Wallace Certain He Can Win

GEORGE WALLACE

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace says that if he decides to become a third party candidate for president in 1968 "we know how to get on the ballot in every state — all 50 states."

★ ★ ★

And if he runs, Wallace said in an interview published today in the Richmond News Leader, "we are, in my judgment, going to win" because big government "has created a coming-together of people" worried about high taxes, government regimentation and extravagance.

Wallace was interviewed by top executives of the News Leader during a visit here last Thursday.

The newspaper today turned over nearly two full pages of its editorial section to a verbatim report of the questions and Wallace's replies.

Wallace said a study by a committee of his associates on the problems of getting his name on the presidential ballot in all states in 1968 had shown there would be "difficulty" in some states.

MOST DIFFICULT

Because of the greater number of signatures required on a petition to get on the ballot, the most difficulty would be encountered in California and Ohio, Wallace said.

About 400,000 signatures are required in each of these states, but "in my judgment we can get that many signatures easily," he said.

"And on top of that, I think a major candidate — and we will be a major candidate if we enter the race — can't be kept off arbitrarily. I don't think it's constitutional.

"I think you can win a court case on keeping you off the ballot, if you are on the ballots in all the other states."

'POLITICAL SUPPORT'

Wallace said if he makes the presidential race "many political leaders are going to be for me" throughout the nation, "so we are going to have some political support."

"But if we don't," he added, "it's going to be all right because this is going to be a movement of the people. If they don't watch out a lot of politicians are going to get run over in 1968."

Wallace said he is undisturbed by charges that a strong showing by a third party in 1968 would create a constitutional crisis by throwing the election into the House of Representatives.

Bitten On Face, John Nebel Recovers At Home

Area Boy Recovers From Dog Attack

By DAVID J. COOK and JIM LONG

A young Orion Township boy is recovering at his home today from extensive bites inflicted on his face in an attack by a reportedly unlicensed hound dog.

★ ★ ★

John Nebel, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nebel of 900 Clarkston, underwent plastic surgery at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, late Saturday after being bitten earlier in the evening.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said John was attacked by the 10-year-old dog as the boy played with a companion at the home of his grandfather, Edward Ford of 839 Hinford, Orion Township.

"They were playing ball in the back yard," Ford reportedly told deputies, "when I heard a noise and growling.

"At first I thought the dog was in a fight with another dog — then I discovered the dog was on top of John."

BEATS DOG OFF

Ford fought the hound away from his grandson and called deputies. John was taken first to a doctor in Rochester and then transferred to Beaumont for surgery.

Authorities at the Oakland County Animal Shelter said the dog, although vaccinated for rabies last June, had not yet been licensed for 1967.

The victim's mother, Fay, said a half-dozen surface stitches and several more inside John's mouth were required to close wounds in the boy's cheek.

Reports conflicted over circumstances of the bite.

WANTS ANIMAL BACK

The owner of the dog, Charles Zella, 800 Hinford, said that he wants the hefty animal returned following its 10-day quarantine at the Oakland County Animal Shelter. The dog was picked up today.

"It isn't vicious," he said.

Zella said that the dog has bitten once before "and that was when our granddaughter was teasing him."

According to Zella, the dog turned on the Nebel youngster because he "pulled on his tail."

Zella said that the dog had followed his 12-year-old stepson, Timmy, down the block just before the attack occurred.

Mrs. Nebel, however, said "no one saw it happen."

"No one can say for sure that John pulled the dog's tail."

It was the third instance of a serious dog-bite attack on an Oakland County youngster in less than three months.

Two previous victims had been attacked by German shepherds, a breed the Nebels said they got rid of because of fears their son might be bitten.

"We used to have a big shepherd," Mrs. Nebel said, "but decided last fall we were just taking a chance by having it around."

The family presently owns a tiny Chihuahua.

Bodies of Two Boys Found in Detroit; Murder Suspected

DETROIT (AP) — Bodies of two young boys were found under the basement stairs of a mid-town apartment building today. Police said first indications were that the two had been smothered with a pillow.

While an autopsy was being performed to determine the cause of death, police said they were "going on the theory they were slain."

There were no obvious signs of violence on the bodies.

The boys had been missing since they left their apartment homes across the street for a market at the corner of 12th and Philadelphia at 9:10 p.m. Saturday. Their parents reported them missing at 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

Their bodies were found by the apartment building caretaker after a tenant reported "somebody sleeping under the stairs."

POLICE SEARCH

Police had been searching for the youngsters since they were reported missing.

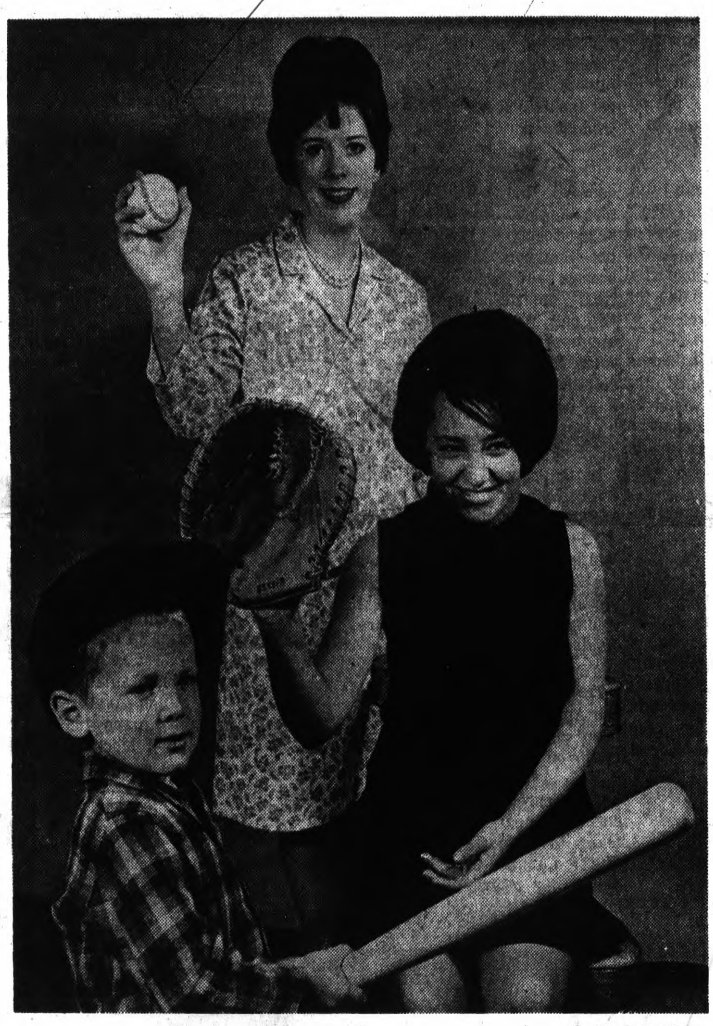

One was Thomas McClendon, 7, son of Mrs. Henrietta Wells, and the other was Edward A. Lane, 8, son of Charles and Albert Lane.

Their families live in another apartment building across from where the bodies were found.

The scene was 2010 West Philadelphia, near 12th Street.

★ ★ ★

The bodies quickly were taken to the Wayne County Morgue for an examination and autopsy.

THREE-WAY-TIE—The winners of The Pontiac Baseball Contest appear ready for infield practice preceding the presentation of the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond which they will share. Each will receive a $200 bond. Their common prediction pegged the Tigers' Al Kaline as the leading batter with a .387 average. From left are Bradley Quick, 1847 Packer, Bloomfield Township; Mrs. Warren Chambers, 433 Hill, Rochester; and Sue Mersino, 1290 Wooley, Brandon Township.

Prophetic Trio Wins Bonds in Press Baseball Contest

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

In a sizzling photo finish, the 1967 Pontiac Press Baseball Contest wound up yesterday as three Peerless Prophets deadlocked for the $500 U.S. Savings Bond winner's award. To round it out, the newspaper presented each with a $200 bond.

★ ★ ★

Sharing the award are Mrs. Warren Chambers, 23-year-old mother of two, of 433 Hill, Rochester; Sue Mersino, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mersino of 1290 Wooley, Brandon Township; and Bradley Quick, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Quick of 1847 Packer, Bloomfield Township.

The winners picked Detroit Tiger Al Kaline with a batting average of .387. Close behind were four entrants who saw Kaline averaging .386.

Kaline was picked by 129 other contestants with averages ranging from .300 to .485. His contest support was exceeded only by the Tigers' Jim Northrup with 188 entries, the Twins' Tony Oliva with 168 and the Orioles' Frank Robinson with 156.

The two feminine winners are enthusiastic followers of the diamond sport and are regular entrants in The Press' annual baseball and football contests. It was, however, the masculine victor's first effort, though it is obvious that a dedicated contest follower has been born.

None of the three claimed any clairvoyant powers in making their picks, relying mainly on female intuition and male hunch.

WINNERS' PLANS

Mrs. Chambers has earmarked her share of the award for the children's educations; Sue Mersino will gratify a longing for a record player and present her parents with the remainder; and Bradley Quick's windfall will start a savings account.

★ ★ ★

As always, interest in the contest was high, with the winner in doubt until the final game of the contest. The Press congratulates the winners and reminds the also-rans that there will always be another contest.

GENERAL LEWIS WALT

Mortar Misses Marine General

CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam, had another brush with death today when a mortar round exploded only 15 feet away.

The general, who was heading for a log-covered bunker, was not wounded. A colonel walking 10 feet in front of him was hit in the face by a fragment and Walt's aide suffered a concussion.

Walt flew to Con Thien, two miles south of the demilitarized zone, from his headquarters in Da Nang after U.S. Marines, Navy Seabees, Special Forces soldiers, and Vietnamese irregulars drove back an estimated 1,200 North Vietnamese in a pitched three-hour battle.

The general's helicopter landed near two amphibious tractors that were still burning. Walt started forward to find the battalion commander and inspect the lines.

He was walking beside a battered trench line and had passed the bodies of three North Vietnamese when a nearby Marine shouted. "Mortars incoming!"

"Let's go," Walt said, and ran crouching toward a bunker. He was at the bunker opening when the first round exploded.

Cloudy and Cool Seen for Tuesday

Area residents switched from raincoats to topcoats as this morning's rain brought cooler temperatures and brisk winds.

Looks like the weatherman has fallen into a rut as he predicts more clouds and cool weather for tomorrow.

Temperatures, according to the five-day forecast issued by the weather bereau, are expected to average about 10 degrees below the normal highs of 56 to 58 and normal lows of 38 to 40 through next Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday's forecast includes cool temperatures and partly sunny skies.

Low temperature reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 40. By 2 p.m. it was 48.

Craft Expected to Go Into Moon Orbit Today

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Lunar 4 was due to go into orbit around the moon today on its mission to photograph at least 97 per cent of the lunar surface.

Controllers at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) here said the spacecraft would be placed in orbit about 11 a.m. EDT.

Will Ask Senate for JFK Inquiry

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The New Orleans States-Item reported today Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison plans to seek a full-scale Senate inquiry into the Central Intelligence Agency's role in the Warren Commission's investigation of the Kennedy assassination.

★ ★ ★

The New Orleans district attorney claims the CIA and the Federal Bureau of Investigation cooperated in concealing facts behind the assassination of President John F. Kennedy from both the Warren Commission and the American public.

Garrison said he will take steps later this week to convince the Senate of the need for a fullscale investigation.

Garrison, who launched his own probe last October into the assassination, has said he expects to prove that Kennedy died as a result of a plot hatched here. The Warren Commission said it found no evidence of a conspiracy.

SEN. PHILIP HART

Hart Describes Housing Fears

U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, speaking at a meeting of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Council on Human Relations yesterday, said that any community enacting a fair housing ordinance must be prepared to see its preconceived notions destroyed.

★ ★ ★

"New steps toward equal opportunity are always accompanied by predictions of social and economic disaster, and every prophet feels badly if his forecasts prove wrong, even if he had never made them public," said Hart.

A former resident of Bloomfield Hills, Hart said he could understand the reluctance of persons in a pleasant, well-established community to start projects which could change community patterns.

"Most of those who live here are accomplished in their fields," he said. "They have a well-ordered community, pleasant homes. On the other hand, the community has a remarkably high educational level, and bitter prejudice is often most associated with the unread and under-educated."

★ ★ ★

Parents should recognize the benefits of integration if they want their children to be exposed to an honest cross-section of the world," he added.

ELOQUENT PLEA

"It has always been my feeling that the most eloquent plea for open housing can be made by a Negro father who has worked hard to provide his family with a home in a better neighborhood, has been refused and has had to explain that refusal to his children."

Hart said Birmingham can expect "a mixed response but not an unfavorable one" to a fair housing ordinance.

Says Romney Favors Talks With Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke pictures Michigan Gov. George Romney as favoring negotiations with the Vietcong aimed at ending the Vietnam war, and criticizes as unclear President Johnson's stand on such talks.

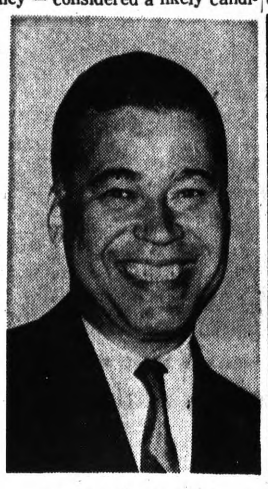

The Massachusetts Republican said Sunday he thinks Romney — considered a likely candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination — "certainly believes we ought to negotiate with the NLF (National Liberation Front)," the Vietcong political arm.

★ ★ ★

The senator spoke on the ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Brooke later told the Associated Press Romney had never specifically mentioned to him favoring negotiations with the Vietcong. Romney was not immediately available for comment.

Brooke said the United States should begin a peace drive "by showing our willingness to negotiate with the NLF. The language has been ambiguous and this is our fault. We've never clearly said we would negotiate with the National Liberation Front."

EDWARD BROOKE

GEORGE ROMNEY

FREQUENT TALKS

Brooks said he has had frequent face-to-face and telephone talks with Romney, and added: "I believe Gov. Romney certainly believes we ought to negotiate with the NLF, for example. I believe he would agree with what I've suggested about a cessation of hostilities to bring about a negotiated peace."

★ ★ ★

In a March 23 Senate speech, after his return from a sightseeing visit to Vietnam, Brooke expressed general support for U.S. strategy, including the bombing of North Vietnam.

Less than three weeks later, Romney — under fire from fellow Republicans for not enunciating a Vietnam policy — also backed most aspects of Johnson's Southeast Asia policy.

GIVE AMNESTY

Romney at that time urged a general amnesty for members of the NLF, allowing them to participate individually in South Vietnam's political life, but opposed NLF participation in a coalition government.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in Scarsdale, N.Y., to receive a man-of-the-year award, talked to representatives of some 300 antiwar pickets who conducted a silent peace vigil outside the school where he appeared.

★ ★ ★

Rusk told the demonstrators their accusations against the government's conduct would be answered in a few days when the government makes public details of secret talks in Warsaw, Poland.

The inference was the government plans to describe the breakdown of proposed U.S.-North Vietnamese peace talks in Warsaw, which reportedly fell apart last February shortly after U.S. bombings near Hanoi.

But Rusk didn't amplify his remark and a State Department spokesman in Washington said he was unaware "of any plan for the government to issue a report on the matter."

Foreign Units Said Subsidized by CIA

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas W. Braden, a newspaper publisher and former Central Intelligence Agency official, says he created the CIA program subsidizing student, labor and cultural groups abroad — including $50,000 of CIA money spent by the United Auto Workers Union to combat communism.

REUTHER

Braden told the Los Angeles Times Sunday, in connection with an article he has written for the May 20 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, that he personally gave the money to UAW President Walter Reuther to influence West German labor unions.

Reuther replied that on one occasion the UAW had "agreed reluctantly" to use the funds for European trade unions "to intensify their educational and organization programs." Subsequently, Reuther said, the UAW agreed never to "transmit government funds regardless of the urgency."

Braden, former president of the California Board of Education and a California state college trustee, is editor and publisher of the Oceanside (Calif.) Blade-Tribune.

In Washington, a spokesman said the CIA would not comment on Braden's article.

"We had no part in it, nor any prior knowledge of the author's intent to write it. We deeply regret that he did write it," the spokesman added.

Pair Arrested in Bank Thefts

DETROIT (UPI) — Police today were holding two suspects in connection with a month-long holdup spree in which about $26,000 was taken in the armed robberies of five Detroit and suburban banks.

★ ★ ★

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents said federal bank robbery warrants were being sought against Richard Schermerhorn, 33, of Union Lake, and Ray Robbins, 26, Detroit.

Schermerhorn was arrested late Saturday by Detroit police. He was unarmed and offered no resistance, officers said. The suspect had $4,336 in his pockets, police said.

Robbins was arrested early yesterday by FBI agents in a motel near Toledo, Ohio.

1,200 Reds Hammer at Marine Camp

SAIGON (AP) — Some 1,200 North Vietnamese hammered at a U.S. Marine camp for three hours today before pulling back and leaving 179 Communist dead strewn over a battle-scarred hillside.

Charging beneath a mortar barrage and behind spewing flamethrowers, the men of the North Vietnamese 324B Division smashed into a perimeter defended by U.S. Marines, small detachments of U.S. Navy Seabees, Army Special Forces men and South Vietnamese militiamen.

Unofficial reports from the battlefield said 35 Marines were killed and 89 wounded. The South Vietnamese lost 14 dead and 16 wounded while the Special Forces and the Seabees each had five wounded.

Hope Rising for 53-Nation Trade Pacts

GENEVA (AP) — New optimism appeared today among negotiators in the Kennedy Round talks, nearing the end of almost five years of efforts to cut tariffs and scale down other trade barriers.

★ ★ ★

The top negotiators are due to complete their work by Tuesday night so Jean Rey of the European Economic Community — the Common Market — can present any agreements to an EEC ministerial meeting in Brussels Wednesday. The EEC approval must be in by June 30 when President Johnson's special powers to negotiate tariff cuts end under the U.S. Trade Expansion Act.

★ ★ ★

In the current talks William Roth, Johnson's special representative for trade negotiations, is dueling with the Common Market's Rey. Other principals are Sir Richard Powell of Britain and Ambassador Mori Acki of Japan. In all, 53 nations are involved in the talks.

★ ★ ★

The main issues at present are American barriers to European chemicals and European tariffs on American grain.

★ ★ ★

Conference sources saw some encouragement for the United States in a reported willingness of the Common Market to increase its contribution to aid international food aid plan.

Crime Unit Recommends Easing of Several Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's changing attitudes toward illicit sex, gambling, drinking and abortion require less strict criminal laws in these areas, says the President's crime commission.

Numerous so-called sin laws tie up police who could otherwise concentrate on matters threatening public safety, the commission said. Some of the laws aren't enforced anyway, it added in a report made public Sunday night.

Although strong laws should be enforced in cases of rape, child molestation and organized vice, "the situation is less clear" regarding acts between consenting adults, including fornication, adultery, sodomy and homosexuality, the commission said.

It is these laws which often are not enforced, the panel reported. It quoted Thurmond Arnold, author and former jurist, as saying they are "unenforced because we want to continue our conduct, and unrepealed because we want to preserve our morals."

PERSISTENT MARKET

The market is persistent for prostitution, the commission said, recommending that laws against it be limited to cases where organized business activity is involved or where there is public solicitation.

The commission said gambling "has survived the condemnations of the criminal law" and should be allowed on a private basis and for charitable and religious fund raising.

★ ★ ★

Drunkenness accounted for nearly one-third of the nearly five million arrests last year, but should be removed from the criminal law process and treated for "what it really is, a social problem of alcoholism and poverty," the commission said.

Hoffa Hearing Set Tomorrow

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Both sides had marshalled their forces today for what may be a lengthy hearing on charges the government resorted to wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping to convict James R. Hoffa of jury tampering in 1964.

The labor leader sat with three codefendants in a small cellblock at the Hamilton County jail as his attorneys mapped tactics in a motel eight blocks away and government lawyers prepared their case at the federal building three blocks away.

The hearing on a new trial motion begins Tuesday and is scheduled to last three days before U.S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson, who sentenced Hoffa to an eight-year term three years ago.

Key Decision 'Fails to Cut Confessions'

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court's controversial Miranda decision has not noticeably reduced the number of confessions obtained from criminal suspects despite what police have feared, a federal judge said Sunday.

Judge Hubert Will of Chicago said 98 per cent of all federal criminal cases in Chicago involve confessions, and that the percentage is a result "of good police work" which should never be affected by the Miranda decision.

The 11-month-old ruling, assuring a suspect of his rights to silence and to an attorney during pretrial questioning, was the topic of a televised panel discussion.

Robert W. Hansen of Milwaukee, elected last month to the State Supreme Court, said the ruling restricts police investigative powers. Hansen called for a constitutional amendment to offset the decision.

China Wall Posters Say Provincial Strife Growing

TOKYO (AP) — Wall newspapers in Peking say growing strife has killed or injured hundreds of persons in Red China's western provinces, including 200 supporters of Mao Tse-tung drowned when anti-Maoists rammed their boat.

Machine-gun fire killed two Red Guard members, a man and a woman, and grenades injured hundreds of other persons Saturday in Chengtu, 950 miles southwest of Peking, said wall posters reported by Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital.

★ ★ ★

The reports said previous clashes in Chengtu last week killed 11 persons and injured between 1,000 and 2,400 others. Japanese accounts said the fighting was between extremist and more conservative followers of Communist party Chairman Mao with each side accusing the other of helping President Lu Shao-chi, the chief target of Mao's cultural revolution-purge.

★ ★ ★

The wall newspaper said south China Red Guards claimed 4,000 Maoists were imprisoned in Chengtu and were fasting. Other reports said rioters poisoned the city's water supply.

The 200 pro-Maoists who drowned were riding a ferry across the Yangtze River at Chungking to attend a rally Saturday when a boat manned by anti-Maoists rammed them, wall posters said.

Dealers Win Spicy Literature

WASHINGTON (AP) — Distributors of spicy books and magazines won new protection in the Supreme Court today from prosecution.

Parking Meter Report Shows Business Good

BIRMINGHAM — A parking meter report, a good indication of an area's business, reveals a record number of vehicles using the downtown area here.

The city commission will study the findings at its meeting at 8 tonight at city hall.

Prepared by the police department, the report is a study of April 15 to 21 and shows an average of $2.03 in each meter in the period — a record amount, according to police.

"Largest increases were found in the 12-hour and 4-hour meters and a substantial increase is noted in the 1-hour meters," police report.

The only decrease was noted in 30-minute meters.

Also on the agenda is a letter from the Baldwin School PTA safety committee.

The group claims a "dangerous traffic situation" will be created by the "ring road" construction.

The letter raps the commission's recommendation that crossing guards and safety patrols be "educated" to handle the problem and insists everything possible is already being done.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A proposed dog ordinance will again be considered by the township board at tomorrow's meeting at 8 p.m., at the township hall, Telegraph and Long Lake.

Requests for laws to control roving dogs were made after several persons were bitten in the area.

The board has been studying cost factors and possible problems of enforcement.

Rail Crossing to Be Repaired

Pontiac Motor Division's Columbia Avenue railroad crossing one and one-half blocks east of Baldwin, will be under repair and barricaded beginning May 13 through May 18.

A two-lane bypass will be in service at the work area during the repair period.

Maddox Ties Dem Support to Conservatism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox says the Johnson administration must show more signs of conservatism in the next year for him to support the Democratic party in the 1968 presidential election.

Maddox refused Sunday to say exactly where he would stand, but he said: "I'd hope that there'd be sufficient change that I could support the national Democratic party. I hope it would be a consensus party."

Maddox was interviewed on the NBC-TV program "Meet the Press." He promised to fight what he called far-left liberal programs at the ballot box but said, "I do not favor a third-party run" for president. "I do not think it will be successful."

He said, however, that he is an admirer and friend of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace — who is considering chances as a third-party candidate — and that Wallace is popular enough to carry several Southern states, including Georgia, as well as some Northern states.

"I think he'll be the determining factor in the platforms" of the 1968 Democratic and Republican conventions, said the 51-year-old Georgia governor. But, he added, "If we are strong enough to form a third party then we are strong enough to be successful in our present party."

Maddox called the present administration sometimes far-left liberal and said it does not represent all members of the Democratic party. But he said he has noticed change in that there has not been as much pressure on Congress to pass some new, liberal programs.

He said he would support President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 "only if they will change from this far-left liberal program that teaches people to depend on Washington and the almighty dollar and will turn back to conservative programs."

Asserting that he is still a segregationist, Maddox said the 1964 Civil Rights Act is worse now than it was when he refused to admit Negroes to his fried-chicken restaurant in 1964. Maddox sold the restaurant rather than comply with a court order to integrate.

Reds Salute Lost Soldier

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russians lighted an external flame by the Kremlin wall today on a monument Josef Stalin banned — a tomb to the Soviet Union's unknown soldier of World War II.

The flame, blazing from a two-yard-wide golden star set in a field of red granite, gave the nation its first such tomb. Stalin had barred such tombs during his lifetime, and his successors took 14 years after his death to repair the omission.

Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev touched off the eternal flame with a torch which had been lighted over the weekend in the "Field of Mars" in Leningrad — the mass grave of thousands killed in the 1917 Russian Revolution.

For Adult Gamesters

Treasure Hunt a New Fad

By JEAN SAILE

A new wrinkle has been added to the fun and games practiced by suburbanites tired of two-handed pinochle.

Treasure hunting is the new fad for adult gamesters. In fact, the pastime is growing so fast that a Rochester participant—no great thinker—found himself in Lapeer County and four clues along on someone else's hunt.

Latest addition to the list of communities joining the fun is Lake Orion whose first hunt is June 3.

Armed only with an automobile, the Pontiac area telephone book, the alphabet numbered forward and backward, and the latest county road map, participants will be expected to decipher such clues as those contained in a bowling score card and a telephone dial.

★ ★ ★

Ground rules provide that clues be hidden within a 50-mile radius of the starting point, that the law enforcement agencies be alerted ahead of time, and that everyone play fair, according to Mr. and Mrs. John McGee and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ruebelman, Lake Orion organizers.

SKY'S THE LIMIT

From there on though, the sky is the limit.

Rochester hunters have found clues embedded in a marshmallow in Utica, in a hollowed out pencil, and in a plan white square of paper which had to be held over a cigarette to make the writing legible.

Always on public property, the Rochester group uses green garbage bags as the club depository. Oftentimes led to cemeteries, the participants last Halloween found themselves in haunted territory as white-sheeted figures rose mysteriously from behind old tombstones.

The entrance fee to the hunt provides for dinner reservations following the hunt and the remaining money is split three ways by the first three winners.

NOT AN INVASION

There's a catch to it though. The winner have to lay out the next hunt.

Meantime, if a horde of cars pulls up some dark night and begin to search the roadway in front of your home with flashlights and some stealth, it's not an invasion. It's only another treasure hunt.

Zoning for Trailer Park Is Debated in Orion Twp.

ORION TOWNSHIP — Would zoning for a camping trailer park open the township to events such as "hippie love-ins?"

The pros and cons of such zoning were debated recently by some 40 residents attending an Orion Township Planning Commission public hearing.

At issue was the request of long-time Orion resident Alden W. Haydel who wants to make a private park on land along Joslyn in the Indianwood Road area.

Opinions that more camping areas are needed were intermingled with the fears that such spots can be hard to police.

DECISION PROMISED

A decision was promised by the commission at its June 7 meeting.

A public hearing on zoning which would permit Ajax Asphalt Paving Co. of Detroit to build an asphalt plant on the site of a former gravel pit at Dutton and Bald Mountain roads was set for May 31.

The commission voted to recommend approval of a gas station in Keatington on the southwest corner of Baldwin and Waldon roads.

★ ★ ★

Two other requests for commercial zoning along Baldwin were tabled until the new zoning ordinance is completed.

PROUD PHYLLIS — Nanny goat Phyllis, an attraction at Hayride Lodge, 1950 Washington, Avon Township, hovers protectively over her newly-born quadruplets. The multiple birth is a rare occurrence in goatdom, according to Mrs. Clyde Blanchard, owner. The event is made more rare by the fact that, though Phyllis herself is brown, the babies are white and cream colored.

Summer School Due Expansion

Rochester Program Updates Registration

ROCHESTER — An expanded summer school program requiring a new method of registration will be offered by the Rochester Community Schools.

Course information and application blanks were to be passed out in all schools. The blanks require a return mailing.

Besides remedial and make-up courses, the schools are this year offering enrichment classes in creative writing for fifth and sixth graders, typing and dramatics for junior high students, and industrial arts courses on the high school level.

Adults are being accepted into sewing courses along with students and into the typing classes.

★ ★ ★

A science preparatory mathematics course for science students is planned, and music courses for instrumentalists.

TENTATIVE BASIS

George Stringer, director of the summer school, emphasizes that all courses are offered on a tentative basis and will require an enrollment of 15 students in order to be included in the final curriculum for the summer.

★ ★ ★

He said students from other districts would be welcomed as enrollees. Further details may be obtained from Stringer at the Board of Education office.

Gun Kills Boy

ST. CLAIR (AP) —A 16-year-old St. Clair boy Sunday put what he thought was an unloaded antique gun to his forehead and pulled the trigger. State police said Philip Loznak was killed instantly. Loznak and a friend were looking at a collection of old pistols in Loznak's bedroom.

Plane Built in Front Yard

'Nighthawk' Nears Air Test

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — "Peel's Nighthawk" needs stiffer springs in its steerable tail wheel, ground tests this weekend showed.

But a little matter like that isn't going to keep 49-year-old Walter Peel, 611 S. Squirrel, grounded for long.

Peel has determination.

"We'll probably be ready for further Federal Aviation Agency tests next week," he said.

For a man who has already spent 18 months and $1,200 building the small single-seater airplane "from the ground up," this is no real problem.

★ ★ ★

A composite of the "Flutterbug," "Flybaby" and "Turner T-40," the shiny white and red ship has reclaimed its position on the Peel's front lawn.

OUTGREW QUARTERS

First a project for the basement, the plane outgrew its quarters there and was moved into the garage. When the wings were added, it moved out into the front yard.

Peel, a soft-spoken engineer, sees nothing incongruous about building a plane in his front yard.

"There are 38 members of the Experimental Aircraft Association, dedicated to building planes, who meet at 7 p.m. the second Tuesday of the month at Oakland-Orion Airport near Lake Orion," he said.

Peel's aviation hobby began 22 years ago when he won a $500 prize for a suggestion award at the National Stamping Co. of Detroit.

FLYING LESSONS

The money went for flying lessons. Though part owner of several small planes, the "Nighthawk" is Peel's first single-owned plane.

"Building an airplane is not so difficult," said Peel in what is probably the understatement of the year. "There's just a lot to it."

"My wife never thought I would complete it," he said. "She sometimes tries to make believe she's unhappy with the project, but I think she's quite pleased and considers it an accomplishment."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Peel confirms the statement. "I've never been afraid when he's flown, and won't be now."

FURTHER TESTS

While actual flight awaits further tests, Peel assures that tests have been conducted right along during construction.

For example, he relates, there had to be special structural tests on the plane's skin, aluminum .012 inch thick bonded to the plywood body.

"It's stronger than foil," he said, although he admits the covering looks something like the common kitchen product.

★ ★ ★

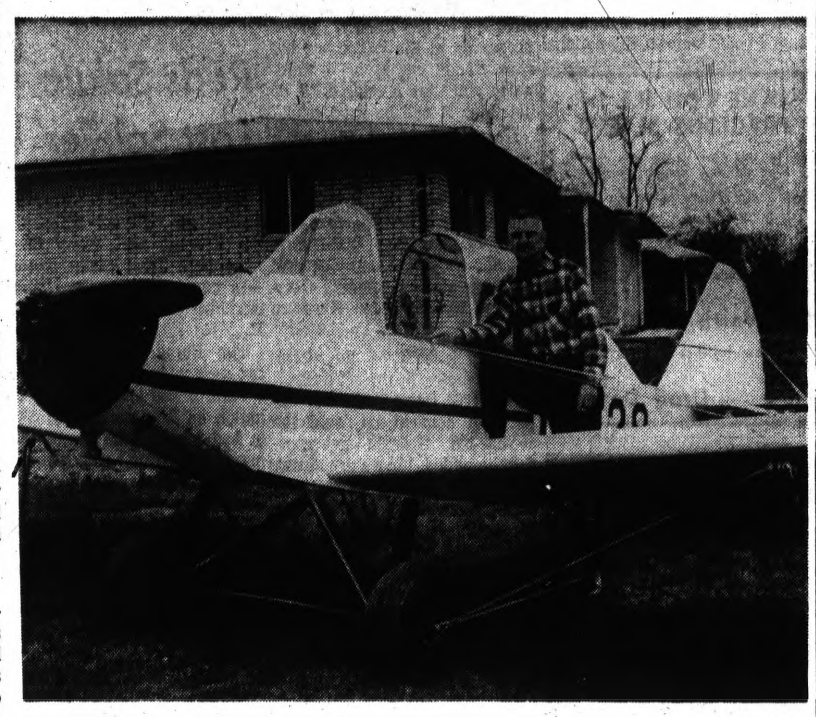

The plane is powered by a 65 horsepower Continental aircraft engine. Consisting of a fuselage 18 yeet long and a wingspan of 26 feet, the light plane is expected to cruise at 100 to 110 miles per hour.

LESS THAN CARS

"It uses 3.5 gallons of gas an hour," he reported.

★ ★ ★

"And that's less than most cars use," he added.

House Subcommittee Says More Troops Needed in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special House armed services subcommittee says more troops are needed in Vietnam and the United States will have to supply them if Aisan allies do not.

The panel, which visited Vietnam for four days in late March gave no indication in a report released yesterday how many new troops would be required.

"Undoubtedly, additional manpower will have to be sent to Vietnam if we are to realize our full military potential or even fill present needs," the report said.

"In the absence of additional Korean or other Asian troops, it is probable that the United States will have to supply this manpower in the near future."

In the report, the special subcommittee said the U.S. military force in Vietnam "is the finest that we have ever fielded.

"Morale of the troops is extremely high — from the highest general to the lowest private," the report said. It cited the 12-month rotation system as the biggest single factor contributing to high morale.

The subcommittee also said it believes there are "no significant shortages" now in Vietnam either in construction materials, weapons, planes, or other equipment.

It also found that pilferage of military cargoes from the port of Saigon were "considerably less" than earlier accounts have indicated.

It said the port commander maintained that "over 98 per cent" of arriving commodities were not reaching their ultimate destination.

LIVING STANDARDS

The subcommittee's major criticism was that new Army living areas in Vietnam and Thailand are "substandard" compared to Air Force and Navy housing.

"In particular, it was noted that Army Base Camp cantonments (at Cam Ranh Bay in Vietnam and in the Sattahip area of Thailand) lacked running water, waterborne sewage, suitable power, and paved roads, all of which are considered esential by the commanders concerned," the report said.

S. Korea May Send Civilian Unit to Viet

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korea is planning to send a 10,000-man civilian "support Corps" to South Vietnam if the United States will give financial backing, the newspaper Dong-A Ilbo said today.

The newspaper said the government wants the civilians to perform noncombat tasks to free more of South Korea's 45,000 troops in South Vietnam for fighting duty.

Defense Minister Kim Sung-Eun earlier indicated the government was studying such a plan.

It Seems to Me . . .

High Costs of Campaigning Limit Potential Candidates

Financing political campaigns is becoming an enormous and very serious problem just in itself.

There was a time when a man declared himself a candidate for local or state office with the support of friends and well-wishers. They spent a few hundred dollars judiciously in newspaper advertising and presented his case to the electorate at large.

Those days are gone.

It's "big business" now.

★ ★ ★

And as the importance of the office steps upward, the costs don't increase in an arithmetical line. Rather they go by the square. And when you reach the Presidency, you're talking in many, many millions.

Senator Russell B. Long, Democrat from Louisiana, offered a significant comment when the Senate was discussing the $1 income tax check off.

Said he:

"We should arrange matters so that a man of humble birth could run with sufficient campaign funds instead of having it so that one had to have a grandfather who made a billion dollars in the oil business or a father who might have made $500 million in the whisky business."

★ ★ ★

Obviously, these references were to the ROCKEFELLERS and KENNEDYS. Whether old JOHN D. made a billion or a few hundred million less is unimportant. And just perhaps papa KENNEDY only amassed $350 million instead of a half billion in whisky.

The fact remains they are enormously wealthy and can finance any type of campaign they please.

What's a few million?

To them, it's peanuts.

★ ★ ★

However, the man of penniless origin who has fought his way upward and in the thirties and forties is doing well and is universally adjudged a highly successful businessman is hopelessly lost.

Even a spirited campaign for the House of Representatives begins around $20,000 and then steps onward. It's a highly competitive business and has grown so through successive setups. We have $25 a plate dinners, $50 a plate dinners and the $100 deal has become commonplace. President Johnson has $1,000 club. Picture that!

★ ★ ★

The income tax checkoff of one dollar per taxpayer for a common pot to finance presidential elections has something in its favor—and it's open to criticism, too.

Here's another case where "these changing times" have placed us on a whirly merry-go-round that zips us in circles of widening circumference faster than we can comprehend.

★ ★ ★

The solution?

Who knows?

Do you?

In the meantime, I'm strong for a system whereby a man of modest means and great integrity can successfully compete against the man of great means and modest integrity.

Organizational Change . . . .

Americans for Democratic Action, a political organization that espouses way-out causes, is undergoing an interesting change within.

★ ★ ★

Vice President HUBERT H. HUMPHREY was one of the original founders and when he was placed on the ballot with LYNDON B. JOHNSON, these extremists went into great ecstasies. One of their top boys was in the very biggest time in the very biggest way.

★ ★ ★

As time passes and the Vice President shows unswerving loyalty to his boss and his war program, his former associates and cheer leaders are slowly edging away and replacing him with none other than one Robert Kennedy. A year ago at a big rally Humphrey planned to defend our Vietnam policy before these weasels but they condemned Johnson before HHH was even allowed to speak.

★ ★ ★

They want to stop bombing North Vietnam and call a truce by our forces in South Vietnam; even though we do it alone. Certain elements in the Democratic Party are going around in dizzy circles of their own making.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Law enforcing officials all over the Nation are campaigning vigorously against the greatest single cause of stolen cars: ignition keys left in the lock. Almost two-thirds of those arrested for theft were 18 or under. . . . . VINCENT EDWARDS recently made a very purposeful visit to the tables in Las Vegas—and lost $21,000. . . . . Overheard: "Trying to take it with you isn't as important as trying to make it last until you go." . . . . . Postmaster General LAWRENCE F. O'BRIEN: "If we ran our telephone system the way we do our post office department, the carrier pigeon business would have a great future."

★ ★ ★

Scouts tell me Pat Boyd deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies.

Weather Bureau says the public favors its current "20% probability of rain" over the former plan. It was strongly criticized when introduced but has steadily gained favor.

★ ★ ★

DEGAULLE will visit the Montreal World's Fair next fall and some people believe he wants a "neutral" conference with President JOHNSON and hopes to bring it about in Canada. . . . . Overheard: "There used to be two categories of people but now there are three: the Haves, the Have-Nots and the Charge-its." . . . . . The lowest spot in our Death Valley is 280 feet below the sea level; but the Dead Sea in Palestine is just over a thousand feet more than this. . . . . Overheard: "They ought to call him ROBERT KENNEDADDY." . . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—our red-hot Tigers; the J's—cold, wet Spring.

'I Guess We'll Have To Learn To Live With Him!'

David Lawrence Says:

LA Mayor a Political Maverick

WASHINGTON — Politics make strange bedfellows, and in California they're seldom boring. The whacky, wonderful Golden State breeds mavericks of every conceivable hue—and sooner or later seems to elect all of them.

LAWRENCE

Although Democratic voters in our largest state outnumber Republicans 3 to-1, their three highest officeholders are a conservative GOP governor, Ronald Reagan, who used to be a liberal Democrat; a middle-of-the-road GOP senator, George Murphy; and a liberal GOP senator, Thomas Kuchel, who now says he's quite conservative.

To add to the puzzlement, the Los Angeles mayor is a self-composed maverick who, when recently asked if he would support Richard M. Nixon for president if Robert F. Kennedy became the Democratic nominee, quickly retorted: "I can't think of anyone I wouldn't support against Bobby."

Mayor Sam Yorty, a former Democratic congressman, ebbs and flows in politics with the deep rhythm of the sea. He has won seven and lost seven contests in the last three decades, and his own voting record is equally fickle.

★ ★ ★

In 1960, when Lyndon Baines Johnson failed to get the Democratic presidential nomination, the irrepressible Yorty supported Nixon against John F. Kennedy.

EYES SENATE RACE

In 1964 he went all-the-way-with-LBJ, but in '66 swung again and supported Reagan against Pat Brown for the governorship.

He is now toying with the idea of running for the Senate next year, but confides that he probably won't if Kuchel gets the GOP nomination. Not that he loves Kuchel more, but that he likes losing less.

Amusing, articulate Yorty took one look at the big wins scored by Murphy and Reagan as a result of their TV projection in old movies, and launched his own TV program opposite Ed Sullivan and Walt Disney — no mean competition.

★ ★ ★

The other evening, by invitation, he slipped in the back door of the White House to see his old friend LBJ. Just before doing so he said that he planned to tell the President "for the third time" that he opposes his conduct of the war in Vietnam.

'SHOULD BOMB HARBOR'

"I told him two years ago that we should bomb Haiphong Harbor," he said. "We'll do it one of these days, but by waiting until North Vietnam has built up its defenses it'll be very costly.

"The same is true of our bombing raids on enemy supply lines. We should have done that two years ago, as I told him then. If we're going to conduct a war, we ought to go in and to win."

A one-time crusading liberal who lost his charm for liberals by serving on the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, Yorty warns against our current complacancy about the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

"When Russian Communists seem least dangerous," he says, "They are the most dangerous. We should not beg Hanoi to come to the conference table, either. This is interpreted as a sign of weakness, that only makes them fight harder."

Bob Considine Says:

Doubt Warren Report? Book Shatters Its Critics

NEW YORK — If there is a residue of doubt in your mind about the truth of the Warren Report on the assassination of President Kennedy, I'd suggest you scrutinize the report's best-known detractors.

CONSIDINE

Best way to do that is let Richard Warren Lewis and Lawrence Schiller assist you. Their book, "The Scavengers and Critics of the Warren Report," published simultaneously in hard and soft cover by Dell, thoroughly debunks the probers who have gained fame and fortune while riding on JFK's shroud.

They interviewed and observed Mark Lane, Edward Jay Epstein, Harold Weisberg, Penn Jones Jr., Mrs. Sylvia Meager, Mort Sahl, Mrs. Shirley Martin, Mrs. Maggie Field, Vincent Salandria, Harold Feldman, Leo Sauvage and half a dozen others who have made a living, or part of a living, peddling suspicion of the Warren Report.

Their assessment of these persons should shatter all the credence their works and lectures have acquired.

★ ★ ★

One of the critics, George C. Thomson of Glendale, Calif., an engineer by trade, assured the authors of "The Scavengers" that he can "prove" that 22 bullets were fired in the course of the assassination — under the direction of Lyndon B. Johnson! — But that President Kennedy wasn't even there.

'JFK STILL ALIVE'

His place in the presidential limousine had been taken by a stand-in (officer J. D. Tippit!)

JFK is still alive, Thomson confided to the Messrs. Lewis and Schiller, and made his most recent public appearance at Truman Capote's masked ball.

Given you an idea of what can be hawked in the wake of a national tragedy.

★ ★ ★

"The Scavengers and Critics of the Warren Report" would be a handy book to have around, next time somebody bugs you for believing steadfastly that there was no conspiracy to kill Kennedy and no sane reason to doubt that the FBI and the Secret Service did a better job investigating the matter than, say, Mark Lane or Jim Garrison.

In reply to "Cat Hater," cats don't kill shrubs, attack small children, bark all night, spill garbage all over yards — in general cause a community problem. You sound like you'd be rejected by a cat. Cats are so pleasant a pet we don't even need a cat warden. Come on, cat lovers, let's hear some opinions.

Discusses Formation of Citizens' Committee

Reporter Jim Long's coverage of the formation of the Republican Citizens' Committee in Oakland County was excellent.

Such a group, when headed by Sen. Robert Huber, will do much to enlarge the base of local Republicanism and enhance the Party's future. Any intemperate opposition to the organization of the R.C.C. by existing County officials can only indicate their "unawareness" of the need to make room for responsible conservative participation, or verify the suggestion that such philosophy is actually being "purged" through planned exclusion.

'Daily Crime Report Would Alert Public'

I'd like to suggest a daily column as a "factual only" report of crimes, arrests, vandalism, etc., and their location, to make the public aware and alert to the urgency of the growing problem.

L. YENNIOR
ALMONT

(Editor's Note: Thank you for the suggestion. We plan to implement your idea very soon with a daily crime report for a 24-hour period.)

'Head Start Program Costly to Taxpayers'

A recent article on the head start program states the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity had approved an application for $278,003 in Federal funds for 420 preschool children. This is over $660 per child for this summer. School taxes are high enough. Why should the taxpayer have to pay $660 per child to teach these children things that should be taught in the home?

★ ★ ★

The article stated U.S. Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District, got the OCCEO and the school board together and their problems were resolved. They sure were. The school board gave the OCCOE everything they wanted and on their terms. Is this what they call resolving the problems?

Resident Comments on Location of Privies

State park privies on Oakland Lake are in a highly populated area. I urge citizens to read the State laws regarding state park privies and write the Michigan Health Department in Lansing to instruct the conservation department to tear down and dispose of privies on all "public access" sites in highly populated areas. Would you like a privy for a neighbor?

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Protection . . .

Chicago Daily News

The Senate Judiciary Committee in Springfield has approved, 8 to 6, a bill that would outlaw picketing of a private residence.

While it is regrettable that such a bill should ever be needed, the circumstances that brought it before the Legislature demand that it be passed.

Time and again, in Chicago and suburbs, pressure groups have gone to residential areas and paraded around a private home usually that of a public official.

In one well-remembered incident, the official asked pickets to leave because they were disturbing his ailing wife. They refused until their leaders were brought into the home to see for themselves that the woman was ill.

★ ★ ★

Nothing in the bill would hinder peaceful assembly in public places or, for that matter, picketing a place of business.

But a man who must be willing to endure harassment as a part of his daily job is surely entitled to relief in the privacy of his home.

★ ★ ★

The American Civil Liberties Union and two community organizations opposed the bill as an infringement of basic rights.

But we know of no absolute right to parade before a man's home, be he a public official, landlord or whoever, no matter how worthy the cause being advocated.

Thou Shalt Not . . .

Playboy

The Sunday-school teacher asked her class of youngsters if they could name any of the 10 Commandments and one kindergarten-aged boy stood up and announced proudly: "Thou shalt not omit adultery."

Hero of Flight

The Portland Oregonian

The ten-year-old movie, "Spirit of St. Louis," with Jimmy Stewart playing the part of Charles A. Lindbergh, was shown on TV the other night and it probably didn't set a record in the viewer ratings.

But it reminded those who tuned in that 40 years will have passed next month since the young American flew alone, nonstop from New York to Paris to become an international hero.

Col. Lindbergh (then a captain in the Army Air Corps reserve) took off from Roosevelt Field on Long Island in his tiny (by present standards) Ryan monoplane at 7:52 a.m. May 20, 1927.

He landed at Le Bourget air field in Paris at 5:21 p.m. (10:21 Paris time) May 21, having covered 3,610 miles in 33 hours, 29 minutes and 30 seconds.

★ ★ ★

He won a $25,000 prize and the adulation of the world.

Now, thousands of passengers are flown across the seas every day by airlines representing scores of nations. Jets cover the Lindbergh route in one-sixth his elapsed time.

Forty years from now, what will air and space travel be like? Only a fool would attempt to say for sure.

Along With Combatants

Innocents Feel Pain, Anguish of Battle

QUANG TRI, Vietnam (AP) — Inside the dingy, dimly lit province hospital, the innocents and not-so-innocents of the Vietnam war lie in pain and anguish.

Their wounds, burns and missing limbs are testimony to the intensity of the conflict. Thousands more like them are spread through civilian hospitals elsewhere in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

"When you first go through the wards, it's almost enough to make an instant dove out of you," a U. S. Army officer warned one visitor bound for the hospital. "But you will find that most of them were hit by Vietcong fire or just got caught up in some Vietcong attack. A good share probably doesn't even know which side hurt them."

In one bed, a girl is huddled, her body badly burned. Other members of the family are nearby in much the same condition. Their house burned around their heads after an American helicopter crashed and caught fire. Inside the burned home, government troops found a Vietcong machine gun.

OVER CAPACITY

Quang Tri's hospital, the only one in the province, was built to handle 350 patients. It has 450—plus mothers and children who sleep sometimes up to four to a bed while a wounded member of the family recovers.

Cries of pain and despair are rarities.

"Guts, that's what these people have got. Real Guts," says COP William Green, Graybull, Wyo., a member of the U. S. Navy medical team assigned here.

He pointed to a shy, solemn-eyed girl whose bandages were being changed.

PARENTS DEAD

A Vietcong mortar shell, fired into her home on the outskirts of Quang Tri City, had killed her parents and wounded her two sisters. Thanh, 10, lost a large part of forearm and a section of her hip bone. Bandages covered shrapnel wounds on her head, legs and body.

She had walked unaided into the room where the dressings are changed from her second-floor bed in another building.

★ ★ ★

Next to her in the room was a government militiaman holding his 4-year-old son. A hunk of steel from another Vietcong mortar had passed through the child's head. Dr. Knox Pittard, a Navy captain from Anson, Tex., said the child would be blind.

Pittard heads the Military Provincial Hospital Assistance Program here. He and his men don't ask the loyalties of their patients. Friend and foe get the same treatment. Several patients discharged into the care of the police have been jailed as Vietcong.

Most of the wounded Vietcong and their families never make it to the hospital. They live too far in the countryside and must live or die with whatever medical help the Communists can provide.

"Not only is such a journey dangerous but there is little feeling among the Vietnamese to help their neighbor," Pittard says. Vietnamese loyalties are restricted mostly to immediate family and clan.

★ ★ ★

The sole Vietnamese doctor assigned to the Quang Tri hospital considers himself an administrator and confines his medical practice almost entirely to private patients or military men.

Nurses are available at night only in the intensive care and obstetrical wards. The 46 Vietnamese nurses range from poorly to badly trained by American standards. Only a few attack their jobs energetically.

Viet Protests Mar V-E Ceremonies

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — The jeers of Vietnam war protesters today mingled with the tears at ceremonies across Europe marking the 22nd anniversary of V.E. Day.

In Frankfurt's historic Roemerberg City Hall youths in a crowd of 2,000 hooted, screamed "Ami (Americans) go home" and hurled stink and smoke bombs at a German-American friendship meeting yesterday. Police surged in and arrested 18.

At Paris French President Charles De Gaulle was marking the anniversary of the Nazi surrender at Theims May 7, 1945, by rekindling the sacred flame at the Arc De Troimphe's tomb of France's unknown soldier. The Saint Louis Des Invalides Chapel celebrated a high Mass "in memory of the 80,000 glorious American soldiers who fell on French soil during two world wars."

At Leeds, England, anti-Vietnam demonstrators vainly tried to howl down Prime Minister Harold Wilson. Thundered Wilson, whose government has voiced support for the U.S. position in Vietnam:

"What some of you want is the war to continue long enough for a Communist victory."

★ ★ ★

At Mannheim, Germany, at another bury-the-hatchet meeting with West Germans, U.S. Ambassador George McGhee ignored Vietnam hecklers and pressed on with his speech.

IN AUSTRIA

At Mauthausen, Austria, East German Communist leaders showed up in force for a ceremony marking the 22nd anniversary of the liberation of that town's World War II Nazi death camp. East German Politburo member Horst Sindermann proclaimed his Communist regime "as the first German state in which justice and liberty were completely realized."

★ ★ ★

But Austrian newspapers sold at Mauthausen said that while East German Communist officials came here to unveil a memorial, their fellow citizens were locked inside borders guarded by machine guns,

Anti-U.S. Youths Appear in Court

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A group of 119 youths sang Communist songs and chanted anti-American slogans today in the court where they face charges of making an illegal procession during President Johnson's visit to Malaysia last Oct. 30.

The chanting stopped when police arrested two of them after three warnings. More than 100 riot squad police stood guard around the court and three truck loads of police watched the two main roads leading to the court.

2 Boys Die in Refrigerator

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Three young boys spilled from an unused refrigerator as the door was opened Sunday, and it was too late to save two of them.

★ ★ ★

Firemen using an inhalator started Dannie Warren, 3, breathing again.

★ ★ ★

Efforts to revive Dennis Hill, 5, and Daren Gaither, 3, failed.

Mattie Garner, 40, who had been caring for the youngsters, started a neighborhood search after they failed to answer her calls.

It ended in a vacant West Dallas apartment, where the trio apparently crawled inside the disconnected refrigerator while at play and the door swung shut.

★ ★ ★

Other children told of seeing the boys enter the apartment, left unlocked after vandals stole the door latches. The apartment is in a low-income district.

★ ★ ★

Dennis was a half-brother of Dannie. Their mother is Alice Neal. Daren was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lee Gaither.

Viet Fort Has Held Troops of Many Wars

LONG HUU, Vietnam (AP) Helicopters streaked in, American infantrymen leaped out, and voila!

Right there in the middle of the rice paddies was a genuine fort of pre-World War I vintage, with a moat, massive cannon mounted in towers, and revolving steel pillboxes gleaming in the sun.

The gun slits atop the old bastion gave a view all around: fields and canals to the rear, the Mekong River delta to the right, and, in front, the main river channel from the South China Sea to Saigon, 25 miles north.

Since 1910, the fort and seen a lot of troops come and go — the French who constructed it to protect their Asian interests in the worrisome days before World War I; the Japanese who occupied it in World War II; the British who took over from the Japanese; and then the anti-French Vietminh; government troops of Ngo Dinh Diem; and lately the Vietcong.

Now the Americans. The fort had stood up well, but this was the supreme test. First, U.S. Air Force planes plastered it with bombs and napalm. That didn't hurt much.

Then the troops arrived. They were from the 2nd Battalion, 3rd Infantry Regiment of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade. The 3rd Infantry Regiment, known as the "Old Guard" has a history dating to the Revolutionary War.

★ ★ ★

Soon tape recorders blared swinging music over the ramparts. Cooks installed a gleaming refrigerator in a dugeon-like room, turned on a portable generator, and stocked up on steaks and beer.

A sign went up renaming the place Ft. Myers, Southeast Asia Branch, for the Old Guard's former base in Virginia.

MAIN ENTRANCE

This sign was just inside the main entrance, a 12-foot-high wood and metal door at the end of the bridge spanning the moat.

The door had another sign scrawled in Vietnamese: "As of Sept. 9, 1962 — stranger, do not enter this door! It is dangerous!"

★ ★ ★

And the sign meant it, the Americans soon found out. A typical assault came a few days after Alpha Company of the battalion had settled in. Its mascot goat was lapping up cornflakes in the shade of one of the pillboxes. He finished the flakes and was starting on the pasteboard carton when the unmistakable fumes of tear gas crept over the fort.

Wheezing cooks stumbled from their kitchen. Sputtering gunners gasped for air as they leaned over the parapets around the big cannon.

COMMONPLACE

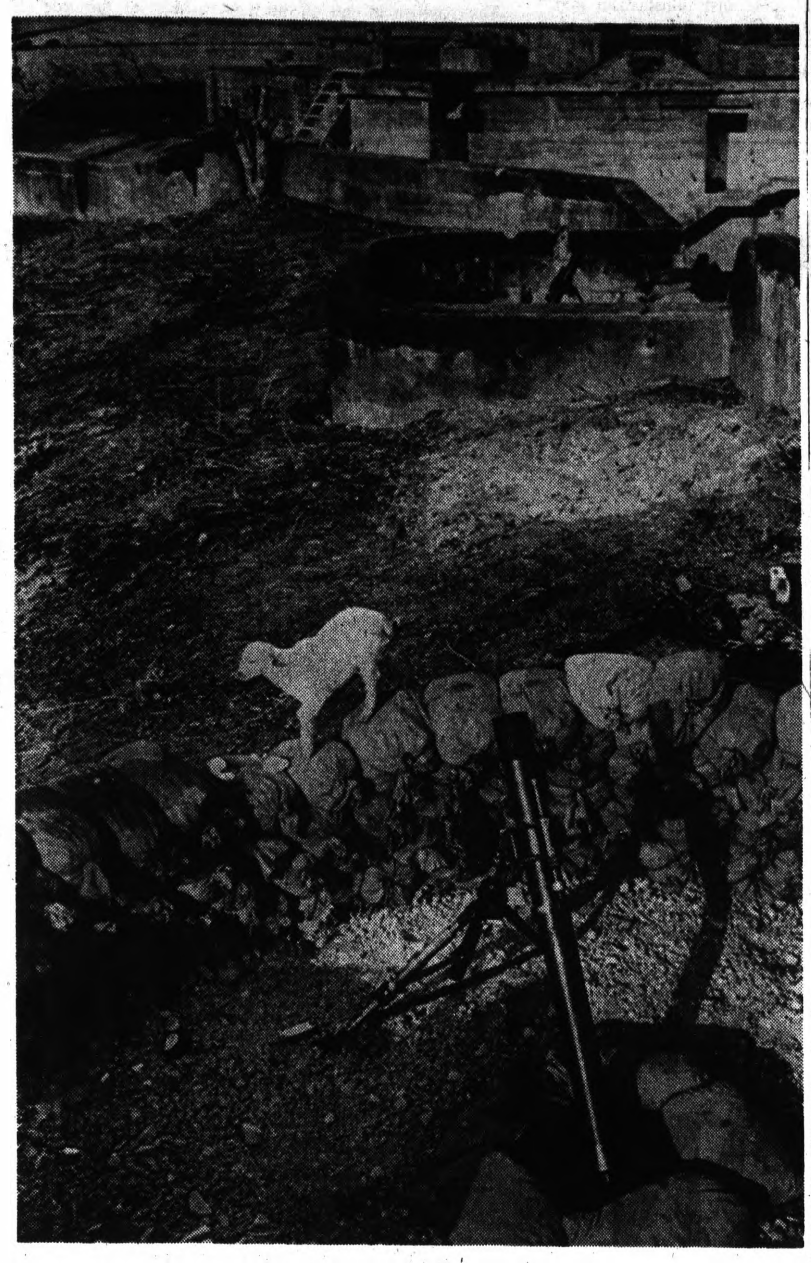

"Here we go again," said Sgt. Dennis Bogue of Elfers, Fla. "It happens every day. Somebody starts foolin' around in those old rooms down below and the damned gas gets stirred up. It goes all over the place."

It seems the last government occupants of the fort had scattered powdered tear gas around when they pulled out, to make things uncomfortable for Vietcong who moved in. The GIs had carted out boxes of the gas but never got it all.

★ ★ ★

The GIs moved ahead with their Americanization of the premises — pinup pictures and all — before they got orders to move on.

The old fort had a few more scars, but it would be ready when the next batch of troopers moved in.

MOMENT OF CALM — A goat, in a moment of calm in Vietnam, walks atop sandbags surrounding U.S. mortar positions on the lip of an old French fort in Long Huu, 25 miles south of Saigon. The fort has seen its share of occupants since its start in 1910.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCARABS

QUESTION: What kind of stones were used for making scarabs and why do some have markings?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The real scarab is a large beetle, one species of which has the strange habit of rolling waste matter into a large ball, which the beetle pushes into an underground burrow. An egg is laid in the ball and, when the larva is hatched, it uses the ball for food.

To the ancient Egyptians, the scarab was sacred. They considered such insects to be symbols of life after death. The ball represented the world; the emerging larva showed that life still went on.

Fascinated by this idea, the ancient Egyptians carved and painted scarabs in many different forms. We show a carved scarab on a ring; it could be rolled along wet clay, making an imprint.

At lower left is a scarab in a piece of jewelry, combining the insect's body with a hawk's wings, tail and feet. Carved scarabs, such as at lower right, were often placed in the bodies of people after death; the writing on the underside wishes them happiness in the next world.

Scarabs were often carved from such colorful stones as comelian, amethyst and jasper, or they might be made of soft stone, then covered by a shiny glaze.

Cubans Displaying Political Wares at Expo 67

MONTREAL (AP) — Cuba has six shops at Expo 67 selling cigars, records, handicraft and souvenirs, but the Cuban Pavilion is trying to sell Fidel Castro and his revolution.

Some Canadians are annoyed at the political use being made of the Cuban exhibit. Bruce Taylor, columnist for the Montreal Star, calls it "an exercise in raw propaganda."

Others have been critical of the United States for trying to keep U.S. citizens from buying at the Cuban shops. U.S. laws forbid importation of Cuban goods.

Many visitors appear to be more interested in the grim-faced security men swarming through the pavilion and in the possibility that anti-Castro groups might blow up the place.

★ ★ ★

A staff of hostesses is available to escort visitors. There isn't much to explain, however, since the exhibit consists primarily of blowups of pictures and posters tracing the history of the Cuban revolution.

EARLIER WOES

One hostess was heard telling a visitor how bad things were under the Batista regime.

"July 26, 1953, was the turning point," she said pointing to a big poster which said: "Turning point — July 26, 1953."

The walls are plastered with posters reviewing high spots of the revolution, giving slogans against imperialism and telling of improvements in agriculture, education and industry since Castro took over in 1959.

★ ★ ★

There also is a film showing a dancing girl in a scanty bathing suit, and scenes from Cuban life.

The purpose of the exhibit was explained earlier by Delfin Sanchez, responsible for planning the three-story pavilion and its exhibits: "The visitors will have the opportunity to satisfy their anxiety and to know the truth about the Cuban revolution."

Several checks found the pavilion to be one of the less crowded ones. Teen-agers seemed to regard it as an adventure.

Many stopped at a desk near the entrance to get their passes validated to show that they had been there.

★ ★ ★

The pavilion is one of the most modest at the fair. It cost $165,000. It is mainly aluminum and glass, painted black and white, and consists of a series of interlocking rectangular and triangular forms which give it a cube-like effect.

After the fair, it will be dismantled and returned to Cuba.

Sweat Shirt Summary: Sincerity Is the Theme

NEW YORK (AP) — "How can we lose when we're so sincere?"

Not by a sweat shirt, Charlie Brown.

★ ★ ★

Mard-buying teen-agers and hard-selling businessmen have taken to sweat shirts to convey messages.

Once a sweat shirt was something shot putters warmed up in and you could get them in any color—as long as they were locker room gray.

BIG VARIETY

Now book stores, fashion stores and mail order catalogs are full of red, blue, yellow, pink and green numbers saying "Curse You Red Baron," "Legalize Pot," "I'm Cute." That last one comes with winking eyes.

"They're terrific," stid Leonard Schwartz, president of Brentano's, the New York book store chain that has been going to great lengths to promote Charlie Brown and his friends from the comic strip.

"This month it will add a sleeveless, stretched-out sweat shirt — miniskirt length—saying "Surf's up" or "To live is to Dance, to Dance is to live."

This summer, you may be too busy reading sweat shirts to keep an eye on the bikinis.

Just in case there is any doubt, Pepsi-Cola has labeled its light blue sweat shirts "Girl" and "Girl Watcher." And National Bellas Hess, the Kansas City-based retail store chain, is offering "Official Boy Watcher" shirts for $1.99.

As part of the promotion for the movie "Casino Royale," Columbia Pictures painted a sweat shirt with a lissome lass surrounded by such readings as "Indians Are Good Guys," "Miss Moneypenny is a Bondaid," "LeChiffre Cheats at Baccarat," and "Ursula Andress reads in Bed."

Even the Jolly Green Giant will send you the shirt off his back — for $1.95 and two vegetable labels. It's a short-sleeved green sweat shirt covered with Ho-Ho-Ho's.

In New York, radio station WMCA has given away almost 200,000 of its grinning "Good Guy" shirts.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

PONTIAC, MICHIGAN, MONDAY, MAY 8, 1967

Mrs. Ezio Bisogni (left) of Aquarina Drive, Mrs. Thomas L. Thornberry of West Rundell Street and Mrs. Robert McGill of Boston Avenue compare notes during the luncheon at Saturday's conference on the working mother at Oakland University. The day-long conference entitled "The Dual Role" exposed the problems and the pleasures of doing two tasks.

James M. McHugh, M.D. and Child Psychiatrist (left) and Rev. Alden M. Hathaway of Christ Church Cranbrook continue a discussion of working mothers and their special problems prior to a luncheon break at the conference for Working Mothers at Oakland University Saturday.

To Work or Not to Work

Conference Explores Mothers' Working

By BEA SWORDS

Perhaps no women in America are more frequently discussed than the 10 million who are working mothers.

Oakland University's Division of Continuing Education offered, Saturday, the last in the "Three Days in Spring" conferences. This one was titled, the "Dual Role."

★ ★ ★

The object was not to offer a conclusion but to expose every facet, listing the problems and the pleasures. The audience had to supply the last answer themselves —is it all worth it?

STAY HOME

The psychiatrist, Dr. James M. McHugh of Wayne State University, said that "Women should not work outside the home. A woman's first instinct is to mother."

He relented a little to say that after a woman's family had left her care she could work in, "Some capacity utilizing her maternal instincts."

He did, however, mention that science hadn't decided at what age a human child no longer needed mothering.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Alden M. Hathaway, Associate Rector of Christ Church Cranbrook took another stand.

"The American woman is educated on an equal level with the American male. It isn't fair to expect them to remain at home and let this education be wasted."

FARM WORK

He emphasized that when America was an agricultural society women could help their husbands with the farm work and it was perfectly acceptable.

● A daughter said she would have preferred to have her mother stay home.

● A working mother said her children were more outgoing and friendly than those of non-working mothers, and this was established by the end of the conference.

● A mother of a working girl said that she disapproved of working mothers — but in her daughter's case it was different. Her daughter was a woman driven to do the type of work she did.

If she had children she would work anyway and perhaps in her instance this would be best.

★ ★ ★

Peppery and attractive Dr. Constantina Safilios - Rothschild of Merrill - Palmer Institute and Wayne State University had things to say too.

She suggested the male panelists were biased.

★ ★ ★

She cited facts and figures that made it clear that the children of working mothers were less delinquent than those of non-workers.

★ ★ ★

Also, working mothers spend actually more time with their children than women who do not work outside the home.

DON'T DISCOURAGE

She urged mothers to not discourage their daughters from careers in law or medicine or from long years at universities in favor of marriage.

★ ★ ★

The women slated in the second half of the conference were all working mothers. They gave tips on how to work successfully both at home and away.

★ ★ ★

We were warned against time traps that sap away hours.

★ ★ ★

"Ten minutes a day are nothing—but 60 hours a year impress me."

● "Dress the kids in cotton knits and permanent press when you can."

● "Close the door to the kid's room, if it gets that bad."

● Fran Harris of WWJ TV, who is a career woman and mother of three introduced a matte finish philosophy. "We have dust in Detroit too," she said "so camouflage it with candlelight when you must."

● Judge Alice Gilbert recommended being as organized as possible. "I know what must be done and I do it," she told us.

★ ★ ★

In view of all the problems of working mothers vs the pleasures, it would be safe to say that the women attending Saturday's conference won't be terminating their employment this morning.

MRS. S. L. CHAPPELL

Roberta Jeanne Sommer, daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Sommer of Westacres and the late Mr. Sommer, was married Saturday in a candlelight ceremony in Orchard Lake Community Church, to Samuel Lawrence Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wise of Taylor.

Candlelight Ceremony for Samuel L. Chappells

Roberta Jeanne Sommer became the bride of Samuel Lawrence Chappell Saturday in a candlelight service in Orchard Lake Community Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Sommer of Westacres and the late Mr. Sommer. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wise of Taylor.

★ ★ ★

The new Mrs. Chappell chose a floor-length gown of white organza over taffeta in an A-line style with Empire waist and fitted bodice. It was accented with edgings of peau d'ange lace and cluster of pearls.

Her detachable chapel train flowed beneath a full length veil of silk illusion.

She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and Stephanotis.

She was given in marriage by her uncle, George T. Goforth of Annandale, Va.

Mrs. William C. Steuk was honor attendant for her sister. Bridesmaids were Nancy Clark, Martha Cook of Lorain, Ohio, Janet Harris, Judith McHugh and the bride's cousin, Jane Goforth of Annandale, Va.

The groom's sister, Penny Lou Wise, was junior bridesmaid.

★ ★ ★

Brian Melzian served as best man for the groom. Ushers were Larry Hable and David Pray, John Lenz of Glenview, Ill. Donald Maier of Collegeville, Pa. and Peter Yaman.

Following a champagne supper at Forest Lake Country Club, the couple left for a wedding trip to Florida and Nassau. They will reside in Orchard Lake.

Dearings Tell of Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dearing of Fox Hills Drive announce the marriage of their daughter JoAnn, to Charles Parker. The wedding on May 1 took place in San Francisco, Calif. where they both reside.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Parker is a graduate of University of Michigan. He is the head of research at Presbyterian Medical Center.

Mrs. Parker will come to Michigan in June to attend the wedding of her sister, Jill.

John Fernald Wins Medal for His Paper

John Fernald, artistic director of the Meadow Brook Theatre, Oakland University, has been awarded a silver medal by the Royal Society of the Arts in London, for his paper "The Director in the Theatre."

The medal is emblematic of the "Best Paper of the Year."

★ ★ ★

The Royal Society, founded in 1754, is one of many learned societies in England dedicated to research and study in various fields.

The Society's headquarters are in the Adelphi, London, where it maintains administrative offices and a reference library.

★ ★ ★

Fernald, who has been a Fellow of the Royal Society since 1959, says, "When they asked me to deliver a paper, I accepted with some trepidation but then decided, rather cunningly I thought, to use the first chapter of my new book. Or rather a reworking of the first chapter. Rather to my surprise, the paper was quite successful."

★ ★ ★

The book, "The Dream and the Endeavor," will be published in the fall by the London publishing house of Secker and Warburg.

The manuscript is currently in the hands of Fernald's American literary agents who are negotiating the American publishing rights.

Elected to Office

Mrs. Harvey B. Greene, Country Club Drive, has been named treasurer of the Northwood Women's Board, Northwood Institute, Midland.

Commercials Jar Them

Voices of Protest Heard

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A million thanks for printing Nauseated's letter complaining about some of the TV commercials which advertising agencies shove down the viewers' throats. It's high time somebody voiced a complaint.

ABBY

As a woman of Swedish extraction, I find one coffee commercial extremely hard to take. A young married couple is shown at breakfast. The man takes a sip of coffee after which he registers obvious displeasure. Then the young wife runs tearfully to her neighbor, "Mrs. Olson," a motherly-type.

★ ★ ★

The inexperienced wife begs Mrs. Olson for her "secret" in making good coffee, whereupon Mrs. Olson, in the worst possible Swedish accent reveals that she buys the coffee that is "mountain grown." Heaven preserve us! ALSO NAUSEATED

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am glad you mentioned how offensive some TV commercials are. My pet peeve happens to be a candy commercial. It shows a man eating a candy bar while he tells how delicious it is. He keeps talking about the candy while he stuffs his face with more and more of it. It is positively revolting!

★ ★ ★

I have tried to teach my children not to talk with their mouths full, and then they see a grown man doing exactly what I have told them they must never do.

★ ★ ★

Please tell the candy people that I am one mother who will not buy their candy as long as they put such commercials on TV. SOUTH BEND MOTHER

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A male's way of retaliating to TV advertisers who treat their viewers as morons is as follows:

In all fairness I carefully observe all commercials — once. If the message abuses my sensitivity or mature understanding, I carefully note the product being advertised, and in this way I decide which product not to buy.

My theory: Why should I reward insult? PEEJAY

Beaten GOP Group Threatens 'Breakaway'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charges of election illegalities and threats to form a renegade rival organization were renewed today in the wake of Gladys O'Donnell's election as president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Defeated candidate Phyllis Schlafly of Alton, Ill., who says she didn't want to let her backers down, appealed the election to GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss.

★ ★ ★

She also indicated the prospect of forming a breakaway, rival GOP women's group.

Mrs. Schlafly scheduled a news conference today to discuss the protest she is filing with Bliss over "the illegality and irregularity" of the election procedure at the two-day convention which ended Saturday.

VOTE TOTALS

Mrs. O'Donnell, 63, a Long Beach, Calif., businesswoman, pilot and veteran in GOP politics, won by a vote of 1,910 to 1,494 for Mrs. Schlafly, 42-year-old mother of six who wrote the 1964 campaign book "A Choice Not an Echo".

Mrs. Schlafly's supporters claimed the election was stolen by unfair election and parliamentary procedures.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Schlafly wouldn't go quite quite so far. But she maintained "there's a cloud over the election," mainly because her ballot security men could not watch the voting machines set and sealed before the voting.

She said the procedure for certifying delegates made it possible to "bring people in off the street and vote them."

UPROAR

The convention ended in an uproar. Spectators had to be cleared from the huge Sheraton Park Hotel ballroom when they interfered with the voting.

When it was all over, attractive, brunette Mrs. Schlafly acted like a victor in defeat. She went from the convention floor to a private rally with about 1,000 of her cheering supporters, ready to form and head a rival—and outspokenly conservative — organization if they wanted her to.

In fact, a Schlafly backer from Illinois, Ruth Bateman, said a charter already had been obtained for an "American Federation of Republican Women."

The usually staid and untroubled national federation — an organization of 500,000 Republican women — was rocked by the whole experience.

Mrs. O'Donnell, a calm, soft-spoken woman, who has been a delegate to national GOP conventions since 1940, was expected to neutralize the federation in the pre-convention campaigning of 1968. She wants the federation to embrace every spectrum of Republican thinking — moderate, conservative and liberal.

Whether it will have a rival remains to be seen. Mrs. Schlafly and her supporters discussed the pros and cons at their rally.

★ ★ ★

Then Mrs. Schlafly told them to go home and "think about it, pray about it, talk to your friends about it. I hope you'll write to me at Alton, Ill., and tell me what you think."

Mrs. O'Donnell said she really didn't expect many clubs to leave the organization as a result of the hassle.

'DON'T BELONG'

As to individuals, she said: "If there are some who can't accept a decision by the majority, made in a good democratic way at a convention, then they don't belong in politics."

Role of Executor Has Its Headaches

By MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley: I have been named executor of my parents' will and I want to do as exactly as possible the correct things.

Where may I find information or literature on the duties of an executor?

Mrs. R. H., Islip, L. I.

MARY FEELEY

Dear Mrs. H.: You're wise to take this responsibility seriously in advance. There's a widely-held notion that the settlement of an estate is a simple affair — one that an individual with no prior experience, and in a time of stress, can handle easily, alone. It's just not so.

★ ★ ★

You will certainly want to work closely with your lawyer, as you will need his advice and help, and should expect to pay a reasonable sum for legal fees if your parents' estates are of any size.

Banks which often act in the capacity of executor can cite you a yard-long list of the duties involved. Some of them I'll list here, though space is too short for a full rectial:

- Work with your lawyer in obtaining admission of the will or wills to probate.
- Arrange for funds from the estate for immediate expenses, such as family needs and necessary fees.
- Prepare and file federal income tax returns for the period before and after death.
- Collect data, obtain valuations, and pay federal and state death taxes before penalty dates.
- Pay state income taxes before penalty dates — and check past payments for any possible refunds.
- Supervise investments. Determine which securities are to be held, which are to be sold, and which new securities are to be purchased during the period of estate settlement.
- Pay state income taxes before penalty dates — and check past payments for any possible refunds.
- Supervise investments. Determine which securities are to be held, which are to be sold, an which new securities are to be purchased during the period of estate settlement.
- Take over the management of business interests.
- Collect all income and maturing principal during probate period.
- Assume custody of bank accounts, securities, and other property.
- Attend to necessary inventories and appraisals.
- Investigate all claims, paying only just debts.
- Liquidate assets as necessary, considering cash needs of estate, terms of will, needs of beneficiaries, character of assets and tax consequences.
- Keep regular accounts acceptable to the court — separating income and principal transactions.
- Manage real estate.
- Arrange the estate so that bequests can be paid in exact accordance with the terms of the will.
- Segreate the funds and accounts of each estate.
- Submit to the beneficiaries of the estate and, when necessary, to the court, a complete accounting of all transactions.

For the benefit of readers who may be thinking about naming an executor in their wills: it would be wise to discuss the appointment with your lawyer first. Often, when circumstances warrant, more than one executor is appointed — perhaps a family member and a business friend or trust company.

Keep in mind that much time and effort, as well as knowledge, is required. And even the simlest estate can raise complicated questions.

You can ask at local banks for printed information on an executor's duties. You may also want to consult books on personal finance at your library.

Dual Purpose

Today, sturdy cotton bedspreads are more than practical. They are pretty enough to wear!

★ ★ ★

Many women do just that. They stitch up loungewear and at-home gowns from colorful cotton spreads. The National Cotton Council reports there's a wide choice of handsome styles, from heavy jacqard weaves to the lighter weight corded spreads.

★ ★ ★

For a really coordinated look, get two cotton spreads just alike. Use one on the bed, and use the other to make an elegant long robe.

Quick Soda Wash

Remove winter's marks from painted woodwork and furniture with quick washing. Use a solution of two tablespoons of baking soda in one gallon of water. Do not soak wood and dry thoroughly.

Bedmaking Tip

A taut sheet contributes to sleeping comfort. When making a bed, tuck at least 10 inches of the bottom sheet tightly under the foot of the mattress. Keep this even so that the sheet will be even at the top. Pull sheet smoothly up over the bed and tuck it tightly under the mattress at the head of the bed.

Pet Contagion

To avoid transferring contagion from household pets to the children, it is important to bathe animals regularly and also treat their diseases promptly.

Polly's Pointers

Makeshift Covering

DEAR POLLY — While arranging a tea table we discovered that a regular white tablecloth was not wide enough to use under our 72-inch-wide white nylon net cloth.

A 72-inch white percale sheet was substituted as an unnoticeable makeshift. The net was finished around the edges with two rows of silver rickrack and the corners rounded, which made it easy to sew a neat turn. Coffee was accidentally spilled over one end of the cloth but, to our surprise and relief, the nylon net did not stain. The liquid went right through to the cloth underneath without a trace on the fancy cloth. Removal of the stain from the sheet was simple.

I have been told that this refusal to hold stains is true for colors, too, so nylon net is most practical for the tea table. The net cloths are inexpensive, easy to make and, with careful storing between times, can be used over and over. — ELSIE

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — Do you or any of the girls know how to remove insignia that look as though they are painted on the front of sweat shirts? MRS. B. R.G.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Sandra. When my daughter burned a hole in the front of a sweater with the iron, I made crocheted flowers, sewed one over the hole, then scattered them elsewhere on the sweater so they seemed to be a planned decoration.

This gave the sweater a new look. Thanks for all the help and fun you afford my whole family. — GLADYS

Little Boy Is a Student in Big School

MODESTO, Calif. (UPI) — Mark Stailey holds the title of "smallest student at Modesto Junior College" — but he's a long way from getting a degree.

He attended English, geology, home economics and language classes for three years out of necessity.

His student parents couldn't find a baby sitter. Mark is almost four years old.

LIMITED VISITS

His father, Stanley T. Stailey, of Modesto, attends part-time now and his mother is enrolled at Stanislaus State College so Mark's visits to the Modesto campus are limited.

But he learned his way around during the fulltime days, learned to count in Spanish and to operate candy machines in the student center — if someone close by would boost him up.

Mark still goes to language labs with his dad, puts on earphones and recites in Spanish.

Mary Jane Stailey says her son began reading his name and simple phrases at age two.

His college days apparently paid off. Stanley Stailey says his son almost nightly takes a children's encyclopedia and begins with questions.

"He wants to know things like where his food goes, what happens to it, and why he bleeds," says Stailey.

Harry Truman Marks 83rd Birthday Quietly

— Former President Harry S. Truman marks his 83rd birthday anniversary today without fanfare.

Truman's close friends who have sponsored an annual luncheon on his birthday for many years will observe the event despite the fact the former president, to conserve his strength, declined to occupy the guest chair.

It won't be the same, but Truman's friends share in his desire to "take care of his health first." He hasn't been at his office in the Truman Library since last July 30 and he has made virtually no public appearances in the last year. Though he talks a good deal about things to be taken up again, the doctors have set no time on his return to office routine.

Truman says he feels well and observed, "I should. The boss (Mrs. Truman) feeds me well, and I do nothing but eat, sleep and read."

BOOK A DAY

Friends say his day in the study of his home is consumed by books and catnaps. He reads at least a book a day. A familiar sight to neighbors is Mrs. Truman with an armload of books returning from her weekly visit to book shops and the public library.

Truman's modest study contains many valuable volumes and there are "no uncut pages in that room," a family friend remarked. He marveled at Truman's capacity for reducing a large volume to possession in a day.

Truman's weight is down sharply from a postpresidential 180 pounds to about 140.

HARRY TRUMAN

He used to rise at 5 A.M., and between 6 and 7 o'clock, cane in hand, range the Independence streets in a quickstep.

How, he is up at 7, dictates letters to his secretary, Rose Conway. About midmorning he may receive an old friend, but rarely for more than 15 to 20 minutes.

★ ★ ★

He does frequently accompany Mrs. Truman on an auto ride through rural Jackson County over a system of roads which he planned and saw to completion when he was a county official years ago.

A kind of vertigo is primarily responsible for keeping the former president closely confined. Friends say he becomes dizzy just walking a few feet.

Members of the Eddie Jacobson Memorial Foundation, which sponsored the annual birthday luncheons, are undismayed by Truman's decision to remain at home. They will keep their date and spokesmen for the foundation said they intend to announce sponsorship of annual Harry S. Truman Foreign Policy Award to the U.S. senator judged to have rendered the most distinguished service in the last year to furtherance of nonpartisan foreign policy objectives of the United States.

Kennedys Find Hudson Was Rough, Cold 'n Fun

NORTH CREEK, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy now know the upper Hudson River in wilderness areas is rough, cold and fun.

The Kennedys, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and their families traveled through about 20 miles of swift, swirling rapids near this Adirondack hamlet Saturday and Sunday. There were plently of spills in the cold water but members of the party said they enjoyed sluicing through rapids in canoes, kayaks and rafts.

Caroline Kennedy, daughter of the late President John F. Kennedy, seven of the senators' eldest children, Mrs. Kennedy and one of Udall's sons took part in the activities, which included a 13-mile-long trip Saturday and a 7½-mile race Sunday. Mrs. Udall participated Saturday but was only an on-looker Sunday.

Kennedy and Udall, both Democrats, entered the 10th annual Whitewater Derby and each, along with his partner, finished among the leaders.

All other members of the party also finished the contest, although Kennedy's wife Ethel was drenched at least four times. At one point, she was stranded on a boulder in midstream when her canoe, shared with mountain climber Jim Whittaker, slammed into the rock.

Despite the chilling, Mrs. Kennedy insisted on finishing the race and won loud applause from the 7,500 bystanders when she and Whittaker paddled strongly through the finish line, far behind the other 186 competing boats.

Sure, you can get a great deal on a new car right now.

But be sure you get a great car.

Leave it to Pontiac to take the mediocrity out of car deals.

You see, Pontiac dealers aren't limiting you to a so-called "special" deal on a so-called "special" car.

Their specials carry names like GTO, Firebird, Le Mans, Grand Prix, Bonneville and Catalina.

Their specials are endowed with distinctive split-grille styling, exclusive Wide-Track ride, and years-ahead styling slickeries like disappearing windshield wipers.

If all that sounds like your Pontiac dealer has great cars, you're getting the message. Now all you need is the great deal.

And you know something? You can get that at your Pontiac dealer's, too.

Enemy of Juvenile Crime Sees Profit in Paddling

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—Frank Bard of Union Pier staunchly believes that to save the child, don't spare the rod.

And, he has formed a company to manufacture wooden paddles, designed to swat life into the old adage.

This man of many ideas on many subjects, ironically, is a bachelor. But it hasn't slowed him on his theories of children and discipline.

Bard said he organized the Board of Education Manufacturing Co. about 3½ years ago and, so far, has produced about 60 paddles.

★ ★ ★

He organized the firm with his brother, David.

NOT PROFITABLE

Sales, so far, have not been profitable. In fact, the paddles made have been given away. But Bard hopes that with proper advertising, sales will result.

Meanwhile, he and his brother are active in Lake shore Homes, Inc., a real estate enterprise at Union Pier. Bard also is chairman of a senior citizens housing committee for southwestern Michigan.

One of his ventures for children has been a small recreation center near Union Pier called the Playdium Recreation Center.

★ ★ ★

Bard keeps up to date on articles involving discipline and said he found it interesting to read about a student survey at Bard School in the Benton Harbor district. The survey indicated support for use of the paddle, when required.

INSCRIPTION

In gripping a Bard paddle, the fingers cross over an inscription, "The Hand of Wisdom." Farther up is the name of the company and on the business end is another inscription: "Applied Psychology With Loving Care Ages 3 to 12."

Bard said he wrote FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1963 and encouraged him in efforts aimed at better citizenry through reduction of delinquency. Hoover's answering letter said in part:

"Your expression of best wishes and confidence in me are indeed appreciated, and it is hoped our future endeavors will continue to merit your support and approval.

★ ★ ★

To Bard, the paddle plays a role in helping children by its strong message that they have strayed out of the straight and narrow. But, there's more.

SMOKING

Smoking is another factor to be countered. Bard said he's convinced that there's an interrelation between smoking and juvenile crime. He's also convinced that nicotine is harmful, citing his observations that women who smoke during pregnancy often have smaller babies.

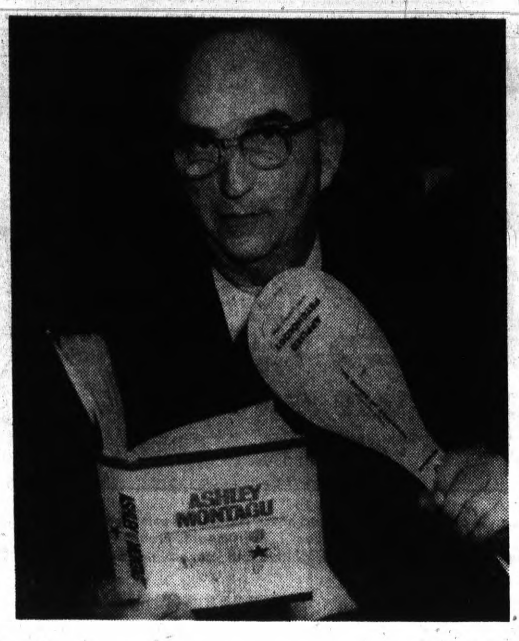

"I became interested in nicotine addiction "way back in 1928," he said.

"I have never smoked and neither did my family, and there has never been cancer on my mother's or father's side."

★ ★ ★

The paddle appears to represent Bard's thoughts on discipline: "We read articles all the time, but, no action is taken."

Bard said it's up to the adults to solve the juvenile crime issue, because adults have "the money and politics" to work on the problems.

Blaze Spotted

DETROIT (AP) — A bus driver and about 15 of his passengers spotted a fire in an apartment building early Sunday. Driver Charlie Jtnes Jr., 37, told police he used a two-way radio to notify officials, then he and the passengers threw rocks at the windows to waken the sleeping tenants. No one was hurt.

400-Man Factory in Orbit Is Proposed for 1990s

By Science Service

DALLAS — A gigantic, 400-man orbiting factory with more than eight acres of manufacturing area has been proposed by two space engineers for development by the 1990s.

As preparation for this super space station, a smaller, 32-man version would be launched a decade before to help find industrial processes which are only possible in, or would benefit greatly from, the airless, weightless space environment.

These might include vacuum refining of metals cold welding, and the sterile production of drugs.

In addition, the earlier station could reap profits for its owners, whether government or private, by doubling as a huge natural resources satellite to spot schools of fish, water sources and agricultural changes, such as diseased fields.

The 32-man station, according to Robert L. Gervais and Vern D. Kirkland of Douglas Aircraft Co., might consist of a 130-foot-long, 33-foot-diameter cylinder (the fattest that could be launched from a Saturn V rocket), owned by the federal government, to which four commercial, privately owned laboratory modules would be added by separate launches.

The bigger factory-station, which might cost more than $1-billion yearly to operate, could consist of six 80-by-70-foot core sections, with eight separate industrial sections extending outward like the spokes of a wheel.

Oceanography TV Show Really Something to Sea

SEATTLE (UPI) — Dixie Lee Ray has dancing brown eyes and a voice warm and clear. She and the wiggily things she works with are putting on one of the best shows in town.

Although she has plenty of go and her name may suggest it, you won't catch this Dixie Lee's act at a downtown night spot. Her weekly show goes on the local educational television channel. It's but one of many of the busy lady's activities.

Dr. Ray is Seattle's "First Lady of Science," a marine biologist, a member of the University of Washington faculty since 1945 and director of the Pacific Science Center since 1953.

When Dr. Ray and live specimens from the sea go on camera, she is never sure just how her supporting actors will perform.

She says she is both pleased and surprised at the number of persons who watch her shows on oceanography, covering everything from hydrofoil ships to barnacles. Viewers say they like the animated, extemporaneous way Dr. Ray puts her show together.

She keeps her terms simple, and the layman quickly learns such things as how the "pyramid of numbers" applies to protein produced from the sea.

That is, it takes 10 pounds of marine plant life, or plankton to produce a pound of the tiny creatures that feed on it.

It takes 10 pounds of these organisms to produce a pound of little fish, such as herring.

Ten pounds of herring will produce a pound of marine mammal or fish eating bird, and 10 pounds of mammal or bird will grow a pound of man.

Do-It-Yourself Game

Play Fiscal Reform!

LANSING (AP) — If you're looking for a challenge or a way to kill some time, here's an enthralling little game that may be just what you need.

It has kept leaders of the Michigan Legislature occupied for months, and promises to hold them for more months to come.

★ ★ ★

It's called the do-it-yourself fiscal reform program game, and it can be as simple as putting blocks together or as difficult as juggling eels.

The object of the game is to put together a program of state tax changes that will (A) raise about $300 million a year, give or take a little, and (B) get the approval of a majority of the other players.

The first part is easy. The second part is hard.

MONEY MAKERS

The first part involves putting blocks together. For readers interested in playing the game themselves, here are some of the money-making blocks:

- A one-half per cent income tax on individuals, with a $600 exemption, is worth $171 million.
- A one-half per cent income tax on corporations is worth $38 million.
- A one-half per cent income tax on financial institutions, such as banks, is worth $1.3 million.
- A one-cent increase in the tax on a pack of cigarettes is worth $12 million.

Thus there are dozens of ways to raise taxes by $300 million. A 1 per cent personal income tax would do it.

A one-half per cent personal tax ($171 million) plus a 1½ per cent corporate tax ($114 million) plus a 4 per cent tax on banks ($10.4 million) plus a one-cent cigarette tax increase ($12 million) would put you over the top.

HARD PART

Drawing up a $300-million package is just that easy. The hard part is talking the other players into accepting it.

Suppose the other players are members of the legislature. A package containing only new taxes will not be popular with them, because it will not be popular with the taxpaying voters they represent.

In fact, the taxpayers are not all happy about the taxes they are paying now.

Some feel property taxes are too high. Some feel the same way about the intangibles tax. Some think the sales tax is unfair because a poor family with lots of children has to pay more sales tax on food than a rich family with fewer mouths to feed. High-volume and low-profit businessmen oppose the business activities tax. Suburbanites don't like nonresident city income taxes.

★ ★ ★

The way to gain support for raising taxes, if it can be done at all, is to cut some taxes while raising or initiating others.

Then the name of the game isn't just "new taxes." It's "fiscal reform."

And that game is a little more complicated.

MONEY LOSERS

The simple 1 per cent personal income tax will raise $342 million and meet the Treasury's needs. But if you tied that to, say, a 14 per cent property tax cut ($120 million), you no longer have enough.

Here are some of the possible money-losing blocks that can be used to build a tax reform plan:

- Repealing the business activities tax costs $142 million.
- Raising the annual intangibles tax exemption from $20 to $100 per person costs $13 million.
- Refunding each person $10 of his yearly sales tax costs $80 million.
- Then you can pick one of dozens of formulas for cutting some or all property taxes on some or all kinds of property, and earmark for that purpose as little or as much as you choose.

WHO OWNS THE SCHOOL?—Mrs. Tonya McMahon and her mother, Mrs. Hazel Klinker (right), are the center of attention from pupils whose school they claim to own — in the tiny desert town of Kelso, Calif. The women bought 65 acres at a tax-delinquent sale, and claim the school is on their property. The school's legal counsel says the school now has legal title, since it's been there 50 years.

'Quality Medical Care a Right'

DETROIT (UPI) — Phychiatry held out a helping professional hand to the rest of the medical profession today by advising it to accept without quibble that "quality medical care is, indeed, the right of every human being."

The advice was offered by the president of the American Psychiatric Association, Dr. Harvey J. Tompkins of New York, in opening its 123rd annual meeting.

His psychiatric diagnosis of medicine's ills was that the public's "image" of the doctor and the doctor's "image" of himself "reflect a distortion and incompatibility at a critical time."

Medicare is a "fait accompli," he said. More government-backed mass medical programs are sure to come, and "it is my faith, my hope and expectation that our profession of psychiatry will seize upon the special opportunity and aptitude it has, to bring these conflicting images into better rapport with each other and render them more supportive of the collective aspirations of our people."

★ ★ ★

To great numbers of laymen it appears that physicians hold "that quality care is not an automatic right to which everyone is entitled but more in the nature of a privilege of a contractual nature freely entered into by both the physician and the patient who seeks his service," Tompkins said.

When you look for the most room and the smoothest ride and the best value, you'll end up with a Chevrolet wagon everytime.

Chevrolet Impala, roomiest in its class.

If you want proof, get all the catalogs on station wagons at Impala's price. Turn to the specification tables and start comparing roominess. Many people buy wagons for roominess alone. So see who comes out on top where it counts most. Chevrolet. Consider also Body by Fisher, Chevrolet dependability, flush-and-dry rocker panels and Magic-Mirror finish as bonuses.

Chevelle Malibu, smoother, quieter ride.

A Malibu not only gives you a Full Coil suspension ride, but the body mountings are double-cushioned to insulate you against road noise and vibration. And it carries plenty—families or full-size cargoes. It opens wide. 54.6 inches, to be exact, 28.5 inches high. Flip the second seat down and start packing. You've got 86 cubic feet of cargo space for all your gear. And a tough vinyl covering on that big load floor to protect Chevelle and everything it carries. Chevelle was built to take a lot.

Chevy II Nova, best equipped for the money.

On the Chevy II Nova Wagon, all-vinyl upholstery is standard. Flush-and-dry rocker panels that clean themselves are standard. Separate panels beneath each fender to inhibit rust are standard. Time a One-Way Street? Physicists Try to Find Out

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Deep in the heart of the atom, time may be able to run backward. Indeed, it should, theory suggests. Now some physicists are beginning to run experiments that will prove it, one way or the other.

The idea that time's direction of flow cannot be determined by any physical experiment was once deeply ingrained in the thought and theories of scientists.

That was the case until, in 1964, physicists found that time might sometimes be a one-way street. Since then, they have searched long and hard for confirmation or disproof of the indirect evidence that, under certain conditions, time has a preferred direction of flow.

Scientists say that time is a sequence of events that customarily follow one another.

★ ★ ★

If this sequence can be made to reverse itself, as was suggested by the 1964 experiments, then to physicists and the subatomic world in which they work, time would be running backward.

Equipment is not yet sufficiently sensitive to make a direct test for time irreversibility, but experiments now under way are seeking additional, although still indirect, evidence.

At Howard University here last week scientist C.N. Yang of the State University of New York at Stony Brook outlined four kinds of experiments being conducted at various laboratories for proof or disproof of time reversal invariance among the so-called weak interactions, such as occur in radioactive decay or when some subnuclear particles disintegrate.

All four involve the breakup of the K2 meson, a member of the family of particles that act as a nuclear glue, binding neutrons and protons together so that they form nuclei.

★ ★ ★

A different kind of experiment looking for time reversal invariance, but in electromagnetic interactions, is under way at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

The electromagnetic force acts between charged particles, as in holding negative electrons in orbits around a positive nucleus. leus.

Dr. Enloe T. Ritter reported to the American Physical Society meeting here preliminary results of experiments he and Dr. Roger B. Perkins are conducting to test time reversal in the radioactive decay of rhenium.

He said that the first results from a month's run suggested that time was not reversible in this electromagnetic reaction.

Peck-Peck Machine 100 Years Old

Now Is the Time for All Good Men to Honor the Typewriter

The boys down at Kleinsteuber's machine shop in Milwaukee enjoyed tinkering, making little contrivances that might be useful. Best result of their puttering was the first effective typewriter, that made its debut when its chief inventor pecked out his name and the date—C. LATHAM SHOLES. SEPT. 1867.

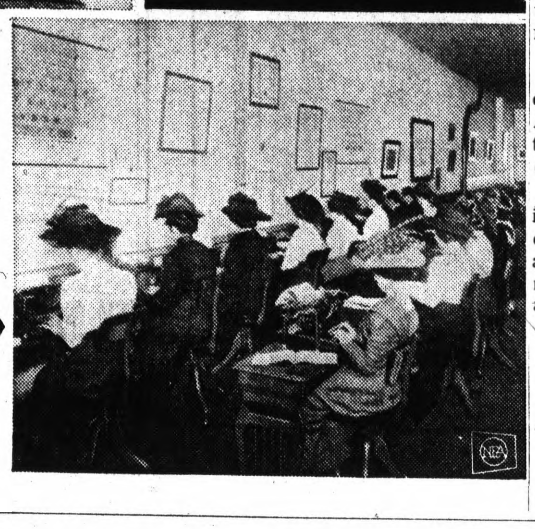

Disappointed at first response to his machine, Sholes feared it would be tossed aside as a novelty. For five years after it was introduced, he worked to perfect it and finally sold interest in it to E. Remington and Sons, small arms manufacturers, for $12,000. Their first model for commercial use was mounted on a sewing machine stand and employed a foot treadle for returning the carriage. Sholes is shown above in 1877 with an early portable, still ungainly compared to the modern Remington at upper right.

Sholes' first working typewriter was similar to the one shown above. First woman typist in history was Lillian Sholes, the inventor's daughter. Later, the real impact of the invention was felt when it opened thousands of office jobs to women.

U.S. Car Standards Worry the British

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

LONDON (NEA) — To say that British car makers have been thrown into a tizzy by the new American auto safety code is to put a stiff upper lip on the face of disaster.

Just reading through the list of 23 car-safety standards to be enforced in the United States starting next September has been enough to panic most motorcar manufacturers here.

Among other things, the list provides for safety belts for all seats, unburstable door locks, windshield defrosters and defoggers, collapsible steering columns and improved tire standards.

The reason why British car makers are in such a flap is that their 1968 models are already in the prototype stage.

★ ★ ★

It is too late to make the changes required by the new American code in time to meet the September deadline, they claim.

Inasmuch as the United States is Britain's biggest customer for cars, this country stands to lose a large part of this export business, which has an $11 billion annual turnover.

This, on top of the current credit squeeze and wages freeze, which have cut down domestic sales, should just about sound the death-knell for British motorcar industry, the pessimists predict.

After a summit meeting here in London, the Society of Motorcar Manufacturers, representing 24 firms, has asked the U.S. Traffic Safety Agency for additional time to comply fully with the code.

They are also hoping that the American agency will show flexibility in enforcing the new safety standards as far as British cars are concerned.

Charlie Halleck: What's He Doing?

By DAVE BURGIN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Charlie Halleck's office in the Washington stone quarry which is the Rayburn Building is plush and new and overlooks Independence Avenue, beyond through old trees and statues to the Capitol.

His office is new, but the furniture and some fixtures aren't and the contrast explodes.

Pictures on the fresh, cool walls show Charlie Halleck with Alf Landon, Charlie Halleck with Wendell Wilkie, Charlie Halleck with President Eisenhower, flanked occasionally by pretty girls whose hairdos and long dresses dramatize the past better than names.

"I've had a lot of good days over there and some bad ones," said Halleck, nodding and looking out the window toward the Capitol. "But looking back it's sometimes hard to tell them apart. They blur.

★ ★ ★

"It's like these pictures you see. Sometimes I catch myself looking at them and wondering if it all really happened, if I really was that much a part of this country's history."

PAST TENSE

Charlie Halleck was. The past tense of it — the "was"—rankles him a touch but he covers it well with a crack or a smile or by meeting a gaze. "Well," he'll say, "what are you gonna do?"

And then, intoning slowly, "Oh! I don't want to talk about that. Things have to change. Besides, old Halleck can still get a few things done."

Rep. Halleck, now 66, was elected to the 74th Congress in a special election in his Indiana district in 1935, then the only Republican member from his state.

★ ★ ★

He has been in Congress ever since. His Republican colleagues in the House made him majority leader in the 80th and 83rd Congresses and minority leader in the 86th, 87th and 88th.

LARGE ROLLS

Halleck played large roles in the nominations of every Republican presidential candidate since Landon.

He rose to great power and prestige in the Eisenhower years to take the House GOP leadership away from the shrewd Joe Martin of Massachusetts.

"It's hard to look at my taking over for Old Joe the same as Gerry Ford (Mich.) is taking over for me," Halleck said.

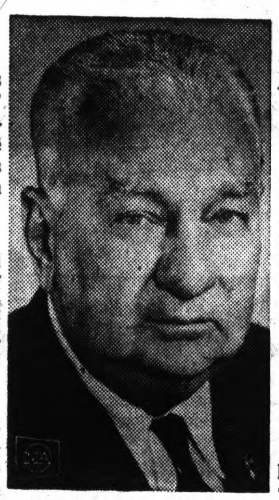

★ ★ ★

"Barry Goldwater had got clobbered, so I guess some figured it was time for a change. I delivered Barry's seconding speech, remember." Halleck chuckled.

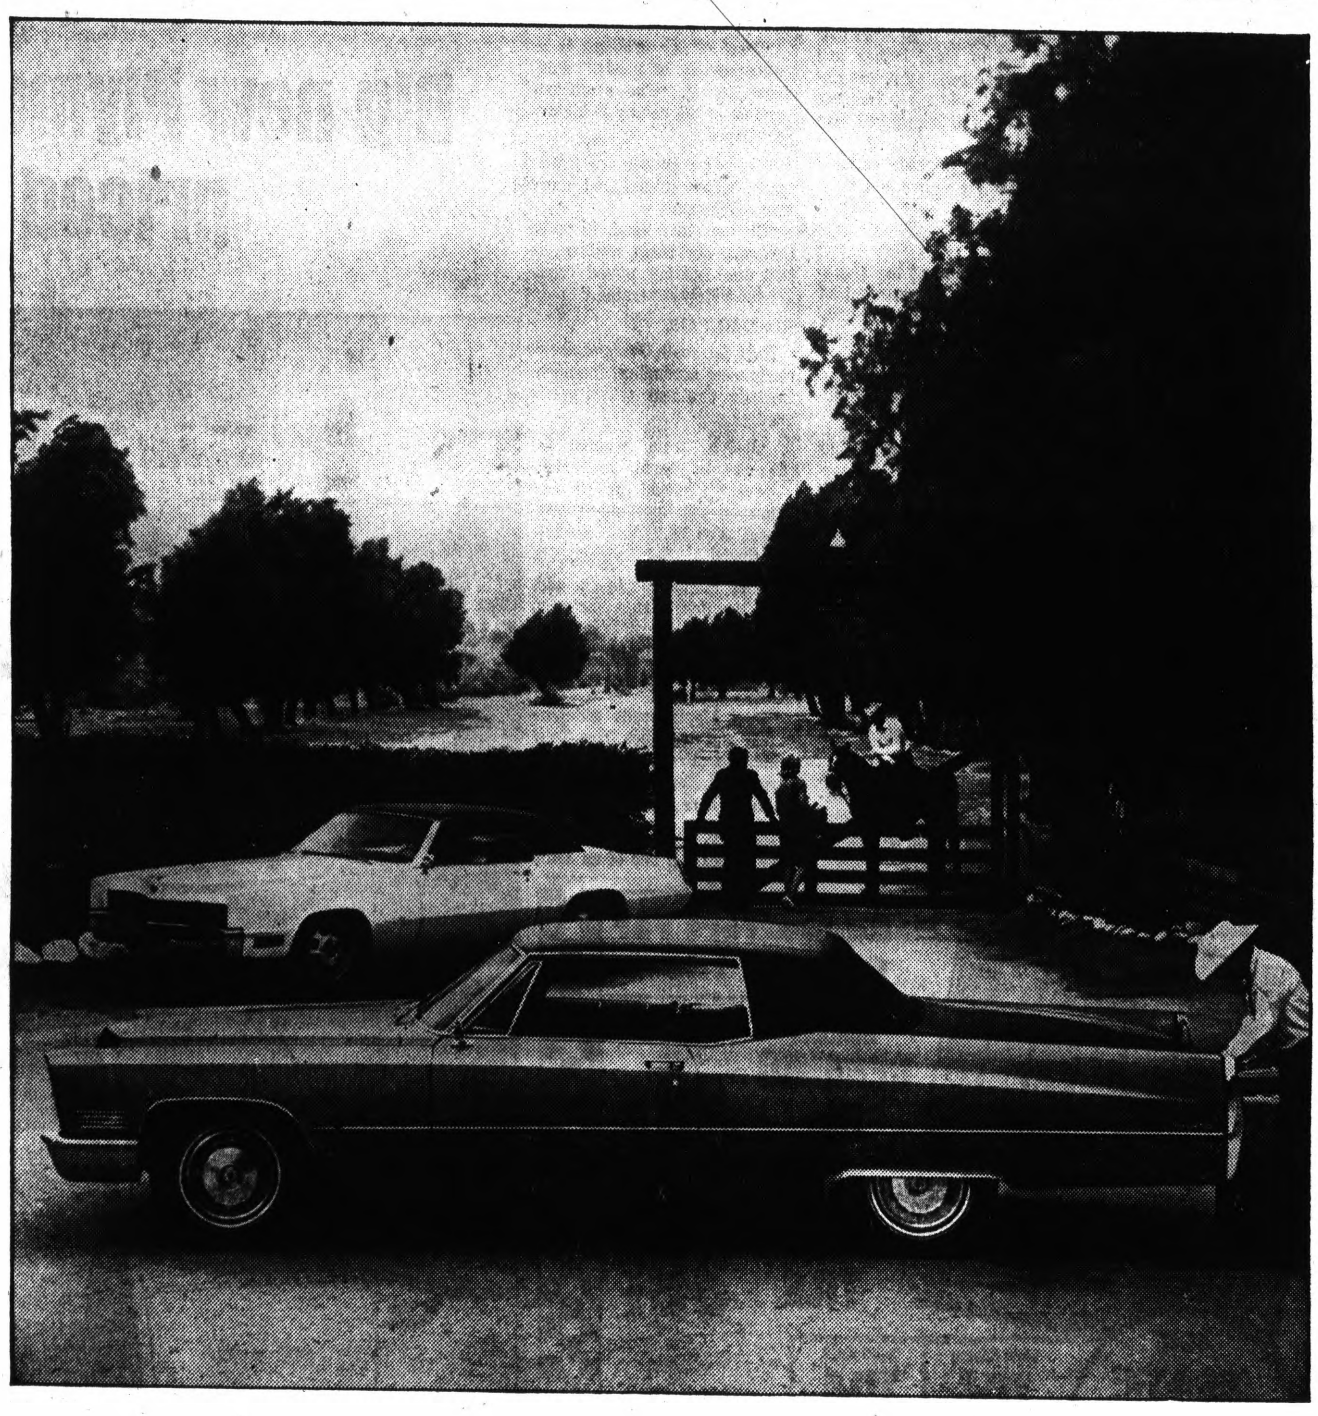

"Sure, I saw it coming. But I took it in good grace. Hell, who knows, maybe I even grew in stature. The actual power may be gone, but my influence is not a damn bit diminished."

The difference is that outside the party's inner circle, the influence—that raw make-way-and-get-things-done power — has crossed the thin line to another kind of deferential treatment.

"Yeah," Halleck said, wrinkling up his famed potato nose, "I get that elder statesman bit more and more now."

REP. CHARLES HALLECK

Will you pay the price of a Cadillac...and not get one?

Literally thousands of people are driving cars that cost as much as a Cadillac—yet provide far less in motoring satisfaction, distinction and lasting value. A few minutes with an authorized Cadillac dealer and a few miles at the wheel of a Cadillac can prevent you from making this unnecessary compromise. The fact is, if you're planning to buy in the medium-price range, an investigation could show that you are very close to a Cadillac in cost. And it is generally acknowledged that a Cadillac holds its value so well that it actually costs less to own than many lower priced cars. Right now, your authorized dealer has a fine selection of models and colors—with all the advanced engineering, superb performance and many safety features that make a Cadillac a Cadillac. Every year you wait is costing you its price in personal pleasure and satisfaction.

County Road Commission Aide

Engineer's Key Woe: Money

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the last in a five-part series on Oakland County roads.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

What are the problems of a county highway engineer?

Paul Van Roekel, chief engineer for the Oakland County Road Commission, has a neat collection of headaches.

Most add up to too little money to do what's needed.

"Our money averages about $2 million a year for road construction and maintenance," said Van Roekel.

"This $2 million is just pathetically small and the level (of revenue) has remained fairly constant for the past five or six years."

MAINTENANCE

Any increases in revenue, according to Van Roekel, have been eaten up by increased road maintenance needs rather than construction.

"A study made seven yars ago estimated it would take $200 million for the county to build all the roads we will need over a 20-year period," he said.

"At our present rate, we'll spend $40 million in that 20-year period.

★ ★ ★

"Walton Boulevard is one of our big worries right now," said Van Roekel. "Walton should be widened all the way from Rochester to Dixie Highway.

TOO BI GA JOB

But that's too big a job for the county roads budget this year or next.

"We hope funds will be available in 1968 to do two parts of Walton," he commented. "One is rebuilding the present two-lane thoroughfare to a four-lane divided highway along the north side of Oakland University to the east of Pontiac.

"The other is widening from two to four lanes west of Pontiac between Clintonville and Silver Lake Road.

★ ★ ★

"Then there's Elizabeth Lake Road in Waterford Township. We're widening it to five lanes from Telegraph to Lynn to handle increasing Pontiac Mall traffic this year.

MORE WIDENING

"But what we really need is widening to four lanes from Lynn to M59 to completely solve that traffice problem," he said. The cost is estimated at $250,000.

"Part of our problem is a wide variety of needs," said Van Roekel. "The southeast section of the county is highly developed.

"There we need more traffic lanes, wider streets and more turn movements.

"On the other hand, in north Oakland, our main problem is that the existing paved roads are too widely separated."

ROAD REPAIR

Thus, the south Oakland paved roads need expanding; the north Oakland dirt and gravel roads need paving.

"Joslyn, from Waldon to Clarkston Road in Orion Township, should be paved. That would probably cost about $230,000," Van Roekel continued.

"East Maple should be widened to four lanes between Coolidge and Livernois in Troy. The present estimate on that job is $600,000.

★ ★ ★

"West Maple needs widening to four and five lanes from Telegraph to Franklin Road in Bloomfield Township. The cost estimate here is $300,000."

ARE CONCERNED

Van Roekel is one of an army of concerned officials at all governmental levels who support legislation being urged by the Michigan Good Roads Federation.

That legislation, discussed in a preceding article in this series, would provide the county road commission with an additional $1.2-million per year in revenue.

"We'll be in tough shape if we don't get it," Van Roekel concluded.

Some communities are already in tough shape.

PAUL VAN ROEKEL

Supercity of Year 2000 Could Feature Superslum

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director National Urban League

A recent Ford Foundation-financed study took a look into the future and its picture of the U.S. in the year 2000 is fascinating.

The study said that 60 per cent of the population will live in three urban belts — in California, in Florida, and in a supermetropolis stretching from the East Coast through the Great Lakes area in the Midwest.

YOUNG

This is all based on projection of current trends which show Americans flocking to the big cities and their suburbs.

What will life be like in these supercities just 33 years hence? Again, based on current trends, I think life will be awful. I say this because nothing much is being done to meet today's needs in providing decent housing for all who need it, and nothing is being done to stop the spread of the ghetto.

If life in 2000 is to be bearable, the nation must start now to end discrimination in housing and to build homes and apartments on a scale appropriate to the need. Of prime importance is a fair housing policy which would allow Negroes to live wherever they wished, instead of being forced into overcrowded slums.

Of equal importance are measures to upgrade existing housing in the ghetto and make it attractive to live and work there.

RECENT POLICY

One important step to prevent the spread of the ghetto is the new policy recently adopted by the Department of Housing and Urban Development which provides that low-rent public housing projects be built on sites which will encourage racial balance.

Now it will be harder for local authorities to build in the ghetto without considering alternative sites.

Edward Logue, director of Boston redevelopment, has proposed that slum-lords be denied tax depreciation on decaying buildings which don't conform to building codes, thus taking the profit out of the housing exploitation business.

★ ★ ★

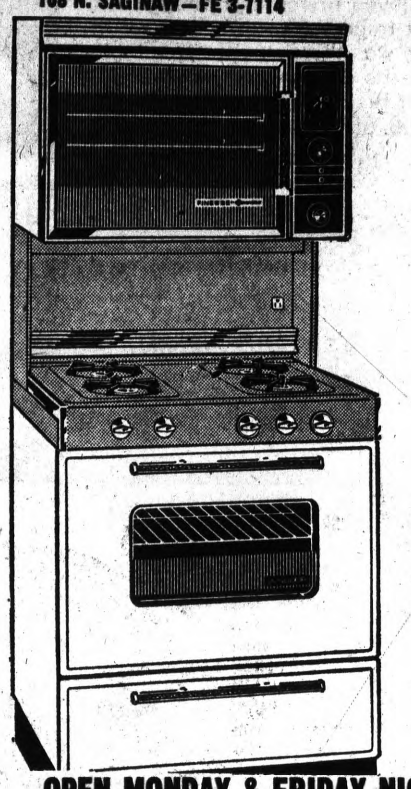

He also suggests that special tax benefits called urban investment allowances be given to attract legitimate businessmen and developers into ghetto areas, especially for owner-occupied slum property, encouraging its improvement.

ON INCENTIVES

Similar incentives are going to have to be developed if we are to get a housing industry which can meet the needs of the present, much less the needs of the supercity of the year 2000.

Housing needs are at least as important and, therefore, a national housing goal must be established. It should become the focus of a vast effort which will create a national housing industry to provide the housing the nation so desperately needs.

HONEYMOONERS — Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Risener of San Antonio, Tex., sit on the side of a New Orleans fire truck after their second honeymoon in 21 years was interrupted last Saturday when a blaze in their French Quarter hotel routed some 1,000 guests. No injuries were reported. Incidentally, Risener sells fire extinguishers and fire protection equipment.

He's a Born Criminal? You Could Be Correct

LONDON (UPI) — Scientists are studying evidence which suggests criminals can be born as well as made.

The possibility of an inherited leaning to crime has cropped up in scientific thinking before but it has been strictly a minority theory. Sociologists have overwhelmingly blamed social factors such as poverty or a disturbed family background.

Now new studies in Scotland, reported in Science Journal, have indicated that a genetic predisposition to crime may be incorported in the chromosomes, the carriers of the genes that determine hereditary characteristics.

Dr. W. H. Price of the Western General Hospital of Edinburgh and Dr. P. B. Whatmore of the state hospital in Lanarkshire, found the apparent predisposition in a study of male patients with a condition known as "polysomy" in which there are one or more extra chromosomes in every cell of the body.

★ ★ ★

Normal males have an X and a Y chromosome in each cell (XY). It has been known for some time that a high frequency of males in mental hospitals show a doubling of this — XXYY.

But at Lanarkshire, a maximum security hospital for patients who may be potentially dangerous, violent or criminal, the researchers found nine patients with a slightly different complement of chromosomes — XYY.

They also found these patients had a higher average of mental subnormality. In their criminal behavior, they seemed only to have considered the immediate consequences of their actions.

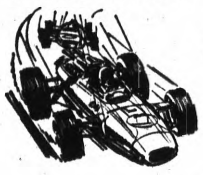

They embarked on crime at a very early age — three of them had convictions before reaching 10.

They also came from surprisingly law-abiding family backgrounds. There was only one case of a badly disturbed home life — an alcoholic father. Among their 31 brothers and sisters, only one had been convicted of a crime and then only once.

In contrast a control group of other patients with whom they were compared had 63 brothers and sisters, twelve of whom had convictions for a total of 139 offenses.

Drs. Price and Whatmore decided the basic trouble with the XYY group was apparently a personality disturbance which might reasonably be attributed to the extra Y chromosome.

'Star' Has to Be Expensive

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Unflappable Robert Wise has a ready answer when asked about the cost of his new film.

THOMAS

"It's extravagant," he says. "I'm not going to release any figures because they embarrass me. All I can say is that Gertrude Lawrence believed in extravagance, and that's the way we have to film her life story."

★ ★ ★

Wise did admit that the cost is in excess of his previous musical "The Sound of Music," which ran up a bill of $8 million. The sponsoring company, 20th Century-Fox, couldn't have been less concerned, since the movie is expected to bring in $100 million.

NO BLANK CHECK

And since the new Wise project "Star:" also boasts the talent of Julie Andrews, the Fox moneymen would be delighted to give the producer-director virtually a blank check. Fortunately, his training in the beehive at RKO does not allow any unnecessary expense.

"We save where we can," he commented during a lull in shooting a scene in which Miss Lawrence and Noel Coward—played by Daniel Massey, son of Raymond—apply for a job in "Charlot's Revue."

★ ★ ★

"But to give this picture the kind of scope we want, it has to be expensive. We have started shooting here in Hollywood, then we go to New York, to the south of France and London, then come back here to Hollywood.

"Our major problem was when to rehearse the musical numbers. The script was designed so that Julie is in virtually every scene. That gives her no time to rehearse the numbers. So we shot some of them at the beginning. When we finish shooting, we'll have to do what they did in the old days: shut down until we can rehearse the last two numbers. They are very important ones—'Limehouse Blues' and 'Jenny.'"

NEED FINALLY FILLED

The life of Gertrude Lawrence, brilliant star of the London and New York theater, had long been mulled over as a screen biography. But the project stalled for lack of a performer of the same luminescence to portray her. Julie Andrews obviously filled the need.

Casting was not the only problem. The film makers were faced with condensing a long career and an eventful personal life into two and a half hours of film entertainment.

"We couldn't rely on the public's knowledge of Gertrude Lawrence," Wise admitted. "I would estimate that 85-90 per cent of our audience will never have heard of her.

"That's true even in England. When I first started researching the film there two and a half years ago, a young reporter asked me about the project. It was obvious from his questions that he hadn't the slightest idea who Gertrude Lawrence was."

★ ★ ★

For those in the same situation: Miss Lawrence 1898-1952—was a London-born actress of vast charm, who starred in the original productions of "Private Lives," "Tonight at 8:30," "Lady in the Dark" and "The King and I" and made occasional films, such as "Rembrandt" and "The Glass Menagerie."

Details Disclosed on Peace Bid Failure

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — For more than four months, from mid-December to late April, President Johnson held U.S. bombers away from the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi in an effort to find out whether President Ho Chi Minh would open secret peace talks or take steps to scale down the war.

North Vietnam was informed of what Johnson was doing and was invited to respond.

★ ★ ★

The story of what happened, beginning last November with a Polish maneuver, now can be told as it is known in official Washington. It has been pieced together in a weeks-long check of various sources. It can be told now because the episode is closed, although officials believe some of the work done may contribute eventually to peace in Vietnam.

PARALLEL STEP

Through Polish and other diplomatic channels word was sent to Hanoi last December that if Hanoi would take some parallel step to descalate the fighting, the United States would be prepared to make other moves. Hanoi, campaigning to halt all bombing of North Vietnam, never accepted the offer.

The gambit thus failed and two weeks ago U. S. bombers struck again inside the previously forbidden Hanoi circle — 10 nautical miles from the center of the city.

★ ★ ★

The last previous time the bombs exploded so close to Hanoi's center, their blows fell in the midst of a peace probe initiated by Poland. Polish diplomats claimed that the bombing, Dec. 13-14, wrecked one of the most hopeful approaches to peace in the recent history of the war. U. S. officials refute the claim, but can't be sure.

Out of that failure, however, arose the four-month Hanoi bomb limitation.

HANOI VISIT

Events began with Januz Lewandowski, a Polish diplomat on an International Control Commission in Vietnam.

Late last November Lewandowski went to Hanoi and spent 10 days talking with diplomats and North Vietnamese officials. When he returned to Saigon about Dec. 1, he met secretly with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in the Italian Embassy.

★ ★ ★

Lewandowski told Lodge he believed North Vietnam was prepared to open secret exploratory discussions with the United States. He did not interpose the condition that the United States would have to call off unconditionally the bombing of the north.

The Polish diplomat gave Lodge a 10-point statement of topics and principles for the proposed talks. The statement constituted a Polish summary of what the United States would be willing to talk about, presumably based on published declarations and previous Lewandowski talks with Lodge. Lewandowski said the North Vietnamese were also willing to talk about these points.

★ ★ ★

The 10 points covered such topics as halting hostilities, independence of South Vietnam, the principle of U. S. willingness to withdraw forces when that independence was assured and the role of elections in organizing the government in the South.

There was also provision for discussing Hanoi's terms for a peaceful settlement as well as any other peace terms that might be thrown into the talks.

LBJ, AIDES INTERESTED

President Johnson and his advisers, quickly notified by Lodge, were interested in the possibility a serious opportunity for negotiations might be at hand. Polish diplomats had already told Americans they believed Hanoi was about ready to hold secret exploratory talks even though the bombing continued.

President Johnson decided that with some clarification the 10-point statement could serve as a basis for talks with North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

In about 48 hours Rusk instructed Lodge to inform Lewandowski that the United States was ready to talk and was interested in clarification. He also told him the United States was prepared to shift the contact to Warsaw and to meet there with a representative from North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

One point stated the United States would not insist that North Vietnam acknowledge publicly the presence of its forces in South Vietnam. The Johnson administration decided this should be clarified to require that if the troop issue was to be covered up for face-saving purposes then the North Vietnamese forces should be withdrawn from the south.

Lewandowski was informed of this and other clarification points. The others seemed mainly matters of wording. But this one was obviously substantial.

In Warsaw, President Johnson's ambassador, John A. Gronouski, received instructions making him the U.S. representative and briefing him on U. S.-Vietnamese policy.

★ ★ ★

Gronouski met with Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki and found Rapacki strenuously objected to any clarification on any of the 10 points. Rapacki warned against wrecking the whole action at the outset.

Between Polish and U. S. versions of the incident there is some difference at this point. The Polish view has been reported to be that the United States wanted to get its clarification before the secret talks opened. The Washington version is that the United States was making known its desire for clarification in the talks.

CAUSES CONCERN

Rapacki's strong resistance to the clarification proposal caused some concern in Washington where officials were not sure the Poles had any commitment from North Vietnam to go into the talks. Some high officials here doubted that Rapacki was in fact relaying U.S. views and readiness for talks to Hanoi.

Meanwhile, so far as can be determined from responsible informants, President Johnson sometime earlier approved air strikes close in to Hanoi with rail and truck centers as targets. Generally the United States had avoided strikes at the city.

★ ★ ★

Informants now say an important element in the administration decision not to suspend the bombing plan was an attack by Communist forces on Saigon's main airfield and an unsuccessful try to blow up a major bridge in Saigon.

Officials said diplomats are always moving about on one peace hope or another and that lack of a firm commitment for talks also was influential in the bombing decision.

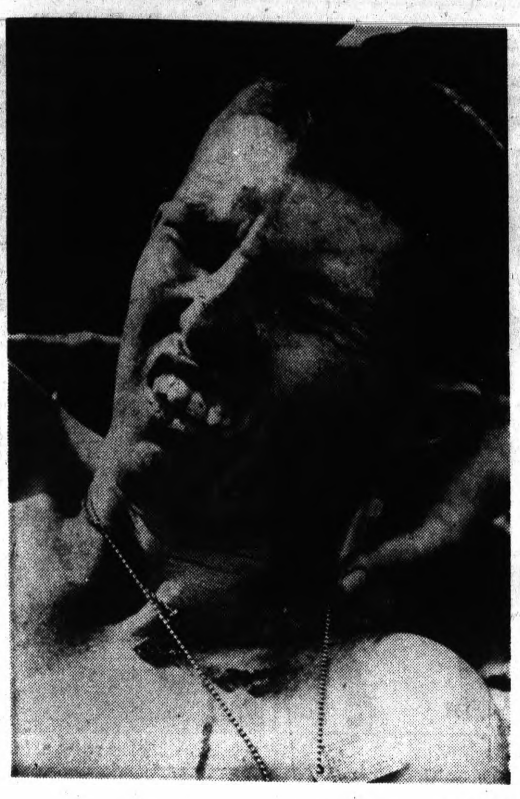

Furthermore, Johnson administration policy makers presumably were influenced by their own basic strategy of keeping heavy military pressure on North Vietnam.

PRICE OF WAR—A wounded American Marine winces as he is carried at the Khe Sanh base following evacuation from the battle zone around Hill 881 in the northwestern corner of Vietnam.

Brazil's 'Sleeping Beauty' Leaves Shadow of Death

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Brazil's "sleeping beauty" awoke recently from six years in the shadow of death and with her first words called for her father. He had been dead since Dec. 17, 1960, killed instantly in the auto accident that placed her in a coma.

Marilza dos Santos was a 21-year-old schoolteacher who had achieved considerable success on television as a singer when she went for an automobile ride with her father almost seven years ago.

Their car collided head-on with a heavy truck. Her father was killed and Marilza was pulled from the wreckage with seven broken bones and a fractured skull.

Pressure on the brain caused a coma lasting six years, nine months and 11 days.

★ ★ ★

Television fans followed the green-eyed singer's fight for life with absorbed interest. Newspaper stories hailed her as "The Jewel of Brazilian TV" and said, "a sparkling voice has been stilled; the hearts of three million Cariocas (residents of Rio de Janeiro) have been broken.

But the tiny brunette clung to life.

CLOT LODGES IN BRAIN

A blood clot lodged in her brain, and she was given up for lost. Her grieving mother, Clotilde, was led away weeping by doctors to await the end.

Then, on Sept. 28, 1961, Marilza fell into a deep sleep, an inert body on a white hospital bed staring wide-eyed into infinity.

Doctors rigged up a special feeding device, and Marilza slept away her long night.

"Incurable," said the medics.

★ ★ ★

"I never gave up hope," said Clotilde dos Santos. "My little girl came through one crisis with God's help. I knew she would come back to me. For five years, I waited for a miracle to happen."

SPOKE 5 LANGUAGES

Mrs. Santos said her daughter spoke five languages and taught kindergarten.

"She loved children," Mrs. Santos added. "We sent her through school to study psychology. I couldn't let such a life full of talent pass away sleeping."

Marilza was taken home, but her mother's love and care had no effect for five long years.

"Then, one day she flicked her eyelids," said Mrs. Santos, "and gently pressed my hand when I held her."

LADY AND THE TIGER—Mary Chipperfield Cawley stands beside a swimming pool with a 400-pound tiger in Miami, Fla. The tiger, named Suki, frequently swims with her. Mrs. Cawley is a member of England's famed Chipperfield circus family and is in Florida to promote a new venture—setting up a preserve, with more than 100 African lions, in Palm Beach County. He Enjoys Art 'fur' Reasons of His Own

NEW YORK (AP) — With the help of his chauffeur, Jacques Kaplan is putting the finishing touches on a totem-pole pile-up of animal heads; a bullet-ridden jaguar pelt with a winking green glass eye, and a skinny square of cat fur that undulates like ago-go girl.

Out front in his chic Fifth Avenue showroom, wealthy women in his fur designs preen in mirrors among the sculptures and paintings of America's leading contemporary artists.

★ ★ ★

Jacques Kaplan, famous furrier, and Jacques Kaplan, patron of the contemporary arts, is busy becoming Jacques Kaplan the artist.

Kaplan's customers have always taken in stride his zealous efforts to combine his fur and art.

KAPLAN THEORY

Last year, he commissioned Richard Anuskiewicz to create his eyeball-battering op art patterns and Morisol her audacious female nudes on the backs of his new fur coats. His theory had been that this would permit his clients to own an original work of art without depriving themselves of a new coat.

However, not all his artist friends are enthusiastic about having him as a colleague.

★ ★ ★

"They are afraid they may be losing a collector," says Kaplan with a purring French accent.

"They may be right. If I don't sell mine, I'll have to move their work to find room on my walls.

ASSURED SUCCESS

Kaplan is an ebullient man with wire-rimmed glasses, gaudy bowties, a stocky physique and a Long Island sand dunes tan. Though he is without any formal art training, he is an assured success, even before his exhibit opens tomorrow at the Waddel Gallery.

His "Extended Zebra," an op animal flattened steamroller-like on a white acylic painted canvas, has made the cover of an arts magazine. Another prestigious periodical plans to use a Kaplan fur art photo, too. Then, next July, the Iolas Gallery in Paris will make a big fuss over him.

His zeal about zebras inspired him to form a circle canvas called "Crazy, Mixed-up Zebra," partly painted, partly real animal. He has an "Exploded Zebra" too — "all opened up and blown out," he describes it.

Kaplan bounces from one shaggy, unpredictable creation to another, giggling like a prankish school boy every time one of his animated furs jumps, whirrs, shudders, pulsates, or lights up suddenly.

"My chauffeur is in charge of the motors," Kaplan explains in what seems a natural delegation of talent. A motor spins the outer rims of a many-colored Mongolian fur roulette wheel around a black and white center. Part of a motorized red lamb pelt jumps out at you. And a circle of shaggy fur lights up.

A tall problem is his six-headed totem pole.

★ ★ ★

"I tried to persuade the gallery above mine to cut a whole in the ceiling so that I wouldn't have to shorten the pole. I thought it would be terribly amusing, growing like a beanstalk into another man's exhibit," said Kaplan.

His neighbor upstairs was not amused.

California Man Discovers Way to Hold False Teeth

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — A new discovery called Acryline is big news. Users say it fits plates so beautifully they can't believe it. Acryline uses a startling new vacuum principle. It flows on plates and forms an air tight seal. Users say this feels akin to natural teeth. This wonderful feeling lasts six months before a new application is necessary. Acryline is available at all drug counters.

Jim: "After we beat you in the quarter finals it was easy going the rest of the way. That is if there is any such thing as easy going in a knockout match."

Oswald: "What is the principal feature of your team's bidding?"

Jim: "We like to get in the bidding early and often. We get into far less trouble that way than if we pass first and back in later. All of our contracts aren't guaranteed but even the best sometimes go wrong on defense. For instance, here is a game contract made by Ron von der Porten of San Francisco."

Oswald: "Most players would pass with his hand and it is just as well that Lew Mathe sitting North raised to four spades. They play limit raises and Ron would not have rebid over a raise to three."

Jim: "There was nothing to the play. West opened the ace of hearts and continued. Ron ruffed in dummy and led a diamond. East rose with the ace and played a club. Ron won in dummy, ruffed a diamond high, led a trump to dummy's eight, ruffed another diamond high, drew trumps with one more lead and was able to discard his last three clubs on the good diamonds and wind up with an overtrick since dummy's last trump was there to take care of his last heart."

Oswald: "What happened at the other table?"

Jim: "South passed his hand. East opened on fourth seat. South did overcall with a spade. West bid two hearts and North bid two spades to end the bidding."

Actor Is Jailed in Wife's Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Theodore Hekt, 61, a motion picture actor during the 1940s, was jailed on suspicion of murder after the death of his wife Jean, 45, in a hospital Sunday.

Police said friends of the couple found Mrs. Hekt suffering from multiple bruises and possible contusions. A few hours later, she died.

The couple had been married 21 years. Mrs. Hekt had been a dancer. Hekt was a cousin of Ben Hecht, the late author.

He has appeared in such movies as "Anna and the King of Siam," "Lost Weekend" and "Corregidor."

Clock Runs on Daylight Losing Time

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Some folks say the large revolving clock atop the Citizens and Southern National Bank has gone on daylight losing time.

Others say it's just keeping bankers hours.

When clocks were advanced an hour for daylight saving time, the C&S clock dropped back an hour from Eastern Standard Time, making it two hours slow.

"I can't explain it," said Ben D. Harvey, cashier.

"We had the thing set right the other day. I think its just a coincidence that it dropped back exactly two hours."

Magazine Is Critical of Pulitzer Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says the Pulitzer Prize advisory board turned down a recommendation by its journalism jury that the 1967 prize for national reporting go to columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

The magazine said Sunday the board picked instead two men who had not even been mentioned by the jury —Stanley W. Penn and Monroe W. Karmin of the Wall Street Journal. They were cited for their series on ties between U.S. organized crime and gambling in the Bahamas.

★ ★ ★

It was disclosed earlier that the board had rejected the jury's recommendation that Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times be awarded the international reporting prize for his dispatches from North Vietnam. R. John Hughes of the Christian Science Monitor was given the award for his stories on Indonesia.

Pearson and Anderson had been recommended for their series of columns on the financial affairs of Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., whose censure was asked April 27 by the Senate ethics committee.

'TEAPOT TEMPEST'

A board member, Erwin D. Canham, editor-in-chief of the Christian Science Monitor, said in Boston Sunday that it was standard procedure for one or more juries to be overruled. He called this year's excitement a "tempest in a teapot."

The New York Times said today that another board member, Newbold Noyes Jr., editor of the Washington Evening Star said in an interview: "Some people have a completely erroneous idea of what the juries are supposed to do. They're not supposed to be awarding prizes. They're just supposed to whittle down the entries from, say, about 100 to maybe five or six. They're called screening juries, after all."

The awards were announced last Monday.

Home Town Gives Rusk Civic Award, Peace Vigil

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk returned Sunday to the New York City suburb where he once lived to receive a civic award — and ran into a peace vigil.

More than 300 persons staged a silent peace vigil in the rain outside Scarsdale High School were Rusk was presented a Man-of-the-Year award Some 1,300 persons filled the school auditorium for the ceremony.

The vigil went on without a word spoken, without a banner shown. The vigil was not to protest the award "but the policies of military escalation in Vietnam pursued by the secretary of state and the Johnson administration," the sponsors said.

"We call for an unconditional halt to the bombing, immediate de-escalation and institution of a cease-fire as positive steps toward peace in Southeast Asia" they said.

MEETS PROTESTORS

After accepting the Scarsdale Town Club award, Rusk met for more than 1½ hours with 14 of the protestors. He termed their discussion "serious, sincere, and I must say I enjoyed it."

The demonstration leader, Herbert Robinson, a New York City lawyer, said: "We got the impression from Rusk that the United States is willing to risk World war III in order to protect what the United States considers the government of South Vietnam."

Robinson said he and other demonstrators were "terribly more concerned" over Vietnam after the talk with Rusk. "The administration is determined to carry on its present policies," he added.

When Scarsdale Mayor Malcolm A. MacIntyre presented the award, Rusk took note of the demonstration outside and anti-war protests elsewhere. "My breath is taken away by the boldness of you giving me this award," he said.

Hope Dwindles in Canada for Missing Girl, 10

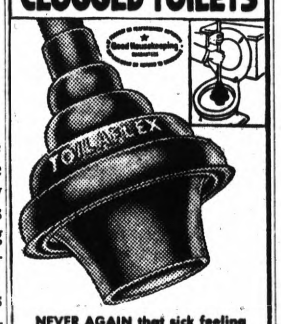

BURLINGTON, Ont. (AP) — The search for 10-year-old Marianne Schuett was called off Sunday night after police and volunteers spent the 20th day rechecking swamps and hills north of Kilbride.

A police officer said there is little hope the child, who disappeared April 27, would be found alive.

Police Chief Kenneth Skerrett said seven two-man detective teams would investigate all leads that develop.

Marianne was last seen April 27 entering a car described as a black Renault station wagon. All Renault station wagon owners are being checked by police from a list supplied by the auto company.

NEURITIS CAN BE CORRECTED

Neuritis is literally an inflamation of nerves. Pain is predominant, and since nerves supply every part of the body, it can be experienced anywhere. It can range from a dull ache to a sharp and stabbing sensation. The frequent use of sedatives is dangerous in that they afford only temporary relief without correcting the cause. The continued use of sedatives permits the condition to spread virtually unchecked, with the person unaware of the probable consequences. Neuritis is a condition which should be treated immediately by proper methods that reach and remove the cause. Chiropractic is unmistakably the most efficient means of combating neuritis since it deals primarily with the nerves.

Don't suffer any longer. Instead call your Chiropractor. FOR QUESTIONS ON OTHER CONDITIONS, CALL OR WRITE THIS OFFICE.

South, Midwest Jarred by Tornadoes

CHICAGO (AP)— Wide sections of the South and Midwest were jarred over the weekend by tornadoes that left death and destruction in their wakes.

Hardest hit were areas in six Southern states. One woman was killed and at least 25 persons were injured when tornado-like winds tore into the west side of Birmingham, Ala., Saturday night. Killed was Nora Peeler, 59, of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Tornadoes moved through four Midwestern states Sunday evening, inflicting damage to property but no severe injuries were reported.

Seven homes were destroyed Saturday night at Clay, Ky., by high winds that hit a corner of the community. Trees were felled and a drive-in theater screen was toppled as an audience watched. There were no serious injuries. Damage estimates ran as high as $250,000.

HEAVY RAINS

Rain Saturday drenched Lexington, Ky., where water was as deep as four feet in some sections. Some landslides, brought on by heavy rain, were reported in eastern Kentucky.

The municipal airport at Galesburg, Ill., was mauled by a twister Sunday evening that destroyed five light airplanes. One of them was blown a quarter of a mile. No one suffered serious injury.

Two barns were destroyed and two farm homes were damaged by a funnel cloud near Salisbury in north-central Missouri.

A tornado damaged several farm buidings near Davenport, Iowa, but no injuries were reported.

In South Carolina Sunday, the highway patrol said a tornado touched ground near Moncks Corner, about 25 miles north of Charleston. Minor damage and no injuries were reported.

Other tornadoes that caused no damage were reported at Rockford and Plasa, Ill., and Dubuque, Iowa.

★ ★ ★

Winds gusted to 78 miles per hour at Radford, Va., and to more than 50 m.p.h. in Roanoke City, where extensive damage was reported. Hail said to be the size of baseballs pelted South Hill, Va.

Locally heavy rains soaked areas from the upper Ohio Valley to the middle Atlantic states and southern New England.

GALE WARNINGS

Gale warnings were posted for Lakes Ontario and Erie and for the New England coast. Heavy rain and snow hit upstate New York. Snow and sleet fell from Main to the Pennsylvania highlands. Two inches of snow was on the ground at Burlington, Vt.

On the West Coast, California was bathed in sunshine Sunday.

'No Way to Estimate Loss of AID Funds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government agency which tries to watch how tax money is spent says there is no way to be sure how much material was stolen or otherwise misused in the Vietnam import program financed by the United States.

The General Accounting Office made the statement in a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee released Sunday night by Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

★ ★ ★

Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats said the money lost may be more than estimated by the Agency for International Development, which runs the program in South Vietnam. AID submitted a report on the subject to President Johnson Jan. 19. Previous governmental studies have indicated the loss has been considerable.

One consequence of the controversy has been a hassle in the Senate over Johnson's choice of Rutherford M. Poats, assistant AID administrator, to be deputy administrator. Poats has been in charge of the import program, and Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., contends he has mismanaged it.

NOMINATION PENDING

The nomination has been pending for several weeks.

Poats told Congress losses were unavoidable because there wasn't enough manpower to handle the program.

★ ★ ★

The GAO report said AID took steps in the last half of 1966 to improve program management so that AID could estimate "that in recent months no more than five to six per cent of all United States economic assistance commodities delivered to Vietnam had been stolen or otherwise diverted."

But, the GAO added, "in view of the lack of reliable accountability data, we believe that it would be most difficult to identify commodity losses with any reasonable degree of precision."

Mart Has Slight Upside Edge

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market maintained a slim edge on the upside in active trading early Monday afternoon.

Brokers said investors might be discouraged by a decline in both new orders and production in April for the first time in six years.

But they noted that a sharp increase in Government spending might be an offsetting factor.

★ ★ ★

Occidental Petroleum rose about half a point on a delayed opening and then eased back.

Trading in Kearn County Land also was delayed. Over the weekend, Occidental offered to buy 500,000 Kearn shares at 83½. Kern closed Friday at 63⅜.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained .7 to 331.3 with industrials up .9, rails up .2 and utilities up .6.

★ ★ ★

Prices advance on the American Stock Exchange. Teleflex and Talley Industries gained more than 2 points. Gale Industries, Dixilyn and Electronic Accounting were up more than a point.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS LEFT! LIMITED ENROLLMENT PERIOD ENDS MAY 14, 1967

Now...for people of all ages and families of all sizes—

Board of doctors announces a remarkable new extra cash hospital plan—expense-free, tax-free extra cash paid direct to you over and above any other insurance or Medicare—and, regardless of your age or size of your family, you can enroll for only $1.00!

AT LAST, HERE IS A PLAN THAT ACTUALLY PAYS YOU: ■ extra cash for sicknesses ■ extra cash for accidents ■ extra cash for maternity ■ increased extra cash for cancer, heart attack or stroke ■ extra cash doubled when husband and wife are both injured ■ all in addition to any other insurance or Medicare!

Now, during this Limited Enrollment Period, you can enroll yourself and all eligible members of your family with no red tape and without any qualifications whatsoever — but you must mail your Enrollment no later than Midnight, May 14, 1967!

Think of it. Now, simply by the stroke of your pen, you may enjoy the expense-free, tax-free protection of The Doctors Hospital Plan—the new "bonus" plan that pays extra cash direct to you when a sudden accident or an unexpected sickness hospitalizes you or a covered member of your family! And you may enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period—without having to see a company representative and without any red tape whatsoever!

Why You Need The Doctors Hospital Plan In Addition To Ordinary Hospital Insurance

The unique Doctors Hospital Plan was created by Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, an insurance company run by doctors. It has specialized in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists exclusively for more than 65 years. Now this fine old "doctors company" has created this remarkable new "extra cash" plan—and at a cost substantially less than you might expect!

Doctors know that ordinary hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply will not cover everything. Actually, even if your ordinary hospital insurance covers all your medical and hospital bills, what about all your other expenses—the bills that keep piling up at home—the tremendous and costly upset to your budget, your reserves, and your family life? Consider for a moment:

If you, as husband, father and breadwinner are suddenly hospitalized, your income stops, your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance" it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay. Where will the money come from for the rent or mortgage? For food, monthly payments, and all the other bills that keep on coming in while you're hospitalized?

If your wife is suddenly hospitalized, who will look after the family, do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? You may have to take time off from your job—or hire full-time domestic help—to take care of things at home.

If one of your children is suddenly hospitalized, you will certainly spare no expense. As a parent, you wouldn't even think of the cost.

If you're over 65 and are suddenly hospitalized, Medicare, fine as it is, won't pay all of your hospital expenses or any household expenses. Most senior citizens won't want to use up savings it may have taken a lifetime to accumulate...they want to retain their independence and not become a "burden" to their children or community.

Without "extra cash" protection, a hospital emergency may leave you with savings gone, debts you can't pay, peace of mind shattered—and even recovery can be seriously delayed!

Now, thanks to the valuable new plan created by a board of doctors, you can stop worrying!

How The Plan Protects You And Your Family

Now, with the unique "extra cash" protection of The Doctors Hospital Plan, you can avoid these worries—because you can be assured of extra cash income when you or any covered member of your family goes to the hospital. No matter how large your family, no matter what your age or occupation and without any qualifications whatsoever, you can choose any of four low-cost plans, specially tailored to suit your family's needs.

CHOOSE THE PLAN THAT SUITS YOU BEST—

You can enroll for only $1.00!

$10,000 MAXIMUM—ALL-FAMILY PLAN: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) extra cash for you. $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife. $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

$7,500 MAXIMUM—ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) extra cash for you. $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

$7,500 MAXIMUM—HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) extra cash income for you. $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife.

$5,000 MAXIMUM—INDIVIDUAL PLAN: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) extra cash for you.

If yours is a young, growing family, we recommend the All-Family Plan. You and your wife are covered at once for accidents, for new sicknesses after 30 days, and for maternity benefits after 10 months. And all your children (including future additions) between 3 months of age and under 21 are included at no extra cost as long as they are unmarried and live at home.

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the One-Parent Family Plan. This covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 21. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided in the One-Parent Family Plan.

If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the Husband-Wife Plan. Or, if you are living by yourself, choose the Individual Plan.

On all plans, your "extra cash" benefits are paid from the very first day you enter the hospital, for as long—and for as many times—as you are hospitalized, right up to the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of the plan you select.

SPECIAL EXTRA BENEFITS!

Whichever plan you choose, you get:

50% INCREASE IN YOUR CASH BENEFITS...if you or any member of your family is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis and coronary occlusion), or stroke (apoplexy).

If you choose the All-Family Plan or the Husband-Wife Plan, you get in addition:

DOUBLE CASH BENEFITS if both you and your wife are injured and hospitalized at the same time: You get twice the amount—$350 A WEEK!

Important: Here is another real "plus"—if you have been told that anyone in your family is "uninsurable"! Even if one of your covered family members has suffered from chronic ailments in the past—ailments that come back again and again, or are likely to recur—you will be covered for these pre-existing conditions after your policy has been in force for two years!

Naturally, The Doctors Hospital Plan will cover any new accident or sickness. Accidents are covered immediately. After your policy is 30 days old, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter. There are only these minimum necessary exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the All-Family Plan which covers maternity after the policy is in force for 10 months), war, military service, nervous or mental disease or disorder, alcoholism or drug addiction, or if something happens "on the job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Empoyers Liability Laws.

You are free to go to any hospital of your own choice that makes a charge for room and board, with these exceptions only: nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for treatment of tuberculosis, alcoholism, drug addiction, or nervous or mental disorder.

In addition to the extra cash hospital benefits, you get all these valuable "extra" features:

How Your "Health-Bank Account" Grows Each Month

Here's a wonderful benefit, no matter which plan you choose—almost like having an extra "Bank Account." When your policy is issued, your insurance provides up to $10,000, $7,500, or $5,000—depending upon the plan you choose. This is your "Health-Bank Account."

Then, every month your policy is in force, a sum equal to your regular monthly premium (including your first month) is actually added to your maximum! When you have claims, your benefits are subtracted from your "account." It's much like putting money in and taking it out of a bank account.

Enjoy Peace Of Mind And Security

For as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—and we guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state or until the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of your policy has been paid.

You Get Paid In Addition To Your Other Insurance Or Medicare!

Yes, The Doctors Hospital Plan pays you in addition to any other company's health insurance you carry, whether individual or group—even Medicare! Furthermore, all your benefits are tax-free! In some cases, you may come out hundreds of dollars "ahead." Of course, you may have only one like policy with Physicians Mutual.

Surprisingly Low Cost

Membership in The Doctors Hospital Plan costs considerably less than you might expect. You pay only $1.00 for your first month's coverage (regardless of your plan), then only $7.95 a month for the All-Family Plan; only $5.95 a month for the One-Parent Family Plan; only $5.95 for the Husband-Wife Plan; and the Individual Plan costs only $3.50. (When you become 65—or if you are over 65 now—special Senior Citizen rates apply. See the modest increase in the box following.) And remember, regardless of age, size of family or the plan you select, you get your first month for only $1.00!

SPECIAL NOTE IF YOU ARE OVER 65

Even though Medicare will pay most of your hospital expenses it will not cover all of your needs. During this limited enrollment, you can get the extra cash protection you need during the high-risk senior years without any qualifications just by using the form below!

It's a fact that people over 65 are greater risks. They go to hospitals more often and have larger hospital bills than any other age group. That's exactly why senior citizens need extra cash protection! And that's why some hospital plans won't accept them or charge rates beyond their means. But The Doctors Hospital Plan not only accepts you regardless of age, it gives you easy-to-carry protection that is within your means. If you are over 65 now, or when you become 65, the following modest monthly increase applies. (This is the only increase that can ever be made as long as you continue your policy in force):

Female on All-Family or Husband-Wife Plan	$2.25
Female on One-Parent or Individual Plan	3.00
Male on any Plan	3.00

19 Important Questions Answered

ABOUT THE NEW DOCTORS HOSPITAL PLAN

1. What is The Doctors Hospital Plan?
The Doctors Hospital Plan is a brand-new, low-cost health protection plan—that pays extra cash direct to you when a covered accident or illness hospitalizes you or a covered member of your family.

2. Why do I need The Doctors Hospital Plan in addition to my regular insurance?
Probably your present hospital insurance won't cover all your hospital expenses, but even if it does, you will still need help to cover all your household expenses when you are hospitalized.

3. Can I collect even if I carry other health insurance?
Yes, The Doctors Hospital Plan pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether individual or group—even in addition to Medicare! And all your benefits are tax-free! Of course, you may have only one like policy with Physicians Mutual.

4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?
None at all. Your only qualification is to complete and mail your Enrollment Form by the deadline date shown.

5. Which plan should I choose?
You may choose any of four low-cost plans—you can actually select the exact plan that suits you best!

If yours is a young, growing family, we recommend the ALL-FAMILY PLAN. You and your wife are covered at once for accidents, for new sicknesses after 30 days, and for maternity benefits after 10 months. All your children (and future additions) between 3 months and under 21 are included, at no extra cost, as long as they are unmarried and live at home.

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN. This covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 21. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided in the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN.

If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN.

Or, if you are living by yourself, choose the INDIVIDUAL PLAN.

6. If I become hospitalized, when do my benefits begin?
On all plans, your cash benefits are paid from the very first day you enter the hospital, for as long—and for as many times—as you are hospitalized, up to the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of the plan you choose.

7. How much can I be paid?
Each plan has its own "Aggregate of Benefits," what we call the maximum.

For example, under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, the maximum is $10,000—$100 a week ($14.28 a day) extra cash income for you; $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife; $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

Under the ONE-PARENT PLAN, the maximum is $7,500—$100 weekly ($14.28 daily) for you; $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

Under the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN, the maximum is $7,500—$100 weekly ($14.28 daily) for you; $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife.

Under the INDIVIDUAL PLAN, the maximum is $5,000—$100 a week ($14.28 a day) for you.

8. Are any additional benefits included in The Doctors Hospital Plan?
Yes. You receive a 50% increase in cash benefits if you or any covered family member is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis and coronary occlusion), or stroke (apoplexy).

9. What are the "double" cash benefits?
If you and your wife are both injured and hospitalized at the same time and are covered by the ALL-FAMILY PLAN or the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN, you get double cash benefits. You get twice the amount—$350 A WEEK!

10. Does this plan pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in any hospital that makes a charge for room and board, except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for the treatment of tuberculosis, drug addiction, alcoholism, or nervous or mental disorder.

11. When does my policy go into force?
It becomes effective the very same day we receive your Enrollment Form. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy is 30 days old, sicknesses which begin thereafter are covered. Under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, childbirth or pregnancy or any consequence thereof is covered after your policy is in force for 10 months.

12. What if someone in my family has had a health problem that may occur again?
Even if one of your covered family members has suffered from chronic ailments in the past, pre-existing conditions are covered after the policy has been in force for two years.

13. What conditions aren't covered?
Only these minimum necessary exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the ALL-FAMILY PLAN), war, military service, nervous or mental disease or disorder, alcoholism or drug addiction, or if something happens "on the job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.

14. Can't I drop out any time? Can you drop me?
We will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state or until the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of your policy has been paid. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.

15. Why is The Doctors Hospital Plan almost like having an extra "bank account"?
When your policy is issued, your insurance provides up to $10,000, $7,500, or $5,000—depending upon the plan you choose. This is your "Health-Bank Account." Then, every month your policy is in force, a sum equal to your regular monthly premium (including your first month) is actually added to your maximum. When you have claims, benefits are subtracted from your "account"!

16. Will my claims be handled promptly?
Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks sent directly to you.

17. Why are the premiums so low?
With The Doctors Hospital Plan, you actually get all these benefits—at such a low cost—because this is a mass enrollment plan, enrolling thousands of people at one time. Our volume is higher and our total sales costs are lower.

18. How much does my first month cost?
Only $1.00, regardless of your age, the size of your family or the plan you select. After the first month, if you are under 65, you pay only these low monthly rates: only $7.95 a month for the ALL-FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN; only $3.50 a month for THE INDIVIDUAL PLAN. (When you are over 65, premiums increase. See modest increase in box above.)

19. Why should I enroll right now?
Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

Cranbrook Wins Class B Crown

Chiefs Seek City Track Title After CMU Triumph

Pontiac Central, fresh from completing a sweep of prep track honors at Central Michigan University, will be trying to keep a perfect record intact tomorrow.

The Chiefs will be after the city championship at Pontiac Northern. PCH has never lost to Huskies since track competition started between the schools in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Central is a heavy favorite to continue the domination.

A dropped baton during the 880 relay gave PCH the Central Michigan Relays title Saturday. The Chiefs won the indoor version early in April.

Cranbrook took Class B honors.

Flint Central needed only a third place finish in the 880 to take the team crown. The Indians were running in that position when the baton slipped away on an exchange and Central was forced to go pointless in the event.

Bill Tipton anchored PCH to victory with Flint Northern second.

★ ★ ★

PCH piled up 62 points to 57 for Flint Central. Birmingham Seaholm was fourth with 34, Hazel Park fifth with 33, PNH sixth with 24, Waterford Kettering eighth with 14 and Waterford Township ninth with 11.

PCH picked up five firsts. The 880 quartet of Bob Johnson, Bill Brant, Wayne Bennett and Tipton was timed in 1:32.3.

★ ★ ★

Tipton won both hurdles, taking the high's in :13.55 and the lows in 18.4 — both records. His :13.55 was five-hundredths off the national prep record.

Earl Polk captured the pole vault by clearing 13-10 and the two-mile relay team of Bob Dickie, Ken Long, Les Johnson and Mike Martin won in 8:42.4.

Birmingham Seaholm's sprint medley team was first in 2:29.6. Members were Neal Magzallon, Don Borin, Bob Banter and Roger Holtz. Jim Labella substituted for Borin on the victorious mile relay team (3:28.8).

PNH's Mel Cole was high individual scorer in the meet with 14 points. He set a school record of 6-4 by placing second in the high jump and was runner-up in the high hurdles with a school standard 14.6. Cole was third in the long jump and low hurdles.

★ ★ ★

The senior star is expected to garner at least 16 points for PNH against Central tomorrow. Cole is favored in the high and long jump and should run second to Tipton in both hurdles. The meet starts at 3:30 p.m.

Cranbrook had too much speed for the opposition in CMU's Class B section Saturday. The Cranes picked up four firsts as they chalked up 58 points.

Alma and Howell were well back in second with 33.

Cranbrook won the distance medley, sprint medley and 440 relays. Stu Bloomberg won the long jump with a leap of 20-9½.

Tim Kelley of Oxford bettered a nine-year-old record in the 100. He was clocked in 9.95 seconds. Jim Drake, the great Lake Orion track star, set the former standard of 10 seconds in 1958.

Milford was third in Saturday's Davison Relays with 51 points. Kearsly won with 88.

Sparma Bubbles Over Win

Tigers' Hurler 4-0 Victor in Giving 3 Hits

Bengals in First Place All Alone Ahead of Chicago White Sox

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Sparma scooped up a handful of bubble gum from a box on the Detroit Tigers' clubhouse table and jammed it into his pocket.

"It's for my daughter, Debbie," he explained with a sheepish grin. "This was her first big league ball game."

★ ★ ★

Being three years old and a girl, Debbie probably thought more of the bubble gum than her daddy's three-hit, 4-0 pitching victory over the defending world champion Baltimore Orioles Sunday.

But for Sparma, "It was my biggest thrill in the big leagues.

"I've pitched better games but this was the biggest thrill," he said. "Our guys wanted to win this one real bad. I knew that. If you win two out of three in a series, you're only a game up. But three out of three that's something else."

The victory was Detroit's sixth in seven games with Baltimore this year and moved the Tigers a half game ahead of the rained-out Chicago White Sox in the battle for first place in the American League.

"Beating the Orioles six out of seven is bound to give us a lift," said Manager Mayo Smith.

"Joe had good control and a good sinker," said catcher Bill Freehan. "Everybody on the bench was talking it up and Joe picked up the spirit. We really wanted to win this one."

The Tigers picked up a run in the third inning on a single by Ray Oyler, a walk and Al Kaline's two-out base hit.

★ ★ ★

The roof fell in on Orioles starter Dave McNally in the fifth when Detroit scored three unearned runs without hitting the ball out of the infield.

Oyler drew a leadoff walk and moved around to third when McNally picked up Sparma's grounder and threw the ball into centerfield for a two-base error.

EJECTION NOTICE

Don Wert's bunt got past McNally for a hit, filling the bases. With a 3-0 count on Dick McAuliffe, the Baltimore southpaw was ejected from the game for disputing Umpire Jerry Neudecker's call on a pitch.

Relief pitcher Moe Drabowsky walked McAuliffe, forcing in the first run.

Al Kaline hit into a double play third to home to first but Drabowsky uncorked a wild pitch and Wert scored.

Drabowsky walked Willie Horton and Jim Northrup, refilling the bases. Bill Dillman came in to pitch and walked Freehan, forcing in the third run. Then Dillman got out of the inning when Norm Cash popped up.

Pair Flint Golfers Win Publinx Meet

By FLETCHER SPEARS

NORTHVILLE — A pair of Flint golfers brought their clubs here almost by accident over the weekend and captured the Michigan Publinx Golf Association's 36-hole Best-Ball tournament at Salem Hills Country Club.

Playing as a best-ball team for the first time, John Whaley, 30, and twice Flint amateur champion Gene Hunt, 27, teamed to fire a three-under-par 70-71—141 to lead a field of 103 squads over the 6,900-yard layout.

The two learned of the tournament a few days ago, getting the information from Whaley's brother-in-law, Dr. Wayne Kramer, the current state publinx champion.

Neither showed much interest, but Gene came out with a half-hearted "You want to enter?" to John, and John, in much the same tone, came back with "Okay."

★ ★ ★

Whaley, who sells new travel trailers and used cars, had an unusually hot putter over the cool weekend which spelled victory when he added it to the steady play of Hunt, a member of the data processing staff at AC Sparkplug in Flint.

SOME HELP

But darkness and Salem Hills pro Robert J. Szilagyi helped also.

"We know something probably most of them didn't know," Whaley was saying after the round. "The pro told us about the trees which line the fairways and they're used to tell distance, so we knew that much before playing."

Whaley and Hunt finished well before dark, but one of the twosomes that shared second a stroke back at 142 finished in the dark and it could have been different in daylight.

Sharing the runner-up spot were Jim Smith of Burning Tree and Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, along with Tom Stevens of Hickory Hollow and Allan Thompson of Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Stevens and Thompson played the final two holes in the dark, gaining pars on both of the holes to close with a 67 that tied the low score of the tournament.

CLOSE CHIP

And in gaining the tie, Thompson, whose second shot stopped in front of the green, chipped the ball five inches from the cup and tapped it in for a par.

★ ★ ★

Whaley and Hunt carded seven birdies in the two days of play, with Whaley knocking in the birdie putt on five occasions. He rapped home a 60-footer on Saturday and added a couple of 20-footers yesterday.

Dr. Kramer, who has won the state publinx crown two years in a row, joined fellow Flint player Dick Marr in firing a 146.

Former Pontiac City Champion Dick Robertson, a member of the Bald Mountain publinx team, joined Ray Palmer of Grosse Ile to card a 145.

Defending champions Joe Brisson and Bob Ryan, both of Indianwood, were well back in the pack with a 147.

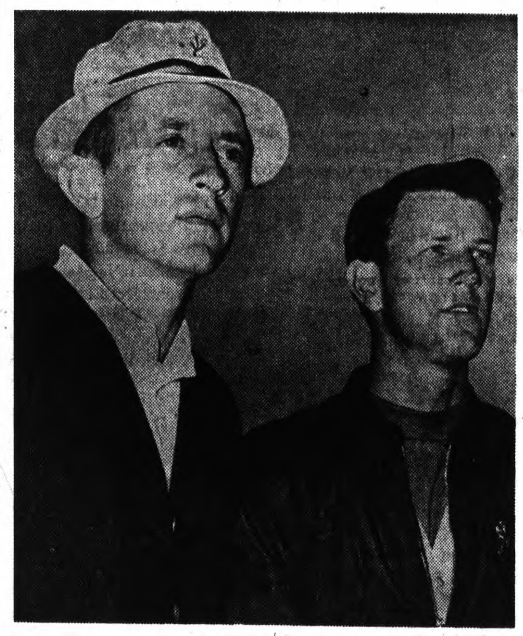

The biggest collapse of the two-day affair was turned in by Red Run duet of Chuck Byrne and Tom Draper. They were redhot in posting a 67 on Saturday, but disaster struck yesterday and the birdie holes on the first day were bogie holes the second round and they soared to a 79 (146).

The current Pontiac City Champion, Paul Bada, played with Glenn Vallance and they turned in a 150. The two also won last year's city best-ball tournament.

Clyde Lunsford and Ernest Gambos posted a net of 65-63—128 to win the handicap division.

NCAA Places Illinois on Two Years' Probation

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois, still groggy from Big Ten penalties for a $21,000 athletic slush fund, was slugged Sunday with two years' probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

★ ★ ★

During the probation period, Illinois' football and basketball teams are prohibited from engaging in post-season competition and the football team cannot make commitments for television appearances.

★ ★ ★

However, two scheduled football shows this fall will not be affected since the commitments were made prior to Sunday's crackdown by the NCAA.

★ ★ ★

The NCAA action climaxed a six-month ordeal during which Illinois coaches Pete Elliott, football; Harry Combes, basketball; and Howard Braun, basketball assistant, were forced to resign and 14 athletes were declared ineligible, five of them permanently.

UNTIL 1969

The NCAA's move will prevent Illinois from participating in the basketball playoffs and Rose Bowl games until the school returns to good standing, which would be no sooner than May 7, 1969.

★ ★ ★

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the penalty could have been stiffer had it not been for cooperation received from the school, which exposed the fund, and the action taken by the Big Ten, which forced the resignation of the three coaches.

Eaglets Drop Track Verdict

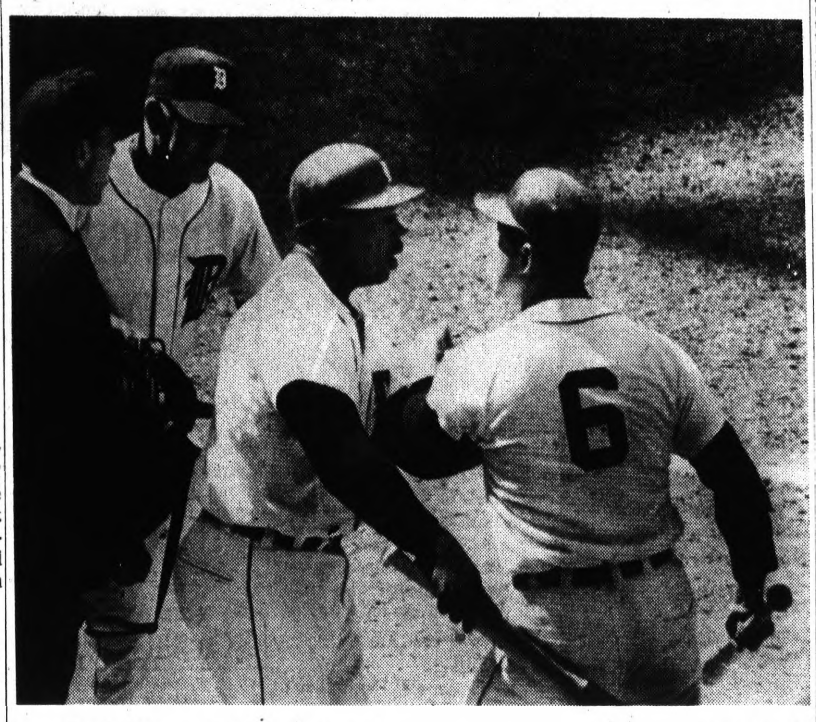

Four first places in 13 tries weren't enough Sunday and Orchard Lake St. Mary dropped a 65½-52½ dual track meet at Roseville Sacred Heart.

Eaglets Rich Mrozinski (19-1 in the long jump), Bob Przeslawski (4:59.4 mile run), Ed Pomazanko (:16.6 high hurdlers) and Al Domiczek (:57.6) posted the first-place finishes for the visitors.

OL St. Mary now is 1-4 overall and winless in two league outings. Sacred Heart remains undefeated.

City Officials to Meet

The Pontiac Officials' Association has its vote on all amendments to the constitution by-laws at 7:15 p.m. today at the Parks and Recreation Department in City Hall.

Grand Jury Indicts Clay

Draft Refusal Brings Charge

Cassius to Surrender at Marshal's Office

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted Cassius Clay today on a charge of refusing to be drafted into the Armed Services.

Conviction on the charge could send Clay to jail for as long as five years.

★ ★ ★

Clay was stripped of his world heavyweight boxing championship April 28 when he refused to take the traditional step forward at the Houston Armed Forces Induction Center.

The center is just six blocks from the Federal Courts Building, where the Grand Jury met today and returned the indictment in the court of U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally.

Grand Jury action had been rumored over the weekend, although U.S. Atty. Morton Susman had said April 28 that it might take 30 to 60 days for the government to start formal proceedings against Clay, also known as Muhammed Ali.

STATEMENTS

There was indication that the quick action resulted from Clay's public statements before April 28 had left no doubt that he would not step forward.

Quinnan Hodges, Clay's Houston attorney, said Clay would be surrendered soon at the U.S. marshal's office.

★ ★ ★

Hodges and Hayden Covington, a New York lawyer, have appealed a federal court ruling that rejected Clay's plea that he is exempt from draft status on grounds that he spends 90 per cent of his time as a minister of the Black Muslim faith.

Covington has said Clay will never see the inside of a jail, and has indicated the court fight will last from 18 to 24 months.

Susman told Connally he would have no objection for bail being set and Clay's being released to the custody of Hodges.

Beard Does Repeat in Defeating Arnie

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank Beard, the Louisville, Ky., slugger of the fairways, can only say that what he has done on the pro golf tour this year is beyond "my wildest expectations." Twice, he has won tournaments by beating Arnold Palmer with birdies on the last hole.

Beard, 28 just a week ago, dropped an 18-footer for a bird Sunday to best Palmer, golf's alltime money winner, by one stroke to win the $115,000 Champions International Golf Classic.

Three weeks ago, he did the same thing—sink a last-ditch birdie—to beat Palmer in the prestigious Tournament of Champions. He picked up $23,000 here and $20,000 in Las Vegas.

Winning second, Palmer banked $13,800 for a total of $87,073 on the 1967 tour. Masters champ Gay Brewer, No. 2 on the list, finished out of the money, at 296. Doug Sanders, third, withdrew the last day because of a cold.

★ ★ ★

Beard has won a total of $54,987 in 1967. Last year, he won $66,041.

THREE BEHIND

He began the day three strokes behind Palmer, who had held the lead for the two previous days. U. S. Open champion Billy Casper was second, two strokes off Palmer's pace, but shot himself out of contention by hitting water on No. 12 and 14, for double bogies.

★ ★ ★

Beard ended with a four-round total of 274, ten under par, firing a 67 on the heavily Wooded 7,118-yard Cypress Creek course the last day. Palmer managed only an even par 71 for 275, alone in second place.

Pole Vaulter Paces C. Day to Second

Paced by Bob Davenport's record in the pole vault, Detroit Country Day finished second Saturday in the Linden Relays.

Linden took the crown with 55½ points. The Yellow Jackets were second with 41, Montrose was third with 37½ and Ortonville Brandon fourth with 37.

★ ★ ★

Davenport cleared 11-5¾ to break the old mark of 11-1. Country Day's medley relay team of Jeff Wilson, John Means, Dave Swift and Pete Risdon won in 3:43.4.

Ortonville shotputter Ron Waller shattered the record with a heave of 52-6¼. The Black Hawks also won the two-mile relay (Larry McPhail, Barney Brown, Dave Madrigal and Wayne Wills) in 9:06 and the mile relay (Dave Tuttle, Gary Burt, McPhail and Wills) in 3:50.

Flood Gets Record in 5-4 Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With one batted ball, St. Louis, Curt Flood gained a record, but the Cardinals lost the game.

The ball, hit by Don Kessinger in the ninth inning, skidded off Flood's glove in center field and drove in Clarence Jones with the run that gave the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory Sunday.

The play, however, was ruled a single for Kessinger, and center fielder Flood had his 206th consecutive game without an error, a National League record.

★ ★ ★

"I'll probably never forget that play," said Flood, who hasn't made an error since he fumbled Harvey Kuenn's single Sept. 2, 1965, also against the Cubs at Wrigley field.

"It would have been a heck of a catch had I been able to make it. Sure, it's good having the record, but it would have been much better having a victory to go along with it."

★ ★ ★

Bob Gibson struck out the first two Cubs in the inning with the game tied 4-4, but Jones batted for rookie pitcher Rich Nye and doubled. Kessinger, not considered a long ball hitter, then drove a liner over Flood's head in center.

The 5-foot-9 speedster turned, raced back and leaped in the air, but the ball struck his glove and fell away as Jones scored the winning run.

OLD MARK

The 29-year-old Flood didn't grab it, but he did snare the record. Tony Gonzalez of Philadelphia held the old mark of 205 consecutive errorless games, compiled between 1961 and 1963.

Don Demeter holds the major league mark of 266, set with Philadelphia and Detroit from 1962 to 1965. Demeter, however, had 449 chances—putouts and assists—in his streak. Flood already has 506.

He would prefer, however, that total to be 507.

In the only other game played in the National League, Atlanta defeated Cincinnati 5-3. Rain inundated Houston at New York, Los Angeles at Philadelphia and San Francisco at Pittsburgh.

★ ★ ★

Atlanta got some surprise hitting from Woody Woodward, who was starting for the first time since April 18 when he was benched for weak hitting. Woodward drove in two runs with a pair of singles, his second and third hits of the season, Pete Rose and Tony Perez homered for Cincinnati.

Sholty Is First

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Poplar Evalynda, driven by George Sholty, won the $38,716 Lady Maud Stakes for 3-year-old pacing fillies at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday. Ravina Hanover finished second and the favorite, Meadow Elva, third.

Derby Winner Not Unnerved

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Proud Clarion did his homework so well that just a fraction more than two minutes after the Kentucky Derby started, school was out for 13 other top 3-year-olds.

"He's kind of delicate, nervewise," trainer Lloyd (Boot) Gentry said Sunday morning in the Churchill Downs' stable area while discussing John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm-owned winner of Saturday's 93rd running of the Derby.

★ ★ ★

But Boo's father once told him how to calm a temperamental thoroughbred, and Boo remembered. He schooled him in the paddock.

This means taking a horse to the paddock, getting him ready as if he were going to race and then letting him listen to the crowd noise before returning him to the stable.

The noise didn't bother Proud Clarion Saturday, and his competition didn't either.

The 30-1 shot stormed over the 1¼ miles in 2:00 3-5, finishing a length in front of Barbs Delight with 8-5 favorite Damascus another 1¼ lengths back.

THIRD FASTEST

Only two colts, Northern Dancer in 2 minutes flat in 1964, and Decidedly in 2:00 2-5 in 1962, have run the Derby faster, and only two have rewarded their backers better than Proud Clarion, who brought a mutuel win payoff of $62.20. Donerail won at $184.90 in 1913 and Gallahadion at $72.40 in 1949.

Proud Clarion's victory caused the only commotion of note on a rainy day at the Downs as demonstrations by advocates of an open housing ordinance failed to materialize.

★ ★ ★

Some 2,500 National Guardsmen, city, Jefferson County and state police were on hand to insure a smooth running.

"Wednesday and Thursday we schooled him in the paddock with blinkers and saddle and the whole shooting match," said Gentry, 42, who hails from Covington, Ky.

"The first time I had him over there he almost shook apart. I could hear his teeth rattle.

"But Thursday he settled down some, and he thought it was dry run when he went over there yesterday," Gentry said with a smile.

FIRST LOOK

Something else also happened to Proud Clarion in the paddock 15 minutes before the race. For the first time he came face to face with Robert Nelson Ussery, 32, the man who was to ride him into a permanent place in racing lore.

Ussery didn't get the mount until 48 hours before the race and then he had to get released from a riding assignment at another track.

Proud Clarion, who Gentry said could have been purchased for $50,000 less than two months ago, was a non-winner at two years old and never had won a stakes before Saturday.

Athletics Fail to Take Pair; Fans Don't See Homer

By The Associated Press

The lure of Mickey Mantle's shot at his 500th career home run drew 19,125 fans to Kansas City on a cool Sunday. One group in the right field corner had a big banner drapped over the railing. It read: Go Mick 500.

The fabulous veteran, often moving gingerly on his heavily taped, aching legs, had eight shots at No. 500. He didn't make it, but the fans gave him an ovation each time up. He walked twice, was 1-for-6 and got his only hit on his final trip, batting right-handed.

★ ★ ★

Another historic event seemed possible early in the second game — the first doubleheader sweep for the A's over New York in the club's 13 years in Kansas City. The A's won the opener 4-1 behind Jumbo Jim Nash and led 1-0 after one in the second game, with Catfish Hunter, club leader with a 1.65 earned run average, on the mound.

★ ★ ★

That one didn't materialize, either, as the Yanks knocked out Hunter in the third, broke loose for 14 hits and an 8-3 victory.

Al Downing got his third victory, but his first in a starting role. He had a two-hitter until a 25-minute rain delay robbed him of much of his effectiveness.

Dooley Womack finished, but surrendered his first earned run of the season and was rapped for four hits in 2 1-3 innings.

The split moved the Yanks into third place at 10-9.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere, California shut out Washington 5-0 on Jim McGlothlin's two-hitter; Boston checked Minnesota 9-6, and Detroit whipped Baltimore 4-0. Chicago's game at Cleveland was rained out.

★ ★ ★

Home runs by Jim Fregosi and Bobby Knoop backed the brilliant pitching effort of California's McGlothlin, who struck out nine in recording his first major league shutout. Doubles by Fred Valentine and Ed Brinkman were the only hits off the 24 - year - old right - hander, who hurled a three-hitter in his last start.

★ ★ ★

Boston's Rico Petrocelli lashed a two-run single in the seventh, breaking a 5-5, tie, and two more runs scored on Ron Clark's throwing error, enabling the Red Sox to end a four-game slide as well as Minnesota's four-game winning string.

PNH, Kettering Split Saturday's Twinbill

Pontiac Northern and Kettering flexed their muscles in the late innings Saturday in dividing a doubleheader.

Lefty Jack McCloud had a handful of scouts ooing and aahing over his curve ball as he fanned 16 and limited PNH to four hits in pitching Kettering to victory in the opener, 2-1.

Northern came back behind the pitching of Don Hayward and a seventh-inning rally to take the nightcap, 4-2.

A two out single by Mark Curry, his second of the game, brought Jerry Harkey home with the winning run for Kettering (11-2) in the eighth inning of the opener.

★ ★ ★

Trailing 2-1 going into the seventh frame of the second game, PNH came up with three runs to earn a split.

The big blow in the seventh was a triple by senior Art Jackson that sent Russ Patterson and Dana Coin home with the tying and lead runs. Jackson scored moments later on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Tony DeLaRosa. PNH is now 5-2.

City Keglers Share Prizes

Two Pontiac teams finished in the money and a local bowler claimed a trophy in Sunday's Michigan Blind Bowlers State Tournament at Huron Bowl.

The 4-Dees of Saginaw were crowned state champions and Lansing Recreation took second place.

Pontiac's Perry Drugs team, third last season, finished fifth yesterday and the Pontiac League of the Blind Team grabbed seventh place money.

Jim McClain of the Perry squad claimed the trophy for the totally blind male bowler finishing the most pins above average.

Following the bowling at which 47 teams from around the Lower Peninsula competed, a dinner and annual business meeting was held at Airway Lanes' banquet room with approximately 250 gathering.

Notre Dame Discovers Punter in Legendary Way

By the Associated Press

Notre Dame's national championship college football team has come up with a barefoot punter in virtually the same way that Knute Rockne discovered the legendary George Gipp.

★ ★ ★

Rene Torrado of Miami, Fla., the barefoot punter, was unveiled by Coach Ara Parseghian in Saturday's Varsity-Oldtimers game that finished the Irish spring drills.

Playing with the Oldtimers, who took a 39-0 walloping, Torrado got off four 50-yard punts.

"He just showed up in spring drills and said 'I want to show you that I can kick'" Parseghian beamed. "He took off his shoes and stockings and showed me. He said he had kicked barefooted all through high school and he could get five more yards that way instead of wearing a shoe. I didn't argue with him."

Rockne, the famed coach who first brought national prominence to the Irish 50 years ago, discovered Gipp on the campus in a somewhat similar manner.

★ ★ ★

The Notre Dame Varsity vs. Oldtimers was just one of numerous intra-squad games that have become annual affairs winding up the grind of spring practice for the collegians.

PASSING SHOW

Among the star performers were Bob Anderson, Colorado quarterback, who completed 11 of 18 passes for 181 yards; Bob Warmack's running, faking and throwing for Oklahoma; Frank Patrick, a 6-foot-7 Nebraska quarterback and offensive tackle Mike Wempe of Missouri.

★ ★ ★

Veteran quarterback Kim King of Georgia Tech threw three touchdown passes, back Bill Baker of Tennessee ran back a punt 64 yards, Leroy Keyes of Purdue got loose for a 78-yard touchdown run, quarterback Phil Hagen of Minnesota threw four touchdown passes and Bill Long of Ohio State connected on 16 of 21 aerials in other standout performances.

Knee in Question for Spartan Back

EAST LANSING (AP) — Bob Apisa's injured knee remains a question mark in Michigan State's 1967 football fortunes and the search continues for a replacement for kicking specialist Dick Kenney.

Apisa worked out Saturday in a spring scrimmage while senior Mitch Pruett tried his foot at kicking.

"Apisa was hitting well, but he still hasn't got all his speed back yet," said Coach Duffy Daugherty.

★ ★ ★

Pruett, from Benton Harbor, hasn't tried kicking since his high schools days but showed good distance on kickoffs. His extra point accuracy was described by coaches as only fair.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Michigan State swept a doubleheader from Illinois Sunday 7-2 and 5-4 on home runs by Mel Behney and Tom Ellis in the first game and a bases-loaded double by Tom Binkowski in the nightcap.

The games were played Sunday because they had been rained out Saturday. In an effort to get Saturday rainouts in, the Big Ten is experimenting with Sunday games. This was the first one.

In addition to his homer in the first game, Behney limited the Illini to five hits. Binkowski drove in two runs in the final inning of the second game to wipe out a 4-3 Illinois lead.

Michigan's doubleheader at Purdue was postponed because of rain.

Car Racer Continues Critical

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Italian race driver Lorenzo Bandini, severly injured and burned in the Monaco Grand Prix Sunday, remained in critical condition today.

Doctors said that they still had some hope for his recovery, although they were unable to make a definite prognosis for another day or more.

Race officials reported that Bandini's Ferrari slammed against the straw bales bordering the route along the Grand Prix course. The car flipped over, hit an electric lamp pole and caught fire.

Bandini was caught in the blazing wreckage and could not be taken out immediately. A foam type fire extinguisher was used to douse the flames. He finally was extricated and rushed to a hospital.

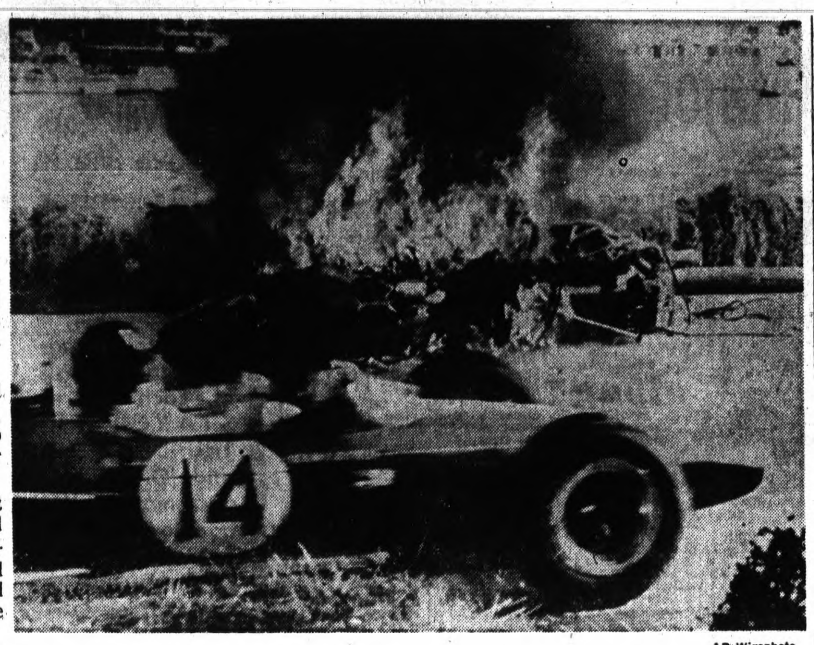

SECOND PLACE

Bandini was burned over about 80 per cent of his body.

The accident occurred on the 82nd lap of the 100-lap race. Bandini was in second place at the time.

Dennis Hulme of New Zealand won the 195-mile race for formula one cars in a Repco-Brabham at an average speed of 76 miles per hour. Graham Hill of Britain was second in a Lotus and Chris Amon of Australia third in a Ferrari.

Only six of the 16 starters finished the race.

Miss Mann Takes Win Pledge

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Tall Carol Mann left a hospital where she had been taken for treatment of a pinched disc in the back and won the $12,500 Tall City Open Golf Tournament because she had made a pledge to herself.

In one of the greatest showings of courage and determination the women's golf tour has known, the big blonde from Olympia, Wash., played the final round of the tournament Sunday with two caddies. One carried her crutches (she couldn't sit down while resting between fairway shots) and the other her golf bag.

She also was under medication and remembers little of the final round of one-under-par 71 that won a duel with the great Mickey Wright and the tournament with 214 for 54 holes. She beat Miss Wright, golf's all-time leading money-winner, by two strokes.

Miss Mann has been having trouble with her back since she was 17, but it didn't grow serious until 1965 when she was practicing at the National Open in San Diego. She bent over to pick up a ball and had a seizure.

"People are supposed to have five vertebrae under this lower disc," she said. "Well, I only have four and the strain is too much at times."

KEPT PLAYING

The back continued to bother her, but she kept on playing. In the last tournament of the year in 1966—at Pensacola, Fla.—it got so bad she started taking treatments.

She consulted a physician who gave her some capsules to take —three a day— and that kept her going although she was in pain much of the time. But she knew she eventually was going to have to have an operation.

"I was home in April for two weeks and decided I would try to play the rest of the year and then have the operation," she said.

★ ★ ★

"I also pledged to myself that I would play as well as I could and make improvement each week until I got to winning. Well, I was fourth at Raleigh, tied for third at Shreveport and here I am first."

Sunday, she was awakened by a loud knocking, which she thought was on her door — it really was down the hall — and she sat up quickly.

"I have a certain way I am susposed to move and I came up wrong," she said.

She had to call for help, was rushed to the hospital but just wouldn't stay—she left at 12:35 p.m. and arrived at the Midland County Club course in time for a 1:30 p.m. teeoff.

Facilities for Olympics 80 Per Cent Complete

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Facilities at Mexico City for the 1968 Olympics are 80 per cent complete but South Africa isn't nearly that close to having its entry sanctioned by the International Olympic Committee.

The IOC, meeting here Sunday, directed a three-man mission to visit South Africa in August and report to President Avery Brundage by the end of September on that country's racial situation.

South Africa has a national policy of racial segregation but a report recently submitted by Frank Braun, the country's Olympic chairman, indicated a relaxation of discrimination in the nation's Olympic team.

J.W. Westerhoff, secretary general of the IOC, said the report had not been made in time for the mssion to make its visit in February as originally planned. The new dates for the study will prevent South Africa from competing in the pre-Olympic sports week in Mexico later this year.

Fourteen African nations already have denounced the changes in policy as insufficient and threatened to boycott the Olympics if South Africa is allowed to compete.

Meanwhile, Pedro Ramierz Vazquez, chairman of the Mexican organizing committee, showed IOC members a 15-minute color film on Mexico's progress for the Games.

Vazquez reported preparations 80 per cent complete and said that two separate high speed routes have been constructed between housing and competition sites.

Mexico City is planning on housing some 16,000 athletes, officials and press representatives of the Games.

Proposed Troop Pullout Is Peace Step to Dem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today that the projected withdrawal of 35,000 U.S. troops from Europe should be viewed as "an initiative for peace" which could open the way to substantial withdrawals on both sides.

★ ★ ★

The Montana Democrat, with 43 other senators, is sponsoring a resolution urging President Johnson to make "substantial" cuts in the U. S. forces committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

A special subcommittee, headed by Mansfield, has been holding hearings on the proposal.

Mansfield's comments were directed at the agreement between the United States, West Germany and Britain on military forces in Europe.

★ ★ ★

He noted that, with dependents included, more than 100,000 Americans will have been withdrawn from France and West Germany by the end of next year.

The senator said he hoped the Russians would respond to the withdrawal "not with indifference, but with an act of peace on their part." He said there was no question but that a "reciprocal reduction" by the Soviets would help lesson tensions in Europe.

"It could very well open the way to additional military reductions by both countries on the continent," he said.

Involved are more than 200 junk and unlicensed vehicles. Police cautioned persons on more than 30 streets throughout the township.

Delay on U.S. Laws for East Trade Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects for congressional action this year on President Johnson's proposal to expand East-West trade are dismal, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today.

Indicating he had discussed the matter with the White House, Mansfield said in an interview he thinks President Johnson is willing to have his proposal explored in hearings this session and await possible later action on it.

Johnson has said his East-West trade proposals are "carefully designed to be used only when it is clear that our interests are served."

His program would give the same tariff treatment on non-strategic goods to the Soviet Union and Eastern European nations as are granted to others if the action would further U.S. interests.

WAR MATERIAL

Many Republicans and some Democrats have argued it makes little sense to trade with the Soviets when they are stepping up shipment of war material to North Vietnam. For this reason, Mansfield said the outlook for action "looks dismal."

"There is a stop, look and listen attitude on the part of the administration and Congress on this and other matters," Mansfield said in explaining delay in passage of major legislation.

★ ★ ★

"We are taking a little more time than usual to take a careful look at all major legislation. The committees are doing an excellent job and we should be getting our teeth into it soon."

★ ★ ★

Police are further investigating the accident.

Soviet Union Balks on Viet Talks in UN

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Sunday blamed the Soviet Union for not allowing the Vietnam conflict to be considered in the United Nations.

Appearing on the CBS radio and television program, "Face the Nation," Goldberg said of the Soviets, "I wish they would join the United States in putting full force behind working out an honorable solution in Vietnam."

★ ★ ★

Goldberg also said that probes were made every day to sound out possibilities for negotiation of the Vietnam war.

"They are being unremittingly pursued with the same vigor with which the war is being pursued," he said. "Diplomatic efforts can't always be public."

The Best of His Ad-Libs Recalled by Funnyman Joe

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Comedian Joe E. Lewis returned to Broadway and though he's in semi-retirement, we went to the Friars and to the Waldorf to cheer Gordon MacRae . . . and I asked Joe about his greatest impromptu funny lines.

WILSON

"A man who has $11,000,000 is just as happy as a man who has $12,000,000" . . . "I was feeling lousy in the hospital, then I took a sudden turn for the nurse" . . . To a ringsider who had fallen asleep at his table: "I didn't mind you going to sleep while I was doing my act but you hurt me when you didn't say good night" . . . To Jackie Gleason when Jackie was still poor but able to heckle: "Jackie, you belong in Hollywood, and the walk will do you good." And, when Jackie heckled back, "Jackie, you are not obliged to answer me and so far neither are you equipped." And Joe E. also christened Ed Sullivan, "The Man With the Golden Gums."

Though not working much nowadays due to the slight stroke he suffered in Las Vegas last year, Joe E. has no worries, financially, because his great Chicago friend, U.S. Judge Abraham Lincoln Marovitz, persuaded him to save his money—and quit gambling.

Connie Stevens cheerfully told me that she and Eddie Fisher are closer to marriage than ever before. Connie flew to Hollywood and Eddie surprised her by flying out to join her—and they did a joint appearance.

On Broadway as everywhere, there's often a Woman-Behind-the-Successful-Man, who can be beautiful, unpublicized, and his inspiration. Today's Big Town B.W. is Jani Kipness, wife of Joe Kipness, proprietor of the Hawaii Kai and Kippy's, a real stunner.

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Flip Wilson claims air pollution is affecting spring in the city: "Today I saw a robin graybreast."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Of all the intricate and difficult sciences, marriage is the least understood."—Arnold Glasow.

EARL'S PEARLS: Norby Walters says he was ordered to cut out wine, women and song: "Not by my doctor—by my accountant."

Pretty Susan Bottomley, a regular visitor at Arthur, wears a miniskirt that seems to get shorter every night. "Pretty soon," said a viewer, "it'll be just an eyepatch." . . . That's earl, brother.

Teacher Turned Actress Dead of Cancer at 54

NEW YORK (AP) — Judith Evelyn, who abandoned a teaching career to star on the Broadway stage, died of cancer Sunday at Roosevelt Hospital. She was 54.

★ ★ ★

A native of Seneca, S.D., Miss Evelyn was reared in Canada. She received a BA degree from the University of Manitoba at Winnipeg in 1932 and an MA degree there a year later. She decided on an acting career after a summer with a Chautauqua group.

★ ★ ★

In 1941, she was hailed by Broadway critics for her performance in "angel Street," in which she appeared with Vincent Price.

Other plays in which she starred included Chekhov's "The Sea Gull," "The Shrike," "Craig's Wife" and "Streetcar Named Desire."

FILM CREDITS

Miss Evelyn also appeared on television and in movies. Among her screen credits were "The Tingler,' "Hilda Crane" and "The Egyptian." In 1951 she starred opposite Charlton Heston in the CBS television presentation of "Macbeth."

Last year, the actress returned from Italy after having resided abroad for several years.

Body Discovered

ROCHESTER, Ind. (AP) — The body of a Michigan man was found Saturday in the Tippecanoe River. A fisherman discovered the man, identified by police as Rudolph A. Zelmer of Eau Claire, two miles north of here. State Police said Zalmer had been missing from his home since April 19. They said his car was found near where the body was found.

WIDOW CHARGED — Mrs. Mary Julia Parkin, of Jacksonville, Fla., was charged with murder after police discounted her story that a mysterious intruder killed her dentist husband, Dr. Wilford B. Parkin, in a Thursday gun battle. Sgt. H. D. Nelson accompanied Mrs. Parkin and her daugther, Nancy, 18, to the Duval County, Fla., sheriff's office at Jacksonville.

AP Editor Gets Author's Citation

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Dale Burgess, Indiana state editor of the Associated Press, won a special citation for distinguished writing Sunday at the annual Indiana Author's Day luncheon at Indiana University.

Burgess was cited for his book, "Just Us Hoosiers," a history of Indiana.

March Slated in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— Louisville open housing leaders say they are planning to return to the city's Wyandotte Park area tonight after a Kentucky Derby free of demonstrations.

The area where housing advocates say they'll march is in the South End, scene of scattered violence and mass arrests on several nights two and three weeks ago.

Then, hundreds of hecklers threw rocks and eggs at the marchers and at police, but there were no serious injuries.

At most recent demonstrations in the South End, police began arresting marchers before the activities could get started.

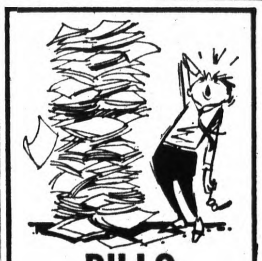

WITHOUT INCIDENT

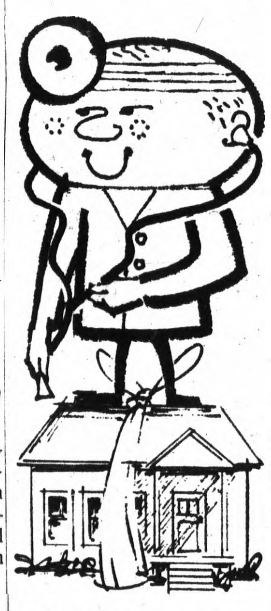

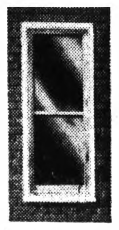

The 93rd Derby was run Saturday without incident after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. announced just before the thoroughbred racing classic that no organized marches were planned.

King, who arrived to take charge of Derby week activities, said threatened demonstrations were called off as a "gesture of good will."

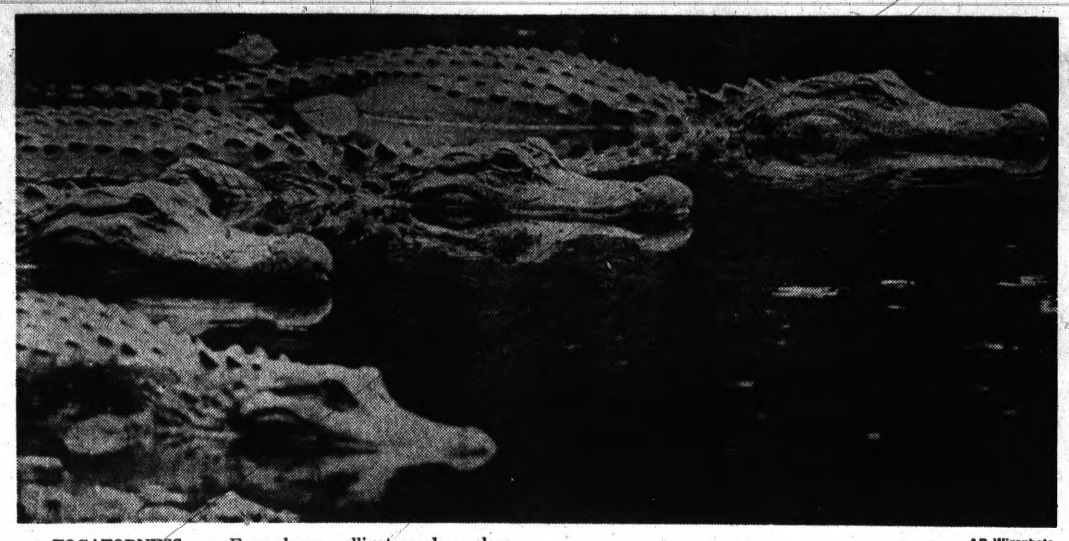

Widow Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Rose Attalla, 68, a widow, told police Sunday she was robbed of nearly $1,000 in cash and jewelry. Mrs. Attalla said a man held her up as she came home from church, forced his way into her house at gunpoint, and took cash and jewelry.

TOGATORNESS — Four large alligators lay close together in a pond in the Everglades National Park in this unusual gathering. The long Florida drought has dried up many of the holes where the alligators normally live, causing them to gather in the few holes that still contain water.

Sergeant Ready . . . Then the Unexpected

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Bong Son, Vietnam—The rain had fallen most of the day and, by dark, the battery's position was carpeted with mud. Dan Miracle cursed the weather and kicked at the muck with his boot.

"Sergeant?"

Dan Miracle looked up. "Yessir!"

A lieutenant walked lightly around the edge of the bunker, his feet sliding. He was smiling. Drops of rain fell from his helmet.

★ ★ ★

"You ready to go home, sarge?"

"Only five more days," said Miracle.

"O.K. We'll send you out tomorrow."

"Back to camp, sir?"

The officer nodded.

"War's over for you," he said.

The young sergeant exhaled happily. At last. After 12 months and three weeks of it, he was through. Back to the base camp, muster out . . . and in a week or less, he'd be home, a blinking civilian.

"God," he mumbled, "it feels great."

It must have. Dan Miracle had more reason than most to be anxious for home. A year ago, just before he left Parkersburg, W. Va., for the war, he had married a longtime sweetheart.

★ ★ ★

"We only had three days," he told everyone.

Then he'd grin.

"But just wait'll I get home."

A BABY GIRL

Besides the bride, there was the baby that the sergeant had never seen. He had pictures of her and he displayed them. "My daughter," he said unnecessarily. He talked a lot about her.

Yet, with all the sentiment, the sergeant never let memories affect his soldiering. He separated the two. He was assigned to a First Air Cavalry artillery battery and carried at least his load.

He became, in truth, a top hand. His job was to elevate and traverse the tube on the 105 howitzer. He learned the process flawlessly and performed with a professionalism that belied his 22 years.

★ ★ ★

So proficient was he, in fact, he went up through the enlisted ranks at a comparatively rapid pace. He had only a three-year obligation in the Army and not many reach sergeant in that span.

PRESSED HIMSELF

It was a responsibility the young man refused to take lightly. And throughout his Vietnam tour he enthusiastically pressed himself and his men to complete all missions assigned.

And there were numerous missions. In 12 months and three weeks of it, the sergeant was in the field nearly 85 per cent of the time. In that period, his battalion shot more than a quarter of a million shells and his battery contributed 100,000 of them.

It had been a weary year and often a monotonous one. Gun-cleaning, clothes-washing, target-firing, letter writing, shaving in cold water, mosquito-slapping . . . and back to gun-cleaning again.

★ ★ ★

But it was nearly over. And as the rain snapped against Dan Miracle's face, he could not help gloating . . . "only five more days."

Miracle moved carefully around the gun bunker. The mud was hazardous for one thing and the weather had blotted out any moonlight.

But the sergeant knew the parapet well and he negotiated the sandbags, doing routine chores as the rest of the battery bedded for the night.

It was quiet.

A wind was blowing.

The time was 1 a.m.

★ ★ ★

The sergeant was standing near his gun when it happened. There was no forewarning. The whole thing was a nightmarish surprise.

UNSEEN MORTAR

From beyond the dark, an unseen enemy mortarman sent up a shell from his weapon. The explosive arched in quietly and battered the U.S. position with a thunderous clap.

The was a flash of light.

Then a drapery of black.

There was quiet.

Then sounds of pain.

The shell landed directly in a bunker. A couple of luckless soldiers were caught in the blast and were killed.

One of them was Dan Miracle who had five days to go.
