Kennedy Watching Cuba, Regrets War Talk

But he told his news conference Thursday that if the United States should ever have to take action, "All of Castro's Communist-supplied weapons and technicians would not change the result or significantly extend the time required to achieve the result."

At the same time, the President admonished critics urging the administration to use military force against the Communist outpost.

He said he finds it "regrettable that loose talk about such action

in this country might serve to give a thin color of legitimacy to the Communist pretense that such a threat exists."

The President said, as he has said before, that Cuba poses no serious threat to the Western Hemisphere.

However, should the Castro regime — with Russian backing — ever endanger the security of the United States in any way "this country will do whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its Allies," he said.

This holds true, the President declared, should Cuba ever threaten any nation in this hemisphere or should it ever develop into an offensive base for Russia.

He said the United States will intensify its watch over the Caribbean area. But he said Washington is aware of what goes on in Cuba and is "fully capable of dealing swiftly" with any genuine threats.

READS STATEMENT

Kennedy opened the nationally televised and broadcast conference with a statement on the situation in Cuba, which has prompted demands in and out of Congress for stiff action. Cuba remained the dominant topic.

Kennedy did take the opportunity to condemn the burning of two Negro churches and the shooting of two Negroes during voter registration in the South. He called the actions "cowardly as well as outrageous" and said the right to vote and freedom of worship are hallowed and will be protected.

"If it requires extra legislation and extra force," he said, "we shall do that."

The President said Castro had committed himself to a Soviet takeover in hope of preventing his own collapse.

The chief executive said he discussed Cuba, among other subjects, with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Monday

2 Killed in Crash During Storm

Pontiac Spared Worst of Crippling State Rains

By DICK HANSON

While the Pontiac area escaped the full brunt of high winds and electrical storms that smashed across lower Michigan yesterday, two youths were killed and a third injured when their speeding car skidded off rain-slicked M15 in Brandon Township and crashed into a utility pole.

Elsewhere in the county, a wind gust toppled a light foreign car into Harvey Lake in Highland Township and knocked down a few power lines.

Lightning struck two homes in the Oxford area, causing $1,000 damage to one and only minor damage to the other.

A third youth in the car, David Bruhn, 20, of 1930 Fay Road, Brandon Township, was listed in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the Bruhn youth suffered a probable brain concussion and is being held under intensive care. He also has possible internal injuries, the spokesman said.

propelled their southbound car off the road on a curve north of the Wolf Road intersection.

CAREENS 162 FEET

The car careened 162 feet of the road and slammed into the utility pole at high speed, deputies said.

They said the car obviously was speeding when the driver, Hiser, lost control of the wheel.

Hiser died of a crushed chest and Wilson succumbed to a skull fracture, according to the coroner's report.

The demolished car belonged to Bruhn's older brother, Dallas of the same address.

The fatal accident, which occurred at 5:55 p.m., disrupted

SECOND TIME AROUND — The high winds north of Flint yesterday caused only slight damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Quinn, but it renewed old tornado horrors to the couple. The Quinns lost their home in the 1953 tornado which ripped almost the same area as yesterday's winds. Quinn's mother, father and two sisters died in the 1953 disaster which claimed 115 lives and demolished 307 homes.

Red Guards Ride Bus to W. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Bowing a second time to Western orders, Soviet guards drove into West Berlin today in a bus instead of armored cars.

The green and red bus brought the daily change of guard to the Soviet war memorial in the British sector of West Berlin.

A score of Soviet troops inside waved and smiled to a crowd of some 50 West Berliners, gathered at the Sandkrug Bridge crossing.

The British, along with the Americans and French, had given the Soviets until Saturday to stop transporting their war memorial guards in armored cars. The Soviets had switched from buses to armored vehicles on Aug. 21, after the buses were stoned by West Berliners angry over the shooting of a young refugee at the Berlin Wall.

It was the second small victory for the Allies. Earlier in the month the Soviets acceded to an Allied demand that they send their guard through the wall at the Sandkrug Bridge rather than at Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing they had been using in the American sector.

Both the bridge and the war memorial are in the British Sector, and the distance between them is much shorter than between the memorial and Checkpoint Charlie. The Allies said the shorter route would lessen the possibility of disturbances.

Drop Center Bus Run, Reduce Service to Mall

Pontiac Transit Corp. today announced it will cancel all bus runs from downtown Pontiac to the Oakland County Service Center and drop three of five daily runs to Pontiac Mall starting next Thursday, Sept. 20.

"There just aren't enough people using the service," said Glen G. Crawford, manager.

"We've been consistently losing money on the runs," he explained. "Maybe when the service center is completed and fully occupied there will be enough patronage there to support bus service."

The manager said that under the present schedule with five round trips from downtown to Pontiac Mall and the service center daily, operating expenses for the service ran about $18 per day.

"We've been averaging less than $7.50 per day in revenue from those runs," he said.

Reaction was mixed.

DISCUSS LEASE

Several commissioners suggested that the lease contract between the city and bus company be changed to require Commission approval of any proposed cuts or major changes in bus routes and schedules.

The present contract expired July 1.

The bus company is currently drafting another to be presented for Commission approval.

Commissioner Winford E. Bottom had previously protested a five-cent fare increase for student riders under 12 years old and suggested fare hikes also should require Commission approval.

To be retained by the bus company are the mall bus runs that leave Pike and Saginaw Streets at 8:30 a.m. and 2:20 p.m.

★ ★ ★

These won't include the service center. All other Mall runs will be dropped.

★ ★ ★

The two runs being retained are those which have shown the most patronage.

★ ★ ★

Bus service to the Mall and service center was initiated last April at the urging of City Commissioners and county officials.

Union Accepts JFK Request to Stay at Boeing

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) —The International Association of Machinists today accepted President Kennedy's request to continue work at Boeing projects until Nov. 15 under the present union contract.

★ ★ ★

It canceled union meetings which had been scheduled at Seattle; Wichita, Kan., and several other locations this weekend to consider strike action.

★ ★ ★

The Boeing Co. had agreed previously to President Kennedy's proposal provided the union did likewise.

Is Glenn Finished in Space?

Schirra Stirs Rhubarb

From Our News Wires

HOUSTON—National Space Administration Agency officials today agreed with astronaut Walter Schirra — slated to be the nation's next man in space — that John Glenn has been busy with matters other than space.

But Al Chop, deputy public affairs officer of the space center in Houston, said he did not agree with Schirra's contention that Glenn's commitments have just about wiped him out of the space program.

"Glenn has had to relocate and has been busy finding a house in Houston, getting his children in school, finding temporary quarters until his house is built and reacting to public pressures put upon him for public appearances," Chop said.

In a television interview taped six weeks ago in Florida, and broadcast last night, Schirra said:

"He (Glenn) hasn't been able to maintain the currency that he should have with the rest of us. "And we have frantic meetings trying to keep each other up to date on what he has been doing technically. John's falling behind, in other words."

In the telecast, Schirra also contended space officials "boobooed" in not telling the public where Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter was during the 35 minutes an anxious nation thought he was lost after his capsule overshot its landing last May 24.

"We had six beautiful radar fixes within six miles of where Scott landed," Schirra said, "but we had a lot of information there and yet it never came out and it was disgusting, you know," Schirra said.

HE'LL BE FURIOUS

"I don't feel badly about harpooning someone on this because if they do it to me I'm going to be furious because too many people I know will be concerned, and I think many were in Scott's case."

★ ★ ★

It was brought out shortly after the flight that Carpenter's location was known but the information didn't get to the public for 35 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on that remark by Shirra, an NASA spokesman, Paul Haney, said that if location information was available on Carpenter after his landing, it had not been passed on to public information officials at Mercury control.

★ ★ ★

"We regret it," Haney said, "it was our error. If somebody had the information, they just didn't pass it on."

Schirra, on the program, made no mention of Lt. Col. John A. Powers, who handled the broadcasts from Mercury control.

Dixie Governor Defies Orders

Mississippi's Barnett Says Jail Preferable to Desegregation

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett, stating that Mississippi faces its "greatest crisis" since the Civil War, directed state officials last night to go to jail rather than obey federal desegregation orders.

"We will not drink from the cup of genocide," he told a state wide television audience. "There is no case in history where the Caucasian race has survived social integration."

The 63-year-old son of a Confederate soldier invoked the controversial doctrine of interposition, ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court, to prevent the federal court-ordered desegregation of the University of Mississippi next week.

The doctrine declares void any federal law which usurps rights reserved to the states but the supreme court decided in a Louisiana case that interposition "is not constitutional and is illegal defiance of constitutional law."

In Montgomery, Ala., Gov. designate George C. Wallace last night praised Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett as one American governor with the "guts" to stand up to federal court-ordered integration.

Summer's Ending? Nah, Says Mercury

A pleasant weekend is in store for Pontiac area residents. The weatherman predicts fair and cool night, the low dripping to 54. Fair and mild with a high of 74 is Saturday's forecast.

Winds north to northeast at 2 miles per hour this morning will shift to north to northwest at 8 to 15 m.p.h. late today and become variable tonight.

The low recording in the downtown area preceding 8 a.m. was 65. At 2 p.m. the reading was 77.

JFK Expected to Aid Swainson

By The Associated Press

The Democrats say they "definitely" expect President Kennedy to come to Michigan to campaign for re-election of Gov. Swainson over the challenge of Republican George Romney.

Kennedy's visit probably will be some time in October, John Collins, Democratic State Chairman, said Tuesday.

"We have no definite commitment on time, place or length of stay but we definitely know he is coming," Collins said in Detroit.

In addition to the president, others of the Democratic national leadership, including possibly Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, also will campaign in Michigan for the Democratic ticket in the Nov. 6 election, Collins said.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges addresses a $10-a-plate "Business for Swainson Committee" dinner in Detroit next Wednesday.

As the campaign rolled on today, both parties were pledged to a "code of fair campaign practices."

Leaders of the two major parties signed the code in Detroit Thursday at a meeting with the State Fair Campaign Practices Commission.

The code, a written document of seven points, pledges the parties to abstain, among other things, from distortion or misrepresentation and from appeals to racial prejudice.

Both parties also pledged to repudiate "immediately and publicly" the support of "any individual or group which resorts to the methods and tactics which we condemn."

"We shall condemn," the parties agreed, "any dishonest or unethical practice which tends to corrupt or undermine our American system of free elections or which hampers or prevents the full and free expression of the will of the voters."

Collins signed the code for the Democrats. Benjamin D. Burdick, member of the Wayne State University Board of Governors, signed for Republican Chairman George M. Van Peursem.

Ike Stumps for GOP's Halleck

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower opened a campaign tour for Republican congressional candidates Thursday night with a pot-shot at government spending and "thirst for power."

At no point did he name President Kennedy or the Kennedy administration directly. The closest he came was use of the word "frontiersmanship," which he said had suffered defeats because of "statesmanship" by GOP congressional leaders.

Eisenhower was the featured speaker at a "Charlie Halleck Day" rally on the campus of St. Joseph's College in the home town of House minority leader Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., Eisenhower's top lieutenant in Congress.

Most of the estimated 25,000 guests ate barbecued chicken prepared over outdoor pits with six tons of charcoal in what was billed as the biggest cook-out in Indiana history.

Eisenhower, who also made brief off-the-cuff talks at Purdue University's airport at West Lafayette and at Rensselaer's courthouse square, avoided any mention of foreign problems.

Republicans, he said, favor a governmental climate "in which the enterprise and energy of our people work at their best.

Area Advertising Man Views Aussies' Woes

Australia is facing "big economic trouble" and its business leaders look to American advertising methods to help solve their problem, the president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., told Pontiac Rotary Club members yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Ernest A. Jones, president of the Bloomfield Hills-based advertising agency, yesterday described Australian advertising and economics on the basis of his recent appearance at the country's International Marketing Conference.

Jones said that Southern Hemisphere nation, suffering from a lack of population, is threatened with loss of its economic ties to England because of the United Kingdom's plans to enter the European Common Market.

"In Australia the situation is particularly painful and inhibitory to economic growth in that its 11-million people cannot consume enough — or have not been taught by advertising to consume enough to accelerate production," Jones said.

Australia, which Jones found to closely resemble America in many ways, is second to the United States in advertising expenditures, he pointed out.

GNP UP 178 PCT.

Its gross national product has climbed 178 per cent in the past 10 years, he said.

Jones said there is a nostalgia in Australia today for the United States of 20 or 30 years ago — in the way they prepare foods, in the cut of their clothing and in their advertising.

A lack of bite in advertising copy and an indefinable stiltedness in the artwork and reproduction is "distinctly remindful of the 1930s in this country," he said.

"Reading an Australian newspaper is something like watching your grandmother doing the twist," he added. "Most of them mix Victorianism with a tabloid approach.'

"There is no network television, and the first commercial transmission dates back only to 1956."

However, only one of the country's 110 commercial radio stations showed an operating loss last year, he said, adding that commercials are not too good because of "low budgets and fumbling techniques."

Jones concluded that "Australian advertising people are eager to do a better job, not ashamed to learn and are engaged against much the same problems as we are.

★ ★ ★

"Here is a country," Jones said, "that approaches America in friendship and with its sleeves rolled up — not with its hand out."

ERNEST A. JONES

Kennedy Expected to Help Swainson

Romney, in a speech to the Michigan Association of Broadcasters, said he hoped the voters would be given the chance to make an honest appraisal of himself as candidate for governor.

He mentioned an experience in Detroit in which he said he was told that a union hall was "off limits" and also his Detroit Labor Day experience when the Wayne County AFL-CIO declined his offer to address a labor rally. The AFL-CIO supports Swainson.

Swainson, addressing a group of University of Michigan faculty members, said:

"His speech writers apparently are running off carbon copies of my messages to the legislature . . . the same program that his Republican party has ignored and rejected."

He labeled the 15-point program for economic growth, proposed by the Republican gubernatorial candidate, an example of "me-tooism."

Tight Squeeze Puts Truck in the Hole

You can't squeeze an 11-foot-high semitruck under the 10½-foot-high overpass on Orchard Lake Avenue, at Cass Ave. Juan M. Boervil, 29, of Bay City discovered today.

The Valley Leasing, Inc., truck driver told Pontiac police he failed to note the posted dimensions on the Grand Trunk Railroad overpass as he approached.

He did manage to squeeze part of the empty rig under though. The result was a badly chewed trailer van.

City police had the crippled truck hauled away and released the driver after questioning.

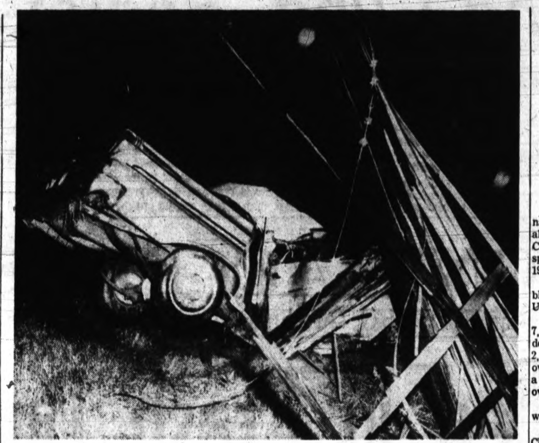
NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain and scattered showers are expected tonight over the Northwest and the Northern Plateau, with scattered showers and thundershowers in the north and mid Atlantic coast states, the Ohio, Mississippi and Tennessee valleys, the Central Plains, the Gulf coast and parts of the Southern Plains. It will be warmer generally in the Southeast while the Great Lakes and Ohio valley region will have cooler weather.



FATAL SCENE — Two youths were killed and a third injured yesterday when this car skidded off rain-slicked M15 in Brandon Township and crashed into a utility pole. Sheriff's deputies said the youths had been speeding. The car careened 162-feet off the highway to hit the pole seen splintered at right.

President Stands By on Cuba

but did not seek any agreement from Eisenhower to bar Cuba as a congressional campaign issue. Neither, he said, would he suggest that Republican shots at his Cuban policy were politically motivated.

Kennedy said he and the Joint Chiefs of Staff will analyze all available intelligence to determine whether or when Cuba does present an offensive threat. In the meantime, he urged North Atlantic Treaty allies to give a second thought to allowing their ships to carry supplies to Cuba and called on Latin American governments to be on the alert. He said the United States will pay no heed to Soviet threats of retaliation to a U.S. attack on Cuba—that it does not need Moscow's help in making decisions.

Of other matters, Kennedy had this to say:

OTHER MATTERS

Reserves — His request for standby authority to call up an additional 150,000 Reserves, approved unanimously Thursday by the Senate, was an intermediate step to cope with the possibility of threats short of a national emergency while Congress is out of session.

U2s—These high altitude reconnaissance planes have been sold only to Nationalist China, he said, and there are no plans to deliver U2s to any other government.

Berlin—Leaders of both parties have said there is no political division on Berlin policy and the U.S. position "would not be affected by whatever results may be in the November election."

Taxes—Kennedy implied he might not accept tax legislation, including the tax credit he wants for industrial investment, which is now before Congress. He said he will see what evolves from a Senate-House conference committee before deciding whether to sign it or wait for the general tax reform bill he plans to submit next year.

Space—Powerful rockets and techniques for applying them to exploration of space and other peaceful purposes could be adapted to military uses "if the situation should require."

Nuclear Tests—U. S. atmospheric tests will be resumed because the summer series was not completed and because they turned up information that should be tested further. He said steps have been taken to prevent a repeat of the July 9 high altitude test that created a new belt of radiation around the earth.

Industry-Labor — Kennedy expressed hope for quick agreement in disputes involving the aerospace industry and the Chicago and North Western Railway. Observing that most major industries have accepted the union shop, recommended by an aerospace study board, he suggested the companies will bear the responsibility if strikes occur at their plants.

Congress—He forecast passage of trade, tax, higher education and farm legislation "which two months ago seemed to be in the deep freeze."

Elections — He won't make across-the-board endorsement of all Democratic congressional candidates because there probably are some "who might not be particularly anxious for my support."

Politics—There was no political reason for not taking Rep. Bob Casey, Texas Democrat who has opposed him on several issues, on a visit to Houston space facilities.

Pontiac, Tempest Sales Still Climb

Sales of Pontiacs and Tempests in the Sept. 1-10 sales showed the biggest percentage increase this year, Frank V. Bridge, Pontiac general sales manager, announced today.

Bridge said the 7,765 units sold in the period were 81 per cent ahead of the 4,294 cars sold in the same period last year.

He also pointed out that Pontiac dealers through Sept. 10 had sold 489,704 this year's Pontiacs and Tempests. In a similar period a year ago 316,119 cars were sold.

Two Dead in Storm Crash

electrical power in the Ortonville area for eight hours.

Police switchboards were periodically swamped with calls during the course of the storm that began at about 3 p.m. and recurred intermittently throughout the night.

Most of the calls were to report minor car accidents and small storm damage.

GUSTS HIT 40 M.P.H.

Wind gusts were up to 40 miles per hour and .7-inches of rain fell in the Pontiac area.

Telephone service was out for some 282 customers in the Pontiac area, according to Ray Storm, Pontiac district commercial manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

"We had 18 crews working this morning and all service should have been restored by 1 p.m.," Storm said.

There were no telephone wires down.

All the trouble was caused by some 53 wet cables, including four trunk cables between Auburn Heights and Rochester and from Pontiac to Auburn Heights, Commerce Township and Drayton Plains.

Storm said Drayton was hardest hit.

"They were ready when the calls started coming in and we experienced very little interruption of service."

Brown said there were "a few lines down, but they were scattered and none was serious." Consumers sent one crew to Flint, where damage was more extensive.

$1,000 DAMAGE

Lightning caused some $1,000 damage to the contents and second floor of the Amos Bowker home at 875 Keith St., Oxford Township, when it hit the chimney and traveled inside at the height of the storm.

The roof of the home of Clyde Throop Jr., at 2151 Seymour Lake Road, also was struck by lightning. The damage, however, was minor.

Mrs. David Lapham, 1600 Pruit St., in Highland Township informed the sheriff's department yesterday afternoon that a violent wind knocked her family's Volkswagen car down a hill and into Harvey Lake.

She said the car had been left parked in the driveway alongside their home, and the next thing she knew the car was sitting in about 4 feet of water approximately 50-feet from shore.

A wrecker hauled the car out.

Distance from where the car had been parked to the shore is 200 feet, Mrs. Lapham said.

WEATHER PHENOMENON

A strange weather phenomenon was reported by Bloomfield Hills residents as the storm hit in their area.

A sudden influx of chilly air was noted at about 4 p.m., they said, lasting for about five minuter. Then, 30 minutes later, a hot blast of air sent thermometers zooming upward.

Within another minute, they said, the rains hit, followed by hailstones the size of small marbles.

Wind of "near cyclonic velocities" and rain falling in sheets completed the weather drama, they said.

The storms, including torrential rains in some areas, swept in a crazy-quilt pattern across the state over a period of hours.

Damage was extensive, but relatively few casualties were reported.

Numerous tornado funnels were reported and one touched the ground at Birch Run in Saginaw County near the Genesee County line.

State Police trooper James A. Malczewski of the Bridgeport post was driving into Birch Run when he spotted the edge of the funnel. It tore the roof off the Masonic hall and ripped off several porches in the village

In Saginaw, high winds leveled trees and wires. Damage in the county was widespread.

One of the hardest hit areas was that near Flint where more than 100 people were killed in a 1953 tornado.

Winds of near hurricane force struck west Michigan when the first of a series of storms that were to go pell-mell across the state until evening hours hit that area.

The Kent County Airport near Grand Rapids reported gusts of wind up to 80 miles an hour.

Lightning set several fires. Heavy rains flooded city streets and rural roads.

In several cities police and firemen were held on emergency duty.

In Detroit, Mrs. Jessie Boyd, 65, died of a heart attack while trying to drive her car from beneath a fallen tree branch.

Tornado funnels formed in several places, including two in Kent County and others near Battle Creek and Ionia.

Brazil Cabinet, Prime Minister Quit Over Rule

Brochado da Rocha told the Chamber of Deputies he was quitting after two months because the conservative bloc in congress had stubbornly resisted his efforts to win approval for Goulart's demands.

China Claims 4 Spy Planes

Owned by Nationalists but U. S. Is Blamed for U2 Flight

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China said today the Chinese Nationalist high-altitude U2 downed over China last Sunday was the fourth spy plane brought down since 1959.

Radio Peiping said that on Oct. 7, 1959, an RB57D plane was shot down over northern China; Aug. 2, 1961, an RF101 was downed over east China; and Nov. 6, 1961, a P2V aircraft was shot down over northeast China.

Presumably the pilots of all were Nationalists.

In Taipei, Formosa, official Chinese Nationalist quarters declined comment today on the indication given by President Kennedy that the United States would not authorize export of any more U2 planes to Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

The Nationalists bought two American-built U2 aircraft in 1960. One was lost in a flight over the China mainland Sunday. The Communists claim it was shot down.

Nationalist sources denied a local newspaper report the other had crashed in North Formosa.

A qualified Chinese Nationalist Air Force source said "we shall never halt reconnaissance flights over the mainland."

Kennedy told his news conference yesterday the United States had no plans to sell abroad any more U2 planes or grant export licenses for them.

JFK Exchanges Hopes With Reich Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy expressed confidence today that the American and German peoples will "one day witness the peaceful emergence of just and stable conditions in which the benefits of freedom can be developed in the fullest sense."

In a formal exchange of remarks with new West German Ambassador Karl Heinrich Knappstein, the President also reaffirmed that the United States is fully pledged to the freedom and welfare of Berlin and its people.

"It has been a primary objective of U.S. policy since 1945 to see reestablished in Germany a united, independent and democratic state working in harmony with its neighbors to develop a free and peaceful world," Kennedy said.

The Day in Birmingham

Community House Drive Goes Over $50,500 Goal

BIRMINGHAM — For the first time in several years, the Community House Fund Drive has gone over the top, Thoburn H. Wiant, president, announced today.

He said the 1962 goal of $50,500 had been exceeded and that contributions still were being received.

"The additional gifts are most welcome, and they will be used at the right time to activate our plans to make the Community House even more useful to the whole Birmingham-Bloomfield area," Wiant said.

Currently, the Community House is "at an all-time high, in terms of service," he said, attracting an annual attendance of over 160,000 persons.

Wiant paid tribute to Edward H. Lerchen, drive chairman, and Mrs. C. Theron VanDusen, cochairman, "for their untiring and inspiring leadership of the successful campaign."

★ ★ ★

"But I know that they will be the first to say that the credit really belongs to the thousands of citizens who are determined to keep the Community House as a model for the entire nation," Wiant said.

A long series of study, planning and action meetings stemming from the November 1961 special school election ended recently when the Birmingham Board of Education approved bids on the new junior high school and a science addition at the Barnum Junior High School.

This means that final action has now been taken on all buildings and several of the site projects included in the $4,915,000 bonding proposal approved by voters last year.

Included in the package were construction of Meadow Lake School; additions to Bloomfield Village, Franklin, Harlan and Pembroke elementary schools; and the new junior high school.

★ ★ ★

Others were improvements, to, and a science wing at Barnum; a receiving and supply building; buying of sites; and various improvements to schools throughout the district.

★ ★ ★

The awarding of the two contracts by the board marks final action on providing facilities for an estimated five-year period.

Detroiters Seeking 100,000 New Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — A campaign to create 100,000 new jobs in the Detroit area is planned by the Employers Association of Detroit.

A membership meeting has been called here Sept. 26 to get the drive under way.

In a message to employers, Wayne Stettbacher, general manager of the association, said, "If we are to maintain our system of free enterprise, these 100,000 new jobs must come from new employers creating new jobs or present employers hiring additional workers."

The association's membership includes the big three auto companies, many other manufacturing companies, banks and other firms.

Meanwhile, the number of jobless workers in Michigan increased 57,000 to a total of 234,000 in mid-August amounting to 8 per cent of the states labor force, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today.

Course in Safety on Boats Slated by Coast Guard

A "Small Boat Handling and Safety A-Float" course will be offered by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 12-18, starting Thursday at the U.S. Naval Reserve Center, 469 S. East Blvd.

The eight-week course will be held each Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registration will begin at 6 p.m. preceding the first session.

The course will include instruction in nautical language, boat construction, seamanship, aids to navigation, charts and compass, rules of the road, knots and splices, boating courtesy and safety regulations.

A U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary certificate and a watercraft operators permit will be presented to those who complete the course.

Ford Fairlane Adds 5 Models

New Hardtops Feature Lower Profile; Squire Wagon 'Glamorous'

Ford Motor Co. officials have added two hardtop and three station wagon versions to the Fairlane line in the new model year.

A quarter-million sales mark was attained by Fairlane in last year's run when sedans alone were offered. It was Fairlane's first year on the market.

The popular two and four-door sedans are being offered again this year as well.

All '63 models will be on display or available at dealer showrooms in the area Sept. 28.

Local dealers are John McAuliffe Ford, Inc., 630 Oakland Ave.; Beattie Motor Sales, Inc., 5806 Dixie Highway in Waterford; and Jerome-Ferguson, Inc., 215 Main St., Rochester.

LUXURIOUS TOUCH

Hardtop models feature a lower profile, thin roofline and a rakish windshield angle. Bucket seats and a full-length console add a more luxurious touch to interiors.

Bucket seats are available also in the Squire Wagon, most glamorous of the three wagons.

Major selling points being used for all Ford cars in '63 are the elimination of any need for the traditional 1,000-mile inspection, and major lubrication intervals increased to 36,000 miles.

Normal maintenance will be required only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles, according to the company.

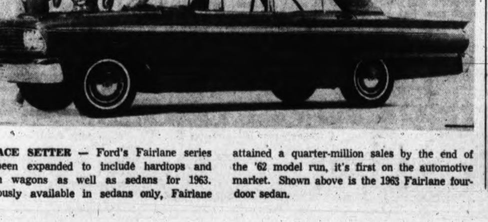
A thrust of color between bright moldings has been added along the sides of the cars. Simulated wood paneling on the exterior is a feature of the Squire Wagon.



PACE SETTER — Ford's Fairlane series has been expanded to include hardtops and station wagons as well as sedans for 1963. Previously available in sedans only, Fairlane attained a quarter-million sales by the end of the '62 model run, it's first on the automotive market. Shown above is the 1963 Fairlane four-door sedan.

Can U.S. Aid Church Schools Abroad?

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

If the U.S. government cannot give financial support to religious schools in this country, can it do so abroad?

This is the crux of a foreign aid policy dispute which has put President Kennedy on an awkward spot.

In opposing Roman Catholic demands for federad aid to U.S. parochial schools, Kennedy has firmly maintained that such aid would violate the constitutional principle of church-state separation. His stand has been applauded by Protestants and criticized by many of his fellow Catholics.

* * *

Within the past months, both Protestants and Catholics have been stirred by news dispatches from Washington disclosing that the government is doing in other countries what the President says it cannot do at home — namely, using tax funds to support church-sponsored schools.

* * *

On July 16, top officials of the Agency for International Development (AID) approved a document, officially described as a "policy determination," authorizing use of foreign aid funds to assist religious schools in areas such as Africa and Latin America, where church-sponsored schools are the main bulwark of public education.

* * *

No public announcement was made of the "policy determination." But the document was distributed privately to religious agencies engaged in overseas missions, and its contents leaked to the press in mid-August.

* * *

There were immediate protests from the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State (POAU), and other Protestant groups.

TO MOLLIFY CRITICS

In an effort to mollify Protestant critics, AID administrator Fowler Hamilton announced in late August that the policy determination had been "withdrawn." He added that "henceforth the agency will continue to pursue the same policies that it and predecessor agenceis have pursued in this regard during the past period of more than 10 years."

Any Protestant critic who found comfort in Hamilton's statement has been seriously misled. For the statment was, as an AID spokesman acknowledged to a UPI reporter this week, "essentially meaningless."

The truth of the matter is that policies which the foreign aid agency followed in the past—and which, according to Hamilton, it will "henceforth continue to pursue"—are precisely the same as those spelled out in the controversial July 16 document which Hamilton says he has "withdrawn."

* * *

"The July 16 policy determination simply pulled together in one document what has been the standard operating procedure of the foreign aid program under both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations," the AID spokesman said.

He said the agency's records disclose "hundreds of instances" in which church-related schools in other countries have been assisted with U.S. foreign aid funds during the past decade.

Aid officials feel that they have no choice but to continue this policy, if the United States wants to help raise educational standards in underdeveloped areas.

INTEGRAL PART

"Mission schools are the only kind of schools there are in many parts of Africa," the AID spokesman said. "Similarly, in many Latin American countries, Catholic schools are officially recognized by the national government as an integral part of the public education system.

* * *

"There countries do not share our tradition of church-state separation. If we sought to stipulate that their schools must be free of religious control to be eligible for U.S. aid, they would feel that we were tying strings to our help and trying to meddle in their domestic affairs."

* * *

He said a review of past grants indicates that Protestant institutions, mainly mission schools in Africa, have received well over half of the total U.S. funds distributed to religious schools. Catholic schools, primarily in Latin America, have received about 35 per cent of the total aid, he said.

This explanation doubtless will satisfy many Protestants. But groups such as Poau will continue to oppose any aid to religious schools in other countries, for fear that the policy may later be cited as a precedent for government support of parochial schools in this country.

At present, the wohle problem is officially up for "top level review." This means the White House is trying to figure out some way to get off the hook with Protestant critics without abandoning a policy which AID officials say is the only one this country can follow if it intends to raise living standards in Africa and Latin America.

Cambodia in Hot Spot Politically

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Scarcely 100 miles from Saigon, the Cambodian border suddenly just southward into South Viet Nam like a pointing finger.

It is a flat, water land of glistening paddies, rubber plantations and jungle, and to the people living there borders are unknown or of little moment.

Since 1945, before the French finally lost their war in Indochina, it has been under the heavy influence of the Communist Viet Cong.

This week, Cambodian Premier Prince Norodom Sihanouk angrily charged that South Vietnamese tanks, amphibious vehicles and aircraft attacked a Cambodian village 900 yards inside the border of Prey Veng Province.

BREAKS RELATIONS

He threatened to break relations with South Viet Nam, as he already has with neighboring and also prowestern Thailand.

He has accused both of plotting against his neutral state and has demanded a 14-nation conference to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

Because of jungle cover and the ill-defined border, the truth of charge and countercharge is difficult to come by.

Despite Sihanouk's heated denials, an American adviser in South Viet Nam this week informed visiting U.S Gen. Maxwell Taylor that "there is fairly good evidence of support brought in across the (Cambodian) border."

★ ★ ★

In Saigon, military intelligence sources have estimated that as many as 6,000 Communist guerrillas are using Cambodian bases as command headquarters for stepped-up operations against South Viet Nam.

HE'S A RIDDLE

Sihanouk himself is something of a riddle.

He has staunch admirers who point to his steadfast stand for neutrality and improvements he has brought to Cambodia.

Others accuse him of maneuvering between two camps to get the most from each.

U.S. aid to Cambodia since 1955 has totaled in the neighborhood of $300 million. Communist China has allocated $40 million for four factories. The Soviet Union has contributed a $12-million hospital. France has given $35 million exclusive of military assistance.

★ ★ ★

Sihanouk's public statements frequently have seemed intemperate but he has let the chips fall where they may.

★ ★ ★

He has attacked Americans as the "most unjust people in the world" and has said he is prepared to forego U.S. aid.

He has described the war in South Viet Nam as "already lost," although he also has said he wants neither a Communist Laos nor a Communist South Viet Nam.

In January 1962, he announced discovery of a Communist plot to overthrow his government. As result, 14 persons were sentenced to death.

Train-Truck Crash Hurts 1, Kills Driver

TRENTON (UPI) — A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train slammed into a truck carrying hot asphalt yesterday and killed the driver of the vehicle and seriously injured his brother.

Police said the victim was Edward Martin, 21, Madison Heights. His brother Dennis was in serious condition at a local hospital.

Police said the hot asphalt was thrown all over the area when the train struck the truck and flipped it into the air.

Dennis told police that the truck's brakes failed and coasted up onto the track. Witnesses said the flasher signals were in operation at the time of the accident.

AF Helping to Fight Florida Epidemic

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —The Air Force moved into the battle against an outbreak of encephalitis in this area yesterday, working alongside local, state and federal health officers.

The announcement by the Air Force came as Pinellas County officials reported a new death, bringing to 14 the number attributed to the disease in the county.

Four new suspected cases were taken under observation yesterday. At the same time, the state board of health confirmed nine more cases of St. Louis encephalitis, bringing to 59 the number confirmed in the county.

Sheriffs 'Deputized' as Police Chief Quits

SAUGATUCK (AP) — Allegan County sheriffs Richard Putnam and Howard Nahikian have been named to operate as fill-in Saugatuck police officers following the resignation of Police Chief Gerald Kok.

The chief said his move results from differences with the Saugatuck Village Board. Kok took over last October to fill a vacancy created by resignation and was named to a one-year term last April.

Germans Extend Warm Reception to DeGaulle

President DE GAULLE's visit to Germany was fraught with several interesting factors. Germany and France have been at each other's throats historically so many times there is invariably some form of tension between the two.

Hence, DE GAULLE's exceptionally friendly reception is attracting widespread attention. The Germans went out of their way to extend the right hand of fellowship and assure the distinguished visitor that they were glad to have him among them.

★ ★ ★

There are still disagreements between these two nations as to the best course ahead in many things, but they are basically struggling towards the same general ends. Quite obviously, the entrance of Britain into the common market is a subject of debate. From this distance, it appears that the top officials of France and Germany are more "suspicious" of British participation than are the people in general.

★ ★ ★

ADENAUER and DE GAULLE have definite and conflicting reservations on the part the British Isle would play, were they admitted. However, the outstanding cause of general rejoicing lies in the fact that the dour Frenchman was warmly received with open and spontaneous pleasure and satisfaction. The more friendliness that can be engendered in the world today, the better off we all are. (Russian papers, please copy.)

Judge in California Gives Rare Sentences

A Santa Monica, Calif., judge has taken to handing out some unusual sentences to traffic offenders, and he may well be on the right track to reducing the highway toll.

Judge W. Blair Gibbens took the bench in that city's traffic court and was concerned at the number of violations.

As an experiment, he gave offenders the choice of a conventional sentence or a short, unusual one designed to impress traffic safety on them.

One young woman convicted of speeding spent four hours watching traffic victims admitted to the emergency ward of a hospital.

A couple of the viewers became ill.

If shock treatment is what it takes to make people realize that automobiles are deadly weapons, perhaps there should be a few more judges willing to depart from tradition and pass this kind of sentence.

YMCA Membership Is for Entire Family

Monday noon kicks off the annual YMCA membership campaign. Our local "Y" is just completing a remodeling program which will make it one of the most modern and up-to-date Ys in this area.

For a family recreational facility this Young Men's Christian Association serving the greater Pontiac area is a bargain not to be overlooked. There are activities for men, women, boys and girls. It's complete, in that it has a variety of activities for everyone.

This short membership campaign goes on once a year and the dues support the "Y" and the youth program it offers. Actually, there is not a better buy.

If you are an area resident and have a family, the "Y" should be considered your club. If you are already a member, sign up as a renewal, and if you are not a member, get on the bandwagon and join now.

★ ★ ★

The charge is nominal, but the usefulness of a membership is hard to equal. Join the group of congenial companions and become a part of the YMCA family.

Girls Can't Cook; Ah, but Ze Men!

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—"There are only two reasons why women make such abominable cooks.

"First, they lack imagination.

"Second, they lack taste."

The self-styled czar of American gourmets (name was Maurice Dreicer) leaned back, so saying, and laid hands on the stem of a wine glass. As if it were the throat of a lady chef.

"The women of today serve a very showy, but shabby, meal," he continued, "and don't ask me, if you please, whether I can do better. I never go near a kitchen which has a woman in it.

"Under the circumstances, how do I know women are such revolting cooks? . . . in order to know an omelette from fried eggs with broken yolks, madame, you do not have to sit on a nest and hatch!"

Mr. Dreicer concluded his discussion of the subject by remarking that the most fiendish notion in social history was the movement to try to put women back in the kitchen. "Make them President, promise them anything, give them the Supreme Court—but keep them out, out, out of the bouguet garni. It will be an enormous solace for the world's gourmets!"

This outspoken conversation, some years back, left such a lasting impression on me that I scarcely ever address myself to a stove without a sense of guilt or a soupcon of martinis.

Like many other fair, but no-flair, lady chefs I lather my roasts with herbs and spices but always, there seems to be one little ingredient missing—one little ingredient that my husband, with a deft swipe at the spice rack, can instinctively supply.

MAN'S INTUITION

Men ARE intuitive chefs. I don't know why, but I'm convinced it's true. Had he had an oven, Adam could have made a mean pie out of that stolen apple. . . .

Which leads me to a book which should delight all sexes of cooks, a new gourmet special titled "The Madison Avenue Cookbook (for people who can't cook and don't want other people to know it)."

Written by a handsome advertising executive, it is laden with sound advice for men—and women who'd like to cook the way men do—on how to impress people with a genius you really don't have.

The recipes themselves are a delight. But the bits of philosophy on the basic art of entertaining at dinner are more significant. Such as:

"You're lucky if you have a cramped, contorted kitchen ~~with li~~ttle if any working surface. The less of it (working surface) you have, the more your cooking will be admired.

"Garlic, fresh or powdered, goes daily into almost everything. Use as much as you can without losing the nerve to deny under cross-examination that you've used any at all.

LAVISH HANDS

"In addition to garlic, herbs and spices provide the foundation. Your hand must be lavish. You may, if you wish, excuse yourself to your guests and appear to snip fresh unidentified herbs from a window box, and then go ahead and use dried ones.

"Ready-prepared foods are used wherever possible. Their use, should have the temerity to raise the question, must be deprecatingly denied. Of course their wrappers, jars or cans are thrown down the incinerator before the first guest arrives.

"Claim freely to be able to cook everything, and laughingly refuse to divulge any of your cooking secrets—a job easier than it might be because of course you actually have none."

David Lawrence Worries

Trend Moving Toward Controls

WASHINGTON — Persecution of the steel industry by "liberal" or "radical" Democrats in Congress has reached the point where even the labor unions are becoming apprehensive that the end result may be more plants closed down and more jobs lost.

LAWRENCE

If present proposals are carried out, it could mean a form of government control of the automobile industry, of aluminum, coal, copper, iron ore and other basic materials, and of related manufacturing enterprises.

★ ★ ★

Some of the radicals have gone so far as to concede that the purpose of their current demand for cost figures from the steel companies to be submitted to a Senate committee is to determine whether a public-utility system of regulating prices, and perhaps also fixing wages, may be desirable as a "public policy" for Congress to enact.

★ ★ ★

A memorandum authorized for distribution by Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, Democrat, to the entire membership of the Senate Judiciary Committee says flatly that, if a company seeks efficiency through the size of its operations, it may have to pay the penalty for it in a system of public-utility regulation.

All this is being done in the face of statements from steel industry executives that net profits in their rate of return on invested capital have declined in the last ten years by almost 50 per cent.

Thomas F. Patton, president of the Republic Steel Corporation, said to the committee:

"A product-by-product breakdown of the American steel industry's costs, whether published by groups of three companies or even 12 companies, would be invaluable to foreign competitors engaged in penetrating our markets."

Patton testified also that disclosure of cost data would have a serious domestic impact in that producers of competitive products "would have for the first time steel-cost information which could prove of great benefit to them and great damage to us in the steel industry."

Patton predicted that, if foreign competitors could get the cost figures of American steel companies, they "would be better able to take business away from us — we would have our steel works working less, and more people out of work, and the towns in which our plants are located would be suffering even worse than they are today."

Senators Scott of Pennsylvania and Keating of New York, Republicans, asked whether plants in their respective states would be affected and received the reply that the impact would be serious everywhere if foreign competitors obtained access to the cost data of American companies.

Whether President Kennedy approves of the direction which the Kefauver subcommittee now has taken is not yet known. Last April he supported the efforts of the Tennessee senator to undertake an inquisition into the affairs of the steel companies.

There were reports around the Capitol then that Mr. Kennedy told Senator Kefauver bluntly "to go after" the steel companies.

But the situation since last spring has changed for the worse. Unemployment in the steel industry has increased, and investors are suffering a loss of dividends as profits have been steadily reduced.

It looks now as if the Democratic party candidates for Congress generally may be adversely affected if the President continues to stand behind the Kefauver committee's crusade.

There have been rumors that the White house and the steel-union leaders are taking another look at the whole situation. For it could become a potent issue in the current congressional campaign.

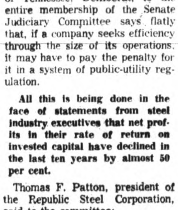
The Country Parson



"Have you ever noticed that the more a man talks, the less folks listen to him?"

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Cancer 'Cure' Crackpots Peddle Misery, False Hope

Each time the American Cancer Society calls attention to an unproven method of cancer treatment or I warn my readers against exploitation by those who merchandise these "cures," we are certain to receive a few letters accusing us of being in a league to discredit "scientists," of blinding ourselves to "discoveries."

In contrast, we occasionally receive a note of commendation such as this:

"You will never know how glad I was to read your article on cancer 'cures.' My husband is slowly dying of the disease and I know what you are talking about and why you are writing these articles.

"I have a sister-in-law who has caused all the heartache and expense in the world for my husband and me by making us go in for these fake cures.

"If I say 'no' to her suggestions, she says I don't want him to get well.

"If I tell her to speak to our doctor, whom we trust as a real good friend, she says doctors don't want patients to get well because it's bad for business.

"So you can see how relieved I was to read your column because it made me feel that I wasn't doing wrong at all in not believing her because there is nothing I wouldn't do to keep my husband alive so long as I knew I was using a proved medicine that our doctor knew about."

I know just what you are up against, my dear lady. And, for your further information, here are some facts about what is being done at the National Service Center for Cancer Chemotherapy that may surprise your sister-in-law and others like her who peddle misinformation and unjustifiable abuse with equal abandon:

In the seven years of its existence, the 'center' has completed 110 studies of different cancers and types of treatment agents and measures. Another 181 studies are in progress. Engaged in these studies are 560 investigators.

Since 1955, some 175,000 materials from industrial, academic and private institutions have been screened. These materials include synthetic hormonal agents, antibiotics and plant products.

For the fiscal year ending June, 1962, our federal government has spent 31.5 million dollars on these projects. Of this amount, nearly 19 million was allocated for drug development contracts.

But who can convince your sister-in-law that these authorities know more than she thinks she does?

'Press Shouldn't Endorse Liz' Acting Capabilities'

I think Liz Taylor's romps with Richard Burton got sufficient publicity for the movie and yet you report that Liz is great in the picture.

Cover up the bare skin and then let's hear the reviews. I'm not Carry Nation out with her ax, but can't pictures such as that rope in the fools without help from The Press?

'Should Preserve Courthouse Bell'

In the story in The Pontiac Press about the courthouse bell, it was revealed that the bell was donated in memory of the wife of Daniel L. Davis, prominent attorney of the day, who took part in the ceremonies of the cornerstone laying in 1904.

Therefore, I feel that it is a historical item and should be preserved. I would suggest that it be buffed and mounted on a concrete mounting and placed in the courthouse park with a descriptive plaque thereon.

'Russians Make Unjust Threats'

Russia has been making threats of war with unjust and false propaganda. She's making big things out of little incidents. I am glad that we have men such as Kennedy, Rusk and McNamara to stand up for us.

William Perkins

'Getting Closer to Bankruptcy'

President Kennedy is spending us nearer bankruptcy every day. The Reader's Digest shows previous administration estimate a $1.5 billion surplus for 1962. On March 27, 1961, present administration estimated a $2.1 billion deficit. The May 25 deficit estimate was $3.6 billion. On July 25, 1961 the deficit estimate was $5.3 billion. On Oct. 29, 1961, the estimate increased to $6.9 billion. On Jan. 18, 1962 the estimate increased to $7 billion and the actual deficit was $6.3 billion.

Crane's Column Confuses Professor

Dr. George W. Crane's column about college finances is inaccurate, confused and contradictory.

In one paragraph he asks us to increase our efficiency by doubling enrollments; in another he tells us that "half the present college students don't belong there." Which is it?

'Russians Handle Matters Differently'

During the summer, according to excellent reports, a student demonstration took place in the Russian city of Novocherkassk, which resulted in more than 100 deaths when Soviet officials put down the uprisings. The facts are finally coming out about this upheaval. This is in direct contrast to the way USIA handles acts of violence in the United States. Disturbances over the numerous racial clashes are given vast coverage in our broadcasts abroad even when they result in no deaths or injuries. These presentations besmirch the image of the United States in the eyes of captive and marginal peoples.

★ ★ ★

A Senate or House Committee should study the facts.

Robert Morris

Writers, Attention—

Mrs. S. Novi: We regret we can't run the account of your dog's death. There are so many we'd be swamped and readers generally regard this as a personal matter and of no community concern.

Once a Customer: This is purely a personal matter between you and the A&P store and isn't of general community interest.

Luke: Your bitter and personal attack on the "city prosecutor" (do you mean "county"?) will have to be signed with your full name and address in the interests of fair play and good sportsmanship.

Unsigned letter from Union Lake: Your personal battle with the courts is between you and the judge. The Press sides with J. Edgar Hoover and encourages stricter law enforcement and stiffer sentences.

'Youth Should See How It Feels to Die'

Here we have another juvenile murder case. The boy is 17 years of age and he just wanted to "see how it felt to kill somebody," so he murdered a 14-year-old girl. Please don't think I am sadistic or morbid, but I truly would like this research-minded youth, in the near future, to "see how it feels to die."

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Lively Corpse

The Boston Globe

President Kennedy's terse statement that military aid being given Castro's Cuba by the Soviet Union remains, thus far, defensive only, was coupled with two sharp warnings. Should any significant offensive capability develop there, "either in Cuban hands or under Soviet direction and guidance . . . the gravest issues would arise." And again: Any attempt to export Cuba's aggressive purposes "by force anywhere in this hemisphere . . . will be prevented by whatever means may be necessary."

★ ★ ★

This statement should end excited claims that the Cuban situation signifies the doom of the Monroe Doctrine.

What a World

Baltimore Sun

It's a topsy-turvy world. In 1492 the red man in Cuba saw the white man's ships come. In 1962 the white men of Cuba watch the Red men's ships come.

Abortion Taboo

The New York Post

The effort has thrust "the long-undiscussable subject of abortion . . . onto the front pages of even the most cautious newspapers. In effect there has begun a reappraisal of the whole structure of our abortion statutes.

Out of such reflection may finally come a larger awareness that this is a legitimate theme of discussion for politicians as well as obstetricians. The taboo may finally be modified. It will be said that there are many born handicapped who surmount adversity; but we are dealing here, according to all the evidence, not with the prospect of handicap but of monstrosity. Surely it is not the province of the state to decree that parents are obliged to produce such offspring, and to brand them criminals if they refuse to do so.

Yet, the zeal of those who oppose abortion even under these dreadful conditions may be understandable. If one agrees that parents should not be required to spawn a hopelessly malformed child, it is not too long a step to the notion that they should not be obliged to bring another infant into a home already infested with misery, poverty and disease.

To those whose religious allegiance makes abortion an unthinkable alternatice, these are not arguable decisions. It is, of course, their right to live by the ardor of their faith. The laws represent their resolve to impose their own code on those who do not share their beliefs . . . .

The abortion statutes merely accentuate the inequalities of our society; the slum child 'in trouble' will stoically subject herself to the butcher's knife while the well-to-do matron goes off to Miami or Puerto Rico for expert, expensive treatment. The abortion laws offer a field day for the racketeers and the knaves. It is estimated that we have one million 'illegal operations' each year in the U.S. . . . Perhaps there may now be some public officials who will begin to ask some tough questions about the laws which have created the abortionist underworld with its infinite, unrecorded sadness.

Freedom?

The Cherryvale (Kan.) Republican

In America, a man is free to do anything he pleases without considering anyone except his wife, the police, his boss, the life insurance company, state, Federal, and city authorities, and the neighbors.

Georgia Justice—

The Chicago Tribune

Seven masked night-riding white men poked a shotgun through the partly opened door of a Negro home outside Dallas, Ga., and demanded entrance. Inside the house were a mother, 38, her married daughter, 21, and 10 younger children. In recent months the area had suffered a rash of house burnings and bombings attributed to the Ku Klux Klan. Only 30 miles southeast of Dallas is Albany, with its jails overflowing with anti-segregation demonstrators.

When Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, the eldest daughter, saw the stocking masks and the shotgun she snatched up a pistol and opened fire. One of the masked men began firing the shotgun. No one in the house was injured, but one of the white hoodlums was killed and another was shot in the arm.

Instead of arresting the Negro victims of the raiders, as has been known to happen in such cases, Sheriff Jerome Clay arrested the masked white men. Asst. Prosecutor John T. Perren said they will be charged with intent to murder and violating a state law that prohibits the wearing of masks. Mrs. Wilson will not be charged.

The night riders may never be convicted by a southern jury, but Sheriff Clay at least acted as a peace officer should.

MD Poster Boy of 1958-59 Is Dead

DETROIT (AP) — Eight-year-old Alan Kowalski, who won the hearts of millions as poster boy for the Muscular Dystrophy associations in 1958-59, died yesterday of respiratory complications.

★ ★ ★

As the national poster boy, he traveled more than 40,000 miles throughout the country and appeared with stage, screen and television stars in fund appeals.

★ ★ ★

Alan, who was afflicted with muscular dystrophy, was stricken with pneumonia Aug. 12 during a vacation with his grandparents here.

★ ★ ★

Since then his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Kowalski, formerly of Detroit and now of Des Moines, Iowa, have been with him almost constantly in the Children's Hospital Intensive Care Unit. He was their only child.

President of Bank Town's Benefactor

RICHMONDVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—The president of the Bank of Richmondville likes to spend his own money to help his tiny community, and the evidence is solid.

★ ★ ★

John D. Holmes, who has been a banker for 74 of his 92 years, has bought this Schoharie Valley hamlet a swimming pool and a fire truck. Now he is having the roads paved in the Richmondville rural cemetery.

★ ★ ★

The tall, spry banker explains that his gifts stem from his love for the village (population 900), where he has lived since he was 5 years old.

FIRST BIG GIFT

The swimming pool was his first big gift.

"In 1954," he said, "our local physician came to me and suggested that I give the village a swimming pool. The idea appealed to me. So the village has a pool. I get a lot of satisfaction seeing the youngsters swim and mothers still come to me and thank me. I'd go swimming myself if I could.

"The fire chief two years ago suggested that it would be nice to get the village a new fire truck because the department equipment was rather old, about 30 years old. So I got the truck for our fire department.

★ ★ ★

"Nothing had been done for a number of years to improve the roads in the cemetery. So I decided to do something about that."

★ ★ ★

Holmes, whose wife died in 1954, also gave Hartwick College a girls' dormitory.

"All our Lutheran ministers have come to us from Hartwick," he says.

Seek Doctors Money for Algerian Crisis

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The World Health Organization's 28-member European committee called on nations yesterday to contribute doctors or money to ease a health crisis in Algeria.

The committee unanimously adopted a resolution, sponsored by Morocco's delegation, which said Algeria should be helped—as some countries already are doing—through direct channels, or through coordination with the world health body.

Algerian delegates said malaria, tuberculosis, trachoma and mental illness were especially threatening.

Dr. Boumediene Hamidou, a young Algerian physician, earlier this week had presented an urgent appeal for at least 500 doctors to replace those, chiefly French, who have departed.

U. S. Asks No Interest on Big Loan to Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Official sources said yesterday the United States has granted Pakistan a second $45-million interest-free loan to help buy iron and steel products.

The loans are part of $500 million promised to Pakistan by the United States over a two-year period.

Symphony Board Honors Conductor

Pontiac Press Photos

"We're so glad to see you." Sherwin M. Birnkrant and George Yansen greet the Felix Resnicks as they arrive at the dinner in their honor. Birnkrant is chairman of the board of directors and Yansen is vice president of the executive committee. Sixty-five guests dined and danced at Kingsley Inn in the first event connected with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

James L. Howlett, president of the executive committee of the Pontiac Symphony Board of Directors, looks over his notes for the evening as his wife (right) and his mother, Mrs. Harold E. Howlett, look on. The trio was attending the dinner Wednesday evening at Kingsley Inn, given by the board to honor the orchestra's conductor, Felix Resnick.

Bethany Baptist Women Meet

Forty-two members of the Woman's Society of Bethany Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Fred D. Stimpert of Watkins Lake Thursday for a cooperative luncheon and to hear delegates report on summer conferences.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Forrest Brown reported on the annual American Baptist convention in Philadelphia, Pa., and the Michigan State Conference at Kalamazoo. Reports were given by Mrs. Omer Lewis, Mrs. Grace Steeves, Mrs. Edward F. Lewis, Mrs. Clarence Myers and Mrs. Hayden Henley. Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Ben Wilton told of the Missions Conference at Green Lake, Wis.

Music for the meeting was provided by Mrs. B. H. Zannoth accompanying the group at the piano. Dr. Emil Kontz led devotions.

Announcement was made of the following meetings: Monday, Mrs. Henley will be hostess to the Lydia Group at her Elizabeth Lake home; Sept. 20, the Dorcas Group will meet at Mrs. James E. Crew's Seminole Avenue address; the Martha Group with Mrs. E. H. Learned on LaFay Street, and the Esther Group will meet at the church to sew cancer pads.

Mrs. Alfred Coles will open her home at Maceday Lake to the Naomi Group and members of the Ruth Group will meet with Mrs. Del Cate of Elizabeth Lake Road. Sept. 25, Mrs. Donald Turrentine will be hostess to the Deborah Group at her home on Liberty Street.

Gamma Chapter Opens Fall Term at Meeting

Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi Sorority met for its initial fall meeting Tuesday evening at the Southward Street home of Mrs. Walter Brieden, Waterford Township.

Officers for the coming season were elected with the following results: Mrs. William Doerr, president; Mrs. Brieden, secretary; Mrs. William Baer, treasurer; Mrs. William Grubbs, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Ralph Behler, arrangements.

Mrs. William Brace will head the needlework guild contributions and the group's charity projects.

Mrs. Baer will be hostess to the chapter Sept. 25.

1st Meeting Set by AXD Alumnae

The Birmingham Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta will hold its first fall dinner meeting Monday at the Rochester home of Mrs. Victor Pagano.

The event, open to all alumnae of the sorority living in the North Woodward area, will include a talk on the national convention held in June at Bedford, Pa.

Cohostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Pagano, Mrs. Owen Davis, Mrs. G. C. Lantzsch, Mrs. William Reddig, Mrs. R. W. McIntosh and Mrs. Robert Martelli. Reservations may be obtained by contacting any of the cohostesses.

Cited at Meeting of 'Figure Club'

Fashion Your Figure Club met at the Adah Shelly Library Thursday evening. Award for the most weight lost was presented to Mrs. Richard Wallace. Mrs. Clara Stewert was runner-up.

Mrs. Robert Weakland and Mrs. John Felts gained the most weight for the same period. Next week's meeting will be a reunion night.

Queen Mary Group Meets

Queen Mary section of Needlework Guild met at the home of Mrs. George Bickley on Mechanic Street Thursday afternoon. Vice president, Mrs. Alex Joss conducted the season's first meeting with 15 members present. Mrs. Charles Clarke and Mrs. John Gemmell also participated.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Walter Spurrier invited the group to her home at Union Lake for the luncheon meeting Sept. 27.

Don't Split Hairs — Abby

Mustaches Personal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We were discussing men with mustaches and we'd like your views on the subject. Do you think a mustache improves a man's appearance, or do you think it it makes him look like he's trying to be something he isn't?

ABBY

Why do men wear mustaches? Do mustached men really have more success with women than men without them? What do you think of mustaches, Abby

NANCY, DOTTY, PEG AND LUCILLE

DEAR GIRLS: Mustaches are personal and so are the reasons men wear them. If a man is too young, a mustache makes him look old enough.

If he's too old, it make him look young enough. Personally I think a neatly trimmed and beautifully cared for mustache is an asset. (Girls make more passes at guys with mustaches.) But let's not split hairs.

DEAR ABBY: A new family moved into our block. The have two cars. One is a new one in the high-priced bracket and the other is an old pile of junk.

The husband drives the rattle trap to work every morning and leaves the good car for his wife. She uses it to drvie the children to and from school, for marketing and to get to the beauty parlor once a week.

Don't you think he should drive the good car to work and let his wife use the jalopy?

THE NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: Who drives which car is positively none of my business, and I am curious to know how it could be any of yours. If you will tell me why this is your problem, I promise to give my best efforts to the solution.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Every time my wife goes where men are she tells me the men make passes at her.

She said a doctor tried to hypnotize her and a druggist tried to give her a "love potion," and she told me the man who takes the money on the toll bridge tried to hold her hand.

When a strange man passes her and blinks his eye, she says, "He winked at me!" Abby, my wife is 50 years old. She is not a bad-looking woman, but I give you my word that nobody is chasing her.

Why does she make up stories like these? Is she trying to make me jealous?

HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Possibly your wife believes men are making passes at her. This could be an illness, demanding attention of a physician — (preferably a woman doctor).

Church to Display Foreign Items

On Saturday the Education Unit of the Christian and Missionary Church, M59 and North Cass Lake Road, will resemble a miniature United Nations.

An exhibit of items from countries where church missionaries have worked will be open without charge to the public from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Countries in Asia, Africa, Latin and South America, the Near East and islands of the Nationals who will act as resource persons will be present at many exhibits to explain them.

Ruth Chamberlain, formerly associated with the church and now teaching in Ashland College in Ohio, was enthusiastic about the cooperation the exhibit committee had received from all sources. They had asked for some material from Israel. Work came for them to have a one-and-a-half-ton truck waiting at the airport for the items.

This exhibit precedes the Annual Missionary Conference also being held this weekend at the church.

"Here's another one to put on the list." Betty Render, Navajo Drive, holds a Japanese shrine as Mrs. James H. Bersche, Highfield Street, Waterford Township, catalogues items to be displayed Saturday at the missionary exhibit. Mrs. Bersche is the wife of the pastor of the Christian and Missionary Church where the display is being held.

Mrs. Mable Garrison, Lagall Street (left), and Mrs. Forest Thornton, Kettering Street, both of Waterford Township, examine a feather ornament from South America. The feathers are mounted on a stick that fits on the arm. The public can see this item at the missionary exhibit Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Miss Minckley to Attend

Seminar Ist of Its Kind

A Pontiac area woman is one of 35 women from 19 states and one territory who will attend the leadership seminar for top women executives on the University of Michigan's campus, Sunday through Friday.

★ ★ ★

Ora L. Minckley, administrator, Oakland County Bureau of Social Aid for the State of Michigan, will be present at this seminar, believed to be the first of its kind.

★ ★ ★

Lectures, case studies and discussion groups will range over such topics as What is an Executive, How Managers Make Things Happen, and the Communications Environment of the Woman Executive.

Author Vance Packard and business consultant Perrin Stryker will join faculty members from both the business schools of the U. of M. and Michigan State University to make up the seminar's faculty.

The seminar is sponsored by the graduate school of business of MSU, the Business and Professional Women's Foundation and the bureau of industrial relations of the U. of M. graduate school of business administration.

O.R. Millers Will Mark 50th Date

Mr. and Mrs. Owen R. Miller of Birmingham will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday at a dinner and bridge hosted by their son and daughter-in-law, the Robert H. Millers of Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Those coming from Rochester include Mr. and Mrs. R. Neil Rosso, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Chapman and Mrs. Lila Carey.

★ ★ ★

Arriving from Birmingham will be the Ernest Morrows and Mrs. Frances Jardine. Dr. and Mrs. Nixon Lawhead of Grosse Pointe will also attend the anniversary dinner.

Forest Lake Members Plan Paris Style Show

Forest Lake Country Club women will be led down an "Avenue of Fashion" Wednesday, Oct. 19. The style show and luncheon affair is headed by Mrs Norman Reeck.

The club will be turned into a Parisian street. Models from the Jacqueline Shop in Bloomfield Hills will make their entrance from an elevated platform, covered by a red and white canopy.

Carts loaded with red and white carnations will carry out the color scheme as will the individual center pieces, an assortment of green plants in red and white containers shaped into French hats.

And for more atmosphere, a French pastry chef, complete with beret and pointed mustache, will serve dessert from a gaily decorated cart.

Also working on this Parisian event are Mrs. Fred N. Canning, Mrs. Albert Chendes, Mrs. Ray C. Connor, Mrs. William C. Clark, Mrs. Matthew Clevers and Mrs. M. M. Cummins.

Other committee members are Mrs. Carl Horner, Mrs. George Greig, Mrs. William M. Hutchins and Mrs. Albert C. Yost.

The Pontiac Press is inaugurating a new policy on bridal stories. Wedding blanks, available at the paper, must be filled out and in the hands of the Women's Department one week prior to the wedding. Pictures must be in no later than noon of the second day after the wedding. For Saturday weddings all pictures must be at the Press by noon on the Monday following the wedding.

Bad Taste to Ask for Money

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I have just received an invitation to a 25th wedding anniversary reception given by the couple's daughter. The invitation reads: "A money tree will be given in the amount of one dollar per person for those wishing to give a gift in this matter.

"Please send money to me by..." The one dollar per person bothers me. It seems more like an admission charge. I feel this is a very improper invitation. I would like your opinion on this.

A: I agree with you. It is improper and in very bad taste to ask one's guests to contribute money, unless it is to be for charity.

Q: About a month ago a coworker was married. The entire office contributed toward a wedding present for him. At the time the gift was presented to the groom he thanked everyone.

However, we never received a thank you note from the bride and quite a few of us are put out over this and think the bride very unappreciative. Shouldn't she have sent a note to the office staff?

A: If your gift had been sent to the bride she would surely have thanked you for it, but as you presented it to the bridegroom instead, his thanks was sufficient.

Q: If a man is escorting a date, or his wife, through a door in a public place and when he opens the door for her there is another woman following him, should he follow his date out the door after holding it open for her, or should he let the woman behind him go through before him?

A: If one lone woman is right behind him with no one to open the door for her he should let her go through before him, but if there are several following he should not keep the woman he is with waiting while he lets one after another through.

Who pays for what at the wedding? The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Wedding Expenses" answers this question in detail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Fashionable Peek at Old Petticoats

Only clients who sat near the dressing room door got a chance to see the old-fashioned petticoats that Jean Patou models wore to hold out their full skirted costumes.

George was once a live tiger, shot while chasing a missionary in India. Now he is on display at the missionary exhibit preceding the annual Missionary Conference Saturday at Christian and Missionary Church, M59 and North Cass Lake Road. Mrs. Frank VanHusen, left, of Alhi Street, Waterford Township, and Mrs. A. T. Liu of Orchard Lake examine George at close range.

You'd never guess they had just come in from a morning on the golf course. Members of the Fairway Golf League enjoyed a Hawaiian luncheon Friday at the Pontiac Country Club.

Gray Ladies Add Duties

Arrangements were completed this week for the Gray Lady service of the American Red Cross to extend its volunteer activities to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital on Perry Street after the new section of the hospital is opened this fall.

Announcement was made following a conference on the proposed activities between hospital administrator Harry H. Whitlow and Mrs. W. C. Sproull, chairman of the Gray Lady service of the Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Some 40 volunteers will start work as soon as they complete their training in a course that begins Oct. 16 and continues two afternoons a week for three weeks.

★ ★ ★

Complete information may be obtained at the headquarters of the American Red Cross, Franklin Boulevard, where applications for the first group are now being received.

TO MEET NEEDS

After this group enters its duties, other classes will begin to provide an adequate number of trained volunteers to meet the needs of the hospital. Pontiac Osteopathic will reach a capacity of 406 beds by the year's end.

Training courses will include patient and nonpatient activities and will parallel previous courses where several hundred Gray Lady volunteers have been trained.

They are now working in Pontiac General Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac State Hospital, the Medical Care Facility and others throughout the county.

Training for the specialized services of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital will be included in the courses now being planned.

Stays Simple

There is one rule that doesn't change. Don't wear elaborate jewelry in the office, unless you're the boss. Most employers find jingling bracelets and flashing necklaces and pins distracting when worn by a secretary or other office worker. But for office hours, tailored gold jewelry always is in good taste — just so you don't overdo it.

Four Hostesses Invite Guests to Temple Party

A feather stork spread his wings over nursery gifts for Mrs. William W. Miller (Diane Kane) of Oak Knolf Street, Waterford Township, Wednesday evening in the Elks Temple.

★ ★ ★

Sharing hostess honors were Mrs. J. E. Holliday, Mrs. G. E. McKnight, Mrs. Donald Hagadone and Mrs. Arthur Sampson.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Paul W. Miller, Mrs. Charles Whaley, Mrs. Jack Parker, Mrs. Benjamin Rachiele and Mrs. Jack Seng came from Keego Harbor. Others were Mrs. Cash Bond Jr., Farmington; Mrs. Wilbur Verpooten, Lake Orion, Mrs. William Periard and daughter Beatrice of Klingensmith Road, Bloomfield Township, and Mrs. Mallard Lakin, Orchard Lake.

Lone Pine Unit Hears Talk on Garden Therapy

Lone Pine Garden Club's first meeting of the season was held at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. John C. Lichty Wednesday noon. Cohostess was Mrs. John A. Genevsi.

Speaker was Mrs. J. R. Alexander, garden therapy chairman for the Birmingham Chapter of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Club. She discussed garden therapy in the Fairlane School at Pontiac State Hospital.

Lone Pine Garden Club President Mrs. James Sweeny announced that the chapter hopes to begin its own garden therapy group with the children at the state hospital.

Heighten Tan

Summer tan is so becoming it's a shame to lose it. If facial coloring starts turning sallow, heighten it, at least during these last precious days of summer, with cosmetics. There is a makeup shade that will match your color needs perfectly. Be sure to blend the coloring at the hair line and at the throat so there is no tell-tale high water mark. Blend with cotton squares dampened with good quality witch hazel.

Professor to Talk on 'Child'

Dr. Warren Ketcham, University of Michigan professor, will address the first general meeting of the Washington Junior High School Parents, Teachers, Students Association, Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the school auditorium.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ketcham, who has been guest speaker in previous appearances, will discuss the adolescent child.

★ ★ ★

Future PTSA events include grade level meetings for seventh grade, Oct. 4, ninth grade, Nov. 1; and eighth grade, Dec. 6.

Committees of Sorority Announced

Committees for the Omega Alpha Sorority were announced Wednesday evening in the Rochester home of Mrs. Thomas Beal.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lloyd Stalcup and Mrs. Beal were appointed to serve on the telephone committee; Mrs. Norman O'Brien, sunshine; and Eulalia Valentine, philanthropic. Mrs. Joseph Fox will handle publicity and Mrs. Richard Fox is historian.

The history of the sorority was reviewed by Mrs. Clifford Koskinen and Mrs. Walter Schmitz entertained with organ selections.

★ ★ ★

Guests were Mrs. A. J. Latoza, Mrs. H. Gordon Frain, Mrs. Clayton Wideman, Mrs. William Hansen, Mrs. Kenneth Hoskins and Mrs. LeRoy Ploeger.

'Average' Day Chock Full

Trips Are No Vacation

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE N423: Earlier this year I was invited to visit Anderson, Ind., under auspices of the PTA of two local schools.

DR. CRANE

As usual, my speaking day was full, for at 9 a.m., I addressed the packed chapel convocation of Anderson College on the subject, "Jesus — the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist."

At 10:15, I then spoke at the Pendleton High School on "Be a Good Ape," wherein I showed the importance of picking a hero and then imitating his good traits but not his nuisance habits, such as smoking or using alcohol.

At noon I addressed the Lions Club on "Success Depends on Skill in Communication."

That afternoon I was interviewed for half an hour by Bill Berger on Radio Station WHUT.

Then vivacious Harriet W. Toner, the gray-haired publisher of the Herald, entertained me at tea for several hours.

She is the "Woman of the Year" in my book, for though she must be well above the octogenarian age, and had just got home from surgery at the local hospital, she was still a bundle of vitality.

KEEN-MINDED

In fact, she had driven her car down to the newspaper office that same morning. Her mind is as keen as a razor and she is a firm advocate of "More business in government and less government in business."

That night I gave my main address before a huge gymnasium audience. It was really the primary purpose of my being invited to Anderson.

But those other speeches are used by the program chairman to keep me "limbered up" for the main event.

And though I talked on educational matters, the crowd wanted to have a forum discussion afterward, where many of the queries revolved around marriage and sex problems.

"Dr. Crane," one wife asked on the cards used for questions, "what do you prescribe to prod an indolent husband into more affection?"

Well, you can remind him that we medics have observed empirically that regular exercise of glands is just as vital to good health as regular exercise of muscles.

If you tie your arm to your side, the muscles therein atrophy and may shrink to the size of a lead pencil.

If a cross-eyed person doesn't have his crossed eye straightened, then he will ignore the images on that retina until the eye actually grows almost blind — just from disuse.

ATTEND TO HEALTH

If you starve yourself, your stomach will shrink and finally it will produce so little gastric juice that you don't care to eat.

A mother who stops nursing her baby will soon find that the mammary glands quit secreting.

An aggressive, seductive wife can do far more good than testosterone for a husband's platonic nature, so send for the booklet "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Very Mild Case

Forget Unwise Words

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "Can you tell me what is meant by 'chicken breasted?' The other day when I was having a bra fitted the woman used that term in reference to my chest. I never realized that I was built any different from anyone else. Is this a deformity or what?"

★ ★ ★

A. This term means that the breast bone is more prominent than normal. However, yours must be a very mild case so forget it. It wasn't very tactful for her to mention it anyway.

Q. "I belong to a club of not very young women who meet once a week. We want to know if it is harmful to wear rubber stockings to shape the legs. Mine are large and I would like to wear them. Some say it is dangerous."

A. I am not sure what type stockings you mean — elastic ones? The kind I know about are used to give support to varicose veins. I suggest that you ask your doctor about this since some types should be fitted to the individual.

Q. "I am almost 15 years old, am 5 feet, ½ inch tall and weigh about 95 pounds. My measurements are: bust, 34 inches; waist 23, and hips, 34. My problem is how can I gain weight without eating a lot of greasy foods (or other kinds that make pimples) and without changing my 23-inch waist?"

A. You do not have to eat greasy foods and rich desserts and candy bars to gain weight although these are high in calorie content. Many girls make the mistake of loading up on such items and therefore gain a crop of pimples instead of some pounds.

Eat a well-balanced diet with plenty of meat, fish, fowl, cheese, green and yellow vegetables and fresh fruit. Drink a quart of whole milk a day. Ask your doctor about how much vitamin B complex to take. Cereals and eggs should be a part of your breakfast menus.

Be sure to eat breakfast. Eat a mid-day and mid-afternoon snack such as a chocolate milk shake or cheese and crackers and fruit. Take another snack before going to sleep at night.

Do not try to stuff yourself at three large meals a day, but eat adequately at the three regular meals. Get plenty of sleep.

Mild exercises, like swimming, are good. As to the waistline, you may gain a little there if you gain the eight to 10 pounds you need, but you will still have a lovely figure in perfect ratio.

★ ★ ★

You might take waist-slimming exercises to counteract the tendency to gain in inches as well as pounds.

★ ★ ★

If any of my readers would like to have my tested waist slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Esther Group Gets Together

The Esther Group of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church launched its fall and winter program Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Charles A. Colberg on Owego Drive.

★ ★

Projects for the group include the making and filling of sunshine bags for the Oakland County Medical Care Facility.

The hostess led the devotions and Bible Study. Mrs. Eugene Danielson was a guest at the meeting.

Srigleys Back From Eastern Honeymoon

Returning from their New England honeymoon are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Srigley, who will reside in Highland Park.

Parents of the former Margaret Anne Burdett are the George Burdetts of Highland Park. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Srigley of Heyden Drive, Waterford Township. The couple was wed Aug. 18 at Martha Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village.

JUDITH LYNN HEWETT

Mrs. Irene L. Morris of Flint and Grant F. Hewett, Kalamazoo, announce the engagement of their daughter Judith Lynn Hewett of LaSalle Street to Jack A. Horner, son of Mrs. George A. Horner of Keego Harbor and the late Mr. Horner.

Bride-Elect Honored

Barbara Ann Lewis, bride-elect of Gerald W. Thompson, was honored during a bridal shower Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Oliver Arnold of Going Street.

Among those present was the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. H. J. Vandecar and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. George Thompson.

Other guests included Mrs. Harold Weir of Lake Orion, Mrs. Roland Weichert and Mrs. William Allen of Clarkston; Mrs. Ronald Culver of Madison Heights and Mrs. Ronald Scharmem of Howell.

Miss Lewis has set Sept. 29 as the wedding date in St. Vincent de Paul Church.

'Past Chiefs' Hold Meeting

Mrs. M. E. Probert will head publicity for the group and Mrs. Claude Wiley will lead devotions for the year.

Bedroom Luxury

If your budget allows, carpeting is an excellent investment for the bedroom, as are draperies. Both carpeting and draperies "soak up" noise, and the noise is the enemy of sleep. Draperies will help in light control, too, another factor in insuring a good night's rest.

Jealously Toward Sister Transfers to Niece

Don't Mistake Vengeance for Devotion

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We're having coffee in the kitchen with our sister when Emmy comes bounding in to announce that the Bakers have offered her one of their dog's new puppies. She asks breathlessly, "Could I have it, mommy?"

Our sister answers for us. She says, 'And who's to take care of the puppy when you're at school? Don't you think your poor mother has enough to do without mopping up after a puppy all day? I never heard of such thoughtlessness in my life!"

We say "no' to the puppy, thinking complacently, "How considerate is Ruth of me!'

But our gratitude to our sister is mispiaced. She has deprived Emmy of a puppy, not out of devotion to us but out of jealousy of us. The envy she never dared to feel toward us in her childhood has been transferred to her niece.

During the next 10 years we may become dimly aware of her snatching spirit toward Emmy. Feeling something implacable in her eagerness to criticize Emmy, we'll learn to say, "I wouldn't say anything to Aunt Ruth about getting this big part in your high school play." When we buy her an especially pretty dress, we'll say, "I don't think I would show it to Aunt Ruth."

But we won't really wake up. We will so enjoy what seems to be our sister's concern for us that we may never perceive that her hate of Emmy is the old wish to see us reduced in importance, humbled and deprived by the parents we shared.

Child psychologists tell us that a jealous child often expresses resentment of a brother or sister by overconcern for his welfare. They do not warn us that grown-up brothers and sisters can express it in exactly the same way. They do not tell us that Aunt Ruth's overprotective devotion is still expressing her old, forbidden destructiveness toward us.

If we woke up, we might begin to see why everything we do for Emmy is always "spoiling" her in our sister's eyes. We would know why any expression of pride in her is always "flattering the child." We would find ourselves able to forego our sleepy pleasure in our sister's "devotion." And we would take some steps to protect our little girl against the effects of hate born in hidden battles waged between us and our sister years before she was born.

Home Should Teach Value of Money

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"The nation's schools do a good job preparing young people to earn a living but fail to teach them how to spend their pay checks wisely." That is what a consumer counselor recently told a conference of educators.

Perhaps teaching young people how to spend their money wisely is yet one more responsibility our schools should take over if parents are failing to see that their children get that kind of training at home.

But the home is the ideal place for boys and girls to learn how to manage money and parents have the best opportunity of anyone for teaching them how to spend money wisely and well.

With a weekly allowance that isn't supplemented by an indulgent parent every time a child runs short of cash, a boy or girl gets the first lessons in making what he has to spend get him the things he wants most.

HOME PLACE TO LEARN

As children grow older, parents can include them when money matters are being discussed, so that they can see for themselves how choices have to be made on the basis of what is most important to the family's well-being and happiness.

They can also learn at home, if their parents will take the trouble to teach them. The hidden costs of buying on time and the way time payments can eventually swamp a family that thinks in terms of "it's only so much a month," should be pointed out.

And in family conferences on money matters, children will also get the idea that the family has just so much to spend and it is the business of every member of the family to make it go as far as possible.

Schools can teach some things about managing money to young people, but not as convincingly as money management can be taught at home.

FERRIS INSTITUTE

Among senior returnees to Ferris Institute in Big Rapids this fall is Louis Sesti of Erie Road, enrolled in the school of pharmacy there.

In addition to attending classes, Mr. Sesti will assume the elective offices of Phi Delta Chi professional pharmacy fraternity president and vice president, of the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association — Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association.

A recent employe as a student manager of the Ferris Administration, he was also an awardee of a Ferris educational grant.

Another senior there in pharmacy this year is Jeanne Johnson of Robinwood Street. Jeanne is a member of Lamba Kappa Sigma.

Underclassman Mary Alice Kissick has returned to the school as a sophomore working toward her BS in secretarial science. She is a member of the concert and marching band and the secretarial club. Her parents are the Osborn Kissicks of Myrtle Avenue.

Among the nearly 175 Ferris Institute students named to the dean's honor list for academic excellence during the past quarter, according to Dr. Ardwin J. Dolio, vice president for academic affairs, were nine area residents.

They were Robert L. Mineweaser of LeBaron Street, general education; Jerry B. Curlee of Maple Street, pharmacy; Clayton A. Salk of Rochester, pharmacy; Duane D. Steward, Drayton Plains, Commerce; Charles M. and Milan Patton, Birmingham, commerce.

Others were Daniel C. Palmer, Farmington, trades and industrial program; Daryll C. Borst, Oxford, teacher education department; and Patricia E. Litwin, Walled Lake, specialized education.

To be named to the dean's honor list, a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

University of Michigan graduate with a BA in June, John E. Howell of Judson Street enters law school there this month.

★ ★

Also returning to the U. of M. for her junior year in medical technology is Linda Underhill who is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority. Linda's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Underhill of Lake Angelus Shores.

★ ★ ★

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Riley of Green Street, Robert is enrolled in the school of literature, science and the arts and is planing a premedical major.

Harry K. Stephen, son of the Willard R. Stephens of Lake Orion returns to the university where he will take up residence in Gomberg House in South Quad.

GRAND RAPIDS JUNIOR COLLEGE

Pontiac Central High School graduate, Gloria June Lacey of Hempstead Road, is entering Grand Rapids Junior College where she will major in nursing.

Miss Lacey who has also attended college two years, one at Bethel College in Mishawaka, Ind., and another at the Cincinnati Bible Seminary, plans to be a medical missionary. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lacey.

HIGHLAND PARK JUNIOR COLLEGE

Classes to Start at Will-O-Way

Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater announces the opening of registration for fall term classes which begin Sept. 22. All phases of play production and stagecraft will be taught in the little theater on West Long Lake Road in Bloomfield Hills.

A new preschool theater combines folk singing with creative dramatics to coax the 3- to 6-year-old toward clear speech and self-expression.

★ ★

The children's drama workshop will offer a variety of play production courses featuring scene studies chosen for specific acting techniques and creative improvisation to broaden imagination.

Children 6- to 13-years may choose electives ranging from design to diction and speech, make-up or Shakespeare for children. Classes contain only twelve students with a two-year age range.

The teen-age theater workshop, where lighting and stagecraft may be combined with radio speech or history of the theater, builds from scenes to full length plays. A limited number of scholarships are available to teen-agers with talent. Tryouts for scholarships will be held by appointment with the director, Celia Merrill Turner.

In addition, Will-O-Way is opening a Detroit studio on Seven Mile Road near Southfield where identical courses will be offered culminating with performances at Will-O-Way Theater.

Adult beginning - theater courses, as well as professional university workshop will be offered evenings at the West Long Lake Road location and at the Seven Mile studio. Extra productions will be given weekends at the Will-O-Way Theater, stressing the work of new playwrights.

Will-O-Way invites the public to visit its theater workshop or the new Detroit Studio.

Bold Ring Adds to Beauty

Don't be afraid to wear a dramatic ring, whether or not you have beautiful hands, advises the Fashion Coordination Institute.

Hands are an important part of the feminine image, and every woman should learn to make the most of them. Even though you may consider your hands the least of your assets, they should be beautifully groomed and accessorized.

If you wear a big, colorful ring, whether it is costume or precious, you are likely to live up to it, take better care of your hands and use them more gracefully, say the experts in feminine charm.

Rings and bracelets add to the beauty of women's hands, and this year there is a fresh vogue for the bold accent ring, worn usually on the little finger, to accent a color theme or express a personal whim.

Sometimes the accent ring may be your birthstone. Sometimes it may be your favorite color, expressing your own personality or taste — sapphire to match your eyes, perhaps, or a big dome of turquoise and gold just because you like it.

A large ring can be costume or real and may be worn effectively with any costume and for any occasion. When you want to wear gloves, just turn the ring around toward the palm of your hand, and the glove can be worn over it easily. Never, of course, wear a ring on the outside of a glove.

You can't sit on your hands — so why not glamorize them?

JEWELED COLLAR

You don't have to wear pearls with your little black dress. It might be fun to try one of the new Far Eastern jeweled collars instead — a striking fashion of the season, with varicolored stones on multiple strands of fine chain, worn close and flat at the base of the throat.

This season's jewelry fashions are a natural for the woman who likes the tailored look. Nothing could be more correct and effective with a new fall suit than the bulky gold jewelry, real or costume, that highlights every collection.

Gold chains of all sizes and finishes are being shown in handsome necklaces and bracelets, teamed with gold earrings and accent pins to spark a lapel or a neckline.

However, if you want to wear your favorite diamond pin with your suit or tailored dress, don't worry about whether it's correct to wear diamonds in the daytime. If you like it, wear it. Jewelry is the most personal of all fashions, and it should express your own personality.

One of the most important fashion trends of the season borrows its inspiration and much of its beauty from the Near Eastern craftsmen. The beautiful, high, close-jeweled collars are the fashion news of the season and provide a flattering frame for the face as well as a glorious topping to any gown.

Convict Killer of Labor Chief

Detroiter Found Guilty in Chicago Largely on Nephew's Testimony

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ex-convict Dana H. Nash, 47, was found guilty last night of murdering a labor leader in the first successful prosecution of a gang-style slaying here since the 1930s.

The criminal court jury deliberated about 1½ hours before returning the verdict with no recommendation, which means the Detroit hoodlum and hired killer cannot receive the death penalty.

Nash was convicted largely on the testimony of his nephew, William G. Triplett, 37, also a Detroit ex-convict, who earlier pleaded guilty to complicity in the slaying.

Triplett had told the jury of seven men and five women that he thought he and Nash were hired just to beat John A. Kilpatrick, president of the United Industrial Workers of America.

Instead, Triplett said, his uncle shot Kilpatrick once in the head as the three sat in the victim's car parked in a Southwest Side alley last Oct. 20.

Kilpatrick had just won the presidency of the union in a bitter struggle with its former leader, labor racketeer Angelo Inciso. Inciso is serving a 10-year federal prison sentence for misusing union funds.

Doctor Stays in Jail Awaiting Extradition

MONTPELLIER, France (UPI) —Authorities said today Dr. Harvey Lothinger, who has admitted the abortion death of a 19-year-old coed, would remain in jail here until the Montpellier Appeals Court rules on his extradition to the United States.

Philip Chetta, an assistant district attorney from New York City who flew here to handle the case, said Lothinger admitted performing the fatal abortion on Barbara Lofrumento of Pelham, N. Y. He said Lothringer did not want to talk about dismembering the girl's body.

The girl's body was discovered last June in a sewer adjoining Lothringer's $75,000 office-residence in the Queens section of New York City.

Actress' Sister Sues; Claims Career Ruined

She filed a $100,000 damage suit Thursday against Mrs. Rhoda von Meter, also an actress.

Miss Mimieux, a student at Los Angeles City College, contended in her suit she suffered neck and back injuries when an auto driven by Mrs. Van Meter hit the rear of a car in which she was a passenger.

Divorcing Tony to Wed Broker

JUAREZ, Mexico (UPI)—Actress Janet Leigh was in this Mexican border town today planning to get a "quickie" divorce from actor Tony Curtis so she can marry Hollywood stock broker Robert Brandt.

Contacted at Hotel Sylvia last night, the pretty blonde star said, "I am in Juarez to get a divorce. I will go to court tomorrow."

Miss Leigh plans to marry Brandt in Las Vegas, Nev., Saturday night. The wedding is planned for the presidential suite of the Sand Hotel with actor Dean Martin making the arrangements.

"WHAT'LL WE WRITE?" — Officers of the Roosevelt Elementary School Student Council in Keego Harbor draft their first letter to their new French friend, Claire Lise Begouin, 12, whom they will sponsor for the next year under the Christian Children's Fund program. Mardel Justice, 10, secretary, (seated) asks advice on what to write from Robert Campbell, 9, treasurer; Dorothy Billington, 11, president; and Sheryl Billington, 7, vice president. The student body voted to assist a foreign youngster instead of exchanging gifts at Christmas.

Keego Harbor Pupils Join

450 Adopt French Miss

By JIM LONG

KEEGO HARBOR — A suburb of Paris may seem a long way off to many, but to the 450 youngsters at Roosevelt Elementary School here it's only as far as the next vacant desk.

The thousands of miles were bridged easily by the Roosevelt students when last Christmas they decided among themselves that it would be better to help someone else than to exchange gifts.

CLAIRE L. BEGOUIN

The organization is an international, interdenominational missionary association which administers to the physical, mental and spiritual needs of children of all races and creeds.

Just recently the youngsters at the school learned that Claire Lise, a fifth grader at CCF youth home in Puteaux, near Paris, had been assigned to them.

According to Dr. J. Calvitt Clarke, international director of CCF, Claire Lise's story is a familiar one.

Writing to Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, principal of the Roosevelt School, Clarke said:

HOME BROKEN

"Claire's parents suffered greatly during the war and occupation, only to face graver hardships later as poverty and strains led to the break-up of the home.

"The unskilled mother had to work long hours to earn enough money to feed herself and her child, leaving her daughter unattended since she could not afford to have her placed or sent to school.

"Their situation daily worsened and finally Claire was brought to Puteaux. Here, along with countless other youngsters, she is now receiving proper food, care and schooling."

sending $10 a month or $120 a year toward the youngster's care.

The Roosevelt students will be able to write Claire Lise one letter a month and she will be able to reply. The letters will be translated.

The students, however, hope it won't be too long before they can take advantage of their French language lessons and correspond in Claire's native tongue.

Lions Offering Sunday Dinner at Washington

WASHINGTON — Members of the Washington Lions Club invite area residents to come eat with them or dial for their dinners Sunday.

They will be preparing barbecued chicken "done to a turn," to be eaten either at the Washington Community Park or to be delivered to the home.

Arrangements can be made for delivery of the meals, which also include French fried potatoes and a green salad, by phoning Carl Alward, 57970 Van Dyke, between noon and 5 p.m. Sunday. No extra charge is made for delivery in the Romeo-Washington area.

Avondale Sells School Bonds

$850,000 Will Build More Classrooms at Four Elementaries

Proposed construction of additional classrooms on the four elementary schools in the Avondale District moved a step closer to reality last night with the sale of a $850,000 bond issue to Goodbody & Co., Detroit.

The Detroit firm, representing a syndicate of investors, submitted the lowest of four bids at a special meeting of the Avondale Board of Education.

The bid offered a 3.61 per cent average rate of interest over the period extending from 1965 through 1991.

The elementary school expansion program is a part of the total $1.29 million bond issue for school construction approved by Avondale voters June 11.

The $850,000 portion covers the building of new classrooms and multipurpose rooms at Elmwood, Stiles and Stone schools and new classrooms, a multipurpose room and cafeteria at the Auburn Heights School.

The rest of the program calls for additions of classrooms and a cafeteria to the junior high and drafting and mechanical arts classrooms at the senior high.

Construction of a new elementary school also is planned on a site yet to be determined.

After Schomberg Rites

Couple in Wyoming

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residing in Wyoming following their recent nuptials are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schomberg, who exchanged their vows in St. John Lutheran Church, Rochester.

Rev. Richard Schlecht performed the afternoon rites.

The bride is the former Alason L. Duquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Williams, 105 Wabash St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schomberg, 2085 Crooks Road.

MRS. RICHARD SCHOMBERG

★ ★ ★

Herbert Schomberg assisted brother as best man. Ushers were Norman Wilson of Rochester and Thomas Hochthanner of Dearborn.

Move on Lake Restoration

Seek Dredging of Wolverine

Petitions Bearing 260 Names Go to County Drain Commission

WOLVERINE LAKE — The proposed restoration of Wolverine Lake moved ahead yesterday when petitions requesting that steps be taken to dredge the lake were turned over to the Oakland County Drain Commission.

★ ★ ★

An $1,800 deposit for engineering costs also was filed by the two representatives.

The funds were allocated by the Village Council earlier this week from taxes collected for the specific purpose of weed control.

★ ★ ★

Council members were unanimous in their support of the lake rehabilitation since the cleaning would discourage the future growth of weeds, according to Village Clerk Jessie K. Johnson.

TREATED WATER

In the past years the village has chemically treated the water to check the spread of weed growth, an expense borne by property owners through a special tax.

The money would be returned to the village and could be used toward paying off a portion of the cost of the dredging project once it started, according to Deputy Drain Commissioner Robert J. Evans.

Before any engineering surveys are made and cost estimates determined, the signatures on the petitions will first have to be verified, Evans said.

'70 PER CENT SIGN'

At least two thirds of the property owners living on the lake or its canals have to give their approval before any preliminary work begins.

Mrs. Baize said that about 70 per cent of the property owners on the lake signed the petition.

This is the first time in Oakland County that a community has organized to take advantage of a 1961 state law that provides for the establishment of an assessment district by the county on a project of this type.

Once the engineering is completed, the Board of Supervisors would establish a drainage area and a three - member board named to hear objections to the plan from residents, according to Evans.

Apple Shipping at Top Figure

Go Out to 30 States; Need More Inspectors to Speed Work

LANSING (AP) — Requests by Michigan apple shippers for inspection and certification of shipments have reached an all-time high this year, it was reported today by the federal-state fruit and vegetable inspection service.

Rodney Nelson, assistant state supervisor of the service for the Michigan Dept. of Agriculture, said he is having trouble finding enough qualified inspectors to meet the demand.

The upsurge in inspection requests according to G. S. McIntyre, agricultural director, is the result of apple shippers' desire for improved quality and to meet requirements for export shipment.

Federal-state inspection, paid for in part by the shipper himself, can furnish certification that the shipment meets requirements of grade, size, variety, color and quality demanded by buyers.

Nelson said Michigan apples are now being shipped to 30 states and to other distant markets "never before supplied by Michigan growers."

★ ★ ★

Michigan apples have improved to the point where, as shippers once sought apples meeting U.S. No. 1 standards, they now seek certification of shipments as U.S. fancy, and U.S. extra fancy.

Van Peursem Says Swainson Alters Jobless Statistics

ALBION (AP) — Republican State Chairman George M. Van Peursem charged today that Gov. Swainson has overlooked 72,000 persons without jobs in reporting state unemployment figures.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Albion Rotary Club, Van Peursem said Swainson is engaging in "political deception" to improve his own image before the voters.

"The governor would like voters to think unemployment has gone down recently but it actually has gone up sharply," said the GOP leader.

He said 72,000 persons who are newcomers to the job market have been omitted from the Democratic administration's figures on current unemployment.

★ ★ ★

Many of these, he said, are recent high school youths who have been looking for work without success "for a considerable length of time."

Van Peursem urged the election of George Romney, the Republican candidate for governor, saying Romney "will provide the leadership to get Michigan moving again."

He said Romney and his administrative board team, if elected, would undertake a comprehensive analysis of state problems and provide immediate solutions.

This analysis would concern itself with government costs, taxes, the economic climate, unemployment and "a poor national reputation" that Van Peursem said Michigan has acquired.

Van Peursem's appearance before the rotary club came a week after his Democratic counterpart, Joe Collins, addressed the same group.

Ex-Con-Con Delegate on Bureau Committee

Former con-con delegate Allen F. Rush of Washington Township, currently is serving on the resolutions committee of the Michigan Farm Bureau which will hold the second of a series of six meetings Wednesday in Lansing.

Out of this and subsequent sessions will come tentative resolutions to be placed before 700 voting delegates of the Michigan at its 43rd annual meeting Nov. 7-9 at Michigan State University.

Rush, a member of the farm bureau's board of directors, farms 420 acres at 65040 Dequindre Road in partnership with his son Marvin. They raise registered Hereford cattle and fruit.

The resolutions committee, on which Rush represents the Oakland-Macomb county area, is frequently referred to as "the most influential farm committee in Michigan."

Prior to the annual meeting this committee will hold "hearings" at which farm leaders of government and private groups will outline areas of concern.

The group also will hear reports of subcommittees working in specialized areas and examine some 1,000 policy recommendations referred to the committee by 71 farm bureau organizations.

Sewage Funds Get Approval

Give Tentative OK for Treatment Plant Study for Walled Lake, Novi

Tentative approval to allocate funds for a preliminary study on the feasibility of a sewage treatment plant to serve Walled Lake and a portion of Novi was given last night by the councils of both communities.

The study will cost Walled Lake $1,000 and Novi, $300.

Both councils are expected to authorize the funds at their regular meetings next week, according to R. J. Alexander, County Department of Public Works director, who explained the possibilities of a lagoon sewage disposal system at the joint session at the Novi Village Hall.

Alexander said that Johnson and Anderson, consulting engineers for both Novi and Walled Lake, would undertake the study and prepare cost estimates. This will take about two weeks.

A treatment facility has been proposed to be built on the southwest side of Walled Lake in Novi Village, explained Alexander, but details will not be known until the study is complete and the plan proved practical.

To build a lagoon system, where the waste is aerated after being filtered, would require, in this instance, said Alexander, between 40 and 60 acres of property.

"The proposal fits in with the county master plan of the area," said Alexander, "and would serve until it can be afforded to build an interceptor from Nine Mile Road up to the lake area."

The south area of Novi Village will benefit from sewer lines in the future that will connect to a main in the Northville area.

Novi took advantage of the 3,000 connections after Walled Lake rejected an offer to use a portion of them, because of the extremely high cost to individual property owners.

Alexander said the flow of a lagoon system into an arm of the Rouge River would not be continuous, only during the spring and fall.

Troy Mothers Plan Session for Monday

TROY — The Troy Blue Star Mothers, Chapter 37, will sponsor a luncheon and card party at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the Women's Guild in the Clawson Shopping Center.

A hat sale also is planned in connection with the party. Prizes will be awarded.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to send Christmas boxes to Troy men in service. Reservations are being accepted by Mrs. Mary L. Tietz, 1037 Larchmont St.

TO GRADUATE — Mrs. Emanuel Beyers, the former Shelly Simmons, will receive her diploma from Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing tomorrow at the Rackham Memorial Building, Detroit. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Simmons, 2417 Doleman Ave., West Bloomfield Township.

Smorgasbord Slated

THOMAS — The Thomas Chapter of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a smorgasbord and bazaar Tuesday at the OES Temple, Oakwood. Serving will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Don't Miss One of Life's Thrills—Be a Fat Man

By HAL BOYLE

It opens ltll doors.

It silently says, "I'm your buddy. You can trust me."

BOYLE

There are the starved few who go through life celebrating the virtues of the counted-calorie and the slender waist.

These lonely rigors they can have, and welcome to them. To me, the possession of a large stomach has more advantages.

Flesh costs money. If you figure a dollar to the calorie and 3,500 calories of the pound, a man with a 40-pound pot over and under his solar plexus is toting around the equivalent of $140,000.

You have a feeling it belongs to you, but everyone you meet feels it also belongs to them—although they don't go to the trouble of carrying it.

That is probably the most striking thing about having a large stomach—the sense of mutuality it engenders in others.

Girls in the office can't keep their hands off it. They love to pat it. Children like to play in the shade of it on hot, sunny days. Old men like to lean on it with their elbows while they tell you their troubles.

PLEASANT WEALTH

Everyone you know takes a personal interest in it, and usually greets you with such remarks as, "Well, it ain't getting any smaller, is it?"

I guess when you get right down to it, a large stomach is the pleasantest of all forms of wealth. Your friends would rather see it on you than on them.

They don't consciously envy you. It works the other way. Unconsciously, they admire you. In their secret little minds your king-sized tummy becomes a symbol of plenty, a father image, an everlasting surety in a dubious time.

That's why you can't afford to lose weight. It hurts the safety of your friends—their belief in something bigger and finer than themselves.

It has been said that inside every fat man is a thin man trying to get out. There is some truth to this remark on some days—particularly when a fat man is confronted with a long flight of stairs.

But it could be said with probably equal truth that inside every fat man is a thin man enjoying himself.

In a crowd, most people instinctively realize a fat man needs more space and they give it to him. Even if they push against him it is only his fat they crowd.

Inside him there is his thin shapely uncrowded self, laughing at life. He wears a portable wall against all outside importunity, a barrier of being. Fat doesn't wound easily.

There is a final advantage to having a large stomach. At buffet dinners it provides an ample shelf to eat a meal from.

And what better place is there to work a crossword puzzle on while lying on the beach? A man who doesn't some time in his existence afford the luxury of a large stomach misses one of the great joys of his journey through the years.

Though doctors may cajole him into dieting it away, he always remembers it with fondness—the time when he cast a bigger shadow.

TRUCKER LOSES EGGS — Jerilyn Chilcott, 20, something new in the way of truck drivers, is in a stew over some eggs. Twenty cases of them, to be specific. She complained to New York police that the eggs were hijacked from her 15-ton refrigerated tractor trailer while she and her partner-father were making deliveries.

Willson and Wife, Saroyan Slated for EMU Series

YPSILANTI (AP) — Meredith Willson, his wife Rini, and author-playwright William Saroyan will appear at Eastern Michigan University this year, the university has announced.

The Willsons will appear Oct. 16 in the "Eastern Michigan University presents" series, and Saroyan is expected in November, the public and student relations committee said.

Willson wrote the music and lyrics for two recent Broadway hits—"The Music Man" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Saroyan won the pulitzer prize for his drama "The Time of Your Life" in 1939.

Eyes Law to Protect Credit Card Holders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressman called yesterday for insurance protection for credit card carriers.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Alfred E. Santangelo, D-N.Y., introduced legislation to require credit card companies to insure each credit card holder for $10,000 in eevnt the card is lost or stolen and then used by someone else.

★ ★ ★

He said card holders now are liable for all charges up to 30 days after the reporting of the loss of credit cards.

Nuclear Radiation Belt Probe Scheduled for This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will launch a satellite this year to probe the man-made radiation belt resulting from a U.S. high-altitude nuclear test.

The announcement by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said an Explorer series satellite will obtain information on possible effects of the radiation on future satellites and will give the world scientific community additional data on the artificial environments created by the new radiation belt.

The fact-finding satellite will be launched before the end of this year on an unusual elliptical orbit that will carry it between 170 and 10,350 miles from the earth, NASA said.

It is expected to orbit the earth once every five hours and will have a life expectancy of at least 60 days.

SATELLITES HURT

Government scientists have reported the radiation belt damaged solar cells on two U.S. and one British satellite, shutting off their radio transmissions.

They say the belt extends from 200 miles above the earth to about 700 miles, merging with the lower reaches of the natural field of radiation encircling the earth known as the Van Allen Belt.

NASA has said the new belt, expected to die out eventually, will not menace astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., scheduled for a six-orbit flight around the earth Sept. 28. Project Mercury man-in-space missions have been carried out at altitudes of less than 200 miles.

The Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday that the Johnston Island area, site of the U.S. high-altitude test launchings, will be restricted Sept. 22 but indicated there will be no shot until after Sept. 28.

Trailer Firm Client of Area Ad Firm

MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills, which recently announced expansion of its New York operations, has added Michigan's 1961 product-of-the-year winner as a client.

The Bloomfield Hills firm has been selected as the advertising agency for Vesely Manufacturing Co. of Lapeer, which produces this year's award-winning Apache camping trailer.

Meanwhile, Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adams, said the firm has expanded activities in the package goods field with the appointment of Harold D. Frazee to vice president in charge of drug and allied products.

★ ★ ★

Frazee formerly was vice president and director of the New York office of the Tatham-Laird agency. He will be located in MacManus, John & Adams' New York office.

Dental Project to End in Towns of Fluoridation

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Department of Health announced yesterday it is discontinuing or curtailing its summer topical fluoride programs next year in communities where fluoridated drinking water is being used.

Dr. Chester Tossy, associate director of the department's dentistry division, said the topical fluoride programs have helped prevent decay in the teeth of nearly 400,000 Michigan children since the treatments started in 1949.

Tossy said that 44,225 children received four applications of sodium fluoride at 187 clinics in the state this summer, but the demand for the service increases every year.

Dad Can Influence His Son

Parent's Example Aids Child in School

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education, University of Southern California

Most children admire their parents. They try to do the things their parents do; they like the things their parents like. Parents can use this admiration to help their children succeed in school, as this letter suggests:

DR. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: Our son entered the third grade this year. He is an average student except in reading. His teacher says he has the ability but he lacks interest. At home he won't pick up a book. If I sit down and have him read to me he does it only because he has to. We live on a farm and our son is so interested in helping his father that school is secondary to him. Do you have a solution? Mrs. S. S. Eureka, Ill.

Your son obviously admires his father. If his father made it plain to him that he considers school to be very important, it might make a difference.

Also, you might find a few books at his reading level which have to do with farm animals and crops. Have him read them and then discuss them with his father. His teacher or librarian can help you select the books.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our little girl finished the first grade last year with low grades in the three major subjects. Her worst subject was writing. When she takes her time she can print plainly and neatly but she is always in a hurry. She does well in phonics and reads well but she has difficulty remembering what she has read. What can I do? Mrs. A., Chicago.

Again, this is an opportunity for parents to help their child by setting an example. Children will attach importance to those things parents think are important.

Let your daughter know you are proud of her when she prints plainly and neatly and when she pays careful attention to what she is doing. Let her tell the story of what she has read immediately after she has read it. Make a game of it.

The habit of paying attention to the task at hand is of such importance that it is worth striving for.

Dear Dr. Nason: My daughter spent too many hours studying last year. She gets excellent grades. But her father and I worry about her mental and physical health. What can you suggest we do during the new school year? Mrs. W. R., Sidney, Ohio.

Have your daughter vary the pace at which she works. Try having her study of shorter periods. Between study sessions, have her take a brisk walk or a short nap or a half-hour of just playing with the rest of the family. This will allow her mind to absorb and organize what she has studied before too many new ideas are forced upon it.

(If you have a question for Dr. Nason, write him in care of The Pontiac Press. He will discuss in his column those of most general interest.)

Teen Finds Out JFK's Guards Fast Workers

HOUSTON (AP)—"I wanted to see what secret service agents would do" if they found someone carrying a gun in the presence of the President, the 17-year-old boy explained.

He found out—quickly.

As President Kennedy spoke at Rice University Stadium Wednesday, the boy, who was not identified, stood up and pulled an air pistol from his shirt. He took three steps and two detectives grabbed him.

Two other detectives and two secret service men were seconds behind. They hustled the boy out of the stadium without other spectators noticing.

After questioning and a long lecture he was sent home.

Kaiser VP Is Dead

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Italy picked up six International Match Points on board 58 of the World Championship by making part scores both ways of the table. When American held the East-West cards, the bidding started with one club by East, two clubs by West, two spades by North, three clubs by East, and a three diamond bid by North.

JACOBY

Probably East or West might have risked a three heart bid, but they were vulnerable and gave up. North lost two spades and two hearts and made his contract on the nose.

At the other table East opened with two clubs. This Roman system bid shows a three-suiter and not more than 16 high card points. West responded two hearts to show four hearts and a bad hand.

North remained out of the bidding. Perhaps East's three suits would not include hearts and he would have to bid, in which case East and West would be in trouble.

Unfortunately East had hearts and passed. South would have liked to get into the bidding. He knew that North had a lot of cards, but South had nothing to make a move with.

At two hearts West could have made nine tricks double-dummy, played safe for eight.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	4 ♥	Pass

You, South, hold: ♠A2 ♥A2 ♦AKQ1075 ♣Q2 What do you do?

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Saturday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Take care if driving in heavy traffic. Day features beginning of top cycle. Means Aries originality pays off. Avoid sharp words with family member. Make concessions. Seek harmony in home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You could wear yourself out by trying to please too many persons. Best to be true to yourself. Earn respect of others by being frank, displaying integrity. Tonight: fine for visiting.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Excellent lunar aspect for progress. Activity encouraged within groups, organizations. Accept new ideas with enthusiasm. Meet new people and impress them by sharing beliefs.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Overcome temptation to rush. You can make much headway if you take time to be SURE. Otherwise, tendency is to overlook important details. Today could feature exciting, new contact.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You could enjoy night out with friends if you shake off lethargy. Seek stimulating experiences. There is much to be seen and heard. Look and listen! Remain alert to constructive ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Purchase material required for hobby. Strive for breakthrough in current project. Do this by experimenting, utilizing creative faculties. Tonight fine for entertainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Good for shopping early today, especially in connection with materials to improve home, personal appearance. Tonight excellent for reading. Listening to good music, attending concert or play.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Avoid being overly critical. Draw line between keen perceptiveness and complaining. Could be fine day for romance, change, travel. Evening features delightful surprises.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Fortunate if you strive to please loved one. Otherwise, you could waste time moving in circles. Be diplomatic. See all points of view. Stay out of foolish argument.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Good for dealing with women, entertain at home if possible. Not so good for wandering "off base." Means stick with the tried and true. Otherwise, motives could be misunderstood.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Read, express ideas. Take positive view. Avoid needless worry over minor matters. Much in your favor due to recent investment. Move with air of confidence to make most of day.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good for social activity, entertaining and experiments in cooking, dining. Take a chance on something new! Day evening in store if you keep mind open. Welcome new friends.

JFK Spells It Out for Cuba

News Analysis

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has drawn half a dozen lines of U.S. security interest in the Cuban crisis. He gave a clear warning to Prime Minister Fidel Castro that he can violate any one of them only at the peril of war with the United States.

The policy declaration on Cuba which the President made at his news conference Thursday spelled out the conditions of possible U.S. military action more clearly than any of his previous statements on the crisis.

★ ★ ★

He warned Castro—and presumably intended his words for Soviet Premier Khrushchev as well—against endangering or interfering with:

1. The U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.
2. U.S. passage to the Panama Canal.
3. Missile and space activities at Cape Canaveral, Fla.
4. The "lives of American citizens in this country."
5. The safety of any nation in this hemisphere. Specifically Kennedy warned against Cuba's ever attempting to use "force or the threat of force" against other Western Hemisphere countries.

GENERAL WARNING

To these specific items, the President added a general warning against Cuba's becoming "an offensive military base of significant capacity for the Soviet Union."

He made clear that he did not intend his list to exclude other actions which the Cubans might take but which he had not specifically menfioned. These fall under his general statement that "if at any time the Communist build-up in Cuba were to endanger or interfere with our security in any way. . . then this country will do whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its allies."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's declaration was made amid some controversy here over what the United States should do or not do about the situation created in Cuba by the recent substantial delivery of Soviet arms and the presence of an estimated 3,500 Russian military technicians.

Kennedy's statement thus was directed to his domestic critics and to all Americans concerned about the development of Communist military strength so close to the United States.

It also was directed at the Soviet Union, which earlier this week issued a long warning to the United States against attacking Cuba.

NOT 'SERIOUS THREAT'

Kennedy said that the build-up of Communist arms in Cuba does not at present constitute "a serious threat." He then proceeded to define the conditions under which as the commander in chief of U.S. forces he would take whatever actions he considered necessary against Cuba.

At the same time he coupled an appeal to the American people to "keep both their nerve and their head" with an assertion that Castro is in serious trouble both at home and in his relations with other American states.

He implied that the hope behind his present policy is that the Soviet-supported regime in Cuba eventually will collapse by combination of its own internal mistakes and the pressures which can be brought to bear on it from the outside.

Kennedy's big gamble turns on the question whether his policies are adequate to achieve this result. Soviet aid is designed to assure Castro's survival. If, in the long run, Castro does not collapse the President will be faced with a need for a reappraisal of his position.

SHOW WINDOW

Kennedy portrayed Cuba, in effect, as a show window in the Western Hemisphere of Communist economic failure and more of a liability than an asset to Soviet hopes for extending power and influence in Latin America.

The President appeared to argue, in fact, that it is Castro's troubles which are responsible for his large transfusions of economic and military assistance from the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy firmly ruled out U.S. military action against Castro under present circumstances but indicated the United States plans new measures to put economic and political pressures on Cuba. He was not specific about the form they might take, saying simply that Secretary of State Dean Rusk will have proposals to make to foreign ministers of other Latin American countries when he confers with them in New York late this month.

Vicar Scolds: Teens Flirt During Church

ROMFORD, England (AP) — The Rev. Marcus Nicklin served notice that his church is no place for courting. He complained that teen-agers have been flirting during services.

HIS GARDEN WON — Charles Simpson who lives in trailer B-1 at 229 East Walton Boulevard won the contest sponsored by the owners of the trailer court this summer. He surrounded his mobile home with a profusion of flowers. Residents say the court was the most attractive it has ever been with residents inspired by the contest.

Professional Growers Condition Their Plants

Keeping your plants in the best possible health and growth depends a lot on how and where you select them.

It's prudent to buy your plants directly from nearby suppliers. In this way you can be sure that they have been professionally "climate conditioned" in clay pots by growers who know from experience what plants will thrive best in their immediate areas.

Flowering and foliage (green) plants that have ben grown in local nurseries and greenhouses, for example, will have been carefully accustomed to normal light and climate conditions for your area. On the other hand, tropical plants that arrive from southern climates without being properly acclimated to their new surroundings, may prove disappointing.

Professionally grown plants that come to you in their porous clay pots direct from your neighborhood florists and garden centers are generally in tip-top condition. They have been finished and potted in fertile, sterilized soil of the right mixture. They have been fed in the greenhouse, sprayed and dusted to ward off pests.

In short the professional grower has done everything possible to enable the florist or garden center to provide you with a high quality plant to bring into your home. From here on you'll find it easier to keep your plants properly watered and to give them the right amount of sun.

Water should be slightly warmer than room temperature, since cold water will chill the plant and cause possible setback. Plants in clay pots are easier to water than those in other containers since the drainage hole at the bottom of the pot and the many breathing pores in the pot walls are insurance against overwatering.

A soil that is to wet will dry out quickly enough so that roots do not become waterlogged with subsequent plant damage. Plants grown in limited light will need less water than those in strong light.

Consider Entire Yard in Planning Garden

A garden is made of many parts, not all flowers, by any means, but not all trees and shrubs, either.

So far as the flowers go, most people like variety of form both in flower and plant. Except in public parks, where a large area can be treated as one unit, it is rare and generally undesirable to devote a whole garden to a single flower. Admittedly, this sort of planting is spectacular to an extreme, but it sacrifices all-summer bloom to concentrate on one period and leaves the balance without color.

Of course, all these growing things are competitive for light, moisture, and fertility, so shrubs (except for shade-loving types) don't do well under trees, and neither grass nor flowers can compete with the larger plants. This simply means that some common sense should be used in planting your grounds.

If you select a kind of tree which ultimately becomes huge, then you steadily lose ground to it as it expands. Large yards can stand some large trees, but small city lots cannot.

There are many trees that stay small and yet give the needed bulk and height a shrub cannot provide. Trees of this type are not only easier to fit into landscape plans, but they are not going to cause trouble in the future either with encroachment on other plantings or with power lines which may be overhead.

In planting trees and shrubs try to visualize what they will look like in ten years or more. Will they begin to crowd together in a jumble which injures their appearance and puts your whole lawn in the shade? To avoid this, consider putting your tallest trees and shrubs on the north side of your lot where they may supply some winter protection and form an attractive background without shading the lawn.

In any event, do make sure you allow for at least one sunny area for your garden. No vegetables or annual flowers, and few perennial flowers can thrive in shade, so without all-day sun you are hampered in making a successful garden, right from the start.

Your garden itself should contain both annual and perennial flowers in order to extend the blooming period as well as to provide a much greater variety of bloom. Your pleasure depends on a complete garden, the more complete, the more pleasure.

With well-spaced trees and shrubs as leafy backgrounds your lawn lies rich and green in the sun, and your flower beds will have their chance to glow with health and color.

Little Girls Have Fun With Hollyhock Dolls

If there is even one hollyhock plant in your garden, you can make a lot of hollyhock dolls. But it's much more fun to be able to pick and choose any color dress you wish for your doll and you can do this only when pink, red and rose, yellow and white-flowered hollyhocks are all blooming away in your yard.

Most kinds of hollyhocks do not have flowers the first summer after you sow seeds of them, but there's a kind named Indian Summer that will bloom this summer if the seeds were sown early.

After the hollyhocks bloom, making the dolls is easy. Pick off a flower from the long spike filled with them as the hand is doing in the picture on the left. Turn it upside down on a table. It looks like a little bell now, doesn't it, just as in picture 2?

Pick a long, slender piece of grass and tie it around the flower, just above the middle as in picture 3. This will begin to make the flower look like a doll. The grass is the doll's bright green sash. Let its ends stick out stiffly as if they were made of stiff ribbon.

Now take a pen, dip it in ink if it's that kind of pen, and mark a face on the doll, as in picture 4. She will look sad if you curve the ends of her mouth downward. You can make her smile by turning up her mouth at the ends. And, of course, you can make her eyes blue or brown or black; her nose big or little, just as it pleases you.

City Trees Have to Drink More Often in Summer

With critical hot dry spells ahead, you may wonder why your trees develop that "How dry I am!" look when the same kind of trees — in field or wood — seem to thrive cheerfully, rain or not.

L. I. Cobb, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., points out that city trees seldom get full benefit of the rain that does fall. Hard-topped streets and sidewalks sweep water away before it can soak in; compacted soils cut off moisture and manicured lawns blot up still more rain which — in the wild — would go to tree roots.

But you need not cancel that vacation to slake your trees' thirst. Generally, trees during Summer "dog days" need a good watering about every ten days. Soak thoroughly before you depart — and if the skies stay dry — arrange for one of your neighbors or a professional gardener to man the faucets while you're gone.

But don't slight your arboreal pets, when you do water, by turning off the hose once the lawn gets wet. All too many homeowners operate on the theory that watering the lawn, means watering the trees.

Unfortunately, there is no quick way to adequately water large shade or ornamental trees. They need long, deep drinks, penetrating at least 2 feet into the soil and over the entire ground area covered by the branch spread. No simple job, to be sure. Special sprayers and soakers are available. Holes in the ground also get water down.

July, August and September generally are the critical months. If thirst is unslaked, your woody pets can get into real trouble. Tree foliage gives off moisture faster than the roots can replenish it; result is that foliage wilts, dries out and the tree is severely weakened.

Revive Roses

Cut roses that wilt prematurely can be revived with a plunge into hot water. Make a slanting cut an inch or so from the base of the stem and dip the stem quickly into boiling water, then into cold water. The hot water drives off air bubbles that form in the water conducting system of the stem. This allows cold water to rise and revive the flower.

Don't Cover Whole House

An extremely long house with an attractive foundation doesn't require plantings the entire length of the foundation. Let grass grow next to part of the foundation, making sure the strip of grass is wide enough to look appropriate and is in scale with other foundation plantings. High foundations are better screened with shrubs.

The Civil War brought the first legal standards for the treatment of prisoners and populations of occupied territory. The Army code, published in 1863, was observed in the Franco-Prussian War and was the basis of the Hague Conventions.

Use Hole in Bottom of Pot to Hold It on Window Sill

The drainage holes in the bottom of red clay pots come in handy when you want to set plants on outside window sills for the summer. To keep the pots from slipping off the sill, hammer a long nail partway into the wood sill, just at the point you intend to place the pot. Then slip the drain hole of the pot over the nail, fill in gravel for drainage, and soil, and then plant in the regular way. The results: a sturdy pot that won't slip or topple in strong breezes.

Frame Your Plants

The old picture frames that you can't bear to toss into the rubbish may be useful to frame your plants. Frames wide enough to accommodate a three or four-inch shelf will hold one or more clay pots with foliage or flowering plants that will brighten up a bare wall. The pots may be changed with the seasons.

Organic Gardeners Will Get Together in Lansing

Sixteen organic farm and garden clubs scattered throughout Michigan will convene at the Reo Club House in Lansing on September 15 and 16 for their 10th Annual Fall Roundup.

J. I. Rodale of Emmaus, Pennsylvania, "father" of the organic farming and gardening movement in this country, will be a featured speaker. Author of "Pay Dirt" and other books which were instrumental in introducing Sir Albert Howard's composting methods to America, Mr. Rodale is editor-in-chief of Organic Gardening and Farming and Prevention magazines. He will speak on Sunday afternoon, September 16.

The roundup will get off to a start Saturday morning with a farm and garden tour. Club members will compete for awards for the best produce which will be judged at noon on Saturday.

A symposium of orchardists from Michigan and Indiana will discuss their fruit-growing methods and problems in the afternoon.

The assembly will hear talks on Saturday evening and Sunday morning by Heinz Grotzke, vegetable grower and seed specialist of Greene, Rhode Island. Mr. Grotzke is a graduate of the Horticultural Institute of Hamburg, Germany. Alvin Filsinger, orchardist from Ayton, Ontario, will also talk on Sunday morning.

The final speaker, following Mr. Rodale on Sunday afternoon, will be Joe D. Nichols, M. D. of Atlanta, Texas, president of Natural Food Associates. Dr. Nichols is a past president of the Tri-County Medical Society and for the past nine years a councilor of the Texas Medical Association.

The two-day meeting is expected to attract upwards of a thousand farmers and gardeners from Michigan and neighboring states. The public is invited to any or all of the sessions which are under the auspices of the Federated Organic Clubs of Michigan. Harold Doster, Plainwell, Michigan farmer and president of the organization, will preside over the meetings.

Keep Pots Porous

In painting porous red clay flower pots, use vinyl latex paint so excess water and acid salts can leach out through the pot walls and insure the health of your plants.

Summer Scorch Means Water

These scorching days of late Summer may seem the same as in other years to you, but your trees may be signaling otherwise. In areas where soils lack abundant soil moisture, the effects are usually evident in the foliage.

Leaf scorch on sugar maples, general wilting and premature leaf fall of elms indicate your trees are abnormally thirsty. Leaf shedding is nature's way of conserving moisture within the trees.

H. J. Rice, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., urges immediate deep watering to correct the situation. Sprinklers, soil soakers and other methods that distribute water over a relatively wide area should be used. To make sure the moisture has penetrated to the roots, take soil samples with shovel or nursery spade. The more precise gardeners will employ one of the various moisture meters available.

Surface sprinkling for a few minutes with the garden hose is a waste of time. To penetrate sun-baked and arid ground, soaking from hours to several days may be required.

Most deciduous trees have tremendous thirst during the growing season — soaking up from three to five barrels of water daily. It has been estimated a fair-sized white oak may drink as many as 150 gallons of water on a Summer day. Requirements of evergreens are much less.

One of the most effective ways to make sure pet trees are getting their moisture needs from the soil is to feed them with a tree food high in nitrogen content. The nutrients help the trees to grow more extensive root systems. This enables them to draw moisture from a greater area.

Bronzing Foliage

To bronze and preserve foliage, such as English ivy, eucalyptus, galax and lemon, stand the stem ends in a solution of one part of glycerin to two parts of water. The Society of American Florists says the leaves may be used indefinitely in either dried flower arrangements or with water.

Ordered to Pay Former Wife Until He's 109

SWINDON, England (AP) — A court has ordered Dennis Gee to pay his ex-wife eight shillings ($1.12) a week until his payments reach a total of 1,478 pounds ($4,138).

★ ★ ★

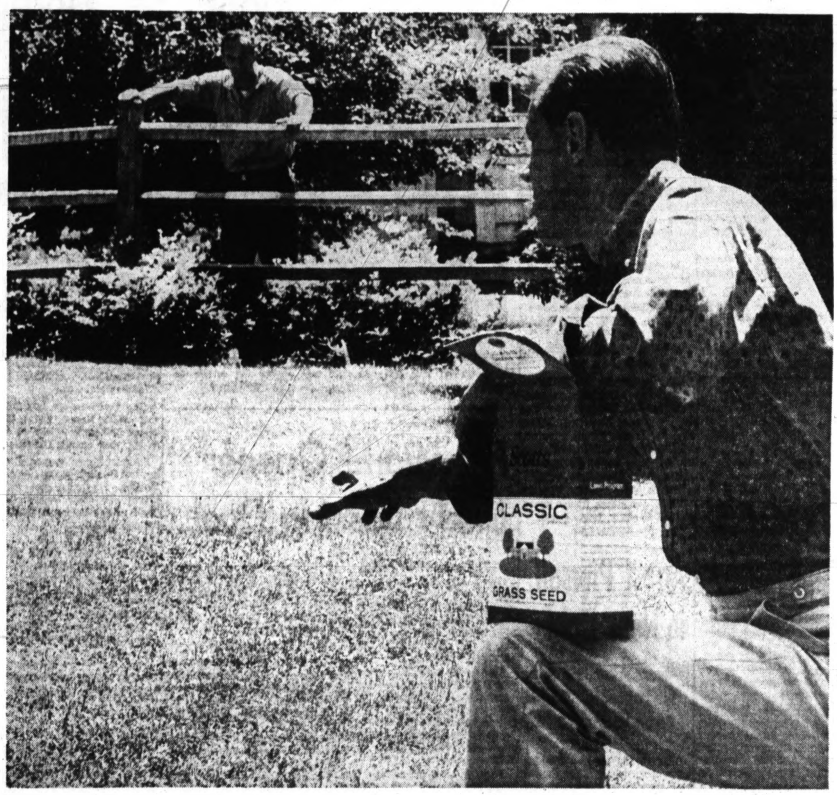
"It's madness," said 38-year-old Gee, "this means I'll be paying for the next 71 years."

In 71 years Gee would be 109.

The court said he was in arrears on his payments.

Speeds Seed Start

The same chemical propellant—hydrogen peroxide — that helped control astronaut John Glenn's space vehicle in orbit has accelerated germination of some pine seed in tests at the Southeastern Forest Experiment Station, Asheville, N.C.



The secret of a lovely lawn that every professional knows by heart— "add seed in the fall!"

Sure, you can plant grass seed almost any time of the year. But there's just one time when everything is in your favor.

Think about it. Fall is the time when Nature does her own seeding. The ground is still warm, germination is quick. Annual weeds are on the way out, so there's less competition. And cooler weather lies ahead, just right for growing grass.

Thus every penny you spend on grass seed now will bring you the maximum return on your investment.

Don't plant yourself trouble

Speaking of money, whatever you do, don't fall for so-called "bargain" seed. It may appear much the same as good seed in a box or bag. But the bunchy, coarse, short-lived grass that usually comes up will never make first class turf. No lawn can ever be better than the seed that goes into it. The purest seed will be your cheapest in the long run — and that, of course, means Scotts. It is all-perennial and an incredible 99.9% weed-free. It has been used for building and maintaining America's most admired lawns for nearly a hundred years. Scotts has only one quality seed — the best.

How about this weekend?

Discover how easy it is to grow a lovely lawn when you plant the right seed at the right time. Takes less than half an hour to add new life to an average lawn (5000 sq ft). The cost is less than a quarter of a cent a square foot. Isn't that a modest outlay for the best?

If you'd like a subscription to Scotts magazine, Lawn Care, just mention it to your Scotts Dealer. He will see that you receive it with our compliments.

High Schools Kick Off Grid Season Tonight at 8:00 p.m.

PCH-Flint Central

The Chiefs, who have not beaten their Indian rivals in 10 years, will have a slight advantage in experience but both teams will average pretty even in starting offensive lines.

* * *

Coach Paul Dellerba, starting his third season at PCH, will start Randy Stiles at quarterback, Chuck Humphrey and Jesse Hodges at the halves and Tom Lewis at fullback.

Coach Bob Leach has experience and size in his backfield with Sherm Wallace and Joe Baxter at halves and Oddie Miller or Marv Mabry at fullback with Ira Edwards at quarterback.

PNH-Lake Orion

Pontiac Northern, showing lot of life as season play nears, takes over Wisner Stadium tomorrow night in hopes to getting off to another good start with a traditional 1st game win over Lake Orion.

* * *

The Dragons have been impressive at times in workouts and could make it an interesting lidlifter. An upset could light the fuse for a comeback season for Frank Kownacki's aggregation.

* * *

Mike Marcum, 1961 Press All-County back, and Gary Pochhiola will be the only seniors in the Huskie lineup. Jim Kimmel at quarterback, halfback Don Weyer and Steve Daniels, the fullback, will round out the backfield.

WTHS-W. Bloom.

* * *

Waterford will have a backfield of Bob Readler, Lee Keiser, Tom Grile and Rick LaBair. Clark Lemaux will also see considerable action as a back.

* * *

Kettering-W. Lake

History will be made at Walled Lake when Kettering and the Vikings tangle for the 1st time in football.

* * *

Walled Lake has had the winning habit in recent years but coach Dave Smith and staff have had their work cut out building around a smaller nucleus than usual. Two boys being counted on quit the Captains but the squad has progressed better than last fall and will be all set physically for the opener.

* * *

The Vikings have come along well on offense but are behind past seasons in other departments. Passing ace John Thomas will be firing at such big targets as Bob Tuck and Ron Wik. Jim Bales, 205, and Dave Rickard head the line.

Avondale-Milford

Avondale and Milford will get into a new season against each other with the Yellowjackets the home team tonight.

* * *

Milford will likely be a slight favorite to repeat last year's triumph. The Redskins have more experience and Avon has been cripled by the loss of quarterback Romy Lucero, who suffered a knee injury Wednesday near the end of the squad's final heavy workout.

Sophomore Lynn Thorpe will replace Lucero to team with Roger and Mike Ball and Roger Bauer in the backfield.

Tom Mitzelfeld, who scored two touchdowns in a 32-18 Falcon triumph over the Chieftains a year ago, is back but most of his mates are gone. Veteran Rochester skipper Gene Konley had put together a pretty solid 1st unit but has very few capable reserves.

* * *

Utica has progressed slowly in practice despite being an experienced team. Ron Paschal will direct the home backfield of Nelson Bock, Len Baty and Herb Wiles.

Clarkston-Oxford

Clarkston and Oxford have become annual opening night foes with the Wolves usually holding the upper hand. Things may be different tonight.

The Wildcats have looked good in drills despite the absence of injured line star Tom Hardgrove and are anxious for some revenge. Clarkston, an inexperienced team, seems to have gone downhill instead of ahead in recent workouts.

The game will be the debut for Ralph Kenyon as head man at CHB. He plans to go with a backfield of a junior and three sophomores. Quarterback Jon Gary is the 11th grader. The others are Randy Armstrong, Dick Ditch and Dan Jenks.

Dan Van Vleet will direct the Oxford attack. Key man in the line is expected to be 220-pound Jon Singleton.

Seaholm-Groves

The Seaholm-Groves rivalry in Birmingham is not very old but it has already created considerable interest throughout the area. That 15-13 tussle won by the Maples is one of the reasons.

Sports have come along fast at the new school year with a victory over the boys at the older institution.

Seaholm has progressed fairly well thus far. Four Maple starters top the 200 mark led by fullback and punter Grant Conley at 240. Jack Harvey, 200, and 160 boys Jim Foster and Bob Drothler have been nominated to start in Carl Lemle's backfield.

It will be the debut at Groves for Jim Kinnison. He has been pleased with the spirit and hustle of his young gridders and feels they will give a good account of themselves. Speed is one of their key factors.

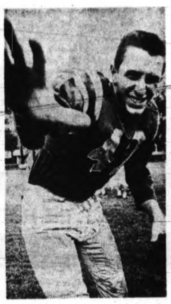
Mikes vs Rams Sunday

City Parochials in 28th Game on Gridiron

Favored Shamrocks Leading Series 16-8 Featuring 3 Straight



Pontiac Press Photo

SHAMROCK STARTER—Dick Steinhelper will be in the starting backfield for St. Michael Sunday when the Shamrocks take on city rival St. Frederick at Wisner Stadium. He is a halfback.

Pontiac Press Photo

ON THE MOVE — St. Frederick has an experienced ballcarrier in senior Mike Windey. He scored 18 points in games of 1961.

The 1962 Pontiac Parochial championship will be decided early in football with St. Michael and St. Frederick tangling Sunday afternoon as an area opening grid weekend highlight.

* * *

Mikes will be favored to win its 4th straight and 17th in 28 meetings. The Rams have won eight times. Three others were ties with two of the scoreless variety.

The 68-6 walloping by the Shamrocks last fall was the most lopsided affair in the history of the series. A 54-7 SM breeze in '59 had previously been tops.

To say that Big Blue teams have dominated the game in recent years would be putting it mildly. St. Michael put together eight successive wins starting in 1950 until St. Fred came through in '58.

11 OF 12

St. Mike has now won 11 of the last 12 games.

St. Frederick has had two-game victory streaks twice — both during the 1940s. The Red and White had won 3-of-4 before the Lewis Street school took command in '50.

The present underdogs were also in command during the very early years of these meetings gaining two victories and two deadlocks in the initial five contests.

* * *

Best years for the Rams were successive 26-0 and 25-0 wins in 1942 and 1943.

St. Mike has scored at least six points in the last 18 games. St. Fred have been scoring steadily since suffering its 7th shutout in 1954.

The city battle will be Northwest Catholic League game as will Orchard Lake St. Mary at Royal Oak St. Mary and Farmington Our Lady at Detroit St. Agatha. Waterford Our Lady will open at Utica St. Lawrence and Birmingham Brother Rice is host to Our Lady of Lourdes.

MSU Holds Advantage

Michigan State holds all-time series leads over three of its 1962 football opponents, is even with two others and trails in three of the rivalries. A ninth foe, North Carolina, will be met this fall for the first time.

The Spartans lead Stanford (3-0-0), Indiana (11-4-1) and Illinois (3-2-0). They're even with Minnesota (4-4-0) and Northwestern (3-3-0). And they trail Michigan (15-35-4), Notre Dame (11-16-0) and Purdue (7-8-1).

Tigers Breeze on Four Homers

DETROIT (AP) — The home run is baseball's most devastating weapon — and look what it's done for the Tigers.

* * *

They're on the verge of becoming the second team in American League history to hit 200 in a season. And they're also on the verge of being eliminated officially from the pennant race.

The Tigers hit four home runs yesterday and blasted the Boston Red Sox 14-6.

The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was cancelled by a violent wind and rainstorm.

All the weary Tigers except Rocky Colavito, Norm Cash and Bill Faul were happy about the cancellation of the final meeting with Boston. It didn't matter that the rain eroded their magic number for elimination to one.

But Colavito and Cash are battling for the home run championship — and the rainout cost them a game in chummy Tiger Stadium. Each homered in the first game, running their individual totals to 36. Al Kaline and Chico Fernandez hit three-run homers as the Tigers increased their season production to 198.

"Sure, I wish we played the second game," said Colavito as he dressed quickly to catch the plane for Los Angeles, where the Tigers open a three-game series tonight with the Angels. "I'd like to win the home run and RBI crown and not playing this game could cost me my chance. But let's face it, I'd rather have the club finish in the money."

Fourth place is the last money position and the Tigers are three games away from it. Losing a chance to beat Boston could have hurt the Tigers' possibilities of regaining fourth, for they have only 14 games left.

EYES PAY CUT

"I'm thinking about the home run title, it may save me from getting a salary cut next year," said Cash. "This rainout cost me another chance to hit home runs in this park. Now we have to play in Chavez Ravine and it's a lot harder to hit them there."

The Tigers haven't had a home run champion since Hank Greenberg hit 44 in 1946. Cash and Colavito currently trail slumping Harmon Killebrew by one homer. Colavito leads in runs batted in with 108.

Until the champion New York Yankees hit 240 homers last year, the major league record was 221. The New York Giants of 1947 and Cincinnati Reds of 1956 shared the former mark. Both those clubs finished fifth.

Manager Bob Scheffing started bonus rookie Faul in the cancelled game that lasted only 2½ innings and was scoreless. It was Faul's major league debut and Scheffing promised him another starting chance.

* * *

Kaline's homer in the first game was his 27th of a season in which he missed 61 games. But the blow equalled his career high. Fernandez hit his 19th homer and he matched his total for his six previous big league seasons.

Jim Bunning, staked to a 10-run lead before the Red Sox scored, won his 17th game.

Association Champ Ousted From Play

By United Press International

Frank Leja of Louisville knocked season champion Indianapolis out of the American Association playoffs last night with a grand slam homer and two-run double for a 6-4 victory. Omaha stayed alive with a 5-3 win over Denver.

* * *

Louisville swept its third straight from the champions. Leja drove in nine runs during the series. His seventh inning grand slam overcame a 4-2 deficit and tagged Warren Hacker with the loss. Vic Rehm threw six scoreless innings of relief and allowed only two hits for the win.

Omaha's Dodgers won the first of three "must" games with the Bears after blowing the first two at home. The league runnersup raked three Bear hurlers for a dozen hits, including a solo homer by Dick Smith. Gates Brown hit one for the losers.

Scott Breeden, who came on in the fourth, was the winning pitcher while Leo Marentette took the loss.

The Bears must win one of two remaining games with the Dodgers for the right to meet Louisville in the best-of-seven association final.

The survivor will then go against the winner of the International League playoff in the Little World Series.

Chargers Sign Kicker

FARGO, N.D., (AP) —Steve Myhra, placekick specialist released by the Baltimore Colts, said Thursday he has agreed to terms with the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League.

Myhra was told by San Diego coach Sid Gillman that he would be used in the Chargers' game Sunday. Myhra, graduate of the University of North Dakota, was not claimed by other clubs in the National Football League in the 24-hour waiver period.

State Small Colleges List 8 Weekend Games

State College football teams swing into action this weekend with eight games listed, featured by the Central Michigan invasion of Western Michigan, Saturday night.

Because of Western's association with the NCAA, Central will not be permitted to use the free substitution rules which normally uses under NAIA, small college group.

Last year, the Broncos won 27-21 and in 36 meetings between the schools since 1907, Western holds a 27-8-1 edge.

DALES START

The Dales warmed up for the season with a 22-7 exhibition victory over Grand Rapids Junior College last week before 6,000 fans in Grand Rapids.

The outstanding player on the field was former All-County halfback Tom Ridley from Southfield. Ridley carried the ball eight times and gained 95 yards including a 33 yard run early in the first quarter for a touchdown.

* * *

Ridley was 8th in the nation in rushing last year in small college ranks until breaking his leg in the third game against Northern Michigan.

In other small college games in the state, Alma visits Ohio Northern tonight, while Saturday, Northern Michigan is home to Duluth, Ashland visits Hope, Franklin is at Olivet, Superior at Michigan Tech, and Milwaukee at Ferris.

Arrest Piersall in Near Fight

Goes After Heckler in Baltimore Stands; Court Hearing Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — Washington's centerfielder Jim Piersall was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct Thursday night when he went into the stands at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium after a fan who was heckling him.

* * *

Police said Piersall was warming up before the game between the Orioles and the Washington Senators when a fan, Joseph Martin of Baltimore, began heckling him.

Police said Piersall invited Martin to come out on the field, but Martin, instead, told Piersall to come into the stands.

Police Sgt. Walter Mina came between the two men before any physical contact was made, police said, and arrested both for disorderly conduct.

* * *

A hearing in the case is scheduled Friday morning in Baltimore Municipal Court.

St. Louis Signs Mantis

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ken Krueger, owner of the Kansas City Steers, said Wednesday he would try to keep Nick Mantis from playing with the St. Louis Hawks of the rival National Basketball Association.

The Hawks announced Tuesday they had signed Mantis for the coming season.

Krueger said Mantis, third highest scorer for the Steers last year, was bound to the American League club by a clause which gives the team an option to renew the contract.

Southfield at RO Kimball, Mustangs Away

Valley Games Help Make Big Schedule; Lancers Play Saturday

Lapeer, Romeo and Clawson will be some of the prep football teams opening the new season at home tonight while such schools as Southfield, Northville and Brighton must travel.

* * *

Saginaw Valley games will be some of the biggest on the area slate. Besides the battle at Wisner, Saginaw Arthur Hill will visit Bay City Handy and Midland vs. Flint Northern.

Elsewhere tonight, Fitzgerald will be at Hazel Park, Lakeview visits Mt. Clemens, North Farmington vs. Clarenceville, Royal Oak Dondero meets East Detroit, Ortonville plays Almont and Mt. Clemens St. Louis goes to New Haven.

IMLAY ON ROAD

Also, Imlay City will be guest of Warren Lincoln, Roseville meets Warren Lincoln, Millington goes against Vassar, Dryden is at Peck, Flint Southwestern at Port Huron, Anchor Bay hosts Algonac, Troy plays Warren, Armada meets Clintondale, Deckerville is at Brown City and North Branch and Marlette come to grips.

* * *

Another Valley duel on tap tomorrow night will be Bay City Central at Saginaw. Emmanual Christian will debut at Avondale taking on Cherry Hill. Benedictine will provide the 1st opposition for Royal Oak Shrine. Country Day vs. Queen of Peace, St. James visits St. Andrew, Madison goes to Livonia Franklin, Memphis is at Richmond St. Augustine and L'Anse Creuse entertains Fraser.

Pitt-Miami Opener Likely Passing Duel

By The Associated Press

George Mira and Jim Traficant, two of the nation's top-ranked quarterbacks, have a football slinging duel scheduled Saturday afternoon that will make the opening of the 1962 college football season anything but dull.

Mira leads Miami's Hurricanes into Pitt Stadium to face the University of Pittsburgh and Traficant in the key action on the opening day's schedule and it will be there for all to see on national television (CBS-TV 12:30 p.m. EST).

Mira, a 175-pounder from Key West, Fla., is considered the equal of any of the nation's college signal-callers, but he will have to prove his value against the punishment of Pitt's bruising, rugged team that is bulwarked with 24 returning lettermen.

EQUAL PASSING

Pitt's passing attack won't take a back seat to the Hurricanes attack with Traficant at the controls. The 6 foot senior from Youngstown, Ohio, completed 52 of 67 for 457 yards last year and is completely free of injuries that hampered him at the beginning.

Miami, a 15-14 loser to Syracuse in the Liberty Bowl last year, lost all-around back Eddie Johns for the year with a leg injury. The rest of the first team are veterans, but the bench is a little thin.

Pitt's ground attack is led by halfback Paul Martha and fullback Rick Leeson. Martha is an outstanding pass catcher and averaged 5.1 in rushing a year ago.

Two Southern Conference games are on tap in other action, which also finds Utah State, the champ of the now-defunct Skyline Conference, Iowa State and Sun Bowl champ Villanova also getting underway.

DIXIE GAMES

In the Southern Conference, George Washington and Virginia Military play at Lynchburg, Va., while Virgina Tech goes against William & Mary. Utah State, stripped by graduation of the stars of 1961, travels to San Jose State for a night game while Dave Hoppmann, the 1961 individual offense leader, and his Iowa State Cyclones play Drake. Villanova meets neighboring West Chester State College.

In other games, The Citadel is at Florida State, Presbyterian visits Furman and East Carolina goes to the University of Richmond, all for night games in the South; Hardin-Simmons faces Tulsa and Louisville is at Wichita in night games. On the West Coast, Wyoming meets Montana State, Brigham Young, winless in 10 games in 1961, opens against University of Pacific and New Mexico State and New Mexico tangle.

Detroit fight promoter Julius Piazza is promoting the live telecast of the Patterson-Liston fight in Flint's Atwood Stadium Tuesday night September 25th.

* * *

Mike Brown, of Ferndale, who received the "Outstanding Player Award" of Oakland County in 1960, has returned to the University of Iowa after sitting out a semester.

* * *

A group of Ontario promoters are planning a race track in Windsor and said it would offer 98 days of Harness racing each season. It will open next Fall.

* * *

Veterans Norm Ullman and Vic Stasiuk signed their 1962-63 contracts with the Detroit Red Wings yesterday.

Quarterback Earl Morrall rejoined the Lions' squad Thursday after his stay in the hospital because of the removal of part of his toe. He had just a slight limp as he got his passing arm in shape.

Prep Gridders Warned About 'Dirty' Play

By The Associated Press

With a stern warning to cut out the rough stuff and make the game safer, football starts tonight for most of Michigan's high schools.

* * *

The warning against overstrenuous and dirty play came from the Michigan High School Athletic Association director Charles E. Forsythe.

The official said referees, umpires, and linesmen also were told to guard against rough play by handing out more penalties in the interest of player safety.

American League Has Homer Edge Over NL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Partly because it had power in depth, the National League was favored in both All-Star games this year.

But, in the only park in which both leagues have played regularly this season, the American League holds a decisive edge in home run hitting.

In 75 National League games played by the Dodgers in their new stadium, there have been 81 homers.

SIX MORE

In 73 American League games played by the Angels in the same park, there have been 87 homers —a half dozen more than the National Leaguers have hit in two more games.

Moreover, latest weekly statistics show that, in all parks, National Leaguers had hit 1,298 homers this year while American 100 more.

Of course, these statistics are Leaguers had hit 1,390 — almost likely to prolong more debates than they settle. While American Leaguers argue that the figures clearly establish their power-hitting superiority, National Leaguers will contend they prove only that the American League has weaker pitching.

One incontestable finding is that the home run has become a much scarcer commodity in Los Angeles since both teams moved into Chavez Ravine. Last year, at tiny Wrigley Field, American League batters hit 248 homers—more than had ever before been hit in one season at one park. And, over at the Coliseum, National Leaguers hit 192. The total of 440 is about 2½ times the number that will be hit by both leagues this year at Chavez Ravine.

There was only one home run at the Ravine Thursday as the Angels all but fell from contention by losing 5-4 to Kansas City. The loss dropped the Angels from second to third place and left them 5½ games behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Trapper Harvest

ST. PAUL — Minnesota trappers in one year took 83,368 muskrats, 42,200 mink and 19,400 beavers among 250,000 fur bearers.

Title Fight Foes Met One Common Rival

By AP Newsfeatures

On the strength of one fight, held two years ago last April in Houston, Charles (Sonny) Liston is being favored to dethrone Floyd Patterson as world's heavyweight boxing champion.

★ ★ ★

When Liston flattened Roy (Cut 'n Shoot) Harris in one round it marked the only time that Liston and Patterson had met and conquered a common rival.

Almost two years earlier — Aug. 18, 1958—Patterson stopped Harris but it took him 12 rounds.

Of course, Liston is regarded as a harder puncher than Patterson. He will also outscale the champion in their Sept. 25 bout in Chicago.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

The advantage in weight probably will be about 17 pounds, with Liston at 212 and Patterson at 195.

Liston, say the experts, has fought more punchers than Patterson. The same lads recall that Patterson has been floored by almost everybody he has fought.

Liston beat Marshall in two subsequent bouts. He stopped him in six rounds in St. Louis in 1955 and won a 10-round decision in Pittsburgh in 1956.

Patterson has lost two bouts. He lost an eight-round decision to Joey Maxim in Brooklyn in 1954 and never fought him again.

He was knocked out once, by Ingemar Johansson in 1959. But in return bouts Patterson flattened Johanssen in five rounds in the Polo Grounds in 1960 and in six rounds in Miami Beach in 1961.

★ ★ ★

Patterson was guided to the title by Cus D'Amato, a manager who always had his fighter's best interests at heart.

Liston undoubtedly fought the tougher fighters, but he may not have fought one who has shown the desire of a Patterson.

Fresh in the minds of many is Patterson's comeback to regain the crown from Sweden's Ingo and then his victory in the third bout, one that could have gone either way.

Injuries, Heat, Rain Hit State College 11s

Starting guard George Azar broke a bone in his left foot during a Wednesday scrimmage and will be sidelined three to four weeks. Azar played on the foot despite the injury, it was revealed yesterday.

Dick Proebstle, junior reserve quarterback, suffered a kidney contusion, a recurrence of an earlier rib injury, and was hospitalized for three to four days. He is expected to be out of contact work for several weeks.

Azar and Proebstle both will miss the Spartan football opener at Stanford, Sept. 29.

To make matters worst, yesterday's storm rained out MSU's afternoon workout.

ONE PRACTICE

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Michigan coach Bump Elliott planned to hold his last morning workout today after rain and wind drove his Wolverine gridders off the practice field yesterday.

Starting Monday, Elliott said, Michigan will begin one-a-day sessions.

HEAT CASUALTIES

DETROIT (UPI) — With temperatures in the 80s, two members of the Wayne State University football squad were put out of action by the heat Thursday.

Both players were sent to Harper Hospital for observation.

Wisconsin Sailor 1st in Eight-Race Series

NEWPORT, Calif. (AP)—Jim Payton of the Mendota Yacht Club, Madison, Wis., won the Clifford D. Mallory Trophy, symbolic of the men's North American sailing championship, Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Wisconsin Lakes sailor captured one of yachting's most coveted prizes by scoring 43¼ points in the eight-race series held at the Balboa Yacht Club. His score card showed only one victory, four seconds, two sixths and an eighth place.

Shirley Garms Top Bowler

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Mrs. Shirley Garms of Palatine, Ill., located just outside Chicago, has won the coveted Bowler of the Year title for the second successive year, it was announced Friday by Hank Sayrs, secretary of the Bowling Writers' Association of America, which makes the choice.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Garms, who won the Bowling Proprietors' Association National All-Star title, picked up 769 points and was named on all ballots cast except one.

She received 65 first place votes and nine second place indications.

Runnerup was Joy Abel, Chicago, with 593 votes, while Mrs. Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids, Mich., who had been named Bowler of the Year nine previous times, was third with 585 votes.

Marge Merrick, Columbus, Ohio, was fourth with 552 votes; LaVerne Carter of St. Louis, whose husband, Don, was named male Bowler of the Year, was fifth with 467 votes.

Rounding out the top ten were: 6. Ruby Chong, Oakland, Calif., 300; 7. Donna Zimmerman, Akron, Ohio, 182; 8. Harriet Ebbets, Freeport, N.Y., 138; 9. Sylvia Wene, Philadelphia, 106; and 10. Olga Gloor, Chicago, 102.

Anita Cantaline of Detroit was 13th in the voting with 63 points. Pat McBride, Grand Rapids, totaled 23 and Helen Shablis of Detroit garnered 3.

Giants Lose Minus Willie

By The Associated Press

From the time Willie Mays started running out from under his baseball cap on a fulltime basis eight years ago, the Giants never have won a game in which the name Mays did not appear in the line-up.

They met with similar success Thursday nght.

While Willie lay in a hospital bed undergoing tests to determine the cause of his sudden collapse in Wednesday's game, Cincinnati dealt San Francisco's National League pennant hopes a stiff jolt as Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter for a 7-2 vicory over the Giants.

TWO BEHIND

The defeat dropped the second-place Giants two games behind the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers, who were not scheduled. Both teams have 15 games remaining to play. The defending champion Reds, in third place five games back, have 13 games left.

The Mays case, meanwhile, remained somewhat of a mystery.

The slugging San Franciscan, the major league home run leader with 43, blacked out in the third inning of the opener of the two-game series, which represented the last meeting between any of the contenders battling for the NL flag.

Taken to a hospital for observation, Mays wanted to leave Thursday, but stayed on for further tests.

FEELING FINE

Manager Al Dark said there was no apparent indication of what felled Mays. Cincinnati team physician Dr. George Ballow said it was apparently a case of acute indigestion. Giants Vice President Chub Feeney said, "He's feeling fine, but the doctors want him to stay in the hospital."

The 31-year-old center fielder, who has missed only about 15 games since he came out of the Army in 1954 and joined the Giants on a full-time basis, was scheduled to fly from Cincinnati for tonight's game at Pittsburgh, after the tests were concluded.

At the same time Mays' outlook seemed to be brightening, the Dodgers also received good news about ailing 24-game winner Don Drysdale, who injured a rib Monday night in a game against Chicago. Manager Walt Alston said Drysdale would pitch Saturday.

One other game was scheduled in the NL Thursday. Philadelphia beat Warren Spahn and Milwaukee 2-1 on John Callison's ninth inning homer.

In the American League, Minnesota climbed back into second place by beating the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City dropped the Los Angeles Angels to third with a 5-4 victory, Baltimore whipped Washington 7-1 and Detroit walloped Boston 14-6 in the opener of a doubleheader. The second game was canceled due to rain. First-place New York and Cleveland were idle.

EASED UP

O'Toole (16-13) almost was untouchable against the Giants until he had a big enough lead to let up a bit. He was tagged for a double by Harvey Kuenn in the first inning and then didn't allow San Francisco another hit until the eighth. By that time the Reds were leading 4-0.

Cincinnati scored twice in the second inning when Frank Robinson doubled and Wally Post homered off Mike McCormick (5-4). The Robinson-Post combination also had started the Reds rolling in their first game triumph by hitting consecutive homers in the first inning.

The Reds made it 4-0 in the fifth when singles by Eddie Kasko and Don Blasingame chased McCormick. Don Larsen came in and gave up a single to Leo Cardenas that filled the bases. Robinson bounced one to second baseman Jim Davenport, who fired home for the force out at the plate, but first baseman Orlando Cepeda muffed the throw from catcher John Orsino on an attempt to double Robinson, and two runs scored.

In the eighth, Kuenn's two-run single closed the gap to 4-2, but the Reds came up with three in their half to put it out of reach.

Contenders Not Very Steady

Yankee Boss Proving Good Prophet

By The Associated Press

They laughed when Ralph Houk sat back and said: "What, me worry?"

While his New York Yankees were moving sluggishly along in the American League race the past few weeks, in the lead but struggling to stay there against the challenges of the Los Angeles Angels and Minnesota Twins,

★ ★ ★

"I'm not worried. Things will straighten out. They haven't caught us yet."

As the Yanks took Thursday off, the Twins and Angels played another session of leap frog with second place. Minnesota took over the runner-up spot by scoring a 5-1 victory over Chicago while Los Angeles was being trimmed by Kansas City 5-4.

NEED COMEBACK

But even though the Twins' first victory in their last five games edged them up a bit, they're still five games behind the Yankees, compared to a 2½-game deficit just four days ago. And the Angels, four games out and rolling only three days ago, now are 5½ behind.

That leaves both with a lot of ground to make up in an awfully short time—and it makes Houk look pretty good as a non-worrier.

Also in the AL, Baltimore overwhelmed Washington 7-1 and Detroit bombed Boston 14-6 in the opening game of their doubleheader, with the second game—the last meeting scheduled between the two clubs this year—canceled because of rain after 2½ innings. Cleveland was idle along with the Yankees.

Jack Kralick was a winning pitcher for the first time since his no-hitter over Kansas City on Aug. 26 as the Twins ended the White Sox' five-game winning string. The left-hander turned in an eight-hitter, did not walk a man and struck out six. Minnesota nicked John Buzhardt for four runs in the first three innings, one scoring on George Banks' sacrifice fly, another on Zoilo Versalles' triple and two on Bob Allison's bases-loaded single.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, in a move to stir his club out of its dip, rested young third base star Rich Rollins for the first time this year and benched Harmon Killebrew, the slumping slugger.

A two-run rally in the eighth inning brought the Athletics their victory over the Angels, with Gino Cimoli's third hit of the day knocking in the clincher. The issue see-sawed through the first five innings, with first Kansas City, then Los Angeles in front. Trailing4-3 with two out in the eighth, the A's broke through against Don Lee when Wayne Causey walked, rookie John Wojcik sent him home with a pinch double, and Cimoli followed with a single. Dave Wickersham was the winner.

THREE-RUN HOMER

Cimoli also hit an earlier run-scoring single and had a triple, while Angel rookie Jim Fregosi smacked a three-run homer.

Ex-Lion Has 15 Years of Scars

Pro Football Still Wonderful for Layne

PITTSBURGH (NEA) — Bobby Layne is 35 years old and has logged more National Football Leage playing time than any man still active in the violent world of the pros.

Layne's 15th season is coming up. He has the scars to show for it—a broken leg, a head concussion, hematoma — and all the thrills of accomplishment a man could ask for.

Layne doesn't need money, with bowling alleys in Big Springs, Tex., a lovely home in Lubbock and a scale of living that carts him around to places like Aspen, Colo., and Las Vegas, Nev.

His younger son, Allan, 9, takes it hard when Pop packs his gear and goes off to play a game designed for youth.

Layne came to camp in terrific shape, under 200 for the first time in a decade. But his hold on a job is tenuous.

The Pittsburgh Steelers have another quarterback, Ed Brown, also experienced, a little younger, less bruised. Buddy Parker, the coach, says, "Bobby has been throwing lousy."

★ ★ ★

Layne has gained more yards than any passer in history. Why not let it rest there? Why play? Let Layne tell you:

"It's just like a doctor at 35 who's been practicing medicine. You don't expect him to quit. It's something I like.

"I don't worry about getting hurt. You can walk across the street and get run over. I know it can't go on forever. Charley Conerly finally quit.

I think it got to where Charley found it too tough to keep going.

"I look forward to training. You gripe and moan, but still you like it. It's different from anything you do the rest of the year.

It's like you're taking a long fishing trip, with a bunch of guys you like. I look forward to seeing Ernie Stautner (who is 37 and has played 13 years."

Layne twice thought of retiring. "There were two times I thought of quitting. One was after I broke my leg in 1957, which led to my trade from Detroit to Pittsburgh. The other was when the Chicago Bears sent me to the New York Bulldogs in 1949.

"But I never lost my enthusiasm. A lot of people think football never changes, that you should lose interest. It changes like the automobile changes.

AILING IN '61-2

"When it ceases to be fun, I'll quit. You got to enjoy it. Of course, you also have to play. I was hurt most of last year and missed seven games because I tried to come back too early after getting that hematoma (a blood tumor) on my left side. I couldn't throw.

"Now they ask me if I have a bad arm.

"You can only have a bad ram when you don't do well."

ABC Tourney Under Way After Rain

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—First round action in the American Baseball Congress National finals was scheduled to begin this afternoon.

The pairings were:

Louisville, Ky., vs. Savannah, Ga., 3:15 p.m.

East Chicago, Ind., vs. Portland, Ore., 5:30 p.m.

Battle Creek, Mich., vs. Houston, Tex., 7:45 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Rain and wet grounds forced postponement of the ABC Great Lakes regional final yesterday between East Chicago and Louisville. Both teams had qualified for the national tournament regardless of the outcome of their game and were scheduled to play for the regional trophy after today's games.

Ring Size Determined

CHICAGO (AP) — Champion Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston will fight for the heavyweight title Sept. 25 in a 22-foot ring.

★ ★ ★

The size of the ring to be used for the bout in Comiskey Park was announced Wednesday by Al Bolan, executive vice president of Championship Sports Inc., which is handling the arrangements.

Patterson preferred a 24-foot ring and Liston favored an 18-foot ring.

Michigan's Hill Seattle Leader

Shoots 64 in Rain; 20 Others Beat Par Opening Day

In Thursday's opening round, played on rain-soaked Broadmoor Golf Course, Hill set his bad-weather sights on the lead and captured it with a 6-under-par 64.

THREE UNDER

Fifteen scored 67, 3-under the 34-36—70 par. Heading that group was Jack Nicklaus, National Open and World Series champ. Two other top golfers, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, finished at 68 and 70, respectively.

★ ★ ★

No. 2 Layout Stretches 7,051 Yards

U.S. Amateur Course Tough

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—The nation Amateur Golf Tournament will open Monday on a course the equal of any that has played host to its 61 predecessors.

That's the opinion of Joe Dey, executive director of the United States Golf Association.

★ ★ ★

Dey, here to oversee final preparations for the tournament at the Pinehurst County Club said today its condition and fitness and a true championship test never has been exceeded.

LONGEST COURSE

In addition, at 7,051 yards, the No. 2 course is the longest the amateurs ever have had to play.

But it's not mere yardage that makes old No. 2 the formidable but fair test of a golfer's game.

Dey pointed out that the course puts a premium on position for every shot. During the four months it was closed this summer various alterations were made. Most of the changes will penalize the power hitters who are not accurate.

★ ★ ★

The length of the course may handicap some of the lesser hitters and much of the yardage is wrapped up on long par fours. By the same token, such hitters may avoid trouble which the long belters may encounter, though it evens up.

Accuracy and length are rewarded but trouble looms for the spray shooter who hits first and thinks later.

LAYOUT CHANGED

Addition of bunkers, narrowing of some fairways and construction of new tees have combined to make the course more than just a long hitter's paradise.

The fairways are lush and offer very little roll. Tee yardage will have to be earned in flight.

Texan Dud Wysong, runner-up last year to Jack Nicklaus, now a professional, summed up the course condition in one word—"super." He added a bit ruefully, "if I could just improve my putting I'd be all right.

Another who was high in praise of the course was Charlie Coe, the slender Oklahoman who has won the tournament twice. He shot a 1-under-par 71 Thursday, the first time he ever had played the course.

TOP CONTENDER

While the players were testing the course on a sweltering hot 90-degree day, tournament officials busied themselves with menial tasks. Ten miles of bright yellow rope, which will restrain the gallery, were strewn about the course, reinforced by 2,000 stakes. Trees and bushes were hacked away from several holes to help spectators get a better view of the play.

Two hundred men are in the field which will play 72 first round matches Monday. The winners will join 56 men who received first round byes in Tuesday's second round. Two rounds will follow on Wednesday and Thursday, with Friday's semifinals and Saturday's finals at 36 holes.

Favor Weatherly Over Aussie Boat

NEWPORT, R.I., (AP) — The overwhelmingly favored American 12-meter yacht Weatherly and her 11-man crew will cross the starting line at 11:10 a.m. EST Saturday to begin defense of the America's Cup against the Australian challenger Gretel.

President Kennedy will be among the spectators on fleet of 1,500 vessels of all sizes jamming the waters off this famous New England seaport and social resort as the two racing sloops meet in the 18th defense of an American sporting monopoly 111 years old.

An estimated $50 millions has been spent since 1851 in the competition for the bottomess silver pitcher which is the symbol of international big-boat racing supremacy. America won the first test and never has lost.

NINE MILES OUT

Weatherly, 66 feet over-all and 46 feet on the waterline, and Gretel, 69 feet over-all and 45 feet on the waterline, will be sent on their way by the committee boat of the New York Yacht Club in the Atlantic nine miles off the Rhode Island coast.

This first race of a best-four-of-seven series will be on a two-legged windward-leeward course, with the boats to go twice around for a total of 24 nautical miles. After a day's rest Sunday, the two sloops will go to the mark on Monday for a race once around a triangular course of eight miles to a leg. Odd-numbered races will be windward-leeward and even-numbered races will be on the triangular course.

The Australian boat is the product of a syndicate formed by Sir Frank Packer, Australian publisher and business magnate.

Australian inexperience in the 12-meter class is testified to by the fact that Gretel's sails carry the number Ka1, signifying that she is the first built in that country, while Weatherly's number is US17.

LACK EXPERIENCE

The lack of experience of the Aussies has become painfully apparent here since they arrived on July 23. In two chance encounters, one in light air in August and a brush to windward last week, the American defender walked away from the Australian boat.

In addition, the Australians have continued to make relatively major changes on Gretel at a time when they should have been tuning her up at sea.

★ ★ ★

This past week a series of misfortunes plagued the challenger. On Tuesday afternoon, her boom broke and as a result her training schedule during the crucial final week was thrown out of gear. Thursday, shortly before Gretel came out of the water for the last time before the opening gun, her crew still was drilling holes on her deck to rearrange cleats which had proven unsatisfactory.

The Australians got another scare Thursday night when Gretel slipped on her cradle while being hauled onto the ways and lurched forward. But the expensive sloop did not list and instead dipped into the water. An intensive check showed no damage.

CUP COURSES — Saturday's first race off Newport, R.I., for the America's Cup is to be twice-around on a windward-leeward course, a total of 24 nautical miles. The second course is due to be triangular, eight miles to the side. Alternate courses will be used during the best of seven races.

Bobby Layne Benched in 'Homecoming'

Steelers Keyed After Big Victory Over Colts Last Weekend

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Winning can sometimes be cruel.

It can even be more bitter when the friendship of two long time friends is dependent on winning or losing. But this is the way it is in professional athletics and the best example will be seen Sunday at Tiger Stadium when the Pittsburgh Steelers and Detroit Lions open the 1962 NFL campaign.

For quarterback Bobby Layne and coach Buddy Parker, the same stadium was the scene of a great era in pro football. Since 1950 they became very close friends even during the last four years in a losing cause at Pittsburgh.

Now Layne returns to the field of his greatest triumphs, but he will be sitting on the bench on the orders of his friend and coach Parker.

BROWN TO START

Ed Brown, acquired from the Chicago Bears in a pre-season trade, was given the nod by Parker to start at quarterback. This is a bitter pill for Layne, who in his 15th season of pro ball is pushing aside most of Sammy Baugh's passing records.

One of the big records Layne needs to get is the all time pass completion record and he only needs to hit on 12 aerials to pass Baugh who had 16 years in pro ball.

It would seem appropriate that Layne attain this record in Detroit, but Parker isn't concerned with records, he wants to win and he feels that Brown will do better against the Lions.

The Steelers whipped the Colts in their final exhibition game, 20-9, and finished with a 2-3 record. But Parker has always been less concerned about pre-season records despite his strong love for winning.

Sunday he starts playing for keeps and with one of the best running units he has had while in Pittsburgh he is sure to pull out all stops.

The great All-America fullback from Ohio State Bob Ferguson, along with speedy Joe Womack from Los Angeles State will be a strong test for the Lions' defense.

The Lions suddenly find themselves worried over the quarterback situation with Earl Morrall not completely healed after losing part of his toe and Milt Plum still wearing tape around his thumb and throwing hand. He jammed the thumb in the exhibition against the Cardinals and it swelled.

A crowd of 45,000 is expected for the game Sunday with kickoff slated for 1:30 p.m.

BOWLING

Three more of the top area men's bowling leagues have got under way in the new season with some big scores opening night.

Little Martel paced Joe Puertas' team and the entire league with a 279 game and 650 series.

PROPRIETOR HOT

Co-owner Sam Perna hit 254-623, Charles Palaian and Howard Earnest 631 each, Puertas 220-612 and Ed Gibbs 258-633. Palain's big game was a 233, Earnest was steady with 223-202-206.

There were 49 200s and nine series over 600 at West Side.

Classic play at Huron Bowl started with a big bang featuring a 711 by Ronnie Rothbarth. He had games of 210-236-265.

Eight others had 600 series.

Dick Carmichael rolled 233-258 in 685. Arley Sheffer had 215-256-661, Bud Mills 236-217-258—667, Ken Willhite 202-222-214 — 638, 'Skin' Keith 249-202 in 626 and Garl Brown 267-608.

ROLLS 732

Hugh Kennedy was the big gun there among the individuals with a 732 on 254-235-243.

Lee Putty hit 251-624, Otis Lackey 613, Jim Rutkowski 627, Bill Diedrich 631 and Jack Tinkerton 254-628.

CASTLES LEAD

Earl Castle's team took over 1st place in the Greater Pontiac All Star Classic at 300 last night by sweeping three games to remain the loop's only unbeaten team. Castle fired 627 and Bill Johns 608. Stan Kurzman's team had the only other sweep. A season high of 1,859 was rolled by Ed Angles' quintet featuring a 670 by Paul Horie and V. Spencer with 629.

Castle had high game of 218-222, Johnson 224-214, Horie 236-200-234, Spencer 238-209 and Kurzman 225.

Don Myers hit 209-225-204—638, Bill Sweeney had 645 on 223-224-198, Ken Pardon 213-235 in 630, Chico Chicovsky and Karl Van DeMoortell 604. Chicovsky had a 224 game and Karl 229.

Also helping put together a total of 38 200 games were Fred Menke with 241, Bill Smith 234 and Don Pennell 222.

Another major league in the formation stages is a traveling league. A small summer loop was very successful and caused considerable interest around the area.

All establishments are invited to have representatives at an organization meeting Sunday at 3 p.m. at West Side.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT — Manager Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels tells plate umpire Sam Carrigan that Dan Pfister of Kansas City isn't pitching according to the rules. Rigney lost the debate and the Angels lost the game, 5-4.

Long Beach 'The Chiefs'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Long Beach franchise in the American Basketball League will be known as the Chiefs and Al Brightman has been named coach for the 1962-63 season.

Movie Stars' Kids Just Hams Off the Old Hock

By DORIS KLEIN
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When producer Barry Ashton was casting around for a new night club revue last spring, he hit on the idea of using movie stars' kids.

★ ★ ★

Ashton's revue also stars 17-year-old Mickey Rooney Jr., a blond six-footer who plays the guitar and sings; Carol Costello, 22, a peppy pop singer whose father was the late comedian Lou Costello; Stephanie Foster, 22, Preston Foster's operatic-singing child; and Beverly Wills, 29, comedienne like her late mother, Joan Davis. Young Lloyd, 29, is an actor and singer.

The show has been playing to substantial audiences since opening night. Ashton has it booked on a national tour and is considering a television special.

"We found there were so many other kids around, we may start another troupe," Ashton said.

SING AND DANCE

"We approached Frank Sinatra Jr., but he wanted to do other things. You can't even touch Jack Jones, Allan Jones' boy. He's so busy with his records.

"Maureen O'Hara has a beautiful daughter, Bronwyn, who sings. But Maureen said she wanted the girl to get a little more training.

★ ★ ★

"And Harpo Marx' son, Bill Marx, is a helluva musician. He has a combo."

Were there objections from the parents?

"Mickey Jr.'s mother objected a little at first," said Barry. "It was his first try at show business and she was worried. But Mickey Sr. turned up at rehearsals.

"Preston Foster's seen the show seven times. On opening night, Harold Lloyd was there. He said it was his first trip to downtown Los Angeles in eight years.". Lloyd lives in suburban Beverly Hills.

As Caro Costello put it:

CAN I HELP?

"I used to make believe I was not interested in show business and my father would say, 'that's fine.' But I remember the time I was leaving the house for a TV show and my dad came up sort of shyly and asked, 'Can I help you with your lines?' "

"There's no such thing as coaching," says the Mick. "I want him to have the best of luck. But he's got to work hard and do it on his own."

Added Mrs. Preston Foster, herself a folk singer: "Stephanie's had good training. She's toured with us and she knows we're with her all the way."

The youngsters have had varying lengths of experience. Beverly went on the stage with Joan Davis at the age of 5 and has played on radio and in the movies and television since.

"He was a little stiff at first," said Ashton. "But then he started watching himself in the mirror at the back of the room. And pretty soon, he was winking at the audience and giving it the ol' bizazz."

Air Travelers in No Danger

Transport Unit Says Passengers Safe From N-Test Fallout

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Aircraft passengers are in no danger from radioactive fallout from nuclear tests in the atmosphere, the medical committee of the International Air Transport Association said today.

★ ★ ★

The committee told the international conference that high-flying jet aircraft have been systematically monitored for radioactivity and, in all cases where radioactive traces were found, the findings were well within acceptable limits.

The committee said a special subcommittee has started to examine the medical problems which might be involved if supersonic transport takes passengers into altitudes of up to 80,000 feet.

HUMAN ADAPTATION

The committee said its concerns will include human adaptation to cabin pressures and possible cosmic ray incidents.

While supersonic pilots and astronauts had accumulated much flying experience at these altitudes without apparent harm, it said, there is a wide gap between the physiological conditions which were acceptable to these men and those which airline passengers had a right to expect.

Studies of fatigue experienced by pilots and crews of jet aircraft, the committee said, have indicated that piloting jets is not more tiring than handling the older-type piston engines.

While complaints of fatigue increased during the adaptation to a new type of aircraft, it said, they fell off as pilots became familiar with the equipment.

GOP Candidates Meet Today With Committee

LANSING (AP) — Members of the Republican party's slate of candidates for state office will meet here today with the GOP State Central Committee.

Republican State Chairman George M. Van Peursem said the state central committee will hold its regular quarterly meeting.

The candidates, headed by gubernatorial candidate George Romney, will attend a briefing session on campaign issues.

Songwriter-Exec Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Carl G. Lampl, 63, women's clothing executive and songwriter, died Wednesday. Lampl and two brothers found Lampl Fashions, Inc., makers of women's knitwear and sportswear. He has published hundreds of popular songs.

Ice Wall Falls, Kills 3

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Three Austrian gendarmes died Thursday during an alpine exercise when an ice wall crashed down and buried them, gendarmerie headquarters reported.

Entomologists report that the presence of moths and carpet beetles generally is not noticeable until the harm is done.

Is SEATO Weakling of the Free World?

By TOM A. CULLEN

BANGKOK, Thailand (NEA) — Red China calls it a "paper tiger," but even friendly nations have criticized the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization as being powerless to act in the event of a Far East showdown. The critics' chief arguments are:

1. Unlike its European cousin NATO, SEATO has no standing army of its own, no uniformity of weapons, no unity of command. Its annual budget is less than the cost of a single fighter plane.

2. Only three of the eight SEATO members — Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines — can, by the broadest stretch of the imagination, be called Asian nations.

Of the other five members — the United States, France, Britain, Australia and New Zealand — some are still tarred in Asian eyes with the brush of colonialism.

★ ★ ★

3. The area which it seeks to shield from Communist aggression is so vast that SEATO could run its legs off in attempting to put out the brush fires which the wily Communists might start.

★ ★ ★

4. But even its freedom to act as a fire fighter is seriously limited. SEATO is an alliance for defensive purposes only, so it was powerless to act in the case of Communist subversion in Laos.

It was only in May when that subversion threatened to spill over the border into Thailand that the United States landed 5,000 Marines in Thailand and Britain, Australia and New Zealand sent token forces.

So run the criticisms.

★ ★ ★

To inquire into the truth of these criticisms I called on the Secretary General of SEATO, which has its world headquarters in Bangkok.

SEATO headquarters are in a rambling, whitewashed building with primitive air conditioning and the look of a rather seedy hotel.

A new building has been authorized but is being held up by lack of agreement over the design. (Rumor has it that the design submitted by a Thai architect looks like a Buddhist temple.)

Here each of the eight member governments has a representative of ambassadorial rank, who delegates for his foreign minister. The foreign ministers, themselves, meet once a year to set policy.

And here I found Pote Sarasin, 56, former Thai ambassador to the United States, who has served as SEATO's Secretary General since 1956.

'EXPECT TOO MUCH'

"The trouble is that too many people expect too much from SEATO," Sarasin, a small, genial man with thinning hair, declared. "It was never meant to solve all problems."

★ ★ ★

Sarasin admits that SEATO was powerless to act in Laos to stop internal subversion. On the other hand, he asserts SEATO is a major deterrent to Communist China.

"The Chinese know that if they make an aggressive move they will have to deal with the combined might of the SEATO nations."

The Secretary General scoffs at the idea that SEATO is handicapped by the lack of a standing army. "What would we do with one if we had it?" he asks. "SEATO covers such a wide area that 10 or 20 divisions could easily get lost, or worse still, find themselves at the wrong place at the right time."

The treaty organization does maintain a Military Planning Office here, staffed by military officers from the eight nations whose job is contingency planning and working out training exercises.

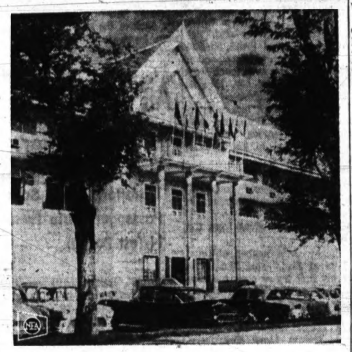
Twenty-two of these military exercises have been held to date, the largest being Tulungan (meaning "mutual assistance") which was held in the Philippines last March.

Tulungan, which was jointly sponsored by the U.S. and the Republic of the Philippines, involved an amphibious landing and ground operations against "enemy" guerrillas.

Taking part were 78 ships, 37,000 military personnel and over 400 military aircraft.

Marines of the Okinawa-baged 3rd Marine Division who took part in Tulungan were particularly proud of the vertical air envelopment techniques which they displayed.

Vertical assault, which has been the specialty of recent SEATO exercises, is designed to exploit the speed and flexibility of the helicopter and techniques of outflanking beach defenses.



HEADQUARTERS — Said to look like a rather seedy hotel, this is the building that houses the SEATO headquarters. A new building has been authorized but a dispute over design has held up construction.

Sets Up 'Hart Fund' to Pay Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, convinced that the government doesn't pay its lawmakers enough, has set up a "Hart Michigan fund" to help meet his expenses as a senator.

★ ★ ★

Announcing the fund at a news conference yesterday, the Michigan Democrat emphasized he would not use the fund in campaigning for re-election.

Contributions are limited to $100 from any person in any one year, Hart said.

"We'll avoid contributions or return them if we become aware it's wrong money," he said. "There's no guarantee some such funds won't get in.

"But I think this fund will reduce the money problem to a minimum — although there'll always be a problem, and I expect to continue meeting some of my senatorial expenses out of my own pocket."

Besides his $22,500 senatorial salary, Hart receives an $1,800 annual stationery allowance, which he said is exhausted in four or five months, and an allowance of about $250 a month on telephone calls, which he usually exceeds. He gets mileage expenses to cover two roundtrips to Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Hart estimates he now spends $5,000 to $6,000 a year out of his private finances to meet expenses of traveling, phones, mailing, television and radio broadcasts and other necessities of political life.

★ ★ ★

The fund will be under the care of Detroit accountant Richard H. Austin, former Sen. Prentiss M. Brown and Charles H. Hewitt, executive vice president of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co.

★ ★ ★

Money contributed may also be used to pay expenses of Hart's aides when they are required to return to Michigan on Senate business, Hart said.

State Economic Group Slates Conferences

LANSING (AP) — A 12-member joint interim legislative committee on economic growth has scheduled two days of conferences and briefings for Sept. 21-22 in Detroit, Dearborn and Toledo.

★ ★ ★

The meetings include a session at the U.S. Army Mobility Command headquarters in Detroit where the lawmakers will learn of opportunities available for bolstering the state's economy through the U.S. defense procurement program.

Meeting in Oxford to Hear Psychologist

A psychologist from Dayton, Ohio, will explain how memory training and personality development are applied to retail selling at a Monday meeting of the Michigan Retail Hardware Association in Oxford.

★ ★ ★

The 7 p.m. meeting and dinner will be held at the Oxford Veterans Building, according to Ralph Van Wagoner, chairman. It will be open to Oakland County retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers and their employes.

Author Says Fear, Hatred Replace Law in South Africa

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

By RICHARD K. KASISCHKE

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Author Alan Paton says South Africa is so infected by fear and hatred that "We no longer live under the rule of law here."

Paton, best known abroad for his 1948 novel "Cry, the Beloved Country," was interviewed at his home at Kloof, in the hills 15 miles outside Durban.

Surveying the situation under Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd whose government now seems stronger than ever, Paton said: "Everything here is now run in the interests of the Afrikaner people—the white people. The hallowed tradition of justice—impartiality—is gone here. Now the biggest crime is to be a 'traitor to the Afrikaner people' and that is interpreted by some as treason to law and order.

CHARGE NO JOKE

"If you are not 100 per cent in favor of apartheid (racial separation), then you are counted as 'assisting the spread of communism.' And if anybody suggests any change in the situation here he's virtually a traitor to the state. The new charge of 'assisting in the spread of communism' is no joke, as many people will learn."

Paton is barred from traveling abroad. The Verwoerd government canceled his passport in December 1960 on the charge that he gave "aid and comfort to South Africa's enemies" in his speeches in the United States and elsewhere.

Despite recent interrogations by political police, Paton continues active as a writer and also a politician. He is president of the small but vocal Multiracial Liberal Party. It has no representation in Parliament.

So far he has escaped the overt restraints of the South African government's new antisabotage law. But Paton says he believes his telephone is tapped. Some of his mail to overseas people gets strangely lost. Transatlantic telephone calls to his home don't seem to come through lately.

He expects to be put under some kind of house arrest, which would cripple his activities but still leave him far better off than 102 persons on the Justice Ministry's list of banned and silenced South Africans. These people are forbidden to attend gatherings. Their statements and writings cannot be published in South Africa. Paton can go to meetings, but he remarks: "The police can always ban meetings—as they do—on the claim they might provoke public disorder. So, as increasingly happens, there's no meeting to attend."

STOCKY, GRAYING

Paton is stocky and graying at 59. He lives with his wife and his son Jonathan (returned from his studies in Oxford).

"I can't bluff myself that I've got it hard yet," he says. "I'm fortunate that most of my income comes from abroad and as long as that continues it's OK. Many here suffer much more. They've sacrificed their business and personal careers in pursuit of political beliefs that run afoul this government. Some have had to flee to exile abroad."

Paton admits that until last year he was too optimistic about a change in South Africa's racial segregation policies.

"I'm quite certain that the color bar will be thrown out of all Africa eventually. But it will take longer than I thought. South Africa is the place where it will stay longest, and the length of that depends on the development of political stability in the rest of Africa.

"Still the most powerful force against this government here is the hatred of the people of Africa against the color bar. But this force cannot be effective if there is no political stability elsewhere in the newly self-ruled states."

The organized white political opposition to the Verwoerd government does not amount to much. One of the biggest reasons, Paton says, is that too many whites are "too fond of their possessions—their cheap servants, their golf, to risk sacrificing these for political changes that would bring at least multiracial rule here."

NO NEED TO FIGHT

"If there were real political opposition here, plus pressure from outside, the government would have to fight on two fronts," Paton observed. "As it is now, Verwoerd doesn't have to fight on any front at all.

"The nationalists play on the fear of the white electorate. Although this has been going on for 40 years the tactic has never been so successful as now. In the United States, the white pioneers overran the red Indians and the Indians neared the vanishing point. Here the blacks continue far to out-breed their overlords.

"That fear of the black man bred in the settlement days is very deep and I wouldn't say it's abating. Fear so easily turns to hatred, and you only need go to a white political meeting here to see its expression."

South Africa is white-ruled, although the blacks and other colored peoples outnumber the whites 4-1. The government's stand, as stated in an official bulletin, is this:

"Throughout their history of 310 years the peoples of South Africa have never been a single, homogeneous nation. Those of European stock (3 million) are a permanent nation in their own right. So are the several Bantu (African) peoples. The South African policy safeguards the nationhood of the whites, while also providing for the progress of the Bantu peoples to full self-government."

Paton sums up this way:

"In a situation where everybody must serve the interests of the state or be considered a traitor, old traditions of fairness and freedom suffer."

Protest Plan in Sylvan Lake

Move to Re-Evaluate Property Valuations Is Tabled Indefinitely

A standing room only crowd attended the Sylvan Lake City Council Meeting Wednesday night, most of them to protest a plan to re-evaluate assessed valuations on all Sylvan Lake properties.

Following the public hearing, councilmen voted 3-2 to table the proposed plan indefinitely. The vote, in effect, defeated the proposal.

Mayor G. Richard Jarvis and Councilman C. F. Cleveland voted in favor of the plan. Voting against it were Councilmen Edwin F. Clark, Frank Dickey and John M. Dawson.

The revaluation program would have cost an estimated $5,000, which had already been appropriated for the purpose in this years budget, said City Manager Leroy Trafton.

RETAIN SAME VALUE

There has never been a sweeping revaluation for tax purposes in the city's history. Most homes and buildings still have the same assessed value they did when built, with the exception of a few where major improvements have been built.

Trafton explained the program would "have resulted in some property values going up and others decreased."

Most of some 40 residents in attendance opposed the plan on grounds that "it would cause an over-all increase taxes."

★ ★ ★

The program would have included establishing a record file on every parcel of property with its physical description and assessed value, as well as creating a land value map of the city.

The job would have been done by a private firm.

U. of M. Will Present Eva Le Gallienne

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Eva Le Gallienne will take part in the University of Michigan professional theater program's Fall Drama Festival, the university has announced.

Miss Le Galliene, founder of the first successful repertory theater company in the United States, will appear the week of Oct. 24 in Henrik Ibsen's "Ghosts," said Robert C. Schnitzer, executive director of the program.

Suit by Drug Firm Contests State Law

LANSING (AP) — A chain store drug firm has filed suit in Ingham County Circuit Court contesting a state law requiring that drug stores be partially owned by a registered pharmacist.

The Family Drug Co. of Baltimore said it has two stores under construction in Detroit but may not be able to open them because the State Board of Pharmacy has withheld action on a license to sell drugs.

The board cited a law requiring that 25 per cent of the stock in such stores must be owned by a registered pharmacist.

The drug firm contends this is a violation of both the state and federal constitution. It said a 1940 Circuit Court ruling to this effect by Judge Leland W. Carr, now Supreme Court justice, never was appealed or reversed.

Surrenders in Tel Aviv

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Peter Lieberman, who represents himself as a former U.S. narcotics agent and who is wanted in the United States on a charge of passport fraud, surrendered today to Tel Aviv police. He seeks asylum in Israel.

Patronage Down Slightly on City Airport Flights

Outbound patronage was down only six from the 49 passengers recorded in July, said station manager J. O. Edwards, but inbound patronage was down from 61 the month before.

For comparison, there were 180 passengers on outbound flights in August last year, the best month NCA has had since beginning operations here in December 1960.

Other figures for August show NCA outbound flights carried 1,504 pounds of air mail, 197 pounds air express and 1,350 pounds air freight.

Inbound flights in August carried 478 pounds of air mail and 4,454 pounds air freight.

The air express office has been discontinued at the airport and no express has been carried on inbound flights for several months.

Comparative figures show that in July NCA outbound flights carried 986 pounds of air mail, 332 pounds air express and 1,486 air freight, while inbound flights recorded 369 pounds air mail and 2,330 pounds of air freight.

Dutch Senate Ratifies Pact With Indonesia

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) —The Dutch Senate completed parliamentary ratification Thursday of the Dutch-Indonesian agreement transferring authority over West New Guinea to Indonesia.

After Queen Juliana signs the ratification papers, they will be sent to United Nations headquarters in New York. Indonesia has ratified the agreement.

Kennedy Signs $900-Million 'Works' Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed today the $900-million public works authorization bill and promptly asked Congress for funds to put it into effect.

In signing the bill before a big delegation from Congress, Kennedy called its enactment "a significant milestone in our efforts to strengthen the economy and provide a greater measure of economic security to the unemployed."

At the same time he requested an appropriation, Kennedy issued an executive order designating Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges as coordinator of the public works program.

He authorized Hodges to issue rules, regulations and procedures to carry out the act and to allocate funds to other federal agencies involved in the program.

No Reaction to JFK's Speech

Mart Slow, Changes Narrow

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed in slow trading early this afternoon.

Price changes were extremely narrow with a few exceptions. Some of the more volatile issues showed moves of 2 to 3 points. Volume crawled along at nearly the slowest rate of the week.

Steels and drugs were mostly a little lower. Chemicals, metals, airlines and aircrafts and tobaccos were irregular. Motors and utilities had few changes. Oils ranged from unchanged to a shade higher.

The market showed no major reaction to President Kennedy's statement that Cuba offers no serious threat at present. Nor was there a marked response to signing into law of a $900 million public works authorization which he called a significant effort to strengthen the economy.

The list inched higher for a few minutes at the opening but then settled back into irregularity. There was little further movement the remainder of the morning.

IBM was ahead about 4 and Polaroid almost 2. Among the volatile issues.

McDonnell Aircraft picked up more than 2 to another 1962 high. Lockheed and United Aircraft gained fractions.

Soon after midday the trading pace speeded up a little and some gains were widened.

Corporate Bonds Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate bonds were mixed at the opening today. The market in U.S. Treasury bonds was quiet and virtually unchanged.

★ ★ ★

The government market was all but frozen by the Treasury's surprise announcement of plans to sell long term bonds at competitive bidding on a trial basis.

Dealers and other investors apparently could not immediately assess effects of the procedure, similar to that employed by municipalities and corporations in selling bonds through underwriting syndicates.

An over-the-counter dealer reported very little trading and extremely few price changes. However, one long term issue, the 4¼s of 1992, were off 4/32 to 6/32s in early trading.

Race Driver at Pontiac Mall

Accompanies Duo on 33,000-Mile Test Run at Wards Store

A. J. Shepherd, professional race car driver, veteran of the Indianapolis "500" and official observer for the United States Auto Club appeared at the Pontiac Mall Montgomery Ward & Co. Store today.

Shepherd accompanied Lou Samick and Edwin Morgan, professional test drivers, who are on the final leg of a test drive of more than 33,000 miles.

Their vehicles are being driven on Montgomery Ward tires. The visit took place at 2 p.m. and was one of several held today in the Detroit area.

★ ★ ★

The occasion marked the end of the "longest cab ride in history."

★ ★ ★

The two cabs made stops at Montgomery Ward stores in 172 cities in all 48 states during the 112 continuous days of driving in the hottest months of the year.

Grain Prices Bob Up, Down Little

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures showed little trend today in early transactions on the board of trade as prices bobbed mostly small fractions either way from previous closes.

★ ★ ★

A few contracts posted fairly broad recoveries after starting off toward weakness. Within a few minutes some rye and soybean deliveries moved up major fractions.

★ ★ ★

Trade was rather light compared with the two previous sessions. Dealers said there still apparently was a preference for long positions in some soybean contracts. The support for wheat was believed to be principally short covering.

National Product Total Confusing to Work Out

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The public has latched onto a handy yardstick it believes tell how the nation is doing. This the Gross National Product, a government statistic currently running at an annual rate of $552 billion, nicely ahead of a year ago.

By watching the quarterly changes in the GNP the average citizen figures his chances for holding or finding a job, getting a raise or taking a loss in income, expanding his business or sitting tight.

The GNP is supposed to measure, or estimate, the dollar or market value of the nation's total output of goods and services. But there are a lot of things it ignores. And there are other problems, like price inflation and population growth and changing consumer habits, that worry the statisticians.

★ ★ ★

At the annual meeting of the American Statistical Association in Minneapolis, Minn., a few days ago several economists called for improvements in the figures, especially now that so many government and business and consumer decisions are being based on the quarterly fluctuations of the GNP.

For example, the housewife who does her own work or her husband who fashions a family room aren't adding anything to the Gross National Product—at least not the way the government figures it.

FIGURES CONFUSING

But if the housewife hires a servant or the homeowner calls in a carpenter, the wages paid do add to the GNP—and hence to the appearance of economic growth—although exactly the same amount of production occurs in either case.

And if the price of goods and services changes, so does the total of the GNP, even if there's no change in the number of units actually produced.

Even without a price change, should the dollar value of the nation's total output remain the same next year as this, individuals might be less well off — because the population will have grown some more, and each one's share of the goods and services woud be smaller.

To meet the objection about price changes, the Department of Commerce now publishes a supplementary figure based on 1954 prices as a constant measure. But the public uses only the current price figure, perhaps because it's bigger.

PRODUCTION LOW

Some statisticians figure GNP on a per capita basis to take care of population growth. But others object that most of that growth has come in the number of children and retired persons, neither adding much if anything to the nation's economic prouction.

What is included in the GNP yardstock? In its September survey, out today, the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, reminds GNP fans that it is a comparatively young statistic. The first one was issued in March 1942 and it was five years later that regular quarterly publication of estimates at annual rates started, although national income estimates began in the 1930s.

GNP includes national income and goes beyond it. The national income components are compensation of employes, proprietors' income, rental income of persons, corporate profits before taxes, not interest receipts, and inventory valuation adjustment.

To this GNP adds business transfer payments other than for goods or services, indirect business tax and nontax liability, capital consumption such as investment and current surplus of government enterprises less subsidies.

Another way to reach the same final figure is to add personal consumption expenditures, gross private domestic investment, the surplus of exports over imports—if there's a deficit, you subtract instead—and government purchases of goods and services.

But neither method takes into account the busy housewife or do-it-yourselfer — or price fluctuations, or population growth.

Telegraphers-Rail Strike Hit by JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has urged concessions by union and management to settle swiftly the telegraphers strike that has halted the nine-state operation of the Chicago & North Western Railway.

Farm Belt senators said the harvest-time walkout could spell bankruptcy for some farmers if their crops aren't shipped soon.

Negotiators for the railroad and the union sit down with federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill again today.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday his latest report on settlement efforts by Acting Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz indicates progress toward agreement.

★ ★ ★

"I am hopeful of it," he said, ". . . I am hopeful that both sides will make sufficient concessions, if that is the word, to permit an agreement, because the public interest suggests an agreement is due."

MANY AFFECTED

Kennedy said an immediate settlement is important "because there are great interests, of nine states, affected; a good many farm crops which should be coming to harvest, which are in the field, and public welfare suggests that these two important groups come to a conclusion, I would hope over the weekend."

Kennedy said the government has done everything it can under the Railway Labor Act to produce a settlement.

Q. "We own our home and have $4,500 in a savings account. This year we received a legacy: 360 shares of U.S. Steel, 50 shares of National State Bank of Newark and 120 shares of New England Tel. & Tel. The market, particularly in Steel, has dropped considerably. Should we hold these shares or sell at a loss?" K. A.

A. It is always very pleasant to hear of someone else's good fortune. I don't believe you need feel the slightest concern about your bank stock or your Telephone shares.

Your U. S. Steel stock presents a problem. In the first place, it represents too large a proportion of your total financial picture. Secondly, the dividend was covered over the past year and a half by a very narrow margin, and the present rate is not entirely secure. For both reasons, I suggest you sell 260 shares of your Big Steel. With the proceeds I would buy 100 shares of Corn Products and add the remainder to my savings account.

Q. "Do you think El Paso Natural Gas merits retention in view of their heavy indebtedness and the Government's procrastination on pipe line cases? Two years ago, I bought 200 shares, and a stock split brought me 50 more. I paid $2,500 on margin, have been called on twice for additional payments, and may be called on for more. I am paying 5¼ per cent interest and question whether I should sell and take my loss or hold on for possible recovery." H. R.

A. I think that in your own mind you've decided what action to take and would like some support. I'm glad to give it to you. I see nothing in the El Paso situation that warrants retention, particularly in a margin account. I advise you to sell, close out your margin account and put the new balance into California Liquid Gas (OTC)—where I believe you have a better chance of making up your loss.

President Speaks Out Strongly

Space Firms Told Union Shop Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has called on four balking missile-space producers to adopt the union shop or bear responsibility for disastrous strikes.

The union shop, Kennedy told his news conference Thursday, is an accepted fact in American industry.

The President spoke out strongly in behalf of a White House board recommendation that the Lockheed, Convair, North American and Ryan firms require their 100,000 workers to be union members provided the workers give prior approval by a two-thirds vote.

PLACES BLAME

"If there is a strike," Kennedy said, noting that two unions involved have accepted the board's peace formula, "the responsibility would be very clear, I think, to the American people for such action."

The President's comments were in response to a question as to whether he felt that the unions, having accepted while the companies have not, were being forced into a strike against the key government suppliers of space and missile equipment and planes.

With a strike threat looming at the four firms after Sept. 22, the President also acted to head off a possible walkout this weekend at Boeing Co., another major aerospace producer with 45,000 workers. The same union shop and other issues are involved.

BOEING FACTS

Kennedy set up another three-man fact-finding board to hear the Boeing dispute and make settlement recommendations during a 60-day no-strike period running to Nov. 15. This board is due to start work at Seattle Monday.

In Seattle, Boeing said it is willing to keep the present contract running until Nov. 15 if the union will do so. Harold Gibson, international vice president of the International Association of Machinists, said the union will decide today.

In endorsing his aerospace board report favoring the union shop for the Lockheed, Convair, North American and Ryan firms, Kennedy said the required union membership proviso had been adopted years ago by most other major U.S. industries, including auto, steel and aluminum producers.

Kennedy noted that in this case the two-thirds worker ratification condition gives the workers a veto.

The President said the unions, the AFL-CIO auto workers and machinists, were agreeing to take a recommended wage increase that was "not particularly generous," and well within the administration economic guideposts.

The President was not asked, nor did he volunteer anything about the ethical argument over the union shop. The reluctant firms maintain it is wrong to require their nonunion workers to join and pay dues to unions. The labor organizations contend that since they bargain and handle grievances for all workers, all should contribute toward union support.

For Emergency Mental Cases

OK Hiring Screening Doctor

A medical doctor will be hired by Probate Court to screen the growing number of mental cases deemed to require immediate hospitalization under the county's emergency care program.

The doctor's services, at least on a half-time basis, are urgently needed to combat the mounting costs of the program, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore told the County Board of Supervisors' ways and means committee.

He asked for an appropriation in the salaries portion of the county budget, but instead was directed by the committee to retain the doctor with funds already earmarked for the program.

The committee reasoned that if hiring the doctor would reduce the county's emergency mental care costs, then the program's fund could bear the cost of hiring the doctor with no further appropriation necessary.

Judge Moore told them the county's emergency care costs already have soared to $106,067 where only $85,000 had been appropriated in the budget.

Costs of the emergency mental care program amounted to $60,676 in 1959. In 1960 they were $71,014 and $143,713 in 1961.

The program was initiated to take care of mental cases with homicidal or suicidal tendencies who can't be admitted to state hospitals because of long waiting lists.

The county agreed to pay hospitalization costs for these extreme cases who were beyond family support. The court has been committing them as patients at the Lafayette Clinic in East Detroit and footing the bill.

Medical certificates have been required by the court before assuming the responsibility, but in the words of Judge Moore such certificates are too easily obtained.

Many of the cases being ordered for commitment do not actually have homicidal or suicidal tendencies, in his opinion.

Many of them seem to be alcoholics and persons with highly aggravated family problems, for whom other solutions should be available, he said.

The medical doctor would provide the screening necessary to weed out all but the potential homicidal or suicidal cases, Judge Moore told the committee.

He agreed that the services of a psychiatrist might be preferable to those of a medical doctor, but said the cost of the former would be prohibitive even on a half-time basis.

The committee instructed the judge to retain the medical doctor on a six-month trial basis to see if he can actually reduce costs of the emergency mental care program.

Map Short Cut on Call-Up Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders mapped a short cut today to speed legislation giving President Kennedy stand-by authority to call up 150,000 military Reserves.

Passed unanimously Thursday by the Senate, the measure was expected to be approved today by the House Armed Services Committee and Monday by the House.

If that timetable is followed, it would be one of the fastest moves Congress has made in recent years on a major bill. Kennedy made his request just last Friday.

The House procedure would bar amendments that might slow down the bill's progress and force it back to the Senate. It also would require a two-thirds vote for passage, but leaders have no doubts on that score.

Kennedy was asked Thursday at his news conference why he has requested special mobilization authority since he has the power to call up a million Reserves by declaring a national emergency.

Kennedy replied there are several stages of possible crisis and "The call of a national emergency, I would say, is near the final step of a crisis. But there may be increased threats which would require us to call some reservists, particularly in the air, maybe at sea, possibly on the ground."

★ ★ ★

"We might be in a situation where the declaration of a national emergency might not be the most appropriate step, and in that case we might use the power granted to us by the Congress," he said.

The Senate approved Kennedy's request after Republicans dropped a drive to add to the bill language demanding a stronger position against Cuba and communism.

They were assured by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana consideration will be given later to proposals to spell out congressional support for any necessary action to stem the tide of communism in the Western Hemisphere.

County GOP Chairman Angry

Blasts Endorsements of Union Council

Republican County Chairman Chalres L. Lyle yesterday blasted the county AFL-CIO Council's endorsements of the state and county Democratic tickets as "a mockery to the intelligence of the working man and woman."

"If it weren't for the fact that these people represent such a large group of good, conscientious citizens, these endorsements would be downright foolish," Lyle said.

He claimed the AFL-CIO refused to endorse the candidacy of an active union member because he is a Republican, but gave support to an unqualified candidate for county treasurer.

AFL-CIO Council delegates made the endorsements Wednesday night following a report by the Council's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

The committee interviewed 10 Democratic and eight Republican candidates Aug. 28.

★ ★ ★

Dale Edwards of Ferndale, campaign manager for union member Kenneth Waller of Ferndale, Republican candidate for the state legislature who had sought AFL-CIO endorsement, charged the union's stated policy of nonpartisan consideration of endorsements was a farce.

SCHOLLE STATEMENT

"Six days before the 'non-partisan' interviews of candidates took place, Gus Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, said the union would support every Democratic candidate in the state," Edwards said.

Lyle's charge in July that the union group ignores Republicans in deciding on endorsements led county AFL-CIO Council President Fred Haggard to answer that the union's policy was to invite candidates from both parties to air their platforms on "neutral ground."

Candidate Waller, currently a member of the UAW-CIO, has been a union member for 22 years. His Democratic opponent, Madison Heights Mayor Bill S. Huffman, was not endorsed by the union council in the Democratic primary.

★ ★ ★

"The AFL-CIO leadership refuses to endorse one of their own brothers just because he's a Republican," Lyle said.

"If his brothers and sisters of the UAW-CIO will think for themselves," Lyle said, "they will look for Waller's name on the ballot in November and vote for him."

HITS CHOICE OF DEM

Lyle also hit at the union council's endorsement of the Democratic candidate for county treasurer, Betty H. McVay, who, he said, "has had no experience in this field and who is a relative newcomer to the state and the county."

Lyle said the Republican candidate, incumbent Charles A. Sparks, has held the treasurer's office for 30 years, has never been involved in scandal or charges of improper handling of funds, and recently earned the county $600,000 in interest with his investment of $10-million in Twelve-Town Drain funds.

Pontiac Area Deaths

MRS. LEWIS M. CAREY

Service for former Pontiac resident Mrs. Lewis M. (Lulu M.) Carey, 82, of Gainesville, Fla., will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the White Chapel Memorial Cemetery Mausoleum, Troy.

Mrs. Carey died Wednesday at Alachua General Hospital in Gainesville.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Caroline Copeland of Gainesville and one son, Lewis M. Jr., of Berkley.

Her body will be at the Sawyer Funeral Home, Berkley, after 7 p.m. today.

WILLIAM NEWBOLD

Service for William Newbold, 73, of 43 Baldwin Ave. will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Voorhees-Siple Chapel with burial in Roseland Park Cemetery.

Mr. Newbold died Wednesday after a long illness. He was a retired stonemason.

Surviving are his wife Olga; four daughters, Mrs. George DeGroot of Clifford, Mrs. Genevieve Hoffman of Detroit, Mrs. Edith Hoffman and Mrs. Bernice McCracken, both of Pontiac; two sons, Rudolph H. of Battle Creek and Orville Schimmel in Guam; and five grandchildren.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Rose Booker of Detroit, Mrs. Iolia Markline of Milford and Mrs. Ruth Walker of Dearborn; and a brother George of Detroit.

MRS. GAELANO TUNISI

Service for Mrs. Gaelano (Hattie) Tunisi, 62, of 507 S. Paddock St. will be at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

The Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Sunday in the William F. Davis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Tunisi died Monday in Pontiac General Hospital after an illness of six months. She was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church.

ERNEST A. DENHOFF

DAVISBURG — Service for Ernest A. Denhoff, 75, of 5424 Ormond Rd. will be 2 p.m. Monday at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, Pontiac, with burial following in Perry Mount Park Cemetery there.

Mr. Denhoff died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital after a week's illness. He was a retired carpenter.

Surviving are three sons, Clarence R., of Pontiac, Donald E. of Clarkston and Velmore D. of Commerce; five daughters, Mrs. C. G. Ash and Mrs. Kenneth Failing, both of Plymouth, Mrs. Jack Ryan of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Vistor Walgren and Mrs. Frank Schram, both of Highland. A sister, 12 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren also survive.

Detroiter Injured in Crash on Dixie

Charles Purvis, 58, of 3907 Van Dyke, Detroit, was reported in satisfactory condition today in Pontiac General Hospital where he was taken yesterday following a three-car auto accident in Waterford Township.

Purvis' car, traveling north on Dixie Highway, was hit head-on by one driven by Joseph Sweet, 45, of 569 Curry St., Rochester.

Sweet told police he stopped to make a left turn onto Floradale St. when his auto was hit in the rear forcing it into the path of Purvis' car.

Sweet was treated at the hospital and released. John Shook, 36, of Detroit, driver of the third car, was not injured.

VIES FOR TITLE — Currently vying for the Miss World Title at Huntington, Va., is Miss Michigan-World Carla Rodgers, who lives with a sister at 196 Sanderson St. The 24-year-old beauty won the Miss Michigan-World title last Saturday in Detroit. National finals will be held Sept. 22.

Troy Church Plans Musical on Sunday

TROY — The Troy Assembly of God will have a special musical and singspiration program Sunday at 7 p.m.

The service will consist of musical selections on the accordion, piano, organ and trumpets. There will also be several, solo, duet, trio and quartet numbers.

The service will be concluded by the pastor Rev. Louie H. Calaway, preaching a short sermon entitled, "Consecration."

Paul Henderson will conduct the service, with George Oprean leading the singing.

The public is invited to attend. The church is located at 3200 Livernois Road just opposite the Troy High School.

Problem: How to Make Delinquent Boy Into 'Square'

FLINT (AP) — Can a delinquent boy be convinced that he should become a "square?"

Traditional methods are being sidetracked in Genesee County in a cooperative effort to do just that — to steer such boys into a lawabiding life that seems, at first glance, to be terribly dull.

Ten boys tabbed as "most likely to fail" in society have been brought into the research-oriented project under the auspices of the juvenile division of probate court.

The object is to convince the boys that being a "square" isn't as bad as it looks from their scofflaw viewpoint. The key weapon is group therapy, for both the boys and their parents.

★ ★ ★

Many resources have been drawn into the effort. Joined with the court are the University of Michigan, Flint Child Guidance Clinic and the Flint Recreation and Park Board. The project also involves cooperation with Flint schools, particularly in school efforts directed at reducing drop-outs.

Part of a federal grant to the U. of M. is being used for consultation, training and research. Basic findings of the Flint youth study, a federally financed program of the U. of M. are being applied.

Outlining the new effort, Probate Judge George D. Stevens said the society in which they must live is the best place in which to help boys adjust. He contends that learning to adjust to routine in a reformatory often does not increase a boy's ability to fit into an acceptable pattern of behavior on the outside.

'GROUP PROJECT'

Basic to the Genesee County project is the theory that delinquency is a "group product." And, the planners believe, if boys get into trouble as a result of their membership in some sort of informal group, a group should be effective in getting them back on the track.

The 10 boys chosen early this year to form a group were all considered candidates for the boys training school. Between 15 and 17 years old, they all are on probation.

The group is the means of convincing the boys that continued delinquency is their own responsibility. In place of pressures from adult authorities, it is hoped pressures and disciplines will stem from involvement in the group itself. The idea is for a boy to turn to the group to work out his problems.

Meetings of the group have been held at least twice a week since early in the year. What happens in them is largely up to the boys. Meeting with them is Jerome Rabow, an assistant study director with the U. of M.'s survey research center and research center for group dynamics. He serves the project as a consultant, adviser and trainer.

A technique called "guided group interaction," a form of psychotherapy, is used in the sessions. It gives the boys an opportunity to hear and absorb from other boys what they might ignore if it came from adults.

Since July 6 the boys have been working as a group five days a week in Flint parks. They are paid a nominal salary from court funds. Development of good work habits is an important part of the effort.

CODDLING RULED OUT

Judge Stevens emphasized that the boys won't be coddled. If they get into trouble again, he said, they will be treated like any other delinquents. In some respects, he said, the new program makes more demands upon the boys than conventional probation.

Training of youth probation officers in group techniques is included in the program. Internships are being set up. A full-time director of the group program has been hired and will arrive in October.

Planners of the project are looking for a building that can be used as a meeting place for boys and as a headquarters for the court staff working with them.

Parents of the boys soon will begin participation in a program of "time-limited group psychotherapy" developed at the Flint Child Guidance Clinic. Mothers and fathers will be encouraged to gain a better understanding of problems affecting their children. Interns in clinical psychology will work on this phase of the program.

A second group of boys will be formed soon. In the planning stage is a similar program for girls.

The group approach to delinquency is now seen as a two-year experiment with a continuing evaluation through the Flint youth study.

HORSEPOWER NEEDS HELP — American and Thai soldiers join to help an Army vehicle out of the mud during a training mission in northeastern Thailand. Open $80-Million Plaza in Downtown Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—Place Ville Marie, an $80-million group of buildings in downtown Montreal, opened Thursday. Its focal point is a 42-story cruciform building of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The plaza covers seven acres on Montreal's Dorchester Boulevard. The bank building is the largest and tallest office building in Canada.

Race Horse Goes Wild

Mike Murphy, a gray, five-year-old gelding, was leading the last race as he went down the backstretch. Then the 30-1 shot started bleeding from the nose, his jockey said.

The horse, apparently blinded by mud and bothered by the heavy downpour, drifted wide and headed for a crowd of fans.

The jockey, Roy Cave, jumped off just before the horse hit the rail. The animal broke through both the outer wooden rail and a protective steel fence, then plunged into the crowd.

Mary O'Douwd suffered a broken leg, Joseph Liuzzo suffered chest injuries and George Hill received a leg injury. Erma Monzo was bruised on the arm. All are from the Detroit area.

Bostonian in Honolulu Trusts Everyone

By EARL WILSON

HONOLULU — There was this fellow from Boston who came here and fell in love with the sun and the surf—and went back just long enough to say farewell—and returned to Hawaii and Waikiki for life.

WILSON

He was thoroughly shocked when the great Hawaiian hero, Duke Kahanamoku, confessed in my presence the other day that he now locks his doors at night—right here in what the Bostonian thinks of as heaven.

"You disillusion me about Honolulu," the Bostonian said to Duke.

"I never lock my doors and I don't lock my car," he continued. "I have some car keys"—he has a white convertible—"but I don't know where they are."

"You'll get a ticket," warned the Duke, who was sheriff for many years after bringing fame to Hawaii as Olympic swimming champion.

"Yes," nodded Duke's wife, Nadine. "The law is you can get a ticket for leaving your keys in your car."

"But I'm not leaving my keys in my car," the Bostonian retorted. "I don't have any car keys!"

The Duke grinned. He's 72 now, just recovering from brain surgery, about to start on a world tour as Hawaii's good will ambassador.

A few nights ago at a dinner honoring him, Duke forgot himself in his emotion and made a long speech.

"Must have been three or four minutes," Duke said. "I got all mixed up, and I talked too long . . ."

Duke's going back to one-minute speeches, a practice I hope he introduces to all other Ambassadors, Good Will and Bad Will, when he hits New York on his tour.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

"Camelot" ends its Broadway run in January, then goes on tour (probably with Kathryn Grayson) . . . Sarah Vaughan sliced off 22 lbs. for her Basin St. East opening—so she'll have to spend 12Gs for a new wardrobe . . . Radio City Music Hall's working on a plan to show its famed stage show in Europe, via Telstar . . .

Brigitte Bardot, who owns a string of snack bars on the Riviera, added three drive-in movies to her holdings . . . Jennifer Jones' son, Robert Walker, will play one of the disciples in "Greatest Story Ever Told" . . . Rhonda Fleming'll be a grandma soon, via son Kent and his wife.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Dave Garroway watched the Mets, and decided it's the only team that could play a double-header and lose three games.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's middle age when your clothes don't fit—but it's you who needs the alterations.

EARL'S PEARLS: The fellow who says he's learned to understand women probably paid plenty for the lessons.

Comedienne Phyllis Diller suspects she had too many drinks at a party: "When I got home I tried for an hour to take off my slacks over my head." . . . That's earl, brother.

Study Controls of Death Plane

Find Downward Load Ripped Off Wing in Crash Fatal to 13

WASHINGTON (AP)—A downward pressing load ripped the right wing off the company airplane that crashed near Ravenna, Ohio, Sept. 4, killing 13 occupants, the Civil Aeronautics Board disclosed today.

★ ★ ★

Because of this finding by CAB investigators, the probe of the accident now has centered on the plane's control system.

★ ★ ★

Detailed studies are under way as to the functioning of the plane's flaps, ailerons, trim tabs and other movable wing parts.

DISTANCE FROM WRECK

The right wing of the twin-engine Lodestar of the Ashland Oil Co. was found about 1,600 feet from the main wreckage and was proof, the CAB said, that it had become detached in flight.

The plane was en route from Buffalo, N.Y., to its home base at Ashland, Ky., when it crashed, exploded and burned in northeastern Ohio.

Investigators determined that the wing broke away at the point at which it was attached to the center section of the plane, and that it was broken off by a downward-pressing load.

A plane's wings primarily are lifting surfaces, and the main stress on them is designed to be upward, against the weight of the craft.

Dies Near Schoolcraft

SCHOOLCRAFT (AP) — Mrs. Ruth G. Gibson, 36, of rural Mattawan, was killed yesterday in a two-car collision at a county intersection five miles west of here.

Reruns Bad Enough but These Plugs . . .

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Reruns of the dying summer television season are bad enough but the interminable plugs about the new one are worse.

At this time of the year, all normal rules limiting commercial time are suspended by tacit consent. While the cigarette and soap sponsors receive no extra time, the sky's the limit on promoting what laughingly may be called coming attractions.

CBS has sent out a half-hour film in which Jack Webb frankly conducts a 30-minute hard sell on the network's fall programing. It will be shown—if it hasn't already—on all the network affiliates.

Sometimes it seems that all transcontinental planes must be stuffed with Hollywood names hurrying east for the game shows, panel shows, audience participation shows and interview shows to exhibit their profiles and tell the breathless world about the fun-shows they've been working on.

Earlier this week, for example, Jim Backus concluded a summer season of "Talent Scouts" on CBS. His "celebrity" guests included George Maharis, who had a few kind words to say about his singing discovery but many more about his soon-to-return "Route 66." Keefe Brasselle not only plugged his upcoming special but introduced his wife who is launching a nightclub singing career. Jane Fonda talked up her forthcoming Broadway play and Hal March, who unfortunately didn't have a current project to sell, plugged a movie in which he will not appear made from a play in which he did.

CBS permitted Fess Parker to plug his new series which will be shown on ABC, a rival network. It was hard to see the entertainment amid all the sales talk.

Allen Ludden has been circulating, reminding us that his "Password" will return on a different day. Bill Cullen devoted much of his "Price is Right" this week to talking about a shift in the show's location on NBC's schedule.

You can't blame the stars. It's a nervous time for everybody connected with television shows. Many established programs will be encountering new opposition and there's always a chance they'll wind up on the short end of the popularity ratings. Many new shows are coming in to fight popular successes.

Soft Tomatoes Cushion Pilot's Fall From Jet

LONDON (AP) — "Thank God for the tomatoes," said test pilot George Aird from his hospital bed today. "What an amazing escape."

Flying Britain's supersonic Lightning jet fighter, Aird, 34, nosed the plane in to make a landing Thursday at nearby Hatfield. It was at an altitude of 250 feet.

★ ★ ★

"Suddenly she started to roll," said Aird. "I pressed the ejector seat button and bailed out. I remember nothing else."

"The plane seemed to shoot up into the air," said Arthur Seeley, a witness. "Then the pilot came flying out. His parachute didn't open—or didn't have time to open—for he plunged right through the roof of a greenhouse.

"He was still mumbling when I and some other men got to him. He was lying in a thick mass of tomato plants and ripe tomatoes."

The plane crashed and exploded.

Annuity funds in the United States now total more than $23 billion.

Tot, Deformed by Drug, Has 3rd Operation

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Doctors say 12-week-old William Joseph Webb Jr., believed deformed before birth by the sedative thalidomide, has successfully undergone the third of four operations to graft a new bone in his wrist.

★ ★ ★

In the latest operation, surgeons Thursday grafted one end of a bone from the child's right leg into position in his right wrist, then placed the limbs in a cast.

The next step will be to place the other end of the leg bone in position, thus giving the child the wrist bone he lacked at birth.

Former Publisher Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Daniel Rhodes Hanna Jr., 68, former publisher of the Cleveland News and grandson of Marcus A. Hanna, political power early in this century, died Thursday. His father's empire included the News, which was purchased by the Cleveland Press in 1960, and the M. A. Hanna Co., whose interests consist of coal and iron ore holdings.

To Fly Advance Units for Antarctica Stay

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — Four C130 Hercules cargo planes are to leave Sunday for McMurdo Sound with advance parties for the U.S. Navy's eighth summer operation in Antarctica.

Showers and 30-knot winds along the 2,300-mile route forced a one-day postponement of the flight. The cargo includes tons of mail for men who wintered at antarctic outposts.

Thirty-six planes and 12 ships will move men and supplies to Antarctica next month, and 4,000 men will spend the summer there on exploration and scientific projects.

Doctor Surrenders in Abortion Death

NEW YORK (AP) — A Queens County physician surrendered Thursday to face homicide charges in the abortion death of a Florida divorcee.

Dr. Mandel Friedman, 53, is charged in the death last Tuesday of Barbara Clark Covington, 35, daughter of a deceased Florida fruit packer and sister of D. D. Covington Jr. of Dade City, Fla., Democratic nominee for the state Senate.

Friedman, a gynecologist, was awaiting trial in an earlier abortion death when Miss Covington died as the result of what police said was an abortion attempt.

In both cases, Friedman claims the death was caused by heart attacks.

Sculptor Succumbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ernest Bairstow, 86, British-born sculptor who carved the Gettysburg Address into the wall of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, died Thursday.

The British government is financing a major research project to obtain information on the effects of industrial noise on hearing.

Big Season Seen for County Grid Teams

Several Prep Stars of '61 Now Seniors

All-Oakland County Possibilities Noted Among Returnees

By CHUCK ABAIR

Graduation took its usual heavy toll on area football standouts last June but there was still a good supply of veteran stars on hand as another grid year got rolling today.

★ ★ ★

They will be throwing their weight around along with several promising newcomers during the next several weekends.

Right at the top of the list of returnees are Press All-County selections Mike Marcum of Pontiac Northern and Rochester's Tom Mitzelfeld. Best of a good lot remaining in the Saginaw Valley is big Bay City Handy fullback George Knapp.

Marcum, described as a miniature tank by some followers, is one of this sector's hardest tacklers and an alert pass defender. He loves to hit. The red-haired boy also runs well with the pigskin.

SCORED 100

Mitzelfeld was the Falcon big gun both ways. He shared 3rd in Oakland County scoring with 100 points making 16 touchdowns—mostly long runs up to 76 yards. He tried two passes and completed both for touchdowns, made 20 per cent of the team's tackles as a linebacker and intercepted six passes.

Knapp was the power man in the strong Handy backfield and won All-Valley honors.

Pontiac Central will have three strong SVC team candidates in end Milford Hillie, tackle Dick Richards getting honorable mention.

★ ★ ★

Bill Calhoun of Bloomfield Hills is another "A" unit man back trying to make the top group as a tackle. Another Baron race is Roger Stewart, who matched Mitzelfield in points and starred on defense. He made the county Class A eleven and was on the Wayne-Oakland offensive team with Calhoun.

GOOD BEARS

Two big guns at Berkley are big end John White and good halfback Dick Karkkuri. Both were All-Inter-Lakes. White made the "A" county unit with White gaining mention.

Rick Brewer and Bob Dechow are other Class A 2nd team members trying to move up. Brewer, 210, plays for Southfield. Dechow was also All-Eastern Michigan at Ferndale.

There will be few better ends around than 200-pound Dave Helmreich, a key man at West Bloomfield for the past two seasons. He was on the county "B" 1st team and made it in the W-O both on offense and defense. Giant center Ken Victor is another top Laker. He was on the 2nd county team and on the league defensive aggregation.

Cranbrook has a strong backfield duo in Dick Mosher and Dave Schultz—both Class A 1st stringers last year. Schultz scored 64 points.

Ron Ranieri of Royal Oak Shrine made the top Class B eleven as a sophomore and big things are expected of him.

It's Swami time again. The Fraternal Order of Swamis are checking the grapevines in Swamiland for the first big prep weekend of football.

Chairman of the Swamis this year is Don Vogel who took the crown in the final week of the 1961 season.

A new swami enters the field this year, Swami Pointon, but you just have to go along with the veterans.

There are some real big openers into the prep ranks with long time rivals Pontiac and Flint Central, St. Mike and St. Fred, Waterford and West Bloomfield and Groves and Seaholm.

As our friend the Major, (Tut-tut) Hoople puts it, "Let's prognosticate."

Ranks of 'A' Schools Now Grows to 22

Press Heads AP Area for Selecting Honor State Teams

By DON VOGEL

North Farmington and Birmingham Brother Rice play full varsity schedules this fall bringing the number of football playing schools to 45 in the county.

Enrollments continue to mushroom. The added numbers can only mean more players, and the trend in this case is always toward more quality on the gridiron.

The addition of Milford, Clarkston and Brother Rice to the Class A ranks swells the county's top classification total to 22. This is the second largest in the state. Only Detroit has more "A" schools.

In an attempt to get a more representative All-State football team, the Associated Press has divided the state into sections.

Schools in this area will be included with those from parts of Wayne, Macomb and St. Clair Counties. Sectional teams will be selected first and from these elevens the final All-State players in Classes A, B and C-D will be picked.

PRESS CHAIRMAN

Three other newspapers will join The Pontiac Press in obtaining ballots from coaches and tabulating the votes for the All-Sectional teams.

★ ★ ★

During the last year Pontiac's reputation for football facilities did an about face. All it took was lights.

Foes of Pontiac Central and Northern dreaded playing in Wisner Stadium because of the very weak lighting.

This has all changed. New lights have been installed and those who have viewed the result are claiming Pontiac has one of the best, if not the top, prep football stadium in the state.

Area coaches have shown more optimism about the coming season than in past years. The majority, and this is a surprise, is indicating much stronger teams than 1961.

This all points to several close races in many of the area leagues.

Decline in Grid Fatalities Expected

CHICAGO — (NEA) — A decline in the number of high school football fatalities is predicted for 1962.

The drop under the record number suffered last year will be made without benefit of drastic changes in equipment, according to the National Federation of State High School Associations. The National Safety Council is in agreement with the optimistic forecast.

Last year 15 fatalities were directly attributed to high school football. Seven others died of mishaps indirectly associated with the sport in high school. The Federation and Safety Council are of the opinion that the record number of fatalities — highest since official surveys began in 1946 — were part of a cresting cycle, which should start to fall now.

In 1960, seven high school boys died directly from football mishaps. There were eight in 1959, 12 in '58 and 14 in '57.

"We think the unusual number of fatalities last year was a cyclic thing," said Cliff Fagan, NFSHSA executive secretary.

"We have found no evidence that the usual number of fatalities last year were caused by equipment and are certain that equipment factors did not enter into these fatalities."

NOT FACE MASKS

Published reports last year contended the protruding face masks were used as a lever, voluntarily or involuntarily, forcing the back of the helmet sharply into a player's neck and spine, causing some fatalities.

"We have valid evidence that face guards were not responsible for last year's increased fatality toll," insisted Fagan.

Fagan said there was no indication manufacturers would change from plastic to leather helmets.

"It's believed the plastic helmets wear better and give better protection, but it's imperative that they fit well," he said.

Fagan explained the Federation's official count of 15 direct fatalities last year includes five more than the total of 10 listed by Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood's survey for the American Football Coaches' Association.

"We are an organization charged with the sponsorship and promotion of football and we must bend over backward that we do not list any football fatality that could possibly be direct as indirect," he said.

More Trouble Seen for Dondero Eleven

Although coach Ivy Loftin is working with a squad containing 15 lettermen, Royal Oak Dondero may have trouble escaping the depths of the Border Cities Conference.

Monroe, Fordson, Grosse Pointe and Wyandotte all figure to have teams nearly equal to last season mark in '61.

The Oaks will be on the light side this season and will miss the running of halfback Bill Waters who has graduated.

Forecasts Don't Ignore PCH

Coaches around the strong Saginaw Valley Conference keep bringing up the name Pontiac Central when talking about title contenders for the 1962 football championship.

Chief head man Paul Dellerba has not had much to say along these lines "because we have newcomers at two or three key spots."

It's always hard to figure how newcomers will develop but if he gets some help for the veterans PCH could very well be rough in the Valley.

REAL VETERANS

Milford Hillie, a 198-pound end, 205-pound tackle Dick Richards, guard Wayne Lee, who goes 200, and defensive halfback Chuck Stein have all won two grid letters.

There will be very few better line combinations around than Richards and Lee. The latter made the Press All-County "A" eleven and Richards gained honorable mention last fall. Hillie, who has good speed, was on that team with Lee.

Central is noted for its fleet halfbacks and this year should be no exception with Charley Humphrey and little Jesse Hodges ready to ramble. They are also among 10 lettermen back.

★ ★ ★

The all-important quarterback position has been one of Dellerba's main problems. Depth will likely be another. Inexperienced Randy Stiles and letterman John Marcoux have been the main signal-callers in drills.

Ray Sain and Jim Cummings are other ends who have played before. Some of the others are tackles Julian Spires and Jerry Noren, back Tom Lewis and Bill Church, a 200-pound center.

The Chiefs ranked 5th in the league standings in 1961 taking three of the last four starts for a 3-4-1 mark. Another victory was posted over Pontiac Northern.

OUT SCORED

All season, PCH tallied 99 points while allowing 124. Humphrey and Hillie each scored twice and Hodge once to account for five of 15 touchdowns.

A reversal of last year's two straight losses at the start could send the Huron Street boys off and running in good style. But it won't be easy.

Flint Central will be here tonight and the Pontiac boys go to Bay City Central next week. Both finished higher in the standings last time out and figure to be contenders in the title chase again.

Pontiac Press Photo

HIGH STEPPER — Charley Humphrey is one of the backs Pontiac Central coach Paul Dellerba has hopes will help make up for the loss of Roy Couser in the Chief backfield. The speedster made two touchdowns for PCH in '61.

Future Bright for Utica 11

Does a Bi-County grid championship loom in the future for Utica?

"Our chances could be very good," said coach Ralph LaParl. "We have our entire line back, except at center. The backfield will be the key.

"We will have untested boys at the halfbacks. If they jell, the season should be very enjoyable."

Top returning linemen are end Bill French (180), tackles Joe Kawala (225) and Henry Piet (180) and guard Jack Mathews (175). Quarterback Ron Parchul and fullback Nelson Bock are the experienced backfield performers.

Series Start in 1890

First Army-Navy football game was played in 1890.

Red Hot Title Race Expected in 'Valley'

The flip of the coin might be the best way to pick a winner in the Saginaw Valley Conference this year.

Bay City Handy, the No. 1 team in the state last year, along with Midland and Flint Northern are the top rated contenders. Arthur Hill, with new coach Hi Becker, formerly of Handy, and Bay City Central are picked as the top challengers, Pontiac Central and Flint Central as the in-between teams and the spoilers.

Al Sigman, who takes the reins at Handy, has inherited a strong first unit with good speed and size. He has four huge tackles in juniors Jerry Walmsley, 228, and Wayne Meylan, 210, and sophomore Al Heglund at 261.

Midland, as usual is big and has 21 lettermen returning, and it will be an interesting match at Flint's Atwood Stadium tonight when Flint Northern's speed goes against Midland's size.

★ ★ ★

This could be Arthur Hill's year to make a strong bid and the other Valley coaches aren't leaving the Lumberjacks out of the picture.

Another strong Bay City Central team under Elmer Engel has to be in the offing with coach Bob Leach at Flint Central not figured to play dead.

Pontiac Central is ready to make its best showing in the SVC and for the first time in years, the other league coaches have tabbed the Chiefs as "challengers."

There are really no solid favorites this year but this is the forecast by a nose all the way down through six teams.

1. Bay City Handy
2. Flint Northern
3. Midland
4. Arthur Hill
5. Bay City Central
6. Pontiac Central
7. Flint Central
8. Flint Southwestern
9. Saginaw

A Typical Duffyism

A valve stuck in a dormitory steam boiler near the Michigan State football practice field resulted in a loud and persistent hiss of escaping steam.

Duffy Daugherty, the Spartans' whimsical head football coach, listened intently for a bit and then inquired of bystanders: "Do you suppose it could be the alumni warming up for the new season?"

10th Season Set for Pee-Wees

Pee-Wee football will enter its 10th season here when league play gets under way Sept. 22.

Six teams of boys ranging in age from 8 to 12 years will compete in tackle play on successive Saturday afternoons through Oct. 27. Four six-minute quarters are played.

The teams will be the Packers, Colts, Bobcats, Hornets, Lancers and 58ers. There will be three games each Saturday.

League rules call for all players in uniform for a game to be used in at least three plays from scrimmage. Regular grid rules will be followed with some modifications.

Players must weigh at least 60 pounds and not over 110. They must also be at least in the 4th grade and but not yet in the 7th grade.

★ ★ ★

Don Ashley will coach the Packers, Dan Leach is head man of the Lancers, Don McMorris coaches the Bobcats, Wes Councell has the 58ers, Art Hearns will direct the Hornets and Carl Lyon runs the Colts.

Scoring Marks Stand

CHICAGO—Highest margin in a Big 10 football game in 1960 was 42 points. Iowa beat Northwestern 42-0 and Minnesota beat Indiana also 42-0, both games played the same Saturday.

NORTHERN'S 'TOE' — Big junior end Dean Souden is the "toe" of the Pontiac Northern offensive machine. He should be among the top place kickers in this sector this season if not THE best. Dean booted six extra points in 1961.

Huskie Eleven Also Smallest and Youngest

Northern in 4th Year of Football; Marcum Tops 13 Vets

Pontiac Northern will enter its 4th year of varsity ball tonight with probably its biggest but slowest and youngest team yet.

"It will be an all-Junior team except for two seniors," said haed coach Ed Heikkinen looking ahead to another try at winning an Inter-Lakes crown.

The Red and White have made bids before only to falter along the way.

They had to be satisfied with 3rd place last fall losing two games by a combined total of four points.

13 LETTERMEN

Heikkinen has been working with 13 lettermen from the 1961 headed by Pontiac Press All-County star Mike Marcum. The rugged red-haired senior was honored for his defensive prowess but he also did well on offense and should come into his own as a ballcarrier during the coming weeks.

Slim end Dennis Hubble is the other senior expected to play a key hole for Northern.

Cheek gained All-County Class A honorable mention while playing mostly defense. Daniels saw action as a sub quarterback and also starred on defense.

Marcum, Hubble and Daniels each got one of the 27 touchdowns scored a year ago. Souden accounted for six of 12 extra points with placekicks.

Transfers from Lake Orion and Royal Oak Shrine may help out and 175-pound guard Mike Lorenzen, a junior who did not letter as a sophomore, should see considerable service.

Kimmel was the team's best passer although he lacked the overall ability of Rick Fisher on the 6-3 team. He threw one scoring aerial.

The Huskies scored 174 points and allowed 61 in their 3rd season getting at least one TD every time out.

PNH CAPTAIN — Mike Marcum, who made the Press All-County team as a defensive back, is expected to be a standout both ways as Northern's captain this season. He ran well at times last fall.

Inter-Lakes Rivals Gunning for Vikings

Walled Lake makes a habit of winning the Inter-Lakes football crown as four 1sts in the last six years attest but rival coaches are not so sure about the Vikings in 1962.

The feeling is that at least three schools must be considered as threats to unseat the perennial titlists.

Berkley has 15 lettermen back from a team which bowed only to Walled Lake and was 6-2 over-all. Some picked Southfield for No. 1 although they did so before learning Monte Charles had lost four boys he was counting on. Pontiac Northern had good balance among 13 lettermen and may get help from transfers.

Waterford has a good chance to leave the cellar and could serve as an I-L spoiler. Farmington could make a big move with 11 experienced hands.

Irv Wilson, in his 2nd year at Berkley, feels his Bears will be "real tough if our defense comes along." He also will lack depth.

The southern county school should be strong on offense paced by '61 All-League members Dick Kakkuri, a big halfback, and 6-3, 190 end John White. Wilson expects those two to be among the best gridders in Michigan. White made the Press All-County Class A 2nd team and Kakkuri was honorable mention.

Jerry Miasko, a 6-4, 205-pound end, quick halfback Steve Hollingsworth, rugged guard Norm Wolff and 200-pound tackle Rick Parrish make six Bears playing their 3rd seasons on the varsity.

Kakkuri totaled 33 points and Hollingsworth 21 to rank 2nd and 3rd on the team a year ago.

Here is the expected order of finish:
1. Berkley
2. Walled Lake
3. Northern
4. Southfield
5. Waterford
6. Farmington

Southfield Has Problems

Southfield ran into the same trouble Waterford had—veterans deciding not to play football—but coach Monte Charles and his staff have been working hard trying to make up for the unexpected loss.

Two lettermen did not report and two others dropped out after starting out in drills. End Rod Brown is out due to an operation and may return by midseason.

RICK BREWER
Southfield Veteran

Two-year standout Rick Brewer should be among the better guards in this sector. He weighs 210 and was 2nd team All-County Class A in The Press poll last year.

BIG LINEMAN

Another big Bluejay lineman will be Gary Spodeck at 215. Likely center will be Buzz Jenks.

SKIPPING SKIPPERS — Stan Grant, 34, and Lee Keiser skip along in practice preparing for Friday's big opening night of another football season. They should make a strong running combination. Keiser was the big scoring gun of the Skippers last year with 42 points although missing some action with injuries.

Seven Veterans Not on Team at Waterford

Backfield and Ends Strong, Line Green; Depth Lacking

Stuart Thorell was feeling pretty good this summer looking ahead to his 2nd season as Waterford High head football coach despite a dismal start because he was expecting 14 lettermen back to form the backbone of a possible area power in 1962.

But he hasn't been smiling much since practice started.

Exactly half of those monogram winners did not turn out for early drills and the young boss learned one would be playing the grid sport this season. That was pretty hard to take.

2ND TIME

It was kind of a repeat for him although a year ago the loss of several veterans was understandable. That was when some numerous experienced hands turned up at Kettering in the 1st dividing of talent.

Thorell has been forced to work with several newcomers trying to get some help for the seven remaining lettermen.

Two promising boys who could be key factors in the success of the Skippers are big tackles Ed Irwin, 210, and 205-pound Bill Powell. Little guard Lloyd Elliott and back Stan Grant are others.

The veterans will likely fill the backfield and end slots. Tall Bob Readler, speedy Lee Keiser, Tom Grile and rough Clark Lemaux give the Blue and Gold a solid unit behind the line. Two-year standout Dave Patterson and Andy Straka are the flankers.

Thorell could come up with a capable No. 1 team if the green interior linemen can come through but will likely be short on depth.

KEISER POINT ACE

Keiser was the big scorer last year although he was hindered by injuries with 42 points. He got all the points in three games as a sophomore. Lemaux had 18, Readler and Grile 6 each.

The Skippers compiled a 2-7 record beating Lapeer and L'Anse Creuse. They lost five straight in the Inter-Lakes League although some were good battles.

A total of 110 points was scored by the team while the opponents were accumulating 154.

Barring injuries, the Waterford crew could make life miserable for most of its foes and gain some revenge for that string of losses.

Maybe Thorell will be able to smile again by the time mid-November rolls around.

Shortage of Runners Problem at Farmington

The Falcons have a solid first line, but there is a definite shortage of pigskin luggers. There also is a major shortage of over-all depth.

Coach Jack Hayes' charges managed to break their winless string against Waterford last season. It was the Falcons only success over two seasons.

"We don't have the numbers," Hayes said. "Things will hinge a lot on how fast our sophomore backs come along. With a little better break on injuries I feel we can be better than the last few years."

Bill Freeman and Mike Gildern, both sub fullbacks last season, are the lone letterwinners returning in the backfield. The picture is brighter up front where every position will have an experienced player.

End Dale Pitcock, tackles Harry Walkley and Steve Heath, guards Bob Clappison and Bob Lorenz, and center Joe Clapper all started at least one game in 1961.

Tom Kaufman, Frank Patterson and Ken Ellis, all lettermen with limited experience, are battling for the remaining end position.

St. James May Make Strong Bid

Brother Rice makes its Catholic League football debut, St. James moves to another league and Shrine faces tough sledding.

St. James appears to have the best chance for a title of the three. The Ferndale school will compete in the second division's West Side Loop.

Coach John Shada has top quarterback John Motyka returning along with several others who won letters last season when St. James was in the Suburban Catholic, now the Northwest League.

Hawks Need Quarterback

The next minute he looks at his quarterback position, completely void of an experienced player, and a slight frown can be noted.

BILL ATKINS
Ortonville Halfback

This is the situation as the Black Hawks prepare for their second season in the Genesee loop: there is a good nucleus, but a field general is needed.

The coach, however, isn't waving any crying towel.

"We need a quarterback bad," he said, "but we should win more than we lose. And we should be right up there in the league with Lake Fenton and Linden."

★ ★ ★

Class C All-County breakaway threat Bill Atkins returns in the backfield along with fullback Roger Wills. End Jerry Cleveland, tackles Joe Spress and Roger Cascadden and guard Bob Cunningham are experienced linemen.

Lost through graduation was quarterback Pat Barrick, who directed the Hawks to a third place finish in 1961, halfback Randy Krug, end John Francis, tackle Ron Kassuba and guard Larry Frahm.

Rebuilding Project Is Under Way at Groves

New coach Jim Kinnison has the task of molding a Tri-River Conference contender around six lettermen. With brilliant halfback Art Schueler and all but two experienced linemen graduated, this may not be an easy task.

The Falcons posted a 6-3 record last year, finishing second in the league. One of the setbacks was a heartbreaker to Seaholm in the opening game.

"With so few returning lettermen we will lack experience," said the coach, "but an excellent crop of sophomores and juniors will compose the nucleus of this year's squad.

"Their hustle and determination will go a long way toward making this a rewarding season."

Groves also has another thing in its favor. The Falcons play seven of their nine games in Birmingham. The opener will be against Seaholm, a team the Falcons have never defeated on the gridiron, and a first meeting with Brother Rice in the season finale.

Groves' 1961 offense was built around the fleet-footed Schueler who led the country in scoring. With Schueler no longer in the lineup, and a new coach and system, all this will be changed.

BACKFIELD STRENGTH

Groves strength appears to be in the backfield where Kinnison has a letterman at each position. Five new players will be in the line and any success will be determined by how fast the forward wall develops.

This will be Groves last year in the Tri-River Conference. The Falcons have joined Oakland schools North Farmington and Oak Park in a new league which will begin operation in the fall of 1963.

Walled Lake Has to Watch 'Pride'

This five letter word may keep the Walled Lake Vikings from taking their expected lumps in Inter-Lakes action this fall.

Although riddled by graduation, the Vikings aren't about to yield the I-L championship without a struggle. Coach Dave Smith made this very plain when he said:

"We hope that pride in being a winner, and continuing so, will help bring some of our younger boys along fast enough to make us a solid contender for another championship."

For those who may have forgotten—Inter-Lakes foes haven't—the Vikings rolled past eight straight opponents in 1961 on the way to their third straight championship.

"We certainly are thinking in terms of winning," Smith stated, "and we hope our heights can be realized."

GRADUATION TOLL

Twenty lettermen are missing from last year's unbeaten squad, many of them "as fine performers as we have had," according to Smith.

Only two offensive and two defensive regulars are on hand.

★ ★ ★

One is John Thomas, son of the former Detroit Lions tackle, who will again be at quarterback. With a year of experience under his belt, Thomas is expected to be the Vikings' leader on offense. He is a top ball handler and possesses a fine passing arm.

★ ★ ★

Much to the discomfort of future foes, he is only a junior and still has one more prep campaign left.

Two-time letterwinner Ron Wick returns at end. He will be joined by veteran tackle Jim Bales and guard Dave Rickard, another letterman.

Smith points to the defensive backfield, where the top seven players are gone, and depth along the line as main problems.

He hopes "pride" will take care of any weaknesses.

Bloomfields Could Decide W-O Race

The traditional final game of the season between Bloomfield Hills and West Bloomfield may take on added importance this year.

The township rivals could very well go into the Nov. 2 contest with the Wayne-Oakland championship riding on the outcome.

"Northville can't be counted out," seems to be the general opinion of league coaches and there is a strong indication that Holly may be the true heir apparent to the championship.

Clarenceville, Milford and Clarkston are expected to battle for the second division leadership with Brighton trailing along in the cellar.

Northville's chances of repeating seem to hinge on how fast a new line can be molded. Graduation hit the Mustangs hard up front.

S. JUDAY GONE

Also leaving Northville at diploma time was the player opposing coaches spent plenty of sleepless nights over — all-stater Steve Juday.

There is some question which task confronting coach Ron Horwath is more important: (1) rebuilding the line or, (2) finding someone to take Juday's place.

Craig Bell will get the first shot at replacing Oakland County's Outstanding Player of 1961. He played end last year, but Horwath plans to use him either at quarter or half.

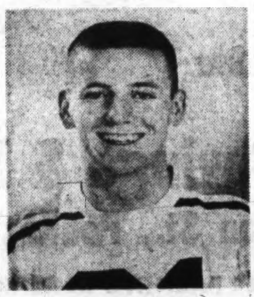
Tom Swiss returns in the backfield and Jim Juday in the line. Joe Hay was Swiss' running mate last season. Ron Rice will get first call at fullback and Don Biery is vying for a halfback berth.

Despite the loss of hard running Ron Ridling, Clarenceville is expected to be improved.

Coach Lynn Nutter is working with 15 lettermen including quarterback Ed Hanaford, backs Jim Woodhouse, Norm Kaipo and Bob Armstrong, and tackles Lee Kelly (215) and Charles Friesnier (230).

Two things will be missing at Brighton and a new one added this season.

Gone are Handy Marx and the single wing. Arriving on the scene is new head coach Vince Zapponie. Even though he played on a losing team, Marx was rated a top backfield prospect by several large universities. He was the tailback and triple threat star in the single wing.



CRAIG BELL
Northville Back

The forecast:

1. West Bloomfield
2. Bloomfield Hills
3. Holly
4. Northville
5. Milford
6. Clarenceville
7. Clarkston
8. Brighton

Stadium Change Grows

LANSING—Michigan State's first football field, built in 1923, accommodated just 14,000 spectators. The Spartan stadium now has a capacity of 76,000.

Backfield Bright Spot of St. Michael Team

Pontiac Press Photo

LOOKING FOR RAMS—These three veteran St. Michael linemen are looking forward to meeting some crosstown St. Fred forwards when the city foes meet Sunday in the season opener. They had a hand in the 63-6 rout of a year ago. Dave Moreno is at the far left, John Clark is in the center and the other is Nick Schlicht. Clark scored his only TD against the Rams. He has been changed from end to tackle.

Niebauer Has Line Worries Despite 3 Vets

Ghastin, Sonnenberg and Moreno Among Key Men

The top performers are gone from a St. Michael eleven which posted a 4-4-1 1961 record but Coach Jim Niebauer thinks he will be able to field a fairly strong 1st unit when the bell rings Sunday afternoon against city rival St. Frederick.

He hopes to have a capable line and says "our backs should be as good as any in our league." His charges will play in the new Northwest Catholic.

Finding ends and developing some reserve strength have been the major order of business in early drills.

STRONG QUARTET

Niebauer has four boys who will be seeking their 3rd letter in football as his main nucleus among 10 lettermen.

They are backs Dick Ghastin, Larry Sonnenberg and Bill Harding and tough little guard Dave Moreno. Injuries have troubled Ghastin in the past. Sonnenberg has been a quarterback but may see some action at end during the coming weeks. Harding is being touted as a halfback but is also an experienced quarterback.

Steady Nick Schlicht and John Clark are good-sized vet tackles. Two more experienced backs are Dick Steinhelper and Larry DeRousa, both little 140-pounders. Steinhelper has been a defensive starter but is also tabbed to do some running now.

John Hurren, a tackle, lacks experience but he could be some help in trying to fill the huge shoes of his standout brother Jim.

Slim Tim Dropps may do most of the Big Blue passing this fall. He made some good showings as a reserve a year ago. Little Dick Drake may be the center position.

SONNENBERG TOPS

Sonnenberg scored 19 points, Harding and Ghastin 18 apiece and Clark, who had been an end, 6 on a high-scoring unit which totaled 192 digits for the nine games. The opponents had 137.

The Mikemen had to settle for 4th place in the final season of the Suburban Catholic play. After a 3-0 start, they could win only one loop game in the last five—one being a tie.

The Shamrock schedule is down from nine to seven contests this year. The parochial division for this sector was cut from nine to seven schools. The only outside foe will be Flint St. Matthews.

VET SHAMROCK — Bill Harding is expected to be a set halfback this year for St. Michael after serving as a backfield handyman in the past. The veteran scored three touchdowns in 1961.

Major Task Faces Farmer at Sorrows

The biggest prep football rebuilding job in Oakland County this season is in the hands of Bud Farmer at Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows.

Farmer will attempt to lay a foundation for the future around only three lettermen. The other 26 monogram winners from 1961 are gone.

"This could be a long, dry season," said the coach as he prepared the Lancers for their first action in the Northwest Catholic League. Sorrows was moved from the Southwest Catholic League in last spring's realinement.

Two of the veterans have each received three varsity football awards. They are fullback Jeff Barth and 234-pound tackle Jim

Little Leagues Have 'Week' in West Bloomfield

Supervisor John C. Rehard has proclaimed the week of Sept. 15-21 as All American Little Football Week in West Bloomfield Township. This is the first week of the annual fund-raising campaign.

West Bloomfield Township is represented in the All American league by the West Suburban Boys Club. There are some 22 participating communities in the Detroit area, fielding some 100 teams in the several age and weight classifications.

Boys from nine to 12 years od participate in Little League Football.

New Head Ram Not Looking Back

Taking over a team following two winless seasons is quite a task but former announcer Chuck Lewis has been going at the St. Fred job trying not to look back.

★ ★ ★

Maybe his ideas, or the law of averages or something will get the Rams back on the winning side in football soon.

They open with St. Michael Sunday and that certainly would be an excellent time to get the victory feeling again.

LACK DEPTH

Lewis may come up with a No. 1 unit to give all Northwest Catholic rivals trouble but will likely lack much reserve strength.

★ ★ ★

He has been experimenting in drills trying to develop a good combination. Finding interior linemen seems to be the major problem.

Veteran tackle Bernie Gross, 180, and 240-pound Dick Rodriguez will likely be key men there. Newcomer Mike Dean, who weighs 190, could come along fast to help the front line.

The end and backfield positions are the brightest spots, Charley Dean and John Poet could give the Rams the best flanker combination in the loop. Both were backs last year and Poet may return there but Dean seems set at end.

★ ★ ★

Big Charley, one of the top punters here in 1961, was impressive as an end as a youngster, but was switched to quarterback later because of a dearth of talent in the backfield.

QUICK BACKS

Two little quick backs who may start are tough Fred Medina and good-running Mike Windey. Medina was sidelined by an early injury showed up well playing both ways. Windey can carry the leather.

An opening game tie with Royal Oak St. Mary was the only plus mark on the St. Fred card last season.

The Rams scored 80 points and allowed 343. Windey tallied 18 and Medina 6 while Charley Dean passed for two touchdowns.

OLL Still Growing Up

The growing pains continue for Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School.

But they are pleasant ones for coach Bob Mineweaser.

While school officials take care of a swelling enrollment, the coach is looking over the large ninth and 10th grade classes for potential varsity material.

"This is the school's second year, and the football team is going to be improved," said Mineweaser, "but I feel we are still a year away from any championship thoughts."

George Sharpe is expected to spark the offense as he did a year ago. The 160-pound senior does everything well from his halfback post. Wes Borys will be the quarterback.

Dave Ottman and Tim Davis also are two-year backfield veterans.

Eaglets May Improve Last Season's Record

It's hard to improve on a 5-2-1 record after losing the complete No. 1 backfield among 12 lettermen but Orchard Lake St. Mary may just accomplish that feat.

The Rev. John Rakoczy has not been singing the blues while bringing his charges along slowly for Sunday's opener at Royal Oak St. Mary.

He has experienced hands for most positions to help make up for having many veterans.

A lot may depend on how well Larry Janiszewski can make the switch from end to the big quarterback assignment. Father Rakoczy feels he can handle the job, describing the 5-1, 160-pound senior as "smart, a good passer, thinker and runner.

Dick Kowalski heads the Eaglet forward wall. The 190-pounder has won letters three straight years and was on the Press Class C All-County honorable mention list as a junior.

Tackle Dan Tepper and Stan Sawicki, an end, are each playing their 3rd season on the varsity. Mean-looking center Joe Janus is another veteran. He tips the scales at 195.

Newcomers who may become valuable members are guard Greg Ziemba, 6-4 end John Stolnicki, J. Szymczak, a center and back R. Orzell.

St. Mary wound up 3rd in the final year of the Suburban Catholic loop last fall after winning three and tieing one in the last four outings.

Janiszewski threw one TD pass and scored once himself and Sawicki made one extra point as the team piled up 147 points. Its opponents totaled 97.

Expected for New Loop

The new Northwest Catholic League should have a very interesting race in its 1st season of football.

St. Michael and St. Frederick of Pontiac, Orchard Lake St. Mary, Our Lady of the Lakes and Royal Oak St. Mary remain from the former Suburban Catholic setup. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows and Detroit St. Agatha have joined them to make a seven-team conference.

Orchard Lake made the best showing of the schools left in the SCL by ranking 3rd best and ranks as a strong contender for the initial Northwest championship. Royal Oak St. Mary is another.

St. Michael and Our Lady of the Lakes are other possibilities. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows could be troublesome with some key men back. St. Fred has hopes of bouncing back on the winning side with the spirit good thus far. St. Agatha may have trouble keeping out of the cellar.

★ ★ ★

The Eaglets are the only Class B school in the league. Our Lady of the Lakes and St. Agatha are "D" and the others Class C.

Major Carl Wells should bounce back from a losing campaign at Royal Oak with 21 lettermen left from a rebuilding year. Several are sophomores and juniors. Some boys up from the reserve team should help.

Here is the expected order of finish:
1. Orchard Lake St. Mary
2. Royal Oak St. Mary
3. St. Michael
4. Our Lady of the Lakes
5. St. Fred
6. Farmington Sorrows
7. St. Agatha

For Emmanuel

Things Looking Up

And this year, the third on the gridiron for the Pontiac school, appears to be no different. New coach John Malone is looking for his team to near the .500 mark.

Emmanuel managed only a late season tie its first football year. Last season the Lancers posted a 2-6 mark under Dwight Thompson who has moved to California.

"We can't afford to be too optimistic," said Malone. "We'll do well if we break even."

The Lancers opened workouts at a special Southern Michigan camp. They returned to the school practice field after Labor Day.

MOVED TO QB

Top 1961 halfback Larry Goldsworthy has been shifted to quarterback. He will have veteran ball carrier Ron Jackson behind him at fullback.

Newcomers who have been impressive are end Ray Badgero, tackle Keith Nye, 200, and guard Mark Elliott.

The Lancers will play their first two home games at Avondale. The first home contest is Saturday night against Inkster Cherry Hill.

New Coach, Outlook for Country Day 11

There is a new coach and more optimistic outlook as Country Day prepares for its seven-game schedule.

★ ★ ★

Rod Snelling is the new head man and he will be seeking to improve on last season's 2-6 record. A hard running back and improved line are reasons for the optimism.

The lone veteran returning in the backfield is fullback Arnold Beckerman. The 170-pound senior carried the brunt of the Yellow Jackets attack last season.

Country Day has a potentially strong line anchored by 220-pound Wally Addis and 210-pound Steve Munson at tackles. End Richard Bagley, 150, and guard Chuck O'Neil, 165, also are back. All are seniors.

LANSING — Michigan State athletic teams have been known as the Spartans since 1926.

Prep Gridders' Speech Okay With Mouth Full

To other athletes, the mouth piece is just more equipment.

Troubles or not, coaches agree the players can speak clearly. This was one of the first fears to cross coaches' minds when the Michigan High School Athletic Association made it mandatory for prep gridders to use the mouth protectors starting this fall.

In preparation for the new use, Avondale and Pontiac school systems conducted pilot studies, in cooperation with the Oakland County Dental Association. Players used custom made mouthpieces, produced cheaper than the commercial variety.

The study resulted in a move by other county and area schools to use custom models made by coaches and home economics classes after dentists supplied molds.

Greatest problem with the mouth protectors during preseason drills has been a tendency of players to bite through them. With custom jobs, this isn't a problem because a new one can be made up for about 50 cents.

While the custom models fit the players and adhere to the teeth, some of those manufactured by concerns have been slipping off the dentures, leaving the players open to mouth injuries.

Barons May Abandon 'T'

No Quarterback So Single Wing May Be Tried

Old System Not New to Barons; Stewart and Calhoun Return

Just because Bloomfield Hills doesn't have an experienced quarterback isn't any reason for Wayne-Oakland opponents to get careless when they play the Barons.

Some teams, particularly those using the T attack, would be seriously hampered by the lack of a qualified signal caller.

Bloomfield Hills uses the T, but coach Don Hoff also leans toward the single wing. And he won't hesitate to use the power attack of the winged offense.

The Barons were predominantly a winged T outfit last season. But in at least two games, the old fashion power slants off the single wing saved the day.

In short, if Hoff can't find a capable signal caller, he probably will resort to the secondary attack of last season.

STEWART RETURNS

He has an excellent tailback in Roger Stewart. The senior speedster scored five touchdowns in one game last season and tied for third in county scoring with 100 points. He is the lone holdover regular.

Missing are hard running fullback Bill Pettibone, halfback Fritz Stressen-Reuter and quarterbacks Brian O'Neil and Art Tregenza. Rick Fricke, who saw considerable action last year, was expected to be quarterback, but he and his parents moved out of the state.

Hoff should have little to worry about at tackle. Bill Calhoun, Kyle Kerbawy and Mike Griffin are back. Calhoun may be switched to end. Jan Marshall returns at guard, but after him the linemen lack experience.

Standout guard Tom Pinney, end and defensive back John Schweppe and center Dan Brown have graduated.

Pete Vidor joins Stewart as being the lone returning backfield performer. He played mostly on defense last season.

The Barons are rated a strong chance to cop Wayne-Oakland League honors. But Hoff warns that he is short on experienced reserves.

Cranes Have Speed but Need Fullback

Find Cranbrook a fullback the caliber of graduated Brian O'Shaughnessy and the Cranes should be ready to fly high for a second straight year.

★ ★ ★

Coach Pete Slader, starting his second year at Bloomfield Hills school, has good speed returning in the backfield. But he must find a power runner to get the necessary short yardage and there are some gaping holes along the line.

The Cranes posted a surprising 7-1 mark last season. The only loss was to strong University School in a showdown for the Inter-State League championship.

Two All-County Class B players return.

Dick Mosher returns at quarterback to run Slader's unbalanced wing-T attack. Dave Schultz is a fast 155-pound halfback. Newcomers Dale Bosley and Arch Copeland appear to have the inside track on the other two backfield slots.

SEVERAL GONE

Among those missing when Slader called practice after Labor Day were center Worth Matteson, guards Tom Bennett and Barry Butler, tackle Gregory Thomson, ends Robert Dearth and Lawrence Hard and halfback Bob Hicks.

John Billesdon returns at one end and Bill Powell probably will get the other flanking post. Other front line returnees are tackle Pete Maxwell, center Win Conrad and guard Tom Barlow.

This leaves guard, tackle and fullback open and the problem of experienced depth. Joe Kopchick may be the answer at tackle.

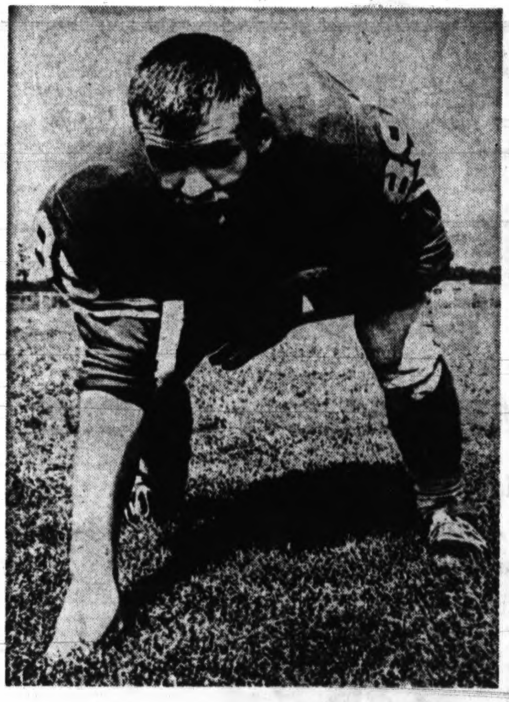
Lakers 'Fair' Season May Shake W-O Foes



Pontiac Press Photo

OUTSTANDING END — There probably will be few better ends in the state this season than versatile 200-pounder Dave Helmreich at West Bloomfield. He has had two good years there as a flanker doing everything well.

But he hasn't been able to convince his fellow coaches in the Wayne-Oakland circuit who almost unanimously agree that the Lakers will be No. 1 contenders for the championship.

They base their prediction on the fact that West Bloomfield has an All-County end in Dave Helmreich, a sharp quarterback in junior Dan Greig, a 279-pound offensive center-defensive tackle in Ken Victor, another veteran tackle in Bill Eliason and experienced linebackers.

Paddy quickly points to his backfield as a possible weak spot.

"We have a lot of problems in the backfield," the coach lamented. "There is a problem at tackle, too."

FILLS BIG HOLE

Letter winner Vaughn McGraw and varsity newcomer Richard Sweetman probably will start at halfbacks. This leaves a fullback problem.

Helmreich is the one player who causes Paddy to smile every time he thinks of the big end.

BRONCO LEADER — One of the better backs in the tough Wayne-Oakland League this fall is expected to be talented Jim Ray of Holly. He paced the Broncos in scoring last season with 48 points topped by 25 in one outing.

Lakers, Then Northville

Holly Has Big Tests Early in Loop Slate

Holly's Wayne-Oakland title hopes will either get a boost or a jolt in the second and third games of the season.

★ ★ ★

The Broncos of coach Ray Figg will open against Flint St. John instead of Grand Blanc this season. They will then be confronted with league power West Bloomfield and defending champion Northville on successive Fridays.

"We should be in real good shape this year," commented Figg. "Some tough league games early in our schedule will be crucial and may well determine the total season's outcome."

Dick canfield is starting his third year at quarterback for Holly and could be the top signal caller in the league. He is an able field general, good runner and can hit his pass receivers.

★ ★ ★

FAVORITE TARGET

Lance Hadden is expected to be a favorite target of the passers. Veteran interior linemen are guard Dave Bezdecny and tackle Dave Young. A pair of big newcomers are expected to bolster the tackle slots.

Among the nine letterwinners gone from last year's third place team are halfback Bill Conti, end Wilbur McKeachie and tackle Daryl Anderson.

Figg is working with 12 lettermen.

Is Milford Area 'Sleeper' Team?

The Redskins are being picked to lead the second division, but there are several reasons why some of the contenders may stumble over Milford:

1. A strong interior line.
2. A hard running, 212-pound fullback.
3. Experience at quarterback.

"We should be greatly improved in our line," said coach Jerry Ganzel," since each position is filled by a returning letterman.

★ ★ ★

"If we can come up with a couple of halfbacks to get outside this would add to the power running of our big fullback. The main problem is to greatly improve our offensive running."

OFFENSIVE THREAT

Gary Anderson is the 5-11 fullback who is expected to carry much of Milford's ground attack. Jim Ward, who lettered as a freshman, probably will start at one halfback.

Sophomores Jim McFarland and Jim MacCaughan are other backfield prospects.

Guards Jon Jackson and Bob Carlson and tackle Ed Filip are top returnees on the line. All told, 17 returning Redskins won awards as Milford posted a 3-5 mark in 1961.

★ ★ ★

"Unless we can come with a good offensive threat, we'll be fighting it out in the lower division."

QB Search at Clarkston

The new head coach of the Wolves is looking for a quarterback and linemen. He needs both if Clarkston is to finish in the Wayne-Oakland League's first division.

The Wolves posted a 4-3 league mark in 1961, but they did it with the sharp quarterbacking of Mike Applegate, fleet-footed halfback Willie Knox, end Don Miller, center and place kicker Rich Sheldon and tackle Roger Rolfe.

These key players have received diplomas. In fact, Clarkston has only five letterwinners on hand.

Three of the returnees are in the backfield. Dick Moore, a bruising 185-pound fullback and halfback John Williams are expected to carry the brunt of the attack. Williams, only a junior, saw considerable action last season. Another backfield veteran is Dan Ragatz.

ANCHORS LINE

Finding a quarterback of Applegate's caliber is a major problem for the new coach. Applegate sparked the Wolves for three years and there is no understudy to take over in his place.

Kettering Looks for Improvement Over Debut

Rochester Is Favored to Repeat

They're talking about Rochester as the team to beat again in the Tri-County as the teams start their league "warmups" tonight.

The Falcons of Gene Konley had trouble only with Lapeer last fall in whipping the three schools they faced. Things could be better balanced this time around.

One big reason is that Rochester lost 22 of 28 lettermen via graduation. Another is that Romeo has 17 lettermen. A 3rd would have Lapeer capable of being troublesome and a 4th would be the fact that Kettering should be improved in its 2nd season. The Captains have 12 lettermen.

L'Anse Creuse may have trouble staying out of the cellar but John Antico has been encouraged by "the largest team we've ever had."

★ ★ ★

At Lapeer, veteran skipper Jack Fitzpatrick has been pushing his charges hard hoping for a shot at the top spot and improvement on a 5-4 record. Lapeer has been runnerup two straight years.

GOOD BACKS

Butch Yeich and speedy Mike Supernault should give the Panthers a pair of standout backs. Jim LeDuc is another experienced hand. Supernault tallied one TD as a reserve last season.

★ ★ ★

Antico has eight lettermen from the 1961 eleven which was 2-2 in loop action. They include two-year veterans Cliff VanIdour, a 245-pound tackle, 198-pound fullback Aron Arnaiz and center Dan Lozon. Guards Daune Kaatz and Dan Schmidt, tackle Dennis Carly, 200 and backs Dick Skelton and Ross Garrison are others back.

★ ★ ★

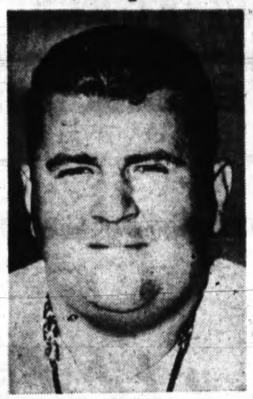
Backs Ed Defer, Bob Cukr, a 200-pounder and Randy MacConell and end Don Van Camp are among the most promising new aspirants. Arnaiz scored 18 points in 1961.

★ ★ ★

Here is the expected order of finish:
1. Rochester
2. Romeo
3. Kettering
4. Lapeer
5. L'Anse Creuse

Captains Hope to Whip More Than One Foe

11 Lettermen Back Topped by Campbell at WKHS



COACH: Jim Larkin
HIGH SCHOOL: Waterford
LOCATION: Pontiac, Mich.
COLLEGE: Hillsdale
COACHING RECORD: 1-6
KETTERING RECORD: 1-6
SYSTEM: Split, Wing T
ASSISTANTS: John Moffat, Irv Thompson, Dale Fussman

Waterford Kettering's only claim to fame in its 1st football season a year ago was an opening night upset of Waterford but coach Jim Larkin has high hopes for improvement this fall.

He has 11 lettermen back from the team which lost six straight after surprising the Skippers and thinks the experience they gained will start to show this time around.

The big head man feels his Captains could become a contender for Tri-County championship despite being cellar-dwellers in 1961.

Main reasons for his optimism are some strong middle linemen and veteran backs. The major problem has been finding ends.

Tom Campbell, a 220-pounder, should be one of the better tackles around Oakland County. He played at Waterford as a sophomore and then at WKHS where he gained honorable mention for The Press All-County Class A team.

VET GUARDS

Jerry Ryan and Chuck Haviland are a pair of experienced guards who will be working with Campbell trying to provide protection for such backs as Mel Patterson and 130-pound swifty Earl Hook. One letterman linemen expected to play a key role has been ruled ineligible. Eight other tested performers had graduated.

Spartans to Fly

Michigan State's football squad will fly by chartered airliner to four of its five away football games during the 1962 season.

The Spartans are scheduled to wing their way to Stanford, Indiana, Northwestern and Illinois. For the Notre Dame game, the squad will travel by train. All departures are set for the Friday before the game, with the exception of Stanford, when the Spartans take off on a Thursday.

Orion Hopes to Rebound From Poor '61 Season

Built around nine returning lettermen, the Lake Orion football team will be trying to rebound from a last place finish in the Oakland A League this year after being co-champion in 1960.

★ ★ ★

The Dragons will get right into the business at hand following tomorrow night's traditional opening game against Pontiac Northern at Wisner Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Orion, riddled by inexperience and injuries, dove to a 3-5-1 record last fall.

★ ★ ★

But impressive closing victories over Fitzgerald and Lapeer saved some face for Coach Frank Kownacki and his staff and gave them hope for this season.

★ ★ ★

The highlight of the losing season was the development of a strong passing combination in quarterback Jon Cucksey and end Dave Hallmark. They gained valuable experience as sophomores.

HALLMARK TOPS

Hallmark was easily the team scoring leader with 53 points. Cucksey fired eight touchdown passes.

A good-running experienced halfback who should help keep the defenders "honest" is Frank Ochoa. A little speedster, the senior tallied 31 points.

The Dragons should have a well balanced No. 1 unit but will likely lack depth which was a major problem in '61.

A stronger defense is also a must. The cellar-dwellers scored well but allowed 198 points to opponents. It could be a similar situation this time around.

Football Record Tops

LOS ANGELES—Highest attendance for a NFL championship game was registered in 1955 when the Rams and Bears drew 85,693 at Los Angeles, a mark threatened annually.

Unusual May Occur for Oxford Gridders

Can a team lose more games than it wins and still claim a championship

The Wildcats are co-favorites to win the South Central championship. Only three of the nine games are against league foes. The other six complete the toughest football schedule in the school's history.

Four Class A schools —Clarkston, Waterford Kettering, Madison and Flint Bentley — and two "B" schools with enrollments larger than Oxford — Lake Orion and Romeo — are carded.

Because this is the last year of the South Central the double round robin schedule has been dropped. The Wildcats play Imlay City, Millington and North Branch only once this fall instead of twice as in the past.

Oxford needs a sweep of league foes plus two nonleague wins to take the crown and still show a cats of coach Walt Bruan appear ready to snarl after several lean seasons.

Among the 15 lettermen are a pair of linemen well over 200 pounds. On his numerical roster the coach lists 220-pound Jon Singleton as a tackle and halfback and 210-pound Jeff Ruff as a center, tackle and halfback. The coach isn't saying why this pair is listed at backfield posts.

Oxford's strong point is expected to be on offense where there is a letterman for each position.

"We have a few defensive question marks," said Braun. "Like most small high school teams our biggest problem will be to avoid key injuries and get the boys up from the junior varsity to push the lettermen."

TOP WILDCAT — Junior Dan VanVleet may be the big gun of the Oxford attack this season. The versatile quarterback was 2nd in team points a year ago with 18 and also threw two passes that went for TDs.

Foes Know About Falcons' Mitzelfeld

Ask prep football fans in Lapeer, Mt. Clemens and Waterford if they know where Mitzelfeld's Department Store is located and the majority probably will come up with blank looks.

★ ★ ★

Ask fans in Lapeer, Mt. Clemens, Romeo, Avondale and Utica where Tom Mitzelfeld hails from, and they will answer:

Rochester.

The store is located in the same community. Outside of Rochester's shopping area, athlete Tom is best known of the Mitzelfelds.

This 175-pound scatback led the opposition a merry chase up and down gridirons last fall as he led Rochester to the Tri-County championship.

★ ★ ★

The 5-9 senior piled up 100 points in nine games to tie for third in Oakland County scoring. Among his victims were Mt. Clemens L'Anse Creuse, Lapeer, Romeo, Utica, Avondale.

WILL BE INTRODUCED

Waterford Kettering is in the same league, but the Captains didn't play Rochester in football last year. The two schools are scheduled to meet this time around and Kettering fans will get to see Mitzelfeld in action.

Graduation depleted Rochester's ranks by 22 lettermen. Six returned to help coach Gene Konley build another contender.

Among the missing are two-time All-County center Clay Oveson, quarterback Bud Baldwin, who directed the Falcon's attack for three years, hard running fullback Ed Dando, end Joe Kowaleski, tackles Ed Fliss and John Thom and halfback Pete Long.

Three 1961 regulars are back in uniform. In addition to Mitzelfeld they are guard Joe Stefanski and end Ted Swoboda. Larry Benham and Larry Muckenhiln are experienced tackles scheduled to move into the first unit.

Seeking to fill Baldwin's shoes is Rog Thompson, a 5-10, 170-pound signal caller. Guard Rog Carpenter is a top newcomer along the line.

The Falcons may appear weakened this season. But a look at Konley's record shows that any team coached by the Western Michigan graduate is tough to beat.

SCORING ACE — Tom Mitzelfeld, who tied for 3rd in Oakland County scoring last fall with 100 points, is all set to terrorize Rochester opponents once more. The rugged and fast halfback tallied 16 TDs as a junior.

Bulldogs Eye Fast Start

Romeo fans hope the Bulldogs will start the way they did last season, and not the way they finished.

★ ★ ★

The Bulldogs made everyone sit up and take notice by posting three straight shutouts. Then disaster struck. Romeo lost its final six games.

★ ★ ★

Another fast start is in prospect this season.

Mark Johnson and Jon Hanley return at halfbacks and Buzz Smiles is slated to be the quarterback. Fullback Chris Palmer and fleet - footed halfback Bill Trieloff are gone, but this appears to be the least of Maule's problems.

Keith Simonic, a 193-pounder, is slated to round out the backfield at fullback. Jack Ruddick moves in at center replacing graduated Jeff Sutherland.

SHORTAGE OF ENDS

If there is a weakness, it is at end. Joe Walker and Gene Hennig have graduated and there are no experienced replacements. Otherwise the Bulldogs appear to have a good starting line.

Bernie McCoy and Mike Manaci will man the guard posts and Larry Kaeding will be at one tackle.

"I believe we have much more experience and balance than in 1961," Maule pointed out. "But we lack weight on the line."

The Bulldogs have one thing in their favor. They play six of their nine games at home. The first is Friday with Richmond.

AVONDALE UNIT — Checking over his backfield unit for the coming prep season is Avondale coach Frank Crowell. Romy Lucero is the quarterback ready to take the ball from big center Doug Venable. Mike Ball is 40, Roger Ball 49 and Roger Bauer 68. Lucero, Mike Ball and Bauer accounted for 102 of the 1961 team's 127 points led by Bauer's 65.

DOUBLE TROUBLE — Ron Close (29) and Don Close (56) give Avondale a rugged brother combination to throw against rivals in the tough Oakland A League. Both are linemen.

Plenty of Shine for Avondale

★ ★ ★

The Yellow Jackets, pulling one surprise after another, went into the final game at Oak Park with a chance to win the outright Oakland A championship.

The Yellow Jackets are hoping to take all the spoils this time around. And they just might do it.

★ ★ ★

Reasons for the optimism are a wealth of material in the backfield and experience in the line. The lone drawback is a lack of depth in the forward wall.

DEFENSIVE WOES

Crowell is hoping that a 1961 weakness — poor defensive play — won't return to haunt the Jackets.

Avondale displayed plenty of scoring punch last season, but the defense allowed an average of over two touchdowns a game.

Led by team captain Roger Bauer at halfback, the purple and gold will feature a backfield of fullback Mike Ball, halfback Romy Lucero and quarterback Denny Acker. Backing this quartet will be Roger Ball, Lynn Thorpe and Rod Ash.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The general outlook is that the team will do as well as 1961. Because of a lack of line depth and the general improvement of other Oakland A teams, Avon may be hard pressed to repeat.

SHARP RUNNER — Halfback George Sharpe is expected to lead the Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes running attack this fall.

Clawson Gets Oakland-A Nod

The consensus of opinion around the Oakland A circuit is that Clawson will be perched on top of the heap in that league when the final bell rings in November.

Although they are picking the CHS, most of the other coaches feel very good about their own chances which should make it interesting.

Clawson certainly has the troops to make a big bid with 26 lettermen back from a 2-3-1 team that added two "outside" triumphs. Co-Champions Avondale and Troy figure to be tough again with 12 experienced boys each. Lake Orion could move out of the cellar and go back to being a contender again if a pretty good 1st unit holds up. Madison is aiming high with a dozen lettermen. Oak Park has 14 and Fitzgerald 17 veterans of some varsity play.

Sounds like quite a dogfight and it likely will be.

Two boys have been looking good at quarterback for Clawson. Ends Chuck Strittmatter and Tom Grunder, big tackle Bill Hayes, 220, center Jerry Udell, halfbacks Brodie Burton and Rick Satow and fullback Bill Kerr are some of the Clawson names to remember.

STAR ENDS

Troy's ends John Denison and Roger Qualman may become the best in the area. Some of the other key Colts are quarterback Don Armstrong, linemen Gerry Burkland, Hal Klusendorf and Dave Cudney and sophomore fullback Jeff Quandt, who is small but solid.

Madison boss Ed Consolo is expecting big things of his Eagles. Top guy in his plans is John Charotti, a big halfback-linebacker playing his 4th year on the varsity. Some of the others are end Lou Knoche, halfback Connie Hamner, little guard Bob Antushevich, 190-pound tackle Vin Bacevicius and Wilbur Lewis, who has been working at both end and tackle. Chiarotti gained over 600 yards last season.

If late starter Lou Jordan and question mark Al Stephans are ready to go early Oak Park should have a good backfield to go with some good linemen like 220-pound end Al Ruby and stocky tackle Berry Rubin, 210. Two-year vet Marsh Shencopp is the quarterback and end Mike Rappaport is another important member of the Redskins. Depth may be the chief problem at Oak Park.

Fitzgerald will be smaller than usual despite the presence of 6-5, 235-pound tackle Al Harpan. Little halfback Joe Stamplis and slim end Gary Mooneyham head the team.

Rubin made The Press All-County Class A 2nd team in 1961. Denison and Qualman were honorable mention in "B."

The expected order of finish:

1. Clawson
2. Troy
3. Avondale
4. Madison
5. Oak Park
6. Fitzgerald
7. Lake Orion

Three Teams Bidding for SCC Championship

Three schools will be making their annual bid to try to unseat perennial power Imlay City as the South Central Conference holds what is expected to be its final season in football.

The Spartans may be in for some trouble with only six lettermen back from the team that went unbeaten in league play and was 7-1 in all.

Oxford had 15 lettermen back from a squad that was a distant 2nd at 3-3 but injuries have cropped up to hinder Walt Braun's team. One boy is out for the season with a head injury sustained in a farm accident and line veteran Tom Hardgrove may miss about three games with a broken toe.

North Branch could be the team to watch with 19 experienced hands back while Millington also has a good nucleus. The latter two shared last place in 1961 and are determined to even some scores.

★ ★ ★

Imlay should have another good line but it will lack size. Guards Bob Watt and Gary Hoeksema, end Marshall Rea, Norm Teller, a center, and tackle Dick Bridenbaugh all won letters last fall. Tiny Ron Ruby is only back to play varsity ball before.

Three-year vet tackle Lynn DeGrow, 184, heads the North Branch cast. Quarterback Fred Monroe, halfbacks Jack Taylor and John Braidwood and center Paul Henne all have played two seasons. Another key man for Phil Marazita may be ballcarrier Howard Myers.

CARDS YOUNG

Millington will have nine lettermen but is a young team. "We had a complete backfield returning but they all moved away," said moaning coach Wilber Seltz. Another good prospect is not playing. Darwin Doty, Chuck Sawyer and Norm Stange in the backfield, end Dick Saeger and interior linemen Gerald Hennessy, Dal VanWormer, Chuck Mays, Bill Bushaw and 190-pound Bob Blackmer each has won one letter. New back Eddie Jewell also may help.

The teams will play each other twice to make up for the shortage of league members.

The same plan was followed last year with some strange results. Oxford and Millington exchanged one-sided triumphs. Imlay drubbed the Wildcats once and had a tight battle the next time. Oxford walloped North Branch in mid-season but could win by just one point in the final game. North Branch took Millington by 11 points and later they played to a tie.

★ ★ ★

Oxford has never beaten Imlay City on the gridiron and Braun has his boys working hard hoping "this is the year."

Here is the expected order of finish:
1. Imlay City
2. Oxford
3. North Branch
4. Millington

Deadlocked Race Seen for Southern Thumb

The Southern Thumb football race wound up in a unique four-way tie for the championship last season and the teams appear just as even this year.

New Haven, Armada, Memphis and Anchor Bay all were 5-2 with Brown City close behind at 4-3. Capac was 3-4 while Almont and Dryden were the only teams never in the running.

New Haven has 16 of 20 lettermen back. Featured are quarterback Kelly Dryer, runner Dwight Lee and big tackle Jack Belt — all two-year vets. Back John Mayer, tackle Ron Moore and end Ed Powers are other key men.

12 VET TIGERS

At Armada, the Tigers have 12 experienced hands including five who are seeking their 3rd grid letters. They are 200-pound fullback Tom Gores, halfbacks John Murnan and Dean Kinngbeck, tackle Gary Glisan, who weighs 233, and center Gary Andrejak.

Memphis has 11 lettermen topped by little guard Jim Juip. A trio of capable backs includes Jim Olmstead, Bob Moore and Bill Doig. Tall ends Gary Lynch and Don Burns and linemen Ken Dunsmore and Jack Melton are others who give coach Frank Lerchen high hopes.

Anchor Bay was the hardest hit by graduation losing 14 of 21 letter-winners. But the boys John Laurent has back are of top quality. They are backs Dennis Folan and George Torney, 6-3, 225 Larry Teller and Al Godin, flankers, Don Halley, 201, a tackle, and guards Dave Foerester and Dick Larry.

★ ★ ★

Some of the coaches are picking annual basketball-baseball power Capac to take the laurels on the gridiron. Standouts still in school are Ken Kobayashi, John Staniloui, Ken Adamski and John Scheuer.

DRYDEN EXPERIENCED

Dryden could make a big bounce from last place into contention with 15 lettermen on hand. Two-year backfield performers Paul Grondin and Ron Hebert head the pack. Center Dave Bancroft, tackles Mike Place and Dick Powers and Roger VanDenBerg, a halfback, are some of the other key men in Bob Mason's plans. Size may be his major problem.

Almont won only once last year and the Raiders may have trouble bettering that. There are 10 lettermen back but the top boys on the 1961 team graduated. Converted guard John Hough has been working at quarterback and John Plumb at fullback. Ed Teslick, a 200-pound tackle, is among some promising newcomers.

Dwight Lee led the area in scoring last fall with 85 points. Staniloui had 43 and Torney 35.

Pontiac Press Photo

READY TO FIRE — Jon Cucksey came into his own as a passer when only a sophomore at Lake Orion last fall and may be headed for big things the next two grid seasons. He passed for eight of the 20 Dragon touchdowns during his 1st try at varsity ball.

Kimball Again EML Choice

Royal Oak Kimball is defending champion of the Eastern Michigan League and rival coaches are picking 1961 Oakland County Coach-of-the-Year Pin Ryan to finish on top again this fall.

Their combined opinion makes sense although he lost many top performers among 23 lettermen who graduated. There are still 11 experienced boys wearing ROK togs when play starts tonight.

Ferndale, champion two years ago and a close 3rd last fall, appears to be right in the thick of battle along with the usually strong Hazel Park.

Birmingham Seaholm, East Detroit and Mt. Clemens will all be out to better losing records with good crops of lettermen. Fort Huron faltered after being a contender and Bob Hayes' boys hope to get started and keep rolling this time.

WILSON BACK

The Knights will average about 200 from tackle to tackle with Don Baier 230, Larry Vernier 191, Gene Muenchausen 205, sophomore Craig Irwin 215 and Joe Ripmaster 201. Muenchausen and Irwin will also be linebackers. Dick Sanderson and Ted James are lettermen backs. Pete Rowe and Tom Bekemeyer are new halfbacks.

All the familiar names are also missing at Ferndale but Frank Joranko still is figured to make a run for the title with some strong linemen and fast backs.

Hazel Park has another fullback to follow Frank Stagg. He is 230-pound Dennis McCarthy, a two-year veteran who runs the 100-yard dash in 11 seconds. Dash man Daswell Campbell, a 10-second man, will also be in the backfield along with big quarterback Ken McLain. Bill Parker and new 200-pounders Dick Knoblock and Joe Thompson will likely head the line. Jim Boreland and Tony Krakowski are inexperienced backs who may come along later. Line size and depth figure to be Chuck Skinner's main problem. He calls his backfield "great."

Seaholm certainly has a nucleus to make a good title bid with 15 lettermen and two big transfers.

REAL VETERANS

East Detroit lists 13 experienced gridders, five of them two-year performers. They are tackle Dick Kwas, a 200-pounder, signal-caller Jack MacGillivray, 185-pound guards Ron Schaffer and Chuck DeDuijtsche and Bill Klinger, a fullback. Little halfback Tom Seavy and big ends Gary Johnson and Dick Williamson are being groomed for heavy duty.

Mt. Clemens appears headed for trouble again. The Bathers are young and inexperienced, although nine are lettermen. B. Makowsky, a guard and linebacker, is the only real veteran. M. Wilden is a 205-pound tackle. G. Zagel at quarterback and halfback J. Johnson are likely starters. D. Miller will see service at end or guard or both. G. Weimer is an end and halfback. A trio of big boys lacking experience are fullback J. Chamble, end. D. O'Meara and B. Brandenburg, a center.

Here is the expected order of finish:
1. Royal Oak Kimball
2. Ferndale
3. Hazel Park
4. Port Huron
5. Birmingham Seaholm
6. East Detroit
7. Mt. Clemens

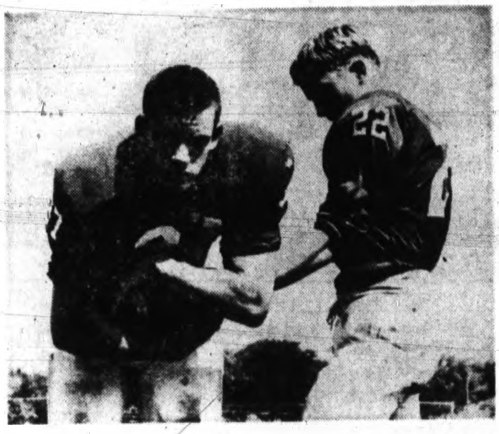
Seaholm Preparing for Better Season



Pontiac Press Photo

SEAHOLM STARTERS—Two likely backfield starters opening night for Birmingham Seaholm will be Jack Harvey, left, and Jim Foster. Both gained valuable experience last fall. Harvey was a distant 2nd in team scoring with 24 points — all scored in the last half of the schedule. Foster threw two touchdown passes.

This could be the year Birmingham Seaholm shakes the Eastern Michigan League instead of loop foes shaking the Maples and getting quite a few leaves to fall.

★ ★ ★

"Championship" is a word that is not being uttered by the Seaholm coaching staff. Instead, coach Carl Lemle is using such terms as "tough" and "improved" to describe the Maples.

Fifteen letterwinners are on hand from last year's team which finished fourth in the league with a 2-4 mark. Among the missing is fleet-footed back Jim Daniels.

The Maples will be big this year — in the backfield and up front — and it is going to take some strong shaking by rivals to hold them in check.

★ ★ ★

A couple of transfers added to six of last year's regulars may give Seaholm the needed boost to climb near the top.

BIG FULLBACK

Mike Conway, a 190-pounder who checked in from Tennessee, is a strong contender at fullback. So strong, in fact, that Lemle is taking a look at how 198-pound Jack Harvey, last year's fullback, runs from halfback.

Ray Drothler, 150, will rely on speed at the other halfback. Jim Foster is expected to call the signals in the T attack.

"If our line comes through," said Lemle, "we could be pretty tough. However, we don't have too much depth."

Opening the holes for the backs will be a line containing several 200-pounders.

★ ★ ★

Gage Cooper, a 205-pound guard is the other line veteran.

Halfback Ken Heft leads the list of newcomers.

Pontiac Press Photo

LEG ACTION — Brant Conley will be the fellow called on to kick Birmingham Seaholm out of trouble when the Maples fall short of a 1st down. The 200-pound back has a lot of foot to put into his punts.

N. Farmington in Debut

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Groves and Riverside are picked as leading contenders for the crown. Southgate and Cherry Hill are expected to finish in the middle.

★ ★ ★

North Farmington coach Ron Holland is working with all sophomores and juniors. The school, opened for the first time a year ago, will not have a senior class until September, 1964.

The Raiders played a predominantly reserve schedule last season with an all-sophomore team and posted a 7-1 mark. All players are back, bolstered by incoming sophs.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

This will be North Farmington's first and last football appearance in the Tri-River. The school joins another league next year.

Ex-PCH Gridder Rush Figured for Duty at No. 2 Right Tackle

No more of that fancy platoon stuff with offensive and defense platoons spelling each other every time the ball changes hands.

Not that coach Duffy Daugherty particularly likes the idea — he explains the Spartans just don't have enough experienced talent for the multiple-eleven system this year.

"Platooning is a luxury we won't be able to afford," he said. "We're going to have to keep our 11 best men on the field most of the time. We lost 20 lettermen and most of them were seniors who won letters all three years."

This doesn't mean Daugherty is down-rating his team. The affable Irishman, starting his ninth season as head coach of the Spartans, always has been an optimist.

"We're going to have a good team," he declared, "but a good team may not be outstanding in the conference. All the material looks to be stronger this year."

Michigan State's first team is as classy as anything you'll find in the conference. The three leading rushers of last season are back—fullback George Saimes and halfback speedsters Sherman Lewis and Dewey Lincoln.

The line will be a beef trust anchored by the bruising "three B's" — 250-pound center Dave Behrman and tackles Ed Budde and Jim Bobbitt.

★ ★ ★

Two Pontiac gridders, Charlie Brown and Gerry Rush, will see plenty of action this year. Brown, a junior, won a letter as a sophomore last year and at 207 pounds he is figured a starter at guard.

Rush is a sophomore but a powerful 235 pound tackle listed right behind Ed Budde on the right side.

They are the only Oakland County players listed on the roster.

NFL Story, Sept. 20th

CBS will present "Pro Football Explosion"—the story of the National Football League, an hour network show on Thursday, Sept. 20, (8:30 p.m., New York time).

Pro Contracts for Nine

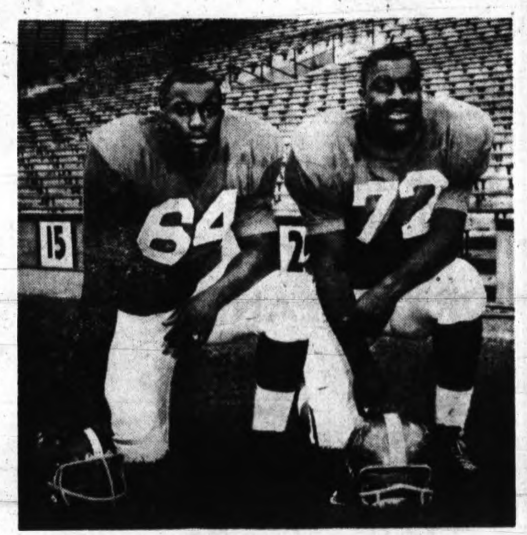
April Fool's Day is said to date from 16th century France. New Year was changed from April 1 to Jan. 1 and those who could not keep up with the change were called "April Fools."



AREA SPARTANS — Charlie Brown (64), who last year won a starting berth as a linebacker-guard at Michigan State as a sophomore, will be joined by Gerry Rush, a 230 pound tackle, who was Brown's teammate at Pontiac Central.

Irish Hope No Better Than Results in 1961

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's football success this season, unless the script plays better than it reads, will be unusual if it betters last season's even break of 5-5.

With good reason, the Irish just barely made the top 25 listed in the Associated Press preseason poll in the 24th spot.

And Joe Kuharich's fourth Notre Dame edition must meet eight foes ranked higher, including (No. 4) Michigan State and (No. 7) Purdue, while the two other opponents, Northwestern and Iowa, easily could crash into national notice.

Kuharich, still trying to forget a dismal 2-8 campaign only two seasons ago, seems to be stating the obvious in commenting "We don't have the potential of last year's team at this time."

Already hard-hit by ineligibility of junior halfbacks Paul Costa and Jim Snowden, both swift 235-pounders, the Irish offense could be severely hobbled if captain-fullback Mike Lind's surgery-treated knee is not sound.

"We still haven't put pressure on Lind," said Kuharich, "and we probably won't until the end of this week to see if he can go top speed in the Oklahoma opener (Sept. 29). He may not be right until the third game."

The Irish meet Purdue Oct. 6 and their third foe Oct. 13 is Wisconsin, back on Notre Dame's schedule after a long lapse.

Only 14 lettermen return, so Kuharich must starch his team considerably with inexperienced juniors and sophomores, especially in the line interior.

Packers Await '62 as Season of 'Pressure'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — As defending National League champions, the Green Bay Packers consider 1962 a year of decision—and pressure.

"It's one thing to win the championship, it's another to hold on to it," says coach Vince Lombardi, who rebuilt a league doormat into an awesome power in the short span of three seasons.

With virtually the same team that posted an 11-3 record in 1961 regular season play and then routed the New York Giants 37-0 for the title, the Packers are rated odds-on favorites to win the Western Division crown a third straight year.

Healthy Gross Hope of Titan's Campaign

DETROIT — Jerry Gross, the University of Detroit's snappy senior quarterback, has one overriding goal for the 1962 football campaign — he wants to stay healthy.

Although the little Titan missile thrower already owns a secure niche in U-D grid annals, he has yet to last a full college season.

A broken right ankle suffered in the 1961 Army game probably cost the 5-foot-10 Titan ace the nation's total offense crown—an honor which fits into his plans for this season.

"My main concern this year is to put in a full season," Gross said prior to donning his practice togs. "I broke my nose in my sophomore season and Army put me on the shelf last year. If I can stay healthy I believe my other goals will be easier to attain."

At the time the cadets racked him up, the former Bay City prep flash had amassed 1,126 yards by air and another 124 by land. He was leading the nation when the accident in the Titan's sixth game occurred.

John Idzik, who replaced Jim Miller as head coach, calls Gross "170 pounds of dynamite." Idzik would like to strengthen U-D's defense and emphasized this part of the game during Titan drills. He and Gross both feel it will boost Jerry.

"I hope it will give me more work—we'll have the ball more," Gross said.

If he can stay healthy, Gross could surpass the yardage total of 1,813 set by the university's Ted Marchibroda in 1952.

★ ★ ★

Gross's three favorite targets of last season—ends Larry Vargo and Steve Stonebreaker and halfback Jim Shorter — all are in pro camps this year. He doesn't think he'll suffer...

"Ends are at least half of the passing game and those guys were great," Gross said, "but we've got two good ones returning."

★ ★ ★

He named Tom Bolz, and John Lower. "They should be real great this year," he said.

2 Point Tries Better

'M' Has Eager Sophomores

End Positions Problems After Losing Three

Imlay's Jim Ward Gets Crack at Terminal for Wolverines

With 24 of 42 lettermen gone and seven of last year's starters out of the lineup, it's a young looking team.

In fact, said coach Bump Elliott, "there'll be greater opportunity for young men to break into the lineup than at any time since I've been head coach.

"Every player will get ample opportunity to show what he can do. At this point we're not a solid ball club, and we're going to have to depend on numbers to offset the loss of seven first stringers."

Three successive losses at right end hit the Wolverines' problem line —already missing lettermen at center and fullback — hard.

Bruce McLenna, a junior from Fenton was declared scholastically ineligible a week before the start of fall practice. A week later, sophomore John Henderson of Dayton, Ohio, was ruled off the team for the same reason. Doug Bickle of Traverse City was dropped for scholastic reasons earlier in the year.

Sophomore Jim Conley of Springdale, Pa., second after team captain Bob Brown at left end, has been impressive along with sophomore quaterback Bob Timberlake of Franklin, Ohio.

Timberlake also surprised coaches with a show of unusual power and accuracy as a placekicker in practice. He now is looked upon as a possible replacement for Bickle, who booted 32 points last year.

Virtually the entire squad came to fall practice trimmer and leaner than in recent seasons, Elliott said.

It might mean greater speed later in the season, he added, but to date backfield speed has been just about average.

The exception has been veteran halfback Dave Raimey, whose speed has been excellent, th coach said.

Join Conference Together

CHICAGO — Indiana, Iowa and Ohio State joined the Big 10 conference in 1912.

Name Sticks With Team

Albion MIAA Favorite

Albion College is expected to ride the arm of star quarterback Frank Gould to its second straight MIAA championship.

Olivet, once the doormat of state college football, may have something to say about the Britons continuing to reign. Alma also is rumbling.

Adrian, Kalamazoo and Hope are expected to fight it out in the second division.

Gould has shattered every Albion passing record and coach Morley Fraser looks for more of the same from his senior signal caller. A host of veterans makes the outlook all the more impressive.

Stu Parshall has successfully completed a major reclamation project at Olivet. The Comets lost only a handful of lettermen from the 1961 team that lost only to Albion in nine games.

Adrian has a new coach, Chappy Marvin, fair experience, but the annual quarterback problem. Kalamazoo will show good speed and may break into the first division. Hope is down again this year.

★ ★ ★

The outlook:

1. Albion
2. Olivet
3. Alma
4. Kalamazoo
5. Adrian
6. Hope

First Two Contests Big for Lamphere

"If we can get through our first two games — Clawson and Avondale — we sohuld give a good account of ourselves in league play."

Joe Borovic is hopeful that his junior laden Lamphere team can gain experience and few injuries against the favorites for the Oakland A championship.

The Rams will then open play in their own league, the Central Suburban, where they finished third last season.

"I have about 75 out this year compared with 25 and 30 in the past. Our 10th graders are really big."

There are 26 juniors and only six seniors on the squad. Eleven are letterwinners.

QB Is No. 1 Problem at Western Michigan

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Merle J. Schlosser, starting his seventh year as head football coach at Western Michigan University, has picked up a little offense here and a little there.

★ ★ ★

As a sailor, he made the rugged Great Lakes team at quarterback under Paul Brown during the war and learned "some double handoff stuff." Later, at Illinois under coach Ray Eliot, he picked up the Illini belly series. While an assistant to Missouri's Don Faurot, Schlosser became familiar with the split-T.

★ ★ ★

The only trouble is that a skilled quarterback is needed to make all of Schlosser's mechanized trickery work to perfection. This is his No. 1 problem in 1962.

Ed Chlebek, the Mid-American conference's total offense leader last season, graduated and now plays his trade with Ottawa in the Canadian League.

"Quarterback is definitely our biggest question mark," Schlosser said. "We lost 12 lettermen but I think we'll miss Chlebek the most."

Senior quarterback Roger Theder, a former marine from Watertown, Wis., will guide the Broncos fortunes. As a sophomore, he threw four touchdown passes but saw little action last year behind the durable Chlebek.

"We know he's a better runner than Chlebek, but whether he'll be able to pass is something we just have to wait to find out," Schlosser said.

"Overall, we'll have better depth among our echelon players with 20 returning lettermen but the second units lack experience, particularly at end and tackle." Schlosser's line problems hinge on finding replacements for all-league tackle John Lomakoski, now with the Detroit Lions, and flanker Dennie Holland. Both Larue, a converted senior end from Grand Rapids, is being groomed for Lamokoski's slot, while Ron Schneider, a 6-1 sophomore from Owosso, is a promising newcomer at end.

★ ★ ★

Ohio State No. 1 Choice for 1962

Ohio State, edged by all-conquering Alabama in the voting for the No. 1 college team of 1961, was an overwhelming choice today in the Associated Press' preseason poll to take it all this fall.

The Buckeyes were picked to top the nation by 41 of the 50 sports writers and sportscasters from across the country who participated in the poll. Texas was tabbed for second and Alabama for third.

Michigan State was selected for the fourth position followed by: 5, Louisiana State; 6, Mississippi; 7, Purdue; 8, Duke; 9, Penn State, and 10, Washington.

Alabama was picked to finish first by three members of the national panel, Michigan State and Mississippi by two each, and Texas and Purdue by one each.

★ ★ ★

On the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc., etc., Ohio State rolled up 558 points in the balloting to 372 for Texas and 325 for Alabama.

★ ★ ★

Of the 10 teams picked to rank with the elite this season, six finished in the top 10 last year. They are Alabama (1), Ohio State (2), Texas (3), Louisiana State (4), Mississippi (5), and Michigan State (8).

★ ★ ★

Iowa was tabbed as the No. 1 team in 1961 but the Hawkeyes, after sweeping four straight, were ruined by injuries and wound up with a 5-4 record.

The top 10 teams picked in the pre-season poll (first place votes in parentheses — points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1.	Ohio State (41)	558
2.	Texas (1)	372
3.	Alabama (3)	325
4.	Michigan State (2)	278
5.	Louisiana State	227
6.	Mississippi (2)	207
7.	Purdue (1)	173
8.	Duke	123
9.	Penn State	111
10.	Washington	86

NFL '62 TV Coverage to Be Most Extensive

Thirty - eight million television fans — more than a million for each player on a National Football League squad — watched NFL games each week on television in 1961.

The figure is an estimated average for the 14-week regular season, but it is a conservative one.

Interest in the NFL is growing faster than it can be measured, and in line with that trend, TV coverage of NFL games in 1962 will be more complex and more extensive than ever before in the history of the League or medium.

But while 1962 will represent a new high in TV coverage of National League football, it is just the beginning because this is only the first season of the NFL's single network arrangement.

The contract —negotiated with the Columbia Broadcasting System for the 1962 and 1963 seasons — grants that network exclusive rights to all National Football League regular season games and hereby insures the continuation of the NFL's unique sports policy of televising all road games of every team back to the home area.

The single network arrangement, first planned for the 1961 reason, ran into legal difficulties but was finally cleared by Congress and signed into law by the President last September.

What the lawmakers did, in terms of players and fans, was to make it possible for millions of viewers to continue to see the 36 players on each of the 14 National Football League teams in action every Sunday.

There will also be televised games on one Saturday night, on Thanksgiving Day, and on two December Saturday afternoons. After the season, the world championship game, the Miami Playoff Bowl and the Pro Bowl will be televised nationally.

These games will run from Sunday, Sept. 16, through Sunday, Jan. 13, 1963, with only Dec. 23 blank. And fans may see NFL football that day, too, if there is a playoff game in either or both of the Eastern and Western Conferences.

The world championship game and the Pro Bowl will be televised by the National Broadcasting Co. under contracts separate from the single network arrangement with CBS. For the championship game alone, NBC is paying $615,000 annually on a two-year contract that ends this year.

The rights to the regular season games are worth $325,000 to each of the 14 teams —insuring each adequate TV income to compete for players on an equal basis and maintain balance throughout the League. The total paid by CBS was $4,650,000 annually or $9.3 million for two years. The Playoff Bowl is under separate contract.

Houston, San Diego AFL Power Teams

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — When the American Football League lost its $10,000,000 suit against the rival National Football League there were dark hints that this meant the end of the fledgling circuit.

There were insinuations that the AFL had banked on winning the anti-trust suit in order to continue.

It certainly hasn't worked out that way. The AFL came up with the old cliche "you can't win them all." The AFL lost about $4,500,000 its first two years and the $100,000 legal fees were only a drop in the bucket.

BILLY CANNON

Prospects for 1962 are considered bright indeed, says Commissioner Joe Foss and eight club owners. They expect several clubs to make a profit. Several just about broke even last season.

Ticket sales are up in all cities except Dallas, which needs to start winning before it can get patronage.

Oakland, a weak spot, has sold 7,000 season tickets. Oakland won't have to travel 35 miles to San Francisco for home games now that the city has built a 20,000-seat stadium for the Raiders. By 1964 there will be a stadium handling 48,000.

Television money will be up materially over last year.

Houston, two-time champion, has sold 10,000 season tickets. So has San Diego. Buffalo reports 8,000, Boston 6,000, Denver 5,000, New York 5,000 and Dallas 3,500.

Virtually all of the top stars of 1961 will be back and the rookie crop looks good.

Houston and San Diego again look like the top outfits — Houston in the east and San Diego in the west. Boston again looms as a tough challenger, especially since it has shored up a defensive leak in the secondary.

Buffalo's youngsters are expected to come of age. New York looks much better through addition of Songin and All-America center Alex Kroll of Rutgers.

Houston has a new coach, Pop Ivy, who succeeded Wally Lemm, the Oiler miracle man who went to St. Louis. Houston still has all those stars of 1961 and has been quite successful in getting new players.

Dallas did the top job of grabbing off the rookies, these including Jim Sexton, the Texas All-America; Bill Miller, the Miami end; Bobby Ply, Baylor quarterback, and Curtis McClinton, Kansas halfback. Dallas already had a lot of top players and if all had stayed in shape last campaign the Texans would have contended for the title. Dallas suffered more from injuries to key men than any other club in the league.

TOP PASSER

The league's top passer, George Blanda of Houston; the leading scorer, Gino Cappelletti of Boston; the top runner, Billy Cannon of Houston; the No. 1 pass-receiver, Lionel Taylor of Denver (he caught 100 passes last season), and Billy Atkins, the leading punter and pass interceptor from Buffalo, all are back aiming at more laurels.

Commissioner Foss thinks the AFL is strong enough to compete with the National Football League and that there should be a World Series of pro football, matching the champions of the two leagues.

This may not be coming about for some time, however. As Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL said, "you don't play somebody who's suing you for $10,000,000."

The AFL has filed notice that it will appeal it's anti-trust suit to a higher Federal court, and hopes its third season of operation will create a firmer spot in the pro game.

Sunday's Choices

49ers over Bears—Frisco secondary twice as good as Chicago's and 49er receivers faster. 31-17.

Colts and Rams—Give Rams running edge, but passing and receiving and lines go to Baltimore. 35-10.

Lions over Steelers—Lions defense slightly better, pass receiving much better and passing same. Steelers running may be big surprise. 20-14.

Packers over Vikings—All the way, better in every department, can't even see it close. 41-10.

Browns over Giants—good close game on Browns home field, Cleveland offense still better. 27-24.

Eagles over Cards — Philly better in passing and receiving. Cards may surprise with defense, but Etcheverry not in class with Jurgensen. 21-13.

Cowboys over Redskins—Quick decision on who will be in basement, Dallas slightly stronger in passing, receiving and secondary. 24-20.

Sorry Lions, Packers No. 1

Pontiac Press Photo

THREE RECEIVERS — One of the best pass receiving units in the league is made of Terry Barr, Jim Gibbons and Gail Cogdill of the Detroit Lions. Detroit and Baltimore are figured to have the strongest pass receiving units in the NFL.

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

This may be an unfortunate season for the Detroit Lions, not because they will be weaker than the second place teams of the past two years but only because the Green Bay Packers still appear to be too tough to be pushed out of the No. 1 spot in the Western Division.

Actually, improvement is expected from all the teams in the Division this year as well as the Lions, and the race should be as unpredictable as ever.

As proven in the past, any NL team could beat another on any given Sunday.

Twice the Lions finished second to the Packers and this season doesn't appear to be any different.

Along with the Lions, the Baltimore Colts and 49ers are expected to be the top contenders in the Western Conference, while the Cleveland Browns are the favorites to dethrone the Giants in the Eastern Division.

The Eagles will still be rough, but finally the Pittsburgh Steelers under coach Buddy Parker are expected to make a serious bid. The Steelers have never won the title outright and with 15 year veteran Bobby Layne in trim shape, this may be the year.

There are normally considered to be seven primary units to a pro football team, running, passing, receiving, offensive line, defensive line, linebacking and secondary.

★ ★ ★

Marking the units like a report card, one would have to give Green Bay an A-plus in running, the Colts an A-plus in passing, and the same grade for the Lions and Colts in pass receiving.

Here's how we chart the standings and issue report cards for 1962:

Kennedy Watching Cuba, Regrets War Talk

But he told his news conference Thursday that if the United States should ever have to take action, "All of Castro's Communist-supplied weapons and technicians would not change the result or significantly extend the time required to achieve the result."

At the same time, the President admonished critics urging the administration to use military force against the Communist outpost.

He said he finds it "regrettable that loose talk about such action

in this country might serve to give a thin color of legitimacy to the Communist pretense that such a threat exists."

The President said, as he has said before, that Cuba poses no serious threat to the Western Hemisphere.

★ ★ ★

However, should the Castro regime — with Russian backing — ever endanger the security of the United States in any way "this country will do whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its Allies," he said.

This holds true, the President declared, should Cuba ever threaten any nation in this hemisphere or should it ever develop into an offensive base for Russia.

He said the United States will intensify its watch over the Caribbean area. But he said Washington is aware of what goes on in Cuba and is "fully capable of dealing swiftly" with any genuine threats.

READS STATEMENT

Kennedy opened the nationally televised and broadcast conference with a statement on the situation in Cuba, which has prompted demands in and out of Congress for stiff action. Cuba remained the dominant topic.

Kennedy did take the opportunity to condemn the burning of two Negro churches and the shooting of two Negroes during voter registration in the South. He called the actions "cowardly as well as outrageous" and said the right to vote and freedom of worship are hallowed and will be protected.

"If it requires extra legislation and extra force," he said, "we shall do that."

The President said Castro had committed himself to a Soviet takeover in hope of preventing his own collapse.

The chief executive said he discussed Cuba, among other subjects, with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Monday

2 Die in Area Crash During Storm

SECOND TIME AROUND — The high winds north of Flint yesterday caused only slight damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Quinn, but it renewed old tornado horrors to the couple. The Quinns lost their home in the 1953 tornado which ripped almost the same area as yesterday's winds. Quinn's mother, father and two sisters died in the 1953 disaster which claimed 115 lives and demolished 307 homes. AP Photofax

Michigan Sent Reeling by Heavy Winds, Rain

By DICK HANSON

While the Pontiac area escaped the full brunt of high winds and electrical storms that smashed across lower Michigan yesterday, two youths were killed and a third injured when their speeding car skidded off rain-slicked M15 in Brandon Township and crashed into a utility pole.

Elsewhere in the county, a wind gust toppled a light foreign car into Harvey Lake in Highland Township and knocked down a few power lines.

Lightning struck two homes in the Oxford area, causing $1,000 damage to one and only minor damage to the other.

Killed in the accident were Wayne L. Hiser, 17, of 1934 Viola Lane in Ortonville and his companion, Terry T. Wilson, 15, of 4160 McGinnis Road, Groveland Township.

A third youth in the car, David Bruhn, 20, of 1930 Fay Road, Brandon Township, was listed in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the Bruhn youth suffered a probable brain concussion and is being held under intensive care. He also has possible internal injuries, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's deputies quoted Bruhn as saying a sudden gust of wind propelled their southbound car off the road on a curve north of the Wolf Road intersection.

Red Guards Ride Bus to W. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Bowing a second time to Western orders, Soviet guards drove into West Berlin today in a bus instead of armored cars.

The green and red bus brought the daily change of guard to the Soviet war memorial in the British sector of West Berlin.

A score of Soviet troops inside waved and smiled to a crowd of some 50 West Berliners, gathered at the Sandkrug Bridge crossing.

★ ★ ★

The British, along with the Americans and French, had given the Soviets until Saturday to stop transporting their war memorial guards in armored cars. The Soviets had switched from buses to armored vehicles on Aug. 21, after the buses were stoned by West Berliners angry over the shooting of a young refugee at the Berlin Wall.

★ ★ ★

It was the second small victory for the Allies. Earlier in the month the Soviets acceded to an Allied demand that they send their guard through the wall at the Sandkrug Bridge rather than at Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing they had been using in the American sector.

Both the bridge and the war memorial are in the British Sector, and the distance between them is much shorter than between the memorial and Checkpoint Charlie. The Allies said the shorter route would lessen the possibility of disturbances.

Dixie Governor Defies Orders

Mississippi's Barnett Says Jail Preferable to Desegregation

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett, stating that Mississippi faces its "greatest crisis" since the Civil War, directed state officials last night to go to jail rather than obey federal desegregation orders.

"We will not drink from the cup of genocide," he told a statewide television audience. "There is no case in history where the Caucasian race has survived social integration."

The 63-year-old son of a Confederate soldier invoked the controversial doctrine of interposition, ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court, to prevent the federal court-ordered desegregation of the University of Mississippi next week.

The doctrine declares void any federal law which usurps rights reserved to the states but the supreme court decided in a Louisiana case that interposition "is not constitutional and is illegal defiance of constitutional law."

In Montgomery, Ala., Gov. designate George C. Wallace last night praised Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett as one American governor with the "guts" to stand up to federal court-ordered integration.

Is Glenn Finished in Space?

Schirra Stirs Rhubarb

From Our News Wires

HOUSTON—National Space Administration Agency officials today agreed with astronaut Walter Schirra — slated to be the nation's next man in space — that John Glenn has been busy with matters other than space.

But Al Chop, deputy public fairs officer of the space center in Houston, said he did not agree with Schirra's contention that Glenn's commitments have just about wiped him out of the space program.

"Glenn has had to relocate and has been busy finding a house in Houston, getting his children in school, finding temporary quarters until his house is built and reacting to public pressures put upon him for public appearances," Chop said.

In a television interview taped six weeks ago in Florida, and broadcast last night, Shirra said:

★ ★ ★

"He (Glenn) hasn't been able to maintain the currency that he should have with the rest of us.

"And we have frantic meetings trying to keep each other up to date on what he has been doing technically. John's falling behind, in other words."

In the telecast, Schirra also contended space officials "boobooed" in not telling the public where Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter was during the 35 minutes an anxious nation thought he was lost after his capsule overshot its landing last May 24.

"We had six beautiful radar fixes within six miles of where Scott landed," Schirra said, "but we had a lot of information there and yet it never came out and it was disgusting, you know," Schirra said.

HE'LL BE FURIOUS

"I don't feel badly about harpooning someone on this because if they do it to me I'm going to be furious because too many people I know will be concerned, and I think many were in Scott's case."

It was brought out shortly after the flight that Carpenter's location was known but the information didn't get to the public for 35 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on that remark by Shirra, an NASA spokesman, Paul Haney, said that if location information was available on Carpenter after his landing, it had not been passed on to public information officials at Mercury control.

★ ★ ★

"We regret it," Haney said, "it was our error. If somebody had the information, they just didn't pass it on."

Schirra, on the program, made no mention of Lt. Col. John A. Powers, who handled the broadcasts from Mercury control.

Brazil Cabinet, Minister Quit

Congress of Nation Fears Takeover by Military Forces

The cabinet's resignation roused fears the military might step in, abolish congress and turn over full power to Goulart.

Brochado da Rocha told the Chamber of Deputies he was quitting after two months because the conservative bloc in congress had stubbornly resisted his efforts to win approval for Goulart's demands.

With elections for a new congress only a few weeks off, the cabinet's walkout seemed certain to plunge Latin America's largest nation deeper into political and financial difficulties.

Goulart, whose relations with congress have worsened steadily over his drive for the powers taken from his office last year, was given little chance of finding a new prime minister who could win approval of the balky conservatives.

The president's office was reduced to a figurehead in a parliamentary system set up in a military crisis last year.

Congress refused to enact economic reforms he demanded, and he sought a plebiscite during next month's elections to endorse a return to the former presidential system.

Service Center, Mall Bus Runs Changing

Pontiac Transit Corp. today announced it will cancel all bus runs from downtown Pontiac to the Oakland County Service Center and drop three of five daily runs to Pontiac Mall starting next Thursday, Sept. 20.

"There just aren't enough people using the service," said Glen G. Crawford, manager.

★ ★ ★

"We've been consistently losing money on the runs," he explained. "Maybe when the service center is completed and fully occupied there will be enough patronage there to support bus service."

The manager said that under the present schedule with five round trips from downtown to Pontiac Mall and the service center daily, operating expenses for the service ran about $18 per day.

"We've been averaging less than $7.50 per day in revenue from those runs," he said.

★ ★ ★

Reaction was mixed.

DISCUSS LEASE

Several commissioners suggested that the lease contract between the city and bus company be changed to require Commission approval of any proposed cuts or major changes in bus routes and schedules.

The present contract expires July 1.

The bus company is currently drafting another to be presented for Commission approval.

Commissioner Winford E. Bottom had previously protested a five-cent fare increase for student riders under 12 years old and suggested fare hikes also should require Commission approval.

★ ★ ★

To be retained by the bus company are the mall bus runs that leave Pike and Saginaw Streets at 8:30 a.m. and 2:20 p.m.

JFK Expected to Aid Swainson

By The Associated Press

The Democrats say they "definitely" expect President Kennedy to come to Michigan to campaign for re-election of Gov. Swainson over the challenge of Republican George Romney.

Kennedy's visit probably will be some time in October, John Collins, Democratic State Chairman, said Tuesday.

"We have no definite commitment on time, place or length of stay but we definitely know he is coming," Collins said in Detroit.

In addition to the president, others of the Democratic national leadership, including possibly Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, also will campaign in Michigan for the Democratic ticket in the Nov. 6 election, Collins said.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges addresses a $10-a-plate "Business for Swainson Committee" dinner in Detroit next Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

As the campaign rolled on today, both parties were pledged to a "code of fair campaign practices."

Leaders of the two major parties signed the code in Detroit Thursday at a meeting with the State Fair Campaign Practices Commission.

The code, a written document of seven points, pledges the parties to abstain, among other things, from distortion or misrepresentation and from appeals to racial prejudice.

Both parties also pledged to repudiate "immediately and publicly" the support of "any individual or group which resorts to the methods and tactics which we condemn."

"We shall condemn," the parties agreed, "any dishonest or unethical practice which tends to corrupt or undermine our American system of free elections or which hampers or prevents the full and free expression of the will of the voters."

★ ★ ★

Collins signed the code for the Democrats. Benjamin D. Burdick, member of the Wayne State University Board of Governors, signed for Republican Chairman George M. Van Peursem.

SWAINSON IN FLINT

Today at Gaylord Romney charged that "some politicians" are trying to impose a "communications blackout" over the labor rank and file during the campaign.

Ike Stumps for GOP's Halleck

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower opened a campaign tour for Republican congressional candidates Thursday night with a no-names-mentioned attack on government spending and "thirst for power."

At no point did he name President Kennedy or the Kennedy administration directly. The closest he came was use of the word "frontiersmanship," which he said had suffered defeats because of "statesmanship" by GOP congressional leaders.

Most of the estimated 25,000 guests ate barbecued chicken prepared over outdoor pits with six tons of charcoal in what was billed as the biggest cook-out in Indiana history.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower, who also made brief off-the-cuff talks at Purdue University's airport at West Lafayette and at Rensselaer's courthouse square, avoided any mention of foreign problems.

Republicans, he said, favor a governmental climate "in which the enterprise and energy of our people work at their best.

Summer's Ending? Nah, Says Mercury

A pleasant weekend is in store for Pontiac area residents. The weatherman predicts fair and cool night, the low dripping to 54. Fair and mild with a high of 74 is Saturday's forecast.

Winds north to northeast at 3 miles per hour this morning will shift to north to northwest at 8 to 15 m.p.h. late today and become variable tonight.

The low recording in the downtown area preceding 8 a.m. was 65. At 1 p.m. the reading was 77.

Area Advertising Man Views Aussies' Woes

Australia is facing "big economic trouble" and its business leaders look to American advertising methods to help solve their problem, the president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., told Pontiac Rotary Club members yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Ernest A. Jones, president of the Bloomfield Hills-based advertising agency, yesterday described Australian advertising and economics on the basis of his recent appearance at the country's International Marketing Conference.

★ ★ ★

Jones said that Southern Hemisphere nation, suffering from a lack of population, is threatened with loss of its economic ties to England because of the United Kingdom's plans to enter the European Common Market.

"In Australia the situation is particularly painful and inhibitory to economic growth in that its 11-million people cannot consume enough — or have not been taught by advertising to consume enough to accelerate production," Jones said.

Australia, which Jones found to closely resemble America in many ways, is second to the United States in advertising expenditures, he pointed out.

GNP UP 178 PCT.

Its gross national product has climbed 178 per cent in the past 10 years, he said.

Jones said there is a nostalgia in Australia today for the United States of 20 or 30 years ago — in the way they prepare foods, in the cut of their clothing and in their advertising.

A lack of bite in advertising copy and an indefinable stiltedness in the artwork and reproduction is "distinctly remindful of the 1930s in this country," he said.

"Reading an Australian newspaper is something like watching your grandmother doing the twist," he added. "Most of them mix Victorianism with a tabloid approach.'

"There is no network television, and the first commercial transmission dates back only to 1956."

However, only one of the country's 110 commercial radio stations showed an operating loss last year, he said, adding that commercials are not too good because of "low budgets and fumbling techniques."

Jones concluded that "Australian advertising people are eager to do a better job, not ashamed to learn and are engaged against much the same problems as we are.

★ ★ ★

"Here is a country," Jones said, "that approaches America in friendship and with its sleeves rolled up — not with its hand out."

ERNEST A. JONES

Michigan Association of Broadcasters, said he hoped the voters would be given the chance to make an honest appraisal of himself as candidate for governor.

He mentioned an experience in Detroit in which he said he was told that a union hall was "off limits" and also his Detroit Labor Day experience when the Wayne County AFL-CIO declined his offer to address a labor rally. The AFL-CIO supports Swainson.

★ ★ ★

Romney said he would have no complaints if he lost the election "because people are able to tell me that they disagree with me.

★ ★ ★

"But I hope," he said, "that votes are not cast against me because of voting patterns fixed by habit, or because of political prejudice or fear, or because of the communications blackout which some politicians are attempting to impose over the rank and file of labor in Michigan."

U. S. to Enlist Refugees in All-Cuban Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says it is working on plans to enlist refugees from Fidel Castro's regime in the U.S. armed services, and train them in all-Cuban units.

A spokesman said yesterday Cuban recruits would take their basic training together in units that would use the Spanish language. An effort to enlist Cubans last year failed because few of the refugees understood enough English to train with U.S. recruits.

Details of the program should be completed soon, the spokesman said.

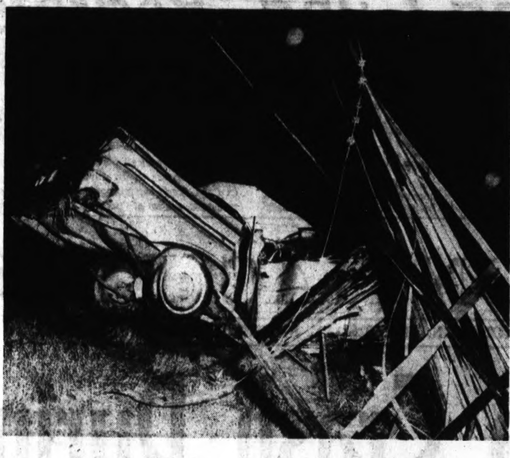
NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain and scattered showers are expected tonight over the Northwest and the Northern Plateau, with scattered showers and thundershowers in the north and mid Atlantic coast states, the Ohio, Mississippi and Tennessee valleys, the Central Plains, the Gulf coast and parts of the Southern Plains. It will be warmer generally in the Southeast while the Great Lakes and Ohio valley region will have cooler weather.



FATAL SCENE — Two youths were killed and a third injured yesterday when this car skidded off rain-slicked M15 in Brandon Township and crashed into a utility pole. Sheriff's deputies said the youths had been speeding. The car careened 162-feet off the highway to hit the pole.

President Stands By on Cuba

but did not seek any agreement from Eisenhower to bar Cuba as a congressional campaign issue. Neither, he said, would he suggest that Republican shots at his Cuban policy were politically motivated.

Kennedy said he and the Joint Chiefs of Staff will analyze all available intelligence to determine whether or when Cuba does present an offensive threat. In the meantime, he urged North Atlantic Treaty allies to give a second thought to allowing their ships to carry supplies to Cuba and called on Latin American governments to be on the alert. He said the United States will pay no heed to Soviet threats of retaliation to a U.S. attack on Cuba—that it does not need Moscow's help in making decisions.

Of other matters, Kennedy had this to say:

OTHER MATTERS

Reserves — His request for standby authority to call up an additional 150,000 Reserves, approved unanimously Thursday by the Senate, was an intermediate step to cope with the possibility of threats short of a national emergency while Congress is out of session.

U2s—These high altitude reconnaissance planes have been sold only to Nationalist China, he said, and there are no plans to deliver U2s to any other government.

Berlin—Leaders of both parties have said there is no political division on Berlin policy and the U.S. position "would not be affected by whatever results may be in the November election."

★ ★ ★

Taxes—Kennedy implied he might not accept tax legislation, including the tax credit he wants for industrial investment, which is now before Congress. He said he will see what evolves from a Senate-House conference committee before deciding whether to sign it or wait for the general tax reform bill he plans to submit next year.

★ ★ ★

Space—Powerful rockets and techniques for applying them to exploration of space and other peaceful purposes could be adapted to military uses "if the situation should require."

Nuclear Tests—U. S. atmospheric tests will be resumed because the summer series was not completed and because they turned up information that should be tested further. He said steps have been taken to prevent a repeat of the July 9 high altitude test that created a new belt of radiation around the earth.

Industry-Labor—Kennedy expressed hope for quick agreement in disputes involving the aerospace industry and the Chicago and North Western Railway. Observing that most major industries have accepted the union shop, recommended by an aerospace study board, he suggested the companies will bear the responsibility if strikes occur at their plants.

Congress—He forecast passage of trade, tax, higher education and farm legislation "which two months ago seemed to be in the deep freeze."

Elections — He won't make across-the-board endorsement of all Democratic congressional candidates because there probably are some "who might not be particularly anxious for my support."

Politics—There was no political reason for not taking Rep. Bob Casey, Texas Democrat who has opposed him on several issues, on a visit to Houston space facilities.

Pontiac, Tempest Sales Still Climb

Sales of Pontiacs and Tempests in the Sept. 1-10 sales showed the biggest percentage increase this year, Frank V. Bridge, Pontiac general sales manager, announced today.

Bridge said the 7,765 units sold in the period were 81 per cent ahead of the 4,294 cars sold in the same period last year.

He also pointed out that Pontiac dealers through Sept. 10 had sold 489,704 this year's Pontiacs and Tempests. In a similar period a year ago 316,119 cars were sold.

Navy Watching Lanes to Cuba

All Resources Eying Ships, Planes En Route to Fidel Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy says its ships and planes are keeping a sharp eye on Cuba and its supply lanes—all the way from European ports to Fidel Castro's doorstep.

Apparently they are in position to keep an even closer watch whenever the Navy gets the word.

President Kennedy told his news conference Thursday the flow of Communist arms and supplies into the island will be met by increased American "surveillance of the whole Caribbean area."

NO DETAILS

The President did not spell out what had been done or what he had in mind.

However, Navy sources said later that there has been a step-up in aerial surveillance of Cuba in the last three weeks. They added that all of the Navy's resources, starting in European ports and ending just outside Cuba territorial limits, have been thrown into a constant watch that will be intensified without further notification from the White House.

★ ★ ★

Navy sources said that for many months patrol planes have been operating, virtually around the clock, from Key West, Fla., and the U.S. base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Surface vessels—principally destroyers—are operating night and day from Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, Guantanamo Bay and Key West, Fla., the sources said.

CHECKING PORTS

They said American officials and agents check ports "everywhere in Europe" on ships reported to be bound, or suspected to be bound, for Cuba.

A Navy spokesman said any ship leaving "anywhere in Europe for Cuba" is known before the vessel leaves port.

The same apparently is true of the air lanes. The Defense Department said Thursday Communist bloc flights to Cuba are followed and are well-known by U.S. authorities.

The Pentagon said in answer to inquiries it has known for some time that Communist aircraft, taking off from Europe, proceed through Gander, Newfoundland, on their way to Cuba. It said neither Canadian nor U.S. authorities know exactly what the planes carry.

CANADIAN ABOARD

The Pentagon explained that Soviet planes refueling in Canadian airfields always carry Canadian guide pilots for the flight southward along the American coast.

The Navy also said windward passage between the southern tip of the Florida Keys and Cuba is covered by Navy ships carrying out "normal training missions" in the area.

The Day in Birmingham

Community House Drive Goes Over $50,500 Goal

BIRMINGHAM — For the first time in several years, the Community House Fund Drive has gone over the top, Thoburn H. Wiant, president, announced today.

He said the 1962 goal of $50,500 had been exceeded and that contributions still were being received.

"The additional gifts are most welcome, and they will be used at the right time to activate our plans to make the Community House even more useful to the whole Birmingham-Bloomfield area," Wiant said.

Currently, the Community House is "at an all-time high, in terms of service," he said, attracting an annual attendance of over 160,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

Wiant paid tribute to Edward H. Lerchen, drive chairman, and Mrs. C. Theron VanDusen, cochairman, "for their untiring and inspiring leadership of the successful campaign."

★ ★ ★

"But I know that they will be the first to say that the credit really belongs to the thousands of citizens who are determined to keep the Community House as a model for the entire nation," Wiant said.

A long series of study, planning and action meetings stemming from the November 1961 special school election ended recently when the Birmingham Board of Education approved bids on the new junior high school and a science addition at the Barnum Junior High School.

This means that final action has now been taken on all buildings and several of the site projects included in the $4,915,000 bonding proposal approved by voters last year.

Included in the package were construction of Meadow Lake School; additions to Bloomfield Village, Franklin, Harlan and Pembroke elementary schools; and the new junior high school.

Others were improvements, to, and a science wing at Barnum; a receiving and supply building; buying of sites; and various improvements to schools throughout the district.,

The awarding of the two contracts by the board marks final action on providing facilities for an estimated five-year period.

Detroiters Seeking 100,000 New Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — A campaign to create 100,000 new jobs in the Detroit area is planned by the Employers Association of Detroit.

A membership meeting has been called here Sept. 26 to get the drive under way.

In a message to employers, Wayne Stettbacher, general manager of the association, said, "If we are to maintain our system of free enterprise, these 100,000 new jobs must come from new employers creating new jobs or present employers hiring additional workers."

The association's membership includes the big three auto companies, many other manufacturing companies, banks and other firms.

Meanwhile, the number of jobless workers in Michigan increased 57,000 to a total of 234,000 in mid-August amounting to 8 per cent of the states labor force, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today.

Truck Driver Dies 2 Hours After Accident

A 20-year-old Madison Heights truck driver died yestrday of injuries suffered two hours earlier when the asphalt truck he was driving was struck by a train in Trenton.

★ ★ ★

His brother, Dennis, 18, who was riding with him, was critically hurt, but was reported today in satisfactory condition at Trenton's Seaway Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Martin was badly burned by hot asphalt when he was trapped in the wreckage. Trenton firemen sprayed water on the asphalt before the driver could be reached.

Two Dead in Storm Crash

pole at high speed, deputies said.

They said the car obviously was speeding when the driver, Hiser, lost control of the wheel.

Hiser died of a crushed chest and Wilson succumbed to a skull fracture, according to the coroner's report.

The demolished car belonged to Bruhn's older brother, Dallas of the same address.

The fatal accident, which occurred at 5:55 p.m., disrupted electrical power in the Ortonville area for eight hours.

Police switchboards were periodically swamped with calls during the course of the storm that began at about 3 p.m. and recurred intermitently throughout the night.

Most of the calls were to report minor car accidents and small storm damage.

GUSTS HIT 40 M.P.H.

Wind gusts were up to 40 miles per hour and .7-inches of rain fell in the Pontiac area.

Telephone service was out for some 282 customers in the Pontiac area, according to Ray Storm, Pontiac district commercial manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

"We had 18 crews working this morning and all service sould have been restored by 1 p.m.," Storm said.

There were no telephone wires down.

All the trouble was caused by some 53 wet cables, including four trunk cables between Auburn Heights and Rochester and from Pontiac to Auburn Heights, Commerce Township and Drayton Plains.

Storm said Drayton was hardest hit.

"They were ready when the calls started coming in and we experienced very little interruption of service."

★ ★ ★

Brown said there were "a few lines down, but they were scattered and none was serious." Consumers sent one crew to Flint, where damage was more extensive.

$1,000 DAMAGE

Lightning caused some $1,000 damage to the contents and second floor of the Amos Bowker home at 875 Keith St., Oxford Township, when it hit the chimney and traveled inside at the height of the storm.

Mrs. David Lapham, 1600 Pruit St., in Highland Township informed the sheriff's department yesterday afternoon that a violent wind knocked her family's Volkswagen car down a hill and into Harvey Lake.

She said the car had been left parked in the driveway alongside their home, and the next thing she knew the car was sitting in about 4 feet of water approximately 50-feet from shore.

Distance from where the car had been parked to the shore is 200 feet, Mrs. Lapham said.

WEATHER PHENOMENON

★ ★ ★

A sudden influx of chilly air was noted at about 4 p.m., they said, lasting for about five minutes. Then, 30 minutes later, a hot blast of air sent thermometers zooming upward.

★ ★ ★

Within another minute, they said, the rains hit, followed by hailstones the size of small marbles.

Wind of "near cyclonic velocities" and rain fallin in sheets completed the weather drama, they said.

The storms, including torrential rains in some areas, swept in a crazy-quilt pattern across the state over a period of hours.

Damage was extensive, but relatively few casualties were reported.

Numerous tornado funnels were reported and one touched the ground at Birch Run in Saginaw County near the Genesee County line.

State Police trooper James A. Malczewski of the Bridgeport post was driving into Birch Run when he spotted the edge of the funnel. It tore the roof off the Masonic hall and ripped off several porches in the village

In Saginaw, high winds leveled trees and wires. Damage in the county was widespread.

One of the hardest hit areas was that near Flint where more than 100 people were killed in a 1953 tornado.

Winds of near hurricane force struck west Michigan when the first of a series of storms that were to go pell-mell across the state until evening hours hit that area.

The Kent County Airport near Grand Rapids reported gusts of wind up to 80 miles an hour.

Lightning set several fires. Heavy rains flooded city streets and rural roads.

In several cities police and firemen were held on emergency duty.

In Detroit, Mrs. Jessie Boyd, 65, died of a heart attack while trying to drive her car from beneath a fallen tree branch.

Tornado funnels formed in several places, including two in Kent County and others near Battle Creek and Ionia.

Still another was sighted over the western tip of Lake Erie from a Great Lakes ship.

Ford Fairlane Adds 5 Models

New Hardtops Feature Lower Profile; Squire Wagon 'Glamorous'

Ford Motor Co. officials have added two hardtop and three station wagon versions to the Fairlane line in the new model year.

A quarter-million sales mark was attained by Fairlane in last year's run when sedans alone were offered. It was Fairlane's first year on the market.

The popular two and four-door sedans are being offered again this year as well.

All '63 models will be on display or available at dealer showrooms in the area Sept. 28.

Local dealers are John McAuliffe Ford, Inc., 630 Oakland Ave.; Beattie Motor Sales, Inc., 5806 Dixie Highway in Waterford; and Jerome-Ferguson, Inc., 215 Main St., Rochester.

LUXURIOUS TOUCH

Hardtop models feature a lower profile, thin roofline and a rakish windshield angle. Bucket seats and a full-length console add a more luxurious touch to interiors.

Bucket seats are available also in the Squire Wagon, most glamorous of the three wagons.

Major selling points being used for all Ford cars in '63 are the elimination of any need for the traditional 1,000-mile inspection, and major lubrication intervals increased to 36,000 miles.

Normal maintenance will be required only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles, according to the company.

Fairlane styling changes on '63 models include a redesigned grille, hood, fenders and ornamentation.

A thrust of color between bright moldings has been added along the sides of the cars. Simulated wood paneling on the exterior is a feature of the Squire Wagon.

PACE SETTER — Ford's Fairlane series has been expanded to include hardtops and station wagons as well as sedans for 1963. Previously available in sedans only, Fairlane attained a quarter-million sales by the end of the '62 model run, it's first on the automotive market. Shown above is the 1963 Fairlane four-door sedan.

Cambodia in Hot Spot Politically

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Scarcely 100 miles from Saigon, the Cambodian border suddenly juts southward into South Viet Nam like a pointing finger.

It is a flat, water land of glistening paddies, rubber plantations and jungle, and to the people living there borders are unknown or of little moment.

★ ★ ★

On the South Vietnamese side is a zone called "Maquis D." Since 1945, before the French finally lost their war in Indochina, it has been under the heavy influence of the Communist Viet Cong.

On the Cambodian side lies Prey Veng Province.

This week, Cambodian Premier Prince Norodom Sihanouk angrily charged that South Vietnamese tanks, amphibious vehicles and aircraft attacked a Cambodian village 900 yards inside the border of Prey Veng Province.

BREAKS RELATIONS

He threatened to break relations with South Viet Nam, as he already has with neighboring and also prowestern Thailand.

He has accused both of plotting against his neutral state and has demanded a 14-nation conference to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

Because of jungle cover and the ill-defined border, the truth of charge and countercharge is difficult to come by.

Despite Sihanouk's heated denials, an American adviser in South Viet Nam this week informed visiting U.S Gen. Maxwell Taylor that "there is fairly good evidence of support brought in across the (Cambodian) border."

★ ★ ★

In Saigon, military intelligence sources have estimated that as many as 6,000 Communist guerrillas are using Cambodian bases as command headquarters for stepped-up operations against South Viet Nam.

HE'S A RIDDLE

Sihanouk himself is something of a riddle.

He has staunch admirers who point to his steadfast stand for neutrality and improvements he has brought to Cambodia.

Others accuse him of maneuvering between two camps to get the most from each.

U.S. aid to Cambodia since 1955 has totaled in the neighborhood of $300 million. Communist China has allocated $40 million for four factories. The Soviet Union has contributed a $12-million hospital. France has given $35 million exclusive of military assistance.

★ ★ ★

Sihanouk's public statements frequently have seemed intemperate but he has let the chips fall where they may.

★ ★ ★

He has attacked Americans as the "most unjust people in the world" and has said he is prepared to forego U.S. aid.

He has described the war in South Viet Nam as "already lost," although he also has said he wants neither a Communist Laos nor a Communist South Viet Nam.

In January 1962, he announced discovery of a Communist plot to overthrow his government. As result, 14 persons were sentenced to death.

Train-Truck Crash Hurts 1, Kills Driver

TRENTON (UPI) — A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train slammed into a truck carrying hot asphalt yesterday and killed the driver of the vehicle and seriously injured his brother.

Police said the victim was Edward Martin, 21, Madison Heights. His brother Dennis was in serious condition at a local hospital.

Police said the hot asphalt was thrown all over the area when the train struck the truck and flipped it into the air.

Dennis told police that the truck's brakes failed and coasted up onto the track. Witnesses said the flasher signals were in operation at the time of the accident.

AF Helping to Fight Florida Epidemic

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —The Air Force moved into the battle against an outbreak of encephalitis in this area yesterday, working alongside local, state and federal health officers.

The announcement by the Air Force came as Pinellas County officials reported a new death, bringing to 14 the number attributed to the disease in the county.

Four new suspected cases were taken under observation yesterday. At the same time, the state board of health confirmed nine more cases of St. Louis encephalitis, bringing to 58 the number confirmed in the county.

Sheriffs 'Deputized' as Police Chief Quits

SAUGATUCK (AP) — Allegan County sheriffs Richard Putnam and Howard Nahikian have been named to operate as fill-in Saugatuck police officers following the resignation of Police Chief Gerald Kok.

The chief said his move results from differences with the Saugatuck Village Board. Kok took over last October to fill a vacancy created by resignation and was named to a one-year term last April.

Gray Ladies Add Duties

Arrangements were completed this week for the Gray Lady service of the American Red Cross to extend its volunteer activities to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital on Perry Street after the new section of the hospital is opened this fall.

Announcement was made following a conference on the proposed activities between hospital administrator Harry H. Whitlow and Mrs. W. C. Sproull, chairman of the Gray Lady service of the Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross.

★ ★ ★

Some 40 volunteers will start work as soon as they complete their training in a course that begins Oct. 16 and continues two afternoons a week for three weeks.

★ ★ ★

Complete information may be obtained at the headquarters of the American Red Cross, Franklin Boulevard, where applications for the first group are now being received.

TO MEET NEEDS

After this group enters its duties, other classes will begin to provide an adequate number of trained volunteers to meet the needs of the hospital. Pontiac Osteopathic will reach a capacity of 406 beds by the year's end.

Training courses will include patient and nonpatient activities and will parallel previous courses where several hundred Gray Lady volunteers have been trained.

They are now working in Pontiac General Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac State Hospital, the Medical Care Facility and others throughout the county.

Training for the specialized services of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital will be included in the courses now being planned.

Stays Simple

There is one rule that doesn't change. Don't wear elaborate jewelry in the office, unless you're the boss. Most employers find jingling bracelets and flashing necklaces and pins distracting when worn by a secretary or other office worker. But for office hours, tailored gold jewelry always is in good taste — just so you don't overdo it.

Lone Pine Unit Hears Talk on Garden Therapy

Lone Pine Garden Club's first meeting of the season was held at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. John C. Lichty Wednesday noon. Cohostess was Mrs. John A. Genevsi.

Speaker was Mrs. J. R. Alexander, garden therapy chairman for the Birmingham Chapter of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Club. She discussed garden therapy in the Fairlane School at Pontiac State Hospital.

Lone Pine Garden Club President Mrs. James Sweeny announced that the chapter hopes to begin its own garden therapy group with the children at the state hospital.

Heighten Tan

Summer tan is so becoming it's a shame to lose it. If facial coloring starts turning sallow, heighten it, at least during these last precious days of summer, with cosmetics. There is a makeup shade that will match your color needs perfectly. Be sure to blend the coloring at the hair line and at the throat so there is no tell-tale high water mark. Blend with cotton squares dampened with good quality witch hazel.

Professor to Talk on 'Child'

Dr. Warren Ketcham, University of Michigan professor, will address the first general meeting of the Washington Junior High School Parents, Teachers, Students Association, Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the school auditorium.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ketcham, who has been guest speaker in previous appearances, will discuss the adolescent child.

★ ★ ★

Future PTSA events include grade level meetings for seventh grade, Oct. 4, ninth grade, Nov. 1; and eighth grade, Dec. 6.

Committees of Sorority Announced

Committees for the Omega Alpha Sorority were announced Wednesday evening in the Rochester home of Mrs. Thomas Beal.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lloyd Stalcup and Mrs. Beal were appointed to serve on the telephone committee; Mrs. Norman O'Brien, sunshine; and Eulalia Valentine, philanthropic. Mrs. Joseph Fox will handle publicity and Mrs. Richard Fox is historian.

The history of the sorority was reviewed by Mrs. Clifford Koskinen and Mrs. Walter Schmitz entertained with organ selections.

★ ★ ★

Guests were Mrs. A. J. Latoza, Mrs. H. Gordon Frain, Mrs. Clayton Wideman, Mrs. William Hansen, Mrs. Kenneth Hoskins and Mrs. LeRoy Ploeger.

'Average' Day Chock Full

Trips Are No Vacation

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE N423: Earlier this year I was invited to visit Anderson, Ind., under auspices of the PTA of two local schools.

DR. CRANE

As usual, my speaking day was full, for at 9 a.m., I addressed the packed chapel convocation of Anderson College on the subject, "Jesus — the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist."

At 10:15, I then spoke at the Pendleton High School on "Be a Good Ape," wherein I showed the importance of picking a hero and then imitating his good traits but not his nuisance habits, such as smoking or using alcohol.

At noon I addressed the Lions Club on "Success Depends on Skill in Communication."

That afternoon I was interviewed for half an hour by Bill Berger on Radio Station WHUT.

Then vivacious Harriet W. Toner, the gray-haired publisher of the Herald, entertained me at tea for several hours.

She is the "Woman of the Year" in my book, for though she must be well above the octogenarian age, and had just got home from surgery at the local hospital, she was still a bundle of vitality.

KEEN-MINDED

In fact, she had driven her car down to the newspaper office that same morning. Her mind is as keen as a razor and she is a firm advocate of "More business in government and less government in business."

That night I gave my main address before a huge gymnasium audience. It was really the primary purpose of my being invited to Anderson.

But those other speeches are used by the program chairman to keep me "limbered up" for the main event.

★ ★ ★

And though I talked on educational matters, the crowd wanted to have a forum discussion afterward, where many of the queries revolved around marriage and sex problems.

"Dr. Crane," one wife asked on the cards used for questions, "what do you prescribe to prod an indolent husband into more affection?"

Well, you can remind him that we medics have observed empirically that regular exercise of glands is just as vital to good health as regular exercise of muscles.

If you tie your arm to your side, the muscles therein atrophy and may shrink to the size of a lead pencil.

If a cross-eyed person doesn't have his crossed eye straightened, then he will ignore the images on that retina until the eye actually grows almost blind — just from disuse.

ATTEND TO HEALTH

If you starve yourself, your stomach will shrink and finally it will produce so little gastric juice that you don't care to eat.

A mother who stops nursing her baby will soon find that the mammary glands quit secreting.

An aggressive, seductive wife can do far more good than testosterone for a husband's platonic nature, so send for the booklet "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

"WHAT'LL WE WRITE?" — Officers of the Roosevelt Elementary School Student Council in Keego Harbor draft their first letter to their new French friend, Claire Lise Begouin, 12, whom they will sponsor for the next year under the Christian Children's Fund program. Mardel Justice, 10, secretary, (seated) asks advice on what to write from Robert Campbell, 9, treasurer; Dorothy Billington, 11, president; and Sheryl Billington, 7, vice president. The student body voted to assist a foreign youngster instead of exchanging gifts at Christmas.

Keego Harbor Pupils Join

450 Adopt French Miss

By JIM LONG

KEEGO HARBOR — A suburb of Paris may seem a long way off to many, but to the 450 youngsters at Roosevelt Elementary School here it's only as far as the next vacant desk.

The thousands of miles were bridged easily by the Roosevelt students when last Christmas they decided among themselves that it would be better to help someone else than to exchange gifts.

CLAIRE L. BEGOUIN

★ ★ ★

The organization is an international, interdenominational missionary association which administers to the physical, mental and spiritual needs of children of all races and creeds.

Just recently the youngsters at the school learned that Claire Lise, a fifth grader at CCF youth home in Puteaux, near Paris, had been assigned to them.

According to Dr. J. Calvitt Clarke, international director of CCF, Claire Lise's story is a familiar one.

Writing to Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, principal of the Roosevelt School, Clarke said:

HOME BROKEN

"Claire's parents suffered greatly during the war and occupation, only to face graver hardships later as poverty and strains led to the break-up of the home.

"The unskilled mother had to work long hours to earn enough money to feed herself and her child, leaving her daughter unattended since she could not afford to have her placed or sent to school.

"Their situation daily worsened and finally Claire was brought to Puteaux. Here, along with countless other youngsters, she is now receiving proper food, care and schooling."

"Anyone or any group can sponsor a child," wrote Dr. Clarke, by sending $10 a month or $120 a year toward the youngster's care.

The Roosevelt students will be able to write Claire Lise one letter a month and she will be able to reply. The letters will be translated.

The students, however, hope it won't be too long before they can take advantage of their French language lessons and correspond in Claire's native tongue.

Lions Offering Sunday Dinner at Washington

WASHINGTON — Members of the Washington Lions Club invite area residents to come eat with them or dial for their dinners Sunday.

They will be preparing barbecued chicken "done to a turn," to be eaten either at the Washington Community Park or to be delivered to the home.

Arrangements can be made for delivery of the meals, which also include French fried potatoes and a green salad, by phoning Carl Alward, 57970 Van Dyke, between noon and 5 p.m. Sunday. No extra charge is made for delivery in the Romeo-Washington area.

★ ★ ★

Avondale Sells School Bonds

$850,000 Will Build More Classrooms at Four Elementaries

Proposed construction of additional classrooms on the four elementary schools in the Avondale District moved a step closer to reality last night with the sale of a $850,000 bond issue to Goodbody & Co., Detroit.

The Detroit firm, representing a syndicate of investors, submitted the lowest of four bids at a special meeting of the Avondale Board of Education.

The bid offered a 3.61 per cent average rate of interest over the period extending from 1965 through 1991.

The elementary school expansion program is a part of the total $1.29 million bond issue for school construction approved by Avondale voters June 11.

The $850,000 portion covers the building of new classrooms and multipurpose rooms at Elmwood, Stiles and Stone schools and new classrooms, a multipurpose room and cafeteria at the Auburn Heights School.

★ ★ ★

The rest of the program calls for additions of classrooms and a cafeteria to the junior high and drafting and mechanical arts classrooms at the senior high.

Construction of a new elementary school also is planned on a site yet to be determined.

After Schomberg Rites

Couple in Wyoming

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residing in Wyoming following their recent nuptials are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schomberg, who exchanged their vows in St. John Lutheran Church, Rochester.

Rev. Richard Schlecht performed the afternoon rites.

The bride is the former Alayson L. Duquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Williams, 185 Wabash St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schomberg, 2085 Crooks Road.

MRS. RICHARD SCHOMBERG

★ ★ ★

Herbert Schomberg assisted brother as best man. Ushers were Norman Wilson of Rochester and Thomas Hochthanner of Dearborn.

★ ★ ★

Seek Dredging of Wolverine

Petitions Bearing 260 Names Go to County Drain Commission

WOLVERINE LAKE — The proposed restoration of Wolverine Lake moved ahead yesterday when petitions requesting that steps be taken to dredge the lake were turned over to the Oakland County Drain Commission.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Albert D. Baize, one of the chief promoters of the lake project, and Village Councilman William Hornett presented the petitions bearing 260 signatures to Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

An $1,800 deposit for engineering costs also was filed by the two representatives.

The funds were allocated by the Village Council earlier this week from taxes collected for the specific purpose of weed control.

★ ★ ★

Council members were unanimous in their support of the lake rehabilitation since the cleaning would discourage the future growth of weeds, according to Village Clerk Jessie K. Johnson.

TREATED WATER

In the past years the village has chemically treated the water to check the spread of weed growth, an expense borne by property owners through a special tax.

The money would be returned to the village and could be used toward paying off a portion of the cost of the dredging project once it started, according to Deputy Drain Commissioner Robert J. Evans.

Before any engineering surveys are made and cost estimates determined, the signatures on the petitions will first have to be verified, Evans said.

70 PER CENT SIGN'

At least two thirds of the property owners living on the lake or its canals have to give their approval before any preliminary work begins.

Mrs. Baize said that about 70 per cent of the property owners on the lake signed the petition.

This is the first time in Oakland County that a community has organized to take advantage of a 1961 state law that provides for the establishment of an assessment district by the county on a project of this type.

Once the engineering is completed, the Board of Supervisors would establish a drainage area and a three - member board named to hear objections to the plan from residents, according to Evans.

★ ★ ★

Apple Shipping at Top Figure

Go Out to 30 States; Need More Inspectors to Speed Work

LANSING (AP) — Requests by Michigan apple shippers for inspection and certification of shipments have reached an all-time high this year, it was reported today by the federal-state fruit and vegetable inspection service.

★ ★ ★

Rodney Nelson, assistant state supervisor of the service for the Michigan Dept. of Agriculture, said he is having trouble finding enough qualified inspectors to meet the demand.

The upsurge in inspection requests according to G. S. McIntyre, agricultural director, is the result of apple shippers' desire for improved quality and to meet requirements for export shipment.

Federal-state inspection, paid for in part by the shipper himself, can furnish certification that the shipment meets requirements of grade, size, variety, color and quality demanded by buyers.

★ ★ ★

Nelson said Michigan apples are now being shipped to 30 states and to other distant markets "never before supplied by Michigan growers."

★ ★ ★

Michigan apples have improved to the point where, as shippers once sought apples meeting U.S. No. 1 standards, they now seek certification of shipments as U.S. fancy and U.S. extra fancy.

Van Peursem Says Swainson Alters Jobless Statistics

ALBION (AP) — Republican State Chairman George M. Van Peursem charged today that Gov. Swainson has overlooked 72,000 persons without jobs in reporting state unemployment figures.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Albion Rotary Club, Van Peursem said Swainson is engaging in "political deception" to improve his own image before the voters.

"The governor would like voters to think unemployment has gone down recently but it actually has gone up sharply," said the GOP leader.

He said 72,000 persons who are newcomers to the job market have been omitted from the Democratic administration's figures on current unemployment.

★ ★ ★

Many of these, he said, are recent high school youths who have been looking for work without success "for a considerable length of time."

Van Peursem urged the election of George Romney, the Republican candidate for governor, saying Romney "will provide the leadership to get Michigan moving again."

He said Romney and his administrative board team, if elected, would undertake a comprehensive analysis of state problems and provide immediate solutions.

This analysis would concern itself with government costs, taxes, the economic climate, unemployment and "a poor national reputation" that Van Peursem said Michigan has acquired.

Van Peursem's appearance before the rotary club came a week after his Democratic counterpart, Joe Collins, addressed the same group.

Ex-Con-Con Delegate on Bureau Committee

Former con-con delegate Allen F. Rush of Washington Township, currently is serving on the resolutions committee of the Michigan Farm Bureau which will hold the second of a series of six meetings Wednesday in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Out of this and subsequent sessions will come tentative resolutions to be placed before 700 voting delegates of the Michigan at its 43rd annual meeting Nov. 7-9 at Michigan State University.

Rush, a member of the farm bureau's board of directors, farms 420 acres at 65040 Dequindre Road in partnership with his son Marvin. They raise registered Hereford cattle and fruit.

The resolutions committee, on which Rush represents the Oakland-Macomb county area, is frequently referred to as "the most influential farm committee in Michigan."

Prior to the annual meeting this committee will hold "hearings" at which farm leaders of government and private groups will outline areas of concern.

The group also will hear reports of subcommittees working in specialized areas and examine some 1,000 policy recommendations referred to the committee by 71 farm bureau organizations.

Sewage Funds Get Approval

Give Tentative OK for Treatment Plant Study for Walled Lake, Novi

Tentative approval to allocate funds for a preliminary study on the feasibility of a sewage treatment plant to serve Walled Lake and a portion of Novi was given last night by the councils of both communities.

The study will cost Walled Lake $1,000 and Novi, $300.

Both councils are expected to authorize the funds at their regular meetings next week, according to R. J. Alexander, County Department of Public Works director, who explained the possibilities of a lagoon sewage disposal system at the joint session at the Novi Village Hall.

Alexander said that Johnson and Anderson, consulting engineers for both Novi and Walled Lake, would undertake the study and prepare cost estimates. This will take about two weeks.

A treatment facility has been proposed to be built on the southwest side of Walled Lake in Novi Village, explained Alexander, but details will not be known until the study is complete and the plan proved practical.

To build a lagoon system, where the waste is aerated after being filtered, would require, in this instance, said Alexander, between 40 and 60 acres of property.

"The proposal fits in with the county master plan of the area," said Alexander, "and would serve until it can be afforded to build an interceptor from Nine Mile Road up to the lake area."

The south area of Novi Village will benefit from sewer lines in the future that will connect to a main in the Northville area.

Novi took advantage of the 3,000 connections after Walled Lake rejected an offer to use a portion of them because of the extremely high cost to individual property owners.

Alexander said the flow of a lagoon system into an arm of the Rouge River would not be continuous, only during the spring and fall.

Troy Mothers Plan Session for Monday

TROY — The Troy Blue Star Mothers, Chapter 37, will sponsor a luncheon and card party at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the Women's Guild in the Clawson Shopping Center.

A hat sale also is planned in connection with the party. Prizes will be awarded.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to send Christmas boxes to Troy men in service. Reservations are being accepted by Mrs. Mary L. Tietz, 1037 Larchmont St.

TO GRADUATE — Mrs. Emanuel Beyers, the former Shelly Simmons, will receive her diploma from Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing tomorrow at the Rackham Memorial Building, Detroit. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Simmons, 2417 Doleman Ave., West Bloomfield Township.

Smorgasbord Slated

THOMAS — The Thomas Chapter of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a smorgasbord and bazaar Tuesday at the OES Temple, Oakwood. Serving will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Stocks Open Fraction Higher

Prices Fall Into Zigzag Pattern

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices fell into an irregular pattern in light early trading today after opening a fraction higher.

★ ★ ★

Most changes among key issues were small.

One again there was little overnight news to excite the market. President Kennedy's statement that Cuba doesn't offer a serious threat at this time evidently wasn't far from what Wall Street had expected.

Another news item — the loss of $30 million in gold from the U.S. stockpile in the latest week — apparently drew little reaction.

★ ★ ★

Even the usually wide moving higher priced stocks got off to a slow start. IBM was up a point at first but quickly fell back and was unchanged. Polaroid was off a major fraction as was Du Pont.

The oil section had a few small gainers including Texaco and Royal Dutch. So did the metal section where Kennecott and American Smelting were ahead a bit.

Chemicals, which have been among the strong groups this week, were mixed. American Cyanamid and Eastman Kodak were up a little and Allied Chemical and Air Reduction fell fractions.

LITTLE CHANGED

Steels were little changed with U.S. Steel and Republic off small fractions and Jones & Laughlin up the same amount. Bethlehem was unchanged.

Among the motors, GM and American added minimum fractions. Chrysler, which was down more than 1 yesterday, fell nearly 1 in early dealings.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

American Stock Exchange prices opened mixed. Fractionally higher were Universal Controls, Wood Newspaper Machinery and Arkansas-Louisiana Gas. Down fractions were Anken Chemical, Paddington and Tampa Electric.

News in Brief

Theft of a 12-gauge automatic shotgun valued at $140 and a 30-caliber deer rifle worth $200 was reported to Pontiac police yesterday by Richard A. Earle, 32, of 640 Peacock St. He said the weapons were taken from a closet in his home.

Race Driver at Pontiac Mall

Accompanies Duo on 33,000-Mile Test Run at Wards Store

A. J. Shepherd, professional race car driver, veteran of the Indianapolis "500" and official observer for the United States Auto Club appeared at the Pontiac Mall Montgomery Ward & Co. Store today.

Shepherd accompanied Lou Samick and Edwin Morgan, professional test drivers, who are on the final leg of a test drive of more than 33,000 miles.

Their vehicles are being driven on Montgomery Ward tires. The visit took place at 2 p.m. and was one of several held today in the Detroit area.

★ ★ ★

The occasion marked the end of the "longest cab ride in history."

★ ★ ★

The two cabs made stops at Montgomery Ward stores in 172 cities in all 48 states during the 112 continuous days of driving in the hottest months of the year.

Announce Skills Course in Tool-Die Industry

A 10-week course in management skills and labor relations in the tool and die industry will be offered starting Oct. 3 at Wayne State University's McGregor Memorial Conference Center, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The course, sponsored by the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of Michigan and WSU, will be taught by Dr. Raymond S. Ross, 1714 Norfold Drive, Birmingham, of the WSU speech department, and Robert Conder of the school of business administration.

National Product Total Confusing to Work Out

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The public has latched onto a handy yardstick it believes tell how the nation is doing. This the Gross National Product, a government statistic currently running at an annual rate of $552 billion, nicely ahead of a year ago.

By watching the quarterly changes in the GNP the average citizen figures his chances for holding or finding a job, getting a raise or taking a loss in income, expanding his business or sitting tight.

★ ★ ★

The GNP is supposed to measure, or estimate, the dollar or market value of the nation's total output of goods and services. But there are a lot of things it ignores. And there are other problems, like price inflation and population growth and changing consumer habits, that worry the statisticians.

★ ★ ★

At the annual meeting of the American Statistical Association in Minneapolis, Minn., a few days ago several economists called for improvements in the figures, especially now that so many government and business and consumer decisions are being based on the quarterly fluctuations of the GNP.

For example, the housewife who does her own work or her husband who fashions a family room aren't adding anything to the Gross National Product—at least not the way the government figures it.

FIGURES CONFUSING

But if the housewife hires a servant or the homeowner calls in a carpenter, the wages paid do add to the GNP—and hence to the appearance of economic growth—although exactly the same amount of production occurs in either case.

★ ★ ★

And if the price of goods and services changes, so does the total of the GNP, even if there's no change in the number of units actually produced.

★ ★ ★

Even without a price change, should the dollar value of the nation's total output remain the same next year as this, individuals might be less well off — because the population will have grown some more, and each one's share of the goods and services woud be smaller.

★ ★ ★

PRODUCTION LOW

Some statisticians figure GNP on a per capita basis to take care of population growth. But others object that most of that growth has come in the number of children and retired persons, neither adding much if anything to the nation's economic proudtion.

What is included in the GNP yardstock? In its September survey, out today, the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, reminds GNP fans that it is a comparatively young statistic. The first one was issued in March 1942 and it was five years later that regular quarterly publication of estimates at annual rates started, although national income estimates began in the 1930s.

GNP includes national income and goes beyond it. The national income components are compensation of employes, proprietors' income, rental income of persons, corporate profits before taxes, not interest receipts, and inventory valuation adjustment.

To this GNP adds business transfer payments other than for goods or services, indirect business tax and nontax liability, capital consumption such as investment and current surplus of government enterprises less subsidies.

Another way to reach the same final figure is to add personal consumption expenditures, gross private domestic investment, the surplus of exports over imports—if there's a deficit, you subtract instead—and government purchases of goods and services.

But neither method takes into account the busy housewife or do-it-yourselfer — or price fluctuations, or population growth.

Telegraphers-Rail Strike Hit by JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has urged concessions by union and management to settle swiftly the telegraphers strike that has halted the nine-state operation of the Chicago & North Western Railway.

Farm Belt senators said the harvest-time walkout could spell bankruptcy for some farmers if their crops aren't shipped soon.

Negotiators for the railroad and the union sit down with federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill again today.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday his latest report on settlement efforts by Acting Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz indicates progress toward agreement.

★ ★ ★

"I am hopeful of it," he said, "... I am hopeful that both sides will make sufficient concessions, if that is the word, to permit an agreement, because the public interest suggests an agreement is due."

MANY AFFECTED

Kennedy said an immediate settlement is important "because there are great interests, of nine states, affected; a good many farm crops which should be coming to harvest, which are in the field, and public welfare suggesis that these two important groups come to a conclusion, I would hope over the weekend."

Kennedy said the government has done everything it can under the Railway Labor Act to produce a settlement.

★ ★ ★

"The only provision which is available to us would be the Taft-Hartley under a finding that the national interest and security was affected," he said.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, Kennedy could seek an injunction to halt the strike for 80 days.

INTRODUCES BILL

Sen. Joe Bottum, R-S.D., introduced a bill Thursday which would permit limited movement of commodities essential to national defense, public health and welfare during a transportation strike, and said he hoped the measure "may in some manner grant some very emergency relief" to people in South Dakota and other states affected by the walkout.

★ ★ ★

"We stand to lose the entire sugar beet crop" in South Dakota and Nebraska unless farmers can ship their harvest soon, Bottum said. Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said the sugar beet crop is all that stands between some farmers and "a great financial disaster, and in many cases even bankruptcy."

At issue is a union demand that the railroad get its consent before laying off telegraphers.

Q. "We own our home and have $4,500 in a savings account. This year we received a legacy: 360 shares of U.S. Steel, 50 shares of National State Bank of Newark and 120 shares of New England Tel. & Tel. The market, particularly in Steel, has dropped considerably. Should we hold these shares or sell at a loss?" K. A.

A. It is always very pleasant to hear of someone else's good fortune. I don't believe you need feel the slightest concern about your bank stock or your Telephone shares.

Your U. S. Steel stock presents a problem. In the first place, it represents too large a proportion of your total financial picture. Secondly, the dividend was covered over the past year and a half by a very narrow margin, and the present rate is not entirely secure. For both reasons, I suggest you sell 260 shares of your Big Steel. With the proceeds I would buy 100 shares of Corn Products and add the remainder to my savings account.

Q. "Do you think El Paso Natural Gas merits retention in view of their heavy indebtedness and the Government's procrastination on pipe line cases? Two years ago, I bought 200 shares, and a stock split brought me 50 more. I paid $2,500 on margin, have been called on twice for additional payments, and may be called on for more. I am paying 5¼ per cent interest and question whether I should sell and take my loss or hold on for possible recovery." H. R.

A. I think that in your own mind you've decided what action to take and would like some support. I'm glad to give it to you. I see nothing in the El Paso situation that warrants retention, particularly in a margin account. I advise you to sell, close out your margin account and put the new balance into California Liquid Gas (OTC)—where I believe you have a better chance of making up your loss.

President Speaks Out Strongly

Space Firms Told Union Shop Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has called on four balking missile-space producers to adopt the union shop or bear responsibility for disastrous strikes.

The union shop, Kennedy told his news conference Thursday, is an accepted fact in American industry.

The President spoke out strongly in behalf of a White House board recommendation that the Lockheed, Convair, North American and Ryan firms require their 100,000 workers to be union members provided the workers give prior approval by a two-thirds vote.

PLACES BLAME

"If there is a strike," Kennedy said, noting that two unions involved have accepted the board's peace formula, "the responsibility would be very clear, I think, to the American people for such action."

The President's comments were in response to a question as to whether he felt that the unions, having accepted while the companies have not, were being forced into a strike against the key government suppliers of space and missile equipment and planes.

★ ★ ★

With a strike threat looming at the four firms after Sept. 22, the President also acted to head off a possible walkout this weekend at Boeing Co., another major aerospace producer with 45,000 workers. The same union shop and other issues are involved.

BOEING FACTS

Kennedy set up another three-man fact-finding board to hear the Boeing dispute and make settlement recommendations during a 60-day no-strike period running to Nov. 15. This board is due to start work at Seattle Monday.

In Seattle, Boeing said it is willing to keep the present contract running until Nov. 15 if the union will do so. Harold Gibson, international vice president of the International Association of Machinists, said the union will decide today.

In endorsing his aerospace board report favoring the union shop for the Lockheed, Convair, North American and Ryan firms, Kennedy said the required union membership proviso had been adopted years ago by most other major U.S. industries, including auto, steel and aluminum producers.

Kennedy noted that in this case the two-thirds worker ratification condition gives the workers a veto.

The President said the unions, the AFL-CIO auto workers and machinists, were agreeing to take a recommended wage increase that was "not particularly generous," and well within the administration economic guideposts.

The President was not asked, nor did he volunteer anything about the ethical argument over the union shop. The reluctant firms maintain it is wrong to require their nonunion workers to join and pay dues to unions. The labor organizations contend that since they bargain and handle grievances for all workers, all should contribute toward union support.
