Waves Punish Grounded Ship

Wind, High Seas Block
Rescue of 16 Aboard
in Lake Michigan

TRAVERSE CITY 29—Towering waves, lashed by wind running up to 50 miles an hour, battered a grounded and leaking Liberian freighter with 16 persons aboard today in Upper Michigan.

The Francisco Morazan was driven aground in a blinding, gale-driven snowstorm last night off the windward shore of South Manitou Island.

Capt. Eduardo Tristram reported water up to 3½ feet deep in all holds of the 266-foot, ocean-going vessel.

Waves running up to 25 feet in height lifted the freighter and banged her back violently on the rocks on which she grounded.

CONDITION WORSENS
Her condition was reported worsening as the day wore on, but she was in no immediate danger of keeling over.

Aboard are the captain's wife and a crew of 16. Winds and waves were too high to attempt an immediate rescue.

Three Coast Guard cutters which rushed to the scene were standing by, but Capt. Tristram vetoed any attempt to pull his ship free until divers can assess damage to it.

He feared it might sink if pulled from the 14-foot depth where she grounded.

All pumps aboard the Francisco Morazan were attempting to keep up with the incoming water, and Capt. Tristram asked the cutters to attempt to pass him additional pumps.

Two helicopters hovered as they could in the high wind prepared if necessary to attempt to take off the crew and the captain's wife.

BOUND FOR ATLANTIC
The ship is carrying a general cargo and was headed out the St. Lawrence Seaway for the Atlantic Ocean from Lower Lake Michigan when she grounded.

The scene is 30 miles southeast of Gull Island, where the big Capt. D. Bradley broke apart in the Lake Michigan Storm Nov. 18, 1958, and plunged to the bottom with 33 of her 35-man crew.

All 369 Pupils Escape Gaylord School Fire

GAYLORD 29—With wind-fanned flames licking about them, 369 pupils were evacuated today from St. Mary's Elementary School in this northern Michigan resort town.

Gaylord and State Conservation Department fire fighters were unable to bring the blaze under control an hour after it was discovered and it appeared the two-story building might be doomed.

Fire was discovered between the first floor and basement by an eighth grade teacher. Father Golas, who at first suspected one of his pupils might be smoking in class.

When he discovered the fire, the teacher rushed upstairs immediately and ordered pupils there outside into the freezing winds. Then the first floor was evacuated, systematically and "orderly," although flames were breaking through the first floor as the last third graders left.

The Minneapolis, Minn., firm got its biggest boost in the move that added Pontiac to its service.

Along with Pontiac came 11 other Michigan cities, plus Cleveland and Port Arthur, Ontario.

The additional service granted by the Civil Aeronautics Board represented a 30 per cent expansion for North Central, according to Hal N. Carr, president.

Regular service is also starting tomorrow at Port Huron, Alpena, Cadillac and Reed City. Manistee and Ludington will get service in about two months, when airport development is completed.

Winter's Chores Begin

MORNING WOES — Oh, for those warm summer mornings when one could merely get into his car and drive off to work. For the next four or five months, you can expect to be doing quite often what Lee Thompson, 24, of 8324 Cascade St., Union Lake, is doing here. Although only three-quarters of an inch of snow fell yesterday in the Pontiac area, it was enough to make streets slick and coat cars and sidewalks.

Snow, Ice and a Low of 22 — Winter's Really Here

A new blanket of snow fell on Pontiac today on the heels of yesterday's prewinter storm which crippled transportation in parts of Michigan.

As snow fell for a second straight day, Pontiac state police warned that all state highways were hazardous.

Some had a coating of ice. Temperatures stayed well below freezing in all areas.

Last night the mercury in Pontiac dropped to a cold 22. The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast colder for tonight but said a warming trend would set in by Friday.

Today it'll stay cold, with occasional snow flurries. A low of 20 is forecast for tonight.

At least two deaths on the highways were blamed on the snowfall. William Gentenaar, 14, of Richmond in the Kalamazoo area, was struck and killed by a car on his way home from school in the snow storm.

Mrs. Pearl Darin, 57, of Sawyer, was fatally injured in a car-truck collision on icy M-50 near Niles. A car driven by her husband Anthony skidded on the ice. The collision followed. Mrs. Darin died later in a Niles hospital. Her husband and the truck driver escaped injury.

Kalamazoo reported a snowfall of five to six inches. Drifts contributed to a traffic tie-up. Conditions were severe in Lake and Mason Counties of Western Michigan as snow continued coming down.

In the Upper Peninsula, Houghton and Marquette had a blowing snow. Houghton's 17 degrees was the lowest reported in the state.

Power was cut off for two hours in the city of Marquette today. The entire city was reported affected.

Adams Files Petition for Recount, Too

In an effort to protect his winning margin of 884 votes against a possible reversal in a recount, Probate Judge-Elect Donald E. Adams today filed a counter petition calling for recounting an additional 55 voting precincts.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, who Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Adams edged out in the Nov. 8 balloting for the new probate judge post in Oakland County, filed Monday for a recount in 90 of the county's 311 precincts.

The board of canvassers will begin the recount of the 90 precincts tomorrow morning, possibly by Adams, said Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr., clerk of the canvassing board.

"Then after we're done with them we'll move into those requested by Adams," said Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr., clerk of the canvassing board.

Checking the 90 precincts is expected to take five days, Murphy said.

Detroit Welfare Chief Is Sorry

Oakland Director Burt Has Evidence Showing One Charge Not True

After accusing county welfare officials here of illegally inducing clients to move to Detroit, that city's welfare director has apologized to Oakland County Director George H. Burt for any inconvenience he may have caused.

At the same time, Burt dug up information to show that a case worker in his office had not encouraged the Jack Harris family of eight to move out of Royal Oak Township into Detroit last June.

Daniel J. Ryan, general supervisor of the Detroit Welfare Department, said Monday he had asked Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Olson to look into the possibility of charging Oakland County with violation of the law which prohibits one county from inducing clients to move into another.

This, Ryan said, added to the load of Detroit's already overburdened welfare department. He cited two cases, stressing the practice he alleged was not "wholesome."

A meeting between the two departments, along with representatives of the prosecutor offices of both counties, has been set for Pontiac Dec. 7.

Burt received a letter from Ryan yesterday in which he said "I am sorry for any inconvenience to which you have been put on this matter." He said he had gone to Olson's office only to check the law in the event the practice of shuffling clients continued.

"He knows the law as well as we do," Burt said.

"This could have been handled with a simple phone call instead of all this prosecution stuff," he said.

JOHN A. MACDONALD, chairman of the Pontiac Board of Aldermen, today announced that he had been elected to the position of chairman of the board.

City Receives 18 Extra Months to Add Facilities

Judge Will Sign Writ Forcing the Expansion of Sewage Treatment

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero announced today that he would sign a court order forcing Pontiac to expand its sewage treatment facilities to curb pollution of the Clinton River.

The announcement came after a brief hearing during which the city admitted the pollution and offered no defense, but gained an 18-month extension to the deadline set down by the State Water Resources Commission 15 months ago.

The decree to be signed by Judge Dondero will stipulate:

1. That the city have construction contracts let by June 1, 1961.

2. That the expanded facilities be in operation by June 1, 1962.

Harold A. Kelley, an engineer who helped prepare plans for the proposed expansion, testified the cost may be near $3.5 million by contract-letting time.

Construction costs have risen steadily since plans were first made three years ago, said Kelley.

Costs were estimated at $3 million when Pontiac citizens first voted down a bond issue to finance construction.

They were set at $3.3 million the last time, one year ago.

CITIES NEW OBSTACLE
Kelley is an engineer with the firm of Jones, Henry and Williams of Toledo, Ontario's engineering consultants.

The only witness called by City Attorney William A. Ewart said that the city was in a "bind" when it agreed to the straight-forward, half-hour hearing, Kelley said the State Highway Department has proposed a new obstacle to plan for added facilities.

It is an engineering study of the city's roads at Auburn Avenue and Opdyke Road.

Kelley testified that plans to swing an extension to Auburn (M-39) through the city-owned site apparently would eat up land that at present is earmarked for future expansion of the new plant.

"It will take time to negotiate a road with the state and it's not satisfactory to everyone," Kelley told Judge Dondero in the successful bid for a deadline extension.

The engineer estimated that the city would need to have a bond issue floated in three months, without an approving vote of the people.

The commission will be able to do this, Ewart said, by reason of the fact that the city has a bond issue floating in three months, without an approving vote of the people.

Victor Meier, assistant attorney general, represented the Water Resources Commission. He said the decree would be ready for signature within a few hours after the hearing's end.

Meier offered no objections to the deadline extensions.

The subject of Waterford Township was not brought up in open court.

Ewart had been asked by the City Commission to draw into the hearing the pollution which the township has been accused of contributing to Crystal Lake, which is part of the Clinton system.

But it was decided during a conference preceding the hearing that only Pontiac pollution could be discussed in court. Judge Dondero explained afterward that the law did not permit him to review the Water Resources Commission report.

ARRESTED BY FBI — Dr. Robert Soble, 60-year-old psychiatrist arrives at Federal Court in New York Tuesday where he was arraigned on charges of spying on the United States for the Soviet government for 20 years. Soble, whose legal name is Soblen, is the brother of convicted Red spy Jack Soble who is now serving a seven-year prison term. Bail was set at $75,000 and a hearing will be held Dec. 20.

Hearing Set Dec. 20 Charge Espionage to Soble Brother

NEW YORK 29 — A New York psychiatrist arrested as a 20-year Soviet spy never tried to escape his shadows during a long, "hot surveillance" by FBI agents, says his attorney.

On the contrary, the doctor even stopped his car so that trailing agents could catch up with him, the lawyer said.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Robert Soble, 60, was held in $75,000 bail for a federal court hearing Dec. 20. Soble, whose legal name is Soblen, is a brother of confessed Red spy Jack Soble, 57, serving a seven-year prison term for espionage.

The government charged that the brothers were involved in separate espionage rings that sought national defense secrets for transmission to the Soviet Union. Both brothers were naturalized in 1947.

Dr. Soble, if convicted, could receive the death penalty, his attorney said.

Soble was arrested at noon Tuesday at Rockland State Hospital, in suburban Orangeburg, where he has served as supervising psychiatrist.

The indictment by a federal grand jury also named 18 co-conspirators, none of whom are defendants. They include several Soviet officials and four Americans.

It took the government three years to collect evidence for an indictment against Dr. Soble.

In arguing for low bail, his attorney, Richard C. Green, told the court that Soble would not flee.

"STOPPED FOR FBI" — He has been under wide-open surveillance by federal agents and never tried to run away, to a point where he even stopped his car on highways if he lost the agents trailing him, so they could catch up to him.

Apparently, Soble made friends among FBI agents who arrested him. He asked Judge William B. Herlands if he could say goodbye to "the FBI gentlemen."

Herlands smiled and gave him permission. The doctor bowed from the waist and waved to the FBI agents. "Thank you very much, gentlemen," he said.

The government said the Soble brothers were born in Lithuania and during the 1930s returned to Europe as Communist agents for the Soviet secret police.

The indictment charged that in 1940 Jack Soble met the late Lavrenti P. Beria, head of the Soviet secret police under Stalin. In exchange for permitting nearly all the families of both brothers to go to the United States, the brothers agreed to act as spies here.

Eventually, said the government, the entire family — about 15 persons — left Lithuania. Most of them settled in the New York area and in Canada.

The indictment said that Dr. Soble received monthly reports during World War — from local headquarters in Rochester, Plaza of the supersecret Office of Strategic Services.

Documents, writings and photographs and notes allegedly were collected and sent to the Soviet Union.

Desire Fast OK of Sales Tax Hike

Swanson Backs Call, Agrees to Bid for Full Cent Increase

LANSING — Michigan's sales tax will be increased to four per cent in a quick snap-of-the-fingers special session of the State Legislature, if Gov. Williams has his way.

Williams and Gov.-Elect John B. Swanson agreed Tuesday to call a special session to consider raising the sales tax by one per cent, approved by the voters Nov. 3.

The date was specified for the session, but observers believed there was still a good possibility that it would come Dec. 5, the day the voter-approved constitutional amendment goes into effect.

Williams told a joint news conference that the date depended on when an agreement can be worked out with legislative leaders to approve a full one-cent increase, rather than a bill calling for some fraction of that amount.

"We've decided that there should be a special session, and I'll call one," he said. "But I feel strongly that it should not be a debating session. We don't have time for that."

Williams said he and Swanson would be contracting legislative leaders of both parties as soon as possible to work out the agreement under which the measure would pass in a one-day session.

"I want a session that goes like this," he said, snapping his fingers.

Asked whether no advance agreement would mean no special session, Williams replied:

"It comes close to that—I said close to that."

Swanson opposed the suggested sales tax increase during the campaign, while Republican candidates generally supported the amendment.

But Swanson said Tuesday:

"I believe the results of the Nov. 3 election have demonstrated that a majority of citizens, recognizing the need for additional state revenues, have expressed their desire to meet that need through a one-cent increase in the tax."

"I accept the majority will and therefore agree that the legislature should be convened in special session to consider carrying out that voter determination as soon as possible."

Swanson added that increasing the sales tax should be viewed as "an emergency measure."

"We all should still strive for the comprehensive tax reforms which all fiscal experts agree are needed," he said. Swanson estimated that a one-cent boost in the sales tax would bring in between $115 million and $129 million annually to the state's depleted treasury.

Before the news conference broke up, Republican leader, House Speaker Don R. Peers of Pontiac, had heartily endorsed the special session with a mimeographed statement of his own.

Bloomfield Twp. Woman Found Dead in Garage

CONRAIL 340 — This is the Conrail 340 that North Central Airlines will use in its Detroit-to-Sault Ste. Marie route which will serve Pontiac starting tomorrow. The largest plane in the North Central fleet, it seats 44 passengers and has twin engines and pressurized cabins. The Conrail cruises at 248 miles an hour.

ing the 1940s by a Clintonville, Wis., manufacturing company. Other companies kept badgering the FWD Corp. for so many rides on its planes that FWD officials decided they could start a commercial airline.

The original application was filed with the CAB in 1944. Four years later, but only after the CAB had ordered FWD to sell its own interest in the proposed airlines, Wisconsin Central started out.

Three small, one-passenger Lockheed 10A transports operated from Madison, Wis., as a feeder service extending into Minnesota and northern Illinois.

A feeder service is one which fills in the gaps between the giant flows flown by the trunk airlines.

Big problems during the early years of expansion was the lack of improved runways and instrument controls.

During the first three years, more than $3 million was spent on airport development and improvement in cities served by Wisconsin Central.

The airlines itself provided electronic equipment at most of the intermediate stops at a cost of around $100,000. Today it operates what it believes is the longest private, owned instrument network in the country.

By 1952, the system was developing westward and the company moved to Minneapolis with the new name, North Central.

The company had turned to larger Douglas DC3 aircraft in 1950 and now has 32, the largest DC3 fleet in the nation.

In 1959 the switch began to the big, 44-passenger Conrail 340s, twin-engine airliners with pressurized cabins. The radar-equipped Conrails cruise at 248 miles an hour, compared to 160 for the DC3s.

Conrails now service 18 per cent of the North Central system and will be used on the Detroit-Sault Ste. Marie route that has Pontiac as a stopover.

North Central officials cite other figures to illustrate the growth that has made their airlines the biggest of the nation's 12 local airlines.

The airlines, for instance, will probably carry well over a million passengers this year. Last year it carried 957,731 passengers.

North Central aircraft carried 436,740 pounds of mail last year. In June 1959, the company began carrying air freight and hauled a total 2,112,960 pounds by the end of the year.

From 112 employees in 1948, the company has grown to 2,100 employees, including 30 pilots and 185 stewards.

Looking to the future, North Central has asked the CAB to let it service cities as far west as Sheridan, Wyo. Other expansion is planned within Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa and Kansas.

North Central has asked approval of nearly 1,100 miles of helicopter routes to 37 points on its system.

Students Battling Army in Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Leftist students fought a gun battle with troops today in defiance of President Romulo Betancourt.

The stubborn challenge to the authority of the moderate Socialist president made the situation increasingly critical for his government.

Firing from high school buildings on Avenue Roosevelt has continued sporadically since Monday night. It is part of widespread rioting in the capital that has killed 6 persons and injured at least 105 in an attempt to touch off a revolution and establish a Castro-style government.

Tough military crackdowns, supported by a suspension of civil guarantees, have snuffed out most of the rioting which began last Friday. However, for a time Tuesday night it spread from the slum districts of western Caracas to the fashionable eastern end.

NEAR UNIVERSITY

The main battle was centered at Miguel Caro High School in western Caracas. The school is adjacent to Caracas University, which officials said appeared to be the demonstrators' chief stronghold.

Police have not attempted to enter the university grounds, where Social Christian party supporters are holed up. Betancourt fought their way into classrooms to break a Communist student strike.

One leftist group attempted to storm the police station nearby but were driven back by tear gas and armored cars of the presidential guard.

Another gang of youths tried to burn a bus in the southern suburb of Chaguaramas, despite orders to the army to shoot such firebrands on sight. The bus was saved by firemen.

Troops took up positions in Puente Trinidad Street, where several newspapers are published. The papers have advocated a tough line in suppressing Communist activities. Betancourt has charged the Communists are behind the rioters.

woods. Today was the final day of the season.

Michigan had two other traffic fatalities during the stormy period but neither was attributed to the weather.

Donald M. Dury, 23, of Pioneer, Ohio, was killed today when his car hit a tree 19 miles south of Pontiac on the Hillside Road. State police said Dury apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Perry E. Williamson, 71, of Brethren, lost his life Tuesday in a two-car collision on U.S. 31 three miles north of Manistee.

Northwesterly morning winds at 20-30 miles per hour in the Pontiac area will become westerly and slowly diminish tonight and Thursday.

The thermometer in downtown Pontiac registered 26 at 2 p.m.

Headline Erred About Account in Check Story

The Pontiac Press wishes to correct any mistaken interpretation of a story it published concerning a check caused by Robert D. Rose, 27, formerly of 122 Norton St., who was returned due to insufficient funds.

The headline over the story mistakenly stated that Rose didn't have an account with his bank at the time he cashed his check. The bank says he did have an account but at the time didn't have sufficient funds to cover the check. When the insufficiency was discovered, the check was made good.

The Press regrets any embarrassment the story may have caused Rose.

Judge Will Force City Pollution Curb

ter Resources Commission's findings.

Any action against Waterford would have to be separate from the action the state has taken against Pontiac, he said.

EWART blamed the unfavorable votes against construction bond issues.

"The city has construction plans and it has a site," he told the court. "But we have not been able to proceed without financing."

"There is no defense for the city now, nor is there any question that the stream is being polluted, seriously affecting the people downstream from Pontiac."

EWART agreed in court that the question of pollution from some outside of Pontiac "is not pertinent in this case."

The suit was filed after Pontiac, for want of financing, failed to meet the Water Resources Commission deadline of July 1 of this year for the letting of construction contracts.

This deadline, plus another of Dec. 31, 1961 for completion of the expansion, was set in the summer of 1959, after engineers testified that Pontiac pollution was killing plant and fish life in the stream.

The engineers testified that Pontiac's existing treatment facilities were inadequate to handle the load. They said untreated sewage was entering the river.

DeGaulle Will Visit Algeria, Talk Policy

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle decided today to visit Algeria despite warnings from his generals and ministers that such a trip would be dangerous.

The French leader told his weekly cabinet meeting he would leave Paris Dec. 9 for Algeria to explain his policy to French officials and the Algerian people.

De Gaulle called a special cabinet meeting for the eve of his departure to fix the date for the return. He has called to get France's approval for his plan to set up a provisional administration in Algeria.

The Day in Birmingham

Dec. 19 Vote on Sewers to Decide Job Financing

BIRMINGHAM — When Bloomfield Hills voters are asked Dec. 19 in a special election if they want an internal sewer system they will, in effect, be deciding the financing of the improvement.

If the proposal is turned down on the $1.5 million system, the city will eventually be forced into building the sewer by court action, according to Mayor Henry Woolfenden.

The State Water Resources Commission has already filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court to stop the city from polluting the Rouge River.

If the plan is approved, the city will be in the position to issue general obligation bonds on the project, a method found to be most economical to the taxpayer, the mayor explained.

The city is forced into installing the sewer system, the city has no alternative but to finance the program through special assessment or revenue bonds.

HIGHER PAYMENTS

With the special assessment method the system would have to be paid off in a much shorter period resulting in higher annual payments to the taxpayers than would be the case under the general obligation bonds arrangement, Woolfenden said.

He stated revenue bond financing would mean a higher charge to residents for use of the sewer to insure payment of the issue by building up a reserve fund.

With general obligation bonds, Woolfenden said, the cost to residents would be reduced annually as the valuation of the city increases with new construction.

Currently the plan for financing the sewer system, if it is approved, is based on issuing the general obligation bonds over a 30-year period.

It has been estimated that the cost to residents for each year would be about $2.31 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The estimate is based on the project being handled all at once. However, city engineers Hubbell, Roth and Clark have suggested the project be undertaken in two stages.

This plan would see only the developed areas of the city getting the sewer and only $1.33 million of the bonds issued, reducing the first year's tax to about $0.30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The remaining $170,000 in bonds would be sold at a later date for the improvement in undeveloped areas.

Mrs. Edward H. Laird, Service for Mrs. Edward H. (Dorothy F.) Laird, 57, of 1220 Redding Road, will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Laird died today at Wilson's Hospital, Royal Oak, after a short illness.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, Okmulgee Sorority, the A.M.U. of Birmingham, the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health and the Birmingham Muscular.

Surviving besides her husband are two sons, Ted of San Francisco, Calif., and Donald of Birmingham; a brother; and two grandchildren.

Levies $100 Fine on Clarkston Golf Club Operators

Originally charged with the illegal sale of intoxicants, operators of the Clarkston Golf Club, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frechette, yesterday pleaded guilty in Independence Township Justice Court to a reduced count of disorderly conduct.

Justice of the Peace Helmer G. Stanback ordered them to pay $25 fines and $25 court costs each.

Assistant Prosecutor Jerome Berry said today "It was my feeling that the case could be better handled as a misdemeanor because they had no previous criminal record."

Mr. and Mrs. Frechette were charged Sept. 17 following a raid of the golf club house at 5241 Easton Road in Independence Township by Sheriff Frank Irons, who led the raid, said they found Mrs. Frechette serving liquor to two customers without a license. Mrs. Frechette contended that the liquor belonged to the club members and she was not selling it to them.

Richard Kuhn Reveals Candidacy in Primary Race on GOP Ticket

Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn has announced he will be a candidate for Waterford Township justice of the peace on the Republican ticket in the February primary election.

Kuhn, 31, is a graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in political science. He was awarded his law degree from the Detroit College of Law.

Kuhn is married and has one son.

He is a member of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the Waterford Community Activities, Inc.

He is also a member of the Oakland County Bar Association, Michigan Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

If contested, Kuhn promises a vigorous campaign. One of the two township justices, Donald E. Adams, was elected Oakland County's second probate judge Nov. 8.

Murder Charge Hangs Over Berkley Woman Judged Sane Nov. 21

Mrs. Sarah Sue Lawrence was returned to the Oakland County Jail yesterday, Monday, following a hearing to decide whether to proceed with the charges after a Dec. 5 court hearing on Renfrew's motion.

Prosecutor George F. Taylor, who holds the warrant, said he will decide whether to proceed with the charges after a Dec. 5 court hearing on Renfrew's motion.

Mrs. Lawrence was ruled sane by Ionia Circuit Judge Morris E. Davis Nov. 21 following a habeas corpus hearing.

Mrs. Lawrence was shot during a scuffle at her home.

Mrs. Lawrence told sheriff's deputies she had gone there to pay blackmail demanded by Mrs. Crawshaw and her husband under threat of losing custody of her then 3-year-old son.

Crawshaw was the former boyfriend of the accused, deputies said.

Is Studying Work Conditions

Joint Steel Committee Fails to Meet Deadline

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The United Steelworkers and the major steel companies disclosed Tuesday that a joint committee set up to study local working conditions, key issue of the 115-day steel strike, has failed to meet its deadline. In a joint statement, USW president David J. McDonald and R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., said the committee, which was to have reported its recommendations today under terms of the strike settlement, "has not yet completed its exploration of these matters."

The statement said that although under terms of the strike settlement the committee's life expires today, it will continue its studies. The date for its report was pushed forward for more than a year—"prior to the termination of the existing basic agreements."

The Nov. 30 date for the committee's report on local working conditions was one of two important deadlines set for this week. On Dec. 1, the 500,000 basic steel workers will get an automatic wage increase, which the union estimates will average 9.4 cents per hour per worker.

The Cooper-McDonald statement said that the local working conditions committee "has been meeting in carrying out its functions under the agreements."

But the union and management representatives admitted that the committee has failed to determine "the area of study in which a third party might be helpful."

The strike settlement directed that the members of the joint committee select a neutral chairman by "mutual agreement." None has been named.

Tuesday's statement explained: "Since mutual understanding is the aim of the parties, it was felt the efforts of the committee would be directed toward achieving such understanding between the parties rather than involving a third party."

Zeppelin Captain Dies in Germany
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Max Pruss, captain of Germany's famed Graf Zeppelin and Hindenburg airships, died of pneumonia in a hospital here Monday. He was 69.

"He had been fighting for the revival of the zeppelins until his last day," his widow said in announcing the death.

Pruss captained the Hindenburg when it exploded at Lakehurst, N.J., May 6, 1937, killing 36 persons.

The skipper was injured seriously in the blast. But he never would believe that it ended a chapter of history.

Woman, 67, Falls and Breaks Hip; All Alone 6 Days

ATLANTA (AP)—A 67-year-old woman was recovering in a hospital today from a six-day ordeal of pain, hunger, thirst and fear.

Margaret Hannah, who lives alone, told police she fell and broke her hip while preparing Thanksgiving dinner. She was unable to move to get food or water or to summon aid.

A sister, Lois T. Everett, said she tried to telephone Mrs. Hannah several times and finally went over to the house with a friend. When nobody answered the door they called police who forced an entrance.

"I'm so glad you came," said Mrs. Hannah. "I'd about given up."

Report Cites Domestic Goals

U.S. Must Grow Economically, Warns Presidential Commission

Editor's Note: A lengthy study by a presidential commission has set up a series of domestic goals for the next four years. The commission's report, which is being released in three parts, is the first of a series of three articles by Sterling F. Green, veteran AP writer on domestic affairs. Subsequent articles will deal with foreign affairs and with civil liberties.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several hundred goals for the 1960s were set before Americans this week by a White House commission. Yet one simple, overriding, essential word told the story — growth.

Growth to provide at least 13.5 million new jobs, growth to avoid higher taxes, growth to support new multimillion-dollar outlays for research and education, growth to rebuild decayed downtowns, growth to arm more strongly against "grave danger."

Without economic growth, at a rate apparently not less than one-sixth faster than American production has increased over the past 30 years, the commission says some of the nation's vital objectives will be lost, its security and leadership endangered.

In such a case, said the Presidential Commission on National Goals, Americans are going to have to sacrifice—perhaps by increasing, loss of leisure time, a slower rise of living standards, and unaccustomed controls.

The commission said it this way: "If the growth rate is lower, it will impel consideration of higher taxes, increased quantity of labor and the greater individual effort and sacrifice exemplified by forced savings and reduced consumption."

This was the essence of the report filed with President Eisenhower by 11 distinguished Americans after 30 months of study. The White House released it Sunday.

FACE PROBLEMS

In the home front, the commission dealt with many matters not tied directly to economic policy—breaking down racial and religious bias, reducing juvenile delinquency, and reorganizing the government, to name a few.

But the central theme was that the United States must make a greater investment—of both private and public money—in its own future, or it will risk the loss of world leadership and its own cherished freedoms.

The growth goal was stated mainly in terms of jobs. The target, said the commission, should be the fastest possible rate which is "consistent with primary dependence upon free enterprise and the avoidance of marked inflation."

What will that rate be? The commission was uncertain. One careful study, it said, suggests that the total output of goods and services can be boosted by 3.4 per cent a year—if unemployment is held consistently below 4 per cent and if a climate favorable to investment and research is maintained.

Yet equally careful studies indicate that a 5 per cent growth can be achieved "without extraordinary stimulating measures," said the report.

The average increase in gross national product recorded since 1939 has been 2.9 per cent.

NEED MORE JOBS

The first task is to reduce joblessness from the October rate of 6.4 per cent to the commission's goal—below 4 per cent.

Then, over the decade, the economy must provide about 13.5 million more jobs than now exist to accommodate new entries into the labor force—mostly youngsters born during the postwar baby boom, now arriving at working age.

Another batch of 1.5 million Americans—the farmers who won't be able to make a decent living on the soil—must be absorbed in nonfarm jobs.

Aid an unestimated number of factory workers, displaced by automation and advancing technology must be retrained or relocated—partly at public expense, the commission presumed.

The commission's proposals for ensuring growth included many that will be cited in Congress next session when the hot issues of the year are rekindled. They include federal aid to education, to depressed areas, medical care for the aged, tax revision, and civil rights.

SPECIFIC TARGETS

Here are some of the specific targets:

EDUCATION—Yearly U. S. outlays must be doubled by 1970, to $40 billion. "The federal role must now be expanded."

The commission heaved to the line that education is "primarily a responsibility of the states" and laid goals GAL. 3 essays ar30 shield away from an outright endorsement of federal aid for school construction. But it said that since 1787 the federal government has participated in the support of education "without destroying local initiative and responsibility."

TAXES—An "overhaul of the tax system" is necessary, whether tax rates go up or down, to the report.

Pistol-Packing Housewife Sends Salesman Flying

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—Answering the proverbial housewife tripped over her son's toy gun and picked it up.

The saleswoman she confronted turned pale and ran, vaulting a 3-foot fence.

Mrs. Bernard Pennino told police Tuesday she then discovered her son, Jimmie, 15, had put on the front door a sign reading:

"We shoot every third salesman and the second one just left."

improve the climate for new business investment. The changes, said the commission, should include more liberal depreciation deductions on business and industrial equipment to encourage modernization and investment.

AUTOMATION—Technological change should be encouraged but with careful advance planning to avoid hardship to those displaced by new machines and processes.

Where whole areas are left in distress, both state and federal governments should help provide loans and grants to assist the communities in attracting new industries and in retraining and relocating workers.

AGRICULTURE—Supply and demand must be brought into balance so that the market—instead, presumably, of federal subsidies—will provide farmers a fair return. There should be "much increased retirement of farm land, with emphasis on whole farms." But federal farm programs, including price supports, will be necessary for some time to come.

CITIES—Sum conditions must be remedied and the process of decay in big cities arrested, the commission said. It called for more urban renewal programs "costing as much as $4 billion a year."

HEALTH—Among a dozen recommendations in this field, the commission called for further efforts to reduce the burden of the cost of medical care.

"Extension of medical insurance is necessary," through both public and private agencies," it said.

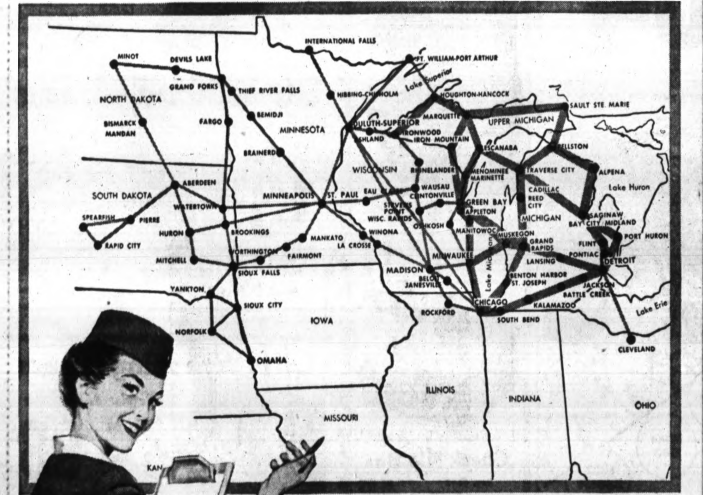

It also called for higher standards of unemployment compensation, without undervaluing the effort of many Democrats in Congress to win passage of legislation fixing federal standards.

The commission said the government should "encourage the states to meet a minimum standard" and should, in addition, establish a federal reinsurance program for states with temporary acute employment problems.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

I MUST HOLD MY EARS!

Q. Will you give me some general information on the care of a two and one half year old poodle? Particularly its ears.

A. A request for "general" information is a large order in my allotted space. Your pet's beautiful hair coat lends itself to many styles to suit your fancy, but the veterinarian would prefer the hair to be short around the ears and in the ear canals to prevent infection.

Your dog's breed is tops in popularity in the U.S. and there are many interesting facts to his background. The Poodle Club of America, Blair Road, Oyster Bay, Long Island, N.Y. (care Mrs. Kenneth Lawlor) can recommend a number of books on this breed.

After reading them, if you still have any particular question, I'll be happy to advise you.

Constructs Electric Tiny Motor

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Last December a California Institute of Technology theoretical physicist, during a talk on the importance of miniaturization of electrical gadgets, said:

"I want to offer a prize of $1,000 to the first guy who makes an operating electric motor—a rotating electric motor that can be controlled from the outside—that will be only a 1/64th of an inch cube, not counting the lead-in wires."

William McClellan, who works for a local electronic firm, had to display his motor under a 40-power microscope. To the naked eye, it appears hardly larger than a speck of dust.

He said it took him 2½ months to build, on his own time. It's only six one-thousandths of an inch in diameter—no larger than the period at the end of this sentence.

Yet it contains four coils of wire with 91 turns per coil, a quartz bearing, a tiny rotor—13 parts in all. It has an output of a millionth of a horsepower.

McClellan acknowledges that he has no immediate use for it.

But he'll have no trouble finding a use for Dr. Feynman's $1,000 personal check.

"That," says McClellan, "goes toward the education of my daughters."

Rockefeller Tree From Fractures

NEW YORK (UPI)—A big spruce from Pennsylvania arrived Tuesday to be the symbol of the Yuletide season as Rockefeller Center's famed Christmas tree. The 85-foot tree, which suffered a number of branch fractures, arrived aboard a tractor-trailer logging truck with its lower limbs in splints and bandages.

But a Rockefeller spokesman said the burlap wrappings and wooden splints would save the limbs and that the 2½-ton tree would "look just fine."

"It looks a little ragged down at the end," said Candy Clark, 16, who passed by on her way to school with her sisters Penny, 15, and Megan, 14.

"I think it's lovely," Megan said. "I like spectaculars."

"I think it's going to be great. I really do," Candy agreed.

There are 23 railroads in Pennsylvania sharing in the job of moving coal from the mines to the markets.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Piggish, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms—ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First, a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermicide tablets—special signs for children and adults.

Bees Busy Making More Money in 1960

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's been a busy year for the bees, reports the Department of Agriculture.

The 1960 honey crop is estimated at 247,523,000 pounds, 2 per cent more than last year's, and 6 per cent above the average annual production of the last six years.

Honey production was up in all sections of the country except the North Central, where the yield last year was high.

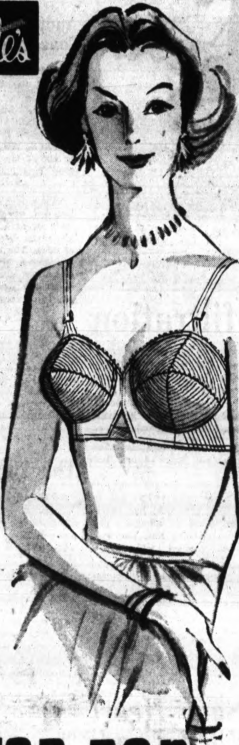

The 10 leading honey producing states this year, in order of production, were Minnesota, California, Florida, Wisconsin, New York, Texas, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Iowa. They accounted for 58 per cent of the nation's honey.

Mohawk Airlines See Merger as Possible Evil

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mohawk Airlines said today that a merger of Capital Airlines into United Air Lines "could be harmful to Mohawk but does not have to be."

Mohawk told the Civil Aeronautics Board, in a brief, that if the merger is approved, United should be denied the dormant authority of Capital to operate between Detroit and Buffalo, N.Y. Mohawk said this is a short-haul market which Capital has not been serving, and it properly belongs to a local service airline.

About 15 million motor vehicles use the Holland under water tunnel each year. The tube, first built, was opened 33 years ago.

NATO Supply Bases Suggested for Spain

PARIS (AP)—A report prepared for the Western European Union Assembly meeting here suggests that the Atlantic Alliance establish military supply bases in Spain.

The suggestion recalled the storm of protest—mainly from Britain—following reports earlier this year that West Germany was seeking bases in Spain. The protests were aroused largely because of Nazi Germany's ties with Generalissimo Francisco Franco. The report, unanimously approved by the assembly's committee on defense and armaments, led into the Spanish base idea after discussing West Germany's

Want His Son to Be President? Jack Not Saying

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A startled Sen. John F. Kennedy said Tuesday he had given no thought to that classic parental question: Do you want your son to become president?

Kennedy seemed surprised when the question was put to him after he had paid a 35-minute visit to his wife in the afternoon at Georgetown Hospital.

The president-elect smiled and said, "I haven't thought about it. I just want for him to be all right."

Doctors reported that the five-day-old Kennedy baby was in fact doing just fine. Pediatrician Dr. Edward B. Brooks said John F. Kennedy Jr. was "breathing normally and eating nicely," although still in the incubator where he was placed after birth Friday morning.

School Postpones Minstrel Benefit

WHITEHALL (UPI)—The Whitehall High School Band and Chorus Parents Organization has decided to put off staging a benefit minstrel show this year because of protests that the use of blackface acts and dialect in such shows is degrading to Negroes.

At a special meeting Monday night it was decided the show would be postponed. Mrs. Julius Girocio Jr., president of the organization, said the cancellation was voted "in kind of clear the air for a year."

Earlier this month when the organization has scheduled tryouts for its 13th annual minstrel show, which would have been staged in February, a group of Negroes turned out to make the protest. The Negroes were from Lakewood, which is in the Whitehall School district.

Mrs. Girocio earlier had received protests from members of the Muskegon Urban League about the minstrel shows.

Russia Ready to Wade Into Dag Over Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union whetted its appetite for a full scale assault on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and his role in the strife-torn Congo.

The Soviets made clear they will try to make Hammarskjöld the scapegoat for the U. N.'s financial plight, as debate on the cost of the U. N. Congo operation went into its second day before the budgetary committee.

The Soviet Union has called for an end to the vast operation in the Congo, declaring that Hammarskjöld brought the United Nations to the brink of bankruptcy in order to pay for it.

The Communist-bloc nations argue that the United States and its Western Allies put the Congo in its present state of chaos. The Communists flatly refuse to pay any part of the $66 million needed to carry on the U. N. operation through this year.

Hammarskjöld has warned that the whole Congo operation may have to be scrapped unless the General Assembly gets the member states to foot the bill quickly.

The United States announced it will help tide the United Nations through by contributing $14 million more than its normal share of the Congo operation. It appealed to other U. N. members to shoulder their share of the burden.

The Soviets insist that the payments are not mandatory because the cost of the Congo operation is not included in the regular U. N. budget.

They have been trying to abolish the Congo operation on grounds it was illegal from the start and that Hammarskjöld was acting as agent for the Western powers.

They insist that he take steps at once to put a stop to "unconstitutional Congo expenses."

The Soviets have little chance of blocking Hammarskjöld's proposal that the Congo operation be made part of the regular budget. But the lack they have been taking may serve as the base for their expected assault on the secretary general when the entire

Kennedy Asking About Topper for Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy put it up to his inaugural committee Tuesday whether he will wear a high silk hat to his oath-taking in January.

"I don't know," Kennedy said, after a conference with Edward H. Foley, inaugural committee chairman and former undersecretary of the treasury.

"We'll do whatever is customary and traditional," Foley chimed in. "We want to look into whether a top-hat inaugural is traditional."

Kennedy, standing beside Foley in the doorway of the president-elect's Georgetown home, said Foley called by to inform him what "he plans for me to do." Foley's version was that he came to get Kennedy's ideas in order to "personalize the inaugural."

"How do you personalize an inaugural?" a reporter asked. Kennedy grinned and replied: "You do what's traditional."

TELLER OF ROBBERY — Francisco Salcido, 40, appears in a Los Angeles court Tuesday to testify against two men accused of robbing him. He said the men got his money and several ancient guns only because they doctored his whisky with knock-out drops. He holds one of the guns he claims to have used as a lieutenant with Pancho Villa.

Ohio Voter Turnout Hit Record Nov. 8

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A record 4,208,811 Ohioans marked ballots in the Nov. 8 general election, the official count showed Tuesday. The total exceeded by nearly half a million the previous high vote of 3,761,232 in 1956.

The count became official upon completion of the official canvass in the office of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The official certification gave these results:

Pianist Plays in Dark when Power Fails

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Pianist Charles Rosen played for a half hour in the dark Monday night during a concert at Traverse City Junior High School when a power failure knocked out the lights. Just as he was finishing the lights went back on. It was the first time he ever gave a performance in total darkness. The audience of about 800 stayed in its seats while Rosen played Schumann's "Carnaval," 18 head per capita.

Phony Drugs Cut Down on High Blood Pressure

By The Associated Press

Doctors this week report on silent heart attacks, empty injections for high blood pressure, and what makes a leader.

PHONY DRUG

Injections of a placebo—a solution having utterly no drug action—have reduced blood pressure for three years in a number of patients, and worked about as well as shots of a real drug given to others.

Oddly, placebos taken by patients did not reduce blood pressure, University of Mississippi researchers report.

Silent Heart Attacks can occur without a person's knowledge.

A survey of middle-aged men living in cities finds 10 to 15 per cent of mild heart attacks can happen with no symptoms of pain or distress. Later, electrical readings of the heart gave the clue these men must have had a blockage of coronary arteries. Regular electrocardiogram check-ups might detect a significant number of such silent heart attacks, and the victims might benefit from treatments designed to prevent further attacks, a Chicago research team suggests.

To a greater or lesser extent, practically everyone has some chronic ailment, says Dr. Paul Chodoff of Washington, D. C.

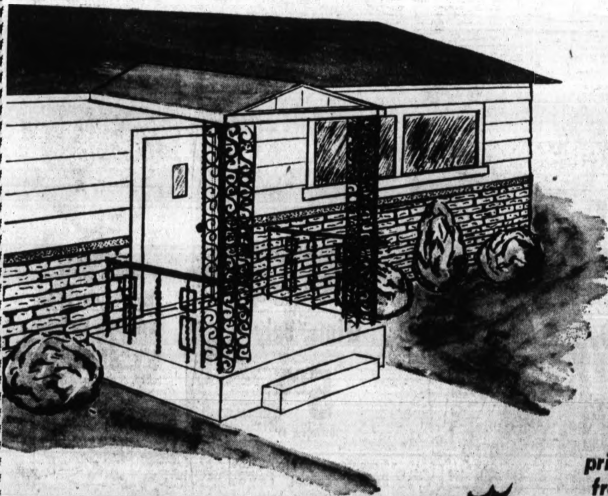

After age 40, practically everyone has some minor-to-serious ailment which he will carry to the grave. But so, also, do the millions under that age.

How the "well" people regard the obviously chronically sick or unfit affects attitudes and behavior of the disabled, he adds. The presumably healthy ones can look upon the obviously ill people with disdain, with indifference, cruelty, too much sympathy, with prying curiosity, or with pseudo-helpfulness which prevents the disabled from doing as much for themselves as they might otherwise do.

Too Few Yankees Cause Cuban Club's Closing

Mom Should Join the Men in the Model Railroad Line

There's no reason why the Christmas electric train need have a "for men only" tag on it. Mother can get in on the fun, too.

At the first opportunity she ought to grab the instructions that come with the set and get started reading them right away. With a head start on the expert advice, she will be able to offer helpful suggestions when the "men go to work on assembling the tracks."

There is more to running a railroad than coupling the cars. And there are certain facets of the operation that mother is more qualified to handle than the men in the family.

Scenery setting, for instance. A model railroad line that is worthy of the name before long will have its tracks running through miniature towns and cities, over bridges, through the countryside. Mother can — and should — direct the scene setting.

Mother can also endeavor herself to the boys by becoming a source of information on railroad lore and technical facts about the equipment represented in the train set.

POP AND THE BOYS HAVE PAL. — They usually hog the toy railroad, but Mom should get into the act, too. She can help set the scenery, and if she carefully reads all the literature that comes with the train set, she might be given turn at the switch.

This year electric trains run the gamut from a replica of the famed Civil War wood-burner, "The General," to trains of tomorrow which include cars that launch missiles, a rocket or a helicopter.

Before long, if mother pitches in, she will be invited to take her turn at the switch. Who knows? Someday she may even be allowed to operate the train.

What's more, she may get to like the idea of playing with the electric trains as much as the male contingent does. If that happens, watch out, boys! You might find the dinner hour getting later and later while Mom plays "Casey Jones."

Oh Rubbish! They Have to Carry Out Garbage

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower's economy campaign Tuesday brought notice that residents at the U.S. Embassy housing project here must now carry out their garbage themselves.

Residents of the plush apartment development, sometimes called Westchester on the Rhine, received letters from the embassy saying the measure is necessary because many superintendents were discharged as an economy move.

Pianist Hazel Scott Gets Divorce From Powell

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jazz pianist Hazel Scott announced Tuesday that her divorce from Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is now final.

Miss Scott disclosed that she had received the final divorce decree from a court in Juarez, Mex., which granted her custody of the couple's 14-year-old son, Adam 2nd.

The entertainer and the Democratic congressman had been married for 15 years. Terms of the divorce settlement were not disclosed.

Workers to Have More Say-So Draft New Constitution for Tito in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, (AP) — Communist party experts are drafting a new constitution for Yugoslavia.

President Tito says it is intended eventually to modify the directing role of the national government in the country's economy.

Yugoslav Marxists say this will be a step toward the purported goal of Marxist communism: the withering away of the state apparatus.

But Yugoslav ventures along these lines have aroused the wrath of the Kremlin and the drafting of such a constitution seems likely to widen the Soviet-Yugoslav cleavage over party theory.

President Tito announced the constitution will become effective in 1962 after discussion of the draft. He said it will be based on "the starting point of the individual, as producer and manager, with the state appearing as a factor of coordination only."

This indicated, Marxist specialists said, not more freedom to the removed from the sort of "people's communes" established by Communist China as a means of heightening central government control. The Red Chinese, in fact, are loudst of all in the denunciation of Tito's alleged deviations.

Suez Canal Counts 94, Most Ships in One Day

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — Authorities reported 94 ships passed through the Suez Canal Tuesday. The largest number to use the canal in a single day since it was opened nearly 100 years ago.

The record traffic was due to a 36-hour tieup when the 21,125-ton French tanker Berenice ran aground.

'Cities Have Problems: Must Be Recognized'

NEW YORK (AP) — What is the enemy of America's better cities? "Our own capacity to develop enough first-rate political leaders and to keep their attention focused on the problems of government in the metropolitan region as a whole."

So answered Harlan Cleveland, dean of the Maxwell graduation school at Syracuse University, in a speech Monday to delegates attending the opening session of the 37th annual congress of the American Municipal Association.

Heart Attack Claims Negro Author at 52

PARIS (AP) — Negro author Richard Wright died of a heart attack Monday night. He was 52.

The Mississippi-born writer, a longtime Paris resident, is best known for his novels such as "Black Boy" and "The Outsider" dealing with the problem of the Negro in American society.

Maple tree sap has from 2 to 7 per cent sugar.

Area Wants Annexation to Grand Rapids Suburb

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Petitions asking a vote on annexation of two square miles of industrially rich Paris Township territory to the Grand Rapids suburb of Wyoming were filed Tuesday with the Kent County clerk.

The area includes at least five major industries and the present Kent County Airport. It brings to 10 the number of petitions asking votes on annexation of Paris Township territory.

Red Chinese Release 'Em

War Criminals 'Repent'

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China gave ample evidence today that the 50 Chinese "war criminals" it released Monday were so thoroughly brainwashed they no longer are considered a threat to the Red regime.

New China news agency said Red Chinese President Liu Shao Chi ordered the reprieve because they had "really repented."

Forty-five former National Chinese army officers, including at least 15 lieutenant generals or major generals, got their freedom. They had been held for more than 10 years.

Also released was Alain Ghiorro Pu-chieh, younger brother of Henri Pu-yi, whom the Japanese installed as puppet emperor of Manchuria in 1934.

Pu-yi was among 33 prisoners who got out of prison last December.

That release apparently was an experiment by the Communists to determine if rehabilitated prisoners would toe the mark once they were released or whether they would engage in what the Reds call "anti-party activities."

The experiment must have been a success. New China said it "has greatly encouraged the war criminals still in prison to continue to speed up their reformation."

The Communists describe their prison policy this way:

"Combining punishment with leniency and reform through labor with ideological education in dealing with criminals."

That means a work camp and brainwashing.

It said that "guided by revolutionary humanitarianism, patient education and reformation" were carried out among the prisoners by the Red government.

REPENT CRIMES

The fact that these war criminals who had committed serious crimes have repented their crimes and turned over a new leaf proves once again the strength and correctness of the policy of the Communist party and the peoples' government of reforming criminals," NCNA said.

Committee to Probe Indiana District Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special House committee on campaign expenditures decided Tuesday to hold hearings on ways to shorten and cut the cost of presidential and congressional campaigns.

Chairman Clifford Davis, D-Tenn., said the five-man committee thought the campaigns were too long and too expensive and believed the public agrees with this view.

The committee scheduled public hearings for Dec. 15-18 to get the views of party and campaign leaders on the subject. Davis said he hoped to submit recommendations to the next Congress.

A NEW PLAN DESIGNED TO BE THE FAIREST YET
TO REWARD THE CAREFUL DRIVER

Allstate's Good Driver Discount Plan for Michigan Motorists

The Allstate Plan lets accident-free drivers earn savings over Allstate's already low base rates, and charges higher rates for bad drivers.

The Allstate Plan doesn't penalize you for traffic violations.

The Allstate Plan doesn't increase your rates for minor-damage accidents or those proved not to be your fault.*

The Allstate Plan doesn't increase your rates for claims under collision coverage.

SPECIAL NOTICE... Present Allstate policyholders automatically come under the provisions of this new plan upon renewal, and will receive details by mail. New applicants begin receiving discounts after one year of accident-free driving with Allstate. The plan applies only to private passenger cars.

Individually owned or owned by husband and wife. It does not apply to Assigned Risks.
*The only accidents that affect your rates under Allstate's Good Driver Discount Plan are those in which we pay a liability claim of $50 or more in your behalf.

Busy on Flight CacheWith the Christmas rush starting this week — autographing letters.Tomorrow, if all goes according to schedule, the Post Office will mark its first "first flight cache" since 1928 with the advent of air-mail service from Pontiac Municipal Airport to points north and south.The first flight has created an influx of several hundred letters from stamp collectors desiring the special cancellation marks.Many of the collectors also request that the postmaster sign their stamped envelopes.So Postmaster William W. Donaldson complies as do postmasters in other cities where air mail is being inaugurated.

Post Office officials here cannot remember there ever being a first day cover (stamp) issued in Pontiac.They say that the last first flight cache was back in 1928 when, for a short time, air mail service was available here.The depression stopped that service."Stamp collectors in every part of the country are sending their stamped envelopes for the first flight caches," said Donaldson today."They're still coming in. It's possible we could have 300 by tomorrow," he explained."Monday I spent about 30 mirequesting it."

Christmas Show's as Exotic as an Oriental Bazaar

Mrs. Edward M. Buckley of Orchard Lake, president, Pontiac Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, pours tea for State President Mrs. F. Gordon Davis and National Extension Chairman Mrs. William McCallum, both of Birmingham, at the second annual Christmas show Tuesday in the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

By MADELEINE DOEREN.

The Pontiac Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, staged its second Christmas show, "Holiday Entertaining" Tuesday at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Two gold and maroon sari cloths from Malaya woven together covered a Christmas buffet luncheon table arranged by Mrs. Clifford Edlund and Mrs. Vernon Abbott. A gold Madama figurine from Rotten-burg, Germany, centered an arrangement of gold-sprayed tulip tree bolls from the Eke-lund gardens.

A brass carafe and tray were brought from Kashmir, India. Candles of stacked blocks flanked a gay table tree for Mrs. Paul Connolly's "Children's Table" covered with red net over satin. Tiny gnomes stood guard at each place set with holiday china.

For "Christmas Open

House." Mrs. Walter Willman and Mrs. Louis Schimmel used a red cloth printed in black and gold scenes, white ceramic ware and a chubby Santa Claus egg nog set.

An early American brass hurricane lamp and red cushions centered a round dinner-table setting by Mrs. Benjamin Jerome Jr. and Mrs. John Donaldson. Silver-bordered pale chattrouse china was placed on a sage-green linen cloth.

A pyramidal toothpick tree sprayed with snow held tiny silver balls on a red "Holly Christmas" cloth. A ginger table by Mrs. William Rogers and Mrs. Robert Castel. White Wedgewood china and silver candleholders completed the setting.

Colorful silk napkins brought from Thailand and place mats of vivid blue silk woven in Bangkok were featured on Mrs. Frederick Gaensbauer's luncheon table. Flatware of bronze and buffalo horn contrasted with hand-blown blue glassware from Cairo.

Hand-decorated candles and Della Robbin wreaths of cones and miniature artificial fruits were displayed by Waterford branch members.

Small teakwood tables from Hong Kong were loaned by Mrs. Jack Hubel and Mrs. D. B. Eames for individual arrangements.

A pyramid of gilded brussels sprouts in a black ceramic container was shown by Mrs. LeRoy Small who also used sprayed white pine in a Japanese arrangement.

DRIED MATERIALS

Dried materials in an olive green ceramic bowl were arranged by Mrs. W. Ross Thompson. Peppermint-stripe red and white carnations trimmed Mrs. Robert Dunlap's small living spruce tree in a stark white clay pot.

Angel hair in pale pink covered a small tree trimmed with bells suggested by Mrs. C. G. Burke for a powder room.

Sleek red reindeer pulled green ceramic sleighs filled with Santa's helpers for the table setting suggested by the Lake Angela branch.

Mrs. F. A. Voelker made ornaments of contact satin ribbon to go with Italian filligree for Mrs. C. R. Gately's espaliered Christmas tree.

Gilded wreaths of raw macaroni made by Mrs. Ray Latham, and Mrs. James C. Clark's boxwood wreaths with blue and gold balls vied for attention, as did swags and decorations by Mrs. Arthur Seiden, Mrs. O. H. Lundquist, Mrs. A. R. Young and Mrs. Floyd Blackleskie.

The new look in gift wrappings was shown by Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. Robert Isgrig and Mrs. Robert Isgrig.

Alternating at the table arranged by Mrs. Harold B. Euler were past presidents of the Pontiac Branch Mrs. Clifford T. Ekelund, Michigan Division Civic Improvement Chairman and Mrs. Arthur W. Selden.

Others were Mrs. Edward M. Buckley of Orchard Lake, Pontiac branch president; Mrs. William B. Hartman, first vice president; Mrs. James E. Howlett, second vice president; Mrs. William D. Thomas Jr., and Mrs. John H. Patterson, secretaries; and Mrs. James Nye of Sylvan Shores, treasurer.

Mrs. C. R. Gately was general chairman of the show.

Listening to the music box in the base of a revolving epergne from Nuernberg are Mrs. L. C. Sheffield of Motorway Drive, and Mrs. J. A. Hubbard of Woodward Avenue. They covered their table with forest-green felt festooned with plastic chain caught by green velvet bows. The turcen and mugs are of old English ironstone.

Ham Dinner Is Planned.

The Women's Department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will sponsor a ham dinner and turkey Friday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on Walton Boulevard.

Dinner will be served from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Fish also will be on the menu.

To Talk at Zonta

Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, director of continuing education at Michigan State University Oakland, will speak to the Pontiac Zonta Club Thursday at Hotel Waldron. Subject for discussion will be "The Pursuit of Excellence."

Symphony Weathers a Hard Test

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra tackled a difficult and technically demanding work with vigor and valor Tuesday evening at Pontiac Northern High School.

Brahm's "Concerto in A Minor" for violin, cello and orchestra (the so-called "Double Concerto") was presented as the major work with John and Melinda Dalley as soloists. A sizable number including many students was on hand to hear this work that is seldom played.

the one hand in the primary solo passages and sublimation and attentiveness to ensemble on the other. Both young people possess this quality in great measure.

FABRIC OF MELODY

John Dalley, the more mature and experienced artist, wove an almost visible gossamer fabric of melody in the violin passages. His pure tone was nonetheless virile, meeting the demands of the first movement, yet equal to the sweetness of the second movement.

Melinda, still in her teens, executed the difficult opening passages for "unaccompanied cello with grace and precision. This cadenza at the outset is one of the most exposed moments a cellist must face. Her precise and clear attack in the left hand was matched by her consistently smooth bowing.

Handicapped by a spotlight glare that threw her music stand in shadow, and unfortunately placed so that she could not see the conductor, she nevertheless performed with maturity, poise and innate musicianship that observers say should serve her in good stead whatever the concert.

EXCELLENT ENSEMBLE

Both instrumentalists played by excellent ensemble in the lyrical second movement. Their double-stop passages in the lively third movement made them seem, on occasion, to be a quartet.

Director Francesco Di Blas produced what some observers called his finest beat in this taxing number. The orchestra outdid itself in rising to the demands of the composer. A trifle heavy in spots (the timbre of the solo cello requires exquisite modulation of the accompaniment), the orchestra was not wholly at fault in this respect. The acoustics in the auditorium seem to vary with the size of the audience and the backdrop material employed.

Fulfilling its finest function of permitting young artists to be heard in infrequently played classics, the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra has indeed grown in stature and wears well the accolade of fine city orchestra.

BRAVURA MOZART

In addition to the Brahms, the dramatic overture to Mozart's "The Abduction from the Seraglio" was executed with skill and certainty by the orchestra.

The flowing legato, sometimes florid mood of Puccini's "Intermezzo" from "Manon Lescau" was laced with lovely harp passages.

The percussive rhythms and speeds of "Malaguena" and the catchy vignettes of familiar tunes in Anderson's "Irish Suite" were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. With seemingly endless variations on folk song themes, the "Irish Suite" had some spirited piccolo passages. The strings performed with color and charm. In keeping with the season, the encore demanded by the audience proved to be Leroy Anderson's "Sleigh Ride."

JOHN AND MELINDA DALLEY

Musicians Hold Clinic

A clinic for string players was conducted Tuesday afternoon for some 150 grade school and junior and senior high school instrumentalists by John and Melinda Dalley, guest artists at Tuesday evening's symphony concert.

Demonstrations of solo and duet numbers in a broad repertoire were given by the soloists. Ranging from Haydn through Schumann and Schubert, the pieces were chosen for illustrations of specific techniques.

An open question period of more than 20 minutes brought forth a variety of problems from the young string players. Of particular interest was the Lupot violin, a priceless instrument, which Mr. Dalley played.

Refreshments were served to the rapt young audience who held the gracious artists and their accompanist, Frances Farrar of Ann Arbor, more than an hour and a half.

Guest Was Rude: Abby

He Showed Poor Grace

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently while dining at the home of friends, the host said "grace." I thought it was a beautiful gesture, although we have never observed it in our home.

The next time I entertained three people at dinner, I asked this guest to say "grace."

He said: "It's your home - you do it." I was so upset I could hardly eat my dinner. Should he have answered me in that way, and what should I have done?

GRACIOUS

DEAR GRACIOUS: He shouldn't have answered you in that way, and you should have made up a simple "grace." Understandably, you were caught off guard, but "We thank Thee, Lord, for this food," would have saved the day.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I need a bra, but my mother makes me wear my brother's undershirt. I am so ashamed I say I don't feel well to get out of taking gym.

Now my gym teacher knows that something is wrong because I have missed so many gym classes. I can't tell her the reason I hate to take gym and my mother won't listen to me. Can you give me some advice?

March Recital Plans Mapped by Music Guild

Amy Hogle and Charles Wilson played two Rachmaninoff selections for the Pontiac Music Guild Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lester Snell on Auburn Avenue.

After discussion of plans for a March recital by Dr. Roy Underwood of Michigan State University, members appointed Mrs. Lester Quay and Mrs. Carl Clifford to serve on the state coordinating council of the Michigan Music Teachers Association.

Mrs. William Helisch, president, announced the next meeting will be Dec. 27 at the Berkshire Road home of Mrs. Everett Harris.

Brunch was served by the hostess.

DEAR "JUDY": Tell your gym teacher the truth. I'll bet she will be more understanding and helpful than you thought she'd be. When you are honest with teachers, they can perform "miracles."

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of four wonderful adopted children. One of the boys is part Indian. He is bright and lovable, but his skin is darker than the rest.

When we take our family places, thoughtful strangers gawk at us like we were from outer space. I don't mind that so much, but I've had people stop me in restaurants and on the street and ask, "Are they ALL adopted? Is the dark one Korean?" Are they REALLY brothers and sisters? Where did you get them?

Of course, when you adopt a child of a minority race you expect some problems, but I hope some of your readers will think twice before asking cruel questions.

PROUD PARENTS

DEAR ABBY: When a 17-year-old girl goes riding with an 18-year-old boy, he is driving the car, how close should she sit to him?

DEAR WANTING TO NOW: DEAR WANTING TO NOW: Close enough to talk - but not close enough to be talked about.

BPW Gets Ready for a Brunch

Plans for a Christmas Brunch Dec. 11 were made by Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club members Tuesday at a meeting in Hotel Waldron.

Following dinner, Marguerite Buckley, legislative chairman, presented a report on the National Legislative Platform Ballot which will form the platform for the club at the national convention at Chicago in July.

Mrs. Henry Campbell, chairman of District 10 of the state BPW, was guest speaker. She urged the Pontiac club to select nominees for district office.

Fashionettes Award Pin to 'Idealist'

Mrs. William Woodruff was the winner for losing the most weight for the week when the Fashionette Club met Tuesday evening in Adah Shelly Library. Mrs. Matthew Fotheringham was the winner last week.

Mrs. Virgil Lewis was awarded a pin for reaching her ideal weight.

Guest speaker was William Chase, local sales representative, who spoke on scales.

Following the meeting members visited the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., where Charles J. Brouillet presented movies on "Spirit of Christmas."

Y Mothers Set Public Bazaar

The Mothers' Club of the Young Men's Christian Association will stage a public Christmas bazaar from 3:30 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the YMCA on Mt. Clemens Street.

Special attractions will include Santa Claus, a photographer and a family style pancake supper.

Mrs. Darwin Spayisky is general chairman. Mrs. Lenworth Miner is in charge of publicity.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Kermit Helms, baked goods; Mrs. Pearl Watkins, needle work; Mrs. Ray Stiger, managers; Mrs. James Templeton, talent show; Mrs. Miner, country store; Mrs. Leonard Cotter, make up; Mrs. Paul Storie and Mrs. Neil Stranahan, white elephants; Mrs. William Martin, fish pond; Mrs. Melvin Yedlin, Mrs. Robert Widom, Mrs. Donald Schroeder, Mrs. Cecil Ries and Mrs. Ray Ellsworth, pan cake supper.

James Bank will show movies. Teen Help chairman will be Barbara McClure and Dan Ellsworth.

Mrs. Jack Zahn and Mrs. Ellsworth will supervise the hand craft booth.

Proceeds will benefit the Y's program of activities for Pontiac area youth.

Jean Elizabeth Slavin Is Wed to Gary L. Day

A reception in the home of the Fred A. Slavin of Woodline Drive, Waterford Township, followed the marriage of their daughter Jean Elizabeth to Gary L. Day Saturday morning in St. Benedict Church.

The Rev. Fergus A. Burke solemnized the vows before an altar decked with white carnations and roses.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Day of Cranlake Drive, Clarkston.

Silk illusion veiling attached to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones fell to elbow length over the bridal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted bodice, styled with round neckline, and long tapered sleeves, extended into a ballerina-length skirt.

White roses were arranged in a colonial bouquet for the bride.

Bride Slavin attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing cerise blue velvet and veiled headpiece of velvet leaves. She carried a cascade of yellow daisy chrysanthemums.

On the equine side were the bride's brother Richard as best man, with another brother, Donald, and Darrell Konkle serving as ring bearers. Pink roses accented the olive green silk crepe sheath dress for the mother of the bridegroom. Her hat was of white fur felt.

For her daughter's wedding and reception Mrs. Slavin wore a dress of brown silk brocade, winter-white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Pink roses accented the olive green silk crepe sheath dress for the mother of the bridegroom. Her hat was of white fur felt.

Date Takes Girl Home, of Course

Good Taste Today

Question: Will you please settle a family disagreement as to what would have been the correct thing to do in the following situation? Recently one sister-in-law visited another was very insulted because she was asked to remove the shoes she was wearing since they had steel lifts and would mark the new linoleum and recently scraped wooden floors.

She was given a pair of slippers to wear during her visit. Is such a thing permissible, or should she have said nothing and just accepted the marked floor?

Answer: A sister-in-law should not have felt insulted at being treated as a member of the immediate family, and asked to cooperate in protecting the new linoleum.

Question: My son had a house party and invited a girl who lives quite a distance from our house, as his date. He made arrangements with a friend of his and his date who were also attending the party, to pick her up and drive her here.

After the party was over, my son insisted that it was his duty to take her home. I think it was perfectly ridiculous as the friend with whom she came was going her way and could have taken her right to her door. Was it necessary for him personally to see her home?

Answer: You do not say whether the friend offered to take the girl home. If he didn't it most certainly was the duty of your son to do so.

Question: Will you be kind enough to settle an argument between my brother-in-law and myself: He says that it is not good manners for a man to shake hands with a woman when they are introduced. I disagree with him and have always been under the impression that it was perfectly all right to do so.

Answer: Correctly, she should offer him her hand first, but it is no great error should he offer his.

Buy Smaller Shoe

(NEA) — When you're buying a soft-shell pump (which means it has no boxing, only a soft leather lining), buy it a half-size smaller than your regular shoe size. Otherwise, when it loosens, it will be too large.

Wed at Central Methodist Pontiac Pair Married

Cora Jane Skelley wore a princess style tulle gown for her marriage to Lamarr A. Green Saturday evening in Central Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Milton H. Bank before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums, pom-poms and carnations. Some 200 guests were present.

Carl M. Skelley of Woodland Avenue is the bride's father. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Green of Beach Street.

An Empire waistline, modified Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves of rosepoint lace enhanced the bodice of the bridal gown. The chapel sweep train featured an insert of lace from waist to floor. A crown of sequins and pearls secured the bride's fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. Her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's sister Joan was maid of honor. Beverly Green, Edwin Lee Skelley and Mary Sue Dahlgren were bridesmaids.

The attendants were gowned alike in peacock blue velvet sheath dresses, fashioned with Empire waistlines trimmed with satin. Each held a semi cascade of yellow pom-poms, buttercups, daisy pointings and Tadmor roses. The same variety of flowers formed their head pieces.

Jerome Wood was the bridegroom's best man. Ushering were Ronald Green, Ernest Green, John Skelley and Charles Green.

Mrs. Green chose a print ensemble with black accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses for her son's wedding.

Following a reception in the

MRS. LAMARR A. GREEN

church parlors, the bride changed to a lilac suit with black accessories for traveling. Pinned to her jacket was a corsage from her bouquet.

The couple will reside on Murphy Avenue.

New Baby Book to Be for Sale Dec. 15

"Healthy Babies, Happy Parents"—an authoritative guide to baby care during the infant's first 12 months—which will be published by the Elkhart division of the McGraw-Hill Book Co. on Dec. 15, answers the many questions every mother has at one time or another asked herself about her baby.

Q. When my baby is hungry, will it hurt him to wait for his feeding?

A. It certainly won't hurt your baby to wait 5 or 10 minutes for a feeding. It doesn't usually make sense, however, to keep him waiting half an hour just because it isn't yet four hours by the clock since his last feeding.

Q. If I take a cocktail, will it affect my baby while I am nursing?

A. One or two cocktails are harmless to him.

Q. When can my baby truly smile?

A. Sometimes between 4 to 6 weeks after birth your baby will be able to smile because he wants to, when he sees you or hears you talk to him.

Q. If my baby seems to hear especially well and see well, does this mean he will be bright?

A. No one can say. Babies differ a good deal in their ability to respond to stimulation of the senses, but this seems to be a kind of physical variation and may have no direct relation to intelligence.

Q. Will I spoil my baby if I pick him up when he cries?

A. No. You won't spoil him if you pick him up and soothe and soothe him, even if you should do so for a little while almost every time he cries.

Q. What are the first fruits I should offer my baby?

A. Strained cooked pears, applesauce, or ripe mashed bananas are usually the best fruits to offer a baby first.

Q. Should I bother to change the diaper during the night if my baby doesn't waken?

A. Ordinarily it isn't wise to disturb a baby at night to change him, as long as he is sleeping.

Q. When is my baby likely to get his first tooth?

A. At about 7 months your baby's first tooth will probably be putting in an appearance, but the time may vary enormously.

Q. Will my baby sit up earlier and better if I have him practice sitting?

A. No. Your baby can sit up well just as soon as his back muscles are sufficiently developed and he has enough control over them, and not before.

Q. Should we use baby talk when speaking to the baby?

A. No, because he will naturally imitate the speech you use to him. And instead of helping him to learn how to talk correctly, you are teaching him to speak in a way he must very soon unlearn.

Q. Should I be training my baby to be right handed?

A. No, you should not. Most babies in their first year use both hands without showing any special preference for one or the other. When a preference does appear some time in the second or third year, it depends on the development of the brain and not upon training.

These and many other questions asked by inquiring parents are answered in "Healthy Babies, Happy Parents" by three distinguished pediatric authorities: Henry K. Silver, M.D., professor of pediatrics, University of Colorado School of Medicine; C. Henry Kempe, M.D., professor and head of the department of pediatrics, University of Colorado School of Medicine; and Ruth S. Kempe, M.D., formerly chief of the division of mental hygiene, department of public health of the city and county of San Francisco.

The book, generously illustrated with lively line drawings by Marty Links, is divided into two sections. The first section follows a month by month question and answer format and the second section—a manual on child care—deals in detail with the many vital subjects suggested by the questions.

The wide scope of the material is illustrated by the following sample chapter headings: "The Physical Facts About Your Newborn Baby," "Your Feelings as a New Mother," "Health Care for Your Baby," "Development and Learning," "Weaning," "Teeth," "Toilet Training," "Common Problems of the Normal Healthy Child," "Caring for the Sick Baby," "Accident Prevention" and "First Aid."

The book was awarded the Seal of Approval of the Physicians Council for Information on Child Health.

Peg-Board Walls Ideal for Closets

If you're building a utility closet to hold housecleaning gadgets, remember peg-board. Peg-board walls have a maze of little holes for holding hooks or pegs. These make it possible to hang much cleanliness equipment on limited wall space—mops, brushes, cloths, sponges, dustpans, brooms, and so forth. This assures a neater, more efficient closet—and peg-board itself is adsorbent.

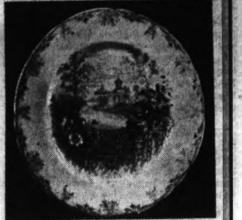

Consider the Cost

Machine-made buttonholes are sometimes best for sheer fabrics and for fabrics which fray easily.

Home economists at Michigan State University suggest you choose a pattern with no buttonholes when working on a fabric which ravel a great deal.

The first attempt at mining of the 1950s at Unity, Sask., 120 miles in Canada was made in miles west of Saskatoon.

Garden Unit to Entertain

Members of the Cranbrook Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will bring their favorite foods to the group's first dinner for their husbands, Sunday at the West Cranbrook Road home of Mrs. George H. Glover.

Mrs. Henry C. Botsford of Birmingham, ways and means chairman, will be assisted with party plans by Mrs. Oscar Mezey, Mrs. Russell Norris, Mrs. James Tenney and Mrs. George McCormick Jr.

Among white elephant articles to be auctioned will be a small traveling bag of 1883 vintage donated by Mrs. Lloyd Sherwood.

Sequined white elephant name cards will be worn by all and table centerpieces will harmonize with the pink and white decor.

The annual Christmas luncheon at 1 p.m. on Monday will be at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Taylor of West Valley Road, Bloomfield Hills. The photography committee will present a program "Club Activities Captured in Color."

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Percy H. Hamly, Mrs. Laurence Herman and Mrs. Robert Holbrook.

Marries James O. Maas

Nancy Lee Turnbull Wed

MRS. JAMES O. MAAS

Honeymooning in New York City are James O. Maas of Utica and his bride the former Nancy Lee Turnbull who exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening in Grace Lutheran Church.

White gladioli, roses and carnations on the altar formed a background for candlelight rites read by the Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer.

Receiving some 300 guests preceding buffet dinner and dancing in the Pontiac Country Club were the Herbert Turnbulls of North Cass Lake Road, Waterford Township, with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Maas of Utica, parents of the bridegroom.

The bouffant floor-length bridal gown of white silk tulle was styled with fitted bodice, wrist-point sleeves and bustle back. Seed pearl applique accented the scoop collar and bodice panel.

A butterfly veil of pure silk illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearl filigree. The bridal cascade of white carnations surrounded a corsage of white butterfly rosebuds.

Mrs. Donald Pursley attended the bride as honor matron with Janet Mack and the bridegroom's sister Carol of Utica and Roselee Albright of Dearborn, serving as bridesmaids.

Colonial bouquets of white carnations complemented their waist-length dresses of red chiffon worn with matching hats and shoes and wrist-length white gloves.

The bridegroom had Donald Hagan of Utica for best man, Gerald Mack and Albert Newmier, also of Utica, and Donald Pursley of Pontiac seated the guests.

The new Mrs. Maas chose champagne sheer wool with black coat and accessories for traveling. She is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and was affiliated with Tri Sigma Sorority. The couple will live in a new home in Utica.

A hat of gold leaves and corsage of bronze carnations accented Mrs. Turnbull's dress of beige and brown Italian silk print. Pink rosebuds complemented the two-piece pearl gray brocade suit for Mrs. Maas, worn with green hat and accessories.

Proceeds Will Aid Hospital Clinic

St. Joseph Women's Auxiliary Sets Bazaar

Slates Event for Dec. 8 in the Lobby

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital will present their annual public bazaar beginning at 6:30 a.m. Dec. 8 in the hospital lobby. Proceeds will benefit the hospital's clinic.

Biggest affair of the year for the auxiliary, the bazaar will feature seven tables decorated in Christmas colors and bedecked with gifts from throughout the world.

One table will offer lacunas from the Orient, trinkets of ivory from India, hand made beaded necklaces and embroidered linens. Gifts from Italy, Greece and Portugal also will be on display.

In colorful array on another table will be aprons (some from Portugal), linens and numerous other bazaar items.

A new specialty this year will be a baby booth which will carry everything from rattles to diapers.

The "sweet tables," decorated in gold tinsel, will feature fudge, cakes, cookies, rolls, home made bread and pies.

Toys, dolls, books, Christmas decorations and Christmas trees will be sold, and at another booth perfume, cologne, dusting powder, bath oil and other beauty products will be available.

Chairmen for the gala affair are Mrs. Forrest Hershbach and Mrs. Robert Vickers.

Heading committees are Mrs. Clifford Dick of Birmingham, Mrs. C. A. Wright, Mrs. D. L. Dacy, Mrs. Austin Sansone, Mrs. Peter Davidson, Mrs. Verne Drew and Mrs. Joseph Spadafore.

Others are Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. Edwin Dobski, Mrs. E. L. McManus, Elizabeth Halpenny, Mrs. Ralph Allen and Mrs. F. J. McDonough.

White Shrine Sets Fair and Dinner

The sixth annual Christmas fair and chicken dinner of Pontiac White Shrine No. 22 is slated from 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday in Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 7:30. Fair attractions will include booths with hand work, homemade jellies, pickles, baked goods and Christmas gifts.

The clinic at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital will benefit when the auxiliary holds its big annual Bazaar Dec. 8 in the hospital lobby. Active committee members

So She Can Sew

(UPI)—A new sewing machine is designed for use by girls between the ages of eight and 12. The machine is not a toy, but a miniature on which a child actually can make doll clothes, potholders, aprons, and after a bit of practice—something to wear. The machine is weighted so that it won't move on the table during operation. The threading device also is a simplification of the newest shades.

Better Each Year

(NEA) — Those jumbo beads get bigger, lighter and prettier each season. This year, they come in any color and length you might want. Plum is one of the newest shades.

Wives Want First Floor Laundry Room

Recent trends indicate that next to time and labor-saving laundry equipment, a convenient location for the laundry is desired by most homemakers. In fact, a separate laundry room on the first floor is preferred.

This stands to reason, because it permits the homemaker to accomplish other tasks while her efficient soaps, detergents, washer, and dryer do their work "unsupervised."

SHOE STORE

"Shoes for the Entire Family"

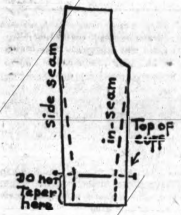

20 W. Huron Street FE 2-3821

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: All the guys in our fraternity have the same trouble. We all like our khakis and cords tapered at the bottom, but all the pants we can buy are too wide. There's a sewing machine at our house and we will try to fix these ourselves if you will tell us how." The Kappa Sigma

Just to think that you boys are aware of a column such as mine flatters me so much I am almost ready to fix them myself. You will be happy to know that it won't take more than a few minutes to taper these slacks.

1. Turn the slacks inside out and place a pin at the point where the top of the cuff comes. This should be done on both the in-seam and the side seam of each leg.

2. Rip the hem that forms the cuff.

3. Decide how much smaller you want the lower end of the slacks to be and mark each seam at the place where you placed the pin.

4. Take a yard stick and mark a straight line from this mark you have just made, up to the pocket on the side seam, and the crotch at the in-seam. See illustration.

5. The seam from the point you placed the pin, down to the end of the pants, must be straight. If you don't make this straight, the cuff will not turn up right.

6. When turning the hem up again, it may be machine stitched. The machine stitching will not show because it will be slightly under the finished cuff.

7. Turn up the cuff on the old crease marks, press and tack the cuff slightly at each seam. Good luck!

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: Now that the season for velvets and corduroys is here again, would you please tell us about the nap?" Mrs. L. J.

First, and most important, every piece of your pattern must be laid in the same direction when using napped fabric.

With velvet, velveteen and corduroy, the nap should run UP. To test the direction of the nap, hold the fabric up to your body. When you run your fingers from the shoulder down, the fabric should feel rougher to the touch than it does when you run your fingers up. The color will be much deeper and richer looking when cut correctly. You also will notice that the nap will not flatten out and become as shiny in such places as the back of your skirt.

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: I sent for your leaflet with instructions on bound buttonholes and must tell you that I have never had them turn out so nice before. I'm showing all my friends how you make them. Is there any place I would not use this type of buttonhole?" Your Fan

If everyone has the same kind of luck with them that you have, we will have overcome one of the hazards of "that homemade look." Don't use this type of buttonhole for anything you are making for boys or men, such as vests, sport jackets, sport shirts, etc. If you are using small buttons on blouses or tailored dresses such as shirt-waist dresses, you probably will use a machine-made buttonhole. It would be safe to use them on anything that isn't man-tailored.

If you would like to have Eunice Farmer's free leaflet, "Bound Buttonholes," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Players Slate Tryouts for New Production

Tryouts for the Waterford Township Lakeland Players' new production, "Ladies in Retirement," will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday and from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Community Center.

The play, under the direction of Jim Starnes, is a suspense drama and will be presented Feb. 3 and 4. Duward (Duke) Chaffee is the producer and president of the Lakeland Players.

Pontiac area residents have been invited to try out for parts whether or not they are members of the group, according to Starnes.

Look for Lining

(NEA) — If your clothes must last a long time, look for lined skirts and dresses when you go to shop. These hold their shape far longer and look better. They cost a bit more but they are worth it.

Girls Hold Initiation

Marilee Cross was hostess to the Gamma Zeta Mu Forum of Pioneer Girls at her home in Rochester for the formal initiation Tuesday.

Mrs. Walter Sawicki, one of the club's guides, conducted the candlelight ceremony for new members Gwen Hovis, Pat Elam, Charlene Kennedy, Paula Knowles, Linda McElrath, Bill Mercer, Alice Peterson, Mary Thompson, Jan Watts and the hostess.

Serving as officers for the year are Kathi Yeager, president; Sharon Vasi, vice president; Marilee Cross, secretary; Gwen Hovis, treasurer; Nancy Elam, historian; and Charlene Kennedy, word officer.

Leaders Mrs. John Stepleton, Mrs. Marvin Compton, Irene Barker and pals of each girl were also present.

Stand-by High School Plays Passe

EAST LANSING — "Willie's come by his office would be elected First Dress Suit" and other high school plays of its ilk are rapidly going into mothballs. Don't be surprised if you're asked to buy a ticket to the senior production of a recent Broadway hit — or maybe even Shakespeare.

As the current headquarters for the American Educational Theatre Association, the Michigan State University Speech Department is in close touch with developments of this sort. Dr. John A. Walker of the MSU staff is AETA executive secretary-treasurer.

High schools are not only producing better-written plays these days, but they're giving them better productions.

"Time was," says Dr. Walker, "when the principal would be wondering who'd direct the senior play this year. The first man to Twenty-five years old in 1961, AETA has grown from 91 members in 1936 to more than 4,000 today. One of its publications alone, "High School Theater News-letter," goes to 8,000 to 9,000 persons connected with the production of high school plays.

For example, a Michigan State University Speech Department graduate has made a name for both himself and the Michigan high school in which he teaches by inaugurating a school program that includes a television series, a radio series, a performance of Shakespeare each year and a series of student-directed one-act plays.

Most of the growth in the employment of wives and mothers has come about during the last two decades.

Say Mom's Food Isn't Fit for Public

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Board of Health and Hospitals was thinking twice today about whether mom's cooking is fit for public consumption.

On Monday the board sent letters to church and school organizations, pointing out that a city ordinance prohibits sale to the general public of food prepared in kitchens not subject to sanitary inspection.

Enforcement of the ordinance would mean that housewives no longer could contribute homemade cakes and dishes to bake sales and community suppers.

The clear implication in the law is that mother's cooking may not be fit to eat.

On Tuesday the board sent out another letter, withdrawing the first letter while the question is reconsidered.

"We certainly do not wish to deprive any school or church group from raising funds through this customary and established means," Dr. Francis M. Cardin, chairman of the health board, said.

According to population experts, less than seven per cent of American women never marry.

'Twicky' Tweeds

Tweeds are tricky. Home economists at Michigan State University note that tweeds may be woven of tiny bits of bright color, yet the overall effect may be gray when the fabric is viewed from a distance. Whether you shop for a new tweed skirt or a new tweed upholstered chair, step back and check the general color effect.

Make 'Clouds' for Your Yule Guests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Miniature candles that float on "clouds" make distinctive table favors for holiday guests, and they're as easy to prepare as a packaged pie. Combine two or three cups of soap flakes or detergent with a little water. Beat with a hand or electric mixer until the suds have the consistency of meringue. Drop a tablespoon of suds on waxed paper, foil or cookie sheet, and imbed a three-inch candle in the center. Sprinkle each cloud with gold or silver glitter. If place cards are needed, insert one in front of each candle. Let the clouds dry at least a day, then lift them carefully from the paper with a spatula and put on the table.

Be Kind to Face

(NEA) — Since skin blemishes thrive on oily skin, be sure to cleanse off all your make-up thoroughly before going to bed. Make-up contains oil and must be removed to permit the pores to "breathe."

Imagination Is the Answer

Get Out of Clothing Rut!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
We get into such ruts! I was just thinking about how much rest and fun it would add to life if we would live a little more imaginatively. If we would express our individual tastes with less fear and timidity. We are apt to dress alike, to furnish and decorate our homes in much the same manner, to read the same books and do the same things.

Yet those women who are known for their flair use a secret ingredient which is available to everyone. According to opera star Patrice Munsel, this secret is imagination. Miss Munsel, known as a woman who has the ability to make the unique work for her, says:

"Imagination gives you an outlet for self-expression and highlights your personality. For instance, everyone has a plain and simple suit that is a joy to wear, but looks very much like everyone else's simple suit. I add a flattering, eye-catching hat, and voila, that outfit is mine alone."

In the area of clothing nothing excites Miss Munsel as much as hats. She owns every shape and kind from tailored clothes to plumed evening hats and uses them all to add to the personality touch of her costumes.

I think that many women have forgotten that a hat can dramatize and personalize the simplest outfit. I also can add an extremely flattering touch with line and color.

Patrice Munsel even has a reversible hat, a cloth that can be turned inside out—plaid for daytime and on the reverse, white mink for evening.

This much traveled, talented and attractive young woman has designed several wardrobes for herself. One is a resort wardrobe of 50 pieces, all of them red, pink or white cotton or organza.

By interchanging the different parts she can create outfits for every occasion and hour. For instance, one beachrobe, by reversing its side, can be worn as an evening skirt. And all of this fits into one suitcase!

Patrice Munsel is equally imaginative in the decor of her home. She has taken unpainted furniture (or stripped the finish from old furniture) and applied decorative designs of her own fancy. She has antiqued the older pieces with various spray paints (gold, white, grey etc.) and then outlined the carved designs with an art brush to create shadow effects.

She believes in strong colors in clothes and decor. She said, "Most women have the imagination to dress themselves and their homes with lovely personal distinction, but many are too timid to follow their own inclinations."

"But whether it's wearing a charming hat or doing the living room in a startling color, imagination pays off in compliments and in self-satisfaction."

It also pays off because it scratches the creative itch we all have and adds color, novelty and variety to daily living.

If you like to have my leftist "Hobbies" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 86. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Cape Is Plastic
That popular fashion, the cape, now appears as an easy-to-slip-on raincape, made of polyethylene plastic — full enough to wear over suits and coats, and with a hood to protect milady's hat and hairdo.

To remove raindrops and other soil, just sponge the plastic surface clean with warm soap or detergent suds and rinses — or give it a sudsy "bath" in the tub.

Allow nail polish remover to soak for a few minutes on hardened paint spots on floors. Then rub off with a cloth and wash with warm suds.

Skip These Presents if You'd Please Dad

By RUTH MILLETT

Usually at this time of year I fill a column with gifts I don't want to find under my Christmas tree. But this year the most senseless, silly gifts are being suggested for men instead of women. (May be with the mink-trimmed toothbrush, manufacturers ran out of "cute" gift ideas for women.)

So for loyal men readers of this column I'll make a list of gifts I hope no man will find under his Christmas tree — each and every one taken from an honest-to-goodness advertisement in just one gift catalog.

First on the list is the "personal holiday ringing bell shorts" guaranteed to make a wonderful "conversation piece." The ad for these frankly admits they aren't completely practical — what with having a handpainted Santa on them.

But the implication is "Who cares?" so long as the bell on Santa's cap rings with every step the wearer takes — a conversational ice breaker in any circle. Next on the list of what not to give a man for Christmas is a beanie, badly in need of a shave, bearing the receiver's name. This stubble-bum is not only supposed to hold used razor blades but to prod its owner into shaving often enough not to look like a bum himself.

And then there's a dental plate repair kit — for the do-it-yourself addict. This little gift goes from the extreme of the utterly useless to being just a shade too practical, don't you think?

Let's not forget hairy Harry for the man who hasn't having much luck growing hair on his own head. Ceramic Harry comes bald, but fill him with water and he sprouts green hair all over his head.

The list of what-not-to-give-a-man wouldn't be complete without mentioning the "crazy mixed-up insult tie" — 42 inches of printed in "Who sells that are guaranteed to make 'Dad fall over in fits of laughter.' Unfortunately there was no warning in the advertisement for this funny, funny necktie that did might use it to strangle anyone who put it under his Christmas tree.

Nylon Brush Is Better Choice for Thick Hair

(NEA) — With the growing popularity of nylon hairbrushes, a controversy has developed over the relative merits of the nylon and natural bristle brushes. Actually, you may safely use either.

For coarse or unruly hair, the nylon brush is far better. Just be sure that in picking a nylon brush, you buy a good one. Run your hand over the bristles. They should be neither squared off nor sharp. But there's no need to worry about this in a good nylon brush made by a dependable maker.

If your hair is soft and fine, you'll probably prefer a natural bristle brush. On checking some of this country's top hairdressers, I found they were divided about 50-50 on the subject. Some clung to the notion of the natural bristles, others wouldn't use anything but the nylon. And some had compromised by having brushes made up especially for their salons with bristles that were a mixture of the natural bristle and the nylon.

Here's How to Brighten Your Eyes

Beautifying your eyes with make-up can be an exciting and beneficial art. Make-up can make your eyes look larger, your lashes longer, and you can even change the shape and slant of your eyes with a single stroke of color.

An important phase of eye beautification is the art of properly lining the eyes to give them shape and definition.

The following tips, as suggested by beauty authority Max Factor, will help you line and shape your eyes easily.

First, make the upper eyelid taut by gently pulling the outer corner toward the temple.

Use either an eyebrow pencil or fluid eyeliner and draw an even, precision-like line along the lid next to the eyelash roots. Begin at the inner corner of the eye and extend the color beyond the outer corner in the desired shape.

Remember to start with a fine line and gradually widen the line to about 1/4 of an inch. Also, as you draw the line, allow some of the color to touch the eyelash roots so that there will be no demarcation between the roots and the line itself.

Cedar Chests Are Popular With the Gals

Christmas shopping problems are simplified for the young man looking for something special for his favorite girl.

IDEAL GIFT — It could be a sweetheart chest. This low bench chest with deep cedar-lined interior is perfect at the foot of a bed. It's bone white with gold trim.

In fact, statistics show that 80 per cent of all cedar chests are purchased as gifts for young girls between 17 and 24 years of age, and that romantic young men head the list of buyers.

Now called a sweetheart chest, this cedar-lined storage unit makes a holiday hit with all young girls as an engagement or pre-engagement gift.

The new sweetheart chest features units with long and low lines perfect for a bench at the foot of a bed. They are also attractive as window seats or wall accents for any room of the home.

Styled to please any decorative preference, the chests are designed in French Provincial, traditional, Oriental and modern modes, all in a wide range of fine woods.

The deep cedar interior protects clothing and the linens and woolsens being saved for a future home. Some chests have felt-lined drawers perfect for a silver collection.

Sliding or self-rising trays beneath the lids of other sweetheart chests allow a separate storage area for small items such as gloves, jewelry and scarves. Some new models have drawers or doors adjacent to the cedar-lined compartment. Upholstered tops are handsome accents on several chests.

As the first furniture item a young couple shares, the sweetheart chest — the symbol of a happy future — is the gift that starts the home.

So the young man with a favorite girl, is the young man who can solve the dilemma of her Christmas gift with ease.

Let Mechanics Keep Your Car in Top Shape

NEW YORK (UPI) — What goes on under the hood of a car is strictly man's business — but more and more it's woman's work when the family auto needs to be gassed, oiled and serviced.

The nation's 30 million female drivers really needn't be master mechanics to keep their cars in tip-top condition. E. W. Kelley, supervisor of the laboratory garage at Weaver Manufacturing Division, Dura Corp., Springfield, Ill., said so. He suggested that the typical female driver learn to depend on the help offered by a reliable garage man.

How well or how poorly an auto is maintained can make the difference of hundreds of dollars both in repair bills and in the car's eventual trade-in value. But there's more than economics to proper car maintenance.

"It can also determine whether the car is going to be safe to drive or a death trap on wheels," Kelley said.

HERE ARE TIPS

To help the housewife get the best possible return on her car maintenance dollar, the expert made the following suggestions:

—Become familiar with the normal operation of your car. Pay attention to how it rides, accelerates, stops and vibrates. Listen to your car. Learn how it sounds under different operating conditions. Most car troubles cause strange sounds. Investigate all abnormal noises.

—Make sure your repairman knows what you are talking about when you take your car in for service. A surprising amount of money is wasted every year because owners give servicemen foggy explanations.

—It is almost always dollarsaving to have minor difficulties corrected before they turn into major ones.

—Have routine maintenance performed at the mileage recommended by the manufacturer of your car.

—If most of your driving is in the city, don't wait for the stipulated mileage to show up on your speedometer before having your car serviced. This is vital in winter, when excess gas, wasted during engine warm-up accumulates in the crankcase.

—Develop the habit of checking your car's brakes and signal lights daily. When you start out in the morning, depress the brake pedal before you back out of your garage. If it goes down too far or will not pump back up, have the brakes checked.

School Bus Toll May Rise to 20

LAMONT, Alta. (UPI) — The train at an ungarded crossing death toll in the collision of a bus and a freight train today.

WHERE THEY DIED — The mangled wreckage of part of the ill-fated school bus is shown still in front of the freight train which rammed the vehicle Tuesday, killing at least 16. The bus was just 300 yards from the school when it met the 30-car train.

Boos and Bomb Scares Shake Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — Carnegie Hall was turned into an ideological battleground for a while Tuesday night.

Boos and bomb scares, catcalls and fistfights greeted a Yugoslav chorus making its first concert appearance here before a near-capacity crowd of 2,500.

"Down with Tito," cried a group of hissing, catcalling demonstrators. "Down with communism."

"Slush," said other members of the audience. The hecklers persisted. The chorus was startled but didn't waver.

Soon 12 to 15 men were grappling in a free-for-all.

The chorists launched into the praises of the "new Yugoslavia," with shouts of encouragement from some of the audience.

Then, abruptly, the fistfists stopped. Later shouts again drowned out the music. Soon at least 20 persons were mixing it up.

Nine policemen, summoned by the manager, took four demonstrators to the lobby where they were told to leave or face charges of disturbing the peace. They left.

Earlier, telephone calls had warned that a bomb had been placed in the hall. No bomb was found.

Expect Budget Deficit in 1961 as Result of Present Recession

BOSTON (UPI) — One of President-elect John F. Kennedy's economic advisers believes the new administration will contain the current recession and bring about an upturn of business by the second half of 1961.

Prof. Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology discussed the situation in Business Scope, a fortnightly newsletter of business published in Boston. He stressed that he spoke as an "academic economist" rather than as an adviser to Kennedy.

"As result of the recession, he said, the new administration probably will face a budget deficit during its first year.

While a deficit that is merely a sign of undisciplined spending would be a bad thing, he said, a deficit under recession conditions is proper and reasonable.

However, he said the administration faces two tougher problems than that posed by the recession—inflation and balance of payments.

"The essence of the inflationary problem that would be troublesome to us is one in which there is the tendency of rising costs to lead to higher prices and so on the 'cost-push' effect, as it is called," said Samuelson.

"The likelihood is not that we will experience a runaway inflation, but rather the sort of price-creep with which we have become familiar."

He said the balance of payments problem stems from the fact that if the prices of our goods rise, the value of our exports may fall, and the balance of payments difficulty becomes worse.

He said the problem might be solved by devaluation of the dollar, but he said he felt sure Kennedy would not use this device.

Dutch Seize Indonesian Ship Off New Guinea

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A Royal Dutch Navy patrol vessel has seized an Indonesian ship carrying arms for infiltrators off the coast of Dutch New Guinea, the home ministry announced Tuesday.

The Indonesian ship and crew are being detained.

Last week the home ministry said a gang of some 20 armed Indonesians tried to infiltrate the island territory, which Indonesia claims, and some were arrested after a clash with local police.

Sixteen children—13 of them girls—were killed Tuesday when a 30-car freight smashed into the school bus carrying 42 children to morning classes and scattered books and bodies like popcorn along a half-mile section of track.

Dr. M. A. Young, administrator of the 100-bed Archer Memorial Hospital here said Tuesday night that of the 25 injured at least 16 were in serious condition and several were in "very critical condition."

He said he feared the death toll would go higher.

Only one occupant of the bus, 16-year-old Johnny Winnick, escaped injury in the shattering crash that occurred just 300 yards from the safety of the school.

MANY HEAR CRASH — The crash was heard by many of the town's 82 inhabitants and brought them to the scene on the run.

Dozens of women, many of them mothers of the victims, cried hysterically while police and rescue teams worked for two hours to remove the dead and injured from the yellow 1954 model school bus.

"Those innocent children," screamed one woman. "Why did this have to happen?"

"This is the worst thing I've ever seen or ever want to see," sobbed another.

Mrs. Peter Stofuro, a teacher at the consolidated high school and public school, said she was driving three children to school in her automobile.

New Machine Plots Pilot's Air Location

TETERBORO, N.J. (UPI) — A device that automatically tells a pilot his aircraft's location during every moment of flight was demonstrated today at International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. Laboratories in Nutley, N.J.

The instrument continuously plots the aircraft's position on a map of the area over which the plane is flying.

As many as 20 maps covering the pilot's flight route can be stored in the 15-pound unit.

Known as the Vortec Pictorial Display, the device is designed to help pilots avoid busy air traffic lanes and reduce attention required to solve navigational problems.

Scientists at the ITT Laboratories said the instrument would contribute greatly to air safety by enabling pilots and copilots to concentrate more fully on other flight problems.

LOCATING CRASH — The map pinpoints Lamont, Alta., where the school bus carrying 42 children met disaster Tuesday. At impact, books and bodies flew up "like popcorn."

"We were about 100 yards behind the bus when it approached the crossing," she said.

SEEMED ALL RIGHT — Mrs. Stofuro said she saw the bus stop at the tracks. She saw the train approaching and thought everything was all right.

"Then I saw him (Frank Buley, the 38-year-old bus driver) driving onto the tracks. Then in an instant everything seemed to fly up—books and bodies—like popcorn."

One of the first men at the scene, Paul Nycho, said he experienced the mixed emotions of horror, pity and then anger.

He said he found himself crying after helping to remove the bodies from the bus.

"I blame myself," Nycho said. "I blame myself and I blame the townspeople of Lamont for the crash. The crossing should have been protected by lights."

"They (the children) were the cream of the crop. We raised them, educated them and now this. Maybe it will amarten up some of the people."

Nycho was credited with pulling six of the injured children from the wreckage.

Harry Lucas, janitor of the school, was standing in the school doorway when the accident happened.

Lucas said he saw the train coming, saw the bus on the tracks and then "I saw the bus folded around the front of the engine."

Keith Tompkins, 12, youngest student in the bus, said: "I heard a crash, and flew right out of the bus. When I landed I did not have any shoes or socks on."

Keith was only slightly injured and made his way back to the wreckage to help free his two brothers.

GATHER BESIDE TRACKS — Along the tracks people gathered and surveyed the crash scene.

Youngsters stopped beside blood-spattered school books, broken lunch buckets, pencils and pieces of steel. Tears welled in their eyes.

The bus normally carried 41 children but two youngsters, Robert Motuk 16, and Florence Sheboda, 11, missed it Tuesday.

The secretary-treasurer of the school board, M. Woyenick, said the bus driver was a regular and had been approved by the board. The driver was among the seriously injured.

Paid Claims Way Up for Life Insurance

NEW YORK — Michigan families received $108,183,000 in life insurance payments during the first nine months of 1960, up from $97,875,000 in the same period last year, the Institute of Life Insurance said today.

In the first three quarters, the institute reported, some 54,900 policies became claims in Michigan, compared with 51,846 in the same period of 1959.

Plans to Meet Nixon Friday

Rockefeller Wants Re-Election in '62 to New York State Governor's Chair

From Our News Wires

ALBANY, N.Y. — Nelson A. Rockefeller announced Tuesday he would seek re-election as governor of New York state in 1962. But he declined to say whether he would bid for the Republican nomination for President in 1964.

At the same time, Rockefeller refused to say whether he thought the Republicans should nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president again in 1964.

The governor said he considered discussions of the next presidential election premature.

Rockefeller's comments made at a news conference, indicated his intention to keep himself in a strong position to seek the presidential nomination, provided he won re-election as governor in 1962.

TO WORK WITH NIXON

Rockefeller said he planned to work closely with Nixon, who lost the presidential race this month to Democrat John F. Kennedy.

Rockefeller said he will meet with Nixon, at a breakfast session Friday in Washington.

The meeting with Nixon will follow a session Thursday night on an equal plane with Nixon in of GOP leaders discussing the presidential campaign.

Rockefeller declined to say whether he favored the removal of party affairs.

"I don't believe in status," Rockefeller told reporters.

He said Nixon would have a "tremendously important part" in strengthening the Republican party, in the wake of its defeat this year.

But the governor declined to recognize Nixon as the party's active and actual leader.

Rockefeller said he felt that a party without a president in office lacked an actual head, except, perhaps, for its national chairman.

On that score, Rockefeller said he had given no thought as to whether GOP Chairman Morton should continue in that post.

In his first try for public office in 1958, Rockefeller carried New York by 570,000 votes. But the nation's most populous state gave its electoral votes to Democratic President-Elect John F. Kennedy by a 400,000 vote plurality this Nov. 8.

The governor said he considered charges that he had not campaigned as forcefully as some critics thought he should have for the GOP presidential ticket had been answered sufficiently by state GOP Chairman L. Judson Morhouse.

Rockefeller also turned aside any suggestions that he was bidding to lead a "liberal wing" of the Republican party in a contest for leadership with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, an arch-enemy whether he would consider himself servative, or Nixon.

He described Nixon as one of the "vital forces in the (Republican) party." In the next four years, Rockefeller said, he expected to work for strength and unity of the party in cooperation with the vice president.

The governor said his own role on the national scene would be as a party leader. He would not say Goldwater of Arizona, an arch-enemy whether he would consider himself servative, or Nixon.

Bagwell Spent $111,069 in Loss

Defeated Candidate for Governor Notes Debt in Expense Statement

LANSING (UPI) — Paul D. Bagwell said Tuesday he spent $111,069 in his second unsuccessful bid to become governor of Michigan.

Some $10,000 of the debt is still outstanding but will be turned over to the Republican State Central Committee, he said.

Bagwell said his campaign committee had received $50,000 from the state central, and $49,413 had been spent that was raised by the Bagwell for Governor Finance Committee, which was formulated to supplement party funds in the campaign.

Bagwell said there was a small balance in the campaign bank accounts that would be turned over to the State Central Committee along with the debt.

His financial statements listing contributions and expenditures was filed with the Ingham county clerk in Mason.

Committee to Study Shorter Campaigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Special committee to investigate campaign spending agreed Tuesday to investigate the election in Indiana's 5th District.

According to the unofficial count, Republican George O. Chambers of Anderson defeated Democratic Rep. J. Edward Trosch, Huntington, by five votes out of approximately 21,000 votes cast.

Roush submitted an affidavit in which he alleged that in Precinct 1 of Jefferson Township in Grant County, 31 absentee ballots were counted but that only 17 actually were cast. The count showed nine for Roush and 22 for Chambers.

Ventura Shoppers Get Early Christmas Gift

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Downtown shoppers get a Christmas gift — no parking meter fees — starting Dec. 7.

Decorative bags covering meters will explain there's still a two-hour parking limit.

Merchants suggested the idea, to which the city agreed, though noting it will lose about $2,750 in meter revenues.

Kennedy's Popular Vote Margin Now 180,180

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Republicans were challenging the Nov. 8 election results in some areas, President-Elect John F. Kennedy held a margin of 180,180 votes today over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Only 181 precincts, scattered among six states, remained unreported in those figures, based on official returns from 31 states and unofficial tabulations in the other 19.

The totals at this point gave Kennedy 34,120,496 votes and Nixon 33,940,316. The total for the two already surpassed 68 million votes, to set a new record.

Republicans were charging that in some precincts in Texas and Illinois, more votes were tabulated than the number of registered voters.

A formal contest notice filed in Texas charged among other things that "in many boxes the returns show more votes counted for president and vice president than there were voters listed on the actual voter list."

In Chicago, both a grand jury investigation of alleged election fraud and a recount of the vote in some precincts were underway. The recount officially concerns only a Cook County race, but an unofficial check of precinct ballots in the first predict completed gave Nixon 20 more votes than he had received in the official canvass.

Another Chicago precinct counted 84 votes cast although only 58 registered voters lived in the precinct.

Meade ALCORN, general counsel for the Republican National Committee, said only three votes in the disputed precinct were counted for Nixon, who ran far behind Kennedy in the Chicago area but lost Illinois' 27 electoral votes by a margin of only 8,849 in the statewide totals.

Says Jewish Students on Increase in College

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. William Haber of Ann Arbor, Mich., forecasts that 400,000 Jewish students will be enrolled in American colleges and universities by 1970.

Haber, nation chairman of B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations, said the figure would be twice as many as in 1955.

W. Germany Favors A-Arms for NATO

PARIS (AP) — West Germany, through its envoy to Paris, came out Tuesday in support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as atomic power.

Ambassador Herbert Blankenhorn made clear at a meeting of the French Diplomatic Press Association that he was reflecting the views of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer as he said.

"For psychological as well as military reasons, the European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) should participate more fully in the alliance's strategic planning, particularly in the capital issue of the use of atomic weapons."

"The alliance as such should have its own atomic arsenal, and all members should participate equally in any decision to employ it."

An Awkward, Awkward Name

Second Lady Lady Bird Must Get Bigger House

By RUTH MONTGOMERY WASHINGTON — One of the problems posed by the incoming administration will be learning to say "Second Lady Lady Bird Johnson."

The sparkling, brunette wife of the newly elected vice president has been called "Lady Bird" by her husband and friends since her father nicknamed Claudia Taylor that as a dainty moppet. Lyndon even lists his wife as Lady Bird in his official congressional biography.

About the time that Jacqueline Kennedy assumes the title of First Lady and moves to the White House, the second lady expects to be shopping for a more commodious house to accommodate her family's increased responsibilities.

Just returned from a "perfectly thrilling" week in Paris, where Johnson served as a delegate to the NATO parliament, Lady Bird told this correspondent:

"The time has come when, if I'm ever going to do anything about it, I must look for a bigger house in Washington. We've been talking about it for two years, but when Lyndon and I walked in here with our six suitcases and wondered where to set them down, I knew that I really must do something about it."

A millionaire in her own right through her ownership of a string of Texas radio and television stations, Mrs. Johnson has been worried less about the expenditure than the practicality.

Her soft drawl held a hint of humor as the efficient business woman who also has an Austin apartment and a Texas ranch, added: "Now that it appears we'll have a job in Washington for at least four more years, I guess we should take the step before we spill out onto our doorstep."

The problem of moving would be a relatively simple one for Lady Bird Johnson, just as it would have been eight years ago for second lady Pat Nixon. If Uncle Sam had accepted one of the several furnished mansions which have been offered free in the wills of bygone multi-millionaires, on condition that they be used as the official residence for vice president.

Penny-wise-pound-fool Uncle Sam has continued through the years to find plenty of billions to lavish on spend-thrift Allies, but refuses to take title to a free house because of the expense of upkeep.

The latest of such showplaces declined by the government was a Trugaron, the beautiful brown estate of the late Joseph E. (Mac to Moscow) Davies, which had its own nine-hole golf course and easily protected private grounds.

Mention McCormack as Jack's Successor

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., a nephew of U.S. House Majority Floor Leader John W. McCormack, was mentioned today as a possible successor to President-Elect Kennedy in the Senate.

Gov. Foster Furcolo said he had added McCormack's name to a long list of candidates for a two year appointment to Kennedy's unexpired term.

The governor will make the final choice but he said he will be "astounded" in Kennedy's views on the matter before he reaches a decision.

McCormack was expected to have strong backing from his uncle, who was floor manager for Kennedy at the Democratic National Convention last July. The congressman is a close friend of House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson as well as Kennedy.

General Says Struggle Between Free and Red World Is Technological

BOSTON (AP) — The relatively quiet cold war between communism and the free world has turned into a technological war, an Air Force general said today.

Li Gen. B. A. Schriever, chief of the U.S. Air Force Air Research and Development Command, said: "The relative positions of these two technologies can be as important to the future of our world as the relative positions of armed forces in a shooting war."

"We must never forget," he declared at an annual science and engineering symposium, "that people constitute our prime strategic resource. It is brainpower—thoughtfully nurtured in this free land—that will give us the final decision in the technological war."

"No matter how sophisticated our machines become," he said, "they lack one essential endowment of the human mind. It is the creative faculty—a uniquely human force, generating immeasurable power."

"Breakthroughs are major victories in the technological war on which the ultimate success of our cause depends," Schriever said. He urged that "steps be taken immediately to improve the prospects of our military and civilian personnel in research and development."

He asserted that deterioration of the position of technical personnel has now reached dangerous levels.

Chou Accuses Tito of Diverting Albania

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's premier Chou En-lai accused President Tito of Yugoslavia Tuesday of obstructing what he termed the "Socialist construction" of Albania, a Communist neighbor of Yugoslavia.

"The Yugoslav Tito clique has never for a day stopped its subversive and disruptive activities against Albania," Chou charged in a statement broadcast by Radio Peiping.

His statement was reported to have been made at a reception held in Peiping in celebration of the 16th anniversary of Albania's national day.

Carey Can't Find Time to Retire

By DON FERMOYLE
SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — John L. Carey, who defeated the colorful Orville Hubbard while serving three terms as mayor of Dearborn, just can't seem to retire from public life.

Although he has officially "retired" four times, Carey, a spry 72-year-old, now finds himself serving his sixth year as Springfield Township supervisor.

In addition, he also is chairman of a special government study committee and a member of the powerful ways and means committee on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Carey's intention when he moved out here 18 years ago was to spend his time tending to his antique gun collection, reading historical works and visiting museums.

But then some people from the township came to visit him in 1954. They asked him to take over as township supervisor and he's been serving in that position ever since.

It was always the same story with Carey, a successful aviation engineering executive in his own right and a friend of such automotive pioneers as K. T. Kellogg and Henry Ford.

"Actually it was Mr. Ford who persuaded me to run for mayor in Dearborn," Carey reflected, "I was on the Dearborn Board of Education at the time and became mayor in 1935."

BEAT HUBBARD 3 TIMES
A measure of Carey's popularity is shown by his victory in 1935 and in his next two successful campaigns in the Wayne County race.

His opponent in each election was Hubbard. Carey won decisive victories every time. He retired as mayor in 1948 and Hubbard has been elected in every mayoral race since then.

Carey, president and general manager of Wings, Inc., in Dearborn, closed his engineering firm at the start of World War II when most of the aviation industry moved to California.

Retired from business and local government, Carey began giving some thought to the less tiresome pursuits of a retired man.

But again he was persuaded to take a place on the Dearborn Board of Education after the death of its president.

SHORT RETIREMENT
He finally decided to move to Springfield Township in 1950. At first, a fool with my guns and run around to museums."

Four years later he was back in public office and he is admittedly proud of his work as supervisor. He doesn't believe that townships should operate like big cities and hires no full-time employees.

The township office is not open full time, but Carey is always available to citizens in his modest home at 974 Dixie Highway, which was formerly owned by Henry Ford's brother-in-law, Fred Bryant.

Carey approaches present day flight instructor for the U.S. Army government from a historical point of view, but he also is interested in progress. He maintains his interest in airplanes, county government and his township.

During World War I, he was a LITTLE TIME FOR HOBBIES — John L. Carey, who retired as mayor of Dearborn in hopes of leading a quiet life in Springfield Township, has been busy ever since he moved there. He is serving his sixth year as township supervisor and often doesn't get as much time as he likes to add to his antique gun collection. He is shown with the gun he used as mayor and a pistol which once was owned by the Confederate secretary of the navy during the Civil War.

20th Anniversary of WSCS to Be Feted Dec. 8

CLARKSTON—Charter members and past presidents of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Clarkson Methodist Church will be honored at a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Dec. 8 to commemorate the organization's 20th anniversary.

After the luncheon, a brief business session will be conducted by President Mrs. Richard Christiansen.

Vice president in charge of programs, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, will present Mrs. Carl Binkle of Birmingham, a teacher and world traveler, who will conduct a pictorial trip through the Mediterranean and the Holy Land.

Mrs. Paul Eliaison will present a cello solo, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Skarratt at the piano.

All community women have been invited. The executive committee will meet at 11 a.m. Thursday.

115 Protesting Assessments

Walled Lake Council to Get Petitions Tuesday — Action Promised

WALLED LAKE — Petitions signed by property owners objecting to unequal tax assessments will be presented to the City Council Tuesday.

Protesting inequities in the city's assessment structure are more than 115 home owners from Minnowton, Carroll Acres, Moorecrest and Knoll and Dale subdivisions.

The property owners are seeking reassessments of their land values to reflect a recent ruling of the Michigan State Tax Commission which resulted in reduced property taxes for two areas.

The two who received lower assessment relief from the state are Clyde A. Motor of 1722 Bolton St. and Richard J. Watkins of 1641 Ashton St.

After receiving the lower rates the two property owners in the Carroll Acres subdivision decided that others should voice their dissatisfaction with property assessments and began circulating the petitions.

City Manager George Shaw and Mayor Walter Proctor have already agreed that assessments on many properties are out of line and indicated that reappraisals will have to be made.

Both blamed the errors in assessments on an Ohio firm hired in 1957 to evaluate all city property.

The city officials said the appraising firm was called back following year to make corrections but mistakes in assessments still are being realized and revisions have been made yearly.

Motor and Watkins took their complaint to too high assessments to the state after unsuccessfully appealing to the city for relief.

In winning their appeal before the state Motor received a 17 1/2 per cent assessment reduction, and Watkins, 13 1/2 per cent decrease.

Board of Education to Select Member

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Farmington Board of Education will meet in special session tomorrow to name a successor to board member James E. Bowers who has resigned.

Bowers, a member of the board since he was elected in June, resigned his post after accepting a job in Massachusetts.

The appointment will expire at the end of the fiscal year in June. Voters in the school district will then elect someone to serve the balance of Bower's unexpired term.

Will Offer Pontiac Press on Weekend to Gain Funds

Goodfellow editions of The Pontiac Press will be sold in five Oakland County areas this weekend to raise funds to help the needy at Christmastime.

Several of the communities will stage holiday parties for underprivileged youngsters, and all will distribute food baskets to destitute families before Dec. 25.

Following is a list of the paper sale locations and the projects being supported with the proceeds:

AVONDALE

A Christmas party for underprivileged children Dec. 17 is one of the major projects financed through the sale of Goodfellow editions of The Pontiac Press in the Avondale area.

The Avondale Metropolitan Club hopes to raise $1,000 in the sale, which will start at 4 p.m. Friday and end at noon Saturday.

Goodfellow editions may be purchased on Auburn Road at Adams Road, Crooks Road and Rochester Road and at South Boulevard and Adams Road.

Metropolitan Club members will remain at their corners until all papers are sold out both Friday and Saturday.

Besides the Christmas party, the sale of The Pontiac Press Goodfellow editions also will help provide food baskets for the needy which will be distributed Dec. 24.

Goodfellow chairman Erwin Sheldon, a volunteer fireman, said anyone knowing of needy families should contact the Rochester police department.

ROCHESTER
The Rochester Goodfellows, formerly the Ben Jones Goodfellows, have set a goal of $2,000 to be raised by special newspaper sales this weekend, according to Fire Chief George Ross, sale chairman.

The money will be used to stage the annual Christmas party for needy children from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 17 at the junior high school.

A turkey dinner will be served, special entertainment will be provided and Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute presents.

Also, according to custom, the remainder of the proceeds will be used to fill Christmas baskets for distribution to destitute families just before the holiday.

Persons knowing of needy families may give their names to Rochester Police Chief Samuel Howlett, he said 135 such families were given baskets last year in the Rochester area through the use of funds from the paper sales, local service clubs and individuals.

The Goodfellow Edition of The Pontiac Press will be sold Friday afternoon in Rochester.

TROY
Troy's 80 policemen and volunteer firemen will be stationed at every major intersection in the city Friday for the annual sale of the Goodfellow edition of The Pontiac Press.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to supply food baskets to some 125 needy families and to outfit underprivileged children in new clothing for Christmas.

Besides the newspaper sale, the Goodfellows here also are given the use of the Troy Drive-In.

REDUCERS
The Troy Drive-In will be used to supply food baskets for needy families, gifts for underprivileged children and a Christmas party for all youngsters in the township.

Goodfellow Cochairman Robert McCullum, township clerk and assistant fire chief, said the newspaper sale helped about 17 families and over 200 underprivileged children last year. He said about 200 youngsters attended the annual party.

Names of deserving families are submitted by churches and schools in the area, according to McCullum.

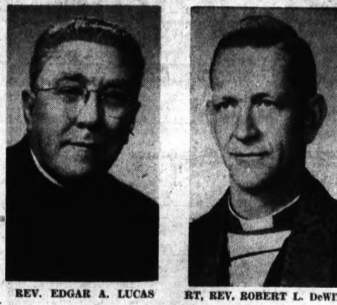

The public meeting will be held at the Highland Township Hall, 265 N. John St., at 7:30 p.m.

Barbara Tingley, Oakland County health consultant, will be the guest speaker and will present a film entitled "Winning To Lose."

It will be followed by a question and answer period and distribution of literature on the overweight problem.

The purpose of TOPS, according to Mrs. Thomas Turner, president of the newly organized club, is to help persons sincerely interested in losing pounds sensibly.

The club program is based on the principle of group therapy, she said, getting together people who have a problem in common and discussing it frankly without fear of being laughed at or misunderstood.

Institute Rector Sunday

State's Suffragan Bishop Will Officiate at Rochester

ROCHESTER — The Rt. Rev. Robert L. DeWitt, Suffragan Bishop of Michigan, will be in Rochester Sunday at 7:30 p.m. to institute the Rev. Edgar A. Lucas as rector of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Lucas came to the Diocese of Michigan in 1930 to serve on the staffs of the Old Mariner's Church and the Episcopal City Mission in Detroit.

During his 15 years of service there he was chaplain of Elisha Hospital, Valley Rest Home for Girls, Wayne County Juvenile Court, other detention homes and the county jail.

He became the first full-time Protestant chaplain of the Juvenile Court, and during his service there founded the first Big Brother Movement in Michigan and became its executive secretary.

Goodfellows to Sell Papers in Commerce

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Commerce Township Community Goodfellow, a newspaper compiled by members of the Commerce Goodfellows to raise funds for the needy at Christmas, will be on sale at all main intersections in the township Saturday.

Selling the one-day special edition will be members of the Wolverine Lake Police Department and the Walled Lake and Commerce township fire departments.

The 15-page paper, to be sold beginning at 6 a.m., will include news of local churches, schools and businesses, along with notes of local interest.

Last year 97 area families benefited from the sale of 3,000 copies of the local paper, according to club president Ralph Richardson.

PTA Slates Card Party
TROY — The Colerain Parent-Teachers Association's first social event of the season will be a public card party at 8 p.m. Friday at the school, John R. and Long Lake roads.

Prices will be awarded and refreshments served.

Broken Line Gives Students a Holiday

SOUTHFIELD — Students at Southfield High School had an unexpected day off today.

There were no classes for the school's 1,300 10th, 11th and 12th grade students because of a broken fuel line to the building's oil heating plant.

Repairs on the oil line were expected to take up most of day, with chilly operator at the school switchboard said.

Pays Fine for Selling Meat Illegally in Troy

TROY — A Detroit man was found guilty and paid a $100 fine here yesterday for selling food without the name of the product or manufacturer on the package.

Found guilty of "misbranding" by Justice of the Peace Charles H. Losey was John Stabnick, who sold hamburger illegally at Roy's Grocery, 2967 E. Maple Road.

Stabnick was arrested by James McCallum, state inspector for the Department of Agriculture. It was Stabnick's second violation of this type.

Lunch, Greens Market Planned in Milford
MILFORD — A Businessman's luncheon and greens market will be presented here Thursday by the Milford Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association from 11:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Rev. Lucas, the wardens and vestry invite members of the parish and friends to the special service and reception that will follow in the church's undercroft at the First Methodist Church, 212 Union St.

Married by Candlelight

Nancy Lee Lowery Wed

AVON TOWNSHIP — Now honeymooning in St. Louis, Mo., are Mr. and Mrs. Bill D. Vancil who were married in a candlelight ceremony recently at the Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church.

Officiating at the nuptials was the Rev. William Palmer.

The bride, the former Nancy Lee Lowery, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lowery of 3182 Devondale Road. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vancil of 739 Squirrel Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of slipper satin fashioned with a beauteous waistline and bouffant skirt and featuring a Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves of Chantilly lace.

A tiara crown of seed pearls held the fingertip veil of imported silk tulle. A cultured pearl necklace and matching earrings were gifts from the bridegroom.

Maid of honor for her cousin was Judy Dunham of Drayton Plains. Ellen Tervo of Trenton, Mrs. Ronald Neumann of Lincoln Park and the bridegroom's sister, Sue Vancil, were bridesmaids.

Paul Hickman of Pontiac was best man. Ushers were Richard

Ortonville Church to Host Conference

ORTONVILLE — The new Ortonville Baptist Church, which was dedicated formally Sunday, was the setting for the quarterly meeting of the Eastern Michigan Association of Baptist Churches.

Conference sessions will begin at 10:30 a.m. and continue through the day and evening.

Speakers will include the Rev. Edwin Mattison of Romeo, the Rev. Kenneth Ohlstrom of Hazel Park and the Rev. Jack Hyles of Hammond, Ind.

Music for the day will be under the direction of the Rev. Kenneth Corbet of Lapeer.

The theme adopted for this meeting has marked it as "Soul Winners Day."

Luncheon and supper will be served by the women of the local church. They also served refreshments after Sunday's dedication program and tours of the new building.

The recently completed house of worship is 115 feet long and 40 feet wide and has a seating capacity for nearly 600 persons including balcony and choir areas.

It contains 23 additional Sunday School rooms, a nursery and cry room, and was erected at a cost of $79,300. There is an existing Sunday school building nearby which has about 12 rooms.

Taking part in the program of dedication were Mrs. Duane Porter and the Ortonville Baptist Choir.

REV. JACK HYLES

Reducers Will Tell Their Story

The 111-Lovers chapter of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) in the Highland and White Lake area will sponsor a program tomorrow to acquaint area residents with the organization and the problems of overweight.

The public meeting will be held at the Highland Township Hall, 265 N. John St., at 7:30 p.m.

Barbara Tingley, Oakland County health consultant, will be the guest speaker and will present a film entitled "Winning To Lose."

It will be followed by a question and answer period and distribution of literature on the overweight problem.

Watch Out for Pep Pill Motorists

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A hoped-up highway menace threatens to make this year's Christmas-New Year's traffic rush more dangerous than usual. It's a nationwide boom in the bottling of pep pills to drivers.

Officials of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration say a growing blackmarket in these drugs has made them easier to buy. Thus, chances of colliding with doped-up drivers have become greater.

Doctors call the pills amphetamines. To the layman, they're usually known as "benzies," "goof balls" and "co-pilots." They're extremely valuable in the treatment of obesity and mental depression. They can be sold legally only by prescription.

Unscrupulous peddlers, however, are capitalizing on the drugs' stimulating powers by selling them to drivers who use them to stay awake. Their biggest customers are long-haul truck drivers.

What motorists don't realize, FDA experts say, is that the pills give them a false feeling of alertness. Staying awake when you're fatigued can cause poor judgment and loss of coordination.

The pills' biggest hazard is

their power to trigger hallucinations. A driver under their influence may see a mirage of an oncoming vehicle and swerve off the road or into another car. The pills also may cause motorists to black out.

FDA agents believe the upsurge in the pep pill blackmarket is due to their crackdown on illegal sales of barbiturates. These high-powered sleeping pills formerly were the top bootleg drug money-maker. Because of the difficulty in obtaining large supplies of these drugs today, peddlers have switched to pushing pep pills. They have switched in a big way, too.

FDA undercover agents recently found 200 motels, gasoline stations and truck stops that were selling the pills. FDA Chief George P. Larrick says that so far his men have only "scratched the surface."

In the round-up of peddlers, FDA agents caught one wholesaler who had $35,000 tablets stored in his home. A pedler arrested in Charleston, Mo., had concealed 171,000 amphetamines in his car.

Profits that can be made from the pill blackmarket are tremendous.

An FDA official says amphetamine tablets can be manufactured for as little as 50 cents per thousand. Their price on the blackmarket, however, ranges from 10 to 50 cents a piece.

One pedler told undercover agents that he could make a thousand dollars a week if he were willing to quit his regular job to push pills full time.

FDA officials explain that their hardest problem involved in combating the illegal pill sales is finding out how the pills get on the blackmarket. Being able to shut off sources of supply would soon enable them to drive peddlers out of business, agents say.

Gold Hoarding Ban Broadly Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday extended the ban on the hoarding of gold to Hawaii, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Canal Zone. He signed an executive order authorizing the secretary of the treasury to extend 1933 gold regulations to Hawaii and to possessions of the United States and the Canal Zone.

The amendment will make possible the application of the gold regulation on the same terms and conditions as are now applied in all the states except Hawaii.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the action was unrelated to the drain on the nation's gold reserves. He said its sole purpose was to put all American citizens on a basis of equality. The regulation prohibits American citizens from holding gold, gold certificates or gold bullion within the United States and its possessions. It makes an exception for rare coins and jewelry. Alaska already had been included in the regulation as part of the Continental United States.

Two Insurance Firms Ready to Talk Merger

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiations are under way for a possible merger between Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. of San Francisco and Standard Accidental Insurance Co. of Detroit.

Stock of Fireman's Fund would be exchanged for the outstanding capital stock of Standard Accidental, according to plans.

James F. Crafts, president of Fireman's Fund, and Lester K. Kirk, president of Standard Accidental, said their directors had authorized merger talks.

Standard Accidental is about one-third the size of Fireman's Fund. Standard's 1959 assets totaled $141 million.

Here's What It's Like to Walk Through a Wall of Hate

By DAVID ZIMMAN
NEW ORLEANS — Inside integrated William Frantz School, past the crowds and the wall of hate, there is a wall of silence. Four white children sat Tuesday with their parents on a wooden bench alongside a wall in the spacious basement hall. It was the first inside look at the school by a newsmen since it was integrated Nov. 14.

A lonely policeman paced up and down twirling his night stick, waiting for the school bell to ring. A cold morning sun slanted through the windows into empty classrooms.

"They have a right to believe the way they do — that crowd out there," a dark-haired mother in her 40s said. "But I have a right to my beliefs, too. And they have no right to stop me."

The parents stood together and talked. The children giggled off the bench and began playing together. When a child shouted, his voice seemed to echo in the barren basement hall. The one Negro first grade girl had not yet arrived. She usually shows up after school starts — escorted by U.S. deputy marshals.

"I can't help but think the people out there don't represent this city," the Rev. Lloyd Foreman said. He had dark hair, brown eyes, even features.

The 34-year-old Methodist minister — born in Crowley, La., — had walked the block and a half from his home to school with his 5-year-old daughter Pamela. Some dozen women tried to block his path, one latching onto his coat jacket and screaming, "Don't send her to that nigger school."

"Take your hands off me!" he said as the yelling women closed around him. Policemen rushed over to clear a path.

"We're not alone in our feelings about the situation," he said to the other parents, "but fear has kept so many people away. The voices that need to be heard have been silent — and they need to be heard now."

TEACHERS ENTER

A few teachers started coming into the basement hall, talking together. They disappeared for a moment into a classroom with brightly colored pictures on the wall, a clean blackboard and row on row of empty seats.

"I think the crowd of women come there because they're bored, because they have nothing else to do," one mother said. "They've called at my house. They've threatened to see that my husband loses his job."

"Well, he told me, if I have to lose my job because of this, then it wasn't worth having in the first place."

The bell sounded, and the teachers appeared. One gray-haired teacher came over to the Rev. Foreman's daughter and took her hand. Foreman quietly said goodbye to his daughter.

Pamela and the teacher were alone together in the classroom Monday — the start of the second week when only two white children showed up. But at the start of school Tuesday, Pamela had one classmate, a little boy.

The boy took the other hand of the teacher and she led the two children away, past the policemen twirling his nightstick, past the empty classrooms, until they came to the empty kindergarten room.

Foreman talked with the other parents a few more minutes and then they broke up. He walked toward the door, kind of braced himself as he took his first step. They yelled: "Nigger lover. White trash blood."

Negro Leader Predicts Victory Over Southern Segregation

By United Press International
Negro youths staged brief sit-in demonstrations at stores in Georgia, Florida and Arkansas Tuesday, and a Negro leader predicted victory for his race over segregation practices because "the Negro has beaten fear."

"The raw, dirty, vicious infighting of the mop-up action" still remains for Negro demonstrators in the South, diversity student Keanester Hodges Jr. of Southern Methodist University told a church conference at Nashville, Tenn. He made his forecast amid these developments:

Thirteen Negro youths sat at a segregated variety store lunch counter in Jacksonville, Fla., for 40 minutes.

A small group of Negroes tried to take seats in a drug store in Atlanta, but were blocked by a rope.

Negroes in Atlanta distributed handbills urging shoppers to boycott downtown stores during the Christmas shopping season and "give freedom cards instead of gifts this Christmas."

The Jacksonville lunch counter which was the target of demonstrators before an outbreak of racial violence last summer was closed when the Negroes appeared.

The manager of the store in Little Rock closed his lunch counter but said he would not notify police so long as there was no trouble.

New Atlas Missile Fails Second Time

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has failed for the second straight time to launch a more powerful model of the Atlas intercontinental range missile.

A new Atlas "E" rocket fizzled in flight Tuesday night about three minutes after it was launched. The main sustainer engine burned out prematurely and the 85-foot missile plunged into the Atlantic several miles offshore, far short of its 5,000-mile goal.

A similar malfunction Oct. 11 ruined the initial flight of the "E" Atlas which is powered by three engines generating 350,000 pounds of thrust. This is 20,000 pounds greater than the thrust of the present operational "D" model.

Physics Research on Upswing in Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government said Tuesday Soviet research in the area of physics most closely associated with electronics is excellent and growing rapidly.

The commerce department published a study which said Russian research in solid state physics is increasing at such a pace that the Soviets within five to ten years probably will be issuing more publications in this field than the United States.

This evaluation was made by an unidentified federal agency, presumably the Central Intelligence Agency.

"The most prominent feature of the Soviets' work in solid state physics is their excellent theoretical research," the report says. "The best workers are extremely prolific and versatile and seem unburdened by administrative and teaching duties."

Solid state physics involves the electronic physical processes that occur in semiconductors and other solids. It includes low-temperature physics, microwave physics, electronics, optics and magnetism.

Doggone It— Somebody Fix That Sonic Boom

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP)—Liberal was jarred the other night by a sonic boom—caused by a jet plane.

Police dispatcher Wayne Spencer got dozens of calls, including one from a sleepy citizen who asked: "What was that?"

"A sonic boom," Spencer answered. "Well, you'd better get it fixed. It nearly knocked me out of bed," said the caller.

October Brings $400-Million Decline in Inventories; Sales, Orders Dip, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Manufacturers' inventories declined another $400 million during October, and sales and new orders also dropped off, the Commerce Department said.

Coupled with indications of a November rise in unemployment, the figures added ammunition to those pushing for a strong government anticession program when Congress reconvenes next month.

Tuesday's report showed that during October manufacturers increased their inventories of goods in the hands of Navy, Air Force and civilian weather forecasters thousands of miles away. The antenna is 60 feet in diameter.

of a $300-million drop in September, is shown in Labor Department figures.

Manufacturers' sales dropped $700 million during October and new orders declined $1.1 billion from the previous month's figures as adjusted to take seasonal factors into account.

Jobless benefit payments indicated, meanwhile, that unemployment may have increased to about four million in November. That would be a record for the month since the start of World War II.

Official figures on unemployment are not ready for an attack on stocks of raw materials and finished goods. The net $400-million decline came on top of persons drawing jobless bene-ated increase of 300,000 to 400,000 in the number of unemployed as compared with October, when the official total was 3,579,000.

The November drop was attributed both to a seasonal cutback in outdoor activities and slackened activity in many plants and industries.

WHAT'S BREWING UPSTAIRS? — This huge antenna "ear" is listening to the nation's weatherman, Tires II, as the satellite sends down pictures of what the world's weather looks like from 400 miles high. On each pass over San Nicholas Island, where the ear is located, off the coast of California, the weather satellite transmits pictures it has taken and stored during the current orbit. Within two hours, the pictures are in the hands of Navy, Air Force and civilian weather forecasters thousands of miles away. The antenna is 60 feet in diameter.

Sixty Feet in Diameter

We Cup Giant Ear to the Skies

By RALPH DIGHTON
SAN NICOLAS ISLAND, Calif. (AP)—On this barren, gullied clod of earth 35 miles off the California coast man has cupped a giant ear to the heavens.

Today this ear, a dish-shaped antenna 60 feet in diameter, is listening to a satellite 400 miles high which photographs the world's weather and measures the heat the earth receives from the sun.

Sometime next year it will begin listening to another kind of satellite—one with a man in it. This antenna and others in the network around the globe will keep ground scientists informed around the clock when America's astronauts venture into orbit.

Newsman got their first look at this new and heretofore secret facility of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Tuesday as the robot weather man, Tires II, made its 32nd circuit of the globe.

At the sound of an alarm an operator seated himself at a console of flashing lights and dials with nervous needles. Centered on a small panel was a lollipop-sized "joy stick."

Grasping this control lever he swung the 11-ton dish around like a toy, picking up the satellite's signals as it whizzed over the northern horizon.

At the push of a button the 280-pound satellite began radioing pictures it had taken and stored during its previous orbit. This finished, it began chattering into the giant ear what it had learned about the way the earth absorbs and radiates the sun's heat rays.

Fourteen minutes later it was all over. The satellite had rushed on beyond the southern horizon. Fifty-five miles away, in the headquarters of the Pacific Missile Range at Point Mugu, the pictures and the infrared data had been received by microwave radio and were being processed and studied.

Within two hours, the photographs of clouds snapped by the satellite would be in the hands of Navy, Air Force and civilian weather forecasters thousands of miles away.

Fantastic as all this may seem, Tires II actually has not accomplished much so far because one of its two TV cameras—the one which was supposed to cover an area of 30,000 square miles—isn't working properly.

Eventually after many of these satellites have been launched weathermen will know what's brewing upstairs all around the world. This will mean safer travel, quicker storm warnings and better odds that you need never be caught in the rain without a clicker.

Florida State University to Pay $20,000 Salary

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Dr. R. L. Wilder, University of Michigan mathematics research professor, will be paid $20,000 next year as a member of the faculty of Florida State University.

The salary, authorized Tuesday by the state cabinet, is the highest ever paid a professor at Florida State. Dr. Wilder will be employed for one year during which he will be on leave from the U. of M.

Chemicals Absolutely Essential to Keep Us Fed

Tonight, you will eat chemicals for dinner.

That's putting it bluntly, coarse, but accurately. Any food you eat is a chemical. You yourself are made of chemicals, and the process of digestion is a chemical reaction.

But on top of this, chemicals help to grow your food. They fertilize the soil, kill weeds and insects, fight plant and animal disease. Chemicals are added to your food to increase its nutritive value. Chemicals keep your food fresh and appetizing, color, taste and convenience.

Can man-made chemical additives do any harm? Are they, after all, necessary?

You are safe from any danger from food additives, and if it weren't for chemicals, you probably wouldn't be having dinner tonight at all. Go out in your kitchen and do some reading. On the bread wrapper you might find these words: "Calcium propionate added to retard spoilage." Elsewhere, on other food packages you might find "propylene glycol," "sodium benzoate," or "B-vitamin thiamine."

What are these mysterious, tongue-twisting ingredients un-called for by the recipe book?

They are examples of the hundreds of chemical food additives in use today. One or more of them has played a part in the preparation of your food from the time it was raised on a farm until it reached your kitchen.

Remember your last Christmas dinner? You may have grumbled a bit at the grocery bill. But that dinner cost you less — far, far less — than it would have without food additives. And even if you could have afforded to buy food without additives, that food would have spoiled long before it reached you.

Additives are responsible for the great abundance, freshness, economy, convenience, variety, quality, and safety of your food. If they were not used, your standard of living would sink to that of a medieval peasant — if you could find enough food to keep on living.

In our culture, the search for food takes up little of our time. The output of the country's agricultural plant continues to outpace the population explosion. Phenomenal increases in yield per acre have enabled each farmer to produce enough food for himself and about two dozen other people.

How has this come about?

According to O. V. Wells, Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, Department of Agriculture, "Mechanization has been an important influence... but farm productivity is also increased responsive to chemical and biological development. Fertilizer and insecticide increase crop yields."

FRESHNESS

If chemicals increase the availability of food, they perform an equally important job by keeping it fresh. Freshness may even be the first quality we look for in food. Eggs are kept fresh longer by the addition of oil to their shells. Perishable vegetables, which used to be plentiful for only a short time during the local harvest, now are shipped perhaps two thousand miles or more to our markets.

"The good eating qualities of such items," says Dr. Victor R. Bonwell of the Agricultural Research Service, "actually can be preserved better by proper processing than by the usual long-distance shipping and wholesale-retail marketing procedures."

Convenience foods — cake and cookie mixes, canned and frozen prepared dishes, and canned baby foods — enable homemakers to spend more time with their families and communities. Such foods are the direct result of chemical additives and new methods for employing them.

Chemicals add other factors, too. John R. Matlack, of the Department of Agriculture, has said: "The quality factors that consumers demand in our processed foods... generally are color, flavor, texture, and nutritive value. Each must be acceptable in a new product if it is to find a large market. Each is determined by the presence and proportion of definite chemical substances."

Finally, additives actually fight disease and malnutrition.

The enriched flours and corn products, the vitamins added to milk and margarine — all these have resulted in an improvement in our diet. Additives have cured such diseases as beriberi, scurvy, pellagra and goiter.

According to Dr. John P. Fraley, a leading toxicologist, "Each year hundreds of deaths are reported from food poisoning in the United States. These deaths are the direct or indirect result of improper preservation and storage of food."

In other words, the lack of additives has been harmful to health, not the presence of them.

Nevertheless, opposition to chemical additives is heard on every side. Some of these dissenters are food faddists. But most of them are sincere people who simply do not know the facts about chemicals in food. You yourself may be able to quell some of these doubts and answer some of the arguments.

The most extreme position you are likely to meet is this: "A food is good if it contains no chemicals at all."

If a man seriously holds this position, he wouldn't be persuaded by anything you might say. He simply isn't thinking. He fails to understand that any food is itself a chemical.

The next position may be this: "A food is good if it contains no added chemicals."

The most effective rebuttal is the fact that additives are as old as history itself. Prehistoric man smoked his meat, leaving chemical residues from the smoke. Farmers have used fertilizers for many years, and the Pilgrims found the Pequot Indians planting fish with their seeds. Sprinkle-pots as insecticides have long been familiar. Sugar and vinegar have been used to preserve pickles.

The use of other processing additives is also firmly established. Dyes for color, spices for flavor, gelatin for texture, not to mention salt, baking soda, vinegar and other common chemicals used in every kitchen. And don't forget grandmother's insistence on the value of adding salt to molasses as a tonic for spring fever.

Faced with the prevalence of familiar additives, your companion may stipulate that "A food is good if its additives are not synthetic."

After pointing out that most of our drugs are synthetic chemicals, you might mention that potassium iodide, a synthetic chemical widely used in table salt, helps to prevent simple endemic goiter. In fact, there is simply no basic difference between a chemical that is man-made and one that is made by the process of nature.

With the worlds of science and government working in his behalf, no consumer has just cause to be worried about food additives. Armed with the facts, you yourself can defend the use of chemicals in food, or you can simply forget about them and enjoy your dinner. In any event, you can proceed to take the complaints of the alarmists with a grain of salt — good old salt, symbol: NaCl, name: sodium chloride, use: food additive.

DO YOU KNOW?

IT SHOULD BE AGAINST THE LAW TO PEEL A MUSHROOM! (IN THAT VELVETY, WHITE SKIN IS ALL THE QUALITY, FLAVOR AND TASTE.)

Why a MUSHROOM is shaped like an umbrella? (To shed water. So never soak MUSHROOMS in a pan of water.)

NO MUSHROOM SHOULD BE COOKED MORE THAN TEN MINUTES. (OVERCOOKING MAKES THEM BLACK, TASTELESS AND RUBBERY.)

Amount of heated shortening used in brown, stir frequently. Re-move from heat.

Stir in catsup mixture, cheese, egg and 1/2 cup corn flake crumbs. Turn into pastry-lined pan. Top with tomato slices.

Combine remaining corn flake crumbs with butter; mix thoroughly. Sprinkle evenly over tomato slices. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes, or until crust is browned. Cut into wedges; serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

Scraps of Pastry Become Appetizers

Why be a pastry waster when it's so easy to use the scraps left over from making those holiday mincepies and pumpkin pies?

Wrap the dough in waxed paper and store it in the refrigerator and you'll have the makings for these elegant pastry appetizers whenever your guests drop in. To make delicious cheese-filled appetizers, just roll the dough out on a lightly floured board to about 1/4 inch thickness. Cut into 2 1/2-inch squares. Put a teaspoon of finely crumbled American blue cheese in the center of each square. Bring pastry corners together over the cheese and pinch tightly. Bake at 425 degrees about 15 minutes.

Served warm, these flaky, nippy flavored appetizers taste wonderful with hot punch or your wassail bowl.

DEMI-TASSE CAKES — Delightful refreshments for the holiday season are these yuletide fruit cupcakes. Though the tiny cakes are well fruited and crunchy with nuts, dairy egg helps keep them moist and tender. Glaze and decorate the miniature fruit cakes just as you do the larger traditional cakes.

Tiny Fruitcakes Will Appeal

Let miniature fruit cakes answer your holiday baking plans if you find the larger ones are just too much for your family. This way you can have the traditional homemade cake at Christmastime but not necessarily for weeks and months following.

The batter is baked in two and one-half inch paper cup lined muffin pans. When cool, the little cakes are glazed and trimmed with pieces of fruit and nuts. You'll find these are just about the right size to provide a couple of crunchy bites.

Since they do not need aging to develop mellow fruit flavor, you may bake the little fruit cupcakes just a few days before serving.

Yuletide Fruit Cupcakes

1/2 pound candied fruit (minced)
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup white rum flavoring
1/2 cup white cornstarch
1/2 cup white cake flour
1/2 cup white cake flour
1/2 cup white cake flour

Combine mixed fruits and walnuts. Sift together flour and baking powder. Then mix 1/4 cup flour with fruit mixture. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks; beat until well mixed. Combine egg nog and rum flavoring. Add alternately with remaining flour to creamed mixture. Fold in fruit mixture; mix well.

Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar. Beat until egg whites stand in stiff peaks. Fold into batter. Place 2 1/2 inch paper baking cups in muffin pans. Fill 1/2 full with batter.

Bake at 300 degrees for 15-20 minutes. Cool. Brush glaze lightly over cakes. Decorate with candied fruit and toasted whole almonds.

To make glaze, combine corn syrup, water and pineapple juice. Bring to a boil and boil 1 minute. should look white.

Remove roasting pan from heat and pour starch-water mixture slowly into hot broth mixture. Return to heat; continue stirring constantly until gravy thickens and boils. Taste; correct seasonings. Let gravy simmer a few minutes to blend flavors. Serve piping hot.

If you want to broil pork chops make sure they are done all the way through; when a small slit is made near the bone, the meat should look white.

Giblet Gravy Smooth Deal for Turkey

Nothing makes a lardy turkey happier than to have perfect giblet gravy as a running mate. Smooth, rich, savory. Here's a good one.

To Cook Giblets: Cook giblets while turkey roasts and have at hand for gravy. Clean and wash giblets and neck. Place in a saucepan with about 1 quart water and 1 teaspoon salt. Cook until giblets are fork-tender. Cool; remove meat from neck. Cut meat into small pieces. Reserve for gravy. Consider need for gravy with second serving. Extra stuffing and for use with hot turkey sandwiches the following day. Recipe may be increased in the same proportions.

Giblet Gravy

4 tablespoons turkey drippings
4 cups turkey stock
2 cups milk
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 cup white cake flour
1/2 cup white cake flour
1/2 cup white cake flour

The pan drippings are important to good gravy. They add color, flavor and richness. Pour the drippings from the roasting pan into a measuring cup leaving the browned particles in the pan.

Measure the amount of fat needed for the gravy and pour back into the roasting pan. Reserve extra drippings for later use. Add the liquid, stock or vegetable water and chopped giblets. Stir with a wooden spoon over medium heat, scraping pan with edge of spoon to loosen the brown meat juices. Mix corn starch and cold water in a small bowl.

Remove roasting pan from heat and pour starch-water mixture slowly into hot broth mixture. Return to heat; continue stirring constantly until gravy thickens and boils. Taste; correct seasonings. Let gravy simmer a few minutes to blend flavors. Serve piping hot.

Cookbooks Make Excellent Christmas Gifts

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press House Editor

If you are thinking of giving someone a cookbook for Christmas, we have a couple of new ones to suggest. Both have been published this fall and both are magazine cookbooks.

The first one we received was "Woman's Day Collector's Cookbook" (E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc. New York, $3.50). This compact book is literally loaded with recipes for exciting dishes.

Interesting colored illustrations you how to keep pork; another by Joseph Low and appropriate questions about food break up while a third will explain the different recipes. James Beard has written an introduction to each chapter.

It's easy to find what you are looking for in this book. For instance, meats are not all put in one chapter, but divided according to kind. There are separate chapters on Main Dish Casseroles and Chafing Dish Specialties. Barbecues rate a section to themselves.

You'll like the tips scattered throughout the book; one may tell you how to keep pork; another gives the history of the tomato; questions about food break up while a third will explain the different recipes. James Beard has Maybe you will want to try this different potato dish.

Cheddar Potato Custard
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cheddar cheese
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup pepper

Mix cheese and cream. Add next ingredients; mix well. Fold in eggs. Pour into buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole and dot with butter. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour, or until set. Serves 4 to 5.

The second and larger book is the "Ladies' Home Journal Cookbook" (Doubleday & Co., Garden City, New York, $5.50). This one has mouth-watering colored pictures. It was published in answer to many, many requests from readers of the magazine.

Carol Truax edited the book, choosing the recipes from more than 10,000 available. At the end of each chapter suggestions are given for herbs and garnishes to go with the dishes.

We like to read any cookbook. We get excited over many. Some few send us immediately into the kitchen. This book belongs to the last category. Yes, we know we'll NEVER get around to trying all the recipes. But we'd like to.

You'll like the chapters on game birds, venison and rabbit. You'll be pleased that convenience foods are used in ingredients for a number of the recipes. You'll like the various color recipes represented throughout the book.

Although there are enough gourmet-type recipes to satisfy the exacting cook, the book is a basic cookbook and can be used by inexperienced cooks.

This pork roast cooked in cider should make good eating right now.

Western Pork Roast
1 1/2-cup pork loin roast
1 clove
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups cider

Score the fat on the pork and stud with cloves, one to each square of fat, as you do with ham.

Sprinkle with a mixture of 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Roast, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 degrees), allowing 25 minutes to the pound. Baste during roasting time with the cider, pouring on a little at a time.

Drain off fat in pan and make gravy by adding a little flour to drippings and using chicken broth or water to extend the gravy. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Serve with fried apples. Eight servings.

Coat the Turkey

Before the turkey goes into the oven it may be coated with flour, salt and pepper. A mixture of melted butter and hot water may be used for basting.

Bacon Stuffing Is Flavorful

Give the holiday bird a savory flavor. Lift this year and try "Bacon Stuffing." Unusually moist with instant minced onion and a bit of celery seed along with sage, it really isn't difficult to put together. You'll like convenient, versatile instant minced onion; use it to flavor soups, add zest to entrees and salads. And you have no spoilage problem.

Bacon Dressing
1/2 pound bacon
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup broth or stock
2 tablespoons instant minced onion

White sauce to go over cooked vegetables is benefited by the addition of egg yolk. This way you achieve silky texture and sunny color.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
2 quarts soft stale bread crumbs
2 cups sliced celery

Cook bacon until crisp; drain. Pour bacon fat from skillet. In same skillet, heat butter, broth, onion and seasonings until butter melts. Pour over bread crumbs, tossing to blend. Add celery and mix lightly. Pack lightly into bowl for roasting, or turn into buttered casserole, cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour.

Makes about 1 1/2 quarts stuffing. Bacon drippings may be substituted, if desired.

Fill Toast Cups With Creamed Ham

To make wise use of your time and energy when baking ham, choose a larger ham than you need for one meal and plan to serve interesting meat dishes from the extra ham.

Try this unusual recipe for creamed ham in toast cups. Cut the cooked ham in 1-inch cubes. For every 2 cups of ham used, prepare 1 cup of medium white sauce; season the sauce with a sprinkling of cayenne and nutmeg. Combine ham and sauce and cook over low heat until ham is heated through. Just before serving, stir in a tablespoon of cooking sherry.

While the ham is being reheated, remove crusts from bread slices and arrange the bread in cups of a muffin pan. Press bread against bottom and sides of cup. Bake in a moderate oven 8 minutes or until toasted.

Spoon the ham-sauce into toast cups and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Ordinary Menus Get Lift From Cheese

American blue cheese has long been a faithful flavoring friend for dips and dunks, but in recent years many homemakers have learned to savor the delicately pungent cheese in literally hundreds of other dishes, too.

During the holiday season when you want to "wake-up" tired winter vegetables, let this creamy, blue-marbled cheese come to the rescue. Because of its distinctive flavor, a little of it goes a long way when crumbled on top of any hot, cooked vegetable or blended into the following sauce.

For a taste-tantalizing American blue cheese almond topping, blend 1/4 cup blue cheese with 1/4 cup soft butter and 1/4 cup dairy sour cream. Stir in 1/4 cup finely sliced almonds. Spoon topping over freshly cooked, hot green beans, broccoli, or cauliflower.

Chocolate in Cake Is Bite Size

Nice to make ahead.

Chocolate Chip Loaf

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening (melted)
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg slightly; add sugar, milk and shortening; beat to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients with oats, chocolate and nuts. Stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Turn into buttered loaf pan (about 9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out at once on wire rack; cool.

Loaf slices best if stored in tightly covered container overnight.

New Way to Cook Hamburger Rolls

Delicious crisp underpinning for ground beef sandwiches!

Beef Rolls

4 loaves-and-serve club rolls
1 pound lean ground beef
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt

Bake rolls according to package directions; cut in half lengthwise. Meanwhile mix beef, cheese, Worcestershire and salt; spread over roll halves, covering edges completely. Bake on foil or greased very shallow pan in hot (400 degrees) oven 12 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: The club rolls used in listing were about 4 inches long and 2 1/4 inches wide. If ready-baked rolls are used, cut in half lengthwise, add beef and bake as directed.

A little sugar and a dash of cinnamon give interesting flavor to buttered carrots.

Why Do You Always Fry French Toast?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Maybe you think nothing ever changes about French toast? You dip slices of bread in an egg and milk mixture, then fry until golden brown.
Yes, that's the basic formula. But my, how many ways cooks have dreamed up to vary it.
Did you know you could make French toast in your oven? You may use 1 egg, 1/4 cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar and a dash of salt for the dipping mixture, then arrange the slices of dipped bread on a well buttered cookie sheet. Bake the toast in a hot (450 degrees) oven about 10 minutes; flip over and continue baking to brown the other sides.

Ever French-toast sandwiches? Have the filling hearty! Use drained flaked tuna with a little mayonaisse and minced celery, seasoned with lemon juice and finely grated onion if you like. Or use a filling of cheddar cheese or peanut butter.

Have the filling sweet! This way we like to make the sandwiches of raspberry jam or thick apricot preserves, or of a mixture of chopped dates and walnuts.
But no matter what the filling, the procedure is the same. Dip the sandwiches quickly in an egg-and-milk mixture, then fry as usual in a little butter in a skillet.

Before serving the sweet sandwiches you may sprinkle them with powdered or confectioner's sugar. Or bring a shaker of the sweet stuff to the table so eaters can add their own snowy film.
There are also tricks with plain fried French toast. The flavor of the basic dipping mixture may be varied by adding vanilla. In the following recipe nutmeg is added for a delightful extra touch.

Sugar also goes into this dipping mixture, as it did for the oven French toast. Why? Because it helps brown the bread quickly and appetizingly.
Different types of bread, soaked in varying amounts, of the dipping mixture. Slices of home-baked-type firm, white bread usually take up less than slices from a spongy pull loaf.

soon rules for making French toast, you'll find there is a great variation in the amount of milk called for in proportion to egg. This recipe is for those cooks who favor lots of egg.
Oven-Fried French Toast
With Bananas
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
Salt and nutmeg
10 slices bread
2 tablespoons (about) butter
2 to 3 ripe bananas
Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites. Stir in milk, sugar and a few dashes each of salt and nutmeg. In a flat container, soak bread in mixture turning over a few times with a spatula. If necessary, all the dipping liquid should be absorbed.

Try in hot butter, adding it as needed, in skillet until toast is golden brown on both sides. Cover hot toast with thinly sliced bananas and serve with jelly or preserves.
Makes 2 to 3 servings.
Next time you make cinnamon toast, sprinkle a teaspoon of whole nutmeg over each cinnamon-battered slice.

Better Whipped Cream
Next time you whip up cream, to stir your favorite desserts, add a teaspoon of wheat germ per dollop of the whipped cream. The heart of the wheat adds a nut-like flavor, a nutritional boost and a toasted color-boosting.
This good European salad should be better known among American cooks: cooked diced potatoes, carrots, beets plus green peas, mixed with homemade mayonnaise.

Edsel Ford Has Enough of Pontiac Central

Chiefs Crush Dearborn Five Easily, 71-55

Douglas Leads Central in Season Opener by Hitting for 23

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DEARBORN — Six attempts in trying to beat Pontiac Central is enough for Dearborn Edsel Ford. The Thunderbirds surprised even themselves in the first six minutes but could not keep up the pace as they were completely outclassed by the Chiefs, 71-55.

The game last night before a capacity crowd was the last in the series between the two schools. This is not because Central has dominated the series, having won all six games played, but because PCH will have a full schedule commitment in the Saginaw Valley in the future.

"It's just as well," said Edsel Ford coach Bill Patrick, "it looks like Pontiac will have an easier time this year and we certainly have little chance of ever beating them in the very near future."

The T-birds hit on their first five field goals to start the game and held leads of 11-0, 14-11 and 17-13.

Clarence Douglas then hit on three straight buckets. His basket at 1:25 to play in the first quarter made the score 19-17 and PCH never lost the lead after that.

In the second quarter PCH scored 21 points while Edsel Ford got only seven and the halftime margin stood at 44-25.

With big George Fed sitting out the game with a broken finger, Brad Pittchett (6-4) and Otto Kennedy (6-6) took over the boards.

Pittchett got 13 of his 15 points in the first half and grabbed off 14 rebounds for the night.

In the third period the margin increased to 51 points, 61-30 and with 2:58 to play, coach Art Ryan started to coach the bench.

The period ended 65-40.

The starting unit performed well, but the bench showed a weakness with careless floor play in the fourth quarter. For the first six minutes of the final stanza, the substitutes failed to score a point and Edsel Ford narrowed the margin to 65-50 with 2:18 to play.

Paul Brown broke the scoring drought with a field goal and two free throws to shatter the Thunderbird dreams of closing the gap.

Van Ryzin was well pleased with the opening game performance. "We made a lot of defensive mistakes and some of the boys were nervous, but that's typical of opening games," he said.

Douglas, a junior, led the night's scoring with 23 points on 10 field goals in 36 attempts. Little Bob Smith was the third Chief, besides Pittchett, in the double figures. He had 12.

The Chiefs used 13 players and hit on 30 of 69 shots for 45 per cent. Edsel Ford with Chris Grotzick getting 11 points found the average on 20 of 66 shots for 30 per cent.

Koach Patrick reiterated his pre-game remark that "Pontiac Central is the best team we will play this year. Lucky for us we were unable to play. They sure will be tough when he gets back in the lineup."

The reserves also scored a romp by taking a 72-31 victory from the junior T-birds.

Harlem Stars in Benefit Game at Rameo Sunday

A Rameo High School faculty basketball team and Goose Tatum's famous Harlem All-Stars will play a benefit game Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Rameo High School gymnasium. Proceeds from the exhibition contest will go toward a new scoreboard for the football field.

Admission charge is $1 and children under 8 years of age will be admitted free if accompanied by their parents. Doors will open at 1 p.m.

Pistons Return Home After Poor Road Trip

DETROIT (AP)—After a winless eighth game in as many nights, the Pistons returned home to the Olympia Stadium tonight to face the Boston Celtics.

The Detroit-Boston contest is the nightcap of a National Basketball Association twin bill which also features a clash between the St. Louis Hawks and the Syracuse Nationals.

The Pistons dropped their third straight game last night to New York 118-107 in an NBA double-header at Madison Square Garden. The Philadelphia Warriors defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 125-121 in the other game.

Detroit briefly overcame an early first period deficit to run up a 57-49 half-time lead. But they fell in the third period when the Knickerbockers launched a red hot scoring attack.

The Pistons scored only 16 points in the final period while the Knicks ran up 36.

Kenny Sears collected 26 points and Bill Russell added 25 to pace the Pistons.

The loss was the Detroiters' sixth in seven games and left them with a 7-11 record. It was the Knicks' third straight victory.

The Warriors still remained only one game behind the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division race today. But they probably can thank a rugged Los Angeles schedule and the flu bug which kept the Lakers' Elgin Baylor on the bench for a big break.

With the high-scoring Baylor out, the Warriors edged Los Angeles 118-109 at St. Louis. It was Boston's eighth straight victory.

Syracuse downed the Cincinnati Royals 128-105 in the other half of the St. Louis doubleheader.

For Los Angeles, it was the 20th for the night.

LEADS RAMS — Mike Reed pulled the game out of the fire for St. Louis last night as the Rams defeated UIC St. Lawrence in their opening basketball game, 49-42.

With the game tied, he scored the last seven points and finished with 20 for the night.

It stands to reason that if you do everything else correctly, but forget to bend the knee, you'll swing the ball forward and release it at about knee level. The ball will put a dent in the maple lane and have all of the working spin removed from it.

Bend the knee and the ball will glide out on the lane like an airplane coming in.

Does the proprietor of the bowling center where every time you deliver the ball because you're bouncing it on the lane instead of laying it down smoothly? Look. If you'd like him to smile and add pins to your score, too, bend the left knee deeply during the left step.

Local Quintets Gain Victories

Suburban Catholic League title hopefuls St. Frederick and Orchard Lake St. Mary both started out with victories on the opening slate of the new prep basketball season last night.

Bloomfield Hills and Brighton, rivals in the Wayne-Oakland, and South Central Conference power Imlay City were other victors. All were non-loop games.

It took a seven-point spree by veteran guard Mike Reed to produce a 49-42 victory for St. Fred at UIC St. Lawrence. The underdog host team had knotted the count at 42-42 in the closing minutes before the little guy took personal charge.

Reed finished with 20 for the night—13 in the last half. The Rams got off to an impressive 12-5 first quarter lead but were ruggled from then on. Dick Goble tallied 14 and Gary Zapczynski 14 for UIC.

St. Mary coasted to a 54-40 romp over St. Stanislaus after taking a 17-4 lead in the last eight minutes. It was 31-36 at halftime.

Glen Haas paced the Eaglet attack with 19 points followed by Larry Simon with 14 and Tom Tomaszewski 11.

Orchard Lake crashes head-on with local rival St. Michael as the Rams go to Royal Oak St. Mary in SCI games Friday.

New coach Ed Wicher had a successful debut as Bloomfield Hills triumphed at Oak Park, 57-50.

The Barons led 23-25 at half-time after trailing but held the edge the last two periods in a rough contest as evidenced by the 24 free throws taken by the annual foe.

Art Trezona sparked Bloomfield with 18, Fred Jaynes added 13 and Bruce Billings 11. Steve Carpanan topped the Parkers with 16.

Brighton had no trouble blasting Howell 45-27 with a balanced offense featuring 13 points for Randy Marx and 12 by Dave Hill.

The Bulldogs, who matched their bigger opponents on rebounds, and it easy after zooming in front 21-9 at halftime.

Bloomfield and Brighton start W.O. play Friday. The Barons visit Claxton while Brighton is host to Clarendonville.

Imlay City had its difficulties playing on a small court but won out 58-55 at Yale. Roger Lomerson rung up 21 and Doug Perkins 20 for the victors. Del Hall swished 22 for the losers who rallied in the final minutes in a futile effort to force an overtime.

Imlay goes on the road again Friday with another pre-league tilt at Marlette.

Three National League Clubs Want Bolling Tigers Reject DeWitt's Offer to Trade Bell

Braves, Giants Hope to Deal for Detroit Second Baseman

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — At least three National League clubs are bidding for Detroit Tiger second baseman Frank Bolling.

Milwaukee, Cincinnati and San Francisco have approached Tiger manager Bob Cervantes at the minor league convention here, their object—to lure the veteran Bolling to their club.

Milwaukee, which has sought Bolling for two years, is offering pitcher Juan Pizarro, first baseman Frank Torre and second baseman Chuck Cottier as trading material.

Bill DeWitt, general manager of Cincinnati, also offered Billy Martin, outfielder Gus Bell.

Schiffing rejected both, saying: "I think Bell is a good hitter but I wouldn't take him even up for Bolling."

"If DeWitt wants to talk about Vada Pinson or Frank Robinson, then we'll listen . . . very carefully."

The San Francisco Giants, thwarted in their efforts to trade Johnny Antonelli, their one-time pitching ace, to the New York Yankees for catcher Johnny Blanchard, appeared to be close to a deal that would send the veteran left-hander to the Cleveland Indians for infielder Johnny Temple and pitcher Dick Stigman.

Holding up the deal, which would be the first made at the annual meetings, is Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane, who is waiting the scope of the transaction to include Giant outfielder Willie Kirkland or Felipe Alou and Indian outfielder Tito Francona.

Lane acknowledged these names were discussed but declined to reveal the exact nature of the deal nor would he say how close the two teams were to consummating a deal. He did say that another talk was scheduled for today and hoped an agreement could be reached.

Along with everybody else, Lane blamed the rule which forbids the trading of 120 American League players who were thrown into the hopper earlier this month to stock the new teams for the lack of deals, up to now.

This rule will be in effect until Dec. 13 when the new team, or teams, will select seven players from each established major league club at $75,000 per player. The inter-league trading period, currently in effect, expires Dec. 15.

Eddie Yost, veteran third baseman of the Detroit Tigers, is expected to be purchased by the Senators on Dec. 13 when the from list is made available to the new teams. Yost is on the list of the 15 Tigers who may be purchased for $75,000.

MR. FOOTBALL — Joe Bellino added another trophy to his big collection. He was named winner of the Heisman Award today after leading Navy to a 9-1 record and an Orange Bowl date with Missouri, Jan. 2. He was also winner of the Maxwell award.

Heisman Trophy Goes to Bellino

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Personal note to Sen. John F. Kennedy, president-elect and sometime touch football player:

Navy halfback Joe Bellino would like to have lunch with you. He figures it would be the perfect end to an unbelievable football season.

Bellino Tuesday won the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player of 1960, outpolling Minnesota guard Tom Brown, Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs and Auburn halfback Ed Dwyer in national balloting.

The day before he had won the Maxwell Trophy, given for the same honor.

He also is making a host of post-season honor teams as a result of scoring 110 points, leading Navy to a 9-1 season record, No. 4 national ranking and an invitation to the Orange Bowl.

The flood of honors has Bellino, the son of a Sicilian immigrant, from the Boston suburb of Winchester, Mass., in something of a spin. But he said there is just one more thing that would make his season complete.

"I'd like to be invited to have lunch with another Boston resident who also has had a good year—there Dec. 8. Bellino is the first President-Elect Kennedy."

Bellino received a total of 1,793 points—including 436 first place votes—in the balloting by 1,150 selectors throughout the nation. He received a majority of votes in every section of the country and his total was more than 1,000 points over Brown, the runner-up.

The 5-9, 177-pound dervish, who has smashed four Naval Academy scoring and running records this season, credits his success to two factors: a lack of injuries, such as those which plagued him two previous seasons, and enthusiastic support from the brigade of midshipmen which fired up the entire football team.

'Frosty' Ferzacca Named State Coach-of-the-Year

DETROIT (AP) — F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca, who gave up a lucrative job in the professional ranks for a long-range athletic building program at Northern Michigan College, and accomplished the job in just four seasons, today was named Michigan's college football coach-of-the-year.

Associated Press member sports writers and broadcasters, and the coaches in state college ranks, voted Ferzacca the honor in a close race with Sam Ketchum of Ferris Institute.

The 43-year-old Ferzacca will be honored at a luncheon of writers, coaches, players and college officials at Marshall on Dec. 15.

"I've been around this game a long time," said Ferzacca when informed of the award, "but this is the nicest thing that has happened to me. I'm very grateful."

PCH, Skippers Clash on Mat

Local Rivals Launch '60 Wrestling Season Tomorrow Night

A big local battle at the Waterford High gymnasium tomorrow night at 7:30 will launch the 1960-61 area prep wrestling season.

The Skippers, under new coach Jim Tofta, will be host to Pontiac Central for the first of two meetings between the schools.

Tofta has been working hard with a group of experienced hands and may come up with Waterford's best team in its short mat career.

This is a rebuilding year at PCH as 10 of 12 lettermen departed. Only small juniors Del Sanborn and Art Forwiles are back for the Chiefs from last year's varsity.

It will be the only wrestling action until Dec. 5 when Southfield opens. Walled Lake, Cranbrook, Farmington, Northville and most of the other area schools also start next week.

Pontiac Northern has until Dec. 13 to get ready.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them.) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that cost somebody money if they are bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding that wears out parts before their time. The upshot of it is, you either save money or earn more of it or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer.

Red China's Wish to Enter Atom Club May Be Point in Dispute With Russia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

For some time now the Communist Chinese have been busily spreading propaganda that they expect soon to have a nuclear weapon. One object seems to have been to apply pressure on the Soviet Communist party and government to cough up sufficient help to get Red China into the nuclear weapons club.

This may be one of a number of points of friction between Peking and Moscow. The chances are that the Kremlin is far from happy about the prospect of Red Chinese membership in that dangerous club.

The Chinese seem to have been pressing the issue hard. Even when doubtful published by the Communists about their alleged unbreakable unity on all matters, Peking's leaders seem more than a little annoyed at the Soviet attitude.

THREAT WOULD SUFFICE

In a sense, Red Chinese membership in the nuclear weapons club could put Soviet policy at Peking's mercy. The threat of reckless use of such weapons would be enough to give Khrushchev a few fits. It could involve the Soviet Union in a war, and a nuclear war at that.

Consensus of qualified students of the Soviet-Chinese debate is that if the Russians have anything to say about it, Peking will remain outside the club. And it is likely that lacking significant Soviet help the Chinese would find it difficult to achieve speedy membership.

NOT STRONG ENOUGH

Amused as they might be, however, the Red Chinese are in no position to push such quarrels to a showdown as matters now stand. They would have to have strong support from inside the Soviet Communist party itself.

Moscow has given broad hints to the Chinese that it is getting rather tired of Peking's nagging. It is rare for the official Soviet Communist newspaper, Pravda, to break into print with an ideological argument of the sort that usually is confined to the Communist family's chambers.

What it may mean is that the Russians are letting Mao Tse-tung know Moscow may feel it self moved to take some corrective action if the Red Chinese leadership persists in upsetting the Kremlin's carefully calculated political and economic campaigns on the world stage.

MAO NO FOOL

Mao is likely to be fully aware that he could hardly hope to win out in a showdown with the Kremlin. Even inside the Red Chinese party there likely are many who support the Soviet view of how the world revolution should be carried out.

It may be significant, also, that in recent weeks the name of Li Jiu-ching has appeared in the Chinese press with the tag of "army chief of staff." Chinese sources say this man for a long time has been the behind-scenes security chief of the Chinese Communist party.

Li's open association with the army command may mean that the Peking party leadership intends to take no chances on the possibility of internal repercussions from the world Communist movement, or even with the possibility that the Russians, if sufficiently annoyed, might stir up something disagreeably commensurable. It would not be the first time the Soviet Communists had to be tough with the Chinese Reds. Stalin was, several times, before the Chinese Communists seized power in their country.

Washington (AP) — The possibility of holding some presidential news conferences at night and making them available for live television is under consideration by President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

A report is that effect was confirmed Tuesday by Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, but he offered no details or indications of what may be decided.

"It's under consideration," was all Salinger would say.

President Eisenhower's regular Washington news conferences have been taped and the practice has been to release them for TV later, after review.

Parakeets eat almost constantly and cannot live very long without food.

Plan to Attend President's Inauguration? There Are a Few Problems to Be Faced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Are you planning to attend the presidential inauguration in January?

Thousands of others are, too, and the headaches they are creating for Congress members and party officials shine through this composite of the letters piling up in Washington.

"As you know, my family and I worked awfully hard for the ticket during the campaign. So naturally we want in on the inaugural fun."

"Please send us five tickets for the inaugural ceremonies and six for the inaugural ball, as my daughter will want a dancing partner, and passes for other big dogs."

"We don't know Washington so well, but we want to get to the White House, preferably along the parade route so we can see it from the windows if the weather is bad."

"Incidentally, we may use your office as a sort of headquarters for the parade route, so we can see it from the windows if the weather is bad."

"I remember you used to say 'em all!'"

HERE ARE REASONS

If your letter brings a disappointing answer you may like to know some of the reasons.

In the first place the inaugural ceremonies have two phases:

Watch That Bootleg Booze

Revenue Agents Plan to Warn of Dangers of Whisky With Posters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It isn't the alcohol in bootleg whisky that gets you, federal revenue agents said Tuesday. It's the lead.

The internal revenue service issued the warning as it announced plans for a nationwide poster campaign to alert possible imbibers to the danger of illegal whisky.

Posters will be put up from coast to coast by mid-December, it is time for the holiday rush. Christmas is a big season for moonshine as well as legal varieties of whisky.

The revenue service warned that it doesn't take much lead to kill a person and a bottle of illegal spirits may have just enough.

Most of the lead-tainted moonshine has been found in the South. But the problem is not confined to Dixie alone, according to Thomas F. Casey, assistant chief of alcohol and tobacco tax enforcement of the revenue service.

Quantities of illegal liquor are shipped from the South to such cities as Washington, Baltimore, New York, Jersey City, Philadelphia, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Casey said that in many parts of the country moonshiners cook mash and distill spirits in ways likely to leave lead salts in the final product.

Revenue agents believe a prime source of lead in moonshine is solder used to fasten together pieces of homemade stills. Another source of the poison is auto radiators, a favorite makeshift condenser. The radiators, stripped from old cars, often are patched with solder to plug leaks.

If the lead doesn't kill the drinker, it can cause paralysis, blindness, severe abdominal ailments and mental disorders.

London Stocks Rise After Severe Drop

LONDON (UPI) — The London stock market bounced back Tuesday in the wake of Monday's severe price drop that plunged the industrial index down to a new low for 1960.

The prices regained an upward move and held their best levels of the day at the final bell.

Buyers moved in, recent persistent selling dried up, and the recovery spread to most sections of the industrial list.

Some of Monday's hardest hit listings, such as stores, scored substantial gains. Steel stocks joined the rally and autos perked up.

Actress Gets Bigger Cut of Paul Douglas Estate

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Virginia Field has been awarded child support payments totaling $400 monthly from the estate left by her former husband, the late actor Paul Douglas.

Superior Judge Frank Balthus approved the actress' petition for an increase of $150 monthly. She had been receiving $250 monthly for support of her 18-year-old daughter born during her marriage to Douglas.

The actor died Sept. 11, 1959, and left his widow, actress Jan Sterling, 37, an estate of $341,000.

There is the solemn oath-taking in the specially built court before the recently reconstructed east side of the Capitol. This is under the jurisdiction of a joint Senate-House committee. Seats are free, but at least 50,000 requests are expected for the 18,314 spaces available in Washington.

Then there are the attendant spectacles, such as the two-hour parade from the Capitol to the White House, the inaugural ball, the pre-inaugural dinner, the governors' reception and Constitution Hall concert, and the like. These are under direction of a citizens' inaugural committee. They cost money, but even money won't buy space that's already filled.

Seats in the inaugural stands at the Capitol are reserved for invited guests only.

For his personal and official family your senator will be allotted 12 guest tickets and your representative only 8, leaving precious few for distribution to invited guests only.

SEEK SPARE TICKETS

Already, members from Massachusetts and Texas, home states of President-elect John F. Kennedy and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, are circulating colleagues from distant and less concerned states for spare tickets.

It's true, this congressional distribution will not fill the Capitol stands, but think of the other demands. About 4,500 places are assigned to the press, radio and TV personnel who must narrate and visualize this significant event for the world.

Add to these the diplomats and families; the electors; the families of governors; state party leaders, etc.

Well, you say, if we can't see our leaders sworn in at least we can find a place along the two miles of parade route and cheer them as they pass. Standing room, if you can find it, is free. Seats also will be available, for a fee.

Contracts have been let for semipermanent—wooden, that is—spectator stands for 15,000 persons at a cost of $184,000. In addition, 25,000 bleacher-type seats will be put up with another 25,000 to be held in reserve for quick erection if seat sales warrant them.

The costs of all these side events are underwritten by local merchants and associations who hope to get their money back through ticket sales. If there is a loss, as there was in 1957, the underwriters take it. If there is a profit it goes to charity.

In 1957, parade route seats, depending upon location, were priced from $3.50 to $18.75, the latter near the presidential pavilion and reviewing stand in front of the White House. This year the committee hopes to break even at least by filling the stands at lower prices—but what the prices will be has not yet been decided.

BY INVITATION

So what about the inaugural ball? This formal affair also is by invitation. And your name must have been on the pre-inaugural committee invitation list since about Oct. 12 when members of Congress were asked to submit names — "with priorities noted."

Ticket prices haven't been fixed for this year. Four years ago they were $20 a couple, or $50 for an eight-person box.

In 1957 there were four simultaneous balls at which the principals and their attendants appeared briefly. Because the Secret Service had such difficulties then in moving their charges through the traffic and crowds from one ball to another, there probably will be just one ball this year—making tickets even harder to get.

There are a few other events you might get in on if you are in a special category. By invitation only there is the pre-inaugural dinner on Jan. 18, the governors' reception and governors' concert on Jan. 19, and various state society functions — but not what you would call wide open affairs.

What about a place to stay? For several weeks, members of Congress and their staffs have been pestering hotels, motels, rooming houses and what-have-you to reserve accommodations for insistent constituents.

Requests in writing are being referred to a citizens' inaugural housing subcommittee for allocation to groups and individuals.

Hotels have said that regular rates will be maintained but that reservations must be made for full holidays—Jan. 17 through Jan. 20—and that payment must be in advance.

Have you a Washington friend with a good rolaway?

Faces Death as Spy

ARRESTED BY FBI — Dr. Robert Sobel, 60-year-old psychiatrist arrives at Federal Court in New York Tuesday where he was arraigned on charges of spying on the United States for the Soviet government for 20 years. Sobel, whose legal name is Soblen, is the brother of convicted Red spy Jack Sobel who is now serving a seven-year prison term. Bail was set at $75,000 and a hearing will be held Dec. 20.

Hearing Set Dec. 20

Charge Espionage to Sobel Brother

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York psychiatrist arrested as a 20-year Soviet spy never tried to escape his shadowers during a long, "hot surveillance" by FBI agents, says his attorney.

On the contrary, the doctor even stopped his car so that trailing agents could catch up with him, the lawyer said.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Robert Sobel, 60, was held in $75,000 bail for a federal court hearing Dec. 20. Sobel, whose legal name is Soblen, is a brother of confessed Soviet spy Jack Sobel, 57, serving a seven-year prison term for espionage.

The government charged that the brothers were involved in separate espionage rings that sought national defense secrets for transmission to the Soviet Union. Both brothers were naturalized in 1947.

Dr. Sobel, if convicted, could receive the death penalty. The doctor suffers from a serious illness, his attorney said.

Sobel was arrested at noon Tuesday at Rockland State Hospital, in suburban Orangeburg, where he has served as supervising psychiatrist.

The indictment by a federal grand jury also named 18 co-conspirators, none of whom are defendants. They include several Soviet officials and four Americans.

It took the government three years to collect evidence for an indictment against Dr. Sobel.

In arguing for low bail, his attorney, Richard C. Green, told the court that Sobel would not flee.

STOPPED FOR FBI — "He has been under wide-open surveillance by federal agents and never tried to run away, to a point where he even stopped his car on highways if he lost the agents trailing him, so they could catch up to him."

Apparently, Sobel made friends among FBI agents who arrested him. He asked Judge William B. Hendon if he could say goodbye to "the FBI gentlemen?"

Hendon smiled and gave his permission. The doctor bowed from waist and waved to the FBI agents. "Thank you very much, gentlemen," he said.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau's San Francisco office Tuesday night transmitted this advisory note on its teletype network: "Forecast delayed by bad weather."

Year's Coldest Weather Strikes as Storm Fades

Snow, Strong Winds Still Grip Great Lakes; Six Persons Dead

By The Associated Press
Stormy weather that lashed the Midwest abated today but the season's coldest weather gripped wide areas from the Rockies into the Northeast and southward to the central Gulf.

The storm center reached Quebec during the night but the effects of the severe weather still were felt in much of the Northeast quarter of the country.

Strong winds and snow flurries were reported from the Great Lakes region eastward. Snow of one inch or more fell in some areas of Pennsylvania and New York.

A freak blizzard, with gale winds that piled snow up to 3½ feet, nearly halted traffic in the Buffalo, N. Y., area. Police in Amherst, north of Buffalo, reported 18 inches of snow and said drifts measured 3½ feet.

The season's first snowstorm Tuesday night caused a mammoth traffic jam in Buffalo, with hundreds of stalled cars, trucks and buses. The Thruway's Niagara section, which rims the west side of Buffalo, was limited to one-way traffic.

Winds which reached gale force in sections of the Midwest diminished and heavy snow ended. The storm, which dumped up to a foot of snow in some places, was blamed for at least one death.

It was below zero from northeast Montana southward into South Dakota and western Minnesota and the freezing line extended southward into Kentucky, Tennessee and parts of Georgia. One of the coldest spots was Bismarck, N. D., with a -12 reading.

Temperatures were in the teens and 20s in the Rockies and the central and southern Plains northward to the lower Great Lakes.

Temperatures in the Northeast, at unseasonable levels for several days, dropped sharply as the cold air swept in from the Midwest.

The icy air was intended to dip into the Southeast and into central Florida.

Gale winds continued on the Great Lakes and in Lake Michigan a Liberator freighter ran aground off the shore of South Manitou Island. Gale force winds and high waves battered the 246-ton, ocean-going Francisco Morazan.

Four Coast Guard vessels dispatched from various Great Lakes ports were unable to reach the stricken Morazan by midnight. During the night aircraft from Traverse City twice attempted to reach the scene but were turned back by severe icing conditions.

One of two helicopters sent aloft after daybreak hovered over the grounded freighter but radioed that its visibility was sharply limited by the dense snow.

District Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, notified all ships passing the area to stand by to assist in the rescue operation, if necessary.

Coast Guard spokesmen said no attempt would be made to take the crew of the 2,000-ton vessel unless there was danger of its breaking up or capsizing.

Extend Seaway Season

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway, supposed to close today for the season, will remain 'open' through midnight Thursday. The Seaway Authority granted the one-day extension because of mild weather.

Nation's Biggest 'Feeder' Airline

New Routes Boost NCA

The company that will bring Pontiac its first regularly scheduled commercial airline service tomorrow is the nation's largest "feeder" airline.

In 12 years time, North Central Airlines (NCA) has mushroomed into an operation that embraces 6,500 route miles serving 30 cities in 10 states and one Canadian province.

The Minneapolis, Minn., firm got its biggest boost in the move that added Pontiac to its service.

Along with Pontiac came 11 other Michigan cities, plus Cleveland and Port Arthur, Ontario.

The additional service granted by the Civil Aeronautics Board represented a 30 per cent expansion of North Central, according to Hal N. Carr, president.

Winter's Chores Begin

MORNING WOES — Oh, for those warm summer mornings when one could merely get into his car and drive off to work. For the next four or five months, you can expect to be dealt quite often what Lee Thompson, 24, of 8524 Cass-cade St., Union Lake, is doing here. Although only three-quarters of an inch of snow fell yesterday in the Pontiac area, it was enough to make streets slick and coat cars and sidewalks.

Storm Holds Up Aid to Freighter

Coast Guard Stands By Ship Perched on Rocks in Lake Michigan

SOUTH MANITOU ISLAND (UPI) — Four Coast Guard vessels rushing to the rescue of a Liberator freighter, had aground in Lake Michigan, were held back by the elements today.

The 236-ton Francisco Morazan clung to its perilous perch on the rocks a half-mile off shore of this island in Northern Lake Michigan, amidst swirling snow and battered by six-foot waves and 33-knot winds.

Aboard the ship, carrying a general cargo from Chicago to Rotterdam, were 15 crew members and the wife of Capt. Eduardo Trivizara.

They maintained radio contact throughout the night with Coast Guard vessels at a light station on nearby North Manitou Island, reporting their vessel was taking water fore and aft but was in no immediate danger of sinking.

Four Coast Guard vessels dispatched from various Great Lakes ports were unable to reach the stricken Morazan by midnight. During the night aircraft from Traverse City twice attempted to reach the scene but were turned back by severe icing conditions.

Snow Is Beautiful and Deadly as Well

A new blanket of snow fell on Pontiac today on the heels of yesterday's prewinter storm which crippled transportation in parts of Michigan.

As snow fell for a second straight day, Pontiac state police warned that all state highways were hazardous. Some had a coating of ice.

Temperature stayed well below freezing in all areas.

Last night the mercury in Pontiac dropped to a cold 22. The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast colder for tonight but said a warming trend would set in by Friday.

Today it'll stay cold, with occasional snow flurries. A low of 20 is forecast for tonight.

At least two deaths on the highways were blamed on the snowfall. William Gensenaar, 41, of Richmond, in the Kalamazoo area, was struck and killed by a car on his way home from school in the snow storm.

Mrs. Pearl Davis, 57, of Sawyer, was fatally injured in a car-truck collision on I-94 near Niles. A car driven by her husband, Anthony, skidded on the ice. The collision followed. Mrs. Davis died later in a Niles hospital. Her husband and the truck driver escaped injury.

Kalamazoo reported a snowfall of five to six inches. Drifts contributed to a traffic tieup. Conditions were severe in Lake and Mason Counties of Western Michigan as snow continued coming down.

In the Upper Peninsula, Houghton and Marquette are blowing snow. Houghton's 17 degrees was the lowest reported in the state. Power was cut off for two hours in the City of Marquette today. The entire city was reported affected.

The storm caught the last of Michigan's deer hunters in the woods. Today was the final day of the season.

Michigan had two other traffic fatalities during the stormy period but neither was attributed to the weather.

Donald M. Dury, 23, of Pioneer, Ohio, was killed today when his car hit a tree 10 miles south of Hillsdale on Hillsdale Road. State police said Dury apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Perry E. Williams, 37, of Brethren, lost his life Tuesday in a two-car collision on U.S. 31 three miles north of Manistee.

Northwesterly morning winds at 20-30 miles per hour in the Pontiac area, will become westerly and slowly diminish tonight and Thursday.

The thermometer in downtown Pontiac registered 27 at 1 p.m.

"11:08A. . . Investigation by Patrolmen Martin and Berry in the immediate vicinity failed to locate battleship or Castro."

Oakland Director But Has Evidence Showing One Charge Not True

After accusing county welfare officials here of illegally inducing clients to move to Detroit, that city's welfare director has apologized to Oakland County Director George H. Burt for any inconvenience he may have caused.

At the same time, Burt dug up information to show that a case worker in his office had not encouraged the Jack Harris family of eight to move out of Royal Oak Township into Detroit last year.

Daniel J. Ryan, general superintendent of the Detroit Welfare Department, said Monday he had asked Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Otis to look into the possibility of charging Oakland County with violation of the law which prohibits one county from inducing clients to move into another.

This, Ryan said, adds to Detroit's bad already overburdened welfare department, which has two cases, stressing the practice he alleged was not "wholesome."

A meeting between the two departments, also with representatives of the prosecuting offices of both counties, has been set for Dec. 7.

Burt received a letter from Ryan yesterday in which he said "I am sorry for any inconvenience to you which have been put on this action. He has not gone to Otis's office only to check the law in the event the practice of shuffling clients continued."

"He knows the law as well as we do," Burt said.

"This could have been handled with a simple phone call instead of all this prosecution stuff," he said.

SURPRISED AT LETTER

John A. Macdonald, chairman of the Oakland County Welfare Board, said Ryan's charges were "perfectly ridiculous."

Both Macdonald and Burt were surprised by Ryan's letter of accusation and apology. Earlier he said Oakland welfare officials had given him "a lot of double talk" when he threatened legal action in an Aug. 10 letter concerning the Harris case.

Burt said he would present affidavits at the Dec. 7 meeting showing case workers did not suggest the clients in question move to Detroit.

Although he had had statistics to show that Detroit clients had moved into Oakland, the veteran welfare director said he didn't (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Adams Requests Recount in 55 County Districts

In an effort to protect his winning margin of 684 votes against a possible reversal in a recount, Probate Judge-Elect Donald E. Adams today filed a counter petition asking for a recount in an additional 55 voting precincts.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, who defeated Adams in the Nov. 8 election, filed the new probate judge post in Oakland County, filed Monday for a recount in 90 of the county's 311 precincts.

The board of canvassers will begin the recount of the 90 precincts tomorrow morning, possibly in Oxford.

"Then after we're done with them we'll move into those requested by Adams," said Clerk-Register David T. Murphy Jr., clerk of the canvassing board.

Checking the 90 precincts is expected to take five days, Murphy said.

Judge to Sign Expansion Order on Sewage

Dondero Gives Pontiac 18 Extra Months to Act for Treatment Facilities

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero announced today that he would sign a court order forcing Pontiac to expand its sewage treatment facilities to curb pollution of the Clinton River.

The announcement came after a brief hearing during which the city admitted the pollution and offered no defense, but gained an 18-month extension to the deadline set down by the State Water Resources Commission 15 months ago.

The decree to be signed by Judge Dondero will stipulate:

1. That the city have construction contracts let by June 1, 1961.

2. That the expanded facilities be in operation by June 1, 1962.

Harold A. Kelley, an engineer who helped prepare plans for the proposed expansion, testified the cost may be near $3.5 million by contract-letting time.

Construction costs have risen steadily since plans were first created three years ago, said Kelley.

Costs were estimated at $3 million when Pontiac citizens first voted down a bond issue to finance construction.

They were set at $3.3 million the last time, one year ago.

CITES NEW OBSTACLE

Kelley is an engineer with the firm of Jones, Henry and Williams of Toledo, Pontiac's engineering consultants.

The only witness called by City Attorney William A. Ewart during the straight-forward, half-hour hearing, Kelley said the State Highway Department has proposed a new obstacle to plans for added facilities on the site.

Kelley testified that plans to swing an extension to Auburn (M30) through the city-owned site apparently would eat up land at present is earmarked for future expansion of the new plant.

"It will take time to negotiate a route with the state that will be satisfactory to everyone," Kelley told Judge Dondero in the successful bid for a deadline extension.

The engineer estimated that the City Commission could have a bond issue floated in three months, without an approving vote of the people.

The commission will be able to do this, Ewart said, by reason of the court decree which Judge Dondero was expected to sign this afternoon.

Victor Meier, assistant attorney general, represented the Water Board. He said the state decree would be ready for signature (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Desire Fast OK of Sales Tax Hike

Swainson Backs Call, Agrees to Bid for Full Cent Increase

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's sales tax will be increased to four percent in a quick snap-of-the-fingers special session of the State Legislature, if Gov. Williams has his way.

Williams and Gov.-Elect John R. Swainson agreed Tuesday to call a special session to consider raising the sales tax by one percent, approved by the voters Nov. 8.

No date was specified for the session, but observers believed there was still a good possibility that it would come Dec. 8, the day the voter-approved constitutional amendment goes into effect.

Williams told a joint news conference that the date depended on when an agreement can be worked out with legislative leaders to approve a full one-cent increase, more than a bill calling for such action, that amount.

"We've decided that there should be a special session, and I'll call it," he said. "But I feel strongly that it should not be a debating match. We don't have time for that."

Williams said he and Swainson would be contacting legislative leaders of both parties as soon as possible to work out the agreement under which the measure would pass in a one-day session.

"I want a session that goes like that," he said, snapping his fingers.

Asked whether no advance agreement would mean no special session, Williams replied, "I don't close to that."

Swainson opposed the suggested sales tax increase during the campaign, while Republican candidates generally supported the amendment.

But Swainson said Tuesday: "I believe the results of the Nov. 8 election have demonstrated that a majority of citizens, recognizing the need for additional state revenues, have expressed their desire to meet that need through a one-cent increase in the tax."

"I accept the majority will and therefore agree that the legislature should take action to carry out that voter determination as soon as possible."

Swainson added that increasing the sales tax should be viewed as an emergency measure.

"We all should still strive for the comprehensive tax reforms which all factions agree are needed," he said. Swainson estimated that a one-cent boost in the sales tax would bring in between $115 million and $125 million annually to the state's depleted treasury.

Before the news conference broke up, Republican leader House Speaker Don R. Peers of Ithaca, had heartily endorsed the special session with a mimeographed statement of his own.

Bloomfield Twp. Woman Found Dead in Garage

Bloomfield Township police said that Mrs. Robert C. Mack was found in the family automobile with the motor running by a neighbor. Police said Mrs. Mack took her own life.

CONVAIRE 340 — This is the Convaire 340 that North Central Airlines will use in its Detroit-to-Sault Ste. Marie route which will serve Pontiac starting tomorrow. The largest plane in the North Central fleet, it seats 44 passengers and has twin engines and pressurized cabins. The Convaire cruises at 248 miles an hour.

ing the 1940s by a Clintonville, Wis., manufacturing company. Other companies kept bagging the FWD Corp. for so many rides on its planes that FWD officials figured they could start a commercial airline.

The original application was filed with the CAB in 1944. Four years later, but only after the CAB had ordered FWD to sell its own interest in the proposed airlines, Wisconsin Central started out.

Three small, nine-passenger Lockheed L-18A transports, operated from Madison, Wis., as a feeder service extending into Minnesota and northern Illinois.

A feeder service is one which fills in the gaps between the giant hops flown by the trunk airlines. Big problems during the early years of expansion was the lack of improved runways and instrument controls.

During the first three years, more than $18 million was spent on airport development and improvement in cities served by Wisconsin Central.

The airlines itself provided electronic equipment at most of the intermediate stops at a cost of around $100,000. Today it operates what it believes is the longest privately owned instrument network in the country.

By 1952, the system was developing westward and the company moved to Minneapolis with the new name, North Central.

The company had turned to the big 46-passenger Convaire 340, twin-engine airliners with pressurized cabins. The radar-equipped Convaire cruises at 248 miles an hour, compared to 160 for the DCBs.

In 1959 the switch began to the big 46-passenger Convaire 340, twin-engine airliners with pressurized cabins. The radar-equipped Convaire cruises at 248 miles an hour, compared to 160 for the DCBs.

Convaire now service 18 per cent of the North Central system and will be used on the Detroit-Sault Ste. Marie route that has Pontiac as a stopover.

North Central officials cite other districts of western Caracas to the fashionable eastern end.

NEAR UNIVERSITY The main battle was centered at Miguel Caro High School in western Caracas. The school is adjacent to Caracas University, which officials said appeared to be the demonstrators' chief stronghold.

Police have not attempted to enter the university grounds, where Social Christian party students backing Betancourt fought their way into classrooms to break a Communist student strike.

One leftist group attempted to storm the police station nearby but were driven back by tear gas and armored cars of the presidential guard.

Another gang of youths tried to burn a bus in the southern suburb of Chuaguarumo, despite orders to the army to shoot such firebrands on sight. The bus was saved by firemen.

Troops took up positions in Puente Trinidad Street, where several newspapers are published. The papers have advocated a tough line in suppressing Communist activities. Betancourt has charged the Communists are behind the rioters.

plan to bring them up. "We're not going to accuse anybody of anything. We don't play that way," Burt said.

Burt said Jack and Pearl Harris, formerly of 21430 Dowling St., Royal Oak Township, moved to Detroit June 17 with their six children after the township had refused the department's offers to pay back rent.

"The township, Burt explained, had refused because Harris' home in a low-rent housing project was ready for razing as part of an urban renewal project there.

Harris made the move to Detroit on his own and without encouragement from Oakland case workers or officials, Burt said.

ture within a few hours after the hearing's end.

Meier offered no objections to the deadline extension. The subject of Waterford Township was not brought up in open court.

Ewart had been asked by the City Commission to draw into the hearing the pollution which the township has been accused of contributing to Crystal Lake, which is part of the Clinton system.

But it was decided during a conference preceding the hearing that only Pontiac pollution could be discussed in court. Judge Dondoro explained afterward that the law did not permit him to review the Water Resources Commission's findings.

Any action against Waterford would have to be separate from the action the state has taken against Pontiac, he said.

Ewart blamed the unfavorable votes against construction bond issues.

"The city has construction plans and it has a site," he told the court. "But we have not been able to proceed without financing."

"There is no defense for the city now, nor is there any question that the stream is being polluted, seriously affecting the people downstream from Pontiac."

Ewart agreed in court that the question of pollution from sources outside of Pontiac "is not pertinent in this case."

The suit was filed after Pontiac, for want of financing, failed to meet the Water Resources Commission deadline of July 1 of this year for the letting of construction contracts.

This deadline, plus another of Dec. 31, 1961 for completion of the expansion, was set in the summer of 1959, after engineers testified that Pontiac pollution was killing plant and fish life in the stream.

The engineers testified that Pontiac's existing treatment facilities were inadequate to handle the load. They said untreated sewage was entering the river.

DeGaulle Will Visit Algeria, Talk Policy

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle decided today to visit Algeria despite warnings from his generals and ministers that such a trip would be dangerous.

The French leader told his weekly cabinet meeting he would leave Paris Dec. 9 for Algeria to explain his policy to French officers and Algerian people.

De Gaulle called a special cabinet meeting for the eve of his departure to fix the date for the trip. He has called to get Friday at the Manly Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

The Day in Birmingham Dec. 19 Vote on Sewers to Decide Job Financing

BIRMINGHAM — When Bloomfield Hills voters are asked Dec. 19 in a special election if they want an internal sewer system, they will, in effect, be deciding the financing of the improvement.

If the proposal is turned down, the $15 million system, the city will eventually be forced into building the sewer by court action, according to Mayor Henry Woodmen.

The State Water Resources Commission has already filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court to stop the city from polluting the Rouge River.

If the plan is approved, the city will be in the position to issue general obligation bonds on the project, a method found to be most economical to the taxpayer, the mayor explained.

If the proposal fails and the city is forced into installing the sewer system, the city has no alternative but to finance the program through special assessment or revenue bonds.

HIGHER PAYMENTS With the special assessment method the system would have to be paid off in a much shorter period resulting in higher annual payments to the taxpayers than those proposed under the general obligation bonds arrangement.

Woodmen said.

Mrs. Lawrence in County Jail

Murder Charge Hangs Over Berkley Woman Judged Sane Nov. 21

Mrs. Sarah Sue Lawrence was returned to the Oakland County Jail yesterday, possibly to stand trial for murder.

The 34-year-old former Berkley beauty operator is charged with the slaying of Mrs. David Crenshaw, 33, of 6230 Snow Apple Dr., Clarkston, on May 22, 1959.

Mrs. Lawrence was judged criminally insane following the slaying. She was released from Ionia State Hospital yesterday and transferred to the Oakland County Jail.

Her attorney, James Renfrew, has filed a motion in Circuit Court here to quash the still outstanding first-degree murder charge.

Prosecutor George F. Taylor, who holds the warrant, said he will decide whether to proceed with the charges after a Dec. 5 court hearing on Renfrew's motion.

Mrs. Lawrence was ruled now sane by Ionia Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis Nov. 21 following a habeas corpus hearing.

Mrs. Crenshaw was shot during a scuffle at her home.

Mrs. Lawrence told sheriff's deputies she had gone by telephone to mail a demand by Mrs. Crenshaw for her husband's return, but losing custody of her then 9-year-old son.

Crenshaw was the former boy friend of the accused, deputy said.

Richard Kuhn Reveals Candidacy in Primary Race on GOP Ticket

Eyes JP Post in Waterford

Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn has announced he will be a candidate for Waterford Township justice of the peace on the Republican ticket in the February primary election.

Kuhn, 31, is a graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in political science. He was awarded his law degree from the Detroit College of Law.

Kuhn is married and has one son.

He is a member of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the Waterford Community Activities, Inc.

He is also a member of the Oakland County Bar Association, Michigan Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

If contested, Kuhn promises a vigorous campaign. One of the two township justices, Donald E. Adams, was elected Oakland County's second probate judge Nov. 8.

Cost $169,797 for Finch Trials

Third, Already Set, May Add $100,000 to the California Tax Bill

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It cost Los Angeles County taxpayers $169,797 for the two murder trials of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff.

Neither trial resulted in a verdict and a third trial already has been set for Jan. 3. That hearing might cost as much as an additional $100,000.

The first trial lasted 51 days at a cost of $75,589 and the second ran 94 days and cost $94,497. Both trials ended in hung juries.

The figures were made public by County Manager Lindon S. Hol-linger at the request of county supervisors.

He said they included only direct costs of the trials such as salaries and juror expenses. Indirect costs such as lighting, maintenance and overhead could bring the estimate up to around $200,000, he said.

The figures did not include $5,000 expenses caused by keeping Finch, 45, and Miss Tregoff, 33, in jail.

"It should be noted that the district attorney is of the opinion that his statutory responsibilities require the prosecution to seek the necessary third trial regardless of the cost."

The couple is charged with the fatal shooting July 18, 1959, of the surgeon's wife, Barbara Jean Finch, 33, outside her $65,000 home in suburban West Covina.

United Industrial Corp. Reveals Shift to Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) United Industrial Corp. announces activities of its American Engineering Division will be shifted to Baltimore and Detroit, in a major realignment.

The 187,000 square foot plant occupying 18 1/2 acres at Philadelphia, together with 50 m.e. machinery and equipment, has been sold to Metallic Specialties Corp. of America for slightly less than $1 million.

R. F. Gira, United Industrial president, said key persons among 240 employees at the Philadelphia unit will be transferred along with operations if they wish.

American Engineering's stock business, including patents, designs and inventories, will be transferred to the company's Detroit Stock Division.

Proposes Income Tax for Wayne County

DETROIT (AP) — A committee of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce has drawn up a tax program which would include a countywide personal income tax on individuals.

The board has directed its committee on state and local taxation to "produce a tax program proposal which would improve Michigan's job opportunities while providing sufficient revenue for necessary governmental purposes at both state and local levels."

The committee suggested consideration among other tax changes, of a 1 1/2 per cent maximum personal income tax locally on a countywide basis.

Nicholas Rini, manager of the board of commerce's taxation department, said the report was

Rep. Bentley Spent Over $409,000

OWOSSO (UPI) — Republican Rep. Alvin M. Bentley of Michigan spent more than $409,000 in his unsuccessful bid for a seat in the U.S. Senate, incomplete reports of campaign expenses in his behalf showed today.

The latest in a series of reports on expenditures made in Bentley's behalf since he first became a candidate for the Republican nomination for the post was filed here Tuesday by Norman L. Des Jardins, the congressman's campaign manager.

The amount Bentley took from his own pocket to cover campaign expense was covered in a report the congressman filed earlier with the U.S. Senate. It listed expenditures of about $84,000.

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: All the guys in our fraternity have the same trouble. We all like our khakis and cords tapered at the bottom of the legs, but all the pants we can buy are too wide. There's a sewing machine at our house and we will try to fix these ourselves if you will tell us how." The Kappa Sigma

Just to tell you that you boys are aware of a column such as mine flatters me so much I am almost ready to fix them myself. You will be happy to know that it won't take more than a few minutes to taper these slacks.

1. Turn the slacks inside out and place a pin at the point where the top of the cuff comes. This should be done on both the in-seam and the side seam of each leg.
2. Rip the hem that forms the cuff.
3. Decide how much smaller you want the lower end of the slacks to be and mark each seam at the place where you placed the pin.
4. Take a yard stick and mark a straight line from this mark to the side seam, and the crotch at the in-seam. See illustration.
5. The seam from the point you placed the pin, down to the end of the pants, must be straight. If you don't make this straight, the cuff will not turn up right.
6. When turning the hem up again, it may be machine stitched. The machine stitching will not show because it will be slightly under the finished cuff.
7. Turn up the cuff on the old crease marks, press and tack the cuff slightly at each seam. Good luck!

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: Now that the season for velvets and corduroys is here again, would, you please tell us about the nap?" Mrs. L. J.

First, and most important, every piece of your pattern must be laid in the same direction when using napped fabric. With velvet, velveteen and corduroy, the nap should run UP. To test the direction of the nap, hold the fabric up to your body. When you run your fingers from the shoulder down, the fabric should feel rougher to the touch than it does when you run your fingers UP. The color will be much deeper and richer looking when cut correctly. You also will notice that the nap will not flatten out and become as shiny in such places as the back of your skirt.

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: I sent for your leaflet with instructions on bound buttonholes and must tell you all so nice before. I'm showing all my friends how you make them. Is there any place I would not use this type of buttonhole?" Your Fan

If everyone has the same kind of luck with them that you have, we will have overcome one of the hazards of "that homemade look." Don't use this type of buttonhole for anything you are making for boys or men, such as vests, sport jackets, sport shirts, etc. If you are using small buttons on blouses or tailored dresses such as shirtwaist dresses, you probably will use a machine-made buttonhole. It would be safe to use them on anything that isn't man-tailored.

If you would like to have Eunice Farmer's free leaflet, "Bound Buttonholes," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Players Slate Tryouts for New Production

Tryouts for the Waterford Township Lakeland Players' new production, "Ladies in Retirement," will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday and from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Community Center. The play, under the direction of Jim Starnes, is a suspense drama and will be presented Feb. 3 and 4. Duward (Duke) Chaffee is the producer and president of the Lakeland Players.

Pontiac area residents have been invited to try out for parts whether or not they are members of the group, according to Starnes.

Leaders Mrs. John Stepleton, Mrs. Marvin Compton, Irene Barker and pals of each girl were also present.

Stand-by High School Plays Passe

EAST LANSING — "Willie's First Dress Suit" and other high school plays of its ilk are rapidly going into mothballs. Don't be surprised if you're asked to buy a ticket to the senior production of a recent Broadway hit — or maybe even Shakespeare.

Now universities are graduating, and schools hiring, teachers specially trained in speech and theater arts.

As the current headquarters for the American Educational Theater Association, the Michigan State University Speech Department is in close touch with developments of this sort. Dr. John A. Walker of the MSU staff is AETA executive secretary-treasurer.

High schools are not only producing better-written plays these days, but they're giving them better productions.

"Time was," says Dr. Walker, "when the principal would be wondering who'd direct the senior play this year. The first man to come by his office would be elected. Unfortunately, it usually turned out to be someone as disinterested as the chemistry teacher."

Twenty-five years old in 1931, AETA has grown from 21 members in 1936 to more than 4,000 today. One of its publications alone, "High School Theater Newsletter," goes to 8,000 to 9,000 persons connected with the production of high school plays.

Special divisions have been organized for children's theater and secondary theater and another has been established on a provisional basis for community theater, considered adult education by AETA.

Most of the growth in the employment of wives and mothers has come about during the last two decades.

Say Mom's Food Isn't Fit for Public

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Board of Health and Hospital was thinking twice today about whether mom's cooking is fit for public consumption.

On Monday the board sent letters to church and school organizations, pointing out that a city ordinance prohibits sale to the general public of food prepared in kitchens not subject to sanitary inspection.

Enforcement of the ordinance would mean that housewives as the clear implication in the law is that mother's cooking may not be fit to eat.

"We certainly do not wish to deprive any school or church group from raising funds through this customary and established means," Dr. Francis M. Candlin, chairman of the health board, said.

16 Dead After Tragedy at Tracks

School Bus Toll May Rise to 20

LAMONT, Alta. (UPI) — The death toll in the collision of a school bus and a freight train may reach 20, officials feared today.

Sixteen children—13 of them girls—were killed Tuesday when a 30-car freight smashed into the school bus carrying 42 children to morning classes and scattered books and bodies like popcorn.

Dr. M. A. Young, administrator of the 10-bed Archer Memorial Hospital here said Tuesday night that of the 35 injured at least 10 were in serious condition and several were in "very critical condition."

He said he feared the death toll would go higher.

MANY HEAR CRASH

The crash was heard by many of the town's 652 inhabitants and brought them to the scene on the run.

Dozens of women, many of them mothers of the victims, cried hysterically while police and rescue teams worked for two hours to remove the dead and injured from the yellow 1954 model school bus.

"Those innocent children," screamed one woman. "Why did this have to happen?"

"This is the worst thing I've ever seen or ever want to see," sobbed another.

Mrs. Peter Stefuro, a teacher at the consolidated high school and public school, said she was driving three children to school in her automobile.

LOCATING CRASH — The map pinpoints Lamont, Alta., where the school bus carrying 42 children met disaster at an unprotected railroad crossing Tuesday. At impact, books and bodies flew up "like popcorn."

"We were about 100 yards behind the bus when it approached the crossing," she said.

SEEMED ALL RIGHT

Mrs. Stefuro said she saw the bus stop at the tracks. She saw the train approaching and thought everything was all right.

"Then I saw him," Frank Bushney, the 35-year-old bus driver, driving onto the tracks. Then in an instant everything seemed to fly up—books and bodies—like popcorn.

One of the first men at the scene, Paul Nycko, said he experienced the mixed emotions of horror, pity and then anger.

He said he found himself crying after helping to remove the bodies from the bus.

"I blame myself," Nycko said. "I blame myself and I blame the townspeople of Lamont for the crash. The crossing should have been protected by lights."

Nycko was credited with pulling six of the injured children from the wreckage.

Harry Lucas, janitor of the school, was standing in the school doorway when the accident happened.

Lucas said he saw the train coming, saw the bus on the tracks and then "I saw the bus folded around the front of the engine."

Keith Tompkins, 12, youngest student in the bus, said: "I heard a crash, and flew right out of the bus. When I landed I did not have any shoes or socks on."

Keith was only slightly injured and made his way back to the wreckage to help free his two brothers.

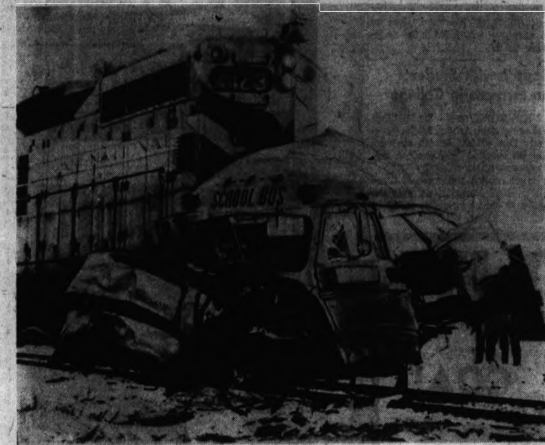

GATHER RESIDE TRACKS

Along the tracks people gathered and surveyed the crash scene.

Youngsters stopped beside blood-spattered school books, broken lunch buckets, pencils and pieces of steel. Tears welled in their eyes.

The bus normally carried 41 children but two youngsters, Robert Motluk 16, and Florence Stoboda, 17, missed it Tuesday.

The secretary-treasurer of the school board, M. Wojcynski, said the bus driver was a regular and had been approved by the board. The driver was among the seriously injured.

WHERE THEY DIED — The gnarled wreckage of part of the ill-fated school bus is shown still in front of the freight train which rammed the vehicle Tuesday, killing at least 16. The bus was just 300 yards from the school when it met the 30-car train.

Boos and Bomb Scares Shake Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — Carnegie Hall was turned into an ideological battleground for a while Tuesday night.

Boos and bomb scares, catcalls and fistfights greeted a Yugoslav chorus making its first concert appearance here before a near-capacity crowd of 2,300.

"Down with Tito," cried a group of hissing, cat-calling demonstrators. "Down with communism."

"Shush," said other members of the audience. The hecklers persisted. The chorus was startled but didn't waver.

Soon, 12 to 15 men were grappling in a free-for-all.

Expect Budget Deficit in 1961 as Result of Present Recession

BOSTON (UPI) — One of President-Elect John F. Kennedy's economic advisers believes the new administration will contain the current recession and bring about an upturn of business by the second half of 1961.

Prof. Paul A. Samuelson, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology discussed the situation in Business Scope, a fortnightly newsletter of business published in Boston. He stressed that he spoke as an "academic economist" rather than as an adviser to Kennedy.

As result of the recession, he said, the new administration probably will face a budget deficit during its first year.

While a deficit that is merely a sign of undisciplined spending would be a bad thing, he said, a deficit under recession conditions is proper and reasonable.

However, he said the administration faces two tougher problems than that posed by the recession—inflation and balance of payments.

"The essence of the inflationary problem that would be troublesome to us is one in which there is the tendency of rising costs to lead to higher prices and so on—the 'cost-push' effect, as it is called," said Samuelson.

"The likelihood is not that we will experience a runaway inflation, but rather the sort of price-creep with which we have become familiar."

He said the balance of payments problem stems from the fact that if the prices of our goods rise, the value of our exports may fall, and the balance of payments difficulty becomes worse.

He said the problem might be solved by devaluation of the dollar, but he said he felt sure Kennedy would not use this device.

Dutch Seize Indonesian Ship Off New Guinea

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A Royal Dutch Navy patrol vessel has seized an Indonesian ship carrying arms for infiltrators off the coast of Dutch New Guinea, the home ministry announced Tuesday.

The Indonesian ship and crew are being detained.

Last week the home ministry said a gang of some 20 armed Indonesians tried to infiltrate the island territory, which Indonesia claims, and some were arrested after a clash with local police.

New Machine Plots Pilot's Air Location

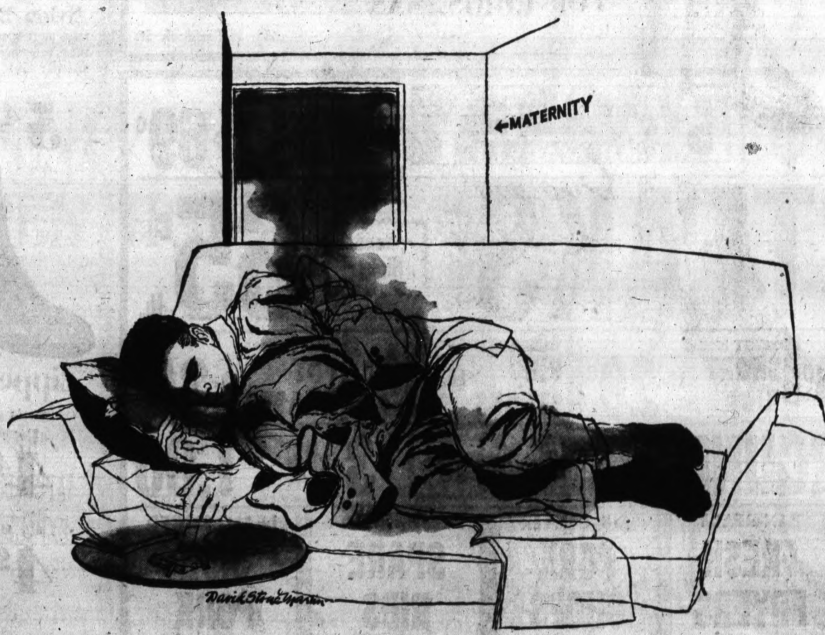

TETERBORO, N.J. (UPI) — A device that automatically tells a pilot his aircraft's location during every moment of flight was demonstrated today at International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. Laboratories in Nutley, N.J.

The instrument continuously plots the aircraft's position on a map of the area over which the plane is flying.

As many as 20 maps covering the pilot's flight route can be stored in the 12-pound unit.

Known as the Vortec Pictorial Display, the device is designed to help pilots avoid busy air traffic lanes and reduce attention required to solve navigational problems.

Scientists at the IIT Laboratories said the instrument would contribute greatly to air safety by enabling pilots and copilots to concentrate more fully on other flight problems.

Report Access Denied: Cleric, Daughter Into Frantz School

Here's What It's Like to Walk Through a Wall of Hate

By DAVID ZIMMAN
NEW ORLEANS UP—Inside integrated William Frantz School, past the crowds and the wall of color, there is a wall of silence. Four white children sat on a bench alongside a wall in the spacious basement hall. It was the first inside look at the school by a newsmen since it was integrated Nov. 14.

A lonely policeman paced up and down twirling his night stick, waiting for the school bell to ring. A cold morning sun slanted through the windows into empty classrooms.

"They have a right to believe the way they do — that crowd out there," a dark-haired mother in her 40s said. "But I have a right to my beliefs, too. And they have no right to stop me."

The parents stood together and talked. The children giggled off the bench and began playing together. When a child shouted, his voice seemed to echo in the barren basement hall.

The one Negro first grade girl had not yet arrived. She usually shows up after school starts escorted by U.S. deputy marshals.

"I can't help but think the people out there don't represent this city," the Rev. Lloyd Foreman said. He had dark hair, brown eyes, even features.

The 34-year-old Methodist minister — born in Crowley, La., — had walked the block and a half from his home to school with his 5-year-old daughter Pamela. Some dozen women tried to block his path, one holding onto his coat jacket and screaming. "Don't send her to that nigger school."

"Take your hands off me," he said as the yelling women closed around him. Policemen rushed over to clear a path.

"We're not alone in our feelings about the situation," he said to the other parents, "but fear has kept so many people away. The voices that need to be heard have been silent — and they need to be heard now."

TEACHERS ENTER
A few teachers started coming into the basement hall, talking to each other. They disappeared for a moment into a classroom with brightly colored pictures on the wall, a clean blackboard and row on row of empty seats.

"I think the crowd of women came there because they're bored because they have nothing else to do," one mother said. "They've called at my house. They've threatened to see that my husband loses his job."

"Well, he told me, if I have to lose my job because of this, then it wasn't worth having in the first place."

The bell sounded, and the teachers appeared. One gray-haired teacher came over to the Rev. Foreman's daughter and took her hand. Foreman quietly said goodbye to his daughter.

Pamela and the teacher were alone together in the classroom Monday — the start of the second week when only two white children showed up. But at the starting of school Tuesday, Pamela had one classmate, a little boy.

The boy took the other hand of the teacher and she led the two children away, past the policeman twirling his nightstick, past the empty classrooms, until they came to the empty kindergarten room.

Foreman talked with the other parents a few more minutes and then they broke up. He walked toward the door, kind of braced his shoulders and stepped out into the cold autumn air.

Some people in the crowd spotted him as soon as he took his first step. They yelled: "Nigger lover. White trash. blood."

Negro Leader Predicts Victory Over Southern Segregation

By United Press International
Negro youths staged brief sit-in demonstrations at stores in Georgia, Florida and Arkansas Tuesday, and a Negro leader predicted victory for his race over segregation practices because "the Negro has beaten fear."

"The raw, dirty, vicious infighting of the mop-up action" still remains for Negro demonstrators in the South, divinity student Kanacaster Hodges Jr. of Southern Methodist University told a church conference at Nashville, Tenn. He made his forecast amid these developments:

Thirteen Negro youths sat at a segregated variety store lunch counter in Jacksonville, Fla., for 40 minutes.

A small group of Negroes tried to take seats in a drug store in Atlanta, but were blocked by a rope.

Negroes in Atlanta distributed handbills urging shoppers to boycott downtown stores during the Christmas shopping season and "give freedom cards instead of gifts this Christmas."

The Jacksonville lunch counter which was the target of demonstrators before an outburst of racial violence last summer was closed when the Negroes appeared.

The manager of the store in Little Rock closed his lunch counter but said he would not notify police so long as there was no trouble.

New Atlas Missile Fails Second Time

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has failed for the second straight time to launch a more powerful model of the Atlas intercontinental range missile.

A new Atlas "E" rocket fizzled in flight Tuesday night about three minutes after it was launched. The main sustainer engine burned out prematurely and the 85-foot missile plunged into the Atlantic several miles offshore, far short of its 5,000-mile goal.

A similar malfunction Oct. 11 ruined the initial flight of the "E" Atlas which is powered by three engines generating 280,000 pounds of thrust. This is 30,000 pounds greater than the thrust of the present operational "D" model.

Physics Research on Upswing in Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government said Tuesday Soviet research in the area of physics most closely associated with electronics is excellent and growing rapidly.

The commerce department published a study which said Russian physics in solid state physics is increasing at such a pace that the Soviets within five to ten years probably will be issuing more publications in this field than the United States.

This evaluation was made by an unidentified federal agency, presumably the Central Intelligence Agency.

The most prominent feature of the Soviets' work in solid state physics is their excellent theoretical research," the report says. "The best workers are extremely prolific and versatile and seem unburdened by administrative and teaching duties."

Solid state physics involves the electronic physical processes that occur in semiconductors and other solids. It includes low-temperature physics, microwave physics, electronics, optics and magnetism.

Doggone It— Somebody Fix That Sonic Boom

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP) — Liberal was jarred the other night by a sonic boom-caused by a jet plane.

Police dispatcher Wayne Spencer got dozens of calls, including one from a sleepy citizen who asked: "What was that?"

"A sonic boom," Spencer answered. "Well, you'd better get it fixed. It nearly knocked me out of bed," said the caller.

Adolf Eichmann Feels No Regret

Nazi Says Better If All Jews on Himmler List Had Died

NEW YORK (UPI)—Adolf Eichmann, the Nazi accused of sending millions of Jews to their death in World War II, was quoted Tuesday as saying he had absolutely no regrets.
"I must say that I regret nothing," Eichmann said in a typed article in the current Life magazine.
"I will not humble myself or repent in any way. I could do it too cheaply in today's climate of opinion... I must say truthfully that if we had killed all the 10 million Jews that Himmler's statisticians originally listed in 1933, I would say 'Good, we have destroyed an enemy.'"

This quotation from Eichmann's memoirs, which Life said is dictated to a German newsman before his capture by Israeli agents in Buenos Aires last May 12, is from the second and concluding installment.

Eichmann also admitted that "he teach our opponents a lesson," he personally ordered the infamous death march of thousands of Jews from Budapest to the German border toward the end of World War II.

He said Allied bombings had torn up the Budapest-Vienna railroad track, and no train carrying Jews for the annihilation camps at Auschwitz could get through.

Eichmann said he proposed the march in order to let the Allies "look it over, you see, not when you bomb our railroads, because your allies, the Jews, have to endure the consequences."

He dismissed the actual number of Jews who were forced to make the 10-day march as "so unimportant that I have forgotten it. In any case it was less than 20,000," he added everything possible was done to make the march "hygienic and safe."

U.S. Civil Defense Chief Uncertain About Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leo A. Hoegh, the nation's civil defense administrator, said Tuesday his plans are uncertain.
"I have made no final determination as to what I will do after Jan. 20," the former governor of Iowa said.

That is the date on which the Democratic administration of John F. Kennedy takes office.

The 52-year-old Hoegh has been Chertoff Civil Agency and Iowa attorney general. He served another term as governor in 1955-56.

CHURCHILL'S BIRTHDAY CAKE — This is the 85-pound birthday cake which Sir Winston Churchill receives today on his 86th birthday. The cake is decorated with a cornucopia-horn of plenty—from which tumble a multitude of miniatures, all emblematic connected with his career. The cake was a surprise gift from his bakers who spent four weeks topping the cornucopia with pink and white sugar. The miniatures included his bow tie, derby hat, gold-topped cane, his brushes and palette, his Nobel Prize medal and insignia of the Order of the Garter, plus many others.

Old Law Might Close New Orleans Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A continuing boycott of two integrated public schools here posed the threat today they may be shut down under a 35-year-old law.
Combined attendance at the two elementary schools Tuesday was eight, including the four Negro first-graders who broke the color barrier Nov. 14. Enrollment before desegregation totaled 1400.

A 1925 Louisiana law says no public school may be kept open with an average attendance of 10 or less.

At the William B. Franz school, angry white mothers joining with police in an attempt to prevent white children from entering the building, but four white pupils at the school.

The segregationists continue leading classes with a lone Negro girl.

Twenty blocks away the boy-coot was complete at McDonogh No. 19. Three Negro girls, escorted by U. S. marshals, were the only pupils.

The school board may decide that any school with attendance of 10 or fewer may be kept open. However, the decision must be approved by state school officials and Shelby Jackson, Louisiana education superintendent, is a militant segregationist.

The school board and Jackson are under federal court order not to interfere with integration. Closing of the schools could be interpreted as failure to comply with the directive.

They got a boost Tuesday night when members of the legislature contributed more than $6,500 to the private school cooperative fund. The lawmakers were asked to give a day's pay—they get $50 a day for the special session now under way—and all of the legislators chipped in.

The legislative contribution should boost the amount donated to the Frantz Educational Cooperative, Inc., in the past week to over $15,000. Armand J. Duvo, president of the co-op, formed to operate a private school, earlier said about $3,000 had been received.

Biggest problem facing the co-op now is transportation of fourth, fifth and sixth graders from Frantz and McDonogh to segregated public schools in nearby St. Bernard Parish.

The co-op is presently chartering two buses—for $150 a day—to transport more than 200 children. However, Duvo said the group has purchased a used bus and has obtained the use of two other vehicles.

Demands Mayor Oust Police Commissioner

NEW YORK — By EDWARD WILSON
NEW YORK — Comedian Jay Adams was leading Police Commissioner Kennedy by 16 interviews, eight radio orations and 27 jokes in the great Cabaret Fingerput War—and now, sentencing victory, Adams was opening demanding that Mayor Wagner fire his top cop.

WILSON

"Bring me up on charges—see where you'll get!" defiantly retorted the Commissioner, whose term expires next Feb. 21.

To Mayor Wagner's protest that some cake suspensions, for lack of employees' cabaret cards, were severe, Kennedy replied they weren't severe enough.

There've been telephone battles and religious-casting. One Broadway gag is: "Kennedy's going to make Wagner get a Mayor's license."

To show how the wind's blowing, it was revealed that behind the scenes the Mayor's proposing to Adams, as president of AGVA, a new cabaret card setup providing one-time permanent photographing and fingerprinting in a licensing branch office in easy reach of Broadway cafe actors.

A fellow at the Algonquin asked Monte Proser how soon he'll be opening the new Lanai Polynesian restaurant in the Winter Garden. Monte replied, "About another $100,000."

With Perle Mesta having backed Nixon (in anger at Lynndon Johnson for running with Sen. Kennedy), comedian Matt Allen figures that for the next four years all her shindigs will be "minority parties" ... Henry Morgan was leaving a party with the Will Glickmans. He turned to the host who was saying goodbye, "I'll say it for you. I thought we'd never go."

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—The scrambled pieces of one of the most war's most complicated and dramatic jig-saw puzzles, "The U2 Affair," were nimbly put together in the first edition of a slick "NBC White Paper" production Tuesday night.

On the serious side, the effective one-hour recapitulation of the snafu2 episode served to organize a disorganized story. It lined out the available facts in a straight-from-the-shoulder, easy-to-grasp chronological style.

In so doing, those responsible for the program magnificently served the international needs of a free society.

On the lighter side, by golly, they managed to go through the whole hour without using that bit of U2 gobbledegook, the word "over-night."

It seems that the alternative on TV is to capitalize big news in weekend roundups or in year-end wrap-ups. In the first instance, perspective is usually sacrificed for immediacy.

In the case of weekend wrap-ups, too often details are brushed aside in the rush to cover more ground. Here, then, was a rare instance where TV asked us to hold everything and take a long look at some important current history.

The "White Paper" made use of film clips, old and new, domestic and imported, and interviews with some of the men who lived with the story in those hectic days of May and June.

Since my readers know I'm prejudiced in favor of United States income tax, they're all handling me a pay check each week—I'll come right out and say that I enjoyed seeing several colleagues and the show, on TV.

(For those who tuned in late, the U2 story was merely one of many UPI news "firsts") Bill Fox, UPI day cable editor, turned in an emphatic, solid performance in his debut on the coaxial night cable.

Narrator Chet Huntley—who took the show home as he filled in the verbal flourishes when film couldn't be summed up by noting the high-level lack of coordination that plagued Washington in the U2 incident and stating that the nation could not afford another such workout.

In the case of weekend wrap-ups, too often details are brushed aside in the rush to cover more ground. Here, then, was a rare instance where TV asked us to hold everything and take a long look at some important current history.

These Issues Likely to Outperform Rest of Market, Says Firm

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investors Research Co. says there are indications of a substantial flow of capital into aircraft shares capable of springboarding a major advance in this group.

In the weeks ahead, these issues will continue to outperform the market, the advisory firm says, but a really sustained rise is likely to coincide closely with a decisive turning point in the entire market.

Investors Research gives the group a "superior" rating and calls for its major consideration in the early months of 1961.

General Motors continues to offer good value at prices which are well below the previous high, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. The present $2 annual dividend seems conservative in relation to estimated earnings, it says. Also recommended are Harco, General International, Harvester and Johns-Manville.

Stock Trend Service says that immediate and severe profit-taking should occur after the rise in stocks following the wide December price action.

United Business Service says the year-end rally should carry a little further, though any very extension in stocks will probably have to wait for evidence that the recession in business has more nearly run its course.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says the recent recovery movement appears to be meeting somewhat stronger resistance and that he wouldn't be surprised if the market gave up more ground in an attempt to consolidate its position.

Residents of Malta take intense pride in the fact that the Apostle Paul took refuge there in the year A.D. when his ship, bound for Rome, was wrecked.

Presidential press secretary James Hagerty—future member of the TV industry—supplied the only chuckle in the show. Asked what the big lesson was in the U2 story, he replied, "don't get caught."

I guess that's the best policy for exercises in espionage and manipulators of TV quiz shows, but I hope imprudent youngsters who might have seen the show don't adopt a "don't get caught" code of personal conduct.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The Great Holiday Massacre? A filmed record of highway accidents that occurred last Labor Day weekend, will be the "CBS Reports" offering for Monday, Dec. 26. Film crew recorded several police chases and accidents during a cross-country "stake-out" last September.

The next Jack Paar special, tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 31 on NBC-TV, is tentatively titled, "The Square World of Jack Paar."

A half-hour documentary dealing with featherbedding in the railroad and construction industries will be ABC-TV's "Close-Up" for Friday, Dec. 9 ... Harpo Marx and his son Bill will star in dramatic roles in "Silent Panic," the "June Allyson Show" episode for Thursday, Dec. 22 on CBS-TV.

Attention, heads-up! Advance scoop for NBC-TV's daytime interview show, "Here's Hollywood" reports that next Wednesday, "T star Clint Eastwood explains what he meant when he said, 'Never marry a woman who looks good in black.'"

In so doing, those responsible for the program magnificently served the international needs of a free society.

On the lighter side, by golly, they managed to go through the whole hour without using that bit of U2 gobbledegook, the word "over-night."

It was, in short, a triumphant TV hour.

Producer Al Wasserman and Executive Producer Irving Gittlin set out to do something that TV doesn't do often enough. That is, they gathered together loose ends in a world-shaking news story, the pros and cons, the known answers and the unanswered questions, and wrunged it all into a hard-hitting, stimulating story.

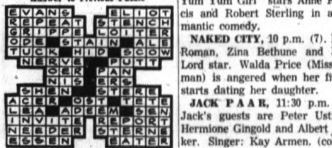

It seems that the alternative on TV is to capitalize big news in weekend roundups or in year-end wrap-ups. In the first instance, perspective is usually sacrificed for immediacy.

In the case of weekend wrap-ups, too often details are brushed aside in the rush to cover more ground. Here, then, was a rare instance where TV asked us to hold everything and take a long look at some important current history.

The "White Paper" made use of film clips, old and new, domestic and imported, and interviews with some of the men who lived with the story in those hectic days of May and June.

Since my readers know I'm prejudiced in favor of United States income tax, they're all handling me a pay check each week—I'll come right out and say that I enjoyed seeing several colleagues and the show, on TV.

(For those who tuned in late, the U2 story was merely one of many UPI news "firsts") Bill Fox, UPI day cable editor, turned in an emphatic, solid performance in his debut on the coaxial night cable.
