Fire Guts Sanders Building in Detroit

Thousands See Flames Cause $1,000,000 Loss

Ruins to Be Torn Down; Three Firemen Injured in Four Hour Fight

DETROIT (AP)—A million-dollar fire destroyed a six-story building in the downtown business district last night.

Three firemen were injured fighting the four-hour blaze. Thirty-five pieces of equipment fought the flames.

The 80-year-old building on Woodward Avenue housed the main store of the Fred Sanders Co., Detroit's largest confectionary chain, and a dress shop. Adjacent buildings suffered smoke and water damage.

About 100 persons were in a basement cafeteria when the fire was discovered. All were evacuated safely and without panic.

Fire Marshall Matthew H. McNally estimated the loss. He said the fire broke out about 6 p.m., apparently on the fourth floor where the Eaton ready-to-wear dress shop stores its packaging material. The cause was not determined.

Within minutes flames had enveloped the top three floors of the building and then spread rapidly to the basement.

Firemen estimated nearly 15,000 persons remained in the downtown area to witness the spectacular five-alarm fire.

Firemen today praised 25 sales girls who herded about 75 customers to safety.

The portions of the Sanders Building which still stand will have to be razed. Fire Commissioner James L. Mahon said the destruction of the building "is complete."

Fire Chief Edward J. Blohm battled the fire in formal dress. The chief was set to attend a battalion chief's retirement dinner when he was called on to direct the complicated fire battle with the aid of walkie-talkies.

The chief said they had to force one floor manager to leave the store. He said she was running madly from one cash register to another removing money. Firemen managed to drag her into the street as portions of the structure burst into flames.

The Sanders blaze was the largest Detroit fire in some years. The city's last five-alarm fire was July 22, 1955 when the Simms Lumber Co. was destroyed.

Cobo Maintains Silence

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo was back at his desk today after a four-week Arizona vacation, still non-committal about whether he'll seek the Republican nomination for governor.

Returning by plane last night, Cobo declared:

"If I can believe the people of Michigan sincerely and honestly want me to be a candidate for governor, then I will be a candidate."

Cobo, three times mayor of Detroit, said he will try to determine in the next few days whether the "draft Cobo" movement is truly statewide, rather than sectional.

Leaders of the draft move have collected nominating petitions bearing thousands of signatures.

Cobo said he will attend the Republican convention in Detroit Saturday "If I receive an invitation."

Discuss Possible Solution to Water Supply Problems

The possibility of Pontiac, Port Huron and Flint banding together to solve water supply problems was examined by City Manager Walter K. Willman yesterday, at a Michigan Municipal League meeting in Birmingham.

Willman was among seven city leaders exchanging ideas, plans and accomplishments of their respective cities in the sewer and water supply field.

A Flint councilman, David Magee, mentioned Flint's search for more water to supplement that of the Flint river, both for water usage and for diluting sewage.

Willman was explaining Pontiac's extensive research into ways of replacing the city's well-water supply, when he eyed the possible three-way partnership.

Of Pontiac's water now, Willman told the three counties' officials "It's hard, with a high iron content. It's not a satisfactory water for industry or for our people."

Bringing water from Port Huron and selling water along the line to other communities would cost about $29 to $30 million, he said studies indicated.

Pontiac officials have already talked of working with Port Huron on such a supply system.

Mayor William W. Donaldson of Pontiac was elected to head Region Four of the League for the coming year.

Passage Seen on Soil Bank Bill

Ike's Farm Measure Up Before House Vote as Parties Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's farm soil bank headed toward expected House passage today as party leaders dickered over possible compromise details.

Republicans were making conciliatory gestures, and Democrats already had given ground on some points at issue.

Chief proposal at issue was the President's disputed request for authority to pay up to 500 million dollars to farmers this year in advance of fulfillment of their soil bank commitments on next year's crops.

Republican leaders busily sought an acceptable formula that would upset Democratic opposition, but Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) declared last night that "no agreement" had then been reached.

ACCEPTABLE COMPROMISE

Republicans hope to win approval of what Rep. Halleck of Indiana, GOP floor leader, called an "acceptable" compromise which would place restrictions on prepayment authority.

In early tentative form, these restrictions would in effect establish standards of payment geared to farm expenses for putting land to grass or trees, or otherwise taking surplus acreage out of production for soil bank reserves.

In all-day huddles yesterday, Democrats continued to balk at any rewriting of the bill to give what they have termed a political advantage to the administration in a bid for the November farm vote.

Thumb Suckers Tip

BOSTON (AP) — Prof. Clifford L. Whitman of Columbia University offered a simple solution for child thumb suckers in a talk to the American Assn. of Orthodontists. He said if a child is taught to whistle it would take the thumb from his mouth and thus allow his teeth to develop normally.

Informants Tell of Arab Scheme to Murder Dag

Say Extremists Plotted to Blame Assassination on Israelis

JERUSALEM (INS) — A plot by Arab "suicide" commandos to assassinate U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and blame it on Israel has been reported by non-Israeli intelligence sources.

The sources, who refused to be identified, say the plot was hatched by a group of Fedayeen, Arab extremists who have formed well-trained commando units to fight Israel.

According to the informants, the plotters assembled Israel military uniforms and arms and forged a declaration in Hebrew that would have linked the killing to extremist Jews such as members of the Stern Gang held responsible for the 1948 assassination of Swedish Count Folk Bernadotte, Palestine mediator.

The plotters reportedly met in Jordan territory and planned to cross into Israel to attack Hammarskjold there.

Jordan's Arab Legion was said to have discovered the plot and seized the fake uniforms, arms and forged documents although the plotters escaped.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold told the Security Council today he has obtained new unconditional cease-fire agreements from Israel and her four Arab neighbors — Egypt, Lebanon, Syria and Jordan.

He told the Council in a "progress report" the next step in the uneasy Middle East situation is to re-establish full compliance with other sections of the general armistice agreements of 1949, which ended the Palestine fighting.

There are indications he may return in June to work for such compliance and put the cease-fire agreements on a more solid basis.

• • •

Hammarskjold thus completed the first part of the assignment given to him by the Security Council April 4. He filed his report to the Council president, Ambassador Joza Brilej of Yugoslavia, from Jerusalem, where he engaged in last-minute talks with Israeli officials.

He will go next to Cairo for a brief conversation with Egyptian officials and then fly to Rome. He is expected at the U. N. this

Assault Retrial Denied by Judge

Clifford Dye's Attorney Plans to Seek Appeal to Top State Court

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams today denied a motion for a circuit court retrial of Clifford B. Dye, former Fenton village attorney convicted March 1 of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

But Dye, 54, probably will not begin serving his 2-to-10 year sentence in Jackson State prison until after the State Supreme Court has ruled on the case.

Clarence B. Smith, Dye's attorney, said today he will ask the high court for permission to appeal as soon as a statement of facts in the case can be prepared from the 800-odd pages of official transcript of the nine-day trial.

Dye was convicted in the non-fatal shooting last Aug. 26 of William C. Clark, 27, following disputes between the two over management of a Fenton farm leased by Clark from Dye's sister.

Smith based the petition for retrial on alleged faulty instruction to the jury by Judge Adams, alleged prejudicial remarks by Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, and the fact that Dye was not permitted to testify to hearsay evidence of Clark's alleged tendencies to violence.

Dye's stay of execution under bond of $10,000 will be continued for 20 days, Smith said today. He said a new stay of execution will be granted pending the high court's decision.

Chamber Seeks Regional Status

Asks for Metropolitan Designation During Trip to Washington, D.C.

A movement to win official recognition of the Pontiac-Oakland County region as a standard metropolitan area was launched in Washington, D.C., yesterday when a Pontiac Chamber of Commerce delegation met with Federal officials.

The committee, headed by John A. Riley, Promotions Director of The Pontiac Press, formally presented the Chamber-supported request to Dr. Robert Burgess, director of the U. S. Census Bureau, for study.

The meeting was also attended by Congressman George A. Dondero who asked Burgess to give the request his "full consideration," citing the "tremendous growth" currently under way in the region.

Riley disclosed that the meeting is a major step in a movement which gained momentum early this year with the appointment of the special committee. He explained that other future conferences to present the Chamber's viewpoints are expected.

In defining reasons for the request, Riley pointed out that the Pontiac and Oakland County area is losing its identity as a well-populated and prosperous area because of its proximity to Detroit.

The two areas are currently classified as portions of the Metropolitan Detroit Region by the U.S. Census Bureau.

Pointing to the fact that Pontiac is the fifth-largest city in Michigan, Riley said that it is losing prestige and other benefits which go with a separate and prosperous community.

Dondero cited strides in community development, population growth, business and industry in asking for a thorough study by the bureau. Data concerning various aspects of the region were presented to Burgess at the same time.

The committee-members were part of a delegation which attended the national convention of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in the nation's capital.

Members of the Chamber committee include Riley, Howard O. Powers, Barney Crandell, Edward Novak and Ralph Eastridge. The delegation was made up of President George N. Petroff, manager John Hirlinger, Irving Stineman, Clyle Haskell, G. Wayne Gabert, H.Y. Levinson and Carl Bradley.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 42. The thermometer rose to 62 at 2 p.m.

Governor, State Officials Schedule Local 'Report'

Governor Williams and his traveling group of State administrative officials, who already have made "Reports to the People" of Kalamazoo, Kent and Macomb Counties, are scheduled to arrive in Oakland County Tuesday.

Thrice heckled by Republicans, who suspect the tours are strictly partisian, the Governor said Wednesday in Macomb County he has invited two Republicans in his administration to accompany the group.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, who has called the travels "political jaunts," said today he "would be glad" to attend future sessions, if he could find the time.

Clair L. Taylor, Superintendent of Public Instruction, said he had conflicting commitments on each scheduled state government day.

The Oakland County Democratic committee said yesterday both Republicans have been invited to the County Tuesday with the governor, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Secretary of State James M. Hare, Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh, Treasurer Sanford A. Brown and Auditor General Victor C. Targonski.

In Oakland County, the traveling officials will begin with breakfast in Pontiac's Elks Temple, proceeding to a town hall meeting in Oak Park High School and thence to Detroit for a WWJ-TV appearance.

After the televised "report to the people," the officials will separate, each being assigned to a different municipality in the county. Tours, meetings and dinners are scheduled.

After dinner, they will meet again in Pontiac's Lincoln Junior High School for a town hall meeting.

The County Democratic committee emphasized that any voter may attend the meeting and ask any questions he wishes from the floor. The meeting is set for 8:15 p.m.

Detroit Derby Entry Scratched After Injury

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Eighteen well-conditioned 3-year-olds, headed by the stretch-running Needles from Florida, were entered today for the 82nd running of the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby Saturday but the field was quickly reduced to 17 when one of the candidates injured himself.

There were no surprises as the trainers or their representatives paid the $250 entry fee for the richest of all derbies. It'll cost another $1,250 to be in the post parade Saturday.

The surprise came when a few minutes after Reaping Right was entered it was announced that T. A. Grissom's Louisiana Derby winner injured a leg in a workout and would be withdrawn. Nevertheless, it still cost the Detroit owner $250, according to Lincoln Plaut, a Churchill Downs steward. Reaping Right's name was the second in the entry box, following that of stablemate Invalidate, one of the few speed horses in the large field.

Bury Sen. Barkley in Paducah Today

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—The body of Alben W. Barkley, elder statesman and master wit, arrived in Paducah today for funeral and burial amid the picturesque setting of his hometown.

The special 10-car train bearing the late Kentucky Democrat senator and former vice president arrived at 12:30 p.m. from Washington. Funeral services were scheduled at 2 p.m. at the Broadway Methodist Church.

Virtually all activity halted in this river city of 50,000 as citizens paid homage to the famed native son who rose from McCracken County attorney to the vice presidency.

Approval Given by House Group for Next Year

Total Is $1.7 Billion Above Current Budget; Less Than Ike Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voicing concern over Russia's growing military might, the House Appropriations Committee voted today to give the Defense Department $33,635,066,000 in new money.

This is $512,784,000 less than the total President Eisenhower asked in his original budget last January and in a supplemental request last month for the bookkeeping year starting July 1.

But more than half of the reduction was made up of paper changes which the committee said would not affect specific military programs.

The committee said it expects that $276,319,000, of the cut will remain available in the form of foreign currency under mutual defense and occupation agreements.

The amount recommended is $1,741,833,374 more than Congress appropriated for the present year ending June 30.

The recommendations were contained in a bill which the House will consider next week. The Senate will act later.

The committee said emphasis during the coming year will be on airpower and new weapons "being phased in at an increasing rate."

The new money, plus funds carried over, would give the Defense Department 46¼ billion during the new fiscal year. It contemplates military strength of 2,865,200 in mid-1957, compared with 2,820,100 next June 30.

Here's how the new dollars would be shared among the services:

Army — $7,497,582,000, a budget cut of $263,843,000 but $167,629,000 more than this year.

Navy — $9,999,534,000, a budget

Reserve training buildings approved, on which the federal government will pay the entire cost, including $269,000 for Pontiac.

Detroit Widow Is Named American Mother of '56

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit widow whose busy hands have brought love and a happy home to 45 children is the American Mother of 1956.

She is Jane Maxwell Pritchard, who at 67 still spends nearly all her waking hours making a home for 17 lively girls who live in her rambling brick house on Detroit's East Side. All are children from broken homes, placed under her care by the Juvenile Court.

In past years, Mrs. Pritchard has been a foster parent to 17 other youngsters and reared 11 more, only one of them her own. All call her mother.

Her oldest "child" is an adopted daughter, now 43. The youngest of her formally adopted brood are a pair of 14-year-old twins. Her own son Dale is 38.

Almost from the time of her marriage to machinist Benjamin Pritchard 48 years ago, her home has reverberated with the shouts and laughter of children. Some stayed until they were married and held their weddings in her home. Others even took her name.

Busy as always, Mrs. Pritchard was sorting laundry when word came yesterday that a jury of the American Mothers Committee, meeting in New York, had chosen her as the outstanding mother of the year.

"I'm moved to tears," she said with a soft smile, then added quickly, "But I never want anyone to see my tears."

MRS. JANE M. PRITCHARD

"I've had an abundant life," she said. "I need no reward. When I see my married girls and their families come home, I know that all the work has been worthwhile."

Mrs. Pritchard will fly to New York next Monday to be guest of honor at the annual Mothers Conference.

Citizens League to Honor Ex-Police Officer Gilpin

Former Pontiac Police Lieutenant David Y. Gilpin will receive the Oakland Citizens League's outstanding service award May 15 for his part in breaking up numbers racket gambling in the county in 1944-49.

The award will be presented to Gilpin at the league's annual meeting at the Birmingham Community House.

Gilpin, 56, served 27 years with the Pontiac Police Dept. before his retirement on July 18 last year.

He headed the vice squad for eight years during which he received civic praise for his handling of numbers racketeers.

On March 5, 1947 he received a citation from the league for his part in "substantially aiding in destroying the threats of gambling in Pontiac."

Now associated with a real estate firm as a salesman, Gilpin and his wife live at 50 Neome Dr.

During his police career, he received four departmental citations for outstanding work in the performance of his duty. In 1945, the lieutenant's entire six man squad, received citations for "outstanding coordination and teamwork."

This meritorious service eventually led to the trial and conviction of a number of Oakland County racketeers.

DAVID Y. GILPIN

The award to Gilpin will be made by Mayor William W. Donaldson, former board member of the league.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs will be guest speaker at the meeting.

Benefits Periled, Union Claims

UAW Local President Meets With Officials on Pay Grievances

Some 1,500 employes of Pontiac Motor Division stand to lose guaranteed annual wage benefits due to lay-offs at the plants which have idled 3,000 workers, local union officials claimed today.

Charles Curry, president of Pontiac Motor Local 653, UAW, met last night with other officials of the union to draft a letter to UAW President Walter Reuther requesting a meeting between General Motors and the union to investigate pay grievances.

Curry said at present laid off workers are drawing only Michigan unemployment insurance.

The local claims the hiring of 2,367 new employes between July 1 and Dec. 16, 1955 has eventually resulted in laying off high seniority workers.

"If the company had not continued hiring into December 1955 or if they had heeded our warning on Dec. 19 to lay off temporary and low seniority workers, our higher seniority employes now laid off would have qualified for vacation pay and the GAW," Curry said.

Workers had to be employed May 1 in order to draw GAW pay, he added.

Farrell E. Roberts Tosses Hat in Ring

Recover Cannon Balls From Hillsdale College

ADRIAN (AP) — Twelve missing cannon balls are back in their cemetery resting place in Adrian after police recovered them in a Hillsdale College fraternity house.

Four husky fraternity pledges admitted they took the cannon balls, which were imbedded in concrete and weigh 1,100 pounds, as a hazing prank.

The youths chipped the balls free of the concrete after getting them to the fraternity house. They offered to pay damages and cost of replacing the cannon balls.

Cement Shortage Told

cut of $48,066,000 but an increase of $871,774,444 over this year.

Air Force — $15,479,125,000, a budget cut of $187,375,000 but an increase of $739,361,830 over this year.

* * *

The rest of the money in the bill was allotted to the office of the secretary of defense and to interservice activities, none of which was cut deeply.

The committee called for a "comprehensive and integrated" plan of scientific research to prevent Russia from overcoming "our present marginal superiority" in development of advanced weapons and equipment.

It called also for better use of the staff in the office of the secretary of defense, commenting that there are too many detailed instructions "apparently prepared in a vacuum in Washington." As an example it cited a detailed order on uniform standards for mowing grass.

COMPLAINS OF LEAKS

It complained about "continued leaks and premature disclosures of our military secrets" and said "drastic administrative action of some sort is in order."

* * *

Funds allowed the Army would provide for 1,045,300 men organized into 19 divisions, 10 regimental combat teams, and 140 anti-aircraft battalions. The Army, the committee said, is confident of its "ability to cope with any military problem of the atomic age."

* * *

Large Army allotments, in addition to the big items for pay, maintenance and operations, included 306 millions for the National Guard and 410 millions for research and development.

* * *

Funds voted for the Navy call for an active fleet of 1,005 ships in mid-1957, with 32 new ships being added to the fleet during the year. The 1957 shipbuilding program provides for 23 new ships, including 6 Forrestal type carriers, 13 smaller guided missile vessels, a nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser and 6 nuclear powered submarines.

* * *

The Navy would have 12,600 active aircraft during the year, with provision for an additional 2,000 airplane deliveries a year through the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958. Navy military personnel at the end of the year would be 672,000, plus 205,735 Marines.

MORE FOR B52S

Air Force allotments include funds to speed up construction of B52 bombers and expansion of the Air Force to 137 wings.

Russia's air threat, the committee commented, is growing steadily and the Soviet probably will equal the United States in offensive airpower capability within a few years unless domestic plane production is stepped up.

* * *

The committee approved the entire $6,048,500,000 requested for aircraft and related procurement, including $1,142,654,000 for guided missiles and $87,256,000 for missile components.

* * *

As an indication of why the Air Force needs so much money to keep in operation, the committee said it may cost "as much as $5,000" to get a fully loaded B47 bomber off the ground.

His report contained mostly background and a report of his efforts to stop the fighting and border incidents. He made no recommendations. He is expected to include some in his next report.

Michigan Man Dies in Rome

Albert Gibson, Official of State Icebox Firm Succumbs to Attack

ROME (AP) — A honeymoon trip in Italy ended yesterday with the death of Albert Gibson, 31, executive vice president of the Gibson Refrigerator Co. of Greenville, Mich.

Gibson suffered a heart attack Monday night a few hours after he and his bride, the former Nancy Moriarity of Grand Rapids, Mich., arrived in Rome. He died yesterday afternoon at Rome's Salvatore Mundi Hospital.

* * *

With him were his wife and his father, Charles Gibson, also of Greenville, who came here from Paris yesterday.

The elder Gibson said the son and his bride came here after spending a month's honeymoon at Davos, Switzerland, where they skied, and in Istanbul, Athens and Vienna.

* * *

The father had been in Paris several months on a vacation. He said he and his daughter-in-law would accompany the body back to Greenville by plane for funeral service there, as soon as local formalities are arranged.

* * *

The younger Gibson, who married Miss Moriarity April 2, entered the refrigerator business with his father in 1950. He later became executive vice president and secretary of the firm's defense products division, succeeding his uncle, Frank S. Gibson Jr. who became board chairman.

Summerfield Sorry for Speech Slip-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A red-faced Postmaster General Summerfield was reported busy apologizing today for a speech in which he asked a group of doctors for Republican campaign funds.

* * *

The occasion was a breakfast get-together yesterday of medical society officers and members of the state congressional delegation.

In his remarks, Summerfield thanked the doctors for "contributing $75,000" to President Eisenhower's 1952 campaign. The money, Summerfield added, was used to help fight socialized medicine.

Then he told the doctors he was depending on their continued support to elect a Republican Congress in 1956.

* * *

Sitting in front of Summerfield were Democratic Reps. Rabaut, Dingell and Hayworth, who is the postmaster general's own congressman.

Rep. Dingell, whose late father, Rep. John D. Dingell Sr. sponsored compulsory health insurance legislation, described Summerfield's speech as in "poor taste and insulting."

Dr. L. Fernald Foster of Bay City, secretary of the medical society, said it had not been planned for Summerfield to make a speech.

"He was introduced as a cabinet officer and asked if he wanted to say something," Foster said. "It was an inadvertent slip on his part. He was trying so hard to praise us for preserving free enterprise that he got into politics."

Donald O. Menzies Seeking Nomination

Former Oakland County Undersheriff Donald O. Menzies said today he will seek the Democratic nomination for county Sheriff in the August 7 primary election.

Radar Timers Still to Be Used

Detroit Police Ordered to Continue Practice as Court Favors Motorists

DETROIT (AP) — Despite a court ruling declaring radar timers illegal, Detroit police will continue to issue tickets on the basis of radar clockings.

* * *

Traffic Director James A. Hoye yesterday ordered police radar operations to go on as before.

The order followed a conference with Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins, corporation counsel Nathaniel H. Goldstick and representatives of the Traffic Safety Assn.

On Tuesday Traffic Judge John D. Watts dismissed a speeding charge based on a radar timing. Yesterday he instructed five court referees to refer all questionable radar speed cases to him for personal hearing.

Piggins said police will continue to use radar for tracking of speeders unless forced by law to stop.

Officials in Kalamazoo, one of the first cities in the state to use radar, voiced strong criticism of Judge Watts' decision.

Municipal Judge Clark M. Olmstead said, "I believe radar is legal and accurate and I believe it is far better than clocking a speeder. State Police and police in three-fourths of our larger cities use radar to apprehend speeders."

Kalamazoo Police Chief Sherwin Heywood said "I've always considered it (radar) the most accurate method of establishing the speed of a vehicle."

Court Slaps NLRB on Issue of Pickets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals held today that the National Labor Relations Board cannot penalize strikers who picket peacefully, for the misconduct of others.

The unanimous decision written by Judge David L. Bazelon, struck down an NLRB ruling that peaceable pickets share responsibility if they do not repudiate violence by others.

The court quoted and agreed with an earlier finding by the board itself to the effect its authority to deny reinstatement extends only to strikers "who authorized or participated in the wrongful conduct and their aiders and abettors."

300 False Alarms!

DETROIT (AP) — Three-hundred false alarms rang simultaneously at the Detroit fire department yesterday. A thief stole a four-foot section of master cable connecting fire alarms boxes with the fire department dispatcher. When the cable was cut the alarms went off. The thief escaped.

NATO Changes Seem Imminent

Dulles Proposes 'More Than a Military Pact' to Member Nations

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and other Western foreign ministers dug into a wide-ranging conference schedule today in preparation for the opening of a council meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

* * *

Western diplomats say the two-day NATO session tomorrow may be a momentous meeting for the 15-member ministerial council. Dulles has said one of the chief objectives is to plan the reshaping of NATO "into something more than a military alliance."

Shortly after he got here yesterday, he was given a French plan calling for a new international agency to distribute economic aid to the world's needy.

He conferred two hours with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau on the French proposal, which, informants said, urges U.S. cooperation in forming an aid agency outside NATO.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had a midday meeting. The British informants said Lloyd told Dulles NATO members should push their aid programs through other institutions. Suggested were the International Monetary Fund, the Colombo Plan for Southeast Asia, or agencies of the United Nations.

American spokesmen declined to give Dulles' reaction to the French plan.

Picket County Projects

ALPENA (AP) — Carpenters are picketing building projects in six counties to back up pay demands against 19 general contractors. The strike has affected building in Alpena, Presque Ile, Alcona, Montmorency, Iosco and Oscoda counties. Local 1132 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters is asking $2.70 an hour now and $2.80 in September on residential projects and $2.90 on industrial building.

There are 4,170,000 tractors on farms in the United States.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Board May Okay Driving Area Plan

BIRMINGHAM—The Recreation Board will approve a plan for utilizing a driving area across from Birmingham High School tonight, according to Board Chairman Mrs. William Jackson.

The board will hear reports by Assistant City Manager Dana Whitman and Recreation Director Frank Whitney on a study they made, working with City Planner Herbert Herzberg.

The board was asked for a plan for recreational use of the 66-acre field across from the high school. Whitman and Whitney have formulated such a plan, and the board will hear it and act upon it tonight, Mrs. Jackson predicted.

A new state law requiring driver training for those under 18 faced the school board with the problem of training public, private and parochial children of Birmingham, Mrs. Jackson points out.

Robert Girarden, who will take the recreation director's post on May 14, is spending today working with Whitney, screening applicants for the summer recreation program. Girarden will attend tonight's meeting.

Parents are being urged to report handicapped children when the school census is taken May 10 through 30.

Dr. Paul D. Carter, assistant superintendent of schools, pointed out yesterday that a special effort is being made to obtain information on all handicapped children. Such information would aid the Board of Education in development of special education facilities, he says.

All physically or mentally handicapped children up to 20 years of age should be reported.

The 24 census takers will have an organizational meeting at 10:30 a.m. next Tuesday in the board of education offices.

Teacher Guilty in Wife Murder

Wyoming Jury Enters Second Degree Verdict; 20 Years to Life

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Almost 48 hours after it received the case, a District Court jury last night convicted James V. Alexander, 48, of second-degree murder in the death of his second wife Barbara, 24.

• • •

The body was dug from the basement floor of Alexander's home nearly 2½ years after she disappeared.

STUNNED AT VERDICT

Alexander appeared stunned and solemn as Dist. Judge Sam Thompson read the verdict at the end of a 15-day trial.

Prosecutor Raymond Whitaker had asked the death penalty in closing arguments Monday, shortly before the jury of seven men and five women was given the case. Alexander was charged with first-degree murder.

• • •

Fred Layman, one of three defense lawyers, moved that the verdict be set aside. Judge Thompson was expected to rule on this motion and to sentence Alexander today.

Did He Make a Deal? —That Car Really Cost

TORONTO (AP)—Ron Billard traveled 300 miles from Sudbury to buy a new car at low prices advertised in Toronto.

He drove his new automobile 100 feet from the dealer's showroom and collided head on with another car.

Billiard, a nickel worker, was charged with careless driving. Repairs to his new car will cost $1,000.

Polio Epidemic Ends

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's health ministry says the polio epidemic is over in Buenos Aires and the surrounding province. The area was the core of the outbreak which killed 270 of the more than 3,000 Argentines struck down.

Light Lunch Deceptive

BALTIMORE (AP) —Two detectives entered a short-order restaurant and asked for light lunch. They weren't talking about franks and beans or ham and eggs. They weren't offered them either. So the owner, James Kondelis, 58, and his son Gus, 28, were charged with bookmaking. Light Lunch was a nag running in the third race at Laurel. Came in fourth.

Woman Held in Murder Try

Spurned Female Runs Car Over Pedestrian Three Times

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police charged a 33-year-old woman driver with attempted murder after witnesses said she deliberately hit a pedestrian and ran over him two or three times before a mechanic stalled her car.

• • •

They said the woman, Miss Beatrice P. Adams, would tell them only that "he took advantage of me."

SWERVED CAR

The incident apparently was the outgrowth of a love affair broken off when Mack Jernigan, the 39-year-old victim, became reconciled with his wife, said police.

Jernigan was reported in a critical condition at Charity Hospital.

Police Sgt. Lon Couste said witnesses told him Miss Adams deliberately swerved her car and hit Jernigan yesterday as he tried to enter his own parked vehicle. He said the witnesses said she turned around, ran over him and then repeated the procedure.

Jack Holland, 30, a mechanic, managed to jerk up the hood and stop the car by pulling out some wires.

Papers Press for Public Trial

California Judge Bars Press From Murder Proceedings of Wife

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Legal moves by four newspapers to force a Santa Rosa judge to open a murder trial to the press come up today before the 3rd District Court of Appeal.

• • •

A writ to prohibit Superior Judge Donald Geary from holding a closed trial was sought by the San Francisco Examiner yesterday. But Presiding Justice B. F. Van Dyke, the lone judge present, said at least two of the court's three jurists would have to rule on the issue.

• • •

Gordon Pates, managing editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, said attorneys would file a similar petition for his paper, the Santa Rosa Press - Democrat and the Sacramento Bee.

Examiner attorneys brought their action to Van Dyke shortly after Judge Geary excluded seven reporters from the trial of Mrs. Charlotte Black, 63, accused of killing her husband last February.

• • •

The judge barred the press after Mrs. Black waived her constitutional right to a public trial Tuesday.

Engineering Can Open Door to Future Success

Many of today's high school seniors will be starting college next fall. To acquaint them and their parents with some things they might expect this first of five articles has been prepared.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — So you want to be an engineer? Well, you picked a field in which the qualifications are high and the work tough.

• • •

You picked a field in which you will constantly be learning. In college, they'll do the best to equip you with the tools you'll need to attack each new problem on a never-ending quest for practical answers.

Dean George Granger Brown of the University of Michigan's College of Engineering explains, "engineering is a profession in the broad sense, although a good many people graduating from engineering do not enter the profession."

By its very nature, he says, the study of engineering "has to be quantitative, rigorous—the student has to work."

MUST KNOW ENGLISH

There are two basic skills, Dean Brown says, that they'd like you to bring to college with you.

"First is a certain skill in the use of the English language," he explains. The second is an equal skill in the "language of mathematics."

"Mathematics," he says, "is the language by which we express our science . . . and mathematics will get them through engineering school, but English will make them successful afterward."

What these two tools actually give you, Dean Brown says, is "a fairly highly developed skill in the means of thinking."

What about specialization? Dean Brown says:

AVOID IT FIRST

"Many students might well be advised to avoid specialization in any particular field of engineering. Five or ten years after graduation, an engineer is given assignments in industry without regard to the particular program he elected in college."

What about girls in the field? At the University of Michigan, he says, one to one and half per cent of the students are girls.

Dean Brown suggests this be kept in mind. Some 40 per cent of all executives in industry have engineering backgrounds. In 1890, there were 344 engineers to every 100,000 employes. Now there are 1,550 engineers to each 100,000 employes.

It can lead to many fields. There is the purely technical end: design, experimental research. There is sales work: a sales engineer has to be a consulting engineer. There is operations: the fields of manufacturing and production.

• • •

Now there is nuclear engineering. Michigan is one of the few schools in the nation offering a Master of Science Degree in Nuclear Engineering.

The field is large. The student, says Dean Brown, has to learn to work.

Dies of Severe Burns

DETROIT (AP) — Eight-year-old Marilyn Bistline of Detroit died Wednesday of burns suffered April 12 when sparks from a rubbish fire set fire to her petticoat.

Aims Rock at Nuns 'Just to Be Helpful'

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Thomas Dawson, 39, says he was only trying to help when he threw a rock at two nuns.

• • •

He told City Judge Charles Sneddon he tossed the rock because the women were checking their gas tank to see if it was full and had just struck a match to see better.

"I wanted to warn them of the danger," he said. "It was quite a large rock. It was the only one I could find. It missed the car and struck a man who was quarreling with his wife. The rock glanced off his head and through a grocery store window."

• • •

At this, Dawson said, the man got "upset and came over to make trouble."

Judge Sneddon sentenced Dawson to 30 days in city jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

ROK's Rhee Starts Re-election Drive

SEOUL (AP)—President Synghman Rhee climbed on the political stump today to make his first campaign and "whistle - stop" speeches since the Republic of Korea was founded in 1948.

• • •

Rhee, 81, is seeking a third term in the May 15 election. He spoke at Nonsan, 100 miles south of Seoul, and at Taejon, Chochiwon and Suwon stations, along the railroad route back to the capital.

He apparently took the stump because of the hard campaigning of his two major opponents—Democrat, P. H. Shinicky and Progressive Cho Bong Am. He did not campaign in previous elections—1948 and 1952.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1956

Car Check Dates Set

In a formal proclamation Mayor Donaldson has set May 7 to 13 as the dates of Pontiac's annual automobile safety checkup campaign.

During that period, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce safety committee, police department and local automobile dealers, motorists will be able to get free checkups for the asking. Also co-operating are all of the City's service clubs.

Equipment to be tested include brakes, front and rear lights, exhaust systems, windshield wipers, tires, steering, glass, rearview mirrors and horns.

If they are in good condition, motorists will be given windshield stickers. If defects are found, police will issue warning summonses and owners will have 72 hours in which to have them corrected.

For the convenience of the public, says Safety Committee Chairman Clyle R. Haskill, testing teams will be at five check points in the City. Locations are West Huron at North Saginaw, Auburn near East Boulevard, Montcalm near Summit, North Johnson near State and Orchard Lake near Berwick.

While this is an entirely voluntary program, we urge all motorists to take advantage of it. The little time the tests take is more than compensated for by the knowledge that important equipment is in perfect working order.

It's better to be safe than sorry.

Red Terror in U.S.

One of the strangest stories in our postwar history reveals that Soviet secret police using terror tactics have induced five Russian refugee seamen to return to their homeland.

Even stranger, the terrorization of these Russians took place in the Nation's largest city. Refugees from the U. S. S. R., with four others, since their ship was captured by the Chinese Nationalists 20 months ago, they had been living in New York since last fall.

★ ★ ★

About midwinter these seamen were located by Communist secret police. The Reds threatened, pleaded with them to return home and showed them phony letters from relatives. Suddenly all five of them disappeared to turn up a few days later at New York's International Airport surrounded by 20 Russian agents.

★ ★ ★

Immigration officials held a brief hearing and found the refugees' exit visas in order and were assured that they were returning home "voluntarily." Representatives of Church World Service who had helped the five get a new start in America, were denied admission. Only a lawyer for the Soviet consulate in New York represented the seamen.

In the opinion of immigration officials the Russians' departure was entirely legal. Freedom to go home, they say, is a basic right every alien enjoys in America. Moreover, the sailors never complained of coercion.

★ ★ ★

That, of course, won't soften the shock felt by the people when they learned of Russian police activity here. Our government has done well to insist on recall to Russia of two Soviet U. N. employes for their objectionable part in this affair.

Poll Tax Doom in Sight

One sure sign that times are changing for the better is the revival of hope that at long last abolition of the iniquitous poll tax may be possible.

This good news is born of developments in Congress. Minnesota's Democratic Senator Humphrey is backing a bill to eliminate this outmoded and discriminatory tax. At the same time, however, he is indorsing a movement to accomplish the same result by means of a constitutional amendment.

Time was, and not so long ago, when talk in Congress of anti-poll tax legislation was the signal for a Southern filibuster. In 1948 a resolution against the poll tax and lynching and for fair employment practices split the Democratic convention wide open and started the Dixiecrat revolt.

The constitutional amendment method has been proposed by ten Southern Senators. Their feeling is that states and not the Federal government should decide this issue. It is worth noting that among those indorsing the amendment idea is J. Strom Thurmond, the Dixiecrats' 1948 Presidential candidate.

★ ★ ★

Five states still have the poll tax, which was devised to discourage Negroes from voting. They are Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia. Regardless of whether the method used is statute or amendment, the levy's abolition would be an historic political step forward.

David Lawrence Says:

Air Force General States More Power Could Have Won Korean War for U. S.

WASHINGTON — Curtis E. Le May, head of the Strategic Air Command of the U.S. Air Force, has made a sensational revelation. Historians of the Korean War will note it with extraordinary interest. He confirms, in effect, what Gen. Douglas MacArthur said five years ago—that the United States could have won the war in Korea and could have changed the whole face of things in the Far East by using maximum power against the Red Chinese bases in Manchuria.

Gen. Le May didn't discuss the Korean War nor Gen. MacArthur's views as such, but his answer to a prepared question leaves no doubt that the United States made a fatal mistake in failing to press the war to a victorious conclusion in Korea in 1950 and 1951. Here is the question asked by the Senate Armed Forces subcommittee and Gen. Le May's answer:

"Q. Does the Strategic Air Command now have combat effectiveness sufficient to enable it to discharge its principal responsibility?

"A. Yes; at the present time and in spite of recent Soviet gains in aircraft and weapons technology and production, it is considered that the Strategic Air Command continues to maintain sufficient advantage over the Soviet offensive capability to enable accomplishment of its primary roles.

"We must recognize, however, a new factor has entered the equation, and that is that the Soviet Union has a long-range attack capability that it did not have five years ago. This factor creates the possibility of an initial surprise attack upon the Strategic Air Command which, in turn, would reduce its deterrent power and retaliatory capability.

"However, under any reasonable set of assumptions, we believe we now have the capability of winning any war the Soviets might start. We are not capable of winning it without this country's receiving very serious damage. Five years ago we could have won the war without the country's receiving comparatively serious damage."

Five and six years ago means 1950 and 1951. That was the time when the European Allies of the United States faltered and influenced the Truman administration not to apply maximum power in Korea. The European Allies had only token forces in Korea. America and South Korea, however, had hundreds of thousands of troops in the battle area.

When Gen. MacArthur, who was the United Nations commander-in-chief in Korea, begged in 1950 for authority to fight back against the enemy, his request was turned down. A few weeks later he was summarily dismissed by President Truman. The excuse made was that he was "insubordinate," although no hearing was ever given him by Truman. General MacArthur's recommendations were criticized at the time by Truman officials as likely to plunge the nation into a third world war. In Congress this was the argument offered by senators who were, in effect, apologizing for the Truman action in removing Gen. MacArthur.

But today Gen. Le May reveals that such was the air power of the United States in 1950 and 1951 that, if the battle had been pursued in Korea, there would have been a victory. This means that Soviet Russia in all probability would never have involved herself in a losing war just to save Red China. It would have been highly dangerous for internal reasons, as the Soviet rulers were afraid to start a war that might turn into a revolution.

Gen. Le May's testimony is of transcendent importance entirely apart from its value in retrospect. He has outlined what is needed if a war were to start tomorrow—and he apparently feels America is still ahead in air strength, though it would suffer damage from long-range air attack. He warns, moreover, that by 1960, unless important increases in the U.S. air program are made now, the enemy's striking power will have grown stronger than ours.

Time has been on the side of the Soviets due to the fatal mistake made in Korea by the United Nations. Will time aid Soviet Russia to the point where her rulers may feel strong enough to risk a war in 1960? Congress is concerned about the answer to this question, and that's why so much attention is being given now to an examination of plans for the war that might have to be fought four or five years hence.

Don't Believe All You Read About Cause of Pneumonia

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

"My brother was a retired minister, living with a married daughter on a farm in Norway," writes a reader. "He was outside in inclement weather, painting a fence, while having what they call 'a bad cold.' Subsequently he developed pneumonia and died.

"My younger brother wrote me about it, bitterly blaming our niece for allowing her father to do this. I wrote him back that I believed cold weather has no detrimental influence on health and that pneumonia is caused by a bacterium, not by inclement weather.

"Subsequently my brother's comeback was as follows, translated into English:

'It is a proven fact that a bad cold by carelessness easily leads to pneumonia, especially in older persons. The safest way is therefore to keep indoors till the cold is over.'

"Then I looked up the article on pneumonia in an encyclopedia, and this is what I found:

* * *

'Disease of the lungs, occurring in two main forms, lobar pneumonia and broncho-pneumonia. Lobar pneumonia is the more acute form. In most cases it is caused by the pneumococcus of Fraenkel, a germ which is constantly present in the mouths and throats of all normal people. Exposure to cold and wet, alcoholism and debility predispose to the disease. It begins . . .'

"This seems to be right up my kid brother's alley. If you can indicate better authorities to support my arguments, I would be much interested."

(Signed, ...)

First, what is a medical authority? Just how does a doctor become a medical authority? To become a bona fide authority, a doctor must publish or contrive to get published some of his views. Formerly, it had to be published in medical journals or medical books. That's too slow for the fast-buck operators. Now they go straight into the newspapers, popular magazines, radio and TV.

The unsigned balderdash quoted from the encyclopedia has been parroted by medical authorities since the discovery of the infectious nature of disease—that is, that germs, bacteria, cause disease. To the best of my knowledge there is no scientific evidence that exposure to cold and wet in the everyday experience of most people "predisposes" to pneumonia or other acute or chronic disease of respiratory organs.

On the other hand, the actual experiments made by the British Medical Research Council on volunteer subjects under careful controls over a period of two or three years gave evidence as strong as we are likely to obtain that such everyday "exposure" does NOT predispose people to infection. Unfortunately for Yankeeland, the health and medical "authorities" here prefer to ignore the British findings.

The encyclopedia bunk cited by the correspondent does not mention "resistance." Neither shall we. It's silly enough to dub indisposition or illness "cold" when you don't know what it really is.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

New Resident Commends City Symphony Orchestra

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Let's take time out from boasting of our Pontiacs . . . good as they are . . . and start blowing a big horn for some of our people who do other things than build those beautiful cars. The best thing in Pontiac today worth boasting about is the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

No other single occasion in my listening experience has provided the thrill and pleasure I derived from the Orchestra a few nights ago in the Lincoln auditorium.

This happened in Pontiac, mind you, in the "factory town" you and I live and work in. And let's have no axe to grind, no favors to friends; the writer had not so much as a distant nodding acquaintance with any person on the stage. As new residents, the Mrs. and I were hearing this organization for the first time.

We were astonished. We were inspired by the sixty-odd musicians who make music for themselves and for us out of a strange devotion to the most necessary of the fine arts.

The orchestra members are demonstrating good citizenship of the highest order.

Stock Market Displaces Baseball in U. S. Affection

NEW YORK (AP) — I met an interesting fellow the other day. He wasn't in the stock market.

* * *

You hardly run into that kind of person any more. At least not in my circle.

EVERYONE JOINS IN

Practically everyone I seem to meet now is "in the market." So is his brother. So is his grandmother.

* * *

Baseball used to be the national pastime. Today the stock market is. You play baseball. But nobody admits he plays the market. It's not cricket to use that term. You don't play the market. You are just "in it."

Who really is in the market? Well, I know a mechanic who is. I know several waiters who are. I know several stenographers who are. A lady who used to come and help my wife do sewing is. So is the masseuse my wife visits occasionally when she gets a twinge in her neckbone.

* * *

In fact, it is probably easier to name those of your acquaintance who aren't in the market than to list those who are. Wall Street has become the real Main Street of America to millions.

NOTHING AGAINST IT

Now don't get me wrong. I have nothing against the stock market as an avenue to either security or wealth. I don't regard it a devil's trap for the unwary, nor do I feel that anyone who invests in it is a gambler riding a band wagon to his own ruin. All I ask is that those who are getting rich in it would just do so quietly.

* * *

But they don't. It isn't enough that they own stocks. They insist that you have to get into the market, too. Presumably, they feel that if everyone buys stocks all the stocks will go on up and up—and we'll all be rich together.

What a man did with his money used to be his own secret. Not any more.

"Just what do you do with your money?" strangers murmur to me at cocktail parties.

"Well, some of it I use to light my cigars when I run out of matches," I tell them. "And if I have any left over I put it into U. S. bonds."

* * *

You'd think I was a Red conspirator trying to undermine the American way of life.

"U. S. bonds!" they yelp. "Don't you know that at the end of 10 years you'll probably get less out of them, in terms of real money value, than you put into them?"

* * *

"Maybe," I admit. "But somebody has to keep poor old Uncle Sam from going over the hill to the poorhouse. If you won't do it, I'll have to."

This only seems to infuriate them.

The biggest objection I have to the stock market is not that I don't know how to get rich in it (if I did, I would) but that it has done more to ruin the art of conversation than anything since television.

Dr. George Crane Strongly Opposed to Serving Liquor Aboard Airplanes

Do you think airplane pilots should be forced to serve as "bouncers" of drunks? Mr. Quinn, head of the AFL union to which about 6,000 Stewards and Stewardesses belong, says they oppose making "flying saloons" out of modern passenger airplanes. John Barleycorn better sober up to modern public opinion or he'll face Congressional action to clip his wings permanently.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-346: Rowland K. Quinn, Jr., aged 29, is head of the AFL union of Air Line Stewards and Stewardess, which has almost 6,000 members.

* * *

A few months ago I had devoted a column to the unfairness of certain Air Lines which force passenger to sit beside liquor-guzzling half drunks, as the stewardess is compelled to act as a common barmaid to peddle martinis and whiskey up and down the aisles.

Mothers with children thus found themselves actually seated in a flying saloon and beside maudlin passengers, who were not only a bad example to the children, but a hazard to safety.

And I was not exaggerating. Soon after my column ran in Chicago, Mr. Quinn further corroborated it with a pertinent utterance for the press.

For Mr. Quinn emphasized the fact that stewards and stewardesses are opposed to such drinking on airplanes primarily because of the safety factor.

"Drinking doesn't contribute to the general comfort and welfare of all passengers," Mr. Quinn added.

Then he stated that the stewards and stewardesses of his union have definitely joined with the AFL Air Line Pilots Association in opposing drinking aboard airplanes.

Mr. Quinn also cited the case of a certain pilot who refused to take a big airliner off the ground because 18 of his 70 passengers were so drunk they were a menace.

To mollify this wise pilot, 10 of the 18 drunks were finally taken off the plane and some 20 minutes afterwards it went aloft.

Two hours later, however, some of those eight drunks caused so much trouble that the pilot made an unscheduled landing and put off the eight drunks.

* * *

"But the cockpit crew," says Mr. Quinn, "should not be expected to double as bouncers in a cocktail lounge."

Democratic Congressman Thomas Lane of Massachusetts threatened to present a bill to Congress to outlaw this dangerous commercial practice of trying to convert lovely airplane stewardesses into peddlers of whiskey up and down the aisles.

Airplanes are not supposed to be flying saloons. They hold a virtual monopoly of such travel over the territory alloted to them by the C.A.B. of your government. The saftey of their passengers supersedes the few dollars made on liquor sales.

When a highly trained pilot and co-pilot are wearing head phones to keep in constant touch with airports on the ground for warnings, air reports, etc., they should not be jeopardized by drunks aboard their planes.

MONEY MAD

Not all airlines have succumbed to the sale of liquor aboard planes.

But some of the large companies have done so, arguing that it is forced on them by "competitive necessity.

* * *

That's malarky: Most people prefer sober pilots as well as sober passengers on airlines, and even those men who drink, don't want their wives and children jeopardized by drunken passengers on air liners.

This "competitive necessity" is just a camouflage for an attempt to make a few more dollars.

Thomas Macaulay, British statesmen, once said that if commercial firms ever found it to their financial advantage to deny the law of gravity, soon they'd cleverly invade even the public schools and have the teachers on their side.

This same greed for $$$ is what originally led to the 18th Amendment and is causing a growing opposition to the liquor industry once more. John Barleycorn better sober up to a realization of what Americans are thinking.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Senators Hear Fighters Cannot Reach Soviet Bomber

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate investigators have been hearing secret testimony that the U. S would have difficulty shooting down the new Russian bombers because they fly so high.

* * *

This is the picture reportedly developed yesterday in closed-door questioning of Gen. Earle E. Partridge, air defense commander, by the Senate subcommittee probing the adequacy of U. S. air power.

Committee sources said this country has no interceptor at the present time which could deal with the Soviet Bison if it flew at its maximum altitude.

Partridge was said to have testified that this country is developing a supersonic interceptor that could down the Bison. But a committee source said the new interceptor "is a long way off yet."

IT'S SOVIET'S BEST

The Bison is the ocean-spanning bomber which the Soviets let representatives of the free world see for the first time a year ago when the big war planes flew in formation over Moscow's May Day celebration. It is the bomber which would carry atomic weapons against this country in event the Soviets attack.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, whose command would retaliate with atomic bombers against Russia, told the subcommittee of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) at an open hearing Monday that the U.S. will be "inferior" in striking power to the Russian long-range air force in the next two to four years.

The head of the Strategic Air Force testified that Russia will outnumber the U. S. in long range bombers in the 1958-1960 period. The questions asked LeMay and his replies had been censored for security by the Pentagon.

PENTAGON DELAYS

LeMay was to have returned yesterday to read answers to some 60 additional questions asked by committeemen. But Symington postponed the session until today because of delay by the Pentagon in returning the censored questions and answers.

Meanwhile, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) called for a several billion dollar boost in the B52 bomber program to prevent the U. S. from lagging behind Russia as LeMay said it will under the present program.

Jackson, a subcommittee member, said the additional money should be provided in this year's defense budget.

* * *

The administration recently asked 237 million dollars to expand production of the intercontinental jet bombers but Democratic senators including Jackson, said the request is inadequate.

Cocktail Lounge Parking Loses to Playing Kids

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge held today that not an inch of Central Park is expendable—particularly not for a parking lot for "a bucolic nightclub."

• • •

State Supreme Court Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter brought joy to a group of embattled mothers by issuing a temporary injunction blocking construction of the lot on a half-acre playground area.

Park Commissioner Robert Moses has contended the parking space is needed for customers of the Tavern-on-the-Green, a city owned, privately operated restaurant in the park.

Hofstadter said it was a "grave question" whether a children's play area "may be sacrificed to a contemplated use of compounded dubiety, i. e., more parking space for an enlarged cocktail lounge for a plush restaurant."

• • •

He ordered a trial Friday on whether the injunction should be made permanent.

India's Government has decided to take over the management of the life-insurance business, the first step toward nationalization of this enterprise.

Security for You

Federal Pension Intended as Partial Support

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The old age pension you're earning through Social Security payments is not intended to give you complete financial freedom, even living modestly, when you reach 65.

The government figures a retired couple needs about $200 a month these days to live modestly in a large city. The maximum Social Security pension a man can now build for his wife and himself is $162.80, today's average is considerably below that.

The difference between your old age pension and the money you and your wife will need to live modestly depends on your personal thrift, private pension plans, life insurance and home ownership.

• • •

Of course, some people aren't going to be able to assure themselves the difference. They're going to need public assistance money from the government in addition to old age pensions, but it'll be no fault of the Social Security system as it was originally conceived and has grown.

Just how much additional money you'll need to assure yourself and your wife a modest living when you reach 65 depends on a number of factors.

To a certain degree, it will depend on the economic conditions of the country when you retire. If the cost of living creates a big gap between your Social Security pension and what you need to live, naturally, you'll need private income to fill the gap.

It'll also depend to a lesser degree, on where you choose to retire. For example, living in a small town is generally cheaper than a big city.

And, of course, the size of your Social Security pension will have a good deal to do with how much additional money you'll need to live modestly.

The amount of pension is determined from your average monthly earnings over a certain period of time. But the exact amount can only be determined after your complete Social Security payment record is known. This generally can't be known until you reach 65 and decide to retire.

• • •

In any case, to be eligible at all for a Social Security pension you must be what the government calls "fully insured." This merely means that some amount of pension can be paid to you. Not necessarily that you'll get the maximum amount of pension that's paid.

You're considered fully insured when you reach 65 and Social Security deductions have been taken from your pay for half of all the quarters you've worked since Dec. 31, 1950, or since you reached age 21, whichever is later. A quarter is three calendar months.

At least six quarters are required of everyone and after you've paid in for 40 quarters you're guaranteed some pension.

Once you're fully insured, then the size of your pension depends on your average monthly earnings.

For example, the present monthly pension payments for an individual worker start at $30 a month if he's fully insured and has had at least $50 a quarter in earnings. The monthly payments jump to $108.50 if he's fully insured and has average income of $350 a month.

(You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your Social Security problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

Announcing the decision, Leikvold soberly said, "Applicants should be quite healthy. Considerable walking is required."

Morse-McKay Oregon Campaign Looms as Most Furious in Nation

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) —The most furious political battle in the nation — aside from the campaigns for the presidency itself — will be waged in Oregon this fall if Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay wins the right to oppose Sen. Wayne Morse.

* * *

The May 18 primary which will select the two contenders for this strategic senatorial post, has produced another unexpected battle — a write-in duel between Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

While neither filed in the Oregon primary, last March Kefauver paused in Portland long enough to give his blessing to the write-in campaign for Oregon's delegates. Stevenson forces immediately accepted the challenge.

McKay resigned as Secretary of Interior last month and is back in Oregon mapping out primary campaign plans. Twice elected governor of Oregon, McKay is rated one of the two most effective campaigners in the state. Morse is the other.

It will be charges of "turncoat" against "giveaway" in the fall — if McKay is nominated. Morse has no serious primary competition.

The Republican Party has rebuilt its campaign machinery from top to bottom in Oregon since 1954, when Sen. Guy Cordon lost to Sen. Richard L. Neuberger.

Precincts have been organized, the state chairman, Wendell Wyatt of Astoria, is under 40 years old, and the party has engaged a full time staff member to dig up campaign ammunition.

WORLD POWER STAMP — Austria is issuing a special stamp to honor the Fifth World Power Conference, which meets in Vienna in June. The name of the conference circles the globe with arrows radiating over it. The arrows symbolize sources of energy spread over the world but not in equal distribution. Energy of the earth will be the main subject of the meeting.

For some 40 years, Oregon was considered a safe Republican state. Its whole delegation to Congress for over a decade was solid GOP. Then in 1952 Sen. Morse bolted the party and became an Independent. In 1954, he re-registered as a Democrat. The GOP was furious at each step.

In the same year the GOP watched Neuberger defeat Cordon. The Republicans also lost the third congressional district (Portland) to the Democrats with the election of Mrs. Edith Green.

Republicans bitterly want to unseat Morse because of his party switch. To do the job, they "persuaded" McKay to leave the cabinet.

LITTLE COMPETITION

McKay also was led to believe that other Republican candidates would withdraw from the primary. Oen did. Three others remained in the race after McKay filed on the last day for filing.

But the only Republican who is given a chance to win from McKay in the primary is Phil Hitchcock, former state senator, former president of the Oregon council of churches and now public relations director for Lewis & Clark College at Portland.

If Hitchcock wins the nomination, the fall campaign will be fought purely on the issues, in the opinion of GOP party leaders.

PIPE THIS — Here's a pipe with that lived-in feeling. It's on display at the International Industrial Fair in Milan, Italy. The exhibitor turned the pipe into an office, complete with overstuffed chairs and curious visitors.

But Morse has been McKay's leading critic — and a biting one — and the former cabinet member is expected to answer in kind if he is nominated.

Morse and other Democrats have accused the secretary of the interior of "giving away" natural resources and have concentrated their fire on the Al Sarena mine issue in southern Oregon, which resulted in a virtual gift of federal timber to the owners of a mining claim.

Oregon Republicans, in turn, declared eight of the 15 deeds in the case were issued under the Truman administration.

Other top contests on the state's longest primary ballots include the gubernatorial races with Gov. Elmo Smith favored over supermarketman Earl Dickson of Albany in the Republican race.

* * *

On the Democratic side state Senator Robert D. Holmes of Gearhart, radio station manager, faces veteran Lew Wallace of Portland, former national committeeman.

National guard divisions made up two-fifths of the American expeditionary forces in Europe during World War I.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

Give the Flowers a Drink

Flowers are like people — they get hungry and thirsty. They draw both food and water from the earth. When the earth is dry it is necessary to give the flowers water with a sprinkler, a hose, or a watering can.

Paste this picture down on cardboard and color it with crayons. Cut out the parts carefully.

By putting the arm behind Polly's shoulder and fastening it with a brass fastener, or a bent pin, you can make her swing the watering can up and down.

Cut through the dotted slits in the ground, and you can put the flowers in as you choose by pushing the tabs into the openings. You will find that tall flowers usually look best at the back of a flower bed, with smaller ones in front.

Fold the sides of the picture forward on the dotted lines and Polly will stand up.

(This idea comes from Patricia and Mary Hughey, Alton, Ill. If you have an idea that Junior Editors can use send it in care of this newspaper and it may win a $10 award.)

Liberal Insurance Policy Available

NEW YORK—Development of an "extra-risk" type of life-insurance policy has enabled many more persons to get insurance despite certain conditions of poor health or hazardous occupations.

Additional premiums are charged to compensate for the extra risk involved. Yet only 8 per cent of policy applications in the nation last year were placed on an extra-risk basis, reflecting a liberalization in insurance-company rules in such cases.

About two thirds of all American ordinary life-insurance policies are issued without medical examination. Most companies, however, limit the amount they will issue on this basis.

Lumber Production Up

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Production of lumber in 1955 was the highest in nearly 40 years in the United States. Leo V. Bodine, executive vice president of the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn., said do-it-yourself enthusiast, bought a "significant volume" of lumber and wood products and expressed the belief that this market will continue to grow.

Teacher's Handy Project Turns Out Quite 'Well'

FAIRFIELD, Neb. (INS) — How deep is a well? the old puzzler goes.

* * *

In the case of the one Jim Hagemeyer dug here in Fairfield it's about 140 feet.

Not too deep as wells go, even water wells.

But pretty deep when you realize that Hagemeyer dug the hole himself, by hand, with a shovel.

Hegemeyer, who teaches vocational agriculture and farms 13 acres of land on the side, spent two years digging the well to irrigate his patch of land.

Hagemeyer says the well is capable of a flow of 1,200 gallons per minute, properly pumped.

* * *

It took him two years and cost $1,300, but now he has all the water he needs to irrigate that 13 acres.

Short of Breath? —You Breathe Too Frequently

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Short of breath? Maybe you breathe too much.

Dr. Franklin D. Johnston, professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan, says shortness of breath may result from breathing too rapidly or too deeply.

* * *

Dr. Johnston, also director of the university's heart station, says that patients with heart disease also often suffer from shortness of breath. And it is common for chronic overbreathers to develop symptoms found in some kinds of heart disease.

For a doctor, the problem of distinguishing betwen the two can be difficult, he says.

Continued overbreathing, Dr. Johnston adds, results in a large loss of carbon dioxide from the lungs and lowers the ionized calcium in the bloom.

The resulting symptoms may include dizziness, numbness and tingling in the hands, feet and mouth, peculiar sensations of weakness and tension, pain and muscle spasms or cramps anywhere in the body.

Dr. Johnston said these symptoms may be due entirely to overbreathing, but they often leave the individual concerned with the feeling that he needs more air or he'll faint.

* * *

The remedy, he says, is simple. Breathe slowly, and take in no more air than is absolutely necessary for a few minutes and the sensation should disappear.

Victoria Cross Heroes to Convene in London

LONDON (INS)—Britain's brotherhood of the brave—a handful of heroes who are entitled to write the initials V. C. after their names—will meet in London for the first time on June 26.

* * *

The Victoria Cross, Britain's highest award for valor, was founded a century ago in 1856. But previous attempts to stage a gathering of those who hold it have ended in failure because the heroes of a half-dozen wars and rebellions have displayed a strong reluctance for public gatherings.

* * *

This year more than 250 of the 400 surviving V. C.'s have agreed to parade during the centenary celebrations of the award, which was established by Queen Victoria.

The USS Constitution was one of three frigates launched in 1797.

18th Century Children Faced All the Hardships

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — A children's book printed in the restored Printing Office of Colonial Williamsburg indicates that parents in the 18th Century didn't shield their children from the realities of life as much as their 20th Century counterparts.

The 18th Century tale of "Little Red Riding Hood" winds up with the wicked wolf eating the heroine of the story, while most 20th Century versions provide some sort of twist that enables Little Red Riding Hood to outwit the animal and escape.

Urges Use of Sea Mud for Fertilizer on Farms

DUBLIN—Sea mud can revolutionize Irish farming, if Timothy John O'Connell of Cork is correct. He claims there are 20 million tons of sea mud on Cork Harbor alone which is "a wonderful fertilizer going to waste."

It has a high content of calcium, phosphates and potash and contains nine per cent of calcium carbonate, O'Connell claims. He says the Ministries of Agriculture in England, France, Portugal, Germany, Italy and Spain all are in agreement as to the value of sea mud in increasing growth and production.

Patrick McDermott, Chief agricultural Officer of Cork, is going to study the cost of getting such fertilizer on the the soil.

Records on the breeding of Karakul sheep go back 6,000 years.

Pink Socks Fad Fades; New Colors Substituted

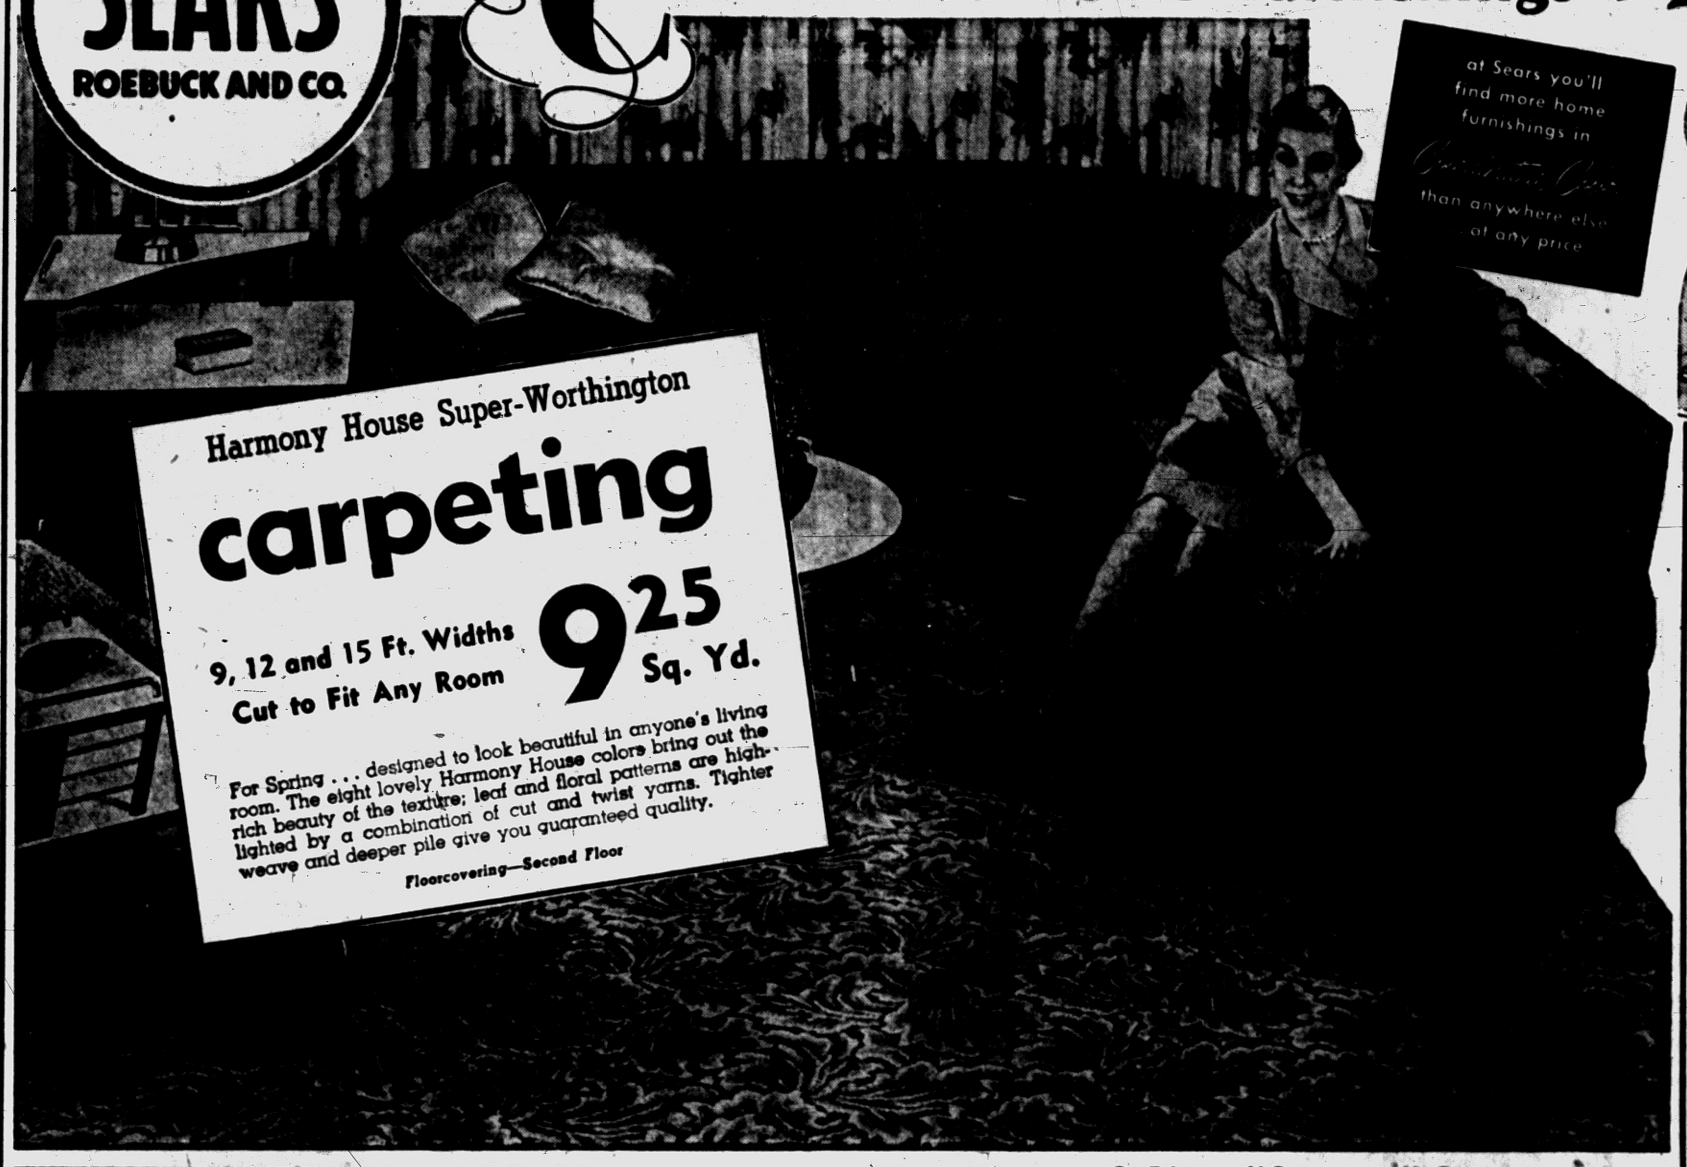

NEW YORK—Pink socks are definitely out of the picture for this summer, according to the publication, Textile World. It says mills with stocks of pink socks are redyeing them black or charcoal gray.

But socks with splashes of red are expected to outsell all others, and new pastel shades—such as bamboo, moss-green, and ice-blue—will make up about 20 per cent of the market, the publication says.

Typewriters Record Heat in Big Reactors

RICHLAND, Wash. — Temperature-taking typewriters automatically record heat conditions in various parts of the huge reactors used to produce plutonium for atomic bombs at the Hanford plutonium plant here.

• • •

The typewriters, with no manual help, perform this job instanly and automatically.

Temperatures inside the reactors are measured by thousands of thermocouples that develop voltages proportional to temeratures in their area, and their signals trigger typewriter keys to print the proper temperature on a chart of thermocouple locations.

• • •

With this arrangement a complete reactor can be mapped within a few mintues, indicating which reactor areas are too hot for safety and which are too cold for maximum plutonium output.

Doctor Comes Back to Help Speed Cops

HONEA PATH, S. C. (AP)—If Highway Patrolman C. C. Swafford, newly assigned to Honea Path, had recognized the driver he probably wouldn't have sped after a car that whizzed by City Hall.

• • •

About four miles out of town Swafford's car ran off a curve and Police Chief F. A. Walker, riding with him, suffered a head injury.

• • •

A little later, here came the car they had chased, headed back to town. The driver was Dr. O. E. DeVore, who had been answering an emergency call to a rural home. Dr. DeVore already had reported the automobile accident and he took Chief Walker to his office for treatment. No charges.

All for $1.50

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Alrey DeLaughter, superintendent of the parking meter department here, reports the most ambitious thieves he has ever encountered. They yanked up a meter —with 150 pounds of concrete still attached to the base. It is a puzzle how they got the meter and concrete out of the sidewalk. For their efforts, they got about $1.50.

Korean Women Gradually Gain Equality With Men

SEOUL (INS)—Korea, a country that suddenly hit the headlines with the Communist invastion of 1950, has been known as "The Hermit Nation" in the orient and its women were strictly segregated from men. But today Korean women are gradually adopting the Western idea of equality of the sexes.

• • •

Centuries ago, the Korean woman was forced to wear a headgear covering her entire face except for her eyes. Women who refused or did not wear the headgear were considered of the inferior class of society.

Even up to 30 years ago, an ancient motto calling for the segregation was in existence. According to the motto, Korean man and woman should be kept apart from the age of seven.

However, through the introduction of western culture and Christianity, Korean women slowly began removing themselves from the centuries-old segregation shackles.

CHANGED NORMS

But the Japanese rule arrested the rapid progress toward westernization of Korean for the Japanese themselves held down the idea of woman's equality with men. They rather entertain the idea that the women folks should be a "means" of fostering warrior-citizens.

Then came the liberation from the Japanese rule in 1945. The sudden influx of western civilization through the American soldiers who are stationed in Korea set back the populace as they were left in bewilderment due to such great differences in the American social life.

Regardless of the reactions to the sudden influx of the different culture, it left some irrevocable influence. Slowly the people began to dress more and more in western style. Korean women literally jumped on the western dress to which they had been denied for years.

During the war the people had to flee from the onrushing Communist hordes and "had to earn" their living regardless of sex. This hardship taught them that men can count on their counterpart for "cooperation" as a partner, although individually the extent of partnership may vary.

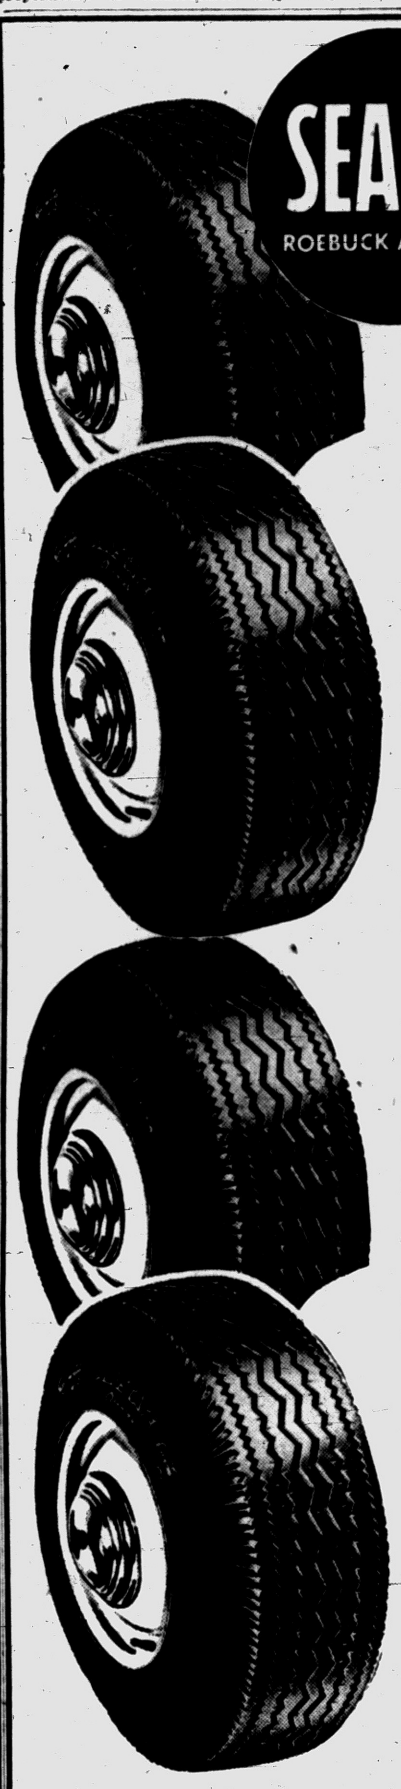

The Korean women took full advantage of the situation. They began to demand more and more equal footing with men on not only family affairs, but also on other matters.

Today, the Korean women are crying for equal footing and rights. Some of them have it. They are stepping into the future with "vigorous and adventurous" spirit.

Return to Home Town Spring Tonic for Earl

By EARL WILSON

ROCKFORD, O.—My home town is a proud little town with a strong affection for its school teachers.

My third grade teacher, Miss Mabel Wolfe, is retiring—after 47 years.

It was such a big civic event that I flew out for the program at "the schoolhouse." You see in this little farming town near Toledo, Lima, Van Wert, Celina and Fort Wayne—teachers are important and respected.

It was a sentimental journey.

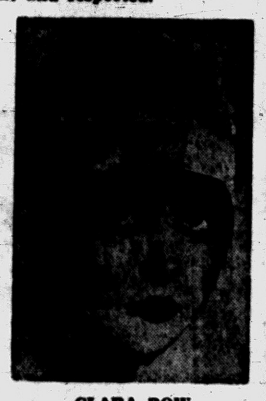

"Could I just walk around for 10 minutes?" I asked.

I peeked in at the Y.M.C.A. where I lived, and at the Eagles where I used to pick up the bowling scores . . . in 1925 and '26 when Estelle Taylor, Libby Holman and Clara Bow were glamour girls.

★ ★ ★

"The schoolhouse" was abuzz with excitement.

"Why, there are more cars here tonight than for the basketball games!" somebody said—tribute indeed to Miss Wolfe.

CLARA BOW

And there she sat, center stage in the auditorium—gray but bright-eyed, looking too young to retire.

It was like a spring tonic . . . going back. They can kid me about being from the sticks but after seeing that turnout for a grammar school teacher, I'm rather proud of my little whistle stop.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

One of Rocky Marciano's first profit projects will be his life story slanted at the movies. He gave the gloves of his last fight to Milton Blackstone of Grossinger's & Bway. (Jack E. Leonard already wished him "a wonderful comeback") . . . Margaret Truman, on George Gobel's June 2 show, will play herself trying to exchange some wedding gifts.

Greg Bautzer and Dana Wynter head back to L. A. now after a few days here—and friends think marriage could happen . . . Ex-Miss America Be Be Shopp's living with baby and husband in Arlington, Mass., where she's helping the Jaycees pick "Miss Massachusetts" . . . Jayne Mansfield and No. 1 Beau, Pilot Robbie Robertson, quarrelled.

Ernest Hemingway, trying for a big fish for "Old Man and the Sea," landed a 730-pounder; not big enough . . . Just in case the Rainier-Kelly thing doesn't work out, one film company has already registered a movie title: "The Broken-Hearted Princess."

When Rita Hayworth arrives here May 7 she'll be a redhead again . . . Sarah Vaughan will get 10G's a week for her Steel Pier booking . . . The "Fanny" showgirls will give Walter Slezak a 53-pound cake on his 53rd birthday . . . Jose Ferrer starts filming "The Great Man" scenes here next month . . . Greta Garbo can have 50G's for dancing with the sponsor on a TV show.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

To dress a soldier you need the wool from three sheep and the hides from ten taxpayers.

★ ★ ★ ★

In the kitchens of tomorrow, notes Herb Shriner, cooking will be done on a counter that doesn't get hot. You won't even know something's cooking till you smell it burning. That's earl, brother.

Navy Perches on Live Volcano

BOSTON (INS)—A huge glacier has been discovered beneath an active volcano at Little America.

Rev. Daniel Linehan, S. J., Weston observatory seismologist, has revealed the discovery following a telephone interview with the Boston American from Norfolk, Va.

The priest and scores of Massachusetts members of "Operation Deepfreeze" arrived there aboard the Boston-bound ice-breaker, USS Glacier.

Fr. Linehan said the discovery of the glacier was important because until its presence was revealed the Navy had been making plans to construct an airfield on the volcano slopes.

"We knew the volcano was an active one, but no one realized the glacier was there," the Jesuit explorer said. "The Navy had to scrap its airfield building plans."

Fr. Linehan, who has been in the Antarctic since mid-November, completed a trip by ship around Antarctic, one of five living Americans to accomplish this feat.

The priest said one of his missions on the trip was to measure the thickness of the ice at Little America for the Navy. He found the ice there 750 feet thick, with 100 feet of water under it. In McMudo Sound, he reported, the ice thickness measured 3,000 feet.

The U.S.S. Glacier, making Norfolk its first U. S. port of call on the journey home, will stay for a few days for minor repairs and for demagnitization.

The priest said the icebreaker was scheduled to reach Boston Sunday at 3 p.m., and would pass through the Cape Cod canal between 9 and 9:15 o'clock Sunday morning.

Hydrogen Bomb Tests Start Next Week in Pacific

By ELTON FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs

Within a few days atomic specialists will begin shooting up the South Sea scenery of the Marshall Islands with a variety of big and little hydrogen weapons.

* * *

Officially, the season for the 1956 "Operation Redwing" began on April 20 when the warning to mariners and aviators to stay away from the prescribed danger zone around the northernmost section of the island group went into effect.

The Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department customarily do not specify exact dates on which individual shots in a series of tests as the mid-Pacific Eniwetok Proving Ground occur. However, this year one test will be "open" to a representative group of federal civil defense administration officials and newsmen.

Last week the AEC revealed that this "open" shot scheduled for May 8 will involve a mid-air explosion of a hydrogen bomb weapon dropped from a high flying airplane. This announcement came a few days after Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev boasted in Britain that the Soviet Union was the only nation yet to drop an H-bomb from a plane.

* * *

As many as a dozen tests may be made during Operation Redwing—some of them little affairs which experts say wouldn't be worth watching. Others will be large—but not as big as the earth-shaker which the weaponeers fired off on March 1, 1954.

That one is believed to have a force equal to between 15 and 17 million tons of TNT. AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss has said that the force of the bombs to be tested this year "will be substantially below that of the maximum 1954 test."

As the accompanying map shows, the eastern hemisphere is becoming dotted with testing areas of the three atomic powers in the world.

* * *

Besides the U. S. tests, Britain reportedly will stage nuclear weapons experiments this year at two sites—one on the barren Monte Bello Islands and another at Maralinga, an Australian proving ground 500 miles west of Woomera. The London Daily Express has reported Britain's first hydrogen bomb will be dropped next year from a jet bomber over the central Pacific Ocean near Christmas Island. The Russians conduct periodic tests at a site believed to be in the Altai Mountain region. Their latest explosion occurred in early March.

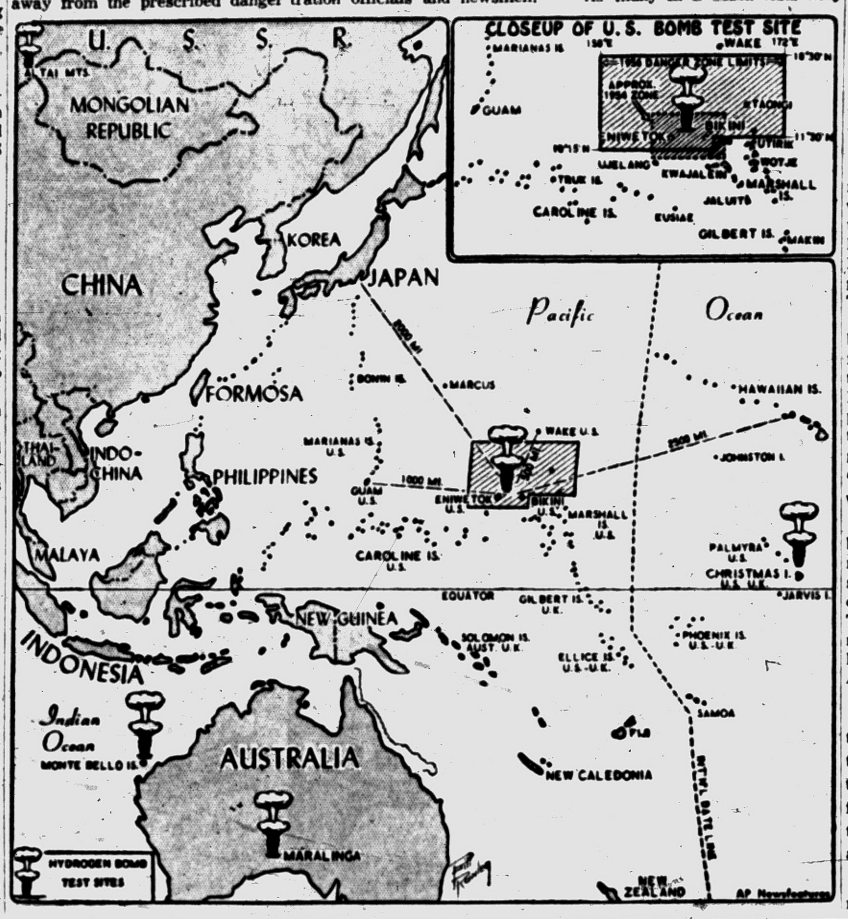

WIDE DANGER ZONE

For the U. S. tests, the AEC has proclaimed a 375,000 square mile danger zone. All unauthorized ships, planes and people have been cautioned to stay out of that area. The AEC estimates that most, if not all, of the area will be released from control by the end of August.

* * *

That does not necessarily mean that actual explosions will continue to that time. It does mean that radioactive contamination from explosions, affecting sea water, fish life and the islands in the area, might persist until then.

As can be seen on the closeup map, the 1956 danger zone is many times larger than the area initially established in 1954. And its shape has been changed somewhat to provide greater "downwind" margin. In 1954, the radioative cloud from the biggest shot welled out to the east, beyond the prescribed safety zone, contaminating Japanese fishermen.

Tipacon Chapter Hears Fulbright Scholar Address

The scrapbook of past activities drew the attention of these AWBA members and guests at the Elks Temple Wednesday evening. Shown (left to right) are Charles Coppersmith, Mrs. Erwin Richards, Francis Staley, Julie O'Brien and C. T. Forsman. The dinner was preceded by a cocktail hour for members and their bosses.

Shown as they looked at the program for the third annual Bosses' Night sponsored by the American Business Women's Association are (left to right) Dr. W. O. Roeser, Katheryn Sumpter and Dr. Margaret Sterne, speaker of the evening. Dr. Sterne is assistant professor of history at Wayne University.

Professor Describes Germany

Dr. Sterne Explains Contemporary Life in Western Section

A look at the "New Germany" was given last night to members of Tipacon Chapter of the American Business Women's Association by Dr. Margaret Sterne, of Wayne University History Department.

She spoke at the annual "Boss Night" dinner of the chapter when the women were hosts to their bosses The reception and dinner was held in the Elks Temple with approximately 100 members and guests enjoying the evening.

Dr. Sterne, a Fulbright scholar, spent the past year in Vienna and Central Europe. She based her talk on her observations and experiences there.

Speaking of the German people, she said the 35 to 45 year old age class is practically non-existent as most of this group perished in the war years and in concentration camps.

TWENTIES ARE THE HOPE

"The younger people, the 20 to 25-year-olds are our hope. They are simply democratic and are eager to become a part of the Western world in ideals and in practice."

She expressed belief that we have until recently exported the wrong things to sell our way of life, and said the new generation is interested in our culture — of theater, our music, our singing— and most of all our production methods and know-how.

Despite desperate attempts of the Soviets to glamorize their country to the Germans, she believes the new German Republic wants to be part of the Western family of nations.

"They belong to us" she said, "and in their young people is our hope for the future."

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

General chairman and toastmistress for last night's dinner was Katheryn Sumpter. Welcome was extended to guests by chapter president Mrs. Dorothy Brooks. Assisting the general chairman on her committee were Mrs. Edward Van Tassel, Shirley Albrecht, Mrs. H. C. Van Hise, Frances Greer, Arlene Newcomb and Mrs. Lawrence Woodley.

Glenn Williams sang "The Lord's Prayer" for the invocation and during the evening organ numbers were played by Jerry Girard.

Serving as hostesses for this third annual affair were Mrs. Catherine Allen, Helen Buchanan, Mrs. Evelyn Cole, Mrs. Charles Cook, Mrs. Ben Elbling, Mrs. Edward Furse, Mrs. Ossie Gates, Mrs. Steven Gibbs, Mrs. Judy Reynolds and Mrs. Van Hise.

Washington Will Miss Its Storyteller

Barkley Personality Was Dynamic

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS)—The mold was broken when Alben W. Barkley entered what he laughingly called "This Vale of Tears."

For that reason, you can't say "The Veep is dead—long live the Veep." There was only one Veep, and even the unique title slurring the initials of vice president passed with him.

This correspondent knew him well, and to know him was to love him. Only last Saturday night, in his address to 1,000 top dignitaries and government officials at a "Meet the Press" dinner, Barkley paid chuckling tribute to "Ruth Montgomery's beautiful brutality" on that panel television show.

But we were old friends.

Republicans and Democrats alike will mourn his passing, but no one could be more surprised about it than 78-year-old Alben Barkley.

Years ago, while on a Senate junket to Egypt, the Kentucky statesman slipped off behind a sphinx to have his fortune told in the sands.

REALLY BELIEVED FORTUNE

The results pleased him more than anything except his later nomination as vice president. "You will live to be 103," the fortune teller assured him solemnly, and Barkley believed it.

In fact, he believed it so emphatically that he never quite forgave Harry S. Truman and the CIO for turning thumbs down on his presidential aspirations at the Democratic national convention four years ago—because of age.

"Why, I'm younger than anybody here," he told me emphatically. "You know yourself that I'll live to be 103, so I have 29 years to go."

COINED FAMOUS PHRASE

Eight years ago at the convention in Philadelphia that nominated Truman for a second term, Barkley coined a political phrase that may outlive us all. Truman, while the crucial hours ticked away was frantically trying to reach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas at a fishing camp in Washington state to offer him second place on the ballot.

Barkley personally wanted the spot so keenly that he could taste it. But as rumors began to trickle in that he might be Truman's second choice, the Kentucky senator proudly told Senate secretary Leslie Biffle and me: "I don't want any warmed-over biscuits."

Douglas eventually said no, Truman passed the biscuit, and Barkley happily helped himself. Few could complain at the selection of the gregarious, party-loving, story-telling Veep, with his shrewd political mind and his compassionate understanding of the voters.

EYED PRETTY GIRLS

Barkley began his vice presidential term as a widower, and our cocktail circuit has seldom had a gayer whirl. The Veep had an eye for every pretty girl, but our matrimony-minded dowagers sighed over him in vain.

Then a good-looking, 38-year-old widow came to town, and it was Barkley who began to do the sighing.

First he tossed a small luncheon party for Mrs. Jane Hadley at his office in the Senate. When he saw that I liked her, too, he asked us both for cocktails that evening at his apartment. Jane shortly returned to St. Louis, and Alben near-sightedly took to penning amorous notes while the Senate droned in endless debate.

My editor at last asked me to find out whether a marriage for the vice president was in the offing. I tackled the assignment with jocularity. Strolling into his office I teased: "Alben, my editor wants to know what Jane has that I don't have."

Ignoring the dozens of chair-warmers, the inimitable Veep enveloped me with a resounding kiss and cracked: "I'll tell you what you have that Jane doesn't have — a husband."

CHARMED EVERYONE

I dutifully wrote the story. The next day the Veep tromped gaily into the Senate press gallery, discovered me in a telephone booth, commanded the attention of all correspondents and announced: "If Ruth is gonna report my secret kisses, I'm gonna give her a public one." And he did.

The evening before the now-famous wedding in St. Louis, I was the only outsider invited to the pre-nuptial party where Alben first met his relatives-to-be. The Veep charmed them all including the mother-in-law who was almost young enough to be his daughter.

The next day, as he and his bride prepared to depart the church as man and wife, Jane recoiled at "facing that mob" outside, until Alben — with his inimitable knack for saying the right thing — observed sagely: "Why, Jane, that's no mob, that's the wonderful American people."

There are six pages in today's Women's Section

Two hours later, the Veep was having such a delightful time at his own wedding luncheon that he could not bear to leave. The family finally enlisted my support, and after a couple of longing backward glances toward the bourbon, branch water and convivial company, the Veep departed with Jane for the honeymoon.

SAD STORIES GALORE

Never was there such a gregarious man! When my husband and I gave a welcome home party for Jane and Alben on their return to Washington, the Veep became so entranced with the little balcony overlooking our living room that he spent most of the evening there, in true oratorical fashion, telling story after story to the assembled guests.

The one which took the longest—and all of the Veep's yarns were endless — concerned the Kentucky constituent who told Barkley he was going to vote for his opponent. The Veep spent a good ten minutes recounting all of the favors he had performed for the man and his family. Each time, according to Alben, the constituent laconically agreed, but finally demanded, "Yep, but what have you done for me lately."

Washington won't be the same without its favorite story-teller. For a long time to come, wherever men gather in the cloakrooms and salons, they will find themselves listening for the chuckle and the merry greeting: "What have you done for me lately?"

Rotary Abrasives Can Erase Acne Scars

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Facial pitting or scarring caused by acne has given many people real unhappiness. Therefore, I am glad to report that today these can be removed by high speed rotary abrasives.

Hospitalization is not necessary and the procedure is fairly simple and painless. One treatment is enough to remove superficial scars. The deeper ones may require two or three, although there will be improvement after the first treatment.

The patient returns to the doctor's office for daily dressings for a few days after the dermal abrasion. The bandages usually are removed permanently on the seventh day and the new growth of skin usually is completed by the 14th day.

How wonderful this is for the man or woman who has been burdened by these scars! Today I would like to tell you some of the things a patient is told to do if he or she has acne.

One of the things a person is told to do if he or she has acne is to take more outdoor exercise.

Do not pick or squeeze or handle the pustule in any way. Take more outdoor exercise. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Avoid overindulgence, particularly in chocolate, alcohol, carbohydrates, spicy or greasy foods, and iodized salt.

If you are constipated correct it. If you have irregular menstrual periods see your physician about it. Get rid of any infections such as diseased teeth or tonsils. If you are anemic, that, too, should be corrected.

You will see that the above suggestions constitute a good health routine in general. These measures will be helpful to your general health as well as to your acne.

High speed rotary abrasives also are used in removing fixed freckles and tattoos.

Parting Kiss on Subway Is Criticized

Quick, Light Peck on Cheek Wouldn't Offend Others

BY EMILY POST

A reader asks: "Isn't it wrong to show display of affection in public—especially on a crowded subway train? The other morning while going to work, an acquaintance of mine and her husband happened to be on the same train.

"He got off before she did. When he reached his station, he turned and kissed his wife before leaving the train. Wasn't this in bad taste?"

Answer: According to strict rule, yes; but at the same time, it would depend very much upon how quickly and inconspicuously he did this. A clinging embrace would be in very bad taste. A quick brush of his lips against her cheek could have been all right.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon. Her fiance has a much larger guest list than we have and feels that he must invite them all.

"Our money is limited and we cannot afford a very large wedding. Would it be proper to ask the bridegroom's family to pay for any extra guests they wish to invite? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: I am sorry, but it would be a really shocking mistake to ask the bridegroom's family to pay anything toward the wedding collation. On the other hand, this last need be nothing more than a fruit punch and wedding cake.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I own and operate a store. When salesmen or other businessmen whom I do not know come into the store, my husband usually introduces them to me. I would like to know if I should offer my hand on this occasion?"

Answer: Not necessarily, unless they are well-known customers. But in any case, it would be courteous on your part to do so.

Well-Dressed Woman Uses Accessories

LONDON (INS)—"The least important part of a well-dressed woman is her dress," according to a noted English designer.

Normal Hartnell, famed as dressmaker to Queen Elizabeth, favors more attention to accessories. As reported by London papers, Hartnell told a fashion group:

"A well-dressed woman should be well-dressed in her extremities—her hat, her hair-do, her well-manicured hands and general make-up, good gloves and well-made shoes. That is how fashion goes."

"Mix soap with a little water and put the paste on the grimy parts. Then use a small brush and scrub. Wash in the usual way."

Ultrasheer Used in Stretch Nylons

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Stretch nylons — popular for their custom fit and durability — now are being made ultrasheer.

Instead of using one heavier strand of yarn, one company uses two gossamer, super-fine threads, knitting them simultaneously.

If one thread pops, the other holds. The new process also is said to produce a stocking that can't bag, sag or wrinkle.

Handle Woolen Sweaters Carefully for Best Results

Woolen sweaters, unless they are specially treated to make them shrink resistant, must be handled with extra care to prevent matting and shrinking. When wet, the wool fibers tangle and mat together, particularly if they're rubbed hard or put through a prolonged agitation.

• • •

And if they aren't properly constructed, woolen sweaters can change in shade or size. Nylon and orlon sweaters and others made of all or part synthetic fibers are happily less susceptible to shrinkage. Any change of shape in washing these sweaters is more likely to be due to the way they are constructed.

Since it's easier to prevent than correct things that go wrong, follow these basic principles in sweater washing:

1. Wash sweaters before they are badly soiled.
2. Remove fancy buttons, ornaments or trimmings as well as shoulder pads before washing.
3. Make an outline of sweater on heavy paper or a Turkish towel before washing.
4. Wash in lukewarm water (95 to 105 degrees Fahrenheit). Be sure to have generous thick suds.
5. Do not soak colored sweaters. Wash quickly and gently by hand. Squeeze suds through the sweater. Do not rub hard or twist. Gentle action must be used particularly with woolens to avoid shrinkage. Soiled spots can be treated by working in some of the top suds with the fingers.
6. Rinse thoroughly in clear lukewarm water.
7. Squeeze out as much water as possible.
8. Roll sweater in Turkish towel and knead gently to remove excess moisture.
9. Unroll immediately and lay sweater on outline stretching to size or place on drying form.
10. Separate contrasting colors with dry towel inserted between back and front panels of sweater and then dry quickly in front of a fan or in some airy place away from heat. When entirely dry, brush angoras or other fleecy types to fluff up nap.

Weekend guests so appreciate your letting them know that you are glad they came, and one of the nicest ways in which to say "Welcome!" is to add a fragrant note of hospitality to their room.

Surprise your visitors by placing guest-size cakes of perfumed soap with their towels. Spray their room with cologne before they arrive. Place a few sachet pillows into their dresser drawers. Your guests are sure to comment on what a gracious and thoughtful hostess you are.

Mrs. Edward Pompeian (right) of Mark avenue pins a corsage on Mrs. C. Stait Lloyd of South Jessie street (center), first president of Jimmy Dey Amvets Auxiliary. Looking on is Mrs. Paul Gorman, toastmistress for the Wednesday program held in observance of the ninth Charter Dinner.

Early History of Group Reviewed

Wednesday evening was a time for reminiscing for approximately 50 members of Jimmy Dey Amvets Auxiliary.

• • •

It was the auxiliary's ninth annual Charter Dinner, and members gathered at Rotunda Inn for the occasion.

Mrs. C. Stait Lloyd, first president of the auxiliary, related incidents of early meetings when the group was organized.

Just after World War II was over and the servicemen were returning, the Amvets group was begun. Later, wives and sisters of these men decided to form the auxiliary.

At the first election on May 7, 1946, Mrs. Lloyd was named president. Fellow officers were Mrs. George Wyman, first vice president; Mrs. Thelma Newman, second vice president; Mrs. Adele Larchman, recording secretary and Mrs. Maxine Newman, treasurer.

POST JOINS IN

Meetings were held twice each month and members of the Amvets post joined with the auxiliary for refreshments following the social meetings.

• • •

Mrs. Charles Zuk, state president of Amvets Auxiliaries, spoke briefly to the group Wednesday evening and told of current and future projects.

"Fashions of 1956" were discussed by Judith L. Clemence, women's editor, The Pontiac Press. During the discussion spring fashions were shown from Bloomfield Fashion Shop, with members from the auxiliary modeling.

Mrs. Fred Ziem was seen in one of the smart fashions of the season—the costume dress which is suitable for street wear and which converts into a late afternoon or cocktail dress.

The sheath in aqua print was topped by a slim tapered coat.

Another of the stunning costumes was worn by Helen Sadler. The fabric, silk and cotton, is another that is appropriate for street wear with the coat and for dressy occasions as well.

CALIFORNIA TOUCH

California, which does such a wonderful job with casuals, was represented when Betty Torrey appeared in a beautiful banana yellow Ivan-Fredericks dress. Of cotton peau de soie, the dress featured typical Ivan-Fredericks back interest.

• • •

Summer pink was done to perfection in the tailored-but-dressy casual worn by Muriel Sadler. A medium-sized white sailor collar was removable.

Imported Irish linen, a favorite with most women for summer, was worn by Pearl Mirkin. The two-piece suit featured a jacket with all-over contrasting red embroidery. Exciting, too, is the fact that it can be laundered.

Not to be overlooked were the separates for fun and play. Lee Keifer wore tapered trousers and jacket of red sailcloth. With the outfit she carried a large beach bag and a hunter's-type cap.

Leona Hunt's choice was a chiffon cocktail dress in black and white with a smart halter neckline. A cable stitch shrug had ties of matching material from the dress.

The invocation was given by Dorothy Baxter, and Mrs. Paul Gorman was toastmistress for the evening.

To reside on West Yale avenue are Mr. and Mrs. Billie Melton who were married Saturday morning at St. Michael Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Bender of Spence street, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Melton of Deering, Mo.

MR. and MRS. BILLIE A. MELTON

Frances J. Bender Wed in St. Michael Ceremony

Before an altar decorated with arrangements of roses, carnations and white gladioli, Frances Jean Bender became the bride of Billie Arnold Melton Saturday in St. Michael Church.

• • •

Frances is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Bender of Spence street and Billie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Melton of Deering, Mo.

The Rev. William Immel celebrated the 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass in the presence of 300 guests.

As the bride approached the altar she was wearing a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a full skirt of taffeta and an overskirt of tiered net.

A crown of seed pearls and sequins secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and roses.

ATTENDS SISTER

Gerry Bender served her sister as maid of honor. Her gown of yellow net over taffeta was accented by a matching lace jacket. Her floral arrangement was of pink carnations and pink roses.

• • •

Rosemary Sova and Gertrude Walsh were the bride's other attendants. Their gowns were fashioned identical to the honor attendant's in orchid net. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow carnations and yellow roses.

William Lewin performed the duties of best man. Seating the guests were Jay Brown and James Bender.

A blue and white color scheme was used throughout a local hall where the reception was held Saturday evening.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Chicago the bride changed to a beige and brown linen suit with matching accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

• • •

Care of Parents Troubles Couple

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Do we owe more to the future or to the past? Should our first concern be the financial needs of our own children, letting our aged parents wither on the vine?

Or do we take care of the parents, and put nothing aside for the education of our children?

That is the problem facing Sally and Bill for some time now.

The first time I heard from them was a year and a half ago. Sally wrote, telling me that her mother was widowed recently and had very little money.

She wanted and needed a job, so I advised Sally how her mother might find one.

DOING JUST FINE

Here's Sally's latest letter:

"Mother got her job and while it doesn't pay a lot it is just right for her. She has a small apartment in town and is busy at the office and doing fine.

"She'll be 60 next month, but it looks as though she can stay in the job indefinitely, since it is a small firm with no rigid retirement setup.

"But now we're terribly upset about Bill's parents.

"Bill's father is an invalid and has a very small pension. They can't live on it any more and yet if his mother goes out to work, who'll take care of his father?

"Bill insists that we must help out; but if we do our three children will never get to college, we'll have no provision for the future and not much for luxuries now. It isn't fair!

CHARITY REJECTED

"Why couldn't they have saved as they went along? If we help them, maybe some day we'll be in their position. What can we do?

"The doctor says there are some good agencies in town, community agencies that could help, but we can't let our own family be charity cases."

• • •

In the first place, the doctor is right.

Honest, hard working people who have paid taxes all their lives have a right to get help when they need it.

In the second place, perhaps we can find some work Bill's mother can do at home. But more than that, the price Sally and Bill will pay, in their hearts, if they neglect their parents is too high.

• • •

What good is it to make financial provision for your future, if your conscience is going to kill you? What fun is there in having luxuries, when your mind is full of worry about an elderly couple without necessities?

And what kind of heritage is it to give your children the knowledge that you ignored the needs of their grandpa and grandma?

SIMILAR DILEMMA

For Sally and Bill — and all couples facing a similar dilemma — I recommend a book called "How to Help Older People."

It gives information about all government and community services designed to give aid and all kinds of important information.

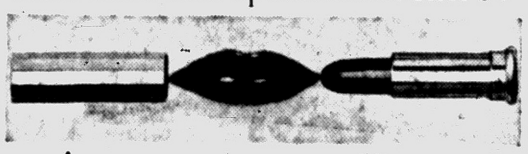

For details on how to get the book, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press.

Collects Birds' Eggs as Hobby

California Has 5,000 in Display Started Back in 1900

ESCONDIDO, Calif. (INS)—The lifelong hobby of James B. Dixon, 70, is Oology, the scientific name for the collection of bird eggs.

• • •

The collection of 5000 eggs belonging to Dixon is probably as complete as those in most natural history museums. There are 273 species of breeding birds in California. Dixon lacks eggs from only about 20 of these to complete his collection.

The oologist declared:

"I've been collecting eggs since 1900. I can't remember when I wasn't interested in birds and this hobby."

Dixon's collection of eggs is displayed in natural surroundings. He has constructed glass cases for them in a special wing of his home.

SPECIAL DRAWERS

The collector's specialties, eggs of daytime raptorial birds (carnivorous birds such as eagles, hawks and vultures), are located in special drawers. Highly prized among these are 100 golden eagle eggs — all collected in San Diego county.

One of Dixon's most striking displays is his falcon and hawk eggs, which have been placed in reconstructed cliff caves.

The collection will probably never be completed since several of the birds and their eggs cannot be hunted and because state and federal laws prohibit it.

The eggs range in size from that of the calliope humming bird, smallest bird in the United States, to that of the golden eagle.'

• • •

Dixon said he has been criticized for taking eggs from the nests. He added:

"It harms the birds in no way. They will reproduce within 10 to 28 days."

Foreigners Studying Indian Tongue, Hindi

NEW DELHI—Thirty-five foreign students are in India studying Hindi, which is to become the official language of this country, on Indian government scholarships.

They are from China, Turkey, Israel, British East Africa, British West Indies, Indonesia, Nyasaland, Ethiopia, the Fiji Islands, Sudan, Surinam, Thailand, Afghanistan, Tanganyika, Burma, Iran, Japan, and Nigeria.

World's largest artesian well is located at Roswell, N.M. It furnishes 13,000,000 gallons of water per day.

Bob Considine Says:

That's No Sparkler They're Playing With

H-BOMB BOUND (INS) — If the most complex scientific experiment ever known. And from somewhere around you (invisible because you are blindfolded in the recesses of protective glasses which do not admit normal light) you hear a god-like voice tolling off the remaining seconds . . . "five . . . four . . . three . . . two . . . one . . . "

Then the world as you remembered it is replaced, in utter silence, by a world composed only of light and heat. You see nothing but light, light beyond comprehension and therefore beyond description.

LIGHT FILLS YOU

The light tries to drown you. It fills you like water fills a drowning man. It penetrates your marrow and your brain.

And with it sometimes is heat: The opening and shutting of a furnace door whose radiance is directed at your face and hands. But when you look back on it, you remember the light . . . the eerie light with its deathlike silence.

But that was the A-bomb. This will be the H-bomb, one of whose simpler parts is an A-bomb — which is used to create the star-like heat which lights the wick of the bigger bomb.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, one of the AEC commissioners, gave us some details recently on what a 20 megaton H-bomb could do if used against a habitable target:

"First, a blinding flash from the point source, followed by the rapid development of a ball of fire which might reach nearly four miles in diameter.

"At the same time that the incandescent fire-ball develops and begins rising, the shock blast wave from the explosion itself proceeds outward at speeds somewhat greater than the velocity of sound, pushing violently into structures and then later pulling them backward toward the point of detonation.

"This causes destruction of most structures out to distances of miles."

• • •

Libby might have added that the radioactive fallout could under required wind conditions make uninhabitable an area the size of Connecticut.

SEVERE DAMAGE

The 10 megaton bomb would wreck light structures, break windows and doors and crack plaster 18 miles from the explosion. There would be severe damage up to 12 miles.

• • •

"Steel frame buildings would suffer severe structural damage at 9.6 miles from such a weapon," Libby added. "A reinforced concrete building with 10-inch walls and 6-inch floors would collapse at 3.2 miles from ground zero.

"In order to interpret this damage to buildings in terms of casualties to people inside them, we estimate that for severe damage to two-story brick structures 85 per cent would be killed outright and 15 per cent would receive serious injury requiring hospitalization.

"In other words, for distances of 12 miles from ground zero for a 10 megaton weapon, casualty figures of this sort may be expected to apply to people at that time inside such structures, and at a distance of 3.2 miles we may expect 100 per cent casualties for people inside reinforced concrete buildings."

The boys at Eniwetok, as you may see from the above, will not exactly be playing with sparklers.

Given every three years, this event re-enacts one of the most lavish weddings of all time, the 1475 marriage of Prince Georg of Bavaria- Landshut, son of Duke Louis IX (The Rich), and Princess Hadwiga, daughter of King Kasimir IV of Poland.

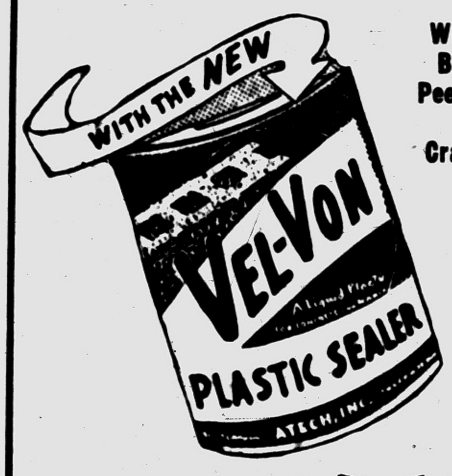

• • •

The entire town of Landshut, 45 miles northeast of Munich, serves as the festival's setting, and the townspeople wear the dress of 1775.

Janet Anderson Tops 16 Contestants to Claim Title of City's Miss Amvet

Janet Anderson was crowned Miss Amvet of Pontiac for 1956 at a recent beauty contest sponsored by Post 16. She was chosen from 17 contestants in the event held at the Roosevelt Hotel ballroom.

Miss Anderson will represent this sector in competition for state honors at the Michigan Amvet convention to be held at Grand Rapids in June. The local post will present her with a formal gown to be worn in that contest, and will also cover the trip expenses.

The state winner will go on to compete with girls from throughout the United States at the national convention in Milwaukee.

The judges selected Miss Anderson from a trio of outstanding finalists. She was given a slight edge over Barbara Looney and Genevieve Dovre.

Over 100 people attended the contest. The judging was in both conventional dress and bathing suits.

The list of judges for the contest included Sheriff Frank Irons, County Prosecutor Fred Ziem, Dr. James McHugh, Judith Clemence, society editor, The Pontiac Press and Robert Hanger, of radio station WPON. Dr. McHugh replaced Mayor William Donaldson who was unable to participate.

Adlai Hits GOP on Racial Issue

Touring Dem Candidate Goes on Handshaking Drive in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson mixed sharp criticism of the Eisenhower administration on desegregation and other issues with cheerful handshaking in a stepped-up campaign to win California's presidential primary.

• • •

He charged during 12 appearances here yesterday that the President has not used the prestige of his office to help carry out the Supreme Court decision striking down separate public schools for white and Negro students.

He told longshoremen on the waterfront they won't see better protection for labor, better housing and better health benefits "until you return to Washington a fighting, liberal administration."

AT BARKLEY FUNERAL

Winding up the one-day whirlwind tour of San Francisco, the former Illinois governor left by plane late last night to attend the funeral of Sen. Alben Barkley in Paducah, Ky. He plans to resume his vigorous 12-day California schedule in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Members of his staff and newsmen were struck by his relaxed, smiling approach to the job of handshaking. He said at one point he was enjoying it.

• • •

He devoted a heavy part of his time to Negro districts, as if to overcome previous criticism here that he was too soft on civil rights.

One-third of the oil wells drilled in the United States during 1953 were drilled in Texas.

$11.5 Billion Available in Foreign Aid Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today 11½ billion dollars will be available for foreign aid spending in the new financial year if Congress approves the full $4,900,000,000 asked by President Eisenhower.

Byrd said there will be $6,600,000,000 of unexpended foreign aid balances on hand at the start of the new bookkeeping year July 1.

Byrd issued a statement as chairman of the Senate-House watchdog committee on federal spending.

Break Ground for Sanctuary

Christ Lutheran Church Addition Under Way in Waterford Township

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Two hundred and seventy-five persons attended a ground-breaking ceremony at Christ Lutheran Church here for the addition to the present church building at Airport and Williams Lake Rds.

Construction began this week on the $115,000 project which will provide a sanctuary for over 400 worshipers and Sunday School and fellowship facilities in a full basement.

The Rev. Arvid E. Anderson, pastor of the church since 1950, turned the first shovel of earth. Representing the children and youth of the congregation were Gerry Boeneman, Jeffrey Harvey, and Janice Farrell. The Board of Administration represented the adults.

Robert Edwards is vice chairman of the board and chairman of the building committee.

The brick structure, which will be completed in the early fall, is of Norman design. The present first unit was erected in 1949.

Norman Barnard Day Planned by Troy City

TROY — Plans for a Norman Barnard Day are being formulated here.

City of Troy officials are planning the event in view of the fact that June 1 Orlando G. Holway will take over Barnard's post as city manager.

Barnard was honored by city staff members last night at a supper at the Troy Methodist church. Having resigned to become clerk of the Oakland County board of supervisors, he was presented a desk set by the group of 22.

Clifton Truesdell made the presentation. He is assistant manager for the time being, since Barnard has begun clerk's duties. Truesdell is chief building inspector.

On May 17, Barnard Day will be marked by a dinner at Troy High School, the city commission has decided.

Holway will come from Hazel Park, where he has been city manager. He visited city offices this week but won't start work until next month.

He will be Troy's second city manager since its incorporation last Dec. 12.

His salary will be $10,000, the same as the salary raise offered Barnard. Barnard had been drawing $7,500, and will be receiving $8,200 in the Oakand County job.

Just What Gags Do Psychiatrists Like the Best?

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Psychiatric Assn. is meeting and a newsman went over to ask a silly question.

"What," he asked members in the lobby of the convention hotel, "is your favorite gag touching on your profession?"

Members replied as follows:

A young psychiatrist met an elderly psychiatrist in an elevator.

"How can you stand it," the younger man inquired, "listening to complaints eight hours a day?"

His older colleague shrugged and said: "Who listens?"

HERE'S ANOTHER

A breathless fellow was running along a street and encountered a friend.

"What's your hurry?" the friend asked.

"I have an appointment with my psychiatrist at 10 and it's after 10 now," the runner explained.

"Don't rush," the friend advised. "He'll wait for you."

"Not my psychiatrist," the tardy fellow said. "He starts without me."

AND ANOTHER

"Girls who frequent picture palaces
"Don't think much of psychoanalysis.
"But they're happy and gay
"And in their carefree way
"Their psyches won't get any calluses."

AND ANOTHER

"A psychiatrist is a man who has been trained to understand and explain to other people the facts of life—which he himself has to avoid in order to become a psychiatrist."

A man who saw spots before his eyes went to an eye doctor, who told him he didn't know the cause. The patient moved on to a neurologist and finally to a neurosurgeon.

"I can't find anything wrong with you," the neurosurgeon said. "Have you ever seen a psychiatrist?"

"No," the puzzled patient replied, "just spots."

• • •

"I can't remember jokes," one psychiatrist said. "But if it's research you are interested in, why not find out how many cartoonists and jokesmiths are under psychiatric care?"

Because of technological progress, the United States can now produce on 20 to 25 million acres the same amount of cotton it grew on 40,000,000 acres 25 years ago.

Billboards Help Today's Driver

Hypnotism on Highway Impossible When View Is Constantly Broken

CHICAGO (INS) — Billboards and drive-in restaurants along the highway may be a driver's best friends.

An expert at putting people to sleep asserts that such distractions" help keep a driver awake.

Hypnotist Edwin L. Baron expressed this opinion because the question has been put to him almost as often as queries on how to quit smoking or lose fat.

Baron is director of the Hypnotism Institute of Chicago and one of America's best-known hypnotists. He has made a career out of teaching people how hypnotism works and performing for classes, theatres and club groups.

SOLUTION GIVEN

Invariably when he appears before a motor or truckers' group someone asks:

"What about highway hypnosis? Do these accidents happen because thed river is hypnotized by the monotony of the straight concrete slab, the drone of the engine and the hum of the tires?"

Baron replies:

"Naps and coffee breaks are one solution to dozing-driver accidents. And monotony is relieved by routes where billboards and restaurants break up the sameness of scenery."

Project in Nyasaland

ZOMBA, Nyasaland—A 10-year, $215,000,000 irrigation and hydro-electric project in Nyasaland's Shire River Valley has been started as one phase of a project to bring into cultivation some 120,000 acres. Textile mills may also be built to consume some of the cotton and power resulting from the project.

Commie Teacher Group Controlling Education of Japanese Youth

TOKYO (INS)—More than half-a-million school teachers responsible for the education of Japan's youth are dominated today by anti-American leftists striving to influence a new generation to wash its hands of the U. S.

There is among them a fair sprinkling of active, militant Communists who, as members of Japan's vital education system, are in ideal positions to distort with Red propaganda the minds of millions.

These are known and accepted facts in official Japanese circles which for several years have been keeping a wary eye on the activities of the all-powerful Japan Teachers Union (JTU).

This tremendously important labor union and its potential as an instrument of Communist propaganda has been a source of constant concern to officials of the education ministry.

IN KEY POSITIONS

These officials estimate that "two or three" members of JTU's policy-making, 52-man central executive committee are militant Communists.

Figures are unavailable on the number of Red teachers in the field, for they operate subtly. Thorough checkups of invidual instructors are difficult.

* * *

But there have been several exposes in recent years of individual instructors openly filling their students with anti-American propagnda in flagrant violation of education laws.

Government security officials, on the basis of their own investigations, estimate there are up to 300 Communist party members in JTU working in close liaison with the Japanese Communist party.

As a labor union, JTU is prohibited by law from engaging in political activity. But it does.

500,000 MEMBERS

At its national convention last May, the union reiterated it was opposed to government proposals to revise the postwar constitution.

JTU's 500,000-plus membership includes some 98 per cent of the nation's elementary and junior high school teachers, about 45 per cent of all high school teachers, and 30 per cent of university faculty members.

One of the strongest bulwarks holding JTU in check is the education committee system. These five-man committees are composed of civilians elected for a four-year period by public vote.

The committees exists on all levels of local administration and their main functions are:

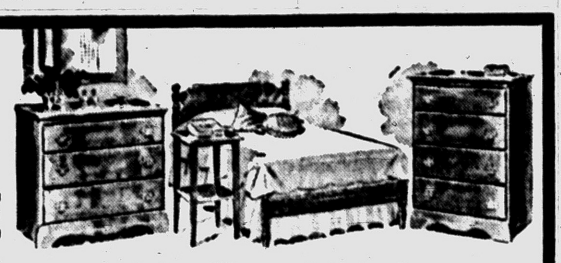

1. The administration of funds for public schools under their jurisdiction.
2. The hiring and firing of teachers.
3. The selection of school textbooks.

The majority of these committee members are conservative, largely because the rural populations which vote them to office are traditionally conservative.

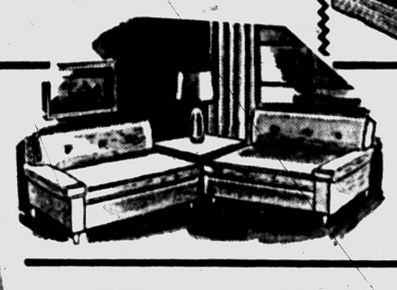

Education ministry officials say that to the best of their knowledge, JTU's activity in spreading left-wing or Communist propaganda so far has been kept reasonably under control.

But they are aware that if left unchecked the union would in no time become an invaluable instrument of the Communists in weaning Japan away from the free world.

Facts Released on Employment

Older Workers Facing New Job Problems and Women Work Less

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has released a new set of statistics in pinpointing some long suspected facts — that older workers have it tougher finding new jobs and that women tend to be unemployed longer than men.

The figures also showed that right now employment is at a high level in most industries.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said the new figures, to be published monthly, will give the government a better picture of current unemployment by age, sex, industry, occupation and so on.

• • •

"This is an important part of President Eisenhower's drive to improve and expand the economic information available to government and the public," Mitchell said.

The figures are obtained by analyzing about one per cent of claims filed for unemployment compensation benefits in various states.

They showed, for example, that average unemployment among these workers ran about 7½ weeks in Feburary. Also, that nearly 9 out of 10 stopped filing for continued benefits of their own accord, presumably because they found new work.

Graham Taking Stand Remains Doubtful

DENVER (AP) — Seven witnesses were called today for the opening of John Gilbert Graham's defense against a state charge he killed his mother by blowing up an airliner with 44 aboard.

Immediately after the prosecution rested its case yesterday, Dist. Judge Joseph M. McDonald denied defense motions for a directed verdict of acquittal and for dismissal of the charge the 24-year-old defendant killed Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55.

• • •

Graham's confession—which he has since denied — said he put a 25-stick dynamite time bomb in Mrs. King's luggage before it was stored aboard the United Air Lines that exploded 11 minutes after taking off from Denver.

Defense attorneys said they were unable to say at this time if Graham will testify.

Pontiac Press Photo

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM — Shown brushing up on his driving skill for the Teen-age Road-e-o this Saturday is last year's champion, James E. Barnowsky, 17, of 132 E. Rundell St. The junior at St. Michael High School hopes to defend his title against all competitors, and — in a note of rivalry — said he especially hopes to keep a Pontiac High School student from winning. The contest is sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce and will include driving tests at the Tel-Huron parking lot. The winner will be eligible to enter a state contest.

British Papers Razz American Critic of 'Bard'

LONDON (INS)—American literary critic Calvin Hoffman is taking a razzing from British newspapers, much of it in the language of William Shakespeare.

• • •

Hoffman has a theory that Christopher Marlowe actually wrote the plays attributed to Shakespeare. Tuesday, a tomb was opened in hopes that papers supporting the Hoffman thesis would be found. None were.

The London News Chronicle was a bit hard on Hoffman, saying editorially that "surely a man is entitled to a little privacy after he is dead."

• • •

The Daily Express thumbed through Hamlet and came up with "Alas, Poor Calvin."

The Telegraph sought another literary field, however, borrowing Don Quixote's horse from Cervantes' great novel. Noting Hoffman said he is continuing his investigation the paper said: "Mr. Hoffman is entitled to mount his Rosinante again and ride off in another direction."

• • •

The Daily Mail returned to the Bard to tell the harried but good-natured American: "Away! He rests not in this tomb."

In early America, maple sugar was the staple, cane sugar the delicacy, but the roles have now been reversed.

In Christian religion and art the lily symbolizes purity and is used at Easter as the emblem of the resurrection of Christ.

Not What You Say, but How You Use It

Telephone Gives Away Darkest of Secrets

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—As anyone old enough to read and worry is aware, the things we do and don't do in this life are mostly all manifestations of bio-psychic urges, schizo-somatic regressions, pleasure and pain principles. Or some such.

• • •

But what few had known until now is that the way one talks on a telephone is a key to his inner neuroses.

This was revealed recently, to the delight of Freudians everywhere, by a Dr. Herbert I. Harris of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Harris says that the ordinary home telephone brings out, in many of us, the most significant subconscious revelations.

There are two abnormal uses of the phone: "Telephone anxiety," and "telephone euphorial" (happiness).

• • •

Only males have "fear accompanying the use of a telephone," according to Dr. Harris' studies. And he adds that "all the patients who reported this fear were overattached to their mothers."

The good psychoanalyst did not explain this. But if there's a mother complex, it probably indicates the fear-phoner shies away from the receiver because it is likely to contain the small voice of a girl, asking him for a date—and men strongly attached to their mamas don't like to get involved with girls much.

• • •

On the other hand, the euphorial — or dial-happy — phoners are a much larger group, and mostly made up of schizophrenics, alcoholics and teenagers.

These folks have, says Dr. Harris, "cyclical disorders. As their euphoria increases, they make phone calls of increasingly long distance and long duration."

This suddenly makes clear a great many mysteries of life that have troubled parents of teenagers, friends of schizophrenics, and victims of alcoholics for years. (It also may decide many long-distance operators to quit work and take up housekeeping.)

• • •

It is believed that the teenagers use telephones excessively because it gives them "a feling of power" the analyst reports, in an insecure growing-up world. They only need understanding and affection that will make them feel equally powerful in their off-the-wire moments.

SEEKING APPROVAL

The schizophrenics (split personalities) and alcoholics, on the telephone, are probably seeking not so much power as approval and the security of friendships.

• • •

The reason they call long distance so frequently, possibly, is that subconsciously they realize that the way they're behaving—well, there's not much approval to be had close to home.

What they need, until psychiatry or will power or fate straightens them out, is tolerance and prayers and occasionally a firm voice on the other end of the phone, saying—"If this telephone euphoria of yours increases, I am going to call the police."

This reaction has been known to convert an euphoriac into a "telephone anxiety" man in a matter of seconds.

About a tenth of U.S. men from ages 17 to 64 are admitted to hospitals each year.

Plan Special Service in Lieu of the Regular Gethsemane Program

BROOKLANDS — Members and friends of Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Brooklands will gather Sunday in one service at 9:30 a.m. in the multi-purpose room of the Brooklands Public school instead of at the church.

This will be a special rally service arranged by the New-Church Planning committee headed by Vincent Braun assisted by William Bishop and Robert Smalley.

The Reverend Norman Kuck, Gethsemanes pastor, will conduct the liturgical portion of the service. The Detroit Lutheran High School chorus will assist with three selections.

The committee will also at this time bring the congregation up to date on the progress, needs and plans to connection with the building and expansion program.

Nursery facilities will be provided for the smaller children during the service.

Holy Communion, Sunday School and Bible Class will be cancelled for the day. The regular Sunday schedule will be resumed at the church near Dequindre May 13 with Holy Communion in both the 8:30 and 10:45 a. m. services.

To have their names placed on the ballot, candidates must present petitions with the signatures of 50 or more qualified school electors to the secretary of the board.

Petition forms are available at the Board of Education office at Avondale High School.

Serve Friends Oriental Treat

Conjure up an Oriental treat next time you have friends over for dinner by serving a tasty pork chop suey. It's just the dish to add variety to your list of favorite dinner menus.

You can use an economical cut of pork for this chop suey recipe. Pork shoulder, for example, particularly fills the bill.

Pork Chop Suey

2 pounds pork, cut in strips
2 cans (3 or 4 ounces each) mushrooms
2 green peppers, cut in strips
2 medium onions, sliced
1-3 cup unsulphured molasses
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1-3 cup vinegar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
6 cups hot cooked rice

Brown meat in large skillet. Drain mushrooms; measure liquid. Add enough water to make 2 cups. Add to skillet; bring to boil. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 1 hour.

Stir in mushrooms, pepper and onion. Mix together molasses, soy sauce and vinegar. Add to skillet and cook, stirring occasionally, 15 minutes longer.

Blend cornstarch with small amount of water. Stir into hot mixture. Cook stirring, until slightly thickened. Serve with hot cooked rice. Yield: 8 servings.

Don't add suger to dried prunes or dried apricots until after cooking; if sugar is added during the cooking, it may toughen the fruit.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

Paul H. Hagberg writes from the Worcester (Mass.) Gazette Chapter, "Please add me to your family of Skilleteers. I am an ex-Army cook (a Sarg.!). I am enclosing for membership a recipe that my wife has me prepare quite often—BARBECUED SPARERIBS." For six.

4 pounds spareribs
2 carrots, sliced
2 onions, sliced
1 cup celery, sliced
1 green pepper, diced
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
Salt and pepper

Place spareribs in roaster, sprinkle with salt and pepper, add carrots, onions, celery, green pepper, and pour over all, the tomatoes. Cover pan and cook at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. Remove cover and roast 20 minutes longer, basting occasionally. Serve with rice or potatoes, and as you gnaw those bones, welcome Mr. Hagberg to our group!

Our own "QUICK SEAFOOD BISQUE," quite a popular item at our house, too.

1 cup condensed cream of mushroom soup (10½ oz.)
1 can condensed cream of tomato soup (10½ oz.)
1 can ready-to-serve split pea soup (8¼ oz.)
1½ soup-canafull of milk
1 can crabmeat, lobster or shrimp or 1 of each
1 tablespoon dried shredded white onion flakes
Salt and pepper to taste
⅛ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
¼ teaspoon Worcestereshire
Sherry to taste

Empty soup into a sizeable kettle, and measure in the milk. Stir gently until hot and well blended. Pick over crabmeat and add, along with other desired seafood, any liquid from the tins and remaining ingredients. Fresh cooked seafood is of course fine for this too. Serve very hot, seasoned to taste with sherry. This makes a fine meal served with a tossed salad and coffee.

Mrs. Roscoe L. Jordan of South Bend, Indiana, joined the Chicago Daily News Chapter with her favorite DOUGHNUTS.

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1-3 cup melted shortening
1 cup milk
4½ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon nutmeg
Shortening for deep frying

Combine beaten eggs, sugar and melted shortening, vanilla and add milk. Mix flour with baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Combine the liquid and dry ingredients.

Roll dough out to ½-inch thickness on a floured board. Dough should be soft. Cut with floured doughnut cutter, and fry in shortening heated to 375 degrees. Turn to brown on both sides, remove, and drain on paper toweling. Sprinkle, if desired, while still warm, with powdered sugar mixed with a little cinnamon.

Lamb liver, when it is fresh, is mild-flavored and tender. It may be pan fried.

Basil, Lemon Flavor Butter

In preparing the "foods of spring," a good ally to remember is the herb basil. It is a seasoning that has a special affinity for many of the foods which are abundant this time of year.

* * *

Basil comes from the leaves of a plant of the mint family. Its somewhat sweet, warm flavor is wonderful for sparking up boiled potatoes, asparagus and spring onions.

A simple way to use it is to crumble the dried leaves into melted butter and then pour the butter over the vegetables. This herbed butter is also perfect over broiled fish.

Fresh spring salads with ripe tomatoes seem to take on a different note if basil is added to the oil and lemon juice dressing. Or try the same dressmg over a cold, cooked vegetable salad.

Fish Broiled in Basil-Lemon Butter

½ cup butter or margarine, melted
½ teaspoon crumpled whole basil leaves
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 pounds fillet of haddock

Set oven control to broil and preheat five minutes. Combine melted butter or margarine, basil, black pepper and salt. Heat about one minute. Remove from heat and add lemon juice.

Brush fish on both sides with the Basil-Lemon Butter. Arrange on greased broiler rack. Place under broiler 4 inches from source of heat. Broil five minutes.

Baste both sides of fish again and turn. Broil five minutes or until brown. Yield: Four servings.

Use Cheese Spread for Canadian Toast

Prepare this cheese mixture ahead, then make these open sandwiches just before serving.

Canadian Cheese Toast

2 cups grated cheddar cheese (measure without packing down)
2 whole canned pimientoes (drained and chopped)
¼ cup thinly sliced filberts
¼ cup mayonnaise
6 slices bread

Mix together the cheese, pimientoes, filberts and mayonnaise. Toast bread under broiler on one side only; spread untoasted side with cheese mixture, covering edges.

Return to broiler for a minute or two—just until cheese melts and browns. Serve at once. Slices may be cut in half for easy eating. Makes four servings.

ASPARAGUS-SHRIMP SALAD—Tender fresh asparagus is a tempting spring treat. Try serving marinated spears with whole shrimp as a luncheon main dish. The sauce is made with mayonnaise and chopped fresh tomatoes. For dieters, serve just lemon wedges.

Proper Cooking Protects Fresh Asparagus Flavor

The secret of more flavorsome fresh asparagus depends on the way it is prepared and cooked.

* * *

Break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Wash, then tie 5 or 6 stalks into a bundle. Stand the bundles, with the tips up, in the bottom of a double boiler in about an inch of boiling salted water. Invert the top of the double boiler and cook for 15 to 20 minutes or until just crisp-tender.

By this method the entire stalk cooks evenly. The boiling water cooks the stalk while the steam cooks the tender heads.

* * *

Fresh asparagus is to many people the most treasured of all vegetables, but we are far from the first to appreciate this springtime delicacy. It was a favorite of the ancient Romans. Later, in medieval England, it seems to have been as popular.

Boiled asparagus is delicious served with just a pat of butter and a sprinkle of fresh lemon juice.

Of course, if you would like to be more elaborate, there is nothing that compares to a rich, tart hollandase sauce over the stalks.

Another wonderful way of serving this seasonal vegetable is to marinate it in a tart lemon French dressing. Combined with cold shrimp it makes a perfect spring salad. It also makes a tasty low-calorie hors d'oeuvre.

* * *

Fresh Asparagus and Shrimp Salad

2 pounds cooked fresh asparagus
¼ cup French dressing
½ head lettuce
15 cooked large shrimp
Fresh Tomato Mayonnaise

Marinate cold cooked asparagus in French dressing for one hour in the refrigerator. Arrange on lettuce with cold cooked shrimp. Serve with Fresh Tomato Mayonnaise. Yield: Five servings.

Fresh Tomato Mayonnaise

Combine, one-half cup mayonnaise with one-half cup finely chopped fresh tomato, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper and one-eighth teaspoon ground red pepper. Serve with Fresh Asparagus and Shrimp Salad. Yield: One cup.

Try Sardine Snack

Drain sardines. Cut bread in sardine-size slices; toast. Dip in sardine oil; spread with anchovy paste. Sprinkle with lemon juice and chopped parsley. Top with sardines; heat in hot (400) oven. Serve with potato or corn chips and a tray of raw vegetable bits.

Curry Vegetables, Bananas and Rice

Fried bananas, green beans, carrots and rice lightly flavored with curry make a healthful, satisfying meal at any time and provide an excellent change of menu. Attractively arranged on a chop plate, the dish is good to look at, too.

* * *

Added advantages are ease and speed of preparation. To serve four you will need four to six carrots—depending on size—1 pound green beans, a 5½-ounce package of pre-cooked rice and four firm, green-tipped bananas.

While beans and carrots are cooking, prepare rice as directed on package. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; blend in 1 teaspoon curry powder. Pour over rice; toss until well mixed.

Peel bananas. Melt one-fourth cup butter or margarine in skillet. Add bananas.

Fry gently, over low flame, until evenly golden brown and easily pierced with a fork. Sprinkle lightly with salt.

Stuffing for Lamb

Have a small shoulder of lamb boned and a large pocket cut for stuffing. Fill the pocket with your favorite poultry dressing and roast. Serve with oven-browned potatoes and a crisp salad for a good dinner.

Butter Increases Spinach Goodness

It's the butter in this spinach that makes it taste so good.

Buttered Spinach

1 cellophane-wrapped package (10 ounces) washed cleaned spinach
3 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper

Rinse spinach in a large amount of cold water; drain lightly. Put in a heavy saucepan with just the water that clings to the leaves.

* * *

Use low heat until juices collect in pan and turn spinach with a fork as it wilts; increase heat a little, cover and cook about five minutes longer or just until tender.

Drain if necessary. If you prefer a milder-flavored spinach, fill a large saucepan about three-quarters full of boiling water.

Add spinach and bring to a boil, turning once or twice with a fork; boil gently about five minutes or just until spinach is tender; drain well.

Stir butter into drained spinach until melted and add salt and pepper to taste. Makes three servings.

Add dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and curry powder to a cheese souffle for interesting flavor.

Stuffed Lamb Makes Good Supper Dish

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb

4 pounds shoulder of lamb
4 cups cubed white bread
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup finely diced onion
½ cup finely diced celery
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano
1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms
1 egg (slightly beaten)
1 tablespoon kitchen bouquet

Have shoulder of lamb boned to make pocket for stuffing. Remove crusts from day-old white bread and cut in ½ inch cubes.

Melt butter over moderate heat. Add onion and celery and cook, stirring occasionally, for about 5 minutes. Add to cubed bread. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and oregano. Drain and add mushrooms; reserve mushroom liquid for use in gravy. Mix lightly. Add egg and mix again.

Fill the pocket of the roast with stuffing. Fasten with skewers. Place on rack, fat side up, in an open pan and brush with kitchen bouquet.

Roast in slow (325 degrees) oven about 2½ hours or to 182 degrees on meat thermometer. Serve with gravy made from drippings. Makes 6 servings.

COMPLETELY NEW! COMPLETELY DIFFERENT!

Imperial's got the flavor that's been missing in margarine!

imperial IS THE FIRST MARGARINE UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED TO TASTE LIKE THE HIGH-PRICED SPREAD!

You're going to be seeing a brand new product at your grocer's today . . . a product so superior that it carries a guarantee never before made — in all of margarine history. Imperial is the first margarine guaranteed to bring you the tantalizing flavor formerly found only in the expensive spread for bread.

IMPERIAL'S GOT THAT FLAVOR

Flavor is what's been missing in margarine. And flavor is what Lever Brothers devoted seven years to achieve. It wasn't hard to make Imperial spread smoother and easier than any other margarine. And it wasn't hard to make Imperial as nutritious as even the most expensive spread you can buy. The trick was flavor. And Imperial is the first margarine to capture and hold that unmistakable flavor everybody loves.

YOU AGREE—OR LEVER BROTHERS RETURNS YOUR MONEY

We know you may find it hard to believe that a margarine could live up to all we claim for Imperial. So to make it possible for you to try Imperial without any risk, Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees that if Imperial doesn't taste like the high-priced spread to you — they'll return every penny you spent to try it.

P.S. Like the high-priced spread, Imperial is delicate and perishable. So to protect its perfect flavor, always keep Imperial in your refrigerator.

IMPERIAL – THE EXCITING NEW NON-DAIRY SPREAD FOR BREAD

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

CREAMY OLIVE DIP — The next time guests come, serve a cream cheese-green olive dip with carrot and cucumber sticks, radishes and potato chips. Cranberry juice over crushed ice is a beverage everyone will enjoy.

Buttermilk Mixes Well With All Fruit Juices

Buttermilk is a delightfully cooling and refreshing drink. It combines well with fruit juices for flavorful milk punches. Orange buttermilk punch is especially good.

To make one quart combine 3 cups buttermilk with 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, ¾ cup orange juice, 3 tablespoons each of lemon juice and sugar, 2/3 teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

Put Oil on Grilled Meats for Tender Servings

Grilled meats taste best when they are not dried out on the outside and raw on the inside. This may be the fault of too hot a fire, but it is usually because the outer part of the meat is too dry to start with.

A marinade made of half a cup of good Spanish olive oil in which the meat is soaked, not only prevents the meat from sticking to the grill, but keeps it from drying out. By adding the juice of a lemon or half a cup of red wine or vinegar, you improve the flavor of the meat and make it tender. Meat can be left in the marinade overnight, but soaking for only half an hour improves its flavor.

Stuffed Olives Hard to Beat

In the line of party refreshments, stuffed green olive dips and dunks are hard to beat. Chopped or sliced olives add a festive, decorative touch used as an ingredient and garnish. Two new recipes which feature olives with cream cheese and cottage cheese have been designed as tasty, easily-prepared company fare.

Creamy Olive Dip

1 8-ounce package cream cheese softened
¼ cup light cream
¼ cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon prepared horse-radish
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup chopped celery
½ cup sliced small pimiento-stuffed green olives

Combine cheese, cream, chili sauce, horse-radish and mustard. Beat until blended. Add celery and olives and mix well. Serve as dip for crackers or potato chips, as desired. Makes about 2 cups.

Olive Cheese Dip

1 cup creamed cottage cheese
¼ cup mayonnaise
2½ teaspoons prepared horse-radish
Dash Tabasco
Dash cayenne
Dash salt
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ cup finely chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
Potato chips or cooked shrimp

Combine cheese, mayonnaise, horse-radish, Tabasco, cayenne, salt and onion; blend well, fold in olives. Serve as a dip for potato chips or shrimp. Garnish as desired. Makes about 1¾ cups.

New Dinner Treat With Creamed Eggs

Simple but good!

Creamed Eggs

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2¼ cups milk
Salt
Pepper
Celery salt
8 hard-cooked eggs
Buttered toast

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk; add salt, pepper and celery salt to taste. Slice eggs and arrange on buttered toast; pour sauce over. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Weight-watchers take note: A slice of high-protein bread (low in fat) may furnish as little as 46 calories.

Dieters Should Exercise

A recent finding at Harvard University introduces a new note into reducing regimes: Moderate exercise plus good eating.

* * *

Lack of exercise can lead to excessive weight gains, the Harvard group claims. In their studies, which were supported in part by the Nutrition Foundation, an inactive group of high school girls was found to be overweight even though they ate less than their more active, slimmer classmates.

For these lethargic girls "less" was still too much. In fact, the number of girls who skipped breakfast twice a week or oftener was higher among the overweights.

Harvard's School of Public Health has long championed the role of exercise in weight reducing. Now they have evidence that a little exercise taken regularly can separate the slim from the stout.

* * *

Even in the group that was not overweight, the controls' schedules showed relatively little time given to household chores, little participation in active sports, and very little time for walking or other exercise. The overweight students, however, spent still less time in such activities.

* * *

Only three-fourths of the overweight group took part in ballroom dancing in contrast to almost all of the controls. Of the 28 controls, two were cheerleaders and four were ballet or acrobatic dancers. None of the overweights took part in these activities.

* * *

This study answers the criticism that exercise uses little energy. It shows clearly that regular exercise pays off in a reducing regime; that it isn't necessary to chop wood for hours or exercise strenuously to lose weight.

* * *

By walking only a mile a day, we burn up a pound of fat in a month, 12 pounds in a year. This may be all that is needed to keep one in good trim.

A second criticism is that exercise makes you hungry, that it makes you eat more so you gain instead of losing weight. The Harvard investigators found short periods of exercise were not followed by undesirable increases in appetite. On the other hand lack of such activity often leads to gains in weight.

So when someone tells you she continues to gain weight even though eating scarcely enough to feed a canary, take her dancing, for a brisk walk, or to pay golf. Meals of appetizing, high quality foods can follow with greater enjoyment and no apologies.

Use only 3 eggs in this recipe since with Clabber Girl Baking Powder it will be as light and fluffy as with many more eggs. Choose your own filling, if you wish, instead of grape or apple jelly. There's no substitute, here, for your own baking skill.

LEMON JELLY ROLL Yield: 6 to 8 servings

1 cup sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 cup beet or cane sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup hot water
Confectioners sugar
1 7-ounce jar grape or apple jelly

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat eggs in a bowl set in a larger bowl of warm water until light and lemon colored (about 10 minutes). Add sugar gradually, beating continually. Add lemon rind and vanilla. Fold in dry ingredients, a few tablespoonfuls at a time. Add the hot water in a thin but steady stream, folding in. Pour into jelly roll pan, 10 x 15 inches, lined with greased, waxed paper. Bake at 375° F. (moderate oven) for 12 to 15 minutes. Cut crusty edges from cake; turn cake upside down on a clean towel sprinkled with confectioners sugar. Pull off paper, roll cake in towel and cool. Unroll, spread with jelly and re-roll. Sprinkle surface with confectioners sugar

Remember... it's the fresh ingredients in your home baked recipe that make things taste better; stay fresh longer!

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork arm steak

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is cut from the picnic shoulder. The picnic shoulder includes the arm and shank section of the shoulder. The pork arm steak contains a small round (arm) bone, is oval at one end, and is squared off at the other.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is cooked slowly by braising, a moist method of meat cookery or by panfrying, a dry method of meat cookery. Steaks cut three-quarters of an inch thick require about 45 minutes for cooking.

To braise, brown the meat on all sides in its own or a small amount of lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper, add a small amount of liquid, if necessary. Cover tightly. Cook at a low temperature until done.

To panfry, brown the meat on both sides in its own or a small amount of lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper; do not cover.

Cook at a moderate temperature until done, turning occasionally. Remove the meat cut from the pan and serve at once.

Cost of Potatoes Is Split 4 Ways

Have you bought any potatoes recently?

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has been trying to find out where your money goes when you buy potatoes.

One of the things it has learned is that there's a considerable difference in the amount of money the farmer gets, some difference in the amounts other people get at different seasons of the year, and also some differences depending on where the potatoes are grown.

But forgetting about the differences for a moment, let's use Idaho Russet Burbank potatoes as an example. Those are the long white potatoes that many people call "Idaho bakers." Usually they command the top price at the store, because they cook so well.

Let's say you paid 68 cents for a 10-pound bag of those Idaho baking potatoes. The retailer kept 29 cents, to cover his costs, any potatoes that spoiled or had to be thrown out for any reason, the cost of the paper bag and some profit.

The retailer bought the potatoes from a wholesaler, who received them a carload at a time, and hauled them from the railroad car or his storage house to the retail store. The wholesaler kept about four cents for handling that 10-pound bag of potatoes.

It's a long way from Idaho to the place where you live, and the railroad company charged almost 13 cents for hauling 10 pounds of potatoes.

The potato grower out in Idaho got 22 cents to pay for his costs of growing the 10 pounds of potatoes, digging them, cleaning them, putting them in 100-pound burlap bags, storing them in a special warehouse for a few weeks or several months, and loading them into the railroad cars.

Win Applause With Nutritious Wheat Sticks

Since quick-breads require no special skill, they are one of the easiest ways to display your baking talents—and one of the best ways to perk up meals and coax appetites.

Everyone likes bread so you'll please the whole family from Dad to Junior when you spark your meals with made-at-home breads.

Serve these Wheat Sticks hot with plenty of butter. They'll win compliments and you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that you are giving your family better nutrition.

Wheat Sticks

2 eggs
⅓ cup sugar
2-3 cup milk
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
1 1-3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup wheat germ

Beat eggs until very light; add sugar, milk, melted butter or margarine. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt; stir in wheat germ. Add the liquids to the dry ingredients all at once. Mix together but do not beat.

Have cornstick pans well greased and heated in hot oven (400). Fill pans two-thirds full and bake in hot oven (400) for 20 minutes. Remove wheat sticks from pans and serve hot. Makes 18.

Fresh asparagus, chilled and cut into 1-inch lengths, is a wonderful addition to tossed green salad.

Spring Sauterne Salads Ideal for Fancy Desserts

There must be an "S" in the month, for here comes a Spring Strawberry Sauterene Souffle Salad. Don't waste time trying to say it — start assembling the dessert salad. Just the surprise for a luncheon, buffet, a special birthday or dessert bridge.

Fruit and white wine intermingle their flavors for a dish that is both delicate and substantial. Chopped pecans add the needed crunch. Make the salad the day before the party, unmold and garnish it with whole strawberries and your best friends will tell you it's a triumph.

Strawberry Sauterene Suffle Salad

1½ cups lightly sweetened sliced fresh strawberries or
1 package (12 oz.) sliced frozen strawberries
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
¼ cup strawberry juice (drained from berries)
¼ cup Sauterne or Rhine wine
¼ cup real mayonnaise
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup drained pineapple tidbits
½ cup chopped pecans

Drain juice from berries, reserve ¼ cup. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add strawberry juice, wine, mayonnaise and salt. Blend with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator tray.

Quick chill in freezing unit (without changing control) 15 to 20 minutes, or until firm about 1 inch from edge, but soft in center. Turn mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy.

Fold in drained strawberries, pineapple and nuts. Pour into 1 quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm in refrigerator (not freezing unit) 30 to 60 minutes. Unmold and garnish with whole strawberries and chicory. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Leftover Meat Dish

A small amount of turkey, chicken, duck, roast pork or ham left over from Sunday dinner can make Monday's lunch or supper. Team the diced cooked meat with cooked rice, salad oil, finely diced onion, strips of green pepper or pimiento and heat in a large skillet. Season with soy sauce.

Whip bananas into vanilla ice cream, add chopped nuts or fresh fruit, put into freezing tray of refrigerator and serve when firm as dessert with brownies.

Steam Your Fruits

Steam prunes, apricots, and whole figs. Alternate their placement on a skewer. Brush with melted butter and reheat them in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees). Serve skewered fruit as a meat accompaniment.

Dress Up Loaf Cake

Here's a way to fix up bought loaf cake. Heat it in the oven until warmed through, then spread the top with strawberry preserves and place under the broiler for a few minutes, watching carefully. Serve at once.

Try Mint Sauce on Lamb Chops

If you have a "meat and potato" family and you're bored to death cooking the same thing every night, try serving your lamb chops with this wonderful cherry mint sauce. Your family will love it, for the gay red maraschino cherries and the cool green mint jelly make an exciting combination that will brighten up the lamb chops and move them out of the ordinary.

Cherry Lamb Chops

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
6 shoulder lamb chops, about ¾ inch thick
1 cup water
2 teaspoons salt
1 12-ounce jar mint jelly
½ cup maraschino cherries, cut in halves (about 20 cherries)
½ cup white vinegar

Melt butter or margarine; add chops and cook until browned on both sides. Add water and salt and cook, covered, over low heat until chops are tender, 45 minutes. Add jelly and cherries. Cook 15 minutes.

Asparagus Buying

When you buy asparagus, avoid crooked stalks, and those with spreading tips. They indicate that the asparagus was cut long ago and not properly refrigerated during shipment; consequently the asparagus may be tough. Straight, plump stalks and tight tips are indications of the best quality.

Heat applesauce and sprinkle with just a smidgin of ground allspice. Delicious with slices of baked ham.

Everyone Needs Milk Regardless of the Age

Everyone takes for granted the fact that babies must have milk. They need it to develop strong bones and teeth . . . in fact, babies can't even sit up until they are about six months old — not until they absorb enough calcium from milk to make their skeleton strong. All growing youngsters need milk . . . about a quart a day. Parents of teenagers know that even more than a quart is often well used by boys and girls who are shooting up inches a year.

How about grownups? They need milk too. Regardless of age, all must have the calcium, high quality protein, and important vitamins that milk supplies. Adults need almost as much milk as do children . . . to maintain the body in health and vigor. When you're young, milk helps you grow.

Fruits and Vegetables Up in Quantity, Down in Price

Every day brings Michigan's growing season nearer when produce counters will be filled with home grown fruits and vegetables. This is evidenced by increased shipment of many vegetables from other states and the end of the season for several fruits, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Already shoppers can find Michigan hothouse leaf lettuce and the small dark green heads of tender Bibb lettuce. The head lettuce supply is heavier than last week; the quality is good.

Tomatoes will hurt the budget less on today's market list as both the 14-ounce packages and the hot-house ripened ones are increasing. For some time the cabbage on Michigan counters has been arriving from Florida, but beginning this week it will be supplemented with cabbage from the Carolinas. This should add up to especially favorable prices, so plan more way to use cabbage in menus.

Rains in Texas have affected the onion market so that in some stores there may be as much as a ten cent increase on a three-pound bag of onions. New potatoes are higher than expected since new supplies are not as plentiful as first anticipated. However, at 7 to 10 cents a pound, potatoes are a must in every day's diet.

Carrots are a low cost favorite, or select beets for real home grown flavor.

Berries are the big news on fruit counters. The quality at this time of year, according to some produce buyers is better than it has been in several years. Within the next four weeks, strawberries will arrive from other states—then it will be time to look for Michigan berries.

Even though the end of the grapefruit season is in sight, there is still a plentiful supply of fine quality fruit. For the most juice select those that are relatively thin and smooth skinned, and that are heavy for their size. Winesap apples are in the spotlight at about 13 to 20 cents a pound depending upon size.

How to prepare fresh pineapple in a jiffy may be the reason for hesitating to buy this fruit. If so, write Mrs. Lawyer at 1260 West Boulevard, Pontiac, and ask for the chart showing an easy way to cut and serve pineapple. Pineapple is selling at near wholesale cost.

Following the usually seasonal pattern, wholesale prices on both pork and beef are up slightly. However, shoppers will notice only very small changes in retail prices. All cuts of pork will be featured with economy buys in picnics, Boston Butts, rib-end loin roast, and sausage.

The steady wholesale price of beef chuck keeps it one of the best beef values, although retail costs are slightly more than a week ago. For more elegant eating, beef rib roast carries a reasonable price tag. Both pork and beef are good values for this time since they are selling at considerably lower prices than last spring.

This is a good time to enjoy Michigan smelt, this being the peak of the smelt season, though they will be available all during May. The characteristic smelt flavor is the result of an essential oil present in the flesh.

This oil evaporates rapidly and is not found in stale fish. Wise shoppers will insist on strictly fresh smelt for delicate sweet flavor.

Prices on Grade A large eggs have dropped a few pennies in many stores. Fryers remain in the budget price group even though prices will probably be a few cents higher this weekend than last.

PAN-FRIED SMELT

Clean and wash fish. Season with salt and pepper. Roll fish in cornmeal, dip in egg diluted with milk or water, roll in cornmeal again. Heat two tablespoons fat in a heavy skillet. Using a low flame, brown the fish on one side, then the other.

Variations: 1. Soak fish in lemon juice for 10-15 minutes before frying to bring out the delicate flavor.

2. Other suggestions for crumbing—flour, bread crumbs, cracker crumbs, crushed cornflakes.

New Fruit Punch Bows In; Old Orange Crates Go Out

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Springtime seems to call forth a variety of new food products. Would that it called forth some warmer weather also!

No doubt there will be days when we'll welcome a long cool drink. The company that puts out little packets of fruit-flavored soft drink powder has added a new one to their line. In addition to the eight familiar flavors there is now a Fruit Punch.

Fruit Punch can be served alone or combined with other fruit juices and beverages. We suggest you try this way of serving it.

Cranberry Fruit Punch

1 package Imitation Fruit Punch soft drink powder
½ cup sugar
2 cups (1-pint bottle) cranberry juice
Water and ice cubes to make 6 cups

Combine all ingredients. Stir until soft drink powder and sugar are dissolved. Makes 2 quarts or 16 servings.

Have you seen any sausage packaged in transparent plastic packages, ready to be simmered or baked right in its wrappings? Directions for either method of cooking are printed on the Cryovac wrapper. Watch for this convenient meat at your favorite store.

When we were first married, we had bookcases made from orange crates. Even if today's newlyweds wanted similar "furniture," they would be doomed to disappointment. The wooden orange box is no more.

Orange growers are now packing oranges in corrugated paper cartons which keep the fruit in top condition. These new containers necessitate a change in the sizing (you know orange size is designated by the number in a container). The former "100's" are now "50's," since a carton holds half as many as boxes did.

At least one Pontiac store is featuring the newest cake mix to come out of test kitchens—instant apple chip cake. It is lightly spiced and contains generous bits of apple. When baked, these chips are slightly chewy.

Calling for two fresh eggs, this apple chip cake is quick and simple to beat up. A box makes a layer cake, a large loaf cake or 20 medium cupcakes.

One of the country's largest chain food stores has put out its own brand of instant coffee. This is in addition to their line of custom-ground and vacuum-packed coffees.

Within the next ten years you may be keeping your food on the shelf in the kitchen in plastic airtight containers. The food will keep because it will have been irradiated with X-rays from radioactive atoms.

Experiments are being conducted to determine the wholesomeness of such foods. So far, tests have shown that fresh taste, vitamin and calorie values are unchanged in most foods.

There's a plentiful supply of dates on the market. We think you may like a couple of recipes showing how you can use this delicious fruit.

Dates are probably man's oldest cultivated fruit. In the United States most of them are grown in a 5000-acre garden in the Coachella Valley in California.

Date Waffles

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups milk
2 eggs
1 cup chopped dates

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Add egg yolks, butter or margarine and milk gradually. Beat until perfectly smooth. Add dates and egg whites beaten until stiff. Bake as ordinary waffles. Serve with butter and honey. Serves 6.

Date Fruit Salad Supreme

6 thick slices pineapple
2 packages (3 oz.) cream cheese
8 canned apricot halves
½ cup mayonnaise
15 pitted dates
1 orange cup
Maraschino cherries
Lettuce, watercress

Arrange pineapple slices on bed of lettuce and watercress. Leave space for orange cup with mayonnaise in center.

* * *

Cover pineapple with thick swirls of cream cheese, run through a pastry tube. Press 3 whole pitted dates on top of pineapple. Fit apricot halves in center of pineapple slices.

Garnish mayonnaise with sliced cherries. (To make orange cup, cut large orange in half. Remove pulp. Notch with sharp knife.)

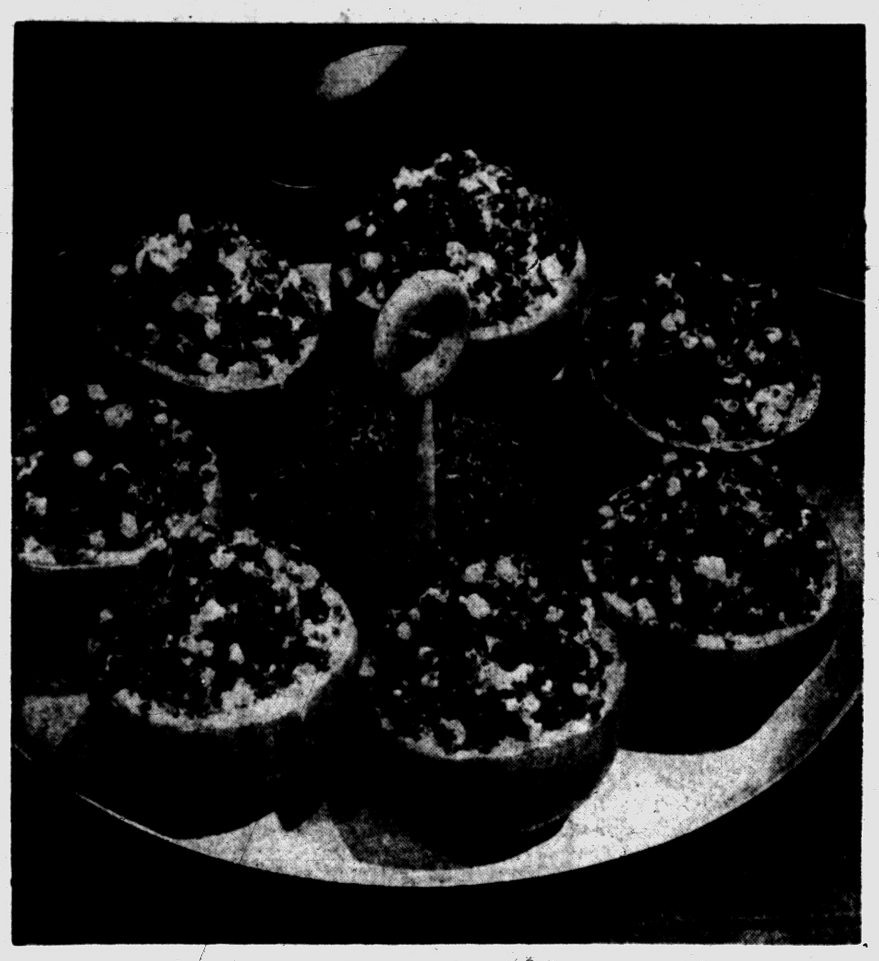

What's in celery salt? Ground celery seeds and regular salt. Celery salt is good to add to chicken dishes, French dressing, many soups.

New, Fluffy Lovelight Chiffon Cake

Cousin to Chiffon Cake, the first new cake in 100 years, Lovelight Chiffon is thrifty, easy to make and has outstanding keeping qualities. Every homemaker just must want to try out this cake, for its airy chiffon texture is obtained with only 2 eggs. The batter beats smooth in 2 minutes and salad oil is used as the liquid shortening that pours and stirs in as easily as the milk does.

Fluffy but sturdy Lovelight bakes into layer cakes, oblong cake, sheet cakes, cupcakes, shortcake or party cakes. A 2-layer cake may be split to give 4 layers for glamorizing into a high, festive treat. There is plenty of body to the cake to prevent crumbling or breaking.

This pineapple fluff topping goes beautifully with the Lovelight Chiffon Cake, split in 4 layers.

Lovelight Yellow 2-Egg Chiffon Cake

2 eggs, separated
1½ cups sugar
2¼ cups sifted cake flour, such as Softasilk
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup salad oil
1 cup milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees (moderate). Oil lightly and dust with flour 2 round layer pans, 8 by at least 1½ inches deep, or 9 by 1½ inches, or 1 oblong pan, 13x9½ by 2 inches.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in ½ cup of the sugar. Continue beating until very stiff and glossy.

Sift remaining sugar, flour, baking powder, salt into another bowl. Add salad oil, half of milk, vanilla. Beat 1 minute, medium speed on mixer or 150 vigorous strokes by hand. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl constantly. Add remaining milk, egg yolks. Beat 1 more minute, scraping bowl constantly. Fold in meringue. Pour into prepared pans. Bake layers 30 to 35 minutes; oblong 40 to 45 minutes. Cool.

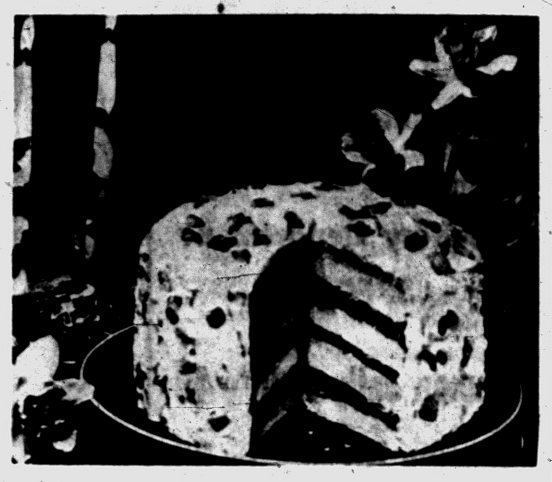

Split each layer into 2 layers. Spread Pineapple Fluff between layers and over cake. Store in refrigerator until used.

Pineapple Fluff

2 teaspoons plain gelatin.
2 tablespoons water
1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple, 1 cup
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups whipping cream, whipped

Soak gelatin in water. Heat crushed pineapple with juice and sugar just to boil. Remove from heat. Stir in gelatin and lemon juice. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold into whipped cream. Place 1-3 of pineapple topping in bowl, add green food coloring to make light green.

Split the 2 layers of Lovelight Chiffon Cake to make 4, spread the green topping between layers. With yellow food coloring, color remaining topping light yellow; spread on cake. Chill 1 hour or more. Store in refrigerator. If desired, garnish with coconut colored light green.

TWO-EGG CHIFFON CAKE — Fluffy but sturdy 2-egg Lovelight Chiffon Cake layers split with ease to make a high 4-layer cake — no breaking or crumbling. Salad oil is the liquid shortening in this rich but airy-light cake. For a festive Springtime topping, use fruity Pineapple Fluff, colored light green between the layers and light yellow on the top and sides.

Embellish those scrambled eggs you are planning to serve for lunch with cooked green asparagus (canned or frozen), anchovies, canned stewed tomatoes, creamed tuna or buttery-crisp croutons.

Bread Baked for Greek Easter

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Sunday is the Greek Easter. Since last Sunday, devout members of the Greek Orthodox church have fasted. They have eaten nothing containing meat, eggs, milk, cheese, butter or fish — all food from anything living.

After midnight Resurrection Mass on Saturday many families go home to eat a regular dinner. But in the Nicolas Samouris family on South Edith street only coffee and Greek Easter bread will be served. The head of the house cuts the loaf which symbolizes the end of fasting.

We had hoped that Mrs. Samouris would be able to have her picture in today's paper, with some of her Easter bread. But pressure of a part-time job and choir preparations for Sunday's services were just too much. Mrs. Samouris is the choir director.

A lengthy telephone conversation provided us with the recipe and full directions. On Tuesday, our day at home, we baked three loaves of this wonderful bread.

Greek Easter bread—or Holiday bread—is served twice a year. At New Year's time it is baked in braided loaves and contains a coin. Whoever finds the coin in his slice will have good fortune for the entire year.

At Easter time the loaves are formed into wreaths with a cross in the middle and centered with a hard boiled egg colored red. Small wreaths with an egg in the center are made for the children.

According to our reference book (Can the Greeks Cook?), Greek Easter eggs are dyed only blood red, signifying the blood of Christ. It is customary to dye the eggs only on Holy Thursday and Saturday.

However, the bread itself should be made on Good Friday and Holy Saturday. Some housewives make thick, round loaves with a number of eggs stuck on the top.

Our leftover egg dye failed to produce a blood red egg. In fact, ours looks rather anemic and caused the photographer to ask if the hen had been drinking red ink?

But the bread itself came out just right. It really is easy to make and delicious to eat. We got one large, one medium and one small loaf from the recipe.

GREEK EASTER BREAD
By Mrs. Nicolas Samouris

1½ cups milk
½ pound sweet butter
1½ tablespoons vegetable shortening
½ teaspoon salt

Heat to lukewarm. Dissolve 2 packages yeast in warm water and add to first mixture.

2½ cups sugar
8-9 cups sifted flour
6 eggs

Sift flour, add sugar and place in bowl. Make a well in the dry ingredients and add milk mixture and eggs. Beat well.

Do not put in all the flour at first. Add what is necessary at this point to make a dough you can handle. Knead smooth. Place in a greased bowl and allow to rise double.

Divide into 2 or 3 portions, depending on the size of loaves you want. Roll out two long strips of dough, round them and twist together into a wreath. Place on greased cookie sheet or in large round pan.

Make braids out of the remaining dough and form a cross in the center of the wreath. Place a hard boiled egg firmly down into the center of the cross. Let rise.

Just before baking brush bread with a mixture of 1 egg yolk, a little milk and a few drops of vanilla. Sprinkle with sesame seed and brush again with egg.

Bake 10 minutes in a 400-degree oven. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 30-40 minutes longer, or until bread sounds hollow. Do not get it too brown.

GREEK EASTER BREAD — It's Easter in the Greek Orthodox church this Sunday. In the many Greek homes in Pontiac loaves of a delicious bread will be served. These loaves are decorated with hard boiled eggs dyed bright red. The loaf above was made from a recipe given us by Mrs. Nicolas Samouris of South Edith Street. Do try it!

Currant Jelly Sauce Is Delicious on Lamb

Why not a change from mint sauce and currant jelly with roast lamb. From the Ocean Spray Cranberry Kitchen in Hanson, Mass. comes this suggestion.

Red Wine Sauce

1 teaspoon cinnamon
12 cloves or dash of ground cloves
3 tablespoons sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
¼ cup Port wine
1 pound can whole cranberry sauce

Combine all ingredients except sauce and simmer about 5 minutes. Remove cloves. Add cranberry sauce; stir and heat. Serve as sauce or relish with lamb, poultry or venison.

A little crumbled blue cheese adds zip to a carton of creamstyle cottage cheese. Serve with crunchy raw celery.

Make Sandwiches With Fine Crabmeat

Prepare these sandwiches ahead, wrap and refrigerate.

Crabmeat Sandwiches

1 can (about 6 ounces) crabmeat
¼ cup minced celery
2 teaspoons prepared Bahama-type mustard
1 whole canned pimiento (drained and minced)
1 teaspoon finely-grated onion (pulp and juice)
Mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing

Pick any cartilage from crabmeat. Mix with celery, mustard, pimiento, onion and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Makes about 1 cup. Use as sandwich filling.

A dash of sugar, sprinkled over thin onion rings as you cook them in butter, makes for good flavor. Serve with hamburgers or steak.

Watch Your Buying of Kitchen Gadgets

EAST LANSING (INS) — You are not alone if you find yourself becoming a little gadget-happy.

Ruth Sands of the Institution Administration Department at Michigan State University says gadgets have a definite purpose and usefulness in our modern kitchens.

But, says Mrs. Sands, the smart homemakers will limit her number of kitchen gadgets to a minimum.

She goes on to say:

"I have found a few gadgets that I couldn't live without and which supplement my basic pieces of cutlery very nicely.

Her favorite is a wire whip or beater which is used in a teacup to whip a small amount of cream or an egg white or an egg yolk. This is especially useful when cooking for only two people.

Mrs. Sands has more gadget ideas which might prove indispensable for you. Have you ever tried to lift a roast out of the roaster with a fork and a spoon or two forks and have a piece of meat break off before you get it transferred to the platter? No more of this with a roast lifter; it looks something like a pancake turner except the part used for clipping under the meat is much larger and slightly curved.

A baster is nice to have handy when roasting fowl and other meats. It looks like an oversized medicine dropper and is easy to use. It also saves burned fingers and makes it convenient to baste more often.

For those who make doughnuts, an automatic doughnut cutter is a big time-saver and fun to use. It cuts the doughnuts and drops them right into the hot grease.

• • •

A jar opener is a lifesaver, adds Mrs. Sands. They are adjustable so you can unscrew a lid from a ketchup bottle or a wide-mouth pickle jar.

• • •

Gadgets are useful until you get too many of them, declares Mrs. Sands. Be sure to choose only those you'll use.

Kitchen Economy

Kitchen economy: The uncooked heart and gizzard of a small broiling chicken may be brushed with melted butter or margarine and broiled with the rest of the chicken during the last 15 or 20 minutes of cooking. Turn the heart and gizzard as necessary.

Sauce on Chicken Good

Broiled chicken takes on good flavor when it is brushed with barbecue sauce during the broiling. Extra barbecue sauce may be heated and brought to the table with the chicken. Good with a big bowl of hot steamed rice and a green salad.

Quick sauce for dried beef: condensed mushroom soup, diluted with a little milk or cream.

Glace canned pineapple rings in a mixture of butter and brown sugar to which a little soy sauce and grated fresh or ground ginger has been added. Serve with pan-fried pork chops.

It used to take hours to make fruit punch... now you can buy it ready made at your grocers.

LeMay to Spell Out Needs of Strategic Air Command

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) said today Gen. Curtis LeMay has promised "to spell out in a complete package" what his Strategic Air Command needs to offset Soviet Russia's expanding air might.

* * *

"This will be for the benefit of the Senate subcommittee and will not be cleared through Pentagon channels," Jackson said in an interview. He is a member of a Senate Armed Forces subcommittee studying relative U.S.-Russian air power.

WANTS MORE JETS

LeMay, cigar - chewing commander of the globe-girdling U.S. bomber force, made it plain in previously censored public testimony yesterday and Monday that he wants more jet B52 bombers as quickly as possible.

Completing more than a week of testimony, he disclosed late yesterday that out of 78 heavy B52 bombers produced to date, only 47 were immediately accepted by the Air Force.

* * *

Other Air Force officers said a defect in the bombers' complex electrical system had caused the rejections and grounding of all B52s after a crash last year. LeMay said the defects are being corrected and the jet bombers put into operation.

Jackson said additional B52s are needed to increase SAC's striking power, but he added:

* * *

"We must also have trained crews, more bases, additional air tankers, including jet tankers, for the complete program."

Airline Seeks Drop in Overseas Fares

NEW YORK (AP)—Pan American World Airways today proposed new low-fare oversea flights that would cut $100 off a round-trip ticket between New York and Paris.

The proposed economy rates would be 15 to 20 per cent less than present tourist fares and 40 to 50 per cent below first-class tickets.

Pan American President Juan T. Trippe said the airline would operate the new service on the same standards of safety and dependability as its first-class flights. However, passengers would be seated closer together, free meals eliminated and intermediate fueling stops scheduled for maximum payload.

Before the proposed rates can be made effective, they must be approved by the U. S. and foreign governments.

Forest Rangers Face Miles of Wiry Woes

BREVARD, N.C. (AP)—Rangers at the Pisgah National Forest have a right lengthy problem.

* * *

They have 300 to 400 miles of No. 9 telephone wire they want to get rid of. And it's free for the taking. There's just one restriction—you can't sell it.

* * *

The wire is a casualty of progress. It became useless when radio communication was installed some time ago, but the wire stayed up because the Forest Service had no funds earmarked for the job of removing it.

UE Lawyer Claims House Sought Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attorney for John T. Gojack says that a House committee just wanted to "put on a big exposure show" when it called the Indiana labor leader to testify in an investigation of alleged Communism in unions.

* * *

Gojack, 39, of Fort Wayne, a general vice president of the United Electical, Radio and Machine Workers Union (UE), is being tried in federal district court on contempt of Congress charges.

The charges are based on his refusal to say whether he was a Communist Party member and to answer some other questions put to him by a House Subcommittee on Unamerican Activites in 1955.

* * *

As the three-day trial neared an end, Defense Counsel Frank Donner contended yesterday the government was unable to show that the subcommittee had any legislative purpose in calling Gojack.

Hart Says 'Liberals' Can Break Race Bars

IRONWOOD (AP) — Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart said Wednesday night that "politically, the straightest road to the end of segregation lies with the northern liberals like Gov. Williams."

Hart, a Democrat like Williams, said these liberals "have the courage and energy to carry this great cause to victory."

In a talk to a Democratic gathering, he asserted that Negroes and other minority groups "will hurt only themselves if they permit themselves to be misled by false prophets who substitute slogans for action."

Sonja's Hubby Says Her Career Takes Priority

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The husband of Sonja Henie, the skating star, told a court official taking testimony in his divorce action that he did not believe a reconciliation would work.

Winthrop Gardner Jr. said yesterday that during their married life from 1949 to 1953 he and Miss Henie had only two weeks of living together alone. "Her mother was with her all the time," he said.

Gardner testified also that Miss Henie agreed before their marriage to quit show business. "Instead," he said, "she made more contracts and kept the show until it was apparent she had no intention of being a wife."

Miss Henie, who recently took a troupe to South America has denied Gardner's allegations of desertion and has said he was not a dutiful husband, as he contends.

Police Say Brothers Admitted Burglary

Pontiac police said today that two brothers have admitted a burglary which netted them nothing except a possible prison sentence.

The pair waived examination in the breakin March 27 of a drive-in at 910 Oakland Ave., and were bound over for arraignment Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

They are Jerry D. Zimmerman, 18, of 36 Lewis St., and Franklin D. Zimmerman, 22, who gave a Detroit address. Both were freed under $500 bonds set in Pontiac Municipal Court.

Jerry's arrest, according to Det. Raymond Meggitt, clears up some 17 breakins in Pontiac and Oakland County. In his confession, Meggitt added, Jerry implicated in the March 27 breakin a third youth who is being held in Lapeer County Jail on charges brought by Lapeer deputies.

Marines Assign Hero of Tarawa to Revamp Parris Island

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marines have picked as new boss of their recruit training a hero of bloody Tarawa, Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup.

• • •

Shoup's job will be to make boys into Marines without hazing—and without endangering their lives.

He also will have the job of curbing some of the old disciplinary practices of the Marines' noncommissioned officer drill instructors without undermining their authority or wrecking their morale.

FOLLOWS PROBE

Shoup's appointment as inspector general of recruiting was announced yesterday by Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine commandant, in the aftermath of an investigation into the April 8 fatal march at Parris Island, S.C.

In that march at the recruit depot six "boots," as the Corps calls the untrained, were drowned. Their platoon had been ordered into a tide-swept creek by a drill instructor "to teach them discipline."

• • •

Shoup is a tough man. On occasion, the full-necked product of a farm near Battle Ground, Ind., has been known to use language which any old salty-dog type Marine could admire.

TARAWA LEADER

The 52-year-old graduate of DePauw University — he went to school on a scholarship and was an A student—is also a fighting man.

As much as any man he has been credited with the U.S. victory at Tarawa. After those bloody 72 hours in November 1943 in which the Marines suffered 3,166 casualties, Shoup was awarded the Medal of Honor.

• • •

"Although severely shocked by an exploding shell . . . and suffering serious leg wounds which had become infected," the citation read, "Shoup fearlessly exposed himself and . . . rallying his hesitant troops by his own inspiring heroism, he gallantly led them across the fringing reef to charge the heavily fortified island and reinforce hard-pressed, thinly held lines."

THEY WERE CLOBBERED

After the initial assault wave hit the beach they were clobbered. Some units had 70 per cent casualties.

Offshore in a landing craft, Shoup ordered his reserves into the desperate fight and then led them in the sweep inland. By nightfall he had set up his command post—15 yards from the water.

• • •

As the senior officer ashore, Shoup, who had received a field promotion to colonel only a couple of days before, directed the entire operation.

"By his brilliant leadership, daring tactics and selfless devotion to duty," the citation read, "Col. Shoup was largely responsible for the final, decisive defeat of the enemy."

ON CHINA DUTY

In World War II Shoup also collected two Legions of Merit, a commendation ribbon and assorted campaign ribbons for service in the Guadalcanal, Saipan and Tinian operations in the Pacific.

Shoup signed up for the Marines in 1926, underwent training as a second lieutenant and subsequently served in China and at sea.

The new recruit chief, who is answerable directly to pate, is married to the former Zola De Haven of Covington, Ind. They have a daughter, Carolyn, 22, and a son, Robert, 18.

Claims One in Five May Have Epilepsy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A psychiatrist says 20 per cent of the U.S. population may be suffering from "hidden epilepsy."

• • •

Many persons who have fomentary mental blackouts or dimouts may be suffering from the disorder, Dr. Charles L. Yeager of the University of California said.

• • •

Fidgety children and adults who complain of nervous disorders are likely to have the ailment, he said. Mostly it is nondisabling, but in some instances it can develop into little attacks of real epilepsy, he told the California Medical Assn.

Brain wave recordings can disclose the condition, he said.

Much-Bitten Mailmen Get Dog Bodyguards

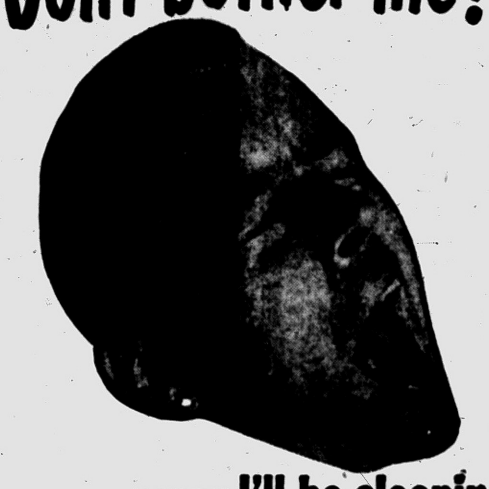

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The best protection against unfriendly dogs, reports Postmaster Kenneth R. Hammaker, is a bigger dog.

He said Sacramento postmen, victims in 96 biting cases last year, are trying the system.

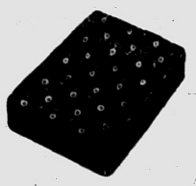

• • •

"They make friends with the biggest dog in the neighborhood and get that pooch to go along on their route," he said. here's a lot of barking, but no bites.

Iedal spot for golfers, according to former Sleepy Hollow Club champ Mason Starring: Canary Islands. "Greens fees are 50c. Caddies cost 20 cents a round.

I paid my 33 cents. Caddies are out of this world. They follow the ball like hawks. No skylarking.

If they lose a ball, they go back on the course after you are finished and hunt it until dark. Usually, next day they have the ball for you.

We used English golf balls. They cost $6 a dozen. The climate generally is like perpetual spring, although we did run into a spell of the same bad weather that ruined Europe this winter.

There is a new hotel with instant service—and I mean instant. You snap your fingers, and there is a boy at your elbow before you can turn around. You fly to Madrid in one of the big four-engine jobs. Then you take a smaller plane on a five-hour flight to the Canary Islands."

PROMOTION-PUBLICITY MAN KEY FIGURE

I still insist one of the most important key figures in a baseball office is the promotion-publicity man. In a highly competitive market you must merchandise your product, package it attractively and present it properly or you are a dead duck. It's not enough to say . . . "Here's a ball game." Not in this day.

Johnny Carmichael asks: "Who's going to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 in a single season? Several candidates already have filed intent. Some are only 56 behind

Lary Sets Yanks Down on 3 Hits, 8-1

BOSTON (AP)—Bucky Harris qualified himself today as a prophet of some sort.

He has been saying all along that if the Detroit Tigers are going to be a winning ball club this season, his present lineup is the one that will produce the base hits. And he has maintained that Frank Lary would shake the bad luck that has trailed him, that his stellar pitching would soon be rewarded with victories.

The Tigers made good on both counts yesterday against the high-flying New York Yankees. They pounded out 15 hits—including six extra base knocks—to back up Lary's strong 3-hit pitching.

Topping it off, the Tigers handed young Johnny Kucks his first loss in three decisions.

* * *

Today the Detroit club was in Boston for the opener of the 3-game set with the Red Sox, another team experiencing a sputtering start this season.

The Tigers' 8-1 victory yesterday in Yankee Stadium boosted hopes that the club's punch is finally coming around. Fighting batting ills all through the early part of the still-young season, the Tigers snapped back with three hits each from Bill Tuttle, Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn, and two apiece from Frank House and young Reno Bertoia.

House and Tuttle were the big powers, House swatting a triple and a three-run homer and Tuttle adding a double and a triple along with an infield single.

In the big third inning, when Detroit scored six times on an equal number of hits, Kaline flashed a lot of speed to beat out two hits. He led off the inning by beating Gil McDougald's throw to Bill Skowron, and later on raced out a slow roller to Skowron.

It was a much-deserved victory for the young Tiger righthander, who dropped his first two decisions of the year. Lary had started three games and finished only one. He lost the season's opener to Kansas City on a late-inning two-run double by Kansas City's Gus Zernial, 2-1, then dropped a 4-3 decision to Cleveland last Friday when Bobby Avila smashed a 10th inning home run.

But the Tigers made it easy for Lary yesterday. They got one run in the first on Tuttle's double, Earl Torgeson's fly and an infield out. A single by Charley Maxwell, Bertoia's infield hit and an error, plus a force play produced one run in the second.

The big third inning wrapped it up. After Kaline's infield single, Kuenn got a one-baser to right on a hit-and-run and Kaline took third. Ray Boone's single scored Kaline and sent Kuenn to third. Then came House's smash into the lower right field stands, scoring three runs.

The Tigers didn't stop there. After McDougald tossed out Maxwell, Bertoia was hit by the pitcher, and scooted to second on a wild pitch. Lary flied to Mickey Mantle but Tuttle beat out an infield hit and Torgeson walked to load the bases.

Casey Stengel replaced Kucks with lefthander Rip Coleman, and Kaline promptly beat out a hit to first base scoring two more runs.

Mantle spoiled Lary's shutout bid with a round tripper to open the 9th inning.

Duke Maas was expected to start today for the Tigers in Fenway Park. He has appeared in relief in two games, but has no record.

AFTER THE BALL IS OVER — New York Yankee first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron and Detroit centerfielder Bill Tuttle collide in what looks like the "Rock-and-Roll" Waltz at first base. Tuttle grounded to third and Bill Martin's throw pulled Skowron into the runner's path. The second photo shows the knees of the respective players colliding, and in the 4th inning Skowron left the game because of the knee bruise. Note the flight of the ball. Redlegs on Win Streak Without Big Ted 'Klu'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bench the team's star slugger may not sound like good managerial strategy, but it's worked wonders for Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

* * *

Ever since big Ted Kluszewski was given a reserved seat on the bench, the Redlegs have been on a diet of home runs and victories, with five roundtrippers coming last night as they blitzed Brooklyn's faltering Dodgers 10-6 for their sixth successive victory. The skein has lifted the club from a 1-5 mark in the basement to a 7-5 mark with the leaders of the scrambled National League race.

* * *

Wally Post, the major league leader with eight; George Crowe, big Klu's "temporary" replacement; Ray Jablonski and Gus Bell were the home run heroes last night as the Redlegs ran their record to 17 out at Crosley Field in the six games. During the spurt, Post has hit six homers, Crowe and rookie Frank Robinson three each, Bell and Ed Bailey two each and Jablonski one.

* * *

The modern Murderers' Row stole the headlines from the New York Giants' 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 17 long innings, on Daryl Spencer's long fly, and a 10-9 victory over Pittsburgh that sent the St. Louis Cardinals to the top of the National League. Cincinnati and Milwaukee trail by a half game and the Dodgers and Giants by a full game.

* * *

Philadelphia and Milwaukee were not scheduled yesterday.

In contrast to the National League, pitching was the password in the American League with a pair of youthful righthanders, Detroit's Frank Lary and Tom Brewer of Boston supplying all the answers.

Lary knocked the New York Yankees out of first place and blanked the New Yorkers until the ninth inning, coasting to an 8-1 victory behind a 15-hit Tiger attack.

* * *

Brewer went Lary one inning better as he shut out Kansas City all the way in hanging up a three-hit, 2-0 victory.

Memo Alleges Louis Received Tax-Free Sum

NEW YORK (AP)—A memorandum alleging that Joe Louis had "a terrific fear of being beaten" and demanded an extra $100,000 "under the table" to make a title defense in 1949 has been introduced in evidence in the government's monopoly suit against the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden.

The tax-free sum was to be in addition to the heavyweight champion's unusual 40 per cent of the net receipts of a title fight, according to the memo.

* * *

This was disclosed in Federal Court yesterday when the government produced an inter - office memo from Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, then president of the Garden, to Ned Irish, Garden executive vice president. The document was introduced during the government's cross-examination of Truman Gibson, Louis' lawyer at the time and presently secretary of the International Boxing Club.

* * *

Louis never fought for the title in 1949. He retired March 1, 1949. The memo was dated March 25, 1949 — 24 days after Louis announced his retirement.

The Brown Bomber, who has been touring as a wrestler, could not be reached for comment.

The government has charged the IBC, the Garden, and James D. Norris and Arthur Wirtz, IBC officers, with violating antitrust laws in promoting championship fights in this country between 1949 and 1953. The case is being tried without jury before Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Kilpatrick's memo related to a discussion between the general and Sol Strauss, lawyer for the late Mike Jacobs, regarding the boxing situation. The memo dealt with a meeting in Miami, Fla. at Jacobs' home in the latter part of 1948 or early 1949 and attended by Jacobs, then the ailing head of the 20th Century Sporting Club, Louis, Marshall Miles (Louis' manager), and Gibson.

It read in part:

"He (Strauss) said that in his negotiations with Joe Louis in December (1948) for a summer fight, Joe had insisted that he get $100,000 in addition to his percentage which he felt should be increased over the 40 per cent of his contract. Sol (Strauss) said that he pointed out the impossibility of doing this but Joe was adamant and that he went to see Mike (Jacobs) in Miami with Truman Gibson and Marshall Miles. Sol said that they left Mike alone with Joe and that in a few minutes Mike came out very upset.

"Sol said that Joe told Mike that the $100,000 would have to be tax free. In other words, under the table, and the meeting broke up.

"Sol said that Joe had a terrific fear of being beaten and had asked Sol what he could expect if he were beaten. Sol said that in that event he would put Joe on the 20th Century (Jacobs' boxing club) payroll for $25,000 a year."

The former champion was said to have demurred when told that he would have to visit training camps and assist in publicity in return for the $25,000 salary.

Renew Bid for Harness Track

Promoters Ask Zoning Board in Farmington to Reconsider

FARMINGTON (INS) — Promoters for a race track in Farmington Township said last night that they will renew their attempts for a harness track and ask the zoning board to reconsider their requests

* * *

D. F. Gregoric, president of the track group, told a meeting of the Farmington Civic Association his group wants to build a five-eights mile track for harness racing only which would not interfere with running of races at Hazel Park and the MRA tracks.

* * *

Last week the Township zoning board turned down a request to make 244-acres at Ten Mile and Haggerty roads available. The board said the group's request was dropped because they refused to discuss their plans.

* * *

Gregoric revealed these plans last night as he remarked:

* * *

"We don't want a track in an area where people don't want it, but from the reception last night, the people seem to like the idea."

Hometown Gives Rocky Welcome

Retired Heavy Champ Returns to Brockton Amid Cheers

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Rocky Marciano returns home today to one last full-throated reception by friends and neighbors before slipping into the quiet life of a retired heavyweight boxing champion.

Though Brockton's favorite son announced he was quitting the ring and his title almost a week ago, the folks in this industrial city some 30 miles south of Boston want to make it "official" with a parade and all the trimmings.

There have been other celebrations for Marciano by those who watched The Champ batter his way through 49 professional fights from crude beginnings to become history's only unbeaten heavyweight.

They turned out in huge numbers to welcome him after his conquests of Rex Layne and Joe Louis on the way up the ladder and his storied come-knockout of Jersey Joe Walcott to win the championship.

But today Brockton says welcome back to the usually gentle 33-year-old son of an immigrant shoemaker while paying tribute to the dedicated man who punched his way from obscuring to world fame.

Wins Press Award

McManus 'Most Valuable'

Big Bob McManus is the 1956 Press city basketball adult league "most valuable player." He is shown in the accompanying photo with the fine watch, awarded by The Pontiac Press as his reward.

The 228-point shooter for the Shaw Jewelry quintet has been selected by a committee of observers after a long and difficult study of the qualifications of the cream of the 1955-56 players roster.

With so many potential "most valuables" and "valuables" among the 200 players, it was difficult to select any one person. Many were mentioned and considered, but only one could be chosen.

"By elimination on shown ability, team control, self control under pressurt, maintenance of high team morale, cooperation with officials, acceptance of adverse decisions, sportsmanship and fair play," the committee reported, "th one player most deserving the award is Bob McManus of Shaw's Jewelry team."

Bob, former St. Frederick's cage star has long been a top player in city Class A ranks. He was 3rd highest scorer in his loop, back of Harold Trott (285) and William Taylor (257). Walter King (220), Mike Hanes (203), Gerald Long (202), Bob Hobson (193), Bill York (187), Don Williams (183) and D. Sebring (175), in the top 10.

West Kiwanians Sponsor Sunday Show at Speedway

Members of the Kiwanis Club of West Pontiac will find themselves behind the wheel and underprivileged children will be beneficiaries when the Pontiac M59 Speedway opens its 1956 racing season this Sunday.

Sunday's inaugural program will be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of West Pontiac, with all proceeds going to its Youth Activities.

The Kiwanians themselves will furnish one of the highlights of Sunday's 10-event show by conducting a special race. Frank VanAtta, Bud McGrath, Lynn Allen, Bob Terry, Tom Clifton, Bob Reynolds, Pat Lally, Louis Barry, and Dick and Jim Scribner are among the Kiwanis members who will race for honors around the M59 oval.

Many of the state's top drivers will compete in the regular portion of the program, headed by Michigan champion Mickey Katlin and Pontiac Speedway champ Chuck Partello. Others include Rusty Kelley, Joe Doyle, Bill Kourt, Mary Main, Len MacAbee, Chuck Powers, and Pontiac's Joy Fair.

A qualifying run, four heat races, a pursuit, four-car dash, semi and feature will accompany the Kiwanis event. Time trials begin at 1:30 p.m., with the 1st race scheduled for 3 o'clock.

Tickets are available through Kiwanis members. The committee in charge of the show includes Bill Brown, tickets; Jim Scribner, Kiwanis race; and Fred Gibson, Felix Vitasinsky and Bud McGrath, publicity. All Kiwanis members will be on hand Sunday to assist in the program.

Cross Fires 79, Paces PHS Win

Back in the groove again after a slow start, Tom Cross Wednesday afternoon led the PHS links Chiefs to a 12-3 victory over Port Huron. The win squared the PHS season's mark at 2-2.

Tom, who has been one of the team's top players for several years, has been unable to get down to his customary low scoring—that is, until yesterday. Over the Municipal course Tom banged out a good 79, his best match card of the season. He was the match medalist.

Three Port Huron players were shut out in individual matches.

Coach John Maturo's squad plays Flint Northern at Flint CC today. This is one of Cross' favorite layouts and he has always scored well there. A match, originally set for Friday at Port Huron's Black River layout has been canceled at reques' of the Big Reds' coach. It will be played later.

Yesterday's summaries:

Dick Singleton (45-42—87, 1 point) lost to Don Rebitzke (40-44—84, 2 points).
Cross (41-38—79, 3 points) def. Fritz George (52-43—95).
Sam Coleman (40-42—82, 2 points) def. George Gough (47-41—88, 1 point).
Nick Shorter (44-40—84, 3 points) def. Frank Kellogg (46-54—100).
Bob Clapp (45-42—87, 2 points) def. Bob Wolfe (49-54—103).

Albion Invitational Attracts 72 Schools

ALBION (AP) — The 16th annual Albion College invitational track meet — largest single-day track meet of its kind in Michigan next to the state championships—has drawn entries from 72 schools for the Saturday events.

A total of 1,087 athletes will battle it out on the Alumni field track at Albion.

Ohio Fullback Gets Top Rating

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The best bet for first string fullback next fall when Michigan's football team hits the Big Ten season is trim John Herrnstein of Chillicothe, Ohio.

* * *

Herrnstein has six days of spring practice left, but he looks like the class of the freshman squad, in spite of an ankle innury that yanked him from the lineup temporarily.

Coaches don't like to make commitments at this stage of the game, but Bennie Oosterbaan admitted last week that Herrnstein has the potentialities of greatness.

Herrnstein is the biggest of the five fullback candidates on the Michigan squad. He stands six-foot-two inches and weighs a solid 210.

Also impressive is Bob Ptacek, a Cleveland quarterback, who was Herrnstein's teammate on last fall's freshman squad.

Weather Big Factor for Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A slowly run Kentucky Derby Saturday was a possibility today as the weatherman threatened to confuse even more America's glamor race in which every top contender is a come-from-behind performer and an early speed horse is hard to find.

* * *

The Churchill Downs' racing strip was still very sloppy this morning from yesterday's intermittent rains. The weatherman forecast more of the same tonight as the names of the 3-year-olds were dropped into the entry box for the richest Derby.

At least 17 horses and possibly one more were expected to be entered for the 82nd running of the mile and one-quarter classic starting at 4:30 p.m. (EST) before some 100,000 fans in the sprawling stands and scattered throughout the infield.

* * *

The race will be televised and broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m. (EST).

Seventeen starters would boost the gross purse to a record-shattering $167,400 with a net of $123,300, also a new high, going to the winner. Swaps' $108,400 of a gross of $152,500 last year are the figures to be topped.

* * * *

Actually, the field will be reduced by at least one regardless of track conditions. It could well be that another owner or two will change his mind about posting the $1,250 starting fee after paying $250 to enter. He has until 45 minutes before post time to make up his mind.

Trainer Syl Veitch said C. V. Whitney's Career Boy, one of the favorites, will not be in the post parade if the going is muddy.

* * *

"He won't unless Mr. Whitney thinks otherwise," the genial trainer added.

* * *

Odie Clelland wants no part of the race for Mrs. Helen Kellogg's Come On Red if the racing strip is fast. There is a possibility Jimmy Jones will withdraw Pintor Lea if the track is real bad rather than risk a more serious injury to a wrenched knee, which had threatened to keep him out of the Derby.

Withdrawal of Pintor Lea would place the burden for a sixth Derby triumph by the Calumet farms, now owned by Mrs. Gene Markey, on Fabius, winner of the Derby Trial on Tuesday.

* * *

Ben A. Jones, father of Jimmy, has saddled six Derby winners, including the five from the Calumet Farm, but a victory by either Fabius or Pintor Lea would go down in the books as No. 1 for the son of "Plain Ben" of Parnell, Mo.

As the trainers cast their eyes toward the skies and kept mum as to their racing strategy, the experts tried to figure how the race will be run.

Almost to a man they forecast a slow first half, with none of the well-regarded horses willing to set the eary pace, and then a cavalry charge through the last quarter-mile.

Detroiter's Entries First

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A pair of rank outsiders, who'll run as an entry, were the first to be entered today for Saturday's running of the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby.

Twenty-seven minutes after the entry box was opened at 7 a.m. Felix P. Aime, stable agent for trainer V. R. Tennessee Wright, dropped in the name of Detroit owner T. A. Grissom's "Invalidate," considered one of the speed horses of the expected field of 18. He followed with the name of Grissom's "Reaping Right," Louisiana Derby winner.

"Both will go regardless of track conditions," said Wright. The racing strip still was muddy this morning.

Minutes later, W. E. Britt's "No Regrets," California Derby winner, was entered.

An hour after the first entries, the names of C. V. Whitney's pair of Career Boy and Head Man were placed in the race.

Secrets of Better Golf

By Patty Berg

15th of a Series

The hands and wrists initiate the action as the club is brought down for a chip shot.

The entire swing is one of speed, with a brisk contact with the ball. Hands are kept ahead of the ball at contact, and the position of the body is the same as at the address.

The downswing is a "down and through" action generated entirely by hands and wrists. Be sure to contact the ball first and turf afterwards. Do not try to help the ball up; let the loft of the club lift the ball.

It is important not to raise your head or eyes too quickly. This will result in peeking at the time of impact, and you will top the ball.

Immediately after impact, the clubhead will follow the flight of the ball and continue to a complete finish which will be approximately the same height as your backswing.

The head and eyes come up at the completion of your swing so as to follow the shot—and see it run to the hole.

I always keep in mind that I must see the clubhead hit the ball before making any effort to lift my head. This thought will help you keep your head down.

The entire swing for a chip shot is brief and quick.

However, because it is quick some players become loose and floppy with their swing. Be sure to play your chip shot firmly with the sensation that you are tossing the ball to the hole.

This easy shot can save you many putts. To nestle the ball up close to the hole keep in mind this phrase—down in two—a chip and a putt.

HANDS, WRISTS INITIATE SPEEDY CHIP-SHOT SWING

As the follow-through is completed for the chip shot, the head and eyes follow the ball. Notice the clubhead is still low on the follow-through.

NCAA Slaps 3 More With Probation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Auburn, the University of Florida and the University of Louisville planned today to adjust their athletic programs to the probationary status imposed on them by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

* * *

The three schools were added yesterday to the growing list of schools placed on probation by the NCAA. Auburn's probation is for three years, the longest period ever handed out by the NCAA. Florida and Louisville are on probation for two years.

All three probations went into effect with the NCAA announcement yesterday. They are subject to review before they expire.

* * *

For the first two years, Auburn's athletes will not be allowed to compete in bowl games or any invitational event that supports the NCAA enforcement program. Florida received the same penalty for two years.

Auburn also was warned that any violation of the probation might lead to a recommendation for expulsion from the NCAA.

* * *

Louisville's probation applies only to its basketball team. Sixth in the final Associated Press basketball poll this year, Louisville won the 1956 National Invitational Tournament. The NIT is one of the tournaments that cooperates with the NCAA.

Dr. Ralph Draughon, president of Auburn, probably summed up the feelings for all concerned when he called the probation "rough stuff."

* * *

At Louisville, Ky., the University of Louisville vice president, Woodrow M. Strickler, said the school "will make every effort to take whatever steps are necessary to follow the regulations of the NCAA."

Since the start of the NCAA enforcement program in 1952, 17 colleges have been put on probation. Others have been reprimanded, censured and "severely censured and reprimanded" for various offenses.

* * *

The University of Cincinnati, placed on probation April 26, 1955, for one year, was removed from probation yesterday. Under terms of the probation, Cincinnati had been ineligible for NCAA meets and other invitational meets.

Clarence P. Houston of Tufts University, president of the NCAA and chairman of the 18-man, Policy-Directing Council that decides whether a violation merits probation, defined the probationary status as meaning that a school's athletic program is "subject to close inspection and scrutiny."

* * *

"Any malpractice during the probationary period will seriously jeopardize the institution's membership in the NCAA," Houston said.

Schools still on probation from previous meetings include Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma and St. Louis. Miami's probation was extended one year at the Jan. 10 meeting and the school warned that if it doesn't come into full compliance with NCAA rules, it will be expelled. Oklahoma's term was for two years. It expires April 26, 1957. St. Louis' one-year probation ends Oct. 25, 1956.

During the meeting which ended here Tuesday, three other schools were placed on probation. They included Texas A&M, Mississippi College and the University of Kansas. Mississippi College and Kansas are on probation for one year. Texas A&M's probation lasts until May 14, 1957.

The Texas A&M probation applies to all sports.

Resort Offers Rocky $100,000 Host Job

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) — Retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano has a $100,000 job in Las Vegas if he wants it.

* * *

The champ was offered $100,000 yesterday to serve as host at the Fremont Hotel for the next year.

The Fremont is the newest of Las Vegas' lavish new hotels.

'Loaded' Spartan Gridders End Spring Drills Saturday

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State will flex its football muscles for the last time of the spring on Saturday.

How do the Spartans look this spring? They're loaded.

Of course, the load could fizzle out this fall. It happened before when State slumped into a 3-6 season after winning its 1st Rose Bowl game.

But all you can judge by this early date is appearance on the practice field. And during the four weeks of early drill the 1956 Spartans have looked mean and mighty.

The some 90 candidates will be divided into two teams for the annual intersquad game.

As a tipoff or MSU strength this season, there isn't a single sophomore — figuring eligibility as of next fall — on the 1st two starting elevens. Only two of the starters failed to win letters last year.

MSU has 25 lettermen returning this year and is reaping the benefit of an exceptional 1955 sophomore crop.

The two breaking into the letterman lineup are fullback Bob Handloser, with the 2nd team, and Cliff La Rose, right guard with the 1st team. Handloser is a junior from Detroit.

* * *

La Rose, from Grosse Pointe, worked with the squad all last season but didn't play. He's a junior in school.

Pat Wilson, who has been pleasing at quarterback, will run the 1st team. He'll have Clarence Peaks and Walt Kowalczyk at the halves and coaches already are saying the pair is the most devastating halfback combination ever produced at State.

Don Gilbert, a junior, will be at fullback. There was some talk of shifting Peaks to fullback but other candidates have been doing so well he wasn't tried at the position at all this spring.

Others on the 1st eleven will include Tony Koledziej and Dave Kaiser at the ends, Joe Carruthers and Pat Burke at the tackles, Dan Currie and La Rose at the guards and John Matsko at center.

NCAA Reaffirms Rule Barring Puck Tests

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s (NCAA) council has reaffirmed its ruling on the status of prospective students who sign tryout agreements with Canadian Hockey teams.

The council said yesterday the rule goes into effect Sept. 1.

It decrees that prospective college students will no longer meet the NCAA's definition of an amateur when he signs for a tryout with a Canadian Hockey team. It applies regardless of whether he receives money for signing.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said the rule does not apply to students who have enrolled in school before Sept. 1, so long as they haven't received any money.

Laurel racetrack in Maryland opened on Oct. 2, 1911.

Former Champ Faces Big Test

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Mildmannered Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta faced what likely was her biggest test today in her bid for another Southern Women's Amateur golf championship.

Miss Kirby, who won the crown in 1937 and twice finished second, had a quarter-finals appointment with Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore over the Homestead's 6,312-yard par 74 Cascades course.

Mrs. Sam Byrd of Birmingham, Ala., battled Wanda Sanches of Baton Rouge, La., in the other lower bracket quarter-finals match.

Rocky's Wins Help Backer Buy New Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Rocky Marciano says he has heard that there was "a little old lady" in his home town of Brockton, Mass., who bought a new house with her winning bets on the retired heavyweight champion's fights. Marciano quit the ring unbeaten with a 49-0 record.

* * *

Asked on a television show last night whether it was true that the whole town of Brockton bet on his fights, Rocky smiled and replied:

* * *

"I heard that there was a little old lady who bought a new house with her winnings on my fights. She started betting on me in my Providence days."

Sugar Ray Gunning for KO Over Olson

SAN JACINTO, Calif. (INS) — Sugar Ray Robinson served notice today that he will be gunning for a kayo when he meets Bobo Olson in their middleweight title bout 18.

"I know that Bobo will be a desperate fighter but if I hit him, I'll knock him out."

The Eastern League is the dean of the Class A baseball circuits.

Irish Thinclad Will Make Bid

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Aubrey Lewis of Notre Dame, who may try for the U. S. Olympic Team in the decathlon, may get a line on his chances Saturday—he's entered in seven events at Michigan State.

The 6-foot, 186 pound sophomore from Montclair, N. J., will try the 100 and 220-yard dashes, high and low hurdles, discus, javelin and mile relay in the dual meet at East Lansing. The decathlon is a 10-event program.

Clyde Littlefield has coached the University of Texas track team since 1921.

DOCKED — Andrew Hoover, 13-year-old grandson of former President Herbert Hoover, entered this 42-pound sailfish in the Metropolitan Miami Tournament. He hauled in the big one off the Florida keys.

Hank Sauer Is Hit With Bat in Practice

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "The bat just slipped."

This was all an upset Walker Cooper could bring himself to say in explaining the freak accident which felled veteran Hank Sauer of the St. Louis Cardinals before last night's game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

• • •

The 37-year-old Sauer suffered a severe brain concussion, a 3-inch cut on the lip and his left ear was almost torn off by the flying bat which struck him as he stepped out of the batting practice cage.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, club physician, said he took 12 stitches in Sauer's lip," "about 50" on the ear. He also did plastic surgery on the ear.

• • •

Middleman said a preliminary examination of X-ray film indicated there was no skull fracture but Sauer will remain in the hospital for observation.

It was a typical pre-game scene. Sauer stepped out of the cage and the 41-year-old Cooper stepped in.

• • •

On the first pitch, Cooper's bat slipped and struck Sauer in the head. The angular 6-foot-4-inch slugger collapsed.

"What happened?" he mumbled, then quickly slipped into unconsciousness. He was carried away on a stretcher.

No one could say whether the bat flew between the cage netting and its supporting pole or barely cleared the cage completely. The latter was considered most likely. It was a one-in-a-million accident.

The Redbirds will miss Sauer. They obtained him from the Chicago Cubs for Pete Whisenant and cash, figuring he would remedy their sorry 1955 record against left-handed pitching.

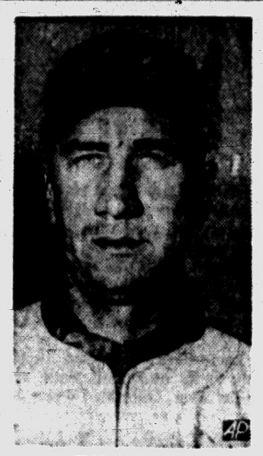

While he was in there Sauer was a constant worry to opposing managers and pitchers. Manager Fred Hutchinson and General Manager Frank Lane considered him a big asset.

• • •

Hank is tied with Hack Wilson for eighth in the all-time National League home run rankins with 255.

Sauer regained consciousness in the hospital in time to hear the windup of the 3-hour 46-minute marathon which the Cardinals won 10-9 in 10 innings to regain first place.

He said he was happy Cooper contributed a game-tying 10th-inning pinch single.

Baseball Program Ready

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's 1956 baseball spring training program for all boys 18 years old and under starts this Saturday at Washington Junior High and Columbia-Joslyn diamonds. The program will run each Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon through June 9.

Participants will be separated into five divisions for the clinic: Class D will consist of boys 18 years of age and under, Class E 16 and under, Class F 14 and under. Midgets 12 and under, and Widgets 10 and under.

Each boy should bring a baseball glove and tennis shoes to the workouts. Spikes will not be permitted.

The baseball training program is a preparatory step to the beginning of the summer's junior and midget leagues, scheduled to get under way when school is over.

Two managers' meetings for the purpose of completing league organization will be held Thursday, May 17, in the Freedom Shrine Room at City Hall. Class F and Midget managers meet at 7 p.m., with Class E and D pilots convening at 7:45.

Michigan State won all eight tennis matches during its 1956 spring tour of the South.

Virgil Akins, St. Louis welterweight, knocked out 18 of his first 49 opponents. He lost 14 of those bouts.

Olympic Candidates

Freestyle Matmen Picked

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—America's freestyle wrestling team has been selected for the Olympic Games in Australia, and the seemingly unbeatable Dan Hodge of the University of Oklahoma isn't on it.

• • •

It may be difficult for the people down Oklahoma way to understand this, for Hodge hadn't lost a wrestling match since 1952. He had 20 straight victories by falls before he had to be content with two decisions in the tryouts at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

• • •

Hodge reached the middleweight finals against Bill Smith, a lanky Rock Island, Ill., schoolteacher, who wasn't at all impressed with Hodge's press notices. Smith, who was Olympic champion in the welterweight division at Helsinki, made short work of Hodge, 1956 NCAA and AAU champ, pinning him last night in 2:37.

• • •

Bill Kerslake, baby-faced 310-pounder from Cleveland, won the heavyweight berth on the team by decisioning Ralph Bartleman of Ft. Carson, Colo.

Brown Is Unanimous Winner Over Champ

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Joe Brown did not get the knockout he had predicted but he believes his unanimous decision over lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith has earned him a rematch for the title.

• • •

Brown, 29-year-old Negro from New Orleans, used a vicious right, a strong left and a sharp defense last night in scoring a popular decision over the champion in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Sam Houston Coliseum.

• • •

Brown was not damaged. Smith, losing his third straight overweight fight, received a cup lip and a swollen left eye. Smith was 8½ pounds over the 135-pound lightweight limit. Brown weighed 139.

Kelly Coleman scored 4,263 points in four seasons of basketball for Wayland, Ky., High School. He is 6 feet 3.

ABC Tourney Goes Into Final 7 Days

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The American Bowling Congress Tournament rolled into the 72nd of its 79-day schedule today with the top leaders in all divisions holding their own.

Eighty booster teams and 152 individual keglers failed in their efforts to shake up the standings yesterday.

Eight horses have won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes. Citation last accomplished the triple crown feat as a three-year-old in 1948.

Milford, Utica, Lapeer Track Teams Rout Opposition

Winning all but one of 13 events, Milford High School's track powerhouse overwhelmed Clarkston and Clarenceville in a triangular meet Wednesday night at Milford.

The Redskins piled up 92½ points while Clarkston took 2nd with 23½ and Clarenceville scored 21.

Rush Gabler's thinclads also took seven 2nd places and established two field records. New marks were set by Jim Green in the shot put and Jim Cook in the mile run. Lee Averill won the 100, 220, and broad jump, and initiated the winning 880 relay team to pace Milford with 16¼ points.

Jones of Clarenceville captured the 180-yard low hurdles in a close race to prevent complete domination by Milford.

Utica High School, boasting one of its finest track squads in recent years, overpowered Fitzgerald, Avondale and Lake Orion in a quadrangular meet on Fitzgerald's new track.

Ernie Malzahn won both hurdles and Bernard Janowsky took the 100 and 220 to lead the Chieftains as they amassed 88 6/7 points. Fitzgerald, far in arrears, took 2nd with 37 2/7. Avondale finished 3rd with 35 6/7 and Lake Orion scored 21 points.

Sparked by Tom Wilson, the Lapeer track team raced to an easy victory over Oxford and Imlay City in a triangular meet at Oxford. The Panthers amassed 79 points to Oxford's 31½ and Imlay's 26½.

Lapeer won 10 events and Wilson accounted for three of them. He won both hurdles and the high jump and took 2nd in the broad jump to score 18 points.

Waterford claimed eight 1st places to defeat Wayne, 64⅓ to 44⅔, in a dual track meet at Waterford. Gary Meeker led the Skippers with 14 points.

Pontiac Anglers Find Trout Cooperate on the Sturgeon

MACKINAW CITY — Before we left the west side yesterday we had a look over Jordan—the river, that is. Didn't see any evidence of celestial transportation. A group of swans sailing into a nearby sanctuary gave us a mild turn—but we did see a venerable gentleman bring in a brown trout that failed to meet the eight pound mark by the weight of an eyelash.

PATTERSON

• • •

This was a nice fish. A very nice fish. In fact it was a — well, you know what kind of a nice fish it was.

Checked the Pigeon River for possibilities. Some rather nice fish have been taken but fishing is generally impaired by the cold water—cold weather problems that plague other streams.

The Black River is in about the same shape. Neither stream is particularly high, or badly discolored, for this time of year.

• • •

Rains scheduled for today can change the picture for a day or so, depending on how much.

• • •

While near Atlanta we hope to see if Dr. Leonard Klausmeyer, Dr. Robert Wise, George Hawn and some other notorious fish exterminators were actually fishing or just talking about it. Will have to check in a couple days on return swing.

• • •

The Maple River which usually offers good early and middle-season fishing is not yet ripe. Some catches reported but another week or 10 days will help a lot.

Runs of big rainbows, which just haven't been up to snuff in most streams so far this year, have been occupying our thoughts for several days, so we figured the Sturgeon was worth a check to see if it, too, is following the slow-starter pattern. It is.

Very, very few big fish have been netted to date, although an occasional "bright" rainbow indicates that some spawning activity has started.

According to Al Schreider, at Wolverine, this season is the poorest to date of any in the past 11 years. He is speaking primarily of big "bows", but browns aren't coming as fast as they might either.

• • •

Among our local trouters, who don't give a hoot about whether the season is fast or slow; who don't believe what they read in the papers, and still go out and bring in limit or near-limit catches from the Sturgeon are: Al Weber, Art and Jack Ramsey, Jim Kincaid, Leonard and Harmon Doan and Virgil Green.

• • •

This probably goes to show that good fishermen thrive on adversity and can always come up with something. The guy that's fishing, catches more fish than the guy that's talking about it.

John Kobs, Michigan State baseball coach, switched Robin Roberts from a first baseman to a pitcher when the Phillie ace was a sophomore.

Dodgers Mull Over Bid for Tour of Japan

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who are having their troubles in the National League race these days, had another, more pleasant problem facing them today: Should they accept an invitation to make a tour of Japan?

The Dodger players are mulling over the invitation, extended by the Yomiuri newspaper organization, and unofficial reports say a majority of them are in favor of going. The trip would be similar to the jaunt made by the New York Yankees after the 1955 World Series.

Ohio State has been the leading producer of football players for the Cleveland Browns.

The National League is in its 81st baseball season.

Methodists Continue Plans to Condemn Segregation

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The world's largest Protestant denomination—the Methodist Church—today begins closing ranks against racial segregation.

• • •

Delegates to the church's quadrennial general conference set forth a three-pronged program yesterday condemning segregation, making integration possible in the church structure and studying new ways of bringing Negro and white members of the congregation more closely together.

AMEND CONSTITUTION

The conference sped through action opening the door to full integration in the church, urging abolition of discrimination or segregation and setting up a commission to study ways of developing "greater interracial brotherhood."

• • •

The conference's first action was to amend the church constitution to pave the way for all Negro church units to move into the regular organization framework.

The plan, which still must be ratified by two-thirds of the voting delegates in 132 conferences, permits individual Negro churches, or entire conferences of Negro churches, to transfer into regular "white" administrative units.

• • •

Such action would be on a voluntary basis and could be undertaken by two-thirds vote of the regional groups involved.

Pravda Blasts Laborite British

English Party Leaders Hit for Starting Spat With Nikita on Tour

LONDON (AP)—Pravda today accused leaders of the British Labor party of picking a quarrel with Nikita Khrushchev in an attempt to head off the formation of an international Communist-Socialist united front.

• • •

Khrushchev, head of the Soviet Communist party, got into a row with Laborite leaders last week when he and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin were visiting Britain. The British party leaders suggested that Jews and Socialists were being persecuted behind the Iron Curtain and asked the Communist leader to help free those imprisoned.

NONSENSE SAYS NIKITA

Khrushchev angrily brushed aside the suggestions as "nonsense." He said there were no Social Democrats in the Soviet Union, and the fate of any elsewhere were no concern of his.

His reaction was considered here a blow to the Soviet drive for "popular front" alliances with Socialists and left-wing groups in Western Europe.

• • •

British Labor party leaders who attended the dinner with Khrushchev have denied they deliberately baited him. They said they were motivated by genuine hopes that he might do something for Socialists imprisoned in Soviet bloc countries.

Federal Reserve Order Defied by Bank President

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Utah bank president says he doesn't think the federal reserve system can order his bank to add 1½ million dollars to its capital. He told a news conference yesterday he is going to leave it to the federal agency to try to enforce the order.

• • •

Walter E. Cosgriff said the order to raise more capital for his Continental Bank and Trust Co. here came without a hearing and was not based on any legal definition of how much capital is "adequate."

• • •

He said he suspected the order was caused by the sale of some of his Idaho banking interests to Transamerica Corp. "As well as other long-standing disputes and differences."

The system, Cosgriff contended, as a record of hostility toward Transamerica, a West Coast bank holding corporation.

• • •

But he conceded the order might "simply represent part of a general campaign to force all banking institutions to increase their capital structure." Federal reserve spokesmen were unavailable.

Hollywood Headlines:

New Movie 'Julie' Keeps Doris Day on the Travel

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You can find Doris Day all over town these days.

• • •

One day she was at an insurance building in Los Angeles, the next at the Hotel Statler. She has been at a market in Brentwood, an apartment building in Westwood. When I caught up with her, she was playing gin rummy with her stand-in in a modest room of a middle-class apartment in Hollywood.

ACTUAL LOCALES

The reason for all these wanderings is her latest picture, "Julie," a suspense drama that is being filmed in actual locales.

• • •

"We don't have one day's shooting inside the studio, unless we might need some process shots," Doris explained.

With all this traveling and shooting in odd places, I wondered if she didn't miss the comforts of a studio.

• • •

"Not at all," she said cheerily. "I'm having a ball. It's so stimulating to get out of the four walls of a movie stage and work in real places. And I've been very comfortable too. At the insurance building, they set aside an office for me to relax in. At the Hotel Statler, I had my own suite."

NO COMPLAINTS

"I have no complaints," she said. "The film we have been getting is wonderful—the real locales give it a note of authenticity.

• • •

"As a matter of fact, it wouldn't do me any good if I did complain. I used to be able to go home and complain about the producer of my pictures. Now I go home to the producer!"

He is Marty Melcher, who happens to be her husband.

• • •

This method of shooting in real locales has been done before, especially during the era of the semi-documentaries following World War II. Although outdoor locations were used, seldom were films made entirely away from a studio, as with "Julie." Doris claimed much money can be saved thusly, but there is some dispute about this. Though studio rental and set-building is eliminated, there are still salaries to be paid, plus the expense of transporting workers and equipment.

ONLY ONE SONG

Doris gets to sing but one song in the picture. She had only two in her last one, "The Man Who Knew Too Much." But she assured that she wasn't trying to escape musicals.

• • •

"I'd like to do both," she explained. "I'm going to do 'Pajama Game' next, so that will be an out-and-out musical. After all, I've done non-singing pictures before. I didn't sing at all in 'Storm Warning,' and I had only one small song in 'The Winning Team.'"

Schizophrenogenic Parents Miss Cues Which May Cause Retardation in Child

CHICAGO (INS)—The handsome, upper-income Jones family lives in the suburbs, has two children; one is perfectly normal, the other mentally-ill. Why?

* * *

Some psychiatrists say this may be due to the fact that apparently normal parents can be mental illness "carriers" to one of their children — just like the famous "Typhoid Mary" infected children without herself succumbing to typhoid.

Several psychiatrists attending the American Psychiatric Association conference turned their attention to the problem of the mental illness "carrier" at sessions devoted to schizophrenia—the so-called split-personality disorder which fills more hospital wards than any other mental disease.

In fact, the experts have coined the term "schizophrenogenic" to designate mothers who may produce schizophrenia in one child and not in the other or others.

PARENT MISSES CUES

Dr. Edward M. Daniels of Boston says the schizophrenogenic parent usually misses "cues" given by the child and in turn fails to send proper "cues" to the child.

Parent-child cues, he explains, are exactly like the cues in a radio show or stage play — they must be understood and acted upon for the "show to go on." He explains:

"The child may be constantly giving cues to his parents — and they just as constantly will miss them. For example, the child presented to company and told to 'shake hands' or 'curtsy for the folks' may back off shyly.

Here is a cue — but some parents, unconsciously miss it and keep forcing their children to perform.

"Other all-too-common examples are the father who keeps trying to make an athlete or violinist or doctor out of his son despite the obvious signs from the boy to the contrary.

Dr. Leon Tec, of New York University School of Medicine, added:

"Mothers often say the normal child was predictable and they had no trouble in understanding it, whereas the sick child was unpredictable. Thus the mothers were confused by the cues of the sick child; it is well-known, however, that a mother reacts differently to each child and that no child is born into exactly the same environment even in the same family."

Advised Dr. Daniels to parents: "Learn your child's cues."

Market Mixed, Motors Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today with aircrafts strong and motors lower in the early afternoon.

* * *

There were gains of 1 to 3 points and losses to around a point throughout the list.

Trading was at a steady pace and came to an estimated 2,500,000 shares for the day. Yesterday's total was 2,440,000 shares with the market mixed.

* * *

Aircrafts were buoyed by action of the House Appropriations Committee putting its okay on a defense spending program of nearly 34 billion dollars. The aircrafts also were strong in yesterday's market.

Motors, faced with sagging production and sales this year, were slightly lower and moderately active. The coppers, chemicals and oils were higher. Steels were steady. Railroads were somewhat mixed.

* * *

Among higher stocks were Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, General Dynamics, Glenn Martin, RCA, Kennecott Copper, Du Pont, Long-Bell Lumber, Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch Petroleum.

Lower were Chrysler, Ford, Reynolds Metals, Union Pacific and U.S. Rubber.

Office Staff Strikes Over Wage Dispute

PORT HURON (AP) — UAW-CIO office workers of the Ainsworth Manufacturing Co. went on strike today in a new contract dispute.

Edmond Har[illegible], unit leader of Local 155, said talks broke down yesterday on an annual improvement factor. Hardy said the company sought a decrease under the amount provided in the old contract which expired Dec. 31.

Hardy said the cut would amount to $24,000 over the proposed three-year life of a new contract.

Ainsworth employs 80 office workers in plants in suburban Marysville and in Detroit. Hardy said picket lines were set up at both sites.

Beans Recover From Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans recovered from an opening price break which showed losses running to more than nine cents on the Board of Trade today.

Old crop soybeans, which have experienced the widest advance since the start of 1956, did not recover enough to get back to previous closing prices. But the new crop months, never very weak, bounded back for substantial gains as compared with yesterday's close.

In other grains considerable hesitancy was noted at the start but then the market firmed. Some aggressive buying came into the deferred contracts of corn, oats and rye. Wheat also made a good advance, partly on hopes of export business.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1¾ higher. May $2.28; corn ⅝ to 2 cents higher, May $1.52; oats ⅛ to ⅞ higher, May 66½; rye 2 to 2¾ higher, May $1.28; soybeans 4¼ lower to 4½ higher, May $3.18½, and lard 15 to 62 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $13.75.

30-Month Custody Battle

Foster Parents Take Case to High Court to Keep 'Son'

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sklaroff have made a desperate appeal to Justice Felix Frankfurter of the U.S. Supreme Court.

* * *

They want him to stay a court order that would require them to return a 4-year-old boy they've raised from infancy to his natural parents by Saturday.

ON COURT ORDER

The Rhode Island Supreme Court ordered the transfer immediately afterward, the Sklaroffs attorney filed the appeal to Frankfurter in Washington. It's the latest move in a 30-month custody battle.

The youngster has been living with the Sklaroffs since he was 3 days old. His natural parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Skeadas, are Catholic and the Sklaroffs Jewish, but the religious difference is not an issue in the case.

* * *

Yesterday, for the first time, little Freddie saw his natural parents, as he sat with his foster parents in the courtroom. For the Skeadases the sight of the boy undoubtedly brought back memories of the night when Freddie was exchanged between automobiles parked on a Lynn street—the last time they saw him until yesterday.

ADOPTION FIGHT

Two years after that transfer, the Sklaroffs sought in Juvenile Court to adopt him. But Mrs. Skeadas, who was unmarried at the time of the birth but later married Skeadas, who claims to be the father, fought the adoption. The court ruled that she had not given her consent.

* * *

Back in the courts again, Superior Court granted the adoption petition, only to have the State Supreme Court overturn the decision and deny the adoption.

* * *

When the Sklaroffs failed to give up the child, the Skeadases brought the latest court action two weeks ago.

Hearing Aid Firm Breakin Reported

The branch manager of the looted office, Rosmond Williams, of 314 N. Perry St., told police a desk and two metal file cabinets also were forced open, apparently with a screw driver.

Pair Faces Charges in Robbery Attempt

Two brothers, both factory workers, faced arraignment this morning after charges were brought yesterday in an attempted stickup by which they allegedly hoped to gain money to continue a drinking spree.

Mack Lee, 32, of Farmington and Edwin C. Lee, 33, of Garden City were charged with assault with intent to rob being armed by the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, after State Police at the Redford post said the pair tried to rob the clerk of a printing company on W. Eight Mile road at the corner of Grand River Tuesday noon.

Det. Lt. Howard Whaley said Mack Lee wore a purple scarf over his face and brandished a toy pistol. They were scared away when the attendant screamed, he said, but were traced through the license plate on Mack's car.

Religious People Are Safe Drivers

Psychiatric Tests Find Accident-Prone Index 80 Per Cent Correct

CHICAGO (AP)—A dream of highway safety experts—a test to determine in advance whether a person is mentally accident-prone or accident-proof—appeared a step nearer realigation today.

* * *

Details of tests which proved about 80 per cent accurate in three separate trials were prepared for the annual convention of the American Psychiatric Assn.

Preliminary findings from the 3-year-old accident research project at the University of Colorado School of Medicine, conducted in conjunction with Fitzsimmons Army Hospital, indicated:

1. Religiously inclined persons make the safest drivers.

2. Motorists with a predominant interest in asthetic or theoretical values have the wost safety records.

The project leader—psychologists and psychiatrists—tested and interviewed 264 airmen from Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, on their psychological, psychophysical and psychophsiological characteristics.

The airmen had high moderate for accident-free driving records.

* * *

"The stable results achieved with this test suggest that different sorts of individuals are represented in the accident and non-accident groups," they said.

Minor Pleads Guilty to Beer Possession

A minor arrested last night for possession of beer pleaded guilty today, but a 21-year-old companion pleaded innocent to a charge of furnishing the liquor.

Donald L. Caston, 20, of Keego Harbor was fined $25 and jailed five days by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Pontiac police arrested him in his friend's car, after another driver reported their car had forced him off the road.

Officers claimed they found several bottles of beer in the car when it was stopped at the corner of S. Paddock and Elm streets. Caston's companion was remanded to Oakland County Jail when he failed to post $150 bond set by McCallum pending trial May 10.

Dealers Group Raps Unethical Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Automobile Dealers Assn. has announced a campaign against false and misleading auto advertising.

"The public is understandably confused by exaggerated claims of fantastic saving, give-aways and misleading advertising which has been prevalent on the part of a small but vocal minority," a statement issued yesterday by the association said.

The association laid down a group of principles which, it said, are "dedicated to removing this type of advertising."

Ruled out are exaggerated savings claims; terms such as "need cash," "warehouse clearance" and "over-stocked;" misleading terms such as "no money down" or "no down payment."

The principles were drawn up by the association's committee on advertising ethics, headed by Frank H. Yarnell, Chicago, NADA president for 1955.

Report $800 Damage as Blaze Hits Trailer

A 15-minute blaze this morning in a house trailer at 451 S. Telegraph road caused some $800 damage, Pontiac firemen estimated.

No one was in the trailer when fire broke out at 8:20 a.m., apparently after smoldering cigarette butts were thrown into a waste-paper basket.

The trailer is owned by Addie Tapscott, who said insurance will cover the loss of $300 to contents and $500 to the trailer itself. Damage centered at one side of the kitchen, firemen said.

English Teachers Hear Dr. J. N. Hook

Nearly 250 English teachers heard Dr. J. N. Hook, well known teacher, author and lecturer, yesterday at the sixth annual English meeting of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of Cooperative School Studies.

"A Book Is to Read," the topic chosen by Dr. Hook covered teaching of literature and the effort necessary to impart literary meaning from the printed page to the student.

In metaphor, Dr. Hook examined five poor classrooms and summarized—"literature is enjoyable, but not a game. Literature is good for a child, but he should not be made to swallow it constantly. It should not be analyzed minutely and should be read with an eye today. Lastly, reading a book should not be punishment, but something fun."

"A good teacher knows the difference between not enough and too much," Dr. Hook said. "There's such a thing as talking too much about literature."

In the evening session Dr. Hook talked to the teachers on "We—Not They and I." He advised teachers to work together, cooperate, in attacking problems.

Teachers met in the afternoon for group discussions which covered teaching of a classic, writing programs, books, and fitting mass media into courses.

The Pontiac High School band under the direction of Dale C. Harris, played several numbers for the visiting teachers to open the conference. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of schools, welcomed the group.

Professor Thelma McAndless, co-chairman of the English Conference Committee from Michigan State Normal College, presided over the meeting and introduced Dr. Hook.

Robert Beauchamp, Pontiac High instructor, had charge of arrangements for yesterday's meeting. Professor McAndless and Mrs. Marion Fisher of Fordson High, Detroit, were co-chairmen of the program.

Dr. Hook remained in Pontiac today visiting classes. This morning he spoke to area principals on "Promising Practices in Reading in Junior High and High Schools."

He will speak at a 6:30 p.m. dinner tonight when 150 English educators from the Pontiac area gather. Dr. Hook is a professor of English at the University of Illinois and executive secretary of the National Conference of Teachers of English.

Oliver Motor to Convert Galbraith Property Into Parking Area

Purchase of the Galbraith estate, corner of Williams and Pike streets, and plans to convert it into an auto parking area were announced yesterday by officials of Oliver Motor Sales Inc.

Ralph W. Humphries, manager of the Buick sales agency, disclosed that the house located on the old estate will be torn down to make way for the lot. Intended for customer and employe use, the area is expected to be in operation by next spring.

Originally the Heath property, the 10-room brick structure is regarded as one of the oldest homes in the area. Seller was the present occupant, Mrs. Clinton McGee.

The sales firm also revealed plans to build a body repair and car reconditioning garage on a recently-purchased, 9,000 square feet site near the corner of Orchard Lake Ave. and Walnut St.

Another area behind the main building, presently occupied by another private dwelling, will also be converted into a parking lot, Oliver spokesmen said.

Martha, Perry and Lucy Agree

Now They Have Time to Put Down Roots and Be With Families

(This is the fourth of six articles providing an intimate, behind-the-scenes report on television's first 10 years and on its biggest stars.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Writer

TV gives some performers ulcers. But other . . . like Lucille ("I Love Lucy") Ball, singer Perry Como, and comedienne Martha Raye . . . regard television as a godsend because it enables them to enjoy home life.

* * *

They're glad to be done with trouping around the country, living at hotels and getting their meals on the fly. They like to "stay put."

"I think TV is the greatest invention since the wheel," declares Miss Ball with enthusiasm.

Como, a devoted family man, says it's "wonderful" to get home now and then for dinner with the wife and kiddies.

* * *

And the effervescent Miss Raye puts it this way:

"Thanks to television, I can now attend a parent-teacher meeting or cook Mulligan stew for my neighbors."

* * *

All three are realists as performers. They know show business has its ups and downs, and they don't go into a dither over fluctuations in their TV ratings.

LUCY SECURE

Of course, Lucy has no worries on that score.. She has been up at the top in television for the last five years. Martha is holding her own, and Perry has established a firm niche in the medium this season.

* * *

Few performers are busier than the pert and popular Lucille Ball, who co-stars with her husband Desi Arnaz in "I Love Lucy." In addition, she and Desi have their own firm, "Desilu Productions," which createst and produces various television properties.

Lucy told INS the reason she lauds television as a medium is this:

"It affords me more time with my family than any other phase of show business with which I have been connected. To me, the most important single factor about my work is the free time it gives me to be with my family."

* * *

Martha Raye, one of the greatest troupers in show business, told this writer that "TV helped me find my roots." She proceeded to explain why. She said:

"I've been traveling throughout the country, living in hotels and on trains since I was a little girl appearing in my mother's and father's act, the O'Reeds.

OVER 30 YEARS

"This takes in a span of more than 30 years and ended only when Milton Berle called me up and asked me to appear as a guest star on his TV show. I guess I was a hit because I played a return engagement and eventually signed a long-term deal with NBC-TV.

* * *

"TV has also brought me closer to my daughter, Melodye, who is now 11 years old. When I was traveling from one town to another appearing in nightclubs and theaters and doing 14 shows a week, I didn't have much time to be with her.

"But since I've had my regular TV show we have been able to settle down together in a home in Westport, Conn."

* * *

Perry Como sees eye-to-eye with both Miss Raye and Miss Ball regarding the home aspects of TV. He's a relaxed fellow anyway. He can croon or do a bit of emceeing as casually as any performer in the business.

* * *

The private life of the handsome, black-haired, 43-year-old Como is as serene as his demeanor on stage. He used to be a barber before he rose to fame and fortune as a singer. He married his childhood sweetheart, blonde, brown-eyed Roselle Belline, on July 31, 1933.

They live in a rambling home on Sands Point, L. I., with their three children: Ronnie, David and Terri. They are a deeply religious family. They have a garden, an outdoor grill for steaks, and a pool table.

Kefauver Raps 'Smear' Tactics

Senator Defies Rumor That He Favors Troops to Enforce Integration

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver says what he calls a "smear campaign" may be shaping up against him in Florida.

The Tennessee senator told audiences yesterday and last night at several towns in northwest Florida that he had heard a rumor to the effect that he had said recently he would favor the use of federal troops to enforce integration in public schools. He spoke here last night.

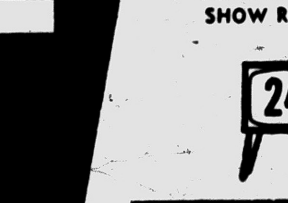

Both Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson are seeking Florida's support in their campaigns for the Democratic presidential nomination. A slate of delegates with 28 votes at the Democratic National Convention will be chosen in the state's presidential preference primary May 29.

Kefauver said he would oppose the use of federal troops in the matter of integration.

Kefauver said the rumor probably originated with an incorrect account of a news conference in Florida in February. He said one erroneous dispatch was written but it was quickly corrected and that the reporter had acted in good faith.
