the federal government power to act when:

Men cross state lines to commit crimes.

Money or information is sent across state lines in connection with crime or for criminal payoffs.

Criminals of any type flee across state lines.

Betting paraphernalia crosses state lines.

The Justice Department men say the bankrolls of these 40 men buy public officials and police. They bankroll narcotics, prostitution and extortion.

These men provide the funds for taking over labor unions and for supporting "favorable" candidates in political elections. They bankroll strongarm men. They provide the lawyers and the protection for a wide array of criminals.

COVER U.S.

Their bankrolls stretch across the United States. They operate in big cities and in small. Says one official:

"If there are spots in your town or county where you can place numbers bets—even penny and five-cent bets—there's a chance these men operate in your town.

"For the numbers racket usually needs organization and protection. Where organization and protection are needs, the big boys may come in, sooner or later."

Considerable information on these 40 men has already been gathered by the Treasury's Bureau of Narcotics and Alcohol and Tobacco, Tax Division and by the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

ROBERT KENNEDY

The first step is re-examining the income tax reports of these 40 men minutely, tracing down the sources of their illegal revenue from spots outside their home states. Then the investigators will build up step-by-step what these kingpins do with their funds. Every financial transaction will be studied with care. Watches will be posted to determine who visits them, who they go to see. How their pickups are made will be checked out precisely. How they make their investments and their payoffs will be investigated.

Some time along the line, they may be called before a grand jury and asked questions based on their income tax returns and these follow-through checks.

3 BASIC REASONS

There are three basic reasons for this concentration on 40 men.

1. If these men can be convicted, or harassed so badly that their operations are cut back sharply, the Justice Department figures most types of crimes will be handicapped. Without the interstate bankrolls and protection these 40 men provide—or with a shrinkling of these bankrolls and protection—a sizable part of the underworld's operations will be on a limited budget. These 40, it's figured, are in reality the "kingpins."

GANGLAND SLAYING—The crime kings bankroll the strong-arm men.

2. It doesn't pay to attempt to get all the thousands of hoods, gangsters, runners, payoff men, racketeers and strongarm men who operate in organized crime. The accumulation of evidence is too slow a task, too difficult to be effective nationwide.

3. Busting up individual rackets or organizations piece by piece is impossible. The men and the money flow away from one racket into another, then back into a third or fourth or fifth.

Despite the preliminary work, the attack on the 40 men may take years to complete. The 40 will get more wary. They'll cover their tracks more carefully. They'll destroy records. When the cases do come to court, trial will be delayed by every legal trick in the book. There will be a long period of delaying actions.

As the 40 are convicted, they'll be replaced by others.

It will be a long war.

State Ad Board Will Run Again

Dem Chairman Claims All Incumbents Plan to Seek Re-Election

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats will field an all-incumbent team of state officials in the 1962 general election, the party's state chairman predicts.

★ ★ ★

"I do not know of any who does not intend to run," John J. (Joe) Collins, the 26-year-old party chieftain told newsmen Tuesday at one of his infrequent news conferences.

With Democrats in control of all eight statewide administrative offices filled by the voters, the party primary and nominating conventions will be dull affairs.

Collins' calculations assumed that Secretary of State James M. Hare will be among those seeking re-election rather than trying again for the nomination as governor. Gov. Swainson outpolled him two years ago in the scramble to succeed six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

★ ★ ★

Con-Con Delegates Face Reapportionment Study

LANSING (AP) — The key question of whether the state's new constitution should provide for reapportionment of the legislature was squarely before Michigan's constitutional convention today.

A Detroit Democrat—Dr. Melvin Nord—was the first to file a proposal dealing with the politically sensitive question.

Nord's measure called for "proportionate representation in the legislature."

He said his proposal, taken from the Northwest Ordinance of 1787, was intended to guarantee that representation in the legislature always will be based on population.

Michigan now has a house of 110 members, elected primarily on a population basis from districts that are redrawn every 10 years, and a 34-member Senate elected from districts based on both population and area.

Even as Dr. Nord's proposal

Related Stories on Pages 8 and 31

started through the convention hopper, the committee on legislative organization began to tackle the problem in earnest.

The committee, headed by Dr. John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, president of Michigan State University, devoted most of its afternoon hearing to a study of the Nebraska legislative situation.

Nebraska is the only state in the union which has a unicameral, or one-branch state legislature.

Some delegates favor adopting a similar program in Michigan.

In another con-con development Tuesday, President Stephen S. Nisbet ordered two committees which have differed over jurisdiction to settle their differences promptly.

Nisbet and several of his top aides met with the two chairmen—T. Jefferson Hoxie, R-St. Louis, of the Legislative Powers Committee and Claud Erickson, R-Lansing, of the Miscellaneous Provisions and Schedules Committee Tuesday morning.

He met with them again later in the day and found they had agreed on everything except which should have jurisdiction over Article 12 of the present constitution, the section which deals with setting up and operations of corporations in the state.

Nisbet told them that if they do not settle it in the next few hours, he would do it for them.

The convention, striving to set some kind of tentative timetable, was urged formally to set a Nov. 15 deadline for delegates to introduce proposals for changes in the constitution.

★ ★ ★

Richard Van Dusen, R-Bingham Farms, pointed out that any delegate who came up with a proposal after that deadline could appear before the committee in question and ask it to report out his pet project.

Detroiter Dies After Being Hit on Woodward

A Detroit man died early today in William Beaumont Hospital an hour after he was struck by an automobile on Woodward Avenue in Royal Oak.

William Kirkpatrick, about 30, of the Washington Hotel, died of severe head injuries, according to hospital authorities.

Rollin Francis, 53, of 1324 W. 13-Mile Road, Royal Oak, told police that he was traveling south on Woodward in the fast lane of traffic when Kirkpatrick ran from the west side of the street into the path of his car.

Francis stated he did not see the victim until he was nearly in front of the car and by that time he was unable to avoid him.

The accident occurred shortly after 11 p.m. near Chester Road. Francis was not held.

Two Gas Stations Looted of About $60

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—Two gas stations side by side were broken into and burglarized here some time last night.

The two stations, Chambers Mobilgas Station, 4927 Auburn Road, and a Standard station next door, owned by Francis L. Duprey, were looted of an estimated $60, said Shelby Township police.

Small holes broken in window and door glass of both stations provided entrance for the burglars, officers said.

Addresses New York GOP Rally

Ike Blasts JFK Administration

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the Kennedy administration is "confusing me and all my friends."

★ ★ ★

In one of his sharpest attacks on the Democratic administration, Eisenhower said Tuesday night federal fiscal policies are "shrinking dollars." He called the Peace Corps a "juvenile experiment" and suggested Peace Corps members might be sent to the moon.

BLASTS WAGNER

The former Republican president appeared at a campaign rally in support of State Atty. Gen. Lous J. Lefkowitz, Republican candidate for mayor of New York City. He said Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is running for re-election, has given the city a diet of "indecision and vacillation."

★ ★ ★

But he levelled most of his criticism at Washington Democrats.

The confusion among New York Democrats is a spring zephyr, Eisenhower said, when compared with the tornado of confusion in Washington.

'WHAT WILL HAPPEN?'

He said he is confused at what the Kennedy administration is getting at with its fiscal policy. "One day the nation is told the federal budget is balanced, and the next that it will produce a $6.7-billion deficit," he said.

"I believe this nation is in a time of prosperity — if we can't pay our debts, what's going to happen?" he asked.

★ ★ ★

Citing the experience of other nations with inflation, Eisenhower suggested U.S. currency might come to be known as "dollarettes, there'd be so many more of them."

★ ★ ★

Turning to the Peace Corps—a Kennedy administration project—the former president said: "If you want to send a man to the moon, send a Peace Corps member up there. It is an underdeveloped country."

'POSTCARD EVIDENCE'

Eisenhower said there was "postcard evidence" that Peace Corps members "did not even know what an underdeveloped country was, so you can see why I am confused."

★ ★ ★

His reference was to the girl Peace Corps member who set off an international incident when a postcard she wrote describing primitive conditions in Nigeria fell into the hands of Nigerians.

$100,000 DINNER

The Republican gathering in the New York Coliseum was a combination fund-raising dinner and reaped $100,000 for the city GOP.

★ ★ ★

Speakers at the dinner in addition to Eisenhower and Lefkowitz included Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, U.S. Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Rep. Paul A. Fino, the GOP candidate for City Council candidate John J. Gilhooley.

Bloomfield Twp. Pamphlet Available to Residents

BIRMINGHAM—A new pamphlet with facts and figures on Bloomfield Township is now available to residents, Supervisor Arno Hulet said today.

While most of the 10,000 pamphlets will be mailed to property owners with their tax bills, they also will be distributed to new and prospective residents and land developers, according to the supervisor.

Interested citizens can obtain the "1961-62 Facts" at the township hall, 4200 Telegraph Road.

The pamphlet includes information on real, personal and school taxes, data on voting and registration and the names of all township officials and committee members.

Additional information explains the tax breakdown for each of the five school districts in the township.

Also explained in detail are the functions of the police, fire, building, water and sewer departments.

"All the information a taxpayer should know is contained in the pamphlet," Hulet said.

Bloomfield Township Treasurer Homer Case has been named township public safety director to correlate the activities of the township police and fire departments.

The post was recently established by the township board even though Case had been assigned to the job for some time.

health effects in small portions of large population groups throughout the world.

'CAN'T PREDICT'

"However, these levels of health effects will probably be below the detectable range."

Terrill said standards had been worked out—differing for various kinds of radioactive materials—to guide officials in considering protective countermeasures.

For example, the maximum standard for radioactive iodine is a daily intake of 100 micro-microcuries per day over a year's time. The standard for strontium is 200. A micro-microcurie is a measurement of radioactivity.

Terrill said the Health Service just can't say how much fallout will come down quickly from Monday's heavy weight test, or how much will be delayed until next spring.

Commission Gives OK to 1962 Airport Project

After questioning by the City Commission and a warning from State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, Pontiac's airport manager, Homer D. Hoskins, won approval of his recommended 1962 airport improvement plan at last night's commission meeting.

Law attended the meeting representing the supervisors. He revealed that the county "is planning to build a master jet airport in the future.

"Before making too many plans on the city airport, I feel you should consider this," Law said. "There is no room in this area for two airports. It would be hard to compete with such a jet airport."

Law said he hoped to introduce legislation in Lansing enabling the county to enter into such a venture possibly next year.

★ ★ ★

The Commission, however, had its own problems. Meeting informally last week, commissioners questioned the wisdom of widening an east-west landing strip, as recommended by Hoskins, rather than beginning work on a major north-south landing strip.

TO GET MASTER PLAN

At last night's meeting they approved a resolution to pay Robert K. Peckham, consulting engineer, $7,500 for an airport master plan. Purpose of the plan is to show what has been done and what remains, before approving 1962 projects.

★ ★ ★

Then the commissioners adjourned to meet in City Manager Walter K. Willman's office. Willman presented them with Hoskins' report on the 1962 program he recommended.

The program does not include a north-south runway.

Hoskins' report, however, did point out that unless commissioners approved and submitted his 1962 project to the Michigan Department of Aeronautics for federal approval by next Tuesday, the city would be cut about $294,000.

Then the Commissioners filed back to their chambers and gave official approval to the program as outlined by Hoskins.

★ ★ ★

Originally, Hoskins too had hoped that work could begin next year on the north-south runway. However, delays in passage of federal airport aid by Congress and a cutback from a five to a two-year program in financing, made it out of the question, he said.

WANT INSTRUMENT LANDINGS

"North Central Airlines and many other large corporations using our facilities have asked that we try to get instrument landings," Hoskins said.

"Equipment for instrument landings would increase our traffic considerably, but to qualify for this we must have a runway that is 4,200 to 6,000 feet long, 150 feet wide and a taxiway that is at least 75 feet wide.

"The runway is now 5,300 feet long, 100 feet wide and has a 40-foot-wide taxiway. We would add 50 feet to the runway and 35 to the taxiway next year.

"Both measures are necessities if we ever want to get facilities for instrument landings," he said.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, who is also chairman of the Oakland County Aviation Committee, said that the county had no definite plans for a jet airport but had discussed the possibility of one.

"The Pontiac airport serves a definite need now and will fill that need for many years to come. We cannot see it becoming obsolete any more than we see it as a jet airport," he said.

Waterford to Begin '62 With Balance of $5,400

In yesterday's story about the upcoming Waterford Township budget, it was erroneously stated that the township will begin January 1962 with a balance of $480,032.

★ ★ ★

This was the opening April 1 balance plus actual receipts and anticipated revenue through Dec. 31. The township will begin the new year with an estimated $5,400. The Press regrets the error.

Czar's Cousin Dies at 91

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Prince Nestor Eristoff, 91, cousin of Czar Nicholas II of Russia, died Sunday in a sanitarium. Friends said the prince often said he owed his escape from Russia after the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution to a fellow Georgian, Joseph Stalin.

Contributing to UF Is Gift Worthwhile

In support of the current Pontiac Area United Fund Drive, Ken Morris, regional director of the UAW-CIO-AFL, issued the following statement:

"The Pontiac United Fund Drive is under way.

"Too often every citizen exposed to sloganized advertising believes when he contributes to the United Fund he is making a donation to an organization. This is a mistake!

★ ★ ★

"Every penny contained in a contribution to the United Fund is really contributing to a child stricken with polio, to an accident-stricken citizen in Pontiac who uses the services of a visiting nurse, or the promotion of healthy activities for Boy Scouts who have done much to promote citizenship among the young people in the community.

★ ★ ★

"To single out even these few is an injustice to the many agencies that quietly each day seek to meet the needs of the "have-nots" in the Pontiac area. Throughout the community many require the help of one of the many service organizations that are the recipients of the monies donated to the Pontiac Area United Fund.

★ ★ ★

"Each agency, as part of the United Fund, helps in making a better life for many Pontiac area citizens. To know that every gift that each person contributes gives organized help to those in need makes united giving worthwhile.

★ ★ ★

"Actually when you make your contribution, remember you are not contributing to the United Fund—you are contributing to help a neighbor in trouble. And that neighbor's contribution may help when YOU are in trouble."

To Seek Counsel Post if Vacated

By DICK HANSON

First assistant corporation counsel of Oakland County Charles A. Davis announced yesterday that he would be a candidate for county corporation counsel if the position becomes open.

★ ★ ★

However, he speculated that the duties of corporation counsel likely would be altered if Norman Barnard should vacate the post to become chairman of the county board of auditors.

Barnard currently is serving as the board's committee clerk and frequently is called upon to act as go-between with the legislature at Lansing.

Davis feels that his boss would continue to perform these important functions in addition to heading the board of auditors.

PLANS PENDING

Plans recommended by the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee to have Barnard made chairman of the board of auditors, in which office he would assume administrative control of county government, depend at the present time on the pending resignation of the current chairman, Robert Y. Moore.

But it is quite possible that Moore will withdraw his resignation prior to the Nov. 7 meeting of the Board of Supervisors, thus complicating if not stalemating the Ways and Means Committee plan to replace him with a younger man.

Moore, 76, and the dean of county government with over 30 years service, indicated yesterday that he would like to remain on the board of auditors for another two years at which time his present term would end and then retire.

"I still have a few things I would like to get done," said the man who has been a major force in relocating county government offices in the service center on Telegraph Road to escape the congested downtown area.

Moore said he would go along with appointing a younger man as chairman of the board of auditors at this time, though.

If Moore does withdraw his resignation, it could well stalemate the committee's plans for at least two years. The only other board of auditors post up for re-appointment at the Nov. 7 meeting is that of Robert E. Lilly.

WILL PROBABLY STAY

Since he is the only Democrat on the three-member board he probably will be retained as a balance between the two political parties represented on the board of supervisors. Barnard is a Republican.

The other Republican member of the board of auditors is its vice chairman John C. Austin and his term runs for another year.

There is a strong belief among county officials that Moore already has withdrawn his resignation. The board of supervisors has received from him a registered letter which is to be opened at the Nov. 7 meeting.

The letter probably contains Moore's withdrawal of his resignation.

If so, the new position of county budget director created at the last board of supervisors meeting probably will go begging. The $10,500 post was expected to be filled by Moore so that the board of auditors could still draw on his vast experience in county budget affairs.

The post would be advisory only, though, since Barnard would be the financial administrator as the plan goes.

★ ★ ★

The plan could still be put into effect if the board of supervisors recalled Moore from the board of auditors. This is unlikely, considering his past service to the county.

In Red $3.9 Billion at End of Fiscal 1961

Treasury Deficit $10 Billion in 17 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kennedy administration will rack up treasury deficit of more than $10 billion in the first 17 months of the new administration.

★ ★ ★

That is the probable total of the treasury deficits for fiscal year 1961, which ended last June 30 and for fiscal 1962 which will end a year later. The treasury was in the red $3.9 billion at the end of fiscal 1961.

Some weeks before the end of that fiscal year, Secretary of Treasury Douglas Dillon estimated that the deficit would be around $2 billion.

For fiscal 1962, Dillon estimated a $3 billion deficit. The secretary thought these deficits were almost fortunate, explaining that they would stimulate recovery and could be paid off from surplus tax receipts when prosperity returned.

Fiscal 1961 almost doubled Dillon's deficit estimate. He now estimates a fiscal 1962 deficit of nearly $7 billion.

The total deficit for the two fiscal years probably will be closer to $11 billion than to $10. Defense spending is more likely to go up than to decrease in fiscal 1963.

ANOTHER DEFICIT

It is obvious, therefore, that treasury tax revenue must increase mightily in fiscal 1963 or that nondefense spending must be mightily reduced if another deficit is to be avoided in that year.

★ ★ ★

It would be unrealistic—mere whistling in the dark — to expect the Kennedy administration to reduce nondefense spending enough to obtain a balanced budget, or to reduce nondefense spending at all.

The alternatives, therefore, are a great increase of treasury revenue from existing tax rates or an increase in the rates to obtain the needed revenue.

That is, of course, if the President is determined to balance the U.S. budget. The alternative to uninterrupted government spending beyond government income is a continuing rotting and dirtying of the U.S. dollar.

The dollar has wasted away from a purchasing power of 100 cents in 1939 to a buying value of a fraction more than 46 cents today.

It is strange, therefore, to read that the businessman member of the Kennedy cabinet now is proposing a tax reduction. The business member is Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges. Speaking last week to the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Hodges proposed reduction of income taxes, individual and corporate.

Perhaps communications between the White House and the Commerce department is not all it should be; indistinct, maybe or on crossed wires.

However that may be, the President is not thinking in terms of tax reductions at his Oct 10 news conference.

He was thinking in terms of a possible tax increase to balance the next budget, which will be for fiscal year 1963.

Kennedy has been telling White House visitors that no one in this country wants to balance the budget more than he. He is not sure, however, that taxes could be raised to do that. And if defense costs go up, the President evidently doesn't expect a fiscal 1963 balance at all. Question: How about fiscal 1964? Deficit No. four?

Reds May Be Bungling Their 2nd Chance in the Congo

Editor's Note: Down in the Congo, beset by chaos since it won independence, the Soviet Union sees a chance to establish an important bridgehead for communism in Africa. But all is not clear sailing for Moscow, as this dispatch, second of a series on the Congo today, discloses.

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Soviets have been given another chance in the Congo, but they may be bungling it again.

Patrice Lumumba, the powerhungry Congolese leader of last gave them their first chance. He invited them to help him crush all resistance to his high-handed rule.

QUICKLY RESPONDED

The Russians responded enthusiastically. They sent in 10 Ilyushin planes to ferry his troops around the country. They sent 100 trucks to move the ammunition, plus a horde of propagandists disguised as technicians.

★ ★ ★

Lumumba was delighted. Two of the trucks stood in front of his house for a day or two. A special Ilyushin stood available for his use for months. The Soviets pumped money into the country to create confusion and doubt, but they overdid it.

★ ★ ★

Col. Joseph Mobutu, then a 29-year-old army officer, climbed on a barroom table in a downtown hotel and announced he had given the Soviet, Czech and Polish embassies 48 hours to close down and evacuate their personnel.

LUMUMBA

They went out in the Ilyushins, leaving the trucks behind.

ALL INVITED BACK

Now, the Russians, Czechs and Poles are back at government invitation. They came here from Stanleyville, where they had been recognizing and supporting the rump government of Antoine Gizenga. Gizenga claimed to be Lumumba's heir. But in August he gave up this pretension and agreed to join the central government as second vice premier.

The Soviets hadn't been in Leopoldville long when Congolese officials noted that huge sums of money were being distributed. The Soviets would like to see Gizenga, a moody, malleable man, or some other Lumumbist back in power.

★ ★ ★

The Communists have spent a great deal of money trying to create an image of Lumumba as the first Congolese martyr. They have named streets, libraries, universities and youth clubs after him.

★ ★ ★

Operating under his name, their potentialities for creating trouble are endless. To millions of black Africans, who understand the events in the Congo only dimly, Lumumba is a martyr and the greatest Congolese.

Even in the moderate Western-oriented countries of Africa, Lumumba is accepted as the father of the Congo Republic and an authentic martyr to the cause of black progress. This belief is carefully nutured by left-wing organizations.

First order of business for the Communists in the Congo, therefore, must be to get Lumumba's National Congolese movement back in power.

SOMETHING HAPPENS

With apprehension, veteran diplomats, old Belgian residents and United Nations officials watch the Cyrille Adoula government's efforts to prevail and rule. While they think the moderate, Western-oriented Adoula is firmly in control, something bizarre always happens in the Congo to change the course of events.

★ ★ ★

Left-leaning Christophe Gbenye, interior minister, controls the police. He is a powerful Lumumbist and many believe he would become prime minister if the Adoula government should topple.

Riots and trouble could bring about Adoula's fall. Riots and trouble appear to be what the Communist-supported Lumumbists are seeking.

★ ★ ★

The Lumumbist paper in Leopoldville, Le Matin, blasts continuously against the West, the government, missionaries and European spies. Referring to slowness in solving the Katanga secession problem, the paper said the government should adopt an old proverb: It is necessary to kill a few to save the majority."

Everything seems to point to a large Communist operation in Leopoldville. But the intense behind the scenes trouble-making already observed could put a crimp in the plans.

★ ★ ★

None of the Communist diplomatic missions has been recognized by the Adoula government. Too much enthusiasm by the Soviets could cool ff the government's earlier decision to accept the Red diplomats.

★ ★ ★

Two East German Communist diplomats, who came here from Stanleyville, were ordered to leave the Congo within 48 hours. Some of the Congolese who attended the Belgrade conference went on to Berlin afterward and had a look at the wall erected there by the East Germans.

Russian, Czech and Polish representatives were advised to return to their capitals and apply for accreditation through normal channels.

DISLIKES COMMIES

The formal channel of approach for accreditatio would be through Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, and Bomboko does not like Communists. Gen. Mobutu, who moved the Communist missions out of the country last year, has made no public statement about their return. His disapproval seems obvious.

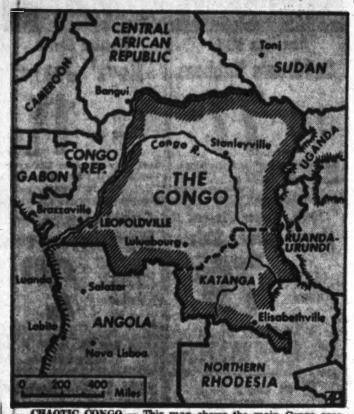
Adoula also may want to inquire why the Communist governments are so eager to be accredited when they have contributed not one dollar to the United Nations effort to put the Congo on its feet.

★ ★ ★

Once installed in the Congo, the Soviets and satellites would have a wide field of operations. No other country in Africa is so ideally located for Soviet purposes.

The Congo has borders with eight other African states or territories. These include such tense racial trouble spots as Angola and Northern Rhodesia. As yet the Soviets have no formal relations with any of these territories. A foothold in the Congo would provide a convenient backdoor to them.

Thursday: Life in the Congo today.



CHAOTIC CONGO — This map shows the main Congo area, with Katanga the wealthy province. Stanleyville is in the north and Leopoldville in the southwest corner. The Lumumbist paper in Leopoldville blasts continually against the West. Everything points to a large Communist operation in this city.

Science Working to Starve Out Pests

Finicky Skeeters May Be Doomed at Last

NEW YORK (UPI)—Although this will sound unbelievable there still is a chance for people to win a lasting and final victory against the mosquito. At least science is working on a new stratagem which looks really good.

If people could eliminate the food supplies of mosquitoes, only one thing could happen. The mosquitoes would all die of starvation and people would be rid of a menace as well as a nuisance.

Science now has reason for believing it might be done.

The reason was provided by Drs. A. A. Abdel-Malek and W. F. Baldwin who discovered by careful experimentation that mosquitoes are so finicky about their food they'd rather starve than take on nourishment from food they don't like.

The scientists worked at the Canadian government's atomic energy laboratories at Chalk River, Ont., using countryside mosquitoes and 24 native plants which mosquitoes would be expected to feed upon.

* * *

Despite the impressions of the mosquito-bitten, the insects are vegetarians — they do not live on human blood. Only the female bites people and she needs mammalian blood only to mature her eggs.

* * *

Mosquito larvae were gathered from swamps and rain water puddles and hatched in laboratory cages. When adult, the creatures were first deprived of food for 24 hours and then put into cages which contained one or another of the 24 plants.

24 HOURS TO DINE

Thirty hungry mosquitoes of both sexes were given 24 hours to satisfy their hunger with each plant and then they were killed to see whether they had and if they had, how greedily. The plants had been made radioactive with phosphorus-32. Any mosquito which fed on them would be radioactive, too.

Only the mosquitoes given access to three of the 24 plants were radioactive, and all of them were, to a high degree. The mosquitoes exposed to the other 21 were not radioactive at all. They preferred to get hungrier and hungrier rather than eat what they didn't care for.

The scientists pointed out, that mosquitoes the world over are becoming resistant to DDT and other insecticides which for a while gave promise of wiping them out along with the diseases they spread among human beings with their bites — malaria and yellow fever.

* * *

It is becoming increasingly apparent that insecticides are not the weapons of final victory, and better weapons are needed. If mosquitoes will feed only on a relatively few plants and none other, it would become practical to exterminate those plants and so doom mosquitoes, the scientists said.

* * *

Obviously much more work remains to be done .The Canadian experiments were with a breed of mosquitoes found in many parts of the world — Aedes. But their relatives and other mosquitoes in other parts may not be so finicky. Only experimentation will show.

The golden-eyed lacewing, whose larvae have an insatiable appetite for rose aphids, are called "aphid lions." They pounce on the rose pests and suck out their life juice.

Group Protests Sale of Planes to Yugoslavia

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP — "American mothers protest sale of jets to Communist warmongers," read a sign carried Tuesday night by one of a few hundred demonstrators protesting shipment of Navy jet planes to Yugoslavia.

* * *

"Giving planes to Yugoslavia is the same as giving aid to the enemy," said Edward S. Barr, 28, former naval officer who spoke at a rally. "The Communists have said they are going to eliminate us. These planes could help them."

Four TV2 Navy jet training planes are in crates on the San Diego waterfront, awaiting shipment to Yugoslavia.

Roads Divide Up Taxes

LANSING (AP — Michigan's vehicle highway fund received $212.2 million from state gasoline taxes and license plate fees during the fiscal year ended June 30. Titan Scores Ninth Success

Missile Puts 'Midas IV Spy Satellite to Test; Results Unknown

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An intercontinental range Titan has scored its ninth successful test flight—and the launching may have been a critical test for the missile-detection capability of the new Midas IV spy satellite.

The Titan roared aloft on a 5,100-mile flight Tuesday night as Midas IV whipped over Cape Canaveral at an altitude of 2,100 miles.

* * *

The launching was timed to determine if infrared sensing devices in the satellite could pick up the exhaust trail of the Titan and relay the information to a ground station. Whether it did was not disclosed.

Midas IV was launched from Point Arguello, Calif., last Saturday in another experimental firing aimed at developing a system of missile detection satellites able to provide the United States with 30-minute warning of an enemy rocket attack.

The Air Force announced the Titan met all test objectives in one of a final series of flights before the weapon becomes operational late this year.

San Antonio Bans Henry Miller Book

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The district attorney's office has ordered the novel "Tropic of Cancer" removed from the shelves of San Antonio book dealers.

* * *

Asst. Dist. Atty. Jack Leon sent letters to dealers Tuesday advising them the book violates the state's anti-obscenity law.

The book, by Henry Miller, was published in France during the 1930s but was banned from the United States until this year.

"If I had to argue this case in court, I'd be ashamed to read excerpts from this novel to an all-male jury," Leon said.

Put Idle Land to Work by Planting Trees

'Tis said that confession is good for the soul.

Then let's confess that we have hundreds of acres of idle land in the Pontiac area. Its owners find it more profitable to spend their time in other vocations. They are taxed for this land, but are getting little or nothing out of it.

Our Canadian neighbors have a remedy which it seems we might do well to emulate. They plant such land to trees, to eventually cope with the devastation of their forests. Pine, spruce and other fir trees predominate in the planting.

★ ★ ★

They are a crop that requires no attention, and in a few years grows into money. In a decade they can be harvested for Christmas trees. In three decades they are ready for pulp logs to go into the great Canadian paper industry. When only a few years old they are accepted as gilt edge security at the banks. While growing they serve as windbreaks and crowd out weeds and grass.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's primeval white pine forests were the greatest in the Nation. But we plundered them and created a flock of lumber barons who left us nothing.

Canada stemmed the plundering by requiring two trees to be planted for each one cut. They've beaten us in almost every phase of the conservation game.

Let the owners of Oakland County's idle land give it a chance to do something. The cost of the seedlings is almost negligible, the planting almost as cheap. And the year round verdancy of a tree field has more eye appeal than a field of weeds.

A tree farm needs no attention whatever, after the planting. It does not have to be cultivated or fertilized. In fact, the fir family of trees thrive best on land that is not fertile enough for the profitable raising of the usual farm crops. Let's put this idle land to good use.

Here's the Latest on John Kennedy

In case you've lagged a little behind in some of your homework, we bring you this refreshing item from the New York Herald Tribune:

"National interest inevitably will be aroused by the latest progress report from Washington on John F. Kennedy, which discloses that he now has seven teeth, an enormous appetite, a cheerful disposition and the ability to haul himself up in his crib. We are referring, of course, to John F. Kennedy Jr., whose ability to make news is limited by the fact that he is only ten months old. Even his sister Caroline, who will be four years old next month, overshadows him.

★ ★ ★

"We're glad to see young JOHN getting ready to step out of the playpen and into somewhat larger arenas. With his cheerful mien, his ability to eat whatever is set before him, and his considerable lung power he would seem to have the makings of a politician. Or should we say a statesman?"

Royal Oak Eliminating City Parking Meters

Shoppers are dictating new procedures and as a result the City of Royal Oak is removing its 1,260 downtown parking meters.

The move, which seems like a rather drastic one, was urged by the store owners. They seem to feel that the decline in business will be helped by the free parking.

★ ★ ★

At the same time and under the auspices of the redevelopment program the city has purchased several downtown sites for off street parking. City Manager BRUCE W. LOVE said that free street parking will be limited to three hours.

★ ★ ★

The changeover is now in process and its effect on business will bear watching.

The Man About Town

Burning Leaves

Not Considered to Be Best Way of Disposal

Middle age: When it shows most in the middle.

The annual argument about the disposal of leaves is with us. And it again is emphasized that those which fall on the ground should not be burned, but allowed to rot where they fall.

Of course, some other disposal may be made of those which fall in the street, but it is better to spread them back on the ground than to burn them.

By allowing them to rot away on lawns or other ground, they more than replenish the good which they took from the soil. Their ashes usually only create a nuisance.

The best lawns that come to our observation have never had the leaves removed from them. Nor have they been fertilized in any other way.

One small house lawn, to which people come from many miles to learn why its verdage is always so magnificent, has never been raked of leaves or dead grass for over 30 years, nor has it ever received any other fertilizer.

Of course our inborn instinct to play with fire creeps out at this season, but it does a lawn no good, and may permanently damage it — and creates a smoke nuisance.

Second blooming Easter lilies are so numerous, they no longer make news. However, thanks to our many good readers who are reporting them.

Willing to Make Quite a Sacrifice

David Lawrence Says:

Industry Afraid of Bob Kennedy

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy is well aware that businessmen are worried about the attitude of his administration toward business.

LAWRENCE

So is his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, whose activities in the antitrust field have caused shivers of apprehension in the business community.

Indeed, one economist said to this writer the other day that all the good effects of speeches of reassurance by the President and the secretary of the treasury could be wiped out in 30 minutes by the address which the attorney general is scheduled to deliver in New York City before the Economic Club on Monday, Nov. 13.

This presumes that Robert Kennedy is antibusiness. He is, on the contrary, much too good a politician to forget that, if business is bad in 1964, the administration will be defeated at the polls.

So it gets back to fundamentals. What is really making businessmen worry?

What are the basic causes of concern today about the outlook for business, and what is the administration going to do about these vital factors?

WHY? WHY?

First of all, businessmen are being told by some statisticians that corporate profits in the early part of next year will be unprecedentedly large and yet that, in the second half, there may be a downturn.

Why should America be subject to wide fluctuations that bring on recessions and reverses while billions of dollars of potential income are lost and unemployment rises?

The simple answer is that the whole economy is suffering from irresponsible actions by economic groups.

Nobody wants to see competition stifled by any monopolistic practices of business or by violations of the antitrust laws. But what shall be said of a situation in which a labor union monopoly fixes prices by fixing costs, and why is there no law on the statute books dealing with it?

POWER OF LABOR

What of the power of labor unions to inflict damage amounting to billions of dollars on the national economy by means of a steel strike, as happened in 1959?

The American people are not aware of the damage being done to them currently by strikes or by threats that are equivalent to strikes in forcing wage costs upward.

What is generally overlooked is cost stability. Much is said about price stability, but hardly anything is said about cost stability. Yet without cost stability, there can be no stability in the price level.

The tendency in some quarters is to look at profits as a sort of social evil. Labor union politicians insist that they must have a big share of these profits, but they refuse to bear any share of the losses.

★ ★ ★

As a consequence of this inequitable situation, businessmen cannot very well plan ahead. They are reluctant, for instance, to buy new plant and new equipment to replace worn out or obsolete machinery.

Planning is difficult enough anyway, but it becomes even more so when there is so much talk about "fallout" shelters and a nuclear war.

Who wants to float a loan or take on any big commitment for expansion when people are discussing the possible destruction of humanity? Yet America's power to deter a nuclear war is sadly underestimated.

Psychological factors are closely related to national confidence.

An administration that harasses business and refuses to regulate labor practices that are monopolistic tends to weaken the confidence of the very men who should be planning and creating new businesses or the expansion of existing enterprises.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Old Saws Don't Take Place of Medical Aid

Although I am a great admirer and lover of antiquities, there are some relics of the past that don't merit preservation. And some of these are "old sayings" that may be downright harmful.

Here are a few of these ancient saws concerning which I have had inquiries over the course of the past few months:

To ward off insects, especially if a baby has hay fever, wet a rag in kerosene and hang it on the end of the crib. (But what if pop smokes a pipe? And mom carries a lighted cigarette in her hand?)

Repeated use of baby oil clogs the infant's skin and prevents it from developing normally. (Oil lubricates. It doesn't clog.)

★ ★ ★

Daily use of mineral oil causes, or contributes to, cancer of the bowel. (Nonsense.)

Adding bath oils to water in the tub results in changes in the menstrual cycle. (Pishtosh.)

Drinking cold water after eating bananas may produce a fatal indigestion. (Fiddle-faddle.)

MONEY DOESN'T HELP

To prevent trouble when the child is cutting teeth, tie a dime around the youngster's neck. (Absurd.)

If a woman does home canning while she is menstruating, the batch will spoil. (Idiotic.)

Warts are caused by handling frogs. (Untrue.)

A bag containing asefetida, tied around a child's neck, wards off infectious diseases. (But better be immunized.)

A blow on a woman's breast may later cause cancer. (But what woman, with or without cancer, has not suffered an occasional blow on that very vulnerable area?)

Drinking whisky is an antidote to snake poisoning. (But what effect has it on pink elephants?)

Drinking water with meals is a cause of obesity. (And will weight loss result if one eats the same meals without the water?)

I don't suppose this completes the list. But, if more come along, I'll file them and pass them along from time to time.

Voice of the People:

Writer Foretells Future of Appellate Court in City

Permit me to prophesy that: the old courthouse will be torn down; the Constitutional Convention will authorize intermediate appellate courts; Pontiac will be designated as the seat of an appellate court; a courthouse will be built at great expense for the appellate court; some rich individual or corporation will donate land for the site of the appellate court; this will be hailed as a generous gesture; it will remove at least two acres of otherwise unprofitable land from the tax rolls; the appellate courthouse will be very expensive; it will be very inconveniently situated; at least 10 politicians will take credit for bringing an appellate court to Pontiac.

Even if these ten prophecies prove incorrect my eleventh will infallibly be fulfilled: whenever politicians set out to save money they will spend far more than if they had tried to be extravagant.

'MSUO Intramural Bldg. Isn't Needed'

A few months ago our legislators were soundly belabored for not dishing out all the increased funds that our educators requested . . . even though it meant putting taxpayers deeper into debt. We were called niggardly and unmindful of our young people's futures; students were being turned away and professors were leaving.

★ ★ ★

Yet, MSUO is going to break ground immediately for a $1.5 million center for weight lifting, badminton and other recreational activities! The article did state that it was to be financed with student fees. Of course, no one expects students to help support themselves or help us taxpayers to pay the operating expenses!

★ ★ ★

The Press carried an article pointing out that MSU is suffering from crowded living conditions. Maybe the unfortunate MSUO students can sleep in the new intramural building.

Believes Hunters Picked Up Dog

I believe some hunters picked up our little dog near Walled Lake. He's a small white and brown bird dog and answers to "Maverick." The children miss him but if you won't return him please keep him inside as he is not used to sleeping outside.

Wondering What Kind Of People You Are

Portraits

By JOHN C. METCALFE

Although a restlessness I feel . . . I shall not leave you in the Spring . . . But flowers in the garden grow . . . That beauty to our home they bring . . . And neither in the Summertime . . . Shall I be ever gone from you . . . For in that time of year there is . . . So much about the house to do . . . And when the golden days of Fall . . . In all their splendor will be here . . . It is no time to leave because . . . Of such a lovely atmosphere . . . And in the months of Wintertime . . . When heavy snows are on the ground . . . I must keep warm the fireplace . . . And so I shall remain around . . . I guess there is a reason for . . . My presence every single day . . . But most of all my love for you . . . Is why I would not go away.

On this day in history:

In 1854 some 670 men of an English light cavalry brigade fighting in the Crimean War, charged a heavily protected Russian artillery post at Balaklava.

The famous charge, the Charge of the Light Brigade, is one of the most heroic episodes in British military history.

In 1923, the Teapot Dome scandals began to unfold as Sen. Thomas Walsh of Montana demanded a public hearing on the Department of the Interior's leasing of two naval oil reserves to private corporations.

In 1954, for the first time, a session of the President's cabinet was televised.

A thought for today: German poet Johann Goethe said, "He only earns his freedom and existence who daily conquers them anew."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Discusses Thumb-Sucking Urge

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE K-433: Bess M., aged 9, is a shy little girl with a very high I.Q.

★ ★ ★

"But, Dr. Crane," her mother protested, "Bess still sucks her thumb.

DR. CRANE

"Whenever she gets nervous or frightened, you can be almost certain that she'll fall back into that bad habit.

"I have tried to reason with her and have coaxed and pleaded and have even punished her.

★ ★ ★

"But it doesn't seem to do any good. What causes children to suck their thumbs and how can a parent help correct this fault?"

BABY TRAITS

Thumb sucking is a very common characteristic of babies, especially if they are not on an adequate feeding schedule.

★ ★ ★

For a hungry infant will throw its arms around and kick and cry. Hunger cramps are thus the initial prod for such activity.

★ ★ ★

Maybe the mother's milk supply is not sufficient, and the child is on reduced rations.

Instead of shifting over to evaporated milk and thus keeping the baby happy and content, the mother may vainly try for several more weeks to eke out a meager ration for the infant.

Meanwhile, during its periods of hungry threshing around with its hands, it accidentally gets a thumb or finger in its mouth. This starts the nursing action.

And the act of nursing, even though of its own thumb, will generate saliva, so the baby does keep filling its stomach with a small amount of liquid, which thus assuages its hunger cramps.

NUISANCE HABITS

Later this action becomes habitual. And it is generally associated with relaxation and comfort.

So even after the baby's feeding formula is finally brought up to a more adequate supply and it no longer needs extra food, the thumb sucking habit may still continue as a matter of momentum of nuisance actions.

You cigaret users can well understand the situation. For instance, when you first started smoking possibly as teen-age boys you did it because of a desire to look like a "big shot."

★ ★ ★

Your hunger for social esteem and public admiration started you sucking on cigarets.

But you may now be 50 years of age and still a confirmed smoker. You no longer have the social hunger which generated your original adoption of cigarets.

But the momentum of this nuisance habit compels you to reach for a cigaret whenever you grow restless. That's twin behavior for thumb sucking.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane doesn't go back into the thumb-sucker's childhood adequately and thus explain the tensions that started the habit," a theoretical child pyschologist recently criticized me.

BE PRACTICAL

To which I can bluntly reply, so what? Analyzing the causes that started you middle-aged cigaret users to take up smoking, doesn't help you to stop the habit now, does it?

Not at all. Regardless of how our habit may have started, the sheer inertia of the human body to change from old accustomed actions, is the big dilemma.

You can break nuisance habits in varions ways. Give the nervous child gum to chew, in big gobs, for this action is better than the thumb-sucking. At least, it draws less ridicule from one's playmates.

Relieving the tension of the home is also helpful, but you can't eliminate all such tension from a normal home. Tension is part of life!

Relieve shyness by the compliment club and encourage athletic events to drain off excess energy.

Family Without a Country

Finally Gets Chance for Home

JACKSON (AP)—The Rev. Mina E. Mina is a man without a country—not by choice, but by circumstance. His wife and three children are in the same predicament.

An Egyptian, the Rev. Mr. Mina now is associate minister of Jackson's First Congregational church. His wife is Chinese.

Their plight began five years ago when they met on the campus of Bethel College at Newton, Kan., where both were studying on scholarships. Romance blossomed into marriage.

IT WAS A GAMBLE

The Rev. Mr. Mina (pronounced mean-ah) came to the United States in 1953 to study chemical engineering and planned to return to Egypt in 1956. Mrs. Mina fled the Chinese mainland to Formosa in 1949 and came to the United States in 1954.

With student visas running out and the prospects of being returned to separate homelands, the couple started steps to gain citizenship.

Rules governing admission of foreign students provide that a student who attempts to gain citizenship here violates his or her status and is subject to deportation on 15 days notice.

'PRETTY INSECURE'

"We were pretty insecure," the minister said, "having no status either as Americans, Egyptians or Chinese and not knowing what would happen."

Four times immigration authorities told the Minas their time was up, but they managed to avoid deportation. Only last month a Minnesota congressman managed to obtain permanent residency status for the Minas. Now after five years they will be eligible for citizenship.

* * *

"It was very hard to find a country which would take our entire family," he said. "We thought of going to Australia, Canada or South America before we were allowed to stay here."

TURNED TO MINISTRY

Mina, reared a Christian in the Coptic Church, turned from a planned career in chemical engineering to the ministry after working with Dr. Frank Laubach, a missionary known for his literacy work among the uneducated in foreign lands.

From Bethel College, Mina went to the Congregational seminary at Hartford, Conn. Members of Jackson's First Congregational church called him as their associate pastor last August.

* * *

Mrs. Mina was reared a Christian, also, in the United Christian Church of China. Her parents came to the United States in 1958. Two brothers remain on Formosa and two sisters in Communist China.

Unusual Doll House Not Made for Play

MEDFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — John T. Kreger's four daughters have what is one of the most unusual doll houses in the world. But they can't use it.

* * *

The youngest daughter is 28 years old. Three are married.

Kreger began building the two-story, eight room house in 1926 and it took him until 1954 to complete it.

Kreger estimated that it took 10 full years of actual working time to build the house.

It measures three feet square, is four feet high and is mounted on the undercarriage of a barber's chair so it may be raised, lowered or turned around.

* * *

It has real glass windows that can be opened and closed, plumbing that works, a coal furnace, closets with full-length mirrors, and a complete electrical system.

State Constitutions Restored Tenderly

BY PAUL G. PALMER
Lansing Journal Writer

LANSING (JP) — Scores of years after Michigan had gone through two constitutions and was seven years into its third, a quiet drama involving the state's original document of 1835 was being played out in Lansing and Washington.

In the major roles were a one-time Lansing bookbinder, William Berwick (his two daughters still live here) and a Grand Rapids woman, Mrs. James H. Campbell. The latter was on an historical mission for the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Berwick's daughters are Miss Edith M. Berwick and Mrs. William T. Fulton.

The plot concerned the search for the long-missing original copy of Michigan's first constitution, its discovery and its restoration for posterity.

The story is here pieced together from recollection of Miss Berwick and from old newspaper and magazine clippings.

The search was launched by the Michigan DAR in 1914 after some of its members surmised that the priceless 1835 document was buried somewhere within the archives of the Capitol building.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Campbell undertook the task of finding it.

Month after month she sifted through musty papers in the Capitol vaults.

★ ★ ★

Then, success! In a forgotten nook she spied a rust-coated metal tube. She opened it and there was the long-sought prize. Her delight was only a little dimmed by its tattered condition, for the document was a hatful of fragments.

ON TO WASHINGTON

Now the scene shifted to Washington. Mrs. Campbell personally carried her finding to the national capital and laid it gently on the desk of Berwick at the Library of Congress. She could have placed it in no better hands.

Berwick had been a bookbinder in Lansing for some 15 years before moving his family to Washington in 1900 to follow the same trade in the government printing office.

He had received his training in the British museum of his native England, and emigrated to Canada. There he married and, after the birth of two daughters, moved his family to Lansing. Besides bookbinding, he was engaged in map and chart making, much of it for what was then Michigan Agricultural College. He got his first job in Washington under civil service.

Berwick's work in the government printing office quickly marked him as a master craftsman, and when there was a vacancy in the position of restorer of documents, he was hand-picked from among some 3,000 applicants for the job. He early established a reputation for masterful work in this field also.

When Mrs. Campbell placed the canister with the ragged pages and scraps before him, Berwick must have accepted the challenge from his former home city with special zest.

With painstaking care, he cleaned each particle, assembled it in its proper place and secured each sheet with transparent silk gauze. At the same time, letters relative to the constitution, plus the original drawing of the Great Seal of Michigan were similarly restored, mounted on laminated linen sheets and bound in a leather volume 14 by 18 inches in size.

★ ★ ★

Berwick's name was included on the cover as the book's restorer. The bound constitution was returned to Michigan in late December 1914, and placed in the archives of the Secretary of State Department where it still rests.

★ ★ ★

He similarly restored the original document of the constitution of 1850.

A contemporary magazine, Woman's World, featured him in its August 1920 issue and stated that he "possesses more skill at repairing ancient manuscripts than any other man now living."

One of his most remarkable accomplishments — and one that confirmed him as the master in his field — was the restoration of a collection of records of the Cutler's Guild dating back to the great plague of 1665. Fittingly it was a task from his native England, the Guild-Hall Library in London.

The papers were so deteriorated that special arrangements had to be made to get them through customs without examination, for one extra handling might have destroyed their value.

FIRM AND USABLE

"When Berwick got through with them, they were as firm and usable as when first prepared back in the 17th century," the magazine related. "And only a close scrutiny under a microscope will reveal where his repairs were made."

One of the arts he employed effectively was splitting sheets of paper to separate writing on both sides before mounting.

He had seen the feat done during a Sunday School entertainment session when he was 11 years old. He never thought of it again until he became a restorer of documents and had to preserve a manuscript so thin it needed to be mounted.

★ ★ ★

In the process — an art that had become almost lost — Berwick steamed the sheet, peeled it to separate the opposite sides and inserted a permanent sheet between them, thus preserving the writing on both surfaces.

Among the many valued historical documents restored by Berwick was the original will of George Washington, consisting of 44 pages of foolscap. It has lain about the courthouse at Fairfax, Va., for a century or so, and anyone was allowed to handle it. As a result many bits were torn off and carried away as souvenirs.

Berwick went to Fairfax and found it was mostly illegible, patched with strips of court plaster and rude stitching.

Months of tedious toil were required to restore the pages to legibility. It was then bound in leather and housed in a glass case in the courthouse to preserve it for future generations. He also restored Martha Washington's will and placed it alongside her husband's.

Miss Berwick recalls that it was a pleased father who read to his family the New Year's Eve telegram from Frederick C. Martindale, Michigan's secretary of state, upon completion of the 1835 constitution job. The message was dated Dec. 31, 1914, and read:

★ ★ ★

"The Michigan constitution of 1835 has been received at my office. The work is most satisfactory. It has been examined by many of the prominent persons of the state and is pronounced by them as perfect. I wish to congratulate you and thank you for myself, the board of auditors and the state of Michigan."

★ ★ ★

A man who had been in excellent health all his life, Berwick died unexpectedly at his desk in 1920. After several years his widow and daughter relocated in Lansing. His other daughter had moved here after her marriage.

To Ease Clogging on Frisco Roads

Bay Area Tube System Would Cost $1.1 Billion, Boast 119 Miles of Line

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Bay Area is striving for a $1.1 billion rapid transit system which residents claim will be unique.

The system would include 119 miles of line, counting 27 miles of tunnels and 3.6 miles of underwater tubes.

It would serve 52 stations in five counties scattered on both sides of San Francisco Bay.

★ ★ ★

By 1980 the system is expected to handle 150 million passenger trips yearly.

This grandiose scheme is an answer to residents' headaches.

The city of San Francisco business center of the area, sits on the tip of a peninsula on the Golden Gate.

OVER GOLDEN GATE—

Its only connection with the north is over the Golden Gate Bridge. And its only connection to Oakland in the east is over the double-decked San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Because of mountains, most automobile traffic is jammed onto a few superhighways.

As a result, there just is not enough road space for all the cars. Traffic is clogged to a standstill several times a day, and the problem is becoming worse as more people move into the area and more families acquire cars.

Experts say the only answer to the problem is to persuade commuters to leave their cars at home —and to travel, instead, on ultra-modern, rapid transit vehicles hitting speeds up to 80 miles an hour.

The voters are expected to pass upon a $1 billion bond issue in June, 1962. That is double the present $500 million bonded indebtedness of the five counties. Officials hope to finance the trans bay tube from present bay bridge tolls.

Goodyear Chief Thinks Press Reports Too Good

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Is the American press doing too good a job in reporting on U. S. industrial development?

Russell DeYoung, president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., believes it is. He said that American trade journals, through excellent reporting, are "blueprinting our know-how for foreign industries."

DeYoung asked that the publications step up coverage of foreign developments to help bolster the American economy.

N. J. Completes Work on Heated Road Section

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A section of road that will be heated during the winter has been completed by the New Jersey Highway Department.

Workmen put finishing touches Tuesday to the experiment where copper cables containing heating coils to carrying electric current had been laid under a roadway at the Newark approach to the Passaic River Bridge.

A weather observation station, bolted to solid rock, has been in year-round operation atop Mt. Washington since 1932.

WANT ADS are for EVERYBODY

Can a businessman make profitable use of Want Ads? My answer is yes, in more ways than one! Most of the time I use Want Ads to sell merchandise, and I find it most effective, especially when the low cost is considered. But I also use the Help Wanted columns to find employees, and I have sold unneeded store fixtures and office equipment in the Want Ads too. It is always a source of amazement to me when I see how many poeple read and respond to those little ads. I believe it when they say "Want Ads are for Everybody" because I have seen how they benefit buyer and seller alike.

DAG HONORED WITH STAMP—U Thant, head of the Burmese United Nations delegation, looks at the enlarged version of new Suriname memorial stamp issued in memory of the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. This enlargement was unveiled in the delegates' lounge of the U.N. which is celebrating its 16th anniversary. U Thant has been mentioned as a candidate for temporary secretary general. Suriname is also known as Netherlands Guiana and is located on north coast of South America. Suriname is the Netherlands' spelling of the possession.

Beauty Expert Offers Advice on Using Scents

CHICAGO (UPI) — It's a waste of good perfume to dab it behind the ears, advises beauty expert Jeanne Bryant.

Researching the subject for a soap manufacturer, she came up with these tips for more effective use of perfume:

—Apply it at the pulse spots —temples, insides of wrists, base of throat — where body warmth keeps fragrance alive.

—Use enough perfume for it to be noticeable; otherwise, it's a waste.

* * *

—The best time to apply perfume is right after the bath.

—Don't mix colonge with perfume unless it's the same scent.

—Don't stroke perfume into fur or rub on clothes. It may stain and fabrics often changes the aroma. Then, too, you may want to use a different scent the second time around.

—Don't hoard perfume. An opened bottle gradually loses strength. So, if you vary your perfumes, buy them in small flacons so they'll be used before they dry up.

Rockets Change Life in Alabama

Per Capita Income at Huntsville Up $650 in Past Decade

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — The nation's space program at George C. Marshall Space Flight Center and Redstone Arsenal here has put a jingle into the pockets of local residents that almost is as loud as a static test firing of the mighty Saturn rocket.

* * *

The space efforts under Dr. Wernher Von Braun have been highly successful, but even the satellites orbiting the earth don't match the gains made in cash registers as far as local residents are concerned.

* * *

When the nation's space scientists were moved here in 1950 this North Alabama city had a population of about 16,000. It has grown to more than 72,000 in the last decade.

INCOME JUMPS

The per capita income here in 1950 was about $800, but, thanks mainly to the emphasis on space exploration, it jumped to $1,457 by last year.

The city limits were extended from less than five square miles in 1950 to the present more than 50 square miles.

Retail sales have jumped from $43.8 million to $112 million during the last decade. Vehicle registration jumped from 15,000 to 45,646 and telephones increased from 8,807 to 43,691 as residents became more prosperous.

* * *

The city's growth is reflected in the number of building permits — 435 in 1950 and 2,290 in 1959 — and postal receipts which jumped from $250,097 in 1950 to $809,727 in 1959.

* * *

Wages in the county before the missile boom totaled $15.5 million in 1950. Ten years later they reached $75,810,470 for a 387 per cent increase.

Double-Barreled Fire

NEW LONDON, Ohio (AP) — A dozen volunteer firemen had to brave an additional adverse condition in battling a blaze for a half hour here. The fire was in a railroad gondola car, and its cargo was 70 tons of sulphur which Fire Chief Al Walters said gave off a distinct aroma.

Easy to Kid Yourself About Communism

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's easy to kid yourself about communism.

You don't like it and, just because you don't, your wishful thinking takes over when cracks show up in the communist wall. You begin to have visions of fatal splits and big collapses.

★ ★ ★

You can walk into that trap now by dreaming of enmity between Russia and Red China over little Albania which, besides Yugoslavia, is the only Communist country in Europe not under Russian control and leadership.

Eighty-three Communist parties around the world last week sent representatives to the Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress in Moscow, but not Yugoslavia or Albania.

ALBANIA AN EXCUSE?

Stalin threw Yugoslavia out of the Communist bloc in 1948. After Stalin's death Albania lined up with Red China in finding fault with Premier Khrushchev's ideas on communism and the cold war.

At the congress Khrushchev denounced Albania. His exact purpose is not known. He may have had a special reason for it. Or he may have used it as an excuse to chastise Red China for its past differences with him.

But Red China's Premier Chou En-lai responded by rebuking Khrushchev for his denunciation of Albania. Then he flew back to Peiping. The exact reason for this is not known, either. There's been a lot of guessing.

It's possible he had a further, more private, quarrel with Khrushchev. It's possible he went back home for consultation with other Red Chinese leaders on what to do and will return to Moscow before the congress ends.

Perhaps, because so little is known of what happens within the inner circles of the world Communist leadership, this may be the beginning of a real break between Moscow and Peiping.

But, until more evidence is available, it is romantic to think so—at this time.

FORMATIVE STAGE

From its start with the Bolshevik revolution communism has grown increasingly stronger and it is still in its early and formative stage. It is still largely occupied with internal growth.

This hasn't stopped Red China and Russia—particularly Russia—from expansionist ambitions. But Russia had a big head start on the others in building itself up internally.

The Red Chinese, at this time when they are drowned in problems of feeding their people while trying to industrialize in a hurry, need help. And Russia is the closest and biggest Communist helper.

Further, at this time when Red China lacks nuclear weapons but when its expansionist aims in Southeast Asia may bring it into conflict with the West, it needs Soviet military backing.

In time, when Red China has solved its military and domestic problems, it will not need Russia. In fact, it may want some of the Russian area for its enormous population.

It is then that serious, and perhaps even fatal splits, in the Communist world are most likely to occur and because of one simple word which the Communist world denounces but ardently practices; nationalism.

NO MERGERS

No Communist country yet has shown any desire to lose or merge its national identity in anything which might be called a world communist state. And there is no reason, because nationalism has such deep roots, to think that it will disappear in the foreseeable future.

Where there is nationalism—with all that it involves in the way of trade, development, expansion, more territory, privileges and power—there will be conflicts.

★ ★ ★

This has been the history of mankind. Communists pride themselves on their realism and profess to despise romanticism. But it is the belief of this writer that they are the great romantics of history in thinking that if there were a Communist world it would be a quiet one.

Alfalfa Seed Below '60

LANSING (AP)—Production of alfalfa seed in Michigan this year is expected to be 3 per cent below 1960 and only one fourth of the 10-year-average, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says. Production of 235,000 pounds of clean seed is indicated.

French Colonists Find Oran Full of Hatred and Violence

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — Black posters showing the face of fugitive former Gen. Raoul Salan plaster the walls of Oran, Algeria's second city, gripped by fear and uncertainty.

To most of Oran's 200,000 French settlers, Salan and his Secret Army Organization have become their hope of survival.

★ ★ ★

The French colonists believe that plastic bombs and their determination to fight will win them political representation in an independent Algeria of the future. But racial hatred and violence sweeping the city for the past month have been growing out of control.

★ ★ ★

In tracts and verbal orders, the underground Secret Army appeals for fraternity between the French and the Moslems. The appeals have a hollow sound in Oran, where Moslem knife and grenade attacks are answered by mob pursuits and lynchings of innocent Moslems fleeing along palm-shaded avenues.

THEY'RE AFRAID

Today few Moslems venture into the European section, full of towering new skyscrapers and massive apartment buildings.

Oran, which until recently suffered little from the storm battering Algeria, has become the center of racial violence.

"The mob has taken justice in its own hands," said a police officer grimly.

★ ★ ★

To reduce clashes between the two ethnic groups, French troops moved in and surrounded Moslem quarters.

★ ★ ★

"This is a double-purpose measure," said an officer pointing to rolls of barbed wire and columns of armored vehicles outside the Moslem quarter. "It stopped the Moslems from getting out and it keeps the Europeans from getting in. It stopped death."

Only Moslems with work permits are permitted outside the barbed wire.

★ ★ ★

The French settlers have become convinced that this is the only way to deal with the rebel nationalists.

★ ★ ★

"Police would do nothing to stop terrorism," complained a French woman. "They hold terrorists in prison instead of executing them."

The settlers have rallied behind Salan and his underground army. Most contribute money. Those who refuse find their apartments or shops blown up by plastic bombs.

★ ★ ★

On the long cement walls protecting Oran's harbor, giant black letters proclaim "This is France."

Show 1 of 4 Teen Boys Begins Smoking Before Leaving High School

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While millions of adult smokers are guiltily wondering whether (or how) to give up the cigarette habit, millions of teen-age boys and girls are deliberately forming it.

You don't need statistical surveys to confirm this fact. Just take a look at any group of American young people — in a soda shop near a high school, in a bowling alley on Friday night, or at any teen-age social function.

But if you really want figures, they can be had. A study in Portland, Ore., shows that one boy out of four begins smoking before he leaves high school. One girl out of eight smokes before she's 17. Some boys — and girls — are lighting up before they're out of junior high.

This may be good news for the tobacco industry, which can look forward to another generation of cigarette addicts. But it is profoundly disturbing to organizations and individuals who are concerned about the future health of America's youngsters.

Offering a young person a bribe not to smoke until he's 21, or threatening him with various punishments if he does smoke, is a futile approach, according to one physician.

The only no-smoking rule that is likely to stand up under social pressure, he believes, is one that a young person has laid down for himself, with complete freedom of choice.

The big hitch is that adults set such a bad example.

APRICOT FILLED — These crispy pancake roll-ups filled with luscious tart apricot puree are especially delicious with a pour-on of the new maple syrup with butter. This particular syrup comes packaged in a novel glass bottle made in the shape of a woman. It will probably become a collector's item a hundred years from now.

Pheasant and Duck Deserve Good Preparation

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Are you pleased or exasperated when your husband returns from a hunting trip with a pheasant or a brace of ducks?

We wonder if all our sportsmen readers know that it is only 80 years since the first pheasants were introduced into the United States by the Consul-General of Shanghai? The present bird is what one book calls a "composite of species."

And what good eating it is.

Young pheasants have short, round claws while old ones have long sharp claws. Broil or bake the former; braise or stew the latter.

Whole pheasant tastes even better with a wild rice stuffing. This one combines the expensive wild rice with inexpensive corn bread. The recipe makes enough for two pheasants.

Wild Rice Stuffing

2½ cups crumbled corn bread
½ cup cooked wild rice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ cup canned sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Dash of sage
2 tablespoons milk
1 egg

Place corn bread crumbs and wild rice in mixing bowl. Melt butter; add onion, mushrooms and green pepper and brown lightly. Add to corn bread mixture. Add remaining ingredients, tossing lightly until just combined. (Add another tablespoon milk if you prefer a moist-type dressing.)

Stuff lightly into body cavity and neck region of pheasants. Place any leftover stuffing in a buttered 1-qt. casserole. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about 40 minutes. Roast pheasants in slow oven (325 degrees) about 1½ hours, basting often with melted butter.

* * *

If desired, a few strips of bacon may be placed over breasts of birds during roasting.

Now should the game be wild ducks, you can roast them Cantonese style. The tangy sauce made with apricot preserves is excellent with the flavorful meat.

Cantonese Duck

2 wild ducks, 2 to 2½ pounds (dressed weight)
Garlic salt and pepper
4 sprigs parsley
1 lemon, halved
6 slices bacon
½ cup beer
¼ cup dry mustard
½ teaspoon accent
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 cup apricot preserves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
¼ cup butter, melted

Sprinkle ducks inside and out with salt and pepper. Place 2 sprigs parsley and ½ lemon in cavity of each. Cover breasts with bacon and fasten with string.

For Cantonese sauce, stir beer into dry mustard. Stir in remaining ingredients except butter and heat in double boiler over hot water. Place ducks breast up in a baking pan. Roast in preheated 350-degree oven 15 minutes per pound, basting frequently with butter and once with Cantonese sauce.

Carve ducks. Serve with white rice, remaining Cantonese sauce and ale or beer. Makes 4 servings Duckling was one of the foods we had at our recent Chicago conference. With it we had curried tomatoes which were delicious. We think they would be good with any wild bird dinner.

Curried Tomatoes

Select firm, uniform tomatoes. Slice off tops and bottoms. Cut each in half crosswise. Dust halves with mixture of flour and curry powder. (Use one part curry powder to two parts flour.) Fry in butter; season with salt and cracked black pepper. Remove tomatoes to serving platter. Keep warm.

Fried Croutons

Dice firm, fresh, white bread into ½-inch cubes. Fry in butter until crisp. Drain on heavy, brown paper or paper toweling to keep crisp.

For sauce, slowly add small amount of light cream to residue in frying pan. Cook over very low heat for several minutes. Stir constantly until thickened. Pour through coarse strainer over tomatoes. Sprinkle with croutons.

Egg-Mushroom Salad Heated in Soft Rolls

Egg salad sandwich appears on most menu boards of cafeterias and lunch rooms. It's a good protein-rich food but sometimes not very flavorful. In this recipe for Luncheon Salad Rolls, we have combined eggs with grated cheese and chopped broiled mushrooms to make a flavorful extra special sandwich filling. And for a change, we've served it in a picnic bun or hamburger roll — oven-toasted.

For a traditional sandwich, use the filling with sliced whole wheat or rye bread or with one of the interesting special breads that so many supermarkets offer. Used with sliced bread, this filling makes an excellent lunch box choice and on toasted buns it's a good choice for Saturday lunch or Sunday night supper, or a hearty, late evening television snack.

Luncheon Salad Rolls

1 can (3 oz.) chopped broiled mushrooms
3 hard-cooked eggs
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 cup (4 oz.) grated American Cheese
½ cup chili sauce
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
8 hamburger rolls
Melted butter

Drain mushrooms, reserving broth for use in soup or gravy. Chop hard-cooked eggs and add drained mushrooms, parsley, onion, cheese, chili sauce, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly.

Cut tops off rolls and scoop out centers, then fill with mushroom-egg mixture. Replace tops of rolls. Brush rolls with melted butter. Place on baking sheet and bake in a preheated 350 degree oven until thoroughly heated — about 25 minutes.

Serve for lunch with tossed green vegetable salad. Makes 4 generous servings (¼ cup mixture in each roll).

No Tears to Shed With Canned Onions

Do you like to use the small—buffet size—of vegetables on occasion? Then this recipe will probably appeal to you.

Special White Onions

1 can (8 ounces) small white boiled onions
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons medium sherry
1 teaspoon sugar

In a small saucepan heat the onions in their liquid; drain thoroughly. In the empty saucepan over low heat, melt the butter; add sherry and sugar, mixing well. Add drained onions and turn them over in the butter mixture for a few minutes. Makes 2 servings.

Filled Dessert Pancakes Served With New Syrup

For a delightful new flavor treat, try these crispy pancake roll-ups filled with luscious tart apricot puree. Topped with a sparkling pour-on of delicate mapley-flavored syrup, the contrasting flavors and textures combine in a dessert that is long remembered.

The recipe for the roll-ups features Mrs. Butterworth's Syrup. This unique syrup, just being introduced nationally, actually contains golden melted butter. The syrup's novel, woman-shaped container is eye-catching and so attractive it can be used as a serving pitcher.

Here is the recipe, just developed in the newly opened Lever Homemaking Center:

Apricot Filled Dessert Pancakes

1 cup (No. 2 can) canned drained apricots, pureed
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 eggs
2/3 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted margarine
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Mrs. Butterworth's Syrup

Combine pureed apricots and lemon juice. Chill. Beat eggs thoroughly; add milk and margarine. Add flour, sugar and salt; beat until just smooth. Drop batter in 6-inch rounds (about ¼ cup) on hot, lightly greased griddle; cook, turning once until lightly browned on both sides. Remove from griddle. Spread each pancake with apricot filling; roll up; serve with Mrs. Butterworth's Syrup. Makes 6 servings.

Rabbit Is Correct

Welsh Rabbit is the correct spelling for a dish reputedly originated by a Welsh chietain who, when called upon to entertain a few hundred guests at a dinner, had to substitute a cheese dish for rabbit, the game customarily served.

Apples Are Good Inside and Out

Americans homemakers have been baking big panfuls of apples ever since the country was settled. More and more ways to bake apples have been invented in recent years—delicious variations on the original old recipes. Here is a brand new way to serve this fruit. A happy solution of what to serve for tonight's dinner, and for any party which is coming up soon.

Snowy Baked Apples

6 large baking apples
½ cup water
¾ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
¼ cup prepared mincemeat
1 cup flaked coconut, divided
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons granulated sugar

Core apples; remove about 1 inch of peel from stem ends. Place apples cut side down in shallow baking dish. Add water. Sprinkle water with brown sugar. Cover; bake in moderate oven 375 degrees, 30 minutes. Uncover; turn apples cut side up; baste with liquid in dish.

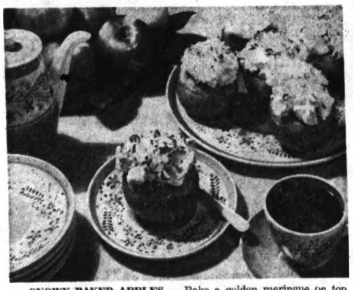
Combine mincemeat and half the coconut; fill apple centers. Bake 15 minutes longer, or until apples are just tender.

Meanwhile beat egg whites until foamy. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, continuing to beat until meringue stands in stiff peaks. Spoon on top of apples; sprinkle with remaining coconut; return to oven for about 10 minutes, or until meringue is golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

Spread Cheese in Pan Before Baking Biscuits

Surely, you have baked upside-down cakes, but have you prepared Upside-Down Cheese Biscuits? Melt 1 tablespoon butter in an 8-inch square baking pan; stir in 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese.

Cut biscuits from 1 package refrigerated biscuits into quarters; place quarters in pan very close together. Bake 10-12 minutes in preheated 450 degree oven. Invert biscuits onto serving plate and serve immediately.



SNOWY BAKED APPLES — Bake a golden meringue on top of apples after they have spent the required amount of time in the oven. A hidden bonus of these apples is the mincemeat and coconut filling. These apples will take their place proudly as dessert at any dinner.

Family Loses Weight During Stay in Shelter

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The seven-member Charles A. White family lost 13 pounds during a week-long stay in their underground fallout shelter.

★ ★ ★

The family emerged Tuesday confident that they had proved shelter living can be comfortable and that boredom can be dispelled by a rigid schedule of activities.

LOST WEIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. White each lost four pounds during the confinement, Landra, 15, one pound, Carl 11, and Andy, 12, each lost two pounds. William, 7, and Tommy, 4, stayed the same.

Mrs. White estimated family food consumption was down 15 to 20 per cent.

★ ★ ★

White said, "I'm confident now that should a disaster strike while I was away from home, the kids could go into the shelter and know what to do."

"It was a ball," said Mrs. White.

Europe leads in coal production accounting for about 45 per cent of the world output. The United States stands in second place producing about 34 per cent of the total.

Texan Sees Man in Orbit on Dec. 5

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — A Texas congressman says the United States will have a man in orbit by December and men on the moon by 1969.

Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., said Tuesday in a speech that the time table calls for the United States to send three men to the moon in a capsule by 1969.

Teague, a member of the Space Committee, said the tentative date for the United States to put a man in orbit around the earth is Dec. 5.

National Winners in Belgian Endive Contest Are Inventive

Three recipes were awarded cash prizes in the Third Annual Recipe Contest sponsored by the Belgian Endive Association. The judges were Miss Milo Miloradovich, author of such well-known books as "The Art of Cooking with Herbs and Spices," Miss Josephine McCarthy, outstanding Home Economics Specialist and Carol Knox of the NBC "Family Show."

The winners in the Belgian Endive Contest are as follows: Mrs. G. Bradford Du Rall, 4253 Mt. Hukee Avenue, San Diego 17, California, first prize of $100.00 for her recipe of Belgian Endive Royale; Mrs. Ray Krause, R.F.D. 4, Mitchell, S. Dak., second prize of $50.00 for her Belgian Endive Creole, and Miss Gina Santosuosso, 206 Park Street, West Roxbury 32, Mass., third prize of $25.00 for her Belgian Endive with Crabmeat.

Belgian Endive Tomato Royale

2 large firm tomatoes, peeled
1 teaspoon gelatin
1 tablespoon water
1 cup cottage cheese
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons finely chopped Endive
½ cup chopped ripe olives
12 heads Belgian Endive
1 clove of garlic, minced
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup lemon juice
1½ cups salad oil
1½ teaspoons salt
1 egg white, beaten stiff
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
3 tablespoons minced Endive
1 hard cooked egg, chopped

Cut thin slice from stem ends of tomatoes. Scoop out centers and drain. Soften gelatin in water. Combine with cheese, paprika, salt, Belgian Endive and olives. Fill drained tomatoes and chill until firm.

Then wash, trim and separate leaves of Endive and place on 4 individual chilled salad plates. Slice each tomato into 4 slices. Place 2 slices on each salad plate.

* * *

Marinate garlic in vinegar for 10 minutes. Add lemon juice, salad oil and salt. Add paprika and mustard to beaten egg white. Fold oil and vinegar mixture slowly into beaten egg white. Stir in minced Endive and egg. Serve over tomato slices. Serves 4.

Belgian Endive Creole

4 large heads of Belgian Endive
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
Salt and pepper to taste
1 small can button mushrooms and juice
1 small can of tomato sauce
1 small onion, choppbd
1 tablespoon celery, chopped
1 cup raw minute rice
2 cups boiling water
3 beaten eggs
3 tablespoons olive oil or salad oil

Allow 1 large or two small heads of Belgian Endive per serving. Crisp Endive in ice water for 15 minutes. Dry with paper towel. Cut large Endive in half lengthwise before preparing. Simmer Endive in oil in heavy skillet until just tender.

Then mix water, rice, celery, onion, mushrooms and juice and tomato sauce in bowl. Pour into 2 quart greased baking dish and top with beaten eggs and Endive, cut side down. Sprinkle with monosodium glutamate. Bake, covered, in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

Belgian Endive With Crabmeat

8 heads of Belgian Endive
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
½ cup grated Swiss cheese
½ cup light cream
Dash cayenne pepper
1 lb. or 2 (6½ oz.) cans crabmeat
½ cup dry bread crumbs

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Wash Belgian Endive and transfer to bottom of 2 quart casserole. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in pan and stir in flour smoothly. Add milk gradually. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add grated cheese and cream and cayenne pepper. Cook, stirring until smooth and thick.

Then remove from heat and stir in crabmeat. Pour mixture over Endive. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with remaining butter. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until bread crumbs are golden. Serves 4-6.

Quick Supper

Combine a can of cream of mushroom soup, dash of curry powder and pepper with ½ cup rich milk. Heat slowly. Drain and stir in a can of deveined shrimp, ½ cup quartered ripe olives, ½ cup celery and 2 tablespoons butter. Heat 5 minutes and serve over crisp toast points, biscuits or corn bread squares.

Hearty Food Is Order of Day for Football Fans

Supper is dinner in a hurry. The necessity for getting this meal together quickly, however, is no excuse for cutting corners on good eating, as these ideas for autumn suppers demonstrate.

When the youngsters are in a rush to get seats on the 50-yard line, send them off well fortified for a nippy Friday night or Saturday afternoon with Hearty Italian Soup. Zesty meatballs flavored with garlic, oregano and grated cheese give this soup a stick-to-the-ribs quality. Simple and speedy, Hearty Italian Soup uses canned consomme, vegetable soup and tomato sauce to omit the prolonged preparation one usually associates with homemade soup.

Don't forget soup as a snack. Have a kettle of Hearty Italian Soup simmering to greet your family as an after-the-game or post-party supper. Accompany it with an assortment of crisp crackers, favorite relishes, milk and, as dessert, a spicy apple-sauce cake with a broiled topping.

Another appealing but rapid supper can be built around Surprise Burgers. Prepare thin meat patties, seasoned and made moist with evaporated milk and packaged corn flake crumbs. Then sandwich them together with a filling inside and bake. Recipes for a baked bean filling or an onion-tomato combination are given, but other variations are endless. Chopped olives, pimiento cheese, corn relish and other favorites can be used to appetizing advantage.

Hearty Italian Soup

2 cups corn flakes or
⅓ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
⅓ pound ground beef
¼ pound bulk pork sausage
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 teaspoon chopped parsley or parsley flakes
1 tablespoon grated Romano cheese
½ teaspoon crushed oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 egg
3 tablespoons olive oil
1¼ cups (10½-oz. can) condensed consomme
1 cup (8-oz. can) tomato sauce
2½ cups (2 10½-oz. cans) condensed vegetable soup
2 cups water

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Thoroughly combine beef, sausage, salt, pepper, parsley, cheese, oregano, garlic powder, egg and corn flake crumbs. Shape into marble-sized meatballs. Heat olive oil in deep kettle. Add meatballs and shake gently over moderately high heat, turning and browning meatballs. Drain off fat.

Add consomme, tomato sauce, vegetable soup and water to meatballs. Stir gently to combine liquids; cover and simmer at least 30 minutes. Serve piping hot. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Surprise 'Burgers

2 cups corn flakes or
½ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
2-3 cup (6-oz. can) evaporated milk
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1½ pounds ground beef
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine all ingredients thoroughly in large mixing bowl. Shape into 12 thin patties about 4½ inches in diameter. On six patties, place one of the fillings suggested below; top with second patty; press edges together. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes.

Beanburgers

½ cup finely chopped onions
1 tablespoon butter
1½ cups baked beans, slightly mashed
2 teaspoons molasses

Saute onions in butter. Combine onions, beans and molasses. Spoon two tablespoons mixture on each of six patties.

Tomatoburgers

Top six of the patties with a tomato slice and a thin onion slice. Yield: 6 'Burgers.'

When you bake muffins from a recipe that's rich in shortening and sugar, you can skip offering butter with them.

Fine Fall Dessert

For a hearty dessert treat serve gingerbread hot from the oven, topped with apple butter and raisins. Use a gingerbread mix, and stir raisins into apple butter for the topping.

Face Election 'At-Large'

Alabama Congressmen Run Hard

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — There is no problem in getting a dinner speaker in Alabama these days. Just ask your congressman.

Alabama's congressmen are hungry—vote hungry; and the fare in next May's Democratic primary elections will be different from any they've ever had.

Alabama is losing one of its nine representatives because of population shifts, and the May elections are to decide, in effect, which one goes.

'9-8 PLAN'

The Alabama Legislature, failing to redistrict the state, came up with what is called the "9-8 plan" in a quick special session last summer.

★ ★ ★

The plan calls for each of the present nine districts to nominate a candidate in the first primary. The nominees then must run in a statewide primary. The top eight in the statewide vote will be in; the ninth will be out. Nomination as a Democrat is tantamount to election in Alabama.

The congressmen—all eager for re-election — aren't exactly pleased with the "9-8 plan" but they agree firmly on one thing—they all plan to campaign over the entire state.

Frank Boykin of Mobile, the senior member of the Alabama delegation with 26 years in Congress, proposes that the runoff candidates campaign together and share the expenses, "since we're all close friends."

He calls the "9-8 plan" the "most asinine thing I ever saw."

George Huddleston Jr. of Birmingham represents the state's most populous district. He is the freshman member of the Alabama delegation with seven years in Congress.

'POLITE RACE'

He says he's not counting on his vote-heavy district to tide him over in a statewide race. "As far as I'm concerned," he says, "my district is now the entire state of Alabama."

Armistead Selden Jr. of Greensboro said he believes it will be a very polite campaign. He said all nine candidates know that one has to go and the other eight will have to live together after it is over.

Robert E. Jones Jr. of Scottsboro said he believes the statewide election will show the congressmen more of the state's problems than they have known before.

Alabama's other congressmen are Kenneth Roberts of Anniston, George Andrews of Union Springs, Albert Rains of Gadsden, George Grant of Troy and Carl Elliott of Jasper.

Psychiatrist to Speak at St. Mary's Campus

The Aquinas Academy of St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake, will present its 17th Essai entitled "The Psychiatrist Looks at Adolescence" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Campus Assembly Hall. The event is open to the public.

Guest speaker will be psychiatrist Aloysius S. Church, M.D., assistant medical director at St. Joseph's Retreat, Dearborn, and nationally known author of newspaper and journal articles.

Kennedy Okays U. S. N-Blast

Underground Explosion Will Be Part of Atoms for Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy approved plans today for an underground nuclear explosion in New Mexico as part of the nation's program to develop peaceful uses for nuclear energy.

★ ★ ★

The White House said the explosion probably will take place in about 60 days, some 1,200 feet below ground in a salt formation near Carlsbad, N.M.

The blast will be the first in the Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare program to evolve peaceful uses for atomic explosives. Preparations have been under way since March 1960.

"This is a further example of this country's desire to turn the power of the atom to man's welfare rather than his destruction," the White House said.

Although the point was not made definitely clear, it appeared observers from the Soviet Union would be permitted to watch the test.

N. Y. Subway Will Get Unmanned Train Soon

NEW YORK (UPI) — "The Zombie Special," a fully automatic, unmanned subway train, is expected to be riding the rails in New York in a few weeks.

A spokesman for the New York City Transit Authority said the train without trainmen will run between Times Square and Grand Central Terminal on a shuttle line.

Governors Hear Woes of 5 Major Railroads

NEW YORK (AP)—A panel of governors was told today Eastern railroads were mired $122 million in the red as of Aug. 30, presenting a "real public crisis."

Leading rail executives, in prepared statements, blamed "artificial handicaps" imposed by government, including what one called "constructive fraud" by some states in property tax practices.

★ ★ ★

Presidents of five major roads and the head of a regional railroad group spelled out industry problems, and recommended solutions, at a conference of 16 state governors and their representatives.

★ ★ ★

Later in the day, eight spokesmen for railroad labor organizations were slated to advance their management, especially on the question of mergers.

The session was called by Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, chairman of the National Governors' Conference.

Invited were the governors of New York, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia.

"Many important lines (are) in worse shape than during the depression of the 1930s," said Allen J. Greenough, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the nation's largest.

In the late 1930s, nearly 40 major railroads were put through the bankruptcy wringer, many of them among the 30 lines represented today.

In his prepared remarks opening the session, Greenough said, "This is not a temporary condition. It threatens not only railroad employes, customers and investors, but also the entire economy of our section of the country.

NEEDS ATTENTION

"It will not miraculously disappear. The whole problem demands prompt and effective attention."

Greenough hit on what he termed restrictive federal transportation policies and pointed to government subsidies that he said gave unfair advantage to competing forms of transport—trucks, airplanes, barges and pipelines.

Jervis Langdon Jr., president of the struggling Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, said subsidy of rival forms of transport, unless corrected, likely would force nationalization of the railroads.

David J. Mackie, president of the 35-member Eastern Railroad Presidents' Conference, assailed state property taxing practices, saying 31 states in 1957 exacted $141 million in excessive taxes from rail carriers.

Ranger Firing Off Indefinitely

More Troubles Force Another Postponement of Launching Attempt

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — The on-again-off-again attempt to launch the Ranger 2 satellite on a million-mile roundtrip journey into space was postponed indefinitely today because of troubles encountered on another launching 3,000 miles away.

Ranger 2 had been on the launch schedule four times since last Friday as the National Space Agency sought to fire the Atlas-Agena booster rocket in an eight-day period when the moon, sun and earth are in favorable positions to put the satellite on the proper course.

This eight-day "window" closes Friday, and NASA decided today it will be impossible to get the rocket off by then. The next favorable time is a two-day period about 12 days from now. Another eight-day "window" opens in about a month.

Officials want to determine what went wrong with a Discoverer satellite rocket fired at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., last Saturday before committing Ranger to flight. On the Discoverer 33 launch, the Agena second stage apparently shut off too soon to reach orbital speed. A similar engine is in the second stage of the Atlas-Agena rocket on the pad at Cape Canaveral.

'Can't Oppose Aid to Schools'

Protestants Accepting U. S. Hospital Grants, Methodist Claims

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — A Methodist clergyman said Tuesday night that Protestant churches cannot oppose federal aid to Roman Catholic parochial schools if they continue to accept federal assistance for their hospitals and churches.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Dean M. Kelley of New York spoke to the second National Conference on Churches and Social Welfare. The conference is being sponsored by the Department of Religious Liberty of the National Council of Churches.

Monsignor Raymond J. Gallagher explained the Catholic position. He said that while the image of the Catholic Church depicted by some opponents is "sometimes embarrassingly accurate," the church is "not as monolithic as it sometimes appears."

Mrs. Geneva Mathiasen of New York, the executive secretary of the National Council on the Aging, said that churches owe it to older people to take the lead in building independent housing for the aged.

★ ★ ★

"The church not only can do a good job in determining need for golden-age housing," she said, "it can be the responsible party in getting financial aid and it can do a good job of planning a project, picking tenants, managing property and other services."

51 Towns Ask Aid for Sewage Plants

LANSING (AP)—Applications from 51 Michigan communities requesting federal aid for construction of sewage treatment plants will be screened by the Water Resources Commission Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Requests total more than $15 million. The state's share of the $80 million federal appropriation for the program is $2.3 million.

The agency also will receive a report from the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. in connection with waste control improvements planned for the ore beneficition process at its Humboldt mine.

Bacteria-Fueled Batteries to Be Tested by Navy

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says the Navy will soon conduct ocean tests of a new kind of battery in which bacteria help promote the flow of electricity.

★ ★ ★

The Times said the "bio batteries" have been operating in laboratories for more than a year but most details are classified by the Navy. The project came to light, the Times said, when similar experiments were done for an unclassified Interior Department project.

★ ★ ★

The bio batteries, the Times said, could make possible production of electricity from fuels now unusable, such as sugar, potatoes and sewage. The ocean itself could provide unlimited fuel or oxidants, the Times noted.

Liquid-Fueled Rocket Launched From Ocean

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A 17-foot-long liquid-fuel rocket has been blasted aloft from the ocean off Point Mugu in an experiment to prove the feasibility of ocean launches.

The Aerobee rocket shot up about a mile with a partial load of fuel, then floated back down by parachute Tuesday. Observers said the test was completely successful.

South Africa Paper Hits Award to Zulu

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's own newspaper today condemned award of the 1960 Nobel Peace Prize to banished Zulu chief Albert Luthuli as "an inexplicable pathological phenomenon."

The criticism was made in a sharp editorial in the Johannesburg Afrikaans language newspaper Die Transvaler. Verwoerd is chairman of the board of directors of Transvaler and the paper is regarded as his mouthpiece.

Nevertheless, belief is growing that Luthuli will be granted a passport to travel in December to accept his prize and collect the prize money—$43,744. Verwoerd himself will decide when Luthuli makes a formal application for a passport.

UCLA Art Exhibit Honors Picasso on 80th Birthday

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Pablo Picasso is 80 today, and UCLA is wishing him happy birthday with one of the most comprehensive exhibits of the world's greatest living artist.

"Bonne fete, Monsieur Picasso" is the name of the exhibit, and the artist sent a reverse birthday gift in the form of a special painting.

The showing also features a purloined Picasso, recently reclaimed from an art thief, plus gems from the collections of the movie crowd.

I dropped by the University Art Gallery for a preview of the show and was escorted through it by the director, Frederick Wight. He reported that the idea for the exhibit came from Beverly Hills art dealer Frank Perls, a Picasso friend who felt some observance should be made of the artist's four-score years.

SCULPTURE MISSING

The UCLA Art Council agreed and started seeking Picassos from Southern California residents and museums. The works came in ample number—45 oils, 67 water colors and drawings, 63 prints and a scattering of ceramics. "The only thing we're missing is sculpture," said Wight.

* * *

The exhibit boasts a brand-new Picasso, arranged by friend Perls. The literal-minded might take it for a nursery-school scrawl, except for the inscription: "For U.C.L.A. — Picasso — Cannes 23.5.61."

GENIUS SCRIBBLE

"It's a scribble," Wight conceded, "but it's obviously the scribble of a genius. I would call it an infinitely charming, engaging sketch. In a sense, it is a great man's signature and so serves its purpose. It isn't meant to be the Sermon on the Mount."

* * *

Wight sees a figure waving his hands in the sketch. It looked to me more like a bouquet atop an axle spring.

Whatever it is, it is selling like all of the Spanish-born, left-leaning artist's work. A hundred capitalists have already bought up the supply of signed lithographs at $200 per. Proceeds from the sale, as well as ticket sales, will finance art scholarships.

'ONE OF THE BEST'

We strolled among the drawings and paintings as workmen put final touches on the gallery. "This is one of the best things in the exhibit," said Wight, pointing to a drawing of Igor Stravinsky done in 1917.

* * *

Many of the canvases were stunning. "Courtesan with Jeweled Collar" (1901) displayed the sensuous influence of Toulouse-Lautrec. "Woman in Chair" (1956), loaned by Mrs. Gary Cooper, is a charming study of Picasso's wife with a recognizable head and mixed-up body.

Pablo lost me in some of the later stuff, especially Kirk Douglas "Enfant Assis," a boy with one eye and nose on one side of his face, mouth and other eye on the other.

Among the other loaners: Vincent Price, Billy Wilder, William Goetz, Ernie Kovacs, Gregor Piatigorsky, George Cukor. Also David Bright, who contributed one of the Picassos stolen from him this year.

Set Church Service for Reformation Day

The fourth annual Reformation Day Service under the sponsorship of the Waterford Township Ministerial Fellowship, will be held in the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Guest speaker for the affair will be Dr. Allan Frew, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit. Dr. Frew is well known in the Detroit metropolitan area as an active churchman.

The program will begin with a song service under the direction of Stanley Morse. Others participating will be the Rev. Robert Adams, pastor of the Crescent Hills Baptist Church and The Rev. Walter J. Teeuwissen of the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church.

Photographer Retaliates, Gets Even With Grocery

Teamster Hall Is Wrecked by Blast in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A mysterious explosion wrecked a building occupied by Teamsters Union Local 290 shortly before last midnight. No one was hurt.

* * *

"From the smoke and smell I would say that a very large charge of dynamite was set off," said police Sgt. Floyd Moon.

SEE NO REASON

Union officials and the owner of the building said they could give no reason for the incident. Union officials said they closed the building at 4 p.m., and left all doors locked.

No estimate of the damage was available but officers said the interior of the building—a one-story concrete block structure—was a total wreck.

Desks, chairs and filing cabinets containing union records were mangled by the explosion, and their contents scattered.

1861 Wires to Lincoln Copied, Sent to JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has received copies of four telegrams sent to President Abraham Lincoln 100 years ago to mark the opening of the first transcontinental telegraph line.

The messages, presented to Kennedy Tuesday by Western Union Telegraph Co., were dated Oct. 24, 1861. They assured Lincoln of the loyalty of Western states in preserving the Union, then torn by Civil War.

Asks Speed-Up in Demolition

Commissioner Landry Says Red Tape Slowing Up City Work

Commissioner Robert Landry last night asked administrators to investigate "too many technicalities in urban renewal demolition "that were making Pontiac the laughing stock of the state."

Landry told the City Commission and administrators that he had received calls from residents in his district asking why demolition "was going so slowly."

Landry claimed that Doer Wrecking Co., also felt clearance was being held up "by too many technicalities and inspections.

"Other cities get the contractors bonded and go ahead with land clearance," Landry said. "If we must make 15 or 20 inspections on each structure wrecked, it appears this whole operation is getting too bureaucratic.

"Wreckers say they have to wait for inspectors to show up. This takes hours or days sometimes. Wrecking equipment is shuffled to another site and then back to the first site after inspections have been made on what has been done."

Landry said he felt "it's time someone holds a meeting to get this smoothed out."

Asst. City Manager Robert A. Stierer explained that all wrecking "comes under specifications set up in the contract with Doer. This may require some inspections but shouldn't hold things up for days."

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said that he and engineers will meet with Doer to effect speedup measures.

Former Edsel Dealers Suing Ford Motor Co.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Two former Edsel dealers in Sioux Falls filed a $170,000 suit against the Ford Motor Co. Tuesday, charging Ford "knowingly, falsely and recklessly" misrepresented the quality of the car and the local market for it.

Earl and Lloyd A. Larscheid filed suit in U.S. District Court seeking damages for alleged financial reverses suffered as a result of taking on the Edsel line. In Detroit, a Ford spokesman said the company had no comment.

Kennedy said presidents of the two firms also were named as defendants. Head of Huck is A. Watson Armour II. Fred R. Dickenson is president of Tosend.

Waterford Man Wounded in Leg While Hunting

A 24-year-old Waterford Township man was shot in the leg yesterday in Oakland County's first accident of the small game hunting season.

★ ★ ★

In fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital is Raymond Sutton of 7610 Cooley Lake Road who was wounded by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun while hunting in White Lake Township.

Sutton was injured when a hunting companion's shotgun accidentally discharged on a farm at 47850 Ormond road at about 1:20 p.m. yesterday.

William E. Shell, 20, 201 S. Josephine Road, Waterford Township, said his gun went off as Sutton was walking up a hill in front of him. Shell said the gun had been misfiring earlier in the day.

★ ★ ★

Sutton was struck in the left leg, just below the knee. Sutton's wife Emily, 19, and Piero Massacesi, 22, also were in the hunting party. Massacesi applied a tourniquet before Sheriff's deputies arrived at the scene.

The small game hunting season opened Friday in Southern Michigan.

Associates Won't Feel Slighted

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: May I invite some of my office associates to my wedding and not others without causing hurt feelings? All have contributed to a wedding present for me and I don't want to slight any of them, but there are too many to ask all.

A: If your office is a large one, your associates certainly can not all expect to be invited and should not feel slighted if you select a few especial friends and invite them to your wedding.

* * *

Q: Whenever we dine in a restaurant, my husband has a habit of wiping off the silverware before starting to eat. I think this is very improper and an insult to the owner of the restaurant. He claims that in a public restaurant where one cannot be sure that the silverware has been thoroughly washed, it is entirely proper to do so. Will you please give us your opinion?

SHOULDN'T WIPE SILVER

A: You are right. Your husband should not wipe off the silverware even in a restaurant. If he sees that a fork, spoon or knife is not clean, he quite properly asks the waiter to replace it with one that is.

Q: What is the correct way to eat sherbet when served with the main course at dinner?

A: You eat it with a teaspoon.

Walk on Chunky One-Inch Heels in 1962

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four major fashion themes for spring emerge from the collections shown thus far by leading New York designers.

* * *

They are:

—A heightened look to the waistline, detailed with high-set buttons on suits and coats, with fabric bows, insets or high-riding belts on dresses.

—A construction closer to the body, but rarely hugging the figure.

—Continuation of the knee-high skirt lengths for day.

—Designers' renewal of the bias cut in all fabrics and their enchantment with a softened look via ruffles.

* * *

These are the "basics" to watch for when you do your spring shopping. But apt to go unnoticed are numerous other fashion touches.

ONE-INCH HEELS

Take shoes. The low-heeled pump is in for daytime. Models at most shows wore alligator or kid pumps with narrow toes and chunky one-inch heels.

Take hats. The wide brim swept off the face and the side-draped turban were the shapes most frequently used to accessorize daytime clothes. For evening, encase your hair and face in several yards of sheer veiling.

Take collars. That is, take collars if you can find them. The collar-less look continues into spring in suits, coats and costumes. When collars are attached, they're neat, well-mannered little jobs lying flat against the collarbone.

Take sleeves. There again, if you can find them. The sleeveless dress often is topped with a brief, swinging jacket called the "flip," also sleeveless.

When there are sleeves, they end just below the elbow. The glove to wear with them no longer is the classic shortie, but an elbow-length kid.

Take fabrics. They get lighter in weight each year and such terms as souffle silks and spongy woolens are everyday words in the fashion industry.

For the sheer look for late day, Rosalie Macrini is one of the leaders. This designer who manages he own firm showed chiffons in numerous versions — plain, tucked into horizontal bands, printed with architectural motifs, and treated to look like a ribbon knit.

These knit chiffons had been stitched and tucked for a puckered, textured look and Miss Macrini said they would travel just as wrinkle-free as any wool or cotton knit.

PENELOPE TODD

Mr. and Mrs. Ashby G. Todd of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter Penelope to Robert F. Lavery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne F. Lavery of Birmingham. Miss Todd attended Stepens College and her fiance is an alumnus of the University of Michigan. February vows are planned.

Don't 'Drop In', Abby Says

Tell Sis You're Coming

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and our four children plan to drive up to British Columbia to visit his sister, her husband and their five children.

ABBY

We have three weeks' vacation coming, haven't seen these folks for four years, and think it would be lots of fun. We will stay with them, of course, since we don't know anyone else up there.

Now for our problem: Should we let them know we are coming, or should we just drive up to their back door and surprise them?

My husband is sort of superstitious and says it is bad luck to reveal your plans in advance and he wants to surprise them. Would this be proper?

B. C. BOUND

* * *

DEAR B. C. BOUND: This would be HIGHLY improper, and I suggest you write first. Your husband's sister might be superstitious about thirteen people in a home that ordinarily houses seven.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: How do you tactfully tell a neighbor woman that you would like to entertain once in a while without her presence? Every time a car drives into my driveway, my neighbor "joins" us. She is a good neighbor in many ways, but we do not travel in the same circles. Many of my friends do not care for her. (Her language is a bit on the vulgar side.) I don't want to hurt her feelings, as we both own our own homes and I like to be on good terms with my neighbors, but if I don't find a solution to this problem my husband is going to do it for me, and it won't be pleasant.

HELPLESS HOSTESS

* * *

DEAR HELPLESS: No one who has a desire for privacy with the courage and a voice to proclaim that desire need be "helpless" against an intruder. Inform her in a kindly way that, when you have guests, you'd like to entertain them alone.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in real estate, and he is out almost every night of the week on "business." His normal homecoming time is around 9:00 p.m., but lately he has been pulling in at 4:30 and 5:00 a.m. When I ask him where he's been, he says at the corner tavern. They close the place at 2:00, but he claims that just means they lock the door and don't let any more customers in, but anyone who is already in can stay as long as he likes. Is this true? Or am I just plain —

GULLIBLE

DEAR GULLIBLE: True or untrue, the real question is, "What has the corner tavern got that your home hasn't got from 9:00 p.m. to 5:00 a.m.?" If you don't find out, you are more than "gullible," dear. You're sunk!

* * *

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press.

Trio of Fruit Flavors Blend in Sherbet Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Sherbet makes a good dessert, especially if the meal has been a heavy one. Mrs. Harold McAllister shares with us her family's favorite sherbet recipe. It should be good to look at as well as to eat.

* * *

There are four boys in the McAllister household. The family is building a new home. Mrs. McAllister is active in Extension work.

FRUIT SHERBET
By Mrs. Harold McAllister

2 cups milk
1 cup sugar
1 cup crushed pineapple, not drained
Juice of ½ lemon
Juice of ½ orange
12 maraschino cherries, cut up
Pinch of salt

Mix all ingredients together and pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until mixture becomes hard around the edges. Beat well and return to refrigerator. Freeze until firm. Makes 6-8 servings.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

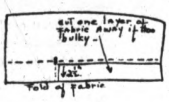
"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I recently purchased a dress pattern with a straight skirt. I would like to make a pleat in the back, but don't know how. There is a seam at the center back." Mrs. A.N.

This is a fairly easy alteration to make and can be done with any skirt where you have the center back seam cut on the lengthwise grain line. This may require re-folding your fabric, if so, be sure that you have made an even fold or you won't have a perfect grain line.

Lay the center back seam line about 2½ inches from the fold line. The width of the pleat can be even from the hemline up to the waistband.

By adding the fabric all the way up, you will avoid having to top stitch the end of the pleat from the right side, which usually pulls out and makes your pleat hang uneven. If the fabric is unusually heavy, you may want to cut one layer of this fabric away above the top of the pleat.



NECKLINES RAVEL

"Dear Eunice,

"Your column has been quite a help to me in my sewing activities for myself and my two girls in 4-H.

"How can I prevent slashed necklines and pockets from raveling out? I sew the seams twice as directed on the patterns, before I slash, but after the first or second wearing, they begin to pull out." Mrs. A.J.W.

The type of fabric you are working with has a lot to do with the remedy for this situation. If your fabric is rather heavy, you may press a small circle of "press-on tape" on the wrong side of your garment, at the place to be slashed. Then re-inforce by machine stitching with a small stitch, ½-inch on each side of the point to be slashed. This should prevent pulling out.

If your fabric is rather light weight, baste a small piece of hem tape under the slashed point and proceed as above.

Possibly the biggest help would be to tell you to use a small machine stitch at this point when stitching your garment. You must stitch as close as possible to the slash, however, if you stitch too far in, you will have a pucker.

ALL ABOUT SLEEVES

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Sleeve patterns usually have the instructions to gather a certain portion and "ease" these gathers into the armholes. Why not cut the sleeve to fit the armhole, since the gathers are not intended to show in the finished garment? My gathers don't "ease" well.

Miss B.C.

The sleeve must have this extra "ease" or it will pull and tear out when you move your arms. You may learn to set in a sleeve to perfection by sending 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this paper with your request for "All About Sleeves."

TAILOR TRIX BOARD WINNER:

Cadijah Lundeen, Des Moines, Iowa, wins this week's TAILOR TRIX pressing board for this suggestion.

* * *

To line up the two halves of a row of snaps, sew all the pront-end half of the snaps on one side first. Then rub chalk on them and carefully press against the side where the other half must be sewn into place. The chalk will mark the place exactly.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Should Be Careful in Labeling Actions

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today, because Edna grabbed her checkerboard away from her little brother, her mother called her a "mean, selfish girl."

But this opinion of Edna's action was not accurate.

* * *

Edna did not grab her board out of "meanness" or "selfishness"; she grabbed it out of fear that he would damage the board.

For only last week, Buddy ripped the Snow White page in her coloring book, which she had been saving as its most exciting picture project.

Two days ago Buddy threw the floor lamp from her dolls' house into the hedge, where she couldn't find it.

Many experiences of his mistreatment of her possessions have made her afraid of sharing them with him.

But parents are the people on whom children must rely to name things accurately. So Edna has not questioned her mother's misnaming of the feelings which denied Buddy her checkerboard.

Her parent is the authority who correctly named the water which falls from the sky, "rain." She has taught Edna the right words for milk, for school, for the colors of the socks she wears.

* * *

With this background of trusting mother's correctness in naming all the objects of her world, Edna must also trust that correctness in naming her fear as "selfishness" and "meanness."

* * *

Thus she has no alternative but to feel shame for a feeling which in fact her experience justifies as sensible and self-protective.

Referring to a recent column of mine on the danger of applying moral labels to all of children's actions, an angry reader writes:

"You are still peddling the old-fashioned 'progressive' line of child training. It is now out of date. Don't you know that your ideas are obsolete?"

* * *

My answer is "No." I am neither "progressive" nor "obsolete" when I protest the danger of defining children's natures for them.

My distrust of people who assume such godlike power has nothing to do with fashions either modern or out-of-date. The tendency of human beings to affix accusing labels to each other is a timeless moral problem.

It's the one which led St. John the Revelator to identify Evil itself with the "Accuser" of our brothers and which he said "deceiveth the whole world."

* * *

No, madam. There is nothing new or old in my suggestion that all human judgment contains the possibility of error.

Including my judgment. Including yours.

Let Husband Peruse the Paper in Peace

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This "togetherness" kick the women's magazines are on doesn't show any sign of letting up.

* * *

In a recent issue of one such magazine there is this bit of advice to young husbands: "Please don't bury your nose in a newspaper. News is something that can be shared."

Just how is the young husband supposed to go about sharing the news?

Is he supposed to hold his wife on his lap while he reads aloud to her, so she won't feel left out while he concentrates on the daily paper?

Or is he supposed to ignore the paper and learn only as much of the day's happenings as he can get from a TV newscast sandwiched in between commercials . . . , "I'll be back in a moment, but first a word from our sponsor . . . "?

Or would it be better if he ignored the news altogether, being 'content just to sit and listen while his wife gives him an account of her day?

Or would it be allowable for him to say to his wife, "Honey, when you're ready to read the paper, let me know and we'll divide it. You know I wouldn't want to sit down and read until you can."?

* * *

Of course, not many husbands are going to be reading the advice aimed at them in women's magazines.

But their wives will read it. And some of them are bound to get the idea that George or Bill or Jim is being downright selfish to come home at night, grab the newspaper and act for all the world as though world news was more important than news of the neighborhood as reported by their wives.

Perk Up Your Posture

Carriage Affects Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Defects in posture have a dramatic effect on the figure. For instance, round, slumping shoulders minimize the bust to such an extent that even adequate curves are lost. Correct carriage lifts the bust and creates a lovely silhouette.

* * *

Round shoulders also lead to a dowager's hump and a stringy neck. Usually, one who slumps through the shoulders also allows her head to protrude forward. In other words, the person collapses at the back of his neck.

A protruding tummy increases the size of the waistline. Try standing in front of a mirror. Allow your abdomen to protrude. Look at yourself. Now pull your abdominal muscles in. Look again. Even better, measure your waistline when your abdominal muscles are lax, and then again after you have pulled them in. You will be surprised by the difference in the measurements.

Sway back is one reason for not wearing sheathes. When you are swaybacked, your pelvis is not in correct alignment and hips stick out in back. Usually, the abdominal muscles are weak. When standing, try to pull your abdominal muscles in and tack your hips under.

* * *

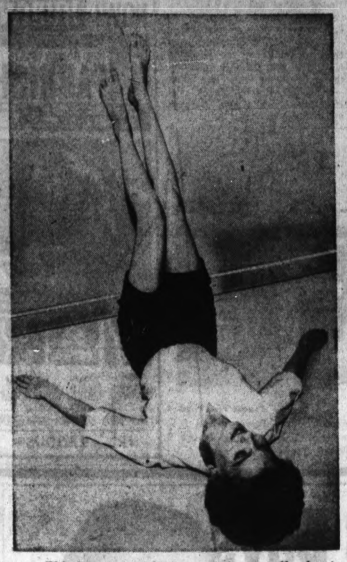
Any good abdominal exercises will strengthen those muscles. Here are a few for swayback.

1. Stand with your back to the wall, toes pointing forward, feet separated and heels six to eight inches from the wall. Bend your knees. Press hard against the wall with the small of your back. Hold while you count to eight slowly. Relax. Continue. If you cannot touch the wall, come as close as you can.

2. Lie on the floor on your back with your hips close to the wall and your feet on the wall. "Walk" up the wall with your feet, as high as you caan go. Walk down the wall. Continue.

* * *

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Grace and Charm," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 57 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.



This is an unusual way to go for a walk—but it will strengthen your abdominal muscles. Simply "walk" up the wall with your feet, as high as you can go, walk down and continue.

Nancy Budwit Repeats Vows at St. Michael Rite

Nancy Agnes Budwit spoke vows with Ronald P. Sabourin at a nuptial High Mass offered by Rev. Charles E. Cushing Saturday in St. Michael Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Benjamin Budwits of Beach Street and the A. F. Sabourins of East Tennyson Avenue. The AMVETS Hall on Oakland Avenue was the setting for the wedding breakfast and a late afternoon reception.

Sequin-touched white Chantilly lace over taffeta for the bride was styled with Basque waistline and bouffant skirt with chapel train. She wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls. Her gown was complemented by French illusion veiling caught by a double crown of pearls and sequins. Fuji chrysanthemums and ivy were arranged in a bridal cascade.

Attendants wearing Neptune green iridescent taffeta, and green velvet hats, carried yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. Yellow rosebuds centered the bouquet for honor maid Leonette Sharette, Veronica Geis, Dundee, and Sue Dorman were bridesmaids.

Gail Vandendriesche of Monroe was flower girl. Her brothers Robert and Russell, who are twins, carried the rings.

Robert and Gary Sabourin were best man and usher for their brother. The bride's brother George and Michael Buchanan also seated guests.

After a Northern Michigan honeymoon the couple will be at home on Mary Day Avenue.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Budwit chose taupe lace over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in taupe satin brocade. Both wore purple orchids.

Pair Wed at St. George

Honeymoon in Hawaii

The Anthony Mitchells left for a honeymoon in Hawaii and California following Sunday vows pledged to Rev. Gus Tsompanos in St. George Greek Orthodox Church.

Daughter of the Wayne Jacksons of Concord, Tenn., the former JoAnn Jackson of Atlanta, Ga., was given in marriage by her brother-in-law Alvin E. Hamil. The bridegroom's parents are the George Mitchells of Cass-Elizabeth Road, Waterford Township.

Gowned in candlelight satin with bodice and skirt panel of Chantilly lace, the bride wore fingertip illusion veiling caught by a lace crown. She carried yellow chrysanthemums, white roses and ti leaves.

* * *

Carolyn Jackson of Nashville, Tenn., attended her sister as maid of honor, with bridesmaids Mrs. Thomas Nicholas, the bridegroom's sister; Gena Windle, Sharon Jackson of Knoxville, Tenn., Juanita Hamil and Virginia Jo Worley. Jane Windle and Pamela Hamil were junior attendants.

All wore green taffeta sheath dresses with bell-shaped overskirts. They carried bronze chrysanthemums.

Cindy Hamil and Nancy Windle were flower girls and Elias Nicholas ringbearer.

Zachary Athanas was best man. Seating guests were Paul Boel, Eugene Ryeson, Charles Worley, Edwin Jackson, Nicholas Bidnco and David Stevens.

For the ceremony, which preceded a dinner reception in the "300 Bowl," Mrs. Jackson chose a blue satin sheath worn with white cymbidium orchids. The mother of the bridegroom pinned green cymbidium orchids to her bouffant gown of taupe chiffon.

YOUR BEST INVESTMENT IS IN YOURSELF
Can you afford specialized business training? You can't afford not to have it. When you are young the best investment you can make is in yourself. One hundred dollars invested in a bond will bring you three or so dollars a year — unless something happens to the bond. But a hundred dollars invested in acquiring knowledge or skill will bring you dividends of pleasure and profit as long as you live. Your principal will be invested in a business you control. It will be where you can watch it. Booms can't inflate it and depression can't wipe it out. Thieves can't steal it. Relatives can't borrow it.

See Possible Breakthrough in U.N. Deadlock

Nationalist China May Change on Outer Mongolia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Prospects brightened today for a break in the Security Council deadlock barring Mauritania and Outer Mongolia from membership in the United Nations. Nationalist China appeared to have abandoned its intention to veto the Mongolians.

A Nationalist spokesman said his delegation did not expect to get voting instructions until just before the council meeting this afternoon to consider the two membership applications. But reports from Taipei said Chiang Kai-Shek's government had reluctantly concluded it would have to change its hitherto rigid position and the Nationalist Parliament had given its tacit assent.

* * *

A double-barreled resolution covering both candidates was being considered to get around a dispute between the Soviet Union and the West over which application should get priority.

The Soviets have been insisting that Outer Mongolia be considered first. Then, if Mongolia was blocked by a Nationalist veto or failed to get the required seven approving votes, the Russians could retaliate by vetoing Mauritania.

MOST SUSPICIOUS

Western delegates in turn were suspicious that the Russians, if they got Outer Mongolia accepted first, might then veto Mauritania to curry favor with Morocco, which claims the former French territory.

* * *

To get around this, some delegates suggested including the candidacies of both Mongolia and Mauritania in a single resolution. There would be a separate vote on each applicant, but if either failed to make the grade, both would go down when the resolution is voted on as a whole.

The Soviet Union vetoed Mauritania's application last December, partly in support of Morocco and also on the ground that if Mauritania got in, so should Mongolia. The Nationalists threw the veto against Mongolia in 1955, provoking a Soviet reprisal veto that blocked Japan's admission until the following year. This year, the Brazzaville group of 12 former French African colonies indicated that if Mauritania was kept out as a result of Nationalist action, they would retaliate by voting to seat Red China when the Chinese representation question comes up in the General Assembly later this year.

* * *

The Soviet Union's Valerian Zorin sought Latin American support for his proposal that an interior secretary-general should have seven chief aides—from the United States, the U.S.S.R., Africa, Latin America, Eastern Europe, Western Europe and Asia. Latin American delegates were reported split over the proposal. Many held with the U.S. view that there should be only five aides—from the United States, the U.S.S.R., Africa, Latin America and Western Europe.

Guard Follows Orders, Dies

Forced to Watch Bandit Rob Bank, Detective Fatally Shot in Street

ATLANTA (UPI)—A guard heeded orders never to shoot at a bandit inside a bank for fear of hitting bystanders, but was fatally shot on the street Tuesday when he followed the fleeing holdup man outside.

Pinkerton detective Morris A. Strickland, 49-year-old father of four, was forced to stand by as the bandit walked down a row of teller's cages scooping up $30,810 in bills and jamming them into a bag at the Howell Mill Road branch of the Citizens and Southern National Bank.

The bandit saw Strickland standing near the door, his coat open and a gun visible, as he started to leave the bank. Witnesses said the holdup man warned the guard:

"I wouldn't try that if I were you."

TRADED SHOTS

The bandit backed out the door, and as soon as it closed Strickland charged through it and traded shots with him.

Authorities were unable to determine whether any of the four shots fired by Strickland wounded the bandit. A bullet hole was found in an abandoned pickup truck used as an escape vehicle.

Strickland, a retired major with 22 years' service in the Army's criminal investigation division, was struck in the side by the return fire of the bandit and died 20 minutes after being admitted to a hospital emergency room. Strickland was hired by the Pinkerton detective agency last Dec. 5.

A $25,000 reward was offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandit.

DUMPS HIS WHEAT—Ralph Shinaberry, Hillsdale County farmer, dumped 97½ bushels of wheat in front of the Agriculture Stabilization Commission office. He violated the wheat quota in 1954 and the government placed a lien against the wheat. Shinaberry said he has stored it since then and presented a bill for $2,544 to Ferrid Leach (above) ASC manager.

Civic Center Too Small, Cries Con-Con Delegate

LANSING (AP) — Delegate Arthur J. Madar, D-Detroit, expressed the view Tuesday that the constitutional convention erred in picking Lansing as its site.

Madar told the convention, "We were taken." He later told newsmen he considered the Lansing Civic Center meeting rooms too small to accommodate the individual committees, witnesses and interestered spectators who might want to attend hearings.

"We'd have done much better in Grand Rapids or Detroit," he said, adding, "We'd have been closer to areas where lots of people live and our committee hearings would attract more witnesses and more people from the general public."

Madar's ire was aroused when Walter De Vries, R-Grand Rapids, chairman of the con-con committee on administration, told of efforts being made to arrange space for some of the larger committee hearings, notably those with numerous witnesses.

★ ★ ★

De Vries differed with Madar's view and praised Lansing officials for complete cooperation in arranging for con-con facilities.

"You'll have to remember that when we started negotiations with the Civic Center, we did not even know how many committees we were going to have, let alone how many witnesses we'd have and how many people would want to sit in on certain hearings," said De Vries.

13 COMMITTEES

The convention has 13 committees.

Delegate William Ford, D-Taylor, earlier told the convention it should secure some space in downtown Detroit big enough to hold some committee public hearings.

De Vries pointed out that under convention rules, no committee could hold a hearing outside of Lansing without first getting convention approval.

He suggested that each request be handled on an individual basis, rather than making a blanket commitment for space in Detroit or any other community outside Lansing.

LANSING (AP) — The first public hearing of the constitutional convention will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. by the committee on finances and taxation, which will hear witnesses on earmarked state funds.

Other committee hearings today: Miscellaneous and schedules, 9 a.m.

Legislative powers, 8:30 a.m.

Local government, (after plenary session).

Executive branch (after plenary session).

Ask Land Earmarked for Clinic Expansion

LANSING (AP)—The State Mental Health Commission is asking the City of Detroit to earmark some land near the Lafayette Clinic there for possible expansion of the facility.

The commission has written Detroit housing authorities asking that they consider reserving some land adjacent to the clinic for future expansion needs.

The commission meeting here Tuesday also approved the hiring of a public education officer, yet to be selected.

★ ★ ★

"The job of the officer will be to get across to the public the tremendous needs that exist in our mental health program," said Charles F. Wagg, director of the Mental Health Department.

Exchange Club Officers to Attend National Event

Area executive officers of the National Exchange Club will join other executives and 800 Toledo area Exchangeites at Monday's dinner to welcome Dr. Porter L. Fortune Jr., new secretary of the national organization, at Toledo, headquarters city of the National Exchange Club.

Among the Exchange district governors participating will be Leslie R. Ware of 125 Barrington Road, Pontiac, William M. Berno of Grosse Pointe, William Wieland of Roseville, and Alfred E. Foster of Trenton.

Airport Porter Helps Man, Gets Big Tip—a Car

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Edward D. Parence, a porter at Buffalo International Airport, helped a customer unload four pieces of luggage from an automobile Tuesday. The customer then told him "the car is yours."

Jack E. Teehan of Auckland, New Zealand, handed over the keys, signed the title transfer, waved goodby and took off with his wife for the long flight home.

Teehan, who said he was a broker and real estate man, had been touring the United States for several weeks. He said he bought the car, a 1955 Oldsmobile, in Florida for $750 but had no further use for it.

"We're a three-car family," said Parence. He said he and his wife probably would sell one of the three.

Oxford Council Okays Urban Planning Study

OXFORD — By unanimous approval last night, the Oxford Village Council initiated the 701 urban planning study, the federal-sponsored program to aid municipalities developing a master plan of future needs and growth.

Discussion of the project had been tabled at the last regular meeting until Robert W. Smalley, village manager, could designate funds to pay for it.

The formal resolution passed last night requests the State Departments of Administration to petition the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency to approve the study plans and the necessary grant.

A contract between the village, the state and Vilican-Leman & Associates of Southfield, the planners, should be ready in a few months, Smalley said.

Cost of the urban master plan will be about $17,425, according to Vilican-Leman. Of this amount, the village will pay 25 per cent or $4,356. This fee does not include an interest of 7 per cent which will go to the State for its part as village agent.

According to the planners' schedule, the entire study will be completed in two years.

★ ★ ★

Items on the work agenda include base maps and topographic studies, estimates and projections of future population and traffic flow and other data basic to the study of future land use.

TO DETERMINE NEEDS

Other work will determine, on the basis of present and projected population needs, just what utilities, police and fire protection, recreation, sanitation and government facilities eventually will be necessary.

In addition, complete surveys of "market area," as well as future industrial growth will be made to determine the village's coming economic situation.

Zoning regulations will be designed to accommodate the findings.

★ ★ ★

The planners expect to work in close coordination with county, state and neighboring area planners and officials, Smalley said.

NEWS OF THE AREA

No Official Action Taken After Troy Road Hearing

TROY — No official action was taken last night after the city planning commission held a public hearing on its proposed master thoroughfare plan outlining the future widening of Troy roads.

★ ★ ★

The commission held the hearing to determine the most acceptable form in which the city's future road expansion could be protected.

Three proposals were presented to the public.

Each would seek to discourage or prohibit building on future rights of way which the city may eventually purchase.

The third program discussed an ordinance prohibiting any building on these proposed rights of way.

'DESIGNED TO INFORM'

Neither of the first two proposals seeks to place a "cloud" on titled land, City Manager David E. Firestone said.

Rather they are designed to inform owners and buyers of such property that the city may some day buy for needed rights of way he explained.

Firestone added that in such cases where the city would be forced to condemn the land in order to acquire it a fair market price would have to be paid for both the property and buildings on it.

★ ★ ★

The master thoroughfare plans would act as recorded reminders for property owners to set buildings back a sensible distance from proposed rights of way, he pointed out.

Charles Leman of Vilican-Leman & Associates, Southfield, described the physical aspects of the proposed master plan.

According to Stanley Burke, city atttorney, the plan most favored by the people present was one which would place a master plan only on the city file.

★ ★ ★

Burke added that the proposal for a set-back ordinance might encounter legal difficulties if approved.

Emeigh Heads Firemen's Unit

Name Orion Twp. Man to Presidency of Group in Oakland County

New president of the Northeast Oakland Firefighter Association is Edward E. Emeigh of the Gingellville Station, Orion Township Fire Department.

★ ★ ★

He succeeds Ellsworth Sage, Oxford fire chief, who served in the top post for two years.

Named vice president of the organization at the quarterly meeting in Leonard was Jack Caylor, Lake Orion fire chief.

Other officers are William Buckingham, Brandon Township fire chief, secretary; and William Skellenger, chief of the Metamora department, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

The new officers will be installed at the January meeting of the association in Davisburg.

Ten fire stations in eight municipalities are in the association which numbers approximately 200 members.

There are two pieces of equipment each from the Gingellville, Hadley, Metamora and Springfield departments, three each from Lake Orion, Brandon, Addison and Oxford, and five from Independence, making a total of 25 available for emergencies in the northeast section of the county.

Voters Approve 2-Year College in Wayne County

DETROIT (AP)—Establishment of a two-year community college state — was approved Tuesday —the 17th such institution in the by voters in four Western Wayne County school districts.

The approved proposition calls for founding a $4.5-million institution to serve 1,250 students from the school districts of Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City and Clarenceville, which also includes a portion of Oakland County.

Voters in all four districts approved the proposal, as was required for passage. The total vote was 7,695 in favor to 2,600 against.

★ ★ ★

The four districts had approved the plan June 12, but it was rejected by voters in the Redford Union and South Redford districts. So the proposal was revised to include only the four districts in favor of it.

To Spend $60 Million on Xways, Highways

FLINT (AP) — An estimated $60 million will be spent to build new freeways and modernize existing state highways in Genesee County during a 10-year period ending in 1967, a State Highway official said here Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Deputy State Highway Commissioner Frederick E. Tripp told a meeting at Flint that expressway mileage in the county will be more than doubled during the next six years.

★ ★ ★

Freeways scheduled to be built by 1967 include an extension of the east-west M78 freeway from Swartz Creek to Davison and a north-south freeway through Flint, Tripp said.

Imlay City Sets School Tax Vote

Measure Asks Increase of Three Mills to Meet Maintenance Expenses

IMLAY CITY — Electors in the Imlay City Comunity School District will be asked to vote Nov. 8 on a millage request to provide additional operating funds for district schools.

★ ★ ★

The ballot will be a single proposal to increase school tax by three mills for a period of three years.

According to the board of education, the increase is needed to match hikes in the costs of school maintenance.

In addition, board members said, no increase in the general operating funds has been made to cover maintenance of the new high school which was added to the budget in 1957.

The proposed millage increase would go into effect on the 1962 tax roll.

At the end of the three-year period, school officials predict, the increased taxes would have produced a balanced budget, permitted proper maintenance of buildings and equipment and reduced borrowing and interest costs.

According to the board's figures, the present tax rate in the school district is the lowest in the area, compared to 12 other neighboring districts.

If the millage increase is approved in November, Imlay City's total tax rate would remain among the lowest rates in the area, Schools Supt. Alvin P. Norlin said.

For each of the district's six townships, the proposed increase per $1,000 of assessed value would be as follows:

Almont Township, $2.90; Arcadia Township, $1.29; Attica Township, $1.96; Dryden Township, $2.91; Goodland Township, $2.80; Imlay Township, $3.10.

A board member of the Friends will accompany the film to answer any questions audiences may have on the film.

Groups interested in the film may contact Mrs. Alex Duffield, of 6081 Winkler Mill Road, president of the library group.

The Rochester Woman's Club, first service club to launch the present library movement begun in 1918, has reserved the film for its first showing Friday at the home of Mrs. Clifford P. Dutton, 465 Rochdale St.

★ ★ ★

Two Tennessee Schools Placed on Probation Over Recruiting

NCAA Group Tightens Cage Regulations

NEW YORK (AP)—The NCAA, still smarting under the basketball scandals of last March, aimed today to tighten the regulations on college players to the extent that they will be completely shielded from outside influences.

★ ★ ★

The powerful 18-man council of the NCAA—a body which rarely, if ever, is questioned by the organization, Tuesday adopted four amendments to NCAA rules which would tighten the holds on college players.

The four amendments will be presented with the council's backing at the annual NCAA convention in Chicago on Jan. 11-13. They are almost certain to be passed.

The amendments are:

1. The barring of all outside basketball competition, including the summer leagues.

"Originally," said Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, "the recommendation was to bar the players from summer competition. But the council heard a report from the gambling committee which recommended all outside competition, and decided to adopt it."

2. A pre-registration rule that bars an athlete from engaging in varsity competition until he has been in residence in a college two years if he decides to transfer after registering at an institution.

★ ★ ★

"We have been concerned with athletes transferring from junior colleges and starting varsity competition," said Byers.

He added that if an athlete decides to transfer to a college division (small college) institution, and the college has not recruited him, the penalty does not apply.

3. Transfer rule that would require an athlete to be in residence in the school to which he transfers for one year before he can engage in varsity competition.

4. A recommendation that an athlete suspended from a college for disciplinary or academic reasons must complete two years of satisfactory work to be eligible for varsity competition in another school. The present rule is one year.

★ ★ ★

The council also dealt out disciplinary penalties to Ohio Valley Conference schools, Tennessee Tech and East Tennessee State.

Tennessee Tech was placd on probation for two years and was ruled ineligible for NCAA events for one year and NCAA television programs for two years; East Tennessee State was placed on probation for one year with no other penalties.

Tennessee Tech violations concerned reducing financial assistance to a football player, not providing athletes with written statements of financial aid and providing assistance to an athlete after he had completed his freshman year at another school without first obtaining the clearance of the college's athletic director.

(The Nashville Tennessean identified the football player as Tommy Beam of Tullahoma, Tenn. John Oldham, Tenn. Tech basketball coach, identified the athlete involved in the third stated offense as Tommy Duffer of Hodgesville, Ky. who went to Union (Tenn.) University one year, then transferred to Tech.)

East Tennessee State was found guilty of furnishing a room to a prospective student-athlete in a dormitory prior to his enrollment, furnishing free transportation from the site of his summer job to his home and permitting two basketball prospects to "demonstrate their abilities to the head coach during the summer months."

East Tennessee officials made no immediate comment.

Saimes Picked Back of Week

MSU Fullback Named by AP for Performance Against Irish

By the Associated Press

Michigan State's George Saimes, the shining star of the game of the week, was named today the Back of the Week in The Associated Press poll.

A defensive stalwart, the 20-year-old fullback broke loose in the second half to rip apart Notre Dame's defenses and lead the top-ranking Spartans to a 17-7 victory over the sixth-ranking Irish.

The quick-striking, 186-pound junior, the campus champ in dancing "The Twist," showed his snaky hips to the Irish defenders in reeling off scoring runs of 24 and 25 yards within 2 minutes, 46 seconds. In addition, he streaked 26 yards in the final quarter to help set up the insurance field goal. In all he carried 14 times for 142 yards, a sterling show against a team with a rock-ribbed defense.

Called "the complete player," by Coach Duffy Daugherty, Saimes was all of that in unbeaten Michigan State's fourth victory. He is from Canton, Ohio.

HIS HERO — Michigan State fullback George Saimes, named the AP's "back of the week" today, takes time out from yesterday's workout at East Lansing to give his autograph to four-year-old Peter Gottlieb. The 186-pound junior from Canton, Ohio, scored two touchdowns Saturday as his team rallied to defeat Notre Dame, 17-7. He rushed for 142 yards.

Wolverines Work on Pass Defense

Indiana Requests 4th Team

EAST LANSING (AP) — "What we'd really like to do is play Michigan State's fourth team," said Tom Miller, advance agent from Indiana.

Miller was playing it modest as he talked of the meeting here Saturday between top-ranked Michigan State and his own Hoosiers, who won their first game last Saturday after losing eight in a row.

"Our scouts tell us Michigan State is one of the all-time great teams this season," Miller said. "We are better than we were last year and are improving with every game. But we're not improving enough to close the gap between us and Michigan State."

The Indiana athletic publicist talked up his own outfit a little louder as he gathered enthusiasm.

"They are a remarkable bunch," he admitted. "with a little luck we could have been 3-1 coming into this game instead of 1-3."

A few breaks, he explained, might have resulted in wins in the 14-8 loss to Kansas State and a 6-3 defeat by Wisconsin.

Indiana also lost 27-8 to Iowa but finally broke out last Saturday with a 33-7 thumping of Washington State.

Sophomore halfback Marv Woodson, with 211 yards rushing, is a pretty fine runner, Miller conceded. He also added that halfback Nate Ramsey will be back for the Michigan State game after being sidelined by injuries the last time out. Ramsey, with 164 yards, was the leading rusher before he was knocked out because someone stomped on his hand.

Indiana also has a pretty fair country passer, Miller allowed, in quarterback Byron Broome who has hit 17 of 39 throws for 204 yards.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Pass defense is getting special attention at Michigan this week as the Wolverines gird for their 52nd annual grudge battle with defending Big Ten champion Minnesota.

Sandy Stephens, senior quarterback of the once-beaten Gophers, is known as an excellent runner on option plays but has never been noted for his passing.

Yet he threw four touchdown passes in leading his team to a 33-0 rout of hapless Illinois last weekend, and that bodes ill for the Wolverines.

Michigan hasn't come up against any of the nation's best passers in its first four games, but even the ordinary ones have experienced better than routine success. Consider that:

— Ron Digravio, a sophomore, and his Purdue teammate, Gary Hogan, completed 10 of 13 passes for 185 yards and one touchdown in last week's 16-14 loss to Michigan.

★ ★ ★

— The week before, Pete Smith hit on four of six for 82 yards and a touchdown in guiding Michigan State to its 28-0 victory.

— Army's Dick Eckert completed 22 of 31 for 164 yards and one score, although his team lost 38-8. Only UCLA with a meager 5 for 14 was less than excellent against the Wolverine pass defense.

Over-all, U-M's opponents have completed 42 of 70 passes for 512 yards and three touchdowns.

Baron Stewart 1st Again

BY CHUCK ABAIR

It's Roger Stewart's turn to head the Oakland County individual high school football scoring race this week.

The Bloomfield Hills halfback regained the edge over Dorie Reid of Ferndale with a 2-1 touchdown edge last weedend. He now has 81 points in six games to lead by three.

Art Schueler of Birmingham Groves keeps moving up. He tallied 18 more digits last time out to jump from 5th to 3rd at 67. Tom Mitzelfeld of Rochester and Hazel Park ace Dick Golinski dropped from 3-4 to 4-5.

Ron Koteles of St. James advanced from the bottom of the top 23 to 8th. He is coming along as expected after shaking early injuries.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake, Rochester, Ferndale and St. James have two representatives each on the county list which totals 23 names this time because of ties.

New in the group are Mike Hinckley of Walled Lake, Roger Bauer of Avondale, who has dropkicked three extra points, Jim Daniels of Seaholm and Bill Atkins, Ortonville.

Bauer garnered 20 points and Daniels 18 to make big jumps into the select circle.

★ ★ ★

Chris Payne of Pontiac Northern was the big county man over the weekend with 24 but still is short of the list with 30.

Imlay City holds down three of 11 area positions with Spartans ranking 4-5-6 led by Dick Sefcovic's 43 points.

Jim Porte of Armada is pulling away from Romeo ace Bill Trieloff but now has Dwight Lee of New Haven to contend with. Lee scored five touchdowns against Almont to move with seven points of Armada and take over 2nd place dropping Trieloff to 3rd.

Porte has 74, Lee 67 and Trieloff 55.

High School Passer Helped Top Lineman

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa end Cloyd Webb says a poor passer in high school helped him become a standout college receiver.

After nabbing seven tosses for 104 yards and two touchdowns against Wisconsin last Saturday, Webb, 19, was asked how he did as a prep pass catcher.

"I didn't catch so many, but every catch I made was sensational," he replied. "Our passer couldn't throw the ball at all. Any time you caught one it had to be sensational."

★ ★ ★

Several of Webb's catches in the Hawkeyes 47-15 defeat of Wisconsin also were sensational. His play earned him the football lineman of the week award by The Associated Press.

Hills Soccer Team Wins

Lions Still Ahead of 1960 Pace

Detroit Begins Road Schedule at Los Angeles

Total Offensive Attack Below Par as Compared to Last Season

Despite a home stand that saw the Detroit Lions lose three of four games, Coach George Wilson's team still is ahead of its 1960 pace as the team readies for the game against the Rams that marks the mid-point of the 1961 schedule.

Last year, approaching the sixth game of a 12-game card, the Lions sported a 1-4 record. This year, looking ahead to the seventh game of a 14-game slate, Detroit sports a 3-3 record and has games remaining against all teams listed in front of them in the standings.

The Lions meet the Rams, who aren't happy with their 1-5 record, in the Los Angeles Coliseum this Sunday, Oct. 29. Kickoff is slated at 4:30 EST and the game will be televised in Detroit over WJBK-TV and the Lions network.

Coach George Wilson, to use the term loosely, is "disturbed" over the Lions lack of offense that has scored only nine touchdowns in six games. He "blistered" his players at halftime of the Baltimore clash, and they responded with two lightning-like scoring passes in the third quarter, but they couldn't maintain their pace and the Colts kicked a 45-yard field goal in the final eight seconds to record a 17-14 decision.

If nothing else, Wilson is hopeful of having his ace field goal kicker, Jim Martin, back for the Ram encounter. Martin suffered a hairline fracture of the shoulder against Chicago, missed the first Ram meeting, and attempted one field goal against Baltimore but was ineffective because of the pain and restricted movement. An extra week's rest should put the ex-Notre Dame star back in shape and his presence should add a few points to the Lions offensive total.

The Lions and Rams met two weeks ago in Tiger Stadium, with Detroit edging the West Coast club, 14-13, when a short field goal attempt in the closing seconds went astray. Last year, the two teams split the annual two-game series, the Rams winning 48-35 on the Coast and the Lions scoring 12-10 in Tiger Stadium.

IT'S LOVE — Star outfielder Frank Robinson, 26, of the Cincinnati Reds, and Barbara Ann Cole, 20, tell newsmen about their wedding plans at her Los Angeles home. They plan to marry at her sister's home in LA Saturday. The bride-to-be is a telephone company employe.

Mantle AL's Best Slugger

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, who took a back seat to teammate Roger Maris in the 1961 home run race, captured the American League slugging crown for the third time with a .687 percentage.

Cincinnati's Frank Robinson won the National League slugging title for the second straight season with a .613 average, figures compiled by The Associated Press revealed today.

A year ago Mantle accumulated the most total bases in the junior circuit, but Maris wound up the slugging leader at .581. This season it was the reverse, Maris leading in total bases and Mantle topping the sluggers.

Mantle, whose 54 home runs were second best to Maris' record of 61, accounted for 353 total bases in 514 at bats. Among his 163 hits were 16 doubles and six triples. The 30-year-old switch-hitter had previously annexed the slugging crown in 1955 with .611 and 1956 with .705.

★ ★ ★

Robinson, whose productive bat was instrumental in the Reds' winning the National League pennant, collected 334 total bases in 545 trips. The wiry right-handed swinger's extra-abuse output included 33 doubles, seven triples and 37 homers among his 176 hits.

The 26-year-old outfielder was the slugging champion in 1960 with a .595 mark, becoming the first Cincinnati player to win the title since Edd Roush accomplished the feat in 1918.

Slugging averages are figured by adding the total number of bases on all hits and dividing the sum by the times at bat.

Detroit's Norm Cash, the American League batting champion with a .361 average, was runner-up to Mantle in the slugging listings at .662.

Figures MSU for Win, but Not U-M Gridders

NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing like money in the bank—unless it is in your pocket. And a $1 bet on each of the 57 games a week ago would have netted you $31 on the basis of 44 correct picks and 13 losses.

★ ★ ★

With no assurance that this week's choices will be as profitable.

Michigan State over Indiana: It is the Spartans homecoming game and that should be enough to keep top-ranked Michigan State alert even though the Hoosiers will be at full strength for the first time in a month.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: Old Miss has permitted only 13 points in five games while piling up 157. The proportion shouldn't change too much.

★ ★ ★

Ohio State over Wisconsin: One of these Saturday's Ron Miller, the Badger tosser, is going to get hot and embarrass everyone. But doubt it will happen at the expense of the Buckeyes. You can see for yourself on TV.

Texas over Rice: Four reasons for this pick—Jerry Cook, Jimmy Saxton, Ray Poage and Tommy Ford.

Alabama over Houston: But the Crimson Tide will have more trouble than in last week's 34-3 joust with Tennessee.

Iowa over Purdue: The Hawkeyes' new passing combine of Matt Szykowny to Cloyd Webb will prevail in a squeaker.

Louisiana State over Florida: The Bengals keep building for that climactic struggle next week with Mississippi.

Notre Dame over Northwestern: The Irish feel they should have beaten Michigan State last week and will take it out on Northwestern.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: As last week, you gotta stick with Stan Gann.

Colorado over Oklahoma: The Buffaloes get their third victory over the Sooners in 16 years of trying.

★ ★ ★

Penn State over California: The Golden Bears from the West Coast do more traveling for fewer touchdowns than any extant.

Missouri over Nebraska: With or without Ron Taylor, the ailing Missouri quarterback.

Pittsburgh over Navy: The Panthers too good for fifth straight defeat.

Minnesota over Michigan: Sandy Stephens to guide the Gophers to a narrow triumph over the weary Wolverines, who have had two tough ones in a row.

★ ★ ★

Maryland over South Carolina: The Carolina defense not strong enough to complicate the Maryland offense.

Southern California over Illinois: The Illini possibly the weakest in the Big Ten.

Utah State over Idaho: The Utags haven't lost in six starts, Idaho has won only once in five.

Gross, Detroit Leading Nation in Total Offense

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Detroit, led by junior quarterback Jerry Gross from Bay City, today ranked first among the nation's major football colleges in forward passing offense.

The once-beaten Titans in four games have 61 completions in 127 attempts for a .480 percentage, good for a total of 913 yards or 228.3 yards average per game.

The NCAA Service Bureau shows Gross with an over-all total of 988 yards in the four games, which makes him the nation's offense leader.

He has hit 59 of 120 attempted passes for 889 of the yards and last week against Navy accounted for 286 yards both passing and running.

Championship Week for Area Preps

Walled Lake and Rochester can become the first area schools to claim outright championships by posting wins this week.

The Vikings of coach Dave Smith can wrap up another Inter-Lakes crown by downing Southfield Friday on the Blue Jays field. Rochester needs to beat L'Anse Creuse at Mt. Clemens Saturday for the Tri-County championship.

Northville, at home against Clarkston, is expected to gain at least a tie for the Wayne-Oakland title and Imlay will be favored to do the same thing in the South Central when the Spartans travel to Oxford. Both games are Friday.

Avondale's Oakland B championship hopes will ride on the outcome of the Yellow Jackets' game at Fitzgerald. Royal Oak Kimball can oust Port Huron from Eastern Michigan League contention and set up the big showdown with Ferndale next week by beating the Big Reds at Port Huron.

Pontiac Northern must win at Berkley Friday and then hope for Southfield to upset Walled Lake. Should this happen, PNH would tie the Vikings for first place.

Pontiac Central hits the road for a Saginaw Valley encounter against Saginaw Eastern.

PULLED UPSET

Southfield torpedoed Walled Lake last season 15-6 to gain a tie for the championship. The Blue Jays are out of the running this time, but have been noted for good performances against the Vikings.

Although the unbeaten Vikings won a big game over Berkley last week, Smith probably won't have much trouble getting his charges up for the game.

The Northern-Berkley contest could turn into a high scoring affair. Both teams have good offenses, but haven't been too strong on defense. It will be quarterback Phil Krumm directing the Bears' attack. Chris Payne led Northern last week with four touchdowns.

Rochester can't afford to slip against mediocre L'Anse Creuse. The Falcons play only three league games against four for Lapeer. A loss to the Lancers would put Lapeer (2-1) in a position to win outright by downing Kettering.

Romeo plays at Roseville and Lapeer is at Grand Blanc for non-league tussles. The Bulldogs of coach Ernie Maule have completed Tri-County play.

Waterford will be out to snap a four-game losing streak at Farmington. The Falcons have yet to win a game, but they have shown steady improvement and could add another setback to Waterford's record. The Skippers must win or they will be forced to share last place in the I-L with Farmington.

Northville, the No. 2 Class B team in the state, is expected to roll past Clarkston. The Mustangs could win the championship outright Friday if West Bloomfield can upset Bloomfield Hills.

The Lakers slipped last week against Clarkston while the Barons were edging Holly. The Hills will get the nod in this one, however coach Art Paddy's Lakers could pull a surprise.

Holly will be trying to keep its second place hopes alive at Milford and Clarenceville hosts winless Brighton in other league action.

Avondale is in the same boat with Rochester — the Jackets must win—but for a different reason. While Avon is battling Fitz, Troy will be going against weak Oak Park. The Colts and Avon are tied for the lead.

The Yellow Jackets play Oak Park next week, but can't afford a loss because Troy meets Madison and is expected to win that game, too.

The way it looks now, Avon must beat the Spartans in order to tie with Troy for the championship.

★ ★ ★

If Lake Orion can get all its injured back in uniform, the Dragons could make it rough for Clawson Friday on the Orion field.

Madison has a non-league game at Garden City.

The second big battle in as many weeks in the EML sends Kimball to Port Huron. The Big Reds were bounced from the ranks of the unbeaten by Ferndale last week, 33-7, and must win or forget about the championship.

Kimball, ranked No. 2 in Class A by UPI, must win. Should the Royal Oak school slip, the Knights would need a win at Ferndale next week in order to set up a three-way tie for the crown.

Birmingham Seaholm is expected to notch its second straight win in EML play when the Maples travel to East Detroit. Coach Carl Lomle's team pulled a mild surprise at Mt. Clemens last week after losing four straight.

Ferndale steps out of league play to take on a weak Dearborn eleven.

PCH Harriers Top PNH

Pontiac Central's cross country team continued its domination of the rivalry with Pontiac Northern by defeating the Huskies, 20-41, Tuesday afternoon.

Art Fowlks and Wilbert Preston placed 1-2 for the Chiefs who won their fourth meeting with PNH without a loss. Fowlkes was timed in 11:36.4.

Tod Twitchell of Northern placed third. Then came, in order, Earl Thompson, PCH; Don Tucker, PNH; George Williams, Harold Davis, Overdis Warren and Richard Johnson, all of PCH; and Cliff Dawson, PNH.

Jerry Koch edged teammate John Popovich for first place in 11:05 as Waterford Kettering won its second straight meet, a 26-29 decision over Clarkston.

Milford gave its four top runners the day off, but still had more than enough to topple Northville, 16-47. Rick Adams of Milford was first in 11:27. Harold Faught of the Redskins was second.

The quality of bowling seems to be getting better and better around this area. Early scores this season continue above normal for the opening months of play.

A steady increase of classic and house leagues scattered around the various keg establishments may be a big reason for the improvement.

These loops drum up considerable interest among other bowlers at the respective "houses" because usually participants are the cream of the crop of pintopplers competing under the same roof.

Lower average men or women not only follow the classics because they admire those taking part as the best they know but they also strive to improve their own games in hopes of someday being elevated to the prestige loop.

Of course, the printing of articles on bowling tips such as "Everybody's Bowling" currently running in The Press, various keg programs on TV, expanded interest among women and children, free instructions offered by most places and other factors all must be considered.

There had been only a few local classics but many alley proprietors are now giving it a try and others are planning to.

Latest scores from Howe's Senior Classic show "Shine" Samuilow with a 255 to top eight recent 200s, Al Swansey hit 236-602 and George Parker 211-598 to pace Williams Lake Barber Shop to a 3½ point win over Froling's enabling Stroh's to take 1st. Chuck Larr rolled 230-589.

He'll Spend Last Dime

Celtics' Owner Claims Sharman Will Not Play

BOSTON (AP) — Fiery Walter Brown, millionaire owner of the Boston Celtics, says he'll spend his last dime to keep Bill Sharman from playing with the Los Angeles Jets of the American Basketball League.

Brown exploded in anger Tuesday night when asked for comment on Sharman's charge that the Celtics are withholding $3,423 from last spring's National Basketball Association playoffs because he quit the Boston team shortly thereafter.

"Sharman walked out on the Celtics and I'm sick and tired of all the sympathy he has been getting since then," Brown told Boston Herald sports writer Jim Carfield.

"I'm perfectly willing to let Bill coach, but I'm prepared to spend my last dime to keep him from playing. I'm sick of this piracy, by the ABL. I have no use for quitters. I didn't quit on Bill. He quit on me."

★ ★ ★

Sharman left the Celtics after 10 years as the popular and high scoring backcourt teammate of Bob Cousy. He said at the time he was worried that, because of his age, the Celtics might leave him unprotected in the basketball draft and that he might go to the Chicago Packers, the new entry in the NBA. Sharman signed as player-coach with the Jets.

Brown blasted Sharman was breaking the reserve clause in his contract.

"Sharman can't play (with the Jets) because of the reserve clause," Brown said again. "The new league has the same option in its contracts. If ours is no good neither is their's."

★ ★ ★

Neither Sharman nor Jets owner Len Corbosiero would comment from Los Angeles on Brown's statements.

Piston Coach Makes Shift

DETROIT (AP) — Bob Ferry and Willie Jones, two reserves, have been given rare starting assignments for the Detroit Pistons' debut tonight in their new home, the Convention Arena.

The Pistons will open their fifth National Basketball Association home season in Detroit against the Los Angeles Lakers. Detroit lost its road inaugural 137-102 Saturday to the world champion Boston Celtics.

The 6-8 Ferry was given a starting assignment in an effort to stop the high scoring antics of the Lakers' Elgin Baylor. Ferry teamed with 7-footer Walter Dukes in last season's playoffs in holding Baylor down to something below astronomical scoring heights. Baylor had averaged 40.8 points a game against Detroit in the regular season.

Jones, drawing his first start in two seasons with the Pistons, has been given the task of guarding the other half of the Lakers' potent punch, Jerry West. West has averaged 34.5 points in the Lakers' two games this season.

The other starters in the Pistons' home debut will be Dukes, Bailey Howell, and Gene Shue.

EVERYBODY'S BOWLING

5 — PUSHAWAY

By MARION LADEWIG
Seven-Time All-Star Winner

More than 7,500,000 women bowl regularly.

They account for about 45 per cent of the adult bowlers. They're gaining so fast on the men that Brunswick statisticians estimate there will be as many women as men rolling by 1963.

A good portion of the women who take to the lanes could improve their scores if they would realize that brawn and bulk are not necessary for a good game. Smoothness, rhythm and grace are far more important.

At the end of the pushaway, the left hand should leave the ball and allow the right arm to take over completely. Never try to guide or force the ball into the pendulum swing. Let the weight of the ball do this for you. The left hand is for assistance only in a smooth pushaway. After that, it acts as a balance.

Practice this movement by assuming your stance, then taking the left hand away and allowing the ball to go into the pendulum swing.

BRAWN and bulk not needed.

NEXT: Backswing.

West, Baylor Pace Surging Lakers

St. Louis Having Troubles

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Hawks, who've made winning the Western Division of the National Basketball Association a habit, may have a rougher time of it this season now that young Jerry West has come of age.

West, the former West Virginia All-America with the all-round skills, hit the 30-point figure for the third straight game Tuesday night as he and incomparable Elgin Baylor fired the Los Angeles Lakers to a 124-122 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

★ ★ ★

When the rookie-studded New York Knicks upset St. Louis 112-110 in the second game of the doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, the Lakers found themselves 1½ games up on the Hawks with the season hardly started.

St. Louis has yet to win in two starts while the Lakers are 2-1 and showing no special weakness now that it is established that Baylor won't have to carry the heavy scoring alone.

West, who came along nicely in the last half of his rookie season a year ago, and Baylor combined for 61 points Tuesday night—with Baylor's two free throws with seven seconds left clinching the victory over Cincinnati. The Royals, now 1-1, were led by Oscar Robertson with 32 points and Wayne Embry with 30.

Old hands Bob Pettit (27 points) and Clyde Lovellette (20) hit to their usual form for St. Louis, especially in the second half.

Passing is Poor

Gopher QB Hard Runner

If anyone mentioned Sandy Stephens' name a year ago, the was a memory tussle trying to place him as the quarterback of the national champion Minnesota Gophers. They just weren't a team of backfield stars.

It's a little different this year. The Gophers are right in the middle of the fight for a second successive Big Ten title, and the 6-foot Stephens is the man at the helm.

After a 6-0 opening loss to Missouri, Stephens has come back to take an active hand in every touchdown—eight in all—that the Gophers have scored in winning three consecutive games. He scored both in the 14-7 victory over Oregon; the only one in a 10-3 triumph over Northwestern; and passed for four and tallied a fifth after setting it up with a pass last Saturday in a 33-0 whomping of Illinois.

And unlike most quarterbacks, the senior from Uniontown, Pa., is not an outstanding passer. He completed only 35.3 per cent a year ago, and until a torrid 7-for-12 against Illinois, missed 35 of 42 in the three preceding 1961 games.

But as a runer, he might be hard to top. Stephens uses his 215 pounds like a scatback, doing the shifty, tricky routine like he invented it, and adding the touch of speed that last year made him the team leader in kickoff and punt returns.

Large Ringnecks Hold Lead in Press Pheasant Derby

Union Lake Man Bags 40½-Inch Bird Saturday

Entry Over 4 Pounds Tops Weight Division; Results Only Fair

If entries in the Pontiac Press pheasant contest are any indication, the ringnecks are running slightly larger in size this fall.

Saturday was the big day for current leaders in the contest.

* * *

Louis Clark, 731 St. Clair St., Pontiac, is leading the weight division with a four-pound, three-ounce bird shot in the Metamora recreation area.

A ringneck measuring 40½ inches holds first place in the length class. The pheasant was shot by Gregory Stevens, 6501 Alden Dr., Union Lake, while hunting near Vassar.

A $50 U.S. savings bond will be awarded to the hunter bagging the heaviest ringnecks. The longest bird is worth a $25 bond.

The contest is open to all Oakland County residents. Only ringneck pheasants can be entered. The birds can be bagged anywhere in Michigan.

* * *

The pheasants must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing and measuring between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 7 to 11 a.m. Saturdays.

The deadline for entries is 1 p.m. on Nov. 11.

Samuel Green Jr., 464 Nevada St., Pontiac, held the lead Saturday morning in the length division with a 38-inch bird. His position was taken two hours later by Reho Krause of Davisburg with a pheasant a half inch longer. Clark made his entry Monday afternoon.

Mont McVey, 6050 Sheppy Rd., Clarkston, was the earliest leader in weight with a three-pound, 10-ounce ringneck shot opening day off Hadley Road, northwest of Clarkston.

Numerous phone calls have been received in the Press sports department inquiring about the leading entries. This saves the hunters a trip downtown if their birds are not large enough to take over first place.

* * *

There was a wide difference in reports on the pheasant opener.

Some hunters saw few birds in their favorite areas, other filled early, still others had more trouble hitting ringnecks than ever before.

The Brown City and Capac areas, favorite locations of many Oakland County gunners, proved to be spotty. The general feeling was that the birds were not in the corn fields, but hiding in heavy cover, and that the ringnecks were running more before flushing.

A few nimrods reported hunting several fields and seeing few birds, and then trying another field and flushing 50 or more.

Honkers, Pheasants, Grouse Downed

'Wild Goose Chase'

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

Perserverance finally brought success to three area hunters.

Tom Davies, Clarkston and Jack Craven and Richard Weber, both of Waterford, got out of bed at 5:30 a.m. three straight days to go on a "wild goose chase."

They would drive to a wheat stubble field near Holly, conceal themselves along the fence row, and wait. A flock of Canada geese had been seen feeding in the field late last week.

"It looked for a while like we were going to be blanked," said Craven. "Nothing showed Sunday or Monday mornings. Today (Tuesday) a flock of about 25 dropped in."

The trio collected three honkers about 7:30 a.m.

Craven's goose tipped the scales at 13 pounds, Davies' went 11½ and Weber's weighed 10½. The average Canada goose weighs eight to nine pounds.

UNUSUAL PHEASANT

Dan Squires, 1076 Shoman St., Waterford Township, made an unusual kill Saturday afternoon.

While hunting south of Greenshield Road near the Bald Mountain recreation area line, Squires downed a Reeves pheasant.

This bird has a white head with a black stripe across the cheeks, golden brown feathers with black bars and a very long tail. A few Reeves pheasants are bagged each year by area hunters.

Many of these pheasants escape from game farms or other domestic locations.

CAN'T SURVIVE

Hunters trying their luck on the fringe of field trial areas are going to be disappointed if they expect to find any planted birds missed by trial gunners.

Conservation Department officials say that these birds, reared in pens for future sale, don't know how to take care of themselves when left in the wild.

"These birds don't know how or where to look for food," said one official, "and they are easy prey for predators. Fox and cats take a big toll."

The average life expectancy is two weeks.

Dave Chambers, 49 Poplar St., Pontiac, downed a ringneck that was part albino opening day while hunting in Sanilac County.

The pheasant had a white head and legs, but the remainder of the body was natural color, Chambers reported.

* * *

The new law in Novi requiring land owners in areas open to hunting to furnish tags to hunters, received a response even village officials never expected.

Over 1,000 cards were picked up by land owners before the season opened. The average was about eight per owner.

Each hunter is required to obtain a card from the land owner before hunting. The tags must be returned when the hunter leaves.

AREA GROUSE

Ruffed grouse are spreading across northern Oakland and all of Lapeer Counties.

This writer flushed four Sunday in the Ortonville recreation area, and all hunters encountered said they had seen or heard "pats" while moving through the woods.

Heavy foilage kept most gunners from getting off a shot. One nimrod had three in the game bag. Bald Mountain and Metamora areas have grouse, too, and the Lapeer game area has a large population.

The "pats" aren't confined to state lands. Hunters working private property far from these areas report seeing the birds with the whirring flush.

The season on grouse in Southern Michigan is open until Nov. 19.

'No Hunting' Signs Plentiful This Fall

LANSING (UPI) — Good weather during the first weekend of the pheasant season in Michigan drew large numbers of hunters to Southern Michigan.

In the pre-season weeks much was seen and heard about hunter-farmer relations. Most of the remarks came from conservation officials, sportsmen's associations and similar spokesmen concerned with the hunter's viewpoint.

* * *

A tour of recreation areas during the early days of the season showed large numbers of hunters seeking the birds.

The recreation areas — state-owned land— are posted as open to hunting. Large sections of private land in the area, however, bore signs such as "private no trespassing" or "no hunting alowed."

From the hunter's point of view the signs were a disappointment.

Farmers who posted their land as closed to hunters, however, probably had good cause for their notices.

If the number of "no hunting" signs in the recreation areas was any indication of the amount of land posted to prohibit trespassing by hunters in Southern Michigan, a repeat of the warnings to sportsmen would appear to be in order.

Here are a few of the "do's and don't's" recommended by the Conservation Department for hunters hoping to have a maximum amount of private land open in future seasons:

— Put yourself in the farmer's shoes — follow the golden rule.

— Ask the farmer for permission to hunt before setting foot on his private land.

— Don't gang up on a farmer. Each hunting party should be limited to three or possibly four persons. If another group of hunters is already on the farmer's land look elsewhere for a place to hunt.

—After getting permission courage other hunters from to hunt, park your car in the farmer's yard where it will be out of the way. This will disparking along the road and sneaking onto the farmer's land under the pretense that they're in your party.

— Learn the exact boundaries of the farmer's land to prevent trespassing on adjoining property.

— Find out where crops and safely clear of them.

— Never fire in the direction of livestock or buildings even though they may be out of range.

— Keep your dog under control at all times and on a leash when you're not actually hunting.

— Always close gates. There are few things farmers like less than rounding up cattle on neighboring farms.

— Climb over fences near posts to avoid buckling the wire.

—Pass your dog over the fence rather than making an opening in the wire or pulling the fence up from the ground.

— Use extreme caution with matches and cigarettes. Falling leaves and dying foliage make the hunting season a dangerous time for wild fires.

— Regardless of how it happens, if you cause property or livestock damage, report it to the farmer and take full responsibility in making things right with him.

— Thank the farmer after your hunt and maintain your friendship with him throughout the year, not just in the fall.

Fish License Increase Sought by Commission

Legislation will again be sought in 1962 by the Conservation Commission for increases in Michigan's fishing license fees to brake further cutbacks in conservation and restore game and fish work to more adequate levels.

* * *

The commission declined to endorse any specific changes in fees during its October meeting at Marquette, but indicated that increases will be in line with the Conservation Department's money needs which soon are to be spelled out.

In an opening move to help solve some of the state's most pressing water-use problems, the commission voted to renew its efforts to get new laws to clarify and protect public and private rights in all Michigan waters.

Sought for inland lakes and streams and connecting waters of the Great Lakes will be clear-cut controls over fills, dredgings, and commercial developments. Such controls would, among other things, safeguard recreational and wildlife interests and allow for orderly industrial development.

Similar problems and needs involving the Great Lakes prompted the commission to re-endorse legislative proposals governing use of these waters.

The commission's proposed amendments to the Submerged Lands Act of 1955 call for:

1. Clarifying and defining limits of the title of shoreline owners and authorizing joint control over disposal areas in the Great Lakes by local, state and federal agencies.
2. Allowing beach improvements under a permit system.
3. Defining and controlling locations of wharves, docks, and other structures.
4. Fixing responsibility for removal of abandoned man-made navigational hazards.
5. Spelling out more clearly conditions under which deeds, leases, and agreements may be issued.

Conservation Director Issues New Challenge

LANSING (AP) — The "put up or shut up" challenge issued to local communities last spring by State Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy apparently is paying off.

The usually mild-spoken conservation boss resorted to strong language in a state of frustration that hasn't worn off. Nor is it likely to in the foreseeable future.

* * *

On one hand, Eddy is fending off complaints that the State Conservation Department isn't doing enough to improve fishing conditions or provide adequate facilities in state parks or administer various other programs that are his responsibility.

On the other hand, he runs into solid opposition from the public, and its elected representatives in the legislature, each time the Conservation Commission suggests increasing license fees to defray rising costs.

Caught in the middle, Eddy suggested that local communities and conservation groups could help tackle the problem by taking on a share of the conservation chores that need doing in their areas.

"The gauntlet is down," he declared. "Let's see who picks it up."

There was no mass rush to woods and streams to take up Eddy's challenge. Enough civic and conservation groups have launched new projects to make the response pretty heartening in some areas.

Local conservation programs aren't new by any means. A tally in the northern Lower Peninsula showed at least 143 currently in progress, and a good many of them were started 5 or 10 years ago.

Local activity would have increased to some extent without a boost from Eddy. Budget tightening measures have forced the state to cut back or postpone a good number of conservation activities. Local communities, unhappy about the situation, have come in to fill the void in some instances.

Eddy, however, spurred his own men to promote and assist in local conservation programs. And for the benefit of the tax-paying public, he outlined the situation in no uncertain terms.

A sampling of projects started by local groups includes purchase of insecticides for state forest campgrounds, dam construction, forest campground upkeep, maintenance of waterfowl sanctuaries, lake clean-ups, operation of archery and rifle ranges and distribution of salt blocks for deer.

Should the System Be Revised?

'Tenure' Protects Good and Bad Teachers

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Teacher tenure protects good teachers.

It also protects bad ones.

How good is tenure? Should the system be revised?

The question comes up in a good many meetings of parent-teacher groups, and it is always good for a spirited discussion.

DR. NASON

Basically, teacher tenure provides for a two-or three-year probationary period, then permanent employment. During the probationary period, the teacher is on a year-to-year contract. Renewal of the contract is at the discretion of the board of education. Once hired for the year following the probationary period, the teacher is permanent.

The probationary period is a sort of courtship; tenure is settling down to marriage.

Everyone is on his best behavior during courtship. Truer qualities are more apt to show up in the day-after-day living together.

HAS DISADVANTAGES

Tenure has some excellent aspects. Teachers can give their best service, really concentrate on teaching, if they do not have to worry about the security of their jobs.

Teachers are separated from the political side of school administration by tenure. They feel less pressure from groups which, for good or bad, wish to influence the schools.

Teachers with tenure can become more permanent and stable members of the community. They get to know the pupils, parents and others with whom they work. Their work has continuity.

There are also some unfortunate things to be said about tenure. Poor teachers are carried along, year after year. Generally speaking, the teacher who has tenure can be fired only for inefficiency or immoral conduct. Both are difficult to prove in court.

* * *

Occasionally, teachers feel they "have it made" when tenure is granted. If they suddenly become lazy or inefficient they are resented by other teachers and the school morale suffers.

* * *

Forty years ago the vast majority of teachers were young women, often without much training, who taught for a few years until they married. Now, married women are accepted in most schools. More men have entered teaching, even at the grade school level, which is good. Tenure is especially important to the man who is responsible for a family.

The increased—and increasing—requirements in preparation tend to make teaching a lifetime profession.

Civil service, unions, medical societies, bar associations, social security, unemployment insurance, retirement systems and teacher tenure are typical of our time. They reflect the growing feeling that in our society the individual must be protected by the group. Security has become a national fetish.

Change is part of life and growth. Why should teachers be immune to it?

The question of whether teachers who are afraid to move and afraid to change should teachr our children in a rapidly changing world is a good one. Our children must learn to adjust to change.

Teacher tenure should be constantly studied, perhaps constantly altered. You should find out about the situation in your own schools. Good teachers must be protected, but it should never become impossible to let a poor teacher go.

Urges Colleges for Local Areas

State Group Sees Need to Work Out Costs and More Personnel

LANSING (AP) — Community colleges should be given priority in the expansion of facilities for higher education, says the State Council of Community College Administrators.

In a preliminary report on its study of the role and character of the community college in Michigan, the council also urged:

COUNCIL URGES:

—Additional personnel in the State Department of Public Instruction assigned exclusively to work with community colleges;

—A sharing of community college costs by the state government and the local community, with the state supplying up to 80 per cent of the cost of financing capital outlay projects;

—Representative committees appointed by state colleges and universities as well as the local two-year colleges, designed to coordinate efforts to solve common problems;

—The continuous development of community college districts, giving every person in the state the opportunity to participate in community college programs "without discrimination as to tuition and sex and/or admission policies."

The council—an organization of administrative officers of the 15 Michigan community colleges—said careful consideration should be given to establishing independent community college districts, administered by separate boards of control.

The junior colleges can be established by the resolution of the boards of education in certain school districts, by the cooperative efforts of several districts, or by a favorable vote of the residents of several school districts or several counties, setting up a community college district.

* * *

The council said it followed and endorsed a 1958 study by the Michigan legislative study committee on higher education.

The junior college administrators also recommended that the office of the state superintendent of public instruction be made appointive—rather than elective—and that it be kept "as free from party political considerations as possible."

Ex-Lansing Fire Chief Battles Blaze at Home

LANSING (AP)—A retired Lansing fire chief went back into service briefly Tuesday.

Former Chief Charles Decker and his son Peter — also a Lansing fireman—set fire to the siding on the retired chief's house while removing old paint with a blow torch. Father and son tried to put out the blaze with a garden hose, but had to call the Lansing Fire Department for help. Damage was estimated at $500.

Pontiacs Selling at Record Rate; Tempests, Too

Retail deliveries of new Pontiacs and Tempests during the first 30 days of new model sales totaled 45,285, a record rate higher than the same period in 1955, it was announced by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

New car sales during the second 10-day period in October amounted to 13,828, a 30 per cent increase over the previous 10 days, Knudsen said, thus making it the best mid-October sales period in division history.

The current sales performance of the new Pontiacs upholds our earlier confidence in a healthy business recovery and a flourishing economy throughout the country, stated Knudsen.

Some Key Issues Gain 2 Points

Stocks Up in Mild Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made its first advance of the week in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.10 to 257.70 with industrials up 2.30, rails unchanged and utilities up .30.

KEY STOCK GAIN

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to around 2 points as many recovered from losses taken Monday and Tuesday.

Aircraft - missile stocks were mostly higher, possibly helped by current publicity about space age efforts at home and in Russia. steds, motors, chemicals, eletronics, tobaccos and electrical equipments moved to the upside. Drugs and building materials were mixed.

★ ★ ★

A rise in the consumer price index combined with gains in consumer borrowings for 1962 autos and record paperboard production to help create a more bullish atmosphere. At the same time, there seemed to be a lull in tax selling, and a good number of issues appeared to traders to be in buying range.

5-POINT RISE

International Business Machines, touching successive new highs, rose about 5 points to more than 600. Zenith spurted half a dozen points as it responded to record sales and stockholder action increasing the authorized common shares to take care of the upcoming 3-for-1 stock split. Texas Instruments continued on the comeback trail with a 3-point rise.

★ ★ ★

Prices moved higher on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading. Technical Operations picked up about 2 points while Steel Parts Corp., Detroit Industrial Products and Gulf American Land rose more than a point each.

U. S. Bonds Showing Pep

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. government bonds opened small fractions higher today on a little more activity than during the first two sessions this week.

Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange displayed a mixed pattern at the start.

Utilities opened firm among the corporates but rails and industrials were thoroughly irregular. There were few changes amounting to a full point or more. An exception were the Celanese 3S, up 1¼ at 96½ at one time.

Early Trading Shows Mixed Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market showed little trend today in mixed initial dealings on the Board of Trade.

Price changes generally were within minimum fractions with gains in wheat and corn and the weakness elsewhere. Some soybean contracts eased major fractions on pressure described as hedging and short selling.

FRAMEWORK FINISHED — Builders began work this week on the walls of this portion of a new S. S. Kresge Store at the new Glenwood Plaza Shopping Center on Glenwood Avenue just east of Perry Street. It will be the nation's biggest Kresge outlet, exceeding the average chain store by 40,000 square feet of retail area. Builders of the 30-acre development are Herman Ross and Irving Stollman of Detroit.

City Okays Vacating for Center

Portions of four city streets and an alley were vacated by the city last night in a final move to assure expansion of the Glenwood Plaza Shopping Center.

Resolutions to vacate the city-owned properties were given final approval by commissioners after no objections were heard during public hearings on each parcel.

The streets and alley are located in some nine acres of land east and south of the shopping center. Resolutions to rezone the area to commercial were given final approval Oct. 10.

Vacated were about 400 feet of Gilmour Drive, 200 feet of McGregor Street, 1,100 feet of Grandview Boulevard, and 130 feet of Omar Street.

The 30-foot alley lies at the rear of the shopping center.

The builders requested the rezoning and vacating in August. Both proposals were recommended by the City Planning Commission last month.

30 ACRES IN CENTER

The shopping center will now cover 30 acres or more than 1.1 million square feet of total land area. It will devote some 290,000 square feet to retail space.

The center currently plans to contain about 30 retail outlets, an S. S. Kresge department store being the largest.

The Kresge store will cover 80,000 square feet and is the biggest in the chain. The average Kresge outlet is about 20,000 square feet.

The only other building already leased is for a Food Fair Supermarket covering 7,500 square feet of retail space.

Total parking area will be 857,880 square feet in size. It will offer free parking for 2,000 cars. The ratio of parking to building area is 3 to 1.

Ancient Walrus Fossil Found Near Virginia

POQUOSON, Va. (AP) — Capt. Frank Carpenter's trawler brought in a strange marine fossil from waters of the Atlantic east of here. Robert S. Bailey of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science at Gloucester said it was the skull of a walrus, probably killed in a glacial period several hundred thousand years ago.

Walruses today are not native to the Atlantic south of the St. Lawrence river.

Service Industries Get 40 Per Cent of Dollar

(Editor's Note: Service is the fastest growing factor in the U.S. economy these days. Most new jobs fall in that class. In this, first in a series of articles on how service industries help both the individual and the rest of the business world, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, tells why service takes more of your dollar all the time.)

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — You know you're spending more for services these days. Your bills tell you so.

But few know how big a part services play in their lives today nor how fast is the growth of the industries that cater to their needs, whims and convenience. Steadily increasing personal incomes and greater leisure time for most Americans offer the service industries a tempting target—and their aim grows surer every year.

★ ★ ★

When most people think of personal services, they think of beauty parlors, medical clinics and hospitals, commuter trains, gas, electricity, phones and the repair men that nurse a growing array of appliances.

SERVICES ARE WIDE

But personal services go far beyond that, important as is the role of the above items in today's way of living.

There's someone to furnish artificial snow for ski runs when nature doesn't, and to keep city rinks iced when the temperature soars.

★ ★ ★

Others will take over all or part of entertainment problems, manage money, decorate or clean the home, teach almost any kind of game, help toward the social graces, rent a car or a washing machine, or insure against the chance your heart will give out before the payments on your instalment debt do.

'ENJOY NOW, PAY LATER'

Banks and finance companies and credit card agencies will help get almost any product or service on the basis of enjoy now, pay later.

Those who sell various services—and there are more of them all the time—are pleased that this year Americans are spending about $140 billion with them, or about 40 per cent of all consumer purchasing.

★ ★ ★

Bolstering personal appearance is a $6 billion-a-year business. Beauty parlor chains span the nation now, and some of them sell stocks to the public.

$6.4 BILLION IN FUN

Religion and welfare also are classed as services and the public spends $4.7 billion on them. Americans kick in $6.4 billion for recreation.

Private education accounts for $4.5 billion with an additional $2.6 billion of consumer spending going for that broadening experience, foreign travel. Both of these services have expanded rapidly in recent years.

★ ★ ★

Service is as much a part of home life these days as togetherness. There are companies that will provide any type of servant from cleaning woman to butler. Renting of cars is well-established, and some predict that leasing of household equipment is the wave of the future.

IT'S STILL A SERVICE

Lending the money to finance purchase of the home in the first place rates as a service, no matter what you may call the monthly payment. Then there's a growing horde of decorators who will purchase anything you can pay for, another group that will landscape the grounds. And yard boys are in a service industry, whether your own sons or young businessmen with a string of clients.

★ ★ ★

Repairmen who take care of plumbing, TV sets, appliances, or flaking paint form a thriving service industry despite the competition of the do-it-yourself man of the house.

MORE AND MORE

If you have any money left, there are specialists to serve you. Investing consultants, managers of trust funds, mutual fund salesmen, stock brokers.

And your newspaper is in there with services, too. Many carry advice on heart problems, how to put a husband in his place, or a mother-in-law, or a penny-pinching suitor.

★ ★ ★

And on another page you may find advice on purchasing or investing either in general terms or in specific ways to spend your money or, hopefully, to double it.

Service? If you aren't getting it, that's because you don't want it or can't pay for it.

★ ★ ★

Thursday: Business itself hires as many services as you do.

FLIGHT LINE — Jasper Hyden and Hans Petterson managed to break old records for nonstop one-engine flights with this "life line" method. A mechanic sitting in a speeding sports car sent up a plastic bag filled with gas when needed. The plane, which only holds enough fuel for 10 hours, set a new Swedish record of 50 hours aloft.

'Extinct' Cougar Is Coming Back

Rare Mountain Lion Reported Returning to Old Hunting Grounds

FREDERICTON, New Brunswick (UPI) — The rare eastern cougar — or mountain lion — written off as almost extinct the past 50 years, is on the prowl again in the forests of eastern North America.

That's the word from Bruce S. Wright, Director of Canada's Northeastern Wildlife Station in New Brunswick, who makes a first-hand study of the habits of this native wild animal in the interests of conservation.

Wright, who calls the eastern cougar "the ghost of North America," says he has reports of the tawny, long-tailed cat being seen in its old hunting grounds.

In his office here he has a mounted specimen of the rare animal — shot at the head of the St. John River in 1938.

But there have been reports of others seen since then and Wright says there's no question that the cougar is finding its way back.

★ ★ ★

The wildlife official said that there's evidence that the eastern cougar now is prowling the wilderness from Gaspe to Nova Scotia and through to Cape Breton, in Maine and other northern states and in Western Ontario.

For years he has urged protection of the cougar through education and by law, if necessary.

Wright said that despite opinion from some sources, the eastern cougar did not become almost extinct by relentless hunting in the 19th Century.

He attributes the gradual disappearance of the cougar to lack of deer population during certain cycles in the past 50 years, extensive land clearance and large forest fires.

The cougar's main food is deer and that's why conservationists want him back—to retain a part of the balance of nature.

Man need not fear the cougar. Wright said it is "not nearly as dangerous as a bull in the field."

★ ★ ★

"It is a very shy, very timid animal," he said. "It lives alone in the wilderness and is quite adept at looking after itself.

"And, we don't call it an outlaw anymore."

Firm Attempts to Woo Clients With Serenade

CINCINNATI (AP) — Taped music tailored for special occasions serenades downtown Cincinnati three times a day as a public relations gesture by an insurance firm.

Most comment is favorable, but a flock of complaints came in during "Invest in America Week," Songs like "Three Coins in the Fountain," "I Found a Milion Dollar Baby" and "Pennies From Heaven" were played over and over.

"I admit that we overdid it that week," said a company spokesman.

He'd Be a Fine Dentist

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — University of Oklahoma Professor George B. Fraser said on a final examination one of his law students wrote: "An oral contract is not enforceable unless it is in writing."

Take That, You Bully!

BALTIMORE (AP) — The collision involved a 1½-ton truck and a compact sedan. The truck turned over. The compact stayed erect.

Court Clerk Is Opposed After 20 Years in Post

And, he'll be opposed by his former assistant, Harry Anderson, 65. Ash has held the post since 1936, and last competed in an election in 1940.

Conservationists, Commercial Interests Fight

Clash on Proposed Water Right Laws

LANSING (AP) — Conservationists and commercial interests clashed here Tuesday at a legislative committee hearing on proposed new laws governing water rights.

The hearing was conducted by Rep. Homer Arnett, R-Kalamazoo, chairman of a committee on submerged lands and shorelines.

Michigan waters, a proposed new conservation policy said, "are being subjected to indiscriminate abuses which are seriously diminishing their total value."

The proposed new code of water laws would deal with a range of problems including filling and dredging of basins, bottoms and shores, alterations of shorelines and the placing of docks, wharves, jetties, breakwaters, pilings and marinas.

'HARASSED'

"We have yet to be faced in another state with the harassment we get from the conservation department in Michigan," objected E. D. Koomnen, representing the Dunbar and Sullivan Dredging Co.

★ ★ ★

Koomnen said any water rights control properly should be under the State Water Resources Commission rather than the conservation commission.

"Any legislation should recognize that waterways near industrial areas should be utilized for industrial development," he said. "Other areas some distance from the factory centers could be used for recreation."

Andrew W. Fleming, acting director of the Detroit-Wayne County Port Commission, testified against the proposal as did port officials from Muskegon and Port Huron.

"This poses a real threat to port development," he said.

A main complaint, he said, was that the new legislation would change the measurement used for a harbor line, lowering it from to make less area available for the present high water mark commercial and port development.

'RESPONSIBILITY'

"We have a primary responsibility to develop harbor facilities to handle seaway commerce," Fleming said. "Each ton of overseas cargo is worth $18 to the people of the district."

★ ★ ★

Between 1958 and 1960, he said, overseas commerce in the port of Detroit rose from 87,000 to 609,000 tons and this year is 61 per cent ahead of last year.

John H. Yoe, city attorney for St. Clair Shores, complained that the conservation commission already is too strict on requiring payment for lake bottom lands filled in by land-owners.

"There should be a limitation on the statute to forgive those who filled in the lands some years ago — say 15 years," he suggested.

Thomas K. Jefferis, village manager for Grosse Pointe Shores, made the same complaint.

★ ★ ★

"Those who filled in the land many years ago get a sudden shock when they find they will be billed for it," he said. "Many of them have been paying taxes on the land for years."

'The Dispossessed' Was Disappointing

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Good history doesn't always make for a good TV drama. Case in point: "The Dispossessed."

★ ★ ★

Saul Levitt's play, aired by CBS-TV Tuesday night was based on a civil rights case in Nebraska of 1879. The case involved a young lawyer's fight, over federal opposition, to establish the principle that the 14th Amendment applied to Indians.

Opposition to these principles, as organized by Levitt's script, was half-hearted. Everyone seemed too willing to help the Indians win. This attitude, while commendable in practice, made for a plodding show.

Of course, the trouble with placing a battle for human dignity in a courtroom arena for part of a mere one-hour TV play is that the characters get to display some slick Perry Mason-type legal footwork but flesh-and-blood dialogue, meaning and behavior gets lost if the playwright isn't careful. That's what went wrong with "The Dispossessed."

★ ★ ★

Tuesday night's product struck me as under-rehearsed, over-directed, ineffectively formulated and, except for Juano Hernandez in the role of Chief Standing Bear, insensitively acted. Dina Merrill, as a part-Indian who pushed the case forward, supplied just one of many incongruous frontier touches with her false eyelashes.

Of all the new hour-long series this season, I think ABC-TV's "premiere" has followed the steadiest course in the quest for meaningful stories well-acted and mounted.

Thus far, its three presentations have held false notes to a bare minimum. Tuesday night's story, "The Fortress," was most resourceful in keeping a viewer on the edge of his seat.

PALABLE EXPERIENCE

Lloyd Bridges, as Air Force Lt. Wallace Brown, a soldier who was subjected to horrifying mental agonies by Communist brainwashing techniques in Korea and beat them back, was unsparing of himself as he threw himself into Brown's role. He made the experience a palpable one.

★ ★ ★

Unfortunately, some corny program-padding was dragged in — those false notes I mentioned before — and there was some puzzlement at some of the action and accompanying obtrusive dramatic chords. But the over-all impact of the story of one heroic human being's ordeal was enormous nonetheless, thanks to Bridges' portrayal.

Britain Starts Work on Second Nuclear Sub

LONDON (AP) — Britain has begun building a second nuclear submarine called the Valiant, the Admiralty announced Tuesday night.

Britain's first nuclear sub, the Dreadnought, was launched by Queen Elizabeth II a year ago. Built largely with American know-how, it is expected to be commissioned early next year.

Frightened Prowler Is Given Assistance

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. William A. Lewis heard someone prowling through her home one night. She demanded, "Who's there?"

Her scream frightened a young intruder, who attempted to flee but couldn't find the way out, "How do I get out?" he asked.

The woman pointed to the right door and the youth fled.

Students Demonstrate for Elections in Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Tehran University students demonstrated Tuesday for elections soon and shouted anti-government slogans.

The students pounded the car of Premier Ali Amini, who had attended United Nations anniversary celebrations at the university.

Dr. Amini said later that the demonstrations were instigated by Communist agitators and that the situation was under control.

Editor Dies of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Gottlieb, 58, managing editor of the Long Island Press since 1942, died Tuesday. He underwent an operation for lung cancer two years ago and had been in failing health for more than a year. Gottlieb joined the Press, a member of the Newhouse newspaper group 36 years ago as a reporter and later was a columnist and city editor.

Lisa Kirk Helps Create Laughter on Broadway

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Even in these nervous days, there's rich laughter to be found on Broadway . . .

WILSON

Lisa Kirk wore some embroidered copies of art masterpieces on her skimpy net costume when she opened at the Waldorf. Singing "Culture," she explained that a man "loved his art collection/ and he traveled from Maine to Rome/ but he took his art along/ and he left me at home . . . Now I go on every cruise/ since I got my new tattoos/ Near a tiny scar/ there's a rare Renoir . . ." Miss Kirk and partner puppeteer Dick Barclay pleased everybody from Conrad Hilton to Mitzi Gaynor. They wore hidden mikes and hidden power packs, part of this electronic age. Lisa's mike was concealed in her bra, and her power pack was around in back, behind "Whistler's Mother." The Waldorf, incidentally, wishes she'd give up the number because it deems it unWaldorfish.

★ ★ ★

Mitzi Gaynor's husband, Jack Bean, hides Mitzi's anniversary gifts (diamond and emerald rings, etc.) in strange places . . . like in a frankfurter sandwich she's about to eat . . . or on a tooth brush she's about to use . . . A famous but frugal star pays some of his tips by check (then he's got a record of deductibility):

LISA

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Mrs. Alan Ladd turned down a role for her son David, 12, in the Broadway show, "Isle of Children" . . . Katherine Hepburn saw "Sail Away," said she'd like to make it her first film musical . . . Connie Francis leaves for England next month to film "Cook's Tour"—and to see her new Italian beau.

One of the major airlines cautions its stewardesses not to accept tips, but adds, "Anything over $5 isn't a tip—it's a gift—and that's all right" . . . Rita Moreno's "West Side Story" job got her three offers of Broadway shows.

★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS: Gamblers will tell you that looks are deceiving. A man with a vacant stare may have a full house.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: In Russia, a one-horse town is a town with just enough people to be fed by one horse.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The honeymoon's over when he finds out he married a big spender, and she finds out she didn't.

Gentlemen who prefer blondes (says the cynic) are usually married to brunettes. . . . That's earl, brother.

Gets Okay to Apply for $4 Million

City Manager Walter K. Willman has been authorized to apply for more than $4 million in federal aid for Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

At their meeting last night, city commissioners authorized filing applications for a loan and grants with the Urban Renewal Administration and Housing and Home Finance Administration in Chicago.

Willman will also forward the final project report and plan to federal officials for study and approval.

The loan, to finance borrowing in the new area, will be in the amount of $2,830,670 and will be paid back.

Willman will apply for a capital grant of $1,385,040 which is the federal share of the total estimated project cost, and a grant of $109,530 to cover relocation costs.

The federal agencies finance three-fourths of the project. The city's one-quarter share amounts to $461,680.

PLAN PUBLIC HEARING

Preliminary approval of the plans and applications is expected by January, at which time a public hearing on the intended project will be held here.

The plan would then get final approval from the city and federal agencies and land acquisition would begin. The second renewal area is mostly commercial, bordered by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, West Pike Street and the rear lot lines of properties on the west side of Saginaw Street.

Commissioners passed a resolution recognizing the contributions of former Mayor Frank Ruf to the city. Ruf died last week.

He was mayor in 1934-35 and served as commissioner from 1933-37. The resolution recognized "the good will and high sense of loyalty established by Mr. Ruf which won him high respect from citizens."

★ ★ ★

The commission has approved an extension agreement whereby GMC Truck & Coach Division will lease property to the city for another year.

The property, covering 20 lots in Woodward Estates Subdivision, has been leased to the city on an annual basis for several years and is the site of Southwest Civic Park.

MAY FACE DECISION

The city may be faced with a decision soon on whether to subsidize ambulance service companies making emergency runs on calls from city police or firemen.

Midwest Ambulance Service, currently handling most of the city's calls, has suggested such a plan. Last night the owner of General Ambulance Service questioned the "monopoly" enjoyed by Midwest on city calls.

Willman explained the agreement was made with Midwest last spring when the city asked for rates from local companies offering such service and Midwest offered the lowest price per run.

Commissioners, however, are considering a flat payment to ambulance firms on a per call basis to insure continued service.

A proposal on the matter may be introduced at next Tuesday's meeting.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners approved a request from Donald C. Crudt of 1143 Dudley St., that the Herrington Hills Homeowners Association be allowed to put up traffic safety signs at four locations in the subdivision.

Grudt, representing the group, said the signs would be about 20x28 inches and would read "1,858 Children Play Here." They will be placed on Boyd, Lynch and Bay Streets.

Commissioner John A. Dugan commended the association for a "wonderful idea and hard work of residents involved."

ASKS TRAFFIC CONTROL

In the interest of public safety, Dugan himself asked for traffic control at the intersection of Featherstone Road and North East Boulevard.

"Something has to be done. There is an increasing number of accidents there. Last Thursday seven people were injured in a collision at the intersection," Dugan said.

Willman said he would look into the matter again but that earlier studies showed a traffic light would be only a block away from one at Mt. Clemens and East Boulevard and would create a traffic jam during rush hours.

Commissioners okayed transfer of ownership of a 1961 SDM licensed business at 332 South East Boulevard from Earl E. Peters to Mathew B. Barr.

Wisconsin Uses Planes to Enforce Boat Laws

MADISON, Wis. —The Wisconsin Conservation Department is using a loudspeaker from a plane to encourage compliance with the state's new boating laws.

Department-owned planes fly over power boats and occupants are asked to show required life preservers.

"If they have them, they hold them up," an official said. "If they don't, they head for shore to get them."

Chemical Cover Cuts Water Loss by Evaporation

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A chemical "skin" for lakes and reservoirs may save billions of gallons of water in the thirsty West.

Joseph B. Franzini, associate professor of civil engineering at Stanford University, says a substance called hexadecanol was used on the surface of a 40-acre lake on the Stanford campus.

Result: It reduced the lake's evaporation as much as 18 per cent.

Franzini said the chemical forms an invisible film on the water's surface. It keeps the water in, but does not keep out oxygen needed by fish.

But there are disadvantages, which are being studied. Waves break up the film, so presently it is suitable only for use on reservoirs with little wind. Also, the film seems to reduce insect life, which would result in less food for fish.

More Than 350,000 Visit Truman Library

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Since its opening in September, 1957, the museum of the Harry S. Truman Library here has been visited by more than 350,000 persons from 50 nations.

The largest single display in the museum is a full-sized reproduction of the President's office in the White House. Among the desk ornaments is the famous sign used by Truman while he was President—"The Buck Stops Here."

Are You Trained to Aid if N-Attack Comes?

EDITOR'S NOTE: What chance of survival do people in Pontiac and the surrounding area have should an all-out thermonuclear attack ever be launched against this country? Stirred by a growing public awareness of the possibility of such an attack, The Pontiac Press has begun a concerted study of the local defense posture in search of the answer. The following article is the fifth in a series.)

By DON FERMOYLE

Who in Oakland County would be responsible for restoring order from the chaos that would develop following a nuclear attack?

If a bomb or missile hit Detroit, who would treat the wounded survivors expected to flee northward through this area?

Who would keep escape routes open, fight fires, decontaminate areas of radiation, bring together separated families, feed the hungry and prevent mob rule?

Who would be responsible?

It could be Oliver R. Allison, 632 Balboa Place, Pontiac — a meter reader for Consumers Power Co.; or Mrs. Edward Schons, 200 Tower Road, White Lake Township a housewife; or Ray Genereux, 317 Jackson St., Lake Orion an assistant postmaster.

CD VOLUNTEERS

These three people, all from different parts of the county, have one thing in common. They all are actively engaged in Civil Defense volunteer programs.

Genereux is director of the Lake Orion-Orion Township Civil Defense organization. Allison is a company leader of Pontiac's CD Auxiliary Police. Mrs. Schons is enrolled in her township's emergency CD medical course.

They are but three of many Oakland County residents with Civil defense training.

★ ★ ★

In addition, there are four 200-bed emergency CD hospitals supplied by the federal government located in the county.

Half of one of the portable hospitals is located in Royal Oak and the other in Waterford Township. They are used for training purposes.

The others are in Lake Orion, Oxford and Milford.

A staff, headed by Dr. Edgar J. Geist of 1473 Pontiac Road, Avon Township, has been appointed for CD Emergency Hospital No. 1.

But more than doctors and nurses are needed.

Some electricians, carpenters and transportation men are training but more are required to set up the hospital and move it to its operational site.

Dr. Geist pointed out at the first staff meeting of the CD hospital that the flood of injured and sick persons pouring into the northern part of the county would be staggering if Detroit, a primary target, is attacked.

Some clerks, typists and persons with various office experience are training already but more are necessary to register and process the evacuees coming into the area.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County residents, as in the case of infantrymen preparing for combat with basic training, need training in civil defense.

The Oakland County Survival Plan, compiled by the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, recommends that at least one person from each family be trained in first aid.

However, participation in American Red Cross first aid classes and in emergency medical courses offered by the County Civil Defense Office is far short of that goal.

The Pontiac Police Department last month inaugurated a 40-week course for CD Auxiliary Police. It includes instruction in radiation detection with a geiger counter, use of firearms, traffic control, crowd control, disaster and rescue work and essentials of basic police work.

It is open to qualified men living within a 10-mile radius of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

In every township there are civil defense courses available, but there is a lack of citizens interested in them.

Expect Party to Oust Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich

MOSCOW (UPI) — The ouster of Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich from Communist party membership seemed certain today.

The three former members of the Soviet hierarchy, members of the "anti-party" group who bucked Nikita S. Khrushchev's plans five years ago, were singled out Tuesday for a violent attack by Presidium member Nikolai Shvernik, oldest of the remaing old Bolsheviks.

★ ★ ★

Speaking to the seventh session of the 22nd Communist Party Congress, Shvernik accused the three of a long list of anti-party and often illegal activities.

He linked Molotov and Malenkov with crimes committed by Nikolai Yezhov and Lavrenti Beria, former Russian secret police chiefs whose names still stand for terror in the minds of most Soviets.

Many of Tuesday's speakers aligned themselves, as expected, with the Kremlin leadership in attacks on Albania—attacks which have created a distinct coolness between Moscow and Peiping.

STRESSED 'FRIENDSHIP'

Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai, who left for home Monday, sent a cable to Khrushchev stressing "great eternal and unbreakable friendship."

Moscow observers did not attach too much significance to this, however, since the tendency relations between the two Communist bloc giants grow is to repeat such phrases when strained.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson was back in Moscow today, on tap for an expected key policy report to the congress by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

UF Women's Drive Near Halfway Point

Taking advantage of good weather, Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign women have raised $12,844.33 of their 1961 goal.

"This amount represents 48 per cent of the $27,000 we expect to raise by Oct. 27," said Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, woman's campaign committee chairman.

"With less than three days remaining in our house-to-house canvass, we urge all solicitors to complete their calls and report as soon as possible."

Mrs. Joseph Fox, Pontiac campaign co-chairman, in the women's division, announced $7,175.05 or 48 per cent of the city's $14,835.85 goal has been reached, with four Pontiac district chairmen over the top.

They are Mrs. Sherman Sedeak, District 4—145 per cent; Mrs. Leslie Sugden, District 5—136 per cent; Mrs. Robert Wisdom, District 35—616 per cent; and Mrs. Lyle Henretty, District 40,—164 per cent.

Waterford women's co-chairman, Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson, recorded $3,567.28 or 38 per cent of Waterford's $9,395.49 goal, raised to date.

Unable to Tell if Significant Health Hazard

Weather Bureau Says Radioactive Cloud May Miss on First Pass

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public health authorities are fall out in North America fallout in North America from the Soviet Union's massive nuclear explosion of Monday.

But they declared it is too early to forecast if it will create any significant health hazard either in the following few weeks or next spring.

★ ★ ★

A Weather Bureau scientist said it was possible the early fallout from Monday's test may even pass north of the continental United States in its first pass around the earth. It likely will extend over the entire nations in its second time around about 10 days later, he added.

HIGH FALLOUT RATE

There is a possibility, health officials said, that within the next month levels of radioactive iodine from the bomb debris might equal or exceed levels produced by the 21 previously announced tests in the current Soviet series.

It isn't known yet whether this cumulative total of fallout would constitute any significant hazard.

Army Behind Civilians in Berlin

Push Entry Rights to East

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army insisted today on the right of civilian entry into East Berlin but then let the East German authorities turn back two U.S. Army sightseeing buses heading for the East sector.

East Berlin border guards stepped aside when armed U.S. Military Police escorted an American civilian car into the Communist sector.

A few hours later the guards refused entry to two U.S. Army sightseeing buses which had no armed escort.

The buses turned back to West Berlin near a spot where American tanks and armored personnel carriers were stationed with guns pointed at the East German police.

★ ★ ★

The East German police held up the buses carrying U.S. military personnel and civilians from more than an hour demanding that the officer in charge identify his passengers to authorities of the Communist East German regime. The American officer refused.

KEEP PAIR OUT

In an earlier incident the East Germans refused to allow two American civilians in an Army-licensed private car to pass through the checkpoint without identification. But the U.S. command ignored the East Germans and sent the car through with the armed escort in assertion of Allied rights to free movement in Berlin.

★ ★ ★

Then, in a gesture of conciliation, the U.S. commander said it was temporarily restricting the passage of American civilian vehicles into East Berlin.

The announced American restriction on movements to East Berlin apparently applied only to civilian vehicles. The buses were U.S. Army vehicles carrying military personnel, although there were about 20 persons in civilian clothes, including two women, in the lead bus. The second bus had about six passengers in U.S. Air Force uniforms.

★ ★ ★

The United States and Britain moved tanks up to the border in a show of force during the day.

HOF, Germany (UPI) — East Germany appears to be building a crude Communist version of the World War II Siegfried Line along the entire length of its border with the West, according to West German officials.

Weather Expected to Be Near Normal

For the next few days temperatures will average near the normal high of 57 and normal low of 39 with only minor but frequent day to day changes. Tonight's low will dip to 42 with tomorrow's high rising to 58.

Rainfall will total near .4 of an inch in scattered light showers, mostly Friday, Saturday and again Monday.

Morning southwesterly winds at 11 miles per hour will become 8 to 15 m.p.h. From 10:15 yesterday morning until today .2 of an inch in rain fell in downtown Pontiac.

Fifty was the lowest temperature before 8 a.m. The reading was 62 at 1 p.m.

U.S. Wages War on 40 Kings of Crime

BY RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's new nationwide drive on crime is centered on 40 "crime kings" whose names the Justice Department warily refuses to announce until the men are "roped and tied."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's aides believe these unnamed men are bankrollers for a good share of the organized crime in the United States.

The drive on these "crime kings" is under way now, say Justice Department deputies. Most of the impetus comes from four anti-crime laws Congress passed shortly before adjournment.

★ ★ ★

These laws give the federal government power to act when:

Men cross state lines to commit crimes.

Money or information is sent across state lines in connection with crime or for criminal payoffs.

Criminals of any type flee across state lines.

Betting paraphernalia crosses state lines.

The Justice Department men say the bankrolls of these 40 men buy public officials and police. They bankroll narcotics, prostitution and extortion.

These men provide the funds for taking over labor unions and for supporting "favorable" candidates in political elections. They bankroll strongarm men. They provide the lawyers and the protection for a wide array of criminals.

COVER U.S.

Their bankrolls stretch across the United States. They operate in big cities and in small. Says one official:

"If there are spots in your town or county where you can place numbers bets—even penny and five-cent bets—there's a chance these men operate in your town.

ROBERT KENNEDY

"For the numbers racket usually needs organization and protection. Where organization and protection are needs, the big boys may come in, sooner or later."

Considerable information on these 40 men has already been gathered by the Treasury's Bureau of Narcotics and Alcohol and Tobacco, Tax Division and by the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The first step is re-examining the income tax reports of these 40 men minutely, tracing down the sources of their illegal revenue from spots outside their home states. Then the investigators will build up step-by-step what these kingpins do with their funds. Every financial transaction will be studied with care. Watches will be posted to determine who visits them, who they go to see. How their pickups are made will be checked out precisely. How they make their investments and their payoffs will be investigated.

Some time along the line, they may be called before a grand jury and asked questions based on their income tax returns and these follow-through checks.

3 BASIC REASONS

There are three basic reasons for this concentration on 40 men.

1. If these men can be convicted, or harassed so bady that their operations are cut back sharply, the Justice Department figures most types of crimes will be handicapped. Without the interstate bankrolls and protection these 40 men provide—or with a shrinkling of these bankrolls and protection—a sizable part of the underworld's operations will be on a limited budget. These 40, it's figured, are in reality the "kingpins."

2. It doesn't pay to attempt to get at the thousands of hoods, gangsters, runners, payoff men, racketeers and strongarm men who operate in organized crime. The accumulation of evidence is too slow a task, too difficult to be effective nationwide.

3. Busting up individual rackets or organizations piece by piece is impossible. The men and the money flow away from one racket into another, then back into a third or fourth or fifth.

Despite the preliminary work, the attack on the 40 men may take years to complete. The 40 will get more wary. They'll cover their tracks more carefully. They'll destroy records. When the cases do come to court, trial will be delayed by every legal trick in the book. There will be a long period of delaying actions.

As the 40 are convicted, they'll be replaced by others.

It will be a long war.

(NEXT: Gambling is the keystone.)

GANGLAND SLAYING—The crime kings bankroll the strongarm men.

State Ad Board Will Run Again

Dem Chairman Claims All Incumbents Plan to Seek Re-Election

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats will field an all-incumbent team of state officials in the 1962 general election, the party's state chairman predicts.

★ ★ ★

"I do not know of any who does not intend to run," John J. (Joe) Collins, the 26-year-old party chieftain told newsmen Tuesday at one of his infrequent news conferences.

With Democrats in control of all eight statewide administrative offices filled by the voters, the party primary and nominating conventions will be dull affairs.

Collins' calculations assumed that Secretary of State James M. Hare will be among those seeking re-election rather than trying again for the nomination as governor. Gov. Swainson outpolled him two years ago in the scramble to succeed six-term Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

★ ★ ★

Con-Con Delegates Face Reapportionment Study

LANSING (AP) — The key question of whether the state's new constitution should provide for reappointment to the legislature was squarely before Michigan's constitutional convention today.

A Detroit Democrat—Dr. Melvin Nord—was the first to file a proposal dealing with the politically sensitive question.

Nord's measure called for "proportionate representation in the legislature."

He said his proposal, taken from the Northwest Ordinance of 1787, was intended to guarantee that representation in the legislature always will be based on population.

Michigan now has a house of 110 members, elected primarily on a population basis from districts that are redrawn every 10 years, and a 34-member Senate elected from districts based on both population and area.

Even as Dr. Nord's proposal

Related Stories on Pages 8 and 21

started through the convention hopper, the committee on legislative organization began to tackle the problem in earnest.

The committee, headed by Dr. John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, president of Michigan State University, devoted most of its afternoon hearing to a study of the Nebraska legislative situation.

Nebraska is the only state in the union which has a unicameral, or one-branch state legislature.

Some delegates favor adopting a similar program in Michigan.

In another con-con development Tuesday, President Stephen S. Nisbet ordered two committees which have differed over jurisdiction to settle their differences promptly.

Nisbet and several of his top aides met with the two chairmen—T. Jefferson Hoxie, R-St. Louis, of the Legislative Powers Committee and Claud Erickson, R-Lansing, of the Miscellaneous Provisions and Schedules Committee Tuesday morning.

He met with them again later in the day and found they had agreed on everything except which should have jurisdiction over Article 12 of the present constitution, the section which deals with setting up and operations of corporations in the state.

★ ★ ★

Nisbet told them that if they do not settle it in the next few hours, he would do it for them.

The convention, striving to set some kind of tentative timetable, was urged formally to set a Nov. 15 deadline for delegates to introduce proposals for changes in the constitution.

★ ★ ★

Richard Van Dusen, R-Bingham Farms, pointed out that any delegate who came up with a proposal after that deadline could appear before the committee in question and ask it to report out his pet project.

Waterford to Begin '62 With Balance of $5,400

In yesterday's story about the upcoming Waterford Township budget, it was erroneously stated that the township will begin January 1962 with a balance of $480,032.

This was the opening April 1 balance plus actual receipts and anticipated revenue through Dec. 31. The township will begin the new year with an estimated $5,400. The Press regrets the error.

Two Gas Stations Looted of About $60

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—Two gas stations side by side were broken into and burglarized here some time last night.

The two stations, Chambers Mobilgas Station, 4927 Auburn Road, and a Standard station next door, owned by Francis L. Duprey, were looted of an estimated $60, said Shelby Township police.

Small holes broken in window and door glass of both stations provided entrance for the burglars, officers said.

Addresses New York GOP Rally

Ike Blasts JFK Administration

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the Kennedy administration is "confusing me and all my friends."

★ ★ ★

In one of his sharpest attacks on the Democratic administration, Eisenhower said Tuesday night federal fiscal policies are "shrinking dollars." He called the Peace Corps a "juvenile experiment" and suggested Peace Corps members might be sent to the moon.

BLASTS WAGNER

The former Republican president appeared at a campaign rally in support of State Atty. Gen. Lous J. Lefkowitz, Republican candidate for mayor of New York City. He said Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is running for re-election, has given the city a diet of "indecision and vacillation."

★ ★ ★

But he levelled most of his criticism at Washington Democrats.

The confusion among New York democrats is a spring zephyr, Eisenhower said, when compared with the tornado of confusion in Washington.

'WHAT WILL HAPPEN?'

He said he is confused at what the Kennedy administration is getting at with its fiscal policy. "One day the nation is told the federal budget is balanced, and the next that it will produce a $6.7-billion deficit," he said.

"I believe this nation is in a time of prosperity — if we can't pay our debts, what's going to happen?" he asked.

★ ★ ★

Citing the experience of other nations with inflation, Eisenhower suggested U.S. currency might come to be known as "dollarettes, there'd be so many more of them."

★ ★ ★

Turning to the Peace Corps—a Kennedy administration project—the former president said: "If you want to send a man to the moon, send a Peace Corps member up there. It is an underdeveloped country."

'POSTCARD EVIDENCE'

Eisenhower said there was "postcard evidence" that Peace Corps members "did not even know what an underdeveloped country was, so you can see why I am confused."

★ ★ ★

His reference was to the girl Peace Corps member who set off an international incident when a postcard she wrote describing primitive conditions in Nigeria fell into the hands of Nigerians.

$100,000 DINNER

The Republican gathering in the New York Coliseum was a combination fund-raising dinner and reaped $100,000 for the city GOP.

★ ★ ★

Speakers at the dinner in addition to Eisenhower and Lefkowitz included Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, U.S. Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Rep. Paul A. Fino, the GOP candidate for City Council candidate John J. Gilhooley.

Rockefeller introduced Eisenhower as "the greatest living American."

Bloomfield Twp. Pamphlet Available to Residents

BIRMINGHAM—A new pamphlet with facts and figures on Bloomfield Township is now available to residents, Supervisor Arno Hulet said today.

While most of the 10,000 pamphlets will be mailed to property owners with their tax bills, they also will be distributed to new and prospective residents and land developers, according to the supervisor.

Interested citizens can obtain the "1961-62 Facts" at the township hall, 4200 Telegraph Road.

The pamphlet includes information on real, personal and school taxes, data on voting and registration and the names of all township officials and committee members.

★ ★ ★

Additional information explains the tax breakdown for each of the five school districts in the township.

Also explained in detail are the functions of the police, fire, building, water and sewer departments.

"All the information a taxpayer should know is contained in the pamphlet," Hulet said.

Bloomfield Township Treasurer Homer Case has been named township public safety director to correlate the activities of the township police and fire departments.

The post was recently established by the township board even though Case had been assigned to the job for some time.

U. S. Awaits Bomb's Fallout

said Dr. James Terrill of the Health Service in an interview.

Radioactive iodine is considered a threat because if enough of it got into a person's system, it could cause thyroid cancer.

Terrill said that most of the radioactive strontium—a potential cause of bone cancer—loosed by the bomb will be delayed in falling until next spring. The strontium from the big blast will fall with the strontium remaining in the stratosphere from other tests in the series.

It remains to be seen whether the strontium from all tests would constitute any widespread hazard, Terrill said.

"It should be borne in mind, however," he added, "that even the present or expected levels of both strontium and iodine are and will be producing some adverse health effects in small portions of large population groups throughout the world.

'CAN'T PREDICT'

"However, these levels of health effects will probably be below the detectable range."

Terrill said standards had been worked out—differing for various kinds of radioactive materials—to guide officials in considering protective countermeasures.

For example, the maximum standard for radioactive iodine is a daily intake of 100 micro-microcuries per day over a year's time. The standard for strontium is 200. A micro-microcurie is a measurement of radioactivity.

Terrill said the Health Service just can't say how much fallout will come down quickly from Monday's heavy weight test, or how much will be delayed until next spring.

Contributing to UF Is Gift Worthwhile

In support of the current Pontiac Area United Fund Drive, Ken Morris, regional director of the UAW-CIO-AFL, issued the following statement:

★ ★ ★

"The Pontiac United Fund Drive is under way.

"Too often every citizen exposed to sloganized advertising believes when he contributes to the United Fund he is making a donation to an organization. This is a mistake!

★ ★ ★

"Every penny contained in a contribution to the United Fund is really contributing to a child stricken with polio, to an accident-stricken citizen in Pontiac who uses the services of a visiting nurse, or the promotion of healthy activities for Boy Scouts who have done much to promote citizenship among the young people in the community.

★ ★ ★

"To single out even these few is an injustice to the many agencies that quietly each day seek to meet the needs of the "have-nots" in the Pontiac area. Throughout the community many require the help of one of the many service organizations that are the recipients of the monies donated to the Pontiac Area United Fund.

★ ★ ★

"Each agency, as part of the United Fund, helps in making a better life for many Pontiac area citizens. To know that every gift that each person contributes gives organized help to those in need makes united giving worthwhile.

★ ★ ★

"Actually when you make your contribution, remember you are not contributing to the United Fund—you are contributing to help a neighbor in trouble. And that neighbor's contribution may help when YOU are in trouble."

Commission Gives OK to 1962 Airport Project

said. "There is no room in this area for two airports. It would be hard to compete with such a jet airport."

Law said he hoped to introduce legislation in Lansing enabling the county to enter into such a venture possibly next year.

★ ★ ★

The Commission, however, had its own problems. Meeting informally last week, commissioners questioned the wisdom of widening an east-west landing strip, as recommended by Hoskins, rather than beginning work on a major north-south landing strip.

TO GET MASTER PLAN

At last night's meeting they approved a resolution to pay Robert K. Peckham, consulting engineer, $7,500 for an airport master plan. Purpose of the plan is to show what has been done and what remains, before approving 1962 projects.

★ ★ ★

Then the commissioners adjourned to meet in City Manager Walter K. Willman's office. Willman presented them with Hoskins' report on the 1962 program he recommended.

★ ★ ★

The program does not include a north-south runway.

Hoskins' report, however, did point out that unless commissioners approved and submitted his 1962 project to the Michigan Department of Aeronautics for federal approval by next Tuesday, the city would be out about $294,000.

Then the Commissioners filed back to their chambers and gave official approval to the program as outlined by Hoskins.

★ ★ ★

Originally, Hoskins, too had hoped that work could begin next year on the north-south runway. However, delays in passage of federal airport aid by Congress and a cutback from a five to a two-year program in financing, made it out of the question, he said.

WANT INSTRUMENT LANDINGS

"North Central Airlines and many other large corporations using our facilities have asked that we try to get instrument landings," Hoskins said.

"Equipment for instrument landings would increase our traffic considerably, but to qualify for this we must have a runway that is 4,200 to 6,000 feet long, 150 feet wide and a taxiway that is at least 75 feet wide.

"The runway is now 5,300 feet long, 100 feet wide and has a 40-foot-wide taxiway. We would add 50 feet to the runway and 35 to the taxiway next year.

"Both measures are necessities if we ever want to get facilities for instrument landings," he said.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, who is also chairman of the Oakland County Aviation Committee, said that the county had no definite plans for a jet airport but had discussed the possibility of one.

★ ★ ★

"The Pontiac airport serves a definite need now and will fill that need for many years to come. We cannot see it becoming obsolete any more than we see it as a jet airport," he said.

To Seek Counsel Post if Vacated

By DICK HANSON

First assistant corporation counsel of Oakland County Charles A. Davis announced yesterday that he would be a candidate for county corporation counsel if the position becomes open.

★ ★ ★

However, he speculated that the duties of corporation counsel likely would be altered if Norman Barnard should vacate the post to become chairman of the county board of auditors.

Barnard currently is serving as the board's committee chairman and frequently is called upon to act as go-between with the legislature at Lansing.

Davis feels that his boss would continue to perform these important functions in addition to heading the board of auditors.

PLANS PENDING

Plans recommended by the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee to have Barnard made chairman of the board of auditors, in which office he would assume administrative control of county government, depend at the present time on the pending resignation of the current chairman, Robert Y. Moore.

But it is quite possible that Moore will withdraw his resignation prior to the Nov. 7 meeting of the Board of Supervisors, thus complicating if not stalemating the Ways and Means Committee plan to replace him with a younger man.

Moore, 76, and the dean of county government with over 30 years service, indicated yesterday that he would like to remain on the board of auditors for another two years at which time his present term would end and then retire.

★ ★ ★

"I still have a few things I would like to get done," said the man who has been a major force in relocating county government offices in the service center on Telegraph Road to escape the congested downtown area.

Moore said he would go along with appointing a younger man as chairman of the board of auditors at this time, though.

If Moore does withdraw his resignation, it could well stalemate the committee's plans for at least two years. The only other board of auditors post up for re-appointment at the Nov. 7 meeting is that of Robert E. Lilly.

WILL PROBABLY STAY

Since he is the only Democrat on the three-member board he probably will be retained as a balance between the two political parties represented on the board of supervisors. Barnard is a Republican.

The other Republican member of the board of auditors is its vice chairman John C. Austin and his term runs for another year.

There is a strong belief among county officials that Moore already has withdrawn his resignation. The board of supervisors has received from him a registered letter which is to be opened at the Nov. 7 meeting.

The letter probably contains Moore's withdrawal of his resignation.

★ ★ ★

If so, the new position of county budget director created at the last board of supervisors meeting probably will go begging. The $10,500 post was expected to be filled by Moore so that the board of auditors could still draw on his vast experience in county budget affairs.

The post would be advisory only, though, since Barnard would be the financial administrator as the plan goes.

★ ★ ★

The plan could still be put into effect if the board of supervisors recalled Moore from the board of auditors. This is unlikely, considering his past service to the county.

Face Election 'At-Large'

Alabama Congressmen Run Hard

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — There is no problem in getting a dinner speaker in Alabama these days. Just ask your congressman.

★ ★ ★

Alabama's congressmen are hungry—vote hungry, and the fare in next May's Democratic primary elections will be different from any they've ever had.

Alabama is losing one of its nine representatives because of population shifts, and the May elections are to decide, in effect, which one goes.

'9-8 PLAN'

The Alabama Legislature, failing to redistrict the state, came up with what is called the "9-8 plan" in a quick special session last summer.

★ ★ ★

The plan calls for each of the present nine districts to nominate a candidate in the first primary. The nominees then must run in a statewide primary. The top eight in the statewide vote will be in, the ninth will be out. Nomination as a Democrat is tantamount to election in Alabama.

TO CAMPAIGN HARD

The congressmen—all eager for re-election — aren't exactly pleased with the "9-8 plan" but they agree firmly on one thing—they all plan to campaign over the entire state.

Frank Boykin of Mobile, the senior member of the Alabama delegation with 26 years in Congress, proposes that the runoff candidates campaign together and share the expenses, "since we're all close friends."

★ ★ ★

He calls the "9-8 plan" the "most asinine thing I ever saw."

George Huddleston Jr. of Birmingham represents the state's most populous district. He is the freshman member of the Alabama delegation with seven years in Congress.

'POLITE RACE'

He says he's not counting on his vote-heavy district to tide him over in a statewide race. "As far as I'm concerned," he says, "my district is now the entire state of Alabama."

Armistead Selden Jr. of Greensboro said he believes it will be a very polite campaign. He said all nine candidates know that one has to go and the other eight will have to live together after it is over.

Robert E. Jones Jr. of Scottsboro said he believes the statewide election will show the congressmen more of the state's problems than they have known before.

Alabama's other congressmen are Kenneth Roberts of Anniston, George Andrews of Union Springs, Albert Rains of Gadsden, George Grant of Troy and Carl Elliott of Jasper.

Casals to Play in White House

Famed Cellist Breaks Old Vow in Agreeing to Perform for JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pablo Casals, on of the world's great musicians but for years only a legend in the United States, will break an 11-year-old vow by playing in the White House next month.

★ ★ ★

The portly 84-year-old cellist vowed he would never play in the capital of any country that recognizes the Franco regime in his native Spain.

But the aging virtuoso accepted President Kennedy's invitation to play Nov. 13 after a state dinner for Gov. Luis Munz-Martin of Puerto Rico.

In his letter of acceptance to Kennedy, Casals told the President he hoped "the music that I play for you and your friends will symbolize my deep feelings for the American people and the faith and confidence we all have in you as leader of the free world."

After Franco won the Spanish Civil War, Casals left Spain and recently has made his home in Puerto Rico, where his mother was born.

His only concert in the United States since the 1938 Spanish Civil War was in 1958 at the United Nations. Prior to 1938, he gave concerts in the United States almost yearly.

★ ★ ★

Of late, Casals has spent most of his time promoting music and teaching. Famed for his conducting as well as his cello playing, Casals has not made recordings for years, and many of his records are collector's items.

Faculty-Backed 'Man' Loses Student Election

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (UPI) — Paul Grant wasn't elected freshman class treasurer at Eau Claire State College because he got only 38 per cent of the vote.

And it was just as well, too. There is no Paul Grant at Eau Claire State. The political science department put the fictitious name on the ballot to test student voting habits.

51 Towns Ask Aid for Sewage Plants

LANSING (AP)—Applications from 51 Michigan communities requesting federal aid for construction of sewage treatment plants will be screened by the Water Resources Commission Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Requests total more than $15 million. The state's share of the $80 million federal appropriation for the program is $2.3 million.

The projects will be certified to the U.S. Public Health Service within the limits of available funds, the commission said.

The agency also will receive a report from the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., in connection with waste control improvements planned for the ore beneficition process at its Humboldt mine.

Commission staff members also will report on negotiations with nine Kalamazoo area paper mills on planned control of waste dumped into the Kalamazoo River.

Birthday Party Honors Picasso

Painter, 80 Today and French Town Invites 4,000 for Weekend

VALLAURIS, France (UPI) — The most famous painter alive is 80 years old today.

★ ★ ★

He is Pablo Diego Jose Francisco De Paula Juan Nepomucene Crispin Crispiniano de la Santissima Trinidad Ruiz Blanco, who calls himself Pablo Picasso for short.

To celebrate the occasion, this Riviera village where Picasso has lived for more than 20 years is working itself up to a two-day weekend party in honor of the master.

Picasso himself has said he is looking forward to the festivities "happy as a kid."

★ ★ ★

The town council has sent out more than 4,000 invitations to the party, and included such distinguished fellow artists as Sir Winston Churchill and French modernist Bernard Buffet on the guest list.

Other invitations went out to friends and artists in other fields, including Charlie Chaplin, Jean Cocteau and bullfighter Luis Dominguin.

The celebration will be preceded by an exhibition of 50 of Picasso's paintings.

★ ★ ★

Some will be on view for the first time and local police have taken elaborate precautions to guard against art thieves who have been raiding Riviera museums this year.

Special guards have been hired and burglar alarms triggered to electric eyes which have been installed at every entrance to the exhibition room here.

Guest speaker will be psychiatrist Aloysius S. Church, M.D., assistant medical director at St. Joseph's Retreat, Dearborn, and nationally known author of newspaper and journal articles.

Bacteria-Fueled Batteries to Be Tested by Navy

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says the Navy will soon conduct ocean tests of a new kind of battery in which bacteria help promote the flow of electricity.

★ ★ ★

The Times said the "bio batteries" have been operating in laboratories for more than a year but most details are classified by the Navy. The project came to light, the Times said, when similar experiments were done for an unclassified Interior Department project.

★ ★ ★

The bio batteries, the Times said, could make possible production of electricity from fuels now unusuable, such as sugar, potatoes and sewage. The ocean itself could provide unlimited fuel or oxidants, the Times noted.

Liquid-Fueled Rocket Launched From Ocean

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A 17-foot-long liquid-fuel rocket has been blasted aloft from the ocean off Point Mugu in an experiment to prove the feasibility of ocean launches.

The Aerobee rocket shot up about a mile with a partial load of fuel, then floated back down by parachute Tuesday. Observers said the test was completely successful.

Pontiacs Selling at Record Rate; Tempests, Too

Retail deliveries of new Pontiacs and Tempests during the first 30 days of new model sales totaled 45,285, a record rate higher than the same period in 1955, it was announced by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

New car sales during the second 10-day period in October amounted to 13,828, a 30 per cent increase over the previous 10 days, Knudsen said, thus making it the best mid-October sales period in division history.

The current sales performance of the new Pontiacs upholds our earlier confidence in a healthy business recovery and a flourishing economy throughout the country, stated Knudsen.

Early Trading Sees Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced in moderately active trading early today.

Pivotal issues gained from fractions to a point or so and more volatile stocks did better.

Aircraft-missiles, electronics, electrical equipments, chemicals, steels and motors were mostly higher. Oils, building materials, utilities and rails were mixed.

★ ★ ★

Zenith and Texas Instruments spurted more than 2 points apiece. International Business Machines touched still another high as it rose more than a point.

Ford, up about a point, was the best performer among autos, which were unchanged to a bit higher. U.S. Steel added a point to pace its division.

Opening blocks included: Royal Dutch, off ⅛ at 31¾ on 4,500 shares; Boeing, up 1 at 47⅞, Jersey Standard, unchanged at 45⅞, Westinghouse Electric, up ⅛ at 38⅜, and General Dynamics, up ½ at 28, all on 4,000-share transactions.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Moderate gainers included Gulf American Land, New England Telephone and Aeronca. Among losers were Sherwin-Williams, Loral Electronics and Molybdenum.

U. S. Bonds Showing Pep

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. government bonds opened small fractions higher today on a little more activity than during the first two sessions this week.

Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange displayed a mixed pattern at the start.

Utilities opened firm among the corporates but rails and industrials were thoroughly irregular. There were few changes amounting to a full point or more. An exception were the Celanese 3S, up 1¼ at 96½ at one time.

Early Trading Shows Mixed Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market showed little trend today in mixed initial dealings on the Board of Trade.

Price changes generally were within minimum fractions with gains in wheat and corn and the weakness elsewhere. Some soybean contracts eased major fractions on pressure described as hedging and short selling.

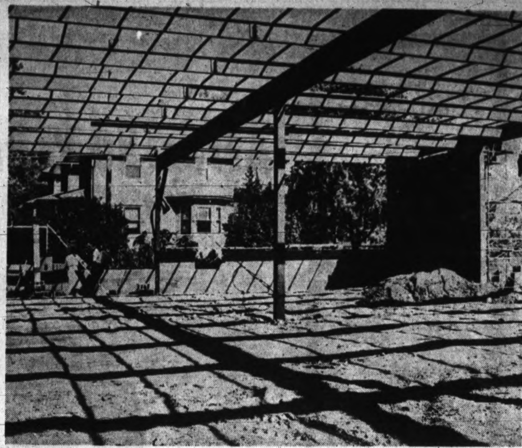
The high dam at Aswan, Egypt, will convert a 300-mile stretch of the upper Nile River into a lake 20 miles wide in places and 180 feet deep. The lake will swallow more than 25 Pharaonic temples, at least seven ancient Egyptian towns, countless tombs and shrines and a vast area unexplored by archeologists.



FRAMEWORK FINISHED — Builders began work this week on the walls of this portion of a new S. S. Kresge Store at the new Glenwood Plaza Shopping Center on Glenwood Avenue just east of Perry Street. It will be the nation's biggest Kresge outlet, exceeding the average chain store by 40,000 square feet of retail area. Gets Okay to Apply for $4 Million

Portions of four city streets and an alley were vacated by the city last night in a final move to assure expansion of the Glenwood Plaza Shopping Center.

Resolutions to vacate the city-owned properties were given final approval by commissioners after no objections were heard during public hearings on each parcel.

The streets and alley are located in some nine acres of land east and south of the shopping center. Resolutions to rezone the area to commercial were given final approval Oct. 10.

Vacated were about 400 feet of Gilmour Drive, 200 feet of McGregor Street, 1,100 feet of Grandview Boulevard, and 130 feet of Omar Street.

The 30-foot alley lies at the rear of the shopping center.

The builders requested the rezoning and vacating in August. Both proposals were recommended by the City Planning Commission last month.

30 ACRES IN CENTER

The shopping center will now cover 30 acres or more than 1.1 million square feet of total land area. It will devote some 290,000 square feet to retail space.

The center currently plans to contain about 30 retail outlets, an S. S. Kresge department store being the largest.

The Kresge store will cover 80,000 square feet and is the biggest in the chain. The average Kresge outlet is about 20,000 square feet.

The only other building already leased is for a Food Fair Supermarket covering 7,500 square feet of retail space.

Total parking area will be 857,880 square feet in size. It will offer free parking for 2,000 cars. The ratio of parking to building area is 3 to 1.

Ancient Walrus Fossil Found Near Virginia

POQUOSON, Va. (AP) — Capt. Frank Carpenter's trawler brought in a strange marine fossil from waters of the Atlantic east of here. Robert S. Bailey of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science at Gloucester said it was the skull of a walrus, probably killed in a glacial period several hundred thousand years ago.

Walruses today are not native to the Atlantic south of the St. Lawrence river.

Service Industries Get 40 Per Cent of Dollar

(Editor's Note: Service is the fastest growing factor in the U.S. economy these days. Most new jobs fall in that class. In this, first in a series of articles on how service industries help both the individual and the rest of the business world, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, tells why service takes more of your dollar all the time.)

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — You know you're spending more for services these days. Your bills tell you so.

But few know how big a part services play in their lives today nor how fast is the growth of the industries that cater to their needs, whims and convenience. Steadily increasing personal incomes and greater leisure time for most Americans offer the service industries a tempting target—and their aim grows surer every year.

★ ★ ★

When most people think of personal services, they think of beauty parlors, medical clinics and hospitals, commuter trains, gas, electricity, phones and the repair men that nurse a growing array of appliances.

SERVICES ARE WIDE

But personal services go far beyond that, important as is the role of the above items in today's way of living.

There's someone to furnish artificial snow for ski runs when nature doesn't, and to keep city rinks iced when the temperature soars.

★ ★ ★

Others will take over all or part of entertainment problems, manage money, decorate or clean the home, teach almost any kind of game, help toward the social graces, rent a car or a washing machine, or insure against the chance your heart will give out before the payments on your instalment debt do.

'ENJOY NOW, PAY LATER'

Banks and finance companies and credit card agencies will help get almost any product or service on the basis of enjoy now, pay later.

Those who sell various services —and there are more of them all the time—are pleased that this year Americans are spending about $140 billion with them, or about 40 per cent of all consumer purchasing.

★ ★ ★

Bolstering personal appearance is a $6 billion-a-year business. Beauty parlor chains span the nation now, and some of them sell stocks to the public.

$6.4 BILLION IN FUN

Religion and welfare also are classed as services and the public spends $4.7 billion on them. Americans kick in $6.4 billion for recreation.

Private education accounts for $4.5 billion with an additional $2.6 billion of consumer spending going for that broadening experience, foreign travel. Both of these services have expanded rapidly in recent years.

★ ★ ★

Service is as much a part of home life these days as togetherness. There are companies that will provide any type of servant from cleaning woman to butler. Renting of cars is well-established, and some predict that leasing of household equipment is the wave of the future.

IT'S STILL A SERVICE

Lending the money to finance purchase of the home in the first place rates as a service, no matter what you may call the monthly payment. Then there's a growing horde of decorators who will purchase anything you can pay for, another group that will landscape the grounds. And yard boys are in a service industry, whether your own sons or young businessmen with a string of clients.

★ ★ ★

Repairmen who take care of plumbing, TV sets, appliances, or flaking paint form a thriving service industry despite the competition of the do-it-yourself man of the house.

MORE AND MORE

If you have any money left, there are specialists to serve you. Investing consultants, managers of trust funds, mutual fund salesmen, stock brokers.

And your newspaper is in there with services, too. Many carry advice on heart problems, how to put a husband in his place, or a mother-in-law, or a penny-pinching suitor.

★ ★ ★

And on another page you may find advice on purchasing or investing, either in general terms or in specific ways to spend your money or, hopefully, to double it.

Service? If you aren't getting it, that's because you don't want it or can't pay for it.

★ ★ ★

Thursday: Business itself hires as many services as you do.

City Okays Vacating for Center

City Manager Walter K. Willman has been authorized to apply for more than $4 million in federal aid for Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

At their meeting last night, city commissioners authorized filing applications for a loan and grants with the Urban Renewal Administration and Housing and Home Finance Administration in Chicago.

Willman will also forward the final project report and plan to federal officials for study and approval.

The loan, to finance borrowing in the new area, will be in the amount of $2,830,670 and will be paid back.

* * *

Willman will apply for a capital grant of $1,385,040 which is the federal share of the total estimated project cost, and a grant of $109,530 to cover relocation costs.

The federal agencies finance three-fourths of the project. The city's one-quarter share amounts to $461,680.

PLAN PUBLIC HEARING

Preliminary approval of the plans and applications is expected by January, at which time a public hearing on the intended project will be held here.

The plan would then get final approval from the city and federal agencies and land acquisition would begin. The second renewal area is mostly commercial, bordered by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, West Pike Street and the rear lot lines of properties on the west side of Saginaw Street.

Commissioners passed a resolution recognizing the contributions of former Mayor Frank Ruf to the city. Ruf died last week.

He was mayor in 1934-35 and served as commissioner from 1933-37. The resolution recognized "the good will and high sense of loyalty established by Mr. Ruf which won him high respect from citizens."

* * *

The commission has approved an extension agreement whereby GMC Truck & Coach Division will lease property to the city for another year.

The property, covering 20 lots in Woodward Estates Subdivision, has been leased to the city on an annual basis for several years and is the site of Southwest Civic Park.

MAY FACE DECISION

The city may be faced with a decision soon on whether to subsidize ambulance service companies making emergency runs on calls from city police or firemen.

Midwest Ambulance Service, currently handling most of the city's calls, has suggested such a plan. Last night the owner of General Ambulance Service questioned the "monopoly" enjoyed by Midwest on city calls.

Willman explained the agreement was made with Midwest last spring when the city asked for rates from local companies offering such service and Midwest offered the lowest price per run.

Commissioners, however, are considering a flat payment to ambulance firms on a per call basis to insure continuous service.

A proposal on the matter may be introduced at next Tuesday's meeting.

* * *

Commissioners approved a request from Donald C. Crudt of 1145 Dudley St., that the Herrington Hills Homeowners Association be allowed to put up traffic safety signs at four locations in the subdivision.

Crudt, representing the group, said the signs would be about 20x28 inches and would read "1,054 Children Play Here." They will be placed on Boyd, Lynch and Bay Streets.

Commissioner John A. Dugan commended the association for a "wonderful idea and hard work of residents involved."

ASKS TRAFFIC CONTROL

In the interest of public safety, Dugan himself asked for traffic control at the intersection of Featherstone Road and North East Boulevard.

"Something has to be done. There is an increasing number of accidents there. Last Thursday seven people were injured in a collision at the intersection," Dugan said.

Willman said he would look into the matter again but that earlier studies showed a traffic light would be only a block away from one at Mt. Clemens and East Boulevard and would create a traffic jam during rush hours.

Commissioners okayed transfer of ownership of a 1961 SDM licensed business at 332 South East Boulevard from Earl E. Peters to Mathew B. Barr.

Chemical Cover Cuts Water Loss by Evaporation

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A chemical "skin" for lakes and reservoirs may save billions of gallons of water in the thirsty West.

Joseph B. Franzini, associate professor of civil engineering at Stanford University, says a substance called hexadecanol was used on the surface of a 40-acre lake on the Stanford campus.

Result: It reduced the lake's evaporation as much as 18 per cent.

Franzini said the chemical forms an invisible film on the water's surface. It keeps the water in, but does not keep out oxygen needed by fish.

But there are disadvantages, which are being studied. Waves break up the film, so presently it is suitable only for use on reservoirs with little wind. Also, the film seems to reduce insect life, which would result in less food for fish.

More Than 350,000 Visit Truman Library

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Since its opening in September, 1957, the museum of the Harry S. Truman Library here has been visited by more than 350,000 persons from 50 nations.

The largest single display in the museum is a full-sized reproduction of the President's office in the White House. Among the desk ornaments is the famous sign used by Truman while he was President—"The Buck Stops Here."

Wisconsin Uses Planes to Enforce Boat Laws

MADISON, Wis. —The Wisconsin Conservation Department is using a loudspeaker from a plane to encourage compliance with the state's new boating laws.

Department-owned planes fly over power boats and occupants are asked to show required life preservers.

"If they have them, they hold them up," an official said. "If they don't, they head for shore to get them."

New Selling Point

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Fred Boyd didn't panic when her car caught fire at an intersection. She stopped, ran to a service station, bought a bottle of soda pop and put the fire out with it.
