

China N-Test Could Increase Viet War Risk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The expected explosion of a nuclear test bomb by Red China threatened new risks and difficulties for the United States in trying to keep the war in South Viet Nam in bounds and eventually to win a limited victory there.

The chief risk foreseen here is that Red Chinese triumph in the nuclear field may make it much more difficult for the United States to persuade Red China and North Viet Nam that they can't win in South Viet Nam and will have to pay an increasing cost to keep the war going.

LBJ Eying Visit to NATO Talks

Expects K Meeting
Further in the Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, if elected, hopes to go to Europe in November or December to meet with leaders and representatives of the 14 other countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Looking further to the future, Johnson expects to meet fairly soon with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, if the Soviet leader is willing. Such a session, however, probably would not be held until 1965.

The President, it was learned today, is thinking in terms of an appearance either at the November meeting of NATO Parliamentarians or at the December session of the NATO Council. Both conferences would be held in Paris.

As for a Johnson-Khrushchev meeting, it was learned the President feels that sessions with leaders of allied countries would have to come first.

There was nothing to indicate that Johnson, at this point at least, wants to turn either of the NATO meetings in Paris into a summit session involving the heads of member governments.

It was believed likely, however, that Johnson, during any trip to Europe, would seek individual meetings with some national leaders.

He was known to be most anxious to meet with President Charles de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany and the prime minister of Great Britain.

Should Johnson travel to Europe late this year, it would mark a departure from his announced policy against leaving the country at a time when there is no vice president.

However, he feels that this self-imposed prohibition would no longer be applicable after the election because then there would be a vice president-elect.

The President, it was learned, believes his task yesterday with Manila Brosio, the new secretary general of NATO, helped point the way toward a presidential appearance in Paris later this year.

The most immediate and potentially the most dangerous in the short run is the problem of preventing a political collapse in the battered and war-weary little country which has been rocked by a series of government crises during the past 11 months.

The present U.S. answer to this problem is to provide all-out support to Premier Nguyen Khanh in the hope that he will prove capable of guiding his divided and embattled people through the present government crisis.

A broad outline of U.S. policy was given yesterday in a speech in Tokyo by Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy, who is presently on a visit to Japan and Korea. Bundy is one of the top Washington officials directly responsible for U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Word was received today of the death of an early Pontiac industrialist, Alpha Beaudette of Los Angeles, Calif. The Beaudette family is one of the pioneer families of the Pontiac area.

Beaudette died Sept. 23 after a brief illness. Service and burial were in Los Angeles last Friday.

Beaudette who attended Pontiac schools had been associated with his father, the late M. J. Beaudette, and uncle, O. J. Beaudette, in the Beaudette Body Factory in the early 1900s. The factory was subsequently sold to Fisher Body Division.

After moving to California, he became active in the field of banking and real estate and was one of the leading businessmen in his community over an extended period of years.

Beaudette, a member of the Catholic Church, also belonged to the Los Angeles Country Club and was a past president of Los Angeles Rotary Club.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Miles of West Los Angeles; a son, Robert of San Diego; and several grandchildren.

Goldwater spoke to a crowd estimated at 7,000 in Middletown, and to one about that big in Springfield. In between, he told an estimated 15,000 people in Dayton the administration campaign policy is "he and he and elect and elect."

Goldwater fired off his blast at Johnson's Viet Nam policies in a statement prepared for a rally at Columbus. He called the guerrilla struggle in the South-east Asian nation, "Johnson's war."

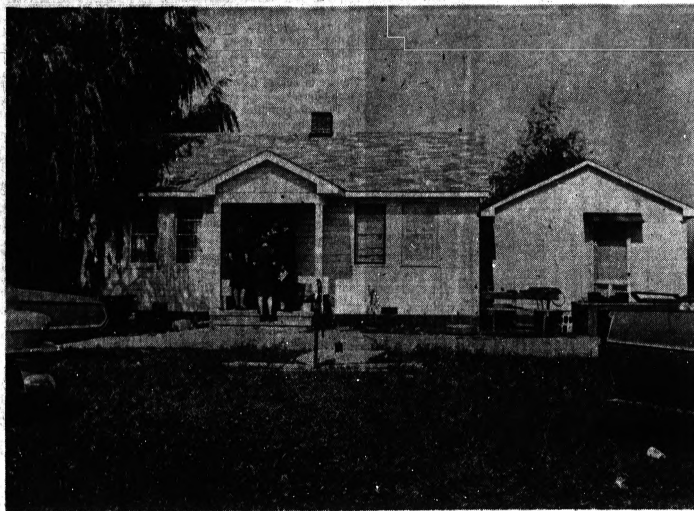

Goldwater said newspapers are full of bad news about Viet Nam "but they are totally bare of any news or any truth on the situation from the President of the United States."

The word that something is badly, even crucially, wrong in Viet Nam keeps leaking out," Goldwater said. "Now it's pouring out."

Before a cheering crowd that packed the downtown square in Dayton, the Republican presidential nominee said the "wizards in Washington" are keeping the truth about government affairs from the people.

"We have today in this country managed news or the calculated lie," Goldwater said.

Ax Case Goes to Court Monday

HOUSE OF DEATH — The bodies of seven persons, a mother and six children, were found murdered yesterday in this small frame home in Troy. The seven had been slain with an ax and hammer. The murdered woman's husband, William G. Gravlin, was arraigned yesterday afternoon on a charge of first-degree murder.

City Pioneer Death Home Looked Peaceful

By BILL EASTHAM

The small, white frame house a quarter-mile off John R looked like a good place for children to live.

It was surrounded by big, friendly weeping willows and the small yard was bordered by open fields. But two junked automobiles and a stinking pile of cans and garbage at the rear detracted from the over-all appearance of 2121 Garson, Troy.

And inside was a scene of horror that shocked even veteran law enforcement officials when they entered the place yesterday morning. Horribly mutilated bodies were literally scattered all over the three-bedroom home. The walls were splattered.

Blood-soaked bedclothing, which police said the murderer had apparently used in a crude attempt to cover his victims, was scattered haphazardly throughout the house.

ODOR OF DEATH
The odor of death lingered long after the bodies of William Gravlin's 40-year-old pregnant wife, his 5-year-old daughter and his five stepchildren aged 10 to 17, were removed in three ambulances.

Mrs. Gravlin had been canning tomatoes. Several jars of them still sat on the bottle-glass stove, along with canning equipment and a platter of corn on the cob, cooked but never eaten.

The sink was full of dirty dishes. Empty beer bottles, some broken, littered the drain-board.

The bathtub was half filled. Beside it had lain the grotesquely twisted body of the Gravlin's daughter, Sue.

Three of the victims were found in the living room, which contained a rusty space heater and an ancient TV set.

One was found in each of the bedrooms. All were clad in nightclothes. There was evidence that they had been killed while they slept.

The killer had pinned a note expressing remorse to each of the bodies.

He had stayed in the house with the grisly remains of his family at least 24 hours before turning himself in.

OPEN BIBLE
A blood-stained hammer lay beside an open Bible in the bathroom.

A long-handled ax, also stained, was found in the weeds behind the house.

The only living thing the officers found when they entered the house of horror was a yellow parakeet, which chirped saucily at them from his cage in the living room as they went about their grim task.

Man Charged With Killing Wife, 6 Kin

Examination Is Set
Slaughter of Family

Accused ax-slayer William G. Gravlin is scheduled to face examination Monday in Troy Municipal Court on a charge of first-degree murder.

He stood mute at his arraignment late yesterday afternoon before Troy Municipal Judge Charles Losey.

Gravlin was arrested yesterday by Troy Police and charged with the ax-murder of his 40-year-old wife Bette, five-year-old daughter-Sue, and six stepchildren: Ben, 17, Judy, 16, Dorrie, 15, Paul, 12, and Walter Bentley, 10.

The seven bodies were discovered in the secluded home at 2121 Garson in Troy after Gravlin had flagged down a passing motorist and told him that he had killed his family.

Police believe Gravlin had been drinking, killed his family late Sunday night and stayed in or around the house until yesterday.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang said yesterday he would try Gravlin on only one count of murder because, "We've got as much of a court case with one victim as with seven."

Gravlin, described by many as a loner, was released from Pontiac State Hospital in July.

Clinical director Robert Braun said yesterday that his release resulted from repeated urgings by Gravlin's wife.

He had been receiving treatment at the hospital following a 1961 arrest on a felonious assault charge.

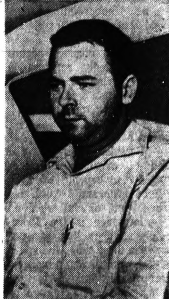

A knife attack on his cousin's wife resulted in the arrest.

TENDENCY SEEN
At that time psychiatrists said they found "homicidal tendencies" in Gravlin.

An unclear picture is formed by a study of the accused slayer's past.

From June 1959 to August 1961, Gravlin worked as a fire fighter for the Royal Oak Fire Department.

"He was a poor fireman," according to Assistant Chief Clayton (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Hubert Gets Cheered in Guard Talk

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey won applause from National Guard Association officers today when he told them they could dispel "any doubts you may have over continuity" of the Guard.

Pentagon plans and proposals for cutbacks in the Guard units have set off a string of controversy in recent years.

But Humphrey told the meeting here "I believe that the Guard has been indispensable in the past and is indispensable in the future."

As he turned his campaign from the Deep South to the industrial North and the issue of national defense, Humphrey said, "The last day of the gunslinger — the quick draw man — dawned at Alamogordo."

On that day, when the first atomic bomb was tested in New Mexico, "man acquired the power to obliterate himself" and thus, Humphrey asserted, strength without responsibility became "the shortest to mutual annihilation."

Speaking to the National Guard Association, the Democratic vice presidential nominee repeatedly struck the theme of responsibility as he has in other campaign potshots at Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican standard bearer.

He declared — in the face of Goldwater's arguments that the administration is piddling away the country's strength, that the only "gaps" in missiles or bombers or submarines are in the United States' favor.

"Those who cry alarm and rush to the panic button either do not know the facts — or they think the facts are too complicated for the rest of us to understand," said Humphrey in his prepared remarks.

Russia Okays Aid to Cypriots

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today signed an agreement to give economic and military aid to the Greek Cypriots.

Andreas ARAOZOS, Greek Cypriot commerce and industry minister, told newsmen his delegation and Soviet officials signed the pact.

ARAOZOS did not give details of the aid.

But authoritative sources said the Russians have agreed to ship anti-aircraft guns to the Greek Cypriots.

It was not known whether the anti-aircraft weapons were conventional or of a rocket type.

However, the sources said the Russians planned to send no military instructors to the strategic Mediterranean island.

The source reported yesterday that the Communists had decided to grant the arms aid to Cyprus, along with long-term credits to pay for it.

City to Vote on 'Steady' School Levy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the final article in a three-part series outlining projected needs for the Pontiac School District, financed by an 8.75-mill tax levy which voters will be asked to renew for 10 years Oct. 2.)

By L. GARY THORNE
Projections of Pontiac school costs for the next 10 years are based on renewal of the 8.75-mill extra voted levy at Friday's special election.

After hearing recommendations from a 40-member Pontiac School Study Committee, school officials decided to seek renewal of current millage, rather than an increase, because studies indicated an apparent leveling off period.

Enrollments have reached 22,500 students, more than 5,000 students over 1964, and are expected to remain fairly constant for about five years.

Building requirements will be kept to a minimum. In fact, small school additions are all that will be needed.

These will handle population shifts, say school administrators.

EXISTING MILLAGE
Since the "leveling off" period is expected for five years, millage proponents elected to stick with existing millage, letting unforeseen developments determine future money needs.

The "hold the line now" approach will permit better projections for the future. Five years will bring downtown redevelopment, completed auto plant expansion and generally a firmer financial base, claims Supt. Dana P. Whitmer.

Of course, school costs are expected to rise from the mere fact that it will cost more to maintain current operations in future years. School district incomes should be able to keep pace with added costs and provide for updating the actual classroom instruction.

Buildings are seriously considering large housing developments for this portion of the school district, according to Whitmer.

Rehabilitation of older schools will continue to be pushed, he added. Older schools must meet modern educational standards.

Modernization and possible expansion of Pontiac Central High, Eastern Junior High, and several elementary schools will receive continuous attention, he promised.

School construction no longer comes from the 8.75 mills. Existing bonding authority is sufficient to handle construction and rehabilitation without requesting further voted bond issues or dipping into operating funds, Whitmer explained.

LEVY RENEWAL
Renewal of the extra voted tax levy maintains what the school district now has. The total school tax rate compares favorably with those of neighboring districts.

The 1963 rate ranked Pontac 27th out of 29 Oakland County school districts. The excellent industrial tax base has permitted local schools to keep a lower-than-average tax rate.

School taxes, likewise, have been nearly constant for the past eight years. For example, in 1959, the rate was 19.68 mills in the city, while in 1964 the rate is 19.63.

"There are few districts in the state or nation that have operated for 10 years on the same voted school tax rate (8.75 mills)," said Whitmer.

FUTURE EVENTS
Circumstances in the future will determine whether the 8.75 mills will be sufficient.

Pontiac schools in the future are bound to change as each generation of parents demands more and better education, he adds.

'Manned Missile' to Carry Killer Rocket

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force planned today to show off its secret YF12A interceptor — and a new bomber-killing rocket carried inside the 2,000-mile-an-hour "manned missile."

It may also disclose record speeds reportedly reached in tests here during recent weeks, but a spokesman said no record run would be attempted today.

The YF12A, called the A11 when President Johnson disclosed its existence Feb. 29, reportedly is capable of 2,000 miles an hour and 100,000 feet altitude. Only official word on its performance is the President's statement that it flies more than three times the speed of sound, exceeds 70,000 feet and has repeatedly broken the 1,665 m.p.h. speed record claimed by the Russians.

PLANE'S ROCKET

The YF12A's new rocket, called AIM 47, is carried inside the 90-foot long fuselage to protect its nuclear warhead from more than triple sonic speeds.

In today's demonstration newsmen were to see the twin-finned, triangle-winged YF12A make two low-level, low-speed passes over the runway, then go to a hangar for a close look at a dummy Air Intercept Missile and its fire control system.

Development of the missile system, believed to be the most advanced radar-guided rocket yet devised to destroy bombers, supports Defense Department contention that the YF12A is an interceptor, not a super spy plane as some industry sources claimed.

After the close-up inspection, newsmen were to be taken back out to the flight line to watch another YF12A make a steep climb takeoff showing the full power of its two huge jet engines. Each engine reportedly generates more than 40,000 pounds of thrust — enough to span the Atlantic in less than 90 minutes.

UNMATCHED SPEED

The YF12A's unmatched speed, made possible by leading-wing and fuselage with heat-resistant titanium, reportedly enables it to overtake any bomber in the world, including the new XB70B being flight-tested here.

The XB70A ran into technical troubles on its first flight Sept. 21 but is scheduled to be flown again Thursday.

A spokesman said there are no plans to show the new RS71, a reconnaissance plane recently announced by the President and believed to be a long-range spy version of the YF12A.

Rip Agriculture Dept. on Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate investigations subcommittee, reporting on its two-year-old probe of Billie Sol Estes, criticized today what it called "disinterested and stagnant" in the Agriculture Department's handling of the Texas wheeler-dealer's phony cotton deals.

The report said there were many events in the Pecos, Tex., financier's cotton acreage allotment deals "which would have served as a warning to a vigilant organization."

But it said that once Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman was notified of the situation, the department took prompt action to halt Estes' scheming.

Estes currently is free under bond while appealing state and federal convictions for fraud involving his dealings with liquid fertilizer.

NO FAVORITISM?

The subcommittee's report did not charge that favoritism was given Estes by department officials.

But — in separate views — two Republican members of the subcommittee, Sens. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska and Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, contended that "the free-wheeling, gift-giving Billie Sol Estes, received favoritism on the county level, state level, and in the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

Curtis and Mundt said the department was "not only inept in its efforts to cope" with Estes but "in many instances it was actually a companion to this fraud through the actions, or failure to act, of its officials in high office."

The subcommittee that conducted the investigation two years ago agreed on the basic report. But additional statements were filed by Mundt and Curtis, by Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

$50 MILLION

Estes, who once claimed he was worth $50 million, was a far-flung operator, one of the largest storers of government grain and dealers in liquid fertilizer.

His empire, valued once at $150 million, collapsed in the spring of 1962 as criminal charges were lodged against him and creditors pressed him.

The Agriculture Department pulled the rug out from under the Pecos financier when it canceled grain storage contracts to pay him $5 million in commissions.

Of prime interest to Senate investigators was his acquisition of thousands of acres of valuable cotton acreage — leasing rights in cotton land and purchases and lease deals the Agriculture Department subsequently said were illegal.

REFUSED TO TALK

When called before the committee last November Estes refused to answer questions about his dealings with government officials. The hearings first opened in the summer of 1962.

The committee sought to determine if political influence helped Estes amass his fortune. The senators stuck close to Estes' dealings under government farm programs and subsidies, gifts to officials. It steered clear of the liquid fertilizer sales that involved Estes in Texas court actions.

In November 1962 a district court in Tyler, Tex., convicted Estes on state charges that he persuaded a farmer to sign a $94,500 chattel mortgage on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

The state contended Estes built his fortune by discounting to finance companies mortgages on fertilizer tanks leased from farmers who had purchased the tanks on credit.

PAID BONUS

Attorneys for Estes contended he merely paid the farmers a cash bonus for lending him their good credit.

He was sentenced to an eight-year prison term on a swindling charge and is appealing.

In March 1963 Estes was convicted by an El Paso Federal Court on four counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy. He is appealing his conviction, which carried a 15-year prison sentence.

Estes' next trial is set for Nov. 9 in Dallas. In this case he is accused of lying to the government about his finances in order to obtain additional contracts for storing surplus grain. ON BONDS

Estes currently is free on bond.

Strike at GM to Continue

Chances Slim for Halt Before Next Week

DETROIT (AP) — Chances appeared slim today for settlement before next week of a nationwide strike that has cut off production of General Motors' 1965 automobiles.

Top negotiators for both GM and the United Auto Workers union indicated yesterday that they did not expect to reach agreement on national and local differences by this weekend.

If prolonged, the strike could have a serious effect on the nation's booming economy.

GM said that hourly-rated employees in plants struck by the UAW are losing more than $7 million in daily wages.

A major stumbling block to getting some quarter million workers back on the assembly lines was more than 17,000 local at-the-plant demands covering such subjects as company furnished coveralls, locker rooms and parking lots.

VIRTUAL AGREEMENT

The UAW called the strike last Friday despite virtual agreement on an economic package similar to one already accepted by the union from GM's chief competitors, Ford and Chrysler.

It calls for higher pension; as an early retirement incentive, longer vacations, additional holidays, increased wages and other improvements.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the dispute originally was over non-economic national issues and the "human issue of human beings" in GM plants.

These include working conditions, production quotas, disciplinary procedures and union representation.

panion of the war beyond South Viet Nam is not a course of action which the United States wants but one "could be forced upon us by the increased external pressure of the Communists," including a rising scale of infiltration.

In giving that new warning that the war might be expanded because of Communist actions, Bundy appeared to strike a note of conflict with the tone of a statement made about the same time by President Johnson during his campaign trip around New England.

"I want to be very cautious," Johnson said, "in dropping bombs that would involve our boys in Asia with 70 million Chinese. We're not going north and drop bombs at this stage of the game, and we're not going south and run out and let the Communies take over."

NO REAL CONFLICT

State Department officials insisted that there was no real conflict in the substance of what Johnson said and what Bundy said.

They declared Johnson was talking about U.S. policy toward the war as it stands in present circumstances — that is without a step-up in Communist offensive operations — and Bundy was warning about what would happen if the circumstances changed.

As for the larger questions of how to try to bring the war to a conclusion, no major U.S. policy changes are expected until after the November election. Then there may be some changes at least, emphasis.

The key to such possible changes lies in Bundy's statement that the United States seeks to "induce" the Communists to stop the war in South Viet Nam.

IN THIS SENSE "It is in this sense that the United States aims at a limited victory in the conflict."

The only apparent answer to the problem of how to induce the North Vietnamese to stop the war is to call off their support for the guerrillas operating in South Viet Nam.

IN PUTTING them under actual or threatened military pressures from U.S. power.

That is a major reason why there has been so much talk this year of bombings in North Viet Nam.

Committees Appointed to Study School Plans

BIRMINGHAM — Three committees of teachers and school administrators have been named to study and make recommendations on two building projects and the Birmingham Plan for the school district.

Appointment of the committee members has been announced by Supt. Dr. John B. Smith.

The superintendent will be the permanent chairman of the Birmingham Plan Steering Committee, formed with the idea of improving the entire district.

Members will analyze the current situation, study various alternatives and work out plans for the future. Topics to be considered include curriculum development, improvement of teaching methods and other research areas.

The plan will involve employing a group of teachers on a 12-month basis instead of the traditional 10 months.

PAID BY LEVY

This plan, devised by Smith, will be financed by part of the 7-mill levy earmarked for improvements at the June election.

Others are Roy Vannette, Barium Junior High School principal; Barbara Davis, Berkshire Junior High School mathematics teacher; Ross Wagner, Seaholm

High School principal; Mrs. Joan Kennedy, Groves High School social studies teacher; Grant Barber, Pierce Elementary School principal; and Mrs. Velma Ruby, Valley Woods Elementary School first grade teacher.

Nesbitt was named chairman of the committee which will develop educational specifications for the new junior high school, to be built at Covington and Quanton.

A committee headed by James Bedor, Seaholm science teacher, faces a similar task for the science addition to be built at Seaholm.

Longshoremen Deadline Is Midnight

Mediators Work to Halt Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Presidential mediators worked against the clock today trying to prevent a strike at midnight by 60,000 dock workers in ports from Maine to Texas.

A walkout by the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association would tie up more than 500 United States and foreign-flag ships.

A partial break in the three-month deadlock in contract negotiations came early today when the employers accepted, with some modifications, the long list of settlement proposals made by the presidential mediation panel.

The union negotiators rejected the package.

ANNUAL WAGE

The major obstacle to settlement has been the proposal for gradual reduction of the size of general cargo work gangs from 20 to 17 men in exchange for a guaranteed annual wage for longshoremen.

The union has held fast against any cut in work gang size.

Employer negotiators have refused for a long time to settle on any other issues until agreement on the work gang size had been reached. The employers contend that modern methods of handling cargo require even less than 17 men in a work gang.

The New York Shipping Association represents more than 150 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, head of the presidential panel, called the association's action "a very major effort to conclude an agreement" of the basis of the panel's recommendations "with certain modifications."

MANAGEMENT'S OK

Reynolds added: "We regret that management's agreement" to accept the panel report "failed to provide the basis for settlement."

As the talks were adjourned at 2:30 a.m. until 10 a.m., Reynolds said: "We will try again. It is our intention to get from the union its position on all aspects of the contract, just as we did with management."

Contracts agreed on here to cover longshoremen from Maine to Norfolk, Va., traditionally set the pattern for South Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

The modifications in the recommendations made by the employers were not explained by Reynolds.

COMPANIES RUSH

Shipping companies have rushed cargo loading and advanced sailing dates to get their ships at sea before the strike deadline. Forty-five ships are scheduled to sail today before midnight.

If the longshoremen strike, President Johnson could act under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to get a federal court injunction sending the men back to work for an 80 day cooling off period while negotiations continue.

Fishing Fleet Believed Lost

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A fleet of 75 fishing boats with about 450 men aboard is missing in heavy seas in the Bay of Bengal.

Port officials at Kakinada, 300 miles north of Madras, said one survivor swam ashore Tuesday night and said his boat capsized in a storm but that he did not know what happened to the other boats.

The survivor said he believed his five shipmates had all drowned but he was uncertain of details. He was weak and drowsed after two days clinging to driftwood.

Registration Hours, Sites in City, Waterford Twp.

Pontiac residents can still register in person in the Nov. 3 general election.

Two remote units have been set up to register voters before the Oct. 5 deadline.

A converted bookmobile is stationed at the Glenwood Shopping Plaza. Hours for the bookmobile will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

A registration booth at Simms Brothers, Inc., 80 N. Saginaw, will be open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

The city clerk's office at city hall is open 8 a.m. daily except Saturday when 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Extension of office hours for taking voter registrations prior to the 8 p.m. Monday deadline were announced today by Waterford Township Clerk Elmer Famborner.

The clerk's office will be open tomorrow and Friday 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturday 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; and Monday 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Famborner said that registrations also will be taken at five department stations at Walton and Elizabeth Lake Road. Hours at the stations will be noon to 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Further voter registration services will be provided by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce. Jaycees will establish two registration booths at either end of Pontiac Mall. Hours for registration will be 6 a.m. Friday and noon to 8 p.m. Saturday.

For example, the endeavor to reduce dropouts will require education more closely tailored to the individual child.

Schools of the future will be required to furnish job training with the aim of furnishing each child with a salable skill so that he can get a job.

These needs and more will be demanded of public schools.

ton Nichols. "He just didn't measure up to our standards."

Gravin's last job with the fire department because of the felonious assault.

Gravin later worked as an assembler at Tempite Products Corp. on East Maple in Troy.

IN THIS SENSE

"He was no trouble at all, he never slackened on the job," Stank said.

FEW FRIENDS

The Tempite official said Gravin had very few friends at the plant.

Sheriff's deputies said members of his wife's immediate family thought Gravin was a good husband.

Mrs. Gravin's mother, Mrs. Oral Nettles, 57 Cloveridge, Troy, told deputies that her son-in-law always worked hard, sometimes with more than one job, and tried to be a good provider.

CANNED VEGETABLES

She told deputies that during the summer the couple canned over 600 quarts of vegetables to use during the year.

Mrs. Nettles told deputies Gravin's only fault was his drinking. He got violent after he had too much to drink, she said.

Mrs. Nettles also said that hospital officials had told Gravin when he was released in July that he could solve his own mental problems — if he stopped drinking.

Lang said yesterday that "marital problems" were cited by Gravin as a motive for the killings.

Gravin is being held at Oakland County Jail without bond.

Western Campaign Swing

LBJ Is No Friend to Ranchers—Miller

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—Republican vice presidential candidate William E. Miller promised Western ranchers worried about falling prices that "Barry Goldwater and I won't let a bunch of bureaucrats ruin the cattle business."

"The nation's cattle business is facing a grave crisis," Miller said in a speech Tuesday night, asserting that the ranchers had no friend in President Johnson. He said that administration policies allowing the import of foreign beef were responsible for the lower prices of domestic cattle.

"I enjoy lower prices for beef," Miller said, "but not at the expense of my fellow American who raise beef."

CAMPAIGN SWING

He spoke at Laramie, Wyo., on a Western campaign swing that took him today to Grand Junction and to Omaha, Neb. In earlier speeches to audiences in Midwestern and November, Miller assailed the

Rocket Fails in Last Test

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Minuteman-1 war rocket was blown apart on its final test flight yesterday when it twisted out of control high over the Atlantic.

The failure, first in 14 launches for the ocean-spanning missile, followed the near perfect maiden flight last Thursday of its successor—the longer range and more accurate Minuteman-2.

The Minuteman-1 was fired from an underground silo and for about a minute its flight appeared routine. But when its second stage took over, the sleek missile went into a series of violent gyrations that left a trail of smoke that resembled a corkcreeper.

The rocket was destroyed 165 seconds after launch when a ground safety officer ignited a package of explosives in the third stage by radio command. The Minuteman's fiery debris fell harmlessly into the sea.

The Air Force said the cause of the malfunction could not be determined until after examination of data radioed back during the missile's brief flight.

farm programs of the Democratic administration and said that Republicans favored retention of oil depletion allowances.

Farming, oil and cattle are economic pillars in the states in which Miller has been traveling in recent days.

His speech Tuesday night was to a rally in the University of Wyoming fieldhouse. A university official estimated the crowd, comprised mostly of students, at 4,000.

Earlier at Hutchinson, Kan., Miller accused President Johnson of "political hypocrisy."

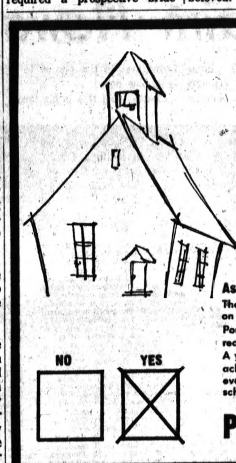

Of carrying the war in Viet Nam to the north.

On the same page, Miller pointed out, was another story quoting William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, as saying that increased Communist pressure in Viet Nam could lead to an expansion of the war.

Miller said it was hypocritical for the President to criticize Goldwater while "one of his top advisers" was discussing the expansion of the hostilities.

Miller's remarks about the cattle market were amplified in a statement in which he said Republicans would work out a program in which domestically produced cattle would "fill our needs and achieve a healthy balance in prices for everyone—cattlemen and consumer alike."

Scientists Claim Hawaii and Moon Have Much in Common

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS
AP Aerospace Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. — Beautiful Hawaii would appear to have nothing in common with the desolate barrenness of the moon.

Yet there is a big similarity, say Manned Spacecraft Center scientists after a close study of the recent Ranger 7 photos.

Uel S. Clanton, space center geologist and one of a team of moon experts studying Ranger's remarkable pictures of the moon, said the photos reveal a string of shield volcanoes which are readily distinguishable by their low-angle, cone-shaped craters.

Hawaii is one of two places on earth with shield volcanoes, Clanton said. Greenland is the other.

PLAN FIELD TRIPS

For this reason, Clanton said geology field trips to Hawaii by the nation's 29 astronauts would be made soon.

Hawaii's famous Mauna Loa is a shield volcano, Clanton said. The moon trainees' work would be to study the lava beds of the fiery crater so they would be familiar with the lava formations in case the same flows were found on the moon.

Clanton agrees with Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper of the University of Arizona and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's top analyst of the 4,316 Ranger photos.

Kuiper believes the lunar surface to be like "crunchy lava flow beds." He also says he believes Clanton said this is his theory or the one advanced by Dr.

Thomas Gold of Cornell University, who said the moon was covered by a deep layer of dust. Clanton said laboratory tests with dust in a vacuum chamber equal to the moon's pressure showed that the material "welded" together, much like a texture of crunchy snow.

"We are still studying the pictures," Clanton said, "but much of the moon looks volcanic in origin."

He said that heat, which is associated with volcanic activity on earth, does not have to be present in an environment such as the moon's to produce craters.

"A gas or liquid that came to the surface of the moon would expand and explode and that is a volcanic eruption," Clanton said. "There is no heat associated with the explosion."

To demonstrate, Clanton cited tests in vacuum chambers where liquids explode when depressurized.

The space geologist said he found evidence of an almost continuous battering of the lunar surface by meteoroids and micrometeoroids.

He says he interprets the rounding of the craters to be an erosion bombardment of celestial objects. Gold's analysis of the same feature was that dust covered the ledges, giving them a rounded appearance.

SECOND COURSE
Clanton said the astronauts would soon begin a second course in geology, but much more advanced than the preliminary study recently finished.

"Hawaii has some of the most recent lava flow also," Clanton said. "We plan to make much use of the state's excellent geology features."

Other places Clanton said would be visited included New Mexico, Oregon, Arizona and California.

Order Another Delay
in Underground N-Test
HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Another postponement has been ordered in the underground nuclear test blast, to be set off in the Tatum salt dome near Hattiesburg.

The Atomic Energy Commission said weather conditions, which would hamper observation planes, forced a delay until at least 10 a.m. (CST) tomorrow. It was the fourth postponement.

DESOLATE SURFACE — The terrain of Hawaii's famous volcano, Kilauaea Iki, will be studied by U.S. astronauts for comparison with the surface of the moon. The volcano erupted in 1959. Photos of the moon recently taken show similarities of structure with the Hawaii location.

IBJ Asks Upgrade for Astronaut Glenn

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson yesterday nominated Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., first U.S. astronaut to orbit the earth, for promotion to full colonel in the Marine Corps.

Glenn was nominated despite his previous request that he not be considered for promotion because he intended to retire from the service as soon as his health permitted.

The astronaut received a head injury in a bathroom fall and has remained in the service while undergoing medical treatment for an ear ailment.

Know Not Where

Shot a Bear in the Air

HELENA, Mont. (UPI)—Somewhere in Yellowstone National Park today, there's a bear possibly pondering the hazards of unscheduled air flights.

The bear-raising story was unfolded yesterday before a Montana Highway Commission meeting by contractor Elmer Schye.

According to Schye, the luckless animal had been nosing around a subcontract job near Lamar Canyon in Northern Yellowstone Park, bothering the construction crew, particularly the cook.

Workmen chased the bear up a tree, and then pulled the tree to the ground by a cable attached to a bulldozer.

"We cut the cable and slingshotted him through the air," Schye said. He added that the bear landed about 150 feet away and wasn't badly hurt.

"We didn't see the bear around after that," Schye said.

German General Found Guilty of Helping to Kill Jews

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A German court convicted former SS Gen. Karl Wolff today of complicity in the wartime murder of 300,000 Jews in Poland and sentenced him to 15 years at hard labor.

The former Nazi officer was pale but stood ramrod straight as he heard the court read the verdict. The prosecution had asked life imprisonment, the maximum sentence since West Germany abandoned capital punishment in 1949.

Wolff had been adjutant to Heinrich Himmler, leader of the SS, and at one time was Himmler's top liaison man with Hitler. The prosecution charged that he was a member of the Nazi brain trust which planned the extermination of the Jews.

Wolff pleaded innocence and claimed he did not learn of the Nazi murder of the Jews until after the war.

JEW'S DEPORTED

To the charge that he helped in the deportation of 300,000 Jews from the Warsaw ghetto to extermination camps in Poland,

Wolff replied that he believed they were being moved for resettlement.

At the end of the war Wolff negotiated secretly with the Americans to arrange the surrender of German forces in Italy. He was a witness at the Nuremberg trial of the top Nazi leaders. The Allies did not prosecute him.

The West German government arrested him in January, 1962, and kept him in confinement until his trial opened July 13.

Pontiac's Children Need Voter Support

A critical issue faces Pontiac property owners in Friday's school election. On it hangs the fate of the 10-year extension of the 8.75-mill extra school tax initially approved in 1954.

It should be realized that the continuation of this tax does not constitute an increase over present school taxes. Approval of the measure merely maintains school tax revenue at the present level.

The local educational system urgently needs the funds represented by the millage proposal. Expansion of school facilities, upward adjustment of teachers' salaries in line with the times and rising costs generally leave no doubt as to the need.

By way of a personal application, to deprive our schools of this source of revenue would be akin to having one's salary cut in the face of booming business, higher living costs and a state of unprecedented well being.

When an issue to be voted on is not a "burning" one, too many of the electorate complacently assume that the desired outcome is in the bag — and just as complacently neglect to vote.

But no one can afford to be complacent about the question to be decided on Friday. Regardless of whether you have children, preservation of the city's school system at its present high level is a social must.

Children are the Nation's prime asset, their education is society's protection of it. We can't afford to sell our children short.

All property owners should vote their support.

Panama Canal Accord to Test New Regime

With the installation of Panama's new president Oct. 1 the dormant Panama Canal issue between that country and the United States will again be seen on our state department agenda.

Immediately after formal diplomatic relations were restored last April — after the riots in Panama three months earlier — President Johnson sent an economic mission there to join with Panama's foreign minister in resolving areas of conflict.

A spirit of rapport has marked the negotiations, but the ascendancy of President Marco A. Robles is seen by analysts as likely to inject a strong nationalistic note into the proceedings.

The new leader, a Liberal backed by the power oligarchy of landowners and businessmen, will face "greater pressures for a long overdue social, economic and political reform than any previous presidents of Panama."

Since the canal and its administrative apparatus significantly affect the Panamanian economy, it is plain that any shifts in governmental economic outlook would necessarily focus on the waterway.

Historically, the United States has twice revised the original treaty of 1903 in Panama's favor, raising annual payments to the Central American country and relinquishing certain rights and privileges that rankled our neighbors.

Apart, however, from the issue of turner concessions is the fact that the present canal is at the cargo saturation point, and expansion of it or a new interoceanic route must be undertaken.

A 1948 estimate on the cost of converting the present lock canal to a sea-level link was $2.3 billion. Logically, today's cost would be many times that amount. Additionally, second canals have been proposed across Colombia, Mexico and Nicaragua-Costa Rica. Indeed, the U. S. has a 1914 treaty with Nicaragua covering such a project.

But any second canal anywhere else but across Panama would be looked upon by most Latinos as a stab in Panama's back, and the United States is already too sensitive on the score of "colonialism" to risk that.

It appears very much as though we are caught between Panama and the deep blue seas.

LBJ Illustrates Gap in Security

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has just shown the huge gap in the very best precautions for guarding a president's life unless the chief executive decides to live and operate in seclusion.

The Warren Commission over the weekend, in its report on President John F. Kennedy's assassination, made a number of recommendations to give a president better protection from killers in the future.

The commission, recognizing the reality of politics and the many roles of a president in American life, admitted:

"Exposure of the president to public view through travel among the people of this country is a great and historic tradition of American life," but "the protection of the president... is an immensely difficult and complex task."

The commission went on to call for more cooperation among government investigative agencies in exchanging information about possible assassins, asked that murder of a president or vice president be made a federal crime, suggested a Cabinet committee be formed by Johnson as an overseer, and raised this question:

Should the Secret Service continue to be entrusted with a president's safety, or should this job be turned over to some other federal agency?

At once Johnson set up a panel of top-ranking government officials to examine the question raised by the commission about the Secret Service.

Then Monday Johnson, guarded by Secret Service men, went to New England to campaign and quickly demonstrated how all the precautions and exchange of information for protection of a president can be rendered almost meaningless if a president chooses to take big chances.

Johnson took big ones — Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont, Maine — he moved through surging, shouting throngs of hundreds of thousands, with people injured in the crush along the streets.

As Johnson rolled along in cars and caravans, talking as he went, one woman had to be carried away in an ambulance and a Secret Service agent guarding the President had his coat ripped and was forced to tie his trousers with tape.

NOT LIKE SOVEREIGN
But, as the commission has acknowledged, a president "cannot and will not take the precautions of a dictator or a sovereign."

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in testimony before the commission on this problem, had said:

"The degree of security that can be afforded the president of the United States is dependent to a considerable extent upon the degree of contact with the general public desired by the president."

No government agency, no matter how good or bad, could possibly protect a president against every nut who might get loose in crowds of hundreds of thousands.

New Economic Advisory Team

Newsweek

A new economic advisory team is gradually taking shape in the White House. Walter W. Heller is still the top man — and President Johnson's key consultant on all matters relating to the nation's economic health. But Heller will return to his University of Minnesota professorship soon after the election, to be succeeded as chairman by council member Gardner Ackley, a University of Michigan economics professor.

Ackley's supporting cast will

Bob Considine Says:

JFK Report Rates High Among Like Documents

WASHINGTON — The Warren Commission report rates high among the greatest documents of its kind ever compiled.

Though the parallel may be obscure, it ranks with the biblical account of the Crucifixion, Emile Zola's dissertation on the Dreyfus case and all other efforts by man to put CONSIDINE down on paper an impassive and objective record of horrendous and emotionally moving events.

It never intended to be a literary work, this 888-page report that was dumped into the lap of the world Sunday night. Its prose is bare-boned and couched in basic English. Its simply stated notes add up in the end to a towering symphony of man's inhumanity, his essential senselessness.

No single piece of fiction that comes readily to mind can touch the blow-after-blow-after-blow impact of this and sometimes brutal account of how a man met death in the streets of Dallas last Nov. 22 and what happened after that.

If there is any lyrical editorializing in it, it is swiftly done with Chapter 1 of what the Government Printing Office knows as "700-900-0-6462," begins, "The Assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, was a cruel and shocking act of violence directed against a man, a family, a nation, and against all mankind."

"A young and vigorous leader whose years of public and private life stretched before him was the victim of the fourth presidential assassination in the history of a country dedicated to the concepts of reasoned argument and peaceful political change."

Thereafter, the commission consist of Otto Eckstein of Harvard and Arthur Okun of Yale, who is "breaking in" right now as a staff aide to the council. Ackley will continue the Heller council's policy of nudging the President toward a liberal economic program. But other economic advisers will also have LBJ's ear—notably his newfound friends in the business community.

And the President gives increasing weight to the views of Budget Director Karen Gordon, a former member of the Heller team.

Symbol of Taxes
The Midland (Ont.)
County Herald

A Dutchman was explaining the red, white, and blue Netherlands flag to an American. "Our flag is symbolic of our taxes," said the Dutchman. "We get red when we talk about them, white when we get our tax bills, and blue after we pay."

The American nodded. "I know what you mean. It's the same in the United States," only we see stars, too."

Who are these liberal friends? Well, they consist of the ADA, whose Number One Boy is Mr. Johnson's running mate. That would be Hubert Horatio Humphrey, for many years a close political ally of Reuther, and who, as the current report states, "probably would press hard for the labor chief's appointment if he wants the job."

Reuther's affinity for the left — dating back to the very genesis of his career — is a fact of record. The man now mentioned for a Cabinet seat has been a dedicated Socialist. A First Presbyterian minister said that this UAW leader once labored in the Socialist Party vineyard when Norman Thomas was the perennial presidential candidate. It will be remembered that although Norman Thomas never won a campaign, his platform should be less ajar to such hazardous possibility. The American people, aware of what is going on, can close it emphatically on November 3.

Seeks Help in Improving Travel Accommodations

I will vote for a legislator of either party who will plunk for service and food accommodations on our interstate roads.

It is about time long-suffering motorists demand equal time with business in gaining respite from miles of detours to obtain fuel and food.

Finding service off interstates near intersections at night is wasted effort and time lost in arriving at one's destination.

Reader Would Favor Third Party System

Sec. of State Hare, and Hwy. Commissioner Mackie, criticize Gov. Romney for the increases in traffic accidents.

What have these two state officials done to solve traffic safety? When the facts are known, nothing. Democrats, heads of state departments, have slipped and bungled state affairs badly. Republicans are not foolproof. Many improvements are vitally necessary.

I am strongly urging a third party system for both state and federal government. Two party systems have failed the American citizens. Millions of Americans are fed up and refuse to register and vote. After 43 years a voter, I am becoming more skeptical and less interested in voting.

Comments Continue on Millage Renewal

As a parent who has had three children graduate from Pontiac schools, I appreciate the good school system we have.

I hope the registered voters of Pontiac do not vote to cut the millage used for operating our school system.

I don't see how anyone could think the schools would be able to operate with less money when the cost of everything else has increased.

I have been reading letters about the tax millage.

People who do not have children do not realize that they too may use the school for their activities. The community schools are trying to get citizens interested in activities for all age groups. Dances, card parties and subdivision meetings are a few suggested programs.

In Flint, they have organized communities making use of the school taxes by using the neighboring schools. The program is a huge success.

I have one child in Douglas Houghton School. Through FTA I have found that our school is trying to help the endowment taxpayers to enjoy their school facilities by after-schools use of the school.

Wake up folks, the school is yours as well as the children's and teachers'.

Reader's Vote Changed by New Frontier

The real issue to think about in this election year is not Civil Rights but the flagrant disregard the new frontier has shown our Constitution.

Everyone is protected under this document but it seems the Democrats can change that too. It seems funny how much the votes count, instead of protecting this wonderful document. You can own property but only have the deed cleared if the Justice Department says so — some freedom.

The attitude taken in Viet Nam is send troops, advisers, Mr. McNamara, but don't get too rough because someone will get hurt. Just let our men get shot up, killed, and talk some more.

I have voted Democrat all my life but the new frontier has changed my mind. Goldwater-Miller gets my "X" this year.

'Government Has No Gifts For Voters'

Bill Miller of the Goldwater-Miller team says, "A government big enough to give us everything we want is big enough to take everything we have."

All voters should realize the federal government itself can give us nothing. Whatever we receive from the federal government is first taken from us in taxes.

The process is like taking a blood transfusion from your right arm and putting the blood in your left arm — but losing 40 or 50 per cent of the blood in the transfer.

It is strange that so many of our magazines smear and misrepresent Barry Goldwater who is a dedicated American, an able and responsible business man. Does the Communist conspiracy reach into quarters where we think it impossible the Reds could penetrate?

'Hilda' Heads for Gulf Coast

Eighth Tropical Storm
Is Picking Up Steam

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Tropical storm Hilda shimmied northward through the Yucatan Channel today and headed for the U.S. Gulf Coast, building strength along the way.

Hilda, eighth tropical storm of the season and fifth this month, was packing 45-to-55-mile-an-hour winds in squalls ranging as far as 100 miles north and east of her center.

Forecasters predicted a slow increase in power. All the other September storms grew in size and became hurricanes.

At 1 a.m. today (EST), the New Orleans Weather Bureau said Hilda was steaming into the gulf from the channel between the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico and the western tip of Cuba.

The storm was about 500 miles south of Panama City, Fla., which is in the Florida panhandle.

EXACT LOCATION

The exact location was latitude 23.9, longitude 86.6.

Hurricane Carla came that way in 1961.

Hilda was moving northwestward at about 12 miles an hour, but weathermen expected her to turn and head north, toward the eastern Gulf Coast.

The Weather Bureau warned small craft from the mouth of the Mississippi to the Florida Keys to take refuge in port.

FAMILIES REMOVED

Cuban radio reports monitored in Miami said 500 families were removed last night from the towns of Guane and Mantau because Hilda's rainfall had caused several river floods.

The broadcast said the refugees were taken to Pinar del Rio, the capital of the province.

Hilda grew out of an easterly wave band of squalls spotted Monday by the Tirus weather satellite. The band was 400 miles long, and stretched from the Bahamas through central Cuba.

The Florida Keys and Southeast Florida felt the wave Monday night in gusts up to 40 miles an hour.

Bank Bandit Easy Man to Convince

RIVER ROUGE (AP) — A "desperate" would-be bank robber was reportedly thwarted in a holdup attempt Tuesday when the bank's manager ordered him to sit down and wait for the police.

Neither man was armed.

Held by River Rouge police for investigation of attempted bank robbery was Paul William Christian, 38, of River Rouge. Police said Christian entered the Downriver Federal Savings and Loan Association after hesitating for some time outside the office. They said he gave a teller a note reading:

"Please don't say nothing. Just give me money. Desperate."

The manager, Robert Howey, 29, walked over and read the note, police said. Howey then told the man he had called police, and ordered him to sit down and wait for them.

Christian sat down and waited, police said.

Howey then told another employee to call police, they added.

Low Bid Submitted

on Battle Creek Center
CHICAGO (AP) — Murray Construction Co. of Battle Creek, Mich., submitted the apparent low bid Tuesday on improvement to the federal center in Battle Creek. The Murray bid was $190,200 on work estimated by the government to cost between $95,000 and $115,000. The bids were taken by the General Services Administration.

Hike Cited in Forces of Viet Cong

DETROIT (AP) — Enemy forces in South Viet Nam have grown from 2,000 to 30,000 or more during the last four years, Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, said Tuesday.

Gen. Johnson spoke to some 3,000 members and guests of the National Guard Association of the United States at its 86th general conference in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

He said when Viet Nam was divided, there was "no sterilization of what we consider to be the free part—South Viet Nam."

"By sterilization I mean that we did not fumigate and eliminate the termites from the woodwork," he added.

SHEER DESTRUCTION
"Military force should never be committed for the purpose of sheer destruction and without regard for what follows," Gen. Johnson said, adding:

"Broadly speaking, the object beyond war should be the restoration of stability with a minimum of destruction, so that society and lawful government may proceed in an atmosphere of justice and order."

In another speech Norman S. Paul, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, said taxpayers benefit from the National Guard.

"The Guard so bolsters our defenses that a much smaller regular military establishment is required," Paul said. "Obviously, it costs less to maintain a citizen-soldier in time of peace than it does a full-time soldier."

Implement Firms, Union Express Hope

CHICAGO (AP) — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and three farm implement firms continued today in three Illinois cities with hopeful expressions on both sides that possible strikes at midnight tonight would be avoided.

Union officials are meeting with representatives of International Harvester Co. in Chicago. Peoria and Moline are the respective sites of union bargaining with the Caterpillar Tractor Co. and John Deere & Co.

Some 75,000 union workers are involved. Present contracts expire at midnight tonight.

A Harvester spokesman said a number of important issues are still separating the company and the union—any of which could lead to a strike if not settled before the deadline. "But both sides are optimistic a settlement can be reached and a strike avoided," he added.

In Moline, a union official described the negotiations as "fluid." He said there has been a breakthrough on some but not all issues.

Union and Caterpillar negotiators in Peoria remained mum on the negotiations which have been in progress since Aug. 6.

The union reportedly is seeking a settlement based on the recent contracts signed with the auto industry. Some issues involved in current talks are Vacations, hospitalization, medical coverage, wages and local seniority rights.

Harvester employs 39,000 union workers in 14 plants. Caterpillar 20,000 in seven plants and Deere 16,000 in eight plants.

Tube Lost in His Veins

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Dr. Alfred W. Brody Jr., a Creighton University heart researcher, lost a three-inch plastic tube in his bloodstream a week ago but he is not apprehensive.

The tube, about one-eighth inch thick, could cause an infection or a blood clot, he conceded. As a precaution he is taking anti-infection and anti-coagulant medications.

The tube was lost when Dr. Brody was inserting substances into his right arm. The force of the substance sucked the tube into the vein. Exploratory surgery found no trace of it.

Gifted 10-Year-Old Points Out Education Problem

EAST LANSING (AP) — Gifted children need special attention in school just as much as retarded children, says the adviser to 10-year-old Michael Grosz, youngest freshman ever to enter Michigan State University.

Dr. Elizabeth M. Drews, MSU professor of education, says Michael was particularly fortunate because:

—His parents recognized his talent and helped him to develop fully.

—He attended a school in Lansing where his genius was recognized and teachers and administrators were willing to help him.

—He has had the opportunity to attend classes, lectures and cultural events, to associate with professors and students at MSU and to receive special counseling from experts.

FEW FUNDS FOR GIFTED

But as a rule, says Dr. Drews, "while much has been said and written about the gifted, few funds and little effort are being devoted to helping them."

—Serious personal or social "Consequently, they often become bored because their homework offers no interest or challenge," she adds. "They are apt to become frustrated because they see themselves becoming less than what they could be."

maladjustments may result, she says.

The remedy, Dr. Drews says, is to provide advanced seminars and tutoring which will offer gifted children special challenges and introduce them to the thoughts and life patterns of outstanding men and women.

Dr. Drews reports she has had many calls from parents and teachers who ask for help with gifted children—help she regrets she is unable to give personally, except through her research.

She believes there now are more gifted children with greater gifts than ever before. She lists as possible reasons:

—Fortunate hereditary factors resulting from an increasing number of marriages between college graduates.

—Better health of children today.

—A larger number and higher quality of books and other educational materials designed for young children.

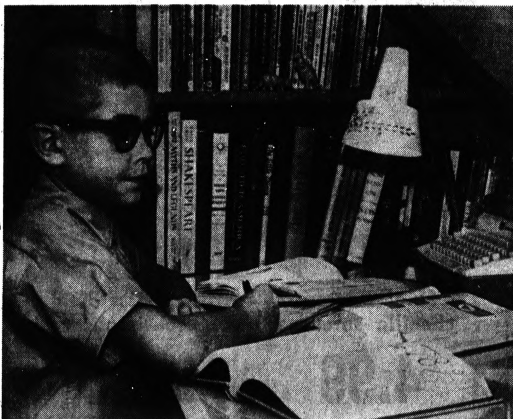

—An increasing number of well-educated parents who pay great attention to the early intellectual development of their children.

NEW COMMITTEE

On it are Dr. Drews; U.S. Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, chairman of the House subcommittee on higher education; Dr. Robert Havighurst, University of Chicago authority on the gifted; Dr. Arthur Hitchcock, executive director of the American Personnel and Guidance Association; Dr. Stanley J. Idzerda, director of the MSU honors college; Dr. Walter F. Johnson, MSU professor of education, and Dr. Abraham Maslow, psychologist at Brandeis University.

There are approximately 10,000 Peace Corps volunteers in 46 countries around the world.

COLLEGE FRESHMAN — Ten-year-old Michael Grosz puzzles out some higher mathematics in preparation for entering Michigan State University. He'll be the youngest student ever at the school. In taking special classes at the university last year, he attained an A-minus average.

Grapefruit never had a night life before.

Who ever heard of a grapefruit that stayed up all night at parties, mixing with gin and vodka and all that jazz? Nobody. Until Canada Dry took the simple grapefruit and blended it into one of the most sophisticated mixers around. Of course, Canada Dry Grapefruit Drink's not much like the old spurt-in-the-eye variety you've been battling with at breakfast. We kept the true-fruit goodness, but not the sharpness, and we added Special Sparkle. That's a blend of pure ingredients and pinpoint carbonation. The result is a bright, lively mixer that makes a refreshing, clean-tasting tall drink.

What's more, the grapefruit is happy too. After all, why should lemons and limes have all the fun?

Relations Strained: Say Incited Rebellion

Saigon Rips U.S. for Peacemaking Attempts

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States played a decisive role in keeping Vietnamese forces and rebel mountain tribesmen from slaughtering each other in the past week. But the United States has emerged with black eyes from both sides.

Top Vietnamese officials charge privately that Americans incited the rebellion and then interfered in Vietnamese operations to suppress it.

Relations between the United States and the Saigon government appear more strained than at any time since the final weeks of the defunct Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

Largely as the result of American peace-keeping efforts, not a drop of blood was shed after the initial killing when the rebellion broke out Sept. 19.

AMERICAN ACTION

American officers in the rebel camps and in nearby Ban Me Thuot did these things among others:

They persuaded the tribesmen at three of the five rebel camps not to join a march on Ban Me Thuot Sept. 20.

They persuaded rebels who seized the Ban Me Thuot radio station outside the mountain city not to go on into the city. They eventually persuaded these advance elements to leave the radio station and withdraw along the road on which they had come.

They persuaded 470 armed rebels camped in a hamlet within quick striking distance of Ban Me Thuot to board buses and go back to their base.

KEPT PEACE

They kept Americans at all five of the rebel camps throughout the crisis in an effort to make peace. Two of these Americans, Army Col. John H. Freund of New York and Lt. Col. Ervin R. Wendt of Adrian, Mich., were decorated today by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Viet Nam, for their peacekeeping work.

On the other side the Americans persuaded the Vietnamese forces not to make an open attack on any of the rebel camps and to make air strikes on rebel hill positions.

Despite strong objections from the Vietnamese, American helicopters and planes supplied rebel camps with food and supplies for four days after the revolt began. The rebels had threatened to sack all Vietnamese hamlets in the area if this was not done.

Finally, the Americans yielded to the government's determination to seize the rebel camps but not until the Americans had made preparations to head off bloodshed.

Premier Nguyen Khanh in a speech to the tribesmen Monday said the crisis should be regarded as "a lesson not to let ourselves be incited by foreigners."

He apparently was referring to the Americans.

Despite the well-intentioned American efforts, the crisis appears to have resulted in a major American diplomatic and military setback.

The basis of the dispute between the tribesmen and the Vietnamese government remains unresolved and is likely to flare into violence at any time.

The result could be a collapse of the tribal fighting machine American Special Forces have been building for the past three years to patrol the central Vietnamese border and intercept Viet Cong guerrillas on their jungle infiltration routes.

AMERICAN DISSENT

The crisis also has created tension among Americans in Viet Nam.

American Special Forces, who have lived, worked and fought alongside the tribesmen consider their complaints against the government are justified. The tribesmen have been treated for centuries like second-class citizens and savages, and the Special Forces men feel this needs to be changed urgently.

Top American civilian intelligence men familiar with the situation agree with this assessment and feel greater American pressure should be put on the Saigon government to meet the minimum tribal demands.

Among other things, these Americans feel the government should create a ministry for ethnic minorities.

SOLIDLY COMMITTED

On the other hand, American policy is solidly committed to supporting the Saigon government against insurgency. Insurgency normally is considered to mean the Communist Viet Cong but presumably it also includes other insurgent movements seeking to weaken the government's authority.

Funeral Is Held

for Ship Survivor

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Funeral service was held Tuesday at Staples, Minn., for Melvin Baldwin, 45, one of two survivors from the World War II sinking of the Coast Guard cutter Escanaba. He died Saturday at Staples. He was a special guest at the Coast Guard festival last year in Grand Haven, one time base of the Escanaba.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa is leaning 1.2 millimeters—three-sixty-fourths of an inch—more than it was last summer.

John H. Freund of Scarsdale, N.Y., with bronze star. The two helped prevent bloodshed between Viet forces and rebel tribesmen.

Warren: I'm Glad Probe Is Finished

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren pointed to a famous photograph of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kennedy and sadly recalled:

"You know, I was very fond of him and a sad thing is that I just never got around to getting him to autograph this picture. But perhaps I can get Mrs. Kennedy to do so."

Warren's remarks came Tuesday as he visited old friends — two days after the report on Kennedy's assassination was made public by the commission Warren headed.

"This has been a long and depressing job," the chief justice said. "This has been a tough thing, living with this thing for 10 months, along with my other work. Certainly, I'm glad it's over."

FURTHER WORK

Warren wouldn't comment further on the work of his commission, saying only, "I have made it a rule not to say anything about it. I think the report should speak for itself."

The photograph by Karsh hung on the wall of the governor's office in the Capitol where Warren sat from 1943 to 1953 as California's chief executive. A Republican, he was the only man ever elected three times as governor.

With him was his old friend Bartley W. Cavanaugh, former Sacramento city manager. They plan to attend this year's baseball World Series, as they have for the past 10 years.

The chief justice said he was inclined to favor the Philadelphia Phillies for the National League pennant, but, "my judicial opinion on that race changes every day," he cautioned with a grin.

Bids on Demolition Draw Comment

A tabulation of seven bids for demolition in portions of Pontiac's two urban renewal projects was presented to the City Commission last night, but not without comments.

Normally a routine procedure, the low bid of $19,405 by South Kent Wrecking was accepted.

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson was first to comment that there appeared to be "a rat in the woodpile somewhere."

Hudson pointed out that there was a $50,000 difference between the low bidder and the highest bid of $69,200 by Arrow Wrecking Co.

He questioned the 400 per cent difference in the bids.

IDENTICAL FIGURES

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin pointed out the identical figures used on a variety of items by some of the bidders.

"An astounding coincidence," he remarked.

City Engineer Joseph Neippling said that the successful bid was from a contractor who had done satisfactory work for the State Highway Department.

He added that the city felt the contractor could perform satisfactorily. The city's estimated cost for the demolition work was $20,650.

APPRAISAL CONTRACT

In other business, a land appraisal contract with Leslie R. Tripp, realtor and appraiser, 75 W. Huron, for $1,400 was approved.

Tripp will make land appraisals in urban renewal areas. Three other appraisers were hired last week by the city.

A lease for desk space at Pontiac Municipal Airport was approved for Pontiac Aviation, Inc. The three-year lease is for space formerly occupied by McCafferty Aircraft Inc.

In other action, starting time for the Oct. 13 commission meeting was switched to 9 p.m. The time change from the regular 6 p.m. was requested because of United Fund ceremonies slated that evening.

APPROVE AMENDMENT

City Commissioners last night approved an amendment to an agreement with Developer Charles L. Langs.

Langs, who has a model housing project on E. Pike at Parkhurst, was to have acquired three other parcels of land adjacent to his present site.

Under the original agreement, Langs was to have sold out 80 per cent of his projected units before acquiring the rest of the property.

However, the commission last night agreed to allow Langs, at his own risk, to acquire two of the three remaining parcels.

Price of the land was $10,700.

Langs is providing the sale price through his own funds rather than seeking Federal Housing Administration financing.

Object of the change in the contract was to allow the multiple housing project to be completed by the first of the year.

He hopes to beat the weather, according to city officials. Sixteen units in two buildings are slated for the added parcels.

OTHER BUSINESS

In still other business, another week's extension was granted Sam Allen & Son, Inc., operators of a junk yard at 22 Congress.

The city has threatened legal action if complaints against the scrap yard's operation are not met.

Steps Are Taken to Keep Marx Services Private

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Private services have been set for Harpo Marx, 75, and steps were taken to assure that they will remain private.

The mortuary in charge said it had been directed to announce only that services had been set. The time, place and date of services and burial were not disclosed.

Marx died Monday of a heart attack after undergoing surgery to correct a vascular ailment. He had suffered minor heart attacks in recent months.

There was no comment on his death from his surviving brothers — Groucho, Gummo and Zeppo. They were too upset to discuss Harpo's death with anyone but closet friends.

The U.S. Congress ratified a treaty of peace with Great Britain on Jan. 14, 1784, and the latter power agreed to recognize the independence of the United States.

State Gets New Look in Educational Setup on Nov. 3

By AL SANDNER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — Michigan voters will take a major step Nov. 3 toward revamping the state's educational setup.

They will be asked to select eight members of the new State Board of Education for terms ranging from two to eight years. Eight Republicans and two Democrats, nominated at party conventions this month, are seeking the posts.

EXPAND BOARD

The election will implement a provision of the new State Constitution aimed at expanding the board from four to eight members, expanding its powers to include the coordination and planning for all education in the state and removing the superintendent of public instruction from politics.

The education section of the new constitution provides for community colleges for the first time, gives the board authority over adult education and special programs for the handicapped and bars racial or religious discrimination in schools.

STAGGERED ELECTIONS

Eventually all board members will serve eight-year terms. They are being elected to the two, four, six and eight year terms this year to ensure staggered elections in the future whereby two members will come up for election every two years.

The new board members will take office next Jan. 1. Going out of business with the present board will be the elective office of the superintendent of public instruction. He will thereafter be appointed by the board.

The 1963 constitution also provides for governing boards for all of Michigan's tax-supported colleges and universities, and any others that may be established in the future.

Only the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University now have such boards.

The constitution provides for an appointive state board for junior and community colleges, locally elected governing boards and services for the handicapped.

UNTOUCHED SECTION

In fact, about the only provision of the old constitution left untouched by the Constitutional Convention education committee was the first section of the article on education. It reads:

"Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

The 1963 constitution requires that free public education be provided "without discrimination as to religion, creed, race, color or national origin"—a provision not included in the former constitution.

It deletes the requirement of the old constitution that all instructions "shall be conducted in the English language."

NEW SECTION

Former Congressman Alvin Bentley of Owosso, a Republican candidate for the board, was chairman of the committee which drew up the new section on education.

"The majority of the committee felt it would be desirable to remove the superintendent of public instruction and the entire question of education from the field of politics," he said. Candidates for the superintendent's post have been nominated at party conventions and elected on a partisan ticket.

"We felt that appointment, rather than election, would allow the board to look all over the country, if necessary, to find the best man available," Bentley said. "If he has to win an election he would have to be a Michigan resident."

LONG ENCOURAGED

The appointment has long been encouraged by education leaders, he said.

The board was enlarged to take care of "its vastly expanded duties," Bentley said.

While the old constitution left the setting of the board's duties to the legislature, the new one stipulates that it will exercise leadership and general supervision over all public education—excluding colleges and universities.

But it must plan and coordinate all education—including the colleges and universities. A new duty is that of presenting to the legislature the budget requests of the institutions of higher learning—which the schools formerly handled on their own.

LISTEN TO BOARD

The schools still can go directly to the legislature if they wish, he said, but it is expected that if there were any conflict, lawmakers would listen more closely to the board. Terms of board members were extended to give members sufficient time to build up enough background and experience to do a good job, Bentley said.

Under the constitution, the governor will be able to appoint boards to govern Eastern, Central and Western Michigan Universities, Michigan College of Science and Technology, Ferris State College, Grand Valley State College and any four-year institutions that may be founded in the future. Previously they were under the control of the board of education.

"The committee felt that the three largest schools owed their status to their constitutional autonomy and decided that all schools should enjoy this privilege," Bentley added.

There was a great deal of bipartisan agreement on the education section of the new constitution, he said, although the Constitutional Convention was frequently rent by inter-party squabbles.

"And there was complete agreement on the duties and makeup of the board," he said.

The committee included Gov. George Romney and President John Hannah of Michigan State University. It conducted some 20 hearings and questioned some 140 education leaders from across the state before making its recommendations, which were later drafted into the constitution and ratified by Michigan voters.

Mrs. George Crane, Green Ridge Road, Avon Township (left), enjoys a cup of tea with Adah R. Davis (center) of New York City and Mary Pauli, Shoreview Drive, executive

Association Gathers to Greet Nurse

Pontiac Visiting Nurse Association board of directors met Tuesday in the Sylvan Lake home of the president, Mrs. Charles L. Coppersmith. In addition to their regular meeting, members gathered to greet Adah R. Davis, assistant director in the Department of Public Health Nursing, National League for Nursing, New York.

Miss Davis was in Pontiac in a consultant capacity for the Visiting Nurse Association. Staff nurses also attended Tuesday's tea.

This glass designed in the flashed glass technique by famed Finnish artist Tapio Wirkkala for Rosenthal China Corporation is the result of the use of a technique developed in the days of the Roman Empire and now improved upon and used in the new collection of glass artware.

'Arts and Crabs'

ULSTER HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP)—Ricky Savage, 5, attending day camp at a bungalow colony near here, was particularly excited one recent morning. "I can't wait to go to camp today," he told his mother, Mrs. Gilbert Savage. "We're going to have arts and crabs."

Cleanliness of body and clothing, and the wise selection of styles, make a favorable impression on everybody you meet.

Old Glass Art Revived by Finnish Designer

In a revival of the ancient art of flashed glass, the famous Finnish designer, Tapio Wirkkala, has created a distinctive new collection of glass artware for Rosenthal China.

In this process, colored glass is poured, layer by layer over a clear glass base.

Both colored glass and clear glass are blown and fused together to make vases, bowls, dishes and other decorative pieces, with an exciting combination and play of light and elusive color which has the effect of a spectrum.

Imaginative and skillful cutting, without surface ornamentation, allows the colors to reflect with a luminous and unearthly quality.

RAINBOW COLORS

Violet, deep green, Burgundy red, terra cotta and blue are the colors most frequently used, in combination with clear glass or with another color.

In this new flashed glass, Wirkkala has applied improved modern methods to a technique developed in the days of the Roman Empire.

First and second century glassmakers produced vases and other vessels of such beauty that they were regarded as jewels.

They were more precious than gold or silver, and could be owned only by the wealthy. Elaborate decorations were cut into the surface of the colored glass, allowing the clear glass beneath to show through.

EXAMPLES OF ART

Many fine examples of this art have been unearthed in excavations on the sites of Roman cities in Europe and North Africa.

The early process flourished until the early twentieth century in central Europe, when it proved impossible to reconcile artistic ideas with industrial demands, and the quality of flashed glass became inferior.

Modern artists have found a way to work in this medium, but not many companies produce flashed glass because of the subtle and difficult process involved.

Rosenthal has taken over a plant in Amberg and is one of the few companies with the manufacturing facilities and skilled artists and craftsmen available to produce flashed glass of a quality and beauty that surpasses the glass of ancient Rome.

Most Wives Do Job

Husbands Never Write

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: In the 16 years we have been married my husband has never written a letter to his parents. I didn't mind writing all the thank-you letters for the gifts they sent our pre-school children, but I resented having to write letters for their 37-year-old son.

He was always too "busy" to write, but he found time to do the things he wanted to do.

Last year I became so disgusted with his juvenile attitude that I finally told him that if his parents were going to hear from us, HE would have to write the letters. He didn't write one letter, but each time we'd get a worried letter from them because of the long silence, he would call them long distance.

This put a strain on our budget. I wonder how many other wives have husbands like mine, and what do they do about them?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: Your husband's type is legion. And most wives break down and assume the writing role again. The more stubborn ones cling to their promises, which usually hurt them far more than it does their husbands.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 47-year-old man who never misses a chance to hold his 17-year-old niece on his lap?

I am sending you his picture. Please send it back with your answer. I thank you.
WILMINGTON WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I am returning your husband's picture.

Now send me a picture of the niece and I'll be able to give you a better answer.

DEAR ABBY: My wife reads your column every day, and I read it when she makes me.

We have been having an argument about something I hope you can settle for us. How should a woman wear her wedding rings?

My wife puts on her diamond engagement ring first, and her wedding band right next to it.

I say she is wearing them backwards—that her diamond goes on her finger AFTER her wedding band.

I have even pointed out that I see 99 out of 100 women wearing their rings that way.

But my wife says THEY are wearing theirs backwards, and she knows she is right because a woman gets her diamond first and it should be put on first, before the wedding ring.

Please put your reply in the paper.

BIG JOHN

DEAR JOHN: Even though the diamond is usually presented to the girl first, the wedding ring should be placed on the finger first.

Diamonds may be a girl's best friend—but that simple little round ring is placed nearer the heart.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEBBIE AT UCLA: Next semester include a course in art. It's time you learned where to draw the line.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss have one daughter, Shirley Curtiss of Madiera Beach, Fla.

Wear Oldest Dress to Get a Permanent

While you are having a permanent — at home or in a beauty shop — wear an old dress or blouse that is washable. Then launder it immediately afterward.

The ammonia and peroxide solutions contained in "perm" solutions remove color from fabrics, speeded by the softening agent which abates penetration.

Prompt washing in soap or detergent suds removes hazardous splashes or dribbles so they don't have a chance to soak into and bleach the fabric.

Malcolm Boyd, whose plays on race relations are currently being performed on Channel 13 in New York City, will lead a round-table on TV drama.

The conference is cosponsored by the Division of Continuing Education of Oakland University and the Detroit Women Writers' Club. Reservations can be made by calling Oakland University.

MRS. R. A. STROH

The Robert Arthur Strohs (Linda Marie Olds) will be at home in Belleville after a Florida honeymoon.

The First Congregational Church was the setting for their recent marriage and reception. Rev. Malcolm K. Burton performed the double-ring candlelight ceremony.

A gold sash highlighted a floor-length gown of candlelight tulle taffeta for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean H. Olds of Pioneer Drive.

PEARLS, CRYSTALS
Her bouffant veil fell from a pearl and crystal tiara. Yellow roses and carnations comprised the bridal cascade.

With honor maid, Sue Newhouse, were the bride's sisters, Barbara and Marcia, attending as bridesmaids.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Dorothy Strub of Milan and Walter Strub of Lake City, Fla., had Jack Weid of Ann Arbor for his best man.

Ushers included Michael White, David Colavito, Gary Weid and Williams Olds of Oxford.

They're Not Clean

Pre-launder new bedding, tablecloths, place mats, and towels to wash away the factory finish, soil and lint marks due to handling, printed lettering, pastel labels, and embroidery machine oil.

Marjorie Elizabeth Roemer exchanged vows with Perry Edward Phelan of Detroit, Saturday in the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian.

Her parents, the Frank F. Roemers, were hosts at the reception in Westcoast club-house following the candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. Edward D. Auchard.

With her gown and train of white lace over taffeta, the bride wore a bouffant illusion veil held by a pearl tiara. She held cascading carnations, Stephanotis and trailing leaves.

ATTENDANTS
With Mary Alice Roemer, her sister's honor maid, were the bridesmaids, Mrs. William Steuk, Ann Arbor; Roberta Welch of Trenton, and Nancy Stark of Farmington.

Attending their brother as best man and usher were Donald and James Phelan. They are the sons of the Gerald Phelans of Okemos, formerly of Bloomfield Hills.

Robert Kaszmeyer, Birmingham and Thomas A. Stacey Jr., Royal Oak were groomsmen. Frank and Steven Roemer also ushered.

After a honeymoon in Mexico City, Acapulco and Los Angeles, the couple will live in Detroit. He is a graduate of the University of Detroit.

MRS. S. D. STEWART

A recent candlelight ceremony in the United Presbyterian Church of Auburn Heights marked the marriage of Sharlene Ann Henderson to Airman I.C. Stephen Douglas Stewart of Selfridge Field.

Their parents are the Arthur H. Hendersons of Rosetta Court, Pontiac Township. Mrs. James C. Stewart of Josephine Avenue and the late Mr. Stewart.

The bride appeared in chapel-length white Chantilly lace over taffeta. A crystal tiara held her bouffant illusion veil. She carried white roses and carnations.

ATTENDANTS
With honor maid, Judy Chamberlain, were bridesmaids Mrs. Ralph Kaphengst, Mrs. James Stewart and Judy Fisher. Pamela Kaphengst and Alfred Miller Jr. were flower-girl and ring-bearer.

Bruce Stewart was best man for his brother, Dale Henderson, Phillip Bieri and James Stewart were ushers.

Reception in the Knights of Pythias hall followed the service read by Rev. William Palmer.

MRS. C. KIMBRELL

The Charles Kimbrells (Nancy Ann Masten) left for a northern honeymoon after their recent marriage and reception in the Marble Memorial Methodist Church, Milan.

Imported Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned a bouffant gown and chapel train for the daughter of Mrs. L. D. Masten of Milan and the late Mr. Masten.

A crystal and pearl tiara held her butterfly veil of illusion. Miniature orchids rested on her lace-covered Bible held during the ceremony performed by Rev. Roger Merrill.

With Mrs. Dale E. Myers, matron of honor were bridesmaids Joyce Pickens, Kathleen Palmer and Patricia Masten, junior maid.

The bridegroom, son of the Lawrence Kimbrells of Albert Avenue, Pontiac Township, had Milton Dodge for best man. Groomsmen were Gary Oak, William Dodge and Michael Masten. James Wallis, Bill Gruber, James and John Masten, seated the guests.

Paper Won't Stick

If painted shelves are given a coating of paste wax before they are covered with paper, the paper will not stick.

MRS. L. J. ACHTEN

A reception in the Dublin Community Center followed the recent vows of Sandra Lee Pohl and Lawrence J. Achten in the Dixie Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are the Robert H. Parkers of Almond Lane, Independence Township, and the Harry Achten of Ortonville.

With a gown and train of white taffeta applied with Chantilly lace, the bride wore an illusion veil with pearl tiara. Her bouquet of Eucharis lilies was combined with ferns.

HONOR MATRON

Mrs. Theron Williams was honor matron at the ceremony performed by Rev. Paul Vanaman.

On the escort side were best man Arthur Parks, with ushers Ronald Parker, Richard Achten and Nick Vang-clof.

After a brief northern honeymoon, the couple is at home in Independence Township.

Double Duty

Sturdy wicker patio stools not only look well on porch or patio, they can be used in the children's room to provide extra seats that the kids love.

Let Friends Offer You as Member

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband and I moved to this town several months ago. We have met several of the people here and like them very much.

However, most of the activity centers around the country club. As we are not members of the club we miss out on a good deal of the social life.

It is an exclusive club and, in order to join, it is necessary that our names be put up for membership.

May we ask our new friends to recommend us for membership, or must we wait for the suggestion to come from them?

A: You should wait for them to suggest your joining the club. However, you can, without a direct request to put you up, ask what the requirements are for joining the club and this will very likely prompt one of them to ask if you would like him (or her) to put your name up for membership.

Q: When teens-agers are introduced to the parents of their friends, do they proffer their hands, or must they wait for the older person to proffer his (or her) hand first?

A: Correctly, they should wait for the older person to proffer his (or her) hand first, but I don't think anyone would criticize their impulsively extending their hands first.

Q: What is the proper procedure for announcing an engagement when the girl's parents are unwilling to do so and there is no one else in her family who could make the announcement?

Would it be out of order for the man's family to announce it?

A: The announcement in such a case would be made impersonally in this way: The engagement of Miss Mary Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, is announced to Mr. Robert Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown.

William D. Casey of Dwight Avenue has received a master's degree in engineering from Detroit Research Institute. He is a project engineer at General Motors Truck and Coach Division and is a graduate of General Motors Institute.

Word Racing Won't Help Poor Readers

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

As a second grader, he lost several months of reading instruction to illness. Now 15, he's what schools call a "slow" reader.

Their minds on approaching college requirements, parents and teachers have been trying to turn him into a "fast" one by pulling him through "speed-reading" courses in which his pronouncement of words has been clocked as you clock the pace of a horse you're grooming for the big race.

I said, "Read to me, Steve."

He read badly. He turned words like "and" to "the" and jumped over letters in others which ruined their meaning.

I closed the history book, located a clock and a poem by Robert Frost and set them before us.

ENEMY TO FRIEND
"Now," I said, "we are going to turn this clock from an enemy into your friend. Steven. We are going to use it to slow your reading down instead of speeding it up."

We are going to read this poem very, very slowly, giving each word in it seven seconds.

We are going to do that because the man who wrote it took time and care to choose each word out of all the other words in the world. It is right for you to read him slowly."

His hands stopped trembling. At first it was difficult for him to trust his slowness because so many people had found fault with it.

But as he realized that I was finding delight, not fault in his careful grasp of each jeweled word, his anxiety left him.

Turning a glowing face to me, he cried, "I've seen birches bending with ice like that in the winter! I used to smash it off with a hockey stick."

"But now I just stand under the trees and look up at the ice shining on them. They are just how he says!"

"I know," I said. "And from here on you are going to be able to look at words, too, instead of smashing them."

Karl Capek once wrote a satirical play about two colonies of efficiency - worshipping ants who killed each other in battle over a millimeter of ground between two blades of grass. Their epitaph was: Dead on the Field of Speed.

O.K., parents and teachers. Carry on. Accelerate the children. Make their hands tremble. Clock them in their panting races to win your millimeters of credit.

I just wish someone would tell me what the rush is all about. It's crazy, you can't kill time.

BOWMAN-HAMMOND

Edna Mae Hammond spoke vowing with David LeRoy Bowman, Saturday, in the First Presbyterian Church, Auburn Heights. Their parents are the Wayland C. Hammonds of Hatton Drive, Pontiac Township, and the Herbert L. Boumans of Third Avenue. With her floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over white taffeta, the bride wore a silk illusion veil with crystal tiara. Attendants were Mrs. Darrel Lotridge, Mrs. Carlyle Hammond and Mrs. Robert Bradford; Russell Adams, Carlyle Hammond and Darrel Lotridge.

HAWKINS-COLE

After their recent marriage and reception in the Friendship Baptist Church, Al J. Hawkins and his bride, the former Rosa Mae Cole, left for a honeymoon in Canada. Their parents are the John Cole of Westway Drive and Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Hawkins of Linda Vista Drive. The bride chose floor-length Chantilly lace over white satin and bouffant illusion veil. Her attendants were Beverly Stanley, Lorine Walker and Bernice Hawkins. Rev. Hawkins performed the ceremony for his son who had Kenneth Byrd for best man. Robert Dickens and James Hawkins ushered.

Small Hall Can Give a Welcome

Postage-stamp-size entrance halls pose a decorating problem that baffles many housewives. Nothing is going to turn a small hall into a big ballroom, but professional interior decorators have tips for creating an illusion of space where there is little of it.

The color of the walls in the entrance way is the most important factor. They should be painted a very light color, such as a pastel shade of the color in the adjoining room, or papered in a white or very light paper.

Next, look at the floor. It too should be very light. An entrance foyer floor that can be dramatic in its welcome is a checkerboard pattern of solid black and white alternating tiles. In a very tiny entrance way, solid white tile will brighten and enlarge the area. Now, to add interest to the walls, hang a narrow chest with a bright picture over it on the wall you want to serve as the center of attention.

FLOWERS FRAME

The colors in the flowers should pick up the colors of the picture to give a unified look to the arrangement.

If there is not enough room to hang a chest on the wall, use a narrow shelf with a mirror over it. Arrange a bouquet of flowers on the shelf and in front of the mirror, add depth to both the room and to your flowers.

Where there are windows in the hall or a skylight overhead, place a large green foliage plant on the floor to provide a decorative highlight. As a crowning touch, be sure to have adequate light in the area. An entrance way should be like a friendly beacon light to visitors. If you use a bright picture on the wall, consider using a small picture lamp over it to highlight both it and the flowers below it.

The end result is still a small entrance, but you'll have a hall making it look bigger than it is and as friendly as you mean it to be.

PTA Starts Year

MSU Coed Married in Chapel

The Alumni Memorial Chapel of Michigan State University was the setting for the recent marriage of Jean Ardith Isbell to Gary Melvin Haugen.

A reception in Tice House, Okemos, followed the morning ceremony performed by Rev. Theodore K. Bunderthal. Parents of the couple are the Eugene C. Isbells of Dixie Highway and the Henning Haugens of Green Bay, Wis.

BRIDAL ENSEMBLE

With her street-length gown of white satin with pearl-appliqued bodice, the bride wore an illusion veil with cabbage rose headpiece. Her colonial bouquet included white roses and carnations.

Clara Handy of Sodas was honor attendant along with bridesmaids Florence Freer, Evelyn Daniels and Diane Tashjian.

On the esquire side were Herbert Huson, best man, and ushers, John Isbell, Richard Tonn and Webster Buell. After a northern honeymoon, the bride will resume senior studies at MSU in East Lansing.

Tape Seams

If you think the material from which you are fashioning a new dress is such that the seams may stretch or sag out of shape, stay them with cotton seam tape to prevent this.

Prevent Ravel

When sewing material that has a tendency to ravel, be sure to pink the seam and give it an extra line of stitching running one quarter of an inch outside the seam line.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer: Why do all the patterns for a wrap-around skirt have a center front seam? The new material I have wouldn't look as well with this seam. Judy M.

Dear Judy: Most wrap-around skirts are made from cotton fabrics which usually are about 36 inches wide. For a skirt with extra width at the hemline, the fabric would not be wide enough to avoid a seam at the center front. If you are making a skirt of this type in wool you can avoid the seam. Check the pattern with your fabric and, if it is wide enough, lay the center front seam on the FOLD of the fabric.

Dear Eunice: I saved my knits from a few years ago and now find they need to be shortened. The prices to have this done are so exorbitant, I must resort to doing them myself. Please clip and save for future reference. Mrs. L. M. K.

Dear Mrs. L. M. K.: To you and all the gals who have asked this same question, I will outline several ways to shorten knits. Please clip and save for future reference.

SHORTEN AT WAISTLINE:

This is the least complicated and may be done if knit isn't too heavy.

a. Turn over excess length at the waistline and insert elastic. Be sure the skirt fits perfectly at the hip-line for these two methods.

b. Clip thread at the waistline for correct length. Ravel the yarn from this point on. (Wind excess yarn loosely around cardboard, dampen and allow to dry. This will uncurl the yarn and return to its original state.) Pick up stitches and loosely bind off. Crochet a casing at the waistline and insert 1/2-inch elastic.

SHORTENING KNITS AT HEMLINE: (HEAVY KNITS)

1. This is to be used for plain knits only (no pattern or ribbing). Clip thread at the new hemline mark and ravel out excess length. Treat excess yarn the same as above. Pick up stitches on your needle, bind off loosely and crochet 1 or 3 rows for finishing.

2. If you prefer not to crochet the edge, hand sew bias hem facing to the finished edge (about 2 inches wide), and turn hem up. This gives a smooth firm finish and prevents the lower edge from curling up or stretching. Loosely hand sew free edge of facing to skirt.

SHORTENING KNITS AT HEMLINE: (MEDIUM WEIGHT)

1. Mark your new hemline and make a second mark 3 inches below.

2. Pin hem tape to WRONG side of knit on the SECOND line of marks. Avoid stretching knit.

3. Machine stitch knit to hem tape BEFORE cutting away excess overcast this cut edge if necessary to avoid raveling.

4. Turn up skirt on the hemline, (you should have a 3-inch hem), fold back 1/2-inch from free edge and lightly slip stitch hem to skirt. Keep stitches loose, don't pull tightly.

WRINKLE HELP

Mrs. Merin Rutter, Meservey, Ia., wins this week's TAILOR TRIX pressing board for this helpful hint.

"The front of a sheath dress tends to wrinkle in cross-wise accordion pleats, spoiling the appearance of the dress. After being seated, take this excess material in your hands and make one BIG inverted fold. When you stand again, your dress will not have that 'sat-in' look. This has worked for me, try it!"

Some of the most frequently asked questions about sewing are included in Eunice Farmer's 25-cent booklet, "Twenty Questions." You may obtain it by enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents with your request. Address Eunice Farmer, in care of the Pontiac Press.

Use Small Loads

For clothes heavily soiled with mud and sand, use smaller loads to get maximum washability.

Heavy soil, unlike soluble soil, must settle to the bottom of the wash basket.

Needle Storage

Store needles in an empty lipstick case to save space in your sewing boxes and avoid pricked fingers.

Hubert Sets Peach Trees Shaking on March Through Georgia

By REILMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent
TIFTON, Ga.—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey at least received a hearing in his first campaign foray into the Deep South.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate marched through Georgia Tuesday from the rich farming communities in the South, to Athens and Atlanta in the northern part of the state. He shook the political peach trees and stirred considerable election interest.

The crowds turned out. Their reactions varied, but there was no question that they heard Humphrey. It was one of the

He started his day in Moultrie, a pretty little community in the heart of the peach, peanut and cotton country. Only a few hundred people were waiting in front of the courthouse — and most of these appeared to be vociferous Goldwater supporters.

They began booing when he rose to speak. Humphrey, with his apparently unquenchable good humor, thanked them for the "warm welcome." For a time, it appeared that he might not be able to speak at all.

GETS IN LICKS

He got in a few licks when the noise died away. He reminded his listeners that Georgia had "never left the Democratic party." (cheers) He said, "The Republicans never lifted a finger to help the South." (Bigger cheers.)

Then he went on to Tifton, 28 miles away. Some 2,000 to 3,000 persons were waiting there on a high school football field.

The temperature was hovering around 90 and a merciless sun beat down. Humphrey spoke for about 30 minutes.

At one point, as Humphrey recalled depressed farm prices under a GOP administration, a man yelled, "But we had freedom then." Persons standing close to him clapped.

When Humphrey finished, people crowded around to shake his hand and get autographs. In spite of the crushing heat, a "public press conference" followed. For another 15 to 20 minutes, Humphrey fielded questions. One was about the civil rights bill. "I voted for the Civil Rights Act and I make no apology," he said.

He had a good reception at the University of Georgia later. And he spoke at a fund-raising dinner in Atlanta Tuesday night, after attracting clusters of people at the airport and at a downtown hotel.

Did he change any votes? Said one of his sponsors, "It's mostly emotional now, all emotion. The main thing is to get people to thinking."

UAW Local Back to Work

CLEVELAND (AP) — Members of United Auto Workers Local 1250 were returning to their jobs today at Ford Motor Co.'s two big engine plants and foundry in suburban Brook Park in compliance with a court order to end their wildcat strike.

However, some 500 members of the 7,800-member local voted Tuesday night to continue the walkout in defiance of the court order and orders of local and international union leaders to return to work.

Daniel Clemmer, a union member, said the group agreed to keep what he called an "invisible picket line" around the three plants until certain conditions are met by Ford.

Union leaders had been trying to get the strikers to go back to work since the walkout started Friday in protest against the suspension of a union committeeman for violating company rules.

COURT ORDER
The company obtained Tuesday from Common Pleas Court

Judge Harry Jaffe an order barring picketing at the plants and instructing the workers to go back to their jobs. The picket lines were withdrawn.

Kelley Says Cities Can't Impose Fee

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley held Tuesday that a city can not impose an annual motor vehicle license fee and so advised Secretary of State James Hare.

Kelley held that any such city ordinance would conflict with a state statute which requires that the secretary of state shall collect such a tax and exempt vehicles from other such taxation except for certain taxes assessed by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Symposium on Cancer

LANSING (AP) — A symposium on oral cancer is expected to bring more than 200 dentists from throughout Michigan to Michigan State University Thursday.

most interesting experiments in the otherwise lackluster 1964 campaign.

His tour, however, only deepens the uncertainty as to how Georgia will vote in the presidential election in November. Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee, is strong here. The civil rights bill, which Humphrey helped enact into law, is a red-hot issue.

HEARD BOOING

Countless placards in the audiences told Humphrey he was in "Goldwater country." He heard booing and heckling.

He also got applause and some laughs. At one point, Humphrey opened his arms wide, as though to embrace the crowd, and said, "They told me I wouldn't dare come here, but I'm here and we're getting along just fine."

ROYAL NEWLYWEDS — Japan's Prince Yoshi accompanied his bride, Hanako, yesterday to the Imperial Palace in Tokyo. The two met with their parents, Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako, after their wedding. The prince is third in line for the Japanese throne.

Japan's Prince Yoshi Weds His Princess

TOKYO (AP) — Prince Yoshi, younger son of Emperor Hirohito and third in line to the Japanese throne, married a member of the former nobility today inside the imperial palace grounds. His parents watched the 10-minute traditional Shinto ceremony on television.

Carrying a scepter of plain wood and wearing a black ceremonial kimono with a maroon train 10 feet long, the 28-year-old prince knelt first at the altar.

Behind him, to kneel at his left, came the bride, Hanako Tsuguru, who got up at 4 a.m. to dress in her 12 layers of bridal garments, topped by a purple silk outer wrap.

Hanako, 23, was chosen to marry Prince Yoshi after a five-year search by the imperial household.

THE SACRED MIRROR
Three white-robed priests performed the ceremony in a tiny altar room inside the emperor's shrine said to contain the sacred mirror of the mythical sun goddess founder of Japan.

Crown Prince Akihito and other members of the royal family watched from chairs alongside the gravel courtyard. Opposite them sat Premier Hayato Ikeda and his wife, other members of the Cabinet, members of Japan's former noble families and a small contingent from the press, radio and television.

Prince Yoshi read a prayer asking for the protection of the gods and happiness of the family, a ritual corresponding to the wedding oath in Christian ceremony.

A priest filled sake cups in front of the royal couple. When their lips touched the cups, Yoshi and Hanako were made husband and wife.

HUSBAND FIRST

Prince Yoshi backed away from the altar first, an attendant helping him with his train. His bride followed. Her train, even longer than Yoshi's, took some expert handling to keep it from snagging as she followed her husband.

Mrs. Yoshitaka Tsuguru, the mother of the bride, told newsmen: "when I saw the ceremony end, I felt a peace of mind that our task as parents has been fulfilled."

The bride's father said he was proud but felt "a little bit of sadness" at seeing the last of his three daughters leave home. The search for a bride for Yoshi began in 1959, following Akihito's marriage. Yoshi was seldom consulted. He met Hanako last February.

The search among Japan's 900 blueblood families was complicated because the prospective princess had to be shorter than the 5-foot-3-inch prince, had to be younger and could not be near-sighted, an imperial family trait.

30 Congo Rebels Said Killed Near Bukavu

BUKAVU, the Congo (AP) — Communist East German Congo Army headquarters in Bukavu claimed its troops killed 30 rebels Tuesday 20 miles west of the Kivu Province capital.

It was the first confirmation of rumors that rebel tribesmen again were moving on the eastern Congo city. A rebel attack on Bukavu was repulsed last month. Many whites have fled to neighboring Rwanda.

Military authorities said the clash with the rebels resulted from a probing action by the Communist-backed insurgents and that another attack was likely.

BONN, Germany (AP) —

Communist East Germany wants a long-term credit of several hundred million marks from West Germany, an Economic Ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

Other Bonn officials said the East German regime threatened reprisals against the big trade between West Germany and West Berlin if its demands are not met.

The spokesman would not specify the amount sought, but said the Communists want it to run for 8 to 10 years. The business newspaper Handelsblatt put the figure at 500 million marks, about $125 million.

Trade between the two parts of divided Germany amounts to $500 million a year and has been increasing.

The United States and some other members of the North Atlantic alliance oppose credits of more than five years to Communist nations.

LONDON (AP) — An Atlantic alliance strike force steaming toward the Bay of Biscay for the final phase of NATO war games says Soviet ships have relaxed their watch on the naval exercise.

"To our knowledge only one Russian trawler and one submarine are still shadowing the force," U.S. Navy Capt. Frederick C. Turner, operations officer of the Blue Strike fleet, told newsmen Tuesday night.

The task force — 55 ships, 80 planes and 21,000 men — has been carrying out simulated attacks with both conventional and nuclear weapons against targets in Norway, Denmark and Britain.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Police broadcast urgent warnings throughout Sweden today following the theft of enough poison to kill thousands.

The burglars, who also stole a morphine solution, took more than two pounds of pilocarpine hydrochloride from a pharmacy, laboratory at Sundsvall, 190 miles north of Stockholm. The poison, soluble in water, is used in eye drops for glaucoma sufferers.

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper, today reported the rescue of five Soviet sailors trapped in the submerged cabin of an overturned barge for nearly nine hours.

Pravda said three members of a navy rescue team and a border guard had been decorated for heroism.

It said the rescuers took two sailors off the overturned hull. Then an officer dived under the vessel with an aqualung to the wheelhouse, which apparently had remained watertight with five crew members inside. One was a woman.

BOMBAY, India (AP) — An investigation into the death of 38 Indian schoolchildren stricken after eating American famine relief supplies has showed cholera germs in water used to prepare their meal.

Health authorities cleared CARE — the Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere — of blame in the deaths at Meddika village 10 days ago. Their report said no contamination was found in the corn.

Backers of Health Care Plan Seek Compromise Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Backers of the health care plan for the aged passed Congress' adjournment clock today trying to find some form of their proposal that could win quick acceptance.

The odds still appeared to be heavily against them, although there were reports of a new strategy to get a vote on a compromise measure even if the present, Senate-passed plan is completely scuttled by conferees meeting today.

The plan now before the conference committee is for a hospital care benefit added to the present Social Security retirement system. This runs into the long-time opposition of a majority of the House conferees, headed by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

But proponents, working with technicians from the Welfare Department, were understood to be drafting a stripped-down proposal that would be at least technically outside the Social Security system.

PLAN FRESH START

Moreover, there was talk that such a plan might be given a fresh start by being attached, not to the Social Security bill now in conference, but to another House-passed measure — a minor tariff bill the Senate has before it today.

This strategy would get around technical parliamentary objections that have already blocked one attempt to get a conference vote on a similar proposal.

A more important question was whether the proposal could avoid Mills' objections.

Mills, who is close-mouthed in Washington about legislation in process, opened up somewhat in a speech Monday night in Little Rock. While repeating he fears adding a health component to Social Security would endanger the system, he acknowledged that the problem of health care for the aged has not been solved by existing measures.

"I have always thought there was a great appeal to the argument that wage earners during their working lifetime should make payments into a fund to guard against the risk of financial disaster due to heavy medical cost. This is a very persuasive proposition," Mills said.

But he talked in terms of a Ways and Means Committee study of such an approach next year.

KNOWN WISHES

Despite the known wishes of President Johnson for Congress to act on a health care plan before adjournment, chances seemed to be against it.

The compromise now being talked about would have much more limited hospital benefits than the Senate-passed plan, would be financed by a tax outside the Social Security framework and would treat separately beneficiaries over 65 and those who have not yet reached retirement age.

For the time being, to keep the tax cost down, the plan might apply only to those who have some working time left, allowing them to accumulate rights on retirement. Congress might later add benefits for those already retired — financing them out of general revenues.

The conference committee, meeting Tuesday, worked on other aspects of the Social Security bill, which — apart from the possibility of a health care plan — would increase retirement benefits. It was understood the conferees agreed to drop the proposal to include in the Social Security system some 170,000 self-employed doctors.

Are Meter Readers' Days Numbered?

JACKSON (AP)—The familiar, first of the month cry of "Gas man" or "Electric Company man" which has resounded in neighborhoods across the nation for years may become a sound of the past.

An electronic gadget to eliminate the time-honored rounds of the utility company meter reader is on its way. The gadget does the work via telephone.

Neighborhood dogs with a tendency to nip at people might take notice. In the future, they may have one less target.

There's a question when this could become general, however. There's a matter of costs.

The Consumers Power Co. reported today on a field test showing "technical feasibility" of an electronics system for reading gas and electricity meters.

The meter is specially equipped. Readings, made automatically, are relayed on the telephone to the utility office.

Consumers Power, a gas and electric utility, said the field test was conducted with the General Telephone Co. of Michigan and Transitel International Corp. of Paramus, N.Y.

Tests were conducted over a period of 16 months on specially equipped meters in Owosso, Mich.

The system "quickly scans the utility meter dials and reports the data to an electronic tape perforating machine," Consumers Power said.

Data stored on the tape is transmitted over the phone lines to the utility.

The telephone customer's calls are not disturbed. If his line is busy, the system skips it and comes back later.

A Consumers Power spokesman said similar tests are being made elsewhere in the country.

Texan Waits in Mexico Death Cell for Final Word on Sentence

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Each day seems to grow longer for Dykes Askew Simmons as he awaits final word as to whether he'll have to pay for a crime he claims he didn't commit.

The tall Texan, first American ever sentenced legally to death in Mexico, has been waiting for five years in a cell in the penitentiary.

Mexico's Supreme Court has had his case under review the last 13 months and a decision is expected before long.

There's only a slim chance the 36-year-old Fort Worth crane operator will face a Mexican firing squad, the sentence handed down for the slaying of three members of a prominent Monterrey family Oct. 12, 1959. Although Nuevo Leon State, of which Monterrey is the capital, retains the death sentence as maximum punishment it hasn't been applied here in over 40 years.

There is a probability his sentence may be commuted to

DYKES ASKEW SIMMONS

20 years, and a possibility he may go free.

Discussing these chances, Simmons said: "I'll accept nothing except full vindication and freedom. I'm innocent. I just drove into Mexico. I was barely in the country when it happened."

Then, with exasperation: "All this is a result of lies compounded by lies."

Somehow he preserved an air of affability, even of humor and also of hope.

FINAL WORD

All of this — tinged with a touch of restlessness that comes with a feeling the final word is near — emerges as he eagerly talks with visitors.

Doubts about his involvement were buried under the initial avalanche of horror and hysteria that swept this community of nearly a million people when the bullet-riddled bodies of Marta Villagomez, 21, and her brother, Juan Manuel, 14; and their dying sister, Hilda, 19, were found crumpled in a car near here. They had been returning from Laredo, Tex., with their elder brother, Raul, when their car broke down. Raul hitched a ride into a nearby town, leaving the three behind.

Hilda, who lived for 17 days after the shooting, said an American drove up after Raul had left and tried to start the car. When that failed, he offered the three a ride into town. When Hilda refused, the American became enraged and, claiming he was a bandit, pulled out a weapon and started firing.

Simmons had entered Mexico through the Laredo area of the shooting and was arrested three days later near Monterrey. On her deathbed, Hilda had identified Simmons as the assailant.

FIRST CONVICTION

The first conviction, in March

1961, was turned back for retrial when a court ruled Hilda's identification of Simmons improper. The second conviction, with the dying girl's testimony stricken, followed Dec. 12, 1962. Upheld by the State Supreme Court, the case went to the nation's highest tribunal last August.

"I'm afraid our newspapers did a poor job of reporting and a good one of sensationalizing the case against Simmons," said a leading Monterrey newspaperman.

A lawyer, Enrique Martinez Torres, said, "From what I've learned, the evidence against Simmons was circumstantial.

There definitely is doubt as to his guilt and when doubt exists it's up to the courts to acquit the accused."

Others feel strongly about Simmons and cite two alleged attempts to escape. Simmons admits he and another inmate made one unsuccessful bid to break out. The other incident, he claims, was a plot to shoot him outside the prison on the pretext he was trying to escape.

DISCIPLINARY CASE

Dismissing the Texan's claims, the prison director, Miguel Guadiana Ibarra, called Simmons "a disciplinary case." He is allowed outside his cell two hours in the morning and two at night. Guadiana cites Simmons' prison marriage last month and his privileges as a married inmate — including unlimited visits by his wife in total privacy — as proof there's no discrimination against the American.

Simmons' biggest complaint is that "our foreign service has done absolutely nothing" about his problem. But U.S. consulate officials here periodically visit him and check his needs.

Simmons looks at it this way: "It's just like the Dreyfus case. Just change the charge from espionage to murder and it fits me perfectly, especially the part in the beginning where the family is told not to say or do anything, not to ask for help and that everything will be okay in the end."

The story of the court-martialed French artillery officer, Alfred Dreyfus, is his favorite piece of literature, says Simmons — "My mother gave it to me. I've read it eight times."

State Dept. Closing 12 Offices

Delay Is Urged on Destruction of Files

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. August E. Johansen, R-Mich., urged the State Department Tuesday to hold up its order for destruction of files in 12 field offices of its security risk investigative system.

The department is closing down the 12 offices and has ordered destruction of their files. Their work is to be taken over by seven remaining offices.

In a telegram to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Johansen said:

"As a member of Congress and ranking minority member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, I respectfully but insistently request hold order on further implementation of reported Aug. 28 directive to State Department field security agents requiring destruction of investigative reports, so-called raw security files, index cards, et cetera. Also request hold order on reported directive barring retention of records by security field agents in the future, and on directive to security field officers to withdraw their listings from local telephone directory.

"Request you designate State Department representative to contact me immediately for conference. Copies of this telegram are also being sent to G. Marvin Gentile, director, Office of Security, and Hon. Robert E. Leo, acting assistant secretary for congressional relations."

The department said in announcing the closings that they were part of a reorganization of its security risk investigations in the interest of efficiency and economy.

The department said the files in the field offices are duplicates of originals which are kept in Washington.

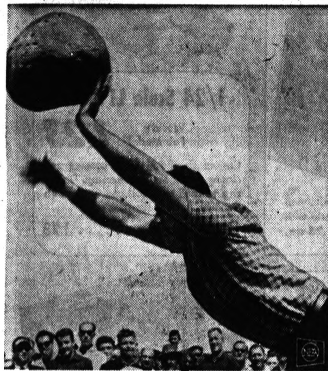

"All the original investigative reports are maintained permanently in Washington," a department spokesman said.

LBJ Meets With New Presidential Safety Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson meets late today with members of the Dillon Commission on presidential safety, named to follow up recommendations by the Warren Commission to improve protection of presidents.

Johnson appointed the four-man committee, whose senior member is Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, after the Warren report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was made public Sunday.

At its first meeting Tuesday, the committee decided against issuing reports on its progress until it completes its job. BRIEF ANNOUNCEMENT
A brief announcement by the Treasury said three members of the committee — Dillon, Acting

Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs — met for an hour and 45 minutes. The fourth member, Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency, was out of town. * * *

The committee's assignment is to work on the Warren Commission's suggestions that the system for presidential protection be overhauled and that the killing of a president or vice president be made a federal crime. In Sacramento, Calif., Chief Justice Earl Warren said he was relieved that the investigation of Kennedy's assassination was over.

Red China Long Way Off as N-Power, U. S. Sources Feel

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sources believe that although Red China now has the capability of setting off its first atomic explosion it is still years away from becoming a major nuclear power.

Thursday, the Peking regime's 15th anniversary, is the earliest date in Washington speculation on the timing of China's nuclear debut.

This guess is based on the Communists' penchant for unveiling new developments on their anniversaries. Other estimates ranged into 1965.

While eventual Communist Chinese success in building an atomic bomb has been predicted for years, an unusual statement by Secretary of State Dean Rusk Tuesday disclosed a recent conclusion by U.S. strategists that Peking's preparations have reached the point where it can fire its nuclear device at any time.

U.S. sources declined to specify what new intelligence data has convinced them that the Chinese Reds have arrived at the edge of an atomic blast.

But having reached this conclusion, it was said, the State Department put out Rusk's statement as a way of toning down the reverberations from a Chinese nuclear explosion when it does come.

Rusk said China's first atomic shot "might occur in the near future" and if so, "we shall know about it and will make the information public."

"The United States," he added, "has fully anticipated the possibility of Peking's entry into the nuclear weapons field and has taken it into full account in determining our military posture and our own nuclear weapons program."

LONG WAY TO GO
U.S. sources made these points:

—The initial nuclear test would still leave Red China a long way to go before achieving a first-class nuclear arsenal.

By exploding a bomb now, Peking would use up most of its present atomic fuel supply. Its fuel manufacturing capability is limited and years more would be needed to build up a stockpile. The Chinese have yet to develop the sophisticated rockets which an atomic power nation needs to deliver its warheads.

—Peking could use its early atomic development for propaganda and nuclear blackmail against non-atomic Asian neighbors.

—China's first nuclear explosion may be relatively small — the first U.S. test in 1945 was 19 kilotons — and is expected to take place above ground.

—U.S. monitors are confident they can spot a Chinese explosion above ground. How long after a Chinese explosion the U.S. announcement of it would come depends on how much cross checking of the monitoring information is required.

—Unless the U.S. monitors find evidence that Peking has come up with an important new development in the atomic art, the first Chinese explosion is not likely to prompt a U.S. withdrawal from the test-ban treaty. The treaty allows signatories to pull out upon three months notice if there have been "extraordinary events" which jeopardize its "supreme interests."

During the test-ban negotiations last year, the East-West negotiators knew that France was testing and expected Red China would. Thus there was an implication that the signers would not withdraw because of anticipated tests by either of two holdouts.

—The Soviets say their nuclear assistance to Communist China was only in peaceful uses. Whether this is true is not known by U.S. authorities. It is confirmed that the Russians pulled their atomic technicians out of China in 1959 and 1960.

Electric Organ Is a Radio

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — It's no laughing matter when Melvin Berg sits down to his electric organ and a radio program comes out.

Berg says ever since the family moved into a new home two months ago the organ, which he has had for years, started picking up radio stations, some as far away as San Francisco.

Experts have been unable to find the trouble. Sometimes the radio music is soft; sometimes loud.

Berg's daughter, Joan, 11, says, "I'll be playing something on the organ and pretty soon the radio station is louder than I am. It bugs me, it really bugs me."

2 U.S. Planes Flown to Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least two American-built T28 fighter planes have been delivered to Haitian President Francois Duvalier's regime despite the denial of a U.S. export license for them.

A State Department spokesman said last night that the planes were believed to have been flown to Haiti by American pilots, who avoided coastal radar simply by leaving the country at low level.

It was expected the fighters would be used by the Duvalier regime against guerrillas reported to be operating in a mountainous area of the Caribbean island nation.

The T28 originally was a World War II training plane. More recently some of them have been removed from storage and converted to carry machine guns and bomb racks.

The United States has supplied them to the South Vietnamese government and to the Congolese central government for use against insurgents in those countries.

The spokesman said he did not think there had been any diplomatic discussion of the planes between the United States and Haiti, and he did not know if there would be.

In Pontiac Area

August Business Was Good

Business held up well in the Pontiac area last month, despite the normal drop in August when many families are out of town vacationing.

Business transacted by banks through customers' checking accounts was some $10 million above the same month a year ago.

Industrial payrolls were up slightly over last August and held about steady compared with July '63.

More people mailed more letters to raise postal receipts over July this year and August 1963.

Permits for new homes dropped to a low of seven compared with 37 in July and 38 in August of '63. But total construction of all types remained about even with July and still topped August 1963.

UTILITY USE
Gas, electricity and water consumption dropped from the previous month but remained ahead of the same period a year ago.

Fewer people rode the buses, and fewer patrons left town by air compared with last year and the previous month.

Story of Mistaken Arrest for Assassination of JFK

STRAWN, Tex. (UPI) — To most people, the Warren report is a distant, lengthy formal document — a summary of a week-end when history tore their hearts but did not touch their lives.

To Donald Wayne House it's a reminder of four hours last Nov. '22 when he was jailed by mistake as the president's killer.

His story has never been told before.

House, 23, hauls dynamite — a construction firm. He lived in Ranger, Tex., last fall and in Nov. '22 decided to come to Dallas to visit an old Army buddy.

While he was in Dallas, he waited until he caught a glimpse of President Kennedy, whom he greatly admired, and started back home via Fort Worth.

ON RADIO

He did not know Kennedy was assassinated until he turned his car radio on well out of Dallas. Halfway between Dallas and Fort Worth, he stopped in the town of Grand Prairie for gasoline.

A woman asked him whether he had heard what the killer looked like. House gave her the description he had heard on the radio without realizing at the time that it also fitted him.

But if House didn't note the similarity, she did and telephoned the police. House heard sirens and saw a red light flashing and pulled to the side of the road.

OUT OF CAR

A Fort Worth policeman ordered him to get out of his automobile and stand with his hands against it.

"I looked up and there were a lot of policemen with shotguns and everything," House said.

"What am I being arrested for?" House said he asked.

"You are being arrested for the assassination of President Kennedy," a policeman said.

FRIGHTENED AT FIRST

"I was frightened at first," House said. "But after I got to the police station, I wasn't scared anymore. I had a clear conscience and I kept repeating, 'I didn't do it.'"

After three hours of denying he was the assassin, House was put in a cell. Finally a policeman came to the cell door and said:

"They've caught another boy, Lee Harvey Oswald. They are pretty sure he did it."

House was released and the best apology he got was from a jail matron who ran up, kissed him and said, "I'm glad you didn't do it."

Plane Unveiled for Guerrilla Wars

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — General Dynamics' Convair has unveiled its answer to the needs of guerrilla warfare: a light-weight but tough twin-engine, twin-boom plane which slightly resembles World War II's P-40 fighter.

Convair calls it the Charger Model 48. The firm rolled it out of the hangar here yesterday and described its potentialities: speed, 277 knots; takeoff, 500 feet; payload, pilot and six soldiers or 2,000 pounds of supplies or assorted bombs, rockets and guns.

The payload is carried in the deep fuselage between the twin booms. Two 650-horsepower turboprop jet turbines power the plane, which weighs 4,571 pounds — less than many cars.

Sorry, Try Tomorrow

College Leaders to Visit White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 200 college student leaders, many of them presidents of student bodies, have been invited to a buffet supper and reception at the White House Saturday evening with President and Mrs. Johnson.

The President, a onetime Texas school teacher, previously honored outstanding high school pupils at a comparable White House party.

The White House did not release the names of the students who were invited Saturday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: America has more than 20 million teen-agers. So it's no wonder you have trouble getting anyone else on the phone.

Women are getting richer all the time. Last year widows collected about $2.5 billion in life insurance payments, children about $1.5 billion.

Ever wonder why "a baker's dozen" is 13 instead of 12? The man responsible was King Henry VIII who decreed that a baker's dozen of rolls should weigh a fixed amount on penalty of beheading. The bakers decided to throw in an extra roll to be safe.

CHIMPS VOCAL

Chimpanzees do not have a language in the sense that people do, but they do have a wide range of vocal sounds which other chimpanzees seem to understand. This puts them at roughly the same grounds that a level as a normal human husband and wife at breakfast time.

When the first railway on the European Continent was proposed in 1825, a Belgian legislator opposed it on grounds that the vibrations of its wheels would shake all milk into butter.

Trying to Be Too Clean

Blamed for Vagrancy

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UPI) — William Statum, 30, was booted out of town yesterday, just because he likes to keep clean.

Police found him in a laundromat wearing only a cloth around his waist as he waited to get his clothes out of a washing machine. Magistrate Stanley Cohen found him guilty of vagrancy and told him to move on.

Here is the most fascinating business prediction which has come to our attention all year: "The Spanish domination of the British almond market is expected to continue."

Fireflies are different from people. For example: male fireflies are attracted to a feminine firefly only when she is all lit up. If she turns off her lights, he loses interest in her.

Saigon Troop Movement Touches Off Fears of Coup

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The movement of 30 truckloads of troops in battle gear into Saigon tonight touched off fears of a new coup, but the movement apparently was normal.

A military spokesman said some of the troops were being shifted from a province north of Saigon to one south of the capital. Others were being put in reserve at a regular army camp in Saigon, he said.

But all such movements were being watched closely by interested observers in the wake of the abortive coup of Sept. 13. A Vietnamese officer newly ordered to leave the country on an indefinite basis, had predicted that a group of young gen-

als known as the Young Turks would try to oust Premier Nguyen Khanh in a coup "in a couple of days."

The officer, Col. Pham Ngoc Thao, pledged his continued loyalty to the Khanh regime, which he said had been forced away from order and discipline by various pressure groups.

Thao, who heads Khanh's press office, has played an important intelligence role in political developments here. He was the second officer to receive walking papers. The other was Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khien, a member of the ruling triumvirate and the highest ranking military officer in the country.

Thao was assigned to a post at the Vietnamese Embassy in Washington. Khien was given an assignment in London, the nature of which was not announced. The colonel is a Roman Catholic.

Khien has been looked on as one of the most powerful men in the country. He is not a Roman Catholic, but was reliably reported to have been preparing to join that church just before the collapse last November of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Catholic.

Khien's office announced he had accepted the resignations of two political office holders, Brig. Gen. Do Mau and Ngiam Xuan Hong. Both had been linked with reports of plans for a "preventive coup" to head off any possible uprising by the Young Turks.

Hong was a presidential secretary. Mau was deputy premier for social and cultural affairs.

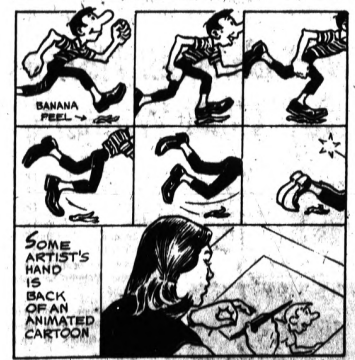

Farmer Suing; Says Fly Spray Poisoned 2 Sons

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A farmer charged in a U.S. District Court suit Tuesday that fly spray fumes poisoned the nervous systems of his two teen-ager sons, leaving the younger mentally incompetent.

The suit by Harold N. Skogen of rural Princeton seeks $1 million for his son Douglas, 14, $150,000 for his son David, 17, and $150,000 for Skogen himself for medical expenses and loss of the boys' assistance.

Defendants are Ralston Purina Co., which the suit said manufactured the spray, and Dow Chemical Co., which it said furnished the chemicals. Both are accused of negligence in not warning distributors of the spray's "potential hazards."

Junior Editors Quiz on FILM CARTOONS

QUESTION: How are cartoon characters in films made to move.

ANSWER: When you look at movies, the characters seem to be in motion — but actually are not. You are looking at a great many still photographs thrown on the screen very rapidly, one after another.

Each shows successive positions of the characters and these appear to blend together because of a quality in the human eye called persistence of vision. After seeing a picture, it stays in our eyes long enough to blend with the next one, giving the appearance of smooth motion. Animated cartoons use the same principle, only each picture has to be separately drawn and colored.

If you were the girl at the bottom of our picture and were animating a cartoon of a boy slipping on a banana peel (top), for each slight change of position you would lay a clear sheet of celluloid over the last drawing, and draw it exactly the same except for the slight change toward the new position.

When these pictures were reduced to movie reel size and run through a projector, the boy would appear to run on the screen. In the banana peel sequence shown, there would actually be more in-between pictures, but our artist lacked space to include them.

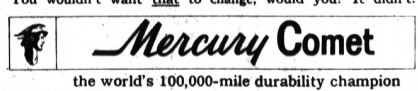

FOR YOU TO DO: Take a piece of paper big enough to cover the six pictures of the running boy, then cut out a square the size of one of the pictures. Lay this opening over the first boy so you will only see him. Then move the paper toward the right. The boy will seem to be running.

School Building Plans to Be Aired

HOLLY — The board of education will hold another special meeting Monday night to work on plans for a school building program.

The session will be the latest in a series of extra meetings called by the board in an attempt to formulate a building bond proposal.

Supt. George Garver said he expects an election date to be set and a working timetable established "in the very near future."

Crux of the school shortage problem is in the elementary grades where the district now has four extra classes.

The board has determined that rooms should be added to existing buildings rather than constructed as a new, separate unit.

TWO REASONS

Garver cited two reasons for the decision.

"Our growth has not been localized in any one area," he said. "Also, this is a poor district and there are efficiencies and savings in keeping the buildings a little larger."

With no specific area pinpointed as a trouble spot, Garver said Davisburg and the new Patterson elementary schools probably would be designated for additions.

By adding rooms to the existing units, the district will not have the expense of new central facilities necessary if a whole building were constructed.

MONDAY'S MEETING

Monday night's meeting will be devoted entirely to the building program, according to Garver.

While formulating a bond issue proposal, the board also has another consideration.

"Still to be resolved is the question of whether a request for operational money will be having effect at the same time," Garver said.

"Property evaluation is up some, but enrollment is up a great deal."

A 185-student increase over last year has brought 2,785 students into Holly's schools.

Garver noted that the average child in Michigan has $14,400 of taxable property backing his education.

The comparable figure for the Holly Area School District is $7,650, and that marks a decrease from $8,150 last year. The average for youngsters in Oakland County is $11,563.

District property owners now are paying 22.7 mills in school taxes. This includes 8.6 mills allocated by the county and seven voted extra for operations. The other seven mills are used to retire bonds.

Another topic to be discussed Monday is the part citizens will play in formulating and selling a bond issue.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Owner Faces Troy Assessment

TROY — Does a municipality have the right to levy special assessments to pay for highway improvements on someone who has already arranged to pay the county for them?

Troy thinks it has, but the owner of 188 acres of land at the northwest and northeast corners of John R and 14 Mile disagrees.

The City Commission set Oct. 26 as the date for a public hearing on the issue.

Troy has plans for road improvements and widening 14 Mile, and intends to use special assessments on commercial properties adjacent to the road to pay a portion of the charges made to the city by Oakland County.

Jay M. Kogan, a Detroit developer, owns 128 acres of property on the northwest corner of John R and 14 Mile, and 60 acres on the northeast corner.

SHOPPING CENTER

The larger area is in the process of becoming a huge shopping center, with a Sears, Roebuck Co. store as its nucleus.

Kogan has arranged to make direct payment to the county for the extra paving involved in widening 14 Mile and is opposed to special assessments by the city.

Troy officials have informed Kogan that the city has taken the position that commercial properties adjacent to any street widening and improvement project derive a benefit from the improvements.

Those properties should therefore pay a special assessment to reflect the enhancement of the value of the property, according to the city.

ASSESSMENTS USED

The Oakland County Road Commission has confirmed that almost all cities in the county have been using special assessments on adjacent commercial properties for the cities' share of county road improvement projects.

In other action, the commission approved a zoning amendment which will allow property owners to put accessory buildings such as garages within 10 feet of the main building.

Previously, the minimum distance allowed between main and accessory buildings was 20 feet, which created difficulties for some property owners with small lots.

The commission approved a recommendation by the engineering department for the use of cast iron in five of six 1964 water main projects.

Asbestos cement will be used for the remaining project, which does not require the superior beam strength of cast iron.

HIGHER COSTS

The change of material will result in an increase of about $22,000 in the cost of the projects to be constructed in major streets within the city.

The over-all estimated cost for all six projects is $149,362.

State Approves Troy Bond Sale for Water Mains

TROY — The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved issuance of $800,000 in revenue bonds by Troy for water main improvements.

Part of the money from the sale of the bonds will go toward paying a portion of the cost of the Beach Road water main. The remaining portion of the cost will be met through special assessments.

One mile of 36-inch water main on 15 Mile Road from Dequindre to John R will be completely paid for by the bond issue.

Any money not expended on these two projects will be used for smaller water main improvements and construction.

County Vet Council to Present Hopefuls

The Oakland County Council of Veterans will sponsor a meeting tomorrow at the Berkeley American Legion Hall, 2079 12 Mile Road, to introduce political candidates to the public.

Candidates for county and state offices from both major parties will attend the 8:30 p.m. meeting.

'College Night' in Rochester

Oct. 12 Event Stated at Senior High School

ROCHESTER — The annual "College Night" at Rochester Senior High School has been set for Oct. 12, according to George Stringer, director of guidance services.

Students will be registering the college preferences for the event Friday morning in their home room groups.

Some 40 colleges, universities, training schools and military services will be having representatives at the high school Oct. 12 so that students and parents may talk with them personally about future educational plans and vocations.

Recently around 350 persons have attended the program. However, this year an even larger crowd is expected since enrollments are up and the number of students who attend college has been increasing steadily from year to year.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., there will be three periods of approximately 35 minutes each. During the first two it is expected that students and parents will remain in the rooms they visit for the entire period.

THIRD PERIOD

The third period running from 9 to 9:30 is set aside as "browsing time" to allow visitors to move freely from room to room contacting as many college representatives as they wish.

Student guides are to be selected from the Scholarship Club. To conclude the evening the Student Council will have refreshments available.

Carousel, Hay Ride at Fair for School

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — A carousel and hay ride will be among the attractions at Saturday's annual Pine Knob Elementary School Fair.

Cochairmen of the 3-4 p.m. fair are Mrs. Allan Frick, 5254 Health and Mrs. Judith Frankenhoff, 6340 Pine Knob.

Other activities at the fair will include games, a fish pond, wishing well, cake walk, white elephant sale and roller derby.

3-15 Years for Robbery

A Farmington Township man was sentenced yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court to 3-15 years in the state prison at Jackson for armed robbery.

The prison term for Howard Ridley, 36, of 2172 Middle Belt was ordered by Judge Frederick C. Ziern. Ridley had been found guilty by a jury in July.

He was convicted of holding up Aners Market, 2960 Grand River, Farmington, and escaping with $97 on June 17, 1963.

TO REIGN AT FAIR — The Ladies Associates of Michigan Christian College last night named Mrs. Everett M. Golden of Pontiac queen of their annual festival to be held on the college campus in Avon Township

Saturday. Here Mrs. Melvin Parsons of the Lincoln Park chapter helps Mrs. Golden try on her royal regalia prior to her official coronation Saturday morning. Mrs. Parsons is chairman of the fair.

Saturday Parade to Launch MCC's 'Harvest Festival'

AVON TOWNSHIP — The blare of horns—the rhythmic beat of drums will signal the start of a parade in Rochester Saturday.

The occasion of the annual "Harvest Festival" at nearby Michigan Christian College.

Providing the music to keep the marchers in step will be the Rochester and Avondale senior high school bands.

The parade will form at Halbach Field on Woodward and proceed down Main Street and Rochester Road to the college campus at 800 W. Avon.

In the lead cars will be Rochester Village President

John O'Donnell and his wife, Fran, college officials and officers of the Ladies Associates, the college aid organization sponsoring the parade and festival.

COLORFUL FLOATS

Colorful floats, constructed by members of area chapters of the Associates, will dot the line of march. To add interest there will be old cars, decorated cars and the queen's float.

After the parade, participants and visitors will converge on the campus site in front of the multipurpose building which will be converted into a veritable "tent city."

Over 40 booths will be open for business after official opening ceremonies at 11 a.m. during which the festival queen will be crowned.

She is Mrs. Everett M. Golden, 660 E. Columbia, Pontiac.

REIGNS OVER FAIR

Mrs. Golden will reign over the fair scheduled to last until 6 p.m.

Featured will be an artisans' center where craftsmen and artists will display their talents. They will look rugs, paint portraits, work on pewter and paint chairs.

Another new attraction will be "Kiddie Land" where archery, a merry-go-round, pony and carnival rides will be offered. There also will be a story hour for little ones and free baby-sitting service.

The Walled Lake group will serve their traditionally popular steak dinners and the Rochester group will have fruit cakes for sale.

BILL OF FARE

Other refreshments also will be on the bill-of-fare along with booths featuring a variety of handmade items, attic treasures and homemade pastries baked by the Pontiac chapter.

Following the fair a hot-anatomy is planned.

Proceeds from the annual event will go into the Alma Gatewood Dormitory Fund to which merchants of Pontiac, Rochester and Auburn Heights have already contributed.

Plan 2 Missions at St. Patrick in White Lake Twp.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Two missions, one for men and the other for women, will be conducted at St. Patrick Catholic Church.

The programs are geared to spiritual revival and a review of the teachings of the church and its commandments.

Women and girls of high school age will meet Oct. 4-6. The mission for men and boys of high school age will start Oct. 11 and extend through Oct. 7.

Rev. Emmanuel Sprigler and Rev. Finian Storey of the Passionist Fathers will conduct the 8 p.m. sessions nightly.

There also will be two extra morning Masses during the two weeks, according to Rev. Lewis M. Ellis, pastor of the Church at 9088 Hutchins. He said no Catholics are invited to attend.

New Laws Cover Loitering, School Buses, Street Cuts

MILFORD — Loitering, school buses and excavation in Milford streets have been covered by new ordinance provisions adopted by the Village Council.

All will go into effect tomorrow.

Prohibition of loitering and the requirement that motorists halt in front of stopped school buses were passed on an emergency basis.

The peace and good order ordinance, which provides a curfew for minors, was expanded to include loitering.

Under it, anybody on public property who can not give a satisfactory account of himself can be deemed a disorderly person.

NEW SECTION

The new section added to the school bus ordinance conforms with state statute, providing that cars come to a stop not only in back but also in front of approaching school buses which have stopped.

The other new code is that aimed at street-cut control. Contractors cutting into village streets to put lines under them will be required to obtain a permit.

They will furnish a $1,000 performance bond and proof they are covered by liability insurance. They also must pay a fee to the village to replace pavement removed.

The council will hire Robert St. Louis, Michigan Municipal League financial consultant, to determine ways the village can pay for its share of a proposed $440,000 addition to its sewage treatment plant.

The village has applied for a federal loan to cover 30 per cent of the cost.

Report Wins Award

ROCHESTER — The village's annual report has won a second place award from the Michigan Municipal League in competition with 150 other communities of comparable size.

GOP Women Will Kick Off Election Drive

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Republican women here will kick off the general election campaign with a luncheon at Devon Gables Oct. 13.

The West Bloomfield Township Republican Women's Club has scheduled the event for noon.

Speaker will be James Barrett, an expert on the U.S. Constitution and a state director of Freedom in Action, a nonprofit, nonpolitical, educational organization.

Barrett's topic is "America is Too Young to Die."

All area women are invited to the luncheon, according to chairman Mrs. Gordon Doule, 2175 S. Hammond Lake.

MAKE RESERVATION

Those planning to attend should make reservations with ticket chairman Mrs. Edmund Giffester, 2508 St. Joseph, by Monday.

Japanese Alert to 'Sabotage' on New Trains' Inaugural Run

TOKYO (AP) — The world's fastest electric trains roll into regular operation Thursday between Tokyo and Osaka. Japanese "vigilantes" have been alerted to prevent sabotage.

About 21,000 speed-struck Japanese and foreigners have booked seats on the 30 blue and cream 12-car trains that will make the inaugural runs on Japan's billion-dollar new To-kyo-Osaka line. Every modern safety device,

Half-a-Ton Heart on Largest Animal

ROME, Italy (AP) — The blue whale, largest animal in the world, has a lot more heart than brain a food and agriculture organization reports. The whale's brain weighs 15 pounds, including hundreds of miles of fence, automatic train controls, and elimination of all grade only about five times that of a man. The heart weighs more than half a ton. The blue whale grows to a weight of 130 tons or more. That's as heavy as 30 elephants.

crossings, has been built into the 320-mile railway, the nation's first broad-gauge line. Rigid tests are mandatory for all motorists.

The vigilantes — volunteers living along the line — have been called into service to keep an eye out for crackpots, saboteurs and jokers. The government-run Japanese national railways has recruited about a hundred of these civic-minded watchdogs, given them the official title of "civil cooperators" and supplied them with flares.

KEEP EYE OUT

Their assignment is to keep an eye out for boulders, oil drums or other obstacles on the tracks, notify police if things get out of hand, and, if necessary, rush out onto the right of way with flares lit to halt an onrushing train. The railway has reason to be apprehensive about the possibility of sabotage to the dream trains, which will average 80 miles an hour in their initial four-hour runs between Tokyo and Osaka and 107 m.p.h., when they cover the distance in three hours next spring.

Since 1962, there have been 37 cases of attempted sabotage. In 1963 alone the national railways had 2,172 accidents caused by what it calls "interference by outsiders," that is, obstacles on the tracks, stones thrown at moving trains and sidown strikers.

Air Force Estimates Cost to Keep Missile

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force estimates it costs $100,000 annually to maintain a solid-fuel Minuteman intercontinental range missile on station. This compares with an up-keep figure of $1 million a year for each of the earlier liquid-fuel, more complex Atlas and Titan ICBMs.

Plan for Tailgate Picnic

Pontiac Press Food Editor

That nip in the air means football weather. Football means tailgating in this part of the country.

No, Pontiac, that doesn't mean you follow the car ahead of you so closely that you look bumpers if anyone stops suddenly. It means having a picnic lunch before the game starts.

If you own a station wagon, you spread the "vittles" on the open tailgate and let everyone serve himself. You can serve out of the trunk of any car.

Tailgating has become a tradition at many campus stadium parking lots. Some people eat at roadside tables or in parks before they get to the stadium, but many more park their cars where they'll be during the game and break out the food.

CHICKEN A MUST

Fried chicken is probably the most traditional food for this kind of picnic. With modern insulated food carriers, you can have it hot with very little trouble. Or chill it thoroughly after frying and serve it cold.

Tomato Noodle Soup
5 cups water
1 quart tomato juice
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/4 teaspoon basil leaves
Dash pepper
2 teaspoons Worcestershire
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
2-3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
Combine water, tomato juice, onion and seasonings in large saucepan; cover and bring to boil. Gradually add noodles; cover and cook over medium heat 10 minutes or until noodles are tender, stirring occasionally. Lower heat and stir in evaporated milk.

Serve soup hot with additional parsley flakes sprinkled on top. Makes about 2 quarts.

With either chicken or ham on the menu a spicy coleslaw is an excellent salad to take along. This one makes use also of the good apples now in abundance.

Zesty Coleslaw
2 cups finely shredded cabbage
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped apple
2 tablespoons chopped sour pickle
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
Combine all ingredients, and chill for several hours. Serve with picnic ham or chicken. Yield: 6 servings.

All tailgate picnic food should be easy to eat. For dessert there isn't anything easier than fresh cookies. If you like something new in flavor, make up a batch of Choco-Scotch Jumbo Snaps.

To get the unique flavor, you melt semi-sweet chocolate and butterscotch flavored morsels together.

Choco-Scotch Jumbo Snaps
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch flavored morsels
1 1/4 cups sugar
3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) soft butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

3 teaspoons baking powder

Additional sugar

Melt chocolate morsels and butterscotch morsels together in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Blend in sugar, butter, and salt. Beat in eggs and vanilla.

Sift together flour and baking powder; stir into chocolate - butterscotch mixture. Chill until firm. Shape into balls; using 1 rounded tablespoon for each. Roll in sugar.

Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: About 3 dozen cookies.

Low Heat, Moisture Secret of Braising

The secret to preserving good texture in a meat cut that is braised, as a pot-roast; for example, is long, slow cooking. Cooking at high temperature will dry the meat out and thus make the texture unattractive. Keep the utensil covered and use only a small amount of moisture with the meat, as indicated in recipes.

Corncob Jelly Has Delicate Taste, Color

WHITE SPRINGS, Fla. (U.S.)—Pass the corncob jelly! Mrs. Nancy Morgan does just that by making and serving jelly from corncocks. She boils them down, strains the pink liquid, adds pectin and sugar and boils again until it jells. The taste, she explains, is a cross between apple and plum.

Low Calorie Relishes Have Fine Flavor

If you're conscientious about calories, you'll do well to check the calorie counts of your favorite condiments. That special "added touch" to a meal . . . a tangy relish, a piquant chutney, a savory sauce . . . often adds a forbiddingly high number of extra unwanted calories.

Many relishes and sauces contain a surprisingly large amount of sugar, which accounts for their high calorie tab. In home-made condiments, it's often possible to trim calories to but a fraction of the usual count, simply by substituting the calorie-free sweetener, sucaryl, for sugar.

Now, while fresh garden produce is still available, discover how easy it is to turn out special calorie-streamlined relishes and sauces that will be the delight of dieters and non-dieters alike.

CORN CHOWDER RELISH Low-Calorie

1/4 teaspoon celery seed
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon turmeric
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon sucaryl solution
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup white vinegar (5 per cent acidity)
2 cups sweet corn, cut from the cob
1 cup chopped cabbage
1 green pepper, finely chopped

In saucepan combine spices, sucaryl and salt. Blend in vinegar to make a smooth paste. Add vegetables. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Pack into hot, sterilized jars and seal at once.

Makes 4 1/2-pint jars or 16 1/2-cup servings. Each serving contains 24 CALORIES; 0.5 gram protein; trace of fat; 6 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 49 CALORIES.

Chili Sauce

4 pounds ripe tomatoes
2 green peppers, chopped
2 sweet red peppers, chopped
1 1/2 cups chopped celery
1 1/2 cups chopped onion
3 tablespoons sucaryl solution
1 tablespoon hot sauce
1 tablespoon salt
1 1/2 cups cider vinegar
1 stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 1/2 teaspoons mustard seed
1 1/2 teaspoons celery seed

Pour boiling water over tomatoes; peel and chop. In large heavy kettle, combine chopped tomatoes, chopped green and red peppers, celery, onion, sucaryl, hot sauce, salt and vinegar. Tie spices in cheesecloth bag and add to tomato mixture.

Bring to a boil; reduce heat and boil gently, stirring occasionally, until of desired consistency (about 5 hours). Pour into clean, hot half-pint jars; seal at once. Cool to room temperature.

Fills 6 half-pint jars. Each tablespoon contains 6 CALORIES; trace of protein; no fat; 1.5 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each tablespoon would contain 18 CALORIES.

LOW CALORIE RELISH—Corn Chowder Relish is but one of the good vegetable relishes you can make with a sugar substitute. There is still time to put away several jars of it for winter.

Don't Limit Grapes to Snack Time

California not only has more people and more movie stars than any other state, but it has lots of other grapes — hands, full, hamperful, truckloads and trainloads of grapes, this year a crop 22 per cent above average.

Outstanding among table grapes in late fall are Emperor, Ribier, Calmeria, Almeria and Thompson Seedless. These are varieties of the classic Old World Vitis vinifera vines, planted at San Diego by the first Mission Fathers almost two hundred years ago.

Such grapes immediately loved the sloping foothills and blazing sunshine of the West Coast, but proved a sad failure throughout the cooler, often cloudy East.

So far as volume marketed fresh is concerned, Thompson Seedless is far ahead for the year but not in the fall. Emperor, second for the year and dominant in fall; Ribier third, then Cardinal (an earlier grape), Calmeria, Tokay, Almeria, Perlette (an early grape), Italia Muscat and Red Malaga.

At this time of autumn, Thompson supplies are declining, while Emperors take first place. Thompson Seedless is the golden-green three-way grape which is used not only for the fruit bowl, but is made into raisins and white wine. About 40 per cent of the California grape acreage consists of Thompson Seedless.

Emperor is the handsome dark-red grape which we will be enjoying from late fall on through April because its unusual sweetness makes it a good keeper in cold storage.

The simplest thing to do with table grapes is to pop them into your mouth, one by one, and eat them. But, say home economists of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, grapes combine delightfully with all kinds of other foods, as well.

They can be teamed in best Continental fashion, with assorted cheeses as a dessert, or stirred into an otherwise traditional shrimp curry. (This is a marvelously good contrast.)

Baked Chicken with Grapes is another conversation piece. Add pitted halved grapes to the chicken gravy just as it's being removed from the heat. For a bridge luncheon or Sunday night supper, team grapes and shrimp, and just because it's so good, add a bit of curry powder to the mayonnaise.

Grape and Shrimp Curry
2 lbs. raw fresh or frozen shrimp
1½ tablespoons chopped shallot or onion
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ cup shrimp stock*
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup milk
1 cup Emperor grapes, halved and seeded

Peel and devein shrimp, reserving shrimp shells for making stock. Sauté shallot and onion and curry powder until onions are limp in butter or margarine in a 1½ quart saucepan. Add shrimp, shrimp stock and salt.

Cover and cook over very low heat 11 minutes or until shrimp turns red. Remove shrimp to a heat-proof serving dish and keep warm while making sauce. Cook pan liquid until it has reduced one third.

Blend flour with butter or margarine and add to sauce along with milk. Stir and cook 1 to 2 minutes or until thickened. Add grapes and pour over shrimp. Garnish with small clusters Emperor grapes.

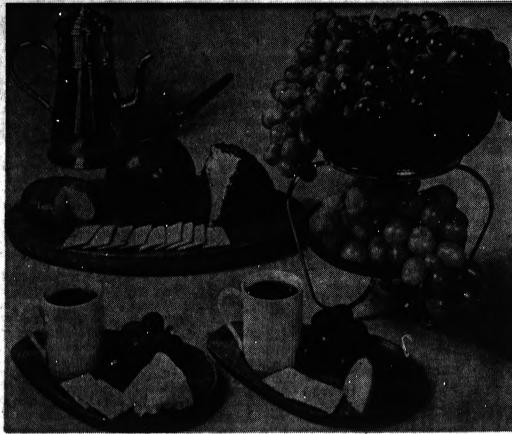

*To Make Shrimp Stock: Wash shrimp shells, place in a saucepan with 2 cups cold water, ½ teaspoon salt and 6 peppercorns. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Pour through a sieve to strain out shells. Yield: 6 servings.

Grape and Cauliflower Stew
2 cups shredded raw cauliflower
1 cup Emperor, Almeria or

Calmeria grapes, halved and seeded
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon anise seed
1/16 teaspoon ground white pepper
Head lettuce

Small clusters grapes
Fresh parsley
Place cauliflower and grapes in a bowl. Combine the next 5 ingredients. Add to cauliflower and grapes. Mix lightly. Serve on head lettuce. Garnish with small clusters of grapes and parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

VARIETIES OF TABLE GRAPES — The classic Continental dessert: Table grapes — Emperor, Ribier and Calmeria served with French Grape Cheese, Roquefort and imported Edam.

Owe Jefferson Our Thanks

Every time you chomp down on a tasty French fry, you owe a debt of thanks to Thomas Jefferson.

If it weren't for Jefferson, French fries would probably still be in the category of an exotic French delicacy like snails or truffles.

Instead, they're such an American tradition that they are standard accompaniment to such U.S. favorites as hamburger — and it comes as a shock to most Americans to realize that French fries really did originate in France, in fact.

Jefferson, who along with all his other accomplishments was no slouch in the gourmet department, discovered French fries in France and brought the idea home to Monticello.

All men being created equal, he figured, they ought to have a crack at the gourmet delicacies of other countries, and the unique Parisian way of serving spuds fell into that category. So at Monticello he started slicing potatoes and deep-frying them — and Americans have been at it ever since.

They're still serving French fries in France, incidentally, where they think snails are a standby and hamburger an exotic delicacy.

Meringue Spread Over Cookie Base

If your family is expecting company for a day's visit during the weekend, it's a good idea to have a batch of cookies on hand. Offered with fresh fruit, they'll make a fine dessert; and, of course, they're great at snack-time with coffee, tea, or milk.

Two-layer bar cookies are always popular and are convenient to bake in one big pan. The following version has a meringue topping full of the candy-like flavor of brown sugar.

To be at their best, these cookies should be served the day that they are baked.

Meringue Bars
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
1½ cups firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
½ cup chopped (medium-fine) pecans

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, granulated sugar and ½ cup of the brown sugar; beat in egg yolks and vanilla. Beat in well the sifted ingredients; stir in oats.

With a rubber spatula, press the thick mixture into a 15 by 10 by 1 inch jelly roll pan.

Beat the egg whites until frothy; gradually beat in the remaining 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time; continue to beat, if necessary, until very stiff and glossy. (With an electric mixer at high speed, the entire egg-white beating will take about 2½ minutes.)

Spread meringue over first mixture. Sprinkle with pecans, slightly pressing down the nuts. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven about 30 minutes.

Cool, but cut into bars while still slightly warm. Serve fresh. Makes about 4 dozen.

Top of Corn Bread Dotted With Jam

There are many quick breads that add variety and fun to breakfast. Here's another one that's perfect for breakfast prepared in the oven.

Marmalade Corn Bread
Put ½ cup milk and 1 egg into bag of 10-oz. package corn bread easy mix. Mix according to package directions. Squeeze bag to empty batter into special aluminum foil pan contained in package. Dot batter with 1 tablespoon orange marmalade. Bake in preheated hot oven (425 degrees) about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Sauce Good on Desserts

No extra sugar is added to this fruit sauce.

Raspberry Sauce
2 teaspoons corn starch
¼ cup cold water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries
1 tablespoon lemon juice
In a small saucepan gradually stir the cold water into the corn starch, keeping smooth. Stir in thawed raspberries with their juice. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until slightly thickened and clear.
Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice. Makes 1½ cups.

Los Angeles Orders 'Work or Get Off Welfare'

LOS ANGELES (AP) —The Los Angeles county relief program has been ordered altered to include this proviso: "Work — or get off relief."

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, which ordered the welfare changes Tuesday, even has a type of work in mind: field hand labor.

Such work on California farms is now done mostly by Mexican nationals imported for the purpose under the state's bracero program.

Efforts to induce unemployed persons to take over the work — most of it so-called stoop labor, at $1.00 to $1.25 an hour — have failed. The bracero program ends Dec. 31.

LOTS OF BOYS

Supervisor Ernest E. Debs said: "We have a lot of able-bodied boys on the relief program. They will not go to school or learn a trade. It seems about time to say: "Either work or you will not get food."

The supervisors enacted a five-point program which brought varying opinions from state and labor officials. A state official said the plan sounded legal. A labor spokesman expressed doubts.

Supervisor Kenneth Kahn estimated Los Angeles County will have 30,000 unemployed youths available to take over the tractor jobs when the labor importation plan expires Dec. 31.

The supervisors said the new regulations would make these requirements of employers hiring from relief rolls:

NEW REQUIREMENTS

1. That adequate sanitary facilities and other acceptable employment conditions be provided.

Eyes Decline of Private College Rolls

YPSILANTI (AP) — Decreasing enrollments in Michigan's private colleges and universities "must be halted and reversed," Gov. George Romney said Tuesday.

The state this year has taken a step which encourages "both education and private colleges" — the $500,000 state scholarship program, Romney said at Eastern Michigan University.

The program, sponsored by Romney and passed unanimously by the legislature, is helping finance the education of 1,300 Michigan students in public and private colleges and universities.

In a speech outlining his administration's education record, Romney also said the Nov. 3 election of members of the new State Board of Education will be vital to the state's future.

Injuries Claim Man

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Ben King, 69, of Traverse City, died Tuesday of injuries suffered Saturday when he was struck by a car while trying to remove a tree limb from a road near Bowers Harbor.

But Promoter Still Encouraged

Mixed Reports on Pay-TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — How goes Subscription Television?

Not well, reports the Wall Street Journal.

Results are encouraging, says Sylvester H. Weaver, president of the pay-television venture.

Subscription Television launched its ambitious California program two months ago by hooking up patrons in Santa Monica — and later, San Francisco — for shows of big league baseball, culture, off-Broadway plays and year-old movies.

The Wall Street Journal reported last week that the firm had lopped off 143 of its 185 sales people, that orders were lagging, and that subscribers weren't spending as much on programming as anticipated.

UNDISCOURAGED

Caught in his Santa Monica office between plane trips, fast-moving, big-thinking Pat Weaver appeared far from discouraged. He explained that his company had leaped into operation prematurely in order to combat the anti-pay-television forces that are sponsoring proposition 13 on the Nov. 3 California ballot. It would make paytelevision "contrary to public policy."

"It's easy to make people afraid of something that doesn't exist," argued Weaver. "That's why we had to get in operation."

Admittedly, he has had disappointments. His star attractions, the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers, ran out of steam. He was not able to acquire brand-new movies, as he hoped. The subscribers in the average income Santa Monica area have not spent as much for shows as expected.

"But that is partly our own doing," said Weaver. "On the one hand we have not had the programming we expected. And we have not promoted the programming as much as we could."

NO CANCELLATIONS

"We would much rather take in less and have a record of no cancellations. So far no installation has been canceled except for death or moving away."

Weaver said the 6,000 hookups had been made, a total of 25,000 sales have been made in the licensed areas, and 40,000 orders have been received. The cutback in sales personnel was to allow the installations to catch up with sales, he said, as well as to await the outcome of the November election.

He is hopeful that the measure will be defeated, but added he is ready to move $10 million to $11 million in hardware to other areas if the vote goes against him. He said numerous cities are interested.

Reservoir Bursts in India; Report Heavy Loss of Life

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A reservoir burst near Machera, in south India, today and first reports said the town was under 10 feet of water with heavy loss of life.

A police superintendent at the nearby town of Vijayapuri said waters from the large irrigation reservoir washed away beds in the government hospital as well as a small bus depot and flooded most homes in the town of about 25,000 people.

He said thousands of persons were taking refuge in trees and on high places.

Machera is about 240 miles north of Madras.

DEATH TOLL

One unconfirmed report said more than 200 people and 1,000 cattle perished in Machera.

The report said floodwaters from the Chandravanka River breached three irrigation tanks near the town.

Widespread flooding of the Krishna and Bhima rivers spread havoc over several thousand square miles of the state. At least eight persons have died apart from the reported casualties in Machera.

Eight of the 32 spans of a bridge linking the cities of Madras and Hyderabad across the Krishna River were swept away.

The state government said the bridge collapsed shortly after relief supplies for Machera reached the crossed it at the time were washed away.

Six persons drowned in the Guntur district, according to official reports, and two died in the ports of Kakinada and Vijayawada which were lashed by gales Tuesday.

Final Safety Device Saves Pair in Elevator

Their elevator plummeted 50 feet from the fourth floor past several safety catches, finally being stopped just above the concrete base. They suffered shock and bruises.

1 Too Many on the Ballot; Couple Loses

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — There may be such a thing as giving the voters too much of a choice.

Tom Kranjevich and his pretty blonde wife, Janet, each sought the Republican nomination for 33rd District state representative in the Sept. 15 primary.

A just-completed count of absentee ballots shows Tom lost to A. Elliott Merril by 10 votes. Janet trailed Tom by another 10 votes.

"We just shouldn't have given the voters a choice of two Kranjevichs," says Tom. "Next time there'll be only one."

UNION DEMANDS

William Gilbert, director of the AFL-CIO Organizing Committee for Los Angeles and Orange counties, demanded that the workers get "decent, guaranteed, minimum hourly, daily and weekly wages."

He said that under present systems workers get $1 an hour and must pay $1.75 daily for board in places too distant for daily commuting. This means the worker's net pay could be as little as $31.25 a week, he said.

J.W. Wodemer, director of the State Department of Social Welfare, said the program "sounds legal," but said he would have to study it before making a full commitment.

Ellis P. Murphy, director of the county's bureau of public assistance, estimated that 6,000 to 7,000 men would be needed to work in citrus orchards and in truck garden fields when the bracero plan ends.

Elegant Dessert

Honey in Cake and Frosting Too

"Oh boy!!", "Hurry up", "I can't wait!", "Let's have dessert first tonight!"

These are the kind of comments one hears if the children have caught sight of a chocolate cake waiting to be served for dessert. When that chocolate cake has been made with honey, chocolate chips plus almonds and iced with a creamy butter, coffee, cocoa and honey frosting, children won't be the only ones tempted to delve directly into dessert.

Sweet, golden honey, freshly produced by industrious honeybees, delicately flavors the chocolate cake and causes the mocha frosting to sparkle like honey drops.

Chocolate Honey Cake

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey
2 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips, melted and cooled

Applesauce Treat

You can make leftover cake and canned applesauce into a company special dessert. Just layer crumbs and applesauce with sugar and spice to taste—and sprinkle each layer with a spoonful or two of liquor. Serve as is, or bake and serve warm.

$\frac{1}{4}$ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped almonds

Cream shortening and honey until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Add almond extract and melted chocolate and mix until blended. Stir flour, baking soda and salt together.

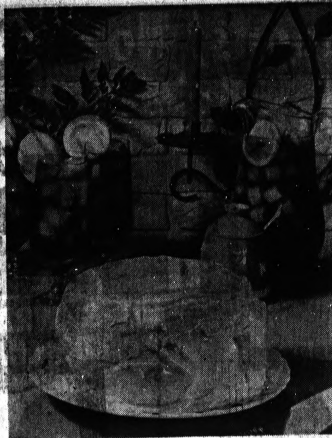

Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with water, beating well. Add almonds. Fold in chopped almonds. Pour in two greased 8-inch layer pans, lined with paper.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. Cool thoroughly. Frost cake with Honey Mocha Frosting.

Honey Mocha Frosting

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey
2 cups confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon almond extract
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoons cocoa
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoons instant coffee

Cream together all ingredients until smooth enough to spread.

CHOCOLATE HONEY CAKE — This cake is delectable served at afternoon bridge accompanied by honey-sweetened, lemon-flavored iced tea. It is marvelous for late evening cake and coffee entertaining. But, of course, if you want cheers from the family, serve Chocolate Honey Cake with Honey Mocha Frosting in huge slices, any old time.

Swedish Berries Top Pancakes

How about a brunch before the football game? Have a pancake party and make dollar-size Lingonberry-Topped Pancakes the "star" attraction.

These tiny pancakes are fun to make. Drop them by tablespoons onto a griddle; or, if you have one, use a Swedish "plätt" pan — a circular griddle with round "cups" to hold the batter. You can make the Lingonberry sauce a day ahead and heat it just before serving with the pancakes.

LINGONBERRY-TOPPED PANCAKES Sauce:
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch

¼ cup lingonberry juice
1 cup drained canned lingonberries

Pancakes:
1 cup pancake mix
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted

For sauce, combine sugar and cornstarch. Add lingonberry juice, stirring until blended. Bring to boil; cook over low heat until thickened and clear, stirring frequently. Add lingonberries; heat thoroughly.

For pancakes, combine pancake mix, eggs, milk and butter in medium-sized bowl. Mix until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about 1 tablespoon batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle.

Lime Juice Makes Bright Applesauce

A pretty green color and lime flavor distinguish this sauce made from "new" apples.

Green Applesauce
1½ pounds (3 very large) tart green apples
1 cup water
Dash of salt
¼ to ½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lime rind

2 tablespoons lime juice
Pare and quarter apples; core and slice thin; there should be about 1½ quarts. Boil gently, covered, with water and salt until tender. Remove from heat; mash if apples do not "fall apart," but do not make smooth.

Add sugar, lime rind and lime juice; stir over low heat.

until sugar dissolves. Serve warm or cold. Makes about 3½ cups.

New Version

Mayonnaise is usually the base of Tartar Sauce. But some of today's cooks like to use half mayonnaise and half commercial sour cream as the base to which to add minced parsley, pickle, olives and pimiento.

Reverse Braising Is Method for Sausage

What is it? It's the method used for cooking pork sausage links, country style sausage or bulk pork sausage patties.

Place the sausage into a heavy frying-pan. Add 2 to 3 tablespoons water. Cover the pan closely and let the sausage cook for 10 to 15 minutes, or until water evaporates. Uncover pan and let the sausage brown.

Half Hour Dish Is Hearty One

It's surprising how much better food tastes when it looks appetizing. This Corny Beef Casserole is a good example. It's chuck full of meaty ground beef and golden whole kernel corn. The corn is the ready-to-go variety, quick cooked and vacuum packed to give it that right-from-the-cob flavor.

Spunky tomato soup is the casserole's base. Bake it in your prettiest casserole and serve it bubbly hot from the oven—even your dinner forks will be happy they were invited!

Accompany your tasty headliner with foil-wrapped baked potatoes. They are a perfect oven partner for the casserole and equally good crowned with mellow sour cream and crisp bacon bits. Serve with a lacy green salad and warmed rolls.

Corny Beef Casserole
1 pound lean ground beef
Melted shortening
2 12-oz. cans golden whole kernel corn, drained
10½-oz. can tomato soup, undiluted
Salt and pepper
3 slices process cheese
Brown ground beef in a small amount of melted shortening in a heavy frying pan. Stir in well-drained corn and tomato soup. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Place in a greased 1½ quart casserole. Top with slices of process cheese, cut in half diagonally.
Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Boil Up Grits, Chill in Cans Broil Briefly

Our way of fixing hominy grits for attractive service.

Party Grits
5 cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup water-ground hominy grits
Medium-fine grated cheddar cheese

Pour the boiling water and salt into a saucepan. Slowly stir in the grits. Bring to a boil, simmer, stirring often until cooked through and thick—about 25 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in 1 cup (loosely packed) of the cheese until melted.

There should be about 5 cups of the mixture; spoon into 6 empty 4-ounce frozen fruit juice concentrate cans. Cool. Cover and chill. Remove bottoms of cans and push out grits.

Cut each cylinder of grits into 8 rounds; place, slightly apart, on heavy foil; sprinkle with grated cheese. Broil until hot through and cheese melts—5 to 10 minutes. Makes 12 servings.

Cooked Bananas

Peel four bananas and halve them lengthwise; melt a tablespoon of butter in large skillet and add the bananas; sprinkle with a tablespoon or so of sugar. Brown the bananas and serve with a meat sauce or curry or as dessert with whipped cream.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Sirloin tip steak.

Q. Where does it come from?

How is it identified?

A. It comes from the hindquarter of beef, specifically the tip or knuckle. This is right below the section called the round. These steaks are boneless and are called sirloin tip, boneless sirloin, face ramp, round tip, short sirloin and top sirloin.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. Braising is the recommended method, but if the meat is high quality, a dry heat method (broiling) can be used. Sirloin tip steak lends itself nicely to "kabob" cookery, that is, cutting the meat in squares, marinating and then threading on a skewer. Roast or broil.

Sherry Gives Peaches Nice Subtle Flavor

In the early days of our country's culinary history, fresh fruit puddings were often flavored with wine. Martha Washington recorded several such recipes. But somehow, in the intervening years, we forgot just how good the addition of a little Sherry can be.

This recipe for Sherried Peach Crumble revives an old tradition—deliciously. Mrs. Washington would probably have approved the use of a Sherry produced in our own country because she and the General maintained a large garden for growing their own produce.

At about the same time she was mistress at Mount Vernon, the first wine grapes were being planted in far off California by Spanish missionaries.

Sherried Peach Crumble
8 fresh peaches, medium size

¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon tapioca
¼ cup California Sherry
1 cup sifted flour
1 cup brown sugar (packed)
½ cup butter or margarine

Remove skin from peaches; slice fruit into a 4-inch pie pan or shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with cinnamon, tapioca and Sherry. Combine flour, brown sugar and butter into a crumbly mixture; sprinkle over peaches. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes.
Serve warm topped with vanilla ice cream, whipped cream or plain cream, if desired.

Stuffed Peppers Always Good

While peppers are plentiful you might like to try this dish.

Sausage Stuffed Green Peppers
3 small green peppers
¼ teaspoon salt
4 slices bread
¼ cup milk
1 pound lean pork sausage
1 egg

Wash green peppers and halve crosswise; scoop out seedy portions. Cover with boiling water in a saucepan and add the salt.

Bring to boiling; remove from heat; drain.

Soak bread in milk until absorbed; squeeze out as much milk as possible; mix with sausage and egg. Stuff into pepper halves.

Place in a baking pan; bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 35 minutes or until sausage is cooked through. Makes 4 servings.

Diced green peppers are delicious cooked with green peas; cut the peppers into thin strips when you cook them with Frenched snap beans.

Oil Sauce for Asparagus

Even in the days of the Caesars, Spain was famous for the quality of both its asparagus and its olive oil. In the centuries since, gourmets the world over have continued to prefer the tender spears served with an olive oil and vinegar sauce.

Use the following sauce over fresh, frozen or canned asparagus; equally good hot or cold.

Salsa Vinagreta: Combine ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, 3 tablespoons wine vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon oregano, 1 hard-cooked egg chopped fine, ¼ teaspoon each black pepper and paprika and 1 whole garlic clove. Remove garlic clove from sauce before serving.

Four sauce over cooked asparagus, marinate an hour or two before serving cold; or add to hot asparagus, serve immediately.

Forms of Allspice

Allspice is sold in whole as well as in ground form. The whole berries may be used along with cloves and peppercorns in making meat or poultry broths.

COASTAL SHRIMP SALAD — Here's a cheese-flavored pastry, shaped and baked in shells to hold a delicious shrimp-green grape-apple salad.

Cheese Tart Shells Hold Shrimp Salad

Whether you hail from the east coast or the west — or somewhere in between — an all year 'round mealtime favorite is shrimp. In summer or early fall when the weather's still apt to be on the very warm side, shrimp becomes the major ingredient in refreshing salads.

Now, joining your other favorite shrimp salad recipes is a new one which features the unique additions of apples, pecans and grapes. Called Coastal Shrimp Salad, the shrimp mixture is nested in flaky cheese pastry.

Add a touch of imagination to your Coastal Shrimp Salad pastry. Purchase natural baking shells so you can shape the pastry to the shell design. Or, if you prefer, bake in five-inch tart pans. Either way, be sure to prepare the pastry with enriched flour — the flour with the inherent nutritional benefits of three B-vitamins and the mineral iron.

For convenience sake prepare the pastry shells early in the day. Make the Coastal Shrimp Salad then, too, and cover and chill.

At mealtime spoon the salad into the shells. Accompany the pastry entree with broccoli spears and a beverage. For dessert top wedges of angel food cake with butter pecan ice cream and butterscotch sauce.

Coastal Shrimp Salad
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
4 to 7 tablespoons cold water
Coastal Shrimp Salad
Paprika

Set out 6 baking shells or 5-inch tart pans. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Into a medium-sized mixing bowl sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly; stir in cheese. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Onto lightly floured board or pastry cloth turn out dough and press lightly together. Divide dough into 6 equal parts and roll out each to fit baking shells or tart pans. Fit dough into shells; trim and flute edges. Prick all over with fork. Bake 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. With small spatula immediately remove pastry from shells. Cool completely; fill with Coastal Shrimp Salad. Sprinkle with paprika.

Coastal Shrimp Salad
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ cup dairy sour cream
4 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash hot pepper sauce
2 cups chopped, cooked shrimp (1 lb. fresh or 1-lb. pkg. frozen or 2 4-oz. cans)
2 cups chopped celery
1 medium unpeeled apple, chopped
½ cup chopped pecans
¼ pound seedless green grapes, halved
¼ cup finely chopped green onions

Blend together mayonnaise or salad dressing, sour cream, lemon juice, salt, dry mustard and hot pepper sauce. In a medium-sized mixing bowl combine shrimp, celery, apple, pecans, grapes and green onions. Pour dressing over shrimp mixture; toss lightly. Spoon into cooled pastry shells. Makes 6 servings.

Aging Knuckle-Baller Sparks St. Louis

Reds' Sluggers Falter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Acting Manager Dick Sisler was critical of the Cincinnati Reds' big sluggers and of the small attendance. But he gave out with the compliments for Billy McCool.

Sisler also told newsmen: "There's no tightening up on this ball club, although a few of the players may be trying too hard."

The Pittsburgh Pirates dumped Cincinnati into a first-place tie in the National League Tuesday night with a 2-0 victory that also snapped the Reds' nine-game winning streak — the longest in the NL this season.

"You can't win if you don't get the runs and that's all there is to it," said a calm, but unhappy Sisler. "We had our chances and we have no excuses."

"We had the runners on base, but our big batters failed at the plate," he added. Sisler was critical of the small crowd of 10,858.

"I'm very disappointed at the attendance," he said. "I think it was terrible. I expected at least 20,000 fans here tonight after all of the national attention we have been receiving and the way the team has been playing."

Sisler bristled when it was suggested that the St. Louis Cardinals were in a better position than the Reds.

"I'd rather be right where I am," snapped Sisler. "The Reds have two games left with Pittsburgh and two with Philadelphia, while St. Louis plays one more with the Phillies and three with the New York Mets."

Bob Friend, the Pirates' winning hurler, said "We were due to win one after those losses to St. Louis. I was due myself for a victory."

"I had good stuff," he added. "They got 11 hits off me but some of them were puny."

"This game meant a lot to me, too. I want to win 200 games in the National League," he added.

'Bowed' Keane Receives Lift From Pirates

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals had just whipped the Philadelphia Phillies for the second straight night, 4-2. It was their seventh consecutive victory.

A reporter, who had rushed into the Cardinal dressing room Tuesday night, was informed that Manager Johnny Keane was in the trainer's quarters.

He found Keane slumped in a chair, his head resting on a small table. Doc Baumann, the club trainer, hovered over him.

There was stillness in the room. Team captain Ken Boyer tiptoed in and whispered: "What happened? What's wrong with the skipper?" No one dared speak. The silence hung heavily in the small room. Suddenly, Keane raised his head, stood erect and heaved a long sigh.

"At last," he breathed. "We've even Cincinnati just lost to Pittsburgh, 2-0. We're tied with the Reds for first place!"

It was not until then that the frightened onlookers realized Keane had been listening to a remote broadcast on the Reds-Pirates game in Cincinnati.

DEFEAT SHOWS — The sting of defeat was reflected in the appearance of Philadelphia manager Gene Mauch as he walked to the Phillies dressing room following a 4-2 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals last night. The win boosted the Cards into a tie with the Reds for first place.

Cardinals Nip Phillies, 4-2; Tie for Lead

Schultz Heads Birds' Relief Staff; Bucs Shut Out Reds

By The Associated Press

Barney Schultz has been pitching for 20 years with 18 clubs in 12 different leagues. And no one has paid much interest.

"They didn't this year either. There was a time when we were asking other clubs if they were interested in Barney," said St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane Tuesday night.

"But no one paid any attention to us." So Keane kept the 38-year-old knuckle ball specialist — and suddenly he's turned into a key figure in the Cardinals' drive toward their first National League pennant since 1946.

Schultz bailed out a Cardinal starter for the fifth straight game Tuesday, preserving Ray Sadecki's 20th victory as St. Louis extended its winning streak to seven with a 4-2 victory over floundering Philadelphia.

That pulled the Cardinals into a flat-footed tie for first place with the Cincinnati Reds, who had their winning streak snapped at nine games in a 2-0 loss to Bob Friend and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Most of Schultz' short stints have been in the majors. He was with the Cardinals in 1955, the Detroit Tigers in 1959 and the Chicago Cubs the last three years before winding up at St. Louis. In between, he has been at Bradford, Hagerstown, Rock Hill and other points along the minor league trail.

The Phillies used six pitchers and 22 players altogether in an attempt to weed off their ninth consecutive defeat. But they couldn't do it and remained 1½ games behind with only three left to play.

Elsewhere, San Francisco remained mathematically alive in the pennant race by edging Houston 5-4 in 11 innings on Matty Alou's first homer in exactly two years, the Chicago Cubs edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 and Milwaukee dodged the New York Mets 7-6.

The Cardinals scored a run in the first inning against Phillies starter Dennis Bennett on Curt Flood's single and a double by Dick Groat, then scored two more in the second on Julian Javier's double, singles by Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver and Flood's grounder.

PHILS HIT BACK The Phillies struck back for two runs in the fourth inning. Sadecki walked the bases loaded and pinch hitter Gus Triandos rapped a single. Then, after Bill White homered for the Cardinals in the sixth, Philadelphia started to peak away at Sadecki again in the seventh.

Calison, who didn't start because he had the flu, stroked a pinch-hit single with one out. Cookie Rojas grounded out, but a passed ball got Callison to third and Tony Taylor walked.

So did Keane — out to the mound.

"When I left the dugout, I didn't know if I'd bring in Schultz," said Keane. "But by the time I reached the mound, I knew I needed to get one man out, and Schultz was the man to do it."

He popped up.

Schultz allowed only a harmless walk the rest of the way. At Cincinnati, Friend, 13-18, and Reds' rookie Billy McCool were locked in a scoreless duel until the ninth. Friend, who allowed 11 hits, had turned back threat after threat — the Reds had two men on in four of the first five innings — while McCool had allowed only three hits.

STOLEN BASE — Philadelphia's Tony Taylor dives headlong into second base as Julian Javier of the St. Louis Cardinals reaches for the throw from the catcher. The Phillies were behind in this crucial game and began gambling. The Cardinals won, 4-2.

Rain Slows AL Pennant Race

Chisox Gain With 2-1 Win Over Angels

By The Associated Press

That other pennant race is turning into a stop-and-go affair.

The American League flag run got stalled under a tarpaulin Tuesday night. When it resumes tonight one of the entries will be missing. And, by Thursday evening, it could be all over.

While rain at New York and Baltimore delayed the Orioles' pursuit of the Yankees Tuesday night, the Chicago White Sox climbed into the runner-up spot, 2½ games behind the Yanks, and one-half game in front of the Orioles, by nipping the Los Angeles Angels and Dean Chance 2-1.

But the White Sox, four down in the lost column with four games to play, can only watch and pray for the next two days while the Yankees double up their efforts to nail a fifth consecutive pennant.

Al Downing, 13-3, and Jim Bouton, 17-13, will start for the Yanks tonight against Dave Wickham, 19-12, and Hank Aguirre, 5-10. The Orioles will send Milt Pappas, 16-6, and rookie Wally Bunker, 15-5, against the Senators' Buster Narum, 9-14, and Claude Osteen, 14-13, in a two-nighter at Baltimore.

PLAY FRIDAY

The White Sox aren't scheduled until Friday night, when they open a four-game set against last-place Kansas City with a doubleheader. By then it may not matter but the ever-optimistic Al Lopez could still make a ray of hope after seeing Bruce Howard and relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm outdueling Chance.

While the Sox were gaining half length on the Yankees, Kansas City and Minnesota looked up in a 15-inning, five-hour struggle before Rocky Colavito's 34th homer gave the A's a 7-4 verdict.

The White Sox foiled Chance's bid for victory No. 21 with two sixth-inning runs, the first on Pete Ward's homer and the second unearned as a result of Jim Fregosi's two-base error.

Ward led off the inning with his 22nd homer, only the seventh off Chance in 277 1-3 innings. Bill Skowron reached second on Fregosi's miscue and Ron Hansen singled pinch runner Mike Hershenberger across with the deciding run.

Howard blanked the Angels on one hit until the seventh, when Willie Smith singled and Bob Rodgers drove him in with a single. Wilhelm came on and didn't allow another hit, saving Howard's first victory in two decisions.

Bert Campaneris doubled home two Kansas City runs in the ninth to send the game into overtime. The Athletics' Fred Lunde came on a pair of two-run homers by rookie Larry Stahl.

John Wyatt appeared in his 77th game for the A's, tying Boston's Dick Radatz for the most appearances ever in a season.

Rain Dampens Tigers, Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The scheduled two-nighter Tuesday night between the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees was rained out.

The doubleheader was rescheduled under the lights tonight. The Tigers and the Yankees will play another doubleheader Thursday to make up for the regularly scheduled game today.

Following the New York series, the Tigers will move over to Baltimore and close out the season with the Orioles in a three game series.

Colt Offense Rushes to 3rd Best in NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore's point parade against the Chicago Bears last Sunday has put the Colts among the National Football League's leading offensive machines, according to NFL team statistics released today.

The Colts, who rocked the defending champion Bears 52-0 following a 21-20 upset of Green Bay, stand third offensively — behind Minnesota and Philadelphia — with 947 yards gained in three games. A new-found ground attack has supplemented the passing of Johnny Unitas and accounted for five more touchdowns than the Colts had at the same stage in the 1963 season. Baltimore has gained 559 yards passing and 359 rushing — a ratio of 5.5 to 3.5. After three games last year the Colts had passed for seven of every 10 yards gained.

The Vikings have built their leading total of 1,060 yards primarily on the 1-2 running punch of Tommy Mason and Bill Brown in their first two games. Mason and Brown, who saw little action in last week's loss to Los Angeles because of injuries, have accounted for most of Minnesota's leading rushing yardage of 524.

The Rams, surprise leaders of the Western Division with a 2-0 record, show the best defensive figures. Los Angeles opponents have gained only 569 yards — an average of 189 per game — and have scored only 44 points, one more than Green Bay, 2-1, has allowed.

The Lions haven't beaten New York in three regular season games since 1953. They lost 24-19 in 1955, 19-17 in 1958 and 17-14 in 1962.

Four weeks ago in an exhibition game in Cleveland, the Lions finally won over the Giants, 24-10, with Plum guiding the first half and Morrall taking over in the last two periods.

SHARE ROLE While with the Browns, Plum had never beaten New York, and this was true for Morrall during his stay in Pittsburgh. So, they shared the winning role in the exhibition victory.

This time the result will be more important and whether Plum or Morrall starts, the Lions now realize they have no alternative but to win. If they want to stay in the NFL title race.

Offensively, the Lions sit next to last in the NFL and defensively they rest in 8th place.

The best offensive showing made by the Lions was the first half of the Giants' exhibition game, and the best defensive effort came in the second half against the Packers on Monday.

If the Lions could put these two partial efforts together in a single entire game, they could afford some resemblance to the 52-0 rout of the Bears by the Colts last Sunday.

This however is unlikely against the Giants, who may not be as strong as past New York teams, but still must be respected as the New York Giants with Y. A. Title on offense and Andy Robustelli on defense.

The Giants, despite the loss of Sam Huff and Dick Modzelewski from the defensive unit, are still the third best defensive team in the NFL after three games, allowing 738 total yards, compared to the Lions' 817.

Game time Sunday is 1:30 p.m. and tickets are still available, with gates slated to open at 11:00 a.m.

Former City Native Gets Grid Offers

When the Robert Stokes family left Pontiac after World War II, having been transferred to the Atlanta zone of Pontiac Motor Division, it was a costly move for one of the local high schools.

Robert Stokes, Jr., recent graduate of Briarcliff High School in Atlanta, was beckoned by many of the colleges in the Southland for his football and basketball talents.

The former Pontiac native decided on entering Darlington Prep School and he is expected to accept the four-year athletic scholarship for Georgia Tech next year.

At Briarcliff, standing 6-foot and 180, young Stokes won eight varsity letters as quarterback in football, guard in basketball and a first baseman in baseball.

He was also student senator at Briarcliff and served as Page on two occasions in the Georgia State Senate.

Stokes, Jr., is the nephew of William Stokes, Waterford Township Police Chief.

1st Inter-Collegiate Win in Oakland U. Records

Oakland University, which made history last weekend by defeating St. Francis College of Indiana cross country team 20-35 in its first inter-collegiate event, will compete Saturday in a quadrangular meet at Adrian.

Oakland's win was part of a triangular meet, having lost 17-44 to Aquinas College in the other score.

Individual honors of the meet went to John Haslen of Aquinas.

SCHEDULE

Scorers Take Spotlight in Touch Grid Openers

The opening night of the Waterford Township High School Boys' recreation Flag Football League saw the Panthers whip the Nerds, 25-6, and the S. F.'s top the Scrubs, 21-6.

Dale Marnings, 10 points, including two first half touchdowns, led the Panthers to victory. They took a 13-0 halftime lead.

Eric Mobey had two six-pointers for the S.F.'s, who only led 6-0 at intermission.

No BeLITTLing Floyd's Running for Syracuse

By The Associated Press
Floyd Little, a dazzling sophomore halfback for Syracuse University, was named Back of the Week by The Associated Press today.

He romped for five touchdowns against Kansas last Saturday in what was hailed as one of the greatest one-man performances in Syracuse football history.

Heralded as a worthy successor to Jimmy Brown and Ernie Davis, Little wore No. 44 on his jersey as he ripped the Jayhawk defense to shreds in a 38-6 triumph. That was the number All-Americans Brown and Davis wore in their Syracuse campus hero days.

"When I left the dugout, I didn't know if I'd bring in Schultz," said Keane. "But by the time I reached the mound, I knew I needed to get one man out, and Schultz was the man to do it."

Grand Prix Course Proposed for Area

Independence Township officials recently received a proposal for the establishment of a 3-mile Grand Prix racing course to be built in the Pine Knob ski area.

The proposal was made by Andy Anderman of Bloomfield Township, speaking for the Pine Knob International Raceway, Inc., and Leonard Jaxon, president of the Pine Knob ski area. Anderman pointed out that the course, which would be built at a cost of around $400,000 inside the perimeter of the 420 acres in the Pine Knob area, would be an installation "comparable to such courses at Daytona, Darlington, Riverside, Calif., Elkhart Lake, Wis., or Watkins Glen, N.Y."

"We could then hope to bring in some of the top racing stars in the country to this area," said Anderman, "and have that be the motor capital of the world should we have such a course."

Anderman pointed to a recent publication story which noted that during one Grand Prix racing season the economy of the area gained $6½ million in revenue.

Seven men are included in the Corporation and Anderman said official and formal presentation is expected to be made to the township in the very near future.

Two Waterford Elevens Gunning for Gridiron Crowns

BOWLING

It's a trifle early in the prep work as titles and championships, but there is an outside chance that two of the local gridiron crowns will wind up in Waterford Township.

Gunning for the titles are Waterford's Skippers and Kettering's Captains.

The two undefeated units open league action Friday night. The Skippers travel to Walled Lake for an Inter-Lakes struggle and Kettering opens the Tri-County season at home with Romeo providing the opposition.

Another important contest on the I-L slate finds Pontiac Northern at Farmington.

The Skippers used a rugged defense and the speed of a senior halfback in winning their first two encounters. They opened with a 13-0 nod over West Bloomfield and came back with a 13-7 triumph over Southfield last week.

SPARKPLUG

The sparkplug in both games was halfback Tom Hoke. He scored twice in the opener and picked up another six-pointer against Southfield.

Defending champion Walled Lake, despite a 1-1 record, is no pushover.

The Vikings were victimized by Royal Oak Kimball in their opener but they stormed back with a 27-12 decision over a good Berkley crew last week.

Kettering shared the league crown with Oxford last year and if the squad continues its present pace, the other units in the loop will have to battle for second place.

The Captains have posted two shut outs — 32-0 over Lake Orion and 24-0 over Pontiac Northern.

Leading the offensive attack for the Captains is halfback Jim Haviland, the team's candidate for All-State honors.

Haviland, sixth in the Oakland County scoring race last year with 84 points, has scored four TDs for the Captains in the two non-conference outings.

Romeo (2-0) has a veteran squad that has yielded only seven points in two games.

PNN REBOUND

Pontiac Northern will try to rebound from the Kettering loss in the 3:30 p.m. game at Farmington.

The Huskies' offense has produced only one TD in two games and the squad will be meeting a sound defensive unit in Farmington.

The Falcons dumped Livonia Bentley, 19-3, in their opener and ended Plymouth's 13-game winning streak last week, 13-7.

Another Tri-County game will find Lapeer at L'Anse Creuse.

A pair of important scraps are slated on the Wayne-Oakland state.

West Bloomfield enters Holly and Clarkston plays host to Bloomfield Hills.

Holly was a pre-season pick to take the W-O title, but the Broncos were ambushed by Milford last week, 13-0.

On the other hand, West Bloomfield, considered to be in the building stage, gave Waterford a battle in its opener and tamed Bloomfield Hills last week, 12-7.

Dearborn Man Finishes English Channel Swim

DOVER, England (U) — Joe Nagi, a 30-year-old engineer from Dearborn, Mich., swam the English Channel Tuesday.

When Notre Dame dumped Wisconsin ball-carriers for a net loss of 51 yards in 28 carries in rolling to a 31-7 victory last Saturday, the Irish put up the most powerful defense against rushing in a season opener since Cornell stopped New York University for minus 62 yards in 1948.

Notre Dame also appeared high in two offensive categories in the first NCAA major college statistics of the season announced today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Bandits' Reign in Tough Grid League Ends

A stout defense, one crucial mistake and a 45-yard, last-ditch scoring drive brought an end to the Motor Mart Bandits' domination of the city men's Touch Football League last night.

Orchard Lanes' John Lucadam hit Walt Poe with a 20-yard scoring pass with 1:30 left to play for the difference in a 64 victory over Bandits.

Motor Mart won the title in the league's first season, posting a 10-0 record, and won its previous start this year.

Other loop contests last night found the Packers blanking the Zephers, 13-0, and Tom's Bar whitewashing Emmamel Baptist, 19-0.

Mike Marcum led the Packers to their second win by hitting Darrell Lovell with a 30-yard scoring pass and running 15 yards to paydirt.

Tomorrow night at Jaycee Park, Emmamel will play the Zephers and Tom's will meet Motor Mart in 7 o'clock games, while the two unbeaten leaders — the Packers and Orchard Lanes — will battle at 8 p.m.

Six State College 11s Remain Undefeated

By The Associated Press
One-third of the state's 18 college football teams remain undefeated as the season heads into its second big weekend. Albion and Central Michigan head the list with 2-0 records. Kalamazoo, Michigan, Eastern Michigan and Northwood all are 1-0.

Five teams are still looking for their first triumph, although Ferris State has played one. Michigan State and Wayne State are each 0-1, with Adrian and Hope at the bottom of the list with 0-2 marks.

The overall record for state schools is even at 15 wins, 15 losses and three ties.

Individual scoring has been well-balanced. Albion's Paul Danforth holds the early lead with 18 points.

Pat Boyd of CMU, Bruce McLenna of Hillsdale and Michigan's Bob Timberlake each have 12 points. McLenna has played in three games, one more than any of the others.

Stevens-Mead Team Triumphs at Davisburg

Davisburg Golf Club's Invitational Best Ball Tournament came to a sudden halt Saturday afternoon, but it still had an exciting finish.

Bud Stevens and Don Mead birdied the fifth extra hole to win the title from Ed Wash, Sr. and Jr. The father-son team had tied the winners at 67 for the first 18 holes.

The champions took home a set of woods apiece.

Wolverines Face Explosive Navy Backfield

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Michigan will face the same problem with Navy at Ann Arbor Saturday that it had last year: an explosive backfield led by Roger Staubach and an aggressive line.

But not even the most optimistic of Navy's fans are looking for Staubach to equal his record performance of 307 yards passing and running in the Midwest's 26-13 victory over the Wolverines last year.

The yardage is coming tougher this year for Navy's All-America quarterback (55 yards total in two games), and he's been hampered by a severely bruised achilles tendon suffered in Navy's 21-0 opening victory over Penn State.

In order to speed his recovery for the Michigan game, Coach Wayne Hardin sent Staubach in for only four plays against William and Mary last Saturday.

RESPOND WELL

But Navy responded with two quick touchdowns while he was in the game and turned a drab 14-6 fourth quarter lead into a 35-6 rout.

Staubach said he hopes to be able to move better this week. "It will be the turning point of our season if we can get by Michigan," he said. "They've got most of their team back and will probably be the toughest opponent we meet."

Guard Fred Marlin, line-backer and captain of Navy, shares Staubach's views. "It's a big one for us," he said. "Every time we play in the Big 10 it's a challenge, and a feather in our cap if we win. There'll be no trouble getting the team up."

Staubach and Marlin are only two of the familiar faces the Wolverines will see. The entire Navy first unit is made up of veterans except for one end position.

LINE IMPROVED

The Navy line, if anything, is improved from last season and the Middles have looked more outstanding on defense than offense, partly because of Staubach's injury. Truffles, Jim Freeman and Pat Philbin lead a hard-charging defense.

The Middles also have a potent new weapon in punter Tom Williams. He has kicked inside the 10-yard line four times in two games to put opponents in a hole.

The backfield is potentially more explosive. Even though opponents' defenses have kept Staubach from scrambling and running, he is still one of college football's sharpest passers and Navy's receivers showed great improvement last Saturday.

Fullback Pat Donnelly is back

MSU's No. 2 Quarterback Sidelined

EAST LANSING (AP)—Dick Proebstle, the No. 2 Michigan State football quarterback, has been sidelined permanently by coaches because of a head concussion suffered in a practice game.

Coach Duffy Daugherty and Dr. James Feurig, team physician, announced the decision. Feurig said Proebstle would suffer no permanent injury but was bothered by headaches and would not be completely recovered for several months.

Proebstle, a senior from Canton, Ohio, won two football letters and was figured on to back up Steve Judy, the starting signal-caller.

KNOCKED GROGGY

He was knocked groggy in a team scrimmage when he was hit hard while trying to pass.

Daugherty said he regretted to see a fine football career end and added that he hoped to work Proebstle into the freshman coaching staff.

Coaches had hoped to use Proebstle for Southern California this week or at least against Michigan, the third opponent of the season. Dave McCormick, a junior from Chicago, moved up to the second spot following the injury. Meanwhile, star halfback Mike Garrett is scheduled to make the trip with Southern Cal when the Trojans arrive Saturday.

Garrett already has rushed for 182 yards in his first two games—the Southern California 21-0 defeat of Colorado and the 46-14 whipping of Oklahoma. He suffered a leg bruise in the Oklahoma game but will be among the 43 players arriving Saturday, USC advance man George Ambrose reported.

MSU assistant Burt Smith, who scouted Southern California, termed it "one of the finest teams I've seen in years" and said the offense appeared "unstoppable" by a good Oklahoma team.

Emphasis was on the defense in the Spartan workout Tuesday night as word was received of the USC steamroller.

Ron Goovert, defensive line-backer from Hazel Park, was reported a doubtful starter because of an ankle sprain.

Law Enforcement Chief

Veteran Officer in Top Position

LANSING (AP) — John Anguilm was thrown from his car in a 70-mile an hour chase. He was after some hunters illegally "shooting" deer in the Upper Peninsula.

Law enforcement efforts, however, will be directed toward the active seasons—when the most hunters and fishermen are in the field.

Presently, Anguilm said, the department has 148 men in the field, 10 in training and nine positions vacant. The new legislature will be asked for 10 more officers and eight part-time men.

Part-time personnel mostly will be used to prevent vandalism and incorrect use of parks and camp grounds in the heavily populated southern section of the state during the summer months.

The new law enforcement chief made a point of downgrading the popular idea that the folks in the Upper Peninsula are big violators of game laws—each with an illegally shot deer hanging in the woodshed.

"There is a greater opportunity to violate there without being observed," he commented. "But a lot of this is bar room bragging that is believed by the tourists from the southern part of the state."

Anguilm hunts deer, grouse and walleyes himself.

One of the regrets of the chunky, Upper Peninsula native is that popular conservation officers don't have enough time to hunt and fish themselves—because they are so busy advising others.

JOHN ANGUILM

ONE MORE WEEK — These Canada geese can walk in peace today, but the same won't be true Thursday, Oct. 8. The duck and goose season opens that day in the Lower Peninsula. The federal government is urging hunters to check for baited areas on lakes where geese and ducks are being fed by residents. It is illegal to shoot over these areas.

Geese Fed on Area Lakes

Hunters are urged to exercise caution while gunning on Oakland County Lakes to avoid violating the federal baiting regulation.

Robert J. Meyerding, game management agent for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife office in Bay City, reports that residents around Mantou, Orion and Indianwood Lakes have been feeding migratory waterfowl.

"There are probably other lakes in the county where this is happening," he said, "but I've only checked three."

Residents of the three lakes have been feeding geese over the years.

Meyerding pointed out that any geese or ducks shot "over the areas on the lakes where feeding is taking place, or if the geese and ducks are shot on the lakes while on the way to these feeding areas," the baiting regulation would be violated.

According to the regulation, "baiting" means: "...the placing, exposing, depositing, distributing or scattering of shelled, shucked or unshucked corn, wheat or other grain, salt or other food so as to constitute for such birds a lure, attraction or enticement to, on or over any area where hunters are attempting to take them."

Meyerding cautioned hunters to check with the lakeshore residents to determine the feeding activity.

Violation of the act is punishable by a fine of not more than $500 and/or a six-month jail sentence.

The season on ducks and geese opens Oct. 8.

Migrant hunters also are alerted by the Conservation Department to a change in federal regulations which will govern the identification of migratory birds in their possession.

The new provision requires that one fully feathered wing must remain attached to each migratory bird bagged while that bird is being transported or shipped from where it was shot to the hunter's home or to a commercial freezer plant.

Previously, migratory waterfowl taken by hunters had to have their heads and feet left intact for identification purposes.

There's going to be an old time Turkey Shoot at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club this Sunday.

This will be an open shoot with "any gun, any sights, any caliber" permitted. Lasting from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., the shoot will be open to the public.

Events for rifles, pistols, muzzle loaders and archery are scheduled. Men, women and children may compete.

Rifles in 22 and 30-06 calibers will be furnished as will 410 and 12 gauge shotguns.

Numbered "luck" targets will be used.

OCS is located a half mile east of Waterford.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

These are the words inscribed on a plaque presented this week to the veteran deer specialist during the annual meeting of the Great Lakes Deer Group at Dryden, Ont.

Special honors have been received by Ilo J. Bartlett, deer specialist with the Conservation Department, "in recognition and appreciation of his untiring efforts towards intelligent management of the whitetailed deer."

Loon Carcasses Being Studied for Botulism

ESCANABA (AP)—Conservation Department biologists have sent the carcasses of 18 common loons to the department's game pathology laboratory at Lansing to determine the cause of death of the birds.

Botulism is suspected in the deaths of hundreds of migrant young loons found on the shore of Green Bay in the Portage Point area here.

Joseph Vogt, Escanaba district game biologist, found 150 loon carcasses on five miles of beach Wednesday.

Earlier, a die-off of gulls in the area had been attributed by pathologists to Type E botulism.

Vogt said "we assume that the birds are young migrants because it is early for adult loon migration."

Money Managers Uneasy

Risks Peril Borrowing

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — The ads and commercials — keep telling you how easy it is to borrow.

But some of the managers of the nation's monetary and credit systems are getting uneasy about the chance that the mounting roll-up of loans and mortgages might run into a double play.

Specifically, it is some bad risks are popping up because of over-zealous lenders and overconfident borrowers.

This unease among the monetary authorities is tied right now to fear that the growing optimism about business in general could lead to overextension by both businessmen and consumers.

And these authorities are citing increasing mortgage foreclosures and some growth in volume of delinquent bills.

MANAGERS CAUTIOUS
Monetary managers are by nature a cautious lot. And despite their fretting, Americans by and large have handled the volume of personal debt with a minimum of individual disasters. The majority doubtless will continue along a fairly prudent course.

It's the fringe risks that the authorities are worried about — ones not getting into the headlines and the ones that could if businessmen and consumers grow overconfident because the current business upturn appears to them to be endless.

He was promoted to vice president and cashier in December of 1963.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reports that foreclosures on home mortgages have been rising. The rate per 1,000 loans advanced was 1.38 in the three months ended June 30, compared with 1.34 a year earlier. For a 12-month period this brought the rate to 5.24 per 1,000 loans outstanding, compared with 4.76 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1963.

Chairman Joseph W. Barr of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., says that the increasing volume of mortgage credit outstanding and the easing of terms in many regions is cause enough for the hoisting of warning signals. He proposes that next year the Congress take a new look at the entire credit situation.

GIVES WARNING
The vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, C. Canby Balderston, says the quality of credit can be maintained at a level that is sound if bankers and other financial institutions keep a sharp eye on it. But he also warns of the high potential for unsound extensions of credit to businessmen or consumers who overrate their future financial prospects.

He urged particular caution in helping individuals — increase their home mortgages to raise money for household equipment or vacation travel.

Some hardtop Rambler models are priced $39 below their 1964 counterparts, said Thomas A. Coupe, automotive sales vice president.

The AMC quotients fell right in line with the pattern set by General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

Last week, the Big Three quoted basic prices of their '65's showing virtually no change, the sixth consecutive month of steady prices.

Extra emphasis on sportiness and luxury is evident with AMC's introduction of six new models. Three models, including two sedans and a station wagon ranging in price from $2,512 to $2,879, constitute a new line in the luxury Ambassador series.

The other new models are a hardtop priced at $2,548 and a convertible priced at $2,694. The Rambler Classic 770 line plus a convertible priced at $2,565 in the top-line Ambassador 990 series.

Prices quoted are "actual sticker prices which include 10 per cent federal excise taxes and dealers' preparation charges," the firm said.

The United States is confronted by two overriding problems in Viet Nam.

The most immediate and potentially the most dangerous in the short run is the problem of preventing a political collapse in the battered and war-weary little country which

LBJ Eying Visit to NATO Talks

Expects K Meeting
Further in the Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, if elected, hopes to go to Europe in November or December to meet with leaders and representatives of the 14 other countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Looking further to the future, Johnson expects to meet fairly soon with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, if the Soviet leader is willing. Such a session, however, probably would not be held until 1965.

The President, it was learned today, is thinking in terms of an appearance either at the November meeting of NATO Parliamentarians or at the December session of the NATO Council. Both conferences would be held in Paris.

As for a Johnson-Khrushchev meeting, it was learned the President feels that sessions with leaders of allied countries would have to come first.

There was nothing to indicate that Johnson, at this point at least, wants to turn either of the NATO meetings in Paris into a summit session involving the heads of member governments.

INDIVIDUAL MEETINGS

It was believed likely, however, that Johnson, during his trip to Europe, would seek individual meetings with some national leaders.

He was known to be most anxious to meet with President Charles de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany and the prime minister of Great Britain.

Should Johnson travel to Europe late in the year, it would mark a departure from his announced policy of avoiding the country at a time when there is no vice president.

However, he feels that this self-imposed prohibition would no longer be applicable after the trip to Europe, where there would be a vice president-elect.

Th President, it was learned, believes his talks yesterday with Manlio Brosio, the new secretary general of NATO, helped point the way toward a presidential appearance in Paris later this year.

Ax Case to Court Monday

HOUSE OF DEATH — The bodies of seven persons, a mother and six children, were found murdered yesterday in this small frame home in Troy. The seven had been slain with an axe and hammer. The murdered woman's husband, William G. Gravin, was arraigned yesterday afternoon on a charge of first-degree murder.

Examination Is Set
for Troy Suspect in
Slaughter of Family

Accused ax-slayer William G. Gravin is scheduled to face examination Monday in Troy Municipal Court on a charge of first-degree murder.

He stood mute at his arraignment late yesterday afternoon before Troy Municipal Judge Charles Lossy.

Gravin was arrested yesterday by Troy Police and charged with the ax-murder of his 40-year-old wife Betty, five-year-old daughter Sue, and five stepchildren: Ben, 17, Judy, 16, Dorrie, 15, Paul, 12, and Walter Bentley, 10.

The seven bodies were discovered in the seconded home at 2121 Garson in Troy after Gravin had fled down a passing motorist and told him that he had killed his family.

Police believe Gravin had been drinking, killed his family late Sunday night and stayed in or around the house until yesterday.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang said Tuesday he would try Gravin on only one count of murder because, "We've got as much of a court case with one victim as with seven."

WAS RELEASED

Gravin, described by many as a loner, was released from Pontiac State Hospital in July.

Clinical director Robert Braun said yesterday that his release resulted from repeated urgings by Gravin's wife.

He had been receiving treatment at the hospital following a last arrest on a felonious assault charge.

A knife attack on his cousin's wife resulted in the arrest.

TENDENCY SEEN

At that time psychiatrists said they found "homicidal tendencies" in Gravin.

An unclear picture is formed by a study of the accused slayer's past.

From June 1959 to August 1961, Gravin worked as a fire fighter for the Royal Oak Fire Department.

"He was a poor fireman," according to Assistant Chief Clayton Nichols. "He just didn't" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

One was found in each of the bedrooms. All were clad in nightclothes. There was evidence that they had been killed while they slept.

The killer had pinned a note expressing remorse to each of the bodies.

He had stayed in the house with the grisly remains of his family at least 24 hours before turning himself in.

OPEN BIBLE

A blood-stained hammer lay beside an open Bible in the bathroom.

A long-handled ax, also stained, was found in the weeds behind the house.

City Pioneer Dies in LA

Word was received today of the death of an early Pontiac industrialist, Alpha Beaudette of Los Angeles, Calif. The Beaudette family is one of the pioneer families of the Pontiac area.

Beaudette died Sept. 23 after a brief illness. Service and burial were in Los Angeles last Friday.

Beaudette who attended Pontiac schools had been associated with his father, the late M. J. Beaudette, and uncle, O. J. Beaudette, in the Beaudette Body Factory in the early 1900s. The factory was subsequently sold to Fisher Body Division.

After moving to California, he became active in the field of banking and real estate and was one of the leading businessmen in his community over an extended period of years.

Beaudette, a member of the Catholic Church, also belonged to the Los Angeles Country Club and was a past president of Los Angeles Rotary Club.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Miles of West Los Angeles, and a son, Robert of San Diego; and several grandchildren.

'Days of Gunslingers Ended'

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, turning his campaign from the Deep South to the industrial North, said today, "the last day of the gunslinger — the quick draw man — dawned at Alamogordo."

On that day, when the first atomic bomb was tested in New

STARTED REVOLT

Humphrey, the Minnesota liberal who triggered a Dixiecrat revolt at the 1948 Democratic convention with his advocacy of civil rights, took his campaign into the Deep South yesterday for the first time.

The Minnesota hit two towns in southern Georgia — Moultrie and Tifton — described as a thicket of Goldwater sentiment.

Drawing both jeers and cheers, Humphrey did not dodge the civil rights issue, declaring, "I will not speak out of both sides of my mouth" but suggesting that Goldwater was.

"Up North he is the champion of equal rights," said Humphrey at a Tifton barbeque. "Down here he's the champion of Goldwater."

SHARPEST BLOWS

Humphrey aimed some of his sharpest blows in the Georgia farm country at Goldwater's voting record on agriculture.

Goldwater, he said, is "at work to do away" with price supports, the Food for Peace program, rural electrification.

He asserted that Goldwater "voted against you in the U.S. Senate."

Speaking to the National Guard Association, the Democratic vice presidential nominee repeatedly struck the theme of responsibility as he has in other campaign potshots at Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican standard bearer.

He declared — in the face of Goldwater's arguments that the administration is piddling away the country's strength, that the only "gaps" in missiles or bombers or submarines are in the United States' favor.

"Those who cry alarm and rush to the panic button either do not know the facts — or they think the facts are too complicated for the rest of us to understand," said Humphrey in his prepared remarks.

EXISTING MILLAGE

Since the "leveling off" period is expected for five years, millage proponents elected to stick with existing millage, letting unforeseen developments determine future money needs.

The "hold the line now" approach will permit better projections for the future. Five years will bring downtown redevelopment, completed auto plant expansion and generally a firmer financial base, claims Supt. Dana P. Whitmer.

Of course, school costs are expected to rise from the mere fact that it will cost more to maintain current operations in future years. School district incomes should be able to keep pace with added costs and provide for updating the actual classroom instruction.

However, a large scale housing development in Pontiac Township, near Oakland University, could substantially alter the dollar picture.

Indian Summer Is on the Way

October will breeze in tomorrow with skies bright blue and temperatures a balmy 65 to 72.

Fair and cool is the prediction for tonight, the low dropping into the high 30s.

For the next five days, temperatures will average 5 to 7 degrees above the normal high of 69 and normal low of 49.

The weekend will be a little cooler.

Rainfall will total about one-tenth of an inch in showers, mostly likely about Saturday.

Morning northeasterly winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will become light southeasterly late tonight then increase to 10 to 20 m.p.h. tomorrow.

Forty-six was the low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 62 by 1 p.m.

City to Vote on 'Steady' School Levy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the final article in a three-part series outlining projected needs for the Pontiac School District, financed by an 8.75-mill tax levy which voters will be asked to renew for 10 years Oct. 2.)

By L. GARY THORNE

Projections of Pontiac school costs for the next 10 years are based on renewal of the 8.75-mill extra voted levy at Friday's special election.

After hearing recommendations from a 40-member Pontiac School Study Committee, school officials decided to seek renewal of current millage, rather than an increase, because studies indicated an apparent leveling off period.

Enrollments have reached 22,500 students, more than 5,000 students over 1954, and are expected to remain fairly constant for about five years.

Building requirements will be kept to a minimum. In fact, small school additions are all that will be needed.

DANA P. WHITMER

These will handle population shifts, say school administrators.

Rehabilitation of older schools will continue to be pushed, he added. Older schools must meet modern educational standards.

Modernization and possible expansion of Pontiac Central High, Eastern Junior High, and several elementary schools will receive continuous attention, he promised.

School construction no longer comes from the 8.75 mills: Existing bonding authority is sufficient to handle construction and rehabilitation without requesting further voted bond issues or dipping into operating funds, Whitmer explained.

LEVY RENEWAL

Renewal of the extra voted tax levy maintains what the school district now has. The total school tax rate compares favorably with those of neighboring districts.

The 1963 rate ranked Pontac 27th out of 29 Oakland County school districts. The excellent industrial tax base has permitted local schools to keep a lower-than-average tax rate.

School taxes, likewise, have been nearly constant for the past eight years. For example, in 1959, the rate was 19.68 mills in the city, while in 1964 the rate is 19.63.

"There are few districts in the state or nation that have operated for 10 years on the same voted school tax rate (8.75 mills)," said Whitmer.

FUTURE EVENTS

Circumstances in the future will determine whether the 8.75 mills will be sufficient.

Pontiac schools in the future are based on change as each generation of parents demands more and better education, he adds.

The trend, if not an actual demand, for better teachers, better (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

'Manned Missile' to Carry-Killer Rocket

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force planned today to show off its secret YF12A interceptor — and a new bomber-killing rocket carried inside the 2,000-mile-an-hour "manned missile."

It may also disclose record speeds reportedly reached in tests here during recent weeks, but a spokesman said no record run would be attempted today.

The YF12A, called the AIM when President Johnson disclosed its existence Feb. 29, reportedly is capable of 2,000 miles an hour and 100,000 feet altitude. Only official word on its performance is the President's statement that it flies more than three times the speed of sound, exceeds 70,000 feet and has repeatedly broken the 1,000 m.p.h. speed record claimed by the Russians.

PLANE'S ROCKET

The YF12A's new rocket, called AIM 47, is carried inside the 90-foot long fuselage to protect its nuclear warhead from more than triple sonic speeds.

In today's demonstration newsmen were to see the twin-finned, triangle-winged YF12A make two low-level, low-speed passes over the runway, then go to a hangar for a close look at a dummy Air Intercept Missile and its fire control system.

Development of the missile system, believed to be the most advanced radar-guided rocket yet devised to destroy bombers, supports Defense Department contentions that the YF12A is an interceptor, not a super spy plane as some industry sources claimed.

After the close-up inspection, newsmen were to be taken back out to the flight line to watch another YF12A make a steep climb taking showing the full power of its two huge jet engines. Each engine reportedly generates more than 40,000 pounds of thrust — enough to span the Atlantic in less than 90 minutes.

UNMATCHED SPEED

The YF12A's unmatched speed, made possible by building wing and fuselage with heat-resistant titanium, reportedly enables it to overtake any bomber in the world, including the new XB70 being flight-tested here.

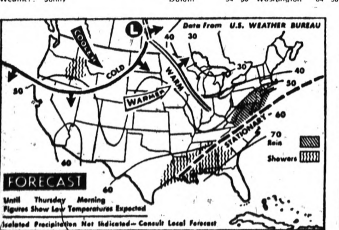

The XB70A ran into technical troubles on its first flight Sept. 21 but is scheduled to be flown again Thursday.

A spokesman said there are no plans to show the new RS71, a reconnaissance plane recently announced by the President and believed to be a long-range spy version of the YF12A.

Rip Agriculture Dept. on Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee, reporting on its two-year-old probe of Billie Sol Estes, criticized today what it called "disinterested and stagnation" in the Agriculture Department's handling of the Texas wheeler-dealer's phony cotton deals.

The report said there were many events in the Pecos, Tex., financier's cotton acreage allotment deals "which would have served as a warning to a vigilant organization."

But it said that once Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman was notified of the situation, the department took prompt action to halt Estes' scheming.

Estes currently is free under bond while appealing state and federal convictions for fraud involving his dealings with liquid fertilizer.

NO FAVORITISM? — The subcommittee's report did not charge that favoritism was given Estes by department officials.

But — in separate views — two Republican members of the subcommittee, Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska and Karl E. Curtis of South Dakota, contended that "the free-wheeling, gift-giving Billie Sol Estes, received favoritism on the county level, state level and in the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

Curtis and Mundt said the department was "not only inept in its efforts to cope" with Estes but "in many instances it was actually a companion to this fraud through the actions, or failure to act, of its officials in high office."

The subcommittee that conducted the investigation two years ago agreed on the basic report. But additional statements were filed by Mundt and Curtis, by Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and by Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

$50 MILLION — Estes, who once claimed he was worth $50 million, was a far-flung operator, one of the largest storers of government grain and dealers in liquid fertilizer.

His empire, valued once at $150 million, collapsed in the spring of 1962 as criminal charges were lodged against him and creditors pressed him.

The Agriculture Department pulled the rug out from under the Pecos financier when it canceled grain storage contracts due to pay him more than $5 million a year. Eventually the remnants of his operations were auctioned for $3.8 million.

Of prime interest to Senate investigators was his acquisition of thousands of acres of valuable cotton acreage planting allotments in complex land purchases and lease deals the Agriculture Department subsequently said were illegal.

REFUSED TO TALK — When called before the committee last November Estes refused to answer questions about his dealings with government officials. The hearings first opened in the summer of 1962.

The committee sought to determine if political influence helped Estes amass his fortune. The senators stuck close to Estes' dealings under government farm programs and clothing gifts to officials. It steered clear of the liquid fertilizer sales that involved Estes in Texas court actions.

In November 1962 a district court in Tyler, Tex., convicted Estes on state charges that he persuaded a farmer to sign a $94,500 chattel mortgage on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

The state contended Estes built his fortune by discounting to finance companies mortgages on fertilizer tanks leased from farmers who had purchased the tanks on credit.

PAID BONUS — Attorneys for Estes contended he merely paid the farmers a cash bonus for lending him their good credit.

He was sentenced to an eight-year prison term on a swindling charge and is appealing.

In March 1963 Estes was convicted by an El Paso Federal Court on four counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy. He is appealing his conviction, which carried a 15-year prison sentence.

Estes' next trial is set for Nov. 9 in Dallas. In this case he is accused of lying to the government about his finances in order to obtain additional contracts for storing surplus grain.

ON BOND — Estes currently is free on bond.

Chances Slim for Halt Before Next Week

DETROIT (AP) — Chances appeared slim today for settlement before next week of a nationwide strike that has cut off production of General Motors' 1965 automobiles.

Top negotiators for both GM and the United Auto Workers union indicated yesterday that they did not expect to reach agreement on national and local differences by this weekend.

If prolonged, the strike could have a serious effect on the nation's booming economy.

GM said that hourly-rated employees in plants struck by the UAW are losing more than $7 million in daily wages.

A major stumbling block to getting some quarter million workers back on the assembly lines was more than 17,000 jobs at-the-plant, demands covering such subjects as company furnished coveralls, locker rooms and parking lots.

VIRTUAL AGREEMENT — The UAW called the strike last Friday despite virtual agreement on an economic package similar to one already accepted by the union from GM's chief competitors, Ford and Chrysler.

It calls for higher pensions as an early retirement incentive, longer vacations, additional holidays, increased wages and other improvements.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the dispute originally was over noneconomic national issues and the "human issue of human beings" in GM plants.

These include working conditions, production quotas, disciplinary procedures and union representation.

pansion of the war beyond South Viet Nam is not a course of action which the United States wants, but one "could be forced upon us by the increased external pressures of the Communists," including a rising scale of infiltration.

In giving that new warning that the war might be expanded because of Communist actions, Bundy appeared to strike a note of conflict with the tone of a statement made about the same time by President Johnson during his campaign trip around New England.

"I want to be very cautious," Johnson said, "in dropping bombs that would involve our boys in Asia with 700 million Chinese. We're not going north and drop bombs at this stage of the game and we're not going south and run out and let the Communies take over."

NO REAL CONFLICT — State Department officials insisted that there was no real conflict in the substance of what Johnson said and what Bundy said.

They declared Johnson was talking about U.S. policy toward the war as it stands in present circumstances and that there is without a step-up in Communist offensive operations — and Bundy was warning about what would happen if the circumstances changed.

As for the larger questions of how to try to bring the war to a conclusion, no major U.S. policy changes are expected until after the November election. Then there may be some changes at least of emphasis.

The key to such possible changes lies in Bundy's statement that the United States seeks to "induce" the Communists to stop the war in South Viet Nam.

IN THIS SENSE — It is in this sense that the United States aims at a limited victory in the conflict.

The only apparent answer to the problem of how to induce the North Vietnamese and Red Chinese to call off their support for the guerrillas operating in South Viet Nam lies in putting them under actual or threatened military pressures from U.S. power.

That is a major reason why there has been so much talk this year of bombings in North Viet Nam.

Committees Appointed to Study School Plans

BIRMINGHAM — Three committees of teachers and school administrators have been named to study and make recommendations on two building projects and the Birmingham Plan for the school district.

Appointment of the committee members has been announced by Supt. Dr. John B. Smith.

The superintendent will be the permanent chairman of the Birmingham Plan Steering Committee, formed with the idea of improving the entire district.

Members will analyze the current situation, study various alternatives and work out plans for the future. Topics to be considered include curriculum development, improvement of teaching methods and other research areas.

The plan will involve employing a group of teachers on a 12-month basis instead of the traditional 10 months.

PAID BY LEVY — This plan, devised by Smith, will be financed by part of the 7-mill levy earmarked for improvements at the June election.

Others are Roy Vannette, Barnum Junior High School principal; Barbara Davis, Berkshire Junior High School mathematics teacher; Ross Wagner, Seaholm

High School principal; Mrs. Joan Kennedy, Groves High School social studies teacher; Grant Barber, Pierce Elementary School principal; and Mrs. Velma Hilly, Valley Woods Elementary School first grade teacher.

Nesbitt was named chairman of the committee which will develop educational specifications for the new junior high school, to be built at Covington and Quarton.

A committee headed by James Bedor, Seaholm science teacher, faces a similar task for the science addition to be built at Seaholm.

Judith A. Hall — Service for Judith A. Hall, 23, of 873 Watkins, Birmingham, will be 1 p.m. Friday in the Bell Chapel of the William B. Hamilton Co. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Miss Hall, a secretary at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Pontiac, died yesterday after an illness of one month.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Hall of Birmingham, four sisters and three brothers.

Robert A. Tyson — Former resident Robert A. Tyson, 36, of Los Angeles, Calif., died unexpectedly yesterday.

His body is at the Bowlin-Riggs Funeral Home, Dresden, Tenn.

Mr. Tyson was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham.

Surviving are his wife, Sue; a son, Lawrence A., at home; and a brother.

DEATH WRAPS — This was the scene detectives saw as they entered the back bedroom of the Gravin home Tuesday. Bloodstained clothing and bedding covered one body in this room.

Gravin later worked as an assembler at Temprite Products Corp. on East Maple in Troy.

Factory Personnel Director Larry Slack called Gravin a mild-mannered, "good worker."

"He was no trouble at all, he never slackened on the job," Slack said.

FEW FRIENDS — The Temprite official said Gravin had very few friends at the plant.

Sheriff's deputies said members of his wife's immediate family thought Gravin was a good husband.

Mrs. Gravin's mother, Mrs. Oral Nettetal, 57 Cloveridge, Troy, told deputies that her son-in-law always worked hard, sometimes with more than one job, and tried to be a good provider.

Mediators Work to Halt Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Presidential mediators worked against the clock today trying to prevent a strike at midnight by 60,000 dock workers in ports from Maine to Texas.

A walkout by the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association would tie up more than 500 United States and foreign-flag ships.

A partial break in the three-month deadlock in contract negotiations came early today when the employers agreed with some modifications, the long list of settlement proposals made by the presidential mediation panel.

The union negotiators rejected the package.

ANNUAL WAGE — The major obstacle to settlement has been the proposal for gradual reduction of the size of general cargo work gangs from 20 to 17 men in exchange for a guaranteed annual wage for longshoremen.

The union has held fast against any cut in work gang size.

Employer negotiators have refused for a long time to settle on any other issues until agreement on the work gang size had been reached. The employers contend that modern methods of handling cargo require even less than 17 men in a work gang.

The New York Shipping Association represents more than 150 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, head of the presidential panel, called the association's action "a very major effort to conclude an agreement" on the basis of the panel's recommendations "with certain modifications."

MANAGEMENT'S OK — Reynolds added: "We regret that management's agreement" to accept the panel report "failed to provide the basis for settlement."

As the talks were adjourned at 2:30 a.m. until 10 a.m., Reynolds said: "We will try again. It is our intention to get from the union its position on all aspects of the contract, just as we did with management."

Contracts agreed on here to cover longshoremen from Maine to Norfolk, Va., traditionally set the pattern for South Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

The modifications in the recommendations made by the recommendations made by the employers were not explained by Reynolds.

COMPANIES RUSH — Shipping companies have rushed cargo loading and unloading sailing dates to get their ships at sea before the strike deadline. Forty-five ships are scheduled to sail today before midnight.

If the longshoremen strike, President Johnson could act under the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to get a federal court injunction sending the men back to work for an 80 day cooling off period while negotiations continue.

Fishing Fleet Believed Lost

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A fleet of 75 fishing boats with about 450 men aboard is missing in heavy seas in the Bay of Bengal.

The survivor said he believed his five shipmates had drowned but he was uncertain of details. He was weak and dazed after two days clinging to driftwood.

Schools of the future will be required to furnish job training with the aim of furnishing each child with a salable skill so that he can get a job.

These needs and more will be demanded of public schools.

Property owners, Whitmer explained, can help the preparation for the future by voting Oct. 2.

Story of Mistaken Arrest for Assassination of JFK

STRAWN, Tex. (UPI) — To most people, the Warren report is a distant, lengthy formal document — a summary of a week-end when history tore their hearts but did not touch their lives.

To Donald Wayne House it's a reminder of four hours last Nov. 22 when he was jailed by mistake as the president's killer.

His story has never been told before.

House, 23, hauls dynamite for a construction firm. He lived in Ranger, Tex., last fall and on Nov. 22 decided to come to Dallas to visit an old army buddy.

While he was in Dallas, he waited until he caught a glimpse of President Kennedy, whom he greatly admired, and started back home via Fort Worth.

He did not know Kennedy was assassinated until he turned his car radio on well out of Dallas.

Halfway between Dallas and Fort Worth, he stopped in the town of Grand Prairie for gasoline.

A woman asked him whether he had heard what the killer looked like. House gave her the description he had heard on the radio without realizing at the time that it also fitted him.

But if House didn't note the similarity, she did and telephoned the police. House heard a siren and saw a red light flashing and pulled to the side of the road.

OUT OF CAR

A Fort Worth policeman ordered him to get out of his automobile and stand with his hands against it.

"I looked up and there were a lot of policemen with shotguns and everything," House said.

"What am I being arrested for?" House said he asked.

"You are being arrested for the assassination of President Kennedy," a policeman said.

FRIGHTENED AT FIRST

"I was frightened at first," House said. "But after I got to the police station, I wasn't scared anymore. I had a clear conscience and I kept repeating, 'I didn't do it.'"

After three hours of denying he was the assassin, House was put in a cell. Finally a policeman came to the cell door and said:

"They've caught another boy, Lee Harvey Oswald. They are pretty sure he did it."

House was released and the best apology he got was from a jail matron who ran up, kissed him and said, "I'm glad you didn't do it."

Khiem has been looked on as one of the most powerful in the country. He is not a Roman Catholic, but was reliably reported to have been preparing to join that church just before the collapse last November of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Catholic.

Khiem's office announced he has accepted the resignations of two political office holders, Brig. Gen. Dai Mau and Nghiem Xuan Hong. Both had been linked with reports of plans for a "preventive coup" to head off any possible uprising by the Young Turks.

Saigon Troop Movement Touches Off Fears of Coup

SAIGON, South Viet. Nam (AP) — The movement of 30 truckloads of troops in battle gear into Saigon tonight touched off fears of a new coup, but the movement apparently was normal.

A military spokesman said some of the troops were being shifted from a province north of Saigon to one south of the capital. Others were being put in reserve at a regular army camp in Saigon, he said.

But all such movements were being watched closely by interested observers in the wake of the abortive coup of Sept. 13.

A Vietnamese officer newly ordered to leave the country on an indefinite basis, had predicted that a group of young gen-

als known as the Young Turks would try to oust Premier Nguyen Khanh in a coup "in a couple of days."

The officer, Col. Pham Ngoc Thao, pledged his regime's loyalty to the Khanh regime, which he said had been forced away from order and discipline by various pressure groups.

Thao, who heads Khanh's press office, has played an important intelligence role in political developments here. He was the second officer to receive walking papers. The other was Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, a member of the ruling triumvirate and the highest ranking military officer in the country.

Thao was assigned to a post at the Vietnamese Embassy in Washington. Khiem was given an assignment in London, the nature of which was not announced. The colonel is a Roman Catholic.

Khiem has been looked on as one of the most powerful in the country. He is not a Roman Catholic, but was reliably reported to have been preparing to join that church just before the collapse last November of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Catholic.

Farmer Suing; Says Fly Spray Poisoned 12 Sons

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A farmer charged in a U.S. District Court suit Tuesday that fly spray fumes poisoned the nervous systems of his two teen-aged sons, leaving the younger mentally incompetent.

The suit by Harold N. Skogen of rural Princeton seeks $1 million for his son Douglas, 14, $150,000 for his son David, 17, and $150,000 for Skogen himself for medical expenses and loss of the boys' assistance.

Defendants are Ralston Purina Co., which the suit said manufactured the spray, and Dow Chemical Co., which it said furnished the chemicals.

Junior Editors Quiz on FILM CARTOONS

QUESTION: How are cartoon characters in films made to move.

ANSWER: When you look at movies, the characters seem to be in motion — but actually are not. You are looking at a great many still photographs thrown on the screen very rapidly, one after another.

Each shows successive positions of the characters and these appear to blend together because of a quality in the human eye called persistence of vision. After seeing a picture, it stays in our eyes long enough to blend with the next one, giving the appearance of smooth motion. Animated cartoons use the same principle, only each picture has to be separately drawn and colored.

If you were the girl at the bottom of our picture and were animating a cartoon of a boy slipping on a banana peel (top), for each slight change of position you would lay a new sheet of celluloid for the next drawing, and draw it exactly the same except for the slight change toward the new position.

When these pictures were reduced to movie reel size and run through a projector, the boy would appear to run on the screen. In the banana peel sequence shown, there would actually be more in-between pictures, but our artist lacked space to include them.

FOR YOU TO DO: Take a piece of paper big enough to cover the six pictures of the running boy, then cut out a square the size of one of the pictures. Lay this opening over the first boy so you will only see him. Then move the paper toward the right. The boy will seem to be running.

Plane Unveiled for Guerrilla Wars

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — General Dynamics - Convair has unveiled its answer to the needs of guerrilla warfare: a light weight but tough twin-engine, twin-boom plane which slightly resembles World War II's P38 lighter.

Convair calls it the Charger Model 48. The firm rolled it out of the hangar here yesterday and described its potentialities: speed, 277 knots; takeoff, 500 feet; payload, pilot and six soldiers or 2,000 pounds of supplies, or assorted bombs, rockets and guns.

The payload is carried in the deep fuselage between the twin booms. Two 650-horsepower turboprop jet turbines power the plane, which weighs 4,457 pounds — less than many cars.

College Leaders to Visit White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 200 college student leaders, many of them presidents of student bodies, have been invited to a buffet supper and reception at the White House Saturday evening with President and Mrs. Johnson.

The White House did not release the names of the students who were invited Saturday.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Tuesday Congress could adjourn by the end of the week if the House would drop the Appalachia bill — an administration-backed anti-poverty measure he opposes.

Dirksen said House Democrats have neither enough members on hand to pass the bill nor a majority favoring it.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., countered that the Appalachia aid measure is "still on the agenda" and said he doesn't think there is much chance of Congress finishing this week.

Interior Department led in the number of decreases with 1,577. Other departments with lesser decreases included Treasury with 648, Veterans Administration 611, and Agriculture 575.

Money Managers Uneasy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The ads and commercials keep telling you how easy it is to borrow. But some of the managers of the nation's monetary and credit systems are getting uneasy about the chance that the mounting volume of personal debt and mortgages might run into a double pay.

Specifically, DAWSON says some bad risks are popping up because of over-optimistic lenders and overconfident borrowers.

This unease among the monetary authorities is tied right now to fear that the growing optimism about business in general could lead to overextension by both businessmen and consumers.

And these authorities are citing increasing mortgage foreclosures and some growth in volume of delinquent bills.

MANAGERS CAUTIOUS

Monetary managers are by nature a cautious lot. And despite their fretting, Americans by and large have handled the swelling volume of personal debt with a minimum of individual disasters. The majority doubtless will continue along a fairly prudent course.

It's the fringe risks that the authorities are worried about — the ones not getting into the headlines and the ones that could if businessmen and consumers go overboard because the current business upturn appears to be the end.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reports that foreclosures on home mortgages have been rising. The rate per 1,000 loans advanced was 1.38 in the three months ended June 30, compared with 1.24 a year earlier.

For a 12-month period this brought the rate to 1.69 loans outstanding — compared with 4.76 for the 12-month period ended June 30, 1963.

Chairman Joseph W. Barr of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., says that the increasing volume of mortgage credit outstanding and the easing of terms in many regions is cause enough for the holding of warning signals. He proposes that next year the Congress take a new look at the entire credit situation.

GIVES WARNING

The vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, C. Van Dusen, says the quality of credit can be maintained at the present rate of lending if the volume of personal debt continues to grow at a rate of 10% to 12% a year. But he also warns of the high potential for unsound extensions of credit to businessmen or consumers who overrate their financial prospects.

He urged particular caution in helping individuals increase their home mortgages to raise money for household equipment or vacation travel.

Balderston points out another trend, the large growth in the debt of unincorporated businesses such as proprietorships and partnerships. He says that despite some rise in the bad debt losses from such loans, the trend so far is being kept in reasonable bounds. But he urges bankers to make sure of the financial health of businessmen seeking such loans.

So far the rise in the number of default notices isn't alarming. The monetary authorities are just sounding the note of caution to both lenders and borrowers not to get too far off base.

Expect OK Today on Arms for Cypriots From Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union was expected to announce today that it is sending anti-aircraft weapons to the Greek Cypriot forces of President Makarios.

It injected the Soviet Union squarely into the Cyprus problem.

It made Makarios more independent from influence by Greece, a member of the Western Alliance.

The United States and Britain had sought in vain to keep Russia out of the Cyprus dispute for fear it might give the Soviet Union a bigger foothold in the Mediterranean.

The West also hoped to avoid a further rift between Greece and Turkey, both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But observers said the Moscow agreement would widen the split.

Car Prices to Remain at '64 Level

DETROIT (AP) — American car buyers are assured of spending virtually no more for 1965 models than last year's.

American Motors Corp. made the unchanged price trend unanimous in the U.S. car industry in its announcement of auto prices Tuesday.

Some hardtop Rambler models are priced $30 below their 1964 counterparts, said Thomas A. Coupe, executive vice president.

The AMC quotations fell right in line with the pattern set by General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

LUXURY EMPHASIZED

Extra emphasis on sportiness and luxury is evident with AMC's introduction of six new models. Three models, including two sedans and a station wagon ranging in price from $2,512 to $2,679, constitute a new line in the luxury Ambassador series.

The other new models are a hardtop priced at $2,548 and a convertible priced at $2,696 in the Rambler Classic 700 line.

Prices quoted are "actual sticker prices which include 10 percent federal excise taxes and dealers' preparation charges," the firm said.
