Robot Astronaut Zips Around Earth to 'Home'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States took a long stride toward manned orbital flight today by rocketing a Mercury space capsule into orbit and recovering it after one sweep around the earth.

* * *

The two-ton capsule, which carried an "artificial astronaut," was fished from the Atlantic 161 miles east of Bermuda by the destroyer USS Decatur at 12:14 p.m.—just over three hours after it roared away from Cape Canaveral on the nose of an Atlas missile.

Pictures, Page 32

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the capsule will be returned to Cape Canaveral for study.

The pickup was made one hour and 24 minutes after the space craft landed in the sea.

The capsule was launched from the Cape Canaveral test center at 9:04 a.m.

The intended impact area was 230 miles east of Bermuda.

Recovery ships and planes hastened to the area to attempt recovery.

An airplane spotted the floating capsule minutes after it landed.

Reverse rockets were set off as the space traveler sped over the Mexican west coast, to slow it for a descent into the Atlantic east of Bermuda.

A LONG STRIDE

A fully successful operation would be a long stride toward the time, hopefully—but not certainly within this year—when a real spaceman will fly the route on a three-turn orbit.

* * *

An automatic timing device fired the three small slow-down rockets attached to the base of the capsule at 10:33 a.m. as the vehicle neared the end of its single whirl around the globe. As a backup, a ground staiton at Guaymas, Mexico, sent a radio signal to ignite the rockets.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that firing of the reverse rockets had been confirmed by tracking stations at Guaymas, Point Arguello, Calif., Corpus Christi, Tex., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

The intention was to slow the capsule by 350 miles from its orbital speed of 17,520 m.p.h. This is enough to ease the craft gradually back to earth under the pull of gravity.

Its course ranged from a high altitude of 144 miles over Australia to a low point of 99 miles directly over Bermuda.

Except for a landing 39 miles short of the planned impact point 800 miles from Bermuda it was a precision performance throughout.

The success signaled the beginning of a concentrated U.S. drive to send a human astronaut into orbit soon.

A source close to the project said the manned orbit try could be made within two months if officials decide to eliminate a preliminary chimpanzee shot.

Present plans call for the chimp to be sent into triple orbit about the earth in a Mercury capsule within a few weeks, with a man to follow over the same course soon afterward.

* * *

Stalled by Storm's Dying Gasp

AFTERMATH OF HURRICANE — Cars are stalled hood-deep at a Kansas City intersection today as heavy rains, triggered by the remnants of Hurricane Carla, swept into parts of the Midwest. The U.S. Weather Bureau reported almost 4 inches of rain fell in Kansas City in a six-hour period after midnight—and the fall was continuing.

Kansas City Swamped by Hurricane Offshoots

Last Blast Stirs Winds, Flooding Rains

Hurricane Carla, in a last burst of vicious power, stirred up whirlwinds in the south and swamped parts of Kansas City, Mo., with flooding rains today.

* * *

The offshoots of the mighty storm roamed the Midlands and Southwest. Flood warnings were posted as far north as Wisconsin. The weather bureau warned of possible tornadoes in parts of Northeast Oklahoma, Northwest and Northeast Arkansas, and Missouri.

Stories, Pages 32, 6

Along the battered Texas and Louisiana coasts, the hurricane death toll stood at 17, with hundreds of persons injured and damage in the hundreds of millions of dollars. A new hurricane, christened Esther, lashed the tropical Atlantic but apparently posed no threat to the mainland.

Flash floods also struck throughout much of Eastern Kansas, where rainfalls since Monday mounted to a foot deep. Several Kansas highways were blocked and some schools were closed.

More rivers were rising in Texas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, and Wisconsin. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Milwaukee issued a special bulletin urging residents of low areas and riverbank regions in Southeast Wisconsin to take immediate precautions against flooding.

ONE PERSON HURT

To the south, whirlwinds injured one person and damaged a home near Shreveport, La., and demolished a barn in East Texas.

Flooding rains continued to pour

Consider Pooling Resources

Restudy Auditorium

Oakland County's long projected auditorium is receiving more study.

Representatives of the county, city, MSUO and trustees of the current $38,000 fund are considering the possibility of pooling all available resources.

* * *

The suggested structure would run between two and two and a half million dollars, which is approximately 50 per cent of what the original auditorium proposed several years ago would have cost. It would provide seating capacity for crowds ranging from a few hundred to a few thousand.

* * *

Several locations were suggested and discussed. One would be on property belonging to MSUO which could provide sufficient parking. It would thus be adjacent to the Chrysler Highway with easy access from the north and south. It was pointed out that people even from Flint could attend meetings with less than a half hour drive.

* * *

Urban renewal assistance is a possibility and federal aid is another. The federal government is also considering special assistance for colleges and MSUO might qualify under this for a portion.

* * *

Practically every college and university in the country has an auditorium," said Chancellor D. B. Varner of MSUO, "and surely this institution will desperately need such a structure in the fairly near future. Perhaps we could unite with Oakland County."

An ideal auditorium would have small side rooms for meetings of various sizes, and the possibility of serving meals to gatherings of several thousand was considered.

Outstrip Dems by Margin of 56

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's first constitutional convention in 54 years will convene next month in the iron-clad grip of the Republican party, with Democratic delegates outnumbered better than 2 to 1.

With a smashing victory, the GOP captured at least 88 of the 144 delegate seats in a special election Tuesday which drew about one-fifth of the state's estimated 4 million voters to the polls.

Republicans scored upsets in more than a score of districts where Democrats are now represented in the legislature. The GOP sweep included seven normally-Democratic Wayne County districts with Democratic National Committeewoman Mildred Jeffrey among the losers.

Not only did the Republicans gain in individual districts, but they rolled up a statewide margin of about 425,000 to 285,000 in total votes.

"This means the Republican party philosophy has been accepted by the people," declared GOP State Chairman George Van Peursem. "The results make it crystal clear the Republican party is on the move."

SWAINSON DISAPPOINTED

Gov. Swainson expressed disappointment in the outcome and said it was unfortunate that so few voted in an election "of so great import to all the people of Michigan."

"Our task now," he said, "is to exert every effort to help design a constitution that will reflect and meet the 20th Century needs of all the people."

Delegates were elected on the basis of one for each senator and representative in the state legislature, controlled by the Republicans by an over-all 78-66 margin.

Prominent among the Republican winners were such nationally-known figures as Michigan State University President John A. Hannah; George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.; former Congressman Alvin Bentley, and GOP National Committeeman John B. Martin.

As the Republican landslide gained momentum, the GOP captured seats in district after district where Democratic legislators won in the 1960 election.

Seats in Oakland County, Monroe County, Macomb County, Saginaw, Muskegon and part of the Upper Peninsula fell to the Republicans as returns mounted.

Forty of the Democrats who won were in Wayne County, one in Oakland and one in Macomb. Two of five were retained in the Upper Peninsula, and the outcome in one district was in doubt.

Scattered Rain, Thunderstorms to Hit City Area

Scattered showers or thundershowers will hit the Pontiac area late today and tonight with the low a warm 70.

The weatherman said showers will end tomorrow with temperatures turning cooler, the high in the low 70s. For the next five days temperatures will average two to five degrees below the normal high of 75 and normal low of 56. Cooler temperatures will continue through Monday.

Morning southwesterly winds at 8 miles per hour will become southerly at 20-25 miles late today and tonight, and northwest tomorrow.

Seventy was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 85 at 2 p.m.

Pontiac Elects First Republican Since '46 Ballot

King Wins in City as GOP Takes 6 Out of 7 County Delegate Spots

Pontiac voters elected a Republican for the first time since 1946 as Oakland County GOP constitutional ocnvention nominees handily swept six out of the seven delegate seats in yesterday's light balloting.

Republicans were jubilant over the election in the usually Democratic city as 32-year-old attorney Raymond L. King halted the political comeback try of former Democratic state representative Leslie H. Hudson.

King, who received his political training as a staff assistant for the county GOP, as well as city campaign director in the November 1960 presidential campaign, edged past Hudson, 39, with a 119-vote margin — 2,539 to 2,420.

Causing just as much elation in the GOP party ranks was the 1,342-vote win of Richard D. Kuhn in Oakland's 1st Legislative District. Kuhn, 31, of 205 Gateway Drive, Waterford Township, also won his first public office.

CARRIES TOWNSHIPS

Kuhn walked away with victories in all 14 townships and Sylvan Lake in carrying the district with 5,247 votes to 3,905 for the Democratic challenger John S. Coleman, also of Waterford Township.

Just over 57,000 of the county's 334,529 qualified voters went to the polls on the rainy election day. This represents about 15 per cent or about 1 per cent more than the 49,200 who voted in the July 25 primary.

All returns remain unofficial until checked by the County Board of Canvassers.

Senatorial nominee George W. Romney, American Motors Corp. president from Bloomfield Hills, downed his Democratic opponent William A. O'Brien Jr., Clawson councilman, with a near 3-to-1 margin in the county.

Romney pulled an unofficial 42,334 votes to O'Brien's 15,071. He captured 73.7 per cent of the total county vote.

The auto executive and stalwart behind the drive for the first state constitutional convention since 1907-08 lost only in Keego Harbor and traditionally Democratic Hazel Park and Royal Oak Township.

'NAME HELPS'

Democrats and Republicans alike attributed Romney's name and pulling power — in his first political test — for carrying King, Kuhn and the other three Republicans to victory.

Waterford Voters OK Charter Township Change

Waterford Township voters approved a change to charter township 2-1 in yesterday's con-con election.

While only 20 per cent of the township's registered voters went to the polls, the results were 2,612 to 1,377 in favor of making the governmental change.

Township officials said they may now go ahead with a large-scale water and sewer program, the main reasons for a charter township.

A charter township also paves the way for better health, fire and police department operations, they said, and gives elected officials broader powers for moving ahead.

With an anticipated 85,000 population by 1970, the change to charter township permits the borrowing of large sums to "get the ball rolling" on water and sewer projects officials said are necessary to meet the large increase in population.

The Federal Housing and Finance Commission has already loaned the township $100,000. A detailed survey report has been made for an inter-connecting water system by township engineers Johnson and Anderson.

Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson said, "We now have the tools to do the things necessary for expanding our operations."

LONG-RANGE PLANNING

Clerk James E. Setterlin said, "Now we hope we can establish an orderly program of public improvements—namely water and sewer—to serve the needs of this community. It will take long-range planning and long-term financing to bring these improvements into being."

In the con-con race, candidates from the first district, Richard D. Kuhn (R) and John S. Coleman (D) were running neck and neck from the first of Waterford's 18 precinct reports to the last.

Kuhn finally won by 29 votes in Waterford Township. Kuhn garnered 2,198 and Coleman 2,169 votes. The final tabulation throughout the entire district gave Kuhn 5,247 and Coleman 3,905.

* * *

Katanga Secession Ended by Force

U.N. Triumphs in Bloody Fight

Tshombe in Hiding as Troops Unite Rebellious Province to Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations announced today a forceful end to Katanga's secession from the Congo. U.N. troops downed military resistance in a blood-spilling fight of several hours at Elisabethville, the provincial capital.

President Moise Tshombe fled, denouncing the attack, and the Leopoldville central government appointed an administrator to take over the mineral-rich province.

* * *

"The Katanga secession is over," U.N. headquarters here was told by its Elisabethville representative, Conor Cruise O'Brien. "Katanga is now a Congolese province."

This would mean an end to the independence of the lush, copper-laden plateau land proclaimed by Tshombe 14 months ago.

MEANS MILLIONS

It also would mean diversion of millions in tax revenues from Katanga's $980-million annual production to the treasury of the deficit-run central government.

Casualties among Elisabethville defenders were undetermined.

* * *

Swedish sources said one U. N. soldier, a Gurka in Indian ranks, was killed. They reported five Swedes and seven Indians wounded. U. N. headquarters here said two U. N. soldiers were killed and five or six wounded.

* * *

Premier Cyrille Adoula announced the Katanga army — stripped of its 500 or so white mercenaries by another show of U. N. force Aug. 28—will be integrated with troops of the central government's commander in chief, Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

ASKS U.N. TAKE OVER

Adoula told newsmen he had asked the United Nations to take over all essential services in Katanga and his government has declared a state of emergency in the province.

* * *

A radio report picked up from Elisabethville said Tshombe, after reaching a safe hideout, issued a statement.

"The United Nations tricked me right to the end. Only last night they gave me a solemn promise that they would not go against the Katanga government. Nor would they disarm Katanga's troops, they said," the statement said.

* * *

"Early today they told me they were arresting three of my ministers and wanted to take me to Leopoldville."

Only recently the United Nations sent a special plane to Elisabethville to take Tshombe to Leopoldville to discuss joining in the unity government.

Tshombe said the United Nations had handed him an ultimatum and he refused to board the plane. The U.N. Command in the Congo denied issuing an ultimatum but said time was running out on the secessionist Tshombe.

VIOLENCE IN ELIZABETHVILLE — Helmeted Katanga police patrol streets in an open truck as Katangese youths riot violently against U.N. forces who put an end to the province's secession today in Elizabethville. Several Indian and Swedish troops were injured by rocks thrown by demonstrators. Trouble erupted recently when a Swedish soldier set up a machine gun on the steps of the U.N. hospital.

Other Berlin Incidents Expected

Reds May Try to Halt Flights

BERLIN (AP) —The Communists may try to interfere with Western flights to Berlin after staging incidents at this old German capital's airports, say West Berlin officials.

* * *

Communist East Germany already claims the right to control the air corridors into this city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain. The claim is challenged by the United States, Britain and France.

REPORT RED PLANS

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's office reported Tuesday it had learned of plans to sneak East German agents into the crowds of refugees and others at West Berlin's Tempelhof and Tegel airports during the next few days.

The agents then would throw themselves on the ground and shout: "I don't want to be kidnaped."

* * *

The East Germans claim that many of the refugees who streamed into West Berlin before the Reds threw up a wall through the divided city were lured by Western intelligence agents and spirited away by air to West Germany.

* * *

Many refugees still are in West Berlin awaiting air transportation out of the city. East Germany controls road, rail and canal transport over the 110 miles of Communist territory between the city and West Germany. The air corridors are the city's last unhindered links to the West.

Elimar Arendt-Denart, spokesman for the mayor, said the Red plans were reported by members of the East German military forces who defected recently.

"The responsible authorities are prepared to act energetically against such attempts to make a disturbance," he said.

Walker, a 40-year-old Madison Heights building contractor, captured 296 more votes than Republican Dale Edwards in the heavily Democratic 6th District, which Romney carried 2,605 to 2,166.

Romney garnered 2,800 votes to O'Brien's 2,023 in Pontiac.

Woolfenden, 54, former Bloomfield Hills mayor and president of the State Bar, won easily—11,982 to 2,432—over Asher N. Tilchin in the 3rd District GOP stronghold.

MARGINAL RACE

In the race considered the most marginal of all of the six state representative - delegate contests, Van Dusen, an attorney from Bingham Farms had his district wrapped up until midnight when Oak Park submitted the last returns of the night. In this city, which voted 750 by absentee ballot, Van Dusen trailed Thomas G. Kavanaugh of Beverly Hills, 2,025 to 925.

But Van Dusen had piled up sufficient pluralities in the other 11 townships and cities to win, 8,609 to 4,924.

Elliott, 44, a realtor with offices in Royal Oak, won over Avern L. Cohn, 37-year-old Royal Oak attorney. The GOP county leader since 1957 recorded 7,706 to 3,514 for Cohn with the winner taking Cohn's resident city of Royal Oak.

Heading to Lansing next month with six Oakland Republicans, Walker defeated Edwards, a 44-year-old Ferndale transportation consultant, who had captured his city but lost in Hazel Park, Madison Heights and Royal Oak Township.

Claims Con Con Voters Reject Rule by Population

George W. Romney today said the GOP's one-sided victory in the con-con election was a clear showing of "voter repudiation" of representation in the Legislature solely by population.

The American Motors Corp. president, who easily took the delegate's seat for the 12th Senatorial District (Oakland County) said that as a result of the Republican showing "a broad consensus on a sound basis of apportionment is more likely to be achieved."

He said the 144 delegates elected yesterday had a "rare opportunity" to unite the state, halt the growth of federal power by unshackling state and local governments, and to rebuild Michigan's national image.

"In particular Republican delegates can now demonstrate their convictions that sound democratic government should protect individual and minority rights by working to write a new constitution that will command general citizen acceptance of its fundamental principles and procedures," Romney said.

* * *

He said he was convinced most delegates of both parties would rise to the "unequaled character of their responsibility and opportunity to act in the best interests of the state."

'Recess Not Enough to Keep Kids Fit'

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) — Recess may be good enough to let the steam out of elementary school youngsters, but it isn't good enough to keep them physically fit, said Thomas Hines, director of physical education for the Brookline, Mass., public schools.

Children should have at least 30 minutes a day of supervised instruction in running, walking, climbing, jumping, throwing, dodging and catching. Hines said in an article in School Management Magazine. This program should include elementary gymnastics, tumbling, use of apparatus and rhythmic calisthenics.

Expect JFK Will Convey Summit Hope to Guests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was expected to assure two neutralist leaders today that the United States wants and expects negotiations with the Soviet Union on a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

* * *

But Kennedy was also expected to tell them that he sees no prospect of a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev unless a successful outcome is insured by advance negotiation.

PARLEY REPRESENTATIVES

President Sukarno of Indonesia and President Modibo Keida of Mali arrived here late Tuesday aboard a chartered jet airliner as representatives of the Belgrade conference of 25 neutral or nonaligned nations which met in the Yugoslav capital 10 days ago.

* * *

They delivered to Kennedy a letter calling for direct negotiations between him and Khrushchev to save the world from the dangers of a nuclear war.

Kennedy met them and gave them a full dress airport reception complete with red carpet, 21-gun salute and a military honor guard.

NEW RED BLAST

At almost the same instant that their big jet landed, the Atomic Energy Commission announced that the Soviet Union had exploded another nuclear weapons test device — the seventh in the series which started after Moscow announced two weeks ago that nuclear tests were being resumed.

Some officials indicated that the President could be expected to advise Sukarno and Keida of U.S. surprise that the Belgrade conference had failed to take official notice of the Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear tests in spite of the fact that the action brought widespread indignation and criticism in the non-Communist world.

MAIN CONCERN

However, Kennedy was reported to feel that the main concern of the neutralists at the moment is in a Berlin settlement since the East-West conflict over the future of the divided German city creates the greatest immediate danger of war.

* * *

Kennedy has had some exploratory soundings made, chiefly by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow, to find out whether Khrushchev is seriously interested in negotiating a Berlin settlement other than on his own terms; that is, a settlement providing for abandonment of West Berlin by the Western powers.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT

So far, U.S. officials report, the Soviets have offered no encouragement for terms of negotiation acceptable to the West.

* * *

Sukarno and Keida received a warm welcome from Kennedy at the airport. He said that Americans realized that they had come here "on a mission of peace," and he told them that the American people "share their desire."

* * *

Sukarno, who was dressed in a blue gray military uniform, complete with swagger stick, told the President that he and Keida had come to Washington not as national leaders but as emissaries of the Belgrade conference whose 25 nations contain 750 million people.

"Our task is not a task of mediation," he said to the President. "Our task here is to communicate the thoughts and concerns of the Belgrade conference to you."

* * *

Sukarno brought along a retinue of 44 advisers and aides, including Foreign Minister Subandrio. Keida was accompanied by seven advisers and aides.

Airliner Crash Leaves 77 Dead

French Jet Smashes Up, Burns in Heavy Fog Near Rabat, Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — A French jet airliner feeling its way through a heavy fog crashed and burned in a rocky ravine Tuesday night. Air France officials said all 77 persons aboard perished.

* * *

Three U.S. citizens, an Arabian prince, the Australian ambassador to Cairo, a Moroccan diplomat and two Soviet citizens were among the victims, an Air France spokesman said.

* * *

The sleek twin-jet Caravelle airliner, in service only 3½ months, was bound from Paris to Casablanca, with a brief stop scheduled at Rabat.

The plane contacted the Rabat control tower, then began its letdown and glide. In the thick fog, the plane veered into a ravine and struck a jutting rock.

Witnesses said they heard distinct explosions and then the plane turned into a torch, burning for several hours.

Flames towered above the ravine as firemen, soldiers and police rushed to the disaster scene.

They were hampered by the rocky terrain and the dense fog. They found burned and torn bodies strewn as far away as 100 yards from the wreckage.

* * *

There were six persons in the crew and 71 passengers, Air France headquarters in Paris said. Some reports in Rabat said there was one additional passenger, but this could not be confirmed.

An inquiry commission from the Moroccan Public Works Ministry was on the scene shortly after dawn and a French investigation board was ordered to Rabat.

One unofficial theory of the cause of the crash was that in the heavy fog the pilot mistook the lights of a small nearby village, Douar Doum, for the airport.

The crash was the second air disaster in Morocco in two months. On July 12 a Czechoslovakian Ilyushin crashed near Casablanca, with 73 deaths.

Bloomfield Twp. Voters Defeat Millage Increase

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed millage increase necessary for the enforcement of a dog ordinance was rejected yesterday by Bloomfield Township voters while approval was given to the purchase of additional land for a future township building site.

The two local issues appeared on the state constitutional convention ballot.

The millage proposal, which would have raised taxes approximately 40 cents for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation was defeated by a 170-vote margin, 1,989 to 1,819.

The proposal asking authority for the acquisition of 10 acres to the south and west of the Township Hall was approved 2,521 to 1,245.

The property, which will cost the township an estimated $40,000 will be purchased with money from the general fund.

* * *

Taxes from the special millage issue would have provided the township approximately $30,000 annually for the operation of a dog warden department and the purchase of equipment.

It had been proposed to levy the tax for 10 years but township officials believed that once the department had been organized it would become self-sustaining and the special tax could be terminated.

Bids on $1.5 million in bonds as Birmingham's major portion of its share of the Twelve Town Drain will be opened at the Oct. 2 City Commission meeting, James W. Purkiss, director of finance, said today.

Approval to sell the bonds was given the city yesterday by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

"We're hoping to sell the bonds at an interest rate of 3 per cent or less," Purkiss said.

The city's share of the drain project is $1.96 million. The remaining $460,000 will come from the general fund.

The city is seeking to sell the bonds to a syndicate rather than have the Oakland County Drain Commission handle the financing because it is believed there will be a savings.

Dr. Kemp died yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following a heart attack.

The family requests that any memorials be forwarded to the Pediatric Fund at William Beaumont Hospital.

Troops and Tanks Restore Order in D.R. After Row

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Tanks and troops restored order today after rioting by opposition political groups left four dead and more than a score injured.

* * *

The violence was sparked by the arrival of a four-man team from the Organization of American States Tuesday. They are investigating the possibility of lifting some of the diplomatic and economic sanctions on the Dominican regime that took over after the assassination of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo last May. The opposition fears this would entrench Trujillo's heirs in power.

* * *

There were conflicting versions of what happened near Duarte Bridge over the Ozama River around noon Tuesday, when a crowd of about 5,000, mostly from a nearby working class neighborhood, gathered to greet the OAS delegates.

America's Luxury Market Booming and Widening

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The luxury market is both booming and widening.

★ ★ ★

It is booming today because people have more money to spend than a few years back and a greater knowledge of and taste for quality goods. It is widening because what once was bought by the high-income class as a luxury is now being bought by the middle-income group, the fastest growing in the nation in recent years.

MORE PROMOTION

And the luxury market is booming and widening because more producers are promoting wares in this field, which they once considered too small to enter.

Sales of products regarded as luxuries are growing at a much faster rate than the population. And sellers report demand is now coming from the blue collar group rather than being confined as it once was to the well-to-do.

Prices of luxuries are rising fast, too. A striking example is in the field of art—pictures so valuable now as to attract a wave of thefts—and in the rising price tags on antique furniture.

Yesterday's luxury tends to become today's commonplace. But here are a few examples of how sales of such items have grown.

In 1954 the number of home swimming pools was estimated at 15,000, and today there are about 170,000—still regarded as luxuries by most of those who don't have them.

STILL STATUS SYMBOL

In 1951 power lawn mowers were vaunted as luxuries by some 1,241,000 owners. Today nearly four million are in use—and still called a status symbol.

In 1956 there wre 86 Rolls-Royces on American streets and now nearly 500; and 2,157 Mercedes-Benzes then against 14,500 now. There were 5,000 owners of a MG then, compared with 12,800 now; and 3,000 Jaguar jockeys against at least 5,600 today.

Where has the money for these things come from? Well, the number of families with annual incomes of $25,000 and over has doubled since 1950. And today some 10 million families have incomes of $10,000 or more, almost twice as many as five years ago.

All this has created the market for high quality luxury products, in the view of Albin O. Holder, board chairman of Bronzini, men's and women's accessories shops where the prices definitely aren't bargain basement.

NEW LUXURIES

In his belief that the market is ripe for still better and costlier products, Holder's other enterprise, Cosmetic Chemicals Corp., is bringing out a new perfume (called Ai, the Japanese word for love) at $65 an ounce. This is reported to make it the world's most expensive perfume.

Each income group has its own set of luxury products, Holder says, and these are upgraded continuously. For example, electric washing machines, formerly middle-class luxuries, are now lower-class luxuries. And such currently middle-class luxuries as dishwashers, food waste disposers, second and third car, second homes, pleasure boats and foreign travel are now starting to filter down to the lower-income luxury level.

Many other businessmen agree that there is an increasing demand for higher quality goods offering convenience, luxury and esthetic satisfaction.

"The upgrading in American taste has reached a dynamic stage," Holder says. "The process cannot be arrested, short of war."

So that sort of leaves it—like so many other things today—up to Khrushchev.

At the peak of its 19th century golden age, Sierra Leone was called the Athens of West Africa.

Miracle Mile to Give Gift on Its Own Birthday

At its third birthday in October, The Michigan Miracle Mile Shopping Center will accept congratulations but insists the center do the gift-giving.

The gift is an invitation to community organizations to set up booths or tents for fund-raising projects at Miracle Mile's Birthday Fair, Oct. 12-14.

Each group will be given a 15-by-15-foot space in a roped-off area on the center's parking lot.

Participation in the fair is open to all civic organizations, clubs, churches, youth and educational groups, with specific community benefit projects or an over-all constructive program.

Deadline for application is Sept. 29.

Instruct Heart Patients to Maintain Proper Diet

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new leaflet of the American Heart Association summarizes the most recent medical belief on the relation of diet to heart ailments.

★ ★ ★

It suggests that heart patients eat a well-balanced diet, keep their weight down, and don't put themselves on special diets without their doctors' advice.

French A-Project in Israel One of Worst-Kept Secrets

BEERSHEBA, Israel (UPI) — Several years ago a group of Frenchmen attracted attention here by moving into a block of modern apartment houses and driving off to the east in a procession every morning and returning at night.

It was not long before the citizens of this desert city knew that the presence of the French was connected with the building of Israel's second atomic reactor. The world learned about it only recently.

But virtually all of the residents of Beersheba knew about the construction a year ago, and many of them even before that.

If the presence of the Frenchmen left any doubt in the minds of the local residents about what was going on in a bare spot of the desert to the east, the barbed wire fence surrounding the construction there dispellad any question. Guards on foot kept all strangers away. Signs said "Private road-no entry."

About a year ago a delivery truck drove up to the Arava Cafe on the main street of the town. The man beside the driver jumped out of the car and entered the cafe to ask: "How do I get to the atomic reactor from here."

This was one example of how the secret leaked.

The Frenchmen had their own church school. Outside their cafe the sign "Le Coin de la Paix" replaced the Hebrew one which had read "Pinnat Ha-Shalom" before the French took it over. Both signs meant "Peaceful Corner."

Each afternoon at 5 o'clock on their way home from work the French would sip aperitifs there. On Saturdays they would play a French game with an iron ball.

Their topic of conversation always was Algeria. They were paid in foreign currency. Their standard of living was considered high by Israeli standards.

Stories circulating here that U2 planes flew over this area to take photographs were considered exaggerations.

Blast-Tested Shelter Fails to 'Hold Earth'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton man planned to build a nuclear blast shelter.

The original design was produced for testing at the Nevada proving grounds. Nuclear engineers claimed it would withstand five times the pressure of an atomic blast and keep out gamma rays and fallout.

Its estimated cost was above $2,500.

The resident hired a contractor. An engineer approved the plans. A 17-foot pit was dug in his backyard.

Then he applied to Montgomery County officials for a building permit.

His application was denied.

County engineers questioned whether the shelter would hold up the six-feet of earth the man planned to pile on top of it.

The average person spent $1,235 in America's retail stores last year.

MOUTH TO BEAK — Eighteen-year-old Tuscon, Ariz., high school student Richard Orbaker was in the school yard Tuesday when this injured duck dropped at his feet. He took it to the school biology class for surgery. It apparently died after the removal of five buckshot from its body. The youth applied mouth-to-beak respiration and after 30 seconds the bird responded. Orbaker plans to turn it over to the State Game and Fish Commission.

A-Scientist Decides Against Personal Shelter

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller, world-famous nuclear scientist, is advocating a massive national effort to build atomic shelters. Has he built one for himself?

The answer is no.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Teller's explanation: he considered the question carefully on a personal basis, he told AP science writer Alton Blakeslee in an interview, and decided as a proponent of civil defense to work for community shelters in a crowded area like his home town of Berkeley, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Individuals, he says, can do something to reduce their personal risks in a nuclear war. But community action can provide more and better shelters which could be reached quickly by a greater number of people.

Radio-TV Confab Called on Con-Con

LANSING (AP)—The Governor's Preparatory Commission has invited representatives of radio and television stations interested in broadcasting proceedings of the constitutional convention to a meeting at the Lansing Civic Center Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The meeting will be to help commission members plan the physical layout of the center's small auditorium to give the most effective coverage for radio and television.

★ ★ ★

Technicians, producers and news chiefs are urged to attend to help the commission put in a workable installation before the opening session of the convention on Oct. 3.

★ ★ ★

1 Killed, 2 Injured in Crash Near Adrian

ADRIAN (AP)—Richard Frees, 37, of Morenci, was killed and two other men were injured seriously Tuesday in a two-car head-on collision 10 miles south of Adrian.

The seriously injured were Amos Green, 40, of Morenci, the driver of the car in which Frees was a passenger, and Narendra Sarin, 28, of Adrian, the driver of the other car. Paul Robinson, 41, also of Morenci, another passenger in Green's car, suffered a broken leg.

Lenawee County sheriff's men said Sarin's car went out of control on slippery pavement, then crashed into Green's car.

Return of Key to Old Hotel Is Mysterious

LANSING (AP)—A key recently turned up in the mail has provided a minor mystery at the Lansing Post Office.

The key, to room 39 of the Kerns Hotel at Lansing, came in with the traditional tag on it guaranteeing payment of postage by the hotel.

But the Hotel Kerns burned to the ground on Dec. 11, 1934, a fire in which 32 persons died.

There was no way of tracing where the key came from, but Assistant Postmaster Joseph Attwood did some speculating.

"It might have come from an old estate," he said, "perhaps it was lost in some trunk all these years. Or it could have been part of the belongings of one of those killed in the fire."

Tornadoes Spread Terror in North-Central Louisiana

JONESBORO, La. (AP)—Three days of Hurricane Carla-spawned tornado terror left at least five known dead, others possibly missing and heavy property damage through Louisiana today.

A rash of tornadoes began striking the state last Sunday. Few touched ground, but one killed four-week-old Nancy Ann Simon, the first victim of Carla, when it struck Kaplan.

★ ★ ★

Tornadoes harassed the state Monday at Indian Village, St. Joe and Plaisance, three small hamlets scattered through the southern section.

Four persons were killed and at least 30 were injured. Damages were estimated near a quarter-million at Hodge.

DAMAGE $2 MILLION

Tornado damages throughout the state approached near $2 million.

National Guardsmen, Jackson Parish sheriff's deputies and state troopers searched the ruins of Hodge's Negro section through the night.

All four persons killed were Negroes, Sam Rushing, 63; Ora Cage, 38; Craig Anderson, 3; and his brother, Calvin, four months.

The two Anderson boys were alone in their home when the twister hit, flattening the house. The bodies of the boys were found 500 yards away.

One woman said she saw a neighbor, Mrs. Cage, and a little girl standing across the street. Moments later, she said, the woman and her child were gone. The woman's body was found a quarter-mile away on a state highway. The little girl was missing.

"I could see house tops coming over and I yelled to my son, 'Son, we're going to be blowed away.'"

The small cinder-block store was blown half away. Bread and potato chip racks in the store remained intact, but everything else was gone.

★ ★ ★

"I didn't have time to move," Pollard said. "By the time I saw it and hollered it was gone."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Pat Robinson's home was flattened and furniture ruined. Only one thing was missing—the refrigerator.

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Communists fired 98 shells against Quemoy Islands Monday night, the Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry reported Tuesday.

DISCOVERER XXX

Will Try to Get Orbiting Capsule

AF Spinner's Payload Secret; Was Blasted Off Tuesday Noon

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force hopes to recover the orbiting capsule of Discoverer XXX by Saturday.

The 300-pound, gold-plated capsule was blasted into orbit here Tuesday at 12:28 p.m. It is orbiting every 92.4 minutes in a path from 154 to 345 statute miles away from the earth.

It was the 20th Discoverer to orbit. The Air Force said it would attempt the recovery from one to four days after launch.

Four Discoverer capsules were caught in the air. Three were pulled from the Pacific Ocean in the Hawaiian recovery area.

The orbiting capsule's payload is secret. Recent Discoverers have tested equipment for Samos and Midas sky spy satellites.

5 Warships on Mission of Mercy to S. Texas

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Navy warships head for a peacetime mercy mission on the devastated Texas coast today, carrying doctors and helicopters instead of soldiers and jet fighters.

★ ★ ★

The ships—two aircraft carriers, two destroyers and a transport—hope to reach the ravaged Texas coastlands of Hurricane Carla by first light Thursday. All are part of Task Force 135, commanded by Rear Adm. F. J. Brush.

★ ★ ★

Some 50 military doctors, four nurses and 40 helicopters were to join the carriers Shangri-la and Antietam early today at Pensacola. The carriers also will carry emergency supplies, including hundreds of disposable diapers, nursing bottles and baby food.

UNDER FULL STEAM

The destroyers Compton and Gainard and the transport Francis Marion were under full steam to the disaster scene.

Blue jacket landing force parties to augment the Marines are on both the carriers and destroyers.

Lt. George W. Milland, the Shangri-la's medical administrative officer, said the carriers can be converted to hospitals.

"We're prepared to take aboard pregnant women, old people and babies," he said.

"We can take over the whole ship, if necessary. That's 3,000 beds, plus over 1,000 cots on board to set up on the hangar bay."

The transport can act as a floating hotel, taking aboard hurricane victims who do not need medical care. Over 2,300 beds are available.

12-PERSON LOADS

Twenty-seven of the helicopters are Marine troop transport helicopters, equipped with hoists, rafts, and capable of 12-person loads. They flew in to Pensacola Tuesday with 60 pilots and over 100 crewmen.

The landing force commander is Lt. Col. L. E. Middiff of Salt Rock, W.Va. He will work with Brush and the 8th Naval District commandant in New Orleans for operational control.

Our County Is Proud of New Courthouse

Oakland County can be proud of her fine new courthouse.

The building is attractive and well-done without going in for structural gingerbread or architectural flourishes. It's a credit to all concerned.

When the downtown courthouse was erected, it probably appeared to the delighted citizens as though we possessed a structure that would serve almost to the end of time.

And yet, we outgrew it.

★ ★ ★

Absolutely no one could foresee the amazing and startling development that Oakland County was destined to enjoy. We were a sparsely settled farming community with a few small cities separated by miles of fields and trees. Surely, that great structure on the corner of Saginaw and Huron streets would last beyond the memory of man and serve its people well. How could it be otherwise?

★ ★ ★

And yet, today there are more people in Pontiac than there were in all of Oakland County. There are more in Royal Oak and there are probably more in Waterford. And even beyond the amazing development of these communities lies the progress of the "land in between."

This has grown "like crazy."

Subdivisions by the thousands have sprung up from one border to the other, and commercial institutions to serve the needs of the populace dot the landscape in every direction.

★ ★ ★

An enormous amount of county building space is required to meet all this bustling growth. At first, the officials made the best use of the downtown courthouse that they could. Departments were jammed together, pushed into halls and almost ensconced in broom closets. Finally, in desperation, the County rented space outside and this grew until the original purpose of the courthouse was completely lost in the hodgepodge and jumble of overflowing activities.

★ ★ ★

The new building is designed to meet the future. The Board of Supervisors has provided plans for additions and the current offices are designed for enlargement when the occasion demands.

★ ★ ★

The Supervisors have done well in their planning and in their calculations. The Press commends them for a good job well-done. They haven't been extravagant and they haven't gone in for startling effects. But they have given the 800,000 citizens of Oakland County a fine, serviceable building in keeping with the needs of today and the promise of growth tomorrow.

They have acted wisely and intelligently. This County has been well and ably governed for an extended period of years.

Replies to Phony Contest Surprise Disc Jockey

We are sure this is not the first time or probably the last that a disc jockey will actually be outjockeyed. A news item illustrated this point and claims it really happened.

★ ★ ★

A Cleveland, Ohio, disc jockey on the spur of the moment announced a contest (anything to fill in between records, you know) in which anyone who sent in $10 would be sent 25 words or less.

★ ★ ★

To his surprise and utter amazement, the contest drew five entries, each with its $10 check. He got out of it by returning the checks, saying he wasn't eligible to keep them since the letter he was writing contained a few words over 25.

Naturally, the moral of this story is self-explanatory.

The Man About Town

Our Wildflowers

Now in Greater Profusion Than They Were in Spring

Life: What you must be close to nature in order to fully enjoy.

Supervisor from Oakland County's own Brandon Township, of Ortonville, states that wildflowers are now blooming in our county in a far larger number of varieties than they do in the spring.

Alex R. Solley

But you have to drive down the side roads to find them, where most of them can be enjoyed without leaving your car. And you must remember that it is unlawful to pick them.

Their luster may be somewhat dulled by a summer's dust, but their magnificence is worth the trip, even if some of them are regarded by many as weeds. Most every hedgerow has more varieties than you can count.

The dozen or so varieties that bloom in the spring, of course, seem more beautiful, because they chase out winter and signal the approach of the warmer season. But they are short lived, and few of them are blooming repeaters in the same year.

Mr. Solley engaged the services of a wildflower expert, and they spent a few hours checking the number of varieties in the rural sections of the Pontiac area. They positively identified (hold your hat), 92 distinct varieties.

So here's today's challenge: can any other county in the entire nation show a greater variety of wildflowers than this so-called industrialized county of ours?

Better make your entry in our football contest NOW, and not lose the chance of winning that $300 by overlooking it later. A list of the games was in this column yesterday.

United Nations

David Lawrence Cries:

Please, Germany for the Germans!

WASHINGTON — The talk of "negotiation" between the East and West persists. But there's a certain lack of realism on both sides as to what ought to be talked about.

LAWRENCE

One view, expressed by former President Eisenhower, is that there's nothing to negotiate since the rights of the Allies in West Berlin are well established.

Another view is that, since the Soviets through their puppets in East Germany have sealed off East Berlin from the other part of the city, the main objective of the Russians has been attained already and that West Berlin now is isolated and seems certain to wither on the vine.

But, oddly enough, the main issue—in fact, the only issue—is conveniently ignored by the spokesmen of both the East and the West. It is that the German people are entitled to self-determination.

This is, to be sure, a basic issue worth negotiating about. It embodies a principle which has been proclaimed around the world as a fundamental of our present-day idealism.

PRINCIPLES!

It is the principle that evokes Russian sympathy for the Algerians in the latter's effort to separate from France.

It is the principle for which the United Nations not only has sent troops but is spending large sums of money to get self-determination for the people of the Congo.

It is the principle that makes other nations eager to welcome into the United Nations numerous African countries however uneducated they may be in the art of self-government.

But nobody seems to be willing to champion the cause of "Germany for the Germans."

The Western nations, which pride themselves on their devotion to the cause of democracy, somehow are showing a curious indifference to the need for a worldwide campaign in behalf of the cause of self-determination as it affects the German people.

One would have thought that certain Asian and African countries would be the first to cry out for self-determination for the German people, too.

Certainly the progress of the German people in human endeavors is well known, and nobody disputes that they are capable of self-government. The fact that they fell victim to a dictatorship which came about through their economic collapse should not disqualify them today from being accorded their full independence.

A MARSHALL PLAN?

There would have been no economic collapse in Germany, no dictatorship, and probably no second world war if the Western nations had helped the Weimar Republic in an economic sense in the 1920s with something resembling the Marshall Plan.

Instead of canceling or reducing to manageable proportions the indemnities or reparations accruing from World War I, the Western Allies unwittingly helped to bring about the very economic depression that gave Hitler his chance.

If the Western governments which profess today to be interested in the principles of the United Nations Charter are really in favor of the principle of the self-determination of peoples, then the opportunity is at hand for a reunified Germany to emerge as a peaceful partner in Europe.

The Soviet Union should be required by world opinion to keep hands off East Germany, while the people there decide for themselves their future destiny.

This would mean withdrawal of all Soviet troops from East Germany and giving the people there a chance to join with their fellow countrymen in a new German republic.

Do the Western Allies really believe in self-determination, or do they weakly accept the theory that it is impractical because the Soviets oppose the idea?

Does a spirit of revenge still prevail in Western Europe as wartime bitterness is allowed to attain an exaggerated importance in the present situation?

For if Germany isn't reunited, it could happen that the German problem would become a festering sore and someday the German people might be stimulated to decide to take measures themselves that could produce another crisis.

★ ★ ★

Consistency requires that the Allies at least stand up for the self-determination of the German people or admit that the principle no longer has validity and that World Wars I and II were fought in vain.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Periodic Checkups Aid in Detecting Cancer

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Despite some statements you may hear or read, I am compelled to tell you that we possess no miracle drug (or diet) for the cure of cancer. There is no immediate prospect that we shall have such a drug, serum, vaccine or dietary principle — possibly for decades.

★ ★ ★

However, we do have in our immediate possession sufficient information to effect a sharp reduction in the frequency of cancer and an equally sharp increase in its cure rate through surgery and radiation.

Here are things you can do to protect yourself and your family from the cruelest of human afflictions:

Twice yearly go for a cancer detection examination. For this purpose, you may go to a special cancer prevention clinic if you live in a large city or if you have a clinic devoted to this special assignment in your local hospital.

Preferably, in my minority opinion, you may go to your family physician.

GOOD REASONS

My reasons for the latter preference are at least threefold: (1) the inconvenience and expense are less; (2) knowing you better, your local practitioner is in a better position to recognize slight changes in your appearance and physical findings, and (3) while examining you for cancer, he may detect early evidences of other chronic diseases — heart troubles, diabetes, glaucoma, etc. — at a time when they can be controlled or reversed by prompt attention.

By requesting, in addition, periodic X-rays of your breasts, you give your examiner a 17.5 chance in a thousand of discovering a cancer not otherwise detectable, according to a five-year study recently completed at Philadelphia's Albert Einstein Medical Center.

By seeking prompt treatment when and if the tests disclose the presence of cancer cells, you can almost be assured of equal success in the treatment of malignancy of the womb, the second greatest threat to the modern female.

By heeding your doctor's advice to have your sons circumcised at birth, you can reduce the chances that your daughters-in-law will develop uterine cancer almost 20-fold.

By submitting to X-ray exposure only if the necessity is great during the early months of pregnancy you can probably reduce appreciably the incidence of childhood leukemia.

What to do with the old courthouse?

Why not use it as a community building? It is located in the center of Pontiac and there is adjoining property for parking.

At not too much expense there could be meeting rooms and facilities for small groups and larger rooms for conventions and the like.

It would be a help to the merchants downtown, and no doubt, would "please all the people all of the time," and it would fill a long-time need.

Writers Don't Want National Park Area

I write about an editorial regarding the proposed Sleeping Bear National Recreation Area.

This bill deals with the acquisition of 82,300 acres. This large amount is unnecessary as the State of Michigan already owns 63 parks and sites, 14 recreation areas, and 28 state forests. The total amount of land in public ownership is 4.7 million acres or approximately one-fifth of the state.

A great amount of the property is a highly developed area of summer homes and permanent year around residences.

The government cannot purchase this area for the $12.2 million proposed by Hart if it is honest.

Can our government refuse to consider the rights of citizens whose homes will be sacrificed? Doesn't the minority have a voice in the government anymore?

Sharon Spencer

Birmingham

Reread your fascinating lead editorial in the Sept. 7 issue when you said: "Like other types of progress, perhaps a few residential and some commercial property might be hurt. When something is for the over-all betterment of a large number of people oftentimes this cannot be helped."

★ ★ ★

Would it be more accurate to say "property owners" or maybe citizens who have saved and developed homes in the area? Do you know what you — a staunch spokesman for individual rights and free enterprise ever since I was in the third grade — are teaching your readers? Shame on you.

★ ★ ★

Are you willing to act as God to decide when few enough are hurt to justify depriving them of their rights? What committee is going to decide how badly to hurt the few? Would you be proud to have The Pontiac Press be given a by-line in other papers in Michigan over this editorial?

Isn't it touching that Sen. Hart is offering to all U.S. citizens something that neither he nor his state has a legal right to offer?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Editors' Views Differ on Column

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-493: Walter Morra was a talented Scripps-Howard editor to whose memory I wish to pay a sincere tribute.

For Walter typified the modern, courageous editor who is unfettered by fear of starting debate.

When the salesman for his column called on Walter Morrow way back in 1935, and Walter read two weeks of these Case Records, Walter said:

DR. CRANE

"This is just what I've been wanting for years. It is sound psychology and psychiatry in words the man on the street and the housewife can understand.

"Our paper has been too 'mental.' We need to add more human relations' stuff, so I'll start Dr. Crane's column next week."

You readers in this late year of 1961 may not realize what a significant statement Mr. Morrow had made.

★ ★ ★

For a couple of days earlier, the salesman had called on the old man who was then editor of the Chicago Daily News.

He read the same two-weeks of copy and then added:

"Very interesting. Very interesting. But I am afraid of Dr. Crane's writings.

"For he steps on the toes of a lot of prominent folks. For example, here is one case in which he upbraids clergymen for putting their parishioners to sleep with dry sermonizing.

"That would probably bring some vigorous criticism upon me.

"And he even attacks many college professors for being impractical and braintrusters. Tsk! Tsk!

"But I like his human interest type of cases. So, if you will sell Dr. Crane's column to the major cities all around Chicago, then come back to me again and I'll consider it."

CRUSADING EDITORS

Well, the salesman did sell the column to most of the surrounding editors, but even then the Chicago editor had cold feet.

So it wasn't until John S. Knight bought the Daily News from the late Col. Frank Knox, that my column ever hit Chicago.

I mention the contrast between Walter Morrow and our earlier Chicago editor as a means of showing the two rival views in journalism.

One holds that a newspaper should simply be a "mirror" of human events.

The other says it should be a "steerer."

The "steerer" viewpoint involves mirroring to a large degree but with the added moral purpose of trying to direct mankind upward toward a happier, more efficient level.

The photographer may take pictures of everybody and everything around him, simply "mirroring" his environment.

But the artist "highlights" certain aspects of the environment in his paintings to bring out a desired effect. He is the "steerer."

Walter Morrow later spent 30 minutes in vigorous defense of this column at a Scripps-Howard editorial meeting, arguing that newspapers should add more "heart" or "human relations" appeal to balance the financial, political and other "mental" menu.

Obviously, I tread on a lot of corns and usually by intent, for newspapers can exert a unique and almost exclusive moral influence on the 70,000,000 Americans who don't belong to any church, Catholic, Jewish or Protestant.

Freedom Flights From E. Reich Still Plague Reds

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin police reported today that East Germans continue slipping through to the West by using wire cutters, sliding down ropes or swimming canals.

The swimmers were a family of four—a 31-year-old woman; her son and daughter-in-law; and their 12-year-old son.

Police reported that Communist police opened fire several times in the past few days as people escaped but their aim was poor—perhaps deliberately.

Business and individuals were stuck with a total of $800 million worth of known bad checks in 1959.

JFK Takes Licking on School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy took a prestige-denting political licking when the Senate sided with the House in voting to continue two school aid programs until 1963.

For all practical purposes this action, accomplished Tuesday on a 45-40 Senate vote, probably means that Kennedy will not get the full-fledged aid to education program he is certain to propose again next year.

★ ★ ★

Congress may enact some fringe benefits for colleges in 1962, but the classroom construction and teacher salary assistance he has plugged for seems to have little chance for enactment. The House pigeonholed a measure of this nature after it had been passed by the Senate.

★ ★ ★

The theory is that these controversial proposals need to be sugar coated with extension of the popular impacted areas and National Defense Education Act programs. The first of these gives federal aid to school districts crowded with children of federal workers. The second provides scholarship grants as well as loans for scientific equipment.

HE REALIZED

Kennedy showed he was well aware that the extension of these two programs for two years, as the House and Senate now have voted, would make it difficult to get any education legislation thru next year.

He wrote Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana urging a one-year extension as the impacted areas and NDEA programs could be re-examined in 1962. He said such action would "provide the best assurance that re-evaluation of legislation affecting education will take place early next year."

DISREGARDED JFK

Mansfield read the letter to the Senate shortly before it voted on a proposal by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., for a one-year extension of both measures. But the President's prestige wasn't sufficient in this case and a 45-40 deest resulted. The Senate then adopted, on an 80-7 roll call vote, a proposal by Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., extending both programs for two years.

Kennedy's political licking was administered by Republican liberals, who saved him from the GOP-Southern Democratic coalition in several touch-and-go Senate tests during the year by producing from 9 to 13 votes for various key administration proposals.

This time only five Republicans sided with him—Sens. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

In the opposition were 24 Republicans and 21 Democrats. All but four of the Democrats were from the South.

The four were the chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, and Sens. Carl Hayden of Arizona, and Monroney and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Passenger Kills LA Cab Driver

Man Stabbed to Death by Woman Fearful He Meant to Rob Her

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A cab driver was taking his passenger toward her destination via the Harbor Freeway.

She told police she thought he was taking her the wrong way and intended to rob her.

The passenger, Alma Hickman, 45, is in jail, booked on suspicion of murder.

Police said Mooney picked up the woman at Union Station Tuesday and was told to drive to 63rd and Avalon.

When the cab was on the freeway Mrs. Hickman told officers she yelled at Mooney, "You're not going the right way! Let me out!"

Officers said Mooney stopped the cab and struggled with her when she tried to jump. Then, police said, Mrs. Hickman drew a knife from her purse and stabbed Mooney.

Witnesses said she jumped from the car and ran across four lanes of traffic. Mrs. Hickman, a domestic worker, then hailed a passing motorcycle officer, who took her into custody.

She told officers she had lived here with a cousin for a year, but was at the station to return to her former home in Delhi, La. When she found her train would not leave for six hours, Mrs. Hickman said she decided to return to the cousin's for dinner.

Propaganda Men Settle Down in Eastern Sector

Iran Likely to Erupt While Berlin Proves Distracting

WASHINGTON — East Berlin, next to Moscow itself, is now the world Communist headquarters for an ominous and increasingly virulent attack against pro-western Iran.

Diplomatic observers expect this Middle Eastern nation to provide the stage for the next big East-West clash, perhaps while the Berlin crisis is diverting world attention.

The Kremlin has trained its biggest propaganda guns on the land of the Shah, and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is boldly and openly predicting a "Communist revolution" there.

Soviet-controlled radio stations in East Berlin, Moscow and the Russian Caucasus are pouring nearly six hours of radio propaganda daily into Iran.

The broadcasts are in Persian, and are blanketing Iran at a time when our own Voice of America has drastically curtailed its direct broadcasts to that area, because of Russian jamming.

"Mardom," the official organ of the outlawed Communist Tudeh party, has transferred its operations from Tehran to East Berlin, and is publishing there in Persian. Copies of "Mardom" containing the usual Communist lies are distributed to Iranian students and others throughout Europe and the United States.

INCITES VIOLENCE

Like the radio broadcasts, "Mardom" incites to violence, urging strikes and revolts against the government of Premier Ali Amini.

Iran has formally protested to Moscow against the inflammatory radio propaganda, but to no avail. The broadcasts regularly warn Iran that it faces nuclear destruction "in the not too distant future" unless it pulls out of the U.S.-backed Central Treaty Organization.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Pegov reportedly made the identical threat in a conversation recently with Iranian Foreign Minister Hossein Ghods-Nakai. Iran shares with Russia a 1,500-mile frontier, longest of any other nation except Communist Red China.

The Communists were thought to be on the verge of taking over in Iran in the early 1950s, but after the ouster of Dr. Mohammed Mossadegh, the weeping premier, the Tudeh party was outlawed and a number of its leaders jailed.

One night during 1954 many of them broke jail, took refuge in the Soviet Embassy, and eventually made their way to Moscow and East Berlin, where they are now manning the propaganda machines against their homeland.

Mossadegh is currently living in a village that he owns, near the capital of Tehran. One of the wealthiest landlords in Iran, he owns numerous shops, apartment buildings and houses, besides several entire villages.

★ ★ ★

The shah of Iran is probably the first monarch in the world to distribute his own farms to landless peasants. Certainly he was the first man in the Middle East to launch such a generous program.

The shah wanted to begin his land-distributing program earlier, but was blocked by Premier Mossadegh, who feared he would lose some of his own enormous holdings.

Many wealthy Iranians are now opposing Amini and the shah, because of an increase in direct taxation on hitherto privileged landholders and the idle rich.

Unrest is widespread, since Dr. Amini is imposing belt-tightening measures to rectify the previous corruption and waste which had brought Iran to the verge of bankruptcy.

The Kremlin as usual is fishing in these troubled waters and financing student revolts, the main purpose of which is to damage the shah's prestige and bring about the collapse of his pro-Western government.

Claims Nightclub Owner Brains Behind Theft That Led to 2 Killings

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (UPI)—Sultry Lillian Reis goes on trial today charged with masterminding a $478,000 burglary that resulted in the gangland-style slaying of two brothers.

Clyde (Bing) Miller, 53, Forked River, N.J., the only remaining defendant in the 3-year-old case, will be tried separately, his attorney, Harry Lightstone, said Tuesday night. Miss Reis will be tried in Schuylkill County Court.

The commonwealth will proceed against the 31-year-old former showgirl and Miller, alleged tipster in the burglary, minus its star witness, Richard Blaney, whose testimony led to the conviction of three other defendants last spring.

Blaney, 27, was killed by a bomb rigged to the ignition of his automobile outside his Philadelphia home last July 27. Blaney's brother, Vincent, 29, was found shot to death and wrapped in chains in the Atlantic Ocean off Margate, N.J., in August 1960.

Vincent was among six original suspects in the burglary at the home of coal baron John B. Rich in August, 1959. Police said he was slain to keep him from turning state's evidence.

When Richard testified at the trials of Robert Poulson, Ralph Staino Jr., and John C. Berkery, he said he was standing in for his brother. Richard was not involved in the burglary but repeated details he said had been given him by Vincent and Poulson.

GAVE TIP-OFF

Miller, who has been seriously ill, was described by police as the man who tipped off Miss Reis that the basement safe in the wealthy Rich's home represented an easy picking.

Miss Reis, owner of a Philadelphia night club where she formerly danced in the chorus, allegedly recruited Poulson, Staino, Berkery and Vincent Blaney for the safecracking.

Rich said the loot amounted to $20,000 in cash and jewelry. Commonwealth witnesses placed it as high as $478,000.

Detective Capt. Clarence Ferguson, Philadelphia, admitted the death of Richard Blaney would make it "rougher" for the state to convict Miss Reis.

"We can't subpoena ghosts," he said.

Water Pollution Creates Crisis in Gloucester

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — State and city health officials called an emergency meeting today to map action to correct pollution in this seaport's main water supply.

Residents were advised to boil all cooking and drinking water. The city's schools were closed and Haskell Reservoir, chief source of water, was cut off.

The State Health Department notified Gloucester officials Tuesday that recent tests showed the "presence of bacteria characteristic of pollution" in the city's water supply.

Officials took immediate action. Police cruisers drove through the city advising residents to boil water. In addition, two extra telephone operators were drafted to call everyone in the city directory and warn them.

School Supt. C. Munro Grundy ordered all schools closed indefinitely "because we have no facilities to boil water."

Son Cuts Apron Strings at Mother's Office

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Rita West's son cut her apron strings Tuesday at the marriage license bureau.

Richard West, 25, of Manhattan, paid the $3 for the license to the city clerk, who also happened to be his mother.

At first, Mrs. West declined the fee saying, "No, no, it's on me."

President Kennedy's Dilemma: Question of Leadership?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has had to live with trouble from the day he took office. He has had some successes, suffered some major jolts, and much of the time has been on the defensive.

After almost eight months, although he has remained outwardly calm through it all, the central question of his presidency is would he have done better if he had tried to assert more leadership?

Abroad, his main dilemma is premier Khrushchev who from the beginning threatened a showdown on Berlin and has never stopped jabbing him. The great bulk of Kennedy's actions have been simply reactions to Khrushchev's actions.

STILL UNSOLVED

At home, from the start, concern about unemployment has hovered over him from the day he took office. Then it was 5 million. Now it is 4,562,000. This is still an unsolved problem.

★ ★ ★

His major domestic task has been dealing with Congress.

★ ★ ★

Fear that a combination of conservatives in both parties in Congress could flatten him and his programs pushed him into compromises, some of them perhaps unnecessary.

★ ★ ★

Here are programs he wanted and got from Congress:

Housing, increased minimum wage, aid to depressed areas, liberalized social security, beginning of a new, long-term Latin American aid program, a start toward effective civil defense, creation of 73 federal judgeships, an increase in manpower and materials for the armed forces.

CHOPPED SCHOOL AID

Congress chopped to pieces his ideas on federal aid to education, brushed aside the crux of his farm program, disregarded his plea for medical care for the aged, set aside his tax reform suggestions until next year, and, while approving a long-term foreign aid program, rejected his plan for borrowing money for it —one of his cardinal points in this field.

★ ★ ★

He and his Democratic leaders in Congress, particularly in the House, have been criticized for plain ineptitude in handling the education program. He gave up on one item altogether.

This was his 1960 campaign promise to push a civil rights program through Congress early in 1961. He not only didn't push such a program. He didn't even offer it.

FACED TROUBLE

In dealing with this very conservative Congress he knew from the beginning he faced serious trouble, perhaps defeat, on civil rights, medical care for the aged, school aid.

1. He could try to dicker and compromise item and item with his opponents, like any politician in Congress.

2. Through far more forceful leadership he could seek to overcome the opposition—by direct appeal to the people over the heads of Congress—to try to bring public pressure, in addition to his own, on senators and representatives.

He chose to dicker and compromise, a method familiar to anyone who, like himself, had served in Congress. Except on national defense, he made no direct appeal for popular support.

Overseas, Kennedy had no illusions about what faced him. Back in 1960 Khrushchev, after breaking up his summit meeting with President Eisenhower, warned he would force a Berlin settlement in 1961.

Kennedy went all the way to Vienna in June to talk with Khrushchev.

PRESENTED NOTE

The one outstanding event of the meeting was that Khrushchev hit Kennedy with his Berlin demands in the form of a note at the meeting's end. From that moment American-Russian relations grew increasingly serious.

Since then, a step at a time, Khrushchev has increased the tension by some new move which forced Kennedy to move. At no time has Kennedy done anything to put Khrushchev on the defensive.

Eliminate Bad Luck, Errors

'Perpetual Calendar' Is Urged

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Stop for a moment and ask yourself what is wrong with the calendar that we use to keep track of the days and months.

★ ★ ★

Chances are you hadn't noticed anything wrong with it. I hadn't either until I chanced to read a learned dissertation that Sen. Hiram L. Fong had printed in the Congressional Record.

It gave me the impression that the calendar, as a means of measuring time, is not much more reliable than a dollar watch. About the only advantage the calendar offers is that you don't have to wind it as often.

For one thing, the calendar runs too fast. It is gaining time at the rate of .0003086 of a day per year.

This might not seem like much to worry about, but when you consider that in 3,262 years the calendar will have gained a whole day, then you can begin to realize what we are up against.

Secondly, the calendar is rather skittersh. The days shift around so that Christmas comes at different times during the week, Thanksgiving, on the other hand, always comes on the same day of the week but on different days of the month.

PERPETUAL CALENDAR

This gets confusing, but it is not the calendar's worst fault. The worst fault is that it is only good for one year. Every January, unless the milkman leaves one in the door, you have to go out and get a new one.

It was with an aim of correcting some of these shortcomings that Fong introduced in the Senate a bill to provide for the adoption of a "perpetual calendar" invented by one of his Hawaii constituents, Dr. Willard E. Edwards of Honolulu.

The perpetual calendar, as the name implies, could be used year after year. There would be no need ever to get a new one, unless you got tired of the pictures on the old one.

Under Edwards' plan, the calendar would have 364 days, or exactly 52 seven-day weeks. The year, however, would still be 365 days long. And this is where things get complicated.

In order to pad out the year to the required length, Edwards would throw in an extra day at the beginning of the year. It would be called "New Year's Day," but it would not be a part of any week or month.

The year would end on the last day of December. Then we would have New Year's Day. And then we would move on to the first day of January.

When I think about this, it sort of gives me the willies. But in other respects, the perpetual calendar would provide numerous improvements.

For instance, Christmas and several other holidays would always fall on a Monday, thus giving us a lot of long weekends. Furthermore, the calendar could be printed so that Sunday would be at the end of the week, thus making it easier to figure weekends.

But what I would like best about the calendar would be an omission. There would never be a Friday the 13th.

Judge Gives Graphic Example to Teen Drinkers

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—City Court Judge Sidney Z. Davidson ordered several teen-age youths, who allegedly had been holding drinking parties, to sit in city court as spectators and watch a procession of public intoxication defendents.

"You've had a great opportunity here to see these men, these drunks, these dregs — some who have been arrested 150 times," Davidson said. "They've lost all initiative, all interest.

CD Researcher Getting Fallout Message to Architects

By JOHN WALTERS
Battle Creek Enquirer and News
Written for The AP

BATTLE CREEK — Large dual-purpose fallout shelters in public buildings may someday be as common as fire escapes or other safety devices.

★ ★ ★

While there has been discussion of fallout shelters in homes and public buildings for many years, it has not been until the last year or so that civil defense researchers have been able to get their message to architects and engineers.

The message is simple:

"It is cheaper to provide for fallout protection in initial construction and it may even save money."

An example of what can be done is the new New York Telephone Co. building in New York City.

The 21-story building is windowless and has walls that are made of 12-inches of steel reinforced concrete and covered with a brick veneer five inches thick.

TO PROTECT EMPLOYES

★ ★ ★

But, the thick walls also will offer other advantages — decrease in damage from harmful dust, no windows to wash, less maintenance and savings in air conditioning costs.

This is an extreme example and Civil Defense researchers are not proposing that all new buildings be built in the same manner.

What they are proposing, though, is that architects consider fallout protection as well as other safety factors in building design.

★ ★ ★

This consideration can mean perhaps an extra inch or two of concrete, less use of glass (windows are a prime entry point for fallout), raising window sills a little higher and, in general, taking advantage of the inherent protection in any building and enhancing it.

NEED TO KNOW MORE

Architects and engineers have to know more and toward this end civil defense researchers together with scientists from the National Bureau of Standards have come up with mathematical formulas and technical data needed to teach this concept.

The immediate need is to train practicing architects. For this, civil defense experts conducted nine pilot workshops. These were so successful that nine universities, one in each of the eight civil defense regions plus an extra one in Region VII in the Far West were enlisted.

At the same time three universities were asked to develop curricular material and outlines both for continuing education courses as well as to train instructors in these new concepts. These were Pennsylvania State University, Louisiana State University and Stanford University.

"But, the basic and long range need, was to get the material into the undergraduate school," according to James E. Roemble, program officer for the Technical Service Office of the Office of Civil Defense of the Department of Defense (formerly the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization).

Within the last year, the list of cooperating schools has grown to 24. Three are under major grant programs, nine offer workshop programs for post graduates only, and 12 have courses for both undergraduates and post graduates.

AMAZING ACCEPTANCE

"It is amazing to see the acceptance this program has received," said Roemble.

★ ★ ★

And, this acceptance has come from the architects themselves. Many leading architects and architectural firms have aided in developing the program.

One firm pointed out in a booklet that it has been responsible for designing 130 new schools in 15 states during the five years following 1955, but no attention at all was given to fallout protection.

This phase of fallout shelter planning is separate and distinct from the concepts of family home fallout shelters, Roembke said.

★ ★ ★

"Here we are concerned with schools, office buildings, hospitals, churches, apartment houses, large underground garages and other large structures.

NOT ONLY UNDERGROUND

For these purposes, Civil Defense planners are not thinking only in terms of underground shelter. There is a lot of protection above ground if it is made use of, they say.

★ ★ ★

Generally speaking, there is more protection from falling radio active particles at the center of the first floor in a five-story structure than there is at the same point in a three-story building. And the wider a building is the greater protection at the center from fallout particles moving along the ground. This concept is known as geometric shielding.

Consideration by the architect of the materials and thickness of floors and walls, placement of doors and windows and other factors can add to these inherent protective factors.

A good example of what civil defense experts are proposing is the large multi-purpose room below the cafeteria at the new Lakeview High School in suburban Battle Creek. This facility built with the aid of a civil defense grant was so constructed that it could serve as a fallout and tornado shelter for the school's student body and faculty.

Civil defense researchers have also delved into the problem of increasing fallout protection in existing buildings.

SURVEYS UNDER WAY

Surveys are being conducted in cities throughout the United States to determine how much protection exists and what would have to be done to increase this protection.

★ ★ ★

Roembke argues that the new Our Lady of Angels School in Chicago is obsolete because there is little or no fallout protection.

The old school burned in December, 1958 taking the lives of 92 children and three nuns.

"While this school is an excellent example of a fire proof structure, the chances are that the school will be subjected to fallout before it will be subjected to another fire hazard because of the consciousness of the danger of fire," Roembke said.

★ ★ ★

At least one large church group—the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons)—is greatly interested in these concepts.

PLAN ADDITIONS

The Mormon headquarters in Sale Lake City, Utah has authorized additions of fellowship halls and Sunday school classrooms in the churches at Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, Michigan. Plans for the additions, which will be experimental are now on the drawing boards.

One architect reports that a school he designed with fallout protection on the list of safety factors to be considered was built in New York City for $16 per square foot which is slightly below the average cost of an elementary school in that area.

Meanwhile, many other colleges and universities are showing increased interest, and at least one, located in a metropolitan center, plans to offer night school courses in radiation and nuclear weapons effects on structures of all types.

In the future, that room you are in might be a fallout shelter without you even realizing it.

Cancer Study Progressing

Scientists Are Producing Tumors in Rats Like Human Disease

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists of the National Cancel Institute of the National Cancer Institute rats by a technique which suggests that the process of lung tissue damage and repair contributes to the disease.

★ ★ ★

The Public Health Service, reporting the development today, said the tumors may serve as prototypes for study of lung cancer in man.

The researchers, Mearl F. Stanton and Robert H. Blackwell, said the induced cancers are similar to human lung cancer in both cell structure and behavior.

One complicated chemical known to damage lung tissue was mixed with another chemical which can cause cancer in rats, and the combination was injected in the test animals. The cancers occurred in the sites of tissue damage during the process of regeneration.

By mixing other materials with the chemical which causes lung damage, the scientists hope to detect other potential cancer-causing agents.

REV. NANCY E. FORSBERG

Besides serving in campus ministry and visiting many pulpits in Iowa, Connecticut and her home state of New Jersey, she has also served as a social worker and high school teacher.

RECEIVES HONOR

The B'nai B'rith Men and Women of Paterson, N.J., in 1958 conferred on Miss Forsberg their "Outstanding Citizen Award" in recognition of her contributions in intergroup relations.

Her keen interest in humanity, its needs and problems, led Miss Forsberg abroad in 1953 to participate in work camp and seminar for adults in Holland, followed by a study tour of church projects in Germany and Switzerland.

In 1957 as a member of a study group, she visited the Middle East, conferring with government leaders, among them United Nations officials and U.S. ambassadors. During her most recent trip to Israel in 1960 she spent two months in intense study of education, economics, youth programs, Arab affairs, and health and welfare, among other areas, while living with families there.

★ ★ ★

Miss Forsberg is devoting this year to lecturing on Israel and the Middle East earnestly hoping that her impressions and observations may help to deepen understanding among Americans of the situation in that area.

But Don't Tie Up Booth

OK to Read in Restaurant

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In the area where I am employed as a secretary most of the restaurants leave much to be desired.

I found a small, quiet place owned and operated by a couple who serve good food. Since I eat lunch alone I always bring a magazine to read while waiting to be served, and while eating. Imagine my amazement when the proprietor asked me not to bring any reading matter into the place again as I was holding up a booth for four.

ABBY

I told him I was sorry, and I wouldn't trouble him further by my business. I want you to tell me if it is considered rude to read in a restaurant while dining alone.

NOT INTENTIONALLY RUDE

DEAR NOT: If you read only while waiting to be served and during your meal, the proprietor was out of line. But if you sat alone in a booth for four, and continued to read while others were waiting to be served, you were.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been arguing with my daughter for a week now. She tells me she is "engaged," but she does not have a ring. Is it proper to give a bridal shower without one? I say no. She says her boy friend can't afford a ring right now. How do you feel about this?

INQUISITIVE

DEAR INQUISITIVE: All that is really necessary for an "engagement" is a mutual promise to wed. The ring is only a symbol. Bridal showers are in order only after the wedding date has been set.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am annoyed, disgusted and burned up! I just read another letter in your column about "the poor old parents" who have nothing left in their lives but their children.

If the poor old parents have nothing in their lives but their children, it's their own fault! There are so many interesting things to learn and do at any age. If an older person is sufficiently good company, their children will seek them out for the pleasure of being with them.

★ ★ ★

I love my children, and grandchildren, but I don't forget that I am an individual with my own life to live, and so are they. I feel I must earn their friendship by being worth knowing just as I must earn the friendship of my neighbor down the street. If the time comes when my children come to see me out of "duty," I will consider myself a miserable failure.

Explains Whys of Fishy Odor

Some foul protests have reached the National Institute of Drycleaning about the fishy odor in many new garments. It's especially noticeable in the summer heat and humidity.

Some consumers understandably believe that their drycleaner had added this odor.

The Institute explains that the odor is caused by a resin added by the manufacturer to make the garment "wrinkle-resistant." The resin may contain small amounts of urea-formaldehyde. Consequently the fishy odor.

A bulletin issued by NID to its members explain that, "The resin itself, properly cured in manufacture, has no odor."

Simply sniff the garments when shopping, advises the Institute. There's a good chance that drycleaning or laundering will not remove the odor.

Feminine Frills: Here to Dream By

(UPI)—If children's sleepwear manufacturers have anything to do with it, little girls will be going to dreamland in all the delicately feminine frills of a grown-up princess.

The new holiday line, traditionally the prettiest of the year, includes robes and peignoirs with flowers and bows blooming all over. Other touches: eyelet ruffle frosting on pajamas, tricot flounces on gowns. Some have vertical lace bands center, front and back.

Cream Cap Treat Aids Brittle Hair

(UPI)—In time for reconditioning sundried, brittle hair is a cap, similar to caps used in beauty parlors. Hair cream intended for use with the electrically-heated cap provides oil treatments, the manufacturer reports.

The cap is plastic-lined with rubberized waterproof fabric and comes with an extra washable liner.

Prevent Discolor

Be Kind; Smoke If Alone

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband and I have been invited to spend the weekend at the home of relatives of his. My husband tells me they are opposed to smoking. My husband does not smoke, but I do. Under the circumstances, does courtesy exact that I refrain from smoking during our stay with them? Might I be permitted to smoke in the privacy of the bedroom we will occupy?

A: As they disapprove of smoking, you should not smoke in their presence, but you may do so in your bedroom after having made certain that there is an ashtray or other receptacle for your ashes and cigarette ends. You should dispose of the cigarette butts as soon as possible.

Q: I am a mere man asking why it is necessary, on being invited to dinner, to "buy oneself out" by bringing the hostess a present. Conversely, I resent my guests presenting me with gifts of any nature when accepting my hospitality.

Surely I value their friendship sufficiently to invite them and do not expect them literally to pay for the dinner by donating presents. How may I convey my dislike of this to those who apparently think it is otherwise?

A: Taking a present to one's host or hostess is very definitely not an obligation of etiquette, and I can only say that this must be a custom of your particular neighborhood and I agree with you that the sooner it is discouraged, the better. Tell your friends very frankly not to bring presents to you.

Q: I am going to take a cruise, alone. I know that I shall be seated at a table with other people in the dining room, and I am wondering if I should introduce myself to them and if so, how do I go about it?

A: If the director of your cruise has not introduced you to the others at your table, you may say, "I'm Jane Smith from Boston."

Let Beef and Vegetables Simmer in Tomato Soup

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

With autumn scheduled to appear officially next week, you might start thinking about hearty meat dishes for cool nights. Mrs. Russell Ridley shares one with us that is almost a meal in itself.

Mrs. Ridley has two youngsters. She works in the McCarroll PTA and in her church. She likes to sew.

BEEF PUT-TOGETHER
By Mrs. Russell Ridley

1 pound boneless stewing beef, cubed
3 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, sliced
1 green pepper, diced
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced carrots
1 can condensed tomato soup
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup cooked peas (optional)

Brown meat in fat. Add onion and pepper and cook 5 minutes. Add rest of ingredients except peas, plus ¾ soup can of water. Simmer one hour or until meat is done. Add peas. Serve over cooked rice. Serves 4.

Shelters Might Sell as Status Symbols

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A builder of bomb shelters says there seems to be a psychological block keeping Americans from getting busy providing themselves with family bomb shelters. He thinks some people actually are "ashamed" of owning shelters.

For Pete's sake — do we have to make a bomb shelter a status symbol in order to get Americans interested? If so, why don't we put the advertising boys to work on the job?

They've sold us on such status symbols as the second car, the private swimming pool, the "vacation" home, the motorboat, the color TV, the stereo, the ranch style suburban home. And they've done it easily, too — making us think we're underprivileged if we don't have the latest status symbol.

* * *

They ought to be able to make the family bomb shelter the very most for status seekers, with one hand tied behind their backs and only one to pound their typewriters.

* * *

When you stop to think of it — it's a natural for the advertising copy writers. First they can appeal to papa. "Will your children be the only ones in the block to be without protection in case of nuclear attack?" That ought to the ads picturing the poor little be easy for the men who wrote boy who had to go to the neighbors to watch TV.

* * *

Then they can appeal to mama. Just think of what they could do with full color layouts of the interiors of the bomb shelters of the Hollywood stars.

They can even appeal to the kids and teen-agers, with bomb shelter parties as the latest in entertaining.

* * *

Why, if they put their minds to it the advertising copywriters could make the bomb shelter so much of a status symbol that far from being "ashamed" to own them we would soon be ashamed to admit we didn't have one.

We've been living by status symbols for a long time. Perhaps we can be kept from dying by a status symbol, too.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"The suit I am making has only two buttons for the closing. One is at the neckline and one below the waistline. Since I have a rather large bust, this causes my jacket to gap open at the bustline. Is it too late to do anything for this?"

MRS. R. G.

If you are large in the bust, it is best to have some type of closure at this point. If a button will not work out according to the spacing you are using, you may use one or two large snaps in between the buttons.

Cover these snaps with matching color silk crepe, or a double layer of silk organza and carefully sew them on your jacket. They will hardly be noticeable, and will keep your jacket from gapping.

HARD TO WORK WITH

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I am going to make a blouse of chiffon this fall for a suit. Can you give me any advance help on this?"

MRS. R.E.T.

This fabric will be used very extensively this fall, and most home sewers can use a few helpful hints about chiffon. First of all, please don't attempt working with chiffon unless you are a very advanced seamstress.

Lay a sheet over your cutting table before you lay the chiffon on for cutting. This will prevent your chiffon from slipping out of place.

Most of your newer fashions have the blouses made of two layers of chiffon. You also could use a layer of China silk or other very thin, firm fabric to make the blouse opaque. These layers of fabric usually are basted together and treated as one.

A nice finishing for the neck and armholes or sleeves is a very narrow bias binding of the chiffon.

Be sure to use a fine sewing machine needle, preferably a new one, also, because a blunt needle would pull the fine threads.

You should avoid as many seams showing through as possible, it is best to use French seams where possible.

Mrs. Ned Crain of Jennings, Mo., wins one of my exclusive Tailor Trix pressing boards for this good suggestion.

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Not too long ago you got a letter from a woman whose daughter was not large enough in the bust for the amount of darts in the pattern. I would like to tell you how I have solved this problem for my daughter.

"Instead of making the darts, I make a fold at the waistline the width of the dart. This fold is only caught in the waistline seam. In this way the extra fabric is not as confined as it would be at the end of a dart. We enjoy your column and appreciate your help."

Mrs. N.C.

This is the type of suggestion I hope all of you will share with me, so that I can put it in the column for all of you. Many thanks.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: French seams: This is a type of seam finishing where the raw edges are completely concealed. Pin wrong sides of fabric together and machine stitch ¼" from cut edges. Trim seams evenly and slightly smaller. Now turn your garment so that the right sides are touching. Machine stitch about ¼" from turned edges, or on original seam line. This type of seam finishing is especially used on sheer fabrics.

Do you have a "tip", or a "sewing secret" or a "good question" for me? If you do, you may win one of my exclusive "Tailor Trix" pressing boards, like the one pictured here.

The "trick" of this board is the edge for pressing seams open, especially faced edges, to assure flat, thin, sharp edges to your garment for that professional look.

This combination board also features a well padded Sleeve Board for all your pressing needs.

Exercising Is the Way

Trim Down Fall Waistline

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here we are in fall again! This is the time of year when we long for slim waists. Our interest in clothes is whetted by this season, after the more casual summer months, and we need slender waists on which to pin our hopes for winter attractiveness.

A change of seasons is always full of zest. Not only does nature take on a different look, but we usually are tired of the clothes we have been wearing by the end of a season and welcome something different.

It was fun getting out summer clothes and putting winter clothes away, and now we enjoy getting out our warmer costumes. BUT—can we get into them?!

WAIST TOO BIG

Here are a couple of exercises which will whittle down the waist measurement. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Place your right hand on top of your head as you bend to the left and slide the fingers of your left hand down your left leg. Raise your trunk, slide the fingers back up your leg and return right arm to side.

This time place your left hand on top of your head and slide the fingers of your right hand down your right leg and up again as you raise your trunk—then return your left arm to your side. Continue, alternating left and right. Keep the knees straight throughout the exercise.

TOUCH TOES

The following is another good exercise. Sit on the floor with your legs separated. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder height. Keep the knees stiff as you try to touch your left toe with your right hand. Raise trunk, arms out at your sides.

This time bend your trunk and try to touch your right toe with your left hand. Raise trunk and continue.

Be sure to keep your legs straight, even if you cannot reach all the way to your toes. Go as far toward them as you can.

If you would like to have my tested waist-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

This lovely girl would be permitted to take a bow for her beauty but, actually, she's in the midst of an exercise for the waist. Rotate the trunk and make a complete circle with your upper body, keeping the hips as still as you can.

Catherine Dora Booth Weds Robert Streadwick

A reception in the Wing Lake home of the Alvin R. Booths followed the marriage of their daughter Catherine Dora to Robert L. Streadwick of Gaylord, Friday evening in the Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian. Rev. Edward D. Auchard officiated.

The bridegroom is the son of the Aubrey E. Streadwicks, Gaylord.

For the small family ceremony, the bride chose street-length white peau de soie styled with bateau neckline and tulip skirt. She wore the bridegroom's gift necklace of pearls and a short veil of French illusion held by a seed pearl headpiece. Miniature white roses and pompons comprised her bouquet.

Mrs. Frank Dickie, Sylvan Village, her sister's matron of honor, appeared in ice green summer satin and carried chrysanthemums in shades of gold and copper.

The bridegroom's father was his best man. Richard Stoeker, Gaylord, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and the bride's brother Marvin, seated guests.

The bridal couple, who will make their home in Birmingham, are graduates of Alma College.

Your Interest in Child or in Playing Role?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Late one afternoon when she was 7 years old Mrs. P gave up trying to tell her mother why she didn't want to do things she had been told to do.

Called for supper, she'd rushed anxiously into the kitchen to inform Mama that a wheel had come off her new doll carriage, its spring pin still missing in the grass near the front porch steps.

And Mama busy with pots and serving dishes, didn't even look up. In a toneless voice that refused all response to her daughter's anxiety, she said, "Do what you're told. Go upstairs and wash your face for supper."

And the girl went, not quite knowing as she climbed the stairs that she was thinking. "I will ALWAYS listen when people try to tell me things! I will never be so mean and disinterested as Mama or people will hate me as I hate her."

She still keeps that half-remembered promise she made to herself.

Today she listened and listened to why her 10-year-old Jeff could not return some soda bottles to the store. She listened until the time came and went for the store to close. When Jeff reminded her, she shook her head in annoyance and sighed, "Oh well, I suppose I can drive them down in the car tomorrow morning."

And Jeff, relieved at his evasion of the chore, went whistling off to the sun porch and his comic book, feeling not one smidge of appreciation for his mother's attention.

Since she did not show true attention this behavior was not remarkable.

When our attention to children's wishes is founded on a resentment of our own parents' lack of attention to us, we are not really interested in our children. We are more concerned with our role of Interested Parent. Though we think we are listening to Jeff's reasons for not wanting to go to the store, we are really listening to see if we are as patient and understanding as we wanted Mama to be to us.

So, we do not register the calculation with which Jeff has exaggerated the speed he'll have to make to get to the store before it closes. We can't see that he is aware of our half-seen fear of being a mean, unlistening Mama — and is using it coldly and cynically.

But if we could wholly remember that half-seen promise we once made to ourselves, we could see its control of our dealings with Jeff. If we gave THAT some attention instead of pretending to give it to Jeff, we could see when he really needs some — and when he is stalling.

A D Pi Alumnae Hold Meeting

Some 24 alumnae attended the first meeting of the season of the North Suburban Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae Association at the home of the president, Mrs. Fred R. Wuellner on Hummel Drive.

Plans were discussed for the progressive dinner slated for October and a telephone bridge set for Nov. 10. Formerly of Philadelphia, Mrs. Peter Lindsey, one of the new alumnae in this area, was introduced to other members.

Lynn Stuve, president of the active chapter at Wayne State University, was also present to tell the group about the 110th National Convention of the sorority held at Pasadena, Calif., in June. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Duplicate Players Count Ten Tables

Members of the Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday evening at the Elks Temple with 10 tables in play.

Winners included Mary Malchie and Ernest Guy, Lowell King and Bert Jones, Donald Bowen and Ronald Fiscus, Mrs. Earl Huebler and Mrs. Dan MacPherson, Mrs. Harrison Specht and Mrs. Earl Waterman, Earl Waterman and Bruce Coryell.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Longstreth.

Testifies on Drug Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff was called today to tell senators whether the government wants power to license drug manufacturers and police some of their operations.

* * *

The cabinet officer, testifying before the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, was expected to endorse key features of a bill by Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., which Kefauver claims would help reduce drug prices.

Ribicoff's food and drug administrator, George P. Larrick, has endorsed parts of the Kefauver bill, including a provision empowering FDA to test new prescription drugs for effectiveness before the drugs can be marketed.

The Food and Drug Administration now gives some consideration to the effectiveness of new drugs when testing for safety. But the agency is without power to keep useless, though harmless, drugs off the market.

In opening the hearing, Kefauver said the legislation would lower prices by encouraging sharper competition. If drug companies are strictly supervised, prescribing doctors will be assured that all drugs meet minimum standards, he has argued.

Doctors then will be encouraged to prescribe by the drug's official chemical name rather than by the brand name, thus permitting patients to shop for the lowest brand.

The Kefauver bill also would:

—Give Ribicoff authority to simplify tongue-twisting chemical names and block patents for drugs not much different from those now on the market.

—Require drug advertisers to include an approved warning of possibly dangerous side effects and a full statement of "efficacy."

—Require manufacturers to send to doctors copies of so-called "package inserts" for new drugs that are now required to be sent only to the druggist.

On Friday, Kefauver will call Assistant Attorney General Lee Loevinger to testify on provisions limiting a company's exclusive right to manufacture patented drugs after three years.

School Gets $25,000

ADRIAN (UPI) — An anonymous Adrian resident has donated $25,000 to Adrian College for the installation of an observatory equipped with a 6-inch telescope and a planetarium projector, John H. Duncan, college president, announced Tuesday.

Lights the Sky in Experiment

Launch Rocket to Gage Density, Temperature, Winds at High Altitudes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A National Space Agency rocket lit up the sky with bright orange-yellow clouds visible for hundreds of miles today in an experiment to measure atmospheric winds, temperature and density at high altitudes.

The agency, along with a group of French scientists headed by Prof. J. A. Blamont, launched a four-stage sounding rocket which carried a 145-pound payload 228 miles above the earth.

Sodium vapor was ejected at an altitude of 120 miles and again at 228 miles up. Trails of bright orange-yellow clouds at both altitudes were visible for several hundred miles from the Wallops Island, Va., launching site.

Scientific information was obtained by optical means from photographic sites at Dover, Del., A. P. Hill, Va., and Wallops Station.

Blue Cross Will Open Rolls for Two Weeks

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield will open enrollment in a non group hospital-medical care plan to individuals during a two-week period starting Sept. 18.

Battered Formosa Awaits 2nd Typhoon

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — This Chinese Nationalist Island Bastion lashed Tuesday by one typhoon which killed 96 persons and injured more than 1,000, braced today to face the 230-mile winds of another howling China Sea storm.

* * *

The second Typhoon was expected to hit Formosa Thursday.

Police said Tuesday's Typhoon Pamela left property damage in Taipei alone that totaled more than $2 million.

Provincial police estimated that a total of 5,900 houses were destroyed in Northern Formosa and 13,000 were heavily damaged.

STREETS LITTERED

Streets were littered with broken tree limbs, bits of wood and glass and twisted palm fronds. Communication lines were snarled and utility poles snapped like matchwood.

President Chiang Kai-shek, who toured the stricken areas today, ordered military forces to help typhoon victims.

The homeless were being temporarily sheltered in schools and the government was providing free meals.

The provincial weather bureau warned that Typhoon Nancy, bearing 230-mile-an-hour winds, would begin battering Formosa Thursday if it held to its present course.

The U.S. typhoon warning center on Guam said Nancy was 51 miles southeast of Okinawa at 3 p.m., moving northwest at 16 miles an hour.

Pamela, whose winds were in excess of 100 m.p.h. as it approached Formosa Monday night, apparently blew itself out.

Argentina Swears In Foreign Minister

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Miguel Angel Carcano was sworn in Tuesday night by President Arturo Frondizi as Argentina's foreign minister.

Carcano, a veteran diplomat, politician, lawyer and writer, will take over his job Thursday, succeeding another conservative, Adolfo Mugica, who resigned following a furor last month created by the visit here of Cuba's economic czar Ernesto Guevara.

LAMB SANDWICHES—Lamb should be served very hot or very cold—never lukewarm. One of the best ways to serve it cold is in sandwich form. Topped with hard cooked eggs and slices of bright pimiento, this makes a good school lunch sandwich or one to eat on the porch on a warm Saturday in September.

Youths Like to Prepare Special Food

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Although we send back stories from the annual Food Editors' Conference, we can't give you recipes then. Most of the participating companies send out advance publicity and we've used that to write up this article.

Cooking by the younger generation is a theme set up by several of our hosts. These youngsters in Chicago are no different from the ones in Pontiac when it comes to food. They enjoy preparing their own.

Pizza has invaded the dessert field. One such pizza we have seen demonstrated this week is a Lemon Dessert Pizza. It's a luscious, hearty combination that will find favor at a platter hop or a pajama party.

LEMON DESSERT PIZZA

Dough
- 1½ cups milk
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ½ cup very warm water
- 2 packages or cakes yeast, active, dry or compressed
- 4½ cups sifted flour

Filling
- 8 cups fresh apple slices
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg

* * *

Sauce
- 1 package lemon pie filling
- ½ cup sugar
- 2½ cups water
- 2 tablespoons margarine

Scald milk; stir in 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure very warm water into large mixing bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture and flour. Beat until smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 45 minutes).

Meanwhile, peel and slice apples. Combine with 1 cup sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Set aside.

Prepare lemon sauce by combining lemon pie filling and ½ cup sugar in saucepan. Stir in 2½ cups water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat and stir in 2 tablespoons margarine. Set aside to cool.

When dough has doubled, stir down. Divide in half and with floured hands spread each half into greased 12-inch pizza pan, making edges thicker (or on greased baking sheet press each into a 12-inch circle, with thick edges). Top with apple slices. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes.

When baked, pour on lemon sauce. Serve cut in wedges topped with whipped cream. Serves 16.

Peanut Fudge
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 cup ground peanuts
- ⅔ cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
- 1⅔ cups sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups (16 medium) diced marshmallows
- 1½ cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine honey and peanuts; blend. Spread in bottom of buttered 9-inch square pan. Mix evaporated milk, sugar and salt in saucepan over low heat. Heat to boiling, then cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

Add marshmallows, chocolate pieces and vanilla. Stir 1-2 minutes (until marshmallows melt). Pour into pan over peanut mixture.

Do your children like French toast? It is a simple food for even young ones to prepare. The newest French bread and a milk mixture flavored with frozen orange juice.

Orange-Cinnamon French Toast
- 1 (6-ounce) can frozen concentrated orange juice
- 2 eggs, beaten slightly
- 1 (1-pound) short loaf French bread
- Cinnamon-sugar mixture

Cut frozen orange juice into small sections; add to beaten eggs in a shallow dish and blend together with a fork. Cut French bread into 16 equal-sized slices, each about 1-inch thick. Dip each slice into orange-egg mixture, turning to coat both sides. Grill or pan fry dipped bread slices in a small amount of hot fat, turning them to brown both sides. Sprinkle each slice with cinnamon-sugar. Serve immediately. 8 servings.

French Toast Sandwiches

Leftover sandwiches around? Dip them in an egg and milk mixture, the sort used for French toast, and brown the sandwiches on both sides in butter. Sandwiches made of ham, cheese, tuna or salmon are fine to use this way.

ORANGE FRITTERS

½ cup pancake mix
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg (well beaten)
⅓ cup milk
3 medium-sized oranges (peeled and sectioned)
Confectioners' sugar

Stir together the pancake mix and salt; add egg and milk; stir well; batter will be slightly lumpy. Roll orange sections in sugar, then dip in batter. Fry fritters in hot (350 degrees) ½-inch deep fat until golden brown — about 1 minute on each side.

Drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with sugar, serve at once. Makes 8 servings.

Pepper So Valuable It Once Paid Rent

Ever so often we read of some property, leased a century or more ago at a nominal rental of "one peppercorn a year upon demand." The ancient state house in St. George, Bermuda, is, for instance, leased to a Masonic lodge at this rate.

Such stories remind us that in ancient and medieval times peppercorns were so precious that they were weighed out like gold and used as a medium of exchange. Peppercorns keep their marvelous flavor for quite a few years so they could be hoarded as wealth. Rents and dowries were paid in pepper; so were taxes and tributes. When Rome was besieged by Alaric, king of the Goths, part of the ransom demanded of the defeated city was 3000 pounds of pepper.

Lamb Sandwich Ring in Change

"Better Meals Build Better Families." For the well-being of your family it is important that each meal be nutritious. During back-to-school month, September, which is also "Lambtime, U.S.A." there will be an abundance of high quality lamb available. Lamb is high in proteins . . . needed for the growth of your children. For their lunch, whether it is packed or they have it at home, serve lamb sandwiches. Use the leftover Sunday roast, either sliced or chopped in a salad mixture.

Lamb and Egg Sandwich
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 4 slices white bread
- 6 slices cooked lamb, about ¼-inch thick
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 4 canned pimiento strips
- 4 slices whole wheat bread

Combine mustard and onion; mix well. Spread mustard mixture on white bread slices. Top with lamb, eggs and pimiento strips. Top with whole wheat bread to make sandwiches. Makes 4 servings.

Avacado Adds Gourmet Note to Crab Recipe

Seafood is at home on any table whether served from an elegant chafing dish when your best linen and silver are showing, or embraced by an earthenware casserole atop a homespun cloth.

Though Seafood Sophisticate En Patty Shell is out of the ordinary, it can be made ahead and served with ease. Use frozen patty shells or bakery made ones. Earlier in the day, prepare the cheesey good sauce; but save the avocado and sherry extract for the final "warm and serve" step.

Men will find this gourmet dish of Cheddar and crab richly satisfying. Women will like it for its delicate partyish air. For a ladies' luncheon, add shoestring potatoes and a piquante salad to the menu. Nestle tomato wedges on leafy Bib lettuce; top with a mixture of sieved cottage cheese, chopped green pepper and diced grapefruit gently salted to taste.

The recipe uses crab meat but lobster, shrimp or any seafood makes a delicious dish.

Seafood Sophisticate
- 6 patty shells
- ¼ cup (⅛ stick) butter
- 4 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon tarragon
- ⅛ teaspoon ground thyme
- Dash of cayenne pepper
- 1½ cups milk
- 1½ cups shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup (7½-oz. can) diced crab meat
- 1 avocado
- 2 teaspoons lime or lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons sherry extract
- ¼ cup shaved Brazil nuts

If using frozen patty shells, prepare according to package directions. For crisp shells, heat in a preheated 400 degree oven about 5 minutes before serving.

Meanwhile, in a saucepan or top of double boiler, melt butter; blend in flour, salt, tarragon, thyme and cayenne pepper. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in Cheddar cheese until melted; add crab meat.

Peel and slice avocado; sprinkle with lime juice to prevent darkening. Just before serving, fold avocado and sherry extract into crab meat mixture; heat a few minutes if necessary. Spoon into patty shells and sprinkle with nuts.

NOTE: Lobster, shrimp or other seafood may be substituted for the crab meat. This makes a particularly nice chafing dish entree.

Basil Is Ideal Herb to Pep Up Tomato Salad

Tomato and Cottage Cheese Salad
Ham Sandwiches
Fruit and Cookies Beverage

Tomato and Cottage Cheese
- 4 medium-sized (1¼ pounds) ripe tomatoes
- ¼ cup olive or other salad oil
- 4 teaspoons wine vinegar
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon cracked pepper
- 2 teaspoons minced fresh basil
- 1 pound cream-style cottage cheese
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives

Wash tomatoes, dry and remove stem ends; slice about ¾-inch thick. Mix together thoroughly the olive oil, wine vinegar, ½ teaspoon of the salt, cracked pepper and basil; pour over tomatoes; let stand at room temperature about half an hour.

Mix cottage cheese, ¼ teaspoon remaining salt and chives. Serve tomatoes and marinade with cottage cheese; add salad greens if you wish.

Peach Melba Keeps Its Popularity

Peach Melba
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries
- 1½ cup currant jelly
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 4 large freestone peaches (pared, pitted and halved)

Mix raspberries and jelly in saucepan; bring to a boil. Blend cornstarch and water; add to raspberry mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened and clear. Strain through fine sieve to remove seeds; cool.

At serving time arrange peach halves on scoops of ice cream and add raspberry sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Two tablespoons of flour or one tablespoon of cornstarch will thicken a No. 2 can of tomatoes to be served as a side dish.

Steel Heads Eye Millions More Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The steel industry estimated today that the Oct. 1 wage increase for steelworkers will cost more than $28 million in the last three months of this year alone.

The figures, compiled by the American Iron & Steel Institute, could be used to defend any price increases that steel firms may put into effect following the wage boost. The Institute said the wage raise will costly nearly 14 cents per man hour.

President Kennedy has asked the steel industry to hold the line on prices now to avoid the threat of a new inflationary spiral.

Kennedy's council of economic advisers said steel firms could make reasonable profits without raising prices because of greater output and increased productivity.

Industry sources, however, have said the odds still favor a price increase around the first of next month.

The new wage cost figures appeared certain to stir up controversy between the industry and the United Steelworkers Union.

Union President Dave McDonald has argued that unit labor costs — the amount spent on labor for each ton of steel produced — have been steadily declining despite higher pay.

A high administration official disputed the institute's 14 cents estimate and said the increased hourly costs to the companies would be somewhere between 9 and 10 cents.

COST PER HOUR?

The wage calculations were made by the Iron & Steel Institute, voice of the industry, in response to an inquiry from United Press International. Under the labor contract, wages will go up seven cents an hour for all workers on Oct. 1 with an additional one-tenth of one per cent increment — a skill differential — for each pay raise.

Average cost of the increment increase will add another 7-tenths of one cent an hour to the wage bill, the institute said.

It figured that the indirect cost of the wage increase — impact on incentive pay, vacation and holiday pay, overtime and other rates —would bring the added cost to just above 10 cents an hour.

The institute's analysis also said that the contract calls for a possible increase in the cost-of-living adjustment up to three cents an hour unless this is offset by rising insurance costs.

In any case, the cost to the companies will be over three cents an hour, it said. The institute said this added up to nearly 14 cents an hour more for employment costs, which it said now run about $4 an hour.

The total cost of the wage boost was estimated at "substantially higher than $28.35 million" for the final quarter of 1961.

It said this estimate was based on the average hours put in by wage employes in the steel industry last May and June — 67.5 million hours.

It added that since steel production is expected to increase sharply in the coming months, the hours worked and the resulting cost of the wage increase would be much greater than the $28 million figure.

Russell Hits East, West From Jail Cell

LONDON (UPI) —Earl Bertrand Russell, in a statement from a jail cell, today accused the leaders of East and West of working toward the "ending of human life."

The 89-year-old "ban the bomb" leader told the world "you, your families, your friends and your countries are to be exterminated by the common decision of a few brutal but powerful men."

He named them as President Kennedy, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Chancellor Adenauer, President Charles de Gaulle, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and British opposition leader Hugh Gaitskell.

Russell, his wife and 32 other members of his antinuclear "Committee of 100" were jailed Tuesday on a charge of inciting the public to commit a breach of the peace.

Ex-Cuba Invaders Wire Willingness to Aid Texas

MIAMI (UPI) — Two hundred Cuban invasion veterans, all "skilled, back-country men," are ready to aid Texas and Louisiana residents clean up in the wake of Hurricane Carla.

Their leader, Maj. Nina Diaz, head of the special brigade of the "Cuban Liberation Army," offered the help Tuesday in a telegram to Secretary of Health Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff.

Soviet Missiles 'Invulnerable'

Red Defense Minister Says No Counterattack Could Reach Them

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet long-range ballistic missiles carrying nuclear warheads are invulnerable to counterattack, Deputy Defense Minister Marshal Kirll S. Moskalenko said today.

In an article in the newspaper Red Star, Moskalenko, supreme commander of missile forces, said Soviet army rockets could deliver nuclear warheads to "any point of the world while remaining invulnerable to up-to-date facilities for counteraction."

One intercontinental rocket, he said, can carry a nuclear device equivalent to several million tons of TNT.

"Nowhere in the world are there any intercontinental or other rockets like those in the arsenal of the Soviet Army," he said.

UNDERMINE IMPORTANCE

The development of nuclear rockets undermine the importance of U.S. bases in NATO countries, he marshal said.

"To defeat these, ballistic long-range rockets are not needed. Even operational tactical rockets suffice," he said.

He said even more powerful and improved multistage rockets would be tested in the month-long Soviet experiments which were scheduled to begin in the Central Pacific today.

Russians to Use Confiscated U.S. Plant in Cuba

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today Russian experts plan to equip the confiscated American nickel plant at Moa Bay in Cuba to refine nickel and cobalt from Cuban ores.

Tass said designs for the installation of Russian-made equipment in the plant built by the Freeport Sulphur Co. will be completed next year.

The Soviet agency said also that Russia is designing a new nickel plant for Cuba, along with a thermal power station to operate it and other facilities to be constructed in Cuba's Oriente Province.

Charges Castro Plans to Kill Invasion Leader

MIAMI (UPI) — The Cuban-refugee MRR organization charged today that Manuel Artime, leader of the abortive April invasion of Cuba, is next on Premier Fidel Castro's liquidation list.

The MRR appealed to the Organization of American States for action to save Artime, who it said the Castorites plan to shoot as a deserter from the Army. Five captured invaders were executed Saturday as "war criminals."

New Head of Legion Says Let's Be Pro-American

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—People . . . places . . . things . . .

Charles L. Becon of Kansas City, Mo., upcoming national commander of the American Legion, told us the other day at the Denver convention that he has never known a time when Americans were as united, in a period of peace, as they are today.

Threats from several points of the compass have caused an historic peace-time closing of ranks, he feels. His first act as national commander, he said, would be to visit the Legion's 24 regional commanders and their staffs to strengthen the togetherness.

The Legion has tended through its years to be politically right of center. Bacon is a Truman Democrat.

"President Truman had more difficult decisions to make than any chief executive in our history," Bacon asserted. "For our times, the most important one he made was the tough decision to drop the atomic bomb on Japan. I'd say that's given Khrushchev more pause than anything we've ever done in war or peace. It showed we have the will to use it.

* * *

Jim O'Neil, long-time editor of the Legion magazine, had some thoughts about the veterans' organization:

* * *

"We've got to be FOR more things," he said. "We've been inclined to be too negative over the years. We've achieved our basic goals — pensions, hospital care and so forth. It's not enough to be anti-Communist, for example.

"We must be pro-American to the same degree that the other side is pro-Communist.

"Each year we send a few thousands of kids to the Colgate University campus — the cream of the American high school crop. They live on the campus, set up an American-type city, learn to run it. The chief elected officers of the city are then sent to Washington to see how the national government works at top level.

"It's a good idea, but it isn't enough. We should send half a million high school kids to this kind of training. We should keep it at the high school junior level, too, if possible, so that they can return to school to tell what they've learned about this country of ours and how it works."

A helpful gentleman from Findlay, Ohio, writes, "I have an idea about the guarding of our planes against hijackers. Why not put a well-trained police dog with the pilot? When the door was opened, it would be a surprise to the villain and put him off guard. The stewardess could have a code word and warn the pilot over the intercom to have the dog ready to attack when the door opens . . ."

But who'd walk him on long flights?

My friend Evil Eye Finkle, who can put a curse on a fighter, for a modest price, brings me up to date on his movements:

"Pal Bob,

"Once a Pal all ways a Pal is the 'eye' system came up from Miami, Fla., and went to Montreal to put Eye on for this up coming fighter and he win there first time I have been in Canada. I still rate No. 1 Hexman of World compare to the other Hexers the whammy is still tops. Sam Sobel says hell (O?) Best of luck in world. Ben Evil Eye Finkle."

Russia may be able to put men in orbit but what has it done about low calorie beer? One of our breweries has made an historic breakthrough in this department, coming up with a bottle that contains less than 100 calories as opposed to the 150-to-170 of all other known beers.

We haven't tried it as yet, because of a strict doctor's ultimatum to put on some weight for the fall offensive.

But, somehow, we have our reservations, if the brewer doesn't object. We're old enough to remember what Prohibition did to beer, and old enough, too, to remember Bugs Baer's immortal line, "Whoever named it Near-Beer was just a bad judge of distance."

The Things Kids Pick Up!

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Paul Buhlig's hobby is paleontology, the study of fossils. He digs in creek beds for specimens and has found at least three that have been verified as being at least 325 million years old.

Must Be a Green Thumb

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—It fourleaf clovers truly mean good luck for the finder, Forest Moss should have more than his share. He's discovered about 300 this year, and found one recently in his backyard that is 4½ inches across.

Bomber Tears Up Flock of Geese

OSCODA (AP) — An Air Force B52H Stratofortress jet bomber ran into a flock of geese over Lake Superior Monday night and made an emergency landing at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette.

Crew members said they heard what sounded like an explosion and several birds burst through the plane's windshield. None of the nine men aboard was injured.

Maj. Richard C. Armstrong, the pilot, said the plane, flying out of Wurtsmith Air Force Base near Oscoda, was making a low level bomb run near Iron Mountain at 350 miles an hour and about 3,900 feet in the air. The plane was on a routine practice mission.

Old Cowhand Pistol Pete to Be Buried on His Range

STUART, Fla. (AP) — Pistol Pete Butler will get his last wish today—to be buried on the range where he rode as a top cowhand for so many years.

★ ★ ★

The wiry little Negro—his real name was Will Butler but he was better known as Pistol Pete—was struck by an automobile on U.S. 1 two miles south of Stuart early Saturday and died later in a West Palm Beach hospital.

AGE STILL UNKNOWN

Nobody knew his real age, but rancher William J. Matheson estimates Pistol Pete was over 80. He was drafted in World War 1 but was discharged because he was over age, said Matheson. That was 44 years ago.

Pistol Pete came from Texas where he acquired his love of horses and the life of a cowboy.

"He was a good hand," said Matheson. "For the 20 years he rode herd on our cattle he was close to the family."

Like most cowhands, Pistol Pete made a regular weekend sortie to the county seat.

"He would leave the ranch every Friday evening and come back early Saturday morning," Matheson said. "That's the only time he left the ranch."

The Matheson family and the ranch hands are giving Pistol Pete the kind of funeral any cowboy would want. The body will be brought to the ranch from a funeral home in Fort Pierce.

It will lie in state in the Matheson living room from 1 to 2 p.m. Then six pallbearers—three white and three Negro—will take the body to the grave out in the pasture, in the shade of a clump of pines, where Pistol Pete often said he wanted to be buried.

Argentina Plans to Restrict 'Abusive' Video

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The Argentine Congress today was considering a demand for legislative action curb "abusive" television shows.

The education committee of the Authors' and Film Producers' Organization asked the legislature Tuesday not to let Argentine TV become "a school for gangsters and gunmen or for acts which flout the Christian moral code."

Committee Chairman Francisco Uzal said parents, teachers and church leaders have asked the government to regulate TV programing.

They Act to Keep Jane From Becoming Rash

LOUGHTON, England (AP) — Jane Reeve, who breaks out in a rash when she mixes with boys, has won her battle to save her schoolgirl complexion.

★ ★ ★

She gaily skipped off today to an all-girl school where there'll be no boys to bring out those ugly blemishes.

Jane, 11, is allergic to boys. Boys make her nervous. That brings on the rash.

Finishing at her girls' school, Jane was threatened with a crash of rashes when she was assigned to a coed high school in this town just outside London.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, protested to the local educational authorities. He told them about the rashes.

The authorities turned down his request that Jane be allowed to attend the local girls-only school. That school, they said, is full.

Even a doctor's certificate, pointing out Jane's strange ailment, wouldn't budge them.

Until Tuesday, that is, when the authorities, after thinking things over, decided that in the interests of her health Jane should go to a girls' school.

★ ★ ★

An education official said: "It is felt that, in view of Jane's extreme nervousness there is justification for her to be allowed to attend a single-sex school."

FIND A PLACE

He said a place had been found at a girls' school a few miles out of Loughton.

Jail English Minister

CROYDON, England (AP) — An English Baptist minister, 55-year-old Eric Betteridge, was jailed for two months Tuesday after admitting he invited two girls, ages 11 and 9, to stage a striptease in his church hall.

W. Berliners Urged to Aid Carla Victims

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners were called on today to show gratitude to the United States by raising money to help victims of Hurricane Carla.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper Morgenpost began the drive with an appeal under a banner headline reading: "Berliners—at this hour we want to show our thanks to America."

In large-lettered text beneath, the newspaper said:

★ ★ ★

Influence Deals Shock Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators accuse naval officials of showing a lack of concern about payoffs and influence deals involving some civilian employes.

A report filed today with the Senate by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said his Senate Investigations subcommittee had disclosed situations which could have endangered the lives of those aboard improperly repaired ships.

* * *

The report formally concluded the subcommittee's investigation of the Atlantic headquarters base for the Military Sea Transportation Service, a naval agency, at Brooklyn, N.Y.

* * *

The subcommittee called for prosecutions by the Justice Department, a study of the income tax returns of a number of witnesses, and a possible blacklisting of some ship repair firms.

REPAIR WORK BAD

MSTS runs a big fleet of vessels which ferries men and material to and from military bases in many sections of the world. The fleet is being enlarged for possible emergency duty in the Berlin crisis.

The unanimous report said the inquiry was undertaken because of reports that payoffs and influence deals were resulting in inferior work on MSTS vessels which "could cause the loss of life or valuable cargo."

"The basic allegations were in fact true," the report said.

* * *

The report said the investigation showed improper financial dealings by MSTS personnel, and also proved that it was customary for ship repair companies to shower them with gifts.

* * *

Declaring that naval officials should have discovered and corrected the situation themselves, the report continued: "The lack of concern, the lack of even knowledge of this atmosphere is a matter of grave disturbance to this subcommittee."

Enjoy Fresh Artichokes With Savory Sauces

Drive along the coastal areas of California — through counties like Monterey and San Mateo and Santa Cruz — and you will see thousands of acres planted with one of the oldest foods known to man . . . the artichoke. This versatile vegetable thrives along the California coast, in places which are bathed in ocean mists.

★ ★ ★

The many attractions of this luscious food make it rate high on gourmets' lists. Fresh artichokes have a delightful pineapple-like appearance; they are flavorful and nutritious. Try them hot or cold, and use them as hors d'oeuvres, appetizers, salads, entrees or snacks. They're also easy to prepare and fun to eat.

★ ★ ★

For those who are not quite sure of what Emily Post would say about the approved method of eating artichokes, here is how it's done: Pull off an outer leaf, dip the bottom fleshy end into a sauce and pull through the teeth. Discard the upper end of each leaf.

Continue with each leaf until you reach the compact cone of light-colored leaves. Lift out the cone with your fingers; dip the soft end into the sauce and eat the soft tips.

With the cone out, you will see the fuzzy center, or choke. This lifts out in one piece if you cut under it with a knife or fork. Discard the choke, and you will have the fleshy bottom, or heart, which is delicious to eat.

For your next party, Artichokes with Parsley Chive Sauce will make a delightful hors d'oeuvre or salad.

Parsley Chive Sauce

4 artichokes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 package (3-ounces) cream cheese, softened
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped chives
⅓ cup finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon milk
¼ teaspoon tabasco

Wash artichokes, trim stems to 1 inch, pull off tough outer leaves and snip off tips of remaining leaves. Place artichokes in 1 inch boiling water to which 2 tablespoons lemon juice have been added. Sprinkle each artichoke with ¼ teaspoon salt. Cover tightly and cook 20 to 45 minutes, or until stems can easily be pierced with a fork (depending upon the size of the artichokes). Turn artichokes upside down to drain immediately. Chill.

Combine remaining ingredients; blend well. Chill. Serve artichokes with parsley-chive mixture. Makes 4 servings.

Artichokes with Creamy Anchovy Sauce will also do any hostess proud.

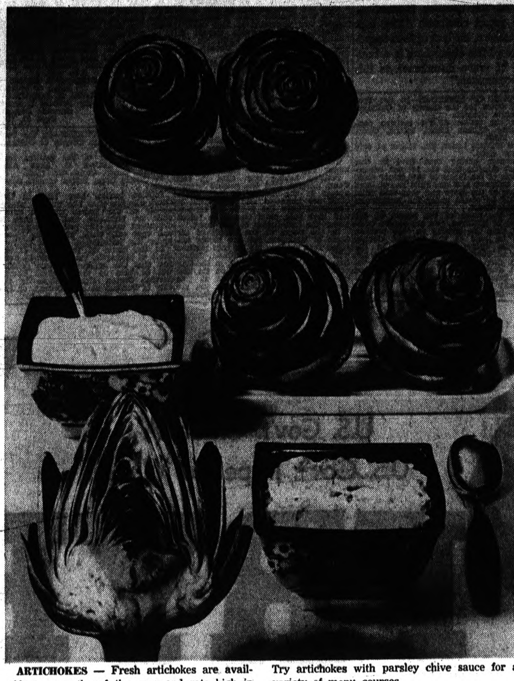
Creamy Anchovy Sauce

4 artichokes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon anchovy paste
1 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Dash pepper
1 cup sour cream

Wash artichokes, trim stems to 1 inch, pull off tough outer leaves and snip off tips of remaining leaves. Place artichokes in 1 inch boiling water to which 2 tablespoons lemon juice have been added. Sprinkle each artichoke with ¼ teaspoon salt. Cover tightly and cook 20 to 45 minutes, or until stems can easily be pierced with a fork (depending upon the size of the artichokes). Turn artichokes upside down to drain immediately. Chill.

★ ★ ★

Combine remaining ingredients; blend well. Chill. Serve artichokes with sour cream mixture. Makes 4 servings.



ARTICHOKES — Fresh artichokes are available ten months of the year and rate high in vitamin and mineral content, low in calories. Try artichokes with parsley chive sauce for a variety of menu courses.

Rival Real Thing With Petal Biscu

Mother Nature provides the inspiration for novel "Black-Eyed Susans," served as appetizers or with a light salad. The "black eyes" are dark pitted ripe olives stuffed with small strips of American cheese. Place them in the center of petal-shaped biscuits and then to the oven to produce these easy-to-do treats. Served right from the container as snacks or added to numerous hot and cold dishes, luscious ripe olives supply an extra-added fillip to everyday eating.

Blacked-Eyed Susans

10 strips American cheese
10 whole pitted ripe olives
1 package refrigerated biscuits
Melted butter

Cut strips of cheese to fit into olives and long enough to extend about ¼ inch over top. Stuff olives with cheese. Lightly pat biscuits into even shape. Cut biscuits with scissors or knife 4 times, from outer edge to about ⅓ inch from center, to form 4 petals.

Place on baking sheet; set cheese-stuffed olive upright in center of each biscuit; brush with melted butter. Bake as directed on package. Makes 10 Black-Eyed Susans.

Cream Butter Blue Cheese for Bread

No special effort or unique ingredient that will send you scurrying to the store is required to make this crisp blue cheese bread to serve as a salad accompaniment on a warm day.

Just cream one-half cup of butter with one-half cup of crumbled American blue cheese until the cheese is in tiny pieces, but not blended absolutely smooth.

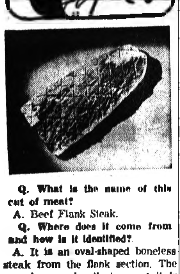
Take a loaf of sliced white or whole wheat bread and spread the slices with the blue cheese butter, reserving two tablespoons. Cut the bread slices in half. Fit slices back together again in loaf form and put into a bread pan.

Spread rest of blue cheese butter on top crust and sprinkle with minced chives if you have some handy. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve hot from the oven with any chilled salad.

The piquant yet mellow flavor of American blue cheese permeates the bread so that what started life as an everyday loaf of baker's bread becomes a party treat.

Easy Arithmetic

A standard quick bread recipe that is baked in a large loaf pan (about 9 by 5 by 3 inches) may be baked in two small loaf pans (about 7 by 3 by 2 inches). A moderate oven is used for both types of pan; the large loaf will need about 1 hour baking time, the small loaves about half an hour.



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Flank Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is an oval-shaped boneless steak from the flank section. The muscles run lengthwise, and it is usually scored to shorten the muscle fibers.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising, since it is a less-tender cut. It may or may not be dredged in seasoned flour. The meat is then browned in added fat. The drippings are poured off, a small amount of liquid is added, the utensil is covered tightly, and the meat is cooked slowly until tender, 1½ to 2 hours.

Turkey Makes Fine Sandwich

It's August Sandwich Month, Mrs. Homemaker, when you can make the entire family happy with some mighty fine eating — especially if you serve turkey sandwiches.

★ ★ ★

Fortunately, Sandwich Month comes along when there are so many turkeys that you can combine the genuine taste treat of a turkey sandwich with unusual economy. Because turkeys are in such abundance, the U. S. Department of Agriculture gives them top spot on its August Plentiful Foods List.

★ ★ ★

You can tuck turkey sandwiches into picnic-bound, food-ladened baskets . . . prepare them as mouth-watering canapes for party trays . . . serve them as a main dish for lunch or suppertime, or enjoy them as a bedtime or between meal snack. And you have a vast array of breads, buns and rolls to vary your sandwich-making.

For those extra-special occasions, try this Double Decker Sandwich Supreme. Use 3 slices of hot buttered toast. Spread the first slice with cottage cheese, enhanced with chopped pecans and dates.

Add the second piece of toast and top with sliced cooked turkey, lettuce, sliced smoked beef tongue, and more lettuce. Close with the third slice of toast — and you've got a turkey treat you'll be mighty proud to serve.

Tomato Soup Dressing Takes to Variations

Once upon an ancient time, a toga'd citizen of Rome added salt to some lettuce and the dish we now know as salad — from the Latin word, "sal," for salt — came into being.

The ages since have given us many kinds of salad and new meaning for the word: we modern devotees apply the label freely to concoctions of vegetables with no greens at all and to greens mixed with eggs, meat, or fish. And equally liberal is our point of view on when to eat a salad — we serve them up as appetizers, main courses, side dishes, and even as desserts.

To the unrelenting salad purist, however, the heart of the dish is still the dressing. You can serve a dressing to the salad purists in your family that is a veritable work of art, a delight to tongue and eye, and painless to produce.

It's Tomato French Dressing—created of a subtle blending of canned condensed tomato soup, vinegar, oil, and a variety of spices. America has made it a favorite because its vivacious flavor is the perfect complement to almost every salad.

Tomato French Dressing

2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup
⅔ soup can vinegar (½ cup plus 2 tablespoons)
⅔ soup can salad oil (½ cup plus 2 tablespoons)
2 tablespoons minced onion

Combine dry ingredients in a 1-quart jar. Add remaining ingredients; shake well before using. Makes about 2 2/3 cups dressing.

★ ★ ★

Blue Cheese Dressing: ¼ cup crumbled blue cheese

Chiffonade Dressing: 1 chopped hard-cooked egg, 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced pimiento

Curry Dressing: ½ teaspoon curry powder

Shrimp-Spinach Recipe Is New

Fresh spinach in the garden, fresh spinach in the market, and fresh spinach on the menu—sure signs that summer has come with its promise of "fresh vegetable" eating pleasure. A gala way to fete the pretty green leaves that the season brings is to combine fresh spinach with shrimp in a savory dish. Shrimp Rockefeller. This recipe — adapted by the Shrimp Association of the Americas from the classic Oysters Rockefeller—is, like the original, a delightful blend of spinach, seafood, bacon, onion, and seasonings. It makes a light, yet taste-tempting main dish, just right for a summer menu.

Shrimp Rockefeller

1½ cups cooked spinach (about 1 lb. of fresh spinach)
6 slices crisp bacon, crumbled, if desired
1 cup minced onion
3 tablespoons minced parsley
2 bay leaves, crumbled
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 pound fresh or frozen shrimp, cooked (or one 8-oz. or 10-oz. package peeled and deveined shrimp)

Cook spinach in a small amount of boiling water until tender—for 6 to 10 minutes. Drain well. Chop and mix with bacon, onion, parsley, bay leaves, and celery salt. Melt butter; add spinach mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until heated through. Stir in bread crumbs and let bubble one minute.

Select four ramekins which hold about one cup each. Grease. Arrange two-thirds of the shrimp on bottoms. Top with seasoned spinach mixture. Nestle remaining shrimp into tops. Bake at 400 degrees (hot oven) 5 to 10 minutes, or until heated through. Recipe makes 4 servings as a light main dish.

Broil Pot Roast First Seal in Foil to Bake

To sear a pot roast to brown crispness before braising, brush the meat all over with Spanish olive oil, place under broiler, turning until well-browned on all sides. The olive oil hastens browning, seals in juices.

Transfer browned meat to large piece of heavy duty foil; scrape out all drippings from pan in which it browned and pour over meat. Seal foil securely. Place foil-wrapped pot roast in 275-degree oven; allow 1 hour to pound. Meat will be tender and succulent, gravy formed inside foil wrapping will be rich, flavorful.

APRICOT CHIFFON CAKE — Seven layers of flavor — light, airy chiffon cake and rich fruit-studded apricot filling.

Fill Airy Chiffon Cake With Luscious Apricots

Apricot Chiffon Cake—high wide and certainly handsome. What an elegant centerpiece for your dessert table. What a center of attraction for any party occasion. It's truly delicious—four tiers of light delicate chiffon cake filled with layers of apricot filling, and gaily topped with a colorful kumquat, mint leaf and coconut border.

Prepare the tall chiffon cake in the morning or the day before you plan to serve it. A few hints: Don't overbeat the egg whites; they should hold soft peaks, yet remain moist and glossy rather than dry. Take care also to fold the egg yolk mixture into the fluffy egg whites very carefully. The air you beat into the egg whites gives the chiffon cake its airy volume.

The Apricot Filling is prepared with chopped dried apricots and apricot nectar. When your cake has cooled completely, mark it into 4 layers with toothpicks. Carefully slice the layers and then re-assemble the cake, spreading the Apricot Filling between each layer. Top the cake with tiny preserved kumquats, flaked coconut and candied or real mint leaves for an attractive garnish.

Apricot Chiffon Cake

2¼ cups sifted enriched flour*
1¾ cups sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup salad oil
5 egg yolks
1 cup apricot nectar
1 cup egg whites (7 or 8)
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
Apricot filling
Corn syrup, flaked coconut, preserved kumquats, mint leaves or candy spearmint leaves (optional)

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into large bowl. Make a "well" in center of dry ingredients and add in order the salad oil, egg yolks and apricot nectar. Beat until smooth. Combine egg yolk mixture over egg whites, a little at a time, folding after each addition. Mix only until blended.

Turn into ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Cut through batter with knife to remove air bubbles. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until crust springs back when lightly touched. Invert and cool 1 hour before removing from pan.

With sharp knife, cut cake into 4 equal horizontal layers. Spread Apricot Filling between layers. If desired, brush outer edge of top layer with corn syrup, cover with coconut. Arrange kumquats and mint leaves in flower design. If candy spearmint leaves are used, cut in half with scissors and turn cut side up.

Makes 1 chiffon cake. *If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Apricot Filling

¾ cup chopped dried apricots
2 cups water
½ cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
¾ cup apricot nectar
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten

Combine apricots and water in small saucepan. Heat to boiling, reduce heat, and cook until apricots are tender, about 10 minutes. Blend together sugar, cornstarch and salt. Blend in apricot mixture and apricot nectar. Return to heat. Heat to boiling, and cook until thick and clear, about 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir into egg yolks. Return mixture to pan and cook 1 minute. Cool.

Reds Lag in Computer Use

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was here last night, he boasted that Russia turns out more than 100,000 technical and engineering graduates a year compared to some 30,000 in the United States.

But the Soviet is acknowledged to be several years behind the U.S. in electronic computer development and use.

To the extent that American education can help to exploit this gap, U.S. engineering and business graduates will be able to multiply the results from their talents far more effectively than those trained in Soviet schools.

This is the concensus of educators polled recently by the Royal McBee Corp., a firm that has delivered more than 50 electronic computers to institutions ranging from large state universities with 48,000 students to little schools with just 800 students.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDY

The trend toward electronic computer study as a part of the undergraduate curriculum in the nation's colleges and universities is fairly widespread.

Many of the more than 100 current universities computer centers offer computer classes as well as use of the machines for faculty and student research and other projects.

Until recently, computers were limited largely to a few major universities such as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Chicago and Harvard. They were employed mainly for industry and government—plus some post graduate specialization.

Many educators see the computers becoming as essential as the slide rule.

"Computers will become more a way of engineering life in the future than the slide rule has been in the past," said Dr. Thomas J. Jones Jr., head of the electrical engineering department at Purdue University.

Collector of Spoons Reveals His Favorite

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UP) — James A. Crotty has collected over 1,000 spoons in the last 14 years, each with a history.

One commemorates the coronation of William and Mary in England in 1689, another is a rare French spoon made in 1412, the year Joan of Arc was born, and a third was made in Arabia in 1313.

Asked which is his favorite spoon, Crotty replied: "That's easy — the one I eat with."

Cancer Control Search Goes On and On and On

WASHINGTON (UP) — The search for more effective medicines for use in treating cancer is a massive one.

There are now about 20 compounds used in the fight against cancer, according to the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn.

But in the last three years, says the association, tens of thousands of chemicals, compounds or other substances have been tested in laboratories.

In 1958, only 60 of 28,000 substances studied proved worthy of clinical investigation on humans. In 1959, out of 36,000, there were 40 given further study. Figures are not in for 1960.

Police Chief Believes in Phone Manners

TONAWANDA, N.Y. (UP) — "City of Tonawanda police, Lt. Smith. May I help you?"

This is the friendly greeting everyone receives when they call police headquarters here, since Chief James G. Oldenburg had a telephone company customer service consultant instruct his men in good telephone manners.

"I think it's important," the chief explains. "A modern-day police outfit does a lot of business by phone. And the public is entitled to courtesy."

Juveniles Made to Work Hard —Repair Damage

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Four juvenile boys who admitted acts of vandalism that caused more than $1,000 worth of damage at a school were given this sentence by Judge Sam Davis Tatum:

They must dig up the stump of a tree they cut down; dig holes to plant several other trees; work to pay back their parents, who paid school authorities for the damage; and be home by 11 p.m. every night unless with their parents.

Gowned in Tradition, Custom Is 62 Babies Old

DETROIT (UP) — Sixty-two babies have worn a long, filmy christening gown which has been in the Edward C. Roney family since 1866.

Angry Bear Lumbers 900 Miles to Collect $50

He hopped in his car and drove 900 miles to LeCenter, Minn., to collect.

Maintenance Man Just Lost in Shuffle

BALTIMORE (UP) — At a big downtown department store, a new janitor was told to "go over into the other building and clean up the basement."

He did. He went through the store's adjacent building, across a narrow alley and into a rival department store, where he spent the day doing a dandy clean-up job.

No one at the store which hired him asked where he was. No one at the other store asked who he was of what he was doing.

Partisan Feeling High on Crucial Issue

Con-Con Could Run Aground on Reapportionment

(Editor's Note: The convention to revise Michigan's 1908 constitution meets in Lansing Oct. 3. This is the eighth in a series of articles dealing with possible changes in the state's basic law.)

By DON MYERS

LANSING (UPI) — One issue—reapportionment of the legislature—will probably generate more heat and less light than any other at the constitutional convention scheduled to start Oct. 3.

Partisan political maneuvering on the question will run rampant. Vague slogans and inflammatory catch-phrases will becloud the issue.

Democrats generally favor electing state senators and representatives on a strict population basis. They want at least a modification of the present system of electing the legislature so that each senator or representative would represent roughly the same number of people.

Republicans want the existing situation to stand, although they might tolerate some slight change. House seats are at present apportioned on a very nearly equal basis according to population, although the mathematical formula for apportioning seats which is in the present constitution prevents the House membership from reflecting population exactly.

Senatorial districts, "frozen" in the 1908 document, give outstate areas with fewer people a relatively greater voice in the upper chamber.

This is the chief bone of contention.

Statistically, figures compiled by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan show that in 1960, the five most populous counties in the state (Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Kent and Genesee) had 57.8 per cent of the population, but only 50.9 per cent of the seats in the House of Representatives and 55.3 per cent of the seats in the Senate.

The 78 other counties then had 42.4 per cent of the people living in them but 49.1 per cent of the votes in the House and 64.7 per cent of the Senate votes.

These 78 counties, of course, include a huge preponderance of all the physical area in Michigan.

The partisan line-up since the November 1960 election has been 56 Republicans and 54 Democrats in the House, and 22 Republicans and 12 Democrats in the Senate.

MUCH AT STAKE

Since Democratic strength is largely centered in the big cities while Republicans are stronger in smaller municipalities and in rural areas, leaders of both parties feel that they would have much to gain or lose by any changes—or lack of change—in the existing system of apportionment.

★ ★ ★

Both parties, therefore, have billed the apportionment squabble as a fight between the cities and the rural groups.

Some Democrats concede that perhaps the diverse interests of sparsely populated areas ought to be represented in Lansing. A few Republicans also say privately that maybe a little more representation for the big cities might not be a bad idea.

But when the purely partisan dispute over who should have the most seats in the legislature slackens a bit, special interest groups on both sides of the question pick up the torch.

Relentless pressure has built up behind the two positions which are characterized by the slogans: "Don't let Wayne County dominate the state," and "Put an end to representation of stumps and wilderness."

Conceivably, there could be one reapportionment plan submitted to the con-con by each of the 144 delegates.

Potentially, the rock of reapportionment could be the shoal on which the con-con ship founders, because the issue is almost too big to be a bargaining point. There is little middle ground on the issue and even less inclination to leave the present system alone.

Many Republicans feel that their present dearth of elected officeholders in Michigan means the GOP absolutely cannot afford to make any concessions that might conceivably lessen their voice in government in the future.

★ ★ ★

Looters Attack Trucks, Steal Imported Rice

MANILA (AP)—Trucks carrying rice imported from Thailand were looted today as the government fought rising prices for the staple food.

★ ★ ★

The looters attacked trucks being unloaded at a government warehouse. They slashed the rice sacks and scooped out the grain in pails and cans in defiance of security guards, then fled.

There were long queues at groceries as the rice shortage persisted.

Japan Announces Rise in Livestock Production

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Japan's livestock production has increased tremendously since 1952.

There are 10 times the number of dairy cows; more than three times the number of pigs, and sheep increased from 400,000 to one million from 1952 to 1959, according to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Lines That Young Poets Wish Would Die

'He's a Stand-In Writer for Those Shave Jingles'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a young poet gets tired of hearing:

"If you ask me, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow said it all."

"How doy ou guys get paid—by the line or by the rhyme?"

"Could you knock off a couple of funny stanzas about my cousin and his wife? They're celebrating their 10th wedding anniversary next week and, just for laughs, I'd like to have something comic to surprise them on the occasion."

BOYLE

"No, Algernon isn't sleeping. He says he can compose better when he lies down and closes his eyes."

"They say he gets his talent from his mother—and his income from his father."

"Why don't you write like Edgar Guest? When he had something to say, he got it off his chest—straight from the shoulder?"

★ ★ ★

STAND-IN WRITER

"In a way he's like Western Union—full of messages for mankind. The difference is that Western Union knows where to deliver them."

"I understand he's a stand-in writer for the fellow who writes those highway shave jingles."

"You couldn't exactly call Algernon a mute, inglorious Milton. For one thing he isn't mute—unfortunately."

★ ★ ★

"They tell me you're a poet, young fellow. That's nice. What do you do for a living?"

"I realize Robert Browning did not have to interrupt his genius by writing greeting card rhymes, Algernon. But after all, Browning had a rich papa."

★ ★ ★

"Sure, I'll admit his spondees are okay, but just between us, do you really think his anapestics hold water?"

'AT LEAST I CAN EAT'

"I'm leaving you, Algernon, and going home to mother. No, it's not because I'm mad at you. But at mother's I can at least be sure of eating."

"Algernon kind of reminds me of Alfred Tennyson, particularly when he runs out of razor blades and doesn't shave for a month or two."

"Some poets have rhyme, some poets have reason. On the other hand, there's Algernon."

"Put away the canapes now or there won't be any left for the other guests."

"Shakespeare merely wrote for the ages. But Algernon writes for Algernon."

"I didn't actually say he doesn't have ability. All I said was his lack of inspiration barely rises above his lack of perspiration."

"He really hasn't published anything noteworthy ever since that mimeograph machine broke down in the office where his sister works."

"Algernon isn't proud. He'd be glad to write for the little magazines. The trouble is that so far he hasn't found one small enough for his kind of verse."

Michigan Leads Nation in Motor Boat Tags

LANSING (AP) — Michigan leads the nation in the number of motor boats it has registered, reports Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Some 380,000 have been registered since the state's motor boat registration law went into effect March 1, 1960, Hare said.

In second place, according to U. S. Coast Guard figures was California with 226,837. Wisconsin, Minnesota, Texas and Florida fell in behind Michigan, he added.

KKK Leader Is Convicted

Expected to Appeal in Flogging of White Pair in Alabama

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI)—A Ku Klux Klan leader, charged along with eight other men with stripping and flogging a white couple with a leather strap, was convicted Tuesday of assault with intent to commit murder.

Attorneys for Thomas Jackson Graham, 37, a Sylacauga, Ala., textile worker, were expected to appeal the verdict, which carries a maximum sentence of 20 years. Sentencing was scheduled for Sept. 22.

All eight men charged in the case said they were Klansmen. Trial of the second man was scheduled for today.

An attorney summing up the state's case, reading from Graham's purported confession, quoted the former high school football star as saying: "I hit her eight or nine times. Then I turned sick."

Mrs. Marlin White, who was abducted from her home with her husband, said she was told they were flogged for associating with Negroes and permitting their 15-year-old son to be disciplined by a Negro.

White watched helplessly from a car where he was held as his wife was flogged.

SENTENCED IN BRITAIN — Earl Bertrand Russell, 89-year-old British philosopher, and Lady Russell appear at the London Court where they were sentenced to seven days in jail for declining to promise to keep the peace in his civil disobedience campaign against nuclear weapons. The sentence had been reduced from two months imprisonment to spare the frail peer from physical hardship. Police said Lord Russell's followers planned a 10,000-person demonstration against nuclear weapons in London next Sunday.

Supervisors Designate $1.5-Million Project for DPW

Petitions from the Village of Novi Township, urging the Oakland County Department of Public Works to build a sanitary sewer system to serve these communities, Monday cleared the Oakland County Board of Supervisors 73-0.

Supervisors approved making a proposed $1.5-million project, slated to serve about 3,000 homes, a county DPW project.

Northville Supervisor Sydney Frid warned the board that as the project progresses opposition might come from his city.

R. J. Alexander, DPW director, said Frid's fears that the proposed outlet for the system — Detroit — "would be selling capacity that rightfully belongs to Northville."

Now in the planning stage, Alexander said the project would probably be started in spring 1962 and be paid for through a 15-year bond issue to be retired from connection charges paid to two communities by users of the system.

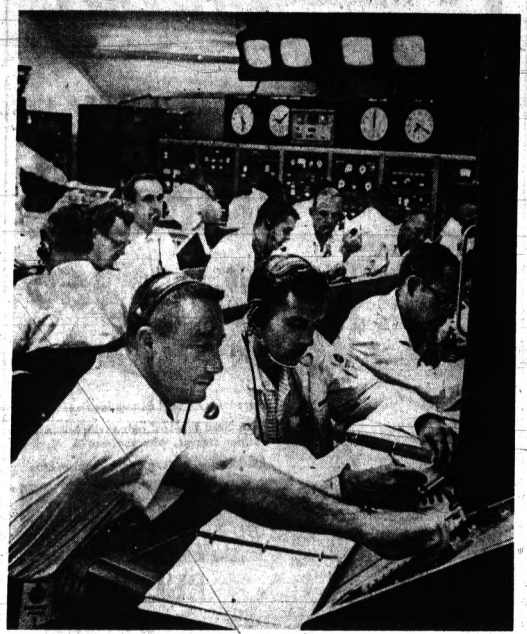
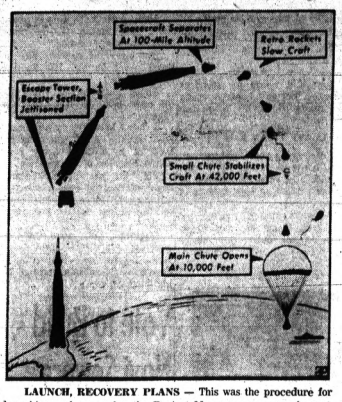
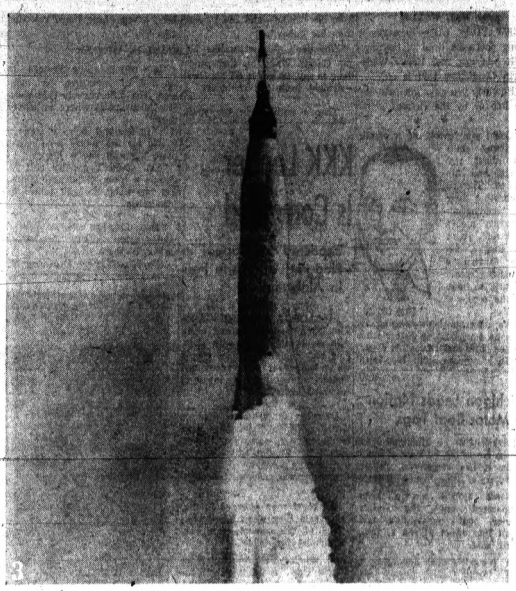
Views as U.S. Launches 'Artificial Astronaut'

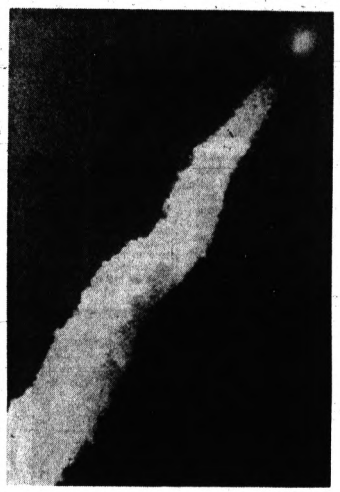


ASTRONAUT ON GROUND — Astronaut Gus Grissom is busy in the blockhouse as an observer just before a Project Mercury space capsule carrying an "artifical astronaut" was blasted aloft by an Atlas rocket at Cape Canaveral. The capsule was landed in the Atlantic after an hour and 46-minute trip around the earth.

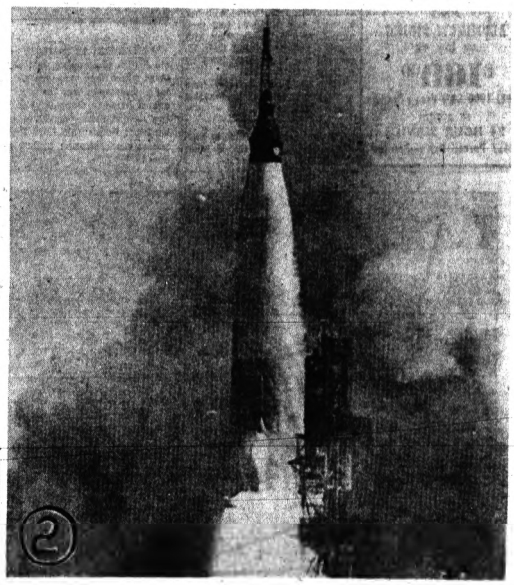


LAUNCH, RECOVERY PLANS — This was the procedure for launching and recovering the Project Mercury space capsule sent aloft today. After departure from Cape Canaveral, the capsule leaves the Atlas rocket for orbit (top left). And after orbit, retro rockets and parachute slow descent into the Atlantic to the planned recovery area.





STREAKING INTO ORBIT — An Atlas missile trails vaper as it heads for the upper atmosphere after launch from Cape Canaveral today. The missile put a space capsule carrying an "artificial spaceman" into orbit. The Project Mercury capsule was returned to earth after one complete orbit.



Won't Soon Forget Carla

TEARS OF NECESSITY — Mrs. Janie Longoria couldn't explain to her infant son Frankie that the nurse was helping him by jabbing his arm with the needle. Mrs. J. J. Leonard is applying an inoculation protecting the lad against typhoid fever. The Houston, Tex., Health Department began inoculating people returning to areas flooded in the wake of Hurricane Carla. Violent Carla, now merely a rainstorm, was linked in some way with 15 deaths and brought damage in the hundreds of millions of dollars during its journey through Texas and Louisiana.

FOUNDATION LEFT — Mrs. Joy Evans of Port O'Connor, Tex., dazed by the destruction of Hurricane Carla, sits on the foundation of what was once her home. The destructive storm swept inland from the Gulf of Mexico near here, practically leveling this whole community.

Texans Return to Coast After Passage of Storm

By The Associated Press

Texans by the thousands streamed back today to homes in the coastal area they evacuated last weekend as Hurricane Carla approached.

* * *

While the move toward home started for thousands it was delayed for others by emergency conditions still existing in many places. Water, though receding, was in the streets. Telephone and power lines were down. Sanitary facilities had not been returned to normal.

* * *

Texas City — "No sanitation, no power, no water," said Mayor L. A. Robinson. He estimated it might be a week or more before the 80 per cent of the 32,000 populace who sought refuge inland could return safely. The city's main street was dry after being under four feet of water Tuesday. Robinson said damage was "millions upon millions of dollars." Virtually all of the loss resulted from tides and not the winds.

Galveston — The famous resort city was virtually free of flood waters after suffering the lethal blow of a tornado churned up a few hours after Hurricane Carla hit the coast to the south. The city manager imposed an 8 p.m. curfew Tuesday night and National Guardsmen patrolled the streets to prevent looting of the scores and scores of ravaged homes and other buildings.

Freeport—More National Guardsmen wading through the ghostlike streets of the shattered towns. Police Chief N. H. Lassiter said "we don't have any lights, any sewers or any food and frankly I'm worried about a disease problem."

HEAVY LOSSES

Houston—Returning slowly to normalcy was the city of well over a million which escaped the direct thrust of the hurricane but still had losses in the millions from high winds and water. More than 50,000 telephones were out of service at one time but crews were rapidly restoring communications.

* * *

Port Arthur—The plague of the elements continued. Civil defense workers sent 350 persons to safety at a National Guard armory and private homes on high ground when flood waters Tuesday night caused a second evacuation in four days of one suburb.

* * *

Corpus Christi—An earlier estimate of up to $10 million damage made by the mayor stood for the time being pending a complete survey. The gulf shrimp fleet, which had huddled in Corpus Christi harbor when Carla struck, went back to work after escaping major damage. Nearly 200 boats were in the harbor Sunday.

San Antonio—Another metropolis of the interior was on a normal basis. The fringe of the storm earlier in the week brought only minor damage.

Baytown—Water-clogged streets became traffic arteries again. The floods had caused the suburban community of Wooster to be declared a disaster area earlier.

* * *

Rockport—State officials surveying extensive damage to popular Goose Island State Park.

* * *

ROCKET UNDER WAY — An Atlas rocket takes off (No. 1) on a mission to put a Project Mercury space capsule carrying an "artificial astronaut" in a one-trip orbit around the earth. Picture No. 2 is a closer view of the rocket as it starts its journey from Cape Canaveral. In No. 3 the 93-foot rocket is completely away from the launching pad and on its way into space. The capsule landed later in the Atlantic.

Mother of 2 a 'Designing' Woman

She's Tops in Tots' Fashion

ROCHESTER—Babies are Bette Aldridge's business.

A wife and mother of two, Mrs. Aldridge combines the art of homemaking with the rigors of a career in fashion designing for infants and toddlers throughout the country.

Comfort conscious and style wise, she deplored the lack of quick changeability and fashion diversity for her baby daughter Lisa and set out to create a coordinated wardrobe of sportwear for tiny tots in keeping with today's casual living.

Besides being difficult to maneuver, infant clothes were either "frumpy or frilly," Mrs. Aldridge pointed out. There just had to be a happy in-between where baby could be chic, comfortable and changeable at the same time, she decided.

And so the "Me Too" creations and a career were born.

* * *

When news of Mrs. Aldridge's adroitness reached the Charles Pindyke Co. of New York City, she was engaged to design "Me Toos" for sale in stores all over the United States.

* * *

These infant-toddler fashion firsts with their perky practicality made a hit with buyers and babies alike.

Now Mrs. Aldridge, who is the wife of Gene Aldridge, athletic director at Lincoln Junior High School in Warren, has the extra full schedule of keeping house, raising a family and commuting to New York on business.

Of particular interest to her right now is her fall collection. For example the Sports Car Set for sophisticated small fry — boy or girl — offers the "Me Too" stretch slacks with matching shirt in bright red and a white pile pullover with red stretch hood and cuffs.

* * *

Mrs. Aldridge cleverly combines corduroy, stretch materials, pima cloth, pile fabrics and velveteen in her fashions which are completely tubbable and easy to iron, she said.

DAUGHTER TO MODEL

The area will get its first public peek at the "Me Too" collection when Lisa, now 3 years old, joins her mother to model in the Rochester Junior Woman's Club's 6th Annual Fashion Show and Luncheon Sept. 21.

The affair will take place at 11:30 a.m. at the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

Jacobson's of Birmingham (who hold the exclusive distribution franchise of "Me Toos" for the Oakland County section) will furnish both adult and toddler styles with the shop's fashion coordinator, Miss Abbie Anderman, acting as moderator.

* * *

Mrs. Conrad Singsaas is chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Albert Bailey.

Mrs. Aldridge, whose home is at 693 Romeo Road, has been an active member of the Rochester Junior Woman's Club for three years.

She studied art and designing at Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio, and started the "Me Too" project about two years ago.

* * *

Although too old now to wear any of the clothes his mother designs, Jeffery Aldridge, 8, enjoys the ringside seat he has on all the activity at his house, created by his mother's success in the world of fashion.

Set Dedication at Mandon Lake

Community Church Rite Sunday Afternoon Gets Special Program

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The Mandon Lake Community Church will be dedicated at a special 3 p.m. service Sunday, Rev. Dorr Fockler, pastor, announced today.

Dr. Roy L. Aldrich, president of the Detroit Bible College, will give the dedication address.

* * *

Greetings will be brought by missionary, Rev. V. L. Martin, representing the missionaries supported by the church; Wesley Johnson, superintendent of the Oakland County Youth home, for area citizens; and Rev. Hiram Jones, pastor of the Union Lake Baptist Church, representing other congregations in the area.

Evangelist Billy Walker will lead the congregation in a prayer of dedication.

Others participating in the service will be architect Lee M. Butler and Joseph Bersche, builder.

* * *

Much of the work on the $80,000 building at 915 Round Lake Road has been done by the men of the church under the direction of Kenneth Thibo, building committee chairman, Rev. Fockler said.

Ground was broken for the new church in March 1960 and construction started a month later. It has been in use since Easter.

The brick and faced field-stone church, which has a seating capacity of 340, is attached to the original church building, constructed during the 1930s and now in use by the junior church group.

The new church has rooms for Sunday school services and the fellowship hall below ground level has kitchen facilities.

College Head to Address PTA at Green School

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Otis Gatewood, president of Michigan Christian College, Avon Township, will be the guest speaker tomorrow at the 8 p.m. meeting of the Green Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

His topic, "Human Relations," will cover the parent-child-teacher contacts.

Gatewood, who recently returned from a 4-week trip to Russia, authored the book "Footsteps of Hitler," written after 10 years in Germany where he did relief work following World War II.

Dean Parker, program chairman, said the meeting is open to all residents living in the West Bloomfield School District.

The 1961-62 PTA budget will be discussed and general plans for the year presented for approval following Gatewood's talk, according to Martin Lawrence, PTA president.

Auxiliary Ready to Launch Yearly Member Drive

ALMONT — The women's auxiliary of Community Hospital will launch its annual membership drive Friday, according to Mrs. Robert Patton of Armada, auxiliary president.

* * *

This year proceeds from the drive will be used to purchase extra beds, mattresses and patient bedside cabinets.

According to Mrs. Patton, this equipment is needed to accommodate the anticipated overflow of patients that has occurred every winter the hospital has been in operation.

Because of the urgency, the auxiliary president expressed hope the drive would exceed the 1,200 membership enrollment of 1960.

* * *

Plus Con-Con Vote

Three Cities Okay Changes in Charters

Voters in Southfield, Farmington and Madison Heights yesterday approved revisions to their city charters in local issues included on state constitutional convention election ballots.

The proposals in the three Oakland County cities all won the support of large majorities of voters.

The Madison Heights electorate, which was asked to approve several changes in the city's requirements for public office, passed its local proposition by the widest margin, 1,157 yes to 253 no.

Farmington voters authorized their City Council to set up a retirement system for municipal employes by better than a 2-to-1 majority, 511 to 241.

In Southfield, a proposition which will set a time limit for persons bringing legal action against the city in contested tax assessments was approved by 512 votes. The Southfield proposal was supported by 1,424 voters while 912 cast negative ballots.

Establishment of a municipal retirement system in Farmington will cost the city about $11,000 annually based on the present payroll of some 40 employes.

The cost of the retirement plan, which is patterned after the Michigan Municipal Employes Retirement system, will be shared by the city and its employes.

* * *

Prior to the election, City Manager John Dinan said that Farmington was one of the few cities in the state without a pension program.

HAVE 30 DAYS

Approval of the Southfield proposition means that taxpayers contesting assessments must notify the council 30 days after the assessment roll is confirmed if a lawsuit is planned.

The new charter provision also makes it mandatory for legal action against tax assessments to be started within 60 days after confirmation of the assessment roll.

Formerly, there was no time limit for persons filing suit in tax cases and this often delayed the sale of bond issues, according to Southfield officials.

Under the charter change approved yesterday in Madison Heights, a person holding public office in the city must resign that post if he becomes a candidate for another elective position.

* * *

A candidate may not hold another public office in either the city or state when filing for election in Madison Heights.

* * *

The amendment also provides a method for filling vacancies on the City Council. In the event that a council candidate with the second highest total of votes in the most recent election.

Taylor Will Talk on Enforcement

County Group to Hear Prosecutor Sept. 20 at Dinner Meeting

New laws affecting matters of search, seizure and confessions will be discussed by Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor at the Sept. 20 meeting of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association.

* * *

The dinner meeting will be held at Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills, beginning at 6:45 p.m.

"Courts, prosecutors and police agencies everywhere are having difficulty with good arrests being thrown out because of the latest decisions in the fields of search, seizure and confessions," said Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, secretary of the association.

"The prosecutor's talk will clarify these laws and help to avoid the problem," BeGole said.

* * *

Police commissioners Marvin Lane of the Warren department and James Morrow of the Highland Park department also will report on the new Metropolitan Area Police Academy of Michigan.

A 5-minute film on rabies will be shown by Dr. Frank R. Bates of the Oakland County Animal Shelter.

Work Is Started on Community Hospital Annex

ALMONT — Work has been started on an annex at the rear of the Community Hospital, James W. Crary, hospital director, announced today.

Principal uses of the addition will be to store medical and food supplies, old records and X-ray films. It also will house maintenance and hospital equipment and will double as a paint shop and maintenance workshop.

Contractor Len Hudson, Allenton, estimates that the cost of the one-story, 2,880 square foot annex will be between $18,000 and $19,000.

It will be made of cement block and brick to match the present building on Van Dyke, just south of here.

Seek Agreement on Tap-In Fees

Southfield Council Unit to Meet School Board on Issue Tuesday

SOUTHFIELD — A meeting will be held Tuesday between a four-man City Council committee and school board members to try to come to some agreement on the payment of tap-in charges of the Evergreen Sanitary Interceptor Sewer.

The 4 p.m. meeting will be held at the Southfield High School, Lahser and 10 Mile Roads.

The City Council is anxious to get a committment from the school board for payment of tap-in fees for the Birney, Brace and Northbrook schools, according to Council president C. Hugh Dohany.

* * *

The Southfield Board of Education has claimed that it has no funds to make payment and has asked for the meeting to formulate an overall policy on the tap-in charges and special assessments.

Dohany said, "We must collect this money from the school board because the city needs cash to meet the annual payment to the county department of public works for its share of the cost of the Evergreen."

* * *

Southfield's next payment for its share of the project, due April 1, 1962, is $161,000.

A group of 12 civic leaders from Oakland and Macomb counties today were named to the campaign executive committee of the building fund drive for the Rochester unit of Crittenton General Hospital.

* * *

The members were announced by Campaign Chairman Howard L. McGregor Jr., president of National Twist Drill and Tool Co. of Rochester.

Named to the committee from the Rochester area were Thurley Allen, president of the Rochester Area Development Corp.; Larry Jerome, president of Jerome-Ferguson Inc.; and Dr. Edgar J. Geist Jr.

Others on the committee from Rochester are Dr. Sarah Van Hoosen Jones; Dan S. Holefca, president of Holefca & Associates, Inc.; and William A. Mitzelfeld, president of Mitzelfeld's Department Store.

Serving as treasurer of the campaign committee is Jack E. Taylor, vice president of the National Bank of Detroit. He is also from Rochester.

Mayor Robert J. Huber of Troy; Utica City Attorney George F. Roberts; and Troy City Commissioner Vincent J. McAvoy, vice president of the Avon Tube Division of Higbie Manufacturing Co., are other appointees of McGregor.

Rounding out the committee are H. Perry Holmes of Birmingham, president of H. P. Holmes, Inc., of Detroit and Lake Orion, and Loy M. Sutherland, president of Sutherland Oil Co. of Oxford.

The campaign executive committee, according to McGregor, will determine policy, assist in organization of the fun drive and coordinate all campaign efforts.

"From time to time during the campaign," stated McGregor, "we will augment and expand this initial committee with other campaign leaders who live in the new hospital service area of Eastern Oakland and Western Macomb counties."

* * *

A goal of $2,225,000 has been set for the fund drive.

McGregor, who also is vice president of the board of trustees of Crittenton General Hospital, recently donated a tract of land on the north side of Auburn Road near John R in Avon Township as a site for the proposed Rochester unit.

Greek Princess, Prince Engaged

Spaniard Is Hopeful of Mounting Throne After Franco's Death

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The royal palace today announced the engagement of Princess Sophia of Greece to Prince Juan Carlos, son of the pretender to the Spanish throne.

★ ★ ★

The match is of more than passing importance, since the young Spaniard is perhaps the only member of Europe's unemployed royalty with a fair chance of mounting a throne.

MAY REGAIN THRONE

There is strong sentiment in Spain for restoration of the monarchy after Generalissimo Franco dies.

Franco, now 68, has discussed the question with the prince's father, Don Juan, although no firm announcement has been made. Franco opposes Don Juan as too liberal, but the prince has been trained for royal duties at Spain's military academies and the University of Madrid.

Prince Juan Carlos and his fiance, both 23, were vacationing in Switzerland with the Greek royal family when the announcement was made by Sophia's brother, Crown Prince Constantine. He met newsmen as a 101-salute was being fired from Lycabettus Hill in the center of Athens.

The only problem that palace sources say can develop, is that Juan Carlos is Roman Catholic and Sophia Greek Orthodox. They must be married in their respective churches.

SPLITTING UP — Gary Nady, former Colorado football star and new coach at Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, said he is being divorced by his bride of three months, Marilyn Van Derbur, Miss America of 1958. Walker Ups Speed Mark to 3,645 M.P.H. in X15

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Fuel pressure failure, smoke in the cabin and an inflated pressure suit don't stop test pilot Joe Walker.

He ignored them all Tuesday and piloted his X15 rocket plane to a "by guess and by gosh" world speed mark for a winged craft of 3,645 miles an hour.

He broke Air Force Maj. Bob White's record by 42 m.p.h. despite:

1. Fuel pressure failure in the X15 moments after its drop from a B52 mother ship. Walker throttled the 57,000-pound thrust engine to half power until fuel pressure was restored.

2. A cloud of smoke in the cockpit which Walker said he thought came from paint scorching in the nose.

3. Inflation of his pressure suit, explained as a test of the suit's ability to compensate for loss of cabin pressure.

4. Air friction that shot the fuel temperature to almost 900 degrees and set the X15's steel skin "popping like a hot stove," in Walker's words.

The flight plan called for a 3,700 m.p.h. burst to 120,000 feet, then a dive back into the earth's thicker atmosphere to test the craft's ability to withstand re-entry heat and stress.

Walker soared to 112,000 feet, but cut the flight from a scheduled 12 minutes to nine.

On subsequent missions the rocket plane is expected to be scheduled for speeds up to 4,000 m.p.h and heights up to 250,000 feet.

Polar Bear Escapes Death for 2 Killings

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ivan, a 900-pound polar bear who rates as the Griffith Park Zoo's No. 1 heel for killing his mate and a smaller male, will spend the rest of his life in solitary confinement.

★ ★ ★

Ivan escaped the death penalty because zoo officials figured he was "too valuable an animal to be destroyed."

"Polar bears are naturally mean, so why destroy one that just follows his instincts?" said Superintendent Dr. W. A. Young.

Censure Vote Is Urged Against French Premier

PARIS (AP) — The Socialist Party Tuesday submitted a vote of censure against Premier Michel Debre in the National Assembly.

Four of the other persons arrested were jailed and two were charged with attempted burglary. Two 13-year-old youths were arrested by National Guardsmen at a gift shop.

Strike Closes Plant; Owner Closes Firm

HILLSDALE (AP)—Allied Products Corp., whose plant No. 3 has been shut down since Aug. 30 because of a strike, said Tuesday it is closing the plant permanently and terminating all hourly rated employment there.

The closing of the plant where precision parts were made, was announced by L. E. Coulter, president of the Detroit firm.

United Auto Workers Local 701 struck the plant in a dispute over seniority rights, charging the company with unfair labor practices. The Union also claimed the firm wanted workers to take a pay cut to meet competition.

The plant employed about 200 workers.

Says Russian Must Ask Himself Big Question

Nixon Feels K, Reds Won't Risk Fight

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, 1960 Republican presidential nominee, says Soviet Premier Khrushchev must ask himself, before taking any action which would precipitate war, "Am I willing to trade Berlin for Moscow?"

In an address to the American Legion's 43rd convention Tuesday night, Nixon predicted there will be no war over Berlin or other places "if Khrushchev and the Communists have to take the initiative" in starting it.

* * *

Nixon said Khrushchev is motivated entirely by self-interest. He said the Soviet premier knows the destructive power of the very weapons he rattles in our faces" and knows he would face retaliatory blows.

Nixon called for the United States to take a firm position when dealing with the Communists over territory.

TO MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT

Shortly after his arrival, Nixon told newsmen he will announce in the Los Angeles area within "10 days or two weeks" whether he will seek the Republican nomination for governor of California. He also said former Gov. Goodwin Knight did not consult him before announcing as a candidate for the nomination.

Tonight Nixon will address a Colorado Republican rally, which state leaders call the kickoff of their 1962 campaign. The occasion will be a $10 per person box supper at the University of Denver Arena.

* * *

Nixon said his decision on whether to seek the Republican nomination for governor of California will be made "without regard to decisions of others."

"The entry of Knight, as well as two or three other candidates, indicates the Republican primary will be 'an open race and no deals,'" Nixon said.

"When I do make the announcement, Nixon said, "it will not be an announcement to get out of public life—it will be an announcement to remain in public life in some capacity or another.

"Certainly the policy of strength and firmness which President Kennedy has adopted is the only policy that can save freedom and keep the peace at the same time in Berlin," Nixon said.

VFW Chief Opposes Moving Dependents

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars says "a reliable source in Washington" has told him President Kennedy is considering calling home the dependents of military men overseas.

In a statement issued Tuesday by VFW headquarters here, Cmdr. Robert E. Jansen said such action could lead to war.

Hansen said Kennedy is motivated by the Berlin crisis.

"Such a move could indicate to Russia that we are starting preparations for an all-out war. In other words, a miscalculation in this area could actually lead to war," he said.

GETTING READY FOR PLAQUE—Volunteer painters swarm over the birthplace of President Kennedy in Brookline, Mass., to paint the exterior with two coats of paint before the day's end. The modest frame house at 83 Beale St., where the President was born on May 29, 1917 and spent his early childhood, attracted the attention of several civic and business groups when the paint began to show signs of age. The whirlwind activity will be topped off with the placing of a plaque on the house to identify it for future visitors. The house is now occupied by Mrs. Louis Polack.

Former Governor Dies

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—Former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, 70, the onli Missouri governor to serve two full terms, died Tuesday at his home. He was governor from 1944-1948 and again from 1952-1956.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Carla knocked nearly 100,000 telephones out of service, a Bell Telephone Co. spokesman said. Half of them were at Houston.

He said there was no dollar damage estimate yet "but it was terrific."

The company expects to have all Houston service restored by Thursday and its own equipment cleaned up and repaired in the Gulf Coast area by Sunday night.

A special task force of 5,400 company repairmen from five states was sent into the storm area.

Ex.-Sen. Green, 93, Resting in Hospital

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 93, was described as fairly comfortable at Jane Brown Hospital today although a spokesman said his condition remains critical.

Green is suffering from a heart block discovered Friday when he entered the hospital for a check.

The former senator received a bouquet from President Kennedy and relayed word through his secretary, Edward J. Higgins, that he was highly pleased.

Records No. 20 Over Athletics With 5-Hitter

Two - Run 8th Inning Triggers 3 - 1 Victory at Tiger Stadium

DETROIT (UPI)—So who needs Luis Arroyo around to become a 20-game winner? Certainly not the Detroit Tigers' Frank Lary.

Lary, as quick with a laugh as he is with getting the ball over the plate, just chuckled—saying nothing—when Arroyo was mentioned after he finally made it into the 20-victory bracket last night.

The 30-year-old Tiger righthander joined the New York Yankees' Whitey Ford as the Major League's only 20-game winners. But Lary has turned in 20 complete games—tops in the Majors. Ford has had Arroyo finish 12 of his 23 triumphs.

It took Lary four tries before he finally got elusive victory No. 20, a 3-1 verdict over the Kansas City Athletics. Afterward Lary disclosed the sore-arm that started bothering him in July still hurts.

"My elbow is still giving me a little bit of trouble," Lary said. "I didn't have very good stuff in my last three games. And I haven't been throwing as hard as at the start of the season."

"This time a good sinker helped me. I threw a lot of fast balls and sinkers too. But with my arm the way it is I couldn't throw too many curves."

* * *

Lary said his secret of becoming a 20-game winner for the second time in his seven seasons with the Tigers was control. He didn't walk a Kansas City batter and yielded only five hits.

"His control was great, just about perfect," said Dick Brown, who caught Lary and hit a fifth-inning home run that tied the score 1-1.

Lary probably will get five more starts before the Tigers finish the season.

"I'd like to get as many as I can," he said. "I want to help the club finish second anyway."

His victory marked the return home of the Tigers from their ruinous 10-game road trip. They won only once on the road, and fell out of pennant contention and almost out of second place. Lary's victory increased the Tigers' lead over third-place Baltimore, idle last night, to 2½ games.

It was quite a day too for manager Bob Scheffing. He was rewarded with a new contract, receiving a raise to manage the Tigers through 1963. President John E. Fetzer surprised Scheffing with the new two-year pact, tearing up the contract through 1962, which was signed last November.

"First that, then my first 20-game winner as a manager," said Scheffing. "I never had anybody win more than 16 in my three years as manager of the Chicago Cubs."

Lary was locked in a tough pitchers' duel with Jerry Walker before the Tigers helped him to victory with two runs in the eighth. Deron Johnson's homer in the fourth got the A's ahead 1-0 before Brown's homer tied it in the fifth.

Billy Bruton led off the eighth with a liner to right that skipped past rookie Frank Cipiani for a triple. Bruton came in on Norm Cash's long fly to center. Then singles by Dick McAulliffe and Steve Boros brought in Rocky Colavito, who had walked.

McAuliffe had three of the Tigers' 11 hits off Walker.

Criticizes Umpire's Decision on Strikes

Maris Claiming 'Foul' Calls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's been a claim of foul in that home run race that's heading into the homestretch. Roger Maris holds a three-length lead trying to match Babe Ruth's course record and Mickey Mantle is losing ground to his team mates' steady gait.

Maris, the leader with 56 home runs, angrily criticized plate umpire Hank Soar Tuesday night after the American League-leading New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in a rain-shortened contest that cost Maris and Mantle at least one at-bat apiece.

Reduced to a three-game edge over Ruth's record 60 homer pace of 1927, Maris cited Soar for what he called "poor balls and strikes calls,

"I didn't get too many strikes," complained the Yankee slugger, "yet they were being called strikes. I was swinging in self defense."

Both Maris, who now needs four homers in the next nine decisions to tie the Bambino's mark in the allowed time of 154 games and Mantle were held homerless by Billy Pierce and Frank Baumann, but each had a single before the game was called in the last of the sixth.

The triumph kept the Yankees 11½ games of the Detroit Tigers, but lowered their magic number to seven. Any combination of seven wins or Detroit losses will bring New York its 11th pennant in the last 13 years and the first for rookie manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers kept pace by beating Kansas City 3-1 for Frank Lary's 20th victory, and Washington beat Boston 5-1 on Pete Burnside's three-hitter. The Los Angeles-Minnesota twi-night doubleheader was postponed. Baltimore and Cleveland were not scheduled.

Maris and Mantle were instrumental in the Yankees 13th consecutive triumph with Maris wheeling home with the winning run in the fifth on Elston's Howard single. He opened with a single and moved up on Mantle's base hit. Maris, who went to the plate four times, also walked in the first and scored, while Mantle struck out and flied deep to center in his other at-bats.

Ralph Terry (14-2) won it for the Yanks although tagged for eight hits—one the game's only homer by Luis Aparicio. Roy Sievers' single in the third drove in two unearned runs, but Terry needed the rain to end a delicate situation.

Al Smith began the final inning with a double to left center and Nellie Fox moved him to third with a sacrifice. The Yanks pulled the infield in and held Smith at third, while Jim Landis grounded out before the rains came.

Pierce (9-9), who lasted only the first inning, was charged with the loss, his third without a win against New York this season. Terry is 3-0 against the White Sox.

Burnside's second complete game in his last three starts brought his record to 2-8. Bill Monbouquette (12-13) lost.

AP Photofax

WHO'S ON FIRST? EVERYBODY—This crowded situation at first base in last night's Yankee-White Sox game at Chicago came about when Bobby Richardson of the Yanks knocked down Floyd Robinson's hard smash and Chicago's Luis Aparicio, who was on first, stayed there. Richardson tossed to Bill Skowron (14), who tagged Aparicio, and Robinson was safe at first. Arguing the call are Yankee manager Ralph Houk (35) and White Sox coach Don Gutteridge (39). The umpires are Bill McKinley and Nestor Chylak (in back of McKinley). Play was ruled a fielder's choice.

Skippers Spoil Athletic Debut by New School

Kettering officially entered the realm of high school athletics Tuesday, but the new Waterford school came out second best.

The Captains lost a 26-31 cross country decision to township rival Waterford High on the Skippers' two-mile course. It was Kettering's first athletic competition in any form.

Kettering gained some of the glory as John Popovich finished first in 11:57. Jerry Boeneman of the Captains was second, Waterford runners made up the deficit by taking the next four places.

They were, in order, Dick Toles, Bob Roberts, Dick Ballingall and Bob Taylor. Larry Starkey, Kettering, was seventh; Don Webster, Waterford, eighth; Chuck Reinhardt, Kettering, ninth; and Dan Hutchinson, Waterford, 10th.

Job Security for Scheffing

DETROIT (AP) — Job security is the Detroit Tigers' new method of handling managers.

Bob Scheffing, the Tigers' ninth pilot in 10 years, yesterday was rewarded with a new contract stretching through the 1963 season.

President John E. Fetzer called Scheffing into his office when the manager arrived at Tiger Stadium and tore up his current contract calling for $35,000 a year.

"I was completely surprised by it," said Scheffing. "I didn't even wear a tie and jacket to the Park. In fact, I didn't even know Mr. Fetzer was in town.

The Tigers will pay Scheffing an estimated $40,000 to $45,000 for the next two seasons.

The boost in pay was a reward for the fine showing of the Tigers in Scheffing's first season.

NO. 20 FOR LARY—Detroit Tiger pitcher Frank Lary flashes a smile as he paints number 20 on mirror in dressing room after pitching his 20th win of the season last night, a 3-1 triumph over the Kansas City A's at Tiger Stadium. It was the 4th bid for No. 20 by Lary, who has lost 9.

'Unwanted' Is Hero in Redlegs 7-2 Win

By the Associated Press

It had been a dreary season for Darrell Johnson, who started out as a coach for the St. Louis Cardinals, was fired along with Manager Solly Hemus, hooked on with the woeful Philadelphia Phils, then was unceremoniously sold to Cincinnati.

* * *

But now Johnson's a hero for the National League-leading Reds, who beat the Chicago Cubs 7-2 Tuesday night. The reserve catcher drove in three runs with a pair of doubles in a victory that boosted the Reds edge over second-place Los Angeles to 4½ games.

Johnson, a 34-year-old with a .233 major league batting average at the start of the season, has been hitting at a .275 clip since he was purchased by the Reds, but his exploits had to share top billing with Don Demeter.

Demeter of the Phils crashed three homers and a single, driving in seven runs in a 19-10 rout of the pennant-chasing Dodgers. Joe Gibbon's three-hitter for Pittsburgh blanked San Francisco 3-0 and a five-hitter by St. Louis' Bob Gibson checked Milwaukee 4-1.

* * *

Johnson and Wally Post formed a formidable 1-2 punch for the Reds against starter Dick Ellsworth (8-11) and his successors as Cincinnati beat its No. 1 nemesis for only the ninth time in 21 meetings between the clubs. Post hit his 19th homer in the fourth and drove in the clincher for Jim O'Toole (15-9) with a sixth inning single that scored Elio Chacon.

O'Toole allowed a single tally in the sixth on George Altman's single and Andre Rogers' double, and another in the seventh on a walk and single by Don Zimmer and Ernie Banks.

In a game that had nine homers—five by the Phils—29 hits and the most runs scored against the Dodgers since they moved to Los Angeles in 1958, Demeter's performance was easily the standout. The former Dodger hit a two-run homer in the first, drove in a run with a single in a nine-run second, homered with two on in the seventh and hit a solo shot in the ninth.

* * *

That nine-run second inning won it for the Phils, who trailed 4-2 at the point, and chased starter Sandy Koufax (15-11). Chris Short (6-10) picked up the victory in relief.

Charlie Smith, another former Dodger and Ruben Amaro also homered for the Phils while Wally Moon, Gordon Windhorn, Frank Howard and Charlie Neal connected for Los Angeles.

Dick Stuart homered twice, driving in all Pittsburgh's runs off Mike McCormick (12-15) as Gibbon (11-10) snapped the Giants' four-game winning streak.

* * *

Run-producing singles by Charlie James and Don Taussig and an error won it for Gibson (11-11) as the Cards chased loser Bob Hendley with three runs in the seventh. Eddie Mathews hit his 27th homer for the Braves.

Toledo Clips Pepsi in ABC Tournament

BATTLE CREEK (UPI) — Only Toledo remained unbeaten as the Great Lakes Regional American Amateur Baseball Congress tournament swung into semi-final action here.

The Ohio nine rolled to its third straight victory last night by defeating previously undefeated Detroit Pepsi, 7-4.

A twi-night doubleheader tonight sends the four surviving clubs into action with the possibility that the finalists will emerge.

Riverton, Ill., (2-1) will meet Toledo in the first game while Detroit (2-1) and Dearborn (2-1) will battle in the nightcap. A Toledo victory would decide the finalists in the double elimination scramble.

ROME—Italy—Antonio Paiva, 127½, Brazil, stopped Mario Calandra, 127½, Italy, 7.

"The Four L's" in Defensive Backfield

Lions' Defense Could Be Best Ever

The Detroit Lions relied on a rock-ribbed defense for three world championships and a divisional title in the last decade. And now their current defensive unit could be their best ever.

As usual, Joe Schmidt is king of the Lions' defense. He masterminds the defense on the field, doing its signal calling and much of its tackling. Off the field he does its talking.

"This defensive unit is one of the best Detroit has ever had," said the Lions' defensive captain. "We'll probably field one of the best defensive teams in the National Football League.

"We're all big fellows — and that helps."

* * *

Coach George Wilson will field an all-veteran defensive eleven when the Lions meet the Green Bay packers in the NFL opener Sunday at Milwaukee.

Bill Glass, Darris McCord, Alex Karras and Roger Brown make up a forward wall that averages 262½ pounds.

Dick Lebeau and Gary Lowe are the defensive halfbacks and Dick (Night Train) Lane and Yale Lary the safetymen.

"The 4 L's — as we call them — are great in the backfield," said Schmidt. "They remind me of our Chris' Crew when we were winning championships."

Chris' Crew, named after Jack Christiansen, was the best defensive backfield in the league in the Lions world championship seasons of 1952, 1953 and 1957.

The defense just about matched the offense in scoring in the Lions' five exhibitions. Three of the five Detroit touchdowns in the final exhibition were scored by defensive players capitalizing on errors by the Cleveland offense.

"What I like specially," Wilson said, "is the bench strength. We can afford to have defensive players like Gil Mains and Bruce Maher sitting on the bench."

And as Vince Lombardi, coach of the Western Division champion Packers, said:

"Defense has always told the story."

NFL Squads Trimmed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All 14 teams of the National Football League were down to the legal limit of 36 players—42 in the case of the new Minnesota Vikings—today as a result of a last-minute flurry of action.

* * *

In addition, there was one major trade Tuesday in which the St. Louis Cardinals acquired quarterback Ralph Guglielmi from the Washington Redskins in exchange for George Izo.

Under NFL rules, a team is permitted to either release outright or ask waivers on a player in order to reach the cutdown limit. If another club claims a player after 48 hours on waivers, his name is permitted to be withdrawn. If his club decides to keep him, another player must be released.

* * *

DETROIT — Quarterback Warren Rabb, tackle Errol Linden, released.

DALLAS —Fullback Walt Kowalczyk, released.

LOS ANGELES — Guard Bruce Tarbox, tackle Willie Hector, Shaw halfback Don Ellerrick, quarterback Buddy Humphrey, fullback Frank Williams, waivers. Also signed defensive halfback Ross Coyle from Calgary (Canadian Football League) waiver list and defensive tackle John Kenerson, released by Army.

NEW YORK — Halfback Jim Podoley, defensive halfback Lee Riley, waivers.

MINNESOTA — Fullback Glen defensive back Justin Rowland, defensive back John Turpin, defensive back Fred Glick, linebacker Jerry Stalcup, tackle Dale Rems, end Ken Beck, released. Also acquired defensive end Jim Marshall and defensive halfback Billy Gault from Cleveland, completing earlier six-player deal.

BALTIMORE — Offensive tackle Sherman Plunkett, linebacker Dick Campbell, waivers.

GREEN BAY—Defensive end Jim Terp, retired; quarterback Val Keckin, waivers.

PHILADELPHIA — Linebacker Terry Nofsinger, linebacker Wilbert Scott, released. Also obtained offensive guard Charles Bradshaw from Los Angeles, defensive back John Sample from Baltimore and offensive end Steve future draft choices.

Duffy Works on Timing, Bump Plans Reshuffling

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Head coach Duffy Daugherty put his Michigan State football team through two scrimmages Tuesday but was still concerned about "timing."

"We've had some good individual performances so far but our team effort has been ragged," the Spartan mentor said.

Two Spartan regulars—tackle Jim Bobbitt and center Dave Manders—were expected back for today's session after being idled a week with leg injuries.

But three others Daugherty is counting on for heavy duty are still sidelined with leg injuries. They are captain and defensive specialist Rocky Ryan, left halfback Carl Charon and right end Jeff Abrecht.

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Registration will cut into Wednesday's University of Michigan football practice but coach Bump Elliott said he hoped to work in double drills Thursday and Friday.

Elliott and his staff were still studying movies of the Wolverines' first game-type scrimmage Saturday which the Michigan mentor termed "disappointing."

"We'll study movies of the workout some more and compare notes a bit more, too," he said. "It looks to me like we have to do some reshuffling on our line."

New MSU Team Lightest Yet: 21-Pound Line

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's lightest football eleven figures out to weigh about a 21-pound average from end to end.

The eleven—six boys and five girls—is made up of children of eight members of the varsity squad.

Most recent to become a father is senior fullback Ron Hatcher of Carnegie, Pa., with a 6-week-old son. Other footballers with sons are senior halfbacks Bob Suci of Grand Blanc and Wayne Fontes of Canton, Ohio, and junior guard Ed Budde of Detroit.

Defensive back and team captain, Ed Ryan of Detroit, guard Tony Kumlega of Chicopee, Mass., and end Dick Oxendine of Aliquippa, Pa., all seniors, have daughters.

Two of the 10 married players—senior end Art Brandstatter of East Lansing and junior tackle Jim Bobbitt of Buchanan—are not yet fathers.

Pistons Complete Exhibition Schedule

The National Basketball Association rivals will clash at Niles on Oct. 16 and at Goshen on Oct. 18.

The nine-game Piston exhibition slate:

Coach Expected to Move Up

Report Dykes Out of Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Jimmie Dykes will not be retained as manager of the Cleveland Indians, The Associated Press learned today.

* * *

One of the current Cleveland coaches, Mel McGaha, is expected to become manager for 1962 with Dykes shifting to a National League club as a coach. Dykes had coached in recent years at both Cincinnati and Pittsburgh in the NL.

* * *

"I don't know anything about it," Dykes said in Cleveland. "I haven't heard that my job was in jeopardy from Gabe Paul."

Paul, the Indians' general manager, would neither confirm nor deny the information. "I won't comment on his (Dykes) future with the club," he said.

"Paul makes the decisions on this club," said Nate Dolan, vice president of the Indians. "Dykes is still our manager and will be until the end of the season, when his contract expires."

* * *

McGaha, who joined the Indians' coaching staff this season after leading the Toronto Maple Leafs to the 1960 International League pennant, was unavailable for comment.

It's Mrs. Overby in WDGA Event at Pine Lake

Sparked by birdies on the 11th and 17th holes, Mrs. Bruce Overby of Indianwood carded 43-39—82 Tuesday at Pine Lake Country Club to win the weekly Women's District Golf Association tournament.

* * *

Mrs. Overby, who scored an ace in the May 23 tourney at Washtenaw C.C., finished one stroke ahead of Mrs. S. E. (Sue) Gawne of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Neal Waldrop of Detroit Golf Club. Mrs. Gawne and Mrs. Waldrop each shot 41-42—83.

It was the first victory of the season for Mrs. Overby, who was playing in only her 6th event.

Bengals Take Back Seat to Football

Non-Loop Tilts Highlight Play for Area Teams

PCH Travels to Flint, Northern Is at Orion for Openers

It looked for a while as though football schedule makers had erred in making Sept. 15 opening day for Michigan high school teams.

The Detroit Tigers meet the New York Yankees in a twi-night doubleheader Friday in Tiger Stadium. This was to be a crucial series in the American League pennant race. Tickets were at a premium.

* * *

The Yanks have taken care of the pennant chase in the last week, so state high school teams can expect the usual good turnouts for opening night.

A top contest in the Pontiac area will send Kettering's new team against township rival Waterford High. Pontiac Central followers will either journey to Flint for the Chiefs' Saginaw Valley game against Central of that city or keep a close watch for the outcome.

Pontiac Northern travels the short distance to Lake Orion.

With the big schools out of town, St. Michael will take over Wisner Stadium against West Bloomfield. Bloomfield Hills triggers the season with an afternoon contest against Oak Park on the Barons' field.

There will be a big game in Birmingham. Groves travel to the Seaholm field for what could prove to be a close tussle.

ROCHESTER PLAYS

Rochester's Falcons are looking for a tense home field game with Utica. Avondale travels to Milford, Clarkston is at Oxford and Holly meets Grand Blanc on the Bobcats' gridiron.

Walled Lake goes to Redford Union, Farmington hits the road for Edsel Ford and Southfield entertains Royal Oak Kimball in other action.

The opening non-conference battles will give coaches and fans an indication of how their teams will do in coming league encounters.

Walled Lake is a shaky favorite in the Inter-Lakes League. The Vikings lost several key players and the Redford contest should point out how well Dave Smith's charges are going to respond.

* * *

Pontiac Northern's I-L hopes are based on a line of unknown quality. Lake Orion's big forward wall should answer part of this question. The Huskies have plenty of speed and power in the backfield.

Art Paddy's West Bloomfield Lakers might be in for a surprise when they clash with rebounding St. Michael. Ten starters are gone from the West Bloomfield team that went unbeaten last fall.

Rochester's Falcons could be walking into an ambush against Utica. The Chieftains have experience and depth while Rochester is rebuilding in the backfield.

Carl Pendracki feels this could be the year Groves reaches the football heights. Seaholm gridders have their hands full trying to disprove this claim.

BIG TEST

Avondale should get a major test at Milford. The Redskins appear to go on the warpath after two poor seasons.

Quarterback Mike Applegate and his Clarkston teammates are favored to take Oxford. But Walt Braun's Wildcats could pull a few surprises.

Ernie Maule gets his baptism as Romeo coach when the Bulldogs go to Richmond. Richmond clipped Romeo in the '60 opener, and it doesn't look much better for the Bulldogs this time.

Emmanuel Christian will open its season Saturday night at Wisner Stadium against Lansing Boys Vocational. Cranbrook is idle until Sept. 23.

* * *

The parochial schools join PCH in getting into conference action in the first game. But these schools will wait until Sunday.

Suburban Catholic action will have St. Frederick entertaining Royal Oak St. Mary and Waterford Our Lady will make its loop debut at home against Orchard Lake St. Mary.

ON WAY TO UPSET—Billy Joe Patton, the Morganton, N.C., lumberman, chips to the 16th green from amid trees at Pebble Beach, Calif., Tuesday en route to a 2-up victory over defending National Amateur champion Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md. Patton's shot stopped two feet from the cup.

Defending Champ Out of National

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Three former champs and an Irish belter kept the United States Amateur Golf Championship from being completely wide open today in play that will see only 36 survivors by nightfall.

Defending champion Deane Beman fell Tuesday before veteran Billy Joe Patton, but ex-titlists Harvie Ward Jr., Charlie Coe and Jack Nicklaus all whipped through the second round.

So did three-time British champion Joe Carr of Ireland, a witty fellow who laced a couple of drives about 300 yards while overwhelming Claude Wright of Englewood, Colo., 6 and 5. Not in 29 years has a foreigner won the U.S. Amateur title.

* * *

Exacting conditions of play over the 6,747-yard Pebble Beach course, with small greens, and weather conditions that vary almost hourly, give the advantage to the experienced golfer. Seldom has an unknown captured a major tournament here.

Even the dark horses were golfers with experience — Bob Gardner of Elmsford, N.Y., two-time former California champ and last year runner-up in the National to Beman and ex-pro Glen Fowler of Oklahoma City, both sub-par shooters the past two days.

The 39-year-old Patton, grim Tuesday where usually he's happy-go-lucky, ousted Beman 2-up. The 1960 champ missed six putts of eight feet or less as his usually reliable putter failed.

* * *

Ward was 2 under par in dispatching Harlan Lane of Houston, 7 and 5, to put him against Dudley Wysong Jr., of McKinney, Tex., today. Wysog beat Andy Gard of Wayland, Mass., 2-up, after Gard staged one of the few first round upsets by eliminating ex-Walker Cup star Bill Campbell.

Oklahoma City's Coe, titlist in 1949 and 1958, saw his first action with a 5 and 4 triumph over John Nichols of Downey, Calif. Nicklaus, even after nine, rallied to win the next three holes against Oregon champ Donald Krieger of Portland and go on to a 4 and 3 triumph. The big blond from Ohio State drew Bill Edwards of Garden City, N.Y., today. Edwards advanced with a 2 and 1 triumph over Dick Giddings of Modesto, Calif.

* * *

Congressman Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., National champion in 1952, went to the sidelines with Beman as collegian Frank James of Grinnell, Iowa, beat him 6 and 4.

* * *

Veteran Tom Draper of Birmingham and C. A. Smith III of Jackson won their opening matches Tuesday. Draper defeated Dave Bohannan of San Mateo, Calif., 2-1. Smith eliminated Dick Lotz of San Lorenzo, Calif., 3-2.

Royal Oak's Chuck Kocsis, a national finalist in 1956, lost to Tony Clecak of Woodland, Calif., 3-1. Pete Green of Orchard Lake was ousted by Gene Francis of East Williston, N. Y., 2-1.

Pitt Favored Over Miami in Saturday's TV Game

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Punts or putts? Touchdowns or tee shots? Halfbacks or hooks? Picking this hear's first football winners at the scene of the National Amateur Golf Tournament.

* * *

Pittsburgh over Miami: Your first TV dish of the season. The visiting easterners are proud of their line, bulwarked by Kaltenbach and Vignall.

Iowa State over Drake: Once this one was the climax of the year for both clubs, now it is the opener with Big Eight Cyclones the heavy favorites because of their dedication.

West Virginia over Richmond: The Mountaineers are on their way back with Holdinsky and Colvard leading the way.

* * *

San Jose over Brigham Young: If you can't run the hundred in 10 seconds flat, there's no need for you to try out for the San Jose backfield.

Virginia Tech over William & Mary: Tech is the favorite for the Southern Conference title but William & Mary has a batch of newcomers who could be tough.

Tulsa over Hardin-Simmons: White and Escandon make Tulsa the best in the abbreviated Missouri Valley Conference.

* * *

Florida State over George Washington: The new regime at George Washington gets off on the wrong foot. This could be the year Florida State reaches it much desired big-time rating.

* * *

South: Virginia Military over Marshal, Memphis State over The Citadel; Furman over Presbyterian, Catawba over Davidson.

Midwest: Cincinnati over Dayton; Miami over Villanova; Wichita over Toledo.

West: New Mexico State over Arizona State of Flagstaff; Utah State over Texas Western; Utah over Colorado State University.

One Record in Fish Contest

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

Fishing has been slightly less than average in Oakland County this summer.

But the winning fish in the 1961 Pontiac Press big fish contest are well above the average size taken from area waters. Following are the winners.

NORTHERN PIKE—A 13-pound, 14-ounce fish caught by Jack Visgatis of Drayton Woods.

BLACK BASS — A 6¼-pound largemouth taken by Dennis Shearer, Union Lake Village.

BLUEGILL — A one pound, two-ounce fish caught by Frank Dennis of Pontiac.

RAINBOW TROUT — A 3¼-pounder landed by John Adams of Clarkston.

Adams' rainbow gained two distinctions. It will go into the record book because this was the first year for rainbows in the the contest. The trout also held first place longer than any other 1961 winners.

He took the fish the last Saturday in April, opening day of Michigan's trout season, while casting a nightcrawler into Schoolhouse Lake from shore. He hooked the rainbow at 5 a.m.

Visgatis and young Shearer will receive $50 savings bond each for their prize catches. Bonds of $25 each will be awarded to Adams and Dennis.

GOOD BAIT

Suckers produced the two largest pike entered in the contest. Visgatis caught his about 9 a.m. on Aug. 2 while fishing near the Deer Lake public swimming beach.

Dennis Sheater was casting at night with a jitterbug surface lure when he connected with his big bass. The fish was boated just before midnight on July 19.

Oakland County is noted for its black bass fishing, and this summer was no exception. Although many of the bass taken were on the small side, those entered in The Press contest were all "bragging size." The bass division had the largest entry.

SHORT OF RECORD

Dennis' bluegill caught June 11 in Lake Angelus, placed well in weight among past winners of this division. However, it failed to come close to the record two-pound, two-ounce bluegill caught by Johnny Janczarek of Pontiac while fishing Schoolhouse Lake in 1944.

Other records are a 15-pound, 14½-ounce northern pike taken in 1956 from Cemetery Lake by Jack Wilds of Clarkston. The record black bass is a largemouth a half ounce shy of eight pounds caught in 1957 by Andy Simka of Pontiac in Big Fish Lake.

* * *

Bluegills failed to bite consistently this summer. Pike started well, but tapered off to almost nothing. Norhterns should start hitting any time now.

From the middle of September to late in October is the best time to fish for pike and bass.

TOP RAINBOW — This 3¼-pound rainbow trout held the lead from opening day. It is held by John Adams, Clarkston, who took the rainbow from Schoolhouse Lake.

New Hunting Crusade Planned by Hat Group

By ART UNDERWOOD
By United Press International

Hunting season is almost with us once again and the pre-season activities are begining to make themselves felt.

* * *

The Izaak Walton League of America, for the fifth year, has announced it's hat campaign, that's hunt America time.

In connection with the campaign, which is a hunter education program aimed at improving the always-weak hunter-farmer relationship, the league uses a two-pronged motto: save public hunting and respect personal property.

On point one a crusade such as the hat campaign may very well be needed in this age of suburban growth and creeping fences.

On point two it is difficult to undetrstand why it should be necessary to campaign. Not that it isn't necessary, but why should it be.

Respect for the property of others should be a fundamental part of everyone's moral make-up. Bandits and robbers, of course, are outlaws because they don't have such respect but most hunters aren't normally professional thieves.

Somehow when they get in the field, however, many hunters are instantly infected with a virus which produces brigandism in its worst manifestations.

The hat campaigners cite gates left open, indiscriminate shooting at anything alive, and in some cases such things as houses, and related damage.

How about the Michigan pheasant hunters who broke into a farmhouse (the farm family was not home) in the Thumb area. The excuse was they were thirsty and wanted a drink.

* * *

The old joke about the farmer painting "cow" and "horse" on his livestock probably wasn't very funny to the Montcalm County farmer who heard what he thought was the outbreak of war in his farmyard and went out to find two hunters leaning against a fence calmly shooting his chickens, one by one, from a distance of about 30 feet.

First reports of such activities have already begun trickling in this year although no regular game seasons are open as yet. Deer poaching began picking up last week in northern Lower Michigan according to the conservation department.

Pointing Breeds Take to Field This Weekend

The average dog owner who has always wanted to see what his dog could do in a field trial will get the chance this weekend.

* * *

The Detroit Sportsmen's Congress will stage its annual Novice Field trial for pointing breeds Saturday and Sunday at the old Ferry seed farm at John R and Auburn Roads.

Over 200 dogs are expected to be at the farm when the trial gets under way Saturday at 7 a.m. Sixteen of the dogs will be called back for the final competition Sunday.

The trials are open to novice pointing breed dogs only. Handlers are required to be novice, also. Novice dogs and handlers are those who have not placed in a sanctioned field trial. Full color pheasants will be used in each race.

An additional feature will be the Ladies' Powder Puff Derby Sunday at 2 p.m.

'Fishing Fantastico' Ready for Release

First prints of a new South American adventure film called "Fishing Fantastico" were put into circulation today by the General Motors Film Library.

The 27-minute, 16 mm. color movie chronicles the six-week fishing odyssey of Ben Hardesty, champion angler and accuracy caster, through Chile and Argentina.

It is co-sponsored by Shakespeare Co. and GMC Truck & Coach Division of General Motors in cooperation with Panagra Airlines.

Prints are made available on a free, loan basis. They may be borrowed by writing to General Motors Corp., Public Relations Staff — Film Library, General Motors Building, Detroit 2, Mich.

Hunters Must Get Permits

Williamston Plans Gains

LANSING (UPI)—The Williamston plan, a cooperative agreement designed to protect the rights and interests of both land-owners and hunters, is expected to draw slightly more members this year than the 2,000 farmers who participated in 1960.

* * *

The Williamston plan started in 1929 based on a research project of improving habitat and hunter-farmer relations at the University of Michigan. It took its name from the first use of the cooperative plan in Williamston Township of Ingham County.

In recent years 40 to 50 farmer clubs have participated in the plan, Stuewer said, but indications this year were that the number would increase.

Most participants are in the southern third of the Lower Peninsula where farmers want to control the hunting use of their land during the small game season which opens Oct. 20. Stuewer said at least two clubs in Northern Michigan were expected to join this year and post their land during the deer season.

GIVEN TICKETS

Farmer groups which enroll in the plan are given signs and daily tickets for each member. The farmers, in turn, post the signs indicating they participate in the plan and allow hunting on their land by permit only.

The tickets are given daily to hunters who request them and the farmer controls the number of hunters he allows on his land each day.

"This gives the farmers who have problems with trespassing hunters the opportunity to control the use of their land." Stuewer said. "And it seems to work to the advantage of the hunters as well.

"Each likes to have his rights respected and the conscientious hunter is more than willing to leave his car 'in hock' in the farmer's yard while he uses the property for the day."

NAMES NOT TAKEN

The plan makes no provision for the farmer keeping a record of hunters who take the daily permits, Stuewer said.

"Some of them may make a note of the hunter's license plate or name, but as far as we know most don't feel it is necessary," he said. "The daily tickets seem to give the hunters a sense of responsibility for the land they are using."

Many of the farmer groups enrolled in the plan each year were farmer after property owners suffered damage at the hands of careless hunters, Stuewer said.

"If we hear of farmers having their land damaged we let them know about the plan and how it has worked in other areas," he said.

* * *

Joining the Williamston plan and gaining control over the number of hunters they allow on their land provides an alternative to posting "no trespassing" signs on the property.

Anglers Spend Money

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The government reported today that 50 million Americans went hunting or fishing in 1960 and spent nearly $4 million doing so.

Coon Wins Bout With Fireman in Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — In the first city coon hunt in Kalamazoo in years yesterday, the coon won.

The losers were the police and fire departments, the Humane Society and the dog warden — although in fairness to them it must be reported they didn't use the traditional firearms against brer coon.

Police got a call about 2 p.m. Sunday that a raccoon was in a tree at Reed and High Streets. The fire department responded with an aerial ladder, but the higher the ladder went, the higher the coon climbed.

Finally, fire capt. John Kakabweeke declared he wasn't going to endanger any firemen in the treetop to capture the raccoon. He had called the Humane Society which reported it didn't have a net for Coon captures, and the dog warden couldn't be reached.

Capt. Kakabweeke decided he could wait for the coon to come down out of that tall elm tree.

Turkeys Change Homes

BEAVER ISLAND — Beaver Island gained some new settlers from Southern Michigan last week — six young wild turkeys air-lifted in by State Conservation Department.

The birds were live-trapped in the Swan Lake wildlife experiment station in the Allegan state forest and flown to their new home on the isolated island, off Charlevoix in Lake Michigan.

CASTALLIA, Ohio (UPI)—Trout, Unlimited, a national organization of trout fishermen, will hold its second annual meeting Saturday at Rockwell Springs Trout Club here.

RESERVE CHAMPION—Handprint's Hypster, owned by Clarence and Pauline Burmeister of Handprint Farms, Union Lake, was selected reserve champion stallion in the Appaloosa division at the Michigan State Fair. Gov. John Swainson (right) and Joe E. Kurka, chairman of the state fair commission, are shown with the horse. Hypster has won or placed high in nine of his last 10 shows. These included the Caro Fair, Dexter Trail Show, Midwestern Horse Show at Columbus, Ohio, the regional Appaloosa Show at Delaware, Ohio, and the Michigan All-Appaloosa Show in Ann Arbor.

Neighbor Saves 2 Children From Blazing Shed

Two Waterford Township children who had been playing with matches in a shed yesterday were rescued from the building after it caught fire when gasoline ignited.

Douglas Lang, 6 of 6564 Cloverton St., and Peggy Fast, 8, of 6687 Cloverton St., were in the shed back of the Fast residence when a can of gasoline caught fire in the doorway.

The children's screams attracted James Spasato who lives across the street at 6680 Cloverton St.

Neither youngster was injured but Spasato's hand was cut.

Sylvan Council Seeks Manager

City Fathers to Discuss Opening Created by Woodburn's Resigning

The naming of a new city manager in Sylvan Lake tops the agenda at tonight's Sylvan City Council meeting.

Councilmen plan to take action on the matter at the 8 o'clock meeting in the Sylvan City Hall.

Earle D. Knapp, superintendent of public works, has been filling the post since the resignation of former City Manager Marshall H. Woodburn last March.

Knapp had offered to fill both positions until a suitable replacement could be found for the city manager post.

ASKS REPLACEMENT

Last month, Knapp formally requested that the council find a replacement so he "could give full time to duties as superintendent of public works."

In other business, the council will hear a tax consultant's report on ownership and taxing of a 16-foot strip of land between Woodland and Sherwood Forest subdivisions.

Ownership of the land has been contested by residents.

Action will be taken on an ordinance to prohibit burning leaves on black-topped streets and bids will be reviewed for a new DPW pickup truck.

Death Tolls Parallel

EAST LANSING (AP)—There have been 1,032 persons killed in highway accidents in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. This was only one death ahead of the 1,031 persons killed during the same period last year.

★ ★ ★

George A. Stout will serve as general chairman of the forthcoming campaign to run through Sept. 28. Assisting him will be Dr. Leo Wasserberger, John B. Wilson, Richard Huttenlocher and Walter K. Willman, division chairmen.

Adult membership at the "Y" presently stands at 1,063.

Midshipmen Put Training to Use at Traffic Crash

MARTINEZ, Calif. (UPI) — A group of Naval ROTC midshipmen put their physical and medical training to practical use at the scene of a highway accident here.

The accident occurred when a delivery truck collided with two cars. The midshipmen, about 20 of them, were returning from a tour of Concord Naval Ammunition Depot and saw the accident.

★ ★ ★

They used their strength to lift the truck — holding it up for 10 minutes — while the driver, pinned beneath was removed. Other cadets moved two women from a burning car and applied a splint to a woman's leg.

The midshipmen were part of a summer training group attached to the carrier, Coral Sea, at Alameda.

Claims Youths Are Pleading for Discipline

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — Elizabeth McCain, Memphis Juvenile Court judge, says most young people today are pleading, "Give us discipline." In this, she says, they are little different from preceding generations.

★ ★ ★

Judge McCain was final speaker in a two-day police institute here, and said she heard juvenile offenders say time after time, "Why didn't my parents control me?"

★ ★ ★

"They are saying to you as police officers and juvenile courts," she told officials, "'care enough about us to stop us when we're doing wrong.'"

Executed Murderer Leaves Message

MACALESTER, Okla. (UPI) — Ray Allen Young was executed last year for the killing of an Oklahoma highway patrolman who had been a life-long personal friend. He left this massage scrawled on prison stationery:

★ ★ ★

"Life cannot be replaced . . .

"Make a conscientious effort to be an obedient and patriotic citizen.

"Teach others to have respect for civil officials and the state.

"This is the most effective way to prevent crime in the future.

"A just man wants to make restitution."

Jim Farley Puts In Word for Politicians

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Jim Farley, a Democrat who was postmaster general in the Roosevelt administration, was asked if he would become a politician again if he were a young man today.

"Sure," he said. "I believe everyone should be active in politics. Most persons criticize but aren't willing to do the job themselves. I've got to know most political leaders of the last 40 years, and with few exceptions, all had a good side."

3 Hurt in Blast, Fire

Riibcoff Urges Drug Controls

Says Animals Better Protected Than People; OKs Provisions of Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff said today that American men, women and children who use drugs deserve the same protection as the government already provides for hogs, sheep and cattle.

Ribicoff, head of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, made the statement in endorsing key provisions of a bill by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., to clamp stiff controls on the nation's 1200 drug producers.

Ribicoff said the food and drug administration specifically should have authority to bar from the market drugs that have not been proved effective or do not live up to advertised claims.

He said strengthened factory inspection procedures and standby authority to simplify tongue-twisting chemical names of drugs also would result in a substantial reduction in drug prices.

In a 27-page statement read to Kefauver's Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, Ribicoff said Congress passed legislation in 1913 forbidding worthless biologicals for the treatment of domestic animals.

Get Funds to Study Teacher Shortcoming

OXFORD, Ohio (UPI) — Miami University has received a $12,595 grant from the National Science Foundation for a one-year study on "Improving the Elementary Teacher's Abilities in Selection and Use of Science Equipment."

Dr. L. Warren Nelson, education professor who will direct the study, said it has been found that much equipment supplied elementary teachers is unused because the teachers are unfamiliar with it.

"One-fifth confused a tuning fork with a horseshoe magnet," in placing orders for equipment, Nelson said.

Area Says 'No' to Flint

FLINT (AP) — A proposal to annex Flint Township to the city of Flint was defeated in Tuesday's election. The approval of both the township and city was required. The proposal was approved by the city 18,312 to 4,393, but was defeated by township voters 4,444 to 1,360.

Appeal to Court in School Rift

Negro, White Parents Charge Segregation at Willow Village

DETROIT (AP)—A group of Negro and white parents has gone into U.S. District Court in an effort to end what they claim is segregation in a school at Willow Village, a community near Ypsilanti.

Chief Judge Theodore Levin Tuesday ordered a show - cause hearing for Monday before Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

A similar dispute was settled last week in Highland Park when school officials agreed to more white students at the school in question.

Judge Thornton will determine whether he will issue an injunction requiring the Willow Run School District to transfer pupils within a geographical area and thereby eliminate what the suit charges is a "racially segregated school."

PICKETS PARADE

Seven Negro and white pickets paraded Monday at the school, Foster Elementary in Ypsilanti Township, Washtenaw County.

They said they represented 400 members of a "committee for better education."

Education Board to Weigh Change in Voting Policy

A majority vote of the entire Pontiac Board of Education would be required before board actions can become valid under a policy board members will consider at their meeting tomorrow.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, has recommended adoption of the policy to conform with a 1961 legislative act.

Previously, Whitmer said, a majority vote of a quorum of the board's seven members was sufficient for the board to act.

The meeting will get under way at 7:30 p.m. at the Board offices, 40 Patterson St.

Most kettledrums used in modern orchestras may be tuned to any note in a full octave.

To Request Supervisors OK Home Rule Provision

The legislative committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors will present a proposed "home rule" amendment for approval at the board meeting Monday.

Committee members yesterday recommended that supervisors urge consideration of the amendment by members of the forthcoming state constitutional convention.

If approved by supervisors, the amendment would be suggested as the "home rule" provision to be included among changes in the state constitution.

In a statement issued by John G. Seamann, committee chairman, supervisors explained the proposed amendment as "permitting the people of any county to adopt a charter giving their government broader powers."

The statement recognized in county governments "a need for additional powers which should permit flexibility but retain the checks and balances inherent in the American system."

The amendment provides that "the governing body of any county by two-thirds majority vote of the membership shall have power and authority to frame, adopt and amend a county charter."

PUBLIC APPROVAL

It stipulates, however that no county charter can be framed or adopted until approved by a 60 per cent majority vote of the public.

The proposed amendment also provides that the charter will determine the manner of election or appointment of all county charter officers without necessarily conforming to the present constitutional provisions.

The danger of flu outbreaks this fall, a poisonous bean on a garden plant, and a look at seasickness are subjects for Focus on Health:

GET FLU SHOTS

Health authorities warn that there is likely to be an upswing in influenza outbreaks this fall and winter—and they urge vaccination now.

Because various flu outbreaks come in definite cycles, the U.S. Public Health Service predicts the nation is due for some Asian flu and overdue for Type B flu this year. Both types have been prevalent elsewhere in the world this past season.

* * *

Persons over 65, pregnant women and persons suffering from heart disease, diabetes or other chronic illnesses are urged to get flu shots now.

* * *

The National Tuberculosis Association warns that persons with respiratory ailments like TB, and emphysema are in especial danger.

Insurance statisticians explain that death rates climb under the influence of influenza and resulting penumonia. These diseases strike most severely those persons least capable of resisting them.

BEWARE THE CASTOR BEAN

If you have small children roaming your yard, beware of the castor oil plant and its fruit, the castor bean.

Many gardeners grow these plants because of their decorative appearance and large leaves. They often substitute as a quick growing shrub about new homes.

* * *

But if any unwary child should chew the castor bean, fatal poisoning can result, says a University of Michigan pediatrician, Dr. George H. Lowrey.

Symptoms appear in one to two days. They include, vomiting drowsiness, stupor and stomach ache, with death occuring within 12 days.

SAILING, SAILING

Who's most likely to get seasick?

A study of U.S. soldiers riding troopships back and forth across the Atlantic indicated these findings:

* * *

More seasickness for those under 25 years of age, than those above.

* * *

Those in the forward and after sections of the ship were more often seasick than those amidships.

Heavier persons were more susceptible than lighter individuals.

Those making their first ocean crossing were more susceptible than more experienced hands.

The most effective seasickness pills contained the drug mesclizine.

STORMY WEATHER

Electrical storms seem to affect the number of patients admitted to mental hospitals, a scientist says. The more storms, and the more intense they are, the more patients.

Dr. Robert O. Becker said early work indicates that an electrical charge in human beings may affect their mental and general well-being.

* * *

Magnetic fields around us, and our electrical interaction with those fields may influence our behavior, said Dr. Becker of the State University of New York Upstate Medical Center.

* * *

Outside electrical influences may interfere with electrical transmission in human nerve fibers, he suggested. He said a direct current of electrical flow has been discovered in human nerves and it is closely related to sleep, anesthesia and hypnosis. It fluctuates in normal humans, but has greater variations in the mentally ill.

Mother of 'Giant' Son, 14, Appeals for Cash Help

DENVER (UPI) — Mrs. Fay Spangler of Denver appealed Tuesday for financial gifts to help her prolong and perhaps save the life of her giant son.

Mrs. Spangler inserted an advertisement in a Denver newspaper asking for a "financially responsible party to invest in a project to save the life of a minor child who is an acute leukemia victim."

Her son, David, stands 7-2 and weighs 378 pounds—the result of a pituitary gland malfunction.

Recently, doctors learned the boy also suffers from leukemia.

Mrs. Spangler said David has been given only six months to a year to live. She hopes he can be kept alive until a cure for the usually fatal blood disease is found.

* * *

She explained that she and the boy live in a small walkup apartment — extremely cramped quarters for David, who sleeps on two beds pushed together. Her husband runs a small real estate agency at Mancos, Colo.

* * *

"We're broke," she said.

Mrs. Spangler said she feels that if the family could afford more comfortable, and cheerful surroundings, the change actually would lengthen David's life.

She said she wants someone to "help me give David peace of mind."

Antifilibuster Bolstering Due

Senate to Seek Action Saturday on Tightening Long-Debate Block

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders announced Tuesday a proposal to strengthen the Senate's antifilibuster rule will be brought up for action on Saturday—and that a petition to limit debate on it will be filed almost simultaneously.

* * *

This highly unusual procedure is designed to bring a quick test on the issue, which is tied in with the explosive civil rights question. The plan was outlined by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield said he and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois would join in putting a cloture or debate-limitation petition before the Senate on Saturday after calling up for debate the proposed change in rules to let three-fifths of the senators present and voting, rather than the present two-thirds, order a limitation on debate.

The filing of a cloture petition on Saturday will automatically bring a vote on it one hour after the Senate meets on Tuesday.

* * *

If two-thirds of the senators present and voting should support the petition, each senator would be limited thereafter to one hour of debate on the proposed rules change.

If the petition is rejected, then debate on the rules change could run on indefinitely. But in that case, leaders are expected to abandon the effort to change the existing rule.

* * *

Mansfield himself has said previously that if the cloture move fails, the Senate might as well quit and go home.

Former Cuban Minister to Speak in Detroit

Traffic Experts to Meet, Study Lone Accidents

DETROIT (AP) — A conference to "investigate and stimulate research in the field of single-car and ran-off-roadway accidents' has been scheduled for Tuesday by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Traffic researchers are often at a loss to explain why an entire family, driving in broad daylight on a lightly-traveled road, suffer a fatal smashup," said Frederick N. Rohm, Auto Club general manager.

"This is the major reason for calling the conference."

Some 90 traffic experts from 29 public and private agencies are expected to attend.

Grain Futures See Firming Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—A fairly good commercial and speculative demand firmed up grain futures prices generally today in early dealings on the board of trade.

Corn, rye and soybeans advanced major fractions in spots while September soybeans moved up well over a cent. At the opening, the contract was up more than two cents, but offerings spilled into the pit at that level.

Workers Returning, Chrysler Reports

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. said a majority of day shift employes reported for work at its Warren press plant today, ending a two-day strike described by both the company and the union as unauthorized.

A Chrysler spokesmen said 800 of 1,000 workers of United Auto Workers Local 869 reported at 7:30 this morning and production was resumed.

The spokesman said it would not be known until later whether parts shortages resulting from the two-day walkout would shut down the firm's Dodge and Plymouth assembly plants, where some 6,000 are employed.

Kenneth Morris, UAW regional director, has urged the workers to return to their jobs.

THE EXCEPTION—The sign is definite about its restrictions but apparently does not refer to felines as this one proves the case in a Milwaukee front yard.

Mark 10th Year of Operation for TV System

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (AP)—This is the 10th year of operation of WFM-TV, one of the largest military closed-circuit television systems in the world.

WFM-TV, the first educational television system of its kind, began operation at the U.S. Army Signal Corps School here in 1951 with just one camera installed in a small studio and one receiver in a nearby classroom.

Today, it has seven closed-circuit channels feeding 468 classroom television receivers; 35 post hospital receivers and large-screen projection units in five post theaters and auditoriums.

Mart Struggles to Hold Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market had to struggle to maintain a morning advance as profit-taking clipped back gains early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Motors remained the outstanding group with Ford and Chrysler up nearly a point, but they, too, were well under their best levels of the day. General Motors, American Motors, and Studebaker-Packard were slightly higher.

Steels, most rubber shares, aircrafts, most metals and tobaccos also were higher. Oils weakened on news of further price cuts by midcontinent refiners. Rails failed to follow through on their strength of Tuesday.

The advance among auto shares came despite the uncertainties hanging over the General Motors strike. Although some plants were working, prospects dimmed for a general, over-all settlement before Friday.

The depressing tone of GM negotiations removed one of the factors credited with Tuesday's strong advance. It was tempered somewhat, however, by an old Wall Street adage, "Never sell on strike news."

American Stock Exchange prices held to a higher pattern, although more small losers appeared. Barnes Engineering and Cenco moved ahead more than a point, while Aerojet held its gain of about a point and Stop & Shop also was ahead around one.

Small gainers were Pep Boys, Rapid American, Seeburg and Canadian Javelin. Cubic was down over a point and Reeves Industries, Webb & Knapp and Cletrac lost fractions. Trading was quiet.

No matter how hot one likes his coffee, the roof of the mouth will only take so much heat before it hurts. The pain threshold is always near 13 degrees, Fahrenheit. Even though some people like the taste and stimulation of hot coffee, they usually sip some air beforehand to prepare the way by cooling the palate.

Fallout Might Be Over Russia

Believe It Possible the Effects of Soviet Tests May Have Blown Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is possible that some fallout from the two latest Soviet nuclear weapons tests—the ones involving big H-bomb type devices—has blown back over Soviet populated areas like Leningrad and possibly even Moscow, Weather Bureau scientists said today.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lester Machta and some of his associates told a reporter that world weather charts show that a "low pressure area" prevailed in the atmosphere above Novaya Zemlya, the big Soviet island in the arctic region, at the time the two latest Soviet shots were fired from that point.

★ ★ ★

And, unless the shots were detonated at very high altitudes, Machta said, this would mean that radioactivity debris at lower levels could have been blown over Soviet territory instead of heading generally eastward and away.

COUNTERCLOCKWISE

In a low pressure area, winds blow counterclockwise. Thus, instead of going directly eastward, any radioactive debris present in the troposphere—up to about 40,000 feet where the stratosphere starts—would be carried slightly west, then south, he explained.

★ ★ ★

Machta and his colleagues estimate that any such tropospheric debris would have passed over the northern extremity of Norway and the Murmansk area, then curved across the U.S.S.R. with the edge of the cloud passing over Leningrad, and over Moscow or a little to the north of it.

Navy Calls Up More Reservists to Active Duty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy moved today to call another 1,957 reservists to active duty next month to bring 18 reserve air squadrons to full strength.

This brings to nearly 8,400 the number of naval reservists summoned to active duty in October.

The Air Reserve Training Command was instructed to use volunteers as much as possible in mustering the added 213 reserve officers and 1,744 enlisted men needed. They will be assigned to the 13 antisubmarine warfare and five patrol squadrons previously ordered to active duty Oct. 1.

Reservists who are recalled involuntarily will be given at least 30 days notice and will be told to report at various times throughout October.

The Navy set up a schedule of priority order in which reservists will be called, insofar as military requirements permit.

PTA to Meet Thursday at Four Towns School

Parents and teachers of children attending the Four Towns School in Waterford Township, will have their first PTA meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Gerome Owecke, new principal of the school will introduce all of the teachers, including four new teachers.

Surplus to Be Sold

LANSING (UPI)—Surplus property owned by the State Highway Department in Muskegon and Ottawa counties will be offered for sale Sept. 26 at a public auction in Muskegon Heights. The department appraised the 23 parcels at $22,310. The sale will be held at the Norton Township Hall.

FIRE FIGHTERS' FRIEND—This is a new aluminized portable shelter that may save forest fire fighters' lives when trapped by flames. Fingers and hat brim of man inside are visible in the opening. The shelter folds to the size of a rolled newspaper and is carried on the belt. In tests, while temperatures outside the cone soared to 600 degrees, it was only 130 degrees inside—uncomfortable but not fatal. Developed by Agriculture Dept.'s Forest Service, the shelter is being issued to its personnel.

Student Uses Imagination

Gravel Dresses Up Apartment

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — The challenges of a drab attic apartment have been met and mastered by a young architect student who thought a gravel floor would be an interesting first step.

Converted gas light fixtures and sloping ceilings combined with peeling paint and rough floors to give the third-story apartment a shabby look three years ago when Dan Fox, 25, moved in with three other University of Minnesota architecture students.

"The problems created the solutions," said Fox.

Many of the closets and an alcove off the living room with a garret window were impractical due to the ceiling slope.

★ ★ ★

So the foyer adjoining the living room became a plant-dotted solarium with a gravel floor and a boardwalk built across it from the entry hall. One of the closets recently was rebuilt into a storage rack for Fox's large record collection and others also have found new uses.

A GATHERING PLACE

Neighbors raised a lot of questions when Fox spent nearly two days carrying buckets of gravel up the stairs for the solarium floor.

Friends have made the artistic home a focal point for social gatherings and some have added paintings and sculptures to the furnishings.

The converted gas lights around the walls gave Fox the idea for mounting plastic covers with wood frames about the bare bulbs. The result is a semioriental pattern which blends well with modern styled furniture.

Guests find unique couches and low stools designed and built by Fox to be comfortable and attractive. Foam cushions on top of plywood frames form a separated corner couch.

Rather than a few conversation pieces, the entire furnishings, from open grill chairs to red danish cookware, speak of fine taste.

Kennedy Signs 3 Bills to Combat Underworld

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed into law today three bills to help combat the underworld's gambling and racketeering enterprises.

His brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who had asked for the measures to bolster his declared war on organized crime, watched as the President affixed his signature to the tough new laws which:

1. Make it a felony punishable by five years in prison and $10,000 fine to cross a state line or to use the mails or other interstate commerce facilities in gambling, liquor, prostitution and narcotics rackets.

2. Forbid the interstate smuggling of gambling paraphernalia, with penalties up to five years in prison and $10,000 fine for violations.

3. Outlaw the interstate transmission by wire of bets and of racing or other information vital to bookmakers in their gambling operations. This aims a blow at the now mostly clandestine but legal race wires. The new law carries penalties up to two years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Also at the White House for the bill-signing ceremony were Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Deputy Atty. Gen. Byron R. White and a number of members of Congress.

The bills, part of a package of seven antiracketeering measures requested by the administration, had sailed through Congress to the accompaniment of testimony that gambling is the "bread and butter" of the underworld.

House Prolongs Life of Rights Commission

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A two-year extension of the controversial civil rights commission was approved by the House today by a 208-106 roll-call vote which added it to an appropriation bill.

The commission, created four years ago, technically went out of business last week.

It would keep the commission in business until Sept. 30, 1963, and give it $888,000 to finance its work during the present fiscal year.

The funds were part of a $756,422,550 appropriation bill to finance the State and Justice departments, the federal courts and the U.S. Information Agency for the government year that started July 1.

The measure, cleared by the House today on a voice vote, goes back to the Senate for expected prompt approval of money allotments over which the two branches had been in disagreement.

Air-Conditioning Bad for Chickens

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Hens in a hot climate are better off without air-conditioning as long as it gets cool at night, according to recent research at Pennsylvania State University.

★ ★ ★

A two-year experiment showed white leghorn pullets in a temperature cycle that ranged from 55 to 90 degrees F. had lower mortality and better egg production than layers living at a constant air-conditioned 55 degrees. Mortality rate was up, however, and production down for hens in a constant 90-degree environment.

The Longer the Name, the Longer the Recipe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Drug industry paperwork is almost as staggering as the names of the newest drugs.

Take corticosteroid, a drug used in the battle against arthritis.

VILLAGE OF LAKE ANGELUS
ZONING ORDINANCE
ORDINANCE 19

An ordinance to promote, protect and provide for, in the interests of the public health, safety, comfort, convenience and general welfare in the Village of Lake Angelus, the conservation of property values in the Village, its character as a residential community, and the general trend therein of building and population development, to establish a district or districts in the Village, to regulate the use of land and structures therein, to regulate the area of yards and other open spaces; to provide for a Board of Appeals and its power and duties, to provide for the administration and enforcement thereof and penalties for its violation, and to provide for the repeal of any and all ordinances inconsistent herewith.

The Village of Lake Angelus ordains:

I. Definitions:

1. An accessory building is a subordinate building or structure on the same lot, or a part of the main building, occupied by or devoted exclusively to an accessory use.

2. An accessory use is a use naturally and normally incidental to, subordinate to, and devoted exclusively to the main use of the premises.

3. A single family dwelling is a building used for residential purposes by not more than one family. Without limiting the extent of the exceptions, the term shall not include any tent, trailer or vehicle used for living purposes, shall not include any camp, club, nursing home, convalescent or rest home, boarding house, or other building in which any room or apartment is let for hire.

4. A family is one person or a group of two or more persons living together and related by bonds of consanguinity, marriage or legal adoption occupying a dwelling as a single housekeeping unit with a common set of cooking and toilet facilities independent of any other housekeeping unit, provided, however, that a family will not lose its character as such by the employment of domestic servants or the entertainment of gratuitous guests.

5. A lot is a place or parcel of land occupied or intended to be occupied by a principal building or use and the accessory buildings and uses customarily incident thereto, including open spaces not less in extent than those required in connection therewith by this ordinance.

6. A non-conforming use is a lawful use of a building or land existing on the effective date of this ordinance but which is not a use otherwise permitted hereunder. A lot of record in the office of the Register of Deeds for Oakland County, Michigan, on the effective date of this ordinance and which does not comply with the terms hereof as to size or otherwise is hereby declared to be non-conforming.

7. Essential services. The phrase "essential services" means the erection, construction, alteration or maintenance by public utilities or municipal departments or commissions, of underground or overhead gas, electrical, steam or water transmission or distribution systems, including towers, poles, wires, mains, drains, sewers, pipes, conduits, cables, fire alarm boxes, police call boxes, traffic signals and signs, hydrants, and other similar equipment and accessories in connection therewith, but not including buildings or storage yards even though reasonably necessary for the furnishing of service by such utilities, departments or commissions.

8. A front yard is an open space of uniform depth extending the full width of the lot measured at right angles to the front lot line.

9. A side yard is an open space of uniform width measured at right angles to and extending along the side lot line.

II. General Provisions

1. Except as hereinafter provided, no building or premises, or part thereof, shall be used, altered, constructed or reconstructed, except in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance.

2. No wall, fence or shrubbery shall be erected, maintained, or planted which shall unreasonably obstruct or interfere with traffic visibility on a curve of any public highway, or at any intersection either of public highways or of a public highway and a private way.

3. In interpreting and applying the provisions of this ordinance they shall be held to be the minimum requirements adopted for the promotion of the public health, comfort, safety, convenience and general welfare. It is not intended by this ordinance to interfere with, abrogate or annul any easements, covenants or other agreements between parties, provided, however, that where this ordinance imposes a greater restriction upon the uses of buildings or land, the provisions of this ordinance shall control.

4. Essential services shall be permitted as authorized and regulated by law and by the ordinances of the Village of Lake Angelus and shall be exempt from the provisions and control of this ordinance.

5. No lot or parcel of land in the Village of Lake Angelus which is riparian to Lake Angelus shall be partitioned or subdivided in such manner as to create therefrom non-riparian lots or parcels and no riparian lot shall have less than one hundred (100) feet of frontage on the lake.

6. On all lake-front lots the principal building shall be set back at least fifty (50) feet from the lake and all other lots shall have a front yard, free of any structures above grade, of at least forty (40) feet. Every lot shall have a side yard, free of any structures above grade, of at least fifteen (15) feet, except that a boat house at the water's edge on the lot line may be permitted by the Board of Appeals with the consent of the adjoining property owner and under such conditions as it may impose to preserve the essential character of the neighborhood.

III. Residential District

1. The entire Village of Lake Angelus shall constitute one residential district in which only the following buildings and uses shall be permitted:

a. Single family dwellings.

b. Farms and non-commercial gardens, provided that no building for the care and shelter of animals and no place for the storage of manure shall be located nearer than forty (40) feet from a lot line.

c. Buildings and property of the Village of Lake Angelus and other Buildings, public in character, used for scientific purposes, or for religious worship by the general public, when approved by the Board of Appeals as hereinafter provided.

d. Accessory uses customarily incident to any of the above permitted uses including not more than one private garage, and including signs pertaining to the sale, or lease of the premises or part thereof. Dwellings for the use of the servants or employees of the owner or occupant of the principal dwelling on a lot shall be considered permissible accessory buildings.

2. No dwelling shall be erected or maintained within the Village of Lake Angelus upon a lot or parcel of land of less area than thirty thousand (30,000) square feet and not more than one principal dwelling shall be erected or maintained on any such lot or parcel.

IV. Board of Appeals

1. The Village Commission shall act as a Board of Appeals pursuant to the provisions and authority of Section 5 of Act 207 of the Public Acts of 1921 as amended.

2. Specifically the Board of Appeals shall hear and decide appeals from and review any order, requirement, decision or determination made by an administrative official charged with the enforcement of this ordinance and shall also hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under this ordinance.

3. The Board of Appeals may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises and to that end shall have all the powers of the official from whom the appeal is taken. Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of this ordinance, the Board of Appeals shall have power in passing upon appeals to vary or modify any of its rules, regulations or provisions so that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done but in doing so shall not permit a use for any purpose not herein expressly authorized.

4. The approval of the Board of Appeals required under Section 1c of Article III above shall be based upon its determination that the proposed structure and use will not create any threat to public health or safety, will not unduly aggravate traffic problems of the Village and will be so designed and laid out as to be consistent with the general trend and character of the development of the Village.

V. Non-Conforming Uses

1. Any lawful non-conforming use existing on the effective date of this ordinance may be continued, provided, however, that no such use may be changed to some other non-conforming use, and no such use may be expanded or extended beyond the building or premises in which or on which it is operated at the effective date of this ordinance.

2. The foregoing prohibition shall not prevent the remodeling, enlargement or improvement of any structure utilized for a lawful permitted use merely because such structure is located upon a lot non-conforming as to size or yard area.

3. No non-conforming use of a building or land may be re-established if such use has been discontinued for a period of one year or more.

VI. Enforcement

1. No construction or alteration of any building shall be commenced without first filing with the Village President or Clerk a plan of such work of sufficient detail to indicate compliance with this ordinance and obtaining the certificate of such official that the proposed work is in compliance herewith, provided, however, that repairs or interior alterations costing One Thousand Dollars or less and not violating this ordinance shall not require such certificate or submission of plans.

2. The provisions of this ordinance shall be enforced by any elected official of the Village. Any violation of the provisions of this ordinance shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100) or by imprisonment for not to exceed Ninety (90) days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

3. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense. The rights and remedies provided herein are cumulative, and in addition to any other remedies provided by law, including those provided for in Act 207 of the Public Acts of 1921 as amended.

4. Any violation of the provisions of this ordinance is hereby declared to be a nuisance per se.

VII. Amendments

1. This ordinance may be amended by referendum from time to time but only in compliance with the applicable provisions of Act 207 of the Public Acts of 1921, as amended, and the charter of the Village of Lake Angelus.

VIII. Validity

1. If any section, paragraph, subdivision, clause or provision of this ordinance be declared by any court to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the ordinance as a whole or any part thereof other than the part so declared to be invalid.

IX. Repeal

1. All ordinances and parts of ordinances of the Village of Lake Angelus in conflict with the provisions hereof are hereby expressly repealed.

X. Effective Date

1. This ordinance shall be given immediate effect upon its publication following its adoption by the electors of the Village of Lake Angelus by referendum at the election to be held on Saturday the second day of September, 1961.

NOTICE

Foregoing Ordinance 19 of the Village of Lake Angelus, having been approved by the electors of the Village of Lake Angelus at the Regular Election held September 2, 1961, by a vote of 93 for and 39 against, is hereby declared to be in effect with this publication in The Pontiac Press of September 13, 1961.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear sister Clara Black Rowan, who passed away four years ago today, Sept. 13, 1957. I hold her in my dreams at night, I call her at the dawn and yet I have to tell myself that she is really gone. There is nothing we can do or say except a loving prayer that God will bless our sister dear, and keep her in His care. In silent sorrow there is nothing we can do except to live a better life in memory of our sister dear.
Sadly missed by brothers, and sister Bertha Thornton.

Rice Shortage Creates Philippine Emergency

MANILA (AP)—President Carlos P. Garcia declared a nationwide state of public calamity Tuesday because of a shortage of rice, the Philippines' staple food.

The president's proclamation permits seizure of all hoarded rice stocks for public sale and sets ceiling prices. Garcia said the action was needed to avert panic and disorder.

Police Hampered in Search for Stolen '62 Car

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (AP) — Mishawaka police were somewhat hampered today in their search for a stolen car—the description is classified information.

The missing car is a 1962 model, the details of which are supposed to be top secret until the new line is introduced next week.

Dealer Jim Hammes hid the car behind a billboard near his agency, trying to keep the secret. When he looked for it Tuesday night it was gone.

Kalamazoo Dealer Loses His License

LANSING (AP) — The vehicle dealer's license of a Kalamazoo house trailer dealer was ordered revoked by the secretary of state's office Tuesday. The suspension will be effective Oct. 13.

The action was taken against Charles W. Brainard, doing business under the title of Brainard Mobile Home Sales, following a hearing on five separate complaints charging violation of the motor vehicle code. Three of the charges were dropped because of insufficient evidence.

In the other two counts, Brainard was accused of failing to maintain records as required by law and failing to apply for certificates of title for periods of from three to six months after delivery of house trailers sold by him.

Statutes require that dealers apply for title in the purchaser's name before making delivery of units.

Union Pushing to End Strikes

Plants Slowly Getting Local-Level Problems Under Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers today ordered local unions to end strikes at General Motors factories as quickly as they conclude at-the-plant working agreements.

CALLS OFF MEETING

The UAW also called off a scheduled 2 p.m. Thursday meeting of its General Motors Conference which had been summoned to wrap up a new three-year contract with the world's largest automaker.

The union urged intensification of local-level bargaining "to reach sensible and satisfactory solutions to local problems at the earliest possible date." It said the GM conference meeting was being delayed to permit local union officers to remain at their plant bargaining tables.

Ninety-plus plants out of GM's 129 were idled by strikes in support of local-level working agreement demands.

Local-level agreements have been worked out at 43 GM plants since walkouts began at 10 a.m. Monday. None of the plants had got back in operation by Tuesday night.

The strikes completely shut off the flow of new 1962 model cars which had just started to come in volume from assembly lines of the highly integrated GM empire.

The GM conference was postponed to a date and time to be announced later. The meeting had been considered, in effect, a deadline for local-level settlements.

Thirty-six plants continued in operation Tuesday. Some local agreements had been reached prior to Monday. Others operated while negotiations progressed, but no assembly lines were operating.

'Typically Paar,' Says Senator

Javits Undisturbed but Mansfield Doesn't Want 'It' to Happen Again

NEW YORK (AP)—"About all you can say was that it was typically Jack Paar."

That was the reaction of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to the highly controversial "Jack Paar in Berlin" film telecast Tuesday night.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., had declared after the film was made last week on Berlin's tense East-West border that "to say I was disturbed is an understatement."

Asked in Washington today whether he had watched the telecast, the Senate majority leader replied: "No—Lord, no! The incident is closed as far as I am concerned!"

OFFICER REMOVED

The furor stirred by the filming had caused concern even in the White House, which approved a Defense Department investigation of the use of U.S. Army troops by Paar.

★ ★ ★

It admonished a second—Col. J. R. Deane Jr. of San Francisco —for "exercising poor judgment" in providing troops filmed by Paar.

Javits said he saw "nothing fatal" in the NBC show but added he didn't "think anything so sensitive should be handled in this manner."

"I hope this kind of approach will not be repeated," he said.

Paar Disappoints With Berlin Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—After all the expressions of alarm, headlines and admonishments growing out of the taping of a Jack Paar show on the threshold of East Berlin, the least a viewer could expect Tuesday night was an enlightening informative show.

Alas, the well-publicized program proved as dreary and dull as the Berlin weather.

Paar, jaunty in cap and raincoat, stood with his back to East Berlin during most of the show, excitedly rehashing stories already thoroughly explored in American newspapers and calling attention to passing traffic and remote buildings.

For about two-thirds of the longest hour in recent TV, the most interesting sight was East Berlin cameramen eagerly taking pictures of Paar and his aide, actress Peggy Cass.

FEW SOLDIERS

When Paar's cameras did turn on West Berlin and the American soldiers, there seemed to be comparatively few of them. The comedian had a brief, serious interview with Col. J. R. Deane Jr., who later was admonished by the Defense Department for his part in the show.

★ ★ ★

Deane said that he "didn't expect any trouble here," that his wife and five children "wouldn't leave Germany for all the tea in China." And praised a new rifle recently issued to his command.

Miss Cass climbed to the second-floor command post overlooking the Friedrichstrasse entrance to East Berlin and asked the soldiers on duty where they came from and how many children they had.

Paar introduced another squad, consisting of perhaps a dozen soldiers, which rotated the command post responsibility. The only curiosity seekers around seemed to be a group of officers standing nearby.

'NATURAL STUMBLING'

We left Jack sitting on a curb in a downpour of rain explaining. "We just wanted to bring you some natural stumbling around here."

Had it not been for the excitement surrounding the taping, the program would have attracted no attention at home at all. It certainly was not worth taking chances in a delicate situation for a program like that.

Ed Sullivan, after all those pasted-together summer shows made from bits and pieces of old winter programs, gets back to new programs Sept. 24. With the exception of last Sunday's reprise of his tuneful tribute to musicmen Alan Lerner and Frederick Loewe the Sullivan summer shows have been dull and disappointing. Danny Thomas will headline the fall premiere for Ed.

Kovac's Gin Rummying Is Too Much for Edie

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Ernie Kovacs has written two books for Doubleday the last month, in a motel at Andover, N.J., while his wife Edie Adams has been acting nearby—and one book, "How to Talk at Gin," reveals that Edie has a friendly but cool attitude about his gin rummy gambling.

WILSON

Next morning, again missing him, she rushed into the steam room in a revealing nightgown, fearing the worst.

Ernie and several cronies were playing gin. When Edie left the room, Ernie asked his pals, "Who was that?"

Though Ernie'll do seven ABC-TV specials this season, he says: "I don't dig the acting bit. I prefer to write and direct. I don't like the standing around . . ."

★ ★ ★

But he's enthusiastic about Edie's acting. Particularly about her performance in a new play, "Free As a Bird," at Grist Mill Playhouse.

Ernie attends regularly and boos loudy from the back when she does a love scene with Richard Derr.

"Billy Wilder and Sam Goldwyn thinks she's sensational," Ernie says. "Goldwyn came to a party we had and said 'Vere's Edie?' I said she had to work. Sam said, 'I vouldn't have come!'"

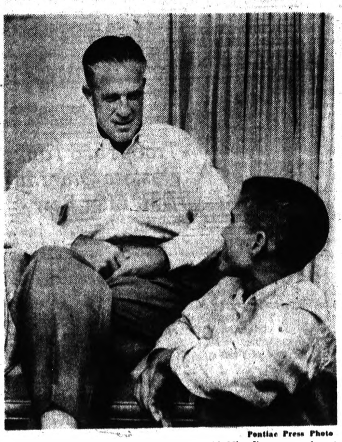
GOP Crushes Dems in Con-Con Vote



Pontiac Press Photo

YOU WON, DAD — Fourteen-year-old Mitt Romney gets an exclusive interview on what his father will attempt to accomplish for the state in the forthcoming constitutional convention. The man-to-man talk took place at the Romney Bloomfield Hills home last night after Romney learned he had won his bid for delegate from Oakland County.

Waterford Voters OK Charter Township Change

Waterford Township voters approved a change to charter township 2-1 in yesterday's con-con election.

While only 20 per cent of the township's registered voters went to the polls, the results were 2,612 to 1,377 in favor of making the governmental change.

Township officials said they may now go ahead with a large-scale water and sewer program, the main reasons for a charter township.

A charter township also paves the way for better health, fire and police department operations, they said, and gives elected officials broader powers for moving ahead.

With an anticipated 85,000 population by 1970, the change to charter township permits the borrowing of large sums to "get the ball rolling" on water and sewer projects officials said are necessary to meet the large increase in population.

The Federal Housing and Finance Commission has already loaned the township $100,000. A detailed survey report has been made for an inter-connecting water system by township engineers Johnson and Anderson.

Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson said, "We now have the tools to do the things necessary for expanding our operations."

LONG-RANGE PLANNING

Clerk James E. Setterlin said, "Now we hope we can establish an orderly program of public improvements—namely water and sewer—to serve the needs of this community. It will take long-range planning and long-term financing to bring these improvements into being."

In the con con race, candidates from the first district, Richard D. Kuhn (R) and John S. Coleman (D) were running neck and neck from the first of Waterford's 18 precinct reports to the last.

Kuhn finally won by 29 votes in Waterford Township. Kuhn garnered 2,158 and Coleman 2,169 votes. The final tabulation throughout the entire district gave Kuhn 5,247 and Coleman 3,905.

Pontiac Elects First Republican Since '46 Ballot

King Wins in City as GOP Takes 6 Out of 7 County Delegate Spots

Pontiac voters elected a Republican for the first time since 1946 as Oakland County GOP constitutional convention nominee handily swept six out of the seven delegate seats in yesterday's light balloting.

Republicans were jubilant over the election in the usually Democratic city as 32-year-old attorney Raymond L. King halted the political comeback try of former Democratic state representative Leslie H. Hudson.

King, who received his political tutoring as a staff assistant for the county GOP, as well as city campaign director in the November 1960 presidential campaign, edged past Hudson, 39, with a 119-vote margin — 2,539 to 2,420.

Causing just as much elation in the GOP party ranks was the 1,342-vote win of Richard D. Kuhn in Oakland's 1st Legislative District. Kuhn, 31, of 205 Gateway Drive, Waterford Township, also won his first public office.

CARRIES TOWNSHIPS

Kuhn walked away with victories in all 14 townships and Sylvan Lake in carrying the district with 5,247 votes to 3,905 for the Democratic challenger John S. Coleman, also of Waterford Township.

Just over 57,000 of the county's 331,539 qualified voters went to the polls on the rainy election day. This represents about 15 per cent or about 1 per cent more than the 49,300 who voted in the July 25 primary.

All returns remain unofficial until checked by the County Board of Canvassers.

Senatorial nominee George W. Romney, American Motors Corp. president from Bloomfield Hills, downed his Democratic opponent William A. O'Brien Jr., Clawson councilman, with a near 3-to-1 margin in the county.

Romney pulled an unofficial 42,331 votes to O'Brien's 15,071. He captured 73.7 per cent of the total county vote.

The auto executive and stalwart behind the drive for the first state constitutional convention since 1907-08 lost only in Keego Harbor and traditionally Democratic Hazel Park and Royal Oak Township.

'NAME HELPS'

Democrats and Republicans alike attributed Romney's name and pulling power — in his first political test — for carrying King, Kuhn and the other three Republicans to victory.

Here's the line-up of Oakland delegates who will answer the roll call when Secretary of State James M. Hare gavels the historic convention to order in Lansing Oct. 3:

12th Senatorial District—George W. Romney (R).

2nd District (Pontiac)—Raymond L. King (R).

3rd District — Henry L. Woolfenden (R).

4th District—Richard C. Van Dusen (R).

Floods Paralyzing Kansas City Area

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Flash flooding, born of hurricane Carla's rains, today virtually paralyzed this community of some 750,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

Police waded through waist-deep water to carry residents from flood-marooned homes near the Blue River, surface water as much as 6 feet deep cascaded through street intersections, bridges went out, traffic signals failed, and power and telephone lines went down.

In the suburban Parkville, Mo., area, families living near Weatherby Lake left their homes when it appeared the dam forming the lake might crumble.

About 75 men, laboring with sandbags, fought to save the dam. Officials appealed for help from truck operators and others with heavy equipment that might be used.

A plea for a boat to use in rescue work near Blue River was cancelled a few minutes later by an officer who said the "water is rising too fast to wait."

He told the dispatcher he planned to wade a distance of "three or four blocks" and then carry them out."

It was the city's worst onslaught by water since the Kaw River disaster of July 13, 1951, when damage was estimated officially at more than $1 billion.

WATER 6 FEET DEEP

Six feet of water blocked an intersection where two cars were trapped (at 13th and Jackson) in the eastern part of the city. Occupants escaped.

At another point (Truman Road and Askew) a car and its woman driver were swept down the street. Firemen rescued her. The police department said it did not record her name.

In famed Swope Park, one of the nation's largest municipal parks, roads were blocked. Both the Swope Park lagoon, a boating area, and the Lake of the Woods spilled from their banks.

In western and southern sections numerous streets were blocked by surface water. Others were littered with manhole covers blown out by the pressure of water racing through overburdened storm sewers.

★ ★ ★

In Kansas City, Kan., police reported several bridges washed out (including one at Kaw Drive and 32nd Street). Turkey Creek, which empties into the Kaw River in Kansas City, Kan., was flooding.

Restudy Auditorium

Representatives of the county, city, MSUO and trustees of the current $33,000 fund are considering the possibility of pooling all available resources.

The suggested structure would run between two and two and a half million dollars, which is approximately 50 per cent of what the original auditorium proposed several years ago would have cost. It would provide seating capacity for crowds ranging from a few hundred to a few thousand.

Several locations were suggested and discussed. One would be on property belonging to MSUO which could provide sufficient parking. It would thus be adjacent to the Chrysler Highway with easy access from the north and south. It was pointed out that people even from Flint could attend meetings with less than a half hour drive.

Urban renewal assistance is a possibility and federal aid is another. The federal government is also considering special assistance for colleges and MSUO might qualify under this for a portion.

"Practically every college and university in the country has an auditorium," said Chancellor D. B. Varner of MSUO, "and surely this institution will desperately need such a structure in the fairly near future. Perhaps we could unite with Oakland County."

An ideal auditorium would have small side rooms for meetings of various sizes, and the possibility of serving meals to gatherings of several thousand was considered

Republicans Use Upsets to Gain 2-1 Edge in Seats

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's first constitutional convention in 54 years will convene next month in the ironclad grip of the Republican party, with Democratic delegates outnumbered better than 2 to 1.

With a smashing victory, the GOP captured at least 88 of the 144 delegate seats in a special election Tuesday which drew about one-fifth of the state's estimate 4 million voters to the polls.

Republicans scored upsets in more than a score of districts where Democrats are now represented in the legislature. The GOP sweep included seven normally-Democratic Wayne County districts with Democratic National Committeewoman Mildred Jeffrey among the losers.

Not only did the Republicans gain in individual districts, but they rolled up a statewide margin of about 425,000 to 285,000 in total votes.

"This means the Republican party philosophy has been accepted by the people," declared GOP State Chairman George Van Peursem. "The results make it crystal clear the Republican party is on the move."

SWAINSON DISAPPOINTED

Gov. Swainson expressed disappointment in the outcome and said it was unfortunate that so few voted in an election "of so great import to all the people of Michigan."

"Our task now," he said, "is to exert every effort to help design a constitution that will reflect and meet the 20th Century needs of all the people."

Delegates were elected on the basis of one for each senator and representative in the state legislature, controlled by the Republicans by an over-all 78-66 margin.

Prominent among the Republican winners were such nationally-known figures as Michigan State University President John A. Hannah, George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.; former Congressman Alvin Bentley, and GOP National Committeeman John B. Martin.

As the Republican landslide gained momentum, the GOP captured seats in district after district where Democratic legislators won in the 1960 election.

Seats in Oakland County, Monroe County, Macomb County, Saginaw, Muskegon and part of the Upper Peninsula fell to the Republicans as returns mounted.

Forty of the Democrats who won were in Wayne County, one in Oakland and one in Macomb. Two of five were retained in the Upper Peninsula, and the outcome in one district was in doubt.

Among the Democratic victors was Adelaide Hart, former state vice chairman of the party; William C. Marshall, executive vice president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, and Tom Downs, state AFL-CIO counsel and lobbyist.

Mercury Capsule Plops Into Atlantic After Trip Around World

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States sent an "artificial astronaut" on a one-turn orbital ride around the earth today and brought the space vehicle back to a landing in the Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

The Project Mercury space capsule went up at 9:04 a.m. from this missile test center on the nose of a mighty Atlas rocket.

An hour and 46 minutes later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the space traveler had been lowered on its parachutes.

The intended impact area was 230 miles east of Bermuda.

Recovery ships and planes hastened to the area to attempt recovery.

An airplane spotted the floating capsule minutes after it landed.

Reverse rockets were set off as the space traveler sped over the Mexican west coast, to slow it for a descent into the Atlantic east of Bermuda. There an attempt was to be made to recover the Project Mercury capsule, just as would be done if a spaceman were aboard.

A fully successful operation would be a long stride toward the time, hopefully—but not certainly within this year—when a real spaceman will fly the route on a three-turn orbit.

An automatic timing device fired the three small slow-down rockets attached to the base of the capsule at 10:33 a.m. as the vehicle neared the end of its single whirl around the globe. As a backup, a ground staiton at Guaymas, Mexico, sent a radio signal to ignite the rockets.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that firing of the reverse rockets had been confirmed by tracking stations at Guaymas, Point Arguello, Calif., Corpus Christi, Tex., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

The intention was to slow the capsule by 350 miles from its orbital speed of 17,520 m.p.h. This is enough to ease the craft gradually back to earth under the pull of gravity.

Scattered Rain, Thunderstorms to Hit City Area

Katanga Secession Ended by Force

U.N. Triumphs in Bloody Fight

Tshombe in Hiding as Troops Unite Rebellious Province to Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations announced today a forceful end to Katanga's secession from the Congo. U.N. troops downed military resistance in a blood-spilling fight of several hours at Elisabethville, the provincial capital.

President Moise Tshombe fled, denouncing the attack, and the Leopoldville central government appointed an administrator to take over the mineral-rich province.

* * *

"The Katanga secession is over," U.N. headquarters here was told by its Elisabethville representative, Conor Cruise O'Brien. "Katanga is now a Congolese province."

This would mean an end to the independence of the lush, copper-laden plateau land proclaimed by Tshombe 14 months ago.

MEANS MILLIONS

It also would mean diversion of millions in tax revenues from Katanga's $980-million annual production to the treasury of the deficit-run central government.

Casualties among Elisabethville defenders were undetermined.

* * *

Swedish sources said one U. N. soldier, a Gurka in Indian ranks, was killed. They reported five Swedes and seven Indians wounded. U. N. headquarters here said two U. N. soldiers were killed and five or six wounded.

* * *

Premier Cyrille Adoula announced the Katanga army — stripped of its 500 or so white mercenaries by another show of U. N. force Aug. 28—will be integrated with troops of the central government's commander in chief, Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

ASKS U.N. TAKE OVER

Adoula told newsmen he had asked the United Nations to take over all essential services in Katanga and his government has declared a state of emergency in the province.

* * *

A radio report picked up from Elisabethville said Tshombe, after reaching a safe hideout, issued a statement.

"The United Nations tricked me right to the end. Only last night they gave me a solemn promise that they would not go against the Katanga government. Nor would they disarm Katanga's troops, they said," the statement said.

* * *

"Early today they told me they were arresting three of my ministers and wanted to take me to Leopoldville."

Only recently the United Nations sent a special plane to Elisabethville to take Tshombe to Leopoldville to discuss joining in the unity government.

Tshombe said the United Nations had handed him an ultimatum and he refused to board the plane. The U.N. Command in the Congo denied issuing an ultimatum but said time was running out on the secessionist Tshombe.

VIOLENCE IN ELIZABETHVILLE — Helmeted Katanga police patrol streets in an open truck as Katangese youths riot violently against U.N. forces who put an end to the province's secession today in Elizabethville. Several Indian and Swedish troops were injured by rocks thrown by demonstrators. Trouble erupted recently when a Swedish soldier set up a machine gun on the steps of the U.N. hospital.

Expect JFK Will Convey Summit Hope to Guests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was expected to assure two neutralist leaders today that the United States wants and expects negotiations with the Soviet Union on a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

* * *

But Kennedy was also expected to tell them that he sees no prospect of a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev unless a successful outcome is insured by advance negotiation.

PARLEY REPRESENTATIVES

President Sukarno of Indonesia and President Modibo Keida of Mali arrived here late Tuesday aboard a chartered jet airliner as representatives of the Belgrade conference of 25 neutral or nonaligned nations which met in the Yugoslav capital 10 days ago.

* * *

They delivered to Kennedy a letter calling for direct negotiations between him and Khrushchev to save the world from the dangers of a nuclear war.

Kennedy met them and gave them a full dress airport reception complete with red carpet, 21-gun salute and a military honor guard.

NEW RED BLAST

At almost the same instant that their big jet landed, the Atomic Energy Commission announced that the Soviet Union had exploded another nuclear weapons test device — the seventh in the series which started after Moscow announced two weeks ago that nuclear tests were being resumed.

* * *

Some officials indicated that the President could be expected to advise Sukarno and Keida of U.S. surprise that the Belgrade conference had failed to take official notice of the Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear tests in spite of the fact that the action brought widespread indignation and criticism in the non-Communist world.

MAIN CONCERN

However, Kennedy was reported to feel that the main concern of the neutralists at the moment is in a Berlin settlement since the East-West conflict over the future of the divided German city creates the greatest immediate danger of war.

* * *

Kennedy has had some exploratory soundings made, chiefly by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow, to find out whether Khrushchev is seriously interested in negotiating a Berlin settlement other than on his own terms; that is, a settlement providing for abandonment of West Berlin by the Western powers.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT

So far, U.S. officials report, the Soviets have offered no encouragement for terms of negotiation acceptable to the West.

* * *

Sukarno and Keida received a warm welcome from Kennedy at the airport. He said that Americans realized that they had come here "on a mission of peace," and he told them that the American people "share their desire."

Sukarno, who was dressed in a blue gray military uniform, complete with swagger stick, told the President that he and Keida had come to Washington not as national leaders but as emissaries of the Belgrade conference whose 25 nations contain 750 million people.

"Our task is not a task of mediation," he said to the President. "Our task here is to communicate the thoughts and concerns of the Belgrade conference to you."

Sukarno brought along a retinue of 44 advisers and aides, including Foreign Minister Subandrio. Keida was accompanied by seven advisers and aides.

Airliner Crash Leaves 77 Dead

French Jet Smashes Up, Burns in Heavy Fog Near Rabat, Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — A French jet airliner feeling its way through a heavy fog crashed and burned in a rocky ravine Tuesday night. Air France officials said all 77 persons aboard perished.

* * *

Three U.S. citizens, an Arabian prince, the Australian ambassador to Cairo, a Moroccan diplomat and two Soviet citizens were among the victims, an Air France spokesman said.

* * *

The sleek twin-jet Caravelle airliner, in service only 3½ months, was bound from Paris to Casablanca, with a brief stop scheduled at Rabat.

The plane contacted the Rabat control tower, then began its letdown and glide. In the thick fog, the plane veered into a ravine and struck a jutting rock.

Witnesses said they heard distinct explosions and then the plane turned into a torch, burning for several hours.

Flames towered above the ravine as firemen, soldiers and police rushed to the disaster scene.

They were hampered by the rocky terrain and the dense fog. They found burned and torn bodies strewn as far away as 100 yards from the wreckage.

There were six persons in the crew and 71 passengers, Air France headquarters in Paris said. Some reports in Rabat said there was one additional passenger, but this could not be confirmed.

An inquiry commission from the Moroccan Public Works Ministry was on the scene shortly after dawn and a French investigation board was ordered to Rabat.

One unofficial theory of the cause of the crash was that in the heavy fog the pilot mistook the lights of a small nearby village, Douar Doum, for the airport.

* * *

Other Berlin Incidents Expected

Reds May Try to Halt Flights

BERLIN (AP) —The Communists may try to interfere with Western flights to Berlin after staging incidents at this old German capital's airports, say West Berlin officials.

* * *

Communist East Germany already claims the right to control the air corridors into this city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain. The claim is challenged by the United States, Britain and France.

REPORT RED PLANS

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's office reported Tuesday it had learned of plans to sneak East German agents into the crowds of refugees and others at West Berlin's Tempelhof and Tegel airports during the next few days.

The agents then would throw themselves on the ground and shout: "I don't want to be kidnaped."

* * *

The East Germans claim that many of the refugees who streamed into West Berlin before the Reds threw up a wall through the divided city were lured by Western intelligence agents and spirited away by air to West Germany.

* * *

Many refugees still are in West Berlin awaiting air transportation out of the city. East Germany controls road, rail and canal transport over the 110 miles of Communist territory between the city and West Germany. The air corridors are the city's last unhindered links to the West.

Elimar Arendt-Denart, spokesman for the mayor, said the Red plans were reported by members of the East German military forces who defected recently.

"The responsible authorities are prepared to act energetically against such attempts to make a disturbance," he said.

Japan Feels Red Tests

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese meteorological agency said today the Soviet Union's seventh nuclear test in its current series caused air disturbances in Japan lasting an hour.

The agency said its observation stations recorded abnormal changes in atmospheric pressure creating shocks coming in four-minute cycles.

City Elects 1st Republican Since Election in 1946

5th District—Arthur G. Elliott Jr. (R).

6th District—Lee Walker (D).

* * *

Walker, a 40-year-old Madison Heights building contractor, captured 296 more votes than Republican Dale Edwards in the heavily Democratic 6th District, which Romney carried 2,605 to 2,166.

Democrats in the county attributed part of their defeat to many of their members crossing party lines to vote for Romney.

Romney garnered 2,800 votes to O'Brien's 2,033 in Pontiac.

MARGINAL RACE

In the race considered the most marginal of all of the six state representative-delegate contests, Van Dusen, an attorney from Bingham Farms had his district wrapped up until midnight when Oak Park submitted the last returns of the night. In this city, which voted 750 by absentee ballot, Van Dusen trailed Thomas G. Kavanaugh of Beverly Hills, 2,025 to 925.

But Van Dusen had piled up sufficient pluralities in the other 11 townships and cities to win, 8,699 to 4,924.

Elliott, 44, a realtor with offices in Royal Oak, won over Avern L. Cohn, 37-year-old Royal Oak attorney. The GOP county leader since 1957 recorded 7,706 to 3,514 for Cohn with the winner taking Cohn's resident city of Royal Oak.

* * *

Midshipmen Put Training to Use at Traffic Crash

MARTINEZ, Calif. (UPI) — A group of Naval ROTC midshipmen put their physical and medical training to practical use at the scene of a highway accident here.

* * *

The accident occurred when a delivery truck collided with two cars. The midshipmen, about 20 of them, were returning from a tour of Concord Naval Ammunition Depot and saw the accident.

They used their strength to lift the truck — holding it up for 10 minutes — while the driver, pinned beneath was removed. Other cadets moved two women from a burning car and applied a splint to a woman's leg.

The midshipmen were part of a summer training group attached to the carrier, Coral Sea, at Alameda.

Agrees to Laos Meeting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Vientiane government has decided to inform neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma that it will agree to a three-princes meeting if it is held in the royal capital of Luang Prabang, a government spokesman said today.

Workers Returning, Chrysler Reports

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. said a majority of day shift employes reported for work at its Warren press plant today, ending a two-day strike described by both the company and the union as unauthorized.

A Chrysler spokesman said 800 of 1,000 workers of United Auto Workers Local 869 reported at 7:30 this morning and production was resumed.

The spokesman said it would not be known until later whether parts shortages resulting from the two-day walkout would shut down the firm's Dodge and Plymouth assembly plants, where some 6,000 are employed.

Kenneth Morris, UAW regional director, has urged the workers to return to their jobs.

Bloomfield Twp. Voters Defeat Millage Increase

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed millage increase necessary for the enforcement of a dog ordinance was rejected yesterday by Bloomfield Township voters while approval was given to the purchase of additional land for a future township building site.

The two local issues appeared on the state constitutional convention ballot.

The millage proposal, which would have raised taxes approximately 40 cents for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation was defeated by a 170-vote margin, 1,989 to 1,819.

The proposal asking authority for the acquisition of 10 acres to the south and west of the Township Hall was approved 2,521 to 1,245.

The property, which will cost the township an estimated $40,000 will be purchased with money from the general fund.

* * *

Taxes from the special millage issue would have provided the township approximately $30,000 annually for the operation of a dog warden department and the purchase of equipment.

It had been proposed to levy the tax for 10 years but township officials believed that once the department had been organized it would become self-sustaining and the special tax could be terminated.

Bids on $1.5 million in bonds as Birmingham's major portion of its share of the Twelve Town Drain will be opened at the Oct. 2 City Commission meeting, James W. Purkiss, director of finance, said today.

Approval to sell the bonds was given the city yesterday by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

"We're hoping to sell the bonds at an interest rate of 3 per cent or less," Purkiss said.

The city's share of the drain project is $1.96 million. The remaining $460,000 will come from the general fund.

The city is seeking to sell the bonds to a syndicate rather than have the Oakland County Drain Commission handle the financing because it is believed there will be a savings.

Troops and Tanks Restore Order in D.R. After Row

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Tanks and troops restored order today after rioting by opposition political groups left four dead and more than a score injured.

* * *

The violence was sparked by the arrival of a four-man team from the Organization of American States Tuesday. They are investigating the possibility of lifting some of the diplomatic and economic sanctions on the Dominican regime that took over after the assassination of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo last May. The opposition fears this would entrench Trujillo's heirs in power.

Claims Youths Are Pleading for Discipline

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — Elizabeth McCain, Memphis Juvenile Court judge, says most young people today are pleading, "Give us discipline." In this, she says, they are little different from preceding generations.

* * *

Judge McCain was final speaker in a two-day police institute here, and said she heard juvenile offenders say time after time, "Why didn't my parents control me?"

"They are saying to you as police officers and juvenile courts," she told officials, "'care enough about us to stop us when we're doing wrong.'"

America's Luxury Market Booming and Widening

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The luxury market is both booming and widening.

★ ★ ★

It is booming today because people have more money to spend than a few years back and a greater knowledge of and taste for quality goods. It is widening because what once was bought by the high-income class as a luxury is now being bought by the middle-income group, the fastest growing in the nation in recent years.

MORE PROMOTION

And the luxury market is booming and widening because more producers are promoting wares in this field, which they once considered too small to enter.

Sales of products regarded as luxuries are growing at a much faster rate than the population. And sellers report demand is now coming from the blue collar group rather than being confined as it once was to the well-to-do.

Prices of luxuries are rising fast, too. A striking example is in the field of art—pictures so valuable now as to attract a wave of thefts—and in the rising price tags on antique furniture.

Yesterday's luxury tends to become today's commonplace. But here are a few examples of how sales of such items have grown.

In 1954 the number of home swimming pools was estimated at 15,000, and today there are about 170,000—still regarded as luxuries by most of those who don't have them.

STILL STATUS SYMBOL

In 1951 power lawn mowers were vaunted as luxuries by some 1,241,000 owners. Today nearly four million are in use—and still called a status symbol.

In 1956 there wre 86 Rolls-Royces on American streets and now nearly 500; and 2,157 Mercedes-Benzes then against 14,500 now. There were 5,000 owners of a MG then, compared with 12,800 now; and 3,000 Jaguar jockeys against at least 5,000 today.

Where has the money for these things come from? Well, the number of families with annual incomes of $25,000 and over has doubled since 1950. And today some 10 million families have incomes of $10,000 or more, almost twice as many as five years ago.

All this has created the market for high quality luxury products, in the view of Albin O. Holder, board chairman of Bronzini, men's and women's accessories shops where the prices definitely aren't bargain basement.

NEW LUXURIES

In his belief that the market is ripe for still better and costlier products, Holder's other enterprise, Cosmetic Chemicals Corp., is bringing out a new perfume (called Ai, the Japanese word for love) at $65 an ounce. This is reported to make it the world's most expensive perfume.

Each income group has its own set of luxury products, Holder says, and these are upgraded continuously. For example, electric washing machines, formerly middle-class luxuries, are now lower-class luxuries. And such currently middle-class luxuries as dishwashers, food waste disposers, second and third car, second homes, pleasure boats and foreign travel are now starting to filter down to the lower-income luxury level.

Many other businessmen agree that there is an increasing demand for higher quality goods offering convenience, luxury and esthetic satisfaction.

"The upgrading in American taste has reached a dynamic stage," Holder says. "The process cannot be arrested, short of war."

So that sort of leaves it—like so many other things today—up to Khrushchev.

At the peak of its 19th century golden Age, Sierra Leone, was called the Athens of West Africa.

Miracle Mile to Give Gift on Its Own Birthday

At its third birthday in October, The Michigan Miracle Mile Shopping Center will accept congratulations but insists the center do the gift-giving.

The gift is an invitation to community organizations to set up booths or tents for fund-raising projects at Miracle Mile's Birthday Fair, Oct. 12-14.

Each group will be given a 15-by-15-foot space in a roped-off area on the center's parking lot.

Participation in the fair is open to all civic organizations, clubs, churches, youth and educational groups, with specific community benefit projects or an over-all constructive program.

Deadline for application is Sept. 29.

Freedom Flights From E. Reich Still Plague Reds

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin police reported today that East Germans continue slipping through to the West by using wire cutters, sliding down ropes or swimming canals.

The swimmers were a family of four—a 41-year-old woman; her son and daughter-in-law, and their 12-year-old son.

Police reported that Communist police opened fire several times in the past few days as people escaped but their aim was poor—perhaps deliberately.

Business and individuals were stuck with a total of $800 million worth of known bad checks in 1959.

JFK Takes Licking on School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy took a prestige-denting political licking when the Senate sided with the House in voting to continue two school aid programs until 1963.

For all practical purposes this action, accomplished Tuesday on a 45-40 Senate vote, probably means that Kennedy will not get the full-fledged aid to education program he is certain to propose again next year.

Congress may enact some fringe benefits for colleges in 1962, but the classroom construction and teacher salary assistance he has plugged for seems to have little chance for enactment. The House pigeonholed a measure of this nature after it had been passed by the Senate.

★ ★ ★

The theory is that these controversial proposals need to be sugar coated with extension of the popular impacted areas and National Defense Education Act programs. The first of these gives federal aid to school districts crowded with children of federal workers. The second provides scholarship grants as well as loans for scientific equipment.

HE REALIZED

Kennedy showed he was well aware that the extension of these two programs for two years, as the House and Senate now have voted, would make it difficult to get any education legislation thru next year.

He wrote Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana urging a one-year extension so the impacted areas and NDEA programs could be re-examined in 1962. He said such action would "provide the best assurance that re-evaluation of legislation affecting education will take place early next year."

DISREGARDED JFK

Mansfield read the letter to the Senate shortly before it voted on a proposal by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., for a one-year extension of both measures. But the President's prestige wasn't sufficient in this case and a 45-40 defeat resulted. The Senate then adopted, on an 80-7 roll call vote, a proposal by Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., extending both programs for two years.

Kennedy's political licking was administered by Republican liberals, who saved him from the GOP-Southern Democratic coalition in several touch-and-go Senate tests during the year by producing from 9 to 13 votes for various key administration proposals.

This time only five Republicans sided with him—Sens. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

In the opposition were 24 Republicans and 21 Democrats. All but four of the Democrats were from the South.

The four were the chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, and Sens. Carl Hayden of Arizona, and Monroney and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Passenger Kills LA Cab Driver

Man Stabbed to Death by Woman Fearful He Meant to Rob Her

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A cab driver was taking his passenger toward her destination via the Harbor Freeway.

The passenger, Alma Hickman, 45, is in jail, booked on suspicion of murder.

Police said Mooney picked up the woman at Union Station Tuesday and was told to drive to 63rd and Avalon.

When the cab was on the freeway Mrs. Hickman told officers she yelled at Mooney, "You're not going the right way! Let me out!"

Officers said Mooney stopped the cab and struggled with her when she tried to jump. Then, police said, Mrs. Hickman drew a knife from her purse and stabbed Mooney.

Witnesses said she jumped from the car and ran across four lanes of traffic. Mrs. Hickman, a domestic worker, then hailed a passing motorcycle officer, who took her into custody.

She told officers she had lived here with a cousin for a year, but was at the station to return to her former home in Delhi, La. When she found her train would not leave for six hours, Mrs. Hickman said she decided to return to the cousin's for dinner.

Explains Whys of Fishy Odor

Some foul protests have reached the National Institute of Drycleaning about the fishy odor in many new garments. It's especially noticeable in the summer heat and humidity.

Some consumers understandably believe that their drycleaner had added this odor.

The Institute explains that the odor is caused by a resin added by the manufacturer to make the garment "wrinkle-resistant." The resin may contain small amounts of urea-formaldehyde. Consequently the fishy odor.

A bulletin issued by NID to its members explain that, "The resin itself, properly cured in manufacture, has no odor."

Simply sniff the garments when shopping, advises the Institute. There's a good chance that drycleaning or laundering will not remove the odor.

Feminine Frills: Here to Dream By

(UPI)—If children's sleepwear manufacturers have anything to do with it, little girls will be going to dreamland in all the delicately feminine frills of a grown-up princess.

The new holiday line, traditionally the prettiest of the year, includes robes and peignoirs with flowers and bows blooming all over. Other touches: eyelet ruffle frosting on pajamas, tricot flounces on gowns. Some have vertical lace bands center, front and back.

Cream Cap Treat Aids Brittle Hair

(UPI)—In time for reconditioning sundried, brittle hair is a cap, similar to caps used in beauty parlors. Hair cream intended for use with the electrically-heated cap provides oil treatments, the manufacturer reports.

The cap is plastic-lined with rubberized waterproof fabric and comes with an extra washable liner.

Prevent Discolor

But Don't Tie Up Booth

OK to Read in Restaurant

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In the area where I am employed as a secretary most of the restaurants leave much to be desired.

I found a small, quiet place owned and operated by a couple who serve good food. Since I eat lunch alone I always bring a magazine to read while waiting to be served, and while eating. Imagine my amazement when the proprietor asked me not to bring any reading matter into the place again as I was holding up a booth for four.

ABBY

I told him I was sorry, and I wouldn't trouble him further by my business. I want you to tell me if it is considered rude to read in a restaurant while dining alone.

NOT INTENTIONALLY RUDE

DEAR NOT: If you read only while waiting to be served and during your meal, the proprietor was out of line. But if you sat alone in a booth for four, and continued to read while others were waiting to be served, you were.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been arguing with my daughter for a week now. She tells me she is "engaged," but she does not have a ring. Is it proper to give a bridal shower without one? I say no. She says her boy friend can't afford a ring right now. How do you feel about this?

INQUISITIVE

DEAR INQUISITIVE: All that is really necessary for an "engagement" is a mutual promise to wed. The ring is only a symbol. Bridal showers are in order only after the wedding date has been set.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am annoyed, disgusted and burned up! I just read another letter in your column about "the poor old parents" who have nothing left in their lives but their children.

If the poor old parents have nothing in their lives but their children, it's their own fault! There are so many interesting things to learn and do at any age. If an older person is sufficiently good company, their children will seek them out for the pleasure of being with them.

★ ★ ★

I love my children and grandchildren, but I don't forget that I am an individual with my own life to live, and so are they. I feel I must earn their friendship by being worth knowing just as I must earn the friendship of my neighbor down the street. If the time comes when my children come to see me out of "duty," I will consider myself a miserable failure.

★ ★ ★

These sessions for 8- and 9-year olds meet 4 to 5:30 p.m. weekly for ten weeks beginning Sept. 19.

Takes Cranbrook Post

CRANBROOK — A graduate of Cranbrook Academy of Art has been named the new head of its weaving and textile design department, according to Zoltan Sepeshy, Academy of Art President.

Glen F. Kaufman, 27, assumed his new position with resumption of classes at the Academy of Art last Monday. He succeeds internationally famous Marianne Strengell, who personally selected him for the job and with whom he studied at the Academy of Art for two years. He received his master of fine arts degree in weaving in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Kaufman won his bachelor of science degree in education from the University of Wisconsin in 1954 and spent two years with the Air Force before resuming studies at Cranbrook Academy of Art.

★ ★ ★

Following his graduation from here he studied for a year at the State School of Arts and Crafts in Copenhagen, Denmark, on a Fulbright scholarship. After that he was with Dorothy Liebes' firm in New York and for the past several months has been associated as a consultant and designer with Edward Fields, Inc., creators of custom rugs.

★ ★ ★

Be Kind; Smoke If Alone

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband and I have been invited to spend the weekend at the home of relatives of his. My husband tells me they are opposed to smoking. My husband does not smoke, but I do. Under the circumstances, does courtesy exact that I refrain from smoking during our stay with them? Might I be permitted to smoke in the privacy of the bedroom we will occupy?

A: As they disapprove of smoking, you should not smoke in their presence, but you may do so in your bedroom, after having made certain that there is an ashtray or other receptacle for your ashes and cigarette ends. You should dispose of the cigarette butts as soon as possible.

Q: I am a mere man asking why it is necessary, on being invited to dinner, to "buy oneself out" by bringing the hostess a present. Conversely, I resent my guests presenting me with gifts of any nature when accepting my hospitality.

Surely I value their friendship sufficiently to invite them and do not expect them literally to pay for the dinner by donating presents. How may I convey my dislike of this to those who apparently think it is otherwise?

A: Taking a present to one's host, or hostess, is very definitely not an obligation of etiquette, and I can only say that this must be a custom of your particular neighborhood, and I agree with you that the sooner it is discouraged, the better. Tell your friends very frankly not to bring presents to you.

Q: I am going to take a cruise, alone. I know that I shall be seated at a table with other people in the dining room, and I am wondering if I should introduce myself to them and if so, how do I go about it?

A: If the director of your cruise has not introduced you to the others at your table, you may say, "I'm Jane Smith from Boston."

Soggy, Ruined South Picks Up the Remnants

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Texas and western Louisiana areas in watery ruin turned today to a staggering task of rebuilding left by Hurricane Carla, one of the mightiest ever to roar out of the Gulf of Mexico.

★ ★ ★

With a possibility more bodies yet may be found, the death toll stood at 15 along 250 miles of coastline laid waste by hurricane gales up to 175 miles per hour, raging seas and a rash of tornadoes. Damage which may take months to compute ran into hundreds of millions.

THREATS TO HEALTH

Added to the mammoth recovery chore were problems of polluted water supplies and companion health threats in scores of towns and cities, a few still under as much as eight feet of water.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Also ahead was the return home for most of an estimated half million people who moved inland as Carla approached, a mass migration averting much heavier loss of life.

★ ★ ★

Ten of the deaths occurred as the dying winds of Carla hurled back tornadoes after the hurricane's center was many miles inland. Finally shorn of its vicious gales, remnants of the giant tropical storm moved northeastward out of Texas toward Missouri.

OFFICIAL TO COME

In a telephone conference Tuesday night, President Kennedy told Texas Gov. Prince Daniel that the director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Frank B. Ellis, would arrive in Houston Thursday to inspect storm-ravaged areas.

★ ★ ★

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson prepared to fly back to his home state with other federal officials. Daniel said the President may come to Texas later.

★ ★ ★

The governor said Galveston and inundated Texas City, on the mainland nearby, "right now appear to have the greatest need for additional state help from the standpoint of food, health and the protection of property."

★ ★ ★

National Guardsmen, civil defense and local officials sloshed back into devastated industrial centers and small places as huge tides, winds and rains diminished.

Many residents who fled northward will not be permitted to return, however, until water, sewer and power service are restored.

One of the more dramatic scenes was in Galveston, an island city cut off from the mainland since Saturday and target for a tornado before dawn Tuesday.

GUARD WELCOME

Girls waved and blew kisses as a convoy of 78 National Guard troops rolled into battered Galveston. It took them three hours to make the 50-mile trip from Houston, at times creeping through three feet of water covering the causeway.

Guardsmen patrolled in Galveston and other places to prevent looting. City Manager Robert E. Layton ordered an 8 p.m. curfew.

Hospital attendants listed among Galveston's six tornado dead Mrs. J. N. Olson, 62, a city school board member; Marie Harris, 57, and Ennie Miles, about 50. Another tornado wrecked the village of Fullbright in north Texas but caused no deaths or injuries.

★ ★ ★

Four persons died in a tornado striking at Jonesboro, La. It leveled at least two dozen houses and several persons were listed as missing.

★ ★ ★

Texas City and Freeport were among Texas areas sharing some of the heaviest property loss. After an aerial survey, Associated Press staff writer Charles Green reported thousands who fled those cities would be shocked.

ONLY DEBRIS

"I'm glad they couldn't see those homes yesterday when four of us flew a light plane over the Galveston - Texas City - Freeport area," Green said. "They would have cried. Many will anyway, because they'll find nothing but debris. Some won't even find debris."

★ ★ ★

There was still muddy water up to the rooftops of houses and pouring through business places in Texas City. About 2,000 persons trapped by the storm were rescued from emergency shelters in Texas City. Food and water was rationed and they were without electricity.

SHATTERED HOMES—The tornado which slammed into Galveston, Tex., Tuesday slashed through this residential area and splintered these wooden homes.

PATH OF MISERY—The dark arrow shows where Hurricane Carla's heaviest punch was felt. Smaller arrows indicate its present course in less powerful status. Kansas City was getting floods from the storm today.

Teen-Agers' Painting Was Intoxicating

SAPULPA, Okla. (AP) — They weren't drinking, boss, honest!

Ed Witney, the boss, became suspicious when he heard loud, slurred singing coming from the basement of the Sapulpa High School building where two teenagers were painting.

He found one boy passed out on the floor and the other having navigational trouble.

It seems the boys used an alcohol-base paint and the fumes gave them a sense of intoxication.

Self Service Started With a Bushel Basket

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP) — Retired Grocer Myron E. Betts figures he must have run one of the world's first self-service markets. It was back in 1917 and Betts called it his "basketeria."

"We just placed two dozen half-bushel baskets by the front door," he says. "The idea went over big from the start."

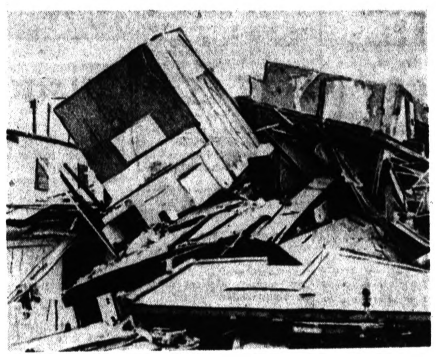
★ ★ ★

"I had only one customer averse to the idea," he says. "One prominent lady said she'd feel like a thief in the store helping herself. She threatened to take her trade elsewhere unless I waited on her, so I did."

Fisherman, 35, Lands 4 Injuries With 1 Bullet

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—John Kastner, 35, Denver, was fishing in the Arapahoe Lake area south of Laramie when he accidentally dropped his 44-caliber revolver.

A single bullet wounded him in four places. The bullet struck the calf of his right leg, grazed his right thigh, nicked his right wrist and struck his upper right arm. He was not seriously hurt.



EVEN THE KITCHEN SINK—High tides and winds from Hurricane Carla piled up this mountain of debris in a Galveston, Tex., street. A kitchen sink, complete with drawers, shelves and a back wall is included.

COURTHOUSE SUFFERS—About 1,200 refugees were sheltered in the Galveston, Tex., courthouse when the tornado spawned by Hurricane Carla bashed into the city. The building suffered extensive damage but injuries were miraculously low.

DISMAL DISCOVERY—Dazed residents of Galveston, Tex., wander through debris laden streets and amid wind-ripped homes after Hurricane Carla and its companion tornado struck the city.

TEARS OF NECESSITY — Mrs. Janie Longcria couldn't explain to her infant son Frankie that the nurse was helping him by jabbing his arm with the needle. Mrs. J. J. Leonard is applying an inoculation protecting the lad against typhoid fever. The Houston, Tex., Health Department began inoculating people returning to areas flooded in the wake of Hurricane Carla. Violent Carla, now merely a rainstorm, was linked in some way with 15 deaths and brought damage in the hundreds of millions of dollars during its journey through Texas and Louisiana.

Neighbor Saves 2 Children From Blazing Shed

Two Waterford Township children who had been playing with matches in a shed yesterday were rescued from the building after it caught fire when gasoline ignited.

★ ★ ★

Douglas Lang, 6 of 6564 Cloverton St., and Peggy Fast, 8, of 6697 Cloverton St., were in the shed back of the Fast residence when a can of gasoline caught fire in the doorway.

The children's screams attracted James Spasato who lives across the street at 6680 Cloverton St.

Neither youngster was injured but Spasato's hand was cut.

PIERCED HIS HEART—Larry Goodwin, 19, holds up a nail that ricocheted into his chest and pierced his heart in a freak accident at the University of Kansas City. He and his brother Joe, 20, were working with a stud driving 22-caliber gun, driving nails into a concrete wall when one of the nails ricocheted. Doctors removed it in a one-hour operation and he is reported in good condition.

Film Makers Should Study 'Gone With the Wind' Movie

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The biggest grossing movie this year is one first released in 1939—"Gone With the Wind."

MGM reports that the screen classic, still the finest movie ever made, has grossed more than 12 millions worldwide in its fifth reissue. It surpassed another studio blockbuster, "Ben-Hur," now in its third year of showings.

PASSES $75 MILLION

The gross for "GWTW" has passed the $75-million mark and it undoubtedly will be the first movie ever to gross $100 million. It's re-issued every five years or so—and with those grosses, you'll never see it on TV's late, late show.

I have always felt that Hollywood could cure most of its headaches if its producers would be required to pass a six-week study course on "Gone With the Wind" before being allowed to make a picture.

David O. Selznick gave the picture a lavish production but not a wasteful one. It had a $5-million budget, high for 1939, but peanuts today with "Ben-Hur" costing $15 million and "Mutiny on the Bounty," not yet finished with the tab at $19 million.

Where Hollywood could really learn a lesson from Selznick was in his genius at casting. "GWTW" was the best-cast picture in history. After 22 years, there is not a part in it that could have been played better.

HAD GABLE IN MIND

Scarlett O'Hara was harder to find. A Selznick aide recalls that a two-year search for Scarlett was much more than good publicity for the picture.

★ ★ ★

Most of the biggest stars in the business begged for the role but Selznick knew what he wanted and turned them all down.

★ ★ ★

"This part had to be cast perfectly," Selznick recalls. "I would not be pressured. I would not compromise my conception of the girl."

★ ★ ★

Agent Myron Selznick, David's brother, brought an obscure English actress on the set one day while they were burning Atlanta. It was about the 500th girl Myron had shown his brother.

★ ★ ★

This time, David's face lit up and Vivien Leigh became Scarlett. The announcement almost rekindled a new War between the States but Selznick was adamant.

Then at the premiere in Atlanta, Miss Leigh shocked some of the natives by exclaiming when the band played "Dixie:"

"Isn't that wonderful? They're playing the song from our picture." But when the movie unreeled, the South forgave.

Gives Expensive Gift to Celebrate Wedding

NEW YORK (UPI) — Following an old Scandinavian custom of giving a gift to others to celebrate a happy occasion, Jan Mitchell, a New York restaurateur (Longchamps) and art collector, presented a valuable painting to the Museum of Modern Art here in honor of his recent wedding.

Mitchell, a native of Sweden, gave the musueum the surrealist drawing, "The Family," by the famed Spanish painter Miro.

Lion Gourmets Eat Light, Snub Elephant Menu

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Officials at the Buffalo Zoo say the elephant has the biggest appetite, but the male lion has the most expensive one.

The daily diet for the zoo's eldest elephant, Lulu, consists of a bale of hay, seven gallons of Omolene (a mixture of oats, wheat, corn, molasses and bran); and a pail of apples and carrots.

The big lion's 13-pound chunk of horsemeat looks small beside the elephant's menu. But at 27 cents a pound it costs much more.

May Use Paste to Heal Patients

Surgeons Find a New Method of Closing Cuts on Human Body

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pretty soon surgeons may begin pasting patients together instead of employing the needle-and-thread method used for centuries.

★ ★ ★

The new method, developed by a group of 11 surgeons, headed by Prof. Seiji Kimoto at Tokyo University's Medical School, has been successfully applied in the cases of 60 dogs and 20 rabbits.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

It was proved that cuts on skins, veins, windpipes and intestines were closed in a matter of minutes with use of the adhesive. The adhesive on the cuts was absorbed in about a week, leaving little trace of the cuts, according to the doctors.

LAUNCHED STUDY

The surgeons launched the study on the adhesive method in February 1960. The early part of their study was spent in a search for the right kind of adhesive which could be used on a human body.

After a series of trials and errors, Dr. Kimoto found that the Eastman 910, an American synthetic resin adhesive, normally used in electrical work, met all qualifications, according to the information office of the Japanese Consulate General in New York.

The adhesive, applied on wet surfaces, was found to be harmless to human organs, easy to sterilize, and nondeteriorative at normal body temperatures.

★ ★ ★

Also, it was found to have strong and quick adhesive power, and was absorbable within a few weeks into the human body, the surgeons reported.

West Germans are playing again, and with this has come a revival in the piano industry. Sales are described as remarkable as a new piano costs almost as much as a Volkswagen auto.

Western Peaks Lure Climbers

Lovely but Dangerous Cascade, Olympic Mts. Call the Adventurous

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—three climbers pause high on the glacier-torn flanks of 14,410-foot Mount Rainier in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Below them is the twisted, jumbled mass of Nisqually Glacier, squeezed between sheer rock cliffs, cascading several miles until it disappears from view at the timberline, where tourists in bright clothes are picnicking and taking photographs at Paradise Valley.

Suddenly a 200-foot block of ice, its base weakened by the morning sun, topples slowly earthward from the glacier.

It shatters like a thunderbolt on the rock-hard glacier floor. A million cubes and splinters of ice rumble down the Nisqually for more than a minute.

The climbers watch in silence, then adjust their rucksacks and continue up the mountain—roped together for protection, but each feeling puny after witnessing the awful might of nature.

EVERY WEEKEND

A similar scene is repeated every summer weekend in the Northwest, where climbers come from throughout the country to test their stamina, skill and nerves among the giant peaks of the Cascades and Olympics.

The Cascade and Olympic ranges of the Northwest are among the most beautiful, and dangerous in the country.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-eight glaciers on the mountain range from four to six miles in length, and some of them are within a stone's throw of good highways.

Cincinnati Has Unique Boast: Its Own Railroad

CINCINNATI (AP) — Because Cincinnatians of the 1860's wanted to maintain the city's claim to being the Gateway to the South, Cincinnati is the only Ohio city — and perhaps the only city in the nation — to operate a railroad.

The Ohio General Assembly authorized the city to build a railroad south to Chattanooga, Tenn., a century ago because the riverboat was fading from the scene.

The city still owns it under the name Cincinnati Southern Railroad System. It is operated under a 99-year lease by the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway. The line winds through some of the nation's most rugged country and its curving tracks, steep grades and other challenges have produced a number of railroad legends.

Report Vacancies in USAF Jails; Forced to Close

HONOLULU (AP) — The Pacific Air Force is throwing away the keys to its jails. No occupants.

Col. Calvin V. Robinson, security and law enforcement officer for the Pacific, says the command has only three jails left in operation.

Keys were thrown away last year to five brigs in Japan, two in Okinawa and one in the Philippines.

★ ★ ★

The brig at Hickam Air Force Base near Honolulu is still open for business, but has had no customers for three months.

Lt. Col. Jay C. Milligan attributes the growing "career attitude" and maturity of airmen to the declining need for jailhouses.

'Recess Not Enough to Keep Kids Fit'

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) — Recess may be good enough to let the steam out of elementary school youngsters, but it isn't good enough to keep them physically fit, said Thomas Hines, director of physical education for the Brookline, Mass., public schools.

Children should have at least 30 minutes a day of supervised instruction in running, walking, climbing, jumping, throwing, dodging and catching. Hines said in an article in School Management Magazine. This program should include elementary gymnastics, tumbling, use of apparatus and rhythmic calisthenics.

Surplus to Be Sold

LANSING (UPI)—Surplus property owned by the State Highway Department in Muskegon and Ottawa counties will be offered for sale Sept. 26 at a public auction in Muskegon Heights. The department appraised the 23 parcels at $22,310. The sale will be held at the Norton Township Hall.

Area Says 'No' to Flint

FLINT (AP) — A proposal to annex Flint Township to the city of Flint was defeated in Tuesday's election. The approval of both the township and city was required. The proposal was approved by the city 18,312 to 4,393, but was defeated by township voters 4,444 to 1,360.

THE EXCEPTION — The sign is definite about its restrictions but apparently does not refer to felines as this one proves the case in a Milwaukee front yard.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Exploding ammunition Tuesday injured three firemen as they fought a blaze sweeping through a downtown building housing an arms shop and a grocery.

Motor Stocks Lead Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Strength in motor stocks led the stock market higher again today in moderately active early activity.

Besides Ford and American Motors gains, Chrysler hit a new 1961 high with a gain of about a point. General Motors moved up nearly a point and Studebaker-Packard, Tuesday's most active stock, was heavily traded and up a major fraction after opening with a gain of ⅛ to 11-⅝ on a block of 8,000 shares.

Other industrial groups also advanced for the most part, but it was the activity, as well as the strength, in the motor group that caught the eye of traders. This came despite the fact hope vanished for an over-all settlement Thursday of the United Auto Workers strike against General Motors. Wall Street apparently liked the idea that workers at some plants which have reached local agreements were ordered back to work by the UAW.

* * *

American Stock Exchange prices showed a wide preponderance of gainers. Advances ran to a point for Aerojet, while smaller upward moves were made by Anken Chemical, Barnes Engineering, Cenco, Edo Corp., Hazeltine and Syntex. Fairchild Camera dropped 1¼ and small losses hit Creole Petroleum and Imperial Oil.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

The Longer the Name, the Longer the Recipe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug industry paperwork is almost as staggering as the names of the newest drugs.

Take corticosteroid, a drug used in the battle against arthritis.

Death Tolls Parallel

EAST LANSING (AP)—There have been 1,032 persons killed in highway accidents in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. This was only one death ahead of the 1,031 persons killed during the same period last year.

Some 60 volunteer workers will participate in the drive to get adult members to renew membership, and also to bring in 200 new members.

* * *

George A. Stout will serve as general chairman of the forthcoming campaign to run through Sept. 23. Assisting him will be Dr. Leo Wasserberger, John B. Wilson, [illegible] Hettenlocher and Walter Wilmien, division chairmen.

A youth membership campaign is slated for next month.

Get Funds to Study Teacher Shortcoming

OXFORD, Ohio (UPI) — Miami University has received a $12,535 grant from the National Science Foundation for a one-year study on "Improving the Elementary Teacher's Abilities in Selection and Use of Science Equipment."

Dr. L. Warren Nelson, education professor who will direct the study, said it has been found that much equipment supplied elementary teachers is unused because the teachers are unfamiliar with it.

"One-fifth confused a tuning fork with a horseshoe magnet," in placing orders for equipment, Nelson said.

Red Paint Job on His Car Shocks Man

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "It's raining red paint!" exclaimed an excited citizen on the phone, complaining about his dripping red automobile.

An investigation by the city's Public Works Department showed that a workmen scooping up red dye in a chemical plant was standing too close to a ventilator.

The fan was drawing up dust and spraying it into the rainy outdoors.

"The dye has a high tinctorial value," said an official. "A little spot, when wet, goes a long, long way."

Executed Murderer Leaves Message

MACALESTER, Okla. (UPI) — Ray Allen Young was executed last year for the killing of an Oklahoma highway patrolman who had been a lifelong personal friend. He left this message scrawled on prison cell walls:

"Life cannot be replaced . . .

"Make a conscientious effort to be an obedient and patriotic citizen.

"Teach others to have respect for civil officials and the state.

"This is the most effective way to prevent crime in the future.

"A just man wants to make restitution."

FIRE FIGHTERS' FRIEND—This is a new aluminized portable shelter that may save forest fire fighters' lives when trapped by flames. Fingers and hat brim of man inside are visible in the opening. The shelter folds to the size of a rolled newspaper and is carried on the belt. In tests, while temperatures outside the cone soared to 600 degrees, it was only 130 degrees inside —uncomfortable but not fatal. Developed by Agriculture Dept.'s Forest Service, the shelter is being issued to its personnel.

Air-Conditioning Bad for Chickens

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) —Hens in a hot climate are better off without air-conditioning as long as it gets cool at night, according to recent research at Pennsylvania State University.

* * *

A two-year experiment showed white leghorn pullets in a temperature cycle that ranged from 55 to 90 degrees F. had lower mortality and better egg production than layers living at a constant air-conditioned 55 degrees. Mortality rate was up, however, and production down for hens in a constant 90-degree environment.

They Missed Her All Right—But Not for 27 Years

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The woman driver hadn't done anything wrong. But another automobile had collided with the rear of hers. So she had to present the officer her driver's license.

* * *

Officer R. L. Brock said the woman's license had been issued when the state gave permanent ones. But for several years the state has required renewal tests every four years.

"The tests are so different now," she said. "They say you have to parallel park, and I hate to be embarrassed. I thought, I do so little driving, they'll never miss me."

Jim Farley Puts In Word for Politicians

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Jim Farley, a Democrat who was postmaster general in the Roosevelt administration, was asked if he would become a politician again if he were a young man today.

"Sure," he said. "I believe everyone should be active in politics. Most persons criticize but aren't willing to do the job themselves. I've got to know most political leaders of the last 40 years, and with few exceptions, all had a good side."

Mark 10th Year of Operation for TV System

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (AP)—This is the 10th year of operation of WFM-TV, one of the largest military closed-circuit television systems in the world.

WFM-TV, the first educational television system of its kind, began operation at the U.S. Army Signal Corps School here in 1951 with just one camera installed in a small studio and one receiver in a nearby classroom.

* * *

Today, it has seven closed-circuit channels feeding 468 classroom television receivers, 35 post hospital receivers and large-screen projection units in five post theaters and auditoriums.

The televised programs reach an audience of more than 10,000 military personnel.

Student Uses Imagination

Gravel Dresses Up Apartment

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — The challenges of a drab attic apartment have been met and mastered by a young architect student who thought a gravel floor would be an interesting first step.

Converted gas light fixtures and sloping ceilings combined with peeling paint and rough floors to give the third-story apartment a shabby look three years ago when Dan Fox, 25, moved in with three other University of Minnesota architecture students.

"The problems created the solutions," said Fox.

Many of the closets and an alcove off the living room with a garret window were impractical due to the ceiling slope.

* * *

So the foyer adjoining the living room became a plant-dotted solarium with a gravel floor and a boardwalk built across it from the entry hall. One of the closets recently was rebuilt into a storage rack for Fox's large record collection and others also have found new uses.

A GATHERING PLACE

Neighbors raised a lot of questions when Fox spent nearly two days carrying buckets of gravel up the stairs for the solarium floor.

Friends have made the artistic home a focal point for social gatherings and some have added paintings and sculptures to the furnishings.

The converted gas lights around the walls gave Fox the idea for mounting plastic covers with wood frames about the bare bulbs. The result is a semioriental pattern which blends well with modern styled furniture.

Guests find unique couches and low stools designed and built by Fox to be comfortable and attractive. Foam cushions on top of plywood frames form a separated corner couch.

End tables are gravel-filled boxes. A suspended gourd-like ceramic planter allows a vine to hang at the living room corner.

* * *

Rather than a few conversation pieces, the entire furnishings, from open grill chairs to red danish cookware, speak of fine taste.

Guttenberg Town Decides to Keep Wrong Spelling

GUTTENBERG, Iowa (AP) — Residents once again have decided to leave the extra "T" in the community's name, even though the German printing inventor for whom it is named spelled it Gutenberg.

The story is that a draftsman, a century ago, misspelled the name in drawing the original town plat.

Those who advocated the change cited tradition and the possible distinction of being the only town in the world to honor the printer. Opponents said letterheads—and habits—would have to be changed.

* * *

The special election, paid for by the Guttenberg Rotary Club, resulted in a 208-166 vote against the change. In 1949, the proposal was defeated 127-88.

Human Genetics Group Wants N-Weapon Ban

ROME (AP) — An international conference on human genetics, bringing together 700 experts from 31 countries, called Tuesday for a ban on the development and use of nuclear weapons. The conference being held at the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization building here, unanimously approved the resolution.

Without limiting the extent of the exceptions, the term shall not include any tent, trailer or vehicle used for living purposes; shall not include any camp, club, nursing home, convalescent or rest home, boarding house or other building in which any room or apartment is let for hire.

4 A family is one person or a group of two or more persons living together and related by bonds of consanguinity, marriage or legal adoption occupying a dwelling as a single housekeeping unit with a common set of cooking and toilet facilities independent of any other housekeeping unit, provided, however, that a family will not lose its character as such by the employment of domestic servants or the entertainment of gratuitous guests.

5 A lot is a piece or parcel of land occupied or intended to be occupied by a principal building or use and the accessory buildings and uses customarily incident thereto, including open spaces not less in extent than those required in connection therewith by this ordinance.

6 A non-conforming use is a lawful use of a building or land existing on the effective date of this ordinance but which is not a use otherwise permitted hereunder. 7 Essential services. The phrase "essential services" means the erection, construction, alteration or maintenance by public utilities or municipal departments or commissions, of underground or overhead gas, electrical, steam or water transmission or distribution systems, including towers, poles, wires, mains, drains, sewers, pipes, conduits, cables, fire alarm boxes, police call boxes, traffic signals and signs, hydrants, and other similar equipment and accessories in connection therewith, but not including buildings or storage yards even though reasonably necessary for the furnishing of service by such utilities, departments or commissions.

II. General Provisions

1 Except as hereinafter provided, no building or premises or part thereof, shall be used, altered, constructed or reconstructed, except in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance.

2 No wall, fence or shrubbery shall be erected, maintained, or planted which shall unreasonably obstruct or interfere with traffic visibility on a curve of any public highway or at any intersection either of public highways or of a public highway and a private way.

3 In interpreting and applying the provisions of this ordinance they shall be held to be the minimum requirements adopted for the promotion of the public health, comfort, safety, convenience and general welfare. It is not intended by this ordinance to interfere with, abrogate or annul any easements, covenants or other agreements between parties, provided, however, that where this ordinance imposes a greater restriction upon the uses of buildings or land, the provisions of this ordinance shall control.

4 Essential services shall be permitted as authorized and regulated by law and by the ordinances of the Village of Lake Angelus and shall be exempt from the provisions and control of this ordinance.

5 No lot or parcel of land in the Village of Lake Angelus which is riparian to Lake Angelus shall be partitioned or subdivided in such manner as to create therefrom non-riparian lots or parcels and no riparian lot shall have less than one hundred (100) feet of frontage on the lake.

6 On all lake front lots the principal building shall be set back at least fifty (50) feet from the lake and all other lots shall have a front yard, free of any structures above grade, of at least forty (40) feet. Every lot shall have a side yard, free of any structures above grade, of at least fifteen (15) feet, except that a boat house at the water's edge on the lot line may be permitted by the Board of Appeals with the consent of the adjoining property owner and under such conditions as it may impose to preserve the essential character of the neighborhood.

III. Residential District

1 The entire Village of Lake Angelus shall constitute one residential district in which only the following buildings and uses shall be permitted:

a. Single family dwellings.

b. Farms and non-commercial gardens, provided that no building for the care and shelter of animals and no place for the storage of manure shall be located nearer than forty (40) feet from a lot line.

c. Buildings and property of the Village of Lake Angelus and other buildings, public in character, used for scientific purposes, or for religious worship by the general public, when approved by the Board of Appeals as hereinafter provided.

d. Accessory uses customarily incident to any of the above permitted uses including not more than one private garage, and including signs pertaining to the sale or lease of the premises or part thereof. Dwellings for the use of the servants or employees of the owner or occupant of the principal dwelling on a lot shall be considered permissible accessory buildings.

2 No dwelling shall be erected or maintained within the Village of Lake Angelus upon a lot or parcel of land of less area than thirty thousand (30,000) square feet and not more than one principal dwelling shall be erected or maintained on any such lot or parcel.

IV. Board of Appeals

1 The Village Commission shall act as a Board of Appeals pursuant to the provisions and authority of Section 5 of Act 207 of the Public Acts of 1921 as amended.

2 Specifically the Board of Appeals shall hear and decide appeals from and review any order, requirement, decision or determination made by an administrative official charged with the enforcement of this ordinance and shall also hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under this ordinance.

3 The Board of Appeals may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises and to that end shall have all the powers of the official from whom the appeal is taken. Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of this ordinance, the Board of Appeals shall have power in passing upon appeals to vary or modify any of its rules, regulations or provisions so that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done, but in doing so shall not permit a use for any purpose not herein expressly authorized.

4 The approval of the Board of Appeals required under Section 1c of Article III above shall be based upon its determination that the proposed structure and use will not create any threat to public health or safety, will not unduly aggravate traffic problems of the Village and will be so designed and laid out as to be consistent with the general trend and character of the development of the Village.

V. Non-Conforming Uses

1 Any lawful non-conforming use existing on the effective date of this ordinance may be continued, provided, however, that no such use may be changed to some other non-conforming use, and no such use may be expanded or extended beyond the building or premises in which or on which it is operated at the effective date of this ordinance.

2 The foregoing prohibition shall not prevent the remodeling, enlargement or improvement of any structure utilized for a lawful permitted use merely because such structure is located upon a lot non-conforming as to size or yard area.

3 No non-conforming use of a building or land may be re-established if such use has been discontinued for a period of one year or more.

VI. Enforcement

1 No construction or alteration of any building shall be commenced without first filing with the Village President or Clerk a plan of such work of sufficient detail to indicate compliance with this ordinance and obtaining the certificate of such official that the proposed work is in compliance herewith, provided, however, that repairs or interior alterations costing One Thousand Dollars or less and not violating this ordinance shall not require such certificate or submission of plans.

2 The provisions of this ordinance shall be enforced by any elected official of the Village. Any violation of the provisions of this ordinance shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100) or by imprisonment for not to exceed Ninety (90) days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

3 Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense. The rights and remedies provided herein are cumulative, and in addition to any other remedies provided by law, including those provided for in Act 207 of the Public Acts of 1921 as amended.

4 Any violation of the provisions of this ordinance is hereby declared to be a nuisance per se.

VII. Amendments

1 This ordinance may be amended by referendum from time to time but only in compliance with the applicable provisions of Act 207 of the Public Acts of 1921, as amended, and the charter of the Village of Lake Angelus.

VIII. Validity

1 If any section, paragraph, subdivision, clause or provision of this ordinance be declared by any court to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the ordinance as a whole, or any part thereof other than the part so declared to be invalid.

IX. Repeal

X. Effective Date

1 This ordinance shall be given immediate effect upon its publication following its adoption by the electors of the Village of Lake Angelus by referendum at the election to be held on Saturday the second day of September, 1961.

NOTICE

Foregoing Ordinance 19 of the Village of Lake Angelus, having been approved by the electors of the Village of Lake Angelus at the Regular Election held September 2, 1961, by a vote of 83 for and 29 against, is hereby declared to be in effect with this publication in The Pontiac Press of September 13, 1961.
