Highway Chief Named

Jack Plans Space Probes

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson said today the Kennedy administration is planning a very vigorous and accelerated space exploration program.

Johnson told of the plan—without going into any detail — at a news conference after he and Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), had concluded two days of talks with President-Elect John F. Kennedy. Kerr is slated to succeed Johnson as chairman of the Senate Space Committee.

And Kennedy has announced that in the new administration Johnson will be chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Advisory Council.

Earlier, Kennedy named Rex Whitton, chief engineer of Missouri's Highway Department, to be Federal Highway Administrator.

Meanwhile there were reports that Kennedy is considering naming career diplomat Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen to be ambassador to France. Bohlen at present is State Department advisor on Russian problems. He is a former ambassador to Moscow.

Whitton, 62, will administer the Federal Highway Act in his new position which pays $20,000 a year.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said he did not know Whitton's political party affiliation.

Whitton has been associated with the Missouri Highway Department since 1920 and has been its chief engineer since 1951.

In a statement, Kennedy said:

"Whitton's long background in every phase of highway work will place the direction of the nation's important highway program in the hands of a man of unmatched experience."

★ ★ ★

Whitton was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1920 with a degree in civil engineering. In his position with the Missouri Highway Department he has supervised the state's 32,000 miles of road systems.

The present administrator is Bertram D. Tallamy.

Radio Executive Fred Knorr Dies of Scalding Burns

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Frederick August Knorr, 47, Michigan radio executive, businessman and part owner of the Detroit Tigers, died of burns Monday night.

Knorr had been in Broward General Hospital here since Dec. 9. He suffered burns when he fell into a tub of scalding water.

FREDERICK A. KNORR

Mrs. Knorr said her husband slipped, hit his head and knocked himself out while adjusting the water in a hotel bathtub.

The Bloomfield Hills man and his wife were in Florida on a business and pleasure trip.

The Knorr home is at 730 Vaughn Road.

Knorr had risen from a $27.50-a-week radio announcer to president of a group of stations. He also climbed from a high school and sandlot baseball player to part owner and former president of the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

Knorr, born in Detroit July 9, 1913, worked his way through Hillsdale College as a pianist. In 1937 he won an audition sponsored by station WJBK in Detroit and went to work as an announcer.

"They didn't call us disc jockeys in those days," Knorr once said, "but I guess that's what I was."

Eighteen months later Knorr went to WHLS in Port Huron, as a sports announcer and a year and a half later came back to Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Out of college less than 10 years and with less than $10,000 in personal savings, he filed application to start station WKMH. At the time of his death, his string of stations included, besides WKMH in Detroit; WKMP in Flint, WSAM in Saginaw, and WKHM in Jackson.

Knorr was responsible for the formation of the 11-man syndicate which bought the Tigers from the Briggs family in 1957 for $5.5 million.

He was appointed president of the ball club, but held the position less than a year.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Fred A. Knorr III, age 9; and two daughters, Nancylou, 17, and Mary Katherine, 16.

Boy Who Drank Lye Takes Turn for the Better

Two-year-old Edward Reno perked up today in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Doctors said the White Lake Township boy who swallowed lye six days before Christmas took a turn for the better over the Christmas weekend.

Edward had been in critical condition since last Monday. The lye caused extensive burns in his mouth, throat, esophagus and stomach. Doctors feared he might not live until Christmas.

"The boy may be out of danger now," a doctor said today in the first optimistic note about Edward's condition.

3 Area Persons Are Victims of Accidents

Waterford Man Dies in Tumble From Car Involved in Crash

Three Pontiac area persons died in traffic accidents, two in Oakland County, over the holiday weekend.

The victims were:

Horace F. Shaw, 42, of 1745 N. Telegraph Road, Waterford Township,

Howard Heckman, 60 of 4600 Forest Drive, Waterford Township,

John Berdy, 55.

John Berdy, 55, of 20835 Sunnydale Road, Farmington Township, was killed Friday evening when his car skidded on snow, crashed into a wall, then flipped into the Detroit River.

Shaw was fatally injured when he fell out of a car involved in an accident at 7:15 p.m. Saturday on Joslyn Road, Pontiac Township.

He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital of a broken neck, skull fracture, internal injuries and shock.

Shaw was a passenger in a car driven by Elmer J. Smith, 30, of 3780 Bald Mountain Road, Pontiac Township, when it struck a stopped car on the side of the road, deputies said.

Smith fled the scene immediately following the accident, leaving Shaw dead or dying on the pavement, officers said.

Smith was arrested later at his home, where deputies said they found him hiding under his bed. Unhurt, he was to make a statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office later today.

Driver of the other car, William J. Radecki, 25, of 3365 Joslyn Road, said he was stopped to check his mail box for mail when the Smith car struck his and kept going. Radecki also was unhurt.

Heckman was killed instantly and his wife seriously injured in a two-car, head-on collision on M59 in Waterford Township Saturday evening.

Driver of the other car, Ronald Ramsey of 15 Haddrill Court, Waterford Township, told township police Heckman's oncoming car suddenly swerved across the centerline and struck his vehicle. Ramsey was unhurt.

Mrs. Heckman, 56, was reported to be in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

ARCH OF TRIUMPH — The grandeur of the Arc de Triomphe in Paris impresses countless sightseers every year. The landmark is a feature of the three-week Pontiac Press European Tour, May 19 - June 10, of the biggest cities and favorite tourist attractions in France, England, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

France Fires Third A-Bomb

Sahara Test Spurs Nuclear Plan, Medical Treatment Advances

PARIS (AP)—France today set off her third nuclear test explosion in the Sahara with the double goal of advancing her atom bomb program and improving medical treatment against radioactive fallout.

The surprise blast was of "small strength," the French said claiming the radioactive fallout presented no danger to the nomad population around the Sahara test center of Reggane.

The French said many small animals—most of them mice or rats — were placed in the test area and now are being flown to Paris for study.

Some of the animals had been injected with substances that might furnish protection against radioactivity, officials said. Other animals had been put in a state of hibernation.

The Defense Ministry said the explosion test was a success. The announcement that it was of "small strength" indicated it was a step forward in cutting the first two devices—exploded last Feb. 13 and April 1—down to practical size for use in varied weapons.

The government gave no details of the device exploded, but presumably it was of plutonium as were the previous two. Device No. 3 was named "Red Jerboa," after a small desert rodent.

A statement by French atomic scientist Pierre Billaud indicated the third device was something close to being a useable atomic bomb.

Paris in the Spring Is Beckoning to You

Paris — "Queen City of the World" — puts on its loveliest face to greet visitors in the springtime.

And, it's in the springtime, that you now have the chance to visit this scintillating, beautiful world capital, whose fame rivals that of all others.

For it's Paris, with its many faces, that will climax the three-week Pontiac Press European Tour this Spring.

At a cost of only $885, you can be one of the tourists that Paris greets.

During the days you're there, you'll see such exciting landmarks as the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, the Louvre, the Tomb of Napoleon and Montmartre.

In the afternoons you'll shop at world-famous stores or wander along the banks of the Seine, through the Latin Quarter and the many beautiful boulevards.

After dinner you'll find the night still young, with many, many things you'll want to see and do.

Paris, however, is just one of the many wonderful adventures offered on the Press Tour. Picture yourself in Rome, London, Venice!

Your 21 days in Europe will be days never to be forgotten.

The Pontiac Press tour will begin May 19 when a giant Pan American jet clipper leaves Detroit for London. You'll be home June 10.

A detailed itinerary of the tour will be provided upon request by The Pontiac Press. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Now's the time to make your reservation. To make sure you're aboard that exciting flight, fill out the application on page 12.

Battle Church Blaze in Romeo

Firemen From Two Communities Fight Fire at Village Landmark

Firemen from two communities were battling a blaze at noon today that had already gutted the interior of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, a Romeo landmark for more than 50 years.

Early reports indicated that a newly installed gas furnace exploded setting fire to the basement and sending flames shooting up through the roof.

The blaze was discovered by a neighbor, Clifford Barton of 222 N. Bailey St., who reported seeing smoke billowing out of the windows and doors about 11 a.m.

Firemen from both Romeo and Washington were unable to gain entry immediately because the doors were locked, but started playing water on the roof in an effort to contain the fire.

The roof on the Newberry street side of the one-story stone structure caved in and streets leading to the church were blocked off. The church is one short block from Romeo's business district, and smoke enveloped the heart of the village at the height of the fire.

National Toll May Be Lowest for Christmas Period in 11 Years

From Our Wire Services

Traffic accidents over the long Christmas weekend took a heavy toll of lives, averaging six an hour, but it was below the preholiday estimate of 510.

The number killed in the three-day holiday period also may be the lowest for a comparable Christmas weekend in 11 years.

Safety experts were hopeful belated reports of traffic fatalities would hold the final count under last year's total of 493. That was the lowest toll for a three-day Christmas period since 1949 when the total was 413.

Twenty-eight persons, including one hurt in a chain-reaction pile-up of cars on smoke-shrouded Willow Run Expressway, lost their lives in automobile traffic on Michigan's dangerous Christmas weekend.

As a result, safety authorities felt fear of what might happen on the forthcoming New Year's Day weekend holiday, also a three-day period.

★ ★ ★

Death tolls on the highways have been severe in the past on both the Christmas and New Year holidays.

ROAD SHROUDED

George Wilcox, 42, of Ypsilanti, died Monday night of injuries suffered in the car pile-up earlier in the day on Willow Run Expressway near a city dump from which a fire sent smoke over the road.

Bad driving conditions from the weather were a contributing cause to the Christmas weekend deaths in Michigan.

Two women and a man were killed in Livingston County Monday in the smashup of their skidding car. Other deaths resulted from two-car collisions and when cars plunged off roads.

Deaths in traffic smashups both in Michigan and nationwide slackened Monday night despite increased traffic as millions of motorists jammed highways heading for home from Christmas visits. Rain and ice made driving haz-

AP Poll Puts Sales Tax in Second Place

Swainson Win Voted Michigan's Top Story

JOHN SWAINSON, NO. 1

John B. Swainson, a legless war veteran with boyish appeal, ascended to the governor's chair and became the most newsworthy man in Michigan in 1960.

In a year when the words and deeds of politicians were recorded in never-before-equalled volume, the Michigan newspapers and the radio and television stations who are members of the Associated Press selected Swainson's election victory as the state's top story.

In the AP's annual year-end poll of state members, seven political events were rated among the 10 best stories of the year.

On a scale which they gave 10 points for the best story, nine to the second best and so on, the Associated Press members gave the Swainson story 218 points.

★ ★ ★

The second best story of 1960, they decided, was the voters' endorsement of a sales tax as a means of solving Michigan's cash crisis. It culled 201 points.

The decision of G. Mennen Williams to step down, making room for Swainson, after 12 years in the governor's chair was the third best story, with 194 points.

And pretty Nancy Ann Fleming, the girl from Montague who became Miss America, ranked fourth, with 177 points—11 ahead of a man named John F. Kennedy who swept Michigan on his way to the White House.

★ ★ ★

The political arguments over the proposed constitutional convention and its approval at the polls placed sixth with 92 points, and the designation of Robert S. McNamara, president of Ford Motor Co., as secretary of defense in the Kennedy administration was No. 7 (83).

AH, THE TIGERS

The Detroit Tigers' spectacular dealings with the Cleveland Indians — the trades involving Harvey Kuenn and Rocky Colavito, and managers Jimmie Dykes and Joe Gordon—were eighth (73) and 10th (71).

Sandwiched neatly between them was Kennedy's selection of Gov. Williams as his assistant secretary of state in charge of African affairs (72).

Twenty-one other stories drew mention, and it was a close race between some of them for prominence in the poll.

Rob-and-Run Hoods Flee With $8,000

DETROIT (AP) — Two armed men robbed a branch of the Michigan Bank in Dearborn Township, located in a trailer, of about $8,000 in a swift holdup shortly after its opening today.

★ ★ ★

Police said the pair spent no more than two or three minutes in the bank before fleeing in a stolen car later found abandoned in a parking lot.

One of the two shouted "hit the deck" to a half dozen employes and customers as the robbers burst through a trailer door with guns drawn.

Bernard C. Boezar, 36, manager, said the robbers ordered everyone to "get on the floor and keep your heads down."

No shots were fired. No one was injured.

The branch bank, just west of Telegraph Road on Ford Road, was opened three months ago.

Low-Interest Loans Sought

Urban Planners Hope to Save Thousands by Borrowing Locally

Urban renewal planners hope to begin tomorrow a plan designed to save thousands of dollars in interest rates during the five-year renewal program.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the city hopes to borrow locally funds for land acquisition at interest rates lower than those set by the federal government on its urban renewal loans.

Local banks have been invited to submit bids tomorrow on the proposed sale of $2,043,000 in city notes planners want to issue in anticipation of the receipt of federal funds. The notes would run six months.

The federal interst rate on urban renewal working funds is 4% per cent. In order for the city plan to work, a lower interest rate must be forthcoming from a local bank.

"If we can save money on interest there will be more money left for the project," said Willman.

The plan, he said, has been used successfully in urban renewal projects in other cities.

City Commissioners tonight will be asked to authorize Willman to report tomorrow's low bid, if any, to urban renewal regional headquarters in Chicago.

Willman said that if the low bid is favorably received in Chicago, the city may be authorized to sell the notes as early as next week.

Commissioners, in other business tonight, are scheduled to hear details of the ordinance amendment they called for last week to permit operation of bowling alleys in connection with state and national tournaments.

The electrical board has submitted a recommended schedule of fees for 1961.

There will be public hearings on the assessment rolls drawn up to finance two proposed grading and graveling projects: the alley west of Baldwin Avenue, Merrimac to Parkdale, and Howard McNeil Street, Gillespie to Warner.

Compacts Add to Sales That Reached 6.5 Million

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The auto industry fell short of its goals in 1960 but still wound up with its second best sales year. Uncertainty apparently lies ahead.

* * *

Final figures will show sales of about 6.5 million passenger cars, 6 million of them American made. But dealers go into the new year with their largest winter supplies of unsold cars in history, a fair sprinkling of them 1960 models. Total inventories are only a fraction shy of all time records.

While the hoped-for sales explosion never came, things popped on several other fronts in the industry.

Chrysler, Ford and Studebaker-Packard changed top officers. Chrysler in spectacular fashion.

Antimanagement forces sued Chrysler and most of its top officials, charging gross mismanagement. Chrysler, in turn, sued for libel.

Five new car names were introduced, all of them in the compact field. One old-line make, the De Soto, was discontinued after years of rumors as to its fate.

CHEVROLET AHEAD

Chevrolet ran away with the individual sales race after bowing to Ford in 1959. Imports dropped off for the first time since they made their original splash in the mid-fifties.

It was a year when "compact" and "economy" were the key words. Standard size cars slimmed down. Prices held steady to fractionally lower. Corporation profits generally were less than the year before.

Production in the 1960 model year totaled 6,011,287 passenger cars compared with 5,567,000 in 1959. Compact cars, three of which were first introduced with the 1960 model year, accounted for 26.2 per cent of all production. The year before less than 10 per cent were compacts.

The new ones at the start of 1960 were Falcon, Corvair and Valiant. They were joined in March by Comet. The 1961 model year brought Tempest, Lancer, Special and F85, Calendar year production of these eight plus Rambler and Lark, the previous smaller makes, totaled about 2.5 million.

The economy trend was further emphasized by the increasing choice of six cylinder engines instead of V8s (43.5 per cent of 1960 models compared with 28 per cent in 1959) and manual transmission (up from 24.1 per cent to 27 per cent).

Dodge, selling for the first time in the low price field, made the most spectacular improvement over its 1959 sales performance.

Mercury was shifted from the medium to low price field with the 1961 models.

Of the new smaller entries Ford's Falcon was the most successful. It constantly challenged Rambler as the top compact seller.

BRASS JOBS CHANGE

In management Clarence Francis took over as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Studebaker-Packard. Ernest Breech resigned as board chairman of Ford in July. President Henry Ford II added the job until November when Robert McNamara became Ford president.

At Chrysler William C. Newberg was elected president late in April, then was fired two months later in a dispute over conflicts of interest. L. L. Colbert took the dual job of president and chairman of the board. Newberg agreed to repay $450,000 from his profits in two firms selling to Chrysler.

Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann culminated two years of demands upon Colbert and Chrysler board members to resign by filing suit against the corporation and its executives, asking that a trustee be named to run the business. He charged gross mismanagement.

Dann filed three separate suits. Chrysler did some suing, too. It charged Dann with libel and it sued Newberg's business partner, Ben Stone.

None of the suits appeared near the trial stage as the year ended.

Chrysler also investigated itself. The nonmanagement members of the board of directors ordered the firm's legal counsel to investigate members of management for possible conflicts of interest.

* * *

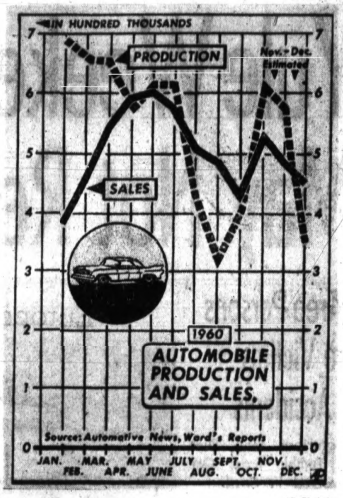
The result was a declaration that all the Chrysler top brass was innocent of any wrong doing.

Early in December Chrysler picked a new No. 2 man from within its own ranks, elevating Vice President Lynn A. Townsend to the post of administrative vice president. Townsend, 41, has headed Chrysler's international operations for the past two years.

At the divisional levels Byron Nichols succeeded M. C. Patterson, retired, as general manager of Dodge. Lee Iacocca succeeded James O. Wright, promoted, as general manager of Ford; and Harold G. Warner succeeded James Roche, promoted, as general manager of Cadillac.

* * *

Most sales estimates for 1961 range around 6.5 to 6.7 million with General Motors forecasting the possibility of seven million. The inventory of unsold new cars hit an all time record of 1,938,967 on July 1. The closing days of the year saw the figure climb close to the record.



AP Photofax

DOMESTIC CAR PRODUCTION — Domestic auto producers turned out about 6.5 million cars in 1960 and sold about 6 million. More than 25 per cent of all cars made were compacts. In the previous year less than 10 per cent were compacts. Although sales were good, the industry went into the winter with the largest winter inventory on record.

Boys' Ranch Proud of Its First Graduate

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL, JR.

Bill Matus is like a proud father.

One of his 20 "sons" is nearing a milestone in the eight-year history of Camp Oakland.

* * *

Paul J. Koerner next June will become the first to finish his high school training while at the Boys' Ranch of Camp Oakland. He'll go on to college.

"We've never had anybody get that far before," said the 38-year-old director of the Juvenile Court institution, dedicated to providing a home where parents have neglected to.

Koerner, born in Germany during World War II, is a glowing example of the fruits of the untiring efforts of Matus and Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

* * *

The stocky youngster's German mother married an American soldier and came to the United States in July 1955 with Paul. Immediately there began a dislike of the boy on the part of the mother, now reportedly separated and living in Florida.

The mother sought to divorce herself from having to care for the boy. She looked to the courts. Judge Moore saw the need of a real home for the youth and made him a ward of the court in 1956.

Koerner, 18, has made the grade. He'll graduate next year from Oxford High School with a background of achievements that would make many a boy with a normal upbringing envious.

ACTIVE YOUNGSTER

He's a good B-average student, on the school's football, basketball and baseball teams and a member of a French Club. He also sings in his Methodist Church choir, is a member of the mixed ensemble, has attended Interlochen, and has visited Europe with the Michigan Chorale.

Paul will go to Central Michigan University at Mount Pleasant next fall. He wants to become a teacher.

Paul said he'd like to help others now.

Matus, himself the father of two young boys, said funds will be raised by supporters of Camp Oakland to pay Paul's $1,500 tuition at the university. They'll seek to find him a part time job to help out.

* * *

Paul received a big start toward his college education when Fotis (Nick) Takis, owner of the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills, turned over to him $216 the employes of the restaurant gave their boss as a Christmas gift.

Takis is a big booster of Camp Oakland, having more than once provided dinners on the house for the children there.

Paul's Christmas brightened immediately.

The donation will be applied, Matus said, to the $640 contributed by the DeVlieg Association of Royal Oak, a group of men who initiated the scholarship fund idea for graduates of Camp Oakland.

Matus, a graduate of the Mount Pleasant college himself, envisions a growing number of boys at Boys' Ranch and girls at the newer Girls' Ranch finishing their high school education while quartered at the two homes near Oxford.

In the past, most of the boys, usually committed because of broken homes or delinquency records, found the schooling too difficult.

* * *

"We are just now reaching the point where we see our plans paying dividends," the director said.

Under the leadership of Walter Gehrke, Judge Moore and others, the farmhouse on the old Lafer farm, a mile south of Oxford, was purchased in 1953.

The men wanted a homelike atmosphere for underprivileged children and youths who became wards of Juvenile Court.

Matus has been director since it opened.

From county funds come over $150,000. Public subscription from individuals such as Gehrke, president of Camp Oakland, Inc., and area service clubs provide the balance.

Ike's Son Gets New Assignment

John Eisenhower Will Be Stationed at Army War College

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. John Eisenhower will go to the Army War College in Pennsylvania after his father leaves the White House.

He has been serving as a military assistant at the White House since 1958.

The younger Eisenhower's name appeared today on a list of 162 officers selected to attend the class at Carlisle barracks, Pa., starting Aug. 17.

The Army said Col. Eisenhower will be given other duties prior to the beginning of the 10-month course at the institution which prepares selected officers for higher command and staff positions.

Shortly after President Eisenhower's first inauguration in 1953, his son was assigned to nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va. He had previously been on duty in Korea.

John Eisenhower and his family live in Gettysburg, Pa., close to the farm home where the President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to live in retirement. Gettysburg is about 30 miles from where John will be stationed.

The Day in Birmingham

Debate Cutting Out Jog and Widening Oakland

BIRMINGHAM — Two plans to eliminate the jog at Oakland and Woodward avenues, along with a proposal to widen Oakland will be taken under consideration by the City Commission tonight.

* * *

The removal of the jog at the southeast corner of Oakland would realign the street with Willits Street, simplifying the present traffic signal installation by making the streets more opposite one another.

However, City Manager L. R. Gare in his report to the commission, recommends that only the widening of Oakland be considered.

The widening is suggested by Gare because "there no doubt will be a large increase in traffic, particularly circulating traffic around the block in which the Demery Building is being constructed."

* * *

"It is difficult for me to justify the realignment of Oakland at the intersection with Woodward and Willits, particularly in view of the tremendous amount of money involved."

"Although a smoother flow of traffic might be accomplished, I believe that with the present jog we actually have more storage space for left-turn movements off Willits and Oakland than we could with a straight-through intersection."

The two plans for realigning Oakland with Willits would cost $85,000 to $90,000. This includes reconstruction of the pavement as well as acquisition of property.

* * *

Alternate widening plans would cost approximately the same as the realignment.

Sketches of the plans will be made available to commissioners tonight for study.

Mrs. Henry A. Snook

Service for Mrs. Henry A. (Carolyn) Snook, 84, of 210 Lowell, Bloomfield Hills, was to be held at 3 p.m. today at the William Voss Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Entombment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Snook died yesterday of a possible heart attack at her residence. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Joe Newman of Bloomfield Hills; two grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

County Juvenile Court Official Dies in Detroit

An Oakland County Juvenile Court official for more than 10 years, Jack C. Wells, 60, died Saturday at Women's Hospital, Detroit.

* * *

Wells, who lived at 151 Woodland, Detroit, came to the county juvenile court in 1950 as a judge with offices in Royal Oak Township.

He had been serving as boys probation officer for the past several years.

Wells, a graduate of the University of Michigan, also authored a book, "Out of the Deep."

Cold Wave Moves In on Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blast of icy air from Canada spread into northern Midwest areas today, dropping temperatures to nearly 30 below zero in some places.

The frigid weather covered sections of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin and was expected to envelop most of the north central region. Lower temperatures were in prospect for most of the Eastern half of the nation.

The mercury dropped to 29 below in Fargo, N.D., as the cold air mass moved across the snow-covered midwest areas. It was -23 in Jamestown, N.D., and in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. Grand Forks, N.D., reported -20.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow is forecast Monday night from the central Plains through the mid-Mississippi valley to the Ohio valley. Generally it will be colder from the Plateau region to the Atlantic coast.

Uninvited Visitor Upsets Ladies' Mission Meeting

WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) — The Ladies' Mission of St. Peter's Church held a meeting one night which was unexpectedly attended by a skunk.

The skunk didn't stay long, but long enough to do what skunks usually do when they shouldn't. The ladies didn't stay long either.

Holiday Traffic Death Toll Heavy

ardous in some areas and the death rate dropped slightly.

The count at midnight local time, at the end of the 78-hour holiday period which started at 6 p.m. Friday, showed 481 killed in nationwide motor vehicle accidents.

* * *

Fires also took a heavy toll, with 76 deaths reported compared to 43 for last year's Christmas weekend holiday. Various types of other accidents claimed the lives of 81 persons compared to 73 last Christmas for an over-all total of 638 violent deaths. Last Christmas the total was 609 accidental deaths.

* * *

The National Safety Council, which had estimated a possible death toll of 510, said traffic fatalities would number 350 on a normal nonholiday weekend at this time of year. It estimates 340 persons may be killed during the three-day New Year holiday weekend.

* * *

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths for a 78-hour nonholiday weekend period earlier this month showed 293 traffic fatalities, 47 killed in fires and 113 killed in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 453.

The record traffic death toll for a three-day Christmas holiday is 609, set in 1955.

California led all states in total traffic fatalities this Christmas weekend with more than 40. Texas reported more than 30 and more than 20 were reported in Georgia, New York and Michigan.

* * *

One of the Michigan victims was a University of Detroit exchange student from India who was struck and fatally injured by a policeman's car in Detroit.

* * *

The student Kanaiyalal Mehta, 30, of Bombay, was struck Monday night at an intersection near his apartment home after leaving a bus. He died early today. State police listed him among the weekend victims.

* * *

The driver of the car, patrolman Jerald Steward, 33, said Mehta walked around the rear of the bus and into his path and he could not avoid striking him. Mehta leaves his widow and a child in Bombay.

The Michigan traffic deaths outside of Oakland County included:

Mrs. Cleda Carrico, 58, of Prudenville, was killed Monday when the car in which she was a passenger ran off M76 and crashed into a tree three miles north of Sterling.

William H. Lippert, 69, of Grand Rapids; his wife, Emma, 66, and Kathryn Spicer, 77, of Grand Rapids were killed Monday when their car skidded on a Livingston County road and hit a tree, a mile west of Fowlerville.

Mrs. Marjorie Eichel, 26, of Bay City, was injured fatally Monday when her car crashed into a bridge railing on U.S. 23 near Flint.

Mrs. Dorothy Mracna, 35, of Detroit, died Monday of injuries suffered Saturday in a two-car crash in Detroit.

Walter H. Williams, 59, of Detroit, was killed Monday when his auto smashed into the rear of another car in Detroit.

Robert Quigley, 27, of Detroit, died Sunday of injuries suffered Saturday when his car struck a parked car in Detroit.

Mrs. Minnie Wood, 75, of Charlevoix, and Mrs. Nellie Billiau, 75, of Mendon, died in a head-on two-car collision Sunday about eight miles west of Cheboygan.

Delphina Jakubowski, 32, of Detroit, died Sunday of injuries suffered Christmas Eve when her car struck a light pole on an expressway interchange in Detroit.

John McWhirter, 83, of Alpena, was found dead Saturday along an Alpena Road, the victim of what police said was apparently a hit-run driver.

William Mullaley, 71, of Sagola, Dickinson County, was killed Saturday in a rear-end collision near Crystal Falls in the Upper Peninsula.

William Slagle, Jr., 31, of Grandville, was killed Saturday when his car hit a snow plow in Grand Rapids.

Edwin Martiens, 57, of Detroit, was killed Saturday when his car hit a bridge support on the John Lodge Expressway in Detroit.

A two-car collison on U.S. 23 in Au Gres Township claimed the life of Robert E. Proulx, 63, of rural Au Gres Friday.

Carol Rappuhn, 15, of Owosso, died Friday in a two-car crash on M47 in Owosso Township.

Mrs. Francis Browner, 65, of Detroit, was struck and killed by a car Friday in Detroit.

Mrs. Charlotte Bradow, 72, of Flint, died Friday in a two-car crash in Burton Township, near Flint.

Donald Seymour, 39, of Flint, was killed Friday when his car hit a tree about 1¼ miles from Flint in Burton Township.

Estell E. Fuller, 22, of Chicago was struck and killed by a car Friday on the U.S. 12 expressway, five miles east of Ypsilanti.

John Barbely, 65, of Detroit was killed Friday when he was hit by a bus in Detroit.

* * *

Leon A. Peavy, 68, of rural Newaygo County died Sunday of burns suffered when his home burned to the ground Friday. Police said a stove he was lighting apparently blew up, igniting his clothes and the house.

GIFT Exchanges

In the selection of merchandise intended for gifts where size and color are important factors, it is normal practice for Pontiac area merchants to grant the privilege of exchange. In order that exchanges may be made within a reasonable time, the Business Ethics Board recommends that all Christmas gift exchanges be made.

STRICKEN GIRL'S NEW PAL — Seven-year-old Ginger Stewart of Indianapolis, suffering from brain cancer, cuddles her 2-month-old kitten Monday — the gift she wanted most for Christmas. The child, who said "Someday I'm going to heaven with Grandma," isn't expected to live through the next year. The kitten was a present from friends after her mother offered to buy it with her $10 grocery money.

If Only Seals Ruled World

U.S., Russia Able to Agree, Uphold Pacts on Hunting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nations unable to guarantee they won't shoot at each other are sticking to a ban against shooting seals at sea.

* * *

The fisheries and wildlife office of the State Department says Russia is "playing fair and square" in honoring a North Pacific seal harvest treaty with the United States, Japan and Great Britain.

Furthermore, a spokesman said, Russia and the United States have successfully completed an exchange of scientific observers who inspected each other's seal herds.

Fisheries and wildlife officials in the State Department aren't so bold as to suggest that they are setting an example for their diplomatic colleagues concerned with nuclear inspection and some of the more serious aspects of East-West relations.

DIFFERENT ISSUES

"I'm afraid the issues involved here are of somewhat different character," said Stuart Blow, State Department fisheries expert.

Except for a brief lapse on the part of Japan during the 1940s, none of the nations has violated the four-power agreement, first made in 1911.

The second North Pacific treaty was signed Feb. 9, 1957. It is scheduled to expire in 1963, but by that time results of research programs are expected to provide the basis of terms for a new pact.

* * *

The National Geographic Society said the seal population of the Pribilof Islands and Alaska was four million when the areas were purchased by the United States from Russia in 1867. About 124,000 were left by 1911.

"Hunting at sea was overwhelmingly responsible for the decline," the society said.

Today, about 90,000 northern fur seals can be safely taken each year from the islands.

'HAULING GROUNDS' ONLY

Hunters may invade only the "hauling grounds" which are apart from the breeding grounds.

Although it was thought at one time that only young, unattached male seals should be taken, some experts now advocate taking females as a control measure in areas where food is limited and a herd would face starvation losses anyway.

Flight to Africa Breaks Air France Jet Strike

PARIS (AP)—An Air France jet airliner took off for central Africa today, marking the end of a two-week strike by pilots of the line's long-range jets.

* * *

The plane, bound for Douala and Brazzaville, carried only two passengers, civil servants returning to their posts after vacations.

The strike was broken by government requisition orders to the jet crews. If they had failed to respond, they would have faced legal action.

Pilots for the government-owned airline went on strike to support demands for shorter flying hours and pay bonuses. The pilot's union said it would continue its demands.

BERNARD GOLDFINE

Goldfine May Be OK for Trial

U.S. Attorney Holding Up Tax-Evasion Case, Wants More Data

BOSTON (AP)—U.S. Atty. Elliot Richardson says he believes Bernard Goldfine may be well enough to stand trial on charges of evading $790,000 income taxes.

Richardson said Monday night he filed a motion Dec. 8 for re-examination of the Boston industrialist to determine his mental competency.

* * *

He said he does not plan to ask the U.S. District Court to act on the motion until he receives further information, the nature of which was not disclosed.

Goldfine, 70, held in federal custody, was discharged from a Washington mental hospital last week by order of U.S. Dist. Judge George L. Hart Jr. The judge released Goldfine in custody of his son, Solomon, of Scarsdale, N.Y., for private psychiatric care.

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Sweeney some weeks ago declared Goldfine incompetent to stand trial and ordered him into the custody of the U.S. marshal for treatment.

* * *

The son brought his father home by plane Saturday night. A family squabble erupted at Logan International Airport over where Goldfine would stay. The son finally took his father to a downtown hotel.

Richardson said if Goldfine is well enough to be released from the Washington hospital, he may be well enough to stand trial.

Rhodesia Announces Job Integration Move

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—In a gesture toward this central African country's non-white majority, the Southern Rhodesian government today announced that Southern Rhodesia will open public service positions to all races effective Jan. 1.

A statement issued by the office of Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead said there will be no racial bar on any person in Southern Rhodesia reaching the highest posts in the public service.

"The whole purpose of the scheme is to give effect to the government's decision that, irrespective of race or color, there shall be equal pay for equal work," the statement said.

Friday Service Planned for U. of M. Professor

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Service will be held here Friday for Leigh J. Young, professor emeritus of silviculture (forest production) at the University of Michigan and mayor of Ann Arbor from 1941-45. Young died Saturday after a three-month illness. He was a U. of M. faculty member for 41 years before retiring in 1953.

Call GOP to Prepare for Spring Confab

LANSING (UPI)—The call has gone out to Republicans to prepare for the 1961 Spring Convention set for Feb. 3-4 in Detroit.

The convention will name a state central committee chairman and other party officers and nominate candidates to run in the April election.

* * *

State offices to be filled next spring include highway commissioner, superintendent of public instruction, two justices of the state supreme court, two regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, one member of the state board of education and two members of the board of governors of Wayne State University.

Congressional district caucuses were scheduled for Friday night, Feb. 3 with final action to be taken in convention the following day.

Democrats will hold a similar convention in Grand Rapids the same weekend.

EMU Will Dedicate Music Building, Organ

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan University will dedicate the Frederick Alexander music building and the Frederick Alexander memorial organ Jan. 15. Alexander headed the Eastern Michigan department of music from 1909 to 1941.

Repays Help From City

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The late Manoah E. Ruth bequeathed $3,200 of his $4,500 estate to the City Welfare Department, even though he had never received relief. He said he was "grateful because the city helped me" but didn't elaborate.

Fires Plague State Weekend

Pair of Major Blazes Rocks Detroit; 2 Die in Michigan Tragedies

By United Press International

Fires over the Christmas weekend claimed two lives in Michigan, put a radio station out of operation and called hundreds of Detroit firemen away from their holiday celebrations.

★ ★ ★

Leon Peavy, 68, of White Cloud died Sunday of burns suffered Friday night when a stove in his home exploded.

The other fire victim was Margaret Richardson, 32, of Nankin Township outside Detroit. She was burned to death Monday when she fell asleep while smoking in bed.

A flash fire, started in the furnace room, destroyed radio station WHGR Saturday. The station, owned by Sparks Broadcasting Co. of Royal Oak, is on M35 between Houghton Lake and Prudenville. The loss was estimated at more than $100,000.

★ ★ ★

Two extra-alarm fires in Detroit caused more than $200,000 damage to factory buildings. A six-alarm fire, of undetermined cause, did $100,000 damage to a stone siding factory Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Early the next morning, a five-alarm blaze, also of undetermined origin, did $100,000 damage to an empty factory building at another east side site.

More than 100 members of 18 companies were called out to fight both blazes. No one was injured.

We Americans are such art-lovers (according to a Boston authority) that the French artist Corot painted about 3,000 very fine pictures—and about 5,000 of them were sold in the United States . . . A public speaker's private advice to a good friend was: "Always speak confidently and fluently — especially when you know nothing about your subject." —Earl Wilson.

FACES ON CALL — A youngster holds a smiling mask in a Tokyo mask-maker's shop. The beautifully wrought disguises cover a variety of facial expressions. The false faces are an indispensable part of an actor's stagecraft in the classic Japanese dramas.

Arms Pact May Cost Bow to Red China

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A top adviser to President-Elect John F. Kennedy said Monday night the admission of Red China into the United Nations would be a "reasonable price to pay" for a reliable disarmament system.

★ ★ ★

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., said he thought any system of arms control which would "just apply to the Soviet Union and not to Red China would be obvious madness."

★ ★ ★

The Harvard University historian, speaking on a television interview, said the only "effective system of arms control would be one which would be organized and policed by the United Nations."

★ ★ ★

Schlesinger warned that if the United States was serious about arms contrpl it would have to consider some way of including Communist China within the international community.

Moscow to Build Hotel 'City' With 3,400 Rooms

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet architect Dmitry Chechulin has designed a massive hotel with 3,400 rooms to be built in Moscow which he claimed will be the biggest in Europe, the newspaper Moskovskayo Pravda reported today.

★ ★ ★

The official Tass News Agency quoted the newspaper as saying the hotel will represent a "great closed rectangle," consisting of four 12-story blocks. The center of the northern block will be 20 floors high, the newspaper said.

★ ★ ★

According to the newspaper, the hotel will have:

—Accommodations for 5,886 persons in 3,400 rooms.

—A concert hall able to seat 3,000 persons.

—Two movie halls with 1,500 seats.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper said the hotel will be in the center of Moscow.

Speed Air Terminal Construction for Fair

NEW YORK (UPI) — Construction of a new terminal building at New York's LaGuardia Airport has been put ahead 18 months to permit its completion for the opening of the 1964 World's Fair.

The Port of New York Authority had originally planned to complete the center section of the $30 million passenger terminal in 1965.

It is now expected to be ready for visitors to the projected fair, just a five-minute ride from the airport.

First Jury Was Hung

BARRE, Vt. (UPI) — The first Municipal Court jury trial here in more than a year ended with a hung jury.

Every day in the United States nearly 400 mentally retarded children are born.

Calls Conservatism Barrier to Philippines

HONOLULU (AP)—A. B. Herkes, retiring manager of the Hawaiian-Philippine Co., believes economic conservatism of the Philippine government has been a barrier to the economic growth of that country.

★ ★ ★

Herkes has worked in the sugar industry of Hawaii and the Philippines for over 30 years.

He said the Philippine government appears reluctant to work with foreign countries out of fear of losing its economic independence.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, "Relations between the Philippines and foreign businessmen are extremely healthy," he said.

Daddysville Is No Burg for Beatniks

ZEBULON, N.C. (AP) — "Daddysville" is the state-erected sign you'll see at a country crossroads near here on U.S. 64—but it's not a haven for beatniks.

★ ★ ★

Elbert Averett owns the store at the crossroads. When he was a small child he had long curls and his parents, who had wanted a girl, called him sister.

When he was 3 his parents got his hair cut and bought him a pair of long pants.

When Elbert was asked what he wanted for a more suitable nickname, he repljed, "Daddy." It stuck.

★ ★ ★

And when Highway Department engineers asked him to name the crossroads, "Daddysville" was the name he chose.

The British and Foreign Bible Society, which has distributed the Scriptures in hundreds of languages, was founded in London in 1804.

Catholic Pastor Revives Tithing in Jersey Parish

WEST NEW YORK, N. J. (AP) —The pastor of a Roman Catholic church here says there'll be no more carnivals, bazaars or raffles to get funds for parish needs.

★ ★ ★

Instead, church members will be asked to donate 10 per cent of their gross income to the church and church-approved charities.

The Rev. John P. Weigand said Monday he was taking the step to put an end to the church's "carnival atmosphere."

★ ★ ★

The system he outlined—which really isn't new at all—goes back to the early days of the church. It is called tithing.

★ ★ ★

In New York City, a spokesman for the Jesuit weekly magazine "America" said the custom of tithing is virtually unknown to Catholic parishes in the United States.

But he said Father Weigand would be within his rights in specifying to parishioners how to apply the law of the church, which obligates all Catholics to contribute to church support.

★ ★ ★

Father Weigand is pastor of St. Joseph's Church of the Palisades. The parish contains 7,200 families and is one of the largest in the state.

He said he had been preparing his parishioners for the new system for 10 weeks by a series of pastoral letters and pronouncement. The plan, he said, could not be considered compulsory.

He estimated about half the tithe would go to support the parish and the other half would go directly to charities.

The clergyman said perhaps between $70,000 and $80,000 would be lost because of the stoppage of bazaars and carnivals.

Father Weigand said that bingo games would be continued. He explained that the bingo license was won after a long struggle and that he doesn't want to give it up.

He also said that 95 per cent of the bingo players are not members of his parish.

State Man Electrocuted While Sitting in Bathtub

REESE (UPI)—Henry Ellen, 60, was electrocuted Monday while sitting in the bathtub.

★ ★ ★

Tuscola County Coroner William Shea said Ellen received the fatal jolt when he touched a small table lamp beside the tub. Reese is about 10 miles east of Saginaw.

Meteoroid Space Strikes Simulated by Air Gun

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (UPI)—Scientists are taking a new model of the old-fashioned air gun into space laboratories today.

A high-speed hydrogen gun is used in a Republic Aviation Corp. test chamber to fire tiny projectiles at experimental space vehicles.

The plastic projectiles simulate the effect of meteoroid strikes in space, permitting scientists to gauge such effects in shaping the vehicles.

The first known inks were made by the Chinese and Egyptians around 2500 B.C.

Congress Devising Plan

Restore Ike to Rank?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders are working quietly on a plan to restore President Eisenhower to his five-star general rank soon after he leaves the White House on Jan. 20.

They conceded privately that some opposition may arise because, as a former president, he also will be eligible for a $25,000 annual pension and office expenses of up to $50,000. Restored rank would pay $20,548 a year.

A special act of Congress would be required to restore the rank because Eisenhower resigned his permanent five-star commission in 1952 when he was first nominated by the Republicans.

Sponsors of the move to restore the rank point out that there are precedents for drawing two government retirement awards. Some civilian government workers have qualified for retirement after becoming eligible for military retirement pay.

After World War II, Congress approved an act that retained all five-star generals and admirals on active pay and duty as long as they lived. They also may have two military aides and office space in the Pentagon or elsewhere if they wish.

Belgian Police, Strikers Clash

Brussels Flare-Up Is Latest Occurrence in Socialist-Led Walkout

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Strikers clashed briefly with armed police in the streets here today in a new flareup of the socialist-led anti-government walkout that has crippled Belgium for a week.

Police dispersed a strike mob that was blocking traffic outside socialist headquarters after a brief scuffle that produced no reported casualties.

The strikers shouted "down with (Premier Gaston) Eyskens!" and other antigovernment slogans as the police cleared the street.

The government has called out regular troops and reservists in an effort to maintain essential services during the strike, which was called to protest the "austerity" program devised by the government to offset the nation's loss of revenues from the Congo.

The strike has crippled rail transportation, public utilities, mail deliveries and other essential services.

3 Blacktopping Proposals Before Waterford Board

Petitions for blacktopping five Waterford Township streets have been received and will be studied at tonight's Township Board meeting, according to Clerk James E. Seeterlin.

* * *

Township engineers Johnson & Anderson will be asked to prepare construction drawings for blacktopping Kempf Street from Sashabaw Road to Oakview Drive.

Also included in blacktopping projects will be Genella Street from Pontiac Lake Road, north to Shelby Street, and all of Shelby, Woodlow and Bielby streets in the Watkins Pontiac Estates near Cass Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Seeterlin will request the board's authorization to service two wells and install phosphate feed lines in the Lotus Lake water system and in Marion Street and Donelson Park Water System No. 1

New York 1st to Omit Race on Birth Paper

NEW YORK (AP)—"Race or color" references will be omitted from birth certificates on all babies born in New York City after New Year's Day.

* * *

The city will become the first community in the United States to adopt this policy, Health Commissioner Leona Baumgartner said Monday.

The action was taken following protests that color or race information could be used to discriminate against minority groups.

* * *

However, the Board of Health will keep the color or race items in confidential medical records of each birth. This will permit public health workers and scientists to make necessary racial and ethnic studies.

Tour Produces Red Promises

Cuba to Receive Loans of $50 Million, Factories —Maj. Ernesto Guevara

HAVANA (UPI)—Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Argentine-born economic czar of Cuba, says his recent tour of the Communist world produced promises of at least 124 factories and $50 million in loans from Communist countries.

An account of Guevara's mission published Monday by the pro-government newspaper Revolucion said Russia along plans to build 100 industrial plants in Cuba under the terms of a trade agreement which is expected to make the Kremlin this country's "major economic partner."

Revolution said Guevara also expects Red China to install 24 factories. Czechoslovakia has promised a $40 million loan which will be used for still more factories and East Germany has promised to lend $10 million, the official paper said.

In addition, Revolucion said, Cuba expects to sell at least 4 million tons of sugar to the Communists at prices above the world market if the United States persists in its refusal to buy Castro's sugar at premium prices.

It was uncertain whether the Castroites could expect to pick up much actual cash from their trade with the Reds. The terms of the Soviet trade agreement in particular suggested that it would follow the traditional Russian pattern of virtual barter dealings with little cash changing hands.

Guevara told Revolucion "20 to 40" Russian factories should be completed in the next 12 months. He did not predict a schedule for the completion of the remaining 60 to 80 points.

Sizable Boom in '61 Seen by Magazine

NEW YORK (UPI) — The economy of the United States already is moving toward a broad advance that will produce a sizable boom within a year, the editors of Fortune said today.

* * *

In making their annual 18-month forecast, the Fortune editors predicted jobs would start getting more plentiful this spring and that the gross national product will rise 8 per cent to a rate of $545 billion.

Getting down to major details, Fortune said defense spending would grow by $2.5 billion a year and total federal spending $6 billion, while industry's capital spending will hit a record rate of $51 billion a year.

Fortune also foresaw housing starts climbing to an annual rate of 14 million from the present 12 million, an advance of 2 per cent in the general price level and 3 per cent in the wage level. Consumer spending, the magazine said, will rise 4 per cent and personal income 9 per cent in terms of present dollars.

* * *

By late 1961, Fortune expects savings to resume their normal rate of 7.4 per cent of spendable income.

And Fortune's editors expect a relaxation of credit.

Pro-West Laotians Capture Drop Zone

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Pro-Western forces advancing from Vientiane have captured the Soviet arms-drop zone at Phone Hong nearly 30 miles north of here, it was reported today.

* * *

The anti-Communist forces, advancing in two columns, were reported close on the heels of "neutralist" Capt. Kong Le's paratroopers, driven out of Vientiane in a savage 76-hour battle 10 days ago.

* * *

At the same time, it was reported that two companies of Brig. Gen. Phoumi Nosavan's pro-Western infantry had driven Communist guerrillas out of a village 15 miles south of Luang Prabang.

Churchill's Back Better; Family Home for Yule

WESTERHAM, England (UPI)—Sir Winston Churchill is "recovering quickly" from the back injury he suffered in a fall six weeks ago, a spokesman said today.

Churchill spent Christmas at his country home here "with most of his family around him," the spokesman said.

Statistics Prove Every Vote Counts

Monday morning quarterbacks are mulling over the final statistics on the presidential vote.

★ ★ ★

Were you to shift only 11,000 votes in four states, Richard Nixon would be President of the United States.

It's that close.

★ ★ ★

If a very, very tiny percentage of the entire voting population had shifted from KENNEDY to NIXON, the Californian would have been elected. These are just "if's" and "but's" and they carry no significance in the final results. They simply indicate how this nation was split right down the middle and the victory came about through an almost imperceptible margin.

★ ★ ★

There are several lessons that can be derived from these statistics. The main one applies to the millions of voters: Your vote counts.

The stay-at-homes who have no moral sense of public duty can take these figures to their selfish bosoms. Every vote counts.

Ancient History Stirred by Boundary Division

The boundary between Colorado, a state since 1876, and New Mexico, admitted in 1912, has been officially established after 92 years of ups and downs.

The agreed border was to be a straight line along the 37th parallel of latitude but it runs along 335 miles of rugged terrain. Surveyors could never quite agree on where the line was.

★ ★ ★

A 1902-03 survey varied up to a mile in favor of New Mexico from the original 1868 line. That state promptly sought to establish the new survey but the suit didn't reach the Supreme Court until 1924, when the justices upheld the 1868 version. However, a resurvey was ordered.

★ ★ ★

Matters dragged on. By 1957 a report had it that the survey was nearly completed. But it wasn't until late 1960 that the courts after keeping the suit under advisement for 36 years, finally closed what must have been the oldest case on its records.

Nothing like a clean slate for the New Year!

Khrushchev Hopes for Better Relations

Those pious, sweet-talking Russians hope that when JOHN F. KENNEDY becomes President their relations with the United States will improve.

Well, we don't.

There's only one way you can improve your relations with the lying, two-faced Russians and that's to kowtow to them and bow humbly before their "right and might." If you want to get along with this gang of international murderers, you have to fold in front of them and accept their wish as law. Dwight D. Eisenhower refused.

So did Richard Nixon.

And so did Henry Cabot Lodge.

★ ★ ★

This newspaper—and every thinking American that isn't a pink, a red or a left wing Socialist—hopes that JOHN F. KENNEDY, LYNDON JOHNSON and ADLAI STEVENSON exercise the same courage and the same independence. We must preserve the sanctity of this nation. And that won't suit KHRUSHCHEV. He wants obedience, appeasement and obeisance.

★ ★ ★

We bank on Kennedy and Johnson to continue right along the lines laid down by the current President and Vice President. We don't have much faith in Adlai Stevenson as compared to Lodge. But we feel that the policies Stevenson will enunciate must be formulated in the White House.

★ ★ ★

We refuse to believe STEVENSON will be allowed to "step out on his own." STEVENSON goes along with the namby-pamby ideas of ELEANOR ROOSEVELT and others of similar taste. It was she who entertained the boss Russian when he was in the dog house. The aging ELEANOR still tries to inflict her personal policies on this nation.

★ ★ ★

Stevenson represents the tagend, left wing element of the Democratic Party and this group had to be appeased. But the Russians need not look to Washington for a weakening in our national policies. We think John Kennedy is just as opposed to the brutality of Russian slaughter as the rest of us.

He's an American.

He won't knuckle down.

So, the Reds can slink back into the Kremlin and stew in their own juice — and what an unpalatable mess their own juice is.

The Country Parson

"A righteous man is one who always behaves himself — even when the neighbors are away."

David Lawrence Says:

Here's Why Dillon Accepted Post

WASHINGTON — Did President Eisenhower really advise the Undersecretary of State, C. Douglas Dillon, not to accept the president-elect's proffer of the secretaryship of the Treasury in the new cabinet? What was meant when Kennedy was reported to have said in a press conference that he understood Eisenhower had urged Dillon to accept the post?

LAWRENCE

The conflict is more apparent than real.

It is important to clarify what did happen not only for the benefit of those in this country who are directly affected by Treasury policies but for the guidance of foreign governments, particularly since the gold problem will continue to be of paramount importance in the next several months.

This correspondent has ascertained the following:

1. President Eisenhower gave friendly counsel to Dillon and urged him to make sure that he had a clear understanding as to the making of future policies in the Treasury. He pointed out some of the difficulties but carefully refrained from making any request that Dillon should decline the post.

2. If the President had made the specific request, Dillon would not have accepted the post in the new administration. He, therefore, was free to make his own decision and did not feel it was necessary or proper to transmit to Kennedy what had been discussed at the White House.

3. The President sees no objection to anybody taking a post in the government at any time if he feels the national interest can be served thereby, but he does express to his friends the caution that so often is necessary when there is important policy to be made. For it is obvious that all sorts of conflicting influences are bound to arise in shaping such a policy, and a cabinet officer is better off if he has assurances in advance that he will be supported by the president.

4. Dillon has read the Democratic national platform and knows that there are various persons prominent in Kennedy circles who will be pressing for bigger and bigger federal expenditures, but the new secretary's task will be to set forth what seem to him to be sound fiscal policies, whether or not they conform to the platform of either national political party. Every cabinet officer often finds outside advisers, in Congress and elsewhere, trying to tell a president what should be done in a particular department, and if Kennedy has to tell them that he can't do what they want because his secretary of the Treasury objects, it isn't going to disturb Dillon to be the scapegoat for such turndowns.

5. Dillon is convinced that he and the president-elect are in basic agreement on Treasury policy. This was revealed officially in Kennedy's press conference a few days ago at Palm Beach.

6. Published reports that Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson didn't want Dillon to accept the post are entirely in error, because Anderson actually urged him to do so.

7. The gold policy of the United States under the new administration will in the main be exactly what was set forth recently in the Anderson-Dillon mission to Bonn, Paris and London. There may be,

POLITICS INVOLVED

To a large extent the selection of Dillon to be secretary of the Treasury is understandably political. Kennedy knows that the principal attacks by the Republicans during the campaign and the fears expressed since have been concerned with possible unsoundness in fiscal policy.

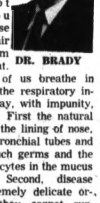
Dr. William Brady Says:

Respiratory Infections Come Through Nose, Mouth

How does one catch smallpox? Measles? Scarlet fever? Influenza (grip, flu)? Diphteria? Meningitis (cerebrospinal fever? Poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis)? Pulmonary (lung) tuberculosis? Tonsillitis? Pharyngitis (sore throat)? Laryngitis?

These diseases (there are others) are all respiratory infections. In all of these diseases, the entrance of the infective agent (germ or virus) into the body is usually via the nose and mouth.



DR. BRADY

This does not mean that you catch the disease by breathing air in which the germ or virus is afloat. Probably most of us breathe in some germs of the respiratory infections every day, with impunity, for two reasons: First the natural mucus covering the lining of nose, throat, larynx, bronchial tubes and lungs entraps such germs and the wandering phagocytes in the mucus destroy them. Second, disease germs are extremely delicate organisms; and they cannot survive exposure to room temperature, sunlight or a very dry environment.

If they are to live, grow, multiply and produce disease they require food, warmth, darkness, and moisture. So that germs floating in the air for only moments are killed or made practically harmless by dryness, cold, light. Were this not true we'd all perish.

The mucus covering healthy mucous membranes, keeps the linings soft, lubricates and protects the mocous membranes much better than can any gargle or spray. The morbid habit of using antiseptic gargles or sprays to "prevent" respiratory infection more likely favors such infection by washing away for a while the natural protective mucus.

The germs you inhale in the air are comparatively harmless, whereas the germs coughed, sneezed or sprayed on you in ordinary conversation are still warm, moist and unaffected by light — a vigorous working sample of whatever the distributor has.

Some of the respiratory infections you catch in the spray of cough, sneeze or conversation are specific, that is, the virus of smallpox or the virus of measles, spread in this way, causes only smallpox or measles. But the germ of scarlet fever or the germ of pneumonia, spread in mouth or nose spray, may cause septic sore throat or bronchitis respectively.

The pneumococcus is especially unpredictable in this respect. As it is transferred from person to person in cough, sneeze or conversation spray it may cause such things as quinsy or pneumonia.

Cataract in one eye only. Other eye normal. Three oculists said as long as the normal eye has good vision, removal of cataract from the other eye would not give much satisfaction. . . (C.L.)

Ans. — In his place, I imagine I'd be content with monocular vision, although removal of cataract from the other eye would be perfectly painless and as safe as driving in heavy traffic.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Home Tutoring Method Works Well

Tommy is at the educational crossroads. His problem occurs in millions of good homes. If his mother adopts the sugar-coated method of home tutoring outlined below, Tommy will make higher grades and develop a fondness for school, which will lead him onward to college. Otherwise, he may become a quick drop-out and an early delinquent.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G-462: Tommy T., aged 11, is at the crossroads.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Tommy hates school. For he makes such poor grades in English and reading, that some of his classmates even refer to him as 'dummy'.

DR. CRANE

He now wants to quit school. And he feigns illness to avoid having to leave in the morning.

"Yet his I.Q. is above normal, so what can I do to change his attitude?"

USE FLASH CARDS

Within a few weeks, you parents can often raise your child's standing to at least the average of the class, just by use of "flash cards."

Go to the stationery shop and purchase several large sheets of white cardboard.

Now cut these into strips about 2 inches wide and 10 or 12 inches long.

Get a printing set. Then go into a huddle with your child and let him point out the words in his current reading book which he doesn't know.

Encourage him to print each one of these strange words on a strip of the white cardboard.

Then you mothers can hold up two cards, explaining what each means and showing the differences in the general contour of the words.

For example, point out the difference in length. If a word such as "door" is involved, liken the "o" letters to eyes, etc.

Next, shuffle the two cards, after which you can hold up one at a time for your child to see. If he can identify the word, hand him the flash card. If not, stack it on your own pile. The larger stack wins!

By thus letting the child select the unknown words and print them, you give him double experience with those strange terms, even before you hold aloft the individual flash cards.

It is surprising how fast a child can learn the new words when his interest is captured by this sugar-coated game.

As a variation, let his daddy compete with him. But tactfully see that daddy "pulls his punches," for a child must win about 3 times out of 4, or his enthusiasm wanes.

★ ★ ★

Let daddy fumble a little to give your child a head start on calling out the new word.

With verbs, you can also have your youngster "act out" their meaning instead of naming them. Thus, he can "jump" when that flash card is shown, or "walk," "sing," "sleep," etc.

MATH CARDS

On the backs of the word cards, you can also print the multiplication tables.

For instance, print "3x1" on the first card; then "3x2" on the next, etc.

A child can become so fast at multiplication within a week that he can often zoom from bottom to top position in his schoolroom. Try it and see what 15 minutes of sugar-coated home tutoring will do.

But don't overdo your drill. Stop with 15 minutes. And even in that period of time, shift to variations of the game, alloting maybe 5 minutes to each.

★ ★ ★

You parents can change your child's entire outlook on school within a few weeks. Tommy's future career was at stake.

Many families will find it prudent to help a youngster in math or reading at some time in their early grades.

So send for my booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit).

See tomorrow's follow-up.

Tells of Troubles at Whitfield School

Dr. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, says that he was first informed of problems at the Daniel Whitfield School in June 1960. He seems to have a short memory. Beginning five years ago, four mothers representing a larger group of parents, had a meeting in his office to register complaints on many of the policies of Whitfield School. Since then, other parents have done the same thing.

A group of interested parents hired a lawyer and had some of these policies changed. Our children are now allowed to remain indoors in inclement weather while waiting for the bus. The youngsters are allowed to bring a small rubber ball to play with during recess periods.

This fall, a cot was brought out so a sick child might lie down. Only now, after this expense and trouble, may a child read a book during his lunch period if weather and a note from his parents keeps him indoors. Before, he was not allowed even one sheet of paper and pencil to keep himself occupied.

Dr. Whitmer told us that a fire inspection was supposed to have been made of the school and that cabinets were removed from one doorway which has been blocked for at least five years. But many of us noted the blocked doorway of the gym exit during the Christmas program last year.

Just what lengths must a parent go to get civilized treatment for children. We tried to ask the board of education this on Dec. 8, but their "democratic" procedure doesn't permit one to ask questions that might embarrass them before the press at an "open" board meeting.

'Stevenson Thinks Before Speaking'

Letter writer "R.C.N." expresses disappointment in Kennedy's selection of Stevenson. He says further that on TV and radio interviews Stevenson "has never given a straight or direct answer." He has some unkind words for other Democrats.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Meller, D.V.M.

Q. My friend regularly fed a little squirrel peanuts. My friend had to go away. How can I let the little squirrel know that she will not be back? Mrs. D. Hudson, Rochester, N.Y.

A. Lack of communication with our animal friends is certainly the greatest barrier to full understanding. Man, with his superior intellect, can carefully observe animals and thus appreciate the deeper feelings, aspirations, intentions and desires of our animal friends.

* * *

The animal must rely on instinct alone to tell it about man. To convey sad news to your squirrel would be impossible.

* * *

When he finds his benefactress absent from his usual feeding place for a few days he will soon accept it as he does a cold winter, a bad storm or a food shortage. If animals were not able to adapt to such conditions, they could not survive.

Navy Orders Safety Steps

Carrier Tragedy Spurs Strict Measures for Shipyards

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Shipyards across the country were under Navy orders today to take stricter safety precautions to prevent any more fires like the blaze which swept the aircraft carrier Constellation, killing at least 49 construction workers.

Two of the new safety rules concerned the handling of fuel tanks aboard ships and the use of wooden scaffolding, materials involved in the constellation fire at the Brooklyn navy yard this week.

The instructions, issued Friday, decreed that fuel tanks like the one believed to have set off the $75 million Constellation fire must be removed from navy ships.

Also, government and private shipyards were ordered to eliminate temporary structures below decks for use of supervisory personnel. This was interpreted to mean wooden scaffoldings.

* * *

New York Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanaugh Jr. has said the Constellation was clogged with wooden scaffolding and other flammable materials.

The special directive also outlined other steps to be taken in an effort to prevent any repetition of the disaster.

Newsprint Consumption Sets November Record

NEW YORK (UPI)—U. S. newsprint consumption continues to set new records with a new November high as well as a record high for the first 11 months, says the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Newspapers reporting to the association consumed 496,675 tons of newsprint in November, up 1.9 per cent over 487,479 tons for November, 1959. In the first 11 months consumption totaled 5,074,849 tons or 4.2 per cent higher than 4,868,727 tons last year.

Poland Can't Cut the Butter

Sudden Shortage Has Housewives Prodded to Use Margarine

WARSAW (UPI) — Butter has become an immediate scarce item here.

Authorities are hoping to turn housewives to the fair-quality margarine available in quantity in all food shops, but Poland's traditional cookery, like that of France, is based on butter, and margarine is having an uphill battle.

Cause of the shortage, the official Communist newspaper Trybuna Ludu said, was increased consumption in cities of bottled milk (widespread pasteurization has not been long established) and a drop in milk production.

The latter situation was believed to be a result of widespread flooding of pasturelands during the summer.

VOW EXPORT CONTINUATION

Authorities say they are determined to maintain their butter export commitments, which are mainly with Western countries and constitute an important part of this country's hard currency income.

The Communist newspaper said butter supplies to the home market would be "smaller than previously," but "consumers should not give credence to any gossip and should restrict their purchases to what is absolutely necessary."

Observers here noted Trybuna's words did not stop housewives loading up with extra pounds of butter whenever it could be found.

Meat was last winter's major shortage here, but supplies are believed to be somewhat better now, although there was some early slaughtering because of a shortage of winter feed.

But potatoes and some other root vegetables will probably be in short supply, since the floods left those crops sodden and damaged their keeping qualities.

Says Dogs Give Police Forces Twofold Benefit

EAST LANSING (AP)—A Michigan State University assistant professor of police administration says dogs offer both real and psychological benefits to police forces.

Samuel G. Chapman said dogs are of psychological value in controlling crowds and deterring crime. He quoted one city official who pointed out:

"Nobody wants to lose the seat of his pants."

They can be of real assistance in tracing lost persons, making routine patrols of alleys, back yards and wooded areas.

★

One of the chief disadvantages, Chapman said, is the necessity of keeping one dog with one handler — making promotions, transfers and retirements a serious problem.

The Michigan State Police Department has started a trial program with its first police dog.

14 Persons Hurt in 14-Car Crash

Cloud of Smoke From Dump Blocks Vision on Willow Run Xway

YPSILANTI (AP) — Fourteen persons were injured Monday in a chain-reaction pile-up which started when a cloud of smoke from a burning dump blanketed the Willow Run expressway in Ypsilanti.

★ ★ ★

Police said the chain of accidents apparently started when the lead car slowed as it entered the smoke. A witness said two cars then cracked into the lead car.

The accident was hidden in smoke from the dump, and 11 other cars piled up.

Jacob Stefanik, 57, of Detroit, one of the first at the scene, said: "We saw a big flame and when we got closer we saw two cars were on fire. The cars were together. I had an extinguisher in my car and I stopped and started running. My wife hollered for me to stop. But I wanted to help those people.

★ ★ ★

He said a car coming into the smoke saw the fire and put on its brakes. There were cars right behind it.

"I don't know how many there were after that," he said. "I heard 10 good bangs . . . There were people just sitting down and lying right out there in the middle of the road . . . the fire was awful. People were screaming. Flames were shooting up everywhere."

Police said three of the 14 persons injured were in serious condition.

Cadillac Is Auctioned for Record $50,000

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A meat-packing company Monday paid nearly $50,000—a record price—for a 1961 Cadillac.

The amount was put up by the Rafela Meat Packing Corp. at an auction where cars from a recent international auto show were sold by city authorities to pay show expenses.

Average Italian Spends $1.60 Yearly on Books

ROME (UPI) — If two Italians out of 1,000 buy a book—it's a best-seller.

★ ★ ★

Recent statistics show that the average amount of Italian spends on books every year is about $1.60. School textbooks account for about half of this amount. About 32 cents goes for criminal stories.

That leaves only 48 cents a year spent voluntarily by the average on books of some literary value.

While best-sellers rarely sell more than 100,000 copies — more fore every 1,000 Italians — more than 10,000 new books are printed in Italy every year, most of them at a net loss.

The first family-size compact Comet's 114" wheelbase (longer than any other compact's) provides spacious comfort other compacts sacrifice. There is room for six grownups and a family-size load of luggage besides.

Big-car ride—small-car handling The refined suspension (plus the 114" wheelbase) makes Comet's ride steadier and smoother than many standard cars. And you'll find that Comet turns, parks and handles almost as easily as a baby carriage.

Priced with or below compacts of other makers For all its fine-car flair, family size, big-car ride and value features, Comet's priced with or below compacts of other makers.

New Thrift Power 170 engine for '61 Comet now offers two economy engines—the standard Thrift Power Six plus the new optional Thrift Power 170, for 11% faster highway passing, 22% better acceleration on hills.

One-year or 12,000-mile warranty Every 1961 Comet part (except tires, for which appropriate adjustments are made by their makers) is now warranted by dealers against defects in material and workmanship for one year or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. Normal maintenance services and routine replacement of parts such as filters, spark plugs, and ignition points are excepted.

U.S. Auto Firms Cross the Oceans

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT—The American automobile industry has decided to try to make a car available to everyone in the free world before trying to sell two or three cars to every American family.

The most obvious and dramatic example of this decision is the bid by Ford Motor Co. to gain full control of its English subsidiary, Ford of England.

The Ford offer to pay $358,400,000 for complete control of Ford of England was so startling it has almost obscured the fact that other American car makers also are moving in the same direction.

Basically, the decision is based on the beliefs of the American companies that the world market offers more growth potential than the domestic market.

ONLY BASIC MODELS

In order to sell an American family several cars, the manufacturers have to make a wide variety of cars because a two- or three-car family seldom owns more than one car of the same type.

But if the manufacturers can make one car that fits the basic needs of people throughout the world for transportation, they can build a more limited selection of cars and still sell in volume.

It costs less to produce a large number of one type of car than it does to produce smaller numbers of several makes which add to the same total. This is true because it takes separate tools to build each make of car while all cars of one make can be made from the same tools.

This seems so obvious that many may ask why the auto makers didn't think of it before.

Many did.

TIME SEEMS RIPE

But you can't sell to persons who don't have the money to buy them and have no roads to drive them on. The standards of living of European, African and Asian nations has been rising, however, and the market for cars in these areas is developing rapidly.

American Motors Corp. appears to be making the most direct route toward building markets in the underdeveloped areas of the world. These plants will employ native workers, raising their standard of living and making it possible for them to buy the products they produce.

Of course, this plan wouldn't work unless the standard of living of these countries wasn't already on the rise because a company can't survive by selling only to those it employs. But if it can catch an economy on its way upward, it can boost that economy and fill a need it helped create.

The activities of General Motors abroad have been least noticable because that company has always had a worldwide network of satellites and these subsidiaries have always been wholly-owned.

GM, therefore, does not have to make any dramatic purchases of stock in its foreign subsidiaries and doesn't have to start building plants in foreign countries.

But like the other companies, GM is strengthening its foreign operations in preparation for extending the competition among American companies abroad.

If the plans are carried to their ultimate, it will mean that the companies will make one type of car for worldwide distribution, not a sparate make for each country in which it operates.

Parts for these cars would be made in widely scattered areas of the world, depending upon where they could be made most profitably, and all of the parts would be shipped to assembly plants to be fitted together.

Get Vitamins to Fight Decay

Drops Given to Children Under 3 in Kalamazoo County for Teeth

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Children under the age of three in Kalamazoo County are receiving special vitamin drops which scientists hope will sharply reduce tooth decay in later life.

More than 400 youngsters are receiving the drops, which are fortified with fluorine.

Dr. Frederick P. Margolis, Kalamazoo pediatrician, said the experiment is aimed at hardening the children's permanent teeth, which are pretty well formed by age three.

He pointed out that up to now fluorine has been administered almost solely in drinking water and has been found to cut decay by as much as 65 per cent by this method.

DRINK LITTLE WATER

But children up to the age of 2 drink little water. Thus another way of administering fluorine must be used, especially because the treatment is most effective before the child reaches age two.

Dr. Margolis points out that the general health of the children can be expected to improve if tooth decay is reduced and fewer teeth will be lost in later years.

The study, which will take eight years, was started with the initial grant of $32,000 from the National Institute of Health.

The Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo is furnishing the Fluorine-fortified vitamin drops.

Also participating in the experiment are the Wayne State University school of medicine and Western Michigan University chemist Dr. Robert Nagler.

When they reach age eight, the children will be checked by the Michigan Department of Health for their rate of tooth decay and general health.

According to the Nutrition Foundation, canned sardines, ounce for ounce, has as much protein as meat. Sardines also contain generous quantities of calcium and vitamin A.

Medical Assn. Warns: Office Can Hurt You

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—If you consider your office a safe place, look around. The Minnesota State Medical Association says it's the little things that cause accidents.

It warns particularly about overbalanced posture in chairs; file drawers that haven't been closed; sharp objects in a waste basket; pencils behind the ear; entering or leaving an elevator while reading, and telephone cord "booby traps."

Joy Riders Believe, if Key Fits Drive It

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — David Tull parked his car in a downtown lot. When he returned for it several hours later, he found it apparently had been used by joy-riders.

Two keys, neither of which belonged to Tull, and a note were on the seat.

"Could you use these?" read the note. "They fit."

Energetic Bob Kennedy Will Have Plenty to Do

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Kennedy brings a lot of energy to a job that can use it—as attorney general and head of the wide activities of the Justice Department.

With the exception of the outgoing attorney general, William Rogers, Kennedy's new job has been held by a long line of lawyers not distinguished for fiery zest.

* * *

As head of the Justice Department Robert will have enough to keep him busy without being an adviser—especially on politics—to his brother, President-Elect John F. Kennedy, although he almost certainly will continue to do some political advising.

Many of the chores Robert undertook before can now be shifted to John M. Bailey, President-Elect Kennedy's own choice for chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

BROAD POWER

The Justice Department is such a vague official identification that it is easy to fail to recognize the broad power over many fields of American life given to Robert by his brother.

Under the department's broad umbrella come the FBI, the Immigration and Naturalization service, the Board of Immigration Appeals, the Bureau of Prisons, the Board of Parole, the United States Marshal's office and around 30,000 employes, of whom about 5,000 are lawyers.

* * *

But this is only the superficial and obvious face of power in Robert's hands.

The attorney general is the government's chief legal adviser. The Justice Department does all the prosecuting in federal criminal cases.

It has its hands in many other aspects of American living which it can deeply affect and influence by its activity or lack of it.

Take the tax division which acts against law violations and evasions by individuals or corporations. Its antitrust division alone is a powerful force for preventing monopoly practices by big business.

CIVIL RIGHTS

The recently created civil rights division—which both whites and Negroes will watch intently—can, if it wishes, be a driving engine against civil rights violations, particularly in the South.

Other segments include the civil and the internal security divisions. The latter over the years has prosecuted many top Communists. The Alien Property Office is also under the Justice Department.

* * *

And, since Robert made a reputation investigating labor racketeering he can be expected to be active in some way in this field, too.

Robert not only has drive. He has been the most controversial figure in the entire Kennedy clan. Robert will probably be a controversial attorney general.

Automation to Help Butter Spread Easier

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Butter that spreads easier is just one of many improvements that will come from increased automation in the dairy industry, a dairy marketing expert predicts.

Sour cream in aerosal cans, milk delivered in attractive pitchers suitable for table use and a variety of new cheeses also can be expected, according to Donald Merlin, editor of a Milwaukee dairy publication.

Fresh-tasting concentrated milk also will make an appearance, Merlin says.

It could be frozen, fresh or canned, Merlin says. He also predicts dairies will carry a greater variety of "sideline" products. Included would be special cottage cheese and gelatin salads, potato salads, uncarbonated fruit drinks and sandwich spreads.

Americans Enjoy That Dancing Habit

NEW YORK (UPI) — An estimated 32 million of America's 100 million adults enjoy dancing, according to a recent poll.

That's just a million fewer than than like to swim, and the same as the number of grown-ups who like to go fishing.

About 20 million of them spend money on it, according to the National Ballroom Operators Association. Their annual bill — $40 to $50 million.

The license of Gary D. Overall, 959 Harvard St., Berkley, was further suspended because he drove while it was suspended.

Kresge Chain Is Optimistic

President Says That It Will Keep Expanding, Believes in Downtown

DETROIT (AP) — S. S. Kresge, Michigan-based nationwide variety-department store chain, expects to keep right on expanding in 1961, "and for the next several years."

Harry B. Cunningham, Kresge president, says: "We are getting ready for the family formation boom of the mid-1960s."

Kresge now operates 781 stores across the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. It added 59 new ones in 1960, but closed 24 as unprofitable locations for a net gain of 35.

Cunningham predicts Kresge will add 60 to 70 new stores in 1961 and that additions in that number will continue for the next several years. He doesn't expect the ratio of closing to gain.

"We are not pessimistic about 1961," Cunningham said in an interview. "It may be a little rough the first few months, but there are so many underlying factors of strength we expect to do all right in 1961."

* * *

There has been a shift in recent years from older, deteriorating neighborhood shopping strips and from downtown. Cunningham emphasized however, that while Kresge expects to follow the changing shopping patterns, "it isn't giving up on downtown, where we expect to be many years to come."

While the shopping pattern has left many neighborhood strips, Cunningham said that many good ones still are left and he doesn't expect newer, bigger shopping centers to wipe them out any time soon.

UAR Plans to Invest $1.25 Billion in Syria

DAMASCUS, United Arab Republic (UPI) — The over-all development plan for the Syrian region of the United Arab Republic will require an investment of $1.25 billion during the next 10 years, according to officials here.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser held several meetings with the Syrian Region Executive Council to discuss the plan.

The plan calls for agriculture to get 34 per cent of the investment, industry 21 per cent, housing 12 per cent, public services 18 per cent, other sectors 15 per cent.

De Gaulle Hit With Right, Left

Conservative, Radical Rap Algerian Policies as Rioting Continues

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's plan for ending the bloody Algerian war was attacked by two leading politicians Monday night as Moslem rioting continued in Oran, Algeria's second largest city.

Conservative leader Roger Duchet and Radical Felix Gaillard, a Fourth Republic premier, used the state radio and television network to condemn De Gaulle's self-determination plan.

★ ★ ★

Both said the voters should be guided by their consciences in the Jan. 8 referendum, which will approve or reject De Gaulle's proposal for speedy self-government in Algeria, with the Moslem majority taking a much bigger part, and a referendum in the North African territory after peace is restored to decide on Algerian independence.

★ ★ ★

Gaillard said De Gaulle's plan has been "emptied of all sense" by the recent bloody clashes in Algiers and Oran. Duchet said De Gaulle was installed in the presidency to save Algeria and maintain French control over the territory.

Moslems, European settlers and police clashed intermittently in Oran. Officials said one Frenchman was killed, five French and two Moslems were wounded.

★ ★ ★

Threatening groups of Moslems formed in several sections of Oran at midnight, despite a military curfew.

In the Victor Hugo quarter, hundreds of demonstrators, including youths and girls, hurled bottles and stones at riot police.

Out of Uniform, Bilko Is Still a Funny Guy

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — In case you've been wondering about Sgt. Ernie Bilko since his joint discharge from the Army and television, he can be found at the St. James Theater in a musical comedy called "Do Re Mi" under the civilian alias Phil Silvers.

The comedian is not quite as brash and assured as when he was playing Bilko, but the old inclination to scheme up a way to stalk the quick buck is as strong as ever. And as funny.

The new musical, which opened Monday night, is strictly for laughs and a welcome relief, especially since it has the very funny Nancy Walker as co-star.

The libretto is something less than memorable, but it does provide these two stars and some comical sidekicks with situations and material that their skills can and do turn into scenes that should keep any audience in a laughing condition.

Saginaw Transfer Shifts 3 Executives

SAGINAW (AP) — Saginaw Transfer Co., one of Michigan's largest trucking firms, announced three top-level executive shifts today as the result of the death last week of William W. Brown, who was president and general manager.

★ ★ ★

Carman S. Brown, 62, a Chicago investment broker and Saginaw Transfer board chairman since 1945, was elected president to succeed his brother, William, in that office.

Carl H. Smith, Bay City attorney and Saginaw Transfer's general counsel since 1924, was elected chairman of the board to succeed Carman Brown.

E. H. Hagene, executive vice president stationed in Chicago since 1953, was named to the post of general manager.

★ ★ ★

Saginaw Transfer was formed as a three-truck, $40,000-gross trucking firm by William W. Brown in 1942. It now operates 550 trucks and trailers from seven Michigan and two Illinois terminals and grosses more than $5.5 million a year.

Irons to Swear In Deputies at 4 P.M. Saturday

Oakland County sheriff's deputies will be sworn in at 4 p.m. Saturday in offices at the county jail, Sheriff Frank Irons announced today.

★ ★ ★

He said he was breaking the tradition of swearing in the men at midnight to prevent any recurrence of a problem two years ago. Inclement weather prevented many of the deputies and their guests from leaving afterward.

They spent the night at the jail.

Also, there will be no party in connection with the ceremony this year, said Irons.

Deputies have to be sworn in every two years to retain their legal authority.

Expects 1 to 2 Pct. Price Rise in 1961

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A key government economist predicts the cost of goods and services bought by the average city family will rise 1 to 2 per cent in 1961.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the consumer price index would go up that much next year because of the "persistent" rise in the cost of services.

"The cost of services—rent, the homeowner's taxes, repair bills, medical-care costs, auto insurance and the like — rises practically every month," Clague said in a copyrighted interview to U.S. News & World Report made public Monday.

As for other consumer prices, Clague foresaw a mixture of markups and reductions, partly in response to seasonal shifts in supply and demand.

He predicted "good, substantial" bargain sales in January as stores move out winter stocks and left-over Christmas wares.

Meat prices are likely to "strengthen for the next six or eight months, and then very likely decline toward the latter part of 1961," Clague said.

A professional economist, Clague heads the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, which compiles the monthly consumer price index. The index reflects changes in the prices of 300 goods and services bought by middle-income city families.

Clague said the continuing upward creep in the index—about one and one-half per cent a year since the spring of 1959— does not mean the economy is suffering from inflation.

★ ★ ★

"What I call inflation is a general upward sweep in which practically everything is going up," Clague said. "In the case of our index there are some items declining from time to time."

He said pices of durable goods, such as home appliances, whose sales have been weak recently, "have been subject to very substantial discounts for the past year."

Mother of Three Beaten, Robbed on Way to Work

A Hazel Park mother of three children was beaten and robbed of her purse today by an unidentified man while she was on her way to work at Children's Hospital in Detroit.

Mrs. Betty James, 26, a nurse, told police she was attacked a block and a half from the hospital. Mrs. James broke free from her assailant and ran to the hospital, collapsing in the lobby from head injuries.

A witness who saw the attack from a window at his home described the robber as a heavy-set man, a Negro, about 29 to 35 years old.

Police said Mrs. James' assailant beat her with a club or blackjack and apparently tried to choke her.

★ ★ ★

Ten days ago Mrs. Hattie Grace, a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. clerk, was stabbed with an ice pick just a mile from today's attack scene.

Safety Building Crew Mops Up

Pipes Freeze, Crack, Water Floods Down Through Ceilings

Mopping up operations continued today at the Public Safety Building, scene of an unexpected deluge yesterday.

A virtual waterfall descended into the two-story building from the rooftop penthouse, cooling center for the hot-water heating system.

The outburst occurred shortly after 10 a.m. Pipes in the penthouse had apparently frozen and cracked during the subzero spell last week, according to city maintenance crews.

They figured the frozen pipes thawed out by the warmer weather over the weekend, letting loose a torrent of water backed by forty pounds of pressure.

The flood splashed to the basement through the elevator shaft; seeped through the roof and ceilings, loosening ceiling tiles in scattered parts of the building; inundated the corridors and rooms in many places and left the main desk in the lobby an island in almost an inch of frigid water.

The skeleton crew of officers on the holiday shift had to call on the Department of Public Works for plumbers, electricians and maintenance experts to halt the flood of water.

Normal electricity was knocked out for nearly two hours. Police used a civil defense auxiliary generator for power.

With the heating system turned off, temperatures in the building were hovering near the freezing mark as overcoat-clad officers and maintenance men went to work with mops to stem the flood.

Several of the offices were still without heat today, according to Acting Police Chief Joseph Koren.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the damage apparently was minor as far as the cost of repairs are concerned. He said the cost to repiace the ceiling tiles was negligible.

To prevent similar mishaps in the future, Willman said, heat units will be installed in the penthouse.

Pontiac Bar Burglary Nets Thieves $2,800

Pontiac police detectives today were investigating a $2,800 safe burglary over the weekend at the Red Lion Bar, 73-75 S. Saginaw St.

The safe, containing $2,800 in cash and an unknown amount in checks, was discovered missing by bar owner Gus Backalukas yesterday morning when he opened for business.

★ ★ ★

Police said the bar's rear door had been forced, and the safe dragged out to a waiting car or pickup truck.

Faulty Cord Ignites Yule Tree in Waterford

A faulty electrical cord ignited a Christmas tree at noon yesterday in the Robert Green home at 313 Tilmore St., Waterford Township, according to township firemen.

The family was in the dining room eating dinner when the tree suddenly burst into flames, setting fire to living room curtains and drapes.

Damage to the house and contents was estimated at $450 by firemen.

Baby of Quint to Be Named for Dead Sister

MONTREAL (UPI) — The first baby girl born to one of the Dionne quints will be named after the fifth quintuplet, who died six years ago.

★ ★ ★

Florian Houle, the husband of the former Marie Dione of the famed quintuplets born in Calandar, Ont., in 1934, said the baby, born Christmas Eve, would be named Emilie.

"We had the name picked out all along and now there will be a girl to carry on Emilie's name," Houle said Monday.

The new mother, who twice entered the convent to become a nun, married Houle, a sales tax inspector, in August 1958. The baby girl is their first child.

Two of the three other quints, Cecile and Annette, are mothers to boys. Yvonne, a gradute nurse, is unmarried.

Speedy Mail Delivery Too Good to Be True'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—A letter received at 2:30 by a Buffalo firm was postmarked 3 o'clock of the same afternoon.

It seemed too good to be true, and it wasn't, Postmaster Myron F. Blakeney said a clerk must have used the wrong postmark stamp.

Prom to Tram Switch Contemplated for Baby

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—Giovanni Antonio Lucchetto will probably grow up to be a tram driver.

He is the first baby ever to be born on one of Turin's trams, and is named after the driver and ticket-taker.

Father Asks Mr. K to OK Visit to Airman Olmstead

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—The father of Air Force Capt. F. Bruce Olmstead says he has asked Soviet Premier Khrushchev for permission to visit the imprisoned airman in Moscow.

J. Blaine Olmstead said Monday night that a Soviet Embassy official told him Friday that no word had been received on his request.

Capt. Olmstead and Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan., have been held by the Soviets since their RB47 jet bomber was shot down over the Barents Sea July 1.

BIRMINGHAM — Among the many New Year celebrations will be a supper party Saturday, in the home of Mrs. Ralph Pole at "Highgate," her residence on Lone Pine Road. She and Mrs. Robert Mantell will be joint hostesses to a group of good friends who always spend New Year's Eve together.

* * *

Mrs. Albert L. Legro of Birmingham, grandmother of debutante "Kitty" Scripps (more formally Catherine Renee) gave a dance Thursday evening for "Kitty" at the Country Club, Grosse Pointe.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan D. Douglas Jr. entertained Christmas Eve guests by families. Their good friends brought their children to the Douglas' open house Saturday.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Adams entertained at their annual Christmas Eve party. Mothers of both Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Leonard Miller and Mrs. Henry C. Adams came from Ann Arbor, the Kenneth O'Rourks from Saginaw.

Their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Goads brought their two children as did the Thomas H. Adams Jr. who came from St. Joseph.

* * *

Many open houses preceded Christmas. Among hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Ari M. Begole, Mr. and Mrs. Max Fruhauf and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Marsh.

Kahrnoff-Barnett Vows Exchanged

Patricia Ann Barnett exchanged vows with David M. Kahrnoff, son of the Ben Kahrnoffs of Oak Park, Monday in the home of her parents the Maurice Barnetts of Huntington Woods.

MRS. DAVID M. KAHRNOFF

The David M. Kahrnoffs left for a honeymoon at Miami Beach, Fla., following vows exchanged Monday at the home of the bride's parents the Maurice Barnetts of Huntington Woods and Pontiac.

Dr. Richard C. Hertz of Temple Beth El, Detroit, officiated at the four o'clock double-ring ceremony.

* * *

For her wedding, the former Patricia Ann Barnett chose a gown of candlelight ivory peau de soie styled with chapel train. Her fingertip veil was secured by a tiara of seed pearls. She held a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Cathy Barnett attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing emerald green silk chiffon and matching green gloves. Her flowers were cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom, son of the Ben Kahrnoffs of Oak Park, had his brother-in-law Robert Keil of Detroit for his best man.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Kahrnoff chose a black knit suit with matching accessories.

She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnett, formerly of Pontiac.

Mrs. Barnett appeared in a sand gray afternoon dress with artichoke skirt designed by Maxwell Shief of California. The mother of the bridegroom chose an afternoon dress of light purple silk brocade.

The bride is a graduate of Stephens College and her husband holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan. His fraternity is Alpha Epsilon Pi. They will make their home in Detroit.

Kitchen Glamor

Holiday hostesses can shine with fashion even in the kitchen — thanks to glittering, feminine aprons that add a dash of style while protecting those pretty hostess gowns and party dresses.

Susan Polhemus Is Bride

Breakfast at Oakland Hills Country Club followed the Monday nuptials of Susan Polhemus to Robert L. Helm of Rockford,, Ill. in the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham. Dr. Glenn Harris officiated at the morning ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Von D. Polhemus of North Lake Angelus

MRS. ROBERT L. HELM

Road, formerly of Franklin, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Helm of Rockford, Ill.

Wearing heavy white silk brocade styled with full skirt and chapel train, the bride carried Amazon lilies and ivy. The molded bodice featured a high shallow V-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Fingertip veiling of French silk illusion was attached to a shallow tiara of crystals.

* * *

Mrs. Stephen Copps of Madison, Wis., was the sister's matron of honor, with George Dennis of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Paula Struik of Birmingham, serving as bridesmaids. Cascade bouquets of holly and white rosebuds complemented their princess-line frocks of red velvet with bell skirts banded in satin.

* * *

Katherine Kopps of Madison, niece of the bride, carried a basket of rose petals. Her princess-styled red velvet dress had lace trim.

All attendants were headbands of white miniature rosebuds and holly.

On the esquire side were best man Richard Christopherson of Wauwatosa, with Leif Gunderson of LaCrosse, Wis., Richard Van Vleet of River Forest, Ill., Bruce Helm and William Howard, brother and cousin of the bridegroom, seating the guests.

* * *

After a honeymoon at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the couple will live in Madison, Wis., while completing their senior studies at the University of Wisconsin.

* * *

Out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Warren C. Polhemus with Jay and Jan of Anderson, Ind., Dr. Stephen Copps with Katherine and Christopher of Madison, Wis., the Curtis Shooks and daughters Carol and Marilyn of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. William Howard with William, Jane and Charles of Rockford, Ill.; the Charles Johnstons of Freeport, Ill. and the Starr Johnstons of Joliet, Ill.

Actress Joan Crawford collects unusual fabrics as a hobby, then has them made up in California.

At a recent party, Joan dazzled guests by wearing a diamond and turquoise necklace to enhance a turquoise and gold brocade gown which turned out to be a drip-dry cotton mixture!

Poor Taste Not to Let Him Cut In

By The Emily Post Institute

Question: The other evening while at a dance, a young man tried to cut in on me and my date, but he refused to let him do so. I was very embarrassed and thought my boy friend showed very bad manners. He said that he had a perfect right to refuse. Will you please give us your opinion

Answer: Unless you said to your date that you did not want to dance with the young man cutting in, because he was a stranger, obviously interested or otherwise objectionable, your boy friend did show very bad manners. He was rude not only to the young man, but to you in not leaving the decision entirely up to you.

* * *

Question: My son is marrying a girl from another city. The wedding will be a small one with just the immediate families attending. The parents of the bride-to-be live in a small friendly community and will not be sending out announcements.

Could I possibly ask the bride's parents for permission to have announcements engraved in their names, which I would pay for, and mail them to our friends from their post office on the day of the wedding? I shall be most grateful for your advice.

Answer: My suggestion is to have your son find out through his fiancee if her parents would be willing to have you prepare and mail the announcements. If not, you will have to rely on letters to your friends and word of mouth to spread the news of the marriage.

Question: When a man and woman are leaving their seats in a theater, does it seem rude if the man goes out of the row ahead of the woman if he happens to be sitting nearer the aisle, or is he supposed to stand and let her pass in front of him so that she may go out first?

Answer: They go out in the order in which they are seated. When he gets to the aisle he stands aside and lets her go first, but if there is room they walk out together.

More to Raid Than Meats the Eye

Hammy Hubby's Tired Tale Probably Phony Baloney

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am stupid, but is there really any such thing as sleepwalking, or is that something people joke about? My husband was put on a 1000-calorie diet. Last night, about midnight, I heard the refrigerator door slam, so I got up and found Orville gone from our bed.

ABBY

I went to the kitchen (all the lights were on) and he was standing there, barefoot and in his pajamas, eating a piece of salami. I yelled, "ORVILLE!"

He dropped the salami and acted like he just came out of a trance. He claims he doesn't know how he got there and must have been walking in his sleep. Do you think he's telling me the truth?

DOUBTING MRS. DEAR DOUBTING: His salami story sounds like a lot of baloney to me.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me what to do about a man who will not keep himself clean? We have been married 45 years and it is a fight to get him to take a bath on the weekend.

When he goes fishing he comes home covered with dirt and fly dope and he won't take a bath because he did it before he left.

He is retired and has plenty of time. I am so ashamed of him I could cry. When he gets up in the morning he never washes his face because he says he will do it when he shaves. Please help.

BETTER HALF

DEAR BETTER: Start early in the morning to nag this man, and nag him every hour of the day until he breaks down and takes a bath. If he has always been this way, then you ought to have a doctor examine your nose. If this is something new, he ought to have a doctor examine his head.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Correct me if I am wrong, but isn't the purpose of a funeral service to (1) pay your final respects to the departed one, (2) ask the Lord to be merciful when the deceased enters the Great Unknown, (3) hear a few comforting words directed to the friends and family of the one who is laid to rest?

I just returned from a funeral, and the clergyman took advantage of the large attendance to announce (1) the mortgage had to be paid off for the recreation center, (2) people must stop parking their cars on the neighbors' lawns on Sunday, (3) the Ladies Auxiliary rummage sale needs support.

Am I overly sensitive, or was this out of order?

INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGNANT: You are not "overly sensitive." The clergyman was out of order for advertising when he should have been eulogizing.

Keloa Klub members will gather at the Young Men's Christian Association center Saturday for their annual New Year's Eve dance.

"Midnight Magic" is the theme for the 9 p.m. affair. Pamela Noren, general chairman, has announced that decorations will include scenes of Father Time and Baby New Year ringing bells of their respective years. Judy Prevette, Karen Kessler and Mary Lou McLaughlin are decorations committee cochairmen.

* * *

Helen Ramsdell, chairman of the music committee, has arranged for the appearance of a local band.

Additional dance chairmen are Diana Rigotti, publicity and programs; Karen Bronoel, refreshments; Judy Hinkley, door prize; and Ruth Hoffman, post dance.

Destroys All Odors

A new aerosol deodorant destroys all types of odors and leaves no fragrance of its own. The deodorant kills odors by chemical means instead of simply masking them by loading the air with a perfume. It has long been known that odors in the air are caused by microscopic particles that are produced by cooking, smoking and other activities. The new odor-killing compound attacks these airborne particles, neutralizing them.

State legislatures enacted 111 major tax changes this year, including 87 increases and 12 new taxes against five reductions and one repeal, according to the Tax Foundation.

Don't Bail Children Out of Their Difficulties

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Because it was Sunday and her grandparents had come to dinner, she wore her new pink dress.

Over each temple her hair was tied with ribbons that exactly matched the big, red, gingham apple appliqued on the pocket of the dress. Her socks were red, too.

What with these adornments, the refreshments derived from her nap and the admiring kiss mommy gave her as she was carried downstairs, she felt an exhilarated delight with herself.

When mommy sat down on the living room floor, she wasn't content to stay there. First she rolled over into her now familiar crawling position. Then, transferring her weight to her hands, she straightened her fat legs—and rose, wobbling and uncertain to her feet.

Regaining her balance, her face took on the toddler's look of intense inward concentration. Nobody spoke as she navigated three steps toward her father. Then she fell.

She tripped over the fringe on a scatter rug — and grandma, leaping from the sofa, rushed to seize her, crying, "Aw, poor baby! Let grandma help poor babsy!"

* * *

She began to scream.

"She wants her orange juice," said mommy. "She still isn't used to me yet," said grandma. "She didn't hurt herself did she?" grandpa asked.

But her father who is a psychiatrist said:

"She's mad because she wanted to get up on her own steam."

He was right. Replaced on the floor, freed to resume the thrilling test of her strength against the strength of gravity, his baby daughter stopped screaming.

Now psychiatrists have a very important advantage over you and me. They are trained to such toleration of their own failures that they are not afraid of other people's.

* * *

When we fall on our faces, they do not rush to pick us up but restore confidence in our ability to pick ourselves up.

You and I, on the other hand are so scared of failing ourselves that we can't bear the sight of babsy falling on her face in her first attempt to walk.

Like grandma, we imagine that she is feeling the same discouragement we feel when we encounter an obstacle.

Rushing to her, we deny her what the noted English teacher A. S. Neill has called childhood's "greatest joy—the conquest of difficulty."

"Never,' says Neill, "help a child if he can do the thing alone."

Collectors Cluttering Home Scene

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clutter is returning to home decoration.

"But it's a confined clutter, not the disordered, indiscriminately scattered type which once reigned," said Walter du Verrier, an antiques dealer.

Du Verrier believes that the increase in the number of persons collecting everything from snuff boxes to powder horns is largely responsible.

* * *

"But the idea now," he added, "is to show a prized collection off — so you find collections grouped or in cases."

Du Verrier was one of the decorators participating in the recent New York Antiques show. Dealers at the show reported that the demand is high for furniture to show these collectibles — for small cupboards, glass cases and display tables.

* * *

Collections at the show included a group of spoons of 18th century New York silversmiths, several Chinese cricket cages used to transport the fighting insects to matches, ecclesiastical vestments, altar pieces, store signs, and antique kitchen implements.

Hold Wedding in Seasonal Setting

White poinsettias on the altar in Barnett Chapel, created a Christmas setting for the marriage of Marjorie Jeanne Richards to photographer's mate 1.C. Thomas A. Lane in the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. George Kennedy, on furlough from the African mission fields, performed the early afternoon ceremony Saturday in the presence of some 150 guests.

MRS. THOMAS A. LANE

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin C. Richards of Seminole Avenue, parents of the bride, were hosts at the church reception.

The floor-length wedding gown of white satin brocade was styled with scoop neckline, long hand-tapered sleeves and full skirt of unpressed pleats. A crown of seed pearls secured fingertip veiling of French silk illusion.

White cymbidium orchids and stephanotis rested on the white Bible held by the bride.

Marilyn Vedder of Royal Oak served as maid of honor, wearing ballerina-length Royal blue satin and matching velvet bodice. A short veil of illusion was attached to her blue velvet headpiece. She held a cascade of white carnations and holly.

J. C. Lane stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Thomas H. Lanes of West Huron Street. The bride's brothers Duane and Richard seated the guests.

Leaving for a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the new Mrs. Lane was wearing a beige tweed suit with brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

★ ★ ★

A corsage of yellow roses accented Mrs. Richards' dress of brown silk shantung and matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom, wearing navy blue silk crepe and navy accessories wore pink roses.

Among out-of-towners at the wedding were the bride's great-aunt and uncle, the L. J. Kennedys, of Marlette.

The bride will reside at home temporarily, later joining her husband in Washington, D. C., where he is stationed with the Navy.

They're Slipping

(UPI)—Jewels and beads have slipped down to earth. The glitter decorates evening shoes. One collection of sparkling footwear ranges from $40 to $235 a pair. Included is a safari group with jewels and beads making zebra, tiger and leopard skin designs on classic pumps. For you who can budget only $40 for bead embellished shoes, there are satin pumps adorned with jeweled buckles about the size of those Puritans used to wear.

'Old Face-Full'

One of the delights of bathing in the Gay Nineties was the "face shower" — a device curiously overlooked in this current age of gadgets.

The Victorian lady's face shower, spraying up from her lavatory basin, simultaneously rinsed away soiled soapsuds and stimulated her complexion.

Fashion Your Figure Club members met for a luncheon and their annual Christmas program, Thursday in Adah Shelly Library, Mrs. Conrad Burlison was chairman.

Mrs. Edward Bowers received the trophy for losing the most weight during the week. Nancy Vess placed second in the contest.

After welcoming new members Mrs. Richard Stevenson and Mrs. Robert Thompson, members exchanged gifts.

Mink ranchers walk softly around their animals. Mink are so excitable that the slightest noise causes them to claw at each other, destroying valuable pelts.

Christmas Day Is Setting for Candlelight Ceremony

A double-ring candlelight ceremony performed Christmas Day in All Saints Episcopal Church united Sandra Jo Filer and Larry L. Randall of Elkhart, Ind. The Rev. C. George Widdifield officiated.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Filer of Edgefield Drive, the bride wore a bouffant ballerina-length white chiffon velvet gown enhanced by a Sabrina neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A velvet Dior bow caught her shoulder-length illusion veil, and she carried white orchids on a Bible.

Honor maid Julia D. Chadwick of Grosse Pointe, Delta Zeta sorority sister and roommate of the bride at Western Michigan University, wore a kelly green faille ballerina-length frock with short sleeves and a Sabrina neckline. She held a cascade of white carnations and holly.

MRS. LARRY L. RANDALL

The bridegroom, son of Lawrence B. Randall of Elkhart, Ind., had Gerald Winter of Flint, his fraternity brother, as best man.

At a reception in the bride's home Mrs. Filer received guests wearing a royal blue silk taffeta dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Randall was dressed in beige lace and wore matching accessories. White carnations and holly comprised their corsages.

The couple, who plans to reside in Kalamazoo, will travel to Arizona and Eugene, Ore., where Mr. Randall, a professional baseball player, will undergo spring training with the San Francisco Giants. He is a graduate of Western Michigan University where the bride is a senior.

Watch Those Accessories!

Tall, Short, Fat or Slim?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When buying clothes or accessories your figure as well as the shape of your face should be taken into consideration. Most women know the general rules for buying clothes which make one appear slimmer or fatter, but many do not realize what a difference accessories can make.

For instance, a short or small woman should not carry an oversized handbag while a tall or large woman looks strange hanging onto a very small one.

The color of the pocketbook also affects the general impression one gives. The tall or large woman can carry a bag of contrasting color while the small woman should match the bag to the shade of her costume or at least buy a dark-colored one.

★ ★ ★

The jewelry of the small woman should be dainty. A short woman is overpowered by very heavy earrings or extremely large pins. Beads and pearls and bracelets also should be on the small side.

The opposite is true of the tall or large woman. She can wear chunky jewelry and heavy bangles with style.

Highly ornamental belts are effective on the slim woman who is at least medium in height. These can dress up the simplest dress but they are not for the overweight or the short femme.

Unless you have a slim waistline, never wear a wide belt or one of contrasting color. No belt at all is best if your dress is fitted in at the waist. At least the belt should be narrow, and of the same shade. A waistline or belt which dips in the back is slimming.

FOR TALL GAL

Extremely ornate shoes are best on the tall or slim gal. Ankle straps are not for the overweights. Extremely high, spiked heels make the overweight woman look awkward. Slightly more moderate heel is more flattering to her.

What you wear with your clothes is tremendously important — and this includes the "wearing" of a handbag. Your height and size should determine its color and size.

Buying a Blouse?

Give the buttonholes a good look when you buy another blouse. Buttonholes get a lot of wear. Stitches should be deep enough, close enough and well-fastened to last the life of the blouse. They should be cut on the grain of the fabric. Home economists at Michigan State University note that buttonholes are more apt to stay buttoned if they are cut crosswise rather than vertical.

Little Does a Lot

It takes only a thin film of wax to enhance your furniture. Home economists note that a thick layer of wax — or blotches here and there — are difficult to polish. They also note that wax may not be recommended for some of the new furniture finishes.

Trapped by Fox

(NEA) — Some stores are showing a new idea in leisure slippers: a soft white leather boot trimmed at the top with silver fox.

Do You Recall When Hector Was a Pup?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Times DO change. Remember when—

Women traded cake recipes, instead of comparing notes on how to "doctor up" cake mixes?

A hostess might apologize for a dish that didn't turn out quite as well as usual but wouldn't dream of apologizing for the number of calories it contained?

Monday was wash day in almost every family?

Families sat on front porches instead of back patios?

The only reason for buying a small car was that you couldn't afford a big one?

No one thought the housewife's job was a snap? Housewives, in fact, had men sold on the idea that "a woman's work is never done."

★ ★ ★

Boys asked permission to use the family car BEFORE they asked a girl for a date?

Fashions changed gradually enough so that a woman could "get the good out of a dress" before it went out of style?

Women talked about "having careers" instead of "getting jobs"?

Only one parent was expected to go to PTA meetings—and that one, of course, was mama?

Housewives did their work in housedresses instead of shorts, slacks or Capri pants?

Children played hide and seek or run-sheep-run after dinner instead of watching TV?

Letting a child walk a mile to school in all kinds of weather wasn't considered cruel and inhuman treatment?

Father, rather than mother, was the family chauffeur? It really wasn't so very long ago.

The Indians of ancient Peru wove cloth at 350 threads an inch. The finest modern weaves have only 175 threads to the inch.

Old Soft Shoe

(UPI) — The legend goes that there was an old woman who lived in a shoe. But did you know that some gals are old because of the shoes they live in. Shoe makers are, however, continually striving to provide comfort as well as style to footwear. One manufacturer is molding an inset of soft rubber into the plastic-rubber sole to cushion the spot where calluses form. Other makers are easing the load by providing airfoam sole cushioning, not only for functional walking and play shoes, but for high style footwear.

For Growing Boy

The Sanforized-Plus label assures you that your young man's wash - and - wear trousers won't shrink out of fit, will wear longer and look neater. But it has no control of his growing out the their size. However, one manufacturer has prepared for sudden sprouting with a new add-a-cuff feature.

Wipe Slate Clean

A good way to teach children to be good homemakers is through caring for their own toys — a home blackboard, for example. During a session of drawing, games or homework, this can be erased just so many times. Then nothing but suds and water will do. Provide a sponge, bowl of soap or detergent solution and some rinse water. Then demonstrate how to wash away excess chalk dust. The youngsters will wind up with a clean slate, and a lesson in cleanliness.

Square Dancers Receive Gifts From Santa

The Elks Sashay Quadrille Square Dance Club celebrated a Christmas party Friday evening.

Jack Holmes, dressed as Santa Claus, presented gifts.

Howard Bond was master of ceremonies, and callers were John DePauw, Howard Upton, Bill Schmiel and Eve Brooks.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paschke and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McDonnell, former members.

Grill Fumes Can Yellow Your Girdle

LANSING — Do girdles do an efficient job of absorbing fat?

An occupational health engineer with the state health department has found that they do — sometimes too efficiently.

The Michigan Department of Health received a call for help from the owner of a women's store specializing in foundation garments in the Flint area, that for some reason girdles stocked in the Flint store were turning yellow while the same brand of girdles in other outlets were not affected.

An occupational health engineer was dispatched to see "what was cooking."

The ladies foundation apparel shop was located in a building housing several business places, including a restaurant. A quick investigation revealed the presence of fumes of grease and cooking oils leaking from the restaurant into the apparel shop through the ventilation system in the building.

* * *

Investigation of objectionable or damaging fumes of any kind is one of many services performed by health department engineers.

The owner confirmed the fact that the girdles started turning yellow about the time the griddles started turning out fried foods when the restaurant opened.

* * *

Tests run in the health department laboratory showed fumes from cooking oils can turn girdles yellow.

The moral of the story would seem to provide an out for husband: If your wife wears a girdle, you may have a good excuse for not taking her out to dinner more often.

Eliminate Puckers

Use the throat plate with a small round hole when stitching fabrics of synthetic fibers. Home economists at Michigan State University say the wide oval opening on a zig-zag machine may cause puckers along the stitching line.

Catches Drippings

Do you use a rubber shelf cushion on the floor of your coat closet? This catches drippings from raincoats and rubbers, and comes clean with the sponge.

Kilgore-Thoe Wedding

Candles Glow for Rite

The altar of St. John's Lutheran Church was banked with Christmas trees and poinsettias for the Friday evening nuptials of Joyce Elaine Thoe and Ronnie E. Kilgore. Two hundred guests witnessed the candlelight ceremony, performed by the Rev. Charles A. Colberg.

* * *

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont E. Thoe of Dorchester Avenue, approached the altar wearing a floor-length gown of antique satin fashioned with long tapered sleeves and a jeweled neckline trimmed with Alencon lace and re-embroidered with sequins and seed pearls.

The bouffant skirt, ending in a chapel sweep, featured a draped bustle back. A crown of pearlized flowers and rhinestones secured her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. She held a white orchid on a Bible.

Maid of honor Janet Thoe, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids Judy Jacobson, a cousin, and Mrs. Warren Lindeke of Anoka, Minn., the bride's aunt, carried white carnation arrangements centered by lighted white candles. Their street-length gowns of emerald green satin were designed with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and short cap sleeves. Each wore a crown of simulated pearls.

* * *

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Kilgore of North Hammond Lake Drive, asked Donald Barraco to attend as best man. Ushering were Alan Larson and Warren Lindeke.

MRS. RONNIE E. KILGORE

Mrs. Thoe selected a moss green dress of Chantilly-type French lace with matching accessories and a green velvet hat for the wedding. A pure silk spice green brocade ensemble, with beige accessories was worn by Mrs. Kilgore. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

A reception in Waterford's Community Activities Building followed the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests present for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gamache of Montgomery, Ala., with children Ronald and Betty Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thoe of Kemmerer, Wyo., with George, Andrea and Jake.

The bride attended Wayne State University. Her husband attends Flint Junior College.

Lodge Unit Holds Party for Holiday

Forth-six members of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246 celebrated a Christmas party Thursday at their hall on Perkins Street.

* * *

Mrs. Irving Quackenbush and Mrs. Vernon McFarland qualified as noble grand and vice grand-elect in the unwritten work of the order. A semi-public installation of officers is slated at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 12 in the Perkins street lodge building.

The group's sewing circle will meet for a 12:30 luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Quackenbush.

* * *

Mrs. Randall Wilson of Seminole Avenue will be hostess to the Past Noble Grands Club Jan. 5. Following a 6:30 cooperative dinner, secret pals will be revealed.

Burton Downey has donated two pairs of crutches to the lodge for use by disabled members.

For Wood Trim

To insure washability over the years, wood trim — such as door and window casings, baseboards, and chair rails — should be finished with a gloss or semi-gloss paint. These are the points of greatest wear and soil. If they are kept suds-and-water clean, the whole room will look fresh and well kept.

For Baby's Room

No matter how you plan to decorate the nursery, be sure to make it an all-washable scheme. Cleanliness goes a long way toward keeping baby healthy.

Anne Klein of Junior Sophisticates

Anne Klein of Junior Sophisticates sets the mood with his two piece design—gay, young and a trifle frivolous! The buttoned-front bra top is expertly shaped to highlight the jaunty young lines of the junior figure. Below the bared midriff, the full skirt is gathered into a belt that ties in front above the zippered opening. For your season in the sun, choose plain, printed or checked cottons, drip dry fabrics or linen. Select your correct size from this chart. Our pattern measurements are comparable to ready-to-wear sizes.

Sweet, Dark and Rich— It's Delicious Pecan Pie

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If you were given a couple of pounds of pecans for Christmas, here is a recipe that will use up some of them. Mrs. Edward D. Auchard shares her recipe for pecan pie.

In addition to church work, Mrs. Auchard spends time doing sewing and knitting. She enjoys living on the shore of Orchard Lake.

PECAN PIE
By Mrs. Edward D. Auchard

Unbaked pastry shell
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup dark corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt, if nuts are unsalted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons melted butter
1 cup pecan meats

Mix ingredients together and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30-35 minutes more.

History of Toast

NEW YORK (UPI) — When we raise our glasses in a toast to the New Year, we imitate a gesture that started a thousand years ago.

The traditional drink to the health of a friend began during the days of Henry VIII of England, with the wassail bowl. A steward carried a brimming bowl of special holiday punch around the great hall, shouting "wassail" —which meant "be well."

WCTU Discusses Yule

Mrs. Willo I. Cotcher of North Shirley Avenue was hostess to the Frances Willard Unit of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Wednesday.

Members opened the meeting with Christmas carols, accompanied on the organ by the Rev. Lola P. Marion who later read devotions from the Gospel according to St. Matthew.

* * *

Round table discussions on "Christ for Christmas" and "Christ, Always in Christmas" were followed by the dedication of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hays as a "white ribbon recruit." Mrs. LeRoy Shafer officiated.

* * *

The group voted to sponsor boys and girls from ages 6 to 12 for the Loyal Temperance Legion.

After a dessert luncheon and gift exchange, Mrs. Nellie Monroe closed the program with prayer.

Cleanliness Routine Is Important

(NEA) — The one essential ingredient for a beautiful skin at any age is cleanliness. This is a rule which applies equally to the little girl of two and the woman in her sixties.

No amount of make-up will hide a poor skin. And, sometimes, it will only serve to emphasize blotches. To glow, to have that fresh, translucent look, skin must be kept scrupulously clean.

This means that each time you apply fresh make-up, the old make-up must come off. If your skin tends to be dry, stay away from hot water. Use tepid water and a lanolin soap. Rinse your face with clear water, not with the water you've just washed in.

* * *

Keep your washcloths and towels as clean as your skin. Ideally, they should be changed daily. But if you can't manage this, change them three times a week.

If your skin is dry, it will tend to have that crawly feeling after each washing. But this doesn't mean you should pass up soap and water. It does mean that after each washing, you should make use of a light moisturizing lotion, one which is not sticky or greasy.

CREAM NIGHTLY

And at night, before you go to bed, make use of a really rich cream compounded for very dry skin. Don't neglect your neck when you're creaming your face. Or one day, you may look in the mirror and wonder why on earth your face should look smooth while your neck looks crepey.

Try Dry Cleaning

To free your sink from grease, try this "dry cleaning" method: Apply some soap or detergent to a dry cloth or sponge, and scrub the sink —also dry. Then turn on the water and rinse the grease away.

SANTA IN SAIGON — Army Sgt. Karl Fietze, 53, hugs his foster daughter, 8-year-old Tran Thi Tuat, during a holiday they spent together in Gia Kiem, Viet Nam. Fietze, who adopted Tuat financially through the Foster Parent Plan, missed the recent Christmas overseas mailing deadline so he hitchhiked to Saigon to give her the first doll she ever owned. Fietze now is back with his Army Engineer unit at Fort Lewis, Wash. This picture was made during their recent get-together.

18 U. S. Doctors Aiding the Cripples of Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Eighteen American doctors have paid their own way to Jordan to work among cripples of the desert kingdom.

★ ★ ★

In hospitals from Jerusalem to Amman and Bethlehem, the Americans have made more than 2,500 examinations and brought hope to cripples who were often hidden away as marks of family shame.

★ ★ ★

All 18 are orthopedic surgeons, members of an informal correspondence group called the Orthopedic Letters Club that decided last year to donate its services abroad.

After consultations with the United Nations organization, they picked Jordan, a sun-parched country packed with refugees and short of medical services.

DEMAND GREAT

"The demand has become enormous, and there is more work than we can keep up with," said Dr. Frederick G. Gaenslen, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Jordan has an unusually high incidence of bone and joint tuberculosis and infections and congenital deformities.

The program began in August 1959, when Dr. Allan M. McKelvie suspended his practice in Washington, D. C., and flew to Amman at his own expense. Seventeen others followed, replacing each other at about one-month intervals.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Gaenslen estimates he is spending $2,000, not counting the loss in giving up his Milwaukee practice for a month.

The doctors have no fixed program, no government connection, and no formal organization, meaning a minimum of administrative paper work.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in the United States reached a peak of $34,300,000,000 in 1958—about 265 per cent above the 1937-41 average, reports the National Industrial Conference Board.

Sees Railroad Upturn in Last Half of 1961

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, forecasts a "genuine upturn" in the railroad industry during the last six months of 1961.

Loomis said the first half of the new year would "probably show little improvement," but that the industry expects a real upturn to start later in the year.

He said the industry is encouraged by "vast changes" being made in equipment and operating methods and "signs of recognition" of its claimed need for tax relief and relief from some government regulations.

Loomis reported in a year-end statement, issued Friday night, that railroads' net income for 1960 was the lowest since 1949. He said total rail revenues amounted to $9.5 billion, a three per cent drop from 1959. Freight carloadings this year were 1½ per cent below 1959.

Loomis said the number of railroad employes dropped to 780,000 in 1960, about 35,000 below 1959, but their average annual earnings hit a record of $6,280.

Nonunion Cake Not Welcome at Inauguration

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Baker Ernest J. Montilio said that he had given up—because of a union's objection — the baking of a huge cake for the inauguration of President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

The American Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union had complained the 550-pound cake was to have been made by a non-union bakery.

Montilio said: "The unions did it—I had to bow out rather than embarrass the president-elect. And of course, I would never do that."

Montilio said he had received a telegram from Washington that the caterers union would not serve food at the dinner if a nonunion cake was on the menu.

He added that "all my help are experts, and the reason they are nonunion is because I pay them better than the union rates."

Thursday night, Kenneth McClellan, organizer for the bakers union, said "We take a dim view of any cake not baked in a union shop."

Goldberg Cuts Off Labor Union Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg announced that he is cutting off all labor union connections and expects to do an impartial job as secretary of labor in the Kennedy administration.

At the same time he disclosed that the National Association of Manufacturers and United States Chamber of Commerce, the nation's two most prominent businessmen's organizations, have pledged their cooperation with him in his new post.

The 52-year-old special counsel of the AFL-CIO, designated for the labor cabinet post by President-Elect John F. Kennedy, said that as of Jan. 1 he will sever his relations with law firms here and in Chicago and with a dozen labor unions he has represented.

Chief among Goldberg's clients have been the AFL-CIO, the United Steelworkers and the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union department.

Utica Boy, 14, Killed in Crash

Poor Road Conditions Blamed for Accidents by the Police

A 14-year-old Utica boy was killed and six other persons injured in three area traffic accidents which police say were caused by poor driving conditions over the holiday weekend.

Dead on arrival at Community Hospital near Almont yesterday was Freddie G. Brooks of 45449 Van Dyke, Utica.

Three other teen-agers were reported in satisfactory condition today at the same hospital, including Roger I. Haack, 18, of 236 Bailey St., Romeo.

Romeo State Police said Haack and Brooks were riding in a car which turned over several times and hit a utility pole after it went out of control four miles east of Romeo yesterday.

Haack suffered a fractured arm and cuts on both legs in the accident which took the life of the Brooks boy.

* * *

Officers said their car apparently hit a slippery patch on 32-Mile Road just west of Hicks Road. Haack told police that Brooks was driving when the mishap occurred at 2:35 a.m. No one else was in the car.

A patch of snow or ice on the road is blamed as the cause of a two-car collision three miles east of Lapeer in which a Michigan State University coed was critically injured.

Hurt in the crash on Imlay City Road (M21) near Muck Road last night was Mrs. Helen Gates, 25, of Albion, N.Y. She and her husband, Howard W., 24, whose condition is reported as satisfactory, are patients at Lapeer County General Hospital.

Listed in fair condition at the hospital is 16-year-old Diana Bemis of Flint. She was a passenger in a car driven by Jerry R. Nykamp, 18, of Flint.

Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies said the Gates' auto and the one driven by Nykamp collided head-on shortly after 7 p.m. Nykamp was not hospitalized.

RAMS GUARD RAIL

A Waterford Township youth, Carl A. Barnowski, 18, of 431 Hospietal Road was the driver of a car which smashed through a guard rail and overturned after going out of control on Van Dyke just north of Imlay City.

Hurt in the accident were Larry Foods, 14, of 6985 Patmore St., Waterford Township, and Larry Schribner, 14, of Brown City.

Both are in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital. Barnowski escaped without injury.

State police said Barnowski was pulling back into his own lane after passing another car on northbound Van Dyke when the car skidded and hit the guard rail on the opposite side of the road.

TOPS IN DECORATION — Picked as the best display in the annual Christmas Home Decoration Contest sponsored by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce was the one created by the Edward J. Ennis family of 1313 N. Oak St., Rochester. The front of the house was entirely illuminated with multicolored Christmas lights, and organ music was piped outside to point up the window display containing Santa "playing" the pipe organ and choir boys "singing" Yuletide carols.

Mechanical Marvels Said to Both Aid Farmer, Buyer

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Mechanical marvels now doing farm work in Michigan—and slated to do much more in the future—are a boon to both farmer and consumer, a Michigan State University engineer said.

"Everybody should benefit," said Arthur W. Farrall, head of the university's agricultural engineering department.

Automation is the thing that will enable farmers to keep the cost of food production in sight," Farrall said. "The only way farmers can keep their costs low enough to keep prices down is to mechanize their operations."

He said large-scale operations in crops like wheat and corn are already almost entirely mechanized.

* * *

Production of meat, milk, vegetables and other farm items will become more and more mechanical, Farrall said. Devices such as automatic cattle feeders and mechanical pickers for tomatoes, fruits and other crops will probably come into widespread use in the foreseeable future, he said.

But this does not necessarily mean that laborers who now do these operations by hand will be thrown out of jobs, he said.

"The predicted population increases are going to mean that a lot more food will be needed," Farrall said. "The number of workers needed will vary with the type of operation on each farm."

TRAINING EASY

He stated more skill will be needed in many cases to handle mechanical harvesters and other automation advances, but that training should be relatively easy in most cases and there should be about as many total jobs as in the past although the nature of the work will change somewhat.

Most of the changes would be gradual and therefore would create relatively few labor problems, Farrall said.

"The whole problem of enough food at the right price is important to everybody—whether they live in the city, in the suburbs or in the country," he reported.

One crop harvested largely by hand in the past that will soon feel the effect of automation is the tomato.

MSU experts developed a tomato picker fitted to Michigan tomato farms which was used experimentally this year, and should be used extensively in commercial operations next year, Farrall said.

* * *

Other new developments at MSU include cattle feed handling systems that are nearly completely automatic, bulk handling processes for onions, potatoes and cherries, a mechanical fruit tree pruner, and other labor and money-saving devices.

Time saved, and the lower costs of production, processing, handling and distribution, means a higher standard of living for farmers and consumers, the MSU engineering expert said.

African Minister to Talk in Area

Visit Designed to Aid Understanding Between Nations and Peoples

ROCHESTER — The Rev. Daniel Langa, African minister of a Congregational church in Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, will speak at the First Congregational Church here at the 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. worship service on New Year's Day.

* * *

Rev. Langa and other nationals are coming to the United States from all parts of the world "in the interest of better understanding between nations and peoples."

* * *

They will be guests of several of the denomination's state organizations while in Michigan.

Rev. Langa's speaking engagements will be concentrated in Indiana and Michigan.

The Mission to America program is part of the 150th anniversary celebration of the American Board, overseas agency of the Congregational Christian Churches. It is the oldest society in the United States.

* * *

Pastor of the 600-member Congregational Church of the American Board in Johannesburg for the past nine years, Rev. Langa is particularly interested in church youth work. During his stay in the United States he will study and observe this type of work.

Born in Izopo, Natal, the African minister served for three years on the Christian Council of South Africa, an interracial, interdenominational committee formed by representatives of most of the Protestant denominations in South Africa.

The committee was formed "to study the problems facing the Christian Church in changing Africa."

* * *

While in Rochester, Rev. Langa will be a guest in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert H. Jacobson from Saturday to Jan. 5.

MARY RUTH OSBURN

The engagement of Mary Ruth Osburn of 3 Davison St., Oxford, to James L. Cockroft is announced by her parents Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Osburn of Caro. She teaches English at Oxford High School. Her prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cockroft of Kersey, Colo. A June wedding is planned.

SECOND PLACE WINNER — The cash prize for the second best entry in the Rochester Area Christmas Home Decorations Contest was awarded to the Anthony Grech family of 3660 W. Tienken Road, Avon Township. A Nativity scene was set up on the front lawn, complete with the star on the chimney. The entire display, which also includes a grotto containing the statue of the Virgin Mary, is illuminated at night.

Victim of Blaze Said Improving

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — A 13-year-old girl, set afire when she backed into a heater at her home here Friday, is reported in an improved condition today in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Barbara Vailliencourt suffered second- and third-degree burns over 15 per cent of her body when her skirt caught on fire. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delore J. Vailliencourt of 788 Predmore Road.

Barbara was warming herself in front of a coal- and wood-burning space heater when sparks ignited her skirt, sending her running hysterically through the house.

"We couldn't catch her. She ran through the house screaming," her mother told Romeo State Police.

The flames were finally put out by Mrs. Vailliencourt.

Doctors said the young girl received burns to the back of both legs, back, forearms and both hands. Her condition was poor when she first entered the hospital but is now satisfactory, a hospital spokesman said today.

It was the second time this month that misfortune had struck the nine-member family.

Less than two weeks ago, Barbara's father, a 40-year-old laborer, was hospitalized at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitorium. The family is on welfare.

Youth Wins Yule Contest

UNION LAKE—A 17-year-old White Lake Township youth was named winner of the Christmas outdoor display contest sponsored by the Union Lake Civitan Club, it was announced today.

Awarded a $50 saving bond was Mickey Bruns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bruns of 9549 Round Lake Blvd.

George Williams, president of the Civitan Club, said Bruns display of a lighted church and surrounding houses was in keeping with the religious aspect of the contest.

Two $25 saving bonds were awarded to runners-up and another $25 bond awarded for the best commercial display.

Second and third place winners were Edward Cadwallader of 1402 Hiller Road, West Bloomfield Township, and Norman S. Smith of 8923 Edgewood Park Dr., Commerce Township.

Cadwallader emphasized the welcome of the Christmas season by accentuating his entranceway with lights, and Smith took third place with a hand-painted scene of the Virgin Mary and the Christ child.

* *

Fred Baumgartner, an employe at the John Clark Pharmacy in Union Lake, received a $25 bond for his winter scenes painted on the windows of the store.

Backyard chefs demonstrate their culinary skill over an estimated total of 12 million outdoor grills in the United States.

To Install Officials of Metropolitan Club

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Officers of the Metropolitan Club, Spirit 78, will be installed at the Jan. 16 meeting of the organization here.

* * *

Elected officers for the coming year are Kenneth Wymer, president; James Gilmore, first vice president; Andrew Plano, second vice president; and Walter E. Osborne, secretary.

Other new officers of club are Joseph F. Hynds, treasurer; Earl Hall, sergeant at arms; Ferdinand Vetter, chaplain and Melvin Lidster, auditor.

Richard Anderson of Berkley, auditor for the National Spirit, will be the installing officer at the ceremony. It will be held at the Oxbow Grill, Union Lake and Elizabeth Lake roads.

Dance School Has Party for Highland Youngsters

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Some 300 area youngsters were entertained at a Christmas party recently by students of the Betty Mae School of Dance.

The youthful dancers did a variety of numbers ranging from ballet to tap, toe and Hawaiian at the East Highland Hall on M59. Santa Claus also was present.

32 Soviet Tourists See Havana in Exchange Plan

HAVANA (AP)—Thirty-two Soviet tourists arrived in Havana Monday night, the first Soviet visitors under a new program of tourist exchanges. Another Soviet tourist group is due Wednesday.

It is estimated there are fewer than 1,000 grizzly bears in the United States.

But Not Better in 1961

Movies Bigger, Bolder, Bawdier

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movies were bigger, bolder and bawdier in 1960, but alas, not better.

That's the conclusion this movie fan reached in a year-end review of the Hollywood product. Note I say "movie fan." I firmly believe films offer the best in entertainment, better than 99 per cent of TV, better than the bulk of Broadway plays.

THOMAS

But 1960 wasn't a vintage year for films. There was too much tinkering with morality, too much bigness for bigness's sake. The year saw no standout film of the impact of "From Here to Eternity," "Marty," "Gigi" or "Ben-Hur" in previous years.

'SUNDOWNERS' WELL-ACTED

These seemed best:

1. "The Sundowners" was a well-acted, intensely human account of Australian frontier life, episodic but held together by the firm hand of Fred Zinneman.

2. "The Apartment," despite fuzzy morality, was funny and touching, thanks to a superb performance by Jack Lemmon.

3. "Sons and Lovers" had much of the greatness and some of the limitations of the D.H. Lawrence novel. Trevor Howard etched a fine portrait of the father.

4. "Psycho" drew more customers than any other film and shouldn't be dismissed as a mere shocker. It was a fine exercise in suspense by the master, Alfred Hitchcock.

5. "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" was a touching account of a family's problems, a period piece that was up to date.

6. "Exodus" was overlong and disjointed but packed power in its pageant of a nation's birth.

FINE IMPERSONATIONS

7. "Sunrise at Campobello" had value as an American chronicle and for fine impersonations by Ralph Bellamy and Greer Garson.

8. "Polyanna" deserved better than it got. Frankly sentimental, it avoided being sticky and carried a worthy message.

9. "Bells Are Ringing" was the happiest picture of the year and again proved Judy Holliday's skill.

10. "Home from the Hill" had moments of thumping melodrama and introduced promising actors, George Hamilton and George Peppard.

I don't mean to slight the epics. Or do I? We may need a new category for the latter-day run of De Mille. Qualifications: They must run over three hours, have six or more stars and a half-hour of battle or spectacle scenes and cost over $6 million. With the notable exception of "Ben-Hur," they are seldom satisfying as film achievements.

But they can be worth seeing for the spectacle and the interplay of characters. "Exodus" was the best of the bumper crop.

Housing Bias Hits 27 Million

Research Group Cites Varying Discriminations in U.S.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Some 27 million Americans still suffer to some extent from housing discrimination, according to Dr. Davis McEntire, research director of the commission on race and housing.

McEntire, who supervised a three-year research program for the commission, presented the findings in "Residence and Race," published by the University of California Press, which also put out five other books for the commission during its studies.

McEntire said those suffering from housing discrimination include 19 million Negroes, Japanese, Chinese and Filipinos, 2.5 million Mexican - Americans, 1 million Puerto Ricans and 5 million Jews.

"Residence and Race," is billed as the most complete and authoritative single volume ever published on race and housing in the United States.

$305,000 GRANT

Research for its conclusions was financed through a $305,000 grant from the Fund for the Republic.

"Discrimination is perhaps the leading unresolved domestic problem of the nation," McEntire said, and he called housing segregation a crucial aspect of the situation.

McEntire, who has now returned to his post as professor of social welfare at the University of California in Berkeley, noted that race restrictions in the United States adversely prejudice our relations with Asia and Africa.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, he noted, "The fact that the United States is a racially mixed nation is potentially an important assest in its relations with Asia and Africa, if white and nonwhite citizens stand on an equal footing as members of the American community."

In the volume, summarizing findings of the commission, McEntire suggested 10 methods by which individuals and communities may reduce discrimination in housing in the United States.

These include legal, social and even physical means.

The physical solution is construction of more houses, especially at lower price levels.

Business Failures Hit 28-Year High

NEW YORK (AP)—November business failures were the heaviest in 28 years, although the rate per 10,000 listed enterprises was below the November 1939 rate, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

★ ★ ★

Failures totaled 1,311, compared with 1,341 in October and 1,130 in November 1959, Dun & Bradstreet said, while dollar liabilities rose to $84.5 million from $81.5 million in October and $53.2 million in November 1959.

★ ★ ★

The rate per 10,000 of 62 compared with 63.3 in October, 55.4 in November 1959 and 70 in November 1939.

U.S. Tobacco Use Soars in 1960 Despite 'Scares'

NEW YORK (UPI) — More Americans smoked more tobacco this year than ever before despite "health scares," the head of the Tobacco Institute, Inc., reported today.

During the year Americans spent $7.5 billion for tobacco — $6.6 billion of it for 489 billion cigarettes, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates cited by Tobacco Institute President George V. Allen.

In a year-end statement, Allen said the average annual consumption was 197 packs of 20 cigarettes per person of smoking age in the nation.

These figures, Allen said, were among new records set despite "attacks" on tobacco "ranging from health scares to unfair taxation and labeling proposals.

SEEMINGLY PARADOXICAL

"There is every indication," he said, "that comparable progress will continue in the next and succeeding years."

Admitting the situation was "seemingly paradoxical," Allen said there was increased smoking because "facts are finally replacing opinions and the general public is becoming aware of this."

"A growing body of scientific research findings has failed to support the many charges thrown at tobacco use during the past few years," he said.

Allen said the charges "come largely from statistical compilations attempting to establish a relationship between tobacco use and longevity . . . statistics can be used to prove a variety of conclusions on this subject."

Allen said that during the year the tobacco industry research committee increased to $4 million its grants for study of "all aspects of tobacco use and human health."

He said this indicated "the determination of the tobacco industry to help solve these vexing questions."

94 BILLION MORE

Allen said the estimates showed smokers this year used 94 billion more cigarettes than in 1955, an increase of about 25 per cent, and 21.5 billion more cigarettes than last year.

Not only did people smoke more cigarettes, he said, but they consumed 2.5 per cent more cigars and cigarillos and 35.5 million pounds of snuff, 1¼ million pounds more than last year.

Pipe smokers used 73 million pounds of tobacco, about the same as last year, and 65.5 million pounds of tobacco was chewed, slightly less than last year.

Macmillan May Go to Red China in '61

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is planning a personal peace crusade in 1961 that might take him to Red China, a London newspaper said today.

★

Macmillan wants to reduce East-West tension, the Daily Mail said, and is more interested in two-way talks with leaders of other nations than in a summit conference.

★ ★ ★

Macmillan is considering inviting Soviet Premier Khrushchev to talks in London, the newspaper mail said, and traveling to Peiping.

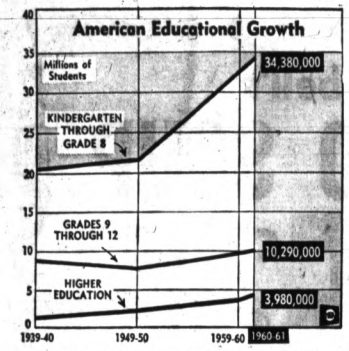
1200 BALDWIN AVE. at CROSSMAN Open Sunday



ONLY THE BEGINNING — The great postwar increase in grade school enrollment is no news to Americans. Now, however, the World War II baby boom is beginning to be felt in high schools and colleges. The chart is based on U.S. Office of Education estimates, and reveals that the number of students in grade and junior high schools (both public and private) has increased by one million since the 1955-60 school year; high school enrollment is up 700,000; and college enrollment is up 230,000, a grand total of 48.65 million.

Poland in World Market With Big Sulfur Output

TARNOBRZEG, Poland (AP) — Poland is about to shoulder its way into the world sulfur market with a sprawling multimillion-dollar mining and industrial complex built on top of Europe's largest sulfur deposits.

★ ★ ★

A crash program has transformed this backward peasant center in little more than two years into the bustling nerve center of Poland's most technologically advanced industry.

★ ★ ★

On the outskirts of the town, a housing development of one-family homes for the directors of the combine and new apartment houses for key workers is still expanding. Czech trucks weave through cobblestone streets past plodding peasants' horse carts.

★ ★ ★

New asphalt roads lead to the 210-acre site of the Machow refinery where foreign engineers assemble and test Soviet, East German, French and Italian equipment scheduled to go into full production next month.

★ ★ ★

Across the Vistula River, in the former village of Piaseczno, excavators strip top soil from strata of yellow-green sulfur ore lying 40-50 feet below the surface.

Polish engineers predict they will be producing about 130,000 tons of pure sulfur at Machow next year and more than 500,000 tons in 1965.

★ ★ ★

Western estimates have put the ultimate capacity of the mine and processing plant at a peak of three million tons annually by 1970.

★ ★ ★

Miners and construction workers at Tarnobrzeg, most of them peasants recruited from the surrounding countryside, ride to and from work in modern trucks but they still haul their farm goods and families in their forefathers' horse-drawn wagons.

And every holy day they reverently place flowers and light candles at the roadside altars to the Virgin Mary which still dot the countryside.

Army leaders said at the conclusion of World War I that if it had lasted another year, they would have had to ask for legislation permitting women to enlist.

Minnesota Keeps Top Turkey Title

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Minnesota remains the top turkey producer. The state held on to its ranking as leader by growing about a half-million more birds than California this year.

This is the second year in a row Minnesota has had this distinction. It produced 8 per cent more birds this year to stay on top.

The other leading states, in order, are California, Iowa, Virginia, Wisconsin, Texas, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio.

Corrective open-heart surgery was first performed successfully by a team of surgeons at the University of Minnesota.

Fears Thief May Try Lowdown Trick Next

JUNCTION, Tex. (UPI)—When Sheriff Rip Martin was helping in jury selection prior to a murder trial, someone stole his expensive western-style hat from a front row bench in the court room.

Now Martin walks through the court room with his hands poised at his hips. "I'm just afraid somebody will steal my britches," he said.

Trail to Dairyland

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The dairy-minded Wisconsin Council of Cooperatives has suggested that interstate highway system roads in Wisconsin be called the "Milky Way."

Vase Only 23 Years Old

Japan Art World Shocked to Find 'Treasure' Fraud

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's art world is all in a tizzy.

A ceramic vase supposedly 660 years old and declared an important cultural treasure by the government has been unmasked as a phony.

Not only is the vase only 23 years old, but it was made originally to serve as a "symbol of worship" for a defunct religious sect formed to support Japanese militarism in prewar days.

The vase, known as the Vase of Eiji, was supposedly "discovered" in 1943 and subsequently named a cultural treasure as a fine example of art of the Kamakura period.

POTTER CONFESSES

But just recently potter Mineo Katmu confessed that he and his father had made the vase in 1937 and that although the warkmanship was excellent, the vase was by no means a national treasure.

"I could no longer deceive my conscience," he said.

His father, Tokuro, 62, was in Paris at the time studying European ceramics. But he cut his visit short and hurried back to Japan.

Tokuro, author of one of the most authoritive books on ceramics in Japan, backed up his son. They had made the vase.

He said he had been commissioned to make the vase by one of his patrons, Kinnosuke Gyobu.

★ ★ ★

The vase was to have been a symbol of worship for a new religion being formed by a group within the Japanese Imperial Army in an attempt to agitate public sentiment toward war. The idea died.

Then it was planned to announce that the vase was discovered Dec. 8, 1941, the day (Japan Time) the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor.

This plot to fire patriotism also was abandoned. The vase finaly was "discovered" two years later.

Red China Due for Less Food

Despite Great Drought, 'Production Gains High, Better' Than West

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China today forecast possible increased food shortages for her 650 million people in 1961.

Peiping Radio said that about half of the nation's 300 million acres under cultivation was affected by "natural calamities," including the worst drought of the century.

More than 50 million acres, or one-sixth of the total farmland, suffered "serious losses," the Communist radio said in a report on the "people's communes."

The report noted that agricultural production increased by 45 per cent during the first year of the communes in 1958 and rose 8 per cent last year "despite serious natural calamities." It said the speed of development surpassed that of any capitalist country.

"This year," the report continued, "China was hit by the severest drought since the beginning of this century and other serious natural calamities. Altogether, 150 million acres of farmland, or about half of the total cultivated area in our country, was affected. . .

"But thanks to the superiority shown by the people's communes, and to the assistance given by all sides, only about one-third of the 75 million acres affected sustained serious losses."

Paper Wants Jack To Answer Gromyko

MOSCOW (AP)—The newspaper Soviet Russia suggested today that it is time President-Elect John F. Kennedy answered Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's statement that the Soviet Union wants to improve relations with the United States.

The paper printed foreign comment from various neutralist and Socialist newspapers praising Gromyko's statement last week to the Supreme Soviet and demanding that Kennedy respond.

"The entire international public greets the Soviet peace initiative," said the paper, "but certain circles in the U.S.A. are clearly irritated and do not even hide this irritation."

Aviation Great Bellanca Dies

His Monoplane Made Flight of Atlantic With Passenger Aboard

NEW YORK (AP) — Giuseppe Mario Bellanca, one of the great figures of aviation history, is dead at 74.

He died at Memorial Hospital Monday of leukemia. His home was at Galena, Md.

Bellanca, a Sicilian who later became an American citizen, had designed planes since 1907 and headed the manufacturing company bearing his name until a few years ago.

It was his monoplane Columbia which made the first nonstop transatlantic flight with a passenger. This was in June 1927. Clarence D. Chamberlin was the pilot and the passenger was Charles A. Levine.

3,905 MILES

The flight also was a record for distance — 3,905 miles from New York to Eisleben, Germany. It took 42 hours and 15 minutes.

A few weeks earlier, Chamberlin and Bert Acosta had set a world endurance record for remaining aloft with the same plane. This was a 51-hour flight over Long Island.

In 1931, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr. made the first nonstop flight across the Pacific in another Bellanca craft. They flew from Tokyo beach in Japan to Wenatchee, Wash. The 4,500-mile trip took 41 hours and 13 minutes.

Liz Taylor and Lancaster Best 1960 Film Stars

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Elizabeth Taylor and Burt Lancaster, two filmland stars of long standing, have been voted the best actress and actor of 1960 by reviewers and critics across the country.

The film daily "famous five" made the announcement today on the basis of its annual poll of 1,850 news and broadcast critic-reviewers who selected Miss Taylor for her role in "Butterfield 8" and Lancaster for "Elmer Gantry."

Miss Taylor at first refused to perform in the film when the script called for her to play a call girl. She finally accepted when the part was modified to that of a promiscuous model.

Lancaster portrayed a hell-and-brimstone revival preacher in "Elmer Gantry."

Others voted among the top five male and female stars were, in order of votes received: Charlton Heston (Ben-Hur), Jack Lemmon (The Apartment), Spencer Tracy (Inherit the Wind), and Ralph Bellamy (Sunrise at Campobello), Greer Garson (Sunrise at Campobello), Shirley MacLaine (The Apartment), Doris Day (Midnight Lace), and Jean Simmons (Elmer Gantry).

Top supporting actor was Arthur Kennedy (Elmer Gantry) and top supporting actress was Shirley Jones (Elmer Gantry). Kevin Corcoran was voted top juvenile actor for "Toby Tyler" and Hayley Mills the best juvenile actress for "Pollyanna."

Top director was William Wilder (Ben-Hur) while the best screen play was judged to be "The Apartment" by Billy Wilder and I.A.L. Diamond.

You Have to Hand It to Those Psychologists

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI)—Cornell University psychologists have found a way of judging personality by the way a person grabs a knob, dial or handle.

They say you can tell by the hand-grasp whether the person is aggressive or deferential.

Graduation Day Is Giving This Mother Fits

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — If you had two sons graduating the same day next June from different service academies, which ceremony would you attend?

★ ★ ★

That's the problem facing Mrs. Keith Stackhouse of Norwood.

★ ★ ★

She said the Air Force Association wants to help her make up her mind at an association party by giving her a round-trip ticket to Colorado Springs for graduation of her son William, 22, from the U.S. Air Force Academy.

But the other son, Charles, 20, is graduating the same day from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Stackhouse, a widow who works as a nurse, said she's not much interested in the gift ticket.

"I would be unhappy inside. I wouldn't feel right," she said.

"I won't see either one if I can't see both."

OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN
Oakland County Sewage Disposal Bonds—Evergreen System Extension No. 1.

Sealed bids for the purchase of Oakland County Sewage Disposal Bonds—Evergreen System Extension No. 1, to be issued by the County of Oakland, Michigan, of the par value of $490,000 will be received by the undersigned, at the office of the Board of Public Works of said county, at 550 South Telegraph Road in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, until 11:00 o'clock a.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Tuesday the 17th day of January, 1961, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated July 1, 1960, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 to 490, both inclusive, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding 6% per annum, payable on November 1, 1961 and thereafter semi-annually on May 1 and November 1. Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ¼ or 1/20 of 1%. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on May 1 in each year as follows:

$5,000 in each of the years 1962 thru 1965

$10,000 in each of the years 1966 thru 1974

$15,000 in each of the years 1975 thru 1979

$20,000 in each of the years 1980 thru 1982

$25,000 in each of the years 1983 thru 1987

$30,000 in each of the years 1988 thru 1991.

Bonds maturing on and after May 1, 1972, from time to time outstanding, shall be subject to redemption as a whole, at the option of the county prior to maturity on any interest payment date on or after May 1, 1976. Bonds called for redemption shall be redeemed at the par value thereof and accrued interest plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

$20 if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1976 but prior to May 1, 1978

$20 if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1978 but prior to May 1, 1980

$20 if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1980 but prior to May 1, 1982

$15 if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1982 but prior to May 1, 1984

$10 if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1984 but prior to May 1, 1986

$5 if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1986

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds called for redemption by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem the same.

Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank and/or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds. Such purchaser shall have the right to name a co-paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of defraying the cost of extending the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System by acquiring Extension No. 1 thereto. They are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 185 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1957, as amended, in anticipation of the payment of the amounts to be paid to the county under a certain contract dated April 11, 1960, between the County of Oakland and the City of Bloomfield Hills and the Township of Bloomfield, whereby said city and said township agree to pay to the said county 100% of the capital cost, divided as therein set forth, of the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System Extension No. 1, in 20 annual installments beginning April 1, 1962, with interest on unpaid installments from the date of issuance of the bonds, payable April 1, 1961, and annually thereafter. The aggregate amount to be so paid is $490,000 plus interest.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from February 1, 1961 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the county. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value or which provides for supplemental coupons, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $9,800 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the County of Oakland must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, McKean & Cudlip (Claude H. Stevens, of Counsel), attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the county. There will also be furnished the usual closing papers, including a non-litigation certificate, dated as of the date of the delivery of the bonds. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Evergreen Extension No. 1 Bonds."

Dated: December 20, 1960.
Approved: September 13, 1960.

Plotter Against Mussolini Dies in Rome Hospital

ROME (AP)—Tito Zaniboni, 77, a World I hero who once tried to shoot Mussolini, died in a military hospital Monday night of injuries suffered in a fall while boarding a bus several weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

He had served 18 years of a 30-year-jail sentence—three years of it in isolation on the island of Ponza—when the Fascist regime fell during World War II and he was liberated.

In World War I Zaniboni was a lieutenant colonel in the Alpini, Italy's crack mountain troops. He was awarded numerous decorations for valor.

★ ★ ★

After World War I he was elected to Parliament as a member of the Socialist party, of which Mussolini also was a member originally.

★ ★ ★

Zaniboni plotted to kill the Fascist leader after the brutal slaying in 1924 of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti, for which Mussolini personally assumed the responsibility. He was betrayed by a member of his group.

★ ★ ★

After his release, Aanibon. was named commissioner for the purging of Fascists. He later served as commissioner for refugees. He was named president of the Retired Officers Union in 1949.

Foresees Popularity for Soybean in U.S.

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Scientists at the University of Illinois believe soybeans eventually may be added to the list of regular fare for Americans.

★ ★ ★

Testing vegetable-type soybeans, which have a mild nutty flavor and are larger and cook more easily than field-type soybeans, the researchers found that soaking and cooking processes did not affect thiamine vitamin content.

Soybeans compare favorably in thiamine with other good sources of this vitamin, including peanuts, fried beef liver, cooked oatmeal and whole wheat bread.

Thiamine correcets and prevents beriberi and promotes optimal growth in infants and children.

S. Korean Army Retires Officers in Forces Cut

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean army today retired 1,534 officers and noncommissioned officers as part of its plan to cut 30,000 men from the army. Each was given two years' salary.

New Language Being Born in Southeast Asia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—A new language for more than 90 million people is being born in Southeast Asia, at the rate of about a word every hour.

It is developing in two directions:

—Constant expansion and improvement of the version of Malay spoken in Indonesia.

—The governments of Malaya and Indonesia are in constant touch trying to unify their similar languages into a standard common one.

When Indonesia became independent after World War II, it had no national language.

The nearest tongue to one was Malay, spoken by about 7.7 per cent of the population.

The rest, scattered over 3,000 islands, spoke about 200 other dialects.

But in recent years, Indonesia has greatly expanded Malay, which in its original form was not considered comprehensive enough for a modern society.

Many new phrases are added daily, and even native speakers of the original language are sometimes hard pressed to keep up with the developments of their language.

NBC Man Held by Havana Police

HAVANA (UPI) — NBC Caribbean correspondent Wilson Hall, arrested without explanation Monday by the dier (secret police), was being held virtually incommunicado here today.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Vice Consul Gerald Lamberty was allowed to talk briefly with Hall Monday afternoon, but was refused permission to visit him Monday night.

★ ★ ★

Hall's wife Lee, herself an experienced radio correspondent, was ready to fake his place in preparing NBC's yearend roundup if he was not released in time.

The radio newsman was arrested as he prepared to board a New York-bound plane at Havana Airport.

★ ★ ★

Maj. Abelardo Colomes, chief of the dier's Havana headquarters, said Hall was arrested by order of the general staff, but he gave no further explanation.

It appeared that dier agents objected to his possession of films showing militiawomen performing police duties in Havana.

Baby Pig's First Day Is Important One

EAST LANSING (UPI)—The first day in the life of a pig is not only quite important to the pig but also to people.

Researchers at Michigan State University have found that a baby pig should get plenty of colostrum — milk the mother gives immediately after birth.

This connects with antibodies at a time the pig is unable himself to produce antibodies to protect himself against diseases.

If the baby pig is treated right, a long life and a future of becoming bacon, chops and hams is ahead of him.

Footloose Birds, Floods Ruin Geese Project

RED WING, Minn. (UPI) — This city's attempt to raise wild geese as "show birds" for the lagoon in Colvill Park has been pronounced a complete failure.

High water flooded the pens, and after the geese escaped several times, they were given free range in hopes they would remain in the park.

But they picked sites in farflung parts of the city and the surrounding countryside. Four of the six birds were killed by cars, two more by hunters.

Undaunted, Red Wing sportsmen will try again — this time with eight geese.

Poland's on Soviet Side to End Laos Fighting

WARSAW (AP) — Poland today joined the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam in demanding the 1954 Indochina armistice conference be called back into session to end fighting in Laos. A Polish government statement said world peace is endangered by the Laotian situation and blamed interference by the United States and her allies.

Patrolmen Answer Call for Help, Regardless . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—The baby lay choking in his crib.

By the time four radio patrolmen arrived at the East Harlem apartment of Luis and Anita Gonzales Monday, Luis Jr., six weeks old, had stopped breathing.

★ ★ ★

One patrolman started mouth-to-mouth respiration. Then the officers learned that Mrs. Gonzales had active tuberculosis and that the baby's twin, in another crib, had been born with it.

The policemen knew there was a very good chance that Luis Jr. also was infected. But they went on with the mouth-to-mouth respiration, taking turns.

Finally the child began to breathe by himself, and the four bundled him up and rushed him to a hospital. En route, the child's life slipped away—for good.

Patrolmen Angelo D'Agostino, Frank McLaughlin, Kenneth Baum and Charles Clennan must report to the police surgeon's office. There, from the results of an autopsy, they will learn the answer to this question: Did Luis also have TB?

May Name Princess Meg Governor of the Bahamas

LONDON (AP)—A close friend of the royal family said today that Queen Elizabeth II is considering appointing Princess Margaret governor of the Bahamas.

It could be a happy solution to a delicate and increasingly uneasy situation; what to do with Margaret and more particularly, her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones has been unemployed for the last seven months since his marriage into the royal family.

Their friends say Margaret and her husband are not pleased at the thought of spending the rest of their lives in a glittering whirl of social events and a near puppet-like existence in the purple shadows of the British throne.

★ ★ ★

Margaret will be 31 next Aug. 21. Armstrong-Jones will be 31 on March 7. Both are active, adept in the social graces and talented.

By tradition, members of the royal family and their spouses don't go into business, commerce, or engage in the arts for profit.

So Armstrong-Jones gave up a highly profitable and promising career as a photographer.

If Margaret became governor of the jewel-like British crown colony in the Atlantic off the Florida coast, her husband would naturally share her life. It could be a busy one.

★ ★ ★

The Bahamas annually earn millions of pounds and dollars as a tourist attraction. With Margaret and Tony established in government house in Nassau, the Bahamas would earn many millions more.

NOT UNPRECEDENTED

The appointment of a member of the royal family as governor and commander in chief of the Bahamas would set no royal precedent.

When the Duke of Windsor and his American-born wife were in much the same position as Margaret and Tony—in that they had very little to do officially—King George VI made the Duke the governor of the Bahamas.

The Duke served from 1940 to 1945.

The post of governor of the Bahamas is normally for a five-year period. The present governor, Sir Oswald Raynor Arthur, 55, was appointed in 1957. His predecessor served from 1952 to 1957.

This would give Margaret and her husband another year's practice in representing the queen in high places.

★ ★ ★

Friends of the royal family say the queen has been feeling out government and private individuals on the Bahamas appointment.

No opposition has been reported and some highly placed persons are said to be enthusiastically in favor of the appointment.

Time Makes It, 'Men of the Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—Time magazine's "Man of the Year" for 1960 is plural: America's scientists.

Time said the work of the scientists in 1960 "shapes the life of every human presently inhabiting the planet, and will influence the destiny of generations to come."

The magazine selected 15 scientists to epitomize the work of all. They were:

★ ★ ★

★ ★

John F. Enders, who works with polio viruses; Charles Townes, microwave specialist; George W. Beadle, head of the California Institute of Technology biology department; James Van Allen, a leader in exploration of radiation in space; Edward Purcell, Nobel Prize-winner for "nuclear resonance" work; Edward Teller, major developer of the H-bomb; Willard Libby, Nobel Prize-winner for radioactive carbon dating work; Isidor I. Rabi, Nobel Prize-winner Libby, Nobel Prize-winner nus Pauling, Nobel Prize-winner for work on atoms; Joshua Lederberg, Nobel Prize-winner for work with bacteria; and Donald Glaser, Nobel Prize-winner for inventing a method of photographing atomic particles.

Clutch Play Gives Eagles NFL Crown

Van Brocklin, Defense Spark 17-13 Triumph

Packers at 9 When Game Ends; 1st Title in 11 Years at Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles have their first National Football League title in 11 years and they did it by coming up with the big stopper on defense, clutch passing by Norm Van Brocklin and rookie Ted Dean's 58-yard kickoff return on a newly installed play.

★ ★ ★

The Eagles, a Cinderella team which rose from last in 1958 to second last year and the Eastern Conference crown this season, came from behind yesterday for season to defeat Green Bay 17-13 for the world championship.

And for coach Buck Shaw and Van Brocklin, both of whom repeated they are retiring, it marked the greatest moment in their long and colorful football careers. Sports writers voted the 34-year-old Van Brocklin the outstanding player of the game.

The 61-year-old Shaw installed the play which led to the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter.

In regular season play the Eagles were next to last in rushing defense but always managed to stop the big runners in key games.

★ ★ ★

For Green Bay, a last place team like the Eagles just two seasons ago, it was a day of heartbreak. The final gun sounded with the Packers on the Eagles' 9-yard line where iron-man Chuck Bednarik, who played outstandingly for almost 60 minutes, had stopped fullback Jim Taylor. Had not Bednarik been there, Taylor might have gone over.

The Packers, the Western Conference champions, twice led in the game which was seen by a sellout crowd of 67,325. The fans paid the largest gate in NFL championship history.

But the Eagles came storming back both times.

Green Bay led 6-0 on field goals of 20 and 23 yards by Paul Hornung but the Eagles struck like lightning in the second quarter, going from their own 43 for a touchdown on just two pass plays.

Van Brocklin, a 12-year veteran who played in four previous championships while with Los Angeles, connected with Tommy McDonald for 22 yards, then hit the slippery slot back again with a 35-yard touchdown strike. Bobby Walston added the extra point to put the Eagles ahead 7-6.

The Eagles increased the lead to 10-6 when Walston booted a 15-yard field goal set up by Van Brocklin passes of 41 yards to Pete Retzlaff and 22 yards to Dean.

The real clincher, however, came after the Packers had taken a 13-10 lead on a seven-yard TD pass from Bart Starr to Max McGee in the fourth quarter. It was Dean's five-yard touchdown run which he set up himself with a kickoff return to the Packers' 39 right after Green Bay's final score. And in the 39-yard drive he netted 15 yards in all.

The kickoff return play was a new one Shaw installed last week after receiving scouting reports from assistants. Shaw explained that on the play Dean starts down the middle, then cuts to his left with Eagles' linemen double-teaming two of the Packers' fast men up front, thus opening a lane between them for Dean to run through.

★ ★ ★

Green Bay, whose running attack was sparked by fullback Jim Taylor with 105 yards, and Hornung, who gained 61 before leaving the game in the third quarter after a jarring tackle by Bednarik, took advantage of early Eagles' errors to set up the touchdown threats.

On the first play from scrimmage the Packers' Bill Quinlan grabbed off in the air a lateral pass which Barnes couldn't hold on the Eagles' 14. With fourth and two on the Eagles' six, the Packers elected to try for the yardage and a possible touchdown instead of the field goal. But Taylor, a 215-pound battering ram who was second in the NFL rushing, could get only one yard and Philadelphia took over on its own five.

Seconds later Dean shot off tackle for 10 yards but fumbled the ball and Bill Forester pounced on it on the Eagles' 22. The Packers got to the eight but a penalty set them back to the 13 and they couldn't go any farther as defensive halfbacks Bob Freeman, a former Packer, and Tom Brookshier, did some fast stepping to break up end zone passes by Starr.

The Eagles' defense, despite giving up 223 yards on the ground and 178 through the air, five times stalled Green Bay drives inside the 12-yard line.

Shaw, Van Brocklin Retire After Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles won the National Football League championship yesterday, but the team lost two of its key members.

Coach Buck Shaw and quarterback Norm Van Brocklin announced after the 17-13 win over Green Bay that they were definitely retiring.

★ ★ ★

"This is it for sure, I'm all through after today," the 61-year-old silver fox said in the bedlam of the Eagle dressing room.

"Sure, we were fluffing changing defense a bit out there," Shaw admitted, "We almost had to or our defense really would have been roughed up a bit."

Van Brocklin ended his career in a blaze of glory, throwing a 35-yard TD pass to Tommy McDonald setting up a field goal by Bobby Walston with some more pin-point passing and passing for key yardage in the winning touchdown drive, scored by rookie Ted Dean.

McDonald said he called the first touchdown play to Van Brocklin's attention when he noticed Green Bay defensive back Otto Gremminger coming in to cover him on slants over the middle.

★ ★ ★

"I told Van to use our switch play where I head into the middle, stop and cut back to the outside again," McDonald said. "Gremminger took the fake, and he couldn't get back in time to stay with me."

"Only for that runback by Dean we probably would have held them," said Packers Coach Vince Lombardi. "That gave the Eagles the big lift and we couldn't stop them. Dean certainly had great blocking on the big run. But he had to have. No one returns a kick that way in this league without blocking."

Lombardi also singled out Van Brocklin for praise.

"Old Van completed them when the Eagles needed them," he said. "You have to give him credit."

★ ★ ★

Van Brocklin thanked his many supporters who came into the clubhouse to offer congratulations, but he said he felt the Eagles offensively didn't play really well — "not up to our potential."

"The defense played a hell of a game," said Van Brocklin, "but the offense didn't move the ball as well as it should have."

★ ★ ★

Asked why he stuck to the ground in the late stages of the game, Van Brocklin said: "The linemen told me we can run on these guys."

Lombardi said, "We didn't do anything different and the Eagles played the way we expected. We simply couldn't capitalize on our opportunities."

★ ★ ★

Lombardi blamed the loss partly on the Packers' failure to push across touchdowns on their first three deep penetrations.

"I guess you would say there went the ball game," Lombardi said, "instead of leading by two touchdowns we're ahead only 6-0 and then Van Brocklin came through. But I'm real proud of my club. They stayed in there all the way right down to the final gun. It's too bad we didn't have a few more seconds."

Lombardi said the Packers' power runners were hampered by the thawed turf. "The field was very difficult to run on," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The Eagles just played a helluva game, that's all," said defensive end Bill Quinlan. "We made the big mistake. What mistake? Letting them score more points."

Italy's Dreams Shattered —Aussies Win Davis Cup

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australia shattered Italy's fondest dream today and won the Davis Cup when Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson whipped Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola in the Challenge Round doubles, 10-8, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4.

★ ★ ★

The victory sent the Aussies into a 3-0 lead and means Wednesday's final two singles matches will be meaningless.

This marked the fifth time in the last six years Australia has won the cup. The Aussies have been involved in every Challenge Round since 1938 and have run up 10 victories.

★ ★ ★

In fact, this year was the first time since '38 that Australia and the United States haven't slugged it out for the top prize in amateur tengis.

The Italians, after being down 2-0, rebounded and defeated the United States in the interzone final two weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

This time, though, there was no miracle in the cards. They dropped the first two singles matches to Fraser and Rod Laver Monday. Still, they thought they would at least put off the decision until the final two singles. Pietrangeli and Sirola, after all, had beaten Fraser and Emerson in a local tournament last month.

But Fraser and Emerson, playing steady if not spectacular tennis, grabbed the upper hand at the start and appeared to get stronger and more accurate as the match progressed.

★ ★ ★

Pietrangeli and Sirola did have their opportunities and the crowd of 15,000 that sweltered through the 90-plus degree heat in White City Stadium gave them plenty of moral support.

The Italians—this marked the first time ever Italy made the Challenge Round—had a chance to win the first set but couldn't quite pull it off.

Small College Gridders Again Lose to Majors

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—As was expected, passing played a key role in Monday's third annual All American Bowl, with the major school team tripping the small school players 25-12.

★ ★ ★

But the small school offense, directed by Paul Terhes of Bucknell, gave the crowd of 10,000 plenty of thrills before the major players iced their third straight victory.

★ ★ ★

Terhes matched his rival, Dick Norman of Stanford, completing 19 of 33 passes for 191 yards. However, he had four passes intercepted, with Warren Livingston of Arizona returning one 30 yards for a major school touchdown.

All-County 11 to Be Feted

The 13 members of the 1960 Pontiac Press All-Oakland County football team and Ferndale's Ted Meister, County Coach-of-the-Year, will be honored by The Press Wednesday afternoon at a luncheon in the Elks Temple at 4 o'clock.

★ ★ ★

Mike Brown, Ferndale's Class A all-state quarterback, will be awarded the Thom McAn bronze shoe trophy as Oakland's outstanding gridder of the year.

Brown, expected to enter the U. of M., is the 5th winner of the bronze shoe trophy. The annual award is presented in conjunction with The Press and entitles the recipient to a chance for a $3,000 college scholarship.

Previous winners of the shoe were John Walker of Walled Lake, Lou Pavloff of Hazel Park, John Lucadam of West Bloomfield and Charlie Brown of Pontiac Central.

Meister, retiring as Ferndale's head football coach after guiding the Eagles to their 2nd straight EML title, will receive the Coach-of-the-Year trophy and an award will be presented to each member of the honor squad.

Besides Brown, the other honored players include John Van Sickler of Walled Lake, Dick McCauley and Bradell Pritchett of PCH, Mike Fournier and Jim Gatti of Southfield, Frank Smotherman of Hazel Park, Steve Jacobson and Bob Kling of Birmingham Seaholm, Bill Daniels of Ferndale, Jack Newton of West Bloomfield, Biff Jones of Bloomfield Hills, and Clay Ovesen of Rochester.

Cotton Bowl Foes Practice in Dallas

Duke flew into San Antonio Monday and got down to business in a hurry. Coach Bill Murray was pleased with the condition and attitude of the players and liked the workout.

Arkansas slipped into Houston and drilled for three hours with Coach Frank Broyles complaining that his players were not in as good shape as he expected.

SAD CHAMPIONSHIP — Norm Van Brocklin, left, who quarterbacked the Eagles to their title triumph, alternately laughs and cries in the dressing room after the game. With him is Chuck Bednarik. Van Brocklin said he planned to retire.

The construction of a new dormitory at MSU has athletic director Biggie Munn worried about spying on the Spartan football team. The squad's privacy is threatened by the six-story building. Munn thinks, so to prevent spies from watching practice, he plans to move the secret practice field 100 yards east and build an 18-foot canvas-covered fence around it.

George Huffman Jr., a Franklin, Mich., football star, has been named commander of the 19th Company at the U.S. Naval Academy. He will play in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2 against Missouri. Joe Bellino headed four other starting Middie gridders named to top officer posts recently.

Steve Johnson of Lansing finished 3rd, in rebound tumbling in the national gymnastic clinic competition at Sarasota, Fla. Sharon Richardson of Jackson won the horse vault and placed 2nd in the women's over-all gymnastics competition. Abe Grossfield of New York won the title for the 3rd time.

Vikings Start NFL Player Draft Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League dips into the 1960 college player grabbag today with the new Minnesota Vikings picking first and Baltimore, San Francisco and Cleveland each getting two first round choices.

The 14 clubs will pick a total of 280 players in 20 rounds and then hurry out to compete with the American Football League in a players' market. The AFL drafted earlier this month. Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL at that time appealed to collegians to wait for the NFL draft before signing any contracts.

The teams draft in reverse order of their 1960 final standings, going from last to first. Ties are decided by the toss of a coin with the winner picking first and alternating through succeeding rounds.

Baltimore gets New York's first right to complete a 2-year-old deal that sent quarterback George Shaw to the Giants. San Francisco obtained Pittsburgh's first round choice in a deal for Dick Moegle, while Cleveland received Detroit's initial pick for Jim Ninowski.

Here is the selection order:

Minnesota, Dallas, Washington, Los Angeles, a tie between Pittsburgh and Chicago, Baltimore, St. Louis, a tie between Detroit and San Francisco, New York, Green Bay, Cleveland and Philadelphia. Green Bay selects ahead of Cleveland because the Browns' 8-3-1 record was better than the Packers' 8-4.

All college players whose original class has graduated — or with this year — are eligible for the draft. A player's college affiliation is according to registration record. Thus, a player who registered at a college but dropped out would be listed from that college.

General manager Bert Rose of the Vikings makes the first choice after Rozelle gavels the draft meeting to order at approximately 10 a.m. (EST).

Lions Seeking Linemen Today

Hope to Land Offense Talent at Annual Loop Draft

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Detroit Lions coach George Wilson and his aides primarily will be after offensive linemen in today's National Football League draft session.

The offensive line was the weakest link in the Lions chain of seven victories in their last nine 1960 games.

Wilson plans to make quick contact with the Lions' new draftees. Detroit was stung a year ago when Johnny Robinson of Louisiana State — its No. 1 choice — decided to go with the American Football League.

This year, the Lions will have to wait for the second round to start their bidding, having traded away their first round choice to the Cleveland Browns for quarterback Jim Ninowski.

The Lions will have six choices in the draft.

★ ★ ★

"We want to take the first five or six boys down to Miami with us for the playoff bowl game next week," Wilson said. "It depends, though, on how far away they are from Florida."

"If we can't bring them there, we'll talk to them on the phone, and if necessary, we'll send someone to meet and sign them personally."

Wilson has arranged for a set of telephones, each to be manned by a coach.

"It's liable to be a long, drawn-out meeting," he said. "Before we make our draft picks, we're going to call each boy and make sure he wants to play with us and that he isn't already signed with someone else."

Annual Neighborhood Hoop Meet at YMCA

Six games Wednesday will launch the annual Neighborhood Gang Basketball tourney at the YMCA. Finals in the meet's two divisions will be held Friday.

Prep games, for boys 10 through 12, tomorrow will be Wever Wildcats vs Eastern at 9 a.m., Wever Wolverines vs Wilson at 10, Lambert against opening winner at 1:30 p.m. and Pistons vs 2nd game victor at 2:30. In older Junior action, Madison plays Lincoln Hi-Y at 11 a.m. and Eastern Indians vs Eastern Braves at 3:30 p.m.

Winners of the last two prep contests will clash Friday at 9:30 a.m. Junior honors will be decided in a 10:30 contest. The Pontiac North Kiwanis Club is sponsoring trophies for the winners.

Wings Hope to Start Comeback Tomorrow

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Red Wings hope to hit the comeback trail tomorrow night when they face off against the New York Rangers in Madison Square Garden.

★ ★ ★

Santa Claus — in the uniform of Chicago Black Hawk goalie Glenn Hall — didn't give the Wings any presents over the Christmas weekend.

Hall and the Hawks handed the Wings their first shutout in more than a year as they posted a 3-0 yuletide victory on the Olympia ice.

It was the Wings fifth straight loss on the home ice and their first shut out since Nov. 28, 1959 when they were blanked by Montreal.

After tomorrow's contest, the Wings entrain north to face the Canadiens Thursday at Montreal.

Detroit Meets Yale, Colorado State vs. Xavier

Title Tilt Wednesday at Titan Court; Host Cagers Favored

DETROIT (UPI)—College basketball differs somewhat in style, depending on where the game is played.

In the East, the emphasis is on offensive patterns and working the ball in. The pace is a bit quicker in the Midwest where hustle and the fast-break are more in vogue. And out West, they stress a defensive, more deliberate type of play.

★ ★ ★

Students of the game will have a chance tonight and tomorrow night to view and compare the three styles by visiting the University of Detroit Memorial, once again the scene of the Motor City Holiday tournament.

The tourney, now in its ninth year, opens tonight with a meeting between Xavier — a classy quintet from Cincinnati — and Colorado State, one of the powers in the Skyline Conference.

Coach Bob Calihan's Titans, the host team, will square off against Yale in the nightcap.

The two winners will fight it out for the tournament championship tomorrow night. That deciding contest will be preceded by a friendly match between the two losers.

★ ★ ★

Detroit is a solid favorite to walk off with the top honors.

The Titans not only enjoy a home-court advantage, where they have not lost in the past 26 games, but are also ranked as one of the nation's finest.

Xavier is a slight favorite to defeat Colorado in the opener and the Titans are not anticipating much trouble from Yale. If the formsheet is followed, Detroit and Xavier would then meet in tomorrow night's championship clash.

In their last start, Calihan's cagers dropped a disappointing 84-73 verdict to unbeaten Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked team.

★ ★ ★

The Titans played one of their best games of the year and were in front by eight points midway in the first half. But All-American Buckeye Jerry Lucas, who scored 30 points in his greatest effort of the season, spearheaded Ohio State to a strong finish.

That was Detroit's second loss against five victories.

BOWLING Fault Finder

STRAIGHT-IN SLIDE

By Morrie Oppenheim

Have you ever noticed how awkward you feel and how poorly you roll when you finish the slide to the foul line with the left foot toed in?

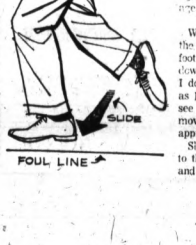
★ ★ ★

It would not be so bad if only the foot were affected, but this poor technique swings the shoulders and hips around so that there are no longer parallel with the foul line. You are rolling the ball against your body's natural leverage.

★ ★ ★

When I ran into this difficulty the first thing I did was to footwork down a bit only to slow down reducing the speed of my approach. I don't have to put the brakes on as I near the foul line if I choose to see that I haven't unconsciously moved my starting spot on the approach closer to the foul line.

Sliding straight at the high speed to the foul line, my follow through and control feel are about perfect.



Peters Helps to Spark Junior Wing Victory

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (UPI)—Bob Thomas and Jim Peters of Pontiac picked up two goals apiece last night to lead the Detroit junior wings to a 5-2 victory over the Wallaceburg Knights.

★ ★ ★

The win, the Junior Wings fourth in a row, gave them a 13-4 record for the season to put them six points ahead in the Border Cities Hockey League.

★ ★ ★

The same two teams meet again tonight at Olympia.

Pistons Trip Royals

DETROIT (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals' mastery over the Detroit Pistons lasted for only one game.

The Pistons downed the Royals 137-132 in a National Basketball Association game here last night. Detroit had lost to Cincinnati the night before—the first time in five starts this season.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons' victory marked the 17th straight time the Royals have lost in the Motor City. A 43-point effort by Oscar Robertson couldn't save the Royals.

Detroit had two hot scoring sprees with Bailey Howell and Gene Shue sparking both assaults. The Pistons spurted from a 34-32 lead late in the first quarter to a 60-41 margin halfway through the second period.

Robertson struck for seven straight baskets to help the Royals close the gap to 73-62 at halftime and to 92-87 in the third quarter. Then the Pistons went on another wild scoring party with Howell dropping six consecutive points and Shue and Shellie McMillon contributing.

Bob Boozer hit 10 quick points and Wayne Embry had three baskets to reduce Detroit's lead to 124-119 in the fourth period.

★ ★

But three baskets by Shue killed the Royals' hope. Shue scored 33 points and Howell 31 for Detroit. Embry and Jack Twyman helped Robertson with 23 Royal points apiece.

The Boston Celtics meet the Warriors again tonight in Philadelphia in their private duel for the eastern division title.

The Celtics, in running their victory string to six straight last night at Boston, led all the way to win 119-115 and now lead the division race by two full games.

In other games last night the St. Louis Hawks scored an easy 133-112 decision over the Syracuse Nationals, and the New York Knickerbockers hung on for a 119-112 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

★ ★ ★

Boston ran up a 36-28 first period lead over Philadelphia and kept up the pressure. The Warriors' Wilt Chamberlain hit for 30 points, and had 36 rebounds. Sam Jones and Tom Heinsohn each scored 25 for Boston, while Bob Cousy had 20 points.

St. Louis now leads Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Detroit in the western division by 10 games. The Hawks, led by rookie Lennie Wilkins and veterans Bob Pettit, Clyde Lovellette and Cliff Hagan, ran up a 69-57 halftime lead over Syracuse, Pettit had 25 points, Wilkins and Lovellette 22 each, and Hagan 20. Hal Greer scored 26 for Syracuse, which plays at Cincinnati tonight.

New York held a lead of 66-36 at the half, but had to work to pull the game out against Los Angeles. Elgin Baylor, hurt at the start of the game when teammate Jerry West bumped his nose accidentally, scored 44 points for the Lakers as he led the second half rally. Ritchie Guerin got 33 for New York.

Wilt Continues to Top Baylor

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain continues to pile up points for the Philadelphia Warriors at a record-breaking pace in the National Basketball Association.

Chamberlain's total of 1,140 points is the most ever for a player in the league in 31 games. Last year Jack Twyman of Cincinnati led at the Christmas holiday mark with 987 points.

Although Chamberlain leads by only eight points over Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, he has two extra games to play. Chamberlain has played 31 to Baylor's total of 1,132 in 33 games. Wilt the Stilt has averaged 36.8 points per game to Baylor's 34.3, through games of Dec. 25.

Chamberlain continues to lead in rebounding with an average of 27.5 per game and Robertson's average of nine assists a game is tops.

The scoring leaders (through games of Dec. 25):

	G	FG	FT	Pts.	Avg.
1. Ch'b'lain, Phila.	31	484	172	1,140	36.8

Geoffrion Has Five-Point Lead in NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (AP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, the Montreal Canadiens' flashy right-winger, has opened up the biggest lead any player has had this season at the top of the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Geoffrion, who tied a league record by scoring in his ninth consecutive game last week, now has 52 points — five more than teammate Dickie Moore.

The scoring streak, however, was broken Sunday when Geoffrion failed to score against the Rangers in New York. The record he tied was set in 1944-45 by Montreal's famous Maurice (Rocket) Richard, now retired.

The 10 leaders including ties:

	G	A	Pts.
Geoffrion, Montreal	28	27	55
Moore, Montreal	23	22	45
Bellveau, Montreal	18	31	48
Mahovlich, Toronto	21	24	45

Huskies Still Trying for 1st Win Over PCH

Chiefs Hope to Spoil Northern's Undefeated Record at PNH

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern collide on the basketball court for the 4th time Friday night.

The Huskies of Dick Hall and Art Van Ryzin's Chiefs resume their hardwood feud on the Northern floor with the northsiders still looking for their 1st victory in the infant series.

Northern, defending Inter-Lakes Conference champion, is unbeaten in three starts this season. Central, Saginaw Valley ruler, will enter the crosstown battle with a 2-2 record.

The Chiefs and Huskies inaugurated the intracity feud at PNH on Feb. 3, 1959, with PCH breezing to a 78-40 triumph. That was the only time the two schools met during the 1958-59 campaign.

They clashed twice during the 1959-60 schedule with Central again winning in relatively easy fashion.

The Chiefs raced to a 61-35 verdict at PCH on Dec. 4 and then had little difficulty posting a 65-50 decision in the return bout at PNH on Feb. 9.

Northern's record so far this season is better than Central's, but the Chiefs will still be favored to win Friday's duel and hand the Huskies their 1st defeat.

Until the Huskies finally nail down that 1st big one, the odds will continue to ride with the Huron Street cagers.

PCH, trying to win its 3rd straight Valley crown and 4th in the last five years, has been both impressive and unimpressive thus far, depending on which game you care to remember.

Van Ryzin prefers to remember the Chiefs' 71-55 triumph over Dearborn Edsel Ford and a 58-43 league victory over Flint Central. He would just as soon forget losses to Grosse Pointe, 54-43, and Arthur Hill in the SVC, 50-46.

While the Chiefs have been up-and-down, hot-and cold, and what-have-you, the northside quintet has zipped past three foes with very little trouble.

The Huskies opened the campaign with an easy 61-34 lacing of Rochester, had to work a bit harder to down West Bloomfield, 62-52, and then got off on the right foot in defense on their I-L title by walloping Waterford, 52-24.

Northern's attack has featured a three-pronged scoring punch of Mike Fedynik, Steve Thompson and Bruce Norton. Fedynik is the current leader with 56 points, followed by Thompson with 32 and Norton with 30.

Central's offense has been more erratic to date with Van Ryzin juggling his lineup in an effort to find the right combination.

As of now, the Chiefs' leading scorer is Clarence Douglas, who has tallied 61 points in four games. But 49 of his total has been accumulated in two contests to give you an idea of Central's inconsistency this season.

The Huskies can match Central in scrap and hustle and perhaps in scoring punch, but the backboards may be their downfall.

Hall's cagers just do not seem to have the manpower to match the Chiefs in the rebounding department, a vitally important ingredient in this game.

George Fed, a leaping backboard artist, has already grabbed 48 rebounds in two games since returning to the PCH lineup after recovering from a football injury. The Huskies appear to have no one to compete with the springy 6-3 Fed in this department.

Northern's rebounding problems are doubled with the addition of Bradell Pritchett, who stands 6-foot-4 and weighs 230 pounds.

GOOD GAIN — Leon Smith (white jersey), South halfback from the University of Alabama, romps 18 yards around end before being stopped by Alfred Abele (42), North end from the University of Detroit. The North won the annual Shrine game at Miami Monday, 41-14.

North Overwhelms South in Orange Bowl, 41-14

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bill Brown of Illinois was a tireless workhorse. Bobby Fischer of Nebraska scintillated with his darting dashes. Henry Opperman of Penn State had glue on his fingers and Tom Blanda of Army threw bullseyes from his quarterback spot.

Those factors, combined with a rugged defense, proved the difference as the North All-Stars overwhelmed the South, 41-14, in the 13th annual Shrine football game in the Orange Bowl Monday night.

The crowd of 26,146—smallest in the series' history—saw a football game the first half. South led at the intermission 14-6, thanks to a pass from Bobby Skelton of Alabama which caromed off a goalpost into the arms of John Schroeder of North Carolina, and to a 36-yard touchdown run by this same Skelton with an interception of a Blanda pass.

North had scored the first time it got the ball, marching 62 yards in 13 plays. Northwestern's Mike Stock rolled over four yards for the touchdown.

North power began to assert itself in the second half, however. The tireless Brown—voted North's most valuable player — ripped steadily at the South line. Little Fischer was a wraith as he eeled his way for huge yardage, Stock drove for big gains, and the ever effective Blanda-Oppermann combination clicked for vast yardage.

Fischer gave a hint of what was to come when he raced 66 yards with the opening second-half kickoff, nearly getting away. The North clicked offensively with about everything it tried, and smothered the wilting South offensive with vicious tackling and timely pass interceptions.

Brown set series records in carrying the ball 27 times from scrimmage for a total gain of 129 yards. He scored three touchdowns. Blanda completed 13 of 21 passes for 177 yards and one touchdown, scored by Opperman, and Oppermann caught 10 of Blanda's tosses for 120 yards. One catch was good for 66 yards. Fischer snared three tosses for 57 yards.

Skelton, voted South's outstanding player, wound up with five completions in 12 passing attempts, in addition to his 37-yard touchdown sprint with an interception.

The victory was North's fifth in 13 games, with one game tied.

Hogan Trophy Goes to Smith

Horton Smith, two-time Masters golf champion and head pro at Detroit Golf Club for the past 15 years, has been named winner of the 1960 Ben Hogan Trophy by the Golf Writers' Association of America.

Affectionately known as the "Joplin Ghost," the 52-year-old Smith is the only golfer ever to compete in all 24 Masters tournaments and he won the event in 1934 and again in 1936.

The Hogan award, first presented in 1954, goes to the golfer who overcomes a physical handicap and continues to play the game. Smith has undergone two major operations in the last three years and is now recovering from Hodgkin's Disease.

Smith received 14 of the 17 votes cast by the GWAA directors. Two votes were given to Chick Evans and one went to Jimmy Nichols, a one-armed pro from New York.

Smith will receive his award Jan. 24 at the Metropolitan Golf Writers' annual dinner in New York City.

Other golfers nominated for this year's Hogan Trophy were Bobby Jones, Porky Oliver, Bob Hope, Johnny Goodman, Bob Cochran and Bobby Locke.

Stadium Name Change to Cost Tigers $20,000

DETROIT, (AP) — The Detroit Tigers need a patsy—someone who'll buy 4,300 scorecard pencils, 2,370 assorted pennants and 4,675 souvenir buttons, all stamped Briggs Stadium.

The pencils, pennants and buttons will be useless after next Sunday, when Briggs Stadium officially becomes Tiger Stadium.

The name change is going to cost the Tigers about $20,000, says executive vice-president Harry M. Sisson. The pencils, pennants, and buttons "can't be sold and are a total loss," Sisson said.

The club also must change or replace signs, badges, uniform lettering, stationery, business cards and other printed forms.

Out Indefinite Period

CINCINNATI (AP) — Win Wilfong suffered a broken rib in a game Sunday night and will be lost to the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association for an indefinite period, team officials reported Monday.

Wilfong crashed into backboard supports in the second quarter of a game against Detroit, but continued to play.

Jockey Dies After Fall

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chilean Jockey Manuel Castillo died Monday of injuries suffered in a fall Sunday.

Castillo was thrown onto an iron railing by his horse during a race at the Chilean Hippodrome.

Big New York Tourney Begins

By The Associated Press

The rolling snowball of holiday basketball tournaments nears the full momentum mark tonight and most of the top college teams are caught in the topsy-turvy action that will spread from coast-to-coast within the next two days.

★

Kansas State and Oklahoma got things rolling with victories Monday night in the Big Eight tourney while Santa Clara and San Francisco came off winners in the West Coast Athletic Conference affair.

This afternoon in New York's Maison Square Garden, a pair of unbeatens, seventh - ranked St. John's and Providence, face each other, and third-ranked St. Bonaventure takes on St. Joseph's, (Pa.). The Bonnies also are undefeated.

Tonight, in another Garden doubleheader, Utah plays Penn and Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked college team and defending NCAA champion, plays scrappy Seton Hall to windup first round play.

★ ★ ★ ★

The semifinals aren't until Thursday, but one match could pit St. John's and Ohio State, and set up a personal duel between two All Americas—Tony Jackson of the Redmen and the Buckeyes Jerry Lucas. The finals on Saturday could involve still another potential All America, Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, the No. 2 college scorer a year ago.

The All-College Tournament gets underway tonight in Oklahoma City where New York University plays Tulsa and Oklahoma City meets Baylor. Two more games are set for Wednesday, pitting Wichita against Houston and Utah State versus Texas Christian.

★ ★ ★

Detroit hosts the Motor City Classic tonight. Xavier (Ohio) plays Colorado State U. and Yale meets host Detroit University. Denver University, Penn State, Los Angeles State and host Evansville begin the Evansville, Ind. Holiday Festival tonight.

BE SURE TO FOLLOW THE 'UNFORGETTABLE GAMES' SERIES

Think Bill Mazeroski's ninth inning homer in the finale of the 1960 World Series was a big one? It certainly was!

But perhaps you don't realize the dramatic range of baseball's outstanding games of the past.

You can catch the full nostalgic flavor of the best of these diamond classics in the "Unforgettable Games" series starting in this newspaper on Monday.

The 24 accounts were selected by the well known baseball writers, Joe Reichler and Ben Olan, from the 100 memorable games detailed in their new best selling book, "Baseball's Unforgttable Games." They will make you hungry for more.

Starts Jan. 2 in Sports Section

Detroit Drops to 13th

Ohio State Unanimous AP Poll Leader

By The Associated Press

The Ohio State Buckeyes, rolling into the Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden with six straight victories, have swept all the first place votes in The Associated Press basketball poll for the second straight week.

Ohio State received all of the 36 votes from a panel of sports writers and sportscasters for a perfect score of 360 points. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for first place nine for second and so on. Ohio State rolled over Loyola of Chicago and Detroit last week to remain unbeaten going into the New York tournament.

Bradley again monopolized the second place votes and wound up in second place with 319 points.

The Braves beat Idaho and Cincinnati for a perfect 8-0 record. They play Drake Tuesday and Dartmouth Friday.

St. Bonaventure, entered in the Garden tournament along with Ohio State and St. John's among the first 10 teams, boosted its record to 7-0 by knocking off Western Ontario. The Bonnies rank third with 231 points.

Indiana maintained its hold on fourth by knocking off Notre Dame and running its record to 5-1. Its next hurdle is the Los Angeles Classic.

Louisville, red hot with a 9-0 mark, tackles Brigham Young Tuesday and St. Louis Saturday, hoping to better its No. 5 position.

After defeating Georgia Tech and Florida, sixth-ranked Duke (7-0) moves into the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C. St. John's (6-0) the No. 7 club beat Pittsburgh and Gonzaga last week, and goes into the Holiday Festival.

St. Louis took over the No. 8 spot by beating San Jose St. and then sweeping past California and Kentucky in the U. of Kentucky tournament. The next opponents are Southern Methodist Tuesday and Louisville Saturday.

Auburn (5-0), idle last week and idle this week, remained in ninth place. North Carolina State (6-1) beat LaSalle and took over sole possession of 10th place, pending the results of the Dixie Classic.

★ ★ ★

The leaders with won-lost records and first place votes in parentheses with points on a 10-9 etc. basis (records through games of Saturday):

1. Ohio State (36) (6-0)	360
2. Bradley (8-0)	319
3. St. Bonaventure (7-0)	231
4. Indiana (5-1)	192
5. Louisville (9-0)	187
6. Duke (7-0)	172
7. St. John's (6-0)	161
8. St. Louis (7-1)	76
9. Auburn (6-0)	60
10. No. Carolina St. (6-1)	41

Others receiving votes included: North Carolina St. Kansas State 28, Detroit 26, Drake 16, Providence 12, UCLA and Vanderbilt 9 each, Wichita 7, Memphis State and Kentucky 6 each, California 3, Virginia Tech, Kansas, Utah and Iowa, 2 each and Wake Forest 1.

Ship's Stern Section Is Due in Port Today

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The stern section of the storm-shattered tanker Pine Ridge is due here today with the last of the 29 crew members who survived last week's break-up.

Chief Engineer John Richart of Wilmington, Del., remained aboard what's left of the 10,417-ton tanker to protect the salvage rights of the ship's owners, the Keystone Shipping Co. of Philadelphia.

Richart was accompanied on the long bobbing ride aboard the stern section by four members of the tug Curb which towed the hulk to port along with the tug Lambert Point. The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee accompanied the two tugs and their tow.

Seven members of the crew, including Capt. Clark Snyder, 44, of Havertown, Pa., are missing and presumed dead.

Dresses Are to Please Dates—Not Hide Them

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—James Davis watched a small foreign-make car pass him on the road, the young couple inside obviously enroute to a dance.

The man driving was in a tuxedo. The girl in a full-skirted evening gown sat in the back. Her wide skirt not only filled the entire back seat but flowed over to the front seat, "almost hiding her date," Davis said.

Reds to Help Ghana With Dam and Cash

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is going to help build a dam and 200,000-kilowatt power station on Ghana's Volta River, Pravda reported today.

★ ★ ★

A dispatch from the Soviet Communist party newspaper's correspondent in Accra said the Soviet aid would be extended under the cooperation and technical assistance agreement signed last summer. At that time, the Soviets agreed to lend President Kwame Nkrumah's government $40 million, but the Pravda dispatch did not indicate how much Soviet funds would be used on the Volta construction.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union also will build a 150-mile power transmission line in Ghana and has offered to make a geological survey of the west African nation, Pravda said.

★ ★ ★

The Volta River development is one of Nkrumah's major projects. The Pravda correspondent pointed out that its power production would be twice that of all present Ghanaian power stations combined.

Mother's Native Tongue Is Red—but of Course

BOSTON (UPI) — "What is mother's native tongue?" was one of the queries on a questionnaire submitted to first-graders at a Dorchester grammar school.

One boy's answer was: "Red."

City AMVETS Offer College Scholarships

High School seniors whose fathers are totally disabled as a result of military service in World War II or Korea, or who served in either conflict and are now deceased, are eligible for college scholarships from AMVETS funds, Charles Crocker, commander of Post 113 in Pontiac announced today.

Application forms are available from public high school principles or by writing Cmdr. Crocker, AMVETS Port 113, 570 Oakland Ave. in Pontiac. The deadline for candidates to submit applications to the AMVETS foundation in Washington, D.C., is Feb. 20, 1961.

Competitive college aptitude examinations will be given at the high schools in March, said Crocker. Winners will be selected on the basis of financial need, high school records and results of the exam.

Jaywalking Penalty Could Be Death

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland police find they usually get more protests from persons arrested for jaywalking than from any other kind of arrest.

★

Police Chief Frank Story has enforced vigorously the law against jaywalking since 1956, in an effort to cut down on accidents.

He said that of the 361 pedestrians struck by cars in the first four months of 1960, 205 were jaywalkers and that 14 of the 205 were killed.

The penalty for jaywalking is $3. The offense produces about $45,000 a year in city revenue.

Firms Seek Listings

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is a stampede by companies to gain listings on the major exchanges. The New York Stock Exchange thus far this year has added 52 new companies to its trading roster and the American Exchange is adding new companies at the rate of more than two a week.

Soybeans Counter Draggy Grain Mart

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures extended their higher price trend into the second week today but grains held barely steady in draggy early dealings on the board of trade. Soybeans were up major fractions in spots on initial transactions but the best gains failed to hold more than a few minutes.

* * *

On all of the five trading days last week old crop soybeans posted broad advances with most contracts at season highs.

* * *

Dealers said influences were negligible in the grain trade with commercial demand, both domestic and export, virtually at a standstill.

Market Stays Above Water

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market kept a numerical edge to the upside in active trading early this afternoon although losses by some pivotal issues depressed the averages.

* * *

For the list as a whole, small gains outnumbered losses. Some declines of blue chips went to a point or beyond, dragging at the market indicators.

Big three autos kept to the upside by a narrow margin while the "little two" eased back from early gains.

Gains among utilities, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, tobaccos and rails helped confirm the view of a slightly higher market despite losses by oils and airlines and a ragged steel section.

* * *

The averages were weakened by losses of around a point each by DuPont and Westinghouse Electric as well as a decline of about 2 points in Air Reduction. A financial loss by Texaco and some easiness in Jersey Standard also worked to that end.

Many traders hoped for the traditional Christmas-New Year's rally but the list was still laboring. A number of cash and "next day" delivery transactions were conducted so that profits taxable this year can be recorded.

The "regular way," four-day delivery method expired for 1960 purposes on Friday.

United Fruit fell more than a point following its rally of last week. American Telephone was active and a fraction. Public Service Electric and Gas rose about a point. Merck was more than a point higher. Certain-Teed encountered profit taking and fell more than a point.

* * *

The average was buttressed by fractional gains of such stocks as Kresge, Ford, United Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, General Electric and Baltimore and Ohio.

Parking Lot Fund Ruling Is Appealed

An appeal has been filed with the State Supreme Court on Circuit Judge William J. Beer's ruling that Pontiac can use general fund money to expand its public parking lots.

Dean G. Beier, attorney for the plaintiffs in the lawsuit, said the case may be heard in the April term.

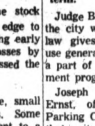
Judge Beer last month supported the city when he ruled that state law gives the city the right to use general fund monies to pay for a part of the parking lot development program.

Joseph Chircop and Donald Ernst, officials of the Pontiac Parking Co. and plaintiffs, argued that a city ordinance restricted this improvement to fees derived from operating it.

Beier said because City Attorney William A. Ewart admitted being "a little lax" in its accounting system, the appeal was being made. Beier said Judge Beer "ignored" this point in his ruling.

Business Notes

One of Michigan's best-known landscape architects, Hubert A. Lamley, 70, has announced his retirement effective Jan. 1.



LAMLEY

Lamley has been chief landscape architect for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority for more than 17 years.

He has been responsible for much of the actual site planning of its parks, including such recreational areas as Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford and Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair near Mount Clemens.

Both the park and beach are considered models of landscape design and planning by experts throughout the country.

The firm has plants in Birmingham, Highland Park and Germany.

Man Wounded During Party in Critical Condition

A Pontiac man who was shot during a party Christmas night was in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

The victim, Oscar E. McCloud, 59, of 147 South Boulevard W. was shot in the neck.

* * *

The hostess of the party, Mary S. Kennedy, 61, of 442 Harvey St. admitted shooting McCloud in her bedroom, police said.

She told officers McCloud was threatening to shoot everybody at her party just before she shot him. Police found a stolen 45-caliber automatic fully loaded, under McCloud's crumpled body.

He had been shot with a revolver Miss Kennedy said had been left with her by a friend.

Party guests said they didn't see a thing.

Miss Kennedy was booked for investigation of attempted murder. She was to make a statement today at the Prosecutor's Office.

Scientist, 14, Sends Balloon, Film Up Again

FLINT (AP) — Gary Jedynak, a 14-year-old scientist undaunted by failure on his first try, sent another balloon aloft today with photographic film suspended in a container to gather information on the effect of cosmic rays.

Gary thinks he'll get the information if his homemade balloon, which is six feet in diameter, reaches the 55,000 feet he is aiming at in altitude.

And to check his balloon, Gary is following it in an airplane, along with his 8-year-old brother Craig and a neighbor-pilot, John Stefula.

Gary plans to use what data his film picks up in the first phase of a project he is getting ready for the 1961 Flint science fair.

The balloon launched from Bishop Airport at 9:30 a.m., took off in a southeasterly direction, riding a northwest wind below 7,000 feet. It was expected to go straight east with winds above 7,000 feet.

Broken Neck Causes 'Accidental Death'

A Pontiac man was discovered dead in his bed of a broken neck yesterday afternoon.

The body of Samuel D. Tolbert, 58, of 26 W. Kennett Road, was found by his landlord, James Groves, who, summoned police.

Two other tenants, Forest Mullinax and Joe Gerlando, told officers they found the victim unconscious in the entranceway of the building Saturday night and put him in his bed.

Deputy Coroner Dr. Isaac Prevette listed the death as accidental.

State Weather Subzero Again

Likely to Go to 5 Below Tonight but Warmer on Thursday

By The Associated Press

Michigan's momentary Christmas weekend relief from bitter cold came to an abrupt end overnight.

Subzero cold hit parts of the state. What's more, the weather man forecasts still colder tonight and said shivery conditions would last at least to Thursday.

* * *

The state's low temperature was 11, below at Pellston at 7 a.m. today.

A range of 5 above zero to 5 below is predicted for all of Southern Michigan tonight, with a low of 10 below in the Upper Peninsula.

After a freezing rain and snow Monday, highways in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula were ice-coated and hazardous.

* * *

The State Highway Department reported major highways clear south of a line from Muskegon to Port Huron.

Overnight the Upper Peninsula got 2 more inches of snow. Road crews kept major roads clear, however.

Subzero temperatures included -7 at Alpena, -8 at Sault Ste. Marie, -4 at Kinross and -1 at Gladwin.

* * *

West Michigan was warm in comparison to other areas. Muskegon had 18 above and Grand Rapids 15. Both Lansing and Saginaw had 6. Detroit's low was 11.

Convict Blamed for $2,404 Theft From Ohio Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Correction Commissioner Maury C. Koblentz said today that investigation has definately put the blame for a $2,404 robbery from the Ohio Penitentiary office on convict Russell Freeland, 31, of Cleveland.

* * *

Freeland and other inmates — Warren Simones, 38, of Cleveland and James Thornton of Aglaize County, Ohio, and Hazel Park, Mich.—fled a snow shoveling detail Wednesday in a penitentiary station wagon.

Freeland was serving a sentence for armed robbery, Simones for house-breaking and Thornton for second-degree murder.

The station wagon was found Monday in Delaware, Ohio. FBI agents are assisting in the search.

Koblentz said Freeland had worked in the penitentiary business office and took advantage of the fact that only one civilian employe was on duty early in the morning to slip away with two envelopes containing the money.

Adams to Resign Justice Office

Oakland County's New Probate Judge to Quit at Board Meeting

Donald E. Adams said today he would submit his resignation as Waterford Township justice of the peace, a post he has held since 1937, at tonight's meeting of the board of trustees.

Adams, 48, made the announcement in a half-hour before he was sworn in as Oakland County's new and second probate judge by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, his brother.

Adams' resignation, which he said he would draft after the swearing in ceremony at the Courthouse, will mean that candidates for his justice position would have until the 4 p.m. Jan. 2 deadline to submit their nominating petitions to Clerk James E. Seeterlin.

Earlier, The Press had disclosed that Adams would not resign until after the deadline, thus leaving the appointment of his successor to the Democratic board.

* * *

Adams disclosed today that Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson suggested tonight's resignation so as to put the vacancy up to a public vote in April. The question of when to resign, Adams had said, was up to the board.

It was believed the township board favored naming Paul M. Mandel, township attorney, to Adams' justice position after his resignation.

Should the township board accept the resignation, voters in the spring biennial election would be filling the unexpired term of Adams. It terminates in 1963.

Voters will also cast ballots for the other township justice spot now held by Patrick K. Daly. It expires next year.

Says Congress Should Act

GOP Lawmakers Agree With Report on Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senior congressional Republican today agreed with a Kennedy adviser on the need to overhaul federal regulation agencies. But he said Congress, not the president, should do the revamping.

Rep. John B. Bennett of Michigan, ranking GOP member of the House Commerce Committee which deals with regulatory agencies, commented in an interview on a study made for President-Elect John F. Kennedy by former Harvard Law School Dean James M. Landis.

Kennedy hailed Landis' report issued Monday as "a most important and impressive analysis" which should be studied by "members of Congress as well as the agencies themselves."

* * *

Sen. John A. Carroll, D-Colo., chairman of a Senate subcommittee studying administrative practices, called for a drive against "powerful pressure groups" which he said have stymied agency reform. He said Kennedy will provide the leadership for change, and that the president-elect had invited him to confer on the Landis report.

WAS SEC CHAIRMAN

Landis has served as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board and on the Federal Trade Commission. These are among the seven major regulatory agencies he discussed in often biting terms.

The so-called independent agencies have been set up by Congress over the years to regulate and hand down judgments on major economic activities.

Landis pictured the agencies as ridden by outside pressures, as too cozy with those whom they are supposed to regulate, as snarled in delays and slipping in caliber of personnel.

* * *

He accused both President Eisenhower and Truman of a lack of concern for the agencies, of appointing commissioners for political reasons rather than ability to do the job, and failing to avoid outside influences themselves on international air cases which are sent to the White House by the CAB.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, declined comment. Nor was there any immediate comment from Truman.

Landis called for a series of reorganizations to be made by the new president under reorganization authority similar to that which he said Congress had granted to Eisenhower and Truman.

Bennett, however, said "whatever reforms are needed ought to be legislated by Congress. One of the most important things is keeping these agencies independent."

He said the delays in agency decisions could be removed by having individual commissioners write decisions, with proper staff help, and this in turn would do away with what he called much of the backstage efforts to influence decisions.

In the White House itself, Landis would do away with presidential assistants dealing with matters of concern to the regulatory agencies. Instead, he would have an office directly under the president to supervise the agencies.

RUMMAGING THROUGH RUINS — In the rubble of Vientiane, Laos, a mother, with her child strapped to her back, hunts for coal. The city has been a battleground in recent weeks as Communist Pathet Lao troops struggle for control of the capital with pro-Western forces.

Norfolk to House Mementos

Memorial for MacArthur Set

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has accepted an invitation from the city of Norfolk for the establishment of a memorial that will house his personal papers and war mementos.

* * *

The city hopes to have MacArthur on hand to dedicate the memorial within nine months to a year. It plans to spend nearly a half million dollars for the renovation of its 111-year-old courthouse, soon to be vacated. It also has tentative plans to landscape the courthouse block and rename it "MacArthur Square."

* * *

In agreeing to let the site of the world's largest navy base be the home for his personal memorabilia, MacArthur requested that he and his wife be buried here—presumably within the memorial, which will feature a rotunda dominated by a statue of MacArthur surrounded by his 126 battle flags.

The city's plans were presented to MacArthur in New York in November by Mayor W. Fred Duckworth and councilman Roy B. Martin, who cited the Army's most decorated general's "strong ties" with the port city.

* * *

"These ties included the fact that his mother was born, reared and married here, and that he had become our first honorary citizen, that such a memorial would easily become the city's No. 1 attraction, and that our centrally located courthouse soon would be available," Duckworth said.

* * *

MacArthur was presented the city's first certificate of honorary citizen when he came here Nov. 18, 1951, for the opening of a memorial to his mother, the late Mary Pinckney Hardy McArthur.

"As a Virginian myself, whose mother came from a long line of Virginians and whose mother and father were married in the present city of Norfolk," said MacArthur, "I accept as a great honor the invitation of the city to place my papers, decorations and other mementos of my military service in its perpetual care and keeping."

MacArthur's long-time friend, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney (ret.), has offered his services to the city in assisting with the project. Whitney is MacArthur's biographer and served as his chief of staff.

Earl Tells of Broadway Bests for Year 1960

TV News and Reviews

Holiday Massacre Show Sure Makes You Think

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The Great Holiday Massacre," last night's study of our not-so-merry motorage, emerged as a thought-provoking 60-minute animated safety poster.

* * *

Fifth in the current "CBS Reports" series, the program was filmed at eight separate highway hubs across the nation during the last Labor Day weekend, when 415 persons were killed going to and from their homes.

The program was shown last night in the hope that its impact would help cut down the number of accidents during future holiday periods, especially the next one on the calendar.

While it seems that all such one-shot, gimmick-filled safety appeals are doomed to failure, last night's highly professional effort nevertheless generated a compelling picture of a frightening and frustrating situation.

* * *

A squad of cameramen and reporters, under Fred Friendly's supervision, came up with every tangible and intangible angle to the safety story.

* * *

They threw in bits and pieces of wreckage, both human and vehicular, but rather than clobber our senses with one horrible scene after another — which I'm sure they could have done — they elected instead to mix their delivery.

They used on-the-spot films of accidents and near-accidents sparingly, usually to point up the need for overhauling our thinking about highway safety.

The traffic authorities who were interviewed spoke with feeling about such items as standardized traffic signals and laws, the efficiency of young and old drivers in slow cars and vice versa, horsepower, interior and exterior automobile design, psychiatry in the licensing procedure and federal inspection on the assembly lines. Each item on this list could make for a worthwhile, in-depth TV show on its own merits.

SAFETY ENIGMA

As the state troopers and highway commissioners spoke of their constant contact with ur blood-on-the-highway story, I felt again how woefully lax we tend to be when it comes to coping with the grimmer aspects of technology.

I thought, too, how new safety measures will stem from the tragic fire aboard the Navy's "Constellation" last week and how our tragic holiday massacres create no high-priority demands for new safety campaigns and regulations.

I hope the "CBS Reports" crew follows this program with others that deal in greater depth with the disturbing inconsistencies found in our approach to automotive transportation.

* * *

As last night's special ended, I didn't know whether to run out and install safety belts in the family drooshky or just add a "For Sale" sign to it.

* * *

Dialing and filing: Am I being a wet blanket if I report that "Babes in Toyland," Sunday night's "Shirley Temple Show" presentation, was a mess?

The effort to blend bits of comedic business with the turn-of-the-century simplicity of the story just didn't pan out.

Somehow, the athletic-looking celebrity keglers on "Jackpot Bowling" never seem to knock down as many pins as the ones who appear unfamiliar with the game. Obviously, the lesson here is . . . don't practice.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, now preparing next fall's international television festival, is offering for TV sponsorship a special program that will represent the best in worldwide TV shows. Representatives of the three major networks are helping to prepare the show.

* * *

Shirly Booth makes one of her rare TV appearances as the star of a comedy titled, "Welcome Home," to be presented by CBS-TV's "Steel Hour" next March or April. The play, written by N. Richard Nash, was first shown on TV in March 1954. Helen Hayes and Charles Ruggles were the stars.

Psycho Label May Dent Gangs

Doctor Urges Leaders of Youth Mobs Be Held Up as Crazy

NEW YORK (AP)—Treat leaders of violent teen-age gangs as "psychos" rather than as "hoods," a sociologist suggested today.

"That would take some of the glory out of gang activity," said Dr. Lewis Yablonsky of the University of Massachusetts.

"Society would thus brand gang action as 'sick' behavior rather than indirectly aggrandize it—as is often done."

"With gang behavior stigmatized as being in the boy's terms 'crazy or nutty,' many youths would not participate in the gang and its violence."

Dr. Yablonsky, speaking to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, said many people and even some specialists make a serious error in thinking of violent gangs as definite groups.

He holds they are not usually cohesive groups, and said most boys interviewed after "rumbles" or even fatal battles "had no real concept of belonging to any gang or group."

The gang is a near-group, he said, but if treated as an organized group, a group may actually form. One social worker tried to organize such youths into a baseball team, but they turned instead into a violent gang, he added.

* * *

Gangs which become violent are loose organizations, and the leaders "are often borderline psychotics with delusions of grandeur or persecution."

Trying to work with them is usually useless, but most gang followers can be helped by constructive activity projects, he said.

Accuse Chicago Firm of Deceptive Tire Ads

WASHINGTON (UP) —Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., Chicago, Friday was accused by the Federal Trade Commission of sponsoring deceptive advertising for its auto tires.

The FTC said that in newspaper advertising for tire "sales" Ward cited list prices substantially higher than its customary retail prices. The complaint said purchasers did not save the difference between these purported regular amounts and the advertised sales prices as represented.

Brokerage House Quite Optimistic

NEW YORK (UPI) — Goodbody & Co. repeats what it has been saying for some weeks: The stock market outlook for 1961 is encouraging.

The next few days, it says, are likely to involve pressure from last-minute tax selling, but the evidence still favors a further rally which may carry into the new year.

"For speculative flavor," according to Investors Research Co., "the motion picture group offers a representative list of wide capital gain candidates from which to choose when a buying juncture presents itself in the immediate months ahead."

Construction of an average home involves about 30,000 items.

Congress Devising Plan

Restore Ike to Rank?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders are working quietly on a plan to restore President Eisenhower to his five-star general rank soon after he leaves the White House on Jan. 20.

They conceded privately that some opposition may arise because, as a former president, he also will be eligible for a $25,000 annual pension and office expenses of up to $50,000. Restored rank would pay $20,548 a year.

A special act of Congress would be required to restore the rank because Eisenhower resigned his permanent five-star commission in 1952 when he was first nominated by the Republicans.

Sponsors of the move to restore the rank point out that there are precedents for drawing two government retirement awards. Some civilian government workers have qualified for retirement after becoming eligible for military retirement pay.

After World War II, Congress approved an act that retained all five-star generals and admirals on active pay and duty as long as they lived. They also may have two military aides and office space in the Pentagon or elsewhere if they wish.

European Tour Attraction

ARCH OF TRIUMPH — The grandeur of the Arc de Triomphe in Paris impresses countless sightseers every year. The landmark is a feature of the three-week Pontiac Press European Tour, May 19 - June 10, of the biggest cities and favorite tourist attractions in France, England, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

Paris in the Spring Is Beckoning to You

PARIS — "Queen City of the World" — puts on its loveliest face to greet visitors in the springtime.

And, it's in the springtime, that you now have the chance to visit this scintillating, beautiful world capital, whose fame rivals that of all others.

For it's Paris, with its many faces, that will climax the three-week Pontiac Press European Tour this Spring.

At a cost of only $985, you can be one of the tourists that Paris greets.

During the days you're there, you'll see such exciting landmarks as the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, the Louvre, the Tomb of Napoleon and Montmartre.

In the afternoons you'll shop at world-famous stores or wander along the banks of the Seine, through the Latin Quarter and the many beautiful boulevards.

After dinner you'll find the night still young, with many, many things you'll want to see and do.

Paris, however, is just one of the many wonderful adventures offered on the Press Tour. Picture yourself in Romeo, London, Venice!

No longer will the great cities of Europe be vague dots on paper maps. They will become real to you, places of treasured personal memories.

Five countries are included on your tour—England, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France.

Your 21 days in Europe will be days never to be forgotten.

The Pontiac Press tour will begin May 19 when a giant Pan American jet clipper leaves Detroit for London. You'll be home June 10.

A detailed itinerary of the tour will be provided upon request by The Pontiac Press. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Now's the time to make your reservation. To make sure you're aboard that exciting flight, fill out the application on page 12.

Boy Who Drank Lye Takes Turn for the Better

Two-year-old Edward Reno perked up today in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Doctors said the White Lake Township boy who swallowed lye six days before Christmas took a turn for the better over the Christmas weekend.

Edward had been in critical condition since last Monday. The lye caused extensive burns in his mouth, throat, esophagus and stomach. Doctors feared he might not live until Christmas.

"The boy may be out of danger now," a doctor said today in the first optimistic note about Edward's condition.

Belgian Police, Strikers Clash

Brussels Flare-Up Is Latest Occurrence in Socialist-Led Walkout

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Strikers clashed briefly with armed police in the streets here today in a new flareup of the socialist-led anti-government walkout that has crippled Belgium for a week.

Police dispersed a strike mob that was blocking traffic outside socialist headquarters after a brief scuffle that produced no reported casualties.

The strikers shouted "down with (Premier Gaston) Eyskens!" and other antigovernment slogans as the police cleared the street.

The government has called out regular troops and reservists in an effort to maintain essential services during the strike, which was called to protest the "austerity" program devised by the government to offset the nation's loss of revenues from the Congo.

The strike has crippled rail transportation, public utilities, mail deliveries and other essential services.

Weekend Traffic Claims Lives of 3 Area Persons

Waterford Man Dies in Tumble From Car Involved in Accident

Three Pontiac area persons died in traffic accidents, two in Oakland County, over the holiday weekend.

The victims were:

Horace F. Shaw, 42, of 1745 N. Telegraph Road, Waterford Township,

Howard Heckman, 60 of 4600 Forest Drive, Waterford Township,

John Berdy, 55.

John Berdy, 55, of 20835 Sunnydale Road, Farmington Township, was killed Friday evening when his car skidded on snow, crashed into a wall, then flipped into the Detroit River.

★ ★ ★

Shaw was fatally injured when he fell out of a car involved in an accident at 7:15 p.m. Saturday on Joslyn Road, Pontiac Township.

Last Year to Date: 85

He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital of a broken neck, skull fracture, internal injuries and shock.

Shaw was a passenger in a car driven by Elmer J. Smith, 30, of 3780 Bald Mountain Road, Pontiac Township, when it struck a stopped car on the side of the road, deputies said.

Smith fled the scene immediately following the accident, leaving Shaw dead or dying on the pavement, officers said.

Smith was arrested later at his home, where deputies said they found him hiding under his bed. Unhurt, he was to make a statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office later today.

★ ★ ★

Driver of the other car, William J. Radecki, 25, of 3565 Joslyn Road, said he was stopped to check his mail box for mail when the Smith car struck his and kept going. Radecki also was unhurt.

Heckman was killed instantly and his wife seriously injured in a two-car, head-on collision on M59 in Waterford Township Saturday evening.

Driver of the other car, Ronald Ramsey of 15 Haddrill Court, Waterford Township, told township police Heckman's oncoming car suddenly swerved across the centerline and struck his vehicle. Ramsey was unhurt.

Mrs. Heckman, 56, was reported to be in fair condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

State Dept. Also on Agenda

Kennedy Tackles Space Plans

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy and key advisers will delve further today into planning for expansion and strengthening of this country's space program in the race with the Soviet Union.

Scheduled for more discussion, too, are State Department operations abroad.

Kennedy arranged another round of talks with Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., slated to succeed Johnson as chairman of the Senate Space Committee when the new Congress convenes next month.

Also sitting in again will be Rep. John Rooney, D-N. Y., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles State Department funds.

Kennedy has announced that in the new administration Johnson will be chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Advisory Council.

The president-elect's discussions with Johnson, Kerr and Rooney began Monday afternoon.

Secretary of the Treasury-Designate Douglas Dillon, now serving in the Eisenhower administration as undersecretary of state, was on hand for the session.

The talks recessed while Kennedy, Johnson and Dillon got in a round of golf at the Palm Beach Country Club. The president-elect also played during the morning with his father, Joseph P. Kennedy; Oleg Cassini, New York fashion designer, and Igor Cassini, society columnist who writes under the name "Cholly Knickerbocker."

After dinner at the Kennedy family's seaside home, the president-elect, Johnson, Kerr and Rooney went back to discussion of the space program and State Department operations.

Kennedy headquarters said Johnson and Kerr might hold a news conference before leaving town this afternoon.

Kennedy also arranged to confer during the day with Averell Harriman, former governor of New York.

The space program talks, it was announced in advance, dealt with rival civilian and military roles—and how the program can best be coordinated in the contest with the Soviet Union.

Radio Executive Fred Knorr Dies of Scalding Burns

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Frederick August Knorr, 47, Michigan radio executive, businessman and part owner of the Detroit Tigers, died of burns Monday night.

Knorr had been in Broward General Hospital here since Dec. 9. He suffered burns when he fell into a tub of scalding water.

FREDERICK A. KNORR

Mrs. Knorr said her husband slipped, hit his head and knocked himself out while adjusting the water in a hotel bathtub.

The Bloomfield Hills man and his wife were in Florida on a business and pleasure trip.

The Knorr home is at 730 Vaughn Road.

Knorr had risen from a $27.50-a-week radio announcer to president of a group of stations. He also climbed from a high school and sandlot baseball player to part owner and former president of the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

★ ★ ★

Knorr, born in Detroit July 9, 1913, worked his way through Hillsdale College as a pianist. In 1937 he won an audition sponsored by station WJBK in Detroit and went to work as an announcer.

"They didn't call us disc jockeys in those days," Knorr once said, "but I guess that's what I was."

Eighteen months later Knorr went to WHLS in Port Huron, as a sports announcer and a year and a half later came back to Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Out of college less than 10 years and with less than $10,000 in personal savings, he filed application to start station WKMH. At the time of his death, his string of stations included, besides WKMH in Detroit; WKMF in Flint, WSAM in Saginaw, and WKHM in Jackson.

Knorr was responsible for the formation of the 11-man syndicate which bought the Tigers from the Briggs family in 1957 for $5.5 million.

He was appointed president of the ball club, but held the position less than a year.

★ ★ ★

He is survived by his wife; a son, Fred A. Knorr III, age 9; and two daughters, Nancylou, 17, and Mary Katherine, 10.

Yule Slaughter May Fall Below 510 Estimate

27 Die on State Roads in Dangerous Driving Weather

Traffic accidents over the long Christmas weekend took a heavy toll of lives, averaging six an hour, but it was below the preholiday estimate of 510.

The number killed in the three-day holiday period also may be the lowest for a comparable Christmas weekend in 11 years.

Safety experts were hopeful belated reports of traffic fatalities would hold the final count under last year's total of 493. That was the lowest toll for a three-day Christmas period since 1949 when the total was 413.

Twenty-seven persons were killed in automobile traffic on Michigan's dangerous Christmas weekend.

Safety authorities felt concern as a result for the similar three-day holiday weekend shortly to follow, the New Year's Day period.

★ ★ ★

Bad driving conditions from the weather were a contributing cause to the Christmas weekend deaths in Michigan.

Two women and a man were killed in Livingston County Monday in the smashup of their skidding car. Other deaths resulted from two-car collisions and when cars plunged off roads.

Deaths in traffic smashups both in Michigan and nationwide slackened Monday night despite increased traffic as millions of motorists jammed highways heading for home from Christmas visits. Rain and ice made driving hazardous in some areas and the death rate dropped slightly.

The count at midnight local time, at the end of the 78-hour holiday period which started at 6 p.m. Friday, showed 474 killed in nationwide motor vehicle accidents.

Fires also took a heavy toll, with 76 deaths reported compared to 43 for last year's Christmas weekend holiday. Various types of other accidents claimed the lives of 90 persons compared to 73 last Christmas for an over-all total of 530 violent deaths. Last Christmas the total was 609 accidental deaths.

★ ★ ★

The National Safety Council, which had estimated a possible death toll of 510, said traffic fatalities would number 350 on a normal nonholiday weekend at this time of year. It estimates 340 persons may be killed during the three-day New Year holiday weekend.

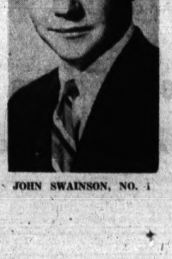
AP Poll Puts Sales Tax in Second Place

Swainson Win Voted Michigan's Top Story



JOHN SWAINSON, NO. 1

John B. Swainson, a legless war veteran with boyish appeal, ascended to the governor's chair and became the most newsworthy man in Michigan in 1960.

In a year when the words and deeds of politicians were recorded in never-before-equalled volume, the Michigan newspapers and the radio and television stations who are members of the Associated Press selected Swainson's election victory as the state's top story.

In the AP's annual year-end poll of state members, seven political events were rated among the 10 best stories of the year.

On a scale which they gave 10 points for the best story, nine to the second best and so on, the Associated Press members gave the Swainson story 218 points.

★ ★ ★

The second best story of 1960, they decided, was the voters' endorsement of a sales tax as a means of solving Michigan's cash crisis. It culled 201 points.

The decision of G. Mennen Williams to step down, making room for Swainson, after 12 years in the governor's chair was the third best story, with 194 points.

And pretty Nancy Ann Fleming, the girl from Montague who became Miss America, ranked fourth with 177 points—11 ahead of a man named John F. Kennedy, who swept Michigan on his way to the White House.

The political arguments over the proposed constitutional convention and its approval at the polls placed sixth with 82 points, and the designation of Robert S. McNamara, president of Ford Motor Co., as secretary of defense in the Kennedy administration was No. 7 (85).

France Fires Third A-Bomb

Sahara Test Spurs Nuclear Plan, Medical Treatment Advances

PARIS (AP)—France today set off her third nuclear test explosion in the Sahara with the double goal of advancing her atom bomb program and improving medical treatment against radioactive fallout.

The surprise blast was of "small strength," the French said claiming the radioactive fallout presented no danger to the nomad population around the Sahara test center of Reggane.

The French said many small animals—most of them mice or rats — were placed in the test area and now are being flown to Paris for study.

Some of the animals had been injected with substances that might furnish protection against radioactivity, officials said. Other animals had been put in a state of hibernation.

The Defense Ministry said the explosion test was a success. The announcement that it was of "small strength" indicated it was a step forward in cutting the first two devices—exploded last Feb. 13 and April 1—down to practical size for use in varied weapons.

The government gave no details of the device exploded, but presumably it was of plutonium as were the previous two. Device No. 2 was named "Red Serbon," after a small desert rodent.

A statement by French atomic scientist Pierre Billaud indicated the third device was something close to being a useable atomic bomb.

"Until now we have been making prototypes of a sort," he said.

Broken Neck Causes 'Accidental Death'

A Pontiac man was discovered dead in his bed of a broken neck yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

The body of Samuel D. Tolbert, 53, of 26 W. Kennett Road, was found by his landlord, James Groves, who summoned police.

Two other tenants, Forest Mullinax and Joe Garlardo, told officers they found the victim unconscious in the entranceway of the building Saturday night and put him in his bed.

Deputy Coroner Dr. Isaac Prevette listed the death as accidental.

Compacts Add to Sales That Reached 6.5 Million

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The auto industry fell short of its goals in 1960 but still wound up with its second best sales year. Uncertainty apparently lies ahead.

★ ★ ★

Final figures will show sales of about 6.5 million passenger cars, 6 million of them American made. But dealers go into the new year with their largest winter supplies of unsold cars in history, a fair sprinkling of them 1960 models. Total inventories are only a fraction shy of all time records.

While the hoped-for sales explosion never came, things popped on several other fronts in the industry.

Chrysler, Ford and Studebaker-Packard changed top officers, Chrysler in spectacular fashion.

Antimanagement forces sued Chrysler and most of its top officials, charging gross mismanagement. Chrysler, in turn, sued for libel.

Five new car names were introduced, all of them in the compact field. One old-line make, the De Soto, was discontinued after years of rumors as to its fate.

CHEVROLET AHEAD

Chevrolet ran away with the individual sales race after bowing to Ford in 1959. Imports dropped off for the first time since they made their original splash in the mid-fifties.

It was a year when "compact" and "economy" were the key words. Standard size cars slimmed down. Prices held steady to fractionally lower. Corporation profits generally were less than the year before.

Production in the 1960 model year totaled 6,011,287 passenger cars compared with 5,567,000 in 1959. Compact cars, three of which were first introduced with the 1960 model year, accounted for 28.2 per cent of all production. The year before less than 10 per cent were compacts.

The new ones at the start of 1960 were Falcon, Corvair and Valiant. They were joined in March by Comet. The 1961 model year brought Tempest, Lancer, Special and F85. Calendar year production of these eight plus Rambler and Lark, the previous smaller makes, totaled about 2.5 million.

The economy trend was further emphasized by the increasing choice of six cylinder engines instead of V8s (43.5 per cent of 1960 models compared with 28 per cent in 1959) and manual transmission (up from 24.2 per cent to 27 per cent).

Dodge, selling for the first time in the low price field, made the most spectacular improvement over its 1959 sales performance. Mercury was shifted from the medium to low price field with the 1961 models.

Of the new smaller entries Ford's Falcon was the most successful. It constantly challenged Rambler as the top compact seller.

BRASS JOBS CHANGE

In management Clarence Francis took over as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Studebaker-Packard. Ernest Breech resigned as board chairman of Ford in July. President Henry Ford II added the job until November when Robert McNamara became Ford president.

At Chrysler William C. Newberg was elected president late in April, then was fired two months later in a dispute over conflicts of interest. L. L. Colbert took the dual job of president and chairman of the board. Newberg agreed to repay $450,000 from his profits in two firms selling to Chrysler.

Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann culminated two years of demands upon Colbert and Chrysler board members to resign by filing suit against the corporation and its executives, asking that a trustee be named to run the business. He charged gross mismanagement.

Dann filed three separate suits. Chrysler did some suing, too. It charged Dann with libel and it sued Newberg's business partner, Ben Stone.

None of the suits appeared near the trial stage as the year ended.

Chrysler also investigated itself. The ponmanagement members of the board of directors ordered the firm's legal counsel to investigate members of management for possible conflicts of interest.

★

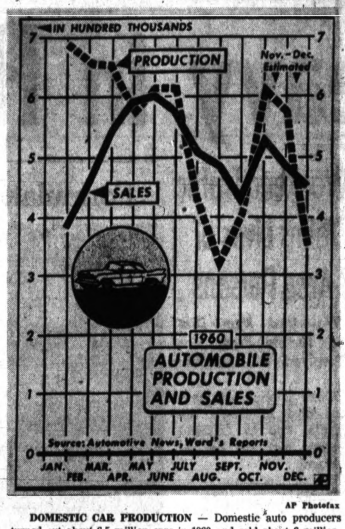
The result was a declaration that all the Chrysler top brass was innocent of any wrong doing.

Early in December Chrysler picked a new No. 2 man from within its own ranks, elevating Vice President Lynn A. Townsend to the post of administrative vice president. Townsend, 41, has headed Chrysler's international operations for the past two years.

At the divisional levels Byron Nichols succeeded M. C. Patterson, retired, as general manager to Dodge. Lee Iacocca succeeded James O. Wright, promoted, as general manager of Ford; and Harold G. Warner succeeded James Roche, promoted, as general manager of Cadillac.

★ ★ ★

Most sales estimates for 1961 range around 6.5 to 6.7 million with General Motors forecasting the possibility of seven million. The inventory of unsold new cars hit an all time record of 1,038,967 on July 1. The closing days of the year saw the figure climb close to the record.



AP Photofax

DOMESTIC CAR PRODUCTION — Domestic auto producers turned out about 6.5 million cars in 1960 and sold about 6 million. More than 25 per cent of all cars made were compacts. In the previous year less than 10 per cent were compacts. Although sales were good, the industry went into the winter with the largest winter inventory on record.

Ike's Son Gets New Assignment

John Eisenhower Will Be Stationed at Army War College

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. John Eisenhower will go to the Army War College in Pennsylvania after his father leaves the White House.

He has been serving as a military assistant at the White House since 1958.

The younger Eisenhower's name appeared today on a list of 162 officers selected to attend the class at Carlisle barracks, Pa., starting Aug. 17.

The Army said Col. Eisenhower will be given other duties prior to the beginning of the 10-month course at the institution which prepares selected officers for higher command and staff positions.

Shortly after President Eisenhower's first inauguration in 1953, his son was assigned to nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va. He had previously been on duty in Korea.

John Eisenhower and his family live in Gettysburg, Pa., close to the farm home where the President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to live in retirement. Gettysburg is about 30 miles from where John will be stationed.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Florida has almost doubled its number of housing facilities in the past decade since 1960. Florida's housing units have increased by 95.1 per cent.

The Day in Birmingham

Debate Cutting Out Jog and Widening Oakland

BIRMINGHAM — Two plans to eliminate the jog at Oakland and Woodward avenues, along with a proposal to widen Oakland will be taken under consideration by the City Commission tonight.

The removal of the jog at the southeast corner of Oakland would realign the street with Willits Street, simplifying the present traffic signal installation by making the streets more opposite one another.

However, City Manager L. R. Gare in his report to the commission, recommends that only the widening of Oakland be considered.

The widening is suggested by Gare because "there no doubt will be a large increase in traffic, particularly circulating traffic around the block in which the Demery Building is being constructed."

★ ★ ★

"It is difficult for me to justify the realignment of Oakland at the intersection with Woodward and Willits, particularly in view of the tremendous amount of money involved."

"Although a smoother flow of traffic might be accomplished, I believe that with the present jog we actually have more storage space for left-turn movements off Willits and Oakland than we could with a straight-through intersection."

The two plans for realigning Oakland with Willits would cost $85,000 to $90,000. This includes reconstruction of the pavement as well as acquisition of property.

★ ★ ★

Alternate widening plans would cost approximately the same as the realignment.

Sketches of the plans will be made available to commissioners tonight for study.

Mrs. Henry A. Snook

Service for Mrs. Henry A. (Carolyn) Snook, 84, of 210 Lowell, Bloomfield Hills, was to be held at 3 p.m. today at the William Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Entombment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Snook died yesterday of a possible heart attack at her residence. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Joe Newman of Bloomfield Hills; two grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Boys' Ranch Proud of Its First Graduate

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Bill Matus is like a proud father. One of his 20 "sons" is nearing a milestone in the eight-year history of Camp Oakland.

Paul J. Koerner next June will become the first to finish his high school training while at the Boys' Ranch of Camp Oakland. He'll go on to college.

"We've never had anybody get that far before," said the 38-year-old director of the Juvenile Court institution, dedicated to providing a home where parents have neglected to.

Koerner, born in Germany during World War II, is a glowing example of the fruits of the untiring efforts of Matus and Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

★ ★ ★

The stocky youngster's German mother married an American soldier and came to the United States in July 1955 with Paul. Immediately there began a dislike of the boy on the part of the mother, now reportedly separated and living in Florida.

The mother sought to divorce herself from having to care for the boy. She looked to the courts. Judge Moore saw the need of a real home for the youth and made him a ward of the court in 1956.

Koerner, 18, has made the grade. He'll graduate next year from Oxford High School with a background of achievements that would make many a boy with a normal upbringing envious.

ACTIVE YOUNGSTER

He's a good B-average student, on the school's football, basketball and baseball teams and a member of a French Club. He also sings in his Methodist Church choir, is a member of the mixed ensemble, has attended Interlochen, and has visited Europe with the Michigan Chorale.

Paul will go to Central Michigan University at Mount Pleasant next fall, He wants to become a teacher.

Paul said he'd like to help others now.

Matus, himself the father of two young boys, said funds will be raised by supporters of Camp Oakland to pay Paul's $1,500 tuition at the university. They'll seek to find him a part time job to help out.

★ ★ ★

Paul received a big start toward his college education when Fotis (Nick) Takis, owner of the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills, turned over to him $216 the employees of the restaurant gave their boss as a Christmas gift.

Takis is a big booster of Camp Oakland, having more than once provided dinners on the house for the children there.

Paul's Christmas brightened immediately.

The donation will be applied, Matus said, to the $640 contributed by the DeVlieg Association of Royal Oak, a group of men who initiated the scholarship fund idea for graduates of Camp Oakland.

FEEL LIKE PARENTS

"The scholarship fund will be available to those of our graduates who are interested in furthering their education, whether that be by attending a college or university or by attending a trade school," the director said.

"We feel we are the parents and this is a parent's obligation," Matus said. "And we told him that we are his parents and will have to live up to this promise."

Matus, a graduate of the Mount Pleasant college himself, envisions a growing numebr of boys at Boys' Ranch and girls at the newer Girls' Ranch finishing their high school education while quartered at the two homes near Oxford.

In the past, most of the boys, usually committed because of broken homes or delinquency records, found the schooling too difficult.

★ ★ ★

"We are just now reaching the point where we see our plans paying dividends," the director said.

Under the leadership of Walter Gehrke, Judge Moore and others, the farmhouse on the old Lafer farm, a mile south of Oxford, was purchased in 1953.

The men wanted a homelike atmosphere for underprivileged children and youths who became wards of Juvenile Court.

Matus has been director since it opened.

From county funds come over $150,000. Public subscription from individuals such as Gehrke, president of Camp Oakland, Inc., and area service clubs provide the balance.

★ ★ ★

There are 20 boys and 16 girls in the two separate homes on the snow swept hills off East Drahner Road.

Paul, a crewcut youth with a trace of shyness, conceals his real happiness with his life at Camp Oakland. But he'll tell you he's happy when asked.

Snowman Called Myth by Member of Expedition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A biologist member of Sir Edmund Hillary's recent Himalayan expedition says the Abominable Snowman is a myth.

"It's been a fascinating story and I hate to be the one to destroy it," Lawrence Swan of San Francisco State College said Tuesday. Swan was one of two biologists who accompanied Sir Edmund into the Himalayas in search of the Abominable Snowman or Yeti, as it is known to the Nepalese.

★ ★ ★

Sir Edmund recently returned with two scalps the natives said were taken from Yeti. Swan, a Himalayan fauna expert, says that the hair on the scalps is fake and that the Abominable Snowman never existed.

"It's time someone set the record straight," he said.

Reds Accuse France of Egging Arms Race

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official Soviet news agency Tass accused France today of "continuing the atomic arms race" in an unusually quick reaction to the successful French test of a nuclear device in the Sahara in Desert this morning.

The comment, in Tass' Russian language service, came less than five hours after the device was exploded by French scientists in Southern Algeria.

★ ★ ★

Tass said that "despite the resolution of the 15th session of the U.N. General Assembly on the discontinuance of test of nuclear and thermonuclear arms, France is advancing further on the path of the atomic arms race, which is one of the obstacles to reaching agreement on disarmament."

Cold Wave Moves In on Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blast of icy air from Canada spread into northern Midwest areas today, dropping temperatures to nearly 30 below zero in some places.

The frigid weather covered sections of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin and was expected to envelop most of the north central region. Lower temperatures were in prospect for most of the Eastern half of the nation.

The mercury dropped to 29 below in Fargo, N.D., as the cold air mass moved across the snow-covered midwest areas. Minn., on the Canadian border. Grand Forks, N.D., reported -20. It was -23 in Jamestown, N.D., and in International Falls,

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow is forecast Monday night from the central Plains through the mid-Mississippi valley to the Ohio valley. Generally it will be colder from the Plateau region to the Atlantic coast.

Holiday Traffic Death Toll Heavy

violent deaths for a 78-hour nonholiday weekend period earlier this month showed 293 traffic fatalities, 47 killed in fires and 113 killed in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 453.

The record traffic death toll for a three-day Christmas holiday is 609, set in 1955.

California led all states in total traffic fatalities this Christmas weekend with more than 40. Texas reported more than 30 and more than 20 were reported in Georgia, New York and Michigan.

One of the Michigan victims was a University of Detroit exchange student from India who was struck and fatally injured by a policeman's car in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The student Kanaiyalal Mehta, 30, of Bombay, was struck Monday night at an intersection near his apartment home after leaving a bus. He died early today. State police listed him among the weekend victims.

The driver of the car, patrolman Jerald Steward, 33, said Mehta walked around the rear of the bus and into his path and he could not avoid striking him. Mehta leaves his widow and a child in Bombay.

The Michigan traffic deaths outside of Oakland County included:

DISPLAYS REBELS' BODIES — The bodies of two leaders of the abortive Dec. 14 coup against Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia hang from scaffolding in Addis Ababa's Menelik Square Christmas Day where they are viewed by a crowd of Ethiopians. The two were killed Christmas Eve by the emperor's loyal troops. At left is the body of Capt. Daye Kassema of the Imperial body guard. The body of Girmame Neway, governor of Jigjiga Province and reputedly one of the brains of the Imperial guard uprising is at the right. Neway's brother, another leader of the Imperial guard uprising, was wounded and captured when Girmame was killed. Selassie indicated Monday that five persons arrested as leaders of the brief revolt against him will be executed following trial.

340 Due to Die on Next Holiday

14,000 May Be Hurt From Car Accidents; Last Year 374 Died

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council says 340 persons may die on the nation's highways during the New Year's holiday weekend.

★ ★ ★

The estimated death toll would compare with 374 killed during a similar three-day weekend a year ago, which was a record for a three-day yearend period.

Council President Howard Pyle said speeding and 'drinking are the main factors in New Year's traffic fatalities. He said more than half the fatal mishaps occur during the first 30 hours of the weekend.

The council also estimated 14,000 persons would suffer disabling injuries from traffic accidents during the 78-hour period which begins 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

★ ★ ★

The toll for a comparable non-holiday period, the council estimated, would be 310 deaths and 15,000 disabling injuries.

Statistics Prove Every Vote Counts

Monday morning quarterbacks are mulling over the final statistics on the presidential vote.

★ ★ ★

Were you to shift only 11,000 votes in four states, Richard Nixon would be President of the United States.

It's that close.

★ ★ ★

If a very, very tiny percentage of the entire voting population had shifted from KENNEDY to NIXON, the Californian would have been elected. These are just "if's" and "but's" and they carry no significance in the final results. They simply indicate how this nation was split right down the middle and the victory came about through an almost imperceptible margin.

★ ★ ★

There are several lessons that can be derived from these statistics. The main one applies to the millions of voters: Your vote counts.

The stay-at-homes who have no moral sense of public duty can take these figures to their selfish bosoms. Every vote counts.

Ancient History Stirred by Boundary Division

The boundary between Colorado, a state since 1876, and New Mexico, admitted in 1912, has been officially established after 92 years of ups and downs.

The agreed border was to be a straight line along the 37th parallel of latitude but it runs along 335 miles of rugged terrain. Surveyors could never quite agree on where the line was.

★ ★ ★

A 1902-03 survey varied up to a mile in favor of New Mexico from the original 1868 line. That state promptly sought to establish the new survey but the suit didn't reach the Supreme Court until 1924, when the justices upheld the 1868 version. However, a resurvey was ordered.

★ ★ ★

Matters dragged on. By 1957 a report had it that the survey was nearly completed. But it wasn't until late 1960 that the courts after keeping the suit under advisement for 36 years, finally closed what must have been the oldest case on its records.

Nothing like a clean slate for the New Year!

Khrushchev Hopes for Better Relations

Those pious, sweet-talking Russians hope that when JOHN F. KENNEDY becomes President their relations with the United States will improve.

Well, we don't.

★ ★ ★

There's only one way you can improve your relations with the lying, two-faced Russians and that's to kowtow to them and bow humbly before their "right and might." If you want to get along with this gang of international murderers, you have to fold in front of them and accept their wish as law. Dwight D. Eisenhower refused.

So did Richard Nixon.

And so did Henry Cabot Lodge.

★ ★ ★

This newspaper—and every thinking American that isn't a pink, a red or a left wing Socialist—hopes that JOHN F. KENNEDY, LYNDON JOHNSON and ADLAI STEVENSON exercise the same courage and the same independence. We must preserve the sanctity of this nation. And that won't suit KHRUSHCHEV. He wants obedience, appeasement and obeisance.

★ ★ ★

We bank on Kennedy and Johnson to continue right along the lines laid down by the current President and Vice President. We don't have much faith in Adlai Stevenson as compared to Lodge. But we feel that the policies Stevenson will enunciate must be formulated in the White House.

★ ★ ★

We refuse to believe STEVENSON will be allowed to "step out on his own." STEVENSON goes along with the namby-pamby ideas of ELEANOR ROOSEVELT and others of similar taste. It was she who entertained the boss Russian when he was in the dog house. The aging ELEANOR still tries to inflict her personal policies on this nation.

★ ★ ★

Stevenson represents the tag-end, left wing element of the Democratic Party and this group had to be appeased. But the Russians need not look to Washington for a weakening in our national policies. We think John Kennedy is just as opposed to the brutality of Russian slaughter as the rest of us.

He's an American.

He won't knuckle down.

So, the Reds can slink back into the Kremlin and stew in their own juice — and what an unpalatable mess their own juice is.

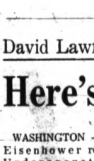
Somebody Ask What's Cooking?

David Lawrence Says:

Here's Why Dillon Accepted Post

WASHINGTON — Did President Eisenhower really advise the Undersecretary of State, C. Douglas Dillon, not to accept the president-elect's proffer of the secretaryship of the Treasury in the new cabinet? What was meant when Kennedy was reported to have said in a press conference that he understood Eisenhower had urged Dillon to accept the post?



The conflict is more apparent than real.

LAWRENCE

It is important to clarify what did happen not only for the benefit of those in this country who are directly affected by Treasury policies but for the guidance of foreign governments, particularly since the gold problem will continue to be of paramount importance in the next several months.

This correspondent has ascertained the following:

1. President Eisenhower gave friendly counsel to Dillon and urged him to make sure that he had a clear understanding as to the making of future policies in the Treasury. He pointed out some of the difficulties but carefully refrained from making any request that Dillon should decline the post.

2. If the President had made the specific request, Dillon would not have accepted the post in the new administration. He, therefore, was free to make his own decision and did not feel it was necessary or proper to transmit to Kennedy what had been discussed at the White House.

3. The President sees no objection to anybody taking a post in the government at any time if he feels the national interest can be served thereby, but he does express to his friends the caution that so often is necessary when there is important policy to be made. For it is obvious that all sorts of conflicting influences are bound to arise in shaping such a policy, and a cabinet officer is better off if he has assurances in advance that he will be supported by the president.

★ ★ ★

4. Dillon has read the Democratic national platform and knows that there are various persons prominent in Kennedy circles who will be pressing for bigger and bigger federal expenditures, but the new secretary's task will be to set forth what seem to him to be sound fiscal policies, whether or not they conform to the platform of either national political party. Every cabinet officer often finds outside advisers, in Congress and elsewhere, trying to tell a president what should be done in a particular department, and if Kennedy has to tell them that he can't do what they want because his secretary of the Treasury objects, it isn't going to disturb Dillon to be the scapegoat for such turndowns.

5. Dillon is convinced that he and the president-elect are in basic agreement on Treasury policy. This was revealed officially in Kennedy's press conference a few days ago at Palm Beach.

6. Published reports that Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson didn't want Dillon to accept the post are entirely in error, because Anderson actually urged him to do so.

7. The gold policy of the United States under the new administration will in the main be exactly what was set forth recently in the Anderson-Dillon mission to Bonn, Paris and London. There may be, as is natural, variations due to circumstances, that arise in the complex matter of international exchange, but any report that Dillon doesn't see eye to eye with Anderson is erroneous.

POLITICS INVOLVED

To a large extent the selection of Dillon to be secretary of the Treasury is understandably political. Kennedy knows that the principal attacks by the Republicans during the campaign and the fears expressed since have been concerned with possible unsoundness in fiscal policy.

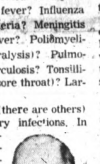
Dr. William Brady Says:

Respiratory Infections Come Through Nose, Mouth

How does one catch smallpox? Measles? Scarlet fever? Influenza (grip, flu)? Diphteria? Meningitis (cerebrospinal fever? Poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis)? Pulmonary (lung) tuberculosis? Tonsilitis? Pharyngitis (sore throat)? Laryngitis?

These diseases (there are others) are all respiratory infections. In all of these diseases, the entrance of the infective agent (germ or virus) into the body is usually via the nose and mouth.



DR. BRADY

This does not mean that you catch the disease by breathing air in which the germ or virus is afloat. Probably most of us breathe in some germs of the respiratory infections every day, with impunity, for two reasons: First the natural mucus covering the lining of nose, throat, larynx, bronchial tubes and lungs entraps such germs and the wandering phagocytes in the mucus destroy them. Second, disease germs are extremely delicate organisms; and they cannot survive exposure to room temperature, sunlight or a very dry environment.

If they are to live, grow, multiply and produce disease they require food, warmth, darkness, and moisture. So that germs floating in the air for only moments are killed or made practically harmless by dryness, cold, light. Were this not true we'd all perish.

The mucus covering healthy mucous membranes, keeps the linings soft, lubricates and protects the mocous membranes much better than can any gargle or spray. The morbid habit of using antiseptic gargles or sprays to "prevent" respiratory infection more likely favors such infection by washing away for a while the natural protective mucus.

The germs you inhale in the air are comparatively harmless, whereas the germs coughed, sneezed or sprayed on you in ordinary conversation are still warm, moist and unaffected by light — a vigorous working sample of whatever the distributor has.

Some of the respiratory infections you catch in the spray of cough, sneeze or conversation are specific, that is, the virus of smallpox or the virus of measles, spread in this way, causes only smallpox or measles. But the germ of scarlet fever or the germ of pneumonia, spread in mouth or nose spray, may cause septic sore throat or bronchitis respectively.

The pneumococcus is especially unpredictable in this respect. As it is transferred from person to person in cough, sneeze or conversation spray it may cause such things as quinsy or pneumonia.

Cataract in one eye only. Other eye normal. Three oculists said as long as the normal eye has good vision, removal of cataract from the other eye would not give much satisfaction. (C.L.)

Ans. — In his place, I imagine I'd be content with monocular vision, although removal of cataract from the other eye would be perfectly painless and as safe as driving in heavy traffic.

Youth Assistance Group Appreciates Publicity

I want to express my thanks and appreciation to you and your staff for the valuable publicity the Youth Assistance Program has received through your efforts during the past year.

★ ★ ★

The fight against the rising tide of juvenile deliquencies throughout the nation cannot be met by any one agency, public or private, nor any one specialty dealing with the problem.

★ ★ ★

During the past year we have been fortunate to have had the cooperation of many citizens and organizations which have contributed to our total program. The interest and dissemination of information regarding the prevention, treatment and control of juvenile delinquency as related by The Press has helped unite our community resources in combating this problem.

Tells of Troubles at Whitfield School

Dr. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, says that he was first informed of problems at the Daniel Whitfield School in June 1960. He seems to have a short memory. Beginning five years ago, four mothers representing a larger group of parents, had a meeting in his office to register complaints on many of the policies of Whitfield School. Since then, other parents have done the same thing.

A group of interested parents hired a lawyer and had some of these policies changed. Our children are now allowed to remain indoors in inclement weather while waiting for the bus. The youngsters are allowed to bring a small rubber ball to play with during recess periods.

This fall, a cot was brought out so a sick child might lie down. Only now, after this expense and trouble, may a child read a book during his lunch period if weather and a note from his parents keeps him indoors. Before, he was not allowed even one sheet of paper and pencil to keep himself occupied.

Dr. Whitmer told us that a fire inspection was supposed to have been made of the school and that cabinets were removed from one doorway which has been blocked for at least five years. But many of us noted the blocked doorway of the gym exit during the Christmas program last year.

Just what lengths must a parent go to get civilized treatment for children. We tried to ask the board of education this on Dec. 8, but their "democratic" procedure doesn't permit one to ask questions that might embarrass them before the press at an "open" board meeting.

'Stevenson Thinks Before Speaking'

Letter writer "R.C.N." expresses disappointment in Kennedy's selection of Stevenson. He says further that on TV and radio interviews Stevenson "has never given a straight or direct answer." He has some unkind words for other Democrats.

In this complex world an intelligent man likes to give the question careful consideration so that his reply is both sound and wise. Only a moron "shoots his mouth off."

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 27, the 362nd day of the year with four more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1822, Louis Pasteur, French biological chemist and bacteriologist was born.

In 1900, Carrie Nation staged her first big raid against alcoholic beverages in Wichita, Kan.

In 1932, New York City's Radio City musical hall opened — the largest indoor theater in the world.

In 1941, Japanese airplanes bombed Manila in the Philippines.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Home Tutoring Method Works Well

Tommy is at the educational crossroads. His problem occurs in millions of good homes. If his mother adopts the sugar-coated method of home tutoring outlined below, Tommy will make higher grades and develop a fondness for school, which will lead him onward to college. Otherwise, he may become a quick drop-out and an early delinquent.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G-462: Tommy T., aged 11, is at the crossroads.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Tommy hates school. For he makes such poor grades in English and reading, that some of his classmates even refer to him as 'dummy'.

DR. CRANE

He now wants to quit school. And he feigns illness to avoid having to leave in the morning.

USE FLASH CARDS

Within a few weeks, you parents can often raise your child's standing to at least the average of the class, just by use of "flash cards."

Go to the stationery shop and purchase several large sheets of white cardboard.

Now cut these into strips about 2 inches wide and 10 or 12 inches long.

Get a printing set. Then go into a huddle with your child and let him point out the words in his current reading book which he doesn't know.

Encourage him to print each one of these strange words on a strip of the white cardboard.

Then you mothers can hold up two cards, explaining what each means and showing the differences in the general contour of the words.

For example, point out the difference in length. If a word such as "door" is involved, liken the "o" letters to eyes, etc.

Next, shuffle the two cards, after which you can hold up one at a time for your child to see. If he can identify the word, hand him the flash card. If not, stack it on your own pile. The larger stack wins!

By thus letting the child select the unknown words and print them, you give him double experience with those strange terms, even before you hold aloft the individual flash cards.

It is surprising how fast a child can learn the new words when his interest is captured by this sugar-coated game.

As a variation, let his daddy compete with him. But tactfully see that daddy "pulls his punches," for a child must win about 3 times out of 4, or his enthusiasm wanes.

★ ★ ★

Let daddy fumble a little to give your child a head start on calling out the new word.

With verbs, you can also have your youngster "act out" their meaning instead of naming them. Thus, he can "jump" when that flash card is shown, or "walk," "sing," "sleep," etc.

MATH CARDS

On the backs of the word cards, you can also print the multiplication tables.

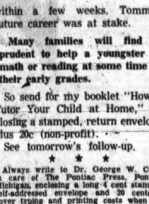
For instance, print "3x1" on the first card; then "3x2" on the next, etc.

A child can become so fast at multiplication within a week that he can often zoom from bottom to top position in his schoolroom. Try it and see what 15 minutes of sugar-coated home tutoring will do.

But don't overdo your drill. Stop with 15 minutes. And even in that period of time, shift to variations of the game, alloting maybe 5 minutes to each.

★ ★

You parents can change your child's entire outlook on school



within a few weeks. Tommy's future career was at stake.

Many families will find it prudent to help a youngster in math or reading at some time in their early grades.

So send for my booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit).

See tomorrow's follow-up.

Conservative, Radical Rap Algerian Policies as Rioting Continues

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's plan for ending the bloody Algerian war was attacked by two leading politicians Monday night as Moslem rioting continued in Oran, Algeria's second largest city.

Conservative leader Roger Duchet and Radical Felix Gaillard, a Fourth Republic premier, used the state radio and television network to condemn De Gaulle's self-determination plan.

★ ★ ★

Both said the voters should be guided by their consciences in the Jan. 8 referendum, which will approve or reject De Gaulle's proposal for speedy self-government in Algeria, with the Moslem majority taking a much bigger part, and a referendum in the North African territory after peace is restored to decide on Algerian independence.

★ ★ ★

Gaillard said De Gaulle's plan has been "emptied of all sense" by the recent bloody clashes in Algiers and Oran. Duchet said De Gaulle was installed in the presidency to save Algeria and maintain French control over the territory.

Moslems, European settlers and police clashed intermittently in Oran. Officials said one Frenchman was killed, five French and two Moslems were wounded.

★ ★ ★

Threatening groups of Moslems formed in several sections of Oran at midnight, despite a military curfew.

In the Victor Hugo quarter, hundreds of demonstrators, including youths and girls, hurled bottles and stones at riot police.

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — In case you've been wondering about Sgt. Ernie Bilko since his joint discharge from the Army and television, he can be found at the St. James Theater in a musical comedy called "Do Re Mi" under the civilian alias Phil Silvers.

The comedian is not quite as brash and assured as when he was playing Bilko, but the old inclination to scheme up a way to stalk the quick buck is as strong as ever. And as funny.

The new musical, which opened Monday night, is strictly for laughs and a welcome arrival, especially since it has the very funny Nancy Walker as co-star.

The libretto is something less than memorable, but it does provide these two stars and some comical sidekicks with situations and material that their skills can and do turn into scenes that should keep any audience in a laughing condition.

39 Die on Highways in Canada Over Yule

TORONTO (AP)—Highway accidents caused 39 deaths in Canada over Christmas weekend, a Canadian Press survey showed today. The total, from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, was 13 less than the 52 predicted by the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

Ontario and Quebec reported 13 traffic deaths each.

Nineteen other persons died in Canada from fires and other accidental causes.

Irons to Swear In Deputies at 4 P.M. Saturday

Oakland County sheriff's deputies will be sworn in at 4 p.m. Saturday in offices at the county jail, Sheriff Frank Irons announced today.

★ ★ ★

He said he was breaking the tradition of swearing in the men at midnight to prevent any recurrence of a problem two years ago. Inclement weather prevented many of the deputies and their guests from leaving afterward.

They spent the night at the jail.

★ ★ ★

Also, there will be no party in connection with the ceremony this year, said Irons.

Deputies have to be sworn in every two years to retain their legal authority.

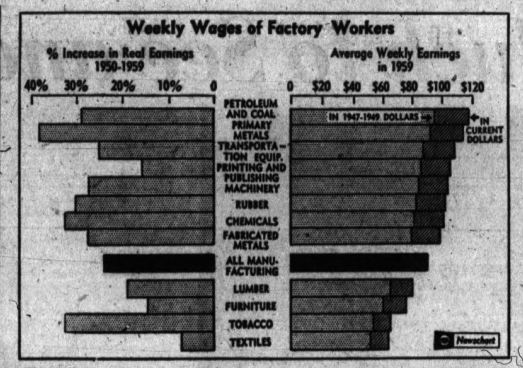
To Arraign Policeman in Ex-Singer's Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A policeman faced arraignment today on a charge of killing his girl friend, Gloria Mudell, 33, a former singer with Fred Waring.

★ ★ ★

Her body was found in her Queens home Wednesday. An autopsy showed the probable cause of death as a blood clot on the brain.

Emanuel (Pete) Sunderland, 37, a member of the Mount Vernon, N. Y., police department for 12 years, was arrested Monday and booked on a charge of homicide.



TEN-YEAR TREND — Average weekly earnings of the nation's factory workers rose 51 per cent between 1950 and 1959. In terms of 1947-49 dollars, used as a base of 100, this increase amounted to 24 per cent. In 1959, the average factory worker's weekly earnings came to $88.47 in current dollars. Expressed in 1947-49 purchasing power, it was $71.81. Petroleum and coal factory workers had the highest earnings last year—$117.38 in current dollars. Nixon Prepares to Run Again in 1964

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is getting set to practice politics, as well as law, when he goes back to California after his term ends Jan. 20.

★ ★ ★

Nixon, defeated for the presidency by a whisker, wants another shot at the prize in 1964. In the intervening time he is going to do everything possible to convince the Republican party it ought to give him another chance.

★ ★ ★

This will involve the maintenance of close contacts with Republican leaders in all sections of the nation. It will include speeches, public appearances and statements on national issues in his role as titular head of the party.

TO STUMP FOR HOPEFULS

Beyond that, Nixon proposes to campaign vigorously for Republican candidates for the Senate and House in 1962. He figures if he can help Republicans win two years from now, he will broaden the base of his strength in bidding for a second nomination in 1964.

Because of the strong showing the vice president made in losing the election to Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy by a popular vote margin of only about 112,000 ballots, Nixon believes he has a reservoir of built-in support among GOP Senate and House members elected this year.

★ ★ ★

Nixon's associates say the vice president carried 226 congressional districts to Kennedy's 206, with independent electors winning 3 in Mississippi.

As of now, Nixon prefers campaigning for a Republican Congress to getting into the race for governor in California. He has not closed the door on that possibility.

Several factors are involved on both sides of this unsettled question. If he runs for governor, all of his campaigning will have to be in California and he will lose contacts with Republicans in other areas.

If he should run and be defeated, either in the primary or the general election, his political career would be over.

If he ran, Democrats would be certain to say he was seeking the governorship as a stepping stone to another presidential race. He would be questioned repeatedly if he intended to serve out a four-year term.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, there are some who believe Nixon could become the forgotten man by 1964 if Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is re-elected in New York in 1962.

These strategists argue that Nixon will need a position rivaling Rockefeller's and could get it only by going after and winning the California governorship back from the Democrats.

Baby of Quint to Be Named for Dead Sister

MONTREAL (UPI) — The first baby girl born to one of the Dionne quints will be named after the fifth quintuplet, who died six years ago.

★ ★ ★

Florian Houle, the husband of the former Marie Dionne of the famed quintuplets born in Calendar, Ont., in 1934, said the baby, born Christmas Eve, would be named Emilie.

"We had the name picked out all along and now there will be a girl to carry on Emilie's name," Houle said Monday.

The new mother, who twice entered the convent to become a nun, married Houle, a sales tax inspector, in August 1958. The baby girl is their first child.

Two of the three other quints, Cecile" and Annette, are mothers to boys. Yvonne, a gradute nurse, is unmarried.

Father Asks Mr. K to OK Visit to Airman Olmstead

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—The father of Air Force Capt. F. Bruce Olmstead says he has asked Soviet Premier Khrushchev for permission to visit the imprisoned airman in Moscow.

J. Blaine Olmstead said Monday night that a Soviet Embassy official told him Friday that no word had been received on his request.

Capt. Olmstead and Capt. John R. McKone of Topeka, Kan., have been held by the Soviets since their RB47 jet bomber was shot down over the Barents Sea July 1.

BIRMINGHAM — Among the many New Year celebrations will be a supper party Saturday, in the home of Mrs. Ralph Pole at "Highgate," her residence on Lone Pine Road. She and Mrs. Robert Mantell will be joint hostesses to a group of good friends who always spend New Year's Eve together.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Albert L. Legro of Birmingham, grandmother of debutante "Kitty" Scripps (more formally Catherine Renee) gave a dance Thursday evening for "Kitty" at the Country Club, Grosse Pointe.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan D. Douglas Jr. entertained Christmas Eve guests by families. Their good friends brought their children to the Douglas' open house Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Adams entertained at their annual Christmas Eve party. Mothers of both Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Leonard Miller and Mrs. Henry C. Adams came from Ann Arbor, the Kenneth O'Rourks from Saginaw.

Their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Goads brought their two children as did the Thomas H. Adams Jr. who came from St. Joseph.

★ ★ ★

Many open houses preceded Christmas. Among hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Ari M. Begole, Mr. and Mrs. Max Fruhauf and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Marsh.

Kahrnoff-Barnett Vows Exchanged

Dr. Richard C. Hertz of Temple Beth El, Detroit, officiated at the four o'clock double-ring ceremony.

★ ★ ★

For her wedding, the former Patricia Ann Barnett chose a gown of candlelight ivory peau de soie styled with chapel train. Her fingertip veil was secured by a tiara of seed pearls. She held a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Cathy Barnett attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing emerald green silk chiffon and matching green gloves. Her flowers were cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom, son of the Ben Kahrnoffs of Oak Park, had his brother-in-law Robert Keil of Detroit for his best man.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Kahrnoff chose a black knit suit with matching accessories.

She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnett, formerly of Pontiac.

Mrs. Barnett appeared in a sand gray afternoon dress with artichoke skirt designed by Patricia Ann Barnett exchanged vows with David M. Kahrnoff, son of the Ben Kahrnoffs of Oak Park, Monday in the home of her parents the Maurice Barnetts of Huntington Woods.

Maxwell Shief of California. The mother of the bridegroom chose an afternoon dress of light purple silk brocade.

The bride is a graduate of Stephens College and her husband holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan. His fraternity is Alpha Epsilon Pi. They will make their home in Detroit.

Kitchen Glamor

Holiday hostesses can shine with fashion even in the kitchen — thanks to glittering, feminine aprons that add a dash of style while protecting those pretty hostess gowns and party dresses.

★ ★ ★

Fancy holiday aprons are not extravagant — almost all are washable, so suds will keep them sparkling for party after party.

Susan Polhemus Is Bride

Newlyweds in Florida

Breakfast at Oakland Hills Country Club followed the Monday nuptials of Susan Polhemus to Robert L. Helm of Rockford., Ill. in the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham. Dr. Glenn Harris officiated at the morning ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Von D. Polhemus of North Lake Angelus

MRS. ROBERT L. HELM

Road, formerly of Franklin, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Helm of Rockford, Ill.

Wearing heavy white silk brocade styled with full skirt and chapel train, the bride carried Amazon lilies and ivy. The molded bodice featured a high shallow V-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves.

Fingertip veiling of French silk illusion was attached to a shallow tiara of crystals.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Stephen Copps of Madison, Wis., was her sister's matron of honor, with George Dennis of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Paula Struck of Birmingham, serving as bridesmaids. Cascade bouquets of holly and white rosebuds complemented their princess-line frocks of red velvet with bell skirts banded in satin.

★ ★ ★

Katherine Kopps of Madison, niece of the bride, carried a basket of rose petals. Her princess-styled red velvet dress had lace trim.

All attendants wore headbands of white miniature rosebuds and holly.

On the esquire side were best man Richard Christopherson of Wauwatosa, with Leif Gunderson of LaCrosse, Wis., Richard Van Verst of River Forest, Ill., Bruce Helm and William Howard, brother and cousin of the bridegroom, seating the guests.

★ ★ ★

After a honeymoon at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the couple will live in Madison, Wis., while completing their senior studies at the University of Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

Out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Warren C. Polhemus with Jay and Jan of Anderson, Ind., Dr. Stephen Copps with Katherine and Christopher of Madison, Wis., the Curtis Shooks and daughters Carol and Marilyn of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. William Howard with William, Jane and Charles of Rockford, Ill.; the Charles Johnstons of Freeport, Ill. and the Starr Johnstons of Joliet, Ill.

Star Has Hobby

Actress Joan Crawford collects unusual fabrics as a hobby, then has them made up in California.

At a recent party, Joan dazzled guests by wearing a diamond and turquoise necklace to enhance a turquoise and gold brocade gown which turned out to be a drip-dry cotton mixture!

Poor Taste Not to Let Him Cut In

By The Emily Post Institute

Question: The other evening while at a dance, a young man tried to cut in on me and my date, but he refused to let him do so. I was very embarrassed and thought my boy friend showed very bad manners. He said that he had a perfect right to refuse. Will you please give us your opinion

Answer: Unless you said to your date that you did not want to dance with the young man cutting in, because he was a stranger, obviously intoxicated or otherwise objectionable, your boy friend did show very bad manners. He was rude not only to the young man, but to you in not leaving the decision entirely up to you.

Question: My son is marrying a girl from another city. The wedding will be a small one with just the immediate families attending. The parents of the bride-to-be live in a small friendly community and will not be sending out announcements.

Could I possibly ask the bride's parents for permission to have announcements engraved in their names, which I would pay for, and mail them to our friends from their post office on the day of the wedding? I shall be most grateful for your advice.

Answer: My suggestion is to have your son find out through his fiancee if her parents would be willing to have you prepare and mail the announcements. If not, you will have to rely on letters to your friends and word of mouth to spread the news of the marriage.

Question: When a man and woman are leaving their seats in a theater, does it seem rude if the man goes out of the row ahead of the woman if he happens to be sitting nearer the aisle, or is he supposed to stand and let her pass in front of him so that she may go out first?

Answer: They go out in the order in which they are seated. When he gets to the aisle he stands aside and lets her go first, but if there is room they walk out together.

Hammy Hubby's Tired Tale Probably Phony Baloney

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am stupid, but is there really any such thing as sleepwalking or is that something people joke about? My husband was put on a 1000-calorie diet. Last night, about midnight, I heard the refrigerator door slam, so I got up and found Orville gone from our bed.

ABBY

I went to the kitchen (all the lights were on) and he was standing there, barefoot and in his pajamas, eating a piece of salami. I yelled, "ORVILLE!"

He dropped the salami and acted like he just came out of a trance. He claims he doesn't know how he got there and must have been walking in his sleep. Do you think he's telling me the truth?

DOUBTING MRS.

DEAR DOUBTING: His salami story sounds like a lot of baloney to me.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me what to do about a man who will not keep himself clean? We have been married 45 years and it is a fight to get him to take a bath on the weekend.

When he goes fishing he comes home covered with dirt and fly dope and he won't take a bath because he did it before he left.

He is retired and has plenty of time. I am so ashamed of him I could cry. When he gets up in the morning he never washes his face because he says he will do it when he shaves. Please help.

BETTER HALF

DEAR BETTER: Start early in the morning to nag this man, and nag him every hour of the day until he breaks down and takes a bath. If he has always been this way, then you ought to have a doctor examine your nose. If this is something new, he ought to have a doctor examine his head.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Correct me if I am wrong, but isn't the purpose of a funeral service to (1) pay your final respects to the departed one, (2) ask the Lord to be merciful when the deceased enters the Great Unknown, (3) hear a few comforting words directed to the friends and family of the one who is laid to rest?

I just returned from a funeral, and the clergyman took advantage of the large attendance to announce (1) the mortgage had to be paid off for the recreation center, (2) people must stop parking their cars on the neighbors' lawns on Sunday, (3) the Ladies Auxiliary rummage sale needs support.

Am I overly sensitive, or was this out of order?

INDIGNANT

DEAR INDIGNANT: You are not "overly sensitive." The clergyman was out of order for advertising when he should have been eulogizing.

Destroys All Odors

A new aerosol deodorant destroys all types of odors and leaves no fragrance of its own. The deodorant kills odors by chemical means instead of simply masking them by loading the air with a perfume. It has long been known that odors in the air are caused by microscopic particles that are produced by cooking, smoking and other activities. The new odor-killing compound attacks these airborne particles, neutralizing them.

State legislatures enacted 111 major tax changes this year, including 87 increases and 12 new taxes against five reductions and one repeal, according to the Tax Foundation.

Don't Bail Children Out of Their Difficulties

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Because it was Sunday and her grandparents had come to dinner, she wore her new pink dress.

Over each temple her hair was tied with ribbons that exactly matched the big, red, gingham apple appliqued on the pocket of the dress. Her socks were red, too.

What with these adornments, the refreshments derived from her nap and the admiring kiss mommy gave her as she was carried downstairs, she felt an exhilarated delight with herself.

When mommy sat down on the living room floor, she wasn't content to stay there. First she rolled over into her now familiar crawling position. Then, transferring her weight to her hands, she straightened her fat legs—and rose, wobbling and uncertain to her feet.

Regaining her balance, her face took on the toddler's look of intense inward concentration. Nobody spoke as she navigated three steps toward her father. Then she fell.

She tripped over the fringe on a scatter rug — and grandma, leaping from the sofa, rushed to seize her, crying, "Aw, poor baby! Let grandma help poor baby!"

* * *

She began to scream.

"She wants her orange juice," said mommy. "She still isn't used to me yet," said grandma. "She didn't hurt herself did she?" grandpa asked.

But her father who is a psychiatrist said:

"She's mad because she wanted to get up on her own steam."

He was right. Replaced on the floor, freed to resume the thrilling test of her strength against the strength of gravity, his baby daughter stopped screaming.

Now psychiatrists have a very important advantage over you and me. They are trained to such toleration of their own failures that they are not afraid of other people's.

When we fall on our faces, they do not rush to pick us up but restore confidence in our ability to pick ourselves up.

You and I, on the other hand are so scared of failing ourselves that we can't bear the sight of baby falling on her face in her first attempt to walk.

Like grandma, we imagine that she is feeling the same discouragement we feel when we encounter an obstacle.

Rushing to her, we deny her what the noted English teacher A. S. Neill has called childhood's "greatest joy—the conquest of difficulty."

"Never," says Neill, "help a child if he can do the thing alone."

Collectors Cluttering Home Scene

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clutter is returning to home decoration.

"But it's a confined clutter, not the disordered, indiscriminately scattered type which once reigned," said Walter du Verrier, an antiques dealer.

Du Verrier believes that the increase in the number of persons collecting everything from snuff boxes to powder horns is largely responsible.

* * *

"But the idea now," he added, "is to show a prized collection off — so you find collections grouped or in cases."

Du Verrier was one of the decorators participating in the recent New York Antiques show. Dealers at the show reported that the demand is high for furniture to show these collectibles — for small cupboards, glass cases and display tables.

* * *

Collections at the show included a group of spoons of 18th century New York silversmiths, several Chinese cricket cages used to transport the fighting insects to matches, ecclesiastical vestments, altar pieces, store signs, and antique kitchen implements.

Watch Those Accessories!

Tall, Short, Fat or Slim?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When buying clothes or accessories your figure as well as the shape of your face should be taken into consideration. Most women know the general rules for buying clothes which make one appear slimmer or fatter, but many do not realize what a difference accessories can make.

For instance, a short or small woman should not carry an oversized handbag while a tall or large woman looks strange hanging onto a very small one.

The color of the pocketbook also affects the general impression one gives. The tall or large woman can carry a bag of contrasting color while the small woman should match the bag to the shade of her costume or at least buy a dark-colored one.

* * *

The jewelry of the small women should be dainty. A short woman is overpowered by very heavy earrings or extremely large pins. Beads and pearls and bracelets also should be on the small side.

The opposite is true of the tall or large woman. She can wear chunky jewelry and heavy bangles with style.

Highly ornamental belts are effective on the slim woman who is at least medium in height. These can dress up the simplest dress but they are not for the overweight or the short femme.

Unless you have a slim waistline, never wear a wide belt or one of contrasting color. No belt at all is best if your dress is fitted in at the waist. At least the belt should be narrow and of the same shade. A waistline or belt which dips in the back is slimming.

FOR TALL GAL

Extremely ornate shoes are best on the tall or slim gal. Ankle straps are not for the overweights. Extremely high, spiked heels make the overweight woman look awkward. Slightly more moderate heel is more flattering to her.

What you wear with your clothes is tremendously important — and this includes the "wearing" of a handbag. Your height and size should determine its color and size.

Buying a Blouse?

Give the buttonholes a good look when you buy another blouse. Buttonholes get a lot of wear. Stitches should be deep enough, close enough and well-fastened to last the life of the blouse. They should be cut on the grain of the fabric. Home economists at Michigan State University note that buttonholes are more apt to stay buttoned if they are cut crosswise rather than vertical.

Little Does a Lot

It takes only a thin film of wax to enhance your furniture. Home economists note that a thick layer of wax — on blotches here and there — are difficult to polish. They also note that wax may not be recommended for some of the new furniture finishes.

Trapped by Fox

(NEA) — Some stores are showing a new idea in leisure slippers: a soft white leather boot trimmed at the top with silver fox.

Old Soft Shoe

(UPI) — The legend goes that there was an old woman who lived in a shoe. But did you know that some gals are old because of the shoes they live in. Shoe makers are, however, continually striving to provide comfort as well as style to footwear. One manufacturer is molding an inset of soft rubber into the plastic-rubber sole to cushion the spot where calluses form. Other makers are easing the load by providing airfoam sole cushioning, not only for functional walking and play shoes, but for high style footwear.

For Growing Boy

The Sanforized-Plus label assures you that your young man's wash - and - wear trousers won't shrink out of fit, will wear longer and look neater. But it has no control of his growing out the their size. However, one manufacturer has prepared for sudden sprouting with a new add-a-cuff feature.

Wipe Slate Clean

A good way to teach children to be good homemakers is through caring for their own toys — a home blackboard, for example. During a session of drawing, games or homework, this can be erased just so many times. Then nothing but suds and water will do. Provide a sponge, bowl of soap or detergent solution and some rinse water. Then demonstrate how to wash away excess chalk dust. The youngsters will wind up with a clean slate, and a lesson in cleanliness.

Howard Bond was master of ceremonies, and callers were John DePauw, Howard Upton, Bill Schmiel and Eve Brooks.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paschke and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McDonnell, former members.

Grill Fumes Can Yellow Your Girdle

LANSING — Do girdles do an efficient job of absorbing fat?

An occupational health engineer with the state health department has found that they do — sometimes too efficiently.

The Michigan Department of Health received a call for help from the owner of a women's store specializing in foundation garments in the Flint area, that for some reason girdles stocked in the Flint store were turning yellow while the same brand of girdles in other outlets were not affected.

An occupational health engineer was dispatched to see "what was cooking."

The ladies foundation apparel shop was located in a building housing several business places, including a restaurant. A quick investigation revealed the presence of fumes of grease and cooking oils leaking from the restaurant into the apparel shop through the ventilation system in the building.

* * *

Investigation of objectionable or damaging fumes of any kind is one of many services performed by health department engineers.

The owner confirmed the fact that the girdles started turning yellow about the time the griddles started turning out fried foods when the restaurant opened.

* * *

Tests run in the health department laboratory showed fumes from cooking oils can turn girdles yellow.

The moral of the story would seem to provide an out for husband; If your wife wears a girdle, you may have a good excuse for not taking her out to dinner more often.

Kilgore-Thoe Wedding

Candles Glow for Rite

The altar of St. John's Lutheran Church was banked with Christmas trees and poinsettias for the Friday evening nuptials of Joyce Elaine Thoe and Ronnie E. Kilgore. Two hundred guests witnessed the candlelight ceremony, performed by the Rev. Charles A. Colberg.

* * *

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont E. Thoe of Dorchester Avenue, approached the altar wearing a floor-length gown of antique satin fashioned with long tapered sleeves and a jeweled neckline trimmed with Alencon lace and re-embroidered with sequins and seed pearls.

The bouffant skirt, ending in a chapel sweep, featured a draped bustle back. A crown of pearlized flowers and rhinestones secured her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. She held a white orchid on a Bible.

Maid of honor Janet Thoe, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids Judy Jacobson, a cousin, and Mrs. Warren Lindeke of Anoka, Minn., the bride's aunt, carried white carnation arrangements centered by lighted white candles. Their street-length gowns of emerald green satin were designed with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and short cap sleeves. Each wore a crown of simulated pearls.

* * *

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Kilgore of North Hammond Lake Drive, asked Donald Barraco to attend as best man. Ushering were Alan Larson and Warren Lindeke.

MRS. RONNIE E. KILGORE

Mrs. Thoe selected a moss green dress of Chantilly-type French lace with matching accessories and a green velvet hat for the wedding. A pure silk spice green brocade ensemble with beige accessories was worn by Mrs. Kilgore. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

A reception in Waterford's Community Activities Building followed the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests present for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gamache of Montgomery, Ala., with children Ronald and Betty Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thoe of Kemmerer, Wyo., with George, Andrea and Jake.

The bride attended Wayne State University. Her husband attends Flint Junior College.

Eliminate Puckers

Use the throat plate with a small round hole when stitching fabrics of synthetic fibers. Home economists at Michigan State University say the wide oval opening on a zig-zag machine may cause puckers along the stitching line.

Catches Drippings

Do you use a rubber shelf cushion on the floor of your coat closet? This catches drippings from raincoats and rubbers, and comes clean with the sponge.

Lodge Unit Holds Party for Holiday

Forth-six members of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246 celebrated a Christmas party Thursday at their hall on Perkins Street.

* * *

Mrs. Irving Quackenbush and Mrs. Vernon McFarland qualified as noble grand and vice grand-elect in the unwritten work of the order. A semi-public installation of officers is slated at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 12 in the Perkins street lodge building.

The group's sering circle will meet for a 12:30 luncheon Thursday in the home of Mr. Quackenbush.

* * *

Mrs. Randall Wilson of Seminole Avenue will be hostess to the Past Noble Grands Club Jan. 5. Following a 6:30 cooperative dinner, secret pals will be revealed.

Burton Downey has donated two pairs of crutches to the lodge for use by disabled members.

For Wood Trim

To insure washability over the years, wood trim — such as door and window casings, baseboards, and chair rails — should be finished with a gloss or semi-gloss paint. These are the points of greatest wear and soil. If they are kept suds-and-water clean, the whole room will look fresh and well kept.

For Baby's Room

No matter how you plan to decorate the nursery, be sure to make it an all-washable scheme. Cleanliness goes a long way toward keeping baby healthy.

Anne Klein of Junior Sophisticates

SIZES	7	9	11	13	15

WCTU Discusses Yule

Mrs. Willo I. Cotcher of North Shirley Avenue was hostess to the Frances Willard Unit of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Wednesday.

Members opened the meeting with Christmas carols, accompanied on the organ by the Rev. Lola P. Marion who later read devotions from the Gospel according to St. Matthew.

★ ★ ★

Round table discussions on "Christ for Christmas" and "Christ, Always in Christmas" were followed by the dedication of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hays as a "white ribbon recruit." Mrs. LeRoy Shafer officiated.

★ ★ ★

The group voted to sponsor boys and girls from ages 6 to 12 for the Loyal Temperance Legion.

After a dessert luncheon and gift exchange, Mrs. Nellie Monroe closed the program with prayer.

Cleanliness Routine Is ... Important

(NEA) — The one essential ingredient for a beautiful skin at any age is cleanliness. This is a rule which applies equally to the little girl of two and the woman in her sixties.

No amount of make-up will hide a poor skin. And, sometimes, it will only serve to emphasize blotches. To glow, to have that fresh, translucent look, skin must be kept scrupulously clean.

This means that each time you apply fresh make-up, the old make-up must come off. If your skin tends to be dry, stay away from hot water. Use tepid water and a lanolin soap. Rinse your face with clear water, not with the water you've just washed in.

★ ★ ★

Keep your washcloths and towels as clean as your skin. Ideally, they should be changed daily. But if you can't manage this, change them three times a week.

If your skin is dry, it will tend to have that crawly feeling after each washing. But this doesn't mean you should pass up soap and water. It does mean that after each washing, you should make use of a light moisturizing lotion, one which is not sticky or greasy.

CREAM NIGHTLY

And at night, before you go to bed, make use of a really rich cream compounded for very dry skin. Don't neglect your neck when you're creaming your face. Or one day, you may look in the mirror and wonder why on earth your face should look smooth while your neck looks crepey.

Try Dry Cleaning

To free your sink from grease, try this "dry cleaning" method: Apply some soap or detergent to a dry cloth or sponge, and scrub the sink —also dry. Then turn on the water and rinse the grease away.

Sweet, Dark and Rich— It's Delicious Pecan Pie

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If you were given a couple of pounds of pecans for Christmas, here is a recipe that will use up some of them. Mrs. Edward D. Auchard shares her recipe for pecan pie.

In addition to church work, Mrs. Auchard spends time doing sewing and knitting. She enjoys living on the shore of Orchard Lake.

PECAN PIE
By Mrs. Edward D. Auchard

Unbaked pastry shell
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup dark corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt, if nuts are unsalted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons melted butter
1 cup pecan meats

Mix ingredients together and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30-35 minutes more.

History of Toast

NEW YORK (UPI) — When we raise our glasses in a toast to the New Year, we imitate a gesture that started a thousand years ago.

The traditional drink to the health of a friend began during the days of Henry VIII of England, with the wassail bowl. A steward carried a brimming bowl of special holiday punch around the great hall, shouting "wassail" —which meant "be well."

SANTA IN SAIGON — Army Sgt. Karl Fietze, 33, hugs his foster daughter, 8-year-old Tran Thi Tuat, during a holiday they spent together in Gia Kiem, Viet Nam. Fietze, who adopted Tuat financially through the Foster Parent Plan, missed the recent Christmas overseas mailing deadline so he hitchhiked to Saigon to give her the first doll she ever owned. Fietze now is back with his Army Engineer unit at Fort Lewis, Wash. This picture was made during their recent get-together.

18 U. S. Doctors Aiding the Cripples of Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Eighteen American doctors have paid their own way to Jordan to work among cripples of the desert kingdom.

★ ★ ★

In hospitals from Jerusalem to Amman and Bethlehem, the Americans have made more than 2,500 examinations and brought hope to cripples who were often hidden away as marks of family shame.

★ ★ ★

All 18 are orthopedic surgeons, members of an informal correspondence group called the Orthopedic Letters Club that decided last year to donate its services abroad.

After consultations with the United Nations organization, they picked Jordan, a sun-parched country packed with refugees and short of medical services.

DEMAND GREAT

"The demand has become enormous, and there is more work than we can keep up with," said Dr. Frederick G. Gaenslen, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Jordan has an unusually high incidence of bone and joint tuberculosis and infections and congenital deformities.

The program began in August 1959, when Dr. Allan M. McKelvie suspended his practice in Washington, D. C., and flew to Amman at his own expense. Seventeen others followed, replacing each other at about one-month intervals.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Gaenslen estimates he is spending $2,000, not counting the loss in giving up his Milwaukee practice for a month.

The doctors have no fixed program, no government connection, and no formal organization, meaning a minimum of administrative paper work.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in the United States reached a peak of $34,300,000,000 in 1958—about 265 per cent above the 1937-41 average, reports the National Industrial Conference Board.

Sees Railroad Upturn in Last Half of 1961

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, forecasts a "genuine upturn" in the railroad industry during the last six months of 1961.

Loomis said the first half of the new year would "probably show little improvement," but that the industry expects a real upturn to start later in the year.

He said the industry is encouraged by "vast changes" being made in equipment and operating methods and "signs of recognition" of its claimed need for tax relief and relief from some government regulations.

Loomis reported in a year-end statement, issued Friday night, that railroads' net income for 1960 was the lowest since 1949. He said total rail revenues amounted to $8.5 billion, a three per cent drop from 1959. Freight carloadings this year were 1½ per cent below 1959.

Loomis said the number of railroad employes dropped to 780,000 in 1960, about 35,000 below 1959, but their average annual earnings hit a record of $6,280.

Nonunion Cake Not Welcome at Inauguration

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Baker Ernest J. Montillo said that he had given up—because of a union's objection — the baking of a huge cake for the inauguration of President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

The American Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union had complained the 550-pound cake was to have been made by a nonunion bakery.

Montillo said: "The unions did it—I had to bow out rather than embarrass the president-elect. And of course, I would never do that."

Montillo said he had received a telegram from Washington that the caterers union would not serve food at the dinner if a nonunion cake was on the menu.

He added that "all my help are experts, and the reason they are nonunion is because I pay them better than the union rates."

Thursday night, Kenneth McClellan, organizer for the bakers union, said "We take a dim view of any cake not baked in a union shop."

Goldberg Cuts Off Labor Union Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg announced that he is cutting off all labor union connections and expects to do an impartial job as secretary of labor in the Kennedy administration.

At the same time he disclosed that the National Association of Manufacturers and United States Chamber of Commerce, the nation's two most prominent businessmen's organizations, have pledged their cooperation with him in his new post.

The 52-year-old special counsel of the AFL-CIO, designated for the labor cabinet post by President-Elect John F. Kennedy, said that as of Jan. 1 he will sever his relations with law firms here and in Chicago and with a dozen labor unions he has represented.

Chief among Goldberg's clients have been the AFL-CIO, the United Steelworkers and the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union department.

Utica Boy, 14, Killed in Crash

Poor Road Conditions Blamed for Accidents by the Police

A 14-year-old Utica boy was killed and six other persons injured in three area traffic accidents which police say were caused by poor driving conditions over the holiday weekend.

Dead on arrival at Community Hospital near Almont yesterday was Freddie G. Brooks of 45449 Van Dyke, Utica.

Three other teen-agers were reported in satisfactory condition today at the same hospital, including Roger L. Haack, 18, of 236 Bailey St., Romeo.

Romeo State Police said Haakk and Brooks were riding in a car which turned over several times and hit a utility pole after it went out of control four miles east of Romeo yesterday.

Haack suffered a fractured arm and cuts on both legs in the accident which took the life of the Brooks boy.

* * *

Officers said their car apparently hit a slippery patch on 32-Mile Road just west of Hicks Road. Haack told police that Brooks was driving when the mishap occurred at 2:35 a.m. No one else was in the car.

A patch of snow or ice on the road is blamed as the cause of a two-car collision three miles east of Lapeer in which a Michigan State University coed was critically injured.

Hurt in the crash on Imlay City Road (M21) near Muck Road last night was Mrs. Helen Gates, 25, of Albion, N.Y. She and her husband, Howard W., 24, whose condition is reported as satisfactory, are patients at Lapeer County General Hospital.

Listed in fair condition at the hospital is 18-year-old Diana Bemis of Flint. She was a passenger in a car driven by Jerry R. Nykamp, 18, of Flint.

Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies said the Gates' auto and the one driven by Nykamp collided head-on shortly after 7 p.m. Nykamp was not hospitalized.

RAMS GUARD RAIL

A Waterford Township youth, Carl A. Barnowski, 18, of 451 Hospital Road was the driver of a car which smashed through a guard rail and overturned after going out of control on Van Dyke just north of Imlay City.

Hurt in the accident were Larry Foode, 14, of 6985 Palmore St., Waterford Township, and Larry Schribner, 14, of Brown City.

Both are in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital. Barnowski escaped without injury.

State police said Barnowski was pulling back into his own lane after passing another car on northbound Van Dyke when the car skidded and hit the guard rail on the opposite side of the road.

TOPS IN DECORATION — Picked as the best display in the annual Christmas Home Decoration Contest sponsored by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce was the one created by the Edward J. Ennis family of 1313 N. Oak St., Rochester. The front of the house was entirely illuminated with multicolored Christmas lights, and organ music was piped outside to point up the window display containing Santa "playing" the pipe organ and choir boys "singing" Yuletide carols.

Mechanical Marvels Said to Both Aid Farmer, Buyer

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Mechanical marvels now doing farm work in Michigan—and slated to do much more in the future—are a boon to both farmer and consumer, a Michigan State University engineer said.

"Everybody should benefit," said Arthur W. Farrall, head of the university's agricultural engineering department.

Automation is the thing that will enable farmers to keep the cost of food production in sight," Farrall said. "The only way farmers can keep their costs low enough to keep prices down is to mechanize their operations."

He said large-scale operations in crops like wheat and corn are already almost entirely mechanized.

* * *

Production of meat, milk, vegetables and other farm items will become more and more mechanical, Farrall said. Devices such as automatic cattle feeders and mechanical pickers for tomatoes, fruits and other crops will probably come into widespread use in the foreseeable future, he said.

But this does not necessarily mean that laborers who now do these operations by hand will be thrown out of jobs, he said.

"The predicted population increases are going to mean that a lot more food will be needed," Farrall said. "The number of workers needed will vary with the type of operation on each farm."

TRAINING EASY

He stated more skill will be needed in many cases to handle mechanical harvesters and other automation advances, but that training should be relatively easy in most cases and there should be about as many total jobs as in the past although the nature of the work will change somewhat.

Most of the changes would be gradual and therefore would create relatively few labor problems, Farrall said.

"The whole problem of enough food at the right price is important to everybody—whether they live in the city, in the suburbs or in the country," he reported.

One crop harvested largely by hand in the past that will soon feel the effect of automation is the tomato.

MSU experts developed a tomato picker fitted to Michigan tomato farms which was used experimentally this year, and should be used extensively in commercial operations next year, Farrall said.

* * *

Other new developments at MSU include cattle feed handling systems that are nearly completely automatic, bulk handling processes for onions, potatoes and cherries, a mechnical fruit tree pruner, and other labor and money-saving devices.

Time saved, and the lower costs of production, processing, handling and distribution, means a higher standard of living for farmers and consumers, the MSU engineering expert said.

African Minister to Talk in Area

Visit Designed to Aid Understanding Between Nations and Peoples

ROCHESTER — The Rev. Daniel Langa, African minister of a Congregational church in Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, will speak at the First Congregational Church here at the 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. worship service on New Year's Day.

* * *

Rev. Langa and other nationals are coming to the United States from all parts of the world "in the interest of better understanding between nations and peoples."

* * *

They will be guests of several of the denomination's state organizations while in Michigan.

Rev. Langa's speaking engagements will be concentrated in Indiana and Michigan.

The Mission to America program is part of the 150th anniversary celebration of the American Board, overseas agency of the Congregational Christian Churches. It is the oldest society in the United States.

* * *

Pastor of the 600-member Congregational Church of the American Board in Johannesburg for the past nine years, Rev. Langa is particularly interested in church youth work. During his stay in the United States he will study and observe this type of work.

Born in Inopo, Natal, the African minister served for three years on the Christian Council of South Africa, an interracial, interdenominational committee formed by representatives of most of the Protestant denominations in South Africa.

The committee was formed "to study the problems facing the Christian Church in changing Africa."

* * *

While in Rochester, Rev. Langa will be a guest in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert H. Jacobson from Saturday to Jan. 5.

MARY RUTH OSBURN

The engagement of Mary Ruth Osburn of 3 Davison St., Oxford, to James L. Cockroft is announced by her parents Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Osburn of Caro. She teaches English at Oxford High School. Her prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cockroft of Kersey, Colo. A June wedding is planned.

Victim of Blaze Said Improving

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — A 13-year-old girl, set afire when she backed into a heater at her home here Friday, is reported in an improved condition today in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Barbara Vailliencourt suffered second- and third-degree burns over 15 per cent of her body when her skirt caught on fire. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delore J. Vailliencourt of 788 Predmore Road.

Barbara was warming herself in front of a coal- and wood-burning space heater when sparks ignited her skirt, sending her running hysterically through the house.

"We couldn't catch her. She ran through the house screaming," her mother told Romeo State Police.

The flames were finally put out by Mrs. Vailliencourt.

Doctors said the young girl received burns to the back of both legs, back, forearms and both hands. Her condition was poor when she first entered the hospital but is now satisfactory, a hospital spokesman said today.

It was the second time this month that misfortune had struck the nine-member family.

Less than two weeks ago, Barbara's father, a 40-year-old laborer, was hospitalized at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitorium.

The family is on welfare.

SECOND PLACE WINNER — The cash prize for the second best entry in the Rochester Area Christmas Home Decorations Contest was awarded to the Anthony Grech family of 3660 W. Tienken Road, Avon Township. A Nativity scene was set up on the front lawn, complete with the star on the chimney. The entire display, which also includes a grotto containing the statue of the Virgin Mary, is illuminated at night.

Youth Wins Yule Contest

UNION LAKE—A 17-year-old White Lake Township youth was named winner of the Christmas outdoor display contest sponsored by the Union Lake Civitan Club, it was announced today.

Awarded a $50 saving bond was Mickey Bruns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bruns of 9549 Round Lake Blvd.

George Williams, president of the Civitan Club, said Bruns display of a lighted church and surrounding houses was in keeping with the religious aspect of the contest.

Two $25 saving bonds were awarded to runners-up and another $25 bond awarded for the best commercial display.

Second and third place winners were Edward Cadwallader of 1402 Hiller Road, West Bloomfield Township, and Norman S. Smith of 8923 Edgewood Park Dr., Commerce Township.

Cadwallader emphasized the welcome of the Chrisamas season by accentuating his entranceway with lights, and Smith took third place with a hand-painted scene of the Virgin Mary and the Christ child.

Fred Baumgartner, an employe at the John Clark Pharmacy in Union Lake, received a $25 bond for his winter scenes painted on the windows of the store.

To Install Officials of Metropolitan Club

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Officers of the Metropolitan Club, Spirit 78, will be installed at the Jan. 16 meeting of the organization here.

* * *

Elected officers for the coming year are Kenneth Wymer, president; James Gilmore, first vice president; Andrew Plano, second vice president; and Walter E. Osborne, secretary.

Other new officers of club are Joseph F. Hynds, treasurer; Earl Hall, sergeant at arms; Ferdinand Vetter, chaplain and Melvin Lidster, auditor.

Richard Anderson of Berkley, auditor for the National Spirit, will be the installing officer at the ceremony. It will be held at the Oxbow Grill, Union Lake and Elizabeth Lake roads.

Dance School Has Party for Highland Youngsters

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — Some 300 area youngsters were entertained at a Christmas party recently by students of the Betty Mae School of Dance.

The youthful dancers did a variety of numbers ranging from ballet to tap, tee and Hawaiian at the East Highland Hall on M59. Santa Claus also was present.

32 Soviet Tourists See Havana in Exchange Plan

HAVANA (AP)—Thirty-two Soviet tourists arrived in Havana Monday night, the first Soviet visitors under a new program of tourist exchanges. Another Soviet tourist group is due Wednesday.

It is estimated there are fewer than 1,000 grizzly bears in the United States.

But Not Better in 1961

Movies Bigger, Bolder, Bawdier

By BOB THOMAS

THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movies were bigger, bolder and bawdier in 1960, but alas, not better.

That's the conclusion this movie fan reached in a year-end review of the Hollywood product. Note I say "movie fan." I firmly believe films offer the best in entertainment, better than 99 per cent of TV, better than the bulk of Broadway plays.

But 1960 wasn't a vintage year for films. There was too much tinkering with morality, too much bigness for bigness's sake. The year saw no standout film of the impact of "From Here to Eternity," "Marty," "Gigi" or "Ben-Hur" in previous years.

SUNDOWNERS' WELL-ACTED

These seemed best:

1. "The Sundowners" was a well-acted, intensely human account of Australian frontier life, episodic but held together by the firm hand of Fred Zinneman.

2. "The Apartment," despite fuzzy morality, was funny and touching, thanks to a superb performance by Jack Lemmon.

3. "Sons and Lovers" had much of the greatness and some of the limitations of the D.H. Lawrence novel. Trevor Howard etched a fine portrait of the father.

4. "Psycho" drew more customers than any other film and shouldn't be dismissed as a mere shocker. It was a fine exercise in suspense by the master, Alfred Hitchcock.

5. "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" was a touching account of a family's problems, a period piece that was up to date.

6. "Exodus" was overlong and disjointed but packed power in its pageant of a nation's birth.

FINE IMPERSONATIONS

7. "Sunrise at Campobello" had value as an American chronicle and for fine impersonations by Ralph Bellamy and Greer Garson.

8. "Polyanna" deserved better than it got. Frankly sentimental, it avoided being sticky and carried a worthy message.

9. "Bells Are Ringing" was the happiest picture of the year and again proved Judy Holliday's skill.

10. "Home from the Hill" had moments of thumping melodrama and introduced promising actors, George Hamilton and George Peppard.

I don't mean to slight the epics. Or do I? We may need a new category for the latter-day run of De Mille. Qualifications: They must run over three hours, have six or more stars and a half-hour of battle or spectacle scenes and cost over $6 million. With the notable exception of "Ben-Hur," they are seldom satisfying as film achievements.

But they can be worth seeing for the spectacle and the interplay of characters. "Exodus" was the best of the bumper crop.

Housing Bias Hits 27 Million

Research Group Cites Varying Discriminations in U.S.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Some 27 million Americans still suffer to some extent from housing discrimination, according to Dr. Davis McEntire, research director of the commission on race and housing.

McEntire, who supervised a three-year research program for the commission, presented the findings in "Residence and Race," published by the University of California Press, which also put out five other books for the commission during its studies.

McEntire said those suffering from housing discrimination include 19 million Negroes, Japanese, Chinese and Filipinos, 2.5 million Mexican - Americans, 1 million Puerto Ricans and 5 million Jews.

"Residence and Race," is billed as the most complete and authoritative single volume ever published on race and housing in the United States.

$305,000 GRANT

Research for its conclusions was financed through a $305,000 grant from the Fund for the Republic.

"Discrimination is perhaps the leading unresolved domestic problem of the nation," McEntire said, and he called housing segregation a crucial aspect of the situation.

McEntire, who has now returned to his post as professor of social welfare at the University of California in Berkeley, noted that race restrictions in the United States adversely prejudice our relations with Asia and Africa.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, he noted, "The fact that the United States is a racially mixed nation is potentially an important asset in its relations with Asia and Africa, if white and nonwhite citizens stand on an equal footing as members of the American community."

In the volume summarizing findings of the commission, McEntire suggested 10 methods by which individuals and communities may reduce discrimination in housing in the United States.

These include legal, social and even physical means.

The physical solution is construction of more houses, especially at lower price levels.

Business Failures Hit 28-Year High

NEW YORK (UPI)—November business failures were the heaviest in 28 years, although the rate per 10,000 listed enterprises was below the November 1939 rate, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

★ ★ ★

Failures totaled 1,311, compared with 1,344 in October and 1,130 in November 1959, Dun & Bradstreet said, while dollar liabilities rose to $84.5 million from $81.5 million in October and $53.2 million in November 1959.

★ ★ ★

The rate per 10,000 of 62 compared with 63.3 in October, 55.4 in November 1959 and 70 in November 1939.

$6.6 Billion Spent for Cigarettes

U.S. Tobacco Use Soars in 1960 Despite 'Scares'

NEW YORK (UPI) — More Americans smoked more tobacco this year than ever before despite "health scares," the head of the Tobacco Institute, Inc., reported today.

During the year Americans spent $7.5 billion for tobacco — $6.6 billion of it for 489 billion cigarettes, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates cited by Tobacco Institute President George V. Allen.

In a year-end statement, Allen said the average annual consumption was 197 packs of 20 cigarettes per person of smoking age in the nation.

These figures, Allen said, were among new records set despite "attacks" on tobacco "ranging from health scares to unfair taxation and labeling proposals.

SEEMINGLY PARADOXICAL

"There is every indication," he said, "that comparable progress will continue in the next and succeeding years."

Admitting the situation was "seemingly paradoxical," Allen said there was increased smoking because "facts are finally replacing opinions and the general public is becoming aware of this."

"A growing body of scientific research findings has failed to support the many charges thrown at tobacco use during the past few years," he said.

★ ★ ★

Allen said the charges "come largely from statistical compilations attempting to establish a relationship between tobacco use and longevity . . . statistics can be used to prove a variety of conclusions on this subject."

Allen said that during the year the tobacco industry research committee increased to $4 million its grants for study of "all aspects of tobacco use and human health."

He said this indicated "the determination of the tobacco industry to help solve these vexing questions."

94 BILLION MORE

Allen said the estimates showed smokers this year used 94 billion more cigarettes than in 1955, an increase of about 25 per cent, and 21.5 billion more cigarettes than last year.

Not only did people smoke more cigarettes, he said, but they consumed 2.5 per cent more cigars and cigarillos and 35.5 million pounds of snuff, 11½ million pounds more than last year.

Pipe smokers used 73 million pounds of tobacco, about the same as last year, and 65.5 million pounds of tobacco was chewed, slightly less than last year.

Macmillan May Go to Red China in '61

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is planning a personal peace crusade in 1961 that might take him to Red China, a London newspaper said today.

★ ★ ★

Macmillan wants to reduce East-West tension, the Daily Mail said, and is more interested in two-way talks with leaders of other nations than in a summit conference.

★ ★ ★

Macmillan is considering inviting Soviet Premier Khrushchev to talks in London, the newspaper mail said, and traveling to Peiping.
