British Armada Hurries to Kuwait

Ties With Congo Are Resumed by the Belgians

Adoula Bolstered in Katanga Dealings With European Nation's Act

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgium resumed diplomatic relations with the Congo today, strengthening Premier Cyrille Adoula's hand in dealing with Katanga's secession.

Restoration of relations was announced as Parliament awaited the arrival of Katanga members to take their seats as provided in Adoula's recent unity agreement with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Relations with Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, were broken 17 months ago in a fit of anticolonial fury. The late leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba was angered because Belgium tried to protect its citizens and property with troops during the riots after independence.

Belgian interests also supported Tshombe in his defiance of the central government. Belgium investment is heavy in the copper, uranium and other mineral riches of Katanga.

SENTIMENT SHIFTS

Gradually, the Belgian government and commercial interests in Brussels have swung around to favor Congo unity under a central government in Leopoldville, much to Tshombe's annoyance.

A central government was provided in the constitution Belgium drafted for its colony, but the chaos that ensued after independence was granted in 1960 kept the constitution from being ratified by Parliament.

The 15-member Katanga parliamentary delegation, to be flown from the Katanga capital of Elisabethville in a U.N. plane, is expected to propose changes in the constitution to give provinces greater freedom from Leopoldville's control.

The pact signed by Adoula and Tshombe at the U.N. base of Kitona recognized the central government's control over Katanga, but the Katanga leader never has dropped his objections to a strong central regime.

The Katanga Cabinet held it was not competent to ratify the Kitona agreement and passed it to the provincial assembly, a move which Adoula said torpedoed "the last effort to resolve the Katanga crisis by peaceful means."

Man, Boy Pull Two From River

Credit Pair With Saving Girls

An 11-year-old boy and a Pontiac man today were credited with saving two 6-year-old girls from the freezing waters of the Clinton River yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Saved from the icy river were Vanessa Mardis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mardis of 56 Hazel St., and her neighbor, Janine Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Beatty.

John Johnson, a sixth grader at Webster Elementary School, threw a rope to the Beatty child and pulled her from the river after she had fallen through, according to Mrs. Helen Woldon, a housekeeper at the Johnson home.

The two children broke through the ice at the rear of the Johnson home on the shore opposite Beaudette Park shortly before 12:30 p.m.

CARRIED GIRL TO SHORE

Mrs. Woldon said she was about to go after the other girl herself when she spotted Michael Rivenburgh, 22, 48 Hazel St., who is Janine's half-brother.

Rivenburgh, hearing Mrs. Woldon's cries, plunged into the river, grabbed little Vanessa by the arm and carried her to shore.

The two children were rushed to Pontiac General Hospital and released later after being treated for shock and exposure.

Mrs. Woldon said the Johnson boy, the son of Edward Johnson of 65 Peggy St., ran into his house, picked up a rope inside and threw it to Janine.

Rivenburgh said Vanessa was below the surface of the water when he reached her. Police said the girl was "blue" from the cold when they reached the scene.

Rivenburgh, who is unemployed, declined medical aid after being drenched in the freezing waters. He complained only that he lost his shoe in the river while going after the child.

The Pontiac Police Officers Association quickly rectified the situation. They purchased him a new pair of shoes and presented him with a citation, honoring his "outstanding act of civic duty."

City Approves Hospital Budget

Pontiac General Gets Final Commission OK on '62 Operating Slate

Pontiac General Hospital's $5.8-million operating budget for 1962 got final approval from commissioners at last night's City Commission meeting.

The budget, approved by the hospital board of trustees earlier this month, is about $863,000 above the 1961 budget.

Last night's action makes the budget final. It is based on current operating costs. The increase over the 1961 budget is due mainly to more capacity and employes at the hospital.

The 1962 budget was based on an average occupancy of 87 per cent. Next year's is based on an expected 91 per cent occupancy.

STANDING FIRM

Hospital administrators are standing firm on not giving hospital employes pay hikes in 1962. The budget as approved doesn't include an allocation for salary increases.

Although administrators are still negotiating with employes, an amendment to the resolution approving the budget would be required to add salary allocations.

Employes had asked a five-cent-an-hour hike which would cost a total of $82,000. They got a five-cent pay hike in 1961.

★ ★ ★

The hospital also was authorized last night to buy a lot on W. Huron Street between Seminole and Oneida roads for $7,500.

The lot lies west of a home which now houses interns. It will be used for parking for interns.

The cost will be credited against the hospital's debt to the city for building expansion.

★ ★ ★

Until now, the lot had been rented on a monthly basis by the medical staff.

See Echo I Due Twice

Echo I, that big gasbag in the sky, will be visible from Pontiac tomorrow morning at 6:04, 76 to 84 degrees above the northern horizon, moving in a northeasterly direction. It will return at 7:18, 61 to 64 degrees over the horizon in the north, also moving to the northeast.

Admits $1-Million Plot Against Church Staff

NEW YORK (AP)— Police say a jobless man has admitted he attempted to extort $1-million from a Protestant church by threatening to wipe out the minister and his staff with explosives.

The man, Harold L. Grout, 40, was quoted by police as saying he wanted the money "to alleviate a lot of the ills in the world and the injustices."

Retail Deliveries of New Pontiacs Up 22 Per Cent

Retail deliveries of new Pontiacs and Tempests during the second 10-day sales period in December totaled 12,929, a 22 per cent increase over the same period last year when the figure was 10,570, it was announced today by E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

"These outstanding mid-December sales are enabling us to continue our record - setting pace," Mr. Estes pointed out.

★ ★ ★

"Pontiac sales during the first 90 days of the 1962 model run total 128,837," Mr. Estes added. This compares with 123,159 for the same period of 1955, a record year for Pontiac.

Laotian Princes Meet, Adjourn

Long-Awaited Talks Collapse After Hour Session in Vientiane

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The heralded three-princes' meeting apparently collapsed today in less than an hour. After months of maneuvering by Lotian politicians and pressure by foreign diplomats, neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and his pro-Communist half-brother Souphanouvong arrived for talks with prowestern Premier Boun Oum on formation of a coalition government.

★ ★ ★

Boun Oum neither met them at the airport nor went to the appointed meeting place. Growing impatient, the two visiting princes finally paid a courtesy call on Prince Boun Oum at his residence. The meeting lasted less than an hour.

Boun Oum told newsmen that as far as he was concerned there was no further need of a princely meeting, adding:

"The two princes came to see me and we talked, there you had your princely meeting."

★ ★ ★

The outcome astounded and depressed diplomats in this little kingdom, who had watched the weeks of haggling over trivial arrangements for the meeting. But their hopes never had been high. Some had agreed it would take a miracle for an agreement to be reached.

England Fears Invasion Threat by Iraqi Chief

Intelligence Indicates Kassim Massing Troops on Sheikdom's Border

LONDON (AP) — British officials today disclosed an armada is hurrying toward the Persian Gulf oil sheikdom of Kuwait to meet a suspected Iraqi military threat.

The admiralty said that at least six warships, led by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Centaur, have sailed from the East African base of Mombasa for an unannounced destination.

Other officials reported that the ships — which include two frigates, a tank landing ship and two big fleet auxiliaries — are heading for the Kuwait area.

They added several other precautionary British fleet moves are under way but are secret.

REPORTED MASSING TROOPS

Over the Christmas weekend, intelligence and diplomatic reports from the region indicated to the British government that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim has been massing troops, possibly as the prelude to an invasion to achieve the annexation of Kuwait he threatened last summer.

The Defense Ministry announced Tuesday that 300 troops, most of them transport aircraft crewmen, had been put on the alert, and troops were reported standing by to be flown from Nairobi, Kenya, if needed.

Britain forestalled an Iraqi invasion last July by landing troops in Kuwait at the request of Sheik Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah after Kassim renewed his country's claim to the little neighboring territory.

BACK UP ARABS

Arab League troops, which replaced British commandos, jet planes and warships in Kuwait last September, amount to only a token force. In London's view the Arabs would not be able to stop any full-scale assault by the Iraqis.

The British show of strength clearly was calculated to deter any Iraqi thrust against Kuwait

Clouds Will Cap Evening Spotted With Snowflakes

Mostly cloudy and a little colder with a few snow flurries is the forecast for tonight in the Pontiac area. Tonight's low will slip to a frosty 20 degrees.

Thursday will be partly cloudy and cool, the high reaching for 28. Not quite so cold with some snow or snow flurries is the outlook for Friday.

Morning westerly winds at 10 miles per hour will shift to northwesterly at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Thirty was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. Temperatures had dropped to 24 at 2 p.m.

Press 4-State Hunt for Minister's Killer

BROOKLYN (AP)—Police in four states today pressed a search for the brutal slayer of a retired Methodist minister. The body of the Rev. Roy R. Decker, 70, of nearby Tecumseh, was found beneath a smouldering blanket by firemen answering an alarm at the minister's farm house Tuesday.

State police said Dr. Decker apparently was beaten with a hammer, bound with rope and then set afire in a room of the farmhouse.

Police in Michigan and neighboring states sought a 1952 black and cream Buick Roadmaster sedan owned by the minister. The car was believed to have been used by Decker's slayer in his getaway.

Terming the death "murder," state police said robbery apparently was the motive for the slaying.

The body was found in a bedroom of the two-story, frame farm home owned by the Rev. Mr. Decker. A ball-peen hammer was found near the charred body.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

State Police Lt. Joseph Lieberr said that the minister was knocked unconscious with the hammer, bound and then doused with gasoline or kerosene and set afire.

Dr. Joseph H. Ahronheim, a pathologist, said the minister apparently suffered a heart attack after the beating and then suffocated in the burning room.

Officers put out an alert for the minister's car, a sedan, after neighbors told them they saw the car speeding from the death house with a young man at the wheel.

The minister and his family moved to the farm home near Brooklyn about a year and a half ago, following his retirement as minister of Grace Methodist church in Meadville, Pa.

The family decided to move to Tecumseh, about 20 miles southeast of here, last fall because both the minister and his wife, Grace, had been in ill health.

The minister put the farm up for sale last Tuesday. Police said he apparently had returned to the farm to get it ready for prospective buyers.

Kennedy, Wife Visit Ill Father

Day's Agenda Includes More Work on Budget, Speech, Exam of Back

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy has completed work on the budget for the next fiscal year and it will be balanced, administration officials said today. It is also reported his troublesome back is stronger than last summer but it will be several months before he can resume vigorous physical activity.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy drove a cream-colored convertible to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach today for a morning visit with his ailing father, Mrs. Kennedy accompanied him.

They left 25 minutes later, this time taking a back seat in the car, with a Secret Service agent doing the driving.

The President's three sisters, Mrs. Sargent Shriver, Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith also visited the elder Kennedy this morning.

★ ★ ★

The President had a busy schedule for the day, including more work on the new government budget and his State of the Union

Danes Flop in Try to 'Lift' Pop Music

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Ten Danish poets and 10 composers of serious music made a try at raising pop songs to a higher level of literary and musical merit. All flopped with the critics and the public.

★ ★ ★

The Danish State Radio and Television Co. enlisted the longhairs in a contest and presented their efforts in a special radio-telecast Tuesday night. Angry telephone calls flooded the station. Newspaper critics were sarcastic.

Even the announcer admitted he was not sure any of the three winning songs was worth the money.

The first prize, $300, went to "We Are the Angry, Fed-up Bored Young Men," by Niels Viggo Bentzon, internationally known composer of orchestral music, and poet Piet Hein, also known internationally under the pen name of Kumbel.

CRITICS CRY

Most critics cried over the tune, calling it hopeless. They said the lyrics might be listened to in a literary cabaret but never in a night club.

★ ★ ★

The second prize of $200 was won by one of Denmark's noted angry young men, poet Klaus Rifbjerg, and composer Finn Savery. The tune went over well and some critics said poet Rifbjerg might have found the universal truth of all pop songs.

Rifbjerg called his song "Mlang Mlang." This was a sample of his lyrics:

"Tos lor na venu mut onha substal a bam primo,
"Vos pata ranka ni hoelo da fut,
"Tin rgson freni trapuito bavosse,
"Mlang mlang. . . ."

The lyrics are in no known language but Rifbjerg said they should be understandable to everyone.

★ ★ ★

Poet Oscar Hansen and composer Otto Lington carried off the third prize, $70, for a song that won praise only in the Communist daily, "Land Og Folk."

Donner Predicts Good Auto Year

Sees '62 Excellent for Business

DETROIT (AP)—"The year 1962 gives every promise of being an excellent one for business," the chairman of the world's largest manufacturing enterprise said today.

★ ★ ★

Frederic G. Donner, General Motors Corp. chairman, also said in a year-end statement that "the momentum of recovery and expansion of the past nine months should carry through 1962."

★ ★ ★

The GM chairman's rosy forecast coincided with one made earlier by Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., who said: "I expect 1962 to be a solid, prosperous year for the general economy and the automotive industry."

"With favorable business conditions for 1962," Donner said, "demand for cars and trucks will exceed eight million units, of which more than seven million will be passenger cars."

That would represent the industry's second best year, exceeded only by 1955, when 9,187,000 units were produced, almost eight million of them passenger cars.

Ward's Automotive Reports has estimated this year's passenger car production will total 5,515,000, compared with 6,696,108 in 1960. Ward's said 1961 truck production will be 5.9 per cent off 1960's output of 1,200,000.

Ford also was optimistic regarding auto output, saying:

★ ★ ★

"For the first half of 1962 Ford Motor Co. sees sales of passenger cars in the domestic market at an annual rate of nearly seven million units. If this rate continues for the remainder of the year sales would be about 16 per cent higher than in 1961."

★ ★ ★

Donner and Ford agreed on another point, the gross national product in 1962. Both forecast an annual rate of $560 billion. It currently is at an annual rate of $540 billion.

"Personal income, now at a record annual rate of $425 billion, should achieve further highs," Donner said, adding:

"Reports of business plans to modernize plant, expand production capacity and lower costs provide further evidence that the economy will continue to move forward actively in the year ahead.

"Government expenditures for both defense and nondefense purposes have increased. Unemployment, on a seasonally adjusted basis, is now declining, and total employment is at a record level . .

"Renewed consumer confidence—of basic importance to the automobile industry—has already stimulated rising retail sales . . .

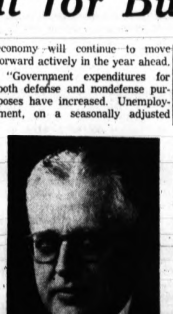

"Demands for automobiles outside the United States continues strong, although advances have not been uniform among the major producing and consuming countries.

"It is evident that many countries overseas must continue to expand their facilities for the production of cars and trucks to meet the needs of their expanding economies.

"In 1962 it is probable that production outside the United States will equal that in this country.

"For the free world as a whole, 1961 sales of passenger cars and trucks reached a total of 13.5 million units.

"With economic conditions favorable to continued growth, total free world sales in 1962 are expected to exceed 16 million units —a new high in the history of the industry."

Kennedy Sees Father

message, and an examination of his back.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Dr. Preston Wade, New York orthopedic specialist, would examine Kennedy's troublesome back in midafternoon.

The President hurt his back shoveling dirt at a tree-planting ceremony last year. However, Salinger said the President has had no recent trouble with it, and that the checkup is routine.

Wade's examination was originally scheduled for Tuesday but was postponed because the physician had trouble getting plane connections from New York.

TAKES DAILY SWIM

Salinger reported the President has been taking a daily swim since his arrival here. There is a heated outdoor salt water pool at the estate of Col. and Mrs. C. Michael Paul, where he is staying.

As to the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, Salinger and St. Mary's Hospital both reported his condition to be unchanged. The hospital said he had a satisfactory night.

Salinger said he did not know whether a mild case of pneumonia, which the elder Kennedy developed after suffering a stroke Dec. 19, had disappeared.

As for the President's working schedule, Salinger said Kennedy, for the second day in a row, would hold a long conference with key advisers on the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, and also work on his State of the Union message.

He announced that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who spent Christmas in the Palm Beach area, would join other advisers who arrived from Washington Tuesday for the huddle on the budget. Budget director David E. Bell was among those who came here Tuesday.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman is coming here Thursday to get in on discussions of the State of the Union message.

Salinger said he expected final work on the budget would be completed today. He declined to speculate on its size, but most predictions have been in the area of $92 billion, about $3 billion above the current year's budget.

To Open Bids on Urban Loan

City to Continue Plan of Using Backing of Financial Institutions

The city will open bids today for a six-month loan continuing its program of using financial institution loans to finance urban renewal land acquisition and demolition.

Local and national financial institutions have been asked to bid on the $3.77-million loan needed to carry out work in the first urban renewal project area.

It is the third urban renewal loan on that area and the largest that administrators expect will be needed for the area, according to Asst. City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

Low bidder on the other two was Community National Bank.

Last December, the bank was lowest of six bidders on a $2,043,000 loan. It offered to pick up the city notes at an interest rate of 1.5 per cent.

LOWER RATE

Last July, the bank was low again, asking a 1.44 per cent interest rate on a $3,031,000 loan.

If the city borrowed from the federal government, it would have to pay the federal interest rate of 4¾ per cent on urban renewal working funds.

The City Commission, meeting last night, authorized Stierer to phone the bids into the Urban Renewal Administration Office in Chicago today and get clearance to award the loan to the low bidder.

Part of the loan will be used to retire last summer's loan. About $740,000 will be left for acquisition and clearance.

★ ★ ★

With additional funds expected in the next federal grant and money coming in from the disposition of urban renewal property, Stierer said future loans should be smaller.

The more than $5-million revolving fund earmarked by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the Pontiac project acts as security for urban renewal borrowing.

DISNEYLAND VISITORS—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie are spending the winter in the Palm Springs, Calif., area. Tuesday, they decided to visit Disneyland. There was plenty of company. Eisenhower waves a fireman's hat as he perches atop a fire engine while Mrs. Eisenhower smiles approvingly. When asked what she gave her husband for Christmas, Mrs. Eisenhower said: "Just my love." Asked what the ex-president gave her, Mamie replied: "He gave me the same."

Three Persons Die in NYC Hotel Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Two residents and a fireman died early today in a fire on the ninth floor of the 17-story Hotel Mayflower overlooking Central Park.

Two other men—apparently residents—were burned, one of them critically. Seven firemen were burned or overcome by smoke.

Most of the 400 guests in the largely residential hotel at Central Park West and 61st St. fled from their rooms shortly before 2 a.m.

DIDN'T PANIC

The guests—many of them in nightclothes—congregated in the lobby. There was no panic. Two of them carried pet canaries from their rooms.

★ ★ ★

They streamed down to the lobby via stairwells and elevators after the hotel manager pressed a button that sounded an alarm on every floor.

The fire burned out of control for almost an hour. City firemen, called out on two alarms, kept the blaze from spreading from the ninth floor.

SOUNDED ALARM

An unidentified man, walking past the hotel as the alarm was sounded, heard calls for help and ran inside. He ran through the hotel, pounding on doors and shouting an alarm.

★ ★ ★

The dead:

Murray Wyzel, about 60, described as a songwriter who had written for the Perry Como television shows.

Fireman John King, 29, a resident of Commack, Long Island.

An unidentified woman.

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Fire officials said the blaze had started in Wyzel's room and spread to the hall. The cause was not immediately determined.

★ ★ ★

Firemen attached hoses to standpipes on the eighth floor, carried them to the ninth and trained them on the hall door. The door gave way and flames burst at the firemen. Two fire lieutenants were burned. Two firemen were knocked out by dense smoke pouring from the hall.

FOUND BY FIREMEN

Minutes later the firemen—behind streams of water—entered Wyzel's room and found him severely burned and near collapse. He was carried to the eighth floor and given emergency treatment.

The woman and the firemen who died also were given emergency treatment on the eighth floor.

★ ★ ★

A man identified as Charles Ross and an unidentified man were taken to Roosevelt Hospital.

Ross, who suffered back burns, was reported in satisfactory condition.

★ ★ ★

The other man, about 60, who suffered bad burns, was placed on the critical list.

Commission Oks '61 Master Plan

City Chiefs Authorize Stierer to Send Copy to All Departments

City commissioners last night endorsed the 1961 Pontiac General Development Plan and authorized Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer to forward a copy to all city departments.

The master plan is to be used as a guide in future planning and development of the city.

Although the plan will influence future decisions, each case, particularly in the area of zoning requests, will be judged on its individual merits.

The plan was outlined several weeks ago at a planning commission meeting. At that time the planning commission recommended that it be adopted by the city commission.

★ ★ ★

In general, commissioners praised the plan as "the best and most comprehensive Pontiac has ever had."

★ ★ ★

The plan spells out what planners feel is the "ideal" setup for Pontiac in areas such as land use, schools, parks, public facilities and services and traffic circulation.

Ribicoff Eyes Race for Senate

Secretary of Welfare Says He'd Accept Draft in Connecticut

By The Associated Press

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff says he would accept a draft to run for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut next year.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff, one of President Kennedy's earliest political supporters, said Tuesday night that a story in the Hartford Courant saying he might accept the draft for the Democratic nomination was "basically correct."

Ribicoff has been rumored as a possible opponent for Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican who has said he will seek re-election.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff told a newsman he would not seek the nomination at the state Democratic convention next June. But he confirmed the report in the Courant that he would accept a draft.

NEEDS JFK APPROVAL

He said that any decision to resign from the Cabinet must have Kennedy's approval and that he had not spoken with the President about the matter.

★ ★ ★

Ribicoff, a two-term governor of Connecticut, said he has to decide whether "it is more important for the Kennedy program to have an additional voice in Congress or to have me continue in the Cabinet."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Frank Kowalski, a congressman at large, already has declared for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Connecticut.

Oil Executive Is Named to Bloomfield Twp. Board

The Day in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM—Frank J. Swindell, an oil company executive, has been named to the Bloomfield Township Board to succeed Gordon Getsinger who resigned in late November.

Swindell, 64, of 4135 Orchard Way, is district manager of Standard Oil, a division of the American Oil Co.

His appointment, approved last night by the board, becomes effective Jan. 1. The term of office is three years and three months.

Getsinger left the position he had held nearly five years to take a job in New York. He had been elected to a four-year term in the spring.

Swindell, a township resident five years, coming from Detroit, retires from Standard July 14 after having been with the firm for 41 years.

District manager for the last four years, he had been division manager since 1947.

Married, he has two daughters and a son.

Swindell said his name had been submitted to the Township Board for consideration in the post but had neves campaigned for the office.

"I did indicate, however, a while back that I would like to perform some function for the township after I retired," Swindell said.

Swindell also is a member of the Oakland County Republican Committee nominating group.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet Jan. 3 at 7:45 p.m. at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

Mrs. William E. Blythe

Service for Mrs. William E. (Isabel M.) Blythe, 66, of 863 S. Bates St., was to have been 1 p.m. today at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with a private burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Blythe died Saturday at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, after a long illness.

A resident of the area 38 years, she was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. John W. Gafill of Birmingham; a sister and brother and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Ella D. Sevald

Private service for Mrs. Ella D. Sevald, 85, of 5345 Hickory Bend Road, will be held tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

An area resident seven years, Mrs. Sevald died Monday following a long illness.

Surviving are two sons, Frederick and John E., both of Birmingham, a sister and two grandchildren.

Memorial tributes may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Walter H. Serenberg

Service for Walter H. Serenberg, 73, of 18785 Glenwood St., Lathrup Village, was held 10 a.m. today at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

A former comptroller of Fisher & Co., Detroit, Mr. Serenberg died Saturday of a heart attack.

He was a member of St. James Episcopal Church, Palestine Lodge F&AM, and of the King Cyrus Chapter, Moslem Shrine.

Surviving are a daughter, Carol M. at home, three sisters and three brothers.

Tattered Flag Is Brought to Its Proper End

A small act of patriotism has been performed quietly at the head of Pontiac's main street.

A faded and tattered American flag left on the statue of a Union soldier was removed and appropriately burned at the direction of Veterans Affairs Director Floyd Cremer.

The small flag, first noticed stuck in the muzzle of the soldier's rifle following this year's Veteran's Day parade, drew occasional comment from passers-by on North Saginaw Street.

★ ★ ★

The Flag had been left behind by young parade watchers who had climbed onto the statue for a better view. Some thought it was a fitting place for Old Glory.

Cremer thought otherwise — "not sticking out of the rifle muzzle," he said.

At one time, Cremer recalled, the nation's Flag did fly proudly from a pole in front of the statue on the American Legion-owned property.

★ ★ ★

The flagpole has long-since disappeared and the site is now used for frequent civic displays such as the city's huge Christmas tree.

Landscape Firm Reports $15 Stolen During Night

TROY — The Davey Tree & Landscape Co., 3846 Rochester Road, was broken into, and a metal cash box containing about $15 was taken sometime last night.

According to Troy police, the thief or thieves broke a lower window, reached into the building and opened a desk drawer to get the cash box. Police are still investigating the burglary.

British Armada Hurries to Kuwait

where British, American, French and Dutch oil interests have a huge investment.

Britain's Defense Minister Harold Watkinson interrupted his Christmas vacation and held a conference with senior armed services chiefs. Later, a spokesman said "tension in Kuwait" had been under discussion.

Besides sending the small armada toward Kuwait, the Defense Ministry alerted elements of the strategic reserve in this country, the Middle East and East Africa for possible movement on 12 hour notice.

Mercury Falls Below Zero in Upper Midwest

By The Associated Press

Brisk winds and falling temperatures accompanied a cold front across the Midwest today.

★ ★ ★

The mercury shriveled to —19 in International Falls, Minn., —14 in Bemidji, Minn., —10 i Duluth and Minneapois-St. Paul, —5 in Mason City, Iowa, —2 in Bismarck, N.D., and —1 in Green Bay, Wis.

Chicagoans went to work bundled against breezy 10 above zero cold.

FLORIDA GETS RELIEF

But a warming trend brought relief from a cold snap in Forida. Temperatures there early in the day ranged from the 20s in the north to the 60s in the south.

Miami's 60 early today compared with a record 42 at about the same time Tuesday. Jacksonville's 37 felt a bit more comfortable than the record low for the date of 25 Tuesday.

Florida's highs were expected to range from 65 to 75 today.

★ ★ ★

Reports indicated damage to Florida's citrus crop was slight, but some damage to vegetables was reported.

Foreign Trade at Top of List for Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may tackle President Kennedy's proposal for a new trade program as its first major piece of business in 1962, if the strategy under consideration by administration leaders is adopted.

★ ★ ★

The idea would be to give opponents as little time as possible to mount a counter offensive to the administration's intense campaign for a broadened trade act—a campaign that has been under way since Congress adjourned in September.

The theme that the United States must promptly come to an agreement with the booming European Common Market or risk being squeezed out of vital export markets has been hammered by high officials in speech after speech during the recess.

A joint economic subcommittee headed by international trade-minded Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., has provided a forum for additional arguments in favor of increasing the President's tariff-cutting powers.

STIFFEST OPPOSITION

The stiffest opposition to an expanded reciprocal trade program comes from Congress members scattered across the country and in both parties but united in having industries at home that consider themselves particularly vulnerable to foreign competition.

It was learned today that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of this and other major administration proposals, may be asked to sidetrack one of the others in order to rush a reciprocal trade bill to the floor.

Even under forced draft, several weeks would be required to conduct hearings and shape a measure that would stand a chance of House passage. The key consideration likely would be proposals for help to vulnerable industries to diversify or otherwise adjust themselves to increased competition. Kennedy is expected to make detailed recommendations soon after Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

Administration strategists say they have the votes in the powerful 25-man committee to approve legislation substantially in accord with Kennedy's ideas. Some Republican members are known to favor broadened reciprocal trade arrangements and will likely concentrate on obtaining what they consider favorable domestic industry relief provisions.

A sense of urgency was sounded also on the Senate side, from the Democratic leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"So far we have been given generalities on what the administration wants for foreign trade," said Mansfield. He said he hoped "we can get to the specifics shortly."

ASKS SPEEDED HEARINGS

He said since Congress is heading into an election year and hopeful of an early adjournment, he thought the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee, should conduct the foreign trade hearings "simultaneously or possibly combining their hearings."

He also suggested that the administration should act quickly on foreign aid, saying: "We have a difficult session ahead, and there will be no time to lose."

2 Local Educators to Help Conduct School Parley

Two Pontiac-area authorities in education will be among leaders of the semiannual conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators Jan. 10-11 in Grand Rapids.

Louis H. Schimmel, who retired from the Board of Education this year after 24 years of service, will guide group discussion in his capacity as director of the Municipal Advisory Council of Michigan.

Presiding at the general sessions will be Waterford Township Supt. of Schools William Shunck, president of MASA.

MASA is a department of the Michigan Education Association. Theme of the conference is "Educational Leadership for Tomorrow."

NATIONAL WEATHER—Precipitation is expected tonight east of the Mississippi Valley with snow from the Lakes southward into Kentucky and eastward to the Atlantic and rain to the south with the exception of Florida. Occasional rain is forecast for the Pacific Northwest. It will be much colder from the Plains to the Appalachians, in New England and in Southern New Mexico. A milder trend is expected from the Dakotas westward to the Pacific and in the Southeast.

New York City Threatened With a Transit Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)— The possibility of a New Year's Eve strike hung heavy today over this trans-it-keyed metropolis' bus and subway lines. Also threatening a Jan. 1 walkout were 9,000 electricians.

★ ★ ★

With negotiations in their customary last-week crisis stage, members of the Transport Workers Union were summoned to a strike meeting tonight.

WOULD ASK STRIKE

Michael J. Quill, TWU international president, said employes of the Transit Authority and seven private bus lines would be asked to authorize a walkout if a contract dispute wasn't resolved.

★ ★ ★

Shorter work weeks are key issues in both strike threats. The transit union demands a four-day, 32-hour week. The electricians have asked a four-hour day instead of the present six-hour day.

COULD HALT PROJECTS

A walkout of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers local would tie up work on millions of dollars worth of construction projects.

★ ★ ★

Quill and David L. Cole, chairman of the Transit Labor Board, were at odds on progress of the transit talks. Cole said bargainers were getting down to "brass tacks"; Quill said the talks were "rapidly breaking down."

★ ★ ★

Quill served notice that if he had a new contract agreement only with the authority—and not with the private lines—by 12:01 a.m. next Monday, the union would strike against both groups.

Major Revision Ordered in Plan for Dyna Soar

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says it has ordered a major revision in its Dyna Soar program which will eliminate one step in the manned research craft's eventual path to space. It will combine solid and liquid fuel rocket engines.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force said Tuesday it has decided to use one big liquid-fuel rocket engine and two smaller solid-fuel rocket engines to hurl the glider-like Dyna Soar into the lower edge of space. From there it is to soar back to earth after orbiting.

ELIMINATE FLIGHTS

All suborbital flights, using only the Titan II missile as booster, are now eliminated from the program.

★ ★ ★

The Titan II probably will be augmented with the thrust of two solid-fuel rocket engines arranged alongside the Titan rocket to provide the push needed to blast the Dyna Soar up to the 13,000 mile-an-hour speed needed for orbit.

See Viet Nam Lost Unless Military Acts

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Saigon, as in Laos, there are hard-nosed U.S. military men who believe that diplomats are fiddling while Southeast Asia burns.

★

These men are not the policy makers and official orders have stilled most of their voices. But they are the ones who believe that if decisive military action is not taken soon, then all the best-intentioned efforts toward government reform can only go down in a violent sea of Communist conquest.

Arrayed against them and in the ascendancy of U.S. thinking are those who believe in a two-pronged policy.

On the one side it presses reforms upon South Viet Nam's dictatorial President Ngo Dinh Diem and on the other a program perilously close to but still short of war involving U.S. combat units.

SHOWDOWN APPROACHING

Whichever policy ultimately is pursued, it seems certain a showdown swiftly is approaching in South Viet Nam.

It is a faceless war that is being fought in the rice paddies and jungles of South Viet Nam.

It is being fought by men who work as farmers by day and become Communist jungle guerillas by night.

It is being waged by university students trained by the Communists in the art of subversion.

At its hard-core are the dedicated and trained Communist fighters slipped in growing numbers into South Viet Nam by sea and by the new corridor opened to the Reds through Laos.

And working on the Communist side is mounting inflation of Vietnamese currency, a threatened rice shortage and growing dissatisfaction with the Diem regime which the United States is pledged to support.

At the center of any policy debate over South Viet Nam is Diem himself.

STARTED WELL

At the close of the Indo-Chinese War in 1954 and the subsequent Geneva conference which divided Viet Nam into North and South and set up the governments of Laos and Cambodia, Diem became South Viet Nam's premier.

In short order, he ousted playboy Emperor Bao Dai, quelled rebellious religious sects, eliminated officially-sponsored vice in Saigon and set up a government based on the principles of democracy.

His success led one American writer to say:

★ ★ ★

"In the midst of the dark storms that threaten Asia, President Diem stands like a beacon of light, showing the way to free people."

But in the years between, these things accurred.

Diem became impatient of advice. His people, he said, were not ready for democracy. Increasing authority went to members of his family.

And, meanwhile, the Communists shifted tactics. Unable to win in a frontal assault, they switched to sabotage and terrorism.

New cement factories and power projects were blown up. Villagers who resisted communism were tortured and slain. Guerilla bands operated almost on the outskirts of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Tough U.S. soldiers now are training loyal Vietnamese in their own guerilla tactics. U.S. helicopters help spot Communist hiding places. U.S. forces are told to fire if fired upon. Diem at last has agreed both to advice and reforms.

★ ★ ★

Military dissenters say the latter has come too late. The policy makers must decide whether, already deeply committed over Berlin, the U.S. can risk another Korea-type war in Asia.

Belding Boy Shot, 2 Teens Questioned

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Eight-year-old Ronald Kenney of Belding was shot in the head and wounded critically Tuesday while playing.

The boy underwent emergency surgery at St. Mary's Hospital here.

Police questions two boys, aged 14 and 13, in connection with the shooting. They said the elder boy told them he fired a 22-caliber rifle in the area in which Ronald was shot.

Officers said Ronald and two friends were trying out B-B guns they received for Christmas near his home.

They said Ronald was stalking a bird in a bush and was struck by a rifle shot near Memorial Bridge on M44.

Sound waves do not travel in a true vacuum.

Army and AF Giving Up on Flying Saucer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Air Force are abandoning the flying saucer project, the Pentagon said Tuesday night.

The purpose of the project was to produce a light, low-flying machine for quick transport of troops across rivers, rough terrain and similar obstacles.

A Defense Department spokesman said the last of a $7.5-million appropriation will be used up by the end of the year, and no additional funds will be requested.

★ ★ ★

The saucer project had been described as making possible an "airborne cavalry" which could travel rapidly under almost any conditions.

The project had been under the direction of Aircraft Limited of Canada.

Teen-Aged Girl, Teacher Sought

Ontario Police Report Student Was Last Seen Entering Man's Car

CANFIELD, Ont. (UPI) — Police in Ontario and 11 bordering U.S. states searched today for a 20-year-old married teacher charged with abducting a teen-age girl.

★ ★ ★

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Charles Richerson, who recently was discharged from his teaching position at Bishop McCarthy Separate School here.

The girl, Susan Vemette, 15, was last seen by a neighor, stepping into Richerson's car last Thursday.

Officials speculated that the car may have headed for the U.S. border and alerted police in Windsor, Ont. and Buffalo, N.Y. as well as 10 other U.S. states.

WEARING GREEN COAT

The 5-foot-5 brunette girl was wearing a black skirt and sweater and a green coat with white fur trimming when she was last seen.

Her father, a steel worker in Hamilton, Ont., said the girl had no additional clothes with her.

Richerson has a wife and a 3-week old baby in Cayuga, Ont., police said. Susan is the second eldest in a family of eight.

★ ★ ★

A neighbor, Edward O'Brian, told police he had seen the girl entering Richerson's car in front of her home. He said the girl stepped off a school bus and was called to the waiting car. She spoke to the driver for a few minutes and got into the car which sped away, O'Brien said.

Income Exceeds Outgo

LANSING (AP) — State Treasury income during the past week was $34.1 million and outgo was $25 million. The state had a balance of $55 million at the end of the week, the treasurer's office reported.

Clare County Buys Park

CLARE (AP) — Clare County paid $1 for a nearly one-acre park west of here on former U.S. 27. County road commissions are being offered roadside parks for the $1 price if they will use them for the public, the State Highway Commission explained.

Louisiana Fires Claims 10 Lives

9 Children, 1 Adult Perish in 3 Separate Blazes Tuesday

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Nine children and an adult died in three Louisiana fires Tuesday.

Four sisters and their brother perished when flames quickly enveloped their five-room home near Duberly in the northwestern part of the state. Authorities thought the house was empty when it burned and the bodies were not discovered for five hours.

The dead were Athelene Moore, 30; her sisters Irene, Diarakee and Leatrice; and a brother, Rickey. The latter four ranged in age from 2 to 7. Their parents were at a church meeting in Shreveport. The coroner said the fire may have started from a heater.

Three children died when their home burned at Welsh in Southwestern Louisiana. They were Phyllis Ann Bias, 4; a brother, Michael, 3; and a sister, Adrietta, 1.

★ ★ ★

Their mother, Mrs. Walter Bias, said she had gone next door to have a cup of coffee with relatives when she heard the children crying and saw smoke.

She said flames and smoke thwarted her efforts to save them. The father was at work.

A brother and sister, Charles Hampton Jr., 2, and Alice, 15 months, died when fire swept through their house at Hammond in Southeastern Louisiana. The parents escaped and carried a 2-month-old baby with them.

★ ★ ★

Firemen said a faulty gas heater apparently exploded and started the fire.

All 10 victims were Negroes.

Two Gunmen Hold Up Paris Jewelry Store

PARIS (AP) — Two men held up a jewelry store on the fashionable Faubourg Ste. Honore shortly before noon today and sped off on motor scooters parked a few yards away with their motors running.

Jacques Serra, owner of the shop, estimated the loss at $100,000, including a $50,000 diamond necklace scooped from a show window. But the bandits left behind $200,000 worth of gems in an open safe.

The two men entered the shop, and one waved a gun at three employes.

"This is a holdup," he said. "Don't move."

His companion hurriedly scooped up necklaces, rings and clips from one of the show windows, jammed them into a brown leather sack and dashed out. They jumped into the motor scooters and sped off.

Texas Mail Postmarked in Underwater Branch

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI) — Stamp collectors are being offered something new in the form of an underwater post mark by the Submarine Theater here.

Don Russell, manager of the water show, also operates a branch post office and is authorized to stamp mail with a printed notice that it was posted beneath the waters of the San Marcos River.

Burns Fatal to Baby Girl

DETROIT (AP) — One-year-old Phyllis Thompson of Warren died in a Detroit hospital Tuesday of burns suffered Dec. 20 when she fell into a tub of scalding water at her home.

Doctor Urges League for Helping the Aged

HALLETSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Dr. Harvey Renger, president of the Texas Medical Association, has called on physicians throughout the state to form a "Little League for the Aged."

Renger was not talking about baseball, but he said, "We not only have the responsibility for developing our youth, but we must also assume our responsibility for the aged."

Editors Vote Con-Con Michigan's No. 1 News Item

By The Associated Press

Michigan's Associated Press newspaper, radio and television editors have voted constitutional convention the No. 1 story of 1961.

★

As a matter of fact, they also voted it No. 4.

"Constitutional convention begins huge task" received 18 first-place votes and a total of 309 points, counting 10 for a first place ballot, 9 for second-place, etc.

"GOP wins control of constitutional convention in October election" was fourth, with three first-place votes and 199 points.

The auto-labor negotiations and settlements were ranked Michigan's No. 2 story of the year, with seven first-place votes and 290 points, compared with four first-placers and 240 votes for the American League pennant bid of the Detroit Tigers, which was ranked as story No. 3.

SURPRISING STORY

A surprising fifth-place finisher was the surprise election of 35-year-old Jerome Cavanagh as mayor of Detroit. Three editors ranked this as the top story of the year and it rolled up a total of 168 points, compared with 50 and no first-place votes for industrialist George Romney's hint that he may become a Republican candidate for governor.

William C. Newberg's and Chrysler Corp.'s continuing legal battle, plus the ouster of L. L. Colbert as Chrysler's chief executive were voted on as a single story and placed sixth.

"Tractors for freedom" was voted the No. 7 spot; the hassle over a proposal to make the Sleeping Bear Dunes into a national recreation area was rated No. 8.

Among the crime stories, Detroit's trial of Gordon Watson and Nelle Lassiter in the slaying of her husband was top ranked and gained ninth place in the over all standings.

Norge's closing of its Muskegon factory and transfer of operations to Arkansas was ranked No. 10. It scored 85 points, although no one ranked it as the top story, compared with 48 points received by Adrian's successful battle to keep a war surplus plant and keep it operating.

Newberg - Chrysler - Colbert got 153 points; tractor's 149; Sleeping Bear Dunes, 137; Watson-Lassiter, 109.

OTHER VOTES

Other stories which received votes included:

Otto Peebles kills wife and wounds her boy friend, 71; Carol Gee and Margaret Chambers slain, 63; Geraldine Williams abducted and slain, 50; Lear may build jet plant at Willow Run, 34; C. E. Wilson dies, 32; Mason citizens defend banker in $370,000 shortage, 31; Grand Blanc father slays family and self, 18; hunt for missing airman in Upper Peninsula, 9; Republican moderates emerge in State Senate, 5; deer season, 1.

★ ★ ★

One editor, while not ranking it, wrote in this added starter: "G. Mennen Williams takes over African post and runs into trouble" (as assistant secretary of state for African affairs).

In all, 42 editors participated in the balloting.

Top Stories of 1961

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are the 10 biggest Michigan stories of 1961 as picked by newspaper, radio and television editors (first place votes in parenthesis; totals figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, according to editor's rating):

	Totals
1—Constitutional Convention Begins Huge Task (18)	309
2—Auto-Labor Negotiations (7)	290
3—Tigers Bid for Pennant (4)	240
4—GOP Wins Con-Con Elections (3)	199
5—Cavanaugh Beats Miriani (3)	168
6—Newberg-Chrysler Row (0)	153
7—Tractors for Freedom (1)	149
8—Sleeping Bear Dunes (0)	137
9—Watson-Lassiter Trial (1)	109
10—Norge Shuts at Muskegon (0)	85

Other stories which received votes and their totals were: Otto Peebles kills wife and wounds her boy friend, 71; Carol Gee and Margaret Chambers slain at Holland, 65; George Romney hints he may run for governor, 50; Geraldine Williams abducted and slain at South Haven, 50; Adrian fights for and saves a factory, 48; Lear may build jet plant at Willow Run, 34; C. E. Wilson dies, 32; Mason Citizens defend Dart in $370,000 shortage, 31; Father kills wife, four children and self at Grand Blanc, 18; Hunt for missing airman in Upper Peninsula, 9; Republican moderates emerge in state senate, 5; deer season, 1.

Demolition Crews in Grand Rapids to Get Badges

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Wreckers tearing down some 700 buildings in Grand Rapids will be given badges to separate them from looters.

★ ★ ★

It was hard before, said a Highway Department official to sort out workers demolishing buildings to make way for the state freeways and those stripping the buildings for materials. The 10 demolition crews will be issued badges.

★ ★ ★

It is hoped those without badges can be spotted as trespassers.

Civilian Is Appointed to Coast-Geodetic Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — James L. Thompson Jr., a native of Ferris, Tex., has been appointed assistant director for administration of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Prior to his appointment to the Commerce Department agency, the 50-year-old Thompson was the executive assistant to the assistant commissioner for administration in the Bureau of Public Roads.

As a civilian, Thompson now occupies a post which traditionally has been staffed with a commissioned officer of the survey.

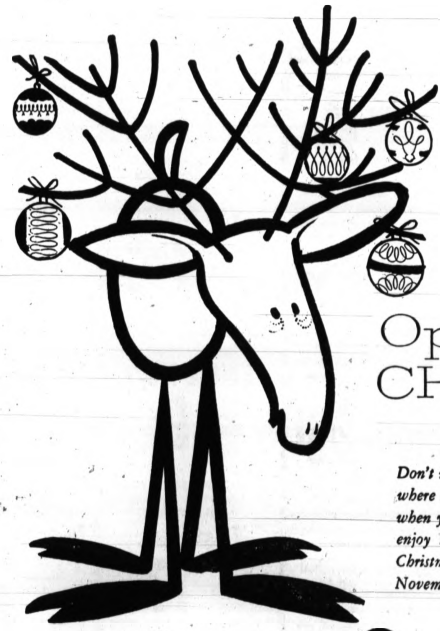

2 File for Bankruptcy

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A Hillsdale shoe store owner and a Coldwater nurse were among petitioners in bankruptcy Tuesday at U.S. District Court in Grand Rapids. George W. B. Atkinson of Coldwater, attendant nurse, listed liabilities as $11,784 and no assets. Richard J. Schmidt Sr., of Hillsdale, retail shoe store owner, listed liabilities as $35,317 and assets as $8,900.

Duchess Expecting Baby

LONDON (AP) — The royal court announced Tuesday that the Duchess of Kent — the Yorkshire girl who married Queen Elizabeth's cousin last June 8 — is expecting a baby next summer. The child will be 10th in line of succession to the throne. The Duke of Kent is 26, the duchess 28.

Reporter Has Inside on 'Latest' Dance Craze

Will 'Twist' Fall Victim to 'Hully-Gully'?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many, many moons ago young Dr. Zhivago, my faithful Indian companion, began urging me to write a column about "the twist."

"It's going to be the greatest thing since the Hopi rain dance," he kept saying. "This is your chance to get in on the ground floor."

He even invited me to a couple of parties where I might see the thing demonstrated, but I demurred on grounds that I would never be able to describe it in a family newspaper.

The accuracy of his prediction that the twist was booming was brought home to me the other evening when I turned on my television set in the midst of what I thought was a scene from an old movie called "The Snake Pit."

It turned out, of course, that writhing bodies and contorted faces on the screen had not been photographed in a psychiatric ward, but on a dance floor. They were doing, I hardly need add, the you-know-what.

'TOO LATE'

Alarmed by what I had seen, I sought out Dr. Zhivago and requested him to enlighten me as to the origin and symbolism of this terpsichorean temblor.

"You're too late," he said, reproachfully. "The fact that 'the twist' is now a national rage means that it's already out of date.

"You also have missed the chance to acquaint your readers with several successors to 'the twist,' including 'the slop,' 'the fly,' 'the mashed potatoes,' 'the chicken' and 'the pony.'"

I begged the good doctor's forgiveness for having ignored his counsel and asked if there were not some way that I could redeem myself.

"Well," he said, "If you hurry you might be among the first to spread the word about 'the hully-gully.'"

* * *

But when I pressed him for details, he became evasive.

"Maybe you had better stick to the Mexican Hat Dance," he said, oozing scorn. "It's more your style."

* * *

Only after I had bested him in two out of three falls at Indian wrestling did he agree to continue.

SHELTER DANCE

"'The hully-gully' is an outgrowth of the war jitters," he said. "It's the perfect dance for a fallout shelter. It packs the maximum amount of movement into the minimum amount of space."

* * *

He went on to explain that 'the 'hully-gully' is performed by a group, as opposed to the individualistic expressionism of the other dances he mentioned.

* * *

And that is as far as I intend to pursue the matter. But if it should become fashionable, like "the twist," then credit me with a scoop.

City's Economic Climate Improved in November

Pontiac's economic climate improved last month, although the seasonal decline in construction was evident in building statistics.

* * *

Auto industry employment, which was unsteady in September and early October, gained solid footing, Pontiacs and Tempests began selling at record breaking rates and the bigger payrolls showed in banking figures.

Pontiac's banks did a little over $1 million in business through customers' accounts in November than in October and business was almost $1 million over November, 1960.

With the approach of winter, building fell more than $1 million in amount and from 118 to 69 in the number of building permits issued.

Area residents used more gas and electricity and less water, while fewer rode airplanes, and postal receipts fell slightly. There were also fewer bus patrons.

SHORT MONTH

Some of the declines from October to November were due to the fact that November was shorter and had one national holiday. There were no holidays in October.

Figures indicating business trends in November were reported by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, the post office, the city water and inspections departments, Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., Pontiac Transit Corp., and North Central Airlines.

	Nov. 1961	Oct. 1961	Nov. 1960
Bank debits to customers' accounts exclusive of public funds	$96,334,598	$85,256,172	$85,403,143

QUADS SEE 'DAD' — Korean quadruplet girls arrived at the home of their adoptive parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bussman, Monday night but found their new dad in a hospital bed. The Bussmans, who live in the St. Paul, Minn., suburb of Roseville, got a special act of Congress to bring the babies to this country. They had adopted a Korean boy and girl, both 3, previously. Bussman, 50, is recovering from a broken pelvis suffered in a fall. Mrs. Bussman, 40, (at left) poses with student nurses lending a hand to show off the new arrivals, named Lois, Mary, Sharon and Ruth.

Why Should Government Give Aid to Art, Artists?

Secretary of Labor ARTHUR GOLDBERG has gone on record as favoring a Federal subsidy to art and artists, and has attempted to quiet critics by saying that Federal cash would not mean Federal control.

★ ★ ★

No one who is held accountable for money is going to give it out without having to judge who shall receive and who shall not. This would amount to control. Examples of such control are the liberal arts in Russia, where all ideas conform to the party theme, or the artist finds himself carving ice figures with a pick in Siberia.

★ ★ ★

If any artistic creation is good enough, it will stand on its own merits without the Government putting tax dollars behind it. Are we this hard up to find places to spend money we don't have?

Wayne State Submits Plan to Increase Funds

When the State financial picture took on a dark outlook last year and appropriations to state universities were cut, the schools began searching for ways to make up for the cash they didn't get.

★ ★ ★

Wayne University officials submitted a plan which we believe has some merit. It calls for part of the deficit to come from state funds, but also encompasses raising the tuition to recover a portion.

★ ★ ★

Opponents will cry that education is being priced out of the reach of average students, but the increases outlined by Wayne wouldn't meet this exaggerated statement.

★ ★ ★

At the $1.25 per credit hour suggested, it would be less than $15 per semester, which is not unreasonable. No one stands to gain more from education than the student, and he should be willing to accept a share of necessary increases.

The plan was placed before the legislature, and is expected to be considered in the coming session.

Russia Is Causing U.N. to Sink Further in Debt

In contrast to the United Nations Security Council, where the veto power was provided by charter, there is no veto in the general assembly. But Russia has created a financial veto of sorts, by refusal to pay its assigned share of the cost of certain operations.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. places the Russian deficit now at just over $41 million, a good share of the $107 million the U.N. is in the red. What put the United Nations in the poorhouse? The high costs of military operations linked with the unpaid assessments did it.

Russia has paid its assigned share of the regular U.N. budget, it must be pointed out. They are not 100 per cent welshers. This year they tossed $8.5 million into the pot.

★ ★ ★

But the Soviet Union is in the unique position of clamoring for the U.N. to end the secession of Katanga, yet refusing to pay for its share of this action.

Of the $148 million cost for the Congo since U.N. troops went in July, 1960, some $55.5 million is unpaid, mostly by the Soviet bloc, most of the Arab states, France, Belgium, Portugal and South Africa.

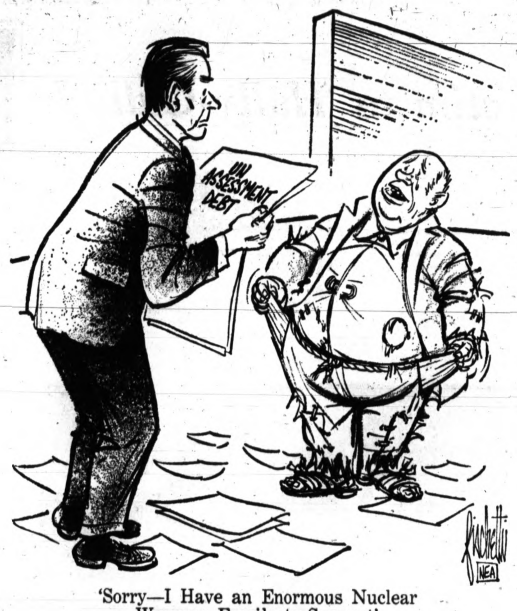

★ ★ ★

The Communists and most of the Arabs are also ducking the check for $26 million unpaid for the U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East.

What's to happen? Well, now the U.N. is considering trying to borrow cash to continue, by the sale of bonds. Who would buy them? Certainly not the governments that caused the cash crisis. Would those nations which are paying their share also dip down to buy bonds?

★ ★ ★

In poker parlance, you don't draw until you match the opening bet. If there is some one way to withdraw the privileges of the cheaters until they ante up, perhaps the U.N. can be saved from going under in a sea of red ink.

A Quiet Week

Christmas-New Year Week Fits Nicely on Calendar

1962: What should be better than 1961 — if we all do what we should to make it so.

Happening only occasionally, we have three-day holiday periods at each end of this week, causing the in-between period to be rather quiet. However, Sheriff and his deputies are prepared to handle any recalcitrants who seem prone to make it a week-long celebration with the assistance of inebriates. For them, the doors on the cells at the Oakland County jail swing only one way.

Frank W. Irons

That good keeper of historical facts,

Blanchard Ironton

of Keego Harbor, calls us to remind us that it was only ten years ago that Pontiac had the most snow in a December in over 20 years. The local snowfall for that month in 1951 was 20 inches, nearly five inches of which fell on Christmas.

If you have a fireplace in your home, it can add a final festive glow to the holiday period, according to

of Waterford. Cut the branches off your Christmas tree and tie them in small compact bundles, and they'll do the trick. Add the bundles to the fire, one at a time.

Another enthusiastic bird feeder is of Pontiac Lake. She confines her menu to table scraps, but always has a full house and colorful array of boarders. The other day she was attracted by a pair of blue jays who were making a big fuss over each other, which ended when one pulled a fish bone out of the other's throat.

Just because some venturesome fishermen go upon the ice on the lakes in the Pontiac area does not mean that it is safe for skaters. Only a few of the smaller lakes now are safe. Wait a little longer.

The 1,500-light 30-foot spruce tree and other holiday illuminations at

A lemon tree, grown in a tub, by

David Lawrence Says:

Washington 'Principles' Vanishing

WASHINGTON—Orators for decades have been extolling "principles" and "honest convictions," but certain news dispatches out of Washington recently give an impression that there are no such things nowadays.

LAWRENCE

"Expediency" and what are termed "practical considerations" seem to be a controlling influence in making governmental policy.

Thus, United Press International, in a dispatch a few days ago from Washington, said:

"An order by President Kennedy prohibiting racial and religious discrimination in federally assisted housing has been shelved for the time being, it was learned yesterday.

"It will not be issued until after the 1962 congressional session and possibly not until after the November elections, highly placed administration sources said.

"Chief reason the President is postponing the order is that it would antagonize Southern Democrats in Congress whose votes he sorely needs in the coming session.

"Defection of Southern Democrats could wipe out the already tenuous prospects for passage of tax revision, medical care and tariff-cutting bills.

★ ★ ★

"One Capitol Hill observer explained that with many Southern Democrats more conservative than Mr. Kennedy and reluctant about his legislative program, his issuance of an antidiscrimination executive order would be 'just like waving a red flag in front of them. The White House just isn't in a position to alienate anybody.' "

TRAGIC EMPHASIS

This is a tragic emphasis on elements that sometimes govern decisions on the so-called political front.

It seems incredible that there should be such reasoning, and even more incredible that it should be so frankly avowed.

It would be easier to believe that the postponement of the order was not prompted by any such motive but stemmed possibly from the fear by some of the building and construction people that its issuance could slow up recovery in that field of the economy.

Material considerations are often more persuasive than adherence to principle or conviction when controversial questions are up for settlement in the inner precincts of government.

But it is surprising to find high officials hesitant to issue an order on the subject of racial discrimination when such ardent support has been given in recent months by the administration to the "civil rights" agitators.

Maybe there will soon be a group of "freedom riders" in front of the White House to help get this executive order off the shelf.

HARDLY SEEMS HEROIC

For certainly if the federal government really has authority to take action under the so-called "law of the land" doctrine, then catering to fears of how this might annoy Southern congressmen would hardly seem to be heroic.

One would think that convictions are worthy of fulfillment, whether in a year of congressional elections or in the months immediately afterward.

It certainly doesn't reflect much confidence in the common sense or perspicacity of Southern congressmen to assume that they will gladly go along with the President's legislative program next spring on the dubious assumption that federally assisted housing will not be interfered with, only to discover a few months later that they have been duped by a political maneuver.

The federal order being discussed has no specific authorization in law, but it is based on the broad theory that the federal government can withhold support from any building operation for which it would normally spend or lend money if there is any racial or religious discrimination involved.

The federal authority is being interpreted to mean also that federal commitments to guarantee mortgages can be canceled if a builder in a new development refuses to accept the bid of a Negro to buy a house.

The doctrine could be extended to cover tax exemptions, too, and any private club which engages in discrimination could, under penalty of losing its tax privilege, be coerced into opening its doors to all candidates.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Our Skin Is a Complex and Sensitive Device

As you probably know, that portion of the skin that's visible to us is not the true skin at all. It's called the epidermis because it is a covering for the true skin or dermis (epi—means on top of).

★ ★ ★

Actually the epidermis consists entirely of layers and layers of heaped up bloodless and nerveless cells that are constantly being shed and reformed.

If we raise a blister and lift off the cap, we expose a bright red base that's sensitive to the touch and that bleeds easily if we irritate it. That's the true skin or dermis that contains all the working parts through which we keep in contact with the world around us.

Here's part of the inventory of a single square centimeter of the true skin:

A yard of coiled blood vessels containing perhaps some three million circulating blood cells at any given moment.

MANY NERVE TWIGS

Four yards of nerve twigs ending in some 3,000 sensory cells that act as signal boxes to alert us to what's going on in the vicinity of the particular skin precinct.

Some 25 special apparatuses that let us know when the spot is touched, another dozen to make us aware that we're being exposed to heat, another pair for the registration of cold and perhaps 200 to warn us that the contact is sufficiently unpleasant or dangerous to produce pain.

Then there are about 100 sweat glands to keep the epidermis moist and a few more than a dozen oil glands (sebaceous) to keep it lubricated. Add to these, in hairy regions, some 10 hair follicles that extend deep into the loose tissue below the skin.

Finally, there's this below-skin tissue that permits our skin to have mobility and character.

The subcutaneous tissue contains fat globules that give the attractive plumpness to an infant's cheek and the unattractive belly roll for those of us who have grown obese; muscle fibers that permit us to give expression to our emotions as when we laugh, cry, wrinkle, our brows or sniff with disdain; and scattered elastic bands that make it possible for the dermis to slide over underlying bones, joints and muscle bands or to be stretched, wrinkled or lifted off when such action is necessary for its function or protection.

Voice of the People:

Woman Is Dissatisfied With Pointed-Toe Shoes

Foot-deforming, toe-pinching, pointed-toe shoes are being forced upon us. Their only asset is their usefulness as a weapon against unwanted attentions by the opposite sex.

★ ★ ★

Subteen girls who are now in the women's-size shoes can buy nothing in a round-toe, flat-heeled shoe. Yet, many of them still have that youthful width and chubbiness that makes it impossible to squeeze into pointed toes. Are they to go barefoot or deform their growing feet?

★ ★ ★

I encounter many women saying they don't like the points, but one was honest enough to say she was wearing them because they were in style. Why should otherwise "individual" women be sheep when it comes to shoes? Give us what we really want. Advertise the change as the "smart new trend" and all the sheep will buy.

★ ★ ★

Check under the office desks. How many smartly dressed office women who "just love" the pointed toe sit with their shoes off? They're easy to slip into when the boss calls. Check how many smartly dressed shoppers, clubwomen, and socialites kick their shoes off as soon as the door is closed behind them at home.

★ ★ ★

Just how important do designers think they are, that they should change what God has formed? When dress styles are too extreme, most of us make our own, but how many of us are cobblers?

'Christmas Special to True Christians'

In answer to "Bible Student," Christmas as beauty is in the eyes of the beholder. To know Him is to love Him. Christ is God's gift to man that whoever will accept this gift as their own personal savior will know He is theirs. He said, "I will never leave you nor forsake you."

It is true, Christmas has been misused by many, but to the true Christian there will always be an extra special feeling of gratitude at Christmas.

Peter Edson Says:

Reactions Vary to 'Uncle's' Gifts

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Just before Christmas, Uncle Sugar played Santa Claus and dished out over $300 million to several international bad boys in an apparent effort to make them be good:

EDSON

—To President Tito's Yugoslavia, 500,000 tons of wheat and 50,000 tons of edible oils valued at over $50 million.

—To Chairman Wladyslaw Gomulka's Poland, $44 million worth of agricultural commodities, including transportation.

These latest deals with Yugoslovia and Poland give them only half of what they asked for. So to that extent, Uncle Santa Claus held back a little and didn't empty the bag.

But to President Kwame Nkrumah's Ghana will go U.S. loans totaling $133 million for half the cost of the Volta River water power and aluminum plant project.

Tito and Nkrumah claim to be neutralists, or "unaligned," as they prefer to be called. Gomulka will never be anything but an all-out captive Communist in a Russian satellite state.

But the thought seems to be that all three of these countries can be wooed if not wowed away from their leaders by United States surpluses in their bad years.

Last April the United States let Yugoslavia have $64 million worth of surplus crops. In July 1960, the U.S. let Poland have $130 million worth. Both countries pay for these "purchases" in local currency, but 75 per cent is loaned back for investment.

The Ghana loans will be repayable in 30 years.

Total United States aid to the three countries from July 1, 1945 through June 30, 1961 has been $2.8 billion to Yugoslavia, $514 million to Poland and $6.6 million to Ghana.

★ ★ ★

The question raised is whether this is good business and good diplomacy to boot. To the extent that food loans keep people from going hungry, they are humanitarian and in keeping with the Food for Peace Program, intended to build good will.

To the extent that the food loans help the United States get rid of otherwise unmarketable crop surpluses, storage costs in this country are reduced. But there is unquestionably an element of subsidy here for which the U.S. taxpayer foots the bill.

As for winning political allies, these three latest deals are of questionable value. Neither Yugoslavia nor Poland nor Ghana has given any support to the United States at the U.N. or in any other international dealings. Tito and Nkrumah were of no help at the conference of unaligned countries in Belgrade earlier this year.

And yet, officials of the State Department, Agency for International Development, World bank, Export-Import bank and International Development Assn. argue that sound loans and grants made to these neutral countries can do good.

★ ★ ★

Though dissents will be loud at mention of the names, Nasser of United Arab Republic and Nehru of India are pointed to as prime examples, in spite of all the headaches they have caused. The U.S. has given over $3 billion in aid to India and $486 million to the UAR since the end of World War II.

The argument seems to be that if no help had been given them, they would have fallen completely into the hands of the Communists and things would be a lot worse than they are.

Nasser started out that way after the late John Foster Dulles turned down Egypt's request for financing the Aswan dam. Russia picked up the tab for that with a $100 million credit. Nasser subsequently took $788 million in Red bloc arms aid.

★ ★ ★

But in the three years since then Nasser has learned how difficult it is to do business with the Communists. Food shortages, a disastrous cotton crop this year and withdrawal of Syria from the UAR have made Nasser much more interested in getting help from the United States and Western Europe.

What India's take-over of Goa and other Portuguese colonies in India will do to Nehru's unpopularity in the West is increase it. But Westerners working in India now consider it the hope of the future for South and Southeast Asia. Let India go down the drain and the whole continent would be lost.

Reds Took Space Spotlight in '61 but U.S. Advancing

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians stole the spotlight in space again in 1961, as they did in 1957, with their sensational manned orbital flights.

★ ★ ★

But the United States pitched right along with its Mercury astronaut program and far outstripped its Soviet rival in number, variety and scientific value of its other space shots.

Yuri Gagarin of Russia led the way with his April 12 single orbit to a peak altitude of 203 miles in the 10,400-pound Vostok I.

America's Alan Shepard made this country's daring first suborbital flight in a Mercury capsule May 5, a 15-minute journey to an altitude of 115 miles and to a safe water landing 302 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

REMARKABLE FLIGHT

Virgil Grissom followed with an almost identical flight July 21, except that the capsule sank after he escaped from it and was lost with its valuable films and other records.

The Russians launched the truly remarkable journey of Gherman Titov Aug. 6—17 swift circuits around the earth at an altitude of about 159 miles in a period of 25 hours and 18 minutes.

The capability of the Mercury capsule had been demonstrated as early as Jan. 31 with the 420-mile Redstone-rocketed flight of the champanzee Ham. Late in November the chimp Enos became the first animal to ride a Mercury capsule around the earth, a two-orbit flight of much significance.

★ ★ ★

Thereafter the U.S. was in a nip and tuck race with time to determine whether astronaut John Glenn could make his attempt at orbital flight before the end of the year.

Aside from the Mercury effort, the U.S. launched during 1961 20 new satellites that remained in orbit through the end of the year, and seven satellites of shorter orbital life.

The Russians during the year launched none that remained in orbit into 1962, but orbited four new Sputniks—in addition to the two manned Vostoks—for a maximum period of 22 days. The Soviets also fired a probe toward Venus.

Among the new U.S. satellites were the hurricane-detecting cloud-photographing Tiros III, the Transit 4A and 4B navigation-beacon satellites, and a Samos and two Midas spy-in-sky craft.

DISCOVER SUCCESSES

Spectacular indeed was the string of Discoverer satellites: 11 launched during 1961—seven of them still in orbit at the end of the year—for a total of 35 Discoverer launchings and 24 placed in orbit.

Out of this total, 10 capsules were brought back to earth after one or more orbits, and safely recovered. Seven were snagged in the air by waiting planes, and three were fished from the water.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, meanwhile, pressed forward toward the greatest adventure of all, the exploration of the moon.

Huge contracts were awarded for the design of the three-man Apollo spacecraft, for the giant Saturn rockets that will launch them, and for vast expansion of the Cape Canaveral launch area, development of a Saturn assembly plan near New Orleans, and establishment of a $60-million space flight laboratory and Lunar program command center at Houston, Tex.

Without parallel in Russia or elsewhere was the magnificent X15 flight program, a daring venture that built up progressively to the peaks of 4,093 miles an hour—six times the speed of sound—and more than 215,000 feet of altitude.

The pilots were satisfied that greater speed for the X15 would not be worth the risk, but they planned to try for an altitude of 50 miles or more.

The U.S. pushed aggressively for new records in all fields of flight, and set them by the dozen.

They included:

A new speed record for jet planes—1,606.342 miles an hour, set by Marine Lt. Col. Robert B. Robinson in a Navy McDonnell F4H Phantom II fighter.

Five balloon altitude records by Don Piccard in July.

★ ★ ★

Fifteen balloon records for women by Mrs. Connie Wolf of Blue Bell, Pa.

A series of jet speed and altitude records by Jacqueline Cochran in a Northrop T38 Supersonic trainer.

The big jets of the commercial airlines also set scores of official and unofficial speed records. Transcontinental passenger-carrying flights in between 3½ and 4 hours became almost commonplace.

★ ★ ★

But the traveling public failed to keep the expensive new jets filled to the degree required by the laws of economics.

Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, said that on the basis of a nine-month loss of $17 million, the domestic trunk airlines expected to end the year with the greatest net loss since 1947, when they suffered a deficit of $21 million.

"The high introductory costs of new jet aircraft delivered during the year contributed to the loss," Tipton said.

CARRIERS HURT

"Another factor was the fall-off in passenger traffic. Instead of the normal 10 to 15 per cent increase, revenue passenger miles remained at the same level as in 1960, about 30 billion miles."

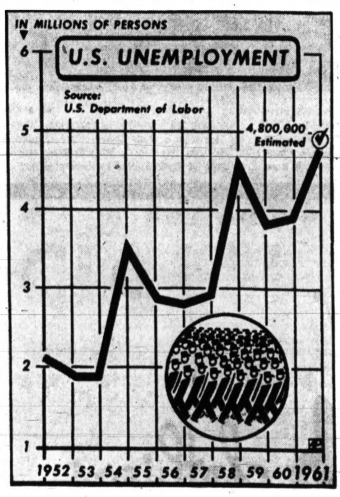

Tipton said the airlines had a good safety record in 1961—"for the 11 months excluding December (for which no figures were available), the fatality rate was the lowest in four years."

Tipton estimated the rate at 0.33 fatalities per 100 million revenue passenger miles. During the 11 months there were only three scheduled-airline accidents resulting in passenger fatalities, he said.

The Civil Aeronautics Board placed the deaths in airline accidents through Nov. 28, 1961, at 326 passengers and 47 crew members. The total for 1960 was 500 passengers and 59 crew members.

The worst airline accident of the year, from the standpoint of the death toll, was that of a Las Vegas-bound Trans World Airlines Constellation which crashed 20 miles west of Chicago a few minutes after take-off from Midway Airport Sept. 1, killing its 78 occupants.

Matching it, in the domestic field, was the loss of an Imperial Airlines Constellation after take-off from Richmond, Va., Byrd Field Nov. 8, killing 74 Army recruits and three crew members. The pilot and flight engineer survived.

UNEMPLOYMENT—The number of jobless in 1961, averaged out over the entire year, was estimated at 4.8 million—or 6.7 per cent of the total civilian labor force. In 1958 the percentage reached 6.8, highest in the past decade, but the number of unemployed was lower by 100,000.

Nikita Invites Correction From Lesser Red Officials

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has urged lesser Soviet officials to tell him when he is wrong and not meekly to accept directives.

★ ★ ★

His declaration — apparently a further effort to wipe out the paralyzing "cult of personality" — was made last week at a conference of agricultural officials in the Ukraine and published Monday by Pravda.

Khrushchev's remark was provoked by P. A. Vlasyuk, president of the Ukrainian Academy of Agriculture.

Vlasyuk had apparently claimed that in a criticized method of crop rotation, he had followed suggestions made by Khrushchev.

To this Khrushchev replied:

"Is it I who must be the highest authority in questions of agricultural science? You are president of the Ukraine's Academy of Agriculture and I am secretary of the central committee of the (Communist) party. In these questions it is you who should help me and not I you.

★ ★ ★

"I can make a mistake but you, if you are an honest scientist, you should tell me: 'Comrade Khrushchev you do not understand that question altogether correctly.' If you explain to me how to correctly understand a question, then I would thank you for it."

U.S. Missile-Defense Hopes to Ride With Nike Zeus

(Editor's Note: Defense officials believe the world balance of power will swing decisively in favor of the first nation to develop an effective antimissile defense. The following dispatch describes the status of this country's entry in this crucial race — the Nike Zeus.

BY DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's hopes for an active defense against Russia's multimegaton missiles will be riding on the Army's Nike Zeus when it roars aloft from Kwajalein Island in the Pacific sometime next spring, possibly as early as February.

The mission of the powerful three-stage Zeus will be to shoot down an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile, fired 4,500 miles away from Vandenberg Air Force Base and approaching through space at a speed close to 16,000 miles an hour.

More than two years of test preparations and a billion dollars worth of rocket and radar development will be behind the first attempt, which will be followed by many others. Probably even after Zeus production is ordered, testing to perfect improvements will continue for years.

The Army has spent more than $75 million to convert tiny Kwajalein into a modern missile base. Preliminary firings of the 48-foot Zeus meanwhile have been conducted at Point Mugu, Calif., and White Sands, N.M., while radar experiments have been under way on Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

A major milestone was passed last Nov. 30 at the White Sands missile range when all three stages of the Zeus were fired successfully for the first time.

The Zeus, most powerful solid-fueled rocket ever flown, is peculiar in that the comparatively small third stage is fired only if final maneuvers are required to bring the target missile within lethal range of the Zeus' nuclear warhead.

GLEEFUL OVER 3RD STAGE

Such maneuvers at altitudes around fifty miles above the earth might be needed frequently in combat, however, and the Army was gleeful in announcing that the third stage "fired as it would in an operational firing."

An even more important development may have been disclosed in an announcement Dec. 12 that the Zeus experimental radar on Ascension Island had succeeded in tracking continuously for several hundred miles intercontinental missiles fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The Army also said that this radar had detected and tracked the Echo satellite at distances greater than 1,500 miles. The feasibility of the Zeus depends at least as much on long-range detection and trackings as on its own performance.

Preliminary calculations have indicated that, to be destroyed at a safe distance, an incoming missile would have to be detected between 750 and 1,200 miles from the target. Even then the Zeus would have only about three minutes in which to soar aloft and accomplish the destruction.

A week ago the Army reported success in the first test of the Nike-Zeus against another missile. It said the antimissile missile intercepted a Nike-Hercules missile which had been fired from the same base and was "well within lethal radius" at the time of intercept.

SUPREME CONFIDENCE

The Army, supremely confident that the Zeus will prove a success, has been chiefly concerned about starting its large-scale production, so that deployment of this defensive weapon around American cities and strategic centers could start not later than 1965.

Year after year, under both Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, the government has provided between $200 million and $300 million annually for Zeus development and testing but has refused to approve funds for production programing.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said "funds should not be committed to production until development tests are satisfactorily completed," and President Kennedy has taken a similar line.

On the results of tests in the Pacific this spring, consequently, hangs the question as to whether America will have this weapon in the mid-1960s when the number of Russian intercontinental missiles will have mounted into the hundreds.

The first-tests against the Atlas will be on a "staged" basis, with no nuclear warheads involved and only theoretical destruction of the missile resulting.

★ ★ ★

Army crews on Kwajalein will know when the target missile is fired at Vandenberg. If the target Atlas veers much from the planned course, failure to shoot it down won't count against the Zeus.

To experts familiar with weapon developments, this is as it should be. The first attempt will be to determine whether an intercontinental missile can be shot down the easy way, after which more complicated experiments involving decoy or dummy warheads and elements of surprise will be planned.

Whether nuclear warheads will ever be used in the tests depends on lifting America's present voluntary ban on atmospheric A-explosions. Since there are other technical matters with higher priority yet to be proved out, the voluntary ban isn't bothering the Zeus program at present.

The method by which the Zeus warheads will destroy the warhead of an incoming missile is secret in precise details, but the principle is well known to nuclear scientists.

The Zeus warhead when it explodes will release a great burst of neutron particles. The neutrons will enter the warhead of the incoming missile and, without detonating it, create a "neutron burst"—neutron amplification, resulting in super heating —to cause its disintegration.

Some unofficial calculations have indicated that an explosion of only one kiloton, or one-twentieth the power of the Hiroshima bomb would release enough neutrons to destroy an incoming warhead at a distance of one mile.

If tests are successful, the Army will be pushing for a start as soon as possible on a production program probably costing between $8 billion and $10 billion to protect major population and strategic centers.

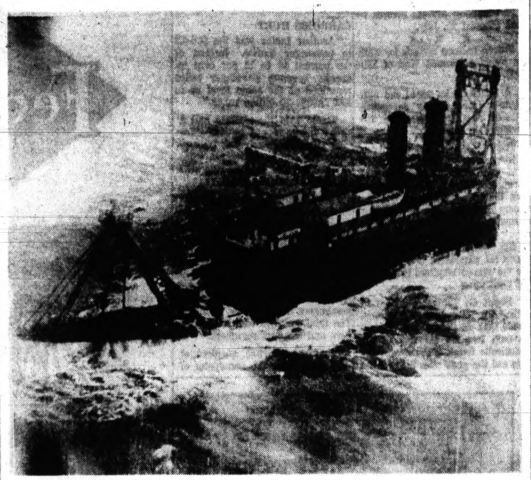

★ ★ ★

It is expected that this will be stretched over five or six years, costing about $250 million the first year and rising to a spending level of more than $2 billion annually.

This would be a small percentage of the total military budget, but would loom large in a comparison with the approximately $3 billion a year now spent on air defense.

Eventually, military leaders are confident that defenses against missiles will out-date the Zeus. They visualize earth satellites to detect missiles the instant they are launched, and weapons to destroy them soon after they take off.

But they add that, barring some unforeseen development, the Zeus is probably the only antimissile defense that could be deployed successfully on a large scale in the next 10 years.

TEN RESCUED IN STORM—This aerial view shows the storm-tossed dredge Cartagena after ten crewmen who took to a life raft were plucked from the raging North Atlantic Tuesday by Coast Guardsmen after futile efforts to tow the huge craft about 250 miles east of Nantucket. When a tow line from a Coast Guard cutter snapped in midmorning, the captain, Adley LeBlanc, ordered the crew of the Cartagena to abandon ship.

Woman to Be Freed After 49-Year Term

LANSING (UPI) — An 84-year-old woman who has spent 49 years in prison will be pardoned "to die free" Gov. Swainson says.

★

The State Parole Board has recommended the release. Swainson said:

"This woman certainly has spent enough time in prison. After nearly 50 years, we should grant her wish."

Mrs. Frances Dewey, then of Ypsilanti, was convicted to a life sentence in 1912 after she was found guilty of beating to death a 1-year-old adopted son.

DENIED RESPONSIBILITY

She claimed at the trial that her husband, Bert Wildsmith, was responsible. She since had dropped his name and goes by her maiden name.

"She's just a feeble old woman who wants to die free," said Al Shapiro, superintendent of the Detroit House of Corrections in recommending the release.

Friends who have become interested in the case plan to place her in a home for the aged.

In her pardon application, the 84-year-old woman wrote that her present marital status is "unknown."

She also said she had had no visitors for 24 years.

During her prison term, she wrote on the application form, she "sewed and taught others to sew; worked in laundry, worked in fields; knitted and crocheted; worked in canning factory."

★ ★ ★

In the event of release, she said: "No plans have been made, but would like to go to home for aged."

Sees GOP Win in House in '62

Halleck Says Party May Be Swept In by Wave of Conservatism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck says the GOP might be swept into control of the House in 1962 by a "wave of conservatism apparent throughout the country."

★ ★ ★

"We are going to win quite a few seats," the Indiana Republican said in an interview. "We have a fighting chance to take control of the House through the elections next November."

Halleck said he noted a strong trend toward "conservative thinking" not only in his own district but in other parts of the country where he has been making political speeches.

"The pleasing and surprising thing," he added, "is that this trend is growing among our younger people."

★ ★ ★

To win control of the House in the 88th Congress to be elected in November, Republicans would have to pick up a net gain of more than 40 seats now held by Democrats.

★ ★ ★

Republicans have 174 House seats and Democrats 260, with three vacancies in districts normally Democratic. For control, a party will need 218 seats in the 88th House.

Barbershop Quartet Concert Coming Up

Talent from the local chapter will include "The Rhythm Rogues" and "The Revelaires," chapter chorus.

Plan Insulated City in Russian Arctic

LONDON (UPI) — Moscow radio said Tuesday plans have been made to build a town in the Soviet arctic under an enormous dome of transparent plastic to provide good climate the year around.

The dome would cover the center of town to protect a park with lawns and blooming shrubs, a stadium, a concert hall and eating places. Residents would live outside the dome in multistory, cylindrical apartments insulated against the arctic cold by aluminum.

Moscow said the design was made by Leningrad town planners but did not say where or when the town would be built.

Ex-College Head Dies

ATLANTA (AP) — Dr. John Peter Hurt, 88, a former president of Union University at Jackson, Tenn., who devoted more than 60 years to the Baptist Church, died Tuesday. Hurt, who was ordained to the ministry in 1901, was born near Richmond, Va.

March in Mexico Started by 500 Grows to 7,000

SALTILLO, Mexico (AP) — A "hunger march" launched Christmas night by 500 catkin growers reportedly has swelled to 7,000 marchers as it slowly advanced through the chill desert of Coahuila on its way to Mexico City.

★ ★ ★

The marchers are protesting low prices paid by a processing plant in Coahuila for the fiber from which a high-grade lubricating oil is produced for export. The government has an interest in the plant.

★ ★ ★

The marchers expect to have at least 50,000 men in the caravan when they reach Mexico City, about Jan. 10 after a 550-mile hike. They plan to ask President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to let them manage the plant so as to secure better prices for catkin.

Astrologers See '62 as Year of Strife and Upheaval

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leading astrologers of the East and West have taken a long look at the stars and report that 1962 is going to be a year of strife and upheaval that may lead to an age of world brotherhood.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, fasten your seatbelts. On Feb. 4 seven planets, the sun and the moon will cozy up in the sign of Aquarius for the first time in 25,900 years and the sun will be eclipsed, a situation inviting earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tidal waves, storms, fires and accidents.

★ ★ ★

Since the "conference" of heavenly bodies is unprecedented in historic time, predictions cannot be based on precedent.

But Bruce King, America's most prolific writer on subjects astrological under the name "Zolar," and India's revered Raj Guru Ramkrishna H. Pandit are in remarkable agreement on what the opening of the new age means for earthlings, who have been under the finny influence of Pisces the fish for 2,000 years.

'ERA OF BROTHERHOOD'

Zolar calls the new era the Aquarian age, but the Hindu astrological system assigns the age to Capricorn. Zolar said the sign of Aquarius, the water bearer, is the symbol of humanitarianism, brotherly love and world vision.

"The world will have a new social revolution and men of science, not the politicians, will lead," said Zolar at his New York publishing firm. "Eventually I think we'll do away with politicians completely."

Pandit, who was court astrologer to the late Nizam of Hyderabad, Ghe Gaekwar of Baroda, and the maharajas of Indore, Gwalior, and Bikaner, sent word from Bombay that the "new era of human understanding" will begin to unfold in 1964. Peaceful coexistence will be in, colonialism will be out and spiritual, moral and human values will dominate.

★ ★ ★

"China and Russia gradually will part company and the Russian dictator, Mr. Khrushchev, will be pushed in the background by 1964," said Pandit. "I see internal dissensions in China and the present dictators replaced by others."

Zolar, who predicted last year that Khrushchev will fall from power in 1962, said he is even surer now. It's going to be a very hot August in Moscow for Mr. K., and there will be radical changes in the Russian government by the end of the year.

"It will be a year of tension for the United States, but I see no sign of atomic war," said Zolar. "If Khrushchev doesn't start a war by Feb. 4, we never will have one."

SEES TROUBLE IN FRANCE

Zolar, who predicted the violent death of Hitler, the month of Stalin's death, Eisenhower's heart attack, the Andrea Doria sinking, and the first jet plane crash, foresees danger for President Charles De Gaulle of France in 1962, internal troubles in India, famine in Africa, turmoil in the Caribbean and South America, and continued warfare in Congo and Southeast Asia.

"It is going to be a rough year for President Kennedy, too," he said. "He's a Gemini and 1962 isn't going to be a picnic for Geminis."

Zolar said Kennedy may have a summit meeting with Khrushchev in June and take a trip to Europe in September.

★ ★ ★

In October there will be trouble at the United Nations, possibly resulting in a change in the U.N. charter.

Political assassinations may make news in November, and December headlines will concern castles in Spain.

"It looks like a restoration of the Spanish monarchy at last," said Zolar.

Plays Havoc With Home Tapes

Station Spoils Recordings

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — A Corpus Christi radio station announced Monday night it has put into use a new electronic device that spoils recordings made at home from a television or radio broadcast.

★ ★ ★

The station said it used the device during a broadcast of a tape recording of the White House concert given by Pablo Casals, one of the world's leading cellists.

★ ★ ★

The device broadcasts a tone on top of the music and makes it "exceedingly difficult" to record. However, the tone cannot be heard by a person listening to a radio or television receiver.

But if the broadcast is taped from a receiver at home, the tone is so audible when it is replayed it ruins the music.

★ ★ ★

L. L. Stewart, an electronics consultant, invented the device. He said that listeners, recording music from broadcasts at home, cut potential record sales perhaps $25-$50 million a year.

★ ★ ★

"The device has been widely tested and is almost foolproof," Stewart said. "There is no way to take the tone out. The better the equipment (for recording at home), the better the system works."

Blackie Surveys New Dog House on Traffic Island

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — Blackie, the apparently abandoned little dog who has been living on a traffic island in the center of a busy highway, has a new dog house. It stands on the traffic island beside the community Christmas tree.

Blackie was distrustful of it and slept outside Monday night. Observers said he looked it over and they think he eventually will learn to use it.

The house was donated by a dog lover who asked that her name be withheld.

Blackie first appeared at the traffic island about Thanksgiving. He occasionally went foraging for food, but always returned to the island to sleep and wait—as though he had been lost from a passing car and hoped for someone to return and pick him up.

Empire State's Sale Is Today

Prudential Insurance Purchasing Building in $65-Million Deal

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — The Empire State Building, the world's tallest building and the unofficial symbol of New York City, is to be sold today to the Prudential Insurance Co. of America in a $65-million transaction.

Prudential will take title to the 102-story office building and tourist beacon for $29 million paid to the owner, Empire State Building Corp., whose principal owner is Henry Crown of Chicago.

Prudential is then to give a 114-year leasehold on the building to a real estate syndicate known as Empire State Building Associates. The syndicate will turn over $36 million to Crown, completing the transaction.

The Empire State grosses about $12.5 million a year.

The sale will be made at Prudential's headquarters in Newark.

Monorail to Link Airport With Downtown Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—The Transportation Ministry today authorized the construction of Japan's first major passenger monorail. It will link Tokyo International Airport with downtown Tokyo, possibly in time for the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

Planners say the elevated railway will cover the 9-mile distance in 15 minutes at 36 miles an hour. Construction costs are estimated at $27 million.

Stratton to Run Against Rocky

N. Y. Congressman Up for Dem Nomination to Governorship

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Congressman Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady announced Tuesday he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to oppose Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the 1962 state election.

★ ★ ★

Stratton declared in a statement that Rockefeller had failed to solve problems of economic improvement, had failed to take "the ordinary people of the state" into his confidence and had become "preoccupied with interests and concerns outside the borders of the state."

Stratton, 45, has scattered support for the nomination from county and local democratic organizations, most of them in his home area.

But he has shown no signs of gaining significant support from the New York City Democratic organizations that normally control the party convention.

WAGNER HAS ROLE

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, now recognized as the Democratic leader of the state, will have a major and perhaps a deciding role in selecting a candidate. He may decide to run himself or he may designate the nominee.

★ ★ ★

Stratton, in his second term in Washington, entered public life in 1950 when elected to the Schenectady City Council. Earlier, he had been a television news commentator and a lecturer at Union College and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Says Kennedy Mum on Speaker's Race

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., says he does not have the support of the Kennedy administration in his bid for majority leader of the House of Representatives.

★ ★ ★

"The administration is keeping out of this matter," Bolling said. "It is a House decision."

The Missouri Congressman, interviewed on KMBC-TV Tuesday said his chances of being elected majority leader are very good.

★ ★ ★

Bolling and Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., are contending for the post. Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., majority leader, is expected to replace the late Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., as speaker of the House.

Makes Hours on Job Pleasant With 'Business Homes'

Happy Workers Owe Much to Office Designer

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—"My philosophy," said Maria Bergson, a woman who is dedicating her life to making office workers happy, "is this:

"If you are hungry, you are able to work well on a concrete floor with an orange crate for a desk, by candlelight.

"But if you are not hungry, you want a 'business home,' with many comforts. You spend one-third of your life at your work, so your office should make you smile inside when you walk in, rather than feel it is a grind." Miss Bergson smiled prettily. "And tell me how many people in America who go to offices," she asked, "are hungry."

This petite blonde, Austrian-born lady knows her unhungry office workers well. In 1945, a new emigrant from her homeland, she was a secretary for Time, Inc. One day her work sent her to the headquarters of a lady executive at Fortune Magazine. The lady executive had just had her office decorated, and it was an acoustical monstrosity. There was an echo.

"Look at this room," she said to Miss Bergson. "Do you think they did right by me?"

When the echo died down, Marie said, "I have been mountain-climbing enough that I think I can erase the echo."

"Really?" said the lady. "Do."

CHANGES A HIT

Miss Bergson went home and not only plotted the echo erasure but drew a sketch of the office as she thought it would be. The executive loved it, ordered the changes. Before she knew it, Fortune Magazine wanted her to redesign other offices.

"Can I get my job as secretary back when I finish?" she asked, and they assured her she would.

But she never did.

By 1947, Maria Bergson Associates was the first company to enter the field of interior space planning and industrial design for offices. She now has branches in Los Angeles and London, has planned interiors for some of the world's oldest and newest buildings.

"Everybody calls this the Cinderella story and it is," she says, "but it could never have been so if American businessmen did not, about that time, begin to realize that their workers must have better, happier surroundings.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think it's a deep feeling of moral responsibility on their part. But in America, you have a very tight labor market, and you have a very high salary range. So if a competent secretary, say, has a choice between working in a grubby place or a lovely one, she will take the lovely one—even if she doesn't make quite so much money. I even know of girls who resigned from very good jobs because their desks snagged their stockings.

"You see, as I said, you are not hungry enough here to put up with bad office conditions."

CITES RESEARCH

Research has proven, according to Miss Bergson, that people whose "business homes" are thoughtfully designed have fewer divorces, less illness, and put out a higher percentage of competent work.

"And of course, why should it not be so? If you work in a place where you grit your teeth every time you must weave your way across a room to get to a filing cabinet—naturally you come home irritated and go to work the next day still angry.

"Your 'business' home should make you honestly smile inside when you"think of it—just 'as your real home does."

Miss Bergson was an actress in Austria before Hitler separated her from family and friends, forced her to flee to Norway, then England, then America. She could not get a theatrical job here, though she is still strikingly pretty, because of a deep accent ("I didn't want to play the German maid every three years and starve"), so she went into business.

Millions of working girls should bless the vagaries of the theater.

Al Jennings, 98, Claimed to Be Wild West Bandit

Onetime Outlaw (or Was He?) Is Dead

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Alfonso Jackson (Al) Jennings, train robber, ex-convict, lawyer, lecturer, evangelist, politician, movie celebrity and chicken rancher who hatched killing chickens, is dead at 98.

The self-styled bantam badman from the Oklahoma badlands died Tuesday with his boots off in his tree-shaded white frame house.

★ ★ ★

His nephew, Tillman V. Eggleston, said Al had been despondent since the recent death of his wife Maude, 81, and "was suffering the illnesses of old age."

Despite Jennings' death, the controversy he created still lives.

Was he really a desperado of the Jesse James or Dalton gang caliber? Or was tiny Al, only a lick and a spit over 5 feet tall, just a onetime loser, a luckless train robber, who cashed in on a legend he embroidered for naive movie folks in later years?

HORSE THIEF?

Al said he was once a horse thief and declared: "Some of the finest men I ever knew were horse thieves." He also claimed he killed more men than he could count—all in self-defense.

But author Stuart Lake, Western scholar and biographer of Wyatt Earp, says with a bit of scorn: "There's no record of Al ever killing anyone."

★ ★ ★

Al said he was a feared outlaw and train robber in the 1890s, terrorizing a score of trains in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Kansas.

The record shows Jennings was convicted in 1895 for robbing a Rock Island train in Oklahoma, sentenced to life imprisonment, paroled after five years and pardoned in 1907 by President Theodore Roosevelt.

★ ★ ★

Lake says of that one proven train robbery: "The gang netted only about three bucks apiece. A posse found out they were holed up at a ranch house and came after 'em. Al was so scared he couldn't pull the trigger. They took 'em all away to prison, like taking candy from a baby."

'OUTSHOT JAMES'

Al claimed he outshot Jesse and Frank James at the age of 14 in a shooting contest at Dodge City, Kan., that he knew the Dalton boys, Bat Masterson, Doc Holliday, Wyatt Earp, as well as humorist Will Rogers.

Al also said he met writer O. Henry in a federal penitentiary and that he, Al, was the inspiration for many of the author's tales.

Nonsense, says Lake. When the Western scholars presented facts to refute Jennings' claim, "each time the old man would just sputter and walk away," said Lake.

Al Jennings was born in Tazewell County, Va., and left home at 11 because his father killed his pet squirrel—"I could always kill a man without batting an eye but I couldn't stand to see an animal harmed," Al once said.

He was admitted to the bar in Comanche County, Kan., in 1884, moved to El Reno, Okla., and was elected county attorney in 1892. He said he turned outlaw when his brother was killed in a gunfight and a jury freed the slayers. Jennings claimed he killed the murderers in a gunfight and became a wanted man.

BECAME EVANGELIST

After imprisonment and release, he became a lecturer, then an evangelist and ran for governor of Oklahoma in 1914. Al contended; "I would have made it but I was counted out. At 11:30 o'clock election night, I was 38,000 votes ahead. By midnight, I was 35,000 behind. Politics is not a lot crookeder than train robbing."

Jennings came to California in 1915—and ultimately became an advisor to movie-makers on Western folklore.

Governor Loses Ping Pong Tilt

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson was defeated on Christmas Day—by his two ping pong paddle wielding sons. But he had an alibi.

"They double-teamed me," he said.

He admitted his pride was a little hurt when Stephen, 14, and Peter, 12, beat him at a game of ping pong—one of their Christmas gifts.

Swainson, reporting on the intimate details of his Christmas at home, said his flaxen-haired 3-year-old daughter Kristna received five dolls for Christmas, but insisted on taking a model kitchen set to bed with her. He said;

"You just can't figure those girls."

Swainson had talked his wife, Alice, out of buying him a set of bag-pipes. Too expensive, he told her. Instead, he got a warm coat-sweater.

★ ★ ★

The governor's surprise gift to his wife was a Japanese painting set, complete with a book of instructions.

"The best thing about our Christmas was having all the family at home together," Swainson said.

Negro Boy to Enter White Tampa School

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A second Negro has been approved for admission to a white school here. Like the first, he is a son of an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

★ ★ ★

The county board voted Tuesday night to permit the transfer of Robert W. Saunders Jr., a second grader. His father is field secretary of the NAACP. Saunders said he requested the transfer of his son because the white school is 3½ miles closer to their home than the Negro school.

★ ★ ★

The son of A. Leon Lowry, president of the Florida chapter of the NAACP, earlier was admitted to a white school for handicapped children.

X rays are now being used to find defects in logs and heavy timbers.

Presidents Have to Hit the Road

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's gotten so that if an American president stayed home he'd look like a snob.

In the past 11 months President Kennedy has received at least 30 visits from foreign heads of state and prime ministers, plus scores of ambassadors, and has made several foreign visits himself.

There are four good reasons for this back-and-forth business:

Truly fast travel; end of isolationism and new, close ties with other countries; abandonment of the idea that only a president's subordinates should dabble in diplomacy and Premier Khrushchev himself.

It would have taken President James Madison about 2½ months —allowing two weeks for a look-around—if he had wanted to visit the 1815 Congress of Vienna in those days of sail and coach.

JET MAKES DIFFERENCE

That would be too long for any president to be away. But Kennedy could get to Vienna now in less than 11 hours by jet.

Once this country moved out of its historic isolation—with World War II—it began moving in the exact opposite direction. Now it is tied to nations around the world by military alliances and foreign aid.

This has created a community interest which this country never shared in before and akes it natural for all the big wigs involved to visit one another and talk shop.

In the long history of American isolationism it was routine for American presidents — with the brief exception of Wilson and until Franklin D. Roosevelt — to stay home and let their secretaries of state and ambassadors do the direct dealing with other governments.

POLICY WAS 'ALOOF'

There was no reason why they shouldn't have stayed home: the United States' policy was to be aloof.

The war ended that. The British and Russian foreign secretaries were nobodies in the wake of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin. Time was short, events momentous. So Roosevelt dealt with them in person.

He made some memorable trips abroad to do so. President Harry S. Truman began the foundation of military alliances and foreign aid which President Dwight D. Eisenhower inherited. This led in time to exchange of visits, but for one particular reason above all.

Premier Khrushchev made personal diplomacy a way of life for a head of government. He said the foreign ministers were messenger boys, who could handle the grimy details after the top men made agreements.

IKE HAD TO MEET

But, he said, only the top men could get things done. Eisenhower would have looked negative or self-conscious if he had refused to meet the Russian.

The fact that his summit meeting with Khrushchev produced no successes has been pointed to by those who want a return to the stodgy diplomacy of the past as a reason why presidents should stay home.

But that summit meeting can't be called a failure. It would have been amazing if, in one brief meeting, the world's ills could have been healed.

So far Kennedy, who met Khrushchev in Vienna last June, has not had to go into lengthy negotiations on any of his foreign trips. No doubt he will in time.

VISITS INEVITABLE

That he will continue to make visits abroad—given new times and new problems—seems inevitable.

Dean Rusk in 1960, which was before he became Kennedy's secretary of state, took a dim view of personal negotiations or summit meetings by a president. He suggested the job should be done by professionals.

Kennedy, who dominates both Rusk and American foreign policy seems to think differently. He doesn't act like a man who wants someone else to do his talking for him.

And, since his visitors would still continue to pour on him, he'd have to return some of them with trips abroad, even if he didn't negotiate at all.

SAFE LANDING—A twin-engine airplane rests on a snow-coated runway at Greater Pittsburgh Airport after making a crash landing Tuesday. Bombproof Shelters Urged to House World's Newlyweds DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead urges bombproof shelters for the world's newlyweds—to assure continuance of the human race in the event of nuclear war.

★ ★

Dr. Mead, of the American Museum of Natural History, offered the suggestion in a talk to the 128th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science Tuesday.

ANTHROPOLOGISTS' PLAN

"Let the United States propose," she suggested, "that the United Nations be asked to debate the feasibility of an internationally financed shelter system in which a cross-section of the most productive and highly motivated members of every country on every continent could be saved.

★ ★

"Let us propose a program in which each country is assisted to build a blast-proof shelter sufficient to accommodate all of the people married in that country during a two week period (and that) during the first six months after marriage they spend two weeks in the shelter."

'MOST HIGHLY MOTIVATED'

Addressing a special symposium on "Problems of Survival," Dr. Mead said such a shelter system for newlyweds would enable the survival of a group that "would be the most highly motivated to try to continue their lives together and to reproduce themselves."

★ ★

"They would be," she said "the stuff of which young immigrants are made, and they would indeed be immigrating—if there were to be an all-out nuclear war—into a world that no man has ever known."

'WOULD WRECK INDUSTRY'

Seymour Melman, an associate professor of industrial and management engineering at Columbia University, told the symposium: "In-so-far as American industry operates by means of a finely integrated division of labor, the fire effect alone of a modest-sized nuclear attack would render this society no longer viable as a significant production center of the world."

★ ★ ★

He said that if the 65 major industrial centers of the country were each hit by 20-megaton bombs, the immediate effect from "fire storms" would be to reduce the United States to a third-rate industrial nation.

U.S. Deficit Climbs Again

July-September Period Sees Rise in Balance of Payments Figure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. balance of payments deficit for the July - September quarter has been calculated at an annual rate of just under $3.1 billion—up from $1.9 billion three months earlier.

This report, issued Tuesday by the Commerce Department, was in line with preliminary estimates announced a month ago.

Last year's record deficit of $3.9 billion was accompanied by a record $1.7 billion loss of gold. The annual rate of the deficit fell to $1.4 billion in the first three months of 1961, then began climbing again.

Officials expect no marked improvement during the current quarter and say the rate may move still higher.

The third quarter increase was attributed largely to larger imports of merchandise and a sharp drop in the inflow of foreign capital. Imports of merchandise increased to $3.9 billion in the third quarter from $3.4 billion in the second quarter.

Defense Costs Trail Estimates

Spending in First 5 Months at Rate Below Figures for Full Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense spending in the first five months of the current fiscal year was at a rate well below estimates for a full year. This indicates an acceleration is to be expected during the last half of the year which ends June 30.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon said today that spending for military functions, not including foreign military assistance programs, totaled about $18,221,000,000 in the period up to Dec. 1. This would work out at a full-year rate of $43.75 billion, compared with the budget estimate of $46.8 billion for the full year.

A step-up of spending in the latter half of any fiscal year is normal, caused in part by increased deliveries of weapons and other equipment ordered early in the year.

A substantial part of military spending also goes to payrolls subsistence for manpower, with the estimate for the current fiscal year being about $13.280 billion. This includes additional costs for the callup of reservists. The budget bureau estimates spending for active duty by two National Guard divisions alone will total about $300 million.

Military manpower totaled about 2.78 million at the start of this month, an increase of nearly 300,000 since last summer. Prospects that this strength figure—and the accompanying expenditures — will diminish between now and next June 30 are small.

The Department of Agriculture has found benzene hexacholoride to be an effective agent in the control and elimination of chicken lice.

Spirit of Charity Exhibited Many Times

Christmas Warmth Lingers Throughout the Nation

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Associated Press Staff Writer

A special Christmas warmth lingered across the continent today. It burned in the eyes of children of misfortune remembered by the fortunate, in the minds of troubled adults touched by the kindness of neighbors, and in the hearts of the charitable who experienced again the blessedness of giving.

★ ★ ★

Examples? They were nigh as countless as the strands in the beard of that ageless North Pole resident who circled the earth in the predawn hours Monday.

WASN'T FORGOTTEN

Freddie Downer, 7, was killed by a car early this month as he crossed a street in Massena, N.Y., to telephone Santa Claus and remind him of an important letter he had written.

"Even if you have to leave me out, Santa," the boy wrote, "please don't forget my sister."

Three-year-old Vicky was not forgotten.

★ ★ ★

Through the magic that is St. Nick's way of doing things, gifts and money for more gifts turned up under her tree Christmas morning.

Donna Lee Staats, 7, was struck down by an auto as she dashed across a Louisville, Ky., street two weeks ago to greet a Santa at a yule display. She lived. Her hospital room was flooded with Christmas greetings and gifts.

FRIENDS REMEMBERED

In Bloomfield, Conn., friends of the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Cahill went caroling to gather donations for the Cahills, who were made homeless by a fire two nights before Christmas. Louisa Cahill, 7, was critically burned.

Bloomfield and other communities responded with fund drives, gifts and clothing.

Andrew J. Francolino of Middletown, Conn., sent a $25 check with a note that probably explained it for all the givers: "My family is healthy; I'm grateful. The Christmas season moved me to make the gesture."

'BEST CHRISTMAS'

Fires Saturday night destroyed the homes of the James Sanders and Clarence Lofton families in Nashville. Both Negro families lost all their possessions, including the Christmas presents.

But the word spread, and by Christmas morn they had received money, food, clothing and promises of furniture.

★ ★ ★

Lofton, with a wife and five children, expressed his thanks: "It's going to be the best Christmas we've ever had."

Sanders, his wife and five children agreed that "it's a mighty good Christmas."

HELPED FAMILY

At New Cumberland, Pa., near Harrisburg, a fire two weeks ago left Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones and their seven children without home, clothing or personal possessions.

The Fairview Fire Co., its ladies auxiliary, the Fairview Lions' club and others in the community pooled their compassion.

★ ★ ★

The Jones had a partially completed house which they planned to occupy in about six months. Local merchants contributed insulation, plumbing, heating, electrical wire and flooring.

The ladies auxiliary purchased new Christmas gifts.

NEW HOME READY

Forty men got together Dec. 17 and started work on the house.

On Christmas morning the Jones were in their new home. They had a tree laden with toys delivered by a Santa Claus helper Christmas Eve.

Silas Brown, who worked on shrimp boats in Florida, went to Texas to seek a trucking job. He arrived in Galveston with his wife and seven children—and $2.

★ ★ ★

Police found the family on Christmas Eve under a causeway, where they had gone for shelter.

"I knew these people in Galveston had suffered from the hurricane and I didn't want to push in on them," Brown explained.

ARRANGED HELP

Police arranged for a free meal, then clothing, free lodging through the holidays, more than $200 in cash, toys, a turkey dinner — and perhaps most important, a job offer.

"It kind of reaffirms your faith," said Brown.

In Springfield, Mo., a man the Salvation Army Christmas morning and asked how much the organization needed to meet its goal for its Christmas fund for needy families.

"$991," he was advised.

COMPLETED GOAL

The caller, who asked that his name not be revealed, sent a check for the $991.

Jay Cockrell of St. Louis sent his grandmother, Myrtle Revercomb, 68, of Washington, D.C., an electric blanket for Christmas.

Late Christmas Eve, he telephoned Washington police and told them she was having trouble operating it because of arthritis.

★ ★ ★

Two policemen, D. L. McVearry and E. R. Casey, went to her home and fixed it.

"This makes it a wonderful Christmas," she said, hugging the blanket to her.

Pity Dragonfly; No Butcher He

Not a Fly or a Dragon, Misunderstood Insect Isn't So Bad as Reputed

The dragonfly is an innocent victim of gross misnomers and myths. It is not even a fly, much less a dragon.

★ ★

The glistening, agile insect also is saddled with such popular names as devil's darning needle, sewing needle, bee butcher, mosquito hawk, horse stinger, snake feeder, and snake doctor.

Legends say dragonflies sew up the mouths of children who tell lies and stitch together the toes of barefoot, sleeping fishermen. The insects are reputed to sting horses to death and feed hungry snakes. Actually, dragonflies neither sew nor sting—nor feed any animal.

The dragonfly belongs to the great insect order Odonata, whose 5,000 species are scattered the world over wherever there is fresh water, the National Geographic Society says. The handsome creatures ornament thousands of lakes and streams during the summer.

★ ★

Their iridescent brilliance has attracted men for centuries. Prehistoric New Mexican pottery and ancient Oriental paintings depict dragonflies.

Some have bright red bodies with a splash of carmine or blotches of gold and black on the wings. On others, the thorax is grass-green and the abdomen bright blue with dark madkings. One species has a black body striped with yellow, and wings touched with gold.

The dragonfly's cellophane-thin, transparent wings are braced with a network of veins. Megaloprepus coerlatus, a large species found in Central and South America, has a wingspread of 7 inches; but it is a midget compared with a 250-million-year-old fossil dragonfly whose wings measured more than 2 feet.

★ ★

Two pairs of wings, which may beat 20 or 30 times a second, and a matchstick-thin, streamlined body make the dragonfly a superb flier. Some species can fly 60 miles an hour. Others migrate hundreds of miles.

4 Tires Blow on Airliner

DENVER (AP)— Four tires on a United Air Lines DC7 blew out as the plane landed at Stapleton Field Tuesday. A United spokesman said none of the 69 passengers or five crew members was injured.

Waterford Board Sets Hearing on Paving Proposal

In one of the shortest such meetings on record, the Waterford Township Board last night authorized purchase of portable fingerprinting equipment for the police department and set a black-topping hearing date.

★ ★ ★

Because announcement of the Kempf Street hearing date had not been published in a local newspaper, the township board must hold three new hearings.

All residents on the street have been notified and the hearing date has been set for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 22.

The meeting lasted 90 minutes.

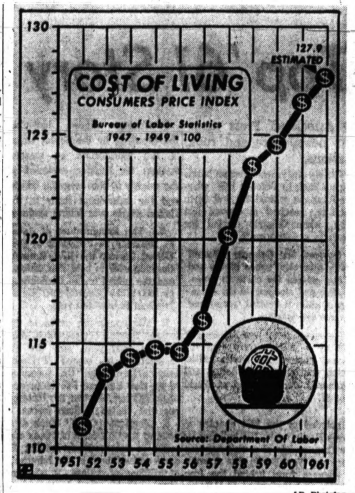

Richard Price, land developer of the Visfa Villa subdivision on Crescent Lake Road, was present again asking the board to reconsider his request for sidewalk installation.

The board had turned down his request, and took no action at last night's meeting.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Reported Gravely ill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is gravely ill with a respiratory infection and complications, her physician says.

The doctor reported Tuesday night that the 89-year-old widow of the former president, has been ill for three weeks. He said her condition grew worse several days ago but now is slightly improved.

COST OF LIVING—The cost of living continued upward in 1961 just as it has every year but one in the past decade. The consumers price index reached 127.9, meaning retail buyers paid considerably higher for food, clothing and a variety of other items than they paid (on an average) in the years 1947 through 1949. That is when the base of 100 was set. Since 1951 the index declined only in 1955.

Home Rule Slant Bothers 2 Groups

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors' wording of a county home rule resolution is bothering a couple of citizens groups.

★ ★ ★

They object that the board would grant itself the power to draft a recommended home rule charter for the county instead of enabling the public to elect a charter commission for this purpose.

The most recent objection has been raised by the Oakland Citizens League, Inc. Similar objections were raised earlier by a group of local citizens known as Civic Research, Inc.

Both groups are in favor of lessening state control over local matters and strengthening government at the county level through home rule.

SUBMITTED TO CON-CON

But they take exception to the wording of a proposal submitted this month by the board of supervisors to the constitutional convention.

It is inconceivable that the board should lift the responsibility to draft the framework for a changed county government from those to be governed, the groups maintain.

The Citizens League has petitioned the board to amend its resolution already submitted to con con "to the end that power and authority will be clearly retained by the electorate in the framing, adopting and amending of an Oakland County charter."

★ ★ ★

Chairman of the board of supervisors, Delos Hamlin, has said it certainly would be within the rights of the people to petition for a charter commission election if the constitutional convention delegation becommends a provision for county home rule in the proposed new state constitution.

★ ★ ★

The board's home rule proposal was only one of many submitted by various counties seeking a home rule provision.

★ ★ ★

The con-con proposal may prove to be something quite different from his board's proposal, Hamlin admitted.

★ ★ ★

State voters would decide whether to accept the proposed constitution.

Berlin Crisis Finishes Second

Man in Space Top '61 Story

BY TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Man in space emerged from science fiction to become the top news story of 1961.

The race into space, starring Russia's Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov and America's Alan Shepard and Gus Grissom, has been so designated by news editors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio stations.

The big story, which began building up back in October 1957, when the Russians orbited the first earth satellite, reached a climax last May, when Gagarin circled the earth in a space craft.

Shepard and Grissom followed with suborbital space flights and Titov orbited the earth 19 times, eating and sleeping in his spacecraft while it hurtled 'round and 'round the world.

The space story won the editors' poll by a wide margin over the second choice, the Berlin crisis, which has alternately boiled and simmered since the end of World War II.

★ ★ ★

Included in the 1961 chapter of Crisis Berlin were: the building by the Communists of a wall between East and West Berlin, the dramatic escapes from behind the Iron Curtain and the callup of U.S. reserves to meet the emergency.

DAG'S DEATH THIRD

The death of Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations, in a plane crash and the ensuing U.N. controversy over his successor was the No. 3 story of the year, in the opinion of the editors. Burma's U Thant finally got the job.

Hammarskjold's plane went down in Northern Rhodesia while he was en route to negotiate an end to fighting in the Congo's aloof Katanga Province. His death enabled the Russians to plan for a three-man team to head the U.N. secretariat.

Fourth place in the editor's poll went to the ill-fated, U.S.-backed invasion of Cuba by rebels seeking to oust the regime of Fidel Castro, who, near year's end, admitted for the first time that he was a follower of the Marxist Leninist Communist doctrines.

Other choices in the editors' top 10:

5. Nuclear affairs, including the breaking by the Soviet Union of the moratorium on weapon testing; the Russian explosion of the mighty 50-plus megaton bomb; and the subsequent furor in the United States over fallout shelters.

6. The inauguration of John F. Kennedy as President of the United States, the first Roman Catholic ever to hold that office; and the return of the Democrats to the White House after eight years of Republican rule.

7. The continuing crisis in the former Belgian Congo which, during the past year, saw the assassination of ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba; the secession of its rich Katanga Province; and open fighting between the Katangese and United Nations forces.

8. Hurricane Carla, which devastated the Gulf coast of Texas and parts of other states, leaving 15 dead and damage in the hundreds of millions of dollars. It was accompanied by small tornadoes.

9. The trial in Israel of Adolf Eichmann, charged with being a key figure in the slaying of some six million Jews in German death camps. The trial lasted four months; the verdict was delayed.

10. The death of "Mr. Sam" Rayburn, 79, the Texas Democrat who held the job of speaker of the House of Representatives for 19 years, twice as long as any previous speaker. He had been a representative for 48 consecutive years.

The Top Ten

1. Man in space.
2. Deepening Berlin crisis; East Germans wall off East Berlin, diplomatic maneuvering continues.
3. U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold dies in plane crash.
4. U.S.-backed invasion of Cuba fails.
5. Russians resume nuclear testing, explode huge bomb and create fallout furor.
6. Kennedy inaugurated President.
7. Crisis in Congo continues; Lumumba assassinated, U.N. fighting in Katanga.
8. Hurricane Carla wallops Texas, Louisiana.
9. Eichmann trial.
10. House Speaker Rayburn dies at 79.

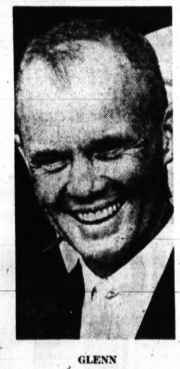

CRASH SCENE—The broken, battered engine and propeller of a DC6B plane dominate the scene near Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, following the crash which took the life of Dag Hammarskjold (inset) and left the United Nations without a secretary general.

SHEPARD

SPACE STARS—Among the big names for the United States in the space race were Alan B. Shepard Jr. (above), the nation's first man aloft, John H. Glenn Jr. (right), picked for the first manned orbital flight, and Enos, the space chimp whose orbital ride gave valuable information for Glenn's pending trip. ELEVATED TRAIN WRECK—One man was killed, crushed to death, and at least 35 other riders were hurt when this Philadelphia elevated train was derailed Tuesday night, nearly toppling to the street below. The accident occurred at the York and Dauphin streets station in the city's northeast section along the Delaware River. Four of the five cars were derailed, teetering against a railing above the busy intersection.

4 of 5 Cars Derailed Above Intersection in West Philadelphia

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — One person was killed and at least 35 others injured Tuesday night when an elevated train rammed a station platform. Four of the five cars were derailed, teetering against a thin iron railing 35 feet above a busy West Philadelphia intersection.

★ ★ ★

Short circuits lit up the area with electrical flashes for 15 minutes following the accident at the Philadelphia Transportation Co.'s York and Dauphin Streets station.

The dead man was identified as Earl Giberson, 45, Philadelphia. Witnesses said the train bounced crazily for more than 200 feet before coming to rest, tilted against the railing. Falling concrete broke several store windows.

TRAPPED BRIEFLY

Police said there were about 100 passengers on the train, all of whom were trapped briefly until rescue workers could guide them to safety along the narrow catwalk. The injured were taken to nearby hospitals. None apparently were hurt seriously.

A fire, touched off by sparks from the third rail, broke out in the third car. Firemen controlled it quickly.

★ ★ ★

Auxiliary policeman John Somers, 26, one of the first rescuers on the scene, said there was some yelling but little panic.

Ex-Saginaw Mayor Dies

SAGINAW (AP) — Funeral service will be held Thursday for former Saginaw Mayor Albert W. Tausend. Tausend, who was mayor in 1913 and from 1923 to 1931, died Monday at the age of 88.

John Tyler who became the 10th President, began the practice of law at the age of 19 and was elected to the Virginia state legislature when he was only 21 years old.

Electrical Engineer, Noted Inventor Dies

BOSTON (AP) — Reinhold Rudenberg, 78, noted electrical engineer who invented the electron microscope, died Tuesday after a brief illness. He retired from Harvard University in 1952 as Gordon McKay professor of electrical engineering and had been visiting professor at several universities. He was born in Hanover, Germany, and was a teacher of engineering at Gottengen University and at the Berlin Institute of Technology. He joined the Harvard faculty in 1939.

Noted Attorney Expires

OLD SAYBROOK, Conn. (AP)—Walter Drew, 88, attorney for more than 50 years for the National Erectors Association, a trade group of leading steel companies, died Monday. Drew, who also had served as counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, was born in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Breaks Yemen Ties, Has Only Egypt Again

Nasser Back Where He Started

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's domain is back where it started—confined to Egypt—following severance of the loose federation that joined the little Arabian Peninsula kingdom of Yemen to the United Arab Republic.

★ ★ ★

Nasser broke the tie with Yemen Tuesday night, apparently because of the opposition of Yemen's feudal ruler, the Imam Ahmed, to Nasser's accelerating program to convert the U.A.R. to socialism.

Yemeni exiles in Beirut predicted the break with Nasser might touch off a revolution in their homeland that would unseat the imam, one of the world's last absolute monarchs.

The two countries had been linked in the United Arab States, a loose federation formed a month after the proclamation of the U.A.R. joining Egypt and Syria in March 1958.

DREAM THWARTED

Syria broke out of the U.A.R. last September, but Nasser's government retained the name that symbolizes Nasser's thwarted dream of a unified Arab world.

The statement announcing the break with Yemen said the two governments had nothing in common "to make the federation between them an effective political instrument able to contribute positively in strengthening the Arab struggle."

In posing as the symbol of the new wave in the Middle East, Nasser could hardly afford to remain tied to the feudal Red Sea monarch, who published a poem attacking Nasser's Arab socialism after the break with Syria.

★

The association between Nasser and the imam—theoretically co-presidents in the UAS—never approached the working relationship that Nasser had with Syria. It was a limited association in defense, cultural and economic affairs. The U.A.R. bore most of the cost.

In return, Nasser got the prestige of influence outside his own country. The imam won immunity from the stinging attacks of Nasser's radio, voice of the Arabs. This immunity ended last Saturday when Nasser made a speech accusing Yemen, Jordan and Saudi Arabia of opposing his socialization program.

IMAM'S THRONE SHAKY

The imam's throne has been a shaky one recently. Last March he was severely wounded in an assassination attempt, one of several close escapes from his enemies.

Travelers arriving in Beirut from Yemen two weeks ago reported the discovery of another plot and the arrest of several persons.

Swainson Says 'Yes' to Try for Re-Election

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson says he will run for re-election next year, spiking some reports he might try for congressman-at-large.

★ ★ ★

Michigan is expected to elect a congressman-at-large next year, since the legislature has so far failed to redistrict the state for an additional congressional seat picked up in the 1960 federal census.

Swainson was asked if he expects to run for the gubernatorial seat against George Romney, American Motors president and constitutional convention vice president.

Republicans are booming Romney as a candidate. Romney has said he will make an announcement of his intentions Feb. 10.

NO OTHER PLANS

Swainson emphasized he had no other political plans, except to run for governor. He was asked when he would formally announce.

"At the appropriate time," he said, coyly.

Swainson was asked if there were any other Democratic contenders for his office.

★ ★ ★

There has been speculation that he might run for Congress and throw his support to either Secy. of State James M. Hare or Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, both with strong and enthusiastic organizations behind them.

★ ★ ★

"None that I know of," said Swainson.

Swainson evaded some and answered other questions at his press conference Tuesday.

The conferences have been cut back from the former two a day to two a week and newsmen were shooting their queries at him in machinegun style.

FAVORS AD BOARD ELECTION

In other political comment, Swainson said he now favors election of members of the State Administrative Board, the position held by the Democratic State Central Committee.

The constitutional convention has considered making the members of the board appointive by the governor.

These include the auditor general, treasurer, attorney general, highway commissioner, superintendent of public instruction and secretary of state.

All the board positions are held by Democrats.

Swainson had said previously he favored appointments by the governor. He's been shifting his position since.

In an appearance before the constitutional convention the governor said he would favor the appointive procedure to avoid having a governor of one party and a board of the other party — a situation which existed during the first three terms of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Swainson, in modifying his position, declared he had said all along that he would oppose making any confirmations to the board subject to approval by the Senate—now heavily Republican dominated.

"I have greater faith in the people than the Senate," he remarked.

The Democratic State Central Committee came out more than a week ago in favor of the elective administrative board.

Swainson said he participated in the decision, raised other possibilities and "now consider this my position."

Record Number Depart Paris for Holidays

PARIS (AP)—A record 644,000 train passengers left Paris for the Christmas season, mostly for mountain ski resorts.

The previous record of departures in the Dec. 20-23 period was 559,000 last year.

Hard Work for Nothing

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP)—It took two members of the City Council and a rusty knife to pry off the lid of a bucket containing votes on the issue of keeping or getting rid of parking meters. The council showed merchants voted 51-51. The council pigeon-holed the matter.

What Does Common Market Mean?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a football game without a scorecard, the current welter of news about foreign trade, tariffs and the European Common Market can be a little confusing.

Great upheavals are taking place in world trade, and new forces are changing the map. They may affect millions of Americans, from the cotton farmer in Southwest Arkansas to the man who puts spokes in the wheels in a New England bicycle factory.

★ ★ ★

The major factor that is changing old patterns of trade in the free world is the European Economic Community, or Common Market. Here is an attempt to provide a scorecard on the Common Market with basic answers to basic questions:

Q. What is the Common Market?

A. It is an agreement between six European nations — France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg —to lower tariff barriers between each other over a period of years to the vanishing point. At the same time they are setting up a common external tariff to deal with the rest of the world as a unit.

FREE MART FOR MEMBERS

Q. What does this mean?

A. It means that these six nations will become a vast free market for members with no internal restrictions. By acting together they can deal with the superpowers—the United States or the Soviet Union—on equal footing. Together, the United States and the Common Market eventually will account for half of the world's total trade.

★ ★ ★

Q. How did the Common Market start?

A. After World War II, when European nations were getting back on their feet, it was soon realized that even the largest of them, France and West Germany, were too small to achieve the full industrial development possible under modern technology. A larger unit was needed to give Europe its proper place in the competition for world trade. So in 1958 the Common Market was founded by the Treaty of Rome.

BUSINESS BOOMING

Q. How is it doing?

A. It is doing rather well. The six nations are ahead of schedule in lowering their internal tariffs, and business is booming under the stimulus. So much so that Great Britain, which stood aloof from the Treaty of Rome, now wants in even though it would disrupt the British Commonwealth and cause other changes in the British way of life, such as converting its ancient currency system to a decimal system. Denmark, Ireland and Norway are likely to join too. Sweden, Austria and Switzerland would probably like to join, but must tread carefully to preserve their East-West neutrality.

Q. What does this mean to us in the United States?

A. It means that if we want to continue trading in the rich common market, we must negotiate a low external tariff for the Common Market countries. Proponents of liberalized foreign trade, with the Kennedy administration as a chief drumbeater, say we must be able to offer the Common Market reduced United States tariffs in return. This, in simplified terms, is what the big, bloody fight shaping up in Congress next year is about. Protectionist, or high tariff sentiment is strongly represented in Congress. Almost every congressman or senator has plants in his district that might be hurt by freer entry of foreign goods.

GOP Campaign Balloon Exploded at Launching

LIVER IS GOOD — All liver, except for calves liver, is usually one of the more economical meats to buy. Properly cooked, it is a treat. Simmer pork liver in a tomato sauce. Broil thin slices of beef liver. Pan fry lamb liver. These are interchangeable, except that pork liver is not broiled.

Jelly Is Start of Good Glaze for Ham Butt

Ham glazed this way is as pretty as a picture — and delicious, too.

Jelly-Glazed Ham

½ fully cooked ham (butt end)
Whole Cloves
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon sherry
¼ cup currant jelly

Have ham at room temperature; score fat side in 1-inch diamond shapes; insert a whole clove in the center of each diamond. Place on rack in shallow pan. Bake in slow (325 degrees) over about 20 minutes per pound.

Remove ham and raise oven temperature to hot (400 degrees). Mix together the mustard and sherry in a small saucepan; add currant jelly; dissolve jelly over low heat, stirring.

With a pastry-brush, cover top and sides of ham with half the jelly mixture; return to hot oven for 5 minutes. Cover ham with remaining jelly mixture; return to oven for another 5 minutes.

Apple Bran Cake Is Spicy Finale

This year's abundant crop of apples guarantees that the apple treats your family so enjoys can be savored for many months to come. Thanks to advances in storage of apples, the fruits of the harvest will be available, as fresh as if they had just been picked, well into winter.

★ ★ ★

Here's an apple dessert, however, that you'll want to try right away. Apple Bran Cake is a spicy loaf cake with a cinnamon crumb topping. Moist and flavorful, you'll like this cake as a dessert or as a hearthside snack with coffee any nippy evening.

Apple Bran Cake

1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ cup soft shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
½ cup whole bran cereal
1 cup coarsely grated apple
½ cup cold coffee brew

★ ★ ★

1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup confectioners' sugar

Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, salt and spices. Blend shortening and sugar. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Stir in bran cereal and apple. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with coffee, mixing after each addition. Do not overmix; Spread in greased 8x8-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 40 minutes.

While cake is baking, blend butter, cinnamon and sugar together with fork or pastry blender until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over cake. Bake about 5 minutes longer. Cut into squares when cool.

Yield: 9 servings.

Keep That Gravy

When the meat runs out before the gravy, resist the temptation to throw the extra gravy away, the American Meat Institute cautions. Leftover gravy adds flavor to spaghetti sauce and is fine for moistening a hamburger mixture or loaf.

Liver Is Gourmet Food When Properly Cooked

Liver is highly praised by those who have had it served properly cooked and tastefully seasoned. Unfortunately, liver is often overcooked and its distinctive flavor covered up rather than complemented with the sauce. As a result, many people completely avoid liver or else they eat it only because liver is "good for them." What a pity! They are missing out on plenty of good eating.

There are three basic methods for cooking liver. They are pan frying, broiling and braising in a sauce. A sample recipe for each method follows. The methods are interchangeable except that pork liver is not broiled. Individual preference will determine which kind of liver is used.

Veal and calf liver are the most tender. Lamb, beef and pork livers are often attractively priced and an excellent buy for the budget-conscious homemaker. Nutritionally, they are all outstanding sources of iron, the B vitamins and complete meat protein.

When preparing liver there are two don'ts to observe. The first is don't soak or scald the liver. Precooking is necessary only when the liver is to be ground. Next, whichever cooking method you choose, don't overcook the liver.

When it is brown on the outside and fork-tender, it is ready to serve. The suggested times in the recipes are designed as a guide. Liver which has been thinly sliced will pan-fry or broil more quickly than will thicker pieces.

The herb-seasoned flour mixture used in the recipe for pan-frying lamb liver is also very tasty with beef or calves' liver. A lemon-butter sauce as suggested for broiling liver is easy to make and complements the flavor of the meat. Tomato sauce is a favorite for serving with braised liver. Basil and bay leaf are used because these herbs blend with rather than overpower the flavor of the liver. Sliced olives give a bit of color and texture contrast.

Liver With Tomato-Olive Sauce

1 pound sliced pork liver
Flour
3 tablespoons fat
1 tablespoon flour
1 pound can tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon basil
Small piece bay leaf
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives

Dip liver in flour, then brown in hot fat in a skillet. Stir 1 tablespoon flour into tomatoes. Add tomatoes, salt, sugar, pepper, basil, bay leaf, and olives to browned liver. Stir to blend seasonings. Cover and simmer slowly for 20 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4-5 servings.

Broiled Beef Liver

1 pound sliced beef liver
½ cup melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon marjoram

Melt butter in a saucepan. Add onion and cook until it is yellow and transparent. Blend in remaining ingredients to make butter sauce. Place liver on broiling pan. Brush with butter sauce. Broil 3 to 5 inches from source of heat. Turn to cook uniformly, basting occasionally with butter mixture. Broil until liver is browned, 8 to 12 minutes. Serve hot with remaining butter sauce. Makes 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

Pan-Fried Liver

1 pound sliced lamb liver
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon tarragon
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon paprika

Combine all ingredients except liver. Dip liver slices into seasoned flour. Brown in hot fat. Reduce heat and cook slowly approximately.

Convenience Foods in Sauce for Broccoli

When guests visit your home during the holiday season, try flavor-styled broccoli as part of a company meal, says the December issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

★ ★

Try broccoli with shrimp sauce (or you can use cauliflower rather than broccoli).

In a saucepan, blend one-fourth cup chive cream cheese (about two ounces) and one-fourth cup of milk. Add one can of frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup.

★

Heat and stir until hot. Add two teaspoons of lemon juice; pour over hot drained broccoli. Sprinkle with two tablespoons toasted slivered almonds. It makes 1½ cups of sauce.

Different Relish

For a new taste variation for your traditional cranberry relish, try this flavorful combination. Put through food chopper, using coarse blade 1 cup dark or golden raisins, 2 cups fresh cranberries, one quartered orange and one half lemon. Add 1¼ cups sugar blending well. Chill several hours before serving. Makes 3 cups.

Turkey Mold Is Wine Flavored

Even a small measure of leftover cooked turkey assumes importance in a molded salad. Its flavor will be multiplied by using chicken broth as part of the liquid in the gelatin mixture. For accent, use a white dinner wine as additional liquid; Sauterne or Chablis has the desirable dryness and lightness. To make the salad more substantial, fill the center of the ring with a crisp Waldorf salad or a combination of marinated vegetables.

Turkey Ring Salad

1 (10½-oz.) can chicken broth
½ cup Sauterne, Chablis or other white dinner wine
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
¼ cup finely chopped green or mild onion
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
1 cup diced cooked turkey or chicken
1 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Measure broth, wine, water, vinegar, onion and salt into a saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin over liquid, stir to blend. Heat, stirring, until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. When mixture begins to jell, fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into a lightly oiled 8-inch ring mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold on serving plate and garnish with crisp lettuce and green and ripe olives, if desired. Center of ring may be filled with Waldorf or mixed vegetable salad. Makes 6 servings.

Not Real Bread Pudding — It's Even Better

An old-fashioned pudding that is a delight to eat!

Baked Peach Pudding

4 thin slices bread (crusts removed and cut into ¼ inch squares)
1 can (1 pound) peach halves (drained and cut into ½-inch pieces)
2 tablespoons light raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
4 drops almond extract

Layer bread, peaches and raisins in 6 large custard cups. Beat eggs and sugar until thickened and lemon colored; beat in milk, vanilla and almond extract; pour over preparation in custard cups.

Cover cups with foil; place in a shallow pan; add enough hot water to come up to half the height of the cups. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 25 minutes or until custard is set — about 25 minutes.

Unmold and serve with Lemon Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Plastic squeeze bottles commonly used for mustard or catsup can also be used as cake decorators.

It's a Nice Way With Leftover Ham

Here's a delicious way to use leftover ham — and it's nutritious, too.

Ham-Cheese Fondue

10 slices white bread
1 cup diced cooked ham
1¼ cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
2 eggs
2¾ cups milk
Paprika

★ ★ ★

Trim crust from bread and arrange half the slices in a shallow 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with half of the ham and the cheese. Cover with remaining bread, ham and cheese. Beat eggs slightly; add milk and beat to blend; pour over bread mixture. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Filberts Are Even Better if Toasted

Because of the smaller production of filberts over other nuts, they are somewhat less known. Filbert nuts had their beginning in the hazelnut which grew wild in many parts of the United States. Gathering hazelnuts held many happy memories for children over the years, but cultivated filberts have now taken their place.

Oregon leads the nation in the cultivation of filberts, with Washington State following second. Commercial filberts are grown in rich soil in this Northwest section of the country where the weather is excellent for the production of large, flavorful nuts.

Filberts usually appear on the market in-shell, one pound yielding 1½ cups. The shelled nut is encased in a tin brown skin, which may be removed if desired before using them.

The best way of removing this skin is to toast the nuts in the oven at 275 degrees for about 20 minutes until the skins crack and loosen. They may then be rubbed off. Spread the nutmeats in a shallow pan for toasting, and while still warm, rub off the skins. Toasting of the nuts develops the nutmeat to a rich full flavor and gives the nut a crisp, crunchy texture.

For many purposes the skins are not objectionable and in many products the nuts need not be toasted. They make a notable contribution to the menu with their protein, vitamins and minerals and are essential to many baked products to enhance their goodness.

Sauce Supreme

Serve this hot, foamy, rum-flavored sauce to glamorize your favorite holiday steamed pudding. Cream ½ cup butter, and gradually add 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon rum flavoring and ½ cup chopped dark or golden raisins. Place in top of double boiler and beat, while heating over hot water.

Celery and Onions Team With Carrots

Carrots take on new flavor when they are teamed with two other vegetables.

Special Carrots

3 cups thinly sliced carrots
1½ cups thinly sliced celery
½ cup onion strips
½ cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Cut carrots slightly on the diagonal so they are oval shaped; cut celery crosswise into crescents the same way. Cook carrots, celery, and onion quickly with boiling water and salt in a covered saucepan — about 10 minutes. Add more water if necessary. Drain vegetables if necessary. Mix in butter. Makes 4 servings.

Wonderfully good: sandwiches made of nut bread and thinly sliced baked ham plus prepared mustard.

Cooking Expert Advises Wide Use of Refrigerator

"Freeze now, thaw later" is one of the secrets of better meal planning and cooking suggested by one of the country's foremost cooking educators.

★ ★ ★

Helen Worth, author of "Shrimp Cookery" and the new "Modern Bride: Key to Your Kitchen" cookbook, who directs her own cooking school in New York, teaches her students how to use a modern combination electric refrigerator-freezer to cook better meals in less time.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Worth eases the job of serving a good home-made soup by having the main ingredient — the stock — ready ahead of time. When she prepares a dish that calls for only the breast and legs of chicken, she uses the leftover wings and other parts to make a stock.

She freezes the stock in an ice cube tray and then removes and stores the "chicken cubes" in a plastic bag in the freezer section until needed for a soup, sauce or pilaf.

She freezes beef, fish and vegetable stocks in the same way, often keeping the cubes in the freezer six months or more.

★ ★ ★

"Besides the convenience," Mrs. Worth points out, "it's a real money-saver, and any recipe which gives you a choice of water or stock is of course better with stock."

Many recipes which tell you to "refrigerate two hours," or "overnight," now can be shortened to a fraction of the time if you have a good-size freezer section, Mrs. Worth says. A whipped cream-filled dessert, for example, usually takes as little as 20 minutes to blend and set in the freezer, she says.

"To skim fat from a sauce or gravy fast, I teach my students to pop it into the freezer about 15 minutes. The fat rises right to the top. When you reheat it you're sure you'll be serving a hot, greaseless gravy at the same time you put the meat on the table," Mrs. Worth says.

Helen Worth also depends heavily on her refrigerator section. "I have to keep plenty of fresh foods always on hand for my daily cooking classes, but my problems are not very different from those of the homemaker who has to prepare several meals a day for her family. I emphasize the importance of keeping vegetables and meats fresh in the special sections provided for them in the modern electric refrigerator-freezer."

Let Guests Choose Pack of Cookies at Parting

When you're planning a party, prepare a take-home treat for your guests. Bake several batches of your favorite cookies. Be sure to include some bar type, because they travel so well. Then wrap an assortment of cookies into little individual packages with clear or colored cellophane. Tie with bright ribbon, leaving one long end.

Tape the cookie packages to the mantel or bookshelf. When guests are ready to depart, let each take one package of cookies to nibble on during the trip home. Your little gift is extra special also if you prepare cookies with enriched flour.

Weight Watchers Welcome Proper Lunch

If your youngster is too plump to be pleased about it, you'd be wise to start helping him or her trim down. Even during the school years, that extra pudginess too often dismissed as "baby fat" can be a serious social and emotional handicap. Besides youthful chubbies have a way of growing up into unstylish stouts, which is unpretty, unhealthy — and unnecessary.

Also unnecessary, as well as unwise for the young (or anyone else, for that matter) is drastic dieting. Weight control experts advise using a number of minor cutbacks that reduce caloric intake safely without making the weight-watching youngster's eating pattern obviously different rom the "gang's."

Unless the child is markedly obese (your doctor can tell you), prevention of further weight-gain till growth catches up to poundage is usually more desirable than actual weight loss. The following carried to school in a lunch box or luncheon menus can be easily served at home. They combine high nutrition for active youngsters, and the sweet treats craved by the school set without excessive fattening calories.

Tuna and Salad Luncheon

Tuna sandwich with lettuce and watercress on cracked wheat bread (mix 1 can tuna fish with ¼ cup chopped celery and 1 chopped hard cooked egg with 2 tablespoons Italian-Style low calorie dressing. Provides filling for 3 appetizingly plump sandwiches. The junior weight-watcher gets only 1.

* * *

Spread bread with the low calorie dressing for flavor. Finger salad of tomato wedges, raw carrot sticks, green pepper strips, radishes.

1 pear
1 cup skim milk
3 gum drops or a licorice whip

Soup and Sandwich Luncheon

Tomato soup (to be carried in vacuum jug)

Sliced chicken sandwich with cucumber and lettuce on rye bread (spread bread with low calorie dressing.)

Crunchy celery and carrot sticks
1 cup skim milk
2 stuffed dates

Roast Beef and Slaw

Roast beef (or leftover meat loaf) sandwich with lettuce and tomatoes on white bread.

Red and white cabbage slaw (shred cabbage, mix with low calorie dressing, and season to taste) carried in a covered container.

1 cup milk
1 tangerine
2 sugar cookies

Honey Pineapple Glaze Excellent on Baked Ham

Having a party? Serve a whole baked ham guests can slice themselves and have plenty of sandwich fixin's and go-alongs on hand.

* * *

About now you've begun hunting for an easy way to make your holiday dinner one to remember. So try this taste-appealing Honey-Pineapple Glaze. Combine ¼ cup honey, ¼ cup pineapple juice and ½ tablespoon mustard. When ham is done, remove skin to expose fat, score into diamonds and insert whole cloves. Baste ham frequently with mixture until it is an even, golden brown. Garnish with pineapple slices and cherries, and bake about five minutes more.

New Baked Apples

Core 1 apple for each serving, place in shallow pan on 8-inch square of aluminum foil. Put 1 tablespoon of chunk-style or creamy peanut butter in apple center. Fill hole with maple-flavored syrup, bring up foil around apple (to hold in juice and keep skin from breaking) leaving 2-inch opening at top. Bake about 1 hour at 375 degrees.

Spiced Nuts Are Really Different

Spiced nuts are a holiday treat with a multitude of uses. For example, the crunchy tidbits make wonderful gifts. Or hang them on the tree along with other goodies and let the youngsters "raid" the branches. Twist them separately in red or green cellophane, add a sprig of holly and you've created a "tasteful" gift decoration. And what's a stocking on Christmas morn' without speced nuts bulging in the toe?

The spicy delights can be prepared from rich, flavorful pecans, which according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are more abundant than ever.

For real old-fashioned goodness, just sift together three times 2 cups confectioners' sugar, ½ cup cornstarch, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ cup cinnamon, 2 teaspoons ginger and 1 tablespoon ground cloves. Beat 1 egg white slightly and add 2 tablespoons cold water.

* * *

Put 1¾ cups pecan kernels in wire strainer, dip into egg mixture until well-coated and drain. Roll the nuts in part of spice mixture. Spread another part ¼ inch thick in shallow pan and place nuts on this, separating them. Cover with remainder of mixture and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and sift. Save spice mixture to use again.

What's in a Name?

What you may call "heel" or "horseshoe" pot roast, your out-of-state neighbor may call "heel around," "triangle," "pikes peak" or "diamond." Or, according to the American Meat Institute, you may see it featured at your meat counter as "wedge," "duck," "goose neck," "spur," "turkey" or "pyramid" roast.

Next time you see "macaroni au gratin" on a menu, just remember it's good old macaroni and cheese.

Make It Yourself for New Year's Fete

Brighten Party With a Gazebo

"Gazebo" is a glamorous word that stems from the Moorish covered balconies and summer houses of Southern Spain, but to the well-informed home decorator it has come to mean the high-styled canopies so often seen around the most elaborately appointed dining tables.

* * *

Few home makers would care to cope with a gazebo on a year 'round basis, but there is nothing like one to add a touch of the spectacular to an occasion such as New Year's Eve or a special birthday party.

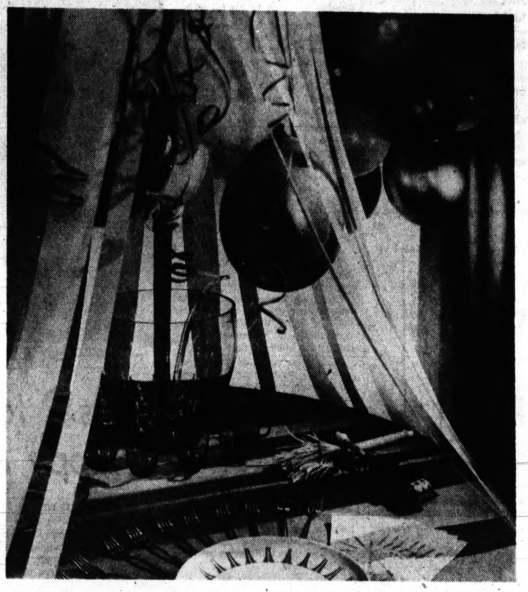

For New Year's Eve use alternating ribbons of gold and white satin-like paper ribbon, in combination with gold and white balloons.

Framework for the canopy is nothing more than three wire coat hangers, taped together in cloverleaf fashion and bent outward to form a flat circle.

The hooks, which come together at the center, are bent upward at right angles and used to suspend the frame from a chandelier or a paste-on picture hanger attached to the ceiling.

Pin the ribbons around the outer edge and use a cluster of balloons on top to conceal the mechanics of this homemade gazebo. Then hang a few more balloons on the under side to complete the lavish illusion.

Allow the ribbons to fall well below the edge of the table, but cut them off short of the floor, lest some enthusiastic reveler step on one and pull the whole gazebo down around his ears.

This New Year's Eve table setting starts with three bent coat hangers and a few yards of paper ribbon, but what a festive air it lends to the refreshment corner of the party. The ribbon gazebo, which gives the table the feeling of a separate room, can be attached to a chandelier, or a paste-on picture hanger on the ceiling will give it all the support it needs.

JUNE MARIE BLAKE

The Francis P. Blakes of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter June Marie to Robert J. Croasdell, son of the Robert Croasdells of Russell Street.

For High Schoolers, Collegians

Ready New Year Dance

Birmingham's Department of Recreation and Community House are completing arrangements for their annual New Year's Eve project, a semi-formal dance for the high school and college set.

* * *

Under direction of Marilynn Arner, adviser to the groups the past four years, the committee, headed by cochairmen Sue Hebblewhite and Leland Brown selected the title "Le Soir Joyeux" (The Joyous Eve) for this year's dance scheduled for 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday in the Community House.

Chaperones for the occasion, started in the 1930s, will be Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Andreae, Mr. and Mrs. James Bragaw, Mr. and Mrs. William Hebblewhite, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Laux, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross.

* * *

Additional committee members are Dan Fox, tickets; Sue Atkinson and Emily Edwards, decorations; JoAnn Ross, refreshments; Waynie Andreae, chaperones; Sally John, favors; Tom Haldane, Lanny Howe and Tony Kenny, publicity; and Kathy Laux, flowers.

Tickets for the dance which will feature the music of a popular area orchestra can be purchased at Grinnell's Music Store, Birmingham, or at the Community House during the dance.

Sue Hebblewhite and Leland Brown, both of Birmingham, cochairmen for the annual New Year's Eve ball "Le Soir Joyeux," sponsored by Birmingham's Department of Recreation and Community House, are busily completing plans for the gala occasion slated for Saturday. The dance has been held annually since the 1930s.

Ask Him to Dine at Home

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: A friend of mine is in a sanatorium recuperating from a nervous breakdown. She has been there a month and will be there at least another month. Her husband, who is also a good friend, is very lonesome and has asked me to go out to dinner with him some night.

I am very sorry for him and appreciate how he feels and would like to help in whatever way I can. Would it be proper for me to accept his invitation to dine with him? I am single and live at home with my mother.

A: It would be a mistake to be seen dining in a public restaurant with your absent friend's husband and will almost certainly cause unpleasant gossip. Why not invite him to dine with you and your mother at your house? This will be entirely proper and could certainly cause no criticism.

* * *

Q: On bookplates to be given to a man as a gift, should the name appear as John Smith or, considering that he is married and the books are jointly owned, should it be John and Mary Smith, J. and M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, or what?

A: The names on the bookplates should be John and Mary Smith.

* * *

Q: My son, an only child, was married six months ago. As I always wanted a daughter I am so very happy over this marriage and have the deepest love for my daughter-in-law who is a very lovely person. However, I have one complaint and that is that she calls me by my first name. This hurts me very much. I would like to know how I can tactfully tell her that I do not like being called by my first name and ask her to call me "Mom" as my son does.

A: Explain to her how much you have always wanted a daughter and the pleasure it would give you to have her call you "Mom."

It's Your Bridge, Abby Says

Just Keep on Smiling

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I must have an outside opinion. I am a 44-year-old unmarried woman. Ever since I was a child I had the worst looking teeth you ever saw. They were very large, protruding and naturally yellow. I remember how I used to try to keep from laughing so my ugly teeth wouldn't show. Fortunately, I was in an auto accident just before Thanksgiving and my front teeth were knocked out. The dentist made a truly beautiful partial plate for me. It has changed my appearance completely.

ABBY

I never knew six new teeth could make me so happy. My problem is my friends and relatives. They all say, "It looks nice — but it isn't YOU." I don't want to be ME any more. I like the change. Am I wrong or are they?

SMILING BUT IN DOUBT

DEAR SMILING: Keep smiling. You are the one who has to like it, and let there be no doubt about it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a girl should go steady with a boy who lives in a different state?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: It is up to girl and the boy. But call it by its right name. It is "staying home steady."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. My mother drinks. I am 15 and the oldest of four children. We are not poor, but if Mamma spent more on food and less on whisky we would eat better. Don't suggest Alcoholics Anonymous. She would never go.

Daddy travels and when he is home she is pretty good, but as soon as he leaves town she starts drinking again. What are children supposed to do with a drinking parent who refuses to help herself?

NO FUTURE

* * *

DEAR NO: There is no help for the alcoholic who refuses to help herself, but there IS help for her teenaged children. Write to ALATEEN, P.O. BOX 182, MADISON SQUARE STATION, NEW YORK 10, NEW YORK. This club is especially for the children of alcoholics. It is free, and has been a godsend to many with your problem.

Looking for True Beauty?

Melodious Voice Important Asset

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A warm and melodious voice is as important to beauty as a trim figure and a clear complexion. How many times have you heard a woman described as beautiful "until she opens her mouth"?

The most common difficulty, according to speech authorities, is a high pitch. And one immediate remedy is to talk more slowly. You will articulate more clearly, too.

* * *

Here's an exercise that is a great help in developing an attractive voice: place a kitchen match between your teeth, speak normally as though the match weren't there. Hold the match at the end lightly between the teeth and focus your tone toward the blue tip.

Harshness in your voice stems from tension in the throat and jaw. Try yawning to relieve the tension.

The tighter the vocal cords are when vibrated, the higher will be the tone pitch. When you raise your voice to be heard, the throat constricts and produces a shrill sound. The louder you speak, the more your voice will tend to a higher pitch.

To avoid shrillness, lower your pitch. Think lower and let your voice drop to lower notes. Don't force it or it will tax your throat and sound equally unpleasant.

A high-pitched voice is often nasal. You can find out whether or not you have this fault by pinching your nose and saying: nothing, marching, running. You should feel vibrations in your nose on the n, ng and n sounds only. If you feel further vibrations, your voice is nasal.

* * *

One way to discover how your voice really sounds is to rent or buy a tape recorder. Hearing yourself on magnetic recording tape will give you an opportunity to be objective.

You should speak at the rate at which you can best be understood. Turn to the tape recorder and read aloud. Experiment with various speeds and you'll soon be able to regulate your rate. Adjust the tempo to the thought behind your words so that you don't sound monotonous.

* * *

Try reading aloud to your tape recorder for awhile with match in mouth. Then remove the match and read on, pretending it's still there. Consistent practice will give you a lovely voice.

HOLIDAY SNAX
By Mrs. Gertrude Haynes

1 package ready-to-eat oat cereal (doughnut shaped)
1 package bite-size shredded wheat biscuits
1 package bite-size shredded rice biscuits
1 pound pretzel sticks
1 pound red Spanish peanuts
1 pound cashew nuts
¾ pound butter or margarine
2 teaspoons garlic salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Melt butter or margarine, add garlic and Worcestershire sauce. Put all cereal and pretzels in large roasting pan. Pour melted butter over them and stir well. Bake at 250 degrees for 1 hour, stirring every 15 minutes. Add nuts when you finish baking the mixture.

For best flavor, freeze any leftover snax.

Teach Your Child at an Early Age

Thank You Note a Gratifying Habit

A child's letter has its own charm. Though sentences be a trifle awkward and penmanship original, there is nothing as gratifying as a thank-you note from a grandchild, niece, nephew or any child you remembered at Christmas.

One of the first things a mother teaches her child is to say "Thank you" and "You're welcome." Too many women feel their job is finished once the child masters this simple courtesy.

* * *

But the thank-you note is as essential to plain old good manners as the spoken word. Every mother owes it to her children to take time and instill in them this habit which earns good will and appreciation for a life-time.

Thank-you notes date past the Yule Log but that doesn't mean you have to be behind the times. Today, children can take a pen in hand without mom having to worry about spilled ink, soiled clothing or dripping fingers. The modern ball point is as easy to master as a crayon or pencil.

* * *

A good idea would be to get the child his own stationery; young children love giddy, colorful material with bold stripes, dots or animal decorations. Though the post-Christmas season is a perfect time to start them on thank-you notes, let the children send their own birthday invitations and other similar correspondence.

This little girl has a right to be pleased with herself. She has taken time from playing with her new Christmas toys to write grandmother a thank-you note. After all, she was mighty thrilled to receive the gift package.

Wild, Woolly for the Wide-a-Wake

Hats to Tickle One's Fancy

Furry stocking caps are not for going to bed in, and fuzzy dunce caps are not for the dullard in the classroom corner.

* * *

Those wild and woolly hats with points and pompons are for the wide awake — the girl on the alert for the newest fad, the smart one with a fashion dollar. And it doesn't hurt if she has a sense of humor, either.

* * *

Of course, these hairy hats are practical.

They keep ears warm and heads dry. Made of modacrylic verel fibers (a thread recently invented in a research laboratory), they take brutal punishment. A girl can buy them round, pointed, cloche or tam o'shanter and count on their staying shaped that way for the rest of their natural lives.

* * *

She can jam one in a suitcase without taking space, or adding much weight to her luggage. These imitation fur toppers can't be sudsed at home, but they do come back from the cleaners looking new. Colors are as bright as Santa Claus red or as neutral as beige.

Yes, these hair hats are practical, but that's not what appeals to fashion-minded teenagers.

The whimsical shapes, the dizzy pompons, and that deep piled woolliness are qualities that do.

The long-haired hats tickle their fancy.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Winner of the Tailor Trix pressing board for best suggestion of the week is Mrs. Dick Weidemeyer, Bayside, Va., who sent this letter.

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"Your columns are just bursting with helpful hints. I am a novice at sewing, but am enjoying the challenge immensely.

"Here is a little helpful hint that a milliner friend told me about on how to curve grosgrain ribbons, even as much as a circle if you want to:

"Using a steam iron, lay the ribbon flat on the pressing board in the shape of a curve or a circle. Press firmly, bearing down and stretching the outer edge of the ribbon with the iron as you go. You may use the steam iron so the ribbon will become slightly damp and will be easier to stretch.

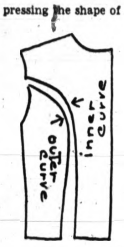

"Grosgrain binding is made by folding the ribbon in the center, pressing the two halves together and then proceeding to curve in a circle as explained above."

BAFFLED BY SEAMS

"Dear Eunice,

"I don't have too much trouble pressing the shape of a garment, but the curved seams from the shoulder or the armhole down to the waist baffle me completely. I simply can't get this kind of a seam pressed smooth.

Mrs. F.J.H.

Dear Mrs. F.J.H.:

You have undoubtedly forgotten that this curved seam consists of an inner and an outer curve.

The inner curve must be clipped, as illustrated, right down to the seam to release the curved edge. The outer curve must be notched out to take out the excess fabric.

This must be done before you begin pressing and you will find the shaped area will be nice and smooth. Remember not to press this entire area flat or you will shrink out the fullness needed for the bustline area.

ANY IDEAS?

"Dear Eunice,

"When I am making a circular skirt, which is naturally very curved at the waistline, I have a great deal of difficulty applying this curved seam to the straight waistband. Have you any good ideas for me?" Mrs. T.N.M.

Dear Mrs. T.N.M.:

This is just another simple little problem that is "Sew Simple" with a little know-how. First, machine stitch the waistline of the skirt, on the exact ⅝" seamline.

Second, clip about every inch, to the stitching line. You will find that the fabric will now be released enough to lay smooth and fit very easily when applying the waistband.

Hook or Crook

NEW YORK (UPI) — Do you ever use the term "by hook or by crook?" If you have, you have been using an old forestry expression.

Forestry experts explain it this way: In feudal times peasants were not permitted to cut trees but had permission to secure for heating and cooking what limbs and twigs they could reach by hook or by crook. The hook was a pruning hook. The crook: a shepherd's crook.

Child's Respect Won by Sticking to Beliefs

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

I am divorced from the father of my two teen-age children and remarried. My son and daughter get along with my new husband, but they don't accept his authority in some things. I am having real trouble in trying to control them.

My daughter has been very rebellious for the past month because I won't let her serve liquor to some of her friends. She is 17, doesn't drink herself but attacks me as "narrow-minded" for taking this position. Am I right?

ANSWER: What does it matter whether you are right? Why isn't it enough for you that you BELIEVE it is wrong to serve liquor to young people in your home?

Why don't you stand up for your right to hold this belief instead of getting involved in arguments over its "rightness" or "wrongness"?

Dear Reader, what a human believes is arrived at through struggle. His beliefs are therefore to be respected. When a child or anyone else attacks our right to hold a belief, regardless of its "rightness" or "wrongness" it is time for a sense of moral outrage.

Were I pushed by a child to betray my belief that it is wrong to do something, I would blow my top. I would fight. I would say to such a bullying child:

HAVE RIGHT

"How dare you imply that I have no right to my own convictions? They are precious to me. I do not try to bully you out of your conviction that your mail is your private business.

I don't try to change your opinions of your friends. I respect what you believe about these matters and expect the same respect for my beliefs."

Do you know what the basic problem of American parents is? It is an anxiety so pressing to make their convictions appear "right" to children that they end by holding no convictions. Because they are not sure some belief isn't perfectly "right," they wobble on it, give way, surrender.

So children conclude that nothing matters much to us, that we hold no opinions we'll fight for right to the end, that as people we do not count.

What matters here is not whether you are "right" not to want liquor served young people in your home. What matters is that you believe that it's wrong.

Your daughter needs contact with your wholehearted loyalty to your judgment of right. She will know at once if she gets it and give it respect. She will know at once whether she is involved with a parent who has struggled to come to moral judgment and honors that struggle.

Takes 2 to Make a Happy Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"It is not given to every man to live with the most amiable and unselfish woman," a court told a husband seeking a divorce on the grounds that his wife didn't treat him as well as his friends' wives treated their husbands.

It sure isn't! And the court could have added a few more comments—such as:

How can a man KNOW that his friends' wives treat their husbands better than his wife treats him? All he sees is how their wives behave in public. A wife who sweet-talks her husband when she has an audience may or may not be so amiable when there is no one else listening in.

Also, maybe other wives are more amiable than his own because their husbands are easier to get along with. It does take TWO to make a happy marriage.

Furthermore, isn't a man largely responsible for the way his wife treats him? You can't have a henpecked husband without first having a man who isn't man enough to demand being treated with respect.

And last—but not least—if a husband thinks all his friends have nicer wives than he does it could be that he is the kind of man who sees the grass as always greener on the other side of the fence—and he wouldn't be content with any woman for any length of time.

So there are all kinds of reasons the court MIGHT have given for denying a man a divorce on the grounds that his friends' wives treated their husbands better than his wife treated him.

But the court said what it had to say in no uncertain terms and very well indeed. "It is not given to every man to live with the most amiable and unselfish woman."

★ ★ ★

If taken to heart, that realistic bit of philosophy could help a lot of men to settle down and get along with the wives they have. And vice versa, of course. For neither is it given to every woman to live with the most amiable and unselfish man.

Amiable husbands still could profit by reading "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Teen-agers 'Embracing' Soft Toys

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

Stuffed animal toys have never been so popular — and if the crib clique doesn't watch out teen-agers will take over the consumers' market.

★ ★ ★

Rag animals sold well in the 19th century. But it was Theodore Roosevelt and a bear cub he didn't shoot in Mississippi or did shoot in the Rocky Mountains, depending upon which story you hold with, that started the fad for Teddy Bears and subsequently all stuffed animals from aardvark to zebra.

Tots love to hug and squeeze the soft, cuddly toys. Unlike baby dolls, which are dependent on young play-mothers, or adult dolls that are often frighteningly superior, a stuffed animal is a companion, as bewildered in a grown-up world as the child himself.

'TEDDY' UNDERSTANDS

A youngster can pour his troubles into the ever-attentive ears of a stuffed animal, take it along on an imaginary trip to the moon, snuggle down with it in bed at night. He feels secure with Teddy or Bozo or Coco because it's always present, and not even mother is around all the time.

But what's the appeal for teen-agers?

It wasn't until the last few years that the high school and undergraduate college crowd adopted the stuffed animal fad.

'BEATS CANDY'

"Better ice breaker then to take a girl candy or flowers," one non-shaving gallant proffers.

Psychologists, however, have had a field day with explanations that bandy phrases like substitute mother love, maternal yearnings, father images, totems.

The real reason could be very simple. Maybe the kids just like animals, and think the toys are cute.

Many New Developments

Shower Caps Protect Hair

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Two major ground rules for beauty are showering and shampooing. Frequent shampooing is essential for a lovely coiffure. Today's lofty hairdos become flattened by oil and dirt and layer after layer of hair spray.

★ ★ ★

Busy women are likely to find it rather complicated to save the hairdo while showering or bathing. However, today stores carry a large selection of fascinating caps for shower and pin-up time.

One of the most interesting developments in the shower cap is one which has adjustable flexible ribs. These make the cap puffy enough to fit over the most bouffant hair style or the fattest rollers.

Another shower-time treat is a hood which fits over your head like a knight's helmet. It is loose fitting but protective, since it extends beneath the chin. It has a clear window so that you can see while you take a refreshing soapy shower. This is wonderful because it protects your make-up as well as your hair when you are taking a quick, last-minute shower before dressing for a special occasion.

★ ★ ★

There are many other caps which are lovely. These are literally covered with flowers.

In order to look their best, many women give their hair a pickup at home in between professional shampoos and sets. There is a wonderful array of caps for drying after shampooing. You will look like a pinup girl in one of the pouffy pastel caps gathered down the center and decorated with an orchid.

There is also the Dutch boy cap which is made of two layers of terry cloth. This absorbs moisture and is much more attractive than a towel around your head. A "fun" cap is a knitted Italian fisherman's cap. This is equipped with flirty curls in front. You can be blonde, redhead or whatever you wish while your hair is drying. The curls are detachable, so the cap can be laundered easily.

One reason the hair of movie stars is so pretty is because they shampoo it frequently, sometimes once a day when before the cameras.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Framing Your Face Attractively," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 51. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

This helmet worn in the shower will protect your make-up and hair when you want a last-minute shower before dressing.

Mobility Is Important

Try Taking Baby Along

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Our national enthusiasm for "going places" extends to the very youngest member of the family. Mobility becomes as important for baby as it does for the parents. The alternative to taking him with us is to leave him behind with a reliable baby sitter.

I don't know how your sitter list looks but my list is getting shorter and the availables are charging more for doing less (I've been charged 75 cents an hour with no dishwashing or cooking). The luxury of a baby sitter is reserved for gala adult occasions.

★ ★ ★

In the spirit of "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em," many a mother has put aside her dreams of unencumbered shopping trips or afternoon excursions and concentrated on finding the best and easiest way to transport her little dumpling.

SURE MISTAKE

At least once you'll make the mistake of trying to carry the baby while you shop. This will teach you that after a half hour's pressure on your arm a 13-pound baby hefts like 130 pounds.

A smooth-pushing baby carriage for the tiny baby and a free-wheeling stroller for the older child are an economy at any price. If you live a distance from the shopping center, a folding stroller to tuck in the car is a must.

★ ★ ★

Don't be tempted to buy a cheap stroller. If it's flimsy, the wheels stick, the frame sways and, in my observation, the seat is often binding and uncomfortable for the baby. Need I remind you that an uncomfortable baby is an unhappy one?

A top quality stroller doesn't cost a great deal more but it will give a lot better service. It is far easier to maneuver indoors and out and, eventually, the resale value is higher. New since my stroller-pushing days is the addition of a heavy-gauge steel package basket back of the stroller seat. Padded stroller seats support a baby's back and some of them tilt back to steeper position.

FOLDING CHAIRS HANDY

Also of service to the mobile mother are folding high chairs and folding play pens with soft nylon netting sides. I can hear the groans from dad when he is asked to load this equipment into the car for a day's outing with the kinfolk.

Memories of trying to balance a wiggly baby on my knee while feeding him and then hopefully expecting him to stay on a blanket on the grass are still vivid because both actions were utterly unsuccessful.

This may sound silly but try the baby in the car seat before you buy. Once I bought one which was well-built and fit the front seat perfectly. But it didn't fit the baby — much too snug!

My present day excursions with children don't require the special equipment you need with a baby but do require even greater patience. A shopping trip is absolute anathema to a nine-year-old. His sole conversation is "When are we going home?" His footsteps falter, he lags behind; the whole effort of hoisting himself over to Boys' Wear seems too exhausting for his strength. Of some help I find is to carry along a comic or riddle book for him to read while I finish shopping.

★ ★ ★

My five-year-old, on the other hand, regards the large department store with the spirited enthusiasm of a Hillary in the Himalayas. Off she dashes to scale the escalators, dodge behind counters, peer under the dress racks, whirl through revolving doors. You meet a lot of floor managers this way but it's a nerve-wracking introduction.

Have Yule Guest

Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Todd of Cherokee Road were pleasantly surprised when their son David brought home a house-guest for the holidays, Hanssen Yuan of Rangoon, Burma. Both will return to Alma College Jan. 2.

Teen-Agers' Mothers Extra Busy

By MARY ELLEN MEAD

BIRMINGHAM — Crowded social calendars are universal at this time of year, but parents of vacationing teen-agers count on being drafted for double festivity.

In their roles as chaperones, the party circuit becomes as hectic as an Elsa Maxwell "list."

Biggest dance of the week, Soir Joyeux, will take place New Year's Eve at the Community House.

Still with the teen-agers — in spirit, anyway — is that group of women who elected to ride down via Theater Caravan to the Fisher Theater Wednesday.

"Bye, Bye Birdie" is the rollicking musical which kept them all in holiday mood.

Among the group were Mrs. Stewart Hamilton, Mrs. Carl Marr, Mrs. Harry F. Menard, Mrs. Don M. Graham, Mrs. Forbes Hascall, Mrs. Bates Miller, Mrs. Russell Strickland, Mrs. Laurence B. Avison Jr. and Mrs. C. Henry Purdy and Mrs. Robert Pack of Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffrey of Menlo Park, Calif., have been in Birmingham since before Christmas visiting their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pendrachie of Cheltenham Road.

They also saw another daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. Jeffrey's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Peters Jr. of Oak Street.

They plan to return to the West Coast after the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fauver of Fairfax, with their youngsters John Jr., Joey and Jeff, left Tuesday for Gray Rocks (near Gaylord) where they've taken a cottage for the New Year's holiday.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Fauver's brother and sister-in-law the Bill Millers and the four oldest of their seven children: Jackie, Teddy, Bing and Meg.

Skiing is the incentive.

Mrs. Morris C. Purdy, of Glengary Road, a sister of Mrs. Fauver, will head north for skiing Thursday.

She, along with Lisa, Jerry and Bill, will be joined by Mr. Purdy for New Year's Eve.

Hosts Family Christmas Day

Christmas dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Harry J. Richards on Mohawk Road were Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Richards of Ann Arbor, where Mr. Richards is a senior medical student at the University of Michigan.

Joining the family group were Doris Marie Richards, professor of speech at the State Normal College, Normal, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Richards of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. William Richards and children Nancy and Ronald of Livonia.

JOAN MARIE SHAW

The Franklin A. Shaws of Monticello Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter Joan Marie to Pvt. Jerry L. Stafford, whose parents are the Walter J. Staffords of Putnam Avenue.

To Greet '62 a Day Early

Members of Forest Lake Country Club will usher in the New Year a day early at a gala celebration Saturday evening beginning at 6:30 in the clubhouse.

★ ★ ★

The Donald Hackers of Franklin will be hosts at a cocktail party in their home, going on to the club for dinner and dancing.

★ ★ ★

For the late-comers, there will be a cold buffet table after midnight.

★ ★ ★

The club will be closed for the month of January.

Check Mental Health

Can You Handle Stress?

By DORMAN CORDELL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)— A do-it-yourself test for mental health?

★ ★ ★

There are eight definite attributes of mental health, according to Miss Margaret Marshall, an instructor in psychological nursing.

★ ★ ★

By setting up a scale for each attribute and measuring himself against it, a person can get at least some idea of his own mental health, Miss Marshall told the New Jersey State Nurses Association.

Miss Marshall, who teaches at the Rutgers University College of Nursing, said the eight attributes are:

1. The ability to work productively at a job with a minimum amount of stress.

2. The ability to move about well with the members of one's community.

★ ★ ★

3. The ability to cope with emotions as they arise in daily living.

4. The awareness of the behavioral pattern used to reduce anxiety and the tendency to reinforce or perpetuate the pattern that proves to be most effective in preserving equanimity.

5. The ability to change or modify behavior to make it appropriate to the situation in which one finds himself.

6. The ability to move smoothly among the many roles involved in living.

7. The ability and self-assurance to form heterosexual relations.

8. A comprehensive and realistic knowledge of oneself individually.

Jaycee Anti-Red Resolution Gets Backing Across U.S.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Strong nationwide support was developing today for an anti-Communist resolution the Grand Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce hopes to present to President Kennedy in Washington in mid-January.

Roger Matthews, president of the local Jaycee chapter, said more than 200 endorsements from other Jaycee groups in 28 states have been received to date "and that when this is done it will represent the feeling of approximately 200,000 young men of action, the membership of the Junior Chambers of Commerce."

Matthews said Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., a former Grand Rapids jaycee and named in 1949 as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the United States by the national Jaycees, is attempting to arrange the appointment with the President.

The main clause of the resolution addressed to the President states, "we the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Grand Rapids do strongly urge that you as our commander-in-chief take a firm stand not only on the borders of West Berlin but elsewhere whenever necessary to insure our security."

The resolution pledges the lives and futures of the Jaycee membership to support of American ideals.

The resolution was adopted Nov. 9 and copies were subsequently sent to each of the 3,987 other Jaycee chapters across the nation.

Matthews, a printing salesman, said the resolution was first put forth by the anti-Communist committee of the Grand Rapids Jaycees. The members proposed it as a way of educating the public to the dangers of communism.

3 Men Arrested for Aiding People Escape E. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Communists announced today that three men have been sentenced to prison for trying to help refugees escape to West Berlin.

The official Communist news agency ADN identified one of them as a West Berlin university student, Klaus Dieter Minx, 21, and said an East German court had sentenced him to four years in jail.

ADN said Andreas Stalder, 28, a Swiss bank employe, received a two-year, nine-month sentence, and that Wolfram Wurche, 20, an East Berlin university student, was sent to prison for three and one-half years.

* * *

The news agency said all three were arrested just before Christmas and that they all confessed.

Michigan became the first state to permit women to serve on juries. The legislation was enacted in 1915. Maine and Utah legislatures soon followed with similar bills.

New Courthouse Shrinks as 25 Lawyers Take Oath

The new and larger county courthouse, completed last summer to meet an increasing demand for public service, proved to be too small in one place yesterday.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom was unable to accommodate all the families and friends of 25 new attorneys being admitted to practice law in the county courts.

The overflow spilled into the corridors as spectators craned their necks for a look.

It was a proud moment for the young lawyers, their families and friends.

LARGEST OF ITS KIND

Judge Adams commented that it was the largest group yet to be admitted at one time to practice here.

He referred to the occasion as "the goal of many years of hard work and a great day in the lives of all these young men."

Those who took the oath administered by Oakland County Clerk Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. are:

George A. Googasian, 105 E. Iroquois Road; Thomas E. Hunter, 307 Iroquois Road; Stanley G. Foresman, 347 Greenwood Road, Birmingham; Frederick J. Prost, 462 W. Brockton St., Madison Heights; George A. Alderton III, 1520 E. Bennaville Road, Birmingham.

Also: Melvin Yedlin, 5820 Burnham Road, Bloomfield Hills; William E. Stewart, 27743 Lexington Parkway, Southfield; Joseph D. Nicoletti, 4307 Sheridan Drive, Royal Oak; Richard J. Behm; Joseph M. Guenther, 669 Graefield Court, Birmingham.

Robert E. Greenstein, 15250 Park Ave., Oak Park; Daniel F. Monley, 405 E. Square Lake Road, Troy; Kenneth H. Lang, 9 Oakdale Blvd., Pleasant Ridge; William T. Myers, 24500 Tudor Lane, Birmingham.

Seth H. Barsky, 21874 Ontaga, Farmington Township; Paul Teranes, 4074 Lincoln Drive, Birmingham; Lawrence Sukenic; David E. West of Detroit.

Members of the Oakland County Chapter of Lawyers Wives served refreshments after the ceremony.

Crossing Gate Probe Possible

City May Ask MPSC to Investigate Need at Franklin Road Site

The city may ask the Michigan Public Service Commission to investigate the need for a gate at the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing on Franklin Road where two persons were killed Dec. 19.

* * *

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr., who had previously pressed for repairs and additional safeguards at railroad crossings in the city, renewed his fight at last night's City Commission meeting.

"The Franklin crossing is in need of repair," Taylor said. "As long as I'm on this commission I intend to keep pounding at this.

"We need these crossings straightened out."

* * *

Commissioner Winford E. Bottom sided with Taylor. "This is a dangerous situation. The city should have a law requiring gates at major crossings like this."

"HIGH-SPEED TRAINS"

City Attorney William A. Ewart told commissioners the matter could be taken to the public service commission.

"There's no doubt those are high-speed trains coming through," he asserted.

Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer told the commission he would check into the matter.

* * *

"However," he warned, "it takes time to get something like this done. We took a similar request to them on the Huron Street crossing and it took a year to get the gates there."

A Pontiac Township couple, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lovett, was killed when their car was struck by a commuter train at the crossing the evening of Dec. 19.

There are warning lights at the crossing.

Temperamental Florida Tops 7 Weather Records

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Seven temperature records have been set in Jacksonville this month.

The first six were heat records. The latest one was a 25-degree chiller—the coldest Dec. 26 on record. The previous low of 30 was set in 1906.

Through Sheer Necessity

Untrained Instructors Finding Favor

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Instant coffee! Instant tea! Instant teachers!

The third can't be done, of course, but a short-cut in obtaining teachers is being tried in a number of states. It's called "internship" training.

DR. NASON

In a nutshell, the idea is to recruit persons with subject-matter degrees and train them while they teach.

While these programs are mostly experimental in this country, they have long been standard procedure in Britain. Our experiments with teacher intern programs are too young for full evaluation, but the idea challenges the imagination.

NO SPECIAL TRAINING

Some educators have been saying for years that people who have mastered advanced work in subjects such as mathematics, history, English, chemistry and physics should be prepared to teach more elementary courses in these same subjects in junior or senior high school level with a minimum of special tranng.

Like most "hurry-up" techniques, these programs have both good and bad features.

The best feature is that a great reservoir of potentially fine teachers is tapped speedily. Probably the worst feature is the danger that misfits from other professions may drift into teaching.

At the University of Southern California, candidates for a form of internship program are recruited in cooperation with the Los Angeles City School District and other nearby districts. Both the university and the school district screen them for personal and academic qualifications. The district then agrees to hire them on a provisional certificate.

★ ★ ★

During the summer, the interns get a two-week seminar in education, followed by six weeks of practice teaching and observation. In September they take over a full time teaching job. They receive special assistance from the school staff, and take one or two courses in education at the university. At first, problems of discipline are a real challenge.

Interns, like all teachers, must learn the principles of group control, proper lesson planning and presentation. They must learn not to talk too much, but listen a lot.

They must learn how to cope with individual differences — how to keep the interest of the bright and willing pupils and at the same time "get through" to pupils who are slower.

Even though the interns start out with less teaching background, they catch up to the regularly trained group in about a year. This may be due to better background in subject matter or it may be due to added maturity and experience.

Internship training may become an important source of supply of teachers.

★ ★ ★

You may write Dr. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. He will discuss questions of most general interest in his column.

Staff to Aid Sukarno on New Guinea Issue

JAKARTA (AP)—President Sukarno named a special operations staff Tuesday to advise him on Indonesia's preparations to wrest Dutch control.

★ ★ ★

The president said the staff is designed to strengthen the supreme command in charge of the campaign.

Sukarno last week called on the nation to mobilize for military action but the indications were Indonesia would await Dutch parliamentary discussion of the issue on Jan. 2 before acting.

15 Rattlers Per Gallon Seen as World Record

RESCUE, Calif. (AP) — Halley Wing thinks he set a record of 15 rattlesnakes to a gallon of gasoline.

Wing was chasing a large rattlesnake near this community in the gold mining country of the Sierra Nevada foothills when the snake disappeared into a burrow.

Recalling advice that gasoline fumes would bring snakes out, he poured a gallon into the burrow. Out came the big snake — 3 feet long — and 14 little rattlers. Wing killed them all.

Golf Pro Expecting Prayerful Tournament

KENNESAW, Ga. (AP) — There shouldn't be any swearing over missed putts or sliced drives at a golf tournament announced for this little town.

Competition is limited to preachers. Bill Hardigree, professional at O. B. Keeler golf course, is calling it the North Georgia Ministerial Golf Tournament.

Ranked Teams Await Powerful OSU Five

By The Associated Press

Mighty Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, heads into the Los Angeles Classic tonight—the biggest challenge it's likely to encounter until the post-season tournaments.

Waiting for the Jerry Lucas-led Buckeyes are three of the top 10 teams in the country, plus another that has proven it can be double trouble when the occasion demands.

★ ★ ★

Southern California, Purdue and West Virginia, all among the AP's top 10, and a capable Utah team form the principal opposition for all-winning Ohio State.

It's the last action for the Buckeyes until they start Big Ten competition Jan. 6. They don't play a non-conference team again until the post season tourneys—providing, of course, they make it to the tourneys.

FIRST GAME

They take on Washington in first round play of one of the most important of the holiday tournaments. Also kicking off tonight are the Big Eight affair in Kansas City and the Far West in Portland, Ore. The last two first round games in the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City also are on tap, while the survivors of the first round action in the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York and the Quaker City in Philadelphia take the day off.

Kansas State, fifth-ranked nationally and sporting a 7-1 mark, rules as the team to beat in Big Eight. They're paced by 6-foot-8 Mike Wroblewski and his 20-point-per-game average. The Far West appeared to be up for grabs with any of the eight entrants capable of going the distance.

Here's the lineup for first round games in the tourneys opening today:

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles Classic: fourth-ranked Southern California (7-1) vs. ninth-ranked Purdue (5-1) and UCLA (3-5) vs. Army (2-2) this afternoon and Washington (5-1) vs. Ohio State (7-0) and Utah (8-1) vs. seventh-ranked West Virginia (6-1) tonight.

Big Eight: Nebraska (3-5) vs. fifth-ranked Kansas State (7-1) and Oklahoma State (7-1) vs. Missouri (4-4) tonight and Oklahoma (1-6) vs. Kansas (3-4) and Colorado (4-3) vs. Iowa State (3-4) Thursday night.

Far West: Washington State (3-2) vs. California (4-5) and Oregon State (4-1) vs. Michigan (2-4) tonight and Idaho (4-3) vs. Portland and Oregon (2-3) vs. Michigan State (4-1) Thursday night.

WILD UPSETS

First round play in three major tournaments Tuesday night—the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the All-College in Oklahoma City—produced some mild upsets but generally went according to form.

★ ★ ★

Two previously unbeaten teams, Cornell and New York University, were eliminated from the exclusive list. NYU (now 6-1) fell before unbeaten Dayton (7-0) in a Holiday Festival first round match while Bradley (6-2) stopped touring Cornell's winning streak at six with a 85-59 trouncing of the Big Red in a nontourney game.

★ ★ ★

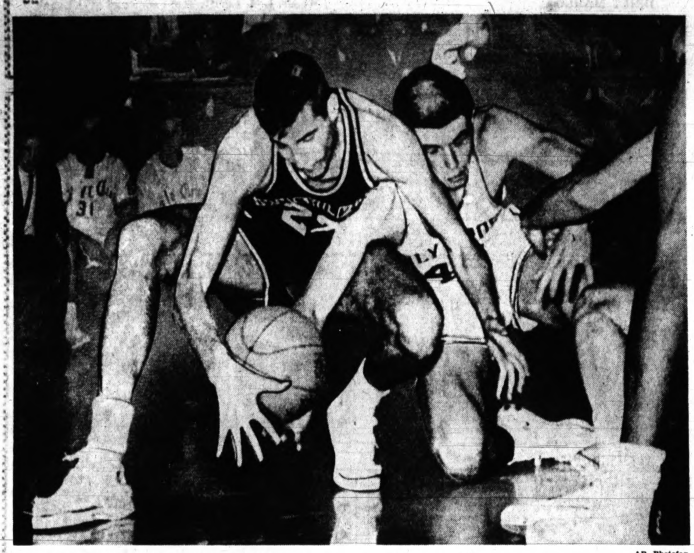

In addition to the Dayton decision, second-ranked Cincinnati had no trouble eliminating St. John's (N.Y.) 97-68, Wisconsin handed slumping Providence its third straight loss, 95-84, and La-Salle toyed with Dartmouth 87-66 in other Holiday Festival games.

The semifinal pairings Thursday have LaSalle (5-1) vs. defending NCAA champion Cincinnati (7-1) and unbeaten Dayton (7-0) vs. Wisconsin (5-2).

★ ★ ★

In Philadelphia, Villanova and Duquesne retained unbeaten records with easy first round victories and will meet in a semifinal match Thursday. Villanova crushed Niagara 72-45 while third-ranked Duquesne bombed Wyoming 64-47.

The other Quaker City first round matches saw Penn tumble Holy Cross 73-64 and Iowa stop Penn State 67-48.

DOWN TO BUSINESS—J. D. Graham (22) of Penn and Bob Foley (42) of Holy Cross get right down to the deck in a tussle for control of the ball Tuesday night in a first round game of the Quaker City basketball tournament. Penn won, 73-64.

Ringo Strong Anchor in Packers' Offense

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—What makes the Green Bay Packers run?

It's the right men in the right place in the offensive line, especially at center and the guards, said Packer line coach Bill Austin.

Manning the three prime posts for the Packers are perennial all-pro choice Jim Ringo at center and Fred Thurston and Forrest Gregg at guards.

They anchored the line that helped the Packers to their second straight Western Division crown and to Sunday's National Football League clash here with the New York Giants.

SHOW HOW

A sample of how well the Packer ground game worked is found in the statistics of the Green Bay-New York meeting in Milwaukee on Dec. 3. The Packers took a 29-17 victory, and in winning clinched their division title. The score was the same by which the Packers defeated the Giants in a pre-season exhibition meeting.

On the way to the league triumph, the Packers rolled up 16 first downs on the ground to four for New York. Green Bay gained 270 yards rushing to 69 for the Giants. The Packers added 145 yards passing for a total gain of 415 yards. New York passed for 210 yards and a total of 279.

★ ★ ★

Ringo is the best center in the league, Austin said, because "he's quick and smart."

"He runs our offensive line," Austin said. "He makes the calls on blocks, sometimes changing assignments to get better results. He knows what every lineman does on every play.

GOOD BLOCKER

"On pass protection, he is very good at moving back and picking up the opposition's rushing linemen. He is exceptional at getting the first man on the side of the run."

★ ★ ★

Thurston, at 250 pounds, has amazing speed for a big man. Gregg, a 240-pounder, is an all-pro tackle, but shifted to the guard spot when Jerry Kramer was lost for the season with an ankle injury.

Playing the tackles for the Packers are Norm Masters and Bob Skoronski, a pair of 250-pounders. They have the drive to open holes in the line and the strength to protect the passer.

Against the Giants, the Packer line time and time again cleared wide routes for fullback Jim Taylor. He responded with his greatest game, running for 186 yards in 28 carries.

"This was the best blocking we had all year," Taylor said. "Thurston and Skoronski were clearing out the right side of the Giant line. I was popping into the secondary with no tacklers to bother me at the line of scrimmage."

★ ★ ★

Taylor also said that the blocking of halfback Paul Hornung was a factor in the victory. "He never missed one of the corner linebackers the charging fullback said.

Sweep Italians in Doubles for 3-0 Lead

Aussies Easily Retain Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—An Australian team as hot as the sun that blistered the Kooyong Stadium courts for two days clinched its 10th Davis Cup tennis championship in 12 years today, sweeping the doubles for a 3-0 lead over challenger Italy without loss of a set.

★ ★ ★

The Australian pair of Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson routed Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 for the clincher before a crowd of about 9,000, who chanced the near 100 degree temperatures to be in on the kill of the Italians for the second straight year.

★ ★ ★

There was about as much tension to the doubles match as Tuesday's singles—also straight set romps in which Emerson turned back Pietrangeli 8-6, 6-4, 6-0 and Australian ace Rod Laver disposed of Sirola 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

The sweep reduced Thursday's closing singles matches to formalities and proved again that the Italians are far from Australia's class when it comes to playing on grass courts. On clay, the Italians are at home. On grass, it's another matter.

TOO MUCH

Coupled with a mid-summer heat wave that today shot the mercury to 96 in the shade and an estimated 110 at courtside, the surface handicap and the exceptionally steady play of the Australian team was too much to overcome.

★ ★ ★

The Italians, who eliminated the United States the last two years to reach the challenge round, scored only one service break against Emerson and the veteran Fraser. It came in the seventh game of the third set against Emerson and, after Pietrangeli held his service, the challengers evened the set at 4-4. Then the steady Fraser, playing well although he's been hampered by physical ailments all year, held for a 5-4 advantage and he and Emerson came from 0-40 to break Sirola in the 10th game for the victory.

★ ★ ★

Sirola was the culprit, netting three volleys, then hitting out on another return. After a short rally, the 6-7 Italian flubbed a simple forehand volley and the match was over.

The end came so suddenly that it was 15 seconds or better before Emerson and Fraser realized it. Then they walked to the net, shook hands with each other, and then shook hands with the Italians.

★ ★ ★

Since 1950, the Australians have lost the Davis Cup but twice — in 1954 and 1958, both times to the United States. They regained it from the U.S. in 1959 and held it against the Italians the last two years, last year by a 4-1 margin.

'Battle of Boards' Looms in Motor City Cage Meet

The 10th annual Motor City Basketball tournament should be a big battle of the boards.

DePaul, unbeaten in six games, leads the country in percentage of rebounds taken with 323 as compared to only 147 for the opponents.

★ ★ ★

The Blue Demons have 6-5 M. C. Thompson, 6-9 Bill Debes and 6-6 Dick Cook as the front line of rebounders. Thompson in his last two games took 26 and 28 rebounds respectively.

St. Bonaventure, loser of only one game, has played one more game than DePaul and the Bonnies have a total of 326 rebounds.

Sophomore Miles Aiken at 6-6 and senior center Bob McCully at 6-9, along with Harry Herbert at 6-6 are the big board men. Aiken has 86 in this season, while DePaul's Thompson has 96. Aiken is the seventh best scorer in the country with a 27.1 average according to the latest NCAA statistics.

DePaul and St. Bonaventure are among the top rated teams in the country this year. They will meet in the second game of the twin bill in Friday's opening round.

★ ★ ★

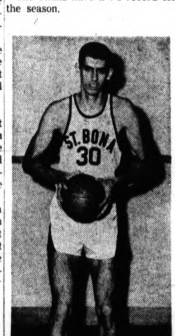

In the opener at 7:30 p.m., host U. of D. faces Syracuse, a team which had high hopes prior to the season but which suffered several serious losses of key players including All-America gridder Ernie Davis.

The Big Orange look ahead to a big year for 1961-62 with the return of three sophomore stars of last season, however, the trio took part in a YMCA tournament during the summer and were declared ineligible prior to the season. Davis, who averaged 10.2 points per game last year, signed a pro contract to forfeit his eligibility.

The Titans are favored over Syracuse and predictions have U. of D. meeting St. Bonaventure in the finals. U. of D. has the best balanced scoring of any of the teams entered. The starting first five players are averaging in double figures and the sixth man is close to the mark.

Dave DeBusschere leads the team with 23.2 points per game average. He is followed by senior guard Frank Chickowski with 14.3; sophomore guard Al Cech with 13.1; junior forward from Pontiac Harrison Munson with 11.9, and sophomore forward Ed Ferguson with 11.0. Dick Dzik, who moved up to a starting role in place of Ferguson, has a 9.5 average.

The Titans have a 7-2 record for the season.

BIG BONNIE—St. Bonaventure, favorite in the 10th annual Motor City Classic, which starts Friday night at the U. of D. Memorial fieldhouse has 6-9 center Bob McCully to match DePaul's 6-9 pivot man Bill Debes.

Chiefs Favored in First Clash of City Rivals

Farmington Posts Win in Holiday Tournament Over Walled Lake

Pontiac Central will be heavily favored to win the first leg of the city basketball championship Friday when the Chiefs host Pontiac Northern.

★ ★ ★

Coach Art Van Ryzin's team has swept past four straight opponents, the last three in Saginaw Valley action. Northern hasn't been as fortunate.

The Huskies own a 2-2 overall mark against competition not as strong as that faced by the Chiefs.

Central will have the advantage in experience, height and depth.

Otto Kennedy, 6-6, has dominated the backboard action for PCH. If he continues at his present rate he could better the school's rebound record.

TOP SCORER

Rudy Ransom has been the high scorer. Clarence Douglas, normally the big point maker, is getting close attention from opposition defenses and this has allowed Ransom and other PCH players to get loose for baskets.

Northern had the experience last season, but found itself in the same underdog role each time the Huskies met Central. Two of the three encounters left Chief followers shaking, and the third was close, too.

Northern has never defeated the Chiefs in basketball.

★ ★ ★

In the North Suburban Invitational basketball tournament which started at Farmington and Southfield yesterday, Highland Park, the tourney favorite rolled over Livonia Bentley 68-35.

★ ★ ★

Farmington defeated Walled Lake 76-70, Southfield edged Allen Park, 62-58 and Royal Oak Kimball downed Redford Union 46-37.

Southfield moved to 17-2 first period lead and never was in trouble.

Farmington got 18 point efforts from Dick Fusco and Walt Grimala while Gary Alderson and Jim Webb each collected 16 for Walled Lake.

★ ★ ★

Redford Union led Kimball 22-20 at halftime, but the Knights pulled away early in the third quarter and were never headed. Jerry Barich with 11 and Bill Chilton with 10 led Kimball while DeWitt had 11 for Redford.

The powerful Parkers led 32-15 at halftime and 12 players got into the scoring column led by Don Windwon and Henry Harden with 12 and 14 respectively.

Today, Walled Lake meets Allen Park at 2:00 p.m. and Bentley meets Redford Union at 3:30 p.m. at Farmington. In the night contests, Southfield faces Farmington at 7:00 p.m. and Kimball meets Highland Park at 8:30 p.m.

Waterford Twp. Rec Classes to Begin Jan. 4

New classes in recreation will begin Jan. 4 in Waterford Township with archery league play from 7 to 10 p.m., according to Director Robert Lawyer.

★ ★ ★

The Fashion Your Figure Club will begin the new year's classes from 7 to 10 p.m. Jan. 10, and continue every week.

On Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. there will be intermediate bridge instructions.

Beginners and advanced cake decorating enthusiasts will have Monday afternoon and evening classes beginning Jan. 15.

Owners of dogs in the dog obedience course have been asked not to bring their dogs the opening night from 7:30 to 9:30 Jan. 17, because this is only an orientation session. Trained dogs will present a demonstration.

★ ★ ★

All the classes will be at the Community Activities Building, 5640 Williams Lake Road.

Forest fires left their black mark on nearly 8,000 acres in Michigan this year, an increase of about 5,000 acres over the 1960 record low total.

★ ★ ★

Hardest hit were lands in the northern Lower Peninsula where 556 fires burned 4,881 acres, more than three times the region's acreage figure in 1960.

★ ★ ★

In the Upper Peninsula, 433 fires damaged 1,748 acres as compared with 381 acres the year before. Another 1,350 acres fell victim to 142 fires in the southern Lower Peninsula; some 1,050 acres burned in this part of the state last year.

Bucks Unanimous No. 1; Lower Teams Shuffled

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Ohio State was a unanimous choice today for the No. 1 position in the Associated Press major college basketball poll.

★ ★ ★

Winner of their first seven games by margins of from 13 to 43 points, the Buckeyes continued to dominate the voting among a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters. They received all of the 42 ballots cast for the first place.

Cincinnati, the National Collegiate champion, held on to second despite a 52-51 loss to Wichita, but the rest of the standings underwent considerable change.

NEW TEAMS

Newcomers to the standings were Wichita, which followed up its victory over Cincinnati with a 69-48 rout of Santa Clara; Kentucky, 80-67 winner over Kansas State, and Duke, winner over west Virginia 69-65.

Ousted were Providence, which fell all the way from third place to the also-ran category after dropping decisions at DePaul and Xavier of Ohio; ninth-place St. Bonaventure, beaten 74-57 by Duquesne, and Seattle and Arizona State, who had been tied for 10th. Seattle didn't play last week but Arizona State lost three straight games to Indiana, Minnesota and Utah.

★ ★ ★

Duquwanw made one of the largest strides of the week, advancing to third from seventh on its St. Bonnie triumph. Southern Cal climbed from sixth to fourth. Kansas State dropped one rung, from fourth, and West Virginia fell two, from fifth. Purdue also lost a notch, although it beat Nevada 91-57 and Evansville 83-77.

Ohio State crushed St. Louis 61-48 and Penn State 92-49 in last week's games. Cincinnati, after losing to Wichita, bounded back with an 84-67 triumph over Colorado.

★ ★ ★

The poll included games through Monday but none of the post-Christmas tournament action.

The top 10, based on 10 for first place vote, 9 for second, etc., with first place votes and season records in parentheses.

1.	Ohio State (42) (7-0)	420
2.	Cincinnati (7/1)	317
3.	Duquesne (7/0)	257
4.	Southern Calif. (7-1)	235

Hospitality Helps North in Setback

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Southern hospitality helped make the final score of the North-South all-star football game here Christmas night read 35-16 in the wildest finish of the game's 16-year history.

★ ★ ★

Fans left the field believing the South had won, 35-10, on the basis of a last-play tackle of Baylor's Bobby Ply behind the goal line for a North safety and two points.

★ ★ ★

But Referee Pete Williams said the final score was 35-16 and this is what happened:

Ply fumbled and an unidentified North player recovered for a touchdown. But the time officials decided the North had recovered a fumble, the field was swarming with fans.

"I told Duffy Daugherty, the North coach, he had a touchdown and asked him if he wanted to try for the extra points," Williams said. "He said he did.

★ ★ ★

"I then told Frank Howard, the South coach, there would have to be an extra play. But seeing the mass of people that had already swarmed onto the field, Howard said he would concede the extra points as a gesture of southern hospitality. Therefore, the North got eight points to make the final score 35-16."

LONG REACH—Unbeaten DePaul is the nation's top rebounding team and one reason is 6-9 center Bill Debes. DePaul and St. Bonaventure meet in the second game of the Motor City basketball tournament Friday night at the U. of D. fieldhouse after the Titans play Syracuse in the first game starting at 7:30 p.m. St. Bonaventure, loser of only one game, is the tournament favorite.

11th Frame

By CHUCK ABAIR

Isaac Crary Junior High in Waterford has a bowling program going which may set a precedent for school groups in the future here.

It consists of a season divided into three 10-week sessions rather than the usual 30-week contract.

This permits the youngsters to give the game a try. They can continue on after 10 weeks or drop out. Others can join for the 2nd or 3rd group.

Principal Bernie Heaney came up with the idea last year but had no success getting his plan into operation. Determined, he started talking to proprietors again this fall. The Kuklinskis at Lakewood Lanes agreed to give it a try.

They and everyone connected with the league are happy they did. Everything has worked out well. The 1st group of 45 just recently completed competition. Action will resume soon with 70 signed up this time.

Heaney told The Press that the fact the children of today have such a variety of likes and dislikes prompted his adoption of the setup.

The Kuklinskis were taking a gamble without that long pact to count on plus the fact they provide the trophies and will present them to the top performers of each unit as well as the over-all standouts—several more than normally given.

Both the school officials and the co-proprietors, Bill and Bob, should be commended. It is another step to help youngsters get started.

Well, the usual holiday party season is on in full swing. Enjoyed an excellent 1st annual Christmas affair Joe Puertas held for all his league officers at 300 Bowl. The Pontiac 700 Bowling Chapter, Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, Pontiac Women's Bowling Association and Detroit Bowling Association were also represented in a group of about 180. Dinner and refreshments were followed by entertainment featuring the Ink Spots, who are appearing there nightly in the 300 Lounge.

The wrapup of the program was the viewing of the television show "Make That Spare" where Monroe Moore of 300 whipped top star Andy Rogoznica, conqueror of Tom Hennessey, 75-50.

"Mo" toppled the 1-2-4-7 for 25 points and added a clinching 50 on the 4-5. Wasn't off by much on the others including the $9,000 jackpot one.

His next opponent will be old veteran Allie Brandt Saturday night at New York. Brandt holds the highest sanctioned series ever rolled, 886.

Moore, who says the pressure on the show is "terrific" with the combination of the bowling and following instructions of the TV people, is back practicing again at 300. He does not plan to try anything different this time despite being unhappy with his 1st showing.

The new national spare-master hopes to win at least two more $1,000 title checks to use towards expense money on the next Professional Bowler's Association tour. Then there is also that jackpot shot to think of. It will be worth $10.00 this time. "I made it twice in practice there," Monroe stated.

HITS 'N' BITS—Ralph Fleming missed a 300 at Lapeer because he left a 9 pin in the 2nd frame. Had 280 and 636 series. Phil Capella rolled 616 there . . . Dick Bentley fired 661 at Hilltop . . . M. Carrothers' 220 led Royalettes . . . Oak Park leads southern county high schol league.

John Milliken reports some interesting doings in the 22-team Pontiac Motor Morning loop at Huron Bowl. "Doc" O'Neal of 1st place Gee Oil, a 185 man, averaged 205 for a month. Orval Warren had a 180 tripleate. Airway Lanes has top team scores of 2985-1072 yet ranks 18th. A 675 by J. Whiteside and J. Keller's 281 best individual scores. Milliken, who averages 150 with a bad back, enjoys cheering the boys on.

Three Lakewood Industrial keglers earned a Christmas present the day after Santa's visit yesterday morning. Frank Tinka hit 278 to win a watch, Len Goodwin got a transistor radio for his 257 and Don Donner a pen and pencil set for 244 . . . Virginia Rathka had 223 at Rochester . . . V. Greenwood hit 205-521 at Elks.

An 8-10 split in last frame spoiled 700 hopes for Ed Gibbs of Midtown Lettering at Montcalm. Totaled 695 with 244 high, 221 low. Senior House secretary Tony Eisele toppled 6-7-8-10 split . . . Sad Sacks pace WOCE 14-team field. Mary Sekulich's 178, 484 for Phyllis Wright latest highs.

Iron Man Skein Ends for Dolph

Face Injury Sends NBA Star to Hospital After 764 Straight Games

BOSTON (AP)—Veteran Dolph Schayes' great iron man performance will come to an end tonight when his Syracuse Nats meet the Los Angeles Lakers in first game of a National Basketball Association twin-bill at Philadelphia.

For Schayes will be in a hospital bed here—his right cheek bone shattered.

The 33-year-old Schayes, highest scorer in NBA history, was injured Tuesday night in a collision with Al Attles of the Warriors in the first game of a twinbill won by Philadelphia 118-111. The two went up for a rebound. Dolph came down in agony and was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital for emergency surgery.

LONG LAYOFF

A hospital spokesman said Schayes probably would be held for another day or so. He said he doubted that Schayes could play again for several weeks.

The injury stops Schayes' consecutive game streak at 705—at 764 including playoff action. Dolph had been in every game the Nats had played since Feb. 17, 1952.

The Boston Celtics overcame the Lakers in the nightcap of the doubleheader 127-112, as Bob Cousy stole a good bit of Arnyboand Elgin Baylor's thunder.

Baylor outscored Coys 30 points to 26. But Cousy was at his best in playmaking and court generalship.

In the opener, Wilt Chamberlain sparked Philadelphia with 51 points.

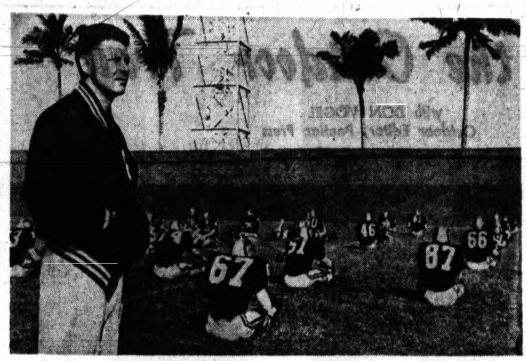

In other games, Chicago turned back Detroit 108-101 and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 129-118.

Three Games Scheduled for Waterford Thursday

A battle to break an early season first-place deadlock in Class B highlights a three-game card Thursday in the only night action this week in the Waterford Township Recreation Department men's basketball leagues.

The games, all "B" contests at Crary Junior High School, match Hoyt Realty and Nesbitt's at 6:45 p.m.; Johnson & Anderson and Tripp Contractors in the first-place tussle at 8; and O'Neil Realty and Don Nicholie Insurance at 9:15.

Tonight's scheduled games have been postponed until later in the season.

Colorado Uses '40-0 Halftime' Story as Fuel

LSU Mentor Fretting Over News Reports on Bowl Contest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A "forty-to-nothing by halftime" prediction has given the underdog Colorado football team unexpected ammunition to use against Louisiana State.

Coach Paul Dietzel who brought his fourth-ranked LSU Tigers to town Tuesday, winced at the psychological warfare weapon Colorado has found in preparations for Monday's Orange Bowl game.

A New Orleans newspaper was quoted here as saying "Louisiana State will not embarrass the Orange Bowl committee by winning by more than 40 points." It continued by saying the early (1 p.m., EST) kickoff would permit television viewers (ABC-TV) to see LSU run up a 40-0 halftime count before they switched to other games.

WELL - READ

The article is plastered prominently at the Miami Stadium dressing quarters where Colorado is training. Copies have been issued to evey Colorado player and coach.

Sonny Grandelius, chief mentor of the seventh-ranked Buffaloes, also says that a fan from the heart of the Tiger country has been sending clippings from Baton Rouge papers which are proving helpful, too.

Dietzel battled to maintain his pose and choke back the words on the "40-0 story."

"I don't think we have any advantages in the build-up to this game," he said later. Dietzel referred unhappily to the fact LSU was favored. "Colorado has all the advantages going for it," he added.

Colorado already drained fuel from these facts:

A segment of the local populace was not impressed when the Buffs edged Miami 9-7 here during the regular season.

★ ★ ★

Buff followers were incensed when the Orange Bowl delayed its invitation long after Colorado wrapped up the Big Eight Conference crown. The Big Eight tie-in does not specify the champion must represent that league.

LSU is favored by a touchdown or more on the betting line.

Packers Keep Pistons Down

Seek to Sweep Series Tonight After Gaining Victory by 108-101

DETROIT (AP)—With two down and one to go, the Chicago Packers will try to strike out the Detroit Pistons when the two clubs meet again in a National Basketball Association game tonight.

★ ★ ★

The Packers whipped the Pistons 118-97 Monday. They did it again last night, 108-101, in a game at Fort Wayne, Ind., that saw sensational Chicago rookie Walt Bellamy collect 30 points, 1.2 over his average.

Bellamy got his 30 points by hitting 12 fielders in 22 shots and adding six free throws. He slipped behind the Detroit defense time after time for close-up tallies but also hit well from the foul circle. He fouled out with 8:22 to play.

Chicago held a 59-55 lead at the half and had a small working margin most of the distance.

In addition to Bellamy, the Packers had five other players who scored in double figures.

★ ★ ★

Gene Shue led the Pistons with 26 points on eight fielders and 10 free throws. Four other players scored in double figures.

'Stone Age Football' Predicted for Bowl

PASADENA, Calif (AP) — The Rose Bowl game, oldest of all post-season bowl games, promises to be a display of "Stone Age football," in its 48th renewal on New Year's Day.

★ ★ ★

This was, more or less, the admission Tuesday of the two coaches embroiled in the Pasadena classic, Murray Warmath of favored Minnesota and Bill Barnes of UCLA.

Appearing at the dedication of the new $356,000 Rose Bowl press box, these two proteges of the University of Tennessee's famed football purist, Gen. Bob Neyland, predicted a slam-bang game free of gridiron chicanery.

NO SECRETS

There may have been more truth than tongue-in-cheek when Barnes told more than 100 football experts:

"We don't have any secrets but I know that this will be a tremendous football game. We hope our Stone Age football pays off.

★ ★ ★

"We run and pass from the single wing and we give the paying customer a chance to always see just where the ball is."

Warmath, who once—as Neyland's assistant—was a Tennessee superior of Barnes, spoke along the same line.

HEAVY CONTACT

"If you like to see manly, bodily contact," said Warmath, on the warpath to avenge a 17-7 bowl trimming by Washington last Jan. 2, "you'll see a lot of it New Year's Day."

Warmath said his Gophers have tried a few new "little knicknacks," but added: "What we have been doing all season get us here and that's what we hope will sustain us next Monday."

★ ★ ★

Of course, what really got the Gophers here was Big Ten champion Ohio State's decline of a Rose Bowl bid.

A poll of the guests in the new press box brought almost a 2-to-1 favoring vote for Minnesota. The exact ballot was 69 for Minnesota and 36 for UCLA.

★ ★ ★

Those picking Minnesota gave the Gophers an average edge of 10.8 points, compared with the prevailing odds of 7½ points.

Bathgate Leader of NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (AP)—New York's Andy Bathgate, picking up assists at a record rate, has built his lead to 10 points over Montreal's Claude Provost in their race for the National Hockey League scoring title.

★ ★ ★

Bathgate, shifted to center in a reshuffling of Ranger lines last week, collected seven assists and a goal in three games and pushed his season total to 13 goals and 33 assists for 46 points, according to official statistics released today.

★ ★ ★

Jacques Plante of Montreal allowed only six goals in three games and pulled into a tie with Toronto's Johnny Bower for the goal-tending lead. Plante has a 2.45 average on 81 goals in 33 starts while Bower and his occasional subs in the Toonto goal have allowed 76 goals in 31 games, also a 2.45 per-game pace.

The scoring leaders:

Michigan Girls Keep Winning in Net Meet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Michigan's teen-age girl tennis troune starred in the Orange Bowl tournament yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck won both her second round and semi-final matches in girls 15 and under. Peaches won first from Susana Sellinger of Mexico City, 6-2, 6-3, and then defeated Nancy Fairs of London, Ont., 6-0, 6-0.

★ ★ ★

Sheron Pritula of Detroit won in second round singles and second round doubles in girls 15 and under. She defeated Guadalune Suarez of Mexico City, 6-4, 6-0, and teamed with Roberta Zimman of Marblehead, Mass., in a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Fran Goodman of Coral Gables and Judy Brister of Guatemala.

★ ★ ★

Melody Kiertanis of Hamtramck won her first round match in girls 13 and under from Ann Sneicher of Delray Beach, 6-2, 6-3, but lost in the semi-final to Paulette Verzin of Lamesa, Calif., 6-1, 7-5.

Mulcaster Holds First Place

Little Change in Scoring

BY CHUCK ABAIR

There is only one change among the top five Oakland County prep scorers on this week's list with the schedule cutdown due to the holiday season.

★ ★ ★

Big Mike Fournier of Southfield moved up from 11th to No. 5 matching Lamphere's Phil Freer with a 19 average.

Second placer Tom Redinger of Madison cut into the lead being held by idle Tim Mulcaster of St. James. Redinger had a 30-point game to up his mark to 23. Mulcaster is 25.2.

Lowell Burgess of South Lyon improved his standing in 3rd by increasing his average to 20.4 heading three Lions in the top 20. Idle Jerry Olsen of Rochester is next at 19.4.

★ ★ ★

Freer, who was not eligible earlier due to having played only two games, and Jim MacArthur of Clawson are newcomers to the group this time. They replaced Clarence Douglas of Pontiac Central and Northville center Dan Brown.

Area cagers are waging a big battle with five boys ranging in averages from front-runner John Scheuer's 19.8 to 19 for Lynn DeGrow of North Branch. Scheuer plays for Capac.

Ray Stuewer, North Branch, is 19.7, Tom Connor of Lapeer and Doug Perkins of Imlay City 19.3.

Connor and Scheuer had shared the lead opening week.

Pollution Control Measures Studied

LANSING (AP) — The power of the federal government is coming into play in the never-ending battle to control pollution of rivers and streams.

★ ★ ★

When Gov. Swainson called on the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare this month to assist in efforts to wipe out pollution in the Detroit River, he set into motion a chain of events.

The state Water Resources Commission will take the first important step next month when it starts an extensive survey to identify the sources of pollution and assess their effect. Using $35,000 of its federal allotment, the commission has added 15 engineers, bacteriologists, laboratory technicians and others to its staff to make the survey.

Before long, Abraham Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is expected to call a conference of state and federal pollution experts and representatives of municipalities and industries that contribute to the pollution problem.

After lengthy study, he is expected to make recommendations for abatement to the state water resources commission, allowing at least six months for action to be started. Then, if significant progress isn't made, he will call a public hearing, after which he will send his findings to those causing the polution, telling them what they should do to control it.

TAKE ACTION

Finally, if remedial action still isn't taken, and if Gov. Swainson approves, he may ask the U.S. Attorney General to bring suit on behalf of the federal government to force laggards to carry out his recommendations.

"All of this would take at least a year, if everything clicks perfectly," said Loren Oeming, chief engineer for the Water Resources Commission.

Swainson is one of the first to take advantage of a new federal law which allows the U.S. Public Health Service to take a hand in controlling intra-state pollution — that which originates in Michigan and causes damage only in Michigan.

The need is plainly evident in the Detroit River. Pollution has made water unusable for swimming, fouled up beaches, killed thousands of waterfowl and done other damage.

Raw sewage from municipal disposal systems is the principal offender authorities say that storms in the metropolitan Detroit area overtax the disposal system about 80 times a year, allowing untreated sewage to go into the river.

Murray Stein, federal pollution control expert, made it clear that the HEW department plans to exert all its authority to clean up the river.

GAVE VIEWS

Addressing a recent meeting of directors of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, he declared:

"I want to make this clear. We're not coming in for the purpose of a study, or a study alone, or a report to be put on the shelf. We're coming in for one purpose alone, and that's to clean up pollution and make those waters available for the maximum number of users."

He added, however:

"In the last analysis, it must be the people who vote the bond issue, to finance treatment and disposal facilities and who must support public officials trying to achieve this. All this may take six years or so once the program is started.

★ ★ ★

"But if we put our ingenuity to work, face the facts and come up with a good workable program, we can have people living on the river, we can have industry, we can have fishing and bathing, we can have boating, and we can have reasonably decent drinking water as well."

Lake Erie Fish Decline Is Blamed on Chemicals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries said today its studies indicated that Lake Erie's changing environment continued to take a deadly toll among the more valuable fish species during 1961.

Its projections for U.S. port landings of blue pike, lake herring and whitefish were startlingly low compared to the lush crop of 30 years ago.

Sources at the bureau said pollution spilling into the lake caused the chemical reaction that was responsible for the changes in the lake floor vegetation on which some of the fish feed.

A bureau spokesman said the blue pike appeared to bear the brunt of the pollution which affects the physical, chemical and biological makeup of the lake.

The agency predicted that about 2,000 pounds of blue pike would be taken during 1961 compared to 11.8 million pounds landed in 1930.

FOOD FISH

The blue pike, one of the lake's most valuable species, is used mostly for human food.

Bureau sources said the blue pike spawns in the lake's central basin where chemical nutrients from industrial plants and other shore facilities has used up the oxygen.

This in turn reduced the crop of bottom food that the blue pike uses for food.

The bureau forecast a herring take in the lake less than 1,000 pounds in 1961, which compared to 346,000 pounds landed 30 years ago.

It said weather changes or some other environmental factor rather than pollution might figure in the decline of this species which is used for both human and animal food.

SEE DECLINE

The projected whitefish landings at U.S. ports was placed at 2,000 pounds compared to 1.5 million pounds taken in 1930. Bureau scientists feel that pollution may be the major factor in this decline.

The bureau reported that, while pollution has affected the production of the more valuable fish, it has been a boon to other species.

Both the yellow perch and alewives seem to thrive on the chemical nutrients that have been flowing into the lake.

These fish live in shallow water where there is plenty of oxygen. The chemicals injected into the lake also seems to stimulate growth of the organisms which supply them with food.

Ford Leads AL Pitchers

BOSTON (AP) — Whitey Ford's glittering efforts for the New York Yankees in 1961 were reflected in the official American League pitching statistics released Tuesday.

The veteran left-hander, winner of the Cy Young Award as the majors' outstanding pitcher, paced the circuit in four departments and was the runner-up in another.

Ford had the most victories, 25, the highest winning percentage .862, the most innings pitched, 283, and started the most games, 39. He was second in strikeouts to Camilo Pascual of Minnesota with 209. Pascual fanned 221.

Ford, with a 3.21 average, finished 10th in the earned run competition won by Dick Donovan of Washington with a 2.40 mark. Donovan, who yielded only 45 earned runs in 169 innings, was the first Senators' pitcher to lead in ERA since Garland Braxton in 1928. Donovan, traded to Cleveland four days after the close of the campaign, posted a 10-10 record.

Bill Stafford of the Yankees was second in ERA with a 2.68 average. Don Mossi, Detroit southpaw, was third at 2.96 followed by Milt Pappas, Baltimore and Ralph Terry, New York, 3.16.

Frank Lary of Detroit was the only other pitcher besides Ford to win at least 20 games. He collected 23 victories and had the most complete games, 22. Luis Arroyo, the Yanks' relief ace, appeared in the most games, 65.

Pedro Ramos, Minnesota's workhorse right-hander, yielded the most home runs, 39. He holds the American League record in this category with 43 in 1957. Ramos also gave up the most hits, 265, and runs, 134, in 1961.

Baltimore's Chuck Estrada issued the most walks while Jim Kaat, Minnesota's young lefty, set the pace in hit batsmen with 11. Kaat also tied Baltimore's Jack Fisher and Washington's Johnny Klippstein for the lead in wild pitches. Each had 10.

Pascual and Baltimore's Steve Barber had the most shutouts, eight each.

The Orioles posted the lowest team earned run average 3.22. The Yankees were next with 3.46.

DIGGING FOR FOOD—Wild ducks staying along the Red Cedar River on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing have to dig through snow and ice along the banks to find food not available in the water. A large number of ducks, mostly mallards, winter on the river each year.

Pink Honkers Are for Real This Winter

Don't blame it on the holiday highball if you see a red Canada goose or two in Michigan during the next few weeks.

★ ★ ★

You may spot some of these colored honkers any time during the winter, as a matter of fact. If so, the Conservation Department would like to know when and where your sightings were made.

It's all part of an effort among Mississippi Flyway states and provinces to study goose movements during this season of the year.

The wings of about 80 live-trapped geese were recently dipped in red dye at the Swan Creek wildlife experiment station. The birds have been turned loose and their undersides also may have taken on a reddish or pinkish hue from preening.

Different colors are being used to identify birds released in other Mississippi Flyway states.

Slate 4-Week Course in Watercraft Safety

A four-week course in watercraft safety designed to help persons interested in safe boating will start at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 7 at the Waterford Township Community Center on Williams Lake Road.

Announcement of the course was made by Donald Kratt, water supervisor for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and Robert Lawyer, township recreation director.

All phases of safe boating on the lakes will be covered through films and lectures.

There is no fee.

Ice Fishing Remains Slow in Area

By DON VOGEL

Ice fishing remained slow on area lakes this week.

Many lakes have sufficient ice, but others still contain open water and are treacherous.

★ ★ ★

Anglers began getting onto Pontiac Lake early last week and the results there have been fair to good. Northern pike are the main fish on this lake.

The average has been between three and four pounds, although two five-pounders were taken on tipups Monday afternoon.

Pontiac Lake is an experimental water. No spearing is allowed. Black bass can be taken all year, but few are caught during the winter.

Although the center of the lake is not frozen over, fishermen are getting onto the east end of Silver Lake. Bluegills and calicos are being taken. The action is spotty.

GOOD CATCH

Mac Louthrop, 394 E. Columbia, Pontiac, reports he caught 21 gills and calicos Monday afternoon on Silver. He returned Tuesday and slipped seven from the hole in three hours.

Huntoon Lake produced some fair catches of bluegills over the weekend and had a good number of anglers Christmas Day. But the fish failed to cooperate and the anglers didn't return on Tuesday.

Shanties are appearing on the lakes. Williams has a good number.

Wormer is getting its usual number of early season anglers, but the bluegills continue to run on the small side. The same goes for Schoolhouse.

★ ★ ★

Hummer Lake fishing is reported fair. A few fishermen are able to get on Deer off the public bathing beach. Action has been very slow. Neighboring Cemetery Lake is not safe.

Most of the small, shallow lakes in the county are safe.

Now is the time to get pike. Northerns seem to hit best just after safe ice is formed. The thicker the ice, the slower the pike strike.

Bluegill fishing in the area is best just before and after dark. Lantern's are a big item for the after sunset angler.

TROUT NEXT

Rainbows become legal along with pike spearing on New Year's Day.

Best time for trout on area lakes is at sunset and a little later. The trout are found in the shallows this time of year, although the larger rainbows prefer deeper water.

Minnows or wigglers are the preferred bait, but the various grubbs work well on occasion.

Winter observations of trout have revealed the following: They swim rapidly compared with other fish and cover more territory in a day's time. Usually they travel as singles or in groups of less than five. Most of the time, they will be within six feet of the bottom. In lakes with inlets or outlets that produce a current, the trout seem to concentrate in the paths of the current.

★ ★ ★

Early or late, however, the time to go fishing is when you have the chance.

Water temperatures and oxygen levels under the ice in winter are usually tolerable for trout in all areas and depths of most trout lakes. Thus, presumably trout may be anywhere in the lake. In some lakes, most of the trout are in shallow water whereas in others they seem to be in deeper water, up to 30 feet or so.

Bowl Schedule

Champs Placed at Top

Brown, Moore Get Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown and featherweight king Davey Moore were awarded the top honors today in Ring Magazine's copyrighted rankings of 1961.

★ ★ ★

Brown, the 35-ye ar-old clouter from Baton Rouge, La., and the 28-year-old Moore of Columbus, Ohio, were the only champions placed alone in the category in their respective divisions. Each defended their titles twice during the year.

Old Bones Brown stretched his record of lightweight defenses to 11 while Moore was the most active of the Ring rulers with nine fights in all.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, Ring editor Nat Fleischer rated three fighters Ring recognizes as champions behind other men in their divisions.

Light heavyweight Archie Moore, recognized by New York, Massachusetts and Europe as champion of the 175-pounders, was placed second behind Harold Johnson, of Philadelphia, hailed as king by the National Boxing Association.

Gene Fullmer, the NBA-recognized middleweight champion from West Jordan, Utah, was placed on top of the 160-pounders with Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., second and Terry Downes of England, third. Downes won recognition as champion in New York, Massachusetts and Europe by dethroning Pender in London Despite this, Ring still recognizes Downes as world champion.

Emile Griffith of New York, who won and then lost in welterweight title fights with Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba, was rated first ahead of the reigning champion, Paret, in the 147-pound class.

Take Stand for Hunting on Federal Park Lands

A firm stand in favor of controlled hunting and fishing within new and existing units of the National Parks Service system has been taken by the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners as part of its broad appeal to give states an active role in managing wildlife on these recreation lands.

★ ★ ★

The group, made up of state and Canadian conservation officials, announced its position, which has a big bearing on Michigan sportsmen, in a recent meeting with Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and members of his staff.

It urged that advantage be taken of research and management programs of states by applying their hunting and fishing regulations to new national parks lands.

As proposed in bills before Congress, the secretary would designate zones where, and establish periods when, no hunting would be permitted for reasons of public safety, administration, or public use and enjoyment.

In advancing its proposal, the association drew attention to the fact that new units of the National Parks Service system would be formed by lands withdrawn or acquired from public and private holdings currently open to hunting and fishing.

★ ★ ★

Also recommended was the extension of the multiple use concept to existing national parks to allow limited controlled recreational hunting in trouble areas.

Public hunting is not now permitted in national parks, except in isolated cases. In some of these parks, where big game populations exceed the carrying capacity of their range, surplus animals are shot and killed by park personnel.

Michigan's Conservation Department director Gerald E. Eddy, legislative committee member of the Association who attended the meeting, points out that the group's action underscored important considerations in this state where two new national recreation areas — Sleeping Bear Dunes and Pictured Rocks — are proposed.

He explained that overall plans for the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Recreation Area have gained qualified support from the Conservation Commission, but complete endorsement depends upon whether hunting, fishing, timber management, and other matters can be worked out satisfactorily.

★ ★ ★

The association adopted a strongly-worded statement advising that it will oppose any action to establish new National Parks units if state agencies responsible for managing fish and game cannot be assured that the multiple use concept will be applied to each area with hunting and fishing potential.

It promised to seek transfer of these recreational lands and waters to the Department of Agriculture, "an agency having a past and known history of multiple-use management," if it becomes evident that the nation's hunters and fishermen can best be served by such a move.

The group also recommended that consideration be given to establishing a new Federal National Recreation Commission to be charged with recreational management of all federal lands under a revised concept which would include hunting, fishing, and other wildlife uses.

Predicts 'Any Deer' Opening in New Area

EAST LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan State University wildlife specialist has forecasted an open hunting season on female, fawn and buck deer in Southern Michigan because the animals were becoming too numerous.

Charles Shick said the large herd was causing heavy crop damage in Southern Michigan was hazardous to motorists. Some 1,200 deer were killed in auto mishaps this year in the area below a line from Bay City to Muskegon, he said.

"An open season is necessary because shooting only bucks reduces deer numbers very little," Shick said.

Cut 'Scrub' Timber for Wildlife Cover

LANSING (AP) — Two Conservation Department tractors are making wide cuts through "scrubby" state forest land in the northern Lower Peninsula.

The tractors are cutting 240 acres in Kalkaska County, the department said, to provide food and cover for deer and small game. Some 2,600 acres of non-merchantable stands of timber — mostly aspen — will be cut this winter, weather permitting, the department said.

Lakes Survey Planned

Survey crews of the Conservation Department are about ready to start mapping 70 inland lakes. The surveys are intended to help in improvement projects that may be needed for better fishing.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been prepared by John Alden Knight. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times.

Trading Active

Stocks Gain After Mixed Start

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon after an irregular morning. Trading was active.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among key stocks.

Some of the steels, motors, drugs, chemicals and utilities showed strength. The rise was spotty, however. Nonferrous metals, aircrafts, rubbers, electronics and oils were mixed. Airlines were unchanged to a bit lower.

The rise came after eight straight days of decline and Tuesday's irregular session. It seemed long overdue to Wall Streeters who have been counting on a traditional year-end rally.

Encouraging business news included a prediction by the head of General Motors that 1962 would be a seven-million-car year. Steel output stood at the highest level since April 1960. Construction contracts for November were reported at a peak.

The average was bolstered by gains of about 3 by duPont, more than a point by Eastman Kodak, a point by American Telephone and a rebound of a couple of points by Union Carbide.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler, still responding to its news of a turbine engine for autos, rose about a point. Ford and GM added fractions.

Gains exceeding a point were posted for U. S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was active. Gains of a point or so were made by Technicolor, Hydromatics, Edo Corp. "A," Liberty Fabrics, and Canadian Javelin. Pacific Petroleum, Rusco Industries, Universal Controls and Continental Vending gained fractions. Among losers were Occidental Petroleum, American M.A.R.C., Webb & Knapp, Magellan Petroleum and New Haven Clock.

Corporate Bonds Uneven

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate bond prices opened with an uneven price tone today. The U.S. government list was unchanged in a minimum of trading.

One over the counter dealer in Treasury securities said the big increase in the balance of payments deficit during the September quarter had absolutely no affect on the bond markets.

There were few changes amounting to a full point among corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Rails and utilities fell while industrials moved upward.

Curtis Publishing 6s gained 1¾ at 80 at one time while Canadian Pacific Railroad perpetual 4s lost 1⅜ at 72.

Civic Group in Wixom Asks Tax-Limit Action

By JIM LONG

WIXOM — A city charter revision intended to reduce the taxing power of the city is being sought by the Wixom Civic Association.

★ ★ ★

The citizens group, headed by Gerald Abrams of 49361 Wixom Road, has filed petitions with City Clerk Lillian Byrd asking that the proposed amendment appear on the upcoming election ballot.

The association's petitions, signed by about 230 residents, proposes that the current tax limit of eight mills be reduced to four mills.

Mrs. Byrd said the proposal probably would appear on the April 2 city ballot but it would be up to the City Council to decide the date.

CLAIMS LIMIT EXCEEDED

Abrams claims that the city is exceeding the tax limit by using a state equalization factor of 1.72.

This factor, he said, times the present tax rate of $5.40 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation, exceeds the limit by about $1.30.

"There is no need for the state equalization factor when only one unit (the city) is involved," Abrams said. "All we want to do is come close to the eight mills stated in the charter."

★ ★ ★

"If the amendment would be approved, the four mills plus the equalization factor would give us what was intended when the charter was drawn up," he added.

"The matter could be taken to court but that would be a long and costly procedure so it was decided to place the proposal before the voters."

Abrams said he has been told there has been no instance where a ruling has been made by the courts where there is a definite limitation in the charter.

CITES 25 PCT. VALUATION

In response to Abrams' charges of exceeding the tax limitations, City Assessor John Finlayson says Wixom property is assessed at 25 per cent of its true case value and the state suggests that 50 per cent is good.

"Even by using the equalization factor the assessed valuation comes to less than half the true value," said Finlayson.

Finlayson said the city tax is figured on $5.40 for each $1,000 assessed valuation multiplied by the state equalization factor.

★ ★ ★

Abrams said the entire matter is a "red herring" because should the amendment be approved the city could turn around and assess at 50 per cent of true cash value rather than the present 25 per cent.

"If this were done, however, the factor, if any, would be nil," the president of the association said.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Rossman of Hadley Road, Metamora, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house for friends and relatives from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Hadley School. Formerly of Pontiac, the couple has lived in Metamora the last 26 years. They have six daughters, two sons, 32 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Beaten Planning Program Slated for Hearing in Troy

TROY—Federal Planning Program 701, defeated in October by a 4-3 vote of the City Commission, will get another hearing before the commission with the Planning Commission next Wednesday.

Despite the proposal's earlier defeat, Commissioner Robert J. Bargert asked that the group convene to hear new evidence about the plan and to get an indication of public feeling on the issue.

The motion to set up a new meeting passed by a 4-3 vote last night, Commissioners C. F. Sutermeister Jr., Roy L. Duncan and James F. Carey dissenting.

The plan was originally downed by the votes of these commissioners plus that of Mayor Robert J. Huber.

★ ★ ★

Under the 701 program, funds would be allocated by the federal government to cover 75 per cent of the cost of a study of the city's topography, zoning and other factors in the over-all municipal development.

ADMINISTERED BY STATE

The program would be administered by the state.

Arguments at the October meeting against the plan were that Troy needs such a study sooner than 701 would provide and that the state and implied federal supervision of Troy's growth would be unsatisfactory.

It was also argued that a federally sponsored planner to study the city's needs would not be located at city hall but in the private offices.

Those commissioners favoring a full-time city planner pointed out that a master plan should not be subject to outside supervision.

In addition, some concern has been expressed about the present planning consultants, Villican & Leman Associates, Southfield.

★ ★ ★

Sutermeister said that the firm can't plan for Troy without a conflict of interests with some of its other, higher-paying client-communities.

The commission is currently considering applications for the job of a full-time city planner who would eventually replace the present consultants.

Asks More Data on Bond Issue

State Board Tables County Road Unit Bid Pending New 'Word'

The State Finance Commission has tabled Oakland County's request to issue $6 million in bonds to improve primary roads.

★ ★ ★

More information is required before the request can be considered, the commission in Lansing said.

A letter has been mailed to the Oakland County Road Commission urging that the State commission be supplied with a further breakdown on the total cost of the county road project.

The highway fund bonds are being sought as part of an $11 million project to improve 86 miles of primary roads tying in with the freeways through the county.

FIRST SINCE '20S

The county board of supervisors has pledged its full faith and credit behind the general obligation bonds, which would be the first such bonds to be sold here since the 1920s.

Selling bonds is necessary, County Road Commissioner Hiland M. Thatcher explained, because the $3.5 million in state gas and weight tax receipts the county receives annually is insufficient to complete the project.

The balance of the $11 million project will be paid from tax receipts, and federal monies on hand and from payments by 12 benefiting cities and neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties.

★ ★ ★

Bonds are to be retired over the next 20 years in anticipation of state gas and weight tax receipts —the county's sole source of revenue for local road maintenance and improvement.

William White to Run for Troy Commission

TROY — William H. White, 2593 E. Big Beaver Road, has announced that he will seek a seat on the City Commission in the coming election.

White, who is 54, is a freelance manufacturer's representative and first came to Troy in 1932. He is a welfare officer in Troy's civil defense organization.

Unarmed Mother Disarms 'Bandit'

PETOSKEY (AP)—For a moment, everyone froze when the voice at the First National Bank of Petoskey announced:

"Ok, this is a stickup, everybody."

★ ★ ★

Spine chills gave way to smiles, however, when the speaker yesterday was found to be a lone youngster about 4 years old. Two toy pistols were in his hands and their brand new holsters nearly dragged on the floor.

Bank officials declined to identify the boy who was quickly disarmed by his mother.

So Taxes Are Too High, Huh?

Compared to European, Average American Has It Pretty Easy

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Your gripes about income taxes would fall on unsympathetic ears in Europe, where the average taxpayer is even more burdened.

So says an article published in the Michigan Journalist, a journalism laboratory newspaper at the University of Michigan.

The article points out, for example, that an American with two children and earning $17,000 a year will be taxed 19 per cent of his income.

In West Germany or Great Britain, the same man would lose 36 per cent of his income to taxes; in Sweden, 42 per cent.

According to the article, low income Europeans are taxed more heavily than their U.S. counterparts because of high social security dotes. It's only in the higher income brackets that Americans are more heavily taxed.

By taxing 26 per cent of its total wealth, the article says, the U.S. ranks 11th among nations. West Germany, taxing 34 per cent of its total wealth, is highest, with most other Western European countries following.

Ailing Troy Candidate Improves in Hospital

TROY — Albert H. Warner, area manager of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and an announced candidate for mayor in the coming election, is reported improving today in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following a heart attack two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

Warner, 48, of 2447 Derby Road, was admitted of the hospital Dec. 15 and was listed in serious condition with a possible coronary heart ailment, hospital authorities said.

No statement was available as to whether Warner would be able to continue with his campaign.

Rochester Auditor Named by Council

ROCHESTER — Taking action that was not expected until April, the Rochester Village Council last night named a local certified public accountant to the post of village auditor.

Thurley E. Allen, 47, whose offices are at 127 W. University Drive, replaces the Detroit firm of Guest Wright and Co., effective Feb. 1.

Allen is also president of the Rochester Area Development Corp.

★ ★ ★

The five councilmen who approved the change of auditors stressed that the move was "no reflection" on Guest Wright but was rather in line with village policy to give business to local persons wherever possible. Two voted against the motion.

The subject of village auditor has been under council consideration for several months supposedly culminating Nov. 27 when, also by a split vote, the matter was tabled until after the March election.

Councilman Stowell Collins brought it up for reconsideration last night saying that he felt he had voted wrong in postponing the action and upon further deliberation, thought it should be brought up again.

ANSWERED OBJECTIONS

Collins had answers prepared for the three initial objections to Allen's getting the appointment.

The objections, raised at the November meeting, were that Allen's costs would be higher than Guest Wright's, that he had inadequate facilities and personnel to handle the job and that the change should not be made until after the election.

In answer to the first objection, Collins said Allen's hourly rate was competitive and would not exceed that of the present auditor, and that any extra charges would be discussed with the council before they were billed.

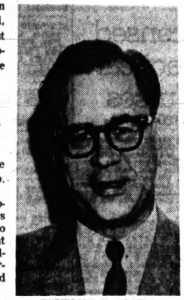

★ ★

The councilman also pointed out that Allen has expanded his office and hired more personnel. Collins added that new business was needed for Rochester people and "needed now."

Guest Wright served the village for over 10 years.

The vote on the new appointment was 5 to 2 with Roy Rewold and John J. Lowes dissenting. Both councilmen who voted no said they were not voting against Allen sepcifically but against the manner in which the whole procedure was handled.

"It's not a very good way to run a horse race," said Rewold.

Youth Sunday Set at Church

First Methodist Plans Homecoming Dinner for Students in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — Youth Sunday will be celebrated at First Methodist Church Sunday. It will feature the annual homecoming dinner at 6:30 p.m. for college youth and servicemen to be served in the old church of Buffalo Street.

★ ★ ★

This complimentary dinner is provided annually by the Woman's Society of the church, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Chapman, student secretary and Mrs. Everett Pike, youth secretary.

Guest youth speaker at the 11:15 a.m. worship service will be Rev. J. Frank Dennis, former Methodist youth director and presently director of youth camps for the Methodist Church in Michigan.

He will be assisted by copresidents of the local church Youth Fellowship group, Richard Shelton and Roger Richley.

WATCH SERVICE SET

The annual Watch Night service will begin at 10:30 p.m. with Rev. Wayne Brookshear, pastor of St. Luke Methodist Church, Pontiac, as guest speaker.

Pastor of the new Methodist Church adjacent to Michigan State University Oakland, he will entertain the youth after his service with his guitar playing and singing.

The annual Youth New Year's Eve party will be held in the north wing of the new church with the young people creating a French village scene. Entertainment will be provided by local talent.

★ ★ ★

The Intermediate Youth Fellowship, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cowdin, will have a Sunday evening service and social gathering at their home.

Woman Files Suit After Death of Husband in Blast

DETROIT (AP) — A $250,000 damage suit was filed in U. S. District Court yesterday by the widow of a New Haven man who was fatally injured in an explosion at a suburban Warren service station.

The suit was filed in behalf of Mrs. Larry LaVerdiere, mother of a 2-year-old child.

Mrs. LaVerdiere's husband, a mechanic, died Nov. 8 of burns suffered in the explosion.

The suit said LaVerdiere was standing in the station when the blast occurred. In her suit, Mrs. LaVerdiere charged owners of the station with negligence saying that gas fumes accumulated in the station to a "highly explosive degree" because of a "defective, blocked and inadequate sewage disposal system."

OKs Homicide Warrant in Auto Mishap Fatal to 2

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A warrant charging Richard P. Szelepski, 27, of Roseville, with negligent homicide in the Christmas Eve traffic deaths of two boys was authorized yesterday by Macomb County Prosecutor George N. Parris.

Bruce Metdetenningen 15, and George Mason, 14, both of Clinton Township, were struck by Szelepski's panel truck as they walked home from a movie.

Witnesses told police Szelepski struck the boys when he swung out to pass a car.

42 Are Studying 'How to Study'

MSUO Offers Course to Help Increase Skill in Learning

Forty-two high school juniors, seniors, college students and adults are giving up late sleep Saturday mornings to study "How to Study" at Michigan State University Oakland's Division for Continuing Education.

The course is part of a Study Skills Workshop offered this term. Reservations are now being taken for another Saturday morning workshop series to begin Feb. 3.

The course is to help the student increase study efficiency and sharpen practices considered essential to successful academic performance, Director of the course is Harold J. Abrams, consultant supervisor in special education for the Oakland County Board of Education.

Sessions in different areas are led by:

Warren Jahnke, director of of special education of Oak Park Public Schools — reading speed and comprehension.

Merrill Miller, counselor at Birmingham's Seaholm High School — study skills.

Abrams teaches vocabulary improvement. New sessions on test preparation will be given by Donald Place, formerly of Syracuse University and now consultant in special education with the county board.

★ ★ ★

Reservations for the workshop's winter term may be made by telephoning FE 8-4515, extension 2147. The tuition charge is $55 for 15 four-hour sessions. All materials are included in the course charge.

Predicts Boost in '62 Sales for Parke, Davis

DETROIT (AP)—Harry J. Lloyd, president of Parke, Davis & Co. today predicted increased foreign and domestic sales for his firm in 1962.

Lloyd, in a yearend statement, said "we feel we will have a better year next year than in 1961. We're optimistic."

He said he expected Parke, Davis' U.S. and Canadian sales to show an increase in 1962 over the current year, and coupled with a continuing-growing market, overseas sales would produce a satisfactory year for the pharmaceutical firm.

Lloynd said estimated 1961 sales for Parke, Davis total some $185 million, with a net profit of approximately $23 million.

Nominating Petitions Have Jan. 1 Deadline

HOLLY — Political hopefuls seeking a position on the Feb. 13 primary ballot here must file nominating petitions with the village clerk on or before Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

Offices with expiring terms are president, clerk, treasurer, assessor and three trustees.

Petitions can be obtained from village clerk George Patterson. The general election will be held March 12.

Killed as Car Hits Tree

CROSWELL (AP) — Darrell Hawk, 19, of Croswell, was killed today when his car veered off M20 and struck a tree about four miles west of this rural Sanilac County vilalge.

Troy Tables Exchange Petition

Delay Action on Telephones

TROY — The City Commission last night tabled immediate action on a petition presented by customers of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. now listed in the Ulysses exchange, asking that they be included in the Trojan exchange.

The commission voted to send a letter to W. Calvin Patterson, vice president of the company asking that a study be made of the full impact on Troy of this kind of a zone change.

Commissioner Vincent J. McAvoy termed the commission's action a "complete waste of time." At an informal commission meeting Dec. 18, representatives of the company explained that Michigan Bell would not change Troy's telephone zoning.

★ ★

The residents involved in the dispute and the Troy Public Utilities Committee, whose survey determined that a majority of Ulysses-listed customers wanted the change, have asked that the commission petition the Michigan Public Service Commission for a hearing on the issue.

ZONING AUTHORITY

The latter commission has authority over the zoning of public utilities.

In addition last night the city Commission refused demands by Local 3, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, that union dues of city employes be deducted from their paychecks.

The commission also awarded a certificate of service to Kenneth Lincoln, 201 Sheffield St. for his services as a member of the Board of Review.

Lincoln resigned after serving about one year of his term. No successor has yet been appointed.

Four Sentenced to 90-Day Term in Assault Case

Four young men who forced a Commerce Township man to run nude down a rural road the night of Nov. 27 were sentenced to 90 days each in the county jail and placed on two years probation today.

Sentenced for aggravated assault when brought before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams this morning were:

Donald R. Rose, 18, 49150 Pontiac Trail, Wixom; William E. Smith, 20, 208 Endwell St., Thomas D. Teddy, 18, 28515 Beck Road, and Parley Trusty, 21, 1576 Ladd Road, all of Commerce Township.

★ ★ ★

All four had pleaded guilty to the charge earlier before Judge Adams.

NEW WARNING SIGN—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie inspects one of 13 signs that will warn drivers of icy conditions on short sections of I-96 and I-196 in the Brighton and Grand Rapids areas this winter. The signs will be used because the new pavement was poured recently and hasn't had time to acquire "seasoning" necessary to resist ice-removing chemicals. Shown with Mackie are sign mechanic Vilas Kurfman (center) and Fred Miller, Lansing Sign and Signal Shop supervisor.

Retired Miner Gets $25 From Detroit Woman

KENDRAY, England (AP) — A 66-year-old British coal miner who failed to get a $560 retirement grant because he retired five days short of the qualifying period has received a $25 Christmas gift from a Detroit woman.

★ ★ ★

In a note accompanying her check to Arthur Moss, Mrs. Lilian Demetral said: "My sister and I were traveling in England when we happened to read about you and your long service record. We hope this contribution will add cheer to your Christmas holiday."

Leaves $10,000 More to Her Bold Nephew

DETROIT (AP) — The bulk of an elderly Detroit woman's estate has been willed to a nephew who admitted taking $90,000 from her safe over an 11-year-period.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Bernadine Christa's estate was filed for probate Tuesday. The bulk of the estate of upwards of $10,000 was left to Joseph W. Standley, 43.

Another nephew, Frank J. Hester, 28, of Santa Monica, Calif., was left $1.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Christa declined to prosecute Standley after his admission, and a judge named a bank and an attorney to watch over the remainder of her assets.

Dies of Auto Injuries

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Lloyd C. Guthrie, 44, of Three Rivers, died Tuesday in Bronson Hospital of injuries he had suffered in a traffic mishap Dec. 23. State police said Guthrie's car ran off M60 and hit a tree between here and Three Rivers.

Capture Teens in Shooting of 2

N. J. Manhunt Yields Pair After Policeman, Merchant Wounded

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (AP)—Two teen-agers were captured in a huge police manhunt today after the early morning shooting of a police sergeant and a candy store owner.

★ ★ ★

More than 100 policemen from half a dozen communities plus state troopers blocked all roads from two housing developments in this central New Jersey town and started a street by street search of the area.

Police identified the suspects as Rick Prentiss Chapman, 16, and Gary Weber, 14, both of Old Bridge.

VICTIMS IN HOSPITAL

The victims, Police Sgt. George Hanson, 34, and Arnold Goldman, 36, were both taken to Perth Amboy Hospital where they were in fair condition.

Police said Goldman was shot in the right arm during an attempted burglary of his store.

He phoned police and Hanson's radio car was one of several sent to the scene.

Moments after Goldman's call, Hanson radioed police headquarters that he had stopped a car on nearby Ridge Road and been shot by one of two persons in the car.

Russian Clarifies Idea of Coexistence

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet propaganda chief Leonid Ilyichev says peaceful coexistence between nations with different social systems "has never meant and will never mean" peaceful coexistence of the Communist and capitalist ideologies.

Alcohol Poisoning Kills State Woman

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A Grand Rapids woman died Tuesday night at St. Mary's Hospital in a case which authorities tentatively blame on methyl alcohol poisoning. Her husband and a neighbor couple were admitted for treatment after becoming ill.

Dead was Mrs. Cherry Peebles, 27.

Detective Owen Doyle said specimens from the victim and a bottle of liquid which supplied the four with Christmas celebration drinks were being sent to state laboratories at East Lansing for examination.

Police identify the container as a vodka bottle. It reportedly was found nearly full Nov. 20 by the neighbor couple, Mr. and Mrs. George Proctor, who said they decided it was a "lucky" discovery to be saved for a special occasion. They sampled its contents with the Peebles' Christmas night.

Ex-Policeman's Career Has Sensational Start

NEW YORK — You could have heard a parking ticket drop . . .

Because Singing Ex-Cop Severio Saridis not only had great lungs and voice when he opened at the Plaza Persian Room but excellent stage presence. Manager Ewart Reveals Difference With Birnkrant

Friction Develops in City Attorney's Office

A report presented to the City Commission last night indicated that all is not well in the city attorney's department at City Hall.

In his report on the city's 1961 legal activities City Manager William A. Ewart revealed a difference of opinion between himself and Asst. City Atty. Sherwin M. Birnkrant as to who would handle Circuit Court appeals of municipal court decisions on city ordinance cases.

Ewart said Birnkrant would be handling the appeals after Jan. 1 because he had too many other things to handle.

Ewart charged that a discussion between himself and Birnkrant over the problem had "ended without reaching a satisfactory solution."

★ ★ ★

Today, Birnkrant registered amazement at the city attorney's report.

★ ★ ★

"It was done completely without my knowledge. There was no prior suggestion made to me that this was being brought up before the commission, but I'm happy that it was.

★ ★ ★

"How maybe we'll reach a solution faster," Birnkrant said.

BACK EWART

Commissioners at last night's meeting backed Ewart.

"Mr. Ewart is hired to manage the city's legal affairs," commented Commissioner Winford E. Bottom. "He should have the power to delegate responsibility."

Others agreed with Bottom.

Today, Birnkrant said he hadn't thought that was the case. "I worked under Bill because I thought it was the best thing to do. However, I was hired by the Commission and under the impression that I was working for them, no one else."

Until now Birnkrant handled cases in municipal court and those that were appealed were handled by Ewart in circuit court.

★ ★ ★

Ewart said Birnkrant "has declined to handle appeal cases on the ground that he was too busy in municipal court and in the police department."

★ ★ ★

The city attorney contended that municipal court judges have the power to schedule cases so they will not conflict with circuit court appeals, and that such scheduling is possible.

BEST POSITION

Ewart pointed out that because Birnkrant is familiar with city ordinance cases, he is in a position to best represent the city in those that are appealed.

"There are involved in Circuit Court trials the risks of reversals of municipal court decisions," Ewart warned. "Every attorney must assume the risk in any case. I know of no reason why the assistant city attorney should be relieved of this responsibility."

★ ★ ★

Ewart, in announcing that Birnkrant would handle appeals after Jan. 1, added that "if he refuses this responsibility, then my only recourse will be to report the facts to this commission."

Birnkrant countered today with the suggestion that possibly both he and Ewart had too much to do.

"As of Dec. 17 there had been more than 1,500 warrants and complaints on violations of city ordinances filed in municipal court this year plus about 250 traffic tickets," he explained.

★ ★ ★

"I don't see how we can reschedule a load like that. Last year the number was 1,400.

"I have various committees to counsel and trial board hearings to handle also.

"I agree Bill shouldn't have to handle the appeals, but I think the solution is in bringing our legal staff and pay into line with other cities.

'SURPRISED AT REPORT'

"I have no secretary and the police department loans me office space. I've been working over a year to try and solve this problem and I believe we're beginning to get somewhere, but I'm surprised at the report," Birnkrant said.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Robert Landry commented that "if Birnkrant was hired as assistant city attorney, he should be working for the whole city. I certainly hope he wasn't hired just to help the police and fire departments."

Mayor Philip E. Rowston explained that Birnkrant's office is in the public safety building while Ewart's is in city hall.

★ ★ ★

"This places him in a position where he is not in direct contact with the city attorney. Possibly a solution to this location problem would help solve the other problems."

Say Science Solves the 'Secret of Life'

DENVER (UPI)—Two biochemists told a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science today that what used to be called "the secret of life" now can be understood.

"We are now in a position to give an answer to an old question, What is so special about the structure of living matter, of protoplasm?" Dr. Henry Borsook of the California Institute of Technology told the meeting.

Another scientist, Dr. L. S. Lerman of the University of Colorado School of Medicine, said new knowledge about the molecular nature of living cells constitutes "a revolution in biological science."

"It is now clear the way living things grow, reproduce, and function is understandable on the basis of the nature of the atoms and molecules of which they are composed," Lerman said.

★ ★ ★

"Each cell contains an intricate and highly organized system of chemical machinery which manufactures its own components as well as the cell's products; and, in addition, the cell contains a complete blueprint and set of instructions as to how each item of its machinery is to be made."

LARGE MOLECULES

The "blueprints" are large molecules called nucleic acids, Lerman said. "It is in the structure of these molecules that the cell stores, transfers, and interprets all of the information for the manufacture of another cell or organism."

"We find that molecules of this kind operate in the same way to build all living things, viruses, bacteria, plants, animals and man.

"It is clear that the elucidation and understanding of these processes has followed in a large measure from understanding of molecular structure and the properties it determines."

★ ★ ★

Lerman said the impact of the molecular view in biology has been "so profound that it is hoped that training in advanced mathematics, physics and chemistry will soon become a normal, large part of the education of all biologists."

Finance Firm Head Indicted for Forgery

NEW YORK (AP) — The president of a group of finance companies was indicted today on grand larceny and forgery charges involving $819,601.

The district attorney's office identified the executive as Samuel Rubin, 49, of 23 Bay Blvd., Atlantic Beach, N.Y.

Rubin surrendered today and declared, "I'ce been living in prison for 15 years. Now I am a free man."

The scheme began in 1945 with the forging of a promissory note for $10,000, the indictment said. During the next 15 years Rubin never took a vacation for fear he would be found out, authorities said.

Berlin Crisis Gets Thoughtful Treatment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing Berlin crisis was the subject of a thoughtful and clear analysis by NBC's news staff Tuesday night in a special program.

The increasing tensions and continuing incidents in the German city cut in half by the Communist wall were presented as another move in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's international chess game designed ultimately to neutralize Europe and isolate America. Narrator Chet Huntley stated that although Berlin now is the target, the game is to knock flourishing West Germany out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although presenting America and its European friends as stronger, militarily and economically, than the Soviet Union, the program emphasized the differences of opinions existing among the NATO allies and Khrushchev's shrewd exploitations.

Driverless Car Makes a Near-Perfect Run

SPRING VALLEY, Minn. (AP) — Mrs. John Kenning wonders if she could have done as well in the car. After she fell out on a turn, the car: crossed a highway, skimmed through a lot without touching some 1962 models, slipped between a pole and guy wire and went down an alley.

Naval Officer Takes Decks on Honeymoon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A group of Navy wives pooled money to buy a leather case which held 15 decks of playing cards and scoreboards, to be used at their monthly card party at Admiral Kidd Officers Club.

At one meeting, they found a leather case full of men's clothes. Seems an officer had left for his honeymoon—with the wrong valise.

ATLANTA (AP)—Following a six-day trip to Cuba, a Southern Baptist mission leader, Rev. To Use Mine as Shelter

GENESEO, N.Y. (AP) — Civil defense officials in this Western New York area have suggested using the Retsof salt mines a few miles away as a city-sized fallout shelter. The mines, between 900 and 1,200 feet underground, cover an area about the size of Manhattan Island.

New York state is second only to California in acreage devoted to vineyards, according to U.S. farm tabulations.

Armada Hurrying to Kuwait

Danes Flop in Try to 'Lift' Pop Music

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Ten Danish poets and 10 composers of serious music made a try at raising pop songs to a higher level of literary and musical merit. All flopped with the critics and the public.

★ ★ ★

The Danish State Radio and Television Co. enlisted the longhairs in a contest and presented their efforts in a special radio-telecast Tuesday night. Angry telephone calls flooded the station. Newspaper critics were sarcastic.

Even the announcer admitted he was not sure any of the three winning songs was worth the money.

The first prize, $300, went to "We Are the Angry, Fed-up Bored Young Men," by Niels Viggo Bentzon, internationally known composer of orchestral music, and poet Piet Hein, also known internationally under the pen name of Kumbel.

CRITICS CRY

Most critics cried over the tune, calling it hopeless. They said the lyrics might be listened to in a literary cabaret but never in a night club.

★ ★ ★

The second prize of $200 was won by one of Denmark's noted angry young men, poet Klaus Rifbjerg, and composer Finn Savery. The tune went over well and some critics said poet Rifbjerg might have found the universal truth of all pop songs.

Rifbjerg called his song "Miang Miang." This was a sample of his lyrics:

"Tos lor na venu mut onha substal a bam primo,
"Vos patu ranka ni hoelo da fut,
"Tin rgson freni traputo bavosse,
"Miang miang. . . ."

The lyrics are in no known language but Rifbjerg said they should be understandable to everyone.

★ ★ ★

Poet Oscar Hansen and composer Otto Lington carried off the third prize, $70, for a song that won praise only in the Communist daily, "Land Og Folk."

Minister Brutally Slain; 4-State Search for Killer

BROOKLYN (AP)—Police in four states today pressed a search for the brutal slayer of a retired Methodist minister. The body of the Rev. Roy R. Decker, 70, of nearby Tecumseh, was found beneath a smouldering blanket by firemen answering an alarm at the minister's farm house Tuesday.

State police said Dr. Decker apparently was beaten with a hammer, bound with rope and then set afire in a room of the farmhouse.

Police in Michigan and neighboring states sought a 1952 black and cream Buick Roadmaster sedan owned by the minister. The car was believed to have been used by Decker's slayer in his getaway.

Terming the death "murder," state police said robbery apparently was the motive for the slaying.

★ ★ ★

The body was found in a bedroom of the two-story, frame farm home owned by the Rev. Mr. Decker. A ball-peen hammer was found near the charred body.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

State Police Lt. Joseph Liebherr said that the minister was knocked unconscious with the hammer, bound and then doused with gasoline or kerosene and set afire.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Joseph H. Ahronheim, a pathologist, said the minister apparently suffered a heart attack after the beating and then suffocated in the burning room.

Officers put out an alert for the minister's car, a sedan, after neighbors told them they saw the car speeding from the death house with a young man at the wheel.

The minister and his family moved to the farm home near Brooklyn about a year and a half ago, following his retirement as minister of Grace Methodist church in Meadville, Pa.

★ ★ ★

The family decided to move to Tecumseh, about 20 miles southeast of here, last fall because both the minister and his wife, Grace, had been in ill health.

★ ★ ★

The minister put the farm up for sale last Tuesday. Police said he apparently had returned to the farm to get it ready for prospective buyers.

City Approves Hospital Budget

Pontiac General Gets Final Commission OK on '62 Operating Slate

Pontiac General Hospital's $5.8-million operating budget for 1962 got final approval from commissioners at last night's City Commission meeting.

★ ★ ★

The budget, approved by the hospital board of trustees earlier this month, is about $863,000 above the 1961 budget.

★ ★ ★

Last night's action makes the budget final, it is based on current operating costs. The increase over the 1961 budget is due mainly to more capacity and employes at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

The 1962 budget was based on an average occupancy of 87 per cent. Next year's is based on an expected 91 per cent occupancy.

STANDING FIRM

Hospital administrators are standing firm on not giving hospital employes pay hikes in 1962. The budget as approved doesn't include an allocation for salary increases.

Although administrators are still negotiating with employes, an amendment to the resolution approving the budget would be required to add salary allocations.

★ ★ ★

Employes had asked a five-cent-an-hour hike which would cost a total of $82,000. They got a five-cent pay hike in 1961.

★ ★ ★

The hospital also was authorized last night to buy a lot on W. Huron Street between Seminole and Oneida roads for $7,500.

The lot lies west of a home which now houses interns. It will be used for parking for interns.

★ ★ ★

The cost will be credited against the hospital's debt to the city for building expansion.

★ ★ ★

Until now, the lot had been rented on a monthly basis by the medical staff.

British Suspect Iraqi Military Threat in Area

Intelligence Indicates Kassim Massing Troops on Sheikdom's Border

LONDON (AP) — British officials today disclosed an armada is hurrying toward the Persian Gulf oil sheikdom of Kuwait to meet a suspected Iraqi military threat.

The admiralty said that at least six warships, led by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Centaur, have sailed from the East African base of Mombasa for an unannounced destination.

Other officials reported that the ships — which include two frigates, a tank landing ship and two big fleet auxiliaries — are heading for the Kuwait area.

They added several other precautionary British fleet moves are under way but are secret.

REPORTED MASSING TROOPS

Over the Christmas weekend, intelligence and diplomatic reports from the region indicated to the British government that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim has been massing troops, possibly as the prelude to an invasion to achieve the annexation of Kuwait he threatened last summer.

The Defense Ministry announced Tuesday that 300 troops, most of them transport aircraft crewmen, had been put on the alert, and troops were reported standing by to be flown from Nairobi, Kenya, if needed.

Britain foreštalled an Iraqi invasion last July by landing troops in Kuwait at the request of Sheik Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah after Kassim renewed his country's claim to the little neighboring territory.

Britain is bound by treaty to protect the sheikdom on the northern end of the Persian Gulf. Kuwait was a British protectorate until last June. British forces withdrew from Kuwait in September after Arab League countries, despite Iraq's objections, sent 2,000 troops to Kuwait to protect it.

The British announcement asserted that "during the past 24 hours our forecast that the Christmas period might be used to increase tension has been partially confirmed as far as the Middle East is concerned.

"Although operations are not thought to be imminent, certain small-scale precautionary measures have again had to be taken."

Foreign Minister Hshem Jawad of Iraq declared in a statement broadcast by Baghdad radio Tuesday that Iraq considers the establishment of diplomatic relations with Kuwait by countries which have representatives in Baghdad as "unfriendly act designed to deny Iraq's rights and harm its vital interests."

Laotian Princes Arrive for Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The heralded three-princes' meeting apparently collapsed today in less than an hour. After months of maneuvering by Laotian politicians and pressure by foreign diplomats, neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and his procommunist half-brother Souphanouvong arrived for talks with prowestern Premier Boun Oum on formation of a coalition government.

Boun Oum neither met them at the airport nor went to the appointed meeting place. Growing impatient, the two visiting prices finally paid a courtesy call on Prince Boun Oum at his residence. The meeting lasted less than an hour.

Boun Oum told newsmen that as far as he was concerned there was no further need of a princely meeting, adding:

★ ★ ★

"The two princes came to see me and we talked, there you had your princely meeting."

The outcome astounded and depressed diplomats in this little kingdom, who had watched the weeks of haggling over trivial arrangements for the meeting. But their hopes never had been high. Some had agreed it would take a miracle for an agreement to be reached.

★ ★ ★

Souvanna Phouma, whom the three politician princes agreed will head the new government, spoke briefly at the airport in a conciliatory tone.

Prince Souphanouvong, his half-brother, denounced "American warmongers" and Boun Oum's pro-Western royal government.

It was Souvanna Phouma's first visit to Vientiane since Dec. 9, 1960, when his government abandoned the capital to the advancing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, now the deputy premier in Boun Oum's government. Souphanouvong and his top lieutenants escaped from a Vientiane prison in the spring of 1960.

★ ★ ★

"Coalition can only be formed if each party brings to the meeting good faith and good will," Souvanna Phouma said at the airport.

★ ★ ★

The people of Vientiane lined the streets and silently watched the two princes drive to the two heavily guarded villas where they are quartered alongside the U.S. Embassy.

To Open Bids on Urban Loan

City to Continue Plan of Using Backing of Financial Institutions

The city will open bids today for a six-month loan continuing its program of using financial institution loans to finance urban renewal land acquisition and demolition.

Local and national financial institutions have been asked to bid on the $3.77-million loan needed to carry out work in the first urban renewal project area.

It is the third urban renewal loan on that area and the largest that administrators expect will be needed for the area, according to Asst. City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

Low bidder on the other two was Community National Bank.

Last December, the bank was lowest of six bidders on a $2,043,000 loan. It offered to pick up the city notes at an interest rate of 1.5 per cent.

LOWER RATE

Last July, the bank was low again, asking a 1.44 per cent interest rate on a $3,031,000 loan.

If the city borrowed from the federal government, it would have to pay the federal interest rate of 4% per cent on urban renewal working funds.

The City Commission, meeting last night, authorized Stierer to phone the bids into the Urban Renewal Administration Office in Chicago today and get clearance to award the loan to the low bidder.

Part of the loan will be used to retire last summer's loan. About $740,000 will be left for acquisition and clearance.

★ ★ ★

With additional funds expected in the next federal grant and money coming in from the disposition of urban renewal property, Stierer said future loans should be smaller.

The more than $5-million revolving fund earmarked by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the Pontiac project acts as security for urban renewal borrowing.

Retail Deliveries of New Pontiacs Up 22 Per Cent

Retail deliveries of new Pontiacs and Tempests during the second 10-day sales period in December totaled 12,929, a 22 per cent increase over the same period last year when the figure was 10,570, it was announced today by E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

"These outstanding mid-December sales are enabling us to continue our record - setting pace," Mr. Estes pointed out.

★ ★ ★

"Pontiac sales during the first 90 days of the 1962 model run total 128,837," Mr. Estes added. This compares with 123,159 for the same period of 1955, a record year for Pontiac.

Forecast for Pontiac Published Tomorrow

Want to know about 1962?

Roger W. Babson, well-known financial and business executive, has compiled a 1962 forecast for the City of Pontiac.

He foresees a very encouraging economic advance.

The Pontiac Press will publish his detailed predictions tomorrow.

Admits $1-Million Plot Against Church Staff

NEW YORK (AP)— Police say a jobless man has admitted he attempted to extort $1-million from a Protestant church by threatening to wipe out the minister and his staff with explosives.

★ ★ ★

The man, Harold L. Grout, 40, was quoted by police as saying he wanted the money "to alleviate a lot of the ills in the world and the injustices."

Man, Boy Pull Two From River

Credit Pair With Saving Girls

An 11-year-old boy and a Pontiac man today were credited with saving two 6-year-old girls from the freezing waters of the Clinton River yesterday afternoon.

Saved from the icy river were Vanessa Mardis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mardis of 56 Hazel St., and her neighbor, Janine Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Beatty.

John Johnson, a sixth grader at Webster Elementary School, threw a rope to the Beatty child and pulled her from the river after she had fallen through, according to Mrs. Helen Woldon, a housekeeper at the Johnson home.

The two children broke through the ice at the rear of the Johnson home on the shore opposite Beaudette Park shortly before 12:30 p.m.

CARRIED GIRL TO SHORE

Mrs. Woldon said she was about to go after the other girl herself when she spotted Michael Rivenburgh, 22, 48 Hazel St., who is Janine's half-brother.

Rivenburgh, hearing Mrs. Woldon's cries, plunged into the river, grabbed little Vanessa by the arm and carried her to shore.

★ ★ ★

The two children were rushed to Pontiac General Hospital and released later after being treated for shock and exposure.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Woldon said the Johnson boy, the son of Edward Johnson of 65 Peggy St., ran into his house, picked up a rope inside and threw it to Janine.

Rivenburgh said Vanessa was below the surface of the water when he reached her. Police said the girl was "blue" from the cold when they reached the scene.

Rivenburgh, who is unemployed, declined medical aid after being drenched in the freezing waters. He complained only that he lost his shoe in the river while going after the child.

The Pontiac Police Officers Association quickly rectified the situation. They purchased him a new pair of shoes and presented him with a citation, honoring his "outstanding act of civic duty."

JFK Working on Budget, State of Union Message

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy faced a busy day today with more work on the budget and his State of the Union message, an examination of his back and a visit to his ailing father scheduled.

The year-end checkup of the President's back was planned for Tuesday but it had to be delayed because Dr. Preston Wade, New York specialist, could not make plane connections.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger has described the checkup as routine. He said the President has had no recent trouble with his back.

Five of Kennedy's key advisers, who arrived by plane Tuesday afternoon and huddled with him for about three hours, were due to return to the ocean-side temporary White House for further discussions.

With Budget Director David E. Bell and others, Kennedy is whipping the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 into final shape.

PREDICT $90 BILLION

There have been predictions the budget will exceed $90 billion.

Technically, this is the first budget of the Kennedy administration. The one sent to Congress last January was the last of the Eisenhower administration. As a practical matter, however, Congress made so many changes in it at Kennedy's request that it became his own. Many of the changes were increases in defense and space programs.

★ ★ ★

Salinger said he expects Kennedy to deliver the State of the Union message personally, probably during the first week of Congress. Congress convenes Jan. 10.

Clouds Will Cap Refrigerated Night

Mostly cloudy and a little colder with a few snow flurries is the forecast for tonight in the Pontiac area. Tonight's low will slip to a frosty 20 degrees.

Thursday will be partly cloudy and cool, the high reaching for 28. Not quite so cold with some snow or snow flurries is the outlook for Friday.

Morning westerly winds at 10 miles per hour will shift to northwesterly at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Thirty was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. Temperatures had dropped to 27 at 1 p.m.

Says Vopos Had Orders to Quit if Wall Broken

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says he was told by some defected East German police that they had orders to withdraw if the Allies moved in to smash the Berlin wall.

★ ★ ★

Scott, back from four weeks in Western Europe, said in an interview recorded for radio and television stations in Pennsylvania that the Western powers could have and should have "knocked the wall down."

See Echo I Due Twice

Echo I, that big gasbag in the sky, will be visible from Pontiac tomorrow morning at 6:04, 76 to 84 degrees above the northern horizon, moving in a northeasterly direction. It will return at 7:18, 61 to 64 degrees over the horizon in the north, also moving to the northeast.

Donner Predicts Good Auto Year

Sees '62 Excellent for Business

DETROIT (AP)—"The year 1962 gives every promise of being an excellent one for business," the chairman of the world's largest manufacturing enterprise said today.

★ ★ ★

Frederic G. Donner, General Motors Corp. chairman, also said in a year-end statement that "the momentum of recovery and expansion of the past nine months should carry through 1962."

★ ★ ★

The GM chairman's rosy forecast coincided with one made earlier by Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., who said: "I expect 1962 to be a solid, prosperous year for the general economy and the automotive industry."

★ ★ ★

"With favorable business conditions for 1962," Donner said, "demand for cars and trucks will exceed eight million units, of which more than seven million will be passenger cars."

That would represent the industry's second best year, exceeded only by 1955, when 9,187,000 units were produced, almost eight million of them passenger cars.

Ward's Automotive Reports has estimated this year's passenger car production will total 5,515,000, compared with 6,696,106 in 1960. Ward's said 1961 truck production will be 5.9 per cent off 1960's output of 1,200,000.

Ford also was optimistic regarding auto output, saying:

"For the first half of 1962 Ford Motor Co. sees sales of passenger cars in the domestic market at an annual rate of nearly seven million units. If this rate continues for the remainder of the year sales would be about 16 per cent higher than in 1961."

★ ★ ★

Donner and Ford agreed on another point, the gross national product in 1962. Both forecast an annual rate of $560 billion. It currently is at an annual rate of $540 billion.

"Personal income, now at a record annual rate of $425 billion, should achieve further highs," Donner said, adding:

"Reports of business plans to modernize plant, expand production capacity and lower costs provide further evidence that the economy will continue to move forward actively in the year ahead.

"EMPLOYMENT TOPS"

"Government expenditures for both defense and nondefense purposes have increased. Unemployment, on a seasonally adjusted basis, is now declining, and total employment is at a record level . .

"Renewed consumer confidence—of basic importance to the automobile industry—has already stimulated rising retail sales . . .

"Demands for automobiles outside the United States continues strong, although advances have not been uniform among the major producing and consuming countries.

"It is evident that many countries overseas must continue to expand their facilities for the production of cars and trucks to meet the needs of their expanding economies.

"In 1962 it is probable that production outside the United States will equal that in this country.

"For the free world as a whole, 1961 sales of passenger cars and trucks reached a total of 13.5 million units.

★ ★ ★

"With economic conditions favorable to continued growth, total free world sales in 1962 are expected to exceed 16 million units —a new high in the history of the industry."

Belgium Bolsters Adoula by Restoring Congo Ties

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgium resumed diplomatic relations with the Congo today, strengthening Premier Cyrille Adoula's hand in dealing with Katanga's secession.

Restoration of relations was announced as Parliament awaited the arrival of Katanga members to take their seats as provided in Adoula's recent unity agreement with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Relations with Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, were broken 17 months ago in a fit of anticolonial fury. The late leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba was angered because Belgium tried to protect its citizens and property with troops during the riots after independence.

Belgian interests also supported Tshombe in his defiance of the central government. Belgium investment is heavy in the copper, uranium and other mineral riches of Katanga.

SENTIMENT SHIFTS

Gradually, the Belgian government and commercial interests in Brussels have swung around to favor Congo unity under a central government in Leopoldville, much to Tshombe's annoyance.

A central government was provided in the constitution Belgium drafted for its colony, but the chaos that ensued after independence was granted in 1960 kept the constitution from being ratified by Parliament.

The 15-member Katanga parliamentary delegation, to be flown from the Katanga capital of Elisabethville in a U.N. plane, is expected to propose changes in the constitution to give provinces greater freedom from Leopoldville's control.

* * *

The pact signed by Adoula and Tshombe at the U.N. base of Kitona recognized the central government's control over Katanga, but the Katanga leader never has dropped his objections to a strong central regime.

* * *

The Katanga Cabinet held it was not competent to ratify the Kitona agreement and passed it to the provincial assembly, a move which Adoula said torpedoed "the last effort to resolve the Katanga crisis by peaceful means."

In Paris, Evariste Kimba, Katanga foreign minister, denied Tshombe had signed the Kitona declaration. He said the Katanga Parliament would meet Jan. 3 to act on the declaration and "the counter proposals Mr. Tshombe made to Mr. Adoula."

WILL DECIDE ATTITUDE'

"After the Parliament has acted," the government of Elisabethville will decide what attitude to take," Kimba said.

Kimba conceded that U.N. troops could maintain control in Elisabethville, where U.N. forces crushed Katanga resistance in a two-week battle, but said that "to hold Katanga under the yoke is another thing. The fight would continue in the bush, but Katanga, I assure you, will not surrender."

DISNEYLAND VISITORS—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie are spending the winter in the Palm Springs, Calif., area. Tuesday, they decided to visit Disneyland. There was plenty of company. Eisenhower waves a fireman's hat as he perches atop a fire engine while Mrs. Eisenhower smiles approvingly. When asked what she gave her husband for Christmas, Mrs. Eisenhower said: "Just my love." Asked what the ex-president gave her, Mamie replied: "He gave me the same."

The Day in Birmingham

Oil Executive Is Named to Bloomfield Twp. Board

BIRMINGHAM—Frank J. Swindell, an oil company executive, has been named to the Bloomfield Township Board to succeed Gordon Getsinger who resigned in late November.

* * *

Swindell, 64, of 4135 Orchard Way, is district manager of Standard Oil, a division of the American Oil Co.

His appointment, approved last night by the board, becomes effective Jan. 1. The term of office is three years and three months.

Getsinger left the position he had held nearly five years to take a job in New York. He had been elected to a four-year term in the spring.

* * *

Swindell, a township resident five years, coming from Detroit, retires from Standard July 14 after having been with the firm for 41 years.

* * *

District manager for the last four years, he had been division manager since 1947.

Married, he has two daughters and a son.

Swindell said his name had been submitted to the Township Board for consideration to the post but had never campaigned for the office.

"I did indicate, however, a while back that I would like to perform some function for the township after I retired," Swindell said.

Swindell also is a member of the Oakland County Republican Committee nominating group.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet Jan. 3 at 7:45 p.m. at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

Mrs. William E. Blythe

Service for Mrs. William E. (Isabel M.) Blythe, 66, of 863 S. Bates St., was to have been 1 p.m. today at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with a private burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Blythe died Saturday at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, after a long illness.

A resident of the area 38 years, she was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. John W. Gafill of Birmingham; a sister and brother and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Ella D. Sevald

Private service for Mrs. Ella D. Sevald, 85, of 5345 Hickory Bend Road, will be held tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

An area resident seven years, Mrs. Sevald died Monday following a long illness.

Surviving are two sons, Frederick and John E., both of Birmingham, a sister and two grandchildren.

Memorial tributes may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Walter H. Serenberg

Service for Walter H. Serenberg, 73, of 18785 Glenwood St., Lathrup Village, was held 10 a.m. today at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.-with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

A former comptroller of Fisher & Co., Detroit, Mr. Serenberg died Saturday of a heart attack.

He was a member of St. James Episcopal Church, Palestine Lodge F&AM, and of the King Cyrus Chapter, Moslem Shrine.

Surviving are a daughter, Carol M. at home, three sisters and three brothers.

Foreign Trade at Top of List for Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may tackle President Kennedy's proposal for a new trade program as its first major piece of business in 1962, if the strategy under consideration by administration leaders is adopted.

* * *

The idea would be to give opponents as little time as possible to mount a counter offensive to the administration's intense campaign for a broadened trade act—a campaign that has been under way since Congress adjourned in September.

Questions and Answers Story on Common Mart, Page 14

The theme that the United States must promptly come to an agreement with the booming European Common Market or risk being squeezed out of vital export markets has been hammered by high officials in speech after speech during the recess.

A joint economic subcommittee headed by international trade-minded Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., has provided a forum for additional arguments in favor of increasing the President's tariff-cutting powers.

STIFFEST OPPOSITION

The stiffest opposition to an expanded reciprocal trade program comes from Congress members scattered across the country and in both parties but united in having industries at home that consider themselves particularly vulnerable to foreign competition.

It was learned today that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of this and other major administration proposals, may be asked to sidetrack one of the others in order to rush a reciprocal trade bill to the floor.

Even under forced draft, several weeks would be required to conduct hearings and shape a measure that would stand a chance of House passage. The key consideration likely would be proposals for help to vulnerable industries to diversify or otherwise adjust themselves to increased competition. Kennedy is expected to make detailed recommendations soon after Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

* * *

Administration strategists say they have the votes in the powerful 25-man committee to approve legislation substantially in accord with Kennedy's ideas. Some Republican members are known to favor broadened reciprocal trade arrangements and will likely concentrate on obtaining what they consider favorable domestic industry relief provisions.

A sense of urgency was sounded also on the Senate side, from the Democratic leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

"So far we have been given generalities on what the administration wants for foreign trade," said Mansfield. He said he hoped "we can get to the specifics shortly."

ASKS SPEEDED HEARINGS

He said since Congress is heading into an election year and hopeful of an early adjournment, he thought the House Ways and Means committee and the Senate Finance Committee, should conduct the foreign trade hearings "simultaneously or possibly combining their hearings."

He also suggested that the administration should act quickly on foreign aid, saying: "We have a difficult session ahead, and there will be no time to lose."

Three Persons Die in NYC Hotel Fire

NEW YORK (AP)— Two residents and a fireman died early today in a fire on the ninth floor of the 17-story Hotel Mayflower overlooking Central Park.

* * *

Two other men—apparently residents—were burned, one of them critically. Seven firemen were burned or overcome by smoke.

Most of the 400 guests in the largely residential hotel at Central Park West and 61st St. fled from their rooms shortly before 2 a.m.

DIDN'T PANIC

The guests—many of them in nightclothes—congregated in the lobby. There was no panic. Two of them carried pet canaries from their rooms.

* * *

They streamed down to the lobby via stairwells and elevators after the hotel manager pressed a button that sounded an alarm on every floor.

The fire burned out of control for almost an hour. City firemen, called out on two alarms, kept the blaze from spreading from the ninth floor.

SOUNDED ALARM

An unidentified man, walking past the hotel as the alarm was sounded, heard calls for help and ran inside. He ran through the hotel, pounding on doors and shouting an alarm.

The dead:

* * *

Murray Wyzel, about 60, described as a songwriter who had written for the Perry Como television shows.

Fireman John King, 29, a resident of Commack, Long Island.

An unidentified woman.

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Fire officials said the blaze had started in Wyzel's room and spread to the hall. The cause was not immediately determined.

* * *

Firemen attached hoses to standpipes on the eighth floor, carried them to the ninth and trained them on the hall door. The door gave way and flames burst at the firemen. Two fire lieutenants were burned. Two firemen were knocked out by dense smoke pouring from the hall.

FOUND BY FIREMEN

Minutes later the firemen—behind streams of water—entered Wyzel's room and found him severely burned and near collapse. He was carried to the eighth floor and given emergency treatment.

The woman and the firemen who died also were given emergency treatment on the eighth floor.

* * *

A man identified as Charles Ross and an unidentified man were taken to Roosevelt Hospital.

Ross, who suffered back burns, was reported in satisfactory condition.

* * *

The other man, about 60, who suffered bad burns, was placed on the critical list.

Commission Oks '61 Master Plan

City Chiefs Authorize Stierer to Send Copy to All Departments

City commissioners last night endorsed the 1961 Pontiac General Development Plan and authorized Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer to forward a copy to all city departments.

* * *

The master plan is to be used as a guide in future planning and development of the city.

Although the plan will influence future decisions, each case, particularly in the area of zoning requests, will be judged on its individual merits.

The plan was outlined several weeks ago at a planning commission meeting. At that time the planing commission recommended that it be adopted by the city commission.

* * *

In general, commissioners praised the plan as "the best and most comprehensive Pontiac has ever had."

* * *

The plan spells out what planners feel is the "ideal" setup for Pontiac in areas such as land use, schools, parks, public facilities and services and traffic circulation.

Ribicoff Eyes Race for Senate

Secretary of Welfare Says He'd Accept Draft in Connecticut

By The Associated Press

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff says he would accept a draft to run for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut next year.

* * *

Ribicoff, one of President Kennedy's earliest political supporters, said Tuesday night that a story in the Hartford Courant saying he might accept the draft for the Democratic nomination was "basically correct."

Ribicoff has been rumored as a possible opponent for Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican who has said he will seek re-election.

* * *

Ribicoff told a newsman he would not seek the nomination at the state Democratic convention next June, But he confirmed the report in the Courant that he would accept a draft.

NEEDS JFK APPROVAL

He said that any decision to resign from the Cabinet must have Kennedy's approval and that he had not spoken with the President about the matter.

* * *

Ribicoff, a two-term governor of Connecticut, said he has to decide whether "it is more important for the Kennedy program to have an additional voice in Congress or to have me continue in the Cabinet."

* * *

Rep. Frank Kowalski, a congressman at large, already has declared for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Connecticut.

Tattered Flag Is Brought to Its Proper End

A small act of patriotism has been performed quietly at the head of Pontiac's main street.

A faded and tattered American flag left on the statue of a Union soldier was removed and appropriately burned at the direction of Veterans Affairs Director Floyd Cremer.

The small flag, first noticed stuck in the muzzle of the soldier's rifle following this year's Veteran's Day parade, drew occasional comment from passers-by on North Saginaw Street.

* * *

The Flag had been left behind by young parade watchers who had climbed onto the statue for a better view. Some thought it was a fitting place for Old Glory.

Cremer thought otherwise — "not sticking out of the rifle muzzle," he said.

At one time, Cremer recalled, the nation's Flag did fly proudly from a pole in front of the statue on the American Legion-owned property.

* * *

The flagpole has long-since disappeared and the site is now used for frequent civic displays such as the city's huge Christmas tree.

Cold Hits Midwest While Florida Enters Round 3

By the Associated Press

A fresh surge of icy air spread across snow-covered regions in the Northern Midwest today and freezing weather hit areas in Northern Florida for the third straight morning.

Temperatures moderated in Southern Florida after two days of unseasonable cold, with the mercury dropping to below freezing south of Miami Tuesday. It was 60 in Miami early today compared to Tuesday's low of 42, a record for the date, and 65 in Key West.

* * *

In Tallahassee, the state capital, it was below freezing, 31 degrees, but warmer than Tuesday morning's chilly 20 degrees, the official low in the state. Temperatures were in the 30s in much of Northern Florida but forecasters predicted readings would range from 65 to 70 today, with 70 to 75 in southern sections.

* * *

The cold weather in Florida caused some damage to unprotected young citrus fruit and to vegetables in the north central part of the state.

Crossing Gate Probe Possible

City May Ask MPSC to Investigate Need at Franklin Road Site

The city may ask the Michigan Public Service Commission to investigate the need for a gate at the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing on Franklin Road where two persons were killed Dec. 19.

* * *

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr., who had previously pressed for repairs and additional safeguards at railroad crossings in the city, renewed his fight at last night's City Commission meeting.

"The Franklin crossing is in need of repair," Taylor said, "As long as I'm on this commission I intend to keep pounding at this.

"We need the sec rossings straightened out."

* * *

Commissioner Winford E. Bottom sided with Taylor, "This is a dangerous situation. The city should have a law requiring gates at major crossings like this."

"HIGH-SPEED TRAINS"

City Attorney William A. Ewart told commissioners the matter could be taken to the public service commission.

"There's no doubt those are high-speed trains coming through," he asserted.

Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer told the commission he would check into the matter.

* * *

"However," he warned, "it takes time to get something like this done. We took a similar request to them on the Huron Street crossing and it took a year to get the gates there."

A Pontiac Township couple, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lovett, was killed when their car was struck by a commuter train at the crossing the evening of Dec. 19.

There are warning lights at the crossing.

Report Juan Peron Wed to Secretary

MADRID (UPI)—Former Argentine Dictator Juan Peron, 65, has secretly married in Spanish exile his 28-year-old secretary, Isabella Martinez, persistent reports said today.

* * *

The overthrown president was "out of town" and could not be reached to confirm or deny the reports, an aide said.

* * *

But close friends said the couple sent out Christmas cards signed, "Juan Domingo Peron and Isabelita Martinez de Peron."

New York City Threatened With a Transit Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)— The possibility of a New Year's Eve strike hung heavy today over this trans-it-keyed metropolis' bus and subway lines. Also threatening a Jan. 1 walkout were 9,000 electricians.

* * *

With negotiations in their customary last-week crisis stage, members of the Transport Workers Union were summoned to a strike meeting tonight.

WOULD ASK STRIKE

Michael J. Quill, TWU international president, said employes of the Transit Authority and seven private bus lines would be asked to authorize a walkout if a contract dispute wasn't resolved.

* * *

Shorter work weeks are key issues in both strike threats. The transit union demands a four-day, 32-hour week. The electricians have asked a four-hour day instead of the present six-hour day.

COULD HALT PROJECTS'

A walkout of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers local would tie up work on millions of dollars worth of construction projects.

* * *

Quill and David L. Cole, chairman of the Transit Labor Board, were at odds on progress of the transit talks. Cole said bargainers were getting down to "brass tacks"; Quill said the talks were "rapidly breaking down."

* * *

Quill served notice that if he had a new contract agreement only with the authority—and not with the private lines—by 12:01 a.m. next Monday, the union would strike against both groups.

Major Revision Ordered in Plan for Dyna Soar

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says it has ordered a major revision in its Dyna Soar program which will eliminate one step in the manned research craft's eventual path to space. It will combine solid and liquid fuel rocket engines.

* * *

The Air Force said Tuesday it has decided to use one big liquid-fuel rocket engine and two smaller solid-fuel rocket engines to hurl the glider-like Dyna Soar into the lower edge of space. From there it is to soar back to earth after orbiting.

ELIMINATE FLIGHTS

All suborbital flights, using only the Titan II missile as booster, are now eliminated from the program.

* * *

The Titan II probably will be augmented with the thrust of two solid-fuel rocket engines arranged alongside the Titan rocket to provide the push needed to blast the Dyna Soar up to the 18,000 mile-an-hour speed needed for orbit.

3 Men Arrested for Aiding People Escape E. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Communists announced today that three men have been sentenced to prison for trying to help refugees escape to West Berlin.

The official Communist news agency ADN identified one of them as a West Berlin university student, Klaus Dieter Minx, 21, and said an East German court had sentenced him to four years in jail.

ADN said Andreas Stalder, 28, a Swiss bank employe, received a two-year, nine-month sentence, and that Wolfram Wurche, 20, an East Berlin university student, was sent to prison for three and one-half years.

* * *

The news agency said all three were arrested just before Christmas and that they all confessed.

To Establish Presbytery at Alma College Meeting

ALMA (UPI) — The new Grand River Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. will be organized at a meeting on the Alma College campus Jan. 2. The presbytery is made up of 24 West-Central Michigan counties.

* * *

The area has 44 Presbyterian churches with a membership totaling 20,000.

* * *

Dr. Samuel Weir of Detroit, executive of the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan, will preach the sermon at a communion service.

Call Special Meeting

A special meeting has been called for 7:30 tonight of the Sylvan Lake City Council at 1820 Inverness Ave. to open bids on a new police car.

Landscape Firm Reports $15 Stolen During Night

TROY — The Davey Tree & Landscape Co., 3846 Rochester Road, was broken into, and a metal cash box containing about $15 was taken sometime last night.

According to Troy police, the thief or thieves broke a lower window, reached into the building and opened a desk drawer to get the cash box. Police are still investigating the burglary.

See Viet Nam Lost Unless Military Acts

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Saigon, as in Laos, there are hard-nosed U.S. military men who believe that diplomats are fiddling while Southeast Asia burns.

★ ★ ★

These men are not the policy makers and official orders have stilled most of their voices. But they are the ones who believe that if decisive military action is not taken soon, then all the best-intentioned efforts toward government reform can only go down in a violent sea of Communist conquest.

Arrayed against them and in the ascendancy of U.S. thinking are those who believe in a two-pronged policy.

On the one side it presses reforms upon South Viet Nam's dictatorial President Ngo Dinh Diem and on the other a program perilously close to but still short of war involving U.S. combat units.

SHOWDOWN APPROACHING

Whichever policy ultimately is pursued, it seems certain a showdown swiftly is approaching in South Viet Nam.

It is a faceless war that is being fought in the rice paddies and jungles of South Viet Nam.

It is being fought by men who work as farmers by day and become Communist jungle guerillas by night.

It is being waged by university students trained by the Communists in the art of subversion.

At its hard-core are the dedicated and trained Communist fighters slipped in growing numbers into South Viet Nam by sea and by the new corridor opened to the Reds through Laos.

And working on the Communist side is mounting inflation of Vietnamese currency, a threatened rice shortage and growing dissatisfaction with the Diem regime which the United States is pledged to support.

At the center of any policy debate over South Viet Nam is Diem himself.

STARTED WELL

At the close of the Indo-Chinese War in 1954 and the subsequent Geneva conference which divided Viet Nam into North and South and set up the governments of Laos and Cambodia, Diem became South Viet Nam's premier.

In short order, he ousted playboy Emperor Bao Dai, quelled rebellious religious sects, eliminated officially-sponsored vice in Saigon and set up a government based on the principles of democracy.

His success led one American writer to say:

★ ★ ★

"In the midst of the dark storms that threaten Asia, President Diem stands like a beacon of light, showing the way to free people."

But in the years between, these things accurred.

Diem became impatient of advice. His people, he said, were not ready for democracy. Increasing authority went to members of his family.

And, meanwhile, the Communists shifted tactics. Unable to win in a frontal assault, they switched to sabotage and terrorism.

New cement factories and power projects were blown up. Villagers who resisted communism were tortured and slain. Guerilla bands operated almost on the outskirts of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Tough U.S. soldiers now are training loyal Vietnamese in their own guerilla tactics. U.S. helicopters help spot Communist hiding places. U.S. forces are told to fire if fired upon. Diem at last has agreed both to advice and reforms.

★ ★ ★

Military dissenters say the latter has come too late. The policy makers must decide whether, already deeply committed over Berlin, the U.S. can risk another Korea-type war in Asia.

The Phantom Ship is a twisted mass of rock that rises above the surface of Crater Lake in Oregon. It resembles a ship under full sail.

Belding Boy Shot, 2 Teens Questioned

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Eight-year-old Ronald Kenney of Belding was shot in the head and wounded critically Tuesday while playing.

★ ★ ★

The boy underwent emergency surgery at St. Mary's Hospital here.

Police questions two boys, aged 14 and 13, in connection with the shooting. They said the elder boy told them he fired a 22-caliber rifle in the area in which Ronald was shot.

Officers said Ronald and two friends were trying out B-B guns they received for Christmas near his home.

They said Ronald was stalking a bird in a bush and was struck by a rifle shot near Memorial Bridge on M-44.

Sound waves do not travel in a true vacuum.

Reporter Has Inside on 'Latest' Dance Craze

Will 'Twist' Fall Victim to 'Hully-Gully'?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many, many moons ago young Dr. Zhivago, my faithful Indian companion, began urging me to write a column about "the twist."

"It's going to be the greatest thing since the Hopi rain dance," he kept saying. "This is your chance to get in on the ground floor."

He even invited me to a couple of parties where I might see the thing demonstrated, but I demurred on grounds that I would never be able to describe it in a family newspaper.

The accuracy of his prediction that the twist was booming was brought home to me the other evening when I turned on my television set in the midst of what I thought was a scene from an old movie called "The Snake Pit."

It turned out, of course, that writhing bodies and contorted faces on the screen had not been photographed in a psychiatric ward, but on a dance floor. They were doing, I hardly need add, the you-know-what.

'TOO LATE'

Alarmed by what I had seen, I sought out Dr. Zhivago and requested him to enlighten me as to the origin and symbolism of this terpsichorean temblor.

"You're too late," he said, reproachfully. "The fact that 'the twist' is now a national rage means that it's already out of date.

"You also have missed the chance to acquaint your readers with several successors to 'the twist,' including 'the slop,' 'the fly,' 'the mashed potatoes,' 'the chicken' and 'the pony.'"

I begged the good doctor's forgiveness for having ignored his counsel and asked if there were not some way that I could redeem myself.

"Well," he said, "if you hurry you might be among the first to spread the word about 'the hully-gully.'"

★ ★ ★

But when I pressed him for details, he became evasive.

"Maybe you had better stick to the Mexican Hat Dance," he said, oozing scorn. "It's more your style."

★ ★ ★

Only after I had bested him in two out of three falls at Indian wrestling did he agree to continue.

SHELTER DANCE

"The hully-gully' is an outgrowth of the war jitters," he said. "It's the perfect dance for a fallout shelter. It packs the maximum amount of movement into the minimum amount of space."

★ ★ ★

He went on to explain that 'the 'hully-gully' is performed by a group, as opposed to the individualistic expressionism of the other dances he mentioned.

★ ★ ★

And that is as far as I intend to pursue the matter. But if it should become fashionable, like "the twist," then credit me with a scoop.

City's Economic Climate Improved in November

Pontiac's economic climate improved last month, although the seasonal decline in construction was evident in building statistics.

★ ★ ★

Auto industry employment, which was unsteady in September and early October, gained solid footing, Pontiacs and Tempests began selling at record breaking rates and the bigger payrolls showed in banking figures.

Pontiac's banks did a little over $1 million in business through customers' accounts in November than in October and business was almost $1 million over November, 1960.

With the approach of winter, building fell more than $1 million in amount and from 118 to 69 in the number of building permits issued.

Area residents used more gas and electricity and less water, while fewer rode airplanes, and postal receipts fell slightly. There were also fewer bus patrons.

SHORT MONTH

Some of the declines from October to November were due to the fact that November was shorter and had one national holiday. There were no holidays in October.

Figures indicating business trends in November were reported by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, the post office, the city water and inspections departments, Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., Pontiac Transit Corp., and North Central Airlines.

	Nov. 1961	Oct. 1961	Nov. 1960
Bank debits to customers' accounts (exclusive of public funds)	$86,334,598	$85,356,172	$85,403,143

QUADS SEE 'DAD' — Korean quadruplet girls arrived at the home of their adoptive parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bussman, Monday night but found their new dad in a hospital bed. The Bussmans, who live in the St. Paul, Minn., suburb of Roseville, got a special act of Congress to bring the babies to this country. They had adopted a Korean boy and girl, both 3, previously. Bussman, 50, is recovering from a broken pelvis suffered in a fall. Mrs. Bussman, 40, (at left) poses with student nurses lending a hand to show off the new arrivals, named Lois, Mary, Sharon and Ruth.

Pity Dragonfly; No Butcher He

Not a Fly or a Dragon, Misunderstood Insect Isn't So Bad as Reputed

The dragonfly is an innocent victim of gross misnomers and myths. It is not even a fly, much less a dragon.

★ ★ ★

The glistening, agile insect also is saddled with such popular names as devil's darning needle, sewing needle, bee butcher, mosquito hawk, horse stinger, snake feeder, and snake doctor.

Legends say dragonflies sew up the mouths of children who tell lies and stitch together the toes of barefoot, sleeping fishermen. The insects are reputed to sting horses to death and feed hungry snakes. Actually, dragonflies neither sew nor sting—nor feed any animal.

The dragonfly belongs to the great insect order Odonata, whose 5,000 species are scattered the world over wherever there is fresh water, the National Geographic Society says. The handsome creatures ornament thousands of lakes and streams during the summer.

★ ★ ★

Their iridescent brilliance has attracted men for centuries. Prehistoric New Mexican pottery and ancient Oriental paintings depict dragonflies.

Some have bright red bodies with a splash of carmine or blotches of gold and black on the wings. On others, the thorax is grass-green and the abdomen bright blue with dark markings. One species has a black body striped with yellow, and wings touched with gold.

The dragonfly's cellophane-thin, transparent wings are braced with a network of veins. Megalopirepus coerlatus, a large species found in Central and South America, has a wingspread of 7 inches; but it is a midget compared with a 250-million-year-old fossil dragonfly whose wings measured more than 2 feet.

★ ★ ★

Two pairs of wings, which may beat 20 or 30 times a second, and a matchstick-thin, streamlined body make the dragonfly a superb flier. Some species can fly 60 miles an hour. Others migrate hundreds of miles.

Bulky Equipment Limits Baking Industry Shows

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The Baking Industry Exposition, held here recently, is held only once every six years, mainly because the equipment is so bulky that it is expensive to move.

Manufacturers said too, that the design of the machinery doesn't undergo drastic changes very

DENVER (AP)— Four tires on a United Air Lines DC7 blew out as the plane landed at Stapleton Field Tuesday. A United spokesman said none of the 69 passengers or five crew members was injured.

Home Rule Slant Bothers 2 Groups

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors' wording of a county home rule resolution is bothering a couple of citizens groups.

★ ★ ★

They object that the board would grant itself the power to draft a recommended home rule charter for the county instead of enabling the public to elect a charter commission for this purpose.

The most recent objection has been raised by the Oakland Citizens League, Inc. Similar objections were raised earlier by a group of local citizens known as Civic Research, Inc.

Both groups are in favor of lessening state control over local matters and strengthening government at the county level through home rule.

SUBMITTED TO CON-CON

But they take exception to the wording of a proposal submitted this month by the board of supervisors to the constitutional convention.

It is inconceivable that the board should lift the responsibility to draft the framework for a changed county government from those to be governed, the groups maintain.

The Citizens League has petitioned the board to amend its resolution already submitted to con-con "to the end that power and authority will be clearly retained by the electorate in the framing, adopting and amending of an Oakland County charter."

★ ★ ★

Chairman of the board of supervisors, Delos Hamlin, has said it certainly would be within the rights of the people to petition for a charter commission election if the constitutional convention delegation recommends a provision for county home rule in the proposed new state constitution.

★ ★ ★

The board's home rule proposal was only one of many submitted by various counties seeking a home rule provision.

★ ★ ★

The con-con proposal may prove to be something quite different from his board's proposal, Hamlin admitted.

★ ★ ★

State voters would decide whether to accept the proposed constitution.

Food Packagers to Hike Use of Polyethylene Bags

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Food in the bag—whether to boil or to store in bulk in freezers—may play a bigger part in your life in the new year.

★ ★ ★

It will if today's plans of both the food packagng industry and the makers of polyethylene work out on schedule.

★ ★ ★

They are confident of expansion of the already fast growing boil-in-the-bag sales.

COUNT ON NEW IDEA

They also count on selling you on the idea of frozen vegetables in family-size proportions—but not in solid blocks—packaged in these filmy bags. This way food can be taken from the package to fit your individual need at the moment, with the remainder going back in the freezer.

★ ★ ★

Noting the rapidly increasing use of bags of prepared foods that can be heated in boiling water, the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co., predicts this will help push total polyethylene sales in 1962 by 10 to 15 per cent.

HOPE TO TRIPLE SALES

The Modern Foods Council says 100 million boil-in-the-bag units were sold this year. There are some 100 food items so packaged or Jr., says. A pioneer in the field by about 40 food processors. They was its Seabrook Farms division predict hopefully that sales will with a campaign to get housewives reach 300 million units before to buy boil-in-the-bag foods.
1965.

★ ★ ★

The Food and Drug Administration permits the use of polyethylene film under prescribed safety conditions. Uses range from production of packaging materials and containers to equipment intended for use in producing processing, transporting or holding food.

★ ★ ★

Polyethylene makers and food processors say this ruling has opened the door now to many possible new uses.

PLAN NEW USES

Example: Coatings for milk cartons and bakery trays. Other developments reported include lining for cartons to hold liquids, and formed containers with tear tapes.

Formed Container Corp. asserts it can offer price advantages for the polyethylene packs as against older forms of food containers.

★ ★ ★

This is seconded by the Flexible Packaging Division of Continental Can Co. which supplies polyethylene film.

Money spent in early research in the polyethylene packaging for food by Seeman Bros. has paid off well, its chairman, John B. Fowl-

USING NEW PACK

Birdseye and many other food packagers are marketing fruits and vegetables in the new packs.

★ ★ ★

Their sales talk is that by preserving frozen foods in such bags and then popping them into boiling water, the housewife can either thaw and warm prepared food or cook frozen raw foods and conserve the vitamin content of the food in the bag.

★ ★ ★

Fowler says the boil-in-the-bag principle makes possible packing special diets for hospital or home use and providing restaurants with ready entrees.

Food firms like Armour, General Foods and Seeman Bros. are working hard now to convince restaurant owners to join the parade in numbers and volume of usage.

★ ★ ★

Grandmother might have her reservations about the whole trend. But just try telling that to the makers of the film or the food processors using it.

Some of the craters on the moon are estimated to be 14 miles across.

Weight Watchers Welcome Proper Lunch

If your youngster is too plump to be pleased about it, you'd be wise to start helping him or her trim down. Even during the school years, that extra pudginess too often dismissed as "baby fat" can be a serious social and emotional handicap. Besides youthful chubbies have a way of growing up into unstylish stouts, which is unpretty, unhealthy — and unnecessary.

Also unnecessary, as well as unwise for the young (or anyone else, for that matter) is drastic dieting. Weight control experts advise using a number of minor cutbacks that reduce caloric intake safely without making the weight-watching youngster's eating pattern obviously different rom the "gang's."

Unless the child is markedly obese (your doctor can tell you), prevention of further weight-gain till growth catches up to poundage is usually more desirable than actual weight loss. The following carried to school in a lunch box or luncheon menus can be easily served at home. They combine high nutrition for active youngsters, and the sweet treats craved by the school set without excessive fattening calories.

Tuna and Salad Luncheon

Tuna sandwich with lettuce and watercress on cracked wheat bread (mix 1 can tuna fish with ½ cup chopped celery and 1 chopped hard cooked egg with 2 tablespoons Italian-Style low calorie dressing. Provides filling for 3 appetizingly plump sandwiches. The junior weight-watcher gets only 1.

★ ★ ★

Spread bread with the low calorie dressing for flavor. Finger salad of tomato wedges, raw carrot sticks, green pepper strips, radishes.

1 pear
1 cup skim milk
3 gum drops or a licorice whip

Soup and Sandwich Luncheon

Tomato soup (to be carried in vacuum jug)

Sliced chicken sandwich with cucumber and lettuce on rye bread (spread bread with low calorie dressing.)

Crunchy celery and carrot sticks
1 cup skim milk
3 stuffed dates

Roast Beef and Slaw

Roast beef (or leftover meat loaf) sandwich with lettuce and tomatoes on white bread.

Red and white cabbage slaw (shred cabbage, mix with low calorie dressing, and season to taste) carried in a covered container.

1 cup milk
1 tangerine
2 sugar cookies

Honey Pineapple Glaze Excellent on Baked Ham

Having a party? Serve a whole baked ham guests can slice themselves and have plenty of sandwich fixin's and go-alongs on hand.

★ ★ ★

About now you've begun hunting for an easy way to make your holiday dinner one to remember. So try this taste-appealing Honey-Pineapple Glaze. Combine ¼ cup honey, ¼ cup pineapple juice and ½ tablespoon mustard. When ham is done, remove skin to expose fat, score into diamonds and insert whole cloves. Baste ham frequently with mixture until it is an even, golden brown. Garnish with pineapple slices and cherries, and bake about five minutes more.

New Baked Apples

Core 1 apple for each serving, place in shallow pan on 8-inch square of aluminum foil. Put 1 tablespoon of chunk-style or creamy peanut butter in apple center. Fill hole with maple-flavored syrup, bring up foil around apple (to hold in juice and keep skin from breaking) leaving 2-inch opening at top. Bake about 1 hour at 375 degrees.

Spiced Nuts Are Really Different

Spiced nuts are a holiday treat with a multitude of uses. For example, the crunchy tidbits make wonderful gifts. Or hang them on the tree along with other goodies and let the youngsters "raid" the branches. Twist them separately in red or green cellophane, add a sprig of holly and you've created a "tasteful" gift decoration. And what's a stocking on Christmas morn' without speced nuts bulging in the toe?

The spicy delights can be prepared from rich, flavorful pecans, which according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are more abundant than ever.

For real old-fashioned goodness, just sift together three times 2 cups confectioners' sugar, ½ cup cornstarch, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ cup cinnamon, 2 teaspoons ginger and 1 tablespoon ground cloves. Beat 1 egg white slightly and add 2 tablespoons cold water.

★ ★ ★

Put 1¾ cups pecan kernels in wire strainer, dip into egg mixture until well-coated and drain. Roll the nuts in part of spice mixture. Spread another part ¼ inch thick in shallow pan and place nuts on this, separating them. Cover with remainder of mixture and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and sift. Save spice mixture to use again.

What's in a Name?

What you may call "heel" or "horseshoe" pot roast, your out-of-state neighbor may call "heel around," "triangle," "pikes peak" or "diamond." Or, according to the American Meat Institute, you may see it featured at your meat counter as "wedge," "duck," "goose neck," "spur," "turkey" or "pyramid" roast.

Next time you see "macaroni au gratin" on a menu, just remember it's good old macaroni and cheese.

Harold Elliotts Give Family Yule Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. Isaac C. Prevette of Mary Day Avenue, the junior Isaac C. Prevettes and their children Judy, Robert and Joni, and the Edward Luscombs of Warwick Road were guests of the Harold Elliotts of Clarkston at a family dinner Christmas Day.

★ ★ ★

Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor with their children Sally Jo, Sharon and Susan came from South Holland, Ill., for the occasion.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor is pastor of Berean Baptist Church in that city.

The Elliott children are Phillip, James, Ruth, Stephen, Andrew and Matthew.

★ ★ ★

The Luscombs were hosts at a buffet supper in their home Saturday evening. Dr. and Mrs. Prevette and the Isaac C. Prevettes and their youngsters were present.

Shower Caps Protect Hair

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Two major ground rules for beauty are showering and shampooing. Frequent shampooing is essential for a lovely coiffure. Today's lofty hairdos become flattened by oil and dirt and layer after layer of hair spray.

★ ★ ★

Busy women are likely to find it rather complicated to save the hairdo while showering or bathing. However, today stores carry a large selection of fascinating caps for shower and pin-up time.

One of the most interesting developments in the shower cap is one which has adjustable flexible ribs. These make the cap puffy enough to fit over the most bouffant hair style or the fattest rollers.

Another shower-time treat is a hood which fits over your head like a knight's helmet. It is loose fitting but protective, since it extends beneath the chin. It has a clear window so that you can see while you take a refreshing soapy shower. This is wonderful because it protects your make-up as well as your hair when you are taking a quick, last-minute shower before dressing for a special occasion.

★ ★ ★

There are many other caps which are lovely. These are literally covered with flowers.

In order to look their best, many women give their hair a pickup at home in between professional shampoos and sets. There is a wonderful array of caps for drying after shampooing. You will look like a pinup girl in one of the pouffy pastel caps gathered down the center and decorated with an orchid.

There is also the Dutch boy cap which is made of two layers of terry cloth. This absorbs moisture and is much more attractive than a towel around your head. A "fun" cap is a knitted Italian fisherman's cap. This is equipped with flirty curls in front. You can be blonde, redhead or whatever you wish while your hair is drying. The curls are detachable, so the cap can be laundered easily.

One reason the hair of movie stars is so pretty is because they shampoo it frequently, sometimes once a day when before the cameras.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Framing Your Face Attractively," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 51. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

This helmet worn in the shower will protect your make-up and hair when you want a last-minute shower before dressing.

Some Undernourished

Oldsters Skimp on Meals

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Our national enthusiasm for "going places" extends to the very youngest member of the family. Mobility becomes as important for baby as it does for the parents. The alternative to taking him with us is to leave him behind with a reliable baby sitter.

I don't know how your sitter list looks but my list is getting shorter and the availables are charging more for doing less (I've been charged 75 cents an hour with no dishwashing or cooking). The luxury of a baby sitter is reserved for gala adult occasions.

★ ★ ★

In the spirit of "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em," many a mother has put aside her dreams of unencumbered shopping trips or afternoon excursions and concentrated on finding the best and easiest way to transport her little dumpling.

SURE MISTAKE

At least once you'll make the mistake of trying to carry the baby while you shop. This will teach you that after a half hour's pressure on your arm a 13-pound baby hefts like 130 pounds.

A smooth-pushing baby carriage for the tiny baby and a free-wheeling stroller for the older child are an economy at any price. If you live a distance from the shopping center, a folding stroller to tuck in the car is a must.

★ ★ ★

Don't be tempted to buy a cheap stroller. If it's flimsy, the wheels stick, the frame sways and, in my observation, the seat is often binding and uncomfortable for the baby. Need I remind you that an uncomfortable baby is an unhappy one?

A top quality stroller doesn't cost a great deal more but it will give a lot better service. It is far easier to maneuver indoors and out and, eventually, the resale value is higher. New since my stroller-pushing days is the addition of a heavy-gauge steel package basket back of the stroller seat. Padded stroller seats support a baby's back and some of them tilt back to sleeper position.

FOLDING CHAIRS HANDY

Also of service to the mobile mother are folding high chairs and folding play pens with soft nylon netting sides. I can hear the groans from dad when he is asked to load this equipment into the car for a day's outing with the kinfolk.

Memories of trying to balance a wiggly baby on my knee while feeding him and then hopefully expecting him to stay on a blanket on the grass are still vivid because both actions were utterly unsuccessful.

This may sound silly but try the baby in the car seat before you buy. Once I bought one which was well-built and fit the front seat perfectly. But it didn't fit the baby — much too snug!

My present day excursions with children don't require the special equipment you need with a baby but do require even greater patience. A shopping trip is absolute anathema to a nine-year-old. His sole conversation is "When are we going home?" His footsteps falter, he lags behind; the whole effort of hoisting himself over to Boys' Wear seems too exhausting for his strength. Of some help I find is to carry along a comic or riddle book for him to read while I finish shopping.

★ ★ ★

My five-year-old, on the other hand, regards the large department store with the spirited enthusiasm of a Hillary in the Himalayas. Off she dashes to scale the escalators, dodge behind counters, peer under the dress racks, whirl through revolving doors. You meet a lot of floor managers this way but it's a nerve-wracking introduction.

Have Yule Guest

Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Todd of Cherokee Road were pleasantly surprised when their son David brought home a houseguest for the holidays, Hanseen Yuan of Rangoon, Burma. Both will return to Alma College Jan. 2.

Teen-Agers' Mothers Extra Busy

By MARY ELLEN MEAD

BIRMINGHAM — Crowded social calendars are universal at this time of year, but parents of vacationing teen-agers count on being drafted for double festivity.

In their roles as chaperones, the party circuit becomes as hectic as an Elsa Maxwell "list."

Biggest dance of the week, Soir Joyeux, will take place New Year's Eve at the Community House.

Still with the teen-agers — in spirit, anyway — is that group of women who elected to ride down via Theater Caravan to the Fisher Theater Wednesday.

"Bye, Bye Birdie" is the rollicking musical which kept them all in holiday mood.

Among the group were Mrs. Stewart Hamilton, Mrs. Carl Marr, Mrs. Harry F. Menard, Mrs. Don M. Graham, Mrs. Forbes Hascall, Mrs. Bates Miller, Mrs. Russell Strickland, Mrs. Laurence B. Avison Jr. and Mrs. C. Henry Purdy and Mrs. Robert Pack of Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffrey of Menlo Park, Calif., have been in Birmingham since before Christmas visiting their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pendrahie of Cheltenham Road.

They also saw another daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. Jeffrey's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Peters Jr. of Oak Street.

They plan to return to the West Coast after the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fauver of Fairfax, with their youngsters John Jr., Joey and Jeff, left Tuesday for Gray Rocks (near Gaylord) where they've taken a cottage for the New Year's holiday.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Fauver's brother and sister-in-law the Bill Millers and the four oldest of their seven children: Jackie, Teddy, Bing and Meg.

Skiing is the incentive.

Mrs. Morris C. Purdy, of Glengary Road, a sister of Mrs. Fauver, will head north for skiing Thursday.

She, along with Lisa, Jerry and Bill, will be joined by Mr. Purdy for New Year's Eve.

Hosts Family Christmas Day

Christmas dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Harry J. Richards on Mohawk Road were Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Richards of Ann Arbor, where Mr. Richards is a senior medical student at the University of Michigan.

Joining the family group were Doris Marie Richards, professor of speech at the State Normal College, Normal, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Richards of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. William Richards and children Nancy and Ronald of Livonia.

JOAN MARIE SHAW

The Franklin A. Shaws of Monticello Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter Joan Marie to Pvt. Jerry L. Stafford, whose parents are the Walter J. Staffords of Putnam Avenue.

To Greet '62 a Day Early

Members of Forest Lake Country Club will usher in the New Year a day early at a gala celebration Saturday evening beginning at 6:30 in the clubhouse.

★ ★ ★

The Donald Hackers of Franklin will be hosts at a cocktail party in their home, going on to the club for dinner and dancing.

★ ★ ★

For the late-comers, there will be a cold buffet table after midnight.

★ ★ ★

The club will be closed for the month of January.

Check Mental Health.

Can You Handle Stress?

By DORMAN CORDELL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — A do-it-yourself test for mental health?

★ ★ ★

There are eight definite attributes of mental health, according to Miss Margaret Marshall, an instructor in psychological nursing.

★ ★ ★

By setting up a scale for each attribute and measuring himself against it, a person can get at least some idea of his own mental health, Miss Marshall told the New Jersey State Nurses Association.

Miss Marshall, who teaches at the Rutgers University College of Nursing, said the eight attributes are:

1. The ability to work productively at a job with a minimum amount of stress.

2. The ability to move about well with the members of one's community.

★ ★ ★

3. The ability to cope with emotions as they arise in daily living.

4. The awareness of the behavioral pattern used to reduce anxiety and the tendency to reinforce or perpetuate the pattern that proves to be most effective in preserving equanimity.

5. The ability to change or modify behavior to make it appropriate to the situation in which one finds himself.

6. The ability to move smoothly among the many roles involved in living.

7. The ability and self-assurance to form heterosexual relations.

8. A comprehensive and realistic knowledge of oneself individually.

COST OF LIVING—The cost of living continued upward in 1961 just as it has every year but one in the past decade. The consumers price index reached 127.9, meaning retail buyers paid considerably higher for food, clothing and a variety of other items than they paid (on an average) in the years 1947 through 1949. That is when the base of 100 was set. Since 1951 the index declined only in 1955.

Gary Cooper's Death Top Story

Hollywood Had Year of Trial, Tragedy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It was a year of trial and tragedy for Hollywood.

Trouble came in big doses in 1961. Economics were grinding at the movie industry. There was much cry that films were becoming immoral. More of the greats were taken by death.

★ ★ ★

But show people are incurable optimists. At year's end they managed to find hope for the film business, which still could look lively when it was supposed to roll over and die.

★ ★ ★

The signal told Morse that he had become a father. He got the details later; a 9-pound, 8-ounce girl named Andrea born in Le Roy Hospital.

Morse, 30, and the former Carole D'Andrea were married in April. She appeared as a dancer in the Broadway and film versions of "West Side Story."

This is how the top 10 stories of Hollywood appeared to this reporter:

1. Gary Cooper dies. Even though his death was expected after a wasting illness, it was front-page news all over the world. Hollywood never quite realized his greatness until he was gone.

2. Liz Taylor wins Oscar. She had previously captured headlines when she declined a rendezvous with death in a London hospital. Her tottering walk to collect her Oscar for "Butterfield 8" was one of the great moments of Motion Picture Academy history.

FIRE! REAL DRAMA

3. The fire. Hollywood found itself caught up in real-life drama when a brush fire swept the hills of Bel-Air and Brentwood.

★ ★ ★

4. Jeff Chandler dies. His death after surgery was a shock, since he was believed to be suffering a minor ailment. It is a story that is not yet concluded.

5. John Clark Cable born. This news was a joyous aftermath to the loss last year of Hollywood's king.

★ ★ ★

6. The runaways. This was a continuing story that focused light on Hollywood's new economics. A congressional hearing found no solution for the increasing move of filming to foreign lands.

7. Dinah Shore and George Montgomery part. This was the shocker amid the usual crop of filmland divorces. There was no preparation for the news of their impending divorce.

8. Morality. Another year-long story concerning Hollywood's attempt to match the outspokenness of European films.

★ ★ ★

9. Marilyn Monroe sheds Arthur Miller. Double-M showed no loss of her knack for making news during 1961, her illnesses and dates with Frank Sinatra adding to the total.

10. Lucille Ball remarries. Comedian Gary Morton announced "I love Lucy" and they tied the knot in New York.

Dad Gets Sign and Succeeds in a Big Hurry

NEW YORK (AP)—Costar Robert Morse got a signal Tuesday night in the final act of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," and his colleagues say they never saw him wrap up a show so quickly.

★ ★ ★

The signal told Morse that he had become a father. He got the details later; a 9-pound, 8-ounce girl named Andrea born in Le Roy Hospital.

Morse, 30, and the former Carole D'Andrea were married in April. She appeared as a dancer in the Broadway and film versions of "West Side Story."

Bob Kennedy to Visit Sukarno in February

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials said Tuesday Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy probably will visit Indonesia during a world tour that will take the President's brother from Tokyo to Berlin in February.

Officials were unable to give dates for the visit to President Sukarno in Jakarta. They said nothing is firm on any other stops on the tour.

It was recalled that Sukarno invited the attorney geenral to visit him when the Indonesian leader made a state visit here last April.

Asks Reversal of PSC Order

Intertown Bus Firm Wants Ingham County to OK Service Halt

LANSING (AP) — Intertown Suburban Lines Corp. asked Ingham County Circuit Court Tuesday to reverse a State Public Service Commission order that it continue providing bus service to 14 Detroit suburbs.

★ ★ ★

Edmund M. Brady, Intertown attorney, said a hearing was set for Thursday at which the PSC is to show why Intertown's request should not be granted.

Last Wednesday the commission ordered Intertown to continue operating although the bus firm had not applied to the commission for a 1962 operating certificate.

Brady said, "I've never heard of such a thing before. The statutes say a company cannot operate without a certificate. A company has to apply for one before it can function and Intertown has not."

★ ★ ★

A strike by bus drivers and mechanics shut down Intertown for four months this year.

Gains, Losses Range to a Point

Stocks Move Unevenly Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to move unevenly in active early trading today.

★ ★ ★

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among key stocks.

GM moved upward a fraction. Chrysler, Ford and American Motors were unchanged.

Steels were spotty, with U.S. Steel adding a fraction while Republic was down about a point.

Elements of selective strength mingled with weakness. DuPont advanced more than 3. Gains of around a point were made by Eastman Kodak, Southern California Edison and American Tobacco.

Most oils and airlines lost fractions. Boeing was unchanged despite publicity about its Dyna-Soar project.

Rails were mixed although a number of earnings were improved.

Santa Fe and Southern Pacific were among moderate gainers.

★ ★ ★

Electrical equipments eased.

Opening blocks included: GM, up ½ at 57 on 5,600 shares; Bethlehem, up ½ at 41½ on 4,700; and American Telephone, up ⅛ at 134⅛ on 3,000.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Losers included Syntex, Talon "B," Majestic Specialties, Creole Petroleum and Avien "A."

Corporate Bonds Uneven

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate bond prices opened with an uneven price tone today. The U.S. government list was unchanged in a minimum of trading.

One over the counter dealer in Treasury securities said the big increase in the balance of payments deficit during the September quarter had absolutely no affect on the bond markets.

There were few changes amounting to a full point among corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Rails and utilities fell while industrials moved upward.

Firm Moving Allegan Branch

Town Plans to Appeal Action to President of Michigan Magnetics

ALLEGAN (AP) — Michigan Magnetics Division of Voishan Industries, Inc., is moving operations of its Allegan branch back to Vermontville before Feb. 28, according to a company announcement.

★ ★ ★

The plant employs approximately 80 persons, mostly women, in the production of magnetic tape recorder heads.

Allegan Improvement Association directors, instrumental in locating the branch in this community four yars ago, were framing an appeal to division president Charles Murphy to keep the operation at Allegan.

J. Richard Mahar, AIA president, saw little hope for the appeal. He said, however:

★ ★ ★

"The AIA's job is pretty obvious. We'll have to . . . find some firm interested in a brand new, modern plant with a ready made work force . . . (which) consistently set records for productivity."

Mahar recalled a parallel in McGraw-Edison purchase of the Hea-Tube Co. at Allegan three years ago and moving the operation from the city.

He said top officers of the purchased firm remained at Allegan to found Tru-Heat Corp., now listing employment nearly equal that of the original company.

Man May Find Shrunken Existence on Other Planets

By The Associated Press

An apple a day, life under high gravity and facial growth are items in the medical news:

APPLE MEDICINE

An apple a day does seem to keep the doctor away.

At least, students eating two to three apples daily made far fewer calls at Michigan State University's Health Center for upper respiratory infections and tension-pressure complaints than nonapple eaters.

The three-year study, started by the late Dr. Eugene H. Lucas, involved more than 1,300 apple eaters, compared with all the rest of the students.

The apple eaters made one-third fewer calls for upper respiratory infections than expected for the entire student body. They made only one-sixth as many calls because of tension or pressure phenomena, including pressure headaches, nervousness, and inability to concentrate.

As to why, investigators say perhaps the vitamin C content of apples was helpful, or a better balanced diet, or perhaps because of some tranquilizer in apples.

HIGH-GRAVITY LIFE

When and if man colonizes planets bigger than earth, he may find his appetite decreased, and his children a bit stunted in growth.

For these were the physical effects on mice living under gravity pull three to seven times that on the earth, report Dr. Charles C. Wunder and associates of the State University of Iowa. The bigger a planet is, the greater is its gravity.

★ ★ ★

The mice lived in cages spun by a centrifuge at speeds up to 5,000 revolutions per minute. In a few weeks, the animals adjust to the increased gravity. But they have small appetites, and in size become smaller than mice living under normal gravity. Body organs grow differently than in normal animals. Implanted tumors grow more slowly in the spinning mice, possibly because they eat less, says an American Cancer Society report on the experiments.

The human face is slow in reaching full growth, reports Dr. Jagdish K. Bambha of Denver on the basis of X-ray studies.

★ ★ ★

By the time a child is nearly four years old, 90 per cent of the growth of the head is completed, but less than half the growth of the face is finished. Facial growth continues for a year or two after youngsters finish their bodily growth in their late teens.

DRUG KICKBACKS

Drugs frequently produce annoying side effects, such as headaches and drowsiness, in some persons but not in others. Some persons get the same kind of reactions even from dummy sugar pills, or placebos.

★ ★ ★

One reason, suggests Dr. Karl Rickels, University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist, could be that the patient is unconsciously expressing disappointment about the treatment the doctor is giving him.

South America's Andes mountains have a length of about 4,500 miles and are longer than any other mountain range extending in a continuous single elevation in the world.

Nobel Winner Succumbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Otto Loewi, 88, who won a Nobel Prize in medicine in 1936, died Monday. Dr. Loewi, research professor of pharmacology at the New York University School of Medicine, was awarded the prize for his discovery of the chemical transmission of the nervous system. He was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1940.

President's Quarters Removed From Main Streets

JFK's Shadows Like Setup at Holiday White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Backstairs at the White House:

Secret Service and other security personnel like the setup at the holiday White House and prefer it to the home of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy where President Kennedy and his family spent Christmas last year.

The President, his wife and children this Christmas season are living in the home of C. Michael Paul, an old friend of the elder Kennedy. The Paul place has spacious grounds and the house itself is removed from the main streets of Palm Beach by about 100 yards.

Ambassador Kennedy's property, on the other hand, is only a few feet away from a main and heavily traveled street.

The President and his family probably will remain here well into January. The Chief Executive has a speaking date in Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 6 and is expected to fly there direct from Palm Beach. Whether he then returns to Florida for a few more days before heading for Washington apparently is a matter yet to be decided.

★ ★ ★

Congress does not convene until Jan. 10 and the President's presence will not be urgently required in Washington until shortly before that time. He'll be doing an increasing amount of business down here.

A trip by the President to Mexico in late January now is pretty much out the window. It may be rescheduled later this year. Actually, no final trip plan ever was announced. So a cancellation is not required. But a Mexican visit the last week of January was under serious consideration. This, however, has been dropped.

The owner of one of Palm Beach's better restaurants drinks a lot of coffee during business hours. And the waitresses love to serve him. The coffee is on the house, but he tips the server $1 per cup.

There's also a story going around Palm Beach this holiday season that one of the most famous figures of international society has an interesting system for picking up pin money.

Invited to spend the weekend at your estate, this famous society figure gives you a bill for $2,500 when the weekend is over — plus travel and other expenses.

Ex-Policeman's Career Has Sensational Start

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You could have heard a parking ticket drop . . .

Because Singing Ex-Cop Severio Saridis not only had great lungs and voice when he opened at the Plaza Persian Room but excellent stage presence. "He's a sensational find — this is the opening of a great career," commented Ringsider Walter Slezak, a guest of Plaza boss Neal Lang, who discovered the cop. No Caruso, of course, but who was? Only Mario Lanza.

WILSON

And there was some humor..

"Manage him right or he'll arrest you!" was the Bill Dana (Jose Jiminez) wire that manager George Greif received. Scattered through the audience in their dinner suits were about 40 well-wishing buddy cops. "I never bumped up against so much hardware in my life," Greif said.

But the audience's rising ovation for the 28-year-old stocky curly-haired made Cinderella was authentic. No top cop was there—but Fire Commissioner Ed Cavanagh, new Deputy Mayor-to-be, was in black tie . . . They say he's bound for the White House.

New Courthouse Shrinks as 25 Lawyers Take Oath

The new and larger county courthouse, completed last summer to meet an increasing demand for public service, proved to be too small yesterday.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom was unable to accommodate all the families and friends of 25 new attorneys being admitted to practice law in the county courts.

The overflow spilled into the corridors as spectators craned their necks for a look.

It was a proud moment for the young lawyers, their families and friends.

LARGEST OF ITS KIND

Judge Adams commented that it was the largest group yet to be admitted at one time to practice here.

He referred to the occasion as "the goal of many years of hard work and a great day in the lives of all these young men."

Those who took the oath administered by Oakland County Clerk Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. are:

George A. Googasian, 105 E. Iroquois Road; Thomas E. Hunter, Seth H. Barsky, 21874 Ontaga, Farmington Township; Paul Teranes, 4074 Lincoln Drive, Birmingham; Lawrence Sukenic; David E. West of Detroit.

Members of the Oakland County Chapter of Lawyers Wives served refreshments after the ceremony. 307 Iroquois Road; Stanley G. Foresman, 347 Greenwood Road, Birmingham; Frederick J. Prost, 462 W. Brockton St., Madison Heights; George A. Alderton III, 1520 E. Bennaville Road, Birmingham.

Also: Melvin Yedlin, 5820 Burnham Road, Bloomfield Hills; William E. Stewart, 27743 Lexington Parkway, Southfield; Joseph D. Nicoletti, 4307 Sheridan Drive, Royal Oak; Richard J. Behm; Joseph M. Guenther, 669 Graefield Court, Birmingham.

Robert E. Greenstein, 15250 Park Ave., Oak Park; Daniel F. Money, 405 E. Square Lake Road, Troy; Kenneth H. Lang, 9 Oakdale Blvd., Pleasant Ridge; William T. Myers, 24500 Tudor Lane, Birmingham.

Berlin Crisis Gets Thoughtful Treatment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing Berlin crisis was the subject of a thoughtful and clear analysis by NBC's news staff Tuesday night in a special program.

The increasing tensions and continuing incidents in the German city cut in half by the Communist wall were presented as another move in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's international chess game designed ultimately to neutralize Europe and isolate America. Narrator Chet Huntley stated that although Berlin now is the target, the game is to knock flourishing West Germany out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although presenting America and its European friends as stronger, militarily and economically, than the Soviet Union, the program emphasized the differences of opinions existing among the NATO allies and Khrushchev's shrewd exploitations.

Jaycee Anti-Red Resolution Gets Backing Across U.S.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Strong nationwide support was developing today for an anti-Communist resolution the Grand Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce hopes to present to President Kennedy in Washington in mid-January.

Roger Matthews, president of the local Jaycee chapter, said more than 200 endorsements from other Jaycee groups in 28 states have been received to date "and that when this is done it will represent the feeling of approximately 200,000 young men of action, the membership of the Junior Chambers of Commerce."

Matthews said Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., a former Grand Rapids jaycee and named in 1949 as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the United States by the national Jaycees, is attempting to arrange the appointment with the President.

The main clause of the resolution addressed to the President states, "we the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Grand Rapids do strongly urge that you as our commander-in-chief take a firm stand not only on the borders of West Berlin but elsewhere whenever necessary to insure our security."

The resolution pledges the lives and futures of the Jaycee membership to support of American ideals.

The resolution was adopted Nov. 9 and copies were subsequently sent to each of the 3,987 other Jaycee chapters across the nation.

Matthews, a printing salesman, said the resolution was first put forth by the anti-Communist committee of the Grand Rapids Jaycees. The members proposed it as a way of educating the public to the dangers of communism.

Man May Find Shrunken Existence on Other Planets

By The Associated Press

An apple a day, life under high gravity and facial growth are items in the medical news:

APPLE MEDICINE

An apple a day does seem to keep the doctor away.

At least, students eating two to three apples daily made far fewer calls at Michigan State University's Health Center for upper respiratory infections and tension-pressure complaints than nonapple eaters.

The three-year study, started by the late Dr. Eugene H. Lucas, involved more than 1,300 apple eaters, compared with all the rest of the students.

The apple eaters made one-third fewer calls for upper respiratory infections than expected for the entire student body. They made only one-sixth as many calls because of tension or pressure phenomena, including pressure headaches, nervousness, and inability to concentrate.

As to why, investigators say perhaps the vitamin C content of apples was helpful, or a better balanced diet, or perhaps because of some tranquillizer in apples.

HIGH GRAVITY LIFE

When and if man colonizes planets bigger than earth, he may find his appetite decreased, and his children a bit stunted in growth.

For these were the physical effects on mice living under gravity pull three to seven times that on the earth, report Dr. Charles C. Wunder and associates of the State University of Iowa. The bigger a planet is, the greater is its gravity.

★ ★ ★

The mice lived in cages spun by a centrifuge at speeds up to 5,000 revolutions per minute. In a few weeks, the animals adjust to the increased gravity. But they have small appetites, and in size become smaller than mice living under normal gravity. Body organs grow differently than in normal animals. Implanted tumors grow more slowly in the spinning mice, possibly because they eat less, says an American Cancer Society report on the experiments.

The human face is slow in reaching full growth, reports Dr. Jagdish K. Bambha of Denver on the basis of X-ray studies.

★ ★ ★

By the time a child is nearly four years old, 90 per cent of the growth of the head is completed, but less than half the growth of the face is finished. Facial growth continues for a year or two after youngsters finish their bodily growth in their late teens.

DRUG KICKBACKS

Drugs frequently produce annoying side effects, such as headaches and drowsiness, in some persons but not in others. Some persons get the same kind of reactions even from dummy sugar pills, or placebos.

★ ★ ★

One reason, suggests Dr. Karl Rickels, University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist, could be that the patient is unconsciously expressing disappointment about the treatment the doctor is giving him.

South America's Andes mountains have a length of about 4,500 miles and are longer than any other mountain range extending in a continuous single elevation in the world.

Nobel Winner Succumbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Otto Loewi, 88, who won a Nobel Prize in medicine in 1936, died Monday. Dr. Loewi, research professor of pharmacology at the New York University School of Medicine, was awarded the prize for his discovery of the chemical transmission of the nervous system. He was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1940.

President's Quarters Removed From Main Streets

JFK's Shadows Like Setup at Holiday White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Backstairs at the White House:

Secret Service and other security personnel like the setup at the holiday White House and prefer it to the home of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy where President Kennedy and his family spent Christmas last year.

The President, his wife and children this Christmas season are living in the home of C. Michael Paul, an old friend of the elder Kennedy. The Paul place has spacious grounds and the house itself is removed from the main streets of Palm Beach by about 100 yards.

Ambassador Kennedy's property, on the other hand, is only a few feet away from a main and heavily traveled street.

The President and his family probably will remain here well into January. The Chief Executive has a speaking date in Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 6 and is expected to fly there direct from Palm Beach. Whether he then returns to Florida for a few more days before heading for Washington apparently is a matter yet to be decided.

★ ★

Congress does not convene until Jan. 10 and the President's presence will not be urgently required in Washington until shortly before that time. He'll be doing an increasing amount of business down here.

A trip by the President to Mexico in late January now is pretty much out the window. It may be rescheduled later this year. Actually, no final trip plan ever was announced. So a cancellation is not required. But a Mexican visit the last week of January was under serious consideration. This, however, has been dropped.

The owner of one of Palm Beach's better restaurants drinks a lot of coffee during business hours. And the waitresses love to serve him. The coffee is on the house, but he tips the server $1 per cup.

There's also a story going around Palm Beach this holiday season that one of the most famous figures of international society has an interesting system for picking up pin money.

Invited to spend the weekend at your estate, this famous society figure gives you a bill for $2,500 when the weekend is over — plus travel and other expenses.

Ex-Policeman's Career Has Sensational Start

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You could have heard a parking ticket drop . . .

Because Singing Ex-Cop Severio Saridis not only had great lungs and voice when he opened at the Plaza Persian Room but excellent stage presence. "He's a sensational find — this is the opening of a great career," commented Ringsider Walter Slezak, a guest of Plaza boss Neal Lang, who discovered the cop. No Caruso, of course, but who was? Only Mario Lanza.

And there was some humor.

"Manage him right or he'll arrest you!" was the Bill Dana (Jose Jiminez) wire that manager George Greif received. Scattered through the audience in their dinner suits were about 40 well-wishing buddy cops. "I never bumped up against so much hardware in my life," Greif said.

But the audience's rising ovation for the 28-year-old stocky curly-haired made Cinderella was authentic. No top cop was there—but Fire Commissioner Ed Cavanagh, new Deputy Mayor-to-be, was in black tie . . . They say he's bound for the White House.

New Courthouse Shrinks as 25 Lawyers Take Oath

The new and larger county courthouse, completed last summer to meet an increasing demand for public service, proved to be too small yesterday.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom was unable to accommodate all the families and friends of 25 new attorneys being admitted to practice law in the county courts.

The overflow spilled into the corridors as spectators craned their necks for a look.

It was a proud moment for the young lawyers, their families and friends.

LARGEST OF ITS KIND

Judge Adams commented that it was the largest group yet to be admitted at one time to practice here.

He referred to the occasion as "the goal of many years of hard work and a great day in the lives of all these young men."

Those who took the oath administered by Oakland County Clerk Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. are:

George A. Googasian, 105 E. Iroquois Road; Thomas E. Hunter, Seth H. Barsky, 21874 Ontaga, Farmington Township; Paul Teranes, 4074 Lincoln Drive, Birmingham; Lawrence Sukenic; David E. West of Detroit.

Members of the Oakland County Chapter of Lawyers Wives served refreshments after the ceremony. 307 Iroquois Road; Stanley G. Foresman, 347 Greenwood Road, Birmingham; Frederick J. Prost, 462 W. Brockton St., Madison Heights; George A. Alderton III, 1520 E. Bennaville Road, Birmingham.

Also: Melvin Yedlin, 5820 Burnham Road, Bloomfield Hills; William E, Stewart, 27743 Lexington Parkway, Southfield; Joseph D. Nicoletti, 4307 Sheridan Drive, Royal Oak; Richard J. Behm; Joseph M. Guenther, 669 Graefield Court, Birmingham.

Robert E. Greenstein, 15250 Park Ave., Oak Park; Daniel F. Monley, 405 E. Square Lake Road, Troy; Kenneth H. Lang, 9 Oakdale Blvd., Pleasant Ridge; William T. Myers, 24500 Tudor Lane, Birmingham.

Berlin Crisis Gets Thoughtful Treatment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing Berlin crisis was the subject of a thoughtful and clear analysis by NBC's news staff Tuesday night in a special program.

The increasing tensions and continuing incidents in the German city cut in half by the Communist wall were presented as another move in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's international chess game designed ultimately to neutralize Europe and isolate America. Narrator Chet Huntley stated that although Berlin now is the target, the game is to knock flourishing West Germany out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although presenting America and its European friends as stronger, militarily and economically, than the Soviet Union, the program emphasized the differences of opinions existing among the NATO allies and Khrushchev's shrewd exploitations.

Jaycee Anti-Red Resolution Gets Backing Across U.S.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Strong nationwide support was developing today for an anti-Communist resolution the Grand Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce hopes to present to President Kennedy in Washington in mid-January.

Roger Matthews, president of the local Jaycee chapter, said more than 200 endorsements from other Jaycee groups in 28 states have been received to date "and that when this is done it will represent the feeling of approximately 200,000 young men of action, the membership of the Junior Chambers of Commerce."

Matthews said Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., a former Grand Rapids jaycee and named in 1949 as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the United States by the national Jaycees, is attempting to arrange the appointment with the President.

The main clause of the resolution addressed to the President states, "we the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Grand Rapids do strongly urge that you as our commander-in-chief take a firm stand not only on the borders of West Berlin but elsewhere whenever necessary to insure our security."

The resolution pledges the lives and futures of the Jaycee membership to support of American ideals.

The resolution was adopted Nov. 9 and copies were subsequently sent to each of the 3,987 other Jaycee chapters across the nation.

Matthews, a printing salesman, said the resolution was first put forth by the anti-Communist committee of the Grand Rapids Jaycees. The members proposed it as a way of educating the public to the dangers of communism.
