Question Victim's Kin

Vengeance-Minded Uncle Disappears

By PETE LOCHBILER

Where is Herman Kierdorf?

The question plagued Oakland County authorities today as they obtained a warrant in an attempt to relocate the ex-convict and former Teamster boss, whose terribly burned nephew hovers between life and death. The 67-year-old unionist, whose police record stretches back to 1929 and includes both a state and federal prison term, was last reported seen about 8:30 p.m. last night.

An aide of Teamster leader James R. Hoffa and a business agent for Teamsters Joint Council 32 in Detroit until he quit Friday, Kierdorf apparently "slipped away from what was supposed to be secret surveillance by police, Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor admitted today.

"At the moment," Taylor said at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning, "we have no idea of Kierdorf's whereabouts. But we are making every effort to find him."

The warrant, ordered by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem upon complaint of Madison Heights Police Chief Robert E. Richardson, was taken to Madison Heights Municipal Judge Hendrick Smit for signature.

It charges Kierdorf with illegally possessing a silencer for a German Luger pistol, which authorities have reason to believe is his.

Taylor said that Kierdorf was last reported headed towards his Madison Heights home, after spending most of yesterday at the hospital, where the nephew, Frank, has been in critical condition since early Monday.

Frank, 56, is the business agent for Teamster Local 332, in Flint. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Rain Here Tonight, Clearing Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be fair and cooler with an expected high of 82-86. The outlook for tomorrow night is mostly fair with a low of 60-64.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest recording preceding 8 a.m. was 62 degrees. The thermometer read 88 at 1 p.m.

Party Nominees Being Chosen at Polls Today

All but 5 of County's 295 Precincts Now Vote by Machine

Voters throughout Michigan turned to the polls today to decide who will represent their political parties on the November ballot.

In addition to picking party candidates for county, legislative, congressional and some state offices, balloters will also name precinct delegates to finish up the selection job for them.

The delegates will select the nominees to round out the state ballot, in party conventions slated for later this month.

Predicted showers are expected

Election Returns

Returns from today's primary election will be available from The Press by telephone as rapidly as tabulations can be made this evening. As polls in the 295 precincts of the county do not close until 8 p.m., no returns are expected before 9. The phone number is FE 2-8181.

to hold off until tonight, which will make the trip to the voting machine a dry one, but hot.

Polls opened at 7 a.m., and will remain open until 8 p.m., with all those in line, at that time being allowed to cast their ballots.

Facing the voters is an array of 29 Republican nomination-seekers, and 43 Democrats also bent on winning a place on their party's ball.

State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery said nearly a million voters should turn out in the state's 5,162 precincts.

Oakland County has 295, and all but five are equipped with machines to speed the returns and ease the balloting task.

It was hoped that late afternoon or early evening showers might bring some relief from the predicted 90 degree heat, encouraging more voters out before the closing hour of the polls.

GM Will Again Present Cars in Motorama

General Motors will again introduce its new cars for 1959 at the Motorama show this fall.

The seven-day show will open in New York Oct. 16 and run through Oct. 22. Then it moves to Boston for nine days Nov. 8.

Using the theme "imagination in motion," the Motorama includes the complete line of 1959 model Buicks, Cadillacs, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets, along with a half-hour stage show with a cast of 100.

This is the fifth Motorama. The show started in 1953 with a lapse of one year in 1957 when there was an industrywide auto show.

Almost 8,000,000 visitors have visited the Motoramas in previous years.

Kremlin Delay Puzzles West

Diplomats Wonder Why No Answer Received on Summit Proposals

LONDON (UPI) — Western diplomats were reported puzzled today by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's delay in answering the Western notes on the projected summit conference on the Middle East crisis.

Khrushchev's answer may come today, according to reports from Moscow.

But there was some speculation here that the delay may indicate a shift in Kremlin policy regarding the heads-of-government meeting.

Information reaching here from Moscow suggested Khrushchev may be taking his time to ponder the differing Anglo-American and French proposals on the meeting. Western diplomats in Moscow were reported confident yesterday that Khrushchev would accept the Anglo-American proposal.

British and French notes were delivered in Moscow last Thursday; President Eisenhower's message was dispatched Friday.

In the past, Khrushchev's replies have come within 24 to 48 hours. They have contained reminders of the "urgency" of a meeting to resolve the Middle East situation.

Fighting for Life

FRANK KIERDORF

His condition remained critical at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning from burns over much of his body.

Hoffa Faces Questions on Human Torch Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Teamster President James R. Hoffa makes his long-heralded return appearance before the Senate Rackets Committee today in time to face questioning about the "human torch" attack on one of his associates.

Hoffa's second encounter with the committee was given added drama yesterday by the ghastly fate which befell Frank Kierdorf, business agent for Teamster Union Local 332 at Flint, Mich.

Asked about his immediate reaction to the brutality, the Teamster leader said before entering the committee room:

"I have absolutely no comment about anything."

Kierdorf, who appeared before the committee last year, was sadistically burned by two men at Pontiac, Mich. At about the same time, his uncle Herman Kierdorf, also a Teamster official, received an anonymous telephone call threatening him with the same treatment.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said both men got their jobs from Hoffa and were kept on by the union despite testimony linking them with violence, extortion and other improper practices.

Kennedy and Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said they had no information on whether the burning of Frank Kierdorf and the threat against his uncle had any connection with his appearances before the committee.

Herman Kierdorf was called as a witness last week as part of the committee's current investigation of alleged gangster infiltration of both labor and management. (Continued on Page 15, col. 6)

Victim Gives Details From Hospital Bed

Warrant Out for Relative for Possessing Weapon With Silencer

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Police from two counties today sought to unravel the "human torch" mystery of Frank Kierdorf as the Oakland County prosecutor's office signed a warrant against his uncle for having a gun with a silencer.

Two big questions remained unanswered today: Where is the spot where Kierdorf was set afire Sunday by two attackers, and where is his uncle, Herman Kierdorf, of Madison Heights?

At daybreak today state police, sheriff, township and city police cars from Oakland and Genesee Counties patrolled back roads in the hopes of finding the spot vaguely described by Frank Kierdorf yesterday.

The 56-year-old business agent for Flint Teamsters Local 332 who testified before the Senate Rackets Committee last year feebly told his story late yesterday from a cot on the third floor of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

As told to Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, Kierdorf's story went like this:

About 10:15 Sunday night Kierdorf was in his small home at 613 W. Stewart St., Flint, when he heard a knock on the front door. He opened the door to find a man he did not know.

This man said he had some "organizing" problems he wanted to discuss with Kierdorf.

He asked Kierdorf to accompany him to a Pontiac bar to talk these problems over "because we didn't want our bosses to know what we're talking about."

Dressed in a shirt, undershirt and shorts, trousers, shoes and socks, Kierdorf went to put on a coat.

But the man told him to "come as you are, the boys are all dressed the way you are."

Slipping on a bathrobe instead, Kierdorf left his home and entered a dark car, believed to be a 1952 or 1953 Packard. There was another man in the car. Kierdorf mumbled that he didn't know either. They were dressed in coveralls.

The car left Flint and headed in the direction of Pontiac. Shortly afterwards, Kierdorf said he felt a gun poked in his neck. The car pulled onto a gravel road off M58 (Telegraph road) and the men forced him from the car.

A pall of some kind of liquid was poured over Kierdorf's head. It was ignited with a match. There was an explosion. Kierdorf fell to the ground and rolled over and over in an apparent attempt to smother the flames.

Still conscious, he heard the two (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Pick 4-H Fair King, Queen Tonight

Beauty, freckles, poise, good looks hard work and skill will be combined in tonight's opening program of the 18th annual Oakland County 4-H Fair.

Judges will be expected to select three winners of crowns and two of them will be awarded for the first time in the history of the fair.

The 1958 4-H Fair Queen will be selected, and this year a king will join the young lady to reign throughout the week. Another "first" will be the choosing of the fair's Freckle-Face Champion.

The king and queen contest, which begins at 7:40 p.m., will be judged by Lynn Lewis, former Oakland County Extension agent now working in extension in Mexico; Janet Odell, home and foods editor of the Pontiac Press; and Chuck Lewis, WPON announcer.

Contestants for the royal titles must be 15 to 21 years old, active in 4-H and have one summer project.

The same judges will select the Oakland County boy or girl 18 years old or younger who is judged to possess the most face freckles, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The Pontiac Press will award a $50 savings bond to the winner. Contestants do not have to be 4-H members. Also on tonight's agenda will be (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

1,000 GIs Arrive by Transport

More Troops in Lebanon

From Our News Wires
BEIRUT, Lebanon — One thousand more U.S. troops arrived in Lebanon today. An American military spokesman said this completed the movement of troops assigned here.

There are now more than 14,000 U.S. soldiers and Marines here. The troops debarking from the transport, Gen. Geiger, included a hospital unit, signals and signals photos units and a graves registration team.

Gen. Fuad Shehab, Lebanon's army chief who was elected president of the nation last week as a compromise in a three-month rebellion, declared yesterday withdrawal of American soldiers and Marines was foremost among the national aims.

But President Camille Chamoun indicated his determination to keep the troops here until his term ends Sept. 23.

It was Shehab's first pronouncement since he was elected by nearly all factions of Parliament last Thursday. He indicated he intends to follow a policy of neutrality toward the big powers, friendship with Arab neighbors and unity and stability in Lebanon.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Shehab's statement has not had any effect on American plans. American troops will leave when asked to do so by the duly constituted government, he said.

A Marine spokesman, declining to comment on a report that some Marine units would be drawn soon, said the movements won't be discussed until they are a fact.

Chamoun, the pro-Western President who asked Washington to send the troops three weeks ago, said, "I won't ask the Marines to leave." He has rejected rebel demands that he step aside early for Shehab.

Chamoun also said he would represent Lebanon at any summit conference to which Middle Eastern leaders are invited.

U.S. diplomatic troubleshooter Robert Murphy scheduled a last round of conferences today with key men in the Lebanese political picture before flying to Cairo for talks with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

'Torch' Tells How It Happened

men return. Kierdorf was under the impression they were going to shoot him, he told Taylor. The men had an argument over what they should do with him.
"We're not going to let him die," Kierdorf said he remembered one of his attackers saying. "We don't want a murder rap on our hands."

Finally he was loaded into the car, taken to the north driveway of the hospital and dumped. At noon today the charred hulk which was once Frank Kierdorf lay on a hospital bed under 24-hour police guard. Dr. N. F. Gehringer gave little hope.
"I've never seen anyone with this many burns live," the doctor said. He expressed belief that after he survived the first 24 hours with 85 per cent of his body covered with second and third-degree burns, he might live another 48 hours.

Bushed to his bedside last night from a vacation in Hollywood, Fla., was his wife, Jessie. Dressed in a surgical robe and mask to prevent possible infection of her husband, Mrs. Kierdorf walked into his room at midnight. Nurses were at her side.

She came from the room sobbing hysterically after less than a minute. A nurse said she "broke down" after viewing her husband.

Escorted into a room outside Kierdorf's room, Mrs. Kierdorf was met shortly afterwards by her son, Frank Jr., who had kept almost a constant vigil at his father's bedside.

"My dear God, who could have done such a thing?" Mrs. Kierdorf screamed as she was embraced by her son, a 36-year-old Detroit milkman.

She later was given a sedative and put to bed on a cot outside her husband's room, Frank Jr., of 15626 Thatcher Rd., Detroit, remained overnight at the hospital also.

A Pontiac policeman placed a wire recorder in the father's room in case he wanted to make a death statement, a source from the Oakland County's prosecutor's office said.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem this morning called a meeting of the several police agencies to coordinate the search for the spot.

Ziem said last night it was "pretty well established" from what Kierdorf told Taylor that the area is somewhere in Oakland County. Regardless, Flint officers from the city police there and the Genesee County prosecutor's office aided in the search.

Finding Kierdorf's glasses, supposedly on him when he was attacked, is a major clue in the case, Ziem said.

One police officer feared that since the inflammable fluid poured over Kierdorf naturally burned from the ground up, there might not be much evidence left on the ground.

State Police Det. Charles Leaf said all side, gravel roads as far south as West Maple road had been combed this morning.

In the meantime, the search continued for the vengeance-seeking uncle of Kierdorf who said he was "going to find out" who turned his nephew into a grotesque mass of human flesh.

Both Frank and his balding uncle have police records. Frank served 2 1/2 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for a Detroit armed robbery. He was paroled in 1945.

Before this, Frank was accused of robbing a Youngstown, Ohio, tavern owner sometime in 1942. He was not brought to trial because the prosecution's chief witness was called into the Navy.

Frank Kierdorf went before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington last Nov. 5 and invoked the Fifth Amendment to some 40 questions.

Sensing that there might be a "labor connection" involved in the attack, two Detroit investigators for the committee hurried to the hospital last night to confer with police, Ziem and Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke.

Sherman S. Willse and Walter H. Henson would not disclose what they learned from the conference.

Kierdorf last year was accused of robbing a Youngstown, Ohio, tavern owner sometime in 1942. He was not brought to trial because the prosecution's chief witness was called into the Navy.

Frank Kierdorf staggered up to a side entrance of the hospital around 1 a.m. yesterday. Finding the door locked, he went around to the main entrance on Woodward avenue.

A nurse that saw him said he looked like "a zombie." From that time until around 11 a.m. yesterday, he remained unidentified. Fingerprints checked by the Detroit police lab finally gave him identity.

For hours he refused to admit his identity. He would only say of being linked with labor "fixer" Nathan Shefferman and Shefferman's Detroit representative, George Kamenow.

It was alleged that Kierdorf sold out his union local to the business-hired "fixers."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) asked Kierdorf if he was a "phony" using your position to feather your own nest.

Kierdorf refused to answer, and Mundt told him he would have to go back to Flint to face men who "have looked to you as a business agent to represent them" but who now would be convinced "you were selling them down the river."

Herman, 67, of 29063 Spoon St., Madison Heights, appeared before the committee just last week. He refused to answer questions.

Before going to Washington, he quit as a chief aide of Teamsters president James R. Hoffa with the Teamsters Joint Council Local 43 in Detroit.

In other developments today, Ziem and his staff attempted to iron out what they called many "dis-

"John Doe of Washington" or "I don't remember."

He also mumbled, "No, no you don't do it, John."

Who "John" is is another big question which investigators are attempting to solve.

Kierdorf even refused to admit that Frank Jr. was his son. After viewing his father, Frank Jr. broke down in tears.

"When you play rough, you get hurt sometimes," he said.

The uncle of the burned man disclosed to questioners that the last time he had talked to his nephew was by phone Saturday. "He said he had a 2 p.m. meeting in Flint Sunday," Herman said.

Police checked a cottage of Frank Kierdorf's in Whitmore Lake where friends and neighbors said they last saw him around 10 a.m. Saturday.

By United Press International
Tornado winds and funnel clouds ripped sections of Minnesota last night, injuring at least one person and causing widespread damage.

Near Alexandria, Minn., high winds, hail and rain cut a four-mile path of destruction. Two inches of rain swamped the area in a 40-minute period and quarter-inch hailstones flattened crops.

Buildings were damaged by the 60-mile-per-hour winds, trees were uprooted and power was cut off.

St. Cloud was drenched with about four inches of rain in less than an hour, touching off local flooding. One street intersection was flooded by six feet of water.

The storms began at Moorehead, Minn., where one man was struck and burned by lightning. The severe weather pushed eastward, lashing Minneapolis and St. Paul where two funnel clouds were sighted. The funnels swept into Wisconsin, toppling power lines at Somerset, before disappearing.

More than 1.5 inches of rain fell at Minneapolis and 2.25 inches hit Redwood Falls, Minn.

Overnight readings dropped into the 60s in the northern tier of states with temperatures in the 70s prevailing elsewhere.
Today's forecast called for continued showers and thunderstorms in a diagonal band from the desert southwest into the Great Lakes region.

HOME OF VICTIM — This is the Flint home of Frank H. Kierdorf, 56, business agent for the Teamsters Union in Flint. He told investigators he left about 11:30 p. m. Sunday and an hour and a half later stumbled into a Pontiac hospital, burned over most of his body. He said he was alone at the house when two men called on him to discuss union business.

Pontiac, Flint Unionists
Quizzed About Kierdorf

The men who worked side by side with Frank Kierdorf shed little light on the torch burning when questioned about their fellow worker.

As Kierdorf, Flint Teamsters Local 332 business agent or organizer, lay close to death at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, two fellow unionists walked into the Pontiac police station. They came with a friend. His name was Leann Herrelson, Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 president.

President of the 3,500-member Flint local, Gilbur Clark of 4233 Brownell St., Flint, said the last time he saw Kierdorf was at the union hall, 116 E. Pasadena St., Friday.

Clark, president of Local 332 for the past 10 years, described Kierdorf as an "organizer." Just what he was organizing last, Clark said, was some "new stuff."

Asked by reporters to elaborate, tall heavy-set Clark shrugged his shoulders saying, "I don't know what this was."

LED TO BURNING
This "organizing" eventually led to Kierdorf's being turned into a human torch by two sadistic torturers Sunday night.

A business agent from Local 332 smoked a cigar in the corridor of the police station and described Kierdorf as "a good organizer."

But F. H. Bancroft, business agent for 18 years, refused to give his address. "If they don't know where you live it's a little harder for them to look for you," Bancroft said. He wouldn't say who "they" were or whether he feared what Kierdorf got.

"I saw Frank around nine o'clock Friday morning at the hall before I left for up north to see my wife. I said 'Good morning, Frank' and that was it," related Bancroft.

Both he and Clark said they didn't know why Kierdorf was the target of the two men. They said he never had "any trouble in the local" since he started there in 1951.

Harrelson, of 26 Delawae Dr., said he had been called to the station by State Police. Police later denied this.

The one-time Pontiac state representative confessed he knew little about Kierdorf. He said neither Kierdorf nor his uncle, Herman Kierdorf, who supposedly "retired" as an aide to James R. Hoffa last week, had been associated with the Pontiac local.

Although Clark and Bancroft worked with Kierdorf, neither would rank him with how he got along with fellow officers and rank-and-file members.

"I can't make any comment about him personally," answered Bancroft. "We never got into each other's personal life."

Like Clark, he too said he didn't know what Kierdorf's last assignment with the local was.

VICTIM QUESTIONED — Frank Kierdorf is shown being questioned in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here by assistant prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. He was so badly burned when he stumbled into the hospital that identification had to be made from fingerprints.

who was turned into a human torch by two unknown men Sunday night.

Taylor said that a stakeout was supposed to pick the elder Kierdorf up at his home yesterday evening, "but apparently missed him."

Adding fuel to the theory that Kierdorf is in hiding is the fact that he had told authorities he planned to be at Willow Run Airport later last night to meet his wife, Lila, and the victim's wife, Jessie.

But Kierdorf did not show up at the airport, Taylor said. Instead, the victim's son, Frank Jr., 30, met the two women and drove them to the hospital. They had been vacationing in Hollywood, Fla.

The disappearance of the union leader, who last Friday had appeared in Washington as a closed-mouthed witness before the Senate Rackets Committee, left authorities red-faced.

"We believed we could gain more by cooperating with Kierdorf than by taking action against him," explained Taylor.

It was Kierdorf, Taylor pointed out, who persuaded the torch victim to break 15 hours of silence about his identity and assailants.

The prosecutor's office could have obtained the warrant anytime, it was admitted. Either while Kierdorf was at the hospital visiting his nephew or later at Pontiac Police Headquarters, where he was urged to make a voluntary statement.

On advice of his attorney, William F. Dohany of Pontiac, Kierdorf refused.

He then explained that he suffered a weak heart and was going home "to take a pill and lie down." Kierdorf left in a car driven by an unidentified man.

At the hospital, Kierdorf was visibly affected by fear and hate.

He swore to take revenge for his nephew's torture. At the same time, Kierdorf disclosed that he himself had been threatened with similar treatment yesterday morning.

"I don't know who could do a vicious thing like that. But I'm going to find out," he said.

Cautioned by Pontiac Police Lt. William F. Nesbitt to let police "handle this one," Kierdorf replied:

"Not if I get there first. I know it sounds silly, but there's some things you've got to do yourself." The aging Teamster wept openly as he was helped away from the hospital bedside at which he identified his nephew's swollen, blackened features.

"Without a doubt, I'm afraid, that's him," he said hoarsely.

Kierdorf said he received the anonymous threat by telephone at his home, 29078 Spoon St., about 10 a.m. yesterday, shortly before he heard the news about Frank from a newspaper reporter.

According to Kierdorf, a male voice said to him:

"You dirty — you're next."
"Next to what?" Kierdorf asked.
"You'll find out," warned the man.
Kierdorf disclosed that he had received telephone threats on many occasions in the past.

"In my business," he said, "you get used to them."

Richardson said he discovered the silencer, along with the luger, a .38 caliber pistol and two telephones, at 29078 Spoon, next door to Kierdorf's.

He said Kierdorf had apparently delivered them there for safekeeping to a neighbor girl, Judy Tyler, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Tyler.

Judy said that Kierdorf had brought a white paper bag to her home about 10 a.m. yesterday and told her that the telephones and .38 caliber gun were inside.

"He asked me to keep them," the girl said. "He said that Frank had been badly burned and the policemen would be by shortly and he didn't want them to know about the bag."

"He was awful nervous and he looked scared."

The girl said that Kierdorf brought the luger and silencer to her home in a brown briefcase two or three weeks ago, "before he went to Washington, I think."

The contents of the briefcase were not known to her, Judy said, until she gave the bag and briefcase to Richardson. The police chief said he stopped at the Tyler home about 11 a.m., while looking for Kierdorf to take him to the hospital.

Judy said that Kierdorf had a neighborly acquaintance with her father, a bread deliverer, and was well-liked in the neighborhood.

"We called him 'Doc' for short. He was very friendly, like a grandfather, almost."

Most of the neighbors, though, did not know about Kierdorf's police record.

The Day in Birmingham
Mayor Hits 'Vigilantes'
on West Lincoln Avenue

BIRMINGHAM — Mayor Carl Ingraham last night told W. Lincoln avenue residents at the City Commission meeting, he personally could not condone the "vigilante plan" they proposed to control speeding on their street.

He said that since Birmingham has an organized police force, law enforcement should rest with that body, not with the citizens.

Hyatt Eby of 986 W. Lincoln Ave., retired Packard Motor Co. advertising executive and spokesman for the group, pointed out that the speeding problem is greatest in the evening when there is little or no police patrolling on the street.

He told commissioners traffic west of the stop light at Southfield road to a point beyond the River Rouge bridge creates an almost constant roar and screeching of tires.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said the police radar cars operate as often as possible on Lincoln. He admitted they are not used at night or before 7 a.m. While Moxley did not minimize the protest, he did say his department does not get numerous complaints on speeding.

Asked to make a speed check there and report at next Monday night's commission meeting, Moxley requested and got two weeks to complete it.

This morning Eby said the group will hold off on its proposed plan until the police check and report is made.

"We've got to have something done though," Eby insisted. "There have been two deaths at the Southfield-Lincoln intersection and it is only a miracle that there aren't more along the rest of the street."

"We'll accept this delay but we are not dropping the issue," Eby declared.

The group wants to paint white stripes across Lincoln from Woodward to Cranbrook about 148 feet apart. This is the approximate distance a car going 5 miles per hour will travel in four seconds, it was pointed out. Area residents equipped with stop watches would man these stations and report license numbers of speeders to the police.

Sgt. Malcolm Ross and Patrolman Harold Christie this morning apprehended two youths as they attempted to break into the Bitterle's Service Station, 1712 W. Maple Ave.

The two, Donald E. Knudsen, 17, of 127 Pasadena Ave., Highland Park, and Ronald J. Perreault, 18, of 86 W. Hayes St., Hazel Park, are said by police to have admitted the robbery at a gas station in Troy earlier in the evening. Police also are investigating this break-in.

Carol Edgar has been named chairman of the Variety Show which senior high school students will present Aug. 14 at the Elton Park Center. Tryouts for the show are being held and all students of high school age have been invited to participate.

The program, according to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ruesink, teen center directors for the Birmingham Recreation Board, will consist mainly of skits and stunts.

Mrs. Mae C. Keutgen Service for Mrs. Mae C. Keutgen of 180 Walnut St., Mount Clair, N. J., will be held Saturday at the Fairchild & Sons Funeral Home, Brooklyn, N. Y. The Rosary will be recited at the Manley Bailey Funeral home, Birmingham, at 8:30 tonight.

Mrs. Keutgen, who had been visiting her son, George O. Keutgen, 635 Overhill Rd., since May, died yesterday at his home after a short illness.

She was a member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Mount Clair, and the Upper Mount Clair Woman's Club.

Surviving are her son, George; two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Marty Parke-Schermerhorn Word has been received here of the death Friday of Mrs. Marty (Vivian) Parke-Schermerhorn, 57, at her home in Santa Barbara, Calif. She is a former Birmingham resident.

Mrs. Schermerhorn is survived by two sons, James and William, and four grandchildren, all in California.

Service and burial took place this morning in Santa Barbara.

Names Attacker
Before She Dies

HARRISON, OH — A well-to-do woman, fatally beaten and stabbed today by an assailant who then set her house afire, staggered outside and named a youth as her attacker moments before she died.

Mrs. Beverly Thompson, 54, of Cooperstown in Clark County, staggered and crawled toward the home of her brother, Ted Cooper, who lived across the street.

She gasped out to him the name of Gene Heath, 17, of Saginaw.

Sheriff Jim Darling said Heath, arrested a short time later, admitted the slaying. Heath was booked on an open charge for investigation.

Sheriff Darling said the dying woman told her brother that Heath beat her and stabbed her in the head with an icepick. She said he then set a fire in the cellar in an apparent effort to burn the house down and conceal the crime.

He Appeals to Intellectuals' Hope for Future

Arabs See Nasser as Symbol of Progress

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Scholarly young Arab intellectuals speak in clear, clipped British accents of the coming rout of the Western foreigner.

Well-heeled young sheiks in immaculate white robes and kaffiyahs mutter sullen protests against the feudalism which is the source of their wealth.

Palestine refugees cling to their tin-roofed shacks and dream of revenge.

NASSER IS HERO

And all look speculatively toward Cairo. For the present, at any rate, Gamal Abdel Nasser is their hero.

This is not because he is Gamal Abdel Nasser. It is because they are in search of a hero. Nasser will do until a better one comes along.

Nasserism is something which grew out of international events, inexorably pushing the Arabs East. The United Arab Republic's President still has enormous potential for good or mischief. But developments this year have cooled the ardor of some of his followers.

It is for the West now to recognize that Nasser is only a symbol to most nationalists. His appeal is to a small but powerful intellectual class which blames the West for its woes. It sees Nasser as a symbol of revising Arab power which one day will crush imperialism and colonialism. It blames these for its sense of inferiority and backwardness in a modern world.

The peasants of Egypt, the lonely Bedouin nomads of the Arab deserts, the heavily burdened laborers of Iraq know little of politics.

APPEALS TO EMOTIONS

The peasants of Egypt, the lonely Bedouin nomads of the Arab deserts, the heavily burdened laborers of Iraq know little of politics.

If they respond to Nasser, it is because Arab intellectuals have persuaded them to do so with the poetically cadenced violence of emotional propaganda. The masses will not make the Arabs' future. The intellectuals will.

Nasser was a spur to revolution in Iraq. But this did not necessarily mean Iraqis in the future would follow him blindly. They won't, if they have something more promising to follow.

DOUBTS CREEP IN

Some told me they were not so sure as they were two years ago that all Nasser stands for is right. The swiftness with which Egypt swallowed Syria shook their faith in their hero. This was not the sort of Arab unity they had envisioned.

Nasser is a goad to revenge even these will not follow Nasser blindly. They follow him so long as he represents their hopes for revenge.

The sleek young sheiks admire Nasser for the moment. Their admiration stems from fury at the spectacle of their own country still mired in centuries-old feudal backwardness in the midst of oil riches.

I talked with representatives of all these groups—in Iraq, in Saudi Arabia, in fabulously wealthy Kuwait, in Egypt. Everywhere it was Nasser the man—the solitary beacon in what to the young intellectual was a sea of darkness.

In the sun-scorched British protectorate of Kuwait, these young men live in a luxury unheard of in other Arab areas. They are assured of jobs, housing, education for their children, everything Kuwait's oil-made cornucopia can pour out to them.

Yet they are unhappy. More than anything, they told me, they want Arab national self-respect. If Nasser represented that, they would follow him.

In baffling Saudi Arabia, Western-educated and rich young Bedouins are affected by Egyptian propaganda and have persuaded themselves some of their oil riches might better be used for Arabism than for perpetuating the royal house and its innumerable princesses.

MANY DISILLUSIONED

In Egypt, the little middle class concentrated in the cities is unhappy. Egypt's economy is in woe.

Many in the middle class, which makes and breaks regimes in Arab countries, feel disillusion.

The impression one gets, after an extensive fact-finding tour in an area where facts are scarce, is that Nasser need not be the only answer. However illogical they may appear to Westerners, the yearnings of these young men have important bearing on the West's future in the Middle East.

Thus far the West has offered nothing to take the place of Nasser and a movement which meshes nationalist aspirations with extremist Nasserism.

No Substitute for Quality

Reputable Business Gives Real Service to Customer

(This is one in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Retailers Association in an effort to better educate the buying public of Michigan in improving their buying habits. The Pontiac Press is cooperating with MRA by bringing this series to you.)

Today's modern age of scientific improvement in the field of consumer items has made it almost impossible for you, the average consumer, to know the amount of wearability and serviceability of materials used in the finished products that you see on display in stores. Just what is it that separates the "men from the boys" in product usability and desirability? Why will one suit hold its press in the rain, while another will look like a bag? Why does your automatic washer work like a charm, while your neighbor's machine needs the constant doctoring of a serviceman? Why does one watch keep better time than another? What is it that makes one product better than another?

The answer to all of these questions is—That Unknown Ingredient, QUALITY. Quality in merchandise is sometimes difficult to determine and explain, but one thing is certain, that the higher the degree of quality in an item, the better that item is in terms of service to you.

Because most of us are not experts in product make-up, we usually determine how good a piece of merchandise is by the price tag on it. We must usually depend on the seller of an item to tell us about the item's quality—how well it will service us. Sometimes people learn the hard way, by going to someone who tells you he is giving you something for nothing.

Under this old plan of "trial and error," these same people have found their experiences to be extremely costly, particularly in the absence of any recourse from the seller. Most sellers or retailers, have a price variety of a certain item to offer, and they will usually explain why, because of quality, the prices range on these items. However, beware of the seller who tries to tell you that you are getting top-grade quality merchandise for a "discount" or a "steal" price.

KNOW YOUR FIRM

Fortunately, as we have advanced in distribution methods through established and reputable firms—firms who have built their reputation on your satisfaction. These firms have long maintained that their success depends on the satisfaction received from the merchandise purchased by you—their customers. And when you, as a customer, realize that your interests are of primary concern to these firms, then you buy from them with confidence—confidence in them as a retailer, and confidence in their merchandise.

You learn to know that when they tell you how much quality there is in an item, that you then expect and get that amount of quality for which you pay. Many times you may go shopping for an item with a certain price fixed in your mind. However, you may end up paying a little more than originally intended by getting the class of item with a little more of that ingredient called quality. By buying at one of your well-established and reputable retail firms, you have the insurance and guarantee of receiving the full value of that merchandise for which you paid.

We all learn, sooner or later, that there are no short-cuts to quality, and quite often, we see value substituted for quality. By this we mean, a product may appear to be genuine, but yet not best serve the purpose for which it is intended.

Kidnap Warrant Out for Texas Mother

ALLEGAN (AP)—A kidnapping warrant has been issued here for a 25-year-old Austin, Tex., mother who disappeared with two children from her former husband's home.

Prosecutor Chester A. Ray said the woman, Mrs. Patricia Dudley, also was charged with larceny by conversion. He said she was believed driving a car she took from a man who had it up for sale here.

Her former husband is Burton Culver, a farmer of nearby Martin.

Ray said the woman came to the area to visit her children by Culver. They are Bruce Culver, 7, and Gary Lee Culver, 6.

She took them on an outing Thursday, he said, and failed to return.

Mom's Bite Worse Than Bark

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would send out a letter like this?"

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. So and So: Three months is long enough for anybody to wait for an acknowledgment of a gift. My daughter, in spite of my continual urging, still has not gotten around to writing her 'thank you notes,' so please forgive her laziness and accept my thanks for remembering her. Sincerely yours, MRS. BLANK."

Well, to make a long story short, he took a 16-year-old girl to the movies and when he brought her home they were sitting on her porch talking. He said he was giving her a good-night kiss and all at once he got soaking wet. It seems her father was watching them and he turned the hose on him saying, 'This should cool you off!' My son came home soaked to the skin. Should I have called the police?"

Something tells me he is hiding something from me. Is there any way I can find out if he is married without his knowing I don't trust him? Please help me, Abby. I must know."

Making Musical History With Harmonica

By PHYLLIS BATTIE

NEW YORK — If Eddy Manson had been alive in the days of Abraham Lincoln, the history of the United States might have been different.

Abe was a mean moutther on the harmonica. He used it to blow out between log-choppings. But there was no future in the harmonica in those days so he went into politics, with recorded results. Today, thanks largely to Manson, the picture is different.

"The kids who are playing the harmonica now will find that, by the time they've grown up, they can make a good living with their instrument," Eddy says. "It's no longer a toy. It's recognized as a legitimate instrument. More and more orchestras and combos are using harmonica sections. It blends beautifully with everything—bass, strings, woodwinds."

(Political Advertisement)

My Thanks and Congratulations to all who voted today and especially those who voted for me.

Leslie H. Hudson
Candidate for Congress

Manson, a wiry, full-mouthed graduate of Juilliard, deserves much of the credit for convincing the world of musicians—the public — that the harmonica deserves a genuine place in most of the musical forms.

Ever since he allowed a toy harmonica at the age of three, he has had a genuine "feel" for the instrument.

It was Eddy, for instance, who had an Academy Award nomination for his own compositions, the harmonica background music for the films, "The Little Fugitive" and "Lovers and Lollipops." It is he who convinced the Musicians Union to recognize harmonicaists.

At the risk of his reputation with Senate subcommittees, he even sent his new album, "The Hi-Fi," to President Eisenhower, a one-time harmonica huck.

He received a thank you note from Sherman Adams, which, for obvious reasons, he lost.

"I believe that the harmonica, which is the least expensive instrument a parent can give to his child, would go a long way toward curbing delinquency," Manson says.

"Especially now that it's being taken seriously, it's a worthwhile hobby for a child. If he gets to love it, as I did, he now doesn't have to put it away as a childish thing. He can always use it to make a living."

Now that Manson has successfully crusaded the harmonica, he is pushing for another long-held principle—more recognition and money for musical arrangers. As president of the American Society of Music Arrangers, he laments that the group he represents are "the forgotten men" of music.

"I'm prejudiced, naturally, but the arranger's job is the most important job in music today. A tune writer dreams up a nice little melody, but it's up to us to make it beautiful."

Without their arrangers, Eddy added, such stars as Sinatra, Como and Fisher would be "nowhere near the successes" that records and television have made them today.

And without constantly changing, beautiful arrangements (which he calls "re-composing"), the great song classics would be forgotten after their first round of success.

Mother Tries to Save Tot; Baby Killed

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Glen Rounsevell's motherly reflexes were swift when she came out of a neighbor's house last night.

She ran frantically to help her 3-year-old daughter, who was sitting in a car that had begun to roll down a steep hill.

But in doing so, Mrs. Rounsevell dropped the 5-month-old infant she was carrying.

Police said the car wheels apparently struck the baby, which died of a fractured skull.

The car dragged Mrs. Rounsevell some 30 feet before it veered off the road into a house. She suffered a broken leg and severe cuts. The 3-year-old received bruises.

About three billion tons of land material are dumped into the world's oceans every year by rivers, winds and other natural agencies.

Latin American Inquiry Pressed

Sen. Morse Calls Study Vital as Jeers Greet Dulles in Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said today Brazilian demonstrations against Secretary of State Dulles add new importance to a forthcoming Senate inquiry into U.S.-Latin American relations.

Morse, chairman of a Latin-American subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the incident at Rio de Janeiro shows "the need for a thorough study of all the forces at play in U.S.-Latin American relations."

However, both Morse and Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), another subcommittee member, cautioned against exaggerating the significance of the jeering and whistling by Brazilian students that greeted Dulles on his arrival for talks with President Juscelino Kubitschek.

Aiken, expressing belief the student demonstrators "do not represent the country or the government," said: "Jeering and whistling by students is a popular pastime, even in our own country. Also there has been a economic slump in Latin America and the students are impatient, especially those who don't know where jobs are coming from and they have to blame somebody."

Informal Pact Ends Mexico Train Strike

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An informal agreement was reached early today to end a strike of Mexico's nationalized railroads that threatened to snowball into a Red-aggitated general strike.

The agreement was made by Roberto Amoros, general manager of the railways; and Demetrio Vallejo, a dissident railway labor leader who called the wildcat strike Saturday night.

The Mexico Labor Department was expected to make the agreement formal. Vallejo said once this is done, rail service should get back to normal quickly, perhaps by nightfall.

A sympathy strike by telegraph workers was expected to end also, and threatened strikes by electricians and others to be headed off.

Vallejo called out more than 100,000 rail workers to protest the arrest of union members trying to take control of the union and to occupy the union headquarters in defiance of a court order. He had rejected a proposed compromise for a new union election within 40 days.

By the agreement, a commission will be formed to hold national union elections within 15 days for a new committee which will control the entire organization.

The agreement also provides for release of all arrested workers—the estimates range up from 100—with the right for them and strikers to return to their jobs without reprisals. The government had threatened to fire anyone not at work yesterday morning.

The Communists and two other left-wing political parties had thrown their support to the strike and called on all unions to back the railway workers even though the Mexican Confederation of Labor had termed the strike unjustified.

Crisis May Up Aid Bill Funds

Senate Leaders Say Large Chunk of Money Will Be Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Recent developments in the Middle East raised administration hopes today for a Senate boost of more than 400 million dollars in President Eisenhower's foreign aid money bill.

The Senate Appropriations Committee was called into a closed-door session with both Senators Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) predicting it would vote to restore a substantial part of the $37.2 million cut by the House.

A change in House sentiment was reported by its Republican leader, Rep. Joseph W. Martin (Mass.). He told reporters he thought the House is now in a mood to "take a good substantial figure" above the $3,078,092,000 it originally voted.

Johnson and Knowland are said to be advocating a restoration of close to 450 millions, including about 300 millions to be added to the economic development loan fund for economic development abroad.

Free Press Crusader Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—A bronze plaque was dedicated yesterday on Wall Street to the memory of John Peter Zenger, colonial fighter for a free press.

The ceremony marked the 223rd anniversary of Zenger's trial on charges of seditiously libeling the British governor.

Zenger's trial and acquittal in 1735 "destroyed once and for all the notion that government officials were entitled to unqualified and uncritical allegiance and support and that they were untouchables, immune from criticism," said Prof. Richard B. Morris, chairman of Columbia University's history department.

The plaque, imbedded in the sidewalk in front of the old Subtreasury Building, was dedicated by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity.

Grains Sagging Before Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures sagged again in early dealings today on the board of trade with some contracts off a cent a bushel or more within the first few minutes.

Some dealers said the general selling was in anticipation of a bearish private report on crop conditions as of Aug. 1. The report, expected to be released later, has had a considerable following in the trade.

Dealers said the activity was almost entirely speculative although there was a very small amount of commercial business to support prices.

Wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, September $1.84 1/2; corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, September $1.27 1/2; oats unchanged to lower, September 63 1/2; rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower, September $1.24 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 lower, September $2.26 1/2; lard 3 cents a hundred lbs lower to 2 cents higher, September $12.52.

3 More Firms Up Steel Prices

Increases by Industry's Giants Open 2nd Round of Adjustments

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Three more steel firms, including the nation's two largest, today increased the cost of selected steel items in the second round of the industry's piecemeal price adjustments.

Posting higher prices for such products as bars, rods, wire and tubular items were U. S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem and Inland. U. S. Steel is the giant of the industry. Bethlehem the No. 2 producer and Inland No. 3.

They followed the lead set last week by Republic Steel, third-ranking producer, and other smaller firms.

For U. S. Steel it meant further abdication of its leadership role in price adjustments since World War II. Early last week Armco, No. 7, took the initiative by boosting prices on flat rolled products an average of $4.50 a ton.

U. S. Steel and Inland said increases, effective today, average about 3 per cent. Bethlehem did not announce any specific figures for its list, which also included carbon and alloy blooms, billets and slabs.

Wants 'Clean Hands' of Goldfine Probers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) demanded today that House Intelligence investigators prove they have "clean hands" before the House votes on their request for a contempt citation against millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

Charging under the subcommittee's conduct "has become a public scandal," Curtis said the House should get a full explanation from the group which investigated Goldfine, gift-giving friend of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

The Congressman, a frequent critic of the subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), listed a number of charges against the panel in a statement published in today's Congressional Record.

"These matters, unanswered, badly damage the reputation of Congress," he said. "This subcommittee should make a formal report on these and other matters before the House should consider the request for a contempt citation."

Add $113 Million to Jobless Fund

Federal Loan to State Extends Compensation Here by 13 Weeks

LANSING (AP)—Thanks to a federal loan, Michigan's unemployment compensation fund was richer by $113 million today.

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart said he was notified by Secretary of Labor Mitchell yesterday that the money had been advanced in answer to a request sent out July 23 when he was acting governor in the absence of Gov. Williams.

Congress earlier this year authorized loans to states whose jobless pay funds have been heavily drained in the current recession. It allows states to extend unemployment compensation by 50 per cent — 13 weeks in Michigan.

Repayment will be made after 1963 and some state officials have hopes the entire loan will be forgiven.

Selfridge May Get New Missile Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said today it plans to survey land in the vicinity of Selfridge Air Force Base as a possible site for a new weapons installation.

Aides to Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich) said they guessed the installation would handle some type of missile.

Maj. Gen. W. P. Fisher, Air Force director of legislative liaison, said similar surveys were being made elsewhere before any decision is made on sites.

Four States Holding Primaries

Williams Is Favorite in Michigan

By The Associated Press

Two possibilities for the 1960 Democratic presidential race are expected to clear their local political hurdles in good style today as four states hold primary elections.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri are strong favorites to gain renomination in primaries in their states. Williams, the onetime boy wonder of Michigan politics, is seeking an unprecedented sixth term.

Other primaries are being held in West Virginia and Kansas. In all, voters in the four states will name candidates for 4 Senate seats, 41 House spots and 2 governorships.

Symington, former secretary of the Air Force, has nominal opposition from former Republican Lamar W. Dye of Kansas City and Lawrence L. Hastings of Aurorra, a retired Veterans Administration employee. Symington, a darkhorse at the 1956 Democratic convention, is again being mentioned as a possible nominee in 1960.

Missouri Republicans will pick their candidate to oppose Symington from a group of four. Eleven House seats are up for nomination in the state.

The fight for two senatorial berths highlights West Virginia's elections. The GOP incumbents, Chapman Revercomb and John D. Hoblitzell, have no opposition.

But four Democrats have been locked in a tight struggle to win their party's nomination to run against Hoblitzell, who has been filling in for part of the term of the late Democratic Sen. Matthew Neely. The term has two more years.

Rep. Robert C. Byrd heads a list of three Democratic candidates for the right to oppose Revercomb for the six-year term. West Virginia also has to make nominations for six House seats.

In Kansas, Democratic Gov. George Docking is unopposed for renomination, but five Republicans are seeking the GOP nod to run in November. They include former Gov. Fred Hall, who was denied renomination in 1956, and Clyde Reed Jr., Parsons publisher who has strong organization backing. Kansas will nominate for six House positions.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Street Railway is going back to its old 25-cent fare Monday. But schoolchildren will pay more to ride when the September term opens.

DSR will charge a new $1 price of school identification cars that permit children to ride to and from school at a discount rate of 10 cents.

In going back to the old 25-cent flat rate on the 15 express coach lines, DSR threw out the zone fares that replaced the flat rate in March. Under the zone rate riders paid 25 to 40 cents, depending on the length of their ride.

DSR, in voting the changes yesterday, said the zone system had not come up to expectations.
