UF Goal Set at $525,000

Amount Serves 55 Organizations in Community

7.75 Above Quota

A goal of $525,823 has been set by the Pontiac Area United Fund for this fall's drive.

This is 7.75 per cent more than the 1953 goal, but only 3.7 per cent greater than the amount raised in last year's campaign.

United Fund leaders were confident that the goal can be met.

William B. Hartman, United Fund board president, stated:

"The increased goal is urgently needed in order to meet the growing demand for United Fund services in our community. Also, the rapid population growth in the Waterford area—included in the drive again this year—means a greater need for funds."

Frank S. Lyndall is this year's campaign chairman.

The 1954 United Fund combines in one drive the requests of 55 health and welfare agencies including the American Cancer Society and the American Red Cross.

Fund requests for these agencies had totaled $608,754. These were whittled to $404,823 by citizens who served on volunteer budget panels.

The final approved sums are considered the least possible in order to maintain adequate services for the people of this area.

No increase is being made for United Fund administrative expense.

The $525,000 goal includes reserve funds against contingencies and collection losses.

Fat Dog Diet Is Being Tested on Humans First

LONDON (AP)—British veterinarians who have watched man benefit from experiments on dogs, reversed the tables today with a 14-day reducing diet for overweight dogs first tried on humans.

The veterinarians say now any canine from a fat Dachshund to a hard-limbed Labrador Retriever can be streamlined in two weeks.

The formula, first tried on patients at Middlesex Hospital by Dr. A. Kingsley Browne, is based on a sort of toast fortified with amino acids and calcium. The toast is made from wholemeal flour free from agents, a bleaching agent widely used to improve white bread.

The amino acids are said to balance the starch in the diet, making sure that the dog comes to no harm. Then, to guarantee that the dog loses fat, the toast is employed to replace part of the animal's normal cuisine.

Packard, Studebaker OK Merger of Two Companies

DETROIT (AP)—A new automobile industry merger—combining Packard Motor Car Co. and the Studebaker Corp., with assets in excess of 251 million dollars—was approved by stockholders of the two companies today.

Packard stockholders voted 12,016,402 of the company's nearly 15 million shares, with almost 90 per cent favoring the consolidation. Studebaker shareholders voted 1,926,846 of 2,360,548 shares outstanding, with 98.6 per cent favoring the merger.

The Studebaker vote was tabulated at the company's corporate headquarters in Wilmington, Del. The Packard vote was counted in Detroit.

Northern Irish Stiffen Security

Snare 3 Armed Men
Shortly Before Queen's
Arrival to Launch Ship

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Northern Ireland's strongest security net snared three armed men today a few hours before the arrival of Queen Elizabeth II for the launching of a passenger liner.

Police announced they detained three occupants of an automobile before dawn at Newry, 45 miles south of Belfast on the border between Northern and Southern Ireland. Four other men in the automobile escaped in the darkness.

The Queen last visited Belfast in July, 1953, during her post-coronation tour. As she arrived there, anti-royalists blew up a railroad bridge and sabotaged the city's power supply in protest.

The reason for the Queen's visit was a 20,000-ton marine curiosity to be named Southern Cross, the world's first passenger liner to have its engines and funnel in the stern.

The designers say that with the engines at the rear, they have been able to keep all the midsips area for unusually spacious passenger accommodation.

Mitchell Draws Senate Blasts for Ike Criticism

Dem National Chairman
Links TVA Contract to Influence on President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell drew a blast from Republican senators and criticism from some members of his own party today for linking President Eisenhower's friendship for golfer Bobby Jones with a proposed power contract.

The Senate had scarcely convened when GOP leader Knowland of California teed off on Mitchell's intimation, in a speech last night, that Eisenhower was influenced by Jones to order a private power contract in the area served by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Knowland told the Senate that if Mitchell has any information which indicates the contract is "illegal" or the result of "undue influence," he has a duty to present his facts to the Justice Department or the Senate House Atomic Committee.

The Californian said he recognizes the growing heat of this year's political campaign, but "I regret that it can't be kept on a level other than attacking the personal motives of the President of the United States."

Knowland said it was regrettable when a statement is made in the present troublesome times "which appears to me to cast reflections on the President of the United States and tends to break down the confidence of the people" in their chief executive.

Sen. Cooper (R-Ky) noted that he had argued against the contract "with all the strength at my command" in Senate debate on the atomic bill. He said he still regretted that Eisenhower had ordered it made.

But Cooper said he was certain the President "acted in what he thought were the best interests of the country" and concluded:

"I do not believe there is any truth at all in the statement made by the chairman of the Democratic party."

Sen. Reynolds (R-Neb) said the contract followed a policy which was not new at all but had been long established by the TVA itself. For instance, he said, the TVA has let out contracts to groups or individuals who actually had no money, and on the basis of the contract the holder arranged financing to develop a source of coal.

Reynolds said it was his view the policy was not good, but he insisted Eisenhower was only following long established practice.

Off the Senate floor, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told a reporter that he feels Mitchell "carried guilt by association too far" in hitting at Eisenhower's contract order.

He's Had It, He Quit

MONTAGUE, Calif. (UP)—Chief of Police of Al Small turned in his badge Monday leaving this town without a police force. Small said he quit because the town fathers decided he also should be the building inspector and city maintenance man with no raise in pay.

Senate Cites 3 for Contempt

Lamont, Shadowitz and Unger Red Quiz Cases
Await Prosecution

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate has cited wealthy New Yorker Corliss Lamont and two others for contempt of Congress because they refused to answer Sen. Joseph McCarthy's questions about communism.

Cited last night in addition to Lamont were Albert Shadowitz, who worked at the privately-operated Federal Communications Laboratory at Nutley, N. J., and Abraham Unger, a New York attorney. The contempt moves against Shadowitz and Unger were approved by voice vote.

Shadowitz declined last Dec. 16 to answer questions about communism saying he had been advised to do so by Dr. Albert Einstein, the famed physicist.

The three cases will now be referred to the Justice Department for prosecution.

The Lamont case was decided by a roll call vote of 71 to 3 after pleas on the New Yorker's behalf by Sens. William Langer (R-ND), Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Herbert Lehman (D-NY).

Langer, Lehman and Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) voted against the citation. Despite his earlier plea, Saltonstall supported the action.

Ignores Wishes of White House in Amending Bill

Would Make Members of Party Subject to Jail
and $10,000 Fine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ignoring administration wishes, the Senate voted today to make Communist Party membership a crime punishable by imprisonment and heavy fines.

By a vote of 41-39, the Senate amended a bill passed only yesterday by the House and stuck in a provision to make membership in the Communist Party illegal.

The House bill would strip the Communist Party of all its legal rights but would not ban membership in it. The House bill was described as acceptable to the administration, which has opposed outlawing the Communist Party on grounds that this upset existing laws for dealing with Communists.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) called the House measure a "powder-puff approach" and offered the amendment to make members of the Communist Party subject to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Republican leaders backing the House bill warned in advance of the vote on Humphrey's amendment that its adoption would kill the whole legislation.

The Senate last week similarly voted to make Communist Party membership illegal. The vote then was 55-4. But over the weekend GOP congressional leaders sought to rewrite the bill to make it acceptable to President Eisenhower and the Justice Department.

Before the vote on Humphrey's amendment, the Senate gave overwhelming approval to a series of amendments by Sen. Butler (R-Md) which tightened restrictions against Communist-infiltrated labor unions.

Cloudy, Warmer Forecast for Area

Pontiac skies will be slightly cloudy tomorrow, with warmer weather also predicted for the area. A high of 73 to 77 is expected.

According to the U.S. Weather Bureau temperatures for the next five days will average near normal in this general area. The normal mean is 68.5 degrees. Rain is expected Thursday and Saturday with an average precipitation of 3 to 7.5 of an inch.

Yesterday a high of 77 and a low of 66 were recorded in downtown Pontiac.

This morning at 8 a.m. the mercury read 58, but by 2 p.m. it had risen to 76 degrees.

Committeeman 'Amazed' at Letters About McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said today he is so amazed at the "intensity of feeling" over Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that he is going to quit reading newspaper editorials and his mail while he directs a study of censure charges against McCarthy.

"I don't want to have any prejudice in this investigation," he said.

His decision to lower a curtain on opinion reports—including those on radio and television—came as Chairman Mundt (R-SD) called the Senate investigations subcommittee together to begin work on its McCarthy-Army report.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), a member, said the Mundt subcommittee may get down to some voting tomorrow on conclusions members reached from 36 days of hearings on the controversy between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich), another subcommittee member, was reported to have arrived at the conclusion that principals on both sides of the dispute were at fault.

The Chicago Tribune said Potter had given Mundt a report saying Stevens showed a lack of capacity for administrative decision and was motivated by a desire to end an investigation of communism in the Army.

McCarthy, it said, was pictured as having done nothing to stop alleged efforts by Subcommittee Counsel Roy M. Cohn to get favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee aid. It said Cohn was also criticized as was Army Counsel John G. Adams.

There were indications, meanwhile, that the bombardment of mail and telegrams previously directed to the Mundt subcommittee members has shifted sharply to Watkins. This special bipartisan committee was set up to sift charges that McCarthy has been guilty of conduct unbecoming a senator.

Watkins said in an interview he had "never realized the intensity of the feeling over McCarthy." "Some people are fanatical on both sides and there seems to be no middle ground," he said. "I am going to quit reading my mail."

West Ruefully Admits Dr. John Was Russia's Master German Spy

BERLIN (AP)—Dr. Otto John is identified now by rueful Allied powers as Russia's master German spy.

The man who dined coily in Washington two months ago with Allen Dulles, Central Intelligence Agency director, and curried favor with the British Secret Service for 10 years sits openly in the Communist camp today.

Until he motored into Berlin's Soviet sector the night of July 30—as casually as driving around the block—Dr. John was security chief of the West German government.

His Office for Protection of the Constitution (OPC) spent two million dollars a year from the federal treasury on espionage. His mission: to ferret out and expose Communist and Nazi plotters inside the Bonn republic.

This work was directly connected not only with the security of the West German state but of 400,000 allied troops.

From his intelligence headquarters in Cologne, Dr. John maintained continual contact with representatives inside Germany of Britain's MI6 intelligence network, the French Deuxieme Bureau and America's CIA.

Inevitably, he learned a great deal about what the Allies did on their own to fight Communist espionage, which is periodically reinforced with new agents and additional money from the Soviet stronghold of East Germany. He cut quite a figure, this blue-eyed, blond, 6-foot lawyer, with a cloak-and-dagger bent. With the benefit of hindsight, Allied intelligence now assumes that he must have been a double agent in Soviet service for many years.

Fear of eventual exposure is considered the primary motive for his switch. The British say now that they became uncertain about John about 10 months before his overt defection. They never told the Americans, French and West Germans of such doubts, however.

This personable, talented deserter, born 45 years ago in the historic university town of Marburg, has mixed with princes and revolutionaries, Gestapo brutes and Red stool pigeons, austere idealists and sex-mad libertines.

A boy wonder with a legal degree, he was appointed business trustee of Luthansa, the Nazi government's international airline, in 1938, when he was barely 27. It is known that he established contact with a German baron who deserted the Nazi diplomatic service for British asylum in 1939, then deserted the British for Communist East Germany after the war.

Allied intelligence can only speculate now on the possible links that John forged with the Red Chapel Rotkapelle the Red Three, the Soviet spy rings that spring up within Hitler's occupied Europe after 1941.

When the bomb plot against the Fuehrer was hatched in 1944, John was in on it along with hundreds of other officials. When the assassination failed, John escaped on a Luthansa plane to Madrid, and the story is that he turned over top secrets of the V-weapon rocket base at Peenemuende to British agents who spirited him on to London.

Birmingham's Engineer Cites Drainage Necessity for Quarton Lake Estates

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — City Engineer L. R. Gare reiterated an earlier statement at last night's City Commission that proper drainage facilities are essential for the Quarton Lake Estates area before street improvements are made.

A hearing was set for Aug. 30. An attempt will be made to agree on an assessment district for application of a basecoat on the existing streets, as the first step toward improving conditions there.

It is anticipated that an assessment district for the necessary sewer construction would follow shortly. This would include at least the Pine street sewer and lateral sewers to feed into the Pine street sewer.

In past meetings residents have opposed the sewer construction, but Gare estimated only five or six years for the life of any new streets constructed without drainage installations.

Gare said a basecoat on the streets would not be a waste if sewers were constructed soon after.

don. He was soon welcomed into British counterintelligence.

At last, resettling in the Bonn republic, John was the British-favored choice in 1950 to head the new federal security office. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer did not care for him, but John got the job.

In his hush-hush work, John often received mysterious Soviet zone visitors. He also cultivated two old friends: Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, much-married West Berlin playboy and parlor pink, and U.S. Counterintelligence Capt. Wolfgang Hoer, a German who had emigrated in 1938 and acquired American citizenship.

Promoting for himself a coast-to-coast tour of the United States, John returned from it in mid-June after being cordially welcomed to the CIA headquarters and Pentagon in Washington and to U.S. defense plants.

At 9 p.m. on July 20—the 10th anniversary of the bomb plot — John was driving Wohlgemuth and himself in the latter's sedan when a West Berlin customs officer halted them at the Sandkrug bridge over the Spree Canal.

Behind, in a British sector hotel, Mrs. John, a woman seven years older than her husband, and Prince Louis Ferdinand were waiting for John to come back from an unexplained errand and join them at dinner. They had all attended unimpeachable memorial services that day for anti-Nazi slaughtered by the Gestapo.

"I must warn you that you are entering the Soviet sector," the customs officer told John.

"That's where we want to go," he answered lightly, and drove on. It was three days later, on July 23, that Capt. Hoer, while being questioned on the John case by two higher counterintelligence officers, went distraught into the next room to his Berlin apartment, took out his service pistol and killed himself with a bullet through the head.

Ann Hart Reported Recovering Rapidly

BIRMINGHAM—Ann Clyde Hart, 7-year-old daughter of Democratic lieutenant governor candidate Philip A. Hart of Birmingham, is reported recovering rapidly from infantile paralysis in a Petoskey hospital.

Mrs. Hart reported yesterday from the Burns Clinic that the stiffness seemed to be leaving her daughter's left leg and "this is very encouraging."

She pointed out, however, that a final determination of Ann's condition won't be made for a couple of days.

The child was stricken Aug. 5 while the Harts were vacationing on Mackinac Island.

Mrs. Teichert also is intrigued by the "find" because when purchased there was another painting on the surface, and only cleaning revealed the da Vinci. The Teicherts live in Chicago.

Millard's Fate Considered Key

If Republicans Toss Out State Attorney General, Others May Follow

LANSING (AP)—There was speculation among political rail-sitters today that the whole course of Saturday's Republican convention at Grand Rapids may hinge on the race for nomination as attorney general.

The talk is that if the convention dumps Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard, who long since has announced his candidacy for the nomination, this may open the floodgates to sweep out all the other incumbent office-holders.

These are Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary, State Treasurer, D. Hale Brake and Aud. Gen. John B. Martin, all of whom have said they are available for their party's nominations for re-election.

The Monday announcement of Paul C. Younger, Ingham County prosecutor, of his candidacy for the attorney general nomination started the gossip.

It was learned that Younger had been talking with Joseph A. Parisi Jr., the executive director of the Michigan Township Assn. The organization is out for Millard's head. Township and some county officials are furious at Millard for an opinion this spring which held that local taxes must be spread on the higher state equalized valuation when fractional school districts cross county lines.

If the opinion stands, local taxes in almost all counties will automatically increase.

Around this nucleus of opposition a whole constellation of interests opposed to renominating the incumbents is understood to be gathering.

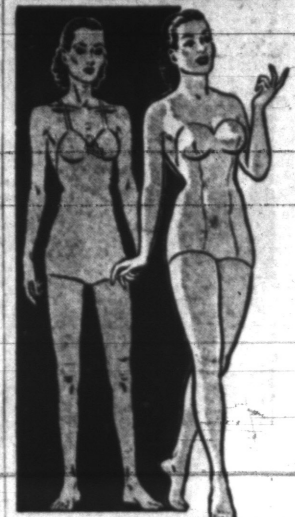

There is plenty of doubt, however, that the constellation will gather enough strength to unseat the office holders.

For tourists, Michigan has five national and 22 state forests, 60 state parks, 12 equipped recreational areas, 60 roadside parks, 3,000 highway picnic sites and 136 county parks.

Nora Bayes Likes Her Little Joke but Dinner Bill Wasn't So Small

By EDDIE CANTOR

Some of the biggest laughs I've ever had came when I was the victim of the joke. Back in 1922, I appeared in the city of Philadelphia with Nora Bayes. I invited her to dinner.

Nora asked, "Do you mind if I bring someone with me?" I said, "Not at all. Bring anyone you like."

At six o'clock on the appointed Wednesday, I was sitting in Shoyer's Restaurant at Third and Arch streets.

Nora Bayes came in, followed by her leading man—the entire chorus—all the other principals—the wardrobe women—stage hands—box office men—and even the ushers. Nora giggled and said, "Eddie, I never have dinner without 'em." What a gal!

In the year 1926, I was playing in Ziegfeld's Kid Boots. The city was Boston. At an opposition theater were the Marx Brothers in I'll Say She Is.

One afternoon, I met Harpo at the ball game. He suggested that we get together the next day for tea. "Tea?" I repeated. "You must be kidding."

Harpo said, "No, I have it every day at four o'clock. It gives me a great lift."

The next afternoon, I walked into his suite at the Copley-Plaza. You could have knocked me over with one of his harp strings. On a pedestal was a model, wearing nothing but a little shawl—a smile—and a rose in her hair.

Harpo, in a smock, beret, and paintbrush in hand, was at an easel. I knew he was an amateur artist, but I'd never seen him at work.

I found myself blushing like any schoolboy. Resolutely, I turned my eyes to Harpo and walked over to take a look at his work. The entire canvas was a series of Mutt and Jeff pictures!

Senate May Bare Facts on More Soviet Trickery

EN ROUTE (INS) — As the Navy's DC-6 gnawed a long tunnel through the air over America, carrying eastern reporters to the Mare Island centennial ceremonies at Vallejo, Calif., I got to thinking about a little publicized but enormously important investigation being made by the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Here we were flying over the back of what most of us stoutly believe is the garden spot of the world; the land with the moosest of everything; the land that could build a wall around itself and live happily ever after on its own natural fat.

But Sen. George W. Malone's committee is prepared to reveal that Russia is in complete control of 80 per cent of the minerals and materials needed to protect the U.S. in time of war. And gained that control by means of Red stooges in Washington in years gone by.

Harry Dexter White's name will again haunt the headlines if the Malone committee's findings get what Sen. Dirksen calls "ventilated." The committee has evidence, it says, that a group of now known subversives in government, led by White, sold the Roosevelt and Truman administrations on the false and erroneous theory that we should obtain our minerals from Russia and other overseas countries because this country could no longer furnish the minerals and materials.

It will be charged that it was White's plan to make the U.S.

dependent upon foreign sources of supply which in time of war would be unavailable to us and leave us vulnerable and defenseless.

At this moment, it also will be said, Russia could cut us off almost completely from the 77 minerals and materials which we would need to fight a war.

"It is even more startling to know that White and his agents convinced our leaders that we must seek overseas sources for minerals in the face of the fact that our geological survey has investigated only 1 per cent of the areas of this nation for certain strategic ores; and that only 12.7 per cent has been geologically mapped," a man close to the committee told me.

"In a way, ours is a simple job, rather straightforward," blurted Gen. Curt LeMay once said of SAC's mission. "We know who the potential enemy is, and we know what we are likely to run up against. All we have to do is be ready."

"When? Tomorrow? Next week? Next year? We certainly do not know when we might be called into action, and earnestly hope the answer is 'never'. Yet we must assume that the time is now, today. Everything we do, every motion we make, is based on that assumption."

Veterans to Get Loans Until '57

More Than 3 Million Served Under GI Bill With High Record

WASHINGTON (UP)—World War II veterans who plan to obtain home loans under the GI Bill have only three more years in which to Act.

R. G. Hughes, president of the National Association of Home Builders, pointed out that the cut-off date for GI Bill loan applications is July 26, 1957.

More than three million veterans to date have used the provisions of the bill to buy homes.

Hughes observed that the repayment record for veterans' loans has been remarkably high. The Veterans Administration has had to pay claims on only about one-half of one per cent of loans made to ex-GIs. Actual losses have been less than one-tenth of one per cent.

"This is indeed a magnificent record and a high tribute to the character and sense of community responsibility of ex-servicemen," Hughes said.

The home loan program makes it possible for the VA to guarantee lending institutions against loss of up to 40 per cent of a loan, with a maximum guarantee of $7,500.

Korean veterans may get home loan guarantees under the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act, the so-called Korean GI Bill, passed in July 16, 1952. It provides for guarantees on loans for 10 years after the present national emergency is over. To receive benefits under this statute, active service must have been performed after June 27, 1950.

To obtain a GI home loan, the veteran must choose the home he wishes to buy, then present his original discharge or service separation papers to the builder, bank, loan association or other lender. VA-appointed appraisers put a value on the property and a certificate on reasonable value is sent to the lender. If approved, the loan is made.

A widow whose veteran husband has died as a result of World War II or Korean service, may, if she has not remarried, apply for a loan guarantee. Her husband must have served in the armed forces sometime between Sept. 16, 1940 and July 25, 1947, or after June 27, 1950, and his death must have been the result of service on duty or from service-connected causes following discharge under conditions other than dishonorable.

Under provisions of the 1950 Housing Act, a veteran may, under certain circumstances, have the amount of guarantee entitlement used by him restored by the VA. Restoration is made for reasons of health or employment and for disposal of the property under conditions over which the veteran has no control, i.e., taken over for public use, destroyed by fire or "disposed of because of other compelling reasons devoid of fault on the part of the veteran."

Morphine Tests Prove New Facts

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—In the first experimental use of radioactive morphine, scientists at the University of California have discovered that the drug is more rapidly broken up and eliminated from the body than previously suspected.

Subjects received therapeutic doses of morphine, containing less radioactivity than received daily by everyone from cosmic radiation, and were found to eliminate the drug rapidly one hour after administration. Object of the study is to learn how morphine acts upon the body as a pain-reliever and to develop new drugs that will act the same without causing addiction.

CHAPTER 42

"Now you're being noble. Nobility is your long suit. You'll think better of it in the morning and back out gracefully."

"May, listen, I love you, and I always will. Every name you call me I deserve. But if you love me, May, marry me."

May didn't take her hand away. He thought he felt a little pressure. The blond hair troubled him very much. He tried not to see it. "What changed you, Willie? You're different, really you are."

He leaned to her and kissed her. Her lips smiled under the kiss. He jumped to his feet, pulled her up, and kissed her passionately, and this time she responded in the old way.

She leaned back in his arms, and said huskily, "Amazing. That still works."

"Then that's all—"

"Not by a long shot. Sit down, beautiful sailor." She pushed him into his chair and sat, and put her hand over her eyes. "However, it makes for confusion, a little bit, I'll say that. Surprises me—"

"Do you love this Feather?" She looked bewildered and desperate. "Don't you know what a horrible beating I took from you? I thought our love was good and dead. I was glad of it—"

"It's not dead. It's our life, still—"

She scrutinized his face coldly. "Okay, since you're being so noble I feel like telling you something. I don't care if you believe it and I don't intend it to change anything. I haven't slept with Walter."

She grinned sarcastically at his stunned look. "Too much for you to swallow, no doubt. I told you, I don't care—"

"Ch—, May, of course I believe you—"

"May, can I see you tonight after the show?"

"Willie, don't start pressing me. And don't start building things in your head."

He stepped to her side and said in a low voice, "I love you. We'll be happy. Not comfortable. Happy. Happy. Happy in love."

She turned away abruptly, trembling, and walked toward the stage, hugging her coat about her.

The door opened and Walter Feather came in. "Hi, Lieutenant. If you want to see the Navy parade, it's coming down Fifth Avenue now. You can hear the drums in the street."

They faced each other for a moment.

"Thanks, Feather. I guess I'll go have a look at it." He glanced at the stage. May was watching them, holding a sheet of music. He gestured good-by to her, and she barely nodded. He went out into the street.

Brass-band music was echoing down the streets. The music made him straighten up in his heavy bridge coat. His mind was full of the fight that lay ahead.

He was going to make May his wife. He did not know what manner of life they would find together, he did not even know whether they would be happy, and he did not care now. He was going to make May his wife.

Torn-paper was flying in the air over the victorious marchers and now and then a scrap drifted down and brushed the face of the last captain of the Caine.

Farmers Urged to Use Crop Plan

Benson Says Acreage Rules Very Strict but Payment Is Set Up

WASHINGTON (INS)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson today urged farmers to take advantage of the government's agricultural conservation program to help them over the financial problems in connection with cutting back crop acreage for 1955.

The secretary pointed out that the conservation setup has been changed to allow government payments to farmers who established cover crops on land shifted from crop production.

The plan fits into Benson's stringent control operation designed to cut agricultural production back to conform with demand.

Under the Benson program, farmers must plant within acreage allotments for all crops, to be eligible for price supports on any single crop.

In addition, a total acreage allotment will be declared for all farms that must divert more than 10 acres from allotment crops. Here again, farmers must plant strictly within their allotments to be eligible for price supports. They are forbidden to plant diverted acreage into non-allotment crops in excess of 1953 plantings of those crops.

Thus, the only choice left for farmers who want price supports in 1955 is to turn their diverted acreage into soil conserving practices. To accomplish this, he must plant hay, cover crops, green manure crops, pasture, idle cropland, or summer fallow.

The revised ACP plan is designed to help farmers in this conversion process.

Any farmer or rancher is eligible to apply for cost-sharing in planting cover or green manure crops on diverted acreage. The ACP authorizes payment of up to 50 percent of the cost of seedbed preparation, fertilizer, lime and seed for establishing cover crops on such land.

Benson pointed out that although the main purpose of this change is to provide adequate protective cover, such crops can provide emergency winter pasture for livestock. He said in many cases this will be the only home-grown roughage available this winter.

Coffee Prices May Take Dip

Brazil Firm Cutting Its Wholesale Cost a Dime Down to $1.20

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't get your hopes up too much, too soon, but coffee prices may take a turn for the better as the result of an easing of export regulations by Brazil.

A roasting firm that distributes in several Eastern States, Joseph Martinson & Co., has cut its wholesale price 10 cents a pound to $1.20 and forecasts other processors will follow suit. Its wholesale price, however, still is about on a par with retail prices of some chain stores on their brands.

In Boston, Aborn's Coffee Corp. last night announced a 10 cents a pound cut in the wholesale price. Aborn officials said the price cut should be reflected in retail stores within a week. The retail price recently has been $1.40 a pound.

Other roasters with brands distributed on a nationwide basis were more cautious. They said they would wait and see whether yesterday's drop of two cents a pound in quotations on the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange for Santos Coffee for delivery in future months was a temporary reaction or would be followed by stable lower prices.

Brazil's action was prompted by dwindling sales of Brazilian coffee and a shortage of dollars. The 87-cent minimum export price fixed by Brazil on her coffee has had a two-fold effect, say coffee men here—it has caused roasters to buy more of their supplies from other coffee-growing countries and has resulted in a decline in U.S. coffee drinking in favor of other beverages.

Milk Production to Continue Low

Prices Dip and Industry Sees Important Factors Coming Up

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department expects the production of milk—which has been on the skids the past two months—to continue at a retarded rate through the rest of 1954.

This is due to less favorable prices for milk and butterfat in relation to feed and other costs, as well as to alternative products.

The rate of milk production, however, is expected to increase somewhat from the low point registered in June and July.

Among the important influences on milk production in the coming months are these:

1. There will be a large supply of feed grains, and an increase in the number of cows.
2. There should be a further improvement in the quality of cows due to a nationwide culling program.

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department reports corn prices advanced at markets around the nation last week following a report that this year's crop has been reduced 15 per cent because of drought.

Williams High in Official Tally

Gets Nearly as Many Primary Votes as Four GOP Men Combined

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Canvassers met today to certify official returns of the Aug. 3 primary which showed that Gov. Williams, unopposed, received almost as many votes as four Republican candidates combined.

The official canvass gave Williams 426,660 votes to 467,345 for the four Republican candidates who fought a lively campaign for their party's bid for the nomination as governor.

The canvass also showed, however, that Sen. Homer Ferguson, running unopposed for the Republican nomination to succeed himself, out-pollled both Patrick V. McNamara, the Democratic nominee, and the "memorial votes" for the late former Sen. Blair Moody.

Moody's "memorial vote" totaled 126,335. McNamara, who was left unopposed for the nomination by Moody's death two weeks before the primary, polled 226,686. This made a total of 353,046 Democratic votes, including 25 scattered votes for write-in candidates, in the senatorial race.

Ferguson gathered 410,729.

Donald S. Leonard, former state and Detroit Police commissioner, was confirmed as the winner of the Republican contest for the governorship nomination with 188,065 votes.

State Treas. D. Hale Brake received 112,797, the canvass showed. Sec. of State Owen J. Cleary won 95,825 votes and former Lieut. Gov. Eugene C. Keyes 70,569. There was a scattering of 19 Republican votes for write-ins in the contest.

Italian Coal Miners Vent Ire on Train

JEMAPPES, Belgium (AP)—Police say they have arrested three Italian coal miners who tried to derail a coal mine train because its repeated tardiness delayed their getting down to work.

The miners are not allowed to enter the pit each day until the train has passed. But the train has been running late of late.

By way of protest, said the police, the three immigrant miners put a piece of cast iron on the track last Saturday. The iron was discovered before the train hit it and the protesting three were juggled.

Twenty-five per cent "attain a measure of success after faltering along the way and the remainder are either completely unsuccessful or unaccounted for, which practically amounts to the same thing."

GOP Chairman Blasts at Hare

Wants Dem Nominee to Resign Fair Job, Is Going to Be on Watch

LANSING (AP)—As Republicans boiled and Democrats stewed yesterday over the controversy whether James Hare, Democratic secretary of state nominee, should continue to manage the Michigan State Fair, Republican State Chairman John Feikens issued this statement:

"The nomination of James Hare for secretary of state on the Democratic ticket follows the pattern set by the CIO when it announced that it was going to concentrate propaganda activities at 10 major fairs, including the state fair this year.

"Hare gave his pledge to the Democratic convention that he would devote full time to the campaign. He could keep his pledge to the convention cleverly by using his position as fair manager to put himself and other Democrat candidates in the limelight before the thousands of people attending the fair. He should resign so that his major exposition in Michigan will not be turned into a political sideshow for his and the governor's benefit.

"The state fair belongs to the people, not to the governor and Hare. There has been too much politics in the state fair in the past.

"We intend to ask the State Fair Board to take all necessary action to make certain the fair is not used for partisan political purposes, and we will have observers present to advise the public if their fair is misused.

"There is no parallel between Hare and Republican state officers who ran for nomination despite Staebler's attempt to draw one. However, if Staebler wants the governor to resign because he is running again, I suggest he so notify the governor."

Japan Has Few Houses

TOKYO (INS)—A construction Ministry white paper reveals that Japan is suffering from a shortage of 3,150,000 houses at present. The report said although 3,580,000 homes were built since the end of last war, an ever-increasing population and disasters such as fires accounted for the enormous shortage.

Too Modern Decor Goes Out of Style

Today's Furniture Happily Combines Old and New

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The extreme modern trend in home decoration and furniture is on the way out, says C. Eugene Stephenson, president of the American Institute of Decorators.

"The shock value has worn off," explains this knowing expert in the evolution of the American home. "All the tricks have been done. Modern design is getting more sensible and traditional furniture is getting more contemporary. A happy medium is now in prospect."

Stephenson and his wife form a highly successful decorating team, operating from their spacious apartment in New York's fashionable East River section. Their own office-home combines modern and traditional pieces harmoniously, tied together in a color scheme of off-white and Bristol blue, a deep, bright turquoise color.

The Stephensons have a great admiration for the average American housewife.

"The little woman is well informed today on all the latest news in home decoration as well as food, fashions, beauty, child raising and the newest quirks of psychology," says Stephenson. "Consumer magazines and newspapers have done a great job in informing the public, and local builders' shows and art exhibitions also have helped a lot."

The modern woman knows all about what's going on in almost any field. The only trouble is that she may know too much, and have trouble selecting from all the welter of information the things suitable to her individual needs and tastes."

Here is where the advice of a decorator comes in handy, he points out. Often a decorator can save the householder money — a fact many people do not realize. A reputable decorator charges no fee for his services, and merely sells the customer furniture and furnishings at established retail prices. His profit comes from being able to buy at wholesale prices like any other merchant. Says Stephenson:

"The savings to the client come from avoiding costly mistakes, and from the ability of experienced shoppers in finding good buys. The advice of the decorator is free."

A banquet is being planned for the immediate future. Charter members besides those serving in offices are Nadine Bros-vold, Carol Doyle, Joyce Finzel, Doris Miller and Mrs. Robert Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson will open her home on Fox boulevard for the next meeting which will be held Aug. 23 at 7:30. All former Trabajas members are welcome.

Maxine Fullmer and Robert Bradley exchanged wedding vows Friday evening in Trinity Methodist Church, Keego Harbor. She is the daughter of the Alfred Fullmers of Cass Lake road and his parents are the junior Robert Bradleys of Sylvan Lake.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT W. BRADLEY

Maxine Fullmer Becomes Bride in Keego Ceremony

Maxine Fullmer and Robert W. Bradley were united in marriage Friday evening in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Frank Tully in Trinity Methodist Church, Keego Harbor.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Fullmer of Cass Lake road and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradley Jr. of Garland avenue, Sylvan Lake.

For the 7 o'clock ceremony the bride chose a gown of tulle and nylon tulle fashioned with lace redingote. The bodice featured a Peter Pan collar and sleeves coming to points at the wrists.

Maxine chose a fingertip illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and white carnations.

Marlene Sawdon wore a pink strapless gown with matching jacket and headpiece as maid of honor.

Etta Mae and Patricia Fullmer, sister and niece of the bride, respectively, and Patricia Bradley, the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids.

Their floor-length gowns of net over tulle featured lace bodices with gallic necklines trimmed in seed pearls. They carried cascade bouquets of carnations tinted to match their gowns, which were yellow, green and blue, respectively.

James Deacon of Keego Harbor was best man and the ushers included Thomas Harper and Oliver Golding, both of Keego Harbor, and Donald Bradley, the bridegroom's brother.

A navy blue crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of white and blue-tinted carnations was chosen by the bride's mother for the wedding. Mrs. Bradley wore aqua tulle with pink accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

A light blue linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of roses was worn by the bride for the honeymoon trip to northern Michigan and Wisconsin. A reception was held in the Garland avenue home of the bridegroom's parents.

They will reside on North Telegraph Road.

Patsy J. Schroeder Is Wed

Patsy Joanne Schroeder and Thomas D. Mackie spoke their marriage vows Saturday evening in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian church. The bride was given in marriage by Donald B. Schroeder.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Schroeder of Putnam avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mackie of South Tilden avenue are Thomas' parents.

A gown of nylon tulle over slipper satin with a bouffant skirt sweeping into a full-length train was worn by the bride. Iridescent sequins were scattered on the fitted lace bodice.

A highlight of the gown's design was a line of delicate lace in a leaf pattern scattered with iridescent sequins that extended from the bodice down across the full three-tiered skirt.

A fingertip veil of illusion net was held in place by a Juliet cap of sequins. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and yellow button chrysanthemums on a white prayerbook with yellow and white streamers tied in love knots.

Texas Store Will Honor 4 Designers

Oscars of Fashion
World to Be Given
September 6-7

For the 17th year, Neiman-Marcus will present the finest fashions of the world before an audience of thousands and honor four notable designers at the famous Texas specialty store's annual Fashion Exposition in Dallas Sept. 6 and 7.

The Oscars of the fashion world, Neiman-Marcus Awards for distinguished service in the field of fashion, will go to a designer from Italy, Marchese Emilio Pucci of Florence and Capri, whose originality of design and flair for color have revolutionized the look of women's sportswear from Cannes to Canton, Biarritz to Birmingham; to Herbert and Beth Levine, who step into the fashion foreground with shoe designs of such architectural and sculptural perfection that they might have come from da Vinci's notebooks; and to James Galanos, a brilliant young California couturier whose clothes in their sheer beauty reflect the glory of his Greek heritage.

Formal presentation of the awards by Stanley Marcus, store president, will precede the two elaborate showings of premier collections of the great couturiers, jewelers and accessory makers of the world.

The collections have been assembled with great care to represent a "Mosaic of Fashion," which is the theme for the exposition.

The "Mosaic of Fashion" showings will project the myriad factors . . . the cut, color, fabric, talent, labor, the man, the machine, the money, research, the inspiration, adaptation, imagination, the value and the beauty . . . that make fashion the second greatest commodity market of the world.

Plastic Is Plentiful

Polyethylene plastic housewares, a novelty just five years ago now account for a major portion of housewares sales. Vacations Still in Spotlight Despite Nippy Feeling of Autumn in the Air

Detroit Rite Solemnized for Couple

Vows Are Spoken Saturday Evening by JoAnne Nicolay

Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church of Detroit was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of JoAnne Nicolay and Keith Filler Shreve. Dr. Edward Zaun performed the 8 o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of former Pontiac residents, the Ernest Nicolays of Grosse Pointe, and Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shreve of Detroit.

A full-length white gown of nylon net trimmed with white appliques of forget-me-nots was worn by the bride. The bodice featured a square neckline receding to a V in the back. She wore white nylon gauntlets and her fingertip veil was held in place by a small half cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses surrounded by lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Donald Duchene, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink chiffon over taffeta with a drape neckline extending down the back of the dress. Her flowers were purple orchids and she wore a small pink velvet hat trimmed with iridescent sequins and a tiny veil.

Other attendants were Ann Scarborough of Chicago Heights, Ill., Barbara Smead of Detroit, Barbara Brewer of Detroit and Mrs. Ernest Nicolay Jr. Their costumes were like the honor matron's.

Bradley Brown was best man and seating the guests were Richard Smith, James Smead, Ernest Nicolay Jr., and John Hanson, all of Detroit.

A cocktail dress of Chantilly lace in rose-beige with matching accessories and a bronze orchid was chosen by the bride's mother. Mrs. Shreve wore a cocktail dress of sage green chiffon with yellow accessories and yellow orchids.

After the reception held at the Detroit Yacht Club, the new Mrs. Shreve changed to a charcoal gray suit-dress with tangerine accessories for a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City. They will reside in Detroit.

Vows Repeated by Evelyn Lloyd in Detroit Rite

Christian Missionary Alliance Church of Detroit was the setting for the Aug. 12 ceremony which united Evelyn Lloyd and Franklin Stevenson of Detroit in marriage.

The bride approached the altar wearing a gown of royal blue taffeta accented with white accessories. She wore a corsage of rubrum lilies and carried a bouquet of red roses with red streamers.

Mrs. Anthony Kaminski was the bride's only attendant wearing a pink changeable taffeta dress with matching accessories and a pink and white corsage. Mr. Kaminski served as best man.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Marie Cline of Center street, chose a navy and white checked dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's birthday was also celebrated at the wedding reception, which was held in the Kaminski home following the Aug. 12 ceremony.

When the newlyweds left for their honeymoon, the bride was wearing a blue print dress with red accessories. They will make their home in Detroit.

Sit, Stand With Fluid Ease

Learn to Walk in Beauty With Regal Gracefulness

By ANITA COLBY
Learning-to-Walk Day—I suppose I've said it a dozen times, that keeping correct posture all the time is exercising all the time—finest muscle toner there is.

Now just in case you don't feel your perfect posture is ready for public consumption, we're going to spend today practicing what I've been preaching—standing, sitting, walking with perfect body alignment, while looking as if it were the only way in the world you'd ever moved.

'Pick Apples' First

Pretend you're at a wonderful party. Have some music. It will help with the illusion, and get you warmed up with a short turn of "Apple Picking" first.

Think as you pick your apples—left arm up, balance on left toe; right arm, right toe—of a ballet dancer.

Try to get your movements as fluid, as flowing as those of Cyd Charisse, an MGM star, or Lisa Fonnagraves, the famous model. Both studied ballet and believe that's why they're so graceful.

Now pretend you've just finished a dance, and cross the room and sit-like a lady. You know it isn't everyone who can. In fact, very few.

We fall down into chairs; we sit on our spines; we twist and squirm, as a nation of bad sitters. You are going to achieve a relaxed and restful attitude that also looks graceful and alert.

The secret is that you keep your posture working as you sit. Once in your chair, you push right back against the chair's back.

Sit up—with your head high, your ribs lifted out of your middle, and your neck raised proudly, but with your shoulders back—loosely down. Not hunched up around your ears—not stiff and unnatural! Just easy.

If your spinal waist is against the chair back, and your stomach pulled in tight, you're keyed to the right angle, and your shoulders can just relax.

One note here again. Should you have a choice of chairs, take the straight one, not the lounge. If you'd like to seem the most distinctive character in the room.

Start off with a straight chair. Place it at one end of your room, then walk toward it. When you get close—say a foot away—look quickly at the seat, then turn and back up to it.

Now turn your body to about a 45-degree angle with chair, and get one foot—most likely your right—behind your left, at a slight angle, under edge of chair.

Keeping your balance with right toe, bend your knees and lower your hips—spine straight—until you just graze edge of chair; then settle immediately back as far as you can.

Now don't cross your legs. You're in a nicely off-center position, your two knees together. Just cross your ankles, or tuck right instep behind left heel.

Word of Caution

Caution: Don't face your audience—one man or a room full—square on, don't spread knees, hold on to thighs with hands and squat. This is an aged, awkward—yes, disillusioning procedure, and you must forget it if you've fallen into it. Avoid it if you haven't yet.

Find the comfortable, natural variations that fit your body and leg lengths. If you have slim enough thighs and must cross your legs you'll want to learn the foot-together, one-just-ahead-of-the-other position—learn to cross the legs high on the thigh so that from the knees down they are parallel.

Stand Like a Model

I learned this in my modeling days. It takes time and practice.

but it looks graceful, and it's the best way to show off legs and ankles to advantage. You can shift weight from leg to leg, and stand longer without tiring.

First, get well balanced with weight on both feet. Then set your left heel about 2 inches back of right, at a slight angle.

Now relax your right knee and bring it forward a little, just overlapping your left knee with side of right. Don't throw your hip way out of line. Don't point right toe—just rest it on floor.

Most of your weight is on left foot—your balance with right. When you tire, shift.

Try it. Stand and hold yourself with your good posture position, breathe deeply and walk across the room. Again.

Feel like a queen? You're beginning to look like one.

Walk Like a Queen

Most queens, real or make believe, have to be taught how to move regally.

Line yourself up "hanging from the sky." You know how. Spine straight, head and chest high, tail tucked under, stomach flat.

Point your feet straight ahead and set your heel down first, following in the same instant with the rest of a three-point landing—heel, outside of foot, ball of foot. Some schools say ball of foot first, but I think it looks more natural to set heels down first, so I stick to that.

Relax your knees—and transfer all the weight from the back to the front foot smoothly and quickly; smoothly so you won't bounce, quickly so you don't settle into the hip socket between each step, making your hips roll and sway.

Push forward a little with your back foot. Don't drag it along, pulling with your front foot. Keep pulled high, with your chest lifted out of your rib cage. Feel as if your legs swung from your rib cage—practice that feeling.

As for arm swing, the left goes back as the right leg goes forward, and vice versa.

Climb Youthfully

When you climb stairs, don't work at it like an old lady. Don't haul yourself up by the rail; don't lean way over and crawl up.

Incline the whole body slightly forward carrying your weight ahead of your hips. Place one foot safely and push upward with your back foot—smoothly, just lifting your knees—over to make the riser—not jouncing up.

And coming down, turn slightly sideways so you can see the stairs without leaning over and peering. Keep nice and straight bending the back knee until the forward foot reaches stair. It's an art. Actresses love to do it, because it looks so elegant, once well learned.

Big Families, in Fact or Fiction, Always Tug on Public's Heartstrings

Spinsters Combine Fun, Profit Establish Nursery School

By ANNE HEYWOOD.
Jane and Ethel are women in their 60's—sisters who really get along well with each other. For years and years Jane stayed home and took care of their father and mother, while Ethel went to work at a very good job.

When their father and then their mother died, they decided that Jane should continue to stay home and keep house, because she was in her late 50's and had no business training or experience.

They sold the big house and got a charming small one, with a great big living room and an acre of beautiful land.

When Ethel retired from her job, they went to work on a scheme which had been in back of their minds for years.

"We adore children," Ethel told me, "but since life worked out so we had none of our own, we decided not to let that stop us from having some around us."

"There are dozens of young mothers in our town, and no really reliable babysitting service that doesn't cost a fortune."

"So we decided to set up a baby sitting service that any young mother could afford."

Ethel and Jane contacted their local board of health and licensing, and found that their property met the requirements of an informal nursery school.

They bought some equipment and toys, and cleared their big living room for a playroom. They fenced the yard and put in swings and playground equipment.

Then they put ads in their local paper and told their church and clubs about it.

"We were snowed under from the very beginning," Jane said. "We are open from noon until 6, every day but Sunday, and we charge one dollar per child per afternoon. We serve a simple lunch, and we have wonderful kids. Sometimes a mother just wants to leave her child with us occasionally, when she has heavy shopping to do, or needs a permanent."

"But more and more were getting 'regulars'—mothers with part-time jobs who need care for their children."

"And the kids have so much fun together! As for us, we are having the time of our lives, and making out very well financially, too."

Money Held Jointly With Late Fiance

Girl Asks What to Do With His Share of the Savings

By EMILY POST

A sad letter today says: "My fiance and I had a joint bank account to which we both contributed money toward buying furnishings for our future home."

"However, my fiance was killed in an automobile accident a month ago and I would like to know what to do about this money? Should I keep it all, or should I return his share to his parents?"

Answer: You should offer it to his parents and leave it up to them to decide whether they want (or need) to take it or want you to have it.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible for a wife to buy her husband a wedding ring after five years of marriage? Our anniversary is next month and I can think of no other present I would rather give.

However friends say it would be wrong. If it is all right to give him this ring, will you please tell me what date I should have put in it, the date of our marriage or the present date?

Answer: If he himself would like to wear a wedding ring, by all means give it to him; otherwise another kind of ring would be more suitable at this late date.

You do not have to have it engraved, but if you do, your wedding date would be best for a wedding ring, or today's date for another ring.

Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's daughter is going to be married soon and I have been invited to the wedding reception. I have worked as his private secretary for the past year.

Because of a previous engagement I will be unable to go to the wedding. I have met the daughter just once when she came to the office. The other two men who are employed here know the family quite well and will each send the bride a present.

I would like to know what I should do under the circumstances. Shall I send the bride a gift, send her a check, or just what?

Answer: If you would like to buy a small gift you can, although it is not expected, and under no circumstances, send a check.

Baby's Weight Loss No Cause for Alarm

You'll find that Baby will lose a little weight for some days after he's born because he won't be taking much food. But don't let this weight loss worry you. It's natural. He'll soon begin to gain and then will grow much faster in weight than in height.

While he'll double his birth weight within a few months, it will take Baby about four years to double his length. Don't count on his gaining a certain number of ounces from month to month; it's far more important to see that he gains steadily rather than that he gain a certain amount.

Girl Shouldn't Blame Herself

Destiny Led Lad Into Joining Marines

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I didn't like him too well when I first met him two years ago, but after a while I began to like him very much indeed. He heard it somehow and began to call me up."

"Then my father said I couldn't go out with anybody, and put a stop to his walking me home from school and calling me up."

"I didn't think it was fair to ask him to wait until I could go out, so I told him to take other girls out. He did, but called me up every now and then."

"Now he has quit school and joined the Marines. I feel it's all my fault. I'm sure if I'd gone with him, it never would have happened."

"When he called to say goodbye, he said he would try to write. I do so want to write to him."

"I don't think he knows how much I like him, and I wish there were some way I could let him know. Can you help me?"

Things have a way of turning out the way they were meant to. Your relationship with this boy got off to a very slow start. You didn't really cotton to him when you first met.

And when you finally convinced yourself that you did like him in a big way, your dad stepped in and squelched all possibilities of going with him.

The boy knew how you felt about that. He could see your disappointment. He knew, too, where to put the blame. It wasn't your fault, and he knew that. He also had enough respect for you and for your father to take the man at his word. He didn't want to cause you complications.

So he bowed out of the picture, except for occasional phone calls. He couldn't date you, so he dated other girls. And that was as it was meant to be.

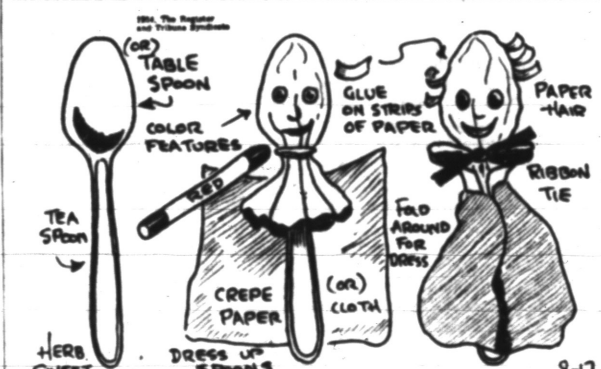

You haven't seen him enough recently, or talked to him enough, to know what was behind his decision to quit school and join the Marines.

And there's little you could have done to keep him from working out his own plans, anyhow. His own destiny was working itself out, and you'd have been swept out of the way in the process.

There's hope in the fact that he called you to say goodbye and said he would try to write.

But wait until you do get a letter. Why start writing to him of your own accord, only to have your father perhaps put a quick end to it?

It seems silly to start anything unless you're in a position to keep it up.

Try It Make Spoon Dolls in 3-D

This is the time of year when wooden spoons are on hand in most homes, for they are inexpensive and save mother much time when it comes to dishwashing. And isn't it fun to eat out in the open, on the porch, in your yard, or in the country?

Turn the bowl of the spoon towards you, then fill this with bits of paper napkin. Cover the entire bowl of the spoon with crepe paper in a light shade or with plain cloth, and fasten with a rubber band. Make the features with paint or crayon.

Add bits of fringed paper for the hair and glue this to the back of the head. Wrap paper napkins or cut crepe paper for the dress or suit. Make a ribbon bow tie or a sash. These are fun for picnic favors.

You could use these for place-cards, favors, or even glue them to a plain card for an invitation to give to your friends. Make the dolls cute and funny, for people will enjoy them more.

PETUNIA!

So worn and tired and shabby.
So sadly splotted and dark,
I'm certain my linoleum
Came over in the Ark!

Then why not give it a base coat of floor enamel, Petunia, and stipple it with other colors for a marbled effect? Prettier—and practical!

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

T.R.'s Brood Won Nation's Affection

The loneliness of the human heart is, I'm sure, one explanation for the absorbing interest of the average person in happy families. I remember an editor telling me several years ago that Kathleen Norris' name on a magazine cover just then would send up the sales by thousands. I'm sure it was because of the big happy family Mrs. Norris nearly always introduced you to on almost the first page of her story, along with a cozy kitchen, geraniums on the window sill, the kettle on the stove and at least MISS MCBRIDE two people making tea and talking comfortably about the concerns of the clan.

Before you'd read far you felt as if they were your friends. You knew how they looked and talked and what they liked to eat. The lonely person enjoyed their small squabbles and felt a great sense of security when they drew tightly together at the slightest threat to any of their number.

Solitary lookers and listeners follow avidly the adventures of fictional families on television and radio, and even write letters of advice, warning and congratulations as if the creatures were flesh and blood.

In fact, sometimes the fictional family does have a real-life basis. This is true of "Life with Father," which began with the late Clarence Day's memories of his own childhood.

The Roosevelt families have furnished conversation and excitement for at least three generations. Theodore Roosevelt especially was a perfect public-figure father. Hermann Hagedorn, writing about the Roosevelt family of Sagamore Hill, says it was the children who gave the former President his truest recreation.

"All young Roosevelts," Mr. Hagedorn quotes a reporter of the day as writing, "believe that the President can row a boat better, shoot a gun straighter and set off fireworks louder than anyone else."

While his children must have realized when they went to live in the White House that he was President, they still felt that they had first call on him. Hagedorn tells about once when Mr. Roosevelt, on his way to a diplomatic reception, went into the nursery where the two youngest boys instantly raced for the bed and threw themselves on it with the ecstatic conviction that a romp was going to begin.

"I did not have the heart to disappoint them and the result was that my shirt got so mussed that I had to change it," Theodore Roosevelt wrote to a correspondent.

The obstacle walk that he inaugurated when the family home at Oyster Bay was the summer White House included not only the boys but all their friends. He would lead the group through millponds which they would swim with their clothes on, into the woods, over the marshes and up and down the bluffs. The rules forbade going around anything.

"I did not look exactly presidential when I got back," Teddy admitted.

My favorite of all the stores about the ex-President and his children concerns the time when the boys were riding on the back seat of a trolley car making faces at dignitaries who went by in carriages.

Up from the White House came the President's open carriage with the President in it. The boys made their worst faces. And the President of the United States made faces right back.

Sometimes Add Wool Yarns

Fiber Rugs Gaining Fans

By ELIZABETH HULLYER

There's both practical sense and style sense in today's fiber rugs. They're happily inexpensive and sturdy, and have a clean-cut tailored look which seems to add spaciousness to a room.

And design for fiber rugs has much to do with their upswinging popularity. The crisp tweed patterns, the handsome plaids, the artful mixtures which effectively combine room scheme colors.

Sometimes fiber rugs add wool yarns, which give them a somewhat softer look. Here is an advance sketch of a new design in fiber and wool called Scandia, soon to be seen in the stores.

The interesting effect of the brush-stroke pattern has a contemporary feeling when it's used with contemporary furnishings, and a traditional look when it's used with the informally traditional.

Spicy Relish Goes Well With Meats

Mrs. R. Hellenius of Clarkston Offers Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Since this is the season of the year when the fragrance of pickling spices can be detected in many a home, we are offering you a Mustard Relish recipe today. Mrs. R. Hellenius of Clarkston who gave us the recipe says it is excellent with cold meats or hot dogs.

When asked about her club memberships and her hobbies, Mrs. Hellenius firmly disclaimed any of them. "When I need exercise," she said, "I go out and pull weeds." So we know she does some gardening.

MUSTARD RELISH

By Mrs. R. Hellenius
1 quart green tomatoes
1 quart cucumbers
1 1/2 pint onions
1 pint green peppers
1 medium cabbage or cauliflower
1 bunch celery

Grind together all but the celery, using the coarse knife of the grinder. Cut up the celery into small pieces. Add 2 tablespoons salt and let stand overnight.

7 cups brown sugar
7 cups vinegar
1 cup flour
1 cup dry mustard
1 ounce celery seed
1 ounce mustard seed
1 ounce turmeric

Mix dry ingredients with the vinegar. Add the chopped vegetables and boil 5 minutes. Seal at once in sterilized jars. Makes about 10 quarts of relish.

IF tummy bulge—

Avoid clinging jersey, knit fabric or shiny satin. Shirtdress in crepe with soft front folds is good news for you.
Mrs. T. B.—Tight hemline, beltless and you emphasize that bulge but front-side fullness which creates hemline width, done in black or navy crepe in the simple, extremely comfortable shirtwaist, balances that mid-bulge.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

When you are in the middle of a conversation with one person, and another person joins the group, give him a brief fill-in such as:

"We were talking about Jim Smith's campaign," or, "I was telling Bob about my plans to go west on my vacation next month."

Summing up a conversation for the late arrival is a quick, easy, and gracious gesture.

First patent for a vacuum cleaner was issued Nov. 2, 1909.

Pick Fragrance With Originality

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)—A French perfume expert thinks changing from day to day is a "foolish practice."

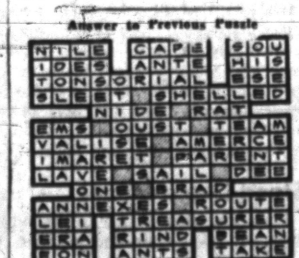

According to Suzanne Thierry, who toured the U. S. for her perfume concern, the selection of perfume is an art—and the perfume must be fitted to the individual.

Miss Thierry said: "A woman's own perfume is part of her identity to others. It may be changed from time to time and evening wear calls for a stronger fragrance, but ten perfume bottles lined up on a dressing table is ridiculous as well as expensive."

She added that if the combination of essences in the perfume chosen is not right for the wearer, the perfume will not stay.

Dial Is New Deal

Quicker than you can dial Operator you can now dial one teaspoon of sugar, or shake of salt, or spoon of detergent for the washing machine. "Just dial me" shakes, measures and pours by means of the lustrous styrene plastic dial top. Housewives will find it useful for instant coffee, soap powders, tea, cinnamon sugar, spices and salt.

French Formula Worries Dulles

U.S. Sees Ideas Killing Europe Defense Plan; Wiley Goes to Paris

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials from Secretary of State Dulles down were reported fearful today that new French defense proposals might kill the long-cherished six-nation European army plan.

Authoritative American informants seemed convinced changes in the European Defense Community plan, proposed by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, were far too drastic to be accepted by the other countries involved.

And they foresaw little or no chance that the other proposed European army partners—West Netherlands and Luxembourg—could find any formula for reconciling their own views with the new French attitude.

Foreign ministers of the six nations are to meet in Brussels Thursday to discuss the problem.

All participants except France and Italy have ratified the treaty. The Mendes-France amendments among other things, would allow any member to withdraw from EDC if American and British troops were pulled out of Europe.

would make the EDC treaty's length the same as that of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forbid the stationing of German troops on French soil and withhold final French ratification pending a new try at settlement with Russia over Germany.

In a move to explain the new French plan, Ambassador Henri Bonnet met yesterday at the State Department yesterday with Acting Secretary Walter Bedell Smith.

Smith was reported to share the view that the French plan imperils the entire future of the defense community. However, he was said to be leading an intensive drive to find some sort of middle path which might be acceptable to France and the other European army partners. Some other officials were reported pessimistic over his chances.

In a further U.S. move to bolster EDC's prospects, Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee announced he will leave for Europe today to talk over the matter—at Dulles' request—with British and French officials, including Mendes-France.

Cobo was among three old members and nine new ones appointed to the council.

Church Freedom Is Urged by Bishop From Hungary

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A bishop from Communist Hungary declared today churches must not bow to any governmental system but should stand more resolutely as free instruments of God.

"In the face of all opposing views either within or outside the church we proclaim this freedom of the church's way," Bishop John Peter told World Christian leaders.

He was the first delegate from behind the Iron Curtain on the program of the global assembly here of the World Council of Churches and the most controversial figure among them.

In a prepared speech brimming with Scripture quotations he asserted that the church is not bound up with any social system but serves independently its Lord on the road of human history.

He said: "I believe that not only in our country but everywhere in the world where there are Christians the churches ought to voice this independence of the church of all social systems more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore."

There are 20 representatives from Communist lands among 1,500 churchmen from 48 nations participating in the assembly. Their presence has been assailed by some outside groups, and Bishop Peter's role particularly has been questioned.

Peter is a bishop of the Reformed Church of Hungary. The State Department denied him permission to attend a world Presbyterian meeting in Princeton, N.J. two weeks ago but issued a visa restricting his trip to World Council activities.

Asked about rumors the bishop was a member of the Hungarian secret police, a State Department spokesman said at the time that information indicated Peter's visit should be limited.

However, a World Council leader, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, told newsmen there are no wraps on any delegates—Peter included—so far as what they do or say at the assembly.

Bishop Peter did not specifically praise or criticize the Hungarian regime but he did maintain conditions for health and growth of the church had improved in recent times.

He said God "having delivered us from many harmful bondage of the past," has kept his promise in the midst of the events of World War II and after it to reveal "his secret to his servants."

The Hungarian government, he said, in "guaranteeing the freedom of church life" provided for gradually decreasing state subsidies. He expressed gratification this was leading to church self-support.

Pearl King Works for U.S.

96-Year-Old Japanese Says He Wants to Pay Off War Reparations

TOKYO (UP)—Japan's 96-year-old pearl king, Kokiichi Mikimoto, wants to live until he's at least 102 so he can repay the world for the Pearl Harbor attack.

The spry Mikimoto, who discovered how to grow cultured pearls and has made a fortune raising them, quipped, "I can't afford to die before I'm 102."

"Japan has been beaten in war, and I mean to make by myself all the money she needs for reparations payments," he explained.

An exaggeration, perhaps, but cultured pearls earn many badly needed dollars for the island empire. In 1953 this country exported $4,500,000 worth of pearls—67 per cent of them to the United States. The other major buyers, taking from four to five per cent, were Italy, Switzerland, France and Germany.

Japan's cultured pearl industry, with practically a world monopoly, attracts many tourists who want to learn how Mikimoto cheated nature by forcing oysters to grow pearls whether they wanted to or not.

It was no easy job. Born the son of a poor noodle vendor, Mikimoto failed time after time before he produced his first semi-circular pearl.

It took him another 13 years to trick his balky oysters into producing round pearls.

Basically, pearl culturing is simple. Between May and August, three-year-old oysters are hauled from their ocean beds by women divers and a tiny granule of mother-of-pearl is stuck into the flesh of each oyster.

Back in the ocean, the oyster, its tender body irritated by the sharp-edged granule, secretes calcium carbonate in countless thin layers, forming a smooth-surfaced pearl.

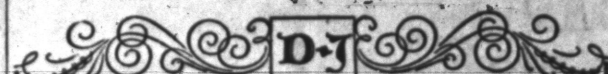

Oysters will grow pearls only if they live in water filled with plankton, microscopic sea life on which they feed, and in water no colder than 45 degrees Fahrenheit.

Fort Retaken by Portuguese

Warship Lands Troops
at Tiracol to Dislodge
Pro-Indian Goans

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Portuguese troops were reported in full possession today of Goa's Tiracol fortress after a show of force dislodged the band of pro-Indian demonstrators who occupied the bastion Sunday.

Reports published in New Delhi newspapers made no mention of any casualties in the recapture of the fort yesterday but a report received in Bombay said one of the demonstrators was killed and another wounded.

The band of Goan nationalists had occupied the fort on Goa's northern frontier early Sunday after eight Portuguese police garrisoning it fled. Capture of Tiracol was the nationalists' only success in their widely publicized "liberation march" which fizzled down to only a token invasion of the Portuguese-Indian territories claimed by India.

All reports published in New Delhi said a Portuguese warship landed a party of 120 soldiers at Tiracol early yesterday and that the troops quickly regained the fort, hauled down the Indian flag, and rounded up the nationalists. One report described the warship as a "cruiser" and said it bombarded Tiracol for 90 minutes before the troop landing. As Portugal has no cruisers, it appeared likely the ship was one of the Portuguese frigates or sloops operating off Goa since the colony was threatened.

Another report said the warship fired only blanks to scare the demonstrators, who surrendered without further resistance. Still another account said the only firing was a salute salvo after the surrender.

The report received in Bombay, which is 250 miles north of Goa, said the casualties occurred when some of the nationalists resisted the lowering of the Indian flag they had raised over the fort 24 hours before.

The reports in the New Delhi newspapers said the troops found only 15 nationalists in Tiracol and that these were arrested "unharmless."

One report reaching the Indian capital from Goa, however, said as many as 150 demonstrators had entered the fort and the surrounding territory Sunday and that 50 to 70 of these were rounded up.

From Nova Goa, the capital of Portuguese India, Associated Press Correspondent Harold K. Mills reported that about 150 persons were being detained as a result of the Sunday march into Goa, the largest of the Portuguese enclaves. Officials said all were Goan nationalists, though many had lived for years in India.

Nationalist leaders in Bombay originally had anticipated a march of thousands, but Nehru ordered border police to keep all non-Goans out.

One Million Now Relieved of Filing Tax Estimates

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Everybody gets another month to work over his income tax returns and about one million taxpayers who have been required to file advance estimates of income are now relieved of that chore.

These are two important administrative changes included in the big tax revision act recently passed by Congress.

One change that affects all individual taxpayers: the deadline for final returns is shifted from the traditional March 15 to April 15. This change goes into effect when you file your returns next spring.

Taxpayers over 65 no longer are required to file returns if their income is $1,200 or less. Under the old law, they were supposed to file a return if they made more than $600.

Further, all individuals are relieved of filing information returns—reports of income paid to others—unless they are in business. Under the old law an individual had to file an information return if he paid $600 or more a year to any one person.

Big changes have been made in requirements for filing quarterly advance estimates of income and making payments based on these estimates. These changes affect estimates due in 1955—not 1954. You continue this year under the old law.

If you make less than $100 not subject to withholding, you don't have to file quarterly advance estimates—unless your total income is $5,000 or more if you are single, or $10,000 or more for married couples or single heads of households.

Under the old law you had to file advance declarations and payments if your income was expected to exceed $4,500 plus $600 for each exemption.

If your income includes more than $100 not subject to withholding, you are still required to file estimated returns, provided your total income is expected to exceed $400, plus $600 for each exemption.

One Million Now Relieved of Filing Tax Estimates

Under the old law, taxpayers with more than $100 income not subject to withholding had to file estimates if their income exceeded $600.

If you have to file estimated returns, the deadline for the first estimate and payment is April 15, instead of March 15. The other three installments are due on the same dates as before—June 15, Sept. 15 and Jan. 15.

However, if you choose to make your final return before the new April 15 deadline, you can wait until Jan. 31, instead of Jan. 15 as under the old law. If you make your final return on Jan. 31, you don't have to meet the fourth-quarter installment on Jan. 15.

Farmers get a little more time. They can wait until Feb. 15 to file their final return on previous year's income, instead of Jan. 31 as under the old law. If they file this final return by Feb. 15, they don't have to make the fourth-quarter return on Jan. 15.

If you underestimate your tax by more than 30 per cent, you pay a penalty of 6 per cent on the amount above 30 per cent. But farmers don't pay a penalty unless they are more than one third off.

Under the old law, the penalty could be much higher—up to 16 per cent of the unpaid bill.

But you don't pay any penalty if you base your estimates on last year's tax, or last year's income; or if you pay 70 per cent (66 2-3 per cent for farmers) of the tax figured by taking your income up to the date of the return and extending it throughout the entire year.

Local Ordnance Unit Plans Manpower Expansion

MAKING PLANS—Major William J. Lacy of 847 Menominee Rd., CO of the 307th Ordnance Battalion, (right) discusses make-up of a proposed Automotive Support Co. with Capt. Wayne R. Harbour (center) who heads the local reserve center at 37 W. Lawrence St., and 1st Lt. Fred S. Kerr of 4526 Brownell St., Utica. Kerr will head the new unit.

STOCKPILES NECESSARY—Large amounts of supplies are needed to keep a unit such as a proposed Army Reserve Automotive Support Co. working effectively. First Lt. Charles P. Taylor (left) of 609 S. LeRoy, Fenton, works over a list of supplies needed to back up the planned unit with M/Sgt. Thomas E. Coon of 2078 Manchester, Birmingham.

MECHANICAL ABILITY NEEDED—It takes mechanical know-how to keep vehicles rolling in the heat of combat. These part-time soldiers, getting their training in early, are Sgt. Ellwood H. Johnson (center) of 6771 Westaway, Rochester, and Pvt. Robert E. Sheperdy of 20404 Snowden Ct., Detroit.

SHOP TALK—Sfc. Paul C. Jones (right) of Rochester points out different mechanical parts of a jeep to Pfc. Charles H. Hawn (left) of Pontiac. The two men, both members of Pontiac's 307th Ordnance Bn., are concerned with the upkeep of vehicles used by the local Army Reserve units. Looking over the vehicle's engine is M/Sgt. Thomas E. Coon of Birmingham. All three men are learning duties which will come with the proposed Automotive Support Co. of the 307th Ordnance Battalion, an Army Reserve unit. The new unit must fill its quota of 37 men and six officers and go through a mountain of paperwork before the new company will be a reality.

WELCOME EXTENDED—Lt. Fred S. Kerr of Utica (right) who will command a proposed Army Reserve Automotive Support Co., welcomes one of the officers who will be a part of his new organization when it is formed, 2nd Lt. Lloyd K. Wright (left) of 23410 Geoffrey Ct., Oak Park, as M/Sgt. Cliff W. Salton of 3583 Lincolnshire, Waterford Township smiles approvingly.

Automotive Support Group Seeks Pontiac Reservists

Reserve Army officers and men are needed to fill the ranks of a proposed automotive support company, which will be a part of the 307th Ordnance Battalion in Pontiac.

The new unit will give ordnance support to Army units which use anything from small arms to tanks, and its commander will be 1st Lt. Fred S. Kerr of 4526 Brownell, Utica.

The planned organization will need five officers, one warrant officer, and 37 enlisted men, and will be a service organization trained in auto and weapon repair.

As in all reserve units the auto support company's members will receive a day's pay for each drill attended. The company will meet three nights monthly on Tuesday with a total of 24 paid drills per year.

Major William J. Lacy, commanding officer of the 307th Battalion, emphasized that men who still have a reserve obligation will have a chance to discharge that obligation sooner and get paid for it and will have a good chance for quick promotion.

In a form letter sent out to recently discharged soldiers Lacy said: "It is urgently requested that you consider the opportunities offered you in a rapidly growing outfit, and that you plan to attend a meeting of all interested personnel on Aug. 17 at 5 p.m., at the U.S. Army Reserve Center, 37 W. Lawrence St., Utica."

"This new unit is in desperate need of former enlisted men with all types of experience in ordnance and allied fields. If unable to attend the organizational meeting Aug. 17, contact Capt. Wayne Harbour at Federal 5-0111," Major Lacy said.

Statehood Top Ambition of Territory of Alaska

By JOE HAAS

Pontiac Press Staff Writer
JUNEAU, Alaska — This capital city of the Territory of Alaska is bursting out all over for statehood. It is its top ambition.

The Juneau daily paper, The Alaska Empire, now feels that statehood is impossible in the foreseeable future. "on account of Congressional stumbling blocks, and announces the start of a campaign to secure a commonwealth status similar to that of Puerto Rico. This, it says, would make Alaska a "free and self-governing unit."

This city which became Alaska's capital when the territorial seat of government was moved here from Sitka many years ago, is quite unique in many other ways. Juneau's halibut cold storage plants now are receiving this fish at the rate of 150 tons per day, caught in the waters of the Inside Passage. Its gold mines rival the Klondike and have produced over $100 million in the precious metal.

Snow capped mountains rise from its very streets. Icebergs from the nearby Mendenhall glacier dot its harbor, where whales sport their jets of water high in the air. The sunlight is with it about 20 hours per day in the summer, yet the temperature would remind you of Pontiac—as this is often written it is 75 on a cloudless afternoon.

This cruise ship, "Prince George," comes up from Vancouver and goes to Skagway, spending a leisurely five days each way. It has a capacity passenger list of 260. They come from nearly every state in the union and from every Canadian province.

Only five are from Michigan, four of these being from Oakland County. These are Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Klingler of Bloomfield Hills, the writer of these lines and his wife. The other Michigan passenger is from Jackson.

Klingler is stopping off at Ketchikan on the return trip to do some fishing. Both Mr. and Mrs. Klingler will take the two-day trip on the narrow gauge railroad from Skagway up into the Klondike region while the boat is tied up at its most northerly port.

A close study of Alaska and intimate contact with its vast possibilities shows that it has much besides spectacular scenery — in which world travelers agree it cannot be beaten.

In an international way, it now occupies what many regard as the most important location on earth. It is conceded that when the United States bought it from Russia away back in the 1860s for a mere paltry sum as global finances were computed even in those days, Russia surely got gyped.

When our Secretary Seward made the deal for Alaska it became a political issue. The wise guys on Main street and Wall street were sure that it was a monumental mistake, and the transaction came to be known as "Seward's folly."

Today the Reds would gladly swap a whole brimming bagful of belligerent and bondage stricken so-called satellites to get it back. It is the hot spot in the road in their quest for world domination.

Half Sprite, Half Woman

That Gal Audrey Talks With Her Eyes

By DICK KLEINER
(Second of Five Articles)

NEW YORK (SEA)—Hollywood came to New York for Audrey Hepburn. She was playing in "Gigi," and had sailed through a sensational screen test. They had cast her as the Princess in Roman Holiday, but time was wasting. It was June. The picture was to start in September.

So Paramount sent a bunch of cameramen and technicians to New York to do make-up and wardrobe tests on the new star. The crew was made up of veterans, men who had seen them all since the days of Pola Negri. They'd never seen nor heard of Audrey Hepburn, though.

After the first day, to a man they were in her camp. Paramount officials say they've never seen anything like it—these grizzled, unmovable veterans stood there with eyes glistening, staring at Hepburn in open-mouthed admiration.

"This," said one man, "is a real pro."

She's been real pro all her life. It was something born into her, like her big gray eyes. She has a way of taking advantage of her limited physical equipment and, when you watch her, you see beauty that isn't there.

For she isn't beautiful—her mouth is too big, her teeth irregular, her feet and hands are big, she's tall and angular, and her neck is skinny.

But somehow nobody seems to notice or care. All they know is that when you're watching Audrey Hepburn act, you forget that it's Audrey Hepburn. She becomes the part—whether it's the young girl in Gigi, the princess in Roman Holiday, the water sprite in Ondine or the chauffeur's daughter in her coming movie, Sabrina.

People who've seen Sabrina say there is one scene that shows Hepburn at her acting best. They're already talking in terms of another Oscar.

She's dancing with Humphrey Bogart. But she's thinking about William Holden. And as she the chemistry of the audience. That's what makes stars."

"Her eyes," says another long-time associate. "That gal talks with her eyes. It's uncanny. It's like looking at the sun with dark glasses—you can almost feel the fire."

And then there are those who say, probably out of galloping jealousy, that what makes Hepburn successful is press agency. They say there are dozens of young actresses around who could do as well, given the same parts and equal publicity.

Maybe, but Broadway's tough theatrical critics don't fall for publicity, and they unanimously think she's something way above average.

But don't try to tell Audrey Hepburn she's already a great actress. She still thinks of herself as just beginning to catch on to her trade. When anybody says something to her about an award or a big honor of any sort, she'll generally say, "Oh, not yet—wait until I get as big as Jean Simmons."

Miss Simmons, the beautiful young English actress, is a performer Audrey Hepburn admires tremendously. Of the veteran actresses, she stands in particular awe of Lynn Fontanne, Katherine Cornell and Vivien Leigh.

In general, Miss Hepburn feels more at home with acting people than non-performers. At least she will listen to them more attentively.

Some of the businessmen she, like all actors, must deal with complain privately that she will take the advice of any actor or actress on her career, while she may not listen to the word of a veteran show business executive.

There are some exceptions to that, of course, and chief among dances around, not saying a word, you can tell her thoughts in her eyes—first remorse for being with the wrong man, then interest, then something more. All in her eyes.

There are many good actresses—many probably as good or better than Audrey Hepburn—and certainly there are many more beautiful than she. Why does the spotlight turn to her? What's the secret of her appeal?

"Chemistry," says a man who's worked with her for years. "The chemistry of Hepburn mixes with these are a few people at Paramount she has come to respect. This dates back to her screen test, which still has them buzzing in the movie business.

She was signed while in England to what's called a "test-optional" deal. That means that she was under contract, provided the screen test was judged satisfactory by the biggest brass back in Hollywood.

So she took her test in England. Conditions weren't good. The lighting somehow was very poor. So was the sound. But it was made anyhow, and shipped off to

Big Ike Balloon Sails Right Out of '54 Campaign

WASHINGTON (UP)—An old warrior of the 1952 Eisenhower presidential campaign has been blown clear out of the 1954 fight for Congress.

A gray barrage balloon with "Ike" lettered on its sides was floating quietly last night over a hotel where the Citizens for Eisenhower group was showing a new campaign movie.

Suddenly a windstorm blew up and "Old No. 1" was caught in the Paramount office in New York for relaying to Hollywood.

"We ran it through once," recalls a man who saw it first, "and we got tremendously excited. She came through this amateurish test like a fireball."

"There was no doubt that she was a find-of-a-lifetime. But we decided not to call Hollywood and tell them."

"We decided to send it out without any comment, and let them get a bang out of that test cold."

Big Grey in Whitney?Owner and Trainer to Confer Today on Whether Dancer Will Run Saturday

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Owner Alfred G. Vanderbilt and trainer Bill Winfrey went into conference today and the outcome will determine if their big grey, Native Dancer, starts in the $50,000-added Whitney Handicap at Saratoga Saturday.

The Dancer, who won the Onondaga Handicap yesterday in his first outing since May 15, has been assigned a hefty 136 pounds for the mile and a quarter and Vanderbilt is not particularly pleased about the heavy impost.

"But the weight is not bad enough that we'd throw up our hands and give up," Vanderbilt said.

The colt had been assigned 133 pounds for the Suburban last May, but was forced out with a foot injury. Vanderbilt apparently thought handicapper Frank Kilroe would be more lenient.

The 136 pounds Kilroe assigned the Dancer is 10 pounds higher than the scale of weights for age. This is the first year the Whitney hasn't been a weight for age race and the changeabout cost the Grey destroyer 10 pounds.

Other weight assignments include Find, another Vanderbilt horse, with 122; Brookmeade Stable's Capeador and C. V. Whitney's Cold Command and Fisherman at 121; the Saxton Stable's Invigorator and Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale at 120 and John S. Phipps' Level Lea at 118.

Although the Dancer hauled in a mere pittance in the Onondaga-

Americans Star in Exhibitions in Canada LoopLeBaron, Jacobs and Roberts Lead Teams to Victories

By The Associated Press
The rules and scoring procedure may be a little confusing at first, but there should be enough former American players in the spotlight to lend a note of familiarity to Canadian football for the U.S. fan when he gets his first televised look this fall.

Three of the ex-National Football League players who jumped the border for Canadian cash figured in starring roles last night on the exhibition schedule.

It was quarterback Eddie LeBaron, the Little All-America who played for College of the Pacific and the National Football League's Washington Redskins who flipped the winning touchdown pass in the third period as the Calgary Stampede defeated the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of Calgary.

The Tiger-Cats, defending champions of Canadian football, were the second exhibition victims for the Stampede this season.

Jack Jacobs, one-time Oklahoma and Green Bay Packer quarterback, passed for three touchdowns in a 19-2 triumph for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers over the Toronto Argonauts.

The Ottawa Rough Riders defeated the Edmonton Eskimos 19-13 at Ottawa. Gene (Choo) Choo, formerly with the New York Giants, scored two touchdowns for Ottawa.

At Regina, the Montreal Alouettes beat the Saskatchewan Roughriders 11-1 for their second victory in three exhibitions. It was the second defeat for the Roughriders.

Top Stars Tee Off in CanadaChampion Don Cherry Meets 16-Year-Old Opponent

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—With preliminaries over, the top stars moved into action today in the second round of the 50th Canadian Amateur golf championship.

Defending champion Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., was second off the starting tee, meeting Wilfred Homenick, a 16-year-old youngster from Yorkton, Sask.

Sixty matches were scheduled over par 70, 64-yard London Hunt and Country Club course. By nightfall, only 64 golfers will remain for tomorrow's double rounds.

There are 48 Americans left in the six-day match play event, headed by virtually the entire American Cup team of Bill Campbell, Dale Morey, Harvie Ward, Joe Conrad, Jack Westland, Charlie Coe and Cherry.

Bell Urges Major Baseball for Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Major league baseball may continue to by-pass the West Coast, but Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League can't understand why.

"If they don't come out here I think they don't know what it's all about," Bell told newsmen yesterday. "Why look at the success of the Los Angeles Rams and the San Francisco 49ers. I can remember when some of our owners complained if they had to bring their teams out here. Now they squawk if they don't get games here because of the fine attendance."

Braves Eye 2nd Straight Attendance Mark for NL

By CHRIS EDMONDS
MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee baseball production is becoming a better show than a three-ring circus.

Charlie Grimm's Braves, the hottest items in major league lineups at the moment, are the reason the beer town is going even better about baseball than a year ago.

It was hilarious here then, when fans hungry to watch players they'd been reading about for years stormed to a new National League attendance record in the club's first year of operation outside of Boston. Now the hilarity has turned to frenzy in the scramble for tickets.

Take last Saturday night for instance. One hour before a game with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs it was raining hard. Automobile driving was difficult. The roads down to County Stadium were choked with cars and fans sloshed happily toward the gates. The rain forced cancellation of in-

Phillies' Robin Roberts Wins 18th VictoryTribe Hurlers Lead League

By BEN OLAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Manager Al Lopez may be wondering today how many more complete games he'll get from his Indians' pitching staff which has produced 59 in 117 starts this season for the major leagues' best record.

While Lopez has had to call to his improved bullpen in less than half of Cleveland's games, New York Yankee pitchers have come up with only 34 route-going jobs in the 118 games they've played, figures compiled by the Associated Press show.

Bob Lemon and Early Wynn have each gone the distance 14 times and are the American League leaders. Mike Garcia has 12 complete games, Art Houtteman 9, Bob Feller 8 and Don Mossi and Ray Narjeski 1 apiece. Feller had only 4 all last year.

Whitely Ford, with eight, is the top route-goer for the Yankees. No one else on Casey Stengel's staff has more than five.

In the National League, thanks to Robin Roberts, the majors' individual leader, the Philadelphia Phillies show the top mark of 52 complete games, one more than the surging Milwaukee Braves.

Roberts has started 29 games and finished 21 of them, including last night's 9-6 victory over Brooklyn. He has won 18 and lost 10.

handed ace, has 16 complete games in 24 starts and Curt Simmons, the Phillies' southpaw, also has gone the distance 16 times in 25 starts. Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants has completed 14 games out of 27 starts.

Actually Bob Porterfield of Washington shows the majors' most impressive complete games slate. The Senators' right-hander has started 24 games and completed 18. His won-lost record, however, is an unimposing 11-11.

Besides Wynn and Lemon, Steve Gromek of Detroit also has produced 14 complete games.

The poorest team records belong to the Cincinnati Redlegs with only 22 complete in 116 games and the St. Louis Cardinals with 27 in 115.

Par Is Rugged for JC Golfers at Albuquerque

Georgian and Hawaiian Only Players to Beat Par in Qualifying

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Par 72 on the University of New Mexico's tough course was the goal of 190 teen-aged youngsters today as they teed off in the second round of the 36-hole qualifying test for the annual International Jaycee Junior Golf tournament.

The 7,230-yard course, with its sand traps, hills and tricky fairways, proved too much for all but two of the young golfers as qualifying play began yesterday.

The two who beat the course were Davis Adams of Macon, Ga., home state of two of the previous winners, and Gerald Goring of Honolulu, Hawaii. Each had a one-under par 71.

Adams had a 37-34 for his total, Goring 36-35. Each had a two-stroke bulge going into today's second round.

Three golfers tied at 73. They were Frank Boynton of Orlando, Fla.; Eddie Ross of Baton Rouge, La.; and Phil Rogers of San Diego, Calif.

The low finishers with only a couple of exceptions, were among early finishers. They had the advantage of the cool morning temperatures and missed a brisk wind that developed late in the afternoon.

The top 100 and ties will enter the 72-hole medal play tournament, which starts Wednesday.

Two of Michigan's 4 entries in this tourney are from Oakland County. They are Jack Reynolds of Pontiac and Dick Weyand of Birmingham. The others are Arnold Nedelman of East Lansing and Bob Zimmerman of Jackson.

Landy Visiting England, Won't Race Bannister

LONDON (AP)—Australian miler John Landy began a two-week visit to England today, but he made it clear he had run his last race of the year.

He said he will be at the European Games in Bern at the end of the month, but purely as a spectator. He is not eligible for the games, and will not race Britain's Roger Bannister in a special race. Landy and Bannister are the world's only four-minute milers.

When he returns home, Landy said, he will take a teaching job near Melbourne, adding: "I shall be working in the country where it may not be possible to do as much training as I would wish."

Roualet's Anju Wins Sunday Race of NYC

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Rocky Marciano figures the 15 rounds he boxed against Ezzard Charles June 17 did him more good than 200 rounds in training camp. Consequently, the heavyweight champ will warm up for the Sept. 15 rematch with "only" 100 rounds of gym work.

"I know it's not practical for the champ to fight more than once or twice a year," he said. "But I felt the best when I was going steady every month or so, like 1951 when I boxed seven times."

Apparently Manager Al Weill, and trainer Charley Goldman expect Charles, the ex-champ, to sprout 15 rounds in his third bid to win back the title he lost to Jersey Joe Walcott. They have brought in Joe Gammon, a fast-stepping Washington, D.C., boy for Rocky to chase.

Already down to 191 pounds, as compared to 187½ for his last bout, the champ still works about four hours a day. He goes on the road in the morning and boxes five days a week.

According to Goldman, the champ is working on his old payoff punch—the right hand. He concentrated on the left hand in his preflight work for the first Charles fight. Maybe he worked too much with the left. In any event, he is out for the knockout this time

Eyes 20-Game Goal for Fifth Straight YearPitching Star Believes Physical Condition Big Item in Feat

By BARD LINDEMAN
BROOKLYN (AP)—"Consistency," says Robin Roberts, is how a man wins 20 baseball games in the major leagues.

The Philadelphia Phillies right-hander is working on his fifth consecutive year as a 20-game winner. Last night he won No. 18 beating Brooklyn 9-6. It was not one of his better nights. He walked six, four in the first inning, and gave eight hits, but he hung on to finish his 21st game.

He's started 29 and lost 10 of these. He looks like a cinch to get 20 this season.

"Obviously," Roberts said, "a man must be consistent to win 20 games. He must start often and pitch good ball consistently."

Roberts' holds this won-lost record over the past four seasons: 23-16, 28-7, 21-15, 20-11. Carl Hubbell, the New York Giants great left-hander of 15 years ago, was the last National League pitcher to win 20 games five years running.

Roberts made the majors after 11 games in the minors. He was a bonus boy out of Michigan State College.

Talking of the 20-game goal, he said, "I think physical condition is the big item if a pitcher is to win 20. I try and get in the best possible condition and then let nature take its course."

"Of course, you must have the opportunity of pitching often to win 20," he said.

Asked about the skills a pitcher must have to win 20 times a year, Roberts said, "It depends on the individual. Some guys are big and fast." Roberts is listed as 6 feet and 190 pounds. He throws hard.

"The big guys don't need as much," he said. "If your fast ball does something, hops, or takes off, then you have two pitches. I use a fast ball and a curve."

Max Evans, in Detroit for a brief visit before going back to the pro golf tournament circuit, played in the weekly pro-amateur tourney held Monday at Oakland Hills and teamed with amateur Jack McGivern to win the event.

Evans had a 70 himself and with McGivern's help had a best ball of 67, 5-under par. Two strokes back were Frank Metzger and Ken Place of Red Run.

Evans and his partner carded 33-34 including 2 birdies and an eagle two by Evans on the 433-yard 5th hole. Here the touring pro belted a long drive, then holed out a 9-iron shot from 130 yards.

Tied at 70 were Joe Watrous and Mel Davidson, Ray Maguire and Harry Linklater and Al Watrous and Dick Wibel.

American League Spotlight on Indians, Tigers

By BEN PHILGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

In the American League the series to watch is at Cleveland where the Indians, winners of six in a row, play host to the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers were the last to beat them, exactly a week ago when Ned Garver shut them out on five hits.

Although they are well on their way to finishing with the worst average ever compiled by a fourth place team, the Tigers may yet have a lot to say about the American League pennant.

They quietly, but decisively, ended the Chicago White Sox' chances with a doubleheader sweep Sunday and they have 10 games left with Cleveland, including tonight.

The White Sox still have a mathematical chance, of course, since they have 36 games to play and are 9½ behind. But it would take an unlikely collapse of both Cleveland and New York, plus a virtually unbroken winning streak of their own to put the Chicagoans back in serious contention.

Two teams have been eliminated from all pennant hope. Over the weekend the Baltimore Orioles and the Philadelphia Athletics fell more games behind the Indians than they have left to play.

While Cleveland is busy with the Tigers, the second place New York Yankees, three games back, expect to stretch their seven-game winning streak at the expense of the Athletics in a series opening tonight in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia Phils, last team outside the New York area to win a National League pennant, get a chance tonight to show whether they're playing favorites in the 1934 flag chase.

They move across the river from Ebbets Field to the Polo Grounds for the first of a three-game series with the slump-ridden New York Giants.

Last night the Phils did the Giants a big favor by thumping Brooklyn 9-6 when the Dodgers had a chance to pull within two percentage points of the lead. Instead, the Dodgers headed West to Pittsburgh trailing by a full game with 38 to play.

The Giants have beaten the Phils eight out of 10 times so far and they would like to think they could resume the pleasant pastime of winning after losing seven of the last eight to other clubs. Manager Leo Durocher has picked Johnny Antonelli (17-3) to attempt to halt the skid.

The Dodgers had won 12 out of 18 from the Phils up to last night, but they couldn't keep up the pressure even though they caught Robin Roberts on what must have been one of his wildest nights in the majors.

The Philadelphia righthander walked four men in the first inning and a total of six in the game. He had walked only 33 before last night. He was charged with a wild pitch and might have been charged with several more except for some acrobatic backstopping by Smokey Burgess. And the Dodgers banged eight solid hits, two of them homers by Pee Wee Reese and Gil Hodges.

Despite this, Brooklyn was ahead only once and didn't have a real chance after the fifth. The pitching staff fell apart. Rookie Bob Darnell, making his first start, couldn't get anybody out in the third. Clem Labine and Preacher Roe got roughed up in the fifth when the Phils put it out of reach on six hits and an error which produced five runs.

Adios Boy Isn't Eligible for Rich Pacing Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON
YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Adios Boy, the current wonder horse of harness racing, apparently would have the rich Little Brown Jug and other prized 3-year-old pacing stakes at his mercy but for one thing—he is not eligible.

Adios Boy won by a length in 2:01 2-5, good enough for a track record but one and two-fifths seconds off the world mark made by Tar Heel at Delaware, Ohio, scene of the Jug Pace on Sept. 23.

J. S. Turner, Nassawadox, Va., farmer, thought so little of the son of Adios-Carrie Castle as a yearling that he failed to name him for the traditional Grand Circuit stakes.

But the manner in which he won the $25,400 Yonkers Derby at Yonkers Raceway last night as he defeated the highly regarded Little Brown Jug eligible, Adios Harry, Turner wish he had thought twice.

This Year's Deer Count Heavy, Officials Say

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Conservation officers have spotted more deer in northwestern Michigan this summer than they did a year ago. District Game Director Ford Kelum said nearly twice as many were sighted in July in a six-county area this year.

The greatest gains were in Manistee and Kalkaska counties, Kelum said.

Lion 11 Departs for Philadelphia

5 Are Cut, Trimming Squad to 47 for Tilt With Eagles

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions, after lopping five players from the squad, left for Philadelphia today and an exhibition meeting with the Eagles Thursday night.

Placed on the waiver list last night were Bobby Rollins, defensive halfback and quarterback from Colorado A & M; Rick Kasser, Toledo University halfback; Joe Setasky, center from Detroit's Western High School; Ray Westcott, Utah tackle, and Norman Hayes, College of Idaho guard.

The trimming pared the squad down to 47 men, still a long way from the league limit of 53.

Only Antonelli Winning

Chief Disaster to Strike Floundering Giants Was Collapse of Pitching Staff

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—One returns to the workaday world after a period of earnest idleness to learn, with some surprise, that the vast majority of local baseball analysts consider the Giants to be dead, absolutely, and are equally certain that the Milwaukee Braves will be the National League entry in the World Series.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, say this city's deepest thinking savants, probably have enough bottom to make the Braves realize they are in a race, especially since young Billy Loes turned into a winning pitcher. But the Giants, they claim after careful inspection, have made their run and now are gasping like a boated flounder.

They say they cannot recall having seen an apparently sound and seemingly inspired team come apart as completely as the Polo Grounders have in the past five weeks, and especially in their four straight losses to the Braves and three straight to the Dodgers.

One journalistic gumshoe reports that the players now are grumbling about Leo Durocher's "bad guesses," and declares there is no possibility of Leo being back next year, even if he pulls the club out of its current skid.

This latter could have much substance, for Durocher and his boss, Horace Stoneham, were exchanging glances early in the season, before Willie Mays and his teammates caught fire. Now that they have simmered down again it is not expected that Stoneham will issue any ringing votes of confidence in his pilot.

The chief disaster to strike the club which once was winging along seven games in front was the sudden and inexplicable collapse of its pitching staff, all except Johnny Antonelli. The figures show vividly what happened.

From June 3 through July 9, while the Giants were winning 32 out of 38 and there was talk of measuring Mays for an individual shrine, their pitchers allowed the remarkably low average of 2.9 runs per game. From July 10 to this sad day, a period in which the club won 14 while losing 19, the identical set of throwers has yielded 4.7 runs each time the opposition teed off.

To make matters even worse, the hitting has fallen off too, though not to such a painful degree.

Grass Course Records

MIAMI (AP)—Hialeah track has found that its infield grass course is paying off with some good records. The two records set at Hialeah last season were on grass. Parnassus set a new mark for the mile-and-three-sixteenths. Mackville hit a new record for the mile-and-an-eighth.

Browns Drop 4 Rookies

BLOOMFIELD FINALISTS—Mrs. Hanley Dawson, Jr. (left) succeeded her sister-in-law as women's club golf champion at Bloomfield Hills Country Club last weekend with a 1-up victory over Mrs. S. E. Gawne in an extra-hole match. Mrs. Dawson, who shot an 87, was 1-up at the 9th hole, but lost the advantage on the back nine. On the 20th hole (the tough, 410-yard 2nd hole), she ended the match despite 3-putting for a 6. Mrs. Dawson's sister-in-law, Mrs. L. J. Colombo Jr., was defending champion and was eliminated in an earlier round by Mrs. Dawson.

National Rifle, Pistol Matches Continue

CAMP PERRY, O. (INS)—The National Rifle and Pistol Championships continue today at Camp Perry with 825 of the finest service and civilian marksmen in the nation competing for honors.

Martin J. Hull, of Orange, Calif., took the Navy Cup yesterday with a score of 98-9V out of a possible 100 in rifle shooting.

A V score means that competitor has hit a bulls-eye within a bulls-eye and aids in avoiding possible ties.

Louis N. Phillips of Los Angeles took the Scott trophy contest with a score of 100-15V.

Australia has so many imported boxers from England and the United States that promoters are finding it difficult to get local pugilists to meet them.

Miami Soph Better Water Ski Jump Mark

LACONIA, N.H. (AP)—Butch Rosenberg, a 19-year-old University of Miami sophomore, bettered the world water ski jumping record with a leap of 103 feet yesterday in the national championships on Lake Opechee.

But because the American Water Ski Assn. rules require that a new mark must exceed the old one by at least two feet, Rosenberg had to settle for co-ownership of the jumping record at 102 feet with Dick Binette of Laconia.

Count on from 130 to 145 yards from the 6, the last of the medium irons.

The 6 closely resembles the 5 in use, except that the distance is shorter and you get a good deal more loft.

The 6 iron saves putts. Using the 6 iron well, you can stick the ball up near the pin and give yourself a chance for a birdie putt.

Handle the 6 iron just as you do the 5.

The ball is in the center. Hit on the downswing. The backswing is shorter and slower.

The 6 iron fills the bill on approach shots.

"You get more loft from a 6-iron, the last of the medium irons."

All-Star Pilot Likely to Come From Midwest

CHICAGO (AP)—Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, said Monday that the head coach of next year's College All-Star football team will be from a Midwestern university.

He did not elaborate but in a column yesterday in the Tribune, sponsor of the annual game, he criticized the performance of the All-Star team, coached by Jim Tatum of Maryland, which lost 31-6 to Detroit's Lions Friday.

He said Monday night he became convinced the All-Stars had no chance "about three weeks before the kickoff" — when "the All-Star coaches told me they were going to run the split-T formation against the Lions."

"I left it in their hands after telling them I regretted that after all these years coaches had not learned it was futile for the All-Stars to attempt to run over the pros or to attempt to outsmart them," Ward added.

Soltau Has Operation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gordie Soltau, 1933's top scorer in the National Football League, underwent an operation for a shoulder separation yesterday and a spokesman for the San Francisco 49ers said he expects the big end to be back in uniform in three or four weeks.

Soltau was one of 13 49ers injured in Sunday's 43-35 exhibition victory over the New York Giants.

CASSINI ROMANCE—That buzz-buzz you hear is Hollywood talking about the twosome of Actress Grace Kelly and Oleg Cassini, pictured here at the Hollywood premier of her latest picture, "Rear Window." Cassini, former husband of Gene Tierney, met Miss Kelly while she was making a film in France.

Gable Signs Up for Action Film About Alaska

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(For Louella Parsons)
HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Don't let anyone kid you that Clark Gable was on the Universal-International lot to visit old friends. He was making some new friends in the front office in an agreement to star in a participation deal such as Jimmy Stewart has — and the contract has been signed!

The story is a bawling action story with an Alaskan background and will have the benefit of CinemaScope and color. The King gets his choice of directors and leading ladies.
It is just this kind of a deal Clark was looking for when he snubbed MGM. The previous deal he made with 20th Century-Fox will not interfere with his making this picture for U-I.
It could be months before Van Johnson sees Hollywood again. After he finishes his current movie, "End of the Affair," with Deborah Kerr there's a very good chance

Van will stay on in England for the lead with Jeanne Crain and Jane Russell in "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes."

Louella reports: "The gossip that Audrey Hepburn is critically ill is, I am sure, not true. Audrey was meeting Anita Loos in Monte Carlo to rest."

"I think it's true Audrey is emotionally disturbed over her romance with Mel Ferrer, and worn out from her season on Broadway which followed "Sabrina Fair" in a matter of days. However, I cannot believe that she is as sick as some of the American papers say."

The boss continues: "Joan Fontaine is giving a big birthday party for Collier Young when he arrives next week. Joan has taken an apartment and is very happy in New York, and the play is still doing good business."

The movie career of Gloria Talbot is in high gear. Mike Curtiz spotted her on a TV show and signed her for the lead with Humphrey Bogart, Joan Bennett and Aldo Ray in "We're No Angels."

Already at work in "Crashout" Gloria has another big job coming up immediately as the young girl in "Lucy Gallant" with Janie Wyman.

Hollywood in shorts: Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis have sent a special invitation to Buddy Adler to attend their Ciro's opening on Thursday. Reason is they're putting on a devastating satire of Buddy's Oscar-winning movie, "From Here to Eternity."

Frank Sinatra had his three lovely children, Nancy, Frankie and Tina, on the Warner lot for luncheon and to watch Ethel Barrymore and Doris Day work on the set of "Young at Heart." Frankie believes watching Ethel should be an education in emoting for the kids.

Aaron Rosenberg hosted a dinner party at the sportsman's Lodge for Cole Porter, the Bill Goetzes and Claudette Colbert.

Despite the fact that it poured bucketsful during Anna Maria Alberg's concert in the Red Cock Outdoor Theater near Denver, she sang to 10,000 drenched enthusiasts.

Hal Boyle Says:

King of Mambo Stirs Up Sluggish U.S. Dancers

NEW YORK (AP) — "This music means 'shake it!' — and that if you do just that you'll do all right on the dance floor."

Prado has had to adjust himself to the new fame he enjoys. He is a small, energetic man with the air and the seriousness of Napoleon. He runs his band with the intensity and authority of an Arturo Toscanini. Striding back and forth, he barks out whenever he wants to key in a new movement, "Dile!" — pronounced "dee-lo" — which he explained through an interpreter is local Cuban for "say it."

But the other night at the Waldorf's starlight roof it sounded more like he was urging on his musicians with a sort of mystic hiccup — "biki!... biki!... biki!" He says he doesn't speak English, but that is the way his signature barks in Cuban registered in my ears, which don't speak Spanish.

Prado uses drums to build up the blood beat of his music, saxophones to carry the rhythm, trumpets to blare the melody. He employs some of the wall-vibrating effects of Spike Jones, whom he gratefully credits for helping spread his fame north of the Rio Grande.

The first night of his engagement at the Waldorf he trumpeted so loud that the management, who still regarded him as a gambler and had yet to learn he could melt the ice cakes in their customers' blood, said:

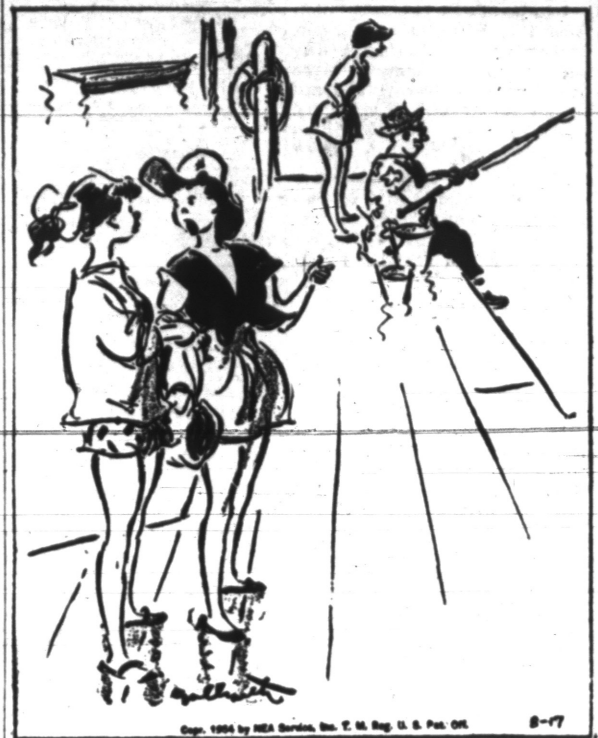

"Please, you're blowing off our roof. Can't you put mutes in your trumpets?"

Prado shrugged and put in the mutes.

"Where I stand the music is the same," he said. He also assassinated his Bohemian sideburns in the middle, shaved off his goatee, but retained half his mustache. His problem now is to compromise between being spectacular and prim.

Prado is the son of a Cuban newspaperman and a mother who was a classical pianist. He started playing the piano at 8 himself. Today he is in the $150,000-a-year bracket, wears $200-a-pair alligator shoes, can afford to patronize the same tailor who makes Liberace so memorable.

Frank Wayne on Beat Clock

Constantly on Hunt for Interesting TV Contests; Cuts 20 Down to 8

By SYD KRONISH

NEW YORK (AP)—My nomination for the cleverest guy in TV is the man who devises the stunts for Beat the Clock.

This is the program in which contestants, usually a married couple, cooperate to complete some parlor trick successfully in less than a minute. The stunts range from manipulating little rubber balls into a moving cup to dodging squirts of whipped cream.

I have long wondered who dreamed up the inexhaustible list of stunts for this show, and I've finally tracked him down. The man is Frank Wayne—a conservatively attired young chap born and bred, surprisingly enough, in Boston.

"I'm always looking for gimmicks that would make good stunts," Wayne says. "I'm continually jotting down notes on buses, trains, while walking the street or eating in a restaurant. When I get home at night I take pencil and paper and stretch out on the floor to work. Really, it's the only way I can think straight."

"Each week I devise 10 stunts. My associate in the gimmick department for this program, Bob Howard, does the same. We have to figure out the props needed for each and prepare complete descriptions for rehearsal. Each stunt must be fun to do and fun to watch. We finally select about eight."

"Of course, we try out every stunt to see that they are both feasible and entertaining. We have a standing rule, too, that every program must have at least one messy stunt—pie in the face type of stuff."

"No stunt goes on the show unless it can be done by at least 50 per cent of the stand-ins who try them out for us. Usually the ratio is about 90 per cent."

Although Wayne seldom appears on Beat the Clock, he can be seen regularly on It's News to Me.

He is the character who acts out the quiz skits for the panelists to guess. He devises the skits for this show, too.

"My quiz skits for It's News to Me are gleaned from the daily papers," he explained. "Every day I scan the newspapers and clip interesting news events that would lend themselves to good skit material. The main factor here is the story must be a wire story—no local news. The story must be known to folks in all sections of the country."

What was the zaniest stunt he ever devised for TV?

"Well, on Beat the Clock I figured a humorous switch. Instead of contestants tossing pies at each other, I chose myself as a target. Let them throw pies at me."

"The couple selected on the program was given a batch of custard pies. They were standing eight feet away. The man had a rotten aim. But his wife... Wow! She never missed. She hit me every time—right square in the face."

Which proves that even a parlor comic must get his just desserts.

Soviet Grain Goal Topped by 156 Pct.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government today announced its goal in the "grow more grain" drive had been greatly exceeded for 1954, and set its eyes on a bigger increase for 1955 and 1956.

Tass, official news agency, said the Soviet Council of Ministers and the Communist party's Central Committee had reported that the plan for plowing virgin soil had been fulfilled by 156 per cent by collective farms and 176 per cent by state farms (figures were not given in acreage.)

Pontiac Native Hopeful Singer Wins Role—Doing Comedy Routine

Pretty Patricia Morris of Pontiac started out as a ballad singer in the entertainment field, but in her first real fling in the show world in New York this September she will do a comedy routine.

This all came about after Pat's New York vocal teacher and manager, who is Graham Prince, head of Cadillac Recording, discovered that the 21-year-old girl has a natural flair for comedy.

Thus, Pat is to be teamed this fall with comedian Sam Robbins in "Chance of a Lifetime."

Pat is just home from New York and seven weeks of studying choreography and vocal. She'll be here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, 160 Preston, where she'll alternately rest and appear in nightclub engagements in the Pontiac-Detroit area.

Mrs. Morris, mother of the young comedienne-ballad singer, says her daughter is also due to appear on the Arthur Godfrey show when she returns to New York.

Pat is a graduate of Pontiac High School, class of 1951.

Competitor Takes Coupons, Adds Nickel

MILWAUKEE (AP)—In a promotion plan, the Kroger Co. supermarket in the new Bayshore shopping center mailed prospective customers coupons worth 25 cents when redeemed in merchandise. Soon the nearby Krambo Food store hung this banner in its window:

"We redeem all Kroger coupons at 30 cents."

Both stores say customer response to the coupons has been very good. Kroger will keep mailing out coupons and Krambo will go right on redeeming them at a nickel more.

Ike's Staff in Colorado for His Vacation Office

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower's plane, the Columbine, arrived at Lowry Air Force Base yesterday with an advance contingent of nine White House staff members and 26 boxes of supplies.

The President's staff promptly began setting up offices at Lowry for Eisenhower's Colorado vacation. He and Mrs. Eisenhower are expected here as soon as Congress finishes with legislative chores.

Five Share Pint

PARIS (INS)—Czechoslovakia refugee sources in Paris reported Prague is suffering a serious milk and butter shortage. Reports said families of five are frequently rationed only a pint of milk a day.

What was the zaniest stunt he ever devised for TV?

"Well, on Beat the Clock I figured a humorous switch. Instead of contestants tossing pies at each other, I chose myself as a target. Let them throw pies at me."

"The couple selected on the program was given a batch of custard pies. They were standing eight feet away. The man had a rotten aim. But his wife... Wow! She never missed. She hit me every time—right square in the face."

Gloria Stokowski Makes Stage Debut

MOUNTAINHOME, Pa. (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski made her long-awaited stage debut here last night, overcoming an obvious early nervousness to win the cheers of a full house for her gallant portrayal of a princess in Ferend Molnar's romantic fable "The Swan."

In so doing, the tall, brunette, 30-year-old wife of conductor Leopold Stokowski and mother of two children fulfilled a driving ambition. Known chiefly in an artistic way for her painting, she had determined to find out what she could do in the theater.

As she put it before first night curtain time at the Pocono Playhouse: in this eastern Pennsylvania resort country:

"If I can't act, I want to know it—and now. But if I can act, I want to make the most of that ability, to develop another side of my career."

Doctor Makes Mistake

DIANO MARINO, Italy (INS)—It was all prepared—the coffin, the flowers, the sobbing relatives—at the "wake" of Lorenzo Valle, 73-year-old farmer who after collapsing in the fields was pronounced "dead" by the family doctor. But old Lorenzo fooled them all—checked is the word—by getting up alive in the middle of it all. The doctor came back and said he made a mistake.

Sheppard Free, Back at Hospital

Police Complain About Slaying Suspect's Bail; Grand Jury Ponders

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was back at his hospital practice today while police complained about his day-old freedom and the grand jury swung into the second day of a hearing that could end it.

Sheppard, 30, shed his prison denims yesterday after Common Pleas Judge William E. Thomas freed him on $50,000 bond. The handsome, athletic osteopath is accused of clubbing to death his 31-year-old pregnant wife Marilyn July 4.

While Sheppard helped his brothers read X-ray films at the Bay View Hospital, a grand jury moved through a list of 16 witnesses called to give testimony on the first-degree murder charge against the prominent osteopath.

The county prosecution indicated the jury might begin deliberation today, and would have Sheppard rearrested immediately if an indictment is returned.

Authorities strongly protested Judge Thomas' action granting bail request and freeing Sheppard, in view of the severity of the charges against him. Judge Thomas said evidence didn't warrant his refusing bond.

County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullinan said, "I never heard of it in my 22 years here."

Cleveland's detective chief, James E. McArthur, expressed "shock" at the judge's action and heatedly suggested that the city well might pull out of the murder case and leave it to county or suburban Bay Village authorities. McArthur said the investigation is just about complete anyway.

A preliminary hearing to present evidence that Sheppard should be held was scheduled for yesterday, but the hearing was bypassed when the prosecution, seeking to keep Sheppard's attorneys in the dark about its plans for presenting the case should it reach a trial, brought matters directly to the grand jury.

CIO Calls Decision of Group Outrageous

DETROIT (AP)—A decision to disqualify some 11,500 Ford Motor Co. employees from unemployment benefits is "the most outrageous ever taken" by the Michigan Employment Security Commission since the state unemployment compensation law was enacted, the CIO United Auto Workers said yesterday. Union spokesmen said the decision would be appealed immediately.

They said local Ford workers were being refused unemployment compensation payment for May 1953 when they were idled by a strike at the company's Canton, Ohio forge plant.

The controversial decision was meted out by Samuel Sternberg, MESA referee.

Trainmen Sip Coffee, Police to Issue Tickets

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)—The Lincoln City Council has directed the chief of police to issue tickets for illegal parking to crew members of Illinois Terminal Railroad trains which pass through the center of the city.

Alderman Don Shay said trains of the electric line are left untended on Main Street while crew members sip coffee in a nearby restaurant.

New Capitol Architect Named by President
