The eight-week-old daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton J. Mouton of Lafayette were joined near the base of the spine. Doctors were hopeful that both little girls would live.

Auto of Missing Envoy's Wife Found in Switzerland

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The black Chevrolet sedan in which missing British Diplomat Donald MacLean's wife disappeared last Friday from Geneva was found today in a Lausanne garage.

The garageman said it was brought in early Friday night by a woman with three children answering to the missing family's description and that the group rushed across the street to the railway station.

He said the woman told him she would come back for the car in about a week.

The disappearance of Chicago-born Mrs. Melinda MacLean, 37, and her three small children was revealed yesterday. Her husband and another member of the British Foreign Office staff, Guy Burgess, are generally believed in the West to have fled behind the Iron Curtain after they crossed from England to France in May, 1951, and dropped from sight.

There has never been any official confirmation, however, that the two men had gone over to the Communists.

Mrs. MacLean and her children —Fergus, 9, Donald, 7, and 2-year-old Melinda, born three weeks after her father disappeared—had been living in Geneva with Mrs. MacLean's mother, Mrs. Melinda Dunbar.

The Lausanne garageman, Marcel Michell, said Mrs. MacLean and the children arrived at his establishment about 6:50 p.m. Friday and that she told him she was in a great hurry to catch a train.

The only train leaving Lausanne immediately after was the 6:58, arriving at Zurich at 1:06 p.m., with stops en route at Friborg, Bern and Olten.

From Zurich there are almost daily air connections to Prague. Czechoslovakia, but Swiss air line officials said Mrs. MacLean had not been on any plane to Prague Friday.

Until the discovery of the car today, the only clue to the family's disappearance was a telegram filed early yesterday from the Montreux suburb of Territet to Mrs. Dunbar. Purportedly from her daughter, it said:

"Terribly sorry delay in contact you nnforeseen circumstances have arisen. I am staying here longer. Please advise school. Boys returning about a week's time. All extremely well. Pink rose in marvelous form. Love from all. Melinda."

Suspended Athletes to Get New Hearing

LANSING (AP)—A legislative committee today refused to suspend the High School Athletic Association eligibility rule on awards but recommended that the case of nine athletes recently suspended be re-heard.

Chairman Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) said the committee on administrative rules found the awards rule "not in conformity with the statute" because the one-year suspension penalty provided was inflexible.

Hornsby Fired by Cincinnati

First Base Coach Will Handle Team for Rest of Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rogers Hornsby today was removed as manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the club, said Buster Mills, first base coach, will handle the team the remainder of the season.

Paul, in a statement, said Hornsby asked him Tuesday about his status for 1954.

"He was told a decision would be made very shortly and because of his request he would be advised as soon as a decision was reached," Paul said.

"We have advised Mr. Hornsby today that a change in managers will be made. Because of the fact that Mr. Hornsby has been notified he will not manage the Redlegs in 1954 it is advisable that the change take place immediately."

Paul said he was not ready to announce the new manager.

Surgeons Fight for Lives of Siamese Twins

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A team of eight surgeons separated Louisiana's Siamese twins today after operating two hours.

"The condition of the twins is very satisfactory" following the separation, a staff surgeon reported and expressed hope that both girls would survive.

The eight-week-old daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton J. Mouton of Lafayette were joined near the base of the spine.

Doctors were hopeful, but not overly optimistic that both girls would survive.

Hospital spokesmen said yesterday the girls, Carolyn Anne and Catherine Anne, are "bright, alert and normal in every respect except for the connection."

The only organ the twins had in common was the lower intestinal tract, spokesmen said. They were joined at the fourth sacral vertebrae, which is fused.

The lower intestinal tract was bypassed in a preliminary operation by an opening in the abdominal wall, spokesmen said. Plastic surgery will complete each twin's lower intestinal tract.

The twins apparently have separate functioning nervous systems and independent spinal cords, except a junction in the dural sac, the covering of the spinal cord at the lower end.

They weighed 11 pounds, eight ounces at birth and have gained about three pounds since.

The first born, Carolyn Anne, was the longest, 17 inches. Her sister was 16½ inches long. Each has grown about an inch and three-quarters.

At one point in the delivery, Carolyn Anne stopped breathing and had to be revived by artificial respiration. The twins went into an incubator at birth.

Chrysler Gets $50 Million Order for Tank Retrievers

DETROIT (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. will receive a $50,000,000 defense contract in the near future for construction of M51 tank recovery vehicles.

The Army announced yesterday that the vehicles are to be built at the Chrysler-operated Detroit Tank Arsenal in nearby Center Line. Chrysler is nearing completion of a tank construction contract at the arsenal.

The M51 is a square tank-like vehicle with a derrick instead of a turret. It is used to retrieve damaged tanks from the battlefield.

The Center Line plant currently employs approximately 4,000.

Brig. Gen. Carroll H. Deitrick, commander of the Ordnance Tank-Automotive Center here, declined to estimate the number of tank recovery vehicles to be built for the army or to say how long it would take to fulfill the contract.

Deitrick said, however, the M51 is a new type recovery vehicle designed and engineered by the Army Ordnance Corps.

Army announcement of the new contract confirmed an earlier report by Norman Matthews, director of the Chrysler Department of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, that Chrysler was to get a new contract and that work would be done at the arsenal.

Chrysler recently lost a $200,000,000 tank-making contract to General Motors Corp., which the Defense Department said submitted a bid 12 per cent below that of Chrysler.

Motors Proving More Efficient Than Expected

Air Force Will Cancel Contracts for Old-Style Jet Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force plans to cancel contracts for possibly 6,000 spare engines costing a half-billion dollars because, it says, jet engines are sturdier than at first thought.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Air Force Talbott told a news conference yesterday the cancellations will "not affect the production of one single plane."

They said the engines, all spares or extras and mostly for jets, are not longer needed for two chief reasons:

1. Jet engines are much more durable than had been expected —the result of "accumulated know-how" in operation, maintenance and improved design.

2. Attrition rates have fallen off —that is, fewer accidents and, of course, no losses in combat since the truce in Korea.

However, Talbott said the Korean truce was not a direct factor.

Talbott said production of the affected engines will start tapering off immediately and will come to a halt by next spring. He said the number of cancelled engines might run as high as 6,000 with savings between 400 and 500 million dollars.

Commenting on the durability of jet engines, Talbott said some

Sen. McCarthy to Wed Sept. 29

Miss Jean Kerr, 29, Ex-Research Assistant, Is Bride-Elect

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Miss Jean Kerr, former research assistant in his office, are to be married.

Mrs. William P. Kerr, mother of the bride-to-be, announced the engagement today. The wedding will be Sept. 29 in St. Matthews (Roman Catholic) Cathedral here.

Miss Kerr, 29 was employed in McCarthy's office from 1948 until 1952.

A brunette, she was voted the most beautiful girl at George Washington University in 1945 while a student in the school here.

Miss Kerr also attended Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

McCarthy is 43. A former judge in Wisconsin, he was elected to the Senate in 1946.

Miss Kerr, a native of Washington, joined the senator's staff on her graduation from Northwestern in 1948. Her name has been linked romantically with that of the bachelor senator since shortly after that time.

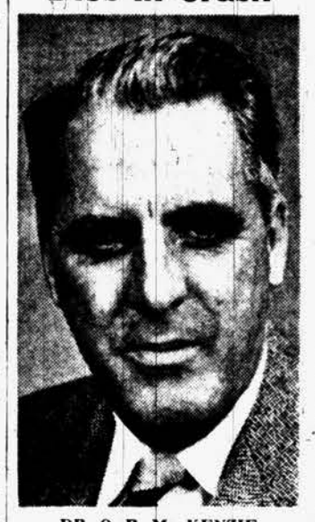

As a staff assistant to McCarthy, Miss Kerr helped in preparing material for his various pamphlets and speeches. During hearings last year on McCarthy's fitness to retain his Senate seat, it was brought out that Miss Kerr did research for controversial booklet on housing which McCarthy sold to the Lustron Corp. for $10,000.

Medical Society President Dies in Auto Crash

Dr. Oliver MacKenzie on Way Home From Meeting Near Utica

Dr. Oliver R. MacKenzie, 44, a well known Walled Lake physician and president of the Oakland County Medical Society, was fatally injured early today in a highway accident at Utica Rd. and Moravian Dr. in Macomb County.

Dr. MacKenzie was driving home from a medical meeting at Hillcrest Golf Club near Utica, according to Macomb County sheriff's deputies, when his car collided with one driven by Edward Schroder Jr., 27, of 44749 Brockton, Utica.

The doctor was dead upon arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Mt. Clemens, deputies stated. Schroder was treated for bruises.

Macomb County Prosecutor Fred Nicholson will take a statement from Schroder today, deputies said.

Schroder told deputies he had started forward after halting for a stop sign when the doctor's car came through the intersection and their cars collided.

Dr. Mackenzie had practiced at Walled Lake for the past 15 years. He was named Citizen of the Year for 1952 by the Walled Lake Rotary Club, which cited his work among students in the community's schools and his leadership in a campaign for the incorporation of Walled Lake as a city.

He was an active member of the staffs of both St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac and Pontiac General Hospital.

Sister Mary William, R.S.M., administrator at St. Joseph, said, "We've suffered a great loss to our medical staff. Dr. MacKenzie

Report New Jewish Purge

Sources Behind 'Curtain' Say Reds Wage Secret Campaign

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A new outbreak of Communist suppression of Jewish minorities—with dozens of top Jewish community leaders being tried secretly or under arrest—was reported today from behind the Iron Curtain. Reliable sources said that so far the new anti-Jewish campaign has been restricted to Romania and Czechoslovakia. It has not reached Hungary, Poland and Bulgaria as far as is known.

But in Romania and Czechoslovakia, the Red regimes have apparently reopened the campaign of Jewish persecution which flared throughout east Europe in 1952. The difference is that today the drive to wipe out all Jewish opposition to communism is being carried out with as much secrecy as possible.

According to reports, checked against those of refugees and traveling businessmen, this is part of what has happened in recent weeks:

1. Five prominent Zionist and Jewish leaders in Romania have been secretly tried and given prison terms from 10 to 16 years. Another trial of Jews including Romanian representatives of the World Jewish Congress, is in repatriation.

2. Nine prominent Jews and Zionists have been tried and sentenced to long prison terms in Prague. Some 60 prominent Jewish and Zionist leaders, jailed for some years, are being concentrated in one prison in Bratislava, evidently for trial.

Husky Worker Catches Child in 50-Foot Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—A husky workman raced from a nearby construction job yesterday to catch in his arms a 2-year-old boy who fell 50 feet from a lower East Side apartment building.

The child, Francis La Madrid, was not hurt. Neither was the 42-year-old workman, Louis Sarno.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

Claims Solution of Global Unrest Is Up to Russia

State Secretary Tells U. S. Policy to General Assembly of U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The world is at a crisis, Secretary of State Dulles said today, and it is up to the Communists to remove the roadblocks that stand in the way of peaceful solutions for Korea, Indochina and Germany.

"Mere words" are not enough, Dulles told the U. N. General Assembly, and there can be no "new world climate" unless the Communists contribute to it by changing their policies.

The United States, he declared, stands ready to explore all possible means to end tension and bring world peace—before scientific discoveries "wipe life off the surface of this planet."

Dulles accused the Communists of dilatory tactics in Korea since the armistice. And he added:

"We are forced to doubt that the Communist side really wants to comply with the armistice and face up to the problem of withdrawing their forces from Korea and creating a united and independent Korea."

Dulles spoke for 37 minutes before a packed audience, including top-ranking diplomats from 60 nations. Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky listened intently and took notes, but the Soviet bloc delegates did not join in the applause when the secretary of state concluded.

This was Dulles' major policy statement, in behalf of the United States, before the Assembly session which began Tuesday. Vishinsky will present Russian views within a few days.

Dulles mentioned Premier Malenkov's recent statement that the Communist and non-Communist systems can co-exist peacefully. He commented "such expressions are welcome."

But he added "mere words do not reassure us" in view of the fact that "since 1939, 600 million people of some 15 nations have been brought into the Soviet camp of dictatorships."

Saying there never was a time when the need for harmony was more urgent, Dulles told the Assembly:

"The United States will seek to avoid any word or deed which might needlessly aggravate the present state of dangerous tension."

"If the Soviet leaders are honest, they must recognize that, if there is to be a new world climate, they must contribute more to it than they have yet contributed."

He accused the Soviet Union specifically of "dilatory tactics" in Korea and of sponsoring rebel forces in Indochina, as well as failure to cooperate on the German and Austrian questions.

The secretary of state laid down the following points, which he said would "go far to end the present tension:"

1. Policies which will permit Korea to be united and free.

2. A peaceful solution of the Indochinese problem.

3. Unity of Germany and a free Austria.

4. Polices which will enable Russia's neighbors to enjoy national independence.

5. Policies which will end the dedication of the Soviet Communist party to the violent overflow of independent governments.

Then Dulles observed:

"Governments which exert them-

O'Brian Quizzed in Detroit Death

Police Checking Alibi for Jan. 2 When Girl Was Raped, Slain

Donald V. O'Brian, held here in the rape and death of Mrs. Hallie Perkins, was questioned for an hour this morning about the rape-slaying of JoAnn Gillespie in Detroit the night of Jan. 2. He has denied any connection with this crime.

Sgt. Glenn Coller, of the Detroit police homicide squad, said results of the questioning this morning were "inconclusive" but that O'Brian had furnished "partial alibis for his whereabouts that night."

O'Brian was returned to jail and will face further questioning after his statements this morning are checked, Sgt. Coller said.

He claims he was home with his 19-year-old wife and two children the night the Detroit girl was slain.

O'Brian was arrested Sept. 9 after attempting to attack a Pontiac housewife, and under questioning by Pontiac and State Police he confessed the rape-slaying of Mrs. Hallie O. Perkins, 55, of 76 W. Longfellow Ave. Mrs. Perkins' body was found Aug. 15 in a field at Beverly and Baldwin Aves.

O'Brian also admitted the attack on a 16-year-old girl Aug. 15, and four other attempted attacks on Pontiac women, said Oakland County authorities.

Detectives Glenn Coller and Angus McIntyre of the Detroit Police Department said the questioning was "routine."

Definite Plan for Action in Pembroke School Case Pledged by City Manager

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—A concrete proposal for serving the proposed Pembroke School with storm water drainage is promised by City Manager Donald C. Egbert for a meeting of Board of Education members, city commissioners, Troy officials and engineers tonight.

Located outside the city limits, in Troy Township, the site has been a problem since its purchase last March.

The City Commission offered to supply water and sanitary sewage services on the condition that the school solve its own storm water drainage problem.

School Board members are holding development of the much needed school to serve the growing northeast area of the city until the storm drain problem is settled.

Egbert met yesterday with city engineers and Troy Township engineers to work out a solution they will both approve. The Birmingham City Commission has stated that their existing storm drains are incapable of taking any more flow.

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph Main has put forth a temporary solution to the problem, and City Manager Egbert favors a more permanent solution in the area.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Board of Education offices, Hill School. According to school board member Richard Sauerbrun, the immediate goal of the meeting is an agreement which will allow construction to begin.

Extra Engine Orders Due to Be Canceled

of them run as much as 1,000 hours without overhaul, whereas 100 hours had originally been contemplated. But he added:

"There was no mistake in the original jet engine orders. At the time they were made, we had no experience factors on which to base requirements."

Wilson and Talbott insisted the cancellations were not dictated by the five-billion-dollar cutback in Air Force funds voted by Congress last session. But they said the decision was in line with administration policy of saving money wherever possible without endangering national security.

Wilson said the engine cancellations have nothing to do with the aircraft reductions announced two weeks ago, when 966 planes were cut from procurement plans at a saving of 750 million dollars.

Talbott said the engine cutback will not affect the J53, which is the newest, costliest and most powerful jet engine made for the Air Force. Principally affected, he said, are the J47, used in B47 bombers; the J33 and J35, used in such planes as the F80 and F84; the J65, used in the newer F84 and the B57, and the R3350 and R2800 piston engines.

selves without reserve to the creation of ever more powerful methods of mass destruction, which tolerate no delays and spare no expense in these matters, and which at the same time are dilatory, evasive or negative toward curing the situations which could bring these destructive forces into play, cannot but stand morally condemned."

He said there never had been a time when the need for harmony was more urgent.

"Never were the consequences of disharmony more menacing," he continued. "The fact of tension cannot be ignored. That would be dangerously unrealistic. Also, the causes of that tension will have to be explored. Otherwise there can be no cure.

"But, in whatever it does here, the United States will seek to avoid any word or deed which might needlessly aggravate the present state of dangerous tension."

Warning that scientists have found the means to wipe life off the planet, Dulles observed:

"The destructive power inherent in matter must be controlled by the idealism of man's spirit and the wisdom of his mind. They alone stand between us and a lifeless planet."

Until the world develops "the spirit and the institutions that will enable man to dominate matter," Dulles said, nations are forced to develop "community measures to deter aggression." With such organization as NATO obviously in mind, the secretary of state continued:

"Soviet leaders have complained of these arrangements. But they should know, and probably they do know, that community arrangements are the least likely to be aggressive. Military force which is within a single nation can be used offensively at the dictation of one government alone, sometimes of one man alone."

Dental Group Criticizes False Advertising Claims

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Assn. for Dental Research said today that published articles about "so-called anti-enzyme tooth pastes" have "served as a springboard for distorted advertising claims."

Officers of the association said that "as yet they have seen no public evidence that warrants claims of great reductions in occurrence of tooth decay through routine use of any dentrifice."

Begin Probing Convair Crash

Federal Investigators Seek Cause of Accident That Killed 28

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Federal investigators start poring over the twisted ruins of an American Airlines Convair today to find out what caused it to clip two radio towers and slam to earth, killing all 28 persons aboard.

The twin-engined craft burst into flames yesterday morning as it crashed within a few feet of a trailer park, scorching the bodies of the 25 passengers and three crew members.

Joseph Fluett, regional chief investigator for the Civil Aeronautics Board, called a meeting this morning to organize "an investigation of structural parts and the scene itself" that will take about two weeks. Airline officials and state police also are investigating.

Some witnesses reported the plane seemed to encounter engine trouble as it circled Albany Airport after its landing had been delayed by a heavy ground fog.

American Airlines said its meteorologist found, just before the crash, that the fog had begun to clear and that the ceiling over the airport was 500 feet. Minutes later the 40-passenger Convair struck two in a row of three 365-foot towers at Albany station WPTR's transmitter.

The plane shattered on the ground a half-mile from the radio towers and 3½ miles from the airport control tower.

A shred of wreckage clung to one of the radio towers, which was damaged slightly, and part of the plane's wing and part of the tail were found on the ground nearby.

ROK 8th Division Gets Eisenhower's Citation

SEOUL (AP) — A U. S. presidential unit citation was presented to the ROK 8th Division today for its heroic stand last July against the last big Chinese push on the East Central Front.

5-Cent Rate Considered by Postal Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said today a special advisory council to his Senate post office committee is considering a five-cent rate on first class mail between cities.

It would be aimed to cover "expedited" handling with air transportation for most such mail.

Jews Prepare for Yom Kippur

Holiest Day of Calendar Begins at Sunset Friday, With Services

Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the Jewish calendar, will be observed with religious services in synagogues throughout the world from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday.

Yom Kippur is the day of atonement, traditionally observed with prayer and fasting. It is the climax of a 10-day period of penitence which begins with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year.

The day of atonement ritual is inaugurated on the eve of the holy day with the singing of Kol Nidre, the celebrated hymn in which the worshipper asks divine forgiveness for trespasses and errors committed during the year.

The liturgy for the holy day contains collective admissions of guilt and supplications for the power to overcome sin and wrongdoing. The service is concluded with a blast of the shofar, or ram's horn, symbolizing the cry for divine compassion.

Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein of Temple Beth Jacob announces services for the holy day at 8:15 p.m. Friday and starting at 10 a.m. on Saturday. Children's service is at 2 p.m. and the closing program is at 3.

Rabbi Henry Hoschander of Congregation B'nai Israel reports that the Kol Nidre service will be at 5:30 p.m. Friday, with a sermon by him at 6. Saturday the schedule is for Shacharis at 8 a.m., with sermon at 11 and final blowing of the shofar at 7:10 p.m.

Antique Autos Chug Into Motor Capital

DETROIT (AP) — More than 400 ancient automobiles — Stanley Steamers, Pierce-Arrows, Model T Fords and many others—arrived in Detroit under their own power.

Most of them were participants in the renewal of the famed Glidden Tour of an earlier day; others were the prize possessions of Michigan old car hobbyists. All came to participate in an old car festival at Henry Ford's Greenfield Village, on Saturday.

Today the collection of old cars paraded in downtown Detroit to gather in front of the motion picture theater that stands on the site of an earlier home of the late Henry Ford where he built his first auto in the early 1890's.

The Glidden tourists came to Detroit by way of Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo.

Oatis Gets 10-Year Red Prison Sentence After 'Trial' Full of Twisted Testimony

Editor's Note: William N. Oatis, writer of the following article, is the Associated Press correspondent who was imprisoned for more than two years in Communist Czechoslovakia. This is fourth in the series.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

On Monday, July 2, 1951, I stood up in court in Prague, Czechoslovakia, and said I had spied for the United States Embassy.

I was not a spy. I was an Associated Press foreign correspondent, and the three men accused with me were my Czech employes.

William Oatis

And I was not testifying as I should have testified in a court in my own country—out of my own heart, aiming to tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

I was testifying as the Communist secret police wanted me to testify. I was following, in substance and sometimes word for word, a script they had written for me and rehearsed me in.

This script, prepared during my 70 days' interrogation and completed perhaps 10 days before I took the witness stand, was called a protocol. It consisted of questions for court and prosecutor to ask me, and answers for me to give them.

That morning, we four went on trial before the Senate of the State Court at Pankrac Prison, in southeast Prague.

We were brought there after breakfast from the prison where we had been interrogated. (I did not find out till after the trial where that prison was.)

We made the trip in a green van, each locked in a blind compartment with guards crowding the aisle. Other guards with submachineguns watched in a courtyard as we were led into Pankrac Prison.

* * *

We passed through a subterranean corridor and upstairs to a row of separate cells. I waited in my cell, smoking nervously and guarded by a tall uniformed policeman with a big pistol.

* * *

Then we crossed a hall and entered the high-ceilinged courtroom by a side door. We must have looked quite decent, for supposed criminals.

Before our journey, we had been shaved and had changed from prison uniform into street clothes. (I wore the dark blue suit and brown bow tie I had on when arrested April 23.) But each of us had his guard.

I scanned the courtroom for familiar faces. I saw none of my friends. (Only after my release this year did I learn that Vice Consul Richard G. Johnson and Private Secretary Mary Horak of the U.S. Embassy were in the back of the room.)

I recognized two Czechoslovak press officers — Dr. Rudolf Popper of the Ministry of Information and Bedrich Runge of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. They sat stolidly in the press section.

* * *

I noticed there, also, two Communist correspondents I had seen in my 10 months of freedom in Prague—an effeminate Irishman from the party-line Telepress agency and a Negro girl whose affiliation I did not know. They were grinning broadly at my plight.

Upstairs and downstairs, the house was packed. Specially chosen factory workers, cooperative farmers and government clerks got passes to such trials.

We four sat down, separately by our guards, on a bench facing the bar. I had earphones to catch simultaneous English interpretation of all Czech testimony; the interpreters were in booths near the bar.

And near me sat another interpreter to serve as intermediary between me and the court when I should testify.

Now the judges entered, four men and one woman in black robes, and the trial began.

State Prosecutor Josef Urvalek, also in black, read the indictment. It called the Associated Press a spy agency serving the United States in a "war against the Soviet camp of peace."

It said all AP bureau chiefs in Prague since 1948 had been spies.

It charged my employes and me specifically with espionage.

Presiding Judge Jaroslav Novak then called me to stand in the horseshoe-shaped witness stall. He referred to the indictment and asked, "Do you feel guilty?"

"Yes, I do," I said. Seventy days of questioning had taught me that was the right answer.

The judge had a bulky document before him. It was my protocol. And now I got the first question in it: The prosecutor asked me to identify a small card introduced into evidence.

I said it was my 1944 off-duty pass from the Japanese language school of the Army Military Intelligence Service at Ft. Snelling, Minn.

* * *

After a few unprogrammed questions on my birthplace and such, I explained in answer to protocol questions that I had gone from Ft. Snelling to a similar school at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and, after a year's study there, had got out of the Army.

* * *

(I studied language, not espionage, and I was not in the Military Intelligence Service, but on the detached enlisted men's list.)

I said that Lt. Col. George L. Atwood, U. S. military attache in Prague, had been in the Ann Arbor school while I was there but that we had not met.

I testified that I got acquainted with him in Prague and had "espionage meetings" with him.

(Actually I was speaking of occasions when I had gone to him for news or background information on military matters in Czechoslovakia.)

I confessed I had gathered "espionage news" from my employes, other Czechs and diplomats, and gave details.

(I was talking about reports on military, economic and political subjects not published in Czechoslovakia. The police had sold me the idea that all this was espionage material.)

I said that the bartender at the Alcron Hotel in Prague once had interpreted for me the Czech conversation of two government chauffeurs talking at the other end of the bar, and that it had to do with the arrest of a public official.

(This was a fiction built up around a kernel of fact and transferred from the bartender's protocol to mine: In reality, one chauffeur had told him about the official; the chauffeur had left the bar before I came and heard the report from the bartender.)

I testified that I got reports from a man using the name of Antonin Kratochvil and claiming to work in the prime minister's office.

(I knew he was an agent of the secret police but said nothing of this. I was playing their game in the hope of a short sentence.)

That afternoon my three employes related they had helped me get unofficial reports.

They also said they knew a Czech refugee, Vladimir Komarek, who sometimes returned illegally to his homeland. It was testified that he was a spy and that an accomplice of his had shot and killed a policeman.

(I had never met Komarek, and I insisted on this throughout the trial.)

Next day, 11 witnesses testified.

One said he had killed a policeman with a pistol Komarek gave him.

Another, Jan Stransky, told how he had given me a letter for his former employer, Russell Jones of the United Press, noting his suspicions that a Czech in that office was a police spy.

(I carried this letter to Jones, not knowing what was in it.)

Nearly all the other witnesses testified they had given unofficial information to me or my employes. Their testimony was both fact and fable — like mine and my employes'.

Prosecutor and defense counsel spoke. (My lawyer said I was guilty but there were alleviating circumstances.) And the next morning we four were all convicted. I got 10 years. Svoboda 20, Woydinek 18 and Muntz 16.

A big black sedan took me to Ruzyne Prison, five miles west of Prague. On the way, I noted a big car just ahead with a man and boy in it — Col. Atwood and his young son.

'Birdie' Not a Captive; It's Call for a Dance

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Many University of Georgia students who at the start of the summer term thought "birdie in the cage" was a captive canary are finding out a few things.

For a new course in square dancing is packing them in at the Student Union under direction of the Physical Education Department.

"Birdie in the cage" is one of the calls used by the caller to direct the dancers to change formation.

Legislative Gravy Boats

How would you like a free two weeks' sea voyage to Panama and return?

You could have it if you were a member of Congress and had a letter from the Vice President, Speaker of the House or the chairman of your standing committee of Congress.

You could even take your wife and children along at the reduced rate of $80 round trip for each. Commercial rates range from $288 to $324. Panama Canal Zone employes also get discounts for these trips ranging from 25 to 75 per cent.

All this is possible because the steamship line is a subsidiary of the Panama Railroad which is owned by a Government corporation closely affiliated with the operation of the canal. The line is considered an essential Government service. Since the Canal is operated by the Army, the ships perform certain essential defense functions though other lines cover the same route.

As might be expected this subsidiary operates at a loss. For fiscal 1951, latest year for which an annual report has been published, it ran $212,000 in the red on a $5,000,000 gross business. Special discounts on fares alone cost $825,000.

Between July 28, 1952 and August 17, 1953, Congressional traffic on the line's three modern 14,000 ton ships was heavy. Among those enjoying the Panama trip were 36 members of the House, two Senators and one delegate, 38 of their wives and 33 of their children.

Here, it seems to us, is a fertile field for exploration by economy advocates with a view to plugging an indefensible tax leak.

Polio Peak Passed

Both national and local figures indicate the peak of the 1953 polio season has passed and the outlook is for a diminishing number of new cases.

A U. S. Public Health Department release showed 2,130 new cases in the Nation last week, the second successive decline from the preceding week. The report also said the peak threat of the disease countrywide apparently was passed during the week of August 22.

Oakland County and Pontiac figures now also are showing a decrease in the number of new cases with only 18 reported last week, 14 from the County and four from Pontiac. In the previous week there were a total of 31 cases, the high for the year. Nine of these were in the City and 22 outside.

★ ★ ★

This is welcome news for everyone as is a recent announcement that the new polio serum on which scientists pin great hopes may be ready for field trials before many months. When the results of those trials and the mass tests of gamma globulin are reported, it may be possible to forecast the conquest of this crippling disease.

Who'd Have Thought It?

Women drivers aren't going to like it. But a report just at hand throws new and surprising light on the fair sex as motorists.

Made by William J. Toth, research associate of New York University's Center for Safety Education, the report is based on a summer long analysis of traffic in 10 Northeastern States.

Among other things discovered with the aid of a radar test car in 15,000 miles of travel is that the ladies are anything but the slow, cautious drivers they're popularly supposed to be. One test made in a New England State revealed that 53 per cent of all speeders warned were women.

Another fact uncovered by the survey should be of interest to officials of small towns and villages. Two tests showed that 99 per cent of all drivers ignored posted speed limits of 15 and 25 miles an hour.

At the other extreme the researcher clocked open road speeds up to 92 miles an hour and found that five per cent of all drivers on rural highways exceed 70 mph. Even more surprising is the finding that night time speeds were higher rather than lower than during the daylight hours.

Besides criticizing the single license plate system as a handicap to law enforcement, Toth had this to say of the 40 accidents he saw during his tour:

"At least four persons were killed and dozens were injured in these mishaps, in 90 per cent of which high speed was a factor in causing them or increasing the severity of injuries and damage."

This report was made for insurance companies, but it should be a warning to all motorists.

The most recent rise in the cost of living was due mainly to advances in the price of foods and of medical care. But don't despair; you can cope with both these increased costs by eating less.

It is expected that soon there will be an eruption in Trieste of considerable proportions — Tito is rumbling.

This is the last time the list of games in the Man About Town football contest will be published. The prize is $300. Put a check mark on the team which you think will win each of the following games. If you think the game will end in a tie, do not check either team. Then attach the list to a piece of paper bearing your name and address. Or you can write out the list and indicate your choices. Here are the games:

Sept. 19—Texas A. & M. vs. Kentucky
Sept. 26—Notre Dame vs. Oklahoma
Oct. 2—Fordham vs. Detroit
Oct. 9—Pontiac High vs. Flint Central
Oct. 17—Minnesota vs. Illinois
Oct. 25—Detroit Lions vs. Forty-niners.
Oct. 31—Pennsylvania vs. Michigan
Nov. 7—Michigan State vs. Ohio State
Nov. 14—Colorado vs. Nebraska
Nov. 21—U. C. L. A. vs. Southern California
Nov. 28—Army vs. Navy

Send your entry to the Pontiac Daily Press office so it will be received by Saturday noon, Sept. 19. That's only day after tomorrow. U. S. Savings Bonds of a face value of $300 will be given the winner in a straight elimination contest. Every member of your family can compete, but each entry must be on a separate sheet. Last year a five months old child was the winner: two years ago the $300 was divided among several who tied. No further publicity outside of this column is being given the contest.

Voice of the People

She Believes Within U.N. Lies 'Warfare' That Will Eventually Bring World Peace

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature).

Disparaging remarks concerning the United Nations Building and New York City itself should not be taken as a general opinion.

On a recent trip to New York City I had the extreme privilege, through a friend who is an interpreter for the "Voice of America," to see and hear first hand one of the sessions of the Korean conference.

Even as an observer, it was easy to see that any serious conclusions will be a long and tedious process, and at times, most discouraging. Especially so when Mr. Vishinsky spouts words for over an hour.

Yet, I felt that herein lies the type of "warfare" that will eventually bring us "peace."

To me, the U.N. Building in its structure alone is like a living monument to the many boys who have died on the battlefields of the world. Let us not condemn too readily the writing of the first chapter of a book that all the world hopes will be entitled "Dawn of Peace."

The "melting pot" of this nation is to me symbolical, for which the U.N. strives, peace for all . . . everywhere.

Commends Sen. Bricker for Proposed Amendment

I should like to take this opportunity to give my view of the proposed "Bricker" amendment.

May it read as follows: "Any act, agreement or treaty, made by or for the President, or any elected or appointed representative of the United States, between the United States and any foreign nation shall be subject to the approval of the legislature and such act, agreement and/or treaty shall in no way take precedence over the rights and privileges of the individual citizen or state as set forth in the Constitution of the United States of America."

Sen. Bricker is to be commended for his stand in this matter, since he is in direct conflict with the attitude of an administration made up of men of his own party.

Any agreement entered into by this country should have the approval of its citizens. If that approval is not forthcoming, then that agreement should not be made.

Dulles Gives Warning to United Nations That Armistice Is Only Stepping Stone

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON —The aggression in Korea has not been ended. Communist China's armies still occupy North Korea. The armistice itself has not terminated the aggression.

These simple facts expressed by the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, in behalf of the United States at the meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations, tell realistically the status of the Korean problem.

It is a statement that ought to be read carefully by those who have argued that the Korean armistice was a great victory and that it "stopped" the aggressors.

The exact words of the brief address by Dulles are so important that they are reproduced here, because this correspondent cannot find that they have been widely disseminated throughout the United States.

The full text of what Dulles said is as follows:

"I move that the General Assembly postpone for the duration of the eighth session for the current year the consideration of any proposals to unseat the representatives of the national government of the Republic of China or to send representatives of the so-called Central Peoples' government to represent the Republic of China.

"I make this procedural motion of postponement so that we can go ahead with the regular work of this Assembly in our present session.

"We know that three years ago the Chinese Communists intervened with their armed forces as aggressors, as participants in the Communist scheme to overpower and seize the Republic of Korea.

"That fact of aggression has been found by the United Nations. After unnecessary and heartbreaking delays in negotiations to halt the fighting, an armistice was finally concluded about six weeks ago and that armistice was welcomed throughout the world, nowhere more than in the United States.

"But the armistice has not solved all the problems that were created by the Communist aggression in Korea. Armed forces of Communist China still remain in Korea.

"The aggression is yet to be terminated and the peace secured. The Chinese Communists have not shown in this matter convincing evidence of a genuine intention to end the aggression and to make peace, and, moreover, their continued actions elsewhere in Asia are far from reassuring.

"Therefore, I submit that, as things stand now, we should not even consider any proposals for the representation of the Chinese Communist aggressors in this assembly, and following the practice of earlier sessions I urge prompt adoption of the motion to postpone consideration.

"Let me add the fact that that motion I propose deals with the current year and should not be interpreted as indicatng any expectation on the part of the United States to change its position after the current year.

"It is merely that we believe that it is appropriate that a body of this character should deal with one year at a time."

The motion made by Dulles was adopted, so evidently the other members of the United Nations, including Great Britain, have decided not to allow the question of admitting Red China to the U.N. to be used as a piece of bargaining or maneuver.

The other evening Adlai Stevenson, presidential candidate of the Democrats in 1952, told a Chicago audience that he felt the United States government should not have an attitude of "inflexibility" in dealing with the Communists over the problems of Asia.

He conveyed the impression that it would be wise to indicate a willingness to compromise on such issues as admission of Red China to the U.N.

But it should be noted that even if the Western Allies wanted to bargain, it would be a gross mistake to say so in advance of the political conference at which the fate of Korea is to be settled.

There is a hint in the Dulles speech that recognition of a country and indeed admission to the U.N. is not a legalistic matter at all but is related to the behavior of a regime which seeks to be accorded the courtesies of international organizations.

The air has been cleared by the Dulles speech, and the plain warning about further aggressive behavior by the Communists in southeast Asia is significant of the attitude of the United States.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Certain Suitors Overly Demanding, Says Crane

Lois is just one of thousands of girls who have asked my advice about overly demanding suitors. Paste this Case Record in your scrapbook. And be sure you have the bulletin mentioned below. For true love is not based on breaking laws to "prove" itself.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case H-388: Lois B., aged 17, is in a common dilemma.

"Dr. Crane, I don't know what to do," she said, and began to cry.

"I'm in love with a boy in the army. He is now home on furlough, but goes back in a few days.

"He says he loves me with all his heart. But he insists that I give myself to him to prove my love for him.

"I've argued against it, but he keeps demanding that I do as he wishes.

"He says all girls do that, anyway, and he will never believe I love him unless I do give in to him.

"So what should I do? He means everything to me and I don't want to lose him."

So I told Lois about another girl named Beth who was propositioned in the same manner.

And Beth finally succumbed. It was during the first half of her senior year in high school.

She became pregnant. She had to drop out of school before graduation. This almost broke her parents' hearts, for they had sacrificed and skimped as poor folks do to give their daughter the breaks.

They had lived in the hope she would graduate and finally marry happily.

Beth told her boy friend about her condition. He callously informed her that it was her problem, and deserted her entirely.

So Beth was ostracized socially and forced to have her baby out of wedlock, which is an injustice to the baby, as well as to her parents.

Would you girls take a gun and hold up a bank or rob a store or kill a person just to "prove" your love for a boy friend?

Then why should you think you must submit to illicit sexual demands to "prove" your love?

Instead, why don't you take the initiative and see that your boy friend proves his love for you, as by treating you as a gentleman should?

Girls, if your boy friend ever demands that you "prove" your love for him by illicit sexual affairs, then you can be sure at the outset that he does not love you! Oh, he may protest loudly, but that's sales talk!

He is simply trying to inflate his juvenile ego by a sexual conquest so he can think he is a great big he-man.

He is using you exactly as millions of timid fellows employ cigarettes or whisky, namely, to try to prove that they are fully grown and no longer children.

"Oh, but Dr. Crane, he said he loved me truly!" many pregnant girls have wailed, as they tried to keep up an idealistic "front" so they could avoid facing the bitter fact that they had been duped.

You girls must separate words from actions. If your boy friend really loves you, he will put a wedding ring on your finger.

And he will consider your wishes, for true love is unselfish. So if he tries to domineer and force you into making all the concessions, then that very selfishness positively proves he does not love you.

It shows him up as a high-pressure salesman, just giving you a "line."

So send for my bulletin, "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime, and get wise to the real facts of life.

True love is always proved by morality, not by violating laws.

Dr. Brady Discusses Treatment Methods for Men Having Prostatic Obstruction

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

It is the experience of every physician in general practice to see, from time to time a man, cadaveric in appearance, who first consults the doctor complaining of thirst, nausea, lost appetite, lassitude and restlessness.

The man may or may not have noticed a gradual increase in girth.

He may believe that, although he has long had some bladder trouble he still empties his bladder completely, when in fact the bladder is distended so that it is high in the abdomen.

He complains of dull aching in the back — perhaps calls it "lumbago," if he is a follower of the almanac or current nostrum advertisements.

Or the man may be in a still more wretched state of incontinence or what in medical parlance is known as the dribbling uremic state.

I'm giving these unpleasant facts by way of timely warning, I hope, to men who may still choose the alternative. I'm sorry if anything I say here worries or frightens any one who shouldn't be worried.

On the first visit to the physician, he will decide what the bladder or kidney trouble may be and whatever treatment he gives will be comparatively painless.

The whole business is actually less embarrasing or difficult, once one has decided not to procrastinate, than would be the state an experienced nurse described with a shudder as that of a "bladdery old man."

In a considerable proportion of cases of prostatic obstruction in the earlier stage the patients suffer from hemorrhoids as well as so-called "irritable bladder."

Sometimes the improvement or relief in the bladder trouble following obliteration of the hemorrhoids by ambulant (injection) treatment in the physician's office is astonishing unless we remember that all of the pelvic organs and their functions are controlled by the sympathetic (autonomic) nervous system.

I have advocated the transurethral resection (non-cutting) method — through the cystoscope, by means of electrocoagulation, cautery-punch or some such improved instrument, which clears the channel of obstruction without external wound.

Now I wish to make it clear that competent urologists at present regard this method as applicable in early and beginning enlargements, in cases where the obstruction is probably due to a median bar and for temporary relief of malignancy.

All agree that success with transurethral resection requires as careful selection of cases and as careful preoperative preparation as prostatectomy does.

No surgeon who can perform transurethral resection satisfactorily has stopped doing the standard perineal prostectomy when the operation seems the method of choice.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Rock-Carved City of Petra May Lure Many to Jordan

PETRA, Jordan—The Kingdom of Jordan hopes to make the ruins of Petra, an ancient city carved from the living rock of desert mountains, one of its major attractions for visitors from the west.

David S. Boyer, National Geographic Society writer-photographer on assignment in the Near East, made the now difficult trip to Petra, which lies between the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba, about 100 miles south of Jerusalem and 180 miles east of Suez. He agreed with the Jordan government.

Given reasonably good transportation facilities, he said, Peta would be overshadowed as an attraction to westerners only by the holy cities of Jerusalem and Bethlehem.

As a photographer, Mr. Boyer was particularly impressed. He said:

"When the sunshine is bright, and particularly when it slants into a craggy canyon to spotlight some kingly monument carved in the face of a towering cliff, it is difficult to save any film for other countries on my itinerary."

Once the capital of an empire that stretched as far north as Damascus, Petra remained for centuries a truly lost city known only to roving desert Bedouins who kept its secret for fear that publicity would attract outsiders to upset their lives.

In 1812 John Louis Burckhardt, a Swiss disguised as a Bedouin sheik on a religious pilgrimage, made his way to the ruins and brought out news of the rock-carved city. Even so, few others found Petra over the next century because of the inhospitable nature of the desert tribes.

Today, roads that Mr. Boyer asserted would "make good proving grounds" for motor vehicles lead to within a few miles of Petra, but final entrance must be made on horse or muleback, or on foot, through a long gorge several hundred feet deep and only a few feet wide in places.

This gorge, the Wadi Musa, remains the only entrance to the city, surrounded by towering sandstone mountains, just as it was two thousand and more years ago. Then the Nabatean people of the desert made Petra a stronghold supported by tolls from caravan traffic between the western world and the East.

A practical people, the Nabateans cut troughs or laid tile pipe in the Wadi Musa and smaller canyons around the city to lead in water from the winter rains. This water was kept in cisterns, cut like homes, tombs and temples, in the solid rock of the mountains. The Romans, who conquered Petra in A.D. 106, probably used these artificial watercourses and cisterns for their public baths.

Now they have fallen into ruin, and Mr. Boyer reported that the only water available for washing is in a spring-fed pool a 20-minute walk from the city itself. Drinking water for man and animal must be brought in on pack mules.

The attraction of Petra lies in its numerols tombs and temples and the manner in which they were cut into the brilliantly colored sandstone.

Most spectacular and best preserved is the temple El Khazna, whose magnificent facade, complete with pillars and bas reliefs, varies in color in the changing desert light. Under the moon it appears marble-white, while it is brilliant red in noonday sun and rich mahogany at dusk.

Put 75 Per Cent Duty on Automobiles in India

NEW DELHI (AP) — India imposes a standard duty of 75 per cent on the cost price of imported small automobiles with less than eight horsepower in assembled form, Commerce Minister T. T. Krishna-Machari says.

The figure compares with duties ranging as high as 94 per cent on certain parts of the same cars in knocked-down condition. A commerce ministry spokesman explained that "the duty on parts varies, depending on whether the particular component is or is not produced in the country to a sufficient extent."

Memphis Dog Uses Ladder to Chase Cats

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) When Pepper, a fox terrier, chases a cat up a tree he's likely to go right up the tree after the cat.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr own Pepper and they said he began his tree-climbing while just a pup about five years ago. He'd jump into a tree and wander around from limb to limb.

Finally, he tackled a pear tree that was a little too high for him so Kerr fixed him up with a ladder. Pepper uses the ladder to get to the first limb, then clambers on up from one limb to another.

The Kerrs also built Pepper a tree house. They want him to have an address while off terra firma.

Grafting in Moonlight

CULVER CITY, Cal. (AP)—If you want to grow avocados which measure 15 inches or more in diameter, take the tip of Glenn R. Kershner and learn the art of top grafting—and do the grafting in the dark of the moon.

Kershner says most fruit is so small because there isn't enough top grafting. A tree on which he did top grafting yielded 50 - 60 jumbo avocados.

As for the dark nights, he says that is the best time to do the work and be assured the king size yield.

Large Cattle Herds on Move in Australia

DARWIN (AP) — About 150,000 cattle are on the move in northern Australia. Some of the cattle will be on the track five months before they reach the railheads or meatworks as a stepping stone to the dinner tables of Australia and England. The cattle are in great herds averaging 1,250 head.

This year's movement of cattle is the biggest in the history of the Northern Territory because last year's drought prevented all droving.

Money in the Air From Borrowed Truck

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — It was not raining money, Charley Maynard started to town with $570 in an envelope. In his garage, he decided he'd wear a coat and went back for it. He put the money on a fender of his truck.

His brother Paul found a use for the truck at the same time and drove it off. The wind did a thorough job of scattering the money. One woman who turned in part of the $60 Maynard got back said people were fighting for the money "all the way down the hill."

Israelis Dispute Dissection of Human Bodies

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)— A parliamentary bill granting the Hebrew University—Hadassah Medical School the right to dissect unclaimed bodies was vehemently opposed on religious grounds by Rabbi Ben-Jacob of the religious-orthodox "Agudath Israel Party."

Maintaining that any dissection is a desecration, he said:

"No reason can override Talmudic Law which permits the dissection of a human body only as a means of detecting a murderer or to safeguard children from hereditary disease."

J. Serlin, minister of health and a leader of the "General Zionist Party," who introduced the bill in the Israel Parliament (Knesset) and who had the majority of the House behind him, declared, however, that insufficient anatomic instruction by prohibiting dissection might impede the full medical training of students now at the Hebrew University.

Only about 2 per cent of the American people have perfect eyesight.

Adenauer Plans Steps to Rearm

Will Push for Election to Get More Favorable Bundesrat Vote

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is striking fast after his sweeping election victory to eliminate the last internal threat to West German participation in the defense of Western Europe.

This is the possibility that the federal supreme court might rule unconstitutional the arming of half a million German troops for the proposed six-nation European army.

* * *

The court is now considering a suit filed by the opposition Socialists and challenging the constitutionality of rearmament.

* * *

Parliament has approved the European Army Treaty but President Theodor Heuss has withheld his signature of ratification until the court rules, probably next month.

With a firm mandate from the people to join the Western alliance against the Soviet menace, Adenauer and his Christian Democrat party are working to clear the way for quick legislative approval of a constitutional amendment if the court rules against rearmament.

An amendment requires two-thirds approval in both the Bundestag (lower house of Parliament) and the Bundesrat (upper house).

In the Bundestag, Adenauer's forces are practically assured of the necessary two-thirds backing on the rearmament issue. The Christian Democrats have a one-vote majority and the three other anti-Socialist parties would vote with Adenauer on the rearmament issue even if they are not included in the new big coalition government now being formed.

* * *

But in the Bundesrat the government does not even have a majority. The lineup now is 20 opposition votes against 18 for Adenauer's last three-party coalition.

Since the state governments appoint the members of the Bundesrat, Adenauer and his Christian Democrats are pressing for new elections or changes of government in two big states.

The chancellor's forces argue that the present regimes in Baden-Wuerttemberg and lower Saxony are unrepresentative in view of the sweeping Christian Democratic victory in the Sept. 6 national election.

Boy, 9, Learns Not to Catch Strange Snakes

WEBBERVILLE (AP) — George Snyder, nine years old, explained he likes to catch snakes "to scare the girls in the neighborhood."

A snake he caught in his back yard yesterday bit him on the hand. George didn't know what kind of a snake it was, but thought it wasn't a garter snake.

His parents called a doctor and the doctor called on state police to rush down snake bite serum from the health laboratories in Lansing—just in case.

George has been told he musn't play with snakes any more.

Indiana Woman Dies in Michigan Accident

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Mrs. Helen Tinker, 60, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was killed late Wednesday when two cars collided southwest of the city.

Shirley Mae Grove, 19 of Wauseon, Ohio, driver of the car in which Mrs. Tinker was a passenger, and Mrs. Edna Kopas, 34, of Grand Rapids, operator of the other auto, received only minor injuries.

Frankfort Holds First Post-War Glider Meet

FRANKFORT (AP)—The first glider meet since pre-war years will be staged here Friday through Sunday. At least 15 pilots of the graceful motorless aircraft will soar above the bluffs along Lake Michigan beach in search of distance and time-aloft records.

Depending on wind conditions the sailplanes will take off ro mElberta, Sutter's Beach 12 miles north of there, or the Frankfort airport.

Composer's Kin Evades Music

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff Is Research Assistant in Australia

CANBERRA, Australia (UP) — Operating a 4,248-character Chinese typewriter is just part of the day's work for Svetlana Rimsky-Korsakoff.

The bulky machine was specially imported from Hongkong. The type surfaces are all upside down on a flat surface and the carriage is moved around to the required character each time.

Svetlana, 21, is a research assistant at the Australian National University, which is growing up in the national capital. The composer of "Scheherazade" was the brother of her father's father. Which make Svetlana a great-niece.

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff—"spelt with a 'v' or 'ff' makes no difference," she said — came to Australia from Peking in 1952. She was born in Peking, where her father was a professor of ancient history at Tsinghwa University.

Instead of going to foreign school like other European children, Svetlana got her education in Chinese. She went through primary school, college and then graduated from Peking University, where she majored in languages and literature. All in Chinese.

A quiet, soft-spoken girl, Svetlana has adopted many Chinese mannerisms. She speaks English with a faint Chinese accent and loves to break into Chinese idiom—if she knows you understand Mandarin.

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff came to Australia at the initation of C. P. Fitzgerald, one of the world's leading experts on Chinese history and politics. Fitzgerald first heard of her during his 1946-50 stay in Peking. Much of his recently published "Revolution in China" is based on what he saw during that time. Fitzgerald now heads the department of Eastern history at the National University.

Miss Rimsky-Korsakoff's main job is copying and translating articles from current Chinese magazines and other publications. She also finds time to give private Chinese lessons.

She likes to play mahjongg, cook Chinese food, or read Chinese poetry. What about music?—"I used to play the piano, but everybody expected me to be brillaint, because of my great-uncle, so I dropped it," she said.

Stripped Victim of Thug Not Too Convincing

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Harry Arthur Lawson told police this sad story:

A robber overpowered him, stole $50 and then ripped off Lawson's trousers and drove away in his truck.

That wasn't so bad but the pantless Lawson said he walked for blocks knocking at house doors before one of the startled residents finally let him in to use a telephone to call police.

Aged Brothers Keep Business; Claim Pensions

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three brothers, ranging in age from 74 to 79, have put in claims for social security payments, but they don't plan to retire. They're going to continue as the nation's only exclusive manufacturers of tent poles.

Fred, 79; Harry, 76, and Theodore Evers, 74, put in their claims here yesterday to help publicize the fact self-employed persons are entitled to the benefits after their 75th birthday regardless of earnings.

Fred would receive $71 monthly and Harry $69. Theodore would receive $69 a month after his birthday next June.

The brothers claim to be the only exclusive manufacturers of tent poles in the country. Their firm, founded here in 1874 by their father, has been turning out tent poles since the Spanish-American War.

Their last big order was for 30,000 poles for the Boy Scout jamboree hld this summer.

The brothers said they learned by chance from an acquaintance they could collect on the old age insurance on which they have been paying social security taxes.

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—School teachers here have been granted a $100 yearly salary increase by the board of education.

Wiley Asking Far East Pact

Mutual Security Would Be Aim of 'Third' Treaty, Senator Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), declaring "our job in the Far East has just begun," called today for a mutual defense arrangement with that area as soon as the nations of Southeast Asia are ready for it.

"We should use our great influence to help develop the concept of collective security in the Far East," said Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"Security in the Far East is every whit as important to world peace as security in Western Europe or Latin America . . .What we need to do now—as soon as the countries of the Far East are ready to assume the obligations involved—is to move ahead with a third great pact for the Far East."

* * *

In speaking of a "third" pact, Wiley referred to the North Atlantic and the Rio treaties, in which this country pledged its mutual security with the nations of Western Europe and this hemisphere, respectively.

The senator, in a speech prepared for the National Foundry Assn., a trade group, also declared:

1. Russia is seeking to divide the Western Allies, and Americans should not help her by magnifying differences between, for example, the United States and Britain. "The fact that we disagree with respect to a particular policy, he said, "is not nearly so important as the fact that we continue to agree on our common goals and work together to achieve them."

* * *

2. The Soviet world "is in the throes of an acute attack of totalitarian indigestion" whose "symptoms approach those of ptomaine poisoning." Wiley said that, if the free world does all it can to encourage this development, "the internal pains will continue to the point where the Soviet Union will be forced to disgorge her satellites and eventually revolution will break out within the mother country itself."

3. More information about atomic and hydrogen bomb development should be made public because, he said, "if the leaders in the Kremlin had the facts at their disposal, they would hesitate a long time before taking action that might provoke the United States to take retaliatory measures . . ."

* * *

Wiley declared that the United Nations, at the Korean Peace Conference due to start next month, will not be maneuvered into seating Communist China. But he cautioned against threatening U. S. withdrawal if Red China should be seated.

Legal Question Faces Veterans

Can Armed Forces Seize Ex-GI for Crime Committed in Service?

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP) — One bullet among all the millions fired in the Korean War has kicked up a legal storm over how much power the armed forces should have in seizing honorably discharged veterans for trial by court martial.

The echoes of that one shot, in theory at least, may affect Army, Navy and Air Force veterans discharged from service during the past two years and in years to come.

Involved in the argument — which may yet reach the Supreme Court—are these questions, among others:

1. Does the military have the right to arrest a veteran, a civilian, and transport him without a preliminary hearing or advice of counsel to a distant country to stand trial for a crime allegedly committed before he left the service?

2. Can a veteran, using his honorable discharge as a shield, dodge trial for a crime he might have committed before his discharge?

Last May 13, Air Force Sgt. Robert Toth of Pittsburgh was at work as usual when Air Force military policemen suddenly appeared at the plant. The MP's permitted Toth to make one telephone call before they put him aboard a plane. Toth called his mother.

He asked that someone pick up his work clothes at the airport — because military police were taking him back to Korea. They had given him GI clothing for the journey.

And then the story began to unfold: In Korea, the Air Force said Toth was being returned to stand trial for the murder of Bong Soon Kil, a South Korean. Soon there were announcements that two other airmen, still on active duty, had been arrested in the same case, Airman 1C. Thomas L. Kinder, 21, of Cleveland, Tenn., and Lt. George C. Schreiber, 21, of Hollywood, Ill.

The official story was that Kinder was on guard duty when he caught Bong in the restricted area and Toth, the sergeant of the guard, pistol-whipped the Korean.

Then, the story continues, Schreiber, the officer on duty, said something about "getting rid" of Bong, which Kinder later testified he understood as an order to have the man shot. (Schreiber denied issuing any such order.)

But Toth never went on trial. A few days after his arrest, an attorney for Toth charged the Air Force had denied Toth his constitutional rights to a preliminary hearing and benefit of counsel. A federal court was asked to free Toth from Air Force custody.

On the other side, the Air Force contended it acted merely in accordance with the laws approved by Congress—and that Toth was given every legal consideration under the uniform code of military justice. He was not arrested, the Air Force said, until the action was approved by the secretary of the Air Force after a careful review of the facts.

In life, Bong Soon Kil was not a man of importance. The military has not yet been able to find any next of kin. But his death may have its place in history as the start of a legal tangle that could be unraveled only by Congress and the Supreme Court of the United States.

SEARCH FOR WEAPON — State Police Detective Sgt. Charles Leaf (left) and Pontiac Detective John DePauw conducted an unsuccessful four-hour search in the silty Clinton River for a .32 automatic used in the Aug. 29 shooting at the El Chico Bar in which bartender Silas Chaney, 45, was killed. Charles A. Cunningham, 22, charged with first degree murder, told police he threw the gun in the river. The search will continue today.

Republicans See Veep in Contest

Senator John Cooper May Face Popularity of Barkley in '54 Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Republicans arriving in Chicago for regional party conferences discovered today they may have to contend with former Vice president Alben W. Barkley in a critical 1954 contest involving control of the Senate.

Democrats leaving town after a two-day rally here said there is little doubt that Barkley, a veteran of 30 years service in Congress before he was vice president for four years, will be a candidate for the Senate in Kentucky next year.

* * *

This means that Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican looked upon with high favor at the White House, will face the stiffest kind of opposition next year in a state President Eisenhower lost by 700 votes in 1952 while Cooper was being elected by a comfortable margin.

* * *

To the incoming Republicans, who are aiming their forthcoming conferences here primarily at retaining control of Congress, it was obviously gloomy news that Barkley probably will run again for the Senate.

The Kentuckian, who served several terms in the house, was Democratic leader of the Senate and a frequent national convention keynoter before he became "The Veep" in 1948.

* * *

Cooper's Kentucky seat is one of the two now held by GOP members in which Republican strategists are doubtful of the outcome. The other is the seat held by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), scheduled as a fill-in keynoter at the combination meeting of party women from 18 states and 21 GOP state chairmen.

* * *

Control of the Senate may be determined by a single race next year, since the Republicans and Democrats now have 47 members each, with one independent and one vacancy. The Democrats will outnumber the Republicans if Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio, a Democrat, names a member of his party to succeed the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

Recognizing this situation, Victor A. Johnston, director of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee said in an interview he believes Cooper will give a good account of himself against any Democratic opponent.

Cooper's seat is before the electorate again because he was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Democratic Sen. Chapman.

SEIZE MARIJUANA PLANT — Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of Pontiac detectives, displays a 10-foot marijuana plant seized by Detective Raymond Meggitt (left) and Patrolman Donald W. Brown (extreme right) yesterday. Officers found the tall weed growing in a vacant lot on Portland street. A large amount of marijuana was found in the same lot last year, according to Wheaton. The plant sometimes grows as high as 15 feet, he added.

85-Man Board Meets Monday

Group Faces Crowded Calendar After 3-Month Summer Lay-Off

One of the heaviest agendas in the history faces Oakland County Board of Supervisors as it prepares to open its fall series of sessions Monday.

The 85-man board, meeting at Oakland County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St., will answer roll call at 9:30 a.m. — a half-hour earlier then formerly.

Committees are still working on a final budget for 1954 scheduled to be submitted for board approval at Monday's session.

And a stack of other matters has piled up since supervisors' last meeting June 22.

Monday's agenda also lists a salary report for 1954, progress report on the planned new courthouse-office building, drain report, and report from the auditor general committee.

Also on the agenda are resolutions setting dates for Franklin election on incorporation as a village and election on Royal Oak's annexation of part of Royal Oak Township.

Another resolution will ask that the new county market be located at the county service center along Telegraph Road and West Boulevard, instead of on Oakland Avenue as formerly planned.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the county board of auditors, and Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, are expected to report on a proposed annexation of county service center property to Pontiac.

Part of the service center, chosen as the site for the planned new courthouse-office building, lies in Waterford Township just outside Pontiac City Limits.

Other reports include a move to establish Camp Oakland as a temporary detention home and report on additional deputies for Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The board's civil defense committee, headed by Hiland M. Thatcher, is expected to bring in a recommendation to appoint a county civil defense director under a new law.

Charges U.S. Sons Unfit for Dangers of Battlefield

By FRED SPARKS

NEA Staff Correspondent

SEOUL, KOREA (NEA)—We are not preparing our sons physically and mentally to meet the dangers of foreign battlefields.

Proof is found here in Korea in piles of statistics of physical breakdowns and mental crackups studied during this time of the truce.

A careful examination of United Nations soldiers coming back from Communist prison camps shows that our GIs were less able to take the shocking barbaric treatment than their allies.

For example: On a percentage basis, it is positive that fewer British Tommies died during the weeks of forced marches and starvation diets.

A released British officer explained it this way:

"The Yanks went to pieces in the biting cold faster than we did. They were used to softer living and were not in as good physical shape, not as tough. As a result they suffered more and lost the will to live."

As long as the United States means to be the policeman of the Free World, more and more of our young men will be sent to far off places and exposed to the same primitive field conditions found here in Korea.

As a correspondent I have seen our troopers in every one of their foreign assignments from World War II and on. Once again I have become terribly aware that while the GIs are well equipped mechanically, they are poorly prepared in body and mind.

Having visited Korea's Bullet Boulevard during the costly winter of 1950, the victorious spring of 1951, and the trench warfare of 1953 I am convinced thousands of young Americans died of sheer exhaustion and suffered mental collapse because they were improperly trained.

Our GIs learn fast, but if their outfits were attacked during their first days on the line they paid—with their lives—for the mistakes of easy-going generals and complaining mothers back home.

After we got pushed off Pork Chop Hill in the last Chinese shove before the truce, a bushed and limping GI said: "We used to curse our platoon Sergeant back at Fort Bragg for making us spend a night in a rock filled foxhole.

"If I was back there now I would curse him for not making us live in a foxhole for a month with shells whizzing overhead. I wasn't prepared for what we just went through.

O'Brien Still Without Country Aboard Liner

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—French authorities puzzled today where next to ship Michael Patrick O'Brien, the perpetual passenger. The man without a country remained locked in a cabin on the liner Bretagne while officials tried to find some country that would take him.

O'Brien arrived here yesterday with the liner after being denied entry by Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and Italy. France also refused to let him land. He previously had spent almost a year shuttling back and forth on the Hong Kong-Macao ferry when both China coast colonies closed their doors to him. The United States refused to recognize his claim to American citizenship.

O'Brien got aboard the Bretagne after a sponsor offered to set him up in Brazil. When the liner arrived at Rio De Janeiro, the Brazilian government changed its mind and denied him entry.

County Clerk L. D. Allen Named to Committee

Lynn D. Allen, Oakland County Clerk, has been named to a committee seeking to create greater understanding and furrther common causes of city and county clerks.

This first attempt at mutual endeavor was announced jointly by R. Stanton Kilpatrick, Grand Rapids city clerk and president of the Municipal Clerks' Association of Michigan, and Anthony Stamm, Kalamazoo county clerk and president of the Michigan Association of County Clerks.

Authorized to act by their respective associations, they appointed the following members of the joint committee: County Clerks Allen; Albert Wagner, Macomb; Howard Murray, St. Clair; City Clerks Frank B. Niederstadt, Saginaw; Everette D. Cattell, Jackson; and Thomas D. Leadbetter, Wayne.

Nehru Blasts U. S. and Allies

Indian Leader Hits at American and Latin Vote Barring Neutrals

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru slapped at the United States and her Latin American Allies today for keeping India out of the Korean peace conference "against the joint will of Europe and Asia."

Speaking at the opening of a foreign affairs debate in Parliament, the prime minister asserted, however, that India had "absolutely no desire to participate in the talks."

Nehru avoided a direct stand on Red China's recent demands that India and other countries that sent no troops to Korea be given seats at the parley but he declared: "The only real question now is whether neutral countries should be represented."

Neutrals he said, could help in bringing about "a certain atmosphere."

The U. N. General Assembly last month approved a U. S. - sponsored plan limiting the U. N. side of the Korean peace conferecne to nations which sent troops to fight under the international organization's banner. A previous move to seat India at the parley table failed to gain the necessary two-thirds majority, largely because of U. S. and Latin American opposition.

"I have the greatest respect for the countries of Latin America," Nehru shouted amid cheers of Parliament members, "but the fact stands out that nearly the whole of Europe and Asia wanted one thing with regard to the conference, while some other countries wanted another.

"That is their privilege but the question we are considering is one of Asia," he added.

K. of C. Official Killed

MT. CLEMENS. (UP) — Joseph Turner, 34, grand knight of the Mt. Clemens Knights of Columbus, was killed on M-97 Wednesday when his car collided with a truck driven by Kenneth Miner of Detroit. Miner was not injured.

Fatal Mishaps to Children Can Be Avoided by Care

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Children's Bureau proved by statistics today what parents have known all along: that a child is a constant worry from the time he is born.

True, wonder drugs have taken some of the fright out of many children's diseases. But the bureau report said accidents continue to be a major cause for anxiety.

Right now, it said, more children are being killed by accidents than die of all the infectious diseases of childhood put together. These include influenza, pneumonia, polio, tuberculosis, rheumatic feevr, measles, ddiphtheria and whooping cough.

The trouble starts immediately.

During the first year of baby's life, the report said, the chief accident danger is the "inhalation or ingestion of objects." Freely translated, that means baby picks up something and either sticks it up his nose or down his throat.

Then, between the ages of one and four, he can run around and show more versatility in what he picks up. Such as poison.

But at almost all ages, the No. 1 villain in accidental deaths is the same: The automobile.

The infant is its victim, and so is the grammar school age child. When he becomes a teen-ager, and maybe starts to drive the car himself, the rate jumps up startlingly. More children of from 15 to 19 die because of motor vehicles than from all other accidental causes combined.

Artillery Shell Explodes, Killing Indian Soldier

INDIAN VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—An Indian soldier was killed today by the accidental explosion of an artillery shell and his body was cremated at sunset on a Korean hillside with age-old Hindu rites.

It was the first death among members of the Indian force sent here to guard war prisoners unwilling to return to their homelands.

The soldier, a private named Paltu, stepped on or kicked the shell, which exploded.

4,000-Volt Line Shocks Fire Chief Into Day Off

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—William Wolters, 49, chief of the Alameda County Fire Patrol, was fighting a grass fire when he brushed against a 4,000-volt power line yesterday.

The shock threw the chief into the air. He fell and rolled down a hill.

Pocket X Ray Developed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pocket-sized X-ray instrument, designed to be a life-saver in battlefield surgery and in civilian emergencies, has been made possible by atomic research, two chemical engineers say.

Pictures of broken bones, of bullets or shrapnel buried deep in the human body can be made on the spot in a matter of minutes with the instrument, Dr. J. B. Powell and Dr. Joseph Bochinski of Iowa State College told newsmen yesterday at the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

A rare metal, little known to scientists until recently, supplies the X rays. A piece about the size of a flint in a cigaret lighter does the work. The metal is called thulium.

102 Auto Crashes Recorded in August

A total of 102 auto accidents occurred in Pontiac during August, according to a monthly traffic summary by the Police Department.

Fifty-six persons were injured, but no deaths were reported.

So far this year 385 have been injured and six persons killed in 862 auto accidents. During the first eight months of last year, five persons were reported killed and 299 hurt as a result of 1,830 auto accidents.

AF Seeking to Strengthen Its 'Backbone'

RAMSTEIN, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Air Force, reversing its usual drive toward the newest in warfare, set out today to turn the clock back to the "good old days" when sergeants were the backbone of the service.

The Air Force began a campaign "to increase the participation of non-commisioned officers in the administration of the command, and their responsibility to lead and train enlisted airmen."

Opening the drive in the 12th Air Force headquarters here, Maj. Gen. Dean C. STtrother deplored the fact that "the stature of the average NCO before the second World War ha suffered throught the war-inspired rapid expansion of the Air Force."

"Why, back before the war," Strother told a committee of seven NCO's, "a newly commissioned officer depended on the experience and devotion to duty of the veteran NCO to put him on the right track.

"The NCO was proud when an officer made rapid strides under his tutelage. This was and is an extremely healthy relationship. An officer fresh out of school, young in years, could hardly be expected to know the military ropes like an experienced line chief NCO with 20 or more years of experience."

The seven sergeants attending the conference agreed with the general that the NCO's no longer play such an important role.

Strother emphatically rejected, however, any suggestion that "we don't have the caliber of men we had in bygone days."

"We have the people," he declared. "They are well qualified to be trained into their responsibilities. It is now a matter of utilizing them to maximum capability."

Pair of MPs Solve Problem -- Temporarily

CHICAGO (AP)—"What will I do?" tearfully asked Mrs. Sylvia Barker of two young military policemen.

"I must be in San Francisco by Saturday. My husband has been a war prisoner in Korea for 27 months and now he's coming back. But my wallet is gone. Someone stole it from my purse. How will I get there in time?"

Mrs. Barker, 35, told the MPs she left her son, Harlan Joseph Jr. at Huntington, W. Va., although her husband never has seen his son, because the bus trip would be too difficult with him.

She said she thought her wallet was taken when she was jostled near a crowded escalator in the Greyhound bus depot. That left her with less than a dollar in small change.

A telephone call to the Red Cross was futile—it was late at night.

Sgt. Robert Wilbur, 20, of Indianapolis, and Pvt. Everett E. Kellett, 21, decided there was only one thing to do.

They registered her at a hotel, took her to a restaurant, and paid the tab. They planned to ask the Red Cross to carry on today.

"It was a privilege," said Sgt. Wilbur.

Von Braun Estimates Trip to Mars Would Be 9-Month 'Sleighride' Through Space

This is the fourth in a series of six articles on how man will make his first trip from Earth to Mars.

By JOHN GEIGER

N S Science Writer

NEW YORK (INS) — A sleighride in September will get man to Mars in June.

In the dry language of science, it sounds relatively easy, about like this:

"Once the space vessels are assembled, fueled and in all respects ready for space,' they will leave earth and begin a voyage which will take them out of the earth's field of gravity and set them into an elliptical orbit around the sun.

"At the point on this ellipse which is furthest from the sun but touches the orbit of Mars, the vessels will be attracted by the gravitational field of Mars.

"Their rocket motors then will decelerate them and swing them into a circular path around Mars."

Actually, it's about as easy as putting a ping-pong ball on a spinning phonograph record in New York and getting it to fly off across the United States to the edge of another spinning phonograph record on a turntable in California.

But a growing number of scientists believe it can be done, and one — Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of the United States Army's guided missiles development project—has shown how.

In a forthcoming book, "The Mars Project," Von Braun explains that a flotilla of 10 rocket-powered space-ships must swing away from earth at a precise second, plotted in advance.

For one hour, six minutes and 48 seconds, the rocket motors will roar, eating up nearly 3,000 tons of nitric acid and hydrazine fuel in a single gigantic push.

Then the motors will cut off and the space-ships—traveling at 23,220 miles-an-hour—will coast, like a sleigh skimming across friction-less ice.

And coast, and coast, and coast some more . . . for 260 days.

Actually, scientists have tentative answers to some of the problems spacemen will encounter once they leave the earth's atmosphere on the long trip.

An artificial or synthetic gravity might be created by hooking two space-ships together and rotating them around their common axis.

Or special fast-spinning spheres might be attached to the space-ships. In these, too, the centrifugal force created by the spin would resemble gravity's "feel," and might give each crewman at least a few hours of normal orientation each day.

Dr. Konrad Buettner of the U. S. Air Force's department of space medicine says "bioclimatology" — the science of creating an atmosphere that can sustain life—can solve most of the air-conditioning problems, and along lines quite similar to those now employed in submarines.

A special heat-radiating metal might form the cabin's outer skin to protect against the sun's fierce heat. The crewmen's own body warmth probably would suffice for internal cabin heating.

Layers of air, plastic and metal in the cabin wall, scientists believe, will protect against ultra-violet rays and against cosmic rays —atomic particles hurtling through space with tremendous energy.

Fuel tanks and cabin will be self-sealing, to protect against small meteoric particles. A thick "meteor bumper" will give some additional safety. Beyond that, the possibility of collision with a meteor is a calculated risk—and a real one. For if a cabin wall is ripped open, the space crewman will have enough oxygen in his system for only 15 seconds of consciousness. And—at the zero atmospheric pressure of space—his blood will begin to boil and his body may literally explode.

He will have small "space-boats," Von Braun predicts, for intership visiting. But most of the time he will have nothing to do but eat (specially condensed rations, about three pounds a day), drink 4.4 pounds a day), sleep, or talk to earth by radio.

All this while, through eight months and more than 50 million miles, Mars—ruddy-colored, silent, cloudless—will be looming larger, larger in the view from the space-cabin portholes.

At a certain point, the space-ships will be pulled strongly into Mars' field of gravity—and, just as they have been circling the earth eight months before, now they will circle Mars, like tiny Martian "moons."

To make the path around Mars circular and even, a brief rocket thrust is necessary, and so for the first time in eight months the rocket engines will be turned on for a few seconds.

Below—1,000 miles down—Mars' surface will be spread out for a first close look by human eyes. It may be, perhaps, the first look by an reasoning creature in all the planet's history.

Sounding missiles will be dropped to test the Martian atmosphere and check it against evidence already in hand. Maps will be drawn of the surface—from pole to equator. Perhaps, even at this distance, the mystery of the Martian "canals" —the long, thin lines seen in earthly telescopes—will be solved.

A new world lies below. The "landing rockets" will be made ready.

(Tomorrow: Exploring Mars.)

Never Went to Church, but Leaves Money to 4

ALLEGAN (UP) — A childless widower, who never belonged to a church but believed "they always need money," has willed his estate to four Otsego churches and the local government for the development of a municipal athletic field.

Wright Hadden, a farmer who died at the age of 81, left an estate valued at about $40,000. It included a 99-acre farm, and a number of city lots and houses.

Pressure Forcing French Decision on EDC Issue

By PHIL NEWSOM
UP Foreign News Editor

Once more, Europe faces a moment of decision.

As has been true throughout modern times, how that decision goes rests upon France and Germany.

Like a woman, history cannot be rushed, depending rather upon moods and impulses. The impulse, this time, came from Germany. The mood is being set by France's partners in the European Community.

The decision is whether there is to be a European army.

The mood, except in France, is that there should be one. Not at some distant point in the future, but now.

Therefore the pressure is on the French.

It comes primarily from two sources, either of which both frighten and infuriate the French namely, the United States and West Germany.

The immediate decision has been forced by West Germany, and it couldn't have come at a worse time for the French.

After last week's elections, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer emerged undoubtedly as the strongest voice on the continent of Western Europe.

Adenauer had campaigned on a clear-cut issue of cooperation with the West. His election cut the ground from under French charges that the Germans were dominated by nationalism alone.

Adenauer's electoral mandate was for four years and he lost no time in exploiting it by demanding immediate action on the EDC, or European Defense Community.

Back of Adenauer's demand was the threat that if France refused to join the EDC, then Germany, possibly with the United States backing, would go ahead with an army of her own.

Scarcely were the German elections over when the United States cut further ground from French objections to the EDC.

Though the EDC originally was a French proposal, French opinion later had swung to the opposition on the grounds that the EDC would give Germany the chance to dominate the continent, that French economy, already bled white by the war in Indochina, could not afford the expense of the EDC.

Last week, in Washington, the National Security Council proposed that the United States increase its aid to the French in Indochina by nearly $400,000,000. It would mean that the United States would assume almost the total cost of the Indochinese war.

Tuesday Adenauer attempted to make the West German position clear.

He said that France need not fear an eventual German domination of the EDC because the pool was the best way to harness the German "industrial and spiritual potential."

The two developments have placed France in a most unfavorable position.

Internally, her condition is such that she is in little shape to settle problems externally. The bitter taste of last month's strikes is still in her mouth.

Taxation and soaring costs are problems still to be met, and until they are met the government of Premier Joseph Laniel can be regarded as little more than a caretaker government.

But, despite all that, the betting now is that the French Assembly next month must at last face up to the EDC.

Therein lies Europe's moment of decision.

Major Eisenhower to Report October 17

CHICAGO (AP)—Maj. John Eisenhower, son of President Eisenhower, said at Fort Sheridan last night that he has been assigned to report for duty with the 30th infantry at Fort Benning, Ga., on Oct. 17.

Maj. Eisenhower, who returned recently from Korea, said he and his wife and three children will fly to Washington Saturday. They have been visiting at the home of his wife's parents, Col. and Mrs. Percy W. Thompson, at Fort Sheridan.

Maj. Eisenhower said the children will visit in the White House while he and his wife go to Highland Falls, N.Y., to close their home in preparation for his stay at Fort Benning.

Actress Faced Failure, Death

But Rallied to Become Susan C. McNamara, 'Private Secretary'

NEW YORK—To look at lovely, poised Ann Sothern today, one would never think that not too long ago this blonde young woman faced death, failure and unhappiness in her personal life.

Ann was born Harriet Lake in Valley City, N. D. Her mother was singer Annette Lake and her father was a motion picture star coach. In other words, young Harriet was steeped in dramatic tradition.

But Ann's thespian debut did not take place until the young comedienne was 23 years old. In artistic circles, that is quite "old" to be starting out in the cold, cruel world of theatrics.

Pretty young Harriet had no surface trouble getting her big break—she was attractive, vivacious, and lo and behold, talented. She had the light, bubbly quality which one visualizes with all beautiful but dumb blondes. Ann was far from dumb. . . although her specialty was the "my friend Irma" type of role.

In fact, much of Ann's success was due to her hilarious portrayal of Maizie whom she made famous, both on radio and in movies. Maizie became synonymous with Ann Sothern and vice versa.

Too soon the public was flooded with dumb blondes climbing on the bandstand of this new craze. It began to pall very soon.

Maizie was discarded. . . and everyone thought Ann Sothern's career went with her. She still got roles of course, but strictly supporting. . . things were going from bad to worse.

To top it all off, marital trouble began to rear its ugly head. Married to handsome young actor Robert Sterling and mother of baby Trisha Ann, Ann found herself unable to cope with domestic problems, and was soon separated and then divorced.

Things should have gotten brighter at this point for our golden-haired heroine, but they got worse. Ann developed a serious liver ailment and for months her condition remained balanced between life and death.

Then as the situation reached its drarkest point, Ann began to rally. Improving constantly, she was soon able to undertake a TV show that became an instantaneous success.

Personifying young career girls the nation over, Ann put her heart into the light and gay characterization of Susan C. McNamara, star of the new comedy series, "Private Secretary."

At the moment, Ann's career couldn't be better. With a season of top-ranking entertainment under her belt, she is beginning her new fall series on TV.

On the surface, Ann Sothern was always the pretty, blonde star born with a silver spoon in her mouth. Now you know the story behind her smile.

SUSIE THE SECRETARY—Pert and pretty Ann Sothern is ample decoration for any business office . . . and she can type, too! Returning to her regular Sunday spot on TV Sunday will be that ingenious secretary Susan Camille McNamara played by the equally vivacious Miss Sothern.

Schedule School Radio Programs

First in UM Broadcast Series to Go on Air Sept. 28

ANN ARBOR—Over 40,000 Michigan school children, mostly in rural areas, once again will get part of their education via radio as the University of Michigan Broadcasting Service goes into its fourth year of presenting its "Radio Classroom" programs.

Used as audio-aids right in the classrooms while school is in session, the shows are presented in cooperation with county school superintendents and some 30 radio stations throughout Michigan, according to Waldo Abbot, broadcasting service director.

The first programs will be broadcast over University stations WUOM-FM, Ann Arbor, and WFUM-FM, Flint, beginning September 28, while the other stations will air them beginning October 12.

The programs will be in four series: "Learning Outdoors," "Sky Trails," "Tales of the Talking Stone," and "Festival of Song."

The latter two series are being continued from previous years. "Sky Trails" will dramatize, with "on-the-spot" pickups, important past and present developments and trends in aviation. "Tales of the Talking Stone" will feature stories from other countries designed for younger children.

As an added aid, the broadcasting service through the county school superintendents is distributing manuals designed to help teachers prepare their students for the programs.

At the end of the school year live music festivals will be held in various counties for those children who participate in "Festival of Song." Last May such events were held in 11 regions.

Federal Agent Would Arrest Bird-Killing Cops

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—"I'd have to pinch the cops" if they tried to carry out a City Council order to shoot blackbirds, a federal game agent told the Billings mayor and police chief last night.

The council Tuesday night authorized police to use shotguns to rid residential areas of the pesky birds.

Kenneth Roahen, federal game agent for Montana, said blackbirds are protected by a treaty between the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Roahen advised the officials to "just wait for the weather to get cold and the birds will be heading south."

Edna Curving Away From U. S. Mainland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Edna swept off toward the northeast today, curving away from the United States mainland on a course that would take it well out to sea.

Still packing winds of near 100 miles an hour over a small area near the center, Edna was 670 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., at 5 a. m. EST today. It was moving at about 18 to 22 miles an hour and was expected to increase its forward speed as it pushed northeastward.

Gales extended outward 200 miles in the eastern semicircle and 75 miles in the western.

The hurricane still was considered dangerous and Weather Bureau forecasters advised ships in its path to exercise caution.

Meanwhile, small craft warnings flew along the Florida West Coast from Cedar Key southward through the lower Florida Keys as an area of squalls brought torrential rains to a wide belt extending across the middle of the peninsula.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Former postman Edward S. Kropfli, 44, is back in jail today because he can't stop wooing by mail.

Kropfli was sentenced to 30 days in jail July 29 on a charge of disorderly conduct arising from love letters written to Mrs. La Vera R. O'Betz, 26, a dental assistant. She says she never encouraged him.

A condition of Kropfli's release from jail was that he refrain from writing or telephoning Mrs. O'Betz. But three days after he was released she received a 23-page letter. Two shorter letters followed and Kropfli was jailed again. He was sentenced to another 30 days yesterday.

Durkin Amazes Labor Senator

No T-H Agreements to Break, Says Chairman H. Alexander Smith

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said today he was "amazed" at the assertion by former Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin that the Eisenhower administration broke an agreement on Taft-Hartley law revision.

"I know perfectly well there wasn't any agreement to break," said Smith, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee who has just returned from a Canadian vacation.

* * *

Smith said prolonged talks looking toward agreement on a revision bill continued right up to the time Congress adjourned Aug. 3. Representatives of the Senate and House Labor Committees and the White House took part, he said.

* * *

But, he added in an interview, the divergent views of labor and management groups were not fully resolved, and it was agreed the parleys would be resumed this fall with an eye to introduction of legislation in January

Durkin did not contend there had been full agreement among all parties on proposed revisions to the labor relations law—19 in number. He said at St. Louis Tuesday he had discussed them with President Eisenhower and the President "agreed with me that the 19 amendments should not be withheld, that they should be submitted to Congress."

* * *

A few days later, Durkin said, a White House staff member notified him the administration would not be able to go along with the proposed amendments.

* * *

When he quit the cabinet a week ago, Durkin gave as his reason what he called White House failure to abide by an agreement on the proposals.

Ex-Italian Consul Dies

Suitor Kills Girl, 15, Then Shoots Self

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A 15 year old girl who spurned her boy friend's pleas to quit school and marry him was shot and killed last night as she slept in bed with her mother.

The rejected suitor then fatally shot himself.

The shooting occurred in the farm home of Mrs. Mary King, who was awakened after her daughter Janet had been killed.

Lying unconscious on the front room floor of the King home was James Jacob Bolt, 18, an auto supply store clerk. He died about three hours later in a Decatur hospital.

* * *

Deputy Sheriff Sam Pulliam of Macon County said Mrs. King, a widow, told him Bolt had visited her daughter last night and they had quarreled over his insistence that Janet quit school.

Pulliam quoted Mrs. King as saying Bolt was "getting jealous because Janet had boy friends at school." Bolt walked into the house, Pulliam said, and without awakening mother and daughter, fired one bullet into the girl's right temple.

Coroner Harold Brintlinger of Macon County termed the double shooting a murder and suicide.

Revolutionary New Radar May Lighten Defense Job

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Armed Forces are developing a new kind of radar which may revolutionize U. S. defenses against surprise atomic attack, it was learned today.

The secret new equipment, known as "doppler" or "audio" radar, may be the forerunner of a completely automatic air warning net stretching far into the Arctic wastelands.

A high Defense Department official said the Eisenhower administration has assigned a top priority to development of the new plane-detection apparatus as one of the answers to the pressing problem of air defense.

The administration is known to be gravely concerned about the need to improve U. S. air defenses now that Russia has an A-bomb arsenal and has conducted an H-bomb test.

Development of the new type radar, however, is the first publicly disclosed decision resulting from numerous official studies of the subject, and is an indication that the administration is relying heavily on technological developments to meet the air defense problem.

Audio radar would differ from conventional radar in that it would give a "ping"—or an audible sound—instead of a "pip"—or a visual mark on a screen — when sky-sweeping electronic beams detected a plane aloft.

The advantage of the new type lies in the reduced number of men required to man a radar network across the top of the American continent.

The advantage of the new type porter it had been determined that it would be impossible just from a manpower standpoint to set up a "sufficient" warning network against an enemy air attack using present-day radar.

This oficial pointed out that with present visual radar it is necessary to have a man constantly watching the scope.

Because of the monotony of the task, a frequent relay of radar scanners is required to maintain the efficiency of the detection system.

The military is working on a completely automatic communications system whereby the radar signals will be channelled to central control points, this eliminating the need for any men at the more remote radar outposts.

"The doppler" radar has the added advantage of being more accurate than present radar in determining the number of and types of planes flying overhead. Informants said it is so good it can tell the number of propellers on a bomber.

Chiefs Give Plaque to J. Edgar Hoover

DETROIT (UP) — The nation's police chiefs honored FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Wednesday night for his "outstanding contribution to the law enforcemnt profession."

Hoover was not able to attend the 60th annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and assistant FBI Director H. H. Clegg accepted a plaque for him.

An inscription on the plaque praised Hoover's "outstanding contribution to the law enforcement profession through leadership, example, services and cooperation for which we extend our sincere thanks and our warm friendship . . ."

NATO's Climate Poses Clothing Choice Problem

PARIS (AP) — John C. Hughes, U. S. representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) told this story to the American Club today:

Aboard the ship bringing them to Europe, a woman passenger asked Mrs. Hughes why she was going to Europe.

"My wife replied that I was going to take my post as United States representative in NATO.

"The woman turned to me and said, 'So you're going to NATO. It must be a problem to know what clothes to take with you. Tell me, what is the climate like in NATO?' "

NOT A PRISONER—Lt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., above, the son of former 8th Army commander, Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, is not a prisoner of the Reds, according to Wilfred Burchett, a Communist newspaper correspondent. Van Fleet's name was place on a list of U.S. prisoners being held by the Reds, according to the U.S. Army. Burchett said, "I know that for a fact (he is not a prisoner), and to the best of my knowledge he perished when his bomber crashed."

Beef Eating Delegates Run Into Beef Shortage

OMAHA (UP) —When the Nebraska Stock Growers Association held its annual convention here, delegates all wore long blue streamers with the words "Eat Beef" emblazoned in gold on them.

A large group of delegates crowded into a downtown restaurant, and began looking at menues.

The management was embarrassed when they discovered no beef of any kind on the menu.

Prices Advance in Food Stores

Vegetables to Reflect Cooler Weather; Some Meats Offer Specials

By The Associated Press

The economy-minded housewife will have to shop a bit more carefully in the nation's food stores this weekend. Meat and vegetable prices generally will be higher than a week ago.

Beef, pork, lamb and veal went up at the wholesale level this week, and many stores will be raising their prices on these meats for the weekend. Produce men say the rise in vegetable prices can be laid to cooler weather, which has brought a pickup in cooking.

Egg prices also will be higher this weekend. The same goes for frying chickens. And some stores will ask more for butter.

The situation is far from intolerable, however. Judging from reports from food stores, the housewife will be able to find specials on items such as legs of lamb, fresh and smoked hams and various cuts of beef if she watches prices closely.

Many stores don't plan to hike beef prices immediately and some plan features on chuck roast, pot roast and ground beef.

Bargains in pork chops, however, will be hard to find. In general, they'll cost a few cents to around a dime more per pound than last week.

Stores advancing prices on frying chickens will ask 2 to 6 cents more per pound.

Egg price rises will range from 2 to 8 cents a dozen for large grade A white. Butter advances will amount to a penny or two.

Complete coordination of the eye muscles is not believed attained by human beings until they have reached at least their fifth year.

Appointment Is Kept by Chance Meeting

NORTH WINDHAM, Me (UP)—Bill Bolton, was in a hurry but he couldn't in conscience pass a motorist mired in a ditch. He stuck his head out the window of his car and yelled:

"I've got an appointment in 10 minutes to show a fellow my summer camp, but I'll dash back and pull you out."

The bogged-down motorist asked for a lift "because I have an appointment to see a camp in 10 minutes, too." They found their appointments were with each other.

New Commander Named

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Chief Frederick Dubruck of Chicago has assumed command of the Grand Haven Life Boat Station Group, including stations at Muskegon, Holland, South Haven, and the Muskegon patrol boat. He succeeds CWO Harold A. Glynn, transferred to Norfolk, Va.

Bob Considine Says:

Hal Block Laments Trend to Jilted Lover Melodies

NEW YORK (INS)—What ever happened to love in Tin Pan Alley?

I took this problem to Hal Block, a star of electric pictures, the other day and he said love had been declared non-commercial.

"The way to be a success in the song-writing and record business these days is crystal clear," Block said. "You've got to be, or write about, a guy who loses his best girl."

I nodded.

"Don't interrupt," Block snapped. "Not only that, but this bum loses his best girl to his best friend . . ."

"Like 'Tennessee Waltz' and."

". . . and a zillion others. But that isn't all. Now, here's the new dodge. This bum who has lost his best girl to his best friend doesn't go away to Grossinger's or some place, or take up diesel engineering with the International Correspondence School. You know what he does?"

"Don't tell me. I'll get it."

"He shows up at the wedding," Block said. "He not only shows up at the wedding but he walks behind the poor broad who is trying to make it the happiest day of her life."

"Maybe he was a member of the wedding . . ."

"Doesn't say so in the lyrics," Block said, with a faint baring of his teeth. "This bum just shows up and walks down the aisle, singing at the top of his lungs."

"A choir boy, maybe."

"No choir boy, this bum," Block insisted. "All he's yelling is 'I'm walking behind you.' Pretty unnerving to the groom, I'd say. Pretty unnerving."

"He'd get thrown out of the church I go to," I said, with the wit that made me the toast of a continent. (Atlantis.) ....

"Wait," commanded Block, who, incidentally, is waiting to open his new show "Voice Your Choice." "You know what this bum does after he finishes walking down the center aisle yelling his exact location to the broad? He busts out crying. Crying in the chapel."

There must be some other way to appeal to the lovers of popular music, I suggested.

"There is," Block said, in an exclusive understatement. "You can die early. Matter of fact, that might be the best way to make a success. Just look at the way 'I'd Rather Die Young' is going.

We asked Block to go on, one of the all time superfluous suggestions.

"A guy who walked into a music publisher's place today with a ballad named 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart' might be tossed out of a window. The publishers seem to like, instead, a nice, warm, cozy, endearing thing like, 'Hey, Joe!" or 'Stranded' in Deep Water,' or the mood music from a horror show—'Dragnet.'"

I asked about Peewee Hunt. Did he still hold the flyweight championship?

"No, he's a singer." Hal said. "He's got a new record out named 'Oh.' I said "Uh?" Hal said "No, 'Oh.'"

We didn't seem to be getting anywhere about this point. So I asked Block if he had read that fine simile I wrote as a boy, in describing a ballplayer: He's as colorless as the reverse side of a hit record.

"No," he enlarged, hanging up.

Ship Returns to Duty

LUDINGTON (AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio's carferry Pere Marquette No. 22 has returned to Lake Michigan service after being lengthened 40 feet to an overall 400, and repowered to a speed of 18 miles per hour. The ship went into service originally in 1924.

Birthday in Leap Year Really Does the Trick

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Magistrate Temple H. Morgett didn't figure 77-year-old Emmett Maxwell would have much of a defense when he appeared on a charge of driving with an expired driver's license—but the farmer came through like a Philadelphia lawyer.

Maxwell said the license expired after he had celebrated two birthdays from the date of issue—June 30, 1950.

His next birthday, declared Maxwell, is Feb. 29, 1956.

The magistrate dismissed the charge.

Autographed Offense Leads to Culprits

DOVER, Ohio (UP) Tip to the youngsters: If you must leave a mark in wet concrete, don't make it your autograph. The Juvenile Court judge lowered the boom on three teen-age boys the other day. They readily admitted they not only wrote their names on the newly poured cement surface of a street but did a lot of tramping around, leaving two-inch deep footprints.

The judge called it malicious destruction of property and assessed them a total of $10, the cost— of refinishing the cement.

Airlines Ask Penalty on Canceled Tickets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 10 scheduled airlines which operate coach services have agreed to penalize the passenger who fails to aappear or who cancels his space less than three hours before flight time.

The penalty will be a charge of 20 per cent of the value of the unused part of the air coach ticket. The minimun charge will be $5, or the price of the ticket if that is less than $5.

The passenger who cancels his ride too late for resale of his ticket is considered the most serious problem affecting coach services.

The agreement has been presented to the Civil Aeronautics Board. If approved by the board, it will go into effect almost immediately.

Railroad Workers May Get Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's 1,200,000 railroad workers may get two cents, perhaps three cents, an hour more pay when new government living cost figures come out next week.

Rail management and union representatives reached agreement here yesterday on converting their contracts to the new statistics. The contracts have an "escalator" clause pegging pay to the government's cost of living index.

The government has abandoned its old method of calculating living showed record living costs in June and July and is expected to rise again for August.

Rail labor sources said the August index, due next week, will mean at least a two cents raise and maybe three cents.

Germany had 40,000 dogs trained for war duties at the outbreak of World War II.

Nurse Shortage Is Eased by Automatic Device

CHICAGO (UP)—A "mechanical nurse" has been developed that can be used by hospitals plagued with a shortage of help.

The "mechanical nurse" is an automatic signal device that instantly alerts the nurse when a patient is unduly active or attempts to leave his bed.

The monitor can be engineered to connect into the audio-visual nurse call system and eliminates the necessity of a nurse remaining at the patient's bedside all the time.

When a patient is overly active or attempts to get out of bed (movements which may be harmful to his medical condition) highly sensitive switches are activated.

Electrical impulses turn on a red lamp on the nurse's intercom control station and a soft chime sounds.

Wherever the nurse may be, she is immediately notified that the patient must be attended to.

Ordinary motions of the patient do not activate the signals.

The monitor is especially valuable in the care of certain post-operative and psychiatric cases. It also helps the nursing staff keep tabs on children too young to realize the need for remaining quietly in bed.

His customers were unaware that a burglar had left the door open after making off with $75 and a case of whiskey.

Wood paneling in kitchens and bathrooms gives a lifetime easy-to-keep surface because of the great improvement in sealer and finish preparations.

Hurry! We've Just Got to Catch That Streetcar

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Many young couples want to get married in a hurry, for one reason or another.

This couple rushed into the courthouse and asked the elevator operator to whisk them up to the judge on the fifth floor in a hurry.

Why?

They wanted to get married before the time limit on their streetcar transfers expired.

An executive session of a Congressional committee is one from which the public and press are excluded.

Safety Hatch Prevents Beer Tank Drownings

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — Glassed-steel beer storage tanks are now being equipped with an "escape hatch."

The Pfaudler Co. said the special door can be opened from the inside and eliminates accidental imprisonment of a man cleaning the tank.

The new door makes virtually impossible the chance of a man drowning in beer or being overcome by gases.

Ten inches of snow equals in water content about one inch of rain.

How About a Transfer?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Mrs. Shirley Carey spotted a woman who wasn't quite sure just what method of transportation she was using. The woman got on a hospital elevator — and handed the elevator operator a dime. "Oh, I gave you my streecar fare," she exclaimed a minute later.

Doctor Need Not Put M.D. After Name Except When He's Writing to Stranger

By EMILY POST

A girl writes: "My employer is a doctor who thinks his signature should include M. D. Accordingly, he signs all letters John Smith, M.D. I think the M.D. unnecessary, perhaps even bad form.

"Will you write about this in your column so I can show it to the doctor? He wants to know the right way because he spoke about it the other day when he received a letter from another doctor signed without the M.D."

Answer: Ordinarily, he does not write the M.D., but when writing to a stranger who does not know he is a doctor, then it is correct to sign it for information.

Dear Mrs. Post: When my husband and I eat in a restaurant, he always wipes the silver on his napkin before using it.

I have told him time and again that this is not good manners, but he continues to do it. Perhaps he will stop if I can show him something in print from you.

Answer: I can't imagine anything so rude as doing this in a first-class restaurant. If you happen to stop at a very untidy place you might have to wipe the silver.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary to call and thank people who send greeting cards, such as birthday, anniversary, etc.? I suppose it would be a nice gesture, but it certainly would take a lot of time.

I have been criticized for not doing this and would appreciate your opinion.

Answer: There is no such exaction. You perhaps send other cards in return as opportunity offers and it is, of course, polite to thank the senders when you see them.

Dear Mrs. Post: If two young couples go into a restaurant and sit in a booth for four, is it best for the girls to sit on one side together and the men across, or for a girl on each side with her own friend next to her?

Answer: There is no definite rule—generally a boy and girl sit next to each other and the other boy and girl opposite them; married couples are apt to sit opposite each other.

No skimpiness but entirely pleated from neck to hem bound to your waistline with wide sash or belt will replace your missing curves.

Miss T. T.—Pleats that fall from a collared neckline; bound to the waistline with a separate belt or sash that can be adjusted according to the whims and figure of the wearer in the ever popular jersey—a wonderful plumper-outer, this dress.

All-Plastic Model Home Boasts Full Washability

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

How many plastics can be used in a home? As many as 125 are used in a new model house in the National Homefurnishings Show which opens today in New York City's Grand Central Palace.

The all-plastic, all-washable house has walls, floors, furniture, curtains and draperies, dinnerware and accessories, even bird cages and dog collars, in plastics of all types, from the simple and inexpensive to special materials of high quality.

This is one of a number of model houses to be seen in the huge New York show, Sept. 17-27, which included countless model rooms and exhibits of all kinds.

A star feature of the show is the series of outstanding model rooms by members of the American Institute of Decorators called Interiors International.

Ideas from all over the world and their adaptation in high style interiors by leading decorators are important predictions of home furnishings and decorating trends to come.

* * *

Mrs. D. M. C.—"Our television room is papered in a small, unobtrusive geometric pattern in aqua, and the woodwork matches. The floor-length curtains are deep red. We have a small boy with many friends and a temperamental little dog who use the room constantly. What color and type of rug should we buy for this room?"

The new tweedy mixtures are excellent for this room, both because it is possible to find one that combines the colors of the room scheme and because this type of pattern shows little soil or damage.

Tweedy mixtures come in all kinds of rugs including the sturdiest. Another super wear and damage resister is the new carpet made of 100 per cent saran, which is much talked about now. So far it comes only in plain colors, but one is a blue-green which would look well in the room.

Another idea is a fiber rug. Fiber rugs are well styled in tweedy mixtures and plaids, and are tough and inexpensive.

Mrs. R. — "My living room is schemed entirely in green and gold, with a green sofa and chair, a gold chair and draperies with three shades of green and gold.

"Would it be monotonous to repeat these colors in sofa pillows, or would the contrast be too sharp if I used another color, perhaps a deep orange?"

The orange is a good idea, and you will like the effect even better if you also add gold pillows with the orange ones.

Iron Reacts to Darken Some Wood

By HUBBARD COBB

One of the major troubles connected with refinishing certain woods, oak is a prime example, is that after you are all done certain dark and rather unattractive stains appear.

These stains in the finished job are the result of articles of iron coming in contact with tannic acid which is foud in some degree in many woods.

The question is where does the iron come from and how to get rid of it.

A lot of iron, and it doesn't take very much of it, gets into the wood by using stel ewool on the bare wood rather than sandpaper.

This is especially true if the steel wool has been used a good many times and has begun to fall apart. Little slivers break off and stick into the wood. Rusted steel wool is another cause of trouble.

Shellac happens to be a godo solvent for iron and if stored in an iron container it will dissolve enough of the iron to cause stains in the wood.

Best thing to do here is to buy shellac in gass containers and keep it away from iron in any form.

Seems that oxalic acid will pick up iron if it comes in contact with it so if you use this chemica for bleaching wood, be sure it is not mixed in a metal container.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Population Up 1,200 Per Week in Washington

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Population experts, studying current trends in the Pacific Northwest, say the population of Washington is increasing at the rate of 1,200 per week.

The nothwestern office of the National Association of Manufactures said that "Washington's population will be 3,020,000 by 1960, if the current trend continues."

The figure is based on a projection of populations made by the U. S. Bureau of the Census which shows a 3.7 per cent rise in Washington's population during the first two years of the 1950-60 decade.

Washington's 957,611 wage-earners will have their ranks swelled to 1,208,000 by 1960, according to P. G. Lewis, Seattle lumberman and a member of the NAM Washington advisory committee.

The NAM study was designed necessary to put these new workers into jobs. The survey estimated that $12,000 is needed to put one man to work at present-day costs.

Double Talk Is Employed to Protect Relationships, but Usually Does Opposite

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

It's strange how two people who talk the same language can make such a botch of understanding each other. Of course, utter perplexity is to be expected if one deliberately sets out to confuse the other.

And that's what happens too often between boys and girls who date each other.

Why does it seem so necessary—and such fun—to play guessing games? What is to be gained by hiding what you really think behind a fancy disguise? Why must there be so much of this double talk?

That's what this very reasonable young man wants to know. "Dear Miss Woodward: Why is there so much double talk between boys and girls? Why, especially when they go steady, can't they say what they think to each other?

"When my girl and I have a difference of opinion, we talk it over. There is none of this 'wondering what she really thinks about it.' business that causes so much woe between boys and their girls.

"I have found few other girls who follow this practice. When I did find one, I grabbed her fast!"

Girls aren't the only offenders. There's the type of boy who is socially affable, full of easy chatter, and adept in a superior way at sidestepping all issues that demand the revelation of his innermost thoughts.

He has a dozen lines with which to confound his audience. He dons a disguise and plays whatever part the situation demands.

Neither the girls nor his boy friends know what he's all about 'cause he's simply not telling. But he's amusing company. And nobody's close friend!

His reason for putting on such an act is largely self-protection. Like the chameleon, he changes his colors so he won't be vulnerable to attack. And the same excuse holds for girls who hide their thoughts and feelings behind a barrage of double talk.

A girl will dish it out because she's afraid honesty will scare him away. She'll say things she doesn't really mean because they're what she wants him to believe. Or because they're what she thinks he thinks she ought to believe.

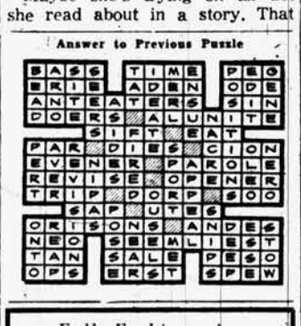

She's scared to disagree with him — or point out the differences in their opinion. It's peace at any price — just so she doesn't lose him.

Maybe she's trying on an act she read about in a story. That other girl had a devastating effect, so why shouldn't she?

It's a game, this double talk. It's aimed at protecting a relationship — and it usually falls flat.

How can there be any deep and sincere understanding when all communication has to be filtered through a screen of "guess what I'm really thinking?"

Cauliflower Dish Uses Green Bits

Cheese Adds Tang to Vegetable Recipe by Mrs. MacFadyen

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

At a recent dinner the hostess served a delicious casserole of cauliflower with cheese sauce. Small pieces of the tender green leaves were included: they gave both color and flavor to the dish. Mrs. Arthur MacFadyen contributes her recipe for cauliflower au gratin.

As the mother of four school children, Mrs. MacFadyen is an active PTA worker at the Whitfield school. An expert seamstress, she makes many of her young daughter's and her own clothes.

She conducts a sewing class for the YWCA Ladies Day Out program and during the winter she and her husband are regular attendants at a square dance club.

CAULIFLOWER AU GRATIN

By Mrs. Arthur MacFadyen

1 large head cauliflower
1 recipe medium white sauce
1 cup medium sharp cheese, grated
Salt and pepper
Cracker crumbs
Butter or margarine

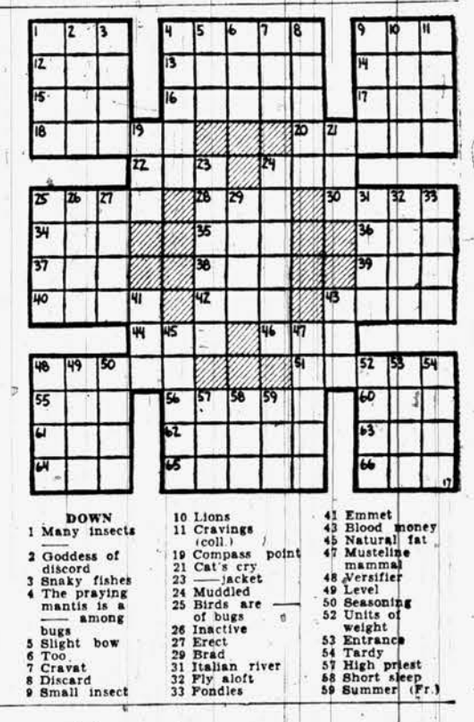

Freshen cauliflower in cold water. Separate into flowerettes, saving the most tender green leaves. Cut the leaves into small pieces and use with rest of cauliflower.

Cook cauliflower in salted boiling water. Boil uncovered 20 minutes and drain. Make a medium white sauce (2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, salt and pepper). Add the grated cheese slowly to the sauce.

Put the cooked cauliflower in a buttered casserole, cover with the cheese sauce, dot with more cheese and bits of butter or margarine. Top with cracker crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven one-half hour. Serves 6.

Wash in Machine

It's safe to toss most sneakers, tennis shoes or foam rubber scuffs into the washing machine. They need to be refreshed often by thorthorough soap and water action.

All Is Not Golden Barges Along the Nile's Banks

By FRED SPARKS
(NEA Correspondent)

CAIRO — Imagine working all week for the price of a carton of cigarettes!

That's the payoff for millions in the Arab Middle East, many of them citizens of this newest of the world's republics. Their razor-thin slice of the world's prosperity pie is the basic reason why any political big mouth who'll promise three squares can send a mob on a house-burning, throat-cutting spree.

As you read about U. S. concern for the Suez Canal, the desert oil fields and Middle East Defense, you should know something of the area's citizens, for people are politics.

To meet an average Egyptian I motored 25 miles from Cairo along the River Nile. For 6,000 years before the first electric blanket this river has watered the only substantial Egyptian soil. (From the air the Nile Valley looks like a green ribbon of toothpaste on an endless sand-white carpet.)

Near the river we stop by the half-acre farm of Abdullah Iffifi, one of 14 million Egyptian farmers who scratch for the skinniest life. We see a water buffalo cow with a blindfold over her eyes walking in an endless circle threshing grain with an ancient wooden wheel contraption.

Iffifi's smallest son, naked as a picked chicken, straddles the beast, the family's most precious property. I'm told the animal is blacked out because if she sees she's getting no place after days of endless plodding she'll go stir crazy.

Irrigation ditches fork from the Nile like veins; one cuts through Iffifi's lot. Two of his daughters (who'll never use lipstick) pump ditch water for the wheat field using two tightly woven baskets fixed on a pole. It's a 14-hour-daily drudge that would exhaust Charles Atlas.

Iffifi's one room house, large as 15 sedans tightly parked, is made of dried Nile mud with a doorless break for air and entrance. Besides the family there are hundreds of flies buzzing collectively like a B-29 and sticking to your Iffifi expects to celebrate a 50th face until slapped dead.

Some personal odds and ends are pitched in a corner but there's not a stick of furniture. The family's clothing conists of white cloth, and some peppermint striped pajama outfits.

The market possibilities of a revived Middle East shake the trader: If each shoeless citizen could buy one pair all our shoe factories would work overtime and give Christmas bonuses.

The Iffifis slep on pressed corn stalks and Mom cooks on a kerosene lamp every other day, fuel being that costly for their thin wallet.

The menu lists unleavened bread, raw onions and beans. Meat is a vaguely recalled dream. The water buffalo contributes milk and cheese. The dreary diet, plus the fly-borne germs, is why no Iffifi expects to celebrate a 50th birthday.

Introduce Iffifi to an average American home and he'd be as confused as his water buffalo. He couldn't flip the light switch or open the refrigerator and the mad movements on the TV screen would give him the shakes.

But he is used to sights that would give you the shakes — his own primitive existence, the everyday sight of other fellahs like himself, harnessed to sailing ships they pull along the desert canals.

Every few weeks he goes to town for the luxury of a thimble of Turkish coffee. There he hears Mohamed Naguib, Egypt's strong man, whose promises of plenty are blocked by the simple truth of too many people for too little good earth.

Unable to read a paper, Iffifi can't tell you what the U. S. is, where or why.

Shah Turns Down Coronation Ritual

TEHRAN (AP)—Sah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi says this is no time for the gala coronation ceremonies many Iranian merchants and businessmen have been urging upon him.

A royal statement last night explained that a celebration was not suitable "when the majority of the people are deep in poverty and despair." He promised, however, that a coronation will be held on some future Aug. 19, anniversary of the nine-hour uprising a month ago which swept ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh out of power and brought the Shah back from a brief exile.

The Shah has held the throne since 1943 but has never been formally crowned.

Veteran Policeman Dies

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Emil H. Klumpel, who became a police officer here when there were only a dozen autos, and speeders could be caught on foot, will retire Oct. 1, at the age of 64. He has been a member of the force for 36 years.

The mule deer is so called because its ears resemble those of a mule.

Neighbor Stole Electricity From Doctor's Office

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A doctor charged today that he made an incorrect diagnosis because his neighbor had wired his air conditioner to a line supplying current to an X-ray machine.

Dr. Emmett Rouse said he had treated a patient for ulcers after looking at prints made of his X-ray machine. He said the patient's only ailment was gas on the stomach.

According to a complaint signed by Dr. Rouse, his diagnosis was incorrect because his neighbor, Al Hester, had hooked his air conditioners onto a line supplying 220-volt current to the X-ray machine.

Hester was charged with the theft of electricity.

Soldiering Not By-Passed by Any Chinese

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—All graduating college students on Formosa now must take military training—and thereby hangs a story of a great reversal in old China tradition.

An experiment born of the necessities of civil war and the danger of international conflict brought the change in this island bastion of Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists.

* * *

On the mainland it was tradition that soldiering was far beneath the dignity of scholars. For many centuries they had considered themselves too precious to bear arms.

But under the present order here, no able-bodied student graduating from a university or college may get his diploma until he has had one year of military training.

Whether sons of Cabinet ministers, industrial magnates or cooks, they are equally liable. As a result, soldiering has found a new respect. It is no longer despised as something on which a scholar and gentleman would turn his back.

* * *

In former days on the China mainland, before the Nationalist government retreated to Formosa, there was a conscription law which required military service by all males, but it was not rigorously enforced. Sons of influential people, especially scholars, escaped it.

But not so here in Formosa. The graduate training program now is in its second year.

This year 1,686 graduates are due for military training. About one thousand of them entrained for military school recently and a crowd of more than 10 thousand gathered at the railway station to see them off.

Likes 'Acting' So Much He Wants to Drop It

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Goodwin J. Knight, who has been acting governor of California 56 times, likes it so well he wants to drop the "acting."

Knight, a two-term Republican lieutenant governor, formally announced yesterday he is a candidate to succeed Republican Gov. Earl Warren, who recently said he won't seek a fourth term. Warren's third expires in January 1955.

Knight has piled up his remarkable 56 times in the governor's chair while the widely travelled Warren was out of the state.

Bombing Shatters Physician's Office

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City's seventh mysterious bomb in the last three weeks exploded in a suite of physicians' offices on the 11th floor of the downtown Bryant Building yesterday.

Two women on the street below were cut by falling window glass.

The six previous blasts damaged business firms.

Police have found no clues to the nature of the bombs or the bomber's identity. Most baffling is the lack of pieces of the bomb casings, fuses or detonators. There has been only the smell of black powder.

Two other blasts occurred in rural Jackson County about five miles east of Independence. However, officers found evidence of dynamite in those cases. A school and a school bus were damaged.

One-third of the cigarettes made in the United States come from three North Carolina cities.

Busy Life Led by Envoy Luce

Many Are Afraid That Ambassador Is Taxing Energy Too Much

ROME (INS) — In only a few months, Clare Boothe Luce, America's ambassador to Italy, has charmed nearly everyone with her energy and ability, but intimate collaborators fear that her health may not hold out.

Sleeping an average of only five hours a day, Ambassador Luce, say Italian government officials, has "asked more questions and looked into more corners of the Italian scene than any predecessor."

This eagerness to learn, her exchange of formal protocal visits with the other diplomats in Rome, and the trips in southern and northern Italy have greatly taxed her strength.

But all attempts to get her to slow down have been useless.

Italian reaction to this first feminine envoy has been blossoming favorably and the press has been largely devoid of criticism.

On the eve of the recent Italian elections, Mrs. Luce made her only "intervention" in the Italian political arena.

She spoke in Milan warning that American aid to Italy would have to be reviewed if this country should capitulate to a dictatorship of the left . . . or right.

The Communists kept mum. But the monarchists and neo-Fascists unleashed the only attack leveled at her since her arrival.

The confused situation arising from the narrow majority of the canter parties in the Italian Parliament will undoubtedly add additional burdens to the many the U. S. ambassadors to Italy would ordinarily have to shoulder.

And Italians and Americans alike are wondering how long a woman can continue working so much and resting as little as Ambassador Luce has been doing and apparently intends to continue doing.

She, herself, says nothing. If one asks, she merely smiles.

Capt. Samuel Morey invented the first internal combustion engine in Orford, N. H., in 1826. He was given a patent April 1 that year "on a gas, or vapor, engine." The engine had two cylinders, 180-degree cranks, poppet valves, carburetor, electric spark and water cooling device.

'Sun Squinters' Given Proper Eye Care Advice

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) —Erie county health commissioner Berwyn F. Mattison warned "sun squinters" to wear sunglasses during bright days. However, he offered the following warnings to sun bathers.

1. Never look directly into the sun, even though you are wearing sunglasses.
2. If you wear prescription glasses regularly, you should have specially ground sunglasses.
3. Never wear sunglasses when driving at night or in early twilight.

Jap's Disowned Son Will Now Baptize Him

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A 72-year-old Japanese who disowned his son for becoming a Christian many years ago came here to be baptized by the son, now a Methodist minister.

The Rev. Shigeo Shimada said his father, Tatsutaro Shimada, planned to stay here about four months. "I'll teach him about the work of Christianity, then he'll be baptized," he said.

The son, said he was converted t Christianity when he was 16. The elder Shimada, a retired grammar school teacher, didn't like it.

"When I was 21 and decided to become a minister, he asked me to leave," the son said. "That was long ago, and he feels differently about it now."

The Ruggles Mine at Grafton, N. H., first operated in 1803, was the first mica mine in the United States. The mine still operates but now produces feldspar. Uranium was identified at the mine a half century ago.

Giant Guard Will Work for Ohio Power Plant

BEVERLY, Ohio (AP)—The biggest guard in the electrical business is getting to go to work for the Ohio Power Co. at its Muskingum River plant.

The guard is a giant circuit breaker that is capable of shutting off in one-twentieth of a second more electrical energy than any other break in use at present in the world.

The 80-ton guard will begin this fall to protect the plant's 330,000-volt power transmission system whenever short circuits occur. It will act as a giant fuse, like the ones in your home electrical system.

T. R. Knew His Biscuits, Says Proud Cook, 88

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. (UP) — A resident of the Nebraska Masoni Home for the Aged recalls the day in 1882 that he baked biscuits "just like mother used to make" for a fun-loving cowhand from the East.

BASE FOR BRACES — Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio is where M-Sgt. Herbert Nordstrom builds braces like this.

Air Force Men Help Vets Walk

2 at Wright-Patterson Base Build Intricate Braces for Cripples

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AIR FORCE BASE, Ohio (NEA) — The Air Force has two sergeants on the run here so that others may walk.

For out of this Air Force base come braces of all sorts, shapes, varieties and sizes to help the nation's crippled and paralyzed return to a useful life.

The highly specialized job is done by two men — M-Sgt. Herbert C. Nordstrom and his assistant, S-Sgt. Warren A. Shaw. In the 18 months since their shop opened, they have turned out 500 pieces of apparatus.

Most braces are made for American servicemen and veterans. But many have been sent to their dependents.

Nordstrom and Shaw have worked on splints and supports for a 10-day-old baby and a 74-year-old grandmother.

Although some braces can be made in half an hour, the two specialists spent 2½ weeks making a complex body-length job of steel, leather and cloth that will restore motion to a man left helpless from the neck down by a polio attack.

Nordstrom has been credited with designing and building a unique brace used in treating palsy of the hand. It straightens out the hand while allowing for the exercise that may mean eventual cure.

He is a veteran of 11 years' service as an Army and Air Force medic. Nine of those years he spent in orthopedic work.

In January, 1952, he opened the Wright-Patterson brace shop. The only other Air Force shop of its kind is located in Texas' Lackland Air Force Base.

Nordstrom's skill has been used by the Army, too. In 1946 he was sent to the Philippines to train natives in the manufacture of artificial limbs.

No one has yet built a pigeonhole for this man, who needs for his job an understanding of anatomy, welding, and sheet-metal work while he doubles as a patternmaker and a seamstress.

Jaunty Aquatic Songbird Walks, Flies Under Water

WASHINGTON — High in the mountains of the American West, a solitary robin-sized bird flies under water and walks on the bottom of foaming pools. Winter or summer, it charms lonely trappers and anglers with torrents of song.

This borrower of a waterfowl's ways is the water ouzel or dipper, relative of wrens and thrushes. Nesting along cold mountain streams, the clean-living ouzel will not tolerate pollution, says the National Geographic Society.

An aquatic acrobat, the water ouzel does not fear crashing cataracts. It literally can fly under water against the current for a half-minute or more.

If carried over rapids, its strong wings brake its fall. It feeds in the swiftest water, walking along the stream bottom on stout webless feet in search of aquatic insects and shellfish.

Although sometimes frequenting ponds, the ouzel seldom strays far from streams. Its oven-shaped nest is usually found damp with spray in a rocky, streamside cranny or behind a waterfall. Dry inside, the nest on the outside is made of living, growing moss.

Three to six pure white eggs compose the ouzle's clutch. Two annual broods of downy young quickly learn to swim, dive and flutter in the current. Parent ouzels keep the nest premises spic and span.

The jaunty gray bird with perked-up tail is the only North American member of the dipper family, which includes a dozen or more species in Europe, Asia and South America.

The name "dipper" probably stems from a characteristic bobbing and dipping while perching. These calisthenic curtsies are thought to be signals for the bird's calls are often drowned by the roar of water.

The ouzel's thick plumage of down and feathers, carefully preened with "waterproofing" from a large oil gland, protects it from cold and wet. Ranging from Guatemala to northern Alaska, this nonmigratory bird sings as happily on an ice cake as on a summery bank. It has been known to endure 50 degree cold.

A taste for the roe and fry of salmon and trout has added fish hatchery managers to the ouzel's natural enemies. Although it likes secluded haunts it is not particularly shy around people.

Ouzels have nested near a whirring saw mill, and one has been observed singing within range of flying chips from a woodcutter's ax.

The ouzel's fearlessness does not mean that it can do without protection or can adapt itself to modern civilization. The bird is slowly disappearing from some of its former haunts, where it can no longer lead its spartan, water-sprite existence in clean wilderness.

Neurotic Pooch Leads Rough Life in Pound

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—People are forever calling the City Pound and complaining about barking dogs.

Dog Wardens Herb Scakett and Mike Cliente calm the callers with: "All dogs bark. Shows they're healthy."

But a woman stopped Cliente. She reported that her dog was neurotic and became upset when he heard the barking of other dogs.

Women Work Longer Hours

360 Activities Each Day Make Average Load for Housewife

NEW YORK (UP)—Next time hubby complains about how hard he works, suggest he take your job as homemaker for a while. Chances are you work harder.

If you're typical of one group of homemakers, you work a nine-hour day, six-day week. The nine-hour day is the average computed by the New York State College of Home Economics, Cornell University.

The figure was reached after a study of 250 women living on farms, doing housework in town, or keeping house and also holding office jobs in town.

Dr. Elizabeth Wiegand, who directed the survey, said most women report 360 activities on a week day and spend more time — an average of one hour and 36 minutes—on food preparation than any other single job.

The women, whether farm or city dwellers, like cooking best. The farm women dislike care of the house the city women indicate the greatest dislike for dish-washing. Farm women also do more cooking, and prepare more complex meals, than city women.

Dr. Wiegand said all types of homemakers average nearly as many hours for care of clothes and housekeeping as for cooking. Less than one hour per day goes for dishwashing, marketing and such odd chores as paying bills or balancing check books.

Seasonings Flavor Beef

Beef stew slowly simmered over an open campfire has a flavor all its own. Seasoning salts make it easy to fix. For 3 pounds of beef add ¾ teaspoon each of onion and celery salt and ¼ teaspoon garlic salt. Slip in a bay leaf if you have it. The longer it simmers the better it'll taste.

Individual Salmon Dishes Nice for Two

Here's a tasty casserole item that's just the right size for that luncheon for two. Individual Salmon Casseroles are easy to make, yet are most attractive with their Muffin Ring toppings.

First combine 1 cup salmon (1 8-ounce can), 1 cup cooked tomatoes, ½ cup cubed American cheese, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice in order given. Mix well.

Put half of mixture into each of 2 individual casseroles. Top with muffin rings.

To make these, sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt.

Beat 1 egg and add 1-3 cup milk and 1 tablespoon melted shortening. Pour milk mixture into flour mixture, stirring only enough to moisten flour.

Drop batter by spoonfuls on top of salmon filling, making a ring around edge of each casserole. If any batter remains, bake it in small, greased muffin pans.

Bake in 400 degrees F. oven about 20 minutes. Makes 2 individual casseroles and 2 to 4 small muffins.

Spaghetti Is the Answer

Macaroni products are excellent to keep in mind for group feeding—especially if you have to keep a latch on purse strings. For a spaghetti supper for 50 people for example, you would need to allow about six or seven pounds of spaghetti. Or, if the meeting is predominantly men who have hearty appetites, better allow about 10 pounds of spaghetti.

Breads Can Be Luncheon Extra

Breads, flavored with fruit or jelly, are rich, tasty and versatile! They make popular adjuncts to luncheon or dinner menus; are considered a necessity when planning tea or party sandwiches; and are perfect toasted and served with butter for breakfast.

Apple Butter Bran Bread

1 cup ready-to-eat bran
1½ cups apple butter
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1¾ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup seedless raisins

Combine bran, apple butter and lemon juice; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in bran mixture. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt.

Add together with raisins to shortening mixture, stirring only until combined. Spread in greased 9½x4¼-inch loaf pan. Bake in 325 oven about 1¼ hours. Makes one loaf.

World's Biggest Omelet

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — Poultry specialists on the Davis campus of the University of California are busy testing the world's biggest "omelet" — 17,000 broken eggs. The eggs come from 50 California breeding flocks and are broken and tested in a project to see if a whole flock of chickens can lay Grade AA eggs. The "omelet" may contain the secret of what's involved in setting up a breeding project for egg quality.

Breakfast Muffins No Trick at All

Nippy Weather Will Call for Hearty Roasts

As the days get nippier, you'll be welcoming such stick-to-the-ribs main dishes as hearty beef roasts served with oven-browned or baked potatoes. You'll welcome, too, the fact that many beef cuts continue to sell at attractive prices.

Here's a quick round-up of beef roasting pointers:

You can roast rib, rolled rib or top quality rump roasts.

(Remember that lower quality rump roasts should be cooked with added liquid—pot roasted.) Here's how to roast to perfection the beef roast of your choice:

Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper and place rolled rib or rump roasts, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. (Rib roast needs no rack.)

Do not add water, do not cover and do not baste while roasting. Roast in a 325 degrees F. oven to the desired degree of doneness.

If you are using a meat thermometer, insert it into the center of the thickest muscle so that it does not rest on bone or fat.

When the thermometer registers 140 degrees F., the meat is rare; at 160 degrees F., it is medium; at 170 degrees F., it is well-done.

Roast standing rib roast 22 to 26 minutes per pound for rare, 26 to 30 minutes per pound for medium and 33 to 35 minutes per pound for well-done. For rolled roasts, add 5 to 10 minutes per pound.

Get Out Supplies Evening Before

If you measure out your dry ingredients the night before, putting a batch of muffins in the oven before breakfast is no trick at all.

Light the oven as soon as you get up and the muffins will be tempting and fragrant by the time the family sits down to eat.

You may substitute uncooked rolled wheat cereal for the rolled oats if you like.

Oatmeal Muffins

1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
1 cup sour milk
1 egg
⅓ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup melted fat
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda

Combine rolled oats and sour milk; add egg and beat well. Add sugar and mix. Add cooled fat. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and soda.

Add rolled oats mixture, stirring only enough to dampen flour. Fill well-greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven at 400 about 15 to 20 minutes.

Beautify Baked Potatoes

To make baked potatoes look attractive make a crosswise gash in the top of each when you take them from the oven, then squeeze the potatoes on each side so the pulp will fluff up. Garnish tops with sprigs of parsley.

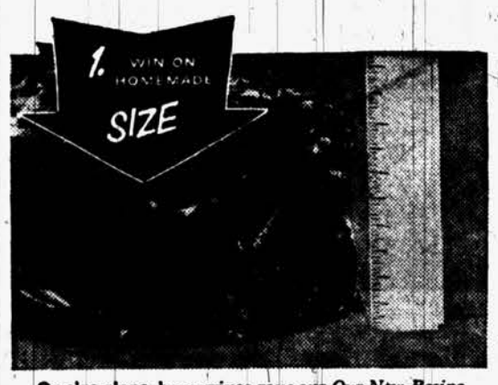

OATMEAL MUFFINS — Make sure the family is eager for breakfast by serving occasional hot breads like these Oatmeal Muffins. Made with uncooked rolled oats, they are a delicious early morning treat. Try them the next time you have sour milk on hand.

Oh! That Delicious Jelly Made of Concord Grapes

Pontiac Press Food Editor

With school well under way and summer vacations only a memory, we can settle down to our fall canning. Peaches, pears, plums tomatoes, apples and grapes are still on the abundant list.

It is grapes with which we are concerned today.

One of your editor's fondest food memories dates back to kindergarten days. Our teacher was years ahead of her time, we are sure. She believed children learn best by doing.

One day we all descended to the school basement and on a two-burner laundry stove made grape jelly. After it had cooled, we ate it on crackers. No grape jelly in the years since has ever tasted so delicious.

Modern jelly is such a swift and easy process that anyone can tackle the job. Commercial pectin takes all the guesswork out of jelly making and relegates it to a simple seasonal process.

It need not all be done at one time, for summer fruits can be bottled and used later in the year.

But back to the grapes! Grapes were growing wild in America when the earliest explorers landed on the shores. The Pilgrims cultivated the vines and later inhabitants brought new species to plant.

In the beginning, and until the middle of the 19th century, grapes were used for little but wine making. Today, grapes rank in importance among the first four fruits.

Blue-black Concord grapes make excellent jelly. If the cook allows the juice to stand overnight, crystals will never form in the jelly.

The economical homemaker uses the residue left after extracting the juice from cooked grapes to make grape "paste" or grape butter, both delicious.

We have found two rather unusual grape preserving recipes that we should like to share with you. The first is for a Grape Catsup that is excellent with hot or cold game and meats.

Grape Catsup

8 pints Concord grapes, washed and stemmed
4 cups brown sugar
1 pint cider vinegar
2 tablespoons powdered allspice
2 tablespoons powdered cinnamon
2 tablespoons powdered cloves
1 teaspoon mace
¾ tablespoon cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon salt

Cook slowly until soft, about 25 minutes. Put through a colander. Combine with remaining ingredients and boil until thick, about 45 minutes. Stir frequently. Pour into hot sterilized jars. Makes 1 pint.

* * *

Every bit as good as apple butter is grape butter. When you serve Spiced Concord Grape Butter, you have a food that is definitely out of the ordinary.

Spiced Concord Grape Butter

3 pounds Concord grapes
3 cups sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
1½ teaspoon powdered cinnamon
¾ teaspoon powdered cloves
¼ teaspoon salt

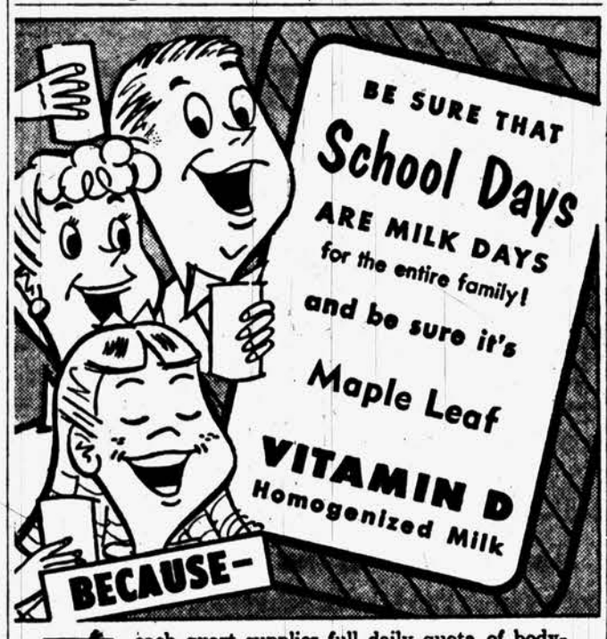

Wash grapes, drain, press out of skins, saving skins and pulp. Cover and cook about ten minutes, or until soft, stirring frequently with wooden spoon. Rub cooked pulp through a sieve to remove seeds.

Heat vinegar, sugar, spices and salt together in kettle; add skins and sieved pulp. Cook over low heat about 20 minutes, stirring constantly, though slowly. When of jam-like consistency, pour into hot sterile glasses. Seal at once. Makes 2 pints.

Way to Serve Parsnips

Here's a way to serve parsnips without their woody core: First, boil the parsnips whole, then split them lengthwise and strip out the tough center. dip the halves in flour and fry them in fat until golden brown. You can also mash them up, shape them into little cakes and fry.

Bacon should always be kept in the refrigerator. But never freeze it!

Lemon Cookies Treat for Tots

For those afternoon "teaparties" children love so well, here is a fine recipe for Rolled Crisps—the kind of cookies everyone likes to find in the cookie jar all year long.

Cookies

2 cups fortified margarine
1¼ cups sugar
Grated peel of 1 lemon
2 eggs
½ cup milk
5 cups sifted all-purpose flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Cream the margarine; adding the sugar gradually and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Mix in the lemon peel and eggs, beating until the eggs are well blended.

Sift the flour with the baking powder. Combine the flour and milk with the creamed margarine-sugar-egg mixture. Stir in the lemon juice. Shape into a ball and chill in the refrigerator.

Roll to one-fourth inch thickness on a lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with fancy or plain cutters. Sprinkle with sugar, if desired. Bake in a 400 oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 100 two inch cookies.

Beef-Potato Burger Makes Nice Change

Instead of serving separate potatoes with your hamburgers, try this combination pattie for a change.

Beef-Potato Burgers

1½ pounds ground beef
2 cups medium grated unpeeled potatoes
2 tablespoons grated onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Shape into 6 or 8 patties. Place patties on broiler rack.

Set regulator to broil. Insert broiler rack and pan so the top surface of the meat is 2 inches from the heat.

When one side is browned (10 to 12 minutes) turn and continue broiling until other side is brown, about 8 minutes. Six to eight servings.

Spruce Up Dressings

Many salads flavor-respond with a zing when the dressing is a blend of equal parts mayonnaise and French dressing—with just a touch of mustard or horseradish for emphasis—or a garlick rubbed salad bowl for that special touch only garlic can give.

Ever thought of adding scoopers or "dishers" to your kitchen utensils? They come in different sizes and are convenient for filling muffin pans with muffin or cupcake batter. They're handy too for dishing out mashed potatoes. A very small scoop is helpful in making drop cookies of an even size.

VEAL SCALOPPINE—How about a delicious Italian dish for dinner? This tempting combination of veal, tomatoes and mushrooms will be a change from the usual spaghetti sauce. The recipe calls for veal shoulder which should make it economical.

Add Antipasto, Spumoni for Typical Italian Dinner

If you would like a typical Italian dinner, serve Veal Scaloppine on spaghetti and add other Italian dishes, such as antipasto (appetizers) and spumoni (a heavenly tasting ice cream) or fresh fruit and cheese for dessert.

Veal Scaloppine on Spaghetti

2 lbs. boned veal shoulder, sliced thin
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced
⅓ cup minced onion
1 3-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti

Have meatman flatten veal for scaloppine. Dredge veal in flour combined with 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. In a skillet, melt butter or margarine over low heat. Add veal; saute until lightly browned.

Remove veal from skillet. Add garlic and onion to butter or margarine; cook until onion is tender. Gradually add mushrooms, tomatoes, sugar, 1 teaspoon salt and browned veal. Cover and cook over low heat, or until veal is tender.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil.

Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve veal scaloppine over cooked spaghetti.

Plum Sherbet Great Favorite in Summertime

It seems like a fruitful season to repeat the popular recipe for a colorful sherbet quickly made from a base of either strained plums or apricots. For faster freezing chill the fruit before combining with the other three ingredients.

Plum Sherbet

1 cup strained plums with tapioca or strained apricots with farina
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
2 egg whites, beaten until stiff

Add lemon juice and sugar to the strained plums with tapioca. Fold in beaten egg whites.

Pour into a freezer tray and partially freeze. Remove to a chilled bowl and beat thoroughly until mixture is smooth but not melted. Return to freezer tray and freeze until firm. Six servings.

Okra Is Southern Way to Stuff Large Tomatoes

We Northerners are not so apt to make use of fresh okra as are our southern cousins. If you are wondering what to stuff tomatoes with the next time they are on the menu, try this recipe.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Okra

6 large tomatoes
¼ cup cooked fresh corn, cut from cob
12 fresh okra pods, cooked and diced
¼ cup bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley

Remove thin slice from stem end of tomatoes. Scoop out centers. Reserve pulp. Invert and drain for 10 minutes.

Combine all ingredients, including tomato pulp. Stuff tomatoes with the mixture.

Place in baking dish in which has been placed 3 tablespoons of water. Cover and bake in moderate oven for 25 minutes or until tender. Serves six.

Crunchy Spinach Goes With Meats

If you want your guests — and your family too — to smack their lips, serve this glamorous spinach concoction. It's made with spinach, croutons, and spaghetti sauce with mushrooms, which gives distinctive flavor to a really delicious dish.

The croutons add a crunchy quality that makes interesting texture. This Spinach Crunch is as good with meat balls as it is with a prime roast of beef or with baked ham.

Spinach Crunch

1 cup croutons
1 package quick-frozen spinach or from a pound to a pound and a half of fresh spinach, cooked, drained thoroughly.
1 large can (or 2 small cans) of spaghetti sauce with mushrooms

Put cooked spinach in shallow casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle croutons over the spinach and pour sauce over all. Bake in 350 oven 25 minutes, or until bubbling and light brown.

Liver Patties Offer Variation From Usual

As a variation from fried liver slices, you'll like the tenderness and flavor of these ground liver and onion patties.

Liver and Onion Patties

1 pound beef liver
1 medium onion
10 crackers
2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Lard

Cover liver with boiling water and let stand 10 minutes. Put liver, onion, and crackers through food chopper (fine grind). Add slightly beaten eggs, milk, and seasonings. Drop by tablespoons into a little hot lard. Flatten with a spatula and fry each side until crisply brown. 6 servings.

Serve Ham New Way

Soften cream cheese and mix with a little grated horseradish; put a tablespoon of the mixture on a very thin slice of ham and roll up. Serve with coleslaw as the main course for lunch, or as the first course for a buffet supper.

An easy way to roll cookie dough or pie pastry is between two sheets of waxed paper. This way you won't have to wash either your rolling pin or your board!

A kitchen scissors does a good job of cutting scallion fine when you want to add the green onion to salad, a cottage cheese mixture or a soup.

Golden Crusted Bananas Served Like Vegetable

Steak dinners are all the fashion, and with good reason, as any woman knows who does her own marketing. Steak is selling at lowest prices in years. In fact, in many localities steak is priced the same as hamburger just a year ago.

What is your favorite food t serve with steak? French fried potatoes? Green salad? A big baked potato? Those are all just fine. But now comes a delicious new accompaniment for steak. It is Golden Crust Bananas, a way of serving bananas cooked that is simply delicious.

Golden Crust Bananas are mellow halves of banana, baked with a delicious crips crust of crushed corn flakes, break or cracker crumbs. This is the type of food that shows real imagination and will do a hostess credit.

Goden Crust Bananas go well with almost any combination of foods. . . meat, fish or poultry. Serve them as a vegetable, and you will find their different delicious flavor very much in demand. For cooking, choose a less ripe banana that will stay firm when cooked. A slightly green-tipped or all-yellow peel means the less ripe banana. . . the ideal one for cooking.

Golden Crust Bananas

1 egg, slightly beaten, or
¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk
1½ teaspoons salt
4 firm bananas*
½ cup finely crushed corn flakes, bread or cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Mix together egg or undiluted evaporated milk and salt. Peel bananas and cut into halves crosswise. Dip banana halves into egg or milk, then drain 2 to 3 minutes. Roll in crumbs.

Place crumbed banana halves into greased baking dish. Sprinkle bananas with melted butter or margarine. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) about 10 to 12 minutes, or until bananas are tender . . .easily pierced with fork.

Brown under broiler 2 to 3 minutes, just before serving. Serve hot as a vegetable. Makes 4 servings.

Important: If desired, bananas will brown in the oven if baked at 450 degrees 4 minutes, then baked at 500 degrees for remaining 8 minutes.

Tax-Happy Missourians Request Names on Rolls

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—County officials blinked their eyes, but there they were:

Four people in the office asking to be on the books as taxpayers.

Good citizenship wasn't the only motive.

Three wanted liquor licenses and there's a law that required a holder of such a license to be a taxpayer. The fourth fellow wanted to make sure the county didn't claim some of his land.

The whole thing didn't turn out to be costly anyway. None of them asked for more than a $75 valuation.

You don't need special molds for gelatin salads or desserts; any dish or pan may be used as a mold. When you are making a big salad or dessert for a party, a loaf pan works out nicely and gives good-size even slices.

More Breakfast Proteins Healthful Move for Family

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

It's smart to eat breakfast. You will hear that idea expressed often this month, since September has been designated Better Breakfast Month.

As your food editor, we are for better breakfasts all the time.

Everyone needs breakfast. Children need it to supply the essential foods that build strong bones and muscles. Adults need it to fortify themselves for the day's work.

People on a reducing diet need breakfast so that they will not be tempted to snack in the middle of the morning. Everyone needs to break his fast after going without food overnight.

Let's face it, Mrs. Homemaker: It is really up to us to set the pattern of family meals. If we put our minds to it, we can have such an attractive breakfast on the table each morning that the family won't be able to leave without eating.

It may mean crawling out of bed ten minutes earlier. It may mean even insisting upon everyone'e eating.

We think that liking or disliking breakfast is as much habit as anything. Since our main interest is in keeping the members of the family healthy, we shall do all we can to insure their interest in breakfast.

There is a basic pattern to follow. Experts agree that breakfasts should supply one-third or one-fourth of the day's food requirements.

It should include fruit, with emphasis on the citrus fruits; breadstuff in the form of cereal and/or toast; milk (coffee only for adults); and, in the opinion of your editor, protein in some form.

Nutritionists have found that the basic cereal breakfast is well balanced. Cereal and toast contribute the same food elements to the meal and both are not needed by the average eater.

Dieters must choose between the two and then protein is needed to help burn up fat.

Active growing children as well as manual laborers, can use extra calories as provided by both cereal and some form of bread. But we should like to see more eggs and meat served for breakfast in place of two kinds of cereal products.

We know that the protein foods are among the most expensive foods. Yet there are ways of using a small amount that will not upset the budget.

French toast can be made with fewer than one egg per person and serves the double purpose of putting protein in the meal and using stale bread.

Cottage cheese makes a good spread for toast. Creamed dried beef need not always be saved for lunch menus.

Bits of bacon or pork sausage can be added to scrambled eggs, waffles or pancakes.

Bacon sandwiches would be a treat to the youngster who does not have sandwiches for lunch every day.

Again it's a matter of using our imaginations. Let's resolve now at the beginning of the school year to serve good nourishing breakfasts every morning.

Let's have our whole family sit down for a leisurely meal before taking up the affairs of the day.

1-Ounce Serving Way to Figure

Although some homemakers successfully reheat macaroni dishes for a second meal, most cooks prefer to prepare only the amount which will be eaten at one particular lunch or supper.

So what is the best way to plan so as not to have leftovers?

The ages and activities of family members are both determining factors. Another important consideration is the other foods which are served with the macaroni, paghetti or noodles.

A good average for combination dishes such as casseroles is to allow one ounce per person.

Of course, you may find that hungry teenage boys will eat as much as one and one-half ounces or two ounces of a macaroni product, even though it is combined with vegetables and meats.

In dishes like the popular spaghetti with meat sauce—when the only accompaniments are hard rolls and a tossed green salad — it is best to allow about two ounces of spaghetti per person. Incidentally, it is easy to "stretch" a dish by adding a little more of the macaroni product. It obligingly picks up and extends flavors of other foods.

Salmon is packed mainly in the one-pound tall can, the one-pound flat and the half-pound flat (7¾-ounce weight) can. The one-pound size can contains two cups and makes four servings; the half-pound can contains one cup and makes two servings. Less common is the quarter-pound flat can, containing 3¾ ounces, drained weight.

CALIFORNIA VEGETABLE PLATE—Here's a plate of fresh vegetables from the Far West. Cooked vegetables are marinated in French dressing and served with cheese stuffed endive. Hot rolls and a dessert will make an elegant luncheon or Sunday night supper.

Time Right Now to Serve Big Vegetable Salad Plate

With the markets overflowing with all kinds of fresh vegetables, a vegetable plate is an excellent dish.

California Vegetable Plate

¼ pound whole snap beans, cooked
¾ cup French dressing
6 small whole carrots, cooked
1 head endive
¼ jar smoky cheese (5-ounce jar)
3 small zucchini squash, sliced and cooked
6 tomatoes
2 bunches scallions, cooked
2 cups eggplant "caviar"
1 cup cauliflower flowerettes, cooked
Head lettuce

Marinate all cooked vegetables in French dressing for one hour. Stuff endive leaves with cheese. Peel tomatoes if desired and cut into eighths — cutting almost all the way through, but leaving sections joined at the bottom.

Arrange a tomato "flower" in center of each plate. Stuff with eggplant "caviar." Arrange other vegetables in lettuce cups around the tomatoes. Serves 6.

Eggplant "Caviar"

1 small eggplant
3 tomatoes, peeled and chopped
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 cloves garlic
½ cup salad oil
1 large onion, finely chopped

Wrap eggplant in foil or greased wax paper. Bake in 350 oven about one hour. Cool and peel. Place salt in wooden bowl. Crush garlic into salt until pulpy.

Add onion, tomatoes, eggplant and pepper. Chop until very fine, adding salad oil gradually. Chill until very cold.

Rowdy's Hobby Is Barbecuing for Big Groups

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UP)—The next time the little woman moans about a hard day over a hot stove tell her about H. E. (Rowdy) Holmquist, whose hobby is outdoor barbecuing—for about 1,500 persons.

Holmquist at 45 is owner of Redwood City's oldest business concern, the Redwood City Hardware Store, but he still finds time to donate his services and equipment for most outings. However, recently the demand has been so great that Holmquist finds it necessary to charge private groups a small fee.

Even at that, the parties he serves are getting quite a break considering the investment his equipment represents.

He has two trailers to haul an eight-foot long barbecue pit, a butane-powered range with a cast-iron top and warming ovens, two stainless steel army kitchens, a steam table, 17 navy surplus dining tables, 1,300 stainless steel food trays and silver for 350 persons.

It might be work to the housewife, but Holmquist's idea of fun is to load his equipment, haul it to a picnic site, set it up and then personally barbecue steaks or chickens for 1,000 or 1,500 persons.

Holmquist also is called upon in emergency situations, such as the recent forest fire in the Butano, Calif., area. When he received the call to help feed the hungry, tired fire-fighting crews he needed no urging.

When Holmquist accepts an invitation to serve at an outing, he goes at it in an almost military manner. Plans are drawn showing how the equipment will be set up, notes are made on the delivery of food, volunteers are assigned to assist by spreading garlic on fresh bread and to watch cooking pots. But he personally handles the barbecuing.

Holmquist said the only time he capitalized on this hobby was last year when a professional catering service in San Francisco gave him a call. Their regular chef was ill, so Holmquist filled in.

"I was paid $65 for that deal," he said.

Here's an easy dessert: Chill canned applesauce and fold it into whipped cream. Spoon this delicious combination into sherbet glasses and top with a berry or a cherry.

Curious Breed Formula: Ram and 15 Tame Sheep

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana transplanted a wild bighorn mountain ram with curious results. The ram and 15 other bighorn sheep were planted on an Eastern Montana ranch with a view to restoring the breed in that region.

The ram associated with a group of domestic sheep with these consequences:

A Jordan rancher wondered what 11 wool-less lambs in his herd would bring on the market.

Sportsmen wondered if this could be the start of a new game species.

And Montana state biologists planned to learn if the hybrid offspring would be sterile.

Find Dog They Harbor Is Really Wealthy Pooch

PLACERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A poor dog was taken in by sympathetic neighbors after the death of its owner, Mrs. Marguerita Morgan.

Later it was learned Mrs. Morgan had bequeathed $5,000 to her Cairn terrier, Chief Dhy Jon.

In disposing of Mrs. Morgan's estate, Superior Judge Thomas Maul gave custody of the dog—no longer poor — to the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Allen.

Peanut Brittle in Sauce

Try peanut brittle in apple sauce. Roll the brittle well and stir into hot apple sauce. Serve in sherbest glasses topped with whipped cream. It's real good.

VANILLA WAFER PUDDING—Here is a dessert that you can dress up with whipped cream and serve as a pudding; or you can slice it and eat it like a regular cookie. Cookie crumbs, nuts, dates and marshmallows add up to a yummy concoction.

Wafer Pudding Easy to Concoct

You'll like this Vanilla Wafer Pudding, because it's easy to put together, requires no cooking and keeps well in the refrigerator.

Make up a roll of it now yourself, or let your small son or daughter mix the ingredients.

Vanilla Wafer Date Pudding

1½ cups vanilla wafer crumbs (about ⅝ lb.)
1 cup finely cut dates
¼ lb. cut marshmallows
1 cup nut meats, broken
½ cup top milk
whipped cream

Reserve ½ cup crumbs. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well. Place on waxed paper and shape into a roll about three inches in diameter.

Roll onto another piece of waxed paper covered with remaining crumbs and coat all sides with crumbs. Chill overnight. Slice to serve. Top with whipped cream sweetened slightly if desired. Yield: 8 servings.

Salad Men Like

Hearts of lettuce with Thousand Island dressing is a salad men usually like. To make the dressing add a quarter cup of chili sauce, a little finely iced green pepper, a hard-cooked egg (chopped fine), and some minced pimiento-stuffed olives to a cup of mayonnaise.

Cook frozen chopped spinach as directed on package. Drain thoroughly; reheat with a little heavy cream and butter or margarine. Easy and delicious!

FRENCH BEANS WITH ALMONDS—French beans with almonds offer an unusual way to serve a favorite vegetable. Its smart to tempt appetites with a different and delicious variation of an old favorite. Crunchy almonds provide the surprise taste.

Beans, Almonds for Gourmets

Fresh green beans are a perennial favorite. When you dress them up with browned chopped almonds, you put them in the gourmet class.

Don't be scared of the word "French;" it just means to cut the beans in long narrow strips.

French Beans With Almonds

1 pound green beans, cut in lenghtwise strips
¼ bar (2 tablespoons) margarine
2 tablespoons coarsely cut blanched almonds

Cook beans in boiling salted water until just tender-crisp. Melt margarine in small skillet over low heat, put in almonds and brown lightly, stirring constantly. Add to drained beans and toss lightly together. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

French Locomotives Too Wide in Brazil

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — The state-operated "Rio Grande de Sul railway recently bought several new locomotives in France. The engineer of the first of the locomotives put to use halted his freight train just short of a bridge between Santa Maria, where the locomotives are being assembled, and Cacequi.

He got out and verified that the iron superstructure was about two feet too narrow to let the locomotive pass. Rail officials are busy with tapelines to see just where they can use the new locomotives now and what bridges will have to be widened.

77-Year-Old Gets 'Bath' That Lasts Two Days

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — What began as just another bath stretched into a 48-hour soaking for a 77-year-old Hutchinson man. S. E. Drummond climbed into the tub at his home, where he lived alone. Then he became too weak to get out.

Two days later, neighbors, worried because they hadn't seen him, called police. Officers entered the home and helped Drummond from the tub. Drummond suffered no ill effects from his ordeal, but he admitted he did get "sort of hungry."

"I guess I drank gallons and gallons of water," he said.

Danish Eaterie Air-Ships Sandwiches Across World

Danish open-face sandwiches are flying to cities the world over these days.

Citizens of Chicago, Rome and Buenos Aires alike can dine on a famous Oskar Davidsen sandwich without ever setting foot on Danish soil. Modern air travel has made it possible for a world wide clientele to enjoy these delectable creations.

It was about 80 years ago that Davidsen sandwiches first grew popular.

Oskar was a Copenhagen wine-merchant. While customers sipped wine from Oskar's cellar, Fru Davidsen served them sandwiches.

The Davidsen sandwiches were made in the Danish fashion—one slice of buttered bread topped with meat, sea food, good rich cheese and other tasty items.

Evidently Fru Davidsen was a true artist. The demand for her sandwiches grew until husband Oskar opened a restaurant next door to his wine shop.

The sandwich menu of this establishment has grown until it is four feet long and offers 172 varieties of sandwiches. You may take your choice of white, rye, crisp or sour bread.

All sorts of enticing sandwiches appear on the menu at this famous Copenhagen eatery. "Hans Andersen's Favourite" is one of the offerings. It is described as, "crisp bacon, tomato, liverpaste with truffles, meat-jelly and horseradish."

Daily at the Copenhagen airport, cartons carrying Davidsen sandwiches are loaded on planes, and started on their way to hungry customers abroad.

Quote from Oskar Davidsen's astonishing menu: "Today there is nothing (except currency restrictions) to hinder the delivery of Davidsen sandwiches in the Americas and other distant countries."

Trim Party Crackers

Here's a different way to decorate crackers: Fill a frosting bag or heavy white paper funnel with soft cheese or cheese spread, then press the cheese onto crackers in any designs you wish.

Salem Folk Give Goddess of Love Cold Shoulder

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Nobody loves the Goddess of Love.

By virtually unanimous voice of the citizens of Salem, the buxom statue of Venus, done in the altogether by the French artist-sculptor Renoir, will neither grace nor disgrace the Marion County courthouse grounds in the heart of Oregon's capital city.

The tizzy over the nude came about because the late Carroll L. Moores willed his estate to the city for a fitting memorial to Oregon pioneers. Moores, a bachelor and a frugal man, was a janitor and elevator operator in the Oregon Supreme Court building, but he left an estate when he died in 1936 that has grown to about $30,000.

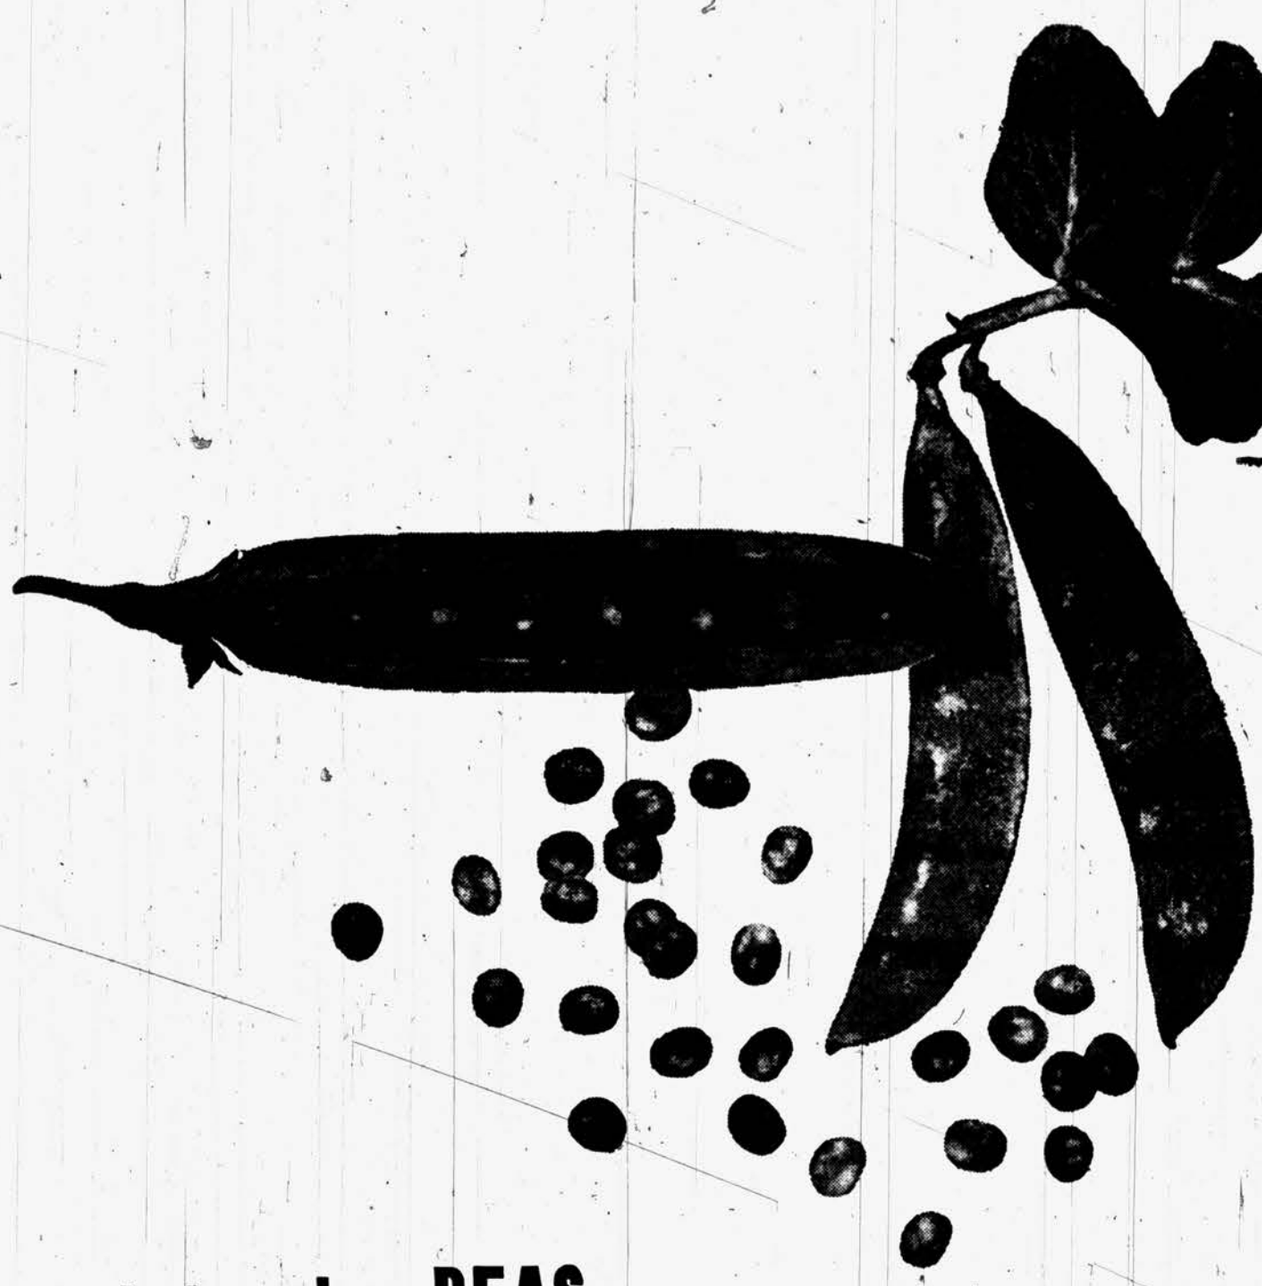

Two beneficiaries were willed the interest on the estate as long as they lived, which is why the tempest did not arise before.

A committee was named to choose a fitting memorial to pioneers. After a continent-wide search they came up with the suggestion of Venus, now reposing in New York. The howls started. What, asked enraged Salemites, did Venus have to do with the pioneers of Oregon?

Straw votes were taken at service club luncheons and the Goddess could have counted the votes she got on her 10 fingers (yes, Renoir's Venus has hands). Other citizens wrote letters of indignation to the paper. None wrote approval. So Venus is out, and the committee is trying again.

Campers With Know-How Can Pack a Perfect Meal

Planning a camping trip this year? If so, you'll probably soon be confronted with the annual problem of what to take that will do the most for the least amount of weight and space.

The food department is no exception in this matter. Experienced campers know that overburdening themselves with such luxury-seeking items as food delicacies is one of the quickest ways to spoil a trip. And yet going to the other extreme of ignoring food pleasures completely is not wise either.

The happy medium with food, as with other gear, is the item that is light and compact and yet provides a healthy measure of good living.

Food stores offer a wide array of dehydrated, processed and concentrated foods that are ideal for camping. A further look will also reveal certain cooking accessories which greatly improve any camper's meal and keep bulk at a minimum.

Examples of these are seasoning salts. Instead of carrying along a bag of onions, garlic or celery for seasoning, the camper need only add a small jar or two to his pack. The flavor of these standby seasonings is blended perfectly with the salt, making them not only compact but very easy to use.

Seasoning salts are items which greatly enrich lakeside meals with flavors that a few years ago might have been left home because they were bulky luxuries.

Successful Rainmaker Says It's Sure Thing

BRISBANE (AP) — Australia now leads most countries of the world in rainmaking research, says Dr. Edward G. Bowen, 42-year-old rainmaking expert of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization. Dr. Bowen heads a team of 20 scientists that has made rain fall nearly 200 times.

He told a reporter in Brisbane: "There is no doubt that we can make rain fall from clouds when we want it. The problem now is to make it fall over a large area at an economic cost. We hope to solve that within the next decade."

FRANKFURTER-TOMATO BAKE—Hot and hearty, here is a main dish to satisfy any man-sized appetite. Canned tomatoes, plus well-seasoned noodles and franks. For color and texture contrast, serve green beans, crisp apple coleslaw and crusty rolls.

Try Out Vegetable Dish Built About Fresh Corn

As satisfying as it is, and as delicious, sweet corn is almost a meal in itself. And since the other foods are largely ignored when fresh corn is on the table, why not plan vegetable plates to make the most of it and your budget too.

As a change from on-the-cob, try this vivid combination of red and gold to center the vegetable plate. Arrange around it other garden fresh vegetables. Or serve it as the one hot dish in a sandwich-and-salad meal.

Red and Gold Vegetable Bake

6 large tomatoes
1 small green pepper
1 clove garlic
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup fresh corn, cut from cob
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut slice from top of each tomato and scoop out center. Dice pepper and finely mince garlic. Cook in butter until pepper is tender. Add corn which has been cooked in boiling water for 3 minutes, then cut from cob. Season and till tomato centers. Bake in shallow baking dish at 425 for 15 minutes. You might stuff pepper shells instead of tomatoes for a change. Serves six.

A seasonal substitute for baked beans for picnics or back-yard suppers is Spanish corn. Cook it in a heavy casserole and wrap in papers to keep hot until picnic time.

Spanish Corn

8 large ears corn
2 medium green peppers
2 medium onions
3 drained canned pimientoes
4 slices bacon
½ cup top milk or cream
Salt and pepper

Cut corn from cob and scrape cob with blunt side of knife to remove juice. Pour into a 2 quart casserole. Remove seeds and pulp from peppers and chop. Peel and chop onions. Dice pimientoes. Dice bacon and cook over low heat until just brown. Add peppers, onions, and pimientoes and cook gently 3 or 4 minutes. Mix with corn, add top milk and season to taste. Cover and bake at 400 for 30 minutes. If it begins to dry during cooking add a little more top milk.

Preacher in Prison Gets Trial Hearing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A preacher who has spent the last seven years in prison for the murder of his 18-year-old daughter will get a hearing tomorrow on his motion for a new trial. His term is for life.

The Rev. Frank E. Siple, sentenced in 1946, now claims that he was "pressured" into a confession in the arsenic poisoning of his daughter, Dorothy Ann. At the time, Siple was pastor of Southlawn Church of God in a Grand Rapids suburb.

The cause of the daughter's death originally was certified as coronary thrombosis. Exhumation and examination followed a fight between Siple and an elder of his church.

Let Child Cook Casserole Dish

Casserole dishes are such wonderful time and budget savers — to say nothing of the saving in dish washing. If you have a young cook in the family, she should be able to prepare Frankfurter-Tomato Bake as well as mother. Serve it in your most attractive casserole and watch the family "lick the platter clean."

Frankfurter-Tomato Bake

1 medium-sized onion, chopped
2 No. 2 cans tomatoes (1 lb. 4 oz., 2½ cups each)
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 bouillon cube dissolved 2 tablespoons hot water
½ of 8 oz. package wide egg noodles
1 can (12-oz.) franfurters, cut in thirds
½ bay leaf

Combine all ingredients in 2½ quart baking dish. Bake, stirring occasionally, in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes, or until noodles are done.

Emotional People Often Suffer From Headaches

CHICAGO — When something bothers a turtle, he pulls his head into his shell. When something bothers a human being, he pulls his head into the shell of a headache.

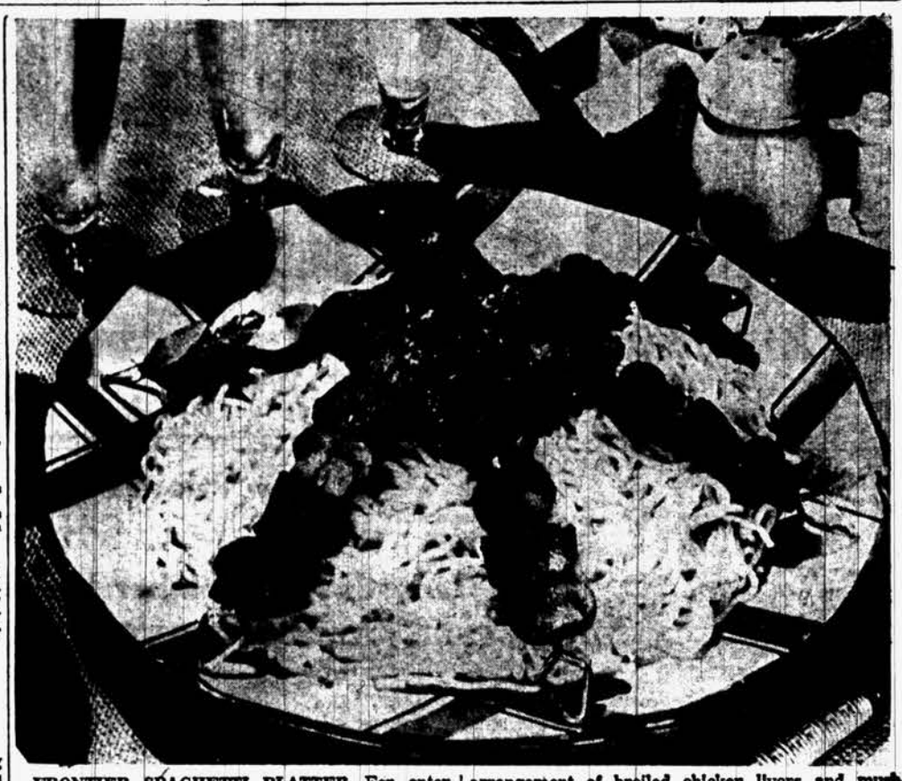

A headache is not a disease by itself, but rather a symptom of a disease or functional disturbance. Headaches of emotional or psychogenic origin are extremely common, according to Dr. Noah D. Fabricant, Chicago.

"The emotional, fidgety person besieged by worry, anxieties and fatigue often suffers from headaches," Dr. Fabricant wrote in a recent health magazine. "In many instances he is not aware of the underlying difficulty responsible for precipitating the head pain.

"The human being similarly can be thrown off balance by emotions such as hate, hostility, anger, rage, resentment, jealousy and suspicion. Professional men, business executives and white-collar workers are vulnerable to psychogenic headaches, which are likely to put in an appearance at the end of a trying day."

Ever Grate Potato?

Grated raw potato used in gravy adds flavor as well as thickening. Use two tablespoons of grated potato for each tablespoon flour in original recipe. It's an especially good touch in a vegetable gravy to be served with a pot roast.

Harvest Soup Takes Popcorn for Garnish

Fall is an ideal time to have soup for the main course of a meal. It should be considered for company as well as family meals, particularly if it is hearty and served attractively.

Harvest Soup, made with corn and milk, is one that can serve this purpose. Serve it with a good crisp salad and a fruit dessert with cheese and you have a well balanced, nutritious meal.

6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
3 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups canned cream style corn
2 cups milk
Buttered popcorn

Melt butter in a saucepan. Add onion and celery and cook for about 5 minutes or until vegetables are soft but not brown. Blend in flour. Add 3 cups milk gradually and cook stirring until mixture is smooth and thickened. Mix corn and 2 cups milk and combine with first mixture and heat.

Serve piping hot with buttered popcorn as garnish. Serves 6. Other garnishes may be used instead of popcorn.

Broil Open Sandwich

Broil this open sandwich under the direct heat of your flexible gas flame: toast one side of rye bread, and spread the other with a tuna-salad mixture. Top with cheese slices. Be sure the cheese is melted to a golden brownness.

Wine Producers Visit Pope Pius

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII told the world's wine growers yesterday "wine in itself is an excellent thing," but he warned agaist the dangers of drinking to excess.

The pontiff spoke at an audience for delegates to the Seventh International Congress of Wine Producers. His address was made public by the Vatican today.

The Pope said it was proper that the wine growers give scientific evidence of the "high nutritive and hygenic benefits of wine" but at the same time they should "make clear the measure beyond which the use by each individual would become abuse."

He cautioned against excessive consumption of wine and the "terrible physical and moral consequences of alcoholism, not only in the more civilzed countries but above all in those retarded lands where its ravages are even more terrible."

New Bread Idea Liked by Kids

Here's a new idea for using bread. Watch the children's delight as they eat these Miniature Toast Cups.

Miniature Toast Cups

8 slices of bread
⅓ cup butter or margarine melted

Trim the crusts from 8 slices of bread. Brush both sides of each square of bread with melted butter or margarine. Press the slices into miniature muffin tins so that each corner points up, forming a cup. Brown the toast cups in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, 10 to 15 minutes. Serve with one of the following fillings either as a dessert or for an accompaniment for a luncheon salad.

Fillings For Toast Cups

1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup applesauce
Cinnamon and nutmeg to taste

Combine all the ingredients. Fill toast cups with mixture and garnish with sprigs of watercress or mint.

1 cup chopped apple
1 cup cottage chese
Salt to taste

Quarter, but do not peel the apples. Chop into small pieces. Add cottage cheese and season to taste. Fill toast cups with mixture and garnish with apple.

¼ cup drained pickle relish (chopped chives, green pepper, pimiento)
Salt to taste

Combine all ingredients. Fill each toast cup and garnish appropriately.

Calorie Counters Can Whip Up Cool Dessert

Here's a recipe for a deliciously cool-sounding dessert. Calorie conscious eaters will applaud its low calorie count. Try it soon.

Peach Moonshine

Two packages orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot peach juice
1 cup hot water
4 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups finely chopped fresh peaches
4 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar

Dissolve gelatin in hot peach juice and water. Add lemon juice and allow to cool.

When mixture begins to thicken fold in peaches. Beat egg whites until foamy, add sugar and beat until egg whites are stiff.

Then fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into 1½-quart mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm and unmold onto a large plate.

Arrange slices of peaches around mold and decorate with whipped cream. Serves 6.

SEA FOOD SCALLOP — This casserole of canned crab meat or lobster is a real quickie, designed for the cook who dashes home at six o'clock, expecting dinner guests in an hour. Tiny oyster crackers dress up the individual casseroles nicely.

Scalloped Crab or Lobster Puts Meal in Prize Class

Gourmet cooking in short order is the design of this recipe. By putting convenient ready-canned foods to work for you, you may spend more time with your guests.

If you are a career girl from nine to five, you will find this a good menu for your next supper party. And it's all done with cans.

A casserole of scalloped crab or lobster is quick to fix with the excellent frozen or canned sea food on the market today.

A speedy sauce of lemon juice and melted butter or margarine adds zip to canned beets.

Packaged corn muffin mix whisks into a melt-in-your-mouth hot bread while the scallop bakes. Turn well chilled, canned fruit cocktail into fancy dress with the addition of a can of grapefruit sections and a sprinkling of white wine or cointreau.

Perfect eating, — all done like magic.

Sea Food Scallop

1 6½-oz. can lobster or crab meat
2 cups coarse salted cracker crumbs or oyster crackers
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon grated onion
Dash of pepper
¾ cup milk; OR: ½ cup milk plus ¼ cup light cream.

Drain and flake lobster or crab meat, removing any fiber. Combine crumbs with butter or margarine, parsley, onion and pepper. Cover bottom of 8-inch pie plate with 1 cup buttered crumbs.

Arrange lobster or crab meat over crumbs, and top with remaining crumbs. Pour milk over all. Bake in 400 oven 20 to 25 minutes, or until crumbs brown and casserole is heated through. Serves 4.

Peach Sherbet Is Economical, Tasty

While peaches are still in season, try using them in sherbet. The flavor is delicate and delightful.

Fresh Peach Sherbet

2 egg whites
½ cup milk
⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups crushed peaches
⅛ teaspoon almond extract

Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry. Combine other ingredients; fold in. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator; set control at cold. Freeze to mush; beat, stir. Freeze firm. Serves four.

Quick Celery Relish Different on Meats

You are faced with a cold meat platter and no chili sauce or relish to serve with it. With a stalk of celery in the refrigerator the day is saved. Make up a recipe of this quick relish and the meat will have a new taste accompaniment.

Quick Celery Relish

1½ cups finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped celery leaves
4 teaspoons powdered sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon powdered dry mustard
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ cup cider vinegar

Combine all ingredients. Cover and stand in refrigerator for at least two hours. Drain. Serve with cold meats or poultry. Yield: 1⅔ cups relish.

Versatile Franks Help in Getting Speedy Suppers

Here are some suggestions for using franks in speedy meals:

Franks in main dishes: Add franks cut in chunks to baked beans or Spanish rice. Slice franks and add to escalloped corn or potatoes or to macaroni and cheese; bake as usual.

Franks in salads: Add sliced frankfurters to either hot or cold potato salad, macaroni or rice salad, or a tossed green salad.

Franks in sauces: Heat franks—sliced, cut in chunks or left whole—in mustard, sour cream or barbecue sauce; serve on cooked noodles or rice.

Franks in sandwiches: Heat franks in water or brown in a little hot fat. Serve in buns and top with pickle relish, cole slaw, barbecue sauce or a mustard-onion sauce (chopped onions mixed with prepared mustard.)

Grapefruit Sections Form Fine Sherbet

Remember when you were a child and no hotel or club served the big weekend meal without a cooling ice as a main course accompaniment? The custom seems to have disappeared, or perhaps the water ices have.

You can give your meals the same refreshing touch by serving small portions of canned grapefruit sections, left in the can in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator overnight till they've reached a sherbet consistency.

The canned sections are handy for stretching seafood salads, for combinations with other fresh fruits, and they're a good budget buy right now.

Delicious first course for a company supper: Mix canned clam juice with tomato juice, using the same quantity of each. Season as desired, heat and serve in bouillon cups with crisp salted crackers.

Dip Strands Slowly in Cooking Spaghetti

There's nothing complicated about cooking spaghetti but here are a few suggestions that might come in handy. The National Macaroni Institute home economists have the answer to the problem of cooking long strands of spaghetti.

They advise you to dip the strands slowly into a large kettle of briskly boiling water. As the strands soften, turn them to follow the curve of the pan until the spaghetti is entirely submerged.

Spaghetti should be cooked only until tender. Test spaghetti for doneness by pressing a strand against the edge of the pan with a spoon.

If it cuts cleanly and evenly it's done. Overcooked spaghetti becomes soft and shapeless.

Cooked spaghetti should be drained quickly and thoroughly in a colander or large sieve. It isn't necessary to rinse or blanche spaghetti after cooking.

Milk in Dressing Gives New Flavor

You'll like the consistency and flavor of this different dressing for raw vegetables.

Savory Herb Dressing

¼ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup salad oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains freshly ground pepper
1 small clove garlic, pecled
⅛ teaspoon dry crushed basil
⅛ teaspoon dry crushed thyme

Have evaporated milk and oil at room temperature. Measure ingredients into a jar that holds at least a half pint. Cover tightly and shake vigorously about 1 minute. Chill. Before using, remove garlic clove. Makes about 2-3 cup dressing.

Tart Cranberries Perk Up Meal

Let's remember canned cranberry sauce when we are planning summer meals. The rich tart sauce is the ideal accompaniment to many meats and fish. Make up one of these quick relishes the next time you want an unusual side dish.

Crispy Cranberry Relish

1 pound can whole cranberry sauce, drained
2 carrots, grated
½ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Combine ingredients. Let stand several hours before using.

Cranberry Grape Relish

With fork, break up contents of 1-pound can whole cranberry sauce, chilled. Add 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and ½ cup seedless grapes, cut in half.

Cranberry Apple Lemon Relish

1 pound can jellied cranberry sauce, crushed with a fork
1 large apple
¼ lemon

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Coarsely grind apple and lemon in food chopper. Add to crushed cranberry sauce. Chill.

Children Happy if Mealtime Is Interesting

Children, like adults, want to have fun. And mealtime can be fun for the whole family with a little careful planning by mothers.

It may be hard, but restrain the disciplinary comments. If you must correct a bad fault, do it gently — and in a gentle voice.

Make the table as gay as possible, even if you eat from a shelf in the kitchen. It makes eating time seem more impressive, and therefore more desirable, to children.

Serve food in the most appetizing manner. A few raw carrot curls will add color to the spinach.

A dab of whipped cream makes the cherry gelatin look like a restaurant serving. Even the morning's oatmeal seems more cheerful with a bit of strawberry preserves for sweetening.

Let the child do as much for himself as possible. You may get more stains on the tablecloth, but a child will be much more interested in eating if he butters his own bread and pours his own gravy.

Let him help in arranging the menu, too. Even once-in-a-while permission to pick his own favorite vegetable or dessert, makes a child feels he really has a say in family meals.

OK to Store in Cans

Don't be misled! It's perfectly safe to store fruits, vegetables, meats, fish, soups, etc. in the opened original can. However, you must get them into the refrigerator at once. Also, for best flavor, plan to use them up next day or so.

Makes Delicious Stew

Chuck, shoulder and rump beef are good cuts to choose when you are preparing a stew. Have the beef cut into fairly large cubes and brown them well before adding the stew liquid so the dish will have rich color.

A pastry blender will save time and be easy on your arm when a recipe tells you to cut the shortening into the flour.

Try Honey Orange Twist for Summer Sandwiches

Daily, 58 million sandwiches are consumed in this country. To the cook who is interested in providing a variety of tasty finger food, new recipes will be welcome.

Why not make a loaf of orange bread to use with a number of delicious fillings? Honey Orange Twist can be made in about three hours and will draw cheers from your eating audience.

Honey Orange Twist

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
⅓ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
½ cup ground whole orange (½ orange)
¼ cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 egg
2½ cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Soften yeast in water. Add orange, honey, salt and shortening and mix to blend. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add egg and beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours).

When light, punch down. Let stand 10 minutes. Divide dough in half. Shape each half into roll about 14 inches long. Twist rolls together loosely, sealing ends. Place in greased loaf pan (8½ x4½-inches.) Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in 350 oven 45 to 50 minutes. Makes 1 twist.

Below are two suggestions for fillings that go well with Honey Orange Twist.

Apricot Nut Filling

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
¾ cup apricot puree
Dash salt
⅓ cup chopped pecans

Cream cheese. Add apricot puree, mixing until smooth and well blended. Add salt and nuts and mix well. Makes ¾ cup filling.

Bit O' Bacon Filling

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk
2 tablespoon chopped green pepper
3 slices crisp bacon, crushed
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion

Soften cheese with milk and mix until smooth. Add green pepper, bacon and onion, mixing until well blended. Makes ¾ cup filling.

Brown Beans Good Fixed Swedish Way

At the smorgasbord put on by a local organization recently, one of the featured dishes was Bruna Bonor or Brown Beans. This typical Swedish dish is easy to prepare and should become a favorite with anyone who tries it. We hope you will enjoy it.

Brown Beans, Swedish Style

1½ cups brown beans
1 to 1½ cups water
2 teaspoons salt
Molasses
White vinegar

Wash beans and soak overnight. Cook slowly in the same water until tender (1½ to 2 hours). Season to taste with salt, molasses and vinegar. Serve with small meatballs.

When the man of the house assumes command at the outdoor grill, you can tactfully remind him to toast the hamburger and frankfurter buns over the grill, too. "Most everyone likes hamburgers and hot dogs on toasted buns."

Urge Caution in Canning to Avoid Steam Burns

With the canning season at hand, here are a few safety reminders. Before you start processing jars, be sure to check the specific instructions that came with your pressure cooker.

With the correct amount of water in the cooker place fruit jars on the rack so that they do not touch the sides or each other. This allows proper steam circulation. Double check to make sure that the lid is fastened securely. If there should be any steam leakage between lid and cooker, the sealing ring should be replaced with a new one.

When cooking is started, always be sure to open the petcock and let the air and steam escape for the required length of time (usually 10 minutes). After closing, stay on the job and keep the heat adjusted so that correct pressure is maintained.

When processing is finished, don't be in a hurry to open the cooker. Remove the cooker from heat and wait for the pressure to fall to zero before touching or opening the petcock. Then open this valve slowly and let the remaining steam escape. Do not open the cooker until the flow of steam has fully stopped, then be sure to lift the lid so that the first opening is on the side away from you. This is your final precaution against a painful steam scald.

Fruit jars should be lifted from the cooker with tongs, and by the neck rather than the metal cap.

Cows Up for Auction

CHEBOYGAN (UP) — Nearly 100 young dairy cows will be sold at auction today at the first annual Northern Michigan Dairy Consignment Sale at the Northern Michigan Fairgrounds.

GOLDEN CUP CAKES — Filling those lunch boxes day after day puts a strain on the cake supply. These golden little cakes have nonfat dry milk in them that helps keep food costs down. Make up a batch today and frost with your favorite frosting.

Quick and easy hors d'oeuvre is an asparagus tip rolled in white bread, lightly buttered and toasted in the broiler for a few minutes. You may use canned asparagus tips or freshly cooked ones.

No Trick at All to Cup Cakes

Plain cup cakes are wonderful to have on hand. You may frost them any way you like, or you may serve them with a variety of sauces.

Don't worry if you have never baked with dry skim milk. There's no trick to it at all. And your cakes will be feather-light and delicious.

Golden Cup Cakes

2¼ cups sifted, all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup nonfat dry milk
⅔ cup soft shortening
1 cup water
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 eggs

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and dry milk into a bowl. Add shortening, water and vanilla. Beat hard 2½ minutes with spoon or electric beater at medium speed. Add unbeaten eggs, beat 2 minutes longer.

Fill greased and floured muffin tins. Bake in 350 degree oven 20 minutes, or until cakes pull from sides of cups. Spread tops with your favorite frosting and garnish with nuts.

DAV Starts Annual Forget-Me-Not Sale

Pontiac Chapter 16 and 101, Disabled American Veterans, will sell "blue flowers" here Friday and Saturday in their annual "Forget-Me-Not" drive for contributions to aid disabled veterans and their families.

According to Ray C. Jewell of Chapter 16 and Anthony Renna, commander of Chapter 101, money donated is used to help a distressed veteran, his wife, children or widow living in the area south of Birmingham.

None of the fund is used for administration of paid help other than the care of veteran's orphans in designated homes, Jewell explained.

"The little 'blue flower' is made by our disabled veterans in their bed or wheel chair in our veteran's hospitals," Jewell stated, "and its sale is their only way of being compensated for the work."

Backwoods Potatoes May Help Farmers

DURHAM, N. C. (UP) — Potatoes from the backwoods, real wild life, are pointed towards development of better spuds for the American dinner table.

Dr. Donovan S. Correll, a botanist from Duke University, says that out-of-way sections in Central America and Mexico have developed disease and frost resistant strains which would help potatoes on U. S. farms.

In his book, published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dr. Correll says that the potato had its origin in the Andes of Bolivia and Peru.

Correll has gathered wild potato relatives in Mexico which are now being used in breeding investigations in the United States, Germany, Canada and Alaska.

CANNING ITALIAN PLUMS—Along with pears and peaches Italian plums make their debut. If you have never canned them, you are in for a pleasant surprise. They are among the easiest of fruits to put up for winter. Buy a lug or a basket of them soon.

Called Prunes or Plums, They're Right Good Eating

Italian prunes are one of the easiest fruits to can. They are practically freestone and need no peeling. Just wash, halve, pack into jars and cover with syrup.

The old question of "Is it a prune or is it a plum?" continues to baffle many homemakers. When fresh they are known as prunes and after they're canned, Italian prunes are called purple plums.

Most families like to can a plentiful supply to use for breakfast fruit and to serve right from the jar as a simple dessert.

Directions for canning Italian prunes are as follows: Wash, sort, stem and halve fruit, removing the pit. If canned whole, prick skin with fork to prevent splitting and for sugar absorption. Pack cold, raw fruit into clean hot jars and cover with boiling medium syrup, 2 parts water to 1 part sugar.

Medium heavy syrup is preferred by some, 1½ parts water to 1 part sugar. Leave ½ to ¾ inch head space at tops of jars.

Insert clean knife to remove air pockets. Wipe top of jar with clean damp cloth. Secure lids.

Process in boiling wather bath, starting to time after water returns to full rolling boil. Have water at least one inch over tops of jars. Remove jars from canner. Cool away from draft with jars well separated.

POWs Assured U. S. Sympathy

Gen. Clark Promises American 'Progressives' Legal Protection

MUNSAN (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark today expressed sympathy for American war prisoners the Reds say refuse to return home and said he understands the "pressures to which they have been subjected."

The U. N. Far East Commander promised all American POWs the "legal rights and protection" guaranteed under U. S. laws. A U. N. Command spokesman said that being a "progressive"—red sympathizer—is not considered a crime in the United States.

* * *

The Communists say they hold about 300 South Koreans and more than 20 non-Koreans—presumably most of these Americans—who refuse repatriation.

Clark said in his statement that if he could communicate with the men held by the Reds, "I would remind them of the American tradition of freedom—the freedom for which they fought before their capture."

Clark also vowed to protect the "freedom of choice" of nearly 23,000 Chinese and North Koreans who renounced communism while in Allied captivity.

* * *

As the statement was released, 1,000 fiery, anti-Red Chinese war prisoners being handed over by the U. N. to Indian guards near Panmunjom ripped off their identification tags and refused to give their names to the Indians.

* * *

The prisoners spotted Communist observers outside the barbed wire and unleashed a hail of stones. None of the Reds was injured.

The five-nation repatriation commission, which will decide the fate of all prisoners who refuse to go back to their home countries, called a special conference.

An Indian spokesman said the commission would consider refusing further Allied deliveries of prisoners without their identification cards.

The prisoners apparently feared Red interviewers might discover their names and homes and take reprisals against relatives.

* * *

Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. A. L. Hamblen, chief of the U. N. C. group which will talk with reluctant Allied prisoners, said the command feels both Allied and Red captives "already have made their choice."

The general told a news conference at Munsan:

"If the prisoner does nothing, it is assumed that he wants to stay under the control of the country which now holds him."

Safety Researcher Says Women Are the Speeders

NEW YORK (AP) — A safety researcher says a recent radar speed check made in New England shattered his belief that women are generally slow and cautious drivers.

William J. Toth, research associate of New York University's center for safety education, said yesterday he made a 15-thousand-mile tour in northeastern states making radar speed studies.

Although some 70 per cent of the nation's drivers are men, Toth said, his check disclosed 53 per cent of all speeders in the area were women.

MOMS Blockade Narrow Bridge in Protest Action

DETROIT (UP)—Thirteen Dearborn Township mothers blocked a 16-foot-wide bridge with a barricade of baby buggies Wednesday to spur action for a safe crossing for school children.

The bridge spans a drainage ditch and the mothers charged the children were risking their lives crossing it because it was just wide enough for two cars.

When cars approached the bridge from opposite directions, they said, there were only a few inches to spare for pedestrians.

The mothers lined the buggies across the bridge while their children walked to and from the Haston School. They were spaced far enough apart to allow the children to pass—but no cars.

Wilson Shaffer, a township farmer and unoffiical spokesman for the mothers, said the Wayne County Road Commission had been asked to provide a walkway but failed to do so.

"They just laughed at us and told us to build it ourselves," Shaffer said.

A road commission official promised to meet today with township officers and the mothers to discuss the problem.

U. S. Aid to Develop Isle Off Red China

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — A substantial American-financed project to develop strategic Quemoy Island — within sight and easy gun range of Communist China— will get under way soon, it was announced today.

This will be the first time U. S. dollars have been spent on the chain of offshore islands held by the Chinese Nationalists. Previous U. S. aid has been limited to Formosa.

Official quarters speculated, however, that a similar program soon will be inaugurated for the Ta Chen Islands which lie south of Shanghai and are the northern anchor of the Nationalists' offshore bases.

Charge Petty Larceny in Thefts From Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — A 19-year-old Brooklynite has been arrested for allegedly stealing more than 30 mostly small but rare objects from the Museum of Natural History.

Police last night booked Robert Kennedy on a charge of petty larceny and said his loot included: Six ceremonial masks, four Maori war clubs, nine Filipino figurines, three whalebone knives, two Java dolls, and three knives.

Authorities said Kennedy sold most of the items for about $100. ta41 eessu v mk522aed 17

VA Moving to End Hospital Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans' Administrator Harvey Higley said today his agency is moving "as rapidly as possible" toward wiping out segregation of whites and Negroes in veterans' hospitals.

"We find any semblance of segregation unsocial, uneconomical and undesirable," he said, "and . . . we hope the day is not far removed when there will be no semblance of racial segregation in VA hospitals."

Higley made the statements in an exchange of letters, released today, with Clarence Mitchell, an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Mitchell had asked Higley in an Aug. 7 letter what he was doing to end segregation in veterans' hospitals in line with President Eisenhower's stated stand against segregation in any federal institutions.

Red Newsmen Ignore Indian Order in Korea

Reminded that the Indians yesterday ordered the number of correspondents cut to five from each side the Reds protested that the order "had not reached them."

QUITS GOP POST—William L. Pfeiffer, above, of Albany, N. Y., Republican State Chairman, has resigned his post despite the earnest pleading of President Eisenhower. General Smith Asked to Head POW Group

SEATTLE (AP) — The commander of the American ex-Prisoners of War Inc., has asked Maj. Gen. William F. Dean to accept the position of honorary national commander which was vacated by the death of Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

The invitation to the Korean war hero was sent yesterday by Kenneth Day, Seattle, who heads the organization of former war prisoners.

Reaches Airport Late to Board Ill-Fated Plane

ALBANY (AP)—An 85-year-old Massachusetts woman reached Boston airport too late to board the ill-fated American Airlines plane that crashed here yesterday.

Mrs. Dagmar Young of Newtonville was coming here to visit relatives in suburban Colonie, but missed the flight by minutes. The crash here killed 28.

U. S. Still Raids Cause Inflation in Moonshine

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—Revenuers are making a good run on stills in the lush moonshine liquor district of Logan, Lincoln and Mingo Counties. But their activities are forcing higher prices.

William R. Harvey, chief investigator here for the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit, says the going price for moonshine has climbed to $16 a gallon—roughly the price of some legal brands.

He thinks it's because his agents have been knocking of so many stills lately. They destroyed five in the last 30 days.

Up 33 Per Cent on October First

Sewer Bills Also Hit; 'Must Meet Increased Running Costs'

ROCHESTER—Water and sewer rates here will be raised about 33 per cent effective Oct. 1 under a new ordinance approved Monday at its third and final reading by the village council.

The rate-increasing ordinance was drafted in order to meet increased costs of materials, equipment and labor.

The rate boost is expected to bring the income of the water and sewer departments to a combined total of $52,000 per year.

Two property owners were present for a public hearing on the new ordinance. They were Mrs. Marion Belden and Mrs. William Lasco.

Mrs. Belden stated that a considerable saving to the village could be made by reading meters once a year instead of quarterly readings and that a closer check should be made on various services through the village.

Councilmen agreed to investigate Mrs. Belden's recommendations and, if feasible, to incorporate them in an amendment to the ordinance at a later date.

Village President Frank Rewold ordered that a amendment to the zoning ordinance and notices of a public hearing on Oct. 12 at 7:30 p.m. be prepared after a petition was heard for a change in the zoning of two lots in Albertson subdivision from two-family to multiple dwelling.

A petition for rezoning of Lot 46, supervisor's plat 2 (on South street) from heavy industry to multiple family was also heard.

Village Manager Robert Slone said David Geer of Geer Associates had recommended that the property be changed to light industry along with properties on the south side of the street. The change would insure future property values, according to Geer.

The matter was tabled until the next regular meeting of the council.

Traces of Early Colonies Found

Writer Uncovers Lore of New England Towns in British Namesakes

WASHINGTON — The only living thing to greet visitors in New York one drowsy summer day was a solitary black cat.

Eight miles away, at Boston, fishing boats were stranded high and dry by low tide in a narrow coastal river.

These places were not, of course, the great cities of the United States' east coast, but their namesakes in England's Lincolnshire.

Searching for traces of the Europeans who first peopled New England, Sir Evelyn Wrench visited them recently and writes of his quest in an article "Founders of New England," in the June National Geographic Magazine. He found little of value in New York, but a wealth of material in Boston.

Many other towns the writer saw bore names familiar to New England ears. Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Braintress are a few. And in "parish registers and mossy cemeteries" he found family "names with an American ring: Bradford, Brewster, Winthrop, Eliot."

Along with traces of men honored in history, Sir Evelyn uncovered the trail of one early settler who was not highly regarded by his strait-laced Massachusetts neighbors. This was Thomas Morton, a lawyer of Clifford's Inn, London, who settled at Mount Wollaston (now Quincy), Massachusetts.

Morton was no Puritan. He built an 80-foot Maypole for dancing and gave parties to which Indian women were invited. His settlement, "Ma-re Mount," Mountain By the Sea, quickly became known as "Merie Mount."

The Pilgrim Fathers accused him of selling firearms to the Indians and eventually rid themselves of him. The Morton story was told by Nathaniel Hawthorne in The Maypole of Merry Mount, upon which Howard Hanson based the opera Merry Mount.

Old documents read by Sir Evelyn give an interesting picture of early relations with Indians, who were termed "Savages" by the first explorers and settlers. In one account Indians taken to Britain were described as "rude in their demeanure and Beestes," but another observer declared their civility was "farre from the rudenesse of our common people."

Many of the men responsible for the founding of New England never saw the New World. Among these were Robert Browne, John White and Sir Ferdinando Gorges.

Browne was a fiery advocate of the right of free worship, and his preaching was a factor in the decision of the Pilgrim Fathers to flee England.

White, the rector of Dorchester, saw New England as a home for British unemployed and a fair field for the spreading of Christianity.

Gorges made elaborate plans for a colony in Maine — plans which never were carried out but stimulated interest in that section of America.

Not all the accounts concerned men.

Eat Fried Spuds for Breakfast to Attract Birds

WASHINGTON (UP)—Eat fried potatoes for breakfast if you want a yard full of songbirds.

That's the advice of Dr. A. Remington Kellogg, director of the Smithsonian Institution's national museum.

Kellogg is a biologist and a member of various organizations dealing with such things as mammology, herpetology, and zoology.

In this case, however, he talks not only from his educational background, but from years of experience of eating fried potatoes for breakfast.

Kellogg explained that there usually are some fried potatoes left and these he throws on the lawn of his Chevy Chase home. Immediately mocking birds, catbirds, cardinals, and red-bellied woodpeckers gather around.

Kellogg said the fried potatoes attract more birds than the fancy bird-feeding stations put up by some of his neighbors.

These birds like the frying fat on the potatoes, he explained but robins do not like it.

Spray Painting Method Doesn't Require Air

CLEVELAND, O. (UP) —A new way of spray-painting has come out of the experiments of a Cleveland firm painting without air.

Billed as a method of spray-painting to eliminate paint waste and health hazard, the new system heats the paint to lower its viscosity, then forces it out through the nozzle with hydraulic pressure.

Bede, Products, developers of the process, claim it cut time and labor involved, cuts paint loss and protects the operator from vapor.

Canadians Puzzled by Disappearing Tuna

OTTAWA (AP) — The mystery of the missing tuna off Canada's west coast still has fisheries officials puzzled after three years. First there were plenty of tuna; then there were none.

In 1939, tuna of the albacore variety, a streamlined fish weighing from 10 to 20 pounds, moved into British Columbia waters for the first time in history. There were not many at the start and the war curtailed commercial possibilities. However, from 1944 on the catch increased and during the 1948-1950 peak period, 6,500,000 pounds were landed with a value of $1,300,000.

Then the fish began to vanish. The 1951 catch was a mere 190,000 pounds worth $33,000.

Factory Items Bring Money to Connecticut

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)— It's pretty hard to spend money without some of it going back to a Connecticut factory.

The state development commission has put out a list of products of which Connecticut makes "a considerable part" of the total nationanl production. In the case of a good many of them, Connecticut out-produces all other states combined.

This is the list:

Locks, hand tools, rubber footwear, hats, bras and copper goods, aircraft parts, casters, phonograph records, firearms parachutes, brake lining, buttons, velvets, industrial sewing machines, machine tool parts, submarines, airplane engines, machine tools, printed textiles, elastic webbing, dictating machines, rugs, ball bearings, marine hardware, electrical appliances, hardware, silver-plated flatware, chains, brushes, springs, gun sights, time pieces, and electric razors.

Diet Change Sought

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's government has sent a 3-man team to tour the Black Sea region of the country to persuade people in the area to eat wheat bread rather than corn bread, the newspaper "Hurses" reports. Turkey now has a large surplus wheat crop.

Scientists Get a Bronx Cheer

Record Whale Sounds Records Whale Sounds —Also Squeals, Mew &

WOODS HOLE, Mass. — (NEA) —Did you hear about the one that got away? Must have weighed 20 pounds, and had the nicest baritone voice.

Fish story? Nonsense. Scientists have long known that fish make noises, and nowadays they're trying to find out how, why, and which fish make what noises. And they're succeeding.

A man from the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution took himself up to the lower Saguenay River, at the mouth of the St. Lawrence Gulf. This is a hangout for white whales. He got a boat, an underwater microphone and a recorder and listened.

And he came to the conclusion that white whales make a noise like a Bronx cheer. They also squeal and mew.

This whole business of loud fish goes back to 1907. Before then, most people thought fish were deaf and dumb—hard of herring. But, in that year, Krummel, a German, wrote that fish make sounds like "zischen, schnurren, kurren, knauen, grunzen, trommeln, und pfeiffen." Pretty smart fish, speaking German that way.

Later scientists of other nations heard the sounds, too. They reported all sorts of weird noises coming from the oceans' depths—from high-pitched sounds to bass voices. Gradually, more and more different sounds were catalogued.

The latest expedition, by the institution's vessel, Caryn, went to the Atlantic off Bermuda, southeast of Filletdelphia. They were equipped with a big reel of cable, several underwater mikes, a battery of Gray Audograph recorders and plenty of deep water, because the ocean floor is two miles below the surface there.

They let the Caryn's motors stop, to give the fish no competition, and the 97-foot ketch just drifted. And then, up from the briny, came amazing sounds. The scientists find it difficult to describe what they heard; they rely on such unscientific words as "whoops" and "whistles" and "screams."

Study of Birds Aiding Research About Sexes

CHICAGO (UP)—Dr. Austin L. Rand, who used to think the battle of the sexes was a by-product of civilization, now believes it is "probably as old as sex itself."

Rand, curator of birds at Chicago National History Museum, said his change in thinking came about after a careful study of the feathered fauna's feeding habits.

He believes these habits so important that "competition for food in part for characteristics . . . between the sexes is possibly a factor in evolution and responsible that distinguish the sexes."

Writing in the museum's monthly periodical, Dr. Rand said that in many cases the two sexes have different food preferences, or if the preference is the same, they get their food in different ways.

"It is possible that further study may bring to light additional cases of sex differences that are of advantage to the species in enabling the sexes to eat different things," he wrote.

"Thus, slowly, differences between the sexes would accumulate."

However, Dr. Rand conceded, "this sort of evolution would be limited."

New Parole Method Tried in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Department of Corrections has begun an intensive supervision experiment in an effort to reduce the number of parole violators.

Fourteen experienced parole officers have been assigned to a special unit authorized by this year's legislature. Each will be responsible for about 15 paroled prisoners. Normally parole officers supervise 90 persons each. The close supervision will continue for 90 days. Then the paroled prisoners will be transferred to the regular program.

The experiment was prompted by the fact that the parole violation rate is highest during the first three months of freedom.

Wife's Long Locks Get Trim With Pocketknife

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Karl Johnson got a pocketknife haircut.

When the Johnson car went into a ditch, Mrs. Johnson was thrown out on the ground. She suffered only minor abrasions, but a wheel of the car pinned her down by her hair.

Her husband quickly set her free — by trimming her hair with a pocketknife.

Auto Designers Goal Efficiency, Not Speed

DETROIT (UP) —Automobiles are being designed for higher and higher speeds these days but the real aim of such design is to provide more efficient performance at moderate speeds says Jack Wolfram, general manager of the Oldsmobile division of General Motors Corp.

Wolfram says motorists are demanding smoother, more economical engine performance in the 30 to 60 mile-an-hour range. To achieve this performance, he says, automobiles must be capable of much greater speeds.

Legislators Prepared to Suspend Eligibility Rule

LANSING (AP)—A legislative committee today was prepared to suspend high school eligibility rules and then work out new ones with the state department of public instruction.

* * *

Committee on administrative rule met for the second day on the cases of six Hastings High School athletes and three from the Upper Peninsula declared ineligible in what their attorneys called "harsh and arbitrary rulings."

Chairman Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) said the committee was convinced after all-day hearings yesterday that the present eligibility rules do not conform to the law.

* * *

At the same time, the committee is reluctant to suspend the rules and open the doors to the corruption of high school athletes, he said. The members met today with Supt. of Public Instruction Clair L. Taylor to draft a new rule to be submitted to Gov. Williams for emergency approval to fill the breech.

* * *

Committee was also seeking to force Dr. Taylor to reinstate the ineligible athletes. Phillips said if he refuses, the athletes could go into circuit court for an injunction to force their reinstatement while the ineligibility rules are in suspension.

* * *

"But I don't think that will be necessary," Phillips said.

The six Hastings athletes, all seniors, were declared ineligible for a year last month for accepting rejected fishing rods worth $2.44 from a tackle manufacturer who sponsored their softball team this summer.

* * *

The Upper Peninsula youths drew the same penalty at the same time for accepting merchandise prizes for participation in a junior golf tournament.

Eligibility rules forbid high school athletes to accept merchandise when the eligibility question was raised. They all said they accepted only on the advice of adults.

Dr. Taylor, under whose authority the Michigan High School Athletic Association executive committee held a hearing and recommended the suspensions, said the committee determined that the eligibility rules had been violated.

* * *

"What has jarred the people of the state about this," said Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), a committee member, "is this fixed and harsh penalty. Apparently you did not take into consideration any degree of cuplability."

* * *

George W. Dean, attorney for the Hastings youths, claimed that the MHSAA executive committee had no legal authority to interpret or conduct "trials" on its own rules.

"That's not the American way," he said.

* * *

Rep. Gerald W. Graves (R-Alpena), who has interested himself in the case, said the association and the department of public instruction themselves have been violating the laws.

* * *

They failed for three years to file written rules and they still have not complied with a 1952 law requiring them to set up procedures for appeals from their decisions.

* * *

These points are the basis for the committee's contention the rules do not conform to law.

Charles A. Semler, Benton Harbor High School principal and chairman of the MHSAA executive committee, defended the present rule as less stringent than in most other states.

* * *

He and other members of the executive committee contended the rules were what the great majority of the school men in the state wanted.

* * *

"We're not going to let a bunch of Chamber of Commerce men run interscholastic athletics," Dr. Taylor said in a private aside.

By BILL MARTIN

Wyandotte's defending Border Cities League champions, who Friday night play hosts to Pontiac High's football squad in the 1953 season opener, have a particular grudge to settle with the Chiefs.

Not only have the Dots failed to win in three encounters with Pontiac, but their opening loss to the Chiefs last season ruined an undefeated slate for the year.

The two teams have met only three times in history, with Pontiac coming out on the long end of the score each time. They first tangled in 1925, with Pontiac winning, 2-0. Chiefs won again the following year, 20-0, and, after a 25-year lapse, licked Wyandotte, 20-13, last season.

Dots rebounded from that setback to win eight consecutive victories and the Border Cities Conference title.

Dick Hoffheins, starting his 1st season as head coach, has nine lettermen back from the 1952 championship squad. His all-letterman backfield includes quarterback Joe Jelsomino, halfbacks Erwin Sadanowicz and Bob Jeffry and fullback Dave Barkey. Jelsomino is the only regular in the quartet.

Anchoring the line will be veterans Dave Sturgeon and Jack Emerick, tackles, end Jim Hardin and guard Bill Katz. Gordon Richards, a punter, is the other returning letter-winner. Dots' line, averaging 190 pounds, will hold a 10-pound per man weight advantage over the Chiefs.

Dedication ceremonies for the new lights at Wyandotte's Roosevelt Stadium will be held before the game, which is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Best route for Pontiac fans attending the game is to take Telegraph Road to Eureka, then turn left. Stadium is located behind Roosevelt High School, on Eureka street.

Cause Fewer Deaths

Study Shows Fly Hooks Less Damaging to Trout

LANSING (AP) — The supercilious fly fisherman had another excuse today to look down his nose at those who take trout with worms.

The state conservation department said experiments indicated that the hooks commonly used in worm fishing cause much more death and injury to trout than do the hooks used in fly fishing. This, of course, refers to trout which are returned to the water after being caught.

The finding was reported by Drs. L. N. Allison and David S. Shetter of the Institute for Fisheries Research at Ann Arbor. They are to present their findings this week to the American Fisheries Society meeting at Milwaukee.

The department said fly hookings caused death to less than four per cent of all brook trout caught, while fishworm hooks killed 37 per cent.

In experiments on brown trout, there were no deaths among fly-hooked fish, but 20 per cent of the browns taken on worm hooks died soon after being released.

For rainbows, the death ratio was 11 per cent on fly-hooked fish and 35 per cent on worm-hooked fish.

The research men said the medium-sized No. 8 hook was shown to be the most damaging to fish.

They said "the mortality from worm hooking could be a factor in keeping trout populations at minimal levels."

Shamrocks Open Season Friday at Wisner Field

Northsiders Expect Stiff Test Against Avondale Eleven

St. Michael's Shamrocks open their 1953 football season Friday night against Avondale in Wisner Memorial Stadium. Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m.

The big and experienced Avondale eleven is expected to provide a stiff opening test for the Mikes. Yellowjackets won five of eight starts last season and were runnersup in the tough Oakland "B" League. Shamrocks, on the other hand, won only one game and tied another in eight contests.

Spear-heading the Avondale split-T attack are Joe Schwerin, all-conference guard in 1952, and halfback Ron Shore, an outstanding performer as a freshman last year.

Three other regulars from the 1952 squad join Schwerin and Shore on Coach Frank Crowell's starting lineup. They are end Toby Aldrich, tackle Al Hill and fullback Marv Evans, a 175-pound converted tackle.

St. Michael squad will make its opening appearance in new silver uniforms. Coach Bob Mineweaser plans to start ends Joe Wilhelm and Dick Adams, tackles Al Wilhelm and Larry Maison, guards Dick Fleming and Mike Campbell and center Bob Schmidt. In the backfield will be Russ Shindorf at quarter, Mike Lauringer and Mike Clever or Bud Schwartz at halfbacks and Wayne Magnan at fullback.

More 20-Game Winners Likely for 1953 Season

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—There didn't figure to be many 20-game winners in this year of record-breaking home runs. But the major league total is almost certain to exceed that of 1952.

Four big league pitchers already have reached the 20-wins mark and the prospects are for at least four more to get into the charmed circle.

Last year, six made the grade—Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees, Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia A's and Cleveland's big three of Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia.

With Roberts (22-14), Lemon (20-14), Warren Spahn of Milwaukee (20-7) and Washington's Bob Porterfield (20-10) in the fold this year, other potentials line up as follows: Mel Parnell of the Boston Red Sox (19-8); Virgil Trucks of the Chicago White Sox (19-10); Brooklyn's Carl Erskine (19-6) and Harvey Haddix of the St. Louis Cardinals (18-8).

Those with an outside chance of gaining 20 victories are: Billy Pierce of the White Sox (17-10); Mickey McDermott of the Red Sox (17-9); Whitey Ford of the Yankees (17-5); Gerry Staley of the St. Louis Cardinals (17-8); Wynn (17-12) and Garcia (17-9).

Branoff Shows Kicking Talent in 'M' Practices

Flint Soph Is Likely to Do Footwork for Wolverine Eleven

ANN ARBOR (AP)—There's no lack of kickers in the Michigan football camp. But even if Coach Bennie Oosterbaan were limited to one man he'd be in pretty good shape for a player to handle kickoffs, punts, conversion tries and field goal attempts.

Halfback Tony Branoff has impressed the Wolverine staff with his proficiency at all these chores. And when the whistle blows on the fall campaign, it's likely the rugged Flint sophomore will be doing a lion's share of the footwork.

However, Branoff isn't the only candidate for the kicking job. Halfback Ted Kress and quarterback Louis Baldacci are both high among the candidates.

Kress averaged 29.6 yards last year on eight tries but is rated improved this year.

Branoff did no punting last year. And Baldacci has only high school experience under his belt despite the fact his practice work has been impressive.

Also challenging Branoff in the place-kicking and kickoff phases of the game are guard Don Dugger and end Bob Topp.

Both have drilled hard on the job and are making serious bids. Topp did much of the varsity kickoff work in the last big scrimmage and was regarded as good at the job.

Kicking received considerable individual attention during Wednesday's practice, that was climaxed by a long scrimmage.

Topp, for the second day in a row, entertained the coaches and spectators with a fine exhibition of pass catching.

Apparently finished were the two-a-day practices that prevailed since drills opened Sept. 2. There was only an afternoon session Wednesday to permit the players to register for classes, which begin Monday.

Gundry Wins County Barber Golf Tourney

Birmingham Vet Takes Title With 81; Ex-GI Finishes Second

Jack Gundry of Birmingham dethroned Everett Arthurs of Pontiac Wednesday in the Oakland County Barbers golf tournament at Forest Lake Golf Club.

Gundry, at 53 the oldest player in the tournament, outshot his younger rivals with an 81. George Dimitroff, a Hazel Parker recently returned from Korean service, was runnerup with 83.

Defending champion Arthurs slipped to fourth place back of Frank Holman. The other former champ in the field, Perc Secord of Pontiac, dropped out of the low 10 scorers.

Dimitroff won the driving contest, Howard McKinney of Pontiac, the pitching trophy, and Jack Devereaux of Royal Oak, the putting award.

George Nault of Birmingham was named chairman for next year at a dinner which followed the tourney. Awards also were made at this time.

Ray Palmer in 5th Round of U. S. Test

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Raymond Palmer of Grosse Ile, Mich., was one of the 16 who battled their way into the fifth round of the National Amateur Golf Championships here yesterday.

Palmer whipped Stanley E. Bishop, Weston, Mass., 4 and 3, in the fourth round, after having eliminated Donald M. Justice, Oklahoma City, 3 and 1 in the third.

Glen H. Johnson, Palmer's golfing pal from Grosse Ile, lost in the third round to Robert W. Kuntz, Larchmont, N. Y., 3 and 2.

Jack Kistler, fullback for Duke University, carried the ball from scrimmage 72 times in 1952 and didn't lose a yard. He gained 390.

Calling Charlie Burgess

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—A call for golfer Charlie Burgess can get plenty of response at the Woodland Golf Club here.

There are four members by that name—representing four generations. Often they are at the club at the same time. And all are pretty fair golfers.

Trautman Believes Minors Will Solve Difficulties

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Before minor league baseball gets into another season, some solutions will have been reached on realignment of teams and leagues and the part television and radio are to play in the game.

That's the promise of George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues.

"We are diligently, and I hope intelligently, trying to solve the problems facing us," Trautman said.

Trautman admits the obstacles in the path of bringing minor league baseball back to the high point it achieved in 1949 are many and varied. But he is quick to add: "We're not hysterical."

Most of the work on the problems is being done by minor league club officials, who most strongly feel the impact of the troubles. But the major leagues — which Trautman says must give greater recognition to the ills of the smaller leagues — are doing some work with the minors.

"These troubles will be solved—they must be solved," Trautman said, "if minor league baseball is to stay alive. If baseball is liquidated, hundreds of other agencies which find baseball a good vehicle will lose out."

"Realignment is indicated," Trautman said. "But it does not come about by the wave of the magic wand. We must have an orderly procedure, and to this date we have found no one clothed with authority to say who is to play where."

High-Scoring Smiths

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — The individual scoring championship in Duke University football the past two seasons has been won by a guy named Smith. In 1951 Charlie Smith won the scoring crown with 42 points. Last year Charlie finished second to James (Red) Smith. The latter had 50 points to Charlie's 48. Red returns for the 1953 season but Charlie is now in the service.

Cath. Central Favored in GR

Wide Open Battle for Second Place Seen in Furniture City

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — It's the general opinion in Grand Rapids schoolboy centers that Catholic Central again will be the team to beat for the city league championship.

The battle for second place should be wide open, with the league's four other teams—Central, Union, South and Ottawa Hills—figuring in the chase.

Coach Ted Sowle of Catholic Central lost some fine players from last year's championship outfit, but 10 experienced boys are returning to fill every position except fullback. However, there have been several conversions.

Biggest ones were moving Jim Jacobitz feom quarterback to center and grooming southpaw halfback, Dick Erhardt, for the quarterback's job.

Vic Janowicz of the Pirates wears No. 31 on his uniform. It is the same numeral he wore during his collegiate football days at Ohio State.

Joe Sulaitis, one of the few men in pro football lacking college experience, will soon start his 10th season with the New York Giants.

Branoff's Taped Knee Belies His Actual Condition

ANN ARBOR (AP) — You'd never know it, but there's nothing wrong with the knee of Tony Branoff, Michigan's highly-regarded halfback.

The entire leg of the rugged youngster from Flint is swathed in tape and gauze to the point where the casual visitor in the Michigan football camp is startled into thinking a major injury has struck.

Actually, the taping is a preventive measure, harking back to an injury suffered by Branoff in his senior year in high school. Now in his second year in college, he still tapes the leg up before every practice session.

The things they do for football!

Two Sets of Uniforms Provided for Spartans

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State will have two separate sets of football uniforms this fall instead of just the traditional garb of white pants and green jerseys.

The change comes as a result of the Big Ten regulation requiring visiting teams to wear white jerseys.

On the road, Michigan State players will wear white jerseys with green numerals and green stripes on the sleve and solid green pants with a thin white stripe.

Tatum Changes Single-Platoon Working System

Maryland Coach Will Sub by Position, Not by Team

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Coach Jim Tatum has found out that his original theory of coping with limited football substitutions didn't pan out in practice and Maryland will try another system of "wearing 'em down" in its 1953 opener at Missouri Saturday.

On paper, Tatum had thought it would be a good idea to get together the best 11 players he had on offense and defense for his first team, another 11 who were second best in both departments, a third team which shined on offense only and then half a dozen specialists who could do either.

"The boys didn't develop that way," he reported today. "So I decided to pick the three best guys for each position and work on them as three separate teams.

"That way we can throw three teams at 'em. Of course, the second team won't be as good as the first or the third as good as the second. But they should make up for any weaknesses by being fresh.

"I believe fatigue is going to play a big part in this year's football."

The Maryland coach still is convinced there also will be more scoring. "I'll bet you that Missouri on Saturday scores more against us than it did in four previous games against my teams," he said.

Coach Tatum opposed Don Faurot (from whom he learned the split-T while under him in the Navy) once at Oklahoma and three times since coming to Maryland. Tatum has won all four and Missouri scored in only two games.

Williams Lake Harness Racing Driver Injured

Elmer "Dutch" Going, 64, veteran harness racing driver from Williams Lake, was hospitalized Wednesday night following an accident that marred the opening race of the Wolverine Raceway card.

Going was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with a broken right leg after piling into a broken sulky on the second lap. Sulky, driven by Dan Fisher of Mendon, O., had collapsed on the 1st turn, pitching Fisher to the track. Fisher was treated for a slight concussion at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital.

Both horses escaped serious injury.

Blues Have Blues at Ticket Office

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP) — The Superior Blues, who have drawn only 30,000 this year, will remain in the Northern Baseball League next season only if major league affiliation is arranged. That's the word of General Manager Billie Berg. Superior is unaffiliated.

In 1952, when the Blues won the league all-star game, the pennant and the playoffs, they drew 75,000 fans.

Berg said if the franchise is sold for about the $15,000 the club has lost this season, the money will be banked with an eye toward getting back into the Class C circuit — if a major league connection can be arranged.

Scribe Feels Major Leagues Are Missing Boat on Franchise Shifts to Los Angeles, San Francisco

NEW YORK—To show you how stupid all of these suggestions for big-league expansions and big-league changes really are, consider only this one angle—both Los Angeles and San Francisco are still in the minors.

* * *

They are big-league cities and should have been in the big leagues years ago. There are now 16 major-league clubs and these two cities are as good as any two leaders and better than at least twelve major-league spots.

* * *

Milwaukee has shown the need of new blood. Milwaukee is a fine, hustling city, keen for adventure. Her citizens have city loyalty. They love sport.

* * *

But Milwaukee has nearly 700,000 people. Los Angeles has more than 2,000,000, with a like number packed in the same neighborhood.

San Francisco hasn't this many people, but it has well over a million in her neighborhood, all sports-minded.

Los Angeles and San Francisco are two of the most sports-minded cities in the world. Look at their football attendance figures from 80,000 to 100,000, in spite of television. Race-track attendances range from 40,000 to as high as 60,000, and even 85,000—figures New York and Chicago can't touch.

* * *

We have unfortunately forgotten who once said—"Westward the star of empire takes its way." Westward, the sporting star of empire, is taking its way in a hurry. The time is coming when those controlling the destinies of big-league baseball are going to wonder how they were so stupid.

* * *

Milwaukee may break all National League records. This is happening in Milwaukee, with attendance figures unknown and even undreamed of in many big-league cities. No one connected with baseball even sensed this happening.

Now we have Los Angeles and San Francisco on the outside looking in, capable of crowds even larger than Milwaukee, which will continue to surpass most of the weary and tired National League cities.

Biggie Non-Committal

Munn Cuts MSC Drills to One-a-Day; Another Scrimmage Slated Saturday

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's football squad cut back to one-a-day workouts today as the date of the opening game with Iowa crept closer.

Just a week from today, a 38-man traveling squad will board a chartered plane for the flight to Iowa City in preparation for Michigan State's first official Big Ten game Sept. 26.

Coach Biggie Munn announced plans for the ease-up after a two-hour long scrimmage session in Macklin Stadium.

Munn said the squad will stage another game-length scrimmage Saturday. "We may have a short session on Tuesday, but it'll be a light one if we go into contact work," he said.

Munn was cautiously non-committal about what he thought of the mid-week scrimmage. "They don't look too good and they didn't look too bad," he said.

Michigan State's number one eleven alternated against two sets of junior varsity and sophomore players armed with Iowa plays.

Two top teams moved well although they were set back three times by pass interceptions. Two of the interceptions were by Ray Eggleston of Jackson.

Tommy Yewcic was at quarterback for the number one outfit with Flint's Leroy Bolden and Bert Zagers of Cadillac at the halfs and sophomore Gerry Planutis at fullback.

Earl Morral of Muskegon ran the second team. Jimmy Ellis of Saginaw and Gene Lekenta of Grand Rapids were his halfbacks and Evan Slonac was at fullback.

Ex-Champions Fall in U.S. Amateur

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The common people took over the National Amateur, Golf Championship today at the plush Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club.

* * *

The former champions—with one exception — the Walker Cup stars and the affluent ones joined the galleries as the field was reduced to 16 players for the second "double death" round that will bring the tournament down to the semi-final stage tonight.

Those still competing included:

Three college boys.

A steel plant worker.

A covey of salesmen.

* * *

And an unemployed politician who doesn't have to worry about the shortage of votes.

The bracket of 16 wasn't entirely devoid of name players— or golfers financially able to hold up their end in the country club set. But it definitely was a tournament for the working men at this stage.

* * *

Among the survivors were 1950 champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y.; three other members of the 1953 U. S. Walker Cup Team; John L. Morgan, the most successful of the British Walker Cuppers; and the Western Open Champion, Dale Morey of Indianapolis.

* * *

In addition to Urzetta are Walker Cuppers Bill Campbell, the former West Virginia legislator; Gene Littler, San Diego, Calif., Navy Station, and Jim Jackson of St. Louis.

These four survived the third day of the tournament which saw defending champion Jack Westland, ex-champions Charley Coe, Ted Bishop and former British amateur champion Harvie Ward, knocked out of the running.

The duel between Coe and Ward was the big event yesterday. When the winner, Ward, lost out to Bobby Kuntz from Larchmont, N. Y., the last of the glamor boys disappeared.

All 4 Arrowhead League ll's Have Chance at Title

BAY CITY (AP)—There are only four teams in the Class A Arrowhead Football League, Alpena, Bay City Handy, Midland and Traverse City—but each one has a chance for the title.

Each school has a new coach and each coach has installed a new system. That makes it an uncertain, wide-open race.

Traverse City is the league's newest member. Coach Irv Menzell saw 137 boys turn out for practice opening day—but only one of them was a first string letterman.

Chuck Gilbert, new boss at Bay City Handy, will use both the "T" formation with an unbalanced line and the single wing.

Midland coach Bob Stoppert will have a seasoned squad ready for the season's opener this Friday. Midland had 17 juniors and two sophs on last year's squad and most of those players are back again this season. It's a good-sized club which could go a long way. (Tomorrow—Saginaw Valley)

Cup Prospects Still in Meet

American and Aussie Star Netters Survive Round of 16

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Annual Pacific Southwest tennis tournament swings into the first stages of the quarter finals in men's singles today and the American and Australian Davis Cup prospects are still very much in the picture.

Center court matches today feature stocky Lewis Hoad, one of the 18 year old Australian sensations, playing against southpaw Art Larsen of California, former United States champion who long has wanted a berth on the American Cup team.

Other quarter final match pits Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, the 1953 Wimbledon champion, against America's not so old Davis Cup warrior, Ted Schroeder of nearby La Canada.

Tomorrow Ken Rosewall, the other 18-year-old Aussie, goes against Bob Perry of UCLA. National champion Tony Trabert plays Hugh Stewart of South Pasadena, Calif.

All survived yesterday's round of 16 and only Rosewall, the No. 1 lad from down under, received a scare.

Cal, Texas in 'Legal Battle' Over Football

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California-Baylor football game Saturday at Berkeley brought this unusual request from Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard to California Atty. Gen. Edmond G. Brown:

"Our splendid record for legal cooperation on tidelands cases will be forgotten Saturday p.m. on the gridiron. Therefore, we must request a 3-hour easement of the 10 yards just behind your goal line. Our Texas boys will use the area so constantly you may as well give us the title to it."

Brown telegraphed back:

"The only way you will get behind the goal line is by another seizure of land without constitutional authority or precedent."

Johnny Lattner's Roomie Had Better Yard Average

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP)—Johnny Lattner, All-America halfback at Notre Dame, had a five yard per carry average last year. His roommate, Bob Rigali, however, had a better average.

Lattner made 734 yards in 148 carries. Rigali had a 14-yard average. He carried once against Iowa for 14 yards.

Flanagan Hands Boxing Lesson to Young Moody

St. Paul Veteran KO's Chicago Youngster in TV Bout

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Del Flanagan gave a sensational rookie a brutal ring lesson last night, but the St. Paul cutie still is a long way from a shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown.

Flanagan went roaring into seventh round action to knock out a touted Chicago kid, Alan Moody, a protege of veteran manager Sam Pian who had won 26 of 27 pro starts.

International Boxing Club today talked about a late October date at Detroit for Flanagan against Chuck Davey or Billy Graham, both of whom have seen better boxing days.

But Davey wants a return shot against unheralded Al Andrews who whipped TV's former darling soundly at Saginaw, Mich., Monday night.

Moody, a game 20-year-old former Golden Glover tried to keep pace with Flanagan before a paid crowd of 1,453 at last night's nationally televised Chicago stadium bout.

He succeeded for six rounds, holding the vote of two of the three officials. But in the sixth Moody opened a cut over the dancing Flanagan's right eye.

Flanagan danced no more. He came out swining in the seventh round. A right to the head glazed Moody's eye. Then a vicious left-right combination to the jaw felled the Chicago Negro for a mandatory eight count. After Moody got up Flanagen then quickly forced him to the ropes and sledge-hammered him into a soggy, slumping sack in 2:39 of the round.

Grid Reports From Midwest

CHICAGO (AP) — Briefs from the Midwest football training camps:

OHIO STATE—Bob Joslin, one of the Buckeyes' dependable kickers still has been unable to take part in drills due to an injury, but coach Woody Hayes says he has three exceptional punting candidates in John Borton, Paul Ludwig and Bob Watkins.

MINNESOTA — Halfback Bob McNamara still is hampered by an injured knee and pulled leg muscele.

NORTHWESTERN — Co-capt. Dick Thomas sparkled in punting and passing in a long workout.

ILLINOIS — Coach Ray Eliot, fearful of more injuries, dropped further scrimmage sessions until Saturday's regulation intrasquad game.

IOWA — Iowa's punters and kickers came under the watchful eyes of coach Forest Evashevski, Binkey Broeder handled most of the punting and sophomores Roger Wiegmann and Jim Freeman worked on the place kicking.

WISCONSIN— Wisconsin varsity passed against Penn State defensive patterns as the Badgers prepared for their grid opener in Madison Sept. 26.

INDIANA—Coach Bernie Crimmins transferred back George Crowe to fullback because of the injury to Les Kun. George Bell, of Gary, Ind., who has returned to the squad after army service will take over Crowe's halfback spot.

PURDUE — Coach Stu Holcomb split the squad into two units in preparation for Saturday's intrasquad game.

NOTRE DAME — Johnny Lattner, senior right halfback, still is out of action. He injured his heel Sept. 5.

Tech, Northern Grid Prospects Are Bright

The state's two "cold country" football teams—Michigan Tech and Northern Michigan—could be hot numbers on the field this fall.

Both had fine records last season and, with a break or two, they should do as well this year. Michigan Tech had a 6-1 record while Northern Michigan was 5-1.

At Tech, Coach Alan Bovard has a few problems but he has some 25 lettermen returning to help solve them.

Meanwhile, at Northern Michigan, coach Red Money doesn't know too much about his team. They started practicing only Wednesday.

Forty-seven players, including 15 lettermen, turned out the opening practice—the largest number in Money's seven years at Northern Michigan.

Coaches Pro Veterans

DETROIT (AP) — All five members of the Detroit Lions' coaching staff are veterans of National Football League play. Head Coach Buddy Parker played with the Lions and the Chicago Cards. George Wilson and Aldo Forte played for the Chicago Bears. Buster Ramsey starred with the Chicago Cardinals. Russ Thomas was a tackle for the Lions.

Browns' Strikeout Ace Loses to NY, 3-2

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

One of the brightest prospects who will leave St. Louis with the Browns at the end of this season is young Bob Turley, a strikeout artist fresh out of the army.

A big, husky 22-year-old right-hander, Turley turned up unheralded in mid-August and went to work immediately. In a month he's appeared in eight games. His 2-4 won and lost record is nothing to shout about, but some of his other figures are quite impressive.

In 47 innings he has struck out 48 men. He has pitched complete games in his last three starts, two of which ran 12 innings. In these three contests he allowed ony 15 hits while striking out 30.

* * *

Pitching for a last place club is one of the toughest jobs in baseball. Turley, for example, has lost all four of his games by one run.

He lost one of these last night to the champion New York Yankees 3-2. He gave up only four hits, all singles, but the Yanks combined three of these with two walks to get all of their runs in the sixth inning. Turley struck out eight and walked eight.

Although he got beat, his Browns broke even with the Yankees in their after dark twin bill. They won the first game 5-3 against an assortment of second stringers. Ed Lopat, one of the few regulars who started, suffered his fourth loss and was forced from the game in the fourth inning when he was struck on the right foot by a line drive.

* * *

In other action yesterday Cleveland beat Philadelphia 7-2, Washington defeated Chicago 4-2 and Detroit thumped Boston 8-3 in the American League; St. Louis edged Brooklyn 5-4, Milwaukee whipped Pittsburgh 7-3, New York shaded Cincinnati 4-3 and Chicago defeated Philadelphia 7-4 in the National.

* * *

Bobby Feller scattered eight hits in winning his ninth game for the second place Indians at Philadelphia. Eddie Yost celebrated his "night" in Washington with a single and a double as the Senators beat Virgil Trucks who was trying to win his 20th game. Yost hasn't missed a Washington game since July 5, 1949.

* * *

Battle Creek Is ABC Favorite

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Undefeated Battle Creek was a strong favorite today to take the eastern amateur playoffs of the American Baseball Congress. Only Kalamazoo, Mich., and San Germah, Cuba, remained in the double-elimination tournament. Both are once-beaten and one must fall by the wayside in their game tonight.

The Kalamazoo-San German winner will take on Battle Creek, which must lose twice in a row to be knocked out.

Battle Creek eliminated Jellico, Tenn., 4-0, last night, after Kalamazoo had sent Ashland, Ky., home, 15-2.

Winner here will meet the winner of the western playoffs at Watertown, S. D., in the ABC's "Amateur World Series" in Battle Creek next week.

Jones Family Enjoys Net Title Monopoly

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — When it comes to the city tennis title, the Joneses have it. More specifically, two fellows named Rives Jones — Jr. and Sr. And they've had it for eight consecutive years.

Rives Jones Sr. has been champion or runner-up in each of those years. He won the title in 1952 but lost in the finals this year to his son in straight sets.

UP's Top Game Slated Oct. 9

Menominee - Ironwood Clash Features Grid Year Above Straits

MARQUETTE (AP)—There is little doubt that the "game of the year" for the 1953 Upper Peninsula high school football season will be played Oct. 9 when Menominee meets Ironwood.

The following week, a game between Menominee and Sault Ste. Marie will be almost as important. The UP season, only three weeks old, already has produced those three border town teams as outstanding among Class B schools.

Ontonagon, with victories over Marquette Graveraet, Lake Linden and Wakefield, looks like the class among smaller schools.

Menominee ran over Kingsford, 57-7, last weekendd for its 17th game without a defeat. The UP champions are idle until they meet Escanaba, Sept. 26.

Coming up this weekend will be a Michigan-Wisconsin test for Ironwood, which plays Park Falls, Wis., Friday while Sault Ste. Marie entertains once-feared Newberry, a Great Lakes conference opponent.

Ex-Spartan Is Winner

CHICAGO (AP) — Jed Black, 147, former Michigan State star now fighting out of Janesville, Wis., stopped George James, 149, Chicago, in the first round of their scheduled four-rounder here last night.

Black and James met in a preliminary to the Dell Flanagan-Alan Moody welterweight fight.

Tech Had 3 Coaches

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Tech has had only three regular head coaches in the school's football history. John W. Heisman led the Yellow Jackets from 1904 through 1919. William A. Alexander piloted the squad from 1920 through 1944. Robert L. Dodd, present coach, has been at the helm since 1945.

British Stock Car Tops 110 Speed Records

Jackie Cooper Among Driving 'Team' Over 30-Hour Period

WENDOVER, Utah (AP)—A fleet British-built stock car flashed across the Utah Salt Flats yesterday and wrote 110 new American and international speed marks into the record books as the international speed trials wound up nine record-smashing days.

British designer Donald M. Healey led a group of five British and American drivers who toppled many long-standing racing car and stock car marks in a four-cylinder Austin-Healey "100".

The drivers, including film star Jackie Cooper, alternated in racing the car 3,100 miles in a 30-hour marathon. The average speed during the run was 103.94 miles per hour.

Other drivers were Capt. George Eyston, Roy Jackson-Moore and John Bennet, all British.

The American Automobile Association confirmed the 100 records set in the marathon by the Healey Special. Most of them were established in the 24-hour period for the American Class D., unlimited Class D., International Class D and the United States Class D.

Paul Waner was the only major leaguer to have banged out 3,000 or more hits during the past 25 years. He garnered 3,152 hits from 1926 through 1945.

Avondale Rated Top Threat in Oakland 'B'

By JACK SAYLOR

This could be the season that the Oakland B-Conference shakes off the shackles of its bondage to Roseville—and it might be a suburban Pontiac team that turns the trick.

While league football coaches again name Roseville as the logical favorite, all point to Avondale as the team that could end the Wildcats' three-year domination of the Oakland B.

Avondale was beaten, 18-13, in the waning moments of last fall's game and this year's showdown is slated Oct. 16 at Roseville. Fitzgerald and Troy are apt to be troublemakers in the league, while Clawson and Madison both will field young teams that are probably a year away from contention.

Coach Frank Crowell has a husky line at Auburn Heights anchored by guard Joe Schwerin. The 185-pound senior is one of the area's outstanding linemen. Tackle Al Hill and end Toby Aldrich also were regulars last year.

End Bill Strobel, tackle Don Moshier, guard Don Krupp and center Jack Greenlees round out the Yellowjackets forward wall. All but Schwerin and Strobel are only juniors.

Backfield is built around Ron Shore, a 5-11, 185-pounder who blossomed into a running star in his freshman year. Marv Evans has switched from tackle to fullback and Dick Kramp is at quarterback, while right half is a toss-up between John Engstrom and Bob Kuhfeldt.

Roseville's hopes for keeping its fabulous winning streak intact ride with Class B all-state end Bob Wagner. He and Jim Berger, 6-3, at the other wing give junior quarterback Jack Ranstadler two fine passing targets. Foremost linemen are guards Hartley Vezina and Evan Dalton.

Paul Smarks at Fitzgerald is banking on backs Tom Johnson and Jack Perona and ends Ted Cunio and Del McCrary to carry the load for the Spartans. Troy failed to win last year, but Bob Nyquists' team has real possibilities this time.

Key man in the Colt's single wing attack is big Fred Bernard, 6-3, 200-pound tailback. Norm Norton, 185, is set at fullback. Line should be stout with all-leaguer Don Pechota at guard and Stan Carpenter (230) and Joe Jasso (200) at tackles.

Top performers on Ralph Cornell's Clawson eleven are quarterback Jim Davis, tackle Ken Gibbard and guard Jack Bowerfind. Only three seniors are among the starters on Don Scott's Madison club.

Four sophmores are in the limelight including tackle Jim Myers and backs Dennis Koski, Dick Boice and Roger Archambeau.

Cook Wins 3 Races

DETROIT (AP)—Jockey L. C. Cook booted home three straight winners at the Hazel Park race meeting yesterday.

Cook began his streak aboard Our Jan in the fifth race. He won with favored Daiquari in the sixth and got home with Patio Patter in the seventh.

LOPAT OK FOR SERIES — Ed Lopat, veteran Yankee lefthander, smiles as he sits on table at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York Wednesday night to have his foot X-rayed. Technician is Louis Bartilucci. Lopat sustained a bruise on the right instep when hit by a line drive from the bat of Don Lenhardt of the Browns. There was no bone injury and doctors said Lopat's expected World Series starting assignment will not be affected.

Pilots Have Grudge

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be little personal animosity between Rocky Marciano and Roland La-Starza when they meet in the Polo Grounds ring a week from tonight.

* * *

The champion and the challenger seem to admire each other, at least in a limited sense, and neither has yet been talked into calling his rival a nogoodnik.

With their respective managers,

* * *

however, it's different. Jimmy DeAngelo, who cuts LaStarza's purses such as they have been has a deep-seated and chronic hatred for Al Weill, Marciano's one-man brain trust. Al, long the most powerful man in boxing, exhibits a cheerful contempt for DeAngelo and says that his boy is lucky to be getting a title shot at all.

* * *

This is just in case you suspect there's a press agent in the woodpile, and that the current wrangle between the two pilots about a return bout in the event LaStarza lifts Rocky's title was dreamed up. It wasn't. The only thing about it that puzzles insiders is that DeAngelo popped off before the fight instead of afterward.

What happened was that LaStarza's manager, calling at the Garden to pick up some tickets, was asked by Harry Markson of the IBC when he might be ready to give Marciano a return in the event his boy wins. DeAngelo became heated, accused the IBC's managing director of fronting for Weill, and spoke to the effect that "after we win it we'll make them sweat a while."

* * *

A couple of boxing writers walked in on the row by the purest chance, and they helped Markson convince DeAngelo that he should remember his bum ticker and simmer down. They then got in touch with Weill at Rocky's training camp, and that is why Al intends to go before the Athletic commission at Syracuse tomorrow and try to force LaStarza to post half his purse as a guarantee against giving Rocky the run-around.

Chances are that Weill will not succeed.

Browns Receive AL's OK for Franchise Shift

Baltimore Still Ranks as Probable Home for Veeck's Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Veeck has received his first okeh to transfer the St. Louis Browns to another city—probably Baltimore.

A special American League committee said yesterday it will recommend the shift of the club to a full league meeting which will be held in a few weeks.

The special committee was made up of Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox; Walter (Spike) Briggs of the Detroit Tigers, and Will Harridge, president of the American League and Arthur Friedlund, acting for the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees respectively.

No specific city was OK'd for the new site of the Browns, but Veeck, president of the club, said nothing had occurred during yesterday's conference to rule out Baltimore as his preferred site.

"We made it quite clear we wish to go there," said Veeck.

The American League last spring voted 5-2 against switching the St. Louis club to Baltimore.

MSC Losing Out on Area's Star Gridiron Talent

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State isn't getting its pick of the high school football talent in this area any more.

The most sought after, most publicized stars in high school football in the Midwest now are going to the University of Michigan, Ohio State and Purdue — to name the top three cutting into MSC territory.

1—It's all part of a cycle.

2—The probation slapped on Michigan State might have something to do with it.

3 — More aggressive recruiting by other schools.

Holds Extra Point Mark

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Bob Gantt, former Duke University gridder from Durham, holds the school record for most extra points kicked in one season. He split the uprights 41 times in 46 tries in 1943. Gantt led the team in scoring that year with 47 points.

Kuenn 'Hittingest' Rookie in Majors With 200

Harvey Is First in 10 Years to Get That Many

Kaline Also Reveals Bat Power, With 3 in 5 as Tigers Win 8-3

BOSTON (AP)—Harvey Kuenn, first rookie in 10 years to collect 200 hits in his first major league season, wasn't the only Detroit "bonus baby" accepting congratulations today.

Other was Al Kaline, who made his first start as a major leaguer in center field and came up with three hits in five trips to the plate. That was one better than Kuenn did in as many trips while the Tigers were thumping the Red Sox, 8-3.

KUENN KALINE

Kaline's hits all were singles, but one of them drove in a run. He scored once himself and fielded his one chance like a veteran.

In pinch-runner and pinch-fielder roles to which he had been limited until yesterday, Kaline had demonstrated he was one of the fastest Tigers and had a rifle-like throwing arm.

Tigers, who lured the 22-year-old Kuenn from the University of Wisconsin campus with a $55,000 bonus, hope they got an even better bargain in the 18-year-old Kaline, who cost them $30,000.

Detroit also plans to give its other "bonus baby," Bob Miller, a $40,000 investment, a fling as a starter in the final game of the season against St. Louis in Detroit Tuesday. He has looked both good and bad in his few relief roles since he was signed in midseason.

While no doubt the front office hoped Kaline would turn out as good an investment as Kuenn, one could find plenty of fans ready to term those hopes "so much wishful thinking."

Kuenn, they emphasized, is not only the only Tiger first-year rookie to get 200 hits in a season in the last 10 years but the only one in the major leagues.

Only six freshmen in the last 20 years have done as well. Incidentally, the last man in either league to hit 200 his first year was Dick Wakefield, the one-time Tiger problem child who got an even 200 in 1943.

Umpire Jim Honochick called for the ball after Kuenn got his second hit yesterday and presented it to the youngster.

While Kuenn and Kaline accounted for five hits between them, their Detroit teammates whammed out 13 others off four Boston pitchers. Steve Souchock got four, one of them his ninth homer.

Every Tiger except pitcher Ted Gray, who won his 10th game against 14 losses, got a hit.

Ned Garver (11-10) is scheduled to pitch for Detroit today. Boston will use Sid Hudson (5-9).

Trout Warns Williams Will Be 'Walk' Target

BOSTON (AP)—Dizzy Trout, now a Detroit baseball broadcaster, warns Boston Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau thusly:

"Get some righthanded batting power next season or Ted Williams will total 200 bases on balls."

Williams nodded agreement when he heard about it:

"When I hit .400, I had a big guy named Jimmy Foxx hitting behind me. It made a big difference," Williams pointed out.

Nebraska's Bordogna Seen as Difference in TV Tilt

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Already it is evident that picking football winners is as difficult under one-platoon football as under the two-platoon system. The only difference is that the spectators will be assured of seeing players—not specialists.

Here are the season's first winners:

* * *

Nebraska over Oregon: Saturday's TV masterpiece. Nebraska has forsaken the T for the single wing and Oregon has 17 returning veterans but the Huskers' Johnny Bordogna should be the difference.

California over Baylor: A close one but it is being played in California.

* * *

Southern California over Washington State.

Kentucky over Texas A & M.

Georgia Tech over Davidson: Tech has gone through 26 games without losing and the engineers should make it 27 here.

Maryland over Missouri: Coach Jim Tatum admits, publicly, he has a good team.

Villanova over Georgia. Texas Christian over Kansas.

Wake Forest over William & Mary.

Alabama over Mississippi Southern: A Friday night tilt.

UCLA over Oregon State: It also will be played Friday night.

Gilmore Says Russia Cinch in Olympics

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A veteran newsman who has lived in Moscow most of the past 12 years said today Russia is a cinch to win the 1956 Olympic Games.

"I don't think we have a chance," said Eddy Gilmore, who returned home recently after a long stay as head of the Moscow bureau of the Associated Press. "The Russians began preparing for the 1956 games just as soon as they left Helsinki last year."

"They are bringing in boys and enrolling them in the physical education institute," he explained. "By the time 1956 arrives, they will be professionals. Each will claim to be a mechanic or something like that in civilian life but he'll be a professional."

Missouri Official Vetoes Bill Providing Bounties

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Foxhunters and foxes got a break when Missouri's Gov. Phil M. Donnelly vetoed a bounty bill.

Donnelly noticed the bounty bill would have covered only the gray fox, an inhabitant of wooded areas and not much of a predator. The red fox, sly quarry of the hunters' hounds, is the one that lives in the farming areas and grabs off a lot of poultry.

The governor said it looked like discrimination to him. So he settled it by vetoing the measure.

Lamour Testifies for Her Friend Kay

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Dorothy Lamour testified her friend Kay Williams looked like she had been clawed the morning after Miss Williams' ex-husband is accused of beating her.

Miss Lamour appeared yesterday at preliminary hearing for sugar heir Adolph Spreckels who is charged with felonious assault.

The actress said she saw Miss Williams the morning of last Aug. 20 and testified:

"I saw a scar on the left side of her face about three to four inches long, bleeding very badly. I mean really very deep scratches. Blood was coming from her head profusely."

All-Star Cast Spoofs Feuds About Billing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The trouble with all-star casts is billing.

You know what billing is. That's the position of an actor's name on the marquee or in the ads. According to legend, actors are supposed to throw fits if their names are not in large enough letters or if they are not listed at the top of the cast.

It's an important legal matter in the movies. James Cagney once broke his contract with Warners because of the way he was billed at one of the Warner theaters.

Now a bunch of actors is breaking the tradition about billing. They are the gay group making "Executive Suite" at MGM, including Barbara Stanwyck, Fredric March, Walter Pidgeon, June Allyson, William Holden, Nina Foch, Shelley Winters, Paul Douglas, Dean Jagger and Louis Calhern.

Recently MGM boss Dore Schary came warily on the set to inquire about how the actors would like to be billed. To his great surprise, he found no contention.

"Holden and Allyson were the first ones cast in the picture." Miss Stanwyck reasoned. "Give them the top billing."

Of course, that didn't stop the actors from kidding among themselves. Said March: "If the billing is alphabetical, I'm going back to my real name, which is Bickel."

"Well, I'm stuck, because my legal name is Barbara Stanwyck," added the actress.

"I've got you all beat," remarked the cagey Calhern. "I have an agreement with both Mr. Schary and Nick Schenck (MGM top man). You will all be listed, and then come the words 'however—Louis Calhern'."

Over the weekend he fashioned for Miss Stanwyck a painted tile, which is his hobby. Here is the exact spelling:

"June Elison, Nina Fach, Deen Jigger, Walt Piddin, Shirley Winner, Peri Duglas, Wm. Heldon, Fred Murch, Bobbie Stynack, However Calhern in 'Executive Suite.' Additional dialogue by Mr. Calhern."

Miss Stanwyck had some words to say about billing. She says she never worries about it.

OUT OF HER SHELL — Screen actress Wanda Hendrix says she is ready to come out of her emotional shell and go in for some "sexy" roles. Heretofore known for "sweet" portrayals, Miss Hendrix is shown here in a bathing suit she wears for her part in new film "House In the Sea."

"What's the difference?" she remarked. "The only time you might get hurt is if some studio bills some newcomer in great big type above those who may have worked hard in this business for a long time. But that doesn't happen very often.

"The only control you have is over the printed ads. You can't control what names the theater man will put on the marquee. He's going to put up those who will draw in business. Or he might play up some home town favorite. Or even his wife's favorite.

"I learned my lesson about billing a good many years ago."

Second day: "Barbara Stanwyck and Ben Lyon in 'Night Nurse' with Clark Gable."

Third day: "Barbara Stanwyck, Ben Lyon, Clark Gable in 'Night Nurse'."

Fourth day: "Barbara Stanwyck, Clark Gable in 'Night Nurse'."

Fifth day: "Clark Gable in 'Night Nurse'."

Those five days marked the start of Gable's reign as the king of Hollywood.

Postal Workers Strike

PARIS (AP)—French postal workers struck sporadically in Paris and Lyons yesterday to show resentment over government plans to investigate workers who defied back-to-work orders during the big august strikes.

First Six Days Critical Period in Infant's Life

LANSING (UP) — The first six day are the most critical period in a baby's life, the State Health Department said today.

If a baby survives the first week, chances are he will reach adulthood.

The department said only one out of 38 babies born alive in the state today will die before reaching its first birthday but 30 years ago, one out of 13 died in infancy.

Last year, 4,689 of the 177,835 babies born in Michigan died before reaching their first birthday and of these, 3,042 died during the first six days.

More than half of the infant deaths were caused by one of three things — immaturity, deformities at birth and imperfect lung structure.

428 More PWs Arrive by Ship at West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The seventh shipload of returning prisoners of war arrived yesterday as the transport Gen. William M. Black docked with 428 former captives of the Communists in Korea.

Few of the men tarried long in San Francisco. The Army processed them in near-record time—an average of one every 30 seconds—and released them to go home.

Of the 3,597 Americans freed at Panmunjom, nearly 2,800 have been sent home by plane or ship.

Two more transports are due, one Sunday and one Tuesday.

Soldier's Widow Enlists to Serve in Germany

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. Eulah Maynard Luster, 21-year-old widow of Pvt. Richard Luster, enlisted in the Women's Army Corps yesterday and made a request to become an MP stationed in Germany.

Pvt. Luster, an MP, was killed in a jeep crash in Germany Aug. 2 after having served there 22 months.

He and his wife were married 13 days before he went overseas.

Mrs. Luster left last night for basic training at Fort Lee, Va.

Sen. Russell Cites Need for Air Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said today the United States has more atom bombs than it has planes and pilots to deliver them against any aggressor that might attack this country.

Russell, top Democratic senator on the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee, make the remark in expressing concern about Eisenhower administration cuts in Air Force funds.

How many A-bombs this country has stockpiled is a carefully guarded secret.

* * *

The Georgian, interviewed about the impact on U. S. defense requirements of Russia's announcement she has developed the H-bomb, said the best deterrent to aggression is the ability to strike back. He said he felt, therefore, that the retaliatory power of long-range strategic bombers must be the cornerstone of America's defense.

* * *

Despite any defense network that may be thrown around this country—with radar warning systems, fighter-interceptor planes and guided missiles — some enemy bombers are bound to break through in a determined attack, Russell said.

President Will End Vacation Saturday

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower gets in the last trout fishing of his Colorado vacation today.

He arranged to spend the day at the South Platte River ranch of a friend, Bal F. Swan. The place is about 50 miles southwest of Denver, near Pine. Colo.

The President will end six weeks of vacationing mixed with business Saturday morning and fly back to Washington. He will be off again Monday morning, however, for two speeches in Massachusetts—one at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, the other at a Republican rally in Boston.

The speech at a GOP rally Boston Garden Monday night will be a major address.

Police Could Get Stung With Honey of a Story

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Three Worcester police cruisers yesterday surrounded an automobile containing two hooded men and a mysterious box. The car stopped. The men protested. The police persisted.

"What's in the box?"

"Bees."

"A likely story."

"Look and see."

As the police drew nearer, the box buzzed ominously and several angry honey-makers emerged. The oficers withdrew.

Wallace R. Parker of West Boylston and Harold E. Swasey of Leicaster—beekepers garbed in the mask of their trade—drove on.

Grains Fall Off After High Start

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains opened steady and then sold off in active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

The rally yesterday apparently inspired a fairly good accumulation of overnight buying orders. That helped cereals at the start.

But recurrence of rumors of a price reduction in Canadian export wheat, plus new large shipments of Canadian oats and rye were on their way here, halted the rally.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ to one cent lower, September $1.88¾; corn was ⅛-½ lower, September $1.57, and oats were ⅞-1⅜ lower, September 71¾. Soybeans were unchanged to one cent lower, September $2.53¾, and lard was 15 cents to $1.40 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $18.15.

Stocks Advance for Third Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced today for the third straight time from the low of the year touched Monday.

The move was not vigorous nor did it go very far, but all elements of the market joined in the advance.

Railroads, steels and motors were among the more active groups. Activity, however, was moderate at best. Gaining along with those groups were the rubbers, radio-televisions and a few oils, coppers, and aircrafts.

Consumers Power and Michigan Consolidated to Up Gas Service

LANSING (AP)—The State Public Service Commission today liberalized restrictions on gas service to industrial and commercial customers of the Consumers Power Co. and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

The commission authorized both utility companies to add industrial and commercial customers using 500,000 cubic feet of gas or less per month.

In addition, it granted Consumers Power permission to add 13 customers who had been promised service before the restrictions were imposed Aug. 11 and 41 others also under previous commitments who have need for more than 500,000 cubic feet per month.

Some of these, the commission said, will not need the gas until 1955, but must have firm assurance of it to carry out expansion or construction plans.

The commission, in addition to the blanket order, allowed Michigan Consolidated to add two industrial customers promised service before Aug. 11 and two others who will need more than the 500,000 cubic feet per month limit.

Tells State Grocers About Syrup Racket

LANSING (AP)—Michigan grocers were warned today against buying maple syrup from unfamiliar salesmen.

Miles A. Nelson, chief of the enforcement division of the state Department of Agriculture, said "apparently the maple syrup racket is being worked again."

He said laboratory analysis of a shipment of maple syrup purchased wholesale by a Palmyra merchant from a strange traveling salesman proved to be "nothing but sweetened water." Nelson said the merchant called in state food inspectors after he became suspicious of the shipment.

"I think this stuff was sold by an old friend of ours for whom we already have two warrants out," Nelson said. "But grocers ought to have learned by this time not to buy maple syrup from people they don't know."

Soviets Now Will Trade—Oil for Consumer Goods

LONDON (INS)—Twice in recent weeks Russia has offered oil and oil-drilling equipment for export, indicating a basic change in Soviet economic policy.

The first such offer was reportedly made to Japan and the second to Argentina. The oil for Japan was to come from the island of Sakhalin and was to be exchanged for Japanese fishing boats. The offer to Argentina was made in the course of the current negotiations for the first commercial pact ever signed between the two countries.

In addition to the oil and oil-drilling equipment, the USSR is said to have offered Argentia steel products and agricultural machinery. Argentina in return would furnish meats, hides, wool, cheese and other raw materials.

The fact that oil has appeared on the list of products offered by the Russians for export has aroused considerable interest in London. It is believed to signify both a major degree of progress in Soviet oil production and an important foreign-trade policy reversal.

Russia had not been willing or able to export oil since the end of World War II. All of the foreign companies which formerly had imported Soviet oil had been liquidated.

Even without the destruction caused by the German armies in the Baku oil fields, Russia is know to have had a serious oil problem throughout the post-war period. Her requirements of oil have increased constantly as a result of her increased industrial production which has nearly doubled since 1940. According to expert Western estimates her oil production has risen by only about one-third.

One of the principal reasons for the slower increase in Soviet oil production as compared to her industrial production is believed by western economists to be her lack of certain types of equipment, particularly oil-drilling equipment.

The latest world oil production report by the Royal Dutch Oil Company indicates that the crude oil production of the USSR and her east - European satellites amounted in 1951 to approximately 48 million tons. This represents less than 8 per cent of world production for about 45 per cent of the world's population.

Since Communist China is poor in oil resources—and since oil is included on the list of strategic products whose export to China is banned — the 450 million Chinese people are properly included in this percentage.

It is therefore extremely surprising that Russia should suddenly be capable of offering oil to Japan and Argentina.

One of the probable explanations is that this gesture fits into what is viewed in London as a new Soviet economic policy. The advent of the Malenkov government is believed to have marked the inauguration of this new trend.

The policy consists in giving consumers' goods a larger place in the Soviet economy than had previously been done. In the case of Japan as well as Argentina the oil was to serve as a means of exchange for increasing Soviet supplies of meat, fish, cheese, shoes and clothing.

The theory that Soviet oil production has suddenly risen to the point where Russia disposes of real surpluses has been considered and completely discarded by the London economists. Similarly discarded is the possibility that Russia can secure oil from Persia for re-export. This would contradict the current Anglo-Soviet "flirtation."

In any case, British oil interests are watching the situation very closely.

Veteran Telegrapher Retires From AP Job

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Harry D. Kelly officially left his job with the Associated Press here today after a 40-year stint that began in the days when news was sent exclusively by telegraph key.

Friends and well-wishers from Lansing, Kalamazoo and Detroit joined with Kelly's associates on the Ann Arbor News in a farewell dinner last night in honor of the popular little man.

Kelly, 65, broke into the nespaper business as a messenger boy and worked as a telegrapher for commercial telegraph companies when he learned the trade.

He joined the Associated Press at the age of 25 and filled a variety of jobs in his long career.

McKay Eyes Jan. 1 for Reorganization

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior McKay expressed hope today the reorganization of his department would be "really rolling" by Jan 1, but said preliminary studies were not being rushed.

"The date is not as important as getting a good report from each survey team," he said in an interview.

The reorganization began in May with elimination of five staff divisions of the secretary's immediate office and establishment of a technical review staff. Teams includ' ing department officials, educators and businessmen were assigned to make management studies of every major bureau and office.

Officials directing the reorganization activities said the survey teams are being told the studies aim at efficiency and economics but that they are not being told that reduction in personnel is a prime objective.

Rubber Workers Up Officer Pay

Delegates Boost Salary of President to $12,000 From $10,000

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Officers of the CIO-United Rubber Workers Union have been granted salary increases by the rank and file members of the 200,000 member organization.

The 600 delegates to the 16th international yearly convention voted Wednesday to boost the president's salary from $10,000 to $12,000 annually.

Under the approved raises, the vice president and secretary-treasurer, will be boosted from $9,000 to $10,000; organization director from $7,750 to $8,500; seven district directors from $130 to $150 a week and 65 field representatives from $110 to $130 weekly.

The current officers most of whom are expected to be re-elected today include L. S. Buckmaster, Akron, Ohio, president for eight terms; Joseph W. Childs, Akron, vice president; secretary-treasurer Desmond Walker of Mansfield, Ohio, and organization director Fleet W. Perrine, Akron.

The delegates heard Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan lash out Wednesday at the Taft-Hartley law and what the Republican administration "didn't do to it."

"Unions," the governor said, "had so convinced the American public of the basic injustice of the law that during the last campaign Gov. Stevenson called for the repeal of the act and Gen. Eisenhower certainly characterized it as undesirable and union-busting."

He said the Taft-Hartley Act was not an issue in the last presidential election because both candidates promised either to "repeal or modify or improve it."

"We must change this law if we are to release the constructive potential of workers so they can achieve a better way of life for themselves and for all the rest of us in America," Williams said.

Non-Residents Help Pay Debts

Out-Area Students' Fees Paying Off Interest on New Oxford School

OXFORD — Part of the tuition money paid by non-resident students in schools here will be used to help pay off bonds and interest on the new Daniel Axford School.

The Oxford Board of Education inaugurated the new policy of segregating part of the tuition money into a debt retirement fund at its annual meeting in July.

Under the policy, 60 per cent of tuition money received over and above the average cost of educating a non-resident student will be transferred into the debt retirement fund.

A state law allows the tuition rate to be 25 per cent above average per-capita cost of education. The 25 per cent charge is allowed so that non-residents may help share the cost of construction and maintenance of buildings.

Czar Proposed by AFL Group

Would Aid Inter-Union Disputes; Smooth Way for Unification

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The AFL Building and Construction Trades Department said here yesterday appointment of a sort of czar to resolve jurisdictional disputes between rival unions could smooth the way for integration of industrial unions now outside the AFL.

Officers of the building trades group, in convention here, proposed appointment of a jurisdictional adjudicator in their annual report to AFL President George Meany.

The problem, cited by AFL carpenters as one reason for their brief departure from the AFL last month, is scheduled to receive a lot of discussion when the AFL convention opens here Monday.

"In a nutshell, we propose that all jurisdictional conflicts be resolved by one duly qualified person," the officers said.

"It would also seem advisable," the report said, "to develop detailed prodecure providing for appeal from the adjudicator's decision to the AFL Executive Council, with final appeal to the (AFL) convention."

The report, which took note of the jurisdictional warfare that has long caused trouble among unions, suggested that impartial AFL lawyers work out detailed procedure for presentation of disputes, methods of conducting hearings and other rules.

Seasons Getting Warmer Believe Ocean Experts

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — According to a group of oceanographic experts from 10 countries who met at Yale University, the winters, springs and falls are getting warmer.

Pooled evidence indicated that the Atlantic Ocean is in the midst of its warmest period since 1600.

The scinetists said the Arctic ice cap is receding, the thickness of the Arctic ice diminishing and warm saltier currents are sweeping through the North Sea and Danish waters into the Baltic Sea.

Mount Vernon, home of George Washington, narrowly escaped the auctioneer's hammer in 1856. It was secured by patroitic women and made a national shrine.

Family Relationships on Better Plane Today

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP) — The American family isn't what it used to be, and we should be glad of it, according to an Illinois sociologist.

Dr. Herman Lantz of Southern Illinois University said that in many cases the American family used to stay together "just to keep the old farm going."

Now, he said, family relationships are cemented by the closer ties of warm companionship.

Lantz warned, however, that "careful pre-marital planning and plenty of in-service training in human relations" were necessary to combat the current high divorce rate.

Kansas is usually the nation's leading wheat producing state, followed by North Dakota.

Popular Deputy Makes Arrest the Easy Way

CARY, N. C. (UP) — Wake County Deputy Sheriff Wiley Jones' popularity was put to the test recently. Searching for a man wanted for murder, Jones went to the section of the county where the killer lived. He let it be known he wanted to see the fugitive as soon as possible.

A few days later the man, who had slain another in a juke joint brawl, showed up at Jones' office. "I trust Mr. Wiley," he told officers.

Although El Salvador is the smallest country in the Western Hemisphere it is the world's third largest producer of coffee — Brazil and Colombia being first and second.

Australia Building Thrones for Royalty

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UP)— Two thrones are being built for Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh for the day the Queen opens a special session of the New Zealand Parliament in Wellington Jan. 12.

The thrones will be about the same size, although the designs will differ slightly. The throne for the duke will be on the same level, but will be placed a little behind that of Queen Elizabeth.

Most roaches found in America lay eggs in a leathery capsule which breaks at hatching time.
